THE 18 1/4 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

DIOCESAN ADVISERS.

Diocesan Advisory Committees are not an unmixed blessing. They have an immense amount of influence, which, of course, they use according to their lights; but the difficulty is that in the case of bells their lights are not always backed by knowledge. In Suffolk a recent action by the Advisory Committee for the Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich has caused the Suffolk Guild to enter an indignant protest. The committee, according to report, advised the recasting of Cavendish bells without taking proper steps to find out whether this was the best course to pursue. As a rule, if there is any trouble, it is because when recasting is thought by the experts to be necessary Advisory Committees are reluctant to acquiesce; but here the boot appears to be on the other foot. Whether that is so or not — we are not fully acquainted with the facts—it is, as a general principle, a dangerous thing to advise on a technical matter without first consulting expert opinion if it is available. For this reason efforts have been made in recent years to secure the appointment on every Diocesan Advisory Committee of someone with a practical knowledge of bells and bell ringing to assist the committees. While in a number of dioceses the authorities have gladly accepted this proffered help, there are unfortunately some of those responsible who still prefer to ignore the representations of the ringing organisations.

Bells are a subject which laymen know very little about, and there have been some conspicuous examples of mistakes being made in regard to bells from failure to call in competent advice. In several dioceses, however, a leading ringer now has a seat on the Advisory Committee, and in others the committees make a practice of calling in the opinion of an independent authority from the diocesan ringers' organisation whenever they have a bell restoration or augmentation under consideration. Such action has been of advantage to all concerned, because the hands of local and diocesan bodies have been strengthened by practical views and this independent opinion has often been helpful also to the bell founders who have made recommendations as to necessary work. It is, therefore, all important that the county and diocesan guilds of ringers should, where there has as yet been no recognition, continue to impress upon the church authorities the value of having at their disposal advice from someone with a personal knowledge of bells and bell ringing. It is to be regretted that there are still some clergy who decline to realise that a ringer can know anything about bell hanging, and that there are in high places some who, either from ignorance or perversity, will not recognise the value of getting this practical advice. Associations, in these dioceses, should use persistent endeavours to overcome these prejudices, and in the meantime it might be of advantage to remind the parochial church councils, through such channels as are available, that they can have the advantage of independent opinion when any matter which directly or indirectly affects their bells is under discussion, because in practically every diocese in these days there can be found men qualified to give competent advice.

RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Saturday last, at the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Shenfield, Essex, a very pretty wedding was solemnised. Mr. John C. Furlong, one of the local ringers, being married to Miss V. K. F. Leggett. Both the bride's father and brother are members of the Shenfield Guild. In a short address, the Rector (Rev. J. W. Lewis), who performed the ceremony, made special reference to ringing and ringers, and said that every Sunday the bridegroom and his friends took their places in the belfry and sent forth the call to worship, reminding everyone who heard the bells that there is a church, that there is a service, and, above all, that there is a God. When the bridal pair left the church, the organist (Mr. S. J. Bunnell, A.R.C.O.) played Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March,' and the bells rang out to 360 of Grandsire Doubles by the bridegroom's fellow-ringers.

Later in the afternoon six ringers from the district rang a peal of Bob Minor in celebration of the event, with best wishes for the future of the bride and bridegroom.

SHROTON RINGER'S DEATH.

It is with deep regret we have to record the death of Mr. Felix Arnold (captain of the Shroton bellringers, and also instructor in change ringing), who passed away on Christmas Day at the age of 51 years, after a short illness of one week. His death cast a gloom over the parish as well as in the neighbourhood, as he was well known in most of the towers in North Dorset. Deceased leaves a widow and one son to mourn their loss.

In addition to being a bellringer, Mr. Arnold was also a member of the church choir for many years.

The interment took place on Thursday week, amidst every mark of respect. The church was crowded. Rev. Canon Bower, Rector of Child Okeford, officiated in the absence of the Rector (Rev. R. H. Gundry) through illness.

The service was fully choral. The bells were rung half-muffled before the service, and open after the service, as at a recent funeral deceased was heard to remark that he should like the bells rung open if it were for him.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, including one from the Shroton ringers and choir in the shape of a bell, also wreaths from Iwerne Minster and Child Okeford ringers. Ringers were present at the service from Child Okeford, Fontwell Magna, Iwerne Minster and others.

A GOOD OLD CUSTOM.AN ENJOYABLE EVENING AT ECCLESFIELD.

Ecclesfield's old custom of having a ringers' supper at Christmas time was kept up on Saturday, December 22nd, when about 40 ringers and friends met at this township on the outskirts of Sheffield, visitors being present from Sheffield Cathedral, All Saints' and St. Marie's companies.

Various residents in the township, who take a keen interest both in the bells and ringers, supplied the wherewithal for the meal, their generosity being evidenced by the amount of food placed at the disposal for the party, two legs of mutton, a fine piece of beef, potatoes, greens, seasoned pudding, Christmas pudding and rum sauce, followed by cheese and celery, providing a repast good enough to satisfy even the keenest of appetites.

During the afternoon a good peal of Treble Bob Major had been successfully brought round, after which the band retired to the Black Bull Hotel and joined the waiting friends to partake of the supper served under the guidance of Hostess Jackson. The Vicar (Rev. A. Pawson, M.A.) and the churchwardens were present, and after everyone had had their appetite appeased the tables were cleared in preparation for a jolly evening.

A good course of Grandsire Caters, followed by a capital course of Stedman Cinques on the handbells, opened the proceedings. Then followed items by various soloists, each one being greeted with 'encore,' particularly the visitor who is a member of the Orpheus Male Voice Choir. Especial mention should also be made of the two gentlemen who sang 'Grandfather's Clock' and 'Farmer's Boy,' which gave the audience an opportunity to test their vocal powers. The carols, composed by the late Dr. Gatty, which have become a special feature with the Ecclesfield Christmas suppers, were lustily sung, but the 'tit-bit' of the evening was the entertainment provided by 'Professor' Sayle with his mouth organs. One has heard of a piano being made to 'talk,' but 'Professor' Sayle and his mouth organs made his audience 'speechless,' so astonished were they at the intricate pieces he played with scarcely a sign of movement either of his mouth or mouth organ whilst playing.

One of the visitors thanked the Vicar and the churchwardens for their presence, also the artistes for all they had done to make such

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Thorne on Saturday, December 15th, and despite the small attendance was thoroughly successful, the bells (eight) being rung to the various standard methods. A short service was conducted by the venerable Vicar of Thorne (Canon J. J. Littlewood), who has held the vicariate for close on fifty years. He will shortly celebrate his 80th birthday, and still retains all his faculties to a remarkable degree. He gave an informal address, and pleaded with ringers to attend an early celebration of the Holy Communion, in lieu of attending the services for which they rang.

Tea was served in the Mission Room to twenty members, representing towers in Arksey, Yoole, Hemmingbrough, Hull, Pontefract, Selby, Snaith and Thorne, and was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar occupying the chair.—An apology for absence was received from the Ringing Master, Mr. W. Middleton (Beverley).

The annual meeting will be held at Pontefract (All Saints'), in March by kind invitation of the Vicar and local company.

One new member was elected, Mr. R. Grice, of Hemmingbrough.

A unanimous hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and Mr. C. H. Thorley for the usual arrangements concluded a very harmonious meeting, the Vicar personally wishing every member present 'a happy Christmas,' and bidding all good-bye, as he retires shortly.

an enjoyable evening possible. The speaker referred to the wonderful improvement in the condition of the belfry to what he had known it even during recent years. The ringing room had been thoroughly cleaned and decorated, new carpets laid, and the lighting conditions vastly improved. To Messrs. Lewis and Huddleston, who are responsible for this 'step in the right direction,' all credit is due, and it is hoped that the band, especially the learners, will stick to them and appreciate the conditions which now prevail.

The Vicar expressed his delight at being able to be present, and, with the previous speaker, he hoped that their custom of having a ringers' supper would be carried on year by year.

The evening passed all too quickly, but, like all other good things, had eventually to come to an end, so with the singing of 'Auld Lang Syne,' the party broke up, each extending to the others the season's greetings, and hoping for as good a time at next year's 'do.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Our best thanks to the many ringers who have sent us their good wishes for the new year.

The bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, will be broadcast on Sunday, at 7.55 p.m., from 5G.B.

Short notice of a meeting of the Hereford Guild at Ross appears elsewhere. The meeting is to be held to-morrow.

Mr. J. A. Trollope was one of those who found himself in 'the danger zone' when Holborn suffered from the disastrous underground explosions. With roads and pavements heaving and lampposts toppling over, the experience was both exciting and alarming, but although Mr. Trollope was only a few feet away from the scene of one of the biggest subterranean explosions, he happily escaped injury.

The peal rung at Hillingdon, Middlesex, on December 15th, was Grandsire Caters, and not Stedman as published.

Mr. R. G. Tickner, of Worpleston, Surrey, a member of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, died suddenly on Christmas Eve.

Mr. T. E. Slater, of Glemsford, Suffolk, informs us that Holt's Original, rung at Saffron Walden on Christmas Day, 1753, was not the first performance in which the conductor took part in the peal. The composition was rung at Norwich twice in 1752, the first time at St. Michael's Coslany, on August 22nd, and the second time at St. Giles', on October 22nd. They were conducted by William Dixon, and both peals are recorded in the 'Norwich Mercury.'

The record of the first performance is as follows: 'On Saturday, August 22nd, 1752, was rung at St. Michael's Coslany a complete 5,040 of Mr. Holt's Tripples in 3 hrs. without changes alike or a bell out of course, it being the first time ever performed by eight men only, so intricate it was thought no man could ring a bell and call the bobs. It has been rang in London and Stonham Aspal with prompts, but was rang by these men without a prompt.'

Holt's Original, says Mr. Slater, was the only peal rung at Stonham Aspal up to that date.

A hundred and forty-five years ago to-day a peal of 14,480 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham.

The first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus on the bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields (where the first peal of Cambridge Maximus was rung on Boxing Day) was rung by the College Youths on January 6th, 1785.

The second ring of twelve to be put up in England was Cirencester, but the first peal on them was not rung until 1767, when on January 7th, the College Youths scored a peal of Grandsire Cinques.

The first peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark was rung on January 10th, 1837, composed and conducted by John Cox, and credited to the Junior Society of College Youths.

Henry Johnson, the Birmingham celebrity, whose memory is perpetuated by the annual commemoration dinner, died at Aston on January 7th, 1890, in his 81st year.

Samuel Thurston, the great Norwich ringer, died on January 9th, 1841.

ANNABLE AND THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As one of the committee appointed to revise the College Youths' latest book of rules, perhaps I might be allowed, though unofficially, to make a few comments in reply to the interesting letter from the pen of 'Collegian' which you have just published.

The association of Annable's name with the peal rung at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill, in 1690, certainly causes a difficulty to arise, and it is a very real one for the very reasons which your correspondent points out. He will be interested to know that it was remarked upon by me two or three years ago, and that it was the subject of some debate amongst the committee before, at my recommendation, the lines on page 6 were allowed to go forward, i.e., 'It is stated in the records,' etc.

The committee were only instructed to bring out another edition of the Rule Book; like our predecessors, we used the data and material to hand. In one of the society's books, which was rebound and probably partly rewritten about 100 years ago, there is an introduction closely written and running to two or three pages. The volume is called, 'Copy Peal Book, No. I,' and apart from deliberate falsification this introduction looks remarkably genuine. For a part of its statements it purports to reproduce from MSS 100 years earlier, and, so far as I am aware, it has never been challenged. It is from this that the particulars on page 6 are taken.

The details about the peal are interesting in more than one way. They are fully given—method, time, changes, the band, and how they stood, who conducted and composed, and the date thus: 'On the 7th of January, 1689-90.' The latter seems to favour its general veracity, for it was the way of writing when the 'Old Style' of dating the first quarter of a year was in vogue. It thus looks like a genuine transcription, for a hundred years later they would have used 'January 7th, 1690.'

The admission of the peal will not, of course, remove the difficulty about Annable. I suggest that he was far older than his contemporaries thought; perhaps a well-preserved and vigorous old man, at a time when all wore wigs. (I believe that when Mr. Daniel searched the Register at St. Bride's, he found no details save that of the interment.) Failing this, I would hazard that in the several transcriptions, Annable's name was added as conductor and composer, where the original had omitted to state these, and 'hearsay,' like a rolling snowball, had eventually added what was deemed the only possible name, and incidentally overlooked the age difficulty. There are other solutions one might add, but such may well be left to the ingenuity of your readers. Research may yet help us, but so far we are at a standstill, for a reference to Snowdon and Osborne does not help us. The former casts doubts upon the peal, and the latter suggests that it is only a presumption based upon no record. All, however, allow that the peal of Cinques at St. Bride's is the earliest recorded peal. If this be so, the 'College Youths' seem to have sprung into fame and strength, much as Minerva sprang from the head of Jove, fully armed for either field or Council.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

P.S.—I have recently recovered one of the names from the missing list of Masters (see p. 17), viz., 1763, Mr. Thomas Lowe. This gives us hope for further discoveries. We may yet be able to write the lives of both Stedman and Annable.—E. A. Y.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Permit me to trespass on your valuable space and say how much I appreciate the wonderful work which has been successfully accomplished in restoring the south-west tower of Lincoln Cathedral and the augmentation of the bells to a ring of twelve.

The restoration work has been a stupendous task—one cannot realise until a personal inspection has been made how stupendous the task has been. We are told that 10,502 holes—equal to five and a half miles in length—have been drilled into the walls and surroundings of the south-west tower, and 19,280 gallons of grout—in weight approximately 84 tons—have been forced in. Mr. Godfrey, clerk of the works, has done his work well, and deserves every congratulation.

The bells, I venture to say, are the acme of perfection. The new trebles are sweet and clear, and can be heard distinctly when dodging with the tenors. Our thanks are due to Messrs. Taylor and Co. for what is surely the best light ring of twelve in the country.

The blocking of the louvres and the construction of a lantern roof has proved a successful experiment. This, however, is not a new idea, for it was tried with success at Bradford Cathedral in 1921. I wonder if the Dean and Chapter of York could be prevailed upon to make the same experiment with the south-west tower of the Minster? The truly magnificent ring of twelve in that tower could then be heard to greater advantage, and perhaps the alleged 'nasal twang' would be eliminated.—Yours truly,

A YORKSHIRE TYKE IN LINCOLN.

A RING OF TEN AT NEWCASTLE-UNDER-LYME.

DEDICATION OF TWO NEW BELLS.

On Monday, December 17th, two new treble bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Lichfield at the Parish Church of St. Giles, Newcastle-under-Lyme. These were cast and hung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, Surrey, and the original eight are hung with the latest fittings, including ball bearings. The splices were recognised by all the ringers as making a most musical peal of ten. The whole reflects great credit to the firm and workmen engaged on it.

Ringings commenced at 8 p.m. by members of the North Staffs Association, with touches of Stedman Caters, Bob Royal, and Treble Bob Royal. Visitors included representatives from Leek, Hanley, Wolstanton, Stoke, Fenton, Lawton, Burslem, Norton, Kids Grove, Biddulph, etc.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION
ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at St. John-the-Baptist's, Cardiff, on Boxing Day, when a good number of members mustered from both Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire. The bells, a ring of ten, were started early in the afternoon, and kept going in various methods until 4.30, when service was conducted by the Rev. Ivor J. Bidgood (curate), in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar. Following the service, a very bountiful tea, which had been kindly provided by the Vicar and churchwardens, was served in the church schoolrooms in Trinity Street. Afterwards, the business meeting was held, at which the curate, who presided, extended a hearty welcome to Cardiff on behalf of the Vicar.

The usual routine business, such as the reading of the minutes, instructors' reports, restorations and augmentations, was dealt with. The selection of places to hold the next meetings resulted as follows: Newport, St. Woolos', for the annual meeting, Pontypridd and Monmouth for the next two quarterly meetings.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted in the election of Mr. George Martin, of Bedwas, as Master, Mr. F. Atwell and Mr. C. Greedy as auditors, and Mr. J. W. Jones as hon. secretary.

The Hon. Secretary reported that more peals had been rung during the year than in any year since the formation of the association, and that the higher methods were being practised.

New members were elected and subscriptions paid in. Mention was made that one of the members, Mr. E. Coles, of Whitechurch, had met with a bad accident, having broken a leg by slipping up on leaving the tower, after ringing for service on the previous Sunday.

A 'cap' was taken (to use a hunting term), which resulted in a nice little sum being collected for him.

The usual vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding, and to the Vicar and churchwardens for their hospitality, closed the meeting.

The bells were afterwards rung, terminating one of the best and pleasantest meetings ever held.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY H. CHANDLER.

AN OLD SUSSEX RINGER.

Ringers, particularly of Middlesex and Sussex, will regret to hear that Mr. Henry H. Chandler passed away about mid-day on Sunday last, at his home at Hillingdon, Middlesex.

Forty years ago Harry Chandler was well known in the Exercise for his activities in and around Warrnam, where he conducted many peals, and took part in some long lengths, including 13,440 of Canterbury Pleasure Major. In those days there was an enthusiastic band who thought nothing of reeling off a peal before breakfast on a Sunday morning, and ringing another in the afternoon. On one occasion the band started to ring a peal every day until they broke down. They scored seven or eight in this series. Such an amount of ringing would not have been possible without the goodwill of the parishioners, and happily the villagers were almost as interested in the peals as were the ringers. Under such conditions it was not surprising that Harry Chandler rang a considerable number of peals in a comparatively short time. After his work took him away from Warrnam, Mr. Chandler's peal ringing activities were considerably curtailed, and his opportunities became very limited. But he retained his keenness, and was ever welcome in a belfry. His genial nature well befitted his jovial appearance, and he was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Mr. Chandler was, in his latter years, a member of the St. John's Society, Hillingdon. He rang regularly until a month or so ago, when he was stricken down with the illness which has, unfortunately, proved fatal. He was to have taken part in the peal rung at St. John's on December 15th, but at the last moment asked that his place should be filled by another. On the day of his decease, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 58 mins. with the bells half-muffled: C. C. Mayne (conductor) 1, A. R. G. Twinn 2, Miss P. M. Moss 3, E. G. Baldwin 4, G. H. Gutteridge 5, A. H. Fulwell 6, F. W. Goodfellow 7, W. Honor 8.

AN ABRIDGED SYSTEM OF PROOF.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

[The following is the second portion of a short treatise on Method Proving, a subject thoroughly understood at present by comparatively few. A close study of these articles should help many more ringers to an understanding of this advanced side of the science.]

In the ordinary course of events, we should now treat the even rows with the treble in the same place (rows 7-28) in the same manner; but, as explained, one pair of rows is typical of (at least) the four which have the treble in the same place, if the lead-end be taken into consideration. The combinations from the other pair of rows should be governed by the alteration of the bell numbers from rounds to the lead-end. Forget Blocks Y and Z as 'positional' and 'coursing' pairs, and remember them only as 'pairs'; observe the difference between rounds and the lead-end, noting which bells of the lead-end replace those of the lead-head:

Rounds (the L.H.) 1.2.3.4.5.6.7.8. has these pairs—

23, 35, 57, 78, 24, 46, 68.

The lead-end 1.4.6.2.8.3.7.5. replaces above by 46, 68, 87, 75, 42, 23, 35.

Then the four combinations from rows 5-26 should, in rows 7-28, be altered by the above replacement thus: (1) 68 in 2/3 becomes 35 in 4/6; (2) 46 in 3/5 becomes 23 in 6/8; (3) 23 in 6/8 becomes 46 in 3/5; and (4) 35 in 4/6 becomes 68 in 2/3.

It so happens, in this section, that rows 7-28 produce the same four combinations that we got from rows 5-26. I will give a brief example of a section where this does not occur, but first let us summarise what we have done.

We take two rows from a section and apply Blocks Y and Z downwards, and we get two combinations. These two reversed give us two more. The whole four, altered by the lead-end, give us four more. Thus we produce the eight combinations which pertain to the four rows with the treble in third's place, from the one downward treatment by Blocks Y-Z.

The half-section being symmetrical, we may know that the whole section is symmetrical, and we can ignore the other four rows therein, i.e., those which have the treble in fourth's place; because, the section being symmetrical, they must give the same combinations. And so, by the half-treatment of one pair of rows, we establish the whole of the combinations applicable to the eight rows of this section. Symmetry in the half-section means that the same places are made between (or, if you prefer, 'from and to') rows 5-6, as those which are made between rows 7-8. Actually, in this instance, no place is made from 5-6 and from 7-8. The question of the places made (first's and second's) between rows 6-7 does not arise. The half-section with the treble in 5/6 also is symmetrical, because first's and fourth's places are made in rows 9-10, and also in rows 11-12. If the half-section with the treble in 3/4 had been asymmetrical, the same places not having been made, then a pair of the rows with the treble in fourth's place would also have to be 'half treated' as before.

One example of a section which does not produce the same combinations from the other pair of rows:—

Treated downwards by Blocks Y-Z, we get one combination only, 46 in 2/4. Oppositely, for the Rows.
1. + 12345678. upward, we have 24 in 4/6. These two, altered by the lead-end, give 23 in 2/4 and 24 in 2/3 respectively. Thus we get the four combinations which govern the eight rows of the section with the treble in 1/2.

If a pair of rows produce no combination, we may know that the particular section has a 'clean proof' scale, and nothing further need be done with it, provided the section is not asymmetrical, which doubtless the work.

OPERATIONS C and D.—Having established, from two rows, that they give certain combinations downwards, and ignoring for the moment those combinations which follow, we now trace the false 'course ends' from the two rows so treated. But in order fully to understand this condensed form of the orthodox operations (b), (d) and (e), we must first examine the positions held by the tenors in the lead-heads of the plain course, and with particular reference to the transposition back to rounds of any lead-head, i.e., how to 'bring up the course end' from any given lead-head.

The lead-heads of the plain course (of any regular Major method) are tabulated below, in the order in which the positional pairs of Blocks Y-Z are given:—

- R. Are the positions in which the tenors appear in the lead-heads.
- S. Are the lead-heads themselves.
- T. Signify by which row a lead-head must be transposed, in order to bring up the 'course end' (rounds).

R.	S.	T.
5/7	13527486	x 6/8
7/8	12345678	x 7/8
2/4	18674523	x 2/3
6/8	14263857	x 5/7

This means that the tenors are in 2/3 in lead-head 17856342; and that to bring up rounds from this lead-head it must be transposed by the 2/4 head (18674523). The 7/8 head, transposed by the 7/8 head will, of course, result in rounds; and so on. Incidentally, we can observe that the transpositions work both ways; i.e., rounds will result if 2/3 be transposed by 2/4, or 2/4 by 2/3; 3/5 x 4/6, or 4/6 x 3/5, and so on.

In the orthodox operations (b, d and e) we transpose the rows back to rounds, and by the resultants we transpose certain plain course lead-heads, which produce tenors-together false heads. These, in turn, are transposed by certain plain course lead-heads, and the false course ends are the results.

In the abridged system we go direct from the rows to operation (e). Instead of using rounds in transposing back the rows, we use, as the Hidden Factor, the lead-head which will bring up the course end from the lead-head indicated by the 'positional pair' in our combination. Then, by the resultant from this Hidden Factor, we transpose the lead-head indicated by the 'coursing pair' in the combination, and we produce the false course end.

This must first be applied to every combination obtained from the downward treatment of the two rows. The procedure is thus:—

Rows 5-26 gave us, downwards, the combination (1) '68 in 2/3.' The table 'RST' (above) tells us that '2/3' will come 'home' if transposed by row '2/4.' Then the Hidden Factor which must be applied to row 5 is the 2/4 lead-head. Read 18674523 in row 5, and under, in row 26, we shall find 15372486 as the resultant. Then, by this resultant, transpose the lead-head indicated by the 'coursing pair' of the combination, viz., 68. The 6/8 lead-head (14263857), transposed by the resultant (15372486), gives 13254678.

The coursing pair in a combination will indicate the lead of the plain course, and the positional pair will indicate the lead of the false course. Therefore, from the above, we deduce that the 2/3 lead of course 32546 will be false against the 6/8 lead of course 23456. Or, shortly put, PC(6/8) has 32546(2/3).

We must now deal in a similar manner with the other downward combination, (2) 46 in 3/5. The PC lead-head 3/5 is brought 'home' by 4/6. Therefore, the Hidden Factor in row 5 is 16482735. Under this, in row 26, we find 13258764 as a resultant. Then the coursing pair (46) lead-head 16482735, transposed by the resultant (13258764), gives 14625378; and we deduce that PC(4/6) has 46253(3/5).

The combinations (3) 23 in 6/8, and (4) 35 in 4/6, from the upward treatment of rows 5-26, are now dealt with in exactly the same way, except that the Hidden Factor is read in row 26, and the resultant in row 5.

To bring 6/8 and 4/6 home, we use 5/7 and 3/5 respectively, as the Hidden Factors in row 26. The resultants, from row 5, are, first 16847523 and then 18762435. By these we transpose lead-heads 23 and 35 respectively, giving 13254678 and 14625378; and we deduce that PC(2/3) has 32546(6/8), and that PC(3/5) has 46253(4/6).

This, however, ought to be unnecessary, as the formation of the false course ends from the upward treatment should be obtainable from those of the downward.

If any two rows be transposed back to rounds in the orthodox way, we find that the proving values of the resultant false heads will each give the other. This must be so, because rounds is the Hidden Factor which produces both, and it means that each false head, when transposed by the other, will result in the rounds row. Again, if we take any two lead-heads of the plain course and transpose each by the other, both operations will result in the same row, viz., a third lead-head of the plain course; and no matter which two we take, we cannot get away from this particular course. Then our two false heads, which produce the same row when transposed by each other, may be presumed to belong to a mythical course, of which rounds is a third lead-head.

Now, by the false heads produced in the orthodox way, we transpose plain course lead-heads, and the results, in turn, are transposed by plain course lead-heads, in our search for tenors-together false course ends. Then, the false heads from any two rows being related, by their proving values, to the same thing (rounds), and the transpositions being bound by this same thing (the plain course end—rounds), it is reasonable to assume that the false course ends, from the downward and upward treatments of any two rows, should be related, one to another, in some way. Up to the present this relationship has eluded me, and the upward treatment of the two rows, in search of the formation of the false course ends, appears to be unavoidable. Incidentally, we may note, in the cases of the particular false course ends here produced, that the proving value of each results in itself. They are what Mr. Baker terms 'simple transposition rows'; and apparently, if the false course ends from the downward treatment happen to possess this feature, those from the upward will be identical with the tenors in reversed positions, as shown by the reversal of the combinations.

There now remain the four combinations from rows 7-28, i.e., those which come from the alteration due to the lead-end, viz., 35 in 4/6, 23 in 6/8, 46 in 3/5, and 68 in 2/3. There appears to be no direct connection between the formation of the course ends from rows 5-26, and those from rows 7-28. I am convinced that there is a visible relationship, or, at least, there should be, as I hope to show, but I am unable to give it point.

STONY STRATFORD.—On Saturday, December 22nd, at St. Giles' Church, on the occasion of the consecration of a new chancel, 504 Stedman Triples: E. C. Lambert (conductor) 1, E. Whitlock 2, T. Roberts 3, T. Tompkins 4, H. Edwards 5, W. Bonham 6, W. Pedley 7, T. Tranter 8.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is perhaps unnecessary after my last letter, but may I assure Mr. J. W. Parker that I never dreamt of 'attacking' Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge Minor; nor did my colleagues of the Methods Committee. On the contrary, we propose to give in the new Minor Collection a number of these arrangements applicable to all Treble Bob Methods. What I wanted to do was to urge that both the arrangements of Grandsire Doubles (known as Morris' and Pitman's) are legitimate and allowable, and also to point out that the wording of Mr. Parker's resolution passed at Hereford does not correctly express either his intention or that of the Central Council, and should therefore be revised.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

MORRIS' ARRANGEMENT OF DOUBLES.

Dear Sir,—I have read with unbiassed interest the various opinions and arguments that have so far been brought to the notice of your readers, and being personally in agreement with your editorial remark, that 'in debating a question of this kind all sides of the subject should be ventilated,' I purpose to enter more fully into the merits of the two arrangements of Grandsire Doubles in question—the main issue—which, having been subjected to a prejudiced attack, has conveniently been lost sight of.

A much more appropriate and courteous manner of returning to the subject this week would have been a fitting reply to the facts and contentions set out in my letter of the 9th inst. Annexed are the lead-ends of (1) a spliced 240 on Morris' plan, and (2) a spliced 240 on Mr. Pitman's plan:—

Morris' Arrangement.	Pitman's Arrangement.
S 5423	S 5423
S 3254	S 3254
S 4532	S 4532
— 3245	— 4253
S 5432	S 3542
S 2354	— 4235
S 4523	S 5342
— 4352	— 5234
S 2543	S 4352
S 3425	— 5243
S 5234	S 3452
— 3452	— 3245
S 2534	— 4532
S 4325	S 2345*
S 5243	— 4523
— 5324	— 4352
S 3542	— 4325
S 2435	S 5243
— 3524	— 5324
S 4235	S 4253
S 5342	— 5342

An examination of Morris' arrangement will show that the 24 lead-ends comprise the 24 possible variations that can be produced by writing down 2345, and pricking out the extent. Now consider what this entails. A more critical examination will show that this renders it impossible for any of the changes to repeat in the self-same consecutive order throughout the whole arrangement. Hence, two alike changes never occur at the same stroke. Consequently you get 120 true and complete changes at handstroke, and the same 120 true and complete changes at backstroke, simultaneously throughout.

Now refer for a moment to Mr. Pitman's arrangement. It will be seen that the lead-ends do not comprise the 24 rows previously referred to, but repeat with no less than five lead-ends. This compels the changes to repeat in the self-same consecutive order, so that in a complete 240 on this plan, you do not get 120 different changes at handstroke nor 120 different changes at backstroke, but a repetition of the same changes at each respective stroke.

These are the main features of the two arrangements, yet both are true and complete in themselves.

You ask me to permit you to say that in Mr. Pitman's arrangement the bells strike in 120 different orders before beginning the next six-score; but the absurdity of such argument is apparent to anyone who refers to the lead-ends marked * in which rounds constitute the second lead-end as well as the last lead-end of the six-score. This fact further proves that if after starting from rounds you have to go two leads past the six-score and before rounds are again produced, the 120 different orders cannot have been gone through in the first six-score, as you claim they have been. . . . I hope that I have made the situation clearer, and, in conclusion, I will ask your readers to arbitrate between my contention that both arrangements, being perfectly true in themselves, should both be allowed; and the editor's view that one should be recognised and the other suppressed. I must express myself in complete agreement with Mr. Edgar Guise, that the Central Council's decisions should be accepted as binding on such matters, but I still maintain that you cannot repudiate any one of the arrangements in this category true in itself without discarding all.

LESLIE W. G. MORRIS.

[The fact that Mr. Morris has, in his arrangement, 120 handstrokes all different, and 120 backstrokes all different, does not, in our opinion, make his 120's true. We do not test the truth of a peal by dealing separately with handstrokes and backstrokes; if either is false with the other the peal is false. Moreover, we see no special merit in a false 120 merely because you first ring a number of changes in a certain order and then ring them in the reverse order. Mr. Pitman's 240, as quoted by Mr. Morris, runs in true consecutive 120's, if—as has always been pointed out—rounds is considered as the first row.—Ed. 'R.W.']

UPHELD BY THE COUNCIL.

Dear Sir,—It seems as well to point out that although Pitman's 240 of Doubles and Bankes James' 5,040 of Cambridge Minor are passing through a very hot climate, they are still upheld by the Central Council, as was made quite clear at Hereford.—Yours faithfully,

J. F. DUFFIELD.

RINGERS WANTED IN AMERICA.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to ask, through the columns of 'The Ringing World,' if anyone can furnish us with the names and addresses of any ringers who have come out to U.S.A. in the vicinity of Boston, Mass., so that we may get into touch with them, and get a hand together if possible at times, as only very little ringing is done now in the city.

Perhaps some are contemplating coming out here; if so, this part of the country is an industrial area where work of different kinds can be found.

The only regular ringing done here now is at Groton School, by the boys there, every Sunday. These bells were rehung in ball bearings in the spring of this year, and are greatly improved. So now, if we want to have a ring, we get up early and drive 40 miles to do it. Any ringer thinking of coming to U.S.A. should write to Mr. R. Newton, c/o Merchants' National Bank, Boston, Mass., who will be pleased to answer any letters and give any information about conditions, etc.—Yours truly,

JOHN E. HENSON.

LIGHTING THE TOWER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following description of the electric lighting of Truro Cathedral bell tower, where we have recently changed over from gas, may be useful to the Rev. H. Drake.

For use on practice and other nights, when the general lighting is not in use, a switch is placed inside the entrance door, with a light in such a position as to effectively light the area between the entrance door and the ringing chamber stairway door. In the winding stairway to the ringing chamber (30ft.) are three 20 watt. vacuum lamps, controlled by a two-way switch at the bottom, and another at the top of the stairs. In the 18ft. square ringing chamber itself is a 100 watt gas-filled pearl Osram bulb, contained in an enamelled G.E.C. reflector, 18ft. from the floor, which gives an even distribution of light round the room. It is, of course, a centre light.

In the circular stairway from the ringing chamber to the belfry (about 60ft.) are four 20 watt. vacuum lamps, also with a two-way switch at top and bottom. The space between the ringing chamber roof and the belfry proper (which serves as a sound muffler and a storeroom for oil, tools, ropes, etc.), contains a 40 watt gas-filled bulb in an ordinary enamelled conical shade. The belfry itself is lit by means of a 100 watt gas-filled lamp in a reflector similar to that in the ringing chamber, suspended from the centre, and about 15ft. above the bell frame. For local lighting there is a portable lamp, 40 watt vacuum, on a length of strong workshop flex, long enough to reach to any part of the bells or frame.

Points to remember are that the tower circuit must be entirely independent of the church circuit (on a separate meter preferred). Switches for the bell chamber must be placed so that lights can be turned on before one enters. Here, too, a general light is a necessity for safety, a hand lamp only being quite insufficient. Two-way switches at top and bottom of circular stairs are not only very convenient, but a mode of economy.

The ideal to aim at is adequate lighting evenly distributed and diffused over the required area, and especially in the ringing chamber the source of light must be high enough to be out of direct line with the ringers' eyes. The 20 watt bulb at 10ft. suggested seems to me to be very inadequate and too low. Switches at the bottom of stairs for lights in the bell chamber, etc., are not to be recommended, as they are apt to be turned on, and, nothing visible happening, left on, the brightly-lit louvers being a source of wonder to the public and curiosity to the night policeman. Switches should be as local as possible.

An alternative method of lighting the ringing chamber is to have four bulbs, one at each corner, high up, and fitted with 'Gecoray,' or similar, reflectors; or, for a centre fitting, a totally enclosed opal bowl; the ordinary open-top type, being a beautiful trap for dust and dead flies, is not to be recommended.

However, if the lighting company can install a system which is efficient but avoids glare and sharp shadows, and is out of direct line of sight, there will not be much to complain of.—Yours faithfully,

F. MURRAY ROBERTS.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

DIOCESAN ADVISORY COMMITTEE'S ACTION.

A meeting was held at Hintlesham on December 15th, at which a not very large but very representative attendance was recorded. There were members from Essex as well as North-East Suffolk, and a good deal of useful practice was put in, both on the tower bells and on handbells, the latter being a feature of meetings in this neighbourhood. Tea was at the George, and at the meeting afterwards, with Mr. Chas. Sedgely in the chair, there were two points of outstanding interest.

A new ring of six bells at Rushmere, on the outskirts of Ipswich, having become available through the excellent job of rehanging at Mr. Bowell's foundry, it was decided to take steps to start a band of change ringers there.

The other matter was the case of the Cavendish bells. Apparently these bells had been sent away to be recast, by advice of the Diocesan Advisory Committee, without proper steps having been taken to find out whether this was the best course to take. Much indignation was expressed that the Advisory Committee should have acted in this way, when there is a diocesan organisation ready to help them from falling into such mistakes. An Advisory Committee which advises about matters which it does not understand, is surely a hindrance rather than a help to Church work.

DEATH OF AN OXFORDSHIRE BELL FOUNDER.

It is with deep regret we have to announce the death of Mr. Henry Bond, of Burford, Oxon, who passed peacefully away on Sunday, December 15th, in his 74th year. Mr. Bond was a general engineer and bellfounder, for which he held an excellent reputation. He was a bellringer at Burford Church and for many years a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. Mr. Bond will be sadly missed amongst the bells he loved so well, and where his good striking and happy disposition made him a general favourite.

CHRISTMAS RINGING.

THE CHART, LIMPSPFIELD.—At St. Andrew's Church, for morning service on Christmas Day, a quarter-peal of Minor, being 720 of Kent, 360 of Oxford Treble Bob, and 180 of Plain Bob, in 42 mins.: W. A. Ashdown 1, E. N. Tidy 2, J. Knight, jun., 3, J. Knight, sen., 4, E. E. Tidy (conductor) 5, L. A. Tidy 6.

WEST HAM.—On Christmas morning, for service, a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, with the tenor covering: Joe Waghorn (age 86) 1, —. Reeves 2, W. Thearald 3, W. Easter 4, F. C. Newman 5, J. Moule (conductor) 6, G. Hayden 8.

HORNSEY.—On Christmas Day, at St. Mary's Church, for 7 a.m. celebration, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes) in 49 mins.: G. W. Blee 1, E. G. Hibble 2, C. H. Ross 3, H. Blee 4, M. Fensom 5, J. G. Nash (conductor) 6. First quarter-peal to be rung at Hornsey for early service.—For morning service, 720 Bob Minor (26 Singles) in 27 mins.: G. W. Blee 1, E. G. Hibble 2, F. G. Symonds 3, H. Blee 4, M. Fensom 5, J. G. Nash (conductor) 6.

STOCKPORT.—At the Parish Church, on Christmas Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 48 mins.: G. Green 1, J. A. Gordon 2, W. Wright 3, W. Gordon 4, Jas. A. Gordon 5, W. Shaw 6, A. S. Gordon (conductor) 7, A. Sharpe 8.

ERITH, KENT.—On Christmas Day, for morning service at the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 44 mins.: H. A. Holden 1, A. J. Morton 2, G. Cullum 3, R. A. Cullum 4, L. J. Cullum 5, J. S. Morton 6, F. J. Cullum, jun. (conductor) 7, W. Darke 8.

REIGATE, SURREY.—On Christmas Eve, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): G. Stomp 1, A. Gear 2, M. Northover 3, G. F. Hoad 4, A. Willett 5, H. Hooper 6, P. C. W. Claydon (conductor) 7, W. Pooley 8.

DEPTFORD.—At St. John's Church, for 7 a.m. service on Christmas Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): E. Rivett 1, W. A. Martin 2, P. C. C. Davis 3, E. B. Crowder 4, P. S. R. Steers 5, A. F. Petrie (first quarter-peal on an inside bell) 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, A. F. Bennington 8.

NORTHAW, MIDDLESEX.—On Christmas Day, at St. Thomas' Church, 720 Spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor for morning service, in 26 mins.: J. Roberts, jun., 1, J. North 2, I. Bryant 3, J. Parker 4, J. Roberts, sen., 5, E. B. McKie (conductor) 6. This is the first 720 of Spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor in this tower and by all the band, who are regular Sunday service ringers at this church.

KINGSTHORPE, NORTHANTS.—On Christmas morning, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor in 48 mins.: H. Bannister 1, H. Parker 2, H. Clarke 3, W. Parsons 4, J. Dunkly 5, G. Parker (conductor) 6. All are Sunday service ringers.

CARDIFF.—At St. John's Church, on Christmas Day, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 47 mins.: W. Richards 1, A. Parnell 2, Miss D. Richards (first quarter inside) 3, F. Smith 4, P. Heath 5, J. Phillips 6, E. Stitch (conductor) 7, S. R. Barker 8.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—On Christmas Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,258 changes) was rung for morning service at St. Peter's Collegiate Church, in 52 mins.: *H. Boswell 1, W. A. Cooper 2, *W. Maddox 3, H. Knight (conductor) 4, H. T. Piper 5, F. Brotherton 6, J. Williams 7, E. F. Mitchell 8, W. H. Lawley 9, R. Thompson 10. * First quarter-peal in the method.

UPTON SNODSBURY, WORC.—On Christmas Eve, at the Church of St. Kenelm, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: J. Reynolds 1, S. Tarran 2, C. Tansell (conductor) 3, T. Camden 4, H. Tansell 5, T. Bluck 6. Longest length by all except the conductor, and on the bells by a local band.

EARL SOHAM, SUFFOLK.—On Christmas Day, for morning service, 720 Plain Bob: M. N. Haines 1, W. G. Crickmer (conductor) 2, B. R. Buckle 3, C. W. Beecroft 4, J. W. Mallett 5, W. Miller, jun., 6.—On Boxing night, 720 Oxford Treble Bob, 360 Oxford Bob, 360 Double Court, two courses of Cambridge, in which the following took part: C. Beecroft, B. Buckle, W. G. Crickmer, M. Haines, W. Miller, J. B. Hall, E. Curtiss, and E. Jenkins (of Heptonstall fame).

TRUMPINGTON, CAMBS.—On Christmas Day, for the 7 a.m. celebration, 720 Bob Minor in 25 mins.: D. Freestone (first 720 of Minor) 1, Miss K. Willers 2, J. Harper 3, E. W. Haynes 4, F. E. Haynes (conductor) 5, W. Kayner 6. First 720 by local band since the addition of the new treble.

PRITTLEWELL, ESSEX.—On Christmas morning, at St. Mary's Church, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich Major: F. Lupkin (first quarter) 1, G. Bacon 2, W. Dudley 3, S. Baybutt 4, H. T. Wilson 5, L. Stilwell (Windsor) 6, S. W. Corden 7, L. H. Page 8.

SPliced MINOR.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The 720 Spliced Amersham Alliance and Little Bob Minor, rung at 52, Lammas Park Road, Ealing, on December 13th, was not the first in the methods. A 720 was rung at St. Mary's, Lamberhurst, on December 6th by: A. Relfe (conductor) 1, J. Bassett 2, G. Fuller 3, A. Marshall 4, J. Waghorn 5, A. Smith 6.—Yours, etc.,

A. RELFE.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS. (Established 1637.)—The subscription of 1s. 8d., which enables members who have not attended twenty times in the past year to vote on matters of finance, is now due. THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

THE LETTER AND THE SPIRIT.

Those who have followed the controversy over what should constitute a peal of Minor or Doubles will be interested in the suggestions put forward in another column by the Rev. E. S. Powell. He offers for consideration certain definitions out of which might eventually be evolved 'conditions' which all would be prepared to accept, and doubtless these proposals will be fully discussed. Experience, however, shows that what we want to be clear about is not only the form of words, but the interpretation which is to be put upon them. It has been obvious in this discussion that what, at first sight, appeared to be perfectly plain English has been construed by different people to have diametrically opposite meanings. We are inclined to think that this has arisen, not so much from any ambiguity of language, but because there are two opposite purposes in view. There are those—and we imagine them to be in a majority—who desire, when a peal of (say) Minor is rung, that it shall consist of consecutive true extents. There are others who, as Mr. Willson aptly puts it in his letter, are satisfied with anything as long as it comes right in the end.

At the moment the conditions required by the Central Council for peals of Minor and Doubles are those which were adopted at Hereford. The essential point of the motion that was then passed is that the 720's in peals of Minor and the 120's in peals of Doubles shall be true and complete, and that no row (rounds or otherwise) shall be repeated in any 720 or 120 respectively. Mr. Powell suggests as an alternative definition that 'compositions of Minor must be in 720's and not in smaller touches; compositions of Doubles must be in 120's and not in smaller touches, and these 720's and 120's are to be true in themselves.' If this is intended to mean what it appears to mean, that the consecutive rows in each 720 or 120 included in a peal must be true and that any splicing must be in true round blocks, then, subject, perhaps, to the modification which has for many years existed in the conditions for peals of Minor, that 'a peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 720' (and similarly with the 120's), there seems little objection to be raised to it by those who support the spirit of the Hereford motion.

But what is to be read into the expression in the third section of Mr. Powell's suggestion, which refers to "groups of 720's or 120's"? If it is to mean such combinations of three 720's as in the Rev. E. B. James' Cambridge in which (counting rounds as the first row) three extents, each of 720 consecutive true rows, are rung, well and good; if, however, the object is to cover the admission of a combination of permutations made up of each of the 720 changes rung three times, without observance of any rule by which each of the three blocks of consecutive 720's must be true in itself, then the Council and the Exercise must decide a matter of important principle. They must decide the plain question, what is and what is not to be recognised as a true peal of Minor or Doubles? Hitherto the standard laid down has been that the extents must be in 720 or 120 consecutive true rows. It is for them to say whether anything lower is, at this date, desirable. When the Council next debate the subject there must be no sophistry. Any definition which is proposed must be made perfectly plain in its spirit, as well as in the letter.

First peal in seven methods by all the band. First handbell peal in seven methods for the association. First peal 'in hand' as conductor.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN 720's.

During 1928, at St. Mary's, Fryerning, Essex, one hundred and sixteen 720's were rung, chiefly for services, under conductorship of A. Bradley: Surprise methods: London 5, Wells 4, Southwell 4, York 6, Ipswich 8, Norwich 6, Cambridge 8, Beverley 3, Carlisle 2, Annable's London 1; total 47. Treble Bob methods: Woodbine 9, Oxford 7, Kent 7, Duke of York 2, New London Pleasure 9, London Scholars' Pleasure 2, Kingston 2, College Exercise 2; total 40. Plain methods: Double Court 5, Double Oxford 3, Plain Bob 4, St. Clement's 2, College Single 2, Double Bob 2, Canterbury Pleasure 2, Grandsire Doubles 7, Bob Doubles 2; total 20.

The ringers were F. Wright, L. Camp, G. Camp, C. Harrington, H. Wright, E. Sitch, and A. Bradley (conductor).

BOURTON-ON-THE-WATER, GLOS.—At the Church of St. Lawrence, on Holy Innocents' Day, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes), with the bells half-muffled: Mrs. F. A. Clements 1, T. SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Devizes on Saturday, January 5th, a large number of members and friends being present. The towers of St. John's (eight bells), St. Mary's (six bells), and St. James', Southbroom (six bells), were all available for ringing, which commenced about 3 p.m. At 4.30 p.m. an interesting ceremony took place in the ringing chamber of St. John's, when two peal boards, one recording a peal of Grandsire Triples, the other a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, rung there, were unveiled by the chairman of the branch (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham), and dedicated by the Rector (the Rev. A. H. T. Clarke).

The Guild service followed, conducted by the Rector, who gave a short address, Mr. H. H. Baker being the organist. A verse of the National Anthem was sung as a prayer for H.M. the King's restoration to health.

Tea followed in the Parish Room, to which 71 sat down. Afterwards, the chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham) presided at the business meeting, and welcomed the visitors. In his resume of the work of the branch during the past year, he congratulated those members who had rung peals in the advanced methods. He also stated that the whole of the money had been collected for the restoration of the bells at All Cannings. He also thanked the captains of bands belonging to the branch, and the officers, for their support during the past year.

The Secretary (Mr. F. Green) presented the balance sheet for the past year, which showed a balance in hand and an increase in members.—The usual honorarium was voted to the secretary.

Apologies for absence were received from Mr. H. Brownlee West, of Devizes, Mr. J. T. Dyke, the respected secretary of the Bath and Wells Association, and Mr. J. Stafford, Bradford-on-Avon.

The whole of the officers of the branch were re-elected, and 21 new members were elected.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and conducting the service, to the organist and to those who prepared the tea.—The Rector replied in a humorous speech.

Ringers, including the Vicar of Bishop's Cannings (the Rev. S. L. R. Sharpe), were present from Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), St. James', Southbroom, Bishop's Cannings, All Cannings, Chippenham, Bratton, Bromham, Rowde, Holt, Warminster, Swindon, Wootton Bassett, Market Lavington, Trowbridge, Melksham. THE BATES APPEAL FUND.

We are glad to record this week that the fund for the assistance of Mrs. Bates (the widow of Mr. E. Bates, of Darford) and her family has reached £50. This practical sympathy, which has been shown by the Exercise at a moment of tragic bereavement and financial worry, has done much to lighten the burden in a home suddenly robbed of the breadwinner. As it is now desired to close the fund, any further contributions should be sent without delay to Mr. T. Groombridge, jun., 127, Crayford Way, Crayford, Kent.

sire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Superlative, Kent Treble Bob Major, and the usual six-bell methods, were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The following places were selected for the next three meetings, if the bells are available, viz., Potterne, Holt and Westbury.

A word of praise is due to those who made the arrangements for what proved to be an excellent meeting, the utmost harmony prevailing throughout: The secretary (Mr. F. Green), for the work he put in; and Mr. S. Hillier, the senior Ringing Master, for his excellent arrangements for all to have a pull, and whom everyone present was pleased to see again after his recent accident; and to the steeple-keepers for having everything ready.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Another ringer with a long connection with the Sussex County Association passed away last week in the person of Mr. Joseph Sharp. He was associated with various towers in Eastbourne, and had rendered valuable aid to the art in that part of the county.

The very fine half-muffled peal of Stedman Caters which was rung at Wrington, Somerset, on August 11th, 1927, in memory of the late Mr. Pryce Taylor, of Loughborough, and Mr. E. D. Marshall, of Wrington, has been permanently recorded in the tower by the erection of a handsome tablet presented by Mr. E. Denison Taylor. The tablet is the work of Mr. C. H. Webb, of Croft, Leicester.

Among ancient ringing societies was one at Redenhall, Norfolk, which was established in 1736. It is on record that on January 13th, 1838, Samuel Thurston conducted a peal of 5,280 Oxford Treble Bob at the church, to celebrate the 102nd anniversary of the Ancient Ringing Society.

Thirty years ago next Monday the first peal of London Surprise Major in the City of London was rung by the St. Peter's Society, Brighton.

On January 14th, 1818, died James Barham, of Leeds, Kent, at the age of 93 years. From the year 1744 to the year 1804 he rang in Kent and elsewhere 112 peals, not less than 5,040 changes in each peal, and called bobs and singles for most of the peals, and on April 7th and 8th, 1761, assisted in ringing 40,320 Bob Major on Leeds Bells in 27 hours.

The Ancient Society of College Youths rang the first peal of Double Bob Major on January 14th, 1726, at St. Dunstan's Church, Fleet Street.

A complete peal of Plain Bob Tripples, the first true peal of five thousand that ever was rung here, was rung at St. John's, Craydon, on January 17th, 1735.

On January 18th, 1844, 7,126 Stedman Cinques was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich.

THE FIRST PERFORMANCES OF HOLT'S ORIGINAL. THE NORWICH RECORDS.

In our issue of December 21st it was stated that the first recorded performance of Holt's Original, in which the conductor rang one of the bells, was at Saffron Walden on Christmas Day, 1753. Last week Mr. T. E. Slater's correction of this was made. The peal had been rung twice before under the same conditions at Norwich. Mr. G. H. Cross now sends extracts from the 'Norwich Mercury' of the time, and suggests that the records at Saffron Walden and St. Giles-in-the-Fields, and in the 'History of the Ancient Society of College Youths,' should be corrected.

The following is taken from the record now in St. Peter Mancroft belfry, as copied from the 'Norwich Mercury' by Mr. Philip Sadler, of Norwich:—

ST. MICHAEL'S COSLANY, NORWICH.

On Saturday, August 22nd, 1752, was rung at St. Michael's Coslany a complete 5,040 of Mr. Holt's Tripples in three hours, without changes alike, or a bell out of course, it being the first time ever performed by eight men only, so intricate it was thought no man could ring a bell and call the bobs. It has been rung in London and at Stonham Aspal with prompts, but was rung by these men without a prompt.

The following is from the record now in St. Peter Mancroft belfry, as copied from the 'Norwich Mercury' by Mr. Philip Sadler, of Norwich:—

ST. GILES', NORWICH.

On Sunday, October 22nd, 1752, was rung at St. Giles' in ye City of Norwich, 5,040 Grandsire Tripples, with only two doubles and no alterations. This true peal has been very lately found out by Mr. John Holt, of London. The bobs were called by William Dixon, the peal being so intricate the London Bell-ringers thought it impracticable for a man to ring one of the bells and call the bobs at the same time. The peal was completely rung in three hours and six minutes by the following persons: William Dixon treble, John Gardiner 2, Thomas Hart 3, Charles Jarvis 4, Samuel Shelver 5, Robert Dyke 6, Charles North 7, Fred Whitfield tenor.

DEATH OF CHELMSFORD'S SUB-DEAN.

The Essex Association has lost an old and valued friend in Canon H. A. Lake, Sub-Dean of Chelmsford Cathedral since 1924, and Rector of Chelmsford for 34 years. He passed away on Monday at the age of 81 years, as a result of an attack of pneumonia.

Canon Lake had always been deeply interested in the Essex Association. He was usually present at the annual meeting, and last year at Chelmsford recalled his experiences at the coming-of-age of the association, and said he was looking forward to the jubilee celebration next Whitsun.

The deceased cleric, when at Cambridge University, was a prominent runner, and had always been a great supporter of Essex and amateur sport.

By a coincidence a report will be found in another column of a peal rung at Braintree on December 29th in honour of Canon Lake's birthday.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is well known to us all that it is no unusual thing for Parliament to pass an Act and for the Courts to decide subsequently that the wording is such that the thing actually done is the direct opposite of the intention of the Legislature. After the interesting and valuable correspondence in your columns it can be a matter of little surprise that the Central Council, late on in the afternoon after a long session, should have fallen into a trap of this kind.

By this time we must be all agreed that it is no easy matter to set down on paper the conditions that we feel should govern these peals. Either we find ourselves banning some that ought to be accepted, or allowing what might with advantage be rejected.

We are all agreed that Mr. Bankes James' arrangement is an advance on what has gone before, and must on no account be banned. Most of us at this date cannot accept his 720's as true and complete. It follows (does it not?) that some modification is essential in the Hereford resolutions.

Apparently we all are agreed that the acceptance of this arrangement of 720's involves the acceptance of Mr. Pitman's 240's. And I will go further. You cannot logically allow these without accepting Mr. Morris' as well. The three stand or fall together.

Personally, I think that a mistake was made in compressing the conditions for a peal of Minor (or Doubles) into a single resolution. At the present time, when splicing and the like is much to the fore, a 'portmanteau' resolution is likely to have the effect of crabbing valuable advance. I would venture to suggest that we put our heads together and try to draw up a series of individual conditions which will carry us some way on the road we wish to travel, and which can be added to subsequently as needs arise.

With this view I venture to put forward the following for criticism, amendment and addition:—

CONDITIONS FOR PEALS.

(1) Compositions of Minor must be in 720's and not in smaller touches. Compositions of Doubles must be in 120's and not in smaller touches. These 720's and 120's are to be true in themselves.

(2) In a peal of Minor no two 720's may be alike in both calling and method. In a peal of Doubles 120's in round blocks will be recognised with inevitable repetition of calling, but there must be as much variety as the nature of the method, or methods, admits with the use of the ordinary calls employed in the method, or methods.

The wording of this resolution will need careful consideration. It is of the utmost importance that a peal of Grandsire Doubles should consist of at least 10 differently called six-scores, and one of Bob Minor of seven different 720's. At the same time it is not easy to provide for this without excluding what we ought to allow.

(3) At the end of each round block, whether this consist of 720 changes of Minor or 120 changes of Doubles (or groups of 720's or 120's), the bells shall immediately go off into the next block.

(This is intended to provide that at the end of a six-score (say) rounds is only to be struck once.)

There may be other points which it would be well to include, but I feel sure that the acceptance of these three conditions in some form or other would go a long way towards standardising five and six bell peals in the way we all desire to do, while the respective merits of Messrs. Pitman's and Morris' arrangements can best be left to the practical commonsense of the Exercise. If they are worth preserving they will continue to be rung (Central Council resolutions or not). If not, they will naturally disappear.—Yours, etc.,

E. S. POWELL.

PROGRESS OR DEGENERACY?

Sir,—The time is ripe for some plain speaking, and I think that most ringers who value the prestige of our Art will endorse and support your editorial attitude.

Will any unbiassed person state what progress is made by the latest 'jiggery-pokery' of the five and six-bell merchants? An attempt is being made to prove that nothing matters so long as it comes right at the end. The abortion put out by Mr. L. Morris, supposed to be a peal of Grandsire Doubles, has four leads missing—3542, 4235, 3524, 2435—the bells run round at the 39th change, and the rest are false. On what basis does any sane person—and I include especially Mr. J. A. Trollope—suggest that such piffle should be accepted as a 'peal'?

If language means anything, a peal on five bells is 120 true changes (NOT 240) from rounds to rounds. On seven bells a peal is 5,040 (not 10,080), and if the Central Council has at any time sanctioned anything different, it has been done by the casuistry of a few, who seem to annually hoodwink both members and chairman.

Many first-class performances on higher numbers of bells have been condemned, and rightly so, because of the repetition of a single change, yet on five bells wholesale falseness is permitted, solely for the glorification of the bob caller, for it is nothing extra to the ringer. It is almost unthinkable that after 300 years of progressive change ringing men of intellect can be found to provide a 'reason' (?) for such retrogression.

Under it, anything can be foisted on the Exercise as a 'peal.' Under it, a 'Bob-and-Swindle' peal is assured before it begins. We have seen enough of that in years past, and we ought to see that history does not repeat itself. Where falseness does not matter, what else can be banned? Every conductor of experience can surely see what a gateway it opens to fraud. If the object in view is to exercise the minds of the ringers, then Grandsire Doubles, however manipulated, will not do much. There are more methods now in existence than will ever be rung. There is more brainwork in a seven-method peal than in one method, no matter what calling is used. Since it has been stated in your columns that the Central Council endorses these monstrosities, I beg to ask Mr. Alex Young the secretary, to tell us from his minute book when and where such resolution was passed.

W. WILLSON.

MORRIS' ARRANGEMENT OF DOUBLES.

Dear Sir,—I note with pleasure your brief rejoinder to my letter this week, in which you submit to such expressions as, 'In our opinion.' It would be as well to point out that this style of language should have dominated your recent leaders and references to the subject, in view of your complete failure to ventilate partially the outstanding facts and features of the two arrangements of Grandsire Doubles in question.

As I have already proved, both are true and complete in themselves, inasmuch that both contain in their respective 240's each of the possible 120 changes twice, and are therefore, as quoted by Mr. Trollope, legitimate and allowable.

I therefore object to such expressions as 'false' being attributed, as they are certainly both misappropriate and misrepresenting.

LESLIE W. G. MORRIS.

Leeds, Yorkshire.

[The 'outstanding fact and feature' of Mr. Morris' arrangement is that it does not comply with the resolution passed at the meeting of the Central Council at Hereford, which says, 'That peals of Doubles consist of at least 42 true and complete 120's rung without interval and without rounds or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 120....' (The emphasis is ours.) If we have failed to 'ventilate' this, even 'partially,' we are sorry, but we had not previously realised that we had not made it plain. On the contrary, we thought we had put it quite clearly, so that even the meanest intelligence could understand what we meant. However much Mr. Morris may object that the expression 'false' is 'misappropriate and misrepresenting,' it does not alter the fact that, in his 'arrangement,' rounds or other rows are included and rung 'more than once in any 120.' The repetition of rows excludes an equal number of other rows. Therefore, no 120 is true and complete. And if it isn't true, what is it?—Ed. 'R.W.']

SPICED EXTENTS.

Sir,—The reference in your correspondence to the fact that Pitman and Bankes James' peals are upheld by the Council should be amplified by pointing out that spiced 240's, etc., are also upheld—e.g.,—

It was on account of an assurance from the seconder of the motion (Rev. H. Law James) at Hereford that all these were included in the definition, that I did not proceed with the amendment that I had intended to propose.—Yours truly,

E. M. ATKINS.

A QUESTION OF DEGREE.

Dear Sir,—My object in referring to Triples was to point out that repetitions are not there allowed. The reason, of course, is that Triples are always rung in an eight-bell tower, and if a long peal is desired it can be rung in a Major method.

In order to get 5,040 in lesser numbers, such license as repetitions is allowed. It is therefore only a question of degree, whether the license now asked for should be allowed.

The discussion is both interesting and instructive, and it is a pity it did not take place before the last Council meeting. I fear very few of us grasped the point at issue, and if the Council does reconsider the matter it need not be taken as a precedent.

I am afraid I am not worried by the thought of the 'whim of any composer who happens upon some freak composition.' I should be only too glad to see it, and then the Council could adjudicate on its merits.

HERBERT DRAKE.

AN ABRIDGED SYSTEM OF PROOF.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

[The following is the third portion of a short treatise on Method Proving, a subject thoroughly understood at present by comparatively few. A close study of these articles should help many more ringers to an understanding of this advanced side of the science.]

Earlier in this article we considered four false heads, obtained in the orthodox way, from rows 9-22 and rows 11-24, viz.: (1) 18427365, (2) 14638752, (3) 16724385, and (4) 14658237. We found that 1-2 and 3-4 are related, each to the other, by their proving values, and I stated that 1-3 and 2-4 also are related in a similar way by the positions occupied therein by the lead-end. I should like briefly to explain what was meant.

Actually, this 'proving value' is a double transposition, although this is not apparent because the numbers and positions (at rounds) happen to coincide; but, reading the bells one above another in the two rows, this is how it appears on paper:—

If the FH (1) 18427365 be related to the HF 12345678, then the HF 12345678 is related to the PV 14638752 (FH No. 2), and similarly with the false heads 3-4. False heads 1-3 and 2-4 are related, with the lead-end as the Hidden Factor, thus:—
If the FH (1) 18427365 be related to the HF 14628375, then the HF 14628375 is related to FH (3) 16724385.

To return to our rows 5-26 and 7-28, a similar relationship exists between the false heads obtainable from these four rows, and there should be a direct way of finding the formation of the course ends pertaining to rows 7-28, once we have established those which govern rows 5-26, but, unfortunately, it has proved to be elusive. We obtained the combinations without recourse to rows 7-28, but it seems that these rows will have to be treated in the same manner as rows 5-26, in order to ascertain the formation of the course end rows. This substitutes the production of the combinations by the alteration due to the lead-end, as the four which come from rows 7-28 may just as well be produced in the ordinary way, without recourse to the lead-end at all. The latter has, however, served to illustrate the point, that one pair of rows will determine whether the four rows have a clean proof scale, or not.

I have dealt with rows of like nature herein, because they lend themselves more readily to explanation, being nearer to the orthodox system, and I must leave the final difficulty for the reader to solve, if he wishes to avoid recourse to the upward treatment of rows 5-26 and to both treatments of rows 7-28, in search of the false course ends.

Before touching upon the alternative system, we can summarise what has gone:—

We take, from a symmetrical section, two rows of like nature with the treble in the 'odd' place, and apply Blocks Y-Z downwards. If there is no combination the matter rests there—the whole section is 'clean.'

If there are one or more combinations from this downward application, we trace the formation of the false course end, or ends. The upward treatment will bring reversed combinations in certain false courses, which probably will be identical.

It will then be necessary to deal with the other two rows of like nature, which have the treble in the 'odd' place, in precisely the same way.

If the section is asymmetrical, repeat the above for the rows with the treble in the 'even' place. It may happen, in such a section, that, while no combination is found in the treble's 'odd' place, several may come from the rows with the treble in the 'even' place; or vice versa.

THE ALTERNATIVE SYSTEM.

The system which deals with rows of opposite natures, and which, for several reasons, I much prefer, I have termed the 'Half-Lead Practice,' because, in 90 per cent. of the sections, these rows will appear in the same half of the lead, and only the half section (plus the lead-end row) will be necessary if the section happens to have a clean proof scale. If Operation B reveals combinations in the pair of opposite nature rows, the other two rows in the lower half of the lead will have to be produced, by transposition from the lead-end or some other means, in order to establish the formation of the false course ends therefrom; unless, of course, the reader discovers the relationship existing between the false course ends from four rows. In this event the alternative system will be truly 'half-lead practice.'

Operation B, here, will not be quite so apparent as in the other, but the remainder is more simple and just as effective. I shall deal very briefly with the subject, in view of the detailed explanation that has gone, because it more or less follows, and shall refer only to symmetrical sections, it being understood that an asymmetrical section will exactly double the work. The same section is dealt with as that in the full-lead practice, viz., that which covers rows 5-26 and 7-28.

OPERATION B.—Collate two rows of opposite natures, and apply Blocks Y-Z for coursing pairs in positional pairs as before, but with this difference: The positional pairs will be represented by the lead-end numbers which replace them, the coursing pairs will be as usual, and, when a combination has been found, the positional pair quoted therein will be a proper pair belonging to Blocks Y or Z, and which will be indicated by the substituted lead-end numbers.

The following table, which is standard, is useful for Operation B. It indicates the pairs which any lead-end will substitute for the positional pairs of Blocks Y-Z.

If the lead-end of a method be:—	The substituted pairs will be:—
	Block Y.			Block Z.
	2/3	3/5	5/7	7/8	2/4	4/6	6/8
12436587	2/4	4/6	6/8	8/7	2/3	3/5	5/7
13254768	3/2	2/4	4/6	6/8	3/5	5/7	7/8
14628375	4/6	6/8	8/7	7/5	4/2	2/3	3/5
15372846	5/3	3/2	2/4	4/6	5/7	7/8	8/6
16847253	6/8	8/7	7/5	5/3	6/4	4/2	2/3
17583624	7/5	5/3	3/2	2/4	7/8	8/6	6/4
18765432	8/7	7/5	5/3	3/2	8/6	6/4	4/2

The procedure is thus:—

Rows. The lead-end 14628375, according to our table, substitutes 4/6, 6/8, 8/7, 7/5 for the positional pairs of Block Y; and 4/2, 2/3, 7/8 + 5.2.1.7.8.3.6.4. 3/5 for Block Z. Observe these pairs in row 5, and under them, in row 7, search for any proper coursing pair belonging to the block. Thus: 4/6 in row 5 have 46 under, which are the wrong way for Block Y; similarly with 6/8 and 8/7. The 7/5 have 72 under, the 4/2 have 45 under, and these are not coursing pairs. But 2/3 in row 5 have 53 under, and 3/5 have 32 under, both coursing pairs being the correct way for Block Z. Here, then, we have two combinations, 53 in 2/3 and 32 in 3/5; but 2/3 and 3/5 are the lead-end symbols which are replacing the proper positional pairs of 4/6 and 6/8 respectively. Thus the proper combinations are 35 in 4/6 and 23 in 6/8, from the downward treatment of these two rows.

Now exactly repeat this for the upward treatment. (The reversal of the combinations does not apply here, because we are dealing with a 'cross' collation; it comes later, as will be shown.) This produces two combinations which happen to be identical with the first two, viz.: 35 in 4/6 and 23 in 6/8. Incidentally, these two treatments (downward and upward) are very easily done together. After a time it becomes natural to search both rows at once, for both positional and coursing pairs. For instance, we can look for 4/6 in row 5 and observe 46 below, and, vice versa, 4/6 below and observe 46 above; and so on.

We can ignore, for the moment, the four combinations which should come from the other pair of rows (viz., 26-28), and can trace the formation of the false course ends.

FUNERAL OF MR. H. H. CHANDLER.

The funeral of Mr. H. H. Chandler, of Hillingdon, whose death was reported in our last issue, took place on Thursday, January 3rd. The interment took place at Hillingdon Cemetery, the Vicar of Hillingdon (Rev. H. J. Kiteat) officiating.

As the cortege passed through the village, the bells of St. John's were rung fully muffled to touches of Grandsire Caters. The ringers were: Mrs. F. W. Goodfellow 1, F. W. Goodfellow 2, A. R. G. Twinn 3, F. Corke 4, J. J. Pratt 5, F. G. Baldwin 6, J. H. Lucas 7, A. H. Fulwell 8, W. Honor 9, F. Smith 10. Among the large company present at the graveside were ringers from Hillingdon, Uxbridge and Ealing. The ringers from the two former places also sent wreaths.

At the conclusion of the burial service four ringers, one at each corner of the grave, rang, as a last farewell, a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells: F. G. Baldwin 1-2, A. H. Fulwell 3-4, F. W. Goodfellow 5-6, F. Corke 7-8. And so he was left within sound of the bells he loved so well. R.I.P.

WARNHAM RINGERS' LAST TRIBUTE.

The Warnham (Sussex) band met on Thursday, January 3rd, to pay their tribute of respect to their old friend and erstwhile conductor, Mr. H. H. Chandler. Touches of Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples were brought round, and also a touch of Canterbury Major, in which method Mr. Chandler, called the first peal and also the greatest leifth. The ringers taking part were J. Stanford, T. Branch, J. Cook, P. Charman, W. Hooker, J. Branch, W. Pettifer, A. Charman and Wal Charman.

OLD COLLEGE YOUTH'S DEATH.

The death of Mr. Thomas Coxhead occurred recently at York Street, Lambeth, at the age of 72 years. He was born at a village near Aldbourne, Wilts, and his knowledge of horses secured him employment with the London and South Western Railway Company. For over 44 years he was a horsekeeper at the Nine Elms Depot. Six years ago he retired on a pension of 17s. a week, but when he reached 70 years of age the company reduced it to 7s., as he was then entitled to the old age pension.

Deceased was at one time a regular ringer at St. Saviour's, Southwark, with the local band, but when the bells were relung alterations were made, and the ringers disbanded, members of the choir being instructed to ring in their places. The late Mr. Coxhead rang many of the tenors behind to peals in South London and other places, and was always ready to oblige for a peal. He was an old member of the College Youths, and also a member of the St. James' Society and the Waterloo Society.

LIGHTING THE TOWER.

To the Editor.

Sir,—When the bells at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, were rehung last year we reorganised the lighting very much on the lines set out by your correspondent re Truro, and have found the central light over the bell frame to be of very great convenience indeed. The flex of the central light in the ringing chamber passes through a hole in the ceiling, and is fixed with an ordinary counterbalance weight to the roof of the intermediate chamber. This enables the height to be regulated and the lamps to be lowered to be replaced without it being necessary to erect a scaffold.

It is interesting to know that the two towers, which are replicas of one another and such splendid examples of Pearson architecture, are lit in the same way.—Yours, etc.,

E. M. ATKINS.

'AN IDEAL ARRANGEMENT.'

Dear Sir,—I would suggest the following as being an ideal arrangement for the electric light installation for Ufford tower:—

The lights in the staircase, between the ground level and the ringing chamber, should be controlled by two two-way switches, one in the bottom and one at the door of the ringing chamber. This will enable the lights to be switched on at the bottom, and off at the top, or vice versa. The remaining lights in the staircase can be switched off from a switch placed just outside the ringing chamber door.

The lights in the ringing chamber should be controlled by a switch inside the ringing chamber, and that in the clock room by a switch in the clock room, and that in the bell chamber by a switch in the bell chamber.

These lights should be fixed lights, and of sufficient wattage to provide adequate illumination. It may be necessary to have, in addition, a portable light in both bell and clock chambers, and for this purpose a separate switch and plug should be placed in a convenient position in each chamber.

Regarding the lights for the ringing chamber, if the ceiling is white in colour, a 100 watt lamp with a bowl shade will probably give very satisfactory illumination, but in any case a very satisfactory light will be obtained by using a 100 watt pearl glass light with a Holophane shade, and situated in the centre of, and close to, the ceiling.

As regards the installation itself, I do not recommend one using lead-covered or metal sheathed cable but prefer the surface wiring system of the Macintosh Cable Company, Ltd., which does not require any earthing or bonding, and can be installed with a maximum neatness.—Yours faithfully,

P. W. CAVE.

A STAFFORDSHIRE PEAL RESTORED.

The peal of eight (tenor 14 cwt.) at St. Chad's Church, Pattingham, near Wolverhampton, has been recently rehung on ball bearings and overhauled by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The oak frame, which was loose in its members, has been tightened, while the foundation beams have been anchored to the walls by means of steel channels.

The bells were rung once more for Christmas, and the 'go' is all that can be desired.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association was to have taken place at St. Sepulchre's, Holborn, but owing to the death of the Vicar there was no ringing at this church. It was, however, decided to apply at St. Andrew's Rectory for permission to ring on the fine ring of eight there instead, and although both the Rector and his wife were absent, the vergers were able to give the necessary permission. On hearing the good news, the members soon found their way into the tower. The bells were raised at about 4 p.m., and some good ringing followed, although short touches were the order of the day in order to give all present a 'pull' in the limited time at disposal. The methods were varied, Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, and Cambridge being successfully brought round, and at 6 p.m. the bells were lowered.

The business meeting was very short, the next meeting of the district being due to take place on Saturday, January 19th, at All Saints', West Ham (see notice column).

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the church officials at St. Andrew's for the kindly way in which they gave permission to ring there. The attendance numbered about 25, and would doubtless have been greater if the ringing had been at the other tower, as many went away from St. Sepulchre's without visiting St. Andrew's.

The officers of the district wish, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to tender their very sincere apology to all those members and others who waited outside St. Sepulchre's, and, concluding that there was 'nothing doing,' went away disappointed, although, at the same time, they hope that they will realise that the circumstances were utterly unforeseen, and could not have possibly been helped.

RING OUT THE OLD.

SOUTH WEALD, ESSEX.—On December 31st, just before midnight, with the bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 48 mins., with ten different callings: F. Everitt (first quarter away from tenor) 1, J. Harridge 2, F. Wood 3, G. Miles (conductor) 4, A. Benbow 5, E. C. B. Sharplin 6. First quarter-peal on the bells by an entirely local band. After midnight, 360 changes by the same band with the bells open.

HAYES, KENT.—On Monday, December 31st, 720 Wells Surprise Minor: T. R. Flint 1, F. Keech 2, J. Hack 3, O. Gilbey (conductor) 4, H. Brown 5, J. Brown 6. First in the method on the bells and by all the band.

ARKSEY.—On New Year's Eve, 1,344 Grandsire Triples in 48 mins.: F. Garner 1, E. Cooper (conductor) 2, G. Clarke 3, H. Arrand 4, Jos. McCluskey 5, Jas. McCluskey 6, T. Bysouth 7, T. Revill 8. First quarter on an 'inside' bell by T. Bysouth, who is 74 years of age.

SOUTHGATE.—On December 31st, with bells half-muffled for the old year, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 52 mins.: Gilbert Slater (first quarter-peal on an inside bell) 1, J. Armstrong (conductor) 2, W. Pickworth 3, D. Ovington (first quarter-peal in the method) 4, J. E. Miller 5, H. Miller 6, S. Wade 7, A. G. Crane 8.

SEALE, SURREY.—The bells were rung half-muffled for a quarter of an hour before midnight on December 31st to ring out the old year. To ring in the new year and to celebrate the first anniversary of the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, a quarter-peal of Minor consisting of 720 Kent Treble Bob and 540 of Bob Minor was rung with the bells open, by: E. Gardner 1, B. Court (first 'inside') 2, H. Gardner 3, J. Beagley 4, C. Newman 5, E. Beagley (conductor) 6.

BICESTER RINGERS' SUPPER.

The Bicester bellringers sat down to their annual supper on New Year's Eve at the Rose and Crown, Bicester. The Vicar presided, and there were also present Messrs. A. E. Clifton, T. Clifton, H. Hatfield, W. Scarrott, J. Evans, B. Cox, F. Neale, W. Farmer, and the vergers, Mr. H. J. Walker.

After supper the loyal toast was honoured, and the company spent the remainder of the evening in community singing and touches on the handbells until 11.30.

An adjournment was then made to the church tower for muffled ringing until midnight, after which the bells were rung open until 12.15, and thus ended a very enjoyable evening.

MALDON RINGERS ENTERTAINED.

The ringers of All Saints', Maldon, were entertained to supper on New Year's Eve by Mr. H. J. Mansfield, one of the All Saints' company.

The programme commenced with the usual evening practice, when five methods were rung by members of the band.

The supper took place at the home of Mr. Mansfield, where thirteen sat down to a sumptuous feast. Despite the supposed ill-luck of the number, the evening was successfully and enjoyably spent, the time passing all too quickly. Some gramophone records of bellringing were heard, and comic songs were rendered by Mr. J. H. Waldoek and Mr. J. Amos. Mr. W. Chalk also entertained with a recitation of his own poetry. After some handbell ringing, the company walked to the tower to ring out the old year and ring in the new. For this purpose 672 changes of Grandsire Triples were rung by E. Johnson, S. E. Linnett, W. Chalk, J. Amos, Miss A. E. Waldoek, H. J. Mansfield, F. Chalk and F. Ford, Mr. P. Chalk conducting.

A more fitting finale to the old year, or a more happy prelude to the new, would be difficult to find. The hearty thanks of the ringers are due to Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield for their hospitality, and the company unite in wishing them a very happy and prosperous new year.

WEST HALLAM BELLS.

The new bells at West Hallam, Derbyshire, have been hung in the tower, and thus complete the octave. They are to be dedicated by the Bishop of Derby on Sunday, January 20th, at 3 p.m. The tower will be at the disposal of visiting ringers on Saturday, January 26th, from 2.30 to 8 p.m.

VETERAN CLERICAL RINGER DEAD.

FORMER TREASURER OF THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

The death has taken place at Cheltenham of the Rev. Henry Courtney Courtney. Mr. Courtney was in his 92nd year, and had been in orders 66 years. From 1902-3 he was curate of St. Stephen's, Bristol. In 1904, he became curate to Dr. Wilkins, with the charge of Redland Green Chapel, where he worked for 15 years.

The deceased clergyman was well known by the older generation of ringers. Mr. Courtney went to Bristol from Dunster, where he had rung many peals under Mr. C. F. Winney's conductorship. In all he had rung 33 peals for the Bath and Wells Association. His first peal for the Gloucester and Bristol Association was rung at St. Stephen's on January 29th, 1896, and for that association (of which he was hon. treasurer in 1901-1902) he rang seven peals, his last being Stedman Triples at Thornbury on August 20th, 1904, which was conducted by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson.

WORPLESDON RINGER'S DEATH.

Mr. Reginald George Tickner, of Worplesdon, Surrey, whose death we briefly recorded last week, was 27 years of age, and the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tickner, of Worplesdon. He was playing football for Worplesdon on the Saturday before Christmas, was taken ill on Sunday, and died the next day.

Mr. Tickner was a native of Worplesdon, and was employed as an office porter at the railway station. In addition to being a ringer, he was very popular as joint secretary of the Men's Club and a playing member of the local football and cricket clubs. The funeral took place on Saturday week, when members of the cricket, football and men's clubs acted as bearers. The Guildford Diocesan Guild, of which deceased was a member, was represented by Messrs. G. Hazelden (District Ringing Master), W. Melville (district assistant secretary), W. Robinson and C. N. Burdock. As the funeral cortege approached, the bells were rung fully muffled, and at the conclusion of the service handbells were rung over the open grave. Afterwards on the church bells the 'whole pull and stand' was rung.

The deceased will be greatly missed in the belfry, for he was a competent change ringer, particularly on six bells, and a regular member of the service band.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

BELFRY LIGHTING.

At many of the churches where the services of ringers are appreciated by the authorities a good deal more consideration is now being given to the convenience and comfort of the men and women who ring the bells than was once the case. It is all part of the spirit of reform which has been steadily progressing for the last fifty years or so. It began with efforts to banish the idea, at one time very prevalent, that the belfry, and especially the ringing chamber, was primarily designed as the lumber room of the church. Here and there are still to be found isolated cases where the derelict furniture of the church, the gravedigger's tools, and any unwanted articles find storage place in the tower, but, happily, these instances, at one time common, are fast disappearing.

It has been the ringers who have wrought the change. The application of steady pressure on the clergy and officials and the energies of the ringers themselves have effected vast changes in hundreds of our belfries. Into the great majority of ringing rooms anyone may now venture without risk of spoiling clothes, while in numerous instances the care of the belfry is obviously a matter of real pride. This is only as it should be, of course; for the belfry is as much a part of the church as the vestry or the chancel. But in the treatment of certain important matters many churches still lag behind. In regard to the lighting of the tower and the ventilation of the ringing chamber a number of belfries continue to leave much to be desired. There are ringing rooms with practically no effective means of ventilation; with windows which are too small, or inaccessible, or will not open, and some even without windows at all.

The lighting, too, is primitive, and particularly is this so on the dark and dangerous staircases which, being generally spiral, might easily prove a death trap. Indeed, it is almost a miracle that there are not frequent serious accidents in the unlit stairways, where the steps, often, are irregular and there is seldom any handrail. Then, too, the provision made in the bell chamber itself, where it is constantly necessary for a man to go and where, in the absence of effective lighting, accidents may easily happen, is, generally speaking, notoriously bad. An unprotected candle, which may be blown out at any moment by the wind; or, perhaps, a stable lantern is often the only means of lighting one's way across a bell frame at night, which, even if the bells be 'down,' is a risky thing. It is up among the bells that, most of all, it is important that there should be efficient illumination.

Another but lesser evil often to be found is the position of the light in the ringing room. Cases are numerous where it comes close to, if not actually in, the line of vision and is trying to the eyes as well as making rope sight difficult. This defect in lighting is sometimes due to the necessity of keeping the gas or oil lamps at a safe distance from the ceilings, but even where electricity is not available, it ought to be possible in most of such cases to devise some improvement. There can be no doubt, however, that an electric lighting installation wherever it is possible lends itself best of all to the requirements of a church tower, and we hope that the ringers at many belfries may profit by improvements carried out on lines suggested in recent letters in 'The Ringing World.'

FIFTY YEARS OF RINGING.

HOW THE SURREY ASSOCIATION WAS FORMED.

In the days when many of our ringing associations were in the making, conditions were vastly different from those of to-day, and those who wanted to get on in the art of change ringing had to make their own opportunities. The ringers who are still with us who had any experience of ringing in the now distant '70's are few, but one of them is Mr. J. W. Trappitt, sen., now living in Dublin, who learnt his ringing at the famous church of Beddington, Surrey, and is the last survivor of the little company who formed the Surrey County Association.

Mr. Trappitt was born within the sound of Bow bells, but migrated to Beddington about 1875. He first handled a bell rope in June, 1876, when he was elected a member of the St. Mary's, Beddington, Society of Call Change Ringers. In the early summer of 1877 about four of the company walked on a Sunday afternoon to Fulham Parish Church (about ten miles) to get a pull for evening service. The Rector (the Rev. — Fisher), who was at that time a ringer himself, out of courtesy allowed them to have a pull after having come so far, but he informed them that he had made up his mind not to allow any more call change ringing on the bells of his church.

This set the Beddingtonites thinking and talking, with the result that they, as a company, decided that they would never be denied the use of bells if want of knowledge of change ringing was the only obstacle. From that time on, with the late Edgar Bennett as their conductor, their progress was steady. Early in the year 1878 they rang their first quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. During the year they rang two other quarter-peals, three half-peals, and three peals, the first peal being on November 8th, 1878, and the first peal by all the hand. It was at All Saints', Carshalton, that they rang the first quarter, half and complete peal, so that Carshalton naturally holds memories dear to him.

It was early in the year 1880, after a practice at Carshalton, that the ringers called in at the King's Arms, and in the parlour Edgar Bennett, Charles Gordon, James Cawley, John Plowman, Samuel Greenwood, George Pell, 'Daddy' Springhall, Mr. Shepherd, and J. Trappitt decided it was time to do something to form a county association of ringers. This was the birthplace of the Surrey Association.

On May 21st, in the schoolroom at Beddington, with the Rector (the Rev. Canon Bridges) in the chair, it was christened and launched on its troublesome life, with a gentleman, named Percival, of Wimbledon, as secretary. Mr. Trappitt is the only one of the original founders left, and his eldest son continues to carry on that which his father had a hand in starting.

But to revert to the Beddington company. On October 27th, 1880, they rang their first peal of Plain Bob Triples, and on May 7th, 1881, their first peal of Grandsire Caters. On February 4th, 1882, they scored John Holt's one-part peal of Plain Bob Triples, the first time this peal had been rung. On October 20th, 1883, they were successful in ringing their first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, and on December 6th, 1883, Mr. Trappitt called his first peal. On May 4th, 1885, the company rang their first peal of Bob Major, and on August 5th, 1886, their first peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal. The band on this occasion included the Rev. F. E. Robinson, whose first peal of Treble Ten it was also. All these peals, with the exception of the Treble Ten, were rung by the Sunday service ringers of the Beddington Society, and were the first in the different methods by all who took part in them.

