MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ENJOYABLE MEETING AT FELTHAM.

A most successful meeting of the South and West District was held at Feltham on Saturday last, when some 60 members and friends attended. Ringing commenced with Grandsire Triples, followed by Kent Treble Bob Major. Touches followed alternately of Triples and Major, and the methods rung during the meeting were Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, London, Cambridge, Bristol, Superlative and Norfolk Surprise Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and members who could only ring rounds had the same opportunity as the more advanced. The Rev. E. A. Godfrey paid a visit to the tower to welcome the association to Feltham, on behalf of the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Browell), who was unable to attend. Service was conducted by the Rev. E. A. Godfrey, and tea was afterwards served at the Church Hall. The Rev. E. A. Godfrey presided, supported by the hon. treasurer and hon. secretary.

Mr. J. A. Trollope occupied the chair for the business meeting, when Ruislip was announced for the next meeting place. This beautiful old church is well worth a visit, and June 9th is the date to be remembered. There are cheap fares on the District Railways from the Mansion House down, also from Baker Street downwards.

Harlington (where the strawberries grow) was the choice for July 7th, with Harmondsworth bells for ringing also; and July 28th for St. John, Hillingdon, where Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow and Mr. J. J. Pratt will do all they can to make the meeting a success, both in and out of the tower. All meetings will be announced in 'The Ringing World,' likewise alterations of dates, if necessary, in due course.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and to the Rev. E. A. Godfrey, to Mrs. and Miss Cromwell, the hostesses, who had a busy time, and, last but not least, to Mr. A. J. Lewis, the steepkeeper, who had everything in order and a hearty welcome for the visitors. Lady ringers were well represented at the meeting by Mrs. Goodfellow, Mrs. Deal, the Misses Chapman, Bradford, Giles, Wilkinson and Fuller. Among other well-known ringers present were Messrs. Trollope, Goodfellow, Hunnisett, Roberts, Herbert, Davis, Hewitt, Sanders, Corke, Deal, and J. R. Mackman, of H.M. Borstal Institution, to which he summoned several handbell ringers, viz., Messrs. Trollope, Roberts, Wilson, Turner and Hewitt. At the time of writing, no one knows how many of them were detained. It was a most enjoyable afternoon, but there are more in store at Ruislip, Harlington and Hillingdon.

CONCERNING THE NAMING OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In a sense, and up to a point, your conjecture that the Methods Committee 'asked for discretionary powers to ensure that their own views should prevail,' is quite correct. You did not suppose, did you, that we had asked for powers which we did not intend to use, or that we should put anything in the new book which was not, in our judgment, right? But if the suggestion is that our intention was 'merely' to get the better of the Analysis Committee on the points in dispute between us, then it was not so; nor does the list of names published in your last issue countenance such an opinion. In their report, the Analysis Committee recommended several changes in the names printed in the first edition of the Minor Methods Collection. We have considered these alterations, each on its own merits, and for the most part have agreed to them. The exceptions are:—

1. Surprise Method No. 38, given in the first edition as 'Primrose,' was altered to 'Ringers' Surprise.' We have decided to keep the name Primrose. First, because that is the name by which, it seems, it is most usually known; secondly, because it is so called in Mr. Davies' recent book on Surprise Methods; and thirdly, because leading six-bell ringers urged us to make as few alterations in the names and numbers printed in the first edition as possible.

2. Court Method No. 26, given in the first edition as 'College Single,' was altered to 'College Single Reverse.' We can understand and appreciate the views of the Analysis Committee. The method is the reverse of the old College Single. But, according to the general rule of the Exercise, the old method is the reverse variation, and the new the single variation. Further, the method cannot be both single and reverse, any more than a thing can be both right-hand and left-hand. It must be one or the other. To put the matter right and at the same time meet the views of the Analysis Committee, we have called it simply College. It is already so called in the Major Methods Collection.

3. Imperial Method No. 12, called 'Canterbury Pleasure' in first edition, was altered to Canterbury Pleasure Reverse. We have not accepted the alteration. This is the case which is, perhaps, most open to argument, but my colleagues believe strongly that an important principle of method construction is involved, and I agree with them. What more I have to say about this list of names will keep to the Hereford meeting, but I may point out that substantially the Analysis Committee have got all they asked for.

And now a word or two about the report of the late Nomenclature Committee. It is rather pathetic how members of that committee think that that report is still, somehow or other, not dead, but only sleeping, neither accepted nor rejected. Of course, it was rejected, deliberately, decisively and definitely. When you want to oppose a report of this kind, there are two ways of procedure open to you, recognised by all debating bodies from Parliament downwards. You can vote a direct negative and try and induce others to do the same. Or you can move a reasoned amendment, making a statement directly contrary to the principle on which the original motion is founded. For instance, if the proposal is to paint your house sky blue, you can move as an amendment that sky blue is a detestable colour. When it comes to voting, the amendment is put first. If it is carried it becomes the substantive motion, and the original automatically disappears.

That is just what happened to this report. Please let us not hear any more about it being 'side-tracked.' The Council knew perfectly well that when they were voting for Mr. Davies' and my amendment they were voting for the rejection of the report. That was made quite clear, both from the debate itself and from the articles which I wrote in your paper.

Why I adopted that particular procedure was partly because it seemed tactically the best method of opposition, but chiefly because the way in which the Nomenclature Committee presented their report made it almost impossible to vote against it as a whole. They intended to move thirteen separate resolutions, which would have meant thirteen separate debates and thirteen separate divisions, without any opportunity for the Council to say whether it agreed with the foundation statement on which the report was based, namely, whether the naming of methods is in such a chaotic and hopeless condition that an entirely root and branch reform is necessary, extending even to the alteration of such a name as Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

But apart from all this the fact that the report was not adopted and the committee was discharged shows that the report was rejected.

The resolution of the Suffolk Guild seems to me singularly futile. The report, once rejected, is dead, and I cannot see how the Standing Committee of the Council can do anything in the matter. But the members of the committee have their full rights as private members of the Council. If they want these resolutions discussed, and in face of what has happened still think they can carry them, there is nothing to prevent them putting them on the Council's agenda. Nor, so far as the names of the Minor methods are concerned, is there anything to stop them moving instructions to the Methods Committee. But please, once again, let it be understood that their proposals as a whole were considered on their merits, discussed on their merits, and rejected on their merits.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

A PLEA FOR 'ST. LAWRENCE.'

Dear Sir,—On May 1st, 1911, I had the pleasure of taking part in a peal of 7,200 in 10 Minor methods, at the Church of St. Lawrence, Frodsham. One of the methods included in the peal was named St. Lawrence, after the church in which it was rung. I respectfully suggest to Mr. Trollope and his colleagues on the Methods Committee that this name be retained. The method is No. 8 in the C.O. Collection, and in Mr. Trollope's list the name 'St. James' Youths' Exercise Bob' is given to it. This name is unnecessarily long, and no better sounding than St. Lawrence. I would also suggest the retention of the name Long Stanton for method No. 20. There are some good members of the Exercise at Long Stanton, and, as far as we know, none at Ennerdale.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE R. NEWTON.

Liverpool.

THE 'SHELVED' RECOMMENDATIONS.

In view of the decision of the Suffolk Guild to endeavour to get the various recommendations of the defunct Nomenclature Committee of the Central Council considered, it is well to recall what the recommendations were. They were submitted to the Council two years ago, and were as follows:—

1. No method shall have more than one name.
2. No name shall belong to more than one method.
3. No name shall contain more than one word.
4. Class designations, when added to a name, shall always have some reference to the thing designated. Thus, the word 'bob' in this connection shall always, as originally, have reference to dodging.
5. The names 'Pasallatessera' and 'Pasallatria' shall not be used in any C.C. publications; should it be necessary to distinguish the classes which were once so designated, they shall be otherwise and properly described.
6. The fifteen floral names shall be changed.
7. (This gave the names which it was proposed to substitute for the floral titles.)
8. 'Edinburgh Castle' shall be called 'Edgware.'
9. In 28 names the word 'Castle' or 'Abbey' shall be omitted. (Then follow the amended names.)
10. The following 23 names shall be substituted for old and unsuitable names as a first instalment. (Then follows the list of suggested changes.)
11. No names or terms, supplementary of, or in substitution for, those published by authority of C.C., should be used until the sanction of C.C. has been obtained.
12. A supplement to the Glossary, containing new names and terms up to date, should be at once put in hand.
13. In the case of all new methods which have been rung under names it is proposed to alter, an opportunity should be given to those who first rang them, or to their society, to approve of the proposed new name.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS MACK.

AN OLD HASLEMERE RINGER.

By the death of Mr. Thomas Mack, which took place on Sunday, May 6th, after ill-health for some considerable time, Haslemere ringers and others have lost an old friend. He was born at North Tuddenham, Norfolk, where he learnt to pull a bell. He was very well known in the Guildford District, and when in good health he was a regular attendant at ringing meetings. He was a man of great personality and charm, and always had a kind word and a smile for all those with whom he came in contact, both in ringing and everyday life. He enjoyed a good joke, a good story, and a good song, and the writer has heard him take part in all three.

The funeral took place on Thursday, May 10th, the chief mourners being his daughters and son, his wife not being well enough to attend. The local ringers were well represented; there were also ringers present from Chiddingfold and Guildford. A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung over his grave by A. H. Pulling 1-2, A. J. Bartlett 3-4, F. Bowden 5-6, J. H. B. Hesse 7-8. The tower bells were rung half-muffled immediately after the funeral, and two plain courses of Grandsire Caters rung by the following: Miss Collard 1, H. Furionger 2, J. H. B. Hesse 3, B. Elliot 4, F. Bowden 5, R. Overy 6, A. J. Bartlett 7, J. McDermott 8, F. White 9, W. Eldridge 10. In the evening, touches of Grandsire Caters were rung, conducted by F. White and F. Bowden, by the same band, with the exception of Mr. E. C. Smith in place of Mr. A. J. Bartlett.

There were a great many beautiful wreaths, including one from the local ringers.

A complete list of Mr. Mack's peals is not available, but he had probably rung between forty and fifty. Great sympathy is felt for his wife and family. He will be missed by many. The writer has known him for about twenty years, and never heard him say an unkind word of any one.

Mr. Mack knew many of the famous men who have had their residence in the district, and he was the last man to see Lord Tennyson, Poet Laureate, who died at Aldworth, near Haslemere, on October 6th, 1892.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A monthly meeting was held at Penistone on Saturday, May 12th, and members were present from Wath, Darfield, Shelley, Felkirk, Anston, Almondbury, Sandal, Conisborough, Harbury, Wortley, Roystone, Handsworth, Hoylandswaine, and the local company. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and continued in various methods of Major, Triples and Minor until 5 p.m., when Mr. F. Tinker invited the visitors to tea in the schoolroom. Afterwards a hearty vote of thanks was passed to him for his kindness and welcome.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar, Rev. E. B. Carlton, presiding. It was agreed that a summer meeting be held at Barnsley on Saturday, July 21st, in which the Bishop of Wakefield and Canon H. E. Hone, Rural Dean, Rector of Barnsley, invite all the clergy and ringing members to join.

The next meeting will be held at Hoylandswaine on Saturday, June 9th, the cup contest taking place at the same time. After the usual vote of thanks, members adjourned to the tower, and kept the bells going until 9 p.m.

LUDLOW MAYOR ENTERTAINS RINGERS.
A GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION.

On Saturday last a band of ringers from various places visited Ludlow, on the invitation of Mr. W. R. Nash, to attempt a peal of Grandsire Triples on the fine ring of eight, in honour of the golden wedding of the Mayor (Alderman John Palmer).

The party met at 2.15, and, after a look round the church (which is one of the finest parish churches in England), ascended the 137 steps to the ringing chamber. The bells were soon raised, and a start was made for the peal. All went well for some time, and it seemed as though success would be assured, when a trip occurred, which caused a shift, and stand was called after 1 hr. 35 mins. ringing. The band was W. R. Nash (Ludlow) 1, W. Short (Glent) 2, H. Smallwood (Knighton) 3, W. J. Beniams (Ludlow) 4, F. Evans (Knighton) 5, E. V. Rodenhurst (Hodnet) 6, W. Farley (conductor) (Bristol) 7, A. Nason (Ludlow) 8.

The band, together with some of the local ringers, afterwards partook of an excellent repast, at the invitation of the Mayor, who presided. The vice-president was Mr. A. Chester, and it is interesting to note that Alderman Palmer (who was for many years a ringer at Ludlow) and Mr. Chester rang together in the first local peal on the bells after the rehanging in 1890.

A very pleasant evening was spent, and some good touches rung on the handbells. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Mayor for his kindness in entertaining the band. Mr. Palmer, in replying, said how he had enjoyed hearing the bells, and hoped the ringers would come again soon and finish the peal.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A RHONDDA RINGER.

It is with deep regret we have to record the death of Mr. James Cross, of Pentre Rhondda, who passed away on Monday, April 30th, at the age of 55 years. His end came with tragic suddenness. He was at work in his garden an hour previous to his death, and had attended to his duties at the colliery during the day. On the previous Sunday he visited the tower and rang for both morning and evening services, and attended evensong. A man of apparently good health, the news of his unexpected death came as a great shock to his many friends, whose sincere sympathy is extended to his widow, son, and daughter.

Deceased had been a member of the St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers for nearly 25 years, during which period he had served as treasurer, deputy-leader, and for eight years as leader. He rang 35 peals with the society, conducting four. These peals were rung in ten different methods, including the only peal of Erin Triples rung in Wales. As a member of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, he rang several peals, including Caters, and his attendance at their meetings was always highly appreciated. His services as a ringer will be missed, for he was thorough and safe, and an excellent striker. His genial nature and even temperament commanded the respect of those who knew him.

A native of Somerset, from the Bath district, he was a colliery worker, for many years as a shoeing smith, and during later years as an ostler.

The funeral took place on Saturday, May 5th, at Treorchy, the Rev. D. Spenser Jones (Vicar) officiating. The bearers were eight of his brother-ringers.

In the evening, with the bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by G. Palmer 1, B. Davies (conductor) 2, Royden Davies 3, W. Palmer 4, J. Lovett 5, G. Wines 6, F. Lasbury 7, H. Crabb 8. First quarter-peal for the ringers of the treble and 4th. The ringer of 3rd was a friend of the deceased from Llantrisant.

MUFFLED BELLS

On Thursday, May 10th, at Bicester, Oxon, 364 Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled, in memory of Mr. R. Smith, vergers at the church for 33 years; and on Saturday, May 12th, 308 changes of Grandsire Triples were rung half-muffled, in memory of Miss E. Scarrott, sister of one of the local ringers.

At Kidlington, Oxon, on Sunday, May 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 50 mins.: A. Hancox 1, F. R. Coombes 2, W. F. Judge (conductor) 3, F. Tuffrey 4, E. Bennett 5, W. H. Thorne 6, J. Franklin 7, C. Bennett 8. Rung as a token of respect to the late William Franklin, aged 81, a former ringer at this church for a great number of years, who was interred two days previously.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Thurstans' 'Masterpiece,' the famous four-part peal of Stedman Triples, was rung for the first time on May 18th, 1936, at Birmingham. To-day is the anniversary of the 16,608 Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Mottram-in-Longdendale, Cheshire, conducted by Samuel Wood. At the time it was the longest length of Major.

On May 20th, 1840, fire destroyed the south-west tower of York Minster and the ring of ten bells in it.

Forty years ago next Monday the Gloucester and Bristol Association rang a peal of 15,054 Stedman Caters at Cheltenham. Among the survivors of that band are the president of the Central Council (Canon G. F. Coleridge), the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and the conductor (Mr. W. T. Pates).

Monday is also the anniversary of the first peal of Grandsire Triples in Scotland, called by Mat. Wood, of Bethnal Green fame, at St. Mary's, Dundee, on May 21st, 1873.

The record peal of Stedman Cinques, 12,675 changes, in 9 hrs. 47 mins., was rung at St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, on May 21st, 1923.

May 22nd is the anniversary of the 17,024 Double Norwich Major at Kidlington, to which James W. Washbrook rang the tenor in 11 hrs. 12 mins.—still one of the greatest physical feats in ringing history. This was in the year 1899.

The names of the ringers of 2nd and 3rd in the peal at Fressingfield on May 3rd were George Filby and Jacob Filby.

There is a rumour afloat, writes a correspondent, that when 'Henry the VIII.' removed his court from Manchester to Keyston last week the 'bishop' must have been kidnapped, or otherwise fallen off the load. A search party, working backwards to Kirkmanshulme Lane, discovered nothing more than two half bricks, a huge iron watch chain, and a rusty lump hammer.

LONDON'S OLDEST RINGER DEAD.

We much regret to announce the death of Mr. Joseph Rayner, steeplekeeper of St. Andrew's, Holborn, who passed away on Tuesday of last week at the great age of 92 years. Mr. Rayner was the oldest ringer in London, and was a well-known figure in the Exercise in the Metropolis.

The funeral service took place at St. Andrew's Church, Holborn, on Monday last.

THE MASONIC PEAL BOOK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—I thank you for inserting in your paper the notice of a proposed Masonic Peal Book, and am glad to say that I am having response to my request for subscriptions.

Would you be good enough to intimate in your columns that I have particulars of the following peals in the form of cuttings from your paper, but that if there be other peals I should be glad of particulars. Those that I have are:—

February 27th, 1926.—Stedman Triples; Erdington.

April 24th, 1926.—Stedman Caters; Solihull.

July 17th, 1926.—Stedman Cinques; Chelmsford.

December 4th, 1919.—Grandsire Caters; St. Clement Danes.

March 29th, 1924.—Kent Treble Bob Major; Garston.

February 14th, 1925.—Stedman Triples; Bushey.

April 9th, 1927.—Cambridge Surprise Major; Crayford.

I should like the reports in the form in which peals are printed in your paper, and, in addition, the number and name of the Lodge of each ringer. I have full particulars of those quoted above.—Yours faithfully,

F. WHITE.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

Although the little village of Burstow is rather an out-of-the-way place to get to, the Southern District of the Surrey Association held a very successful meeting there on Saturday, May 5th, forty-one members being present from Horley, Crawley, Redhill, Reigate, Buckland, Godstone, Limpsfield, Chart, Croydon, Mersham, and the local band, with visitors from Walton-on-Thames and Swindon. The Rectory grounds were thrown open by the Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Bradley, and the ringers very much appreciated this kindness. Ringing began with 120 of Grandsire Doubles by an entirely local band, this being the first 120 by a local band since the war.

The service was conducted by the Rector, and afterwards tea was served in the Rectory Grounds by kind invitation of the Rector, who, after full justice had been done to the splendid repast provided, took several snaps of the party.

A meeting followed, the Rector presiding. Three new ringing members, W. Batchelor (Buckland), T. Woodcock and J. Bradley (Burstow), and one hon. member, Rev. A. F. Bradley (Burstow), were elected.—A very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the halls, for his address at the service, for the tea he provided, and for throwing his grounds open, also a vote of thanks to the organist for presiding at the organ, concluded the meeting. Ringing was kept up until 9 o'clock, the methods rung being London and Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles.

LOCAL ACHIEVEMENT AT RAINHILL.

The first 720 of Minor known to have been rung on the bells of Rainhill, Lancs. by a local band, was accomplished on April 9th, when an extent of Plain Bob was brought round by W. Eustace 1, E. Griffiths 2, W. Darwin 3, J. Timblin 4, H. Ashtou (conductor) 5, W. Gilroy 6.

KING'S NORTON.—On Thursday, May 3rd, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstans'), in 47 mins.: A. Chambers 1, J. Withers 2, W. E. Moore 3, H. Williams 4, C. Webb 5, P. O. Laffin (conductor) 6, J. George 7, J. Betterton 8.

THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The pleasing feature of the year's peal ringing is that we can show, except in Surprise ringing, an all-round revival. After two years' decline, the number rung is only 44 short of the best post-war years. Moreover, there are other features which show an increased interest in this branch of our art.

The total number of peals rung during the year is 1841, being 174 more than in 1926, the increase being distributed as follows: On twelve bells 16, on ten bells 1, on eight bells 89, Minor 45, and Doubles 23.

Taking the handbells alone, the only decrease is on ten bells, of three peals, twelve-bell peals are the same, while eight bells are increased by 16, Minor by 3, and Doubles by 1. The total of handbell peals is 84, being 17 more than 1926. This will be seen if the following table is compared with that for the preceding year:—

Tower Bells. Handbells.
Maximus	16
Cinques	29
Royal	47
Caters	89
Major	661
Triples	425
Minor	339
Doubles	151
Total	1,757

The Midland Counties Association, with the highest total for the year of 183 peals, including 6 on handbells, shows a substantial increase of 53 over 1926. The Lancashire Association has increased its total by 32, being 134, including 5 on handbells. Kent County has 112, all on tower bells, being the same as last year. Yorkshire also has topped the century, having 103 peals, including 11 on handbells, an increase of 25.

Altogether 24 societies, along with two newly-affiliated, have increased the peals by 343, four have the same number, and fourteen have decreased the total by 118. The most striking increase is that of the Warwickshire Guild, from 5 last year to 29 this, while in the opposite direction the Durham and Newcastle has dropped from 31 last year to 17 this.

Many will deplore a decline in Surprise ringing, but there seems to be no need for pessimism. The increased interest in peal ringing will, we believe, soon remedy this.

It may be that the most serious feature of this class is the fall of London Surprise Major from 68 peals to 34. Some compensation is the fact that the Rev. H. Law James' peal of Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative has been rung twice. Other Surprise methods which have decreased are Cambridge Royal from 19 to 14 and Cambridge Major from 89 to 76.

Methods showing an increase are Cambridge Maximus from 3 to 6, Bristol Major from 20 to 27, Superlative Major from 44 to 63, and other methods of Maximus and Royal from 2 to 4, and Major from 12 to 17. Taking Surprise methods altogether, there is a decrease of 14 peals.

Peals of Treble Bob show a substantial increase of 33, making 219 in all. These are made up as follows: Maximus, 3 of Kent and 1 of Oxford; Royal, 18 Kent, 2 Oxford, 1 Cambridge and 1 Spliced; Major, 154 Kent, 34 Oxford and 5 Spliced.

Double Norwich shows 8 peals more, a total of 110, and Double Oxford continues to show the usual 2 peals. Plain Bob is up to 178, an increase of 39. Other methods of Maximus, Royal and Major are 3 less than last year, and Spliced methods containing Royal and Major 6 less.

A remarkable feature of odd-bell methods is the turnover of Stedman and Grandsire Triples. Whereas last year the former was 24 peals ahead, this year Grandsire has a lead of 32 peals.

The following table shows peals on odd-bell methods in detail:—

	Stedman.	Grandsire.	Erin.	Other Plain	Spliced.
Cinques	28	3
Caters	55	42	1		1
Triples	198	230		11
Total	281	275	1	11	1

Altogether Stedman is 2 less, Grandsire 48 more, and other methods 4 more.

Five and six bell ringers have made a big increase, being on tower bells 42 more peals of Minor and 22 of Doubles, and on handbells 3 more of Minor and 1 of Doubles.

'Superlative' Surprise Maximus, Ipswich, St. Blaise and London-derry Surprise Major, and Pershore Bob Major have been rung for the first time.

The year was a notable one for long lengths, two records having been beaten. The Treble Bob Major record now stands at 17,284, and that of Superlative Surprise Major at 11,232, both rung by the Lancashire Association. 11,008 of Double Norwich Major was accomplished by the Kent County Association, 9,600 of Spliced Treble Bob Major by the Midland Counties, 8,864 and 7,104 of Treble Bob Major by the Yorkshire Association, 7,200 Surprise Minor by the Bath and Wells, and 10,080 in 14 methods by the Lincoln Guild.

Other peals of interest were an Oddfellows' peal of Kent Treble Bob Major by Lancashire, a Foresters' peal of Minor by the Kent County, the first Surprise peal (Cambridge Major) by Freemasons at Crayford, Kent, a 'George' peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on St. George's Day by the Suffolk Guild, a 'Joseph' peal of Double Norwich and the first peal of Royal by Freemasons by St. Martin's, a 'Grand-fathers' peal of Stedman Caters by the Royal Cumberlands, a peal of Grandsire Triples, with two Americans taking part, by Gloucester and Bristol, and a peal of Bob Minor rung by a father and five sons of the Norfolk Guild.

The number of peals rung each month in 1926 and 1927 is shown in the following table:—

	1926	1927.		1926	1927.
January ...	173	148	July ...	99	120
February ...	130	152	August ...	121	139
March ...	101	133	September ...	135	140
April ...	136	159	October ...	174	191
May ...	119	149	November ...	186	165
June ...	109	144	December ...	184	201

The footnotes show that more ringers have scored their first peal than was the case in 1926. This year's number is 811. Those who have rung a peal in a different method, or method on a different number of bells, number 1,096, also an increase on last year's figure. Ringers of their first peal inside number 86, away from the tenor 7, in the method inside 71, Maximus 14, Cinqus 10, Royal 32, Caters 27, Major 83, Triples 26, Minor 81, Doubles 54, on twelve bells 18, on ten 25, on eight 38, on six 3, on five 9, Surprise 37, 'in hand' 11, in method 'in hand' 29.

The number of new conductors totals 81, and conductors of a fresh method 63.

Other footnotes show that 80 peals were the first on the bells, 25 the first since restoration, and 163 the first in the method on the bells. Muffled and half-muffled peals number 68, birthday peals 294, wedding (including silver, golden and diamond) 70, church festivals and dedications 29, Empire Day 1, Armistice Day 17, Anniversaries 53, welcome and farewell peals 43.

Peal ringing by the ladies still increases, and 95 have taken part in peals. Four appear among the conductors, one having conducted three peals and three one peal each.

As usual, we conclude our report by giving the number of peals rung in representative years since 1881, the total for the whole period being 51,839:—

1885 ...	500	1905 ...	1,519	1917 ...	130	1924 ...	1,860
1889 ...	797	1909 ...	1,628	1919 ...	1,048	1925 ...	1,689
1894 ...	859	1913 ...	2,358	1920 ...	1,471	1926 ...	1,667
1898 ...	1,002	1914 ...	1,415	1921 ...	1,632	1927 ...	1,841

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful meeting of the Alton District was held at Binsted on Saturday, when about 30 ringers attended from Blackmoor, Binsted, Chawton, Froyle, Farnham, North Stoneham, Winchester, Binfield and Selborne. During the afternoon and evening a variety of methods was practised, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Minor.

At the business meeting, the bands of Chawton, Froyle and Selborne joined the Guild, and it was arranged to hold the next meeting at Blackmoor and Selborne on September 22nd. Due notice of this will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT.

The spring meeting of the Basingstoke District was held at Deane on April 28th. Close on 70 members were gathered together, and they were met by Dr. Smith, the town clerk of Basingstoke, on their way to the church. Through the instrumentality of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who resigned the incumbency 12 months ago, a new treble bell has been added to the other five, and the addition has made an enormous difference in the ringing. A pleasant feature was the large number of parishioners who came to join in the service. The ringers and parishioners filled the church to overflowing. Why not invite our congregations to attend as well? Their presence is a mark of unity.

At the business meeting a letter was read from the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, an old friend of the Guild and former district secretary, who is now Master of the Gloucestershire and Bristol Association. The Yateley band gave a 'turn' on their handbells by ringing Grandsire Doubles. This was very much appreciated, especially by some of the younger members of the Guild, who had not had the privilege of hearing handbells before. Meetings are usually dry and rigid, but a little music in some form or another creates enthusiasm, interest and admiration.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF THE NORTHERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Lincoln on Saturday, May 12th, a good number of members and friends being present from various towers in the branch, including Bardney, Barrow-on-Humber, Barton-on-Humber, Bassingham, Bigby, Blankney, Branston, Brigg, Cranwell, Gainsborough, Grimsby (St. Andrew's), Lincoln, Nocton, Scotherne and Willingham. There were also present Rev. H. Law James (Guild Ringing Master), Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson from the Ellos Deaneries Branch, Mr. C. T. H. Bradley and Mrs. Humphries, representing the Southern Branch, and Mr. J. H. Brothwell, Treeton, Rotherham. The bells of St. Peter-at-Gowts and St. Botolph's were available during the afternoon and evening, and Washingtonborough after the business meeting.

Service was held in St. Peter-at-Arches' Church, the Guild Office being used. The Rector (Rev. R. Bond) officiated, and gave an instructive address to the large congregation present. The service was fully choral, the singing being led by an augmented choir consisting chiefly of members of the branch, to whom credit is due for the efficient way in which they performed their duties. Mr. F. F. Linley (Northern Branch president) read the lesson. Tea was provided at the Co-operative Cafe, at which 76 members and friends were present.

The business meeting followed, over which Mr. F. F. Linley presided, being supported by Rev. R. Bond (Lincoln District president), Rev. H. T. Parry (Grimsby District president), and members of the committee.

Apologies of absence were received from the Lord Bishop of Lincoln, Canon W. Hicks, Messingham, and Mr. R. Scott (Sleaford district secretary), also the Dean of Lincoln, who had written expressing regret at his inability to be present, likewise thanking the members for the vote of sympathy in his sad bereavement by the death of Mrs. Fry, which was passed at the Guild annual meeting.

The whole of the officers were re-elected, and the following were elected members of the branch: Miss E. Thompson, Barton-on-Humber, Mr. E. Rouse and Mr. E. Sanderson, Broughton, while Mr. F. Laming, of the latter place, was re-elected.

Mr. Geo. Chester proposed, and Mr. G. Webb seconded, that a grant of £1 ls. be made from the Northern Branch funds towards the re-hanging of the bells at Killingholme Church, and this was agreed to.

Mr. C. Chester suggested that cards of membership be introduced in the place of receipts for subscriptions received.—After discussion, Mr. Chester proposed that the matter be left over for investigation by the committee. This was agreed to by the members.

The President congratulated the district secretaries on their work during the past year, and thanked them and the auditors for their services.

Mr. Geo. Chester informed the members that he had, that afternoon, had an interview with the Rev. H. Law James, who for special reasons was unable to be present at the meeting, and stated that, all being well, he saw no reason why the Cathedral bells should not be in position by about October.

Mr. Linley proposed a vote of thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells, especially the Rev. R. Bond for allowing the service to be held in St. Peter-at-Arches' Church and for his address.—This was carried, and responded to by the Rev. Bond.

A hearty welcome was extended to the Rev. H. T. Parry, who, in reply, congratulated the branch on its staff of officers, and at the same time made reference to some of the members being neglectful in giving notification respecting their intention of being present at tea. Also the delay of progress through one or more of the members failing to put in an appearance on practice nights.

Votes of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success were also passed and brought the business to a close, after which the members adjourned to the various towers for further ringing.

NORTHERN BRANCH.

A Grimsby district meeting was held at Elsham on Saturday, April 14th. Amongst those present were Rev. Canon Knight, of Laceby, and members from Bigby, Burton Stather, Laceby, Killingholme, Barrow-on-Humber, Grimsby, Ulceby, Brigg and the local members. Considering the inclement weather, there was a good attendance. The handy ring of six were kept going during the afternoon. The Vicar of Elsham (Rev. J. Inglis) conducted the service, and gave a very interesting address. Tea was served in the school, 31 members sitting down.

Laceby possesses a nice peal of five bells now that a new treble has been installed by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. A band of learners are working hard to learn change ringing with the help of members from Grimsby.

At the business meeting the president (the Rev. H. T. Parry) presided.

The collection for the District Bell Fund amounted to 11s. 6d.

Mr. C. W. Taylor proposed, and Mr. G. Blanchard seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his excellent address, and to Mr. H. Rushby, of Grimsby, for playing the organ. Thanks were also given to the Vicar and local ringers for making the arrangements, and to the ladies for the catering.—The Vicar, in reply, said it was always a pleasure to arrange district meetings, because he thought they were a great help to the ringers. He spoke of the excellent work of Mr. G. Blanchard, the district Ringing Master, in walking to Elsham every practice night to teach the Elsham band, who hoped to attain their first peal in the near future.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the above district was held at King's Somborne on April 21st. The attendance was above the average. Ringers from Winchester, Hursley, Portsmouth, Stoneham, Micheldever, Overton Stockbridge, and Romsey were present, and ringing took place during the day at King's Somborne, Stockbridge, Broughton and Longstock.

Service was held in the village church, conducted by the Rev. G. E. H. Theophilus, M.A. (life member). An address was given by Canon Braithwaite on the subject of 'Unity.'

After service, about 60 sat down to tea in the Village Hall. Speeches of welcome and thanks were made, and the ordinary business meeting followed, with Mr. George Williams (Master of the Guild) in the chair, supported by the clergy and Mr. C. A. Smith (district secretary). Mr. Andrews reported on the Overton and Micheldever towers, where he is giving instruction.

The Chairman urged the necessity of getting members of unaffiliated towers to join where the whole band is unwilling. No fewer than 25 new members were proposed and accepted.

The Chairman then referred to the subject of diplomas for young ringers.—The Vicar of Stockbridge proposed that the district should support the idea. This was seconded by Mr. Hillay and carried.

This concluded the business, and members left for different towers, where ringing was continued and various touches brought round.

DEVON GUILD.SUCCESSFUL BRANCH MEETING AT COLLATON ST. MARY.

A very successful meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Collaton St. Mary, near Paignton, on Saturday week, when upwards of 50 ringers were present from Paignton, Torquay, Brixham, Newton Abbot, Littlehempstone, Cockington, Buckfastleigh, Plymouth, Christow, Exeter, Crediton and Dartmouth, the visitors including the Revs. E. V. Cox (Exmouth), C. Carew Cox (Lyme Regis), and M. Kelly (Lipton), the local ringers also being present. The bells were kept going to Grandsire Doubles during the afternoon, and a service was later held in church, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. L. W. Browne), who gave an interesting address. This was followed by tea in the Parish Hall, after which the business meeting took place, presided over by the chairman (Mr. F. J. Luxton, of Torquay).

For the next meeting, to take place on Saturday, August 25th, Lustleigh and Cockington were proposed. On a vote being taken, Lustleigh was selected.

The Chairman said he was very pleased to see such a large number of visitors present, and they were proud to have with them Rev. Maitland Kelly.—The former President of the Guild, in reply, said he was delighted to be with them, and it pleased him to see so many young men present. Commenting on the work of the branch during the past year, he noticed no peals had been rung, but he was gratified to see that Sunday service and practice ringing had been regularly carried out during the year.

The local band were congratulated on scoring their first quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles on the previous Sunday evening.—The Chairman moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for making arrangements for the tea, and to his helpers at the tea table.—This was acknowledged by the Vicar.

This concluded the business, and further ringing was afterwards indulged in. Several members visited Berry Pomeroy, where some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. Others also visited Stoke Gabriel, and everyone agreed that the meeting had been in every way successful.

GOSCOTE SOCIETY'S FESTIVAL.VETERANS MEET AT THURMASTON.

Teams of ringers from Thurmaston, Birstall, Syston, Cossington, Rothley, Thrusington, Asfordby, Great Dalby, Walton, and Wymeswold, in succession rang merry peals on the six bells of St. Michael's tower, Thurmaston, in connection with the Goscote Bell-ringers' Society's Festival, on Monday, April 30th.

Dinner was partaken of in the schoolroom, the Rev. R. O. Barrett (Vicar) presiding. Service was held in the Parish Church later, the preacher being the Rev. Harold Hurst, Vicar of St. Margaret's, Leicester.

At the business meeting it was decided to hold next year's meeting at Asfordby.

The doyen of the ringers was Mr. Dunsmore, of Walton-on-the-Wolds, aged 84. Amongst the Asfordby group were four veterans—Messrs. T. Hazlewood with 53 years' service as ringer, Eyvander Littlewood (38), F. Lomas (35), and S. Read (29), a total of 153 years—an average of 38 years.

The youngest ringing member of the society is Miss Audrey Mansfield, in her early teens, daughter of Mr. A. H. Mansfield (of Rothley), who is the first of her sex to be admitted to the Goscote Society as a ringer.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

When the Central Council meet at Hereford next Tuesday they will probably find that the agenda will give them a full day's work. As a rule the 'provincial' gatherings do not provide quite as long a programme of business as the triennial meeting in London, but this year the agenda contains contentious matters about which many members will desire to have their 'say.' There are nine committees to report, and while some of them may be only formal, the Methods Committee's recommendations as to method names is almost certain to provoke considerable discussion. In connection with this matter it should be remembered that what is decided upon next week will practically settle the names of the regular Minor methods for all time. Hitherto there has been opportunity to discuss them and to make changes, because there is no printed publication in which many of them have been attached to the figures. But after this meeting, a new edition of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' is to go out, and what is printed in that volume will stand, for good or ill. The fact that members are, perhaps, rather tired of the subject ought not to prevent them giving careful consideration to the matter.

After the reports, there are motions on the agenda about which there are divided opinions, and a good deal has been heard at ringing meetings during the past year on the subject of providing peal diplomas as an encouragement for young ringers. Many associations have expressed views for the guidance of their representatives, and this item is not likely to be quickly disposed of. Among the other motions the proposed definitions of what should constitute a 'peal' on five or six bells may prove controversial; while the proposal to set up a committee to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness among ringers is not unlikely to provoke a lively debate.

And when the agenda, already published, has been disposed of, there is an addendum, upon which there are three motions for consideration, if there is time and the Council agree. One puts forward a proposal that the associations should be asked to unite in a scheme for keeping those ringers, and particularly the younger and less enthusiastic elements, who move from one district to another, in touch with ringing. This comes from the Guildford Diocesan Guild. The two other motions have originated with the Suffolk Guild, raising the question of giving consideration to the defunct Nomenclature Committee's recommendations, and expressing views on the issue of diploma.

Both these latter may, perhaps, be dealt with in the relevant places in the principal agenda.

Altogether, therefore, there is every appearance of the Council having to apply themselves to a full day's business, but as compensation the week-end offers many attractions to those members who avail themselves of the facilities for enjoyment which the Hereford Guild are providing. The Gloucester and Bristol Jubilee festivities are bound to keep a few members away from Hereford until Tuesday, but those who reach the interesting old western city earlier will have plenty of opportunity for a refreshing holiday with everything arranged for their convenience.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.THE FOUR NEW BELLS FOR THE CATHEDRAL.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Lincoln at Saturday, April 28th. A large number of members attended evensong at the Cathedral, immediately after which the four new bells to be added to the existing peal of eight were dedicated by the Very Rev. the Dean of Lincoln (Dr. T. C. Fry, D.D., president of the Guild), as reported in issue of May 11th. The new bells were arranged on the floor of the nave, immediately in front of the great west door, and around were grouped the full Cathedral choir, the clergy, and a large congregation of ringers and others who had been attracted by such an uncommon event. After an impressive address by the Dean, the dedicatory prayers were recited, setting the bells apart for sacred purposes for all time. The service concluded with the singing of the hymn, 'O Heavenly Jerusalem.'

The new bells, like the eight bells already in the Cathedral tower, are by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and are very beautiful specimens of the bell founders' art. The inscriptions and other ornamentations have been produced by thecire-perdue process, which results in a highly artistic finish. The alphabet used is copied from that found on the famous South Somerset bells, dated 1423, each letter being an elaborate work of art.

The cost of the 2nd and 3rd bells has been defrayed by the members and friends of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild as a memorial to those of their number who sacrificed their lives in the Great War. The 1st and 4th bells have been provided by the generosity of an anonymous American benefactor, and are part of a larger gift to the restoration fund.

For the benefit of any readers who may happen to be visiting Lincoln in the near future, it may be stated that the new bells will probably remain in the nave, near the great west door, for some time to come, and they are well worth a visit of inspection.

Tea was provided at the Co-operative Hall. The Dean of Lincoln was present, but having to leave before this part of the proceedings was over, spoke a few words to the gathering while still at the tables, referring especially to the progress of the Cathedral restoration, which he said was proceeding satisfactorily. He expressed the hope that the full peal of twelve bells would be hung in the south-west tower by the autumn of this year.

To the gratification of all present, the Lord Bishop of Lincoln (patron of the Guild) arrived while tea was still in progress, and presided at the business meeting which followed. He congratulated the Guild upon having accomplished their work in regard to the provision of the new bells, and said he understood they would be a very fine addition to the peal, which he hoped would be installed before the end of the year. He said it would be a great thing that, when the Cathedral repairs were completed and the great service of thanksgiving was held, the bells would be able to signalise the occasion in full beauty and power.

The following officers of the Guild were re-elected: President, the Very Rev. the Dean of Lincoln; Master, the Rev. H. Law James; hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Stokes; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. F. Linley.

The meeting passed a vote of sincere sympathy with the Dean of Lincoln in the loss recently sustained by him in the death of his wife.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Bishop of Lincoln for presiding, and to the incumbents of St. Peter-at-Gowts, St. Botolph's, and St. Peter-at-Arches for the use of their towers for ringing during the afternoon and evening. As the bells at the last-named tower are still out of action, the Rector kindly allowed the use of the belfry for hand-bell ringing. A number of members availed themselves of this opportunity for practice, while others made full use of the peals of six at the two first-named towers.

SIX BELLS DEDICATED AT CROFT.

On Saturday, May 12th, the six bells at St. Michael's Church, Croft, Leicestershire, were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Leicester. Six ladies rang the first touch, viz., 120 Grandsire Doubles, after which all the other ringers present had a chance of trying the bells. The ringers numbered about 50, and came from far and near. Even Mr. J. H. Shepherd turned up and measured the tenor in the usual way.

Everyone expressed satisfaction with the job, the 'go' of the bells being perfect. The work has been carried out by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and a word of credit must be given to their workmen for getting the work done in record time. To use the words of one of the inhabitants, the bells are 'a merry little lot.'

The methods rung at the opening ranged from Grandsire to London. A well-struck 720 of Kent Treble Bob, the first on the bells, was conducted by Mr. W. Willson.

Practices will take place on Thursday evenings at 7.30.

ASCENSIONTIDE.

Special ringing took place at many churches for the feast of the Ascension, and the following were among the touches rung:—

KILBURN, LONDON.—At St. Augustine's Church, 1,260 Bob Triples in 45 mins.: W. Wright 1, Rev. M. C. Edgar 2, Mrs. E. M. Atkins 3, R. Gilbert 4, C. Nichols 5, A. Gardner 6, E. M. Atkins (conductor) 7, G. Wilson 8.

LISCARD.—For festal evensong, at the Church of St. Mary, a quarter-peal (1,280 changes) of Bob Major: J. H. Dodd (longest length in any method) 1, A. Woosnam 2, D. Hughes 3, W. Hughes (age 75) 4, J. Breese 5, J. Hughes 6, L. L. Gray 7, J. C. E. Simpson (conductor) 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

By a typographical error the analysis of peals in our last issue was headed 1926; it should, of course, have been 1927.

A few Yorkshire ringers will be pleased to welcome old friends at the Berkeley Hotel, Victoria Street, Bristol, on Saturday.

The Herts County meeting at Benington, which is usually held as near to the old 'Ringing Day' as possible, is postponed this year to June 16th on account of the Whitsuntide holiday.

A hundred and thirty years ago to-morrow a peal of 5,120 Court Treble Bob Eight-In was rung by the Cumberland Youths at Edmonston, 'the first ever rung in that method on the bells.' It was composed and conducted by George Gross, and William Shipway took part in it. Doubtless Shipway, to whom the Exercise owes a great deal, learned much from this competent ringer, George Gross.

The first peal of Stedman Caters (the complete) was rung at St. John's, Horsleydown, London, on May 28th, 1787. This ring of bells is now derelict. What a pity it is something cannot be done to put them in order.

The existing Bristol Surprise record was set up on May 28th, 1912, when 15,264 changes were rung by members of the Middlesex Association at Hornchurch, in 9 hrs. 49 mins.

The first Surprise peal rung out of England (Superlative at Bray) was rung on May 28th, 1901, and the first Surprise peal in Wales (New Cambridge at Bangor) was rung on May 29th, 1901.

On this latter day also the first and only peal on the sea was rung (Stedman Caters) on the passage between Dublin and Holyhead.

THE LATE MR. J. P. RAYNER.

As briefly reported last week, the death of Mr. Joseph Philip Rayner, the veteran steeplekeeper of St. Andrew's, Holborn, occurred on May 8th from bronchitis at the age of 92 years.

Born on January 1st, 1836, at Clerkenwell, he was baptised at St. Andrew's Church, Holborn, where eventually he became a ringer, and was in charge of the bells and tower for about 50 years.

His ringing activities were confined to 'call changes,' but nevertheless, he joined the St. James' Society on October 18th, 1875, and the Ancient Society of College Youths on January 15th, 1878.

It was only natural that a native of Clerkenwell should adopt the profession of clockmaker, and he carried on this work until about three weeks before his death, never wearing glasses. He maintained all his faculties until the end. He was also a lifelong non-smoker.

The funeral service on May 14th was conducted by the Rector at St. Andrew's Church, Holborn, the coffin being carried into the church by the following members of the local society: Messrs. J. S. Hawkins, C. J. Choquet, W. J. Norton, and E. C. Russell. Among the ringers also present were Messrs. J. C. Adams, T. Benney, H. Langdon, W. Raughton, and C. H. Vidler. There was a large gathering of parishioners and friends. The interment took place at Tottenham Cemetery, and among the wreaths was one in the shape of a bell, sent by the St. Andrew's Ringers Society.

On Sunday evening, May 13th, at St. Andrew's Church, the Dead March in Saul was played by the organist, and touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples rung by members of the local Guild with the bells half-muffled.

The late Mr. Rayner was widely known and respected by metropolitan ringers, and his much deplored death severs a great link with the past.

A NEW RING OF EIGHT AT LEYTON, ESSEX.

A large congregation assembled at Leyton's old Parish Church on Thursday evening, May 17th, to witness the dedication of the peal of eight bells, which have been installed in the tower of this historic building. The service was conducted by Canon Brown, Rural Dean and Vicar of Leytonstone.

There were originally three bells at Leyton. In 1906 three more were added, and the six rehung in an oak frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, but only for chiming. The church authorities recently decided to augment the peal to eight and have them rehung for ringing, and through the generosity of the Barron Bell Trust this has now been accomplished, and Leyton possesses a very handy ring of eight, with a tenor about 10 cwt. The whole of the work, including the casting of the two bells, a tenor and treble, the erection of a steel frame with up-to-date plain bearings and all accessories, was undertaken by Messrs. Bowell, of Ipswich, who have been most successful in the work, the tone and 'go' being all that could be desired.

At the present time Leyton has no Vicar, the successor to the Rev. F. G. Glass not yet having been inducted. The parishioners, however, are looking forward to welcoming him on June 5th next, when arrangements will be made to form a band. In the meantime, the members of the Leytonstone band, with friends, have undertaken to ring for Sunday services as often as possible.

Immediately after the service three courses of Stedman, followed by a course of Cambridge Major, and another short touch of Stedman, were rung, when, owing to the lateness of the hour, no further ringing was attempted. Amongst the ringers present were Messrs. W. Miller, W. Theobald, A. Prior, P. Avey, E. Smith and R. Molton, of the Leytonstone band, together with Messrs. W. Pye, E. J. Butler, G. Lucas, C. Hughes, and E. W. Furbank, who participated in the ringing.

ANOTHER GREAT CARILLON AT CROYDON

AMBASSADORS INSPECT AMERICA'S GIFT TO BELGIUM

A DISTINGUISHED GATHERING.

The Croydon Bell Foundry is becoming famous, not only for the bells which it sends out to all parts of the world, but for the distinguished gatherings which constantly take place within its walls. Last Friday there was another notable assembly at the foundry, when a large number of members of the American Society in London and of the Anglo-Belgian Union gathered, at the invitation of Messrs. Tillett and Johnston, on the occasion of a visit of the American Ambassador and Mrs. A. B. Houghton, the Belgian Ambassador and Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne, the Burgomaster of Louvain and Mme. Vander Varen. It was, indeed, an international party, for the British Navy was officially represented by Earl Stanhope (Civil Lord of the Admiralty), Commander Holland, and five officers and 25 ratings of the new battleship, Kent, which is shortly to be commissioned. The principal object of the visit was to inspect the great clock and carillon of 48 bells presented to Louvain University Library by the American Engineering Societies, while the Navy's special interest in the proceedings was the casting of a bell presented by the Association of Men of Kent and Kentish Men to the new warship. Countess Stanhope has organised the gift of the bell and plans for the officer's mess, and she was present to 'name' the bell.

The carillon, the most up-to-date of its kind in the world, was hung in its frame in the erecting shop, and was yet another fine illustration of the perfection which the Croydon Foundry has reached in its bell products. It consists of 48 bells of a total weight of 31½ tons, and is thus the largest on this side of the Atlantic. The compass is more than four octaves, and the bells range from 10 lb. in weight to seven tons. It is operated, of course, by the usual clavier, but to relieve the considerable physical exertion necessary to play the notes at the lower end of the register—which has hitherto been an obstacle in the development of carillon technique—the six lower pedals of the keyboard have been provided with specially designed electrical connections. These are so arranged that immediately the carillonneur commences to depress the pedal, electrical contact brings into operation an electro-pneumatic motor, the piston of which is coupled to the clapper, its force being thereby added to that of the carillonneur, and the full blow of the clapper on each big bell brought out in a way which unaided human effort could not achieve. This arrangement is known as 'assistance pistons,' and forms part of an electro-pneumatic mechanism which can be used for automatic tune playing, or in connection with an ivory keyboard—such as was described in a previous article in these columns. The Louvain carillon is the first to have 'assistance pistons' applied, and by a special device the pistons of the six lower bells may also be coupled electrically to the octaves above, at the discretion of the carillonneur, the clavier being provided with an octave coupler 'stop'—again for the first time in the history of carillon construction.

AMERICA'S GIFT TO LOUVAIN.

The proposal to present the carillon to Louvain University originated last summer with Dr. Edward Dean Adams, honorary member of the American Engineering Foundation, and formerly president of the Cataract Construction Company, which planned and built the works for the Niagara Falls Power Company. Dr. Adams attended the celebration of the 500th anniversary of the university as the delegate of the Engineering Foundation and other societies. While in Louvain he visited the beautiful new library building, of which Mr. Whitney Warren, of New York, is architect, and Mr. Carroll Greenough, of Paris, associate architect, to replace the ancient one which was burnt down at the beginning of the war. It struck Dr. Adams that the fine tower would not seem complete to the Belgians unless it possessed the two features they associate with their bellfries—a clock and a carillon. It also occurred to him that no memorial had yet been put up for the hundreds of engineers of the United States who had given their lives in the service of their country and its associated Powers. Combining these ideas, Dr. Adams suggested that members and friends of American engineering societies should present the University of Louvain with a clock and a carillon in memory of their members who fell in the war, and also as a token of international goodwill.

Dr. Adams' suggestion has been realised. The cost is being subscribed by sixteen different engineering societies, and the dedication of the bells and clock will take place on July 4th next at the same time as that of the library building. It may be mentioned that the order for the carillon was only received in December, and that its completion in five months easily constitutes a record, the usual time for making a carillon of this calibre being from two to three years.

In designing the Louvain carillon, the Committee on War Memorial to American Engineers has had the advice of Mr. Frederick C. Mayer, organist and chairman of West Point Military Academy, New York, who has just completed his inspection of the bells at Croydon. Mr. Mayer has heard most of the leading carillons of Europe and practically all those in America and Canada. He is satisfied that the Louvain carillon is the best tuned, and has the finest musical properties of any that he has heard.

The great clock which drives the four dials, and chimes and strikes the quarters and hours, is wound automatically. The huge weights that usually provide the motive power—rising and falling fifty or sixty feet up and down the tower—are dispensed with, and electric motors are employed instead.

The clock chimes have been specially composed by M. Denyn (the famous Belgian carillonneur). The first three quarters are variations on, and the fourth quarter the refrain of, a popular Flemish air. The hour is struck on the F sharp Bourdon bell, an octave below the keynote of the chimes.

Each of the clock dials is 15 feet in diameter, and has specially designed stars to take the places of the usual numerals. Thus, there will be a bell and a star for each of the States of America.

The University library fronts a fine square, that forms an ideal auditorium for carillon concerts. A million contributions from American citizens provided the cost of the building. The tower is 285 feet high, and the bells will be hung 230 feet above the ground.

VISITORS SEE BELLS CAST.

The carillon proved of immense interest to the visitors on Friday, the company, in addition to those already mentioned, including Prince and Princess de Croz, Lady Maddon (wife of the First Sea Lord of the Admiralty), Miss Maddon, the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon, Lady Swaythling, Mr. Maudsley (secretary of the Anglo-Belgian Union), Mr. D. Campbell Lee (secretary of the American Society), Rev. W. S. Pakenham-Walsh (Vicar of Sulgrave, Northants), and Mrs. Walsli, Canon Woods (Vicar of Croydon), etc.

On arrival, the visitors first inspected the Louvain carillon and clock, and then moved to the foundry to watch the casting of three bells. The first was that for H.M.S. 'Kent,' and immediately before the molten mass was poured Lady Stanhope dropped a newly-minted threepenny-piece into the cauldron, declaring, 'I name thee "Kent." May you sound the might and power of England over the shores and seas, and to those who live with you, may your tones ring out happy, holy hours.'

Another of the bells to be cast was the tenor of the ring at Sulgrave, Northants, where is the tomb of Laurence Washington, who lived at Sulgrave Manor, and who was the ancestor in the sixth generation of the First President of the United States, whose great-grandfather, John Washington, emigrated to Virginia about 1656. Into the metal of this bell a coin was cast by Mrs. Houghton.

Passing from the foundry, the visitors inspected the many other items of interest in the works, including the 18½ ton Bourdon bell for Riverside Church, New York, which was rung frame high by the electric motors. The three other large bells for the same carillon were also chimed with this giant, whose deep tone was much admired by the visitors.

Other objects which attracted attention were the carillon of fifty bells in progress of manufacture for Norwood, Massachusetts, which will have a 3½ ton bass bell, and another carillon of 49 bells for the Wellington War Memorial, New Zealand, for installation in a campanile being erected specially for the carillon. There was also the great clock for Riverside Church—the most powerful tower clock in existence. It is actuated by electric motors, and will chime 'Parsifal' quarters on four of the carillon bells and strike the hours on the Bourdon. This is the first time that 'Parsifal' quarters have been adopted for a clock.

A delightful concert of carillon music was then given, in which the magnificent bells were heard to their best advantage under the master hand of M. Denyn. He rendered four items, 'Prelude Impromptu' (Denyn), 'Troisième Sonate' (Valentin Niccolai), 'Moments Musicaux No. 3' (Franz Schubert), and 'La Brabançonne' (Campehoult), and the audience had a splendid opportunity of hearing the finely blended tones of the bells over the large compass.

Miss Nora Johnston, who is a student of the Belgian National Carillon School at Malines, of which M. Denyn is the principal, also gave a demonstration. She is the first lady carillonneur, and she played with wonderful skill an Irish air, 'My gentle harp,' and 'Flemish folk song' (Andelhof), M. Denyn bringing the programme to a close with the British 'National Anthem.'

Mr. Cyril Johnston, who had received the distinguished visitors and had conducted them round the foundry, welcomed the guests in the name of his family, his staff and himself, and thanked M. Denyn for his performance. They had been making history, he said, for that was the first time the new carillon of Louvain had been heard, because it was only at a quarter to three o'clock that afternoon that it was ready to be played. The last of the bells was actually being tuned on the previous Monday, and the American gentleman who came on behalf of the committee to accept or reject the bells, sailed for America only on the preceding day. M. Denyn was, should he say, the High Priest of carillonneurs of the world, and they felt very grateful that he had come to play to them. In welcoming the Ambassadors of America and Belgium, Mr. Johnston said his firm were rushing into the lion's den, because in sending the first complete carillon which England had ever made for Belgium, they were sending it to a land famous for carillons and carillon players.

One of the tuning rooms and an adjoining workshop, carpeted, and bedecked with the American, Belgian and British flags, were used as an auditorium, and were afterwards quickly transformed into a restaurant, where the visitors were entertained to tea, before their departure, after a most interesting and instructive afternoon.

A GROUP OF FAMOUS MEN.

The interesting group on the right was taken at Huntsham, Devon, in 1878, on the occasion of what was really an historic gathering, and the names of those appearing therein are household words in the Exercise.

Standing are Mr. G. H. Phillott, B.A., of Cheltenham; Mr. Charles Arthur Williams Troyte, of Huntsham Court; and Jasper Whitfield Snowden, of Leeds.

Middle row: Rev. A. Du Boulay Hill, Master of Winchester College; 'Squire' Leonard Proctor, of Benington, Herts; and the Rev. R. H. Dyke Acland-Troyte, brother of Mr. C. A. Troyte.

Bottom row: Mr. C. D. P. Davies, then at Pembroke College, Oxford; and Mr. W. B. Fulford, of Exeter.

This group, unique in its interest to ringers, has never before been published, and we are indebted to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies for the loan of the photograph from which the picture is reproduced.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A SKETCH OF ITS FOUNDING AND FOUNDERS.

BY REV. C. D. P. DAVIES, MASTER OF THE ASSOCIATION.

In view of the approaching jubilee meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association at Bristol on Whitsun Monday, the Editor of 'The Ringing World' has asked me to 'write a story of the foundation of the association, and something about the founders.' Egotistical though it may appear, let me take the last of these first.

Of founders, there were only two—Mr. Phillott and myself. For years in my schooldays I used to frequent the Cheltenham tower every Thursday evening, and there sit in patience for an hour or an hour and a half in the hope of being asked to take a hand in falling one of the bells (generally the fifth of the old ten) in peal when the ringing was done. Please note this carefully, all ye rising young ringers of the present generation, who have instructors provided for you, and meetings arranged for you, and associations to help you, and books galore to teach you—I had only 'Banister,' and had not even got that then—and 'The Ringing World' to cheer you on. Please note it carefully.

Well, on one of these evenings, in about the year 1875, up came a pleasantly-looking person of apparently somewhere near 23 years of age, who was asked to ring, and got through a touch of what I have since supposed was Grandsire Triples very creditably. The Cheltenham company in those days were, most of them, old stagers; at any rate, I fancy were all well over 30 at least, and so I was naturally drawn to the new person. We left the tower together, and from that day forth became firm friends. He comforted me, and told me that I 'should soon get on,' i.e., in learning change ringing.

George Henry Phillott was the only child of Rev. Canon H. W. Phillott, then Rector of Staunton-on-Wye, who later on became Canon Residentiary of Hereford, and went to live in that city. His son had been educated at Charterhouse, where his father, in early days, was one of the masters, and from there went to Christ Church, Oxford, where he had recently taken his degree, when he appeared in the Cheltenham tower. His reason for coming to Cheltenham was that he had been articled as a pupil to Mr. John Middleton, at that time one of the leading architects in the town and neighbourhood. Mr. Middleton designed All Saints' Church and the Ladies' College and other notable buildings. One of his fellow-pupils there was Mr. H. A. Prothero, who, with Mr. Middleton's son, Mr. Henry Middleton, and with Mr. Phillott, on the death of Mr. Middleton some years later, took the business together as partners. Mr. Henry Middleton died not long after this, and some fifteen or twenty years later Mr. Prothero died, leaving Mr. Phillott in sole possession. It thus came to pass that the whole of his working life was spent in Cheltenham.

At Oxford he had fallen in with Mr. J. E. Acland Troyte (now Capt. J. E. Acland), brother of Mr. Troyte, of Huntsham Court, who was at the same college, and had just (1872) founded the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers. Here Mr. Phillott had been well grounded in our art, and thus was able to take a good place in the Cheltenham tower.

And now I suppose that I must say something about myself. My earliest recollection of any connection between myself and bells is that one Christmas morning, when I must have been about seven or eight years old, I was persuaded by a Tewkesbury youth to take his hand and ascend to the ringing room. What I there saw and heard has faded from my memory. But I duly went down and entered the Vicarage 'pew,' which in those days was just below the altar steps, arriving a minute or two after the commencement of matins. My father's colleague was reading prayers, my father himself standing in the sanctuary. He immediately came down the steps, surplice and all—Church ritual was easy going in those days—and told me in my ear that I had been a very naughty boy.

Such was my introduction to the tower. However, a year or two later, by means of urgent and oft-repeated entreaties, I obtained leave to go there regularly, and by the time that I was 13 I could ring any bell there, including the tenor of 23 cwt. In those days there was no real change ringing at Tewkesbury. There was a company who melted away in the summer, but pulled themselves together a month or two before Christmas, and rang what they called 'the fourteen,' i.e., the first lead of Grandsire Triples, over and over again. What they did was that when they came to 1253746 they made the next row 2135476, and so they went on and on. Well do I remember the reiterated shout of the treble man, 'Off again!'

It was said with bated breath of one member of the band that he had 'rung the seventy,' i.e., it need scarcely be said, the plain course. It will thus be seen that they could not teach me much change ringing. But the hero who, as aforesaid, had rung the seventy, did me one great and good turn, for which I have always felt grateful. He showed me how to prick the seventy. As may be imagined, it was not long before there was a litter of half-sheets here, there, and everywhere in the house covered with figures. Here, however, it must be borne in mind that though I could prick fast enough I was absolutely in the dark as to how, unless learnt by heart, the written rows were to be rung. Of hunting I had never heard, nor ever had my instructor. In fact, he had himself rung the seventy by heart. You will say, 'Why did you not buy a book?' To that I reply that as no one had told me that there were books on ringing at all, it did not occur to me that they existed.

In due course I went to school at Cheltenham College (1866), and then came the Thursday evenings in the tower there. About 1874, the old Tewkesbury band having fairly gone to pieces, Mr. Josiah Wathen and I decided to try to do something on sounder lines—that is, to teach ourselves and a few young aspirants to ring changes properly. Most of us had been chimers for the Sunday services, and we could all manage a bell. Setting to work on the back six at the Abbey, with occasional visits to neighbouring village towers thrown in, we stuck to it through good report and ill report, till in about a year's time we were fairly adepts in Grandsire Doubles, and, I must confess, in Grandsire Minor! Of course we soon began to try our hand at Grandsire Triples, and by the beginning of 1876 had evidently made something of it, as it was in February of that year when I went up to Oxford to compete for a scholarship, that at Magdalen College I rang my first long touch.

So far as I know there is, beside myself, only one of that evening's company, Mr. J. S. Pritchett, still left. Possibly it was in Oxford that I was told that I ought to get a ringing book. At any rate, there lies open before me at this moment a copy of 'Banister' (1874), with the following inscription on the inside of the cover: 'Charles D. P. Davies, Vicarage, Tewkesbury, and Josiah Wathen, Waterworks, Tewkesbury, went halves for this book, March, 1876.' In April, 1877, my father died, and my mother took a house in Cheltenham and remained there for two years.

This brings us to the association. In 'Church Bells' for December 1st, 1877 (p. 627) was published a notice, a copy of which had been sent to the clergy of the diocese, inviting their attendance, and that of all those interested in the question, to a meeting in the Chapter House of Gloucester Cathedral on January 8th, 1878. It read as follows:—

'Rev. and Dear Sir,—It is proposed to form in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol, an association of church change ringers, similar to those already established in Devonshire, Durham and Norfolk. The Archdeacon of Gloucester has already signified his approbation of the scheme, and promised to preside at a preliminary meeting on the subject.'

'The following clergy have also kindly promised their co-operation, and, if possible, their attendance: Rev. Canon Bell, Rector of Cheltenham; Rev. John Emeris, Rector of Upton St. Leonard's; Rev. Thomas Keble, Vicar of Bisley; Rev. Alfred Kent, Vicar of Coln St. Aldwyns; Rev. Hemming Robeson, Vicar of Tewkesbury.'

'It is hoped that you may be able to give your aid, and, together with any of your parishioners interested in the science of change ringing, to be present at the meeting, which will be held in the Cathedral Chapter Room, Gloucester, on Tuesday, 8th January, 1878.'

'The chief objects of the association would be (1st) the promotion of change ringing on church bells in the diocese, and its introduction in those places where it has hitherto been unknown; (2nd) to offer facilities for gatherings among the various societies of ringers already existing; (3rd) the recognition of ringers as churchworkers.'

'Communications on the subject are earnestly invited, and may be addressed to—

'G. H. PHILLOTT, Trevor House, Leckhampton Road, Cheltenham,

'C. D. P. DAVIES, Eton House, Wellington Street, Cheltenham.

'Hon. Secretaries, pro tem.'

The meeting was duly held, and the following brief report of it is given in the issue of January 19th (p. 75) of the same publication:—

'According to previous notice, a meeting, by the kind permission of the Dean and Chapter, was held in the Cathedral Chapter Room, Gloucester, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1878, at 12 noon. The chair was taken by the Venerable Sir George Prevost, Bart., Archdeacon of Gloucester.'

'After prayers, the Archdeacon stated the object of the meeting, and the following resolutions were carried nem. con.:—

(1) "That it is desirable to form in this diocese a society for the promotion of change ringing on church bells, and its introduction in those places where it has hitherto been unknown." Moved by Rev. Canon Madan, Dursley, seconded by Rev. A. Kent, Coln St. Aldwyns, supported by Rev. T. Waters, Thornbury, Rev. H. Robeson, Tewkesbury.

(2) "That a committee be appointed to settle the constitution and rules of the society." Moved by Mr. Phillott, Cheltenham, seconded by Mr. Davies, Cheltenham, supported by Rev. H. Warleigh, Ashchurch, Rev. W. T. Allen, St. Briavel's, Mr. Drinkwater, Sandhurst.

(3) "That the following gentlemen be appointed members of the committee." Moved by Rev. J. Emeris, Upton St. Leonards, seconded by Rev. T. Keble, Bisley.

'A committee of fifteen was then appointed, with power to add to their number.

'The Archdeacon then brought the meeting to a close with a short prayer and the Blessing. A large number of those present gave in their names, together with their subscriptions, as honorary members. Mr. Emeris kindly accepted the office of treasurer, and begged, before separating, to offer the thanks of the meeting to the Archdeacon for taking the chair.

'The Cathedral bells were rung for a short space in the interval between the close of morning service and the commencement of the meeting. . . . During the afternoon and evening several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and some Grandsire Doubles, were rung at the Church of St. Mary de Crypt.'

In a brief survey of our history, which will appear in the forth-

DEATH OF MR. JOHN WATSON.

LOSS TO BLACKBURN.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. 'Jack' Watson, of Blackburn, who passed away on Friday, May 11th, after a long and painful illness, at the age of 62 years. He had been a member of the Cathedral band for a great number of years, and during that time he rarely missed ringing for services or practice.

He was for 22 years the hon. secretary of the Blackburn Branch, which position he resigned six months ago, owing to ill-health, and also served on the committee of the Lancs. Association for a similar period. By his death the Exercise has lost an invaluable member, who was never happier than when assisting young ringers. A good striker, with a preference for the heavy end, he had rung in 126 peals, ranging from Bob Minor to London Surprise Major.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, May 15th, at Samlesbury Church, near Preston, the first portion of the service being held at Blackburn Cathedral, and conducted by Rev. Glynn Jackson (curate). After the committal service the whole pull and stand was rung on the bells at Samlesbury, and during the evening a muffled peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Michael's, Blackburn. It was intended to attempt a muffled peal at the Cathedral on Thursday, but owing to a service being held a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung instead.

The deceased will be sadly missed in the towers of the Blackburn Branch amongst the bells he loved so well, and where his good striking and happy disposition made him a general favourite.

ASCENSIONTIDE.

NOTTINGHAM.—At St. Mary's Church, 1,260 Grandsire Triples in 51 mins.: Miss I. B. Thompson 1, A. Coppock 2, A. Gamble 3, L. Clay 4, A. Goodwin 5, A. Lambert 6, F. Blood (conductor) 7, Burton Marshall 8. This is the longest length on these bells by a local band for upwards of forty years.

NORTHAMPTON.—At St. Peter's Church, for evening service, a quarter-peal (by A. J. Pitman) of Stedman Triples in 42 mins.: W. H. Austin 1, E. Sibley 2, A. Slade 3, W. R. Parker 4, S. J. Lawrence 5, W. Sturgess 6, W. J. Dove (conductor) 7, J. Wilkins 8. First quarter-peal on the bells since their restoration. All are Sunday service ringers at the above church.

counting report of the association, will be found the names of a few of our early leading spirits among conductors and members continued to some of the present time. Much as I should like to repeat them here, I must forgo that pleasure, and pass on to a few words on the subject of the growth and development of the association.

Up about the first twenty years of its existence it steadily grew and proved itself of great value as a centre of influence and help in the furtherance of the two main objects for which it was founded, namely, the promotion of belfry reform and the cultivation of change ringing.

About the year 1897 a crisis was reached when the See of Bristol was separated from that of Gloucester. After careful and thorough deliberation the association decided, and, as we now feel sure, wisely decided to remain one and undivided, with only the necessary adjustment in its title, which thenceforth became 'The Association of Change Ringers for the Dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol.'

Some two or three years later it was deemed advisable to inaugurate district branches with a view to getting into closer contact with individual parishes. Accordingly the three archidiaconal branches of Gloucester, Cirencester and Bristol were established. These did splendid work for ten or twelve years, when it began to be felt that an extension of the same principle of subdivision would be of advantage. As a result of this process we have now about ten district branches, each with a branch chairman and hon. secretary, holding frequent meetings in all parts of the two dioceses, thus infusing and maintaining life and movement throughout our whole area.

It may be interesting in conclusion to mention a few of our more notable peals:—

(1) The peal at the opening of the ring of eight at Prestbury on October 14th, 1886, was the first in which all the working bells were rung by clergymen in priests' Orders.

(2) At Cheltenham, on May 21st, 1888, 13,054 Stedman Caters, conducted by W. T. Pates.

(3) At Cheltenham, on April 22nd, 1889, 15,227 Grandsire Caters, conducted by W. T. Pates.

(4) At Prestbury, on April 22nd, 1912, 5,056 Superlative Surprise Major, rung entirely by clergy, conducted by Rev. H. Law James.

(5) At Painswick, on February 14th, 1920, 13,001 Grandsire Cinques, conducted by Albert Wright.

(6) At St. Mary-le-Port, Bristol, on January 28th, 1921, a non-conducted peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's ten-part).

(7) At St. Stephen-the-Martyr, Bristol, on November 3rd, 1923, a non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples (Washbrook's Ten-part).

(8 and 9) Two peals, one in 1917 and one in 1925, each conducted by a lady.

It will thus be seen that we have maintained a good level of work and usefulness, and I am certain that I am only echoing the earnest wish of all our members in expressing the hope that we may be enabled to continue on the path of progress and of increasing benefit to the church in the two dioceses.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUND FINANCIAL POSITION.

There was a large attendance of Sussex ringers at the annual meeting of their county association at Brighton on Saturday week, the following towers being represented: Angmering; St. Peter's, St. Nicholas, and the Good Shepherd, Brighton; Burgess Hill; the Cathedral, Chichester; Coleman's Hatch; Crawley; Cuckfield; East Grinstead; St. Saviour's, Eastbourne; Heene; Blacklands and St. Clement's, Hastings; Hurstpierpoint; Southover, Lewes; Lindfield; Lower Beeding; Pulborough; Seaford; Shoreham-by-Sea; Warnham and West Grinstead; while among the visitors were Mr. A. A. Hughes (Whitechapel Foundry), Mr. F. W. Rogers and Mr. A. T. Greenwood (Portsmouth), Mrs. F. I. Hairs, etc.

The towers of St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd were open for ringing during the day, and in the afternoon a special service was held in St. Nicholas' Church, the Vicar (Rev. H. Collinson) giving an appropriate address on the message of the bells to Christian people. The offertory for the association's benevolent fund amounted to 15s. 2d.

The annual business meeting followed tea at Morley's Pavilion Restaurant, at which over 80 were present. The Master, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman, presided, supported by Mr. F. B. Tompkins (vice-president), Mr. Ellman Brown (hon. treasurer), and Mr. A. D. Stone (hon. secretary).

The annual report stated that the year 1927, though not marked by any event of outstanding importance, compared quite favourably with its predecessors. Owing to the sound and careful policy pursued by those in charge of the association's funds, the financial position was quite satisfactory. The reports received from the divisional secretaries showed that the average attendance at their meetings had been maintained, but it was hoped that the extra facilities for railway fares would prove an inducement to increase the attendances still more in the future. The committee were strongly in favour of members of neighbouring towers meeting for combined practice, believing that this would be a powerful incentive for stimulating interest and progress in ringing, and should also prove instrumental in bringing in new members. In the course of the past year the following work had been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank: Brighton, Church of the Good Shepherd, new ring of eight, tenor 13½ cwt.; Storrington, five bells rehung with new fittings, a new treble is to be added shortly; Eastbourne, Christ Church, the peal rehung with new bearings and the frame strengthened; Eastbourne, St. Mary's, the third, fifth and seventh recast, the peal retuned and rehung with entirely new fittings, the framework strengthened; Alfriston, the second and fifth recast, the fourth replaced by a new bell and the old one preserved in the church, the peal rehung with new fittings and framework.

In conclusion, the committee reminded members that the first purpose for which church bells exist is Sunday service ringing. They were glad to note that the average attendance for this purpose had been well maintained, and trusted that on this, principally, as well as all other occasions, the highest quality of ringing would be aimed at.

Mr. Ellman Brown, presenting the report and accounts, said the balance in hand had increased from £107 to £112, despite increased expenditure, which, in his opinion, showed an increased interest in the association. The Benevolent Fund balance in hand had increased from £62 to £67, there having been a demand of only £2 2s. upon it.

The report and accounts were adopted, on the proposition of Mr. F. B. Tompkins, who said the healthy state of the association was evidence of the ability of its officers.

The president (the Bishop of Chichester) and the vice-president were re-elected. The officers were re-elected as follow: Master, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman (Brighton); hon. treasurer, Mr. Ellman Brown (Shoreham); hon. general secretary, Mr. A. D. Stone (Brighton); hon. auditors, Messrs. W. C. Hart and R. J. Dawe; hon. peals' secretary, Mr. Frank Bennett (Brighton); and Central Council delegate, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Stone, on the proposition of Mr. Ellman Brown, who expressed warm appreciation of his services. 'A more painstaking, a more genuine, and a more hard-working secretary you never will find again,' he said.

Mr. Stone announced that the following towers had become affiliated during the year: Good Shepherd, Brighton (8 bells); Coleman's Hatch (8); St. Clement's, Hastings (8); Ringmer (8); and Hurlfield (6). He expressed the hope that the few remaining unaffiliated would join them, and so take their part in the advance of change ringing throughout the county.

Several new members were elected, including one from the tower of the Good Shepherd, Brighton, two from Seaford, and a number from the newly-affiliated tower of St. Mary's, Hurlfield.

The Master revealed that he came away from the last Central Council in London little wiser and considerably poorer. He listened to an extremely technical discourse, and lost his purse!

Brighton was selected as the place for the next annual meeting.

Mr. H. J. Tucker (Chichester) raised a question of reverting to the practice of holding the meeting on a Bank Holiday instead of on a Saturday; but he found no support, it being suggested that most of the members would prefer the cricket field during the afternoon.

Hearty thanks were accorded to those who had provided facilities for the association during the day.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

ARRANGEMENTS BY THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The large hall at the Booth Hall Hotel is placed at disposal of our visitors as a social centre for the whole of Monday and Tuesday, and here cold luncheons (2s. 6d.) and teas may be obtained. The hotel entrance is up a passage opposite the Old House in the High Town.

Unless unforeseen difficulties occur, there will be a motor trip through the Wye Valley to Tintern on Monday afternoon. The hour of starting will be fixed to suit, as far as possible, the convenience of those who wish to go. Notice of the hour will be posted in the hall at the Booth Hall Hotel, and there seats may be booked, to the extent of the accommodation available, by those who have not previously sent me their names. The fare will be about 7s. 6d.

Any other notices about ringing facilities, etc., will be posted at the same place.

Members of the Council and their friends are invited to a meat tea on Tuesday in the same hall at 5 p.m. The social will be held there on Tuesday evening at about 7.30 p.m.

H. S. T. RICHARDSON,
Hon. Secretary.

St. Nicholas' Rectory, Hereford.

FIFTY YEARS AS LEADER.

STEBBING RINGER'S LONG SERVICE RECOGNISED.

A very well-attended meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association was held at Stebbing on Saturday, when fifty members were present from seventeen parishes. The ringers' Office was said, and an excellent address given by the Vicar (Rev. C. E. Livesey). The lesson was read by the Master (Mr. C. H. Howard). Tea and meeting followed in the Sunday School. The Vicar presided at the tea, and Mr. A. A. Saunders, District Master, presided at the meeting, supported by the Master, the Vicar, General Henderson, and the hon. district secretary, Mr. W. Arnold.

Eight new members were elected, and it was decided to hold meetings at Inworth and Halstead during the summer months.

After the business had been disposed of, the meeting was thrown open to the parishioners for the purpose of making a presentation to Mr. E. Claydon, who has been the leader of the Stebbing ringers for 50 years. The gift took the form of an eight-day marble mantel clock, with a suitable inscription, a list of subscribers beautifully inscribed in an album by Mr. Davis, of Stebbing, and an envelope containing the balance of subscriptions received in Treasury notes.

The Master, in making the presentation, eulogised the services rendered to the church by Mr. E. Claydon over the long period of 50 years. He recalled the time when Stebbing had only a ring of five bells and a company of call-change ringers. Mr. Claydon and other young members of the band, in order to acquire the art of change ringing, walked regularly every week in all weathers to Braintree, a distance of seven miles each way, to attend the ringing practice there, and when they became well versed in the art taught others, and so established a change-ringing band in Stebbing, which had continued in existence without a break until the present time. In handing the gifts to Mr. Claydon, the Master said how pleased he was that so loyal a son of the church had been recognised by his brother ringers and fellow-parishioners.

Mr. J. T. Barker, churchwarden, and a ringer for 50 years, said that he and Mr. H. Emery, a ringer for nearly 40 years in the parish, had made the collection. It was a real pleasure to them. There were no refusals, everyone was so pleased to give.

Mr. Claydon, who only a short time previously had been told of the presentation, expressed his thanks and appreciation for the very handsome gifts. What he had done for ringing, he said, had been a labour of love, and he felt he did not deserve to be recognised for his services more than his friend Mr. Barker, who had also completed 50 years as a ringer at Stebbing. Mr. Claydon gave some very interesting and amusing reminiscences of his early experiences with the old local band of ringers.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

METHODS COMMITTEE'S PROPOSALS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Criticism is invited of the draft list of names for Minor methods appearing in your issue of the 11th, and it is as well not to allow this proposal to go unchallenged. Quite briefly, an obvious first revision of that list would require the following alterations:—

- (a) Substitutes for the 'floral' names.
- (b) Deletion of the word 'Abbey' from the 'abbey' names.
- (c) Deletion of the word 'Castle' from the 'castle' names.
- (d) Certain other abbreviations.

The floral names are clearly unsuitable for a scientific nomenclature. As regards the 'abbey' names, apart from that abbreviation being an improvement, it avoids an absurdity. When 'Tintern,' 'Fountains,' 'Glastonbury,' etc., are mentioned, one so naturally thinks of the Abbey of that name, that to drag in that word (Abbey) is needless—e.g., 'Tintern Delight' is a tolerably good name; 'Tintern Abbey Delight' cumbersome and less euphonious.

Exactly the same is to be said of the castle names, apart from which quite a number of these duplex names have been adopted by the Union Castle Line for their steamships—e.g., Carisbrooke Castle, Chesham Castle, etc. Why need the names of well-known steamers be employed in our ringing nomenclature?

The original intention in choosing names from abbeys and castles—in itself a most happy idea—has been misunderstood and misapplied.

Furthermore, such glaring combinations as 'Duke of Norfolk,' 'Duke of Clarence,' 'Queen Victoria,' 'Woodcock's Victory,' etc., at least require abbreviation to 'Norfolk,' 'Clarence,' 'Victoria,' 'Woodcock,' etc., if these names must be retained.

We claim our art as a science. To print in an official publication of the Council such unsuitable names, such awkward combinations, and, above all, such absurdities as are now in question, would be making a laughing-stock of the Exercise.—Yours very truly,

Beechwood,
Old Catton, Norwich.

G. P. BURTON.

INSTANCES OF DUPLICATION.

Dear Sir,—The methods mentioned by Mr. G. B. Newton are two instances of the many cases where there is duplication of names. It is not very easy to settle these cases, certainly not to everybody's satisfaction; but the general rule adopted is that the oldest name stands. The Analysis Committee took a lot of trouble to find out which actually are the oldest, and I do not think they made many, if any, mistakes. As a matter of fact, Emmerdale was one of those that I queried. St. Laurence is a name already taken for a quite different method, namely, No. 75 in the Major Collection. It is the most difficult of the Little Bob methods. It was one of Mr. Bankes James', and was familiarly known by the Cambridge University men as 'Hot Tom,' hence, when it wanted a more dignified name, it naturally became St. Laurence. You will remember that that saint ended his days on a gridiron. The first peal of it was rung by the Guildford men in 1920. That was, of course, after the Frodsham peal, but St. James' Youths' Exercise is very much older, as the name of the Minor method.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

(Other letters on this subject are unavoidably held over.)

BIRTHDAY PEAL AT APPLETON.

From the point of view both of good ringing and good fellowship it was a great pleasure to all concerned to take part in the peal at Appleton, which was recorded in our last issue. George Holfield has so long been in association with Appleton and Grandsire Caters that it was most fitting he should on his seventieth birthday call a peal in his own tower with old friends. The only matter for regret was that his brother, E. Holfield, who was to have been in the band, met with an accident shortly before, and had to stand out. An efficient substitute, however, was found in Maurice Smith, of Baulbury.

At the close, Mr. and Mrs. Holfield entertained the band and a few more friends to supper at the Thatched Tavern, at the close of which the health of the host and hostess was enthusiastically drunk, and hearty wishes were expressed that George's eightieth birthday might have as happy a celebration.

A DATE TOUCH.

On Monday, April 16th, at St. Leonard's Church, Middleton, Lancs, a date touch of Bob Major (1,928 changes) in 1 hr. 12 mins.: Wm. Berry 1, F. Berry 2, S. Holt 3, J. Smith 4, H. Bastow (longest length in the method) 5, T. A. Ogden 6, J. H. Bastow 7, T. K. Driver 8. Composed and conducted by Wm. Berry.

Mr. J. T. Barker added his testimony to the recipient in a few well-chosen words, mentioning that they also had in Stebbing another ringer in the person of Mr. H. C. Young, who had been ringing for nearly 30 years.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for his address and for the use of the bells, to the organist and to the ringers and lady friends who had provided, at their own cost, the very excellent tea. The bells were rung until late in the evening by the visiting ringers in methods ranging from Bob Minor to Cambridge Surprise.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL JUBILEE

The rapid spread, half a century ago, of the desire to organise ringers into associations which should raise the status of their office and promote the art of change ringing, is being recalled in these days by the frequent occurrence of 'jubilee' celebrations in various parts of the country. Until the Devon Guild was organised in 1874 there was nothing of the kind in existence, except such ancient societies as the College Youths, the Cumberlands, and the St. James' Society in London, St. Martin's Youths in Birmingham and others of less importance in smaller centres. But the aims and objects which brought the Devon Guild into being inspired others who desired to see ringing lifted to a higher and better plane, and close on the heels of Devon followed Lancashire and Yorkshire. Then came the first diocesan organisation, which was established at Norwich, and another for the Diocese of Durham (since divided). Within a year, two young and enthusiastic men in Gloucestershire set themselves the task of inaugurating an association on similar lines for their own diocese, and that society, now the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, celebrated its jubilee on Monday. One of these pioneers, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, whose services to the Exercise in many directions since that now distant day, have been unexcelled, was in the place of honour. He has seen the seed which he helped to sow, grow into a sturdy plant, and it must have given him supreme pleasure to see the enthusiasm with which the achievement of a half century of work was celebrated. The only pang of regret was that the other founder, Mr. George H. Phillott, did not survive to join in the gathering. It is only a short year since he was called home, but his memory will ever be cherished by the association as one who did much to start the organisation upon a successful career and to promote its aspirations.

In those pioneer days it was far from plain sailing. Bell ringing was almost entirely a secular pursuit, and change ringing was little practised. Those who rang the bells for service usually did so for the small remuneration they received and for the 'emoluments' attached to ringing for special occasions. When an organisation was set up which had other motives behind it, it was looked upon with suspicion, and it required much patient and persistent effort to break down the barriers. But it was the work and example of such men as the Rev. C. D. P. Davies and Mr. Phillott which paved the way to the successful societies, which spread like a network over the country to-day, societies whose backbone is a body of men and women filled with the desire to serve the Church, and to promote the art of change ringing, which has grown to a degree undreamt of by those who ploughed the furrows fifty years ago. Gloucester and Bristol will be followed in their celebration by other societies of like character, for several are now approaching their jubilee. Not all of them are diocesan in name, but they all have similar aims; objects which we hope as the years go on will become more and more fully realised. Half a century has by no means completed the work there is to do; even in the spread of change ringing and bringing the bells and belfries of the land into a condition befitting the Church. But such gatherings as that at Bristol on Monday are full of promise for the activity of our ringing organisations in the future.

THE TALE OF A FRAYED ROPE.

At Rye, Sussex, on Saturday, May 5th, an attempt for a peal of Double Norwich was unfortunately brought to an end after two hours and five minutes' good ringing, owing to the fraying of one of the strands of the 7th rope. The trouble began soon after the first hour. A loose piece of rope was noticed at the tail end, and as time went on it gradually got worse and worse. However, it was not until the loose strand was passing through the sally that the conductor called 'stand.' The ringers who took part stood as follows: C. Tribe, Mrs. H. Baker, B. Luck, C. W. Player, H. Baker, K. Pattenden (first attempt), A. H. Smith, and T. E. Sone (conductor).

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.
WESTERN DIVISION.

A successful quarterly meeting of the above division was held at Billingshurst on Saturday, May 19th, a large number of members and friends being present. The following towers were represented: Chichester, Hove, Heene, Horsham, Shipley, West Grinstead, Pulborough, Kirdford, Warnham, Lower Beeding, and Billingshurst. The bells were kept busy till five o'clock, when the visitors adjourned to the Guest House, where they were met and welcomed by the Vicar, the Rev. F. S. Jacob-Hood. After the tea, at which 43 were present, a business meeting followed, with the Vicar in the chair. Twelve new members were elected, viz.: The Rev. Jacob-Hood (hon. member), Messrs. J. Broadbridge and H. Goodsel (Pulborough), F. E. Cheesman, F. Radbourne, and T. Newman (Billingshurst), Miss F. Cooper, Mrs. P. Duncton, Messrs. H. Charman, H. Puttick, M. and S. Sopp (Kirdford).

It was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Bosham in August.

A unanimous vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding and for granting the use of the bells followed. That gentleman, having responded, another visit was made to the belfry, and the bells kept going till seven o'clock in Grandsire Stedman, Bob and Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Major.

At the invitation of Mr. P. Doick, some of the members on their way home called at Pulborough and rang touches of Stedman Triples and Bob Major.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.
SOUTHERN BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting was held at Market Deeping on Saturday, May 19th, representatives being present from Bourne, Spalding, Peterborough, Edenham, Morton, Deeping St. James, West Deeping, Deeping St. Nicholas, Folkingham and Market Deeping. A service was held in St. Guthlac's Church, the Rev. H. Law James (Master of the Guild) officiating. He urged the Exercise to remember the importance of training and encouraging the younger members of the art of change ringing. The Rev. Piggott, Rector of Market Deeping, kindly presided at the organ for the service. Tea was provided at the local cafe, where 27 were present. The business meeting followed with the Rev. H. Law James in the chair, one new ringing member being elected. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Edenham. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the incumbents for the use of the bells, to the Master for conducting the service and presiding at the meeting, and to those who made the necessary arrangements for the excellent tea which was provided. Ringing was again continued in the evening, the methods varying from Plain Bob to London Surprise. The bells of St. James' Church at Deeping St. James were available during the evening, and members took the opportunity of having a pull on this magnificent ring of six, with a tenor of 19 cwt.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

WITNEY AND WOODSTOCK BRANCH MEETING.

The spring meeting of the Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Kidlington on Saturday, when there was a representative gathering. In the early afternoon there was a service in the church conducted by the Rev. I. Lloyd-Jones, Vicar of Kidlington, the address being given by the Rev. Maurice Frost, Vicar of Deddington. The business meeting was held in the Foresters' Hall.

The Rev. Maurice Frost, in the course of his address, which was based on the text, 'Come, let us worship,' said Ascension time was a very appropriate occasion to turn one's thoughts to bells and to the words of the text. They were a real call for them to try and understand what the worship of God really meant. Worship was essentially giving and not getting. The Guild gave their time and skill in the service of God and His Church.

At the business meeting the Rev. F. R. Marriott, Rector of Wootton and chairman of the branch, expressed thanks to the Vicar of Kidlington for allowing the branch to visit the church, and said that the Master of the Guild, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, was unable to be present as he was attending a similar function at Chipping Norton. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was eminently fitted for the position he held as among his other accomplishments he was a skilled ringer.

Mr. Everts, the hon. secretary of the branch, presented the annual statement, which showed a balance in hand of over £24.

It was agreed that the October meeting be held at Southleigh.

An invitation was extended to attend the North Berks Branch meeting at East Hagbourne on the following Saturday, it being stated that a good peal of eight was available.

The meeting concluded with the election of several new members and a vote of thanks to the Rev. F. R. Marriott for presiding, voiced by Mr. J. Monk.

The branch tender their hearty thanks to the Rev. M. Frost for his address, and also to the Vicar of Kidlington for the use of the church bells and for conducting the service. They much regret that he was not present at the tea and meeting.

THE STORY OF A HAT.

'ST. CHAPELIERE'S' EXCHANGE.

In a quaint little Yorkshire town there dwells a band of six bell-ringers, who, as they say up yonder, love to 'set off.' Now, on a certain day in the not too dim and distant past, they did decide to 'set off' and visit 'a cave,' where dwelt a real good sort of a hermit of long, oh, such long standing, who had at his cave a ring of six well-tuned cymbals, their object, of course, being to discourse sweet delights and pleasures on the said cymbals. So they did depute one of their number, who did own and control a rubber bus, to visit this hermit, and by sundry blandishments obtain the use of these cymbals for to hold an evening seance. The said emissary did his him to the cave and succeeded well with 'ye hermit,' and did obtain his permission to make the welkin ring, which so pleased he of the rubber bus that he did call at a certain hostelry, which rejoices in the name of Ye Old Black Swan (locally as T'Duck), and did himself well till a late hour, on the strength of his success with 'ye hermit.' On arrival home in the bosom of his family, he was greeted with the inquiry, 'What's tha been doin' wi thi hat? Whitewashing?' He took off his hat and looked, and to his amazement found he had not got his own prize Lincoln and Bennett, but a much bespattered tile long past its pristine glory.

'Oh,' quoth he, 'nah ahave dune it, ahave coom away wi' t' parson's hut and left mi ohn o' t'hat rack. He'll be iver soa wild. Ah mun tak care on it an' tak it back an' apologise when wi goa to ring.'

So he bade them brush it well and wrap it up carefully, and when the eventful evening came he took it with him and drove up in great style to the hermit's door. Dismounting, he advanced with the hat and commenced to apologise with much ado and humble mien for his misdemeanour. After looking at the bone of contention, 'ye hermit' said, 'But it's quite all right; don't say another word. I don't want the hat.' At which more apologies, and more than one spectator thought that the hermit had found himself very well satisfied with the exchange, and was laughing at the discomfiture of their courier, who had lost a good hat and got the worst of the exchange. But then 'ye hermit' affirmed, 'It's not my hat, and, by the way, where did you call after you left me?'

'Only for a little water to cool my radiator at the Swan,' quoth St. Chapelier.

'Ah,' quoth 'ye hermit,' 'so that's how my flock acquire new hats, is it?'

UNCLE JUSTACUSS.

NEWMARKET, SUFFOLK.—On Tuesday, April 24th, at St. Mary's Church, 720 changes of Bob Minor: L. Warner 1, Mrs. L. Warner 2, R. Sharpe 3, W. H. Paget 4, S. Forwood 5, F. Hunt (Luton) (cond.) 6. Mrs. Warner's first 720 inside.

THE KING'S ACCESSION ANNIVERSARY.

A RINGING DAY AT OXFORD.

May 6th being the day of the King's Accession, it is decreed that Oxford's bells must be rung. This year the day was well started, when six members of the Oxford Society met at Carfax at 8 a.m. The bells having been raised in peal, a well-struck 720 of Cambridge Minor was tapped off in 24 mins.: G. Horwood 1, W. Simmonds 2, F. Wilkins 3, F. Taylor 4, V. Bennett 5, W. H. B. Wilkins (conductor) 6.

After ringing at their respective churches for morning service, ten members met at New College at 1 p.m., where, after a good 'rise,' a touch of Stedman Caters was attempted, but lost after 20 minutes' good ringing. Lowering the bells again, a move was made to Magdalene College, where an hour's ringing was enjoyed on the fine peal of ten.

The next call was at Merton College, where an excellent 504 of Stedman Triples was brought round, followed by a course of Bob Major. At 4 o'clock the ringers visited the University Church of St. Mary the Virgin. Here 240 Bob Minor was rung on the heavy peal of six.

After a short break for tea, a good muster assembled at the Cathedral, where Stedman Cinques proved as elusive as Caters did earlier in the day. However, a short touch of Stedman Caters was brought round, and then all twelve bells were lowered in peal.

The day's programme was brought to a close after evensong at St. Martin and All Saints' Church, with an excellent quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, rung in 48 mins., by W. Blake 1, F. Taylor 2, W. Brigham 3, R. Post 4, W. Collett 5, V. Bennett 6, W. Simmonds (conductor) 7, G. Horwood 8.

A feature of the day's ringing was the raising and falling in peal at each tower visited.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At Skipton, Yorks, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor, with 7-8 covering and the bells muffled, in memory of the Ven. H. L. Cook, Archdeacon of Craven, who was interred on Saturday, May 19th: J. Hill 1, E. Holmes 2, C. Brown (conductor) 3, F. Mosley 4, T. Rodgers 5, H. Roe 6, C. Law 7, W. Bailey 8.

On Sunday evening, May 20th, at St. Marie's R.C. Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 53 mins., was rung with the bells deeply muffled as a token of respect to the late Rev. Father S. Rowland, who was for some time assistant priest at this church: J. Tuke 1, R. Harrison 2, G. Lewis 3, C. Harrison (conductor) 4, F. Shackleton 5, J. Evinson 6, R. Harrison, jun., 7, H. Hurst 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, gave another lecture on church bells and bellringing last week at Shirley. There was a large and influential audience, and £50 was raised for the local fund for rehanging and tuning the bells and adding a new treble. There were a number of interesting lantern slides and demonstrations on handbells from five bells upwards.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the first peal of New Cumberland Surprise Major, rung on May 31st, 1888, at Burton-on-Trent.

The first of the two long peals of Stedman Caters on handbells by the Guildford company was the 14,031, rung in 7 hrs. 3 mins., on June 1st, 1912.

A peal of 5,324 Grandsire Cinques, rung on June 3rd, 1773, was the first twelve-bell peal in Birmingham. The bells upon which this was performed will soon be in the melting pot.

The new peal of ten bells at Bow, Cheapside, cast by Lester and Pack, were rung for the first time on June 4th, 1762.

One of the outstanding performances in ringing history was achieved on June 6th, 1892, when eight Norwich Diocesan Guild members rang 16,608 of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Debenham in 10 hrs. 32 mins.

The peal of Cambridge Maximus rung at Liverpool on May 5th was a composition by George E. Symonds.

Messrs. William Potts and Sons, Ltd., the well-known church and turret clock manufacturers of Leeds, have removed their registered offices and factory to more commodious premises at 'The Guildford Clock Works,' Bankfield Terrace, Burley, Leeds. (phone 52757).

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

We beg to acknowledge a contribution of 2s. 6d. to the 'Irenæus Pistor' fund from Mr. F. Cherryman, Pirbright, Surrey, and 2s. from 'W.R.', Plymouth. The total is now £206 5s.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. TONBRIDGE DISTRICT.

A meeting of the above district was held at Brenchley on Saturday, May 19th, and was attended by about 25 members. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock, and some good practice was obtained in the various standard methods and in Superlative and Cambridge Major. The usual service was held at 4.30, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. P. S. Wholan). Mr. W. E. Pitman, of Canterbury, presided at the organ, and the service was very hearty throughout. Tea was partaken of at the Bull Hotel, followed by the business meeting, as the Vicar was unable to preside owing to another engagement. The chair was taken by Mr. G. Edwards, of Penshurst. The minutes of the annual district meeting were read and confirmed. Ten new practising members were elected, and the election of two non-resident life members was confirmed.

It was decided that the next bye-meeting should be held at Speldhurst on Saturday, June 23rd.

The District Secretary referred in feeling terms to the recent tragic death of the daughter of Mr. W. H. Lambert, of Benenden, an old and respected member of the association, and a vote of sympathy was passed by the members standing in silence.

The question of having fixed dates for meetings was discussed, and the district secretary was asked to make enquiries as to dates of meeting of other districts, and report at the next meeting. Mr. G. Edwards said the next meeting was to be held at Penshurst in July, and he hoped it would be a bumper meeting. He would endeavour to obtain permission for members to view the State apartments and grounds of the Castle. Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for conducting the service, to Mr. W. E. Pitman for presiding at the organ, and to Mr. G. Edwards for presiding at the meeting, were passed and replied to, and the members adjourned to the tower.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The bi-monthly meeting was held on Saturday, May 19th, at St. Mary's, Battersea, and, in spite of a dreadfully wet day, was well attended. Methods of all grades were rung, from Grandsire Triples for the beginners to Cambridge Minor for the elite. Tea was served at the Vicarage Room by Mrs. Gray and her lady helpers, and a substantial repast was much enjoyed.

The business meeting followed, and the routine affairs disposed of. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, Rev. Canon Foster Pegg, M.A., to Mr. Barber and the local men, and to Mrs. Gray and her lady helpers. The company afterwards adjourned to the tower, where touches in various methods were again rung, including a good course of London.

BEGINNERS' TOUCHES.

WARFIELD.—At St. Michael's Church, on May 16th, in 47 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), with 4, 6, 8 covering: T. Wetherall 1, W. Dyer 2, F. Webb 3, F. Buxton 4, G. Higgs 5, J. Brant, jun., 6, J. Brant, sen. (conductor) 7, J. Collyer 8. This is the longest length yet accomplished on the bells by the local band.

OTTERTSHAW.—At Christ Church, for Sunday morning service, on May 13th, 120 Grandsire Doubles: S. Sleet 1, D. Sleet 2, H. Chaffey (conductor) 3, Miss M. Thompson 4, H. Hancock 5, G. Sleet 6. First 120 rung for service by the local band, who only started change ringing this year. All are local ringers except the conductor.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL. TUESDAY'S MEETING AT HEREFORD.

The second session of the thirteenth Council (the 36th annual meeting) was held at Hereford on Tuesday, the president (Canon G. F. Coleridge) being in the chair.

The Bishop of Hereford gave the Council a hearty welcome to the ancient city and to the diocese.

The statement of accounts was presented by the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. E. A. Young), and these were adopted on the motion of the auditors (Messrs. A. P. Smith and J. Griffin), who were thanked for their services. The balance in hand was £26 15s. 6d., against £45 5s. 10d., accounted for by heavy printing expenses.

THE LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

The Hon. Librarian (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), in presenting his report, stated that the sale of publications during the year had been a small one, and instead of being able to hand over a balance of £7 10s. 5d., as he did last year, he had to draw on the Council's funds to the extent of £4 3s. 4½d., in order to pay the cost of advertising the publications. This was happening for one or two years previous to the issue of the 'Collection of Major and Cater Methods,' which in 1926-27 found a ready sale and also appeared to create a 'boom' in the other publications. In 1927-28 only 32 copies of this were sold, as against 150 in the preceding year, and there was a corresponding falling off in the demand for other publications. Perhaps they must await the issue of the 'Revised Collection of Minor Methods' to create a similar boom, and in the meantime trade might become better by the appearance of a revised and enlarged edition of 'Rules and Decisions of the Council and an account of its work,' which was now on sale for 1s. 3d. The Librarian asked for the Council's ruling as to what was to be done with the old edition of this publication, of which there were 100 copies left.

With regard to the library, acting on the instruction of the Council, the Rev. E. S. Powell and Mr. J. A. Trollope paid a visit to his (the Librarian's) house after the last Council meeting and carefully examined all the books, to advise if there were any that were not worth keeping. In the very full report which the Librarian subsequently received from them, they deprecated the idea of parting with any book, though an exception might be made in the case of a duplicate copy of Sottan-stall; they advised the binding of the various pamphlets by W. H. Thompson, and the careful consideration of what is to be the future of the Library, bearing in mind that it ought to be the best collection possible of ringing literature and of easy access to members of the Exercise. Later, the Librarian sent to Mr. Trollope a parcel of MSS. to examine at his leisure, but concerning this he had not yet been able to make a report. An invitation given through 'The Ringing World' to any reader who could offer or obtain the offer of any book that might be of value to the library to communicate with him, had resulted, the Librarian added, in one response, which had not led to anything. The library now possesses the complete issue of 'Bell News.' The total amount received for publications during the year was £5 4s. 9d., while the expenditure for advertising and postage was £9 8s. 1½d.

The report was adopted, and it was resolved to print a revised edition of 'Rules for Local Companies.'

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. J. W. Parker were re-elected honorary members, and a vacant place caused by the resignation of the Rev. A. H. Boughey was left open in case of emergency.

Several new members were presented to the president.

In connection with the report of the Standing Committee, it was stated that a memorial to the late Sir Arthur Heywood, in the form of a peal board (provided by members of the Council), recording his last peal, had been erected in Duffield Church, and thanks were accorded Mr. H. W. Wilde for his work in this connection.

The Peal Collection Committee reported that the one-part peals of Treble Bob had now been completed and were ready to add to the collection in the library.

The Literature and Press Committee's report was presented by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and adopted as follows:—

The committee have only one definite piece of work to report, and that is the completion of the revised edition of the Council's 'Rules and Decisions.' It is hoped that this publication, with the summary given of the Council's activities since its inception, and the special references to the period of the Great War and subsequent restoration of peace, will prove both practically useful and historically interesting. The suggestion is here made that each association should obtain at least one copy of this work and keep it among its official documents for reference. The casting and exhibition of the world's greatest carillons in this country have been the subject of many paragraphs in the newspapers, which were generally appreciative and well informed, also of leading articles in one or two of the principal journals. A recent attempt at a peal of record length naturally gave writers cynically inclined their opportunity, but for the most part references in the press to bells and ringing have been both accurate and sympathetic. It is of interest to observe that one of the general knowledge tests published a few weeks ago in the 'Daily Express' included the following question: 'When was the Ancient Society of College Youths founded, and for what purpose?'

FLORAL NAMES CHANGED.

The Methods Committee's report occupied the attention of the Council for a considerable time, and various instructions to the committee were given, including the deletion of the floral names for the Treble Bob methods, for which the names of hills and mountain ranges were substituted; the deletion of the word 'Castle' and 'Abbey' from names of the Delight methods, and sundry other alterations, made on various grounds.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn reported for the Towers and Belfries Committee, and a resolution was adopted, at his suggestion, that the committee inquire into and report as to the best way of dealing with the acoustic difficulties both inside and outside towers.

In connection with this matter, the question of the welding of cracked bells was also discussed.

The Records Committee's report, dealing with the new records set up during the past year, was presented by Rev. A. T. Beeston and adopted, and thanks accorded to the committee.

Mr. Milne reported progress on behalf of the Council's 'Legal Liability' Committee, and the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards reported that the Broadcasting Committee were arranging with the B.B.C. for a broadcast lecture on bells and bellringing in the autumn.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn again brought forward the motion, adjourned from the last meeting, 'That the Council shall issue, at a small charge, peal diplomas for the encouragement of young ringers.'

After a lengthy discussion, the motion was lost by 36 votes to 20.

The following motion was submitted by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards: 'That this Council emphatically deprecates the discontinuance of the Curfew, Angelus or other bell traditionally rung in any parish, like on historical, spiritual and practical grounds, and calls upon its officers and members to exert their efforts, individually or collectively, to prevent any such breach with ancient usage.'—Mr. T. H. Beams seconded.

This motion was carried with one dissentient.

The Hon. Secretary proposed the following resolution: 'That the Council should consider the feasibility of supplying and fixing memorial plaques in towers associated with famous ringers of the past.' The proposition, however, did not meet with general approval and was defeated.

DEFINITIONS OF FIVE AND SIX-BELL PEALS.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith moved the following resolution: 'That in the "Conditions required for Peals" laid down by the Central Council, the following be inserted: "ON FIVE BELLS. That peals of Doubles consist of at least 42 true and complete 120's rung without interval and without 'rounds' or any other rows being included or rung more than once in any 120. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 120." And the following be substituted for the present definition of a peal on six bells: "ON SIX BELLS. That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 120's rung without interval and without 'rounds' or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 120. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 120."'

The Rev. H. Law James seconded, and the resolution was carried, but a rider, moved by the Rev. E. S. Powell, that all peals of Doubles should be rung with as great a variety of calling as the method permitted, was defeated.

Mr. Walter Ayre had given notice to propose 'That a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongst members of our affiliated change ringing associations with power to report to the next annual meeting.'—There had, however, been no seconder in accordance with rules, and the Council therefore declined to discuss the subject.

A notice of motion, which appeared as an addendum to the agenda, was in the following terms: 'That this Council invites its affiliated associations and Guilds to unite in a scheme for keeping in touch with ringers who remove from one area to another.'

This was proposed on behalf of the Guildford Diocesan Guild by Mr. R. Whittington, and seconded by Mr. A. H. Pulling.

The brief outline of the suggested scheme was given as follows:—

In cases where a ringer removes from one parish to another in the same association or Guild area, his new address can be sent direct by the local secretary to the local secretary of the band nearest to the place to which the ringer is removing.

In cases where a ringer moves away from the area of his own association the new address can be sent by the local secretary to his association secretary, to be forwarded to the association secretary in the new area, who will, in turn, pass it on to the local secretary of the band nearest to the place to which the ringer is removing.

In each case it should be the duty of the local ringers in the place to which the ringer has gone to seek out the newcomer and invite him to the belfry and there extend to him the hand of fellowship.

The scheme was unanimously adopted.

The Council by standing in silence expressed its deep regret at the death of Mr. Pryce Taylor, a valued member, who had died since the last meeting.

In recognition of her labours on behalf of the Council, the members subscribed the sum of £6 10s. as a wedding gift to Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, and it was presented to her in a felicitous speech by the president, and suitably acknowledged.

The business terminated with a vote of thanks to the president.

Afterwards the members were the guests at tea of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, the Dean presiding, and in the evening a social was held.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

THE JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS AT BRISTOL. A GREAT GATHERING OF RINGERS.

The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association celebrated its jubilee during the Whitsuntide holidays, and there has seldom been brought together a more representative gathering of ringers from all parts of the country than was attracted to this festival. Born in 1876 of the initiative of two enthusiastic young ringers, one of whom, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, has been spared to watch the growth of the organisation to its present maturity, and in this auspicious year to fill the honoured office of Master, the association has helped to make a good deal of ringing history while pursuing the policy of elevating the status of the ringers and spreading the art of ringing.

REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.
President and surviving Founder of the Association.

It was a happy thought that made Bristol the centre of the festivities, for no town in England has so many rings of bells in proportion to its size, and it happens that in the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, which exist largely for promoting the social side of ringing, an organisation was already in being which could undertake the heavy duties of providing for the entertainment of visitors and members alike. Nothing quite so elaborate as the programme of festivities has been attempted before, and thanks to the energies of the committee of the United Guilds and the painstaking and ungrudging services of the hon. secretary, Mr. Edgar Guise, everyone had his comfort and convenience considered.

The festival was ushered in on Friday, May 25th, by the sound of the bells of St. Matthew's, Kingsdown, and St. Peter's, City. At the former church a peal of Grandsire Triples was successfully brought round, whilst at St. Peter's an attempt for Stedman Triples was defeated by a rope breaking after some good ringing. In the St. Matthew's peal it is worthy of note that Master Reginald Parker, who had no idea of ringing a peal, was coaxed from his tea to take part. He is not yet 14 years of age, but he is a wonderful example of what can be attained in carrying out the objects of the association, viz., 'The cultivation and practice of change ringing.'

VISITORS FROM ALL OVER ENGLAND.

On Saturday visitors had already been well established in the City, and others from all parts of England were continuing to arrive. Peals had been arranged at St. Mary Redcliffe (Stedman Cinques), where, unfortunately, after a repeated start, but excellent striking, the 11th bell went 'groggy,' and Mr. Albert Walker, the conductor, had to call 'stand.' The St. Stephen's peal of Stedman Caters was abandoned, probably through the 'holiday spirit' which prevailed. The peal of Stedman Caters arranged for St. James' was energetically attempted, but there again the need to continue the happy associations with brother ringers from all parts of England was making itself apparent, and after a while it was agreed to congregate at the Crown Restaurant in the old and historic market place to enjoy the fare provided for visitors' entertainment. Hundreds of ringers assembled at this hotel, and a very 'impromptu' programme, alternately under 'the hammer' of the 'President Elect' of the United Guilds, Mr. W. H. Thomas, and the 'Eject President,' Rev. R. H. Whitfield, was immensely enjoyed. 'Professor' Roper gave a musical 'pot-pourri,' whilst Mr. W. S. Emery, the 'stage manager' of the B.U.R.G., further assisted with an excellent rendering of 'The Sailors' Song.' Mr. Sullivan was at the piano, and community singing was greatly enjoyed. The Yorkshire contingent delighted the gathering with 'a clinking course' upon the handbells, and St. Thomas' handbell ringers, Bristol, gave very pleasing items, the choruses of which were assisted vociferously by the assembly. Mr. Fidler, of Loughborough (who was 'fiddling again') gave a few humorous 'Lancashire stories.' This brought the evening to a close 'officially,' but it was near midnight 'before some of 'em got to bed.'

Sunday came, and ringing commenced at St. Mary Redcliffe at 5 a.m., but as no alarm clocks were provided we believe that few visitors were 'spotted' before 10 a.m., when, according to arrangements, St. Peter's (8), St. Mary-le-Port (8), St. Nicholas' (10), St. Stephen's (10), Christ Church (10), St. Mary Redcliffe (12), St. Philip's (8), St. James' (10), St. Thomas' (8), St. Michael's (6), and St. Luke's (6), were soon sounding out the fact that unusual quantities of peals were being rung. (It must be many years since, if ever before, all these bells were rung at once.) After the morning service further opportunities for ringing were given, and, although a party of ten had motored to Wells to ring on the fine peal at the Cathedral there and 'other places on return,' a good number of visitors had every reason to be pleased with this additional choice of towers. At 2.30 the celebrated leaning tower, the Church of the Holy Cross (Temple Church), was available, and in spite of the fact that an energetic member of the B.U.R.G. was circulating postcards of the tower strapped up with chains to keep the building upright for the jubilee, there was a large number of ringers present. By the by, it has been remarked since by ringers staying at the Berkeley Cafe and looking at Temple Church on the return to 'digs,' that the postcard clearly defines the degree of angle in which the tower is out of upright. (They probably modified their views on the following morning.)

Sunday evening service ringing was well attended, and a great meeting of friends took place after service was over.

On Monday morning the large number was increased by visitors and members of the association who came by road and rail. The visitors were from the following places: Tewkesbury, Cheltenham, Croydon, Surrey, Luton, Beds, Coaley, Chew Magna, Buckfastleigh, Devon, Kent, Weymouth, Chilcompton, Somerset, Gloucester, Newent, Stoke-on-Trent, Woking, Surrey, Banwell, Bath, Portishead, Somerset, Stinchcombe, Wellington, Badgeworth, Nuneaton, Bedwelty, Reading, Taunton, Drayton, Pudsey, Halifax, Bradford, Leeds, Dewsbury, Wakefield, Calverley, Guiseley, Elkstone, Reddings, Stroud, Tetbury, Minchinhampton, Farnswick, Chippenham, Wilts, Clevedon, Stourbridge, Manchester, Stonehouse, Cirencester, London, Haslemere, Surrey, Derby, Dursley, Erdington, Birmingham, Henbury, Bermondsey, Wolverhampton, Wotton-under-Edge, Devizes, Coventry, Hatherley, Worcester, Loughborough, Winchester, Swindon, etc.

Throughout the morning the bells of the city churches were ringing, and at noon a festival service was held at St. Mary Redcliffe Church, the central aisle of which magnificent building was filled by the ringers. There was no choir, but, led by the splendid organ, the singing was of an inspiring character. The service was conducted by the Rector of St. Mary Redcliffe, and the address given by the Ven. Archdeacon of Bristol, who at the outset extended hearty congratulations to the association on attaining its jubilee. One had heard and read, he said, of the formation of the association and of the progress it had made, and now that they had arrived at their jubilee all bodies connected with the church, not only in the city of Bristol but throughout the two dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol, congratulated them from the bottom of their hearts. The preacher, in an interesting address, then proceeded to enlarge upon the spirit which should govern the work and the lives of the ringers themselves.

Over 200 sat down to luncheon, under the chairmanship of Rev. C. D. P. Davies, supported by the Archdeacon and the Archdeacon of Cheltenham, the Rector of St. Mary Redcliffe, Canon G. F. Coleridge (President of the Central Council), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), Rev. R. H. Whitford and Rev. T. C. Fowler. Among the visitors were Rev. F. L. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Guild), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association), Mr. P. J. Johnson (hon. secretary) and Mr. J. Cotterell (hon. treasurer of the Yorkshire Association), Mr. H. Knight (hon. secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Staffs), Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), Mr. G. Pullinger (hon. secretary, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master) and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary, Guildford Diocesan Guild), Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. C. S. Burden (College Youths), Mr. W. H. Shaker (hon. secretary, Lancashire Association), etc.

MR. EDGAR GUISE.

Present Hon. Secretary of the Association.

After the toast of 'The King' had been honoured, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn submitted the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association,' which he congratulated upon having come through fifty years and in assembling on that auspicious occasion in such splendid numbers. Their service that day had been an inspiration, and one which they would not forget for many years, if ever. Those who visited that association at any time knew that in coming into that territory they would meet good ringers and good friends, and have good ringing and good fellowship (applause). He coupled with the toast the name of their Master and one of their founders, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies (applause).

FIFTY YEARS—A CONTRAST.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who was greeted with cheers, said he had been deeply touched by the reception which had been given to him, and that was one of the greatest days of his life. With regard to the history of the association, he could not add much to what he had already written for the annual report of the association and for 'The Ringing World,' but he would like to say a word or two as to the great change in everything surrounding ringing in the last fifty years. The younger generation could not understand how great that difference was. Even in the means of transport things had totally changed, for fifty years ago there were no motor vehicles whatever, no bicycles except the old-fashioned high ones, and the only means of getting from place to place was by train or walking, unless one could afford to engage a horse and trap. In those days men were constantly willing to walk six or eight miles out and home again to practise Grandfire Triples. Then, too, there was very little ringing literature, and what there was was hard to obtain. The only books to be had were 'Banister' and 'Hubbard,' but since they had had the whole of the Snowdon series and many other books besides. They now had 'The Ringing World,' and at one time 'Church Bell' and 'Bell News.' Little was known by the clergy about bells or ringing, and he was afraid many of the clergy regarded their ringers as a troublesome set (laughter). Those who wrote to the press about bells knew little or nothing about the subject, and one gentleman, Mr. Haweis, who wrote a good deal, ran down our English bell founders, and said there was nothing worth listening to except bells cast in Holland (laughter). It was, therefore, very difficult to get bells rehung when they needed it, and they also suffered from the theories put forward by Sir Edmund Beckett, afterwards Lord Grimthorpe, whose ideas resulted in such bells as Worcester Cathedral, which had now got to come out and be recast. Fifty years ago ringers found it very difficult to get church authorities to listen to them; to-day many associations had representatives on Diocesan Advisory Boards, and ringers' considered opinions on bell matters were listened to with respect. He thought their association might congratulate itself upon what it had done during its fifty years. Things were not perfect yet. Reform was needed in some out-of-the-way parishes, and certainly change ringing was not practised in every church in the diocese. However, they had done a great deal, and where there was still work to do it should be an inspiration to continue their labours. They must try to exalt their office and keep before them the great main objects of their existence as an association, which was to elevate the tone of every belfry in the diocese (applause).

FAMOUS PEALS RECALLED.

The Rev. R. H. Whitford proposed the toast of 'The Central Council,' to which Canon Coleridge responded. He said the Council used to come in for a good many knocks at one time, but he ventured to think if they had in their possession the record of what the Council had done—a record which was to be published the next day—they would find proof that the Council had been of inestimable value to the Exercise at large. The Council had always done its very best for the Exercise as a whole, and while it might not follow that everyone agreed with what they did, they had always tried to do the best they could. Continuing, Canon Coleridge referred to some of the noteworthy performances in which he had taken part under the auspices of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, mentioning among others the first clerical peal at Prestbury, the 13,000 of Stedman Caters at Cheltenham, and the peal on Lundy Island. On behalf of the Central Council he congratulated the association, and hoped they had in front of them another fifty years of useful life. Although his old friend Mr. Davies could not expect to be there fifty years hence, he hoped he would be with them for many years to guide the destinies of that great association (applause).

Mr. W. Thomas submitted 'The Visitors,' to which Mr. Percy Johnson replied, extending the good wishes of his own and the association's to the Gloucester and Bristol Association for continued prosperity.

A vote of thanks, moved by the Chairman, to the Rector of St. Mary Redcliffe and the Archdeacon of Bristol was acknowledged by the latter.

A BOMBHELL!

The annual meeting of the association was afterwards held, with the Master in the chair.

The financial statement by the treasurer showed that there was £83 9s. 6d. in hand on the general account, against £73 17s. 2d. at the beginning of the year.

Owing to the death of Mr. G. H. Phillott, who had acted for the association as adviser in cases of bell restoration, it was resolved that three advisers should now be appointed, each to be allocated a district. The appointments and the division of the area were referred to the Executive Committee.

It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting at Chippenham. Stroud having also been proposed and withdrawn, and Lydney outvoted.

Different dates were suggested, and Whit Monday eventually chosen. Vice-presidents and hon. members on the committee were then elected, and, amid applause, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies was unanimously re-elected Master.

The Hon. Secretary proposed that the office of Ringing Master be not filled, as, he said, the two Ringing Masters in the past had not fulfilled their duties.—As it was provided in the rules, however, that a Ringing Master should be appointed, Mr. Cave was re-elected.

Mr. W. Lansdown was reappointed hon. treasurer, and then a bombshell exploded in the meeting. Mr. Edgar Guise refused to be elected hon. secretary, his reason being the appointment of the Ringing Master. No persuasion would alter his decision, and no one could be induced to take office. Various suggestions were made, but an impasse seemed to have been reached, when Mr. Cave, who commented upon the unpleasant position in which he had been placed, said he would resign the ringing mastership.

This at once relieved the tension, and the Rev. Scott, having commented upon the action of Mr. Cave as that of a sportsman, with whose feeling they must have sympathy, said he hoped their secretary would prove equally a sportsman, continue in office and forget all about the incident (applause).

Mr. Guise acceded and, amid applause, undertook to carry on for another year.

Mr. Alfred Wright was reappointed peal secretary, and thanked for his services.

The auditors were re-elected, and several non-resident life members added to the roll.

A discussion on the proposed Central Council peal diplomas scheme was raised, and it was eventually left to the discretion of the representatives of the association to vote as they might determine after hearing the arguments.

A vote of sympathy was passed with Mr. Charles Dyson, of Tewkesbury, who had been injured in an accident, and with Mr. Frank Howell, of Thornbury, who was also prevented from being present.

Mr. C. T. Coles proposed, on behalf of the visitors, a vote of thanks to the secretary and other members of the association for their kindness to the ringing visitors, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the Master for presiding.

After tea, there was further ringing, and the festivities were brought to a close with a social at the Ship Hotel.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

Of all the delightful spots in Surrey there is none more pleasant than the picturesque village of West Clandon—on a fine day. The church and the rectory stand among stately trees, as tall as any for miles around, but on Sa urday (May 19th), in a drenching downpour of rain, the real beauties of this charming spot could not be so fully appreciated. Nevertheless, a meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild brought together a gathering of nearly fifty ringers from no fewer than 19 towers, and the warmth of the welcome received much more than offset the chilliness of the May weather. Two six-bell towers were available for ringing during the afternoon—Marrow and West Clandon, and the whole party concentrated at the latter church for the Guild's service, which was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Sir John Herschel), who also gave an address. Lady Herschel presided at the organ, and the singing revealed that the Guild has many choristers as well as ringers in its ranks. An offertory, amounting to a guinea, was given to the fund being raised for the augmentation of Clandon bells.