On June 6th, 1888, Mr. Trappitt rang his first peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by J. W. Washbrook; on the following day his first peal of Stedman Caters, conducted by the Rev. E. F. Robinson. This was Mr. Trappitt's 50th peal. From this time on he has no record of dates, but he has rung peals of Double Norwich and one of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

In 1895 he migrated to Ireland, where at St. Thomas', Belfast, he managed to teach a band till they rang three courses of Grandsire Triples. He also rang at Hollywood, County Down. In 1896 he went to the south-east of Ireland, with no sound of a peal of bells until in 1897 he met Mr. J. W. Washbrook and Mr. J. W. Taylor with a Loughborough band at the opening of a new church and peal of bells at Arklow, County Wicklow. In January, 1901, he settled in 'dear dirty Dublin,' and was made a member of the St. Patrick's Cathedral Society, of which he is still a ringing member. Among the memorable peals in which he has taken part in Ireland was one in October, 1901, at Arklow, when J. W. Washbrook rang the 3rd and 4th bells. Mr. Trappitt rang in the first peal of Stedman Triples, Treble Bob Major, Stedman Caters, and Treble Bob Royal, and Grandsire Cinques, in Ireland. Altogether he has rung about 122 peals, of which he has conducted nine. On November 8th last, on the 50th anniversary of his first peal, an attempt for a commemorative peal was made, but it came to grief after ringing three hours.

Mr. Trappitt is one of the few left who rang with the late Henry Haley and John Cox. He had not the pleasure of meeting the late Henry Johnson, but one of the St. Martin's band of his time, Amos Cressor, was an honorary member of the Beddington company for several months while working in the Croydon Bell Foundry, and he rang a peal of Grandsire Caters with them on June 3rd, 1882. Other honorary members of the company were the late Dr. A. B. Carpenter, Mr. E. F. Cole, and Mr. C. E. Malin, who rarely missed a practice for several years. If these lines should meet the eye of either of these last-named gentlemen or the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, a kindly thought will give pleasure to 'Little Jim.'

OLDSWINFORD RINGER'S SAD DEATH. KILLED WHEN GOING OFF DUTY.

Thomas Joseph Smith, aged 61, of Brook Road, Oldswinford, Stourbridge, met a sad death on the railway on Saturday night, January 5th. He was a signman, and was going off duty, when he was run over and killed. The surface of the road was very slippery at the time, and it is thought he may have slipped and fallen on the railway line. At the inquest a verdict of 'Accidental death' was returned, and greatest sympathy with the widow and daughter was expressed by the coroner and jury.—Mr. B. Gordon, stationmaster, associated himself with the expression, and said that deceased had been a very valuable servant. He had been in the company's service for 39 years, and had been a signman for 37 years. Mr. Hation also extended sympathy on behalf of the National Union of Railwaymen.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon last week at the Borough Cemetery, Stourbridge, and was attended by about 100 employees of the Great Western Railway Company. Messrs. Arthur E. Whitmore (Stourbridge), Thomas Heathcock (Oldswinford) and John Bass (Wollaston) represented the ringers. A short service was conducted by the Rev. H. J. Friessener, curate of Oldswinford, who also gave a brief and fitting address. The burial lesson was read by the Rev. A. E. Buchanan, Rector of Pedmore. The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous.

The late Mr. Smith was held in high esteem by his many colleagues on the railway, with whom he was always bright and genial. A native of Clent, he joined the local band of bellringers, and after removal to Brierley Hill he was a member of the Brierley Hill band. Still more recently he belonged to St. Thomas', Stourbridge, and Oldswinford Parish Church band of bellringers, and although not a great peal ringer he conducted the 1,000th peal for the Worcestershire Association on Saturday, December 6th, 1913. He was ever willing to do what he could to further the interests of ringing.

The following members of the Worcestershire Association, Messrs. J. Bass, William Gibbs, Robert Matthews, Alfred C. Boxley, Clifford Skidmore, Chas. W. Cooper, Walter Farley and Thomas Hemming, attempted a half-muffled peal on Thursday evening, at Christ Church, Lye, as a last token of respect, but, unfortunately, after about an hour, had to stand owing to a rope having slipped the wheel.

GLEMSFORD, SUFFOLK.—On October 31st, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes), rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. T. E. Slater: *W. J. Reynolds 1, *W. G. Good 2, *E. W. Ambrose 3, *A. A. Fitch 4, P. L. Johnson (conductor) 5, T. E. Slater 6.
* First quarter-peal.

IPSWICH SURPRISE MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In sending you these two peals of Ipswich Surprise Major, may I plead with the Exercise to give more consideration to this most excellent method. Produced by Mr. Arthur Craven, it was brought into the limelight by Rev. C. D. P. Davies in 'Surprise Methods' (see pp. 52-54), where the author points out some of its many advantages. While structurally a great improvement on Cambridge, its 'work' resembles the diagram of the latter enough to make it much more easy for a Cambridge ringer to learn than (say) London, and it possesses (to quote Mr. Davies' own words) 'the conspicuous advantage of having one, and only one, course false against the plain course,' thus offering 'wide scope in the way of composition.'

I believe I am correct in saying that since Mr. E. Jenkins called the first peal in the method on May 21st, 1927, only one more peal of it has been rung. Surely this is a method well worth the attention and practice of the many Surprise ringers who ring Middleton's peal of Cambridge regularly about ten times a year.—Yours faithfully,

STEPHEN H. WOOD.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Canon Lake, Sub-Dean and Rector of Chelmsford, whose death at the age of 81 years we recorded last week, only once missed being present at the annual meeting of the Essex Association in 34 years.

Mr. George R. Pye rang 75 peals in 1928.

Harry Bastable, the celebrated Birmingham ringer, who was Master of St. Martin's Guild from 1888, died thirty years ago to-morrow at the age of fifty years.

The first peal on twelve bells ever rung was accomplished at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, on January 19th, 1724, when the College Youths rang 5,060 of Grandsire Cinques. It was an historical event.

On January 20th, 1740, a peal of 5,040 'Garthings Trebles' was rung at St. Margaret's, Lynn. It is believed that this was Garthorn's peal of Grandsire Triples, which was first rung at Norwich.

A peal of 6,600 Bob Maximus was rung at St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge, on January 21st, 1788.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal after a lapse of 75 years was rung at Cheltenham on January 21st, 1893. The first that was rung was at Wakefield in 1822.

The Sussex County Association was established on January 29th, 1835, and the first peal was rung for the association two days later at Cuckfield by a band from Brighton. Two members of that company survive, Mr. Charles Tyler, of Henfield, and Mr. George King, who has been for many years now in Canada.

Mr. Henry W. Jackson, hon. treasurer, Lancashire Association for the past 47 years, died on Sunday morning at the advanced age of 83 years. He was a member of the College Youths.

HALEY, COX AND JOHNSON.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Seeing mention lately of the fact that there are not many now left of those who have rung with the three veteran ringers whose names stand at the head of this letter, perhaps I ought to let it be known that I am one of the few remaining. I do not think that I ever rang a peal with John Cox, but I rang two or three touches with him at odd times. In my London ringing days (1878-80) he was a Cumberland, and I was always a College Youth. With Haley I rang regularly, and, to mention but one peal, I rang the second in the silent Holt's Original, with Haley ringing the treble next me. As regards Johnson, I rang in his last peal, one of Stedman Caters, at Aston, in which, I think, he rang the second, while I rang somewhere near the seventh. He came to see how things were looking, and as we were one short of our number, was—and I have always been thankful for it—persuaded to stand in at the last moment.

Mr. T. Groombridge, jun., of 127, Crayford Way, Crayford, who has been acting as hon. secretary of the fund, thanks all those who have so willingly subscribed and thus assisted the widow and three small children at a time of tragic bereavement and financial worry. Mr. Groombridge has received the following letter from Messrs. J. W. Bates and J. Bates, brothers of the deceased ringer:—

'We wish to thank you and all concerned for the generous help you have given to our brother's widow in response to the appeal you so kindly put forward. It has been a great help to her in her sad loss. Although we have thanked you personally, we feel we would like to express our appreciation in writing. Words do not convey the full extent of our gratitude, but we know you will understand how grateful we feel.'

MRS. BATES' THANKS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all who so kindly came to my assistance, with the result that I have received the grand total of £53 4s. 9d., and also of thanking you for the use of the columns in your paper, as I realise that, but for this, the appeal would have been impossible. The money has been a great help to me. It tends to soften a great blow when one feels such good friends are at hand. Thanking you all once again,—Yours gratefully,

ANNIE A. BATES.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The motion carried at Hereford is perfectly correct. It states that a peal of Minor must consist of seven true and complete 720's.

Now, consider my brother's arrangement of Cambridge Minor. We make 720 changes of the bells so that we have the correct number of changes made, but the last change made takes us into the next 720. We now ring through that, and the last change made brings us into the next 720, and so on throughout. The last change in the seventh 720 brings us back into the first 720 again, and completes the first 720, so that each of the seven is true and complete.

But the motion carried does not say that each 720 must be completed before the next one is begun; if it did it would rule out every peal of Minor, because it states that the seven 720's must be different. If so, then not only must the row 123456 come up after every 720th change is made, but the same applies to every other row, so that if 123564 comes up after the 12th change from the beginning it must also come up after the 732nd change is made, and this can only be if we ring the same 720 seven times over in the same method.

The motion allows us to ring seven true and complete compositions mixed up in any way we like, and so enables us to get seven 720's, bringing 5-6 up the right way at the back in Cambridge Surprise and also in London Surprise, and this cannot be done in any other way.

H. LAW JAMES.

[If Mr. Law James will look again at the motion passed at Hereford he will see that the word 'different' is not used in the resolution. It may be useful to quote again the exact wording which was adopted for a peal of Minor: 'That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, rung without interval and without rounds or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 720. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 720.' Thus it debars nothing which was not ruled out by the previous definition laid down by the Council.—Ed. 'R.W.']

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

Dear Sir,—Your comment at the foot of Mr. Morris' letter would appear to put the matter in a nutshell. If we are going to allow 240's of this type, there is nothing to prevent our taking the ten six-scores and splicing them two by two, which can be done, unless my mathematics be rusty, in 1,080 ways. You would have to discard 90 of these as they would consist of two consecutive six-scores, and there would be a number of duplicated 240's, but at any rate there would be rather just under 500 of them, and they would all contain 240 changes—i.e., each possible change twice. If 240's on this plan, why not 360's, 480's, 1,200's?

Mr. Morris' arrangement is good, but contravenes the C.C. resolution—so that would appear to be that.

The letter of the Rev. E. S. Powell is constructive and gives food for thought, but he will agree that, while the Hereford resolution stands, the arrangement under discussion is inadmissible.

Mr. Willson apparently wrote in a hurry. A letter full of slang and unkind words does not get us anywhere. To characterise Mr. Morris' effort as an 'abortion' (a horrible word) and a 'monstrosity,' is going too far. Was Mr. Willson in such violent haste to castigate the five and six-bell men—he does not love them, apparently—that he makes one obvious misstatement and commits an error in his English, both unusual things for W.W. Palpably, you cannot have more than 120 false changes in the 240 of Mr. Morris.

I would venture to state that I think I could exercise W.W.'s mind to some considerable tune in Grandsire Doubles. The 50 six-scores which we rang, all in a different way, some years ago, provided a mental test quite as stiff as does a peal in seven methods of Minor. It is surprising that this method of producing peals of Doubles is not more widely adopted—i.e., that of substituting other bells for the treble.

The number of 'legitimate' methods of Doubles is so small that credit should be given to anyone who makes an effort to ring something different, even though that effort be on lines that are wrong, according to the Central Council.—Yours, etc., J. T. DYKE.

TWO QUESTIONS.

Sir,—The arrangements of Minor and Doubles seem to be taking a prominent place in your columns, at the present time. As to their truth or otherwise, perhaps it would be as well if those concerned would answer the following questions:—

1. We are told that 123456 constitutes the first row or change in Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of his peal of Cambridge Minor. Will he inform your readers which is the last row or change?

2. In what way do these freak arrangements contribute to interest or advancement in the art of ringing to five and six-bell ringers?—Yours truly, C. SEVERN.

BURFORD, OXON.—On November 19th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 47 mins. (1,260 changes): F. Soden 1, E. Pearson 2, W. Brunedon 3, A. Bishop 4, R. Hudson 5, W. Dixon 6, T. Bond (conductor) 7, T. Timms 8. First quarter-peal of Stedman at Burford by a local band.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT WORKSOP.

A cordial welcome was extended to the members of the North Notts Association at Worksop on this their first meeting of the new year. The weather being beautifully fine, members attended from Anston, Shireoaks, Cuckney, Edwinstowe, Gamston, East Markham, Ordsall, Sutton-on-Trent, Warsop, Bolsover, Mansfield, Mansfield Woodhouse, Creswell, Chesterfield, Treeton, Gainsborough, Mistorion, Handsworth, Rotherham, and Staveley Town, with a number of the local company. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Forward Major, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise, in addition to one or two six-bell methods, some good ringing being done on the Priory bells. There were upwards of 40 ringers present during the afternoon and evening, and a large number sat down to tea at the Co-operative Cafe in Eastgate. The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson presided over the gathering, and the meeting which followed, supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Haigh), the Misses Burchinal and others.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Tuxford, the date to be arranged by the secretary immediately after Easter.

Frederick Hector Bennett, of Chesterfield, was elected a non-resident life member.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson for presiding over tea and meeting, and also to the Vicar of Worksop (Canon D'Arcy) for the use of the bells.

Some good change ringing on handbells took place during the meeting, and afterwards the tower bells were rung up to 9 p.m., and lowered in peal.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The usual monthly meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, on Saturday last. Amongst the visitors were Rev. C. A. Clements, of Grappenhall, Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and Mr. W. H. Shuker, general secretary of Lancashire Association. The bells were kept busy until 5.30 p.m., when the service was held. The Ven. Archdeacon Howson and the Rector of Liverpool took the service, and Rev. C. A. Clements preached. Immediately after the service the members proceeded to St. Nicholas' Institute, where tea was provided for all through the generosity of the Archdeacon.

A short meeting followed, at which the branch secretaries of the Wigan and Liverpool Branches gave a report to the members on the past year's progress.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Rector of Liverpool for granting facilities for the meeting, and to the Rev. C. A. Clements for his address. The Archdeacon was warmly thanked for his continued support and his generosity in providing tea.

A return was then made to the tower, and the bells were kept going till a late hour. Many of the visitors expressed their satisfaction and approval at the success of the meeting.

EAST HERTS MEETING AT HERTFORD.

A most enjoyable and successful meeting of the Eastern Division of the Hertford County Association was held at Hertford on Saturday last, when the bells of All Saints' (ten) and St. Andrew's (eight) were open. Members and friends were present from Romford, Leytonstone, Southgate, Leyton, Broxbourne, Ware, Barley, Braughing, Ragston, Nazcing, Shropshire, together with Mr. C. T. Coles, the hon. secretary of the Middlesex Association, and Mr. A. and Mrs. Pulling, of Guildford. Mr. Pulling, after such a marvellous recovery to health, largely due to the care and skill with which he was nursed at the County Hospital at Hertford, felt he would like to visit his many friends; and, needless to say, all were delighted to see him.

The Vicar gave an earnest and helpful address, which was much appreciated, and for which he was heartily thanked as he shook hands with each as they left the service.

Tea and business followed, Mr. W. Pickworth, of Southgate, presiding. One new member was elected, namely, Miss C. Welch, of the Benington band.

Grandsire Triples and Caters and Cambridge Royal were rung at All Saints', and Double Norwich, Bob Major and London Surprise brought round at St. Andrew's. All spent a very enjoyable time.

MUFFLED BELLS AT HARROW WEALD

On Wednesday, January 9th, at All Saints', Harrow Weald, 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to the wife of Mr. S. Holloway, who passed away very suddenly on Friday, January 4th. Mr. Holloway is a very respected member of the choir, and has also been a member of the belfry. The ringers were: Miss Freda Clayton 1, C. Dyke 2, Miss Elsie Fulton 3, N. Genna 4, G. R. Goodship 5, W. Horrod 6. This was followed by two courses of Stedman and 240 Grandsire Doubles, conducted by G. R. Goodship.

This is the first 720 by the ringers of the treble, third, fourth and tenor, and the first as conductor. All are members of the new band recently formed, with the exception of Mr. Dyke, who hails from Stanmore.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

The Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held its annual meeting at Wokingham on Saturday, where the two rings of bells at All Saints' and St. Paul's were utilised in a number of touches in the afternoon and evening. A well-attended service was held in St. Paul's Church, when an eloquent address was given by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Guild. Speaking from Eph. iii. 11, the Master took as his subject the eternal purpose of God, and asked: 'What would life be without a purpose?' It was a difficult thing to be out of work—without a job, but even with both secured, so many lives, unfortunately, were without purpose. They had no continuity of aim. He, however, was talking to those whose life had a purpose, and who were interested in their work. All their intelligence and ideas were bound up in what they had to do. But even so, there were times when purpose seemed absent, as when ringers failed to turn up at combined practice, and those who did were left with nothing to do. But the text spoke not of theirs, but with an eternal purpose, in Christ Jesus our Lord. Jesus Christ, Creator and Preserver of all things, Who worked not haphazardly but with an eternal purpose in Christ Jesus our Lord. Jesus Christ, like the architect, unfolded the plan to the workmen. Through His relation to His Father and ours to Him, we came into the eternal purpose, related both to God and to one another. Christ unfolded the eternal purpose to the people of the world. What, he asked, had the Guild of Church Bell Ringers to do with the eternal purpose? If true to their Guild, they were doing what Jesus Christ would have them do, and were working according to plan; with their contribution towards the worship of God, which was central in the thought and heart of our Lord Jesus Christ, who worshipped in the Temple and in the synagogue. Their work called for real occupation of bodily and mental powers. Their fellowship was just a part of the great fellowship which Christ came to bring about, and which had been gradually unfolded in their ringers' Guilds in England—part of the 'eternal purpose.' Not all that they did came under the eternal purpose; but let them live up to their baptismal and sacramental privileges as true Christians acceptable to God. Be faithful each in his own tower and for himself, not another. The preacher referred in moving terms to the eternal purpose as revealed in the light of the removal by death of their great friend, Master and chairman, the late Rev. R. H. Hart Davis, and in the illness and recovery of their chairman, Canon G. F. Coleridge, who was present with them that day. Let those words, 'the eternal purpose of God,' be their watchword for the coming year—their inspiration as they did all they could to carry on the purpose of God.

The singing of special ringers' hymns was very effective, especially 'Belfry Praise,' by the Rev. J. H. Matthews, with its lovely bell-like phrases and cadences. The Rector and the Rev. F. A. Sheffield took part in the service, while among those present were the chairman of the branch, the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Revs. B. Long (Rural Dean), G. H. Stubbs, and A. L. Manby. Miss D. E. M. Plumridge presided at the organ, deputising for Mr. A. H. Lusty, the organist.

High tea followed in the Parish Room, arranged by Mr. W. Houlton and Mrs. W. G. Houlton, and admirably served by ladies and gentlemen of the parish.

The Chairman, amid applause, thanked all the above for their kindness.

Canon Coleridge presided at the business meeting, ringers present numbering about 100, and including several ladies. Among those supporting the chairman were the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), the Revs. B. Long, H. M. Waller, A. P. Carr, G. H. Francis, W. T. Stubbs and P. A. Sheffield, Messrs. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary), A. J. Wright (Guild treasurer), W. J. Paice (branch secretary and treasurer). The District Secretary presented the balance sheet, which, with a slightly decreased income and larger expenses for combined practice (a new item) and Guild representatives' expenses, provided a balance some five pounds less than that of last year.

The Secretary reported a quiet year. He first congratulated the chairman on his restoration to health and presence amongst them again, to which Canon Coleridge feelingly responded.

Mr. Paice reported a membership of 22 honorary and 149 ringing members, against 21 and 169 last year, a net decrease of 22, accounted for to a large extent by the 'unattached' being transferred direct to the Guild. The Rev. A. L. Manby, of Camberley, Mr. Sabin and Mr. F. Goodyer (Wokingham) were welcomed as new members. Combined practices had been held at Arborfield, East-hampstead, Hurst, Sonning, Sandhurst, Waltham St. Lawrence, All Saints' and St. Paul's (Wokingham).

The Secretary also regretted the absence at their meeting, through illness, of Messrs. Darvell, Lawrence, E. H. Langley and W. Boyles.

The report made feeling reference to the loss of their late chairman, Rev. R. H. Hart Davis. A peal was attempted at Sonning as a memorial, but was lost after an hour. No peals had been rung during the year. A visit to the foundry of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston at Croydon was much enjoyed by many of the members. The Secretary thanked all the foremen and members for their help and sympathy, and said there was a keen desire to maintain the standard of Sunday service ringing.

Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge was unanimously re-elected chairman, with expressions of congratulations and esteem, to which he suitably responded.

Mr. W. J. Paice was unanimously thanked and reappointed branch secretary and treasurer. No change was made in the branch committee; and quarterly meetings were arranged for the spring at Sonning; summer, Wargrave or Hurst; autumn, Arborfield.

Branch representatives to Guild Council were re-elected, viz.: Messrs. F. Dentry, J. Moth, J. Rance and Jos. White.

On the recommendation of the branch committee, the date of next annual meeting was fixed for the third (not the second) Saturday in January.

The first of the combined practices was arranged for Hurst in February, the rest to be arranged by the hon. secretary.

On the motion of Mr. Rance, and seconded by Mr. Moth, it was unanimously and by acclamation agreed to present the hon. secretary, Mr. W. J. Paice, with an honorarium of two guineas as a small token of appreciation of his devoted and valuable services for the branch.—Mr. Paice suitably responded, and expressed pleasure at the help he always received from the members, and said how he valued the fact of their appreciation.

The Secretary said he had been in communication with the secretary (Mr. Clark) of the Farnham District of Guildford Diocesan Guild, as to a joint meeting with Sonning. They would see from 'The Ringing World' how much in vogue were joint meetings, and what a very great help they were.—Mr. Clark, who was present, expressed the pleasure it would give this district to welcome them.

The Master in a few words expressed pleasure at the meeting and at the work of the branch during the year, emphasising the value of the quarterly meetings and combined practice. He closed with an appreciation of Mr. Paice's work as hon. secretary.

Mr. Wright congratulated the branch on its success, and in its secretary. He also spoke of the Restoration Fund (the nucleus of which is formed by 25 per cent. of hon. members' subscriptions), which now stood at £30. Several restorations were due, and the money would be well spent. He was hoping the Guild funds would show a clear 5 per cent. increase. Every year he had been in office he had managed to increase the funds a little (applause). The more members, the more prosperous the Guild. He was glad to see the help given to younger members.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert referred feelingly to the passing of the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis, and to the illness and recovery of Canon Coleridge. The Sonning Branch had, he said, been absolutely blessed in its officers, the Rev. E. E. Broom, Mr. F. Dentry and now Mr. W. J. Paice. Mr. Hibbert spoke highly of the value of joint practices. He congratulated the branch on its working and on its officers.

The Rev. A. P. Carr, who expressed pleasure at being allowed to rejoin the branch, thanked the preacher, the Master for his deeply interesting address, the Rev. H. M. Walter for the use of his church and Parish Room, and the organist for her services, his remarks being heartily endorsed by the meeting.—The Rev. H. M. Walter cordially and briefly responded.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Southampton District was held at Southampton on Saturday last. The bells of St. Mary's and St. Michael's Churches were available, and various touches were brought round. Service was conducted in St. Michael's Church by the Vicar (Rev. A. R. Spread). Tea and the business meeting was held in St. Michael's Hall, the Rector of Dibden being in the chair, supported by Mr. Geo. Williams (Ringing Master and vice-president), Mr. Geo. Pullinger (general secretary), Mr. F. H. Rogers (Portsmouth District secretary), and members from Dibden, Eling, Romsey, King's Somborne, Woolton Hill, Ringwood, Titchfield, Portsmouth, North Stoneham, Brockenhurst, Winchester and Southampton.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: Chairman, Rev. G. T. Tritton; Ringing Master, Mr. Geo. Williams; district secretary, Mr. W. T. Tucker; auditor, Mr. E. W. Summerfield; Central Committee, Mr. J. W. Faithful.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at St. Mary's, Southampton, on Saturday, January 18th, 1930, and quarterly meetings at Lockerby in April, Dibden in July, Upham in October, on the second Saturday in each case.

Apologies for absence were received from Canon Braithwaite, Rev. N. C. Woods, and the Rev. R. B. Jolly (Rector of St. Mary's, Southampton). Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector of St. Mary's and the Vicar of St. Michael's for the use of the bells, and to the chairman for presiding.

A BELL ANNIVERSARY.

At Fairford, Glos., on Monday, December 10th, at St. Mary's Church, for the first anniversary of the new bells, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: G. Law 1, Miss F. M. Hope 2, B. Guy 3, G. J. Winter 4, H. Acock 5, J. Hope (conductor) 6, A. King 7, E. Gardner 8. First quarter-peal in the method for the ringer of the 2nd, who is the first lady to accomplish a quarter-peal on these bells.

BENJAMIN ANNABLE AND THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the letter by Collegian in your issue of the 28th ultimo, I have always understood that the first peal of Bob Triples (if not the first peal ever rung) was rung at St. Peter Mancroft in 1715. Maybe Mr. Philip Sadler, Mr. Theodore Slater, or some other member of the Exercise will be good enough to say whether or not I am correct.—Yours faithfully,

GEO. H. CROSS.

NINETY-TWO METHODS IN A YEAR.

At All Saints' Church, Wathou-Dearne, during the year 1928, for Sunday service and practice, there have been 119 720's rung in 92 different methods, and one spliced in three methods, by thirteen members and three visitors, namely: A. Gill 98 (conducted 8), A. Panther 89 (conducted 40), W. Green 87, W. Bramham 73, W. Ashworth 71, H. Chamberlin 67 (conducted 13), R. J. Ricketts 63, C. Walsh 60 (conducted 8), A. Nash 54 (conducted 50), J. W. Champion 29, G. Lord 8, E. G. Nicholls 3, A. Nicholls 2, C. Bell (visitor) 6, C. D. Potter (visitor) 3, and F. W. Thornton (visitor) 1.

MINOR RINGING AT EAST CROMPTON.

At East Crompton, Lancs, during 1928, 126 complete 720's were rung, being 18 Oxford, 16 Kent, 14 Violet, 4 New London, 6 Duke of York, 11 Woodbine, 2 Merchant's Return, 17 London Scholars' Pleasure, 3 Sandal, 4 Kingston, 2 London Scholars', Sandal and Kingston Spliced, 3 London Scholars, Oxford, Sandal and Kingston Spliced, 5 College Exercise, 1 Norbury, 1 Duke of Norfolk, 1 Trowell, 1 Willesden, 1 Bocking, 4 College Bob, 2 Wragby, 3 Neasden, 4 College Bob, Wragby and Neasden Spliced, 2 College Exercise, Norbury and Duke of Norfolk Spliced, 1 Plain Bob.

Of these, 93 720's have been rung for services. There are two hands of ringers at this church, who ring on alternate Sundays.

In addition, 720 Oxford was rung by the Fricland, Saddleworth, band on December 18th. These ringers paid a visit to show the East Crompton men how to ring Oxford in the 'Yorkshire' style. The ringers were J. Smith, C. Parkin, A. Godfrey, J. E. Fielding, G. Perrin (conductor), and J. Burgess.

A RECORD FOR LITTLE MUNDEN.

The number of 720's rung at Little Munden, Herts, during 1928 was 118, in 17 methods, and constitutes a record for the tower.

YORK MINSTER BELLS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We read with interest the two letters in 'The Ringing World,' under the above heading.

We cannot agree with Mr. Horner that the words 'nasal twang' have not been used in connection with bells. It was rather a common expression two or three years ago when Simpson tuning was criticised. In our opinion, at York the predominating harmonics of the bells are at a discord with one another, which can only be described as a 'nasal twang.'

Mr. Horner, in remarking about the difference in the weight between Birmingham and York peals, practically admits the latter are really too heavy or resonant to be as satisfactory as Birmingham.

Referring to the most polite and polished missive under the shielded non-de-plume of 'Imp,' does he not realise that if one hears the perfect peal at Lincoln and then hears York again, the latter peal may sound more inferior?

We deeply regret that our opinions are not the same as 'Imp's' and because of that he thinks we have hearing trouble. May we return the compliment and say that as his hearing is not the same as ours, he is the one who is suffering, and we offer our sincere sympathy and wish him a speedy recovery.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—Prestigein District.—The annual meeting will be held at Staunton-on-Arrow on Saturday, January 26th. Bells (6) available 4 p.m. Service at 5. Tea and meeting to follow. THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

THE EXAMPLE OF BRISTOL.

A concrete example in the Ringing Exercise of the old adage that unity is strength is to be found in Bristol, where, in a city with more rings of bells than any other place in the world, in proportion to its size, the ringers have since the war been brought together in a brotherhood of common aims and purpose by a step which in its inspiration was a stroke of genius. The inauguration of the Bristol United Guilds brought together in one local body all the different companies in the city to develop the fraternal side of ringing and its unqualified success can be measured by its achievements. The annual dinner is, of course, the outstanding event each year, and this alone would be ample justification for the existence of the organisation. These gatherings have grown to be among the most important social functions in the Exercise, and this importance is increasing each year, as shown by the widening interest which is evoked.

But Bristol United Guilds have done much more than stage an annual dinner. In many ways they have encouraged the spirit of brotherhood among the bands in Bristol, and they have done some practical work in other directions. To their initiative is due the first 'Ringers' Directory,' which made its appearance last year and which, as time goes on, will become more and more complete in its information and correspondingly valuable to the Exercise. It was like most new things in connection with the Exercise, a venture of faith, and Bristol United Guilds, by undertaking the task, showed not only enterprise, but a desire to render useful service to ringers in general. Another matter in which the Guilds achieved success was in the manner in which they shouldered and so admirably discharged all the responsibilities entailed in the celebration of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association's jubilee festival last year; and now, to round off an excellent piece of work, they have provided the association with a considerable portion of the funds required to defray the expenses. It is a crowning gesture which provides, if it were needed, proof of the spirit which permeates the activities of the United Guilds—a desire to render service.

Opportunities such as have presented themselves to the ringers of Bristol and which they have so readily seized, do not occur everywhere, but there are centres in which an organisation with the objects of the Bristol United Guilds might very usefully be started. Unfortunately, it is sometimes the case that personal grievances or petty friction keeps neighbouring bands of ringers apart, with the result that ringing inevitably suffers because of divided forces. A common meeting ground, providing openings for common service, is the best antidote, and such societies as the Bristol United Guilds form the medium. A spread of such organisations could only be to the advantage of the Exercise, because the promotion of the social atmosphere strengthens and extends the bond of brotherhood which is a characteristic of the ringing fraternity.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.
PROPOSED CHANGE OF NAME.

The 61st quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at Chilvers Coton on Saturday, January 19th. The bells of the Parish Church were used until 4.30, when the Guild's service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. B. Davies. This was the first time the Guild had held a meeting here since the induction of the Vicar, and he cordially welcomed the members. Mr. H. Argyle, a ringing member of Nuneaton, read the lesson, and Mr. J. H. White kindly officiated at the organ.

At the business meeting, which followed tea in the Schoolrooms, the Vicar was voted to the chair, in the absence of the president. Meetings for February and March will be held at Allesley and Bedworth.

Mr. F. W. Perrens gave notice of motion, supported by Mr. O. J. Hunt, to come up at the annual meeting in April, that the name of the Guild be changed to 'The Coventry Diocesan Guild.'

The Secretary informed the members that the annual report would be ready for distribution at the annual meeting.

Mr. H. Argyle proposed that the regret of the Guild should be recorded of the recent death of a late president, the Rev. H. A. C. Back, who held that office for ten years.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist, and the ladies of the parish brought the meeting to a close.

During the day touches and courses in most Plain and Surprise methods were rung.

DEATH OF MR. J. EVINSON.

LOSS TO SHEFFIELD RINGING CIRCLES.

The interment of the late Mr. James Evinson, of Clarence Street, Sheffield, took place on Saturday week, at the City Road Cemetery, and in addition to the family was attended by numerous workmates and friends. The deceased, who was of a genial disposition, was well known over a wide area as a campanologist, being a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Yorkshire Association, and the Sheffield and District Societies. He had taken part in many peals on eight, ten, and twelve bells in various methods and towers in different parts of the country.

Formerly a member of the St. John's, Rannmoor, and the Cathedral companies, he had been connected with St. Marie's, Norfolk Row, since the Armistice, that company having had losses caused by the war.

Being a skilful exponent on the handbells, his services were always given in aid of charitable objects and gatherings. He was, unfortunately, attacked by illness about three months ago, and was admitted to the Royal Hospital, where he died on January 8th.

As is the custom on such occasions, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by his old colleagues.

Wreaths from the staff and workpeople of Messrs. W. Batt and Co., Sycamore Street, where the deceased had worked many years, and various other sources, testified to the esteem in which he was held, and ringing in various methods took place at St. Marie's with the bells muffled.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN KETTERING RINGER.

MR. F. W. SAWFOOT'S SUDDEN END.

It is with regret we have to record the death of Mr. Frederick William Sawfoot, a well-known Kettering ringer, who passed away on Thursday, January 10th.

The shock of a wife awaking to find her husband breathing his last was described with emotion at the inquest on Saturday week by Mrs. Margaret Hilda Sawfoot, who said her husband was apparently in his usual health when he came home from work on Thursday evening. She did not consider he was so well as he should be, but he had not complained. He was operated upon for appendicitis three years ago. He went to bed at about a quarter to nine, and witness followed. About a quarter-past eleven she awoke and found her husband was breathing heavily. He passed away before medical assistance arrived. A post-mortem examination disclosed that deceased had an enlarged and fatty heart, degeneration of the heart being the cause of death.

The funeral service, which was held in the Parish Church, was conducted by the Rev. S. M. Morris and the Rev. C. B. Lucas, M.A. Before the arrival of the cortege, the bells of the Parish Church were chimed for fifteen minutes by the local ringers, who headed the procession from the church to the cemetery.

After the committal portion of the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. A. V. Inns, J. E. Chapman, D. J. Nichols, and A. Henman. The ringers then returned to the tower and rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples with bells half-muffled.

In addition to the family mourners, there were present, representing the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, the Rev. R. C. Thurstfield, Cranford (president), Mr. E. Wilford, Northampton (Master), Mr. T. Wilson, Isham (treasurer), Miss S. Thurstfield, Miss Hepburn (Ladies' Guild), and Messrs. D. J. Nichols, R. F. Turner, A. Payne, C. W. Bird, J. E. Chapman, A. V. Inns, P. Inns, A. Henman, G. Goodman, H. Warren and G. Warren (members of the Parish Church band, Mr. F. Pack and Mr. H. Taylor (representing Messrs. Patrick's, Ltd.), where Mr. Sawfoot worked; Mr. A. Inns, and Mr. F. Bridgeman (representing the Conservative Club).

Among the many beautiful floral tributes was one 'With deepest sympathy from his fellow-bellringers, Kettering Parish Church.'

In the evening the bells were again rung half-muffled in touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and 'the whole pull and stand.' Mr. R. G. Black (general secretary), Mr. H. Baxter (branch secretary), Mr. F. Tite (Barton Seagrave), and Mr. J. C. Shatford (Wellingborough), also took part in the ringing. Mr. Shatford was for many years a member of the Kettering band before removing to Wellingborough.

Mr. Sawfoot went to Kettering from Harrold, Bedfordshire, some 28 years ago to follow his employment as 'leather dresser,' and joined a newly-formed band of ringers at the Parish Church.

From the year 1903, the company made rapid progress, and the deceased assisted in ringing peals of Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, and London Surprise Major, these being the first peals ever rung in the methods on the bells by a local band of ringers, and are all recorded on tablets in the tower.

For the Central Northants and Peterborough Diocesan Guilds he rang 131 peals in various methods, his last being a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal, rung at St. Giles', Northampton, on October 17th, 1925. Although no further peals were attempted since he had an operation some three years ago, Mr. Sawfoot continued to attend the weekly practices, and to ring for the Sunday services, and took part in the ringing on the Tuesday before he passed away. A good striker, and a man who knew his methods well, his place will be hard to fill.

The peals rung by Mr. F. W. Sawfoot were as follows:—

DEATH OF LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION'S TREASURER.

LAST SURVIVOR OF ASSOCIATION'S FIRST PEAL.

With sincere regret we have to record the passing of Mr. Henry Wm. Jackson, of Bolton, the hon. treasurer of the Lancashire Association, which took place on January 13th.

Deceased, who had reached the advanced age of 83 years, was one of the founders of the association 52 years ago, and, during the past 47 years held the office of hon. treasurer. He was the last survivor of the band who rang the first peal for the association on December 22nd, 1877.

To him, and an enthusiastic band round him in those early days, Lancashire ringers owe a great deal for the interest now shown. This band was in great demand for the opening of new bells in Lancashire wherever they had been installed.

Credited to him in the Annual Report are 13 peals, but he rang many before the formation of the association, and many more half-peals, the half-peals at that time apparently being popular, as they were recorded. His last peal (a College Youths' peal) was rung at Holy Trinity, Bolton, on April 23rd, 1926. A good striker himself, Mr. Jackson always insisted on good striking.

Holy Trinity Church, Bolton, had always been his place of worship, and it was here, at the age of 13 years, he learned to ring, and there are recorded half-peals of which he was conductor at the age of 17. It was about this period he was appointed leader, an office which he held to the last. During his time he had seen the old six bells recast, later augmented to eight; this eight destroyed by fire and a new ring of eight installed.

He was always punctual and regular in his attendance, and he told the writer about 12 months ago, when he began to feel his old age, that up to that time he had been ringing well over 65 years, and during that period had only been absent three half-days—a wonderful record. He would come back from his holidays to ring for service, and in spite of infirmity he continued to ring almost to the last.

He was feeling better about Christmas, and decided to ring on the last Sunday in the year and again to ring the old year out and the new year in, and then resign. He caught a chill, however, and from this he never recovered.

On hearing of his illness the ringers gave him a pleasant surprise. They took the handbells and rang a course of Grandsire Triples outside his door shortly before midnight on New Year's Eve. He was delighted. He loved to hear bells, and always crept round his old church whenever peals were being rung.

He was interred at St. Michael's, Great Lever, Bolton, on Wednesday, January 16th, after the first portion of the service had been conducted at Holy Trinity Church by the Vicar, the Rev. G. A. Deakin, M.A.Sur., assisted by the president of the Lancashire Association (the Rev. Canon Elsee, M.A.), who spoke of the good work which the deceased had done, and the good example which he had set up.

The organist and choir were in attendance, and there was a large congregation.

Holy Trinity ringers acted as the bearers, four of whom rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells over the grave: A. Sandeford 1-2, Peter Crook, jun., 3-4, Peter Crook 5-6, Edward Edwards 7-8.

Many ringers gathered from the surrounding districts and rang the tower bells (which were half-muffled) for the 'whole pull and stand.' Later in the evening a touch of 504 Grandsire Triples was rung, and at St. Bartholomew's, Bolton, an attempt for a peal came to grief after 53 minutes, as also did an attempt at Holy Trinity on Saturday afternoon, after two hours' ringing, by a band of College Youths, of which Mr. Jackson had been a member since 1892. Mr. W. R. Shaker, the hon. secretary of the Lancashire Association, officially represented the association and the College Youths at the funeral.

Mr. Jackson had been treasurer since 1892 of the Freetraders' Lodge of the Bolton Oddfellows. He had also been treasurer since 1906 of the Bolton branch of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, offices which he held until the time of his death. Representatives from both these societies were present at the last obsequies.

THE LATE REV. H. C. COURTNEY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I noticed in 'The Ringing World' of the 11th inst. a report of the death of Rev. Henry Courtney Courtney, and that he was hon. treasurer of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association 1901-2. I beg to say this is not correct, as he was never hon. treasurer, but Master 1901-3. He was followed by Rev. C. D. P. Davies for eleven years, then I had the honour of holding office 1914-1916.

I rang several peals of Stedman Triples under the conductorship of Rev. F. E. Robinson, including the one at Thornbury, in which the Rev. Henry Courtney Courtney took part on August 20th, 1904.

Mr. Courtney was an enthusiastic push-bike rider years ago, and I have often seen him riding through Thornbury, and I met him in other districts.—Yours faithfully,

F. K. HOWELL.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Castle Cary Deanery was held at Ditchat on Saturday. The splendid peal of eight bells was kept going throughout the afternoon and evening. A short service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. H. Tripp), and tea was served in the Church Room. The business meeting followed, the towers represented being Everceech, Castle Cary, Shepton Mallett, Maperton, North Cheriton, North Barrow, West Lydford, Pylle, Stoke Trister, Barton St. David, Bruton, Cranmore, West Pennard, Buckhorn Weston and Ditchat.

The Rev. H. Tripp was voted to the chair. Preb. D. M. Ross was elected president for the year, and, in proposing the re-election of Mr. E. Creed as hon. secretary, said they could not do better. Mr. Creed was also appointed as the representative on the General Committee.

The balance sheet having been adopted, Mr. E. Creed proposed that four meetings be held in the coming year instead of three. This was agreed to, the places selected being Wincanton, West Lydford, North Cadbury and Everceech. Seven new members were made.

The Master of the association (Rev. E. C. Lock) commended the secretary upon his fine balance sheet and upon the progress made in the deanery.

Prebendary Ross proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his address, for the use of the bells and for presiding at the meeting, also to the organist and choir for helping at the service, and to the ladies who waited at the tea tables.—The Rector, in replying, said how pleased he was to see such a great gathering. Afterwards, the members returned to the tower for further touches on the bells.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

POOR SUPPORT IN SWINDON DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Christ Church, Swindon, on Saturday, January 12th. Good use was made of the splendid peal of ten bells during the afternoon until 5 p.m., when the 'Football Cup-tie section' arrived all smiles. It was easy to see by their faces who had won, but with the rush of football visitors, tea had to be postponed until 5.30, as some ringers in the district are not sufficiently interested in their Branch to notify their secretary if they require tea, so that adequate arrangements can be made beforehand. The business meeting was therefore held in the belfry before tea. Mr. E. Bishop was elected to the chair.

The balance sheet and report were presented, and showed an increase of two performing members, but a loss of two hon. members, one through death and one (Archdeacon Talbot) by removal. Seven meetings had been held during the year, but with poor attendances. At one meeting only the branch chairman, hon. secretary and one member of the branch attended, but a number of visitors who turned up enabled some ringing to be done.

All the branch officers were re-elected. The branch chairman (Mr. C. J. Gardiner) and hon. secretary (Mr. S. Hopper), on being re-elected for 1929, appealed to the members for more support at the meetings during the coming year.

About twenty members and visitors were present, representing the following towers: Burford, Chippenham, Elkstone, Fairford, Faringdon, Melksham, Woodford, Wootton Bassett, and the two local towers.

The next meeting will be in February, at Purton, and the quarterly meeting in April at South Marston, if the bells are available. Due notice will be published in 'The Ringing World.'

EASTBOURNE RINGER'S DEATH.

The mortal remains of the late Mr. Joseph Sharp, of Eastbourne, whose death on the 3rd inst. has already been recorded in our columns, were interred at Ocklynge Cemetery, the first portion of the service being at Christ Church, where for many years he was a ringer. Many friends and brother ringers were present at the church and graveside, and in the evening the 'whole pull and stand' was rung at Christ Church, with the bells half muffled, followed by a touch of Stedman Triples.

Mr. Sharp was born at Nottingham on July 1st, 1867, and came to Eastbourne many years ago. He joined the Sussex County Association in 1886, and in his day he has taken part in some first-class performances on church bells, and when circumstances required it he figured as conductor. He was ever ready to lend a hand to young and aspiring ringers. About twenty-five years ago he took part in three peals in one day, in three different towns. Eastbourne, Hailsham and Lewes. Of this event he was justly proud. On January 15th, 1909, he conducted Thurstans' four-part peal of Stedman Triples at Christ Church, Eastbourne, the first peal in the method by all local men. He had taken part in between 150 and 200 peals on church bells, his last being on May 2nd, 1928, when he took part in a peal of Double Norwich Major at St. Mary's, Eastbourne. This was the first peal on the bells after their restoration by the White-chapel Foundry.

The memory of the deceased will ever be held in highest respect and veneration by his many friends in the Sussex County Association.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual general meeting of the Northern District was held at West Ham on Saturday. Ringing commenced at about 3 p.m., and Grandsire, Stedman, Plain and Treble Bob were rung until 5 p.m., at which hour the service was held, conducted by the Rector of West Ham. After the service the members adjourned to the Church Hall, where an ample tea awaited them. The Rector joined the company, and told them that he came from St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. He had much to say concerning the beautiful ring of twelve there, and had always been fond of bells. After the tea the business meeting was held, at which the whole of the officers were re-elected, excepting the steward and treasurer, which posts were filled by the election of Messrs. Reeves and Molton respectively.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector both for the use of the bells and the welcome given to the association. The steeplekeeper, Mr. G. Haden, was also thanked for having all in readiness for the meeting. After this an adjournment was made to the tower, where ringing in standard methods continued until 8.30 p.m.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday at Putney and Fulham. The bells at Putney were raised at three o'clock, and a four-course touch of Stedman Triples was well rung. Touches of various methods followed up to five o'clock, when the bells were lowered. By this time some 25 members had put in an appearance, and all had been accommodated with a pull in some method or other.

Tea was partaken of at the Cosy Cafe, opposite the church, a jovial party sitting down under the presidency of Mr. Mance (Master). After disposing of the good things provided in this direction, the business meeting was held, when the balance sheet, showing an increase in funds, and the report, were adopted, views being expressed on the satisfactory nature of both items.

All the officers were re-elected, and the usual routine items were disposed of.

Votes of thanks were passed to the officers for their work during the past year; to the Vicars of Putney and Fulham for the use of the bells at their respective churches; and to Mr. Bolton and his company for their welcome.

The party afterwards adjourned to the neighbouring county, where Fulham bells were available from 7 o'clock. Mr. Driver, having met the members, conducted them to the tower, where Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Bob Royal were rung. Altogether it was quite a successful meeting.

AN ANCIENT CROYDON SOCIETY.BI-CENTENARY NEXT YEAR.

The annual dinner celebrating the 199th anniversary of the Croydon Parish Church Ringers' Society, which was founded in 1730, was held at the Rose and Crown on Wednesday, January 16th. Ringers, with their wives and friends to the number of twenty-five, sat down under the genial chairmanship of the Rev. G. Wright, M.C., and an excellent repast was served by Host and Hostess Ellis. The toasts of 'The King' and 'The Church' were honoured, after which a splendid course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells.

The Chairman, in a humorous speech, then tendered best wishes and congratulations to the members, and expressed the regret of the Vicar that he was unable to be present.

Following a fine song by the veteran Mr. D. Wright, of South Croydon, Mr. J. E. Cooper replied on behalf of the society.

Humorous songs were rendered in first-rate style by Mr. H. Pratt and Mr. C. F. Johnston, the latter also giving some very amusing reminiscences of his busman's holiday in America.

Mr. C. H. Kippin, of Beddington, delighted the company with selections on his 'Parlour carillon.'

The health of Mr. C. F. Johnston, was drunk with musical honours, after which Mr. J. Rumble, sen., tendered the thanks of all present to the host and hostess, to which Mr. Ellis responded.

Further songs were rendered by Mr. J. Rumble and Mr. D. Wright.

Mr. J. Cooper, on behalf of all present, and especially the members of the society, asked Mr. Amos Clark (the leader) and Mrs. Clark to accept the heartiest thanks for their hard work during the year. They have both worked like Trojans, and no band could possibly have a better leader.—Mrs. Clark briefly replied, and the rest of the evening was devoted to harmony, Mr. Kippin leading on his carillon. A very enjoyable evening came to a close shortly before 11 p.m., with three ringing cheers for the jovial chairman.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There are now three generations of 'Teddy' Barnetts actively ringing, Edwin, sen., and Edwin, jun., have long been known to the Exercise; now, Edwin jun.'s son Edwin has been introduced into the art. On Saturday, he was elected a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths—with which father and grandfather have long been connected—and rang rounds on the twelve bells of St. Martin's. He is only ten years of age, but he handled his bell as to the manner born. Mr. Joe Waghorn, now 85, was also present, and thus met probably the oldest and youngest of our active church bellringers.

The Williams have rung another peal. Eight of them have scored a peal of Treble Bob. Which reminds us that it is just twenty-five years ago that the first (and only) 'John' peal of London Surprise Major was rung. All the eight are still on the active list. The peal was rung at St. Stephen's, Westminster.

On January 26th, 1735, a peal of '10,080 Bob Majors' was rung by the Fulham Youths at Fulham, and on January 27th, 1803, a peal of 10,386 Grand sire Caters was rung at Kingston.

A peal of '5,040 real Double Eight in with two bobs in a lead, as many 7th's as 2nd's, with bobs behind and before alternately,' was rung at Richmond, Surrey, on January 28th, 1816. But what is described in 'The Clavis' as the first peal of Double Bob was rung at Whitechapel on January 29th, 1769.

DEATH OF THE REV. H. B. WOOLLEY.

We much regret to announce the death, which took place last Saturday, after a very short illness, of the Rev. Horace Bernard Woolley, Rector of Long Stanton, Cambs. Mr. Woolley was well known as a ringer. He took part in several peals on the bells of All Saints', Long Stanton, which during his incumbency he augmented to a charming ring of eight. He also rang some peals on handbells.

He was closely connected both with the Ely Diocesan Association (for some years he was local secretary for the Hunts Archdeaconry) and with the Cambridge University Guild. He was always delighted to welcome at Long Stanton ringers from all parts, especially from his own university, with a ready kindness and hospitality, which will long be remembered.

The Rev. H. B. Woolley took the services and rang as usual on the Sunday preceding his death.

On Sunday afternoon, before a special service, the bells of Long Stanton were rung half-muffled to 504 Treble Bob by F. Warrington 1, F. J. Cooke 2, F. G. Gleaves 3, C. W. Cook (conductor) 4, G. E. Crisp 5, F. E. Haynes 6.

HALEY, COX AND JOHNSON.

To the Editor.

Sir,—When the Princess Mary and the Viscount Lascelles came to Shifnal for their honeymoon, the local papers record that two ancient bellringers (the late Reuben Hall and myself) played 'Sweet Marie' on the handbells. Now I am beginning to think that some of us who rang with the above celebrities are getting ancient. Mr. Johnson's last peal was on February 23rd, 1884, and the band was: H. Bastable 1, G. H. Philott 2, H. Johnson, sen., 3, H. Johnson, jun., 4, W. R. Small 5, J. Jaggard 6, Rev. C. D. P. Davies 7, J. Buffery 8, W. Wakley 9, S. Reeves 10.—Yours faithfully, JOHN JAGGAR.

A MEMORIAL PEAL.

On Saturday, January 19th, a muffled peal was rung at Denton, Lancs, by representatives of five towers in the Stockport Branch of the Chester Guild, as a tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Joseph Heckingbottom, who died at Blackpool, where he lived in retirement after 46 years in the postal service. Mr. Heckingbottom commenced his ringing career in his native town of Pontefract, moving to Armley, Leeds, in 1887. In 1905 he was appointed postmaster at Denton, Manchester, and became associated with St. Anne's, Denton, where his efforts were greatly appreciated, and did much in furthering the progress of local change ringing. On his retirement in 1924, he moved to Blackpool, where he continued his ringing at St. John's Church until his death. He was a keen peal ringer, having scored 46 peals in all, 35 for the Yorkshire Association and 11 for the Chester Diocesan Guild.

BRISTOL UNITED GUILDS.

ENJOYABLE REUNION.

HANDSOME GIFT TO GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

The now well-established event, the annual dinner of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, continues to grow, both in the size and importance of the gathering, and last Saturday's reunion was one of the most enjoyable in the series. A record number attended, and many came from long distances to share the pleasures of the occasion, and to show the good-will which exists throughout the country for this active and enterprising organisation. In the afternoon the ringers took part in touches at the famous Temple Church, where the tower leans heavily and the bells run none too well; and at St. Stephen's, where, by contrast, the stately steeple is a much-admired architectural feature of the city, and the bells go like the proverbial fiddles. Old friends met and yarned over the teacups in St. Thomas' Parish Room, and in the evening the whole party, over hundred and sixty in number, concentrated at the Grand Hotel, where, in the spacious ballroom, they sat down

THE REV. R. H. WHITFORD.

The guest of the evening was Canon G. R. Wood (Vicar of Almondsbury and Rural Dean), and among those present were Rev. W. G. and Mrs. Heber Thomas (St. Stephen's), Rev. E. H. Crews, Mr. J. Bullock (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. A. A. Hughes (treasurer of the College Youths), Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. C. Spurrier (Bristol), Messrs. S. Palmer, H. Thorpe and J. Holman (Sheffield), J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Ebbw-daff and Monmouth Diocesan Guild), J. T. Dyke (hon. secretary, Bath and Wells Diocesan Association), S. Jones (Newport), J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), S. R. Roper (Croydon), C. H. Jennings (Wyke Regis), W. H. Lloyd (Taunton), and Sergt. Harding (Cheltenham). In addition to the large number of Bristol and district ringers present, there were also representatives of bands at Bath, Keynsham, Evercreech, Weston-super-Mare, Dursley, Mere, Chew Magna, etc. Apologies for absence were received from Mr. J. Hunt (Taunton), Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood (Derby), and Mr. Anderson (Bristol's oldest ringer).

At the conclusion of an excellent repast the loyal toast was honoured.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CHANGE.

The Chairman, in proposing the toast of 'The Church,' said it was a very happy thing that the Bristol United Guilds should choose, for the honour of being chairman, sometimes from the laity and sometimes from the clergy, so that in proposing that toast they got, as it were, impartial expressions of opinion from both sides. He supposed it was natural to reflect, at a gathering of that kind, that by the term 'Church' they might mean two things. First, there was the material building, and then there was the spiritual building. It was obvious that if the material building did not exist, if, that was to say, there were no churches and church buildings, there would be no such gatherings as that, because there would be no bells, and there would be no need of ringers. When they took the spiritual meaning of the Church, they might reflect that ringers were also like the Church, because, as the Church was made up of all sorts and conditions of men and women, so were ringers. They had in their ranks, he believed, certain of the nobility. They had admirals of the Fleet, they had those who were officers in His Majesty's Army, workmen, labourers, clerks, and last, but not least, they had a few clergy. He put that last because, in the history of the Church, and of ringing, they saw a most extraordinary change. When bells were first used in the services of the Church of God, the ringing of them was entrusted almost entirely to the clergy, or those, at any rate, who were at that time in minor orders. That was insisted upon in the Church. They had heard a good deal during the past few years of rules and rubrics, and one of the rules of the Church originally read that when a service was held, the curate of the parish should toll a bell. Evidently, the clergy of those days had to know how to ring. Unfortunately, in the course of time, indeed, within the course of a few years, those words which seemed to insist that the clergy should be ringers, were changed, and the sentence read that they should cause a bell to be tolled. Apparently, the clergy got too lazy for their office and deputed the ringing to others. That, he thought, was unfortunate in many ways. After that, things went from bad to worse; the clergy let things slide, and the belfries of the church became noted as the meeting-place for all the scallywags of the parish, and if they read some of the inscriptions on the bells they would see that somehow or other belfries and bells and beer became associated together. After that period, belfries and bellringers got into a better condition, and nowadays—he spoke as a ringer—ringers were more and more definitely recognised by those in authority in the Church (applause). He did not say entirely as they ought to be. He had often been asked questions by Bishops and others about many things, but never by any of those in authority whether he could ring a bell or not—as if that did not matter. While they, as ringers, rejoiced in the fact that they were being more and more recognised as churchworkers, he hoped all ringers would do everything they could to keep that respect and recognition (hear, hear). There was a danger to-day—they came across it once or twice last year when certain bodies of ringers went out on Sundays on what was obviously a pleasure jaunt, and desired to ring in churches on their way, and, maybe, they were refused, and as ringers they wanted to keep up their reputation in the eyes of those in authority. Let them not endanger that reputation by lowering the dignity of Sunday and the way in which it was spent. One thing he desired to say in conclusion. They had during the past year or two heard a great deal about crises in the Church. When one read history one found that from the beginning there had always been crises in the Church. What had been the result? Controversies and conflicts had raged, and high words had been used, but the Church had always come out of these crises stronger and better. If any minds were troubled by the squabbles and difficulties of the present day, let them just look at the history of the Church, and they would see how, time and again, she had gone through these conflicts and had come out of them a stronger, a better and a more glorious Church (applause).

MEMORIES OF 'THE GOOD OLD DAYS.'

Canon G. R. Wood, who replied, said he was glad to be present, not only for his own sake, but also in the sense of representing his bell-ringing son (applause). It was extremely gratifying to find that some of them knew him. His son wrote to him from Glasgow and begged him to say how sorry he was that he was not able to be there himself, but he would be very much with them in spirit, and hoped they would have a very pleasant evening. His son had also asked him to say that, although he was having a very busy life, he was not being idle campanologically. He was in touch with another 'conspirator' in Glasgow, Mr. Lewis, who was known to many of them, and they were hoping before long to be able to record a peal by residents in Scotland (hear, hear). Canon Wood continued that the controversies within the Church were a sign that the Church was alive, that the Church was awake, and, despite all her faults, she was trying to do her job. He added that so far as his experience went the relations between the clergy and ringers, which were so important, were steadily improving. There was a growing feeling of friendly understanding between them, and there ought to be. When he looked back to his early days at Almondsbury, thirty years ago, he could contribute a little personal evidence in support of what the chairman had said as to the conditions of the belfries in what they called 'the good old days.' At that time he found his relations with his ringers were not altogether of the very best. They were sometimes a little strained, and perhaps it was not to be wondered at. The ringers steadily refused to acknowledge that the belfry was a part of the church; they maintained that the incumbent had no right in the belfry, and had nothing whatever to say to the ringers about the bells (laughter). He could see now, in his mind, the barrel of beer in the corner of the belfry, which was fairly frequently used (laughter), and the ringers regarded the belfry as a clubroom. Those days, he was glad to say, had come to an end. He did not know if there were still any belfries to be found where such a condition existed, but as far as his knowledge went he believed there had been a wonderful improvement. He could not speak for other dioceses, but he could say that in the diocese of Bristol the great art of ringing was looked upon most favourably and kindly by the authorities of the diocese. The clergy generally were deeply sensible of the deep debt of gratitude which they owed to the ringers. They made what some of them thought—although, perhaps, it was not universally allowed—sweet music on the bells; they kept alive what was a peculiarly English tradition and custom of change ringing. They called the people to church, and if they did not all come they heard the summons. The ringers showed a wonderful keenness and enthusiasm in their job, and although there might be differences of opinion—that was only natural and inevitable—they did show a wonderful example of brotherhood and fellowship, which was good for all to see (applause).

GUILD'S GENEROUS GIFT.

The Chairman said they would all know that the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association had had a particularly active and busy year, inasmuch as they had, some months ago, celebrated their jubilee. It was his business and pleasure to hand to the association from the Bristol United Ringing Guilds the sum of £45 to meet the expenses connected with the jubilee meeting and other purposes (applause). Notices were sent out widely, and this sum was in part the response to that appeal. He also wished to say that the Bristol United Guilds had published a ringers' directory. It was their desire to make it more and more perfect as time went on. About a month ago he received from a man hundreds of miles from Bristol a letter, hoping that in course of time they would be able to include with the names the occupations and amusements of the ringers, and, perhaps, the club they belonged to (laughter). He asked the Treasurer of the association to receive the cheque for £45 towards the expenses of the association (applause).

Mr. W. Lansdown accepted the gift with the grateful thanks of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and thanked the Bristol United Guilds for the wonderful work they did, and the help they gave in connection with the jubilee. The whole of the arrangements were carried out by the Guilds, and now, in addition, they had contributed that very handsome sum towards the expenses. He desired to thank everyone who had in any way contributed to this end, and especially he wished to thank Mr. Guise for the wonderful work he had done as secretary.

The toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association' was submitted by Mr. A. A. Hughes, who took the opportunity, on behalf of his colleague of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. James Bullock, the Master, to greet them heartily. Continuing, he said they all had read that excellent review of the history of the association in last year's report, written by their Master (Rev. C. D. P. Davies). It was a wonderfully interesting account of the work of the association, and showed them how devotion to the cause enabled the founders to overcome the extraordinary difficulties which presented themselves at the time the association was started in 1878. He could only repeat that the association stood for better ringers, better ringing, better bellfries, and much better conditions of rings of bells. He wished prosperity and continued success to the association, and hoped it might always have as efficient and devoted officers and as loyal support in the future as it had at the present time (applause).

Mr. Edgar Guise, the hon. secretary of the association, briefly responded, and thanked Mr. Hughes for his kindly remarks and good wishes.

BELLS AND THE MICROPHONE.

The Vice-Chairman proposed 'The Visitors,' who, he said, had come from north, south, east and west to support them. Some of the visitors had become 'hardy annuals,' and he hoped they would become harder than ever. Some had come for the first time that night, but he felt it would not be their last visit (hear, hear). The members of the Bristol United Guilds were delighted to see them all.

Mr. Albert Walker, who first responded, congratulated the Bristol United Guilds and the Gloucester and Bristol Association on their efforts during the past year. The jubilee celebrations had been a wonderful success, thanks to the organisation of the committee and the work of Mr. Edgar Guise. Another wonderful work which they had carried out was the compilation of the Ringers' Directory, and he hoped that eventually it would grow until it contained the names of all ringers. They were glad to hear that their friends at Gloucester were inaugurating a dinner. He hoped it would be well supported, and that it would prove the beginning of a renewed activity in ringing in Gloucester (applause). He invited all who could to attend the Johnson celebration dinner at Birmingham on March 2nd, and promised any visitors a cordial reception. Referring to the broadcasts of the new bells at St. Martin's, Birmingham, Mr. Walker said on the first occasion it was, he believed, very successful, but the B.B.C. engineers wanted to see if it could be further improved, and therefore, on the last occasion, the microphone had been moved to another position. The result, however, was not so satisfactory, and a further change would be made before the next broadcast. In this connection, he added that no one should judge bells, especially, new bells, by hearing them over the wireless. The position of the microphone made all the difference, and when the engineers at York had found the proper position for the microphone at the Minster they would have much better reception (hear, hear).

Mr. J. P. Fidler also responded in a humorous speech.

A SCHEME FOR THE FUTURE.

Mr. W. A. Cave proposed 'The Ringing World.' He said they constantly spoke of powerful men in the Exercise. Different men had different sorts of power. When he started ringing, the most powerful man in the Exercise, he always thought, was Mr. George Williams, because he was the leading man in those days. They had with them that night another powerful man—Mr. Jas. Bullock, Master of the College Youths (applause). He was not very big, but last Easter Monday he rang St. Paul's Cathedral tenor to a peal of Sledman Cinques (applause). Then they had representatives of the bell founding firms with them, and Mr. Johnston knew something of power in putting up an 18 ton bell. He thought, however, the most powerful man in the Exercise to-day was the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' who wielded a power that reached all over the land. Continuing, Mr. Cave said one of the most interesting matters that was published in 'The Ringing World' last year was an article with reference to certificates for ringers. There were always two opinions on the subject, and even in their own association one branch strongly supported the proposal for diplomas, and another was just as strongly against it. The subject came before the Council, and it was defeated, because if the Council did a thing they did it thoroughly and well. He thought diplomas and certificates might come, but, if so, it would be on a proper basis. He would like the Editor of 'The Ringing World' to advocate a plan modelled on the procedure of the great Musical Societies (hear, hear). If the thing was worth anything at all, it was worth paying for, and it would be more appreciated if those who went in for certificates paid in the same manner that candidates paid for musical examinations. They should be properly examined by proper examiners and receive recognised certificates if they qualified for them. He suggested that examinations should be held quarterly in all the dioceses, and that there should be practical and theoretical examinations. He suggested that in the practical examinations there should be five grades—the first for round ringing and call changes, to prove that the ringer had proper command of his bell before passing on to the next grade. His candid opinion was that in their endeavour to make change ringers to-day they started them on change ringing too soon as a general rule—they started change ringing before they could handle a bell properly (hear, hear). There were, in his scheme, other grades running up to No. 5, which would be for ability to ring a peal of Surprise Major, or, what was, perhaps, even a little higher, to ring seven 720's in seven Surprise methods. The theory examination should be on similar lines, and to cover the cost they should charge, say, 5s. per entrant, to be paid to the Central Council, who would provide the examiner. Such a scheme might not come in their time, but if ringing and ringers were to be raised to the status he would like to see, something of that sort would come presently. He threw out these suggestions to the Editor, in the hope that he might be able to take them up. The Exercise, he added, had never been better served by the Editor of any ringing paper than by Mr. Goldsmith, but if there was one thing which he would like to see introduced as a feature in 'The Ringing World' it was a page of compositions, which would be of great interest to all conductors.

The toast was accorded musical honours, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, in reply, while disclaiming that he had any special power in the Exercise, said it had been the object of 'The Ringing World' during the eighteen years of its existence to use its influence to elevate the art and the status of the ringers, and that would continue to be its policy. 'The Ringing World' would advocate anything calculated to advance that end, and it would give all its support to any practicable scheme of diplomas that could be formulated on lines suggested by Mr. Cave. With regard to the suggestion that a page of compositions should form a regular feature of the paper, Mr. Goldsmith said no one would be more pleased than himself if it could be adopted, but, apart from considerations of space, there was always the difficulty of securing original compositions. Many people were anxious to get their figures published merely to ascertain if they were original, and some even to find out if they were true, and it was hardly fair to ask 'The Ringing World' to become the medium for that kind of thing. Further, the Central Council had published several books of peals, and the difficulty of finding any really new compositions to make a regular feature was considerable. At the same time, efforts were made to publish the figures of as many new peals as possible. In conclusion, Mr. Goldsmith expressed thanks to Mr. Cave for his kindly remarks, and thanked the company for their enthusiastic reception of his name.

Mr. H. J. Way gave the toast of 'The Artistes,' and said that as their hon. secretary had taken part in the handbell ringing, he was able to include Mr. Guise in the thanks which they desired to give those who had kindly entertained them. They had now had eight of those dinners, and Mr. Guise had conducted the business arrangements for them all, and they knew the success which he had achieved. The musical part of the proceedings had been in the hands of their old friend, Mr. Read, for many years. He was part and parcel of the Bristol Ringers' Guild, and with Mr. Emery annually provided them with a most delightful programme. They heartily desired to thank these gentlemen and all who had contributed to their entertainment.

Mr. Charles Read, replying, said it was always a pleasure to do what they could to assist the Bristol United Guilds.

This concluded the toast list. The musical programme was of a very diversified nature. It was arranged by Mr. W. S. Emery and Mr. C. Spurrier, and Mr. C. Read, I.S.M., was the accompanist. Miss D. Roberts and Mr. Courtney Hyde Frost sang songs, and Mr. Harold Knott gave a humorous recital and a clever exhibition of 'chapeauography.' Another clever turn was a demonstration of 'paperography' by Miss Molly Hyde, and by permission of the management of the Princess Theatre Miss Jennie Hartley and Mr. George Lacy, of the Pantomime cast, very kindly gave up a few minutes to entertain the company. In addition, there was handbell tune ringing and change ringing, all of which went to make up a most enjoyable evening, which concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

The splendid arrangements made for the gathering were carried out by a committee consisting of the chairman and vice-chairman, Messrs. P. C. Williams (hon. treasurer), W. A. Cave, J. G. Jefferies, W. Knight, Miss E. Smith and Mr. H. Way (stewards), Messrs. U. Braven, J. A. Burford, J. Gould, F. T. Jewell, W. Lansdown, H. Pring, F. G. Leaker, W. H. Parker, H. Burt, R. C. Seager, W. S. Emery and G. H. Way, with Mr. Edgar Guise as hon. secretary.

PEALS ON FIVE AND SIX BELLS. MINOR METHOD COLLECTION HELD UP.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Until the question of six-bell peals is settled, we cannot finish the new Collection of Minor Methods, and that must be my excuse for writing about it.

The old idea of a six-bell peal was that it must consist of at least seven true and complete extents. The words 'true' and 'complete' and 'extent' have been used in the Exercise for a couple of centuries, and they always have had, and have, a definite and unmistakable meaning. Then came Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge Minor. The Exercise has fully agreed that this is a valuable composition. It meets a need; whether or no it falls within the old ideas of what a peal should be, it cannot be ruled out.

The resolution passed at Hereford was an attempt to adapt the old rule to the altered conditions; and it is, I think, not unfair to say that the intention of its promoters was to make just sufficient alteration to admit this arrangement (and, of course, any others exactly similar), but to exclude anything further. They feared, not without cause, that a wider rule might tend to lower the standard of six-bell peal ringing. The plan they adopted was to approximate this arrangement as far as possible with the old rule, and they tried to bring it within its spirit, if not within its letter. They argued something like this. If you write out the rows which comprise Mr. James' Cambridge you will find that, although it does not consist of seven Round Blocks, yet, if you count Rounds at the start, you have 720 true rows, followed by another 720 true rows (not beginning and ending with rounds), and so on for seven times, and therefore the arrangement does consist of seven true and complete extents. I think the argument is quite wrong, and I think that if you consider what ringing actually is and what happens in the tower, you will see why it is wrong. In the first place, ringing is change ringing, and not row ringing. The distinction goes to the very nature of ringing. The starting round is not a change. The Exercise never has considered it as a change, and does not do so now. It is a misuse of the word 'change' to call it so. And unless you do count rounds at the start as a change, six of the seven 720's cannot by any stretch of the word be considered true.

I cannot see why people should boggle at the meaning of the word 'change.' It is an ordinary English word with an ordinary and definite meaning. It is not used in ringing in a technical sense, except so far as we usually restrict it to the orders in which bells are rung. Primarily the word means the alteration from one thing to another, or one state to another; and it is essential that for one change there should be two things. By a not uncommon process in the English language the word is used in a secondary sense of the thing produced by the alteration. The double use of the word is as old as change ringing, and was quite familiar to the early ringers. Thus, if you are going away for a week-end you might say, 'I think I will take a change with me,' meaning that you would put an extra suit in your bag. But you must have two suits before you can have one change. You would not call the suit you stood up in 'a change.'

When we apply the word to ringing we can easily see what Stedman meant when he said that in Bob Minor there are seven hundred and twenty changes to be made. You start with 123456. Your first change is 214365, and it is a matter of mathematical fact that if you are going to have a true and complete extent, the 720th must be 123456. If it is anything else, the 720 is neither true nor complete, nor an extent. If you want any proof of this you have only to take the action and opinion of the Exercise for three hundred years. Nobody would dream of saying that Holt's Ten-part was true or complete or an extent unless the last Single is made, although rounds was rung at the beginning.

Well, then, if we can allow (as we assuredly must allow) an arrangement of Cambridge which contains six false and incomplete 720's, how can we in either justice or logic disallow an arrangement like Mr. Morris' 240's of Grandsire Doubles? It may be that you would not care to ring it yourself in a peal, but how can you forbid others to do so?

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

MORRIS' ARRANGEMENT OF DOUBLES.

Dear Sir,—Evidently it appears that my remarks hitherto on the subject have, so far as you are concerned, failed to convey the orthodox and logical interpretation I specially intended they should do. Have ever I claimed that the individual 120's that constitute the blocks of 240's are true and complete? Certainly not. I made this quite clear in my first letter of the 14th ult. Yet in your remarks upon my last letter you particularly centre your criticism in this direction, so that it would appear otherwise. What I did claim, and still claim, is that each of the complete blocks of 240 changes in both Morris' and Pitman's arrangements were true and complete in themselves, inasmuch as each of the respective 240 blocks contain each of the possible 120 changes twice. Where then, I ask, are they (the complete 240's) false?

I would further like to point out (especially addressing Mr. Willson) that plain speaking does not consist of abuse and ridicule, but the opinions and conclusions, courteously expressed, one arrives at as a result of an unbiased review and careful survey of the facts pertaining to the case, and, still further, that his arguments repudiating all compositions in this category are entirely beside the point at the present time. Doubtless, in the near future, definite measures will be taken to establish a recognised understanding as to the acceptance or abolition of such peals, but in the meantime statements of this nature merely represent an individual opinion.

Anyone who has read my recent letters on the subject will have noted that the sole purpose and objects I had in view was not so much to 'foist' anything on the Exercise, but to emphasise that all compositions or arrangements on this plan (true in themselves), being all guilty of violating the Central Council's ruling, which, as I have previously stated, demands that 'on all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds,' must necessarily all be dealt with in the same manner. I regret, sir, my repeated letters in reference to this subject, but I feel it necessary in the ends of justice to bring to the fore the exact situation as it is at present, and to emphasise that it must inevitably remain thus, until such definite measures, as I have already spoken of, are sanctioned and endorsed by the Central Council.

Leeds, Yorkshire.

LESLIE W. G. MORRIS.

THE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES TROUBLE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Perhaps I ought to feel humiliated, chastised, make obeisance, then hide myself in a corner; but somehow the spell does not work, and I am as truculent as ever. I am afraid I am too weatherbeaten and impervious to any pinpricks that Mr. J. T. Dyke can inflict. This is not a time for niceties of expression, or academic dissertations of hairsplitting. The late Sir A. P. Heywood once called a certain method 'a bastard—a mongrel.' The quidnuncs of his day turned up their eyebrows, but it made no difference to Sir Arthur, who usually called a spade by its proper name. Mr. Dyke says that he could exercise me in Doubles. Well, he might; but 'I hae my doots.' Forty-eight years ago, when I first began to ring changes, 'Grandsire Doubles' with inside bells as treble, was a common thing to the old brigade.

When he says that I 'am castigating the five and six-bell ringers,' he is wrong. He and I have rung seven-method peals together. I could call it by an English word common in Lincolshire, but let us say his statement is a 'terminological inexactitude.' There! That is in the nicest and best boudoir style, and will not offend the susceptibilities of the aesthetic Dominie.

This cold fact remains: The foundation of change ringing is TRUTH. Shall we allow this foundation to be undermined by mixing false and true?

I say that the word 'Splice' in this connection is a misnomer. You can splice methods, or two articles, making them stronger than before. The transposition of figures is not splicing.

At the foot of Mr. Dyke's letter was another, asking the same queries, but from a famous six-bell ringer, Mr. C. Severn, who has been a conductor of multi-method peals as long as I can remember. He calls the latest innovations, 'Freaks,' and JIE KNOWS.—Yours, W. WILLSON.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION AT EASTBOURNE.

A most successful meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Eastbourne on Saturday, January 12th, 42 members attending from Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Eastbourne (St. Mary's, St. Saviour's, and All Saints'), Hastings (St. Clement's), Heathfield, Lewes, Mayfield, St. Leonards, and Shoreham. The bells at St. Mary's Church were kept going merrily during the afternoon. A splendid tea had been provided at the Pitman Institute through the kindness of the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Streatfeild), who presided, and also occupied the chair at the business meeting which followed.

The Hon. Secretary reported the death of an old and respected member, Mr. Joseph Sharp, of Eastbourne, and the company stood in silence as a token of respect.

Two new members were elected, Messrs. C. P. Grant and C. Anderson, of St. Clement's, Hastings, and the election of the following non-resident life members was also confirmed: Mr. P. Page, of Kensington, and Mr. C. W. Franklin, Ashford, Kent.

Mr. W. D. Smith, in moving a vote of thanks, congratulated the Vicar on having been appointed Suffragan Bishop of Lewes. Canon Streatfeild had always been a kind friend to the ringers of Sussex. He had been connected with the Church since 1839 (a period of 40 years), and during that time he must have had a great experience of ringers. The ringers of Eastbourne especially would lose a kind friend. Mr. Smith also thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for the substantial tea which he had provided, and added that the company wished him God-speed in his new appointment.

Canon Streatfeild, in reply, thanked the members for their kind wishes. He hoped the association would inform him when the next meeting was to be held, and he would try to attend.

After the meeting, some of the ringers returned to the St. Mary's tower, and other members proceeded to St. Saviour's, where a good hour's ringing was indulged in, methods from Grandsire to Superlative and Cambridge Surprise being practised.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A PRINCIPLE AT STAKE.

It may be to some people rather surprising to learn that the present controversy over peals of Minor and Doubles is holding up the publication of the Central Council's revised edition of the Minor Methods. What are the Committee waiting for? As far as we are aware, their instructions were clear; they were asked to get on with the job, but the Exercise is now informed by Mr. Trollope that until the question of six-bell peals is settled they cannot finish the 'Collection.' Readers may well ask what has the argument as to the admissibility of certain forms of calling Minor and Doubles got to do with the publication of a book of methods? It is this: The Committee propose to insert in the book a number of compositions and they are desirous of including arrangements such as not only the Rev. E. Bankes James' Cambridge (which is acceptable to the Exercise, because by counting rounds as the first row the 720's are true), but also arrangements like the Rev. H. Law James' London, in which whole leads are repeated in each 720. The arguments of Mr. Trollope have been directed to proving that if the former is admitted as a peal, the latter must also be accepted; and, if the latter, then also Mr. Morris' arrangement of Doubles must be recognised. His solicitude, we imagine, is not so much for Mr. Morris' Doubles as for Mr. James' London, and we doubt if the Council's Collection of Minor Methods would have been held up for one moment, had the Doubles been the only thing involved.

We have had it from one of the members of the Committee that it was their intention to include certain compositions like Mr. Law James' London, and had it not been for the line taken by the 'The Ringing World' the figures would doubtless have gone into the book and, despite the intention of the Council at Hereford—Mr. Trollope has told us that the resolution then passed did not express the intention of the Council, so presumably the Committee know what the intention of the Council was—would have been passed on to the Exercise with the imprimatur of the Council and implying its sanction. It is well, then, that this action of the Committee should have been held up, but there seems to be no reason for withholding for another six months the issue of the work which the Committee are authorised to complete. They know the intention of the Council; they might, therefore, give effect to it and leave out that which the Council intended expressly to exclude. Six-bell ringing will not suffer by the omission of compositions such as Mr. Law James' London, but the standard of peals might well do so if it were included. Once admit this and similar compositions and you cannot exclude arrangements which abrogate all the accepted theories of what should constitute a legitimate peal, such as calling bobs at eighty-three consecutive leads of Grandsire Doubles, or ringing 5040's of Bob Doubles with three bobs only. Is even Mr. Law James' London Surprise Minor composition worth it? It is not a question of whether these things would or would not be rung; it is a question of principle. If the bells in a peal on six bells are not to strike in 720, or on five bells in 120 different orders, before beginning the next 720 or 120, then the accepted canons of peal ringing built up in the centuries will be scrapped. Even the Methods Committee now realise they cannot lightly do this.

CENTRAL DISTRICT SECRETARY RETIRES.

The annual meeting of the Central District of the Surrey Association was held at St. Martin's, Epsom, on Saturday last. Good use was made of the ring of ten bells until 5.30, when the party, numbering about 30, adjourned to the Church Room for tea.

The business meeting followed. Mr. A. W. Clark, being re-elected Master, took the chair. The remaining district officers were elected as follows: Mr. C. H. Reading, treasurer; Mr. D. Cooper, secretary; Mr. A. Gower, auditor; and Messrs. A. J. Trappitt, J. Beams and F. Woodiss representatives on the committee. A hearty vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. A. J. Trappitt, the retiring secretary, for his past work in the district.

Meetings for the year were decided on as follows, viz.: Ashted on Easter Monday, Ranmore Common in June, Kingston in September, and the annual district meeting at Camberwell in January, and also a joint meeting with the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, to be held at Ewell in May. It was also suggested, if possible, to hold a joint meeting with Guildford District at Guildford on August Bank Holiday.

The usual votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, the ladies who waited at tea, and the steeplekeeper who had everything in readiness.

Ringing was afterwards done in all the standard methods, including Bristol Surprise, until 9 o'clock.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The first monthly practice of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch held this year augurs well for the jubilee celebrations fixed for April 27th. Bray, still famed for its Vicar, seems to have an ever-increasing attraction for ringers, and though there were about thirty young ringers of both sexes present, amongst the older ones was that pioneer of ringing in this branch, Mr. J. J. Parker, of Farnham Royal.

Ringing was restricted owing to the fact that the bellfounders have not yet completed their task, but everyone was satisfied, and it may be mentioned that a first-class Deputy Branch Ringing Master has been discovered.

The Vicar and other kind friends provided a most satisfying tea in a warm and comfortable room, where the committee meeting was afterwards held, and to which a number of other members returned for handbells, on which change ringing and harmony brought a most successful gathering to a close.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

The annual general meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was held at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, on Saturday week. Ringing commenced at 4.15, and continued until 5.30, after which members were entertained to tea in the crypt.

The Vicar, the Rev. P. McCormick, was present at the business meeting, which took place in the Church Room, and addressed a few words of welcome to the members, remarking how pleased he was to see so many present, and how much pleasure it gave him to do all in his power to make the society's meetings a success.—The Master (Mr. J. D. Matthews) responded and expressed the thanks and best wishes of the members.

The treasurer presented the balance sheet, which was passed. Next on the agenda was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Master, Mr. J. D. Matthews; secretary, Mr. J. Sparrow, Chevington, Bandon Rise, Wallington, Surrey; treasurer, Mr. G. Steere; auditors, Messrs. T. Newman and R. Bevan; trustees, Messrs. F. Smith and A. Hardy; senior steward, Mr. C. J. Matthews; junior steward, Mr. T. Bevan.

Other business having been disposed of, and several new members enrolled, a vote of thanks to the officers and those responsible for the tea arrangements brought the meeting to a close, and members returned to the tower for further ringing.

Great pleasure was expressed at the progress made by the society during the past year, thanks largely to the efforts of the Master.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL ANNUAL MEETING OF SOUTHERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Guild was held at Grantham on Saturday week, with a good attendance of members of the branch, ringers being present from Surfleet, Spalding, Pinchbeck, Donnington, Market Deeping, Lincoln, Hough, Bottesford, Sleaford, Folkingham, Rippingale, Orston, and the local band. Service was held in the beautiful Parish Church, the Rev. Canon Markham conducting the short service and giving a very appropriate address.

The tea followed, held at the Black Dog Inn, at which 33 sat down.

The Rev. H. Law James (Master of the Guild) presided over the business meeting. The election of officers for the ensuing year took place. No changes were made, the whole being re-elected en bloc.

One new honorary member and four performing members were elected.

The place of the next meeting was then discussed, and Hough was decided upon.

It was thought by those present that the annual report might be enlarged in the future, and brought up to pre-war standard again by entering the names of all members.—It was decided to leave this for the discussion of the Guild Committee.

The peal of ten bells was kept going during the afternoon and evening in methods ranging from Grandsire Caters to Cambridge Surprise Royal.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, also to the Rev. H. Law James for presiding over the business meeting, and to all who made the necessary arrangements for a successful meeting.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

A quarterly meeting of the above society was held at Penn on Saturday, Jan. 12th, when there was a fair attendance. Apologies for non-attendance were received from the Vicar (the Rev. E. Martill) through illness, and Mr. Churchwarden Twentyman. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. I. Crump, and the Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary and treasurer) presided at the organette. An excellent tea, provided by the wardens and Church Council, was laid in the Church Room, to which 35 sat down.

The Rev. C. H. Barker moved that a vote of sympathy be sent to the Vicar, with the hope that he would soon be restored to health; also one of thanks to the churchwardens for their kindness in providing tea, and to the ladies for assisting at the tables.

It was decided to send the sum of half-a-guinea to the 'John Briant Memorial Fund.'

Handbell ringing was indulged in by some, while others returned to the tower.

The next meeting is provisionally arranged to take place at Walsall on April 13th, when it is hoped the new ring of twelve will be ready.

142 720's OF MINOR IN 107 METHODS.

BUCKNALL RINGERS' RECORD.

During the year 1928, at St. Mary's Church, Bucknall, Staffs, 142 720's were rung in 107 methods. The ringers taking part were: Mr. W. Wheeldon 101 (conducted 25), Mr. C. Preston 84 (8), W. Fradley 104 (25), Miss Alice Preston 114 (20), C. Bowen 101 (28), H. Billings 93 (8), R. Preston 125 (27), J. Wheeldon 112. During the year the Minor methods in the Central Council Collection of Methods were completed, this being the first time it has been done by one hand.

THE LATE REV. H. B. WOOLLEY.

A SCRATCH IN THE BELFERY RESULTS IN FATAL BLOOD POISONING.