Tea was served in the Parish Hut, and Lady Herschel and her helpers were assiduous in their attention to the wants of the members. Sir John Herschel presided, and those present included Sir Arthur Martindale, K.C.S.I. (Marrow), Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., hon. treasurer of the Guild, the Rev. W. N. Willis (Ottershaw), Mr. Walter Harrison (chairman of the Executive Committee), and ringers from Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Marrow, Pirbright, Worplesdon, Shalford, Godalming, Woking, Cranleigh, Shere, West Clandon, Ottershaw, Thames Ditton, Aldershot, Seale, Leatherhead, Banstead, Farnham and Bagshot. Mr. Norman Harding had his first experience as secretary of a district meeting, and very ably discharged the duties devolving upon him.

After tea, Mr. Harrison proposed a vote of thanks to Sir John Herschel for the use of Clandon bells and for conducting the service; also to the Rev. J. P. David for the use of Marrow bells. He also welcomed Sir Arthur Martindale to the meeting.

Mr. C. Hazelden (Ringing Master) moved a vote of condolence with the widow and family of Mr. Thomas Mack, of Haslemere, a foundation member of the Guild, and a very old member of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. This was carried by the members standing in silence.

Two members of the Marrow band were elected to the Guild, and Sir Arthur Martindale was elected an hon. member. In acknowledging his election, Sir Arthur admitted that he had once been a ringer himself. He began his ringing career sixty-five years ago, and finished it about sixty years ago, but as it appeared that one could never be too old to become a ringer, he was not sure he would not make another start (hear, hear).

The question of providing help for the ringers at Albury was discussed, and the matter was left in the hands of the general hon. secretary and the District Ringing Master.

Members then returned to the two towers for further practice, while the Executive Committee of the Guild sat to deliberate upon a variety of matters concerning the affairs of the Guild. Among the methods rung during the day was Sandal Treble Bob, which with Oxford was the first stage of what it is hoped to make a progressive study in method ringing. The next methods are to be College Exercise and London Scholars' Pleasure. Other methods, from Grand sire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor, were rung.

West Clandon tower and bells were destroyed by fire in 1913, and replaced in 1914. Provision was then made for adding two trebles to the ring of six, the frame for them being installed. A fund is being gradually accumulated to complete the work, but the parish is a very small one, with less than 500 inhabitants.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.'CONCERNING THE NAMING OF METHODS.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—One can only read with the greatest amazement the letter written with the above title by Mr. Trollope, wondering why a person with his abilities has put himself in such a humiliating position.

He actually has not any scrap of argument with which to support his action at Ipswich and at the Mansion House. He simply has to go on repeating ad nauseam the same statements which have been proved to the hilt to be absolutely untrue.

The discussions at both places were fully and fairly reported, and everyone knows, and has enough intelligence to understand, in spite of what Mr. Trollope says to the contrary, that the report has never been discussed. Discussion was deliberately burked by amendments, which were not negative amendments, but side-tracking amendments. The reason is obvious. The opposition knew that our report was of such a character that they could not find any argument to refute it on its merits, and that they would be defeated if it were discussed, and therefore they deliberately and angrily refused to allow it to be discussed. That the Council gave them a majority is obvious, and we do not deny it. What we deny is that our report has had any hearing at all, let alone a fair hearing.

Previously to this letter Mr. Trollope has always objected that we insisted on the report being voted on as a whole, and that if we had put the resolutions separately, most of them would have got through. Now he says we presented our report in such a way as to make it 'almost impossible to vote against it as a whole. They intended to move thirteen separate resolutions, etc.' These statements cannot both be true. He is convicted out of his own mouth of making at least one untrue statement, but, as a matter of fact, both statements are untrue. For on both occasions the reports we put before the Council could have easily been accepted either as a whole or in detail. We asked for the former at Ipswich, and the latter at the Mansion House, but in such a way that it was clear that it did not matter which the Council decided to do first.

Mr. Trollope says that we stated that an entirely root and branch reform was necessary, 'extending even to the alteration of such a name as Double Norwich Court Bob Major.' It is clear to everyone who knows even the elements of the subject, reading the reprint of the report in your issue of May 18th, that the exact contrary is the case. We did not propose the least alteration of any well-known name, and never mentioned Norwich at all. This is the third time I have repeated this to Mr. Trollope, and the fifth time I have done so in your columns in all. Yet he calmly repeats what he must know to be untrue.

Let anyone take the resolutions, say the first, and he will see that they are matters on which the Council ought to decide, and will have to decide, sooner or later.

'1. No method shall have more than one name.'

Surely the Council is capable of deciding on this without much debate, or with none at all. It is a matter on which a decision should be taken at once. It is not only the members of the defunct committee who say this, but more than fifty members of the Suffolk Guild in general meeting assembled. And I challenge everyone who voted against us at Ipswich to put it to their associations, and I am sure they will get as unanimous a reply in my favour as I did at Bury St. Edmunds.

Not a single word has been said either in favour of this resolution or against it; and the same applies to most of the report; yet Mr. Trollope has the assurance and the folly to say that these proposals 'were considered on their merits, discussed on their merits and rejected on their merits.' Of course, they were never considered, discussed or rejected at all. All that the Council did was to treat us discourteously at Ipswich, and to give us a slap in the face at the Mansion House.

HERBERT DRAKE.

'LONG STANTON.'

Dear Sir,—I should like, on behalf of our Long Stanton ringers, to thank Mr. Newton for his letter in this week's 'Ringing World.' The Minor method No. 20, C.C. Collection, was rung on handbells at Long Stanton Vicarage by Messrs. W. H. J. Hooten, J. B. Woolley and C. W. Woolley, and afterwards rung in the tower by our band about six years ago. These 720's were recorded by 'The Ringing World' and the name 'Long Stanton' claimed for this method.

It is satisfactory to note from Mr. Trollope's letter that the name 'Primrose' is to be retained for No. 38 of the Surprise Minor Methods, and I hope that the Methods Committee will be able to adopt Mr. Newton's suggestion regarding our more humble method.—Yours truly,

C. W. COOK.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

SOMETHING ATTEMPTED; SOMETHING DONE!

There have been occasions when ringers have asked, after a meeting of the Central Council, 'What have they done?' and it has been difficult to point to any one useful action which has resulted from the proceedings. Last week's meeting at Hereford, however, was in striking contrast to many of its forerunners, and probably no previous gathering of the Council has accomplished so much at one meeting. In support of this view, let us set out some of the 'positive' actions taken: It was resolved to print a new edition of 'Rules for Local Companies,' a model upon which many bands frame their rules and the revision of which a committee has just completed. The collection of one-part peals of Treble Bob Major has also been completed by its particular committee, and was placed in the hands of the Council. The Methods Committee is ready and was authorised to print a revised edition of the 'Collection of Minor Methods,' and in this connection a controversy of five years' standing over the names was finally settled as the result of a series of motions, which gave the Council the opportunity of voting separately upon several of the various questions of principle which have been involved in regard to the titles. Then, the Towers and Belfries Committee were empowered to investigate the best methods of dealing with acoustic difficulties both inside and outside towers. Definitions were adopted for bringing the requirements of six-bell peals into line with present practice and laying down for the first time recognised conditions for five-bell peals; while last, but certainly not least, the Council gave its approval to a scheme by which it is hoped to keep touch with young ringers when they move from one district to another.

That, without any of the other subjects on which progress was reported, was a programme of definite accomplishment not only creditable to the Council, but of real value to the Exercise, and is a complete answer to those who continue to put forward the argument—for which there may have been some justification years ago—that the Council is a useless body. It is becoming more and more representative of the Exercise, and with this increasing support its services to ringing are becoming more and more valuable. We have in season and out of season urged that the Council must be what the ringers, through their associations, like to make it. If they determine to make it a really live central authority they can do so, and there is evidence now that it is becoming more fully recognised in this direction. Although held in a somewhat 'inaccessible' part of the country, last week's meeting was the best attended of any outside

London, and the spirit which pervaded both the business and the social side of the proceedings not only added to the pleasure of all concerned, but, we feel sure, did a great deal to convince those present, who may have had any doubt upon the subject, that the Central Council is a body which is of inestimable value to the Exercise as a co-ordinating force, and can be made of even greater utility if ringers will only give it the support to which it is entitled. On the other hand, the Council, by a programme of business, such as it disposed of at Hereford, will do a great deal to demonstrate to ringers that it is capable of and willing to do practical work on their behalf.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

GRANTS FROM BELFRY REPAIRS FUND.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Thrapston on Whit Monday. Following a meeting of the Central Committee in the schools, the Guild form of service was held in the Parish Church at noon, and was well attended, being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw. Miss Kingsford presided at the organ, and the lesson was read by the Master of the Guild, Mr. F. Wilford.

In the course of his address, the Rector, making a call for more young ringers, said many hands were below strength, and that meant far too much work being thrown on those who already gave a great deal of their time to this branch of church work. They showed a thorough feeling of fellowship and brotherhood as they went from one belfry to another to help those who were short-handed. He would like to take that opportunity of thanking the captain of his own belfry (Mr. J. Nickerson), who for 30 years had done noble service for that particular branch of church work.

Lunch was served at the White Hart Hotel, 96 sitting down. This was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the Master (Mr. F. Wilford). Amongst those present were Rev. R. C. Thursfield, J.P., Rev. G. H. L. Hopper, Rev. A. G. Bagshaw, Rev. C. R. C. Wakefield, Canon A. M. Luckock, Rev. E. C. Channer, Messrs. W. T. Wilson (treasurer), S. F. Millward (auditor), R. G. Black (general sec.), F. Barber, H. Baxter and J. Nickerson (branch secretaries), J. J. Jutson (treasurer, Peterborough Branch), Miss Thursfield (hon. secretary, Northants Branch of Ladies' Guild), Messrs. F. Warrington (Long Stanton), J. A. Waugh (London), D. Vincent (Nottingham), J. Brothwell (Rotherham), W. P. Whitehead (Leicester), E. A. Marsh (Husbands Bosworth), S. J. Loasby (Kettering), and D. J. Nichols (late general secretary). Apologies for absence were received from the Very Rev. the Dean of Peterborough (the president), Canon J. P. Friend, Rev. D. A. Jones, Rev. G. M. Davidson, Rev. C. J. Watkins, Messrs. F. Hopper and T. Tebbut (who had that morning left for the Central Council meeting which was being held at Hereford the following day), Mr. A. E. York, Mr. W. H. Waldron and Miss E. Jutson.

The officers were re-elected en bloc, with best thanks for their past services, on the proposition of Mr. W. Perkins, seconded by Mr. D. J. Nichols, who said he was quite sure no Guild had been better served. The Chairman briefly responded. The officers re-elected were: President, the Very Rev. the Dean of Peterborough; Master, Mr. F. Wilford; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. T. Wilson; hon. secretary, Mr. R. G. Black; hon. auditor, Mr. S. F. Millward.

The next annual meeting is to be held at Kettering, on the recommendation of the Central Committee. A special general meeting is to be arranged at Weedon on September 29th, when it is hoped to secure the services of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, to preach at the service.

Amongst the grants from the Belfry Repairs Fund which were recommended by the Central Committee and ratified by the meeting were £10 to St. Peter's, Northampton, where the ring of eight has recently been rehung, and £10 to Yaxley, near Peterborough, where a cracked bell is to be recast and another quarter turned. Since the Belfry Repairs Fund (which consists of collections at Guild services) was started in 1917, £126 has been collected and grants made of £58 3s.

An interesting feature of the day's proceedings was a presentation, organised by the Wellingborough Branch, to their president, the Venerable Archdeacon Greaves, Vicar of Finedon, on his giving up the benefice on leaving for Peterborough. The gift consisted of a group photograph of about 75 members of the Guild (with the Archdeacon in the centre), taken on the Vicarage lawn at Finedon. The photograph, in a dark frame, about four feet by two feet six, was a fine piece of work, and an ivory plate on the frame bore the inscription: 'Presented to the Venerable Archdeacon Greaves by the members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Bellringers on his leaving Finedon, May 28th, 1928.'

After a few appropriate remarks by Mr. F. Barber, Wellingborough Branch secretary, he asked the Master to make the presentation.—This the Master did in an apt speech, to which the Archdeacon suitably replied and expressed his best thanks.

In moving a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Rector of Thrapston, for the service and for his practical address, to the organist, Miss Kingsford, to the clergy for the use of the respective peals of bells so kindly placed at the disposal of the members, to the Thrapston Branch officers for the splendid arrangements, the Rev. R. C. Thursfield wished the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw every happiness in the new benefice (Finedon) to which he would presently be moving.—Rev. C. H. L. Hopper seconded.—The Rev. A. G. Bagshaw, in his reply, said he was sure they would all be sorry to know that Miss Kingsford was leaving them, and to wish her all happiness, and thank her for her services in connection with the Guild.—A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.

LONDON.—At St. Andrew's, Wells Street, W., for evensong, May 30th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) from Carter's (old Bob peal A. Cutmore 1. J. H. Walsom 2. C. D. Nichols 3. Robt. Thomson 4. H. Dyes 5. C. F. Winney 6. Robt. Fardon (conductor) 7. Mrs. R. A. Fardon 8.

DEVON GUILD.

WEDDING GIFT TO THE PRESIDENT.

The fifty-fourth annual meeting of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, held at Barnstaple on Whit Monday, was attended by 150 members and friends, quite one half of the large gathering coming from all parts of the county by road.

A hearty service was held in Barnstaple Parish Church, the address being given by Preb. Wallington, Vicar of Barnstaple, from the text, 'Exalt the Lord, put forth all your strength.' He alluded to the circumstance of the Guild holding their meeting in a district where change ringing was practically unknown, and yet ringers, in discharging a service to God, were all one brotherhood and churchworkers to the best of their ability. They were not always recognised; the churchwardens, organist and other officers figured on the parish magazine, but the ringers often seemed to be regarded as outsiders, an anomaly which had been remedied in his parish. He emphasised the advisability of ringers being recognised on their Church Councils, and using every endeavour to get the younger men interested in bell-ringing.—Dr. Edwards presided at the organ, and gave a new rendering of the tune for the second Guild hymn.

After luncheon at Bromley's Restaurant, an interesting episode was a presentation to the president (Rev. E. S. Powell), on the occasion of his marriage, of a gentleman's mahogany wardrobe and set of eight handbells, subscribed for by members of the Guild, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Maitland Kelly, ex-president of the Guild. Mr. Kelly, in a happy speech, referred to Mr. Powell's untiring energy, self-denying zeal, and great ability. Having gained the highest honours in mathematics at Oxford, he now displayed his skill in composition to the benefit of the Exercise. Mr. Kelly humorously prophesied that the wardrobe might one day be used to contain Mr. Powell's episcopal robes. The wardrobe, of course, could not be brought to the meeting, but the handbells were in evidence, and rung through a plain course of Grandsire Triples by Messrs. E. W. Marsh, F. J. Davey, G. H. Myers and R. Grater, the tone and performance being much admired. Accompanying the presents was a book containing a list of the 418 subscribers, all members of the Guild.

Mr. Powell, in returning thanks, said he found it difficult to express his feelings of gratitude for such tokens of affection and esteem, and kind thought in providing such really useful presents. He urged all members to continued unabated their zeal for the spread of change ringing, to aim at the highest ideals, with a constant endeavour to improve the quality of their striking, and to make every possible advance in the practice of higher methods. He thought Mr. Kelly's reference to the future use of the wardrobe somewhat wide of the mark, as he believed that two-thirds of it had already been reserved for hanging ladies' dresses (laughter and applause).

The ordinary business of the meeting consisted of the adoption of the annual report and financial statement for 1927, a summary of which appeared in 'The Ringing World' of April 6th last. The balance sheet showed a balance of £41 10s. 6d. in hand at the end of the year. The officers were re-elected as before, viz., Rev. E. S. Powell, president; Mr. T. G. Bartlett, hon. treasurer; and Mr. T. Laver, general secretary.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Barnstaple and organist for the service, to which the latter responded.

Tiverton was selected as the place for holding the annual meeting in 1929.

Five new members of the Marland St. Peter's band were elected and awarded certificates, having only commenced learning at Christmas last under the instruction of their Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Szale. The large gathering subsequently dispersed for ringing at Barnstaple, Pilton and Bishop's Tawton. Braunton tower had also been arranged for, but for various reasons none of the hands were able to keep their appointments there, for which the committee have to apologise to the steeplekeeper.

SURPRISE MINOR IN CHESHIRE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Allow me very heartily to congratulate the St. Nicholas' Wallasey, company, who have recently rung a peal in seven Surprise Minor methods. They deserve great praise for their performance. It is, however, not the first such performance by the Chester Guild.

The Grappenhall company were the first to ring a peal in seven Surprise methods. This they did on December 3rd, 1898, the methods being Wells, London, Worcester, York, Bristol, Superlative and Cambridge. All these methods were 'regular' at the time, so this record must stand. Two peals in the same seven methods have also been performed outside the county by the Chester Guild, viz., at Walton-on-the-Hill, Liverpool, on June 2nd, 1914, and on the 22nd of the same month at Crosby, Lancashire.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE R. NEWTON.

[Mr. J. E. Ashcroft also writes calling attention to the peal rung at Grappenhall.]

BEGINNERS' FIRST QUARTER PEAL.

At Hensbridge, Somerset, on Thursday, May 31st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): D. Pickford 1. W. C. Shute 2. W. J. Coombs (conductor) 3. F. Lovelace 4. F. Hopkins 5. T. J. Setter 6. First quarter-peal by ringers of 1st, 4th and 5th, who are members of the local band.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.MEETING AT ILKLEY.

A general meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Ilkley on Saturday, May 19th, when the bells of the Parish Church of St. Peter were available for ringing from 2 p.m. onward. Ilkley has many claims to the regard of members of the Yorkshire Association, it having been the birthplace of the famous Snowdon brothers, who for a period of nearly forty years guided the fortunes of the Association in their capacity as president. Some eighty members took advantage of the invitation of the local branch, and the bells were rung in a variety of methods.

The day's proceedings commenced with a meeting of the general committee, following which a bountiful tea was served in the Church Institute. While tea was being served, Rev. Canon Hamer (the Vicar of Ilkley) came in to extend a hearty welcome to the members who had braved the stormy weather, and regretted that time would not allow his staying to the meeting. He expressed the hope that the association would visit Ilkley again in the near future. The general meeting followed immediately after tea. The president (Rev. C. C. Marshall) was in the chair, supported by the principal officers of the association.

The Chairman announced to the meeting the death of Mr. J. McKell, of Gargrave. The deceased was one of the few surviving members who had been associated with Mr. J. W. Snowdon, having joined the association in 1877. In moving a vote of condolence with Mrs. McKell and family in their bereavement, the Chairman regretted that no word had been sent to the responsible officers of the association until after the funeral. If such notification had been made, representatives would have attended the funeral.

The vote of condolence was carried by the members rising in silence, and the secretary was instructed to write a letter of condolence to Mrs. McKell.

Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. F. Cryer, G. Lewis, G. Halksworth, F. W. Dale, F. Clark, H. Walker and F. Barker.

As no invitations had been received for the September meeting, the recommendation of the General Committee to hold the next meeting at Ripon was agreed to subject to suitable arrangements being made.

Miss Constance Wade and Mr. W. Foster were elected as members of the association.

A statement was made as to the progress of the testimonial fund to Mr. J. Cotterell, who has been treasurer of the association for twenty-one years, and the Chairman requested that intending subscribers should send their subscriptions to him personally at the earliest convenient date.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

We have to acknowledge the following further sums towards the 'Irenæus Pistor' fund: St. John's Guild, Portmadoc, North Wales, per Mr. F. J. Williams, 13s.; 'B,' 10s. Total, £207 8s.

NORFOLK GUILD.THE PROPOSED DISTRICT REORGANISATION.

The Norfolk Guild of Ringers held their Whit Monday meeting at Fakenham, when, by the kind permission of the Rev. J. Pole Simeon (Rector), the ring of eight bells of the Parish Church were at their disposal throughout the day. This being the first meeting of the Guild at this church since the bells were rehung, the members availed themselves of the opportunity of making a good test, which proved satisfactory. Luncheon was served at the Crown Hotel, Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (secretary) presiding, supported by the following officers of the Guild: Messrs. R. W. Cooke, W. B. Duncan, W. L. Duffield, W. J. Howson, and representatives from Diss, Gressenhall, King's Lynn, and Mr. T. Fitzjohn, of Scartho, Great Grimsby. The Secretary apologised for the absence of the president (the Archdeacon of Norwich), and read letters of apology from the Rector of Fakenham and Messrs. F. Price and J. F. Duffield.

The toast, 'The King,' was proposed by the Chairman and duly honoured.

The Secretary moved the ratification of the belfry elections of Mr. James Bennett, of Otley, and Mr. Cecil George Silver, of Northrepps.

A short debate then took place on the suggested reorganisation of the Guild into three divisions, coterminous with the three archdeaconries in place of the eleven existing districts. The project was favourably received, and the speakers considered that the matter should be further investigated before any steps are taken in the form for motion.

The members then adjourned to the belfry for further ringing, and were joined by latecomers from Norwich and Wisbech, and Mr. W. White, of Cotgrave.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens of Ilkley for kindly granting the use of the bells of the Parish Church was moved by Mr. C. D. Potter, seconded by Mr. J. Cotterell; and a vote of thanks to the local company and the ladies for their kind arrangements was moved by Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. L. W. G. Morris.—Mr. J. Bazeley replied on behalf of the local company, and regretted that the weather had been so bad. He thanked the members for their appreciation.

No further business being forthcoming, the meeting was brought to a close.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The attendance, numbering 78, at the meeting of the Central Council at Hereford on Whitsun Tuesday was a record for a provincial meeting, and only on two occasions in London (in 1927 and 1924) has there been a larger attendance.

Thirty-six out of the 46 associations and Guilds affiliated to the Central Council were represented at the Hereford meeting.

The Central Council is to meet next year at Chelmsford.

James Barham's name is to be perpetuated in the Exercise by calling No. 14 of the Third's Place Delight, 'Barham Delight.' Barham was a famous Kent ringer, and his name is now given to the method which had been called 'Kent Delight,' in order to save confusion with another and older method already known as 'Kentish Delight.'

Mr. Elwell's 'dead horse' (the deletion of floral names for methods) has proved more extraordinary than even he thought possible. He admitted that every time it had been flogged it had galloped halfway up the course. This time it was flogged so successfully that it came in an easy winner.

In connection with the discussion on this subject it is worth while recalling that the names which have been altered were published by the Analysis Committee in 'The Ringing World' on March 30th, 1925. The first peal with the methods Foxglove, Marigold, Daffodil, Shamrock, Bluebell, Geranium and Dahlia was rung at Norbury, Cheshire, on May 8th, 1924, so that there is no question as to which came first—the name or the ringing of the method.

The missing copies of the new edition of 'Rules and Decisions,' about which inquiries were made after the Council meeting, have all now been accounted for.

Mr. E. Alex Young, the hon. secretary and treasurer of the Central Council, has been elected to the livery of the Worshipful Company of Musicians (one of the old city companies).

It is reported that the four trebles at Saffron Walden, Essex, where there is a ring of twelve bells, are to be recast.

The peal of Treble Ten, at St. Peter's, Brighton, on Whit Monday, was Mr. A. J. Turner's 350th peal, 207 of them having been rung with Mr. Keith Hart in the course of over 35 years' friendship. The first peal they rang together was on September 3rd, 1892. Mr. Turner has been for forty years a steadfast member of the band at Southover, Lewes.

Miss Elsie Chapman is the first lady to ring peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

'Uncle Justacuss' writes: 'If the extension of Plain Bob on five to six is Plain Bob, perhaps the Editor will publish the figures of St. Simon's on five and its extension to six, so that the Methods Committee will know what we should call it.'

We need not print the figures, 'Uncle Justacuss.' If the Minor is tricked out in fine feathers to make it a regular method, it becomes St. Clement's. But you already know this, don't you, you wily old bird?

And how about this? London Bob Minor reversed is called Hereward Bob. Hereward Bob Minor extended to Major is called Hereward Bob Major. Hereward Bob Major reversed is named Pershore Bob Major! Hence, presumably, Pershore and London are synonymous.

It reminds us of a man who wore a waistcoat. Sometimes he turned it about and then called it a shirt, and when he turned it back he called it his pyjamas.

A peal of 16,800 Kent Treble Bob Major (then the longest peal) was rung at Mottram by the Cheshire Guild on June 8th, 1906.

The first peal in America was rung at Philadelphia on June 9th, 1850.

The faculty for the recasting of St. Martin's bells, Birmingham, is expected this week, so that the removal of the present ring will not now be long delayed.

The fete organised for wiping out the debt on Ickleton bells was a great success. About £150 was wanted, and more than this sum was realised, the gross receipts being £261.

PROPOSED RINGERS' MASONIC LODGE.

To the Editor

Dear Sir,—It is proposed to form a Ringers' Lodge of Freemasons, to meet on Saturdays in Birmingham three or four times per year. Twelve ringing brethren have already promised to act as founders of the proposed lodge, and in due course I will forward particulars of the proposal to them and also to those I have already had the opportunity of discussing the matter with.

I shall be very pleased to communicate with any other ringing brethren who are at all interested in the proposal, on receipt of their address.—Yours faithfully, 45, Engleton Road, Radford, Coventry.

DEATH OF THE REV. A. G. LANGDON.

The Rev. A. G. Langdon, Rector of Great Munden, Herts, and a member of the Cambridge University Guild, the Herts County Association and the Devon Guild, recently passed away very suddenly, and the ringers and parishioners and others desire to raise a memorial to his name, which, if funds permit, will be in the form of a porch to the church. Subscriptions will be gratefully received by Mr. B. Patmore, Great Munden, Ware, Herts, and a list of subscribers from the Exercise will be published in 'The Ringing World.'

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

SPECIAL REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS AT HEREFORD.

The meeting of the Central Council at Hereford on Whit Tuesday was attended by 78 members. The proceedings took place in St. Peter's Church House, and Canon G. F. Coleridge (Oxford Diocesan Guild) presided. There were also present Mr. E. Alex. Young (hon. secretary and treasurer), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Oxford Diocesan Guild) (hon. librarian), and representatives of the following affiliated bodies:—

Ancient Society of College Youths: Messrs. A. A. Hughes and T. W. Faulkner.
 Bath and Wells Diocesan Association: Messrs. J. Hunt and H. W. Brown.
 Bedfordshire Association: Canon W. W. C. Baker.
 Cambridge University Guild: Mr. E. M. Atkins.
 Chester Diocesan Guild: Rev. C. A. Clements, Messrs. E. W. Elwell, R. D. Langford and R. Sperring.

 Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. A. H. F. Bouzhey, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Rev. E. E. Marshall, Canon H. J. Elsee, Messrs. W. J. Nevard, C. H. Howard, J. D. Matthews, C. J. Sedgley, H. Barton, J. W. Parker, W. Ayre, C. F. Johnston, C. Dean, T. R. Dennis, H. Walker, H. Argyle, W. Story, H. W. Wilde, W. Shepherd, A. L. Coleman, G. P. Burton, E. H. Lewis, W. Bolton and A. E. Sharman.

BISHOP OF HEREFORD'S WELCOME.

The meeting having been opened with prayer, the President said they had known what it was to be welcomed wherever the Council went by the chief officers of the church in the diocese or district. Last year they not only had the Archdeacon of London to welcome them, but also the Lord Mayor of London. That day they met in different surroundings, in a delightful old city, but what interested them most that morning was that they had the Bishop of the diocese to welcome them (applause).

The Bishop of Hereford, who was received with applause, said it was a great pleasure to him to welcome the Council to that city and diocese, because he could assure them that in that diocese they valued enormously the work which they were doing and which was being done by the Diocesan Guild of Ringers. As a parish priest he never had to do with anything but one bell for many years, and that simplified things enormously (laughter). When eventually he had to deal with a peal of bells he began to realise something of what he understood was a Lancashire addition to the Litany, 'From singers and ringers' (laughter). He could not say that he should have felt it necessary to join in the response (laughter). Still, there were certain difficulties which had to be contended with. Coming into that diocese he had found the value of the work of the Diocesan Guild in raising the whole status and position of bellringing and making it what it should be, the handmaid of the services of the church. The Guild in that diocese, continued the Bishop, had done a great deal not merely for ringers, but also in stirring up interest in the condition of the church towers. He found that during the past four years he had been called upon to take part, on the average, in the reopening of at least two towers every year (applause). It did not mean that there were a large number of towers in the diocese out of order, but it did mean that those that were out of order were being steadily put into order by the restoration of the bell cage or the addition of other bells, and that was due very largely to the effective way in which the Guild was being worked in the diocese (applause). Nothing could give him greater pleasure, he added, than to welcome a body which was doing so much to bring the manhood of the country, and particularly of the country villages, into closer touch with the church. There were few things which were really serving the church better than the work of bellringing—and he was pleased to say that a great many of the teams in that diocese contained a large proportion of young men—in bringing young men of the country districts into the active service of the church, giving them an interest in the work of the church, and making them feel that they were doing something which was really part of the essential services of the church (applause). He was glad to accede to the request that he should welcome them that day, not on the ground that he was a ringer, for he had never acquired anything in the nature of ropesight—and on those grounds he could not claim to meet them—but as recognising on the part of the Church of that diocese the extraordinary value of what was being done by the Diocesan Guild and by associations all over the country, and he felt it to be not merely a duty but a great pleasure to come there and bid them welcome to that ancient city and diocese and to say that he hoped their meeting that day would be as fruitful as any that had gone before it, and would promote the well-being of that branch of church work throughout the country. On behalf of the diocese and city of Hereford he bid them a hearty welcome and God-speed in their work in that conference and throughout the country (applause).

The President briefly expressed thanks to the Bishop for his address, and said they felt it a high honour that his lordship should have come among them that day (applause).

The Bishop then left, and the Council proceeded to the business on the agenda.

The minutes of the last meeting of the Council held in London, having been printed in 'The Ringing World,' were taken as read and passed.

FINANCE.

In presenting the statement of accounts, the Hon. Treasurer stated that the number of representatives had increased from 116 to 118. The affiliation fees received had amounted to £14, which included arrears of 5s.; interest on investments was £4 15s. 2d. The expenditure was £37 3s. 6d., leaving a balance in hand of £26 15s. 6d., compared with £45 3s. 10d. at the beginning of the year, the principal expenditure having been on printing.

The accounts had been audited by Messrs. A. Paddon Smith and J. Griffin, members of the Standing Committee, and were passed.

The hon. librarian's statement of accounts and report, which were published in our last issue, were submitted by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and adopted. In view of the issue of the revised edition of 'Rules and Decisions,' the Council decided to scrap the remaining copies of the old edition, which was published in 1904.

Mr. P. J. Johnson asked if there were any means by which the Council could popularise its publications. He suggested they might revert to a plan adopted some years ago and invite secretaries of associations to take parcels of publications on sale or return.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said in the past where secretaries of associations threw themselves into the task the result was very good financially, but there came a time when they thought they had sold all they could sell. There were, however, some associations who had not tried it, and he would be glad to send parcels on sale or return to any responsible person.

TRINITY YOUTHS' RECORDS.

The Hon. Secretary said he had an interesting matter to bring before the Council. Many of them would remember that there used to be among the old London ringing societies a society called the Trinity Youths, whose headquarters were at Deptford. They also used to ring in various towers in the south-east of London. They had very valuable peal books, and they also put up some remarkably fine peal boards in some of the towers, many of the members at one time having been shipwrights with a gift for carving and splendid work. The society became nearly defunct and was revived by the late Rev. H. A. Coker 40 or 45 years ago, when the few surviving members were collected, and it went forward again with new life. Unfortunately, however, the society had once more passed out of active existence, and the peal books, which were highly treasured for years and deposited in a cupboard at St. Alphege's Church, Greenwich, were apparently borrowed by someone who forgot to return them. Recently Mr. F. W. Thornton informed him that he had discovered the 'copy' peal books, and he thought they were of sufficient interest historically to warrant him making a clear copy of them and handing them to him (Mr. Young), with the desire that they should be presented to the Council, on his behalf and that of the surviving members. (Continued on next page.)

bers (applause). Mr. Young said he therefore had great pleasure in asking the Council to accept the books for the library, and trusted it would induce others, who had books of a kind likely to be valuable and for which they had no safe place of keeping, to hand them over to the library, where they could be kept for the future.

The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore said that, knowing the Trinity Youths at that time, he suggested many years ago that part of their county association area should be named the Trinity Youths' District, but the Trinity Youths of that day turned up their noses and would not have it, and the Kent County Association formed the Lewisham District. Had the Trinity Youths fallen in with the suggestion, the society would not have been defunct now.

The President pointed out that the secretary received the copies of the peals in loose sheets, and he had at his own expense had them bound for the good of the Council (applause).

Mr. James George said that he was one of the surviving members of the Trinity Youths.

It was resolved to accept the gift with thanks.

RULES FOR LOCAL COMPANIES.

Mr. E. W. Elwell reported that the committee dealing with the revision of the "Model rules for a local company" had completed their work. The old code had been retained with certain modifications. The chief alterations were the addition of a second code at the end, which was very much shorter and more practical (leaving the fuller code to be drawn on when assistance was required on any particular point), while some of the rules had been simplified. He proposed that the rules be passed for the use of the Council, and printed.—Mr. W. H. Hollier seconded.

The Hon. Librarian: Printed if funds permit.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith proposed that the rules be put in hand if the cost did not exceed £5.—Mr. J. George seconded.

Mr. Elwell said he would guarantee the cost would not exceed £5.—This motion was agreed to.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

The honorary members retiring by rotation were Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. J. W. Parker. In announcing that the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey had sent an apology for absence, the President said Mr. Boughey felt that, with advancing years, he was practically useless on that Council, and therefore he hoped his name would not be put forward again for election. During the past year, proceeded the President, the whole of the hon. members' places had been filled, and they had no vacancy, which they always tried to keep in case an emergency should arise and they wanted to elect someone to the Council for a special purpose. The Standing Committee had considered the question and recommended that the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. J. W. Parker should be re-elected, but that the place rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. Boughey should not be filled.—This course was adopted, on the motion of the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. W. A. Cave.

New members of the Council were then introduced to the president, who welcomed them, and said how extremely pleased they all were to see Mr. Pulling there, as the representative of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, after his fearful accident last year. He hoped they would soon see him at the heavy end again and fit for a twenty thousand (hear, hear).

MEMORIAL TO SIR ARTHUR HEYWOOD.

The Council then came to the consideration of the reports of committees. The first was that of the Standing Committee, and the Hon. Secretary said they had never had this on the agenda before, but he thought it ought to be there because there were occasions when the committee might have something specially to bring forward. After their last meeting in London he was in receipt of correspondence with regard to helping to pay for a bell at a church at Pendleton in memory of their first president, Sir Arthur Heywood. He gathered that the bell would have a suitable inscription to the effect that it was a memorial bell, and it was suggested that the Council might like to subscribe. Nothing definite had yet been done in the matter by the local people, and the Standing Committee, therefore, were not at present proposing anything.

Mr. W. H. Shaker (Lancashire Association) said the church for which the bell was required was a new church, opened about two months ago. The Pendleton church to which he belonged already had a peal of eight. As far as his association knew, Miss Heywood had asked the Midland Counties Association if they would put a new bell in the new church in Sir Arthur's memory. They had heard nothing from any other source.

The President: If the Midland Counties Association have been asked to place a bell in the tower and wish to obtain help from this Council, the Council should be approached in a proper way by the M.C.A. (hear, hear).

Replying to a question, Mr. Shaker said the tower of the new church was big enough for a peal of bells, but as far as he understood only one bell was required.

The President said the Council would remember that last year it was suggested by Canon Elsee that members of the Council and Sir Arthur's friends should be invited to subscribe to a memorial tablet, to record the last peal that Sir Arthur rang, which was by members of the Central Council at Duffield. That tablet had been erected, and he had heard from Mr. Wilde, who had had the matter in hand during Mr. Elsee's absence in Africa, that there was £2 7s. 11d. still owing on it. He (the president) mentioned it to the Standing Committee, and that amount was forthcoming at once (applause).

Mr. Shaker proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Wilde for the trouble he had taken in connection with the memorial tablet, and this was carried with acclamation.

A GIGANTIC TASK.

Reporting for the Peals Collection Committee, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson said the typed results of the one-part peals of Treble Bob were on the table (a considerable pile of MS.). There would be a few sheets more to come of peals of Royal and Maximus. If the Council wanted to know more details, Mrs. Fletcher could probably speak feelingly about it, as they had given her something to do during the last few months.

Mrs. E. K. Fletcher said the first part of the Collection, consisting of the five, three, and two-part peals, of which four copies were typed, were put into string binders, and she suggested that the Council should authorise the one-part peals to be dealt with in the same way.

This was agreed to, and the President cordially thanked Mrs. Fletcher for all her labour in typing the volumes, which had really been a gigantic task.

The Literature and Press Committee's report, as given in 'The Ringing World' of June 1st, was moved by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. J. Griffin, and adopted.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

The Rev. H. Law James, on behalf of the Methods Committee, reported that the revision of the Minor Methods was in hand, and they hoped to be able to publish the new edition in a few weeks. The recommendations of the committee as to the names to be given to the methods appeared in 'The Ringing World' on May 11th.

The Hon. Secretary said Mr. A. L. Coleman, in sending his apology for absence, wrote that he hoped careful consideration would be given to the nomenclature question.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said the Council would remember at the last meeting the committee asked and obtained powers for a final revision of the names to be applied to the Minor methods, and after some discussion they gave an undertaking to publish the list in 'The Ringing World,' so that there could be criticism before the titles were finally put in the new book. That list had been printed. Substantially it was the list presented to the Council at the Salisbury meeting. It was the Analysis Committee's list, with just the sort of alterations which they themselves would have made, if they had revised it after the three discussions that had taken place. He did not mean they would have made exactly the same revisions, but it was substantially the same list. There had been in some quarters a sort of suggestion that the committee, when they got these powers, were intending to overhaul the names extensively. The list was an answer to that. When they came to criticise the names they must remember that the names were very largely those given to the methods by six-bell ringers. The differences between the Methods Committee and the Analysis Committee were very small, although there was a good deal said about them, but he believed they had all been adjusted. A great deal of criticism had centred round what were known as the floral names, and they would remember that the Nomenclature Committee issued a list which contained a great many amendments and alterations. The Methods Committee had not been able to adopt any of these amendments and alterations, not because they objected to the alterations as alterations—they might have been improvements—but because they felt that their job was simply to see which name had priority. They did not consider that they had to settle any question as to the artistic or æsthetic value of the names, but he thought there ought to be an opportunity, if there was any feeling—and there was at one time—amongst six-bell ringers against the use of floral names and the addition of the words 'Castle' and 'Abbey' to certain titles. There was something in the letter which Mr. Burton wrote in 'The Ringing World' on this point, and there was now an opportunity for those who wished to bring that matter forward to do so, and take the sense of the meeting upon it and settle it once and for all. The time had gone by for any general discussion on the names.

THE SOCIAL SIDE.

Despite the counter-attractions held out to ringers by reason of the Bristol Jubilee, members of the Central Council began to arrive at Hereford on the Saturday afternoon. A peal had been arranged on the Cathedral bells, starting at 5.30, but owing to the late arrival of a train from the north it was declared off, and general ringing on these fine-toned old bells was enjoyed until 7.30.

On the Whitsun Sunday the visitors assisted to ring for the 7 a.m. service at the Cathedral, the 11 o'clock service at All Saints' and again at the Cathedral in the evening. In the afternoon some of the party made an enjoyable trip to Leominster (or 'Lemster,' as it is called locally). The church, a large and ancient one, was found to be very interesting, and the Council's hon. secretary was able, being an architect, to describe the various styles of architecture which are so well exemplified in the building. The ancient 'ducking stool,' too, was found both interesting and amusing.

Bank Holiday found the weather, which had been gradually improving, at its very best. The local committee had kindly arranged a charabanc to be retained for the day, so it was determined to use it in the morning for a trip to Holm Lacey, and, in the afternoon, for an excursion down the glorious valley of the Wye, to the famous ruins of Tintern. The Holm Lacey trip comprised a visit to the old church and a pull or two on its light eight, an inspection of the Rectory garden, with its unique pear tree, and, under the courtesy and guidance of the Rector, a walk through the rooms and grounds of Holm Lacey. This mansion is one of the stately homes of England, and the party hardly knew which to admire most, the magnificent ballroom, with its wonderful carving, or the large formal garden upon which the house fronts. In the afternoon a party of nearly 20 drove to Tintern. The route lay through Ross (where an attempt for a peal was in progress), and thence by the spurs and valleys of the Forest of Dean and the banks of the Wye to the abbey ruins. The extensive remains of the old Benedictine monastery were viewed with the greatest interest, and all were impressed by the beauty of the architecture. In the meantime, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, who had acted as road guide, had arranged a tea upon the lawn of the Anchor Inn, formerly the Water Gate of the abbey. The party, now rested and refreshed, were the better able to enjoy several 'touches' upon handbells, two sets of which had been thoughtfully brought, and, after bringing round some Cinques, cars were boarded and the homeward route taken in the cool of the evening, this time via Monmouth and a wayside inn a few miles further on. Hereford was reached in time for an hour's informal 'social' at the Booth Hall. The only regret was to hear that a band who had started in Hereford for a peal at All Saints' were not rewarded with success.

All provision for the care and entertainment of the visitors was due to the untiring efforts of the local committee, and especially to the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Messrs. Edwards and Davis. The Council's representatives, too, were fortunate in having the old Booth Hall set aside for their use over the week-end. This fine old room, with its magnificent timber roof dating from the 14th century, was much admired by the members. The local Guild who use it are most fortunate in the place of their meetings.

After the meeting of the Council on Tuesday, the members and their friends were entertained to a meat tea in the Booth Hall. The Dean of Hereford, who was in the chair, expressed the hope that the members had had a good time, and would carry away with them pleasant memories of their visit to Hereford.—The Hon. Secretary replied.

Ringing took place at the Cathedral and various churches in the city, and the men members returned once more to the Booth Hall, where an enjoyable social party was held, with some excellent songs and handbell ringing.

KEEPING TOUCH WITH YOUNG RINGERS. THE COUNCIL'S SCHEME.

To the Editor.

'That this Council invites its affiliated associations and Guilds to unite in a scheme for keeping touch with ringers who remove from one area to another.'

Sir,—As the person responsible for bringing this suggestion before the Central Council at Hereford on Whitsun Tuesday, and in view of the unanimous approval with which it met (every member, I believe, voted in favour of its adoption), I should like to suggest, in order to put it into effective operation, that all associations and Guilds should, at the next reprint of their rules, add the following:—

Removal of ringers.—It shall be the duty of the secretary of every local band or tower, on the removal of any member of the band to another district or Guild, to ascertain as soon as possible the new postal address to which the ringer has removed, and at once—

(1) In the case of a removal to another district in his own Guild, send the new address to the secretary of that district, whose duty it shall be at once to send the address on to the secretary of the local band to which the ringer in question has removed, and it shall be the duty of some member of that local band at once to seek out the ringer and invite him or her to the tower.

(2) In the case of a removal to another Guild, send the address to which the ringer has removed to the general secretary of his own Guild, who will, in turn, pass it on to the general secretary of the Guild into whose area the ringer has removed. He will then pass it on to the district secretary concerned, in order that the district secretary may communicate the address to the local secretary of the tower nearest to the ringer's new address.

It is very discouraging to those who have charge of towers, and who (after considerable difficulty nowadays) have persuaded some lad to take up ringing, to spend a considerable amount of time on him, get him, perhaps, to handle well and ring rounds, and then suddenly lose him, on account of his going away to another job. It is still more discouraging when we think that, owing to the fact that the lad is still only a probationer, and will be a stranger in a strange land, he will, therefore, in all probability be lost to the Exercise altogether, and the time we have expended on him be wasted. The ringer who does not move until he has acquired a degree of proficiency in the art will, of course, always find his way unaided to the nearest tower, and it is the beginner who moves away from his home tower during the probation period that we are principally concerned with in this scheme, and whom we are anxious to save from dropping out. If we can put this scheme into effective operation, a young fellow once having put his hand to the rope need never be lost sight of, wherever he removes to.—Yours, etc.,

ROBERT WHITTINGTON.

A DEPLORABLE RESULT.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As a result of the vote at the Hereford meeting there will be no diplomas issued by the Central Council to those ringing their first peal.

I do think it is a heartbreaking setback to very many of our young ringers, who had been looking forward to obtaining what, to them, would have been a most cherished possession. This incentive has been denied to them.

Now for my growl. I think the older ringers who have rung their first peal 20, 30 or 40 years ago, have not been able, mentally, to put themselves in the place of young ringers, keen and enthusiastic to ring their first peal. The time when the older ones rang their first peal is dim and distant to them, and as the matter is immaterial to them (I write in all good nature), their feelings are against any change.

Anyway, I hope that the youngest Guild will now set a lead to the Exercise by establishing a diploma of the Guildford Diocesan Guild for those of its members who ring their first peal, and who wish to receive an official outward and visible sign of recognition, to be cherished and hung up in the best room of the home.

T. P. WALKER.

One of the 'youngest' ringers of the youngest Guild.

THE REV. H. DRAKE'S ACCUSATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As the Rev. Herbert Drake accuses me in your last issue of deliberate lying, I shall be glad if you will reprint the following:—

1. From Mr. Drake's letter: 'Mr. Trollope says we stated that an entirely root and branch reform was necessary, extending even to the alteration of such a name as Double Norwich Court Bob Major. It is clear to everyone who knows even the elements of the subject, reading the reprint of the report in your issue of May 18th, that the exact contrary is the case. We did not propose the least alteration of any well-known name, and never mentioned Norwich at all. This is the third time I have repeated this to Mr. Trollope, and the fifth time I have done so in your columns in all. Yet he calmly repeats what he must know to be untrue.'

2. Verbatim extract from the report of the late Nomenclature Committee presented to the Central Council at Chester, and published in your issue of June 25th, 1925. The report was adjourned to the Ipswich meeting, and it was to it that I moved my amendment: 'That as opportunity offers, all non-essential words such as Pleasure, Court, Delight, and Bob, when the latter is used as a meaningless appendage, be dropped. To a practical ringer Double Norwich now signifies the particular method intended, without the use of the words Court Bob.'

—Yours faithfully,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

EVERY RINGING TOWER AFFILIATED.

At the quarterly meeting of the Suffolk Guild on May 12th, at Stratford St. Mary, the Rector, the Rev. J. Henry, presided over a large attendance, 53 being present. When the minutes of the preceding meeting, held at Fressingfield, were read, it appeared that with the adhesion of Fressingfield every ringing tower in the diocese now belonged to the Guild. This satisfactory completion of seven years' work was hailed with great enthusiasm at both meetings. A number of new members were elected.

The following towers were represented: Lavenham, Ufford, Mistley, Little Waldingfield, Lawford, Great Bromley, Hinton, Higham, Stratford St. Mary, Broomfield, Wormingford, Little Horkesley, Ardleigh, Langham, Dedham, Hythe, Tendring, Ipswich St. Mary le Tower and St. Margaret's, Kirby, Thorpe-le-Soken, Clacton, Great Bentley, Grotton, Thorington, and Polstead. The Secretary pointed out that the meeting was actually a joint meeting with the Essex Association, although, owing to the secretaries not succeeding in getting into touch with one another, it was not formally so. A hope was expressed, and endorsed by all present, that there would be many such meetings in future.

Votes of thanks to the Rector, and to all who subscribed for, and helped at, the tea, concluded the meeting. This was followed by a very joyful service in church, at which the Rector gave a short address. Ringing in many methods was kept up till a late hour, both at Stratford St. Mary and at Langham.

A new district is to be formed to comprise the towers of Fressingfield, Wingfield, Wilby, Laxfield, Cratfield and Stradbroke.

PRESENTATION TO MR. J. W. MOORHOUSE.

LEEDS RINGER DEPARTS FOR CARDIFF.

On Whit Sunday evening the ringers of Christ Church, Armley, met to say farewell to Mr. J. W. Moorhouse, who is leaving Leeds for Cardiff. Mr. J. Thackray, on behalf of the ringers, presented to Mr. Moorhouse a gold-plated fountain pen as a memento of the assistance he had given to the local company.

A quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes) was then rung in 48 mins.: A. Coldrick 1. M. Moorhouse 2. H. Lofthouse 3. Miss E. Lawrence 4. H. Grimwood 5. J. Thackray 6. J. W. Moorhouse 7. G. Moorhouse (conductor) 8.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT CHELMSFORD. NEXT YEAR'S JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS.

The 49th annual meeting of the Essex Association was held on Whit Monday at Chelmsford, and was largely attended by members from all parts of the diocese. A special feature of the gathering was consideration of the jubilee of the association, which will be celebrated next year, and which will coincide with the 'coming-of-age' of the Master, Mr. C. H. Howard, Braintree, who will then complete 21 years in office. It is intended to suitably mark this double and interesting event in the history of the Essex Association.

Proceedings opened in the morning with service at the Cathedral, conducted by Canon Lake, who was assisted by the Rev. J. W. Horsley. The ringers' form of service was used, and the Master read the lesson. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £1 12s. 6d. The address was given by the Rev. P. E. T. Widdrington, Rector of Great Easton, from the words, 'And they were all with one accord in one place.'

The business meeting followed at the Cathedral Hall. The Master presided, supported on the platform by Canon Lake, the Rev. P. E. T. Widdrington, and Mr. F. J. Pitstow (Saffron Walden), hon. secretary and treasurer to the association.

THE QUESTION OF DIOCESAN STATUS.

The Master presented his report, which recorded a very successful year's work. The membership was now 1,040, which exceeded by three the record of 1923. The finances were in a satisfactory condition. The receipts were £65 18s. 3d., and expenditure £47 5s. 2d. £25 had been placed to reserve fund, increasing it to £178 14s. 3d. Of this sum £17 2s. 1d. was earmarked for the Bell Restoration Fund. Fifty-eight peals were rung during the year, against 69 in the previous year. If the quantity was less, the quality showed no depreciation. The question of changing the name of the association had been discussed at several district meetings during the year. At a meeting of the Northern Division held at Dunmow, the following resolution was carried by a very large majority: 'That a recommendation be sent to the General Committee to consider the advisability of changing the name of the Essex Association to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild.' This resolution will engage the attention of the committee when next they meet previous to the annual meeting. When the association was formed in 1879, Essex and Herts comprised the diocese of St. Albans, and a separate association was formed for each county. Some years ago a suggestion was made that the two associations should amalgamate and become a diocesan association. After careful consideration it was thought in the best interests of each association that they should continue to work on county lines. A different state of affairs exists to-day. Essex has become the diocese of Chelmsford, and the clergy look upon their ringers as an important branch of churchworkers, and it is felt by many that their position would be strengthened if the association embraced a diocesan status. When the committee were prepared to make their report it would have to come before an annual meeting to give members an opportunity to express their opinion and give their decision before a change in the name can be effected.

Upon the proposition of Mr. G. R. Pye, seconded by Mr. A. Pye, the report was unanimously adopted.

Canon Lake took the chair during the election of Master, and, in proposing the re-election of Mr. Howard, the Canon stated that the Essex Association had had a good Master for 20 years, and so long as he was able to go on they would be pleased to keep him. They were glad to see Mr. Howard again, and were sorry to hear he had been ill for a short time—not on account of bellringing but in spite of it (laughter and applause).—The proposition was carried unanimously.

Mr. C. H. Howard, in taking the chair again, said he appreciated the confidence placed in him, and so long as his health and strength permitted he would be pleased to serve the association (hear, hear). He was looking forward to a very interesting year next year, and hoped he would have the privilege of being Master of the association when it celebrated its jubilee (applause).

Upon the proposition of Mr. G. Green, Mr. F. J. Pitstow was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and said he should be pleased to carry on as before.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE FOR JUBILEE.

The general committee was re-elected: Dr. Spencer-Phillips, Messrs. W. Keeble, W. Lincoln, T. Faulkner, F. Dench, the Master, secretary, District Masters, secretaries and auditors: Peal Committee, Messrs. F. Pitstow, T. Faulkner, G. R. Pye and W. Keeble; auditors, Messrs. W. H. Theobald and G. W. Faulkner.

The Master stated that as the jubilee was to be celebrated next year it was most important there should be a strong committee which would have to carry out the jubilee programme. He could well remember the 21st anniversary of the association, and hoped there would be an even bigger celebration to mark 50 years in the Essex Association (applause). He suggested that the general committee should be supplemented by representatives from each district. The first meeting of the enlarged committee would be held at Chelmsford, and other meetings could be held in the diocese as decided, and out-of-pocket expenses would be paid from the association to those members who applied in order to attend the committee meetings.

The following were elected to be added to the general committee: Northern District, Messrs. L. W. Wiffen and F. Claydon; North-East District, Messrs. E. P. Duffield and W. Chalk; South-East District, Messrs. T. Lincoln and A. Head; North-Western, Messrs. A. Pitstow and W. Prior; South-Western, Messrs. W. Miller and A. Pye. It was decided to hold the first meeting at Chelmsford on the first Saturday in October.

On the election of new members, Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips proposed the following, all from Galleywood, and they were unanimously elected: Rev. F. N. Roughton, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Coombes, Miss R. Coombes, Miss O. Landon, Miss H. Landon, and Mr. W. T. Day.

Mr. G. Joyce raised the question of registration of names of six-bell methods, and said it was time that this matter was settled. At Leytonstone the ringers wanted it settled once and for all.

The Master replied that the question was before the Central Council at the present time; it had been in hand for several years, and it would be a good thing to have it settled.—A resolution requesting the representatives to support the views expressed by Mr. Joyce was carried.

OLD MEMBERS HONOURED.

The Master reported that Mr. F. Rudkin, Braintree, was the only surviving founder of the association, and it would be a graceful act to recognise him by making him a life member of the association. Mr. H. Dawson, Great Baddow, and Mr. J. Wagborne, East Ham, were also old members.—All three were elected to be life members.

It was decided to make grants from the Bell Restoration Fund as follows: Elmdon, two guineas, for recasting 3rd bell; Great Bardfield, three guineas, rehanging ring of six; Saffron Walden, two guineas, for recasting four trebles. It was also agreed to hold joint meetings with the Middlesex, Herts, Suffolk and Ely Associations. It was decided to make an appeal to the affiliated towers for help to a fund for the benefit of Mr. Benjamin Keeble, who is 81 years of age, and who in the early days of the association took a prominent part in its management, and was one of its early pioneers.

The Master proposed thanks to Canon Lake for arranging the service at the Cathedral and for the use of the bells, and said the ringers hoped to see Canon Lake when they celebrated the jubilee at Chelmsford next year (applause). He also proposed thanks to Rev. P. E. T. Widdrington, and referred to the work of restoration to the tower and bells at Great Easton Church.

Canon Lake, in reply, recalled his experiences at the gathering in Chelmsford when the Essex Association became of age, and said he was looking forward to the jubilee. The Canon also referred to the proposal to alter the name of the Essex Association of Change Ringers to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild, and said, while he thought it would be a good thing to mark the jubilee by raising the ringers as a body to the status of churchworkers, yet it had to be remembered that a diocesan position would mean greater responsibilities, and a certain amount of diocesan control, so the members should be very careful what they did. If the association decided to come to Chelmsford for the jubilee, the very best would be done to ensure success (applause).

The Rev. P. E. T. Widdrington also replied, and said the reopening of the bells at Great Easton would take place on July 15th. The bells would be blessed by the Bishop at the morning service, and would be available for visiting ringers during the afternoon. He gave all an invitation to attend.

Mr. Butler then proposed thanks to the Master for presiding, and said the members were very pleased to see Mr. Howard sufficiently recovered to be present at the annual meeting again (applause).—The Master said he was glad to be able to be there (applause).

The members had luncheon together at Hicks' Restaurant, and in the afternoon and evening there was ringing at Chelmsford Cathedral (12), Writtle (8), Widford (8), Galleywood (8), Great Baddow (8), Great Waltham (8), Boreham (8), Springfield (6), and Broomfield (6), in all the standard methods.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The annual meeting of the North Wales Association was held at Bangor on Whit Monday, presided over by the chairman, Rev. W. M. Morgan-Jones, M.A. A large number of members were present, representing the following towers: Bangor, Wrexham, Gresford, Llandudno, Rhyl and Portmadoc, and among the visitors were Mr. Mrs. and Miss Wolstencroft.

On the motion of the Chairman, the members were called upon to pay tribute to their late president, the Rev. T. Lewis Jones, M.A. He was the first president of the association, and passed away in February last.

The Chairman, in his remarks, referred to the splendid work Mr. Lewis Jones had done for change ringing in North Wales, and said his loss was sadly deplored.

The following officers were elected for 1928-29: President, Rev. W. M. Morgan-Jones, M.A., Bangor; Master, Mr. A. J. Hughes, Rhyl; treasurer, Mr. E. Rowlands, Wrexham; secretary, Mr. W. Cathall, 35, Spring Road, Wrexham.

It was decided to hold the half-yearly meeting at Rhyl on the first Saturday in September, and the annual meeting in Llangollen on Whit Monday, 1929, or, failing this, at Gresford, on the same date.

Prior to and following the meeting the visitors and members rang several touches in different methods on the bells, and during the afternoon they partook of an enjoyable tea provided by the local ringers.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A STEP FORWARD IN NOMENCLATURE

The Central Council at Hereford, after five years of discussion, took a big step toward the final settlement of the names of Minor methods; in fact, as far as those which are to be included in the revised edition of the Collection are concerned, they may be said to be settled once and for all. In large measure the decisions arrived at will doubtless receive general approval, although there are still some inconsistencies left which might have been dealt with, had there been more representatives present who had studied the question, not merely of the selection of names, but of the derivation of methods. Nevertheless, the Council, by the motions which were carried, did indicate indirectly certain principles in nomenclature to which they will doubtless desire to adhere in the future and to improve upon as opportunity presents itself.

Probably the most important principle which the Council vindicated was its right to change, in the publications which it issues, names which it considers unsuited to the science of change ringing. This it did in the case of the floral names which have created so much discussion. Having the opportunity for the first time of giving a direct vote on the application of such titles to new methods, the Council exercised its right and changed them to something, we think, a good deal more dignified and which, at any rate, are far less likely to make ringers and their art ludicrous in the eyes of the public. Another class of names which the Council, by its vote, expressed a desire not to see extended is that of the titles of individuals, however exalted, unless they have played a prominent part in connection with the Exercise. In these and in other ways the Council showed that, despite its abrupt treatment of the Nomenclature Committee, it is desirous of seeing that method titles are something which should befit a serious art.

The trouble, of course, has been the haphazard way in which any Tom, Dick or Harry in the past has been able to give to a method whatever name his fancy or his ignorance prompted. Where those names have come down to us through the generations we shall probably go on suffering them, for the sake of their antiquity, but it is all for the good that the Council has now shown that it is ready to see that stupidities and errors of bygone days are not elaborated and extended as the art develops. Ringers can, of course, go on calling methods by any names they choose, but if the Council in their printed publications refuse to recognise those which are not in accordance with their considered judgment, these 'irregular' titles, like the 'irregular' methods, will gradually disappear, and we shall have a nomenclature which, at least, will not lay the Exercise open to ridicule.

A deeper and more far-reaching question, however, is still untouched, and possibly may never be fully dealt with, Mr. J. A. Trollope covers the point in his letter elsewhere in this issue. The whole thing is wrapped up in the complications of method extension, and one begins to wonder whether it is safe to give the original name of a method to any extension, when we get beyond the range of a comparatively small group which includes Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bob. This question, already involved in the plain methods, will become much more acute when the Treble Bob Major methods are taken in hand, but possibly before that time some definite lines of procedure may be laid down.

JOINT MEETINGS TO BE HELD.

The North and East District meeting, held at Stanmore on Saturday last, was an enjoyable affair. About 40 members attended and took part in some good ringing on the very nice peal of bells, now much improved in tone in the belfry by alterations recently made in the tower. Service was held at 5 p.m., at which the Rector (Rev. W. A. Hewett) gave the association his usual cordial welcome and his customary very helpful sermon. A bright feature of the service was a solo by Mr. Lawford, who sang 'Nearer, my God, to Thee.' Tea was served in the Institute, at which, in the unavoidable absence of the Rector, General Anderson presided. Afterwards the business meeting was held. Messrs. R. Coles (High Wycombe), L. W. Wiffen (Braine-tree), E. E. Holman (Walthamstow), and J. E. Rookes (Oxhey) were elected members, and Finchley chosen as the venue of the next meeting of the district on August 18th. It was also announced by the hon. secretary that a practice meeting had been arranged to be held at Hadley on Wednesday, June 27th, a joint meeting with the Herts Association at North Mimms on July 7th, and a joint meeting with the Essex and Herts Associations at Waltham Abbey on September 22nd.

Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary) gave a report of the Central Council meeting recently held at Hereford, which he described as one of the most useful meetings of that body ever held.

The President (Mr. F. A. Milne) proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector of Stanmore for his address at the service and for the use of the bells; to the Rev. C. S. Durham (Harrow Weald), whose bells were rung in the evening; to General Anderson for the use of the hall; and also to the organist and soloist who had so well added to the harmony of the proceedings at the service. This was carried with acclamation.

Ringing afterwards took place at both Stanmore and Harrow Weald, at the former tower most methods from Grandsire Triples to London and Bristol Surprise being rung, whilst at the latter tower several Minor and Doubles methods were practised.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT TO MEET GUILDFORD GUILD.

An enjoyable meeting of the South and West District was held at Ruishin on Saturday last, when some 40 odd members and friends attended. Good work was done during the meeting, Grandsire Triples and methods up to and including London Surprise Major being practised.

Service had been arranged for 5 p.m., but unfortunately the Vicar (Canon E. Cornwell Jones) was unable to get back in time from an adjoining village, where an induction service was held. Ringing was therefore continued up to 5.30, when refreshments were served at Fabbs Restaurant. Mr. Holloway (Ringing Master) presided, supported by the hon. treasurer and hon. secretary.

Routine business was transacted, and votes of thanks accorded to the Vicar and Messrs. Hunter and Bunce of the local band, and to all who assisted in making the meeting a success.

The Hon. Secretary read a letter from the hon. secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), inviting the district to co-operate with them at a meeting to be held at Egham in November. It was unanimously agreed to accept the invitation, and in return to invite the Guildford Guild to a return meeting at Acton in January, 1929 (if convenient), where the Middlesex Association would be delighted to welcome the members of the new Guild right in the midst of the Middlesex Association's district. It was left to the hon. secretary to make the arrangements in conjunction with the hon. secretary of the Guildford Guild.

The tower was afterwards again visited, where the Vicar gave a hearty welcome and a short address. He said how grateful he was to the association for the assistance it had rendered to his own band of ringers, of whom he was justly proud, and for the work generally done as a body of diocesan churchworkers.

Further touches in several methods were afterwards rung.

A GENEROUS OFFER.

Ringers rely largely on motor or pedal cycles to reach the towers where they ring. Those who contemplate purchasing a new machine, or who require accessories, should send for catalogues to Mr. Robert Whittington, general engineer, of Cranleigh, Guildford.

There are two special reasons for doing so. Mr. Whittington is a ringer, catering for ringers' requirements, and he has generously offered to hand over to the 'Ireneus Pistor' fund a percentage from list prices on all sales of motor and other cycles.

Ringers should read the advertisement which appears in another column, and then purchase their new mount through Mr. Whittington.

MUFFLED BELLS

On June 2nd, eight members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild attempted a peal of Grandsire Triples at Warminster, with bells half-muffled as a mark of respect to the late Marchioness of Bath, who was interred the same day, but unfortunately the attempt came to an untimely end after 2 hrs. 20 mins. good ringing owing to an accident to the rope of the 6th. The ringers were: Master Heginbotham, Messrs. E. Kill, T. Holloway, F. Ashworth, F. Preecey, E. White, W. E. Fletcher (conductor) and E. Marlow.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION.ANNUAL MEETING IN DUBLIN.

The annual meeting of the Irish Association took place in Dublin on Whit Monday, when members attended from Belfast, Holywood, Drogheda, Bray, Arklow, Kilkenny, Limerick, and the local towers.

The bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Christ Church Cathedral, and the Church of SS. Augustine and John were open for ringing, and were made good use of.

Sixty-four members sat down to luncheon in the Central Hotel, after which the business was transacted, the president, Mr. N. Robinson, occupying the chair.

Bray and Arklow, the joint winners of the challenge shield with 100 per cent. each, were presented with that trophy by the Dean of St. Patrick's. Arklow, who had held the shield in the two previous years, in a very sporting manner allowed Bray to retain possession for the full year, an action which was fully appreciated.

During the year the Northern Branch was formed in Belfast, and it was reported that solid work was being done.

Alterations in the rules for the shield competition were again suggested. The only change decided on was to count all towers with more than eight bells as eight-bell towers.

A set of medals was offered by Mr. Wills for any band ringing their first peal during the year.

The following officers were elected: President, Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C.; hon. treasurer, Mr. D. Gibson; hon. secretary, Mr. G. Lindoff.

Twenty-two new members were also elected, and the meeting closed with various votes of thanks.

On Wednesday, May 23rd, in honour of Mr. H. E. Wills' silver wedding, 1,008 Stedman Triples was rung at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin: G. Lindoff, jun., 1, H. E. Wills 2, T. McMorran 3, W. E. Lynch 4, W. H. Wilson 5, G. Lindoff (conductor) 6, G. F. Wilmot 7, J. Lane 8.

SUFFOLK GUILD.NEW SECRETARY FOR SOUTHWOLD DISTRICT.

A district meeting of the above Guild was held at Southwold on Whit Monday, and ringers attended from Brampton, Barsham, Beccles, Henstead, Halesworth, Badingham, Earl Soham, Norwich, Kessingland, Wrentham, Reydon and the local company. Various touches were rung upon the bells during the afternoon, and a short business meeting was held in the tower to elect a district secretary for the Southwold District. On the motion of Mr. F. Launton, seconded by Mr. J. Spalding, Mr. E. Grindell was elected.

Further touches were afterwards rung. The Vicar sent an apology for his absence from the meeting. A very enjoyable time was spent.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.A ROYAL MESSAGE OF THANKS.

The King's birthday was celebrated in many places by special ringing, and a congratulatory message was sent to His Majesty by Mr. W. H. Hollier, from the South and West District of the Middlesex Association, after a peal at Isleworth.

An acknowledgment from Buckingham Palace has been received in the following terms: 'The Private Secretary has received the King's command to thank Mr. W. H. Hollier and the members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers for their kind message of congratulations on the occasion of His Majesty's birthday.—June 4th, 1928.'

The following touches were rung at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, in honour of His Majesty the King's birthday, on Monday, June 4th: 504 Grandsire Caters: W. Welch 1, E. G. Hibbins (conductor) 2, B. D. Buttress 3, A. T. Chenery 4, J. Taylor 5, C. Smith 6, T. R. Dennis 7, H. Hazzell 8, A. G. Rivers 9, F. E. Kempton 10. Also 352 Grandsire Cinques conducted by S. J. Woods.

At the Church of St. Andrew, Holborn, London, on June 3rd, for evensong and the King's birthday, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 49 mins.: John Lee 1, J. Walsom 2, C. J. Choost 3, A. Coles 4, Percy J. Clark 5, E. Brett 6, J. S. Hawkins (conductor) 7, W. J. Norton 8.

At Ashford, Kent, on Sunday, June 3rd, after the morning service, in honour of the King's birthday, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: T. Tabrett 1, J. Parsons 2, H. C. Castle 3, E. S. Ruck 4, P. Page 5, C. W. Everett (conductor) 6, E. Powell 7, D. Godden 8.

At Oswestry, Shropshire, on Sunday, June 3rd, for evening service, and in honour of the King's birthday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: H. Wright (first quarter in method) 1, W. D. Kynaston 2, H. T. Hughes 3, E. H. Kynaston 4, R. Kynaston 5, G. Williams 6, R. T. Evans (conductor) 7, T. Marshall 8. The treble ringer hails from Nuneaton.

At Loughton, Essex, on June 3rd, for evensong and for the King's birthday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: J. Thorpe 1, G. Perry 2, E. A. Bacon (conductor) 3, H. W. Hayes 4, J. Rann, sen., 5, W. S. Carter 6, G. Carter 7, J. Rann, jun., 8. This was the 40th anniversary of the weddings of E. A. Bacon and J. Rann, sen., and the 11th of J. Rann, jun.

BATH.—On Whit Sunday, for morning service at the Church of St. Michael, Bath, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 42 mins.: H. W. Brown 1, Miss N. G. Williams 2, T. F. King 3, R. J. Cousins 4, T. Grant 5, W. J. Prescott (conductor) 6, G. H. Harding 7, H. Davis 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is seldom that a young ringer scores Maximus for his first peal—twelve ropes are too many for most people to begin with. But Mr. Albert Smithson, who had not previously rung a peal, took part last week in a peal of Little Bob Maximus, and rang well throughout.

St. Martin's Guild said farewell to the present peal of twelve in the Bull Ring on Sunday. They were rung for morning and evening service and lowered in peal. The faculty for their recasting has been received, and the dismantling will begin at once.

Until the new bells arrive, St. Martin's Sunday band will ring together at other churches, and they will meet next Sunday at the Cathedral, ringing for service in the morning, and broadcasting from 7.50 to 8 p.m. in the evening.

Yorkshire and Birmingham ringers are to have another fraternal gathering at Duffield on July 15th. Last year's event was so successful that it is hoped to make it an annual 'do.'

In view of the fact that four trebles are now waiting to be added to the eight at Lincoln Cathedral, it is interesting to recall that the first peal at the Cathedral was Treble Bob Major, conducted by Mr. F. E. Dawe, on June 15th, 1886.

The anniversary of another peal at Lincoln occurs next week. On June 20th, 1756, 5,040 'Carathan's' Triples (probably Garthorn's peal of Grainsire) was rung at St. Peter-at-Arches.

Jasper Snowdon, one of the greatest teachers of ringing of all time, was born at Ilkley, Yorks, on June 18th, 1844.

Owing to the repairs to the lightning-damaged wall of Lavenham tower, ringing is stopped for the time being. Notification will be given in our columns when the bells can be rung again.

Ringers who intended to visit Crawley to-morrow for the meeting of the East Grinstead and District Guild are informed that the meeting is postponed indefinitely.

DEATH OF MR. FRED PITSTOW.

PASSING OF A SAFFRON WALDEN VETERAN.

There passed away on Tuesday, at Saffron Walden, one of the stalwarts of the Exercise, Mr. Fred Pitstow—a pioneer of change ringing in the eastern counties—and a large circle of friends, particularly among the older generation, will regret the death of a fine ringer and genial companion. He was 77 years of age.

The late Mr. Pitstow's connection with bells began when he was only 15 years of age, and at a time when change ringing in Saffron Walden, where for over 300 years there has been a ringing society, was at a low ebb. But he and his equally celebrated brother, Nathan, used to walk to the neighbouring villages for practice, and often would go as far as Bennington to meet and ring with the famous Surprise band there. Mr. Fred Pitstow also became a frequent visitor to London, where he rang with the Cumberland Youths, at the time George Newson was in the heyday of his career. Mr. Pitstow was one of those who made his own opportunities for practice, and once within the space of a fortnight he rang a peal of Cambridge in London, Superlative at Duffield, London Surprise at Burton, Stedman at Burton, and Double Norwich in London, all of them at the first attempt and without any practice whatever except the periodical visits to the Bennington men.

After this a young band was got together at Saffron Walden, and they succeeded in ringing the first peal of Cambridge Surprise in the Eastern Counties, and the first peals of London and Superlative in Essex. Mr. Pitstow also took part in a number of other interesting 'first peals,' and altogether his total was over 200 from Maximus downward.

He joined the Essex Association in 1886, and had been an enthusiastic member ever since, having served for many years as District Master of the North Western District. He was also a member of numerous other associations.

In addition to being an able ringer, Mr. Pitstow was an accomplished musician, and for a long period was bandmaster of Saffron Walden town band.

The funeral will take place at Saffron Walden cemetery to-morrow (Saturday) at 3 p.m.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Penarth on Saturday, June 9th, a goodly number of members putting in an appearance from both Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire towers. The bells, a ring of six, were rung in various methods during the afternoon, until a move was made to the Church Hall, where an excellent tea, most generously provided by one of the wardens, was enjoyed. The business meeting followed, over which the Rector presided. Various reports were presented, including one of the Central Council meeting.

Quite a number of new members were elected, and it was unanimously decided that the next Glamorgan meeting be held at Penarth.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for his kindness in granting the use of the bells, and for presiding, and also to the warden for his hospitality, and to the ladies for serving the tea.

Service was conducted by the Rector, who, after welcoming the association to Penarth, gave a most helpful address. The bells were afterwards rung during the evening, and this brought to a close a most enjoyable and exceedingly pleasant meeting. Amongst the visitors was Mr. Davies, of the 'Metropolitan,' who rings at Deptford.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

FLORAL TITLES CHANGED.

In the discussion which took place on the Methods Committee's proposals, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith moved: 'That the following names be substituted in the Treble Bob methods for those contained in the committee's list, viz.: No. 16 (for 'Shamrock') 'Waterford,' No. 17 (for 'Bluebell') 'Berwyn,' No. 20 (for 'Daffodil') 'Cheviot,' No. 21 (for 'Fuchsia') 'Chiltern,' No. 22 (for 'Foxglove') 'Cotswold,' No. 23 (for 'Hyacinth') 'Mendip,' No. 24 (for 'Marigold') 'Pennine,' No. 28 (for 'Dahlia') 'Quantock,' No. 28 (for 'Geranium') 'Snowdon.' He said this was the first time the Council had had an opportunity of giving a direct vote upon whether they desired an extension of the floral names, and he had limited the motion to deal only with those titles which had been introduced within the last four or five years. He did not suggest that they should touch those which had an historic interest, but he felt it was desirable that they should not encourage the application of the names of flowers to what was the product of a mathematical science. The names which he proposed to substitute were, he contended, much more dignified for the purpose for which they required them. The Council would notice that, with one exception, the proposed titles were the names of the ranges of mountains and hills in Great Britain. The exception was in the case of 'Shamrock.' In order that another injustice should not be done to Ireland, he proposed to substitute 'Waterford,' which was an historical name from a ringing point of view, inasmuch as the first peal in Ireland was rung in that city. As to the right of the Council to change the names already given to the methods, it was true that they had been rung under their present titles, and the Council could not prevent ringers calling them anything they liked. But he held that the Council had a perfect right to append to any method what name it pleased in any publication that was issued by it. In regard to these new floral names they were applied by a committee of the Council before the methods were rung or named by anyone else, and there was therefore no reason why the Council should not change them and give to the methods names which, he held, were much better suited to the purpose.

Mr. P. J. Johnson seconded, and remarked that when the Council gave names to methods in one of their own publications they should remember they were dealing with a science.

Mr. E. W. Elwell created amusement among the members when he said this dead horse had been flogged more than any other dead horse he had ever met. The extraordinary thing about it was that each time it was flogged it managed to gallop half-way up the hill before it dropped again. He hoped the Council would not let it gallop any further this time. He believed that the people who wanted to get rid of these names were earnest and honest in their desire, but he asked the Council to do as it had done in the past and uphold the right of ringers who rang a method for the first time to name it. These floral names were not given to the methods by the Analysis Committee, but largely by the members of the association which he represented, the Chester Diocesan Guild, who rang these methods for the first time, and he hoped the Council would uphold the tradition which entitled those who first rang a method to decide its name. Even the proposer of these new names, he said, must, it seemed, have something to remind him of the countryside, but what was more beautiful than to hear the bells sounding across the fields where the bluebells or the daffodils grew, and to have these names to remind them of the methods that were rung? Ringing might be a mathematical science, but he did not see any improvement in substituting for floral names such titles as 'Arithmetic Minor,' 'Mathematical Major,' or 'Pythagoras Maximus' (laughter).

Alderman Pritchett said he could not see the slightest objection to floral names for methods, and there was a great deal in the principle that those who invented the methods and rang them should have the right to select the names, unless they were manifestly absurd. These floral names were very appropriate. 'But apart from that,' said Alderman Pritchett, 'I am an old Tory, and I like to support that which is in possession' (laughter).

Mr. A. D. Barker: Is it not a fact that these methods were not named by those who rang them, but were named by a small committee of this Council?

Mr. Cave: Is it not really the fact that the friends of Mr. Elwell rang these methods after they were named, chiefly out of loyalty to our old friend Mr. Beeston?

The President: I am informed on good authority that they were named first and rung afterwards.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston: They were named by the company who rang them. When the performance was published they expressed the definite wish that they should be named by the names given to them by the Analysis Committee.

On the motion being put, it was declared carried by 40 votes to 19.

OTHER ALTERATIONS.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith then proposed that No. 5 of Treble Bob methods be renamed 'London Treble Bob,' No. 4 of 4th's-place Delight methods be named 'Clarence,' No. 14 of 3rd's-place Delight methods be named 'Barham,' and No. 36 of 3rd's-place Delights be renamed 'Windsor.' He said that No. 5 was the name given to the method by Shipway. The method called 'Rochester' in the old books was an entirely different method. With regard to the method now known as 'Duke of Clarence,' he thought they might drop the two initial words, and that in No. 36 they might substitute 'Windsor' for Queen Victoria. He deprecated personal names being attached to methods unless they were the names of men who had rendered conspicuous service to ringing. He proposed the name of 'Barham' for No. 14 in order to do away with a possible cause for confusion. The method was at present called Kent Delight, but they already had Kentish Delight, and they did not want two names so nearly alike in the same class. James Barham was an historic figure in Kentish ringing, and they might well perpetuate his name.—Mr. J. Hunt seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously, the President remarking that it was the very first time the Council had been unanimous over anything connected with this subject.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said he had been asked to move the deletion of the words 'Castle' and 'Abbey' where they occurred in the names of Delight methods.—Mr. T. H. Beams seconded.

The Rev. H. Law James said there was a very good reason for eliminating these words from the titles. When they used the word 'Delight' they knew the class of method that was meant, when they divided the class by distinguishing 4th's-place Delights by the word 'Castle' and 3rd's-place Delights by the word 'Abbey,' it led to the impression that there were two kinds of Delight methods, but there were not; there was only one, and he supported this alteration very strongly (hear, hear).

The Rev. H. Drake said 'Castle' and 'Delight' were not names of methods but names for a class or description, and if they put them in they should go in as a description and not as a name. There was nothing in the report to show what the distinction was in these names. Was the word 'Bob' the name of a method or the name of a class of methods, or the name of a particular division of a class? In the same way with 'Castle,' 'Abbey' and 'Delight,' were they names for the division of methods into classes or merely put in at the whim of the person who named the methods? He agreed with the proposal that the words should be left out. If they were to remain, it should be made quite clear what they meant. Method No. 1 was Plain Bob, 1a was Reverse Bob. They ought to know what Plain Bob meant. Bob was an old word for dodge. Plain Bob meant that there was only one dodge in the method. Which was the name, was it 'Plain,' or was it 'Bob'? If they called the method 'Bob,' they could not call the class 'Bob.' They should make it clear in the report, before it was issued to the public, what were names of methods and what were names of classes, and, when they were the names of classes, the special definition of the class to which the names were given. He thought this should be done, even at the expense of a year or two's delay (laughter); if they did not do it they would regret it.

The Rev. H. Law James: May I suggest that Mr. Drake should read the Methods Report, where it was all explained over twenty years ago (laughter).

The Rev. H. Drake: I read that 20 years ago, and I should like to point out that it is twenty years old, and that is why I ask you to improve it.

The motion was carried.

DOUBLE SURPRISE METHODS.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith said his attention had been called to the fact that in at least two places Double Surprise Minor methods were being rung. He had seen the figures of some of these methods, and they did not come within the class which the Council printed in its Collection, because of a bell making 5th's place when the treble was not behind. He understood that there were quite a number of these methods being rung, but what appeared to him to be important was this: In the Preface to the Collection of Minor methods it was stated that Superlative Minor was not worth ringing, inasmuch as, in common with all other Double Treble Bob Minor methods, it would not produce the extent of the changes. If that statement were correct it would be well that the Exercise should know that Double Surprise Minor methods would not go to the full extent of 720; if it were not correct the statement should be modified to meet the new discoveries.

The Rev. H. Law James said there were only three Double Surprise Minor methods that would produce a true extent.

Mr. Goldsmith said he had been informed that the number of these methods that was being practised was much larger than this; he believed at least a dozen or 16.

Mr. T. Faulkner said he wished to point out that Mr. Trollope had recently given as the reason why the name of Primrose appeared among the Surprise methods was that it was included under that name in Mr. Davies' book on Surprise methods. This method had been previously known as Ringers' Surprise. Surprise method No. 3 was now given as Alnwick. It was formerly printed as Canterbury, but changed to Alnwick by the Analysis Committee. He suggested that they should return to the name of Canterbury as originally printed, and that the name of Alnwick should revert to No. 2, which was now called Canterbury. These two names seemed to have been changed over. In the peal of 22 methods which was rung recently by members of the Essex Association, a 720 of spliced Nos. 3 and 5 was rung and published as Canterbury and Newcastle. If the former name were now to be given to method No. 2, someone in a few years' time might come along and say the peal could not have been true, because those two methods (2 and 5) would not splice.

Mr. Trollope said the name Canterbury was given to the wrong method in the first edition, and the Analysis Committee who went very carefully into the matter corrected it. The question between Ringers' and Primrose was rather different. Both were old names; probably Ringers' was the older, but, generally speaking, ringers knew the method as 'Primrose.'

Mr. E. Butler said the band who rang the Spliced Surprise Minor peal were anxious to erect a board in the tower, and for that reason he asked the Council to stick to the names under which the methods were rung and not to print them in a different order. If they had to change the name for the peal board, the record would not conform to the record of the peal which appeared at the time in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. Trollope thought a way out of the difficulty would be to print an appendix to the Collection showing, where there had been duplicate names, what alternative names the methods had been rung under.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said he simply took the name Primrose out of a list: he was not responsible for the names in the Surprise Methods book.

Mr. T. J. Salter proposed that 'King's Norton' should be substituted for 'Primrose.'—Mr. J. S. Pritchett seconded.

Mr. Butler: We have rung it as 'Primrose' for years.

The proposal to change the name was defeated, and the Rev. H. Drake said he noted the Tory voted for the change (laughter). Mr. Drake questioned the origin of the name 'Bogedone' (No. 40, 3rd's-place Delight) and the introduction of the title of the Deity ('Immanuel', No. 22 of the Surprise methods). He thought this latter should certainly be changed.

The President agreed that they ought not to use the name of the Deity, and the Rev. H. Law James said the Committee would look into these points.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston said 'Bogedone' was named by the people who first rang the method.

The President: Where is the place?

The Rev. A. T. Beeston: I don't know.

Mr. Butler said 'Immanuel' was rung spliced with three other methods, and if they were to go on making changes like this six-bell ringers would not know where they were.

The report, subject to the alterations agreed upon, was then accepted.

THE PEALS ANALYSIS.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston moved the adoption of the Peals Analysis Committee's report, which has been printed in 'The Ringing World.' He was sorry there was one mistake in it, in regard to the length of the record peal of Treble Bob. The report gave it as 17,284 instead of 17,324, and he wished to rectify that.—Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded.

The President said he hoped the members realised what labour that report meant to the members of the committee, Mr. Beeston, Mr. J. W. Parker, Mr. G. Williams and Mrs. Fletcher. It was a monumental work, which they undertook, and the Exercise could not be too grateful to them for what they did. He thought it was far more interesting than it used to be when they allotted points for dubious performances (hear, hear).

The report was adopted with thanks to the committee for their work.

METHOD NAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The point you make in 'Belfry Gossip' is quite a good one, but we have to face the fact that a system of naming on strictly logical and scientific lines is not possible. It would require a much more thorough knowledge of the construction of methods than exists to-day, and a wholesale renaming which would be far more inconvenient than useful. Shipway did make an attempt at a scientific nomenclature, and, within limits, a thoroughly sound and successful one. But it was within limits, and while the Exercise in following him has gained much, it has also missed much. Shipway taught us to see the proper relationship between Double and Single Norwich Major and between Double Norwich Major and Caters, but there are other relationships quite as close, e.g., between Double Norwich Major and Double Oxford Major. To quote the Central Council 'Collection of Major Methods,' 'Methods are not isolated independent things. They are closely related to each other in a number of different ways.' Court Bob Minor and its variations have many derivatives on eight bells. For practical purposes it is better to treat these as separate methods with separate names, and not as extensions with the same names.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

ST. SIMON'S OR ST. CLEMENTS?

Dear Sir,—I note your comments in 'Belfry Gossip' re the question of St. Simon's Doubles being St. Clement's on higher numbers. Perhaps the Methods Committee will correct this very obvious error in their new publication. St. Simon's is nearly a century old, and has the prior claim. The committee cannot very well leave things as they are, as they published their intentions in the pages of your paper, and one of these avowed intentions was to do away with such anomalies as one method having two names.

I discussed the question of the gentleman's waistcoat with 'ye beste of spouses,' and explained the St. Simon's-um-Clement's affair to her, and she assured me that though a cat might have kittens in a bakehouse and call them rolls, they wouldn't be rolls, though they might perhaps account for the sausage in them.—Yours sincerely,

UNCLE JUSTACUSS.

THE MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the report of the Central Council meeting on page 362, in your last issue is this paragraph:—

The President: If the Midland Counties Association have been asked to place a bell in the tower and wish to obtain help from this Council, the Council should be approached in a proper way by the M.C.A. (hear, hear).

This I much resent. I have no time, nor inclination, nor do I think it desirable to place before the Exercise several copies I have before me of letters which passed between our worthy president, Alderman R. B. Chambers (who unfortunately is not at present enjoying good health), Miss Heywood, Mr. Alex. Young (hon. secretary, C.C.), Canon Coleridge (president, C.C.), Mr. Wilde, etc., on this subject of a memorial. I think if this correspondence was published, those who voiced, 'Hear, hear,' would say, 'Dear, dear,' instead. This matter has been thoroughly discussed both in our committee and general meetings on several occasions, and if only the reports of meetings (published in this paper) were read more attentively, it would be seen the M.C.A. did approach the Central Council, the correspondence on the matter going back to April, 1927. The very fact of the hon. secretary of the Council bringing the matter up proves this.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST MORRIS.

Gen. Hon. Secretary, M.C.A.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' MASTER'S SILVER WEDDING.

The Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths (Mr. J. S. Hawkins) and his wife celebrated their silver wedding on June 4th, having been married at Holy Trinity Church, Bledlow, Bucks, on June 4th, 1903. It was only fitting that the society should honour its principal office holder on such an auspicious occasion, and a peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Andrew's Church, Holborn, on Monday week.

On the following evening Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins entertained a small party of friends to supper, when 'continued health and happiness' to the bride and bridegroom of twenty-five years ago was enthusiastically drunk with wishes that they might be spared to see their 'golden' wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins' children were with them to celebrate the event, one daughter, recently married, having flown from Paris to be present.

The silver wedding of Mr. W. H. Pasmore was celebrated by the same peal, and it is noteworthy that Mr. Hawkins has been responsible for arranging a golden wedding peal for Mr. and Mrs. Pasmore, sen., and a silver wedding peal for the present Rector of St. Andrew's and his wife.

LADIES' GUILD.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The 9th annual meeting of the Southern District was held at Aldershot on Saturday, June 2nd. Unfortunately, several members were prevented from attending, and only seven towers were represented. Various touches from rounds to Treble Bob were rung during the day, and the local tower is to be congratulated on its promising young band of both sexes.

The Rev. Crichton-Melville conducted the Guild service, and gave an interesting address.

The party then adjourned to the Parish Hall, where the usual splendid tea awaited them.

Mrs. Melville presided at the business meeting, at which three new members were elected, all of Aldershot, viz., the Misses Margaret Scott, Edna Southby and Muriel Gill.

Miss Mills was asked to continue as secretary, the committee to remain as before.

It was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Wokingham on October 6th, if possible.

FAREWELL HALF-PEAL.

RADYR RINGER OFF TO AUSTRALIA.

On Monday, June 4th, at Christ Church, Radyr, a half-peal (2,520 changes) of Grandsire Doubles (ten different callings) was rung in 1½ hours by the local band: E. Blackmore 1, J. Watkins 2, F. Brewer 3, A. E. Ray (conductor) 4, A. Watkins 5, A. Goodacre 6.

This half-peal was rung as a farewell to the ringer of the 3rd, F. Brewer, who is leaving for Australia, and to whom a presentation of a silver bell pendant, suitably engraved, has been made by his fellow-ringers.

This was the longest length of Doubles to date by all the band, and was the first half-peal to be rung on the bells by an entirely local company.

As a matter of fact, the first six-score to be rung here by an entirely local band was only accomplished on January 30th of this year. Thus it will be seen that the band, with the exception of the conductor, is composed entirely of beginners.

While regretting the loss of so valuable a member, all his friends unite in wishing Mr. Brewer 'Good luck and every success' in his new home 'down under.'

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION. VETERAN LEADER IN WINNING TEAM.

The annual cup competition held at Hoylandswaine, and promoted by the local company, took place on Saturday, June 9th. There was a large gathering of local ringers, and many were accompanied by their wives and lady friends, making up a goodly company in merry mood, all anxious to witness a good contest. The usual conditions prevailed, 720 Minor in any method being the test piece. Eight bands entered, and the judge, Mr. J. R. Brearley, gave his award as follows: No. 1, Penistone, rung out; 2, Wath, rung out; 3, Felkirk, faults 256; 4, Darton, rung out; 5, Shelley, rung out; 6, Darfield, faults, 203; 7, Cawthorne, faults 71; 8, Sandal, penalty 5, faults 165, total 170.

Cawthorne were therefore easy winners, with Sandal next. The first prize was the cup, held for one year, and six salad bowls and servers for the ringers; the second prizes, six sugar basins for the ringers. This was the fifth contest, and Cawthorne have won upon three occasions. Mr. Harry Crossland, their treble ringer, is 83 years of age. His striking and skill are marvellous, and withal he is of a very genial nature. Since he was 19 years of age he has never failed his company or his church when duty called. The ringers of 2nd and 3rd are his sons.

The afternoon was, on the whole, fine, and the proceedings enjoyable. The Vicar (Rev. J. Hewetson) and the Misses Hewetson extended their hospitality and courtesy, and their kindness was much appreciated.

DEVON ASSOCIATION FESTIVAL.

EIGHT-BELL COMPETITION AT ALPHINGTON.

The Devon Association, which is not to be confused with the Devon Guild, held the first part of their 1928 festival on Saturday at Aliphington, near Exeter, where there was an eight-bell competition. Six teams competed, and there were ringers from Northtawton, Crediton, Aliphington, Babacombe, Lustleigh, Southtawton, Zeal Monachorum, Bridford, Christow, Colebrooke, North Bovey, and other parts.

Trial peals were first rung. A service was conducted by Rev. B. C. Bennett (Rector), assisted by Rev. A. F. McCarthy, Vicar of Zeal Monachorum, and hon. secretary of the association. A luncheon followed.

The judges were Messrs. W. Fewings (Northtawton), A. Darch (Torington), and R. G. Piddler (High Bickington). Results: 1, Northtawton, shield, 51 marks against mistakes; 2, Aliphington, first certificate, 100 marks; 3, Upton (Torquay), second certificate, 218 marks; 4, Babacombe, third certificate, 245 marks; 5, Moretonhampstead, fourth certificate, 360 marks.

The competition, under the rules, is limited to teams of church service ringers, and there is a similar contest for six-bell men.

INTER-ASSOCIATION MEETING AT STOCKTON.

A Whitsun Monday meeting was held at Stockton in beautiful weather, but it was disappointing in regard to the attendance. Those who did not attend are to be pitied, as it was a most enjoyable meeting, being a joint gathering between the Durham and Newcastle and the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Associations. A service was held in Stockton Parish Church, conducted by the president of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association (the Rev. A. Simpson), who welcomed the ringers to Stockton, and also gave an interesting address from the text, 'Seek that ye may excel.' Dinner was served at the Vane Arms.

At the general meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association, presided over by the president, Mr. C. L. Routledge, two hon. members were elected.

The Rev. A. Simpson, who is also a 'joiner,' was prevented from attending either the dinner or meeting, as he had some important 'joinery' work to do, having to wed four couples.

The Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association's annual meeting was presided over by Mr. W. Newton. All the visitors much enjoyed ringing at Stockton on the ten bells, which were kept going before and after the meeting in different methods, including Kent Major and Royal and Stedman Caters, etc., and at Thornaby (eight bells), where Plain Bob and Kent Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. Time did not permit the Newcastle visitors to ring at Middlesbrough, but the meeting with so many southern friends was thoroughly enjoyable.

MARRIED FOR SEVENTY YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall, of Satterthwaite, Cumberland, have just celebrated the seventieth anniversary of their wedding, which took place at Egton-cum-Newland Chapel in 1858. Mr. Marshall is 93 years of age, and has been connected with Satterthwaite and Rusland for the last 48 years. He has been attached to the churches in these parishes as chorister, bellringer, and clerk, and is highly respected. Mrs. Marshall, who is 91, was a native of Kirby-in-Furness.

On Wednesday, June 5th, a number of friends and neighbours assembled at Middle Forge, Satterthwaite, to meet the aged couple and their family, and Mrs. and Mrs. Marshall were presented with a purse containing £21 19s. 3d. A complimentary peal was rung at St. Michael's Church, Hawkshead, in honour of the unique occasion.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE RESTORATION OF AMBROSDEN BELLS.

The annual meeting of the Bicester Branch was held at Piddington. The Vicar of Ambrosden (Rev. C. C. D. Oake) was the preacher at the service, and after tea at the Seven Stars the business was transacted under the chairmanship of the Vicar of Bicester, others present being the Revs. J. Amies (Edgecott), H. J. Edwards (Piddington), C. C. D. Oake (Ambrosden), Mr. E. A. Clifton (hon. secretary), and representatives from Bicester, Launton, Middleton Stoney and Piddington. The hon. secretary presented his report for the year, which showed that one new tower, viz., Stratton Audley, had been added to the branch, and the membership compared with 1927 was as follows: 1927, seven honorary and 44 ordinary members; 1928, seven honorary and 51 ordinary members. One hon. member had been added, and the branch had, by the death of the Rev. A. Brooke-Smith (Middleton Stoney), lost an hon. member who had always taken a keen interest in the work of the branch. Efforts had been made to get other towers and members to come into the Guild, but without result up to the present.

The Hon. Treasurer submitted the balance sheet, and pointed out that though progress was slow the branch was steadily going forward, and, compared with 1920, when he took over the office, the subscriptions had increased from £1 5s. to £8 3s. 5d., and the balance in the bank from £2 4s. 3d. to £13 5s. 6d.—The election of officers resulted as follows: President, the Rev. W. O'Reilly; hon. secretary, Mr. E. A. Clifton; Guild representatives, Mr. F. Neale and Mr. F. Sharpe. Mr. F. Sharpe, who kindly keeps the ringing records, gave his report of ringing done during the year, and stated that touches of Stedman had been rung for the first time by several members of the branch, where previously only Grandsire had been rung.

The Rev. C. C. D. Oake gave a detailed account of the proposed restoration of the Ambrosden bells, and said the bells would be going away during the next few weeks, and the old oak beams were being replaced by a steel frame for eight bells.—Several members spoke of the pleasure it gave them to hear of this restoration, as these bells are one of the finest rings of six in existence.—It was agreed that a grant of five guineas be made to this restoration fund.

Mr. Sharpe gave notice to move that the first Saturday in May (instead of the last) be fixed for the annual meeting of the district.—Stratton Audley was chosen as the place of the next meeting.—Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. C. C. D. Oake for his sermon, the Rev. H. J. Edwards as organist and to the Vicar of Bicester for blowing the organ.

It was agreed to make a series of visits to towers not on the Guild list on alternate Thursday evenings, and the hon. secretary and Mr. Sharpe were asked to prepare a list of towers.—The chairman was thanked with acclamation, and after the meeting several touches were rung on the bells.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH PROGRESS.

The annual festival of the North Bucks Branch was held at Bletchley on Saturday, June 2nd, when between 60 and 70 representatives from various towers in the branch attended. The bells were ringing from 2.30 p.m. A short service was held, the processional hymn being 'The sacred bells of England.' The Rector of Bletchley (Rev. F. W. Bennett) officiated, and the lesson was read by the chairman of the branch, Rev. L. Moxon. The Rev. Dixon, Rector of West Caddesdon and chairman of the newly-formed branch in Central Bucks, preached a very inspiring sermon. After service, all adjourned to the Rectory where tea was served on the lawn.

Mr. W. Sear, secretary, presented the accounts for the year, which showed a balance in hand, and stated that the branch was in a very healthy condition. Good work had been done generally, instruction given at two towers, other towers had rejoined, and the membership showed an increase over the previous year. He hoped this progress would continue, and felt sure that it would if loyalty and co-operation from the foremen of towers were given him.

The Rev. L. Moxon, of Newport Pagnell, was unanimously re-elected chairman, and Mr. W. Sear was again elected secretary and treasurer. Places of meeting for the year were chosen.

The Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) congratulated the branch on the way it was progressing. He also gave a brief but interesting report of the Central Council meeting at Hereford, which was appreciated by the company.

Mr. Wright, treasurer, spoke on the finances of the Guild, and congratulated the branch on its sound position, which reflected credit on the management.—Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary) spoke on several matters, giving good advice to the younger members, and asking the foremen of towers to support their secretary.

Votes of thanks were proposed by the chairman to the preacher, the choir and the ladies for providing the tea. Ringing was then continued, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

PROPOSED NEW DISTRICT.

The annual festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Salisbury on Saturday, May 19th, when the Earl of Shaftesbury, now himself a practical ringer, presided over a good attendance.

The annual report of the general secretary (Rev. F. L. Edwards) stated that the past year had been one of quiet, steady progress in the various branches. One eminently healthy symptom was seen in the work of restoration that had been accomplished in quite a number of towers throughout the diocese.

The statement of accounts presented by the secretary showed a balance in hand of £70 15s. 9d.—The balance sheet was adopted.

The following officers were unanimously reappointed and thanked for their services: The Rev. R. H. Gundry, Master; the Rev. F. L. Edwards, hon. sec.; Mr. T. Hervey Beams, assistant hon. secretary; the Rev. A. D. H. Allen and Mr. H. R. Hopkins, hon. auditors. The following were also re-elected to the committee: The Rev. C. C. Cox, the Rev. C. Wood, Mr. J. R. Jerram, and Mr. E. B. Barter.

A NEGLECTED BELFRY.

The Secretary, introducing the question of the suggested sub-division of the Marlborough Branch, said he had received a letter from the secretary of the Marlborough Branch on this matter, which Mr. Heginbotham (chairman of the Devizes Branch) would explain.

Mr. Heginbotham said it was no use to set the chairman or secretary of any branch a task which they could not possibly perform, and in one or two branches this was the case. It was chiefly the relieving of the Salisbury Branch of some of the tremendous amount of work and of looking after some of its towers that he had in mind when he brought the suggestion forward. If the Salisbury branch held a meeting every Saturday they would not get round all their towers in the course of twelve months. He thought it might be possible to rearrange the Marlborough Branch so that they might give up a few of their towers and to start a fresh branch in the Pewsey district, which would also take over some towers from the Salisbury Branch. Although members in the area were unanimous that something of that sort should be done, added Mr. Heginbotham, nothing could be done, because when they arrived at Pewsey they found great difficulties. They had a meeting there, something like 25 or 30 ringers turning up. The tower had a good peal of six in an iron frame, but the belfry was about the dirtiest and most filthy he had been in for the past 20 years. Mr. Heginbotham described the condition of the belfry in detail, remarking that there were birds' nests there and a leaking roof and rotten floor among other defects, and said when they got to the meeting they found there were no ringers from Pewsey at all. He did not know the 'local politics.' The Rector was away in Italy on a holiday for three months and the curate did not come to the meeting, so nothing could be done to start a branch in the Pewsey area. Those present at the meeting voted in favour of a Pewsey Branch, but there was no one there to take any interest, and so they had had to leave it.

Mr. Beams suggested that something would probably be done in regard to Pewsey if a letter were written to the Parochial Church Council pointing out the deplorable condition of their belfry and bells and the neglected roof and tower. Such a letter coming from the Guild ought to have some weight, with thinking people, at any rate, and he believed this was the first step they should take in trying to arouse some enthusiasm in the Pewsey district. He proposed that the Rector and the Parochial Church Council be written to. It was no use minding matters. They were neglecting their duty as churchpeople there. To let water through the roof, to allow jackdaws to build their nests in the tower, and to fail to keep the fabric in repair was sadly neglecting a duty. The Guild had a friend in the Archdeacon, and if he could help them he would, because it was his duty to see churches were in proper repair.

Mr. Heginbotham, seconding Mr. Beams' proposition that letters be written to the Parochial Church Council and the Rector of Pewsey, said he believed the secretary of the Marlborough Branch had approached the Rector, but he believed it would have more weight if a letter went from the Guild.

Lord Shaftesbury said he felt sure that if they wrote a nice, friendly letter, pointing out the interest the Guild took in all the towers in the diocese and especially in the Pewsey tower, and offer all the help they could, it would be well received.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

GUILD WAR MEMORIAL.

The Secretary, referring to the Guild war memorial in the Cathedral, said last September he had an interview with the late Dean and the Archdeacon of Sarum, and he came to an agreement with them, on behalf of the Guild, that the Guild should make an endeavour to pay off the whole sum of £200 by the jubilee year of the Guild, four years hence. He said they should go on steadily raising funds in the meantime, and then, with a great jubilee commemoration service in the Cathedral and a large collection, pay off the amount required. He asked them to introduce into the memorial in carved wood and gild the badge of the Guild, and the Archdeacon undertook to see that it was done.—Mr. Beams said the amount they had collected was £129 7s. 5d. He found there were still 35 towers who had not contributed to the memorial fund, and he hoped these would now respond. They were not asked for large amounts.

REPRESENTATION ON ADVISORY BOARD.

The meeting next discussed the question of asking the diocesan authorities to consider the necessity of having representatives of the Guild on the Diocesan Advisory Board, which deals with matters concerning the facilities for the restoration of bells and belfries, in which matters the expert advice of representatives of the Guild would be valuable.—Mr. Cook proposed that Mr. Hillier and Mr. Beams be nominated to the diocesan authorities as the representatives of Guild on the Advisory Board. Mr. Cook said they needed practical ringers on the board. They would then get tower work done better, 'because some of these old gentlemen would be afraid to go where a practical ringer is not.' Referring to the recasting of ancient bells, Mr. Cook said one felt that the church should not be turned into a museum. Bells were instruments of music.—Mr. Fletcher seconded, and the motion was carried.—The President said if he happened to be present when the Advisory Board was appointed he would take the earliest opportunity of recommending this proposal. If they could not get two representatives of the Guild appointed they might get one, and if they could not get one they might do what he thought would be extremely possible and advisable, insist that some expert from the Guild should be called in to give advice on the restoration of church towers.

LORD SHAFTESBURY 'A BROTHER RINGER.'

The Hon. Secretary said when Lord Shaftesbury first presided over their Guild he told them that he had essayed the handling of a bell, but had found himself in contact with a very wayward personality of unaccountable movements (laughter). They all very much appreciated the interest he had taken in the work of the Guild and the great and zealous support he had given them since he had been president, but he was sure they all felt that appreciation tenfold now that they were able to address him not only as their president and as a great supporter, but as a brother ringer (applause). Lord Shaftesbury had by dint of application, energy, and devotion to the exercise of the art, which must have been difficult to a man with so many public engagements, mastered that capricious temperament of a bell—a bell was always feminine (laughter)—and had reduced it to a proper state of submission. He had it upon the best authority that his lordship had handled the rope in a masterly fashion on a State occasion and that he was making the most worthy progress in change ringing. They regarded that fact as an honour not only to their Guild but as an honour to the ringing fraternity at large (applause). The Master and himself had allowed themselves the opportunity of making out a change ringing certificate to which his lordship was entitled (applause).

The Rev. R. H. Gundry endorsed the secretary's remarks, and presented the certificate to the president.

Lord Shaftesbury said it was quite a surprise to him, and he was overwhelmed with joy at having that certificate in front of him. He had longed to be able to address them as 'brother ringers.' He did not know that he was very far in the art at present. It was true he had mastered a bell, and his mind was a whirl of Bob Major and Minor, Triples and Surprises (laughter). He hoped, however, that it would come out of it and that he would see clearly to ring with the best of them (applause). He had to thank his Rector for having brought him into that position. The Rector thought it was high time he (Lord Shaftesbury) should be making up for all the time he had wasted as president of that Guild in not being able to take a part in the tower, and he agreed with him. The result was he had this certificate, which he was proud of. He hoped that all the ringing the members had been responsible for during the past year had brought them in return 'touches' of joy, comfort, and happiness (hear, hear). 'If,' added Lord Shaftesbury, 'we are a band of ringers let us always be a band of brothers in this Guild, always bearing in mind when we handled our ropes in the belfries that we do it to the glory of God and the glory of His Kingdom on earth and in Heaven, and that as much as we do that this Guild will flourish and we shall be a power and an influence in this diocese' (applause).

After the meeting the members attended a service at the Cathedral, when a sermon was preached by the Dean (Bishop Randolph). Two Bishops and three Archdeacons were present.

Following tea in the British Legion Hall, ringing took place in various belfries in the city and district, but owing to the serious illness of Dr. Kemp, St. Thomas' and St. Edmund's bells were silent.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

BELFRIES; NOT MUSEUMS.

In a recent issue of 'The Builder' appeared an article by Mr. A. R. Powys, A.R.I.B.A., Secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, in which, as part of a series of papers on the repair of ancient buildings, he deals with church bells and bell hanging. It is hardly to be expected, perhaps, that Mr. Powys should approach the subject with an entirely unbiassed mind, and while a good deal of his article is technically instructive to those who know nothing of the mechanics of bells, there are some things with which those with an intimate knowledge of bells and bell-ringing must profoundly disagree. His statement that 'bell hangers do not value old bells or old cages as they should be valued,' is as wild as his conclusions that changes in the method of tuning are not of necessity an advantage, and that 'many authorities prefer the irregularity of tone which the old bell founders seem intentionally to have given to their bells.' Columns might be written disproving these statements alone. Such assertions are unfortunately misleading, especially when they gain such a wide publicity through an important technical journal, and we are very sorry that Mr. Powys should have allowed himself even to touch on a side of the subject of which we are afraid he really knows nothing.

No one who has compared old bells tuned with hammer and chisel, or file, with a ring which have been tuned in a modern foundry on scientific principles has any doubt upon the subject. It is not a question of Simpson tuning or 'old standard' tuning; the old founders knew nothing of the one and were not accurate in the other. Their methods made accuracy impossible, and while they may have striven for good bells, they made them in only isolated cases and then by sheer luck. How many pre-Reformation bells are there which have anything approaching the quality of tone of those turned out by the leading bell founders of to-day?

Mr Powys, with the conservatism that often marks archaeologists, apparently refuses to believe that the art of the bell founder has advanced just as other crafts have done. His opposition to the destruction of ancient bells can be understood; but his energies are misdirected if he desires them retained in the ringing peals of to-day. Let church authorities keep them as relics if they choose, but harsh and discordant tones do not fit them for any place in a modern ringing peal. It is not as antiques that we want bells in our towers; they are there for a definite purpose and use, and the service of the church demands that the instruments of music shall be as perfect as skill can make them. After all, a belfry is not a museum, and for that reason also it is no place for an ancient frame whose life might possibly be preserved for a few years by tinkering. If a bell frame has reached the stage when it has become an object of antiquarian interest its place is not in the tower with a peal of bells swinging in it.

The point, however, to which we take the strongest exception in Mr. Powys' article is the invitation to those who contemplate improvements in their old bells or bell frames to call in the advice of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings. The installation of a modern peal of bells is an engineering job. If a local authority contemplated constructing, say, a new bridge, the S.P.A.B. is about the last body they would ask for technical advice. They would consult engineers who specialise in that branch of work; and that is what church authorities should do when they want a new peal of bells or to restore their old ones. The specialists in bell matters to-day are bell foundries, a pound of whose scientific knowledge is worth a ton of the S.P.A.B.'s fads.

REOPENING OF THE BELLS AT SUNNINGWELL.

A BERKSHIRE RESTORATION.

After being silent for some months, the bells of the Parish Church of Sunningwell, Berks, were again heard on Friday evening, May 25th. A complete rehanging has been carried out by Messrs. White, of Appleton. The bells, a sweet-toned five, are now on ball bearings in a massive oak frame, with a spare pit for a future treble bell, an addition which ringers hope to see accomplished in the near future. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.C., with ringers from neighbouring towers, gave the bells a good test, numerous six-scores of Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire being rung. The 'go' is perfect, a condition to which the local ringers found it difficult to adapt themselves, so that stays also had their fair share of the testing.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful and enjoyable meeting was held on Saturday at Frensham (one of the beauty spots of Surrey) by the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and was attended by 33 ringers and their friends. Ringing began soon after 2.30, and later the Guild's service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. M. C. H. Collet), who gave a very interesting address.

After tea a very short business meeting was held, presided over by the Vicar, with the Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse) supporting him. The District Secretary (Mr. B. Clark) proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for conducting the service and the use of the bells, which was warmly accorded. The Vicar replied in a pleasant little speech.—Mr. F. Nye also proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the organist for the very able manner in which he carried out his duties, and mentioned that he is only 14 years of age.

After that meeting a district committee meeting was held, and approved of a series of combined practices put forward by the district secretary.

Ringing in the standard methods was afterwards kept up until 8.30 p.m. Members attended from Ash, Aldershot, Bagshot, Chertsey, Farnham, Frensham, Haslemere and Seale.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING AT EAST RETFORD.

A very enjoyable day was spent by a large number of ringers at East Retford, West Retford and Ordsall upon the occasion of the annual festival of the North Notts Association. The day was beautifully fine, and members were present from Anston, Barlborough, North Collingham, Cuckney, Edwinstowe, Gamston, Everton, East Markham, Ordsall, East Retford, Shireoaks, Sutton-on-Trent, Wheatley, Warsop and Worksop, in addition to a large number of visitors from kindred associations, including Gainsborough, Misterton, Lincoln, Branton, Boston, Grantham, Treeton and Wortley. The touches included methods from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise, and Stedman Triples and Caters, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Bob Royal and Kent Treble Bob Royal.

The visitors attended service in the Parish Church, at which the preacher was the Rev. R. F. Gould, Vicar of North Codrington, who gave a forceful address of singular appropriateness.

Sixty-five members and friends sat down to a splendid tea, presided over by the Rev. A. Parkinson, Vicar of East Retford, supported by Rev. R. F. Wilkinson (Rector of Ordsall), Rev. R. S. Curtis (Vicar of Everton), the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Haigh), the Crawford Cup secretary (Mr. H. Rooke), Misses Burchnall, Mrs. East, Mrs. Clayton, Mrs. Stenton, Mrs. Hibbard and many other ladies.

At the business meeting the annual report and balance sheet were duly adopted, and the hon. secretary was the recipient of a cordial vote of thanks for his work in this connection, and also for the Crawford Cup competition rules.

All the officers and vice-presidents were re-elected. The members stood in silence for a few moments whilst the secretary made allusion to the death of the Duke of Newcastle, the oldest patron of the association, who was being buried that day. Sympathy was also expressed with the Bishop of Southwell, who, after a long illness, had resigned his office.

A long discussion on the Crawford Cup rules followed, and, with a few slight alterations to the rough proof and a few additions, the rules were unanimously adopted. The first contest will take place in the autumn.

Three new members were elected, and the Rev. A. J. Lindsell, of West Retford, and the Rev. R. S. Curtis, Vicar of Everton, were elected vice-presidents.

A grant of £5 was made to the Anston Bell Committee, who are now carrying out the completion of the full octave. The tenor bell is to be recast and two new trebles added.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. R. F. Gould for his excellent address, to the Rev. A. Parkinson for presiding over tea and meeting, arranging the church service, and for use of bells, also the Revs. R. F. Wilkinson (Ordsall) and A. J. Lindsell (West Retford) for use of the bells and their attendance that day.

In the evening the three towers were again visited, and touches in various six, eight and ten bell methods were rung.

RESTORATION OF BELLS AT ALDINGTON.

An invitation was extended to members of the Kent County Association and Romney Marsh Guild by the Vicar of Aldington to attend the opening of the restored ring of six bells of this beautiful church, which, standing on a hill, overlooks Romney Marsh and the Channel.

The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Dover, and the hymns sung at the service included, 'The sacred bells of England' and 'Set them nobly in the steeple.' There was a large congregation, and immediately after the dedicatory prayers, the bells were rung while the clergy and choir returned from the tower to the chancel.

Two of the six bells have been recast, and the texts upon these are: (3rd) 'May Jesus Christ be praised' and (tenor) 'Draw nigh to God.'

The bells are hung in a new oak frame on ball bearings, the work having been done by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The manner in which the restoration has been carried out was much appreciated by the ringers present, including Canon F. J. O. Helmore, who afterwards presided at tea and the business meeting of the Romney Marsh Guild which followed the dedication service.

The Vicar gave a hearty welcome to the Guild, and spoke of the work of the parishioners, and especially of Mr. C. Slingsby, who was among the most active, even at the age of 91 years, having been a ringer upwards of 80 years.

Hearty cheers and best wishes were given to Mr. Slingsby on completion of the bell restoration work on his 91st birthday. Rev. Canon Helmore and Mr. Fright were elected members of the Guild, and New Romney was selected for the next meeting on June 30th.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Portishead, Somerset, on May 22nd, at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 45 mins. in honour of the marriage of Mr. Frank Nisbet (son of Mr. and Mrs. Nisbet, of Portishead) to Miss Myrtle Shephard, at Bentleigh, Australia, the ceremony having taken place on March 17th: Miss V. Hyman (first quarter-peal) 1, Miss B. Stadden 2, Mrs. W. Edwards 3, Miss A. Stokes (conductor) 4, Miss H. Orchard 5, J. Nisbet 6, W. Gillingham 7, O. Berg 8.

BRISTOL AND HEREFORD INQUIRIES.

The following are some of the things which a correspondent would like to know about the recent gatherings at Bristol and Hereford:—

Whether those present could really express their appreciation of the courtesy extended to them, both at Bristol and Hereford; and whether they are going to get 'Younger' instead of 'Georges,' in order that they may attend the centenary at Bristol?

What the 'President elect' will look like on that occasion?

Whether a certain secretary, who met the Wells party at 'great expense and personal inconvenience,' has yet refunded the surcharge on the postcard?

If it is true that the postcard in question is to go amongst the ancient archives of St. Martin's, Birmingham?

Whether a certain gentleman has now recovered from the eye strain caused by viewing the sights 'at Weston-super-Mare'?

Whether the remedy given by the touring 'fiddler' has been tried by the ladies, and what were the results?

Whether Yorkshire pudding would be better in a hat than butter?

Whether the 'draught' in the Ship was slightly damp?

Whether a certain Essex ringer took the wrong train to Hereford by accident or design, and how he felt when he found himself in Welsh Wales?

Why Mr. Elwell's horse did not run at Epsom?

If it is advisable to mention 'boots' to 'a terrible big parson'?

Whether 'the clock that Uncle took a fancy to' is still going, and if it has been found necessary to replace it?

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting of the North Staffs and District Association was held at Swynnerton on June 2nd. Although the little village is rather an out-of-the-way place to get to, there was a very good attendance, over fifty being present from Stoke, Leek, Uttoxeter, Kingsley, Cheadle, Norton, Burslem, Biddulph, Stone, Lawton, and Brown Edge. The Rector and local ringers gave the visitors a hearty welcome, and the Rectory gardens and bowling green were placed at their disposal.

A service was conducted by the Rector, and afterwards tea was served in the schoolroom. A very cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, for his address at the service, and for the tea, also for throwing his grounds open. A vote of thanks was also given to the ladies who served the tea.

Ringings were kept up until 9 o'clock, the methods rung being London, Cambridge and York Surprise, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles.

THE FIRST PEAL AT NANTMEL.

Nantmel, a remote village about six miles from Bhyader, amidst the mountains of Radnorshire, has a population of less than 500, with a well-preserved church in the Norman style, consisting of nave, chancel, and western tower—all in line—and a south porch, which is dedicated to one of the many saints of the Principality, St. Cynllo.

A fringe of ancient yew trees, similar to those at Llanfagan, surrounds the churchyard, and the sundial bears the date 1773, a quite recent one compared with the age of the yews. On the north wall of the nave is a brass tablet recording:—

'In thankful remembrance of Thomas Powell Humphreys, a great benefactor to this church. He gave, amongst other things, five of the six bells. 1899-1900.'

The bells were cast by Llewellyn and James, of Bristol, and go fairly well, but very little ringing has ever been done upon them except rounds and chiming. The Vicar is the Rev. Edgar E. Davis, formerly of Brecon, who had invited the Brecon ringers to pay him a visit. The King's birthday was selected as a most fitting occasion. Accordingly a party of 14 ringers and friends drove by charabanc via Builth Wells and Llandrindod, on a perfect June day so far as the weather was concerned, and with beautiful scenery for about 30 miles each way through rugged hills, by winding rivers and overhanging woodland.

The visitors considerably augmented the usual congregation attending evening service, at which the Vicar officiated, and afterwards enjoyed a homely tea and welcome at the Vicarage by Mr. and Mrs. Davies. Mr. C. Powell returned thanks to them for their kindness and for the opportunity of ringing the first peal on the bells.

As the local bell ropes were decaying, the Brecon ringers left a few spare ropes for the use of the Nantmel band. The tenor, suffering with an acute diameter of the mouth, awaits the attention of Dr. Shepherd, of Swindon. Birmingham ringers, who appreciate their city's water supply, will be interested to hear that the name of the parish signifies in Welsh, 'Honey water.' From the great Elan Valley reservoir, twelve miles away, water is conveyed in huge iron pipes through the parish of 'honey water' to Birmingham, a graceful group of nine tall arches supporting this pipe line across a wide ravine immediately below the church.

The homeward journey, thanks to the care of Mr. F. Thomas, was safely made by 10.30 p.m., passing en route the cave at Aberedw, where Llewellyn, last of the Welsh princes, was captured soon after having his horse's feet reshod with the shoes reversed to mislead his pursuers.

BELL ROPES. MUFFLES &c.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

To-day we reach our 900th number. How many people 900 weeks ago thought that this would happen!

Bristol, with 26 peals of bells already, is now to have an additional light peal of eight at St. Ambrose. The bells are being installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and are to be dedicated on July 14th.

The Misses Katharine and Grace Burchall, of the Lincoln Guild, have the unique distinction of being the only twin sisters to ring peals together. They celebrated their birthday last Saturday with a peal in seven Minor methods at Branston, Lincs.

The first peal by the Midland Counties Association was Grandsire Triples, rung at Derby on June 23rd, 1882.

The back ten bells at Taunton were opened on June 25th, 1885. A 'peal' of Caters was rung upon them, but was afterwards disclaimed. Sam Thomas, of Sheffield, died on June 24th, 1924.

The repairs to the tower of Loughborough Parish Church, after the damage done some time ago by a storm, are now almost complete, but before ringing is possible the bearings of the bells have got to come out for cleaning.

Ringings at Long Stanton, Cambs, will be suspended for a time while the steeple is being restored.

WORCESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I ask any members of the Worcestershire and Districts Association or ringing friends who may wish to subscribe to the above fund, kindly to send to me on or before June 30th, on which date the fund will be closed?

AUGMENTATION AT GREAT GADDESSEN.

As a memorial to the late Sir Frederick Halsey, Bart., and his wife, the family have placed a treble bell in the church of the village of Great Gaddesden, Herts, where for many generations the Squire of Gaddesden has, with his family and friends, regularly worshipped.

The bell, supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, weighs 4½ cwt., and has inscribed round the crown: 'M.I.H., Hæc Vox Mea Honora Patrem et Matrem. T.F.H. MCMXXVII. (M. and S., London).'

In addition, they have also borne the cost of rehangings the old five bells in ball bearings.

The following inscriptions are to be found on the old five:—

Tenor: 'Chandler made me. 1723.'

5th: 'Chandler made me. 1662.'

4th: 'Isaack Halsey, William Young, churchwardens, 1662.'

3rd: 'Chandler made me. 1662.'

2nd: 'Chandler made me. 1662.'

Chandler was a Hertfordshire bell founder.

The dedication on Friday, June 15th, was performed by the Rural Dean, Rev. R. H. Pope, in the presence of the Vicar (Rev. A. T. Hollis), the Revs. F. and G. Halsey, other members of the family and a large congregation of villagers and visitors. The congregation assembled to the tune of Bob Doubles rung by the local band assisted by the district secretary (Mr. W. Ayre).

After the dedication and prayers, an address was given by the Rural Dean, who spoke in eulogistic terms of the late baronet and his wife. Then was sung hymn 296, followed by prayers and the Blessing.

The new bell was then raised and tolled for two minutes. After this, rounds and call changes were rung by: W. Ayre 1, F. Rance 2, Reg. Russell 3, G. Mortimer 4, E. Upton 5, L. Chennells 6, all belonging to the local band except the treble ringer. The first method on the six was Kent Treble Bob, a 720 being rung: H. Golding 1, A. A. Hughes 2, A. V. Good 3, H. Gates 4, W. Ayre (conductor) 5, Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake 6. With help, the local ringers then rang 120's of Bob Doubles, after which a 720 of Oxford Bob was rung: J. Stopp 1, H. Golding 2, J. Floyd, sen. 3, J. W. Shepherd 4, H. Gates 5, W. Ayre (conductor) 6. More Bob Doubles concluded the ringing.