The death of the Rev. Horace Bernard Woolley, which we recorded last week, spread gloom and regret throughout the Cambridgeshire village of Long Stanton, where, as parish priest of All Saints' since 1905, he had won by his devoted services the love and esteem of his parishioners.

In the previous week the Rev. H. B. Woolley, while oiling the bells in the belfry of All Saints' Church, scratched his hand. It was a very slight wound, but blood poisoning set in, and an operation performed in the Evelyn Nursing Home, Cambridge, was of no avail. On the Sunday after the accident he officiated as usual, but he passed away on the following Saturday.

During his long incumbency, he built up the church life of the village, and held the affection of the parishioners. His life-long recreation was the art of bellringing, and it was a joy to him to be able to complete the peal of bells in the tower of All Saints' by adding three bells. For some years he was secretary of the Hunts District of the Ely Diocesan Association, and one of its leaders to the end of his life. His two sons, as well as he, were members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and he was one of the oldest members of the Cambridge University Guild.

The deceased cleric was an old Persean, and he graduated at Cambridge with a second class in the Historical Tripos of 1885. Four years later he was ordained priest, and he held curacies at Brentwood, Brunston, Mildenhall and Bury St. Edmunds, before receiving the benefice of All Saints'.

In addition to increasing the bells of All Saints' he furnished the church, and his most recent work in connection with the fabric was the reroofing of the south aisle.

A VILLAGE IN MOURNING.

The weeping parishioners at the funeral service on Tuesday week testified to the love which he had of them. Women sobbed quietly during the service, and several had to leave the church because they were overcome by emotion. The whole parish was mourning, and the parishioners filled the church.

Officiating at the service were the Rural Dean, the Rev. R. P. Moline (Rector of Cottenham) and the Rev. Canon Baron-Suckling (Rector of Barsham). Others of the clergy present were the Rev. E. J. I. Dredge (Lolworth), W. W. Partridge (St. Luke's, Cambridge), A. C. Hare (Willingham), H. G. Hooton (Impington), C. F. Stebbing (Swavesey), F. G. Weston (Over), L. B. S. Abbot (Conington). The immediate mourners were Mrs. Woolley (widow), Mr. C. W. Woolley (son), Miss Gertrude Woolley (sister), Mr. Richard Woolley (nephew), Mrs. Wright, Miss B. Wright, Mr. John Oliver, Miss C. Clutterbuck, Miss L. Clutterbuck, Mr. and Mrs. Thorogood. The elder son of the Vicar is in Borneo.

The Guild of the Servants of the Sanctuary was represented by Mr. J. R. Gibson and the Rev. W. W. Partridge. The Old Persean Society sent Mr. Roger Smart and Mr. J. R. Bullock. The Rev. A. C. Blyth, Dean of Selwyn College, was present with a number of undergraduates, members of the Selwyn Boat Club, of which Mr. Woolley's son was captain.

The following represented the Ely Diocesan Association: Rev. R. Copeman (general secretary), Messrs. T. R. Dennis (treasurer), C. W. Cook (who is also churchwarden of Long Stanton), F. Warrington, G. J. Crisp and F. J. Cook (Long Stanton), A. G. Rivers, E. G. Hibbins, H. J. Hazell and Miss V. Shorter (Cambridge), Messrs. W. R. Matson (Godmanchester) and F. G. Gleaves (Willingham). The sidesmen acted as bearers, and the hymns sung were 'Jerusalem the golden' and 'The King of Love my Shepherd is.' The 'Nunc Dimittis' was chanted as the coffin was carried from the church.

Large numbers of wreaths were sent from friends and various organisations, including the Cambridge University Guild, the Ely Diocesan Association, the Long Stanton ringers, and the Histon ringers.

On Saturday a muffled peal of Boh Major was rung at Long Stanton.

At Ickleton Parish Church, Cambs, on Thursday evening, January 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with muffled bells as a last mark of respect to the deceased gentleman: L. Flitton 1, P. Webb (conductor) 2, R. Clements 3, E. Flitton 4, W. Hutley 5, G. Lilley 6, W. Flitton 7, A. Lilley 8.

THE LATE REV. H. C. COURTNEY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It may not be known to the biographers of the above that the deceased was a peal ringer long before he joined the Gloucester and Bristol Association. His name seemed familiar and stirred certain memories: and on turning up old records I found that he rang a peal of Triples with me at St. Nicolas', Nuneaton, on Thursday, March 24th, 1892. He was then Rector of Hatton, Warwickshire, and on that occasion brought with him his gardener, Mr. W. Male, who then rang his first peal. The next time I met Mr. Male was last year at Warwick.

W. WILLSON.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

GUILDFORD DISTRICT'S FIRST ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Guildford District was held at Guildford on Saturday week. The bells of the Cathedral Church and of St. Nicolas' were available, and were made use of during the afternoon. The service, held at the Cathedral, was conducted by Canon E. C. Kirwan, and the Rev. J. D. Carter, of Witley, gave the address. He based this on the text, 'Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God,' from 1 Cor. x. This was the spirit, he said, in which all members of the Guild should enter on their duties. To his mind, bells were the most attractive of all ways of producing music in the open air. He touched briefly on the history of bells from the time of the nations of antiquity through the gradual development of the art of ringing in this country down to the present time. He reminded his listeners that bells had played a prominent part in the history of the Celtic peoples, especially the Irish. One of the first uses of church bells was to call people to the services. This was an absolute necessity in the days when there were no watches or clocks. Bells were great messengers of joy and sorrow. They seemed to carry messages for each season of the year. He referred to the strange stories of the uses (now all past) to which bells and helfries were put in former days, and reminded the members that the belfry was a sacred place. He concluded by appealing to the Guild to do their duties in the spirit of his text.

Members from the two Guildford towers, Old Woking, Shalford, Godalming, Shere, Clandon, Haslemere, Cranleigh, Worplesdon, Pirbright, Ewhurst and Albury, and visitors from Farnham, Pulborough, Chertsey, Ottershaw and Aldershot, to the number of 66, sat down to tea in Holy Trinity Hall.

The business meeting followed, at which Mr. W. Harrison presided. January 18th, 1930, was fixed as the date of the next annual meeting, and it was resolved to hold the service at St. Nicolas' Church.

The balance sheet, showing a balance of £5 18s. 3d. in hand, was read and adopted.

The members stood in silence for a short time as a token of respect for four deceased members, Mr. Luff, of Chiddingfold, Messrs. Jelly and Tickner, of Worplesdon, and Mr. Harwood, of Pirbright.

The Ringing Master, in his report, stressed the importance of the attendance at combined practices of members at whose towers these were held. In future, he said, the combined practices would be held at the various towers on their usual practice night. He had not kept a record of the peals rung in the district during the year.—It was resolved that in future the Ringing Master should keep the District record of peals.

District meetings are to be held during the coming year at Cranleigh, Chiddingfold, Shalford, Pirbright and Godalming.

It was resolved that in future the election of officers of the District should be by ballot, and it was decided to recommend that officers of the Guild should be elected in the same way. Happily, there was no need to ballot at this meeting, as in no case was more than one nomination received.

Mr. N. V. Harding had to resign from the secretaryship owing to business reasons. The members expressed their regret, and thanked him for his work during the past year.

The following officers were elected: Mr. G. Grover, of Clandon, hon. secretary; Mr. C. Hazelden, Ringing Master; Messrs. Burdock and Whittington, representatives to the Executive Committee, and Mr. N. V. Harding, district auditor. On the resignation of Mr. Melville from the assistant secretaryship, this office was abolished.

Everyone was pleased to see Admiral Walker well enough to attend.

DEATH OF A NEWPORT RINGER.

The passing of Mr. Harry Morgan, of All Saints', Newport, Mon., has removed a well-known and highly-respected figure from the ranks of South Wales ringers. On Monday, January 14th, he was to all outward appearance in fairly good health, and took part in the usual weekly practice. He was also at practice at St. Woolos' Church on Tuesday. On Wednesday evening he was taken suddenly ill, and succumbed to heart failure.

The deceased was an ex-county policeman, and whilst stationed at Chepstow learned the first rudiments of change ringing. Removing afterwards to Trellech and Blaiza, where there were no bells, he had no opportunity of ringing until he retired from the Force and moved to Newport, where he joined the All Saints' band, and on June 28th, 1913, rang the treble to his first peal. He was not keen on peal ringing, and altogether had rung only about half a dozen peals of Grandsire. In touches, he was capable of ringing the four standard methods.

The funeral took place at Newport Cemetery, the last rites, performed by the Vicar of All Saints' and hon. treasurer of the association, being attended by uniformed police, of which deceased had been a member for 26 years. Ringers attended from St. Woolos' and All Saints' Churches, Newport, and from Caerleon. Mr. Morgan will be sadly missed in the belfry.

THE FIRST PERFORMANCE OF HOLT'S ORIGINAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the 11th inst. you give particulars, supplied by Mr. G. H. Cross, of records of Holt's Original having been conducted on two occasions in 1752 at Norwich by a ringer taking part in the peal, as taken from the 'Norwich Mercury' by Mr. Philip Sadler and you state that Mr. Cross remarks that the claim that this was the first achieved at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, in 1791, by the Ancient Society of College Youths, should be corrected in the recently published history of that society. It might be well, therefore, for me to give the source from which the record claimed by the College Youths was taken by the committee appointed to revise and draw up the new Rule Book.

Holt, as has already been related, called his one-part peal from a manuscript copy, and did not take any other part in the performance. We may be sure that many a conductor would feel ambitious to call the peal without such assistance, but it was not until forty years after its first performance that this object was attained. On Sunday, October 23rd, 1791, the College Youths rang this peal at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, when it was conducted by James Bartlett, who rang the treble, and thus gained the honour of being the first man to conduct the peal and take part in the ringing.

One would hardly have supposed that a ringer of the parts of Mr. George Cross had not perused the pages of this interesting work of outstanding merit in the art of change ringing, and that he was apparently unaware of Snowdon's remarks on this subject, seems strange, to say the least of it. Passing over this point, however, if the statement now claimed of there being two previous performances of this peal at Norwich and another at Saffron Walden is correct, how can it be explained that Snowdon, in his patient and painstaking research work, should not have come across these records, or should have ignored them altogether, if he did? Snowdon must have been brought into very intimate contact with Norwich when collecting data for his various books, and the question arises, Was there insufficient proof to satisfy him that the peals referred to were the famous Original?

With reference to Mr. Cross' recent letter in your issue of January 18th, inquiring whether the peal of Bob Triples rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, in 1715, was not the first peal of 5,000 changes ever rung, he will find this point very fully dealt with in Snowdon's 'Grandsire' on pages 117 and 118, and I would suggest his possessing himself of a copy of this book.—Yours faithfully,

G. N. PRICE.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Widdford on Saturday last, thirty-seven members, representing nine towers, and one visitor from St. Andrew's, Holborn, sitting down to tea, which was presided over by the Rector of Widdford (Rev. F. R. Thurlow).

The District Master, Mr. G. Green, presided over the meeting, at which four new hon. members were elected, and several ringing and probationary members were also admitted.

Fryerning was chosen as the place of the next meeting, to be held in March. After the meeting, which ended 'in smoke,' a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells, and the tower was again visited, and various touches brought round in methods ranging from Bob Minor to Cambridge Surprise Major. Chelmsford Cathedral bells were also made good use of in the evening and Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Ten, etc., rung.

NORTH-EASTERN DIVISION'S FINE MEETING.

On Saturday, January 19th, the annual meeting of the North-Eastern Division was held at Wivenhoe. Ringing commenced soon after 2 p.m., and at 4.30 p.m. a special service was held at the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. H. Jack, who gave the association a welcome to Wivenhoe. Afterwards, nearly 70 members sat down at the Parish Hall to a splendid meat tea provided by the local branch and their friends. The Rev. Jack presided, supported by the churchwardens and their wives, the organist, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association), Mr. W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), and the district secretary (Mr. R. W. Staunard). At the subsequent meeting the District Master and district secretary were unanimously re-elected, Mr. Howard thanking them for their past services, and congratulating the district upon having two such men to fill the positions.

Two honorary members, six ringing members, and five lady ringing members from the local company were elected members of the association.

Mr. Nevard and Mr. Howard thanked the local ringers for their hospitality, and the vote was responded to by the Vicar.

No fewer than 23 companies were represented at this meeting. The next meeting will be held at Wormingford in April.

The sum of £1 15s. was collected for the widow of Mr. Sadler, of Braintree, who is in needy circumstances, and 16s. 2d. was received in the collection in church towards the association's Bell Restoration Fund.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Cambridge University Guild celebrates its jubilee on Monday, for it was on February 4th, 1879, that it was founded, and thus followed the example set a few years before by the sister university at Oxford. The career of the Cambridge University Guild, however, has been a much more active one than that of Oxford.

Ringers throughout the country will hear with regret of the illness of the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, the veteran hon. secretary of the Kent County Association. He is down with an attack of pleurisy.

Those visitors to the Sherwood Youths' dinner at Nottingham on Saturday, who stayed over Sunday, had the privilege of inspecting the new hour and quarter-bells (cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co.) hung in the new Nottingham Exchange. The hour bell is 11½ tons, and the total weight of the four quarter bells is about 10½ tons. The clock is being supplied by Messrs. Cope and Co.

When completed, the Exchange will be one of the finest public buildings in the country. Across the front is carved in the stonework a frieze representing Nottingham industries. A bell is a reminder of the craft carried on in the city by the Oldfields.

In the second of the two peals of Ipswich Surprise Major, published in our issue of January 18th, there should be a bob at 'home' in the 9th course instead of in the 8th, as printed.

Rope guides and a centre lamp have been fixed in Ickleton tower by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, which greatly facilitate ringing. The bells are rung from the centre of the church, and there is a long flight of rope to the ceiling.

Tuesday is the anniversary of two long peals. On February 5th, 1783, a peal of 12,672 Bob Major was rung in 7 hrs. 48 mins. at Bromley, Kent, and on the same day in 1888 12,041 Stedman Caters was rung in 7 hrs. 26 mins. at Appleton.

Tempus fugit. Many readers of 'The Ringing World' will recollect the astonishment with which they read of the ringing of the first peal of London Surprise Major on handbells by the brothers Pye and Mr. W. Keeble. This great performance took place twenty-five years ago next Tuesday.

The bells of St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, were opened on February 7th, 1783. And what an opening! Three different bands each rang a peal. The College Youths rang two peals of Oxford Treble Bob Major, and the Cumberlands a peal of Grandsire Triples.

A peal report from East Crompton has been sent without the name of the conductor.

YORK MINSTER BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It would be interesting to know whether your correspondents, Messrs. Kippin and Darby, have actually heard York Minster and St. Martin's, Birmingham, bells, either in the towers or their immediate vicinity, or whether they are voicing opinions they have formed from hearing them broadcast.

In the latter event, I suggest they would be well advised to reserve judgment until they have had an opportunity of hearing them at close quarters. It is a well-known fact that some poor bells 'come over' the ether very well—take, for instance, the bells of the Cathedral (St. Philip's), Birmingham. These are a very poor lot—a really miserable ring of ten—and yet I have received from time to time scores of expressions of appreciation when they have been broadcast. Many of these have been from ringers, some of whom have taken me to task for suggesting that they should be recast not broadcast. I know from personal experience that they do sound quite passable over the wireless, but that does not alter the fact that as a ring of bells they are a disgrace to the Cathedral and to the city.

Again, I have just received a letter from a ringer of very wide experience who says that he hopes soon to have another opportunity of a pull on the 'fine new ring of twelve' at St. Martin's, but adds, 'I don't care for them much on the wireless.' This surely indicates that one is not safe in forming an opinion as to the tone and quality of bells that have only been heard per radio. Possibly your correspondents have heard the bells direct, and, if so, I am surprised that they should aver that York Minster bells have a 'nasal twang.' I don't know what this means—it doesn't sound very appropriate—but, as one who has heard and rung on them, I would like to express the hope that it may prove to be a highly contagious disease, and that other rings of bells up and down the country may soon be 'suffering' from it.

THE WIRELESS EFFECT.

Dear Sir,—I have noted the remarks of Messrs. Kippin and Darby in the issue of 'The Ringing World' dated January 18th. I wonder if these gentlemen have heard York Minster bells other than over the 'Wireless.' If the answer is in the affirmative, then the point at issue is a matter of opinion. If the answer is in the negative, then they are not in a position to judge what York bells actually sound like.—Yours truly, York Minster.

THE SHERWOOD YOUTHS.

W. D. CROFTS COMMEMORATION DINNER.

In the ancient history of change ringing the Society of Sherwood Youths played a not unimportant part. Established in the year 1672—in the days of Fabian Stedman—the society has continued with various vicissitudes down to the present day, and its most famous member was the Nottingham solicitor, William Doubleday Crofts, who was born in 1742, and died in 1809. To him the Sherwood Youths owed a great deal of their fame in the latter part of the eighteenth century, and by his ability as a ringer and conductor they achieved many great performances. The resuscitation of the society was brought about largely in order to keep green the memory of Crofts, as well as to encourage the art and to extend social intercourse among the ringers in and around Nottingham. Since 1923 a commemoration dinner has annually been held. This year's gathering, which took place on Saturday at Nottingham, brought together a party of between 60 and 70, who spent an extremely enjoyable evening at the Welbeck Hotel under the chairmanship of the Master (Mr. Albert Coppock). The Lord Bishop of Southwell was the guest of the evening, and other guests were Canon Gordon (Rector of St. Mary's), the Sheriff of Nottingham (Alderman William Green), and Mr. A. T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor'), who was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Muriel Baker. Among others present were the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson (Ordsall), Mr. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Messrs. C. Harrison, J. P. Fidler, D. Collins (Loughborough), W. E. White and J. H. Marshall (Cotgrave), G. Walker (Birmingham), Wiseman (Croxton Kevel), J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), H. R. Cobbin, Miss I. B. Thompson (hon. treasurer of the society), Mr. F. Blood (hon. secretary), F. W. Bailey (steward), Messrs. A. Archer, J. Ward, M. Bend and W. Flinders, veteran Nottingham ringers, etc.

A feature of these gatherings is the entertainment, which is always a feast of good things, thanks to the Master, who is closely in touch with the musical fraternity of the city. Miss Alice Varley sang songs, including old favourites, very sweetly, and took part in a duet with Mr. Coppock; Mr. Charles Morley, a talented tenor vocalist, rendered a number of solos in great style, while humorous contributions came from Mr. Charles Riley (who also recited 'Kissing Cup's Race' with great dramatic effect), and Mr. Edgar Roulstone, who acted as accompanist. Variety was introduced into the programme by the solo dances of little Miss Kathleen Pearce, whose skill in this direction promises to take her far in the Terpsichorean art. In addition, courses of Grandsire Caters and Triples, and tunes were rung on handbells.

A VERY IMPORTANT BODY.

After an excellent dinner, well served and thoroughly enjoyed by the company, the Chairman proposed the loyal toast, which was cordially honoured. He then thanked the Bishop of Southwell and the Sheriff of the City for honouring the gathering with their presence. He pointed out to the Bishop that change ringing was as British as cricket, and when the ringing world produced what in cricket was a Larwood or a Gunn, or any of the other famous old names, they felt it their duty to keep his memory alive.

Mr. J. P. Fidler proposed 'The Church,' and remarked that in the church bellringers they had the most efficiently organised body of voluntary churchworkers. As ringers they prided themselves on their work, which they did to the best of their ability. It was due to the ringers' organisations that a great change was introduced into the towers, which, while at one time places of ill-repute, were now often kept and as much thought of as the sanctuary. He thought the Church and State, who of late had been engaged in somewhat heated controversy, might follow the example of ringers, who, if they had differences, met at dinner and became good friends. Dinners such as the one they were enjoying that evening, were held in a number of centres, and they had a wonderful effect in creating good feeling among those who met at them (applause).

The Bishop of Southwell, in responding to the toast, said it was a great honour and a great pleasure to accept the kind invitation given to him to be present that evening. They were a gathering not merely of ringers but of a really fine body of church voluntary workers, and he recognised that they were a very important body. He was grateful to them for all they did, and he honoured their calling, although he was hopelessly ignorant of their art. He had had the honour of attending ringers' dinners before, for in his parish at Poplar, and also at Hackney, there was a fine peal of bells. So it was not the first time he had had the pleasure of sitting down to dinner with bellringers, and he recognised very sincerely what the church owed to them—it owed them a very great deal. Whatever bellringers might have been in days gone by, there was to-day no finer body of men connected with the church. He saw on one hand that night a cohort of veterans, and he saw before him one who was but a boy. In ringing, they had all ages and types, old and young, drawn together by their common interest in that wonderful science and art of ringing. He wished them all God-speed in their work, and he gratefully acknowledged the debt which the Church owed to the noble band of ringers all over the country (applause).

A PEAL OF TWELVE SUGGESTED.

Mr. George Walker submitted 'The City.' That, he said, was a gathering of Sherwood Youths, and he was himself an old Sherwood

Youth. Every Sherwood Youth loved his own county and was proud of it. He left Nottingham over forty years ago, but he thought as much of the city as ever he did, and loved it more every time he returned to it. Many improvements had taken place in Nottingham since he lived there, and the city was holding its own with other places in its desire to keep abreast of the times. Nottingham, however, had not got a peal of twelve bells, but it had, in St. Mary's Church, a magnificent and historical structure in which to put them—one of the finest parish churches he had ever seen. There could be no finer tower than St. Mary's in which to hang a ring of twelve, and he hoped he would live to see the day when there was a peal of twelve in that tower (applause).

Mr. Sheriff Green replied in a racy speech. Public men, as seen through the Press, were, he said, 'a bad lot' (hear, hear, and laughter), but, however they might differ in their opinions, thank God that in the public life of that city and the country there were Christian men who stood for Christian principles and actions (hear, hear). Nottingham was the finest city in the world, without a shadow of doubt, with the finest Lord Mayor God ever sent into any city (applause), and they had the finest set of city councillors and aldermen in the country (laughter and applause). Mr. Walker apparently found it well to migrate, but he found it necessary to come back to get a good dinner (laughter). Mr. Walker had told them that they had the finest mother church he had ever seen, and he (the speaker) trusted they had the same respect for the Vicar of that mother church as they had for the building. The Sheriff went on to refer to many improvements which had been carried out in the city, schemes which had reduced the death rate and made the place a healthier, a happier, and a more pleasant place to live in. Among other things they had improved the sanitation, they had built a new university, they had widened their streets, and made lovely boulevards, and they had built a new magnificent market hall. Such improvements cost money, and when they saw what had been done, the ratepayers ought not to grumble, although it was usual for those who had to foot the bill to say that those who had spent the money ought to be kicked out of office (laughter). As a church worker himself, the Sheriff spoke of his own love of the bells, and he reminded the ringers that in their work they were sending out a call to the people, bidding them come into the House of God to worship. Though they might fail in their task, the ringers were recognised and appreciated for the services they rendered to the Church (applause).

Mr. W. E. White proposed 'The Visitors,' whom he cordially welcomed to Nottingham.

Mr. C. F. Johnston, who first responded, expressed the thanks of the visitors for the enjoyable time the Sherwood Youths had given them, and recounted some of the interesting experiences of his recent 16,000 mile tour to the West Coast of America.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith also responded.

The Chairman gave 'The Silent Toast,' and mentioned that during the year there had passed away Mr. David Smith, of Mansfield, Mr. Richard Lovett (who was at the Sherwood Youths' last dinner), and one, who, while not a ringer or a member of any ringing association, would be remembered as a violinist in a band which had played for their dancing, Mr. William Mann, who met his death under tragic circumstances in that very hotel.

The toast was honoured in silence.

A PARALLEL AND A CONTRAST.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, called upon for a speech, referred to the brotherhood which linked ringers together in a remarkable way, and congratulated Nottingham on the wonderful entertainment which it had provided that night. They knew, he said, who was the originator of that very pleasant evening, and who was responsible for the greater part of it—their Master, Mr. Coppock. On September 24th, 1924, he (the speaker) took part with other Sherwood Youths in a peal of Oxford Treble Bob at Mansfield, which the Master conducted. The reason for the peal was that the old Sherwood Youths walked from Nottingham to Mansfield and rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob on September 24th, 1774. In that peal James Wilkinson rang the 2nd bell, and the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson rang the 2nd bell in 1924. There was one great difference, however, and that was, whereas the ringers after the 1924 peal went across to the Church House, where he was only too glad to entertain them to tea, James Wilkinson, no doubt, took his band in 1774 across to the Ram Inn (laughter). That showed how they had progressed. He hoped the days of the Sherwood Youths would be very long, and be more and more successful (applause).

This concluded the speeches, and the remainder of the evening was devoted to music, the proceedings being brought to a close with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

In the afternoon many of the ringers took part in touches on the bells of St. Mary's Church.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Sunday, Jan. 27th, at St. Mary's Church, Sprothorough, for evening service, 720 of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, also 180 Plain Bob: H. Metcalfe 1, M. Fowler 2, O. Greatehead 3, E. Short 4, W. Dent 5, E. Stacey (conductor) 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to Mrs. H. Harding, wife of one of the Sprothorough band, who died on January 20th.

SIX AND FIVE BELL PEALS.

A 'MIXED' 5,040.
To the Editor.

Sir,—From what the Rev. H. Law James says in his last letter it appears that he is prepared to read anything into the definition of peals of Minor. I will just touch on the one statement that 'the motion allows us to ring seven true and complete compositions mixed up in any way we like.' Then the following 5,040 of London Minor consists of four true and complete extents with the 6th called WRW, and three with the 5th called RWR, and it contains nothing else except the bobs added to do the mixing and to secure variation. It is given by the ends of the parts of two courses each, and has the tenors right way at back. Considerable variation is possible on the plan. I ask Mr. James if he thinks this peal comes within the definition.—Yours truly, JOSEPH W. PARKER.

'WHERE IS THE VALUE?'

Sir,—I had intended that my first letter on this subject should also be the last, but Mr. Trollope makes use of one or two phrases in this week's issue of 'The Ringing World' which call for some comment. He states that the Exercise has fully agreed that Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge Surprise Minor is a valuable composition. May I ask, in all humility, where the value comes in?

I always thought that for anything to be of value it should be free from taints of any description. Surely, Mr. Trollope would not have the six-bell ringers to believe that because Mr. James' arrangement brings up all the 5-6's at back stroke, and in doing so strings together six 720's which are all false, it is a thing of any value? I most emphatically say 'No.' Then he goes on to say: 'It meets a need.' May I ask what need it meets? Surely, Mr. Trollope is aware that Cambridge can be called in a great many different ways. I can string together seven 720's in seven Round Blocks, each block being true in itself, that will test the capability of the best Bob caller to negotiate successfully. Certainly, all the 5-6's will not be back-stroke changes, but they will have less 5-6's at hand stroke than it is possible to obtain in a peal from the first eleven methods given in the Council's book of legitimate Minor methods.—Yours truly, Killamarsch.

C. SEVERN.

'THE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES TROUBLE.'

Dear Sir,—The letter in your last issue under the above heading is typically Willsonian. Stripped of the dialectic rings, which with airy brilliance are thrown round our heads, the letter contains nothing of use, and this was the chief reason for my remarks on 'W.W.'s' previous letter. The contrast between it and Mr. Trollope's admirably reasoned contribution is great indeed.

Mr. Willson's letter contains its usual misstatement, which, although trivial, is nevertheless characteristic. He says we have rung seven method peals together, wherein he is wrong. We rang together one only.

The word 'truth' as applied to five and six bell peals is necessarily comparative. From one point of view they are all false. 'Splice' I used in the ringers' sense—i.e., to join broken ends. If a round block inserted into a six-score does not do this, then what does it do?

I put forward in my last letter the opinion that 50 six-scores rung differently is a bigger task than an ordinary seven-method peal of Minor. As I am one of the only two men in the Exercise who are in a position to know, I think that due consideration should have been accorded the conclusion to which I have arrived.

Mr. Willson, on the strength of having rung some six-scores of the type many years ago, appears to doubt what I have said.

May I conclude with an appeal for constructive criticisms, as against the ruthless tearing down of other people's ideas. If you must destroy, do put something else in the place.—Yours, etc.,

J. T. DYKE.

NOT 'LEGAL TENDER.'

Sir,—Mr. Trollope, in his most serious mood, is at the same time most humorous. After spilling a column of ink in support of the tradition of ringing and leading his readers 'up the garden' in the most subtle and ingenious manner, he executes the usual volte face in his last paragraph, viz.: 'Well, if we admit this, as we assuredly must, ...'

Had he prefixed the par by saying 'I think,' not a word could be said, but Mr. Trollope, in the almighty 'WE,' presumes to speak for the whole Exercise. He does not. The question naturally arises, Why must we assuredly admit it? No one has yet said what ad-

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

SECRETARY RETIRES AFTER TWENTY YEARS' WORK.

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held on Saturday last at the St. Martin's Hotel, the bells of the Cathedral having been at the disposal of members during the afternoon.

The chair was taken by the Guild's Presiding Ringing Master, Ald. J. S. Pritchett, M.A., on whose proposition the Lord Bishop of Birmingham was re-elected president. All the vice-presidents (the Rector of Birmingham, Alderman Pritchett, Messrs. J. H. Shepherd, W. Kent, T. Russam and J. George) were re-elected, and the name of Mr. Jas. E. Groves added, as a mark of appreciation of his services to the Guild as Deputy Ringing Master for many years.

On the proposition of the secretary, Mr. Alderman Pritchett was unanimously re-elected Presiding Ringing Master, the Secretary adding that all present would wish to congratulate him on having entered upon his 75th year in the best of health and full of vigour.—The Alderman said that he should be pleased to retire in favour of a younger man, if the members thought it would be desirable, but, as they unanimously showed, the members thought the right man was in the right place. Mr. Pritchett thanked them for the expression of continued confidence in him, and said he would do his best to attend the meetings, etc.

Mr. Albert Walker was re-elected Deputy Ringing Master, Messrs. T. Russam and T. H. Reeves trustees, Messrs. J. Preston and E. T. Allaway auditors, and Mr. G. F. Swann librarian.

Mr. Smith then said that, owing to business pressure and frequent absences abroad, he could no longer give the time and attention demanded by the secretarial duties, and tendered his resignation. He added that he had held the office for twenty years, and that it was, perhaps, time they had a change. Incidentally, he remarked that his predecessor, the late W. H. Goddon, had also held the secretaryship for exactly the same period. Mr. Smith then proposed that Mr. T. H. Reeves be elected secretary and treasurer in his stead.—This was seconded by Mr. W. Dowding, supported by Mr. A. Walker and Mr. F. Price, and carried unanimously.

The following resolution, proposed by Mr. Alderman Pritchett and seconded by Mr. Walker, was then passed with acclamation: 'That the warmest thanks of the Guild be tendered to Mr. A. Paddon Smith for his invaluable services as secretary during the past twenty years.'—On the proposition of Mr. Perrens, Mr. Smith was elected a vice-president.

Ten new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Colehill.

The balance sheet for the past year was received and adopted, the financial position of the Guild being shown to be very satisfactory.

It was decided that the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner should be held at Saturday, March 2nd, next, at the usual time.

A careful note should be made of the new secretary's address: Thomas H. Reeves, 136, Newton Road, Sparkhill, Birmingham.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Winchester District took place at Winchester on January 19th, over fifty members attending from neighbouring towers, including North Stoneham, Wootton Hill, King's Somborne, Highclere, Winchester, Twyford, Stockbridge, Micheldever, Portsmouth, Hursley and Eling.

Ringing took place at the Cathedral and also at St. Maurice's Church, where service was conducted by the Rev. Watson, who gave a splendid address.

After the service, the members adjourned to Messrs. Dumpers' Restaurant, where an ample tea awaited them, the Rev. Watson and Rev. Theophilus, of King's Somborne, joining the company.

The business meeting followed, with the Vicar of St. Maurice's in the chair. All the officers were re-elected, dates and places for the quarterly meetings were fixed, and votes of thanks were passed to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the Cathedral bells, also to the Rev. Watson for the use of St. Maurice's bells. After this an adjournment was made to the towers, where further ringing took place.

vantage the mixing of false and true in each extent gives over the original entity. There is a strong suspicion abroad that had the Cambridge Minor been the work of a less illustrious composer than Rev. E. H. James, it would have been laughed out of court. It is on a par with a case that came before the Criminal Court recently. A man was charged with engraving and uttering counterfeit bank notes. So cleverly were the notes engraved that they baffled both counsel and the judge to detect the false from the true, and called forth admiration for the work entailed, but this did not deter the Lord Chief Justice from sentencing the prisoner to penal servitude. The notes were not 'legal tender.' They would go into the museum of curiosities, and that is where the latest Minor and Doubles productions ought to go. Clever, but not 'legal tender.' We assuredly must not accept the cleverest concoction in composition, no matter from whom it emanates, when the same results—the extents—can be obtained in the legitimate manner.—Yours, etc.,

W. WILLSON.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY WILLIAMS, OF HEADINGLEY. A GIFTED CONDUCTOR.

Ringers of Yorkshire have sustained a great loss by the death of Mr. Henry Williams, who for more than thirty years was the conductor of the ringers at St. Michael's, Headingley, Leeds. Born sixty-three years ago, at Wolverley, near Kidderminster, the deceased migrated at an early age to Kidderminster, and was soon identified with a famous band of that period, who made ringing history, under the able leadership of Mr. Richard Groves. His calling, that of a gardener, took him to Leeds rather more than thirty years ago, and it was not long before his commanding personality and wonderful ability gathered round him a band who made a great name for themselves, both as splendid strikers and as pioneers in method ringing. Woe to the unwary visitor to Headingley at that day, who had nothing to commend him beyond a knowledge of a wide variety of methods, for he would be sharply reminded that accurate striking was more important than a plentiful supply of methods.

At that time Headingley was a splendid training ground for the young ringer, and the visitor who showed aptitude and keenness was assured of a great welcome. An outstanding gift of Mr. Williams was the one of rehearsing the whole of the changes in his head while ringing was in progress, and it was no novelty to hear him talk off the changes as they were being rung in some new and abstruse method. At Headingley was rung the first peal of London Surprise in Yorkshire, in 1904, and at that time it was the usual thing to have five Surprise methods rung for Sunday service. On one memorable occasion the writer remembers ringing with the band of that day no fewer than eleven methods on the fine ring of eight at the Priory Church at Bridlington.

The deceased is believed to be the only ringer to conduct a hand-bell peal blindfolded, this performance being well authenticated. In all, Mr. Williams rang 45 peals for the Yorkshire Association, and 35 for his native association of Worcestershire.

Neglect of a chill, contracted early in the year, brought on a sharp attack of pneumonia, culminating in death on January 12th. The funeral took place at Arncliffe Church on the following Tuesday, when the Yorkshire Association was represented by the president (Rev. C. C. Marshall) and many of the principal officers of the association and members. In an address in the church, the Vicar of Arncliffe paid a high tribute to the deceased, and after the final prayers in the church had been said by the president, a well-struck plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the west end of the nave by Messrs. F. Renton, J. Cotterell, P. J. Johnson and J. Broadley. Among the ringers present were Messrs. Arthur Craven, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cotterell, Mr. and Mrs. T. Maude (of Pudsey), Messrs. J. Broadley, E. Wheeler, A. Gill, F. Renton, G. Titterton, J. W. T. Holgate, S. Sadler, W. Whitaker, G. Barraclough and P. J. Johnson.

The deceased will be greatly missed by a very wide circle of friends, and this opportunity is taken of offering deep and sincere sympathy to Mrs. Williams and her daughter in their bereavement.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

LEICESTER DISTRICT TO HOLD MORE MEETINGS.

The annual meeting of the Leicester District was held at St. Peter's, Belgrave, on Saturday week. The bells were raised about 3.40 p.m., after which they were kept going to Kent Treble Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major. After tea the belfry was again visited, and many other ringers had by this time arrived. It was pleasing to note a specially large party from Ratby. The bells were soon set going again, the methods rung being Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, and Double Norwich. The bells were lowered in peal just before 7.30 p.m.

The ringers then made their way to the Talbot Inn (the place of several former meetings), where the business meeting was held. Mr. A. S. Hains occupied the chair, and 26 members were present. On the proposition of Mr. W. H. Clarke, seconded by Mr. W. Brewin, the local officers were re-elected 'en bloc'.

As the annual general meeting of the M.C.A. falls at Leicester this year, two extra members were elected to the committee to help in making arrangements for this meeting. These were Messrs. Norman S. Bagworth and Rowland Barrow.

The 'general' officers of the association were also renominated.

Five new members were then elected, viz., Mr. Edward C. Turner, of Leicester Cathedral band, three from Ratby, and one from Husbands Bosworth. Mr. Fred Bowley, of Kirby Muxloe, was re-elected a member of the association.

It was decided to try the experiment of holding eight meetings a year instead of four as at present, the idea being to let the annual and quarterly meetings continue as at present, and in between each of these to hold a meeting at some five or six bell tower, now seldom if ever visited, with the hope of raising interest in those quarters. Will members please note, and do their best to support the meetings, the first of which will be at Whetstone.

The meeting close with the usual votes of thanks to the Vicar and towerkeeper, and the remainder of the evening was spent in the way ringers like best.

DEVON GUILD.

BRANCH MEETING AT PAIGNTON.

The annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Paignton on Saturday, ringers being present from Paignton, Collaton, Brixham, Cockington, Torquay, Newton Abbot, Buckfastleigh, Exeter, Lowton and Clyst St. George. The bells were kept going in the Grandsire method during the afternoon, and a service in church was conducted by the Vicar of Paignton (Rev. Prob. H. Mackworth Drake), who gave an excellent address.

Tea was served in the schoolroom, and was followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. F. J. Laxton, of Torquay (chairman). A report of the past year's work was presented and adopted.

Messrs. F. J. Laxton and H. J. Hole were both re-elected chairman and secretary respectively, and both suitably returned thanks.

A letter was read from the Vicar of Staverton (Rev. E. D. Drake-Brockman), who was elected an hon. member, inviting the branch to hold a meeting there, and this was accepted, the date chosen being Saturday, May 11th.

A discussion arose as to whether two of the four meetings a year should be informal meetings, and it was agreed to this suggestion.

A discussion also took place as to a suggestion that the Guild inaugurate an annual dinner, and it was decided to support the proposal.

The Chairman moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his address, also to the organist, and this was carried.

This concluded the business, and the tower was visited again, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Shropshire Association was held at Shrewsbury on Saturday last. Over 40 members were present from Clive, Broseley, Coalbrookdale, Wem, Ellesmere, Moreton Corbet, Ludlow, Wellington, Connid, Worthen, Malinslee, Oswestry, Shrewsbury, etc., also visitors from Crewe and Wrexham.

Ringing commenced at St. Mary's, but had to be stopped at 3.15 owing to a service. The members then visited St. Chad's, and rang on the fine peal of twelve until 6 o'clock. Tea was then partaken of in St. Chad's Institute, and the business meeting followed, Mr. F. A. Barnett, of Wem, presiding.—Apologies for absence were received from the president and Major Corbett.

The Secretary read the report and presented the balance sheet, which showed a balance in hand of over £40. Six peals have been rung during the year.

The instructor, Mr. W. Short, has resigned on account of ill-health, and it was decided to leave this office vacant for a time.

The Rev. C. B. Crowe, one of the committee, having left the district, the Rev. C. S. Jackson, of Broseley, was elected to this office.

Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst, assistant secretary, asked to be relieved of the duties, and Mr. A. Pritchard was appointed to succeed him.—A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Rodenhurst for his services.

All the other officers were re-elected, and fourteen new members added to the Guild.

Quarterly meetings for this year are to be held at Wellington, Moreton Corbet, and Whitechurch.

The meeting close with a vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. Chad's for the use of the bells, and the members returned to St. Chad's for further ringing until 9 o'clock. Methods rung during the day were Grandsire Doubles, Triples, Caters, and Cinques, Stedman Caters and Cinques, Bob Royal, and Kent Treble Bob Major and Royal.

NETTLEBED'S IMPROVED BELLS.

The ring of six bells in the village of Nettlebed, Oxon, have recently been put into good ringing order, and on the first Saturday in the new year a band of Diocesan Guild ringers, at the invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. H. G. Harding), journeyed from Reading to try the bells, and to meet the local ringers, who are Guild members.

They found the bells improved almost out of knowledge by their visit to the Whitechapel Foundry for tuning, while the work of re-hanging by Mr. R. White, of Appleton, left nothing to be desired, and ringing there is now a real pleasure.

A 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung in good style by F. Hopgood, H. Tucker, Miss Davis, Rev. C. Jenkyn, R. T. Hibbert, W. Hibbert, jun., after which several 120's of Doubles were rung with the local men, finishing with a touch of Oxford Bob Minor. The whole party then adjourned to the Village Hall, where they were most hospitably entertained to tea by the Vicar and Mrs. Harding.

When at length it was time to return from the snow-clad heights to the Thames Valley it was agreed by all that they had spent a really good afternoon.

GUILDFORD.—On January 24th, at St. Nicolas Church, for evening, on the eve of the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul, 1,335 Stedman Caters: F. Radford 1, C. Hazelden 2, C. N. Burdock 3, E. A. Etheridge 4, Mrs. Hazelden 5, W. W. Thorne 6, G. Tomsett 7, E. Radford 8, S. Radford (conductor) 9, R. Radford 10.

MINGLING AND COMMINGLING.

BY IRENEUS PISTOR.

Sunday, January 20th, is set down in the memoranda of the writer, firstly because it was the dedication day of a pair of 'silver trumpets' at St. Wilfred's, West Hallam, Yorks; secondly, because one into whom he inculcated the first rudiments of the art and science 'fell over' him without a word of apology or a kindly 'cheerio,' but passed by on the other side, like the Levite of old. Such 'chimed ill' with the mingling and the commingling music of the glorious little octave, whose trebles merrily sing out 'TAY-LOR' before 345678, which contain the metal of a mediæval ring cast by the Heathcotes, of Chesterfield, metal cast by Hy. Oldfield in 1618, and metal cast by Warner 1878.

Gone are those items mentioned in the Edwardian inventory, mingling and commingling in one homogeneity in the back six. Gone are those who indented their signatures to the memoranda—which was given to the officers of the 'Boy King'—mingling and commingling are their crumbling dust, gone to the bosom of Mother Earth. Mingling and commingling 'neath a richly-earned altar tomb in the north side of the chancel lies all that is left of the once mighty Powtrells; yet, reader, mingling and commingling in that congregation were the descendants of those whose names were inscribed in the parochial registers of St. Wilfred's, when the noble House of Powtrell held sway over the parish and manor. Mingling and commingling with those assembled to witness the simple and soul-stirring dedication were the shades of those who had gone before. They passed and repassed, like some phantasm, before the broken and shattered easements of the writer.

Mingling and commingling, nevertheless (at my elbow), in one's own flesh, ran the blood of Elizabeth Toplice, whose transgressions had been mystically washed away at that massive octagonal font, which was at that time some 300 years old. Lizzie, not content with the primary rite, didst, with love such as only West Hallam damsels can bestow—beguile one Robert Carryer, whom she married in 1658. Mingling and commingling in the veins of a ringer—who sat in the rear of the writer, at the base of that embattled tower which was rebuilt by the Powtrells—ran that which was a lifegiving stream in the earthly habitation of Cassandra Hodges (daughter of one Richard and Ann Hunt), who was born in 1648.

Gone are the Powtrells, Portes, and the Doughtys, yet there remaineth living witness of the humble Elizabeth and the meek Cassandra, mingling and commingling. Risen phoenix-like from the ashes of the past to a further life—let us hope—of centuries, are those bells which mingled and commingled with the very life, work and worship of Elizabeth Toplice and Cassandra Hunt, mingling and commingling with the round, soft and velvety tone of the increased peal, rings out in clarion accents the words chosen by the Lord Bishop of Derby for his text on this day of days, and taken from 1 Cor. ix. 16: 'Vae Mihi Si Non Evangelisavero.' Ah, reader, 'Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel'—truth—for there is no 'nasal twang' in either this light peal of Taylor's which graces the steeple of St. Wilfred's, or in that very triumphant example of Loughborough fame, which adorns the Minister of Ebor.

'Nasal twang' is obviously mingling and commingling in the 'cheap receiving set,' owned by the Limited Company, who adversely criticise the noble peal at York.

Thanks, Mr. Editor, for your indulgence, but, finally, may I offer a hint to the owners of the 'cheap set'? If the nozzle of the village blacksmith's bellows is inserted into the lower end of the lateral curvature of the spine of the loud speaker, and about two pulls are administered, it will remove all fragments of old conversations, debates, and French lessons, that are mingling and commingling, without question, therein.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Barnsley on Saturday, January 12th. The bells of St. Mary's Church were ringing early in the afternoon, and service was held in the Lady Chapel at 4.30. Rev. Canon Hone, M.A., Rural Dean, was the preacher, and took for his text the words, 'Rejoice with them that do rejoice, weep with them that weep, being of one mind one towards another.' His application of the text towards ringers' associations was admirably put. The upward path to great success in the art of change ringing must always be attended with trials, failures and disappointments, but unity of purpose, faith in one another, rejoicing with those who win, weeping with those who lose, would eventually create that union in which all would be of one mind one towards another.

Mr. W. Palmer (Badworth), a former president, presided at the organ, and the service was much appreciated, and joined in heartily.

A tea was provided in St. Mary's Parish Room, about 34 ringers and several ladies sitting down. Afterwards, the business meeting was held, Canon Hone taking the chair. Letters of apology were read from Mr. A. Hartley and Vice-President W. Reynier (Sandal), who were unwell and unable to attend, also from Mr. Geo. Lewis, who was that day attending the funeral of Mr. Evinson, a Sheffield ringer.

A letter was received from Canon and Mrs. Hone, thanking the members for a beautiful photo of the association's garden party held in July last, when Bishop Eden attended.

Further business concerned the ringing contests to be held during the coming year, but the discussion was not so general as one would have expected on such matters. Members seemed to prefer to let the bells give a pronounced answer at the actual contest, so matters will go on much as before.

There was only one nomination for president—Mr. A. Nash, Wath. This nomination of a popular, practical and active ringer was promptly and unanimously carried. For the office of treasurer, Mr. A. Panther was re-elected, and the same applied to the office of secretary, to which Mr. D. Potter was reappointed.

The auditors (Messrs. A. Nash and A. Goldthorpe) announced that the financial report of the treasurer had been found correct and in good order, and these were passed by the meeting.

No application being to hand for next place of meeting, the secretary was requested to secure Monk Bretton.

Canon Hone was warmly thanked for all his work for, and interest in, the association.

Further ringing followed, and completed one of the best meetings ever held by the association.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

THE REVISION OF HISTORY.

History is being called into question by letters which have recently appeared in our columns on the subject of early peals and the first performances of Holt's Original. First of all a correspondent questioned the College Youths' record that a peal, rung in 1688-9, was composed and conducted by Benjamin Annable, when, according to Snowdon, in 'Grandsire,' quoting from 'The Clavis,' Annable died in 1755 between sixty and seventy years of age. Mr. E. A. Young's reply to this was the suggestion that Annable was older than he was thought to be by those who recorded his age in 'The Clavis.' Since this there has come another challenge to the records of the Ancient Society, viz., that the claim that its members rang Holt's Original on the first occasion on which it was called by a ringer taking part in the peal can no longer be upheld, other performances of this peal (between the years 1752 and 1754), with the conductor ringing one of the bells, having now come to light. In defence of the College Youths' claim, Mr. G. N. Price puts forward Snowdon's history of the Grandsire method, in which the peal of 1791 was treated as the first, and Mr. Price asks, if the other claims to earlier peals are correct, how can it be explained that Snowdon in his patient and painstaking research work should not have come across these records, or should have ignored them if he did? 'Snowdon,' says Mr. Price, 'must have been brought into very intimate contact with Norwich when collecting data for his various books, and the question arises, was there sufficient proof to satisfy him that the peals referred to were the famous Original?'

On the question of Annable's age, it is doubtful if anyone can now provide definite evidence unless it can be supplied from some of the ancient parish registers. The question of the 'Original,' however, seems to be fairly plain. In the case of one at least of the Norwich peals the full details were given in the 'Norwich Mercury' of the time (1752), including the names of the ringers and the added intimation that 'the peal being so intricate the London Bell Ringers thought it impracticable for a man to ring one of the bells and call the bobs at the same time.' The particulars of the two peals, in 1753 and 1754, at Saffron Walden, were discovered about 15 years ago among some old newspaper cuttings from publications of the period, and in these, also, the names of the ringers are given. In view of these facts, therefore, there seems little doubt that the College Youths' peal of 1791 was not the first time the 'Original' was performed under the same conditions.

Jasper Snowdon was, as we all know, a most painstaking man, but even he could not have searched all the newspaper files throughout the country, and it is quite easy to believe that the records of the Norwich and Saffron Walden peals never came under his notice. Had they done so it is only reasonable to assume that he would at least have mentioned them, even if he had had some doubt as to their authenticity, because he analysed at great length many other of the early performances. Even the questioned 1689 peal he accepts, with limitations, in the phrase 'it seems not improbable that such a performance may have taken place at this date.' Had Snowdon known of the Norwich and Saffron Walden peals, he surely then would have said something about them and not merely have left the subject with the statement 'we may be sure that many a conductor would feel ambitious to call the peal without such assistance (manuscript), but it was not until forty years after its first performance (1791) that this object was attained.'

ACCIDENT TO MR. JAMES GEORGE.

In the evening of December 1st last, when alighting from a train at Birmingham Station, Mr. George was pushed between the platform and train, injuring both legs badly.

He has now nearly recovered, and hopes shortly to renew his activities.

This note will explain his sudden silence to his many friends.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. LINCOLN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln District took place at Branston on Saturday, January 26th. It was previously arranged that a district meeting should be held at Branston during the latter part of last year, but owing to a serious case of illness near to the church the event had to be postponed. Another date was chosen, and at the time when preparations were almost complete, the opening of the Cathedral bells was timed to take place on the same day, consequently the district meeting suffered a second postponement. In view of these circumstances, the holding of the district's annual meeting at Branston was, in a way, compensation to that tower. A fine day favoured the occasion, and the attendance, numbering about 50 ringers, was very gratifying. The towers represented were: Lincoln Cathedral, St. Peter-at-Arches, St. Peter-at-Gowts, and St. Botolph's, Bassingham, Blankney, Bardney, Metheringham, Waddingborough, and Branston, and there were also visiting ringers from the North Notts Association towers of Sutton-on-Trent, North Collingham, and Workson.

Touchees in various methods were rung during the afternoon, when the Guild's service was conducted by the Rev. R. Bond, of Lincoln. The lesson was read by the Rev. T. S. Pocock, of Bassingham, and the Rector of Branston (the Rev. J. J. R. Pells) gave an address, in the course of which he explained a number of the inscriptions appearing on the local bells. He mentioned that, according to tradition, the fifth bell, which was the oldest in the tower, was said to have been rung at the time the Spanish Armada was defeated. Next in age came the tenor, the third and the fourth, which are of the Elizabethan period and, lastly, the treble and second, which were installed about 30 years ago. The Rector went on to explain various points of interest in the church.

An innovation in the service was the assembly of a male voice choir, mainly composed of ringers of the Guild, and a very pleasing effect resulted.

Tea was then partaken of in the Rectory, and the caterers were the recipients of appreciation for the excellent tea provided for the small charge made. The day seemed brimful of innovations, for, while the visiting ringers were having tea, a number of the local ringers were giving a few of their musical items on the handbells.

A business meeting followed, and the Rev. R. Bond, who is president of the district, occupied the chair. He referred to a number of past year's events, and mentioned Lincoln Cathedral bells. He congratulated the Cathedral ringers upon the rapidity of their progress. Similarly, the Chairman referred to the achievement of the band that accomplished their peal of London Surprise Major after many unsuccessful attempts. With regard to the Lavenby peal of bells, the Chairman intimated that the bells had now gone to the bell foundry, and upon their return the district would benefit by the acquisition of another peal of six.

These remarks from the chairman constituted good news for the district, and they were received with applause.

All the officials were re-elected for another year, thus exemplifying the confidence the ringers have in the leaders. The officials are: Rev. R. Bond, president; Mr. H. Maroon, secretary; Mr. J. Waldon, Ringing Master and also district representative.

Four meetings were appointed to take place during the year at the following places: Nettleham, Bardney, Lavenby or Brant Broughton, and Caythorpe, and the corresponding meeting to Saturday's event will take place at Waddingborough next year.

Three new members were elected, and, coincidentally, they were all lady ringers, consequently their acceptance was received with applause. They were Mrs. C. McGuinness and Miss S. Norton, of Lincoln, and Mrs. East, of North Collingham. The latter was elected as a non-resident life member.

At the close of the business, handbell ringing was indulged in, and, after a few attempts, a course of Stedman Caters was accomplished.

The method of College Single was chosen for preferential study for the Nettleham meeting in April.

The bells were lowered about nine o'clock, bringing to a close a most successful meeting.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Maidstone District was held at Ightham on Saturday, January 12th. During the afternoon and evening, touchees of Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise were rung. Members attended from most of the towers in the district, also from Ashford, Canterbury, Tonbridge and Rochester districts, 17 towers being represented. At the service the association form was used. Tea was partaken of at the Old Chequers, 40 members being present.

In the absence of the Vicar, Mr. W. Neale presided at the business meeting, when 24 new members were elected, including the bands of Ightham and Snodland.

It was decided to hold a bye-meeting at Bearsted on February 23rd.

A collection on behalf of Mrs. Bates was taken, and amounted to £1 4s.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar brought the meeting to a close.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. SUCCESS OF COMBINED PRACTICES.

The annual meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Leatherhead on Saturday, when 32 members attended. The district towers represented were Banstead, Leatherhead, St. Martin's, Epsom, Newdigate, Ashted, Cobham, Dorking and Ewell, and there were visitors from Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Walton, Thames Ditton, Beddington and London. The ringing during the afternoon and evening included rounds for some who had not previously rung on ten, and methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Royal.

The business meeting was held after tea at the Institute, Mr. Albert Harman, District Ringing Master, presiding, in the absence of the Rector, who was unable to remain for this part of the proceedings.

The Ringing Master reported that the ringing had been very successful. Twelve peals had been rung in the district, including two of Treble Ten, one of London Surprise, four of Double Norwich, one each of Kent Treble Bob Major, Oxford Treble Bob Major, Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and Oxford Treble Bob Minor. This last was the first peal by the Guild, and was rung at Capel. The combined practices had been successful, the most notable feature of which had been that those who attended had advanced both in the standard of ringing and the methods rung. He hoped they would continue to work together for the advancement of ringing in the district.

Mr. A. H. Winch, who was responsible for organising the combined practices, reported that 33 of these practices had been held, and there had been a good average attendance. The main object of these practices should not be overlooked—that of giving the local band visited the advantage of practising with more advanced ringers, and he hoped the members would do all they could to continue to make these meetings successful, and especially to attend at those towers where there was not at present a full band.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. F. G. Woodiss) said the district had had a very successful first year, and they hoped to do still better in the coming year. In looking down the list of towers, however, they would see that a number had not got a full band, and they must do their best to make these bands up as quickly as possible. He particularly thanked Mr. Harman (the Ringing Master), Mr. Winch and Mr. A. Dean, of the Leatherhead tower, for all the assistance they had given him. The future looked rosy, and they looked forward hopefully to extending their influence and making up the Sunday service bands at all their towers.

The number of members in the district was 65 ringing and three honorary members.

The balance sheet, which showed a small balance in hand, was adopted, and the general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) congratulated the district upon the work accomplished, and the lead it had given to the other districts, particularly in the matter of combined practices.

No new nominations having been received, the retiring officers were re-elected.

The meeting unanimously accepted the invitation to hold a joint meeting with the Surrey Association at Ewell on May 11th, and decided upon the following places for district meetings during the year: Christ Church, Epsom; Newdigate, Dorking; St. Martin's, Epsom; Ashted, and the annual meeting at Leatherhead.

A discussion took place on the rule requiring a fortnight's notice of nomination for office, and it was stated that this would be reviewed at the next annual meeting.

Mr. A. H. Pulling brought forward the question of what should be recognised as a peal of Minor or Doubles, and asked the members to study the question, which was an important one to the Exercise.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, Mr. A. Dean and members of the Leatherhead tower for the arrangements made, and to the officers for their services during the past year.

FARNHAM DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The first annual meeting of the Farnham District was held at Aldershot on January 26th and was attended by a muster of 45 members and visitors from Ash, Aldershot, Bagshot, Farnham, Frimham, Seale, Brixton, Chertsey, Finchampstead, Guildford (Cathedral), Ottershaw and Woking. Among the visitors were Miss H. E. Mills, hon. secretary of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild, now well on the way to recovery to health after her serious accident, Admiral T. P. Walker, hon. treasurer of the Guild, who is recovering from a protracted illness, Mr. A. H. Pulling, who took light exercise on the treble of Aldershot's light ring of eight (tenor 8 cwt.), and Mr. W. J. Paice, hon. secretary and treasurer of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

Canon Girling, Rector of Farnham, conducted the Guild's service, and a splendid tea was afterwards partaken of in the Parish Hall.

After tea, the business meeting was presided over by Canon Girling, after he had been proposed by Admiral Walker and seconded by Mr. R. Hasted as an honorary member.

The year's work was reviewed. First, the Ringing Master (Mr. Hasted) reported that three peals had been rung and three lost.

The Secretary reported that they had passed a rather quiet year. They had opened the year with 14 honorary members and 86 ringing members, and closed with 16 honorary and 104 ringing members respectively from a district of only 11 towers, only one of which was not in union with the Guild. Most towers were affiliated under the Guild's scheme. The year closed with a really handsome balance in hand. The Secretary also said that during the year he had given help to the Ash band, and now they were able to ring Bob Minor for Sunday service, while some of the band could also ring Kent Treble Bob. He also reported that Frensham, after about six weeks' tuition, were able to ring Grandsire Double for service. Until last November this was a 'stone' tower. There still remained Crondall, Bentley and Hawley to convert.

After the secretary's report, the district warmly thanked him for his first year's work, which, by his report, showed he had accomplished a great deal.

Mr. A. H. Pulling, as a visitor, congratulated the district and the officers, and said that this was the best report he had heard, and that he thought the secretary had done really well by breaking new ground so successfully. He hoped the district would be proud of him.

For the post of Ringing Master, Mr. R. Hasted was re-elected, as his was the only name nominated.

Although the secretary was nominated again to fill that office, he said that he wished to retire and let someone else carry on, but after some discussion he agreed to continue in office.

No other nominations had been received for district representatives other than those in office, and they were re-elected except Major-General Deane, who had left the country.

Mr. T. F. Neighbour, of Seale, was elected, subject to his being willing to stand.

The following list of fixtures was proposed and approved: March, Crondall; May, Bagshot; July, Farnborough; August, Hawley; November, Seale. The Hawley meeting is to be a combined meeting with the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

The Secretary said that he hoped the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild would join in with them in this meeting and arrange for the use of the Yateley bells for the afternoon and evening. He had written to the hon. secretary of the Basingstoke District of that Guild (Rev. D. Board), asking him to put it before his district, who were also holding their meeting that day.

Mr. W. J. Paice said he would like to see this joint meeting an annual affair, and that his Guild would support it wholeheartedly.

Nine new members were elected, viz., two from Seale, four from Frensham, and three from Aldershot. Two new honorary members from Farnham were also elected.

THE WIRELESS EFFECT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the various letters on this subject, and think the letter of Mr. A. P. Smith gives the key to the solution. He says that while 'St. Philip's (Birmingham)' are really a miserable ring of ten, they come over the ether very well. Now my humble opinion is that twelve bells are too much for broadcasting, especially the modern rings with so many tones and notes, and the rapid striking that is necessary to ring Cinques does not give the microphone a chance, and so the 'nasal twang' is produced.

If we could hear the back 8 or even 10 at York or St. Martin's, I think there would be some different opinions formed.—Yours truly,

GEO. F. SWANN.

JUDGED BY PERSONAL SATISFACTION.

Dear Sir,—May I trespass upon your valuable space in acknowledgment of an article I have read by 'Irenæus Pistor' regarding the crude criticism of Birmingham bells, which were broadcast? I would like to draw the above-named gentleman's attention to the fact, first, that the set did not belong to the 'Limited Company, and, secondly, it is not a set which one would class cheap, as the average working man would have to fast a lengthy period and save all his earnings in the endeavour of buy the 'cheap set.' Bells, like voices and other musical instruments, are judged by personal satisfaction, and naturally criticised accordingly, allowing everyone freedom of choice.—Yours faithfully,

ELIZABETH E. DARBY.

EXPERIMENTS.

Further experiments with the position of the microphone are to be made at St. Martin's Parish Church, Birmingham, before the next broadcast of the bells takes place from that church. A peal attempt next Tuesday will give the B.B.C. their opportunity.

The ladies who carried out the catering were warmly praised by Mr. Stroud for the splendid way they had provided for the wants of the visitors, and they were accorded a very hearty vote of thanks.

At the conclusion, thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Aldershot (Rev. H. Le Fleming) for the use of the bells, the curate (Rev. I. Smith) for attending to conduct the service, and Mr. T. A. Stroud (who is both organist and ringer at Frensham) for his services at the organ.

This may well be called a ringers' meeting, as all who took part in it were ringers, from Canon Girding, who conducted the service, to the ladies who catered, and even the 'blower' of the organ.

Ringling took place both during the afternoon and evening.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The old peal of six at St. Olave's, Hart Street, City (Samuel Pepys' Church) are to undergo restoration, and it is hoped to add two trebles. The six were cast at the Whitechapel Foundry, four years before the Great Fire, and they are to be restored by the same foundry (Messrs. Mears and Stainbank).

The Bishop of Guildford will dedicate the two new trebles at Woking Parish Church, converting the present six into a ring of eight, on Saturday, May 11th. The bells are being provided through the energies of Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., who is one of the local service ringers, and are being cast at the Whitechapel Foundry.

We would remind intending visitors to the Johnson Commemorative Dinner on Saturday, March 2nd, that all applications for tickets should be made to Mr. Thomas H. Reeves, 136, Newton Road, Sparkhill, Birmingham, the newly-appointed hon. secretary.

Thirty years ago to-day the first peal of Forward Major was rung. It was composed and conducted by Mr. John Carter, and was rung at Deritend.

The first peal of Superlative in the 'Metropolis' was rung by the St. James' Society at Bethnal Green on February 9th, 1850.

On February 11th, 1810, the spire of St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, fell with disastrous results, a number of worshippers, including several children, being killed.

A peal of 14,016 Kent Treble Bob was rung at Oldham in 7 hrs. 26 mins. on February 12th, 1821.

One of the early long peals of Grandsire Cinques was rung at Cornhill on February 14th, 1731. The length was 7,018.

The longest peal on twelve bells, 13,001 Grandsire Cinques, was rung at Painswick on February 14th, 1920.

LIGHTING THE BELFRY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me to thank those who have replied to my request for advice, both those who have written to you and to the many who have written to me direct.

There is one point which puzzles me. Everyone has said that it is necessary to have the lights on the stairs fixed on three wires, so that they can be turned off either at top or bottom, but no one has said why. It seems to me to be merely a 'stunt,' the advantages of which are outweighed by the disadvantages.

What is required is a light which cannot be turned off by anyone outside the ringing chamber. This is easily arranged here, as we ring on the ground floor, and the main switch is on the floor above (the clock chamber). The stair lights should be small, and each connected to the chamber to which that flight of stairs leads. They will thus be a sign that that particular chamber is in use, and whoever is occupying it will not inadvertently be locked up from below.

I agree that a central light over the bells, within reach of anyone standing on the bell-frame, is best. But in our case it would be very difficult to get at the centre of the roof (just under the leads) to fix it, and equally difficult and costly to get there for repairs. Is the only alternative a bracket lamp over the door?

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There can be no reasonable doubt that the intention of the Council at Hereford was to widen the rule for five and six bell methods to meet the situation caused by Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge, and at the same time provide a barrier against merely freak peals. The intention of the people who were originally responsible for the resolution was to open the door just wide enough to let in Mr. James' Cambridge (and exactly similar compositions), but to bar it tightly against anything further. You, sir, will correct me if I am wrong here. But the intention of many people, who both spoke and voted in favour, was certainly wider than that. Mr. Law James seconded the resolution, and, if I remember rightly, he assured us that its scope was wider. The Council can hardly have had the intention of disallowing his arrangement of London because it had not then been put together. It was, in fact, composed and published as an example of what the resolution did allow.

After the meeting there was quite a lot of discussion and disagreement as to what actually the resolution did mean, and I think it is certain that, though the whole Council was agreed on the main principles, the details—the point at which the line was definitely drawn—were anything but agreed to.

Now let us turn to the resolution itself. And first it must be pointed out that it must be read according to the ordinary grammatical meaning of the words, and in view of the generally accepted custom and tradition of the Exercise. The intentions of its authors or of the people who voted for it are not to the point. It lays down that a peal of Minor shall 'consist of at least seven true and complete 720's.' That is quite plain. Now, Mr. Bankes James' Cambridge does not consist of seven true and complete 720's. Even if you count starting rounds and so reckon 720 true rows, the 720 is not complete. For a 720 is something more than 720 rows. It consists of so much hunting, dodging and place making, so many bobs and singles, and without these it cannot be complete. For instance, could you say that you had rung a complete 720 if the final bob or plain lead was not made? In the tower it is the work which matters above everything else, and if that is not complete the 720 is not complete.

Therefore, the resolution, if read according to the natural meaning of the words and in light of the custom and tradition of the Exercise, does not allow Mr. James' arrangement of Cambridge. And that is why I say that it does not express the intentions of the Council or of its authors.

Mr. Bankes James' composition is not made up of 720's. It consists of one true 720 and two blocks of 2,160. Each of these is made up of three incomplete 719's, no one of which can be brought round, and the three are joined together by one Q set. If you will turn to any 720 of Bob Minor (single, half-way and end), where the half-way is 43256, you will find an exactly similar composition. There the incomplete 719's are joined by Singles, and you will find the same construction in many old peals—Reeves' 13,440, for instance. The only difference is that Mr. James has used each of his 720 rows three times, and seeing that in a 5,040 each row must be repeated, he was thoroughly justified in doing so. If you want to see what the composition really is, apply the accepted rules of variation. You will speedily see that any idea that it can be considered to be in separate 720's, goes by the board at once.

The fact is that Mr. James has made a new departure in Minor composition. It is all in accordance with the natural development which is always going on in ringing. We should, I think, try and see what it involves and what good we can get out of it, rather than try and force it by an unnatural use of words into the old ideas. One thing I must say, and that is that it recognises to the full the principles of truth and completeness on which you and others rightly set such store. And so, too, does Mr. Morris' arrangement of Doubles.

And now let me ask you some plain questions. Are we, in preparing this new book, to abide by the resolution passed at Hereford and exclude Mr. James' Cambridge? Or are we to read it liberally and twist its plain words so as to admit it? And if we may so read it, why cannot we also admit Mr. Law James' London? Or must we wait until the Council has cleared up the mess? A leading ringer said to me, when we were in the middle of that other dispute about the names, 'Why don't you go ahead and use your own judgment and chance the result?' I said that I preferred the thing to be done legally if possible, and he only laughed. Would you like us to take his advice in this instance? I am not at all sure that it was not good advice, but 'even the Methods Committee' has some regard for the opinions and wishes of others.

I fully recognise Mr. Severn's abilities as a six-bell ringer and his right to speak on this matter, but I think he will find his answer in the fact that other six-bell ringers are increasingly using Mr. James' arrangement, and that shows that it does meet a need.

Mr. Willson is more funny (unintentionally) than convincing. He lectures me for presuming to say that we must assuredly admit Mr. James' arrangement (that being the opinion of the Central Council and probably the majority of the Exercise), and a few lines later he forgets his lecture and announces pontifically that we must not admit it.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

[As Mr. Trollope asks us a plain question, we would give a plain answer, and say that, if the Hereford resolution excludes Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge, then the committee should not include it in their new publication.—Ed. 'R.W.']

ORTHODOX OR UNORTHODOX.

Dear Sir,—It has always been declared, all through the history of change ringing, to

'Ring out the false,
Ring in the true,'

and rightly so. It is the bed rock, the very foundation of change ringing, and a beautiful ideal.

It may, perhaps, be true that circumstances and conditions are different to-day, as compared with those prevailing at the time of the commencement of our art. But the word true has the same, identical, unchanged meaning to-day.

In the course of our ordinary, usual ringing, when a change 'comes up' a second time, a change that has already been rung, the ringing ceases, as this repeating is not true. No ringer, participating in a peal, on hearing rounds 'come up,' will continue ringing, because something has happened which causes the changes to be untrue, and the untrue will not be countenanced.

Perhaps the proper word to use to describe the controversial peals of Doubles and Minor is 'unorthodox,' because these compositions are unusual, away from, out of, the ordinary.

The rounds rung at the 'pulling off' of the bells is not part of the peal composition, but the rounds at the conclusion is the last change. This final change, rounds, completes the peal. That is the orthodox. Therefore it is for the Central Council to say whether it will recognise orthodox and unorthodox, or only orthodox compositions, or draw a line and recognise certain unorthodox compositions, but refuse others.

I cannot see how the Central Council can refuse others, and if unorthodox compositions are accepted, it must tend to make our ringing unorthodox, unusual, out of the ordinary—yes, untrue.

But whatever rule is passed, it must be properly worded, and in the most detailed wording, with no possible loopholes for a carriage and four or chariots and horses.

Of course, if the Central Council does decide to fail to recognise unorthodox compositions, it does not necessarily follow that they will not be rung again, for the Central Council cannot forbid.

Mr. Trollope, in paragraph 2 of his letter, on page 59, says, 'It cannot be ruled out,' and in the last paragraph: 'If we can allow as we assuredly must allow.' Why 'must allow'? There is no must about it. If the Central Council chooses, it can rule it out.

How about an enterprising conductor, out for a fresh record, addressing the band about to start for a peal, in some such style as this: 'Now, my lads, when I call "Go," don't go off in the usual way, but ring so and so (say 46157836), which is the 2,753rd change of the composition, but don't get hurried when rounds "come up," but ring on to the 2,752nd change, and I will call "That's all." Rounds will "come up" in the middle.'

Would such a performance be countenanced as a peal? It is not enough to say, 'Oh, rats,' or something like that, which does not answer the question. Shall we call it a peal?

It behoves us all, as true change ringers, to see to it that nothing is done to damage this foundation of our art, but ever continue to

Ring out the false,
Ring in the true.

Referring to the word 'change,' has it not been given out by Mr. Trollope in articles in 'The Ringing World' that a change is not a row, but that which takes place between the rows?

In my humble opinion, an excellent point of view is expressed in the latter part of paragraph 4 of Mr. Trollope's article on page 59, which tends to show that the suit (the row) is the change, and the change is not between the two suits (the two rows), which is merely the act of changing.—Yours sincerely,

F. W. RICHARDSON.

'NOT LEGAL TENDER.'

Sir,—As was to be expected from previous letters on the so-called extents of Doubles and Minor, I think our 'versatile journalist' of the Exercise. Mr. Willson, has very briefly and accurately described what these freak compositions really amount to, viz., clever, but 'not legal tender,' which I take it means 'counterfeit.'

This, surely, is sufficient to warrant these compositions be excluded from any performance as a peal record.—Yours, etc.,

GEORGE WILLIAMS.

ADHERE TO 'TRUTH.'

Sir,—Mr. Trollope's letter in your issue of January 25th is, from the point of view of the Exercise, a damaging one for the Central Council's reputation, to admit that six out of seven 720's are not true to the Council's ruling, and in the same sentence say we must admit it. Why must? You, Sir, in your leading article this week, say 'it is acceptable to the Exercise.' Admittedly that is so, but the Council's duty in regard to this matter is not to judge whether it is good or popular, but to adhere to truth in these matters, and once the Council gives way on that point to eminent composers or to popularity, the Exercise will lose its confidence in that body.

The next meeting of the Council will be an important one, as they will then have to decide whether they will maintain the standard of peals. May I suggest to Mr. Trollope, if he is thinking of sending in a resolution concerning this Minor question, to publish it your paper early enough, so that our 'solicitor' members can study it, in case they may be able to discover some hidden meaning which we ordinary ringers cannot see on the face of it.—Yours, etc.,

A. H. PULLING.

A FINE PIECE OF WORK.

Sir,—I never intended to join in the controversy re above, yet this week's 'R.W.' compels me. May I apologise for butting in. Mr. Severn says, 'Where is the value?' There is none, from my point of view, except to the conductor. I find in ringing peals of Minor the different bands I have met care not for the different 700's, but what a look should a 6-5 turn up! Recently we rang a peal of Surprise, and previous to the peal I warned the band to be prepared for a real surprise. This is the retort I got, 'Call the boys where you like, bring five-six up right way, and we will ring the method.' With Mr. Willson's remark, 'not legal tender,' I agree, but all the same it is a fine piece of work of the Rev. E. B. James. If ever I call this peal I shall, however, call the W.R.W. first. This, I contend, would be the true 720 first, the other six would naturally finish as the composer's first six. Ringing is an art by itself. Let us keep it from the 'nasal twang' of notes in Court. I have rung seven complete, different 720's, with 5-6 the right way. I should say Mr. J. W. Parker knows how. Yet I wonder if this would be accepted from my pen?—Yours truly,

F. WARRINGTON.

Long Stanton.

'SCRAP THE LOT.'

Dear Sir,—I quite agree with your views regarding the Minor and Doubles. If E. B. James' Cambridge means the inclusion of H. L. James' London and the Doubles, I say, scrap the lot.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. BARBER.

Newcastle.

(Other letters are unavoidably held over.)

THE MINOR METHODS COLLECTION

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is proposed to give in the new book a large selection of five-bell methods, including some that (if judged by the standards of Minor and Major methods), would hardly be called regular. We are doing this, because the scope of five-bell ringing is so very limited. I should be glad if anybody who has the figures of any old method will send them to me with its old name. It is the names I am anxious to get.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

RINGERS FROM TWELVE YEARS OLD TO EIGHTY.

The annual meeting of the Presteigne District Branch of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, was held at Staunton-on-Arrow. After ringing and a service, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. S. Cornish Watkins, M.A.), tea was served in the Church Room, kindly provided by the Vicar and Mrs. Watkins. Twenty-three members were present, representing seven towers out of eight in the district. The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding.

The Secretary reported that combined practices had been held at Eardisland and Pembridge since the last meeting. In the past year seven combined practices had been held, with an average attendance of eight members, and three meetings with an average of twenty-five members. Three peals had been rung, and nine members had qualified for certificates. One tower had dropped out, and one rejoined.

The District Ringing Master (Mr. W. Evans, Lyonsall) and the district secretary (Mr. J. Preece, Staunton-on-Arrow) were re-elected.

Two new members from Kington and six from Dilwyn were elected for 1929.

It was decided to hold a combined practice at Kington in February, and the next quarterly meeting at Dilwyn in April.

The district includes ringing members whose ages range from twelve to eighty. The Vicar of Kington (Rev. H. Greene) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and Mrs. Watkins for their kindness, also to Mr. Evans, a young ringer of Eardisland, who ably presided at the organ.

The tower was again visited, and, other ringers having arrived, ringing was kept up until nine o'clock in the following methods. Grandsire, Canterbury Pleasure and Bob Doubles and Bob Minor.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the North and East District took place at Edmonton on Saturday last, and, in spite of the unkind elements, a large number of members attended. Ringing began almost punctually at 3 p.m., continuing until 5 p.m., when divine service was held. The Vicar (Rev. R. C. Evill) in his address gave the association a cordial welcome, and reminded the members of their services to God, which were most important services. He made sympathetic reference to the passing of George Paice, an old and valued member of the association and a ringer at Edmonton for some 25 years.

Tea was afterwards served in the Institute, a company of 50 sitting down to an excellent meal. The Vicar presided, being supported by Mr. E. A. Crusha (organist), Mr. J. Parker, the district officers, etc. It was a great pleasure to have amongst the company Mr. W. A. Cave (Bristol) and Mr. W. Lawrence (district hon. secretary, Herts Association).

At the business meeting the chair was taken by Mr. W. Pickworth. Reference was made to the absence, through illness, of the president, and the secretary was instructed to write to Mr. Milne conveying the sympathy of the members. A vote of sympathy was also accorded Mr. W. Dell, of Hadley, who is seriously ill.

A last tribute of respect was paid to the late Mr. G. Paice by the members standing in silence for a few moments.

The balance sheet, showing a credit balance of £22 17s. 7d., and assets to the value of £96 11s. 3d., was adopted, subject to audit, on the proposition of Mr. W. H. Oram, seconded by Mr. H. J. Eldred.—Twelve new members were admitted.

The whole of the district officers were re-elected, as also were the auditors and members of the Central Committee.—The next district meeting was fixed for Stamford Hill (St. Ann's) on March 16th, and Southgate was chosen for next year's annual meeting.

A discussion took place on the Spliced Minor and Doubles controversy.

Heartly votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. R. C. Evill for his address at the service and for the use of the bells; to Mr. E. A. Crusha, the organist; and to the local ringers, mentioning Mr. W. Bowden, for arrangements made.—The Vicar briefly acknowledged the thanks of the members, once again expressing his pleasure at the visit of the association. Mr. J. Parker, on behalf of the Edmonton band, also welcomed the members, and hoped the meeting had been enjoyed by all.

A well-struck course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, Messrs. G. W. Fletcher, G. H. Cross, G. R. Pye, W. Pye and J. Thomas. A course of Cambridge Surprise Major was also rung, Mr. C. W. Roberts taking part. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until 9 p.m. Most of the standard methods were rung, including four Surprise methods, which were rung separately and spliced together. An encouraging feature was the progress made by several of the younger members of the association, which it is to be hoped will continue.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED.

A practice meeting was held at Willesden on Tuesday, January 29th. A good attendance crowded the small belfry, and it was found difficult to slow away those not for the moment taking part in the ringing. During the evening the Rev. A. E. Smith visited the belfry for the purpose of unveiling a peal board recording the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major rung in the county. The Vicar expressed his deep appreciation of the honour done to Willesden by the ringing of such a peal, and congratulated the band on being successful. He was especially glad at the share taken in ringing the peal by members of his own band. The Vicar asked Mr. H. Kilby to unveil the board, which was done, revealing an excellently written record, done in gold lettering on a black background, of the peal.

Mr. C. T. Coles, in thanking the Vicar for his attendance, urged upon ringers present the necessity of perseverance. Only by this could they succeed, whether in easy methods, or in the kind of ringing which was recorded on the board just unveiled. Mr. Coles also expressed grateful thanks to Mr. Harry Kilby for presenting the board, and to Mr. J. Botham, a youthful member of the Willesden band, for so well writing the same.

A short touch of 224 changes in four Surprise methods was then rung by Messrs. E. Lankester, J. A. Trollope, G. M. Kilby, G. R. Pye, C. T. Coles, J. Bennett, H. Kilby, W. Pye (conductor), in the same order as they stood when the peal was rung.

Mr. W. Pickworth and Mr. N. A. Tomlinson ably looked after the ringing and saw that methods were rung to suit all present. Altogether a very pleasant and successful meeting.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Thursday, January 10th, at St. Marie's Church, Sheffield, members of the district companies met and rang various touches of Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, with the bells muffled, as a tribute of respect for the late Mrs. Dixon (wife of Mr. G. O. Dixon, a member of St. Marie's company), who was interred on that day. Mrs. Dixon died on Sunday, January 6th. Of a quiet and retiring disposition, she had, unfortunately, been a great sufferer for several years, having undergone severe operations. She leaves, in addition to her husband, a family of grown-up sons and daughters to mourn her demise.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.MR. C. H. JENNINGS RETURNS TO OFFICE IN DORCHESTER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Dorchester on Saturday week, and there was a fine attendance of members, representing Abbotsbury, Bradford-Feverell, Bere Regis, Charminster, Dorchester, Fordington, Wood, Wyke Regis, while welcomed visitors outside the branch were the Rev. C. A. Phillips (hon. secretary, East Dorset Branch), Messrs. A. V. Davis (Bournemouth), G. Preston (Christchurch), J. Davis and E. Townsend (Poole), W. Ingham (Parkstone), W. Cheater (Ringwood), and W. Bastable (Swanage).

The bells of Fordington and Dorchester were available during the afternoon and evening. Service in St. Peter's Church was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Dr. G. C. Niven), the Rev. C. A. Phillips read the lesson, and the Rev. J. Wynn-Wernick (Vicar of Sydling) gave an inspiring address. The service was fully choral, and was led by the choir.

Subsequently, tea was served in St. Peter's Institute, and at the business meeting which followed, the chair was taken by Mr. R. N. Dawes (chairman), supported by the Revs. Dr. G. C. Niven and C. A. Phillips, Messrs. J. T. Godwin (churchwarden), J. Benger (hon. secretary), and J. W. Smith (assistant hon. secretary), with members and friends to the number of 70.

The chairman welcomed them all, and especially their visitors, and he gave a hearty welcome to their old friend, the Rev. C. A. Phillips. He proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Dr. Niven for all he had done, to the choir and organist, to the ladies for waiting at the tables, and to all who had assisted in any way.—Dr. Niven, replying, said how much he welcomed them to St. Peter's. He thought at times the ringers were too much ignored, and he wished some people could be there that day to see what they had done and were capable of (applause). A letter of apology was received from the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry), who had had such a serious illness that the doctor and specialist almost gave up hope of his recovery. In his letter he said: 'The King and I have been running level all along, and now we are both on the mend but fearfully weak.' The Rev. F. L. Edwards (general secretary) also wrote. He said he had heard of the impending resignation of the hon. secretary, and they were greatly indebted to him for the businesslike way he had carried out his duties. The Rev. C. D. Job, Vicar, and Messrs. W. Williams (West Lulworth), Hewlett (Puddletown), Hunt (Buckland Newton), A. H. Drew (Brighton), the latter an old member of the branch, also sent apologies.

The Secretary, in his report, said three meetings had been held, and a great feature of the year was that 27 new members had been elected.

The balance sheet showed a balance in hand (including savings certificates) of £10 14s. 3d., which was considered very satisfactory.

Mr. R. N. Dawes was re-elected chairman of the branch, amid applause. In returning thanks, he said how gratifying it was to see so many young men come forward to take up ringing. He hoped this would continue. The Chairman stated Mr. Benger had written to him, sending in his resignation. Mr. Benger said he had increased work, and he did not think he was able to carry on, as it was very difficult for him to get away on Saturdays.—His resignation was received with regret.

At this juncture the chairman sprang a pleasant surprise on Mr. Benger by presenting him with a fountain pen, and asked him to accept it with their best wishes, as a slight recognition of the able manner in which he had carried out his duties. He hoped that every time he used it he would think of the happy occasions he had had with the branch (applause).—Mr. Benger was cordially received and thanked the chairman and members most sincerely. He said he would certainly do as the chairman had stated.

The Chairman said, on receiving Mr. Benger's resignation, they had to look round for another secretary, and they thought there was no one more energetic and suitable than their old secretary, Mr. C. H. Jennings, who had returned to his home (applause). He had great pleasure in proposing him for his old post, which he carried out from the formation of the branch until he went away.—Mr. Benger endorsed the chairman's remarks and seconded the proposition. No other nominations coming forward, the chairman put it to the meeting, and it was carried with applause.

Mr. Jennings thanked them all for the confidence they placed in him. It was true, as the chairman had said, that he was their first secretary on the formation of the branch, and carried it on for 13 years. He strongly appealed to the members for their support. He said it did not matter how energetic a secretary was, he could not make it a great success unless he had the co-operation of them all, and he appealed to them to do their very best.

Mr. G. T. White (Dorchester) was re-elected Ringing Master, and Mr. H. A. Runyard (Wool) was elected Deputy Ringing Master.

Messrs. K. Spier and J. Wescott (Charminster), A. Lovell and S. Symes (Sydling), and J. Gillingham (Frampton) were elected members.

The place of next meeting, Wyke Regis, was proposed, but Mr. A. Rose (captain) pointed out that July was much better for them, and it was agreed to hold the second quarterly meeting there, and the first quarterly gathering was left in the hands of the secretary to arrange.

Mr. Benger said how he would like to thank his assistant secretary, Mr. J. W. Smith, who had greatly helped him in the work of the branch.

The Rev. C. A. Phillips said he brought good wishes from East Dorset, and congratulated them on having Mr. Jennings as their hon. secretary again. He wished to thank him for the way he had assisted the East Dorset branch in their monthly practice in the higher methods, he not having missed one during the year. He also thanked Mr. C. Benger, who had also given them valuable help. He wished the branch all prosperity for 1929.