The bell founders were represented by Mr. A. A. Hughes, and are to be credited with having made a very good splice, while the 'go' of the whole peal is excellent.

This augmentation will make a very welcome addition to the Western District of the Herts Association, and with very little help the local band should soon make progress.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE—WHAT IT IS !

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should be obliged if Mr. Trollope would tell us whether or not St. Clement's Minor and Triples are the correct extensions of St. Simon's Doubles, and, if they are the correct extensions, will he tell us whether or not the committee he has the honour to represent are going to correct this instance of duplication of names or leave the job for a future committee? As to altering Primrose to King's Norton—well, I never heard anyone ridicule the name Primrose League, which is composed of good churchpeople.—Yours sincerely,

'THE WILY OLD BIRD.'

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

BELFRY ACOUSTICS.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, for the Towers and Belfries Committee, said they had not met as a committee, but individually the members had been pretty busy, at any rate he and Major Hesse had been. In his own Guild there had been much good work done, and all the leading bell founders and hangers had been engaged. He had one suggestion and one proposal to put before the Council. The suggestion was this, and he asked the Council to take it up for what it was worth. It was unsatisfactory when, after bells had been taken to a foundry, the founder reported for the first time that a bell was cracked. He did not blame the founder, because it was impossible to examine bells in a dark tower and be absolutely certain that a bell was cracked in the crown. When the bells were down and under a strong light, then the founder, with the local authorities, should make an examination and determine, then and there, whether a bell was cracked or not. He thought this would be very much more satisfactory to the authorities and to the bell founders alike. Secondly, his proposal was the outcome of another experience. They sometimes found when the bells had been put into perfect ringing order, and sounded very nicely outside, inside the ringing chamber it was exceedingly awkward for the ringers to hear properly because of the noise. Then there was also the question of the ventilation of towers, but he thought the first thing to consider was the acoustic conditions. He did not ask members to give their experiences as to what prevailed in their own towers, because no one tower a thing might be all right, but in another the same thing might be all wrong. He thought, however, that the Council, through the committee, might proceed to inquire into and report as to the best way of dealing with acoustic difficulties in the ringing room.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards seconded and welcomed the resolution in view of painful experience in many belfries.

Mr. E. M. Atkins asked if the committee would accept with that resolution a reference to deal with the acoustic conditions outside. The two things came together, and the committee should consider both aspects.

Mr. G. Williams supported the motion, and said he could endorse all that Mr. Jenkyn had said with regard to the difficulty of inspecting bells for cracks in the tower. It would be much more satisfactory if the inspection were carried out as Mr. Jenkyn had suggested, and have it made before the bells left the place.

Mr. E. A. Young said the Council had many copies in the library of that useful book, the 'Report upon the preservation of bells,' and he thought they would find a chapter dealing with the deadening of sound in the ringing chamber. He added that as a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee it was his privilege during the year to inspect a tower in the New Forest and advise as to its stability. The members of the committee were always pleased to give their advice where it was deemed to be helpful, and it would be to the advantage of the Exercise if their advice was sought more often than it was (hear, hear).

Major Hesse said he agreed that what was all right for one tower in regard to the regulation of sound, was all wrong for another, and they could not possibly lay down any rule. It was a case of trial and error. A lath and plaster ceiling would be successful in one tower, but not in another, but the thing was how were they to find out? Experiment would be costly.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said his idea was that the committee should compare their own experiences. In his own Guild there were certain towers where he had made inspections and knew the conditions. Other members of the committee made similar inspections, and they could compare notes. That was his idea; he did not see that that need cost money.

The president then put the motion that the committee inquire into and report as to the best way of dealing with acoustic difficulties both inside and outside towers.

The motion was carried.

Mr. J. Hunt said the most effective silencer he had found was to put 2lb. lead, that was lead weighing 2lb. per foot, over the floor under the bells. It was just as cheap as a lath and plaster ceiling, and was not liable to tumble down.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said it would be helpful to the committee to receive any such information as this.

WELDING OF CRACKED BELLS.

Mr. E. M. Atkins asked if the committee were going into the question of the welding of mediæval bells. He thought it was a question for this committee to consider. He knew of a number of cases in which bells had been welded successfully. It was certainly possible to weld bells for chiming, but it was not so certain that they could be successfully welded for ringing.

Major Hesse said last year he saw a bell that had been welded, and it was quite sound as regards its tone, but the question was, Would it stand the strain for long? He had not heard the history of this bell since, but he had heard the history of others which had come to grief.

Mr. A. A. Hughes said he could hear out what had been said by Major Hesse. From his experience he could say that the tone of the bell referred to after welding was, as far as he could judge, exactly as it was before it was cracked. The bell had since been in use for roughly twelve months, and he believed it was still sound, but how long it was going to stand up in ringing he could not say. He knew of another case where it took just over twelve months for a bell to become cracked again.

Major Hesse said he did not think they ought ever to advise people to have their bells welded until they had something much better to go on, and he undertook to consult a well-known firm of welders about the matter.

Mr. Hunt said there was a case near Taunton where a bell was cracked and a firm of welders were asked if they would guarantee it if it were welded, but they said they could not guarantee the bell to last. As a result that bell was now down in the church, and a new one had been got to replace it.

The Hon. Secretary said it was possible that the process might save to them bells that would otherwise be lost by recasting, but it must be remembered that a bell went on decreasing in strength as it was hammered. If they went on setting up stresses in the molecules beyond the elastic limit, the metal would not stand it, whether it was brazed or cast. They had to bear in mind that the cost of welding was probably only one-tenth of that for recasting, and he did hope, as a great lover of mediæval bells, many hundreds of which had been lost to them in the last half century, that if this process was practicable it should be utilised to save them from further loss.

The Rev. H. Drake said at St. Mary-le-Tower Church, Ipswich, the bell founder had reported that two of the bells were cracked. One was one of the newest, the other the oldest, almost a pre-Reformation bell. The Parochial Church Council called him in to advise them, and they adopted his advice that they should not try to weld the new bell. It was not worth it; it was ringable as it was, for the crack was not very perceptible. He suggested, however, that the old bell should be welded by a firm who welded another bell in his Guild eighteen months ago and made a great success of it, although that bell was not subjected to great stresses. What he suggested was that at St. Mary-le-Tower they should try and see whether welding the old bell seemed likely to be a success, and, if not, to keep the bell as a curiosity and get a new bell in its place. The estimate for welding the bell was £10, which was considerably less than the cost of recasting. He thought they ought to try and save their old bells, not merely as curiosities which could not be heard, but they ought to try and get them welded whether they used them or not.

A member raised the question as to whether the Council kept in touch with the Central Board of the Bishops' Advisory Committees, but this appeared to be a body unknown officially to the Council. Mr. A. A. Hughes said the body referred to was at South Kensington, and Mr. F. E. Eales was the secretary.

The Towers and Belfries Committee's report was accepted, and the Council then adjourned for lunch.

THE YEAR'S NEW RECORDS.

On resuming in the afternoon, the Rev. A. T. Beeston presented the following report of the Records Committee:—

First peals of new methods and of progressive lengths in other methods rung from April last year to the end of March, 1928.

First peal of:—

Superlative Surprise Maximus, 5,230 changes, at Ipswich, by Suffolk Guild.

A 'minority report' had been added by the Rev. H. Law James that 'The Superlative Maximus is only a variation of the original extension.'

The report was adopted.

LEGAL COMMITTEE.

The next report was that described as the 'Legal Liability' Committee's report, but Mr. F. A. Milne, who acted as spokesman, said he could not quite understand how it got that title. The Council would remember that at the last meeting Alderman Pritchett, Mr. Elwell and himself were appointed to draw up a report on the legal relationship between bells, ringers and ringing on the one hand, and the incumbent, churchwardens, and Parochial Church Councils on the other. During the past year he had done a little, Mr. Elwell had done a little, and Alderman Pritchett had now got their two little bits, and by that time next year he hoped they would be able to present a report. He, therefore, had to report progress for the time being. The report was accepted.

A BROADCAST TALK ON RINGING.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards reported for the Broadcasting Committee. He said in consequence of a letter from Mr. Young he met him and Mr. Matthews, representing the committee, in London, and after they had discussed the matter Mr. Young put him in touch with the B.B.C. He went to Savoy Hill and had an interview with the announcer, went through a little test and received a little fatherly advice, the main purpose of which was that he should maintain a conversational tone in the 'talk,' because they wanted above all things to avoid the 'clerical voice.' One thing occurred to him as essential, and that was that the talk should be given at a time of year when people would be listening, and not in the summer when they had other attractions. They wanted to get to the dark evenings before anything of the kind was likely to prove acceptable, and towards Christmas the subject of bells was a little more seasonable. Bearing in mind that an interesting gathering of ringers took place in London at that time he suggested to the announcer that the second week in November would perhaps be an appropriate time, and the matter was left at that for the present. They would have to have at least one rehearsal at Savoy Hill with the handbell illustrations, and they would want one thorough private rehearsal before going there, so that they would have to make careful preparations. In a talk such as this, one could only touch the outside fringe of the subject, and it would have to be of the most elementary nature in order that the general public could grasp it. Ringers who listened, therefore, would have to imagine that they knew nothing about the subject beforehand.

The Hon. Secretary said before they were able to get the B.B.C. to listen to them they had several meetings of the committee, and he wrote several letters to the Broadcasting Corporation. At first the B.B.C. tried to turn them down, but eventually they succeeded. They told him that Mr. Chalmers Bell was going to give a series of talks on this subject, but he replied that as far as the Exercise was concerned they had never heard of Mr. Chalmers Bell. It transpired that he was Vicar of Lower Peover, in Cheshire, and was an old ringer who belonged to the Oxford Guild, and formerly rang at St. Giles', Reading. He (Mr. Young) replied that they did not know this gentleman, and they felt that one of their own Council should be asked to give the talk in the way they wished it to be done.

Mr. T. H. Beams hoped the committee would try to get the B.B.C. to give enough time for those touches rung before broadcast services to be finished (hear, hear). They frequently had a touch cut off perhaps a dozen changes from the end.

Mr. R. Whittington said they got a full quarter of an hour of the horrible row of chiming from St. Martin's, but when they got a decent band to give the public some proper change ringing they did not get two minutes of it.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said in Birmingham they had succeeded in educating the local station, and on the last few occasions they had been given the full time to bring the touch round. The same educational process should be tried at the other stations.

The report was accepted.

PEAL DIPLOMAS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am sorry Admiral Walter is heartbroken over the peal diploma vote. If he had been at Hereford and heard the different views expressed he would have realised the difficulty members had of judging what young ringers really want. Even the four members of our own Guild who were present were not united. One representative was not at all happy in voting for the motion, yet in nearly the next motion he persuaded the different Guilds, through the Central Council, to act as a sort of nurse to young ringers. Both motions, though good for the purpose intended, in my own opinion ought not to be necessary.

As to the first, I try to teach my friends to ring peals purely for the pleasure of ringing, and think they will agree I am just as happy after losing a peal as after ringing one.

With regard to the second, they ought to realise that ringers are real friends, and they ought to visit them as they would their other friends.

I may tell Admiral Walter that a motion had been sent to our general secretary before his letter appeared on the subject of peal diplomas in our own Guild. May I suggest to him that he applies to his district Ringing Master to arrange a peal for him, and then, when he has rung a peal, if he obtains the same enjoyment as I have had, he will have something better than a peal diploma to last him through life—that is, memories of happy friendship.

May I finish on a personal note. It is to advise friends to ring peals while they have the opportunity. It is only when we are stopped that we realise what we are missing and look forward longingly to resuming our happy meetings on Saturdays.—Yours,

A. H. PULLING

Guilford.

A CORNISH VIEW.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to see the young ringers of the Guildford Guild have been upset over the decision of the Central Council in regard to granting diplomas for first peals. Although the Guildford Diocesan Guild is a newly-formed one, it is by no means a 'young ringers' Guild.

If we in Cornwall do not want diplomas, surely no other ringers should be brokenhearted over the Council's decision. I venture to say it would break the hearts of old ringers, never mind young ones, if they came to Cornwall to live where one is surrounded by old round ringers who are in our Guild, and money prize ringers, who will not come into the Guild.

It is true we grant certificates and medals to ringers to encourage them to take up change ringing, but it has had no effect on the 'stoney ones.'

As young ringers we have to thank the older ones for bringing the Exercise to what it is to-day, and we have only to keep it going. Surely, we do not want to be spoon fed.

I should like to point out to the young ringer of Guildford that I noticed those who voted in favour of granting diplomas were mostly the good old ringers, so that it was unfair to say they were against any change. I can write as a young ringer, as I have only rung peals in one method, and I appreciate all that has been done to help young ringers, but let us follow in the paths of the good old ringers, some of whom have passed out of this world, and do our ringing for the love of it, always remembering that our first duty is to see that the bells we love so much are rung regularly for divine service.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. SOUTHEARD.

DOUBLE SURPRISE MINOR.

TWELVE TRUE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—From the remarks made at the Central Council meeting, it appears there is a complete misunderstanding about these methods.

The first to be published, which will give the extent, appeared on page 131 of the 'Bell News' dated May 20th, 1905, under the name of 'Thomsett Surprise,' two years before the issue of 'Legitimate Methods.' It is as follows:—

A214365

B124356

C213465

Some time after the publication of 'Legitimate Methods,' an article appeared (I think in the 'Bell News'), pointing out that the statement contained therein regarding Double Methods was wrong, and giving examples. In effect it showed that if more than two blows in one place is to be avoided, and truth secured, the places within the six bracketed rows cannot be altered. This, of course, confines the variations of the placemaking to A, B, C and D—a very narrow range. In spite of this there are twelve methods which will give the extent of the changes. Five of these have the Bob Minor lead-ends, and no objection whatever can be made to the ringing of them, for while fifth's place when the treble is not behind may be undesirable, it is perfectly regular. Personally, I think the Methods Committee are right in excluding Single Methods with this feature, but Double Methods are not possible without it.

For this reason, and because they are interesting enough to be placed on record, I think a Collection of Minor Methods will be incomplete without the five 'Legitimate' Double Methods.—Yours sincerely,

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

A 'RIDICULOUS OBJECTION.'

Dear Sir,—In the report of the C.C. in your last issue the Rev. H. Law James is reported to have stated that only three Double Minor Surprise methods would produce a true extent. May I inform him and any others concerned that five with regular lead-heads, and at least six with irregular lead-heads, can be produced and will give a true extent.

In the preface of the C.C. 'Collection of Methods' objection is taken to this class of methods because they bring up the tenors the wrong way, but why this should be so seems to me ridiculous, as at least thirteen methods in the collection do exactly the same thing, and to as great an extent, all the methods from No. 1 to No. 11 in the Surprise class, and No. 1 and 2 in the Fourth's Place Delights, being culprits.—Yours faithfully,

C. SEVERN.

TWELVE METHODS RUNG AT NORTON.

Recently, for both Sunday service ringing and practice, at St. Bartholomew's Church, Norton, Staffs. twelve Double Surprise Minor methods have been rung, viz., 720 each of Converted London, Milton, Stafford, Longton Stoke, Dublin, Uttoxeter, Brownedge, Cheadle, Kingsley, Audley and Hanley. The following took part: H. Wibberley, J. Mountford, O. Williams, J. E. Wheeldon, J. Walley, W. C. Lawrence, G. E. Lawrence, F. Triner, C. S. Ryles, W. Corfield and J. W. Walker.

THE LATE MR. FREDERICK PITSTOW.

FUNERAL AT SAFFRON WALDEN.

The funeral of Mr. Frederick Pitstow, who was for fifty years the conductor, and for the last twenty years Master, of the Saffron Walden company, took place on Saturday, there being a representative gathering of townspeople and ringers to pay a last tribute of respect. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Dr. L. Hughes), and the interment took place in the cemetery. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by G. R. Pye 1-2, W. J. Nevard 3-4, W. Pye 5-6, F. Denci 7-8. The other ringers present included Messrs. York (Green, T. R. Dennis, and John Taylor (Cambridge), Walter Prior and Wm. Prior (Stansted), J. Waghorn (Tottenham), E. Pitstow (brother of deceased), A. E. Pitstow and F. J. Pitstow (sons), A. F. James (brother-in-law), W. Parish, C. Freeman, R. A. Strong, G. H. Sparrow, H. Sketchley, A. L. Simmonds, and Police-inspector Ridgewell (members of the Saffron Walden Company).

THE LATE MR. F. PITSTOW.

There were many floral tributes, including wreaths from the Essex Association, the Saffron Walden Society, and the Saffron Walden Borough band.

In the evening a muffled peal of Stedman Triples was rung on the bells of the Parish Church.

We referred last week to Mr. Pitstow's ringing career, which began in 1867, when, with his brother Nathan, he was elected a member of the Saffron Walden Society.

Outside the Exercise Mr. Pitstow was a man of versatile attainments and interests. As a musician, Mr. Pitstow had outstanding qualities. He could play every kind of instrument, and was a first-class tutor. For some years he was musical-director to the Saffron Walden Musical Society, and conducted the society in many leading oratorios. He was also music master of the Leys School, Cambridge. He took part in the Royal Choral Society's Handel festivals, also the annual festivals at Ely and Norwich Cathedrals, being the possessor of a fine bass voice.

Mr. Pitstow's musical interests also had to do with the conductorship of bands. He was an original member of the 17th Essex Volunteer Band and eventually he formed the Saffron Walden Excelsior Band, being its bandmaster for many years. In 1900 he formed the Saffron Walden Town Band, which he conducted until the outbreak of the war.

His other activities were divided among the Volunteers—he was an excellent shot—the Saffron Bloom Lodge of Oddfellows, of which he was a Past Grand Master, the Fire Brigade, he being one of the first of the four members of the brigade to receive the Long Service Medal. Whilst a member of the Volunteers he secured the Lord Braybrooke Challenge Cup for shooting. In politics Mr. Pitstow was a staunch Conservative, and in his younger days he took an active share in election campaigns.

AN APPRECIATION.

Through the death of Mr. Frederick Pitstow, of Saffron Walden, the Exercise loses one of its finest exponents. He belonged to one of the oldest and most respected families in the town, and could trace his ancestors back in the records of Saffron Walden for 300 years. He might well be termed the father of Surprise ringing in Essex, for Surprise methods on eight bells were rung at Walden years before anyone else thought about it. He had travelled to London, Burton and Bennington, and made himself proficient, and then set to work to graft it into his own band. Being well built, he presented a fine figure on a tenor box. He also possessed the rare gift of infusing keenness into those who rang with him by sheer force of example, and at his own tower this must have had a wonderful effect. I have visited a good many towers during my career, and I must say that I have never heard a local band strike better than they did at Walden. Many ringers had their first touches of Double Norwich and Surprise methods at Walden, including myself. I well remember asking him if he could fix me up for my first peal of Double Norwich. I expected he would offer some lame excuse, as several I had previously approached had done. That, however, was no game of our departed friend. He fixed me up, and the peal was rung within fourteen days. He believed in the old adage that what is worth doing is worth doing well, and nobody has done more to raise the standard of ringing than he has. He was a delightful companion, and the more one had of his company the more they wanted. I shall always cherish the happy hours I have spent in his company. May he rest in peace. W. PYE.

YORKSHIREMEN'S JOINT GATHERING.
SOCIETIES FRATERNISE AT ECCLESFIELD.

The annual joint meeting of the societies in the Southern area of the Yorkshire Association was favoured by a glorious day, and all the societies were well represented, upwards of 60 being present. Short touches were the order to enable all present to have a pull. The gathering was held at Ecclesfield on Saturday last, and a splendid tea was served in the Gatty Memorial Hall.

The business meeting was held immediately afterwards, Mr. G. Lewis presiding, supported by Mr. C. D. Potter (hon. secretary, Barnsley and District Association), Mr. H. Walker (hon. secretary, Doncaster and District), Mr. R. Harrison (hon. secretary, Sheffield and District), Mr. Halksworth (Ringing Master), Mr. P. J. Johnson (hon. secretary, Yorkshire Association), and Mr. E. Willey (late vice-president of the Southern Division, whom all were pleased to see looking very much better after his serious illness). Two new members, Messrs. D. Smith and A. Kelsall, of Pelkirk, were elected, and it was very gratifying to enrol them, as it brings another tower into affiliation with the Yorkshire Association.

On account of the association's annual dinner taking place in September it was decided to hold the next meeting on October 20th, Penistone being selected.

Mr. Potter, in proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the local company for the arrangements made, and to the ladies for the tea, referred to the cup competitions held in the Barnsley area a fortnight earlier, and said he had heard that an attempt was to be made next year to get the cup to Ecclesfield. He hoped that was correct, and that other companies would try and prevent them. The more that came the better they would like it.—Mr. Walker seconded the vote of thanks, which was carried by acclamation, and this brought the meeting to a close.

The members were then entertained to a short month organ recital, which was excellently given, and most heartily applauded. A course of Cinques followed on the new handbells belonging to the local company, who are to be congratulated on the possession of such a fine peal. The return to the village of the hospital parade was the next attraction, and deserves special mention, for a good many hours must have been spent in the preparation of such an excellent display. The evening concluded with an enjoyable social at the Bull Hotel.

A £60 SHIELD CONTEST.

DEVON ASSOCIATION'S 'STRAIGHT PULL' COMPETITION.

Sixty-six changes 'straight pull,' with a time limit of 20 minutes, including rise and fall, constituted the test piece for the six-bell contest of the Devon Association at Southtawton on Saturday for the Ross Shield, a trophy valued at £60. It was the second part of the association's festival, and sixteen teams entered, Laptford winning the shield with 87 points, Kingsnympton being second with 92.

There was a service and luncheon, and a great deal of local interest was taken in the event.

Although the Devon Association is an organisation of church service ringers, it makes no attempt to introduce or encourage change ringing. 'Scientific' is taboo among them, but it must be admitted that what they do these bands do remarkably well.

COALBROOKDALE, SHROPSHIRE.—At the Church of the Holy Trinity, on Wednesday, May 23rd, in 51 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,137 changes): T. E. Wase 1, J. L. Stanier 2, W. D. Wase 3, R. Evans 4, G. L. Hewitt 5, A. S. Bayley 6, W. Lago 7, J. Wm. Saunders 8, J. Garbett 9, B. L. Jones 10. Composed by John Carter and conducted by Wm. Saunders. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. A. C. Fox-Davies, barrister-author, and expert on heraldry, who was interred at Coalbrookdale Churchyard during the afternoon.

THE RINGERS' DIRECTORY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The compilation of this directory, which is being undertaken by the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, is now well in hand. As we are very shortly going to press, may I appeal to all ringers who have not already done so to send in their names to our hon. secretary in order that the first edition may be as complete as possible? Details as to its scope and purpose have appeared in your journal, and an advertisement in your notice columns explains what is required.

The names will be arranged alphabetically, and will be duplicated on a county (or county borough) basis. This will add to the usefulness of the directory, and will certainly save general secretaries much trouble, and much correspondence on the part of ringers when arranging for any ringing on outings or during holidays.—Yours faithfully,

R. H. WHITFORD,

Chairman, Bristol United Ringing Guild.

WHITSUN WANDERINGS.

The members of the High Wycombe belfry spent an enjoyable and interesting time on Whit Monday, the occasion of their annual outing. The party, numbering 26, left the 'Chair Metropolis' in a well-appointed motor coach. Rickmansworth Church was the first to be visited, the route taken being via Beaconsfield, Gerrard's Cross, etc., through some of the most gorgeous scenery it is possible to conceive. The trees and hedgerows, clad in the full burst of their glorious beauty, the leafy lanes, the soft breezes, and the sweet singing of the feathered choristers brought vividly to one's mind Keble's inspired words: 'There is a Book who runs may read . . . and read Thee everywhere.' By a happy coincidence a pretty wedding party were emerging from the 'dim religious light of the hallowed edifice' to the brilliant sunshine. 'Happy is the bride whom the sun shines on.' This added additional pleasure to the visit, and the ringers soon had the bells pealing out their cheerful message, giving joy to the happy pair as to ringers themselves. Cordial wishes for the continued success of the outing was expressed by the Vicar and one of his ringers, who were there to meet the party.

Watford Church was the next stopping place, but previous to ascending to the belfry an impromptu lunch was partaken of in as free and easy a manner as it would have been by a bevy of happy and irresponsible youngsters. In the belfry, Mr. Oakley and friends welcomed the visitors, and after various touches, a look round the church and its surroundings, especially the famous fig tree growing through a tomb, the order was given for 'Bushey, please.' True to time, the conveyance was outside this church, Mr. Maurice Hibbert and friends being there to meet them with the bells ready for action. They were soon set going, several good touches being rung. The church and village having been explored, the journey was continued to Bushey Heath.

Mr. W. J. Simons here gave them a hearty welcome, and the bells were kept going for three-quarters of an hour. The coach was then steered for Aldenham, the last church to be visited. Mr. W. Gilks and Mr. H. Jones cordially received the visitors at this place. In passing, let it be here recorded how very much the excursionists appreciated the kindness and good fellowship that had been met with at each stage of the journey. To each of the gentlemen concerned a simple but a real and hearty 'Thank you' is given. At Aldenham Mr. Jones had in readiness a first-class 'knife and fork' tea, served with daintiness and charm. This was a thoroughly enjoyable meal, in which everyone seemed to concentrate all their abilities, so that there should be no bad striking, trips, or false course-ends, and by the time 'That's all, stand,' was sounded, the tables presented a somewhat forlorn appearance. The meal over, a move was made to the church by some of the enthusiasts, while others were interested in a cricket match and other diversions. Some good ringing was indulged in and enjoyed. This village is a wonderfully old-world place, and its rural scenery greatly appealed to the visitors, so that it was with reluctance that they had to leave it. The homeward route was through Harrow, Uxbridge, Denham, etc., and after a couple of hours' run the party were 'back in England' in good time, all safe and sound, having spent a very happy time, and thankful they had been favoured with such magnificent weather.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Higham-on-the-Hill, Leicestershire, on Saturday, June 2nd, on the occasion of the wedding of Mr. Walter Pullen and Miss Dorothy Ann Gilliver, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes) was rung: S. A. Martin (first quarter) 1, A. E. Clayfield 2, L. Woodburn (first quarter) 3, Wm. Martin 4, H. V. Rowley 5, A. E. Rowley (conductor) 6.

At Overseal, Derbyshire, on Saturday, June 2nd, an attempt was made for a peal of Bob Minor in honour of the wedding of Mr. Joseph W. Cotton and Miss Doris Parker (two members of the local band), who were married at this church earlier in the day. Unfortunately the peal had to be brought round half-way owing to the indisposition of one of the ringers after 1 hr. 25 mins., good ringing: P. W. Grice 1, W. Brooker 2, W. E. Clayfield 3, L. Woodburn (longest length) 4, H. V. Rowley 5, A. E. Rowley (conductor) 6.

At Old Bradwell on Saturday, May 26th, 720 Stedman Doubles: C. Alderman 1, W. French 2, J. E. Whitlock 3, T. C. Walters 4, A. Coley (conductor) 5, T. H. Bird 6. Rung as a compliment to Miss A. Whitlock, sister of the ringers of 3rd, who was married at this church.

HESTON, MIDDLESEX.—On Sunday, June 17th, for morning service at St. Leonard's, a quarter-peal of Bob Major in 46 mins.: H. Cooper 1, W. H. Hollier 2, W. A. Lewis 3, H. C. Chandler 4, C. I. Edwards 5, E. Gladman 6, H. Belcher 7, F. Blondell (conductor) 8.

HIGH WYCOMBE.—On Sunday, June 17th, for divine service, and as a mark of respect to the late Marquis of Lincolshire, 1,174 Stedman Cinques (with the bells half-muffled): F. Hayes 1, G. White 2, E. R. Coles 3, G. F. Hinton 4, J. W. Wilkins (conductor) 5, F. Boreham 6, D. Boreham 7, G. Twitchen 8, F. W. Boxell 9, C. A. Smith 10, S. T. Goodchild 11, A. E. Butler 12.

CIRENCESTER, GLOS.—At Holy Trinity Church, Watermoor, on Sunday, June 17th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): H. Lewis 1, H. L. Cook (first quarter-peal of Stedman) 2, F. J. Lewis (conductor) 3, W. G. Cook 4, H. S. Parsons 5, H. C. Bond 6, W. H. Hayward 7, H. T. J. Roberts 8.—On a previous Sunday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): F. J. Lewis, jun. (age 14, first quarter-peal) 1, F. W. Bond 2, H. L. Cook 3, W. G. Cook 4, W. C. Cuss (conductor) 5, F. J. Lewis, sen., 6, H. C. Bond 7, F. Edwards 8.

FIRST PEAL AT BRIDGERULE, DEVON.

At a ringing contest for a shield recently held near Exeter, it was reported that a severe blow had been struck in the camp of the scientific ringers, but had those who made the remark been at Bridgerule and heard the peal rung recently on the bells, they would have felt extremely sorry and uncomfortable, for they would have had to admit 'there's as good fish in the sea as ever have been caught.'

By way of helping a ringer to ring a peal in his native village, a band was got together, and with the ready help of the Vicar in permitting the use of the bells, the attempt was made, although from information 'received from our special correspondent' there appear to have been keen speculations as to the length of time the ringing would last—a quarter of an hour or twenty minutes at the outside being thought to be the longest possible. But somehow the changes still rolled on and on for hours together, sending forth their music to perfect striking from the band until the first peal became an accomplished fact.

The Vicar, the Rev. E. Kingdom, heartily congratulated the band on their excellent ringing, and to the credit of the speculators on both sides they joined with the local ringers in offering congratulations, and admitted the bells had been well and truly rung. Without taking any credit for the difference between half-pull and call change ringing, it is hoped that any injury caused by the 'blow' is healed over, and all are still brother ringers again.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

A pertinent question is raised by a correspondent as to the position of members of the Central Council under the ruling of the President at the recent Hereford meeting. Canon Coleridge took exception to the use of the word 'delegate,' and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies emphasised the fact that in the rules that word is not to be found. Without splitting hairs as to the exact differences in these terms—strictly there is very little, if anything, between them—the real point at issue is whether the members of the Council are sent to the meetings to give effect to their own views, or to the opinions of those who send them. With the greatest respect to the President, we venture to suggest that the Council to-day is on a different footing to the Council of thirty years ago, and it is this change of basis which has saved the Council from death by inanition, and given it the new life which has been infused into it in recent years. At the outset it may have consisted of an assembly of men, who, having been appointed, merely aired their own views and voted as they chose, and, in our humble opinion, it was that attitude of detachment from the Exercise that, had it continued, would have led to the Council's complete undoing.

There may be—indeed, there obviously are—some old members who still hold that early view, but we are quite sure the majority of the members of the present Council take a different standpoint. While they are quite ready to apply themselves to any question and vote on it according to their personal lights, when they are requested by their own members to vote in a particular way they would feel—as our correspondent felt at Hereford—that he would be disloyal to the members who sent him, if he had not given effect to their wishes. After all, the associations can make or break the Council, and in these democratic days ringers would quickly ask why they should send representatives to the central body if they could not rely upon them to support their views.

This is the only possible foundation upon which the Council can stand, if it is to be representative of the affiliated bodies. Whether the members call themselves 'representatives' or 'delegates' seems to us a small matter, so long as it is recognised that their votes on any special subject—particularly in the case of a matter like the peal diplomas, which had been referred to the associations by the Council itself—shall be given in accordance with the wishes of the association that elects them. Either they represent the association or they do not. If they do not then there is little or no use for the Council. If they do, then it is as well to acknowledge that they must, in loyalty, carry out their instructions. It is quite certain that, in many associations, representatives who refused to do this would be replaced at the earliest possible moment. The tradition of the Council may point to 'free and unfettered' voting, but practical politics require that representatives shall 'represent' the people who elect them. They must vote as much according to 'orders' as the Member of Parliament obeys the crack of the party whip—or someone would want to know the reason why.

NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL BELLS.

For the next two months the bells of Newcastle Cathedral will be laid off while Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, are overhauling the whole ring and recasting the fourth bell, which has always been somewhat of a 'weaking' in the peal. They are to be fitted with ball bearings, and many other improvements and additions provided.

The bell founders hope to have the bells ready for two important weddings fixed for September 1st one that of Dr. Phyllis Routledge, eldest daughter of the Ringing Master, and the other that of the son of the senior verger, Mr. Dick Thompson, a prominent member of the Cathedral Guild of Ringers.

REV. C. E. MATTHEWS' MEMORIAL.

PROGRESS OF THE FUND.

The appeal for funds which was made in 'The Ringing World' in November last, and by circular letter sent to all towers in the area of the old Winchester Diocesan Guild, has met with good response, and the sum in hand amounts to £81 5s. 8d.

There are, however, several prominent towers connected with the old Winchester Guild, both in Hants and Surrey, who have not yet subscribed, and in view of what Mr. Matthews did for ringing it is felt that the members of those towers will desire to be connected with this memorial.

As the fund will shortly be closed, all those intending to subscribe should do so without delay.

The old ring of five bells at Milford-on-Sea are now at the foundry of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who have secured the contract. They are to be replaced by a ring of eight, tenor 12½ cwt. in G, hung in a new iron frame. The probable date of dedication is November 3rd. It is hoped to obtain sufficient subscriptions to offer the two treble bells as the Guild memorial.

A full list of subscribers will be given in 'The Ringing World' when the fund is finally closed. Subscriptions should be sent to Mr. G. Pulinger, 17, Stoke Park Road, Eastleigh.

'AFTER MANY ROVING YEARS.'

Some of the older generation who may remember the late Paul Cashmore, of West Bromwich, may be interested to know that his eldest son, Edward, is back in the old country for a short stay, after an absence abroad of 38 years. He is now 77 years of age, and it says much for his keenness and good health that at that age he undertook the journey home from Vancouver, a distance of over 6,000 miles, bringing his wife with him—and he is going back!

In his younger days Mr. Cashmore was an enthusiastic ringer, and rang peals with the late John Carter.

On Sunday evening last he had a pull at his old Parish Church at West Bromwich, and read the lessons at the service that followed. He also occupied his old seat in the choir. He is very proud of having had this privilege in the church in which he was christened nearly 77 years ago. Two of his nephews rang with him, Mr. S. W. Smith and Mr. A. Paddon Smith, and the former, not having touched a rope for thirty years (having given up ringing for singing), promptly broke a stay!

Mr. Cashmore wishes, through this medium, to thank Mr. Pagett and his young band at West Bromwich for enabling him to have a pull once again in the tower in which he learned to ring as a boy.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

An innovation in connection with Diocesan Conferences has to be recorded. At the Ely Diocesan Conference a report was asked for on the work of the Ely Diocesan Association, and the three minutes allotted were made good use of. It has already had good results by bringing the existence of the association to the notice of incumbents, and it might be well if other Diocesan Conferences could be induced to follow the same plan.

What is the meaning of the following note in the rules of the Central Council: 'A "representative member" is not necessarily a member of the society which he represents'? It is as good a conundrum as any with which the Methods Committee have provided us.

The peal rung at Warrington, Cheshire, on Saturday, June 2nd, was the first peal of Doubles on the bells. The first peal on the bells was a peal of Treble Bob Minor (three 720's of Oxford and four of Kent) rung on July 22nd, 1911.

There were high 'Jenks' at Liverpool on Saturday week, when several ringers from Crewe, Chester and Bolton-cum-Warrington rang Cambridge Surprise Maximus for the first time, under the leadership of the 'lightning conductor.'

The peal at Southwark Cathedral was the first of Cambridge Maximus by D. Cooper and F. E. Collins, who have both rung peals of Minor, Major, Royal and Maximus in this method.

Elijah Roberts, a marvellous exponent of method 'tapping,' tapped a peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells at Birmingham on June 30th, 1833. It was conducted by Henry Cooper, and there was no doubt as to the authenticity of the performance.

The first peal at All Saints', Poplar, was rung by the Cumberland Youths, for the consecration of the church on July 3rd, 1823.

Mr. Harold Walker, who for some years has been hon. secretary of the Doncaster and District Society, is shortly leaving Doncaster to take up an appointment at Boston.

COMPETITION RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In a letter from your correspondent, 'Campanologist,' in a recent issue, he asks what ringing associations are going to do to interest the competition ringers in change ringing and the affairs of the Exercise.

The Guild of Devonshire Ringers, ever since its formation, has had as one of its principal objects the cultivation of change ringing, and debars its members from taking part in any competitive ringing under penalty of exclusion.

The recently-formed Devon Association of Ringers, who are promoting these competitions, are content to hold as the summit of their ambition, rising, falling, and ringing a set sequence of call changes with precision at a certain rate within a specified time.

The Guild has no feeling of animosity towards these round ringers, but rather a feeling of compassion, and it says to the round ringers in effect, 'Why don't you aim higher, study and practice half-pull change ringing, and make yourselves eligible to join us?' To which the round ringers reply, 'Our system, we think, is better than yours, the public prefer it, and we are not going to bother our heads with studying your complicated methods.'

As long as they maintain this obstinate attitude any attempts by the Guild to persuade them are hopeless. Further, it was openly stated at one of their competitions recently that their purpose was 'carrying war into the enemy's camp,' evidently meaning the Devon Guild. Why they should adopt a fighting attitude is inexplicable, as the Guild has no antipathy towards, or desire to interfere with them.

The only thing the Guild can do is to encourage its members to visit outside towers as frequently as possible, and exhibit half-pull ringing for the round ringers to become convinced of its superiority by their own observation.

I would like to ask 'Campanologist' what he would suggest the Devon Guild could do further to overcome the opposition and prejudice which he mentions.—Yours faithfully,

T. LAVER,

General Secretary, Guild of Devon Ringers.

SURPRISE MINOR IN CHESHIRE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. G. R. Newton's letter re the peal of Surprise Minor at Wallasey, I would like to say that the footnote was added after consulting Mr. Elwell, secretary of the Chester Guild, who informed me that it was the first for the Chester Guild.—Yours faithfully,

THOS. A. ROGERS.

VETERAN MILVERTON RINGER'S DEATH.

An old member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association has passed away in the person of Mr. William Andrews, of Milverton, Somerset, who for more than 44 years was sexton. Failing health caused him to give up ringing some time ago, but in his day he was a very reliable change ringer. It was his wish that muffled bells should be rung at his funeral, and this desire was carried out after the interment on Thursday, June 21st. The bells were also rung half-muffled on Sunday morning, when a quarter-peal was rung by: J. Sweetland 1, E. Chapman 2, R. Scott (conductor) 3, C. Tarr 4, W. Cross 5, A. J. Andrews 6, A. Tout 7, S. Sharland (first quarter-peal) 8.

BELFRIES, NOT MUSEUMS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I feel I must congratulate you on the views so ably expressed in your leader under the above heading appearing in last week's issue. I think you have voiced with wonderful precision the views of many thinking ringers of to-day, who look for something more from their hobby than the mere exercise of pulling a rope, or the fascination of intricate methods. They are listening for the music. Especially would I thank you for the sound opinion expressed in the third and ultimate paragraphs of the article. Many hundreds of ringers must feel as I do that if copies could be circulated to incumbents, churchwardens and parochial church councillors who may have the restoration of their bells under consideration, nothing but good could result.—Yours faithfully,

A. PADDON SMITH.

Birmingham.

IMPERFECTIONS IN OLD BELLS.

Sir,—Allow me to offer congratulations on the splendid leading article, 'Belfries, not museums,' in this week's issue of 'The Ringing World.' It is well-timed and reasoned, giving food for thought to the faddists and those ignorant few who refuse to march with the times, and who keep their heads (and ears) buried in the sand. The old peals of bells cannot possibly compare with a modern ring in shape or tone. The only feature of old peals of bells is that they possessed in some few instances one good bell (cast by accident probably), such as Lavenham tenor, Bow tenor, Exeter 11th, and so on, and it was this which made the belfries containing them more or less renowned. Nowadays, we get in a modern peal of bells uniformity of weights and a perfect balance in tone between one bell and another, which was not possible under the old methods of casting and hand tuning.

It would really surprise a good many if they knew of the imperfections as regards weights and tones in the twelve bells now being taken down from St. Martin's tower, Birmingham. Each of the three chief foundries who inspected and reported on our bells would bear this statement out, and each strongly recommended that all the twelve bells be recast into a modern peal of bells, which, happily, is now to take place. It is up to our associations throughout the country to see that their representatives on the Diocesan Advisory Boards are men who can give good, sound advice and reason, when called in to report on peals of bells about to be restored, and insist that they are cast and tuned on modern lines, and that a thoroughly good job is made of the erection and hanging of the bells on engineering lines. Ball bearings then may be dispensed with, and swivel, self-oiling, plain bearings could be substituted by those who prefer them.—Yours faithfully,

ALBERT WALKER.

MUSEUM EXHIBITS.

Dear Sir,—One must congratulate you on your leading article of the 22nd inst., and hope that it will be brought to the notice of the secretary of the S.P.A.B., but I do think that you should have included certain prominent members of the Central Council. One can find a little excuse for Mr. Powys, but none at all for those who have been too long connected with bellringing. If we are to have the belfries turned into museums, I would suggest that not only antiquated frames and bells be left to stare at, but also a few of the ringers with antiquated ideas might also be relegated to a similar position.—Yours truly,

PERCY O. LAFLIN.

DOUBLE SURPRISE MINOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was delighted to read the two letters from Mr. Parker and Mr. Severn in your last issue concerning the theoretical standpoint of these Double Surprise methods, and I should be very glad if you would find space in your valuable journal for me to add my meed of praise for these methods from a practical point of view. As reported in 'The Ringing World' last week, we have rung twelve of them at Norton, and I may say that we simply revelled in them. When we had rung about one half of them, one of our ringers said, 'Mr. Wheeldon, I can feel these methods making a better ringer of me.' I replied in the words of a well-known advertisement, 'Yes; they are worth a guinea a method' (not box), and all the band concurred. Speaking personally, I have taken part in the first 'silent' peal of Surprise Minor ever rung, and in 'band conducted' peals, and have also taken part in the present record lengths for our association, both Minor and Major, but none of these have thrilled me to the same degree as the ringing of these twelve methods. Surely they must be worth preserving when they are capable of gripping men in this fashion, and, should the Central Council fail to include them in the new book which they contemplate issuing, it would be a thousand pities, for it would be a grievous loss of most excellent material to the Exercise in general.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN E. WHEELDON.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

YATELEY'S RETURN TO BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT.

A very successful and enjoyable quarterly meeting of the Basingstoke District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Yateley on Saturday, June 23rd, when about 40 members attended from Basingstoke (St. Michael's and All Saints'), Bramley, Heckfield, North Stoneham, Oakley, Overton, Gilchester, Winchester and Yateley. Disappointment was expressed at not seeing any visitors from the adjacent towers in the Guildford diocesan area.

Service was held at 4 p.m., and the Rev. E. Jones (district secretary) conducted the Guild form of service, assisted by the Vicar of Yateley.

A splendid tea, provided by the generosity of the Yateley ringers and friends, was enjoyed in the Parish Room, presided over by the Vicar.

At the business meeting, the Vicar welcomed the Guild to Yateley, and expressed the wish that the visit would soon be repeated.

Mr. S. J. Riddell, the genial leader of the local band, gave a short and interesting history of the bells, in which he mentioned that Yateley at one time in the Basingstoke District, was afterwards transferred to the Yorktown District, and now again found itself in the Basingstoke District, to the great satisfaction of the local ringers.

The Secretary announced that the next meeting would be held at Kingsclere on September 15th, and urged all who intended to attend to let him know early. Full particulars will appear in 'The Ringing World' in due course.

During the afternoon and evening good use was made of the bells, and touches of Bob, Grandsire, and Stedman Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Bob Major brought round.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

ELKSTONE HOPES TO HAVE ANOTHER BELL.

The summer meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Elkstone on Saturday last. The weather was delightful, and a good number of ringers were attracted to this fine old church, situated on one of the highest points of the Cotswolds and noted for its Norman architecture. There is a ring of five bells recently rehung. Service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector, whose father presided at the organ. The lesson was read by Mr. G. A. Noth (churchwarden). A splendid tea was served on the lawn adjoining the church, and given by the good people of Elkstone.

Mr. G. A. Noth presided at the business meeting, supported by the Rector and Mr. Tonkinson, Mr. W. H. Hetch, Mr. J. H. Shephard (Swindon), Mr. Bond (Cirencester), and some 45 members from Leckhampton, Prestbury, Alderton, Winchcombe, Swindon, Dumbleton, Badgeworth, Charlton Kings, Cheltenham (St. Mark's), and the local tower.

The following members were elected: Rev. Tonkinson, Messrs. C. Gibbs, Ayers and W. Leach, all of Elkstone. Leckhampton was selected for the annual meeting.

It was decided that the names of all captains of towers in the branch should be inserted in the Ringers' Directory out of the funds of the branch. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. G. A. Noth. Mr. F. Blowing (head ringer), the lady helpers and all who had helped to make the meeting so successful. This was supported by the secretary (Mr. W. Yeend), who expressed the hope that another bell would be added in the very near future, with the kind assistance of Mr. W. H. Hetch.

On the way home, the neighbouring tower of Cowley, with its nice ring of six, was visited, but it was found that the 'go' of several of these bells was, to say the least, bad, for the want of using.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

PROPOSED ADDITION TO WORPLESDON BELLS.

Much useful work is being done in the Guildford Diocesan Guild by the system of combined practices which is being carried out through the districts.

Last Saturday there was an especially pleasant gathering of the Guildford District at Worplesdon, where the Rector and Mrs. Bruce entertained a party of about 30 to a sumptuous tea on the Rectory lawn.

The work in the belfry was devoted to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and Plain and Treble Bob Minor, and excellent use was made of the opportunities. After the labours in the tower, the Rev. J. C. G. and Mrs. Bruce's hospitality was specially appreciated, and they were thanked by Admiral T. P. Walker for the kindness and particularly warm welcome extended to the visitors. Mrs. Bruce, it may be mentioned, is one of the local ringers.

Worplesdon has a peal of six bells, with a tenor of about 18 cwt. When they were rebung in 1908 provision was made in the new frame for two trebles, and efforts are now to be made to raise funds for these additional bells.

TOTTENHAM, MIDDLESEX.—On Sunday, June 10th, 1,260 Stedman Triples for morning service: H. W. H. Strickland, C. T. Coles (conductor), S. W. Crabb, W. R. Madgwick, C. Rutton, J. E. Nash, E. A. Hull, H. Ellis.

GREAT CARILLONS AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

WONDER BELLS FOR AMERICA.

MESSRS. J. TAYLOR & CO.'S BUSY FACTORY.

England is providing America with its newest form of music, although it is a music centuries old on this side of the Atlantic. The Americans have recently discovered the beauties of the carillon. Having found it, they are out to get the biggest and best the world can provide, and that, they have realised, can only be obtained in England.

At this moment there is in the celebrated foundry of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., at Loughborough, a carillon which, both in weight and number of bells, is the greatest ever assembled together for one order by any firm of bell founders in the world. Its 48 notes cover four chromatic octaves, with the exception of the largest semitone, and the thirteen notes in the top octave are duplicated to give more power at this end of the scale, so that in all there are timed for Mountain Lake, Florida, where it is to take its place in a beautiful white marble tower, which is being erected in the Bird Sanctuary, by the American Foundation Incorporated. This tower, about 200 feet in height, is to be of most graceful proportions, and the bells will be hung 160 feet above ground level.

The carillon can, of course, be played by the usual clavier, but, in addition, it will be possible to operate it from an ivory key board at the foot of the tower. The lightest touch upon this instrument will cause the hammers to strike the bells, for the power is derived from an electro-pneumatic installation, which is also used in connection with a most wonderful automatic player. The application of this latter was the outcome of the genius of the late Mr. Pryce Taylor. What this automatic machine will do is, almost 61 bells. And such bells! Better bells were never produced by anyone, at any time. They are 61 perfect specimens of the bell founder's art, and in point of size they range from a mere 14 lbs. up to a gigantic E flat bell which weighs more than ten and a half tons, and whose majestic tones smite the ear like a grand chord from a great organ. The harmonics throughout this wonderful collection of bells are perfectly blended, and even the little ones, so difficult to tune with accuracy, are a sheer delight. There is nothing 'brassy' or harsh about them; their tones are pure and true.

This wonderful carillon, a climax, if we may say so, among the many remarkable productions of this world-famed foundry, is des-human; in fact, it is in some respects more than human, for, when properly set, it cannot err. In principle it is an adaptation of the pianola, but with this difference; it has to overcome resistance of the many hundreds of pounds in bringing the hammers into contact with the bells, the hammer of the bass bell alone weighing nearly 4 cwt. That the mechanism of this latest instrument is the last word in carillon building may be judged by the fact that even the trackers and the hammers are made to move on ball bearings; and so quick acting is it that the stroke on the bell is practically instantaneous with pressure on the keyboard.

A representative of 'The Ringing World' had the privilege of hearing this magnificent carillon tried out a few days ago by Mr.

Eric Jordan, the able municipal carillonneur of Loughborough. The effects which are possible from this perfectly tuned instrument are really wonderful, for the harmonics have been brought under extraordinary control. Mountain Lake Bird Sanctuary will undoubtedly have a carillon unexcelled in quality anywhere in the world.

In the foundry at the same time was an almost identical carillon for Springfield Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, Mass., the only difference being that it has one semi-tone less. A feature of this carillon is that, while the carillon is in the tower, the bells can be coupled with the organ keyboard by the mere operation of a stop. There is thus no limit to what can be done in the playing of carillons, except in the compass of the bells themselves, and in future developments it would almost seem that the old style of carillonneur, whose task under the old methods requires great physical exertion, will disappear, although it must be said that the small effort required in playing from the clavier of these new Loughborough carillons is in striking comparison with the labour that is necessary in operating the manual of the old carillons of Belgium and Holland.

Carillon work at Loughborough has grown immensely in the last two or three years, and the fame of John Taylor and Co. has become world-wide. Among the carillons completed within the last twelve months or so have been one for Germantown M.E. Church, Philadelphia, with a compass of 48 notes, but making, with a duplicated upper octave, 61 bells, the largest of which is three tons; another for Albany City Hall, New York, with a compass of 47 notes, and, with a duplicated upper octave, 60 bells, the bass bell being five tons; another for Christ Church, Cranbrook, Michigan, covering 46 notes, with 59 bells, the largest being three tons; and Sydney University War Memorial, consisting of 62 bells, with an octave duplicated.

The Springfield and Mountain Lake carillons are shortly passing out of the foundry; but two other great instruments are in progress, some of the bells of which are completed, or rapidly reaching that stage. One carillon is for a fine new cathedral now in course of erection at Indianapolis, and is to be given by the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite (a branch of Freemasonry). This will comprise 62 bells with a five ton G as the lowest note, and covering 49 notes. For Bathurst, a carillon of 35 bells and notes is in preparation, the largest bell being 1½ tons.

This, however, is only one phase of the activities at Loughborough Foundry, which to ringers is best known as the source of many of the finest bells in our English churches; but before going on to refer to what Messrs. Taylor and Co. are doing in this direction, it is interesting to note that they have recently cast a 10½ ton hour bell and four quarter bells for the new Nottingham Exchange. This hour bell has the deepest tone of any bell in England, not even excepting Big Ben, which is three tons greater in weight. It is a remarkable example of what bell founders can do in these days, with their improved knowledge of bell shapes and tuning. For Brisbane Town Hall, Australia, Messrs. Taylor and Co. are making a 4½ ton hour bell in A flat, and quarter bells; for Pretoria Boys' High School, South Africa, an hour bell and quarter chimes; and for a new Nonconformist church at Alfreton, Derbyshire, a chime of twelve bells, with tenor 12½ cwt., to be automatically operated.

Turning to the ringing peals for English churches, it is gratifying to know that Messrs. Taylor and Co. have no fewer than 30 of these in hand, the most interesting, perhaps, being Worcester Cathedral. The ringing peal of twelve and three extra semi-tone bells are to be recast; and the five-ton hour bell is to be tuned to harmonise with them. Our representative saw the old bells as they stood in the foundry yard before breaking up, and when one heard them tapped one realised how far Lord Grimthorpe's ideals fell below the standards of to-day. They lack all the characteristics of modern shape and tone. Among the other restorations which Messrs. Taylor and Co. have in hand are the following: Recasting and augmenting to a ring of eight the five bells at Milford-on-Sea; rehanging and supplying two new trebles to make a peal of eight at Great Bardfield; rehanging and augmenting to eight bells the peal of six at Higher Walton; rehanging the thirteen bells at Newcastle Cathedral (on ball bearings) and recasting the fourth bell; rehanging and adding two new trebles to make a peal of six at Wisborough, Sussex; rehanging and adding two new trebles to the ring of four at Churston Ferrers, Devonshire; recasting the five back bells at Crich, Derby; rehanging the peal of six at Kirk Ella; recasting the peal of five and augmenting to eight at Enderby; the peal of eight at St. George's, Dublin; the peal of five at Great Easton, Essex; the peal of five at Kirby Bellars; the peal of six at Hinton Waldrist; the peal of six at Swimbridge Parish Church, etc. They have, of course, also just completed the casting of the four trebles to increase the bells at Lincoln Cathedral to a ring of twelve.

Such activity is a splendid testimony to the vigour of the bell founding industry. It is no longer a happy-go-lucky enterprise; but embraces all that modern science and knowledge can devise to produce bells that have never been approached in quality at any time in the world's history. Fortunately indeed are those folk who in these days have new bells cast by firms with resources such as those which are behind the work turned out at the Loughborough Foundry, with which the name of Taylor is synonymous.

The history of this business is indeed an interesting one. The first of the long line of founders, it would appear, was one Johannes de Stafford, Mayor of Leicester in 1366 and 1370, and a famous bell-founder in his day. He was followed by William Miller, whose three sons, in partnership with another founder, cast the old tenor bell for Loughborough Parish Church. Then came Edward Newcombe, who also had three sons associated with him in the business; and one of these, again in partnership with another founder, cast 'Great Tom' of Lincoln. This was in 1610, and the Newcombes were followed by the Watts. The foundry had been moving about somewhat, first at Leicester; it was subsequently moved to Nottingham, and in 1717 it was at Kettering in the control of the Eayre family. An apprentice of the latter, named Arnold, started at Leicester again, and there then appeared the first of the Taylors. Robert Taylor, born in 1760, was apprenticed to Arnold at the latter's foundry at St. Neots, and subsequently acquired the business. He had two sons, William and John, the younger of whom (John) went to Buckland Brewer, Devonshire, in 1825, there to build a bell-foundry, having previously been operating a foundry at Oxford. Eight years later, however, John Taylor returned to Oxford, only to establish himself anew at Loughborough in 1840; and here the Taylor foundry has since remained. John Taylor died in 1858, leaving his business to his only surviving son, John William Taylor, justly esteemed as one of the greatest bell-founders the world had ever known. Followed in succession his sons, John William Taylor, junr., and Edmund Denison Taylor, who, since the lamented death of his brother in 1919, has been in control. The development of the business, which began in marked degree in the days of John William Taylor, senr., who cast many noble bells and famous peals, including 'Great Paul' and the ring of twelve at St. Paul's Cathedral, has proceeded apace in later years, until to-day it is so busy that even the present enormous factory can scarcely keep abreast of the work.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The recent gathering of East Berks and South Bucks Branch at Farnham Royal was well attended, and after tea a committee meeting was held to determine the jubilee celebrations of the formation of the old society, from which this branch came into existence. The first quarterly meeting was held on April 28th, 1879, and the first annual meeting on July 26th of the same year. The committee are meeting again on September 30th.

FORTY YEARS A RINGER AT DUNSTABLE.

The death has occurred of Mr. F. Franklin, for forty years a ringer at Dunstable, Beds. As a mark of respect the bells of the Parish Church were rung half-muffled on Sunday, and for matins a quarter-peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major (1,280 changes) was brought round in 50 mins.: B. THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

PEAL DIPLOMAS.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn brought forward the motion which had been adjourned from the last meeting, 'that the Council shall issue at a small charge peal diplomas for the encouragement of young ringers.' He said it had been adjourned because they thought it was their business to talk to their Guilds and Associations upon the matter and get their opinion. In his own Guild he had reviewed the situation with the secretary, Mr. Tom Hibbert, and they had come to the conclusion that they had turned the corner with regard to the difficulty of getting young ringers. They had more beginners now than they had a year ago; the outlook was more hopeful, though there was still room for improvement. He had spoken on the matter of diplomas at every branch meeting of his own Guild, and also to the Committee, and at every meeting there had been an almost unanimous show of hands in favour of the diploma being granted. One branch only did not vote in favour, and their idea was that it savoured too much of cups and trophies—that was the only thing against it. He was not going to take up the time of the Council by repeating what he said at the last meeting, but he would ask someone to second the motion and see what the opinion of the Council was this year, after having discussed it with the members of their own associations.

Mr. J. Hunt seconded. He said the delegates from the Bath and Wells Association had direct orders to support the motion. It had been thoroughly discussed throughout the diocese, and their members were universally in favour of the proposal. Moreover, their association was in favour of it being extended, not only to those who rang their first peal, but eventually to conductors when they got a young band through their first peal. If this proved successful it might also be applied to the men who got their ringers through successively their first peals of Doubles, Triples and Major.

Mr. James George emphatically condemned the proposal. It was nothing but a farce, he said, to get young ringers through their first peal just anyhow, in order to get them a diploma. He knew a case of a person who was got through a peal, because something had been promised beforehand if the peal was rung. The peal was said to have been rung, but when he (the speaker) got the same person into another belfry to try to ring a touch that person could not ring a course, or even two leads. He was afraid that diplomas would lead to very bad peals being rung. It was quite an honour for anyone to ring their first peal, and to have the record of it published, and see their name in print. When he started they never thought of diplomas and he condemned the whole practice.

Mr. F. Hopgood gave the resolution his hearty approval. It could not possibly do any harm, and if it would do any good, as he claimed was possible, let them try it.

Mr. C. Edwards said the motion had the support of the Hereford Guild. They were in a rather remote part of the country, and few people realised the difficulties they had in getting young fellows to take an interest in ringing. A certain number would go so far, but would not go to the trouble of trying to reach the peal ringing stage. He thought the Council might do something to give them an object in view. If this proposal were adopted it would be one means of bringing the Central Council before the young ringer and an incentive to him to go on in the art. It was all very well for Mr. George to condemn the motion; he had his ringers already made for him when they came to Birmingham, but in that part of the country they had to make the ringers to send to him (laughter). They had taught about 30 or 40 ringers at his tower, but they had all gone, and ringers must be getting very thick in some parts of the country (laughter). He thought the diplomas would encourage young ringers to go on in the art, but he agreed that the peals for which the diplomas were awarded should be creditable peals. The proudest day of a ringer's life was when he rang his first peal, and if in Mr. George's day diplomas had been awarded he was quite sure one would have been hanging in his house to-day, and Mr. George would be proud of it.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said he considered the Council was being invited to do something which ought to be the primary function of the societies affiliated to the Council (hear, hear). In his young days—and he was not an old man yet—they used to find that the old ringers attached a great deal more importance to good striking than they did to the achievement of peals, but they found that in later years the standard of a man's ringing was judged by the number of methods he could ring. What they had to ask themselves was whether, with these diplomas, they would be setting up a definite standard of advancement to the young ringer. In the Yorkshire Association a man had to be able to ring 720 changes before they admitted him as a member. He thought it would be equally logical for the Council to discuss whether they should award medals to those who ring a thousand peals. When they awarded a diploma for a first peal it did not necessarily set up a standard. It depended, for one thing, on what sort of a conductor they had got—and he could speak feelingly. In this motion the Council were proposing to undertake a function that should be the job of the societies which were affiliated to the Council. It was their job to give advice on the technical side of the science, but he did not think it would be wise to interfere with the individual business of the associations (applause).

The Rev. E. S. Powell said on the previous day this matter was brought before a meeting of 170 members of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, when a unanimous vote was given against the proposal. Like the Hereford Guild, they were somewhat isolated and far away, and in addition they had to face a very determined effort of the 'Churchyard Bob' or 'stonev' ringers, who had set up an association which bore a colourable name to the change-ringing Devon Guild, and they had established in it a competition for round ringers. What mattered most, however, was this, the more a competition of that kind could succeed the less chance there was of getting a man to take up the higher art of change ringing. The Devon Guild might have a very big fight in front of them, and that was the feeling behind the vote given the previous day—that anything which encouraged competition or reward for ringing was, in the view of his Guild, lowering in tone, and he was instructed very earnestly to vote against the resolution.

Canon Helmore said in the Kent Association the subject had been brought forward in district meetings, and he must say that, so far as he could judge, his members were for the most part completely apathetic with regard to it. They had an old certificate which was never asked for, and that was for a man who could ring so many changes. He was never asked for a copy of that, only for the certificate of membership.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake said it seemed to him that if they could combine with that idea another that was very similar to it, it might commend itself more to the backwoodsmen (laughter). If the diplomas were issued in different colours, and could be obtained in blank form, on which they could record ordinary peals, and which could be put together in a kind of loose leaf ledger, special peals being distinguished by different colours, they would have interesting peal books for themselves and for the younger members. Even Mr. James George, of England, probably kept a peal book, although it might by now be rather an extensive one. Personally he would like a book on the loose leaf ledger system, so that peals could be entered up on a standard form and put therein. If they had different coloured papers for different methods they would see from the book itself what sort of a standard the ringer had reached.

Mr. George Williams said the Winchester Diocesan Guild members were in favour of the proposal, and he had been asked to support the motion. Those of them who had rung hundreds of peals ought not to oppose the young ringers' wishes.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said the Guildford Diocesan Guild supported the proposal, and, personally, he gave it his support, because it would be a little reward to a ringer. He felt, however, that there should not be any charge made to the ringer, but that the Guilds should pay for the diploma, if the Central Council could not do so. No doubt very soon all roads would lead to London, or some other great centre, to celebrate the one-thousandth peal of a well-known gentleman, but he had no hesitation in saying that when a young band rang its first peal of Grandsire Triples it would be a more creditable performance than Mr. James George's one-thousandth.

Mr. W. A. Cave thought rather too much stress was being laid on the peal ringer. Why should they not encourage and give a diploma to the young ringer when he proved himself by ringing for Sunday services? That was the man they wanted; not the peal ringers.

The Rev. H. Drake said that at the meeting of their Suffolk Guild they did not want to turn this resolution down, but they did not see that it was practicable, because it had not been put before them in sufficiently definite form. It was the local association which was in a position to say whether a peal was worth recording or not; the Central Council was not in a position to say so.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson agreed that the issue of the diplomas should be in the hands of the local associations, but he took it that if that were done the associations would obtain their supplies from the librarian or secretary of the Council, and the issue would be in the hands of the association officials. Whether or not the young ringer paid for the diploma would depend on the association. Personally he thought the scheme should be carried out, and carried out by the Council, whose business it should be to do all it could to promote the art of ringing. A thing issued by the Council would be of very much more value to the ringer and of a great deal more value to the Exercise. It would help the young ringer to realise what an enormous body of church workers he belonged to, and in that way he thought it would be of great educative value to the lads in the country parishes. A certificate issued by the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers would be much more valued than one issued by an association.

Mr. F. A. Milne said that at the annual meeting of the Middlesex Association, which was very largely attended, there was an almost unanimous vote to oppose this resolution.

Mr. F. Wilford, who next rose to speak, began by saying that at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild the delegates—but he got no further when the President interrupted him by saying that members were not delegates. They were not there as Trade Unionists sent to a conference to vote as they were told, but were there as representatives, perfectly free to vote exactly as they liked after listening to the arguments. The word 'delegate' had been used three or four times that day—they were not there as delegates, but as representatives.

Mr. Wilford then proceeded that the representatives to the Council from the Peterborough Diocesan Guild were not given any instructions from their Guild. It was left to their own discretion, but they were of opinion that the matter belonged to the Guilds, as Mr. Johnson had already said.

Mr. R. Whittington said the representatives of the Guildford Diocesan Guild were instructed to vote for the motion, although he was personally opposed to it. He should, however, vote as his members wished him to do.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said they would not find the word 'delegate' from one end of their constitution to the other. He always contended very strongly that everyone came there to express his own judgment; not to vote this way or that at dictation, but to exercise his own common sense in voting after listening to the arguments.

Major J. H. B. Hesse said Mr. Whittington and Mr. Pulling had expressed their views as representing the Guildford Guild; as Master of that Guild, although not one of its representatives, he thought he ought, therefore, to say what he felt about it himself. In his view diplomas were the wrong kind of encouragement to give a man. If a man wanted to ring for the honour of ringing, the peal books were enough to see his peals in. They wanted men who would ring without any reward for it (hear, hear).

Mr. W. Southard said that in Cornwall they already gave medals and certificates, but these did not seem to encourage young ringers very much to go in for the art of change ringing.

In replying to the discussion, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said the idea behind the scheme was that the diploma should come from the Central Council, as being the most important body. When a young ringer had rung his first peal, which would have to be a genuine peal, and the record had been published, he would apply through his branch or general secretary to the secretary of the Central Council, and the diploma would come in due course. It was thought that if he paid something for it he would value it more. The idea was also that the diplomas should be all of one size and colour, and only be issued for first peals in any method. He brought the scheme forward because it was something suggested by young ringers themselves, and the diplomas should be given as an encouragement, and not as a reward.

A vote was then taken, and the motion was lost by a considerable majority.

REPRESENTATIVES OR DELEGATES?

To the Editor.

Sir,—On several occasions during recent years you have, in your 'Leaders' deplored the lack of, and pleaded for more interest to be shown by ringers generally in the doings of the Central Council. You have advocated individual ringers bringing up for discussion at their district and annual meetings subjects which are of general interest to the Exercise, and which are also subjects which their representatives could introduce for discussion at the Central Council meetings. This advice has, I think, been more or less acted on. It certainly has in my own district. Now, sir, at the Central Council meeting at Hereford on Whitsun Tuesday an incident occurred which, in my opinion, has a bearing on the question of how much interest we can get ringers, as a whole, to take in what the Council is doing—it has, at any rate, a positive and direct bearing as to the amount of interest they are going to take in what their own representatives are going to do, and through them, what the whole Council is doing. I believe I am correct in stating that at the 1927 meeting of the Council the suggested 'Diplomas for Young Ringers' scheme was purposely deferred for a year, in order that the subject might be discussed at district meetings, the feelings of ringers generally regarding it ascertained, and, as a result, representatives would come to this year's meeting knowing exactly the feelings of the people who sent them there, and vote on that motion accordingly. That is exactly what has happened in my own Guild of Guildford. Both before we were divided from Winchester, and since we have been a Guildford Diocesan Guild, this question has been debated at our meetings, and the voting has been in favour of the adoption of the scheme, and we were requested to vote at the Council meeting for its adoption.

During the discussion which took place at Hereford on this motion I stated definitely that, personally, I was against the idea altogether, but the question had been debated at our Guild meetings; and as the feeling was generally in favour of the scheme we were requested to vote for its adoption. I certainly intended to do so. And there is the point to which I wish to draw the attention of ringers generally. The statement that representatives had a mandate, so to speak, from their Guild members as to how they were to vote on this motion, brought the president quickly to his feet, and he said, 'You are not here as delegates to a Trade Union conference; you are here as representatives of your Guild, and should come here with an open mind, listen to the discussion, and then vote according to your own conscience.' Now, sir, had I obeyed our honoured president (and I am truly sorry that I could not) I should have been disloyal, and, I think, very unfair to the people who were sending me to Hereford; so, in order to be loyal to them, I had to be disloyal to the president and to my own conscience.

However, the point I particularly want to raise is this—if that is how we are expected (by the Council) to vote, on a subject that has been deferred for a year in order to find out the feelings of members of the Exercise generally, may I ask what is the use of the year's discussion. This particular question might just as well have been settled in 1927. We, here, have been discussing it off and on during 1927-28. I, personally, was against the idea from the first, and all our discussions have failed to convert me. I am sent to Hereford to represent a Guild which, as a whole, approves of the scheme, and, naturally, expects the representatives to vote according to their expressed wishes. Yet there, we are told, we must not give effect to the result of the decision of 1927 to defer action for 12 months in order to find out the wishes of ringers generally, unless it also agrees with our own personal opinion. I contend that such a position is impossible and intolerable, and will certainly not be conducive to getting ringers generally to take an interest in the doings of their representatives, or of the Central Council at all.

In conclusion, I should like to make it quite clear that I certainly have no wish to interfere with any traditional practices of the Central Council, or to oppose, in any way, any ruling of our president, but I certainly am concerned in getting ringers generally to take a lively interest in the actions of their representatives on the Council. In order to illustrate my way of thinking and looking at this matter, I will put it in this way—supposing that all the associations had done as Guildford did, discussed this question at their meetings during 1927-28, and that there was, in all of the associations, a majority of the members in favour of the adoption of this scheme, and also that they had all requested their representatives to vote in favour of it. Suppose, again, that all the representatives were, personally (as myself), against the motion. The discussions in the Council would, under such circumstances, be all against the motion, and if we all carried out the president's ruling, we should all vote 'according to our own conscience,' and, of course, altogether against the expressed wishes of a majority of the ringers of the whole Exercise. I contend that such a position is untenable, and tends dangerously near to the ridiculous, and that the time has come when, if we are to get ringers generally to interest themselves in the Central Council and its doings, representatives must be allowed actually to consult their members as to their opinions on debatable subjects, and be prepared to vote at the Council's meetings accordingly.—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT WHITTINGTON
(Guildford Diocesan Guild).

METHOD NAMES.

'IMMANUEL' SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I would like to give an explanation of the title 'Immanuel' Surprise which was referred to at the Central Council meeting. Being the composer of the method, and having given it its title, it is very amusing to see this part of the 'dead horse' flogged to life at intervals by the Rev. H. Drake. The method was produced in 1906, and rung by the Immanuel Church company, Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire, on May 27th, 1906. There was no intention of profanity in the mind of the author when the name was given, only just a kindly wish that the church, which had witnessed the struggles and rise of a band of raw recruits by their own efforts to a position of eminence in Minor ringing, should be held in remembrance with a Minor method of similar name. Being also the composer of Oswald Treble Bob, imagine my relief when it did not turn out a dead horse, but stood the test. I would like to remind the Methods Committee that a peal of Immanuel was rung a few months ago, by the Ely Association, I think. Mr. Butler remarked that if they were to go on making changes the Minor ringers would not know where they were. He can rest assured that for a long time they have not known where they stand regarding many of the names. Mr. J. S. Goldsmith says he does not suggest they should touch these method names which have an historic interest. If Immanuel is not yet historic, I think I can claim it is becoming established as a popular Surprise Minor method. A last word, if the Methods Committee decide to change the name, I ask them to give it Oswaldtwistle.—Yours faithfully,

C. SHARPLES.

DOUBLE NORWICH v. COURT BOB.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—'Deliberate lying' is one thing; repeated blunders is another; and persistently adopting the wrong point of view is a third. The last is all that I have accused Mr. Trollope or anyone else of doing; and though the second suggestion may not have been excluded from my letters, the first certainly was, and I am sorry Mr. Trollope should have brought it in; and if any of my words justify his, I unreservedly withdraw them and apologise to him.

Having said this, I must point out that there is no inconsistency in the two extracts which he quotes in your issue of June 8th. The only way in which they can be made to clash is by reading the words in my letter, 'We... never mentioned Norwich at all,' as though they stood by themselves, whereas the chief word of those I have represented by dots, is 'alteration,' and it should be clear that I meant we never mentioned any alteration of Norwich at all.

In our report, as quoted by him, we say, 'Double Norwich now signifies the particular method intended, without the use of the words, Court Bob.' There is no suggestion of any alteration here: it is a mere statement of fact showing that long titles get shortened in practice. We did not even say whether the method ought to be known as Court Bob rather than Norwich. I understood from Mr. Hunt, at Hereford, that it was because we did not say that that he opposed our report.

This, however, was not our job. We left the fact that the method is now usually known as 'Norwich' untouched, and suggested alternative names for those others in which Norwich appears.

Now that this sentence has been for the first time shown up, by being quoted in Mr. Trollope's letter, I must agree that it has been made so concise as to lead to a misunderstanding, which is probably the cause of the opposition to our report. In the quotation it appears as if we proposed doing away entirely with the words 'Pleasure, Court, Delight and Bob,' as being non-essential and meaningless. What we wanted—or, at any rate, what I wanted—was to suggest that they should not be used when they are non-essential and meaningless, or either. With such a suggestion as this I am quite sure Mr. Trollope and Mr. Law James would agree.

As I have not the report here, I cannot say how far the context justifies this misconception. But I can fairly ask why, if Mr. Trollope objected to this sentence, he did not move an amendment directly referring to it, instead of his wrecking and obstructionist amendment.

Although the actual names we suggested have not been adopted, the question has been settled to everyone's satisfaction on the general lines of our report. We brought that report up at Chester, and agreed to a year's postponement for the very purpose of having such an alternative report before us as Mr. Trollope brought up at Hereford. If he had done this at Ipswich, the matter could have been settled courteously and without two years' unnecessary delay.
JUAN LES PINS, June 16th, 1928. HERBERT DRAKE.

PEAL CONDITIONS.

One of the things which the Central Council did at its Hereford meeting was to lay down new definitions for peals on six and five bells. Time was when many people distinguished between peals on numbers below seven, and five thousands of Minor or Doubles were designated as 'performances' only. In these days, however, the merit of many of these peals is fully appreciated, and when the Council gave official recognition to Minor they were only meeting the rightful demands of the case. Curiously, however, in the conditions required for peals, the Council provided only for peals on six bells, and laid down no definition of what was demanded for a peal of Doubles. Moreover, since they defined a peal on six bells, practical ringing has advanced considerably, and the old idea that each extent should end with rounds has had to give way to more advanced opinions and compositions. It was to bring the rules into line with present practice that the Council adopted the new proposals.

What has been done upholds the standard of what is required for a peal on these lower numbers of bells, inasmuch as it demands that each extent, whether of Doubles or Minor, shall be true in itself—and most ringers will agree that in a peal nothing less should suffice. In our opinion there is no more justification for a repetition of changes within an extent of Doubles or Minor, when it forms part of a peal, than for repetition in an extent of Triples. It is true that we are bound to have each of the 720 changes seven times in a peal of Minor, but that is no excuse for having certain changes more than once in each 720. And the same applies to the forty-two six-scores which go to make up a peal of Doubles. One speaker, however, put forward the view that as long as no change occurred more than forty-two times in a peal of Doubles, it should be recognised, no matter where the repetitions appeared. Thus, carried to its logical conclusion, a 5,040 would have to be recognised as a peal of Grandsire Doubles, if the first lead were rung forty-two times over, as it could be by merely plain hunting, and then, after making a third's place, the next lead were rung forty-two times over, before calling the first bob, and the operation repeated through the twelve leads. A peal of Grandsire Doubles could thus be rung with only four bobs and two singles. To risk, in this way, the lowering of the standard required would bring peal ringing into contempt, at any rate on five and six bells, and the suggestion of treating the seven 720's of Minor or the 42 six-scores of Doubles as a 'unit' met with no support. It is well to encourage in every way possible those who are struggling at the bottom

COMPETITION RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note with interest the letter on the above subject by the hon. secretary of the Devon Guild in reply to the one I wrote some time ago. I agree it is a sound policy for the Guild to visit outside towers as frequently as possible, to demonstrate half-pull ringing to the round ringers.

Mr. Laver enquires whether I have any further suggestions to make. I have at least one. For example, in the case of the Devon Guild and the Devon Association, is it not possible for these two organisations to hold a few joint meetings in some central places such as Exeter and Newton Abbot? They could then have a 'friendly' discussion or talk together. I venture to think that, perhaps, some little good might be done in this direction.

Perhaps there may be others interested in this subject who might have some suggestion to put forward also.—Yours faithfully,
'CAMPAÑOLOGIST.'

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION VISITS NORTH OCKENDON.

A large number of members and friends attended the meeting of the South-Western Division, held at North Ockendon on Saturday, June 23rd, and, being favoured with beautiful weather, thoroughly enjoyed themselves in this old out-of-the-way Essex village. One might pass through North Ockendon and easily miss the church. The little parish can hardly boast of a street, and to reach the church one must leave the main road and take the turning which leads through a green 'chase' to the hall. In olden times the church, hall and Rectory were surrounded by a moat, part of which still exists, and it is one of the beauty spots of the district. One must not be misled by the exterior of the church. It looks new, for it was restored in 1858, with the exception of the tower, which has kept its picturesque chequer work of stone and flint, and the original tracery of the west window. The church was probably built round about 1170: the Norman doorway has a curious stilted arch with chevron and billet mouldings, which also show the restorer's hand. The church also boasts some very fine monuments. One of the finest in Essex is that of Sir Gabriel and Lady Audrey Ponitz, the last of the Essex branch of a great English family. A unique feature of the Lady Chapel (under which Sir Gabriel constructed a vault for his family's interments) is the series of eight little mural tablets which commemorate seven generations of his family. They are all of the same type and size, with interesting little effigies and Latin inscriptions.

This is a very brief description of the church selected for the meeting. Some members who arrived early had the pleasure of ringing for a wedding, which was taking place, after which the bells were soon going to Plain Bob, etc., until 5 p.m., when the service, conducted by the Rector, Rev. E. F. Evans, was held, during which Miss Dawson the well-known solo, 'Open the gates of the Temple,'

After the service an adjournment was made to the Vicarage garden to partake of a sumptuous repast, which was followed by the usual business meeting. The Master, Mr. A. Prior, presided over by the Rector, supported by the District Master, Mr. W. Nevard, and also the District Master of the North-Eastern Division.

The provisional election of Mr. L. R. Welch, of the Walthamstow St. Mary's band, was confirmed, and South Weald chosen for the place of the next meeting. The hon. secretary was also asked to write and convey to Mr. F. J. Pitstow (hon. general secretary and treasurer) the deepest sympathy of the members present at the great loss he had sustained by the death of his father, Mr. F. Pitstow, of Saffron Walden.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, Rev. E. F. Evans, for allowing the use of the tower and bells, also for personally conducting parties round the church and explaining all the objects of interest, to Mrs. Evans for so kindly providing the tea, to Miss Dawson, the daughter of the hon. secretary of the Leytonstone band, for her splendid rendering of the solo at the service, and to Mrs. Cole for so ably accompanying the hymns and responses on the organ.—The Rector suitably responded. He said that he was only too pleased to do all he could to assist the association in its work, and hoped that another visit to North Ockendon would be paid by the association in the near future.

During the afternoon members were present from Bentley, Brentwood, Barking, Great Bentley, Leytonstone, Romford, Shenfield, St. Botolph's (Bishopsgate), South Weald, West Tilbury and Woodford, and many six-scores of Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and St. Simon's Doubles were rung.

A VISITOR FROM AMERICA.

Mr. A. Cryer, late of Selby, and now of Detroit, U.S.A., is on a visit to this country, and leaves again for the other side of the Atlantic on July 6th. At Hemmingbrough, Yorks., on June 13th, he took part in a 720 of Kent Treble Bob with ringers from Selby and Hemmingbrough: F. W. Hinton, jun., 1, G. C. Terry (conductor) 2, H. S. Morley 3, A. Cryer 4, R. Fenton (first 720 in the method) 5, F. Terry 6. The treble ringer is only 15 years of age, and it was his first attempt to ring Treble Bob.

PEAL DIPLOMAS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note that two members of the Central Council have given their views on the diploma question, and, personally, I fail to see their objection to the scheme.

Mr. A. H. Pulling, replying to Admiral Walker, says that ringers should be friends together. Does he suggest that diplomas will allay friendship? Mr. W. H. Southard admits that in Cornwall they issue certificates and medals to ringers to encourage change ringing, but object to the scheme because the ringers of old carried on without them.

Surely the time has come when something should be done to encourage the ringer of the future, and so keep up a bit with the times.—Yours faithfully,

F. NEALE.

Bicester, Oxon.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch was held at King's Norton on Saturday, June 16th, the towers being well represented. A service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar, the Rev. T. S. Dunn, Rural Dean, officiated. The Vicar, in the course of an address, gave the branch a very cordial welcome to King's Norton. Mr. W. E. Moore officiated at the organ.

Tea was served at the Bull's Head Hotel, and at the business meeting the Rev. T. S. Dunn presided, supported by the Vicar of Bromsgrove (the Rev. T. C. De la Hey) and Mrs. De la Hey.

Mr. H. Mason said how pleased every one present was to see Mr. T. J. Salter with them after his severe illness. Although not quite up to 'concert pitch,' he hoped he would soon be restored to good health again.

Mr. A. E. Parsons made reference to the Worcester Cathedral bells restoration, and impressed upon those present who had not already subscribed the great opportunity they were missing of helping on the good work of the association.

Mr. T. J. Salter, the Central Council representative, laid before the meeting suggestions which had been discussed by the Central Council at their meeting at Hereford. He first mentioned the ringing of the curfew, and then referred to the suggestion that young ringers leaving one district to go to another should be kept in touch with ringing by correspondence through the branch secretaries.

On the suggestion of Mr. H. Mason, it was decided to leave the matter of the next meeting in the hands of the Rector of Belbroughton and the secretary.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of King's Norton for arranging the service and allowing the meeting to be held at King's Norton. Thanks were also accorded to Mr. Moore for presiding at the organ and arranging the tea.

A COMBINED PRACTICE.

On Saturday, June 16th, at Bardsley, a combined practice was held, when 120's of Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob Doubles and Canterbury Pleasure, Doubles and a plain course of Stedman Doubles, also 180 of Bob Minor were rung, the following ringers taking part: Trevor Jones, Wm. Evans, Alf. Gooding, Wm. Richards, G. J. Price, D. Sharples, B. Cadman, and J. P. Hyett.

THE LATE MR. F. PITSTOW.

On Wednesday, June 20th, at St. Mary's Church, Stansted, Essex, with the bells half-muffled as a mark of respect to the late Mr. Fred Pitstow, of Saffron Walden, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 43 mins.: F. GIRL RINGER'S FUNERAL. IMPRESSIONS SCENES AT DORE.

A few months since the pretty little church at Dore was crowded on a fine spring morning to witness the marriage of a lady ringer. The afternoon of Midsummer Day (Sunday, June 24th) saw it again even, perhaps, more filled to witness one of the most touching ceremonies it has known—the funeral of a girl ringer.

Miss Kathleen Reynolds was only 15 years of age, and a novice at the art, but, during the few months in which she had been connected with the belfry, she had made herself popular with her fellow-learners by her happy disposition and her eagerness to learn. She could control a bell quite well, and was making earnest efforts to fathom the mysteries of Grandsire. Her sudden death, after only a few days' painful illness, came as a shock to her colleagues.

The funeral took place as above stated, and at the earnest wish of her relatives she was accorded a ringer's burial. Six sister-ringers bore her to her rest, none of them being above 17 years of age, and all learners in Dore belfry. One wonders if the like has been seen before. The bearers were Misses M. Benton, M. Elvidge, E. and K. Revill, B. Shepherd and G. Watkins, and they presented an unusual and impressive sight, as, dressed all in white, they carried the coffin to the chancel steps, preceded by the Rev. F. A. Miller (in the absence of the Vicar), the wardens (Messrs. H. E. Buggs and J. E. Lewis Cockey) bearing their wands of office, and followed by the choir.

A few words of hope and comfort by the Rev. F. A. Miller, a few moments of silent prayer, a portion of the beautiful children's burial service, and the immortal 'Abide with me,' preceded the procession to the graveside. The grave itself had been beautifully lined with flowers and evergreens by Mr. A. F. Farnsworth (organist).

Following the committal, the Rev. F. A. Miller announced that, although only a novice, it was desired to follow ancient custom at the burial of this young girl, and to afford her the usual ringer's requiem. Amid impressive silence, a well-struck course of Grandsire Triples on handbells, with clappers half-muffled, was rung by the following members of the Midland Counties Association: F. Hector Bennett (Chesterfield) 1-2, W. J. Thyng (Chesterfield) 3-4, J. E. Lewis Cockey (Dore) 5-6, and Walter Bingham (Dore) 7-8, the handbells being a new set specially brought over by Mr. Bennett.

As the mourners left, the church bells, too, rang out their requiem, half-muffled rounds being rung by a band of learners, none more than 17 years of age: G. Revill 1, Miss E. Revill 2, F. Elvidge 3, Miss G. Watkins 4, Miss K. Revill 5, Miss M. Elvidge 6, Miss M. Benton 7, and N. Westlake 8.

A beautiful wreath, composed of bluebells, harebells, etc., and subscribed for by nearly all the members of the belfry, was placed at the head of the coffin.

Those charged with the arrangements are particularly appreciative of the kindness of Messrs. Bennett and Thyng, of Chesterfield, in coming over at some inconvenience and so readily, to pay tribute to the memory of a young girl. To the many who showed their sympathy in divers ways, by ringing on tower and handbells, in the preparation of the grave, and in many other ways, the heartfelt thanks of the relatives will be sufficient reward.

GRIMSBY RINGERS' OUTING.

Although Whit Monday, 1928, has passed and gone, numerous are the happy and pleasant recollections that will cling for some time to come in the memories of those who participated in the eighth consecutive annual outing of the Gainsborough Parish Church bellringers. The places visited were Tattershall, Coningsby, Horncastle and Wragby. Starting at 7.15, in one of the large Enterprise and Silver Dawn buses, the journey was commenced for Tattershall, via Lincoln. Being favoured with every prospect of beautiful weather, the contingent, numbering thirty-nine, including wives and friends of the ringers, were in good mood to enjoy the day's outing. Both the outward and return journeys were enlivened by handbell ringing, flute solos, ukulele solos and a variety of humorous songs.

On arrival at Tattershall, the visitors were much interested in the fine old church, which became a collegiate church in 1438-9. It is of cruciform shape, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave of five bays, aisles, transepts and a massive tower.

After a few short touches on the five bells, a large number of the party were conducted round the famous and historical old castle. Apart from feeling a little tired by climbing the 181 steps leading to the top, those who did so felt amply repaid for their ambition. A great deal more could be said respecting these two places of interest, but time and space forbid any further comments.

Having attended to the wants of the inner man, the journey was resumed to Coningsby, where, as at Tattershall, the party were welcomed by some of the local company. After taking part in various touches on the six bells, they proceeded to Horncastle, and, after standing at 'attention' to one of the company with his camera, steps were wended towards the parish church, which contains a number of monuments and brasses, including one to Sir Ingram Hopton, 'who paid his debt to nature, and duty to his king and country in the attempt of seizing the arch-rebel (Cromwell) in the bloody skirmish near Winecoby, October 8th, 1643.'

LEICESTER DIOCESAN RINGERS' SERVICE. BISHOP'S WELCOME AT THE CATHEDRAL.

By invitation of the Lord Bishop of Leicester and the Provost of the Cathedral, a special service was held in St. Martin's Cathedral, Leicester, on Saturday afternoon, June 23rd. The bells of the Cathedral (10), St. Margaret's (12), St. John's (8), St. Saviour's (8), Belgrave (8), All Saints' (5), were open to visitors during the afternoon and evening, and good use made of the opportunities offered. At the service some 500 attended, and—from the writer's personal knowledge—there were at least 43 parishes in the diocese represented, and possibly more. Among the congregation were veterans like Messrs. J. Wilson, of Knighton, H. Briggs, of Stoney Stanton, J. S. Needham, of St. Saviour's, present, and it was also a great pleasure to welcome Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilford and others of Northampton, Mr. R. G. Black and friends from Kettering, Mr. A. H. Ward, of Derby, Mr. J. H. Swinfield, Burton-on-Trent, and a number from Chilver's Coton and Nuneaton. The service was fully choral, and conducted by the Provost, Archdeacon F. B. Macnutt, M.A., F.R.Hist.S., assisted by the Archdeacon of Loughborough, Rev. Canon Harper, of Great Easton, and other clergy.

After the hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell,' the Lord Bishop, Right Rev. C. C. B. Bardsley, D.D., welcomed the ringers in these words: 'Brethren, I bid you welcome to our Cathedral as fellow-workers for God in your sacred office as bellringers. It is yours to call to worship with your glad peals the people who dwell in the towns and villages of our diocese. And now to-day you have assembled here to dedicate your service to God, and yourselves to offer to Him the prayers and praises to which in the fulfilment of your vocation it is your wonted task to summon others.'

The lesson was read by Mr. Ernest Morris, general hon. secretary of the M.C.A., from Numbers x. 1-10. After appropriate prayers and the ringers' hymn, which comprises five stanzas from Tennyson's 'In Memoriam,' beginning 'Ring out the grief that saps the mind?'

The Bishop gave a very inspiring and comprehensive address, and at the conclusion of the service shook hands with all present, and kindly enquired of their home towers.

Owing to another engagement he could not be present with those who partook of tea—about 150—but came in for a few moments and gave all the visitors a hearty welcome to Leicester. He hoped that, the first, would be the forerunner of even greater gatherings to be held annually.

After tea a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by R. G. Black 1-2, J. Morris 3-4, E. Morris 5-6, R. F. Elkington 7-8, F. Wilford 9-10. Dispensing to the various towers again, further ringing was indulged in until 8 p.m., when sundry of the 'elite' gathered together for a convivial at the Fountain. Songs by the veteran Joe Needham, with his old favourite, 'The fine old English gentleman,' J. Morris, H. Mansfield, C. H. Webb and others enlivened the proceedings, with interludes on the handbells by W. Willson, A. H. Ward, R. F. Elkington, C. H. Webb, J. and E. Morris.

It was declared by all who joined in the proceedings to have been a most successful day, and, should the promise of making it an annual event be carried out, perhaps the beginning of greater things in the future.

Near to this monument are a number of scythe-heads—now reduced to 13—nailed to the wall above the doorway of the south chapel. They are said to have been used in this battle, but, it is stated, 'they much more likely pertained to the Lincolnshire rising of 1536.'

Owing to a slight error, ringing at this church had the appearance of being doomed to failure, but, after a good deal of 'hunting and dodging' the necessary article was acquired, and the ringers were enabled to have about an hour's ringing on the six bells, after which the whole of the party, including Mr. W. Alcock, Branston, who, with the aid of his motor-bike, had joined them at Tattershall, adjourned to the Imperial Hotel, where tea awaited them.

At the conclusion, Mr. C. H. Baker proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the secretary (Mr. H. Torr) for the excellent way in which he had organised the outing. Mr. T. Clark seconded, and in addition included the caterers and driver.—This was unanimously carried and duly responded to.

After a brief visit to the public gardens and other places of interest, the journey was once again resumed, this time for Wragby, the last place for ringing on the programme. Here is a pretty church, containing a nice ring of six bells. These were, undoubtedly, the best bells, both in respect to tone and going order, that had been handled during the day. Shortly after eight o'clock the party were once more seated, now homeward bound, via Market Rasen and Caenby Corner, and Gainsborough was reached at 10.15 p.m.

Having been favoured with glorious weather, nice scenery and safety from accidents, this was declared to have been one of the most enjoyable outings by the party. The Vicar (Canon Morris) had hoped to take part in the day's proceedings, but, to the regret of the ringers, was unavoidably prevented from doing so. Best thanks are due to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and all others who had helped to make the outing such a success.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT VISIT SNAITH.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held on Saturday, June 16th, at Snaith, situated in the West Riding between Goole and Pontefract, close to the famous Carlton Towers, the seat of the Baroness Beaumont. There was an attendance of between 45 and 50 members and friends, from Goole, Hemmingbrough, Hull, Kirk Ella, Market Weighton, Pontefract, Selby, Thorne, and the local tower. A very agreeable day was spent, the glorious weather adding no little to the enjoyment. Short touches were rung on the ring of six, which would be greatly enhanced by the addition of two trebles, and one hopes ere long some generous benefactor will come along and supply the deficiency, thus fulfilling a much desired improvement.

A service was held in the very interesting old church of St. Lawrence, with a short address by the Rector, the Rev. C. H. Moxley, M.A., and was followed by an excellent tea, which was served in the schoolroom.

The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding, in the absence of the vice-president, Mr. F. Cryer (Selby), who regretted his inability to be present. A letter was read from the daughter of the late Mr. J. S. Calvert, J.P., thanking the members for their expression of sympathy on the decease of her father.

It was decided that the next meeting be held at Kirk Ella, a delightful village nestling at the foot of the East Yorkshire Wolds, and situated some five miles out of Hull, where the bells, a peal of six, are at present under restoration by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and will be opened in time for this meeting.

Ten new members were elected: Miss Florence Tate, Goole, Messrs. R. Coldwell, A. Ward, C. Fish, G. Hodgson, H. North and J. Bullock, of Snaith, and Messrs. H. Dyson, A. Atkinson, and H. Brown, of All Saints', Pontefract.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for his address, service, use of bells, and for presiding at the meeting, also to Mr. H. North for the admirable arrangements. One cannot help but feel gratified by the success of this, the association's first visit, which had been anticipated with interest both by the Rector and ringers, and hope the stimulus thus aroused will be maintained.

A FIRST 720 OF LONDON.

At Hayes, Kent, on Monday, June 18th, 720 London Surprise Minor: G. Harwood 1, F. Keech 2, J. Hack 3, O. Gilbey (conductor) 4, H. Brown 5, J. Brown 6. First 720 in the method as conductor and by the remainder of the band, on the bells and in the Lewisham district. The band wish to associate Messrs. H. Reader and T. R. Flint with this 720, as they were unlucky to be standing out when success was achieved.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

DORCHESTER, DORSET.—On Sunday, July 1st, for evening service at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: W. J. Simons 1, G. S. Morris 2, C. H. Jennings 3, F. C. Benger (conductor) 4, J. Morris 5, C. B. Hurst 6, W. J. Benger 7, J. W. Smith 8. Arranged for Messrs. J. and G. S. Morris, of Leicester, and Mr. C. H. Jennings, of Wyke Regis. A birthday compliment to the ringer of the 5th. Ringing in this tower every Sunday at 5.30 p.m., and visitors are welcome.

LONDON.—On Sunday, June 24th, at the Church of St. Botolph, Bishopsgate, for evensong, 1,280 Yorkshire Surprise Major: J. Bennett 1, Miss F. E. Orr 2, C. W. Roberts (conductor) 3, W. R. Madgwick 4, E. F. Pike 5, W. H. Hewett 6, J. E. Davis 7, R. Sanders 8.

APSLEY END.—On Sunday morning, June 17th, a quarter-peal of Minor, being 720 Oxford Bob and 540 Plain Bob, in 42 mins.: R. Bruce 1, F. Kirk 2, C. Henley 3, A. Brinklow 4, F. Elliott 5, A. V. Good (conductor) 6.

LITTLE MUNDEN.—On Sunday, June 17th, for morning service, 720 Duke of York: W. Williams 1, S. Carter 2, W. S. Lawrence 3, A. Phillips 4, G. H. Carter (conductor) 5, W. H. Lawrence 6.—For evening service, 720 New London Pleasure: W. Williams 1, S. Carter (conductor) 2, S. Head 3, G. H. Carter 4, A. Phillips 5, W. H. Lawrence 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The great carillon and clock made by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for Louvain University, the former being the largest in the eastern hemisphere, with 48 bells weighing 31½ tons, was opened with great ceremony on Wednesday.

In connection with the event, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have printed, in three languages, a delightfully interesting and well-produced souvenir booklet.

For recasting the bells of the Church at Sulgrave, Northants, where George Washington's ancestors were born, the American Sulgrave Institution has given £250, Sulgrave friends in England have contributed £100, and Mr. Harry Godfrey, of Sulgrave, has presented a clock. The five bells have been recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and will be dedicated by the Bishop of Peterborough on Wednesday, July 25th, at 6.30 p.m.

As there have been many inquiries on the subject, it may be well to explain that the postponement of the East Grinstead Guild meeting at Crawley on June 16th was due to a broken gudgeon of one of the bells. There was no other reason.

'Simple Simon' would like to know, after an experience at Leicester, why Cambridge Surprise Maximus cannot be rung with an eight-bell compass, and what is the man behind who makes 11th's place under the treble, to do, if the treble doesn't get behind at all?

The first peal of Double Oxford Bob, a length of 6,000, was rung at St. Giles', Norwich, on July 6th, 1832.

Holt's original was rung for the first time on Sunday, July 7th, 1751, at St. Margaret's, Westminster. Holt himself called the peal from manuscript.

James Barham rang his last peal on July 8th, 1817. He was then 91 years of age, and the peal was Leeds Treble Bob at his home church of Leeds, in Kent.

The first peal of Erin Caters was rung at North Shields on July 12th, 1909.

REPRESENTATIVES OR DELEGATES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I suggest that you have not got the matter quite right? The position of members of the Central Council is similar to that of members of Parliament, and not of delegates to a Trades Union Congress. They are bound to respect the wishes of those they represent, but they should not (save in very exceptional cases) go to a meeting already pledged to vote in any particular way. Otherwise, what would be the good of having any debate at all? Their position is that they are men who, from their ability and knowledge, can be trusted to do their best for their association and the Exercise in general, and this surely implies that they would put the interests of their association before their private prejudices. It also implies that there might be cases where they would put the interests of the Exercise at large before those of their association.

I am not a representative member, but if I were I should certainly claim to be myself the final judge of how I should vote, and if my association were dissatisfied, why then I should cease to represent it, and the members would have the usual remedy.—Yours,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

THE COUNCIL'S POWERS.

Sir,—Your leading article, 'Times have changed,' in to-day's issue of 'The Ringing World' will be welcomed throughout the ringing community. Hon. secretaries who are representatives on the Central Council are in a very difficult position. The fact, however, that the Central Council have no powers to enforce their decisions leaves the association and ringers to do just as they choose. (I mean, of course, in the ringing of methods, etc.)

For the Central Council to have powers is a very open question, but I feel sure that if the associations sent delegates as delegates ringers would gradually gain confidence in the Central Council, and in a short time, if that Council repeats the question as to powers, I believe they will be successful.

After all, we should have a central governing body or national organisation, and it is only by this means that the Council could speed up publications for which expense is too great now.

In conclusion, might I point out that in the new issue of 'Rules and Decisions of the Council,' on page 5 it is stated that at the inaugural meeting there were present 74 'delegates'?—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE.

LITTLE CANTERBURY PLEASURE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Please make known through your paper that the peal of Little Canterbury Pleasure Major, rung at Loughborough, and said to be the first rung in that method in the list of records published June 22nd, is not the first. This was rung by the Kent Association in October, 1924. With apologies for the oversight, yours faithfully, for the Records Committee.

A. T. BEESTON,

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

TRADITIONAL BELLS.

The following motion was proposed by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards: 'That this Council emphatically deprecates the discontinuance of the Curfew, Angelus or other bell traditionally rung in any parish alike on historical, spiritual and practical grounds, and calls upon its officers and members to exert their efforts individually or collectively to prevent any such breach with ancient usage.' In the course of a lengthy speech Mr. Edwards said there were in different parishes bells traditionally rung. In some cases the origin of the bell was known. There were, for instance, a number of cases where a bell was rung, in consequence of a bequest, during the winter months of the year to guide travellers through the darkness. In many other cases the origin of the ringing was not known. In his own parish there were two bells traditionally rung—what they knew as the 'Eight o'clock bell' on Sunday mornings, Christmas Day and Good Friday, and a bell rung immediately after morning service on certain days. There was a speculative reason of their origin. There were parishes where a bell was rung in the early morning and in the evening, and in some cases in the mid-day. In such cases that bell was a survival of the Angelus. The most numerous class was where the bell was rung in the evening, in most cases at 8 o'clock, and in a few at 9 o'clock. Wherever that bell was rung it was generally known as the Curfew. It might be safe to call it the Curfew, but it may have been even of earlier origin than the days of William the Conqueror. From inquiries he had made he had rather come to the conclusion that the origin of the curfew was firstly not secular, but religious. In places where there was a monastic establishment the bell was rung as a signal for the monks to chant their last canonical office and retire to rest, and the priests in charge of the parishes around the monasteries encouraged and instructed their parishioners, at the sound of the bell, to say a prayer, put out lights and retire to bed, and as the Ave Maria, in addition to the Lord's Prayer, was the most familiar form of devotion, they were instructed to recite the Ave Maria for their evening devotion. Hence the bell became known as the Angelus. When the Conqueror came to the throne he made a decree that throughout England a bell (which in his, the speaker's belief, had been rung in many places for religious purposes) should be universally rung at eight o'clock, and at the ringing it should be compulsory to cover the fires, by raking the ashes over the embers, and putting out the lights. That ordinance of William the Conqueror did not remain in force for more than a century, but when the restrictions were withdrawn the bell continued to be rung, and that fact very strongly supported the view that the real significance of it was not civil but religious, for it continued to be rung by those in charge of the church. Already, before William the Conqueror, a bell had been used for a similar purpose. It was on record that Alfred the Great, a century or so earlier, had ordered a bell to be rung at Oxford, and that was the signal to the students to retire to the various colleges and remain there for the night. It was very fascinating to reflect that the 101 strokes tolled by 'Old Tom' every night came in direct lineal descent from the bell ordered to be rung by King Alfred for a similar purpose. There had been periods of intermission, but that bell still had its force in different ways in the different colleges. It was his belief that the evening bell which was known as the Curfew originated as a signal for devotion, and it was adopted by William the Conqueror for a civil purpose. It was an historical fact that after the ordinance had been withdrawn that bell continued to be rung practically all over the country and in many parishes until the nineteenth century. He was sorry it had been discontinued during the last half century or so, but there were still a considerable number of parishes where it was rung. It was most deplorable that after the bell had been rung for a thousand years it should be discontinued for the merely parsimonious and mean reason of saving a slight expenditure on the rates or church expenses. But besides having an historical significance he held that the bell had a spiritual significance and spiritual value from the fact that it was a church bell and sounded from the church. In these days of gross materialism and universal absorption in the things of this world for pleasure or profit, it was of great value if in any way it compelled attention to those spiritual realities which called the church and the bells into being. The speaker then went on to deal with the practical aspect of the question. The ringing of these traditional bells, he said, ensured that at least one man in the parish would know how to ring. There were many parishes in this country, and many more in Wales, where bells remained silent year after year. Bells were just chimed for service, and sometimes not for that. The one thing that kept the art of ringing alive to a small extent in some parishes might be the traditional bell, for one man at least would have learned to ring a bell because it was part of his duties. Then when dawned a better day, when an incumbent came to the parish who was interested in the belfry, the fact that they had in the parish one man who could ring enabled them to start a new band. For the same reason, where the Curfew was rung the bell frame and fittings were bound to be kept in order. Many a boy had been taught to ring by going to help to ring the Curfew, and he considered that it provided ringers with a most valuable means, ready to hand, for training young ringers. He had endeavoured to prove that the ringing of these traditional bells had an historical, spiritual and practical value, and in view of the fact that so many of them were being discontinued, he would ask the Council to call upon its officers and members, wherever they heard of the discontinuance of such a bell, to prevent such an act of vandalism being carried out. It was also a matter in which the Literature Committee might be of use in being asked to write on the subject to the local newspapers in places where such a bell was discontinued.

Mr. T. H. Beaumont, who seconded, said that many of these traditional bells had been rung through the liberality of people in olden times, but the use of that money had been turned to other purposes and not used for the ringing or upkeep of bells. He mentioned a case where the money had been diverted, and said they should be on their guard to prevent this where possible.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said he had found it difficult for the last 25 minutes to imagine he was at a ringers' meeting. He thought they had come to a lecture on the ancient uses of bells. He hoped the resolution would be defeated most decisively ('Oh!') It was all very well for those who lived in a quiet country village, far from the noise and bustle in which some of them were compelled to live in the cities, where they endeavoured to keep alive the art of change ringing in thickly populated districts, to talk of keeping these traditional bells going. From time to time they had outbreaks of protest in their daily papers about what was generally called the church bell nuisance, and almost invariably the thing started from the clanging and jangling of single bells. Then it grew and grew until someone came along and dragged in the ringing at some church where, perhaps, the bells were properly rung. He would like to move as an amendment: 'That this Council emphatically deprecates the continuance of the Curfew, Angelus or other bell traditionally rung in any parish, and calls upon its officers and members to exert their utmost efforts to prevent the continuance of such practice' (laughter).

The President: That is a direct negative.

Mr. W. A. Cave was extremely sorry to hear the speech of Mr. Paddon Smith. He (the speaker) also lived in a city, and he had never heard a word against the Curfew. People looked for its chiming every night. In Bristol they would be sorry to lose it.

Mr. T. W. Faulkner said this surely could not be a contentious question. One newspaper during last summer published an enormous number of letters about the use of the Curfew and different bells rung traditionally through the centuries, and the conclusion was arrived at that there were at least 300 or 400 parishes in this country where the Curfew was still rung. There was not one word of complaint about it.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett asked the Council not to take his friend, Mr. Paddon Smith, too seriously; when he spoke most gravely he was very often laughing inwardly, and he suspected that his speech on this occasion was one of that kind (laughter).

Mr. R. Whittington said he did not think the jangling complained of referred in any case to the Curfew. He would like to substantiate what Mr. Edwards had said about the Curfew having a tendency to keep the bell frames in order where there were no ringers. Once at Marlborough he tried to get some ringing, and was told that if he liked he could ring the Curfew that night. He was highly gratified, but when he went to the tower he found there was only just room to ring the bell. The rest of the belfry was filled with birch brooms, grave boards and other articles, and had it not been for the Curfew it would probably have been impossible to get into the tower at all (laughter).

On the motion being put, it was carried. Mr. Paddon Smith was the only dissenter.

MEMORIAL PLAQUES NOT FAVOURED.

The Hon. Secretary proposed: 'That the Council should consider the feasibility of supplying and fixing memorial plaques in towers associated with famous ringers of the past.' He said he had put this on the agenda partly because of the correspondence which came in last year about the memorial to Sir Arthur Heywood. Plaques in memory of famous men were put up in the City of London by the City Corporation, and the London County Council in other parts of London put up rather elaborate circular plaques on the houses associated with the great men of the past. It had occurred to him, therefore, that the Central Council might like to do something in the same way with regard to famous ringers. It would be no good going to the City Corporation and asking them to put up a plaque at St. Bride's to the memory of Benjamin Annable, who used to ring there, and who was buried at St. Bride's, but the Central Council might do it, provided there was money to do it with, just as they had recently put up a tablet to the memory of Sir Arthur Heywood. He had inquired of the city surveyor what the cost of the city plaques was. He was informed that they were made by Doulton's, and the Corporation paid £3 5s. each for them. There were also some bronze plaques in London, which cost between £5 and £6, but they could not do better in regard to effect than the majolica plaques. The proposal, he thought, could be carried out in this way, if the Council gave its consent to the consideration of some such scheme. The local associations could, if they thought fit, put forward the name of some well-known ringer of the past whose name was worthy of commemoration. The Council could then, if it acquiesced, arrange with Doulton's to supply the plaque, provided the local people subscribed the necessary money. The memorial could then be opened with due ceremony, and they would have the ringer commemorated for all time. He, therefore, recommended the motion to the Council's consideration.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, who seconded, said he did so because he was in sympathy with the idea, but the gist of the whole thing to his mind was the question of cost. He could not see how the cost was to be borne at present.

Mr. Trollope asked where they were going to put these plaques. They might look very well outside a church, but inside they already had their memorials in the shape of peal tablets, and the people who saw them already knew all about these worthies. Before supporting the motion he would like to know where these tablets were to be put, and who were the people it was proposed to commemorate.

Mr. James George said if they started this scheme he did not know where it would end.

A Member: With you (laughter).

Mr. George said he could not see where it was going to end, and it would be a very expensive matter.

The Rev. C. A. Clements said if they put such a memorial in the church they would have to get a faculty, and that would cost them about £5. If they wanted to put it in the belfry, as Mr. Trollope had said, they would be putting it where, in all likelihood, there were already records of the performances of the men they wished to commemorate. If they desired to erect plaques they would have to submit an application to the Chancellor and pay most elaborate fees.

Mr. W. A. Cave said when the Roll of Honour of ringers was compiled he suggested that, as they met every third year in London, it should find a resting place somewhere there. If they carried out the present idea, with which he was in entire sympathy, he suggested it should be in the same way, so that when they visited London every third year they could go and inspect the plaques.

Mr. Hughes said he thought Mr. Cave hardly knew what Mr. Young meant. The idea behind the motion was that these plaques should be placed in the different churches throughout the country, where these famous men had been ringers. For instance, they would place a plaque in the belfry of St. Martin's, Birmingham, to John Carter.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett said he would respectfully suggest to the hon. secretary that he should withdraw the proposition. He did not think it was practicable. There was the difficulty first of all of where they were to begin, and where they were going to end, in the men they were going to commemorate, and when they had selected one or more, where were they going to put up the plaques? If ever a man deserved a memorial it was John Carter, but the suggestion that it should be placed in St. Martin's belfry did not meet with his personal approval, because Mr. Carter rang comparatively little in that tower. The greater part of his Birmingham ringing was done in connection with St. Philip's Church, where he was head of his own company. That difficulty would arise in nearly every case. He did not think the Council could undertake the work with any prospect of success or in a manner to give any general satisfaction.

The motion, on being put, was defeated by a large majority.

The President said it would have been a great expense to place such memorials on the wall of a church, and it was very doubtful whether an Advisory Committee—it would have to come before them—would pass it. They would ask, 'Who was John Carter?' He would be absolutely unknown to them; or 'Who was Benjamin Annable? Who was William Shipway?'

SIX AND FIVE BELL PEALS.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith moved the following resolution: 'That in the "Conditions required for peals" laid down by the Central Council, the following be inserted: "On five bells. That peals of Doubles consist of at least 42 true and complete 120's rung without interval and without 'rounds' or any other rows being included or rung more than once in any 120. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 120." And the following be substituted for the present definition of a peal on six bells: "On six bells. That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's rung without interval and without 'rounds' or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 720. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 720."'

Dealing first with the portion relating to six-bell peals, he said the proposal was merely to bring the definition into line with present practice. As the definition now stood in the 'Rules of the Council,' peals of Cambridge Minor rung on the plan published by the Rev. F. Bankes James were ruled out, because it was provided in the conditions required for peals that the bells should strike round at the end of each 720. In Mr. James' arrangement there were seven true and complete 720's if rounds were treated as the first row of the first 720. Rounds, however, did not occur at the beginning or end of all of the subsequent 720's, but the alteration to the rule which he proposed would enable this arrangement to be recognised as a true peal. With regard to the peals on five bells, the Council had hitherto had no definition, so that strictly they had not recognised peals of Doubles by their rules. The motion, as drafted, was to place peals of Doubles on parallel lines to peals of Minor. In doing this they would not exclude Pitman's spliced 240's of Grandsire when rung in a peal, because these consisted of two true 120's, if rounds were counted as the first change of the 720.

The Rev. H. Law James: The first change of Grandsire Doubles is 21354.

Mr. Goldsmith said he was not going to argue the theoretical side of the methods; all he was concerned with was what they were to include under the heading on 'Practical Ringing' in the Decisions of the Council. With regard to the other frequently practised arrangement of Grandsire Doubles, by Mr. Morris, that, by the definition which he proposed, would be ruled out of peals, and he had little regret that it was, because each of the 120's included a repetition of no less than 40 changes. The Council should aim at raising rather than lowering the standard of peals, and while Mr. Morris' arrangement would make a variation when ringers were practising, there was no reason why such flagrantly false six-scores should be admitted in peals. Mr. Goldsmith added that there was nothing in the motion which would exclude that other method of calling extents of Grandsire, by which the 'half-hunt' bell was changed. These arrangements were perfectly true, inasmuch as they merely spliced five extents into the middle of one other.

The Rev. H. Law James seconded, and remarked that the 720's of a method might be perfectly true, but instead of coming round at the end of each the last row might be 132465 or 143265, in which case the next 720 would begin with 134256 or 142356. By repeating this process the end of the third 720 would be 124365, and the fourth would start again from 123456.

The Rev. E. S. Powell supported the resolution. He agreed that they should stiffen up the definition of a peal. At present they would recognise a peal if all of the 42 six-scores of Doubles were called in exactly the same way. He would therefore like to move as a rider that in a peal the calling should be as varied as the method or methods would permit.

Mr. Coles said he would prefer the rider to be left out. It would rather complicate matters. At present a peal of Grandsire Doubles was recognised if the standard ten callings were used. If the rider were carried it would mean that they would have to include these spliced arrangements, which would not commend itself to all ringers. They would be trying to force ringers to ring what they did not want to ring, and they would not allow a peal with the ten standard callings to be recognised as a peal. If the motion was left as originally proposed, he felt sure it would get the support of most of the representatives present. He hoped the resolution would be passed, because he would not like to see such a splendid composition as Mr. Bankes James' Cambridge Minor excluded from recognition, as it was by the present rule of the Council.

Mr. E. M. Atkins said he regarded a peal in a different light from that in which most people regarded it. He could not conceive why a peal of Minor or Doubles should not be considered as a unit and not as a string of 720's or 120's. All that it was necessary to lay down was that a change should not occur more than seven times in a peal of Minor, or 42 times in a peal of Doubles. The resolution, as they had heard, ruled out certain spliced 240's because they were not in complete 120's. There was another type of peal of Doubles, one in which they rang up to a certain lead-end, then started another 120, and, having finished it, went back and finished the first. He held that the definition in the motion would rule that out.

The Rev. H. Law James said that these latter 120's would not be ruled out.

The motion, on being put, was carried without dissent, but the rider, put as a separate proposition, was defeated by 13 votes to 9.

MILESTONES.

Ye Citye of Ladye Godiva,
Ye Hostellerie of Peeping Tom.

Dear Editor,—I did sit this evening of Grace in an Ancient and Time Honoured Inn in a Fayre Citye that has bells which won't go round and round, and I did discuss ye forthcoming Godiva celebration with ye beste of spouses, and did bemoan the fact that Ye Fayre Ladye could not be welcomed with joyous peals, as was the wont in years long gone down to history, but that only mechanical 'tintinabulations' could now disturb ye parish jackdaws. But ye goode Dame, farseeing as ever, did assure me that there were bells enow, and none who dared or cared to ring 'em. What appeared to trouble her most was that poor Peeping Tom would have lost his eyesight long ere Ye Fayre Godiva appeared on her lily white 'Osisis' at the Postern Gate. So, good Sir, I did hie me home with head held well aloft, lest I did suffer from 'the wrath to come,' to which all men (who marry) seem to be heir. It went down to history that Lot's spouse looked behind and was turned into a pillar of salt. Many a devoted swain has been turned into an article which could crawl up a worm hole in grandma's rocking chair, an' he 'looked behind' in Coventry when his beste of spouses was with him. Ah me! They knew a bit in old Lot's days, and salt has its uses, if only to put on the dicky birds' tails. But when I meet old Lot in the hereinafter aforesaid, I'll roust him for not telling his heirs and assigns the recipe for making his famous pillar. So there!

Be that as it may, good Sir, this in your ear. I got one thing that old Lot missed. I got your first, very first number, and I've got it yet, and I've got Number 900, and I hope to live to take 99 more; then won't we be a couple of old inhabitants, me in my inglenook, reading No. 999. Here comes ye beste of that ilk, and she doth console me with the fact that this is the first of your 'milestones' which I have read on English soil. No. 1 was in Overijsyl, and others all over the map, and she expresses the pious hope that success and prosperity will attend the publication of all your milestones, but she trusts you won't publish another 900 before I am again at home to rip the wrapper off another milestone.—Yours very sincerely,
SAMIWELL.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. THE FIRST SUMMER FESTIVAL.

The Guildford Diocesan Guild, when it was formed, decided to separate its annual business meeting from its festival and to hold the former in the early part of the year and the latter in the summer. The first festival took place last Saturday at Epsom, and attracted an attendance of 150 from a large proportion of towers in the diocese and from London. Epsom is well situated in regard to rings of bells, for not only has it a peal of ten and another of eight in the town itself, but close at hand is Ewell with eight and Ashted with eight, and a little further away, but on the road for most of the visitors from the Guildford diocese, Leatherhead, with a ring of ten. All these bells had kindly been placed at the Guild's disposal, and, although in some cases the start was slow, there was eventually plenty of ringing done on them in the later afternoon and evening.

The festival service was held in Epsom Parish Church, where the Vicar (Rev. C. R. Pattison Muir) had made arrangements. Members of the Guild augmented the choir, and the music was thus well rendered. The preacher was the Bishop of Guildford (president of the Guild), who was accompanied by his Chaplain (Canon Irwin), the other clergy present, in addition to the Vicar of Epsom and his curate, being Rev. Sir John Herschel (West Clendon) and Rev. H. Hamilton Jackson (Shalford), both hon. members of the Guild.

The Bishop's address was based on Psalm cxxxiii. 1, 'Beloved, how good and how pleasant it is to dwell together in unity.' He was not speaking to them that day, he said, as bellringers, but as church-workers, whose love and devotion to the Church was witnessed and proved by their voluntary work. But the Church and the nation had been passing through a time of great crises, and through which they had emerged by prayer and devotion. It was not for us to choose the moment when some great crisis emerged, but it was for us to act when it came, to look it in the face and meet it calmly, quietly, courageously, and by God's grace turn it to the common good. The Bishop went on to speak of the efficacy of prayer. We wanted to feel, he said, that we were surrounded by prayer, that the atmosphere of the church was full of prayer, a desire for love and kindness towards one another. He did not think we should have got into this sort of tangle if we had all been praying, as we ought to have been, for the spirit of wisdom and forbearance to others. He appealed to them to take their part in prayer, and take their part in the life of the church and in the services of the church.

Following the service, the members of the Guild and friends partook of tea in the Church House. The Bishop presided, and Mr. W. Harrison (Guildford) proposed a vote of thanks to their Diocesan for coming there that day and giving them such an uplifting address in which some high ideals had been set before them. He called for three cheers, which were heartily given.

The Bishop of Guildford, in a brief reply before leaving for another engagement, said it gave him unmitigated pleasure to be there that afternoon. The Diocesan Guild of Bellringers was one of the soundest, most united and most melodious he had ever known. He wished the Guild a long, vigorous and successful life.

WINCHESTER GUILD'S JUBILEE.

The Hon. Secretary said it had not been intended to bring any business before the meeting, but he had received some communications from the hon. secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, which it was necessary to put before the members that day, in view of the Winchester Guild's annual meeting on the following Saturday. Those who attended the last annual meeting of the Winchester Guild would remember that it was proposed that the Guildford Guild should join in the Winchester Guild's celebration of their jubilee in 1929, and Basingstoke (where the first meeting was held in 1879) was suggested as being a good place. The secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild had now written that as Basingstoke would be rather far away from the area of the Guildford Guild, he suggested that the jubilee meeting should be held at Farnham and Alton, or Haslemere and Petersfield, or Yateley and Hawley.

Mr. Goldsmith threw out the idea that the Guildford Guild should combine their summer festival next year with this event, and this was unanimously agreed to. On a vote being taken as to which district the members preferred for the meeting, Haslemere and Petersfield was selected by a large majority.

The secretary of the Winchester Guild also wrote with regard to the Matthews memorial fund. He said with the £33 in the Special Purposes Fund of the old Guild, the total in hand amounted to £81 5s. 8d. A number of prominent towers connected with the old Guild had not yet subscribed, and as most of those who knew Rev. C. E. Matthews would want to be associated with this memorial, those who wished to subscribe and had not yet done so were asked to do so at an early date, as the fund will soon be closed. The five old bells at Milford-on-Sea have been removed to the foundry of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who have been entrusted with the work. The bells are to be broken up and replaced with a new ring of eight, with tenor of 12½ cwt. in G, the total weight of peal to be 50 cwt., and the bells to be hung in new iron frame. It was expected that the Guild's memorial will be the two treble bells, which will be suitably inscribed. It was also expected that the dedication will be some time in November next. It was hoped that the opening band would be made up of one representative from each of the seven districts of the old Guild.

NEW CORNISH RING.

A SIMPSON-TUNED PEAL OF SIX.

One of the most interesting parish churches of Cornwall has been enriched by the addition of a ring of six bells tuned on the Simpson principle, and supplied by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. This is St. Piran's Church, Perranzabuloe (or St. Piran-in-the-Sands). It is interesting to note that the present building is the third which has been erected in the parish. The earliest was the church or 'oratory' of St. Piran, an early British saint. This building, from its structural peculiarities, is assigned to the 6th or 7th century, and may have been built over the tomb of the saint, as a headless skeleton, thought to be that of the saint, was found buried beneath the altar when the oratory was cleared from sand in 1835. The second church was built in the 12th century, and stood until 1803, when, owing to the encroachment of the sand, it was found necessary to move the site of the church. Accordingly the tower, windows, arches, pillars and porch were removed to the present situation. On the north side of the nave there is a white marble tablet, and underneath the following inscription: 'The first stone of this Parish Church was laid in the year 1804, after two former ones had been successively overwhelmed with the sand of the desert in which they had been imprudently built.'

The dedication of the new bells took place on Saturday afternoon, June 23rd, the eve of the feast of St. John-the-Baptist, and was performed by the Lord Bishop of Truro (Dr. W. H. Frere). The church was crowded, many not being able to gain admittance.

Immediately after the service the bells were raised in peal, and rounds rung by the St. Erme ringers, who were assisted by Mr. W. J. Hodge, the donor of the tenor. This was followed by 120 Grandsire Doubles and a plain course of Bob Minor, to demonstrate the difference between odd and even bell ringing by: A. S. Roberts 1, W. H. Southcott 2, H. Bennett 3, Dr. J. Symons 4, F. G. Viles (conductor) 5, F. I. Hairs 6. During the evening, 720 Bob Minor was brought round by: W. H. Southcott 1, S. R. Roper (conductor) 2, F. G. Viles 3, A. S. Roberts 4, H. Bennett 5, F. I. Hairs 6. Apart from these two performances of change ringing and one other 120 Grandsire Doubles, the rest of the ringing was in the true Cornish style, 'rising, rounds and falling,' and call changes.

A substantial meat tea was provided for all the ringers present by Mr. W. J. Hodge, to whom were expressed many thanks.

During the afternoon and evening a fete was held in the Vicarage grounds, and over £80 was realised in aid of the curate fund.

The bell founders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, are to be heartily congratulated on erecting such a splendid little ring, the tenor weighing 9 cwt. 2 qr. 12 lb. The treble is the gift of the Rev. R. T. S. Tolson, Vicar from 1909 to 1923, in memory of S.L.S.T., A.T.S.T., M.H.S.T., H.T.S.T., and L.R.S.T. Nos. 2, 3 and 4 are the three old bells which have been recast. No. 5 bears the following inscription: '1928. M. O. Boyd, Vicar. W. de Vere Skrine, curate. W. J. Hodge, F. Arthur Mitchell, churchwardens. Charles H. Trenerry, hon. treasurer.' The tenor is inscribed as follows: 'To the glory of God and in loving memory of Anthony Hodge, who died August, 1912, and also of Susan Harriet Hodge, his wife, who died December, 1918, at Kirkdale, near this church. Given by their son, Wm. Jervis Hodge.'

There is every hope that Perranzabuloe Church will soon possess a proficient band of ringers. There are already four or five local men who can ring rounds fairly well, and under the leadership of Mr. W. J. Hodge should progress favourably. A ladies' band is also being formed, and the Vicar (the Rev. M. O. Boyd) has also expressed his desire that his tower should be affiliated to the Truro Diocesan Guild.

MARBURY BELLS REOPENED.

Marbury (Cheshire) bells, having been retuned and put in a new steel frame, were reopened on Saturday, June 23rd. There was a large number of ringers present, including the Master of the Guild, Rev. C. A. Clements. A short service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Vincent, who also provided a splendid tea. Touches of Kent, Oxford, and Plain Bob were rung.

with Canon Coleridge as representative of the Central Council, to complete the number.

A vote of thanks was proposed to the Master, and seconded by Admiral T. E. Walker, to the Rev. C. R. P. Muir for arranging the service, to the organist, to the incumbents of Epsom Parish Church, Christ Church, Epsom, Leatherhead, Ashted and Ewell, for the use of the bells at their respective churches, also to the Vicar of Epsom and Mr. A. Moore (one of the churchwardens) for throwing open their gardens to the members.

The Rev. C. R. Pattison Muir, in reply, said how pleased he was that the Guild had visited Epsom for its first festival, and hoped they would come again. He informed the members of the death two days previously of Mr. Thomas Miles, who had been connected with ringing in Epsom for 63 years.

At the request of the Master, the assembled company stood in silence for a brief interval, as a mark of respect. They then dispersed to the various towers for further ringing. During the day most of the popular methods from Bob Minor upward were rung, the concluding touches at Epsom Parish Church being courses of Cambridge Surprise, Royal and London Surprise Major by different bands.

METHOD NAMES.

ST. SIMON'S AND ST. CLEMENT'S.

St. Simon's and St. Clement's provide us with another anomaly in method names. Unquestionably what is published in the C.C. 'Collection' as St. Clement's Minor is the correct extension of St. Simon's Doubles, and it does not bear much resemblance to St. Clement's Triples.

Mr. J. A. Trollope writes: 'In reply to your correspondent, St. Clement's Minor and Major are most certainly correct extensions of St. Simon's Doubles. We do not, however, propose to alter the names by which these are universally known in the Exercise.'

THE TWO METHODS COMPARED.

Mr. George Baker says: I do not think that anyone who examines the following figures will dispute the fact that they are what they are represented to be:—

ST. SIMON'S.
Doubles.	Minor.	Triples.
12345	123456	1234567
21435	214365	2143657
24153	241635	2416375
42513	426153	4261735
24531	246513	2467153
	425631	4276513
42351		2475631
Lead-head 14253	245361	4257361
	Lead-head 142635	Lead-head 1426375

When the Round Blocks of the above method are compared they give a progression of 2-1 to infinity.

That 'Saint Simon's' is not 'Saint Clement's' will be obvious to all those who understand the proper way of extending methods. A method with two hunts can never be the same method as a method with one hunt.

ST. CLEMENT'S.

Doubles.	Minor.	Triples.
12345	123456	1234567
21354	213546	2135476
23145	231456	2314567
32415	324165	3241657
34251	342615	3426175
43521	436251	4362715
34512	346521	3467251
43152	435612	4376521
41325	345162	3475612
14235	435126	4357162
	413256	3451726
Lead-head 12453	142365	4315276

	Lead-head 124635	Lead-head 1246375

The Round Blocks compared give a progression of 2-1 to infinity

DOUBLE SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I shall be glad if anyone who has rung any of the Double Surprise Minor methods will forward me the names under which they were rung.—Yours, etc., J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

RINGING HOLIDAYS, 1928.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following proposals are under consideration:—
Mr. F. Bennett's party, Saturday, August 4th-11th; Devon and Cornwall.

Mr. G. Williams' party, Saturday, September 15th-22nd; Hampshire and Isle of Wight.

Mr. J. H. Cheeseman's party, Saturday, October 19th-26th; Leicestershire and Yorkshire.

It is very likely members will leave London on the Fridays. Will those ringers who have taken part in previous ringing tours kindly communicate with me or the above well-known conductors, stating their wishes, and how many days they are available?—W. H. Fussell, secretary pro tem., Farnburn Avenue, near Slough.

NOTICE.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION & ELY DIOCESAN GUILD.
—A joint meeting will be held at Saffron Walden on Sat., July 14th. Bells available from 3 p.m. Service at 4.45. Tea at 5.15. Those intending to be present kindly advise us.—C. Beeston, King Street, Bishop's Stortford; F. Warrington, Long Stanton, Cambs.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH.

The summer meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Hungerford on Saturday, June 9th, when the following towers were represented: Beedon, Bucklebury, Shaw, Newbury, Thatcham, Kintbury, Woolton Hill, Highclere, Swindon, and the local ringers. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of Oxford Guild), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary), Miss Robinson (Wokingham), and Mr. Hussey (Aldbourne) were also present. Service was held at St. Lawrence's Church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. Wardley King), who gave a very interesting address. Mr. T. W. Brooks presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Church House, when 33 sat down.

The business meeting followed, with the Master presiding in the absence of the Rev. L. R. Majendie (chairman of the branch). He was supported by the branch secretary (Mr. H. W. Curtis).

The next meeting was fixed for Yattendon, on September 1st. A combined practice will be held at Shaw in August.

Votes of thanks were accorded with applause to the Rev. H. Wardley King, Mr. Brooks, and Miss Burgess for providing the tea. The tower was again visited, and some good ringing was done in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Major. Kintbury tower was afterwards visited by some of the ringers.

WEDDING BELLS AT ORSTON.

On Saturday, June 2nd, an event of considerable interest took place at St. Mary's Church, Orston, Notts, when Mr. J. W. Drury, a well-known ringer of Barrowby, Lincs, was married to Miss Ethel Magson, daughter of Mr. Thomas Magson, formerly a ringer at St. Mary's Church. The Vicar, the Rev. C. J. Sturton, one of the few ringing clergy, officiated. To celebrate the occasion the following rang 720 of Grandsire Doubles: A. Walker (Orston) 1, A. Muckears (Hough) 2, Rev. C. J. Sturton (Orston) 3, A. W. Ward (Bottesford) (conductor) 4, J. Taylor (Orston) 5, S. Wilson (Orston) 6. The Rev. and Mrs. Sturton most generously provided tea for the visitors and the local band, and further ringing took place afterwards, the methods being Grandsire, Stedman, St. Simon's, Canterbury, and Bob Doubles, St. Clement's, Single Court, and Bob Minor. The social side included a game of tennis. The best thanks of all were extended to the Rev. C. J. and Mrs. Sturton for their hospitality. All thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and it is hoped to arrange another gathering in the near future. Those interested in tennis should get their rackets in coursing order.

DERBYSHIRE RINGERS MARRIED.

On Saturday, June 2nd, at Overseal Parish Church, near Burton-on-Trent, the marriage was solemnised between Mr. Joseph Wm. Cotton and Miss F. Doris Parker. The Rector, the Rev. H. E. Worthington, officiated.

The bridegroom, who has been a member of the local band since the opening of the bells in 1920, has rung 27 peals for the Midland Counties Association, whilst the bride is also a member of the Overseal company.

To mark the occasion, touches were rung by the following local ringers: W. E. Clayfield, J. Carlton, J. West, A. Jackson, W. H. Curson, H. Hughes, L. Freeman, A. Adams, H. I. Southerd and W. Bosworth, whilst later an attempt for a peal had to be called round half-way.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton received many congratulations, and were the recipients of handsome and useful presents, and they have the good wishes of the ringers of the district for every happiness in their married life.

At St. Mildred's Church, Tenterden, Kent, on June 9th, to celebrate the wedding of Mr. Maskell and Miss R. Burgess, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) (Thurstans') in 50 mins.: Mrs. H. THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

DEANS' STRANGE ATTITUDE.

It is difficult sometimes to understand the working of the ecclesiastical mind in regard to ringers and ringing. After more than fifty years of labour the associations throughout the country have, happily, brought home to the large majority of the clergy not only a sense of their responsibility in connection with church bells, but a realisation of the fact that the majority of ringers also have an appreciation of their own responsibility with regard to the ringing of them. And yet from time to time instances come to light of some action or other on the part of authorities which, to those outside, are inexplicable. Such a case is that which happened a fortnight ago at Gloucester. A company of ringers who were going to visit the city had been offered some weeks before, through the local company, the opportunity of ringing with them for morning service at the Cathedral, where there is a peal of eight bells of medium weight. Judge of their astonishment, therefore, when on arrival they found that the Dean, on hearing of the proposed visit, had not only forbidden that they should be permitted to ring, but had even debarred them from going up into the tower! Moreover, we have it on good authority, he was so emphatic that he issued an order that, rather than these visitors should be allowed into the belfry, the Cathedral band themselves should refrain from ringing for the service.

To find words to criticise respectfully the action of the Dean is almost impossible. His attitude is simply past comprehension. No explanation was offered, and the visitors, who had travelled a long distance for the privilege they had been promised and hoped to exercise, were merely shut out at the belfry door by the whim of a dignitary, whose position makes him an autocrat and who apparently has not the least notion of the common courtesies which prevail in these matters, not only among ringers, but, happily, among almost all the clergy and church authorities throughout the land. Ringing in the city of Gloucester, once one of the most progressive and active centres of the art, has been nearly dormant for some few years past, and, if this is the spirit which prevails among those who have control of the bells, the reason is not far to seek. If we may say so, we consider that the Dean offered an unpardonable affront to a responsible company of ringers. He must have forgotten the Biblical injunction, 'Be not forgetful to entertain strangers.' Unlike the Bishops and Archdeacons of the Dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol, he does not appear to give his support to the Diocesan Association of ringers, and perhaps this accounts for his lack of appreciation of the amenities which it is usual for the authorities of one church—even though it be the Cathedral Church of a diocese—to extend to the ringers of another.

There is another lamentable case of a Dean refusing admission of diocesan ringers to the mother church of a diocese, and that is at Lichfield. Here the Society for the Archdeaconry of Staffs is persistently rebuffed, and is unable to obtain permission to ring at the Cathedral on the occasion of its meetings except once in two years! Strenuous and respectful efforts have been made to induce the Dean to relax this rule which he has made, but without avail. Again, it is an incomprehensible attitude; but the Dean is the final court of appeal. Such cases as this are few, but their rarity makes them more conspicuous. In the very places where we should look for the exemplification of Christian brotherhood, we find those in authority behaving in exactly the opposite manner, and when things reach the stage to which they appear to have come both at Gloucester and Lichfield, it is time someone did a little plain speaking, even at risk of offending such a highly placed personage as a Dean.

RINGING AT NINETY-ONE.

A peal on the newly-restored bells of Aldington, Kent, had been arranged for Saturday, July 7th, but the band met 'one short.' The help of Mr. C. Slingsby was secured, and he, with great enthusiasm, although 91 years of age, rang the treble to 720 Bob Minor: C. Slingsby 1, A. C. Kay 2, E. S. Ruck 3, H. C. Castle 4, P. Page 5, H. Parkes (conductor) 6. A 720 of Bob Minor was also rung by H. Parkes 1, W. Sheerwood 2, P. Page 3, A. C. Kay 4, H. C. Castle 5, E. S. Ruck (conductor) 6.

LAVENHAM RINGING ANNIVERSARY.

On Saturday, June 30th, the 117th 'Ringing Day' was held at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham. Ringing continued throughout the afternoon and evening, touches in the following methods being rung: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative. The places represented were Clapham, Catford, Colchester, Cornard, Gestingthorpe, Great Yeldham, Greenstead Green, Lawshall, Long Melford, Little Walsingham, Otley, Shipley (Yorks), Sible Hedingham and Ufford.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

UNVEILING OF PEAL TABLET AT BARLBOROUGH.

Saturday, July 7th, was a memorable day in the history of the North Notts Association. The occasion was a visit to Barlborough, and the day had been looked forward to by the inhabitants of the village generally, and by churchpeople and ringers in particular. It was an ideal summer's day, and the 60 members of the association who turned up thoroughly enjoyed themselves in this remote corner of Derbyshire.

On February 4th of this year the ringers at Barlborough rang a peal of Minor in four methods at St. James' Church to celebrate the 21st birthday of Miss Locker Lampson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey T. Locker Lampson, P.C., M.P., of Barlborough Hall, and to commemorate the event a peal table has been erected in the tower. The association received a hearty invitation from the Rector of Barlborough to hold a meeting at that place to unveil the tablet, and to partake of tea in the Rectory Grounds. Further, Mr. Locker Lampson and family gave the ringers permission to look round the grounds and through Barlborough Hall. Left in the capable hands of Mr. P. E. Hibbard and his colleagues at Barlborough, together with the hon. secretary of the association, the arrangements were admirably carried out. The ringing visitors came from Auston, Barlborough, Cuckney, Harthill, Branston, Eckington, Chesterfield, Gainsborough, Brimington, Killamarsh, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Sutton-on-Trent, Shireoaks, East Markham, Ordsall, Warsop and Worksop.

A short service, with suitable hymns and prayers and eloquent and appropriate address by the Rev. M. Howard Coates, of Brimington, took place, and the peal tablet was afterwards unveiled by Mrs. Locker Lampson. A short touch of Kent Treble Bob was rung by four Barlborough ringers, with Mr. H. Stenton and Mr. H. Haigh.

After the service an adjournment was made to the Rectory lawn to partake of a sumptuous tea, provided by ringers' wives and friends.

The business meeting which followed was presided over by the Rev. M. H. Coates, who was acting temporarily as Rector in the absence of the Rev. W. H. Griffiths, who was kept away by illness. He was supported by Mrs. G. T. Locker Lampson, Miss Lampson, Mrs. Griffiths, the Misses Burchall, Mr. H. Caferatta, vice-president, Mr. F. S. W. Butler, secretary of Northern Branch of Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and the hon. secretaries, Messrs. H. Haigh and H. Revill.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Norton Cuckney on Saturday, September 15th, when the first competition for the Crawford silver cup will take place at 3 p.m. New members were elected as follows: The Rev. M. Howard Coates, of Brimington, vice-president; Mr. Harry Carter and Mr. Moses Billings, of Branston, and Mr. Percy Jervis, of Eckington, as non-resident life members.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. M. Howard Coates for his inspiring address, for arranging the unveiling of peal tablet, and for presiding over tea and meeting.

The Secretary (Mr. Haigh) made allusion to the long illness of the Rector of Barlborough, and the ringers shared with him the hope for his speedy recovery.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Locker Lampson and her daughter, the churchwardens and others, and to the ladies of Barlborough for catering for the wants of the visitors, also to the ringers and all others who had used their best endeavours to make the gathering a success.—The Rev. M. H. Coates replied in a humorous speech.

On the invitation of Mr. Godfrey T. Locker Lampson, the ringers and friends were escorted through the grounds by Mr. P. E. Hibbard and the Barlborough ringers, who subsequently showed them through the interior of Barlborough Hall, with its numerous rooms well stocked with wonderful antiquities, some dating from the 11th century, including oil paintings, old carving, and hundreds of curios.

During the afternoon and evening the following methods were rung on the bells: Plain Rub, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Violet, Stedman Doubles, and Norwich, Cambridge, London and Wells Surprise. The bells were lowered in peal at 9.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable day.

LADIES' GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Northern District was held on June 30th, at Christ Church, Upper Armley, Leeds, members being present from Rotherham, Bradford, Armley, Bramley and Mansfield Woodhouse. The delightful peal of eight were made good use of during the afternoon, the methods including Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, and Stedman Triples. A splendid tea was provided in the Church Room, where the Vicar gave the visitors a most hearty welcome and extended a very cordial invitation for future meetings.

At the business meeting which followed, four new members were elected, and the retiring officers re-elected en bloc.

A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and the local company for their valuable help in making the meeting such a success. September 29th was the date chosen for the next meeting, the choice of a suitable place being left to the secretary.

Further ringing, including courses on handbells, took place during the evening until a comparatively late hour, and brought a most enjoyable meeting to a close.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

'HEALTH, VIRILITY AND KEENNESS.'

The annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at Lichfield on Saturday, June 23rd. The assembly was not as large as usual, partly due to the fact, no doubt, that the Cathedral bells were not available. However, those at St. Mary's, St. Michael's, and St. Chad's were made good use of. A visit to the last-named was very interesting. The bells are a ring of four, with a tenor about 12 cwt. The date of the treble is 1670, 2nd 1664, 3rd 1625, and the tenor reputed to be 1033. In the belfry is fixed a board, of which the following is a copy: 'These bells were rung for 3 hours 30 minutes on February 2nd, 1928, consisting of 740 courses of six changes. Total 4,440. By the service ringers. 1st bell J. Powles, 2nd J. Walker, 3rd J. Maycock, 4th A. Smith. Time and record was kept by H. Brown.' This, indeed, must constitute a record. As one of the visitors remarked, after complimenting the band, 'You deserve the Victoria Cross!'

Tea was provided at Lloyd's Restaurant, during which the Bishop of Lichfield entered the hall and gave the members a word of welcome.

At the general meeting which followed, Mr. J. E. Groves was unanimously voted to the chair. The committee's report was read and approved, as was also the balance sheet, and ordered to be printed.

The officers were re-elected, with the exception of the Ringing Master, Mr. John C. Adams succeeding Mr. Robert Pickering, retired, according to custom.

The Central Council representatives gave a brief report of the proceedings at the Hereford meeting.

The following places were chosen for the coming meetings: Alrewas in September, Walsall (if the bell restoration is completed) January, Norton Canes April, and Lichfield for the annual in June. A vote of thanks to the officers and chairman terminated the meeting.

SOCIETY'S FORMATION RECALLED.

In their report the Committee said: If the attendance at meetings is any indication of the health and virility of a society and of the keenness of its members, we can look back on 1927-28 with gratification. At Tamworth last September more than 90 members and friends were present, and at Willenhall in January the attendance of over 100 was probably a record for a quarterly meeting. Brewood is not very accessible, which possibly accounted for the small number present on April 14th. Forty-three new ringing members have been admitted during the year, including 11 life members. The financial position is strong, and the year's working shows a balance of 22 lbs. 5d. The peals scored during the year were as follows: Grand sire Doubles 2, Triples 5, Caters 1, Steadman Doubles 1, Triples 9, Caters 4 (one on handbells), Cinques 1, Double Norwich Caters 1, Bob Major 1, Royal 1, and Oxford Bob Major 1; total 27. The society is the poorer by the loss through death of Reuben Hall, one of the original members of the society, Harry A. Farlow, St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, Richard W. Burrows, Banbury, formerly of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, and James Culwick, All Saints', West Bromwich. Old records are frequently worth reading, and the following, which is a copy of the minutes of the meeting which led to the founding of our society, may be of interest to members:—

'On Thursday, May 17th, 1883, a meeting of Lichfield ringers was held at Archdeacon Iles' house in the Cathedral Close to consider the desirability of forming a society of change ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, similar to that already existing in the Archdeaconry of Stoke. There were present the Ven. Archdeacon Iles, Rev. J. J. Serjeantson and Mr. W. Wood, of St. Michael's Society, Mr. Gallimore, Master of the Cathedral ringers, Mr. J. Key, Master of St. Mary's ringers, and Rev. J. R. Keble, member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. It was decided that a society of change ringers should be founded, having for its objects: (a) To recognise the position of ringers as churchworkers, (b) the promotion of the art of change ringing, (c) belfry reform. It was then agreed that a meeting should be called on Saturday, June 2nd, for the purpose of constituting a committee and appointing officers, and that invitations should be sent to the Masters of important ringing associations in the archdeaconry inviting them to attend. The Rev. J. R. Keble consented to act as secretary.' Mr. J. Key is still with us—the only surviving member of the society since its foundation 45 years ago. It will be seen the society was born in the Cathedral Close, which makes it still more disappointing that nowadays we should not be welcome in our original home.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ASHFORD DISTRICT'S TENTH 'PEACE' GATHERING.

The annual invitation meeting at Brabourne—the tenth 'peace' gathering—was held by the kindness of the Rev. S. K. Lockyear on Saturday, June 23rd, and attended by about 50 ringers and friends. Service was held at five o'clock, Rev. Cooper, of Benenden, giving the address, and Mr. W. E. Pitman presiding at the organ. Tea was served in glorious weather on the Vicarage lawn, and was greatly enjoyed. It being the birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and of Mrs. Lockyear, 'Many happy returns of the day' were expressed. Ringing was kept up until 8.30, a 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor to celebrate the birthdays making a good finish to a successful meeting. Tenterden was chosen for the next meeting on July 28th.

HERTFORD AND MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATIONS.

SUCCESSFUL JOINT MEETING AT NORTH MIMMS.

Members of the above associations met together at North Mimms on Saturday last, and, being favoured with fine weather, it was not surprising that some 40 or more ringers attended, in spite of the difficulties of reaching this out-of-the-way spot. It was very pleasing to see well-known ringers from places as far apart as Crayford and Dunstable, Tonbridge and Luton, Romford and Hitchin, Sunbury and Baldock, Leyton and Harpenden, besides others from towers in closer proximity, and again the value of these occasional joint meetings was shown in that they enable ringers to become acquainted with many whom they would not otherwise meet.

At the service in the very pretty church, the sermon was preached by the Vicar (Rev. G. C. Ward), whose address was much appreciated.

Afterwards tea was partaken of, and subsequently, with no business to be discussed, it was left to the various officers of the two associations to say a 'few words.'

Mr. G. Cartmel (president, Herts Association) welcomed the Middlesex members to Hertfordshire. On his way to the meeting, he said, he had wondered who had started this very popular series of meetings, and he now thought the Middlesex Association had something to do with it. He congratulated that society, stating that these meetings were all for the good of ringing and increased the spirit of unity amongst ringers. In an age when there was so much disorder, even in the Church, the bellringers were setting a good example of unity, which he trusted would long continue. He was exceedingly pleased to meet so many old friends, whom he again heartily welcomed.

Mr. F. A. Milne (president, Middlesex Association) thanked Mr. Cartmel for his eloquent words of welcome. He also emphasised what the first speaker had said as to the value of these joint meetings, and felt that they should be encouraged. He was very glad to be present, and hoped that the spirit of unity between them would increase.

Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary, Middlesex N.E. District) expressed thanks to the Hertford Association for the cordial welcome given to them that day. He said that the idea of these meetings was first given to him by his friend Mr. Hewett, who he was pleased to see present, and to whom he was grateful. They had held four very successful meetings with the Essex Association, and this was the second with the Herts Association. On September 22nd, at Waltham Abbey, it was hoped that the three associations would meet together. Mr. Coles concluded by proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his very helpful address and for the use of the bells that afternoon, which was carried with acclamation.

The Rev. G. C. Ward, in his reply, said that his thanks were due to the Hon. Mr. Justice and Mrs. Clanson, who a few years ago had presented them with two new bells, for he felt that he could not have expected such a successful meeting of the two associations without the attraction of a peal of eight bells. He expressed gratitude and appreciation to all present for attending.

Mr. W. Nash (hon. secretary, Herts, St. Albans District) proposed that next year's joint meeting should be held at Hadley (Middlesex). He said he was pleased at the success of this meeting, which he had much enjoyed.—Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president, Middlesex) seconded the choice of Hadley for next year's meeting, which proposal was affirmed.

Mr. W. Cartmel proposed thanks to all who had done anything towards making the meeting a success, especially mentioning the ladies who had prepared the tea. This was carried.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening was in the capable hands of Mr. W. Pye, who saw to it that all were satisfied. No less than twelve methods were rung, including five Surprise methods. Those who rang their first courses of London and Bristol appeared to be especially pleased, as did the local youngsters, who could only manage 'plain leads' of Major, and who did it right well.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

MR. A. SYMONDS RESIGNS OFFICE AFTER LONG SERVICE.

A meeting of the Lavenham District was held at Monks Eleigh on Saturday last. Rev. Canon A. F. Northcote presided at the business meeting, supported by Mr. S. H. Symonds (assistant secretary of the Guild). The following new members were elected: Messrs. R. Green, F. Hynes, A. Reynolds, all of Monks Eleigh.

Mr. A. Symonds informed the meeting that, after more than twenty years of secretarial work for ringing societies, he wished to take a rest, and hoped they would easily find a younger ringer to fill the office of district secretary.

A vote of thanks was accorded Mr. A. Symonds for his good work in the past, and Mr. S. H. Symonds, his son, was unanimously elected to succeed him as district secretary.

A strong appeal was then made to the ringers, asking them to obtain more honorary members, and also new recruits to their ranks.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Preston in September. Votes of thanks were accorded Canon Northcote for presiding, and Miss I. Barton, Kettlebaston, for so kindly attending. This was supported by the Secretary, who spoke of the kindly interest these two take in bells and ringers.

During the afternoon and evening, touches of Plain Bob and Oxford Treble Bob were rung on the grand old peal of six.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. SUCCESS OF FIVE-BELL MEETING.

The Lincoln District held their second quarterly meeting at Eagle on Saturday, June 30th, and, being well attended, the meeting was one of outstanding success.

There was a unique feature attached to this meeting due to the fact that it was believed to be the first five-bell tower at which the Lincoln District ringers had assembled for the purpose of holding a meeting. The attendance, numbering about 35, was a very representative one for the district, and included in that number were two lady ringers from Sutton-on-Trent, and one from Collingham. Members of the local band were in attendance, and it was noticeable that they had made satisfactory progress in ringing since their initiation into the Guild some few months ago. An innovation regarding ringing at meetings in the Lincoln District takes the form of methods selected for preferential study and practice, and for this occasion the methods New Doubles and Stedman Doubles were chosen. The latter method was particularly favoured in the afternoon, and it was observed that a number with, perhaps, but a brief familiarity with the method of Stedman made themselves much more acquainted with it in a very little time. The method of New Doubles, like unto its name, was a new thing for this district, and came up for trial later in the evening. At first a plain course was tried, and, finding that it went so well, the band were eager to try a more lengthy touch, which they accomplished. Those who had looked at the 'diagrams' found this method one of interest, and it is expected that the method will figure at future meetings, particularly where a good tenor can boom behind.

For the service, conducted and addressed by the Vicar of Eagle, the Rev. W. D. Shepherd, the attendance of ringers, together with a number of parishioners, easily filled the little church. The usual ringers' service was used, and the singing of the hymns and psalm was most heartily joined in by all. Mr. Simpson, of Lincoln, who, on account of his frequent visits to the Lincoln District meetings, can now be rightly termed the 'ringers' organist,' once again officiated in that capacity. His services are much appreciated by the ringers. The Rev. R. Bond, the president of the district, was present and read the lesson.

Tea was then partaken of, and lady members of the Eagle Church Council officiated at the tables. Afterwards there was the usual meeting, and prior to the opening of the business the Rev. W. D. Shepherd, on behalf of the Church Council, voiced a very hearty welcome to the ringers present, and paid tribute to the work of Mr. Smith who had done much to obtain recruits for the Eagle band.

ENDERBY'S NEW BELLS.

A new peal of eight bells was dedicated at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Enderby, Leicestershire, on Sunday, June 24th, the ceremony being performed during evening service by the Lord Bishop of Leicester. The bells were raised in peal during the service, and the first touch on the bells, a 504 of Stedman Triples, conducted by Fred Dexter, was rung after service.

On the following Saturday, which was the 'Wake,' the bells were made good use of by ringers from Rugby, Coventry, Nuneaton, Hinckley, Leicester and many neighbouring towers. Everyone expressed their satisfaction with the very musical ring. The work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

The ringers of the opening touch thank Mr. Young, churchwarden, for his kind hospitality after the dedication service.

Practice at Enderby is on Tuesday evenings, and the head ringer is Mr. Clarence Jesson, Cross Street, Enderby, Leicestershire.

The Rev. R. Bond presided over the meeting, and in the absence of the secretary, who was indisposed, Mr. C. McGuinness carried out the secretarial duties. Five new members, all associated with the Eagle band, were elected, and they included two lady ringers.

The selection of methods to be studied in preparation for the Wellingore meeting was discussed, and the following two methods were chosen: Oxford Bob for the beginners and London Surprise for the more advanced ringers.

Mr. Geo. Chester, one of the delegates at the Central Council meeting, briefly described some of the more interesting items of business transacted at that meeting, and he emphasised the great importance of the more advanced ringers giving every assistance to learners. He said it was unnecessary for him to go into the business in detail on account of the reports that had already appeared in 'The Ringing World.'

Thanks were accorded to the Rev. W. D. Shepherd and the Eagle Church Council for the use of the bells, to the lady members of the Church Council for tea arrangements, and also the organist. Although a peal of five bells somewhat restricts the scope of ringing, yet the Eagle bells were kept going practically the whole of the afternoon and evening, and without doubt this meeting was of value to the Guild. Handbell ringing was indulged in for a short period before and after tea. A word of praise is due to the enthusiastic way in which the Eagle ringers have come forward in increasing the membership of the Guild. Out of only a very small population the village has already enrolled 12 performing members and 1 honorary member, and the tower only contains five bells.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is seldom that a peal of London Surprise Minor is rung, but we record one this week at Over, Cambs. The latter part of the peal was heard by Mr. C. W. Cook, who took down the lead-ends for over an hour, and at the conclusion congratulated the band on their excellent ringing.

The 'gathering of clans' from Birmingham, Derby and Sheffield will take place at Duffield to-morrow. The party from 'Midlandopolis' will lunch and ring at Derby before going on to ring and tea at Duffield. There is no doubt they will all have a good time. We know these 'do's.'

Who can beat this? Wilfred Andrews (age 14 years), of Lavenham, Suffolk, after two practices amounting only to forty minutes, rang the treble on handbells to 720 changes of Bob Minor, the striking being almost perfect.

Ringing at White Waltham has been suspended until completion of some repairs.

A hundred and thirty years ago next Wednesday the opening peal (Grandsire Cinqnes) on the bells of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, was rung by a band of College Youths.

Next Thursday is the anniversary of the death of Isaac G. Shade, who was knocked down and killed by a motor-car on July 19th, 1926.

John Bush, a bell hanger, of Chew Stoke, 'a very experienced man and ready to serve any parish,' advertised in the 'Western Flying Post' on July 14th, 1760, that he had 'lately hung to saily' the large peal of six bells at Yeovil, the 'tenor consisting of near 50 cwt.'

The bells were 'allowed to be the largest peal of six that is in the country, and required before new hung 22 or 23 men to ring them.'

After being rehung by Bush, seven men rang them for several hours. So he must have made a fairly good job of them for those days.

At present Yeovil has a peal of ten, but the 'tenor' referred to is the same bell as that recast by Bilbie in 1728. Its weight is actually 42 cwt.

JAMES BARHAM'S LAST PEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have a copy of Barham's Peal Book, which I borrowed from Samuel Slater, of Glemsford, Suffolk, in 1892, and Barham's last peal recorded in this book was 5,040 Bob Major, October 25th, 1813, at Leeds, in 3 hrs. 12 mins., James Barham ringing the treble, his age being then 88 years. Perhaps Mr. Theodore Slater or someone could give further particulars of Barham's peals, which I have been trying to collect for over 40 years. Any particulars of the above would be of great interest to the Exercise, and also to yours truly,

PHILIP HODGKIN.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Parish Church of St. James, Trowbridge, on Saturday, July 7th. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m., on the fine peal of ten bells, and subsequently the Guild service was held, conducted by the chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Higinbotham (who is now a licensed lay reader in the diocese of Salisbury). Tea followed at Messrs. Smith and King's Restaurant. At the business meeting Mr. C. D. Higinbotham presided. Mr. S. Hillier gave a report of the business transacted at the meeting of the Central Council at Hereford, which he attended as one of the representatives of the Salisbury Guild. He said he was very much struck by the way the business was done by the Central Council, and the help given to the Guilds.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by the Secretary, a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Hillier for his report.

The following new members were elected: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock and Mr. John Honey, of Abingdon, and Mr. Gordon Cauldwell, of Oxford, as life members; Miss E. Boyce and Mr. W. A. Swift, of Devizes, as ringing members.

A vote of thanks was passed to the chairman for conducting the service, and to the organist.

It was decided to hold the next three meetings as follows: Upvon July 28th, Bratton September 1st, Melksham (quarterly) October 6th.

Ringers were present from Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Warminster, Holt, Bradford-on-Avon (Holy Trinity and Christ Church), Stratton, Bratton, Melksham, Rowde, Trowbridge and Chippenham. Touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Bob Royal and Double Norwich were rung during the afternoon and evening. Ringing also took place at Hilberton, touches of Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, and Kent Treble Bob being rung.

A special meeting of the branch was held at Seend on Saturday, June 23rd. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. A. Butler. After tea at the Bell Inn, on the motion of the vice-chairman of the branch, Mr. B. Cook, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells.—The Vicar, in reply, said how pleased he was to welcome the branch to Seend.

Ringers were present from Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Trowbridge, Holt, Melksham, Bratton, Keovil, Warminster, Stratton and Seend. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent, Oxford Treble and Cambridge were rung.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. SUCCESSFUL REORGANISATION.

The annual meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Winchester on Saturday, when Canon Braithwaite, Canon Residentiary of Winchester Cathedral, and an hon. member of the Guild, presided over an attendance which included representatives from a large number of towers. He was supported by the Master of the Guild (Mr. G. Williams), the hon. secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger), and the hon. treasurer (the Rev. N. C. Woods). Ringers were present from St. Thomas' Cathedral, Portsmouth, Portsea, Ryde, Christchurch, Yateley, Basingstoke, Bournemouth, Brockenhurst, Winchester, Blackmoor, North Stoneham, Bishop's Waltham, Fareham, Newport, I.O.W., Ringwood, Twyford, King's Somborne, Romsey, Swanmore, Southampton, St. Mary Bourne, and Woolton Hill. The visitors included Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, hon. secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, Mr. Denyer (Aldershot), and Mr. S. A. Banford (Raunds). After confirming the minutes of the last annual meeting, and of a special general meeting, in which matters relating to the splitting up of the old Guild and the formation of the new were the most important, the Secretary reported that in accordance with resolutions then passed the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild had been split up into eight new districts, and that since the reorganisation no fewer than eighteen fresh towers had joined the Guild (applause). They had also been very fortunate in the district secretaries they had been able to secure. Although he was unable to give the actual number of members at the present time, it was considerably higher than when they started.

The joint report of the Master and hon. secretary and the last balance sheet of the Winchester Diocesan Guild were adopted.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

The report stated that it was well to think that the affairs of the old Guild had been wound up in such an amicable manner, and while they were sorry to part with so many old friends, it was generally agreed that the smaller areas would give easier working facilities, and therefore become of more benefit to ringers and the Church. Attention was drawn to the reciprocal arrangement between the new Guilds, whereby resident members of one might become compounding members of the other upon payment of 1s., if application be made during the year 1928. The number of members who paid their subscription during the year was: Honorary 74, full 646, probationers 114, unattached 14, compounding 9. After referring to the lamented death of the vice-president, Rev. C. E. Matthews, and the effort being made to provide a suitable memorial by giving an additional bell or bells at his old church at Milford-on-Sea, the report said restoration work had been going on apace. Haslemere had been augmented to 10, Deane to 6, King's Somborne to 6, Fordingbridge (8), Gosport (8) and Newton Valance (5), had been rebung and restored. It was also understood that the bells at Milford, Highclere, Monk's Sherborne and Burgclere would be put in hand shortly. Increased bell restoration, the report continued, meant more work for the Guilds, and individuals as well as bands should ever be on the alert in obtaining and training likely recruits for the Exercise, as only by ever increasing their numbers could they hope to get the bells rung regularly for the Sunday services. Keen appreciation for the support given by life and honorary members, whose generous help and encouragement was of great value to the work of the Guild, was given, and the report added that it was good to find that quite a number of the clergy were beginning to take an interest in the Guild. It remained to ask for the wholehearted support of all incumbents in the area of the three dioceses and to assure them of the readiness of the two Guilds to help them in any way they could. In conclusion, the report thanked the officers and members for their help and co-operation, and expressed the best wishes to the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, with the hope that both would enjoy a long life of prosperity.

The treasurer's balance sheet showed that £50 7s. 10d. was received from the districts, and that a balance of £31 19s. remained in hand at the end of the year. The balance was disposed of by paying £3 2s. 4d. in committee expenses, £14 10s. for the printing of the 1927 report, the £14 6s. 8d. then remaining being divided as to £3 11s. 8d. to the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and the remaining 75 per cent. to the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

The Master presented a report on the Central Council meeting, for which he was thanked.

THE MATTHEWS' MEMORIAL.

The Hon. Secretary reported on the present position of the Matthews' memorial. The Guild's appeal had met with a good response, £81 15s. 2d. having been received. A further £10 had been promised from Lymington tower and friends. The Parochial Council at Milford had agreed on a scheme for recasting the present five bells and making them into a peal of eight, with tenor of 12½ cwt. The cost would be about £600, and it was hoped to raise enough money in the Guild to provide the two trebles. Following an old custom, it was intended to give each of the bells a name. These names would be: Treble 'Faith,' 2nd 'Hope,' 3rd 'Love,' 4th 'Peace,' 5th 'Joy,' 6th 'Liberty,' 7th 'Patience,' tenor 'Victory.' The Rector had asked what inscription the Guild would like put on the bells which they proposed to give, and had suggested the following, which he (the speaker) thought would have met with the wishes of the late Mr. Matthews had he been alive: Treble: "Faith." The gift of the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers, in memory of their vice-president, Rev. C. E. Matthews, 1928.' Second: 'Hope,' and the same inscription. Mr. Pullinger hoped they would be able to raise the memorial fund to £100, which would more than pay for the metal in the two bells. It would not be sufficient to pay for the fittings as well, but he believed the Parochial Church Council would be satisfied with that amount. He had already issued three appeals, but there were still a number of prominent towers in both dioceses from which nothing had been received.

Mr. Andrews suggested that another appeal might be broadcast, and hoped that the total amount required would be in hand in the course of the next two or three months.

The inscriptions were approved, and it was thought that the ventilation of the subject would be sufficient to bring in amounts from those who had not yet subscribed.

The vice-presidents, the Bishop of Southampton, and the Archdeacons of the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth, were re-elected. and Canon Braithwaite and Mr. George Williams were added to the list amid applause.

The following officers were re-elected: Master, Mr. G. Williams; hon. treasurer, Rev. N. C. Woods; hon. secretary, Mr. G. Pullinger; recorder of peals, Mr. F. J. Rogers; auditor, Mr. G. Smith.

Mr. Pullinger said he thought it was time he handed the work over to someone who had more time to carry it out, but the members would not hear of any change, and eventually the secretary's suggestion that he should have the assistance of Mr. F. W. Rogers in getting out the annual report was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Smith, who was unable to be present, also asked to be relieved of his duties as auditor, but the Master, having remarked that this was his 'annual report,' the members at once re-elected him.

WINCHESTER GUILD'S JUBILEE.

A long discussion ensued on the place and date of the next annual meeting. Next year the Guild will celebrate the jubilee of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and the desire had been expressed that the members of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild should join in with the members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. In order that some place convenient to both Guilds might be considered, the feeling of the Guildford Guild had been ascertained, and of the places suggested Petersfield and Haslemere were recommended.

Some members expressed the view that the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild should have two separate gatherings, one for the annual meeting and the other for the jubilee celebration, and this was ultimately resolved upon. It was decided to hold the annual general meeting at Portsmouth on the first Saturday in June, 1929 (an amendment to hold it at Christchurch being defeated), and the jubilee festival at Petersfield and Haslemere on the first Saturday in July, proposals to hold it at Farnham and Alton and on August Bank Holiday being defeated.

A sub-committee, consisting of the hon. secretary, the Master and Mr. F. W. Rogers, was appointed to act with representatives of the Guildford Diocesan Guild in making arrangements.

The Rev. Thomas, of Romsey, was elected an hon. member, Mr. H. J. B. Beale, of Lymington, a life member, and Messrs. C. Green and J. Green, of Ringwood, were elected ringing members.

The meeting then discussed a new set of rules, the draft of which had been recommended by the committee. The rules follow fairly closely the rules adopted by the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and the only point that raised any discussion was that of the affiliation of towers. Mr. E. Tucker said that, as the Parochial Church Council in his parish already paid the ringers' subscriptions to the Guild, he could not ask them to pay another 5s. He was opposed to such a rule.

It was pointed out that the rule was not compulsory, but only that the towers, through the incumbent and Parochial Church Council, should be 'invited' to subscribe.

Being asked to say how the rule worked in the Guildford Diocese, Mr. Goldsmith explained, that the object of this affiliation was not merely a question of raising funds. The principal desire was to give the church authorities a direct interest in the work of the Guild, and in this he felt the Guildford Diocesan Guild had very largely been successful. The affiliation scheme had been well received, and out of the 48 towers from which they had members, about 40 had actually paid the affiliation fee for this year, and he believed most of the remainder would do so.

In view of the fact that payment of the fee was not compulsory, Mr. Tucker withdrew his opposition, and the rules were unanimously adopted.

The Secretary reported that since the last meeting Col. Stillwell, of Yateley, a great supporter of the Guild, had passed away, and in the Guild's name he wrote to Mrs. Stillwell expressing the sympathy of the members. He read a reply conveying grateful thanks from Mrs. Stillwell and family, and his action was endorsed.

A vote of thanks to the chairman, moved by Mr. W. T. Tucker, concluded the business, and the members then had tea together, a party of about 70 sitting down.

Service in the Cathedral, at which the Bishop of Southampton was the preacher, then took place, the Guild's form being used.

On account of the amount of business to be transacted, there was no opportunity for ringing until the evening, and the twelve bells at the Cathedral then came in for good use, among the visitors being members of the Hillingdon (Middlesex) band, who were in the district for their annual outing.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

NEXT YEAR'S MEETING.

Notice of a motion had been given by Mr. Walter Ayre: 'That a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongst members of our affiliated change ringing associations, with power to report to the next annual meeting.' The President said the Standing Committee had considered this notice and, as it was not in order in not having a seconder, as provided by the rules, the matter could not be considered at that meeting, and they would, therefore, pass on to the next business.

Continuing, the President said the Council had to decide upon the place for next year's meeting. From the beginning, the Council had followed a definite rule as to localities. Every first year of a new Council the meeting was held in London, then they met north and south, east and west, and after that they went to the Midlands. This time their strict rota was London, Hereford, which was almost north-west, and from that they should go south-east. The Standing Committee had considered the matter, and they recommended that Chelmsford should be the place for the next meeting. The hon. secretary had received an invitation from the Essex Association—a cordial invitation to the Council to visit Chelmsford in 1929. The Central Council, the letter pointed out, had not yet met in Essex, and Chelmsford was the centre of a young and vigorous diocese. There were ample ringing facilities, including a ring of 12, eight rings of 8, and two of 6 in the immediate neighbourhood. Chelmsford was on a main line, with a good and frequent train service, and there was ample accommodation for their meeting in the Cathedral Hall. The letter which they had received added that the Essex Association would next Whitsun be celebrating its jubilee, and the attractive programme which it was hoped to carry out on Whit Monday would be a pleasing prelude to the Council's meeting on the next day. If the invitation were accepted, the association and its officers would do their utmost to make the meeting a success and arrange for the members attending to have an enjoyable time.

Mr. T. W. Faulkner said as one of the prime conspirators in the sending of that letter he would propose, if necessary, that the Council should meet at Chelmsford in 1929. The Council would be given every facility, there was ample accommodation, and as the Council had never been to Essex before—probably because it had never been asked—it would be a fitting climax to the association's jubilee celebration. If a motion on the subject was not necessary, he desired to support the Standing Committee's recommendation.

A member proposed, as an amendment, that the Council should visit Blackburn, which was the centre of a new See, but on being put to the vote Chelmsford was carried by a large majority.

TO KEEP TOUCH WITH YOUNG RINGERS.

The Council then gave its permission for the discussion of the first item of addenda to the agenda paper—motions which had been received after the original agenda had been published.

The first was a motion put forward by the Guildford Diocesan Guild: 'That this Council invite its affiliated associations and Guilds to unite in a scheme for keeping touch with ringers who remove from one area to another.' (A brief outline of the scheme was published in our issue of June 1st.) The motion was proposed by Mr. R. Whittington, who said they constantly heard of the difficulty which associations had in getting young ringers to take an interest in ringing. Although they in the diocese of Guildford were not isolated as some other associations were, they experienced the same difficulty. They knew the trouble it was to get young people interested in ringing, and also how disappointing it was, when they had managed to get some of them on, to lose them when they had to go away to work. They also knew how much more disappointing it was when they knew that in going away these young ringers would, in all probability, owing to their strange surroundings, be lost to the Exercise altogether. The older ringers, of course, would always find their way to a tower, but they ought to do all in their power to see that a young ringer, once he had put his hand to a rope, should never be lost sight of. He hoped the Council would 'father' the scheme which his Guild put forward, so that they might get uniformity of practice. For lack of a scheme, he maintained, they had lost a lot of ringers. He instanced a case in his own parish where quite by accident he found that a young ringer had come to live among them, but was too shy to come to the tower, because he was afraid he did not know enough about ringing. This young ringer had been in the parish for months before he heard of him, and yet in the meantime he had been scouring the place to try and get recruits.

Mr. A. H. Pulling seconded the motion, and said he hoped the Council would not only 'father' the scheme, but 'mother' it as well (laughter).

The President said he thought it was a most excellent thing.

Mr. C. T. Coles said in the outline of the scheme they were told what to do when a young ringer went away from a district, but they were not told how to do it. The difficulty would be to ascertain the addresses of the secretaries with whom they were to communicate. He had seen in 'The Ringing World' the announcement of the publication of a Ringers' Directory. Perhaps the Council could take that over in some way and publish a complete list of secretaries.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith said he would be prepared to publish in 'The Ringing World' once a year a complete list of the secretaries of the associations and Guilds affiliated to the Central Council (hear, hear). The motion was then put and carried unanimously.

MOTIONS OUT OF ORDER.

There were two other items of addenda, viz., 'The Suffolk Guild asks the Central Council through its Standing Committee to approve or otherwise deal with each of the proposals of the Nomenclature Committee seriatim,' and 'The Suffolk Guild also considers that the issue of diplomas should be left to the associations; but that the Council should, if necessary, organise such issue.'

The President said the Standing Committee had considered both these matters and ruled them out. First, there was no Nomenclature Committee, because that Committee was dismissed last year, and its report handed back with thanks, and the Council had not got it before them at all. With regard to the peal diplomas, the Standing Committee felt that it was coming up in the discussion on the main motion, and it was quite unnecessary to raise it separately. But even if the Standing Committee had not taken that action, a legal mind amongst them was going to bring up a point of order, and he (the president) would have had to rule it out of order at once.

This having concluded the business on the agenda, Mr. Pulling asked whether they could not now go back and consider Mr. Ayre's proposition, if it were moved, in the absence of Mr. Ayre, by another gentleman. He hoped the matter could be discussed, otherwise some people might say the Council would not listen.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake said he would be prepared to propose the motion in the absence of Mr. Ayre.

The President said he was in the hands of the Council, but on taking the feeling of the Council a vote against discussing the matter at this meeting was given by a large majority.

THE LATE MR. PRYCE TAYLOR.

The President said he had to bring forward two matters, one grave, and the other, if he might say so, gay. They must not forget that since their last meeting they had lost a very prominent member of the Council, one whose death came as a great shock to them all. He referred to Mr. Pryce Taylor, who was a very valuable member of the Council and of the Standing Committee. Mr. Taylor had been to America, and was just about to return with a book full of orders for bells in that continent. He went bathing one day, cut his foot with a shell, septic poisoning set in, and he died within three or four days. Mr. Taylor was going to join a few of them on a ringing tour in the West of England, and when they heard of his death it threw a great blight over their week. They were able, however, to pay a tribute to his memory by ringing one of the very best half-muffled peals of Stedman Caters that could ever be rung. It was absolutely faultless from beginning to end. It was rung at Wrington, on that noble peal of bells, where Pryce Taylor would have been ringing with them had he been alive.

The President asked the Council to stand for a few moments to show their respect, which was done.

A WEDDING GIFT.

The President then went on to the second subject. He said all the members of the Council knew what Miss Edith Parker, as she then was, had done for the Council; her tremendous labours in typing collections of peals and various things. No matter what work was laid upon her, she had always been ready to do everything she could for the Council (applause). On the table before them they saw the pile of typed matter which had been done by her under very exceptional circumstances, as she had just recently been married. It had been felt by many that morning that they would like to show their gratitude to Mrs. Fletcher for what she had done for the Council by combining with all those who would like to do so in giving her a little wedding present in commemoration of her kindness and unselfish work (applause). Everyone present had been delighted to participate, and the gift had developed in the form of a cheque for £6 10s., which they asked Mrs. Fletcher to accept with their best love and their gratitude to her. They thought it best to give her the money, so that she might choose something that she would like for her house (applause). In handing the gift to Mrs. Fletcher, the President said he knew that the last thing she would think about it was that it was a monetary reward for all she had done, but that she would take it simply as a token of their love and affection and of their gratitude to her, and with the wish that she and her husband might have many, many years of happy life, and, he hoped, continued usefulness to the Central Council (applause).

Mrs. Fletcher, who had been taken quite by surprise, said she was afraid she could not make a speech, but she greatly appreciated the kind thought that had prompted the gift. Everything she had done for the Council had given her the greatest pleasure, and she hoped she might be spared for many years to help on the work of the Council. She thanked them all very much indeed (applause).

The business proceedings then concluded with a vote of thanks to the president, moved by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Saban, of Sawbridgeworth, Herts, have just celebrated their golden wedding, and on Sunday evening a specially arranged quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in honour of the event. Mr. Saban himself taking part: H. Saban 1, F. Bird (conductor) 2, A. Levey 3, H. Bull 4, W. Morris 5, W. T. Prior 6, W. Tarring 7, H. Wacey 8.

VETERAN EPSOM RINGER DEAD.

Mr. Thomas Miles, of Epsom, passed away on June 28th, at the age of 80 years. Deceased had lived in Epsom all his life. He began to ring at the Parish Church when quite a boy, ringing rounds for the first time in April, 1864. He rang his first peal on April 23rd, 1869, the ringers being four fathers and their four eldest sons, and a board recording this peal hangs in the belfry. Mr. Miles joined the Surrey Association soon after its birth, and remained a member till his death. He rang 61 peals, and conducted 14, his last peal being at Ewell on October 25th, 1924. Although his peals were rung in the four standard methods, he was not a great lover of peal ringing. His great point was to attend to everything connected with bells and ringers, and instructing young ringers. He was always ready to give advice, and many improvements in the towers of Epsom and neighbouring places were due to his advice.

Last August he had a paralytic seizure; three months later his wife passed away, and Mr. Miles was taken to Epsom Infirmary. Right to the end he was always ready to talk about ringing, and only four days before his death spoke of the coming festival of the Guildford Guild at Epsom, telling the writer to tell ringers not to forget to keep open leads. He said he would listen for the bells that day, but before that day came he had passed on.

Large numbers of ringers attended the church and cemetery on the occasion of the funeral on July 3rd. Muffled bells were rung for him at Epsom, where we had rung with him so often, and where we had so often been corrected when going astray. We know we have lost a wise old counsellor and friend.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Heathfield on Saturday, June 30th, between 20 and 30 members attending from Battle, Heathfield, Heane, Mayfield, Rotherfield, Lewes, St. Leonards, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Waldron. Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the White-chapel Bell Foundry, Mr. W. Boughton, of London, and Mr. Sone, of Linton, Kent, were also present. Ringing in various methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major was indulged in during the afternoon. A short service was held, at which the Vicar, the Rev. H. Grahame Clarke officiated, and gave an excellent address.

A splendid tea was provided at the Star Inn, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the members, and was presided over by the Vicar.

Owing to a prior engagement, the Vicar was obliged to leave immediately afterwards, but before he left Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to him for the use of the bells, and for his address at the service.—This was carried unanimously.

At the business meeting, Mr. W. D. Smith was voted to the chair. On the question of the next place of meeting, Mr. G. L. Matthews proposed, and Mr. A. Gower seconded, that the matter should be left in the hands of the hon. secretary, who was in the best position to know which towers were due for a visit. Following some discussion this was put to the meeting and carried. The members then returned to the tower and kept the bells going merrily until 8 p.m.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT MELBOURNE.

The first quarterly meeting was held at Melbourne, Derbyshire, on Saturday, June 30th, and very poorly attended, doubtless owing to several other counter-attractions that day. The peal of eight bells at this fine old Norman church—which alone is worthy of a visit—were rung (more or less successfully) to different methods.

The committee at their meeting made a small grant to the restoration of the ancient peal of five at Kirby Bellars. They also requested the general hon. secretary to send a letter of condolence to the wife and other relatives of the late Mr. Wm. Thorley, of Loughborough, who was one of the committee, and who had suddenly passed away since the annual meeting at Nottingham. This was carried in silence.

Later, a substantial meat tea was served, and the general meeting followed. In the absence of the president owing to indisposition, the vice-president (Mr. Joseph Griffin) took the chair, and was supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Wallace) and hon. secretary (Mr. E. Marris). Members were present from Burton, Derby, Duffield, Leicester, Loughborough, Nottingham, etc. New members elected since the annual meeting, viz., 3 life, 20 ordinary, were duly confirmed.

An excellent account of the Central Council meeting held at Hereford at Whitsuntide was given by the new 'delegate' or 'representative,' Mr. John H. Swinfield, who graphically explained various aspects of that meeting.

Mr. J. Griffin proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local committee for arrangements, and although one would have liked to have seen more present, yet all was carried out well. Mr. W. Wallace seconded, and this concluded the meeting.

PEAL DIPLOMAS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—We live and learn. To read in Mr. Neale's letter that I had an objection to peal diplomas was a surprise to my friends and myself. If a perfectly innocent remark can be so misconstrued, it will be wiser in future not to say anything.—Yours, etc.,

A. H. PULLING.

TRURO RINGERS VISIT DEVON.

Devon! Glorious Devon! was the venue selected by the members of the Truro Cathedral company for their annual outing on Whit Monday. It was a very quiet but happy party of thirty, including Messrs. F. I. Hairs and R. A. Watts (both formerly of London), the Rev. F. J. Driscoll, and wives and friends of the ringers, that left the west front of the Cathedral at 7.45 a.m. to cross the Tamar into 'England.' The long journey of sixty miles to Tavistock, which was the first stopping place, was full of interest, the party passing within sight of no less than six towers containing rings of eight and three rings of six, through the beautiful Glyn Vale of Bodmin and across the Goss Moors, Roche. They crossed the Tamar at 9.45 a.m., and pulled up at Tavistock at 10.10 a.m. Here they were joined by Mr. C. R. Lilley, of Plymouth. The beautiful Church of St. Eustace the Martyr at Tavistock is said to have existed long before 1184, and the building was inspected with interest. The bells themselves, a new ring by Taylor, are certainly a delightful peal, the tenor being approximately 25 cwt., and on them a touch of Grandsire Triples and one of Bob Major were both brought round. The next ride was twenty miles across Dartmoor to Ashburton. The party were allowed to pass the prison, although they were ringers and were getting, like the day, much brighter. The road traversed was nothing but 'ups' and 'downs' and turns and twists, and reminded one of a diagram of Cambridge Surprise. Ashburton was reached at 12.50 p.m., and prior to ringing there was an inspection of the church, which contains no less than seven piscinas. Will the seven altars once again be restored? The Children's Corner here was an object of interest also. Then to the belfry, where the bells were raised in peal. A touch of Grandsire Triples and a well-struck course of Bob Major were rung before the lowering in peal. Buckfast Abbey was the next stopping place. Here ringing was not possible owing to the number of visitors. Perhaps it was as well, as the ringing has to be done with only a parapet, about three feet high, between the ringers and a 70 or 80ft. drop. However, they inspected the ringing peal of twelve, with two additional bells for chiming. After spending 1½ hours at the Abbey, the party moved to Totnes. They found the bells as pleasing to the ear as the fine rood screen in the church was to the eye. There is certainly plenty of tone and metal in this ring, with tenor 27 cwt. Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 were cast in 1732 by Abraham Rudhall, and 5th and tenor in 1863 by J. Warner and Sons. Unfortunately, the 'go' was not too good, and after one or two unsuccessful attempts Bob Major was abandoned and Grandsire Triples substituted.

Plymouth was reached at 6.10 p.m., and eight of the more energetic of the party had a hurried tea, and made a rush for Charles Church. They just had time to ring one course of Grandsire Triples and lower the bells, also to make the acquaintance of Mr. W. S. Hornbrook. Before leaving Plymouth the rest bade farewell to Mr. C. R. Lilley and Mr. W. H. Southard, the latter to commence his all-night journey to Hereford for the Central Council meeting. The 52 miles' journey to Truro was accomplished in two hours and a half, and it gave the merry company plenty of time to discuss the merits and demerits of the various bells which they had had the pleasure of ringing during the day, and also to appreciate to the fullest extent their own glorious peal at Truro Cathedral. To the Dean and Chapter are given the greatest thanks for providing the necessary funds to enable the ringers to undertake this tour, which took them at one point to within eighteen miles of their neighbouring Cathedral, Exeter.

EAST HERTS MEETING AT BENINGTON.

The Eastern District of the Hertford County Association held their meeting on Saturday, June 18th, at the old-world and historical village of Benington, and all who attended were well repaid for their effort, for the place has a fascination for all who take any part in ringing. The green and the ancient church, with its setting amongst the old trees in its spring beauty, and the quietness of the place have a great charm.

Members of the association attended from Baldock, Hitchin, Hatfield, Graveley, Nazeing, Cheshunt, Widford, Hunsdon, Kington, Letchworth, Royston, Melbourne, Cambs, Great and Little Munden. St. Albans was represented by Mr. G. W. Cartmel, the respected president of the association.

Tea was provided by the Rector, Rev. W. E. Mills, and was greatly appreciated by all, and a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for his generosity.

Ringling in all the standard methods was done on the famous bells, which were kept going continuously from three o'clock till nine, with the exception of the tea interval, and all who were present spent a very enjoyable time.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.THE 'STRAWBERRY' MEETING AT HARLINGTON.

What is the great attraction for the Middlesex County Association at Harlington, where within its tower there are only six bells? Is it the magnificent yew tree, over 1,000 years old, situated in the churchyard, opposite the beautiful Norman south doorway (cir. 1130), or the chancel of the fourteenth century, with the tower, arch and west window of the fifteenth century in the Perpendicular style? Or is it the beautiful twentieth-century Rectory gardens, placed at the disposal of the company for recreation and pleasure by the Rector, the Rev. Herbert Wilson? Or is it the strawberries that attract so many notable ringers and their friends? The writer would be pleased to know. Whatever the reason, there was a great gathering on Saturday last. The ringing opened about 3.30 with Grandsire Doubles, the hon. secretary being present with the Ringing Master and hon. treasurer, and other members of the Exercise, viz., Messrs. Blondell, Roberts, Herbert, G. and W. Gutteridge, Kippin, Cooper, Hunnisett, Turner and Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Godfrey, etc.

The service was conducted by the Rector from the 'Manual for Ringers,' the hymns being Nos. 2 and 4. Mr. Dart presided at the organ.

After service a walk through the Rectory gardens brought the company to the refreshment hall, where everything was ready, and tea was served by Mr. and Mrs. Portsmouth, the host and hostess. The company was presided over by Mr. J. A. Trollope, supported by the Ringing Master and hon. secretary, and the lucky 50 who were in time for the strawberries. The Rector having to leave for the church, found on his return, with three more of the party who had taken the wrong turning, and one of whom was the hon. secretary's wife, that all the berries were gone. The secretary had guaranteed 20, asking the caterer to prepare for 30; result, nearly 60 present.

At the business meeting, as an act of last respect to Mr. C. T. Edwards, of Heston, who passed away on June 26th, the company rose and stood in silence with bowed heads for two minutes, after which a vote of condolence was accorded to the widow and family in their sad bereavement.

A vote of sympathy was also accorded to Mr. P. Norton, who had met with an accident, and wishes were expressed for his speedy recovery.

Votes of thanks to the Rector, organist, host and hostess and lady assistants and the ever-smiling steeplekeeper (Mr. Portsmouth) concluded the business.

Another visit was then paid to the gardens, where handbells, chairs and cushions were waiting to make everyone happy and comfortable, and games on the miniature golf course were indulged in. The Harlington band, with the Rector as their captain, issued a challenge to the visitors, which was at once accepted. The team of locals were the Rector, Messrs. Portsmouth, Sutton, Clark, Levett and Harr; visitors, Messrs. Herbert, W. Gutteridge, Waddington, Ellingham and Mr. and Mrs. A. Barker. Thanks to the skill of the last pair, the visitors won. Several now left to try Harmondsworth bells, for the use of which thanks were accorded to the Vicar.

With the village clock striking nine, no less than 15 were still enjoying sport in the gardens. The officials scorers were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gilbert. The Rector again appeared to bid his guests a hearty good-night, and everyone agreed that it was one of the best meetings ever held in the South and West District of the association.

DEFAULTERS!

The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association takes a strong, but, we think, very proper line with those members who fail to pay their subscriptions. Those who become defaulters are automatically struck off the roll, and for this reason the association has lost seven towers and 58 members since the last report. Many of the associations have the power of excluding ringers who drop into arrear with their contributions, but not all of them enforce the rule. The result is that membership returns are not always a true criterion of the real strength of an organisation. Defaulters are usually the men without interest in their association, and they are always a source of expense, the mere cost of printing their names in a report and providing them with a free copy involving an outlay which can ill be spared. On the other hand, there are some who endeavour to let their subscriptions slide, but do not fail to take advantage of any facilities which their association may offer in the way of cheap travelling, cheap teas and other things. Such ringers—happily only a small class, yet nevertheless existent—are infinitely worse than the indifferent ones, who merely let their payments lapse because of the absence of any interest on their part in their county or diocesan organisation.

Among the reasons, we imagine, why in some societies defaulters are tolerated are the difficulty which is experienced in getting ringers into the fold and the hope that some day the arrears may be recovered. Twelve months, however, ought to be sufficient time for a man to find his modest subscription of two shillings, or even less in many cases, and the ringer who will not do this—unless it is through genuine pecuniary distress—is hardly worth having. He has no notion of the additional work which he and his class put upon the officials and the trouble which his slackness often involves.

Almost as bad is the man who delays paying his contribution until nearly the end of the year. He hampers the work of the association, unless it happens to be one of the few wealthy ones which have substantial funds in hand, and in other ways makes the task of the officials more difficult. There is no way in a ringing organisation of enforcing payment, but members ought to treat it as a matter of honour to meet the obligation as soon as it becomes due. While we feel that something got for nothing is never fully appreciated, it would be an interesting experiment if one of the associations could endeavour to get the Church authorities to pay, not the whole, but a portion of the contributions of the ringers of their respective towers. There is no association where this is done at present, although there are individual cases where the association subscription is paid for the ringers. But if, in recognition of the ringers' services, the Church Councils made themselves responsible for part of the contribution, it would perhaps result in a more prompt payment of the dues and fewer lapses of membership.

BATH RINGERS VISIT CIRENCESTER.

The members of the Bath Branch of the Bath and Wells Association had their annual outing on Saturday, June 9th, the places visited being Fairford and Cirencester. The party, numbering 33, travelled by charabanc, and went by way of Malmesbury and Cricklade to Fairford, where an hour's ringing was enjoyed and the lovely stained-glass windows much admired. The time allowed for the stay proved quite inadequate for the members thoroughly to inspect this beautiful church. After tea at the Bull Hotel, the journey was resumed. At Watermoor Church the visitors were heartily welcomed by the Vicar and towermaster, and another pleasant hour's ringing passed all too quickly. Cirencester Parish Church came next on the programme, and here the 75 minutes allowed were fully occupied, ringing on the twelve bells in that tower proving an interesting experience to many of the ringers. The methods rung during the day ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise. The return journey was made by way of Tetbury and Acton Turville, Bath being reached just before eleven o'clock, and everyone voting the day a great success. Much to the regret of the party, the chairman of the branch, Prebendary F. A. Bromley, was unable to accompany them.

LAVENHAM.—On Wednesday, July 4th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes, C. Charge's): S. H. Symonds (conductor) 1, A. Symonds 2, T. A. King (Shipley, Yorks) 3, W. R. J. Poulson 4, F. Boreham 5, L. Poulson 6, W. Fairers 7, F. A. Turner 8.

THE CHURCH ON THE 'MIRY HILL'

SOLIHULL'S BELLS IN HISTORY.

A brightly-written souvenir of a church fete at Solihull, Warwickshire, has brought a useful addition to the funds. One of the joint editors is Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, well-known in Birmingham and Nottingham ringing circles, and he and his coadjutor, Mr. E. J. P. Orrell, are to be congratulated upon not only an interesting but an entertaining booklet, with many articles of an original type and a profusion of illustrations, many of which are really historical.

In serious vein, the souvenir tells the 700 years' story of Solihull Parish Church, Solihull being just old English for Miry Hill. The history of the bells, too, finds a place, and perhaps we may be permitted to quote from this. In the sixteenth century there were three bells in the tower, but by 1659 the peal had been increased to six. In 1685 these bells were recast by Henry Bagley, a new bell was provided in place of No. 5, and two trebles were added, making a ring of eight with a tenor nearly a ton in weight. The new peal was a great attraction, and, as will be seen from the following quaint certificate (to be found among the parish records), drew ringers from considerable distances:—

* 27th day August, 1686.

'These are to certify whom it may concern; that I Samuel Scattergood, Minister of Blockley in the County of Worcester, having severall times viewed and tryed ye sound of ye 8 New Bells lately cast by Mr. Henry Bagley Bellfounder for ye Parish Church of Solihull in ye county of Warw. and now hung in ye sd Church; especially at ye ringing thereof ye day and yeare above sd by myself and about 20 other skillful psons accompanying me from Leicester to that purpose doe with ye genll approbation & consent of ye said Persons, judge all ye sd 8 Bells to be well and workmanlike made, every way right for tone and metall ye chearfullest & best Ring of Bells for their weight that I ever heard. And also that ye clappers and other iron work & tackle with which ye aforesd 8 Bells are hung, are now made quite good, so as to need no further alteracon, that I know of. In witness whereof I have hereunto sett my hand this aforesd 27th day of August and dai 1686.

* SAM SCATTERGOOD.

In 1786, just a hundred years later, a peal of Bob Major, 5,184 changes, was rung in 3 hours 10 minutes, by the St. Martin's Youths, and this is the earliest recorded peal at the tower. The composer and conductor of this peal was the notable Samuel Lawrence.

Lawrence, a gentleman of means, was a native of Shifnal, who did most of his ringing in and around Birmingham. He was a tremendously big man, weighing about 24 stones, and he travelled about in a one-horse chaise, built especially low so that he could get in or out quite easily. An example of his ringing enthusiasm comes from Dudley. When the bells of that church were opened at the very beginning of the nineteenth century, Lawrence took his hand over to try the new ring. To his dismay he found that the belfry steps were so narrow and twisted so awkwardly that he could not get up to the ringing chamber. In no way discouraged, he cast his eye around, and, espying the hoisting tackle still left in position by the bell hanger, he caused himself to be hoisted up outside the tower and pushed in through the belfry window.

It was perhaps as well for Samuel Lawrence that in 1786 the floor of the ringing chamber at Solihull was lower than it is to-day, so that he had to climb only thirty steps instead of fifty-four; but this fact makes the peal a more creditable achievement, for the bells were on their old frame and the flight of rope inordinately long. Lawrence climbing Solihull belfry steps would have provided a worthy spectacle, one equalled only by the sight of the great man entertaining the successful band at supper in the George Hotel after the peal. The low chaise was the cause of Samuel Lawrence's death. One day he slipped in dismounting and fell heavily, fracturing his leg. From this accident he never recovered.

In 1841 the floor of the ringing chamber was raised from the capitals of the columns of the tower to its present position, but nothing of note was done to the bells until 1894. About this time Mr. Geoffrey Martineau became interested in raising a change ringing band in Solihull, and solicited help from Birmingham, thus re-establishing the old connection between St. Martin's Church and his own tower. The bells and their fittings were in a poor condition, and the old frame so crazy that the south-eastern corner, where the 9th bell now hangs, was literally in the air. Mr. Martineau was instrumental in getting the bells retuned and rehung; and two trebles were added by public subscription. The splendid ring of 10 was a great attraction. The local band made strides in the art of change ringing, and the tower entertained in turn the rival Birmingham societies, each striving for the first peal. The Birmingham District Amalgamated Society were successful on December 3rd, 1894, when they rang a peal of Grandsire Caters, 5,093 changes, in 3 hours 19 minutes. The conductor of this peal was Mr. John Carter. He was one of the world's greatest ringers, and his change ringing machine, which reposes in the South Kensington Museum, is a monument to twenty years of patient experiment, and is a great puzzle even to students of mechanism.

The tenor is one of the 1659 Bagley bells.

THE GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL 'INCIDENT.'

SURREY RINGERS REFUSED ADMISSION TO TOWER.

The ringers of Cranleigh, Surrey, had a trip across England by road for their annual outing, and on the way home had the unpleasant experience of being refused admission to the tower of Gloucester Cathedral under the unusual circumstances referred to in the last issue of 'The Ringing World.' A party numbering 20, and comprising the ringers, their wives, sweethearts and friends, left the Surrey village at 6 a.m. on June 30th, and arrived at 8.50 a.m. at St. Giles', Oxford, where Rev. C. Inge, a former curate of Cranleigh, is the Rector. He had given leave to the party to have a short ring on his bells at 9 o'clock, and a very welcome cup of tea awaited them at St. Giles' Parish Room. After a couple of short touches, with the kind assistance of one of the local baud, the party wore off towards Worcester, via Witney and Cheltenham. Lunch had been arranged at the Cafe of the Worcester Co-operative Society at 1.30, and the excursionists wore there punctually. A stay of two hours in the city had been allowed, and after lunch all had a good look round the Cathedral and went down to the banks of the Severn, etc. The journey was then resumed to Hereford, via Malvern, and the Wyche Pass, which is 900 feet above sea level, and from where a most glorious view was obtained over eleven different counties, and including the three cathedrals of Worcester, Gloucester and Hereford. The party all left their seats at this beautiful spot and climbed still higher, getting a good blow and a view of the Welsh mountains. Arrangements had been made to stay the night at Hereford, and Thomas' Temperance Hotel gave splendid accommodation for the whole party. Strictly to schedule time, 5.45, the travellers were there asking for their tea. Afterwards ringing took place at St. Nicolas' and at All Saints' Churches, and the party wish to thank Rev. H. S. T. Richardson for granting permission for ringing at his tower, and for the courteous assistance he gave them, both there and at All Saints'. Unfortunately he was the only ringer they had the pleasure of meeting in Hereford. A look round the historic old city, a good drink of Hereford cider, was followed by a walk by the banks of the Wye, then to Thomas', and so to bed.

Breakfast at 6.45 was the order for Sunday morning, and the party were passing out of Hereford, over the Wye Bridge, bound for Gloucester via Ross, at 7.30, on a glorious morning and through beautiful country. Mr. Austin, of Gloucester, had told them they were very lucky in having selected July 1st for their visit to Gloucester, as, being the first Sunday in the month, there was ringing at the Cathedral, and he would arrange for them to have a ring there if they could arrive by 9 o'clock. At 8.50 the visitors were all in front of Gloucester Cathedral, but as far as ringing at the Cathedral was concerned they were doomed to disappointment. The Dean of Gloucester had forbidden the foreman of the Cathedral ringers to take the visitors into the tower at all. In fact, he went so far as to say that if there was likely to be any scene or unpleasantness about it the Cathedral ringers were not themselves to do any ringing or go into the tower that morning at all. Members of the Cathedral band, as well as Mr. Austin, expressed their regret at such a state of affairs, and told the travellers that they had arranged ringing for them at St. Mary-de-Lode Church close by. Although keenly regretting that such a thing could possibly happen in these days of Diocesan Guilds, and the appreciative statements frequently made by Bishops, Deans, etc., as to the good work ringers throughout the country are doing for the church, the visitors saw to it that there was no 'scene or unpleasantness,' and took themselves off to St. Mary-de-Lode and rang some Minor and Doubles. They would like to thank Mr. Austin for his trouble and interest on their behalf. Had Gloucester possessed a heavy ring of 12 bells the attitude of the Dean to strangers would be quite understandable, as it certainly would be unwise to allow any 'Jack, Tom or Harry' band to try and ring them. But Gloucester Cathedral has only a ring of eight, with a tenor of about 26 cwt., which any eight-bell company could quite well manage. After the ringing, the Surrey men proceeded to Cirencester, where lunch had been arranged, and they much enjoyed the beautiful ride through the Cotswolds. Lunch over, they started for Basingstoke via Swindon and Marlborough, a 60-mile ride. At Basingstoke they were met by Mr. Horne, who had very kindly arranged ringing for them at All Saints' Church. After tea the last 30 miles was embarked upon, and Cranleigh was reached again at 9 o'clock, after a tour of 314 miles, through seven counties, and including four cathedral cities. The party wish to thank every person who assisted them in any way whatever.

In lighter mood we find in the booklet 'Nursery Rhymes for Bell Ringers.' For instance:—

Sing a song of Ringers, ringing by the hour,
Ten lusty rope-pullers locked within the tower;
When the door is opened, the police are there at least,
This will be a lively row to set before the priest.

There is quite a collection of these rhymes brought up to date. Other verses, set to the tune of 'Widdicombe Fair' tell the tale of the Solihull choir and ringers' dinner, the which ringers, we are told, 'do Stedman Caters like peeling pertaters.'

There is quite a lot for sixpence in this souvenir, and it will interest ringers in parishes other than St. Alphege, Solihull.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. SOMERSET'S HERITAGE.

Yeovil was the centre of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association's annual festival on Saturday week. In the morning there was ringing at East Coker, and the fine peal of ten, with 42 cwt. tenor, at Yeovil Parish Church, were rung during the afternoon and evening. The visitors were welcomed by the Vicar of Yeovil (the Rev. J. E. S. Harrison), Mr. John Goodchild (an honorary member of the association and steward of the local Guild), and Mr. J. E. Baker (secretary and conductor of the local Guild). Amongst the towers in the diocese represented were Taunton, Martock, Bath, Burnham, Ilminster, and Chilcompton, and from outside the county Buckhorn Weston (Dorset), Mere and Wootton Bassett (Wilts), Exeter, and Bristol. The Master of the Association (the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, Vicar of West Pennard) and the hon. secretary (Mr. J. T. Dyke, Chilcompton) were amongst those present.

The ringers attended a special service in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar of Yeovil was the preacher. He emphasised the point that whilst the ringers had the privilege of sending forth the message calling people to God's house, so the privilege threw additional responsibilities upon them. One of the most amazing things as one goes about the county of Somerset is, he said, to find in every village not only a beautiful church but a beautiful peal of bells. He contrasted this with the position in some other parts of England, and said it was a treasure and a heritage for which Somerset people should be profoundly thankful.

Afterwards tea was enjoyed in St. John's schoolroom, served by Mrs. Goodchild, Mrs. Standing, Mrs. C. E. Newis, and Miss Jackson. The annual meeting followed, under the chairmanship of the Master of the association.

The Master, in the course of his annual report, stated that he regretted to have to record a loss of seven towers and 58 members. These losses were due chiefly to the non-observance of Rule 7 (failure to pay subscriptions). The losses noted the previous year were due to the same cause. He appealed to all members, tower and deanery secretaries, to help the association in this matter. There were now 147 towers affiliated to the Association; last year there were 154. Honorary life members numbered 8, hon. members 68, performing members 1,219, unattached 27, non-resident ringing 2, ditto life 213, total 1,537. Fifty-eight peals had been credited to the association during the year, 10 being rung by visitors. When the 10 peals rung by visitors were subtracted they found that 19 out of 48 were Grandsire Doubles. There were several excellent and interesting methods of Doubles to be found in the Central Council Collection. More variety in methods was needed; nothing kept a band together so well. The outstanding features of the peals were the 7,200 Surprise Minor rung at Wilton, and the Stedman Doubles rung at Bishop's Hull. A peal of 10 Surprise methods was an undoubted achievement, and one of which the association might well be proud. With regard to the Bishop's Hull peal, whilst many ringers knew that there were 15 six-scores of Stedman Doubles, it was Mr. J. Hunt who pointed out that they could be rung in 180 ways. At Bishop's Hull 42 six-scores were each rung differently—no mean performance.

The Hon. Treasurer presented the balance sheet, which showed that the association had increased its balance during the year by £13 5s. 1d.

Mr. J. Hunt (Taunton) presented a report on the Central Council meeting at Hereford, and mentioned that the Council had passed a resolution asking that ringers in places where it had been the custom to ring the curfew should do their best to maintain it (hear, hear). A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Hunt for his report.

On the motion of Mr. Hunt, seconded by Mr. Coles, the Rev. E. S. C. Lock was unanimously re-elected Master of the association, Mr. Dyke was reappointed hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Taylor hon. auditor. Mr. A. G. Butts (Exeter) was elected a life member, and Mr. Francis Padwick (Yeovil) a full member.

On the recommendation of the committee it was resolved to hold quarterly meetings at Timberscombe, Yatton and Martock; and that the insurance scheme now in force be dropped after the current year.

Mr. F. Farrant (Martock) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Yeovil for his address, Mrs. Goodchild, who had provided such an excellent tea for them, and Mr. J. E. Baker for superintending the arrangements in connection with their visit.

Thanks were also passed to the Rev. G. A. Nicholson (West Coker) and Rev. M. Bailey (East Coker) for placing the towers of those churches at the disposal of the ringers.

MR. GEORGE BAILEY'S 100 PEALS.

Bob Minor (conducted 1) 4, three Minor methods 6, four Minor methods 1, five Minor methods 6, six Minor methods (conducted 1) 1, seven Minor methods (conducted 1) 6, seven Treble Bob methods 10, seven Surprise methods 3, Stedman Triples 2, Bob Major 1, Oxford Treble Bob Major 4, Kent Treble Bob Major 4, Double Norwich 1, Norfolk Surprise 1, New Cambridge Surprise 1, Cambridge Surprise 8, Superlative Surprise 5, Yorkshire Surprise 1, Lancashire Surprise 1, Bristol Surprise 10, Guildford Surprise 4, London Surprise 14, Rochester Surprise 3, Edinburgh Surprise 1, Grandsire Caters 1, Kent Treble Bob Royal 1; total, 100 (conducted 3).

BELL TONES.

'AFTERTHOUGHTS' IN A 'FOREWORD.'

The articles on English bells and their tuning, which we published some time ago, have been reprinted in booklet form by the author, Mr. E. Alex. Young, A.R.I.B.A., F.S.I., hon. secretary of the Central Council, for private circulation.

In a 'foreword,' which also embraces some 'afterthoughts,' Mr. Young remarks that his historical sketch dealing with the development of bell tones was largely built up of the many notes prepared for his motion on Simpson tuning, discussed at the Ipswich meeting of the Council. It had become apparent to him, he says, that this particular section of our art had to some extent remained in obscurity, and that it would be of advantage if further light could be thrown upon it.

Mr. Young admits that his original article was controversial, and it is probably all to the good that it was so, for it has brought to light views that might not otherwise have received the wider attention which they will now be given from their inclusion in the author's foreword. Mr. Young quotes one of his bell founder critics, traversing the statement that enough is known of the medieval bells of England to make it clear that they were on the same lines as those governing most continental bells, i.e., having the octave hum note, and with it the minor third as chief harmonic. Mr. Young's critic says emphatically that 'the medieval founders knew nothing about the hum-note octave, nor, indeed, has any English founder known before Simpson's time.' He reinforces his statement by many facts gathered from the actual bells which have passed into his foundry over a long number of years. These, as Mr. Young points out, are among the missing links of history, and if all the founders could have, over the past (say) 300 years, given us close records of the bell tones ere they were lost for ever, we should be on firm ground to-day as to the precise gifts of these medieval founders. The investigations, made with tuning forks, showed that the bells all varied on either side of the exact hum-note octave, and that not one was actually correct.

Mr. Young deals with other replies, both public and private, to his original sketch, and concludes by remarking that music is mostly an art, and in art one is allowed to differ. One need not then be surprised to find those having musical taste and of standing in the musical world disagreeing as to the musical value of 'Simpson tuning.' 'If we turn,' he says, 'from the experts to the more numerous class of people who, not being trained musicians, have what is called a musical ear, here again there is a great divergence of view, where, indeed, views are held at all. It appears, however, that with the majority "Simpsonism" is in favour. The historian tells us that throughout the ages false standards of taste have been put up only to pass away, so either side can hope for what they deem the best.'

Mr. Young's endeavour to get down to the truth of the subject is manifest in his 'foreword,' and it forms a thoughtful contribution to the articles which first appeared in these columns.

BELL WELDING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In view of the fact that ancient church bells have a distinct and well-recognised sentimental value, and that their recasting when damaged in distasteful to all who regard sympathetically all those things which belong to a bygone age, the statement recently made in a well-known periodical to the effect that the repair of cracked church bells of historic interest is a matter of considerable difficulty, cannot be allowed to go unchallenged, because it tends to induce the wholly false impression that nothing remains to be done other than the 'scrapping' of the unit.

As one having considerable experience of the reconstruction of bells of both large and small dimensions, may I say that, owing to the employment of modern scientific methods, their restoration—irrespective of age, size, composition, or condition—is a comparatively simple matter. Indeed, the firm with which I am associated has already completely restored several valuable and historic bells dating from the 13th century, and is at the moment engaged on the reparation of a peculiarly interesting bell, the seventh of a peal of twelve, founded in the year 1607, and, as the whole question is one of very considerable interest, I should welcome its inspection by anyone possessing special knowledge of bells or bell foundry.

Our experience is, that, properly handled, any carillon unit can be readily restored to full and true tone, even when extensively cracked or damaged, or constructed of metals not now in common use.—Yours faithfully,

C. W. BRETT,

EGREMONT BELLS OVERHAULED.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. have recently completed the overhaul of the bells at Egremont, Cumberland, and the first touch on them since the completion of the bells was rung for morning service on Sunday, when 504 Stedman Triples was brought round by W. Norman 1, W. F. Douglas 2, J. Hutchinson 3, A. Eilbeck 4, W. H. Cook 5, J. H. Rothery 6, G. W. Temby (conductor) 7, J. Spadding 8. Everyone was pleased with the 'go' of the bells.

LEYTONSTONE MEN'S BUSY TOUR.

In July, 1899, Mr. T. Hervey Beams, now of Bradpole, Dorset (who was the first hon. secretary to the Leytonstone Society) proposed that they should have a two days' outing, and this has been carried out every year since, with the exception of the war period. This year the society received a pressing invitation from their former secretary to pay a visit to Salisbury and district. On Friday, June 15th, he met them at that city at 11 p.m., and, after friendly greetings, conducted them to the Coach and Horses Hotel, the headquarters during the brief stay. Supper and bed were the first items. After a 7 a.m. breakfast next day, the visitors were soon speeding in a splendid charabanc through lovely country towards Barford, where, on the handy ring of six, the first 720 of the tour was scored in four methods spliced, viz., Beverley, Surfleet, Hexham and Berwick. A short touch of York followed to give all the members a pull, and then they were off to Dinton. Here is a very interesting peal of six, with tenor about 17 cwt., and dating from somewhere between 1380 and 1400. The 2nd and 3rd were cast in 1860, and 4th and 5th in 1866. The bells go well, but have rather a long draught, the ropes coming down in the middle of the church. Luck failed the visitors here, for neither Norwich nor York would go to more than a touch. Tisbury, the next place of call, was found to possess a well-going peal of six, tenor about 16 cwt., and a 720 London was well rung, non-conducted, also 720 Norwich Surprise. The next move was to Semley, but the stay was short, for here they found a heavy ring of six, with tenor nearly a ton, and taking three men to pull it up. It was not surprising, therefore, that the limit of ringing was a plain course of Grandsire Doubles. The next stop was of more interest, for at Ye Old Two Brewers, Shaftesbury, a splendid lunch was awaiting the party. This over, the official photographer was busy with his camera, and took groups in the splendid surroundings of the gardens of the hostelry. A half-hour's ringing had been arranged at two of the peals of six in the town, and, 720's being out of the question, 240 each of Southwell and Cambridge were rung on the fine-toned ring (tenor 17 cwt.) at St. Peter's, and at Holy Trinity London and York were rung. The next visit was to Donhead, and was not at all pleasant. Here was a fairly good peal of six, but the bellhanger deserves no credit. The 4th and 5th ropes hang less than three inches from the wall, and the others hang anywhere but in a circle. York and Grandsire Doubles were struggled through, but a plain course of each was sufficient. At Berwick, the party were welcomed by the Rector (Canon W. Goodchild). On the handy ring of six (tenor 10½ cwt.), a 720 Spliced in four Surprise methods was attempted, but failed through the breaking of a rope. Another short touch followed, and then a surprise awaited the ringers, for the reverend gentleman had a splendid tea ready for them on the Rectory lawn. After a vote of thanks to their generous host, a group photograph was taken with the Canon Goodchild in the middle. A hasty good-bye, and then on to Broadchalk. Here the visitors were welcomed by the Rev. Barry, who was formerly at Leytonstone. Short touches of Wells and Durham were rung on the well-going ring of six. At Coombe Bissett some of the local men met the tourists, and short touches were brought round on another musical ring of six. Arriving back at Salisbury about eight o'clock, they visited St. Martin's, where Mr. Romans was busy getting the bells up for them. Touches of Double Norwich, Cambridge and Stedman brought the day's ringing to a close.

After supper, the health of Mr. W. Nevard was drunk. To the regret of all he had been unable, at the last moment, to accompany the party.

On Sunday morning, touches of Cambridge and York were rung for the eight o'clock service at St. Paul's Church. Breakfast over, a drive of about ten miles through beautiful scenery along the valley of the Avon brought the party to Amesbury. The church is a fine cruciform structure, and the bells a grand ring of six, with tenor about 18½ cwt. A 720 Cambridge Surprise was rung by the novices, but York failed when half-way, through the heavy going of the back bells. Next a visit to Stonehenge was much appreciated, then on to South Newton, where the handy ring of six were set going to Wells and York, a good 720 in each method being rung. The Vicar gave the ringers a hearty welcome, and expressed regret that he could not get the young men of his parish to take up change ringing. After lunch a visit was paid to St. Edmund's, Salisbury. Here is a good ring of eight, but sadly in need of a bell hanger, change ringing being next to impossible on them. A cup of tea, and then to the last place of call, St. Thomas', Salisbury. Here is another heavy ring of eight (tenor 28 cwt.), which go very well. Touches of Double Norwich, Stedman and Cambridge were rung, and the party were satisfied at having had a fairly busy time.

To all the clergy and the many local ringers, the visitors tender their very best thanks, and especially to Mr. T. Hervey Beams for the splendid arrangements made.

MR. P. CROOK'S 100 PEALS.

Minor, three methods, 2; Grandsire Triples, 44 (conducted 27); Grandsire Caters, 1; Stedman Triples, 31 (conducted 11); Stedman Caters, 1; Erin Triples 1 (conducted 1); St. Clement's Triples, 1; Bob Major, 7 (conducted 2); Kent Treble Bob Major, 8 (conducted 2); Oxford Treble Bob Major, 1; Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 3; total, 100 (conducted 43). Rung in four counties, 25 towers, with 195 ringers.

BELL ROPES. MUFFLES &c.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have been entrusted with an important Irish order. They are to recast the peal of eight bells at Loughduerry Cathedral and rehang them in a new frame for fourteen bells. The eight will be hung for ringing.

Much sympathy has been extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lambert, of Beveden, Kent, whose only daughter has recently been killed by being knocked down by a motor-cycle. Mr. Lambert is an old and respected member of the Kent County Association.

There will be a new departure in broadcasting next Sunday evening. As the bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, are now at the Whitechapel Foundry, it is hoped to broadcast a handbell course of Stedman Cinques from the chancel of St. Martin's Church at 7.55 p.m. as a prelude to the service at 8 p.m.

The peal of 'Mixed Bob Major,' at Newcastle, recorded last week, comprised Bob and Little Bob Major.

The other evening the band who rang Carter's Odd Bob one-part peal of Stedman Triples, non-conducted, on handbells (surely the greatest performance of its kind ever accomplished), met at the Coffee Pot to celebrate the anniversary. They rang three courses on handbells in the same order and manner, and afterwards, with two of London's outstanding 'youngsters,' rang two courses of Stedman Cinques, conducted by H. Langdon.

The report of a peal at Hanley Castle on July 7th has been sent without the name of the conductor.

Ringers in Hertfordshire and district will learn with regret that Mr. G. T. Croft, one of the district secretaries of the Herts Association, and a member of the Hitchin band, has been ordered to go into a sanatorium for several months. Mr. D. C. Mears, Offley, has stepped into the breach and offered to carry on the duties of secretary. Ringers who have met Mr. Croft will recognise his sterling abilities, both as a ringer and conductor, and will join the Hitchin band in wishing him a speedy recovery to normal health.

Mr. F. E. Dawe, shooting in the King's Prize competition at Bisley last week, finished 143rd out of 992 competitors at the first stage, and thus qualified to shoot in the second stage.

To-day is the anniversary of the first peal rung by eight ladies—a peal of Grandsire Triples at Cubitt Town on July 20th, 1912.

Five years ago to-morrow the 17,280 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 10 hours at Over, Cheshire.

On July 25th, 1889, eight Jameses rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. James' Church, Clerkenwell, for the St. James' Society.

Samuel Thurston called a peal of 6,000 Double Oxford Bob at St. Giles', Norwich, on July 26th, 1832.

BARHAM'S LAST PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. P. Hodgkin's inquiry in connection with James Barham, I still have the copy of Barham's peal book in my possession, and the last peal recorded in there is the one mentioned by him. I do not think that Barham rang any more peals; if he had done so someone would surely have found them during the last 40 years, as there have been several who have made a hobby of searching old newspapers and tapping every source from which it was thought to gain even a little information. Except the entry enclosed I cannot give any further information relating to Barham.—Yours truly, Glensford, Suffolk.

THEODORE E. SLATER.

From the 'Maidstone Gazette,' July 8th, 1817: 'Leeds Youths Ringers.—A few days since was rung at Leeds five hundred and fifty changes of Leeds New Treble Bob by the following boys: James Barham treble (age 91), Thomas Bigg 2 (age 63), William Tilby 3 (age 80), James Boulden 4 (age 58), William Masters 5 (age 47), Thomas King 6 (age 72), Thomas Austin 7 (age 81), Benjamin Bottle tenor (age 56). Total amount of ages, 550.'

This seems to be the explanation of the 'peal' rung by Barham at the age of 91 years. Apparently it was only a 'touch' in which he took part at that date. It was evidently a special length to coincide with the aggregate ages of the ringers.—En. 'R.W.'

RIPON AND FOUNTAINS ABBEY.

The ringers of the Milnrow Parish Church (Lancashire) had their annual outing on Saturday, July 7th, when they visited Ripon and Fountains Abbey. Leaving Milnrow by charabanc at 7.30, they travelled via Huddersfield, Birstall, Leeds and Harrogate, arriving at Ripon at noon. On the way a halt was made at Birstall, where the fine peals of bells were rung to touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major. After dinner at Ripon the ringers made their way to the belfry of the Cathedral, and soon had this fine ring of bells going to Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major. Afterwards they wended their way to Fountains Abbey and spent an enjoyable time exploring these ruins and sauntering through the grounds. The party returned to Ripon for tea, and started for home at 7 p.m. via Bradford, Halifax and Rochdale. Milnrow was reached about 11 o'clock, after a most enjoyable day. The ringers wish to thank the authorities at Birstall and Ripon for their kind permission to ring on their respective bells.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

MEMBERS' TRAVELLING EXPENSES.

Favoured with summer-like weather, a large company of ringers assembled at Brecon on Saturday last, to participate in the fifth annual festival of the Swansea and Brecon Guild. Ringers from Tenby, Llanelli (Carmarthen), Gorseinon, Aberavon, Morriston, Neath, Cadoxton-juxta-Neath, Swansea, Llandilo, Glasbury, Llanelli (Breck), Llangatock, Talgarth, and Bedwellty, arrived early in the day, and, with the local ringers of St. David's and St. Mary's, kept the bells going until evening, Canon E. A. T. Roberts and the Rev. John Simon, R.D., having kindly permitted the bells to be rung from 10 a.m. onwards. A service was held in the afternoon in the beautiful Havard Chapel of the Cathedral Church of St. John. The Lord Bishop was present, and the robed clergy included the Rev. Canon E. A. T. Roberts (Sub-Dean), Rev. Canon W. Morgan (Canon in Residence), Rev. John Simon, R.D., Rev. W. D. G. Wilkinson (diocesan missionary), Rev. W. G. Davies (Llanelli, Breck), and Rev. F. W. Lockyer (Glasbury). Other clergy at the service were Rev. David Williams (Talgarth), Rev. F. A. Oswell (Henby), and the Rev. W. D. Lewis (Llanelli, Carmarthen). The service was intoned by the Sub-Dean, the Rev. W. D. Lewis presided at the organ, whilst the sermon was preached by the diocesan missionary, who, in the course of an instructive and appreciative address, laid stress on the fact that though the chief duty of a ringer was that he should call the people to church by the sound of the bells, it was as much a duty to attend the service after ringing was over.—At the close a collection was taken, and the proceeds handed over towards the maintenance of the Men's Chapel in the Cathedral. The service concluded with the Blessing pronounced by the Bishop.

The members afterwards adjourned to the grounds of Ely Tower (the Lord Bishop's residence), where tea was partaken of on the lawns, at the kind invitation of the Bishop, and the annual meeting then followed.

The meeting was presided over by the Bishop, who welcomed the ringers to Brecon, and thanked the diocesan missionary for his address. Letters regretting their inability to be present were read from the Rev. W. J. Thomas (Gorseinon) and Mr. John F. Fidler (Loughborough).

The hon. treasurer (Mr. Charles Powell) presented his accounts for the past year, and these were adopted on the motion of Rev. John Simon, seconded by Mr. James P. Hyett.

THE OFFICERS.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, and on the proposition of Mr. E. Stitch, seconded by Rev. F. A. Oswell, the following were elected en bloc: President, the Lord Bishop of the diocese; vice-presidents, the Archdeacon of Brecon, the Archdeacon of Gower, Rev. Canon E. A. T. Roberts (Sub-Dean), Rev. Canon H. J. Stewart (Skeffy), Rev. R. M. Cole-Hamilton (Llangatock), Rev. John Simon, R.D. (St. David's, Brecon), Rev. W. J. Thomas (Gorseinon), with the addition of Rev. W. D. G. Wilkinson (diocesan missionary), proposed by Mr. Charles Powell, seconded by Rev. F. A. Oswell; Master of the Guild, Mr. A. J. Pitman, Aberavon; hon. treasurer, Mr. Charles Powell, Brecon; hon. secretary, Mr. W. R. Howells, Neath. The committee re-elected consisted of the following representatives: Morriston, Mr. George Lewis; Builth, Mr. R. E. Sparkes; Llangatock, Mr. Charles Powell; Talgarth, Mr. W. D. Griffiths; Skeffy, Mr. Charles Morse; Gorseinon, Mr. W. J. Williams; Aberavon, Mr. E. Stitch; Glasbury, Mr. James P. Hyett; Llanstephan, Mr. George Morris; Cadoxton, Mr. D. J. Lewis; Llanelli, Breck, Mr. S. T. Rackham; St. Mary's, Brecon, Mr. F. E. Thomas; Tenby, Rev. F. A. Oswell; and the Rev. T. R. J. Jones, Cwmduddwr. New committee members elected were: Baglan, Miss Lucy Thomas, in place of Mrs. E. G. Bellringer, who has left the district; St. David's, Brecon, Mr. Wm. Williams for Mr. George Hardwick (resigned); Neath, Mr. Harry Boyce for Mr. F. Hatton (deceased); St. Mary's, Swansea, Mr. F. Curtis; Llandilo, Mr. Marcus Davies; Llanelli (Carmarthen), Mr. Chris Hawkins.

The annual festival in 1929 is to be held in the Southern District, and the Rev. F. A. Oswell extended to the Guild a hearty invitation to Tenby.—On being put to the meeting, this was unanimously accepted.

Mr. W. D. Griffiths informed the meeting that he had consulted his Vicar (Rev. David Williams), and he invited the Guild to Talgarth for the annual competition to be held in May next.—The invitation was accepted with thanks.

The Master of the Guild presented his report on the Central Council meeting, and was heartily thanked for it.

The Hon. Secretary reported that during the past year the Guild was able to present the new membership cards, and the numbers issued were: Northern District 72, Southern District 86; total 158. All towers not in possession of tower cards should apply to the hon. secretary immediately.

The Peal Recording Book had not yet been obtained, but district secretaries were asked to forward a complete list of peals rung in their districts since the formation of the Guild in order to bring the Peal Book up to date.—This request led Mr. James P. Hyett to offer a copy of a complete list of peals in his possession, and he suggested that all future peals should be taken from 'The Ringing World'.—It was decided that this should be carried out. To date, 30 peals have been rung for the Guild.

The Ringing Competition for 1928 was held at Cadoxton in May last, and resulted as follows (maximum points 240): Neath 226, Cadoxton (handicap 9 points) 223, Gorseinon 221, St. Mary's, Brecon 'A,' 219, Aberavon 217, Llanelli (Carmarthen) 212, St. Mary's, Brecon 'B,' 210, St. David's, Brecon, 209.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

The Hon. Secretary suggested that the Guild was now established enough to permit the issue of an annual report, the first of which would cover the period from the formation of the Guild to date. The meeting unanimously adopted the suggestion, on the proposition of Mr. A. J. Pitman, seconded by Mr. S. T. Rackham.—Mr. Charles Powell's proposal, seconded by Mr. E. Stitch, that a charge of 6d. be made for the report (or cheaper if the expense permitted it), was adopted.

Mr. Stitch (on behalf of a member who was unable to be present) raised the question of (1) the Guild endeavouring to meet members' travelling expenses to meetings, and (2) that no entry fee per ringer be made at the ringing competition.—The Hon. Treasurer replied to the second question, and it was decided that this could not be entertained, but with regard to the first question, the Chairman humorously remarked that owing to the unavoidable absence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. Winston Churchill) the meeting could not deal with the matter.—It was eventually decided that the matter lie on the table.

A long discussion took place on the former resolution passed on the subject of the balance of district funds, and several suggestions were put forward. On the proposition of Rev. John Simon, seconded by Mr. A. J. Pitman, it was left to the officers of the Guild to consider the matter further, and to bring up their report at the next meeting.

The Lord Bishop was heartily thanked for his generosity in inviting the company to tea and presiding over the meeting, on the proposition of the Rev. W. G. Davies, seconded by the hon. secretary.

The members were afterwards photographed on the lawns.

At a committee meeting held after the general meeting (presided over by the Master of the Guild) it was decided that the rules of the ringing competition be the same as in previous competitions, with the addition of a rule that should any band desire to ring Steadman Doubles or Minor, such band would have the benefit of winning 5 points for so doing. The former competitions having been confined to Doubles (any method), it was felt that by giving a band five points it would act as an incentive to ring methods other than Doubles. All arrangements were left in the hands of the hon. secretary as on previous occasions.

A party of ringers journeyed to Llanfagan Parish Church after the meeting, at the kind invitation of the Rev. T. Aneurin Davies, Rector, where touches of several methods were well rung on the beautiful peal of eight bells.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

CHERTSEY DISTRICT MEETING.

The Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a meeting at Ottershaw on Saturday, and about twenty ringers attended, although, sad to relate, those from the towers in the district were few, owing to other events. One band, for instance, had their annual outing on that day. However, those who did attend had a very pleasant time, with the additional diversion of the Village Flower Show, which was held on the same afternoon in the Vicarage grounds. The Vicar (the Rev. W. N. Willis) had a busy day. Not only did he supervise the flower show arrangements, and the catering department, but he conducted the ringers' service and gave an address, and also presided over the business meeting, which was held in one of the commodious rooms in the Vicarage.

The District Secretary (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) reported that there was a lack of interest in the weekly combined practices, the ringers appearing not to care to go away from their own towers. This was in striking contrast to the success which was attending them in the other districts, and the matter is to be further considered.

Mr. R. Whittington gave a report on the Central Council meeting, which he attended on behalf of the Guild, and some discussion took place on the question of the right of an association to direct representatives as to how they should vote. Mr. Whittington was thanked for his report.

The General Hon. Secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) said a suggestion had been made that the Guild should adopt a badge to be issued to members at a small cost, and asked for the opinion of the meeting. This was given by a vote in favour of a badge.

The business concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar.

The ringing during the day included Grandsire and Steadman Doubles, Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob, some of the ringers getting their first touches in these methods.

WEDDING BELLS.

Before evensong, at St. Mary's Church, Lower Slaughter, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Grandsire Doubles: Mrs. F. A. Clements 1, A. Warren 2, F. A. Clements (conductor) 3, F. Winfield 4, G. Ayres 5, G. Simmons 6. Rung as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hobbs, whose wedding took place on Wednesday week. Mr. Hobbs was a regular ringer in this tower until a few months ago, when he left to take another position at Long Crendon, near Thame, Oxon.

BIRMINGHAM, SHEFFIELD AND DERBY RINGERS.UNITED MEETING AT DUFFIELD.

Perfect weather favoured the large number of ringers who visited Duffield for the second annual fraternal gathering of Birmingham, Sheffield and Derby enthusiasts. This particular gathering, which has been organised by Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, looks very much like becoming a regular affair, if the success of last Saturday's meeting is anything to go by.

The Birmingham contingent called at Derby en route, where they rang an excellent course of Cambridge Royal and touches of Stedman Caters on the recently restored peal of ten bells at the Cathedral. The improved tone of these bells is a revelation of what can be done by modern methods of tuning, and general approval was expressed on the tone and 'go' of this peal.

The 'Brums' had hoped also to ring on the heavy eight at St. Luke's, but were unlucky owing to the fact that a happy couple had decided to be married on that day, and time did not permit the party waiting until the ceremony was concluded. It was far more important that the bride should get her ring, so that Brums, being sportsmanlike, decided to do without theirs.

The visitors then proceeded to Duffield, where the Sheffield and Derby men were waiting. Ringing in various methods by the enthusiasts was enjoyed by those who were sensible enough to sit by the river and 'hearken.' (It should be remembered that the temperature was empty something in the shade, and the writer knows now what was in Canon Solloway's mind when he said at York last year that all ringers are mad!) Ten was served at the Bridge Inn, and afterwards Alderman J. S. Pritchett briefly addressed those present. He said that Duffield had become to be regarded as a ringers' Mecca, and this was because of the late Sir Arthur Heywood's association with the place. It was he who had worked hard and long to advance the art, and also to secure recognition for ringers as churchworkers. Alderman Pritchett expressed the thanks of the party to Mr. Albert Walker for the splendid way he had organised the meeting.—Mr. Walker, in reply, said that if the party were enjoying themselves (and he thought they were) he was amply repaid. They regretted the absence of Mr. Percy Johnson, the genial secretary of the Yorks Association, who was prevented here present by an unavoidable business engagement, and Mr. S. F. Palmer, who was on holiday.

A collection was taken in aid of the fund for the restoration of Duffield bells, which are in great need of attention by the bell tuner. It is to be hoped that the local ringers will realise their ambition, which is to effect the much-needed improvement before next year's meeting.

Thanks were accorded to the church authorities at Derby and Duffield for the use of the bells, and to Messrs. J. Pagett and S. Dawson for making the necessary arrangements.

It should be mentioned that on the exact stroke of seven o'clock glasses were solemnly raised to the health of a certain Woking gentleman and his lady, and also to that of Mr. F. B. Yates and the ringers of King's Norton, who were having their annual 'do' at Bedford, all the parties concerned having previously agreed to remember each other at the hour mentioned.

J. F. S.

PORTSMOUTH RINGER'S BEREAVEMENT.

Mr. E. J. Harding, sen., of St. Mary's, Portsmouth, and late secretary of the Portsmouth District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, has sustained a severe loss by the death of his father, Mr. S. J. Harding, aged 76, of Berrynarbor, North Devon. For many years he was a member of the choir and one of the bellringers up to the time of his death, and was so much a part of the village and its interests generally that his cheery presence will be sadly missed. There was a large number of family mourners at the funeral and also relatives and friends from Berrynarbor, Ilfracombe and Combe Martin.

'DOUBLE-HANDED' DOUBLE NORWICH.MR. JOHN THOMAS' GREAT PERFORMANCE.

Mr. John Thomas, of London, has created another record by ringing two tower bells to a peal of Double Norwich Major. This was at Corston, near Bristol, on Friday, where he rang the 2nd and 3rd. It is the first time Mr. Thomas has rung two church bells to a peal, but it is the first time that a peal of Double Norwich has ever been rung in this way, and those who took part in the performance bear witness to a very fine achievement. An attempt was made for the peal a fortnight previously, but it was lost, after two-thirds had been rung, in a rather peculiar way. The sallies at Corston belfry go right through the holes in the ceiling, and a projection of the tucking of the treble rope just beneath the sally caught the edge of the boss, causing the bell to drop. This had happened before, therefore, for the second attempt for the peal, the rope ends were shortened, and all went well. The steeplekeeper's comment was, 'It is a good job you broke down last time, for you have rung a splendid peal to-night—one of the best on the bells.'

Mr. Thomas has not rung two bells to a peal since the war, in which he served in the Royal Air Force. While serving, he met with a serious accident, both his arms being broken by a whirling propeller.

BELL HANGER KILLED.FATAL ACCIDENT TO WELL-KNOWN RINGER.

A distressing accident occurred on Saturday, at Sulgrave, near Banbury, resulting in the death of Mr. Charles H. Austin, a bell hanger employed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and a well-known ringer.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are carrying out the restoration of the five bells at Sulgrave, the ancestral home of George Washington, first President of the United States, and Mr. Austin was engaged in fixing the new iron frame in the church tower when, from some cause, he fell through the hatchway, a distance of some 30 feet, to the church floor below. His neck was broken, and he died within a few minutes.

Mr. Austin, who was the son of Mr. John Austin, of 38, Lysons Avenue, Gloucester, a popular West Country ringer, was 36 years of age, and leaves a widow and four young children. Much sympathy will be felt with the relatives in their tragic bereavement.

In the war, Mr. Austin served in the Coldstream Guards, and he joined the staff of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1923, becoming one of their most trusted bell hangers. He was a capable ringer, and had taken part in numerous peals, including the 13,001 Grandsire Cinques at Painswick on February 14th, 1920. This occupied 8hrs. 45mins., and is the longest length yet rung on twelve bells.

An inquest was held on Monday, and the interment took place at Gloucester.

This is the first fatal accident which has happened in connection with Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's firm during the eighty-four years of its existence.

HANDBELL RINGING IN CANADA.To the Editor.

Sir,—In the city of Montreal there are quite a number of bells, but in none of the churches is there a peal of bells suitable for change-ringing. The only way ringers from the old country can indulge in their favourite pastime is handbell ringing.

Mr. Tony Price recently arrived from Boston, and practices have been held for some weeks at 198, Beaconsfield Avenue, N.D.G. Several 120's of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and 720's of Bob Minor and a few courses of Double Court have been rung by E. Weatherby (Market Drayton and Guildford) 1-2, Chas. Willshire (Guildford) 3-4, Tony A. R. Price (Shouldham, King's Lynn) (conductor) 5-6. We should be glad to meet any ringers coming to Montreal, and any inquiries addressed to Mr. Chas. Willshire, 198, Beaconsfield Avenue, N.D.G., will receive a prompt reply.—Yours faithfully,

E. WEATHERBY.

DISAPPOINTMENT COMPENSATED.

Six of the Southover, Lewes, ringers paid a visit to Westham, Sussex, on Thursday, July 12th, by the kindness of their Rector and Mr. Rugg, their hon. secretary. This visit was the outcome of some rather disappointing ringing when they were there on the occasion of their annual outing on June 23rd, owing to the ropes not being quite in order. Since that time they have been attended to by Mr. Dallaway. On the occasion of this second visit 720 Bob Minor was rung by W. Ward 1, C. J. Rugg 2, D. White 3, A. J. Turner 4, R. W. E. Dawe 5, R. J. Dawe (conductor) 6. Also 108 Minor, conducted by R. W. Dawe, in which Mr. Dallaway took part, and two 120's Grandsire Doubles, conducted by D. White.

DUDLEY & DISTRICT GUILD

A quarterly meeting of this Guild was held at St. Mark's, Pensnett, in ideal summer weather. The bells were placed at the disposal of the members from three o'clock, and they were kept merrily going until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar of Pensnett (Rev. Norman Edwards), who gave an eloquent address.

The business meeting was held in the lady chapel, the Vicar presiding. After routine matters had been disposed of, several new members were added to the roll.

It was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Clent, subject to the usual permission being obtained. The quarterly peal will be attempted at Pensnett, the arrangements being left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

The Guild's representative to the Central Council gave his report of the proceedings of the meeting at Hereford, and Mr. Hughes was heartily thanked for his able and lucid report, also for his attendance at the meeting.

Afterwards the members adjourned to the Vicarage lawn, where they partook of tea arranged by Mr. S. Parkes and the Vicar, and which, it is needless to say, was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar of Pensnett for permission to hold the meeting at Pensnett, for conducting the service in church, for his inspiring address, for the use of the tower and bells, and for presiding at the business meeting. Thanks were also given to Mr. F. Walker, the secretary, and Mr. S. Parkes, who made the necessary arrangements, and to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting a happy one.—The Vicar replied on behalf of all concerned, and then closed the meeting with prayer.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

DISTRICTS' LACK OF INTEREST.

The thirteenth annual general meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at Derby on Saturday, July 7th. Although the attendance was not very large, there was quite a good gathering, representing four districts of the Guild. Ringing commenced at the Cathedral, where the members were met by Mr. James Pagett, Mr. Frank Smallwood, and other local ringers. A short service was held in the Cathedral, conducted by the curate, the Rev. Pronger. Before the address, Mr. Pronger welcomed the Guild to Derby on behalf of the Vicar, who was unable to be present. Mr. Gerald Moorhouse, of Leeds, kindly presided at the organ.

About thirty members and friends sat down to tea in St. Mary's Schools, and prior to the business meeting the president, Miss E. Steel, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Pronger for taking the urge all members to make an effort to attend when possible and so show their interest in the Guild. On the other hand, some of the districts are flourishing and members are very keen. One new district has been formed in Lincolnshire under the secretaryship of Mrs. Richardson. Mrs. L. W. Jacques has succeeded Mrs. Powell as secretary of the Northern District. In the Central District the secretary, Mrs. Hairs, has removed to Falmouth, but it has not yet been possible to arrange a meeting to elect a new secretary. The other districts have re-elected their secretaries, and to all the heartfelt thanks of the Guild are due for their untiring efforts. It is a great pleasure to be able to record two peals. One of Bob Major at Handsworth, the first peal of Major for the Guild, was rung by the Northern District, and the other of Cambridge Surprise Major, the first Surprise peal for the Guild, was rung by the Central District at Crayford. This shows a marked advancement, which it is hoped will continue. All secretaries have a good deal of difficulty in collecting subscriptions, and if members would forward these when due, much time and trouble would

THE LADIES' GUILD'S FIRST SURPRISE PEAL.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, rung by eight ladies at Crayford, Kent, on March 31st, was one of which the Guild is justifiably proud. The above is a photograph of the band. Back row: Mrs. F. J. Hairs (8th), Mrs. A. D. Barker (7th), Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, conductor (tenor). Middle row: Mrs. R. A. Fardon (2nd), Miss E. E. Chapman (3rd), Miss F. E. Orr (4th). Bottom row: Miss S. Davis (5th), Miss B. Mills (treble).

service, to the organist for obliging at short notice, and to the Vicars and ringers at the three churches for allowing the Guild the use of the bells.—This was seconded by the secretary (Mrs. E. K. Fletcher), and Mr. Crocker, an ex-churchwarden of the Cathedral, replied.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the president. A letter was read from Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, expressing his regret at being unable to be present, and wishing the Guild a very successful gathering.

Owing to heavy expenses in printing new service forms and receipt books, the accounts showed a deficit of £3 15s. 10d. on the year's working, but the Guild still possesses a balance of £18 4s. 7½d.

The Secretary reported as follows: 'The past year has been rather disappointing in some respects. In several districts there seems to be a lack of interest in the Guild, and though the secretaries work very hard to arrange meetings these are not very well attended. It is very discouraging to work hard and then get very little support. I would be saved. There still remain many lady ringers who have not yet joined the Guild, and here again is an opportunity for individual members to do some good work. I cannot conclude this report without an expression of my deep gratitude to all members for the handsome wedding gift which was presented at the meeting at St. Clement Danes, London, in January. This gift has an honoured place in my home, and is a constant reminder of the many pleasant gatherings which have taken place since the Guild's formation.'

Miss Steel was re-elected president, and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher hon. secretary and treasurer.

The Secretary regretted that she had been unable to revise the rules as promised, but would proceed with these at once and have them ready for the next annual meeting. The publications of reports was held over until the new rules are passed.

London was chosen for the place of the next annual meeting, to be held the first Saturday in July.

After the meeting, ringing took place at St. Alkmund's, where a course of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung by eight members of the Guild, and at St. Andrew's.

A RINGING EXCURSION IN NORTH YORKS.

The Cleveland District of North Yorkshire had been chosen this year for the annual outing of St. Ignatius', Sunderland, Guild, and, favoured with a fine day in a wet week, a very happy time was spent. The party numbered 19, including the Vicar (Rev. G. H. J. Baily), the curate (Rev. G. D. John), the two churchwardens, and a few other friends. Leaving Sunderland in the early morning, in a very comfortable charabanc, they passed through Stockton, and soon reached Ormesby, where the secretary of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, Mr. T. Metcalfe, and Mr. Hall, of the same association, met them, and the fine peal of eight in Ormesby Church were soon set going to Stedman, Double Norwich, and Superlative. A group photo, with the church as a background, was taken here, and then the party set off for Guisborough, where they were met by the president of the Cleveland Association, Mr. Pollard. After an enjoyable ring on the six bells, an excellent dinner at the Buck Hotel, and a walk through the old Priory Gardens, the motor was boarded again, and, skirting the Cleveland Hills and passing through Stokesley, the beautiful village of Carlton was reached. The church here, dedicated to St. Botolph, is comparatively new, and the eight bells are a pleasure to ring and to listen to.

After a short stay, as time pressed, the ringers again set off, via Yarm, to Hurworth-on-Tees, where an excellent tea awaited them. The inner man satisfied, votes of thanks were accorded to the churchwardens for their presence and assistance, and Mr. Stanley M. Ritson responded, in his inimitable manner, to the toast of 'Our Visitors.' The six bells of Hurworth were found to be rather heavy going, so a move was made to the next stopping place, Heighington, where, unfortunately, the coming of the party had been overlooked, and the bells were not available, so after a look round the old church the homeward journey was resumed, and, passing Durham and Chester-le-Street, they arrived safely shortly before 10 p.m. So ended one of the most enjoyable trips the Guild have ever had, and best thanks are due to the clergy of the four towers for the use of their bells, and to the members of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association for their kind assistance.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A successful district meeting was held on Saturday, June 30th, at Sproughton, near Ipswich, the bells at Bramford being also available. Although there were several other meetings, outings and 'haysel' being also in full swing, preventing ringers from attending, about 20 sat down to a tea, lavishly supplied by Mr. Charles Mee, and presided over by Mr. F. St. George Caulfield, Governor-General of the Malay Peninsula, churchwarden of Sproughton, who was supported by his brother warden, Mr. H. Making.

In proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the churchwardens for their presence, Mr. Mee mentioned how much the meeting appreciated their courteousness at such short notice.—This was seconded by Mr. G. E. Symonds, and carried.—Mr. Making, in responding, said he would make a suggestion to the secretary of the Suffolk musical competitions that handbell ringing contests be included in their programme.

Ringers attended from Ipswich, Cretingham, Framsdon, Polstead and Stowupland, augmented by the local company.

RIVAL ORGANISATIONS.

Very few of our change ringing organisations, happily, are faced with the definite rivalry of associations who are first and foremost champions of the 'stoney' brigade. Yet there exist in the West of England one or two societies whose membership consists exclusively of non-change ringers, and who, in their own districts, carry on a fairly successful campaign to the detriment of the Guilds which are promoting the art of change ringing. The most serious of these rivalries exists in Devon, where the Devon Association, as our readers will recently have learned from correspondence in our columns, has set up in active opposition to the old Devon Guild. This association is influentially supported; it has as President, Viscount Hambleden, and among the Vice-Presidents is the Earl of Portsmouth. It sets out that its object is to encourage the art of ringing in the country parishes and to further its aim a competition for a shield and certificates is held annually. It can easily be understood that among those who know nothing of the art of change ringing, which the Exercise has been promoting for nearly three hundred years, the association makes an appeal which church authorities are likely to support, especially as its competition is open only to service ringers. At any rate, the association is something of a menace to the old Guild, which has, for more than fifty years, often in the face of immense difficulties, sought to spread the science of change ringing among the ringers of Devon.

It is not always easy to judge local circumstances and feeling from a distance, but it seems to us that only good could result from efforts to bring these two organisations together into one body of Church workers. Clergy are as actively interested in the one as in the other, and it ought not to be beyond the wit of man to draw them together, despite the suggestion that the call change ringers have declared their intention of 'carrying the war into the enemy's camp.' After all, the Devon Guild has the Bishop of the Diocese as its patron, and his influence, if sought, would, we imagine, be on the side of amalgamation, for opposition factors in a work such as this can do no good in the diocese. We presume that one of the great stumbling-blocks is the existence of the competition for bands in the association. The Devon Guild, rightly or wrongly, sets its face very sternly against anything of this kind, and its rules provide 'that no member shall take part in any ringing match for prizes; should he do so he will be liable to immediate exclusion from the Guild.' There are a number of associations who now recognise change ringing competitions, and we are not sure that the Devon Guild's rule is not a little out of date, for, with proper safeguards, a contest such as that organised by the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild, for instance, must encourage better ringing among the bands; and better ringing is a thing that must be continually striven for. The old abuses that used to accompany the prize ringing events of bygone years no longer exist, and it is of little use to ignore facts. An amalgamation of the two societies would bring strength to the organisation of church bell ringers in Devon; it would open the door, at any rate, to further attempts to spread change ringing and remove from the heart of the diocese a cause for jealousy and rivalry. Despite the question asked almost in despair by the Devon Guild's secretary, 'What could the Devon Guild do?' we suggest that one way to approach the situation would be to get the Bishop to bring the two organisations together for a friendly talk, with the Diocesan himself in the chair. An accommodating spirit would then, we are sure, do a great deal.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

The bells of St. Mary's Church were rung on Saturday, July 14th, as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Henley, residents of the parish, on the occasion of their golden wedding, the marriage having taken place in Sussex on July 15th, 1878, in just such weather as the day a half-century later in life. A quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung in 49 mins. by a team of neighbouring ringers, which was conducted by their eldest son (one of two pairs of 'pigeons'), and composed by the Bucks and Berks veteran, Mr. J. J. Parker, who is now in his 75th year, and has himself seen the 'golden rounds' of matrimony: E. T. Hooper 1, T. S. Smith 2, J. J. Parker 3, W. Welling 4, W. H. Fussell 5, A. Bateman 6, W. Henley 7, G. Basden 8. A touch of Kent Treble Bob Major, conducted by W. Welling, and a 'fascinating flourish' of that musical method, Oxford Bob Triples, conducted by Mr. Parker, were also brought home.