This concluded the business, and the two towers were again visited. Thanks to the help of the visitors, some fine touches were brought round, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Little Bob and Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the above was held at the beautiful church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Potterne, on Saturday, February 2nd (Feast of the Purification).

Ringing commenced about 3 p.m., and continued till 4.30 p.m., when the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Kewley, R.D., unveiled and dedicated a beautiful peal board, designed and made by Mr. George Wells, the cost of the lettering (which is done in gold leaf) being borne by Mr. C. S. Burden, a native of Potterne, and a respected member of St. Paul's Cathedral ringers and the College Youths. The board records a peal of Grandsire Doubles (5,040 changes) rung there by Potterne ringers on Thursday, October 2nd, 1924: Thomas Raddon treble, George Wells 2, Sidney Hillier 3, Charles S. Burden 4, Cecil Raddon 5, William Mead and Leonard Swift tenor. Conducted by S. Hillier.

After the dedication, at the request of Canon Kewley, those present stood in silence in memory of Thomas Raddon and William Mead, who have passed away since the peal was rung.

The Guild service followed in the church, conducted by Canon Kewley, Mrs. W. Hollaway being the organist, in consequence of the illness of Mrs. Kewley.

Tea followed in the Parish Room, after which a short business meeting was held. Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, chairman of the branch, presiding. He thanked Canon Kewley for the reverent manner in which he had unveiled and dedicated the board, and said it made a great deal of difference to the ringers. He also referred to the death of Mr. J. C. Day, of Warminster, churchwarden of the Minster, who, although not a ringer, took a great interest in the bells and the ringers of Warminster, and welcomed the branch when the meetings were held there.—Those present stood in silence.

It may be interesting to state here that the last public duty the late Mr. Day performed in connection with the church was to attend the annual meeting of the Warminster ringers the Wednesday before his death, which occurred on the following Friday.

Several new members were elected, and, on the motion of the chairman, a vote of thanks was passed to Canon Kewley for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the organist and those who prepared the tea.

Canon Kewley, in his reply, regretted the absence of Mrs. Kewley, and suggested the advisability of getting a proper form of service suitable for the dedication of peal boards.

A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on Mr. Hillier's handbells by E. F. White, C. D. Heginbotham, S. Hillier and E. Green, followed by some Grandsire Doubles by the three last-named.

The ringers returned to the tower, and ringing continued till about 8 p.m. The following towers were represented: Devizes, St. John's and St. Mary's, Potterne, Bratton, Bradford-on-Avon, Bishop's Cannings, Holt, Molksham, Rowde and Warminster.

Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening. In spite of the wet weather, a very pleasant time was spent.

A BRIGHTON GATHERING.

A party of about twenty spent a very enjoyable evening at Brighton on Wednesday, January 23rd, when the St. Nicholas' ringers held their annual dinner and musical evening at the Pavilion Restaurant, which was presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Collinson), who was supported by his churchwardens.

The Vicar, in replying to a toast proposed by Mr. F. Bennett (captain of the band), remarked how pleased he was to be able to be with them, and how he appreciated the efforts of the bellringers, and congratulated them on the increased strength of the band.

Mr. R. Hoather, who, unfortunately, met with an accident, and is at present lying at the Royal Sussex County Hospital, was the only member of the band absent, but he was not forgotten, although unable to be present. Good wishes for his speedy recovery were expressed, and the secretary was asked to send him a letter to this effect.

With Mr. Marsh at the piano, songs, etc., were rendered by Messrs. Bleach, Burchett, Coard, Hart and Dawe, while a few touches on the handbells by Mrs. Hairs, Messrs. Bennett, Drew and Hairs, made the evening go with a swing, only to come to a close too quickly with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN KENT RINGER.

It is with deep regret we have to record the death of Mr. A. C. Winsor ('Charlie'), a ringer well known in Kent circles, more especially in the Rochester District, who had been attached to the Frindsbury tower for upwards of 40 years, and was also one of the band at Rochester Cathedral.

The late Mr. Winsor had been ailing for the past four months, and passed peacefully away on Sunday morning, January 20th, at the age of 56.

The interment took place at Chatham Cemetery on Saturday, January 26th, when, singularly enough, a meeting of the Rochester District was held at Mr. Winsor's home tower at Frindsbury, and, consequently, the bells were rung half-muffled.

In addition to the family mourners, the Kent Association was represented by the following members of Rochester District: Messrs. W. Haigh and W. Spice (district representatives), F. M. Mitchell (district secretary), E. A. G. Allen, C. J. Norris, W. Easter, F. Belsey, H. Springate, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Spice, R. Smith, W. Walker, C. M. Mitchell, V. A. Jarrett, S. Jarrett and others. The curate of Frindsbury was the officiating clergyman, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar.

After the committal service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by Messrs. E. A. G. Allen, W. Haigh, W. Easter and C. Norris.

His fellow-ringers at Rochester Cathedral and Frindsbury sent beautiful floral tributes.

The passing of the late Mr. Winsor leaves a gap in the association's ranks which it will be hard to fill. A member of the Kent Association for nearly 40 years, he always took great interest in the business of the association, and it was very rare he missed a district meeting. By his cheery disposition he endeared himself to all his fellow-ringers. As a ringer he was always willing to give his assistance, whether in a peal attempt or helping a struggling band of 'youngsters.'

The late Mr. Winsor commenced his ringing career at Frindsbury at the age of 14, and he has been continuously attached to that tower until his death. He rang his first peal (Kent Treble Bob Major) at Gravesend on April 26th, 1901, and his last at Frindsbury on October 20th, 1928.

His complete list of peals, as far as is known, was: Kent Treble Bob Major 17 (conducted 2), Oxford Treble Bob Major 5, Stedman Triples 18, Double Norwich Major 18, Grandsire Triples 4, Victory Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 3, Stedman Caters 7, Kent Treble Bob Royal 3, Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1, Bob Major 3; total, 78 (conducted 2).

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN BRANCH CREATE A RECORD.

A very successful meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Oldbury on Saturday, January 19th. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Harrison), and the association form was used. The Vicar, instead of the usual address, gave a very homely talk on how pleasant it was to be in each other's company.

Tea was served in the schools, and the business meeting which followed was presided over by the Vicar, who was supported by Messrs. Hall and Allsop (churchwardens), Mr. C. Skidmore (Ringing Master of the Northern Branch), and Mr. A. J. Skelding (branch secretary).

It would not be unfair to say that a record was set up by the Branch in electing three whole companies of ringers, namely Oldbury, Bowdley and Chaddeley Corbett, who, with individual ringers from other towers, made up a total of 40 performing members and 6 honorary members. Instructors were also applied for for these towers.

The Secretary stated that at the opening of Bowdley bells in September of last year, and through the assistance of Mr. J. Broad, he had had a talk with the Rector of Bowdley, who said he would be very pleased to have the branch at Bowdley for the June meeting.

It was unanimously decided, on the proposal of Mr. T. J. Salter, to accept the Rector's invitation.

The Secretary made reference to the death of Mr. J. W. Smith, and mentioned that, although not a member of the association at the time of his tragic death, Mr. Smith had been a very old member of the association. At the Secretary's suggestion, it was decided that he should personally convey the association's deepest sympathy to Mrs. Smith.

Mr. A. E. Parsons moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Oldbury for the use of the bells, and for arranging the service, to all those who had provided such a splendid tea, and to the ladies who had so kindly waited upon them. He coupled with it the names of Mr. and Mrs. Hadley, who, he said, had given of their best to make the meeting such a huge success.—The Vicar, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, said he hoped that he would have the pleasure of the members' company again in the near future. His ringers had become very keen, and he thought with an instructor they would soon make rapid progress.—The Vicar then moved a vote of thanks to the secretary for his work, and this was carried unanimously, the Secretary briefly replying.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT TO HOLD MORE MEETINGS.

The members of the Southern District of the Surrey Association held their annual general meeting at Charlwood on Saturday week. Over 40 members from Reigate, Redhill, Betchworth, Buckland, Burstow, Merstham, Horley, Charlwood, Godstone, Oxted, Limpsfield Chart met at 3.30 p.m. and rang various touches. A service was held in the church, and a short address was given by Rev. W. Grainger Thompson. Mr. H. Bashford kindly presided at the organ.

Tea was provided at the Half Moon, after which the business meeting was held. The Rev. W. G. Thompson was elected to the chair. Mr. Maurice A. Northover referred to the loss the association had sustained through the death of Mr. F. H. Beaumont, of Buckland Court. He said that Mr. Beaumont was loved and respected by all who knew him, and not only would his passing be felt by the Surrey Association, but by the village of Buckland and many organisations throughout the county. The Buckland Society had lost a true friend.—The members present stood in respect of his memory.

The committee recommended that six meetings, including the annual general meeting, be held annually, instead of four as in the past, and that the remaining five meetings be held at Leigh, Limpsfield Chart, Betchworth, Kingswood and Redhill, subject to it being possible to carry out the necessary arrangements.—This recommendation was adopted.

It was decided to hold the next annual general meeting at Godstone. The next quarterly peal is to be attempted at Buckland, the method to be seven Minor methods, and to be conducted by Mr. L. Tidy.

Mr. George F. Hoad, of Reigate, was re-elected as Master of the district for the ensuing year, Mr. Alfred Bull, of Horley, was re-elected hon. secretary, Mr. Maurice A. Northover, of Reigate, was re-elected hon. treasurer, Messrs. D. K. Burt, H. Hooper and L. Tidy were elected on the committee, and Mr. A. Gear was re-elected as auditor.

Mr. Bull, the hon. secretary, submitted the annual report, which was adopted. Twenty-seven new members had been elected during the past year.

Mr. Northover, hon. treasurer, presented the balance sheet for 1928, which showed a satisfactory balance. This was received and adopted.—Messrs. W. P. Pooley, W. Slaughter, G. Woodman and R. Jenkins were elected members.

Rev. W. G. Thompson was thanked for presiding at the meeting, and for addressing the members at the service. A vote of thanks was then accorded to the secretary for his untiring efforts during the past year. At the conclusion of the meeting, ringing was resumed, methods from Grandsire to London Surprise being rung.

COALBROOKDALE RINGERS' DINNER.

The Coalbrookdale Society held their third annual dinner at the Coalbrookdale Inn on January 19th. The Vicar (the Rev. T. Eland) presided, and was supported by Messrs. H. Hughes and F. Johnson, churchwardens. Alderman Walter Roberts and Councillor J. S. Barker, Messrs. A. E. Edwards, F. H. Fowler, T. Doughty, F. Francis, A. J. Garbett, N. Griffiths, H. Brown, W. Burd and W. Westbrook were amongst the visitors. Sixteen of the local ringers were present, and the sidesmen were represented by Mr. E. Johnson. The function was arranged by Mr. William Saunders (head ringer and towerkeeper), and an excellent meal was served by the host (Mr. E. Bailey), ably assisted by Miss Maund. After the loyal toasts had been duly honoured, Councillor Barker proposed 'The Church and State,' and extended a hearty welcome to the newly-appointed Vicar.—The Chairman very suitably responded.

'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. Fred Johnson, and Mr. T. Doughty replied.

Alderman W. Roberts submitted the toast of 'Continued prosperity to the Coalbrookdale ringers,' and Mr. W. Saunders suitably replied.

The health of 'The Chairman' was proposed by Mr. T. Doughty, and the Vicar responded very feelingly.

During the evening Mr. Saunders explained the origin of the function, and said its object was to promote a feeling of goodwill amongst all the ringers.

A musical programme was rendered during the evening by the following: Alderman Walter Roberts, Messrs. P. Reighway, A. A. Dennis, F. Aston, W. Harper, J. Bowen and F. Francis. Handbell selections were rendered by the Coalbrookdale ringers, and Mr. F. Fletcher was the accompanist. At the close of the evening the chairman referred to his predecessor, the Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe, and asked all present to drink to his health and success in his new parish at Morpeth, Northumberland. This was supported by Councillor Barker and Mr. T. Doughty.—The singing of the National Anthem brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

HYDE, CHESHIRE.—On Tuesday, January 29th, at St. George's Church, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major (1,280 changes) in 48 mins.: W. Shaw 1, A. Houghton 2, J. Brierley 3, H. Norgrove 4, J. Shaw 5, S. Bowker 6, T. Wilde (composer and conductor) 7, A. Hough 8. Rung on the eve of the 50th anniversary of Mr. James Shaw's first peal, which was rung on January 30th, 1879.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at Aldrington, a six-bell tower, on Saturday, January 26th, the number present being 21. After ringing in the afternoon, a short service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. T. Mogridge), who gave an excellent address. A capital tea was served in the Church Hall. The Rector took the chair at the business meeting which followed, and was supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman). Mr. Keith Hart kindly undertook the duties of the divisional secretary, Mr. Stone being unable to be present. Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, St. Nicholas', Brighton, were the new members elected; and the election of Mr. Alfred T. Greenwood, of Portsea, as a non-resident member, was confirmed.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and the hall for tea, for the service, for his address, and for presiding at the meeting, was carried, and acknowledged by the Rector.

A collection taken at the service, on behalf of the Benevolent Fund, amounted to 6s. 6d.

Ringling was again resumed, the methods including Cambridge and London Surprise Minor, several ringing their first plain course of the latter. The towers represented were Aldrington, St. Peter's and St. Nicholas' (Brighton), Seaford, Shoreham and Southover (Lewes).

THE 18 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

NO TAMPERING WITH 'TRUTH'!

Few questions which have been debated in the Exercise have stirred the interest of ringers so much as that at present under discussion regarding what shall be recognised as a true peal of Minor or Doubles. It is a matter which goes to the very heart of ringing, and, now that thinking ringers are seriously considering the subject, there is a growing volume of feeling that nothing must be done to tamper with the old standards of truth in composition, and even the Rev. E. Banks James' arrangement of Cambridge Surprise Minor is threatened with repudiation, in the determination to exclude from recognition such arrangements as the Rev. H. Law James' London Surprise Minor and Mr. Morris' Grandsire Doubles. Those who have been endeavouring to justify the two latter have certainly done a disservice to the former, and it is a little difficult to know where some of them stand. For instance, Mr. Trollope, in 'The Ringing World' of December 14th last, said the 720's in the Rev. E. B. James' arrangement of Cambridge 'are all true'; in our issue of January 25th he said that this arrangement 'contains six false and incomplete 720's.' Which statement does he wish the Exercise to accept? In a letter in another column the Rev. H. Law James challenges Mr. Severn's assertion that the 720's are false and calls upon him to substantiate or withdraw the allegation. How does Mr. Trollope stand in this matter?

Again, those writers who are so anxious to read into the Hereford resolution something which is certainly not apparent on the face of it, are endeavouring to persuade the Exercise that they alone know what the Council intended. Thus we have the Rev. H. Law James persisting in the view that the resolution means, not what it says, viz., 'seven true and complete 720's,' but seven differently constructed 720's. In this definition of a peal of Minor the word 'seven' is used, we take it, with the same meaning that it has always been used since the Council defined a peal of Minor; it is used in conjunction with the words 'at least' to indicate that any number of 720's less than seven do not constitute a peal. It ought not to have been necessary to emphasise a point like this, but the argument that only by an arrangement of seven different 720's could a peal of London Surprise Minor be got, which would comply with the Hereford resolution, shows the shifts to which members of the Methods Committee are reduced to justify the views which have been put forward. Mr. James would hardly contend that in the corresponding resolution relating to Doubles the 'forty-two' means that number of differently constructed six-scores.

Then the Rev. E. S. Powell suggests that the Hereford resolution was pushed through a jaded Council at the end of a tiring day; as if the matter were sprung upon them and they were mentally so exhausted that they were unable to grasp the issues. Mr. Powell's implication is entirely misleading, for, as everyone interested in the proceedings of the Council knows, the exact words of the resolution were published three months before the meeting, and it was actually discussed at a number of association meetings up and down the country. The majority of the Council was, at all events, wide awake enough to know what it intended, although some of the Methods Committee may have been so nearly asleep that it took them six months and the shock of an article in 'The Ringing World' to come to the conclusion that the resolution did not represent the intentions of the Council.

Non-Conducted.

This peal was not conducted, but it is not claimed as strictly silent, and there was no witness. It was rung to celebrate the jubilee of the above Guild, which was founded on February 4th, 1879.

KING'S NORTON GUILD.

The King's Norton Guild spent a very pleasant evening on Saturday, February 2nd, as the guests of their late Ringing Master, Mr. F. B. Yates. The company, which included Messrs. F. J. Smallwood (Derby) and Albert Walker and James George (Birmingham), sat down to an excellent dinner of Christmas fare at the Bull's Head, King's Norton. After dinner, and the loyal toast had been enthusiastically received, the ringers settled down to a very enjoyable programme of music and handbell ringing. Songs were capitally rendered by Messrs. A. S. Downes, W. Dowling and Harry Withers. The host gave the toast of 'The Guild,' and expressed his regret that he had been obliged to resign from the position of Ringing Master. He should, however, continue to support the interests of the Guild and join the ringers in the tower as often as possible in the future. He regretted the absence from the gathering of Mr. P. O. Laffin, through illness, and expressed the indebtedness of the Guild to Mr. Laffin for the excellent work he had done for it in the past. He hoped he would speedily recover, and be back amongst them again soon. He expressed his confidence in his successor, Mr. Chas. Webb, and congratulated him upon his appointment as Ringing Master.

Mr. Smallwood supported the remarks of Mr. Yates, and wished the Guild every success.

Mr. Webb, in replying, pointed out that the future of the Guild depended very much upon what the members made it.

Mr. Spencer proposed the chairman's health. This was supported by Mr. A. Walker, and received with musical honours.

All those who contributed to the evening's enjoyment acquitted themselves well, but special mention must be made of the redoubtable Mr. Harry Withers, who, in addition to playing several touches in ringing methods on the piano, produced a whistle and 'rendered' items in a style which astonished the company and produced much mirth. It is a far cry from the playing of a whistle to a performance on a carillon, but Mr. Withers appears to be able to completely fill the space.

One very pleasing incident during the evening was the toast of 'The Ringing World' at 9 p.m., by Mr. Albert Walker, who said that the Editor would be raising his glass at that moment to all the ringers then assembled together.

Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem brought to a conclusion a most enjoyable and successful gathering.

METROPOLITAN POLICE GUILD.

At the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, for morning service, on Sunday, January 27th, 720 Grandsire Doubles, with 4-6-8 covering: P.C. Wilkinson 1, P.S. Schleuter 2, Inspector Bottrill (conductor) 3, H. Spink 4, P.C. Digby 5, J. Ridpath (churchwarden) (first 720) 6, P.C. Davis 7, P.C. Stapleton (first 720) 8.

This tower is now the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police Guild of Change Ringers, who hope to instruct the local ringers in method ringing, as only call changes have been rung here for many years.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO THE HON. TREASURER.

The annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Far Headingley, Leeds, on Saturday, January 26th. The day's proceedings commenced with the audit in the Church Schools, by Messrs. G. B. S. Webb and G. Noble. The day being exceptionally fine, a large number of visitors arrived to take advantage of the ring of eight at St. Chad's and the ring of eight in the neighbouring tower of St. Michael's Church. The annual service took place in St. Chad's Church; previous to which Mr. H. Percy Richardson gave a recital on the splendid organ, which was much appreciated. The sermon was preached by the Vicar of Headingley (Rev. Canon R. H. Malden). Taking as his text 1 Cor. x. 31, the preacher stated that the ringing of bells was a Christian thing. All art was born of religion, and bellringing existed for religion. There was sometimes a danger of that link being forgotten, as some who rang seldom, if ever, entered the House of God. Such ringing must be regarded as hypocritical, and any such ringers must have forgotten the words of the text. It would seem that more was thought of self-glory than the glory of God. This outlook on life, where it existed, was wrong, and the art should be actuated by the desire to serve religion.

Tea was served in St. Chad's Schools, and (as is the custom) many more visitors required tea than those who had ordered it, to the embarrassment of the providers.

The business meeting followed immediately afterwards, with the president (Mr. R. C. C. Marshall) in the chair, he being supported by Mr. Raymond Hepper and the principal officers of the association. Apologies for non-attendance were received from Messrs. J. H. Blakiston, J. W. Addison and T. Cole.

In proposing the acceptance of the annual report of the committee, the President called attention to the attendance at the Snowdon dinner, and urged members to make an effort to attend that function in future. Attention was also drawn to a resolution by the general committee, 'That as the peal of Liversedge Spliced Treble Bob, rung at Liversedge on February 4th, does not comply with the rulings of the Central Council, in that Bob Major lead-ends are not produced, nor is it possible to ring a plain course in the method, it does not desire a repetition of this performance, and it requests all members to respect the rulings and decisions of the Central Council when contemplating the ringing of a peal in any method.'

Opportunity was taken of congratulating Mr. J. Broadley on having rung 331 peals for the association, this being the highest number rung by any member resident in the county.

The President, in moving a vote of condolence to the widow of the late Mr. Henry Williams, of Headingley, paid a warm tribute to the deceased, who had served the association in turn as general committee man, trustee and general secretary.—This vote was carried by the members rising in silence.

The balance sheet was carried, on the motion of Mr. B. G. S. Webb, seconded by Mr. W. Barton, and the auditors were thanked for their services on the motion of the president, seconded by Mr. Cotterell.

Opportunity was taken at this meeting to mark the completion of twenty-one years of office as hon. general treasurer by Mr. James Cotterell, and he was presented with a gold watch as a token of the regard and esteem of the members. In making the presentation, the President thanked Mr. Cotterell for his many valued services, and conveyed the good wishes of the association to him, trusting that he would be spared for many years to continue in the post he has filled so long and honourably.—Mr. Cotterell made an eloquent reply.

It was moved by Mr. J. Wooler, seconded by Mr. W. O. Talbot, that a meeting be arranged if possible at Whitby on Easter Monday. A vote of thanks to the Vicar of Far Headingley and wardens, also to the preacher and organist, was moved by Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. C. D. Potter, this motion including a vote to the Rev. Canon R. H. Malden for his sermon, and to the wardens of Headingley for kindly granting the use of the bells.

A vote of thanks to the local company, and the ladies who waited at the tea tables, was responded to by Mr. G. E. Lawson, who gave a warm welcome to the association.

It was moved by the President, and seconded by Mr. G. Lewis, that Mr. Raymond Hepper be elected an honorary member, and on this being agreed to, Mr. Hepper made a most interesting speech.—Messrs. J. Smith, W. E. Townend, F. Alderson, W. Hick, F. West and the full band at Marsden, were elected as members of the association, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman, who occupies the dual offices of Vicar of Far Headingley and the president of the Yorkshire Association. Thus ended a most pleasant day and meeting, train time calling a halt eventually to all the ringing activities.

A BIRTHDAY COMPLIMENT.

At Lavenham, Suffolk, on Sunday, January 13th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 48 mins.: A. Symonds 1, W. R. J. Poulson 2, W. Fayers 3, F. F. Mortlock 4, M. Symonds 5, S. H. Symonds (conductor) 6, F. A. Poulson 7, F. A. Turner 8. This quarter-peal is the composition of the editor of 'The Ringing World' (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), and was rung as a birthday compliment to him, the band wishing him many happy returns.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.READING BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Reading on Saturday, February 2nd. During the afternoon touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, and Grandsire Caters were rung on the bells of St. Lawrence's and St. Giles'. A service was held at St. Giles' Church, conducted by the Rev. E. Sheppard and the Rev. F. Phillips. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild) gave the address, his text being, 'Let us wait on our ministering' (Rom. xii. 7).

A splendid tea was then served at the Silver Street Hall, a company of 55 sitting down, members being present from most of the towers in the branch, together with the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer), Mr. L. Joyce (branch chairman), Mr. W. S. Pearton, the Rev. St. George Edwards, the Rev. H. G. Harding, and visitors from Faringdon, Hillingdon, Newbury and Bucklebury.

The business meeting and election of officers followed. Mr. L. Joyce was elected chairman with acclamation. The balance sheet was read and adopted, and the secretary's report showed it had once more been a successful year, there being an increase in hon. and ordinary members, and an increased balance. The quarterly meetings held during the year, too, had been successful.

The Master spoke of the restorations which had taken place in the branch during the year, namely, Henley, Nettlebed, and St. Mary's, Reading.

The hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Hopgood) was then re-elected, and Messrs. Wiggins and Foster were elected auditors. The general committee, Messrs. W. Appleby, H. Tucker and J. Swain, were re-elected.

The quarterly meetings for 1929 were arranged for Shiplake, Nettlebed and Henley.

Satisfactory tower reports were given from most of the foremen of the branch.

Thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the Rev. Canon F. J. C. Gillmor, R.D., and the organist, Mr. P. R. Scrivenor, F.R.C.O., of St. Giles', for the beautiful service which was rendered.

An impromptu concert followed. Miss Peggy Pocock sang delightfully, accompanied by her sister, Miss Vera Pocock. Messrs. Fordery and Gash also entertained with songs, and Miss D. Ford with recitations. Humorous stories were enjoyed from Messrs. Curtis, Gash, and Hopgood.

The meeting concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

DEVON GUILD.

The spring quarterly meeting of the Exeter Branch was held at Newton St. Cyres on February 9th, about 80 members being present, including representatives from 15 bands in union, several honorary members, and visitors from other branches. The service in church, at which the Vicar, the Rev. J. E. B. Ball, officiated and gave a most inspiring address, was followed by a tea and business meeting, the Rev. E. V. Cox presiding.

Six change ringing certificates were presented by Mrs. Powell, wife of the president, and three new associate members were elected to the branch. The date of the autumn meeting was fixed for September 7th, at Kenn.

Parties visited the towers of Newton St. Cyres and Upton Pyne, where the use of the bells was much appreciated.

LADIES' GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern District was held on Saturday, January 26th, at Worksop, Notts, and although the weather was exceptionally favourable the attendance was very poor. Consequently the quality of the ringing left much to be desired, the methods being limited to Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. A splendid tea was provided in the old Gate House, which stands at the entrance to the grounds of the Priory.

After the tea, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, the business meeting took place, the Vicar's wife, Mrs. D'Arcy, presiding.

A decision regarding the design and inscription of the peal tablet which is to be placed in Handsworth belfry commemorating the first peal of Major ever rung by ladies, was subsequently arrived at, and the work is to be started at once. The subscription list still remains open, as the necessary amount is not yet forthcoming, and donations, however small, will be very gratefully acknowledged.

Duffield was suggested for the next meeting, and the date fixed for April 14th, when it is hoped all members will endeavour to attend.

Votes of thanks were extended to Canon D'Arcy for the use of the bells, to his wife for taking the chair, and to those responsible for providing such an excellent tea, credit for this being chiefly due to Mrs. Scott, of Rotherham, who had personally undertaken the catering.

All those present then attended the short evensong, and before going back to the belfry stayed to inspect the glories of the magnificent old Priory Church, which is a splendid specimen of Norman architecture, dated 1103 A.D. Further ringing took place in the evening, and brought an enjoyable meeting to a close.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

One hundred and forty years ago to-morrow, St. Martin's Youths, Birmingham, rang a peal of 14,224 Bob Major at Aston in 8 hrs. 45 mins.

London lost a ring of twelve bells on February 17th, 1836, when a destructive fire occurred at Christ Church, Spitalfields.

The old Society of Trinity Youths, now defunct as an organisation, but some of whose members are still to be found, rang their first peal, which was Grandsire Triples, at St. Nicholas', Deptford, on February 18th, 1782.

The first peal of College Single Major was rung 40 years ago next Monday at Warnham, Sussex.

Henry Haley, one of London's greatest ringers, was born on February 19th, 1819. He did many brilliant things, including composing and conducting the first peal of Stedman Cinques rung on handbells. Altogether he rang 182 peals, of which he conducted 155 and composed 105. He was the first to utilise in a peal composition the 'handstroke' position in Stedman Caters.

The first 'silent' peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells was rung at Leicester on February 21st, 1903.

The sender of a report of a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Moorside, Oldham, on February 2nd, has omitted the number of changes.

JUBILEE OF THE CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD.

The Cambridge University Guild celebrated its 50th birthday on February 4th, having been founded on that date in 1879.

Owing to the unfortunate death of the Rev. H. B. Woolley, one of the Guild's oldest members and firmest friends, it was decided to postpone the jubilee celebrations till September, when the Guild will be holding its annual tour in the Cambridge district.

The occasion was, however, celebrated by a non-conducted peal of Bob Royal, which was rung on handbells in the rooms of the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, president of the Guild, in Trinity College, on the evening preceding the jubilee day (as reported elsewhere in this issue).

PARSON WHO 'LOATHES' CHURCH BELLS.

St. Michael's Church, Derby, has no bell, but the Cathedral Church on one side and St. Alkmund's on the other each possesses a peal. The ringing of the bells apparently interfered with the parochial meeting at St. Michael's, and the Vicar, the Rev. C. A. Page, made the following outburst:—

'Personally I absolutely loathe church bells. They are like a red rag to a bull to me. They are a mere row—no music at all.'

'I always class three things together—church bells, Scottish bagpipes and cats at night. I do not know which is the worst.'

'I often wish that campanologists were made to camp on Salisbury Plain and stay there.'

We have to thank a great many correspondents for sending us copies of the above, and regret we cannot print all the comments which we have received thereon.

One writer, however, asks what Mr. Page is going to do about his future destination. 'There may be bells in heaven,' he says; 'in the other place there would be no risk of hearing them—the temperature would melt them.'

DEATH OF ANOTHER SUSSEX PIONEER.

Another old pioneer of ringing in Sussex passed away on January 30th, in the person of William Palmer, who was for about 40 years a member of the St. Nicholas' Society, Brighton, and for some 35 years of that period was captain and steeplekeeper. In early life he was a sailor, but settling in Brighton he joined the St. Nicholas' Society, and in company with the late James Searle, John Jay, G. F. Attree, Harry Weston and others, laid the foundation of change ringing in Brighton. He joined the Sussex Association at its start in 1885. He kept no record of his peals, but he rang about 170 altogether. An excellent treble ringer, he rang that bell to a large number of Surprise peals in and around Brighton. Through ill-health he gave up ringing about three years ago, and about two years ago had, under the doctor's orders, to give up work. Though well provided for, to walk about doing nothing was more than 'old Bill' could stand, and he had to be taken to the Mental Hospital, at Haywards Heath, where he died, and was buried on February 2nd. Thus passes another veteran, highly respected by all who knew him.

A FALSE PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have been informed by the composer, Mr. A. Knights, that a peal of 5,728 Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Willesden by members of the Middlesex County Association on January 10th, 1925, is false. This peal is therefore being withdrawn from records. I had expected this to be notified by the conductor, Mr. J. E. Sykes, but it is possible that he is away from home.—Yours faithfully,

G. T. COLES,
Joint Hon. Sec.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES. CONSTRUCTION OF LONDON MINOR GROUP.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The Ringing World of February 1st contains a leading article, a letter from Mr. Parker and another from Mr. Severn, which show the writers have not yet understood my position.

About 35 months ago someone wrote and asked me for seven 720's of London Minor in which 5-6 never come up the wrong way about at the back. Under the old definition this is impossible; there are only four 720's which will do so.

When the motion was moved at Hereford, I seconded it, because I could see that it would enable us to get a real peal of London Minor containing this very important condition. That answers Mr. Severn's question.

Mr. Parker publishes what he calls a mixed 5,040 of London Minor, which he states contains four extents having the tenor called WRW, but this is impossible. There can be only one extent in which the tenor is called WRW, and there is only one in which the 5th is called RWR, and so Mr. Parker's arrangement does not satisfy the condition.

To satisfy the definition as passed at Hereford we must have seven 720's, not one repeated seven times.

Here are the four old ones which keep 5-6 the right way about behind:—

There are five more which also keep 5-6 right, and I select the following three:—

Q sets.	Q sets.	23
23 34	23 34	24
25 45	26 46

Now E and F have 18 bobs in each, but they fall into three separate round blocks. G has 9 bobs and falls into two three-part round blocks.

We introduce one of these round blocks into E and the other into F, and obtain two round blocks containing three true and complete 720's. The Q sets of each are differently treated. Thus we get the seven:—

56423.2	56423.2
62345.3 E	34562.1
53624.1	25346.1
46532.1	54632.3
63254.3	26543.1.G
42635.1	52643.5.H
56423.1	36524.1.F
	34256.1.P

Finally, Mr. Severn states that my brother's seven 720's of Cambridge are all false.

It is very easy to make false statements, and Mr. Severn must either withdraw this statement or prove it true, and this he cannot do.

H. LAW JAMES.

AGREEMENT DESIRED.

Sir,—It is surely a little unreasonable on your part to cry out because you cannot eat your cake and keep it. As Mr. Trollope has already stated, the Methods Committee propose to insert in the new edition groups of 720's on the Bankes James' plan suitable for all 'Trebble Bob' methods as well as grouping, like those of his brother for London, etc., and also six-scores of Grandsire Doubles on the lines indicated in Mr. Atkins' letter in your issue of January 11th last.

The weight of opinion expressed in your correspondence columns during the past weeks is undoubtedly due to the effect that all these are excluded by the actual wording of the resolutions passed at Hereford. Some writers think that certain of the arrangements can get through the meshes, but most take the view that all are excluded.

At the same time there is a strong feeling (whether that of the majority, time alone can show) that some at least of them should be permitted. And if they are to be allowed I am convinced that the members of the Exercise would wish to have the recognised arrangements permanently available in the new collection. At the same time it would be obviously improper for the Methods Committee to issue groupings of 720's and six-scores which are not to be accepted for peal ringing purposes. As a committee, we are not interested either way. It is for the Central Council to lay down its policy, and then, whatever the decision, we shall carry it out.

But with all respect to you, sir, there is grave doubt at the moment as to what the real policy of the Council is. The resolutions themselves were passed somewhat hurriedly at the end of a long session, when the members were quite obviously tired. Moreover, the gentlemen responsible for bringing the matter up have spoken with diverse and even contradictory voices. Mr. J. W. Parker would insist on 720 different rows being rung, and then another 720 rung similarly, and so on, but is apparently indifferent as to how the seven groups are spliced together, but on no account would he accept spliced extents such as those in Mr. Atkins' letter. Your position in leading articles is somewhat similar, while Mr. Goldsmith, in proposing the resolutions at Hereford, stated categorically before the Council that they were intended to admit groupings on the plan mentioned by Mr. Atkins. Mr. Law James, who seconded the resolutions, published a few weeks later the composite London 720's, which are similar in principle to Mr. Atkins' 120's, and which Mr. Parker repudiates so strongly in your issue of February 1st. No one will imagine that Mr. James would have put these out had he then thought they were forbidden by a resolution which he himself had assisted in fathering.

Let me state once more that in a matter of this kind the intentions of those who proposed or voted on the resolutions is not the really important consideration. Committees of Guilds and Associations are bound to take the wording of resolutions as they stand and act on them, and not on the supposed intention of those who have legislated for them. And your correspondence goes to show that some associations would feel bound to reject all peals of Minor and Doubles in which the 720's and 120's are not in round blocks, while other associations would accept some and reject others.

As an Exercise we have got to make up our mind what we want and get it laid down in terms about which there can be no dispute.—Yours, etc.,

E. S. POWELL.

AN APPEAL FOR FIVE-BELL RINGERS.

Dear Sir,—When Mr. W. Willson objects to 'niceties of expression' and 'hair splitting' he forgets that these words describe his own letters. They are 'expressions of his disagreement with others,' and he 'splits' the differences of epithets to describe them, finally plumping for the term 'freak.' With this conclusion I thoroughly agree. But most developments in nature, as well as in art, have started with a freak. The first 'cross peal' must have appeared a freak to men who only knew 'plain changes,' and spliced ringing certainly seemed a freak at first. If we try to legislate against the possibility of freaks appearing, we shall bring about the sterility of death. We want our art to develop, and when freaks appear we want to test them thoroughly, to see if they can produce a healthy development.

Mr. Willson tells us that a splice makes what is joined stronger than before; but I would remind him that this does not apply to a splice that is bad or incomplete or imperfect. And it is because I am afraid that one of these terms applies to these splices, that I am not enamoured of them.

I should like to say how much I agree with all that Mr. Trollope has written on this matter, but, unfortunately, his last letter but one comes to a conclusion inconsistent with the former one; and as I have already expressed my agreement with the former letter I am now in somewhat of a difficulty. Before, we understood that those spliced arrangements were true but not complete. Now he says that such a peal is neither true, nor complete, nor an extent.

Let us see. Suppose we write out the six rows of the changes on three bells on six cards. Now these cards can be arranged in two orthodox ways, one of which would be a Stedman Quick Six, and the other a Slow Six (or you can call one a six in Even Movement, and the other in Odd).

But we could also arrange them in other ways, say, by drawing from a hat. Now each of these arrangements would be true, for obviously no row could be used twice. Also each would be an extent, for all the cards would be used. And if each is true and an extent, it does not seem possible to deny that each is complete. What is missing is not truth nor completeness, nor the extent, but something which perhaps may be better described as perfection. Really, it is a correct rhythm which is missing, but probably it would be best described by saying that these sixes are imperfect.

To say that they are unorthodox at present is begging the question, as the question is whether we are to allow them to be ranked as orthodox.

(Similar arguments, applying to splicing, could be used with arrangements of 12 cards, on which the six rows were written out twice over.)

With regard to Mr. Trollope's question as to what is to be done with regard to the Report, obviously he cannot get a definite answer from your columns. It is by no means certain that he would get an answer if he left it to the next Council meeting. The Council might well follow precedent, and say it is not a matter on which they were capable of deciding.

Would it not satisfy everyone if these arrangements were inserted in the Report, with a note saying that they are contrary to a decision of the Council, but seem worth recording?

(Similarly, would it not be possible to note that some call the 'Bob' method 'Plain,' and also to suggest an alternative to the two names which are still objected to.)

But what I should like to support with all the power I can is the cause of live-bell ringers. Think of it, having to ring the same old 120's week after week! I am glad to hear that a large number of new five-bell methods are to be published, and I hope that while we may be as rigid as we like on seven or more bells—nay, even (if you will) on six—yet let us give what relaxation we can of the rules, whether of methods or calling, for five-bell ringers.

HERBERT DRAKE.

SUGGESTION TO ASSOCIATIONS.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the discussion which is going on, as to whether the Central Council shall, or shall not, admit 'unorthodox' compositions of Doubles and Minor, I should like to bring again to the notice of all ringers the concluding part of your leading article in the issue of February 1st. Please print it again: 'If the bells in a peal on six bells are not to strike in 720, or on five bells in 120 different orders before beginning the next 720 or 120, then the accepted canons of peal ringing . . . will be scrapped.'

Surely that puts the whole thing as plain as a pike staff. And, as you remark again in your leader of January 11th, 'the Council and the Exercise . . . must decide the plain question, what is and what is not to be recognised as a true peal of Minor or Doubles.'

May I suggest, sir, that all district secretaries be asked to include this item on the agenda for discussion at their meetings between now and the next meeting of the Central Council, and take a vote on the question, so that the representatives (or delegates) they are sending to the Central Council meeting may know exactly the opinion of their members on the question, and vote accordingly. It might be put to them in some such form as follows: 'Is it your considered opinion that the Central Council should admit compositions of Minor and of Doubles in which the bells do not strike in 720 and 120 different orders respectively, before beginning the next 720 or 120? Yes or No.'—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT WHITTINGTON,

Guildford Diocesan Guild.

sue the bell founders for the value of the bells unlawfully taken possession of and broken up by them. I must, therefore, sanction a course of dealing of which I entirely disapprove. I have heard this case (though the petition in unopposed) in Court because it is a typical instance of what takes place too often in regard to our churches, and I would appeal to bell founders and to all concerned in contracting for Church work that they concern themselves not only with the gains but with the good order of the transaction and see that the proper sanction which alone makes it legal is given. I am sure that in so doing they will gain the esteem of the community at large and at the same time render good service to the Church.

THE RESTORATION OF CHURCH BELLS.

IMPORTANCE OF OBTAINING A FACULTY.

At a Consistory Court held at St. Paul's Cathedral, the Chancellor of the Diocese of London (Mr. F. H. L. Errington) heard a petition of the Vicar and churchwardens of the parish of St. James, Clerkenwell, for a faculty to confirm the removal of the bells from the church, and repairs to the organ, which had been carried out, without a faculty having first been obtained. It was stated that the bells had been broken up and were ready to be recast, after which it was intended to replace them in the church with whatever inscriptions they previously bore. There was no opposition to the petition.

Evidence was given by the Vicar (Rev. C. J. Parker), Mr. How (Vicar's churchwarden), and Mr. C. F. Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry.

THE JUDGMENT.

The Chancellor, in delivering judgment, said that sanction for a minor work in connection with the organ was also asked for, and this would be granted as a matter of course. Proceeding, the Chancellor said that the church was consecrated in 1792 with a peal of eight bells made by an old-established firm of bell makers, whose business is now carried on under the style of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel. He had no evidence that the bells were not a good average ring. In 1904, however, one bell cracked and was recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. No faculty was asked for or obtained. In 1924 the bells were in need of repair, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank reported that they were in such a condition that they must be either properly hung or left alone, and that the fittings needed renewal. At the end of January, 1925, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, were called in and were mainly responsible for what followed.

In February, 1925, they recommended various repairs, involving the removal of numerous fittings, and gave an estimate of £187, which included the removal of the bells to their works. Owing apparently to lack of funds nothing was done until July, 1928, when the matter was re-opened by the petitioners, and the same firm offered to do the repairs at the reduced price of £180. This quotation was accepted, and the bells were removed, no faculty being obtained.

On September 12th, 1928, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for the first time suggested the recasting of the bells. In a letter of that date they set out the advantages of the Five Tone Harmonic or Simpson principle of tuning. The retuning would involve the recasting of the bells, and they gave an estimate of £275 for the work, or, with certain improvements in weight and otherwise, £345. The estimate of £345 was accepted and a contract signed. According to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston this system of tuning was practised in the Netherlands 300 years ago, and had been lately rediscovered and improved. Opinion, however, was not unanimous on the advantages of this system. What was gained in tunefulness might be lost in power; and, however this might be, there was obviously a great difference between tuning the original bells in this fashion and breaking up and recasting an existing peal.

AN APPEAL TO BELL FOUNDERS.

Referring to the fact that no faculty had been applied for until after destruction of the bells, the Chancellor said: 'The interest in the preserving of old things which now happily exists has, owing to the more expert knowledge required; not yet spread to the bells; and they greatly need the protection of this Court. They are frequently taken away, mutilated by cutting off the canons and otherwise, and then put back without reference to the Court on the ground that these are mere repairs. This is, in fact, the excuse put forward by the incumbent in the present case. I desire to point out that when repairs amount really to a remaking of the object concerned or involve its removal from a church (I am not concerned, of course, with trifling matters) they require a faculty. The incumbent has in this case also pleaded ignorance, which I have to accept, though it is a source of constant surprise to me that many incumbents take so little pains to acquaint themselves with the rules relating to their temporary occupation of their churches. Such ignorance on the part of the churchwardens who are the officers of the Ordinary, is still less excusable.'

So far as concerns the bell founders, and having regard to their large connection with churches, they are, in my opinion, the worst offenders because they are ignoring that law in their own interest. Had the petitioners applied for a faculty in the usual way the matter would have been referred to the Advisory Committee, and the petitioners would without any expense have obtained an expert opinion as to the work to be done. On its coming before me I should have been able to exercise an informed discretion as to the best mode of carrying it out. But by the precipitate action of the petitioners, the Court has been deprived of all discretion.'

I cannot leave the church without its bells and I do not desire to adopt the alternative course of directing the churchwardens to

HOLT'S ORIGINAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Though my hand is still suffering from the attack which overtook me a month ago, I cannot refrain from trying to write a line to say how deeply interested I am in the historical question at present at issue regarding Holt's Original and other early compositions, and with what keenness I look forward to its unravelling. Both in Grandsire and Stedman I simply followed the lead of Mr. Jasper Snowden, and, with all others, am only too glad to welcome any additional light that can be shed upon it. Being a College Youth, I shall be sorry if we have to abandon our claim to its first performance with the conductor himself ringing, but truth is truth, and comes before all other considerations.—Yours truly,

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

ANCIENT RECORDS UNKNOWN TO SNOWDON.

Dear Sir,—As I was the one who showed to 'The Ringing World' who first called Holt's Original as well as ringing it, may I be allowed to answer Mr. Price's question? I claim that the 'Original' was first rung at Norwich by eight men only. 'The Norwich Mercury' gives the record of the peal and also describes the composition as 'having been rang in London and Stouham Aspal, but was rang by these men without a prompt.' The record also states 'that it was thought so intricate that no man could ring a bell and call the hobs.' It was again rung in Norwich a short time after. Mr. Price asks 'if the statement now claimed of there being two previous performances of this peal at Norwich and Saffron Walden is correct, how can it be explained that Snowden should have ignored them altogether?'

May I inform him that Mr. Snowden visited Norwich in 1877 or 1879, and got what information he could, but at that time the ringers at Norwich had lost sight of the performances and forgotten all about them. They did not know of their existence. If they had, when they reorganised their society (the Norwich Scholars) they would have included these two peals in their list of performances. In a copy of the rules of the Norwich Scholars in my possession, dated 1884, no mention is made of a peal being rung between 1737 and 1760, and for the information relating to the peals rung in 1760 and 1769 they relied on the Osborne MSS.

Between these dates the Norwich men rang a peal at King's Lynn in 1766, also 10,192 Bob Major in 1768, neither of which appears in the list of peals rung by the Norwich Scholars. Thus it is easily explained. The men that rang at Norwich did not know of these peals, and the records of them were brought to light and made known through the efforts of Mr. P. Sadler and Samuel Slater, who carefully searched all the East Anglian newspapers seeking for ringing history. Mr. Snowden did not know of the existence of these peal records. They were not brought to light until after his death.

On page 118 of his 'Grandsire' Mr. Snowden says from what source the College Youths got their information relating to the peal in 1689-90 he is unable to say, and that he believed that tradition was the only source to which this statement can now be traced. I have heard the question asked, 'Where did they get their information from?' and all the change ringing historians have up till now been unable to answer the question.

On page 118 of Snowden's 'Grandsire' the author states: 'As far as he is aware, there is no existing record of a true peal of 5,000 changes having been rung previous to the peal at Norwich in 1715.' I have not a record of one having been rung earlier.—Yours truly,

THEODORE E. SLATER.

Mr. Slater's letter, which was received after our leading article of last week was written, came to hand just too late for insertion in the last issue. It bears out our suggestion that Jasper Snowden was unaware of the existence of these records.—Ed. 'R.W.']

'REVISION OF HISTORY.'

Sir,—With reference to your leader under the above heading, everyone who has studied the numerous books by the late Jasper W. Snowden cannot fail to be astounded at the amount of research into history he made, spending—as he must have done—much time, money, and energy in personal investigation and patient enquiry. Indeed the Exercise owes a great debt to his memory, for undoubtedly he was one of the greatest historians. Yet even he could not hope to include all the earliest peals. Many of these records are lost for ever; many have come to light since his time; many may yet come to light.

I know of several peals of Triples, for instance, not shown in Snowden's 'Grandsire,' such as at Yarmouth 1728, Bungay 1732, Leicester 1730 and 1731, the latter record stating that 'a considerable wager was won thereupon by five minutes' (will Mr. W. Willson note this peal in his Leicester ringers' book, as I don't think this is shown, herein), Kettering 1730, when the ringers say 'which we think as great a performance as that of the Leicester Scholars.'

In Norwich, I am told, several ancient peal records have been found that even the Norwich men of later days were unaware of, even by tradition.

The numerous extracts from old newspapers made by the late Samuel Slater form a most valuable asset to ringing history, and have revealed many performances that would doubtless have been lost sight of or forgotten. I have—through the generosity of his son, Mr. Theodore E. Slater—been given certain copies and inspected others, many of which would have been unknown to Snowden.

I might add that I have recently undertaken to write a 'History of Change Ringing,' and during the past few weeks have been privileged to scan and take extracts from valuable MSS. and books, lent through the generosity of many ringing friends throughout the Exercise. As you, sir, are aware, my own researches and books on the subject are fairly extensive, yet even so, there are many ancient performances of which I am ignorant. Will you, therefore, allow me to appeal to any friends (especially in the North of England, where 'ancient' records seem few), who have, or know of, early performances or records of old societies, kindly to send me copies for inclusion in my forthcoming 'history'?—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST MORRIS.

PEALS OF TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I beg to give notice of my intention to invite a band of ringers to ring with me the following arrangement of Grandsire Triples, and in order to avoid subsequent controversy I wish to be assured beforehand that there will be no cavil made unreasonably afterwards against its being accepted as a peal. The ringing will start from handstroke instead of the usual backstroke, the first change being:

From this point the calling will be that given in Snowden's 'Grandsire,' page 113, the last row being '2164735.' This completes the peal of 5,040 true and complete rows, and as you have been good enough to inform us more than once, 5,040 true and complete changes. That it is not a round block is unfortunate, but it is inevitable on the plan proposed. It is, in fact, exactly similar in all respects to any individual 720 in Mr. Banks James' arrangement.—Yours, etc.,

E. S. POWELL.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting was held at Sandy on Saturday, February 9th, members being present from the following towers: Biggleswade, Roxton, Everton, Kempston, Bromham and Southill, Mr. J. Shephard, of Swindon, and the local company. At the meeting held after tea four new members were elected, and it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Eaton Socon on Saturday, February 23rd.

Some good touches were brought round during the afternoon and evening, the methods rung being Cambridge Surprise, College Exercise, Kent, Oxford and Woodbine Treble Bob, Oxford and Plain Bob.

The secretary wishes to thank all those present for coming on such a wet afternoon to help make the meeting the success it was. He would especially thank those from Kempston, who are a great help to the Biggleswade District.

BEDFORD DISTRICT SECRETARY RETIRES.

The annual meeting of the Bedford District was held in St. Peter's Church Hall on Saturday, February 2nd, about 30 members being present. The balance sheet for 1928 and the secretary's report were presented and accepted, and the following officers for 1929 were elected: Secretary, Mr. J. T. Newington; committee, Messrs. H. Gayton, H. Stapleton, H. Beard, H. Tyse and E. Freeman.

Messrs. Gayton and Stapleton were appointed to attend the association's annual committee meeting. One new member was also elected, and Sharnbrook was agreed upon as the next place of meeting on March 9th.

It was decided to hold monthly instead of quarterly meetings during the current year.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for the use of St. Peter's bells and for conducting the service which preceded the meeting, and to Mr. W. Stapleton, the resigning secretary, were recorded.

St. Peter's bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, numerous methods being rung.

DEATH OF THE VICAR OF FULHAM.

The Rev. Gerald K. S. Marshall, Vicar of Fulham, passed peacefully away on Sunday evening, January 27th, after a short illness at the age of 62 years. He had been Vicar of Fulham for 15 years. He was buried in the old churchyard on Wednesday, Jan. 30th, the Bishop of London conducting the service. There were also present the Bishops of Kensington, Willesden, Stepney, Buckingham, and Fulham, and over 30 other clergy. The ringers met in the evening to pay their last tribute of respect, and with the bells half-muffled rang the 'whole pull and stand': W. H. Hollier 1, W. E. Judd 2, A. Cutmore 3, A. Waddington 4, W. T. Elson 5, A. H. Fulwell 6, P. Skevington 7, E. Edwards 8, J. A. Trollope 9, J. W. Driver 10. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters followed. Other ringers taking part were H. C. Page, H. Ellis, T. C. Norris, G. A. Black, M. A. Smith and others.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE QUESTION OF UNATTACHED MEMBERS.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association was held at St. John's, Lewisham, on Saturday, January 26th. The bells were kept going in various methods, ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise, throughout the afternoon and evening. The association form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. R. Neil), assisted by Rev. J. McLaren (curate), a very interesting address being given by the former.

After the service, a magnificent repast, generously provided by the Vicar and churchwardens, was served in the adjoining Church Hall, some sixty-five members participating. Several of the local ladies ministered to the members' creature comforts. Immediately after tea a course of Grandsire Cinques was rung on handbells by Messrs. Barnett, Audsley, R. Brett-Smith, T. Brett-Smith, T. Groombridge, jun., T. Groombridge, sen.

The business meeting followed. Mr. W. J. Jeffries apologised for the absence of the churchwardens, who were unavoidably detained, and stated that the Vicar was unwell, and had gone to his home to rest. He had asked him (Mr. Jeffries) to preside. Three ringers were elected members of the association.

Mr. J. Emery (district representative) then gave a report of proceedings at the association's central committee meeting, mentioning among other things the general secretary's aversion to the growing list of unattached members.

Mr. F. W. Thornton proposed a vote of thanks, coupled with the meeting's congratulations, to Mr. Emery for his report. He (Mr. Thornton) regretted to say that his name was one of the newcomers among the unattached members, and was afraid that it must continue so, as long as change ringing was foreign to St. Alphge's, Greenwich.—Mr. J. J. Lamb seconded the proposition, and endorsed Mr. Thornton's remarks with regard to Greenwich.—The vote of thanks was passed with applause.

The next business was the choice of a place for the next meeting. Mr. Thornton suggested that a visit to Greenwich might result in good missionary work being done.—Supporting this suggestion, Mr. A. Petrie proposed, and Mr. E. Barnett, sen., seconded, that Greenwich be chosen for the April meeting.—This was carried, no other nominations being made.

Mr. T. Groombridge, jun., referred to the splendid response that had been made to the appeal on behalf of Mrs. Bates, especially mentioning the donations received from other associations. He proposed that that meeting should support the appeal issued on behalf of a ringer of Pendleton, near Manchester, a member of the Lancashire Association. This was seconded by Mr. R. A. Jenkins, and carried. The collection resulted in the sum of £1 12s., and Mr. Groombridge undertook to forward this sum to the appeal organiser.

Mr. F. W. Thornton proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and his address, and asked the chairman to convey the meeting's regret at his absence and sympathy with him. Also a hearty vote of thanks to the organist for his services, to the Vicar and churchwardens for their generous hospitality, to the ladies for their valuable attentions to their comfort, and to the chairman for presiding at the meeting.—The motion having been carried with applause, the Chairman briefly responded. This concluded a very successful meeting. Then followed a short selection of tunes on the handbells by Messrs. T. Groombridge, jun., and T. Brett-Smith, assisted by E. Barnett, jun. This was much appreciated. The ringers then returned to the tower for further ringing.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Canterbury on Saturday, February 9th, when 72 members attended from Dover, St. Peter's Thanet, Ashford, Canterbury, St. Nicholas', mer, Charing, Wingham, Herne, Maidstone, Selling, Wye, Worksop (Notts), and Littlebourne.

Service, conducted by Rev. Carter, of St. Alphge's, Canterbury, and assisted by Rev. Taylor, Wingham, was held at St. Alphge's Church, the Rev. Carter giving an appropriate address.

The tea and business meeting followed at the Oddfellows' Hall. The Rev. Carter presided, and the district secretary, Mr. Percy W. Smith, and the two district representatives, Mr. H. Smith and Mr. F. Brett, were unanimously re-elected.

Meetings for 1929 were resolved upon as follows: Summer meeting, Lyminge; autumn meeting, Wingham; and the annual meeting, Canterbury. Suggestions invited for place of next bye-meeting resulted in Petham being defeated by Walmer by a small margin.

The Rev. Taylor, of Wingham, was elected an honorary member, and five practising members were also elected. Two new towers were brought into union with the association, Chartham with eleven members, and Chilham with nine probationer members, both towers being proposed by Mr. E. G. Bursden.

At the conclusion of the business, the Chairman expressed regret at the absence of Rev. Canon F. J. O. Helmore, through illness. He said he felt the meeting was incomplete without Canon Helmore's presence, and on behalf of that meeting he would take the opportunity of wishing him a speedy recovery.

GLOUCESTER RINGERS' DINNER.

SUCCESSFUL GATHERING TO BE MADE AN ANNUAL EVENT.

The members of the Gloucester Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association held a dinner at Mercer's Hall, Gloucester, on Saturday, January 26th, when 55 members sat down to an excellent repast splendidly served by Mr. Urch. The Rural Dean (the Rev. H. M. Braithwaite) presided, supported by the Rev. E. D. S. Camus (Rector of St. Mary de Crypt), Mr. George Jackson (churchwarden of St. Mary de Lode), Messrs. W. H. Harris (hon. branch secretary), T. Baldwin, J. Austin, G. L. Brundon, J. Clarke (secretary, Hereford Guild), J. T. Dyke (secretary of the Bath and Wells association), etc.

The toast of 'The King' having been duly honoured, the Chairman alluded to the fact that the bells of his own Parish Church (St. Michael's) were not available for any extended ringing, by the architect's advice, and referred to the curfew bell and to the many historic occasions on which St. Michael's peal had been rung. He expressed the hope that that dinner would be made an annual event.

The Rector of St. Mary de Crypt also urged the desirability of closer fellowship amongst the members, and supported the Rural Dean in the suggestion that the dinner should be an annual affair.

Mr. J. Austin said St. Michael's had a peal of six bells until 1837, when two trebles were added in honour of Queen Victoria's first jubilee, and a further pair in 1837 at the diamond jubilee, making a peal of ten. St. Michael's Juniors were among the first to ring Surprise methods and Norwich Caters, also the first to ring Cambridge Maximus. To accomplish the latter they frequently travelled to Cirencester and Cheltenham to practise, having no twelve-bell peal in the city. Of late years, with St. Michael's tower declared unsafe for ringing, the practice of campanology had fallen off in the old city.

Mr. J. Williams (Newent) agreed with the previous speaker regarding practice, stating that ringers were like singers, unless they had practice they could neither sing nor ring.—Mr. J. Clarke (Ross) and Mr. J. T. Dyke also spoke and concurred in these views.

Mr. Geo. Jackson heartily congratulated the branch secretary on the success of the gathering, this being the first attempt to hold such an event in Gloucester.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Harris was passed.

Mr. W. H. Harris (branch secretary), in reply, said he was extremely pleased to see so many ringing friends assemble on that first occasion. When the matter was first mooted it had been suggested to him that the issue might be doubtful, but the many smiling faces around him proved to the contrary. It had been suggested by previous speakers that the dinner should be held annually, and as he was always willing to do his best for the association and members, he would propose the following resolution: 'That the dinner be an annual event, and open to members, wives and sweethearts and lady ringers.'—The Rural Dean put the proposition, and it was carried unanimously.

The rest of the evening was devoted to handbell ringing by different members and tune playing on the handbells by Messrs. Austin and Williams.

Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. C. D. P. Davies (Master of the association), who was ill, Rev. H. G. Hadow (chairman of branch), Rev. J. H. Seabrook, Rev. Canon Billett, Rev. Canon Bryce, and Mr. Horace Barnes.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD, HERTS.—On Sunday, February 10th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Cambridge Surprise Major (1,470 changes) in 50 mins.: F. Bird 1, W. Prior 2, W. Morris 3, T. Jordan 4, T. J. Watts 5, S. Clark 6, W. T. Prior 7, G. Jordan (conductor) 8. First quarter-peal of Cambridge on the bells since they were rung and retuned. Rung as a birthday compliment to fl. Wacey and B. Marfleet, members of the local band.

PORTSMOUTH.—On Sunday, February 10th, for evensong, at the Cathedral Church, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob (1,280 changes) in 54 mins. F. A. Burnett (conductor) 1, E. Martin 2, Mrs. F. A. Burnett 3, C. Shepherd 4, P. Giles 5, F. W. Burnett 6, L. P. Cook 7, H. L. Aitkin 8. This is the first quarter in the method and on the bells by the local band.

HOUSLOW.—On Sunday, February 3rd, at St. Paul's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. Gash 1, F. G. Goddard 2, J. Kent 3, C. J. Tricker 4, W. Ellingham 5, E. A. Passam 6, F. E. Hawthorne (first quarter as conductor) 7, C. Gash 8.

WANTAGE, BERKS.—On Sunday, January 27th, before evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 47 mins.: H. Gregory 1, H. C. Mulford 2, H. J. Balcombe 3, E. A. Gregory 4, H. Sims 5, W. Seymour 6, R. G. Rice (conductor) 7, E. White 8.

A vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding, and for the service, also to the organist for the musical arrangements, was carried by acclamation, and concluded the meeting. The ringers then adjourned to the various towers, where the bells were available for ringing.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL GATHERING AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

On Saturday, February 2nd, the Midland Counties' Association held its third quarterly meeting at Loughborough. Always an attraction, the 'ballopolis,' as Loughborough has been termed, kept up its tradition in spite of the inclement weather prevailing. Quite early, visitors arrived from all districts of the association's activities, and good use was made of the ten bells of the Parish Church, noted for the famous long peal of Stedman Caters rung on them, and as one of the best peals of their weight in the kingdom.

The centre of attraction was, of course, the world-renowned bell foundry, which, through the courtesy of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., was open to visitors and friends. Bells, frames, and fittings in great profusion and in all stages of the 'bell founder's art and craft' were to be seen. There were twenty-five old peals from churches all over the country, amongst them being the fine new peal of twelve (tenor 25 cwt.) for Walsall Parish Church, which was 'tapped' round so that the visitors might hear them. There was also a carillon for St. Helens (Lancs), and bells for Nassau, Bahamas; West Maitland, Australia; Mombasa, East Africa; Tsolo, South Africa; Lagos, West Africa; Cranbrook, Michigan; Ames, Iowa, U.S.A.; and others too numerous to mention. It was indeed pleasing to all to note how busy the Taylor bell foundry was, and keeping fully up to the traditions of their glorious past.

The small peal of ten bells in the foundry campanile (tenor 6½ cwt.) was also available for ringing, and some very amusing antics were seen by visitors trying to handle the little bells; nevertheless, some touches did come round.

MESSAGE FROM MR. E. D. TAYLOR.

The committee met at 4 p.m. and carried through the routine business, and added several recommendations for the general meeting. An excellent meat tea was served in the Fearon Hall at 5 p.m., some 120 members and friends sitting down. At the conclusion, the general hon. secretary (Mr. Ernest Morris) first read letters of apology for absence through illness from the president (Mr. R. B. Chambers, J.P., the vice-president (Mr. J. Griffin), and hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Wallace). He then made the announcement that Mr. E. Denison Taylor, who, although in Florida, U.S.A., where the firm have just erected a huge carillon of 61 bells (tenor 10½ tons) at the Mountain Lake—particulars and photos of which have already appeared in these columns—sent his regards and kind wishes to the assembly, and further asked to be allowed to defray all expenses of the tea. Needless to say, this met with great acclamation, and both Mr. J. H. Swinfield, of Burton, and Mr. W. E. White, of Cotgrave, spoke on the subject, remarking that within living memory no meeting had been held at Loughborough without a Taylor being present.

Mr. Colin Harrison, in a few well-chosen words, replied on behalf of Mr. E. D. Taylor and the firm, promising to convey the members' best wishes and thanks for the generosity bestowed. The general hon. secretary has also written similarly.

In the absence of the president, Mr. W. E. White was voted to the chair. Members elected since the September meeting, viz., 43 ringing, 3 rejoining, and 2 honorary, were duly confirmed.

The Chairman gave a brief account of the committee's recommendations respecting the 1928 report and balance sheet (two auditors were chosen to check the latter), and these were accepted by the members, and will be printed in due course.

An appeal for funds from Ashbourne, Derbyshire, was heard, and it was resolved to grant £5 5s. when the work of the bells was put in hand.

NEW PEAK DISTRICT.

The question of the formation of a new branch in the Peak District of Derbyshire was fully discussed, and it was felt by all that much good work could be done—indeed, has already been done by the Rev. W. P. Wright, of Eyam, and others—among those towers around Bakewell very difficult of access by other branches.—Mr. J. Lewis Cockey, churchwarden and leader of Dore ringers, who has been suggested as hon. secretary for the proposed branch, spoke at length on the subject, and was fully supported by all. As the A.A. rules forbid alteration except at the annual meeting at Easter, it was decided to vote on the subject then.

Heartly votes of thanks to the local committee for splendid arrangements, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. for foundry bells and other attractions, the Rector for use of Parish Church bells, and ladies for catering, concluded a most successful meeting. Further ringing was indulged in until a late hour.

DARLINGTON RINGER'S DEATH.

It is with regret that we have to record the death on January 19th of Mr. R. B. Wilson, a member of Holy Trinity belfry, Darlington, since its formation in 1892, and of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association since 1893. He was verges of the church for the past 24 years, and had taken part in eight peals. He was in his 60th year, but being in failing health for some time had taken no active part in ringing for the past two years.

On Sunday, January 20th, touches of Kent Treble Bob and London Surprise Minor were rung with the bells half-muffled, and on the day of the funeral, January 22nd, the 'whole pull and stand' and touches of Plain Bob and London Surprise were rung. The funeral was attended by members of the belfry, and a wreath was sent as a last token of respect.

THE 18 1/4 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

WHAT SHALL CONSTITUTE A 'PEAL'?

The discussion on the Minor and Doubles question is gradually resolving itself into the vital issue of what shall constitute a peal. Hitherto there have been some well established conditions which have to be observed before a peal has been recognised, the basis of which has been that it shall begin and end with rounds and that none of the intervening rows shall repeat. In the case of Minor and Doubles these conditions have had to apply to the separate extents of which the peal has been made up. The Exercise is now faced with the problem of whether it will or will not continue to insist upon the maintenance of these primary requirements. It is not only a question whether the internal extents of peals of Minor and Doubles shall begin from and end with rounds and whether there may be repetitions within the respective 720's or 120's, but whether, indeed, a peal need end at rounds at all. The experiment which the Rev. E. S. Powell proposes to make, coupled with the suggestion of Mr. Joyce, expressing the views of the Leytonstone band, that 'if a ten thousand of Bob Major were brought to a conclusion after the 5,001st row, none could say that 5,000 true and complete changes had not been rung, and 5,000 true and complete changes constitute a peal,' accentuate the fact that there are ringers who are prepared to admit a standard very different to that which has existed for more than two hundred years. We cannot imagine that the Exercise will welcome any such change. It is true that all our conditions for a peal are arbitrary; but there has always been an endeavour to maintain conditions of, if we may say so, common sense as well as those dictated by common practice. If Mr. Powell likes to ring a 5,040 Grandsire Triples in the way he suggests, no one would say him 'nay,' but, on the other hand, no one would credit him with having rung a 'true peal.' His argument that it is exactly on the same lines as one of Mr. Bankes James' 720's of Cambridge may be perfectly good, but there is no disputing the fact that Mr. Bankes James' 'peal' begins from and ends with rounds, and Mr. Powell's Grandsire Triples does not. There is a great deal in what the Rev. H. Law James says of his brother's composition, that the rounds at the end of the third 720 is actually the last change of the first extent; that, in other words, after ringing 719 changes, two 720's are spliced in, and the 720th change then rung. There are those who would exclude peals in which true and complete extents are spliced into other true and complete extents, and it is on this point that those who would insist upon the 720's and 120's being true in themselves may find it difficult to come to agreement. But of one thing we may be certain, the majority of the Exercise will not be prepared to accept compositions in which the 720's and 120's are not themselves true, but are merely constructed so that, in the case of Minor, no row is rung more than seven times, or in Doubles more than 42 times, in a 5,040, without consideration as to whether rows making up the respective 720's or 120's repeat.

THE ISLEWORTH BELL FUND.

The annual meeting of the South and West District was held at Isleworth on Saturday, February 9th. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m., and methods were rung to suit all present. A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. W. Shepherd Smith), who gave a very interesting address. The party, to the number of about fifty, then adjourned to the Parish Hall for tea at the kind invitation of the Vicar, who presided. He was supported by the churchwardens, all the officers of the district, and among the visitors were Mr. Albert W. Coles, from the North and East District, Mr. E. M. Atkins, of Kilburn, and Mr. Brydges, treasurer of the Isleworth Bell Fund. After the tea, and at the commencement of the business meeting, the hon. secretary asked all members to stand for a moment in silence as a mark of respect to the late Mr. H. Chandler, of Hillingdon, who passed away on December 30th, 1928.

The Secretary gave notice that a joint meeting with the Oxford Diocesan Guild had been arranged for April 20th at St. John's, Hillingdon, and that on March 9th a meeting was to be held at Christ Church, Ealing, with ringing from 3.30 p.m., and in the evening a dance and social in the Parish Hall in aid of the Isleworth Bell Fund. The tickets would be 1s. 6d. each.—Mr. Brydges informed the meeting that at present the fund amounted to about £138, including promises.—A collection was taken, resulting in an additional £2 2s. 6d. being added.—A vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Brydges for his services as treasurer of the fund.

The Hon. Secretary then read the annual report and balance sheet for 1928, and they were both adopted. An encouraging feature of the former was the average attendance at the monthly meetings during 1928, which was 41.

Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow and J. A. Trollope were elected Ringing Master and hon. treasurer respectively. It was agreed that it was advisable to have a Deputy Ringing Master, and Mr. F. Corke was duly elected. Mr. Hollier was then re-elected hon. secretary, and he suggested that an assistant hon. secretary would be of great help to him, as he was very busy.—The meeting elected Mr. W. G. Wilson to be assistant hon. secretary.—Messrs. R. Fardon, J. H. Hunnisett and E. A. Morris were elected members of the Central Committee.

It was decided that the district should transfer their bank balance from the Post Office to Barclay's Bank, as a greater rate of interest could be obtained.

Four new ringing members were duly elected members of the association, viz., Mr. E. Stepney, of Isleworth, Miss J. Stapleton and Mr. E. Smith, of Twickenham, and Mr. A. Devonald, of St. Mary's, Ealing.

It was proposed and, after a long discussion, carried by a substantial majority, that a new rule be added to the district rules as follows: 'That no member shall hold the post of Ringing Master for two consecutive years unless all efforts to find another have failed.'

A grant of two guineas was voted to the Heston Bell Fund, and it was decided that a similar sum should be put aside for the memorial to the late Ringing Master (Mr. R. E. Holloway), if sufficient money was not subscribed by members. Best thanks were accorded to Mr. E. M. Atkins for offering to get the board made at cost price, and to the secretary for offering to see to the lettering.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Mr. Edgley (churchwarden) for taking the chair, halfway through the meeting, when the Vicar had to leave.

CHANGE RINGING RESEARCH. WITH REFERENCE TO EARLY PEALS.

BY W. H. F.

Some two years ago, when writing in 'The Ringing World' upon another matter, I offered the suggestion that a 'committee of investigation' be formed for each county, with a view to looking up items relating to early 'ringing history' which are buried in the first issues of the county press. This would entail some time and trouble, well worth while, and mean each county being dealt with separately, the committee consisting of two or three gentlemen who would volunteer to systematically search the files of the oldest county newspapers and note down briefly, on special foolscap sheets, all the bellringing subjects, together with volume, page and date, they may come across. Of course, any paragraph that gave evidence of a complete peal would be extracted in full.

This is no new suggestion. Some fifty years ago the late Jasper Snowden made an appeal in 'Church Bells' to the steeplekeepers, composers and conductors of his day to send him particulars of old records and copies of ancient peal tablets. For many months following the editor of that paper kindly published old peal records, which, incidentally, helped Snowden with the historical peal notes appended to his various works on method ringing. Before Snowden's time, Ellacombe gleaned much ringing matter from the press of his younger days, and about a century ago several well-known men not only had MSS. books but collected 'news cuttings'—Hopkins, of Birmingham, 1800-1862; Friend, of Huyton, 1804-1881; Riley, of Cheltenham, 1770-1834; Crofts, Nottingham, 1742-1809; and several others in Yorkshire and Lancashire, not omitting Rayner, I.O.W., Barham, of Leeds, Lawrence, of Shifnal, and Hammond, of Liverpool. Most of these documents I have personally examined, and their perusal has led me to believe that considerable light would be thrown upon the early history of the first London and provincial ringing societies if the various city newspapers could be thoroughly examined.

For the first few years of its short existence—1871-1880—'Church Bells' was only in circulation amongst theologians and churchwardens, and Snowden's request for peal information could not have reached many places where some additional facts may have been ascertained from the county press. Snowden, during his brief, but busy, life, must have worked very hard to collect all the valuable items of history which we now possess, and in addition to which he personally visited all the known ringing centres of his period and corresponded with the contemporary composers and conductors; but there still remains much real history to unearth, a task far beyond the capabilities of one individual. Had he lived to the age of Barham, Ellacombe, or Mansfield, all the modern doubts raised in recent issues of 'The Ringing World' would never have appeared.

One of the enterprising editors of about 40 years ago hit upon an excellent idea, that of reprinting extracts from his journal of fifty or a hundred years previous. This was soon copied by other editors, and by this means the general public were often historically refreshed with little ringing paragraphs of the 18th and 19th centuries. It is these little 'reprints' that have enlightened the present generation. The British Museum prides itself on being the possessor of a copy of every printed periodical published in Great Britain. I forget how many miles of storage these newspapers occupy, but a recent extension of premises has been made to meet future demands, and I have estimated that a body of fifty 'investigators' could wade through the whole—down to, say, the year 1800—in half a lifetime. For this reason I have urged county division and reference to the files of the older newspapers in the county towns after soliciting the co-operation of the respective editors.

Here are one or two 'corrections' which the press has revealed that leave no reason for dispute:—

Oakford, Devon.—A touring band, after full local and county inquiry, claimed 'first peal on the bells' September, 1921. The first on these bells was achieved by a Bristol hand—Grandsire Triples—Boxing Day, 1826, at the opening of the octave. See the 'Bristol Times and Mirror'.

Henley-on-Thames.—The first peal of Grandsire Triples on these bells was claimed by W. Williams and his Reading band, but the Cumberland Society, London, rang one in 1857, conducted by J. Nelms. See 'Reading Mercury'.

Windsor.—The peal, Grandsire Triples, rung on the Castle bells, April 10th, 1878, conducted by J. Worster, was timed at 3 hrs. 13½ mins., per peal book; the tablet in bellry gives 3 hrs. 13 mins. only. This difference I noted in an article to 'Bells News' at Christmas, 1883, dealing with the 'Bells of Windsor,' stating that 'some day the missing half-minute might be accounted for.' The answer came in 1887, when the editor of the 'Windsor and Eton Express,' in reprinting a paragraph of 1787, disclosed the fact that 'the band rang their peal over again the next day, and the visitors were well received by the townspeople.' Now, I am anxious to know why the peal rung on the 'first' day was disallowed. Was there a shift, a miscall, or broken rope?

With reference to the Westminster peal, July, 1751, by nine men, and the St. Giles', Bloomsbury, peal, 1791, with the conductor ringing for the first time, it is noteworthy that the press of Essex disclosed the fact to Mr. F. Pistow (after an interval of 100 years) that Holt's Original had been scored by eight men at Saffron Walden.

Being interested in the 'one-part,' I wrote Mr. Pistow at the time, and got into touch with Mr. W. G. Crickmer, of Earl Soham, with a view to saving all the papers of the late Mr. Samuel Slater, but I was too late. Not only news cuttings, but some very old Norwich writing on Grandsire, discovered by Sam, 'went west' with them. However, both the Slaters were fully agreed from information in their possession that Holt's Original peal of Grandsire Triples had been rung as follows:—

| 1. Westminster | } Each called from MS.
by a 9th man |
| 2. Stonham Aspal | |
| 3. Norwich | |

According to Mr. Crickmer's letter the peal was again rung at Norwich, 'when the composition was called for the first time by one of the ringers in the team.' This can be verified in Norwich, and supersedes the London performance of 1791.

Theodore Eccleston gave the 10 bells to Stonham Aspal in 1742 when a young ringer (to replace the old ring of five), and both he and his band were in good trim for Grandsire at the time of their performance. His residence at Mortlake for some years gave him practice with the London Strikers, including Annable, who called the first peal on Mortlake bells in 1746; Worster, who called a 6,000 and a 10,000 of Bob Major there in 1775; and, perhaps, J. Holt as well (after 1751), from whom he may have personally had the figures of the peal. Even in those days 40 years was a long time for a composition to be knocking about without someone making an attempt to excel the first man, John Holt, to call it.

'The Clavis' (April, 1788), London edition, gives the figures of the calling, several Norfolk and Suffolk men being subscribers to it. An earlier edition of the same work was published by Raw, of Ipswich, a noted centre from which the figures could have reached the neighbouring towers, where the peal was so early achieved, in Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk. The authors of the 'Clavis' were evidently determined that the famous 'one-part' should no longer remain 'in the barren womb of obscurity.'

To show how valuable matter (to us ringers) is easily lost, I quote a paragraph from Mr. Crickmer's letter of January 4th, 1914, but with regard to this I have since ascertained that Mr. Theodore Slater now has some of the papers which he saved by some means:—

'Am very sorry to hear, after Sam's death, a cartload of most valuable papers were put on the fire. I persuaded the Rev. Pearson, of Henley, to try and buy them off Mrs. S. Slater, but I am afraid he put off going to see her too long.—W. G. C.'

I well remember, when living in London, the wife of one prominent London conductor saying, that 'if anything happened to her old man, all his bellringing rubbish, books and all, would go up the copper hole on a washing day.' This, I am inclined to think, was probably her quiet way of expressing disapproval of his 'tearing about the country at all hours of the night peal ringing.' And so it will be when we are gone: these mad-brained men will still ring on.

The oldest newspapers, so far as I can at present find, in the Eastern Counties are 'Norwich Mercury,' 1714, 'Ipswich Journal,' 1720, 'Norwich Chronicle,' 1761, and 'Essex Journal' (Colchester), 1764, and if the ringers of those towns formed a local 'committee of research' they would discover a great deal of interesting fact of value to the Exercise, which would afford an answer to Mr. G. H. Cross' questions. The two first-named would also give a reply to Mr. G. N. Price's letter on the College Youths' Records, and to 'Collegian's' polite request to historians of the art.

Recently I have gone into the details of Annable and his times, and a fair amount of interesting matter has accumulated. Perhaps the editor will find room for this during the 'close season' for peals in Lent.

A few of the notes were published in January, 1924, when again the press of 1750 came to our assistance with a news cutting (sent to 'The Ringing World' by Mr. J. R. Jerram), describing the funeral of Annable—Rare Ben—in 1756.

It is quite possible a search of the London press may enlighten us further in many ways, but I may point out at once that Annable was not born till long after the Snow Hill peal of 1690 was supposed to have been rung; also that the six-part peal of Bob Triples was not composed till about 1730, when it was rung at Southwark.

Whilst the entry in the College Youths' records relating to the latter performance reads, 'First that was rung,' we must abide by the society's own official verdict and accept it as true, and not the Snow Hill version.

London possesses four of the most valuable libraries in the world—the Guildhall, Westminster Abbey, Lambeth Palace and the British Museum. Each are open to the London change ringers for historical research, and it is now up to the City Guilds and older ringing societies to complete Snowden's task.

JOHN BRIANT: BELL FOUNDER.

Next Wednesday is the centenary of the death of John Briant (born 1749), Hertford's famous bell-founder and clockmaker. The East Herts Archaeological Society have by public subscription erected a tablet in his memory in All Saints' Church, and this will be unveiled and dedicated at a service in the afternoon. Briant's tombstone in the churchyard has been restored by the society.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.ROCHESTER DISTRICT MEETING.

A gloom was cast over the meeting of the Rochester District at Frindsbury owing to the lamented death of Mr. C. Winsor, a ringer at this tower for over forty years, and whose interment took place the same day at Chatham Cemetery. It was only fitting, therefore, that the bells were rung half-muffled to his memory.

The association service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. F. Shepherd), Mr. E. A. G. Allen officiating at the organ.

Tea followed in the Parish Hall, over 40 members sitting down.

Before the business meeting, Mr. F. M. Mitchell (district secretary) said they were aware that some of them had returned from the funeral of their very dear fellow-ringer 'Charlie' Winsor, and it was a singular coincidence that a meeting should be arranged at the very tower where their late brother had been ringing all his life. In all his association with Mr. Winsor, he always found him a 'man,' and when he said that he said all. He asked the company to stand in silence for a few moments to show their respect.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar of Frindsbury presiding. The tower at Borden, with a band of eight ringers, was admitted to the association, also three other practising members and two honorary members.

Gravesend and Sittingbourne towers were nominated for the next meeting on the last Saturday in April, the former being selected by a majority of seven.

Mr. W. Haigh (Rochester) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. H. F. Shepherd for his kindness to them in their visit to Frindsbury, and made touching reference to the loss Frindsbury and Rochester have sustained in the death of Mr. Winsor. He also thanked Mr. Allen for his services at the organ.—The Vicar, in responding, said he was pleased to welcome them, and was also pleased to become an honorary member of their association.

Nearly fifty ringers attended during the afternoon and evening, and standard methods up to Superlative Surprise were rung. It was pleasing to notice the good percentage of young beginners who attended.

BOWNESS, WESTMORLAND.—On Saturday, January 12th, at St. Martin's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: E. Middleton 1, W. Atkinson 2, W. Nevinston 3, A. W. Brighton (London) (conductor) 4, W. Robinson 5, T. B. Newton 6, T. P. Hewertson 7, W. Fisher 8.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.SUGGESTED RESTORATION OF IRCHESTER BELLS.

Twenty-two towers were represented at the quarterly meeting of the Wellingborough Branch at Irthlingborough. Amongst those present were Mr. R. G. Black (gen. sec.), Miss Thursfield (sec. of the local branch of the Ladies' Guild), Miss E. Steele, of Bedford, and Mr. H. Chapman, of Keystoue, and late of Manchester. Touches in a variety of methods were rung during the afternoon and evening, ranging from Grandsire Doubles up to and including Superlative, Cambridge, London, and Bristol Surprise Major. The Guild service was held in the Church, and was conducted by the Rector, who also gave a most helpful address.

After the service the members adjourned to the Church School-room, where an excellent tea had been prepared by the local ringers and their wives, 53 members being present.

Before proceeding with the business, the president, the Rev. C. F. Westcott, offered a hearty welcome to the Rector of Irthlingborough, and Mrs. Lidster, on behalf of all those present, and hoped before leaving the room they would have the pleasure of electing him an honorary member.—The Rector, replying, said he should be pleased to become a member.

Messrs. J. Townsend, R. Dodd, and H. Dunkley, all of Higham Ferrers, were elected ringing members.

Wilby was chosen as the next place of meeting.

Guild certificates were presented to Mr. A. Boddington, of Finedon, and Mr. F. Palmer, of Irthlingborough, on recently ringing their first peal.

The secretary's report and balance sheet for the past year were presented and passed.

After a short discussion a grant of two guineas was given to the Miners' Distress Fund, on the proposition of the Rector of Irthlingborough.

The Secretary said there was a possibility of the Irchester bells being restored in the near future, and hoped that if there were any funds to spare they would be given to that laudable object.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Rector, and all who had helped to make this meeting such a success, was proposed by the Rev. A. G. Bagsbaw, Vicar of Finedon, and carried.

After the close of ringing, a well attended social was held in the large room of the White Horse Inn, when touches and selections were given on the handbells by the Finedon and Irthlingborough members, including a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters, with Mr. Harry Chapman taking part. Songs were also rendered by various members of the company, Mr. A. Perkins presiding at the piano.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first quarterly meeting held by the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild was held on April 26th, 1878, at Boyne Hill, and the jubilee is to be celebrated on Saturday, April 27th, also at Boyne Hill. The Archdeacon of Oxford has promised to preach.

The bells of Tideswell, Derbyshire, are to be overhauled by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., who are also to restore those at St. Paul's, Staley.

The four bells at Wisborough Green, Sussex, have been augmented by Messrs. Taylor and Co., to a ring of six, and they will be dedicated by the Ven. Archdeacon of Chichester at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

In the middle of the broadcast of the bells from Birmingham Cathedral on Sunday evening, the 6th rope broke. Stedman Caters thereupon resolved themselves into 'call changes' on the remaining nine bells.

The greatest performance ever achieved in the Campanistean Art, as so intricate a method was never practised by any other set of men whatever, is the description of a 'peal' of Cambridge Surprise Major rung by the Ancient Society of College Youths at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, on February 23rd, 1783. The performance was a memorable one in those far-off days.

The longest length of Minor was rung on February 27th, 1816, when '21 peals'... making in all 15,120 changes, were brought round in a grand and masterly style in eight hours and 21 mins. without a man quitting his rope.

Two famous ringers were born on February 28th—Henry Johnson in 1809 and Edwin Horrex in 1838.

The time of the peal of Rutland Surprise Major rung at Willesden was 2 hrs. 48 mins., not 3 hrs. 48 mins., as published. The peal at Lavenham on January 26th was rung in 3 hrs. 26 mins., not 3 hrs. 2 mins., as stated.