The photographer placed on record a picture of the stalwart Henley family, and while the group was subjected to the lens the ringers were subjected to a glass that did not magnify. W. H. F.

BOWNESS-ON-WINDERMERE BELLS OPEN AGAIN.

On Saturday, July 21st, Ambleside ringers, with friends from Glasgow, Kendal and Manchester, reopened the bells of St. Martin's Church, Bowness-on-Windermere, on the invitation of the Rector (the Rev. E. J. Nurse). In the afternoon two touches of Triples were rung on the bells to allow Mr. Paley, of Messrs. Austin and Paley, church architects, to examine the tower under stress, and then the ringers adjourned to the Bay Cafe for tea, which was provided by the Rector. Returning to the church, a course of Bob Minor was rung on handbells in the churchyard by T. F. Hewitson 1-2, W. Robinson 3-4, T. B. Newton 5-6, E. Jennings covering 7-8. The lady cleaner of the church caused great amusement amongst the party by asking the ringers if they had brought the bells out of the tower in order to ring them outside. In the evening a good 336 of Stedman Triples was rung on the church bells: T. F. Hewitson 1, E. Ashley 2, E. Jennings 3, H. Hardy 4, T. B. Newton 5, J. Wilson 6, W. Robinson 7, W. Fisher 8. Also 504 Grandsire by: E. Jennings 1, J. Sewell 2, W. Nevinston 3, H. Hardy 4, W. Atkinson 5, T. F. Hewitson 6, W. Robinson 7, J. Wilson 8. W. Robinson conducted both these touches. This was the first time the bells had been rung since some time before the war, and it is hoped to have them rung regularly for service after a band has been formed.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

LEICESTER DISTRICT.

The second quarterly meeting of the Leicester District was held at Foxton on Saturday, July 21st. Ringers were present from Anstey, Hallaton, Husbands Bosworth, Humberstone, Thurmaston, Market Harborough, Leicester, South Wigston, Wigston Magna, and the local band was also represented. The six bells were raised about 4 p.m., after which touches of Plain Bob and Double Court Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor were rung. Fourteen members and friends then adjourned for tea at the Black Horse Hotel.

After tea the belfry was again visited, and a six-score of Stedman was rung, followed by a course of Cambridge Surprise. The business was then transacted, and it was decided to hold the September meeting at Enderby.

Another course each of Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise were then rung, and the bells were lowered in peal about 7.45 p.m.

The tone of the bells is quite good, but the 'go' leaves very much to be desired, the tenor especially going very badly. After the ringing had finished, several members viewed the famous Foxton Locks.

A CENTENARIAN HONOURED.

Through the kindness of Mr. A. B. Osbourne, a band of ringers were invited to ring the bells of St. Peter's Church, Roydon, Essex, on Saturday, to celebrate the 100th birthday of one of the parishioners, Mrs. Mary Paveley. Eleven ringers turned up from the neighbouring towers to honour the old lady. The first 'touch' on the bells was a well-struck 1,260 changes of Grandsire Doubles, with different calling. Brought round in 40 minutes, conducted by W. Burton, of Roydon. J. Shuttlewood, a local ringer, had the honour of ringing the treble, and was desired to convey to Mrs. Paveley the delight it had given the ringers to ring for her 100th birthday, and also to express their united good wishes for her health and happiness. This touch was followed by a long length of Bob Minor, conducted by W. Wedlock. Then another 'touch' of 240 changes of Grandsire Doubles (Morris' arrangement) followed, also conducted by W. Wedlock. The ringing was concluded by two courses of Kent Treble Bob Minor, after which the bells were lowered in peal. Three ringers hailed from Harlow Common, three from Epping Upland, two from Roydon, one from North Weald, and two from Epping, all of whom wish to express their thanks to Mr. A. B. Osbourne for his kind hospitality.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

TONBRIDGE DISTRICT'S GIFT TO MR. G. EDWARDS.

The Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association held their summer meeting at Penshurst on Saturday week, when members of the following towers attended: Tunbridge Wells, Tonbridge, Chiddingstone, Hever, Lamberhurst, Edenbridge, Sevenoaks, Westerham, Penshurst. There were also visitors from East Grinstead and Limsfield Chart.

The tower was opened at 2.30 p.m., when various touches were indulged in, and later the Rector, the Rev. James Cropper, conducted a well-attended service, at which he gave an appropriate address.

At the conclusion of the service the members visited Penshurst Place by kind permission of Lord de L'Isle and Dudley, a privilege which was greatly appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed. On the return to the Village Hall the ringers passed through the Rectory garden, an incident which added pleasure to the outing.

At the Village Hall the company was met by the Rector, Mr. L. Elwood, and Mr. E. Baker, who joined the visitors at tea, at which 62 sat down. A well-prepared meal was served by Mr. Shibby in his usual efficient manner. Following the tea the business of the meeting was proceeded with, and a few practising members were proposed and elected, together with the Rev. James Cropper and Mr. E. Baker as honorary members. The next meeting was fixed for September at Cowden.

Mr. Latter, the district secretary, eulogised the work for the association of Mr. G. Edwards, and asked him to accept a small present as an appreciation from his fellow-members. Mr. Edwards, he pointed out, had been the district representative on the Central Committee for 16 years, and in that time had missed only one meeting, a record of which anyone might be proud.

The Chairman then handed Mr. Edwards a chiming clock in mahogany case.

Mr. Edwards thanked the members most heartily for the unexpected and surprising gift, and urged them to carry out their duties with all the energy they could.

Letters of apology for absence were received from Lord de L'Isle, Miss Arnold and Mr. J. M. Sturgess.

Mr. Latter proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, conducting the service, and presiding at the meeting; to Lord de L'Isle for the visit to the Castle; Mr. H. Featherstone for presiding at the organ; and Mr. G. Edwards for making the arrangements for the day.

Ringling was then indulged in till nine o'clock, and by general consent the meeting was considered the most successful for a number of years.

BUCKNALL RINGERS' RECORD.

The band at Bucknall, Staffs, have now rung extents of the whole of the Minor methods in the Central Council's Collection. No fewer than 86 of them have been rung this year. The ringers will be interested to know if any other company has rung all these methods, or whether they are the first to 'complete the book.'

The ringers of the 86 methods have been: William Wheeldon, rung 56, conducted 18; Charles Preston, 50, 4; William Fradley, 70, 18; Miss Alice Preston, 81, 10; Charles Bowen, 72, 18; Harry Billings, 41, 2; Reginald Preston 80, 16; John Wheeldon, jun., 66.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A quarterly meeting was held at Southam on Saturday last, when about 40 members and friends were present, and some good practice ringing was enjoyed. Tea at the Black Dog Inn was followed by the general meeting, at which Mr. A. Wilkerson was voted to the chair in the absence of the president.

Shilton was elected as the August meeting place, Willoughby for September and Warwick for October.—Five new members were elected.

Mr. F. W. Perrons proposed that a special meeting be held at Coventry on Saturday, November 24th, to commemorate the 21st anniversary of the formation of the Guild. This having been agreed to, a sub-committee was elected, comprising the Master, the secretary and Mr. F. W. Perrons, to make arrangements for a social evening on that day.

Mr. J. Sykes asked the members to consider whether it would be advisable to change the name of the Guild to the Coventry Diocesan Guild.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells brought the meeting to a close.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry Branch was held at Willingham on Saturday last. The service was taken by the Rector (the Rev. A. C. Hair), after which the company sat down to tea at Day's Gardens. In the absence of the district secretary (Mr. F. Warington), the Rev. H. B. Woolley took the minutes of the meeting. Rev. A. C. Hair presided. It was decided (subject to permission being granted) to hold the next meeting at Ickleton some time in September.

Among those present were Mr. John Taylor, Master of the Cambridge Youths, Mr. A. G. Rivers, Mr. E. J. Butler, London, Mr. B. Buttress, Fulbourn, and members from Long Stanton, Willingham, Sawston, Melbourn, Trumpington and Over. Ringing was good generally, although one or two notable ringers were absent through indifferent health.

A PLEA FOR THE DEAF-BLIND.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me a little of your valuable space to call the attention of your readers to the above cause?

This well-deserving cause has of late been brought to the public notice more than formerly, but it is not generally known that there is a section of the blind community who have the additional handicap of total or almost total deafness. Of these there are some 1,300 in this country, a small number, it may seem, but in terms of human suffering the problem which it represents is both vast and poignant. To be deaf-blind means to live in perpetual darkness and silence, monotony and an isolation from which wireless—that wonderful new compensation of the hearing blind—can bring no relief. Exercise and fresh air are, too, inevitably lacking.

'The Deaf-Blind Helpers' League' is the name of a society which has been formed to promote the social welfare of these poor people. It will consist of deaf-blind members and seeing associates (in which capacity the help of the hearing-blind and seeing-deaf will be thankfully received). The associates will be asked to interest themselves in the welfare of the deaf-blind in general, and in that of, say, one or two of them in particular. We may say that this society was originated by a lady who is herself deaf-blind.

Familiarity of the hand-speech will, of course, be needed by those who undertake personal help, and for correspondence work a knowledge of Braille will be necessary, but neither of these is difficult to learn. One of our cherished dreams is the founding of a hostel for the deaf-blind where they may spend a really happy holiday—a thing which, under all the circumstances of their case, is at present difficult for them to compass. It may be as well to state that the league is non-sectarian and non-political. It is registered under the Blind Persons Act, 1920.

No good work can be carried out without funds, and we shall therefore gratefully welcome subscriptions and donations, however small.

We appeal to all who have the happiness of their fellows at heart to help us in our endeavour to brighten and enrich the lives of these sorely-tried people by their active co-operation as associates.—Yours sincerely,

E. FRASER.
Hon. Secretary.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Miss Phyllis Moss, a well-known West Middlesex ringer, has recently undergone an operation in a London hospital. Her many friends will be glad to learn she is making a satisfactory recovery.

Sir Charles Wakefield has given £500 for the restoration of Hythe Parish Church bells, now silent after 120 years.

There is a recrudescence in certain daily newspapers of the complaints against the ringing of church bells and the striking of church clocks. One writer from Bath even complains of church bells rung for services. Strange, is it not, that it is the occasionally rung bells that come in almost exclusively for attack? The other noises that have grown up round us, and are almost continuous, such as the raucous hoot of the motor horn, are accepted without protest.

The first peal has just been rung on the five bells at Paston, Norfolk. They were cast in 1623 by William Brend, of Norwich, who cast, among others, a ring of four of the same weight at the same time for Acle, but while Paston are in A, Acle are in F sharp.

Local tradition has it that the Paston tenor weighs 15 cwt., but the 'Norwich Mercury' of July 13th, 1816, says: 'On Friday sen'night was opened at Paston in Norfolk a peal of bells by ringers from this city. The tenor weighs 12 cwt., and is in the key of A.'

We were in error last week when we stated that Mr. John Thomas had previously rung two church bells to a peal. The Double Norwich at Corston was the first in which he had performed this wonderful feat.

The first peal in Ireland was rung at Waterford Cathedral on July 27th, 1872.

It was on July 29th, 1785, that William Shipway arrived in London from Bath, to improve his opportunities of ringing. That was really a momentous event for change ringing.

On July 30th, 1792, a peal of 7,552 Grandsire Major was rung at Aston, Birmingham.

AN OLD BELL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wonder if any of your antiquarian readers have noticed the following statement in a 'Book about bells,' by Rev. G. S. Tyack, on page 125?

'In the present year (1897) an interesting discovery was made in Suffolk which seems to point to this time of destruction (the Reformation). In cleaning an old pond at Rooksie Farm, Preston, in that county . . . a bell bearing the date 1133 was laid bare, embedded in the clay which formed the subsoil. One wonders was it flung there by despoilers or by some friendly hands endeavouring to save it from destruction, who afterwards failed to recover it.'

Although a native of Suffolk, and fairly familiar with the Lavenham district, I never before heard of this discovery, and am wondering what truth there is in the above statement as to the date of the bell. Is it not a fact that pre-Reformation bells are invariably undated?—Yours, etc.

P. LAFLIN.

FEE-FO-FUM !

Behold! A giant am I!
From deepest crypt to tower
I hold—save keys of heaven and hell—
An autocratic power!
Mine is the will, and only mine,
Within this ancient abbey,
My rule is stern, but, sad to say,
Most other Deans are flabby!

Noblesse oblige! In small degree
I bow to public feeling.
I let the bells ring now and then,
But can forbid their pealing.
For ringers with their lusty limbs,
Their Grandsires, Bobs and Caters,
Compared with me, a Gaitered Dean,
Are very small pertaters!

Tho' weaker Deans may anxious be
This noxious art to foster,
Such things as that will never be
While I am Dean of Gloucester!
For why should I permit a tribe
Of most uncultured people,
To break on my serenity,
With noises from my steeple?

So to the mast I nail my flag,
Emblazoned with 'Forbidden!'
Let other Deans do what they will,
I'll not be ringer-ridden!
I bolt and bar the belfry doors;
My status elevated
Protects the Dean of Gloucester's Bells
From being desecrated!

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION. BISHOP OF WAKEFIELD ATTENDS A RALLY.

Saturday, July 21st, was a red-letter day in the history of the Barnsley and District Association. For the first time the Lord Bishop of Wakefield was present at a meeting. It was a veritable 'rally' of ringers and friends. The Rectory, with spacious grounds near to St. Mary's Church, Barnsley, had been thrown open by Rev. Canon Hone, Rural Dean and hon. president of the association, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., and by the latter hour one hundred and fifty persons had assembled. Service was held in church. The prayers were read by Canon Hone, and the Bishop gave an address based on the text, 'Ye shall be my messengers,' and urged his congregation to maintain the highest possible tone in religion.

Prior to the tea a photograph was taken, with the Bishop in the centre, and it is hoped copies of this will be available at an early date. Tea followed on the lawn, a happy gathering in a most delightful scene. A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung.

Mr. W. Reynor, of Sandal, and an ex-president, proposed a vote of thanks to his lordship. In doing so, he dated a change in Yorkshire ringers' doings to the time when Mr. Jasper Snowden, son of a Yorkshire Vicar, started the Yorkshire Association over fifty years ago. Other associations had followed in harmony with the parent association.

His Lordship replied, and warmly praised the efforts of the associations to further their art, which, when rightly understood and practised, reflected the true feeling of the church. Such associations were a help to the church, and must be acknowledged as such.

The Secretary, Mr. C. D. Potter, proposed an omnibus vote of thanks to the Rev. Canon Hone and Mrs. Hone for the use of Rectory grounds, to St. Mary's Mothers' Union for the perfect arrangements for tea, and to the ringers' wives for their consideration and approval of their ringing husbands throughout the various meetings.

One feature of the event was a display of ringers' trophies, viz., a cup won by Wath in 1836 at Ecclesfield, long since forgotten but lately presented by a donor to the local ringers; a 'loving cup' presented to St. Peter's company, Sheffield, by Preston ringers in 1886; a beautiful peal book and a challenge cup, belonging to Sheffield and District Association; the noble challenge cup of Halifax and District Association; the challenge cup of Hoylandswaine; the large challenge shield of Barnsley and District Association; an emblem and book of rules of the Society of College Youths.

Ringing on tower and handbells filled in the vacant times until 9 p.m.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS AT OLD HILL.

On Saturday, July 14th, eight members of the Dudley and District Guild met in the belfry of Holy Trinity Church, Old Hill, to do honour to two of their most respected members, viz., Mr. John Price and Mr. Bert Price, on the occasion of their birthday, to attempt a peal of Grandsire Triples, but owing to the unsatisfactory 'go' of the bells for peal ringing this was found impossible, and Mr. John Goodman (the conductor) brought the bells round at a quarter-peal, which was accomplished in 47 mins.: G. Swallow 1, S. J. Hughes 2, P. Hackett 3, W. Fendall 4, B. Gough 5, W. Green 6, J. Goodman, jun., 7, G. Guest 8. Afterwards the band adjourned to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Price, where they were met by other ringers and their wives and sweethearts at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Price to tea and supper. During the interval, the company were entertained by handbell ringing and various games on the lawn. The hospitality and welcome extended to the visitors by Mr. and Mrs. Price was greatly appreciated, and the hope was expressed that they would all meet again if spared next year.

At the conclusion of supper Mr. Herbert Sheppard proposed hearty thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Price for their generous hospitality, and congratulated Mr. J. Price and Mr. Bert Price upon their birthdays.—Mr. S. J. Hughes seconded, and Mr. B. Gough supported the proposition, which, it is needless to say, was received in a real Black Country style.—Mr. and Mrs. Price briefly thanked their guests for their presence, and also for the kind words spoken of them.—The enjoyable proceedings concluded with further handbell ringing.

HASTINGS RINGERS' OUTING.

Ringers from St. Clement's Church, Hastings, together with their lady friends, made an excursion to Margate for their annual outing. En route they rang at Brookland and Lydd, and, passing through New Romney and Folkestone, reached Dover at 11.30, where a brief stop was made for a walk in the Dover Priory. Margate was reached at 1.15, and St. John's bells were set ringing. Afterwards the ringers visited Cliftonville Promenade and Dreamland Amusement Park, where, we regret to state, they lost most of their day's wealth. Proceeding to Brixington, and, later, Ques Park, they were enabled, by kind permission of Major Cotton, to ring on the twelve bells in the Waterloo tower. Proceeding to Canterbury, a meat tea was thoroughly enjoyed, and the Cathedral visited, but the bells were not rung. Hastings was reached by way of Ashford, Tenterden and Northram a little before midnight. The ringers wish to thank all the incumbents and towerkeepers for allowing them to ring at the various places mentioned, also their own secretary for having arranged such a grand day's outing. G. R. HANDBELLS BROADCAST.

GREAT SUCCESS AT A BIRMINGHAM SERVICE.

The broadcast of handbells from St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, before the evening service on Sunday was perfectly done. It had been intended to ring Stedman Cinques, but the limited time (a bare five minutes) made it necessary to ring Caters only.

It was a big undertaking, as those who have rung handbells in public will realise. The ringers stood in the chancel. There was a crowded congregation—sufficient in itself to make any ringers nervous. Coupled to this the fact that the microphone was also there, with other thousands of unseen listeners over the ether, made the task all the more difficult. But a perfect course was rung, without the slightest hitch or flaw, and several correspondents have asked us to express their congratulations to the band.

The course occupied four and a half minutes, and an arrangement had been made with the organist to improvise in the same key as the handbells (B flat) the moment the ringing stopped, and this he did splendidly, the whole effect being admirable. The ringers were P.O. Ladin 1-2, A. Walker 3-4, G. F. Swann 5-6, J. F. Smallwood 7-8, A. E. Norman 9-10.

The performance was unique, the circumstances such that anything might have happened—trips, slips or even a complete breakdown—but the band not only upheld their own reputation; they served the Exercise right well.

BOLTON RINGERS IN THE HANDS OF THE POLICE.

On Saturday last the Bolton Borough Police Athletic Club again placed their athletic ground at the disposal of ringers of the district, their wives and friends, and well over a hundred availed themselves of the opportunity to have a good time in the hands of the police. First a bowling match was arranged between the police and the ringers, and although the former were at home, they did not get too much of their own way, their win being only by a margin of four points.

Then followed the usual 'tower' challenges, which were contested in a very enthusiastic manner, because the results of these give rise to many taunts during the ensuing year.

Meanwhile the ladies were preparing tea. When the trundlers were tired of the greensward, an adjournment was made to the pavilion for a 'free and easy' impromptu concert, and when one looked round and saw rolls of music coming out of every corner, he felt assured of a good musical evening.

Mr. J. Booth and his daughter, from Standish, who gave selections on handbells, brought encores again and again. Their rendering of 'Robin Adair' so delighted everybody that they had to give it again before they left. Miss A. Potter, Miss E. Cutsforth and Mr. J. Williams supplied the vocal solos, whilst P. C. Hayhurst attended to the humorous side of the entertainment. 'Community' singing, dancing and touches of Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Caters on handbells were indulged in, and 10.30 brought to a close all too soon one of the best socials held in the branch.

P. C. Hayhurst moved a vote of thanks to the artistes, and extended on behalf of the club a hearty welcome to the ringers on future occasions. This was seconded by Chief Inspector Atkinson.—Mr. E. Cutsforth then moved a vote of thanks to the police for their generosity in placing their grounds at the disposal of the ringers. There had been, he said, entertainment for everybody. There was the athletic ground, the bowling green, the bar and the pavilion, and, above all, the opportunity of creating a good friendship between all.—This motion was seconded by Mr. A. Burton. Another member who supported this said he would like to couple the name of the secretary, Mr. Peter Crook, with the vote, for his special efforts in keeping together one of the best branches in the country. To him they owed many thanks.—The National Anthem closed the evening.

ST. ALPHEGE CHURCH, CANTERBURY.

AN APPEAL.

An appeal is made to the public for funds in order that the bells of the ancient Church of St. Alphege, Canterbury, may be retuned and rehung, and that the octave may be completed by the purchase of two additional bells.

Toward the sum of £250 required, only £35 has been raised in the parish, which is a poor one.

St. Alphege is the only church in the city where the bells are rung up to changes for Sunday services throughout the year.

Donations may be sent to Miss E. Chambers, hon. secretary, 39, Palace Street; Mr. F. Brett, the conductor, 32, Stour Street; or to the Rector, the Rev. A. A. Carter, 58, St. Peter's Street.

KINGSTHORPE RINGERS' OUTING.

The bellringers of Kingsthorpe, Northants, with their wives and friends, including the Rev. J. P. and Mrs. De Putson, Mr. Edwards (Vicar's warden), Mr. Brown (people's warden), and Mr. Wilford (Master of the Guild), held their half-day tour on July 7th, visiting Isham, Cranford, Woodford and Great Addington, where tea was provided. Ringstead and Higham Ferrers were afterwards visited, and at each church various touches were rung. The excursion was most enjoyable, and thanks are extended to the Vicars of the various parishes for the use of the bells.

THE FATAL ACCIDENT TO MR. C. H. AUSTIN.

The sad death of Mr. Charles Henry Austin, who was killed at Sulgrave Church by falling from the bell frame to the church floor, as recorded in our last issue, was the subject of an inquest held by the Banbury coroner.

Charles Poole, of Croydon, a fellow-workman, said the deceased was cementing the bell girders in readiness for the rebanging of the bells, and was working on a ladder about eight feet long. He could not reach the girders from where he was, and was going to move the ladder to another position. He had moved the cement board, and was about to get down to move the ladder when he evidently slipped, and fell backward through the trap-door, which was used for hoisting materials up by pulleys, striking his head on the stone floor below.

Dr. Johnson, of Sulgrave, who was summoned, and arrived just before the deceased died, stated that the case was hopeless from the first, the deceased's skull being fractured.

Evidence was also given by Sidney Charles Wootton, aged 15, who was assisting the deceased. He was on the ground floor and was looking up through the trap door. He heard the deceased moving down the ladder which stood on the belfry floor. He then saw the deceased fall through the trap door on to the ground floor. He seemed to fall backwards. He should think he slipped off the ladder and then fell sideways, as if he had tried to grab at the pulley rope, but he did not think he touched anything in his fall until he struck the floor. Witness went to him and lifted his head up and spoke to him, but deceased did not answer. Charles Poole came down from the belfry and sent witness for the doctor, and deceased was still alive when Dr. Johnson came.

A verdict of 'Accidental Death' was returned, and expressions of sympathy were tendered to the widow, who was present at the inquest, by the coroner, the jury, and Mr. Barnes (on behalf of the Iron and Steel Cage Insurance Co.), and Capt. Freeborn (who was present to represent Messrs. Gillett and Johnston).

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral took place on Tuesday of last week, the service being conducted at St. Michael's Church, Gloucester, by the Vicar of All Saints' (Rev. C. W. Janvrin).

The chief mourners were the widow, Mr. and Mrs. John Austin (father and mother), Mr. and Mrs. Yule (father-in-law and mother-in-law), Harold (brother), Phyllis and Winnie (sisters), Walter (brother-in-law), Captain J. H. R. Freeborn (representing Mr. Cyril Johnston, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the deceased's employers, Croydon), and Mr. and Mrs. Brunsdon.

The coffin was borne to the grave by the bellringers of St. Michael's, Messrs. G. Baldwin, E. Beckett, G. L. Brunsdon, G. Cundick, E. Davis, J. Gillett, W. H. Harris, and J. Stephens, and ex-Sergt. Williams (Newent).

Floral tributes were sent by the wife and children; mother and father; sisters Winnie and Phyllis; brother Harold and brother-in-law Walt; Mrs. Ware (Sulgrave); C. Poole (Croydon); Mrs. Chequer and family; Francis and Flossie; Cyril Laura; Aunt Sherborn and Mrs. Corfield; Mrs. Brown (Sulgrave); Cyril Johnston; Frank, Lily, and Peggie (Cardiff); Mr. and Mrs. Yule; staff and fellow-workers; villagers of Sulgrave; brother ringers of St. Michael's Juniors, and the Vicar, churchwardens and Church Council of Sulgrave.

At the conclusion of the service two courses of Grandsire Triples were rung over the grave on handbells by Messrs. G. Brunsdon, E. Davis, ex-Sergt. Williams, and Mr. W. H. Harris (secretary of the Gloucester Branch of the association), while later in the afternoon muffled touches of Stedman Triples were rung at the belfry of St. Michael's.

After the funeral at St. Mary de Crypt Church, Gloucester, the Ancient Society of Crypt Youths and St. Michael's Juniors, of which the late Mr. Austin was a member, rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 50 mins., with the bells half-muffled: J. Gillett 1, W. H. Harris 2, G. L. Brunsdon 3, T. Baldwin (conductor) 4, H. Beckett 5, G. Cundick 6, ex-Sergt. Williams 7, E. E. Davies 8. All the ringers are members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and belong to the Gloucester Branch.

At the monthly meeting of the Gloucester Branch, held at Longney on Saturday, the Vicar, the Rev. S. Rowland, referred to the loss that Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin had sustained by the death of their son. He read a copy of a letter of condolence sent by the branch secretary (W. H. Harris) expressing the deepest sympathy of the members in the loss which their friends had sustained, and he asked the members to stand in silence as a last token of respect.

At the service held at St. Michael's on Sunday evening the preacher, Rev. Dennis (acting pro tem. for the Rev. Braithwaite) made special reference to the sad bereavement which had befallen Mr. and Mrs. Austin, the widow and family. The service was attended by the St. Michael's Junior's Society.

At St. Peter's Church, South Croydon, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung with the bells half-muffled, on Thursday, July 19th, as a last token of respect: D. Wright (conductor) 1, T. A. S. Bloxham 2, F. W. Larby 3, B. N. Newton 4, E. Denham 5, W. Bulpitt 6, W. Groves 7, F. E. Collins 8. The late Mr. Austin had for the past five years been closely associated with this tower. The ringers of the treble, 3rd, 4th and tenor are employees of the Croydon Bell Foundry, and were workmates of the deceased.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD, PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT AT CURDRIDGE.

Excellent weather favoured the meeting of the Portsmouth District held at Curdridge on Saturday last, and, although the attendance was not up to the usual average, those who did attend had a very enjoyable time. Members were present from Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, Fareham, Haslemere, Portsmouth (St. Mary's), Ringwood, Swanmore and Wickham, and also Mr. G. Bull from Binfield, Berks.

Service was held at 4.30 p.m., at which the Vicar (Rev. A. Helps Storey) conducted the Guild's form of service. In the course of his address he expressed delight in welcoming the members to Curdridge, and hoped that they would soon visit them again.

A splendid tea awaited the ringers at the Reading Room, over which the Vicar presided. At the business meeting which followed he was unanimously voted to the chair, and was supported by the secretary (Mr. E. W. Rogers). Several new members were elected, including the Vicar as an honorary member, and Messrs. C. Guy (St. Mary's, Portsmouth), and E. Warner (St. Thomas'), as ringing members.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Shedfield together with Wickham and Swanmore during October, the date being left for the secretary to arrange. Due notice of this, however, will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

It was also decided to hold a by-meeting at Bishop's Waltham (where it is hoped shortly to complete the octave) on August 25th, or, failing that, at Hambledon.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, Mr. A. Mears for having everything in readiness, and also to the organist. This concluded the meeting, and the members returned to the tower for further ringing, where they were met by the Master (Mr. G. Williams), who had come from another meeting at Micheldever. The Vicar accompanied the ringers to the tower, and took part in some Grandsire Triples. Other ringing included Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Norfolk Surprise Major.

At the request of the Vicar, after the tower-bell ringing had ceased, some of the members rang touches of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples and Treble Bob Major 'in hand' on the Vicarage lawn.

SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Southampton District was held at Romsey on Saturday, July 14th. The Abbey bells were available during the afternoon and evening, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise being rung. Tea was partaken of at the Church Hall, after service in the Abbey, at which the address was given by the Vicar of Romsey (the Rev. W. B. Corhan). A short meeting was held with the Vicar in the chair, supported by the Rev. Canon Braithwaite (vice-president), Mr. Geo. Williams (Master), Mr. Geo. Pullinger (general hon. secretary), Mr. F. W. Rogers (Portsmouth district sec.) and members from North Stoneham, Eling, Ringwood, Winchester, Dibden, Southampton, Portsmouth, Portsea, King's Somborne, Netley, Fareham, Guildford Cathedral and Romsey.

Mr. H. Dunn, of Romsey, was elected a member of the Guild.

Mr. Williams proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and address, and also for presiding. Thanks were also expressed to Canon Braithwaite for his presence at the meeting.

The next meeting is fixed for North Stoneham on Saturday, October 13th, notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

DEATH OF ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH RINGER.

On Tuesday, July 10th, there passed away at the age of 76 one who will be greatly missed in the tower of St. Helen's, Ashby-de-la-Zouch. Coming from the neighbouring village of Packington, George Hutton joined St. Helen's Society in 1890, and held the office of captain from 1895 to 1905. By his quiet, unobtrusive manner and his reliability as a 'ringer' and as a 'man,' he endeared himself to all who knew him. He was a member of the Midland Counties Association, and had 19 peals to his credit, one of them a peal of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, the only peal on the bells at the church of his native village of Packington, where his remains were laid to rest on Friday, July 13th. The officiating clergyman was the Vicar of the parish, the Rev. Charles Pratt, a son of the Rev. Charles Pratt, a former Vicar, whose service the deceased entered at the early age of eleven years.

It was on the retirement of the Rev. Charles Pratt to reside in Ashby that the deceased came with him, remaining in his service and in connection with his family for the long period of 64 years. On the completion of 50 years' service the deceased was presented by the family of the Rev. C. Pratt with a handsome clock and an autograph album bearing the signatures of all the members of the family.

The pall bearers were four of his fellow-ringers—J. Curtis, E. W. Beadsmoore, J. Curtis and J. Bradford.

The bells of St. Helen's were rung half-muffled on Friday evening, also on Sunday, July 15th, when a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was brought round for morning service in 49 mins.: H. Beadsmoore 1, T. Beadsmoore 2, A. Beadsmoore 3, J. H. Dunmore 4, Joseph Curtis 5, John Curtis 6, E. W. Beadsmoore (conductor) 7, J. Bradford 8.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin wish to thank most sincerely all their fellow-ringers for the kind expressions of sympathy in their sad bereavement.

BRAINTREE RINGERS VISIT HERTFORDSHIRE.

The St. Michael's Guild of Ringers, Braintree, had their annual outing on Saturday, July 7th, the programme being a trip into Hertfordshire with the intention of visiting St. Albans, the centre of Church life for the diocese of St. Albans, to which Braintree belonged previous to the formation of the diocese of Chelmsford. The ringers, accompanied by their wives and their esteemed friend, Mr. W. Keeble, travelled by charabanc, and arrived at All Saints', Hertford, at 10 a.m., when they were met by one of the local ringers. Bob Major, Cambridge Major, and Stedman Caters were brought round on the very line ring of ten. St. Andrew's, situated near by, was next visited. Here the tower was found locked, and no official in charge, as the vergor was away on holiday. Fortunately, Mr. Walter Ayre, who had heard of the visit, appeared on the scene, and after some wanderings procured the key, the visitors in the meanwhile ringing a well-struck course of Rob Royal on handbells in the church porch. After raising the bells, a handy ring of eight, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung in excellent style.

Hatfield was next on the list of towers. Mr. J. T. Kentish was here awaiting the visitors. After suitable explanation and apologies for the late arrival, touches of Double Norwich and Stedman Triples were accomplished. Bidding farewell to Mr. Kentish, the party proceeded on the journey to St. Albans for lunch at the Red Lion Hotel, the company numbering twenty-three, including Mr. W. Ayre. No ringing was possible at St. Albans, as permission could not be obtained at either the Cathedral or St. Peter's. A very enjoyable hour was spent in the Cathedral, made very interesting by the vergor, who took the party round and proved an excellent guide.

The next move was to Benington via Knebworth. At the latter place the bells were not available owing to the condition of the tower, and notification had been received the previous day that ringing was out of the question at Benington owing to illness near the church. As tea had been ordered there, and all were anxious to visit the church, the home of the late Squire Proctor's band, the party arrived about 5 p.m., and partook of a bountiful tea provided by Mrs. Cheyne. A quiet look round this old-world village and the church was much enjoyed. Although no ringing was possible, the opportunity of treading in the footsteps and reading the records in the tower of this once world-famed band was appreciated. Leaving the delightful country village, the ringers proceeded to Stansted, Essex, arriving about 8 p.m. to make the last call for the day. A party from Stowmarket had left half an hour earlier, and the new arrivals found several of the local band at the church to welcome them. Everything being in readiness, these excellent going bells were soon pouring forth their melody to the tune of Superlative, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Stedman, the striking being well high perfect. A pleasant ride of eighteen miles found the Braintree folk home again at 10 p.m. Although their disappointment was great at not being able to ring at several churches, a most enjoyable time was spent in ideal weather. The Guild beg to offer their sincere thanks to all who assisted in making the outing a success, especially Mr. W. Ayre.

A TOUR ROUND KENT.

On Saturday, June 16th, the Milton-next-Gravesend band, accompanied by the Rector and churchwardens and friends, had their outing and visited Dover.

The journey was made by charabanc through the finest scenery in Kent, by way of Rochester, Maidstone, Sutton Valence to Tenterden, where the first stop was arranged for a ring, but unfortunately this was denied the visitors owing to illness near the church. After a look round this beautiful place, the journey was resumed by way of Woodchurch, Hythe, Folkestone (where the cliffs of France could be clearly seen), to Dover, where an excellent dinner was waiting for the hungry trippers at the Dovorain Restaurant. Afterwards, the ringers adjourned to the tower at St. Mary's and an hour's ringing was enjoyed. Others had a look round the harbour, but there were no aspirants to swim the Channel. The homeward journey was by way of Canterbury, where tea was partaken of at the Queen Elizabeth Guest Chamber, well worthy of a visit. The bells at Canterbury Cathedral were placed at the disposal of the party, but owing to a misunderstanding it was 7.30 before the keys of the tower arrived. Full advantage was, however, taken of the limited time; the twelve bells were rung in rounds, thus enabling three or four to have their first pull on twelve bells, and Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples were also rung, the company having been depleted by some who, having got tired of waiting, had gone sight-seeing. Leaving Canterbury at nine enabled Gravesend to be reached before 11 p.m., thus ending a very enjoyable day in decent weather. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking through 'The Ringing World' all who so kindly helped to make the outing a success, with an extra word of thanks to Mr. E. Buesden, of Canterbury, and the Austin car that accompanied the party, who between them were the means of finding the keys of the Cathedral tower.

FIRST SPLICED 720.

On Monday, July 9th, at St. George's Church, Mossley, Lancs, a spliced 720 of Oxford and London Scholars' Pleasure, in 26 mins.: H. Taylor 1, J. Clayton 2, F. Welham 3, J. Singleton 4, E. Garside 5, W. W. Wolstencroft (conductor) 6. First spliced 720 in the methods by all except the conductor, and the first ever rung in the town of Mossley.

BRENTWOOD RINGERS' 'BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY.'

The day selected by the ringers of St. Thomas', Brentwood, for their outing was a glorious one. In the early hours, ere the town had fully roused itself from its slumbers and the last cat had returned from its nocturnal meandering, individual ringers with light hearts and light coats on their arms (for who can trust this English summer?) met at Henderson's garage and formed one jolly band of change ringers, who were out for a busman's holiday—a day's ringing in distant towers. Just after seven o'clock the two charabancs moved off, friends were collected at Bontley and the final party mustered 36.

After passing through some delightful country, the first halt was called at Harpenden at 9.20 a.m. Within five minutes the bells were up and the first touch had commenced. Anxious villagers being suddenly aroused by some excellent ringing inquired why the bells were being rung. Some thought of the oldest inhabitant—maybe a jubilee—but one bright informant satisfied his curiosity with an equally bright remark that 'some men were pulling the ropes.' Harpenden Church has in its old tower a fine peal of eight.

The next stop was at Leighton Buzzard, where a fine peal of ten were set in motion at 12 noon. The tenor had just sounded the hour of one when the whole party, who were joined by Mr. Nichols, secretary of the local band, sat down to an excellent luncheon at the Plume-of-Feathers Hotel. The Rev. Adams Clarke, who is very keen on ringing and was accompanying the party, took the chair.

The duty of change ringers is to ring bells and not to talk, so the after-lunch speeches were short.—Mr. Ringe, the Master, said how pleased they all were that Mr. Adams Clarke had been able to come with them, and that it was the first time one of the clergy had accompanied them. Mr. Ringe went on to thank the secretary of the Leighton Buzzard band for his kindness in having the bells ready and for getting permission to ring them. He welcomed the visitors, and thanked Mr. G. Miles on behalf of everyone for the admirable arrangements he had made for the success of the outing and for his judicious booking of the sun.—Mr. Adams Clarke, above the loud exclamations and interruptions of the smallest member of the party (a dog bailing from Romford), expressed his thanks to the ringers, and said how pleased he was to be with such a jolly party. Mr. Butler, of Romford, the owner of the aforesaid interrupter, replied for the visitors, and expressed a wish on their behalf to be invited again next year.

The journey was continued, and in the broiling sun the party stepped out at Hemel Hempstead and entered St. Mary's Church to have a pull on the fine peal of eight. At 4.30 the bells were lowered, and the party proceeded to St. Mary's Hall, and partook of an excellent tea which the caretaker had arranged. The inevitable photographs were then taken in the middle of the public highway, traffic being diverted for the time being into a one-way route.

The Vicar of Hemel Hempstead saw the party off, and expressed the hope that all had enjoyed themselves, and so, amid applause, the party moved off to St. Albans, where many availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing the fine old Abbey.

On leaving St. Albans, owing to an error on the part of the driver, a serious happening occurred, the cars being brought to a dead stop in a cul-de-sac outside the city prison. The party withdrew hurriedly. Although it is an ill wind that blows to a prison, it did the party good, for they saw more of the town if only one of its gloomy aspects. At 7.20 again a halt was called, this time in the tiny village of Aldenham. The church is an old one, with a good peal of bells, which were made full use of. Then the homeward journey began, and Brentwood spire was soon seen. Tired but very happy, after a wonderful day of sunshine, fresh air and some good ringing, the band rang their last 'touch' on their own door bells, and so to bed, to dream of the fellowship of ringers, the good arrangements of the day, and hopes for the future years. During the outing, touches were rung in the following methods: Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, Bob Major and Royal, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major and Double Norwich Major.

IPSWICH RINGERS VISIT NORFOLK.

A visit to a number of Norfolk churches was made by St. Clement's, Ipswich, ringers for their fourth annual outing. The first stop was at Great Ashfield (five bells). Having arrived before the scheduled time, a group photograph was taken by the secretary (Mr. F. Howell). On one group he was also included by the use of a self-timer attachment. After a short ring a move was made to Badwell Ash (five bells), and then on to Welsbam-le-Willows (six bells). Here the Vicar met the party, and escorted them round the fine church. After a short ring the next stops were at Hopston (six bells), and Market Weston (five bells).

A quick run was then made for the Fox Inn at Garboldisham, where dinner was partaken of. Dinner over, the secretary was called on to give a few selections at the piano while the party rested after their labours.

Visiting the church (six bells), some of the party had their first ring in Norfolk. North Lopham was the next stop, and the eight bells were soon going in Major methods. A call at Kenninghall had been arranged, but, owing to unforeseen circumstances, this had to be cancelled at the last moment. However, the Rector of Banham came to the rescue, and allowed the use of his six bells. Tea was served at the Fighting Cocks Inn at Winfarthing, and afterwards there was a short spell of ringing on the good peal of six at the Parish Church. The Rector (the Rev. C. H. Barber), a former curate of St. Clement's, gave the ringers a hearty welcome. Palgrave (eight bells) was the next peal on the programme, and with the assistance of some of the local band, some good ringing took place. A young ringer (age 14) came in for some attention from the local men for the able manner in which he carried out his first attempt at Major ringing, especially on such light bells. Yaxley (six bells) was the last stop for a ring. Leaving here at nine o'clock, the journey home was via Creeting and Needham Market, and everyone agreed they had had an excellent day's outing, only marred by four heavy storms during the day.

CRAWLEY RINGERS INVADE HANTS AND SURREY.

A PRELUDE TO A FORTNIGHT'S PEAL RINGING.

At 7.30 one fine July morning the Crawley ringers with some ringing friends from the surrounding towers set out from Crawley on their annual excursion. After a two hours' ride through some glorious country, including Cowdray Park with its ruins, etc., a halt was made at Midhurst, where there is a peal of six bells. These were soon raised and set going to the tune of London, Cambridge Woodbine, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Plain Bob and rounds to suit all. After inspecting items of interest in this old town, the party embarked for Petersfield with its nice peal of eight, where Superlative, Double Norwich, Treble Bob and Plain Bob were brought round. The next stopping place was Privett, where Norfolk Surprise, Treble Bob, Stedman and Bob Major were rung. A good going peal of bells these, and some good striking was obtained. A prolonged halt was made for an excellent dinner prepared by mine host of the Sun Inn, to which all did justice. After a short rest, with handbell ringing, tunes and changes, the journey was continued to Chawton, with its peal of six bells. Some difficulty was experienced in ringing these owing to the ropes having to be knotted to get the lengths, but Cambridge, Treble Bob and Plain Bob were brought round successfully. The next tower on the list was Alton, where there is a fine ring by Gillett and Johnston. Some good ringing was accomplished here, the methods being Norfolk and Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich, Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Stedman. Tea came next, and after this had been disposed of a move was made for Bentley with its ring of six, the church being somewhat difficult to find. Cambridge, Treble Bob and Stedman Doubles were rung. Last, but not least, Farnham was reached. Superlative, Double Norwich, Treble Bob and Bob Major were rung. A short time was spent in looking round the town and in other places, and then, about 9.30, a start for home was made, with a short pause at Bramley for refreshments. Apparently not sufficient ringing had been done during the day, for handbells were brought into use, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung to the delight of the inhabitants. Crawley was reached at about 11.30, but the writer and others did not arrive home until an hour after that. Everyone voted it an excellent outing, and thanks are due to the various incumbents and the towerkeepers who met the party and had everything in readiness, also to the organiser, Mr. O. Sippetts, who must have worked very hard in arranging the excursion. This outing was a prelude to a 14 days' peal ringing effort, peals being arranged for evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The result of this part of the programme will be found in the peal columns.

MR. J. H. RAPER'S FIFTY PEALS.

Grandsire Caters, rung 1; Kent Treble Bob Major, 8; Bob Major, 3; Stedman Triples, 1; Grandsire Triples, 1; Cambridge Surprise Minor, 3; Minor, in one method 15 (conducted 6), in two methods 5 (conducted 3), in three methods 4 (conducted 2), in five methods 3 (conducted 1), in six methods 1; Doubles, 5 (conducted 3); total, 50 (conducted 15).

HOUNSLOW.—On Sunday, May 13th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): H. Gash 1, F. G. Goddard 2, H. Belcher 3, H. Worsfold (Egham) 4, W. F. Ellingham 5, C. J. Tricker 6, J. Kent 7, C. Gash 8.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE.

In the following article, which, owing to continued pressure on our space, we have had to hold over for some weeks, the Rev. H. Law James concludes his analyses of method extension.

Eight rows in each lead are the same as Double Bob with the treble in the hunt. We can therefore omit 7th's place with the treble behind and 2nd's place with the treble leading.

21436587
12463578	Cambridge Court with the 6th in the hunt.
21645387
26143578
62415387
26145837
62418573	Double Norwich with the tenor in the hunt.
26481537
62845173
68241537
86125173
68245713
86427531	Cambridge Court with the 7th in the hunt.
68472513
86745231
	The second half of the lead is simply the reverse of the first half-lead.

Shipway extended the method to Royal, and the bells in the hunt in Royal are 6, 8, 9 and 7, as the treble goes up, and, referring again to what has been said of the extension of plain hunting Court methods, you will find all the place making consist of extensions of Double or Single Court Minor, in the same way that all the place making in the Major comes from the same source.

In Superlative Maximus the bells in the hunt are 6, 8, 12, 9 and 7, as the treble goes up, and the places again are all extensions of Double and Single Court.

In the extension rung at Ipswich the bells in the hunt are 6, 10, 12, 11 and 7, the place making again being derived from Double and Single Court Minor, and this extension is not Superlative Maximus simply because it appeared 100 years too late.

H. LAW JAMES.

SUGGESTIONS OF A FLAT.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Tell 'Simple Simon' that if he was ringing the method and the treble was not where he ought to have been, he should have fetched him. 'Perhaps his mus-coles were tired.' Further, he should have known that in twelve-bell ringing it is not essential to go above eight's place. That is if the method is striking enough.

A word to the Acoustics Committee. Outside the tower: While the bells are still at the foundry, broadcast their notes into the tower. Then tune the bells to fit their surroundings. Church authorities who cannot afford a peal could instal a wireless set and borrow the bells from the foundry.

Inside the tower: If the bells are noisy, stand next to the one who calls the bobs. Most of them will put the bells out of tune. If a cheap job is all that can be done, try ordinary roofing felt with alternate layers of old newspapers (not 'The Ringing World') until the desired effect is obtained. To some of the grand old peals fit a leather clapper.—Yours,

'A FLAT.'

THE JOINT MEETING AT NORTH MIMMS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to the report of the joint meeting of the Herts and Middlesex Associations at North Mimms, which was contributed to your columns by Mr. C. T. Coles, I would like to add a few remarks, chiefly to thank all ringing friends who travelled from far and near to attend the meeting, making it such a success. Many old friends renewed acquaintance after years of wandering, and many met for the first time. One pleasing feature of the afternoon was to see Mr. W. Pye ringing plain leads with youngsters of 13 and 14 years of age.

As to the service in the church, the Vicar has since expressed his appreciation of the sincere way in which the ringers took part in the service. The work these meetings entail is a real pleasure when one gets such able co-operation as Mr. Coles gives, and the support to the meeting given generally. It shows by good feeling and comradeship that we are out for one common cause—the advancement of change ringing.

W. NASH.

THE VALUE OF THE SOCIAL SIDE.

In recent weeks a great many bands of ringers have been taking what has been described by one correspondent as 'a busman's holiday' and spending a day, or sometimes two, together upon a ringing excursion. A trip of this description has now become an annual event with almost every well organised company, and is developing into a custom which has everything to commend it. Such outings not only give pleasure to the participants, but they can be educational as well. Visits to other towers give men new experience, without which they can hardly hope to become efficient ringers; they provide opportunities of meeting other men from whose knowledge something may be learnt, and, not least, they help to promote that social aspect which plays no unimportant part in the Exercise.

The last few years, which have seen the rapid development of popular motoring, have brought with them great changes in the facilities for ringers' outings. It was not long since an excursion by road meant a pair-horse brake and a limited itinerary of, perhaps, twenty miles or so. If a more extended journey was desired it involved train travel, which is never so inviting as the open road, and certainly not as convenient for reaching remote towers. But all this is altered. Fast and luxurious cars can take a complete party across England in a day, and excursions covering a hundred or a hundred and fifty miles are now common occurrences. One band a week or two ago spent two days on the road and travelled more than three hundred miles before they reached home. Compare this with a century or so ago, when the only means of travel open to the average ringer of that time was to go a-foot. Think of the men who set out from London to walk to Oxford, or down into some of the old Sussex and Kent towns to ring! Few of them could have afforded to hire horse or chaise, and coaches were not always within reach of their means—yet they went, as we know from records left behind them of the performances they accomplished.

Times have, indeed, changed, and modern transport has placed facilities within reach of every ringer undreamed of two generations ago. An excursion made in those days was an adventure—the event of a lifetime. To-day we all look for at least one outing a year, and some find it possible to have one a week. They are the fortunate ones, but whether it be once a week or once a year, it is only those who make the 'business' element of ringing subservient to the social side who realise to the full the pleasure that can be got from participating in our art. It is for this reason that the 'annual outing' is so valuable. The social spirit is uppermost; it infuses new life into the esprit de corps of the band, and the company return to their duties with their interest reinvigorated. So it is with those who in a wider field get more constantly abroad to mix with their fellows. Jealousies—if there are any—evaporate; rivalries disappear, and with friendly understanding and mutual respect for others men go back to their own belfries with broader minds, fresh ideas, and, often, new aspirations.

A MIDLAND EXCURSION.

Irthlingborough ringers' annual excursion was favoured with beautiful weather. A start was made at 7.30 a.m. in a comfortable and commodious Leyland Lion. The presence of ladies was an innovation, and a very pleasant one too. Twelve of the feminine sex, sweethearts and wives of the Irthlingborough campanologists, together with fourteen ringers and friends, comprised the party. At Finedon the number was augmented by the addition of 'Bricky,' the 'two Johns,' Tewey and Tom; and at Kettering 'Harry B.' completed the party.

Leaving Kettering with a glance at the stately spire of the fine old Church of SS. Peter and Paul, the party journeyed on, through leafy lanes flooded with brilliant sunshine, to Rockingham, famous for its old castle, now inhabited by an American millionaire. Down the very steep incline (a terror to cyclists) we proceeded to Caldecot, and crawled carefully round the narrow winding streets of Uppingham, arriving at Oakham at 10 a.m., according to schedule. The eight bells (tenor 28 cwt.) in the Church of All Saints were soon merrily swinging, and excellent touches of Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Stedman and Bristol were tapped off without a hitch. The tone and 'go' of the bells were greatly admired by all. A walk round the quaint old town, and then all aboard for Melton Mowbray. A further ten miles of lovely wooded scenery dotted with numerous spires (no towers), and the next stop was reached, Melton Mowbray (of pork pie fame). Here the visitors were welcomed by Mr. Bartram and his two sons, and conducted to the commodious ringing chamber of the fine old Church of St. Mary, with its excellent peal of ten bells (tenor 25 cwt.). Courses of Treble Ten and Stedman Caters were rung, also a touch of Grandsire Caters. After 'falling' the bells, an adjournment was made to the Fox Hotel, where an excellent repast was provided by Host Fowler. Grace was sung before and after dinner, followed by a course of Caters and tunes on the handbells by the 'Arleborough' experts. After farewells, off again, and a further fifteen miles (through Rearsby and Syston) to Leicester, arriving about 3 o'clock, once more according to schedule. Straight to ancient St. Margaret's to receive a hearty welcome from Josiah and Ernest 'of that ilk,' and soon the fine peal of twelve (tenor 33 cwt.) were 'lifted,' and a touch of Stedman Caters successfully accomplished.

Treble Ten was next essayed, followed by a course of Grandsire Cinques, the first attempt on twelve by many of the band. A few rounds and changes on the twelve for the 'novices' completed the programme, and, after ceasing, the party separated for shopping and tea. In the evening, the ringers reassembled at the Church of St. John-the-Divine, and were met by the sprightly veteran, 'W. W.' Soon London, Cambridge, Stedman and Plain Bob were successfully brought round. The excellent peal (tenor 21 cwt.) and the splendid 'go' were greatly admired. An adjournment for refreshment followed, the company including some 'notorious' local lads—'Freddy,' 'Harold,' 'Josiah' and 'Ernest.' Three of the five survivors of the 17,000 of D.N.C.B. being together after nearly twenty years' wandering, much 'chin music' took place, and many of the old battles were fought again. After many thanks and fond farewells, the party were once more on the road with faces towards home; time, 8.30 p.m. A special invitation had been given to call at Great Glen, by the Rev. Farnworth Anderson (residing at Glen Hall), at present acting as 'locum' at Irthlingborough. The party were met by Mr. Anderson and taken to the Church of St. Guthbert, a typical village church with a fine old Norman doorway, and courses of Treble Bob and Plain Bob were rung on the pretty peal of six (tenor 9 cwt. 26 lb.). Very interesting details of the bells were afterwards given by the Vicar, reading from the book of old church records. The tenor is dated 1340, and was cast by Johannes de Stafford. It is undoubtedly one of the oldest bells in the district. Homeward bound, songs, hymns, solos, duets, and community singing enlivened the journey, several 'budding Caruso's' spraining their throats with 'Constantinople' and other classic refrains. Harry was dropped at Kettering, and the Finedon 'crush' at the crossroads, the remainder reaching Irthlingborough at about 11 p.m.

The party wish to accord their heartiest thanks to the various incumbents for the use of the bells; to the steeplekeepers for having everything in readiness; and to the numerous friends who met them and largely contributed to a most successful and enjoyable outing.

A COLCHESTER CEREMONY.

After having adorned the walls of St. Peter's Church, Colchester, since 1857, the tattered Crimean colours of the 44th Regiment, now the 1st Battalion the Essex Regiment, stationed at Goojerat Barracks, Colchester, were restored to the regiment at an impressive special service conducted at the church on Sunday morning, being later conveyed to the regiment's quarters by a colour party and 200 of the battalion with fixed bayonets, and afterwards displayed on the barrack square. After appropriate treatment, the colours ultimately will be deposited in the regimental chapel at Warley, where they will hang with numerous other colours, which betoken the honourable career of the regiment, and which also have been restored to the regiment under like circumstances to Sunday's ceremony.

Previous to the service, touches of Double Norwich and Grandsire Triples were rung at St. Peter's Church by W. Boyden, F. L. Bumpstead, E. P. Duffield, H. Evers, H. T. Pye, G. Rashbrook, W. J. Schofield, R. W. Stannard and W. J. Nevard.

CROYDON FOUNDRY CONTRACTS.

Among the bell contracts which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston now have in hand are the following:—

BLAYDON-ON-TYNE, Durham.—Peal of six, tenor 7 cwt., to be rehung in new frame with new fittings.

TALBOT VILLAGE, Dorset.—Chime of twelve, bass bell 3½ cwt., to be recast.

CHULMLEIGH, Devon.—Peal of eight, tenor 24 cwt., back six to be hung on ball bearings.

ST. COLUMB'S CATHEDRAL, LONDONDERRY, Ireland.—Recast eight bells into peal of eight, tenor 20½ cwt., supply fittings for eight, and new metal frame for 13 suitable for a 31 cwt. tenor, and an Ellacombe chiming apparatus for 13 bells.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting was held at St. Mellons on Saturday, when a fair number of members from both Monmouthshire and Glamorganshire put in an appearance. The bells, a ring of six, were raised early in the afternoon, and rung in various methods until 4.30. A service was then held in the Parish Church, the Vicar (the Rev. Connop L. Price) officiating. His address, one quite out of the ordinary, was much appreciated. Tea, which had been very generously provided by the Vicar and his wife, was taken in the new Parish Hall recently provided by the efforts of the Vicar, who has been but a very short time in the parish.

Following the tea, the business meeting was held, the Vicar taking the chair.

The article which recently appeared in 'The Ringing World' in reference to 'Defaulters' was read by the hon. secretary. This article, which was based on the report of the Bath and Wells Association, is by no means applicable to that association only.

It was decided to hold the next Monmouth meeting at Llangibby. The next Glamorgan meeting is already arranged for Pentre.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and his wife for their kindness and hospitality, and this terminated the business.

The visitors included Mr. Robt. J. Dawe, of Lewes, Sussex, and Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough.

The bells were afterwards rung, and advantage also taken to ring on the beautiful peal of six at Rumney, which was immensely appreciated by those who had not previously paid a visit to this tower.

HILLINGDON RINGERS VISIT WINCHESTER.

Saturday, July 7th, had been looked forward to for weeks by certain ringers in the Hillingdon District, and when that day dawned great was the stir in that little village. At 7.30 a.m. all those 'daft'-looking people had gathered themselves together into a charabanc and set out to enjoy life in their own 'daft' way! After a very beautiful and interesting ride through Windsor Great Park, Ascot, Bagshot and Aldershot, with its miles of barracks, Farnham (the Surrey one) was reached shortly after nine o'clock. The fresh morning air brought an appetite with it, and coffee and rolls (both hot and steaming!) were in great demand at the old Lamb and Lion Hotel. Mr. Hasted welcomed the ringers at the tower, and the bells were soon set going to Stedman Triples. Bob Major and Grandsire Triples followed, and the programme concluded with ringing the bells down in peal. The Vicar of Farnham appeared in time to say a few words of welcome.

Winchester was reached just before mid-day. There was just sufficient time before lunch for the Vicar of Hillingdon, Rev. H. J. Kiteat, who accompanied his ringers, to show them the college war memorial. This consists of a square court, bounded by cloisters, with a cross in the centre. Of its embellishments, one could write pages. Sufficient to add that no one visiting Winchester should miss this work of art. An excellent luncheon was partaken of at Dumper's Restaurant. During the afternoon some of the party, under the guidance of Mr. H. J. Wilkinson, went out to Hursley and rang some of the standard methods on the bells. Others spent their time exploring the Cathedral, Abbey ruins, Westgate, etc. Tea at Dumper's was very welcome.

The ringers then made their way to the Cathedral, and mingled with members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, who were holding their annual meeting that day. After a very tortuous ascent, surely in parts the most narrow approach to a belfry, the magnificent ringing chamber was reached. The ringing commenced with a 'touch' of rounds on the twelve, after which a course of Stedman Cinques was brought round. The following Hillingdon ringers rang in the latter: F. G. Baldwin, A. R. G. Twinn, R. Warnett, J. J. Pratt, F. W. Goodfellow, and F. Corke (St. Andrew's). The ages of the three first-named are but 15, 14 and 16 years respectively. This was their first ring on twelve bells, and, as Mr. George Williams was heard to remark, he wished there were more ringers about who handled their bells as well. With a long journey ahead, a move had to be made, and the descent to terra firma was safely accomplished. Winchester was reluctantly left behind, with snatches of Caters on the Cathedral bells floating down on the breeze.

The return journey was through Basingstoke to Bagshot, where a stop was made for a 'little something,' and Hillingdon Church was reached at 10.10 p.m., after an exceedingly enjoyable day. Through this paper the ringers would like to thank the Vicar of Farnham and Mr. Hasted for their kind welcome, and Mr. G. Williams for so generously allowing the younger members of the party to enter into the realms of twelve-bell ringing. The total distance covered was 120 miles.

MUSEUMS AND ARCHÆOLOGISTS.

BY 'IRENÆUS.'

In the beginning—no, I am not going to rewrite the first book of Moses, as you might be led to conjecture by those first three words. I was going to write as Milton of old wrote—no, not about Paradise, because it is obvious to me that I cannot add one iota of poetic grandeur to his lines—but, I am going to write as the Puritan poet wrote, that is to say, 'to a line' stretched across my drawing board to guide my pencil. It will be obvious to any of my readers who have the gift of observation sufficient to learn a little art from Chantry, Rembrandt, and Raphael, a little philosophy from Aristotle and Plato, and a lump of the super-knowledge of human nature from William Shakespeare—how and why I take the Milton path across a sheet of notepaper. The mother of invention is said to be, and very truly, 'necessity,' and as 'Mester Milton' has no further need of his invention to guide his hand and pen, while I have, I have not hesitated to 'pinch' the 'Milton patent,' because the fact remains I am not a 'dictator,' as some readers might think. No, my thoughts will not flow, except in disjointed fashion, through another head and link properly to paper, and I am more convinced now than ever that too many Bakers burn the bread. It is reasonable to suppose every one of you has read how Alfred the Great was a good and wise King, but was 'licked at baking a few cakes,' and so am I 'licked into catfits' when I try to write through someone else. But just in between the gloaming and the shank end of last evening I sat thinking and wondering and pondering over our museums, and it struck me very, very forcibly that no one has taken up the pen and spoilt the virgin whiteness of one inch in 'The Ringing World' to let the Exercise at large know that we in Sheffield have got at long last 'one museum less.' Yes, it's true! A very 'King of bell-founders' has been and gone. He has put his foot in the belfry of All Saints', and, believe me, has kicked out the discord, cat howls and siren-like sounds from that 'chamber of horrors,' and with his own 'rite and' hath he 'putten' in some bells and bell music! Yes, reader, I would be the last person in the world to lead you astray, but if ever you do stray this way, just go up Ellsmere Road—sounds rather uncompromising, I agree. There is not the least danger of being distracted, or knocked flat on the pavement with a splinter through your musical heart, and there is no danger, no, not the least, of a 'bust tympanium,' because—well, All Saints' bells are eight nice, round, soft balls of velvet sounded in a descending scale. Yes, they are the most perfect series of ringing bells, tuned to equal temperament in the city of Sheffield. Gurn! Handsworth and Norton are 'sub-hubs.' Congratulations to the churchpeople who went about the job with wisdom. 'They have done their duty to a past generation by doing that which was their duty to the next!'

Yes, Mr. Editor, it has been kept very, very secret since May 21st, when these bells were dedicated, and since that day they have won, and will continue to win, golden opinion. And that's what is commonly called 'that'! Therefore I'll add: Verb sap.

Now, Mr. Editor, from comments which you have made, which have fallen on my ear, I take it that you are no lover of museums or of archæologists with 'A.M.I.S.E.' running behind their cognomens. I'm not so struck with 'em myself, either, but the question arises, 'What is a museum?' My definition is that is a cabinet, a room, or a belfry of curiosities. That may sound rather vague, but it is the best definition I can give for one who only had a 'frosty edification.' However, let me see if I can give you an illustration of my conception of a museum. H'm! Now I'm in a fix, a worse fix than ever. What? Licked? No, not yet. 'Ere, Nancy, help, help! Reader, this is Nancy speaking now: 'Wotsup?'

Nowt, my dear, only I want you to read me a few of the notes I have aforetime writ on the Sheffield Cathedral museum.

What! Do you expect me to read about six-and-sixty chapters? Oh, no, no, no; it's the dates I want.

Well, it's the dates you won't get, because we ain't got any.

I ain't talking about fruit, Nancy. I'm just axing you to read me the episodic epochs which I have copied from off the 'ribs and brazen bosoms' of the Cathedral bells and entered in that notebook. What? Yes.

1798, next 1804, next 1809, next 1836, next 1856, next 1868, next 1922, next—what!

That's all?

Very good. Off yer pop. I can manage now, thanks, till I want you as 'proof reader.'

Now I don't want anyone to run away with the idea that these figures above are connected in any shape or form with extension—beyond the 1868; that does savour of it, I agree. Neither are they the 'part ends' of a peal, nor have they any connection with that poem, 'We are seven,' or the rising and falling cadences of the 'Sevenfold Amen!' Reader, those figures alone go to prove that 'somebodies' have had seven tries to get a peal worthy of the Cathedral Church, and they have failed miserably. These 'somebodies' who knew it all, and knew nowt, lacked the wisdom which must have been, ah, even overflowing in the authorities of All Saints' who went about the job at one hitch and achieved a 'oneness'! No, they didn't want a 'sevenness': they aimed for one tensility, one elasticity, and homogeneity, and they have got it. Is there any logic in any church authorities who refuse to give logic a

A HOLIDAY IN HEREFORDSHIRE.

On Friday, July 6th, six members of the Chester Branch of the Diocesan Guild started for their annual ringing outing—Messrs. J. Morgan, H. W. Wilde, G. Jones, W. Thomas, W. Clarke and A. E. Richards. This year Hereford and district was the place selected. The party started under very pleasant conditions from Broxton, along the Whitchurch Road, live enjoying the comfort of a touring car, and the other showing how easy it was to leave the car behind on his motor bike. All went well as far as Ludlow, where they stayed for tea. Disappointment was expressed here, as Ludlow bells could not be rung owing to a choir practice. However, a quick move was made to Leominster, where on a fine peal an extent of Oxford Treble Bob Minor was brought round on the back six. Messrs. R. J. Jones and R. T. Cooke very kindly assisted afterwards in a touch of Grandsire Triples. Among many interesting objects at this church, a fine specimen of an ancient ducking stool was to be seen. The next move was to the headquarters at Hereford, the City Arms Hotel, which was reached in good time, the rest of the evening being spent in making plans and studying maps for the following day. Needless to say, this part of the programme was much enjoyed.

'Early' next morning the 'lads' sallied forth on their errand in search of Lugwardine Church, which was only found after losing the way in spite of maps and signposts. Here Double Oxford was the order, and 720 successfully accomplished. Stoke Edith Church provided a good peal of six, and a Double Bob extent was brought round in fine style. The party then proceeded to Tarrington, where a short organ recital was given by one of the band, before the ringing of 720 Kent Treble Bob. At the Foley Arms full justice was done to an excellent lunch, and soon afterwards the party once again moved off to Fownhope Church, where an extent of Plain Bob and 120 Stedman were rung. Then to Hampton Bishop, where they successfully accomplished a 720 of Cambridge. After tea at headquarters, the party, still not satisfied, set out for Marden, where a combined practice was taking place. Here an extent of Oxford Bob was rung, and afterwards touches in other methods. This completed the ringing for Saturday.

Sunday morning found the men up and doing Stedman Triples and Kent Major at All Saints' with the help of two ringing friends. Still not satisfied, a few minutes' walk brought them to St. Nicholas' Church, where touches of Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge were rung for service. This concluded the change ringing.

It is interesting to note that seven different 720's were rung in addition to various touches of Triples and Major. The conducting was shared by J. Morgan, H. W. Wilde and A. E. Richards.

After lunch on Sunday a move was made for home, which was safely reached at quite a respectable hour, after one or two interesting experiences en route. One in particular was a short tour in Radnorshire, which was not on the programme. The band desire, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all who contributed to the success of this outing, and particularly the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, who so kindly secured the necessary permission at the various towers. It is said there are about seventy more towers in the neighbourhood, so no doubt at some future time a further visit will be paid to this beautiful district.

hearing? Is there any common sense in people who have got the money to hand to do the job properly and who commission a founder (I don't care what his abilities are as a founder) to melt up a couple of bells, and give them the same 'tone colour' as bells which have done service for 124 years—such as, for example, the 4th in this museum? No founder breathing can do it, any more than you or I could. Hamlet didn't approve of 'uncle fathers and aunt mothers,' and I, for one, agree there was something rotten in the state of Denmark. You'll find it also in your marketing basket if you go and purchase two pennyworth of cat's meat at seven different butchers' shops and expect to find the whole in one stage of decomposition. Now you won't find seven stages of 'anæmia' at the Crooked Spire, as Arthur and his knights of the round table know. They which hang 'neath the uplifted and twisted symbolism of the tail of 'Lucifer' are 'one anæmia,' the 1819 type. They are worthy of preservation, and they will certainly keep a little longer, for they are—reader, words fail me—not nearly so bad as Ranmore. Anybody dispute that? And who'll contradict me when I say—now, Garge, steady, lad!—that Ecclesfield has got a lovely museum? Yes, and Ecclesfield has had in time past great men, men of letters, archæologists, historians, etc., and, believe me, or not, these men knew a lot, but they didn't know their Lombardic 'alfeybet'! No, they didn't know an 'hen' from an 'aiche'! And I'll prove it when next I contribute.

HATFIELD, HERTS.—The Hatfield Guild of College Youths on Friday, May 25th, at the dedication service of the new organ in St. Etheldreda's Church by the Bishop of Exeter (Lord William Gascoigne Cecil), rang a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes) in 53 mins.: S. Cull 1, R. Shepherd 2, A. Shepherd 3, R. Richardson 4, L. Shepherd 5, J. T. Kentish (conductor) 6, J. G. Dunham 7, P. S. A. Lawrence 8.

A VISIT TO LOUGHBOROUGH BELL FOUNDRY.

With the good fortune usually associated with their annual outing, July 21st—a glorious day—was the date chosen by the company of St. Mary's Church, Ecclesfield, known as the 'Minster of the Moors,' for this year's excursion, when they were accompanied by Mr. Bell, of Wombwell, and several of the St. Marie's (R.C.) Church, Sheffield, ringers. The party, consisting of 40 members and friends, journeyed via the L.M.S. Railway to Loughborough, a saloon car contributing a comfortable means of travel. A hearty reception was given the visitors on arriving at the famous foundry, and under the guidance of several officials of the firm a very interesting tour of the works was made.

Talk about bells! One can hardly imagine such a vast number and variety as were on view, embracing all sizes and weights from several pounds to tons. The carillon for the Bird Sanctuary, Florida, U.S.A., was being dismantled ready for despatch across the Atlantic, but the framework itself conveyed to the visitors what a splendid and unique instrument of music this will be when erected in its permanent position.

Proof of the world-wide fame of Taylor's, of Loughborough, was evident by the fact of bells being in various processes for places as far distant as Indianapolis and New South Wales, Australia, whilst the home demand was represented, amongst others, by the bells of Worcester Cathedral.

Dinner was arranged at the Great Central Hotel. This proved to be a very enjoyable item, after which a hearty vote of thanks to Messrs. Taylor and Co. for their kind invitation was loudly acclaimed. —This was suitably responded to by Mr. C. Harrison on behalf of the firm.

A move back to the work's campanile gave the visitors opportunity to try their skill on this famous peal of ten, which, we understand, is considered to be the most perfectly tuned peal in the world. Varied degrees of success attended the efforts of the visitors, after which a start was made to Stanford-on-Soor, where arrangements for ringing had been made by Mr. Collins, of the Foundry, and who formed one of the party. An hour's ringing in various methods brought tea time, which meal was again at the Central Hotel, Loughborough.

Owing to renovations now in hand, the tower of the Parish Church was not available, whilst time did not permit a more extended survey of Loughborough. However, several expressed a desire to make further acquaintance when occasion offers, and the ringers now wish to express, through 'The Ringing World,' their hearty thanks to Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. and all others who so kindly contributed to what proved to be a splendid day's outing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Reports of peals rung on Bank Holiday should be posted to us the same night, so that they may be inserted in next Friday's issue.

The bells of Crich, Derbyshire, are being restored by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and five of them are to be recast. Two trebles are also to be added to augment them to eight. The Sherwood Foresters' war memorial is at Crich. Its beacon light is visible in five counties.

Nearly a hundred and fifty members and visitors attended the annual meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild on Saturday, when the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was re-elected Master, Mr. A. Wright hon. treasurer, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert hon. secretary. A report of the proceedings will appear in our next issue.

Quex Park bells, the only ringing peal of twelve on a private estate, were opened on August 4th, 1819, when there were great celebrations, and London ringers were responsible for the ringing.

The first recorded peal of Grandsire Royal was rung at Painswick on August 6th, 1815.

A 'silent' peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Drayton, Berks, on August 7th, 1899.

Thurstans' famous four-part was rung for the first time on August 8th, 1842.

THE MASONIC PEAL BOOK.

The Masonic Peal Book is now in course of preparation, and upon completion will be presented to Grand Lodge to be placed in the library and museum. There are still several brethren who have taken part in peals and whose names will appear in the book who have not yet sent subscriptions. Will those who desire to do so kindly forward at an early date to Mr. F. White, Westfield, Cranbrook, Kent, in order that the fund may be closed? When the book is completed and presented there will be published in this paper a description of the book and the procedure necessary for recording future peals.

GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL.

The recent incident at Gloucester Cathedral, when visiting ringers were excluded from the ringing chamber on the instructions of the Dean, is no new development. History has only repeated itself. Forty years ago entry to the Cathedral tower was equally difficult. On October 20th, 1894, Mr. F. E. Dawe conducted the first peal of Stedman Triples on the bells, but it took fourteen years of steady effort to get final permission. On one occasion the band were stopped at the door, on another a last-minute telegram was just in time to prevent a band of College Youths leaving Paddington.

In a report of the peal, when it was rung, it was suggested that the fact that many years before some visiting ringers had accidentally set fire to the ringing chamber had caused the difficulty. Anyhow, this unfortunate occurrence resulted in an edict which prevented any artificial light being used in the tower for the peal, and, a heavy storm coming over while the ringing was in progress, it was only by watching the rising and falling of white shirt sleeves that the darkness in the tower was overcome. Among the survivors of this peal, in addition to Mr. F. E. Dawe, are the Revs. H. L. and E. B. James and Mr. Tom Hibbert.

A HAMPSHIRE RING AUGMENTED.

On Sunday, July 22nd, at St. Andrew's Church, Sherborne St. John, Hants, the Bishop of Winchester dedicated a new treble in memory of men of the village who lost their lives in the Great War. The existing five have also been retuned by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in a very satisfactory way. The 'go' of the bells is now excellent, and after the service the undermentioned rang a well-struck 720 of Bob Minor in 27 mins.: J. Ballard (Basingstoke) 1, C. Ostler (Bramley) 2, K. Hunt (Oakley) 3, W. Ford (Mortimer) 4, J. Chesterman (Basingstoke) 5, G. C. Hammond (Sherborne St. John) (conductor) 6, who thus achieved his ambition to call the first 720 on the newly-augmented peal. It is 35 years since he called a 720, and all present hoped he might have the pleasure of calling the first peal on the bells.

CARTER'S 'BROADSHEET.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is there anyone who can tell your readers if there are any false peals of Stedman Caters on the late John Carter's broadsheet. If so, would you kindly publish the numbers of them?—Yours etc.,

G. E. SYMONDS.

A YOUTHFUL BEGINNER.

At Rock Ferry, Cheshire, on Thursday, July 26th, 720 Plain Bob: G. R. Edwards 1, G. Battle 2, T. Birch 3, J. F. Smith 4, W. J. Battle 5, W. Dean (conductor) 6. The ringer of the second is only 12 years old, and this was his first 720 with an inside bell.

JOHN BRIANT, OF HERTFORD.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO CELEBRATED BELL FOUNDER.

Early next year will occur the centenary of the death of John Briant, the celebrated Hertford bell founder, and a movement is on foot among archaeologists and others to provide a suitable memorial. A leaflet is being issued by the East Herts Archaeological Society inviting support for the proposal in all those parishes where specimens of Briant's handiwork remain. The circular says:—

'As the lofty spires of our churches ever point us upwards, so does the music of distant bells, borne on the breeze in the quiet of a Sabbath day, whether across the restful beauty of the countryside, or the teeming roofs of our cities, draw our thoughts away from earth and upward to the contemplation of the Real and Eternal. But the spire's appeal is limited to the sight, whereas the sweet message of the bells carries far and wide. While we listen to their melody, how seldom do we spare a thought for the humble and often unknown craftsman to whose skill in bell casting that melody is due? Surely we owe these men some acknowledgment for the legacy of harmony and invitation Godward which they have left us! And now comes one of those rare opportunities of paying something of our debt to one of them. Few bell founders have achieved a greater reputation than did John Briant. . . . We feel sure that you would like to participate with other bell lovers in expressing appreciation of what John Briant did in the cause of campanology by making a contribution towards the cost of placing a memorial tablet to his memory in All Saints' Church, Hertford, on the occasion of the centenary of his death in February next, 1929. The East Herts Archaeological Society has undertaken to bear the cost of the repair of his grave and tombstone in the churchyard there. In connection with this centenary celebration, the society is preparing a booklet on the life and work of John Briant together with a complete list of his bells. A copy of this will be presented free to all subscribers of £1 or more. The hon. treasurer of the East Herts Archaeological Society, Mr. C. H. R. Hulbert, of 73, Ware Road, Hertford, will be pleased to receive your contribution.'

Mr. H. C. Andrews, of the Victoria and Albert Museum, S.W., who has undertaken the responsibility of preparing the 'Life and Work' of Briant, which will include a complete list of his bells and also of his clocks as far as possible (for Briant was a clockmaker as well as bell founder), will be glad of any information about his subject which anyone cares to send him. He is, of course, conversant with all the printed authorities, such as the publications of the bells of various counties. North, in his 'Church Bells of Northants,' 1878, page 203, remarks: 'Mr. Leonard Proctor tells me that a "Life of John Briant" has been written, but I have not seen it.' If any of our readers can put Mr. Andrews on to this 'Life' he will be very thankful.

John Briant is said to have been born at Exning, Suffolk, in 1749. His father sent him to school at Newmarket, it being intended that he should go to the University, take orders, and enter the Church. But young John's tastes for mechanics led him along a different path, and he became a clockmaker and bell founder.

Before the year 1781 John Briant had settled in Hertford, and set up his foundry and workshop in Parliament Row, whence, during the next half-century, issued a continuous stream of bells and clocks. Over four hundred bells are known to have been made by him. Clocks at Swaffham Prior Church, Cambs, Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire, at King's College, Cambridge, at Blenheim Palace for the Duke of Marlborough, one for the Duke of Rutland, and one for the Shire Hall, Hertford, were also his work, but there must have been many others made for private persons, and now lost sight of.

Briant's reputation recognised no county boundaries. His fame with his bells spread over seventeen English counties north into Lincolnshire, and west into Devon; and even crossed the sea into Ireland, where four of his bells are to be found at Tuam Cathedral, Edenderry, and Lisburn (2).

As is only to be expected, Hertfordshire stands first in the list with ninety-four bells. Bucks comes next with forty-five, Essex has forty-one, Northants thirty-eight, Oxfordshire thirty-six, Leicestershire thirty-one, Cambridgeshire twenty-one, Warwickshire twenty, Salop nineteen, and so on. Thirty-six Hertfordshire parish churches possess bells by John Briant.

The last bell which Briant cast was for Hinxworth Church in 1824. He retired the next year and sold his business to Thomas Mears, of Whitechapel, London. But in 1827 his great reputation caused the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln Cathedral to consult him as to the best mode of dealing with the Cathedral bells, and especially with their famous 'Great Tom' which was cracked. But his modesty and generosity throughout his career prevented his banking account from growing with his reputation. If a parish church found itself unable to meet the bill for bells which he supplied, he accepted what it could pay and never pressed for payment of his accounts, so in the end it is not surprising that he fell into extreme pecuniary difficulties. In this quandary he accepted a home in an almshouse at St. Albans from Earl Spencer, where he died on February 27th, 1829, in his 81st year. He was buried, in accordance with his expressed wish, in All Saints' Churchyard, Hertford, on March 10th following, in the grave where his first wife, Mary, née Hanley, had been interred thirty-six years before, and his mother-in-law, Mary Hanley, in 1790.

THE EXTENSION OF SUPERLATIVE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There is one sentence in the article by Rev. H. Law James in your issue of July 27th that I take strong objection to, and that is that this extension is not Superlative Maximus simply because it appeared '100 years too late.' Really, is that so? Will the Rev. H. Law James tell your readers his opinion of this question. Had Shipway extended Superlative to Maximus as now rung at Ipswich and elsewhere, would he admit that Shipway was right then in that case, or would he say Shipway was 100 years too soon? I expect he will say you must read all the article. What does Owen Kay say on this point? Their answers will be very interesting to some of your readers, and especially to

B. SHARP.

A QUESTION STILL UNANSWERED.

Dear Sir,—Why has it taken a whole series of articles on the construction of diverse methods to enable the Rev. H. Law James to write his last sentence: 'This extension (the Maximus rung at Ipswich) is not Superlative Maximus simply because it appeared 100 years too late'? If that is his answer to my first letter of nearly a year ago, when I asked him to give us a simple explanation of his reason for his statement, why could he not have said so at once? Mr. James may not agree, but I imagine ordinary ringers will not be satisfied to accept his dictum. Because somebody a hundred years ago had not found the true Maximus extension, it does not follow that when it is discovered it must be ruled out. Mr. James has himself produced what he calls the correct extension, based on Shipway's Royal, but he has yet to answer my question on that vital place, where he converts a 6th's place in Shipway's Royal into a 4th's place in the Maximus. Which is right, Shipway or James?—Yours, etc.,

A PLAIN RINGER.

SHIPWAY'S ROYAL PARTLY MONGREL.

Dear Sir,—Historical evidence points to the fact that primitive man and his descendants for five thousand years and upwards believed the world to be flat!

Science in the last five centuries has proved beyond the vestige of a doubt that primitive man was mistaken in his beliefs.

What I should like to ask the Rev. H. L. James is this: Is the ringing Exercise, in these enlightened days, expected to go on believing for 5,000 years that the Royal method produced by William Shipway is a correct extension of 'Superlative' Surprise Major?

The most that can be claimed for Shipway's Royal is: The first four round blocks and the last four round blocks of the first half lead are correct, but this is only two-fifths of the whole, leaving three-fifths that are mongrel!

What is the use of talking of science, if science is not allowed to correct the mistakes of former generations?—Yours faithfully,

'OWEN KAY.'

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT HASLEMERE.

Nearly fifty members and visitors, including a considerable contingent from Portsmouth, attended the Guildford District meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Haslemere on Saturday. The town is situated in one of the prettiest districts in Surrey, and the bells are one of the prettiest peals of ten in the country. The tenor is only 13 cwt., and they are a ring of Taylor's best. A good many young ringers tried their hand on ten bells for the first time, but light bells on ball bearings are not easy for beginners to handle when they have started to learn on 'the other sort.' Touches were rung in a variety of methods, including Plain and Treble Bob Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Superlative and London Surprise Major, but Cambridge Royal proved elusive.

The Rector (Rev. J. F. la McAnally) conducted the Guild's service, and gave an address, at the outset of which he welcomed the Guild to Haslemere, and hoped that the meeting would be the forerunner of many other similar gatherings there.

Tea was served in the school, the Rev. O. S. Walford presiding, in the absence of the Rector, who had to leave for Brighton immediately after the service.

At the business meeting the Rector was elected a life member of the Guild, and one ringing member was also elected.

The question of adopting a badge for the Guild was discussed, but there was a marked indifference on the subject, for, when a vote was taken, there was only one in favour and two against.

Mr. A. H. Pulling gave a report on the Central Council meeting at Hereford, which he attended as the representative of the Guild, and Mr. W. R. Melville appealed to the members to give further support to the combined practices in the district. None of the practices had been a failure, but the organisers would like to see some fresh faces among those who attended.

A vote of thanks to the Rector, the Rev. O. S. Walford, the organist, and the ladies who had assisted at the tea, concluded the meeting.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

A STRANGER'S PEN SKETCH OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

In one of his recent articles, 'Twice round the London clock in 1928,' appearing in the 'Daily Chronicle,' Stephen Graham wrote on 'The Bellringers of St. Paul's.' We cannot refrain from quoting at length from this interesting sketch:—

'Are you the Bellringers' Union?'

'No; we are called the Society of College Youths.'

'The Ancient Society of College Youths, eh?'

'Yes. Dick Whittington started it on College Hill, and since his day the bellringers have been called the College Youths.'

'So no matter how old you get you always remain one of the boys?'

The conversation took place in an old public-house in the neighbourhood of Amen Corner, called the Coffee Pot. The bells of St. Paul's had been pouring melody over the padlocked warehouses and shut shops of the city, and the joyous work accomplished of ringing out the day, the bellringers had come across to their favourite inn for a convivial glass.

I notice the bellringers, though a simple fraternity, love to talk the special technical lingo of bellringing, and in the conversation that went on my ears were constantly baffled by words like cantology and tintinnabula and cater and 'number,' and by talk of falsity of composition. But I gathered that the joyous bells of St. Michael's did a great work that day and drove the devils away.

That must have been one of the mediæval functions of bells—not only to give praise, but to drive off evil spirits from the town. St. Michael's bells have been famous for centuries—the best ring of six bells to be rung by six men that was in England.

The bellringers seem devoted to the lore of their craft, and, as is fitting to those who spend more time in belfries than other men spend on their knees, they are devotees of the clock and the calendar, hours, numbers and days.

I went upstairs to their meeting room, where they gather regularly to discuss their affairs, and I was surprised by the knowledge of City history, the devotion to the past, and the passionate belief in bellringing.

A Vicar and his wife, being ailing, complained that they could not sleep at night, and asked that the bells of the Parish Church, one of the most famous and historic in the City, should not be pealed on a week night.

This aroused instant indignation, though such letters to the bellringers are, alas, not uncommon nowadays.

'If they can stand the bells on Sundays, ringing for divine service, surely the week-night ringing will do them no harm.'

'If a man's health does not improve listening to the bells, he must be in a poor way indeed.'

The Master listened with philosophic mien. The secretary did most of the talking. Seated at a table in front of which stood what looked like the silver regalia of the Order, they held the bellringers' fortnightly meeting. There were two silver cups and a little silver bell mounted on a wooden standard, and there were little candlesticks with tallow candles on each side of these. These candlesticks accompanied Wellington through the Peninsular War, and it is possible he read his dispatches by their aid.

'Not Wellington's candle, but his candlesticks, you understand,' said an old bellringer, facetiously.

They were rather a mixed assemblage of men.

One opposite me might have posed as a village blacksmith: broad, sinuous, with big, open, self-reliant face, and the clothes of an artisan. Several ringers had a recognisable city look, old-fashioned, simple, their conversation short of grammar, but bristling with technical expressions. I should be inclined to call them not College Youths, but gentlemen of the City Watch; they were Shakespearean worthies.

I loved to hear one of them who was challenging a certain historic falsity of composition in connection with a disputed record of the ringers at St. John's, Horselydown.

'I am not harmed with evidence,' he kept saying.

He was the sort of man who fortunately has not been harmed by anything much.

But one of the College Youths did actually look like a college youth, and had the air of having come from tennis rackets rather than from the ropes of St. Paul's. Another, soft-voiced and genteel, looked rather like an organist's brother and a passer of cakes at a church social. But the stalwart, guild type of old-fashioned London man did predominate in the gathering.

There were twelve little bells like muffin bells on a side-table, and I hoped some demonstration might be made on them. But the chief business of the evening seemed to be a searching of the records and the identification of a bellringer of fame and a consideration of the disputed claim of St. John's. There were some huge books of records, in which the whole lore of the College Youths seemed contained.

'Are there any more questions before we have the beer sent up?'

Yes, more questions. They love asking questions.

Then dates were made to ring the bells at Southwark and at St. Andrew's.

REDEDICATION OF SULGRAVE BELLS.

AMERICAN'S GENEROUS GIFT.

The historic church of St. James-the-Less, Sulgrave, Northamptonshire, was filled to overflowing on Wednesday evening, July 25th, for the rededication of the peal of five bells by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough. Sulgrave is the ancient home of the Washington family, and as such is the Mecca of all American visitors to England, who find absorbing interest in the beautiful church and the charming restored manor house, whence emanated the family of their national hero.

Although the parishioners of Sulgrave have nobly responded to the call for funds for the restoration of the church tower and bells, a large proportion of the cost has been borne by Americans, who are also providing a new oak vestry screen and ringing floor.

During the rededication service, the Vicar, Rev. W. S. Pakenham-Walsh, M.A., appealed for the outstanding balance of £260 owing on the restoration scheme, and it was subsequently announced that Mr. Sharpe, of Providence, U.S.A., would make up any deficit outstanding after the collection made for the purpose at the service. Mr. Sharpe, who was present, is a lover of bells, and recently ordered from the Croydon Foundry a carillon of 53 bells, bass bell 3½ tons, as a result of hearing the Louvain carillon.

The Bishop of Peterborough, than whom there is no more eloquent and able member of the Episcopal Bench, gave the large congregation, among whom were many American visitors, a most interesting and excellent address, touching first in dignified and sympathetic terms upon the tragedy of the death of Charles Austin, the bell hanger engaged upon the rehanging, and thereafter emphasising the importance of bells in Christian communities, and impressing appreciation of their music upon the people of England, who do not always realise the priceless heritage they possess of ancient churches and beautiful bells, possessions which those who live in the newer countries are often more ready to appreciate.

A short touch of Grandsire Doubles was rung immediately after the dedicatory prayers, and after the Blessing 120 Stedman Doubles were brought round by Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn (Croydon), Maurice Smith (Banbury), W. J. Dore (Northampton), W. Mardell (Sulgrave), and F. Wilford (Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild). Among other ringers who took part in subsequent touches were Mr. Cyril Johnston, Rev. R. Howes, Vicar of Cold Higham, and his son, Mr. Howes, T. Impey and R. R. Lewis, of Banbury.

The five bells, tenor 10 cwt. 3 qr. 2 lb., have been recast and rehanging in a new metal frame and modern fittings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the result being very favourably commented upon. Mr. Harry Godfrey has given a clock, striking the hours upon the tenor bell, with copper dial, and this is also being supplied and fixed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

A VISIT TO STISTED.

On Saturday, July 14th, the Springfield (Essex) ringers had their annual outing, and the afternoon and evening being exceptionally fine a very pleasant time was spent. Starting from Chelmsford at 1.30 p.m. by charabanc, the first call was made at Stebbing, where ringing was thoroughly enjoyed for an hour before going on to Rayne. Here the party were again received, and found everything in readiness. Short touches were indulged in, and the journey then continued to Stisted, where the visitors were met by an old friend and ringer in Mr. H. F. Cooper, formerly of Chelmsford, where he was a ringer at the Cathedral before taking up his abode at Stebbing some 11 years ago. A capital repast was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, which was greatly appreciated by one and all. After tea a visit was made to the tower, and ringing was once more carried on upon the fine peal of six bells, which last year were rehung. Touches of Plain Bob, Oxford, Kent, Cambridge, New London, and Beverley were in turn brought round until 9 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

Afterwards a visit was once again made to Coopers, where handbell ringing was indulged in by the visitors and locals alike. Indeed, the visit was so much appreciated by the local band that it was difficult to break away until 10.15 p.m. The return journey was made via Braintree and Waltham, a cool ride after a very hot afternoon and evening. Chelmsford was reached at 11 p.m. Thanks are accorded to friends at the various towers for their kindness and readiness in making the excursion as pleasant as it was possible to be, especially to Mr. and Mrs. Cooper for the kind reception extended to the party. Accompanying the visitors was Mr. W. Hawkes, who a few days earlier attained the magnificent age of 83 years. He regularly rings at Springfield, where he started his career, and has been ringing for 61 years. He still can ring with the best in the tower.

There is no equivocation about bellringing. They love ringing the bells and giving London voice. It seems a pity that so many people nowadays have lost the ear for bells and are annoyed by continuous pealing. For this is the old voice of London, sound, clear, hearty, ever young, and so much more true than jazz or barrel-organs or street-corner oratory. I like the names of the bells of St. Stephen, Rochester Row—Blessing, Glory, Wisdom, Thanksgiving, Honour, Power, Might, and Be unto our God for ever and ever, Amen, Alleluia. These names seem to suggest what the bells are saying when the College Youths are pulling the ropes for us.

END OF A FAMOUS PEAL.

BELLS OF ST. MARTIN'S, BIRMINGHAM, ON THEIR WAY TO THE FOUNDRY.

Top (left): The Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's (Mr. Albert Walker) and the Verger (Mr. W. E. Clinch) take farewell of the eleventh; (right) the tenor ready for removal after 170 years in the tower. Bottom: The twelve bells outside the church door.

The famous old peal of St. Martin's, Birmingham, are now at the Whitechapel Foundry, where they are to be recast.

These bells have been doing duty as a ring of twelve since the year 1771, having been, before that, a ring of ten from 1758. The old tenor bears this latter date and the uncommon inscription: 'Let your ceaseless changes vary to our great Maker still new praise.'

The first peal on the bells was one of Grandsire Caters, rung on November 19th, 1758, and something approaching 200 peals have since been rung on them, including considerably over one hundred peals of Stedman Cinques.

When the new bells come back to the tower Birmingham hopes to have the best ring of twelve for their weight in the country.

IN A BERKSHIRE 'BACKWATER.' A WEEK-END AT APPLETON.

In the quiet little 'backwater' of Appleton, a party of kindred spirits spent a very enjoyable time last week-end. It followed on a visit to Oxford for the Diocesan Guild meeting, and on Saturday evening the little coterie of friends, with wives and other chattels, drifted over to the campanologically historic village, in whose belfry Whites and Holfields have long been the backbone of ringing, and, judging by the sturdy branches that are growing up, will long continue to be.

Many ringing records have been made at Appleton. Four such records were made in one year—1888—and some of those who took part in them still ring for the Sunday services. It was at Appleton, too, that the 'longest ever' was rung just over six years ago, and, while the bells, although good, are not heavy, the men who stood up to that 12 hrs. 25 mins. performance are entitled to all the honour and glory that it is possible to get out of it.

Appleton is one of the now rare unspoiled villages of England, with its thatched cottages and Thatched Tavern, the homely hostelry which has sheltered many a famous ringer. Appleton's only industry, apart from agriculture and bellringing, seems to be bell hanging, and here one can see the handiwork of frame making carried on as it was in the days of our forefathers, and by a man whose pride is in his work.

During Sunday many were the affairs of state which were discussed—solemnly and otherwise—for the betterment of the Exercise (perhaps!), for in Appleton there is little else to do between meals and ringing. The church bells were rung to Stedman Caters for an hour before each service and in the evening, when those who had tried to hang each other on the trebles in the morning had been removed to a safer, if warmer, sphere of labour, a touch of 1,083 was rung at a pace which suggested a late riser trying to catch an early train. The band included representatives of Appleton's two great ringing families and ringers from London, Birmingham, Coventry, Derby, Reading, Woking and Burford.

Some folks, whose life seems to be made up of one long holiday, were able to stay on in the placid serenity of Appleton's quiet purlieus, but others with the stern call of the morrow's duties before them had to quit—however reluctantly—before nightfall to return to the noise and racket and nerve-destroying strain of a 'civilisation' which at present seems to have left Appleton untouched.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. HONOUR FOR OLD MEMBERS.

Thirty members of the Northern Division, representing ten parishes, attended a very successful meeting at Inworth on Saturday last. Favoured with beautiful weather, everyone enjoyed strolling round the pretty old Essex village, which is certainly one of England's rural beauty spots. The ringers' service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. F. W. Dickinson), and Mr. C. H. Howard (Master) read the lesson.

After the tea a meeting was held in the schoolroom, at which the district Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders) presided, supported by the Master, the Rector, Mr. L. Powell (churchwarden), and the district secretary (Mr. W. Arnold). One new member was elected, Mr. S. Pye, of Inworth.

Mr. Powell said how pleased they were to welcome the association, and hoped that the next time they came to Inworth they would be able to ring six bells instead of five, as it was his great wish, and also the Rector's, to have a treble added.

During the afternoon and evening 120's in various methods were rung on the tower bells, and several courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters on handbells.

It was resolved at the meeting to make Mr. W. T. Elliot, of Kelvedon, Mr. W. J. Nevard, of Great Bentley, and Mr. E. Claydon and Mr. J. T. Barker, of Stebbing, life members of the association. Each of the above have been ringers for fifty and more years.

NOTTINGHAM RINGERS' CIRCULAR TOUR.

The annual outing of the ringers of St. Peter's, Nottingham, took place on Saturday, June 7th, when they made a circular tour of approximately 150 miles, embracing the counties of Notts, Leicestershire, Rutlandshire, and Lincolnshire. Only one stop was made for ringing, and that at Surfleet, where the band were welcomed by the Rev. H. Law James. An enjoyable time was spent in this 10-bell tower, although they are a difficult peal for a strange band to ring successfully. The 'drop' in peal was exceptionally good. After ringing, they adjourned to the Railway Hotel, where a magnificent dinner was provided. After dinner a well-known member of the company played some popular tunes on his weird but wonderful 'carillon' (really, it is a complicated arrangement of his handbells, his wife's clothes' pegs, his son's fretwork, and his daughter's violin stand), the company joining in the choruses with gusto. On the return journey a stop was made at a small Notts village, where several members rendered songs in most awe-inspiring and agonising voices, much to the enjoyment of the other members who had completed their 'turn' successfully. Nottingham was reached at about 11 p.m., and everyone voted it one of the best and brightest days of their lives.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESIDENT'S SOUTH AFRICAN EXPERIENCES.

A meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Prestwich on Saturday, July 21st, when close on twenty members visited this grand old church. Ringing commenced at 4 o'clock, and at 5.30 the members adjourned for tea. Coming back, they were pleased to see the president, Canon Elsee, recently back from South Africa, who came from Bury, where he had been paying a visit to another branch. After a short touch of Kent Treble Bob, in which the president took part, the business meeting was held.

Canon Elsee presided, and paid a warm tribute to Mr. H. Chapman for his work in connection with the branch and the association. He said how sorry he was that Mr. H. Chapman had to leave the district on account of ill-health, and he was sure the members felt the loss deeply. The president gave the members an account of his visit to South Africa, where he had been at the request of the Bishop of Manchester. He referred to the different articles doing duty for church bells, such as a large iron ring that had been in a stamping machine at a gold mine, also two large steel burs fixed on top of an ant hill about fifteen feet high, which did duty as a tower as well, the natives striking them with a hammer. There were three rings of bells in the country, and he had managed to have a pull on two of them, and also to do some handbell ringing with a company of ladies.

Christ Church, West Didsbury, was selected for the next meeting, but this date not being convenient it has been changed to Worsley on August 18th.

The election of a branch president was considered, and after some discussion it was proposed that Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft be elected. This was agreed to, also that he serve on the committee as well, and come up for re-election at the annual meeting of the branch which is to be held at Manchester Cathedral in January. Mr. Wolstencroft, acknowledging his election, said he considered it a great honour to be elected branch president. He could not expect to come up to the standard of Mr. H. Chapman, but he would do his best.

Votes of thanks to clergy, the church officers, the local ringers, and the chairman were carried, Mr. N. Bent replying on behalf of the ringers.—This closed the meeting, and further ringing took place, learners having a good 'try out' during the afternoon and evening.

KING'S NORTON RINGERS VISIT BEDFORD.

On Saturday, July 14th, the King's Norton ringers had a most enjoyable outing. Starting from home at 7 a.m. in glorious weather, they arrived at Northampton, where Mr. Rogers met them, and they were soon enjoying Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal on the pleasing peal of ten at St. Giles'. From there a short walk brought them to St. Sepulchre's, where they were met by Mr. F. Wilford. A short wait here whilst a wedding was taking place, and then the bells were raised as the happy pair walked through the tower door. These bells are a musical ring from the Croydon Foundry, and after a little manipulation some good striking of Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were all successfully brought round. A pleasant half-hour in a comfortable and very cool smoke-room, with liquid refreshment and sandwiches, provided a welcome interlude after two hours' ringing and fifty miles' riding in the blazing sun. A nice twenty-mile run then brought the party to Bedford, where a Royal visit was in progress. Adjoining to the Silver Grill, where everything was in readiness, the ringers sat down to lunch, which everyone enjoyed. Proceeding to Cardington, a quiet little village two miles away, they came to a well-built stone church with a fine tower and grand peal of eight bells by Taylor. The 'go' was splendid, and Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were rolled off as it should be. This was undoubtedly the 'tit-bit' of the day. Returning to Bedford, a visit was paid to St. Paul's Church, where hangs a nice ring of ten with a 29 cwt. tenor. Here the party were met by Mr. Tingey, Miss Steel and others, who had the bells already up. Here the visitors were a bit disappointed, as three of the back bells wanted a good deal of 'milking.' However, they had young George Withers with them, and touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Treble Bob on the ten, and Double Norwich and Cambridge on the back eight were successfully brought round. Some amusement was caused by the ropes, which made a noise like pistol shots, and some of the ringers at first really thought the Germans had come. The tenor rope was one of those gentle little things that would have been more at home on the 'Olympic.' After tea the return journey was commenced, with Warwick ahead as the last place of call. Being half an hour behind time, the cars had to get a move on, but one which stopped for 'juice' got lost, with the result that the 'speed merchant' was at Warwick ringing the front six before the others arrived. This musical ten were afterwards going to various methods, and the party finished up with a pleasant hour with the local ringers, eventually reaching home about 11 p.m., after a most enjoyable day. They would like to take the opportunity now of thanking everyone who helped with the arrangements, and especially Messrs. Allaway, Moore and Yates, who so kindly placed their motor-cars at the ringers' disposal for the day.

NEW PEAL FOR SUSSEX. REDEDICATION OF WORTH BELLS.

On Saturday, July 21st, the recast peal of six bells at Worth, Sussex, was rededicated by the Ven. H. M. Hordern, Archdeacon of Lewes, in the presence of a large congregation.

For some years it had been recognised that the fittings were in a worn and dangerous condition, while the tone of the bells was far from satisfactory. It was decided, therefore, to have the whole peal recast and rehung with modern fittings.

The contract was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have turned out a well-balanced peal of six, perfect in tone and tune. The 'go' is excellent, and Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are to be congratulated on their latest success. By judicious distribution of the old metal, the tenor is approximately 1 cwt. heavier than before, the present weight being 9 cwt. 2 qr. 14 lb.

The Archdeacon, who was assisted by the Rector (the Rev. H. F. Waller Bridge, M.A.), gave an appropriate address, referring to the history of this peal and the uses and associations of bells generally.

After the service, touches in standard methods were rung by members of the local band and visitors from Crawley, Turner's Hill, Billingshurst, Horley and Balcombe. The bell founders were represented by Messrs. C. F. Johnston, S. R. Roger and R. H. Dove. Ringing was indulged in until a late hour, everyone being satisfied with the new peal.

EXTENTS OF LONDON SURPRISE MINOR.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In your issue of July 27th, so-called extents of London Minor by the Rev. H. Law James are published, with the statement that they come under the new definition of peals of Minor. As I signed, as seconder, the notice of motion which resulted in this definition, may I make my position clear. I cannot understand, possibly through incapacity, how the first three arrangements come within the definition. However, if Mr. James is right, may I say that, in signing the notice of motion, there was no intention on my part of supporting or encouraging the ringing of peals of Minor with repetition of rows in the first 320 changes.—Yours sincerely,

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH AT UPAVON.

A meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the interesting Church of St. Mary, Upavon, on Saturday last. The towers of Netheravon, Fittleton and Enford were also visited, ringing commencing at Netheravon about 3.30 p.m. Tea was provided at the Antelope Hotel, Upavon, and a short business meeting followed, the chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Higginbotham, presiding.

Mr. F. Giddings, of Upavon, was elected a member of the Guild, and a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. H. Brownlee West, of Devizes, one of the vice-presidents of the Guild, for sending to the local papers copies of the inscriptions on 'Wiltshire church bells,' it being thought that by so doing Mr. Brownlee West was doing a good work, which would interest the people of the parishes mentioned from time to time.

It was decided to hold a special meeting at Chilton and Maiden on August 25th.

Service followed, conducted by the Rev. Victor Jender (who is in charge of the parish during the absence of the Vicar, the Rev. A. Joyce Watson, who is on holiday). Mr. Mead, one of the Upavon ringers, presided at the organ.

Ringers were present during the day from Upavon, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom (St. James'), Warminster, Trowbridge, Bratton, Rowde, Beechingstoke, Stratton, and Ringwood, Hants, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor were rung.

The following is copied from 'Highways and Byways of Wiltshire,' by Edward Hutton: 'Upavon is an interesting place. Small as it is now, it still has an air of importance, and was a market town in the time of Edward II., who gave it to his favourite dispenser. . . . Upavon possesses a fine church, and, though much reduced and damaged, is worth some trouble to see. Dedicated in honour of Our Lady, it boasts what is still substantially a transitional chancel (circa 1175), the buttresses of which remain. . . . The tower seems to have been the last thing built, late in the 13th century—a very noble work, even as we have it, with a 15th-century parapet. Over the west doorway is a crucifix, also of the 15th century, but this has been rebuilt. The font remains a beautiful 13th-century work, carved on its eight sides with various devices. Among them on the north side is a representation of the Annunciation, very lovely.'

The treble of the ring of six is a new bell, cast in 1910 by Taylor and Co., who also recast the 4th at the same time. The 2nd and 5th are dated 1658, and were cast by John Lott, of Salisbury. William Tosler, also a Salisbury bell founder, cast the tenor in 1723. The 3rd is also an old bell, but bears no date. Its inscription is: 'Gode help us. F.M.S., I.P.S., M.D.'

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

BELFRY CONDITIONS.

In the annual report which the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild presents to his members, one can usually find food for thought, for constantly he strikes a note which reaches beyond the purely domestic range of his own organisation. In the report which he submitted this year he touches upon an important matter which deserves consideration everywhere where the conditions arise. It is the physical condition under which ringers in many places have to carry on their work to which he refers. The Oxford Guild Master says: 'It is to be regretted that in so many cases the authorities and even the ringers fail to realise the importance of securing a comfortable distance between the bells and the ringing floor, together with proper light and ventilation for the ringer. There are many towers in which a vast improvement might be made, either by bringing the ropes to the ground floor or by constructing a ringer's gallery, neither of which need entail very great cost. . . . Quietness, light and fresh air are as necessary to the ringer as good bearings are to the bells.'

When one thinks of it, it is quite surprising how many towers are deficient in one respect or other. The failings are mostly to be found in old towers, but not all of the new ones are constructed with full consideration for the ringers. Indeed, we can go further than this and add, for the public either. In past days the conditions under which the bells were rung seldom appear to have been taken into account. Large numbers of towers, of course, were built before change ringing was thought of and the erection of a ringing peal, which has followed with the development of the art, has meant accommodating the bells to the tower, and such matters as light and ventilation have been quite secondary considerations, even if they have been given a single thought. Hitherto ringers have just put up with the conditions as they have found them and made the best of a bad job, but is there any reason why, in these more enlightened days, they should go on silently submitting to do their work under conditions which no other helpers in the Church would dream of tolerating. Is it not their duty, where such conditions prevail, to call the attention of the authorities to the state of affairs and endeavour to get it remedied?

Then there is the question of the noise outside the tower. In populous districts, it must be admitted, bells can be a source of annoyance to the public in the immediate neighbourhood. In numerous and in a growing number of cases the result is that the bells are silent and neglected, when a simple remedy lies at hand. For the expenditure of a few pounds the bricking up of the louvres above the turning height of the bells will effect, in nearly every instance, a vast improvement; yet Church authorities will allow a costly possession like a peal of bells to remain mute for the sake of this comparatively small cost. Association officials ought to make it their business to recommend the carrying out of necessary work such as this. It would save endless complaints and, in the long run, probably save many of our bells from permanent silence.

READING RINGERS IN BUCKS.

Perfect weather favoured the summer outing of the ringers of St. Giles', Reading, when 26 members and friends journeyed by charabanc to Hughenden, Bucks. Here the beautiful park surrounding the church was much admired by the party, who were also interested in the church and its memorials to the great Disraeli. Mr. Biggs kindly met and conducted the ringers to the belfry, where touches of Stedman, Oxford Treble Bob, and Double Norwich were successfully brought round, and favourable comments on the tone and 'go' of the bells were made.

Returning via High Wycombe, a halt was made for tea, after which Mr. Ralph Coles and other local ringers took the visitors to the belfry, where a good start was made by bringing round two well-struck touches of Stedman Caters, conducted by E. Humphrey. Subsequently, with the assistance of three local men, a very fair course of Stedman Cinques was rung, but some of the visitors, used to 'octave' work, found the extent rather a different proposition. However, all the successes (and failures) were greatly enjoyed, and the best thanks of the visitors are due to Messrs. Biggs, R. Coles, etc., for their kind assistance and welcome. A safe arrival home at 10.30 p.m. concluded a happy half-day, and the ringers' thanks are again given to the foreman, Mr. A. W. Osborne, for arranging everything so admirably.

LADY SEXTON BARS THE WAY.

On Saturday, July 14th, the Holmer ringers, with several friends, including the Master of the Guild (Mr. C. Edwards) had an outing. The charabanc picked up contingents at various stages from Hereford to Holmer, and when all were aboard the party numbered 20. At Cleobury Mortimer the visitors were met by the Vicar, who gave them a hearty welcome. Ringing was limited to three-quarters of an hour, but everyone appreciated the tone and 'go' of the bells. Bridgnorth was reached about 12.15, and Mr. Hayward met the wanderers and piloted them to St. Leonard's, where the veteran ringer, Mr. John Overton, was waiting to show them to the well-kept ringing chamber. The bells were raised in peal, and short touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples rung. After lunch, it was intended to visit St. Mary's, but the heat of the day being very trying it was decided to abandon this and go on to Conover. Ringing here, however, was denied to the party. At the moment there is no Vicar of the parish, and some misunderstanding amongst the ringers seems to have occurred. The result was the dignified lady sexton refused to unlock the door, and the visitors' stay here was limited to five minutes. After stopping for tea at Dorrington, the party went on to Church Stretton, where the captain of local ringers welcomed them. On the nice peal of eight various touches of Triples and Major were brought round. The 40-mile run home was begun at 8.30, and Hereford was reached at 10.45.

LEGENDS OF EAST BERGHOLT.

Twenty ringers and friends took part in the annual outing of the bellringers of All Saints', Maldon. Leaving at 8 a.m. by charabanc, the first stop was at Dedham, where the party explored the church with the help of programmes provided, explaining the particular interests of each place to be visited. This is probably a unique feature in a ringers' outing. No ringing was done at Dedham, as the bells are not in ringing order, but the fine old church was much admired. East Bergholt was the next call, and here the chief attraction was the bell cage in the churchyard, which contains five heavy bells, but 'discretion being the better part of valour,' no attempt was made by members of the party to ring them. The tower of this beautiful church is only finished to a height of fourteen feet. One legend has it that the work was frustrated by the direct influence of the evil spirit. Another says that Cardinal Wolsey took much interest in the building of the church, and that his fall put a stop to the work. Still another says that there were originally eight bells in the tower, and that the devil took one away every night until they put them in the cage, and so saved the remaining five. The Rector of East Bergholt met the visiting party and told them much of interest in connection with this fine old building. It should be mentioned, too, that the bells are rung regularly by the local ringers, although they are without wheels or ropes. The next item on the programme was Stratford St. Mary, which was reached at 11 a.m. Here the company was welcomed by the Rector's warden, who is also a ringer. Some good touches were rung on this splendid peal of six. Some of the ringing was enjoyed by members of the party from the roof of the church, access to which is obtainable from the ringing chamber. The next stop was Ipswich, the terminal point of the trip. Here the ladies soon became more interested in the shops than in campanology, so the enthusiasts betook themselves to St. Clement's Church, where the peal of six bells was made good use of until after 3 o'clock. The Rector of St. Clement's, the Rev. J. C. Knapp, welcomed the ringers, and interested them with a description of the various beauties of the church, after which a move was made for St. Margaret's, where the ringers were met by some of the local band. After ringing on the eight bells, the whole company assembled for tea, which was felt to be a pressing need after their exertions, as much by the ladies after the tour of shops as by the ringers. After a good meat tea a start was made for Stoke-by-Nayland. One could write at great length about the beautiful country passed through to reach this place, when once off the main road. The scenery is hilly and wooded, Stoke itself standing on an eminence and crowned by a glorious tower rising to a height of 120 feet. The church itself is worthy of the tower which completes it, and the music of the heavy and deep-toned ring of six bells was much admired and enjoyed by all the party. The Vicar, the Rev. P. C. Scott, welcomed the company on arriving in the south porch, and took them round the church, explaining its details at great length, and showing much interest in the ringers' visit. Regretfully, at about 9 o'clock, the company tore themselves away, and turned the bonnet of their charabanc Maldonwards, to start the last lap of a day well spent. Home was reached at about 10.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable outing. The company, through the medium of this paper, wish to gratefully acknowledge the services rendered them by the ringers at the various places, and the incumbents for the use of the bells.

BICESTER, OXON.—On Tuesday evening, July 17th, a short but well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on the bells on the occasion of the wedding of Mr. Herbert Hims (son of the well-known local ringer, Mr. E. Hims) and Miss Wadley, which took place on that day at Bicester. The band would like to take this opportunity of thanking Mr. F. Sharpe, of Launton, who kindly came over, at a minute's notice, to assist them.

WESTMINSTER RINGERS' EXCURSION.

The ringers of St. Margaret's, Westminster, had their annual outing on Saturday, July 14th, and the eastern district of the county of Hertford was chosen. Assembling at Finsbury Square at 1 o'clock, the party, numbering fourteen, were soon speeding along in a motor coach, leaving the salubrious and picturesque spots of the City Road quickly behind. After skirting Enfield and passing Hoddesdon and Ware, Little Mundon was reached for the first call on the programme. Here Messrs. Lawrence and Carter welcomed the visitors under an ancient yew hundreds of years old. In this famous six-bell tower, Cambridge, Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles were rung, and after an exhaustive and diligent search for postcards of the tower the party left for Benington. The visit to this beautiful and historic church, placed, as it is, amidst such delightful surroundings, was much enjoyed by all. A course of Bristol Surprise was the first touch upon this very nice peal, followed by one of London. The Vicar, the Rev. Mills, then arrived, and said how really glad he was to welcome the visitors to Benington. He took part in a touch of Grandsire Triples, with which he seemed well pleased.

A meat tea was served in the Parish Hall, to which all did ample justice, and here a postcard signed by all was despatched to absent friends on the rugged shores of Cornwall. Aspenden was the third tower visited, and after a delightful run this fine old church was found nestling between the lovely leafy lanes and the undulating slopes of the hills. A course of Cambridge Surprise and a touch of Stedman Triples were all that could be rung here, and after an 'accidental' call at the Goose the last stage was commenced. Braughing bells had just ceased ringing (after an attempt for a peal had failed) when the party arrived. Courses of Superlative, Yorkshire and Norfolk Surprise were brought round and much enjoyed, and a touch of Stedman Caters on the local handbells was also tapped off. The party then adjourned to the Arc and Compass for half an hour, and the homeward journey was commenced. One stop at Hoddesdon, and Shoreditch Church was passed at 11 o'clock, everyone agreeing it was one of the nicest and most enjoyable outings the society has had. Best thanks are due to the Vicars and towerkeepers of the various churches, and to all who helped make the outing such an unqualified success.

NORTH WINGFIELD RINGERS AT LINCOLN

A very enjoyable and interesting time was spent by the North Wingfield band on their outing. A twenty-six seater bus had been engaged for the trip, and arrangements had been made through the local secretary (Mr. Waddington) to visit East Markham, Lincoln Cathedral, St. Botolph's, Lincoln, and Newark Parish Church. In addition to the local band, Messrs. W. and A. Butler, late members of the band, and a number of friends made up the party. Starting about 8 a.m. with the weather not too promising, the first part of the run was to Workop, and the ringers were sorry time would not permit them to visit the grand old Priory Church. At East Markham they found a real old-fashioned picturesque country village, with a grand old church. Although none of the local band was there to meet the visitors, everything had been left in readiness for a pull on a nice peal of eight. Touches of Plain Bob, Treble Bob, and Stedman were brought round. After leaving East Markham the next halt was at the village of Dunham, where they partook of lunch and refreshed themselves at the village inn. Continuing the journey they came to the Dunham Bridge, where a gentleman in charge of the bridge coolly demanded 2s. toll. He appeared to be a little bit ruffled when a receipt was demanded, and threatened the party with a further 2s. on the return journey, but fortunately the plans did not fit in with this, as the bridgekeeper promptly learned. Lincoln was reached about 1.30, and most of the party made their way to the Cathedral. With Mr. Walden, one of the local ringers, as guide, the visit was made most interesting, as the party were able to explore parts of the Cathedral to which the public are not admitted while the work of restoration is being carried out, and they were able to get some idea of the magnitude and tremendous cost of the work in hand. Of course, they were specially interested in the tower where the bells are going to be hung, and in the preparations being made for the peal of twelve bells. The tower is being strengthened with reinforced concrete pillars, and efforts are being made to get the bells ready for October. The four new bells are already at the Cathedral, and a new steel frame is being constructed by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. After tea Mr. Walden accompanied the party to St. Botolph's, where, on the nice-toned peal of six, touches of Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Collega Single were rung. Here they parted company with Mr. Walden, with expressions of great appreciation of his untiring efforts to make the visit to Lincoln interesting and enjoyable. Arriving at Newark about 6.45, the party were met by members of the local band, who kindly placed the ropes at their disposal. Some well-struck Plain Bob and Stedman Triples were brought round. These are a very nice peal, with a tenor about 33 cwt., and the ringing was thoroughly enjoyed. A splendid run through very nice country brought the party home about 10 p.m. They desire to thank the incumbents of the churches for so kindly placing the bells at their disposal, and the local ringers for having the bells in readiness and extending a welcome.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

BY 'A RINGER.'

Ringling to order is one thing; writing to order is quite a different matter. 'Try your hand at a column or so,' said the Editor, after I had told him that anyone ought to be able to fill the empty spaces of the world, even of 'The Ringing World.' Lightheartedly I undertook to supply him with a page of reading for those who to-day will be suffering from the reaction of a misspent holiday and need an antidote; but I'm sorry now that I spoke. When writing to my local newspaper under the title of 'Pro Bono Publico,' to ventilate my views of the mismanagement of the country, I have never, I think, lacked words in which to clothe my thoughts, although I must admit that I cannot speak with any certainty on this point, because my thoughts—clothed or otherwise—on these matters—have never yet been read by any member of the public, unless it has been the printing-office charlady, when she found them in the editor's waste-paper basket. Imagine, then, how readily, I leapt into the breach at the invitation extended to me to write for this journal, and now here am I, with the opportunity of a lifetime before me to enter the charmed circle of newspaper writers, as limp as a rag as the result of sleepless nights and as empty of ideas as a burst drum.

This, my pippins, is all stuffing, as the taxidermist said as he tucked the sage and onions into the carcase of his Christmas goose.

Ringling in these days seems to be becoming the pursuit of the idle rich; or is it that ringling is such a lucrative pastime that some of its devotees have been able to join that fortunate circle? Anyhow, I've seen quite a number of them floating round in their automobiles, not all of them, from the noises they make, correctly Simpson tuned. Some of them—the cars I mean—seem a bit over-clappered; but the sounds they emit have their uses; such as, for instance, scaring the public out of the way.

Some of them, of course, have got quite 'posh' machines. I know one ringer with a car that can do fifty miles and three pedestrians to the gallon, and it goes so well that once he gets it going he can't always stop it. When he first took it out, he had to get another vehicle to pull up suddenly in front of him to stop its unruly career. It was an unorthodox method of coming to a standstill, of course, but the insurance company paid for the damage.

But motors are playing a big part nowadays in our ringling arrangements. Only recently I had to take a bus from the Strand to Ludgate Hill, otherwise I should have been too late for my appointment at the Coffee Pot.

This, however, has nothing whatever to do with what I set out to write about the idle rich—those folk who can go off to their ringling when they please, where they please, and stay as long as they please. It must be really delightful to mix with the nobility and gentry and I envy those who had the privilege the other day of 'week-ending' with the Duke of Derby and Baron Birmingham at Appleton. We need to get more of the aristocracy interested in our art, and then perhaps we shall once more see the day when, after ringling a peal at St. Bride's, as old chroniclers have told us, all the ringers drive away in their own carriages. But perhaps such a spectacle would be possible now, if only St. Bride's bells could be got for a peal.

Don'ts for summer peal ringers: Don't, don't, don't, DON'T!

Readers of 'The Ringing World' must have gasped almost when they read of Jack Thomas' wonderful performance of ringling two bells to a peal of Double Norwich. One bell at a time is enough for most ringers, and some of them can't properly manage even that, but I suppose it will not be long before someone will be trying to ring three bells to a peal—one in each hand and one with his foot. As long as a rope doesn't get round his neck, it won't matter; and it won't matter if it does, because he would be a freak and ought to be removed.

And speaking of record performances reminds me that it cannot be long now before there will burst forth with increased effulgence on a dazzled world a new record of that wonder-man of the Exercise—I leave my readers to guess his name. He is not far off his one thousandth peal—I've been counting them up since he rang the 980th, and he is getting close on to it.

When all the world was young, Jim,
And all the trees were green,
You always were a lad, Jim,
The keenest of the keen.
You'd run the country o'er, Jim,
To ring a decent peal,
With any band throughout the land;
We marvelled at your zeal.
Now all the world's grown old, Jim,
You still can stay the pace;
You still can turn a tenor, Jim,
And keep a smiling face.

A hundred peals to you, Jim,
Is now a trifling score;
We hope you'll live for many a year,
And ring a thousand more.

Having, when writing to a friend recently, told him I was 'seedy' (everyone, I suppose, gets the pip at times), I have just received a postcard telling me to take a holiday and go in for three peals a day. 'You will find your health immensely improved at the end of the week,' he says, 'and come back fit for work.' That may be very good advice for those already in training. A tour with two peals a day is too much for me, but three! Bah! as the Frenchman said.

I have just looked at the postcard again. I find I have made a mistake. It is pills, not peals, that are recommended.

In the absence of the Editor I have been deputed to reply to a number of correspondents.

What is the purpose of the 'pulley block'? asks 'Beginner.' The principal use of the pulley block is to hoist the bells into the tower. No, 'Eileen,' young ladies do not become ringers merely to find husbands, although it is true they go to the belfry for a ring.

Any competent ringer, 'Old Hand,' should know how to ring Stedman's Slow Course. It's just one slow course after another.

The Society of Tower Twisters and Gudgeon Beuders has not become defunct, 'Tommy.' 'Uncle Joe' informs me that they have twisted all the towers and bent all the gudgeons available, but hope to pay return visits when things have been straightened out.

Yes, 'Sweet William,' I have heard the rumour that a band of handbell ringers is to attempt a peal in the air and another under the sea, and that they propose to start to fly the Atlantic so that both attempts can be made in one day. At the time of going to press, however, neither the band nor the date is settled.

HEREFORDSHIRE'S NEW RING OF SIX.

The village of Bredwardine, Herefordshire, now possesses for the first time a peal of six bells. Originally the tower contained four bells, all by Rudhall, of Gloucester, and all very much out of tune. In 1919 the Master of the Hereford Guild made an inspection and suggested two trebles, to make a ring of six. The project was set on foot, and about £70 collected, but, alas, parochial differences intervened, and the matter dropped until August last, when the Master was again approached, and Mrs. Theodore Elles Williams expressed a wish to see the bells put in order. Mr. Edwards quickly suggested that if she would give two trebles as memorial bells to her late husband, the parish might raise the remainder of the funds required, and this she readily consented to do. In February last, however, she decided to pay the entire cost, £344, with the exception of the £70 already collected. The opening and dedication took place on Sunday afternoon, July 22nd, the Lord Bishop of Hereford performing the ceremony, and the church being crowded. Mrs. Williams, the donor, was present with other friends. The weight of the tenor is 7 cwt. 2 qr. 1 lb., 5th 6 cwt. 2 qr. 8 lb., 4th 5 cwt. 2 qr. 15 lb., 3rd 4 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb., 2nd 4 cwt. 0 qr. 26 lb., treble 3 cwt. 3 qr. 12 lb.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have carried out the work in a highly satisfactory manner, as the bells are now a well-tuned and musical peal. During the afternoon and evening the bells were rung at intervals to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor by visiting ringers from various towers in the district.

OPENING UP A NEW FIELD.

BRANCH ASSOCIATION FORMED IN NORTH IRELAND.

In order to encourage change ringling in the North of Ireland, a branch of the Irish Association has been formed in that area. The branch is named the 'Northern Branch of the Irish Association of Change Ringers,' and is connected with the Irish Association, having headquarters at Dublin, where the development of the art in the last quarter of a century owes so much to Mr. Gabriel Lindoff.

The branch association was inaugurated in October of last year, and already the bands have made considerable progress, and expect in the near future to be able to ring short touches for service at their respective churches. A keen and healthy rivalry exists between the towers, which augurs well to carry the teams through the difficulties encountered by new hands unable to draw on the assistance of experienced ringers.

Although change ringling in the North of Ireland is not altogether unknown, it has never been generally practised, and the art, as understood in England, has never been developed. The new association has a membership which is determined to break through this barrier, and though they may not attain the same proficiency, it is hoped that they will be able to make such progress that the future generations will vie with their brethren across the water.

The members are not lacking in encouragement and support from the church. His Grace the Most Rev. the Lord Archbishop of Ireland, Dr. D'Arcy, is the patron of the association, and the Ven. J. F. MacNeice, B.D., Archdeacon of Connor, the Very Rev. Wm. Dowse, M.A., Dean of Connor, both take an active interest in the work.

LAVENHAM RINGERS' TOUR IN NORFOLK.

On Saturday, July 28th, the members of the SS. Peter and Paul's Society, Lavenham, held their seventh annual outing. The party, numbering 16, travelled by motor coach through Bury St. Edmunds and Thetford to Attleborough, where Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford were rung. The bad circle of ropes caused some confusion to the ringers, for the second rope hangs almost in the centre of the tower. The next call was made at Wymondham Abbey Church, with its two lofty towers. The shell of the older tower still stands, joined to the east end of the present church. After climbing the ninety-three steps to the spacious ringing floor, the fine peal of eight were soon set going to courses of Stedman, Double Norwich and Plain Bob. Hethersett, with its light peal of eight, was next visited, and Oxford, Double Norwich and Plain Bob were tapped off. The next method attempted was lunch, at Ye Old Queen's Head, and although the 'courses' were few, this 'touch' was the best of the day. Two courses of Grandsire Caters on handbells before departing for Norwich, but at the eight yards mark, 'Liz' demanded another half-hour's rest. Eventually, after a bit of doctoring by a local mechanic, a second start was made with success, and with many inquiries St. John de Sepulchre's Church, Norwich, was found. Here the party were met by Messrs. Mayes, Lovett and Bailey, also Mr. Ellis, of Harwich. Time only permitted a short touch of Kent and a course of Plain Bob at this tower, then under the guidance of Messrs. Mayes and Co. tracks were made for St. Peter Mancroft, which was the party's main objective. The fine peal of twelve were rung in rounds for a few minutes, and then followed a course each of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, also a course of Double Norwich on the back eight with the ever-willing J.P. on the big end. After inspecting the old and interesting records, etc., in this tower and the signing the visitors' book, St. Michael's at Coslany was visited, and courses of Kent and Plain Bob were rung, also a touch of Grandsire Triples to oblige Mr. A. Baldwin, of Fakenham, once a schoolboy chum of the party's G.O.M. Visits were then paid to the Cathedral, St. John's Catholic Church, the Castle, the old Grammar School, Nurse Cavell's grave, and other interesting places. On the way home a call was made at the Swan at Palgrave for refreshments, songs and handbell ringing, and to renew happy acquaintances made at this inn on last year's outing. Home was reached at 10.45 p.m., after a most enjoyable day. The ringers wish to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells, the towerkeepers, and all those friends who helped to make this outing a success.

GRIMSBY RINGERS VISIT YORKSHIRE.

The St. Andrew's, Grimsby, ringers' annual outing took place on Saturday, July 21st, in brilliant weather, and proved as successful and enjoyable as on any previous occasion. The ringers, with their wives and friends, took to the road at 6.30 a.m., with Selby Abbey the first objective. Upon arrival at 9 o'clock a move was at once made to the belfry, a local member welcoming the visitors, and also taking part in the ringing. The great beauty of the bells was afterwards freely commented upon. Proceeding next to York, a visit was made to the historic Minster. This timed with the sexton's daily climb to the north-west tower for the ringing of Great Peter at noon, and he courteously permitted an inspection of the magnificent peal of 13 bells, and gave a demonstration of Great Peter in action. The sight and sound of this monster at close range is a revelation, and the experience will live long in the memory of all who were present. The next move was to the ancient borough of Knaresborough, some 14 miles from York, and the prospects of an excellent lunch were fully realised. Afterwards, Mr. Fred Smith, of the local company, took the party in hand. Incidentally, one of the visitors, an old colleague and late fellow-member of the local company, met the guide for the first occasion for many years, and reminiscences of the early 'nineties absorbed the pair for some time. The chief objects of interest in the old Parish Church having been explained, a move was made to the belfry. Here was found a fine ring of eight by Pack and Chapman, 1774, and recently restored by Taylor, of Loughborough. The 'go' and tone of the bells is all that could be desired. Touches of Stedman, Treble Bob and Grandsire were rung, Mr. Smith taking part. The remaining time was spent in visiting the Norman castle ruins, the dropping well (of petrifying fame), and 'Mother Shipton's' cave. Here again the guide was invaluable, explaining everything of interest, including a 'photographic curiosity' of some importance and even greater amusement. Leaving Knaresborough regretfully behind, the party next pressed on to Doncaster, tea being welcomed and thoroughly appreciated. The heavy ring of eight at St. George's next claimed attention. Several of the local company extended a friendly welcome and joined in the ringing. Thanks are due to them, to Mr. Smith, of Knaresborough, to Mr. Cryer, of Selby, the various incumbents for the use of their bells, and to all who contributed to the complete success of the outing. A happy and contented party reached Grimsby at midnight, after a perfect day.

WENHASTON.—At St. Peter's Church, on Wednesday, August 1st, 720 Bob Minor: Miss Nora Hardingham (first 720) 1, S. Ellis 2, R. H. Bullen 3, J. Larter (conductor) 4, G. Pearce 5, J. Punched 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Ringers throughout the country will regret to learn that Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council) has had to enter a nursing home to undergo an operation, and all will wish him a speedy return to health.

Bishop's Stortford bells, which have been retuned and rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, were reopened on Monday, and the many ringers present were much struck by the great improvement which has been effected in this peal of ten.

Saffron Walden have never been a satisfactory peal of twelve. The four trebles were added to the old eight just before the war, and they are now to be recast. The work is in the hands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. W. H. Lawrence, of Little Munden, the popular hon. secretary of the Eastern District of the Herts Association, who has suffered a severe bereavement by the death of his wife.

In connection with the meeting of St. Martin's Guild, at Erdington, on August 18th, the bells of the Abbey Church will be available from 3 to 5 p.m.

The first peal of Bob Triples rung by the old Society of Union Scholars was composed and conducted by John Holt. It took place at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London. According to Snowdon's 'Grandsire' it was rung on August 8th, 1748; but in 'Ropesight' the date is given as August 12th.

It was Holt who put new life into the Union Scholars. The society rang 36 peals between 1718 and 1757, and Holt took part in 21 of these between 1747 and 1752. He must have been the 'live wire' of the society, for during his connection with it he took part in every peal and called all but one of them.

The first peal of Double Norwich Major in Wales was rung at Rhyl forty-five years ago next Monday, by the famous Burton-on-Trent band. One or two members of that company are still taking an active interest in ringing.

It is twenty years ago next Wednesday that the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung. It was one of the 'land marks' set up by the Ipswich band at St. Mary le Tower.

The ringer of the 2nd in the peal at Bromborough recorded last week was Walter J. Battle, not Butler as published.

THURSTANS' FOUR-PART.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In Belfry Gossip, which is always interesting, you say that Thurstans' famous four-part was rung for the first time on August 8th, 1842.

In Mr. Henry Johnson's peal book are the following entries:—August 8th, 1842, at the Parish Church, Aston, 5,040 changes Stedman Triples, in 3 hrs. 10 mins.—then follow the names—conducted by Thos. Day. This peal was the joint production of T. Thurstans and John Lates, and contains 240 bobs and two doubles, made thus:—

2315476

2134567

1235476

This composition was again rung at Aston, February 9th, 1843, conducted by William Chattell; and again October 29th, 1844, at St. John's Chapel, Deritend, also conducted by W. Chattell.

Now we come to the four-part as we know it: May 18th, 1846, at St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, 5,040 changes of Stedman Triples, 2 hrs. 53 mins.—then follow the names—composed by Thomas Thurstans, conducted by Henry Johnson. Footnote: This was the first peal composed and rung with 240 bobs and two common singles only; first time of its performance.—Yours, etc.,

JAS. E. GROVES.

RINGER'S DIAMOND WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. James Barnett, of Northallerton, celebrated their diamond wedding on August 1st. Mr. Barnett is 79 years of age, and his wife is 78. Both are active and well, and continue to fulfil the duties of caretakers of the North Riding Court House.

Mr. Barnett is captain of the Northallerton Parish Church ringers, and has been a ringer for 63 years, all but three at the Parish Church. He still continues his duties, and last week's auspicious event was celebrated by his belfry colleagues, who rang the bells in honour of the occasion.

In his younger days Mr. Barnett was a fine rifle shot, and took part in the N.R.A. meetings at Wimbledon. He holds the N.R.A. bronze medal, won at a prize meeting at York.

Mrs. Barnett had a terrifying experience in the war. One of the soldiers stationed at the Court House was going downstairs with a gun when it was accidentally fired. A sergeant, to whom Mrs. Barnett had been speaking, was shot dead, and Mrs. Barnett had an amazing escape.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. STRONG FINANCIAL POSITION.

The annual festival of the Oxford Diocesan Guild took place on Saturday week at Oxford, and, as usual, attracted a large gathering of members. The proceedings began with a service in the Cathedral, at which the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) was the preacher. He took his text from Psalm cxxii. 4, and in the course of an address, which was full of encouragement, he reminded his hearers that they had come there to keep their festival. They thanked God that in spite of their shortcomings the Guild was what it was. They must remember that a festival note was to ring through all they did that day. There must be joy all through. They would have an opportunity of meeting those members of the Guild whom otherwise they had no chance of meeting. It was not always that a meeting of churchpeople was attended with joy. There was not too much joy in the meetings of the Church of England. They thanked God for the way He had blessed the Guild, and for the blessings He had allowed to come to the Church through the Guild. One that had been most marked in the last year had been the repairs that had been done in the belfries. Some of them had looked on it as a hopeless task, but the work was still going on. During the past year there had been signs that they would have a really promising number of recruits to the ministry of church bellringing, and they thanked God for it.

The business meeting, held in the Chapter House, was presided over by the Master, who was supported by Canon G. F. Coleridge, Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary), the attendance numbering 134, all the 15 branches being represented.

At the outset the Master referred to the death of the Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis, a trustee of the Guild, who, he said, did much to set it properly going. At the committee meeting a resolution of condolence was sent to the family, and a reply had been received from the Misses Hart-Davis.

Sir George Dashwood was elected a trustee in place of the Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis.

'THE TIDE HAS TURNED.'

In his annual report the Master said: The year 1927 has been one of steady progress towards the attainment of those objects for which the Guild stands. The attendance at the festival from the diocese showed a decided improvement on last year, and in addition we were glad to welcome so many non-resident members who are of note in the Exercise. I have kept in touch with the branches, and have been present at some splendid meetings arranged by them. There is considerable keenness to make progress in change ringing. If our peal total is not much greater than last year, we can show more peals in the higher methods, and I believe a greater number of unsuccessful attempts which count for a good deal. Referring to my last report and 'the young ringer,' I have received no letters such as I invited, but viewing the Guild as a whole I think it is true to say that the tide has turned, and that there are more recruits than there were a few years ago, though they may not all be juveniles. By request I have visited to give advice on bell restoration at the following places: Aston Abbots, Aston Sandford, Aston Tirrold, Barkham, Bray, East Claydon, Steeple Claydon, Clewer, East Garston, Hinton Waldrist, Maids Moreton, Olney, All Saints' Oxford, St. Lawrence Reading, Stratley, Sunningwell, Towersey, Tingewick, Waltham St. Lawrence, Old Windsor. Restoration work has been carried out at Adderbury, East Garston, East Hagbourne, Hughenden, Hungerford, St. Giles' Oxford, All Saints' Oxford, Whaddon, Old Windsor. Trebles to complete the octave have been added at Hungerford and at the two Oxford towers. It is a matter for congratulation that two of the finest rings in the diocese, Adderbury and East Hagbourne, have been thoroughly restored, and that Henley is well on the way. While speaking of restoration work, it is to be regretted that in so many cases the authorities and even the ringers fail to realise the importance of securing a comfortable distance between the bells and the ringing floor, together with proper light and ventilation for the ringer. There are many towers in which a vast improvement might be made either by bringing the ropes to the ground floor or by constructing a ringer's gallery, neither of which need entail very great cost. As it is we go on too often so near to the bells that our sallies are drawn round the wheels, amid such a noise that the music is drowned and the voice of the instructor or conductor is smothered, and this in an atmosphere that is decidedly secondhand. Quietness, light, and fresh air are as necessary to the ringer as good bearings are to the bells. Among those who have passed from us during the year there will be noted the name of Frederick Webb, of Kidlington. Until comparatively recently, as the head of the firm of Webb and Bennett, he was engaged in some good bell-hanging work in many parts of the country. For many years he served on the Guild committee, and was as regular and helpful in his attendance there as he was at the meetings of the Witney and Woodstock Deaneries Branch. A man to be relied on, whose words though few were sincere, and whose actions were the outcome of an honest desire to do good.

PERMANENT INCOME FOR RESTORATION FUND.

The treasurer, in his report, said a balance of £160 had accumulated, and had been placed in the bank. He hoped all branches would have proper banking accounts. Their total funds were £378 16s. 2d., and he understood there was no Guild in a better financial position. That was largely due to the energy and enterprise of the branch secretaries and treasurers. Commenting on the restoration fund, he said he thought it was generally acknowledged that the fund had been of great assistance, and it was necessary that it should be maintained. He proposed to use some of the money obtained from hon. members for this purpose. He found that the Guild received from this source about £25 annually. He suggested that 25 per cent. of the sum should be transferred to this fund to give it a permanent income.

The General Secretary, presenting his report, said they had a very hopeful time before them. He had visited every branch, and he noticed that the young people were coming forward more than they had ever done. Some, however, slipped off the hook if it was not properly baited. If there was no other way of keeping them, they must lock them in the tower (laughter).

Membership had increased slightly. This would have been very marked had they not to regret the loss of four towers. However, by the affiliation of Aston Bampton, East Claydon, Hungerford, Nettlebed, and Woughton they were one tower better off. Restorations had been numerous, three instances being on a large scale, viz., the heavy eight of Adderbury, Hungerford old six tuned and trebles added, and the grand old eight at Hagbourne, all hung in massive iron frames with all the latest improvements. All Saints' and St. Giles', Oxford, had also been increased to eight.

A brief summary of peals showed more by ten than last year, and was very satisfactory, for Surprise Major peals number ten, including Bristol, London, Cambridge, and Superlative. One peal of Cambridge Minor and one in Surprise Minor methods were also rung. Two peals of Stedman Cinques were rung at Wycombe, and amongst the Stedman Triples one was conducted by that talented lady, Miss P. M. Moss. They must congratulate the East Berks and South Bucks members on their energy and ability. One branch deserved congratulation, and he was sure all old peal ringers would agree that the Vale of White Horse men had made a real beginning by scoring two peals of Grandsire Doubles without outside help. The Secretary added that he had visited most of the branches during 1927, with their energetic Master and hon. treasurer, and had found in every case there was good feeling and a striving for progress. He thanked all the branch secretaries for their help.

All the reports were adopted.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was re-elected Master, Mr. A. J. Wright hon. treasurer, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert secretary, and the Master referred to the splendid help he received from the treasurer and secretary.

The committee were re-elected en bloc.

It was agreed that the 1929 festival should be held at Oxford.

The Master referred to the tremendous revival in change ringing that had taken place at Banbury, which had resulted in a great quickening of interest in the district.

Grants of £3 were directed to be made to Hinton Waldrist, £4 to Deddington, and £5 to Banbury. It was stated that grants had been approved to Bradfield (two guineas), Witney and Woodstock (five guineas each), and Chipping Norton (three guineas each). These branches had given these amounts to the Guild restoration fund.

Mr. A. J. Wright moved: 'That all applications for grants from the restoration fund which are received after the annual meetings and before March 31st be referred to a committee consisting of the Master, trustees, treasurer and general secretary, who shall have power to make grants up to £12.' The motion was lost by the casting vote of the chairman.

The following proposal by Mr. T. Trollope was also lost: 'That the foremen of towers supply to their branch secretaries or to the general secretary the evening of their weekly practice and the time of meeting. This information to be printed in the annual report.'

The election of 162 new members was confirmed.

Canon Coleridge gave an interesting account of the Central Council meeting at Hereford, and the meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the preacher and organist, proposed by Sir George Dashwood.

The many bells of Oxford were rung during the day, including the twelve at the Cathedral, where a good 'service touch' of Stedman Cinques was brought round; New College, Merton College, where the unusual ringing conditions attracted many visitors; St. Ebbe's, with its tiny, but musical, peal of eight; St. Giles', with its newly-gained octave; St. Aldgate's, Holywell, and St. Mary Magdalene's.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at Eynsford on Saturday, July 28th. Owing to a service in the church the bells were not raised till nearly 4 p.m., but were then made good use of. The association service was held, the Vicar (the Rev. F. J. Mummery) officiating, and delivering an interesting address. Tea was served at the Boyne tea gardens, and was followed by the business meeting. The Vicar being unable to preside, Mr. W. J. Jeffries was voted to the chair. Three new members were elected, and St. Mary's, Woolwich, was chosen as the place of the annual district meeting, to be held in October.

Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his address, and to the organist for his services.—This having been carried with applause, concluded the business, and the members then returned to the tower for further ringing.

RINGERS WHO MIGRATE.

A SCHEME FOR KEEPING TOUCH WITH THOSE WHO MOVE.

At the Central Council meeting at Hereford a scheme was adopted by which it is hoped that associations will be able to keep in touch with ringers who move. Many young ringers are lost to the Exercise, because, on going into a new district, they do not, for one reason or another, seek out a new tower. The object behind the proposal of the Council is that instead of these young ringers being left to seek out a belfry, they would themselves be sought out by the ringers in the district to which they remove.

In order that this may be done, the co-operation of officials is necessary, and an effective means of following up the migrants is as follows:—

In cases where the ringer removes from one parish to another in the same association or guild area, his new address should be sent by the local secretary direct, or through his association secretary, to the local secretary of the band nearest to the place to which the ringer is removing.

In cases where a ringer moves away from the area of his own association or guild, the new address can be sent by the local secretary to his own association secretary, to be forwarded to the association secretary in the new area who will, in turn, pass it on to the local secretary of the band nearest to the place to which the ringer is removing.

In either case it is hoped that, on receiving the information, the local ringers will seek out the newcomer and invite him to the belfry.

If members of associations will make this simple scheme part of their routine, it is felt that many young fellows, just beginning to ring, and who might otherwise be lost to the Exercise, will be kept in its ranks.

To facilitate intercommunication between association secretaries an undertaking was given at the Council meeting to publish their names and addresses in 'The Ringing World.'

In compliance with the promise made, we now publish the names and addresses of the secretaries of the principal associations. If there are any errors we shall be glad to be informed, so that the necessary corrections can be made:—

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at the six-bell tower of Little Horsted on Saturday, July 28th, twenty-five ringers being present. Ringing commenced shortly after 2.30, and at 4.30 a short service was held in church, an interesting address being given by the Rector, the Rev. H. H. Williams. A collection, taken on behalf of the Benevolent Fund, amounted to 5s. 7d. A visit was then made to Horsted Place, the fine old Tudor residence of Mr. and Mrs. Barchard, who had kindly invited the members to tea, at which the Rector presided, supported by the Master, Mr. J. T. Rickman.

The business meeting was mostly of a routine nature. The following new members were elected: Messrs. J. Smith (Lindfield), A. H. Drew (St. Nicholas', Brighton), and W. Luxford (Hartfield). The election of Mr. R. H. Bullen, Euston, as a non-resident member was confirmed.

The meeting concluded with the Master proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, the service, and for presiding at tea, and to Mr. and Mrs. Barchard for their generous hospitality.

Ringing was again resumed, some returning to Little Horsted, others proceeding to the eight-bell tower of Uckfield. At Uckfield, methods from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Surprise Major were rung; at Little Horsted, Doubles to Cambridge and London Minor. The 'go' of the tower at Little Horsted is far from satisfactory.

The following towers were represented: Aldrington, St. Peter's and St. Nicholas' Brighton, Burgess Hill, Coleman's Hatch, East Grinstead, Hartfield, Scaford, Shoreham, Little Horsted, Uckfield.

KNIGHTON. RADS.—On Sunday, June 24th, for evening service, at St. Edward's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 48 mins.: F. T. Preece 1, A. E. Jones 2, E. W. Watkins 3, J. J. Price 4, J. F. Evans 5, T. H. Y. Smallwood 6, F. Evans (conductor) 7, R. H. Jones 8. All the band are regular Sunday service ringers at the above church.

NUTHALL. NOTES.—At St. Patrick's Church, for evening service, on the occasion of the choir festival, a quarter-peal of Doubles, consisting of 240 Stedman, 240 St. Simon's, 240 Plain Bob, 240 Chase and 300 Grandsire, in 40 mins.: J. E. Hobbs (conductor) 1, T. Harrison (first quarter-peal in five methods) 2, R. Harrison (first quarter-peal in five methods) 3, F. Wilcox 4, G. Burton 5.

A WEDDING GIFT.

At Farnham, Surrey, on Sunday, August 5th, for morning service at St. Andrew's Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstans) in 48 mins.: J. Read 1, F. Kemp 2, T. Upshall 3, S. Meadows 4, H. Kemp 5, R. J. Hasted (Havant) 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, G. Upshall 8.

After the above had been rung, Mr. E. Clapshaw, the captain of the local band, handed to Mr. H. Kemp, the ringer of the 5th, a case of silver-mounted carvers as a present from the whole of the ringers on the occasion of his recent marriage, with the best wishes of the band for his and his wife's future.

Mr. Kemp, in returning thanks, stated that the present was a great surprise to him. His brother ringers could rest assured that the gift would be greatly appreciated and valued, both by him and his wife.

BRISTOL'S NEW PEAL OF BELLS.

GENEROUS GIFT TO ST. AMBROSE'S CHURCH.

As already briefly announced in these columns, Bristol, already a city of bells, has gained yet another peal of eight, which have been erected in the fine church of St. Ambrose, in the St. George's district, through the generosity of Mr. John Gardiner, who had previously provided the tower. The bells were cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank who have tuned them on the Simpson five-tone harmonic principle, and hung them in a cast-iron frame mounted on massive steel girder foundation, heavily cross-braced, and taking its bearing in all four walls. The fittings are of the very latest pattern, and include cast-iron headstocks, ball bearings, new-type clapper fittings, and ball-bearing rollers. The tenor is 11½ cwt.

The dedication of the bells was performed, in the absence of the Bishop of Bristol, by the Bishop of Malmesbury, in the presence of a large congregation. The tower is over the south porch, and here the ceremony took place. Following prayers offered by the Bishop, eight ringers from eight churches rang a short touch on the bells which demonstrated some of their excellent capacity. While the procession returned to the chancel, the hymn 'Lifted high within the steeple' was rendered.

The Bishop of Malmesbury gave a short address, and explained that the Bishop of Bristol was unable to attend as a great citizen of Bristol—one who had given wonderfully of his wealth to the city, both in religious and educational matters, had passed away that week and the Bishop was to officiate at the Cathedral and at the committal at the graveside in Easton-in-Gordano. The Bishop of Bristol had been anxious to come to St. Ambrose because of his personal interest in the progress there, and his association with Mr. Gardiner and his many forms of work in the diocese. They were thinking that day of a deed for the glory of God. In the countryside they saw many church towers, and what did that mean? It meant that work had been started and augmented in glory and beauty. All the churches were a living witness to the power and vision of God, and of those who lived in the past. In that church they had an example, perhaps more than had any other church in Bristol, of that similar witness to God—a witness of beauty. The Bishop spoke of the ennobling influence of the peal of bells on the neighbourhood, because people were made aware that adults and children gathered there to get strength and go out to witness for God, and were glad because their church was beautiful.

The final hymn was 'Hark on high the joyful music,' and after the concluding prayers the bells rang out merrily to a touch of Stedman Triples by ringers from St. Mary Redcliff, St. Stephen's, City, St. Thomas', City, St. James', City, Clifton Parish Church, Henbury, and Mangotsfield, and St. Ambrose. The ringers were W. H. Thomas, P. C. Williams, J. Burford, W. Knight, H. Pring, H. Howell, J. Jefferies, and J. Gould. Tea was afterwards served to a company of about 300 on the Vicarage lawn. The bells were also rung on Sunday by members of the diocesan association.

The tone of the bells is exceptionally fine, and the authorities and the donor, as well as the ringers who inspected the work, are extremely pleased with the way in which the contract has been carried out by the Whitechapel Foundry.

A young band of ringers is being instructed at the tower.

THROUGH KENT.

St. John's, Croydon, bellringers, visited Folkestone for their outing. Starting at 7.30 a.m., they stopped first at Maidstone. Here Stedman Caters, Cambridge and Grandsire were rung, and then a quick run brought them to Ashford, where some good ringing was obtained on the fine ring of eight. A look round the beautiful church, and then on to Folkestone, where an excellent dinner was partaken of. After a short ring on the bells of the Parish Church, the party split up until time for departure. Homeward, the road lay through Hythe and Dymchurch, to New Romney, where ringing brethren of Kent heartily welcomed them. After a short stay they journeyed on to Headcorn, where the last ringing of the day was indulged in, and Croydon reached at 11.20 p.m., everybody having had a really enjoyable time. Through 'The Ringing World' the party wish to thank all who contributed to the success of the day, the towerkeepers at the churches, the Vicars for their permission to ring, and the ringers at New Romney for their hearty welcome and kindness in placing the bells at the visitors' disposal.

COOKHAM REVISITED.

On Saturday, July 28th, the ringers of St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, visited Cookham-on-Thames. It was three years ago that this tower was last visited by them, and the band are to be congratulated on the progress made in ringing since that time. Touches were rung in Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor, etc. (Cookham being a six-bell tower). It was a matter of regret that three of the ringers were prevented from joining the party, as also was Mr. Fowler, who had made such excellent arrangements. After tea, rowing was indulged in, and the party were lucky in seeing some of the racing at the Bourne End Regatta. The Guild greatly appreciated the presence of Mr. C. T. Coles and Mr. A. W. Coles, who do so much to further the ringing at St. Giles-in-the-Fields. A cordial vote of thanks was given to Mr. Fowler for making arrangements, and to Dr. Bachelor for the use of the tower.

GEORGE BAKER'S ROUND-BLOCK TRANSPOSITIONS. THROUGH 'MINORMANIA'S' SPECTACLES.

I should like to commence this article with a statement and an apology. First, that it is an analysis of another's work as viewed by a tyro in matters pertaining to the vexed problems of extension. Secondly, that at the end of last year I wrote of 'Analysis' and 'Progression,' closely following a paper by 'Owen Kay.' I am sorry that I omitted specifically to acknowledge this at the time, an oversight which I deplore. But to make full reparation to all of those gentlemen whose work was embodied in 'A Beginner's Theory' would necessitate enumerating the standard works, the writings of those who have contributed to 'The Ringing World' during the last few years, and a host of 'word of mouth' teachers whom I have pestered from time to time. I must confess to plagiarism with intent to profit the beginner, and I make belated acknowledgment of what I supposed to have been a very obvious fact.

A 'Round Block,' as its name implies, is a block of rows, which, in due course, will complete a circle. If continued, it will repeat itself with the monotonous regularity of a switchback roundabout. In short, at the end of its variations it will produce the first row again, which need not of necessity be 'rounds.' Rounds as understood in the tower has no real bearing upon a round block.

Let us enter a vehicle on our roundabout; its station we will call 'row 123456.' Off we go, and, having travelled the full circle, we are back again at 123456. We have completed a 'round block.' But the car behind us, which commenced from 'row 214365,' has also pursued the same circle and has returned to 214365. This car, too, has completed a round block of its own, as, indeed, have all of the others. Each has commenced the same circle from a different station; each has performed a revolution of its own, and each one of these revolutions is part of the whole.

A plain course of Bob Minor is an example of a round block. Commence at 123456, and, at the end of the course, 123456 will turn up again; continue, and every other row in the plain course will be reproduced. Therefore, every one of the sixty rows which go to make the plain course heads (and ends) a round block of its own.

Then a complete round block typifies a certain number of others, each of which is complete within itself, and all of which are embodied in the original.

Our roundabout circle comprises a number of movements which are caused by the switchback track. We go 'down-up-over,' or 'up-over-down,' according to the position at which our vehicle is stationed. Each movement is typical of all of those that go to make the full round. When we have travelled one 'down-up-over' we have done all that there is to do, because all of the remaining movements are similar. Further, each car makes the same movements in travelling its particular round.

In our method the plain lead is the 'down-up,' and the 'over' is the second's place at the lead-end. This 'place' is the only variation of the principle, and it goes to make this particular method. Once we have completed this movement (or lead) we have done all that we need. The whole of the method is contained in this one lead, and it typifies the whole course.

It follows that each row in the first lead heads a movement (of one lead in length) which is symbolical of its particular round block, and, therefore, all round blocks contained in the plain course are typified by those movements, of one lead each, which are headed by the several rows of the first lead. Each row will start the movement in a different place. Rounds will commence with 'down-up' and 'over' the lead-end; whereas the middle row of the lead, for example, will commence with 'up,' 'over' the lead-end, and 'down'; and so on.

In other words, between each row in the first lead of Bob Minor, and the corresponding row of the second lead, we have (in all) twelve blocks which are typical of all of the round blocks contained in the original—the plain course. This means, that within these twelve blocks the second's place (usually at the lead-end) will appear in each of the twelve possible positions in the block. If we commence a movement at the second row in the first lead, we meet the 'place' at one row earlier in the block; and as we commence our blocks at the succeeding rows the second's place 'creeps up,' until it is at the lead-end again.

This may reasonably be applied to any method. All of the 'places' that go to make a lead of, say, London Surprise Minor, may be handled in the same way. In Plain Bob we have only the one place (or, the one alteration to the principle), whereas in London we have many such alterations to deal with. But these alterations form the lead of the method, and are moved upwards en bloc, as we commence our blocks at the successive rows, in exactly the same way as the second's place in Plain Bob.

Before the analyse Mr. Baker's figures, it will be well to say a word or two on the subject of transposition. Change ringing essentially is the placing of bells in different positions in rows. A certain number of such rows, be it two or one thousand, will produce a given transposition, and for our purpose we make take it that a 'given transposition' is always relative to rounds. If we can get into the way of asking ourselves how a transposition will affect rounds, we shall have no difficulty in understanding what follows.

I shall show transposition in a simple form in the examples, viz., the reading of pairs vertically (and downwards) in the rows which are placed 'in column.'

A plain lead of Bob Minor for example. We commence with rounds, and, after a certain number of rows we produce a 'lead-end.' The formation of this lead-end row is in certain transposition from rounds; 123456 has become 135264 after certain rows have been produced. It follows that, after a like interval, the row produced will be in relative transposition:—

If 1.2.3.4.5.6 has become 1.3.5.2.6.4, then 1.3.5.2.6.4 will become 1.5.6.3.4.2.

And if 135264=156342, then 156342=164523, and so on.

The second example and those which follow it in a natural sequence are, however, in very inconvenient forms, and for the sake of ease we transpose each one direct from rounds, example (1) below.

It follows that, taking any two given rows in a block, we can find this most convenient form of transposition, viz., that which is relative to rounds, as in example (2) below:—

If (rounds) 123456 becomes 135264, then row 156342 becomes 164523.
Etc., etc.

(2)
If row 156342 has become 164523,
(rounds) 123456 will become 135264.
Etc., etc.

Then we may know that the given (or standardised) transposition which governs 156342-164523, as in example (2), is 135264 (from rounds understood).

Here, then, we have means of producing results from a given transposition, as example (1), and also of finding the required transposition from given results, as example (2).

The following is typical of Mr. Baker's articles on Round Block Transpositions. It is given as published on April 10th, 1925, except that the columns are lettered and numbered for convenience:—

BOB 'SINGLES.'

No.	Round Blocks.	Transpositions.
1.	1234 x 1342 equals 1342	1342
2.	2143 x 3124 " 4213	2314
3.	2413 x 3214 " 4132	4213
4.	4231 x 2341 " 2314	2143 . . . (Half-way)
5.	4321 x 2431 " 3124	4213
6.	3412 x 4213 " 2431	2314
7.	3142 x 4123 " 3241	1342
8.	1324 x 1432 " 1423	1234
	1342 1423
	(a) (b) (c) (d)

(a) is the first lead and (b) the second lead. Between corresponding rows in (a) and (b) we have eight different blocks, each of which is typical of its round block. For example, between (a)1 and (b)1 we have a typical member of the plain course round block proper. Between (a)2 and (b)2 we have a member of the round block commencing (and ending) at (a)2; and so on. In these eight blocks we have the second's place in each of the eight possible positions.

(c) These are the required transpositions (standardised for convenience, by relating them to rounds) which will produce b-rows from a-rows. They are produced thus:—

If (a) 1234 becomes 1342 (b), (a) 2143=3124 (b), (rounds) 1234 becomes 1342 (c). (rounds) 1234=4213 (c).
Etc., etc.

This means that we have substituted 1234 for every separate row in (a), and have found the rows which will be produced after one member of each round block has been completed. In short, we have standardised all of the round blocks by commencing each one from rounds, and have, in (c), ascertained the 'first lead-end' of each.

In another way we have taken the plain principle, and have caused the second's place to be made in the eight possible positions in the block, and the rows in (c) are the resultant 'lead-ends' of this procedure.

(d) These are rows resultant upon the transposition of the round blocks in their consecutive order: 1234 (understood) in (d), transposed by 1342 (c) gives 1342 (d); 1342 (d) by 4213 (c) gives 2314 (d), which, transposed by 4132 (c) gives 4213 (d), etc.

This means that in (d) we have the 'lead-ends' (as it were) if the blocks between (a) and (b) were commenced at the block-end next preceding, thus:—

(a) 1234 produces 1342 (b) (a) 2143=3124 (b) (a) 2413=3214 (b)
Then (d) 1234 produces 1342 (d) (d) 1342=2314 (d) (d) 2314=4213 (d)

In another way we commence block No. 1 at 1234 and travel to 1342; block No. 2 is commenced at this 1342, producing 2314 at the end; No. 3 is commenced at this 2314, giving 4213, and so on. It will be observed in (d) that the results after 2143 (the half-way) are the reverse of the first-half of the lead, and that rounds has turned up at the last block-end, having commenced at this row in (a).

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

NEW LIGHT ON FABIAN STEDMAN.

It is strange in what unexpected quarters bits of ringing history come to light. We are able to give this week the details of an incident, indirectly of some importance to our knowledge of one of the greatest figures in the Exercise, which occurred two hundred and sixty years ago, when the very foundations of our art were being laid. Hidden away in an old diary, unknown to many generations of searchers into the history of ringing, were two entries of significance concerning Fabian Stedman and the publication of the first book on change ringing. It has been left to Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, to bring them to light, as the result of enquiries which he has made into the history of the bells of his native town, and these records, with the inferences which may probably be drawn from them, will be read with interest.

The diary throws up in a picturesque manner the efforts which Stedman himself made to spread the art of ringing and which was made possible by the publication of his 'Tintinnalogia.' To what extent he was responsible for its contents need not here be entered into, but for more than a hundred years this volume was the basis of the various books which came into being. When a later edition appeared he changed its name to 'Campanologia,' and this title held the field for ringing books down to Shipway's day. Of course, as time went on, efforts were made to improve the contents of the publication; some things were left out, other material was added, but those early publications were largely based upon what Stedman himself had given us in 1668. That much we knew; we now see that Stedman actively set out to spread the art by visiting other centres, and it is quite believable, with the evidence we have of his visits to Leicester and London, that he went to other places as well, and none more likely than Norwich.

The information revealed by these Leicester diary entries leads to another conclusion, and that is that what has been looked upon for the past five and twenty years as being Fabian Stedman's will and, as such, has been cherished as a great discovery, is in all probability the will of some other person of the same name. Arguments on this point are set out in the article which we are printing and need not be traversed here. Perhaps the evidence which we have is not absolutely conclusive in the matter, but it does seem to us to bring the tradition of Stedman having been at any time a civil servant in London within the category of those which can be said to be 'improbable although not demonstrably wrong.' The belief that Stedman was a printer of Cambridge seems to be definitely established by the diary.

That he should at the same time, or in the later years of his life, have been a civil servant in the Metropolis seems most unlikely. It would be extremely interesting to hear what Mr. R. A. Daniell, to whom the Exercise owes so much for his historical researches, has to say on the matter.

CARTER'S PRINCIPLE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Now that Mr. Trollope has definitely decided not to do that which he asked for powers to do in the matter of sweeping away such absurdities as duplication of names in the 'Collection,' perhaps I might suggest that the committee in charge of the Methods Collection, which I trust includes Mr. Trollope, should publish in the next issue of that publication a complete extent (60 changes) of Carter's Principle of Doubles. We are not all of us so clever as Mr. Trollope and his fellow-figurists, and I am afraid the few things published are rather fogging. I confess I cannot see how to extend the few I see in the old 'Collection,' and have been asked by quite a few five-bell men how they can use this method. Pending the next issue, perhaps someone will oblige in your columns.

And I might just point out in passing that if even the parable of the five wise and five foolish ones is re-enacted in the hereafter, I know an awful lot of folk who will be left outside the door (other than the methods and 'Nomenclature' experts, I mean). I believe at least nine out of every ten country steeplekeepers would be left outside the door, as they never, no never, have any oil in their lamps when the bridegroom arrives, nor on their bells. I am sure that Mephistopheles will spend his moments of leisure in choking all of the lot with broken but empty oil bottles, and then making them ring the never, no never, oiled parish tons. Oh, yes. We have all heard of the 'Parish ton.' 'How much does she weigh?' 'Just a ton, sir!'

I came across two such yesterday. I took my usual Bank Holiday, as Auntie tells all and sundry, sowing a few more 'wild oats.' I enclose one of 'em for publication in the peal columns. I am quite sure that all peal ringers will be left outside the door. They have no oil in their lamps, or else they wouldn't go peal ringing. Now, would they, sir? If the energy expended in all ringing, other than the call to worship, were put to a profitable use the whole of the debt on the church property would be wiped out in ten years, and the dole would no longer be required in the land. All ringers who go country tower hunting would be left outside the door with the towerkeepers, for they have none in their lamps. Yesterday, after one and a half hour's contortions we gave up trying to keep the ropes in the wheels, and watching the enormous cracks in the tower open and shut. Afterwards we wended our weary way to a place the O'Bacon had spotted, and put some oil in lamps. We then went forward to venue No. 2. Here we were told all was in apple-pie order, and the bells rung regularly. I asked how often that was, after I had pulled mine up, and was told they had rung half a dozen changes last Christmas. The peal over, O'Bacon enquired the weight of the 'jam jar,' and got the answer, 'Thirteen or eight.' 'No,' quoth O'B., 'I don't want to know when you fattened them last: I want to know how big she is!'

THE BROAD BLASTER.

WEDDING BELLS AT BERKSWELL.

A very pretty wedding was solemnised on Bank Holiday at Berks-well Parish Church, between Mr. H. W. Wright, of Nuneaton, and Miss C. Rowley, of Balsall Common, near Coventry. The bridegroom is a member of the All Saints', Chilvers Coton, band, and after the ceremony his fellow-ringers rang touches on the nice-toned peal of six. Rounds, 'Queen's,' and 'Firing' were followed, with the assistance of Mr. H. Summers, of Allesley, by a course of Kent Minor and several 120's of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles.

At the reception which followed, Mr. J. E. Moreton, on behalf of the ringers of Chilvers Coton, presented the happy couple with a set of carvers, together with the good wishes of the band for their future happiness. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Wright were given a rousing send-off when they left by train for their new home at Oswestry (Salop). The ringers were Messrs. J. E. Moreton, A. H. Beamish, J. Draycott, H. Summers, J. Thompson and A. Harding.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

FARNHAM DISTRICT MEETING.

On Saturday last the Farnham District held their third district meeting at Yorktown, 24 members and visitors attending from Aldershot, Bagshot, Farnham, Dorking, Blackwater, Woking, and the local company. Yorktown has a modern church which was opened in 1851. The handsome spire was erected and the eight bells installed in the year 1891. Ringing commenced early in the afternoon, and the Vicar (Rev. R. M. Curwen) conducted the Guild's service, and gave a very encouraging address.

Afterwards, tea was partaken in the Parish Room, and the Vicar, who was unable to stay for the business meeting, was very warmly thanked by Admiral T. P. Walker, the Guild's hon. treasurer, on behalf of the assembled company for his kindness in granting the use of the bells and for taking the service.

At the business meeting Admiral Walker presided, and was supported by the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted), the district secretary (Mr. R. Clark), and the hon. general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith). The contingent from Aldershot included several youthful members who are learning the art under Mr. Denyer.

One new member was elected from Farnham, and Mr. Goldsmith gave a report upon the Central Council meeting at Hereford, dealing particularly with the matters in which the Guild was specially interested. He stated that the scheme for putting ringers who migrated into touch with other associations had already been of use.

—Mr. Goldsmith was warmly thanked for his services and report. The Chairman then brought forward the question of a Guild badge, and remarked that from a young ringer's point of view he approved of the scheme. Other ringers present, both young and old, approved of a badge he exhibited, which is made by a Minehead ringer, Mr. G. Stacey.

At the conclusion of the business, Admiral Walker was given a very hearty vote of thanks for presiding.

The company then adjourned to the tower, where ringing in the standard methods was kept up until 8.30 p.m., when another successful meeting was brought to a close.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.
PROPOSED JOINT MEETING WITH OXFORD GUILD.

A successful meeting of the South and West District was held at St. John's, Hillingdon, on Saturday, July 28th, by permission of the Vicar, the Rev. H. Kitcat.

The bells pealed forth about 3.30 under the guidance of the Ringing Master, Mr. R. Holloway, and assisted by Mr. J. J. Pratt, and good practice was put in on ten bells. Another ten-bell tower is sadly needed in the district, and the hon. secretary is sadly in want of more money for the Isleworth fund to meet this need. Service was conducted by the Rev. Monks, who on behalf of the Vicar welcomed the association to St. John's. The organist was Mr. E. Williams, assisted by Mr. Wm. Taylor. Tea was served in the Church Hall by Mr. and Mrs. E. Goodfellow.

The Ringing Master presided at the meeting which followed, and the first duty was to accord Mr. Tom Beadle a most hearty welcome, everyone being delighted to see him again after his long illness. Mr. Beadle received a great ovation, it being nearly two years since he was last able to attend.

The meeting's sympathy was expressed to Miss P. Moss on her recent serious illness, and she received a hearty welcome with best wishes for her speedy recovery. Six new members were elected, and it was decided to hold a joint meeting with the Oxford Diocesan Guild (South Bucks District), it being left to the hon. secretary to arrange with the hon. secretary of Oxford Guild, if possible, it being pointed out that the Bucks District and West Middlesex ringers had worked in harmony for upwards of 54 years.

Among the well-known ringers present were Messrs. W. H. Fussell, W. Henley, C. Mayne, W. Welling, J. Hunnisett, Corke, R. A. Fardon, Wingrove, Turner, W. Gutteridge, Fletcher, Taylor and others, while the ladies were represented by Mrs. R. A. Fardon, Mrs. W. Taylor, Misses K. E. and D. R. Fletcher and Miss W. F. Bolt.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, to the Rev. Monk, the organist and assistant, the host and hostess, and those who helped with the refreshments, Mr. J. J. Pratt and other members for their attendance and support. The tower was again visited, and Cambridge Royal, Stedman Caters, etc., were rung.

IN LAKE LAND.

The ringers of Houghton, Lancs., had an enjoyable excursion into the Lake District for their annual outing. Travelling through Lancaster and Carnforth, they stopped at Kendal, where they rang touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples. After dinner, they proceeded to Ambleside, where they rang on one of the finest peals of eight in the North of England. Hawkshead was reached in time for tea. After ringing at this church also, the return was made via Newby Bridge, Kirby Lonsdale, Settle and Clitheroe, Blackburn being reached at 11 p.m. It was the best outing in the annals of the company, and the ringers wish to thank the clergy of the churches visited, also Mr. W. Atkinson and Mr. E. Jennings, of Kendal, Mr. W. Robinson, of Ambleside, and Mr. C. Webb, of Hawkshead, for meeting them.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.VETERANS' LONG SERVICE RECOGNISED.

A meeting, anticipated by the members of the Barnsley and District Association with great pleasure, was held on Saturday at Cawthorne, when occasion was taken to do honour to two of the local veterans, Mr. H. Crossland and Mr. Edward Dearnley. The former who is now 83 years of age, worked in a mine until he was 76, and he still rings for service and takes part in contests. He finds daily occupation in doing useful work, such as gardening, and continues to join in the social amenities of the village life. Mr. Dearnley, who is 76, has been a ringer for 57 years. He is still able to join in service ringing, but owing to failing eyesight is not one of the team which has been so successful in ringing competitions, the Cawthorne band having won the Hoylandswaine challenge cup this year, as well as in the years 1925 and 1926. He, however, still follows his occupation as a 'stone waller' on the estate of Mr. J. Spencer Stanhope, at Cannon Hall.

A good company of ringers, ladies and friends, gathered for the meeting. The bells were ringing early in the afternoon, and at 4 p.m. the Vicar (the Rev. C. L. Woolley) conducted a service, assisted by the Vicar of Penistone (Rev. E. B. Carleton), who gave an address.

After tea at Tate's Cafe, an adjournment was made to the Parish Room, where the Vicar, who presided, said that the Church Council welcomed the visit of the association, and looked upon it as an annual event.

The Chairman of the Church Council (Mr. J. Spencer Stanhope) also gave a hearty welcome to the visitors. He expressed pride in the local ringers, who were, he said, like the bells, 'ever the same, yet ever new.' As chairman of the Council he was asked to present large photographs to Messrs. H. Crossland and E. Dearnley as an appreciation of their long services to the village. In times of joy and sorrow, they had never failed in their duty. He also handed smaller photos to the rest of the band, with the hope that they would all share in the longevity for which the village is famous.

Mr. W. Reyner, president of the association, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. J. Spencer Stanhope for his services, and on behalf of the association declared that such recognition of the veteran ringers made the day a landmark in their history.—Mr. C. D. Potter (secretary) seconded the vote of thanks.

A photographic group of the whole party was afterwards taken outside the Parish Room, and copies may shortly be had from Mr. W. Brown, Gillygate, Pontefract.

The rest of the evening was happily spent, many of the visitors rambling through the picturesque village to the beautiful park at Cannon Hall, kindly thrown open to them by Mr. J. Spencer Stanhope.

THROUGH THE WEALD OF KENT.

The Canterbury Cathedral company visited the Weald of Kent for their annual outing. Starting from Canterbury at 8.30 a.m., the party of thirteen members took their way via Chartham, up through the pretty little village of Chilham, and on until they reached Charing Hill. And what a magnificent view they had of the valley below, with Eggerton Church nestling amongst the trees on the opposite side. Harrietsham was reached at 10 a.m. The Church of St. John-the-Baptist has a Norman vestry and a beautiful Early Perpendicular nave. The bells, a light peal of eight, with a tenor 13 cwt., went very well indeed. Leaving Harrietsham, the route brought the party close to Leeds Castle and the Church of St. Nicholas, where there are ten bells, and, as some of the party had never rung there, permission was obtained of the Vicar (the Rev. T. H. Jacques), who kindly sent his man to see that everything was in order. Here the visitors were pleased to find evidences of 'colt' training, for two of the bells were tongue-tied, and one of them had had its slider removed, which no doubt would be conducive to careful manipulation, but the visitors preferred to have the machinery intact. Then on again through Sutton Valence to Headeorn, arriving at 12.30 p.m. The excursionists were disappointed not to have Mr. Philip Hodgkin to meet them, business having taken him away from home, but he had kindly left everything ready for them. Having broken the programme by stopping at Leeds, they had to push on to Cranbrook, where they arrived half an hour late for dinner at the George Hotel. Cranbrook Church, sometimes called the 'Cathedral of the Kentish Weald,' is a very fine old church, having a lovely toned peal of bells. Hawkhurst was the first stopping place on the homeward journey, and here some of the party had a surprise, for they were met by one who had learned to ring at St. Alphage, Canterbury, some thirty years before. He was then known as 'Ted' Waghorn, but now as Mr. Older Waghorn, so he must have got Older since, or he must have been Older than his colleagues suspected. However, he remembered Mr. H. G. Fairbrass teaching him Stedman slow work on the return journey of a ringers' outing to Deal, so of course he rang some Stedman Triples with the visitors to show he had not forgotten his lesson. Arriving at Tenterden at 5.20, the party were very glad of a cup of tea, the kindly Vicar calling on them whilst in the midst of it, and he welcomed them to his belfry. Some good ringing in various methods was accomplished here, Mr. and Mrs. Baker taking part. They showed their enthusiasm by cycling over from Frittenden, a distance of about eight miles, for the purpose. Departing from Tenterden about 9.30 p.m., the party arrived safely at Canterbury after a most enjoyable day.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Strange it is how little trouble ringers will take. In our issue of July 27th we specially asked that reports of peals rung on August Bank Holiday should be sent off the same night. Yet not one was dropped into the post that evening.

When a request of this kind is made there is always a purpose behind it; and we hope that future requests will not fall upon similarly deaf ears. Verb sap.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have in hand a new peal of eight, tenor 14 cwt., for Newcastle-on-Tyne, and they are also making a small carillon for Leith.

On August 17th, 1812, a peal of 5,000 Oxford Treble Bob Royal was rung on Coventry's now departed bells.

A peal of '5,376 Cambridge Surprise 8 in,' the 'first in the north of England,' was rung at Keighley, Yorks, on August 18th, 1811.

The Royal Cumberland Youths rang their first peal of Stedman Caters on August 23rd, 1788—one hundred and forty years ago next Thursday—at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, 'being the second peal that was ever performed in that method.' It was composed and called by John Reeves, who had composed and called the earlier one at St. John's, Horsleydown, rung by the College Youths. It is further interesting from the fact that it was the first peal in which William Shipway took part with the Cumberlands.

Here, perhaps, we may offer a word of explanation, and apology, if it is required, to the College Youths. When recalling, in this column, the Horsleydown peal, we referred to it as having subsequently been proved to be false, and not unnaturally the Ancient Society have asked the reason for the aspersion.

The information came to us in this way, that when the centenary came round in 1887 it was proposed by a band of College Youths to ring the same composition at the same church, but the conductor was informed by the celebrated composer, John Cox, that the peal was not true, and it (the composition) was therefore abandoned. If John Cox was wrong, we go into sackcloth and ashes in our endeavour to show our regret, and add, in the words of the recording tablet, "'Here the Cynic and the Panegyrist stop," and join in eulogiums to such distinguished merits.'

CLITHEROE BELLS RECAST.

The ring of eight bells at Clitheroe Church, Lancs, have been recast and relung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The peal has a tenor of about 17 cwt. in F, and they are tuned on the true harmonic principle. A new iron frame, carried on steel girders, has been installed, and the bells are hung with the latest type of fittings, including ball bearings. The cost of the restoration of the bells is being generously defrayed by Mr. Samuel Green, as a thankoffering for recovery from a serious illness.

The dedication will be performed on Tuesday next, the 21st inst., at 7.30 p.m. by the Bishop of Blackburn.

ASSOCIATION SECRETARIES.

Secretaries of associations and others are requested to make the following amendments to the list published last week:—

The hon. secretary of the North Wales Association is now Mr. William Catherall, 20, Ifordd Estyn, Garden Village, Wrexham, North Wales.

The address of Mr. H. Lofthouse, hon. secretary of the Leeds and District Society, is 8, Wortley Road, Armley, Leeds.

A YORK MINSTER ANNIVERSARY.

BELL HANGER'S QUAIN ADVERTISEMENT.

In the year 1765, York Minster, which had been the first to have a ring of twelve bells, changed them for a peal of ten, which was opened on Aug. 19th, 1765. The old peal had not been satisfactory, the front four bells having been too light for the back eight, the tenor of which was 55½ cwt. There had also been the big disparity of about 15 cwt. between the ninth and tenth.

Lester and Pack, of Whitechapel, cast the new ring of ten, which were to be as nearly as possible like Bow bells, and they came very close to this specification.

Prior to the opening in August, 1765, the following advertisement appeared in a York newspaper:—

'This is to give notice to all Gentlemen ringers and others that there is a new peal of ten bells (cast by Lester and Pack, of London), to be opened on Monday, the 19th of August next, at York Minster, and allowed by the best judges in London to be as fine a peal of that number as any in the kingdom, and as heavy. Free liberty being given any strangers to open the peal. Any ringers that choose to come the Sunday evening before will be allowed to ring a round peal upon trial. They are now hanging by Samuel Turner, bell hanger to the above firm. If any gentleman, churchwardens, or others want any new peals of bells, or any that want new casting or hanging, by sending a letter to the said S. Turner, at the Cross Guns, near the Minster, betwixt this and the first of September next, they shall be waited upon immediately, and their work faithfully executed after the very best manner by their most obedient and humble servant, S. Turner.'

The peal of bells, after escaping a fire in 1829, caused by Jonathan Martin, a mad incendiary, was destroyed with the tower in a fire on May 20th, 1840. When the tower was restored, the ten were replaced by the ring of twelve, which was recast recently.

FABIAN STEDMAN.

AN HISTORIC INCIDENT.

Anything which can throw light upon the history of the founders of the Exercise is more than welcome in these days, when almost all details except some of the peal performances of these pioneers are lost to us, and the following extracts from an ancient diary, which have been brought to the notice of Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, are singularly interesting, because they refer to the 'father' of change ringing, Fabian Stedman.

From these extracts it will be seen that Fabian Stedman visited Leicester in the year 1669, to introduce his 'New Book on ye Artes and Mysteries of Tintinnalogiæ.' This book, the 'Tintinnalogia,' published in 1668, was the first book, as far as is known, ever published in connection with change ringing. Whether Stedman was sole or only part author of the book we do not profess to say. The subject was discussed in our columns some time ago, but opposing writers failed to convince 'the other side.' What is certain, however, is that Fabian Stedman was responsible for its publication, and went as far afield as Leicester in order to bring it to the notice of the ringers of that town.

Before commenting further, however, let us give the extracts from the diarist and Mr. Morris' account of how he came by them. Mr. Morris writes:

'In my pursuit of additional "data," etc., for my revision of the "Church Bells of Leicestershire," to which I am adding a chapter on change ringing in so far as concerns this diocese, I have come across many hitherto little-known facts, additions and corrections. One of the most interesting additions I am able to make is the following relative to a visit to Leicester by Fabian Stedman. The source of this information (which was given me as a result of a notice in the local Press and Diocesan Leaflet) was a Mr. Tyers, who, in his younger days, used to help ring with his father at King's Norton, Leicestershire, but who now passes his declining years in reading his many interesting books and cuttings of historical notes.

The following forms part of a "chronology" written by the late W. Barrow, a well-known Leicester historian and brother of the late Joseph Barrow, a ringer of Long Eaton. I have myself personally investigated many of the details this chronology gives, especially relating to the history of St. Margaret's Church, and also dates, inscriptions, etc., of various bells in and around Leicester. In every case I have found the information correct, and see no reason to doubt this "side-light" on the life of Stedman, which I am sure will prove interesting to all ringers.'

DIARY EXTRACTS.

The extracts are as follow:—

1668. May 11th, Whit Monday.—Mr. Fabian Stedman, printer, of Cambridge, sent his letter to ye bell ringers of the town, settinge forth that having discovered the "artcs or mysteries" of performing ye sweete musick of change-ringing on church-bells, to the great edifyinge of youthe, and the publishinge of his "booke" called "Tintinnalogie, or ye Artes, Mysteries, and Fancie of Diffusing Sweet Musick," explaininge to ye bell ringers ye desirabilitie of establishinge a societie of scholars for setting forth ye "artcs and mysteries" of change-ringing not onlie for ye edifyinge of their minds, but also for their enjoyment, and the healthfull exercise of their bodies. And desiring, with Almighty God permitting, to visit their citie at a time appointed, and hoping the pleasure of their good will and companie.—Fab. Stedman. St. Martin's MSS., Leicester. W.B.

1669. September 30th, Thursday.—Mr. Fabian Stedman came on a visit to the town for several days, for to introduce his "New Book on ye Artes and Mysteries of Tintinnalogiæ" (campanology), and being ye fayer time, and manye strangers coming in, Mr. Stedman was entertayned by ye gentlemen ringers to sweete musick at ye churches, expressinge joye with ye late newe ring of heavie bells that bee in St. Margaret's, which discoursed sweete musick nightlie. Saturday being ye 2nd day (Oct.) young ringers did entertayn Mr. Stedman with musick at St. Marie's. And in ye night tyme gentlemen and young ringers entertayned Mr. Stedman sumptouslie at Maister Baker's at ye "Angell," £1 16s. 8d. being spent for meates, wines, beere, tobacco and pipes, etc., as appears by bill. Sondaye being ye 3rd daye (Oct.) after ye morning service at Seynt Martin's, Mr. Stedman entertaynd them all at his inn neere ye High Cross, and afterwards gave forthe his orations on ye "Artes and Mysteries" in ye Greate Chamber, or gallerie of his quarters, wherewith the gentle'n and youth, with many others, clergie, and gentle'n, were mightilie pleased, all departinge to their homes neere seaven of ye clocke. Munday ye 4th daye, Mr. Stedman departed his quarters at ye Red Lyon by ten of ye clocke, when ye gentlemen and youths companied his horse a mille beyonde ye conduite springe hill, and so gave him their farewell on his journe towards Harbrow.—Nath'l Baker, filius, St. Martin's MSS. W. B., per W. Thirby, clerk.

Then is added: 'It would appear that Mr. Stedman was a person of good repute in those times, and the circumstance of his visit to Leicester to diffuse the "artcs and mysteries" of campanology or change-ringing, was probably the first origin of the Society of Leicester Scholars, and from the fact that Mr. Nath'l Baker, son of mine host of the "Angell," written an account of Mr. Stedman's visit, he was one of the "gentlemen ringers" who "discoursed sweet musick nightlie." And the Angel, in the Sheepside (Cheapside) would be the rendezvous of the gentlemen ringers and youths, and it is only to be expected that the "sumptuous entertainment" got up in honour of Mr. Stedman's coming to the town, would likewise take place at the Angel Inn, the site in after times being occupied by Messrs. Morley. Regarding the "sweet musick," it would be somewhat difficult to explain the matter, taking into account that St. Margaret's and St. Martin's contained rings of six, and St. Mary's a ring of five bells. They might possibly at that time understand a Plain Grand sire of 120 changes on five bells with a cover (tenor), or the 24 changes on four bells with a tenor, which might be rang several times in succession, or they might have some knowledge of change-ringing by other methods. Mr. Stedman's "booke" and his oration no doubt threw considerable light on the "artcs and mysteries" of change-ringing, and his book would be resorted to as a work of reference both at the Angel and bellries of the town. A Sunday afternoon dinner and entertainment would be nothing unusual in those times, as the services of the church were morning on one Sunday and afternoon on another Sunday; and persons, after attending services, were at liberty for the transaction of any necessary business or pleasure.'

The writer then goes on to explain the situation of the Conduit Spring Hill, etc.

Under the date 1710, May 2nd, Monday, I find: 'A number of gentlemen of the Musical Society, Scholars from Neighbouring towns of Coventry, Hinckley and Loughborough, etc., came in to the fair, and rang the six great bells of St. Margaret's for the space of more than two hours; and afterwards about 30 gentlemen dined together at the Angel Inn, after which it was "voiced" by the scholars that the projected adding of two new "fore-bells" to the ring of six heavy bells in St. Margaret's, Leicester (making the number to eight), would much enhance the musick of the town, and facilitate to the instruction and improvement of youth in the arts and mysteries and diversion of ringing.'

The two "fore-bells" mentioned were cast by A. Rudhall, of Gloucester, in 1711, and erected in 1712, making the first ring of eight in Leicestershire.

STEDMAN AS AN 'APOSTLE.'

Can we not draw a fairly good picture of the circumstances and the scene? Stedman had produced his book, and, filled with an enthusiasm for the new art, he determines to become an 'apostle.' The centres in which anything in the nature of ringing took place in those days were few and far between, and the best that was practised was probably only changes in which one pair of bells moved at a time. The College Youths had been in existence in London as a society for about 50 years, and Stedman knew all about them, for he became a member in 1664, and to them he dedicated his book. It was printed in London, and among the ringers there, of course, it would find a circulation. But outside London and Cambridge there would be little demand, partly because in very few places would its existence be known, and, in addition, those who rang the bells needed educating to the advantages of the 'artcs and mysteries' of this new 'fancie of diffusing sweet musick.' Leicester was possibly one of the nearest places at which Stedman could hope to get together any considerable number of persons likely to be interested in the subject. Norwich is slightly nearer, and it would be extremely interesting to know if he made a similar pilgrimage to that city. It is certainly not unlikely, when it is remembered that it was at Norwich that the first peals were rung.

Things moved slowly in those distant days, and the arrangements for the visit took a long time to materialise. It will be observed that his letter was sent in May, 1668, but it was not until sixteen months later that the visit actually took place. It must have been something of a venturesome journey. The distance would be at least seventy miles, and, as we see, Stedman travelled on horseback. His route would probably be through St. Neots and Higham Ferrers to Kettering and Market Harborough; or it might have been via Huntingdon and Thrapston. Certain it is that it would be at least a two days' journey, if not more, and he would fall in on the road with many others making their way to Leicester, for was it not 'fayer time, and many strangers coming in'?

Stedman arrived on Thursday. He was welcomed by the gentlemen ringers, and taken with evident pride to hear the new bells of St. Margaret's and those of St. Mary's. Then on the Saturday they feasted the stranger, and we can imagine what a merry time they spent at 'the Angell' that evening. They dined 'sumptuously,' and we can picture them sitting round the table afterwards, smoking their long clay pipes, and discussing, over their tankards of beer, the new method of producing changes. And the next day Fabian Stedman returned the compliment. The ringers were his guests at the inn where he was staying, and afterwards came his 'orations' in the big room of the hostelry. There must have been a considerable company to listen to the lecture on change ringing, and they were apparently of varied stations in life. Stedman evidently pleased his audience, and it would be interesting to know what the practical sequel was. Did they establish a 'Society of Scholars'? Did they become subscribers to 'Tintinnologia'? Did they take up change ringing in the new way which Stedman had put before them? These questions remain unanswered, but it is believable that all three could be replied to 'in the affirmative.' At all events, Stedman created a good impression, and a cordial spirit of friendship must have developed, for they escorted him on the first stage of his return journey, when he left for Cambridge, after a stay which lasted from Thursday until Monday.

FABIAN'S CONNECTION WITH CAMBRIDGE.

This visit of Fabian Stedman, 'printer, of Cambridge,' to Leicester in the autumn of 1669 raises another question. What is supposed to be the will of Fabian Stedman came to light in 1901, and, as a result, considerable research was made by Mr. R. A. Daniell in the hope of discovering further facts about the life of Stedman. The result of his labours was published in 1903 in 'The Bell News,' but his conclusions were based largely on the assumption that the will was that of Fabian Stedman, the ringer.

Mr. Daniell put forward the result of his research 'for what it may be worth.' Tradition, he said, having constantly asserted that Fabian Stedman was born in Cambridge in 1631 or thereabouts, the first thing to be done was to search the registers of the old parishes in that town. That was done, and although all the registers, and, where necessary, the Bishop's transcripts of them at the diocesan registry at Ely, have been examined, no entry recording the baptism of Fabian Stedman was found.

'Traditions,' continued Mr. Daniell in his interesting article, 'may for present purposes be divided into three classes. Firstly, those which are demonstrably false, of which we may take as an example the statement which crops up from time to time that Annable was a professor of mathematics at Cambridge. It is only necessary to consult the official lists of professors in the University Calendar to see that Annable's name is only conspicuous by its absence. The second class includes traditions which, though not demonstrably wrong, are in themselves so improbable that nothing but the most positive evidence can render them credible. The tradition that on the conclusion of the peal of Bob Maximus at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, in 1726, every member of the band left the steeple in his own carriage, belongs to this second class. The third class includes traditions which, on the face of them, are at least as likely to be true as false. And the tradition connecting Stedman with Cambridge obviously belongs to this class, since there is no reason, on the face of it, why Fabian should not have been born at Cambridge as probably as anywhere else.

A branch of the Stedman family had apparently been settled at Haslingfield, a parish about five miles from Cambridge, prior to 1563, as in that year Letters of Administration of the goods of Walter Stedman of that parish issued out of the Court of the Bishop of Ely, and it appears from the Bishop's transcripts of the Haslingfield registers that the family remained there at least down to the time of Fabian. In Cambridge itself the only member of the Stedman family I have found is John Stedman, who married Mabel Middleton at Holy Trinity Church, April 14th, 1629. This date is very interesting, as it obviously coincides so well with tradition, for nothing could be more natural than the birth of a son of this pair in 1631 or thereabouts. I do not know what the occupation of John Stedman was, but he evidently lived in Cambridge and was a householder of respectable position, for in 1646 he served the office of churchwarden of Trinity parish, and in that capacity signed the registers for that year. His year of office seems to have been uneventful; there is a payment of eighteen pence for a bonfire on the fifth of November, and of sixpence for "shooting" (a variation of "shutting," which means splicing) a bell rope. Of course, we cannot infer from these things alone that Fabian was the son of John, but he very well might be, and I have found nothing inconsistent with the relationship.

If Fabian was the son of John, and we should, therefore, naturally expect to find the record of his baptism in one of the Cambridge parochial registers, there is a fact which suggests a possible reason why we have not found it, and that fact is the Plague. This dire disease visited Cambridge both in 1630 and 1631. The former of these visitations was very severe, and broke up the work of the University. Tutors retired with their pupils to the country places, and as many persons as could leave the town probably did so. The epidemic of the following year was not so deadly, but the recollection of the previous year would scare people, face to face with a possible repetition. I suggest two ways in which this may be material to our present consideration.

Further extracts from Mr. Daniell's article and arguments as to whether Fabian Stedman was ever a civil servant in London, as has been supposed by some, will be printed in our next issue.

NORFOLK GUILD.

THE JAMES MOTTS MEMORIAL.

A general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Great Yarmouth on August Bank Holiday, when, by the kind permission of the Rev. Canon R. A. Aitken, M.A. (Vicar), the ring of 12 bells of the Parish Church of St. Nicholas were placed at the disposal of the members throughout the day, and there was a very satisfactory attendance, over 40 members being present from various parts of the diocese, including 14 life members (non-resident). It was very gratifying to the Guild to welcome so many of its life members, amongst whom were Messrs. Thomas Faulkner (Barking), William Keeble (Feering), Charles A. Catchpole, James Rose, Frederick J. Tillett, Charles Woodcock, W. J. G. Brown (Ipswich), W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), Charles F. Sayer, James Spalding, Robert Spalding (Beccles), Thomas Beckett, Miss Violet Beckett (Shipmeadow), Frederick Watling (Saxmundham), Messrs. W. Keeble and J. T. Brown (visitors), and representatives from Diss, Fakenham, Great Yarmouth, Heveingham, Lowestoft, Norwich, Marham, Loddon and North Walsham. The bells were kept going merrily until one o'clock, when the members adjourned for luncheon. This was followed by the business meeting, held in the belfry of St. Nicholas' Church, Mr. Denison Hayward being voted to the chair, in the absence of the president of the Guild, the Archdeacon of Norwich. He was supported by the secretary, Mr. Arthur L. Coleman, and Messrs. William J. Lee and Ben S. Thompson, district secretaries, Great Yarmouth and Norwich respectively, and 28 members.

Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (secretary) moved the ratification of the following belfry elections of members, viz.: Messrs. David Whiting, Garnham A. Blaxcell, Thomas J. James, Albert William Coles, Charles W. Roberts, as life members (non-resident). Mr. Arthur L. Coleman also moved, and Mr. William E. Bason seconded, the election of Messrs. Bertie Sales and Walter R. Watson, of Marham, as members of the Guild.

The Secretary brought before the notice of the meeting the James Motts Memorial Fund, and said that the fund would be closed in September, and that he had already received donations from some of the Norfolk friends of the late Mr. Motts, and if there were any other members of the Guild desirous of subscribing to that fund he hoped they would kindly send their donations to him, which he would gladly forward to the secretary of the fund at Ipswich.

Mr. Coleman moved, and Mr. Denison Hayward seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. Canon R. A. Aitken for his kind permission for the use of the bells, especially so as he had so very kindly postponed 'Vicar's steeple day' (August Bank Holiday) to enable the Guild to have the use of the bells, or, to put it in the Canon's own words to the secretary, 'That the Guild should come first on such an occasion.' The motion was carried with applause.

An outstanding feature of the day was the fine performance by the youngest member of the Guild, Miss Violet Beckett (who is only 15 years of age). On her first attempt on a ring of 12 bells she rang her first course of Stedman Cinques, and also a touch of Kent Treble Bob Maximus, with the greatest ease and with the competence of an experienced ringer. Miss Beckett received congratulations from the members present on her fine ringing. Touches in the standard methods of Triples, Major, Caters, Royal, Cinques and Maximus were rung during the day, which proved a very enjoyable and successful meeting.

YOUTH AND AGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—What must surely be a record occurred at Great Yarmouth on August Bank Holiday. Immediately at the conclusion of the Norfolk Guild's meeting a course of Stedman Cinques was rung. Included in the band were several visitors, the majority of whom had passed the half-century. There was, however, at one end of the scale Miss Beckett, of Beccles, ringing the 4th, who had scarcely reached the age of 15 years. There was also the veteran John Souter, of Diss, well over 70, at the other end of the scale, ringing the 8th. Is this another record for a lady?—Yours truly,

SIXTH BEFORE THE EIGHTH.

BEGINNERS PROGRESS AT CLAINES.

At the Parish Church of St. John-the-Baptist, Claines, Worcester-shire, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) was rung on the back six of this grand peal of eight by the following members of the local band in 48 mins.: E. Wilson 1, R. Woodvatt 2, A. Barton 3, L. Dowdeswell 4, J. J. Jefferies 5, W. Lawrence 6. The conductor was Mr. J. J. Jefferies, Ringing Master of the Worcester Cathedral Guild, who has taught the band since their formation just over twelve months ago. This is the second occasion this feat has been accomplished by them, and now their attention has been turned to Grandsire Triples, of which they have rung several short touches.

The bells were augmented to eight by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. in June, 1927. Previously there were five bells, which were chimed, and before rehanging they had not been rung since the wedding of Canon Porter (a former Vicar) in 1886. The dates of the bells are: Treble, 2nd and 3rd, 1927, by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.; 4th, 1686, by W. Huntback, recast Taylor, 1927; 5th, 1888, by Warner (cast for chiming); 6th, 1622, 7th, 1623, tenor, 1622, all by Richard Oldfield.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD BELLS. THE REOPENING.

The recently returned and rehung peal of ten bells at St. Michael's Church, Bishop's Stortford, were reopened on Monday, August 6th. At 8.30 a.m. the St. Michael's Society were entertained to breakfast at the George Hotel (in the room in which Charles I. was entertained in 1629). The Vicar, Rev. W. McCarthy (president), was in the chair, supported by Rev. F. W. Ling (vice-president), Mr. F. Wheeler and Dr. V. Morris (churchwardens), Mr. A. J. Adams (treasurer of the fund), Mr. L. Dupere (organist), and the following members of the society: Messrs. H. Wacey, H. W. White, C. Bull, P. Springham (steepkeeper), W. T. Prior, W. Tucker, F. Springham, V. Matthews, C. Ridgewell, H. Champness, P. C. Springham and C. Beeston (hon. secretary). A welcome visitor was Mr. H. J. Tucker, who was for many years steepkeeper at St. Michael's.

Following the breakfast a short service was held in the church, at which, in addition to the ringers, there was a fair sprinkling of the general public.

An adjournment was then made to the belfry, where the local band of ringers opened the bells with a touch of Grandsire Caters, conducted by Mr. H. J. Tucker. During the day visitors arrived from the following towers: St. Paul's Cathedral, Rochester Cathedral, St. Margaret's, Westminster, St. Clement Danes, Hunsdon, Stansted, Saffron Walden, Braintree, Chichester, Edmonton, Bishopsgate, Tring, Kensington, Ware, Potter's Street, Bentley, South Weald, St. Stephen's, Ely, Romford, Springfield, Southgate, Woodford, Leytonstone, and Melbourne (near Royston). A number of lady ringers, including the Hon. Barbara Gibbs, of Hunsdon, took part during the day, and did some exceedingly good ringing.

The following methods were rung: Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, Cambridge Surprise Royal, Treble Bob Royal, London and Superlative Surprise Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich and Bob Major.

The work, which has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, has effected a great improvement.

AMONG THE TOWERS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

'A most enjoyable time' was the opinion of those who took part in the Apsley and Hemel Hempstead ringers' outing. Friends from Rickmansworth and St. Albans accompanied the party, including, of course, the jolly old 'father,' still going strong. The route lay along the main road, via Tring and Aylesbury. The wind was rather chilly, causing comments from the 'regular subscribers' about the beastly early hour of starting. Swanbourne was reached at scheduled time, and the bells—a nice peal of six with a tenor of about 15 cwt., rung from the ground floor—were raised. The Vicar welcomed the ringers, and while various touches were brought round, delighted some of the remainder of the company by pointing out the various objects of interest in the church, and explaining some of the old customs still carried on. One of these old customs is the ringing of the tenor after morning service on Sunday, supposed to have originated from the idea of letting the housewives of olden days know when to set the dinner! Shortly after, the party were introduced to Sir Morris Heywood. Not being a ringer himself, he was most interested. Time for departure came all too quickly here, so after paying a brief visit to the bells and top of the tower the journey was resumed. Padbury, the next stop, possesses a light peal of six, with tenor of 10½ cwt., also rung from the ground floor. Here a local ringer was waiting, and touches of Doubles and Minor in various methods, also rounds for the beginners, were successfully accomplished. Leaving here shortly after 11.30, Buckingham was reached, with its beautiful peal of eight, with a tenor of 28 cwt. Local ringers welcomed the visitors, and Triples and Major were rung. A move was then made to the West Street Bakery, where an excellent hot dinner was served and fully enjoyed by all, notwithstanding the fact that a certain person well sugared his dinner instead of salting it! Leaving Buckingham at 2.15, the journey was continued to Stony Stratford, where the party were met by some of the local ringers. Having to wait a few minutes for a funeral, the 'camera men' were able to get busy, also the 'postcard hunters.' A great difference in the belfry space to that of Buckingham here caused much comment. After all had had a pull, a course of Cambridge Major was attempted with the aid of local friends, but failed when about three-parts through. Leaving 'Stony,' the next call was Chicheley, where hangs a peal of six, with tenor about 16 cwt. A notable feature was the surrounding beauty of trees and parks, and the picturesque entrance to the churchyard. Back to Newport Pagnell, where a splendid tea was provided by Messrs. Lawmans, and then ringing on the fine peal of eight until 7.30. Next to Fenny Stratford, where the light but musical peal of six were made good use of, the ringing including a course of Cambridge. This was the last port of call, so with the local ringers, who arrived at Fenny, the party adjourned to talk over the day's happenings, and to thank the responsible persons. The journey home was enlivened with songs (some spliced!), and a perfect day terminated about 11.30. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Oxford Bob, Double Oxford Bob, Kent, Cambridge Surprise Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major. The band take the opportunity to thank the various incumbents, towerkeepers and local ringers for the help they gave to make this outing such a splendid success.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT EDENHAM.

Under perfect summer conditions, a quarterly meeting of the Southern Branch was held on Saturday last at the picturesque little village of Edenham, over forty members and visitors attending from Spalding, Surfleet, Pinchbeck, Bourne, Market Deeping, Deeping St. Nicholas, Peterborough, Rotherham, Branstons, Orston, Sleatford, Folkingham, Rippingale, Morton, and the local band. Service was conducted by the Rev. H. Law James (Master of the Guild), who also presided at the business meeting, which followed a most enjoyable open-air tea, nicely spread under the shade of an old apple tree at the Five Bells Inn, at which 36 sat down.

Folkingham was decided upon for the next meeting.

The handy peal of six were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, several members scoring their first touch in various methods.

The handbells were also set going after tea to Stedman Triples, etc. Heartly thanks are accorded for the use of the bells, to the Rev. H. Law James for conducting the service, and for presiding at the business meeting, also to the organist and to those who made the necessary arrangements for this particularly bright and successful meeting.

DEATH OF AN OLD COLLEGE YOUTH.

At his residence, Cobholm Engineering Works, Great Yarmouth, on July 19th, there passed away an interesting personality in Arthur H. Webber, who died after a long and painful illness in his 73rd year.

When quite young he spent some considerable time in London, and was elected a member of the College Youths well over 50 years ago. Many interesting tales he has told the writer of the 'giants' of those days. He was favoured by that small but select company which used to meet in Church Lane, Bethnal Green, on Sunday mornings, by being asked to join them, and so acquired the art of ringing 'in hand,' of which he was no mean exponent.

By trade Mr. Webber was a millwright and engineer, and he built up a considerable business as a millwright, marine and general engineer. He was a recognised authority on milling, his reputation in this direction extending far beyond the eastern counties. He was of an adaptive and inventive turn of mind, and his shops were fitted with up-to-date appliances and machines, many of which he designed and built himself. During the war he turned his whole attention to munition making, adapting his old plant and making new for this work, and he had no small part in the success which the eastern area attained in the production of munitions.

He was of a retiring nature, but will be remembered by many visitors to Yarmouth for his genial and kindly disposition and fund of quiet humour, and, in addition to these qualities, by those who knew him well for his sterling character. There was no room for anything petty or mean in his make-up. His ringing was the same; clean and good. He had no use for anything indifferent.

He was laid to rest in Gorleston Cemetery, the Yarmouth company paying their tribute by ringing half-muffled for the funeral the peal of six at Gorleston, and during the evening the bells of Yarmouth Parish Church.

His was an honoured name. May he rest in peace. B. S. T.

PROGRESSION.

In altering the plain principle, by making second's place when the treble leads, we produce Plain Bob on all numbers; and if, to six bells we add '7-8,' the Major will so interweave the extra bells in the rows, that it causes what Mr. Baker terms 'progression.' For convenience he standardises this progression by relating it to rounds. The bells which occupy the same positions in the two rows compared are deleted, and the remainder are reduced to standard terms of transposition from rounds.

For example, the first lead-ends of Bob Minor, Major and Royal:—

Rows	Bells unaltered	Bells altered
Minor ('78' added) 13526478.	1352.4..6.78
Major 13527486.	1352.4..7.86
Major ('90' added) 1352748690	135274.6..8.90
Royal 1352749608	135274.6..9.08

Then if 678 has become 786

If..... 890=908

Rounds (123) becomes 231

Rounds (123)=231

Showing a 'progression' of 231 between Minor-Major and Major-Royal.

If all of the lead-end progressions of Plain Bob are compared, we shall find that, as the plain course develops, the progressions grow, until the half-way is reached, when they commence to diminish as the course works back to its 'homing position' (or rounds). Compare the first and last lead-ends in Maximus (135.... and 142....) back to the Minor, and, all through, we find a three-bell progression of 231 and 312 respectively. Now the second and last-but-one (15.... and 164....), and we have four-bell progressions of 3412 and 4321 respectively; and so the progressions grow as we work towards the centre of the course. The lead-ends which have a similar number of bells in progression Mr. Baker terms 'interlocking' lead-ends.

All methods having 'regular' (or Plain Bob) lead-ends, it follows that regular progression will pertain to the lead-ends of any method as typified by the progressions found in Plain Bob; and it should vary according to which of the Plain Bob lead-ends is the first lead-end of the method.

It seems to amount to this: In Bob Minor, second's place at the lead-end produces 135264, and, in Major, 13527486; the second leads are commenced from these rows, and the Major is in progression of 231 (when compared with the Minor) at this commencing row. Then if, as in London, the first lead-ends of Minor-Major are 142635 and 14263857, then the second lead commences from a row that is in progression of 312, as we have already found from our Plain Bob comparisons.

It is only reasonable to assume that the block-ends of our column (c), which are derived from the rows of the first and second leads (a) and (b), should likewise show regular progression when properly extended to the higher numbers. And, further, we assume that this progression should be governed by the Plain Bob lead-end which applies, and its 'interlocking' fellow. In short, if the first lead-end of a method is in three-bell progression, then the block-ends ought to show progression which corresponds. For instance, a method with 135... as its first lead-end should show block-end progressions of 231 and 312. Whereas a method with 15.... should show a four-bell progression of 3412 and 4321. Alternatively, a method with 14.... should, presumably, show 312 and 231.

If we produce the round block transpositions of Bob Minor on exactly the same lines of the Bob Minimus, we shall have the following comparisons. The progressions are obtained as before:—

with '56' added.	(c)
1342-56	135264	231
4213-56	421635	312
4132-56	513264	231
2314-56	261435	312
etc.	etc.	etc.

If these comparisons are continued in the corresponding rows of the second half of the lead, the progressions will be found to be 231 and 312 alternately, all through.

Apparent facts may be summarised thus:—

1. That it is incontrovertible that a plain course contains these round blocks.
2. That the blocks between the rows of the first and second leads are typical of the whole.
3. That the rows of the second lead are responsible for the block-ends of our column (c), which are merely transposed from rounds for comparison purposes.
4. That the second lead of an extension of a regular method commences from a lead-head which is in certain progression.
5. Therefore the rows in this lead are in like progression.
6. If, in properly extending a method, we are compelled to aim at a given lead-end (or, in other words, are compelled to put the bells into certain progression), we should, reasonably, also be compelled to aim at block-ends, as shown in column (c), which will conform to this rule.

Unfortunately, it is practically a general rule that the obvious is the most likely to be overlooked, and we cannot see these things for ourselves. It is the full realisation of this that compels diffidence, and for this very reason I avoid trying to be dogmatic. But until a very able and concise writer points out to the Exercise an obvious fallacy in this apparent truth, I must confess that I shall view askance an extension that does not produce a natural progression within every block which goes to make the first lead.

We should be shown in a clear and simple manner if this is wrong. When we get down to 'brass tacks,' most of the mathematical laws which govern method construction may be construed into simple positions of plain fact.

It will not be sufficient in that we are told baldly that the facts are all wrong, or in that we are given figures to bolster another theory. Mr. Baker has propounded a theory which he claims may generally be applied, and he has consistently advocated it. No doubt he has facts and arguments, hitherto unpublished, in its support, but for the moment the foregoing will serve. It seems to be a reasonable contention even in the form which is here shown, but whether it is contested rightly or not, I may not say.

In any case, it is worth consideration by those who are competent to judge. It should be taken on its merits, or demerits, and (if necessary) exploded once and for all.

And the explosion should be plain for all to see, and understand.

'SUPERLATIVE' SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondents, Mr. B. Sharp, 'A Plain Ringer' and 'Owen Kay,' are not likely to receive satisfactory replies to their enquiries from the Rev. H. L. James for this simple reason:—

'There are none so blind as those who won't see.'

Following are twelve changes of 'Superlative' Surprise Major, and the same place-making on ten bells:—

12345678		1234567890
21436587	3rds and 6ths	2143658709
12463578		1246357890
21645387		2164538709
26143578	4ths	2614357890
62415387		6241538709
26145837		2614583079
62418573	5ths	6241850397
26481537		2648153079
62845173		6284510397
68241537	3rds and 6ths	6824153079
86425173		8642510397
	4ths

By continuing the 'Superlative' Major place-making this Royal can be extended as a SINGLE method, as shown by me in 'The Ringing World' of July 30th, 1926; but if it is desired to make a DOUBLE method of the figures here given, all that is necessary to accomplish this is to make 7th's place to balance the 4th's place in the third section, and then reverse the previous place-making.

The result will be, as I also pointed out on July 30th, 1926, a Double Surprise Royal method, which is irregular except for three lead-heads, and this method is 'Superlative' Royal.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

HELP FOR AN AGED COUPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Keeble, of Romford, desire to express their sincere thanks to the members of the Essex Association who responded to the appeal on their behalf. The amount received was £18 12s. 6d.

Mr. Keeble was one of the founders of the Essex Association, and in those early days did a great deal of teaching among beginners. Mr. Keeble is 81, and his wife will reach that age on the 24th of this month. Unfortunately Mr. Keeble has been in declining health for nearly two years, and an accident to Mrs. Keeble has necessitated their daughter going home to look after them. Mr. Keeble has been a member of the 'United Patriots' Friendly Society for 62 years, but in this organisation sickness benefits cease at the age of 70. Mr. and Mrs. Keeble are therefore dependent entirely upon small pensions, and there are, doubtless, ringers outside the Essex Association, especially those who knew Mr. Keeble at the Central Council meetings for many years, who would like to send their contributions to the fund to help these old people in the evening of their days. Remittances should be sent to the general secretary of the Essex Association, Mr. F. J. Pitstow, 45, High Street, Saffron Walden.

BUCKLEBURY, BERKS.—At the Parish Church, on Friday evening, August 10th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 48 mins.: Miss E. Mathews (first quarter-peal) 1, W. Wignmore 2, Miss D. Futter 3, J. Hazell 4, Miss S. Davis 5, R. Rex 6, W. Mathews (conductor) 7, Miss E. Davis 8. Weekly practice Friday 7.30 p.m.; visitors welcome.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

PULBOROUGH, SUSSEX.—On Sunday, August 12th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: A. Holden 1, S. Greenfield 2, C. Smart (conductor) 3, J. Netley 4, H. C. Greenfield 5, S. Picton 6, P. H. Doick 7, H. J. Doick 8. Arranged for Mr. J. Netley, of Arundel.

PERRANARWORTHAL, CORNWALL.—At the Church of St. Piran, on Sunday, August 12th, for evensong, 720 Bob Minor: Miss D. Mannell (first 720 in the method) 1, A. S. Roberts 2, Mrs. F. I. Hairs 3, F. I. Hairs 4, H. Bennett 5, F. Bennett (Brighton) (conductor) 6.

WATH-ON-DEARNE, YORKSHIRE.—For morning service at All Saints' Church, on Sunday, August 12th, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: W. Bramham 1, E. Chamberlin (conductor) 2, C. Bell 3, F. W. Thornton (Greenwich) 4, A. Gil 5, C. Walsh 6.

PORTMADOC.—On Sunday, August 5th, for evening service at St. John's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: Ed. Humphreys 1, R. McMillan 2, J. Vaughan Humphreys 3, John Owen (conductor) 4, H. McMillan 5, R. A. Brookes 6, Pierce Roberts 7, G. Humphreys 8. First quarter-peal for ringers of treble and 6th. Rang as a wedding compliment to the ringer of the 7th.

HAGBOURNE, BERKS.—On Sunday, August 5th, before evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: J. Hitchman 1, W. V. Webb 2, E. J. Bakcombe (Covebury) 3, A. H. Webb (conductor) 4, J. Dearlove (Brighton) 5, R. G. Rice 6, G. C. Rice (London) 7, W. A. Goodenough 8.

BURGESS HILL, SUSSEX.—On Sunday, August 5th, at the Parish Church, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: T. H. Walder 1, H. Tomsett 2, H. J. Gravett 3, G. Lucas 4, G. Tomsett (conductor) 5, J. Parsons 6, T. Stringer 7, G. F. Gaston 8.

FINEDON, NORTHANTS.—On Sunday, August 5th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes), in 45 mins.: A. H. Martin (Higham Ferrers) 1, J. King 2, G. Clapham 3, C. R. Belton (Barwell) 4, G. Ette 5, J. R. Main 6, T. R. Hensher (conductor) 7, G. Basford 8.

WOODCHURCH, CHESHIRE.—On Sunday, July 29th, at the Parish Church of the Holy Cross, 720 Plain Bob Minor: R. Bennett 1, J. Lee 2, W. Bennett 3, J. Johnson 4, H. Martin 5, H. Philips (first 720 as conductor) 6.

—CLEVEDON, SOMERSET.—At St. Andrew's Church, on Sunday evening, June 10th, in 41 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), with 7, 6 and 8 covering: M. Feltham 1, T. E. Francis 2, A. H. T. Parker (conductor) 3, S. James 4, G. Marshall 5, G. H. Perry 6, J. Hedges 7, B. J. Wyatt 8. This is the first quarter-peal by a band of all service ringers at this church, also the first quarter-peal for the ringers of 1st, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, and the first quarter for A. H. T. Parker as conductor.

WHITWICK'S ANCIENT BELLS.

The tercentenary of the four oldest bells at Whitwick, Leicestershire, has just been celebrated. Two peals have been rung—Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples—and on Sunday, July 29th, special services took place. Throughout the day these were well attended, and the preachers were, in the morning the Vicar, and in the evening the Bishop of Leicester (Dr. Bardsley).

Special touches were rung before the services, the conductors being Messrs. J. Ranson, S. W. West and Walter Fern.

The collections were for the bell fund, the bells having recently been overhauled and rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

SWINDON, WILTS.—On Thursday, August 8th, at Christ Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. J. Daniells 1, R. G. Townsend 2, E. L. Box 3, N. Allnatt 4, W. W. T. Daniells 5, J. Berry 6, J. S. Roberts (conductor) 7, W. A. Bullock 8.

THE 184 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

THE 'DEAD' SPOTS.

In many respects the art and science of change ringing were never more alive than they are to-day, and yet in probably every association there are 'dead' spots which no amount of effort seems to vitalise. It is one of the problems which confront all our ringing organisations, and it is a difficult one at that. There are far too many towers without competent bands; or with ringers whose interest, both in the art and in their duties to the Church, is so small that they treat both with indifference. This canker can be found in the towns and in the villages, it eats away at the roots of progress and efficiency and, unless it can be counteracted, in the end it effectually kills ringing in any tower that may be so attacked. It has caused the break up of many a band; it has been the primary cause of many a ring of bells becoming silent and even derelict. No association, we imagine, would willingly let this creeping paralysis spread through its system, but only continual work will prevent it undermining an organisation. In some areas, however, this kind of 'dry rot' seems to have taken hold of quite large districts and threatens to spread until it will have a stranglehold upon all but the most virile centres. Officials know it, but many merely shake their heads and ask in despair, 'What can we do?'

The associations are not altogether to blame for the state of affairs. It is the Church authorities who are largely responsible. If there was a falling off in the attendance of the choir, the clergy would be the first to inquire into the cause and they would quickly apply a remedy. Either the choristers would have to mend their ways or other singers would be found. If however, the bells are unring, or partially silent, many of these same clergy do not even trouble to ask for the reason. As long as there is some sort of sound from the belfry for a few minutes, that is all that matters in this department, and where this happens it is nearly always at those towers in which the ringers never receive a visit from the clergy. What is badly needed in all these 'dead' spots is as much a 'conversion' of the authorities as a re-inspiration of the ringers. If in every church we could get the clergy really interested in their bells and ringers, what a different story there would be to tell! These 'dead' spots would soon disappear and all our bells would quickly be ringing again for Sunday services. Would it be possible to inaugurate a national campaign? Could not every association ascertain exactly the position existing in every such tower and make a report to the Bishop of the Diocese, whose help should be invoked to apply pressure on the clergy where necessary? Failing the Bishops, the Archdeacons might be made use of and considerable good might come of it, for there are few parochial clergy who are not ready to sit up and take notice when the Bishop or Archdeacon speaks.

In a matter such as this, diocesan recognition is a valuable asset, and it ought to be made full use of. We believe that many of the bishops would welcome from their ringing guilds a report which set out the failures as well as the successes. It would enable them to realise, even more than they do at present, how earnest these associations are, if the organisations would go to them for their influence and aid in getting efficient Sunday service ringing established in every tower. Those associations who look upon the spread of change ringing as their only task are missing what we consider their most important duty and most valuable step to future expansion if they do not make the setting up of Sunday service bands a first charge upon their time and diligence. Where it cannot be done by direct influence the help of outside powers should be, if possible, obtained.

FORTY YEARS ON.

A NOTABLE CELEBRATION AT TIPTON 'PEPPER BOX.'

The peal at Tipton Parish Church ('The Pepper Box') on Saturday was an interesting one. It celebrated the 40th anniversary of Mr. Benjamin Gough's first peal rung in the same tower. It was also rung in honour of the marriage of the Rev. George Rae Mortimore (Vicar of Tipton) to Miss Florence Elsie Davis, which happy event took place on August 9th; and on the eve of Mr. Jesse Screen's birthday.

On August 18th, 1888, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Tipton by George Hughes 1, William Cheshire 2, Harry Mills 3, William Rock Small 4, Benjamin Gough 5, Samuel Jesson (conductor) 6, Samuel Reeves 7, Edward Goodreds 8. Since that time the ringers of 2, 3, 4 and 7 have 'crossed the bourn'; whether the conductor is alive or dead is unknown; the tenor man retired from ringing a quarter of a century ago; but George Hughes and Ben Gough are as enthusiastic at the rope and as ever, and have rung many a peal together since. Last Saturday's band were all old ringing friends. Messrs. Gough and Hughes have rung for over 40 years with Messrs. Green, Round, Screen and Fullwood, and for over 35 years with Messrs. Baker and Fisher, and it was a great gratification that such a company should have been successful on this occasion. Messrs. Hughes and Gough rang the same bells as on August 18th, 1888, and, while it was the 40th anniversary of Mr. Gough's first peal, it was, by a coincidence, his 40th peal on these bells and Mr. Green's 40th peal during his 50 years' ringing career. This band, too, has a wonderful record of Sunday service ringing at their respective parish churches, for between them they can total 352 years: George Hughes (Tipton and Wednesbury) 50 years, Samuel Baker (Coseley) 36 years, William Green (Old Hill) 50 years, Richard Round (Netherton) 56 years, Ben Gough (Coseley) 41 years, Jesse Screen (West Bromwich and Sedgley) 41 years, William Fisher (Coseley) 36 years, Ben Fullwood (Sedgley) 42 years.

LEICESTER.—On Monday, August 13th, at the Church of St. John-the-Divine, Thurstans' quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 48 mins.: H. Smith 1, W. Willson, jun., 2, W. Willson, sen. (conductor) 3, G. Straw 4, W. Clarke 5, T. Vallance 6, J. Smith 7, R. Hubbard 8. Rung to celebrate the 60th birthday of the conductor, which occurred on the previous day.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. OUT IN THE 'WILDERNESS.'

The summer meeting was held at Bamburgh, a place noted for its magnificent old castle, perched on the summit of an isolated basaltic rock, 180 feet high, its lofty embrasured turrets and battlements enclosing an area of over eight acres. In its early days it was quite impregnable from any point of attack, and proved so until 924, when King Alfred was forced to flee. Sacked, but not totally destroyed by the Danes in 933, 993 and 995, Bamburgh Castle, some six years later, afforded refuge to Earl Waltheof during the Scotch Invasion under Malcolm of Scotland. During the reign of Elizabeth it was in ruins. The Castle and Lordships of Bamburgh and the adjoining manor were granted by James I. to Claudius Forster, a grandson of Sir John Forster, and remained in the possession of the Forster family until 1704, when it was sold for the payment of debts to Lord Creve, Bishop of Durham, whose second wife, Dorothy, was one of the co-heiresses, being daughter of Sir William Forster of Bamburgh. In 1894 it passed into the hands of the late Lord Armstrong, who restored it to its present condition. Three and a half miles north-east of the Castle is the inner Farne Island, with its fine Cuthbert's Chapel. The chapel is believed to stand on the site of St. Cuthbert's Hermitage, where he resided for nine years for meditation and prayer, with only sea birds as companions. On this island also is a ruined keep, and although $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles out to sea, has its fresh water well. Four miles further out is the Outer Farne (or Longstone). It was from this lighthouse that William Darling and his heroic daughter Grace put off to the rescue of nine half-drowned survivors on September 7th, 1838, when the steamer 'Forfarshire' broke her back on the Harker Rock. The rescued party were compelled to stay on the Longstone for several days until communication with the land was possible. A burst of admiration came from the nation when the news of her heroism became known. Presents, congratulations, even offers of marriage, showered upon her. She was destined not to enjoy for long the honours which were bestowed on her, for she died of consumption four years later at Bamburgh in the October, age 26. With the exception of the Longstone Lighthouse the islands are now tenantless, except for the keepers, who protect the birds three months each year, in the nesting season, May, June and July. About six miles (as the crow would fly) north-west from Bamburgh, Holy Island can be seen, and can be reached by sea from 'Sea Housed' by boat, or a walk across the sands (at low tide) from Beal. Holy Island Castle can be seen for miles, standing on the only high rock on the island. Bamburgh and its neighbourhood is a most interesting place for a holiday; it is steeped in history.

The meeting, however, was very disappointing as regards numbers. Only eight sat down to tea, including two friends. Before tea 120 of Stedman Doubles was brought round on the back five. Then a local ringer arrived, and he was piloted through his first 120 of Bob Doubles on the treble. At tea time the president came on the scene. After a course of Grandire Triples on the handbells, another visit to the tower and a 720 of Kent Mings on the back six was brought round. The nearest band of ringers to Bamburgh is about 40 miles distant, which accounts for the smallness of the meeting. There was, also, another reason. It is considered against the rules to ring a peal on a meeting day, but one of the Whitley Bay men was guilty of breaking this regulation, for on the 23rd he rang a Single 'Belle' Peal. It is presumed the remainder of the Whitley ringers were taking off the part ends to see there was no change course. No censure will be passed on this occasion, but good wishes are extended to both bride and bridegroom for long life, health, happiness and prosperity. The local men were engaged in a cricket match.

The Vicar of Bamburgh had accepted the invitation to tea, but was prevented at the last moment from attending. He, however, came later, and signified his wish to become an honorary member of the association.

The President, staying at Embleton, had only about nine miles to travel, four others went in state from Gosforth in a young 'Rolls Royce,' the secretary went by bus, and had the pleasure of waiting for two hours about 12 miles short of the journey's end with punctured tyres. But there was a happy crew on board, and there was no lack of fun. The destination was reached in 5½ hours instead of three. Notwithstanding the drawbacks experienced, those who went thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

Bamburgh has a very musical ring of eight bells (tenor 14 cwt.). The band of ringers here was sadly depleted during the war. Six never came home; it was the heaviest hit tower in the association. The church, which is cruciform, is of national interest. It stands on the long eastern slope of the Budle Hills in view of the Castle and Lindisfarne (Holy Island), in whose histories it is entwined. The present church stands on the site of a former church, which was probably constructed of wood, and is ascribed to St. Aidan, who died in a small cell at the west end, in view of the altar and within hearing of the Vespers Service. So says tradition. Abutting the end of the church then existing a chapel and cell were built for the pioneer monk, and these form the present crypt. Over this the present chancel was raised. It is 63 feet in length, and was constructed between 1200 and 1220. This nave and other parts formed the parish church. The oldest parts of the church and transept date 1115-1160, and the western arches supporting the square tower 1170.

EXTENSION OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—During the past year you have published a series of articles dealing with this subject, and now I mean to call attention to the facts which I have pointed out in those articles.

Referring back, at the beginning I called special attention to the word 'extension,' and pointed out that we must carefully avoid reading into it any ideas which are not contained in the word itself. Different people dealing with this subject have read into the word different conceptions of what an extension ought to be; some people think of an extension as mathematical, others consider the places made, others the passage of the hunt or hunts from one position to another among the working bells.

Now all these different ideas are not included in the word 'extension,' they are simply read into it; the word actually means to stretch out in any direction. Bearing this in mind, every method or principle is in some way or other an extension of the Plain Hunting Course on three bells.

We have examined all systems of extension which have been actually used in the past, and we have seen that different methods have actually been extended in different ways, that some methods extend in one way only, while others are capable of being extended in a large number of ways, so that all the pure Court methods are really derived from Single Court on four bells.

Stedman Doubles can be extended in three different ways, Stedman Triples, etc., as we know it, Erin Triples and also a system of Slow and Quick Tens on five bells with two bells dodging behind.

Cambridge Surprise Minor will extend to Major, Royal and Maximus as they are rung to-day, and also to Lincolnshire Major, Royal and Maximus.

Superlative Surprise Major to Royal and Maximus in one way and to Maximus only as it has been rung at Ipswich.

Double Norwich Major to Royal in two ways, and to Maximus in two ways.

Now, all these are facts, not theories; and what I have been pointing out in these articles during the last year is that the facts do not agree with the various theories which have been put forward by different people.

People who have only dabbled in science do not as a rule understand what a scientific theory is; it is only a system of classifying all the facts known at the time, and as soon as a new fact comes to light which does not agree with the theory, it is the theory which has to be discarded, so that the theory put forward by the writer who signs himself 'Owen Kay' is 100 years out of date, because Shipway extended Superlative to Royal 100 years ago. Shipway, like Galileo, produced an accomplished fact, and 'Owen Kay' is the obscurantist who clings to a discredited theory.

Superlative Maximus exists in two forms, one extension is the same as Shipway's Royal, and it was published in the 'Bell News' in the nineties of the last century; the second appeared at a later date, and must have some distinguishing name attached to it unless we are to continue in needless confusion.

H. LAW JAMES.

DEATH OF A LEICESTERSHIRE RINGER.

On August 8th there passed away, in the person of Mr. Israel Lovett, of Sibley, Leicestershire, a well-known figure in Midland ringing circles. He was to be seen at most meetings in Leicestershire, whether at a five-bell tower or ten. He was an old member of the Midland Counties Association and the Goscote Society. He rang eleven peals for the Midland Counties Association.

Mr. Lovett, who had attained the age of 64, and died after a brief illness, was head of the business of H. Lovett and Son, coal merchants, of Sibley, and was very much respected by all who knew him. He held the office of collector of taxes for a lengthy period, and had been a member of the Constitutional Club since its formation, serving for a number of years as a member of the committee. He was also a representative for Sibley on the Goscote Rural-decanal Conference.

The funeral took place on Saturday, August 11th. The first part of the service was held in the Parish Church, where deceased had filled the office of parish clerk and sexton for many years. The Rev. F. J. Barrow officiated. In addition to the family mourners, the sidesmen of the Parish Church, the directors, committee and secretary of the Constitutional Club attended, and the hearers included members of the club. At evening service on Sunday, August 12th, the deceased's favourite hymns were sung, and appropriate references were made by the Vicar in his sermon. At the close of the service the 'Dead March in 'Saul' was played by the organist. A muffled peal in memory of Mr. Lovett was rung on the nearby bells of Cossington Church, the bells of his own village church being in a bad state and unringable.

In the north transept is the original effigy of Grace Darling, above which is a stained glass window to her memory, depicting Faith, Hope and Charity. In the north wall of the chancel is a recess showing a window now filled with stained glass, representing St. Aidan in Bishop's robes. On a scroll near the upper part of the window are the words 'Quies Aidani' (Rest of Aidan). The following is a Latin inscription translated:—'Not far from this spot, worn out by his labours, St. Aidan, first bishop of Lindisfarne, fell asleep in Christ 31st August, A.D. 631.' The crypt has a beautiful groined roof, and is the resting place of the Forster family.

PFNDLETON RINGERS VISIT YORKSHIRE. THE HEIGHTS OF HEPTONSTALL AND DRAUGHTS OF TODMORDEN.

On Saturday, August 11th, the ringers of St. Thomas', Pendleton, had their annual outing, which took the form of a visit to Heptonstall, with a call at the Parish Church, Todmorden, on the return journey. This is the first Pendleton outing for many years without the genial company of Mr. Harry Chapman, one-time leader of St. Thomas' ringers, but now retired to his country home in Huntingdonshire, where it is hoped he is organising a harvest supper or something in that line. The party assembled at Victoria Station in good time for the 1.35, '3rds and back' to Hebden Bridge. The train was apparently waiting for us, so seats were quickly taken up, corner men getting well down, etc., when a porter suddenly announced that this was not the Manchester to Hebden Bridge usual, but a special to some place on the horizon not specified, so out we came again. Pessimists please note, platform No. 13. This incident would have had a more significant construction put on it, had it occurred coming back. However, the special drew out, the 'usual' drew in, and an hour later the party were at Hebden Bridge. Here, after negotiating a somewhat difficult passage through streets lined with marching children and gaily-decorated wagons (it was show day), they found themselves on the slopes of the Heptonstall Road, one of the steepest hills the writer ever saw a bus climb. The party preferred a stiff climb to the roaring of an engine and a seat slanted back about 30 degrees, to say nothing of a possible chance of a backward dive through a low stone wall with a cliff the other side.

At the Church of St. Thomas à Becket the visitors were received by the churchwardens, Mr. Francis Robertshaw and Mr. W. H. Naylor, who with Mr. T. Robertshaw gave them a hearty welcome to the tower. One, at least, had vivid memories of 'battles won and lost' here, of over 36,000 changes rung in two starts. The Pendleton 'youths' soon dispelled memories with present realities in the form of touches of Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman, Grandsire, and a course of Double Norwich. Washbrook's 'masterpiece' touch of Stedman Triples was rung by a mixed band of 'callow' and 'sere' youths in a style that drew praise from Yorkshire friends, who are used to test ringing. One wonders if they could foresee the oration that a breach of good striking would draw from the worthy conductor, one-time of Leiston, to whom bad ringing is like toothache. Had he not 'whispered' to us what he would say? But with Heptonstall's organ-like bells, who could go far out? After almost continual ringing from 3.30 to 5 o'clock, the party reluctantly left the tower, and whilst Mr. Francis Robertshaw was seeing about the splendid meat tea shortly to be set before them, Mr. Naylor showed some of the visitors a splendid view across the hills towards Blackstone Edge and Heptonstall Moor. They stood on the edge on a cliff that breaks down almost sheer to the road from Hebden Bridge to Todmorden, which road winds pleasantly far below among the trees. This cliff appears to be a handy short cut from Heptonstall to the road below, useful for long pealers in the event of being wanted elsewhere suddenly, as it takes about half an hour to reach this point by the other route. The meat tea was a great success, and was speedily disposed of, and the same might be said of one or two of the 'youths' who tried their wit on the auburn-haired young lady who had charge of the table.

'Old Sam,' who is, of course, a Pendleton 'youth,' having reached between 30 and 40 annual outings, then returned thanks on behalf of the visitors for the splendid reception at Heptonstall.—Mr. Francis Robertshaw, who was seconded by his brother warden, Mr. Naylor, replied, with a further welcome at any time, adding that Mr. Lewis Greenwood, the towerkeeper, was not able to be with them that day owing to being away in a training camp as instructor. Farewells having been said, the party left for Todmorden. There was far less puffing going down hill than there was coming up. Who whispered that those two 'sere' youths, 'Old Sam' and W.H.S., even thought of rolling down, feeling so skittish? At Todmorden the party were welcomed at the Parish Church by Messrs. S. Hartley, Crabtree and Barker, the wives of the two former, and Miss Bell, two of these ladies being ringers. The Vicar also came into the tower and added his welcome. The bells were soon going, and although the long draught without rope guides was expected to inconvenience the more callow youths, yet once again they rose to the occasion, and touches and plain courses rolled home in good style, the local men and the two ladies taking part. It was the first time we had ever seen a treble man strolling round the belfry after his sally in a course of Double Norwich, but Raymond achieved the miracle somehow, and kept going. The secret lies between Raymond and the stay, doubtless. Harold also discovered something—a bell that could pull as hard as he could, which surprised and warmed him up a bit, but he, too, kept going in spite of the heat. After this all adjourned to the nearest house of internal comfort, where the draughts were even longer than at the tower. More local ringers came in, and the fraternal gathering brought a delightful day to a close. At 10.13 p.m. the visitors started for Manchester, arriving just in time to call it Saturday at home. Harold and Billie are, however, asked kindly to explain what became of them from 8.30 to 10 p.m.

Mr. Herbert Greenhalgh is to be congratulated on this his first attempt at organising an outing, and both the Heptonstall and Todmorden ringers are cordially thanked for making everything so pleasant for the visitors at their respective towers.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Canon Coleridge, President of the Central Council, who is now in a nursing home, underwent a second operation on Tuesday. So far his condition is quite satisfactory.

Major E. R. Trevor Corbett, the popular Ringing Master of the Shropshire Association, and an enthusiastic horticulturist, was honoured this year by being elected President of Shrewsbury Floral Fete, one of the most wonderful horticultural exhibitions staged annually in this country. He gave a trophy valued at thirty guineas, for which there was keen rivalry.

A restoration which promises to provide Somerset with another fine ring of eight is that which Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are carrying out at Chew Magna. The ring of six, with a tenor of 30 cwt., are to be rehung in new framework, with the addition of two trebles.

At Hythe, Kent, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are recasting the five front bells and rehanging the peal.

The Bristol United Guilds' 'Ringers' Directory' is now in the press. There have been 500 subscribers, from over 300 towers in nearly 50 counties.

Sixty years ago to-day a party of Yorkshire veterans whose total ages amounted to 553 years rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Guiseley. Four of them were between 70 and 80, and the rest between 60 and 70. Henry Hubbard was the conductor.

Sunday is the anniversary of the first peal of Grandsire Triples ever rung. On August 26th, 1718, John Garthorn's peal was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich.

On April 26th, 1776, the College Youths rang in 6 hrs. 31 mins., at Mortlake, Surrey, a peal of 10,640 Bob Major.

Benjamin Annable called a peal of Bob Major on the bells of St. George's, Southwark, on August 27th, 1750. It was one of the last peals in which this celebrated ringer took part.

A peal of 12,320 Treble Bob Major was rung at Otley on August 27th, 1814.

Ringing has been stopped at St. Mary's Church, Bocking, Essex, where there is a ring of eight bells, with tenor 19 cwt. An expert has been called in to inspect the bells, and he reported that they were in a dangerous state, and that the ringing of them might affect the tower. A promising young band has only recently been got together here, and it is hoped that something will soon be done, so that the band will not lose their interest. It is hoped to continue the handbell practices every Tuesday. Should the bells be rehung they will be one of the finest rings in the district.

'Sir Rome' wishes to tender an apology for trying to pass off at Brighton a certain well-known Midlands ringer of the 'W.G.' as the editor of 'The Ringing World.' It is no consolation to know that others have been similarly mistaken, and he stills feels a very 'be-nighted' knight. The said Sir Rome thinks either the editor or his double ought to shave off their moustaches, grow a beard, or disguise themselves; otherwise they should wear a label.

The practice meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex Association, which was to have been held at St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, on August 28th, is postponed.

FAMOUS IPSWICH RINGERS.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO W. L. CATCHPOLE AND JAMES MOTTS.

At a recent meeting of the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, it was decided to take steps towards the erection of a permanent memorial to the memory of the late Messrs. W. L. Catchpole and James Motts.

It has been suggested that the memorial take the form of a tablet placed in the ringing chamber of St. Mary-le-Tower.

It is well known that these two gentlemen did an immense amount of work towards the advancement of change ringing in the district, and many ringers who knew either of them personally, or by repute, not only locally, but throughout the country, would probably like to subscribe towards the memorial.

It is hoped to publish a list of subscribers later. Meanwhile subscriptions may be sent either to C. J. Sedgley, 14, Suffolk Road, Ipswich, or G. E. Symonds, 28, Chevallier Street, Ipswich, secretary, St. Mary-le-Tower Society.

HECKINGTON BELLS RESTORED

On Sunday afternoon, August 12th, the bells at Heckington, Lincs, were opened again, after being silent for some time. Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, has made a first-class job of the rehangings. During the afternoon and evening many visiting 'brother strings' turned up and gave the bells a good test.

Before divine service in the evening 1,260 Stedman Triples was rung in 50 mins.: F. A. Holden 1, J. H. Clark 2, W. H. Wood 3, W. Dickinson 4, A. Dixon (first quarter-peal of Stedman) 5, J. H. Brothwell (Rotherham) 6, W. Haigh (conductor, Rochester) 7, M. Clark 8. After service, 1,152 Treble Bob, in which T. Brothwell very ably rang his first long length on eight bells.

The dedication service was conducted in the afternoon by the Rural Dean, the Rev. MacKenzie, of Great Hale.

The ringers of the Sleaford district have waited with patience for this event.

FABIAN STEDMAN.

DOUBTS AS TO RESIDENCE IN LONDON.

In the first part of this article Fabian Stedman's visit to Leicester in 1669 was described and the results of Mr. R. A. Daniell's researches into his connection with Cambridge was quoted. We now come to the question of whether Fabian Stedman ever filled the post of a Civil Servant in London.

In the continuation of his article, written about 25 years ago, Mr. Daniell, in explaining why any record of Stedman's baptism was not found in the Cambridge registers, wrote:—

'First, we must remember that parochial registers were not written out at that time in the way they now are. The practice seems to have been that the clerk, or someone else, kept a record of baptisms, marriages and burials, and these items were written up annually into the register books. It is obvious that a system of this kind offered chances of omission in the final record, and that with such a disturbing element about as the plague, these chances must have been considerably increased. So that, though Fabian was not registered in Cambridge at the traditional time, it is still possible that he was born in the town. If people were being scared away by fear of the plague, nothing can be more in the natural course of things than that Mabel Stedman should seek some more healthy spot for her confinement than Cambridge then was; and it may be that the record of her son's baptism is to be found in one of the Cambridgeshire villages. This would be sufficiently near the tradition, though not exactly agreeing with it, as in any case it is reasonable to suppose that if Fabian was the son of John, his boyhood's home was in Cambridge, and his birth elsewhere a mere accident. So far, then, as the Cambridge registers go, it seems to me that they are not inconsistent with the truth of the tradition; but, of course, a fuller investigation of these documents in Cambridge and neighbouring parishes might confirm, refute or leave undecided the relationship of Fabian to John Stedman; and if anyone has the opportunity of pushing the inquiry farther than I have been able to do, I hope the results will be laid before the readers of these columns.

Fabian undoubtedly received a good education. If he was, as I am supposing, the son of John, his life at Cambridge would afford ample opportunities for obtaining it, for there must have been a good supply of private teachers available, and there was also the Grammar School, founded some years before by Dr. Stephen Perse, Fellow of Caius College. I was especially hoping that the records of this school would exhibit Fabian's name, but inquiry elicited that the register of admissions from the opening of the school was accidentally burnt in 1885.

Besides all this, the language of some titles in Stedman's books appears to indicate his connection with Cambridge, the peals stated to be composed there, and a method of Doubles called Fulbourn, the name of a neighbouring village. This is all I think that I have to say about Stedman's connection with Cambridge, and although precise details are wanting, I think we may presume that this connection was in some way true in fact.'

THE QUESTION OF THE 'WILL.'

Mr. Daniell then proceeds to quote in extenso the will of Fabian Stedman, of the Parish of St. Andrew Undershaft, London, Gent., which he infers was the will of the Fabian Stedman known to ringing. Before coming to this point, we think we may add that Fabian Stedman's connection with Cambridge is fairly well proved, for in the College Youths' ancient 'name book,' which gives a list of its members, and which is one of the society's cherished possessions, under the date 1664 appears the entry: 'Fabian Stedman, Cambridge.' Further, there is now brought to light the entry in the diary quoted last week, of 'Fabian Stedman, printer, of Cambridge.' These two entries make no doubt of his connection with Cambridge.

In the will, which was proved on November 28th, 1713, there is no reference direct or indirect to the testator's connection with Cambridge, or to his interest in bells or any publication. It contains a number of bequests to relatives, officials and other employees in the Excise offices in which he had worked, to the poor of the parish where he was born ten pounds, and to the poor of the parish where he should die five pounds.

Mr. Daniell in his article draws his conclusions from this document. 'The nature of Stedman's employment in London becomes quite clear from a perusal of this document.' He says: 'He was what we should now call a Civil Servant of the Crown, in the office of the Auditors of the Excise, and he must have held a high position in it; for it is plain that no inferior member of the staff would have left legacies to so many officials, and, moreover, he refers to the maid who cleaned his office, from which we may infer either that he occupied a room to himself, or that any other person sitting with him was his subordinate. From the nature of the bequests Stedman appears to have been an old man—indeed, he must apparently have been about 80—who was either a bachelor or a childless widower. But who were Mrs. Wickens and Mrs. Walker? (beneficiaries under the will).'

The register of St. Andrew's Undershaft, in the city of London, recording Stedman's burial there on the 16th November, 1713, describes him as "a lodger," thereby showing that he was not a householder; and I am therefore disposed to identify Mrs. Wickens with a certain "Widow Wiggins," who was the tenant of a house belonging to the parish on the west side of St. Mary Axe, and with whom I suppose Stedman to have lodged. The will was duly proved in the Prerogative Court of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and is now among the documents preserved at Somerset House. The churchwardens' accounts of St. Andrew Undershaft show the receipt from the executors of the legacy for the poor, and it is most tantalising that the testator did not mention the name of the parish where he was born. There is no existing monument or tombstone recording him in St. Andrew's. To complete the dates, I may add that Stedman's "Tintinnologia" was published in 1668 and his "Campanologia" in 1677.'

TWO FABIAN STEDMANS?

Mr. Daniell's deductions as to Stedman's parentage and early connection with Cambridge are deeply interesting, and, as he says, are at least as likely to be true as false, but it seems open to serious doubt whether the Fabian Stedman who died in the parish of St. Andrew Undershaft was the same man as Fabian Stedman, of Cambridge. It is most unlikely that, in those days at any rate, a man would engage in two distinct professions. That he was still a printer of Cambridge in the year 1668, is clear from the Leicester diary.

ST. BENET'S, CAMBRIDGE.

Where, it is believed, Fabian Stedman learned to ring and Stedman Doubles were first practised.

That he must have had a lucrative business is also fairly certain, otherwise he would not have been able to take the risk of the publication of his book or to embark on a journey such as that to Leicester, for which he had to hire, if he did not own, a horse, and in the course of which he was able to offer hospitality to the 'gentlemen and youth' of Leicester. If, as is supposed, he was born in 1631, he would, on his visit to Leicester in 1669, have been about 38 years of age, and it seems extremely improbable that at that stage of his career he would suddenly exchange his livelihood as a printer in Cambridge for the post of a Civil Servant in London. Again, if the Fabian of the will and Fabian of Cambridge were one and the same, he must have been, when he died, over 80 years of age. Is it likely that even in the seventeenth century a man would have been actively engaged in such an important office up to that advanced age? That the writer of the will was at the time still discharging his duties is, we think, clear from the fact that he gives twenty shillings to the maid who 'cleans' (not 'cleaned') his office. Again, had he been engaged as a Civil Servant in London he would not have been described in the College Youths' name book in 1664 as 'Fabian Stedman, Cambridge'; and in the Leicester diary in 1668 as 'Fabian Stedman, printer of Cambridge.'