AN OLD MANCHESTER RECORD.

A copy of a leaflet issued in 1830, to celebrate a peal on the bells of Manchester Cathedral, at that time, of course, the Parish Church, has been reproduced in the 'Manchester Guardian.' Surrounded by an ornate border, and with a picture of the 'Collegiate Church' standing in isolated surroundings, so entirely different from to-day, the record, after mentioning that the church was founded in the 9th year of the reign of Henry V., 1421, by Lord de la Warr, says:—

Its tower, previous to the year 1706, contained only five bells (put up by Warden Langley in the time of Edward IV.), in which year they were recast by the celebrated Abel Ruddall, of Gloucester, when three more were added, making the whole number eight. In 1835 they received an addition of two more, forming now an excellent peal of ten bells.

CHANGE RINGING.

On the evening of Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 23rd, 1830, a select band of the Society of Change Ringers of the Collegiate Church, Manchester, ascended the tower and rang a true and complete peal of Treble Bob Royal, in the Kent variation, consisting of 8,000 harmonious changes, which was brought round in excellent style in five hours and twenty-five minutes, being the longest peal in the above name ever rung in the North of England. The ringers were stationed as follows:—

Treble	Mr. Joseph Kay.	Sixth	Mr. Walter Worrall
Second	Mr. Richard Palin	Seventh	Mr. Joseph Lloyd
Third	Mr. Jeremiah Lord	Eighth	Mr. William Boyer
Fourth	Mr. Robert Naylor	Ninth	Mr. James Sheldermine
Fifth	Mr. Nelson Worrall	Tenor	Mr. Robert Kershaw.

This peal, composed and conducted by Mr. Robert Naylor, was rung by the above ten persons only. Weight of the tenor 25 cwt. in the key of E.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN WREXHAM RINGER.

The many friends of Mr. Edward (Ted) Rowlands will regret to hear of his death, which occurred at his residence, 11, Whitegate Road, Wrexham, on Thursday, February 7th. The late Mr. Rowlands, who was a native of the town, was in his 72nd year, and just missed celebrating his golden wedding, having been married 49 years. He had been a most regular and faithful bellringer at the Parish Church for 53 years, and had conducted the ringers for 30 years. He had rung bells throughout the United Kingdom, and had also conducted many peals.

The funeral took place on February 11th. The Rev. Archdeacon Lewis Pryce (Vicar of Wrexham) conducted a service at the Parish Church, with the assistance of the Revs. J. H. Edward and T. G. Roberts, and also at the graveside, where a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by the Wrexham ringers, who also acted as bearers.

Afterwards half-muffled ringing took place at the Parish Church as a last tribute to an honoured brother ringer, who was respected by all and will be greatly missed by the Wrexham band.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

REV. H. LAW JAMES PLEASED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am very pleased with the way in which the controversy about peals of Minor has been carried on in 'The Ringing World,' and I am quite sure that it will do nothing but good.

The resolution passed at Hereford states that a peal of Minor must contain seven true and complete 720's.

We want to know exactly what this means, and we must take the words in their plain grammatical meaning, without adding anything to them, or subtracting anything from them.

First of all, what is a true and complete 720. Consider a true and complete six of Stedman Doubles.

We have six rows, of which 32415 is the first. We make five changes, and so get six different rows, so that the six is true, but it is not complete. We must make one more change to complete it, and this gives us 43521, the first row of the next six.

Now, since we are considering a peal of Minor and not simply one 720, this same argument applies to the first 720 of the seven. We start from 123456, we make 719 changes, and so get 720 rows, the last of which is 124365. We must make one more change to complete the 720 changes, and we get 123456, which is not part of the first 720, but the first row of the second 720, and so on, until we get 124365 or 132465 as the 5,040th row of the peal, and we must make one more change to complete the peal, as we have only made 5,039 changes so far. This last change brings us back to the first 123456, which is not the last row of the peal, but only the first row repeated.

Now there is one Q set in which 5-6 are at home which can be treated differently from the rest. We start from 123456; when we get to 124365 we can make at bob and produce 142356; when we get to 132465 we can go plain to 134256; and when we get to the 720th row we get 143265, going plain we get 142356, going by a bob we get 134256, but we are not false, because it is the first row of the second 720. This holds good throughout the peal, but it must come round at the end.

Mr. Powell's idea of ringing 5,040 of Grandsire Triples fails because he will get 5,040 different rows, but he will only make 539 changes, and, moreover, a peal must come round.

Secondly, look at the words 'seven 720's.' Does this mean exactly what it says, or can it possibly mean what the writer of the leading article in this week's 'Ringing World' seems to think—the same 720 seven times over?

It must mean seven different 720's—that is, the same composition in seven different methods, or different compositions in the same method.

Turning to Doubles, there are ten six-scores of Grandsire Doubles with the treble in the hunt, and also ten with the 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th—fifty in all, and the same in Reverse Grandsire Doubles, sixty six-scores of Stedman, Carter's Doubles, Reverse Stedman and Reverse Carter, and also a few six-scores of Double Grandsire.

H. LAW JAMES.

COMPOSITE 720's.

Sir,—Referring to Mr. James' letter in your last issue, I must confess that he is right in saying that I do not understand his position. How, sir, can anyone understand him in face of the following, which is not argument or theory, but a statement of facts:—

In your issue of February 1st, you published an absurdity by me, got, in the main, by dismembering 720's into their component 240's. Because it included four 720's called WRW, and three with the 5th RWR. Mr. James says it does not satisfy the condition.

Mr. James then proceeds to give the four 720's with the tenors the right way as follows: A: 5th, RWR; B: 6th, WRW; C and D from bob blocks; C, by omitting bobs when 6th is WRW; D, when 5th is RWR. He then says: 'There are five more which also keep 5-6 right, and I select the following three.'

And then follow figures which are not 720's, but are six 240's, and two pieces of a third 720. E is the same as the 720 marked C returned to its component parts by omitting bobs when the 6th is WRW, and F is the three 240's of D got by omitting when the 5th is RWRW (check it for yourself). From this it would appear that Mr. James refers to three separate round blocks as a 720, and he may use the same 720 twice, but others may not. Enough said!

Seeing that the Methods Committee desire to include these in their new book, we must conclude that they consider the contention that, so long as each change is repeated seven times only, the peal is in accordance with the definition of a peal of Minor passed at the Hereford Council meeting.

Then why not include three of the 720's A, B, C and D twice, and have a quick or a slow six on the various callings thus:—

B=1 part of B.

C=1 part of C.

A A C C B B

B C A B C A

C B B A A C concluding with 720D.

This method would give four different 5040's, which, I believe, would be more acceptable to the Exercise than the Rev. H. Law James' mixtures.

However, if the Methods Committee believe that the dismembering of a 720 by omitting three bobs, and the reassembling of the resultant parts into another well-known block by means of adding three bobs, is something new and original, then what can we say? They ought to know!

Referring to Mr. Powell's arrangement of 5,040 rows of Grandsire Triples, may I say that if he can find eight hefty men to ring it five times over, it will then come round at the end, and, in my opinion, he will be right in saying that his band has rung five true and complete 5,040's of Grandsire Triples.

In conclusion, may I advise the members of the Methods Committee that, if they are going to fill the columns of 'The Ringing World' with their letters and articles, they should extol the advantages of the Rev. H. Law James' peals of London Surprise Minor and the Morris-Atkins' Doubles, and not harp so much on the strings of the Rev. E. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge.—Yours sincerely,

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

MR. SEVERN REPEATS HIS QUESTIONS.

Sir,—In your last issue, Mr. Law James states that I have not yet understood his position. If he will read my letters again, he will find that I have not referred either to him or his arrangement of London Surprise. What I have written has been against his brother's arrangement of Cambridge. He then goes on to give us a very elaborate statement as to how his arrangement of London Surprise works out, first by giving us the four old arrangements; then he states there are five more, out of which he selects three to complete his peal. Perhaps it will surprise him—or it may not—if I state that it is possible to obtain at least four more ways in addition to his that will bring 5-6 up at back stroke, but, like his, the only place they are fit for is the W.P.B.

In the last paragraph of his letter, he says it is very easy to make false statements, and that I must—I like the word 'must'—either withdraw this statement or prove it true, and ends with these words, 'and this he cannot do.'

Now, sir, I am going to ask you to reprint the two questions which were the subject of my first letter:—

1. We are told that 123456 constitutes the first row or change in Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of his peal of Cambridge Minor. Will he inform your readers which is the last row or change?

2. In what way do these freak arrangements contribute to the interest or advancement in the art of ringing to five and six-bell ringers?

Finally, let either Mr. Law James or his brother answer these two questions—no quibbling please—then I will endeavour to prove that which cannot be done.—Faithfully yours, Killamarsh.

C. SEVERN.

THE VOICE OF THE ASSOCIATIONS.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Whittington's idea is just what we wish for, but would he do the Exercise a good turn by proposing at the next Central Council meeting, that this council be composed of representatives of the various associations, and shall voice the opinions of the association they represent?

Having succeeded with this, we can proceed upon the lines he suggests, otherwise we cannot. Does he remember 'Badges for learners'?—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE.

A SIX-BELL BAND'S VIEWS.

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read Mr. Powell's letter giving notice of a peal of Grandsire Triples starting from handstroke, as we (the six-bell company at Leytonstone) have discussed this on several occasions, although from a slightly different point of view.

We proposed to ring a 720, commencing from the handstroke, which would run 'round' at hand, thus throwing the 65's all the 'wrong way'; alternatively, to 'open' our leads at back, thus making the 65's the 'right-way-wrong.' Further, to choose a method which has the 65's wrong in certain places, and, in those places, to open our leads at backstroke, thus making the 65's the 'wrong-way-right.'

Is there one who could say these 720's would not be 'true'?

I think I may safely say that I express the views of my friends at Leytonstone in the following:—

(1) Rounds is a conventional row, rung in repetition before and after a peal; it commences and ends a five thousand for the sake of convention only, and, as rounds has no bearing upon the truth of a peal. A peal would be quite true, complete, a round block, and satisfactory as to its 'Q' sets, if it started and ended with 87654321.

(2) Convention demands that rounds shall commence and end a peal. If a ten-thousand of Bob Major were brought to a conclusion after the 5,001st row, none could say that 5,000 true and complete changes had not been rung; and 5,000 true and complete changes constitute a peal. But not an orthodox peal, which must commence and end with rounds. The Bankes James' Cambridge is quite orthodox in this respect.

(3) Ten 'rounds' before 'Go!' and ten after 'That is all!' show nineteen rows which are repetitions of one which belongs to the peal. There is no reasonable argument possible, as to whether this particular one shall be the last of the first ten or the first of the last ten.

(4) It takes two things to make a change, as Mr. Trollope shows with his suits, so that to get 720 changes we must have 721 rows, 720 being true, and one of them a repetition. Then a 'true and complete 720 changes' is false!

(5) A conventional peal is forced to be a round block, and a true conventional peal cannot be composed of parts that are round blocks. We are satisfied if a part 'ends' at 13425678, provided that it is true within itself.

(6) Then a 720 in a five thousand, being one part, may end at any row (it need not be a round block), provided that the 720 is true within itself.

(7) Does the Bankes James' Cambridge conform to (6), and does the Law James' London? Therein lies the answer to the whole question.—Yours sincerely,

GEORGE L. JOYCE.

St. John's, Leytonstone.

WHY THIS FUSS?

Dear Sir,—Why all this fuss about what is a true peal, when the Central Council, prior to 1928, had already definitely laid down a very plain instruction? All I have spoken to about it agree that it is a good rule: 'That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, the bells striking round only once at the end of each.' There is the thing in a nutshell, and what every ringer, I feel sure, would hold up both hands for, that the bells strike round at the end. However clever anyone may be in composing, something in which you have to count rounds at the start is not according to rule, and therefore out of order. Of course, it is well known no one can prevent ringers ringing what they like, even Bob Doubles and Grandsire Minor.—Yours faithfully,

J. HUNT.

Taunton.

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

Dear Sir,—I notice that in the last paragraph of the letter in this week's issue by the Rev. H. Drake, he makes the following remark: 'Think of it, having to ring the same old 120's week after week.' Why? I have heard the ringers of this district of 40 years ago say they could ring 30 or 40 120's straight off. I think these would be mostly Grandsire Variations, and would have the merit of being true 120's. I have heard them ring many of them myself.—Yours faithfully,

W. L. DUFFIELD.

PEALS OF TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the notice under the heading, 'Peals of Triples,' on page 107, this is just the kind of thing I anticipated. Let us presume the writer of that notice is not leg-pulling, but in earnest. In the first place, there is no society named, therefore, from, say, a legal point of view, nobody can say it will not be a peal. On the other hand, if this 'arrangement' is rung under the auspices of a particular society, is there any society which definitely states in its rules what a peal must be? I don't suppose there is one, and that being so there is no society which can say it will not be a peal. But each ringer has his opinions and thoughts about such 'arrangements,' and, if rung, will be certain to cause some comment.

Each and any band of ringers can ring what it chooses, but if some 'arrangement' is chosen which is, to say the least of it, not orthodox, it must naturally and reasonably be expected that some cavil will be made afterwards against it being accepted as a peal.

Therefore, if the majority are against these unorthodox 'arrangements' the rules of each society must be brought up to date to bar them by definitely stating in the rules what a peal shall be, otherwise there is no limit to what will come along as a peal in the way of 'something new,' something exciting.—Yours sincerely,

Brookley.

F. W. RICHARDSON.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting was held at Monk Bretton on Saturday, February 9th, when members attended from Darfield, Wath, Felkirk, Royston, Shelley, Sandal, Wortley, and the local company. The methods practised were varied ranging from plain to suit probationers, up to mental flights in Treble Bob Minor, and it was clearly proved that ringers in some towers have advanced beyond anticipation, while others are progressing, and may jostle shoulders with the best. Such is the wish of the advanced ones.

Tea and the comforts of hearth and shelter were provided, and the Vicar (Rev. F. Mercer) looked in to bestow his best wishes and generosity on the gathering. Unfortunately, he could not stay. The handbells and pleasant banter made up a full and happy hour.

An invitation was accepted from Royston to hold a meeting there in March.

DEATH OF ANOTHER SOUTH WALES RINGER.

FIRST MASTER OF THE LLANDAFF ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Evan Davies, of Caerleon, passed away on Monday, February 11th, at his native place near Carmarthen. He was buried at Llanllwch Parish Church on Friday, the 15th, the Vicar, the Rev. T. Thomas, officiating, assisted by two lecturers from Carmarthen College, where Mr. Davies had been trained for the scholastic profession. Among the mourners were Mr. William Davies (brother), of Liverpool, who for many years had charge of the bells of St. Nicholas' Church, and also Mr. Claude Davies (son), who is now branch hon. secretary of the Lancashire Association at Liverpool.

Owing to ill-health during the last few years the late Mr. Davies had not been able to take any great part in ringing, but his love for the bells was, to the last, as great as when he came to Caerleon quite a young man. Caerleon at that time had five old bells. The tenor (11½ cwt.) was cast by R.P. 1885, the other four by the same founder in 1690. The bells were all split at the crowns or parted from the waist, and the woodwork was in bad condition. Canon Edwards, the Vicar, applied to the governors of Williams' Charity, and at length succeeded in obtaining a grant of £150. A meeting of the parishioners was then called, and a committee formed. The appeal was well responded to, and the old bells were sent to Messrs. Warner and Sons, London, on October 7th, 1881, to be replaced with a light ring of six. The dedication and opening took place on December 15th, 1881, the ringing consisting of call changes only. Mr. Davies then formed a band and started change ringing.

A 720 of Minor was rung on the bells for the first time on May 28th, 1884. In 1886 the six were increased to eight by adding two trebles, the work of hanging the bells being done personally by Mr. Davies. Progress was made in Triples ringing, and the first peal rung the following Jan. 12th, by the local band, Mr. Davies being the conductor. During the same year peals were rung in the Kent and Plain Bob Major methods. Stedman Triples was practised, and often for the Sunday services quarter-peals were rung.

The question of forming a diocesan association resulted in the selection of Mr. Davies as the first Master on October 13th, 1893, and he was re-elected in 1894 and 1895.

He was not a great peal ringer, but had taken part in about twenty peals, including the first peals on the bells at Caldicot, St. Woolos' and All Saints' Churches, Newport.

For forty years he was headmaster of the Williams' Endowed Schools, Caerleon. He was an ardent worker for the Church in Wales, especially in the Llandaff diocese. He also acted as choir-master of Caerleon Church for 35 years.

Mr. Davies was a recognised authority on the history of Caerleon, and was honorary curator of the Museum of Antiquities for over 30 years. He was also an authority on ecclesiastical law, and at the time of his death was engaged in writing a comprehensive history of the Church in Wales.

On his retirement from the scholastic profession a few years ago, he was the recipient of a high tribute from old boys of the school in all parts of the world.

J. W. J.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH.

A meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Compton on Saturday, February 9th, when the following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, East Hilsley, Hampstead Norris, Newbury, Woolton Hill and the local ringers. The Rev. L. R. Majendie (chairman of the branch) was also present. A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. M. Jotcham), who also gave an address. Miss D. Hancock presided at the organ. An excellent tea was served in the Village Hall by Mrs. C. M. Jotcham, and 29 sat down.

The business meeting followed with the Rev. L. R. Majendie in the chair, supported by Mr. H. W. Curtis, hon. secretary and treasurer.

The next meeting was fixed for Midgham, on Saturday, April 13th. A combined meeting was also fixed for Highclere, Hants, on Saturday, May 18th, with the Winchester Guild.

An application is to be made to the Oxford Diocesan Guild for a grant towards Newbury bells, the branch having already voted £5.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his address, to the organist and Mrs. C. M. Jotcham for providing the tea, on the motion of the secretary, seconded by Miss Davis.

A move was then made for the tower, and some good touches of Grandsire and Bob Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor were brought round.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 42 mins. at St. Peter's, Staines, on January 27th, in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. Jackson, also the wedding anniversary of Mr. W. C. Parker and G. Walmsley, all of whom are ringers at St. Peter's: W. Stevens 1, A. J. Hiscock 2, G. Walmsley 3, W. Shorter 4, W. C. Parker 5, E. J. Goater 6, J. Phillips 7, F. W. Smith 8.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.WESTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Western Division was held at West Tarring on Saturday, February 16th. Owing to the snow and the slippery state of the roads, there were only 21 present, representing the following towers: Angmering, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Chichester, Heene, Shoreham, West Grinstead, West Tarring, with Messrs. Rogers and Greenwood, of Portsmouth. The ringing consisted of courses of Stedman Doubles, Grandsire, Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Cambridge and London Surprise Minor. Tea was partaken of at St. Thomas a Becket's Palace, where the company were met and welcomed by the Rector (Ven. J. Godber, M.A.), who also presided at the business meeting. He was supported by the churchwardens, Messrs. W. Jocelyne and W. Large.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. Alan R. Pink, Dorking, Joseph Green and Arthur Hancorn, Shoreham, A. G. Heasman, W. H. Howich, H. W. Parsons, C. F. Clavey and A. F. Hurchfield, Angmering, J. W. Blunden, G. Dewey, J. Littlemore, E. J. Monday, A. J. Piper, P. Piper, R. Piper, J. Steyning and A. Watts, of Rogate.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were Mr. A. W. Groves, hon. secretary, Messrs. Norriss, Adams and Tucker, with Messrs. Hills, Lindup and Netley, committee.

It was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Petworth in May next.

After votes of thanks to the Rector for granting the use of the bells and providing the excellent spread, also to the ladies who waited at table, a short service was held, and an address given by the Rev. J. Godber. The members then again visited the tower for further ringing, and Heene bells being available some of the company made their way there, and rang Stedman, Plain Bob and Oxford Bob Triples.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.EASTERN BRANCH OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Branch was held at Butterwick on Saturday, February 2nd. Ringers were present from Boston, Butterwick, Freiston, Folkingham, Leake, Sibsey, Spalding, Surfleet, Stickney and Pinchbeck. Ringing commenced about 2.30 p.m., and at 4.15 p.m., a short service with an address was conducted by the president (Rev. J. R. Trotter, Vicar of Freiston with Butterwick). Afterwards, all those present were hospitably entertained to a 'knife and fork' tea by the president, at the Five Bells Inn. The business meeting took place. The president (Rev. J. R. Trotter) was unanimously re-elected. The vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc. Mr. J. Phillips was unanimously re-elected to the joint office of hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. W. E. Clarke was re-elected to the office of Branch Ringing Master by a good majority, and Mr. Alex. Sharp to that of Guild representative by the casting vote of the president.

Leake was chosen as the place for holding the next meeting.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the president for conducting the service, for the use of the bells, and for his kind hospitality in entertaining the members, on the proposition of the Rev. Canon Hodge, Rector of Benington. Ringing was again the order after the meeting, and was kept up until close upon 9 p.m., when a very successful meeting terminated.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Doncaster and District Society took place on Saturday, February 2nd, at Doncaster. Although the weather was bad, there was a good attendance of ringers, and the bells were merrily going soon after 3 p.m. Various methods were practised by the members from 14 towers, and ringing continued until 5 p.m.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Doncaster (Rev. Canon Brooke), assisted by the Rev. Neadham and Rev. Machon, who gave a helpful address.

Tea was partaken of in the Golton Cafe, the society being honoured by the presence of the Vicar and his curates. As the Vicar had to leave at short notice, he was asked before he went to make a presentation to the late secretary, Mr. Harold Walker. The gift took the form of a timepiece, suitably inscribed.

Rev. R. Machon presided over the business meeting, at which several new members were elected.

The secretary presented his report and balance sheet, which showed a gain on the year's working, and was passed as satisfactory.

The cup for Sunday service attendance was awarded by the late secretary, the result being: Doncaster 93 per cent., Tickhill 91 per cent., Conisborough 90 per cent., and Arksey 89 per cent.

The next meeting is to be held at Adwick-le-Street.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, and also to the Rev. R. Machon for presiding over the business meeting, and to all who made the arrangements for one of the best gatherings held by the society.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.ISLAND MEMBERS' ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Isle of Wight District was held at Carisbrooke on Saturday, February 2nd, when members from all parts of the Island and a number from Portsmouth attended notwithstanding the inclement weather. The standard methods were practised on this favourite peal of eight. The Vicar of Carisbrooke, the Rev. H. S. Footman, took the Guild's service, and gave a short address, Dr. J. Bruce Williamson presiding at the organ. Afterwards the Vicar entertained the members to tea at the Waverley Hotel, and took the chair at the business meeting. The district secretary (Mr. B. J. Snow), being absent through illness, Mr. H. Barton deputised, and read the secretary's report. The auditor (Mr. H. A. Phillips) presented the statement of accounts, which showed that the sum of £4 had been sent to headquarters, after paying the expenses of the district and retaining a small balance in hand.

The Ringing Master gave his report for the past year, and impressed upon the district the necessity of practising new methods in order to make the art more attractive and the Sunday ringing less monotonous.

All these reports were adopted, the various officials being re-elected to their posts with thanks for their past services.

The Vicar of Brading (the Rev. A. C. Hampton Weeks) was elected president of the district for the ensuing year. Several new members were elected, while Brading was selected as the place for the next quarterly meeting, the date to be left to the secretary to fix.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rev. H. S. Footman for his kindness in welcoming the Guild to Carisbrooke, and also for his hospitality. Mr. Burnett, on behalf of the Portsmouth contingent, expressed their appreciation.

ANDOVER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Andover District held at Whitechurch was attended by 36 members from Basingstoke, Highclere, Laverstoke, King's Somborne, North Stoneham, Overton, St. Mary Bourne, Woolton Hill, Woolton St. Lawrence, Whitechurch and Winchester.

Service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Guild form was used, and an address given by the Vicar.

At the business meeting the district secretary gave a very satisfactory report on the first year's working of the district, and stated that eight towers were in union, with a membership of 65, and there was every appearance of the Andover District becoming a strong, active branch of the Guild.

The district officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. M. S. Douglas; secretary, Rev. F. C. Sear; Ringing Master, Mr. R. Rex; auditor, Mr. O. Smart; representative of Central Committee, Mr. F. Knapp.

It was decided to hold the next annual district meeting at Whitechurch on February 1st, 1930. Quarterly meetings were arranged to be held at Amport on April 4th, and at Laverstoke and Andover, the dates of the two latter to be decided later.

It was decided to invite the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Guild to hold a joint meeting at Highclere on May 18th.

During the afternoon and evening the fine ring of eight bells was made good use of, touches in various methods from Doubles to Major being brought round.

BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Basingstoke District was a great success, over 60 members attending from Basingstoke, Bramley, Ellisfield, North Stoneham, Oakley, Overton, Sherfield, Sherborne St. John, Wolverton, Woolton St. Lawrence and Winchester.

Dr. Boustead gave an address at the service which was held at St. Michael's Church.

The bells at both St. Michael's and All Saints' Churches were available for ringing, and good use was made of them in a variety of methods during the afternoon and evening.

An excellent tea, provided by the generosity of the Basingstoke ringers, was enjoyed in the Church Room.

At the business meeting, which was presided over by Rev. G. H. Jaudwine, R.D., the following district officers were elected: Chairman, Dr. Boustead; secretary, Rev. D. L. Board; auditor, Mr. F. Wilson; Ringing Master, Mr. C. Osler; representative on Central Committee, Mr. Chesterman.

It was decided to hold the next annual district meeting at Basingstoke on January 25th, 1930. Quarterly meetings were also arranged to be held at Sherborne St. John, Yateley and Overton.

A letter was read from the Farnham Branch secretary of the Guildford Guild, suggesting a combined meeting at Yateley and Hawley, to be arranged for a date in August. It was agreed that the invitation be accepted and left to the district secretary to arrange.

The District Secretary reported on the year's working in the district, which showed a very satisfactory state of affairs, with 14 towers in union and a membership of 115.

The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks.

RINGER KILLED ON RAILWAY.

A verdict of 'Accidental death' was recorded at an inquest held upon Harold William Fright, aged 30, assistant yardmaster at Temple Mills, L.N.E.R., siding, who resided at Oaklands, Aluslie Wood Road, South Chingford, and who was killed while on duty.

Mr. Fright was a ringer, and had in the past contributed to 'The Ringing World' articles on method construction.

Mr. Fright went to Chingford three years ago from Catford Bridge, where for many years his father was stationmaster, on the old South-Eastern and Chatham Railway. He left school when he was 18 to join the colours in 1916, and served until the conclusion of hostilities. He was decorated with the Military Cross. After the war he was a student at the London School of Economics for three years, and gained the degree of Bachelor of Commerce. He then served a three years' traffic apprenticeship with the L.N.E.R., and was afterwards appointed assistant yard master at Temple Mills. He leaves a widow and one child, a little girl, aged only 18 months.

The funeral took place at Hythe, Kent, and among the many beautiful floral tributes were those from the yard masters and staff of Temple Mills, and the president and the St. Leonard's Bellringing Society, of which he was a member.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.MORE SUPPORT WANTED IN CHERTSEY DISTRICT.

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Chertsey on February 9th. The district towers represented were Chertsey, Esher, Egham, Hersham, Oaklands Park, Ottershaw, Thames Ditton, Walton, and there were visitors from Guildford (Cathedral), Leatherhead, Woking and Crawley.

After the Guild service, and tea in the Church Room, Admiral T. P. Walker presided over the business meeting, at which the hon. secretary (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) reported that there were three honorary and 69 ringing members in the district, but there were still three towers where the ringers had not joined the Guild, East Molesey, Weybridge and Chobham, although in the case of Chobham the tower was affiliated to the Guild. The receipts were £7 11s. 6d., half of which went to the central fund. The expenses had been £1 19s., and the District was left with a balance in hand of £1 16s. 9d. The balance sheet, which was considered very satisfactory, was adopted.

The Ringing Master (Mr. W. T. Beeson) said that during the year two peals (Bob Major and Bob Minor) had been rung in the district. The difficulty in regard to peal ringing was to get the towers. Although they had 69 members in the district, they had found a lack of support in the combined practices. He asked for suggestions for improving the attendance, in order that they might improve the standard of ringing in the district.

A discussion took place in which several speakers appealed for support for these practices, and Mr. A. H. Winch (Leatherhead) pointed out how successful the practices were in that district, where they are held weekly.

The only nominations for officers received were Mr. H. Hancock, as hon. secretary, and Mr. H. J. Chaffey, as Ringing Master, and these were duly elected. Mr. Hawthorne and Mrs. Beeson were elected to represent the District on the Executive Committee, and Rev. W. N. Willis was reappointed as the hon. members' representative.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting on February 8th, 1930, at Oaklands Park, and to hold district meetings at East Molesey, Horsell, Esher, Egham and Ottershaw, also to join with Guildford District in a meeting at Woking, and to hold a return joint meeting with the South and West District of the Middlesex Association at Sunbury in the summer.

Seven new members were elected, and the meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the officers for their services during the past year, to the Vicar of Chertsey for the use of the bells, to the curate for conducting the service, to the organist, and to the chairman for presiding.

HASLEMERE RINGERS MARRIED.

A very interesting wedding took place at St. Bartholomew's Church, Haslemere, Surrey, on Saturday, February 2nd, when Mr. Fred Bowden was married to Miss Elsie Collard. Both are enthusiastic ringers of the local company. The Rector, assisted by the Rev. O. S. Walford, officiated. The bride was given away by her father, and Mr. Charles Bowden acted as best man.

After the service a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung by H. Furlonger 1, J. H. B. Hesse 2, B. Elliott 3, Miss I. L. Hastie 4, R. Hayes 5, C. E. Smith 6, R. Overy 7, J. Bartlett (conductor) 8, G. Luff 9, Walter Eldridge 10. First quarter-peal on ten bells by Messrs. Furlonger and Luff.

The many friends of the happy pair, together with the local and visiting ringers, were entertained at the wedding reception at the Broadway Restaurant, where toasts were given to the bride and bridegroom, and suitable responses were made.

On the previous Monday evening, the Rector presented to the bride and bridegroom, on behalf of himself, Mr. Walford and the local ringers, a copper tea kettle and dessert dish.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.BRISTOL BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Bristol Branch was held at St. Michael's (City). The service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. S. Hazledine), was fully choral. After this a move was made to the Parish Room, where tea had been prepared. About fifty members sat down, and amongst the visitors present were Rev. D. A. Jaquet (St. James'), Mr. J. R. Jones (Weston-super-Mare), Mr. H. W. Fussell (Dursley), Mr. A. Burcombe (Stinchcombe), and Messrs. Knight and Coombes, of Portishead. Nineteen towers were represented altogether.

The annual meeting followed the tea, and Mr. J. Gould, the chairman, presided. A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector, who had to leave early. In his reply, he said how pleased he was to have the association at St. Michael's, and hoped they would come again at some future date.

Six performing and three life members were elected.

The Chairman said he was inclined to agree with what the Rector had said during his address in the afternoon, that it was oftentimes the case that people who were not in the limelight did not take an active part of the work of an organisation, and he referred particularly to some members of the branch who seldom helped with the 'spade work.' He spoke of the good work done during the year in visiting six-bell towers.

Then followed the secretary's report, in which he thanked the chairman and the few who had supported him very loyally during the year. The report showed that eleven meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 33. He made mention of the rapid strides made by the members at Abson tower, the affiliation of Alveston to the association, and of the joining up of the members the opening of St. Ambrose's bells and the success they had obtained. He reminded the members, with regret, of the one death during the year, that of Mr. S. Abraham, who was a very staunch supporter of the branch. Fifty-one performing and five associate members were elected during the year.

The balance sheet showed a balance in hand of £16 13s. 3d., to be handed to the general treasurer. The expenses for the year were slightly reduced, being £6 11s.

It was decided to hold the next monthly meeting on February 23rd at St. Peter's (City), and combine this with the annual meeting of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds. The quarterly meeting of the branch was fixed for St. Matthew's (Kingsdown), and will take place on March 23rd, and not on the last Saturday of the month, as is the usual practice.

Mr. E. Guise proposed and Mr. Thomas seconded that the officers be re-elected en bloc. This was carried with applause. The officers for 1929 will therefore be: Chairman, Mr. J. Gould; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. Way; representative on Management Committee, Mr. J. Jefferies.

This concluded the business, and the Chairman announced that, in addition to St. Michael's, St. James' bells were available, and a move was made for these towers.

CIRENCESTER BRANCH TO HAVE A MID-WEEK MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Cirencester Branch was held at Cirencester on Saturday, January 26th, some thirty members and visitors attending from Cirencester, Swindon, Fairford, Wootton Bassett, Tetbury, Cole St. Aldwyns, Minchinhampton, Faringdon, South Cerney and Burford.

Watermoor bells were rung during the afternoon, and tea was served at Messrs. Viner's Restaurant. At the business meeting the Rev. A. H. Longley occupied the chair, and the following officers were elected: Chairman, the Rev. A. M. Coode; hon. secretary, Mr. F. J. Lewis; Management Committee, Mr. J. Hope.

Tetbury was chosen for the next meeting, the date being fixed for the second Thursday in March to enable members who cannot attend on Saturdays to have the chance of attending a meeting.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Westmacott, and to the Rev. A. H. Longley for giving permission to ring and for taking the service.

The ringers' service was held at the Parish Church, and was conducted by the Vicar. The Parish Church bells were then open for ringing. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Cambridge Surprise Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Bob Royal and Grandsire Cinques. Although the striking was not of the best, a good practice was had in these methods, several of visitors having their first pull on twelve bells.

YATELEY, HANTS.—On February 7th, as a farewell to the Rev. A. J. Howell, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: A. Whittle 1, W. G. Bunch 2, A. Hearnson 3, G. Butler 4, G. Ives 5, A. Goodall 6, S. Riddell (conductor) 7, A. Hearnson 8. On the previous evening Holt's Ten-part, which was being conducted by G. Butler, was unfortunately interrupted after an hour's ringing.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

BOURNE, Lincs.—On Sunday, February 17th, at the Abbey Church, for evensong, 720 changes of London Surprise Minor: J. Neal 1, C. T. H. Bradley (first 720 of London) 2, J. W. Lake (conductor) 3, J. Osborne 4, A. S. Allen 5, A. T. Palmer 6.

STAFFORD.—At St. Mary's Church, on Sunday, February 10th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 47 mins.: F. R. Wiggan 1, A. E. Garbett 2, W. H. Jones 3, H. Evans 4, R. J. Warrilow 5, F. T. Hayle 6, J. Warrilow (conductor) 7, W. G. Curtis 8. This was the first quarter-peal rung by the ringer of the treble, and the first quarter-peal on an inside bell by the ringer of the 4th.

HUGHENDEN, Bucks.—On Sunday, February 10th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 47 mins.: V. Evans 1, J. Kimber 2, D. Kimber 3, E. Biggs 4, A. G. Jones 5, E. D. Boreham 6, R. Biggs (conductor) 7, P. Nulton 8.

LANGPORT, SOMERSET.—On Sunday, February 10th, at All Saints' Church, for morning service, a 720 Bob Minor was rung: S. Meaker (first 720) 1, G. Lock 2, T. Creed (conductor) 3, R. Mills 4, W. Tout 5, F. Lock 6.

DEPTFORD.—At St. John's Church, on Sunday, February 3rd, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 42 mins.: J. Colby 1, R. Steers 2, C. Davies 3, A. F. Petrie 4, E. B. Crowder 5, A. F. Bennington 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, A. Penn (first quarter-peal) 8.

FULHAM.—At All Saints' Church, for evening service on February 3rd, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: A. Waddington 1, H. Elles 2, A. Cutmore 3, G. Winney 4, W. H. Hollier 5, A. Harding 6, F. Skevington (conductor) 7, G. A. Block 8.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.TONBRIDGE DISTRICT.

Over eighty members of the Kent County Association attended the annual meeting of the Tonbridge District at Edenbridge on February 2nd. The towers represented were Canterbury, Maidstone, Sevenoaks, Tonbridge, Tunbridge, Wells, Haver, Lamberhurst, Westerham, Shipbourne, Chiddington, Leigh, Godstone, Plaxtol, East Grinstead, Penshurst, Merstham, Crawley, Limpsfield, Chart, Horley, Chislehurst and Speldhurst, and these, with the local band, met at the tower, when touches were rung in various methods from Grandsire Triples to Superlative Surprise. There was a service in the church, and the Vicar, the Rev. H. O. Edwards, delivered an interesting address, Mr. W. E. Pitman (Canterbury) being at the organ. Tea, given by the Vicar and Mrs. Edwards, was served in the Church School, at which a pleasant surprise awaited the visitors in the shape of a large iced wedding cake, it being the fourteenth anniversary of the marriage of the Vicar and Mrs. Edwards. Their health was drunk with musical honours.

The Vicar presided at the annual meeting, supported by the Rev. F. L. Schreiber (Shipbourne), the Rev. W. G. Salmon, and Mr. W. L. Latter (hon. district secretary). The Vicar extended a hearty welcome, and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many—particularly a large number of young ringers—and thanked them for their kind greetings.

Mr. Latter (hon. secretary) presented his annual report, which reported a slight increase in membership. Mr. Latter was re-elected district secretary, a post which he has filled for 33 years, and Messrs. G. Edwards and H. Markwell were elected representatives on the association committee.

Many new members were proposed, including nine from Cowden, seven from Shipbourne, three from Chiddington, three from Haver, and one each from Tonbridge, Edenbridge, Thornton Heath, Sevenoaks and Limpsfield.

Mr. G. Edwards reported that the annual meeting of the Kent County Association would be held at Maidstone on Easter Monday, and also pointed out the need for new conductors. He stated that the tenor bell at Chiddington was in hand for repair.

It was decided to hold meetings during the year at Cranbrook, Chiddington or Westerham, Shipbourne and Tonbridge.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to Rev. and Mrs. H. O. Edwards for their kind hospitality, etc., to Mr. W. E. Pitman (organist), and to the local members for their arrangements.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S POSITION

A letter in our last issue raises again a pertinent question in regard to the position of the Central Council in the Exercise. It is this: Shall the Council represent the views of the Guilds and Associations who elect the majority of the members, or shall it represent only the opinions of the individuals of which it is formed? It is a question of great importance to the future of the Council, and one which sooner or later has got to be met and dealt with. At present the tradition of the Council is that the members attend the meetings free and untrammelled, to vote on any matter as they personally think fit; and, when we consider the conditions under which the Council was formed, the very loose organisation that existed among ringers throughout the country at that time and the still more meagre ties between the individual associations, it is obvious that in those days nothing which savoured of "authority" or "dictatorial powers" could have hoped to succeed. It was just a friendly gathering of men interested in the Exercise, selected by their associations, to meet annually, express opinions and pass pious resolutions which it was hoped ringers would accept as being for the benefit of the art. That position continues to this day. Although the associations have advanced in the hold which they have in their respective territories and have become, most of them, far more representative of the ringers, the Council remains constitutionally where it did.

But the Council has done this; it has shown by its work that it is an indispensable part of the organisation of the Exercise. Despite all that may be said by those who pooh-pooh its value, the Council is the real hub of ringing, and without it the wheel of the Exercise would become nothing but disintegrated units, with differing aims and nothing to co-ordinate their common activities. Realising, as the majority of ringers do, therefore, that the Council, with all its shortcomings, is an essential in the welfare of the Art, is it not time that it was put on to a more substantial foundation in its relation to the associations? In other words, should the members represent their own views or the wishes of those who send them and, who, in many cases, pay the expenses? There will be those who will say, 'Let well alone,' but there is a strong feeling in some quarters that if the interest of ringers in the Council is to be increased and their respect for its rulings maintained, some stronger link is necessary to bind the associations to the central body. At present there are those who look upon the Council's meetings as a pleasant holiday jaunt for those who have the good fortune to be elected to attend them, and that no importance attaches to the decisions arrived at. That feeling is neither good for the Exercise nor the Council, and it might be well if the whole position were considered in the light of present day opinion among large bodies of the ringing fraternity. The triennial elections take place next year, and that would be the time to test the feeling of the members of associations on the subject.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.GRIMSBY DISTRICT'S JOINT MEETING WITH LADIES' GUILD.

The Grimsby District of the Lincoln Guild held a combined meeting with the Lincoln District of the Ladies' Guild at Grimsby, at which some thirty-two members attended from Barrow, Barton-on-Humber, Bigby, Ulceby, Goxhill, Laceby, Burton-on-Stather, Grimsby St. James' and Grimsby St. Andrew's, also Rev. J. Barber, Rector of Great Coates, Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson, of Surfleet, and ladies from Laceby. The service was held at St. Andrew's Church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. T. Russel Warrilow), who gave an interesting address. The Ladies' Guild service was used, and Mr. H. Rushby kindly presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the Church Hall. Tea over, the ladies' meeting took place, followed by the annual meeting of the Grimsby District. The Rev. H. T. Parry was re-elected president, Mr. H. I. Mingay secretary, Mr. C. W. Taylor representative on the branch committee, Mr. J. Bray Ringing Master, and Mr. G. Blanchard Deputy Ringing Master.

Seven new performing members and two honorary members were elected. Places and dates fixed for the district meetings for the year were: Ulceby April 6th, Louth May 20th, Burton-on-Stather combined meeting June 22nd, Bigby July 20th, Waltham August 17th, Scunthorpe September 19th, Thursday afternoon meeting, Barton-on-Humber October 26th.

The collection for the district bell fund amounted to 17s.

A resolution that the Guild should have reports printed as in previous years was carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks was given to the Vicars of St. Andrew's and St. James' for the use of the bells, to the Vicar of St. Andrew's for conducting the service, to Mr. Rushby for presiding at the organ, to all those who made the meeting such a success, also the president for presiding.

Members then adjourned to the towers for more ringing.

BRAINTREE RINGER'S LOSS.

Ringers friends of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Reason, of Braintree, will read with regret of the death of their son, Geoffrey Charles. Although not yet thirteen years of age, the deceased was a very promising lad. He won a scholarship at the County High School before he was twelve years old, and was already keenly interested in ringing. Until a fortnight ago, he was very robust, and the picture of health. Very suddenly he became ill, and was removed to hospital, and passed away on Tuesday, January 29th.

The funeral took place on Saturday, February 2nd. Rev. G. P. Bassett-Kerry, M.A., Vicar, officiated at the church, and the committal service in the cemetery was taken by the Rev. S. J. Rust, assistant curate.

In addition to the parents and relatives, there were present Mr. A. M. Dell, the headmaster, and pupils from the High School, Mr. C. E. Fulbeck, headmaster, and Mr. E. G. Hick, assistant master, and scholars from the Church of England School, where the deceased formerly attended, Mr. D. Smith, superintendent of the Church Sunday Schools, Messrs. L. W. and A. Wiffen, H. E. and W. H. Hammond, G. Lindridge and C. H. Howard, members of the St. Michael's Guild of Ringers, and quite a number of his friends from Felstead, where he formerly lived and with whom he was very popular. Floral tributes were sent from relatives and friends, pupils of the High School and C.E. School, and the St. Michael's Guild of Ringers, who, immediately afterwards, rang touches of Double Norwich Major with the clappers half-muffled on the bells of the Parish Church.

'NORTH SOUTHWARK DIOCESAN GUILD.'LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION EXPANDS ITS TITLE.

A very successful meeting of the London County Association was held on Saturday, February 9th, the towers of St. Clement Danes, Strand, and St. Dunstan's-in-the-East being available. After ringing, a short service was conducted by the Rev. Kingston, who kindly consented to officiate in the absence of the hon. chaplain, who, it was regretted, was unable to attend. After tea, the members proceeded to St. Clement Danes' Parish Hall for the annual business meeting, as a preliminary to which members of the Isleworth band played a selection of tunes.

It was gratifying to note that the districts had progressed very favourably during 1928, and it was hoped that they would continue to do so.

The Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender, was again unanimously elected to fill that position. Other officers were as follows: General secretary, Mr. S. C. Moya; assistant secretaries, Messrs. T. Wyatt and T. W. Taffender; treasurer, Mr. E. A. Young; trustees, Messrs. A. H. Keighley and F. E. Dawe; stewards, Messrs. F. Chorley and W. Grainger.

The Bishop of Southwark having kindly consented to become a patron of the association, it was agreed to alter the name of the association to read 'The London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild.'

The meeting terminated with some excellent touches on the handbells by several of the members.

NOTTS RINGER'S 100 PEALS.

OLD RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Many years ago I looked through the old issues of the 'Norwich Gazette' at the British Museum for my friend, Samuel Slater. The earliest number of the 'Gazette' there was that of April 24th, 1725. The first entry related to the addition of two bells to the six then at St. Michael Coslany.

Then comes a notice of an attempt of the College Youths for a peal of 5,000 and odd changes on St. Martin's bells, lost after three hours through a rope breaking.

The first record of a peal was in the 'Gazette' of April 8th, 1727, as follows: Norwich, April 8th, on the 1st instant was rung by eight men at the Church of St. Michael Coslany, in this city, the quarter-peal of Treble Bob Royal (called by some in England Union Bob), containing 10,080 changes, which they rung in 6 hours 28 minutes, with not a bell out of course or anything amiss.

In the 'Gazette' of November 8th, 1729, there was a letter from the Eye ringers disputing the truth of the above peal, and of others claimed by Norwich.

I think the reference to the peal at St. Margaret's, Leicester, on February 23rd, 1730, was rung by the society of Leicester Scholars, the whole peal of 5,040 Triples in 3 hours 6 minutes and 27 seconds, to the great satisfaction of all the Hearers, is well known at Leicester.

Whether the particulars I furnished to Mr. Slater were among the papers destroyed at his death or not I do not know. The Editor of the 'Norwich Gazette' must have had some very general interest in bells and ringing and some very wide correspondence, or he had an enthusiast on his staff.—Yours faithfully, E. P. COLE.

P.S.—The earliest copy of the 'Gazette' at the British Museum was No. 969, Vol. 19. Are the earlier numbers extant?

EARLY PEALS AT KETTERING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have noticed in 'Grandsire,' page 126, the copy of the record of a peal rung at Kettering. This is not a correct copy of the peal board, which is still in the belfry, and reads: 'February 28th, 1729 (and not February 20th), the whole peal of Grandsire Triples, containing 5,040 changes, was rung here in 3 hours and 18 minutes by the following persons, all of this parish, viz.: Tho. Howard 1, Tho. Woodford 2, John Law 3, Geo. Eayre 4, Hen. Parker 5, Jas. Booth 6, Jno. Carley 7, Henry Lades 8.'

As next Thursday is the 200th anniversary of the peal being rung, it is an appropriate time to note this error. The next peal at Kettering, 'Grandsire,' page 127, is copied correctly with the exception of Rob. Booth, which on the board is Jas. Booth, and the ringer of the fourth is George Eayre, given as G. Eayre.—Yours faithfully, R. G. BLACK.

Geddington,

February 24th, 1929.

NOT THE 'FIRST.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I see in the peal columns of your last issue of 'The Ringing World' a peal of Minor rung at Lockerley, Hants, under the auspices of the Winchester Guild which states in a footnote: 'First peal on the bells.' This is evidently an unintentional error, as the first peal was rung on August 10th, 1891, by members of the Romsey Abbey Branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and was published in 'The Bell News' of that period.—Yours, etc., C. TRIBE.

Tenterden, Kent.

A COMBINED MEETING

A PRESENTATION AT TENTERDEN.

A combined meeting of the Kent County Association and Romney Marsh and District Guild was held at Tenterden on Saturday, February 16th. The afternoon was spent in ringing, and a service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. M. Mann), who gave an inspiring address on the value of ringers as churchworkers. Tea was partaken of at English's Restaurant, and 24 members were present. The K.C.A. business meeting was presided over by the Vicar. Tenterden was chosen for the next meeting, and two new members from Headcorn were elected.

Then a very pleasant surprise was sprung upon Mr. G. Cramp, the oldest member of the local band, the Vicar presenting him with an umbrella and cheque on attaining his 80th birthday. He still mounts the lofty tower regularly to ring for divine service. The gift was subscribed for by the Vicar, churchwardens and the local band.

The Rev. M. N. Vicker, president of the Romney Marsh Guild, then presided over the Guild meeting, when five probationers from Appledore were elected and Hythe was chosen for the next monthly meeting.

Thanks to the two chairmen for presiding, and to the organist (Mr. W. E. Pitman), concluded the meetings. The members then returned to the tower for more ringing, when, alas, out went the electric lights, and the bells were lowered with the aid of a storm lantern, and the day was finished in 'ringing talk.'

A SUSSEX AUGMENTATION.

The little village of Wisborough Green, in North-West Sussex, has had its church bells augmented to six. Originally there were four, but one was cracked, and this has been recast. The two additional bells have been provided by the generosity of a parishioner, and the whole have been hung in a new H frame on one level. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., who tuned the old bells, and, considering what their tone was before the operation, a marvellous improvement has been effected. The tower was restored, on the advice of Major J. H. B. Hesse, and the manner in which this part of the scheme has been carried out is an example of how work of this description ought to be done. In the rehang-ing of the bells, which is a perfect Loughborough job, they have been brought twelve feet lower in the tower, and the peal are a very musical six.

The dedication took place on Sunday, when the opening rounds were rung by the ringers from the neighbouring tower of Kirdford, and afterwards touches were rung by numerous ringing visitors.

CORNWALL RESIDENTS' SUCCESS

FIRST EIGHT-BELL PEAL FOR 46 YEARS.

A peal of Grandsire Triples, rung at Phillach on February 2nd, and recently published in the peal columns of this paper, brought to an end the long period since an eight-bell peal was rung in Cornwall by a band all living in the county. It was as long ago as June 4th, 1883—46 years ago—that Dr. J. Symons, the present Ringing Master of the Truro Diocesan Guild, conducted a peal at St. Mary's, Penzance. There was at that time no Truro Diocesan Guild, and the peal was rung for the Devon Guild. Alas! St. Mary's bells are now unringable, having been in this state for years, and out of Cornwall's twenty-nine octaves are the only ring in this forlorn condition. Although there is a substantial sum in hand for the restoration, the church authorities seem far from keen to complete this work.

Several residents have taken part in peals for the Truro Guild during its twenty-four years' existence, especially during the past three years, but in every case the conductor and some of the band have come across the Tamar, from Devon. The peal on February 2nd was the fourth attempt during the past few months, the other three being at Truro Cathedral, where it was hoped to achieve the 'first' for the Truro Diocesan Guild. It seemed as if peals would not come round on the Cathedral bells last year. Every attempt proved elusive, even Stedman Caters by a very efficient band, under the conductorship of Mr. Frank Bennett, last August.

However, it was a reward to be able to record a peal rung without a 'trip' from start to finish, and with beautiful striking. With the previous failures, R. A. Watts, A. M. Thomas, Horace Bennett, Harold Bennett, F. M. Roberts and H. Stephens have to be associated.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

If Bray is the most attractive tower in the East Berks and South Bucks Branch for young ringers, then Marlow must be the magnet for the older members, for, in spite of a foggy evening, nearly all the 'old school' turned up at the combined practice on Saturday, and with a few young ones filled the tower to overflowing, so that quite a number visited Mr. J. C. Fruss for another change. Methods ranging from Grandsire to London were tried, the evening closing with a visit from the Vicar, who hoped that all had enjoyed their practice. It was decided to hold the next practice at Cookham on March 23rd.

BEDWAS RINGER'S DEATH.

The death occurred from pneumonia on February 18th of Mr. A. J. Hurford, one of the ringers at Bedwas, Mon. He was 53 years of age, and succumbed after only a week's illness.

Formerly of Dawlish Wake (Somerset), Mr. Hurford had long been a faithful member of the Bedwas band, by whom he will be much missed. He started change ringing about seven years ago, and had rung half a dozen peals of Triples for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association.

The funeral took place on Thursday of last week, and afterwards the bells were rung half-muffled by A. G. Martin, A. E. Slatter, S. Addicott, G. Cooke, G. H. Martin, R. Ridout, W. Bennett, J. Parry and H. Matthews.

WYCOMBE RINGERS.

The annual meeting of the High Wycombe belfry took place at the Vicarage recently. The Vicar presided. It was shown that 1,388 attendances had been put in for the year. The balance sheet was submitted and approved. The officers for the year were elected as follow: President, the Vicar, Rev. W. L. P. Float, M.A.; foreman, Mr. Ralph Cole; deputy foreman, Mr. George White; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. George Twitchen; collector, Mr. Boxell.

The annual outing was fixed to take place on Whit Monday.—A small committee was appointed to revise the rules.

The meeting over, the ringers adjourned to another room, where the Vicar and Mrs. Float had in readiness a first-class supper. The menu was typically Old English, and served with a daintiness and charm that satisfied the most fastidious, and the meal was most heartily enjoyed.

At the close, Messrs. J. W. Wilkins and G. White voiced the gratitude of the ringers to their host and hostess. 'To our next' and a 'chain of fire' brought the interesting proceedings to a close.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At Truro Cathedral, on Sunday, February 17th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): Noel Williams (first quarter) 1, A. S. Roberts 2, R. A. Watts 3, A. F. Knight 4, Horace Bennett 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, W. H. Southard (conductor) 7, F. M. Roberts 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled in memory of the late Dr. W. O. Burrows, D.D., Bishop of Chichester, formerly Bishop of Truro. Miss D. Mannell and H. Stephens also took part in half-muffled ringing prior to the memorial service at 2 p.m. on Monday, February 18th.

At Kimpton, Herts, on Monday, February 18th, 720 Bob Minor in 25 mins.: G. Cain 1, A. Gillings (conductor) 2, D. Luck 3, J. Wells 4, R. Hall 5, T. Cann 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute of respect to the late Rev. A. T. Whyte-Venables, of Shinfield, Reading, until recently Vicar of Kimpton, whose body was interred in Kimpton Churchyard on the same day.

At St. John's Church, Stanmore, Middlesex, on Sunday evening, February 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 mins., with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect for the late C. Johnson, who was verger at the above church for 53 years: F. Hill 1, G. A. Hughes, jun., 2, H. Moxom 3, E. Heading 4, G. Cheshire 5, F. Edwards 6, C. Dyke (conductor) 7, G. A. Hughes, sen., 8.

WOOLWICH BELLRINGERS' ANNUAL SUPPER.

The band of ringers attached to Woolwich Parish Church (St. Mary's) recently held their annual supper. The Rector (Rev. A. M. Pickering) presided, supported by past and present churchwardens. In proposing the ringers' health, the Chairman expressed extreme appreciation of the work of the band, which was founded in 1925.—Mr. Aldridge, Master of the company, gave a report on the work of 1928, during which six quarter-peals of Grandsire Doubles had been rung.—Mr. C. Palmer, secretary, supplying some statistics, stated that all present ringers belonged to the London County Association and five to the Kent County Association. Although the bells would first need an overhaul by a bell hanger, it was hoped, he said, that a peal of Grandsire Triples would be accomplished during 1929.

A musical entertainment by friends and a demonstration on the handbells by the ringers brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

WIVELISCOMBE.—At St. Andrew's Church, on January 30th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes, ten ways): W. J. Greedy 1, C. Parkman (first quarter-peal) 2, H. Rawles 3, E. Brarington 4, W. A. J. Knight (conductor) 5, S. Furze 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Forty years ago to-day the Warnham, Sussex, band rung a peal of 13,440 Canterbury Pleasure Major in 7 hrs. 45 mins. They had scored the first peal ever rung in the method on the previous December 17th. Later, they essayed a 20,000, but this was unsuccessful.

March 1st is the anniversary of two long peals of Grandsire Caters, one, 8,064, rung in 1734, and the other, 10,080, the following year.

A society of which very little is known rang Holt's peal of Grandsire Triples at Oswestry on March 3rd, 1785. The ringers described themselves as members of the 'Anacreontic' Society, whatever that was, and the name appears on the board in the tower.

William D. Crofts called a peal of 10,260 Grandsire Caters at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on Shrove Tuesday, March 3rd, 1778.

The Yorkshire Association rang their first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major thirty years ago next Monday.

The Surrey Youths of St. Giles', one or the more or less ephemeral societies of which London has had several instances, rang a peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Giles', Camberwell, 'the first peal performed on the bells,' on March 5th, 1845. It was composed and conducted by John Cox.

We are pleased to be able to state that the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, is slowly recovering from his recent severe illness, but not being able to undertake the secretarial duties connected with the annual meeting to be held on Easter Monday, he has appointed Mr. F. M. Mitchell, the Rochester District hon. secretary, to act in his stead, and all correspondence concerning the meeting should be sent to 114, Sun Lane, Gravesend.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I notice under the list of notable performances by the College Youths in their recently issued and most interesting book, a peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Christ Church, Spitalfields, January 31st, 1851, which they claim to be the first non-conducted peal. May I point out that on Sunday, June 26th, 1803, a peal of Bob Major was rung at Aston, Birmingham, the footnote of which reads: 'Rung without a bob or single being called or any explanation being given.'

Again, I notice the College Youths claim to have rung the first peal in Wales by ringing 5,040 Grandsire Triples at Llanstephan, January 1st, 1876, whereas there was rung at Wrexham, July 27th, 1803, a peal of Grandsire Caters, 5,021 changes, and recorded as the first peal in the Principality. The second peal in Wales was rung at the opening of the bells at Dolgelly, on September 25th, 1809. It was 5,040 Grandsire Triples, conducted by John Kints (probably Mears' bell hanger). The next day a peal of Oxford Treble Major (5,088) was also rung at Dolgelly.—Yours faithfully, Birmingham. JAS. E. GROVES.

PEAL RINGING FOR PRACTICE.

Peals of Rutland and Pudsey Surprise Major were rung at St. Mary's, Willesden, on February 5th and 19th respectively by members of the Middlesex County Association. These peals, like that of Lincolnshire Surprise on October 2nd last, were rung for practice with a view to the methods being spliced in the Rev. H. Law James' composition, which has already been rung to four and five methods. Each of these three peals was rung at the first attempt, and in no instance had any of the band any previous practice!

THE J. LOWE APPEAL.

The appeal which has been made by the Lancashire Association on behalf of Mr. J. Lowe, of Bolton, has become more urgent. Mr. Lowe has for a long time been incapacitated, and everyone knows what a drain this is upon the limited resources of a working man. Hitherto his son has been the main support of the home, but now, we regret to say, he has met with a serious accident while following his employment in a colliery, and lies in Bolton Infirmary in a precarious condition. This additional misfortune makes the effort of the association to assist Mr. Lowe all the more pressing, and it is hoped that ringers throughout the country will give a helping hand, as they have done in other recent cases of genuine distress.

Those who wish to contribute should send their donations to Mr. J. Hall, 22, Silver Street, Miles Platting, Manchester, the Manchester District secretary of the Lancs Association.

PEALS OF MINOR.

MR. JAMES REPLIES TO HIS CRITICS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Severn deserves no answer to his two questions because he has broken through the friendly spirit with which this discussion has so far been carried on; but he shall have his answers for the sake of others who are interested in this matter.

Question 1 is already answered, but to make sure, the first row is 123456, the last is 124365. The first row of the 2nd 720 is 123456, and the last is 143265. The first row of the 3rd 720 is 142356, and the last is 132465. The first row of the 4th 720 is 134256, and the last is 124365. The 5th is the same as the 2nd, the 6th as the 3rd, and the 7th as the 4th.

Question 2 raises a very important question. Twelve or fourteen years ago I was talking one day to Mr. John W. Taylor, of Loughborough, and he said to me that the musical taste of the British public was slowly improving, and that the time would come when there would be a demand, first of all, for properly tuned bells, and, secondly, that the changes rung upon the bells should be good musical changes, and that if ringers did not take notice of these demands, change ringing would become unpopular and finally be stopped.

Now there are a large number of six-bell ringers who have a very laudable ambition to ring a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor, and also of London Surprise Minor, but they have refrained from doing so because before these arrangements appeared both these methods brought up 6-5 a backstroke, which is a most objectionable noise.

And now I turn to Mr. Parker, who asks, 'Why not include three of the 720's twice?'

Simply because that would be a step in the wrong direction. Forty years ago we used to see 14 360's in fourteen methods published in 'The Bell News' as a peal of Minor. Six-bell ringers have not only left that behind, but to-day never think of ringing the same 720 twice in a peal. Look at the Minor peals published. Bob Minor, 'seven 720's, each called differently,' appears week after week, and now the 'each called differently' is often left out because it has ceased to be necessary, being taken for granted.

Mr. Parker complains that the last three 720's are not 720's, I suppose because they are neither one round block nor one continuous string of rows, but each of them consists of 720 rows, and each of them is produced by making 720 changes, and they each of them differ from the first four because the Q sets which are bobbed are not the same, and the whole object of the resolution which was passed at Hertford was to eliminate the necessity of round blocks from the definition of a peal of Minor, and this was accomplished by omitting the statement in the old definition that the bells should strike round once at the end of each 720.

H. LAW JAMES.

A QUESTION OF DEGREE.

Dear Sir,—We should keep the two attributes 'true' and 'complete' distinct in our minds. As has been rightly said, truth is a matter of principle. But it does not follow that this principle is always to be observed strictly. As a matter of fact, about which all are agreed, it is a principle which is strictly observed on seven and higher numbers. On five or six bells, the principle has been relaxed to allow of a 5,040 being made up of extents which are linked together by one row only of rounds. What is now proposed is that instead of extents being linked only, they may also be spliced. I do not think that this can be styled more than a question of degree. If it were a matter of principle, the same question of principle must also exclude spliced methods. As I have said, I am not anxious to allow the proposed 'freaks,' but I do not think that those who wish to exclude them have made out a logical case.

If we are to maintain the attribute 'complete,' Mr. Powell's peal will be ruled out. If he had meant his proposal seriously, it would be necessary to ask him how he intended to conclude the ringing. Would he have stopped abruptly, immediately his last change was rung? Surely a difficult act after ringing a 5,000. Suppose one or two involuntary 'changes' were sounded before the bells ceased, would this invalidate the peal? Or would he teach his hand the last row by heart, so that they would repeat it several times before ceasing? Or would he 'jump' the bells into rounds? Or, even worse, bring them home by call changes?

It might seem that these are mere frivolous questions, but I am asking them in order to make it abundantly clear that the peal would be 'unfinished,' as everyone who heard it would be bound to say. Therefore it must be incomplete, or, if the exact meaning of that word be doubted, imperfect; or we might perhaps more exactly say, the rhythm of the ringing was broken.

But while the same process takes place in Minor or Doubles, we do not meet with the same catastrophe. The incompleteness of the one extent is completed in the next (or the imperfection is made perfect, or the broken rhythm is united). The same thing could be done in Mr. Powell's peal, if it were not for the convention which makes us ring exactly the extent, and no more or less, on seven bells only.

When I spoke of the same old six-scores I purposely used the plural, while those who have criticised me evidently are thinking of one special six-score. My point was that by splicing you are not limited to 120 changes in one cyclical round (or set) at a time. You give five-bell ringers a similar rhythmical (or cyclical relief) to that which ringers on higher numbers get from spliced methods. Moreover, you do not get this rhythmical relief by varying the place from which you start in Snowdon's figure, or by making each bell the hunt in turn.

HERBERT DRAKE.

LAWS ARE NECESSARY.

Sir,—May I congratulate you for so fully publishing so many views on the present controversy, and at the same time trying to interpret to us what the rules and conditions of a peal must be? I am sure all must agree that we must have some laws, like unto the Medes and Persians, and no Council should entertain any exits or entrances but what are already laid down. Methinks that our worthy clergy had better kept to 'splicing' at the chance end of the church, then we should have been saved much confusion.—

JOHN BRIANT'S CENTENARY

AN INVENTIVE GENIUS.

John Briant, the famous Hertford bell founder and clock maker, the centenary of whose death was commemorated on Wednesday by the dedication of a memorial tablet in All Saints' Church, Hertford, lived a long and active life, for he was 80 years old when he died at St. Albans, an inmate of the almshouses, on February 27th, 1829. He plied his calling for more than half a century in Hertford, and there are still more than 400 bells in existence which were cast by him.

'The Hertfordshire Mercury' of March 7th, 1829, contained a lengthy obituary notice of the old founder, in the course of which it said: 'It would be difficult for the most accurate biographer to travel through the versatile ingenuity of the life of the subject of the present narrative; but in justice to the memory of departed worth, we most cheerfully devote rather an unusual space to record the excellence of a man possessing a mind so capacious that shrunk at no difficulties. Mr. Briant was born at Exning, in Suffolk, and was the son of a respectable foreigner, who, at an early age, sent him to a classical and mathematical school at Newmarket, as a preparatory introduction to one of the universities, where it was intended that he should be brought up as a minister of the Established Church. His mind, however, was bent on mechanism, and nothing would suit his inventive genius but the bench of a white-smith's shop. He speedily soared beyond the vice and the anvil to this new capacity, and his predilections for bell founding, for music, and clock making engrossed his sole attention. He was, in every sense of the word, a self-taught mechanic, and became a proficient in each of the sciences in which he had embarked; and his superiority as a founder was allowed by all contemporaries to be unrivalled; but his pre-eminence was conspicuous as a noble founder, of which the bells of Cripplegate Church will be a lasting memory.'

'The town of Hertford is indebted to the Marquis of Salisbury, the grandfather of the present noble Marquis, under whose auspices he commenced his pursuits as a mechanic in this neighbourhood, and of whom, as well as the last-mentioned nobleman, Mr. Briant, when alive, was wont to speak in terms of most grateful remembrance. The first and maiden peal of bells that he was the founder of were those of our own town church of St. Andrew, and were succeeded by those of Hatfield; Barnstable, Devonshire; Shrewsbury; Conquerer; the famous peal of tens, Saffron Walden; North Mimms, etc., etc., and within the last two years of his life he was called to Lincoln by the Dean and Chapter, to communicate upon the best method of recasting the well-known "Great Tom," so called from its immense size and ponderous weight. This appeared to be an object he was most desirous to accomplish, as a masterly finish to a most useful and most industrious life. The infirmities of age, however, checked his progress; but the ingenious models of pulleys invented for the purpose of taking down the bell, were prominent tokens of an unimpaired mind.'

As with his bells, so with his clocks. They are to be found all over the country.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

DERBY BRANCH AT WEST HALLAM.

The ring of bells at West Hallam, which has been recently increased in number from six to eight, was made good use of on Saturday, February 23rd, when a monthly meeting of the Derby District was held there. The methods rung included Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise, and everybody agreed that Messrs. John Taylor and Co. had made an excellent 'splice.'

Tea was provided at the Punch Bowl Inn, fourteen members sitting down, including Mr. J. Pagett, Ringing Master, Derby Cathedral, who greatly entertained the company.

At the subsequent business meeting (presided over by Mr. H. Fletcher), Belper was selected as the place for the next meeting, due notice of which will be published in 'The Ringing World.'

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE MEETING AT HEREFORD.

The second session of the thirteenth Council (36th meeting) was held in St. Peter's Church House on Tuesday, June 5th, 1928, at 11 a.m. The chair was taken by the president, Canon G. F. Coleridge, who opened the meeting with prayer. There were present 78 members, 36 Guilds and Associations being represented. The Bishop of Hereford welcomed the Council to that city, and expressed his appreciation of the excellent work being done by ringers in bringing the manhood of the country, and particularly of the country villages, into closer touch with the Church. On behalf of the diocese and City of Hereford, he bid them a hearty welcome and God-speed in their work.

The President then thanked the Bishop, and the Council proceeded to discuss the business on the agenda.

The minutes of the last meeting having been published, were taken as read and duly confirmed and signed.

Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. A. H. F. Boughiey, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Rev. E. E. Marshall, Canon H. J. Elsee, Messrs. W. J. Nevard, C. H. Howard, J. D. Matthews, C. J. Sedgley, H. Barton, J. W. Parker, W. Ayre, C. F. Johnston, C. Dean, T. R. Dennis, H. Walker, H. Argyle, W. Story, H. W. Wilde, W. Shephard, A. L. Coleman, G. P. Burton, E. H. Lewis, W. Bolton and A. E. Sharman.

The hon. secretary and treasurer presented the financial statement, which showed that the year began with a balance at the bank of £45 3s. 10d., and that this balance, after the receipts and expenditure of the year had been dealt with, was £26 15s. 6d., and, in addition to the invested sum of £100 (nominal). The accounts were audited by Messrs. A. Paddon Smith and J. Griffin, and formally adopted.

The Hon. Secretary further stated that the new edition of the 'Rules and Decisions' of the Council was now published and was on the table. It contained much new matter, including actions of the Council and a short account of its history.

The hon. librarian, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, submitted his report and statement of accounts, which were duly adopted. In view of the revised edition of 'Rules and Decisions,' placed upon the table that day, he proposed that the remainder of the old edition be scrapped, which was agreed to. Following Mr. P. J. Johnson's suggestion to popularise the Council's publications, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn agreed to send parcels, on sale or return, to the various secretaries of associations or any responsible person. The report and statement were then adopted.

The Hon. Secretary said that amongst the additional books now in the library were two 'Copy' peal books of the now defunct 'Trinity Youths' of Deptford, which had been presented to the Council by Mr. F. W. Thornton. On the motion of the hon. secretary, seconded by Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, it was agreed to accept the gift with many thanks.

Mr. E. W. Elwell then reported for the sub-committee revising 'Model rules for a local company,' their work being now completed. He proposed, and Mr. W. H. Hollier seconded, that they be now printed. This, subject to a rider proposed by Mr. A. Paddon Smith and seconded by Mr. J. George, limiting the cost to £5, was agreed to.

The retiring hon. members, Rev. A. H. F. Boughiey, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, and Mr. J. W. Parker, were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. Boughiey, who had tendered his resignation owing to ill-health and advancing years. The standing committee recommended that the place rendered vacant should not be filled. This course was adopted on the motion of Rev. F. L. Edwards and seconded by Mr. W. A. Cave.

New members of the Council attending for the first time were then formally introduced to the president and welcomed by him.

The Council then dealt with the committee reports as follows:—

STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Hon. Secretary having referred to certain correspondence and conversations which had passed between Miss Heywood and the officers of the Midland Counties Association and the Lancashire Association in regard to a proposal to have a memorial bell at Pendleton, in memory of Sir Arthur Heywood, the President said the best course of action would be for an association formally to approach the Council. He also reminded the Council that, at the suggestion of Canon Elsee, a memorial table had just been erected to record Sir Arthur's last peal, and said that Mr. Wilde, who kindly officiated during Canon Elsee's absence abroad, had reported to the committee that morning there was a deficit of £2 7s. 11d., and that amount had been forthwith subscribed. Mr. Wilde was cordially thanked for the trouble he had taken in connection with the memorial tablet.

PEAL COLLECTION COMMITTEE.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson reported for the committee, and said that they now produced the typed results of their work, which was now nearly completed. Mrs. E. K. Fletcher suggested that the one-part peals of Treble Bob should be typed and bound in a similar manner as the first part of the collection had been done.

On the motion of the President, this was agreed to, and Mrs. Fletcher cordially thanked for what, he said, must have been a gigantic task.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

The committee's report, as given in 'The Ringing World' of June 1st, was moved by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. J. Griffin, and adopted.

METHODS COMMITTEE.

The Rev. H. Law James reported on behalf of the committee, and stated that they were now practically ready to publish the new edition of Minor Methods. Their recommendations as to the names proposed were as published in 'The Ringing World.' Mr. J. A. Trollope said that they had carefully revised the names and, as promised, had had them published. It would be seen that there had been no abuse of their powers, and that their list was practically that presented by the Analysis Committee at Salisbury; so, despite what has been said, the difference between the two committees was but small. As regards the previously proposed list of amendments, etc., their committee were perfectly neutral, their job being to settle the names in order of priority alone. Whilst there should be an opportunity given for discussing the wider point of view, the time was now past, he thought, for any general review of the names themselves.

After some discussion Mr. J. S. Goldsmith moved:—

That the following names be substituted in the Treble Bob methods for those contained in the committee's list, viz.: No. 16 (for "Shamrock") "Waterford"; No. 17 (for "Bluebell") "Berwyn"; No. 20 (for "Daffodil") "Cheviot"; No. 21 (for "Fuchsia") "Chiltern"; No. 22 (for "Foxglove") "Cotswold"; No. 23 (for "Hyacinth") "Mendip"; No. 24 (for "Marigold") "Pennine"; No. 27 (for "Dahlia") "Quantock"; and No. 28 (for "Geranium") "Snowdon."

The proposer said that the avoidance of flower names, as suggested, was more dignified as belittling a product of mathematical science, and that they were in substitution of names of recent origin only. Mr. P. J. Johnson, having seconded the motion, Mr. E. W. Elwell expressed the hope that the Council would still support the naming by ringers of a method which they were the first to ring, as had been the actual case with the Chester Guild. Alderman Pritchett and Rev. A. T. Beeston also spoke against the motion which, however, being supported by Messrs. Barker, Cave and others, was eventually carried by 40 to 19.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith then further proposed that the following alteration of names of methods should be made:—

That No. 5 of Treble be renamed "London Treble Bob"; No. 4 of 4th's-place Delight be renamed "Clarence"; No. 14 of 3rd's-place Delight be renamed "Barham"; and No. 36 of 3rd's-place Delight be renamed "Windsor."

The motion, upon being seconded by Mr. J. Hunt, was carried unanimously.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn then moved the deletion of the words 'Castle' and 'Abbey' from the names of Delight methods, which was seconded by Mr. T. H. Beams, and, after some explanatory remarks by the Revs. H. Law James and H. Drake, the motion was carried.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, having called the attention of the Council to certain difficulties which arose in the ringing of some Double Surprise Minor methods, Mr. T. Faulkner also pointed out difficulties which appeared to have arisen in connection with the names 'Primrose' and 'Canterbury,' whereupon Mr. Trollope, for the committee, explained that the name 'Canterbury' had been given to the wrong method in the first edition of the Council's Collection, and subsequently corrected by the Analysis Committee. And in regard to 'Primrose,' though the previous name was an older one, it was generally known in the Exercise to-day as 'Primrose.' He suggested the printing of an appendix of such dual names, which would solve any difficulty. Mr. T. J. Salter then proposed: 'That "King's Norton" should be substituted for "Primrose."' Mr. J. S. Pritchett seconded this, but, on its being put to the meeting, the motion was lost.

The Rev. H. Drake then called attention to the following two names, viz., No. 40 of 3rd's-place Delight, 'Bogedone,' and No. 22 of the Surprise methods, 'Immanuel,' names which he deprecated. The President expressed some concurrence, and his suggestion that the committee should look into these points was accepted, and the committee's statement received.

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

The report of this committee was moved by the Rev. A. T. Beeston. The report, he said, had been published in 'The Ringing World,' and he desired to correct one mistake in respect of the length of the record peal of Treble Bob, which was given as 17,284 instead of 17,824. The Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded, and the report was adopted, and on the motion of the President a vote of thanks to the committee for their work was passed.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn reported for this committee, and said the members had been fairly busy during the year. He called attention to the desirability of the following questions, viz., some agreed arrangement whereby the condition of old bells should be certified before they left the precincts of the church, in order to prevent contentious issues arising after their removal. Also the desirability of considering further the acoustic properties of towers, especially as regards the ringing room. He also thought much might be done to improve the ventilation of these rooms.—The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards seconded and supported the adoption of the report. After some favourable discussion of the honorary librarian's suggestions it was, on the motion of the President, agreed that the committee be instructed to inquire into and report upon the acoustic difficulties referred to, which he declared carried.

Mr. E. M. Atkins, having asked what the committee were doing in respect to the welding of old bells, Major Hesse replied that he had known cases which were quite successful in regard to tone, but it was still questionable how long the bell would survive. After some remarks by Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. Hunt, on the stresses in bells, the Hon. Secretary, also replying for the committee, said that bells were likely to be subjected to such undue stresses, whether they were brazed or recast, and in regard to the former he expressed the hope, as a lover of mediæval bells, that the welding process should be used wherever practicable. The Rev. H. Drake, having referred to some successful cases of welding which had come under his notice and which had worked out very cheaply, the report of the committee was adopted, and the Council adjourned for lunch.

RECORDS COMMITTEE.

On the reassembling of the Council, the Rev. A. T. Beeston presented his report and read a list of first peals of new methods and progressive lengths in other methods rung during the present year. On the motion of the President, the report was adopted.

LEGAL COMMITTEE.

Mr. F. A. Milne, on behalf of the committee, desired to report progress, and expressed the hope that a formal report would be ready for next year's meeting. On the motion of the President, the committee's report was accepted.

BROADCASTING COMMITTEE.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, being asked to report for this committee, he having been elected to give the 'Talk,' said that he had had several interviews with the B.B.C., and they expected the 'Talk' with handbell demonstration to take place in the autumn.

The Hon. Secretary then detailed the work which had been done by himself and other members of the committee in establishing the situation. He seconded the report which, after some further discussion, was adopted.

The Council then proceeded to discuss the motions on the agenda, and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, speaking to his resolution, adjourned from the year before, in reference to issuing peal diplomas, said that during the past year he had found that opinion was almost unanimous in his own Guild in favour of these diplomas, and, having dealt with the motion in detail the previous year, he now again formally proposed it.

Mr. J. Hunt, in seconding, said that in the West the proposal found general support. It was further supported by Mr. F. Hopgood and Mr. C. Edwards, but was strongly condemned by Mr. James George.

It was thought by Mr. P. J. Johnson and others, that the proposed diploma should be issued by the affiliated Guilds and not by the Council.

After several other speakers had voiced their views for and against, on a vote being taken, the motion was declared lost.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards then moved his motion, 'Deprecating the discontinuance of the curfew and other traditional bells and calling upon all those associated with the Council to endeavour to prevent such breaches with ancient usage.' Mr. Edwards reviewed this subject historically, presenting many interesting facts for the consideration of the Council, and urged that the subject touched ringing very closely.

Mr. T. H. Beams, in seconding, drew attention to the unfortunate diversion of money left for such purposes and for the upkeep of bells. Several other speakers supported the motion, but Mr. A. Paddon Smith spoke strongly to the contrary, drawing a sharp line between bells in rural and those in urban areas. But he was the only dissident when the motion was carried.

The Hon. Secretary then moved his motion in respect to placing memorial tablets to famous ringers of the past, instancing Annable, Holt, Shipway, etc. He pointed out that the authorities in London of late years were fixing plaques on buildings associated with famous citizens and others, and he thought that the Council and associations with the local Guilds, and at the latter's expense, might arrange for Boulton's to supply a suitably designed series of plaques, which would cost about £5 each. He instanced that the Council had just put up a tablet to the memory of Sir Arthur Heywood. Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded the motion. But, upon its being opposed by Mr. James George, Rev. C. A. Clements, Mr. J. S. Pritchett and others, it was defeated by a large majority.

SIX AND FIVE BELL PEALS.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith then moved his resolution, as follows:—
'That in the "Conditions required for peals," laid down by the Central Council, the following be inserted: "ON FIVE BELLS: That peals of Doubles consist of at least 42 true and complete 120's rung without interval and without 'rounds' or any other rows being included or rung more than once in any 120. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 120." And the following be substituted for the present definition of a peal on six bells: "ON SIX BELLS: That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's rung without interval and without 'rounds' or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 720. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 720."

Mr. Goldsmith explained the shortcomings of the present rule, and stated that the motion was to place peals of Doubles on parallel lines to peals of Minor. And, while it would not exclude Pitman's spliced 240's of Grandsire, it would rule out that practised by Mr. Morris where each 120 suffered from a repetition of no less than 40 changes. His aim was to raise the standard of peals. The Rev. H. Law James seconded, and explained the working of the proposed arrangement.

The Rev. E. S. Powell supported the motion, but moved a rider 'that in a peal the calling should be as varied as the method or methods would permit.'

After some further remarks by Mr. Coles and Mr. E. M. Atkins, for and against, the motion was carried without dissent, and the rider, on being seconded and put separately, was lost by 13 to 9.

A motion which had been received from Mr. W. Ayre, as regards dealing with cases of sickness amongst members, not having been seconded, was ruled out of order, and the Council proceeded to consider the place for next year's meeting. The President stated that the Standing Committee recommended Chelmsford for 1929, in respect of which they had had an invitation from the Essex Association.

Blackburn, as an alternative, having been proposed and seconded, a vote was taken, and Chelmsford was carried by a large majority.

The above concluded the formal business. But as the hour was not late, the Council gave permission, on the motion of the President, to discuss addenda motions which had been received too late for the agenda paper.

Mr. R. Whittington proposed that this Council invite its affiliated associations and Guilds to unite in a scheme for keeping touch with ringers who remove from one area to another. Mr. Whittington, having explained his scheme, it was seconded by Mr. A. H. Puling, and received general support, including a word of praise from the President, and was carried unanimously. In connection with the motion, Mr. Goldsmith offered to publish in 'The Ringing World,' once a year, a complete list of the secretaries of the affiliated Guilds, in order to facilitate inter-communication.

There were two other motions on the addenda, and which had been considered by the Standing Committee, but the president ruled them out of order. It was also suggested that the motion standing in the name of Mr. Ayre (who was absent) might be brought forward by proxy and seconded, but the proposal to do so, being put by the president, was lost.

The President then referred to the loss the Council had sustained by the death of Mr. Pryer Taylor, who had been a valuable member of the Council and the Standing Committee. He asked those present to stand in silence as a mark of respect, which was done.

The President then said he had much pleasure in asking Mrs. Fletcher (Miss E. Parker) to accept a wedding present collected in the room that day in commemoration of her unselfish work for the Council. Mrs. Fletcher, in accepting the cheque for £5 10s., said she greatly appreciated the kindly thought which had prompted the gift. Her work for the Council had always been one of great pleasure.

A vote of thanks to the president, moved by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, was carried with acclamation, and briefly responded to, and the meeting closed about 5 p.m.

A BIRTHDAY TOUCH.

On Sunday evening last, February 24th, eight members of the Oxford Society rang on St. Giles' bells, Oxford, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: V. Bennett 1, Miss M. Reynolds 2, H. Miles 3, F. Sharpe 4, F. Taylor (conductor) 5, F. Exon 6, R. Post 7, J. R. Chaundy 8. Rung as a birthday compliment to the ringers of treble, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 7th and tenor, all of whose birthdays occur in February.

MISCELLANEOUS PERFORMANCES.

WALKDEN.—At St. Paul's Church, on February 18th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples for confirmation service: J. Potter 1, S. James 2, B. Walsby 3, J. Denner 4, S. Osakes 5, C. Gudgeon 6, J. H. Ridyard (conductor) 7, R. Potter 8. During the ringing a message was brought up to the ringers from the Bishop, complimenting the ringers on the splendid striking.

BUSHEY HEATH.—On Monday, February 11th, at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: F. Hazell 1, A. Smith 2, T. Norris 3, S. Hoare 4, C. Cook 5, F. Edwards (conductor) 6, C. Dyke 7, H. Cockram 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mrs. Tarrant. First quarter-peal by the ringers of the treble and 2nd.

WEST CLANDON, SURREY.—On Thursday, January 31st, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: A. Walker (first extent of Treble Bob) 1, F. Day 2, G. Grover 3, J. Goacher 4, W. Melville 5, F. Bennett (conductor) 6.

OPERATIONS C. AND D.—The Hidden Factors will be the lead-ends of those leads which are indicated by the positional pairs in the combinations (it is unnecessary to bring them 'home' as before); by the Resultants from these Hidden Factors transpose the lead-heads of the coursing pairs, as done in the other system. The results will be the false course ends, with the tenors in the places indicated by the coursing and positional pairs, as usual.

It is a good plan to prepare a table of lead-ends, which will point to the lead-end row of any lead-head immediately, and which will be standard to any regular method. There are seven, any one of which may appear as the first lead-end of a method, and they are given in the first column of the table below. The same seven will, of course, keep recurring, no matter which of them is the first lead-end. The other seven columns are headed by the lead-end which is the first in the method under consideration, and tabulated in each column are the lead-heads, to which the lead-end (in the first column) pertains; e.g., our lead-end in London Major being 1462... etc., we use the fourth column; and, requiring the lead-end of the 2/3 head, for instance, opposite the 2/3 (in column 14...) we find, in column No. 1, the lead-end 15372846.

Lead-end Rows:—	124..	13..	14...	15...	16...	17...	18...
12436587	7/8	6/8	5/7	4/6	3/5	2/4	2/3
13254768	5/7	7/8	3/5	6/8	2/3	4/6	2/4
14628375	6/8	4/6	7/8	2/4	5/7	2/3	3/5
15372846	3/5	5/7	2/3	7/8	2/4	6/8	4/6
16847253	4/6	2/4	6/8	2/3	7/8	3/5	5/7
17583624	2/3	3/5	2/4	5/7	4/6	7/8	6/8
18765432	2/4	2/3	4/6	3/5	6/8	5/7	7/8

We have, then, two combinations from the downward treatment of rows 5-7, viz., 35 in 4/6 and 23 in 6/8, which have to be transposed back to the lead-ends of the positional pairs. Read, in row 5, the Hidden Factors, first the 4/6 lead-end in the table (18765432), and then the 6/8 lead-end (16847253). The resultants, from row 7, are 18762435 and 16847523 respectively. By these we transpose the coursing pair lead-heads (35 and 23). The LH 15738284, transposed by the Resultant 18762435, gives 14625378. The LH 17856342, transposed by (R) 16847523, gives 13254678. Thus we have PC (3/5) — 46253 (4/6), and PC (2/3) — 32546 (6/8), respectively, for the two combinations from the downward treatment.

The upwards combinations we found to be identical, viz.: 35 in 4/6 and 23 in 6/8; the same Hidden Factors read, in row 7, produce, from row 5, identical results with those from the downward treatment. This so happens, and need not of necessity be the case.

There are now four further combinations from the other pair of rows with the treble in third's place (which appear in the lower half of the method), and these combinations will be the reverse of the above, and happen to be in the same courses. Thus we have PC (3/5) — 46253 (4/6), and (the reverse of this) PC (4/6) — 46253 (3/5); then PC (2/3) — 32546 (6/8), and (the reverse) PC (6/8) — 32546 (2/3).

But, while the combinations will be reversed, the false course ends will not, of necessity, be identical.

The other four (i.e., two from the upward treatment of rows 5-7 and their reverse combinations) being duplicates of those already found, this section is proved.

A brief example of an asymmetrical section of a method which has a different lead-end from London:—

Palatine Surprise.

Rows.		Lead-head
1. + 12345678		12345678.
2. — 21354687		Lead-end 13254768.
3. — 12536478
4. + 21356748	L/E Positional Pairs—(Y) 3/2; 2/4; 4/6, 6/8.
	(Z) 3/5, 5/7, 7/8.

Row 2-4 produce no combination, and thus the rows with the treble in second's place have a clean proof scale.

Under 2/4 in row 1 we have 23: this is a combination, 23 in 3/5 (3/5 because the 2/4 of the lead-end replaces the 3/5 of the lead-head). Above 3, — 12536478 3/2, in row 3, we have 42; another combination, 24 in 2/3. (Note: The 3/2 of the lead-end is replacing the 2/3 of the lead-head.)

The Hidden Factor for row 1 is the 3/5 lead-end, which (from the 13... column in our table) we find to be 17583624. The Resultant from row 3 is 17685423. Then the 2/3 lead-head (17856342), transposed by (R) 17685423, gives 14326578, i.e., PC (2/3) — 43265 (3/5).

The Hidden Factor in row 3 is the 2/3 lead-end (18765432), and the Resultant from row 1 is 18753642. The 2/4 lead-head (18674523), by (R) 18753642, gives 13246578, i.e., PC (2/4) — 32465 (2/3).

The other two rows in the lower half of the lead, in reverse combinations, again happen to give identical courses; we get PC (3/5) — 43265 (2/3) and PC (2/3) — 32465 (2/4) respectively, and we have proved this asymmetrical section in a very few minutes.

LATE NOTICE.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—Central Bucks Branch.—A meeting at Waddesdon, Saturday, March 9th. Service at 4.30 p.m. Preacher, the Waddesdon Deanery Lent Missioner. Tea and business meeting as usual. Please send numbers to the Rev. J. F. Amies, Edgcote Rectory, Aylesbury, by Wednesday, March 6th.

I am indebted to Mr. George Baker for a courteous explanation of his 'proving value.' It was his use, as a row, of the positions occupied by rounds in another row, which led me to a proper understanding of this fact, viz.: That a string of numbers in a row may typify not only bells or positions, but, upon occasion, both of these. Further, by a cursory examination of the original draft of this article, Mr. Baker was able to correct certain obvious fallacies which appeared therein, for which I owe him thanks. There may be some which still remain, and the interested reader should assure himself, by comparison with the orthodox, that these systems will work satisfactorily.

If he will take this trouble and will master the two systems, it may show profit. He will find that, by using the tables given herein, it is not impossible to satisfy himself, within three minutes, that a method with symmetrical sections has a clean proof scale; and that, well within fifteen, he can prove a method which produces five false course ends in ten combinations.

Provided, as I have said, he is satisfied that the system will 'work.' A supplementary article is to follow on a further means of condensing the proof.

LEICESTER RINGERS ENTERTAINED.

St. John-the-Divine Society, Leicester, was entertained to dinner on February 16th at the Wyvern Hotel by their Ringing Master and Mrs. Willson. After a splendid repast, the host, in the absence of the president (Rev. Williams), owing to illness, gave the toast of 'The King.' After dinner, all adjourned to the lounge, where they were treated to musical items, and at the close the host thanked the members of the choir and friends, who had so ably entertained them. This was followed by a vote of thanks to the host and hostess, carried with three hearty cheers, from ringers, their wives and friends.

DEPTFORD, KENT.—On Monday, February 11th, in 40 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) at St. John's Church: J. Colby 1, F. W. Thornton 2, E. E. Richards 3, P. C. C. Davies 4, P. S. R. Steers 5, A. F. Pedrie 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, A. F. Bennington 8.—On Wednesday, Feb. 13th, in 40 mins., quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. J. Jeffries 1, F. Richardson (conductor) 2, J. Lamb 3, W. A. Martin 4, P. S. R. Steers 5, A. F. Pedrie 6, P. C. C. Davies 7, F. W. Thornton 8. These quarter-peals were specially arranged for three old ringers, Messrs. F. W. Thornton, E. E. Richards, and J. Lamb, who were for many years ringers at St. Alphege's, Greenwich, a tower which unfortunately has reverted to 'call changes.'

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

APPRECIATION.

One of the most striking things about our ringing organisations is the amount of work which many of the officials put in out of sheer love of the art and a desire to do all in their power to promote it. There are men holding office to-day who have been carrying on their task without fee or reward for more than a quarter of a century. Neither the apathy of the majority of the ringers nor their disinclination to shoulder either work or responsibility, deters these bulwarks of the Exercise from giving up their time and labour in the interests of ringing and of the organisations which they have done so much to foster. These men are the backbone of the Exercise. It is they who labour that others may benefit; they who plan that others may enjoy the result of their energy and their enterprise. But with all the seeming indifference of ringers, there are occasions when the rank and file readily show that beneath the surface there is wholehearted appreciation of what has been done on their behalf. Such an opportunity has just occurred at Birmingham, where Mr. A. Paddon Smith has retired from the secretaryship of St. Martin's Guild after filling the office with efficiency and distinction for exactly twenty years, precisely the period, curiously enough, that the post was occupied by his predecessor.

Twenty years is a long time for anyone to give in voluntary service to any cause and, although the duties may not always be exacting, the office of secretary to a large ringing Guild, especially one like St. Martin's, which organises an annual gathering that is something in the nature of a national event, involves an amount of labour which none but those who have undertaken it can fully realise. Mr. Paddon Smith has severed his connection with office to the great regret of the members, who have not been slow to mark their appreciation of all he has done for them. The presentation made to him at the Johnson Commemoration Dinner on Saturday was a tangible recognition of that ungrudging labour, which has in no small measure contributed to the building up of the St. Martin's Guild to the position it holds to-day among the foremost ringing societies in the country. St. Martin's Society was for long of purely parochial, or, at best, of limited urban importance. But it had great traditions in the annals of ringing and gradually attracted to its ranks the leading exponents of the art throughout the country, who were led to visit Birmingham on account of the part which it played in the Exercise. Then came the formation of the diocese of Birmingham, and St. Martin's Society seized its opportunity for expansion. The twenty years during which Mr.

Smith has had a guiding hand upon the reins have seen a development which could hardly have been dreamt of when his predecessor was elected to office, exactly forty years ago, and the incident of Saturday last, which in a sense marked the conclusion of another stage in the history of the old society, must have given as much pleasure to the members as it did to the recipient of the tokens of their esteem and appreciation.

SALISBURY PLAIN.

(Tune, 'The Farmer's Boy.')

As o'er 'The Plain' I wend my way,

To take the Tenor Bell,

The dark brown earth, well strewn with flint,

Yields up a goodly smell.

The covey whirrs away on wing,

And 'puss' leaps up and flees.

The peewhite pipe their mewing cry

As they swing-to in the breeze—the breeze.

As they swing-to in the breeze.

The only music that I hear,

Born on the fitful wind,

Is 'Grandsire' mingling with the lark,

A mile or so behind.

No rasping Klaxon's shriek doth break

God's peace on earth this morn,

For Satan's surely bound to-day,

And nought but peace is born—is born,

And nought but peace is born.

Hark! Netheravon raise their bells,

So we must speed our ways.

The plunging 'sallies' soon shall mark

The music of God's praise.

And the ring of six their voices mix

With a world that's good to-day.

Thus this dear, dear land shall ever stand

The grey set pearl it ever lay,

The pearl it ever lay.

'CASCABLE.'

JOHN BRIANT.

THE MEMORIAL TO THE HERTFORD BELL FOUNDER.

The centenary of the death of John Briant, the noted Hertford church bell founder and turret clockmaker, was celebrated at Hertford, on Wednesday, February 27th, the anniversary of his death. Briant was a native of Suffolk, and came to Hertford when 30 years of age, set up a bell foundry in Parliament Row, and for 45 years was famous throughout England as a church bellfounder and turret clockmaker. We are indebted to the 'Herts Mercury' for the following report of the proceedings:—

The centenary celebration took the form of a memorial service at All Saints' Church, Hertford, where, through the instrumentality of the East Herts Archaeological Society, a tablet has been erected by public subscription, and fixed on the south-east pillar of the tower. This tablet was unveiled during the service by the Mayor of Hertford, Sir Lionel Faudel-Phillips, Bart., in the presence of a representative gathering of bellringers and archaeologists from London and all parts of Hertfordshire.

The tablet is composed of bell metal, and bears the following inscription:—

'I'm satisfied with the station of life that God has placed me in. I've enjoyed more real pleasure in my favourite pursuits than the wealth of India could afford.'—John Briant.

JOHN BRIANT.

Bellfounder and Turret Clock Maker, of Parliament Row, Hertford, passed to his rest 27th February, 1829, in his 81st year.

To perpetuate the memory of an honest man and famous craftsman this tablet was erected 27th February, 1929.'

Mr. Herbert C. Andrews, the hon. secretary of the East Herts Archaeological Society, at the conclusion of the service, stated that two years ago it came to the knowledge of the society that one of Hertford's humble, though most worthy citizens had never received the recognition that was due to him, viz., John Briant, famous throughout England as a bell founder and clockmaker. As a result of a suggestion then made they were assembled that afternoon to unveil a tablet which had been erected to his memory.

Sir Lionel Faudel-Phillips, having unveiled the tablet, said: It is a great pleasure to me to come here to unveil the tablet erected to the honour of that great bellfounder and turret clockmaker, John Briant, of Hertford, who died one hundred years ago to-day, and whose mortal remains lie in the churchyard of All Saints', adjoining this beautiful edifice. John Briant was a great craftsman; a man of whom Hertfordshire might well be proud. His work is known all over the country; his voice speaks regularly to us from many towers and turrets, far and wide. Like many other master craftsmen, he died a complete failure, financially, in the Marlborough Almshouses at St. Albans, a very striking testimony to his own words in which he said: 'I'm satisfied with the station of life that God has placed me in. I've enjoyed more real pleasure in my favourite pursuits than the wealth of India could afford.' Many who hear the beautiful results of John Briant's genius throughout the whole country will agree that it is a right and proper thing that this tablet, which I have had the honour to unveil to-day, should be erected as a perpetual memorial to his name and fame.

In the absence of the Archdeacon of St. Albans, who was unable to be present through illness, the dedicatory prayers were then pronounced by the Rural Dean of Hertford, the Rev. N. T. Gardner, Rector of St. Andrew's, commencing with the words: 'We dedicate this tablet to the Glory of God and in memory of his servant, John Briant.'

The service was conducted by the Vicar of All Saints', the Rev. T. Landolph Smith, and the lesson was read by Mr. Herbert Andrews.

The Mayor was accompanied by the Town Clerk (Mr. Alfred Baker) and Alderman W. H. Brewster as officially representing the Corporation, but owing to death and illness many other members were prevented from attending.

Before and after the service the members of the Hertford Society of College Youths rang touches on All Saints' bells, which were half-muffled, and again in the evening they rang on St. Andrew's Church bells, which were made by John Briant. Two of the old bells at All Saints' before the church was burnt down in 1891 were also made by him, and were used in the casting of the new peal.

John Briant's tombstone in All Saints' Churchyard has been restored and renovated at the expense of the East Herts Archaeological Society, and after the service on Wednesday four members of the Ancient Society of College Youths came from London for the celebration, with Mr. E. Alexander Young, and rang a course of Grand-sire Triples, standing around the tomb. The ringers were: F. W. Richardson, Brockley, 1-2; W. H. Lawrence, Great Munden, 3-4; C. F. Winney, St. Paul's Cathedral, 5-6; and G. Croft, Hitchin, 7-8. Mr. J. A. Dart was also present.

The Vicar of All Saints', in the course of an address at the end of the service, paid a tribute to the memory of John Briant, who, he said, died a poor man, but not poor in achievement and reputation. He admired the contented mind and heart of such a man as well as his independent spirit, and they did well to honour his memory in the way they were doing that day. They could all learn a lesson of great happiness from this humble man's career and achievement.

The visitors afterwards partook of tea together at the Dimsdale Arms Hotel, and at an informal meeting of the members of the East Herts Archaeological Society, Sir Lionel Faudel-Phillips, Bart., was made a member along with several other visitors. Sir Lionel, in thanking Mr. Andrews for carrying out the arrangements for the centenary celebration, said it was a great pleasure to be present, because he was a great lover of all things beautiful. It was a great satisfaction to do honour to such a man as John Briant, who made things that were good and beautiful as well as useful. 'I am almost a worshipper of clocks,' said Sir Lionel. 'I have 75 clocks, and keep them all going, and they have been a fascinating study to me all my life. It is a pleasure, therefore, to honour, as we are doing to-day, a man who was a great clockmaker, as well as a famous bell founder.'

Mr. H. C. Andrews responded to a vote of thanks to him, and then gave an interesting and instructive address on the life and work of John Briant, with a list of the bells and clocks made by him, the places where they are erected, their dates, and the inscriptions upon them. Of John Briant's 422 known bells, 101 are in Hertfordshire, 46 in Bucks, 43 in Essex, 39 in Northants, 36 in Oxon, 31 in Leicestershire, 22 in Warwickshire, 22 in Cambs, 19 in Shropshire, 18 in Lincolnshire, 14 in Beds, 12 in Suffolk, 8 in Devon, 4 in Ireland, 3 in Middlesex, 2 in Staffordshire, and one each in Kent and Worcestershire. Briant's clocks are to be found at Blenheim Palace, Belvoir Castle, Hatfield House, Hatfield Woodside, Woodhall Park, Panshanger, Watton Church, Balls Park (Hertford), Wallham Abbey, Bishop's Stortford, the Shire Hall, St. Andrew's Church, and Kingsmead School, Hertford.

The Vicar of Christ Church, Warc (the Rev. Frank Hobson) proposed, and Mr. E. Alex. Young seconded, a cordial vote of thanks to Mr. Andrews and the Archaeological Society for giving them all an opportunity of honouring a great man.

Mr. Eeles, secretary of the Central Council of the Church of England for the Care of Churches, supported the vote of thanks, and said that the society he represented was deeply interested in the safeguarding of English church bells, and all the glorious traditions associated with church bellringing. Here in England we had developed, he said, something that no one else had ever developed in any other part of the world. Whatever might be said in favour of the carillon system of ringing mechanically a multitude of bells, or of the huge single bells of the Continent, it was characteristic of the English that they were the only people who had developed change ringing on church bells, a tradition of which both the country and the Church of England might well be proud. It rested with the Church authorities and churchpeople generally to jealously guard those splendid peals of bells.

The lettering of the tablet is founded on an inscription on Trojan Column at Rome. The design of the bell was supplied by Meas and Stainbank. The tablet was made by the Warham Guild, Margaret Street, Oxford Circus.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Fareham, and altogether about 40 were present from Alverstoke, Bishop's Waltham, Fareham, Gosport, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and St. Mary's), Swanmore, Titchfield and Wickham, with visitors from King's Sonborne, Southampton and Ryde.

During the afternoon the Guild service was held, which was choral, and was conducted by the Vicar. An excellent address was given by the Vicar of Portsea, the Ven. Geoffrey C. L. Lunt.

The tea and business meeting were held in the Parish Hall, the Vicar of Fareham presiding in the absence of the Vicar of Portsea, who had to return early to Portsmouth.

The balance sheet, which was presented by the auditor, showed receipts amounting to £22 2s. 6d., and expenditure 45 18s. 4d., leaving the district in credit by £16 4s. 2d.

All the officers were re-elected, as follows: Chairman, Mr. R. J. Stone; hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; auditor, Mr. H. G. Reynolds; representatives on the Central Committee, Messrs. F. A. Burnett and R. J. Stone.

The Vicar of Portsea was elected an honorary member, and the following as ringing members: The Rev. A. Cory and Messrs. D. Faulkner and S. Churcher (Fareham), H. White, jun. (Alverstoke), and F. C. Love (Titchfield).

It was decided, subject to consent, to hold the next district meeting at Havant on April 27th.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicars of Fareham and Titchfield for the use of the bells, to the Vicar of Portsea for addressing the members, and to the organist and choir who had helped to make the service so enjoyable.—In reply, the Rev. A. Cory said how pleased they were to welcome the Guild to Fareham, especially as he was a ringer himself. He hoped that in the near future the scheme for the completion of the tower and the restoration of the bells would be accomplished, so that at Fareham they might have a first-class band of ringers.

After the meeting some of the members returned to the tower for further ringing, whilst others visited Titchfield to ring on the peal of six bells there. In the course of the day the ringing ranged from Grand-sire Triples to Surprise Minor and Major.

WHAT SHALL CONSTITUTE A PEAL?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. Powell's letter in your issue of February 15th, 1929, giving notice of his intention of ringing a certain arrangement of 5,040 rows of Grandsire Triples, I question his statement that 'it is, in fact, exactly similar in all respects to any individual 720 in Mr. Bankes James' arrangement.' No one questions the truth of the first 719 rows of any individual 720 in Mr. Bankes James' peal; it is the 720th row that all the fuss is about. Now, my point is that we can get from the 719th row back to rounds (assuming that the 720 started from rounds) by either making a plain lead change or a bob change, and I submit that this is essentially different from Mr. Powell's idea of ending his peal of Grandsire Triples with the row 2164735.

I wish to make it clear that I am not using this argument in favour of the contention that Mr. James' peal of Cambridge Minor complies with the Central Council's rules, but simply as a means of pointing out the difference between the two cases.

In any case, Mr. Powell cannot expect his performance (if successful) to be accepted by the Central Council as a true peal in face of the 'conditions required for peals' (see page 15 of Rules and Decisions of the Council, 2nd edition, 1927, which, to the best of my knowledge, has not been superseded), which begins: 'On all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds.' This is perfectly definite, and, to my mind, leaves Mr. Powell no loophole of escape.

With regard to the much-debated question of 720's of Minor, it seems to me that the whole matter hinges on whether we consider rounds as the first row of the 720 or the last. If we admit that rounds is counted as the first row, we are well on the way to admitting Mr. James' Cambridge Minor as a true peal. It does at least come round at the end. [Of course, some of the 720's would not start with 123456, but with 142356 and 134256, but if we admit a 720 starting with 123456, and ending at handstroke in the 124365, we might as well admit one starting with 134256 and ending with 132465.]

Now the point is, are we prepared to admit that rounds is counted as the first row and need not appear at the end? Is the Central Council, as representing the Exercise as a whole, prepared to admit this? On all numbers of bells greater than six the 'conditions required for peals,' which I have quoted above, provides a perfectly definite answer in the negative. 'A peal must start from and end with rounds.' I would draw particular attention to the word 'from'; a peal starts from, not with rounds.

It may be argued with reason, though not with finality, that this applies also to 720's of Minor and 120's of Doubles, as the word 'peal' was often used to mean 'extent' in the case of five and six bells. I suggest that when this condition was laid down it was meant to apply not only to 'peals' but to 'touches' generally, though this is merely conjecture and cannot be used as proof one way or the other.

Now, Mr. Law James, in his letter in your issue of February 22nd, 1929, falls into a not uncommon, but none the less grievous, error of argument. He sets out boldly by stating what he wants to prove, and then draws various conclusions, making no attempt whatever to substantiate his statements. This is no proof at all. Mr. James says: '... We get 123456, which is not part of the first 720 but the first row of the 2nd 720,' and again, later on, 'This ... brings us back to the first 123456, which is not the last row of the peal but only the first row repeated.'

On what authority does Mr. James make these statements, and how does he reconcile the second of them with the above extract from the Central Council's Rules and Decisions, which, I think, will bear repetition, 'A peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds'?—Yours faithfully,

STEPHEN H. WOOD.

'A TANGLE.'

Sir,—My remarks in your issue of February 22nd were not intended to be offensive in any way, but were written in the same spirit as Mr. James concluded his letter in your issue of February 15th.

And now I turn to his answers to my questions. In answering the first one, and in order to convince your readers that his brother's arrangement of Cambridge is true, he gets himself into a tangle. He says that 123456 is the first row and 124365 the last row of the 1st 720. After describing the other five, he ends with 'the 7th the same as the 4th.' It is quite clear that he has taken the original WRW as the 1st 720, as none of the others will fill the bill. If Mr. James will look at the peal again he will find that 142356, not 134256, is the reputed lead-head of the 4th 720, and ends with one of the Q sets hobbled. Does he want your readers to believe that 132465 is the last row in the peal, or must the bob operate and bring up 123456, which is the 217th change of the last 720? If so, I think he has set himself a very hard task to convince the majority of your readers.

BRISTOL RINGERS AND CENTRAL COUNCIL.

PROPOSAL NOT TO AFFILIATE.

A proposal that the Gloucester and Bristol Association should cease to be affiliated to the Central Council was made to the monthly meeting of the Bristol Branch held at St. Peter's, Bristol, on February 23rd, when about 50 members attended.

During the afternoon the bells were rung to all the popular methods, and the service was taken by the Vicar, who also gave a very interesting address. Tea followed in the Parish Room, after which a short business meeting was held, at which six performing members were elected.

The Chairman said that it had been suggested to him that if the secretary could obtain a charabanc for the convenience of members attending the annual meeting at Chippenham, it would be of great assistance. He put it to the meeting, and it was decided that the secretary should, if possible, obtain one.

Mr. Guise, one of the association's representatives on the Central Council, gave notice of a proposition to alter rule No. 1 by the deletion of the words, 'and shall be affiliated to the Central Council.' He said the constitution of the Central Council rules was not that of a true representation of ringers throughout England, and that the associations had no voice in their rulings except in such cases where the representatives chosen thought alike with their associations. The question of diplomas for ringers was definitely referred to the associations, and the representatives, upon obtaining instruction from their associations, were told by the president of the Central Council last year that they were to vote as members of the Council and not as delegates. He said, further, that as hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, he accepted the office of representative, and now that he was conversant with the rules of the Central Council, he felt that he could no longer act in this capacity, as the word meant nothing of value to the association. He pointed out that the rules of the Council stated that no member should vote until the association he represented had paid the fee of 2s. 6d., and upon this rule being carried out a further rule stated that the representative would be a member of the Council and not necessarily a representative of his association.

Mr. J. Gould said he heartily agreed with what Mr. Guise had said, and would give him all his support.

This finished the business, and Mr. Gould, thanking all for their presence, vacated the platform in favour of the chairman of the Bristol United Guilds, whose annual meeting followed immediately.

NEW RING OF EIGHT IN STAFFS.

DEDICATION OF TWO NEW TREBLES AT ROLLESTON-ON-DOVE.

The forty odd ringers who turned up at Rolleston-on-Dove, Staffs, on Saturday, February 23rd, were well rewarded for their journey by hearing a very fine peal of eight just completed by the two beautiful trebles which Messrs. Taylor and Co. have added to the already good ring of six, three of which bells were cast at the Loughborough foundry in 1908.

The dedication was performed by the Rev. H. E. Worthington, Rector of Netherseal, the Rev. Wm. Bagnall, Rector of Rolleston, the Vicar of Tutbury assisting. There was a large congregation present, including ringers from Burton-on-Trent, Cheadle, Ilkeston, Lichfield, Loughborough, Uttoxeter, and neighbouring towers of Rolleston.

After the dedication of the two new bells, some 'clockwork' rounds were rung for two minutes by a mixed band of ringers, one of whom was Mr. W. W. Worthington, of Maple Hayes, Lichfield, the donor of the second bell.

Tea was generously provided by the churchwarden in the Parish Room, after which the ringers returned to the tower, some well-tapped Double Norwich Major revealing how well the trebles could be heard when the tenor was 'turned in.'

The newly-augmented peal has been hung in a new framework in two tiers, and the disposition of the bells must have been very thoughtfully worked out, for there is a splendid evenness of tone from treble to tenor, both in the ringing chamber and outside the tower.

With regard to the answer to the second question, I am not much enamoured with it. It is really no answer at all. I quite admit that to keep 5.6 the right way is the best, but to obtain this result by splitting up 720's into incomplete 720's with rows that repeat is not a step in the right direction. Mr. James knows as well as anyone that it is possible to obtain complete 720's of London with a minimum number of 5.6's at hand spread over two or three leads, and which 80 per cent. of the ringers would never notice. It is by far the best way.

Upwards of 25 years ago I tried every combination possible to obtain 720's with 5.6 right, but as they did not conform to the rule, 'true and complete,' they were never published.—Yours faithfully,

C. SEVERN.

BISHOP DEDICATES PEAL BOARDS.

On Saturday, March 2nd, in the Parish Church at Wicken, three oak peal boards were dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Norman Lang. One of the peal boards was dedicated in honour of the Rev. H. Nelson Ward, M.A., and the peal recorded thereon was rung as a peal of thanksgiving for the services he had rendered to the church and parish.

The second peal board was dedicated in honour of the Rev. Canon Carroll, M.A., and this peal was rung as a welcome on his coming to this church and parish.

The third peal board recorded two peals by the combined ringers of Stony Stratford and Wicken. These peals were rung as a token of the good fellowship between the two belfries, and to show how much they can help each other to advance in change ringing. In the prayer of dedication of the board, mention was made of a former leader of the Wicken ringers, Joseph Reid, who passed away in 1921.

An address was given by the Bishop, who spoke of the good work that had been accomplished by Mr. Nelson Ward, and of the great interest he had taken in their bellringing, and also in their associations. Canon Carroll, he added, was carrying on the same work, and he hoped that he would be there for many years. The Bishop said that that service was to him a unique one. He had not assisted one exactly like it in all his twenty years' work in the diocese, and it was one in which he was very much pleased to take part. He said how fine a thing it was to ring a peal in honour of the work that one minister had done, and then to ring a peal of welcome to his successor. He also said how good it was to have ringers from other parishes at such a service as that, for each church should get outside and beyond its own parish, if they were to promote the spirit of friendliness and fellowship.

The peal boards were made by Mr. E. Shakeshaft and Mr. Aubrey Barbey.

After the service a tea was given in the school by Canon Carroll. The Bishop took the chair, supported by the Revs. R. Gore-Browne, R. Howes, F. H. Lawson, Mr. Andrew Gore-Brown, and Canon Carroll, the Hon. Mrs. Gore-Browne and the Misses Carroll. There were about fifty-five ringers and friends present.

After tea, the Rev. R. Howes proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Carroll for his hospitality, to which the Rector replied.

An exhibition of handbell ringing was finely given by Messrs. Lambert, H. Sear, A. J. Green, T. Roberts and F. Case. The ladies in charge of the tea were Miss Cannings, Mesdames Cashmore, Pitson Sorrell and Shakeshaft.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Market Lavington on Saturday, March 2nd. After the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. A. Stourton, B.A.), who is a ringer, and a former chairman of the branch, a peal board was dedicated by the Vicar, recording a peal of Grandsire Doubles rung by the Market Lavington ringers (the Vicar himself being one of them) on February 15th, 1928.

Tea followed, to which 21 sat down, after which a short business meeting was held, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. The Chairman said he had that afternoon attended the annual committee meeting of the Guild at Salisbury, and the question of a form of service for the dedication of peal boards was discussed, and favourably received. Among the other business disposed of was the selection of Bridport, Dorset, for the annual meeting of the Guild, if it could be arranged there. The Chairman also stated that that day was the 62nd anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. Brownlee West. Mr. West was formerly secretary of the branch, and was one of the vice-presidents of the Guild. He asked Mr. Wicks, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. West, to convey the congratulations and best wishes of the branch to Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee West.

The death of Mr. Cecil Hampton, formerly of Devizes, who was an enthusiastic ringer when living in the district, was reported, and all present stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Mr. W. Parker, of Marden, was elected a ringing member of the Guild.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, to the organist and those who prepared the tea. He congratulated the ringers on their first peal.—The Vicar, in reply, said he was pleased to have the meeting at Market Lavington, and thanked those of the branch who had assisted in teaching the Market Lavington ringers, especially mentioning Mr. S. Hillier, of Devizes, who, he regretted, was not present on account of illness.

Ringers were present was Market Lavington, Devizes, St. John's and St. Mary's, St. James', Southbroom, Bratton, Bradford-on-Avon, Rowde, Holt, Melksham, Trowbridge and Eriestoke, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening.

SHERBORNE, HANTS.—At St. John's Church, on February 9th, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: G. C. Hammond 1, W. Hunt 2, C. Ostler 3, W. Ford 4, H. Balaam (conductor) 5, J. Chesterman 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Seventy years ago to-day a peal of 10,047 Stedman Caters was rung in 6 hrs. 16 mins. at Aston 'by a miscellaneous company.' 'The above peal,' says the record, 'was rung single-handed, and what eminently combines to enrich this performance is, it was rung at the first attempt, and is the greatest number of changes ever completed in this intricate system. It was composed for this occasion by Henry Johnson and ably conducted by John Perks.'

On March 8th, 1737, a peal of 12,603 Grandsire Caters was rung at Norwich in 8 hrs. 15 mins., and was the longest in the method up to that time. Indeed, it was a great performance, seeing how short a time before that the first ten-bell peal was rung.

The first peal of Treble Bob Maximus was rung at Southwark by the College Youths on March 12th, 1758.

The London Scholars, who afterwards became the Royal Cumberland Youths, rang the first peal on the twelve bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London, on March 14th, 1727. It was a 6,006 Grandsire Cinqnes. The next day the College Youths went there, and rang a peal of 6,314 in the same method.

During the recent hard frost, Mr. E. Harry Stoneley, of Stoke Golding, the well-known Leicester and Hinckley District ringer, skated no less than 200 miles on the canal in six days. On one evening he did 23½ miles at a stretch. Mr. Stoneley is a great cyclist, and has cycled thousands of miles for ringing. He was one of the band which rang the record 12,696 Cambridge Surprise Major.

ST. GEORGE'S, SOUTHWARK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was interested in the announcement contained in 'The Ringing World' dated February 15th regarding the tower of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, which is now the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police Guild. It was stated that only call changes had been rung here for many years.

This church formerly possessed a very able band of change ringers, but its activities had to be suspended during the war. The society lost several of its members in the war, but it was restarted with the introduction of a few recruits, of whom I was one, and subsequently met with a good measure of success in change ringing. On the arrival of the present Rector, however, things were made too uncomfortable for any self-respecting body, with the result that the members desired to sever their connection.

Since that time, it is true, I believe, that no regular change ringing has taken place. I cannot help wondering whether the Rector still intends to make the stipulation that only those who attend the services shall be allowed to ring the bells, and, further, whether the Police Guild has agreed to observe this rule. Some, no doubt, would be inclined to sympathise with a church possessing a good ring of bells which are not often rung, but if the Rector's general attitude remains as it was I cannot prophesy a long and happy connection with any ordinary company of change ringers.—Yours faithfully,

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of March 1st, page 138, are the official minutes of the Central Council meeting of June 5th, 1928. I read that this motion was carried unanimously: '... That No. 5, Treble Bob, be renamed "London Treble Bob"; No. 4, 4th's-place Delight, be renamed "Clarence"; No. 14, 3rd's-place Delight, "Barham"; No. 36, 3rd's-place Delight, "Windsor." ...'

In your issue of September 7th, 1928, there is a list of revised names, asking for correction. I read: '... No. 5, Treble Bob, "Rochester"; No. 4, 4th's Delight, "St. Werburg"; No. 36, 3rd's Delight, "Balmoral." ...'

What, please, is the explanation? If you cannot add your editorial note, perhaps Mr. Trollope would be kind enough to enlighten us.

I wonder if Mr. Trollope would be kind enough to take his list, as published on September 7th, 1928, and say, definitely, that all of the names stand, except numbers so-and-so, which are now so-and-so.

I think we six-bell ringers would like it to be definite; quite a number of us have the old 'Collection' which we should be glad to bring up to date. And we have waited a very long while!—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE L. JOYCE.

THE OLD MANCHESTER RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Re the article published in your issue of the 22nd ult., and headed 'An old Manchester record,' I think that there must be a great error, either on the part of the writer of the same, or otherwise the printers, or composers, inasmuch, if you read carefully, you will note that the peal Kent Treble Bob Royal, consisting of 8,000 changes, is recorded as having been rung on February 23rd, 1830, whereas in another part of the matter it is stated that the bells were not augmented to a peal of ten until the year 1835, or five years later than the impossible peal on eight bells.

THE JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

The forty-first gathering of ringers popularly known as the 'Johnson Dinner' took place in Birmingham on Saturday, and although the attendance suffered somewhat through the illness of many who would otherwise have been present, the Connaught Room of the Imperial Hotel was filled with a representative and happy company. In the afternoon the new bells at St. Martin's Church were tried by a number of visitors who thoroughly enjoyed the experience, while others went to the Cathedral where the 'pleasure' was tempered by the opportunity of ringing on a badly-going peal of poor bells. However, the belfries were the rallying point of the gathering, and a company of nearly 140 sat down to dinner later, under the chairmanship of the Rector of Birmingham (Canon T. Guy Rogers). He was supported by Alderman J. S. Pritchett (Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild), Rev. W. Riley (Shirley), Lt.-Col. Danielsen (Edgbaston), Mr. J. J. Kendall (churchwarden of St. Martin's), Mr. W. R. Heaton, Mr. T. H. Reeves (hon. secretary of the Guild), Mr. A. Paddon Smith (vice-president) and Mrs. Paddon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. E. A. Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council), Mr. J. Bullock (Master of the College Youths), Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. Clark, Mr. C. F. Johnston (Croydon). Among the visitors were Messrs. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association), J. T. Dyke (hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association), E. Guise (hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), E. W. Elwell (hon. secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild), J. Jagger (Old Hill), Capt. J. H. R. Frechorn (Croydon), Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood (Derby), Mr. and Mrs. F. Perrins (Coventry), Mr. and Mrs. Coppock and Miss I. Thompson (Nottingham), Messrs. C. Harrison and J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), F. E. Dawe (Woking), G. R. Pye (Romford), G. Dent (Harlow), W. H. Barber (Newcastle), H. W. Wilde (Chester), E. Bishop (Swindon), W. Saunders (Coalbrookdale), W. Thomas and W. Knight (Bristol), T. King (Bath), T. J. Salter (Kidderminster), W. Short (Clent), W. Elton (Walsall), S. R. Roper (Croydon), S. Palmer and W. Bugar (Sheffield), J. W. Pemberton (Erdington), etc. Among the officers of the Guild were Messrs. J. George and J. H. Shepherd (vice-presidents), E. Allaway, and there were members of the Guild from all the towers in and around Birmingham.

After dinner the toast of 'The King' was drunk, and Mr. T. H. Reeves then proposed 'Church and State.'

SCIENCE AND RELIGION.

Mr. Reeves said that owing to little criticisms and the differences between the various ruling bodies of the Church, the average layman did not know quite where he stood. They had the challenge of the scientists which apparently knocked the very foundations of the faith of the Church away, but really did nothing of the sort. Science itself was constantly developing, and what was once accepted as true is proved by new knowledge to be false; whereas the foundations of the Church were in truth itself, and the developments of science only go to prove more and more how sure are the Church's foundation. As regards the State, there were many who would like to see the Church freed from any connection with the State, especially after the recent controversy. The union was to the Church a matter of secondary importance. She was a divine society founded on Christ Himself, having for its ends the salvation of souls, and should she be separated from the State might well fulfil all her functions to perfection. Not so with the State. Take away the uplifting influence of the Church, and he was afraid it would become more and more materialistic and selfish. He would say, in conclusion, let Church and State continue to go hand in hand and work together for the uplifting of the nation and the world in general.

The Rector, in reply, said Mr. Reeves' speech opened the way to him to give them a long lecture, but he must content himself with a few words. There was only one God, and therefore the God of science and the God of religion was one and the same. Given time and patience, an open mind and a ready heart, they would eventually find that the truth which came from religion and the truth which came from science could be harmoniously blended. Therefore he was not in the least alarmed with the different shocks that came to them. With regard to the relations between Church and State, if there was any great quarrel with the State on any big moral issue he would be among the first to ask for the freedom of the Church, but he did not feel there was any great spiritual or moral question which had arisen to divide Church and State. He was perfectly happy to retain their connection with the State at the present moment, and he felt that whatever action Parliament took in connection with the Prayer Book was taken deliberately in the interest of the Church itself. He believed Parliament believed the Church did not know its own mind sufficiently. There was a strong minority in the Church against the proposed revised Prayer Book, and that being the case the State might be well justified in saying, 'You must hold your hand for the moment.' Continuing, the Rector thanked the Guild for asking him to preside at that gathering. It was a matter of great regret to him that Mr. Paddon Smith had resigned the secretaryship after 20 years of splendid service. He had now accepted the office of vice-president, which was a signal mark of the Guild's trust and confidence in him now that he had resigned the important post of secretary. He (the Rector) would like to express his own appreciation of Mr. Smith's kindness and his work for the Guild (applause). He would also like to add his appreciation of Mr. Reeves. He felt they would find in him one who would consider the interests of the Guild, who would not fail them, and who would be a worthy successor to Mr. Smith (applause).

HOW JOHNSON CONDUCTED A 'SILENT' PEAL.

Mr. John Jagger proposed the toast of 'The immortal memory of Henry Johnson,' and related the story of his various meetings with the Birmingham veteran. He was first introduced to him, he said, in 1877, by Charles Hounslow, of Oxford, 'but,' added the speaker, 'I had no more to do with him on that occasion, because Mr. Hounslow collared him all the time.' Their next meeting was in 1879, and the next not until 1884. On each occasion the older members 'collared' Mr. Johnson, so that he (the speaker) had little to do with him. The next occasion was in 1886, when they attempted a silent peal at Burton, and Mr. Johnson came to umpire it. The first time Mr. Hattersley, of Sheffield, who rang the treble, wanted to catch the eye of the fifth man, Mr. Samuel Reeves. He could not catch it, so he walked halfway across the belfry and whistled. Mr. Johnson got up from his seat and said, 'That's blue'd it' (laughter). They attempted the peal again a fortnight later, and Mr. Johnson conducted the non-conducted peal (laughter). He went into the centre of the ringing room and said, 'Gentlemen, I want you to ring a good peal.' He called, 'Look to; she's gone,' and they started off into rounds. Then Mr. Johnson walked out of the circle, and took his seat. He said, 'Go, Stedman,' and they started. Then, at the finish of the peal, which they got, he said, 'That's all,' let them ring a few rounds, and then called, 'Stand.' He came into the centre again, and said, 'Gentlemen, you have rung a perfect peal. It may be possible to equal it, but never to surpass it' (applause). They were encouraging words to all of them. Afterwards, they had a little 'social,' of course, and Mr. Heywood, as he then was, collared Mr. Johnson (laughter). All the previous speakers whom he (Mr. Jagger) had heard propose that toast had eulogised Mr. Johnson's good qualities, and anything which he might add would be only to endorse what had already been said. He would therefore content himself by asking them all to rise and honour the memory of that wonderful man.

The toast having been drunk in silence, the customary request was made that those present who knew Mr. Johnson in the flesh should rise in their places. Eleven of the company responded.

AN ALDERMANIC REVIEW.

Alderman Pritchett proposed the toast of 'Continued prosperity to St. Martin's Guild.' He said that dinner, originally started 41 years ago as a purely local affair, had now developed into a national event. Ringers came there from all over England to celebrate the memory of Henry Johnson, under the auspices of St. Martin's Guild. During that 41 years there had been many changes. He believed Mr. Joseph Johnson, who was a son of Mr. Henry Johnson, was the only one present that night who attended the first dinner, and there could be very few others living. Every year they parted with old friends, but the compensation was that they made new ones. Although individuals left them—inevitably—yet the Guild went on, and the Henry Johnson dinner went on, more prosperously and more successfully every year. The oldest ringer present that night was probably Mr. Frank Banks, who had just attained his 81st birthday, and who was still actively discharging the duties as towerkeeper at St. Martin's Church. Long might he continue to do so (hear, hear). A suggestion had been made that day which might interest them. They had been holding a meeting of the founders of the proposed 'Campana' Lodge of Freemasons, and they were informed that Mr. Banks was already a Forester, an Oddfellow and an Antediluvian Buffalo, and they thought they might as well make him a Freemason and appoint him Tyler of the lodge, the Tyler being the person who looked after the furniture of the lodge. If that idea was carried into execution a very excellent Tyler he would make. Continuing, Alderman Pritchett said they missed several faces that night, for influenza accounted for a good many apologies, and had affected the attendance to some extent. They had, however, many old friends with them, including the venerable Rector's churchwarden of St. Martin's Church, Mr. Kendall, who was still young and active despite his 80 years, and continued to take great interest in that gathering. They regretted the absence of Mr. Geoffrey Molinex, who had been an invalid for some months.

CATHEDRAL BELLS RESTORATION SCHEME SHELVED.

During the year 1928 the Guild had gone steadily on and had been very successful, although it had not been able to ring so many peals—for obvious reasons. Eighteen peals had been rung during the year, consisting of Grandsire, Erin and Stedman Triples, Bob and Double Norwich Major, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Royal, and seven peals of Stedman Cinques. These Stedman Cinques included a peal which was Mr. James George's one thousandth peal (applause). There were only five persons living who had rung over a thousand peals, and they had two of them present that night, Mr. George R. Pye, in addition to Mr. James George. It was a wonderful thing to ring a thousand peals, and very few men were able to accomplish it. During the year the great event in their Guild had been the recasting and rehanging of the bells of St. Martin's Church, and a very beautiful peal they now had, and one they were proud of, and hoped the City of Birmingham would be proud of. Unfortunately, owing to illness, the usual practice and peal ringing had not yet been resumed, but they hoped they would be very shortly. Another interesting event, in which he personally took part, was the reopening of the twelve bells at Lincoln Cathedral. They, also, were a very beautiful peal. Then there was the reopening of the twelve bells at Worcester. That also was a memorable event in the annals of ringing during the past year. They had a Cathedral in Birmingham: unfortunately, the bells there were, in his opinion, worse than useless; they were a positive nuisance—a nuisance to those who heard them and a nuisance to those who had the misfortune to ring them. The authorities of the Cathedral had the opportunity last year to do something to make them a credit to the Cathedral and the town by having the bells recast and rehung, like the bells of the Parish Church. Apparently, the money was forthcoming. They appealed for three thousand pounds and they got £5,200, but no pressure, no solicitation, and no exhortation could persuade them to emulate the example of the Parish Church and install a decent peal of bells ('Shame'). So ringing there would be continued under protest and with a feeling that it was a disagreeable task that had to be done. In the meantime the practice at the other churches and the service ringing had been quite satisfactory. With regard to other matters, the great event since the last gathering had been the resignation of their secretary, Mr. Paddon Smith, after twenty years of devoted service, and his replacement by Mr. Thomas Reeves. He would have something more to say about Mr. Smith later, but of Mr. Reeves they all knew that he was an accomplished ringer and the son of an accomplished ringer and most worthy man, Mr. Samuel Reeves, who was himself well known all over the country as a ringer and as a former Master of the College Youths. Mr. Samuel Reeves was a most amiable gentleman, and a most patient instructor. With regard to Mr. Thomas Reeves, he believed he would be a most able successor to a splendid predecessor. For 20 years Mr. Godden was the secretary of that Guild. Mr. Godden was a most excellent secretary. He was succeeded by Mr. Paddon Smith. He did not know why Mr. Smith did not wait to attain his 'majority' before resigning: probably the idea occurred to him that as Mr. Godden had been secretary for twenty years he would be secretary for a similar period. He had now given up that office, much to their regret, although they could not reasonably insist on his retaining it, after the splendid services he had rendered for so many years. But although they had changes in their officials, the Guild went on, and it would continue to prosper as long as it got such excellent men to serve it as Mr. Paddon Smith and Mr. Thomas Reeves (applause).

PRESENTATION TO MR. PADDON SMITH.

The toast having been drunk, Alderman Pritchett rose again and said that the honour had fallen to him to make a presentation to Mr. Paddon Smith. No words of his could adequately express their sense of appreciation of the services which had been so long and so efficiently rendered to St. Martin's Guild, and to the Art and Exercise in general by Mr. Paddon Smith, but they had endeavoured to express their feeling in a concrete form by making a presentation. This was to consist of a tea and coffee service, of beaten pewter, and a three-tier dinner wagon, which could be converted into a table. He congratulated Mr. Smith, not only upon receiving that token of the admiration and regard of his friends and brother ringers, but also upon having his wife and two sons present to witness the esteem in which he was held by the members of the Guild (applause).

Mr. Albert Walker paid a tribute to the services rendered by Mr. Smith, and said that his task as Deputy Ringing Master had been made very much easier by his association with Mr. Smith, who had done wonders for the Guild. Mr. Smith had promised to resign on several occasions, but when this time he told them he had finally determined to do so, it really came as a bit of a bombshell. They had not been left with much time to organise that presentation, but there had been a ready response from friends in many parts of the country, and he had received some remarkable letters of appreciation of Mr. Smith's services, not only to the Guild, but to the Exercise in general. He felt sure Mr. Smith would prize the gifts, which would eventually be suitably inscribed, and he hoped Mr. Smith would always treasure these mementoes of his long period as their secretary. He was glad to know that although Mr. Smith had resigned the secretaryship he would not lose one iota of his interest in St. Martin's Guild or in ringing (applause).

Mr. T. Reeves also spoke, and referred to the days when he and Mr. Smith used to walk together three or four nights a week to practise at the various churches. He knew Mr. Smith had had his heart in the work as secretary of St. Martin's Guild, and he (Mr. Reeves) took the work over from him, knowing he would receive from Mr. Smith all the support possible. In fact, but for that he would not have agreed to take on the position. He wished Mr. Smith success in his retirement from the cares of office, knowing full well that his interest in ringing and the tower of St. Martin's would continue (applause).

Alderman Pritchett, through the chairman, then handed the tea and coffee set to Mr. Smith amid applause. The table has not yet been delivered from the manufacturers.

LOOKING BACK.

Mr. Smith, who was very warmly cheered, acknowledged the gifts. He thanked the speakers for their flattering remarks and the members for their presents. It was not every man, he said, who got his work appreciated as the members of St. Martin's Guild and other Guilds had appreciated his, as shown by those very handsome gifts. Twenty years, continued Mr. Smith, was a long period. It was a big slice out of a man's life, yet, looking back on his twenty years as secretary, he could only wonder at the speed with which it had gone. He would like to read two extracts from the minutes of St. Martin's Guild which he came across the other day. One was of a meeting on January 8th, 1889, at St. Martin's Mission Room (even the building was gone now), Mr. Henry Johnson being in the chair. 'It was proposed by Mr. John Day, seconded by the Rev. H. C. Courtney, and unanimously resolved that Mr. W. H. Godden be elected secretary of the Guild.' Among those present at that meeting were those whose names were household words in those days: Henry Johnson, Harry Bastable, Samuel Reeves, Wm. Rock Small, John Saunders and Thomas Russam. Of all the names mentioned, only one man survived. It was Mr. Thomas Russam, and he (the speaker) was sorry that Mr. Russam was not well enough to be there that night. Twenty years later (1909) a meeting was held at the Church House, Moor Street (now no longer occupied by the church), with the Lord Bishop of Birmingham in the chair. On the motion of Mr. Painter, seconded by Mr. Russam, he (Mr. Smith) was elected secretary of the Guild. Alderman Pritchett had spoken of the Guild going on for ever, but the Alderman himself seemed to be like Tennyson's brook. He seemed to go on for ever (applause). In the minutes of that meeting it was recorded that Mr. J. S. Pritchett spoke in terms of high appreciation of Mr. Godden's services. Only a few moments ago he had done the same of him (Mr. Smith), and he hoped sincerely that when Mr. Reeves had done twenty years as secretary Alderman Pritchett would be there to speak as nicely of Mr. Reeves as he had of Mr. Godden and himself (applause). That meeting in 1909 was the only time in the history of their Guild when they had their patron, the Bishop, present at one of their meetings. Alderman Pritchett had said he thought Mr. Joseph Johnson was the only person present that night who was at the first commemoration dinner. There were two others still surviving, but who were not with them that night—Mr. Thomas Russam and Mr. William Kent. During the twenty years he had been secretary the Guild had grown stronger, both numerically and financially, than it had ever been. When he took up the job he made a resolution that he would do his very best not only to maintain unimpaired its traditions, of which he was very proud, but, if it were possible, to enhance them. If the Guild was now stronger than ever it was before, it was not owing only to his personal efforts but to the unswerving and loyal support of every brother officer in the Guild (applause). He could only hope that his successor would have the same support, and he was not only hoping but he felt sure he would get it. These presents would occupy a very prominent position in his home, and would remind him for the rest of his natural life of the very many happy friendships he had formed and the many happy hours he had spent among bellringers (applause).

A GIFT TO ST. MARTIN'S TOWER.

Another presentation followed. Mr. F. E. Dawe referred to the hearty welcome which was always extended to visitors to St. Martin's belfry and to the friendships that were there set up and cemented. He said the ringers there were proud of their bells and of their ringing chamber. He knew they were proud of their Rector and churchwardens, and he believed their chairman was proud of his ringers. Seventeen years ago he (Mr. Dawe) had the pleasure of being their chairman, and on that occasion he presented to the belfry a small photograph of the church. He could not help thinking now that that photograph was totally inadequate to the surroundings. He therefore unearthed the old negative, had had it enlarged, and the picture framed to take the place of that earlier one. As it happened, although it had not been mentioned, he was one of those who were present at the first Johnson dinner. Henry Johnson himself was there, in wonderful form, shrewd, witty, clear-headed and humorous. He was truly a wonderful man. Although 53 years separated Henry Johnson's birthday and his own, they were not only friends, but, which was very unusual for an old man and a young one, they were 'pals.' He (the speaker) was never able to hoard money, but he cherished the letters which he received from many distinguished persons. He was now going to collect the letters he had received from Johnson, Reeves, Bastable and many others—Johnson's letters were particularly interesting, and contained many of the old man's compositions—and it was his intention, if the Guild would accept them, to hand them over at an early date to Mr. Reeves to be preserved in the archives (hear, hear). He hoped to do the same thing with the letters of other notable persons of 50 years ago, and to give his letters from Holey to the College Youths; those from John Cox to the Cumberlands; those from Jasper Snowden to the Yorkshire Association; while those of James Washbrook would find their way to the Oxford Guild (applause). He asked St. Martin's Guild to accept the gift of the picture in the hope that it would find a place in the ringing chamber (applause).

The Rector gratefully accepted the gift on behalf of the Guild, and said it would be treasured in the ringing chamber.

Mr. Albert Walker proposed 'The Visitors,' and extended a cordial welcome to the representatives of the many societies who had come to join St. Martin's Guild in that commemoration. Referring to the various dinners now held in different parts of the country, he said there were many who would probably like to attend them all, but some of the smaller ones were held too close to the larger gatherings, and he suggested that the organisers should endeavour to spread them out somewhat. They ought to give every encouragement to these dinners which cemented the fellowship and brotherhood among ringers.

THE RECTOR ON THE RACK.

Mr. C. F. Johnston, who first responded, said in coming to that gathering, visitors always felt that their time and trouble were well repaid. They felt that this year they were present on an auspicious occasion. They had been presenting a most worthy, hardworking and popular secretary, after his 20 years' service, with a suitable memento, and they had been listening to the new peal in St. Martin's; they had enjoyed a very good dinner and had listened to some most finished speeches. He felt he was interpreting the wishes of the visitors when he said they were enjoying themselves. He agreed that if these dinners could be divided into periods it might be a little easier for those visitors who wished to attend them. Last year at that gathering the Rector appeared to be rather on the rack—there were so many attempts at advice as to how St. Martin's bells should be hung and how they should be cast. They all felt some measure of pity for the Rector, and therefore they came that day to join in their compliments and congratulations to him and to the authorities at St. Martin's who had cut the gordian knot. They had got their peal back again; everybody was happy in Birmingham, and they were there to witness their pleasure that evening (applause).

Mr. E. W. Elwell also responded, and referred to the way in which such gatherings promoted good fellowship among ringers, and by that means did a great deal to improve change ringing and to keep members of the Exercise enthusiastic, keen, loyal and good friends one with another. From the geographical advantage which they had in Birmingham, the Henry Johnson dinner drew ringers from all corners of the land, for they could get there without undue trouble. Those who came to that dinner were not treated as visitors, but

ANOTHER PEAL OF TEN FOR LANCASHIRE

Among the new contracts which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have had entrusted to them are the following:—

Leyland, Lancs.—Recasting peal of eight, tenor 22½ cwt., adding two trebles to form peal of ten, and hanging in new metal frame with new fittings.

Barnet, Herts.—Rehanging on ball bearings, peal of eight, tenor 23½ cwt.

Kingsteignton, Devon.—Recasting peal of six, tenor 12 cwt., and augmenting to peal of eight, tenor 16 cwt., and supplying new metal frame and new fittings.

Iver, Bucks.—Rehanging peal of six, tenor 15½ cwt., in new metal frame and with new fittings.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A 'CONSULTANT' FOR DIOCESAN ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Hadleigh with the hope of helping beginners there, but as no local men turned up the more elaborate methods were rung. At the business meeting after tea, it was proposed by Mr. C. J. Sedgeley in the chair, that the meeting thanked the secretary and supported him in his action in writing to the Archdeacon and to the secretary of the Advisory Committee, pointing out how unwise it was for that committee to act without the expert advice of the Guild.—This was carried with enthusiasm.

It was decided that an officer, to be called 'Consultant to the Advisory Committee,' be elected each year at the annual meeting.

It was also decided that members of the Guild should do all they could to get as many ringers as possible elected on the Parochial Church Councils, the Diocesan Conference, and the Church Assembly.

It was agreed to send an instructor to Hadleigh as soon as a hand could be got together able to avail themselves of such instruction.

The Chairman explained that it was hoped that the memorial tablet to W. L. Catchpole and James Motts would be unveiled at St. Mary-le-Tower Church on Easter Monday, and that all subscriptions would be sent in before then.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PEALS OF MINOR DISCUSSED.

A very successful meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Eaton Socon on Saturday, February 23rd, members being present from the following towers: Bedford, Biggleswade, Roxton, Southill, Clifton, Bromham, Sandy, Kempston, St. Neots, Great Staughton and Long Stanton.

The business meeting followed tea, with the Rector (Rev. H. P. Higham) in the chair. One new member was elected, and it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Arlesey on Saturday, March 16th. It was also suggested that a combined meeting be held with the Herts County, Ely Diocesan and Beds Association at Biggleswade on Saturday, April 20th.

A discussion on what should constitute a peal of Minor took place at some length. A resolution being put to the meeting was carried unanimously, that all peals of Minor should consist of seven 720's, each true and complete, as passed at the Central Council meeting.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and for presiding, brought the business meeting to a close.

The tower was then again visited, and some good touches rung round.

The secretary wishes to thank all the members who made the journey to Eaton Socon on such a rough day, and hopes that still more will try and be present at the future meetings. The bells were rung down about eight o'clock, and brought a very pleasant and successful afternoon and evening to a close.

were made to feel thoroughly at home and to have a share and interest in that festival, which became more and more national in character.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith submitted 'The Ringing World,' to which he wished every success, and suggested that those who were responsible for sending reports of meetings might get out of the stereotyped style and add interest to their contributions by sometimes telling readers about the features of the church and the bells at the places visited.—Mr. J. S. Goldsmith responded.

Alderman Pritchett offered the thanks of the company to St. Martin's quartette and to Mrs. Hughes for their delightful contributions to the musical programme, and went on to propose the toast of 'The Chairman,' to which Canon Rogers replied.

This brought a pleasant evening to a close. The speeches were interspersed with glees and part-songs by St. Martin's quartette, handbell selections by Mrs. Hughes, tunes by members of St. Martin's Guild, and a bob course of Stedman Ciques by G. P. Swann, F. W. Perrins, A. Walker, J. F. Smallwood, A. E. Norman and M. J. Morris.

A large number of visitors stayed for Sunday and met for ringing and friendly intercourse at various centres during the day.

A NEW PEAL FOR KENTISH WEALD.

The new peal of eight at Frittenden, Kent, was dedicated by the Bishop of Dover on Thursday evening, February 21st. The bells are the gift of Admiral Moore, who was, owing to indisposition, unfortunately unable to be present at the service. A large congregation of parishioners was, however, in the church, and listened with great interest to the most interesting address of the Bishop.

The local ringers, ably led by Mr. H. Baker, raised the bells afterwards, and with the help of Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn and Mr. Adecock, of Croydon, rang a touch of Grandsire Triples. Mr. C. F. Johnston represented Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have been responsible for the work.

The bells are a completely new ring, replacing the old peal of eight. The tenor is 15 cwt. in F sharp, and the bells are hung in metal headstocks and hall bearings, in a new teak frame of two tiers. Although no visiting ringers were present on Thursday, the new peal was tried during the previous week by neighbouring experts, who expressed their keenest approval at both the tone and 'go' of the bells. The local ringers are extremely pleased with their new peal.

CATHEDRAL RINGER'S DEATH AT CHICHESTER.

Death has robbed the Chichester Cathedral band of a keen member in the person of Mr. Marcus Robert Heffer, who passed away at the Richmond Arms, of which he had been proprietor for a number of years. Deceased formerly served 25 years in the West Sussex Constabulary. The funeral took place on February 27th, when six police constables acted as bearers, and a number of ringers were present, including Messrs. J. H. Blake, A. Tugwell, H. J. Tucker and T. H. Doick, representing the Cathedral Guild. In the evening, with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by F. Arthur 1, W. Falconer 2, T. H. Doick 3, W. E. Ticehurst 4, G. Marshall 5, H. J. Tucker (conductor) 6, J. H. Blake 7, A. Tugwell 8.

NORTHERN ASSOCIATIONS MEET.

There was no doubt that the joint meeting of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association and the Southern Division of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, held at Northallerton on a recent Saturday, was a huge success. The 30 members who attended will all vouch for that. The ringers gathered from Darlington (St. John's and Holy Trinity), Middlesbrough, Richmond, Ripon, Saltburn, Sharow, Stockton, Thirsk, and Hurworth, and everybody had a real good ringing day. The striking feature of the meeting was the large proportion of young ringers there, and it gave the officers great pleasure to see the meeting (which was a suggestion of a member of the Richmond band) such a great success. The bells were rung from about 2 o'clock till 8, and touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman, and Double Norwich were successful. The younger members were given careful attention, and each one of them was made to do something better than he was accustomed to. A unique touch was one of Grandsire, in which the ages of two ringers totalled more than 150 years. Vice-President Newton, of Stockton, was one of the veterans, with a 'score' of over 70, whilst the 'father of the meeting,' Mr. 'Jimmy' Barnett, 'topped the hill' with 80 years to his credit. Long may these two worthies live to grace the meetings of the association.

Tea was provided at Russell's Cafe, presided over by the Rev. Canon Brown, Vicar of Northallerton, supported by the president of the association (Mr. J. C. Pollard) and Mr. T. Metcalfe, secretary. The Vicar, in his usual happy way, gave the association a most hearty welcome to Northallerton, saying how pleased he was to hear the bells rung so well, and hoped to have the pleasure of welcoming the association on many more occasions.

The President thanked the Vicar most heartily for his kind remarks, and also for being present at tea and for allowing the members of the association the use of the bells. He also thanked Mr. J. Barnett for making the necessary arrangements for the tea.—This was seconded by Mr. J. T. Titt and carried by acclamation.

A lively and useful discussion on the aims and work of the association took place afterwards. The officers particularly wish to express their pleasure on seeing such an excellent meeting, and hope that the Easter meeting at Masham and the annual meeting at Ripon in Whit Monday will be as well attended.

KENTISH RINGERS' LOSS.

Mr. Arthur Finn, J.P., F.S.A., donor of the fine peal of bells at Lydd, Kent (lost by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston), died on Thursday week at the age of 72 years. He was a leading figure in the Romney Marsh District, and his passing has thrown the little borough of Lydd into gloom.

He was always interested in bells and ringing, and welcomed and entertained the Kent Association whenever they visited Lydd. A well-known agriculturist, Mr. Finn was six times Mayor of the borough, and he filled a great many other public offices.

CENTRAL COUNCIL POLICY.

A fortnight ago we referred to the position of the Central Council in regard to the affiliated associations, and pointed out how the process of time had led to a growing opinion in some quarters that the relationship should be placed upon a different foundation to that which has existed since the formation of the Council nearly forty years ago. When the article was written we were not aware of the strong feeling which had developed among a section of ringers in the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and which has led to the suggestion that the association should withdraw from the Council until, in effect, the latter's constitution is amended so that its policy reflects the views of the affiliated organisations instead of merely registering the private opinions of the elected representatives. As we said a fortnight ago, this issue has got to be faced sooner or later, but it would, we think, be a disastrous step if associations, which may feel that change is necessary, should withdraw from the Council at this stage.

There are, of course, two sides to this, as to most questions, and the arguments in favour of maintaining the status quo are cogently put, in a letter elsewhere in this issue, by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who, for so many years, was hon. secretary of the Council. The point of Mr. Davies' contention is that representatives should hear the pros and cons of every subject before they come to a decision, and that they should not attend the Council meetings committed to vote one way or the other without having had the opportunity of hearing the arguments on all sides. There is much force in this contention, but ringers will ask what use is it, then, for the Council, as they have done on some few occasions, to refer a matter to the associations for their views—as for instance in the case of the proposed diplomas for young ringers? Mr. Davies also argues that it is up to the associations to elect men who are in sympathy with the views of those who send them, but the difficulty in this matter is that the representatives are elected only once in three years and in the intervening period all sorts of things may crop up in which the associations and the representatives may differ.

If the present policy of the Council is to be continued, it seems to us that to ensure the sympathetic representation of which Mr. Davies speaks, the constitution of the Council will have to be changed, so that the members are elected annually instead of triennially. If that were done the associations would be in a stronger position, and it would not materially affect the Council. Presumably the object of a three-year term of office was to secure some continuity of policy in the Council, but there is hardly likely to be any great upheaval by a change to an annual election, and, if there were, then it would be an indication that those who 'pay the piper' desired a change of tune. The elections take place next year, and it would be a good time to test the feeling of the associations on matters of this kind.

BY 'MINORMANIA.'

In the recent series of articles under this heading I explained that the false course ends from four rows should bear a visible relationship one to another; and that, if this relationship were found, the systems would combine into one which would be very much abridged. It is absurd to have to admit that two very obvious facts had not occurred to me, and I now hope to point to a definite and visible relationship between those course ends (with tenors together) which pertain to any four rows.

Given two course ends which come from two rows of like nature, the relationship between them should be governed by the Hidden Factor of 23456, because both have been produced by transpositions which are relative to rounds; and those which come from the other pair of like nature rows similarly. In short, the false course ends which come from rows of like nature are related by the natural head of the plain course (23456).

The two rows, whence the first pair of false course ends come, are related to the other two rows by a transposition of the lead-end of the method, and thus it is obvious that both pairs of course ends should be related in some way; and, further, that the relationship should have some bearing upon the lead-end of the method. It was the concentration upon this lead-end that blinded me to one very obvious fact, viz., that, no matter which of the seven 'regular' lead-ends be used, the relationship, between one pair of course ends and those of the other pair, should be standard, because the rows whence the latter come must appear somewhere in the plain course, however the first lead-end may be varied.

We have, then, to decide which of the seven lead-ends is the natural 'end' (in the theoretical sense of the term 'end') of the plain course, in the same way as the lead-head 12345678 is the natural plain course head. In the articles just concluded, I gave a table showing the coupling and positional pairs which the various lead-ends substitute for the lead-head. It will be observed therein that each lead-end substitutes one pair which is identical with the pair in the lead-head. (I have already explained that it is immaterial which 'way' the figures of a pair are read, once the combination is properly established.) For example, the lead-end 13254768 substitutes the 3/2 for the 2/3 of the lead-head; the lead-end 14628375 substitutes 4/2 for the 2/4 pair, and so on. This means that these particular pairs are undisturbed, and the lead-end which does not disturb the tenors (the 7/8 pair) is 1.24365.87; it is the only lead-end which has 1-7-8 'at home'—a 'course end,' as it were, and we may assume that 24365 is the natural 'end' of the plain course, which should relate one pair of course ends to the opposite pair, in a similar way to that in which 23456 relates the units of each pair of course ends which come from two rows of like nature. Or, alternatively, 24365 should be the relationship which links the course ends from two rows of opposite natures.

Here, then, we have two transpositions which possibly will relate the course ends from two odd and two even rows, viz., 23456 and 24365, and I have taken the trouble to apply these transpositions to the sixty possible course ends (with tenors together). I find that the relationships are perfectly proportioned. There are four groups of sixteen each (this does not mean sixty-four course ends). Sixteen pairs are linked together by 23456, and sixteen pairs by 24365, each course end of the pair producing the other by the same transposition—thirty-two in all. Sixteen produce themselves when related to 23456 (Mr. Baker terms these 'Simple Transposition Rows'), and sixteen do likewise when related to 24365; a total, apparently, of sixty-four. There are, however, four which produce themselves when related either to 23456 or 24365, which I have counted twice in order to show an equal proportion. They are: 23456, 24365, 26543, and 25634.

The particular form of transposition which relates the course ends is based on Mr. Baker's 'Proving Value.' The latter provides only for rounds as the Hidden Factor, but any given row may be used in the same way. They are related to 23456 thus:—

Read, in the course end, the separate figures of the Hidden Factor (2, 3, 4, 5 and Course end 2.6.4.3.5 6), and observe the figures which appear in the same row (the H.F.) below, immediately under each figure as it is read. They are 2, 5, 4, 6 and 3. Then the course end 26435 is related to 25463 by the H.F. 23456, and (an important point) vice versa.

The above is a straightforward 'proving value' transposition, as explained in the previous articles, viz., the positions occupied by rounds in the course end 26435, give the P.V. 25463; but I have shown it in the above manner because it is not so simple when rounds is not the Hidden Factor.

Now relate the same course end to 24365 in a similar way:—

Read the H.F. 24365 in the course end, and obtain the resultant from the row below (which always is identical with the H.F. being read in the row above). The resultant is 23645. Then the original course end (26435) is related to 25463 and 23645 (by the Hidden Factors 23456 and 24365 respectively, each of the latter being related to 26135 in precisely the same way.

If this is concrete, it is necessary to produce only one false course end in every four, the remainder resulting from these simple transpositions, and this means that only the half lead of the method is necessary, plus the lead-end row. Below are given two examples, one showing rows of like nature, and the other showing rows of opposite natures, both being taken from the first halves of different methods. If desired, the 'like nature' system may always be used, taking one row from each half when necessary, but the double system is, of course, the shorter way. It is understood, in an asymmetrical section, that two pairs of rows must be dealt with.

ROWS OF LIKE NATURE.

Proceed (as described in the system which deals with rows of like nature, in the previous articles) with the downward treatment only. If no combination of coursing and positional pairs is revealed, the four rows are 'clean.' Produce the false course end for every combination obtained from this downward treatment. Then relate the course end (or ends) to 23456, and reverse the combinations. Finally, relate all course-ends to 24365; reverse the combinations and alter them by the lead-end.

The rows with the treble in second's place (2-4), in this asymmetrical half-section, are 'clean.' Rows 1-3 show one combination only—78 in 6/8; and the false course end is 54263. Thus we have, from the downward treatment PC(7/8)—54263(6/8). For the upwards, the rows being of like nature, we relate the course end to 23456, as in 'K' above, giving 46325, and reversing the combinations, we get PC(6/8)—46325(7/8).

Now relate each of these to 24365, as in 'L' above, and we get 34562 and 62345 respectively. Then reverse the combinations and alter them to those which the lead-end (17583624) substitutes, as shown in the table given on page 26 of 'The Ringing World' of January 11th. The combination 78 in 6/8, when reversed, becomes 68 in 7/8, and the lead-end substitutes 46 in 2/4 for the latter.

The other of the original combinations so treated, will result, of course, in the reversal of the last, viz., 24 in 4/6. Thus we have PC(4/6)—34562(2/4), and PC(2/4)—62345(4/6), as the remaining false course ends which pertain to the four rows with the treble at lead.

ROWS OF OPPOSITE NATURES.

For rows of opposite natures the above is exactly reversed. Proceed as described in the system for opposite nature rows, producing all combinations and their respective false course ends from the downward treatment. For the upward, relate the course end (or ends) to 24365; reverse the combinations and alter them by the lead-end. Finally, relate all course ends to 23456, and reverse the combinations ordinarily (i.e., without the lead-end alteration):—

This half-section is symmetrical, and only one pair of rows need be treated. Either pair (13-15 or 14-16) give '46 in 4/6,' with the false course end 32465; i.e., PC(4/6)—32465(4/6) for the downward treatment. For the upward, the rows being of opposite natures, we relate the course end to 24365, giving 43265. The combination, when reversed, is identical, viz., 46 in 4/6, which, altered by the lead-end substitution gives 78 in 7/8; i.e., PC(7/8)—43265(7/8).

These two, related to 23456, and in reversed combinations, give identical results, and thus the false course ends which govern the eight rows of this section are: PC(4/6)—32465(4/6), and PC(7/8)—43265(7/8).

It is understood, if the downward treatment reveals more than one combination and its resultant false course end, that each one must similarly be treated. It will be observed that the second example shows identical course ends when related to 23456. This might so happen when relating a course end to 24365, and, as previously mentioned, when relating to both, in the cases of four of them. So that, if the downward course end should be either one of 24365, 26543, or 25634, the whole four in that block will be identical. The combinations might, upon occasion, also be identical. For instance, if the combination were '68 in 6/8,' and the lead-end 15372846, the reversal would be the same, and the alteration due to the lead-end also would be identical, viz., '68 in 6/8.'

It has been suggested that I should explain the significance of the combinations, once the course ends have been produced. They point to the leads of the respective courses, e.g., PC(2/3)—24365(6/8) means that certain rows in the lead which follows the 'Middle' position (6/8) of course headed (and not 'ended') by 24365, will be false against certain rows of the lead which follows the 'Before' position (2/3) of the course headed by 23456—the plain course.

Here, then, we have a system which enables us to prove a method like Cambridge Major in five or six minutes, or, perhaps, in less, by using a table of related course ends. I would compile one ('Minor-mania's Ready Reckoner for Industrious Method Provers; False Course Ends at a Glance,' 2s. 10d. post free) were it not for the fact that being so simple a proposition to compile it for oneself, the sales would be nil!

I am indebted to Mr. George Baker for the amount of thought he has given the subject, and the time spent on a fairly lengthy correspondence.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The first district meeting of this year of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Cranleigh on Saturday, March 9th. Grandsire and Stedman Triples and various Major methods (including Cambridge and Superlative Surprise) were rung.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. F. Lytton), who in an extremely interesting and novel address welcomed the members to Cranleigh. The service was brightened by the fact that the organist had very kindly arranged for the attendance of a choir.

Tea was served in the Church Hut, the ladies responsible for it only charging their bare out-of-pocket expenses, and very kindly handing over the balance to the district funds. The business meeting followed, at which, in the absence of the Rector, who had had to leave for London, the curate, Rev. G. Mitchell, presided.

The chief item on the agenda was an invitation received from the Central District, Surrey Association, to hold a joint meeting at Guildford on August Bank Holiday.

After some discussion it was agreed that, as the date suggested was an inconvenient one for a meeting at Guildford, the idea should not be entertained, but that the secretary should write to the Central District of the Surrey Association and say that the members would be happy to join with that body in holding a joint meeting at Guildford on some convenient Saturday. One new member was elected.

The meeting was fairly well attended by members from Cranleigh, S. Nicolas', Holy Trinity Cathedral, Glandon, Haslemere and Woking, with visitors from Shoreham and Ottershaw and several others who omitted to sign the attendance register.

DEATH OF MR. S. PALFRAMAN.

The death took place suddenly on March 1st, at his home, 681, Bolton Road, Bradford, of Mr. Samuel Palframan. He was 71 years of age, and for close on 50 years had been a constant ringer at St. James' Church.

He commenced ringing in 1878, when the bells were first put in, and rang his first peal in October, 1880, for the Yorkshire Association, under whose auspices he had rung 26 peals in all.

He was interred at Undercliffe Cemetery on the 6th inst., and many friends attended the funeral.

A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by Firth Hopwood 1-2, James Cotterill 3-4, Arthur Gill 5-6, Joseph Broadley 7-8.

All Correspondence intended for this Journal should in future be addressed to—

TWO PEALS OF CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MAJOR.

BY T. B. WORSLEY.

The two following peals of 5,056 Cambridge Surprise Major are remarkable for the fact that the 2nd is in 6th's place for 14 leads only in each peal. This is the least number of changes with the 2nd in that position in any peal yet composed in this method.

spondence, but he does not wish to be identified in any way with what has been said, as he considers a lot of it to be untrue and misleading.

However, the principles which govern the system seem to me to be fairly reasonable, and I should be most interested to see an example of a case where the system does not work, provided that the method be 'regular.' It certainly 'pans out' with the odd dozen (or so) methods that I have tried, but it is only fair to admit that I have not tried it on the other 32,454,223,988!

MR. MAURICE SWINFELD'S UNIQUE RECORD.

Burton-on-Trent has been well known from the days of its first peal to have been the home of ringers of no mean ability. There were the famous Wm. Wakley and his brothers, assisted by such men as J. Griffin, J. Jaggard, and their famous band who made history in the early days of Surprise ringing, and who scored many peals in the higher methods. So to-day, although the ringers of Burton have lost their former greatness as a band, there is a representative of the art who has secured what must be a unique record, viz., that of calling his first 55 peals of Stedman Triples, all of different compositions, and mostly conducted from non-observation bells from treble to tenor. It is a wonderful performance, but, like many other talented men, the conductor has very little to say himself about his achievement. He is only anxious, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to give his best thanks to all who have assisted in making up this total, especially his father, Mr. John H. Swinfield, who fixed up the peals and rang in them all; Mr. Chas. Draper, who took part in 50; Mr. James George, who rang in 38; Mr. J. Curtis, who rang the tenor on many occasions; and, not least, Mr. C. R. Belton, of Barwell.

All members of the Midland Counties Association are very proud of Mr. Swinfield's record, and the ringers generally will congratulate him, and hope this talented conductor will go on to greater victories. Here is the list of compositions which Mr. Swinfield has called:—

1. J. O. Lancashire's Variation of J. W. Washbrook's Four-part.
2. G. Lindoff's Ten-part, No. 2.
3. Variation of Sir A. P. Heywood's Ten-part, No. 3.

53. J. Carter's Ten-part, No. 80.
54. J. O. Lancashire's Odd-and-even Bob and Single Ten-part.
55. T. Brook's Variation of T. Thursians' Four-part.

LANCASHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

Ringers of North-East Lancashire, especially those in the Blackburn Branch, will be sorry to hear of the sudden death of Wm. Hy. Harrison, of 38, Earl Street, Colne. The deceased was a ringer of Colne Parish Church for thirty years, for the past twelve of which he held the office of towerkeeper. Always of a cheerful disposition, he was a fine example to the younger members of the local band. Therefore all ringers will join the local band in expressing their deepest sympathy with the widow.

NEW BISHOP'S VISIT TO COLCHESTER.

The recently-appointed Bishop of Chelmsford (Dr. H. A. Wilson) paid his first visit to Colchester on Sunday, March 3rd, when he preached at St. Peter's, (the Parish Church) at the morning service. The Mayor and members of the Corporation attended in state, supported by the G.O.C. of the 4th Division, Major-General A. R. Cameron, C.B., C.M.G., and various representatives of corporate bodies. A touch of Double Norwich Major was rung for the service by Messrs. H. T. Pye, G. A. Wightman, W. J. Nevard, F. L. Bumpstead, R. W. Stannard, G. R. Ashbrook, W. Chalk (conductor), E. P. Duffield, followed by a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 48 mins. by Messrs. G. A. Wightman, E. P. Duffield (conductor), W. J. Nevard, F. L. Bumpstead, W. J. Schofield, G. R. Ashbrook, W. Chalk, R. W. Stannard.

PEAL BOARD GIVEN TO HANSLOPE BELFRY.

A peal board has been placed in the belfry of the Parish Church at Hanslope, Bucks. This fine old spire, which rises to a height of 226ft., and is a landmark for miles around, has a delightful ring of six bells, with a tenor of 22 cwt. in E, last rebung in 1912 by Mr. Alfred Bowell. These were set going by 3 o'clock, and at 3.30 the company, not so large as it would have been had the weather conditions been more favourable, moved to the church for a short service, conducted by the Vicar, who spoke on the true spirit of ringing, namely, not only for pleasure but as a duty, to call people to worship in the house of God. The Vicar also spoke of the close relationship the bells had with almost every event of life.

At the conclusion, the Vicar proceeded with the company to the belfry. After the dedication of the board, the band in their same order as for the peal, rang a short touch of Bob Minor, viz.: P. Amos 1, F. Burgess 2 (both of Northampton), G. Parker 3 (Kings-thorpe), S. Foskitt 4 (Bletchley), E. C. Lambert (conductor) 5 (Stony Stratford), T. Wise 6 (Wootton).

Tea was then partaken of at the home of Mr. E. Edkins, formerly one of the local band. At this, the Vicar was unable to be present, but he came in at the finish and was very interested in the music given on the handbells. He often wondered, he said, why this sort of thing was not done more. He thought much interest might be roused in the villages if only the handbells were used more often, instead of lying idle in the belfry year after year. New recruits, too, said the Vicar, could often be secured in this way, and by other bands coming and ringing peals.

Mr. P. Amos said he and his fellow-ringers were very grateful to the Vicar for permitting them to ring this peal, and it was his suggestion that a board should be given. Hanslope was not a place where peals were rung every little while. There had only been two others rung there at all, the first being on the old five, prior to the treble being added in 1902, and it was 23 years since the last. The chief feature of this board, said Mr. Amos, was the fact that it had been made throughout by one of the band, namely, Mr. T. Wise, of Wootton, Northants. It was well made and written to perfection, and he was sure that all who had seen it would congratulate him on having turned out such a splendid piece of work.

The cost was then handed to Mr. Wise, who, in response, said, although this sort of thing was not his living, it had given him great pleasure, as one of the band, to make the board. As the church was being renovated he would hand a donation out of the costs towards the funds (applause).

A vote of thanks of thanks was passed to the Vicar and ringers for welcoming the visitors there that day, and for the use of the bells. The Vicar, in response, complimented the band on having rung their peal, and hoped they would come again.—Mr. P. Evans, on behalf of the local ringers, said they had great pleasure in welcoming anyone there to have a pull any time they liked to come.

A move was then made to the belfry, where touches of Grandsire, Kent, Stedman and Plain Bob were indulged in, the local ringers joining in.

PEALS IN WALES.

No. 1.—Wrexham, July 27th, 1803. Grandsire Caters. Conducted by Richard Cross.

For the first peal in the Principality, Lawrence organised the team and rang the tenor.

No. 2.—Dolgelly, September 25th, 1809. Grandsire Triples. Conducted by John Hints.

John Hints was a valuable member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and called a number of peals for that society in London. Being a Welshman, he was eager to conduct the first peal of Triples in Wales. 'Kints' is an error of writing up Lawrence's peal records. Lawrence raised his band from Shifnal, Liverpool, Shrewsbury and Stourbridge.

No. 3.—Dolgelly, September 26th, 1809. Oxford Treble Bob Major. Conducted by Richard Cross.

Cross was a prominent conductor of the old Union Society of Shrewsbury, who claim the above records. He put Lawrence on the tenor in this peal.

No. 4.—Wrexham, August 17th, 1818. Oxford Treble Bob Royal. Conducted by Jos. Riley.

There were two men each on the 8th, 9th and tenor during this performance. The composition was Riley's famous even 5,000. (See Snowden's 'Treble Bob,' Part II., page 105.)

Each of these peals was well known to the College Youths of the period, Lawrence being a member of the society and residing in London in 1787-8. Hints and Riley would also tell the Londoners of the strenuous work put in to score these peals, and the long, dangerous riding by stage coach to and from the towers, over the mountains.

No. 5.—Llanstephan, January 1st, 1876. Grandsire Triples. Conducted by Henry Haley.

An interval of 58 years passed between the fourth and fifth peals, the bad going of the Wrexham bells preventing any further attempts.

I would just like to point out that this attempt was not claimed as the first peal in Wales, but the 'first by the College Youths in Wales,' as per peal book. It was quite permissible to so record the peal, as the society had previously scored the first peal in Ireland (conducted by J. Pettitt), and the first peal in Scotland conducted by Mr. Wood in 1872 and 1873 respectively. This peal was the first time Holt's Original was rung in Wales.

Mr. Groves is correct regarding the first non-conducted performance, June 26th, 1803, by the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham. This and the Wrexham peal, achieved a month later, are two 'honours' well deserved by the Midland ringers of a century ago.

PEALS ON FIVE BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The report of proceedings at the Central Council meeting held at Hereford contained, amongst other interesting matter, a resolution which was carried, and from which the following is extracted:—

'On five bells.—That peals of Doubles consist of at least 42 true and complete 120's, rung without interval, and without 'rounds' or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 120.'

Below is given the first half of 120 Doubles. The Peal Committee, then, are instructed to regard as a legitimate performance any 42 variations of the same if rung.

The Methods Committee, on their part, would probably reject any such number of variations because of their not being based on either method, system or principle, and regard the whole as illegitimate. In that case it would seem that amendment is required to remove conflicting authority.

The Editorial Office of 'The Ringing World' is no longer at 63, Commercial Road, and all future communications should be addressed to the Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey.

The Western District of the Ladies' Guild is meeting at Bath tomorrow. This short notice of the fixture has been unavoidable.

The Hertford County Association is holding its annual gathering at St. Albans, as is customary, on Easter Monday. This year the venue of the tea and business meeting has been changed to the charming grounds of the Ver Residential Hotel, situated at the bottom of Holywell Hill, five minutes from the Abbey. Frequent buses pass the door, and the L.M.S. Abbey Station is within one minute. It is hoped that members will support this new venture, the secretary having been assured of excellent service from the management.

'Many happy returns' to Mr. Challis Winney, who was born at Nayland, Suffolk, on March 17th, 1858.

At Debenham, on March 16th, 1767, a peal of 10,080 Bob Major was 'excellently completed in six hours and one minute, a performance never before accomplished by eight men without assistance to ye great bells.'

'The first time the extent of 60 courses (out of course) has ever been rung,' is the note to a peal of 7,025 Stedman Eaters at All Saints', Poplar, on March 17th, 1846. It was composed and conducted by H. W. Haley.

On March 19th, 1892, a peal of 11,200 Bob Major was rung at Speldhurst, Kent.

The day after he was 72, Mr. James George turned in Bow tenor (which is 53 cwt.) to a peal of Treble Twelve: last Saturday having celebrated his 75th birthday last November; he rang Southwark tenor (50 cwt.) to a peal of Stedman Cinques in 3 hrs. 37 mins., and finished 'as fresh as paint.' This must surely be a 'weight for age' record. Evidently, Mr. George must be getting 'Younger' every day.

By the way, this peal, which was Bill Fussell's 700th, was notable also for the fact that four of the hand averaged over 70 years each.