The only things that connect Fabian Stedman, of Cambridge, with London are the printing of his book there in 1663 and his holding office in the College Youths as steward in 1677 and as Master in 1682. On the title page of 'Tintinnologia' we find the imprint, 'London. Printed by W. G. for Fabian Stedman, at his shop in St. Dunstan's Churchyard, in Fleet Street, 1668.' As in those days, such publications had to be licensed—and this book was licensed, November 1st, 1667—it is quite a probability that Stedman visited London for the purpose of getting the license, and while there made arrangements for the printing of the book, for, although he was himself a printer, it is possible that his plant and facilities were not sufficient to produce a volume of 136 pages, such as the first edition of 'Tintinnologia' made.

As to his connection with the College Youths, his election to office does not necessarily imply residence in London. He had dedicated his book to the College Youths, many of whom he doubtless knew and had rung with on his occasional visits to the city. Is it not possible, therefore, that his election as steward was a return compliment to him when he was again in London in connection with the publication of another edition under the title of 'Campanologia'? The dates coincide. 'Campanologia' is dated 1677; Stedman was elected steward of the College Youths in the same year. Although we know of no publication to link him with London in 1682, when he was elected Master, there is nothing inconsistent in the circumstances with his continued residence in Cambridge and his election as Master of the society in that year.

Sifting the evidence and weighing the possibilities seems to us to eliminate the connection between Fabian Stedman, the 'father' of the art of change ringing, and Fabian Stedman, the Civil Servant of St. Andrew Undershaft, and we are afraid that the document which was brought to light about a quarter of a century ago was not the last will and testament of the Fabian of the Exercise. Apparently at the time Mr. Daniell made his laborious search for information no inspection of the burial registers in the Cambridge parishes was made—for the obvious reason that it was thought that he had died in London. If such investigation is at any time possible, it would be interesting to hear the result. Fabian Stedman, of 'Tintinnologia' fame, we are inclined to think, lived and died a printer of Cambridge, and never served the Crown as a Civil Servant in London.

LEICESTER SCHOLARS ESTABLISHED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to your article on Fabian Stedman containing my researches, and your queries, I can answer the first of the latter: 'Did they establish a Society of Scholars?' in the affirmative. There is no doubt whatever that the Leicester ringers did take up the art of change ringing seriously, as I have many extracts of visits to and from this city for the purpose. A few weeks ago you published an account of Solihull bells by Mr. E. C. Shepherd, in which a letter appears from the pen of the Rev. Sam Scattergood, 'Minister of Blockley in the County of Worcester,' saying 'especially at ye ringing thereof ye day and yeare above sd [27th day August, 1686] by myself and about 20 other skillful psons accompanying me from Leicester to that purpose.'

Leicester did not become possessed of a peal of eight until 1711, when two trebles were added to the existing six at St. Margaret's. We are told 'that the two new bells were long delayed in coming to the town, till towards the races time, and, when they were hung in the tower, a number of gentlemen and ringers came in to the Michaelmas fair to try the bells, which gave every satisfaction to them all. After ringing for the most part of the day, the company dined and supped together at the White Hart Inn, the night being spent in jollity and mirth, when the ringers agreed that the new bells had been cast on a Tuesday, hung in the tower on a Tuesday, first rung on Tuesday, the day was fixed upon to be the practice night at St. Margaret's ever since.' The bells were 'afterwards rung almost nightly to the satisfaction and entertainment of the town and neighbourhood. The above statement was told to the writer [W. Barrow—chronologist] by J. Johnson.'

The Society, thus having eight bells now to ring upon, doubtless studied Triples, for we read in the 'Norwich Gazette,' Feb. 23rd, 1730:—

'Leicester. This morning, upon the celebrated peal of St. Margaret's, Leicester, was rung by the LEICESTER SCHOLARS, the whole peal of 5,040 Triples in 3 hours 6 minutes and 27 seconds, to the great satisfaction of all the hearers, and (save one bell) the same was performed on the best peal of eight in England; and considering the length of pull, the weight of the bells (the tenor being 32 hundred) and short space of time in which the same was rung, it's one of the greatest performances that has been heard in this age, except by the College Youths and London Scholars, the only performers in England, to whom all preference in this Art must be given, and who have rung much longer peals on greater numbers of bells.'

It is a great pity no record can be found as to the names of the performers of this—the first recorded 5,000 in Leicestershire.—Yours sincerely, Leicester.

RINGER'S DEATH IN BELFRY.

TRAGIC OCCURRENCE AT WALKDEN.

During the ringing for service at St. Paul's Church, Walkden, on Sunday evening, August 12th, there was a tragic occurrence. One of the ringers, Mr. John Worthington, collapsed, and died before medical aid could reach him. He had first taken part in a short touch of Stedman Triples, and was sitting talking, when he fell over on his side and expired.

Mr. Worthington, who was 72 years of age, had been a ringer for over 48 years. He was most regular in carrying out his duties in the church, seldom being absent from service ringing. He had rung 21 peals in the standard methods, but owing to an accident 19 years ago he was a cripple and had to walk with two sticks. He had not, therefore, rung any peals lately. Deceased was well known locally, and at the funeral on Wednesday, August 15th, there was a crowded congregation. As the cortege entered the church hymn tunes were chimed on the bells, and the organist played 'O rest in the Lord' and the 'Dead March.' The deceased's favourite hymn, 'Through all the changing scenes of life,' was also sung.

His brother ringers were the bearers, assisted by a few friends from Bolton and Eccles. At the graveside the choir sang the Nunc Dimittis, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by F. Morris, E. Cutsforth, John Potter and G. Pincott. After the funeral an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples was made, but unfortunately came to grief after an hour and a quarter's ringing, the ringers being: E. Cutsforth (Bolton), G. Pincott (Bolton), B. Welsby, Jas. Donner, M. Berry, J. T. Potter (Eccles), John Potter (conductor) and R. Denner.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

ENJOYABLE MEETING AT KINGSLEY.

On Saturday last the monthly meeting of the North Staffs Association was held at Kingsley, a beautiful village situated on the side of the Churnet Valley, which extends from Leek to Uttoxeter. The tower was opened at 3 o'clock, when visitors began to arrive from Bucknall, Norton, Burslem, Stoke, Cheadle and the local company. Ringing in various methods was indulged in until 5 o'clock, when an adjournment was made to the Schoolroom, where a substantial tea was in readiness, under the supervision of Mrs. H. Carnwell, who herself had baked all the bread in her own oven at home, while the fruit in the pies was out of her garden. The meal was typical of an old-time feast, and, needless to say, it was very much appreciated by everyone present.

Tea being over, the Rev. G. R. J. Biggs said how pleased he was to welcome such a band of churchworkers to Kingsley. As he had only been inducted as Rector of the parish on the previous day, that meeting was his first public function. He hoped the keynote of his life in Kingsley would be broadmindedness, and that he would have the co-operation of everyone in the village, whether he be tinker, tailor, soldier or sailor. The Rector afterwards regaled the company with humorous anecdotes of his experiences in India and Canada while serving as a missionary in those countries.

Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, on behalf of the association, gave a hearty ringers' welcome to the new Rector, and said that he (the Rector) was fortunate in two respects, firstly, that he had been appointed to a beautiful part of the country, and secondly, in that he had in Mr. H. Carnwell a leader of the ringers of whom any Rector might be proud.—Mr. W. Wheeldon proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Kingsley ringers for providing such an excellent tea.

Towards the close of the meeting, as a compliment to the tower visited, 720 of Kingsley Double Surprise was rung by a combination of Bucknall and Norton men.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild met at Finchley on Saturday last, and a very happy afternoon was enjoyed by the 26 members who attended. The pretty peal of six bells was much in use from 3 o'clock onwards, until at 5 p.m. a service was held. In the absence of the Rector on holidays, the senior curate officiated, and gave a very interesting address.

At the usual business meeting, which followed an excellent tea, seven new members were enrolled, including three 'bobbies,' who were provisionally elected prior to a recent peal attempt.—Votes of thanks to the preacher; to the Rector (Rev. S. F. L. Bernays); and to the local ringers, were passed, whilst the Honorary Secretary reminded members that a joint meeting of the Essex, Hertford and Middlesex Associations was arranged to take place at Waltham Abbey on September 22nd, at which he hoped they would all be present.—Tottenham was chosen as the venue of the next district meeting, to be held in October.

Members afterwards took turns at strolling in the Rectory grounds and visiting the belfry for ringing, and many methods were practised. Courses of London and Cambridge Surprise, touches of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, St. Clement's Bob, Double Court, and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were included in the programme, whilst the youngest member of the party, a lad who had cycled from Hillingdon, showed older members how to splice the latter two methods. That lad should persevere! Another youngster from the other side of the county ably conducted a good touch of St. Clement's Bob, which the other members of the band 'looked-up' for the occasion.

SIXTY YEARS A RINGER.

At the Parish Church, Areley Kings, Worcestershire, on Sunday, August 19th, 720 Oxford Bob Minor: J. Martin 1, W. Martin 2, T. Elcox 3, G. Butler 4, J. Reynolds (conductor) 5, H. Martin (Birkenhead) 6.—Also 720 of Plain Bob Minor: J. Martin 1, E. Coley 2, T. Elcox 3, G. Butler 4, J. Reynolds (conductor) 5, H. Martin 6. These 720's were rung to oblige Mr. H. Martin, Birkenhead, who was on a visit to his native county. Mr. W. Martin will next month complete 60 years as a ringer at this church. Messrs. W. and J. Martin are brothers, and Mr. H. Martin is their cousin.

'YE ODD, OLD AND MILD WILD OAT SOWERS.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I did read with delight the page by 'A Ringer' in your issue of August 10th and his remark that Tommy had made kind inquiry as to the well-being of 'The Tower Twisters.' No, they are not defunct, neither do they funk their duties, but for several reasons they have changed their cognomen. What's in a name? After all a rose by any other name, they tell us, can smell as sweet. I believe there is one called the 'Daily Mail.' Verb sap! One reason for our change is that ye beste of Spouses did aver that she could never see any difference in a tower after we had twisted a peal of Doubles into it, and, five minutes after we set 'em up, it (the peal) had all blown away with the froth off the first acorn. And another reason is that some of our members have other fish to fry. One has taken a wife, another a yoke of oxen, no, I mean a motor bike and side-car, and they wish to try them. Yet another resteth from his labours to his vineyard, but we still go out into the highways and hedgerows to seek 'em, that this luscious feast of Doubles may be eaten. Ye beste of Spouses doth now aver that our new appellation suits as well, as 'odd' we certainly are, and as to 'Old and Mild,' we are all that; all of us. If you don't believe Ye Goode Dame ask 'he' of the Scooter. He has been out into the highways and Purlieus of Turnagain Lane with us, and what wild oats we did sow. Ye good dame doth aver that any old, odd day off is enough to set us a-sowing of 'em. We send out a courier to ground bait the pitch, preferably in a far-off land where the beer trees (in the shade of which we love to bask) wax good and plenty. August Monday was a case in point. We decided to call at a place where no oats had yet been sown, and we found a tower with a rope circle like the sign of the Swastika and two cracks in the tower you could put your hand into. The O'Bacon hung his coat against one of them, and while we were ringing his coat got caught in the crack, which closed on his coat, and when he wanted to put it on he couldn't get it out, and we had to set the bells ringing again to open the crack for him to get his garment out. The O'Bacon did aver that it was a pity that Joseph did not think of that wheeze when Potiphar's Spouse grabbed him. Had he done that think how different the path of history might have been.

I had a lot of real brain waves while watching those cracks open and shut what time we were ringing, and at last realised that the cause of their opening and shutting was the fairylike 'pirouetting' of the bells overhead. They were ambling round like railway wagons at a May-pole dance, and then I recollected good old Uncle Tom Cobleigh's famous remark that 'it'll never get well if you scratch it,' so I got that quaint John Bunyan feeling and adjourned to sow in another field. And, good Sir, they gave me a cracked pint mug to drink out of. At a later hour, when relating the cracks to ye beste of Spouses, she did say the tower and the 'mug' were not the only cracked things to be found in that Parish on August Monday, and she had noticed aforetime that I always forgot to wind my watch up after I had drunk out of a 'lot' of cracked mugs when out sowing wild oats.

No, Tommy, we have not twisted all the towers in this county, only about thirty per cent. of 'em. Neither have we sown all the wild oats we possess. We still have a few varieties left to sow, and I can't see anyone else getting busy sowing 'em, so I'll just quaff one more beaker of Old and Mild (oh succulent cocktail), to the 'Wild Oat Sowers,' more power to their arms.

I did note, also, the Rev. Jenkyn's remarks re the condition of belfries. I think he was rather lenient with the powers that should be, but, alas, are not. Seventy-five per cent. of the towers I have visited are certainly not as well furnished as the vestries in the same churches. We are constantly being told that a ringer is a church worker as much as the choirman is, and yet we are pushed into a belfry which couldn't compare as to cleanliness with the parish lock-up, while as to acoustic properties, both inside and outside the tower, that is never thought of in more than one case in twenty. 'Let's get the bells in' seems to be the motto of both the purchasers and the purveyors. 'Let those who ring 'em and those who suffer 'em put things right if they choose.' I have often thought these things should be pointed out by the founders, who claim to be experts, when they are asked to tender, but I suppose the job might not get done at all if too much were suggested. Anyhow, 'A Ringer' quoted Fleet Street, and that's a star turn from a ringer's point of view, for you have no view at all there.

SAMTWEILL.

P.S.—If the choir want new music they get it gratis; if the ringer wants it, let him buy his silly 'Grandsires' himself. What a distinction! And we are all church workers. To-day the Church needs all her sons and the least of these is NOT the ringer.

TEN BELLS FOR NEWCASTLE-UNDER-LYME.

The parish church of St. Giles, Newcastle-under-Lyme, Staffs, is to have a ring of ten bells. The present peal of eight (tenor 16 cwt.) are to be rehung in new fittings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who will at the same time strengthen the frame, and add two trebles. They are also to renovate the carillon machine.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are also going to strengthen the frame and rehanging on ball bearings the ring of eight at Pattingham, Staffs. The tenor of this peal is 14 cwt.

Another contract which the Croydon firm have just obtained is the rehanging of the bells at Ribchester, Lancs. This is a ring of six, with tenor 13½ cwt. The bells are to be tuned and sandblasted, and rehung with new fittings throughout, including ball bearings. The frame is to be strengthened.

CLERKENWELL BELLS TO BE RESTORED.

It is extremely gratifying to learn that after remaining for many years in practically an unringable condition, the bells of St. James', Clerkenwell, in the City of London, are at last to be rehung. The bells are a peal of eight, with tenor of 20½ cwt., and Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, have been instructed to rehange the peal in new fittings, sandblasting and tuning the bells. It is to be hoped that this is the precursor of many similar restorations in London, where, for the most part, the bells have been sadly neglected.

The bells came originally from the Whitechapel Foundry in 1789, and it was from this church that the St. James' Society (now the London County Association) took its name.

CARTER'S PRINCIPLE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I pointed out many years ago in 'Bell News' that Carter's Principle, when properly arranged, has coursing-order division heads and ends as follow, and the Principle extends perfectly on all odd numbers to Infinity.

A 'SKIPPER'S' LEAD.

At Rowde, Wilts, on Wednesday, August 15th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, in 45 mins.: E. Perrett 1, W. Bolwell 2, S. Hillier (conductor) 3, G. England 4, C. D. Heginbotham 5, J. Stone 6. This was the first quarter-peal by Mr. Perrett, who is captain of the Rowde ringers, and is believed to be the first Rowde man to ring this number of changes on the bells of his own tower. He is a staunch member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and, it is hoped, will be the first captain of a change ringing band in this village.

MUFFLED BELLS

As a last mark of respect to the late Sir George Chamberlin—one of a family of Norwich benefactors—the St. Peter Mancroft Guild rang, on Wednesday evening, August 15th, at St. Peter Mancroft, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters, with the bells half-muffled: D. Grimble 1, Miss Helen Bill 2, G. Mayers 3, Miss Mabel Robertson 4, J. Rampley 5, P. Sadler 6, C. Lovett 7, G. Bailey 8, J. Duffield (conductor) 9, F. Curtis 10.

MISCELLANEOUS PERFORMANCES.

MARKET HARBOROUGH.—On July 2nd a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 43 mins.: F. Clark 1, W. Hector 2, A. C. Manning (conductor) 3, R. March 4, J. Chester 5, H. Bungay 6, F. Wallington 7, W. Wallington 8. The ringer of the 8th bells from Shrewsbury.

EGREMONT, CUMBERLAND.—At St. Mary's Church, on August 15th, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: B. Douglas 1, J. Hutchinson 2, W. Norman 3, A. Eilbeck 4, J. H. Rothery 5, G. W. Tembey (conductor) 6. This is the first 720 in the method by all.

THE NEW DEFINITION OF A PEAL OF MINOR.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your correspondent, Mr. J. W. Parker, is apparently under a misapprehension as to what transpired when the new definition of a peal of Minor was adopted by the Central Council at Hereford. As was clearly reported, I was doubtful if the proposed wording included the type of peal to which he takes exception, and I had prepared an amended version of the definition, which definitely included it. I was, however, interrupted by the second, Mr. James, who stated that the type was definitely included. In the peal which was rung at Isham on Saturday, August 11th, two 720's were spliced as follows:—

64235	23564
64352	45236
23645	45362
62345	34562
62453	25346
34625	25463
63425	42563
63254	35426
42635	35264
	524365

Repeated.

By extending this system to include 360's in each half peal it would be possible to ring a peal of Plain Minor with two singles only.—Yours,

E. M. ATKINS.

THE OX AND THE BUCK.

On Saturday, August 11th, the St. Mary's ringers, Slough, enjoyed an outing into a part of the Diocese of Oxford to which nearly all the band were strangers. It was the first occasion that the St. Mary's men had ever received a 'treat' at the expense of their church authorities. Assembling at 8.15 a.m., fourteen hands met at the Parish Church and left Bucks, with the Rector's personal good wishes for an enjoyable trip, in a brand new touring car, for the distant town of Chipping Norton, Oxon, the birthplace of the conductor, Mr. E. T. Hooper. The outward route was taken via Dorchester, Oxford and Woodstock, returning by way of Burford and Witney, after a glorious run of some 150 miles, arriving home again at 10.30 p.m.

Like similar outings we read of in these columns, we 'made tracks' for the belfry and the 'pantry' alternately along our way, and yet in these days of rubber tyres and tarmac roads there were no tracks visible—the latter being a portable contrivance, its contents were decidedly more so. Owing to lack of funds, only the cost of conveyance was allowed the party, and the members of it amongst themselves provided a good display of sandwiches, fruit, mineral and 'malted' waters, topped up by an excellent tea at Burford as the guests of Mr. 'Unknown.' In beautiful weather the Oxfordshire drive was enjoyed immensely, a broad expanse of well farmed land stretching away for miles on either side of the Birmingham highway from the city of Oxford; more so in the region of Nettlebed and Burford, where an altitude of 400 to 500 feet above sea level was attained. The roadside lunch was held in a farmer's field near Enstone, the gentle summer breeze adding 'sauce' to the ham. The overflow of good things provided a supper taken at the Five Horseshoes, near Henley—the hostess, Alice Meal, providing the Oxford brew to clear up our last 'meal' of an eventful day.

All the members took a rope at each of the four towers invaded—Dorchester, Norton, Burford and Witney, whereat Stedman, Grand sire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were brought round in brief touches, the conducting shared by Messrs. Bateman, Henley, Albrow, Hooper and Mr. E. A. G. Allen, of Rochester, who was spending his holiday in Slough, and kindly filled a vacant seat in the car.

The party agree with 'Broad Blaster' that tenor bells were ever subject to acute variation, and perhaps the recent July weather has caused evaporation of the 'waist line.' Several tenor men have so reduced their diameter during the heat wave. Here is a table of our experiences in one day; what will Mr. Shepherd say—'tenoritis'?

	dia. weight.	dia. weight.
Dorchester, Abbey	45 15½	45 15
C. Norton, St. Mary	43 14	43½ 13½
Burford, St. John B.	48½ 20½	46½ 18
Witney, St. Mary	48 20	47 18½

The first set of figures is from the peal book of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and the second from the Rev. F. E. Robinson's 'Among the Bells.'

In addition to the above variations there is another in two of the belfries giving a third weight of tenor. Perhaps when 'The Bells of Oxfordshire' is published in volume there will be finality in weights. To the respective clergy and towerkeepers at each church, the Slough men owe their hearty thanks for the welcome and assistance. The younger members of the party will look back to this day with gladness when they are, perhaps, 80 years old. They certainly acquitted themselves well in ringing in strange surroundings for the first time. When one can no longer climb the belfry stairs it is well to recall the joyous days of youth amongst the old towers of Motherland.

FROM TRURO TO EXETER.

A KENTISH INVASION OF CORNWALL AND DEVON.

As will have been seen in the peals report, a tour, arranged by Mr. F. Bennett, of Brighton, took place in Devon and Cornwall during August Bank Holiday week. Plymouth was selected as a convenient centre of operations, and St. Michael's Temperance Hotel was the rendezvous. Mr. E. W. Marsh, the local branch secretary of the Devon Guild, made all the necessary arrangements, and right well and efficiently he carried out his job. To him first and foremost the credit for the success of the tour belongs. Messrs. Charlie Flayer, Harry Parkes and Bob Edwards, of Romney Marsh, and F. Bennett travelled down on Friday, and on Saturday morning they did the grand tour of Plymouth, under the guidance of the ubiquitous E.W.M. D. Harris, of Woburn, Beds, arrived by another route on Saturday afternoon, and a move was then made to Charles Church. Here the band was completed by the inclusion of local men, and a well struck peal of Stedman Caters was duly brought round at about 7.30. This was a 'first in the method' by the ringers of 3, 4 and 6, which added interest to the performance. After duly partaking of refreshment and a stroll on the Hoe for digestive purposes, the 'invaders' returned to their hotel well content with the good start made. All slept the sleep of the just, notwithstanding a few casualties in the way of blisters, Bob acquiring by far the greatest bag, all about the size of a nutmeg. The more or less skilful application of a needle eased the situation somewhat, and he was then ready to retire to 'roost' for the night. 'Some Rooster'—Bob!

On Sunday morning a trek was made to Emmanuel Church to ring for Matins and to receive a welcome from Mr. C. R. Lilley, with whom the writer was enabled to renew an acquaintance and revive old Bedfordshire Association memories of 30 years ago. In the evening a bus ride to Plympton St. Mary to ring for evensong, and incidentally to hear one of the best tenor bells for its weight in the country. After service one or two touches were rung at Plympton St. Morice and a return to headquarters, to be met on the doorstep by the benevolent Shepherd from Swindon.

Monday morning the party were up with the lark in order to catch the excursion to Truro, a journey which one of the band at least had for some time cherished a wish to undertake in order to view the panorama of hill and dale so often extolled by various 'natives' he had met. It must be admitted at once that his anticipations by no means exceeded the realisation. Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs came up from Falmouth, where they are now residing. As they had brought their 'Olive Branch' along with them, Daughter Elsie did not expect to be able to stand in for Stedman Caters on the Cathedral bells, which was the programme for the morning. However, the Bedfordshire contingent (one in number) promptly offered to act the part of nursemaid, thereby further enhancing his reputation of going out for a peal and then trying his hardest to get someone else to take his place. (Do we see A. E. S., E. J. H. and G. H. C. smiling?) Alas, this generous impulse was of no avail, as, whether owing to the 'tightness' of the tenor man's borrowed belt, or more probably to the unfortunate circumstance of being unable to hear distinctly the sound of the bells from the ringing chamber, the attempt came to grief after an hour or so of very passable striking, the third and the ninth politely and clearly agreeing to change places on the front. This was a great disappointment, as it was the ambition of more than one to score a 'first in the method on the bells' of this very fine peal. However, a well struck peal of Double Norwich was tapped off at the neighbouring village of Kenwyn in the afternoon, in spite of the fourth man's style being rather 'cramped,' so the band did not return to Plymouth empty handed, and E. W. M. had the satisfaction of scoring a 'first,' as also did W. Rundle. Great credit is due to young Roberts, with the assistance of J. Sedgley, for the excellent arrangements they had made and the trouble they had taken to see that everything was in 'apple pie' order. Change ringing in Truro, or Cornwall for that matter, will not suffer a decline whilst it has young men like these to infuse it with their keenness and enthusiasm.

Tuesday the journey was in exactly the opposite direction, viz., out to Exeter. The start was not propitious, and might have been disastrous. It was decided to catch the 9.50 from North Road, but as all the 'visitors' were up betimes and arrived at the station 20 minutes or so before time, they entered what turned out to be the 9.40 fast train, congratulating themselves on their cuteness. On arrival at Exeter, however, it was discovered that E. W. M. was not on board, and it then occurred to someone that he would probably wonder what had happened when he could find no one on North Road platform. As luck would have it he decided to take his courage in both hands and come on, and greatly to the relief of the others, who had perforce to spend an anxious time waiting, his cheery face was discovered at the window of the next train arriving. Explanations and apologies followed, and the victim of the contretemps, being the 'Lion' of the tour, naturally soon recovered his infectious good humour.

A look around the noble Cathedral, followed by luncheon, and then on to St. Sidwell's for a peal of Stedman Caters. This was duly brought round in 3 hours 15 minutes in spite of one of Bob's blisters bursting and squirting the fluid over the face and 'weskit' of the ringer of the 2nd, and also in spite of the organ setting up an opposition show inside the church and a dog a howl outside. After tea the day's enjoyment was brought to a climax by a pull on the Cathedral bells, and here Harry achieved his life's ambition. It is rumoured that when he dies 'Grandsire' will be found written on his heart. At any rate, the night's rest of more than one of his friends was disturbed by his repeated mutterings in his sleep of 'Now I've got her!' 'She's got to go up this time!' etc.

As a finale the 'Stafford' minor eight were set going to a touch of Stedman Triples, and great hilarity was caused after a round had been struck, on the treble man being asked, 'When are you going to lead?' by his retorting, 'When is the tenor coming in?' To several of the 'musical' members of the party this was some of the nicest and best bell music they had ever heard. The treble man obviously was not one of them. Thus ended the greatest day of the tour up to date.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

A STORY OF THE BELLS.

The bibliography of bells has received a significant addition in the new volume just published under the title of 'Bells through the Ages.' Few people realise fully the manysidedness of the subject of bells; but this book touches every phase and is a perfect storehouse of information. All the authorities have been drawn upon for material, and interesting details on all sorts of matters relating to bells have been gleaned from hitherto unsuspected quarters. Until this volume made its appearance the public have had to go to a variety of sources, if they would learn the story of the bells, their history, traditions and associations; their uses and their legends; their making and their breaking. But now in this new work the author, Mr. J. R. Nichols, of Stamford, has brought together all the threads, and the uninitiated reader can gain an insight into the subject such as was not previously possible except to those who had special facilities or an unlimited purse. What will strike everyone who reads this volume is the enormous labour that must have been expended in collecting the materials which have been so well arranged and laid before the public. It must have meant years of careful and assiduous garnering of information, and we know that as far as has been possible the details have been checked so that the desire of the publishers to make it a standard work of reference may be achieved.

It was the original intention, we understand, to add as an appendix a directory of the towers with rings of bells in this country, but various considerations, not least the collection of the information, rendered it necessary to leave this over for either a second edition or a supplement. Shipway introduced such a list into his 'Campanology,' in which he enumerated the rings of six bells and upward that were known to him. The most exhaustive list of the kind, however, was that prepared about thirty years ago under the authority of the Central Council. In that case information as to the condition of the bells was elaborated, but it served little purpose, inasmuch as it was published in instalments over a long period, and much of the early part was out of date before the end appeared. However, a supplement giving a complete list of the rings of bells in the British Isles would add interest, at any rate for ringers, to Mr. Nichols' excellent volume. In the meantime the ringing fraternity owes a debt of gratitude to the author, who is himself a ringer, for his admirable handling of the subject. We hope that some day someone will give us that history of the Exercise itself for which we are waiting and which the Exercise deserves. To ringers it would be of unequalled interest.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE REV. H. EARLE BULWER.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

I have at present in my possession a parcel of manuscript notes of more than ordinary interest. They are the property of the Central Council and are part of the papers left by the late Sir Arthur Heywood. They consist chiefly of letters sent to him by men with whose help he was trying to solve those problems in the science of ringing which were interesting him forty years or so ago. The reason I have got them is that I was asked by the Council to report (among other things) as to their value. I must admit that I have taken an excessive amount of time to make up my mind on the matter. Indeed, it is not so very easy, and, if I had, this would hardly be the proper place to express my conclusions. But I mention them because they serve me as a text for saying something about a man who was one of the principal contributors to the collection; a man who was pretty well known to the older generation of ringers, but who, to the younger men, is little more than a name, if so much.

The closing years of the last century witnessed a most remarkable revival of ringing. After a period in which the Exercise had sunk to its very lowest ebb, a time came when there was improvement in every branch of the science and art, an improvement which has gone on steadily to the present day. Only those whose memories go back for half a century fully realise how great that improvement has been. The status of ringers has been immensely raised; towers and belfries are in far better condition; better bells are cast and hung with better fittings; method ringing has been widely extended, the Exercise has been properly organised; and the mathematical science on which ringing is based has been explored.

All this was the work of comparatively few men. We to-day are reaping the harvest of their work and it is only right that we should now and then acknowledge what we owe to them. Not the least among them was the man of whom I am going to give a short sketch.

Henry Earle Bulwer came of an old Norfolk county family. His father, the Rev. A. E. L. Bulwer, was Rector of Cawston, a village twelve miles north of Norwich, and his cousin was lord of the manor and the principal landowner, and there at the Rectory on March 23rd, 1841, Henry Bulwer was born. The church is a noble building with a lofty and massive tower and six bells. The living is one of the richest in the county. It is in the gift of Pembroke College, Cambridge, of which both father and son were members, and it was generally understood in later years that when a vacancy occurred Henry Bulwer would have the offer of it. Only it so happened that the clergyman who succeeded to the older Bulwer lived to an exceeding old age and outlived the son.

Henry Earle Bulwer was educated at King Edward VI. Grammar School at Bury St. Edmunds, from which he went to Pembroke College, Cambridge. After taking his degree he was at Wells Theological College and was ordained deacon in 1864 and priest in 1865 by Bishop Harold Brown of Ely. He took his M.A. degree in 1866. Between 1864 and 1884 he held curacies in seven different parishes, chiefly in Norfolk. In 1884 he was appointed to the Rectory of Stanhoe-with-Barwich, in the extreme north-west corner of Norfolk, and there he died on May 5th, 1902, and was buried in the churchyard.

It is very remarkable that all through his life he lived and worked in parishes which, with one exception, were not only without bells, but which were remote from any ringing activity. The exception was the village of Needham, which is about a couple of miles from Harleston on the south border of Norfolk. He was curate-in-charge there from 1879 to 1882, and there he came in contact with Mr. Gervase Holmes, Captain A. P. Moore and the Rev. N. Bolingbroke. These men had recently taken the leading part in the founding of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and Mr. Bolingbroke was for some years its secretary. Redenhall, which is the parish church of Harleston, had long had a good band, and the district contained then and still contains a large number of skilled ringers. It was at Redenhall that the first peal by the Norwich Association was rung—a peal of Superlative Surprise Major, then a very notable performance indeed. About that time Gervase Holmes and Captain Moore, in conjunction with a Mr. Mackenzie, an engineer, started a bell foundry at Harleston. One of their jobs was a new peal of six at Weybread, just over the border in the county of Suffolk. The Vicar of that parish was also Vicar of Needham, where Mr. Bulwer was curate-in-charge, and this it was which brought the latter into contact with ringers and ringing.

His first peal was rung at Redenhall on May 3rd, 1881, and was one of Double Oxford Bob Major. The following are the particulars from 'The Bell News' of June, 1881:—

Norwich Diocesan Association. Redenhall. On Tuesday, May 3rd, 1881, the following members of the Redenhall branch of this association (being also members of the Society of Royal Cumberlands, London) rang a peal of Double Oxford Bob Major, 5040 changes, at St. Mary's in 3 hrs. 8 mts.: E. Smith (conductor) 1, G. Prime 2, Rev. N. Bolingbroke 3, G. Candler, Esq., 4, Rev. H. E. Bulwer (first peal) 5, G. Mobbs 6, G. Holmes, Esq., 7, Captain Moore 8. Tenor 24 cwt. in D. This peal is a variation of one of Annable's productions by the Rev. H. E. Bulwer.

This was the second peal of Double Oxford ever rung. On six bells the method dates back to the early years of the eighteenth century, and was, as its name shows, first practised in the city of Oxford. As a Minor method it had deservedly a large measure of popularity, but unlike other popular six-bell methods, no attempt seems to have been made to extend it to eight bells till Shipway's time. With his usual system and thoroughness, he not only gave Double Oxford Major, but the single, reverse and double variations on all numbers, odd and even from six to twelve, except that on ten and twelve bells he left his readers to infer the double variations from the single and reverse. The Exercise, however, did not take kindly to these extensions. One peal of Double Oxford Bob Major, a 6,000, was rung by the Norwich Scholars at St. Giles' in that city in 1832, as I have already related in these notes, and then the method was dropped until this peal at Redenhall.

Some few years after, Sir Arthur Heywood made an attempt to popularise it, and rang and called several peals at his tower at Duffield, including a 10,000. Since that time a few peals have been rung here and there, including one (or two) of Royal, but the method has not been practised so much as it deserves. It is quite an interesting method to ring, well within the capacity of any ordinarily proficient band, and it has this advantage: that since every pair of bells works together for a considerable time, mistakes are easily put right and peals, therefore, are quite easy to get. Oxford Bob Triples, the single variation on seven bells, was popularised some years ago by Mr. J. J. Parker, and is a most excellent method.

In 1881 and 1882 Mr. Bulwer took part in five peals of Oxford Treble Bob Major, which was then and for many years before and after the standard method of the Eastern Counties. The three years from 1879 to 1882 comprised almost the whole of Mr. Bulwer's connection with practical ringing. In the latter year he moved to Hunstanton, and the rest of his life was spent in a district where there were few bells and no ringers. His total list of peals numbered only eight, but though cut off from practically all actual ringing, he found other means to serve the Exercise. In the early part of 1890 he became honorary secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and held that post till his death, and much of the prosperity of that society was due to his work. His task was one of no little difficulty. The Norwich Diocese then comprised the whole of the large county of Norfolk, seventy miles from end to end and half the county of Suffolk. He lived at the extreme end of the district, the furthest possible from ringing centres, and at a place where railway facilities were so scanty as almost to be non-existent. In those days there were no motor-cars. It was, therefore, impossible for him to attend more than the annual general meetings, and the great bulk of his work had to be done by correspondence.

So far as ringing was concerned the district was extraordinarily varied. In the extreme south, at Ipswich, there was one of the finest, perhaps the finest twelve-bell band in the country. Throughout East Suffolk there were excellent bands, at Eye and Debenham. Helmingham, Kelsale, Leiston, and many six-bell towers. In South Norfolk, at Kenninghall, Diss, Redenhall, and other places there were good bands. At Norwich there was a revival of ringing, and at Aylsham a tradition of a couple of centuries still survived. But all West Norfolk and most of Central and North Norfolk was, for ringing purposes, a dreary wilderness. The art which, at one time, was common to all those villages had utterly declined. I fear it is little better now. In those parts of the diocese where ringing did flourish the great majority of the peals were Oxford Treble Bob Major. One thing those ringers could do, and that was to strike their bells. At no time and in no place has the standard of good striking been higher than among the Oxford Treble Bob ringers of East Suffolk of thirty years ago.

Mr. Bulwer's last peal was rung in 1894. The following is the record of it from the Norwich Diocesan Association report of that year: 'SSS. Peter and Paul, Eye. On Tuesday, April 10th, 1894, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, 5088 changes, in 3 hrs. 17 mts. Tenor 24 cwt. Frederick Day 1, Rev. J. H. Pilkington 2, George Archer 3, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer 4, Charles Webster 5, William Ireland 6, W. G. Crickmer 7, John Souter tenor. Composed by the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer. Conducted by J. Souter.' (To be continued.)

DORSET DAYS.

A TOUR OF 'ALL SUCCESSES.'

The successful visit of a party of church bellringers to the county of Dorset during mid-August resulted in a 'possible' for those taking part in a most happy excursion, when all the peals attempted were made good. The veteran of three score years and one (Mr. George Williams, of Southampton), stood the mental and physical strain of the tour right well, and to him the ringers are indebted for planning all the arrangements for the visitors. No matter how clever the attainments of the ringer personally, all are as 'dead water' if the kindness and courtesy of the clergy, Guild secretaries and tower-keepers are withheld. Towers were visited off the beaten track of railways, and recourse was had to the silent car, and four of these from Somerset, Wiltshire, Dorset and Essex respectively did yeoman service. The party, though united in brotherhood, were divided in quarters, half putting up at the Crown—good omen—Wimborne, and the others at the Masons' Arms, Swaythling—are you a Mason? We did not see the famous Dorset 'Fuddling Cup,' 1743. This is a group of six stoneware cups in triangular form, surrounded by twisted bands on the outside and three handles. Each cup has a connection at the base with the others, so that when filled a long draught from one would empty the whole. Our tower appointments and the methods rung in them were 'unfuddled,' and proceedings went as smoothly as the proverbial marriage bell, without 'hectoring' or bickering or a car being 'dyked.'

At Dibden we appreciated the peaceful Sunday surroundings of the countryside. One felt a longing to leave the bell rope and wander across the fields to listen to the music of the bells. A feature of the Vicarage is its roomy hall, where a long trestle table was erected and tea laid ready for us by the Rector and his wife. Their personal kindness made us all resemble children of the Rectory, instead of grown-up men of the Church, and all regretted leaving the parish and its church and the village preacher's modest mansion.

ST. GILES' CHURCH.

Permission to ring at Wimborne St. Giles' tower on Monday was a great favour. A new octave by Taylor and Co. was opened quite recently and fully described in these columns. The tower, at the west end of the nave of the church, forms a porch at its base, and is the principal entrance to the building, which was dedicated by Bishop Wordsworth on St. Giles' Day in 1910. It is the third church erected on the site, and rather larger than its predecessor on the north side, which was destroyed by a fire that broke out in the roof of the tower at midnight on September 30th, 1908. The external walls, now showing a classical style of architecture, are practically those of the 1732 church built by the fourth Earl of Shaftesbury, the tower much resembling St. Olave's, Hart Street, London (now demolished), and Bewdley, Worcestershire.

The earliest church here was probably Norman, and there are traces of Roman occupation in the locality, but the first Rector of the parish is recorded by name, John de Fissa, 1207, and in 1291 the church was called the 'Chapel of St. Giles,' quite a small building. There are two monuments in the church restored after the fire, and originally in the older building. One is that of the Crusader, thought to be Sir John de Plecty, who died in 1313. The large altar tomb now in the Lady Chapel is to Sir Antony Ashley and his wife, who built and endowed the almshouses adjoining the church, and died in 1627. The little figure kneeling by the side of her parents' tomb is that of Miss Ashley, who married Sir John Cooper, of Rockbourne, and became the mother of the first Earl of Shaftesbury. The church was remodelled and beautified in 1852. In 1887 the interior was restored by the Countess of Shaftesbury, and in 1900 the east end was enriched under the direction of Mr. Bodley, but it all disappeared in the fire, only to rise again more beautiful than ever, as may be seen to-day.

Rudhall, bellfounder of Gloucester, supplied a peal of six bells for St. Giles' in 1737, with tenor 38in. diameter, note A, with the usual brief texts on each bell and his trade mark. A Sanctus bell, 15½in. diameter, is of much interest, as it was the gift of, and named as, the Ashley-Cooper bell, and forms a personal reminder of the first earl, whilst the new bells, as an octave, coincide with the eight descendants of the family in the male line.

On arrival at St. Giles' we were welcomed by the Vicar, and after the peal congratulated in the belfry by the present earl, who is a practical ringer and president of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and went on our way rejoicing. There was a brief run through quiet lanes to Camborne Church, where a solemn old mixed ring of eight, specimens from four bellfounders, awaited us. The 7th bell mentions that certain bells were recast 'in the reign of Queen Victoria, A.D. 1841,' and the tenor that 'Clement Tosier cast me in the 12th year of Q. Ann rain, 1713.' It is 45in. diameter, weight uncertain, and note F. In the peal we rang here we discovered that Sam's two 'boys,' the brothers Andrews, were not wanting in 'mettle.' On tour for the first time they took the treble and tenor, the former now scoring his first peal, and the latter his 50th on the Wednesday. I have forgotten the name of the house where we had tea before parting for the night. Perhaps in a century hence it will be known as the 'Fire Dunlops' or the 'Carburettor Inn.' On our own cars these attachments answered well so far.

DOBSON'S BELLS AT POOLE.

On the third day we journeyed to Poole and rang at St. James', Mr. Thompson having all in readiness for the first Surprise peal here.

A light comfortable ringing room, with large windows and good ventilation, instead of the noisy 'den' above it, which formerly answered for a 'room' when Mr. Thompson, an old Cheltonian, first came to Poole. An interesting group of the old Painswick ringers, taken in 1860, hangs on the walls. Some of the long-peal men of a century ago may be seen in this photo print. The bells are a very interesting peal, tenor 48in. diameter, 19½ cwt., cast by William Dobson, of Downham, in 1821. They found their way here by sea from King's Lynn via the Straits of Dover, and were opened on June 14th. The treble bears the inscription: 'Long live King George the Fourth.' Thus for the third time we found expressions of loyalty to the throne impressed on the bells we rang, a premonition of the royal peal that was to follow for our present well-beloved queen.

Fordingbridge had been arranged for the afternoon, and here we found the bells were 'barricaded.' Some workmen, a week behind time, had fixed planks through bell frame and wheels to carry a platform outside the windows in order to repair and renew the dial of the church clock. Nothing was doing here under those circumstances, and as we were about to leave the Vicar came along and expressed his regret, explaining that the men had only started that very morning, and he was unable to let us know of it. Mr. Williams, as Ringing Master of Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, wisely retains a list of 'emergency' towers, and we were soon pealing forth touches at Sherfield English, as Englishmen only can do. An early tea followed, so that the Wimborne division could return to practice at the Minster and prepare for the morrow.

Wednesday the appointment was Wimborne Minster at 11 o'clock for Stedman. Mr. E. Hart and others met us, and a prompt start and finish of the peal effected. The Swaythling 'half' included Mrs. G. Williams, who had come to see the Queen. They visited Ferndown on the way to see Mr. and Mrs. Martin-Stewart and their bonny family. The high road from Romsey to Wimborne affords some splendid scenery; the Isle of Wight on the left and the Dorset Hills to the right, vast stretches of moorland strewn with patches of purple heather in the sunshine of what proved to be a royal day. Needless to say, we found time to visit 'Rufus Stone,' that marks the spot where King William II. was shot with an arrow accidentally by Sir Walter Tyrrell. He was buried at Winchester in August of the year 1100.

A ROYAL LISTENER.

The Crown Hotel at Wimborne received us with open arms at 3 p.m. for tea, and the 'residents' kindly offered their distant or better-half team a free cup. But we were all up and away by 3.30 for St. Giles' Church. The Vicar and Mr. Coe, churchwarden, received us here. Preparation for the word 'go' Norwich was soon made, and we were off into changes at 4.30, in fulfilment of Lord Shaftesbury's wish to welcome Her Majesty to St. Giles' House by a special performance upon the new bells.

I may just mention that the church and park adjoin each other, the church tower standing only a few yards from the main entrance, so that the bells were heard to advantage as the royal party drove by. Locked in the belfry we knew little of the procedure, and the conductor could not be 'presented.' But on signing our names after the peal we found Her Majesty's signature on a special page of the visitors' book. It afterwards transpired that the Queen arrived soon after five o'clock, and after a cup of tea graciously expressed a wish to hear the bells again, walking through the park, with the earl and countess in attendance, to the church.

Of the Minster bells, it is well known that the present ring of ten are an excellent work by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, tenor a little under 30 cwt. It is more than 40 years ago since I climbed the stairs up to the old octave, whilst staying at Weymouth on a holiday with my father, and found them in keeping with the ancient tower, the tenor then reputed to be 36 cwt. and measuring 55in. diameter. The fifth, the oldest bell, was inscribed: 'Praise thou the Lord, O.L., A.D. 1598, I.W.' It is said that several of these bells came from Kingston Lacy, the seat of the Bankes family, near Wimborne. The initials T.B. on the 3rd and 4th bells, dated 1688, are those of Sir Thomas Bankes.

On Thursday we crossed the Solent from Southampton for Cowes, and rang a first peal in an old method in Newport. Mr. William Upton, looking well, greeted us, and was glad we met with success. The Lynton-Yarmouth contingent had a hurried life to keep their tryst. However, lunch and tea in the capital and centre of the Island were squeezed in—to time, I mean, and we all reported in before closing hours at our quarters.

The fine physique of two of our two 'backenders' is well known around Bristol and Trowbridge. All their friends—who are well aware that they are had sailors—will be glad to hear that during the crossing neither caved in.

A BEAUTIFUL CHURCH.

Friday saw the end of the 'Dorset days,' and the last peal was rung at Kingston, Isle of Purbeck, a most appropriate place to do so after the Queen's peal. It involved the longest ride of the tour. We travelled via Ringwood, Wareham, Corfe, and its castle, the latter an historical ruin, the counterpart of Bamburgh in the north, but without its rocky sea coast. Mr. Bastable, a relative of the noted 'Harry' of Birmingham, met us, and I understand there's only half a dozen of this name left.

This, a beautiful new stone church, erected on cruciform plan, with central tower by Dorey and Son, is built entirely of local materials (except oak, which came from the Gloucester estates), under the superintendence of Street, who designed the well-proportioned Early English Gothic characteristics of the building. The interior, though small, forms practically a miniature cathedral, its nave supported by black Purbeck marble, with smaller shafts clustered round each, and richly carved capitals. The exterior reminds one of St. Saviour's, Arklow, surrounded by evergreens and trees, and the absence of graves in the churchyard.

Like Arklow, its only interment was that of the Vicar after 40 years' residence in 1921. The church was opened on St. James' Day—its patron saint—on July 25th, 1880, and cost approximately £60,000. Two-thirds of this amount was bequeathed by Lady Louisa Scott, and when expended there was still the roof and tower to complete, Lord Eldon, her brother, finding the balance. Formerly a private chapel on an estate of 28,000 acres—in ancient maps called Kingston field—it was, shortly before his lordship's decease, handed over with its grounds and vicarage and endowments to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for care and maintenance. On a plain wooden cross on the south side of the church are the words: 'John, 3rd Earl of Eldon, 1845-1926.'

Like most legal luminaries, he was rather dogmatic, but a real good master, brimming over with kindness, and above all a staunch churchman. When his heir married a Roman Catholic lady and embraced her faith, Lord Eldon immediately handed over the valuable buildings. There is no Vicar appointed at present.

Now for the bells. They are remarkable for one reason. There is not a letter or figure on either, and future antiquarians will be disappointed at their search. Cast as an octave by Taylor and Co. in 1880, the tenor weighs 28 cwt. 1 qr. 9 lb. in key D flat, with 53½ in. diameter, but recently they were sent away to the Loughborough Foundry to be softened in tone and harmonised upon the modern system. The whole of the fittings were overhauled, so that we not only had the privilege of attempting a peal but enjoyed real bell music and easy-going bells in a modern, well-planned belfry.

It was nice to have Martin Stewart in the band with us, breaking a long rest, after his serious operation, and, better still, to sit at tea in the village inn as his welcome guests, toasting prosperity to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild before dispersing for home.

Swanage ringers report that a team of College Youths opened these bells and tried twice for Bob Major, but failed, as the treble man was handicapped with eye troubles. He wore an eyeshade, and at once Isaac Shade came to mind. It is surmised that Lord Eldon was disappointed, because he never again consented to a peal attempt here, giving as his reason, 'I do not believe in the bells being rung for exhibition purposes.'

Half a mile away the old village church stands in its simple glory, covered with its weather-stained mantle of centuries that no money

EIGHT BELLS FOR BISHOPS WALTHAM.

RECTOR'S STATEMENT AT PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT MEETING.

A very successful bye-meeting of the Portsmouth District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Bishop's Waltham last Saturday, when nearly 30 members were present from Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Shedfield, Swanmore and Wickham, together with the Master (Mr. G. Williams), and visitors from Haslemere, King's Somborne, Ringwood, Winchester and Mr. O. J. Hunt (Coventry).

The bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and were fully used. The Rector (Canon H. Sharpe) paid a visit to the belfry, and gave a brief survey of the position regarding the provision of two new trebles and overhauling the present six to increase the peal to eight. Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, had estimated to complete the job for £174, and it had been decided to issue circulars at once in the parish in order to raise the necessary amount. As several substantial promises had been made, including £25 from the churchwardens, which amount covered the overhauling of the present six, the Rector saw no reason why the remainder should not be forthcoming. It was his intention, he said, to complete this job before he resigned next March.

A very enjoyable tea was served in the Abbey Tea Rooms, after which the members returned to the tower for further ringing until 8 p.m. During the day the ringing consisted of Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford Single, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

LADY RINGER WEDDED.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Peterborough, on Saturday, when Miss A. M. Dale, one of the local lady ringers, was married to Mr. E. Wakling, of Somersham, who has assisted St. Mary's band for about eighteen months.

The bells rang merrily as the happy couple left the church, and a well-struck 720 of Bob Minor was rung in the evening by S. Thompson 1, Mrs. Northern 2, E. Tilley 3, J. J. Jutson 4, W. H. Waldron 5, F. Rowlinson (conductor) 6.

On the previous Sunday morning the bride was presented with a salad bowl with silver servers, the gift of the local ringers, with their best wishes for the future happiness of both.

can purchase. Gazing at it from the top of the new tower and across to the town of Swanage and Studland Bay, I pondered over the strange chance that led to so much wealth being poured out upon such a secluded site. 'Man proposeth; God disposeth.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council, who has undergone two serious operations at Duncedin Nursing Home, Bath Road, Reading, is, we are pleased to state, progressing satisfactorily.

The bells of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, will be broadcast on Sunday at 7.50 p.m.

Owing to ill-health, the Vicar of Harwich (Rev. A. E. Mells, R.D.), is retiring. His departure will be a great loss to the town, and especially to St. Nicholas' Ringers' Guild, in which he has taken a great interest.

The many friends of Mr. Sidney Dawe (ex-sergeant-major) will regret to learn that he is lying dangerously ill at his residence, 23, Lower Cathedral Road, Cardiff.

The Rev. J. F. Amies, who was hon. secretary of the Sheffield District and Old East Derbyshire Society in 1922, and is now Rector of Edgcote, Aylesbury, has become secretary of a newly-formed branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, called the Central Bucks branch. Although there are only three bells at Mr Amies' tower, there are a number of five and six bell towers round about him which offer ample scope for useful work.

The first ten-bell peal in Scotland was rung at St. Mary's Cathedral on August 31st, 1886, when Mr. F. E. Dawe conducted a peal of Grandsire Caters.

To-day is the anniversary of the handbell record, when five members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild sat for 9hrs. 32mins. in Holy Trinity belfry, Guildford, in which time they rang 19,738 Stedman Caters.

Bishop's Stortford bells, which have just been restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, had the first peal rung on them on September 2nd, 1820, by a band of the Junior Society of College Youths. It was a peal of Grandsire Caters.

Twenty years ago next Thursday, at Anstey, Leicestershire, members of the Midland Counties' Association rang a peal of 10,192 Bob Major.

Who got the wrong hats at the Loughborough District meeting last Saturday, and are they satisfied with the exchange?

THE NEW DEFINITION OF A PEAL OF MINOR.

LIMITATIONS LAID DOWN BY THE RESOLUTION.

The object of the new definition of a peal of Minor adopted by the Central Council at Hereford was, writes the proposer, to give recognition to compositions (such as the Rev. E. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge Surprise Minor), which comprise seven true 720's although 'rounds' may appear elsewhere than at the end of them. The former definition excluded the use of independent 360's in the make-up of a 5,040, and the new definition does not go back on that rule.

Whatever Mr. Atkins may think about it, this point was quite clear in the minds of the majority of the members when they voted on the resolution.

There appears to be no objection to splicing two 720's together, assuming that one true and complete 720 is bracketed into another true and complete 720, but if Mr. Atkins' view is that the new definition was intended to cover any arrangement so long as all the changes are rung seven times in the peal, he is mistaken. There does not seem to be much room for doubt in the wording of the resolution: 'That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, rung without interval and without rounds or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 720. . .'

Mr. J. W. Parker also writes: Referring to Mr. Atkins' letter on this subject, if your report of the proceedings at the Central Council is a full one, I am under no misapprehension. In my opinion, the new definition clearly shuts out peals which do not consist of seven successive blocks (not necessarily ending in rounds), each containing the 720 true changes.

While the bald statement by Mr. James may have been sufficient to remove the doubts of Mr. Atkins, this is no reason for implying that it should also change my opinion.

RINGER'S PRESENTATION AT WHITCHURCH.

An interesting little ceremony took place at the belfry of St. Mary's Church, Whitchurch (Glam.), on Tuesday evening, August 14th, when a presentation was made to Mr. F. J. Bailey to mark the completion of 20 years' service as leader of St. Mary's bellringers. The present, which took the form of a pipe and tobacco, together with a silver bell pendant (inscribed on the obverse side, 'St. Mary's bellringers,' and on the reverse side, 'To F. J. Bailey, 1908-1928, in appreciation of 20 years' service as leader of St. Mary's band'), was made by Mr. T. Middleton, and seconded by the present leader, Mr. L. Wright. Mr. A. E. Ray spoke on behalf of the visiting ringers who had subscribed.

Mr. Bailey suitably acknowledged the gift, and begged all to give the same help, attention and respect to the present leader as he had enjoyed.

A short course, consisting of 20 changes each of Grandsire and Bob Doubles, rung consecutively, was afterwards brought round to specially mark the occasion by the following: H. Cozens 1, A. Watkins 2, A. E. Ray 3, L. Wright 4, Evan Coles 5, F. Wright 6.

WALSALL TO HAVE A PEAL OF TWELVE. RAPID GROWTH OF RINGS.

Walsall Parish Church is to have a ring of twelve bells to replace the present poor-toned peal of ten. Messrs. Taylor and Co. have been entrusted with the order, and the new bells will have a tenor of 26 cwt. When completed, this will bring the number of twelve-bell peals hung for ringing to 46, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. will have achieved the distinction of having hung 18 of them, nine within six years.

At the moment, the Loughborough Foundry is employed upon five peals of twelve, four of them at cathedrals, viz., St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Worcester Cathedral, Lincoln Cathedral, Newcastle-on-Tyne Cathedral and Walsall Parish Church. At St. Paul's Cathedral they are overhauling the heavy ring, including the rehanging of the eleventh with new fittings and cast-iron headstock. It is exactly fifty years ago this year that St. Paul's bells were erected by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

WALSALL PARISH CHURCH.

In addition to the above, two other rings of twelve are receiving attention. St. Martin's, Birmingham, are being recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who are also recasting the four trebles for Saffron Walden.

The bells at St. Matthew's, Walsall, were installed as a peal of eight in 1775, and two trebles were added by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1863. For the last ten years no ringing has been done upon them, owing to the dilapidated condition of the frame, and on Sunday they were chimed for the last time. When the bells are taken out of the tower, it is proposed to put them in the churchyard for a few days to enable the parishioners to take a farewell view of them.

A generous response, we understand, has been made to the appeal of the Mayor and the Vicar for funds to carry out the work.

The rapid growth of rings of twelve in recent years is remarkable, some fourteen or fifteen peals having been made up to this number in the last quarter of a century. In Shipway's day, a little over a hundred years ago, there were 13 peals of twelve, seven of them being in London (one of which, Spitalfields, has since disappeared), and six in the provinces, namely, at Birmingham, Cambridge, Cirencester, Liverpool, Norwich and Shrewsbury.

BURTON RINGERS' REUNION. ANOTHER HAPPY GATHERING.

On Saturday last there was another happy gathering of past and present members of St. Paul's Society, Burton-on-Trent. Among those who were present were Mr. W. W. Worthington (Lichfield), Mr. J. H. Benstead (London), Mr. J. T. Dyke (Chilcompton, Bath), Mr. A. Harrison (Arlingham, Glos), Mr. J. Austin (Gloucester), Mr. W. J. Smith (Coventry), Mr. J. Griffin (Elford, Tamworth), Mr. J. Ashmole (Northwich), Mr. G. Bull (London), Mr. J. Jagger (Oldbury), Messrs. John and Morris Swinfield, Mr. E. I. Stone and other locals, and ex-Sergeant Williams (Newent, Glos). All looking well and in the pink of condition, the party met at St. Paul's Church, and after the camera man had been satisfied a tour of several villages was begun by a visit to Hoarcross, where everything is splendour. The church is magnificent, and there are six heavy bells. Grandsire, Stedman and Minor were rung till all had had a turn, and the bells were then lowered in peal. A course of Grandsire Caters on handbells was tapped off in the roadway. Not many motors travel this way, so the ringers were only disturbed once.

The next place was Alrewas, with a very pretty and good-going peal of eight, where everyone had a turn either in Double Norwich, Grandsire, Stedman or Kent Treble Bob. Loading up again, the party left Staffordshire, and passed through a little bit of Derbyshire to reach Lullington in Leicestershire, with its six bells, and then to Netherseal, with its ring of eight. Returning to St. Paul's, Burton, an hour was spent in ringing, and then the happy company gathered round a well-stocked table and enjoyed a sumptuous meal. A telegram was handed to the chairman (Mr. W. W. Worthington), who read: 'Best wishes for pleasant evening, from Fred Wallis, Rhyl.' It may be mentioned here that Mr. Wallis was one who started in St. Paul's in 1877, and it was exactly 49 years ago to the very day that a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, Mr. Wallis being, of course, one of the band, to celebrate his coming-of-age. On Saturday, therefore, he reached his 70th year, and all were sorry he could not be with them. The chairman, however, proposed 'Many happy returns of the day,' which toast was drunk with acclamation.

'There's naught so sweet as when friends meet, and hearts and hands unite.' Quite a lot of old-time doings were discussed, and the time passed pleasantly with tunes and changes on the handbells.

The best thanks of all present was proposed by Mr. Jagger, seconded by Mr. Dyke, and accorded with musical honours, to Mr. W. W. Worthington for all his kindness, and to Mr. Swinfield for making such splendid arrangements for such an enjoyable reunion.

On Sunday morning, at St. Paul's and the Parish Church, Stedman Caters, Double Norwich, and a touch of Grandsire for a few novices were rung, while a few went on to Rolleston-on-Dove for the evening service.

ST. MARY ABBOTS GUILD.

Members of St. Mary Abbots' Guild, Kensington, had a most enjoyable outing on Saturday, August 18th. A party of 22 left the church at 2 p.m. for Hughenden and West Wycombe, Bucks, by motor coach. The weather was delightful, and the country looking lovely. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, and Double Norwich were rung at both places. The view from West Wycombe Church, built on top of a hill, must be seen to be believed, and the unusual design and history of the church make it most interesting. A happy but tired party arrived home about 11 p.m., and they wish to thank the Vicars of both churches for the use of the bells, also to Messrs. Biggs, Borham and Hoing for their help, which made the outing such a success. The Guild were glad to have with them their friend and treasurer, Mr. Reginald Carter, also Mr. J. Hawkins (Master of the College Youths), and Mr. R. A. Daniell.

“BELLS THROUGH THE AGES.”

A NEW AND COMPREHENSIVE VOLUME.

A new and valuable addition to bell literature has been published by Messrs. Chapman and Hall. ‘Bells through the ages’ is a comprehensive survey of every phase of campanology, using the term in its widest sense, which includes the study of bells and their history, the founders’ craft and the ringers’ art. The author is Mr. J. R. Nichols, of Stamford, who is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and other ringing associations, and he and the publisher have alike done their work well. The aim throughout the book has been to produce an authoritative work, which will become a standard of reference, and, judged by the pains which have obviously been bestowed upon its preparation, it deserves to occupy a foremost place in this respect. Mr. Nichols has searched deeply among the authorities upon the early history and development of bells, and has drawn together all the salient facts; he has had the assistance of the leading bellfounders and technical experts in dealing with that side of the question which relates to bell founding and bell hanging, so that readers are able to compare with accuracy the old and the new methods. There are interesting chapters on English bellfounders and their work; an explanation of the elements of change ringing is given; and there is a representative selection of those old belfry rules, in doggerel verse, which have been handed down for centuries in a number of belfries. Carillons, chimes and mechanical appliances for ringing bells are described, and the sacred and secular uses of church bells are extensively dealt with; while the loss of church bells, and lore and legends make up other readable as well as informative chapters.

The book is intended, of course, primarily for the general public, but ringers who like to study the historical, archaeological and technical side of bells will find this volume both educative and of immense interest. The chapter on bell founding, hanging and tuning is particularly instructive, and that on the English bellfounders brings the history of the craft in this country into a compact review of the men who have given us our church bells. There is also a full and very useful index.

The author deplures the attitude of the general public towards ringing, which, he says, in the main is apathetic. ‘If the bells are ringing—well, they are! If not, no one bothers very much, apparently—otherwise there would not be the number of “rings” hanging unused that there are to-day. This is to be deplored, since (apart from the fact that change ringing, dating back, as it does, some 300 years, is somewhat in the nature of an English institution, and is therefore worthy of encouragement) in such cases the bells and frames, costly items in the first instance, are often allowed to fall into disrepair or decay. . . . Apart from apathy, there is among the public a general ignorance of bell matters; the misleading statements which appear in the press from time to time confirm this. This is not to be wondered at, for often even church officials—other than the ringers—know very little about the belfry, and perhaps have not seen the bells. . . . Obviously, it is to the younger generation that we must look for our ringers of the future, and anything that can be done to stimulate their interest in the campanological art will be well worth while.’ All of which sentiments the Exercise will fully endorse.

Mr. Nichols makes a plea for the preservation of ancient bells, and remarks that where the old bell or bells cannot be utilised in the new peal it should not be a difficult matter to cover the increased expenditure, providing those in authority realise the value of their possession and duly impress the facts on the parishioners generally.

In his chapter on the church uses of bells, Mr. Nichols gives us the following on the authority of Smith’s ‘Law of Churchwardens and Sidesmen.’ ‘In the first place, it must be borne in mind that the incumbent has full control over the ringing of the bells. Not even the churchwardens have the legal right to break into the belfry and ring the bells without the consent of the incumbent. Anyone going against the incumbent in this matter would be guilty of an ecclesiastical offence, but, strangely enough, a person may remove the bells from the steeple without fear of being sued in an ecclesiastical court; he would, however, be liable to be proceeded against for trespass under common law.’ And, we should have thought, for larceny also.

There is so much of interest in ‘Bells through the ages’ that it is difficult to know which to commend most, for both in thoroughness and variety it has never, we think, been excelled. Mention must, however, be made of the illustrations. There are over a hundred and twenty of them, mostly on art paper, the frontispiece being the great 18½ ton bell recently cast at Croydon. The pictures have been admirably selected, are all beautifully reproduced, and add greatly to the value of the book. Among ringers there will be great gratification that John Carter and his ringing machine find both illustration and description in this excellent volume, and there are reproductions of diagrams made by the ‘Campanomutophone.’ Our only regret is that the circulation of the book among the general body of ringers may be limited by its price. It is published at 21s. It is well worth it, but the pocket of the average ringer, we are afraid, can hardly meet it.

‘EXTENSION.’

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The word means that something has been extended; it does not mean cutting off the upper portion of anything and grafting something foreign in between the upper and lower portions; but this was what ‘Shipway’ did to produce his Royal method.

Copernicus elaborated a theory; Galileo proved that Copernicus was right.

George Baker discovered Round Blocks and Transpositions; ‘Minor-mania’ and others have proved that these are incontrovertible facts. Time will prove who is the obscurantist, and whether Rev. H. L. James is right in his assertions, which he makes no attempt to prove, or yours truly,

‘OWEN KAY.’

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

MEETING AT BANSTEAD.

The meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Banstead on Saturday proved a great attraction. The bells are a fine ring of eight, with tenor of 21 cwt., cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and they ‘go’ like the proverbial tops. Light and commodious, the ringing chamber on the ground floor is open to the church, and ringing is carried on under the best conditions. During the afternoon and evening touches in methods ranging from Grand-sire to London and Bristol Surprise were rung.

The Guild’s service was conducted, in the absence of the Vicar (Rev. A. Hopkinson) by his curate, the Rev. R. H. Babington, who gave a short address, in which he dwelt upon the essentials for retaining one’s youth throughout life—activity in body, mind, heart and soul.

A company of fifty sat down to tea, an overflow ‘sitting’ in the garden of the tea house being necessary to accommodate those who had not notified their intention of being present. Among the party were the Rev. R. H. Babington, Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master of the Guild), Lt.-Col. T. F. Parkinson, Mr. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. F. Wilford (Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. Wilford, Mr. C. H. Kippen (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association), Mr. S. H. Green (Kent Association), Messrs. A. W. Coles, J. E. Davis and E. F. Pike (Middlesex Association), and others, while Mr. W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary of the College Youths) also looked in.

An al fresco business meeting was held, with the Rev. R. H. Babington in the chair. Lt.-Col. Parkinson was elected a ringing member, attached to Banstead band, on the motion of the district secretary (Mr. F. G. Woodiss).

A vacancy having occurred in the representation of the district through the removal of the Rev. C. F. Carver, Mr. A. H. Winch was elected to the executive committee until the next annual meeting.

Mr. R. Whittington, one of the Central Council representatives, gave a short report of the meeting at Hereford, and the hon. general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) invited an expression of opinion on the question of adopting a Guild badge. On a vote being taken, there was a small majority in favour.

The General Secretary welcomed the visitors to the Guild’s meeting, and proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Rev. R. H. Babington for conducting the service, for his address and for presiding at the meeting; to Mr. Rogers for his services as organist; to the organ blower; and to the steeplekeeper (Mr. George) for having the bells in readiness.—The Master seconded the motion, which was carried with acclamation and acknowledged by the chairman.

Further ringing completed an enjoyable gathering.

HARWICH RINGERS VISIT SUFFOLK.

In glorious weather St. Nicholas’ Guild, Harwich, had their annual outing on Saturday, August 18th. The party, with their friends, numbering 19 in all, visited Eye, Debenham, and Hasketon, Suffolk. On arriving at Eye at 12 noon, the 95 steps to the belfry were climbed, and the bells set going to Kent Treble Bob Major and Grand-sire Triples. After inspecting the interior of the church, with its fine carvings, etc., dinner was enjoyed at Mrs. Tricker’s, Church Street. The handbells were then brought out, and courses of Grand-sire Triples and Caters were tapped off. A few tunes were also rung and greatly appreciated. On resuming the journey, tracks were made for Debenham, which was reached at 3.15. The visitors were met at the church by Mr. Rumsey, who had the bells in readiness for touches of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major and Grand-sire Triples on this fine peal of eight. Going on to Hasketon, the home of the captain (Mr. G. Thompson), tea was waiting the party. It had been prepared on the lawn under a cluster of apple trees by Mrs. Thompson and her daughters, and was enjoyed by all. A few speeches of thanks to those who had assisted in various ways were made. The handbells were then brought out and set going to Grand-sire and Kent Treble Bob Major, also the tune programme was repeated. Afterwards the tower was visited for a few touches of Treble Bob Minor on this nice ring of six. The homeward journey was made via Ipswich and Bergholt, Harwich being reached at 11.30 p.m. The ringers wish, through ‘The Ringing World,’ to thank the incumbents of the towers visited for the use of the bells, also Mr. H. Day and Mr. Rumsey, of Eye and Debenham, for having the bells in readiness, and everyone who helped to make this outing a record success.

FROM TRURO TO EXETER.

A KENTISH INVASION OF DEVON AND CORNWALL.

Wednesday morning opened with a visit to the chemist's for lotion, etc., for tender hands and feet. Then, after an early lunch, out to Bovey Tracey on the edge of Dartmoor. Here a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was polished off. This method was chosen for the benefit of a gentleman who wished to show what he could do in the conducting line, but, having an exaggerated notion of safety first, he farked it at the last moment, so the 'old firm' had to step into the breach. Yet how near it was to a catastrophe we were startlingly made aware when the treble rope broke at the very first stroke when being pulled down immediately after the peal. The luck was certainly still in, as whilst the peal was in progress (the ringing was from the ground floor and the door was left open to appease the 'fresh-air fiend') a lady insisted on standing in the doorway in spite of the efforts of Bob, who was left on guard, to persuade her to desist. A wasp also took it into its head to investigate the proceedings. These little troubles, however, did not have any effect on the appetite at the subsequent high tea. Probably the invigorating Dartmoor air had something to say in the matter. At any rate, enquiries are going around as to who it was who swallowed the plum stones with his tart (two helpings) and washed them down with the remains in the slop basin, there being nothing else left. Aubrey Bennett, of Buckfast, another local enthusiast, who put the treble through its paces in excellent form, parted with us at Newton Abbot on the homeward journey, whither the Shepherd had already preceded us on his faithful steed, which accompanied him everywhere.

Thursday was a day of varied experiences, not soon to be forgotten. Berry Pomeroy was on the original programme, but as this was cancelled at the last moment E.W.M. had the happy thought of communicating with Mrs. Gover, who with right goodwill promptly obtained the use of the bells of St. Mary's, Torquay. It was therefore decided to train to Totnes and try for a pull on another grand peal, which we were successful in doing. As we were only seven (Bob acquiring a severe attack of home sickness overnight and taking his departure in the morning, being the only one with a 100 per cent. score), it became imperative to find a local man, if only to drum the tenor. As luck would have it, Charlie Player, who as usual was scouring the town for a picture postcard of the church, had the brain wave to ask the first chap he came across if he were a bellringer, and 'the boy guessed right the very first time,' so he brought his prize along in triumph. He turned out to be the stoniest of 'stone' ringers, and could only ring the 6th, so it had perforce to be a touch only of Stedman Doubles with 7.6.8 covering. Alas, pride had its fall that day if never before. Instead of the open-mouthed admiration which was expected our stoney friend remarked, 'You should hear us do our 78's and 80's, and see old Tom ring the big bell and call it all at the same time.' We all felt duly humbled, although it would be difficult to diagnose E.W.M.'s emotions from the contortions on his face. To add to our discomfiture, when we were slinking away by a back street to the Paignton omnibus a navvy popped his head up from a drain and cheerfully called out, 'Not so bad, but if you want to hear something good you ought to hear our men rise and fall in peal.' Change ringing in Totnes is certainly not making much headway.

On to Torquay by bus and tram, and a start for Stedman Triples soon after two o'clock. The band was completed by Mr. F. Hayes, of High Wycombe, who was on holiday in the town. After an hour and twenty minutes of varied striking, interspersed with two or three trips, a mix-up occurred in the slow work, which defied even our super-conductor's efforts to unravel, and as there was a service at six another start could not be made. Strange to say, no one seemed particularly upset about it, as they had evidently come out for a day at the seaside, and were fully compensated by a visit to Babbacombe and the subsequent Devonshire cream for tea. In fact, Mrs. Gover took the failure to heart most, and it was really a piece of ingratitude to her after the trouble she had taken in making all arrangements. A call was made at Paignton Parish Church, it being the weekly practice night, for touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and Grandsire, and then back to Plymouth. Bob missed the day of his life.

Friday morning and afternoon were devoted to a visit to yet another beauty spot, namely, the valley and estuary of the river Yealm, the bus ride itself being worth the journey. The first call was at Revelstoke through Yealton to the new church built by a former member of the well-known financial family of Baring. Here again a local 'stone' man was pressed into service, and this time he was induced to try his hand at the tenor to Stedman Triples, and he made quite a fair job of it on the whole. Another 'first' scored, and no doubt he will boast of his feat to his pals for many a day. By ferry to Newton Ferrers on the opposite side of the estuary for Cambridge Minor and Grandsire Doubles, with the Rector on the treble, and subsequently a recruit to the Devon Guild (with the accompanying honorary member's subscription). E.W.M. herabouts was feeling very pleased with himself and things in general, which he needed as a salvo for the following and last day, about which more anon. In the evening a peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Plympton St. Morice in exactly three hours, where two more 'firsts'

CLITHEROE BELLS REDEDICATED.

A THANKSGIVING PEAL.

Clitheroe Parish Church bells, which have been silent since last December, were again heard and welcomed after their rededication on Tuesday, August 21st. The former peal of eight, erected in 1844, was pronounced by experts to be unsafe in December, 1927, and a meeting of the congregation of the church was called to discuss the raising of over £600 to meet the cost of recasting and rehanging the bells on modern lines.

During that discussion a letter was handed to the Vicar from Mr. Samuel Green, an honoured member of the church and school, who was recovering from a severe illness, offering to defray the entire cost of the scheme as a thanksgiving for his restoration to health. Mr. Green made two stipulations: (1) That the work be carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the noted bellfounders of Croydon, and (2) that it should be completed before August 21st, his 83rd birthday.

These provisos were unanimously accepted. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have carried out their work with every satisfaction, producing a fine musical ring of bells, rehung in steel frames, with all modern improvements, and they were first rung in commemoration of Mr. Green's natal day.

The church was crowded at the special dedication service, at which the donor called upon Canon Wrigley (Vicar) and the wardens to accept the bells, and asked the former to dedicate them. This having been done, Mr. Green tolled a bell as a signal for them to be rung.

Subsequently, Canon Elsee (Bolton), president of the Lancashire Association, gave an admirable address on the history and use of bells in the church and social life.

At the close of the service, touches of Stedman, Grandsire, and other methods were rung until a late hour. The many ringers present expressed high approval of the bells to the firm's representatives, Messrs. Roper and Dyer. The tenor is 18 cwt. 13 lb., and bears a special inscription relative to the gift.

The inscriptions on the old eight bells have been reproduced with the addition on each: 'Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1928.' On the tenor is cast: 'The gift of Miss Aspinall and Miss Jane Aspinall Standen. G. and C. Mears, Founders, London, 1844. To the glory of God and as a thankoffering for his restoration to health, this peal of eight bells was recast and rehung by Samuel Green, Esq., of Clitheroe, August 21st, 1928. Percy Mark Herbert, D.D., First Bishop of Blackburn. Canon Wrigley, M.A., Vicar. Alice Hyde Wrigley. Fred Duxbury Kay, Francis Vevers, Wardens.'

A FRIENDLY MEETING.

At All Saints' Church, Epping Upland, Essex, on Saturday evening, August 18th, three ringers from Harlow Common, one from Roydon, and three from Epping met four members of the local band and rang a 720 of Bob Minor: F. Swarder 1, L. Cordell 2, S. Clark 3, W. Wedlock 4, B. Burton 5, W. Wheeler (conductor) 6. This was followed by 240 Grandsire Doubles (Pitman's arrangement).

were scored, and this was probably the best struck peal of the tour, the part ends coming up every nine minutes exactly to the second. Here all arrangements were made by Mr. W. A. Wonnacott, a young man as keen as mustard, and who stood out at the last moment to let his father ring his first peal, although he could not refrain from keeping within earshot of the bells and ticking off every part end.

Over Saturday it were better to draw a veil. In fact, the weather did so over the countryside in the shape of fog and drizzle. St. Austell was the venue, and all seemed to be going well when, punctually at 2 p.m., son-in-law F.I.H. turned up from Falmouth and A. T. Westcott arrived on his motor-cycle, and after pulling up the tenor with two other bells at the same time in order that it should not be mistaken for the fire bell, a start was made for Double Norwich. After less than five minutes' ringing (before the end of the first course was reached, in fact), persistent hammering on the outside door compelled a stop, and it was urgently requested that no further ringing should taken place on account of serious illness just outside the church. Consternation! But on investigation it was, unfortunately, found to be only too true, so there was nothing for it but to pack up and depart. F.B. here said good-bye, as he was going on to Falmouth for the remainder of his holiday, two remained to see some Cornish wrestling, an experience new to both of them, and the rest caught the first train back to Plymouth, E.W.M. having the mortification of being held up outside North Road Station to allow the train his wife was on to take its departure for Exmouth. H.D.H. was 'Shepherded' as far as Taunton on Sunday morning on the homeward journey, and the Kent contingent took their departure later in the day. Although they were not impressed at first, they admitted with pleasure in the end that Devon and Cornwall had the Kent scenery beaten to a frazzle. And so ended a very enjoyable week—no records broken, nor even any very 'posh' peal ringing, but, as the object of the tour was partly in the nature of propaganda, it is to be hoped the local stalwarts of the Devon Guild will have received an incentive in their endeavour to make headway against the insidious efforts from other quarters to discourage the art of change ringing in every way.

KENT SURPRISE.

BY ARTHUR CRAVEN.

In introducing this new method to the Exercise, I should like to explain that it is the result of an attempt of mine to produce a method containing the same musical positions as Superlative and at the same time to possess a plain coursing order, where every bell comes through to lead in the treble lead. The work behind is solely double dodging, with a five-pull dodge only occurring when a bob is called.

The extensions to Royal and Maximus contain the same features as the Major, inasmuch as the 5-6 places in Major become 7-8 places in Royal and 9-10 places in Maximus, which produces the full possible variations of the hindmost three bells, viz., in Major, 678, 687, 768, 786, 876, 867.

The work in front is all single dodging in proper coursing order. There is no 2nd's place made when treble leads, or 7th's when she lies her blows behind, and when it is considered that all peals of Treble Bob with the tenors together will answer for this method, it has strong claims upon the patronage of Surprise ringers.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

The first of a series of united practices in the Northern Division took place on Thursday, August 23rd, at Felsted. Twenty members were present from Great Bardfield, Braintree, Felsted, Rayne and Stebbing. The methods rung were Bob Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major.

SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION AT SOUTH WEALD.

The meeting of the South-Western Division at South Weald on Saturday, August 25th, was not quite so well attended as usual, no doubt owing to no less than five affiliated bands having decided to hold their annual outing on this particular day. Nevertheless, over 30 members and friends attended from Brentwood, Shenfield, Leigh-on-Sea, Romford, Bentley, Woodford, Leytonstone, Barking and South Weald. The bells were raised at 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods till tea time, several young members enjoying their first touches in new methods. After tea the usual business meeting was held, at which one new member was elected, and Leyton decided upon as the venue for the next meeting, the district annual, on November 10th or 17th.—The meeting concluded with the usual votes of thanks.

Steps were again made to the tower by some, whilst others took a stroll to view the beautiful scenery, of which there is ample in this out-of-the-way Essex spot. During the evening a party, accompanied by a well-known member of the Leytonstone band, set out for a walk across Weald Park to the neighbouring village of Bentley, with the intention of having a pull on the five bells at the pretty church in this village, but the aforesaid member, not being able to go the pace, Bentley was not reached till 9 p.m., too late for ringing. Tracks were therefore made across Navestock Green to a well-known hostel, but owing to the last bus for Romford leaving at 9.30 p.m., no time could be wasted, and soon all were aboard bound for home, the individual mentioned being last seen ploughing his lonely way inside a 'General,' en route for Stratford, doubtless with happy visions of a visit to Bentley in the near future.

During the afternoon touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Double Court, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Ipswich, London and Spliced Surprise Minor were rung.

SUPERLATIVE MAXIMUS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will the Rev. Law James answer my question: If Shipway had extended Superlative Maximus in the way it is now rung, would he have been right or wrong; or, otherwise, would he have been 100 years too soon? He cannot answer it, and he knows it. Might I remind the reverend gentleman that one ounce of experience is worth a ton of theory. What about the extension of Stedman? His theory again. He has said, so rumour goes, that two six-bell bands who could ring Cambridge Minor could ring Cambridge Maximus. His theory, but not that of

‘B SHARP.’

THEORY GOVERNED BY FACTS.

Dear Sir,—Has not the Rev. H. Law James given away his own case on the subject of the extension of Superlative Surprise? He says, in your last issue, that scientific theory ‘is only a system of classifying all the facts known at the time, and as soon as a new fact comes to light which does not agree with the theory, it is the theory which has to be discarded.’ Shipway had a theory that he had discovered the correct extension of Superlative Major to Royal. A hundred years afterwards a new fact came to light—Superlative Surprise Maximus. Therefore Shipway’s theory, which Mr. Law James is so anxious to establish, must, according to Mr. Law James, be discarded.—Yours, etc.,

A PLAIN RINGER.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

TWO SIDES OF A QUESTION.

The rapid growth of rings of twelve bells is welcome evidence of the general tendency to improve the church bells in this country. Restorations, recastings and augmentations are going on apace, and, as we recently mentioned, bell founders have never had a busier time, even without the additional work which is coming their way for carillons. Half a dozen peals of twelve are now in the hands of our founders, typical of the general desire that efficiency and beauty shall be manifested in the bells as well as in other portions of our church services. The progress made in the last quarter of a century in the manufacture of bells has led to such vast improvement in the tones which can be obtained that bells, which were looked upon at the beginning of this century as the best product of the founders' art, are now finding their way to the melting pot, because they cannot stand the test of comparison with the castings which to-day the leading founders are turning out, not, as was the case with the finer bells of the old days, just by occasional good fortune, but as a regular and unfailing product of their business.

The one thing that grieves the enthusiastic ringer is the number of places where full use is not made of the complete ring of bells. It is, of course, the old story of lack of interest on the part of local authorities and ringers and the absence of recruits. But it is none the less regrettable to find towers, where there are rings of six, eight or ten, perhaps in quite good going order, left without a full band of ringers, and, maybe, only two or three bells chimed for a few minutes before service. This state of things prevails in quite a considerable proportion of parishes, and it is the greatest source of disquiet and regret that one sees in the bell world to-day. One unfortunate consequence of the indifference is the tendency not only to neglect the ringing, but also to neglect the bells, which are valuable instruments that with proper care can, with small expenditure, be maintained in an efficient state for many years. Unquestionably where bells are not regularly rung the apathy in the ringing chamber leads to neglect among the bells.

Despite, however, the unsatisfactory conditions which can be found in many quarters, there are other signs which show that church authorities, when the matter is brought to their attention, are ready to put their bells in order. The twelve-bell restorations referred to are cases in point. We have always urged that the authorities have a responsibility with regard to their bells and bell-fries; we would emphasise that ringers individually and associations collectively have also a duty and a responsibility.

DUDLEY & DISTRICT GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT CLENT.

A quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at St. Leonard's Church, Clent, Worcestershire, on Saturday, August 25th. The weather was all that could be desired, and a good number of members and friends availed themselves of the opportunity of being present and visiting this noted country village and its noble old church. The bells were at the disposal of the members from three o'clock, and they were kept merrily going in various methods until the service, the beautiful form used by the Guild at its meetings being conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. C. Thomas), who also gave a very inspiring address, at the beginning of which he gave the members a hearty welcome to Clent.

After service an adjournment was made to the Vicarage grounds, where the meeting was held on the lawn, presided over by the genial Vicar. The Secretary (Mr. H. Sheppard) announced apologies from Mr. H. Mason, Mr. Abraham Greenfield, of Netherton, and others.

After business of a routine character had been disposed of, several new members were added to the roll.

It was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Brierley Hill, subject to the usual permission being obtained. It is proposed to attempt the quarterly peal at Clent, the date, time and other arrangements being left in the hands of the Ringing Master (Mr. John Goodman, jun., of Dudley).

At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for his ready permission to hold the meeting at his church, for conducting the service, and his inspiring address, for the use of the tower and bells and the beautiful Vicarage grounds in which to hold the meeting; also for presiding over the meeting.

Thanks were given to the lady organist for the musical part of the service, which made it much brighter and happier; to Mr. W. Short and Mr. W. Shilcock, of Clent, for their great kindness and interest in making the necessary arrangements and making the visitors feel at home.

The Vicar, in replying to the vote of thanks, said it was a great pleasure to him to welcome the Guild, and he hoped that at some future time they would come there again.

'THE LIGHT OF TRUTH'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Three hundred and eighty years ago Henry VIII. was a ringer. He studied 'Round Blocks' and he practised 'round block transposition.' Yes, he was smart at it, and he kept up a true progression to make what is commonly called 'a 6th's place bloomer.' He did, indeed, when he asked Kate Parr to be his 'widdier'! Eh! wot?

No, I am no relation whatever to G.B., only in a kind of musical notation, in the key of 'C.' I am A.B. (Suppose some of you will think that signifies 'arts bachelor.' If you do, disabuse your minds, please, for I am only 'A.B.' pure and simple, who lives an octave higher up the map than G.B., who I have never yet had the pleasure of meeting. That's clear, I hope? No, I am not 'sticking up' for my 'big brother.' I tell you what, if one is not 100 years too late, I'm just going to back up our old friend—you know, U-Klid and 'O-O-Omar's' daddy.

Fairy tales always start, 'Once upon a time.' One was a long-headed fellow, with a head as 'thick as it was long.' I could not see what 'G.B.' was 'driving at,' and without a blush I write saying I was 'licked'! But I had a great consolation, for I was not alone. Other people with a kind of polished-up mental equipment were 'licked,' but I thought to myself there's something more in this than meets the eye, so I had a look in between the rows. No, I could find nowt there, so I made 'a row 1-2-3-4-5'—and then I couldn't see it, so I thought about chucking it, and saying, 'George Baker is wrong; I'm right, I can't see it,' but I never liked to give in 'whacked,' so I turned the 'blinking figures' round, i.e., 5-4-3-2-1, and, do you know, that did the trick, and I had the full gist, in a jiffy!

Reader, let me implore you to try it. You will arrive at the 'truth,' and nothing but the truth, about extension. Let me urge you to follow 'Minormania.' His articles have been read to me. I have not the remotest idea who the writer is. Perhaps it's 'O.A.B.' or 'B.E.O.' for anything I know, but read, mark and learn what he has written. I'll tell you what he is after: he is testing the 'truth' before your very eyes. Follow him, and do as I did—make a 'Baker round block study,' that is to say, don't sit in a study chewing the end of a pen, gazing into space for extension. You won't find it, not unless you knock a partition wall down. No, get out into the woods, select a tree, sit down under its extending branches, and study it. Don't go running all over the wood; sit and study what 'Minormania' is trying to inculcate. I am sure you'll benefit.

You might ask, What is he after? I'll tell you. He's just purifying the silver; he is 'trying it seven times in the fire.' Mark my words; I'm predicting that, and my words will come as true as the words of Columbus have done. 'Aye,' he shouted, 'ship ahoy! I see dry land!' 'Bo! peep' at America for verification.

Yes, before I studied G. Baker's 'Round Block Progression' I studied 'Symbolic art.' Eh! Have any of you seen Holman Hunt's masterpiece? What! You haven't seen 'The Light of the World'? Let us show you a bit of the 'light and shade,' then; let us show you the composition, colour and detail; let us show you how Hunt charged that canvas with symbolic purpose. The centrepiece, I need not enlarge upon, for it is the fundamental, the Light. The soft rays of golden light flood that doorway, lighting up the overgrowth of vegetation and bramble; the soft beams 'extend' down, across and up, up to the cobweb, which it seems to linger upon with warm caress, as it stretches its silken threads from post to lintel above the 'knocking hand,' the inclined head, and the listening ear. Reader, with a masterstroke Hunt put no latch on that door! The latch is inside that darkened room, where chaos reigns supreme.

In another respect, what 'Minormania' is after is, he wants you to lift the latch. He's got hold of the lamp with beams which will extend to lighten up the fathermost corners of that room. Will you lift the latch? Don't get fumbling about for it; find it, fling open the door. George Baker has knocked long and hard with his 'round block'; 'Owen Kay' has knocked hard and long; 'A Plain Ringer' has knocked for about a century (nearly almost), and he has received no answer; he is still knocking, and so is 'B Sharp.' Be sharp, then; fling the door open and let 'light' which will 'extend' to infinity in a true and smooth progression enter! 'Minormania' shows you that George Baker's 'Round Block Progression' is the 'standard measure for extension,' just as the craftsman's two-foot standard English rule is. Surely you understand how many one-eighths make an inch. Don't let me, a blind man, have to show those who can see that they can measure a 'round block of one inch' from the 2-3-8 inch mark on a standard rule, just as 'truly' and as easily as if they measured from one to two, or three to four, or five to six, or seven to eight, or nine to ten, or ten to eleven, or eleven to twelve, and (sotto voce), George Baker's 'Round Block Progression' is established! It is on a rock, and not even the powers of—beg pardon—that be, can move it. Study it, that's all!

Sorry, Garge. Owing to pressure, 'Ecclesfield' is held over for extension. In the meantime study 'Round Blocks,' and the Lombardic on your seventh bell at the 'Minster of the moors' alone. It has 'legged three parsons down,' but not

THE COLLECTION OF MINOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We shall be glad if you will publish the enclosed final list of the names of the methods in the forthcoming collection. We have given the alternative names which have been applied to these methods, and which we propose to print in an appendix. If any of your readers know of any omissions in this list, will they kindly send at once to J. A. Trollope, 52, Lammas Park Road, Ealing, W.5, as soon as possible?

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The Doncaster and District Society met at Sprothorough on Saturday, August 25th, and a pleasant afternoon was spent by the 24 members who attended in spite of the indifferent weather. The peal of six bells were in use from 3 o'clock onwards, and various methods were indulged in.

The members were kindly entertained to tea by the Rector and Mrs. Hobbs. After tea the usual business meeting took place, Conisborough being selected for the next meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector and his wife and to the local ringers, to which the Rector suitably replied.

On returning to the towers, touches were brought round in the following methods: Cambridge, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles.

GOLDEN WEDDING.A FAMILY OF BELLRINGERS.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heather, of Worplesdon, Surrey, where Mr. Heather was for a long time one of the ringers, celebrated their golden wedding a fortnight ago. They have lived all their lives in the parish, and come of that sturdy stock which live by their labours on the land.

Mr. Heather's father was parish clerk for forty-eight years, and his brother has held the office for twenty-six years. Mr. Heather, his father, and four brothers have all been ringers at Worplesdon Church, and before them his grandfather was a bellringer for fifty years. The family tradition is still being carried on by Mr. Claude Heather.

For thirty years Mr. Heather ran his own farm, until he retired several years ago, but his life has been marred by a series of accidents, the most serious of which cost him the loss of a leg. He ran his farm under this handicap, and even to-day, at the age of 75, works a quarter of an acre garden.

Although he lives within thirty miles of the Metropolis, Mr. Mr. Heather has been only once to London, and he has paid only one visit to the seaside. He loves his garden and the expansive commons, rich with gorse and heather, all around him.

HOLIDAY RINGING IN ESSEX.

At Thorington, on Sunday, August 12th, for evensong, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: G. Lancaster 1, J. Bowell 2, G. L. Joyce (conductor) 3, E. Durrant 4, G. Andrews 5, W. J. Nevard 6. After the service, touches of Double Oxford, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and a course of London Surprise.

At Kirby-le-Soken, on Thursday, August 16th, for practice, 720 Bob Minor: H. A. Wright 1, M. Ling 2, H. Jones (first in method) 3, E. B. Smith 4, E. Durrant 5, E. Davey (conductor) 6; and 720 Oxford Treble Bob: H. Wildney 1, M. Ling 2, E. Davey 3, E. B. Smith 4, E. Durrant 5, H. A. Wright (conductor) 6. First in method by ringers of 1st and 2nd.

At Tendring, on Sunday, August 19th, for evensong, 720 Oxford Treble Bob: G. L. Joyce (conductor) 1, W. J. Nevard 2, J. Souter 3, C. Honeywood 4, W. Stiff 5, H. A. Wright 6. Also 720 Plain Bob, conducted by W. Stiff, and after service 360 Plain Bob, with H. Laitt in place of W. Stiff, conducted by W. J. Nevard.

E. B. Smith hails from Clare (Suffolk), and G. L. Joyce from Leytonstone; their thanks are due to Mr. W. J. Nevard for arranging the ringing, and to those gentlemen from Clacton, Mistley and elsewhere locally, who helped to make it possible.

LEEDS AND BARNSELY ASSOCIATIONS FRATERNISE.

On Saturday, August 25th, the Leeds and Barnsley District Associations met at Ossett and Horbury. The two peals of eight were available during the afternoon and evening, and about 20 ringers sat down to tea at the Ossett Co-operative Stores.

Mr. Lofthouse, the Leeds secretary, gave a hearty welcome to the visitors, and said he hoped to see them all at some future meetings.

—Mr. O. D. Potter, Barnsley secretary, said that he was glad of the opportunity to meet the Leeds Society, and he said that although the joint meetings were at the present time only on trial, he hoped they would be made a permanent feature with both societies.

Ossett bells are badly in need of recasting, and it was decided that the two societies should support the local company if necessary, when their application was considered by the church authorities.

Mr. Lawson (vice-president, Leeds Society) apologised for the absence of the Leeds president, and said that he hoped this would not be the last meeting between the two societies.

Mr. Moxon, president of the Barnsley Association, expressed pleasure at being able to attend this joint meeting, and said he was sorry the date had clashed with the Barnsley holidays. Moreover, the continued depression in the coalfields made it impossible for many of their members to be present.

Ossett tower was visited first after tea, where another dozen ringers were waiting. After ringing here, a contingent went across to Horbury, where the bells were kept going to 9.30 p.m.

About 50 ringers attended the meeting during the day.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.MANCHESTER BRANCH AND A DISABLED MEMBER.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Worsley on Saturday, August 18th, when only eleven members put in an appearance. Ringing commenced about five o'clock, and at the business meeting the branch president was in the chair.

Swinton Parish Church was selected for the next meeting on Saturday, September 18th.

Mr. J. H. Ridyard brought forward the case of Mr. J. Lowe, one of the Pendleton band, who has had a serious illness which has incapacitated him from further work.

It was proposed that the secretary see Mr. W. H. Shuker, the general secretary, so that an appeal can be made through the whole of the association, as it was thought that some of the older members would like to contribute.

Votes of thanks to clergy and local ringers closed the meeting, and ringing was then continued.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The dedication of the bells of Great Bardfield and Great Easton Churches, which are both in the county of Essex, will take place on the same day, namely, Sunday, October 7th. Both dedications will be performed by the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford, and both peals have been restored and augmented by the same firm, viz., Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. This must be something of a record in the way of a 'double'.

Mr. J. Andrews, one of the Trowbridge ringers, we are informed, took first prize in the 'Beauty Competition' at the recent Studley Carnival.

The Trowbridge band are proud of the sportsmen among them. Mr. C. Andrews, son of Mr. J. Andrews, has won many prizes in walking races. Another member is a keen fisherman, and, according to our correspondent, the other day nearly caught a trout, which, from its appearance in the water, weighed quite seven pounds.

The joint meeting of the Liverpool and Wirral Branches of the Lancashire Association at Port Sunlight has been postponed, at the request of Lord Leverhulme, from September 15th to September 22nd.

On September 10th, 1741, a 'complete peal of five thousand and forty of Gathrine's Triples, being the first true peal that ever was pricked with two doubles only,' was rung by the Crowfield Society at Coddanham, Suffolk. It is believed that Garthorn's peal of Grand-size Triples is meant, Garthorn's peal being the one rung at Norwich in 1718.

The treble in the peal at Coddanham was rung by Theodore Ecclestone, who had given the eight bells to Coddanham. He resided at Crowfield, and it was he who also gave the ring of ten to Stonham Aspal.

Bertram Prewett, of whose death in the war we were reminded last week, called the first peal of Superlative Surprise in Wales at Llangollen on September 13th, 1907.

A peal of 5,040 Imperial Place Major ('the first ever performed in the method') was rung at St. Mary's, Islington, on September 13th, 1802, composed and conducted by William Shipway.

The meeting of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association to-morrow will be held at Thurlaston, instead of Desford.

The first 720 in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Cottenham on August 25th, and recorded last week, was Mr. Frank Warrington's one hundredth 720 this year. The last 720 in the peal was his 40th of Cambridge Surprise during 1928.

A report of a peal rung at Bodelwyddan, Flintshire, has been sent without the date.

A correspondent addresses the following: 'To whom it may concern.' On Saturday, September 1st, a visitor during the evening paid a visit to the tower of St. John's Church, Margate, raised the second bell, broke the stay, and, of course, turned the bell over. This was not discovered until Sunday morning, and consequently the bell could not be rung. If this should catch the eye of the gentleman who, by the way, does not live many miles from Margate, and he cares to write to the secretary, he will be pleased to send him the account for the repairs.

METHOD EXTENSION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—'B Sharp' asks if Shipway had extended Superlative to Maximus in the way it has been rung, would he have been right or wrong? and the answer is that he would have been quite right, and the other extension would have to be called a variation. But the history of the matter is the reverse of this. Shipway produced Superlative Royal, and my brother extended it in the same way to Maximus long before the other extension appeared, therefore the other extension is a variation, and should have some name attached to it to indicate that fact.

'A Plain Ringer' is mistaken in his idea that Shipway had a theory of extension. His book contains a variety of extensions which cannot be expressed as one theory. The new fact which has come to light is that there are two ways of extending the Major to Maximus, and there may be more. We have Double Norwich Major, Royal and Maximus. This Maximus has places in 3-4 and 9-10, but there is another Maximus nearer the Major, with places in 5-6 and 7-8, but we cannot call it Double Norwich unless we qualify it as some variation.

DEVON GUILD.

A meeting of the Exeter Branch was held on Saturday last at Colaton Raleigh. The service was conducted by Rev. J. Wallace (Vicar), and the church was almost filled by members and friends. The bells were rung before and after service, and some of the members also went to Otterton and East Budleigh.

At the meeting following the tea, at which 64 were present, it was suggested that special practices should be organised for the study of even-bell methods, and it is hoped to carry this into effect in a month's time under the guidance of the president (Rev. E. S. Powell) and Mrs. Powell and Rev. E. V. Cox (chairman of the branch).

The annual meeting of the branch is to be held at St. Thomas', Exeter, on December 1st.

CANON COLERIDGE.

We are pleased to be able to state that Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council, who has undergone two serious operations in Dunedin Nursing Home, Reading, has now turned the corner. He is progressing favourably, but recovery is likely to be long and tedious.

THE FIRST PEAL OF STEDMAN CATERS.

JOHN REEVES' COMPOSITION.

Unlike many of the peals rung in olden days, we have preserved to us the figures of the first peal of Stedman Caters, that rung at Horsleydown, London, by the College Youths in 1787. We explained a week or two ago how it came about that the composition was reported to have turned out to be false. In order that there may be no further doubt about the truth of the peal, here are the figures for all and sundry to worry at. The composition was by John Reeves, who conducted the peal, and to put the seal upon it it was again rung by the Ancient Society at Beddington on Saturday last.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Bratton, Wilts, on Saturday. Ringing commenced about 3.30 p.m., and at 4.40 p.m. the Guild service was held, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. S. Collett, M.A., Miss Hobbs being the organist. Tea followed in the Church Institute, after which a short business meeting took place. In the absence, on holiday, of the chairman of the branch, the Vicar was asked to preside.

The following were elected members of the Guild: Mr. W. H. Coles, Taunton, Mr. S. H. Green, Tunbridge Wells, Mr. A. S. Bennett, Buckfastleigh, Devon. The Vicar welcomed the branch again to Bratton, and referred to the good work they were doing for the church, and what a difference it made to the services when they began with the bells being rung.

On the proposition of Mr. S. Hillier, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and organist. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Mr. S. Hillier, Miss N. G. Williams, Mr. W. E. Cheater, and Mr. F. Green, and was much appreciated by those present. Ringers, including Miss N. G. Williams (Bath) and Mr. W. E. Cheater (Ringwood, Hants), and representatives from Bratton, Potterne, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Holt, Warminster, Melksham, Trowbridge and Rowde, were present. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening.

ORDSALL, NOTTS.—At All Hallows' Church recently, for morning service, 720 Single Court, in 23 mins.: D. Blagg 1, R. Bloomfield 2, D. A. Piercy 3, J. Dewey (first 720 in the method) 4, J. Hunt 5, R. Stockdale (conductor) 6. Arranged for the ringer of the 4th, who hails from Boston, Lincs, to enable him to ring in the tower of his native village.

ESSEX RINGERS IN HERTS AND BEDFORDSHIRE.

INTERESTING FEATURES OF SOME OF THE CHURCHES.

The Loughton and Woodford ringers had their annual outing on Saturday, August 25th. Invitations to join the party were extended to the Wanstead ringers and friends of the local bands. An early start was made from the Wilfred Lawson Hotel, Woodford, en route for Hitchin. The countryside, fresh from the showers of the previous day, and bathed in August sunshine, awakened the interest of all as the charabanc sped merrily along. Space will only allow mention to be made of the picturesque trees and meadows that caught the eye in the neighbourhood of Hatfield. The sight of St. Mary's Church, Hitchin, quickly aroused those feelings of delight that are only known to ringers. Mr. Scott, of the local band, welcomed the party, and led the way to a spacious belfry floor which opened out, stage-like, into the interior of the building. Short touches were rung of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and the musical qualities of the bells evoked the admiration of all. The stay was limited owing to a local wedding. The 'ring in' must have been a pleasant surprise for the betrothed pair. The building shows work of the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th centuries, the outstanding features being the well-buttressed tower, the lengthy chancel, the well-designed south porch, and the sundial, dated 1660, fixed on the south side.

Bedford was the second calling place, and the town was astir with the usual market activities. Several touches of Kent, Grandsire, and Plain Bob were rung on the bells of St. Peter's Church, an easy-going and tuneful peal of six. There were evidences that campanology had reached a high level in that belfry. The Norman tower, with pseudo-Norman battlements and baluster windows placed there about 100 years ago, is situated over the chancel. It is interesting to note that a Saxon doorway of Hiberno-Saxon stone was discovered in the east belfry wall when the old roof was removed in 1890. Rector's date back to 1219. A fine Norman doorway, removed from the Church of St. Peter de Dunstable, after its demolition in 1545, is a striking feature on the south side. Its beauty, however, is partly disclosed by a porch added many years afterwards. John Bunyan's statue stands a short distance away from the church, and both the inscriptions and scenes depicted on the sides are interesting to passers-by.

Dinner was served at the Silver Grill, and the party's thanks were given to Mr. Stapleton, of St. Peter's Church, for choosing such a congenial rendezvous.

Then followed a visit to St. Mary's, Luton, where Mr. King and members of the local band joined the visitors in ringing touches of Stedman, Grandsire, and Kent Treble Bob Major. All testified to the easy running and pleasant sounding of the bells, which pealed forth from a 95ft. tower built chiefly of Totternhoe and Ancaster stone. Attention was drawn to the Early English stone baptistry, the only one of its kind in England. It was placed there by Queen Philippa, of Hainault, wife of Edward III. The font and large tin pitcher date back to 1209. The double stone screen that separates the chancel from the adjacent chapel is considered the best of its kind in Northern Europe. An amusing epitaph is written on one of the chapel stone slabs. A certain celebrity lost his Parliamentary vote in 1756 by signing copyright deeds for freehold—a cunning wangle, and his resentment is shown as follows:—

Here lieth the body of Daniel Knight,
Who in all my lifetime lived in spite.
Base flatterers sought me to undo
And made me sign what was not true.
Reader, take care, where'er you venture,
To trust a canting false Dissenter.

Other features of this fine Parish Church are the south porch door, six hundred years old, the groined vestry, the pretty chantry, and the 14th century rood screen.

The final halt was made at Flamstead, an interesting village in Hertfordshire, about six miles from Luton. Tea was served at the Blackbirds, and the homely setting was appreciated. On the completion of a tasty meal a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. Chalk (Wanstead) to the organisers of the outing, Mr. C. Moss (Woodford), and Mr. J. Rann (Loughton), both of whom suitably replied.

The Church of St. Leonard was visited, and the Vicar, the Rev. F. C. Clare, expressed his great delight at seeing so many visitors. There were many evidences that the Vicar is a 'live wire' in his parish. A hard-going peal of six has been recently put into splendid ringing order, and retuned. Well may the local ringers, under Mr. Hayes, and the parishioners be proud of their bells! The Vicar added to the enjoyment of the visit by his very interesting description of the church. He pointed out the different styles of English architecture. There are two Early English arcades, a fine oak screen dating back to about 1400, spiral altar rails, and several interesting monuments, the most noteworthy being that of Sir Bartholomew Fowke, Master of the Royal Household in four reigns, viz., Edward VI., Mary, Elizabeth and James I. Traces of ancient mural painting have recently been discovered.

The ringing programme now finished, the homeward journey soon followed, but ere St. Albans was reached the sun had set, and sight-seeing ended, only to be followed by friendly chats recalling the day's experiences in the towers that twelve hours before had been unfamiliar, and eulogising the hospitality shown by those associated with the places visited.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

ISLE OF WIGHT DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Isle of Wight District was held at Freshwater on Saturday, August 25th, when the attendance for a six-bell tower was most gratifying. In addition to Island ringers, the company included Miss G. E. Hervey and Mr. S. E. Armstrong, of Brockenhurst, Mr. J. Parker (Edmonton), Mr. G. Dent (Essex), and Mr. George Pullinger, the genial general secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and many touches of Grandsire Doubles were rung solely for the benefit of the local ringers. Touches of Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor were also brought round, and good use was made of the bells until 4.30 p.m., when the Rector (the Rev. R. Pratt) conducted the Guild service and delivered a short but interesting address. He afterwards entertained the ringers at tea in the Parish Hall, and presided at the business meeting.

It was resolved to hold the next quarterly meeting at Ryde on Saturday, November 24th, and a by-practice meeting at Newport on Thursday evening earlier in October, the date being left open for the secretary to arrange.

The District Secretary (Mr. B. J. Snow) announced that the Rector had kindly consented to join the Guild, and he therefore had much pleasure in proposing the Rev. R. Pratt as an hon. member of the district, and he was unanimously elected.—The General Secretary proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, also for his helpful address and for the sumptuous tea he had so kindly provided.—In seconding the vote, Mr. W. Upton (Newport) also referred to the good services of Mr. J. H. G. Ives at the organ, also those of the ladies, Mesdames Oxford and Chambers and Miss Godwin, who had prepared and served tea to them.—All were accorded best thanks.

Mr. Upton, on behalf of the Island ringers, welcomed the visitors from the mainland, and Messrs. Pullinger and Parker replied. The latter reminded the local ringers, who appear keen in the art, that to become proficient ringers they must study away from the tower and not merely when actually ringing. Punctuality was also a very essential point, and should be observed by all ringers.

Further ringing then took place during the evening.

OLD SUSSEX RINGERS.

DEATH OF TWO VETERANS.

We regret to record the death of one of the oldest Sussex ringers, Mr. James Searle. He was among the first members of the Sussex County Association, and took part in several of their earliest performances, some of which he conducted.

Mr. Searle had taken no active part in ringing for a good many years, but he will be well remembered by the older generation of Sussex ringers, particularly in Brighton and district, where he lived.

Since his wife died four years ago, Mr. Searle had been living with his niece at Eastbourne, and on Friday morning last he was found dead in his bed. He was in his 77th year.

The funeral took place at Steyning on Tuesday.

We regret to record the passing of another old member of the Sussex County Association in the person of Mr. W. Denman, sen., of Shipley, who died on Monday, August 20th, after being an invalid for some time. The deceased, who was 67 years of age, had a 'stroke' from which he never recovered.

The funeral took place at Shipley, Sussex, on Thursday, August 23rd, the deceased being laid to rest almost under the tower where he had rung for so long. He was borne to his last resting place by six of the ringers from West Grinstead, and after the service 720 of Oxford Bob Single and 240 Cambridge were rung, with the bells fully muffled, the ringers taking part being T. Adams, G. Warnett, V. Goucher, R. Stredwick, V. Turrell, F. Turrell and H. Turrell.

A TOUR IN OXFORDSHIRE.

A very enjoyable outing was spent on August 25th by the Wicken and Stony Stratford ringers and friends. Arriving at Bicester rather later than was intended, touches of Grandsire, Bob Major, Cambridge and Stedman were rung. The next place to call was Woodstock, where Grandsire, Stedman, and Cambridge were brought round. After dinner, Kidlington proved attractive. The ambition here was to bring round a touch of Double Norwich, which was successfully done. The party then had to make their way to Chipping Norton, where Grandsire and Double Norwich was rung. Great Tew was next visited, where on a nice peal by Rudhall touches of Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung before proceeding to Banbury for tea. Adderbury was the last place to call, and here on the peal recently rehung Grandsire, Cambridge, Stedman and Bob Major were tried, the bells being brought down in peal in time to hear the chimes play 'Home, sweet home.'

BIRTHDAY RINGING.

On Friday, August 31st, as a compliment to Mr. E. Hadlow on his 69th birthday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung at the Parish Church, Gravesend, by members of St. George's band: Mrs. Edward H. Spice 1, E. J. Beer 2, A. Constant 3, Miss D. Tall 4, R. J. Tall 5, E. H. Spice 6, R. Constant (conductor) 7, E. Hadlow 8.

WEDDINGS AT NEWCASTLE.

The wedding took place at St. Nicholas' Cathedral, Newcastle, on Saturday, of Miss Phyllis Routledge, M.B.B.S. Dunelm, M.R.C.S. Eng., and J.R.C.P. London, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Routledge, of Jesmond Road, Newcastle, and Mr. Robt. N. Richardson, son of the late Mr. John Richardson and Mrs. Richardson, of Parkhead, Fenham. The bride's father is the popular president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, and Master of the Newcastle Cathedral Guild.

It was a fully choral service, the Vicar of Newcastle (Canon Newsom) officiating. Mr. W. Ellis, the Cathedral organist, presided at the organ.

Canon Newsom also officiated at the wedding of Mr. R. Thompson, jun., son of the senior verger of the Cathedral, and Miss Rachel Duffie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Duffie, of Gateshead.

The bridegroom is an ex-chorister of the Cathedral and a member of the Cathedral Guild of Change Ringers.

The members of the Guild rang both wedding parties out with 'firing' and a course or two of Brim Cinques, and in the evening a touch of 700 Stedman Caters was rung after meeting short for a peal of Cinques.

The bells themselves have been rehung in hall bearings and generally overhauled, and the 4th bell, which was found to be badly cracked, has been recast much to the improvement of the whole peal. The work has been most expeditiously carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the going of the bells was excellent. Even the new ropes had been stretched, and showed very little 'spring.'

MARRIAGE OF WELL-KNOWN LONDON RINGER.

An interesting event took place at the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Potterne, Wilts, on Saturday, August 25th, when Mr. C. S. Burden, of Bermondsey, was married. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Kewley, R.D.

As Mr. Burden, who is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and one of the ringers at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, is a life member of the Salisbury Guild, several members from Devizes joined the local ringers in ringing in honour of the event. The College Youths were represented by Mr. W. Bolwell and Mr. F. Green, the respected secretary of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Guild.

ESSEX RINGERS' EXCURSION.

A party of ringers from the Chelmsford district had a pleasant outing on Saturday last. Leaving Chelmsford at 8.15 a.m. by motor coach, they arrived at Feering half an hour afterwards, and rang touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and Grandsire on the church bells. They then journeyed to Coggeshall, where, unfortunately, the bells and their fittings were not in the best state of repair. Several attempts were made for touches until a rope broke, which put an end to the proceedings at this tower. From here they went to Earls Colne, where ringing for an hour filled up the period until lunch was served at the George Hotel. Apparently the ride and the ringing had had a good effect on appetites, as every one of the party 'did justice' to the spread. Afterwards Mr. F. Claydon and Mr. J. Fleuty joined the party, who continued the tour to the village of Halstead and Sudbury. There was ringing at both places. Mr. Scott, the verger of St. Peter's Church, met the party at the latter place, where also tea was partaken of. During tea Mr. Geo. D. Green, Master of the South-East District, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Lincoln for the splendid way in which he had organised the outing. After tea, a visit was paid to the Church of St. Gregory, where on the fine ring of eight Cambridge and Double Norwich were rung. After inspecting the church the company proceeded to All Saints'. Here they met Mr. D. Elliot, who joined them in ringing on the famous old peal, and a touch of Cambridge was brought round. The visitors started for home via Braintree, and eventually reaching Chelmsford at about 10.40 p.m., after spending a very enjoyable day.

PEACE PACT 'PEALS.'

On Monday, August 27th, at the Parish Church, Cirencester, Gloucester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,302 changes, taken from Holt's Original), was rung in celebration of the signing of the Peace Pact: F. W. Bond 1, F. J. Lewis (conductor) 2, H. S. Parsons 3, F. Edwards 4, H. C. Bond 5, H. Lewis 6, W. H. Hayward 7, J. Hayward 8.

On Monday evening, August 27th, at the Church of St. Lawrence, Bradwell, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: T. Bird 1, T. Walters 2, E. Whitlock 3, A. Coley (first quarter-peal as conductor) 4, C. Alderman 5, A. Lathal (first quarter-peal) 6. The band are all regular ringers at this church. Rung to commemorate the signing of the 'Peace Pact.'

At St. Peter's Church, Portishead, on Tuesday, August 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Miss E. Collier, Flixton (first quarter-peal) 1, Miss A. Stokes (conductor) 2, Mrs. N. Edwards 3, E. Goldstone 4, J. Nisbet 5, Collier, Flixton, 6, W. Gillingham 7, A. Colbourn 8. Rung to commemorate the signing of the Peace Pact.

CARDIFF RINGER'S DEATH.

It is with regret that we have to record the death of Mr. Sidney Dawe (ex-sergt.-major), of Cardiff, who passed away on Wednesday of last week. We mentioned last week that he was dangerously ill, but he had actually succumbed before the paragraph appeared in print. He was a victim of cancer, and for some time past his changed condition had been noticeable to his friends. Despite his illness he kept in good spirits and attended the last quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Guild at St. Mellon's on July 28th, but it was apparent then that the end was near.

Of Somerset birth, the deceased learned to handle a bell in that county early in life, but did nothing in ringing until his advent in Penarth many years later, where he studied change ringing. Removing to Cardiff some years ago, he kept up his association with his old colleagues until the last.

For several years he has been a member of the Llandaff Cathedral band, but put in almost a regular appearance at St. John's, Cardiff.

The funeral took place on Saturday, four of his old ringing friends acting as hearers. Ringers attended from Llandaff, Cardiff, Penarth, Whitchurch and Newport. Quite a number of his old comrades also attended, including several ex-sergt.-majors and sergeants. Drummer John Welsh sounded the 'Last Post' and the 'Reveille,' and a half-muffled peal of Caters was rung on St. John's (Cardiff) bells in the evening, as recorded elsewhere. The diocesan association has lost one of its staunchest and best supporters, for he never failed to attend the meetings wherever possible.

J. W. J.

PORTSMOUTH RINGERS IN SUSSEX AND SURREY.

Glorious weather favoured the St. Mary's, Portsmouth, ringers when with their friends, numbering 27 in all, they had a very enjoyable outing on Saturday last. It was a great pleasure to have among the company some of the Cathedral band, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bayley (Fareham), Mr. H. Jennings (Ryde), and Mr. Lawrence, sen., of Hatfield, who was spending a holiday at Southsea. On arrival at Chichester at 2.30 the company were welcomed by Messrs. Tiehurst, Tugwell and Tucker, of the Cathedral band, who kindly had things in readiness. The steps in the campanile were climbed and the bells set going to Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise Major, in which Mr. H. J. Tucker took part. After thanking all for their kindness, the journey was then resumed, and a delightful run through Singleton and Midhurst brought the company to Easebourne. Situated at the entrance to Cowdray Park, the priory church contains an excellent ring of six, and, judging by the provision made in the guide frame for the ropes, it seems as if it is intended at some future date to add two more trebles, which would indeed make a delightful ring of eight. Here the bells were raised in peal, and after touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor were brought round, they were lowered in peal.

The motor coach was again brought into use, and Petworth was then reached by an excellent run through Cowdray Park, which was literally covered with tents, etc., for the military manoeuvres. Here the company sat down to a very enjoyable tea at the Angel Hotel, after which they were very kindly welcomed at the Parish Church by the Rector (Rev. V. P. Powell). This proved to be the tit-bit of the day, for it was indeed an immense pleasure to ring on this melodious peal of eight by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Several compared them with similar rings at St. Michael's, Southampton, and Alton, but it was generally agreed that Petworth bells were the best, at least in their opinions. Here some excellent touches of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, and it was with great reluctance that these bells were lowered in peal.

The last tower on the programme to be visited was Chiddingfold, and here a light ring of eight were found, which it would be rather unfair to compare with the previous tower. However, the visitors were kindly met at the church by Mr. G. Luff and other members of the local company, and touches of Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major were brought round. The homeward journey was made about 8 p.m. by way of Haslemere, Hindhead and Petersfield, and Portsmouth was reached about 10 p.m. The ringers wish, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank the incumbents of the various parishes for the use of the bells, the local ringers who kindly met them and had everything in readiness, and all those who helped to make the outing such a success.

YOUTH IN THE CHESTER GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to offer my congratulations to the young ringer of Norbury, Cheshire, on ringing an inside bell to a peal of Surprise. Although he is not the first member of the Chester Guild to do this at the age of 16 years, he need not be discouraged on that account. There are many worthy things still open for him to do for the Chester Guild.—Yours truly,

W. BIBBY.

NEW SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed to offer my congratulations to Mr. Craven upon introducing to the Exercise Kent Surprise? No doubt it will be appreciated by the majority of Treble Bob ringers as an easy step to higher realms. But perhaps Mr. Craven would be surprised to learn that I had these self-same figures of Major in 1921, also those of Rochester, introduced by Mr. Lindoff, but lack of knowledge and the sad ending of earlier attempts kept them back. They remained forgotten altogether until I again saw the figures. At the same time I found the two transpositions of Rochester, No. 1 as Rochester, No. 2 as Dorchester, named after the introduction of Rochester. Nos. 3 and 4 I had in 1925 (March 14th to be exact), so I now intend to let nothing more of this to happen. I do not wish it to be thought that I am quibbling over the authorship of the above-mentioned methods, but I have learned my lesson. Thanking all those who have helped, and wishing your paper every success, with best wishes to Mr. Craven, sincerely yours,

E. W. TIPLER.

KENTISH RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of Lyminge and Ellham, Kent, had their annual outing on Saturday, September 1st. A start was made at 8.30 a.m. from Lyminge Church, the party of 21 journeying through Hythe and Dymchurch to New Romney, where on arrival they were met by Mr. H. S. Humphrey. After ringing touches of Grandsire Triples they went on to Lydd, where they had a good look round the church, which is the longest in the county. The bells were then heard in more Grandsire, the wind being in the right quarter to carry their beautiful tones all over the marshes.

Rye was next on the programme, but by special request of Mr. Albert Tanton (one of the most esteemed ringers in the district, and sexton and towerkeeper for 51 years at Lyminge Church), a halt was made at Brooklands, where the old sexton spent most of his younger days. Rye was reached about 1 p.m., where lunch was partaken of at the George Hotel, and ringing enjoyed on the Parish Church bells.

The party then set off again, for Hawkhurst, where they were welcomed by Mr. G. Billenness. Here another good ring or so was indulged in before setting out for Rolvenden, where Mr. A. Blackman had everything in readiness. This completed the ringing for the day.

A stop was made at Tenterden for a meat tea at the White Lion, and the homeward journey was made through Great Chart and Ashford, Lyminge being reached about 10 p.m.

RECIPROCAL PROOF: WHAT IT IS.

BY GEORGE BAKER.

Methods with PLAIN hunts, in which the place-making is symmetrical within the lead, have no need of proof; the only false row will be the lead-end.

For finding the false rows of symmetrical PLAIN methods, I make use of what I term 'Reciprocal Proof,' and this article deals exclusively with that kind of proof.

Reciprocal Proof is proving row against row by the path of the treble irrespective of the nature of the rows, whether odd or even, and as it is well to begin at the bottom, the examples that I shall give in this article will be the Plain and Bob leads of Grandsire Singles.

Method.	Plain	Transposition	Proving False Rows.	Proof of Rows Revealed.	Method.
Lead.
(1)	1234	x (8)	1342 = 1342	1234
(2)	2134	x (7)	2431 = 1432	1342
(3)	2314	x (6)	3421 = 1432	1432
(4)	3241	x (5)	4312 = 1432	1423
(5)	3421	x (4)	4213 = 1432	1243
(6)	4312	x (3)	3124 = 1432	1432
(7)	4132	x (2)	2134 = 1432	1342
(8)	1423	x (1)	1234 = 1423	1324

1243

The proof shows there are three false rows to each lead. This is a feature of the PLAIN leads of the Single Grandsire Method on all numbers, odd and even, to infinity, and it would be impossible to obtain the extent of the changes in Singles, Doubles or Minor, were it not for the fact that the Bob, or Single, leads in each instance cuts out two false rows.

Method.	Bob	Transposition	Proving False Rows.	Proof of Rows Revealed.
Lead.
(1)	1234	x (8)	1432 = 1432
(2)	2134	x (7)	2431 = 1432
(3)	2314	x (6)	3421 = 1432
(4)	3241	x (5)	4312 = 1432
(5)	3421	x (4)	4213 = 1432
(6)	4312	x (3)	3124 = 1432
(7)	4132	x (2)	2134 = 1432
(8)	1432	x (1)	1234 = 1432

1342

The proof of the Bob lead shows one false row only, i.e., the lead-end 1432, and it is therefore possible by calling three bobs or three singles to ring the extent of Grandsire Singles, which otherwise would consist of sixteen changes instead of twenty-four.