Messrs. Goddard, Tricker and Ellingham, who gave selections on handbells at the London County Association annual meeting, held at St. Clement Danes' Parish Room recently, are connected with St. Paul's, Hounslow, belfry, and not with Isleworth, as erroneously mentioned in the report.

Mr. E. H. Lewis is shortly leaving 'Bonnie Scotland' for England to take up an important position in London.

The bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, will be broadcast from 7.50 to 8 p.m. on Sunday.

ANOTHER DESERVING CASE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—At the College Youths' meeting on February 19th a subscription list was opened on behalf of Mr. Frederick G. Newman, who is in very straitened circumstances. He has been out of regular employment for many months, and his wife, daughter and himself have all been in the doctor's hands. At the meeting held on March 5th it was decided that an appeal for further help should be issued in 'The Ringing World,' as it was thought that many who knew Mr. Newman years ago as one of the foremost ringers and conductors will like to help a brother in distress.

Any contributions sent to me will be acknowledged in 'The Ringing World.'

WHAT THE AMERICANS DID.

Having heard of the advent of a policeman ringer to Maidenhead the other day, Mr. George Gilbert made inquiries with a view to securing the services of a helpful adjunct to local ringing circles. Seeing two constables at a street corner, he asked if they knew of a bellringer among their colleagues.

No. 1 Policeman: Yes, came here from Hagbourne.

No. 2 Policeman: Isn't that where they held the record for bell-ringing for 24 hours without stopping?

No. 1 Policeman: No! Some Americans came over and beat them last year.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The Annual Meeting of the Council will be held at Chelmsford on Whitsun Tuesday, May 21st, 1929, at 11 a.m. precisely.

Agenda, 1929.

1. Minutes of the last meeting.
2. Apologies for absence.
3. Statement of accounts and of sale of publications.
4. Election of honorary members.
5. Presentation of new members to the President.
6. To receive and discuss the reports of the Standing and other committees.

MOTIONS.

7. That this Council will not recognise as a peal of Minor or Doubles any composition in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders respectively, before beginning the next 720 or 120. (Mr. R. Whittington and Mr. A. H. Pulling.)
8. (a) That honorary members pay an affiliation fee of 5s. each per annum. (b) That associations in future pay a fee of 5s. per representative per annum. (Mr. E. W. Elwell and Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.)
9. (a) The Council asks each association to appoint a consultant to the Advisory Committee or Committees in its area. (b) The Council asks each association to make every effort to get as many ringers as possible elected to Parochial Church Councils, to Diocesan Committees and to the Church Assembly. (Rev. H. Drake and Mr. Ch. J. Sedgley.)
10. That the rules of the Council be amended in order to provide that the notice and agenda of each annual meeting of the Council be published at least eight weeks, instead of twelve weeks, prior to such meeting. (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and Mr. C. T. Coles.)
11. That a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongst members of our affiliated change ringing associations, with power to report to the next annual meeting. (Mr. W. Ayre; seconder not yet given.)
12. To fix the place of next year's meeting.
13. Other business, if any.

(N.B.—The detailed agenda will be published a fortnight before the meeting.)

'MERE AUTOMATA.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—If Mr. E. Guise, the able and devoted hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, is rightly reported (on page 150) as regards his views of the constitution and representative nature of the Central Council and of the qualification of its elected members, I should esteem it a favour if you would allow me to advance one or two arguments on the other side. Mr. Guise's chief complaint seems to be that the members of the Council were exhorted by the president and are expected to vote according to their best judgment on each question as it arises, after having carefully weighed the pros and cons that have been advanced in the course of discussion. So far as I can make out his view, it seems to be that each member should come to the meeting to vote, not according to the arguments brought forward, but according to orders given them beforehand. In other words, they should be not thinking and reasoning human beings, but mere automata. We know this is actually the case in certain quarters, and that the result is that the 'majorities' obtained are often purely fictitious, the result being that the tail frequently wags the head. But be this as it may, it is at once obvious that were it logically carried out to the full in the case of the Council, the Council would have lost any reason for a continued existence, and I should be one of the first to say 'Away with it.' Mr. Guise appears to forget that the arguments he brings against the Council are equally applicable against the House of Commons. He seems to think it derogatory to be asked to vote according to his own best judgment, and that it is a far greater thing to vote according to someone else's order. Well, we must leave him to choose. Of course, it goes without saying that the association which sends him to represent them will be exceedingly foolish if they have not taken every care to satisfy themselves before electing him that his views are in general, and in particular, on crucial points, in sympathy with their own, otherwise they have only themselves to blame if his vote does not please them. If ever the Council becomes a mere set of robots, I hope I may not be there to see.—Yours faithfully,

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

THE COMING JUBILEE.

A glorious spring afternoon favoured the members of the South-Western Division for their first meeting of the year at Chigwell Row on Saturday last. The Church of All Saints is situated at the top of the hill, in practically the centre of what remains of the old Hainault Forest, the happy hunting ground of former kings and queens and nobility of the country. From the top of the tower on a clear day the Thames is easily visible, whilst on all sides a splendid view of the surrounding country is obtained. The bells have recently been augmented from six to eight, and members arrived early, evidently with the intention of having a full afternoon. Good use was made of them till 5 p.m., when an adjournment was made to the Retreat for tea, after which the business meeting followed, presided over by the District Master, supported by the Vicar and members of the local band.

The provisional election of two non-resident life members was confirmed, and five new honorary and fourteen ringing members were elected—a good start for the year. Bentley was unanimously chosen as the tower for the next meeting to be held in May.

It is to be hoped the complete restoration of the old Abbey Church of St. Margaret, Barking, will be finished by September, and the church authorities are contemplating holding a week's celebration. It was suggested by Mr. T. Faulkner that a meeting there of the association on the last Saturday would be appropriate, and the members unanimously agreeing, it is hoped that this meeting can be arranged.

The District Secretary gave a brief outline of the intentions of the special committee on the way the association's jubilee celebrations will be held at the annual meeting at Chelmsford, and asked for the support of all individual members to make the occasion a success.

The business concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar and the members of the local band for the success of the meeting, the Vicar stating that he hoped to be able to do more for the association in the future, and that the members would see their way to pay him another visit in the near future.

During the afternoon between 40 and 50 members were present from Leytonstone, Barking, Woodford, Brentwood, Bentley, Dagenham, Romford, Walthamstow, St. Mary's, Leyton, Leigh-on-Sea, Loughton, St. Botolph's (Bishopsgate), West Ham, South Wood and Rayleigh, together with the local band, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative, and London Surprise were brought round. It is hoped the meeting at Bentley will be arranged for Saturday, May 25th, and that all members will make a note of this date.

NORTHERN DIVISION ENTERTAINED.

A well-attended meeting of the Northern Division was held at Widham on Saturday, March 2nd, forty members being present, representing 19 parishes. Among those who attended were Mr. E. J. Butler, secretary, South-Western Division, Mr. G. Green, Master, South-Eastern Division, and Mr. W. J. Nevard and Mr. W. Stannard, Master and secretary of the North-Eastern Division. At the customary service an excellent address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Campbell). A bountiful tea was provided for them at the Church House, through the generosity of Miss Eyre, sister of the late general secretary of the association, the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre. The Vicar presided over the tea, and at the business meeting which followed the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders) was in the chair, supported by Mr. W. Arnold, district secretary. Regret was expressed that Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association) and Mr. W. K. Lobb, of Feering, were unable to attend.

One new member was elected, viz., Mr. J. Richardson, of Dunmow, while the Rev. G. Campbell was elected an honorary member.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Great Easton during the summer.

Mr. A. A. Saunders moved a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Eyre for her kindness and generosity in providing the excellent tea, also the Vicar for the use of the bells, etc.—Both Miss Eyre and the Vicar suitably replied.

Courses of Grandsire Caters and Bob Major were rung on handbells, and during the afternoon and evening the methods rung in the tower ranged from Bob Minor to London Surprise. The thanks of those present are due to Mr. Andrew Evers for the splendid arrangements he had made both for the ringing and the tea.

A VETERAN'S BIRTHDAY.

On Thursday, March 7th, a party of ringers from Exbridge, Hillingdon, Iwer, Slough, Windsor and Maidenhead met at Farnham Royal tower to ring with and do honour to Mr. J. J. Parker, whose name as a composer is known so well to the Exercise.

Touches in various methods were rung, in which Mr. Parker took a rope.

Mr. T. Smith (Windsor), on behalf of all present, conveyed heartiest greetings to Mr. Parker on the attainment of his 76th birthday, and to this Mr. Parker very suitably responded.

It is hoped that another evening just as pleasant will be spent in 1930.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES. THE OPERATION OF NATURAL LAWS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Since my friend Mr. Stephen Wood asks on what authority I made the statements of fact which appeared in my last letter, and since there are, no doubt, a large number of the junior members of the Exercise who also require proof of statements which I considered so obvious as not to need proof, I proceed to set forth the proof.

At the root of all change ringing are certain natural laws, which no man made and which no man can alter. Every Principle and Method is derived from the Plain Hunting Course.

What is a Plain Hunting Course? Take a cotton reel, draw eight lines upon it at equal intervals, write 1234 on any one of these, 2143 on the next line, until we come to 1324 on the eighth line.

Now we can start from any one of the eight rows we please, and we can go round either way we please, but the result will always be the same—we shall arrive at the next row to the one we started from.

The custom of the Exercise demands that we shall start from 1234, go 2143, etc., we make eight changes, practise eight rows, and return to 1234, which may be called the first row or the last.

Now there are 24 changes on four bells, and these 24 can be arranged in three round blocks, as follows:—

1234	1342	1423
2143	3124	4132
2413	3214	4312
4231	2341	3421
4321	2431	3241
3412	4213	2314

Each of these can be rung by itself and brought round, but they can all be joined together by making 2nd's place when the treble leads, join them together, and we find that 1234 belongs to the first round block and 1243 to the last round block.

Now add a bell in the hunt to each of these round blocks. —

Each of these can be brought round separately, or they can be joined together by making 3rd's place when the 2nd leads. Here 21354 belongs to the first round block, and 12345 to the last: it follows that as long as we are compelled by the custom of the Exercise to begin ringing rounds, in all even-bell methods, with 2nd's place made when the treble leads, rounds is the first row of the method, but in all odd-bell methods, with 3rd's place made when the two hunts change places in front, the first row must be 21354 (7698 EO), and rounds the last, and this is natural law which cannot be altered.

H. LAW JAMES.

SOCIETIES' RULES SHOULD BE IDENTICAL.

Dear Sir,—It is always beneficial to read the many letters which appear in 'The Ringing World' week by week and so glean the knowledge of the different opinions as expressed in these letters. Every one of these writers must be given the credit of having the best intentions until there is substantial reason to think otherwise.

That 'it takes all sorts to make a world' is an ever present truth, and even admitting that 'never is a long day,' it is quite safe to assert that we shall never all think alike, or all wish to ring at the same particular church on the same particular day. A variety of thought is essentially good.

The whole of the universe has been, and is still, moving at a startling pace, and it is questionable whether anyone can keep pace with the tide of events.

But the craving is ever for 'something new,' something faster, something exciting, and it is therefore only quite natural that our little campanological world should not be exempt, but that this craving should be present with us in our Art and Exercise. There may be some phases of life and some things which tend to this continual craving, and, of course, by the proper application of the 'something new,' improvements are effected and real progress made. But there are certain subjects which do not readily lend themselves to the idea of the 'something new.'

In change ringing one of these subjects is

Change ringing is bound up in the word 'true,' and 'true' is bound up in change ringing.

'True' is the foundation, constitution, the very life, the 'be all and end all' of change ringing.

'True' cannot be distorted simply to meet this 'something new.' It must be 'true' or 'untrue'; there is no go-between.

It must be admitted that sometimes the new idea has proved a success (the formation of our Guilds and Associations is an instance), but, does our change ringing, as an Art and Exercise (mark this designation, please, Art and Exercise, not football) lend itself to all of these latest ideas in the way of 'something new,' something exciting?

We must ever bear in mind that we are dealing with an Art and Exercise which is ancient—300 years old—not a new motor-car.

Let us go back and look at the beginning. When the bells are 'pulled off,' they are 'pulled off' in rounds, not as a matter of convention alone, but more as a matter of foundation, constitution. Then our touch or peal is constituted from, after, these rounds, the first 'pull' after these rounds being the first change, which is at handstroke, and the touch finishes with the last change as rounds—rounds as the last change. Instances: The touches and peal compositions as contained in Snowden's 'Grandsire' and 'Stedman.'

This is the Art and Exercise—300 years old. This is custom and tradition, as generally accepted by the Exercise—the unwritten law.

If this very constitution is to be broken down simply as being a convention, or for the sake of this 'something new,' I will ask these questions: If not rounds, what is to be rung at the 'pull off'? and what is to be done at the last change? It may be 85163472. Are the bells to cease in this awful abrupt manner? Just look at this, please, and think it out. Think of the other fellow, the outside public.

Take, for instance, that 5038 of Grandsire Triples which it is proposed to ring with 12345678 and 13254768 tacked on to the front, the last change being the 12th change of a lead, 21647358. It would be at least interesting to know if it is intended to cease the ringing at this 21647358 backstroke, and, if not, what the next handstroke will be? Readers of Snowden's book have no doubt read the final remarks on this 'touch.'

Now I presume that in long record attempts that have failed, if the conductor has been able to call the bells 'home' to rounds (note this please, home—rounds) at a particular point, say, 7.392 changes, it has ranked as a peal, but if not brought 'home' to rounds, although perhaps over 10,000 changes have been rung, the attempt has counted for nothing. Why? Simply because the bells did not come 'home' to rounds.

No, this change ringing does not readily lend itself to all these ideas of the 'something new.' Why, the very edifices in which the bells are situated, our cathedrals and churches, are looked upon as being out of date, unpopular, with the crowd, but these beautiful, ancient foundations, constitutions, monuments and their teaching will still be here long after the crowd has gone.

Is it not so with our Art? It cannot, perhaps, be claimed to be popular with the crowd, but we hope and trust it will be here long after we and the crowd have gone.

Even if it were possible, we would not dream of playing any pranks with the Church: therefore, do not let us think of playing with the very foundation of our change ringing or tampering with the truth of its life.

It behoves us then, surely, as participators in this ancient Art, to put our very best into it, to ensure its being handed down at least up to the standard, if not better than when we received it.

Now the foundation, constitution, custom and tradition are well known to all the ringing fraternity. It is as unwritten law.

To further our Art and build it up, associations, Guilds and societies have been formed, and an enormous pile of good work has been done. This was a new idea which has proved successful. Is it desirable to continue this good work? Of course, it is. Change ringing minus the societies would be at a standstill. It is part of the work to put the house in order.

If we are to break down this constitution, this unwritten law, chaos will surely result, for touches and peals will not be uniform, but start and finish anywhere and nowhere. On the other hand, to continue the good work of putting our house in order, owing to this new idea, this 'something new,' it will be essential and necessary to formulate rules regarding this foundation, constitution and life of our change ringing. That is, if the majority is against this new idea of starting and finishing our touches and peals anywhere and of using unorthodox (at present) methods, ways and means.

This constitution, which has obtained up to the present as unwritten law, will have to be put into written law. This brings us to the rules of the Central Council and our several societies. The rules of each and every society on all vital points must be identically in accordance with the Central Council's ruling.

For instance, if the C.C. fails to recognise a certain kind of performance and the rules of the several societies are not framed in accordance with that refusal, the unrecognised can still be performed, as peals are not rung under the auspices of the Central Council but according to the rules of the particular association.

Even if one Guild failed in its rules, it would still be possible to ring anything unrecognised by the Central Council for this Guild. Therefore, the rules of each and every society should be identical on all vital points affecting the foundation, constitution and life of change ringing.

With regard to all these (up to the present) unorthodox compositions and proposed unorthodox ways of starting and finishing our ringing of touches and peals, by all means print them in any written work, but with block type letters at the head, 'FALSE,' and at the foot the author's name, date and remark, 'Unrecognised by the Central Council, 1929,' so that the next and succeeding generations can know the nature of some of the new ideas of this our present time.

The Central Council appears to have been placed in a ridiculous position regarding the Doubles and Minor controversy. I cannot imagine how it can tolerate undue preference by allowing any one unorthodox composition, but 'to bar tightly against anything further.'

That sort of procedure positively will not do, and to ask the Central Council to accept that which is admittedly untrue is expecting the impossible.

There are some methods ruled as illegitimate, although perfectly true, because they fall short, in some respect, of a certain standard, but is it not more desirable to ring something illegitimate, but nevertheless quite true, than that which is admittedly untrue?

It is certainly quite apparent that the resolution should not have been passed in this 'anything but agreed to' fashion.

However, I am sure we all hope and trust that the very best will be done, and that nothing will be sanctioned that will be at all likely ultimately to undermine the foundation, constitution and life of our Art and Exercise, but that we shall all, as true change ringers, ever strive and continue to

'Ring out the false,
'Ring in the true.'

Yours faithfully,

F. W. RICHARDSON.

THE MINOR METHODS COLLECTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me to thank, through your columns, the many men who have kindly replied to my request for five-bell methods, and to say that I am sorry I have not been able (through lack of time) to thank them all individually.

We had hoped that the book would have been in print by now, and that Mr. Joyce's difficulties about the names would have been at an end. The delay is not our fault. It is caused by the well meaning but misguided people who keep raising difficulties first about the names and now about the compositions. If we had been left alone we should have printed such things as Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge and Pitman's and Morris' arrangements of Doubles and left them to present and future generations of ringers to decide whether they would ring them or not. Now the Exercise must decide itself before the book is issued.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

'SPLICING,' AN ANCIENT PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—Your editorial remarks and the various letters on what shall constitute a peal on five and six bells are very interesting and good. To me, as an ordinary ringer, it appears that the matter requires very careful thought. As far as I can see there is nothing to be gained by it in splicing 120's together in the Doubles. If some of us do not like to hear rounds come up at the end of each 120, why do not composers give us a peal of Spliced Doubles with only rounds at the finish?

This, of course, would mean that certain rows would have to occur 43 times, as rounds are considered a change in Doubles. Ringers would certainly not be able to call it monotonous, especially if a change of method is adopted every 80 changes, and, by the change, ring the reverse of a method.

Talking of splicing methods, I was always under the impression that this was a modern introduction, but I find I am mistaken. I came across a portion of an old book with the title, 'The elements of music made easy, or, the new harmonical spectator,' by William Tausius, sen. I cannot find the date of publication, but it certainly was before 1790, as there appears a name of a person in it at that date stating that it was his book.

The only entry with reference to ringing gives us Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire Minor, and the following spliced method, which it states is the 'grandest peal of all and is called Crown Bob,' which constitutes a lead of Oxford Treble Bob, a lead of College Pleasure, and a lead of College Treble Bob; this, repeated five times, brings up the half-peal, and by using two singles completes the whole peal with only two calls. The Editor remarks that he is indebted to 'his friend Mr. William Mitbam, of Swavefey, in Cambridgeshire, who is an ingenious Pfalmodist, a steady, strong Baffist, and an expert Ringer.' Is anything known of this man?

The Editor remarks that he gave the original six-score of Doubles on another page, but, unfortunately, this is torn out of my copy.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN PERRY.

IPSWICH RINGER'S DEATH FROM A BURN.

As a result of a burn from a gas ring, St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, has lost a member in the person of Mr. William Wood. Mr. Wood on February 15th went to a neighbour's house to knock up a burst pipe, and in getting up from the floor touched a gas ring which had just been put out but was still hot. Although treated by a doctor, and afterwards at Heathfields Institution, septicæmia supervened with fatal results.

The funeral took place in Ipswich Cemetery on Friday, March 8th.

The late Mr. Wood was elected a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association nearly 50 years ago. He was also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. 'Old Bill,' as he was lately familiarly known, took part in 25 peals, including three peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Maximus, in which he rang his favourite bell, the tenth. He was 65 years of age.

As a tribute to his memory the St. Mary-le-Tower Society placed a wreath on his grave and rang a peal of New Cambridge Surprise Maximus half-muffled, the record of which appears in the usual place.

COVENTRY RINGER'S DEATH.

The death occurred on February 26th of Mr. Thomas W. Chown, one of the All Saints' Society of Ringers, Allesley, Coventry. He succumbed after only a short illness, and was buried at Norton, near Daventry, on Saturday, March 2nd. Deceased was highly respected by his fellow-ringers.

On Monday evening, March 4th, at All Saints', Allesley, a peal of London Surprise Minor was attempted with the bells half-muffled, but unfortunately came to grief after ringing 2,640 changes: G. Gardner 1, F. W. Perrins 2, W. Stote 3, H. G. Summers 4, J. W. Taylor 5, J. H. W. White (conductor) 6.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

A FINANCIAL QUESTION.

The agenda of the Central Council, which appeared in our last issue, promises to provide an interesting meeting at Chelmsford, as a good deal of the business relates to matters which affect the Exercise generally and in which ringers as a whole can take an interest. This early publication of the details gives the associations the opportunity of considering the business of the Council, so far as it concerns them, and of expressing their views. Easter and the period up to Whitsun Tuesday, when the Council meet, is the time when the majority of the affiliated organisations hold their annual meetings and are thus able to consult their members on any special points that may be raised. Although the representatives are, under the constitution of the Council, free agents to vote as they choose, there are matters in this year's agenda upon which they may like to consult their associations. One of these is certainly the proposal to increase the affiliation fee.

Ever since the Council was inaugurated the subscription has been half-a-crown for each elected member, and this has formed the sole revenue of the Council. Its work has been carried on with this meagre financial support, out of which, in addition to the expenses of the meetings, the Council has financed the issue of its many useful publications. It has always been the aim of the Council to publish these at the lowest possible price, with the result that there has been, on the whole, a net monetary loss to the Council in this department, but a great gain to the Exercise by the wider circulation of knowledge which this low cost made possible. On a very small income the Council has done a great deal for the advancement of the art; on a doubled income, it could do a good deal more. From time to time we have suggested that the Council needed more money for its work, and if the associations had only to provide the affiliation fees there would be little to quibble about in raising the paltry half-crown subscription to five shillings. But the liability of most of the associations does not end here. Practically all of them pay the out-of-pocket expenses of their representatives, and this, when the meeting place is a distant one, is a heavy drain on those organisations which have only limited resources.

Much as we should like to see the Council's funds supplemented, the possible result must not be overlooked that an increased subscription might reduce the number of representatives elected. We can hardly think that affiliated bodies would curtail their representation merely because they were asked to pay another half-a-crown for each member they send to the Council, but when we find one association, which is entitled to four representatives, electing only one; and another seriously considering withdrawal altogether, because of dissatisfaction with the constitution of the central body, the possible effect of an increased subscription ought not to be lost sight of. Here, therefore, is one case where the early publication of the agenda may help to a considered vote being given at Chelmsford. All the associations which hold their annual meetings between this and Whitsun Tuesday should take care to bring the subject before their members so that the representatives may know their feeling on the matter. It will be better to know the views of the associations beforehand than to regret an action after it has been taken.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A SIX-BELL MEETING.

The North and East District meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at St. Ann's Church, Stamford Hill, on Saturday last, attracted some thirty members, who thoroughly enjoyed their afternoon's ringing on the pretty peal of six bells. These bells were cast at the Whitechapel Foundry in 1865, and were recently quarter-turned, reclappered and rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, with excellent results. The tone of the bells is greatly improved, and during the afternoon and evening of the meeting were rung to as many methods as have been rung on them during their whole previous existence.

The Vicar (Rev. A. T. Morgan) gave an interesting address at the service, speaking about the various uses of bells, and how they affected our daily lives. The school bells, when we were young, bid us come to receive education, without which it would be impossible to progress; later, the factory bell called us to the work, without which life would be useless indeed. Empty is the life of those who go through it without finding it necessary to do useful work. Next the fire bell warned us of danger, and the church bell called us to worship. So all through our lives bells had their uses in many ways.

After tea, which was served in the Church Hall, the usual business meeting was held. The Vicar took the chair and was supported by Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president), Mr. N. A. Tomlinson (Master), and Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary). Included in the company was Mr. H. A. Barnett (Tottenham), who has recently celebrated his golden wedding, and whom everybody was especially glad to see.

Ten new members were elected. St. James', Clerkenwell, was chosen for the next meeting of the district on May 4th, when, the hon. secretary mentioned, the recast peal of eight would be opened. He hoped members would note this date, as it was especially desired to get a good meeting. The Vicar had been good enough to invite members to tea.

Notice was given of the annual general meeting, which is to be held at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, on April 6th.

The business over, Mr. W. Pickworth moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address, and for permitting the meeting to be held; also to Mr. Ringrose and the ladies who had prepared tea. This was seconded by Mr. C. H. Ross and carried unanimously.—Mr. Ringrose briefly acknowledged the thanks of the members, and the meeting terminated.

Another visit was then paid to the tower, and many methods rung, including Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, St. Clement's Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford and Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

After 20 odd years the South and West District held a Saturday afternoon meeting at Christ Church, Ealing, on March 8th, by permission of the Rev. Prebendary King (Vicar). Ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m., the Ringing Master, Mr. E. Goodfellow, being in charge. A short service from the Ringers' Service Manual was conducted by the Vicar, who in his address gave the association a hearty welcome. Tea was served in the schoolroom, where about thirty assembled, presided over by the vice-president, Mr. C. S. Bird, and supported by Mr. J. A. Trollope (hon. treasurer), the Ringing Master and others. One ringing member was elected, and votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar, organist, hostess and assistants. Last, but not least, votes of thanks were also accorded to Messrs. W. G. Wilson and H. Burton for their invaluable services in arranging the meeting and tea, and the successful social and dance that followed in the Church Hall in aid of the Isleworth Bell Fund. Ringing ceased at 7.20 p.m., and dancing started at 7.30, the 'Double U' dance band being engaged for the occasion.

Some fine selections were rendered on handbells at intervals by Mr. J. R. Mackman and his son Howard, who were heartily applauded for their performances. Mr. H. Burton made and presented to the fund a beautiful cake, which realised 15s. There was also a mystery box, the lucky winner being Mrs. J. H. Hunnisett.

The hon. secretary, on behalf of the fund, thanked the company for their support, also Mr. Mackman and his son for entertaining them with their handbells, and Mr. Harry Burton for his generous gift, and for his services as M.C. The amount realised for the fund was £8 2s. 1d., and the total to date is £132 10s. 7d., plus ten pounds promised.

MANCHESTER RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In answer to the letter re Manchester record by W. Brown, published in 'The Ringing World' of the 8th inst., the ring of bells at the Manchester Cathedral were made into a peal of ten bells in the year 1825. Therefore a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal could have been rung in 1830, as stated in the 'Manchester Guardian' of January 24th.

The print does seem rather bad, but put it under a powerful glass and you can see the year 1825 all right.—Yours faithfully,

A. RIVARD.

NORFOLK GUILD'S PROPOSED REORGANISATION.

A PLEBISCITE TAKEN.

At the annual meeting of the Norfolk Guild at Norwich on Easter Monday a decision will be taken on the question of reorganising the area of the Guild for administrative purposes. In the meantime, in order to ascertain the feeling of members, a plebiscite is being taken, and the following memorandum has been sent out by the president (the Ven. G. M. MacDermott) and the secretary (Mr. Arthur L. Coleman):—

'Doubtless all members are aware of the proposal for the reorganisation of our Guild. This proposal has been considered at all our general meetings in 1928; the reform suggested is to group the eleven existing districts into three large districts, corresponding to the areas of three archdeacons of the diocese.

'Each of these districts to have a committee consisting of chairman, secretary, and three or more elected members to work the necessary local business and to arrange meetings, etc.; the officers and committee to be elected at an annual meeting of each district.

'It is hoped thereby to secure more active co-operation of our members in the country districts and to strengthen the work of the Guild.

'At the various meetings held during the year it was thought inadvisable to come to a decision until individual members had been offered an opportunity of expressing an opinion.

'At a special general meeting held at King's Lynn on October 29th, 1928, the committee was accordingly instructed to issue a circular letter with questions attached for members to answer.'

THE QUESTIONNAIRE.

The questions upon which the members have been asked to say 'Yes' or 'No' are:—

- (1) Are you in favour of having three large districts instead of the present eleven small districts?
- (2) Do you approve of these districts covering the areas of the archdeacons of the diocese? The incumbent of your parish will tell you the name of your archdeaconry. The Aylsham, Great Yarmouth, and Norwich districts are in the Norwich Archdeaconry; Dereham, Diss, Louth, and Redenhall and Wymondham districts are in the Norfolk Archdeaconry; Fakenham, King's Lynn and Thetford are in the King's Lynn Archdeaconry.
- (3) And should the new districts be called: (a) The Norwich Archdeaconry? (b) The Norfolk Archdeaconry? (c) The King's Lynn Archdeaconry?
- (4) Do you consider a committee consisting of chairman, secretary, and three or more elected members can be got together for carrying out the work of your own new district as proposed?
- (5) Are you in favour of changing the title to: (a) The Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers (the original title of the Guild)? or (b) The present title of the Guild to remain, viz., The Norfolk Guild of Ringers, for the Diocese of Norwich?

It is pointed out in connection with (5) that in the event of the suggested reorganisation coming to pass, the Bishop of the diocese thinks the title should be 'Norwich Diocesan' rather than 'Norfolk,' it being a diocesan society, and the members office holders in the church. It should be noted that 'Norfolk' does not express the true area of the Guild, part of West Norfolk being in the diocese of Ely, and part of East Suffolk being in the diocese of Norwich, hence the title 'The Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers' is the correct expression to denote the area covered by the Guild. Of course, the title could remain as at present, but, if so, the whole title, 'The Norfolk Guild of Ringers for the Diocese of Norwich,' might be printed in the same type.

UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The annual report of the Guild, which has just been issued, after alluding to the activities of the past year, records the death of ten members, amongst whom were two original members of the Guild, viz., Mr. Robert Whiting, of Pulham Market, and Mr. Frederick Knights, of Norwich.

'Twenty-one members,' adds the report, 'have lapsed during the year, but we are glad to report that 29 new members have been elected and six re-elections of our members, the grand total of members being 806 against 801 in 1927.

'We would like to call the attention of members to one item in the balance sheet, and to remind them that the petty cash account for £4 18s. 3d. is unpaid and due to our secretary and treasurer. The secretary's appeal to some of the district secretaries and collectors for unpaid subscriptions to be remitted before the end of the year in the result was disappointing, inasmuch as a larger amount than usual, viz., £6 3s., is outstanding for the year ending December 31st, 1928, thus resulting in a deficit of £4 8s. 10d. instead of a credit balance of £1 14s. 2d. in hand.

'There has been a tendency of recent years, on the part of those responsible, in deferring the collection of subscriptions until well toward the end of the year, but as such method often leads to two years' subscriptions becoming due together, and means sometimes the loss of a year's subscription due to the Guild, we would remind all members that "all subscriptions shall be payable in advance and become due on January 1st in each year."

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the above branch was held at Sympson on Saturday, March 16th, when about thirty members attended, representing the following towers: Bletchley, Bradwell, Beachampton, Penny Stratford, Great Brickhill, Milton Keynes, Newport Pagnell, Stony Stratford, Shenley, Whaddon, and the local ringers. Bells were ringing from 2.30 p.m. until service time. Unfortunately, owing to illness, the Vicar of Sympson (Rev. J. T. Lawson) was unable to be present. The Rev. D. R. James, of Great Brickhill, officiated in his absence. This was the first occasion on which a meeting had been held at Sympson, and it was quite a successful one. Tea had been prepared at the Plough Inn, where lots of good things had been provided.

After tea the chairman of the branch (the Rev. L. Moxon) had to apologise for having to leave early owing to other important business.

The Secretary appealed to all to attend the annual festival of the branch at Shenley in June.

Several matters were discussed, and Mr. W. Sear proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. D. J. James for coming at short notice to officiate, also to the Rev. J. T. Lawson for arranging the meeting, regret being expressed that he was unable to attend. This brought a very pleasant afternoon to a close. Ringing during the day ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to Cambridge and London Minor.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Northern District of the Essex Association held a meeting at South Hackney on Saturday, and, despite a rather poor start, some good ringing was achieved. At 5 p.m. a service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector of South Hackney, and then an adjournment was made to St. Andrew's Hall, in Well Street, where, under the supervision of Mr. Briggs, a bountiful tea awaited the members. The business meeting was afterwards held. No new members were forthcoming. Whitechapel was chosen for the next meeting, to take place on the third Saturday in May.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the incumbent for the use of his bells, and to Messrs. Riley and Briggs for having all in readiness in the tower, also to Mr. Free, the organist. The young ladies who helped at the tea were not forgotten.

After this the tower was again visited, and further ringing indulged in until 9 p.m., Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich being rung. Although the attendance was not as good as it might have been, it is believed that all present enjoyed themselves.

'Fifty peals in twenty different methods were rung during the past twelve months, against 44 peals in 1927. 130 members took part in these peals, which were conducted by 18 members. In conclusion, we have to thank Mr. G. P. Burton for auditing the Guild accounts for the 22nd time, and all other officers for their services during the past year.'

The balance sheet shows in the current account subscriptions amounting to £33 2s.; other receipts £2 8s. 6d. The expenditure was £40 1s. 11d. The outstanding subscriptions amount to £6 3s. The Guild has a reserve fund of £131 5s.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES. TESTS OF A DEFINITION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On March 1st, the official minutes of the last Council meeting at Hereford were printed. The definition of a peal of Minor is as follows: 'On six bells: That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, rung without interval and without "rounds" or any other row being included more than once in any 720, etc.'

Now, 'Minormania' has complained that I very often fail to make my point plain, and I must plead guilty to having made two statements about this rule without making them plain.

(1) I have stated that we must ring seven different 720's. Does the word 'seven' mean seven different 720's, or can it mean the same 720 rung seven times?

Test the two statements thus: Does seven changes of Bob Major mean the same as one change of Bob Major six times repeated?

24163857	12345678
Etc.	Etc.

Obviously they mean two different things, and seven 720's therefore mean seven different 720's.

(2) Seven true and complete 720's. Does this mean that each 720 must be completed before another is begun, or, given seven true and complete 720's, may we mix them?

Test this as follows: A peal of Grandsire Triples must consist of 72 true and complete plain courses. Does this mean that each plain course must be completed before the next is begun, or may we mix them?

If my brother's peal of Cambridge Minor does not contain seven true and complete 720's, and if my peal of London Minor does not contain seven true and complete 720's, then Holt's ten-part of Grandsire Triples does not contain a single plain course of Grandsire Triples.

I believe that I have now covered all the ground. If, however, I have failed to make any point clear I am open to answer questions as far as possible.

H. LAW JAMES.

FOR THOSE WHO HAVE MISSED THE POINT.

Sir,—Most of your correspondents seem to appreciate my purpose in publishing the incomplete peal of Grandsire Triples. For those, however, who have missed the point, perhaps I may explain that I had two objects in view.

First, I wished to make it clear that no group of 720 rows of one of Rev. E. B. James' 2,160's of Cambridge Minor is true and complete in itself. Let me guard myself here by adding that this does not imply, as many people suppose, that it is therefore false.

In the second place I hoped by means of the example to reveal to some readers at least that there is all the difference in the world between rows and changes. It is natural for those who have not gone below the surface to assume that 'rows' and 'changes' are only two ways of expressing the same idea. Yet this is not so. Everyone is aware that there are but 5,040 different orders in which seven figures can be arranged, and you would naturally imagine that if you ring all these without repetition you have accomplished a true peal. My example of Grandsire Triples proves that this is not necessarily the case. In actual ringing we are concerned with changes and not rows. Thus in a 720 there must be 720 true changes, and any such resolution as that of which Messrs. Whittington and Pulling have given notice is altogether beside the point.

There is another point on which I should like to make a few observations. There has been a great deal of harping on truth and falseness, and this again is a matter on which there is need of clear thinking. Really it amounts to this. Is a peal of 5,040 changes of Bob Minor to be regarded as a whole or is it seven independent touches of 720 each? No doubt everyone will reply 'The former,' for we are all agreed that if a band sets out to ring a 7,200 of Bob Minor and breaks down in the eighth or a subsequent 720 it cannot claim to have rung a 5,040. But in effect a considerable number of your correspondents have adopted the latter interpretation. We all know that you can call the Single in Burton's 5,056 of Bob Major at the first Wrong and ring the second half of the peal before the first half. And the result is just as true as in the form in which the composition appears in the Central County Collection.

If a 5,040 of Bob Minor consists of seven parts of a single whole, there is equally no reason (so far as the truth of the composition is concerned) why you should not alter the grouping of the parts by splicing or other device. Thus, when we are told we must not sacrifice truth, some of us are left cold.

Of course this does not imply that all such arrangements are of equal value, or that there may not be some which it would be much better not to ring.

At the present time the volcano of six-bell composition is in full eruption. Much of what is being thrown up will doubtless prove to be mud on examination, but until it is given time to solidify it is

PRESENTATIONS TO NORTH WALES RINGER.

MR. A. J. HUGHES' DEPARTURE TO YORKSHIRE.

Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Rhyl, who has recently been promoted to a position at Bradford, after a sojourn of some years in North Wales, has been the recipient of a number of parting gifts by old friends and colleagues.

The ringers of St. Thomas', Rhyl, gave him a beautiful walking stick suitably inscribed, and to his son, Mr. Albert H. Hughes, they presented a silver bell chain pendant with inscription. These presentations were made by Mr. Charles Egerton and Mr. Ben Collis respectively.

Mr. Hughes, who was district foreman in the engineering department of the L.M.S. Railway at Rhyl, received a handsome Jacobean oak bookcase from the supervisors in the Chester and Holyhead district, and his staff presented Mr. and Mrs. Hughes with an umbrella each. These gifts were handed to Mr. Hughes at a gathering of railway men, when Mr. Tudor Williams, the secretary and one of the organisers of the movement, referred to his long association with Mr. Hughes, whom he had known all his lifetime. They were members of the Railway Institute Boys' Brigade at Bangor together, Mr. Hughes serving as an officer and Mr. Williams as the instructor. Again during the Great War they had met in trying circumstances, but their friendship was a source of mutual cheer. After the war Mr. Hughes was sent from Bangor to take charge of the Rhyl Station alterations and the Prestatyn extension, when they again met. They worked harmoniously together for ten years, when Mr. Williams was transferred to the Denbigh district, and he to Low Moor, near Bradford. Mr. Hughes had a sympathetic feeling towards all who were ill or suffering in any way.

Mr. Tomlinson, who presided over the gathering, then asked Mr. Mathews, stationmaster of Rhyl, to hand over the valuable gift. Mr. Mathews, in doing so, said he was grieved to lose a friend and a neighbour. Mr. Hughes had always been very willing and most efficient in every service he undertook.

Mr. Hughes, in replying, thanked the promoters and subscribers for the fine gift, and dwelt on the comradeship which had always characterised their relations as railway workers, and on the encouragement received from those in authority on the North Wales district of the L.M.S.

After the presentation at the station the party went to the Bee Hotel, where a convivial gathering took place. Refreshments were kindly given by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur. Here Mr. Hughes had a 'surprise packet,' when Mr. Sibley, on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur, presented him with a pipe in case as a souvenir of good fellowship and a token of good wishes.

Mr. Hughes has taken up his residence at Low Moor, Bradford, and will thus lose his position as the representative of the North Wales Association on the Central Council. He has already been warmly welcomed into Yorkshire ringing circles.

premature to declare that this or that will not turn out to be solid rock. Instead of the craze that has smitten certain members of the Exercise to condemn wholesale, would it not be better to await the acid test of experience? It is very noticeable that those who are most ready with clear-cut solutions are in nearly every case eight-bell ringers with small knowledge of six-bell problems.—Yours faithfully,

'BROUGHT ROUND?'

Dear Sir,—It was a pleasure to read the Rev. H. Law James' letter in your issue of March 15th until, speaking of the three leads of Bob Singles he had produced, he said, 'Each of these can be rung by itself and brought round.' No plain ringer will admit there is any legitimate method of ringing the second lead of Bob Singles before the first lead has been rung, let alone ringing it by itself and bringing it round. Repetition is one thing, but changes can be 'brought round' only at the occurrence of a round—123, etc.

I write in this way because it is usual for Mr. James in his arguments to start off well and blunder past the bounds of reason before he ends.

I read the second half of his letter several times, and ultimately congratulated myself upon unravelling exactly what was in the writer's mind. The letter was written for the benefit of the junior members of the Exercise, and in case the latter ladies and gentlemen did not measure it, the last sentence occupied over seven lines of small print. With apologies for a little aberration, I remain, yours faithfully,

Norwich.

A LINK WITH JASPER SNOWDON.DEATH OF MR. ARTHUR CRITCHLEY.

Another link with the days of Jasper Snowdon and those who founded the Yorkshire Association has been broken by the death, which occurred, on the 9th inst., of Mr. Arthur Critchley, of Ilkley, who was 73 years of age. The deceased joined the Yorkshire Association in the year of its commencement in 1875, and although he had rung only two peals he remained a member until his death. Mr. Critchley was a member of a family which had a long association with Ilkley. His grandfather was a warden of the Ilkley Parish Church, and his father, Mr. T. J. Critchley, was for many years a member of the old Ilkley Local Board.

Mr. Arthur Critchley, who was the eldest son of the family, was educated at the High School, Ilkley, and the Spofforth Academy. He was perhaps best known in Wharfedale as an expert angler. His father was for many years hon. secretary of the old Burnsall Angling Club, and Mr. Arthur Critchley was a member of this club, and was amongst the earliest members of the Ilkley Angling Club, with which he was closely associated throughout its long history. He was one of the cleverest makers of flies in the valley and many young anglers came to him to gain the benefit of his expert advice and skill.

He was a lover of music, a violinist and a vocalist of considerable ability, and in his younger days was a member of the Ilkley Vocal Society and of the Ilkley Parish Church Choir. At one time he was a playing member of the Ilkley Cricket Club.

The funeral took place at the Ilkley Cemetery on Tuesday, March 12th, following a service conducted by Canon C. J. Hamer, Vicar, at the Parish Church.

On Sunday, with the bells half-muffled, the Ilkley ringers rang 504 Stedman Triples.

PEALS OF CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of March 15th there are two peals of Cambridge Surprise Major 'by T. B. Worsley,' quite a capable composer. But, sir, in the second peal at any rate, I contend that four courses are Mr. Worsley's, and the other nineteen belong to Middleton and Johnson. Why not, then, 'Worsley's Variation'?—Yours faithfully,

J. F. DUFFIELD.

MARVELS OF THE EXERCISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I noted your remarks in 'The Ringing World' re Mr. James George, who, no doubt, is a marvel for his age, but in the peal rung at Ipswich is a man whom I consider a far greater marvel. Mr. Robert Brundle is 78 years old, and has rung quite a lot of peals of Surprise Maximus recently.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST F. POPPY.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

The many friends of Mr. H. A. Barnett, of All Hallows', Tottenham, will be interested to learn that the golden anniversary of his wedding fell on March 9th. After an association of over 50 years with the belfry, Mr. Barnett is still one of the most valued of the ringers—one of those whose steadiness and reliability go so far to ensure 'coming into rounds' at the proper time. The ringers presented Mr. and Mrs. Barnett with a clock as a mark of their esteem.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Gateshead on Saturday, March 9th. The bells of St. Mary's were set going to Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, and Double Norwich, and, later, 21 sat down to an excellent tea in the Anchorage, adjoining the church, those present including the president, Mr. E. E. Ferry, Rev. Canon Stephenson, Rev. Welch, and ringers from Houghton, West Hartlepool, Durham, Newcastle, Sunderland and the local belfry.

The treasurer, Mr. G. S. Taylor, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and Mr. R. Parkinson thanked the ladies for waiting on the party at the tables.

During the meeting Messrs. Ferry, Story, Davidson and Robson entertained the company with some excellently struck Grandsire Triples on the handbells.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Durham City on Saturday, May 4th.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Tuesday, March 12th, at St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, 1,248 Cambridge Surprise Major on the back eight (tenor 39½ cwt.) in 55 mins.: W. Fisher 1, J. Breese 2, L. L. Gray 3, T. Hammond 4, G. R. Newton 5, J. Cooke 6, E. Caunce 7, J. C. E. Simpson (conductor) 8. This was rung half-muffled, after meeting short for a peal attempt, as a last token of respect to the late Rev. G. A. Studdert-Kennedy ('Woodbine Willie').

BELFRY GOSSIP.

As Good Friday comes in next week, 'The Ringing World' will be published one day earlier. All communications for that issue should reach us as early as possible, and in no case later than Monday next.

The meeting of the Chesterfield District of the Midland Counties Association at Bolsover to-morrow has been cancelled, owing to illness near the church.

Many of the visitors to Bristol for the last dinner of the United Guilds will remember the Chilcompton bus. We are credibly informed that this vehicle has now done 43,500 miles, and that it has never yet been washed.

Mr. E. F. Poppy, of Eye, writes that it would be interesting to know how many ringers there are who have rung a hundred peals on the bells at their own church. There must be quite a number who have done this.

The peal of six (tenor 19½ cwt.) at Winslow, Bucks, restored by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, will be rededicated at 11.15 a.m. on Easter Day. There will be ringing at noon, when visitors will be welcomed.

On this day in the year 1734 a peal of 6,876 Grandsire Caters was rung at New College, Oxford. An old chronicler records that 'twas a glorious performance, for tho' there were two very great blunders and some other bad ringing, yet, considering the great length of the peal, it was admirable ringing, such as can hardly be mended, unless it be by the Londoners, it being a thing, as it were, next to impossible to go through such a long, tedious work without faults.

This record of the peal is interesting, in that it gives the vocations of the ringers, who were:—

1. Hearn, the Taylor.
2. Mr. Vickers, second Butler of New College.
3. Mr. George, the Taylor.
4. Mr. Guy Terry, the Potash Maker in St. Clement's.
5. Mr. Yates, second Cook of Magdalen College.
6. Mr. John Broughton, Barber.
7. Mr. Richard Smith, Glover.
8. Mr. Barnes, second Cook of Christ Church.
9. Mr. Arthur Lloyd, of Holywell, Carpenter and Bell Hanger.
10. Mr. Nicholas Benwell, who shows Great Tom.

On March 27th, 1815, a peal of 10,008 Grandsire Caters was rung on the same bells.

A peal of 7,104 Treble Bob Maximus was rung at Southwark on March 22nd, 1802, by the Royal Cumberland Youths.

On March 23rd, 1783, a peal of 5,020 Old Double Caters, 'being the first peal ever rung in that method,' was achieved by the College Youths at Fulham. It would be interesting to know exactly what 'Old Double Caters' is.

James Barham called the first peal of Reverse Bob Major at Harrietsham, Kent, on March 23rd, 1751.

Elijah Roberts' great performance of 'tapping' 19,440 changes on handbells took place on March 23rd, 1837.

A peal of 5,160 'Double Twelve In' was rung at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, by the College Youths, on March 24th, 1784, and two days later they rang 6,048 'Real Double Twelve In' at St. Saviour's, Southwark.

The climax to the rivalry which extended over many years between the College Youths and the Cumberlands, for the longest length of Treble Bob Royal, was reached on March 27th, 1784, when the Cumberland Society scored the famous 12,000 at Shoreditch in 9 hrs. 5 mins., a record which was unbroken for over a hundred years.

Another method, which from its old name we do not recognise today, was rung for the first time on March 28th, 1750. It was 5,040 'New Double Tripples, being the only peal that was ever completed in that method,' and was rung by the Cumberlands at Shoreditch.

BROADCAST OF ST. MARTIN'S BELLS, BIRMINGHAM.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Will those ringers in various parts of the country who listened to the ten minutes' broadcast ringing from St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, 7.50 to 8 p.m. on Sunday last, kindly forward to the undersigned their opinion as to how the twelve bells came through, as the B.B.C. officials here are very anxious to know if the microphone as placed for this broadcast is now in the right position for 'radioing' St. Martin's new peal.—Yours faithfully, 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, Birmingham. ALBERT WALKER.

THE FIRST PEAL IN WALES.

After all, the peal of Grandsire Caters at Wrexham in 1803 was not the first peal in Wales. A peal was rung at St. Giles Parish Church there on March 26th, 1729, exactly two hundred years ago next Tuesday.

Mr. Thomas Cathrall writes from Wrexham as follows:—

'In your issue of March 1st the claim of the College Youths to the first peal in Wales is disproved by Mr. Jas. E. Groves, and he refers to a peal of Grandsire Caters rung here on July 27th, 1803. We have no records of this peal in our possession, but there is a board in this tower recording a peal of Grandsire Triples, 5,040 changes, rung on March 26th, 1729, by a local band.'

TRAGIC DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH E. SYKES.

'GASSED' AT COPENHAGEN.

The death has occurred at Copenhagen, Denmark, under tragic circumstances, of Mr. Joseph Edwin Sykes, one of the best-known ringers in England. Mr. Sykes, who was the eldest son of Mrs. Sykes and the late Mr. D. F. E. Sykes, a former well-known solicitor, of Ainsley House, Marsden, Yorks, was employed by Messrs. W. O. Holmes and Co., the well-known gas engineers of Huddersfield, and travelled all over the world superintending the erection of gas manufacturing plant. He had been engaged in this work in the Danish capital and was found gassed in a room in the works, with one of the gas cocks turned on. He died without recovering consciousness. The cause of the tragedy is not yet known.

Mr. Sykes had carried out work for his firm in many parts of the world. He had visited most of the countries in Europe, had erected gas plant in distant Manchuria, and in Canada, and in the course of his business had visited almost every corner of the British Isles.

He was an enthusiastic ringer, and wherever he pitched his tent would hunt up the ringers in all the towers around. His sole 'relaxation' was found in ringing, and he was never happier than when on the rope of a heavy bell. Tall and muscular, he was well fitted for some of the big tasks he undertook when visiting neglected towers where bells go badly. He was a ready writer, with a sense of humour, and a pungent critic. To large numbers of ringers throughout the country he was known as 'Uncle Joe,' and many contributions in this journal from his pen appeared over the name of 'Samivel Peppery.'

His absence from England often took him away from ringing for long periods, as, for instance, when he was in Manchuria for eighteen months, but he never lost his interest in the art, and returned to activity in the belfry like a giant refreshed. He received 'The Ringing World' in more countries than any other man, and he was a frequent and entertaining correspondent. About six months ago, however, he retired from ringing, for what actual reason he never divulged. The Editor of 'The Ringing World' received a letter which Mr. Sykes described as his 'Swan Song,' and asking to be allowed to retire 'to his chimney corner' without comment.

And thus he slid out of the Exercise, but he left many friends, who will deeply regret his tragic end and sympathise with the bereaved wife and mother who are left to mourn their loss.

BIRMINGHAM'S VETERAN'S DEATH.

FOUNDER OF THE HOLT SOCIETY.

St. Martin's Guild has again, through death, lost another of its old members in William Kent, one of the vice-presidents, who passed away on March 8th. The writer of these few lines has been happy in knowing and ringing with him for 58 years, and can testify as to what manner of man he was.

'Bill,' as his intimates called him, was a St. Martin's Youth, first and last. As a youth he drifted down to St. Martin's, along with Baldwin, Bastable, Avery, Johnson, jun., Buffery, Farmer and others, who were brought up under the eyes of Henry Johnson, sen., Lates, Perks and Day, who taught them how to ring, and they learnt the lesson well. Later on, William Kent took over from young Henry Johnson the towerkeeping of the famous Aston Church, started the Holt Society, and gathered around him a splendid band, of whom the only ones now left are Charlie Stanbridge and the writer. Mr. Kent also used to go on Saturday nights to Sutton Coldfield, as instructor, when the bells were made into eight, and among others who came under his influence were Charles and Fred Dickens. He was a good conductor, but never avaricious, and anyone who was capable could call.

As a composer he was of no mean ability. He had some splendid short course peals of Grandsire Caters. As a ringer, in his day none were better. He was a good handbell ringer, and took part in the first peal of Grandsire Triples 'in hand' in Birmingham, along with Bastable, Avery and Johnson, jun., with Day and Johnson, sen., as referees. He also rang 3-4 in the first peal of Stedman Cinques and the long peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Martin's. I do not know at the moment how many peals he had rung, but it must have been a good number, and so one could go on. But of the man himself I should like to say a few words. Of a quiet, unassuming disposition, he was generous almost to a fault, and was never known to speak harshly to anyone. In the 58 years the writer has known him, there has never been the slightest jar to mar that long friendship, and that was how he had been all through his long life.

And so he was laid to rest on Thursday, March 14th, in Erdington Parish Churchyard (with his wife who had predeceased him by a year or two) in the presence of the sorrowing male members of his family and friends. Included among the wreaths was one from St. Martin's Guild, whose members were represented by Messrs. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master), G. Swann, T. Miller, J. George, F. Dickens and A. Paddon Smith. The first four rang a course of Grandsire Triples over the grave, and last Tuesday St. Martin's bells were rung muffled.

And thus we leave him, certain that he has left behind him the beautiful memory of one of Nature's gentlemen.

TOM RUSSAM.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Pudsey on Saturday last, members from the following towers being present: Bradford, Giseley, Keighley, Armley, Leeds, Queensbury, Ilkley, Lindley, Headingley, Birstall, Bingley, Lightcliffe, Bramley, Shipley, Idle, Rothwell, Calverley, and the local company. At the service the address was given by the Rev. W. T. Grange, in the absence of the Vicar through illness. Tea was served in the West End Cafe, and the business meeting was held in the Park Hotel, Mr. J. Cotterell (vice-president) being in the chair.

The following officers were re-elected: Mr. H. Peel (Birstall) and Mr. J. Lawson (Lightcliffe) to the committee; and Mr. F. Hutchinson (St. Chad's), secretary. Mr. C. E. Lawson (St. Chad's) was elected on the committee in the place of Mr. E. H. Simpson (Shipley), who expressed a wish to retire owing to his inability to attend meetings.

There were no invitations for the June meeting, and it was proposed to endeavour to arrange one at Marsden.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to the Rev. W. T. Grange for his address, and, to the local company for the arrangements made, were carried unanimously.—Mr. P. Cordingley responded. A vote of thanks to the secretary brought the business meeting to a close. Ringing on tower bells and handbells was afterwards further indulged in.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting was held at Ranmoor, Sheffield, on Saturday last, when the majority of the towers in the division were represented, about 40 ringers being present from Sheffield Cathedral, St. Marie's, All Saints', Handsworth, Conisborough, Sproborough, Doncaster, Arksey, Rawmarsh, and Dartfield. A short service was conducted by the Rector (Canon Lee Nicholls), a practical ringing member of the association, and whose address on the various uses of bells was very much appreciated. A splendid tea was provided in the Institute by the local company, and the business meeting was held in the same place.—The Rector was voted to the chair, and opportunity was taken to congratulate him on his appointment as an hon. Canon of Sheffield Cathedral.

Mr. W. Bilson, of Ranmoor, was elected a member of the association. Mr. F. Clark was re-elected as secretary and thanked for his past services. Mr. G. Holmes (St. Marie's), Mr. S. F. Palmer (Cathedral), and Mr. G. Clark (Arksey), were elected to the general committee of the association, and Mr. C. D. Potter, of Barnsley was re-elected to the local committee.

For the annual joint meeting of the societies in the southern area, Whiston, near Rotherham, was selected, the date being fixed for June 22nd.

A committee consisting of Mr. G. Lewis, Mr. S. F. Palmer, Mr. R. Harrison, jun., Mr. G. Holmes, and Mr. M. Wilson, was elected to make the necessary arrangements for the annual dinner of the association which will be held this year in Sheffield on September 21st next, and all present were asked to make this known and help to make the event successful.

Votes of thanks to the chairman, to the ladies for their services at the tea, to the organist, and to the local company for their kind welcome, were heartily carried, and replied to by the Rector, who promised that, at the first opportunity, he would have the bells at his church put into a condition which would make them second to none in the county.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wonder what Mr. Trollope would have us read into his letter of March 15th? Are his remarks to be construed into gentle reproach?

Following my letter of enquiry, his passing reference to it means:—

- (1) It is the business of the Methods Committee alone as to why the Central Council motion, in part, has been ignored.
- (2) That Minor ringers must await the new 'Collection' and pay their 1s. 9d. for the privilege of correcting the book for which the Central Council already has charged.

The first, certainly, is not our business, other than that we are interested in the 'rummy' doings of a body which is going to ask us (through our various associations) to contribute our mites toward an affiliation fee of 5s. per member.

The second certainly is our business, if only for the reason that we have paid our 9d. for our 'Collections.' The least that Mr. Trollope (impersonally, please) could have done was to have told us why we are called upon to wait for the names. The new 'Collection' has been put back on account of the 'peal controversy,' otherwise, we are told, it was ready for the printers' hands.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE L. JOYCE.

St. John's, Leytonstone.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The Annual Meeting of the Council will be held at Chelmsford on Whitsun Tuesday, May 21st, 1929, at 11 a.m. precisely.

Agenda, 1929.

1. Minutes of the last meeting.
2. Apologies for absence.
3. Statement of accounts and of sale of publications.
4. Election of honorary members.
5. Presentation of new members to the President.
6. To receive and discuss the reports of the Standing and other committees.

MOTIONS.

7. That this Council will not recognise as a peal of Minor or Doubles any composition in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders respectively, before beginning the next 720 or 120. (Mr. R. Whittington and Mr. A. H. Pulling.)
8. (a) That honorary members pay an affiliation fee of 5s. each per annum. (b) That associations in future pay a fee of 5s. per representative per annum. (Mr. E. W. Elwell and Rev. O. W. O. Jenkyn.)
9. (a) The Council asks each association to appoint a consultant to the Advisory Committee or Committees in its area. (b) The Council asks each association to make every effort to get as many ringers as possible elected to Parochial Church Councils, to Diocesan Committees and to the Church Assembly. (Rev. H. Drake and Mr. Ch. J. Sedgley.)
10. That the rules of the Council be amended in order to provide that the notice and agenda of each annual meeting of the Council be published at least eight weeks, instead of twelve weeks, prior to such meeting. (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and Mr. C. T. Coles.)
11. That a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongst members of our affiliated change ringing associations, with power to report to the next annual meeting. (Mr. W. Ayre; seconder not yet given.)
12. To fix the place of next year's meeting.
13. Other business, if any.

(N.B.—The detailed agenda will be published a fortnight before the meeting.)

E. ALEX. YOUNG,

Hon. Secretary.

155, Rushey Green, S.E.6.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With most of your leading article on the subject of the Central Council as reflecting, or failing to reflect, the views of the Exercise at large, I heartily agree. For instance, though I think that a Council elected triennially is much to be preferred in many ways, by all means let us have an annual election if such an arrangement would conduce to greater efficiency. But I think that the wisdom of experience leads the other way. I notice that you make no allusion to one of my (implied) arguments, which is that the Council is founded on the model of the House of Commons, which is usually taken as being at least fairly representative of opinion in the country, and has a life even longer than three years. And just as there are ways for members to consult with their constituents with a view to learning their constituents' views on any particular question, and of either giving effect to those views by their vote, or of resigning if they find themselves in hopeless conflict with them, so, surely, it is with members of the Central Council. If some members think that there is a strong general feeling in favour of diplomas, by all means let the Council postpone its decision for a year, asking each and every association affiliated to it to pass a resolution in the meanwhile stating its view definitely on the subject. The Council must guard itself against hasty decisions, which, after being passed, turn out, when all is said and done, to be nothing more than the crotchets of a few well-meaning but mistaken people.—Yours, etc.,

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

DECISIONS BY DEMOCRATIC METHODS

Sir,—Now that the agenda for the coming meeting of the Central Council is published, may I call the attention of all ringers to item No. 7 on that agenda. May I also be allowed to suggest that all district secretaries should place that item on their own agendas for consideration at any meetings which they may be arranging between now and Whitsuntide, and arrange also to take a vote on the question, 'Yes' or 'No,' and forward the result to the general secretary of their association or Guild, who would thus be in the position to instruct the representatives who are going to Chelmsford of the exact opinion of their members on the question.

There are, of course, subjects which come up for discussion at the Central Council meetings of a nature on which it is certainly impossible to give an intelligent vote, except only after hearing the full discussion, and on such subjects such a request as I have made above would be silly, and impracticable. On the other hand, on such definite questions as, say, 'Diplomas for young ringers,' of last year, or item No. 7 on the present agenda, I contend, sir, that decisions should be reached by democratic methods, and should certainly reflect the opinion of the members of the affiliated associations. Anyway, here is the chance for the rank and file of ringers to have their say—if they wish to. I hope every district secretary will give them the opportunity to do so.—Yours truly,

ROBERT WHITTINGTON,
Cranleigh (Guildford Diocesan Guild).

The motion referred to above is as follows: 'That this Council will not recognise as a peal of Minor or Doubles any composition in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders respectively before beginning the next 720 or 120.'

RULES SHOULD BE REVISED.

Sir,—Your leading article of March 15th stands in many ways as a reply to Rev. C. D. P. Davies. There are one or two additional points, however.

Firstly, during the last eight years (during the first four of which we had one member, and during the latter four three members upon the Central Council) the cost to the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association of its connection with the Central Council has been £19 10s. 1d. (During the last four years the expenses count for two members only, the third respected member not applying for expenses.) This is surely one reason why the associations should have a recognised status.

If the answer to that is to be read in the Central Council rules, it is in words to this effect: 'Associations (according to their numerical strength) elect representatives upon the Council.' Now in the 'English Dictionary' this word means delegate. We know what happened about this word at Hereford, and the least that is indicated is that the rules of the Council should be altered to 'Associations (according to their numerical strength) elect the members of the Council.' This would put matters clearly that an association could send members as members if they choose, and there would be no doubt in the minds of ringers throughout the country that the people whom they sent would be there as free agents, and not mere 'automata' or 'Robots.'

Mr. Davies says in his letter: 'Of course, it goes without saying that the association which sends him to represent them will be exceedingly foolish if they have not taken every care to satisfy themselves before electing him that his views are in general, and in particular, on crucial points in sympathy with their own,' etc.

With regard to this, I would point out a difficult position of the person at Hereford who said, 'I was instructed by my association to vote for diplomas for ringers, although, personally, I am against them.' At this point the president said, 'You are here to vote as a member, and not as a delegate.' I take that as an indication that the association he represents will be foolish if that member is elected again.

Another point is the reference to House of Commons members. We, the electors, are usually inundated with letters from prospective candidates telling us what they are going to do if we put them in, and we have a good idea who not to put in. Not so in Central Council matters. For instance, how few, as members of the Council, will vote against No. 8b on the agenda this year, yet, upon the other hand, would they vote for it if they had the work to find the money? There is much to do in spending associations' monies to provide change ringers by means of local instruction. I have at my hand seven reports of other associations and I fail to find in any of the rules given reference to the Central Council. I have not picked these out; they are all I have.

This shows, therefore, that the rules of associations should be revised upon the question of the central body, but first the Central Council must pave the way by revising its own rules, either by removing the word 'representative' or by adhering to its correct meaning.

Now a few questions: Why did the Council refer an item to the associations?

Why do the associations refuse to give the Council 'powers to enforce'?

The expense of the Central Council each year must be about £100 to the associations throughout England. Is it really worth it? I put it to the Gloucester and Bristol members to settle this matter from their local standpoint.—Yours faithfully, and Hon. Sec., Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

EDGAR GUISE,

Central Council member,

HONORARY MEMBERS' SUBSCRIPTIONS

Dear Sir,—The agenda which is published in this week's 'Ringing World' contains a resolution, in the name of the general secretary of the Chester Guild, which proposes that honorary members of the Central Council shall in future pay an affiliation fee of 5s. per annum.

The Chester Guild has one member, and one only, who is qualified to take a seat on a Council of ringers (Mr. H. W. Wilde, of

SPICED SURPRISE MAJOR IN TEN METHODS.

A PEAL OF 5,760 BY A. J. PITMAN.

The following remarkable composition by Mr. A. J. Pitman introduces ten Surprise Major methods into one peal:—

- 4263857 Rutland.
- 2357486 Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire or Lincolnshire.
- 4523878 Rutland.
- 2465837 Rutland, London or Bristol.
- 5347286 Cambridge or Superlative.
- 2453678 London.
- 6524837 London.
- 4357682 Cambridge or Superlative.
- 6543278 London.
- 4625837 London.
- 5367482 Cambridge or Superlative.
- 4653278 London.
- 2548837 London.
- 5637284 Cambridge, Superlative or Lincolnshire.
- 2356478 Rutland.
- 5236478 Gloucestershire
- 3526478 Gloucestershire

Repeat four times, ringing last lead of all Rutland for Gloucestershire, produces:—

- 6234857
- 4527683 Cambridge or Superlative.
- 6245378 Rutland or London.
- 3462857 Rutland or London.
- 2547386 Cambridge, Lincolnshire or Pudsey.
- 6342857 Norfolk.
- 2537684 Cambridge or Superlative.
- 6325478 Rutland or London.
- 2643857 Rutland.
- 6357284 Cambridge or Superlative.
- 2563478 Rutland.
- 6245837 London or Bristol.
- 5327684 Cambridge, Superlative or Yorkshire.
- 6253478 London.
- 5642837 Rutland.
- 2367584 Cambridge, Superlative or Lincolnshire
- 5623478 Rutland or London.
- 4256837 Rutland or London.
- 6327485 Cambridge, Lincolnshire or Pudsey.
- 5426837 Norfolk.

Repeat as from 6234857 four times, ringing last lead of all Rutland for Norfolk, and finish with a bob.

Note that fourth's place bobs are made at the end of the leads of Norfolk, thus it may be considered as the second's place variation of that method.

This composition may be rung in from five to ten methods. Bristol may be rung at the home leads where shown, which cuts out the Middle and Wrong leads. Thus the ten available leads rung as Bristol will reduce the peal to 5,120 changes. The peal contains the 60 Middle, Wrong and Home leads, and may be reduced in several ways.

MERIVALE MEDLEY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The six-score in this week's 'Ringing World' called 'Merivale Medley' is a six-score of Original Doubles having 32 bobs and 2 singles. The Q sets are as follows: First half, when 1-2 change in front first time at S, second time a bob, third time plain, when 2-3, 1-5, 4-3, 2-5 and 1-4 change places in front bob; second half, 1-2 in front S.B.P., 2-5, 1-3, 4-5, 2-3 and 1-4 bobs.

It is a similar composition to the 720 of Bob Minor with 14 bobs and 2 singles. You can bob 1-3 in the first half and 1-5 in the second half: this gives another six-score with 38 bobs and 2 singles.

You can also bob 3-5 in both halves, 38 bobs and 2 singles, etc.

H. LAW JAMES.

Eccleston). He has been an honorary member of the Council for some years, and rarely misses a meeting, giving his time and paying his own expenses. I should like to suggest, through 'The Ringing World,' that at all branch meetings held by the Chester Guild between now and Whitsuntide, a resolution should be passed instructing the Guild's representatives not to be influenced by any pros or cons which may be expressed at the meeting, but to give a direct negative to the proposal.

If the Council want cash, and we all know they cannot carry on without it, let them give each member of the Exercise, through their respective associations, an opportunity of providing it, and not stick their fingers in the pockets of those who are already bearing a major portion of the burden.—Yours truly,

W. BIBBY,

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

GENEROUS DONATION TO DUDLEY 'SPIRE FUND.'

The annual meeting of the above Guild was held at Dudley on Saturday week in beautiful springlike weather. The bells were placed at the disposal of the members from three o'clock, and they were kept merrily going. The beautiful form of service used by the Guild at its meetings was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Worger-Slade (assistant priest) at the Parish Church, the lesson being read by the president, the Rev. Canon Phelps, R.D., Vicar of Dudley. The address was given by the Rev. S. G. Lavery (assistant priest of Netherton Parish Church).

After the service an adjournment was made to the schoolroom, where a substantial tea was in readiness, provided by funds collected by the secretary (Mr. Herbert Sheppard) from prominent ladies and gentlemen of St. Thomas' congregation and other friends, and was admirably served by a contingent of ladies, from among whom the following ladies kindly presided at the tables: Mrs. Blaker, Mrs. Worger-Slade, Mrs. J. Goodman, sen., and Mrs. Parkes. Upwards of eighty members and friends sat down to the tea, and it was regrettable that not more members availed themselves of the glorious afternoon to be present to partake of the good things provided. At the business meeting the president occupied the chair, supported by Dr. P. S. Blaker (vice-president), Revs. Dr. Worger-Slade, H. C. Kemp (Vicar of Netherton), and S. G. Lavery. Apologies were received from Mrs. Phelps, Mr. Churchwarden, and Mrs. Shuttleworth, Rev. Dr. Swindell, Vicar of Sedgley, Mr. Arthur Spittle, Mr. James Rayliss, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gough. After business of a routine character had been disposed of, the secretary read his report of last year's activities, which considering the difficulty of the times, was favourable. The membership, both honorary and performing, had increased, and financially the Guild was still in a prosperous condition.

The President congratulated the officials and members on the favourable report and balance sheet, and they were unanimously adopted.

The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place, Dr. Blaker occupying the chair during the election of president. The Rev. Canon Phelps was again unanimously elected to this office, and on rising to thank the members for the honour that they had again conferred on him was received with loud cheers. He was also thanked for his kindness and support to the Guild during the past year.

The following were elected as vice-presidents: Revs. F. J. Cheverton (Vicar of Rowley Regis), H. C. Kemp (Vicar of Netherton), Rev. Dr. Worger-Slade (of Dudley Parish Church), Messrs. J. W. Naylor, H. Watson, Arthur Spittle, H. Mason, F. R. McDowell, C. E. Lloyd, M.P., Dr. P. S. Blaker and W. Shuttleworth. Mr. John Goodman, jun., was re-elected Ringing Master and Mr. Herbert Sheppard hon. secretary, with a special vote of thanks for his valuable services to the Guild during the past year. Mr. S. J. Hughes was again re-elected hon. treasurer, and the hon. auditors, Messrs. F. Evans and T. H. Justice, were also re-elected and thanked for their services.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at the Old Church, Smethwick, and Dudley was proposed for the attempt for the annual peal, the arrangements as to band and date being left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

The secretary brought forward a matter which had stood over from the last meeting. As Dudley Parish Church is the mother church of the Guild, he asked if it was possible to make a donation from the funds of the Guild towards the 'Spire fund' which is being raised to repair or rebuild the spire of the Parish Church which was partially blown down during the heavy gales last year. It was then unanimously resolved that £5 be given from the funds towards that object.

Dr. Blaker (Vicar's warden) briefly thanked the members for their generous gift and the Christian spirit which prompted it. The church officials, he said, would appreciate it also.—The President also thanked the members for their splendid gift as Vicar of Dudley, and said how much he, too, appreciated it.

The Secretary acknowledged the continued confidence which the members placed in him, and the business meeting ended with a proposition by Mr. S. J. Hughes, seconded by Mr. B. Fullwood, that a hearty vote of thanks be given to the Rev. Canon Phelps for presiding at the meeting, and for the use of the tower and bells, and also to the school managers for the use of the schoolroom, to the Rev. Dr. Worger-Slade for conducting the service, and to the Rev. S. G. Lavery for his interesting address. Special thanks were also given to the donors to the tea fund, to the ladies who presided at the tables, and to those who prepared and served the tea and looked after the comforts of those present. Mr. R. Pasfield (the assistant organist) was also thanked for the part he took in the musical portion of the service.—The President briefly replied on behalf of all concerned, and then closed the meeting with prayer.

Afterwards the bells were again kept merrily going until nearly nine o'clock, when another happy and enjoyable afternoon at Dudley was concluded.

PEAL RINGING AT 81.

As recorded, a peal of Bob Minor was rung on the beautiful and recently restored ring at St. Ann's, Stamford Hill. It was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. F. Ringrose, towerkeeper and tutor of the promising young band now being initiated into the mysteries of change ringing. The treble was rung exceedingly well by one of the 16-year-old 'colts,' who thus scored his first peal at the first attempt. Age was well represented by 'young' Tommy Deal, now in his 81st year, who rang his bell faultlessly throughout the peal, proving himself another veteran of the Exercise. It is interesting also that it was the first peal by the 5th ringer for 25 years, and the first peal on the bells since 1914 (Bob Minor) called by the same conductor.

RINGER'S SUDDEN DEATH.

We regret to record that Mr. A. Henley, a member of the Lambherhurst, Kent, band, died suddenly on March 14th. He was interred on Saturday, and on Sunday the bells were rung half-muffled as a last token of respect, for matins: W. Marshall 1, G. Fuller 2, A. Relfe (conductor) 3, J. Bassett 4, B. Luck 5, A. Smith 6. For evensong, 720 York Surprise: E. Woodage 1, A. Marshall 2, G. Fuller 3, A. Relfe 4, J. Bassett 5, B. Luck (conductor) 6.

DEATH OF MR. F. TERRY.

It is with great regret that we have to record the death, on March 6th, of Mr. Fred Terry, at the age of 69 years. He was a member of St. George's band, Beekingham, and had been associated with the church from boyhood, first in the choir, then as a ringer when only call changes were rung. In 1887 the old church was pulled down. When the present building and tower was completed in 1904, and the bells augmented to eight, he joined the new band and took up change ringing, and rang nine or ten peals in various methods. He was a most regular attendant for Sunday ringing, and on practice nights, and will be sadly missed in the belfry.

He was a member of the Kent County and London County Associations.

The funeral took place on Monday, March 11th, and ringers attending the service were Mr. J. Lamb (Blackheath), Mr. W. Martin (St. John's, Deptford), Messrs. P. Spice and E. Mounter (Bromley), and the local band.

In the evening, with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to his memory, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by: W. Rawlings 1, H. Hawkes 2, F. Leeks 3, F. Scutcher 4, E. Mounter 5, G. Wickens 6, W. Smith (conductor) 7, C. Austin 8.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

Next Monday the members of many of the associations will probably be asked to express their opinion on some of the matters raised in the Central Council's agenda, and one of the most important to the Exercise at large is that relating to the conditions which shall govern the recognition, by the Council, of peals of Minor and Doubles. No resolution which the Council may pass can prevent ringers ringing anything they like and calling it a peal, but the Council's decision, whatever it may be, will decide for the time being what shall and what shall not be handed on in its records as a peal, and it will have a considerable influence upon what ringers will themselves ring and recognise in future. Nothing, in our opinion, can go more to the root of ringing than the question of what shall be recognised as a peal, and it may not be out of place if, with next Monday's meetings in view, we refer to the differences of opinion between which the Central Council will be asked to decide at Whitsun.

Briefly, it comes to this, shall a peal of Minor consist of seven separate 720's, in each of which all the possible permutations are rung once and once only; or shall it be permissible so to mix up these permutations that some may appear more than once within the limits of one 720 and not at all in another, so long as each permutation appears only seven times in a 'peal' of 5040? In other words, shall we ring these changes, or rows, how we like—and call it a peal—or conform to the well established rule of ringing out each 720 true and complete in itself before commencing the next? The same arguments which apply to Minor will apply to Doubles, and what is permitted in one must be permitted in the other. Nor is it possible to make limits which will include specific compositions and exclude others of like nature. If you are to admit such arrangements as the Law James' London Minor, you must also admit as a peal such an absurdity as a composition of Bob Doubles in which each course is rung 42 times over before calling a bob to carry the bells into the next course. And then there enters the other phase, created by the Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge. Can 'rounds' at the start be treated as part of the extent? If it cannot, then this ingenious composition must stand or fall upon the general question, but we can foresee a great diversity of opinion upon the all-important point of that first row, 'rounds.'

Here, then, are some of the issues which the representatives of the associations and guilds will be called upon to decide when the Council meet at Chelmsford, and at the meetings of ringers between now and then there will doubtless be many disputations. Whether or not members will want to vote on this question in accordance with the views held by those who send them, they will certainly like to have behind them the opinions of the thinking ringers, and for that reason the important issue at stake ought to be put plainly before the 'rank and file' at the many meetings which are shortly to take place.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Chertsey District was held at Horsell on Saturday, March 16th. Unfortunately, not many of the ringers of the district put in an appearance, although those who did got plenty of practice, and a great deal of good was done in helping beginners to move a step forward in other methods.

Three ringers from West Clandon were greatly welcomed, as their presence enabled London and Cambridge Surprise to be rung. Besides those from West Clandon, ringers were present from Ottershaw, Otlands Park, and a good number of the local band, with visitors from Leatherhead and Woking, also an unattached member from Thames Ditton.

Tea was provided by the Vicar (Canon Pares) at the Institute, at which 17 sat down. Canon Norman Pares presided at the meeting, supported by the Rev. W. N. Willis, of Ottershaw, and Admiral T. P. Walker (hon. treasurer of the Guild). There was but little business to transact.

Admiral Walker proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Canon Pares for the use of the bells, and for providing an excellent tea. Canon Pares, in reply, said how pleased he was to welcome the ringers to Horsell. His only regret was that there were not more there.

A service was held at six o'clock, when part of the Guild service was combined with evensong. A ladies' choir led the singing of the Guild hymns, making a very bright service and a welcome change. A friend of Canon Pares, the Rev. Cobb, gave an address and commented on the bells in Huntingdonshire.

The bells were kept going till nearly nine o'clock in Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise. About 25 ringers put in an appearance during the afternoon and evening, but it would have been more pleasing to the officials had more of the district members attended.

CRONDALL'S UNUSUAL TOWERS.

The Farnham District held a meeting at Crondall on Saturday, which was attended by 38 members and visitors from Aldershot, Crondall, Farnham, Frensham, Seale, Ottershaw and Woking. The Guild's service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Cyril Balmer), who gave an appropriate address based upon these words: 'Enter into Thy gates with thanksgiving and into Thy courts with praise,' which are included in the prayers of the service.

A company of 34 sat down to a very enjoyable tea provided by the local ringers and their wives, and at the business meeting the Vicar, after being elected as an hon. member, took the chair.

There was very little business to be transacted, and at the conclusion the hon. secretary moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and his great assistance in arranging the tea; also to the local ringers and their wives who had so ably carried out the catering.

As the bells are in sad need of the bell hanger's attention, there was not so much ringing done as there might have been, and the visitors spent a lot of time exploring this very interesting old church, which dates from 1150 A.D.

A very interesting point about the church is that the bells are in one tower, and the staircase in a separate tower about 6ft. away, the two being connected by little bridges or balconies. From the top of the stair tower access is obtained to the roof of the church.

Ringing, which ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor, was brought to a close at nine o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

RINGERS WANT MORE MEETINGS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is now some time since my letter appeared in your columns relating to the scarcity of meetings in Sudbury-Clare district of the Suffolk Guild. We have not yet had a meeting, neither are there signs that one will materialise. Why does the Rev. H. Drake spend so much time on long arguments when his Guild is wanting for organisation? I urge him to see that something is done. I am one of five in one company who are waiting to join the Guild as soon as a meeting arrives. Is the district secretary still on the active list? If so, can he get things going again?—Yours,

SUFFOLKIAN.

RINGER'S RETIREMENT.

Mr. Frederick W. Thornton, who has for so many years been connected with ringing in Greenwich, will, in May, retire from his position as messenger, mace-bearer and Mayor's attendant to the Greenwich Borough Council. His father, Mr. William Thornton, was messenger to the old Greenwich Vestry for about 18 years, and was succeeded by his son in 1889. Mr. Frederick Thornton has been personal attendant to every Mayor Greenwich has had, and up to now the mace has known no other bearer. This mace was presented to the Council in 1913 by Sir David Lionel Salomons, as a memorial to his uncle, Sir David Salomons, who represented Greenwich in Parliament from 1851 until his death in 1873. He was the first Jew to be admitted to Parliament.

BISHOP'S VISIT TO DORE.

YOUNG RINGERS CONFIRMED AND PEAL RECORDS DEDICATED.

Christ Church, Dore, was the scene of an interesting little ceremony on Sunday afternoon, March 17th.

It was the occasion of the first Confirmation held there by the first Bishop of the new diocese of Derby (Rt. Rev. Edmund Courtenay Pearce, D.D.), and the pretty little church was filled with an interested congregation. Among the confirmands were six of Dore's young ringers, Misses F. M. Elvidge and K. M. Revill and Messrs. F. Elvidge, G. Revill, J. Reynolds and N. W. Westlake, the latter four being also members of the choir. Before the actual service of Confirmation, the Bishop dedicated two gifts to the chancel, a handsome oak chair and a pair of solid silver Communion chalice; and, following the service, and before the Benediction, several gifts to the belfry.

The latter occasion provided a pleasing and somewhat unusual little ceremony arranged in accordance with the Bishop's own suggestion. Following the last Confirmation prayer and during the singing of the hymn, 'O Jesus, I have promised,' a procession was formed at the chancel steps, and, headed by the vergers (Mr. S. Thorpe) and the wardens (Messrs. H. E. Baggs and J. E. Lewis Cockey), with their wands of office, the Bishop, followed by the six ringers above-mentioned—the boys in their surplices—proceeded to the ringing chamber, where the rest of the ringers were assembled. Here a short ceremony was performed by the Bishop, suitable prayers being said and the four peal tablets dedicated. After a few words of greeting to those present, the procession was re-formed and the Bishop conducted back to the altar for the Benediction.

The four peal records dedicated have already been described in 'The Ringing World,' but it may be of interest to mention them again. The first two are handsome oak panels lettered in gold. One, presented by the Rev. E. S. Powell, of Clyst St. George, Exeter, records the first peal at Dore to be conducted by a lady, then Miss M. Davenport. The second, and the primary cause of the Bishop's visit to the belfry, records a peal rung to commemorate the foundation of the diocese of Derby and the appointment of Dr. Pearce as first Bishop, given by the band who rang the peal. The remaining two are framed records given by Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, the one recording a fully-muffled peal rung in memory of the Rt. Rev. Sir E. Hoskyns, Bishop of Southwell, who dedicated the bells about 20 years ago, and the other, a framed set of eight 'Ringing World' peal cards, each recording a learner's peal at Dore.

Owing to the presence of so many of the young Dore ringers at the actual Confirmation, some kindly and much appreciated ringing assistance was given by Messrs. L. Charlesworth, R. Long, F. Ward and M. Wilson, of Sheffield Cathedral, and Miss E. Smith, of Norton, and some well-struck touches in various standard methods were brought round before and after the service.

The kindly and considerate action of Dr. Pearce in making the rather awkward ascent to the ringing chamber in his canonicals was deeply appreciated, and this appreciation was conveyed to him by the wardens; and the Bishop, who signed the belfry visitors' book before leaving, expressed his interest in, and appreciation of, the peal records, and his pleasure at coming in contact with so many young and promising ringers.

AN ANCIENT PEAL RECORD.

To the Editor.

Sir,—About seventy years ago, during work connected with alterations to the ringing chamber at the Parish Church of St. Alphege, Greenwich, a stone tablet was discovered, hidden by woodwork, recording a peal of Grandsire Triples rung in 1732. I append an exact copy of the inscription as it appears.

The tablet was carefully restored and erected in a prominent position in the ringing chamber.

It would be of interest if either of our campanological historians could enlighten us as to the probable composer of the peal.

I hope it may be my happy privilege, together with my few remaining Greenwich colleagues and other helpers, to attempt a similar peal on the 200th anniversary.—Yours faithfully,

FREDERICK W. THORNTON.

The Society of Kentish Youths rang on Friday, ye 1st of Decembr, 1732, a peal of 5,040 Grandfire Triples in the eighth month of their practice by the persons under:—

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

IMPERFECT ANALOGIES.

Sir,—The analogies that Mr. Law James uses are imperfect. We do not need to say seven 'different' changes of Bob Major, because everyone knows that if we speak of seven changes we always mean seven different changes. This is not so in the case under discussion: if it were we should not be discussing it. The other analogy happens to be true, but it makes an insufficient proof.

Instead of 'tests,' what we should ask (as a judge would ask) is, Would the writer of the words have inserted 'different' if they meant 'different'? The answer is undoubtedly 'Yes.' It would have been quite easy to write 'seven different 720's, each true and complete in itself.' As these words were not inserted, we must conclude that the rule does not mean that the 720's are necessarily to be different, nor each true, etc., 'in itself.' I think your legal readers will agree with me in this.

On the other hand, Mr. Duffield finds needless fault with some other words of Mr. Law James. To say that the middle eight of a four-and-twenty can be 'brought round' by itself, is the same as saying it can be considered to be a 'round block.' Mr. Duffield seems to think that 'bring round' is the same thing as 'bring up rounds.' In practice they usually are, but in theory they need not be the same thing at all. If we start from Queen's we do not bring the course round when rounds comes up, but when we get back to Queen's.—Yours, etc.,

HERBERT DRAKE.