Readers will perhaps ask how are the proving transposition rows obtained? On the left-hand side of each lead I have numbered the rows in their consecutive order, and on the right-hand side I have given the altered position from rounds in reverse order: this indicates that row 1 must be transposed by the altered position from rounds of row 8, and similarly throughout the lead.

Perhaps I can make the matter clearer by giving the Plain lead again, showing the difference of what I call the face value and the proving value:—

Face Value.	Proving Value	Proving Value.
		Column Reversed.
(1) 1234	= 1234	(8) 1342
(2) 2134	= 2134	(7) 2431
(3) 2314	= 3124	(6) 3421

In my next article I propose to deal with the Plain leads of Single and Double Grandsire Doubles.

BOCKING YOUNG RINGERS.

Although unable to ring their own church bells, as reported in 'The Ringing World' recently, the young ringers of St. Mary's, Bocking, Essex, are still learning. Three of the band visited Braine Church last Monday and did some good ringing under Mr. L. W. Wiffen. On Friday two others visited Stebbing and enjoyed a good practice of Bob Minor. The hon. secretary hopes to get in some practice when he recovers from his illness, and also that his own church bells will soon have something done to them.

PORTMADOC.—On Monday evening, August 27th, at St. John's Church, with the bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect to the late Bishop of Bangor, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: E. McMillan 1, Herbert Roberts 2, John Owen 3, Fred J. Williams, Harry McMillan 5, Pierce Roberts (conductor) 6, R. A. Brooks 7, E. Wakefield (first quarter-peal) 8.

ST. OLAVE'S, HART STREET.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I notice in one of your correspondents' articles in the last issue of 'The Ringing World' the remark that St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, is now demolished. I think you will find the gentleman has made a mistake, and may be confusing it with St. Olave's, Tooley Street, Southwark, which has recently been taken down.—Yours, etc.,

W. G.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

'SCIENTIFIC' VERSUS 'STONY' RINGING

There is no place in England where 'stony' ringing is dying harder than in Devon, because there is no place where, such as it is, it is better done. We referred in a recent article to the Devon Guild's rival association which is encouraging the 'non-scientific' ringing in that county and which has many adherents in ringing circles and is backed by influential churchmen. This association promotes competitions for set-change ringing and rising and falling in peal, and while it is remarkable that ringers can be satisfied with the limitations which this style of ringing imposes, it is of no use to disguise the fact that these men take a real pride in their performances. With them good striking is the only thing that matters. It is true that it is more easily attained in ringing of this kind than it is in what these Devon men term 'scientific' ringing; for one thing because of the liability of error which presents itself in change ringing, but where good striking is the only thing that counts—and we wish that much more importance was attached to it than is the case among some ringers—arguments in favour of any other style of ringing, which tends to make perfection less likely of attainment, carry little conviction.

The report of the recent ringing tour in Devon threw a humorous sidelight upon what some Devonians think of the capabilities of the 'scientific' men, and the only way to win them over to change ringing is to prove by practical demonstration that such ringing can be as well struck as the 'stony' class. Moreover, the public in Devon are used to hearing good 'rising' and 'falling' in peal, and the company that cannot do this is without prestige in their eyes. The best 'scientific' that ever was heard would not completely fill the bill, unless it can be preceded by a good 'rise' and followed by an equally good 'fall.' To conquer the 'stony' ramparts in Devon the 'scientific' ringers have got to be able to meet their rivals on an equal footing with regard to their striking and to show them not only the increased interest which can be found in change ringing, but also that it can be performed equally as well as the 'stony' brand. It is pleasing, therefore, to learn of an Exeter band of ringers who have been out into the rival 'country' and won the approval of ringers in parishes where 'stony' prevails, by their excellent change ringing and raising and falling the bells in peal. It is only by practical demonstrations of this kind that it can be hoped to carry the opposition 'strongholds,' and we trust that more will be heard of this plan of campaign.

While referring to this topic, we should like again to emphasise the real importance of ringers generally practising 'rising' and 'falling' in peal. It has obvious advantages over the haphazard and casual manner of pulling up and lowering bells which is only too often to be heard; and there are comparatively few towers where it is done with anything like real precision. This prelude and conclusion to a well struck touch can be made quite impressive, but it requires practice. There are, however, few places where any attention is given to this feature of ringing, and when it is done it far too often ends in a clanging and clashing which is worse than the ringing of single bells. 'Rising and falling' requires practice and ought to be a part of the instruction given to every young ringer.

'BELLS THROUGH THE AGES.'

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I suggest that the publication of Mr. J. R. Nichols' book, 'Bells Through the Ages,' although the price will certainly put it out of reach of the average ringer's pocket, would be a splendid book to form the start of a branch or tower library where none exists, and a good addition to those already formed. Many branches and associations have funds lying idle, and this is one way in which those funds would do good, as ringers can borrow books they would not otherwise be able to read.—Yours faithfully,

R. G. BLACK.

AN 'ISLAND' EXCURSION.

Few can boast of having such an enjoyable annual outing as the Haslemere ringers, together with a lady ringer from outside, spent this year. September 1st was the much-longed-for day, and all hoped that fate would be kind and give them the sun which had shone so promisingly during the week. The place chosen was the Isle of Wight, and all who know the island agree that visits could be made there year after year with added interest. The tour had been planned so that the visitors could combine sight-seeing with ringing, and only two towers were booked. Nine members of the Haslemere band were lined up on Haslemere platform in readiness for the Portsmouth train, which came steaming into the station at 8.12 a.m. The visitor had already taken her seat at Guildford, having made an early start to catch the connection. Arriving at Portsmouth Harbour at 9.30, attention was centred on finding the remaining members, who had arranged to meet the band before crossing to the island. Then in full force the company proceeded to the boat, and after a pleasant trip across, some enjoying the sea air and sunshine on deck, whilst others felt happier below, Ryde was reached, where a charabanc waited to take the party for a ride, and, incidentally, drop them at Godshill, the first tower booked. The trip through Brading, then along the coast via Sandown and Shanklin, turning again inland, was a drive full of interest. Short halts were made by the driver, who described the places of note en route, and all enjoyed the pleasant woods and fields. Arriving at Godshill, the charabanc unloaded its freight, and a steady climb was made for the church, which is perched on the hilltop. All who have been there will remember the steep steps before reaching the church door. The bells were raised in peal in West Country fashion, which made the steeplekeeper remark, 'They did not often hear bells raised like that.' Touches of Kent and Plain Bob Minor were rung, also a few rounds, so that all had a chance of a 'pull.'

The next item on the programme was the call for lunch, but before a start could be made three more were wanted to complete the party. They were found in a small refreshment shop, devouring ices, and objected very much to the suggestion that they could bring them with them. A most excellent lunch was partaken of at Niton, and all felt much refreshed, and ready for the walk to Blackgang Chine. A happy and jolly party it was that strolled across the downs, and various exclamations of delight and admiration were heard upon the beauties of the countryside.

It was here where some few months ago the peaceful village was greatly disturbed by an alarming landslide, and much interest was aroused in the company, also much anxiety, when some of the more inquisitive ones peered perilously over the side of the adjoining cliff. Once more the band boarded the charabanc, the motor having to make a detour to avoid the landslide, and a start was made for Freshwater.

Time and space do not permit the writer to give a lengthy description, but all who know the picturesque and enchanting scenery, quaint and beautiful old-fashioned houses and farms of the Tudor period, here and there attractive cottages, with their thatched roofs, and gardens one mass of colour, will join with her in the never-to-be-forgotten memories.

Freshwater bells were soon up and ready, the first touch being Oxford Minor by special request, then touches of Plain Bob, finishing with a few rounds for the pupil. The bells here were given by Lord Tennyson, and hung in a tiny tower, four over two, with a tiny rope circle on the ground floor.

A hurried departure was then made for Ryde, as the visitor realised that she would only just have time to board the train at Portsmouth which met the connection at Guildford, and very reluctantly she walked to the steamer at Ryde, leaving the others behind to enjoy more sea air. The band would like to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells, also towerkeepers and kind members of the party who arranged everything so satisfactorily.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR IN THE PRESTON BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Preston Branch was held at St. Mary's, Chorley, on Saturday, September 8th. During the day ringers attended from numerous branch towers, and among those present were the general ringing secretary and branch secretaries from the Blackburn and Wigan Branches.

The bells were kept going in various methods from Bob Major to Cambridge Surprise, a considerable portion of the time being given to taking quite a few of the branch's younger members through their first touches.

In opening the business meeting, Mr. Sharples, who presided, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors from the Blackburn and Wigan Branches.

Three new members from Browedge were elected.

Mr. Sharples gave a comprehensive report of the proceedings at the general committee meeting, which was held at St. Helens last July. He was heartily thanked for his report.

The secretary presented a report of the work in the branch. During the year, he said, ten business meetings and one ringing meeting, as well as the annual social, had been held. The average attendance had been much lower than in the last year or two, being rather over twenty this year, as against nearly thirty last year. One couldn't account for it, whether there is less interest amongst the members, or whether the state of trade generally had a bearing on it. Thirteen branch peals had been rung as follow: Minor in two methods, one, at Leyland St. James'; Minor in three methods, two, one each at Leyland St. James' and Brindle; Minor in five methods, three, all at Brindle; Kent Treble Bob Major, three, one each at Chorley St. Mary's, Bispham, and Whittle-le-Woods. The other peals were Double Norwich, rung at Chorley St. Mary's, Samlesbury, Hoghton and Penwortham. Three of the Minor peals at Brindle, and the Kent Treble Bob Major at Whittle-le-Woods, were local peals. One peal at Brindle was rung muffled as a last token of respect to the late secretary of the Blackburn Branch, Mr. Jack Watson. The peal of Double Norwich at Hoghton, and a date touch of Grandsire Triples at Chorley Parish Church, were rung as a golden wedding compliment to Mr. John Marsden, of Chorley Parish Church. Twenty-eight members took part in the peals, seven of whom rang their 'first' in one or more methods, whilst two members conducted their first peals. The list was equal to any they have had in the past, both in numbers and methods. During the year, Browedge bells had been recast, augmented to the full octave, and put in a new frame with all the latest improvements by Messrs. Taylor and Co., whilst the bells at Higher Walton were being overhauled and augmented by the same firm. The bells at Ribchester were also to receive some attention from Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Subscriptions had come in fairly well, although some members were getting into arrears. They had made six new members, or old members rejoined.—On the motion of Mr. Blagg, seconded by Mr. E. R. Martin, the report was accepted.

The next business was the election of secretary. Mr. J. Brown moved, and Mr. J. T. Miller seconded, Mr. E. R. Martin supporting, that the retiring secretary be re-elected, and this was carried.—The secretary thanked the members briefly for their confidence.

A vote of thanks to the local ringers for having all in readiness, and to the church authorities for the use of the bells, concluded the business.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BELLS UNSAFE TO RING.

A quarterly meeting of the Newbury branch was held at Yattendon on Saturday, September 1st, when the following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Hampstead Norris, Newbury, Shaw, Thatcham, and the local ringers. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. E. Smith-Masters), who gave a very interesting address. Miss Waterhouse presided at the organ. Tea was served at the Royal Oak by Mr. and Mrs. Love, when 23 sat down, including the Rector, Miss Waterhouse, Misses Drake and Mr. F. N. A. Garry, O.B.E.

The business meeting followed with the Rev. J. E. Smith-Masters in the chair, in the absence of the Rev. L. R. Majendie (chairman of the branch), and was supported by the hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. W. Curtis. The Rev. Smith-Masters was elected an hon. member, one new ringing member from Yattendon tower was also elected.

Owing to Newbury bells being unsafe to ring, it was proposed to hold the annual meeting at Shaw on Saturday, November 17th.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, Miss Waterhouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Love, proposed by Mr. Curtis and seconded by Mr. W. Mathews. The tower was again visited, and some good touches rung in the following methods: Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor.

DORCHESTER ABBEY, OXON.—On Wednesday, September 5th, after meeting short for a peal, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 48 mins.: E. S. T. Farr (conductor) 1, W. P. Cross 2, W. Henley 3, C. W. Pipe 4, W. Hutton 5, A. Bateman 6, L. Stilwell 7, J. H. Crop-ley 6.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

OXFORD GUILD MASTER'S ADDRESS TO THE MEMBERS.

Nearly a hundred ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association at Belbroughton on Saturday week, when the preacher at the service was the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The event was favoured with glorious weather, and everything conducted to make an enjoyable and memorable gathering. The bells were rung both afternoon and evening, and at the service the Rector (the Rev. D. A. Townsend) was at the organ.

The address was of that practical type for which the Oxford Guild Master is famous in ringing circles. He took as his text St. Paul's second Epistle to Timothy, ii. 15: 'Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed.' He said this was a message from one minister to another; it was also very appropriate for bellringers, who were Christian ministers with a specific work to perform. First they must study, and give great diligence to their work. Ringing was not laborious as some people wrongly thought, for bells could be rung with very little exertion. Guilds were in existence to help to make good ringers. It was not a question of deep learning. In the olden times uneducated countrymen could ring changes in the highest methods, learning with such crude things as chalk and slate to work out the different combinations; but study was necessary and made a big call on the time, and often on the temper. Bellringing was a work approved of God. As His messengers, bellringers must do their best, for God's glory. The task made demands, but the work was entrancing. It implied an object in life. As Jesus was trained at Nazareth, a workman first and then a teacher, so the bellringer had to be trained first before he could impart his knowledge efficiently to others. They were not to be ashamed of the duty entrusted to them, although they must cherish that precious possession of shame for works unworthy of a ringer. There ought to be no slipshod ringing, no bad instructions, and certainly no acts of levity in the belfry.

After the service, tea was provided in the Church Hall by a band of ladies, including Mrs. Hopcroft, Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. Riste, and this was very greatly appreciated. The Rector apologised for the absence of the people's warden, Mr. Handley.

The meeting which followed was presided over by the Rector, supported by the Rural Dean (Canon Newland), and the Rev. T. C. de la Haye (Rector of Bromsgrove), Messrs. A. J. Skelding (hon. secretary), J. D. Johnson (Ringing Master), T. Salter (Central Committee representative), Mason (Hagley), A. E. Parsons (Old Hill), and J. Hemming (Southern Branch).

Mr. Parsons offered a warm welcome to the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and thanks for his address. It was the first time in his memory that an outside clergyman had addressed them. He hoped the Dean of Worcester would invite Mr. Jenkyn to the Cathedral service, for all ringers knew him well. His address and presence that day showed that he was just the man for the work. He welcomed Canon Newland and hoped he would often grace their meetings by his presence.

Mr. Clifford Skidmore, of Brierley Hill, was elected Ringing Master. Mr. A. J. Skelding was re-elected branch secretary, with a warm tribute to his work for the association.—Mr. Skelding, in returning thanks, said he took no honour to himself; he did his work for the honour of the Church.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. Thos. Townsend (Netherton), Hy. Perrins and John Potter (Wollaston), G. Fern (Bromsgrove), A. Hollis and S. Woodward (Belbroughton), and the Rev. C. Raymond Hollis (Bewdley).

It was proposed that the next meeting be held at Oldbury, and a letter was received stating that if this were agreed to everything would be done to make the visit a success. Brierley Hill was also proposed, but Oldbury was fixed upon, and the date was left with the secretary and the Oldbury Vicar.

Mr. W. Short (Clent), who was appointed as Central Committee representative, proposed that the quarterly peal be rung at Belbroughton; the local band of ringers under the leadership of Mr. Ernest Calcutt could be encouraged to qualify to ring in the peal. Belbroughton had now a very enthusiastic band of young ringers.—Mr. Calcutt said it was a great compliment to the Belbroughton ringers, and he was sure his men would strive to make themselves competent, especially if Mr. Short could spare time to teach them.—Mr. Matthews promised to help Mr. Short in this work.

Thanks were expressed to the ladies who provided tea. Ringing arrangements were in the hands of that stalwart, Mr. W. Short, who, although lame, is as alert as ever.

At Clent, after the meeting, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn took part in a course of London Surprise Major, and a touch of Stedman Triples. On Sunday, at Chaddesley Corbett, courses of Cambridge Surprise, Superlative and Bristol Surprise Major were rung, and at Bromsgrove there was a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters by W. Short (conductor) 1, J. Bass 2, A. E. Parsons 3, T. J. Salter 4, C. Skidmore 5, J. Hemming 6, H. C. Bird 7, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 8, R. Matthews 9, A. Hackett 10. Afterwards, some of the local band rang a course of Grandsire Caters for the evening service, and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn preached the sermon.

DEVON GUILD.

BRANCH MEETING AT LUSTLEIGH.

Lustleigh, a pretty little South Devon village, situate on the borders of Dartmoor, was the venue for the summer meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild, which took place on Saturday. There was a moderate attendance, but the Rector and the local men did what they could to make the visitors very welcome, and thus the meeting was all the more enjoyable. Three of the local band also rang the tenor behind to some touches, and they did very well for their first time.

Visitors were present from Brixham, Paignton, Cockington, Newton Abbot, Buckfastleigh, Plymouth and Devonport, and the bells, a handy ring of six, rebung a few years ago by the Croydon Foundry, were kept going during the afternoon to Grandsire Doubles. A service was later held in church, conducted by the Rector (Rev. R. Ryder), who, in the course of an eloquent address, extended a very hearty welcome.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, after which the business meeting followed, presided over by the Rector. The Secretary (Mr. H. J. Hole) apologised for the absence of the chairman (Mr. F. J. Laxton), who had a serious loss recently. He also read a number of apologies for absence.

For the next meeting, to take place on Saturday, November 10th, Churston and Brixham were chosen. Two new members were elected.

Mr. E. W. Marsh (Plymouth) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for presiding, for allowing the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his excellent address, also to the organist for her assistance at the service, and to the local ringers for their presence. This was seconded, and the Rector suitably replied.

This concluded the business, and the visitors returned to the tower for further ringing. Although the attendance was not large, a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

HALF-YEARLY MEETING AT RHYL.

A very enjoyable day was spent at Rhyl on Saturday, September 1st, by members of the North Wales Association upon the occasion of the half-yearly meeting. The day was beautifully fine, and members were present from Bangor, Llandudno, Abergelle, Wrexham, Gresford and Hope. A service was held at St. Thomas' Church, and was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Edwards Davies), who gave an excellent address.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. W. Jones (Wrexham) in the absence of the president, who sent his expression of regret.

Several alterations in the rules were put forward by the Master (Mr. A. J. Hughes).

Fourteen ringing members and five probationers were elected, also Mr. E. A. Brooks, Dursley, Gloucestershire, as a life member.

Votes of thanks were proposed to Mr. Jones for presiding, to the Vicar for conducting the service, and for his excellent address, also to the ladies who kindly helped with the tea.

Good practice was put in after tea on tower and handbells under the guidance of the Ringing Master.

DEATH OF MR. CHARLES GEORGE BATES.

On earth there is no finer crown, no laurel wreath of texture rare, than that which we ringers accord to a brother who has passed to that place where skill in methods, ability to handle a bell, the peculiar capacity to put bobs in their own appointed places, or to rise and fall in peal count as naught, when we ring the 'whole pull and stand.' It has been my melancholy duty—I say, perforce, duty, for duty must be done—to stand by the side of the grave of our fellow-ringer, Charles G. Bates, who passed away on Wednesday, August 29th, aged only 38, leaving a wife and four children, all of school age, to mourn their loss.

George, as the writer knew him, was always ready to do his bit to the best of his abilities, and many who have passed beyond with a louder fanfare could do no more. 'Better love hath no man . . . Let us, who are left, see to it that we merit the same encomium.'

As a ringer and a chorister, his short sojourn in this 'vale of tears' had been a path of duty done. The few peals he had rung—twenty-three in all—had been performed to the best of his ability; he gave always of his best.

Charles George Bates was born on July 12th, 1890, and was for many years a chorister and ringer at Exhall, Warwickshire. It is a melancholy coincidence that he should have attempted his last peal on his birthday, July 12th. It was lost in the sixth extent, and he there and then booked down in his diary St. Giles' Day, September 1st, for the next attempt. He was, however, taken ill with a nervous complaint shortly after, and died on August 29th. He was buried on St. Giles' Day, the day he had appointed for his peal.

He rang his first peal at Exhall on March 12th, 1927, and his twenty-third and last peal at Wolvey on June 23rd, 1928. Twenty of his peals were rung for the Warwickshire Guild, two for the Midland Counties Association, and his only peal of Triples for the St. Martin's Guild.

J. E. S.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION SUCCESSFUL QUARTERLY MEETING AT PENTRE.

It has been stated that the Rhondda Valley produces the very best steam coal in the world, and it is at the top of this valley that Pentre is situated, right in the midst of the Welsh Hills and Welsh coal. Here it was that a quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held on Saturday last. The church is a very beautiful one, the finest of the valley, and the bells, too, are a very fine peal of eight by Taylor, with a 27 cwt. tenor. Early in the afternoon many put in an appearance. The bells were raised and kept going until 4.30, when service was held in the Parish Church, the Vicar (the Rev. D. Spenser Jones) officiating, and having the assistance of his curate. The address, a very able and inspiring one, was much appreciated.

Immediately following the service, a sumptuous tea was served in the schoolroom, very kindly provided by the friends of the church.

The business meeting followed, and at the outset a last tribute of respect was paid to the late Mr. S. Dawe by the members standing in silence for a few moments.

The usual routine business followed, and several new members enrolled.

The next meeting is to be held at Llangibby.

The muster was a very fine one. The very heartiest welcome was accorded Mr. Fred Chamberlain, of Cardiff, this being the first meeting he has been able to attend since his terrible accident two or three years ago. Although progressing favourably, it will be some time yet before he can take his accustomed place as conductor of Grandsire Caters. All wished him a speedy recovery.

The very best thanks were accorded to all, including the Vicar, ladies and local ringers, for their great kindness and hospitality.—This closed the meeting, amongst the visitors at which was Mr. Simmonds, of Oxford.

The unveiling then took place of a beautiful peal tablet, erected in the tower to the memory of the late Mr. James Cross, who died some time ago with such tragic suddenness. The unveiling and dedication were performed by the Vicar in the presence of a chamber full of ringers. The peal recorded is one of Stedman Triples, conducted by Mr. Cross. He was one of the most enthusiastic of the local ringers, and his loss was keenly felt.

The bells were afterwards rung until late in the evening, a variety of methods being practised from Grandsire Triples to Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major. The meeting was one of the very best in the history of the association, the most pleasant and a huge success.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD. SOUTHERN DISTRICT WELCOMED AT NEATH.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at Neath on Saturday, September 1st, when about 30 members attended from Aberavon, Cadoxton, Swansea, Morriston, and the local band, and visitors from Bedwellty and Aberdare. The bells were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Rector of Neath (Rev. G. Francis), who gave a very interesting address and a hearty welcome to the Guild to Neath. Tea followed in the church Room, given by Mrs. Couch, and was very much enjoyed by all present.

The business meeting was held after tea, the Rector taking the chair. Three new members were elected, and Swansea chosen for the next meeting.

Songs were sung by friends at Neath between the items on the agenda, and were appreciated by all.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for conducting the service, for the use of the bells, and for presiding at the meeting, also to the lady organist for her service, both at the organ and piano, to the artists who gave much pleasure to the company with their songs, and to Mrs. Couch for the splendid tea given.—The Rector, in replying, said how very pleased they were all to welcome the Guild to Neath and to make everyone as happy as possible while there.

The bells, although not going any too well, were made good use of when the standard methods were rung, including Spiced Treble Bob.

PEAL RINGERS AS SERVICE RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Re your leading article and the fact that service ringing is falling off, if all incumbents decided that no peals should be attempted unless a quarter-peal was rung on the bells by the band to attempt the peal on the Sunday previous to the attempt, it would 'dig up' quite a lot of service ringers. There are a number of really good ringers who are quite able instructors, who never show up to help unless a peal is on the programme. If we must have peals, we must have peal ringers, and the best way to have them is to make them; and the only people who can make them are the peal ringers. I am afraid, therefore, that a little more energy will have to be expended by the good ringers if the supply of peal ringers is to be kept up. At present the demand exceeds the supply, so I must conclude that the producers are lagging behind.—Yours very respectfully,

SAMIWELL.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Next Wednesday there is to be a broadcast talk on 'The English Art of Bellingmg' at 7 p.m. This talk was arranged between the Central Council and the B.B.C., and is to be given by the Rev. F. L. Edwards. There will be handbell illustrations.

The ringers of St. Peter's Church, Tiverton, last week just missed scoring their first local peal—Grandsire Triples. They had splendid ringing for 3 hrs. 7 mins., and came to grief when only three bobs remained to be called. We wish them success when next they venture.

The quarterly meeting of the Suffolk Guild at Woodbridge has been postponed to September 29th.

A 'Frederick' peal by men of Kent and Kentish men was rung at Rainham on Saturday, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, the veteran hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, being of the band.

Charles Middleton, of Norwich, whose principal claim to fame is his peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, died on September 14th, 1886.

The first peal by the Society of St. Martin's Youths, whose lineal descendant is the present St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, was rung at St. Philip's Church, now the Cathedral, on September 16th, 1755. It was a peal of Bob Major.

Next Monday is the anniversary of the 11,328 London Surprise Major rung by the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Drayton in the year 1896.

We should not think much in these days of a bell hanger who left a new peal of 10 bells so that the 9th required two men and the tenor three men to ring them. But such was the case when William D. Crofts called 5,130 Grandsire Caters on 'the new peal of ten bells at Grantham.' Ten of the band were from Nottingham, and the other three from Newark.

MANCETTER'S OLD RING.

FOURTEENTH AND FIFTEENTH CENTURY BELLS.

A peal rung on the five bells at Mancetter, Warwickshire, is a reminder that the whole ring is of great age. Nevertheless the tenor is a very fine old bell, in E flat, about 10½ cwt. (diameter 48½ inches).

The treble is by Thomas Hancox, of Walsall, 1633 (diameter 34½ inches, weight about 7½ cwt.).

The second is a very old bell, probably by Johannes de York, or from the foundry of William Noble or Thomas Innocent. It may date from about 1420 (diameter 36 inches, weight 8½ cwt.).

The third was cast in 1641 by Hugh Watts (diameter 39½ inches, weight 11 cwt.).

The fourth is the oldest bell. Its founder was John Hose, 1352-1366, whose cottage, near All Saints' Church, Leicester, is mentioned in 1352, and in the Merchant Guild entries of 1366 (diameter 44 inches, weight 15 cwt.).

The tenor is by George Oldfield, of Nottingham, 1647.

Although the present bells are a ring of veritable veterans, they could be augmented to make a grand ring of eight.

The bells have been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

WATH BAND WIN COMPETITION.

The annual shield contest took place on Saturday at Penistone on a well-hung and beautiful peal of bells placed at the disposal of the association by the Vicar, Rev. F. B. Carlton. The event was favoured with fine weather, and nine bands entered. All made a gallant attempt to carry home the trophy. The judges were Messrs. J. and R. Brearley (Bolsterstone) and W. Idle (Dewsbury). It will be noted the winners had a hard fight. Shelley, who won the shield for the first two years, now fall into second place for next year, defeated, but possessed of the highest admiration for their honourable opponents. The figures are given below.

The welcome given by Penistone was most hearty. The fund for the purchase of the individual awards was largely collected by Mr. F. Tinker, who also had the greater share in making the local arrangements.

At the end of contest, a business meeting was held, when Darfield was selected for the October meeting.

Mrs. Hodgkinson, a well-known Penistone lady, handed the prizes to the winners, viz., the shield to be held for one year, and six cut-glass bowls and spoons to the Wath (No. 1) company, and six alarm clocks to the Sholley band.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. Hodgkinson, the Vicar (Rev. F. B. Carlton), the churchwardens, Mr. F. Tinker, and others who had contributed to the success of the proceedings. Results:—

1. Wath (No. 1 band)	71 faults.
2. Shelley	76 "
3. Sandal	86 "
4. Cawthorne	200 "
5. Darfield	224 "
6. Hoylandswaine	275 "
7. Felkirk	282 "
8. Darton	284 "
9. Wath (No. 2 band)	321 "

METHOD CLASSIFICATION.

BY THE REV. HERBERT DRAKE.

Owing to the not very prudent way in which the report of the committee for collecting Minor methods has been handled, attention has been centred on the actual names which have been chosen, rather than on the classification of the methods, which is, of course, the proper work of that committee. The Exercise at present does not, since the death of Canon Papillon, possess anyone who has any great knowledge of philology, and it is not quite fair to blame a committee chosen for its knowledge of the science of change ringing for its errors in philology. But the classification of the methods which they have collected is especially their job, and we certainly look to them to exercise ordinary carefulness in the matter.

The first thing that strikes the eye is that under a list headed Minor Methods, the last section is entitled 'Triples Methods'! It is no doubt a convenience to have these names included, but why call them both Minor and Triples at the same time? Even Mr. Pickwick with 'Triple Bob Majors' was not so foolish! Surely it was possible so to word the list as to make the proper classification clear. For instance, a footnote might have been added to the first section, saying 'numbers so-and-so are also Triples Methods.' If the list is intended to include all Triples methods, obviously the Stedman system is omitted. If not, the principle of selection should have been stated.

Moreover, this section should have been laid before the Council in order that errors or omissions could be pointed out, or some principle of classification decided on. It would then have been possible to have had corrected the surprising statement from these three experts of all people that Grandsire and Plain are not only different methods, but are not even in the same class! If the footnote I have suggested were inserted, it would be easy to say, 'Nos. 1 and 1a on odd bells are called Grandsire,' or some such explanation.

In this connection I pointed out at Hereford the meaninglessness of the name given to 1a, viz., 'Reverse Bob.' Apparently the authors of this report, when they ring Plain Bob, call out, 'Go, Bob.' Most ringers, at any rate those who know what they are talking about, call, 'Go, Plain.' Therefore this method should be called 'Reverse Plain.'

As a matter of fact, these two methods have really no name, for both Plain and Bob are descriptions, or names of classes and not of methods. But these three experts should be the last to use such a term as Reverse Bob. We have been told so emphatically by them that certain methods are 'Bob' methods, and that that name must on no account be left out, that it seems strange to be told that there is only one Reverse Bob method, and that one so unimportant as not to have a whole number to itself.

Is 'Double Bob' an error for 'Double Plain,' or is it the only Bob method which can be doubled?

I notice that while there are two Pleasure methods which are called Bobs, there are ten methods in the list which are not so distinguished. Why is this? If they belong to a different class, this section should be sub-divided. At present one has an uneasy feeling that there are probably mistakes, especially as one notices that lower down the word Bob is omitted after Grandsire.

Similar observations can be made on the next three sections. Two of the Treble Bob methods are called 'Pleasure' instead of Treble Bob. It would appear that Pleasure is a cross classification. If so, this should have been noted, equally also if it is not. Each of the Delight lists have two names in them which are not Delights. It should be explained why they are there. The Surprise list seems to be the only one that is consistent, and it therefore seems surprising (if I may so put it) that the word 'Surprise' needs to be repeated 46 times.

At Hereford I asked for the information which would explain these anomalies, and Mr. Law James said it was published twenty years ago. I replied that was the very reason I was asking for it. I read it when published, but in twenty years I may be forgiven for forgetting it. It is possible that I may not know where to look it up, or even that I do not care to go to that trouble. But in any case I am writing on behalf of those whose ringing career does not go back twenty years, and for those who come after us. They, at least, are entitled to a short definition of what a Plain method is, or a Bob, Treble Bob, Delight, or Surprise method. And if they are not to find it in the Collection of Methods, and in the lists given in such a collection, where are they to find it?

If it be objected that this would take up too much room, one may point out that it would not occupy so much space as the tautological repetition of class names, which they have given us. If they cannot define a 'Surprise' method in less than 46 words, they should get someone else to do so.

Let us hope that for their own reputation these three experts will revise these crude lists before publication, and arrange them in the proper scientific manner, which they know well how to do.

With regard to details, at Hereford I pointed out how ridiculous the name Bogedone is. To my surprise no one seemed to know anything about it, neither what it meant, nor how it was pronounced, nor even with how many syllables. (It could have two, three or four.) Mr. Trollope promised me to try to find out and see if it could be altered. Apparently he has not succeeded. Why this superstitious reverence to an unknown name? We do not want to make ourselves merely silly. I would conjecture that someone has been pulling the legs of the committee, and seeing how much they will swallow. Cuneastre is almost as bad.

A correspondent in 'The Ringing World' mentioned that I again objected to the name 'Immanuel.' This was a mistake. I have only objected to it once, at Hereford. In case some still regret its omission, may I point out that such a word should not be used as a mere title of anything not divine. It is true that names of the deity are used in other countries sometimes as Christian names, and in other ways more freely than in England, but most English people would resent the introduction of such a custom among us. If the method had been called Immanuel Church Surprise, it would not have been so bad, but the committee have done well to leave the word out altogether.

Will not the discoverer of Kent Surprise find some other name for his bantling? Nowadays such a name implies that it is a variation, or connected in some way with Kent Treble Bob. I take it he wants it to stand on its own feet. If so, let it have its own name, and do not let it try to sail under false colours.

TWO MORE PLAIN MINOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your readers will remember that when the Central Council published the present 'Collection of Minor Methods' several Treble Bob methods were omitted, as was discovered later by Mr. E. H. Lewis. I do not know whether it is known that two plain methods were overlooked, but I do not remember that this has ever been pointed out in your columns. Now that the Minor Collection is to be reprinted, I give below the figures for these methods. I am aware that some fault could be found with them, but every objection that applies to them applies equally, I think, to several methods which already appear in the 'Collection.' At any rate, in the extents where the tenor is called W.R.W., 5 and 6 do not come together the wrong way behind, so that in this respect at least they are better than some methods which have been included in the 'Collection.' But the real reason why they should be inserted is that this book professes to contain 'all legitimate Minor methods, except such as have 5th's place without the treble in 6th's,' but, of course, it does not do so, without these two.—Yours faithfully,

A. G. DRIVER.

DOUBLE SURPRISE MINOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We are delighted to see from this week's issue of 'The Ringing World' that the five regular Double Surprise methods are to be included in the new book of Minor Methods. I desire to thank you personally for your kindness in bringing the matter before the Central Council meeting at Hereford, without which they would probably have been lost in oblivion. The Norton band and myself are very grateful to you.—Yours delightedly,

J. E. WHEELDON.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note in your current issue the 'List of names' it is proposed to print in the next issue of the 'Minor Collection.' Might I respectfully suggest to the committee that they substitute the name 'Hattersley' for Pennine, No. 24 Treble Bob method. Also I see no mention of the Double Surprise Minor methods such as Kingale and Brownedge. Why not include the best of them under a separate heading as examples?—Yours,

SAMIWELL.

Dear Sir,—May I through your columns appeal to subscribers to the Directory to notify any omission. All subscribers by this time should have received their copy. There are copies available to non-subscribers, 1s. each.—Yours faithfully,

NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

THE REV. H. EARLE BULWER AND HIS CONTRIBUTION TO RINGING.

All the ringers whose names were mentioned in these notes a fortnight ago as having taken part in the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer's last peal were prominent members of the Norwich Association. Frederick Day was a bell hanger of Eyc. He and his father, George Day, did a lot of good work in the Eastern Counties. Their hanging was in the old style in wooden frames with plain bearings, and it was hand work without the aid of the accurate and expensive plant that modern bell hangers use. Fred Day was a master craftsman, and worked himself, and, as I have said, his work was good. One of his principal jobs was the rehanging of Mancroft twelve in the eighties of last century, and, as everyone knows who has rung on these bells, they went excellently. He was not, however, very successful in the re-clappering of the bells. The frame was the original one put in when the bells were first installed in 1775. It was made by a man named Williams, and Fred Day told me that no tower in England contained a better designed or better constructed frame than that. Unfortunately, through the decay of the older beams which supported it, it has recently had to be replaced by an iron frame.

The Rev. J. H. Pilkington was the Rector of Framlingham. At an unusually late time of life he took an interest in ringing, and speedily became a proficient ringer and conductor in the methods then practised and a composer of more than average ability. In Bob Major he produced some peals which were distinctly original in plan and qualities, not an easy thing to do in a method which had been so much exploited.

William Ireland was for many years one of the leading ringers at Diss, where there has been for many years a good band. He was a handbell ringer when such were comparatively few. He took part in one or two notable peals, including the first of Oxford Treble Bob Royal rung in hand by the association. This was in 1889, and was conducted by Mr. John Souter. Mr. Crickmer and Mr. John Souter are still alive and active, and there is no need to say anything about their outstanding abilities as ringers.

In 1891 Mr. Bulwer was elected honorary secretary and treasurer of the Central Council, and held those offices until his death. The success or failure of such a body as the Central Council depends in no small measure on the work, mostly unrecorded and unknown, that is done by its secretary, and Mr. Bulwer was a man especially fitted for the job.

On the theoretic side of change ringing, Mr. Bulwer did work which was extremely valuable and lasting in its effect, but by the nature of the case it was work which was largely the preparation for further advance, rather than the attainment of final results. The exception to this was the investigation into peals of Stedman Triples which he and Sir Arthur Heywood made with help from Mr. W. H. Thompson and others. The results of these investigations are printed in Mr. Davies' 'Stedman,' and it is safe to say that it leaves little to be said about the structure and composition of 'Twin Bob' peals in that method. These chapters are not easy reading, and they are decidedly calculated to impress one with the fact that there are problems in change ringing worthy of the best intellects.

Towards the end of the last century the Exercise produced several men who began to write books and articles on ringing. It had been a long time since a really good book had appeared on the subject. Some of the earlier books are quite well written, especially Stedman's 'Tintinnologia,' and, in a different way, the 'Clavis.' Shipway's work, too, is as a handbook an excellent production, but the later books, Hubbard, Sottanstell and Bannister, are inferior. Then Jasper Snowden began to publish his series, first as articles in 'Church Bells' and the 'Bell News,' and after as books. Then Mr. Davies, Mr. Heywood and others began to publish articles to try and explain the scientific side of ringing.

One difficulty they found, as all of us who have tried to write such articles are sure to find, and that is that the technical terms in use are often too vague and not sufficiently understood by the reader. When you use a term you can never be quite sure that your reader understands exactly what you mean. In the preface to 'Duffield,' Sir Arthur Heywood pleaded strongly for a reform in ringing terminology, and when the Central Council was founded this was one of the first jobs tackled.

The work was done practically entirely by Mr. Bulwer, and the result is the 'Glossary,' a book which every ringer should possess. It consists of two parts—one part excellent, the other useful in its time but now quite superseded and out of date. The first part contains an explanation of every technical term in use, either in the belfry or in dealing with the theory of ringing. To compile it meant a vast amount of labour and research. Naturally these terms have been added to in the years that have elapsed since the 'Glossary' was published, for every one who writes about new facts and new truths must find the old terms inadequate, and must coin new ones for new uses, but the wise man will always do this as little as possible and never introduce a new term without giving a very careful and full definition of it.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PROPOSAL TO AUGMENT BOSHAM BELLS.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Bosham on Saturday, September 1st. The weather being fine and sunny a large company of ringers and their friends spent a very enjoyable time in this out-of-the-way and picturesque corner of Sussex.

The bells were kept merrily going during the afternoon, and the ringers attended a shortened evensong, at which the Vicar, the Rev. Geo. Street, officiated, and Mr. J. T. Wright presided at the organ. The Vicar, in the course of a short address, extended a hearty welcome to the ringers, and a collection of just over 15s. was devoted to the association's benevolent fund.

The ringers assembled at the Anchor Inn for a substantial meat tea, under the presidency of the Vicar, with Mr. G. Brown in the vice-chair. The company included Mr. G. Williams (Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild) and Mrs. Williams, Mr. C. Tribe (Tenterden), Mr. G. Faulkner (Barking), and Miss Nancie Denyer and Mr. B. Clark (Aldershot). The following towers were also represented: Angmering, Brighton, Chichester, Heene, Lewes, Shoreham, Slinfold, Pulborough, West Tarring and the local band.

The only formal business which followed the tea was the decision to hold the next quarterly meeting at Shoreham.

Mr. Blake raised the question of the re-election of the Bosham band of ringers and the re-affiliation of the tower, which he requested the Vicar to bring forward at the next meeting of the Parochial Church Council.

At the instance of the hon. sec. (Mr. A. W. Groves), a vote of thanks was proposed to the Vicar for granting the use of the bells and for presiding, also to him and friends for providing the excellent repast. Mr. Blake, in supporting the vote, said the Vicar had spoken of the pleasure derived from hearing the bells, and he should like to emphasise what a vast improvement it would make to have two trebles added to the existing six bells. If they were able to back him up, they might get Mr. Street to take the matter up.

Mr. G. Williams emphasised the value of having eight bells, and Mr. K. Hart impressed the point that many people came from long distances to see Bosham Church and tower, because of their historical value, and he felt sure it would not be difficult to get the peal increased to the full octave.

The Vicar, in responding, said it had been a great day for the church and village, and it had been a pleasure to have had a share in entertaining the ringers. He would do his best, after the advice of such expert bellringers, to see what he could do with regard to making the addition to the bells.

Following the tea there was a resumption of ringing, and, Chichester Cathedral bells being available, the ringers were not slow to avail themselves of the opportunity of a pull in the ancient campanile.

Bosham has an old and mixed ring of six, the fourth being an Elizabethan bell, dated 1572, the founder, whose initials were 'R.B.' being unknown. The third dates from 1665, the fifth from 1688. This latter is inscribed, 'John Snow, Minister; Thomas White, William Hammon, C.W. Clement Tosear made me in the yeare of 1688.' Of the rest, two were made by Richard Phelps, in 1709 and 1713 respectively; and the tenor by Lester Pack and Chapman in 1787.

THE CATCHPOLE AND MOTTS MEMORIAL.

We beg to acknowledge the following subscriptions to the fund towards the erection of a memorial to the memory of the late Messrs. W. L. Catchpole and James Motts in the ringing chamber of St. Mary-le-Tower Church.

Any further donations will be thankfully received by either—

C. J. SEDGLEY, 14, Suffolk Road, Ipswich, or

G. E. SYMONDS, 28, Chevallier Street, Ipswich, secretary, St. Mary-le-Tower Society.

It is hoped to close this fund at the end of September.

In the years to come the 'Glossary' will have to be enlarged and brought up to date. When this is done the second part must be scrapped. It is one of the early attempts to classify and explain the nature of methods. It was written at a time when men had only just begun to take an interest in the subject. Knowledge has accumulated since, and the whole of this part of the 'Glossary' is seen to be superficial and has been superseded.

BREAKING 'STONY' GROUND.

'SCIENTIFIC' RINGERS WIN APPROVAL IN DEVON PARISHES.

The St. Thomas', Exeter, ringers, made a tour of over 90 miles on Saturday through the heart of Devon, where call change ringing is remarkably well done. In two motor-cars the party first called at North Tawton, and succeeded in raising, ringing and falling the bells in a way which was favourably commented upon by the local ringers. Winkleigh, a grand octave with 20 cwt. tenor, was the next ring, and again the home men who had gathered to hear the performance were very pleased. Tea was enjoyed, and the party set out for High Bickington. The light bells, with 9 cwt. tenor, by Taylor, were handled beautifully by the ringers, and a hearty invitation to come again was the outcome of some very good striking. A long journey across country brought the party to Chittlehampton, 'the finest tower in Devon,' with bells to match, recently hung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough (tenor 15 cwt.). The visitors rang the bells up in peal to the satisfaction of the listeners, and followed with touches of Grandsire and Stedman, and a good fall, which brought the day's ringing to a happy ending. Considering that the walls of the ringing chambers were covered by certificates, shields and cups won by the local men in ringing competitions, it was a great satisfaction to the visitors to hear that their striking was approved, and the desire expressed to hear more of 'scientific' ringing, the opportunity of which seldom happens in these outlying towers.

It is hoped that more ringers will be interested in the Devon Guild as a result of this tour.

AN OLD TRINITY YOUTH.

DEATH OF MR. W. H. FREEMAN.

Mr. W. H. Freeman, well known in East and S.E. London, died on Wednesday, August 29th, in the Whipp's Cross Hospital, Leytonstone. For some time past he had been in poor health. Recently getting worse, he went into hospital, where he was found to be suffering from cancer. Very little could be done for him, and the end came quickly. He was buried in Walthamstow Cemetery on Monday, September 3rd. The St. Mary's, Walthamstow, Guild, was represented by Messrs. R. Maynard, W. Manning, and W. Morley, besides whom Messrs. J. Waghorn, H. Alford and other ringers were present. In the evening, at St. Mary's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung with clappers half-muffled, as a last token of respect to the deceased member. The following of his colleagues took part: H. Alford, W. Manning, C. T. Coles (conductor), C. T. W. Coles, J. H. Wilkins, J. C. Adams, E. Holman, R. Maynard, sen., F. C. Maynard and W. Morley.

Mr. W. H. Freeman was 73 years of age. In his early days he was well known in South-East London, and rang many peals at Lewisham, Greenwich and in the neighbourhood. For the last 39 years he had been a member of the St. Mary's Guild, Walthamstow, and rang in a large number of peals, mostly on the tenor, at that church. At one time he aspired to calling, and conducted one or two peals of Grandsire Triples. He was a member of the College Youths, Essex, Kent, and Middlesex Associations, and was also a member of the old Trinity Youths.

Besides being a ringer, he had been a good cricketer, and was a member of the Essex County Club. His nephews, J. and A. P. Freeman, play for Essex and Kent respectively, the latter having also played for England, and this year performed so well that he has been selected as one of the team to visit Australia this coming winter.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT OXTED.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern District of the Surrey Association took place at Oxted on Saturday, September 1st, members attending from Buckland, Reigate, Redhill, Horley, Burstow, Godstone, Limpsfield Chart, Merstham and the local band, with the usual visitor from Swindon. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and continued until 5.15, when a short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. W. Gibbins).

Tea, kindly provided by the Rector, was partaken of at the Church Room, and was followed by a business meeting, at which the Rector presided. One honorary member and seven new ringing members were elected, and votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and so generously providing tea, also to all those who helped to make the meeting a success.

Ringling was kept up until nine o'clock in the standard methods

MUFFLED BELLS

At St. John's Church, Hoylandswaine, on Sunday, September 9th, for morning service, 720 Oxford Treble Bob in 24 mins.: G. F. Chappeil 1, F. Broadhead 2, L. Wilkinson (conductor) 3, T. Noble 4, S. Fielding 5, E. Brookes 6. Rang with the bells deeply muffled as a token of respect to and appreciation of the Rev. G. Milner, who was Vicar of the parish from 1886 to 1893, and who was largely instrumental in adding five bells in 1892, and so making it a peal of six. His death took place on August 27th.

RECIPROCAL PROOF.

BY GEORGE BAKER.

SINGLE AND DOUBLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

We have seen in last week's article that in Grandsire Singles the four rows false against the plain course consist of two 'even' and two 'odd' rows, i.e., 1342, 1423, and 1432, 1324.

In Single or Double Grandsire Doubles the rows are all 'even' until a Single is called, and then all 'odd' until another Single again reverses the order; consequently the false rows against the respective plain courses are all 'even,' and in the Single method there are three false 'even' rows against each lead, and a total of six false 'even' rows against plain course.

SINGLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

Plain Lead.		Proving Rows.	False Rows.	Proof of Method.
(1) 12345	x	(0) 13542	= 13542	12345
(2) 21354	x	(9) 24531	= 15432	13542
(3) 23145	x	(8) 35421	= 15432	15432
(4) 32415	x	(7) 45312	= 15432	15243
(5) 34251	x	(6) 54213	= 15432	12534
(6) 43521	x	(5) 53124	= 15432	15432
(7) 45312	x	(4) 42135	= 15432	14352
(8) 54132	x	(3) 31245	= 15432	14235
(9) 51423	x	(2) 21354	= 15432	12453
(0) 15243	x	(1) 12345	= 15243	14352
12534				13542
				13254

The six false rows against the plain course are as follow:—

True.	False.
12345	13542
12534	13254
12453	14352
	14235
	15432
	15243

The following lead-heads, which would complete the twelve even rows with the treble fixed, i.e., 13425, 14523, 15324, can only be bobbed in, consequently there are only two true plain courses of Single Grandsire Doubles, one even and one odd, i.e., 12345 and 12435.

DOUBLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

In Double Grandsire Doubles there are two interior places in each lead which are not duplicated, consequently there are five false rows against each lead, and a total of nine false even rows against the plain course.

Plain Lead.		Proving Rows.	False Rows.
(1) 12345	x	(0) 13425	= 13425
(2) 21354	x	(9) 24315	= 15324
(3) 23145	x	(8) 35214	= 15324
(4) 32415	x	(7) 45123	= 15324
(5) 34251	x	(6) 54213	= 15432
(6) 43521	x	(5) 53124	= 15432
(7) 34512	x	(4) 42135	= 14352
(8) 43152	x	(3) 31245	= 14352
(9) 41325	x	(2) 21354	= 14352
(0) 14235	x	(1) 12345	= 14235
12453
12345		12453	12534
13425		14523	15324
15324		13425	14523
15432		13542	14352
14352		15432	13542
14235		15243	13254

The nine false rows against the plain course are as follow:—

True.	False.
12345	13425
12453	13542
12534	13254
	14352
	14235
	14523
	15324
	15432
	15243

It will be seen that in Double Grandsire Doubles the twelve even rows, with the treble fixed, are all absorbed, consequently there are only two true plain courses, and this is the extent of the method.

In the article last week, the second paragraph should have read: 'For finding the false rows of asymmetrical Plain Methods,' etc. (not symmetrical).

THE MINOR METHODS.

The Minor methods, of which the Central Council propose shortly to publish a revised 'Collection,' are still the centre of controversy. After years of disputation the actual names which they are to bear have been virtually settled and very generally accepted. There are isolated titles which still do not meet with everyone's approval, but taken altogether the Exercise is now fairly satisfied with what has been done. We publish a letter this week from the Norbury (Cheshire) Company, who first rang a peal of the 'floral' methods; accepting the new names and this graceful gesture on their part puts this side of the controversy finally at rest. The committee, we believe, still have to settle one or two questions of priority in other sections; cases where, while the names were not claimed during the period that the Council's librarian was open to receive them, reached the Analysis Committee before their report was published, but were not adopted by them, presumably because a later name had been claimed within the prescribed time. Except for small points of this kind, however, the names are to all intents and purposes definitely settled.

The question of the classification of the methods, however, is now being questioned. It is too late in the day to have anything on this point decided by the Council, unless publication is to be delayed for yet another year. Mr. Trollope, in his letter in another column, intimates that in this connection the report on the system of classification (adopted by the Council in 1906) may be reproduced. This, we think, will be absolutely essential, and we suggest that the committee would do well to amplify their report somewhat. Their definitions may quite well cover, to their own satisfaction, the methods as at present classified, but the ordinary ringer may be forgiven if he is a little confused when he examines the methods in the light of the report, and we think it is for this more ample explanation, and revision if necessary, that the Rev. H. Drake is asking.

To take an example or two. Plain methods are subdivided into three classes, defined as follows: (1) Bob Methods, having the Grandsire Bob place, either before, or behind, or both, the place being the extreme working bell place nearest the hunt or hunts. (2) Imperial Methods, having Imperial places as, for instance, those made in Kent Treble Bob. (3) Court Methods, having Court places, i.e., places other than those in (1) and (2). Now, some methods among the 'Imperials' have Court places coupled with a 'Grandsire Bob' place behind, but no suggestion (on the face of them) of Kent Treble Bob places in their construction. If 'Lytham' and 'Thelwall' are in their proper class, therefore, some explanation is necessary for the benefit of the ordinary ringer. Again, the insertion of 'Stepney' and 'Bala' among the Bob Methods and Stedman Slow Course among the Court methods may be technically in accordance with the committee's views of classification, but, if it is, the definition of a Bob method would seem to need further explanation, or the other definitions some modification. A person coming new to this book would imagine that some of the methods had just been pitchforked into the different categories without regard to the 1906 report; and a new edition ought not to appear without additional clarification.

Further, while the committee are doing their work, we would suggest, with a view to encouraging the higher standard of ringing involved in method splicing, that there should be an indication given of those methods which will splice together, by leads, courses or otherwise. A brief list would suffice, and would be of immense service to those who would like to take up this phase of Minor ringing.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD TOUR.

A WEEK IN THE WEST.

The 17th annual tour of the above Guild was held this year in the West, headquarters being at Almondsbury Vicarage, a few miles north of Bristol. A rather heavy programme had been arranged, including visits to some of the most famous towers in Gloucestershire and the North of Somerset. The numbers were, unfortunately, lower than usual, one or two members finding themselves at the last moment unable to come. Their absence was greatly felt in the matter of peal attempts, though the touch ringing was of a higher standard than usual.

Double Norwich was lost at Chewton Mendip on the first day, but the members had the consolation of 1½ hours' good ringing on this truly beautiful peal of bells. They then drove down the Cheddar Gorge to Winscombe, and then back to Wells, where they were privileged to ring Stedman Caters at the Cathedral.

Treble Ten was lost at Painswick, but they were successful the next day at Corston, where Double Norwich was brought round in just under three hours.

A handbell peal of Bob Royal was also rung, and good courses of Grandsire Cinques at Cirencester and St. Mary Redcliffe. Stedman Caters were rung at Tewkesbury (where the party had the pleasure of meeting the Rev. C. D. P. Davies), and on the fine peal at Wrington, but the most successful hour of the week was undoubtedly spent at Wraxall, where, after an excellent lunch and some equally excellent Somerset cider, courses of Cambridge, London, Superlative and Bristol were successfully brought round. The course of Bristol was the first that the Guild has rung, and was a source of great satisfaction.

The most successful feature of the tour was, without doubt, the weather, which was perfect all the week, and the members enjoyed the beautiful country of the West at its very best. The thanks are due, and are hereby tendered, to all the steeplekeepers and others who so kindly prepared the bells for them, met them at the towers, rang with them when there was a vacant rope, and in various other ways helped to make the tour such a happy one.

Next year the Guild will be celebrating its jubilee, and it is intended to hold the tour at Cambridge, where they all are looking forward to having with them once again their president, the Rev. A. H. F. Boughiey, who has watched over and guided the Guild through many ups and downs during his long term of office, which started very shortly after the foundation in 1879.

THE 'RINGERS' DIRECTORY. A COURAGEOUS VENTURE.

A very courageous step has been taken by the Bristol United Guilds in publishing the first 'Directory of Church Bellringers.' It is a work which will grow in importance as it increases in size, but even as a beginning it should prove extremely useful to the Exercise. The reasons for its appearance can best be given by quoting from the preface:—

'When Fabian Stedman first published his "Tintinnalogia" in 1668, he undertook a bold enterprise. Campanology, or the art and science of change ringing on bells, was a new thing; ringers were few and far between, and the difficulty of introducing his book, and the art with which it deals, must have been great. But he accomplished his task, and his name will be honoured for all time for the work which he did. Since Stedman's time the practice of change ringing has extended greatly, and within the last fifty years matters have improved in many ways. Diocesan Guilds and associations have been formed, bells have been better looked after, ringing chambers kept in better condition, and the status and privilege of the church bell-ringer more fully recognised.

'To-day in all parts of Great Britain, and, indeed, in a much wider area, there are change ringers. Their number is difficult to estimate. Under these circumstances, it has long been felt that there should be a Ringers' Directory. Other trades, other societies, have their directory. Why not a Ringers' Directory?

'This publication is an attempt to fill the gap. It has been undertaken by the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, who now send it forth in the hope that it may serve many useful purposes. We are told that ringers are always welcome to a rope in any tower where change ringing is practised. We read of ringers' outings. Ringing tours are not uncommon. A stranger in a strange place, whether as a visitor or coming into new residence, is made to feel at home if he can meet with fellow-ringers. In this way, then, a Ringers' Directory would serve a purpose. If it be only a means of bringing into touch with one another those who have a common interest much good will have been done.

'But, perhaps, more important still, there is this further consideration. If our exercise is to maintain its position, young ringers must be coming on year after year. Many a younger ringer has been lost to the Exercise, who, after having overcome the initial difficulties of change ringing, goes to reside elsewhere. He knows no one there, he is diffident about going to a strange tower, and consequently all the teaching he has received is wasted, and he himself loses interest. Here, obviously, a Ringers' Directory would be a help to all concerned.'

As to the directory itself, the names of the subscribers appear in alphabetical order, and there are something like 600 of these. Then follows a geographical classification, wherein association officials are indicated. There is, of course, much more difficulty in arranging this, because counties and dioceses are not coterminous, and their names also differ. Various improvements in this section will doubtless suggest themselves to the compilers of future editions, but for practical purposes this first issue is extremely helpful, and should be in the hands of all ringers. Subscribers are provided with a free copy, but non-subscribers can obtain a copy, on payment of one shilling, from Mr. E. Guise, 39, Tankard's Close, St. Michael's Hill, Bristol.

DOUBLE LONDON SURPRISE MAJOR.

BY GEORGE BAKER.

When the method 'Double London Surprise Major' was published on August 5th, 1927, I mentioned the fact that there were seven false course-ends to each plain course, tenors together, and that peals in the method were then an unsolved problem.

This last is no longer, and although there are only twenty-one true courses tenors together, there are forty-eight true courses to be had by using courses with the 7th in 5th's, 3rd's and 2nd's place.

The two peals of 5,184 changes which follow contain portions of the twenty-one true courses tenors together, plus three courses with the 7th in 5th's and 3rd's respectively.

Although it is to be regretted that peals with 7-8 fixed are impossible, yet I hope that, having shown the feasibility of peals on another plan, the method may yet claim the attention of the advanced societies, and there is one point that might be mentioned in favour of the method: it unquestionably extends perfectly on all even numbers to infinity.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH AND MEMBERSHIP CARDS.

The half-yearly meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Scunthorpe on Saturday, September 15th, and fairly well attended, amongst the towers represented being the following: Barrow-on-Humber, Bigby, Branston, Brigg, Elsham, Gainsborough, Grimsby (St. Andrew's), Lincoln and Willingham, in addition to the local company and two ringers from Misterton.

The tower contains a musical ring of eight bells, which have recently been overhauled by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, to whom great credit is due for the way in which they have carried out the work. The 'go' is excellent, and the bells, needless to say, were well utilised during the afternoon and evening in various methods ranging from Bob Minor to London Surprise Major.

In the absence of the Vicar (Rev. C. Steele), who was away from home on a holiday, the service, consisting of the Guild office, was conducted by the Rev. F. B. Lys, assistant priest, who gave a unique and most instructive address. It was gratifying to see such a good number present.

Subsequently thirty-nine members and friends sat down to tea in the Church Hall. The business meeting followed, at which, owing to the unavoidable absence of the president (Mr. F. Linley), the Rev. Lys was voted to the chair, and, on behalf of the Vicar, extended a hearty welcome to the Guild. Apologies of absence were announced from the Vicar, Canon W. Hicks (Messingham), Rev. W. L. Mann (Killingholme), Mr. F. G. Wileman (Gainsborough) and Mr. C. H. Baker (Gainsborough). Reference was also made to the absence of the Rev. R. Bond (Lincoln District president) and the Rev. H. T. Parry (Grimsby District president), the former owing to an engagement and the latter to indisposition.

One new member, Mr. H. E. Wills, of Brigg, was elected.

Mr. J. A. Freeman proposed, and Mr. H. Marcon seconded, that the next half-yearly meeting be held at Ewerby. An amendment, Mr. H. Morgan proposed and Mr. C. McGuinness seconded, Heckington.—On being put to the meeting the former place was agreed to.

The next item on the agenda was Mr. C. Chester's suggestion re introducing 'Cards of membership' in place of receipts.—After the matter had been explained, it was agreed that the committee's recommendation be accepted. This was as follows: 'The committee do not recommend a suggestion of introducing cards of membership in place of receipts for the following reasons: (1) Additional expense, (2) extra work for the secretaries, (3) inconvenience for the purpose of audit.'

Mr. Geo. Chester made reference to the Central Council meeting at Hereford, and also gave a satisfactory account respecting the Cathedral bells, at the same time stating that the Dean (Dr. T. C. Fry) had expressed a hope that it would be possible to have the twelve bells rung every Sunday.

Votes of thanks were unanimously carried to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the Rev. F. B. Lys for his address, to the organisers, to the caterers for the excellent tea provided, and to those of the local company who had made the necessary arrangements, and thus helped to mature such a successful meeting.—These were duly responded to and concluded the business, after which further ringing took place until about 9 p.m.

SHEFFIELD RINGERS VISIT DERBYSHIRE VILLAGE.

On Sunday, September 2nd, after ringing for morning service, the St. Marie's company, Norfolk Row, Sheffield, set off by motor charabanc for a visit to Youlgreave, one of the old-world villages nestling in the Peak of Derbyshire. In the fine old church here is a grand peal of eight by Mears and Stainbank, tenor 26½ cwt., put in 1870. These were the objective, the ringers having received a very hearty invitation from the Vicar and local ringers to pay them a visit. They travelled over the famous moors round the Fox House and Froggat Edge route, through Calver Hassop and Bakewell, then past the famous Haddon Hall, from where Dorothy Vernon eloped with Lord John Manners. The old hall has been renovated and made habitable once more, and is now occupied by its owner, the Duke of Rutland. Arrived at their destination safely, the party, after refreshments, made for the tower, where they found all in splendid order, not only in the ringing chamber but also among the bells and frame, and reflecting great credit upon the steeplekeeper.

Owing to illness close to the church, the programme was curtailed to short touches in various methods, after which the visitors were taken by the local members for a walk down part of the Lathkill Dale, a well-known spot for anglers. Here they were shown over the private fish hatchery belonging to the duke, and this proved very interesting, thousands of trout in various stages and ages being observed. At this stage the party were joined by Messrs. Fidler and Harrison, from Loughborough.

Tea was the next item, after which ringing for evening service was taken part in by various mixed bands. A social hour spent with the Youlgreave friends, in the course of which courses and tunes on the handbells by Messrs. G. Holmes, W. Burgar, J. A. Dixon, G. O. Dixon and J. Ervinson were rung, brought the visit to an end, and the return journey was made via Bastow and Owlver Bar.

Sheffield was reached in good time, everyone satisfied with a splendid day's outing. Thanks are expressed to all those who so kindly contributed to the enjoyment of the party.

A SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING TOUR.

On Sunday, September 9th, the Priory Church band, Dunstable, had a service ringing tour in Bucks and Berks for their annual outing. An ambitious programme had been drawn up and was duly carried out. The party 14 in number, boarded the charabanc at 8.15 for Beaconsfield, the 29 miles' run being enjoyed by all. Service ringing from 10 to 11 a.m., through the kindness of the local band, was the first item, the party being met by Mr. R. Buckland and other members.

The bells, a fine ring, were pulled up, and were soon going to Stedman, a touch of 408 being well rung, followed by 384 Double Norwich and a 'top-hole' course of Cambridge Surprise, everybody agreeing that a good start had been made. While ringing was in progress, some of the party took the opportunity to visit the wonderful oak lodge at the entrance of Hall Barn, and had the pleasure of a conversation with Lord Burnham. From Beaconsfield the party proceeded to Slough, via Burnham Beeches and Farnham Royal, where Mr. W. H. Fussell was to be picked up. The Village Pump had been given the writer as the place where he should be found, but it is hoped he will choose another place the next time this company visit Farnham, as the Village Pump became the joke of the day. However, Mr. Fussell was eventually discovered, and became the pilot to Slough, via Stoke Poges, where a visit was paid to Stoke Church and Gray's tomb. Slough was reached in time for a good hot dinner, arranged beforehand by Mr. Fussell. Ringing at St. Mary's Church, Slough, from 2.15 to 3 was next on the programme, Stedman, Double Norwich, Superlative and Grandsire being brought round. The bells here are a musical ring, and were much enjoyed. It was evident during the ringing that some of the party were used to a Sunday afternoon nap, as, glancing round during the ringing of one touch, six nodding heads were to be seen. However, everybody having had a pull, and a snapshot of the party having been taken, Mr. Fussell said 'Good-bye,' and handed over his duties to Mr. T. Smith, of Windsor Parish Church. A quick run to Windsor via Eton was undertaken. The weather then began to be unkind. By the time Windsor was reached, the rain came down in torrents. However, Mr. Smith had made arrangements for a visit to the curfew tower, an 'extra' that gave great pleasure to all, and filled in the hour until tea time. Tea over, Windsor Parish Church bells were at the disposal of the visitors from 5.30 to 6.30, the Windsor men taking an evening off. Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were rung, and the bells lowered in peal.

The return journey was begun via Bray, Maidenhead, Cookham, High Wycombe, to Hughenden, where the bells were available after evening service. The party reached the church and found the bells

DEVON GUILD.
CLERGY RING A TOUCH.

A quarterly meeting of the North-East Branch was held at Hemycok on Saturday. The weather was glorious, and ringers gathered from far and near in motor-cars and on bicycles, for trains are few and far between in the Culm Valley. No fewer than 62 sat down to tea in the Village Schoolroom, after attending service in the church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. G. Bletchley). The visitors included the president and Mrs. Powell, Mr. T. Laver (Guild secretary) and Mr. Godfrey (East Devon Branch). Exeter was well represented by many well-known members of the Cathedral band and of other churches, besides many others from Milverton, Talaton, Kenn, etc. The local towers represented were Calverleigh, Huntsham, Silverton, Tiverton, Bradninch and Holcombe Rogus.

After tea a touch of Grandsire Doubles was rung by clergymen, those taking being Rev. L. G. Bletchley (Hemycok), Rev. E. S. Powell (Clyst St. George), Rev. F. Carter (Calverleigh), Rev. E. Wright (Sheffield), Rev. E. J. Barton (Holcombe Rogus), Rev. E. V. Cox (Exmouth).

Touces of Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor and Major, Stedman and Grandsire were rung during the afternoon.

Culmstock tower and Uffculme tower, each with eight bells, were also open to visitors, thanks to the kindness of the Rev. Tertius Poole and the Rev. H. Chalk in giving permission, and of the local ringers for meeting and arranging for the visitors.

The annual meeting of the branch was fixed for Saturday, December 8th, to be held at St. Peter's, Tiverton.

ready, and had a warm welcome from several local men. 448 Cambridge, 252 Stedman and a touch of Double Norwich concluded the ringing for the day, the 'bag' during the trip being 896 of Cambridge, 224 Superlative, 1,143 Stedman, 798 of Double Norwich, and 223 of Grandsire. Home was then talked of, and was made via Wycombe, Amersham, Chesham and Berkhamsted. During the run between the two latter places, the writer noted several shy glances at watches, and there was some wondering 'whether we should do it.' However, at 9.55 p.m. Berkhamsted was reached. A quick descent, and no, dear reader, not the Village Pump, but a certain hotel en route, the occupants of which wondered what was happening. The events of the day were talked over, and the last nine miles of the homeward journey undertaken, Dunstable being reached at 10.50, after a really enjoyable day, everyone agreeing that it was one of the best outings the company had had. The band wish to thank all who helped in any way to make it such a success, especially Mr. Fussell for arranging the dinner, and Mr. Smith the tea and the visit to the curfew tower.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Little interval has passed since the publication of Kent Surprise, but on Thursday of last week the first peal was rung by the Essex Association, at Harlow Common.

A serious accident has befallen Miss H. F. Mills, of Aldershot, the hon. secretary of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild. While staying in Northern Ireland she was riding in a motor omnibus which overturned in a collision, and in addition to breaking some ribs Miss Mills was badly cut in her back. This latter injury has been causing serious concern, and Miss Mills is still in Londonderry City Hospital, whither she was taken after the accident. In consequence of this occurrence the next meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild cannot at present be arranged.

Matthew Wood, of Bethnal Green fame, one of the finest ringers of the old London school, was born on September 22nd, 1826. He died in 1912 at the age of 85 years.

The first peal of Double Norwich Caters was rung at St. Stephen's, Bristol, on September 22nd, 1894.

On September 25th, 1845, a peal of 6,701 Stedman Caters was rung at St. James', Bermondsey, being 'the greatest number attainable with treble in 2nd's place and bobs only.' It was composed and conducted by John Cox.

CANON COLERIDGE.

We are pleased to be able to state that Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council, continues to make satisfactory progress. He sat up for the first time on Sunday evening, but will not be able to leave the nursing home at Reading before about the end of the month.

STARTING YOUNG.

The other day Mr. Denison Taylor received at the Loughborough Bell Foundry a telegram stating laconically, 'Moral ordered.—Paul.' This was from his nephew, Paul Taylor, aged 15, youngest son of the late Mr. John W. Taylor, and brother of Mr. Pryce Taylor, whose untimely death last year was so much regretted by brother-strings all over the country.

Young Paul already is evincing the keenest interest in the business, handles a bell well, and spends the whole of his holidays amongst the bells, either at the foundry or in the belfries all over the country.

The telegram referred to above was from a village in Cornwall, to restore the bells of which Paul regards as his first order!

Although at Oundle School, and with his university career still ahead of him, Paul is eagerly looking forward to the time when he will be able to start work in earnest at the Foundry, and indications are not lacking that his keen musical ear and propensities towards engineering will be an asset towards upholding and enhancing the high standard attained by the firm in all its various branches of work. All friends of the Loughborough Foundry will extend their best wishes for the future success of this young member of an illustrious family.

ANOTHER HAMPSHIRE TOUR.

THE PROGRAMME OF A BUSY WEEK.

Another ringing tour is in progress in Hampshire this week, and taking part in it are well-known ringers from many places. They foregathered in Winchester on Saturday from Ireland, North Wales, Lancashire, Cheshire, Bucks, Essex, Middlesex, Surrey and Hants, and 'opened the ball' with a peal of Stedman Cinques on the Cathedral bells. Headquarters are at Swaythling and from here the following peal programme was to be carried out:—

Monday: Sherfield English and East Tytherleigh.

Tuesday: Romsey Abbey and Hursley.

Wednesday: Dibden, St. Mary's, Southampton, and Wimborne Minster.

Thursday: Soberton and Curdridge.

Friday: Alton and Privett.

Saturday: Bishopstoke and North Stoneham.

In the party there are two full bands of eight, so there will be no dearth of ringers; and, what is more, much of the travelling will be done in private motor-cars—somewhat different to the style of the old Hampshire touring days, when the excursions were limited to the power of a couple of horses in a wagonette.

WEDDING BELLS.

At St. Mary's Church, Bulwell, on Saturday, September 15th, in 45 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. Whalley 1, T. Jennison 2, S. Pinder 3, J. E. Hobbs 4, W. Stanner 5, G. Bramley (first quarter-peal) 6, E. Cooper (first quarter as conductor) 7, W. Collington 8. Rung for the wedding of Mr. E. Caunt, a member of the local band, to Miss E. Roberts.

THE COLLECTION OF MINOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The two methods given by Mr. A. C. Driver are in the new Collection. They are Nos. 28 Childwall and 29 Wavertree. May I thank those who have written to me suggesting alterations, and may I say that we are anxious to have any mistakes pointed out up to the time the MSS. leave our hands. But obviously any claim to priority in the name of a method made at the last moment will cause us some little trouble and inconvenience. No alterations in any names can now be entertained on the grounds of suitability or because the present name is objected to on æsthetic grounds. The time for that is passed.

I hardly know if I need say anything about the article headed 'Method Classification.' It professes to be a criticism of a report by the Method Committee. The Method Committee have issued no report at all, neither before the last Council meeting nor in your issue of September 7th. We published a list of the names we intended to put in the new edition of the Minor Collection, so that we could have the benefit of anything ringers had to say, and also so that the Council could give us any instructions it thought fit. We did not submit the names to the Council to be approved finally, neither did the Council do so.

I have no recollection of giving any promise to alter or try to alter the name Bogedone. On the contrary I have (since I asked and got the power of revision at the Mansion House) said that the sole duty of the Method Committee in this matter is to decide which of the names given by ringers is the correct one. If Mr. Drake objects to the name, he had his opportunity to alter it at Hereford. I asked for definite instructions; he preferred to talk round the subject and about a lot of things that were of no earthly help in the matter. He says he has 'an uneasy feeling that there are probable mistakes.' Now, is not that silly? The list is published so that people can point out mistakes if there are any. That is the only reason why the list is published. If he knows of any, why does he not let me know definitely as I asked? But he need not waste his time trying to show that we think or said that a Triples Method is a Minor Method.

I do not know why we should be at the trouble of giving Mr. Drake information which he can easily get for himself, but I may mention that the first edition contains an explanation of method classification, and probably the second edition will do so too.—Yours, etc.,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

[The inclusion of the two methods published last week, which Mr. Trollope says are now Nos. 28 and 29, will, we would point out, require a rearrangement of the numbering, if the present classification is adhered to, as, according to the existing arrangement, one is in the category of a Court method, and the other is a Bob method.—Ed. 'R.W.']

THE RENAMING OF THE 'FLORAL' METHODS.

Dear Sir,—As the band responsible for ringing and naming the floral Minor methods, we have had under very careful consideration the resolution passed by the Central Council at Hereford substituting others for the names assigned by us.

While we strongly deprecate this violation of a very ancient custom of the Exercise, in the interest of ringing we have decided to abide loyally by the terms of the resolution, and to accept the new designations in the future.—Yours faithfully,

JAMES FERNLEY,
for the Norbury company.

'SAMIWELL'S' COMMENTS.

Dear Sir,—I note in this week's issue of 'The Ringing World' that there is a moulting season for some tenors; others have been taking Virol or else Dr. Bengers food, and have benefited to such an extent that, at the four cwt. in four years rate, in another 80 years she will have qualified for 'He of England's' peal ledger. I evidently called at Keele too soon, for she was only six when I rang her on August 5th, 1924. I also called too soon at Mancetter, too soon by four pages, for on page 580 she is 20 cwt., but on page 584 she is only 10½ cwt.! How have the mighty fallen. Good job I didn't call next week, or I should have to have taken one with me had I wanted a pull.

I note, also, that someone else has taken some tonic of some sort, and it has certainly had the desired effect. It is not often that I see 'eye to eye' with all those who write in your pages on 'Method Classification and Nomenclature.' It is more often a case of an 'eye for an eye,' but this week I am more than pleased to say, 'Here is a man after mine own heart.' Mr. Drake, my hat is off to you. I agree in toto with your article. If this much maligned issue of methods is to be of any use to the Exercise, let us have it 'stamped in every link.' We don't want anything foisted upon us that has to have a lot of excuses made for it.

As to names, well, just change 'Bogedone' for 'Banshoe' and 'Cunecastre' to 'Cumform.' I don't like the name 'Immanuel' applied to a method, but these things I leave to those who wear 'the cloth' to settle; that is their vocation. I don't like the name

'Pennine'; it may be the backbone of England, but it is an awkward thing to walk across with a couple of feet of snow on it after a peal. I've tried it. I wonder if the other three stalwarts (two of them ex-police-sergeants) can remember the night they cleaned up the hambone, set that two-gallon jar up at backstroke, and then slept in my bed? Charles Henry Hattersley was the backbone of Yorkshire ringing when he lived. His name as the name of a Treble Bob method may not tickle the palate of the Euphoniacs, but it sure does suit.

SAMIWELL.

P.S.—The peal rung at Monk's Kirby on September 8th was a birthday compliment to 'Young Herkie.' More power to the arm of Jim H. Raper.

SILVER WEDDING.
A DUAL CELEBRATION.

There was a dual celebration of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith, of Woking, on Wednesday, September 12th. The marriage took place in 1903, at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, South-over, Lewes, Sussex, where Mr. Goldsmith had learned to ring, and where at least three generations of his family had been ringers before him. On the occasion of the wedding a peal was rung at this church, conducted by Mr. George Williams, then residing at Brighton, and another at Shere, in Surrey, arranged by Mr. J. Hunt, then of Guildford. An anniversary peal was put on at Shere, among Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith's friends in the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, and it was a matter of great pleasure and gratification that Mr. Williams was able to take part. The bells were placed at the disposal of the ringers by the kindness of the Rector, Rev. Sir Paget Bowman, and Mr. J. Spooner, the steeplekeeper, had everything ready for a quick start when the party arrived. A capital peal of Double Norwich Major was rung without a hitch, and afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith entertained the ringers and other friends to supper at the White Horse Hotel. Among those present were the two mothers, Mrs. Goldsmith, now aged 82, and Mrs. Baker, who on the same day celebrated her 81st birthday, Miss Goldsmith (daughter), Mr. H. C. Renshaw, Mrs. G. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pulling (Guildford), Mr. J. Spooner and the band, whose names will be found in the peal recorded elsewhere in these columns.

The second celebration took place the same evening at Birmingham, where Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith have many friends. Members of St. Martin's Guild rang a handbell peal of Stedman Cinques at 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, with numerous referees and witnesses of both sexes. This peal concluded shortly before 10 p.m., at which hour precisely at Shere, Birmingham, and Derby (where other friends had gathered) a mutual toast was drunk of health and long life to Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith.

At Shere the toast was proposed by Major Hesse (Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, of which Mr. Goldsmith is hon. secretary), and a birthday toast to Mrs. Baker was also honoured.

The Birmingham party broke up at a late hour, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker having acted as hosts and very kindly entertained the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith desire to thank the many friends throughout the country who have sent them congratulations and good wishes.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

BYE-MEETING AT LITTLEBOURNE.

A very successful meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was held at Littlebourne on Saturday last. It was the first association meeting held at Littlebourne for a number of years, although the tower has been 'in union' for 26 years. Twenty-seven members, an encouraging number for a bye-meeting, attended, including a visitor from Egerton, who proved a considerable help in the tower. Other towers represented included the following: Canterbury, Dover, Sturry, Herne, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, St. Lawrence, Wingham, Wickhambreau and the local tower.

The meeting was timed to commence at 3 p.m., but actually the bells were ringing a few minutes before three o'clock. During the afternoon, the Rev. L. H. Tiarks, Vicar of Littlebourne, paid a visit to the belfry, and gave the visitors a cordial welcome, expressing his appreciation of the numbers present.

Mr. H. Smith, of Wickhambreau, very thoughtfully introduced a ring of handbells, and these were used in the church porch by those ringers who found the atmosphere of the belfry somewhat depressing.

Tea was excellently provided by Mr. W. Martin at the Anchor Hotel, and presided over by the association's general secretary (Rev. Canon F. J. O. Helmore). The handbells were much in evidence, both immediately before and after the tea.

The District Secretary (Mr. Percy W. Smith) intimated that the only business to be transacted was the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting held at Margate. This was quickly finished, and ringing was resumed again at about six o'clock and continued until eight o'clock.

Besides being a success with regard to numbers, the meeting was an even greater success from a ringing point of view. Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise being some of the methods accomplished.

QUAINT BELFRY RULES.

HOW RINGERS WERE GOVERNED IN THE PAST.

In his recently-published book, 'Bells through the ages,' Mr. J. R. Nicholls quotes a number of the old rhyming belfry rules which are still to be found adorning the walls of some towers, although, of course, they are now preserved only as curiosities. One of the earliest of these sets of 'rules' was that at Scotter, Lincs, and is painted in red and black Gothic letters. Mr. Nicholls points out, and truly, that it will probably be necessary to read through this quaint rule several times before rhyme can be made of it, but the rhyme is there, nevertheless.

Yow ringers All who heare doe fall
And doe cast over a bell doe forfeit to the Clarke theirfore
A Groute I do yow tell & if yow thinck it to be little & beare
A valiant minde
Ymore yow give Unto him than
Yow prove to him
More kinde.

Another Lincolnshire tower provides an unusual and lengthy example. The following belongs to Stow, and is dated March 1st, 1770:—

All you who hath a mind to Larn to Ring
Must to the Sexton Admission money Bring 2 6
Those Articles observed Strict must be
Or your expelled this Society
Two Nights a Week, Sirs, you must meet or pay
This Forfiture to us without delay 0 2
Or when the Sexton for you tols a bell
You must appear, or else this Forfit tell 0 2
And when you come upon this Belfry
If that you Noise or talk, this Forfeit pay 0 1
When you Round peals can Ring, you must pay down
To be a change-man, Sirs, just half-a-crown 2 6
On the first change that you have Learned to Ring
One Shilling more must pay, Sirs, that's the thing 1 0
And every ringer must Spend more or less,
As he thinks meet, to wish you good Success 0 2
If you would Learn to prick a peal in Score
Unto those Colledge Youths you must pay more 1 0
When you know Bob, Hunt, Single, Dodge compleat
You'll not deny our Colledge Youths a Treat 2 6
On our Feast day, the Twenty-ninth of May
Each member must, Sirs, just one Shilling pay 1 0
Where our accounts are passed Sirs for Truth
And you are Stiled then a Colledge Youth
New Stewards then are chose—and by the by
If that you do the Stewardship deny 1 6
Your fine must pay—as in the margin see
Then from your Stewardship one year are free
Those Rules peruse well before you enter
It is a hard task on which you venture,
When once a member you are freely made
Those Articles must justly be obeyed.
So now my Lads, admission money bring
And we will Learn you presently to ring 2 6

A series of sixpenny lines seem to have been in force at one time at Grantham Parish Church. There was sixpence to the poor if the ringer chanced to curse or swear within the belfry door. It is difficult to know why this particular line should go to the poor, when all the rest went to the ringers or sexton. It looks as if the poor were made to benefit merely because the word rhymed with 'door.' Here are some of the other penalties, the first apparently referring to a recasting either carried out or about to be carried out:—

And whoso'er a noise does make
Or idle story tells Must SIXPENCE to the Ringers take
For melting of the bells.
Young men that come to see and try
And do not ringing use
Must SIXPENCE give the company
And that shall them excuse.

There was also a sixpenny fine for wearing hat or spurs in the belfry or for throwing over a bell, and the 'Articles' conclude as follows:—

Or if a noble minded man
Comes here to Ring a Bell
A SHILLING is the Sexton's fee,
Who keeps the Church so well.
If any should our Parson sneer
Or Warden's rules deride
It is a rule of old most clear
That such shan't here abide.

The Sabbath-day we wish to keep
And come to church to pray
The man who breaks this ancient rule
Shall never share our pay.

And when the bells are down and ceased
It should be said or sung
May God preserve the Church and King
And guide us safely home.

In many places the penalty for offences in the belfry was a jug of beer, and possibly this was the origin of the ringers' jugs, of which a few examples remain, one such being in Norwich Museum and another at Beccles. In those days, of course, the larger the jug the better. The old rules at Tong, Salop, included the following:—

Our law is so concluded here;
For every fault a jugg of beer,
If that you ring with spur or hat
A jugg of beer must pay for that.

At Gulval, in Cornwall, there was formerly to be found a rhyme reminiscent of the dark ages when bells were rung to scare away the devil:—

Good Sirs! our meaning is not small,
That God to Praise assemblies call;
And warn the sluggard, when at home,
That he may with devotion come
Unto the Church and joyn in prayer;
Of Absolution take his share.
Who hears the bells, appears betime,
And in his seat against we chime.
Therefore I'd have you not to vapour,
Nor blame ye lads that use the clapper
By which are scard'd the fiends of hell,
And all by virtue of a Bell.

We look back to-day and smile at these quaint old rules and their penalties, and think what change has come over the conduct of belfries. Thanks almost entirely to Associations and Guilds, the belfry is now treated with as much reverence as any other part of the church, but it is interesting to have the old rules preserved in such a book as that which Mr. Nicholls has now written.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

On Friday, September 7th, an attempt was made by eight members of the Frodsham band to ring a peal of London Surprise Major, but after 1½ hours' ringing the attempt was brought to an untimely end.

The attempt was made in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, of Manchester. Mr. Brown was born in Runcorn, and takes great pride in claiming Cheshire as his native county.

He learned to ring a bell at the Parish Church of Runcorn. His brother, the late Thomas Brown, was also a ringer at the same church, and more recently his brother-in-law, the late Mr. B. Trevitt, was head ringer there for some years.

After the ringing, the ringers adjourned to 'a certain place,' and at the expense of Mr. Brown celebrated the event in the usual way. It was the earnest wish of all present that Mr. and Mrs. Brown might celebrate many more anniversaries of their wedding.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.
WESTERN DISTRICT.

A very fine day, pleasant surroundings, and a cheerful company, all these helped to make up a happy meeting at Great Gaddesden on Saturday week, although, through the very poor bus service, some had to 'shanks' the journey from Hemel Hempstead to Gaddesden.

The bells, newly augmented to six, were set going soon after 3 p.m. to a variety of methods. At 4.15 a short service, with a sociable talk by the Rev. Lees, deputising for the Vicar, an old boy of his, was much appreciated by the company. Further ringing was then done until 5 p.m., when the company adjourned to the Cock and Bottle for tea. Having used up all the tea and hot water, the business meeting was held, Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham presiding.

Four new members were elected, viz., Mr. A. L. Allen (Hemel Hempstead), H. B. Whitney (Leighton Buzzard), R. J. Scott (Totterhoe), F. J. Tompkins (Houghton Regis).

King's Langley was selected for the next meeting, with a recommendation that Redbourn be chosen for the following one.

Mr. F. J. Reeves proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Rev. Lees for his much-appreciated address, and the local ringers for their arrangements. This was seconded by Mr. H. Golding and carried in the usual manner.

The towers represented were Redbourn, Berkhamsted, Hemel Hempstead, Rickmansworth, Watford, Tring, Hinxley, Totterhoe, Houghton Regis, St. Albans and the local one.

During the afternoon and evening the following methods were rung: Plain Bob, Double Oxford, London Bob, Kent and Cambridge Surprise Minor, Plain Bob, Grandshire and Stedman Doubles, with Grandshire Triples and Plain Bob Minor on handbells.

This concluded another happy meeting.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT CHOBHAM, BUT LOCAL MEN ABSENT.

In the Guildford diocese there are very few towers whose ringers are not attached to the Guild. One such, however, is Chobham, where, despite all inducements, the local ringers, who have never associated themselves with any ringing organisation, refuse to join the Guild, although the Parochial Church Council have 'affiliated' the tower. In a further effort to get the Chobham ringers interested in the Guild, a combined practice was held there on Saturday, and members rallied to this in very gratifying numbers. During the afternoon and evening, nearly forty put in an appearance from Guildford, Pirbright, Cranleigh, Ockham, Egham, Thames Ditton, Bagshot, Ottershaw, Horsell and Woking, with welcome visitors from Acton, Uxbridge and Finchampstead. All that the visitors saw of the local men, however, was one who came to unlock the tower; then he, too, disappeared. The Vicar (the Rev. G. W. Grundy) came among the ringers and conducted a party of them round the church. During the afternoon and evening the standard methods were given a good grueling, and several novices in charge ringing ne'ped a stage further.

Chobham, although a village of no small dimensions, has, among its neighbours, a reputation of being 'behind the times.' A new generation is now springing up which is endeavouring to alter this state of affairs, but it is still dominated by those who believe in the doctrine that 'what was good enough for my father and his father is good enough for me.' It is this spirit which still, apparently, pervades the bellry. The church, dedicated to St. Lawrence, has been largely rebuilt, but has some fine Norman pillars, and it contains the tomb of the great Nicolas Heath, once Archbishop of York. He was Lord Chancellor of England under Queen Mary. When Elizabeth came to the throne he resigned, but remained so much in the Queen's good graces that she visited him once a year through his life, believing his mistaken piety sincere, as an old writer tells us.

Until comparatively modern times there were only five bells in the steeple, which is crowned by a lead-covered spire, but these bells are survivals of a distant age. Four of them, as was only natural, came from neighbouring foundries, and were cast by the Eldridges, who were first at Wokingham and then at Chertsey. The present 3rd was cast in 1684 at Chertsey by William Eldridge, the last of the family to carry on the business, who died in 1716, at an age of more than 80 years.

The next older bell is the tenor, which was cast in 1610 by Richard Eldridge, of Wokingham, who had also a small branch establishment at Horsham, in Sussex. The examples of Richard's bells in Surrey—which range in date from 1593 to 1622—are, with one exception, inscribed in coarse, badly-formed black letter, with rather wonderfully-shaped capitals. His almost invariable motto was, 'Our hope is in the Lord,' with his initials and the date. A few bells, however, bear a different inscription, and one such is Chobham tenor, which is inscribed, 'In trouble and adversitie the Lord God heare thee.'

It seems fairly certain that Chobham must have had a ring of at least four bells from a very early date, for the present fifth and seventh were both cast (or recast) in 1597 by Richard Eldridge, and bear his favourite inscription, 'Oure hope is in the Lorde,' while the present 6th is an even older bell. Indeed, it is a relic of pre-Reformation days, having undoubtedly been cast by William Culverden, brazier, of London, who died in 1522. It bears his shield and the inscription, 'Sancta Margereta Ora Pro Nobis,' with large, handsome crowned capitals.

The bells were made six in 1880, and the present trebles added in 1892. All these bells are by Mears and Stainbank.

THE SILVER BELL FOR H.M.S. 'NELSON.'

There was much festivity on the Tyne on Saturday on the occasion of the visit to the scene of her birth of the battleship 'Nelson,' which had arrived the previous evening and moored at Jarrow. At noon a special meeting of prominent citizens was held in the Newcastle Town Hall, presided over by the Lord Mayor, Alderman Stephen Ensten, to present a solid silver ship's bell from the citizens of Newcastle to the battleship. This was handed over by Councillor A. W. Lambert, who, as ex-Lord Mayor, inaugurated the idea.

The bell, into whose making went 7,000 ounces of pure silver, and which ultimately emerged weighing 189 lb. avoirdupois, bears an inscription indicative of its donors. The bell was recently described in our columns by Mr. C. R. Routledge, president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. It is 20 inches in height and 19 inches across the mouth. Even the tongue is of solid silver.

The bell was formally received by Captain Meyrick, of the 'Nelson,' and then Admiral Sir Hubert Brand, of the Atlantic Fleet, thanked the donors and the city on behalf of the Fleet. In so doing he testified to the notable constructive record of the Tyne in all forms of war vessels, both before and during the war.

The civic and naval party then proceeded to the Mansion House for luncheon with the Lord Mayor and Sheriff of Newcastle, the bell meanwhile being borne, in the presence of a huge throng of spectators, by seamen down the steep streets to the quayside, where it was placed in a launch and transported four miles down the river to the 'Nelson' at Jarrow. The festivities were continued on Sunday and Monday.

RINGING IN DEVON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The ringers of St. Thomas', Exeter, are to be congratulated on the successful outing to which you have referred in your leading article. Ringers generally will hope that some fruit may be borne from this venture.

There is another instance which, I think, is also worthy of note. At the recent meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch at Lustleigh, three of the local ringers (who, I believe, are members of the Devon Guild's rival association) rang the tenor behind to 120's of Grandsire Doubles. It was felt by the visitors that some good had been done here also.

The wives of the locals and other ladies kindly took charge of the tea at this meeting, and were included in the vote of thanks. This item was accidentally left out of the report of the meeting sent (and published last week), and an apology is therefore due for this omission.—Yours faithfully,

A. L. BENNETT.

Buckfastleigh, Devon.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

AN EXCURSION TO THE WEST.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In beginning these notes allow me to congratulate you and Mrs. Goldsmith on your silver wedding, and I hope you duly received the figures of the peal of Treble Bob rung on the wedding day, and also that the silver wedding peal was successful. Some of your readers will wonder what this has to do with two cities, but they have not got long to wait and see. Again, Mr. Editor, I must congratulate you on your well-reasoned article of the 14th inst. If your readers follow closely they must read, mark, and inwardly digest.

Now to business. On Sunday, August 26th, the writer was suddenly called upon to attend a friendly society conference at a very ancient city known by many as the 'Ever Faithful.' Time was short, seeing the conclave opened on September 3rd, but the writer had a brain wave. Did not 'The Ringing World' publish a few weeks since the list of secretaries of all county associations and Guilds? Turning to a back number, the requisite address was found, and a letter was off next post, bringing an answer by return, with 'digs' fixed up and, you bet, some ringing, with rising and falling thrown in. Travelling by 'G.W.' on Sunday, September 2nd, to the 'Ever Faithful,' 'digs' were located, and some time was spent waiting for the hon. secretary of the county Guild. Several glances were exchanged before the gentleman ventured to speak, but he need not have waited so long if he had looked at the traveller's bag, for there, tucked under a strap, was a current issue of 'The Ringing World.' Ringers, please note: Always carry a copy; it is very handy for recognition.

Ringling at St. David's on Monday evening, at St. Sidwell's on Tuesday, at St. Thomas' on Wednesday, St. Petrock's and Heavitree on Thursday, filled the evenings. Friday saw business finished, and full steam ahead for another city. A host of ringers gathered to meet the visitor, several of whom had met at the 'All England' gathering at Croydon, and, most remarkable of all, one who sat next the writer at tea on that occasion. At St. James' tower some Double Norwich and Bob Major were tapped off on another grand ring. Staying by invitation at this city with an old and valued friend of 'record' handbell fame, the writer on Saturday morning joined a charabanc party at 8 a.m., the first objective being St. Peter's, Oakford, where there is a most delightful ring. Then off to St. Mary Magdalene's, South Molton. More ringing and many tales of bygone days, then off to St. John-the-Baptist, Witheridge, and afterwards to Crediton, where the 'inner man' was duly replenished. Then to the tower, and what a noble building it is, and in it a most noble ring of bells. Afterwards, on again to the 'Ever Faithful City,' with glorious scenery en route. Tea at a well-known cafe, then to that grand and melodious ring of 72½ cwt., the 'tit bit' of all. Here Stedman was essayed, but did not materialise. Grandsire Cinques was, however, successful. Bidding good-bye to the visitors, the writer returned to his former 'digs,' and next morning rang at St. Sidwell's. To the Cathedral for service, a most inspiring and delightful one, and then to the train for the long journey home.

Allow me to thank all my new friends for their very cordial greeting. I know what they have to contend with in the City of the Ever Faithful, but will they take a little honest advice? Will they all pull together and co-operate more closely? They will then surmount their difficulties much sooner and much more easily.

W. K.

LOWER BEEDING, SUSSEX.—On Thursday, August 30th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: E. Wadley 1, H. Wadley 2, W. Watts (conductor) 3, G. Woodman 4, G. Feist 5, F. Hindes 6, R. Langridge 7, W. Thorns 8. This is the first quarter-peal by E. and H. Wadley, also the first quarter-peal by the local band. It was also rung in honour of E. Wadley's 19th birthday.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

THE BROADCAST.

There are some people who do not think it altogether wise to enlighten the public too much on the subject of bell ringing, but who prefer that the art should remain enwrapped in mystery from fear that the more the public know about it the less they will be inclined to uphold it. With this view we totally disagree. We practise an art of which we may legitimately be proud; and it is no decaying art either. We fulfil a not unimportant function in the service of the national church, and we have nothing to hide. On the contrary, the more the public appreciate that the bell ringers' work is something more than a mere pulling at ropes to produce a noise, and that in its best form it is something which demands a high standard of skill, mental alertness and physical fitness, the more readily will they recognise that bell ringing is an art which deserves encouragement and invites participation. But how can this spirit be promoted among the public, unless the public are educated to it?

In all matters of this kind the educational process must necessarily be a slow and long one; but any means which enables the public, or any section of it, to get some grasp of what is involved in the art of ringing is a step forward. For that reason the Central Council are to be congratulated upon having induced the B.B.C. to permit a 'wireless' talk on the subject to be given from the London studio. It is not an easy thing to make intelligible to a large audience a technical subject like bell ringing, in the short space of a quarter of an hour, when the bulk of that audience has no preliminary knowledge of it. There can be no doubt, however, that the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, who was responsible for the subject matter and delivery of the 'talk' itself, made the most of the time at his disposal and covered, in those few minutes, quite a lot of ground. His illustrations, too, were well chosen, but the subject is such a large one that he could, naturally, take in only just a bit of the fringe.

What the practical result of the talk is likely to be, no one can say, but if it has only scratched the surface of interest in that portion of the public who heard it, it will well have repaid all the time and trouble that has been given to it. Not the least important result, however, is the impression apparently made upon the officials of the B.B.C. itself. At first it was only by persistent effort that they were eventually persuaded to allow the talk to be given; at the end they were so impressed by the handbell course of Stedman Triples that 'marvellous' was their description of it, and rather than 'fade' it out at the close of the allotted time they permitted it to run on to a finish. This is a happy augury of what, we hope, may be done in the future in the way of wireless talks on the subject of bells and ringing. A great deal depended upon how this first venture was carried through. It was entirely successful, and, the door having now been opened, it ought to be possible to gain admission to 'Savoy Hill' for further talks of the same kind and upon other matters connected with bells and their many-sided interests.

'NELSON'S' SILVER BELL.HOW THE MASSIVE CASTING WAS MADE.

Most ringers know the process by which a bell is cast, and they will read with interest the description of the casting of the silver bell for H.M.S. 'Nelson,' the presentation of which we reported in our last issue. No bell of silver had ever previously been made of the dimensions of this bell, which the citizens of Newcastle gave to the 'Nelson,' and there were many doubts expressed as to what sort of bell would result. The order was placed with Messrs. Reid and Sons, of Newcastle, who put the work into the hands of Messrs. Stole and Co., of Deptford. The following story of the casting of the bell appeared in a Newcastle newspaper:—

The first step towards the making of a casting is the pattern work—in this case the mould and core of the bell were struck up in special loam, by means of a striking-up board. These boards are made to suit the contour of the outside and inside of the bell, and are attached to a revolving spindle.

The mould is then prepared on a plate, roughly to the shape of the bell, and the striking board is then revolved, thus removing any surplus of loam and leaving the mould or core to the size required.

The board for the outside diameter was made considerably larger than the finished size, but the board for the core was exactly to size with the exception of the mouth of the bell or where the clapper strikes, as an allowance had to be made for machining.

A full pattern was made for the crown portion of the bell, and the mould for this was made in sand.

These moulds were then put into drying ovens, and all moisture thoroughly extracted—this must be done very gradually, and therefore the moulds were in the ovens for two or three days. The complete mould consisted of three parts, and, after drying, these were assembled by means of locating boxpins to ensure a perfect joint, and the mould was then ready to receive the metal.

Over 7,000 ounces of silver were melted in specially constructed graphite pots, and the fuel used for melting was specially selected sulphur-free coke. The melting of the silver was supervised by an expert from the laboratory, who, by the use of an instrument known as a pyrometer, which indicates the temperature of metals, decided the right moment when the silver was ready for pouring.

The metal was poured into a runner box, which is placed at the top of the mould, the runner connecting to same, feeding from the bottom of the mould.

The molten metal is collected in the runner box—a ball valve preventing the silver from entering the mould until nearly all the silver is transferred from the pots—then the valve is removed, and the silver enters the mould with considerable force, thereby ensuring that the metal will enter all parts of the mould before freezing takes place. This is a very anxious moment, and is particularly necessary with silver, as this metal soon freezes, or sets.

In addition to the runner box, two large square risers, about 8 in. x 6 in. section, were placed at the top of the mould, and into these the surplus metal runs, and also any dirt that might be in the mould or metal.

Another interesting fact may be mentioned, and that is the silver bell was cast crown uppermost, which is contrary to the usual practice amongst bellmakers—it was deemed advisable to do this because of the great volume of metal in the body of the bell near the mouth, and the possible difficulties in the setting of silver in such volume.

The mould was removed within a few hours of casting, and the casting was found to be perfect—a joy and relief to those responsible for this portion of the work.

The runners and risers were then removed in the trimming shop and the bell was transferred to the machine top, for turning to correct size and weight.

Even the clapper is made of solid silver, and is in two pieces—the striking portion being cast and machined, and the rod being forged with a hook at one end, and screwed at the other for connecting to the striking portion. The eye on which the clapper hangs was cast and machined and screwed into the crown of the bell.

The actual weight of silver melted was 7,393 oz. troy, and only 61 oz. troy were lost in the various processes of manufacture—a percentage of less than 1 per cent.

Special precautions, of course, had to be taken to guard against undue loss, and considerable expense was incurred in the necessary plans to achieve this.

The casting was trimmed on a specially cleaned floor, covered with paper, and all filings and chippings carefully swept up—the lathe on which the bell was turned was enclosed with boarding lined with paper, and all turnings swept up each day, and carefully transferred to the safe.

After filing and burnishing, the final polishing of the surface took a polisher a whole week to do; the surface is beautifully free from the slightest mark, and the colour carries the usual charm of burnished silver.

The finished weight of the bell is 2,749 oz. troy, which is 1 cwt. 2 qr. 20 lb. 11 oz. avoirdupois.

The bell has been engraved with the name of the ship, and also the inscription: 'Presented to H.M.S. "Nelson" by the inhabitants of Tyneside, 1928,' surmounted by the City Arms.

BISHOP AND BELLRINGERS.BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION'S PRESENTATION.

The members of the Barnsley and District Association have presented to the retiring Bishop of Wakefield a large framed photograph of a group taken on the lawn at St. Mary's Rectory, Barnsley, and in which the Bishop was the central figure. The gathering was unique in the history of the association from the interest taken in it by, and the presence of, many clergy and well-known ringers. The gift was presented to the Bishop as a memento of a very happy day. The presentation, which took place at the Diocesan Church House, Wakefield, was made by a deputation of Mrs. J. W. Moxon (Sandal), president of the association, Mr. R. Thickett (Horbury), and Mr. W. Reyner (Sandal), vice-presidents and past-presidents.

Mr. Moxon (says the 'Wakefield Express') told the Bishop that the honour which he paid the association by attending their Barnsley rally had already done them a great amount of good, and they felt that the Barnsley Association was the 'live wire' of bellringing societies in Yorkshire to-day. Great strides had been made since the war, and the meetings had been a real inspiration to the ringers.

The presentation was made by Mr. Reyner, who told something of the history of the Yorkshire Association founded over fifty years ago by Jasper Snowden, which grew to such an extent that sub-divisions had to be made, these resulting in the founding of their own organisation. Ringing, said Mr. Reyner, was a very fascinating art, and he was surprised that it was not taken up more by the younger men. There was no recreation wherein the mental and physical faculties were more combined than in change ringing. To ring 5,000 changes without a break, and without a look at a figure, must be a great strain on any young man or woman who took up the art, and was a fine recreation, so much so that it was deplorable to find so many church towers where the peal of bells was idle. It was regrettable that fine peals in some of the towers in which that association had rung in the past should to-day be silent, the belfry left open and exposed to climatic action, and the place practically 'lost' so far as ringing was concerned. Nothing sounded better or sweeter on a Sunday than the ringing of church bells, and it must have an uplifting effect on those who were going to preach in the churches. Think what an outcry there would be throughout the length and breadth of the land if the church bells of England were silent for a month! Nobody mentioned the ringers under ordinary conditions, but let the bells be silent, churchpeople would soon be wanting to know whether there was a strike on, or whether the ringers had fallen out with the parson! It was a matter for pride with him that he had rung the bells and sung in the choir at every confirmation held at Sandal Church during the past fifty years.

The Bishop, in acknowledging the gift, which, he said, would be among the things he would value most, because it was a little bit of Yorkshire which he would take away with him, remarked that it was a matter for real regret that the younger men were not coming forward and taking up the art of ringing, but apparently it was the same in change ringing as in Friendly Society work—it was 'the old gang' which kept things going. It was evident that a recruiting campaign was necessary, and had he been remaining in the North he would have done everything possible to forward such a movement. Personally, he had a feeling that the interest of the young people would come back, but he was afraid that we had of recent years in England a little lost some of the occupations which demanded patience. With the increase of education, and the enormous opportunities for excitement and recreation, the younger generation did not put their hand steadily to those tasks which required great steadiness, great intelligence, and great perseverance. As a result of what had been said he hoped that 'more of the younger men would come forward and take up the time-honoured, peculiarly English, and excellent bit of work of ringing the bells in the church steeples of the country.' As regarded the silent steeples and belfries open to the effects of weather conditions, the Bishop offered as a practical suggestion the getting into immediate touch with Archdeacon Harvey, but he reminded the association that there was such a thing as the annual visitation of churches in the diocese, and that the condition of the belfries and peals of bells were amongst the things which had to be noted in the report.

In a word as to his successor, his Lordship said that if the choice had been left to himself, and he had searched England over, he could not have found a better man than Canon Seaton, and he was very happy in the thought that he was leaving the work in such capable hands. He was a real man, a Yorkshireman, who knew the West Riding in and out—better than he did himself—and withal a very approachable man, and likely to be popular as well as very efficient in his new office.

Mr. Thickett, adding a few words at the close, referred to his own lengthy connection with bellringing at Horbury. He had rung the bells at St. Peter's for 40 years, and his brother had done it 30 years. The learning of ringing, he said, was a difficult matter, and many who started gave it up when they reached a certain stage. A lot depended upon the clergy, and the sympathetic interest of the Vicar of a parish meant a great deal to the bellringers, who worked far better than when they were left severely alone, with the feeling that they were on their own.

THREE ASSOCIATIONS MEET.

ESSEX, HERTS AND MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATIONS' JOINT GATHERING AT WALTHAM ABBEY.

For some years an annual joint gathering of Essex and Middlesex Association members has been held at Waltham Abbey. This took place on Saturday, and it was a happy thought which led to an invitation being extended to the Herts Association to participate. A continuance of the glorious summer weather of the past few weeks caused a large number of ringers (in many cases with their wives) to attend, well over 60 being present. Ringing was commenced early in the afternoon, under the guidance of Mr. W. Pye, and continued until tea time.

After tea, which was a somewhat lengthy affair owing to the large attendance, a short meeting was held. The chair was taken by Mr. W. H. Lawrence (Herts Association), who was supported by the following association officials: W. Nash (Herts), E. J. Butler, F. J. Pitstow, A. Prior (Essex), W. Pickworth, W. Pye and C. T. Coles (Middlesex).

The Chairman first called upon the last-named, who stated that they were met together in a joint effort to further the art of change ringing. This meeting, said Mr. Coles, was probably unique in the history of ringers' gatherings. There had been several occasions during recent years when the associations had met together, but he thought that this was the first time when three associations had done so. It was a happy idea which led to the Herts Association being invited, and he hoped the meeting would continue in popularity. They were not rivals; they existed for the same object, that of fostering ringing for church services; and it was the duty of the associations to assist each other in those areas where their territories adjoined.

Mr. F. J. Pitstow said it was a pleasure and a privilege to be present at such a meeting. He endorsed all that the previous speaker had said as to the objects of the meeting, and added that they of the Essex Association always wished to help other societies in furtherance of their common object.

Mr. W. H. Lawrence said that he wished to thank the other two associations for the invitation to Herts members to join them at this meeting. In Hertfordshire they had no twelve-bell tower, and they therefore greatly appreciated this opportunity of ringing on twelve bells. He trusted that the friendly feeling would continue between them.

During the proceedings a brief visit was paid to the meeting by the Vicar (Rev. F. B. Johnston), recently recovered from a serious illness. He welcomed the ringers to Waltham Abbey, and wished them God-speed in their work.

Mr. E. J. Butler thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells for this annual gathering, which kindness, he said, was much appreciated by them all.

During the afternoon and evening a large number of touches were rung in the following methods: Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Caters and Cinques, and a course of Cambridge Maximus. Late in the day Mr. G. R. Pye, fresh from a successful ringing tour in Hampshire, turned up, and almost at the close of the day Messrs. E. Jenkins and J. H. Riding, who had also come from Hampshire, arrived just in time to take a short turn in the ringing.

SHIPLAKE RINGERS' LOSS.

By the death of Mrs. Nicholson, of the Old Vicarage, Shiplake, Oxon, the ringers have lost a dear friend. 'The Ringing World' of December 23rd last contained an account of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson's golden wedding, of their continued hospitality, not only to the ringers but in the surrounding district. One knew little of Mrs. Nicholson's kind actions; so quiet, so reserved were they that the origin of many seeds of kindness were unknown. Mrs. Nicholson was confined to her bedroom for some time, and weekly listened to the Sunday ringing. She loved to hear good striking. Recently the writer was congratulated by her on a touch rung for evensong and the lowering of the peal. She would speak on bad striking, pick out the bell that did not receive the attention that it should have done.

The funeral, fully choral, took place on Saturday last. Six of the oldest ringers were bearers, and the ringers' foreman performed the duties of undertaker. There were nearly fifty magnificent floral tributes, that from the ringers being in the shape of a bell with clapper complete, and bearing the words, 'Sweet bells chime, 'tis even-tide, Heaven's morning breaks for you.'

With the bells half-muffled, 300 of Grandsire Triples was rung before the service, a 500 afterwards, then the muffles were removed by request, and the bells run down in peal, which closed a day mingled with sorrow and sweet memories that will linger long in the hearts of Shiplake ringers.

HOPE.—At the Parish Church, on September 8th, after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Surprise Minor (1,680 changes), being 240 each of the following methods: London, Canterbury, Beverley, York, Carlisle, Chester and Cambridge: E. Lloyd 1, J. Greasley 2, E. Parry 3, H. Rogers 4, T. A. Rogers 5, T. Rogers (conductor) 6. The ringers wish to thank the Rector (the Rev. Thea Jones) for the loan of the bells, and also Mr. and Mrs. Millington for their hospitality and the tea they so kindly provided.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

LEICESTER DISTRICT.

The third quarterly meeting of the Leicester District was held at Enderby on Saturday. The bells were raised in peal about 3.30 p.m., after which a touch of Stedman Triples was rung. This was followed by a few rounds and call changes for the benefit of some of the local ringers. After this, touches of Bob Major, Double Norwich, Superlative Surprise and Stedman Triples were rung, and at 5 p.m. members made their way to the Church Institute, where a very good tea was partaken of by 20 members. This was kindly arranged by Mr. C. Jesson, captain of Enderby ringers.

The business meeting was held immediately afterwards. Two new members were elected, viz., Mr. Edwin Cattell, of St. Margaret's, Leicester, and Mr. Clarence Jesson, of Enderby.

It was decided to hold the annual district meeting at Belgrave.

The Rev. R. P. Farrow kindly invited the Leicester District to combine with the Hinckley District and hold a joint meeting at Stoney Stanton. He said that if they did so he would see that they were provided with tea at half price or less.—Mr. R. H. Bartlam, of Melton Mowbray, asked the meeting if they would consider having a meeting at his tower. He said that although they were in the Leicester District he could not remember a district meeting there, although there had been a few 'general' M.C.A. meetings.

It was decided at this meeting to send votes of condolence to Mr. H. J. Poole, of Leicester, and Mr. Lovatt, of Sileby, in their sad bereavement.

The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks to the Vicar and towerkeeper.

The belfry was then visited again, the methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major.

The meeting was altogether quite representative, one or more members being present from most of the towers in the Leicester District. Several members were also present from the Hinckley district. Everyone present was very pleased with the tone and go of this new peal (tenor about 12 cwt.) by Messrs. Taylor's, of Loughborough.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

THE FIRST RINGING CONTEST.

A well-attended meeting of the North Notts Association was held at Norton Cuckney, when 42 members and friends were present from Anston, Barlborough, Everton, East Markham, Gamston, East Retford, Ordsall, Warsop, Worksop, Edwinstowe, Mansfield Woodhouse, Sutton-on-Trent, and a number of the local company.

This being the first competition for the Crawford silver cup, the Rev. H. R. Peel, Vicar of Cuckney, had given a most hearty invitation to the association to hold it at that tower, and Mr. J. R. Brearly, of Bolsterstone, was appointed the judge. The contest piece was 560 changes of any method.

Four companies entered the competition, but only two bands brought a full company (probably the great distress in the coal fields had something to do with this). The two companies to compete were Anston and Shireoaks, and the judge awarded the cup to the first-named band.

Tea was served in the Church Institute, catered for by Mrs. Harvey, who was assisted by a willing band of lady helpers. The Rev. H. R. Peel presided.

The Hon. Secretary, Mr. H. Haigh, explained the circumstances under which the cup was given, and said it was the donor's wish that it would create a most friendly rivalry amongst ringers, and give an impetus to all ringers for better striking and Sunday service ringing.

The presentation of the cup followed, the chairman handing it to Mr. H. Stenton, leader of the Anston band.—Mr. Stenton returned thanks.

At the business meeting which followed, five new members were duly elected, viz., Mr. B. Cawdwell, of Ordsall, performing member; Messrs. G. Clark, of Doncaster, Samuel Harrison, Milton C. Fowler, and Percy Godstone, of Conisborough, as non-resident life members.

The next meeting will be held at Anston on Saturday, November 10th, and will be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

A comprehensive vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of Norton Cuckney for presiding over the tea and meeting, for placing the bells at the disposal of the association, also to all others who had contributed to make the meeting a success. The Chairman suitably replied, and spoke of his delight in listening to the bells being so skilfully rung. He said he would be glad to welcome them at Cuckney on any future occasion.

During the day the following methods were rung by visitors: Bob Minor, Oxford, Kent and Violet Treble Bob, Stedman Doubles, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor, two ladies acquitting themselves admirably in the Cambridge and London, while one lady took part in the conducting. Everyone seemed delighted with the day's proceedings, the only regret being that so few bands had taken part in the cup competition.

CLEVELAND RINGERS VISIT YORK

The Middlesbrough ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, September 8th, and were joined by ringers from Saltburn and Ormesby, and friends, the whole party numbering 44. Rev. Kemm, the Vicar of Ormesby, accompanied the ringers. In spite of the slight rain it was a happy motor ride from Middlesbrough to York, and, after ascertaining where the first meal would be found, the ringers adjourned to the Minster belfry. They were met by some of the Minster ringers, and the lovely peal were soon in changes. Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples and Kent Royal were the principal touches, and the party congratulate themselves that the ringing was well above the standard of visiting teams. They were pleased to have the company of a Birmingham ringer, and envied him that he could renew acquaintance with the bells on the Sunday following. They also enjoyed his exhibition of ringing the 60 cwt. tenor—no small feat. Still, pleasure must come to an end, and after a splendid 'settle,' in which the bells came down 'like tops,' the party wended their way through the old town to the Windmill Inn, where an excellent meal was disposed of. A walk round the city to see the old streets and quaint shops brought three o'clock, when the departure was made to Tadcaster. Here the party were welcomed by their old friends, the Tadcaster ringers, who had the bells pulled up in readiness. Grandsire Triples were rung, and after a couple of touches had been completed the first unfortunate incident happened, when a rope broke. But, happily, the Middlesbrough band includes an expert in the art of splicing, and the matter was soon put right. There was, however, only time for a short touch of Stedman, but this proved 'the touch' of the day, and tapped out with perfect precision and absolute uniformity of striking, with never a trip of any kind, the ringers felt it was worth while. The expressions on the faces of the Tadcaster ringers showed that really good ringing was appreciated. It was with regret that the bells were lowered, as the ringers wished for more of such ringing, but circumstances over which they had no control denied them the pleasure, and they unwillingly turned their steps away from the belfry. Tea refreshed them for a walk round the town, and Tadcaster being the home of breweries, the product had, of course, to be sampled!

A long ride home brought the party 'to the end of a perfect day.' Still, the memories of a happy outing will long remain, and the hopes of a repetition of perfect ringing and perfect company will buoy them up for another year. The ringers wish to thank, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' all their friends who made the outing such an enjoyable one. They are truly indebted to all helpers.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTH BUCKS BRANCH AT WHADDON.

A quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Whaddon on Saturday, September 8th, when about 40 members attended from the following towers: Bletchley, Beachampton, Fenny Stratford, Newport Pagnell, Simpson, Stony Stratford, Twyford, Woughton, and the local ringers, with visitors from Northampton and Loughborough. This was the first meeting that had been held at Whaddon, where the bells have recently been rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. A service was held, at which the Vicar of Whaddon officiated, and a short address given by the Rev. F. W. Bennett, of Bletchley. After service the members were invited to Whaddon Hall, an historic mansion, which stands on high ground, and from the lawn of which a view of the Old Whaddon Chase can be obtained. Tea was served in great style, and the Vicar (Rev. E. A. Selby-Lowndes) stated that he had been asked to welcome the branch in the absence of Col. William Selby-Lowndes, and to place the grounds and gardens at the members' disposal.

Both Col. and Mrs. Selby-Lowndes regretted they were unable to be present to welcome the branch on their first visit to Whaddon.

The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) said that he had no business to bring forward, only to thank the members for attending so well, and thus making the meetings a success.

The Chairman (Rev. L. Moxon, of Newport Pagnell) proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Whaddon for making the arrangements, and asked him to convey to Col. and Mrs. Lowndes the thanks and appreciation of the branch for their kind hospitality.—This was suitably responded to by the Vicar, who assured the branch that they would be welcomed to Whaddon any time they cared to visit the village.

This brought to a close a very pleasant afternoon, which was favoured by glorious weather. The methods rung during the day ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

DEATH OF FORMER ALDENHAM RINGER.

After evening service, at Aldenham, Herts, on Sunday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. John-the-Baptist's: A. Jones 1, C. Evans 2, H. Long 3, E. P. Palmer 4, E. Elliott 5, W. E. Oakley 6, C. H. Horton (conductor) 7, W. Inwood 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a last mark of respect to the late Mr. W. Bennett, who passed away the previous Sunday, aged 75. For 37 years he faithfully served his church as vergier, retiring about four years ago. He was held in great respect by all who knew him, and in his younger days had done much for the art of change ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. E. A. Young, the hon. secretary of the Central Council, is hors de combat with a twisted knee, sustained last week.

Mr. G. E. Large, of Birmingham, who three months ago met with a motor-cycle accident, involving serious head injuries, through his machine skidding, is now making rapid progress towards recovery. He desires to thank the many friends who have kindly made inquiries regarding him.

William Shipway was born at Bath on September 29th, 1760.

The first peal on the bells of Braughing, Herts, was rung on September 30th, 1746, by a band of ringers 'all of this parish.' The two trebles had been given a year earlier by William Freeman.

On October 1st, 1793, a peal of 15,360 Bob Major was rung at Aston, conducted by Joshua Short. This, we believe, is still the longest peal of Bob Major on record.

The first peal 'on ye eight new bells at Saint Mary, Rotherhithe,' was rung by the Eastern Scholars on October 1st, 1749.

The visit of the recent Hampshire tourists to the little village of Soberton, where, by the way, they met with one of the two non-successes of the trip, is a reminder that it was at this tower exactly thirty years ago next Wednesday that the first peal of Cambridge Surprise in Hampshire and by the Winchester Guild was rung.

That, too, was on a tour, but it lasted only from Saturday until Wednesday. Nevertheless, it produced two peals of Superlative Surprise, three of Cambridge and one of Stedman Triples. It is a rather melancholy reflection that only four of the party remain. All the rest have 'crossed the bourne,' viz., Rev. F. E. Robinson, Messrs. W. W. Gifford, I. G. Shade, H. White, J. W. Whiting, and C. Giles. The survivors are Messrs. G. Williams, K. Hart, F. S. Bayley and J. S. Goldsmith.

The Barnsley Association, which has made a presentation to the retiring Bishop of Wakefield, comprises ringing members from almost all the church towers containing bells within a twelve miles' radius of Barnsley. It is, however, a matter of regret to the association generally that up to now they have been unable to secure in membership the ringers from Wakefield Cathedral.

The ringing friends of Mr. C. N. Sharples, Blackpool, will be interested to know that he has passed successfully the examination for India Civil Service. He is placed fourth in order of merit out of about 250 candidates.

To-morrow, all being well, eight members of the North Stafford and District Association will attempt a peal of 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major at Silverdale, Staffs.

The bells at St. Andrew's Church, Kirk Ella, which the Yorkshire Association visit on October 13th, have been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

Mr. Norman V. Harding, hon. secretary of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, has been appointed private secretary to the Ven. Ronald Irwin, the new Archdeacon of Dorchester.

'When and where,' asks a Nottingham correspondent, 'was the first peal of Double Bob Royal rung? I am wondering how near the first was the one composed and conducted by W. D. Crofts about 1790 at St. Mary's, Nottingham. Without referring to the books, I believe it was his last peal at St. Mary's.'

Did Fabian Stedman ever visit Nottingham? If not, why does 'Nottingham Single,' as applied to a method name, appear in his book? The MSS. of Crofts makes no mention of him, but these MSS. are confined to composition and research, and social and other matters are not mentioned in any way.

THE HAMPSHIRE TOUR.

ELEVEN PEALS SUCCESSFUL.

The party which toured last week in Hampshire lost only two peals, both curiously enough on the same day. These were London Surprise at Soberton and Cambridge Surprise at Curdridge. The attempt at Wimborne Minster failed to materialise, as the band met one short through an emergency man being unable, at the last minute, to turn up. There were two other peals on the same day.

The successful peals included one of London, two of Bristol, two of Superlative, two of Cambridge, one each of Double Norwich Major, Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Stedman Cinques.

At the time of going to press, details of the peals had not been received.

EAST BERGHOLT BELLS, ESSEX.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should be glad if any of your readers can give me any information as to how the bells at East Bergholt Church, which are hung in a cage in the churchyard, are rung. I understand from a friend that they can be raised and rung, but was surprised, on going to see them, that they had no wheels, stays or visible means of handling, except clocking ropes on the clappers.

Perhaps some of your readers can tell me if these bells can be rung, and, if so, when they are, as I should like to hear and see them in motion.—Yours faithfully, Buccles.