THE SAME 720—BUT A DIFFERENT ORDER.

Sir,—With reference to Mr. Powell's letter for 'those who have missed the point,' he there states: 'Thus in a 720 there must be 720 true changes, and any such resolution . . . is altogether beside the point.' That point I certainly have 'missed.' Why, may I ask, is it 'beside the point'? Surely, the wording of the resolution seeks to elucidate that point. Many years ago, when I completed my first 720 of Bob Minor, in which I had rung the tenor, the dear old gentleman who had called it walked across the tower to me, shook my hand, and said, 'There you are, my lad. I called you Wrong, Right and Wrong, and you have rung all the changes it is possible to get on six bells, and if we had gone on and rung six more such lots, that is reckoned as a peal of 5,040 of Minor.' He added there are dozens of other methods you can ring, but you will still ring exactly the same 720 changes as we have just brought round, the only difference being that the changes will come up in a different order. That is the point of view from which I have always looked at this question, and I imagine hundreds of other ringers have done so also, and, if our point of view is correct, then resolution No. 7 is very much to the point.—Yours truly,

ROBERT WHITTINGTON.

Cranleigh.

'OUT OF THE MOUTHS,' ETC.

The 'Pub's' red windows glowed with cheery light.
Within, a babel—voices rose and fell.
'The argument which ends a shaky peal
Was, naturally enough, the 'place' and 'bell.'
'What's all this stooped fuss about a splice?'
Old Jinks remarked, as, with an angry eye,
He faced the local 'expert' who upheld
The 'Greater Experts' Six-bell Theory.
'Here, chuck it, Jinks,' Ted Fish, the Poacher, snapped
(The spittoon caught the well-directed shot),
And, pushing back his greasy moleskin cap,
He drained his mug and thus addressed the lot:
'No County Perlice about—I'll tell ya this,
If I should worry how I reads the law
I'd hang my night lines up and burn my snares:
I works by common sense and not by jaw.'
A roar of laughter—shouts of 'Good old Ted,
Who's for another, 'fore we goes to bed?'

'CASCABLE.'

HAMPSHIRE TOWERS VISITED.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent on Saturday, March 16th, by members of the Woolton Hill band, who motored to Laverstoke, where 720 Bob Minor was brought round. A move was then made to Overton, where the band was met by their old friend, Mr. H. Balam. Here the bells were soon going for 720 Cambridge Surprise, but unfortunately this came to grief one course from home. Time not allowing another start, a good touch of Cambridge was rung on these bells. Deane was the next visited, and the ringing commenced with London Surprise Minor, followed by 720 Bob Minor. Afterwards, at Oakley, the party was met by Mr. Hunt, and, after tea, 720 Kent Treble Bob and 720 Bob Minor were rung on the bells, Mr. Hunt taking a rope in each. Touches of Cambridge Surprise and Oxford Treble Bob were also rung before making the homeward journey. The ringers were J. Scott, N. Scott, F. Knapp, R. Rex, J. Berry, L. Robbins, J. Robbins, H. Balaam, W. Hunt. The conducting was shared by R. Rex and N. Scott.

SPliced SURPRISE MAJOR.

Considerable impetus has been gained in Spliced Surprise Major ringing since the Rev. H. Law James' peal in four methods was published less than two years ago. A peal in ten methods by Mr. A. J. Pitman was published in our last issue, and this week we record the actual performance of a peal in six methods by the Middlesex Association at Willesden on Tuesday week. The composition was as follows:—

The above arrangement of methods was made by Mr. G. R. Pye. Superlative and Cambridge are interchangeable, but Pudsey may only be rung in the courses shown. Variations of the London and Rutland leads may be made, but should first be tried for falseness.

This peal was first rung at St. Mary's, Willesden, on Tuesday, March 19th, by members of the Middlesex County Association, and was conducted by Mr. William Pye. Rung at the second attempt.

THE TEN-METHOD COMPOSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to be allowed to congratulate Mr. A. J. Pitman on his wonderful ten Surprise method composition, published this week. Will he, however, make it quite clear whether the Bristol leads must be rung as Home leads, i.e., by calling two bobs Home? Will he state, further, whether the composition would be false if the Bristol leads were ended as Plained Middle?

Will he also state where 'Gloucestershire' may be found. I have a collection of over 100 Surprise Major methods, but cannot identify this one amongst them.—Yours truly,

C. T. COLES.

LORD PHILLIMORE.

The late Lord Phillimore was laid to rest in the churchyard at Shiplake, Oxon, on Monday, March 18th. He was in his 84th year, and by his death the Exercise has lost a friend, for at the foundation of the Church Councils it was he who saved the ringers from coming under the authority of that body, instead of remaining, as they had always been, under the incumbent. Some twenty years ago Lord Phillimore was the means of re-establishing the Shiplake band after they had been on the 'retired list' for some eight months. His kindly handshake and encouraging words formed bulwarks in the hearts of those who ring the bells at Shiplake.

For the services on Sunday, March 17th, the bells were half-muffled, and after the funeral a well-struck 546 of Grandsire Triples was brought round.

His name as the master of ecclesiastical law will live for generations in the Established Church.

WALSALL'S NEW PEAL OF TWELVE.

The fine new peal of twelve bells at Walsall will be dedicated at 3.30 p.m. on Saturday by the Bishop of Lichfield, in order that they may be rung on Easter Day. 'Ringers' Day' will be on April 13th, when the quarterly meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford is to be held there, and an invitation is extended to all ringers who care to attend.

A clean sweep has been made of everything in the tower above the clock room. In addition to a ring of Taylor's best, a cast-iron frame on steel girders has been installed. A new floor for the bell chamber has also been put in, and glass has been substituted for the old louvers.

Contains the in-course extent of 468's, 648's, 478's and 678's, and is the first peal composed with these qualities. By adding a bob H in course marked † of any part produces the part-end and reduces the peal to 5,072. There are eight variations to be obtained by calling bobs H and omitting where necessary in courses marked with *.

VICAR RINGS HIS FIRST QUARTER-PEAL.

At St. Mary's Church, Southend-on-Sea, Essex, on Thursday, March 14th, for a special service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,280 changes) in 50 mins.: G. E. Wilson 1, A. North 2, H. T. Wilson (conductor) 3, Canon E. Gowing 4, W. Dudley 5, F. Luffkin 6, L. H. Page 7, G. Bacon 8. First quarter-peal by Canon Gowing, who is Vicar of St. Mary's, and by A. North.

DEATH OF MRS. HELMORE.

The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, of Canterbury, has sustained a severe blow by the sudden death of his wife, which took place on Friday morning last.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmore celebrated their golden wedding in July, 1927. The deepest sympathy of the Exercise will go out to the bereaved veteran secretary of the Kent County Association.

TETTENHALL, STAFFS.—On Wednesday, March 6th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: K. C. Taylor 1, R. Pickering 2, F. Brotherton 3, J. W. Taylor (first quarter-peal as conductor) 4, H. T. Piper 5, H. Boswell 6, H. Knight 7, J. Shaw 8. First quarter-peal of Triples on an inside bell for ringer of 6th, and first on eight for tenor. Ringers of treble, 2nd, and 4th are of the local band, 3rd, 5th, 6th and 7th from St. Peter's (Wolverhampton), and tenor from Bushbury.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On March 29th, 1762, a peal of 10,080 Grandsire Caters was rung in 6 hrs. 53 mins. at Fulham by the College Youths.

The London Youths, another of the old Metropolitan societies which have disappeared, rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Lambeth on March 31st, 1778.

One of the earliest long peals of Treble Bob was rung on April 1st, 1727, at St. Michael Coslany, Norwich.

Thirty years ago next Wednesday a peal of 15,072 Double Norwich Major, then the record length, was rung at Erith. Five years later, on April 4th, 1904, was rung an 11,008 Double Norwich at South Wigston, Leicester, as 'a trial peal for a record length,' which the same band afterwards rang on the same bells. Five of the company still survive.

Handbells will be at the disposal of visitors to Leicester for the annual meeting of the M.C.A. on Easter Monday. The smokeroom of the Earl Grey, opposite St. John-the-Divine, will be the rendezvous.

Among those who have rung a hundred peals in their own tower are Mr. Walter Charman, of Warnham, Sussex, whose total is about 130, with the 'circle' completed eight times; and Mr. W. C. Rumsey, of Debenham, Suffolk, with a total of about 120. Mr. Rumsey has rung at least eleven peals on each bell, and conducted peals of Bob Major, Treble Bob and Double Norwich from all of them.

Mr. Edgar Pemberton, of Ipswich, has rung 117 peals on the bells of St. Mary-le-Tower, where he started ringing in 1878, and Mr. Edwin Barnett, senior, has not only rung 181 peals on his own church bells at Crayford, Kent, but also 141 at the neighbouring Parish Church of Erith.

Mr. Poppy rather wandered from the point in his comparison between Mr. James George and Mr. Robert Brundell. The latter, like the late Mr. I. G. Shade, is a marvel in one direction, but Mr. George's prowess is in a different sphere. No other man has ever rung a tenor of 50 cwt. to a peal, at the age of well over 75.

After a lapse of eighteen months, through the serious motoring accident which befell him early in September, 1927, Mr. A. H. Pulling, of Guildford, has been able to return to peal ringing, and on Saturday conducted a peal of Double Norwich Major at Warnham, Sussex.

We are asked to state, for the information of many inquirers, that letters for Mrs. Sykes, the widow of the late Mr. J. E. Sykes, should be addressed c/o Mr. G. Kirby, London Road, King's Lynn, Norfolk.

KING'S GIFT TO BELLS FUND.

The bells of Dersingham, near King's Lynn, Norfolk, have been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., who have also recast the 2nd. They are to be rededicated on April 15th by the Archdeacon of Lynn (see notice columns).

The money for the restoration has all been subscribed, the contributions including £50 from H.M. the King.

KING ALFRED'S COLLEGE GUILD.

HANDBELL PEAL BY STUDENTS.

As a recruiting ground for ringers, efforts were made to interest in the art, students at King Alfred's College, Winchester, and, thanks largely to the efforts of Mr. Nolan Golden, some good work has been done.

Practice in change ringing was begun in November last, and King Alfred's College Guild was formed in January. Under the instruction of Mr. Golden, excellent progress has been made on handbells, and on Wednesday week a peal of Bob Major was rung by six of the members. It is believed to be the first peal rung at a training College. The ringers were Eric H. Ruffell, of Netherton, Wilts; James W. Collins, of Hastings, Sussex; Jesse Reyman, of Fairford, Glos.; Robert C. Day, of Compton Abbas, Dorset; Nolan Golden, of Northrepps, Norfolk; and Reginald M. Mallett, of Geldeston, Norfolk. Mr. J. Gaylor, who umpired the peal, is from Watford, Herts, and kindly gave up his afternoon to the task. He checked the calling and courses from manuscript.

RINGERS.

In the belfry, and at night,
Ghostly in the candle-light,
See the ringers circle-wise,
See the ropes that fall and rise.
List! above the clash of bells
The leader some new sequence tells,
In closing hand and opening fist,
The hand of an Evangelist.
For to those who never come
To Church, the Church had else been dumb;
As calls the Mussulman to prayer,
From minaret, those ringers there,
Their message reaches every ear.
Few may listen, all must hear;
Let the Ringers know that they
One and all are Preachers Lay.

S. CLAUDE TICKELL.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As with your leading article last week, so with Mr. Guise's letter in this week's issue, there is much with which I heartily agree. At the same time, there are one or two points in it that call for a word or two in reply. He says that the expense incurred by the associations in sending members to Council is a reason why they should have a recognised status. But what more 'status' could they possibly have than they have already got? With the exception of the fifteen hon. members, the Council is wholly made up of the associations. It is the associations in Council.

As regards the word 'representative,' I am thankful to say that my copy of Johnson's Dictionary does not give 'delegate' as a synonym for it, nor do I remember any word in the Rules of Council other than 'members.' But I may be wrong, as I only speak from memory.

I am sorry that I fail to see the point in what Mr. Guise says as to voting against item 8b on the Council's agenda. It seems to me to be a most desirable and laudable attempt to get ringing properly represented in the Councils of the Church, and I do not see how it is going to cost the associations anything at all.

No one laments more than I do the absence of reference to the Central Council in reports and rules of associations, but whose fault is it? Certainly not that of the Council.

The Council, I take it, referred the 'item' mentioned by Mr. Guise to the associations to give those who had not debated it an opportunity to do so, and in the case of those who had debated it to give them further opportunity, so as to be certain of getting a well-matured opinion from them.

The associations do not give the Council 'power to enforce,' because they have not got that power to give, and if they gave it the Council could not use it.

Of course, if the Council is not worth the money that it costs, it will soon die a natural death—or, rather, it would have died years ago.—Yours, etc.,

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

DELEGATE v. REPRESENTATIVE.

Sir,—Is Mr. Guise correct when he writes that in the English Dictionary (there are many, he does not say which) 'this word "representative" means "delegate"?' As a printer, I have been using a Standard Dictionary for the past 36 years, and this is what it says about both words:—

Delegate—v.t. (delegating, delegated). To send as a representative; to depute; to commit to another's care. n. a representative; a deputy.

Representative—a. Fitted or serving to represent; conducted by the agency of delegates; typical. n. One who or that which represents; a person elected to represent a constituency.

So you see, Sir, that both words as nouns are one and the same thing, 'representative.' In addition, I may add that in all the reports of associations I have by me are set out the names of the representatives upon the Central Council of Church Bellringers.

The Central Council has been in existence for 38 years, and I say, calmly and deliberately, that it has justified its existence, and I prophesy that, whatever happens at Chelmsford on Whit Monday, it will continue to carry on its good work.

That it has no power to enforce its decisions has not prevented its decisions from being enforced, or, at any rate, respected. How often do we see peals of Grandsire Major published nowadays? or Plain Bob Triples or Caters? or seven-bell peals without a covering tenor? The Central Council say they are to be discontinued, and they undoubtedly are.—Yours, etc.,

W. A. CAVE.

TOO MUCH FUSS.

Sir,—I think the majority of ringers will agree that to us the words 'Representative' and 'Delegate' mean exactly the same thing, and it was a surprise to me, after making inquiries, to learn there is a difference in the meaning. If Mr. Guise will look in the new Oxford Dictionary he can study it for himself. The president of the Central Council was entirely within his rights when he made the statement Mr. Guise refers to, and while those words 'elect representatives' stand, a member has a perfect right to give his own personal view and vote. Whether it is wise or not is another question. My own personal view of the matter is that there has been a lot too much fuss made over the matter. The Central Council, we have been told several times, stand only in an advisory position. The rules they make can only be kept by the goodwill of the Exercise, and they have no means of enforcing them. I do not think the majority of the Exercise would welcome any body which tried to fine them over peal ringing, which, after all, is only a pleasure. I do not wish Mr. Guise to think I am against penalties. My own society has fines, and I believe in them for service ringing—but that is a duty, although it may be a pleasant one. It is, however, an entirely different thing to peal ringing.—Yours, etc.,

A. H. PULLING.

CAMBRIDGE YOUTHS 200 YEARS AGO.

DR. CHARLES MASON'S ASSISTANCE TO HOLT.

The paragraph last week giving the record of the peal of Grandsire Caters at New College, Oxford, in 1734, in which the occupation of the ringers was given, is a reminder that in the list of members of the Society of Cambridge Youths, 'Ringers to the Town and University of Cambridge,' is given the occupation of the individuals, beginning with the members elected in 1724 as follows:—

William Anderson, Esquire.
Robert Barker, Whitesmith.
Thomas Cornwall, Sawyer.
Hewes Carter, Watchmaker.
John Deeks, Gentleman.
George Gilbert, Puke maker.
Francis Hunt, Joiner.
Henry Mulline, Gentleman.
John Savell, Baker.
John Tuck, Bricklayer.
John White, Verger of Trinity College.
Joseph West, Innkeeper.

In the following year Charles Mason, D.D., 'Fellow of Trinity College and Woodwardian Professor,' was elected a member. Dr. Mason was keenly interested in ringing, and in the library of Downing College, Cambridge, are three manuscript books on change ringing which once formed his notebooks. In one of these books are the figures of Garthorn's peal of Grandsire—the first ever rung.

Many years later Dr. Mason used his good offices in an endeavour to assist John Holt in obtaining subscribers to the broad-sheet of his peals. Dr. Mason solicited the support of the Norwich ringers, and received the following significant reply:—

Norwich, August 27th, 1753.

'Reverend Sir,—I desire you'll excuse my not Subscribing to a Work which I have some Reason to fear will not answer to Expectation. I must Confess Our Company Seem Intirely to slight it, though I must Own it is not a Generous Way of Treating Mr. Holt's performance, but I believe they are Induc'd to this by that Ingenious Ringer, Mr. Anable's not Encouraging of it, had he Approved of it, his Influence on the Colledge Youths I presume would have been sufficient to have sent it to the Press without any Further Subscriptions.

'Revd. Sir, Give me leave to Observe to you that 'tis almost twenty years Since I sent to the Revd. Mr. Windhall a Whole peal of Ten with two Inferior Changes Only, Fully Explaining by an Infallible rule how to make any proper peal on all Numbers that go with a Quick Hunt.

For Self and Co., I am, Sir,

'With due respect,

'Your most humble Serrant,

'JOHN WEBSTER.'

Dr. Mason was a subscriber to the broad-sheet for two copies and the Cambridge Company for four.

Among other interesting elections to the Society of Cambridge Youths may be mentioned the following:—

- 1728. Thomas Prichard, Brewer of Trinity College.
- 1726. John Robinson, Member of the Corporation.
- 1747. Richard York, Attorney-at-Law.
- 1767. William Incarsole, Gentleman (totally blind, but an excellent Ringer).
- 1768. Richard Widnell, Cook of King's College.
- 1773. John Bowtell, Bookseller and Binder, a great Benefactor to Addenbrooke's Hospital.
- 1787. Thomas Steers, Gentleman, an ingenious Mathematician.

YEOVIL PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

At Yeovil Parochial Church Council meeting, Mr. J. Goodchild, steward of the Ringers' Guild, read an extract from the conductor's report calling attention to the state of the bells, and especially to the great increase in the vibration of the frame, due to their uneven running, caused by gudgeons and bearings being worn out of truth. Not only did this vibration make the bells difficult to ring, but it involved constant watch and attention, and might have a bad effect on the structure of the tower. It was nearly 40 years since the bells were last relunged, and during that time, with the exception of the tenor and ninth bells, they did not appear to have received any attention from bell hangers. In his (the conductor's) opinion, the time had now come when the question of calling in expert advice should be considered.

The Council decided to seek the advice of a firm of bell founders. Yeovil has a ring of ten bells with tenor of 42 cwt.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Dear Sir,—The Standing Committee of the Central Council have had under consideration the question of organised ringing should there be a 'Thanksgiving Day' for the recovery of the King, and it has been decided to recommend the secretaries of the affiliated Guilds to bear the matter in mind should the occasion arise without much previous warning.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG, Hon. Secretary.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S AUTHORITY—THE DEVELOPMENT OF RINGING—JOSEPH SYKES.

I am interested in a mild sort of way in this controversy about the Central Council and the associations, because I rather think that it was some remarks of mine that started the present discussion. We were considering last year the agenda of the coming Central Council meeting, and I said something like this: 'In the long run you must leave the decision to your members. They will hear all the arguments for and against. They are men whom you have elected because you can trust their judgment. The best you can find (I was not one of them). They are your representatives, not your delegates.' The president of the Central Council was present, and he repeated the phrase at the Council's meeting. (It may have been a coincidence.) What I was thinking was that members of the Central Council are in a similar position to Members of Parliament, not to delegates to a Trades Union Congress. But the whole matter is easily squared by a little common sense.

If the associations are going to debate and settle the items of the Central Council agenda before its meeting, I don't see why they need send a representative; a postcard would do as well.

On the other hand, the man who represented an association would be a fool who did not pay attention to the wishes of his constituency. And it is all to the good of the Council and the Exercise that the associations and any other person should take an interest in its agenda and express opinions on its resolutions. So I can fully agree with Mr. Whittington's letter so far. But I think that if anyone is going to vote on that gentleman's proposed resolution it may be as well for him to know what he is voting for.

Don't imagine that you are voting for the old idea of truth in peal ringing and the old standard for peal compositions; you are doing nothing of the sort. You are voting for a new standard, which, I think, is quite out of harmony with the traditions and usage of the Exercise. And don't think you are voting in defence of Mr. Banks' arrangement of Cambridge, because you are not. I believe that the intention is to keep the old standards as far as possible and at the same time let in the other by, so to speak, the back door. That sort of thing won't do. You want to face the facts of the case fairly.

Now, if history teaches us one thing it teaches us that though ringing has preserved a remarkable unity since the beginning, it is always developing, or, rather, I should say that whenever ringing has prospered it has developed in some way or other. The great principles remain unchanged, but new applications of them are found. It proves the life of present-day ringing that not a few of them have been in our day. And everyone has met with opposition, active or passive. They used to say, in my young time, 'What is the good of talking about a lot of new methods; nobody will ring them? What we have got are good enough for us.' But we do ring new methods nowadays. When the Little methods were introduced, people did not like them: they were a new idea. I confess that I myself was old-fashioned enough to look with suspicion on them. But the Little Methods have now a secure place in the repertoire of ringers, and have proved their usefulness.

And so I would advise that the development represented by Mr. Banks' arrangement of Cambridge should be left alone for the present. Let us see what good it will do, if any, and don't try and restrict it by well-meaning, but utterly illogical, definition.

Soliciting is another development. Ten or fifteen years ago the publication of Mr. Pitman's composition, with ten Surprise methods to one peal, would perhaps have been looked on as an interesting curiosity. Certainly not as anything within the range of practical politics, and almost certainly as a thing not allowed by the then standard of peal ringing. And now I wonder how long it will be before a band rings it or something like it? One thing I can say, it will be worth doing. There is that about spliced ringing which makes any peal in any one method seem quite tame. Of course, I mean spliced ringing where you change the method at nearly every lead, not half-and-half peals. One man said the other day that it was a relief to get into London Surprise because it gave you a 'breather.'

Well, the moral of all this is that the Exercise and the Council should not be in any hurry to pass rules. Really the rules we want in ringing are very few. It is not like a sport where there is competition between two parties, and you must have rules to hold the balance between them. The rules of ringing are not restrictive, they are not framed primarily to say that ringers must not do things. They are the result of the experience of the Exercise as to the best way to do things; they are really good advice, not orders. And so, if there is any good reason, anyone may break them. Of course, it is not often that there is good reason. But just remember that the old rules forbade spliced peals, yet when they were introduced bands rang them with the entire approval of the Exercise.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

CENTRAL AND WESTERN DISTRICTS AMALGAMATED.

The annual general meeting of the Surrey Association was held at Reigate on Saturday week. It was a most successful gathering, 65 members being present. The following towers were represented, viz.: Ashted, Banstead, Beddington, Buckland, Burslow, Charlwood, Chelsea, London, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Crawley (Sussex), Dorking, Epsom (Christ Church), Ewell, Godstone, Guildford Cathedral, Henfield (Sussex), Horley, Leatherhead, Merstham, Mitcham (St. Peter's and Christ Church), Newdigate, Redhill, Reigate, Shoreham (Sussex), and St. Paul's Cathedral. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and a service was held in the Parish Church at 5 p.m., conducted by the Vicar, Canon F. C. Davies, who gave a short but interesting address. Tea was served at the White Hart Hotel, and was followed by the business meeting.

Canon Davies was elected to the chair, supported by Mr. D. K. C. Birt (chairman of the committee), Mr. C. H. Kippin (hon. secretary), Mr. C. F. Johnston, Miss Nora Johnston, Mr. M. A. Northover, etc. An apology was read from Mr. C. Dean, who was under the doctor with 'flu.'

The treasurer's statement of accounts was passed. The committee's report for the year 1928 was presented. It stated that since the last annual meeting the association had lost its Master, Mr. J. D. Drewett, J.P., at the age of 74 years, and referred to his work for the association, of which he was Master for 15 years. Other members who had passed away included Mr. E. Hull, of Leatherhead, Mr. L. Attwater, of Wandsworth, Mr. W. States, of Croydon, Mr. T. Miles, of Epsom, and Mr. L. C. Ferridge, of Benlilton. Thirty-one peals had been rung for the association during 1928, which included their first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal. The rules passed at Leatherhead had been revised for the meeting's consideration, as they overlapped and needed clarifying. Progress had been made in the districts. Only at three affiliated towers was ringing impossible owing to the bad condition of the bells. Although the Guildford Guild was now in operation, practically no effect had been made upon the membership to the association of those towers in the central district which were in the Guildford Diocese.—The report was adopted.

One hon. member, one ringing member, and three compounding members were elected. Beddington was chosen as the place for the next annual general meeting.

It was decided that the Central and Western Districts become as one under the title of 'North-Western' District. No alteration was made to the Southern District.

The rules as revised by the committee were unanimously passed by the members, and will be put into force at once.

The following officers were elected en bloc: President, the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Southwark; Master, Mr. D. Kenneth C. Birt; treasurer, Mr. Chas. Dean; hon. secretary, Mr. Chas. H. Kippin; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. F. E. Darby; auditor, Mr. F. W. Housden; representative upon the Central Council (vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Drewett), Mr. C. H. Kippin.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Dean and Mr. Kippin for their services during the year, and also to those who had helped in making the meeting a success, especially to Mr. Northover, who made all arrangements connected with the tea.

This concluded the business meeting, which only lasted 40 minutes.

During the afternoon and evening most of the standard methods were rung, including a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal. Reigate bells are a good peal of ten, and were rehung and retuned eighteen months ago by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

FIRST 720's

At Rock Ferry, Cheshire, on Thursday, March 21st, 720 of Norwich Surprise: J. Gorst 1, T. Birch 2, H. Rogers 3, G. R. Edwards 4, T. Rogers 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6.—Also on Thursday, March 7th, 720 of Ipswich Surprise: G. R. Edwards 1, H. Rogers 2, T. Birch 3, W. Dean 4, T. Rogers 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6. First 720 in the methods by all the band, and on the bells, both methods being rung for the first time by a resident band of the Wirral Branch.

I must express my regrets at the sad news of the death of Mr. Joseph Sykes. He was a man whom I was continually meeting during the course of many years in all sorts of unexpected spots. He used to write to me from many foreign places. The last time I ran across him was in Paris, where he was quite at home—just as if he had lived there all his life, for he had a wonderful gift of acquiring the language of the country he happened to be in. With his help I saw a good deal of Parisian life, which would have been impossible to a casual visitor. He was a good ringer, especially a good tenor ringer, with a most interesting store of ringing tales. Hence to his ashes.

REV. H. LAW JAMES' INCONSISTENCY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest Mr. Law James' reply to my last letter. He certainly puts forward a very interesting point, namely, that since the 'leads' of even-bell methods are (in general) joined together when the treble leads, and those of odd-bell treble-dominated methods (in general) as the treble leaves the lead, it is natural to conclude that in the former case rounds is the first row of the method, and in the latter case it is the last.

He also raises the question of round blocks. I am only stating a well recognised fact when I say that there are few arts in which more words and phrases are in everyday use, but which have to admit ambiguity when viewed through really critical eyes, than that of campanology. Now this term 'round block' is one of these, although in this case the ambiguity is not very obvious at first sight. I submit that we use this term 'round block' to mean two different things; there are the round blocks of which Mr. Law James gives as examples the three leads of Bob Minimus; these (he says) begin and end respectively 1234 and 1324, 1342 and 1432, 1423 and 1243, and are joined together by making 2nd's place when the treble leads to give the 24 changes on four bells. There is also the meaning which we have in mind when we say that 'a peal must be a round block,' this being another way of saying 'a peal must start from, and end with, rounds.' These two types of round block might well be distinguished as 'open' and 'closed.' A round block beginning 12345678 and ending 12436587 would be an 'open' one; a 'closed' one would have to satisfy the further condition of actually coming back to 12345678 (the row we started from). The difference between these two types is admittedly slight, but it is an essential one.

Mr. Law James gives an answer to my first question, which was, 'On what authority did he make certain statements?' His answer, as I understand it, is that the statements were based on what are (in his opinion) 'natural laws, which cannot be altered,' and which he proceeds to set forth.

He totally ignores my second question, which was, 'How did he reconcile his persistent remarks to the effect that "rounds is the first row of a peal and not the last" with the Central Council's condition that "a peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds"?' I think he will forgive me for assuming it as agreed that these two phrases are, in fact, irreconcilable.

I should like to say here, as one of the junior members of the Exercise to whom he refers in his letter, that we of the younger generation do realise what a very deep debt of gratitude we owe to Mr. Law James and his brother for their large share in the great increase of campanological knowledge which has taken place in the last 50 years; and we do respect and value their opinions highly. It is, therefore, in no spirit of unfriendliness or disrespect that I take up my pen on the opposite side to his in this discussion.

If there is one ideal which the Exercise should set itself above all others it is that of consistency. We can hardly hope never to be inconsistent, but I do urge that it is the common duty of each one of us to do our best to rid our extremely complicated art of as much as possible that is inconsistent.

Now Mr. Law James has surely placed himself in a position of extreme inconsistency. He is on the Standing Committee of the Central Council, and he is also president of one, and a member of many associations which are affiliated to it; and yet he tolerates rules which are entirely irreconcilable with what he considers 'natural laws which cannot be altered.' Surely the only consistent thing to do is to propose that the rules in question be altered. The rules of the Central Council are not unalterable; it is for its members to bring them into line with what they consider to be 'natural laws which cannot be altered.' But while we are affiliated to the Central Council it is surely no less than our duty to stick to what are at the moment its rules and to refrain from making statements which are in direct opposition to them.

The real trouble is that some of us are going about the job the wrong way: we are starting from the wrong end. Let us take the example of Mr. Banks James' arrangement of Cambridge Minor. I think we are all agreed that the arrangement is a very clever one, and reflects great credit on the composer: but this in itself does not make it a true peal. A great many of us go further than this, and feel that it does supply a great need in that it makes it possible to ring 5,040 Cambridge Minor with no 65's at back stroke, without ringing the same 720 seven times. So far so good; but this is where certain people have left the rails of consistency altogether: they have proceeded to take the existing rule and twist it about until they have deceived themselves and others into believing that it means something which no one reading it in an unbiased and logical way could possibly imagine that it was ever intended to mean. Surely the reasonable line of action is to propose a rule (free from ambiguity) which conforms with their view of what should be regarded as a peal, and then let the Central Council decide for or against it.

In any case the existing rule has not proved quite satisfactory, in view of the conspicuous inability of the Exercise as a whole to agree as to its exact meaning: it is therefore to be hoped, and I think, assumed, that something will be done about it at the next Central

MERIVALE MEDLEY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Further investigation shows that Merivale Medley is a twenty part six-score of Original Doubles, with five reversals in each half.

This is the six-score of Original Doubles.

Now lay a whole pull behind at (a) in each of the last five parts instead of the whole pull at lead, and you get Merivale Medley.

N.B.—The letter which appeared last week gives a correct account of the Q sets of M.M., but, unfortunately omitted the five reversals explained above. These five reversals are interesting, because they show the connection with Carter's Doubles and Stedman Doubles thus:—

Council meeting. But do let us, as an Exercise, go about it the right way this time, i.e., let us first decide on our policy and then frame the rule, not pass a rule first and then spend the next twelve months fighting about what it means.—Yours faithfully,

STEPHEN H. WOOD.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

'SPLICING.'

The progressive development of the art of ringing is never stayed. It may have sometimes, and even for long periods in the past, shown only small advances, while at others it has gone rapidly forward, but it is always progressing. Even in what may be called the darkest days there were men who were 'exploring the land' and laying up a store of knowledge, which, in the brighter intervals, has enabled the enterprising spirits to give a big lift to the art. Even a cursory study of the history of ringing will show this. There never was a period, however, when progress was made in so many different directions as in the last twenty years. The spread of change ringing itself; the increasingly higher standard of methods rung; the wider field of practice and the growth of knowledge in composition and method construction are a few of the instances which may be quoted.

One of the directions in which this progress has shown itself most markedly is in that of method 'splicing.' First applied to Minor methods, in which it reached its acme of application in the peals rung by the Norbury (Cheshire) band, it was eventually adapted to methods on higher numbers. In Surprise ringing there was first the peal at Whitley Bay, where Cambridge and Superlative were spliced, and afterwards came that remarkable composition of the Rev. H. Law James (first rung at Warnham), in which London and Bristol were added to the other two, and which laid the foundation for those further wonderful peals in five and six methods which have been accomplished at Willesden. A ten method composition has now come on the scene, and so the expansion goes on. No one can foresee the limit of development on these lines, for it opens up new avenues for the ingenuity of both composers and ringers. Only on Monday, 'splicing' in its practical development was taken a step further when at Chelmsford a peal was rung in which Superlative Surprise Maximus and Cambridge Surprise Maximus were coupled.

There has, of course, been a good deal done by way of joining up methods in approximately half peals. This is 'splicing' in its simplest form, but in interest cannot be compared to those forms in which methods are changed in every course or at almost every lead. Probably the time will come when spliced peals will be as common as are peals to-day in single Surprise methods. Composers might well devote their attention to obtaining peals in which some of the plain methods to be found in the Central Council's Major Method 'Collection' are spliced on the same lines as the Surprise methods are now mixed in one composition. Mr. Pitman has done it in regard to some of the Plain Triple methods, by changing the method when the hunt bell is changed and the splicing of selected plain Major methods ought not to prove an insoluble problem. There is no question — as Mr. Trollope pointed out incidentally in his 'Notes by the Way' last week — that once an enterprising band has taken up 'spliced' peal ringing, a peal in any one method is a tame affair, and with the continued expansion of knowledge these multi-method peals will doubtless grow in numbers.

DEDICATION OF TWO PEAL BOARDS.

On Saturday, at St. Paul's Church, Hounslow, Middlesex, the Vicar unveiled two peal boards commemorating peals recently rung on the bells for the London County Association, one of Grandsire Triples and the other of Bob Major. These boards have been given to the church by one of the local ringers, and are of neat design and good workmanship. The Vicar mentioned the methods by which people were called to worship in different countries, saying that drums were used in Africa, gongs in China, while in England we had bells. He traced the use of bells from the time of the introduction of the curfew to the present-day art of change ringing, and declared that all who were engaged in ringing for church services, and at times of rejoicing or sorrow, were performing a useful work. It was very gratifying that several of the Sunday service ringers took part in each of these peals.

Mr. Churchwarden J. F. Adcock also spoke in appreciation of the service ringers, who gave their time voluntarily and travelled considerable distances Sunday after Sunday to assist. He thought the captain (Mr. Tricker) must have more than a lion's share of that excellent virtue, patience.

Mr. A. E. Rogers, late churchwarden, said that it was a pleasant surprise to him that the conductor of the peal of Grandsire Triples (Mr. H. Nance) was an old schoolfellow of his.

Immediately the boards were unveiled, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. Hawthorne, Goddard, Herbert and Tricker followed by a tune, 'Jenny Jones,' by Messrs. Goddard, Tricker and Ellingham.

Some good practice was obtained on the tower bells in three methods, and a new conductor of Bob Major was discovered.

Ringing friends attended from Harlington, Staines, Putney, Battersea, and Greenwich, and all voted it the most pleasant Saturday had at Hounslow.

REV. F. J. O. HELMORE'S THANKS.

Rev. F. J. O. Helmore desires to thank all brother ringers for their sympathy with him in his bereavement.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the North-Western District was held at Ashted on Easter Monday, about 40 members and friends attending during the afternoon and evening. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and the bells were kept going in various methods. At five o'clock the company adjourned to Ashted Peace Memorial Hall, where 32 sat down to a very enjoyable tea.

The business meeting followed, Mr. A. W. Clark, District Master, being in the chair. A letter was read from the secretary of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild re proposed joint meeting at Guildford on August Bank Holiday, stating that August Bank Holiday would not be convenient to the members of his district, but they would be pleased to meet the Surrey Association one Saturday later in the year.—It was then proposed, if possible, to hold the meeting on October 5th.

It was also proposed to alter the date of the joint meeting at Ewell with the Leatherhead District from May 4th to May 18th. A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, Mr. G. Cook for making arrangements, and to those who waited at tea.

The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until nine o'clock. Methods rung during the day ranged from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise Major.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The Ely Diocesan Association held their annual meeting again at Cambridge on Easter Monday. The attendance of members at the lunch and business meeting was smaller than usual, but ringers from other places were spending the day in Cambridge, and ringing took place at Great St. Mary's, St. Andrew the Great, the Church of St. Mary and the English Martyrs, and also at Old Chesterton.

The committee met in the vestry of St. Mary's in the morning, and the service in that church at noon was, in the absence through illness of the Vicar, Dr. P. N. Waggett, S.S.J.E., conducted by the secretary (Rev. R. Copeman). The address, pointing out the way in which the Exercise evokes the response of the whole of our nature—body, soul and spirit—was given by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, Rector of Watlington, who has recently come into the diocese, and at short notice undertook Dr. Waggett's place.

Lunch followed at the Dorothy Cafe. Letters had been received from the Revs. A. H. F. Boughey, F. W. Fulford and J. B. Marshall, expressing their regret that they were unable to be present.

The General Secretary presented his report, in which he expressed the sense of the great loss which the association had sustained by the death of the Rev. H. B. Woolley, who had acted as district secretary for the Archdeaconry of Huntingdon for many years, and taken great interest in ringing, and was always ready to welcome ringers when a meeting was held at Long Stanton.

On the motion of Mr. T. R. Dennis, the members stood for a few moments in silence as a mark of their respect for his memory.

There were 32 peals rung during the year, including one of Bob Royal on handbells.

The Treasurer produced his balance sheet, which showed a sum of £19 15s. 5d. in hand, which had justified the printing of a report for 1927-8, instead of for 1927, as had been planned.

The officers were re-elected, viz.: General secretary, Rev. R. Copeman; treasurer, Mr. T. R. Dennis; auditor, Mr. A. E. Austin; district secretary for Archdeaconry of Wisbech, Mr. H. W. Giddings, for Archdeaconry of Ely Mr. F. Warrington, for Archdeaconry of Huntingdon Miss C. Fields, and for Marshland Mr. W. G. Cross.

On the motion of Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake was elected as representative of the association on the Central Council.

The question of forming a new district was postponed, and a slight alteration was made in the rules to permit the district branches to appoint a Ringing Master for district meetings.

The much-debated subject of the constitution of peals of Minor and Doubles was discussed, but no resolution was put to the meeting.

Reference was made to the illness of Mr. H. J. Hazell, following upon the death of his parents, and a grant was made to him. It was also resolved that a letter of sympathy be sent to an old ringer, Mr. York Green, who is in failing health.

The usual vote of thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells and to the preacher for his address brought the meeting to a close, and the members adjourned to the various towers, where touches were rung during the afternoon and evening.

BINFIELD, BERKS.—On Good Friday, at the Church of All Saints, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor, half-muffled, in 48 mins.: W. Penton 1, R. Blake 2, R. Davis 3, W. Bagley 6, G. Bull 5, J. Rance (conductor) 6. Longest touch by ringers of 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

WISTASTON, CHESHIRE.—Three different 720's of Bob Minor on Good Friday for morning service, with the bells half-muffled. On Easter Sunday, one for morning service and one for evening service by the following band: Reg Wright (first 720) 1, A. Thomas 2, W. Stubbs 3, H. G. Smith 4, J. Bayley 5, A. Crawley (conductor) 6.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Wood asks this week how I reconcile my statement that rounds is the first row of a peal with the statement that a peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds? I do not attempt to reconcile them; they are absolutely contradictory.

Change ringing is a science; the rules of the Central Council dealing with the scientific side of the matter are just like scientific theories.

Now, a scientific theory is like the clothes line on which the washing is hung out to dry, but if someone proceeds to hang a four-stone weight upon it the whole thing comes down.

In 1907 we published the Collection of Minor methods, and we drew a line under 123456, gave the figures of the lead, and drew another line after the whole peal of the treble. We were simply following tradition; and there was really no excuse for us; we ought to have known better, for on page 3 in his work on 'Duffield,' published nine years before by Sir Arthur Heywood, he tells us quite correctly that Duffield is pricked by the six heads.

When we published the Selection of Major methods in 1926, we corrected the mistake, and you will find the lines drawn in the right place.

Now turn to Minor forty years ago. Six-bell ringers gloried in 11 360's in different methods; then came the definition of a peal of Minor given in the last edition of 'Rules and Decisions.' That was our clothes line, and we were all proud of it. My brother produced his peal of Cambridge Minor; that was a four-stone weight, and the motion carried at Hereford last year was the erection of a new clothes line.

I then produced the London Minor, and, while I still think that the line holds, a great many people think otherwise.

What is to be done? I repeat, change ringing is a science. Now scientific theories are tested by experiment, and so the proper thing to do is to wait until we have proved by experiment that the line is actually broken, and when that is proved to be very careful before we attempt to erect another.

H. LAW JAMES.

LONDON SURPRISE MINOR.

Sir,—Mr. James must be getting very short of copy to prove to your readers that his peal of London and his brother's peal of Cambridge are true. First we get examples of Singles and Doubles, and then, finally, Triples. Yes, sir, you may mix the 72 courses to get the extent of 5,040, just as you may mix the six courses of London to get the extent of 720, but you may not mix the three 720's to get 2,160. Mr. James would never tolerate mixing three 5,040 of Triples to get 15,120, which is just the same thing as mixing three 720's to get 2,160. They are both the extent in each method, and must remain as such.

What we six-bell ringers—or the majority of us—are out for is a clear definition of what a peal of Minor shall be, and this is the definition we want: A peal of Minor shall commence from rounds and end with rounds; it must consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, each 720 to be true in itself. If we get this definition all will be well, otherwise I am afraid all the ground will have to be gone over again.

Here are three 720's of London Minor. Nos. 1 and 2 have two 5-6's at hand, No. 3 has four 5-6's at hand: 43 changes part each 5-6 in Nos. 1 and 2, and 67 changes part each 5-6 in No. 3.

There are two variations to each 720 without disturbing the 5-6's.

They are the best that can be produced from the London method and, in my opinion, are far in advance of Mr. James'. The 720's are true in themselves, and there are only eight 5-6's at hand in 2,160 changes. There is nothing here to offend the musical ear.—Yours truly,

C. SEVERN.

E. BANKES JAMES.

ROMNEY MARSH AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The monthly meeting of the above Guild was held at Hythe on Saturday, March 23rd. About 30 members from various towers attended, including Mr. George Slingsby, of Aldington, the Kent veteran, aged 91, who is as sprightly as ever. He took part in a touch of Grandsire, and gave his opinion of the new ring.

The bells were started at 2.45, and kept going till 5.15, when tea was served at the Paddock Tea Rooms. After tea the Master (Mr. W. Everett) presided at the business meeting, when votes of condolence were passed to Mr. Fright, the local captain, on the loss of his son, and also on the deaths of Alderman Finn (Lydd) and Alderman Deacon (Rye), hon. members, and Mr. C. Head (Wye).

Egerton and Pluckley were chosen for the next meeting. One new member was elected, and a return was then made to the tower for further ringing. The going of the bells was perfect, and the restoration is a credit to the firm who carried out the work.

BLETCHLEY, BUCKS.—On Tuesday, March 12th, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: W. Lear 1, F. Vickers 2, J. Marks 3, F. Stonton 4, S. Smith 5, H. Lear (conductor) 6. First 720 Cambridge by ringers of 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and first 720 Cambridge on the bells.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. Cave can have it either way. I do not mind. I have only tried to prove that 'Representative' is 'Delegate.' Mr. Cave states that it is the other way about, or, in plain words, the same thing. He does not say if the word 'representative' should be hanged and drawn as the word delegate was at Hereford. With reference to association reports, will Mr. Cave keep to the point? I stated that I fail to find in any of the rules given reference to the Central Council. It is a bad policy to rush replies, wasting space and creating an unfair position to your other correspondents.

However, the rest of Mr. Cave's letter glorifies a society created to cater for a very few select scientific change ringers, and Mr. Cave's fellow-ringers, who are only Sunday service church bellringers, are left to the good and able associations to do for them what they did before the Central Council was thought of. There is too much stress laid on the scientific side of church bellringing, and it is in this light that I believe the Central Council has lost its popularity among the less learned ringers.

Upon the Central Council agenda is an item which has already been passed by them once, viz., 'Advisory committee consultant.' My experience is that these advisory committees are conservative, and will only accept the advice of those they seek. (I could explain this fully if necessary.) Furthermore, does the Central Council follow up all its recommendations and see that they are not forgotten? Here, above, is one instance that they do not know they have already passed a resolution down for this year's agenda. To be quite honest, I really do wish the Council (in an improved form) to carry on, but I should like to see a more democratic policy.

I am very grateful to Rev. C. D. P. Davies for his kind and constructive reply. Unfortunately, Mr. Davies missed a point when I referred to 8B upon the agenda. He mistook me for 9B. It is 8B that I definitely referred to. Another point is this 'matured opinion' from the associates. What happened to the 'matured opinions'? When a representative said he was against these 'matured opinions' the president told him he was there to vote as a member of the Council and not in the way his association had instructed him.

Mr. Pulling's letter is also very helpful. Through these letters it is quite clear that, although different ringers possess different 'dictionaries,' there is a gross misunderstanding as to the status an association holds upon the Council. I do not agree that the Council are associations in Council, but, rather, a Council formed solely to reserve their own personal opinions, and opinions of associations are 'pious opinions.' Can the hon. secretary say that his material for the agenda comes spontaneously from the members of the Council or from the associations, and which does he think he would prefer?—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE,

Member of the Central Council.

P.S.—For Rev. Davies' information in the new 'Rules and Decisions of the Central Council' it states at the first meeting of the Council there were present '74 delegates.'

MR CRAVEN'S 5,664 BOB MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to 5,664 Bob Major, sent by me for publication in your columns, I am extremely sorry to point out that the figures as given are not true. The W lead in the last course of each part repeats with the W lead in the fifth course, one being bobbed and the other a plain lead. My error has arisen with the wish to produce the peal all in-course. The mistake is too foolish for excuse, therefore let me solicit your pardon.

By calling Single W instead of Bob in the last course of each part puts everything true and allows the peal to be rung as a six-part. The 468's will be in-course changes, and the 648 out of course. I append corrected figures, and with sincere apologies for such a careless mistake.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

5,664 BOB MAJOR.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

LEICESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Leicester District was held at Ratby and Groby on Saturday, March 23rd. Groby was first visited, the bells being raised about 3.30 p.m. and kept going to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor. About 4.45 p.m. the bells were lowered, and a move made to Ratby, where an excellent tea was partaken of in the Church Rooms by 25 members and friends.

Ratby belfry was then visited, and the six bells were kept going till a little after 8 p.m. to Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Grandsire Minor, Cambridge Surprise, Double Court, Oxford Bob, and Canterbury Pleasure.

The business meeting was held in the Church Room, presided over by the local vice-president.

Husbands Bosworth was chosen as the place for the next mid-quarterly meeting, and Melton Mowbray for the June quarterly meeting.

The proceedings closed with a very hearty and unanimous vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the ladies who so kindly catered for such an excellent tea, and the towerkeepers of Ratby and Groby for having their bells in such good ringing condition.

DEATH OF MR. J. H. LILLEY.

The death has occurred at Wells, Norfolk, of Mr. J. H. Lilley, A.R.C.O., brother of Mr. C. R. Lilley, of Shrewsbury.

Mr. J. H. Lilley was an old ringer, although he had never rung a peal. He was organist and choirmaster of Wells-on-Sea for nine years, and held previous appointments at Petworth, Downham Market and Spalding. He was keenly interested in Freemasonry, being a member of the 'Hundred of Elloe' Lodge, Spalding, and while at Wells joined the 'Earl of Leicester' Lodge, of which he was Worshipful Master in 1927-28. He had also been secretary of the Wells and District Cottage Hospital since 1922. Besides his love of music, Mr. Lilley spent much time in sketching and painting. After the choral funeral at St. Nicholas' Church a 360 Bob Minor was rung with 6-8 covers, the bells being half-muffled: E. Hendry 1, B. Brown 2, F. Stone 3, V. Runtig 4, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 5, C. Shillaker 6, P. Adcock 7, S. Tuck 8.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

UXBRIDGE.—At the Church of St. Andrew, on Sunday evening, March 24th, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,280 changes) in 47 mins.: E. G. Swift 1, G. H. Gutteridge 2, P. E. Jones 3, R. Warnett 4, J. H. Lucas 5, E. Hancox 6, C. Nicholl (first in the method) 7, F. Corke (conductor) 8.

BADGEWORTH, GLOS.—At Holy Trinity Church, on Sunday evening, March 24th, for service, a quarter-peal of Doubles, being three and a half six-scores each of Plain Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, and Grandsire, all called differently. The ringers were: A. Newman 1, W. Oakey (conductor) 2, C. Lawrence 3, G. Kilminster 4, A. Williams 5, C. Staite 6. This is the first quarter-peal in three methods on the bells, by a local band. This is a young band, which was started by Mr. W. Yeend, secretary of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association about three years ago.

DEPTFORD.—On Sunday, March 24th, at the Church of St. John-the-Evangelist, for evening service, in 39 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): E. J. Rivett 1, A. F. Petrie 2, W. A. Martin 3, P. C. Charles Elliott 4, P. S. Richard Steers 5, P. C. Charles Davies 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, A. F. Bennington 8.

ARKSEY.—For evensong, on Palm Sunday, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes) in 46 mins.: F. Garner 1, G. Clark 2, G. Jackson 3, E. Cooper (conductor) 4, H. Arrand 5, J. McCluskey 6, T. Revill 7, H. Walker 8.

SIBSEY, Lincs.—At St. Margaret's Church, on Palm Sunday, 720 Bob Major for morning service: Mrs. H. Harper 1, S. Lovell 2, H. Johnson 3, F. Dewey 4, F. Leggott 5, W. Wilkinson 6, H. Harper 7, W. E. Clarke (conductor) 8.

NEWHEY, LANCs.—On Sunday, March 24th, for evening service at St. Thomas' Church, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major in 47 mins.: John Fetton 1, H. Harner 2, W. Staff 3, J. H. C. Massey 4, S. Dunn 5, G. Staff (conductor) 6, J. Lees 7, A. Sidebottom 8. The above are all service ringers at Milnrow Parish Church, except the 7th, who hails from Balderstone (Rochdale). The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar and ringers for granting them the privilege, owing to their own bells being out for rehanging by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

HURSLEY.—On Sunday, March 24th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles in 47 mins., 4-6-8 covering: G. Richards 1, W. Jones 2, E. Wild 3, A. Coward 4, R. Hunt 5, P. Peacock 6, H. Wilkinson (conductor) 7, H. Jefferies 8. Rung as a farewell to Mr. H. Wilkinson, who was shortly leaving the village.

AMBLESIDE.—On March 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) for evening service, at St. Mary's Church, in 53 mins.: P. C. W. Robinson 1, J. Sewell 2, W. Nevinson 3, H. Hardy 4, W. Middleton 5, F. Hindle 6, T. B. Newton (conductor) 7, W. Fisher 8. Treble ringer hails from Manchester, 6th from Blackburn, rest from Ambleside.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Mayfield on Saturday, March 23rd. Ringing commenced at about 2.30 p.m., continuing until 4.30, when the members attended the service, which was conducted by the Rev. N. A. King, who gave a most hearty welcome to the members of the association. The address which followed was listened to with great interest.

An excellent tea was provided at the Royal Oak Hotel, to which 25 sat down. The Rev. N. A. King presided, and also occupied the chair at the business meeting which followed.

Prior to reading the minutes, the Hon. Secretary called attention to the great loss the association had sustained through the recent death of the Bishop of Lewes. No doubt, he said, all those present remembered him best as the Vicar of Eastbourne, the Rev. Canon W. C. Stratfield. He had actually taken the chair at the last meeting held by the division at Eastbourne, which took place on January 12th. The late Bishop had been a kind friend to the ringers of Eastbourne, and to the Sussex County Association generally.

The whole company then stood in silence as a token of respect.

At the election of officers which followed, Mr. G. W. Stokes was re-elected hon. secretary, and Messrs. A. R. Miles, W. Franks, and W. Booth were re-elected to serve on the committee.

The following members were also elected: Messrs. Menser and Moon, of Mayfield, and Mr. W. R. Norris, of Heene.

Mr. W. D. Smith moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and also accorded a vote of thanks to the Rev. N. A. King for his address at the services, and for presiding at the tea and meeting. He also thanked the organist for his services, and said how pleased the members were at the welcome accorded them that day. There was one point, however, which he would like to bring before the Vicar, and that was the abnormal amount of noise in the belfry caused by the bells, which made it very uncomfortable to ring, and he thought that something should be done to remedy this defect.

The Chairman, in responding, thanked the company, and with regard to Mr. Smith's remarks about the noisy belfry, said he would come up in the tower and see for himself. He also promised that the matter should have further consideration.—This terminated the meeting.

The ringers then returned to the church, where good practice was had in methods from Grandsire and Plain Bob to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.

THE LATE MR. J. E. SYKES.

On Tuesday, March 26th, at St. Bartholomew's Church, Marsden, Yorks, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob in 55 mins., with bells deeply muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. Joseph E. Sykes, who was a resident of Marsden and a good friend to the ringers of the above tower: L. T. Byram 1, J. Whitehead 2, N. Scawthorn 3, S. Whitehead 4, H. Shaw 5, C. Hoyle 6, A. Carter 7, H. Hoyle (conductor) 8.

FUNERAL AT COPENHAGEN.

The interment of the late Mr. J. E. Sykes took place at Copenhagen, the chaplain to the British Legation officiating. The only relative present was the deceased's younger brother, Major Frederick L. Sykes, but among others who attended were two representatives of Messrs. W. C. Holmes and Co., of Huddersfield, by whom Mr. Sykes had been employed for many years; the managers of various gas works in Denmark, where he had carried out work, members of Copenhagen Masonic Lodges, foremen and employes from the Eastern and Valby gasworks in Copenhagen, and several Danish personal and business friends of deceased. There were a great many floral tributes.

DEATH OF AN ESSEX PIONEER.

Another old pioneer of ringing in Essex passed away on March 22nd in the person of Mr. Edward Claydon, who died after several weeks of trying illness, at the age of 73 years. He had taken a great interest in change ringing at St. Mary's, Stebbing, and had been leader of that company for over fifty years. He also took an active part in other church affairs, and his death will be keenly felt by many. Thus there passes another veteran, highly respected by all who knew him.

He had been a member of the Essex Association since 1881.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, March 27th, and was attended by many of his ringing friends, including Mr. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, and ringers from London, Dunmow and Felstead. Two 720's were rung, with the bells half-muffled, 720 of Kent: J. T. Barker 1, F. Harrington 2, A. Smith 3, H. P. Emery 4, A. Perry 5, W. Smith (conductor) 6; and 720 of Bob Minor: H. C. Young, sen., 1, G. Emery 2, G. Schleuter 3, F. Harrington 4, W. Smith 5, J. Jennings (conductor) 6.

IN MEMORY OF MARSHAL FOCH.

At Great Bardfield Church, on Tuesday, March 26th, in memory of Marshal Foch, with bells fully muffled, except tenor half-muffled, 1,280 Kent Treble Bob Major in 50 mins.: W. Richardson 1, G. Hills 2, A. Piper 3, F. Suckling 4, W. Piper 5, G. Piper 6, E. Townsend 7, J. Jennings (conductor) 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Among those who have rung a hundred peals in their own tower are Mr. John Flint, who has scored 135 at the Parish Church, Bolsover, Derbyshire, and Mr. H. Warnett, who has completed the century at St. Mary's Church, Lewisham.

Many have been the expressions of regret at the fate of Mr. J. E. Sykes. Mr. J. J. Lamb writes pointing out that he took part in Mr. Sykes' first peal, which was at Woolwich, on November 13th, 1802. He is the third member of that band to meet a tragic end, the other two being Messrs. E. Pye and I. G. Shade.

On April 5th, 1808, a peal of 10,097 Grandsire Caters was rung at Shrewsbury in 6 hrs. 50 mins.

April 7th and 8th is the anniversary of the famous 40,320 Bob Major at Leeds, Kent (in 1761), which was completed in 27 hours by fourteen men, who relieved each other at intervals. The ringers were James Barham, Thomas Barham, Abraham Barham, William Tilley, William Davis, William Attwood, Thomas Lacy, John Crisp, Richard Masters, James Hampton, Edward Cook, Stephen Bayley and John Barah.

George Gross, sen., conducted the first peal ever rung 'in that intricate method,' Court Bob Royal, at Shoreditch, on April 7th, 1801.

A 12,160 Bristol Surprise Major was rung at Knebworth on April 8th, 1912, and 13,440 Bob Major at Loughborough Bell Foundry on the same day ten years later.

One of the several long peals at Appleton was rung on April 11th, 1888, when the Oxford Guild scored a 13,265 Grandsire Caters.

At the present moment extensive repairs are taking place to the carillon at Leek. The local watchmaker, who has charge of the clock, had been showing a friend the wonders of the clock, carillon and bells, and had descended as low as the belfry. The friend gazed round in bewildered wonderment until his eyes rested on the rope mats on the belfry floor, when he exclaimed, 'Well, I never knew they knelt down to ring the bells before.'

WELL-KNOWN RINGERS MARRIED.

A wedding of much interest to a large circle of ringers was solemnised on Saturday at St. Stephen's Church, Clapham Park, when Mr. Reuben Sanders was married to Miss Elsie Chapman. Mr. Sanders has for many years been one of the leading exponents of the art of ringing in London, and his bride has proved herself one of the ablest among the lady ringers in the country.

A number of ringers attended the ceremony, and the bells were rung in honour of the event.

Among the wedding presents have been a dinner service from Mr. Saunders' friends in the Middlesex County Association, and a tea service from the ringers at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

MINSTER ABBEY CHURCH, SHEPPEY.

ANCIENT RING OF FIVE RESTORED.

On Saturday last, March 23rd, the re-dedication of the bells of this ancient abbey church took place by the Very Rev. the Dean of Canterbury. After the usual form of service, the Dean proceeded to the base of the tower for the actual ceremony, and a few rounds were rung.

The Dean gave an inspiring address on the history of the bells and their uses, and the customs of ringing and ringers.

Several ringers from various towers in the Rochester district rang six-scores of Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob, with the assistance of Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry.

The bells, five in number, are dated alike, 1663, the weight of the tenor being between 11 and 12 cwt. The treble, 2nd and 3rd have in small letters, 'William Hatch made me 1663' and the 4th and tenor, 'William Hatch made me,' in capital letters. The treble, owing to a crack, was recast in 1883. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have had the bells at their foundry, and the 3rd bell being cracked, has been recast. The four other bells have been retuned, the bell frame strengthened, and new self-aligning ball bearings fitted. New headstocks, wheels, ash stays, sliders, and new pulleys, gudes, ropes, etc., have also been fitted. The 'go' and tone of the bells have been greatly improved, and reflect great credit on the firm. Only one regret remains, and that is that a treble was not added to make them into a peal of six.

The cost of the work has been entirely defrayed by a member of the congregation, Mr. S. T. Hipwell, an ex-sergt.-major, R.E.

The visiting ringers wish to thank Mr. A. A. Hughes for his kind hospitality.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Cookham practice of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch was attended by ringers from a wide area, and a noticeable point was that youth predominated. A considerable amount of 'spade work' was done, although 'Cambridge' was not forgotten.

The next practice is a joint one with the Middlesex County Association at Hillingdon, to be quickly followed by the annual meeting and jubilee celebrations.

During the summer months it is hoped to accept some invitations to visit outlying towers, which can only be reached comfortably in fine weather.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PRESIDENT'S GIFT.

The Hertfordshire County Association gathered at St. Albans on Monday for their annual meeting, and during the day made full use of the bells at the Abbey and other churches in the city. In the afternoon, a service was held in the Abbey, an address being given by the Rev. R. Gibbs, Vicar of Aldenham, and afterwards the ringers assembled at the Ver House for tea, followed by the annual meeting.

Mr. G. W. Cartmel, president of the association, who is also hon. secretary, presided, supported by the Dean of St. Albans (the Very Rev. E. L. Henderson) and the Vicar of Aldenham.

The President, in his welcome to the members, who numbered about a hundred and twenty, sprang a surprise on the company. 'I want to present to the association this evening, a silver badge,' he said. 'Last year you kept a secret from me wonderfully well; this year I had a secret, and I kept it in my own home. The badge is given to mark my year as president and as a token of my appreciation of the esteem you bestowed upon me last year. I ask you to accept this silver badge for the use of another president.'

A storm of applause broke out as Mr. Cartmel passed the badge around. The silver badge, which takes the shape of a bell, has the inscription: 'To the Hertfordshire County Association of Change Ringers, presented by Mr. G. W. Cartmel, Easter, 1929.'

The President read a message from the Bishop of St. Albans congratulating the association and regretting his inability to be present. Excellent progress in change ringing had taken place during the year, the President added. The association's numbers had been well maintained, and they were in a sound financial position.

Mr. Cartmel commenced the 44th annual report with an expression of gratitude for the handsome manner in which the members recognised his 25 years' service as their secretary, and also in conferring upon him the additional honour of president. The year's work as regards peal ringing had been very successful, giving cause for much satisfaction. A perusal of the list of peals reveals a variety of methods. The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at North Mimms, and a peal of Surfleet Surprise Minor at Wendens Ambro, were the first in the methods for the association. Five peals of Cambridge Surprise have also been rung, the peal of St. Michael's, St. Albans being the first rung in the city. It was also unique in that the band represented the four towers of St. Albans. Thirty-four peals were rung in 23 towers, with 19 different conductors, Mr. R. Howard topping the list with seven peals. Nine rang their first peal, and approximately 63 have rung their first peal in a new method, which is real progress.

The committee met at St. Albans on February 9th, and it was interesting to record that every district secretary was present, besides representatives from other important centres. The secretary submitted proofs of a service paper for district meetings, which was agreed to, subject to the approval of the Bishop of the diocese. A draft certificate of membership was subjected to much criticism, and approved, after various suggestions had been incorporated. The question of what constitutes a peal of Minor or Doubles was discussed, and in view of the correspondence which had been carried on for some time in 'The Ringing World,' and also to give the representatives of the association on the Central Council the opportunity of knowing the opinion of members, it was decided to make the question an agenda item. The committee agreed to the proposition brought forward by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith at the last Central Council meeting, where it was carried without dissent.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD'S ALOOFNESS.

Death, continued the report, had removed many of their zealous honorary and ringing members, among whom were Canon Nairne, the Rev. J. P. Haythornthwaite, Rev. A. G. Langdon, Rev. H. R. Foster, Mr. E. N. Wix and Mr. E. S. Cox. Among the rank and file they remembered Mr. W. Bennett, of Aldenham, who for 37 years was verges, Mr. Arthur Hull, of St. Albans, who was for 53 years attached to St. Peter's belfry, and Mr. George Paice, of the Edmonton band. After referring to the joint meeting with the Middlesex Association, held at North Mimms in the summer, and the meeting of the Essex, Herts and Middlesex Associations at Waltham Abbey, the report recorded that the bells at Great Gaddesden had been augmented to a peal of six, and Bishop's Stortford had been rehung. The latter tower once held an important position in the association, and listed a band in the first annual report; but they had left the association severely alone for many years. The greatest acquisition to the county would be the addition of two trebles at Hatfield, making a peal of ten, in memory of the three sons of the Bishop of Exeter who fell in the war. This should spur the Hatfield members to great achievements, and give a lift to the prestige and records of the association. Another event of great interest has been the centenary celebrations of John Briant, the famous Hertfordshire bellfounder and clock maker, which was celebrated at Hertford on Wednesday, February 27th, the anniversary of his death. Briant came to Hertford when 30 years of age, and set up his bell foundry in Parliament Row. The departure from the county of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, a most loyal supporter of the association for many years and of ringing generally, was much regretted. Mr. T. J. Hull, who acted for several years as librarian, had sent in his resignation.

Unforeseen circumstances prevented their representatives attending the Central Council meeting last year, consequently their resolution as to the necessity of appointing a committee to enquire as to the best method of meeting urgent necessitous cases of sickness amongst ringers, and of affording help to their dependants, fell through. The resolution was, however, upon the agenda this year, and the secretary of the Central Council had promised to second it. 'The Central Council,' added the report, 'is a most useful body, having done much good work in the past, and I am sure that it is to the advantage of the whole ringing community if persistently backed up by them. It has been criticised, which is a sign of usefulness. Genuine criticism never does harm, because if it is given and received in the spirit of Christian fellowship it imparts very often new life. I commend one suggestion recently put forward by Mr. Alex. Young, the secretary to the Council, that on the occasion of the thanksgiving service for the King's remarkable recovery from sickness, ringers should mark the event with a joyous peal.'

Thanks were again tendered to the district secretaries for their splendid labours of another year. Their work was of the utmost importance for the success and progress of the association, and the attendances at the meetings showed that that opinion was shared by the members also. These meetings were becoming more popular in other associations, as well as theirs. In conclusion, they remembered with gratitude the services rendered by the various steeple-keepers who are responsible for the 'go' of the bells, the clergy for arranging services at district meetings, and for use of the bells at the annual and district meetings and for peals; and those who have generously provided teas; the sympathetic co-operation and support given by the honorary and ringing members, and all others who had contributed in many ways in forwarding the cause of the association. Let them in return show that they valued and appreciated the many kindly acts of their supporters by regular attendance at their respective churches for service ringing and practice, and doing all they could to further the best interests of the association during the coming year.

'STRONG ARMS AND STRONG HEADS.'

Moving the adoption of the report, the Dean said it was always a great pleasure to him when ringers visited the mother church. There were two things which he respected enormously when he got among ringers, and those things were strong arms and strong heads. 'I do think,' he said, 'that ringers, apart from the splendid work that they do—and it is very real work for God and His Church—in ringing on occasions of sorrow and national rejoicing, are helping to supply something that has been lacking in the church by their centres of fellowship. It does bring together real bands of brotherhood. By these bands linked together into an association you are bringing together men of every type from the villages and country. It is that which is wanted enormously in the life of the church today. It is the belfry which is pulling together people who form invaluable centres of fellowship. We are very much apt to sit in church listening to sermons—and we are not always doing that—and not having anything to say to the person alongside whom we have sat for years and years. That is not Christianity. Christianity means more of fellowship and brotherhood. It is to the people who sit alongside us—our neighbours—that we owe our duty.'

The Dean formally moved the adoption of the report, and congratulated the association on its 'very capable officers' in Mr. Cartmel and Mr. Debenham.

The Hon. Treasurer, Mr. E. P. Debenham, reported a balance in hand of £25 9s. 9d., and a reserve fund balance of £24 8s. 4d.

Mr. W. H. Golding, of Hemel Hempstead, on his election as president for the ensuing year, was presented with the silver badge of office. Other officers elected were: Treasurer, Mr. E. P. Debenham; hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Cartmel; representatives on the Central Council, Mr. W. Ayre and Mr. F. W. Elliot; hon. librarian, Mr. Gilbert Debenham; hon. auditor, Mr. W. Mercer; district secretaries, Messrs. D. C. Mears (Northern), W. H. Lawrence (Eastern), W. Nash (St. Albans), C. H. Horton (Watford), and W. Ayre (Western).

The following were elected hon. ringing members: Rev. B. E. F. Mitchell, St. Albans; Rev. G. I. Fiennes, St. Albans; Mr. Gilbert Debenham, St. Albans; Mr. Charles J. Jackson, Pinner; Mr. Harold Burton, Luton; Mr. W. Price, Benington; Mr. A. Wing, Benington; Mr. E. P. Hawkins, Great Munden; and Mr. E. Barnes, Great Munden.

Thanks to the Dean of St. Albans (the Very Rev. E. L. Henderson) and the Vicars of St. Peter's, St. Stephen's, and St. Michael's Churches for the use of the bells, were accorded on the proposition of Mr. Debenham. Mr. Cartmel was also heartily thanked for his gift to the association.

DEATH OF MRS. K. JAGGER.

On March 18th, there passed peacefully away at Sholmal Street, Burton-on-Trent, Mrs. K. Jagger. The deceased lady, who was in her 93rd year, was the mother of that well-known ringer, Mr. John Jagger, of Oldbury. As a last token of respect, the bells of St. Paul's Church were rung half-muffled at both services on Palm Sunday.

MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

The peals rung by the Midland Counties Association during 1928 numbered 155 (including three on handbells).

Peal ringing in 1928, says the annual report presented to the members at the annual meeting on Monday, was not a record, but was the second highest since the association's formation, 1927 being first with 183. It could therefore be looked upon as a successful year, and the peal ringers have kept up the old traditions. Several noteworthy performances are recorded, among which may be mentioned the numerous peals of Stedman Triples, due chiefly to the energetic 'mid-weekers' under the leadership of Maurice Swinfield, who has set up a new record of conducting 55 peals of this method all differently, thus adding many new compositions to the M.C.A. records, and following worthily in the footsteps of the Burton men of the past. A peal by five brothers—the Payne family, of Syston—is also recorded. New methods accomplished include York Surprise Royal, at the first attempt, by the Leicester Brauch, and still new Royal methods from them is looked forward to in the near future. Mixed bands under the general hon. secretary's conductors scored the first peal of Major in six methods; also a peal of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative. Several peals in the higher methods have been rung by the Bolsover and District bands; and also peals by Nottingham St. Peter's and St. Mary's. Other districts have also contributed their quota, nor must mention be omitted of the five and six bell towers. These are valuable adjuncts to the association's welfare, and the beginnings of peals of bells of higher numbers. Only three handbell peals were recorded, and it was suggested that more of this side of the art and science would be welcome, and those who participated in it would find plenty of scope for renewed interest. First peals by individuals numbered 28: first in new methods, 115. This latter shows remarkably how interest is still maintained.

During the year members had been lost through death, and some from lack of interest and consequent lapse of subscriptions. A host of new members had, however, been made, both honorary and ringing, and a number of out-county life members. Taking all things into consideration, 1928 may be classed as a very successful year. The membership is: Patrons and hon. members, 233; ringing members, 969; total, 1,202.

Last year the general hon. secretary made an urgent appeal to all members to be sportsmanlike and pay up subscriptions promptly, and once again would ask the same. The work of the association demands a vast amount of detail work by the various local secretaries, and an appeal is made to all to co-operate to make things go successfully—first, by not waiting to be asked to pay up, or leaving it till on the verge of running out; secondly, by giving local secretaries every encouragement by assisting when fixing up meetings for the benefit of fellow-members, and not grumbling if he fails to please all and sundry.

It was regretted that there was an adverse income this year, as compared with 1927. Honorary and ringing subscriptions had decreased by £11 14s. One district, Hinckley, however, was to be congratulated on an increase in ringing members, which was very encouraging. The general fund showed an income from all sources of £114 1s. 6d., and an expenditure of £116 15s. 11d.—a loss on the year's working of £2 14s. 5d. The sum of £18 was transferred from the general fund to the Bell Repair Fund. Grants from the latter totalled £14 9s., leaving a balance of £7 5s. 8d. Four towers have been supported in connection with bell restoration. National Savings Certificates are now worth £100, and there is also £150 invested in War Loan Stock. With the bank balance of £73 14s. 3d., the association is therefore worth £324.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Monday, March 18th, at Christ Church, Ealing, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles in 45 mins., with the clappers half-muffled in memory of Mr. William Stagg, a member of the local band, who passed away on Thursday, March 14th, aged 68 years: L. H. Wilson 1, J. A. D. Webb 2, E. C. S. Turner 3, H. Reeves 4, W. G. Wilson (conductor) 5, J. A. Trollope 6, J. H. Burton 7, E. Coombes 8. Rung with 7, 4, 8 covering.

At Croft, Leicestershire, on Sunday, March 17th, 720 changes of Grandsire Doubles in 20 mins.: W. Lomas 1, F. E. Wilson 2, T. Atkins (conductor) 3, E. Watson 4, F. Baileys 5, A. Warwick 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Wilson, mother of the ringer of 2nd.

At Bedwellty, Mon, on Sunday, March 17th, at the Parish Church, in 48 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), 7-6-8 covering: Idris Rowlands 1, George Popnell (conductor) 2, Glyn Williams 3, Stewart Williams 4, Thomas Werret 5, Ronald Griffiths 6, Timothy Popnell 7, Frank Morgan 8. Rung half-muffled to the memory of 'Woodbine Willie.'

At the Parish Church, East Grinstead, Sussex, on Wednesday evening, February 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Trebles (1,260 changes), with the bells half-muffled, for the Bishop of Chichester: S. Cherson 1, H. D. White 2, G. Tizzard 3, J. Ladd 4, G. Lambert 5, T. Tullett 6, J. Wren (conductor) 7, G. Diplock 8.

SPLICING, AN ANCIENT PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of March 15th appears an article with the above title over the name of John Perry, in which he gives the composition of Crown Bob. I was greatly interested in this, as it gave the methods which were spliced together and rung under this name.

It may interest him and others to know that Crown Bob was rung at Leek when the tower contained only six bells. Unfortunately nothing but the name survives, together with the information that it would produce 360 changes only. The ringers could not have known of the Single, as they never rang more than the eighteen-score.

I was always of the opinion the methods used were contained in the record of a performance given on a tablet in the bellry as follows:—

On Wednesday, November 12th, 1845, the five following peals were rung without intermission in 2 hrs. 25 mins.: Violet, College Treble, Oxford Treble, College Pleasure and Grandsire Bob, each peal containing 720 changes: S. Sheldon 1, J. Winterbottom 2, C. Ball 3, U. Davenport 4, I. Fogg 5, J. Barlow 6.

The old six bells were placed in the tower in 1721, but we have no knowledge when Crown Bob was first practised or how the ringers became possessed of it. As I had never heard the title mentioned elsewhere I was inclined to think it was of local origin until this article appeared.

The record on the tombstone of Uriah Davenport in the Parish Churchyard reads as follows: 'Uriah Davenport, of this town, died February 13th, 1860, in the 91st year of his age.' He was a ringer upwards of 70 years at the Parish Church, Leek.

Surely this must be approaching, if not, a record. During the latter part of his life Davenport's mind became enfeebled, and he was given to roaming; but this caused no anxiety to his family, as he was always to be found at the end of his rambles in what they termed the Bell-us (Bell House).—Yours, etc., E. A. RIDGWAY.

Leek.

THE TEN-METHOD COMPOSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. C. T. Coles, I wish to point out that he is quite correct in assuming that where the Bristol leads can be rung they must be rung as home leads, between two bobs home.

For instance, Bristol must not be rung for one lead ended plain, followed by Cambridge 'Middle' lead and London 'Wrong' lead, as in that case the handstrokes of the treble leads will repeat.

I am sending a copy of the lead of 'Gloucestershire,' which I obtained from a well-known conductor recently, as I cannot say where the figures are published.

In conclusion, I sincerely congratulate the ringers who have taken part in ringing Mr. James' spliced Major peals, and wish them every success.—Yours truly,

A. J. PITMAN.

ST. HUGH DOUBLE SURPRISE MAXIMUS.

BY ARTHUR CRAVEN.

The method given below is the result of my endeavour to make 'Cambridge' into a really perfect method. I shall leave it to the Exercise to judge whether or not I have succeeded.

The alterations from Cambridge Maximus are really very slight, although the effect is great.

The difference is wrought when the treble is in 3-4 and 5-6; 7-8 and 9-10. The 1-2 adjoining places are cut out when treble is in 3-4, and an odd place made in 10th's when the treble is in 5-6. The dodging block with treble in 3-4 is identical with Cambridge Major, where the legitimate places are 5th's and 8th's. The dodging block when treble is in 5-6 is exactly identical with the 5-6 block in Cambridge Royal, with one pair of bells dodging in 11-12. These operations produce the correct quarter section change necessary to produce a double method, i.e.,:—

I dedicate this method of St. Hugh of Lincoln, in remembrance of my connections with the place and the happy days I spent there. Also in memory of those who worked amongst us, but who have passed along.

DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH RICHARDSON.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Joseph Richardson, which took place at 244, Oxford Road, Reading, on March 14th, at the age of 60 years, after a very short illness. The deceased took up ringing at his native home of Beenham, Berks, when quite a youth. Later, his trade took him to many parts of England, where he managed to score a good number of peals in various methods.

He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Oxford Diocesan Guild, Lancashire Association, and other societies.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A PARTING OF THE WAYS.

After 38 years' service as Hon. Secretary of the Kent County Association, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore has, to the regret of all the members, resigned office. This step was, perhaps, not altogether unexpected. Advancing years had made his retirement a probability, and Mr. Helmore's recent serious illness precipitated the event. Nevertheless, the parting of the ways, after such a long and active official connection with the organisation, makes a break which all who have been linked with Mr. Helmore must feel as keenly as the late secretary himself. The Kent County Association has long been looked upon as one of the best managed among ringing societies, and its success has been in no small measure due to the guiding hand of the gentleman who has just handed over the reins. Mr. Helmore took upon himself the cares of office in the comparatively youthful days of the association. He has grown old with it, and in growing old has become part and parcel of it, until the Kent County Association and the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore were almost synonymous.

During the long period over which he has conducted its affairs, the association has risen to be one of the strongest numerically and financially among all the ringing organisations, and it has at the same time retained the interest of its members and propagated throughout the county the objects for which it exists. Many enthusiasts, whether Men of Kent, or Kentish Men, have had a hand in helping forward the good cause, but, when all is said and done, it is on the chief executive official that the primary responsibility rests and in the part which he has played the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore has not only discharged the duties of his office with efficiency and success, but has set an example which should be an inspiration to all.

The ringing Exercise owes a debt, which can never be fully expressed, to those men who, like Mr. Helmore, give ungrudging service for the best part of their lives, in order that the rest of the fraternity may enjoy their art and practise it at will. The influence of the labours of such men is felt in many indirect ways, even when the work which they have done is not apparent on the surface. The Kent County Association has been doubly fortunate. Not only have the members had the benefit for nearly forty years of the experience of a very able secretary, but Mr. Helmore's association with the Diocese of Canterbury and its Cathedral has been a valuable connecting link between the organisation and the church authorities. Mr. Helmore takes with him into his retirement from office the good wishes of his ringing friends

THE PEAL AT WINCHESTER TRAINING COLLEGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the peal at Winchester Training College, I congratulate Mr. Golden in having roused so much interest in the College, but it was not the first to be rung in a training college, as a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung in the Music Room of St. Mark's, Chelsea, on May 16th, 1920, but only one of the band was a resident. It is to be hoped the interest may be maintained. Wishing them the best of luck, yours etc,

W. AYRE.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. A RECORD OF PROGRESS.

The 32nd annual general meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held in the City, and proved a great success. The attendance during the afternoon and evening reached nearly ninety, and the three towers open for ringing were at times filled to the limit of their capacity for comfort. The service, held at St. Botolph's Church, Bishopsgate, at 4.30, was very well attended. The lesson, taken from 1 Cor. xiv., was read by Mr. F. A. Milne, president of the association, and the special ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God, Who livest,' was sung. The address was given by the Rev. A. Lombardini, well-known for his mid-day inspiring sermons to city workers. After welcoming the members of the association, he chose for his text a passage from 1 Kings vii., 'In the clay ground,' and drew an analogy between the choice by King Solomon of a place for moulding vessels of metal to adorn the temple, and God's choice of a way of moulding our lives. The organist at the service was Mr. Leonard H. Warner, well known to B.B.C. listeners, whose rendering of the various hymns and other music was much appreciated.

An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall. The Rev. A. Lombardini, Mr. T. Walker and Mr. L. H. Warner joined the members of the association at the meal, although the former was unable to stay for more than a few minutes. After tea, a well-struck course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by G. R. Pye, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, G. H. Cross, J. Thomas, G. W. Fletcher and W. Pye.

The President took the chair at the subsequent business meeting. He was supported by Messrs. W. Pickworth and C. S. Bird (vice-presidents), Messrs. C. T. Coles and W. H. Hollier (hon. secretaries) and other officers and members of committee.

INCREASING INTEREST OF YOUNGER GENERATION.

The report, which had already been distributed amongst the members, was taken as read and adopted. Extracts from a very satisfactory report are as follows:—

'The end of the war found us, like other associations, with our local bands sadly depleted, and in some cases almost broken up. In addition, quite a number of those members who returned from active service took no further part in the ringing of our bells. However, the efforts required from those responsible for keeping the association in an active state was forthcoming, and to-day it is true to say that our strength has never been so great, or our activities so wide. During the period under review our membership has increased by upwards of 100, notwithstanding that death has taken a heavy toll. There has been a considerable increase in the number of affiliated towers, and instruction has been given at different times to several of our hands. Much credit is due to those who have undertaken this work, as well as to those leaders of local societies who, by continuous exertion, have not allowed their bands to become depleted. During the last year or two a welcome sign has been the increasing interest shown in ringing by the younger generation, and at the last annual meeting this was especially noticed. The future of our association is with these young men. Let us therefore continue our efforts to interest them in our art and in our Guild.'

After referring to the satisfactory district meetings and the success of the joint meetings with other associations, the report went on: 'The peals rung during the year numbered 69, two of which were rung on handbells and the remainder on tower bells in 38 different towers. The conducting was shared by 16 of the members, whilst 163 took part in the peals. Ten members rang their first peals, and 81 their first peals in a new method. Quite a large number of members rang their first peals of Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Maximus, Cambridge Surprise Royal, and London and Bristol Surprise Major; and still more their initial peals of Stedman Caters and Triples. Miss E. E. Chapman rang her first peal of Surprise Maximus, whilst Miss F. E. Orr took part in the first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung by the association. To them, and to Mr. W. G. Wilson, who conducted his first peal, we extend our congratulations. The association attained the honour of ringing the first peal of Superlative Surprise Maximus in London, (this being accomplished at Southwark Cathedral on January 14th. Peals of Yorkshire and Lincolnshire Surprise Major were rung by the association for the first time, the latter peal being rung without any of the band having previously practised the method! Two peals of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods were conducted from non-observation bells by Messrs. William and George R. Pye, these being performances of outstanding merit. Five Surprise Major methods were rung in one peal for the first time on December 18th at Willesden, whilst an excellent performance was accomplished on handbells at Ealing on December 20th. Three of the peals were rung with half-muffled clappers in memory of the late C. I. Edwards, R. E. Holloway, and G. Paice, at Heston, Acton and Edmonton, respectively. Although not appearing in our records, we must not omit to refer to Mr. James George's 1,000th peal, which was rung at Wolverhampton on October 6th. Mr. George has been a loyal member of this association for some 30 years, and whilst congratulating him on his achievement, we must express our pleasure that a considerable number of his peals have been rung for this society. The quarter-peal list denotes progress in certain towers, but at the same time other towers which were at one time prominent in the list show a decline. Several 720's at six-bell towers are noted, and the Northaw band must be congratulated on having rung some 30 extents of Minor, including one of Spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob.

MEMBERSHIP.

The membership remains the same as last year. One honorary and 60 ringing members were elected, but there were a large number of lapses, whilst eight members were taken from us by death. In connection with the lapses of membership, most of which were caused by removals, members are reminded that the Central Council has formed a scheme for keeping in touch with ringers removing from one district to another. The scheme was outlined in 'The Ringing World' of June 1st, 1928. Local secretaries should advise their district secretary of any removals, giving the new address. At the same time, when local secretaries are advised of removals into their district they should take every step possible to obtain the services of the ringer concerned. During the year Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have rehung the peal of six at St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, in new bearings, and the eight bells at St. Mary's, Staines, in new fittings with strengthened framework. The bells at St. Paul's Cathedral have been overhauled by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., who also have in hand the rehanging of the bells at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have rehung the bells at St. John-the-Baptist's, Chipping Barnet, on ball bearings, and are undertaking the complete recasting of the peal of eight at St. James', Clerkenwell. The Isleworth Bell Fund now reaches a total of £134, and an appeal is made for further support, as a considerable sum is needed before the augmentation is put in hand. The Belfry Repairs Fund instituted in the S. and W. district early last year amounts to £2 4s. 6d. Sincere thanks are expressed to those of our members who have done great service by way of instructing at several of our towers. Without this important work very little progress would be shown.'

The balance sheet, showing a Central Fund balance of £29 3s. 8d., was adopted.

Four new members were elected, whilst the whole of the retiring officers were unanimously chosen to continue for another year.

A vacancy on the Central Council, arising through the lamented death of Mr. Robert Holloway, was filled by the election of Mr. Frank Corke, of Hillingdon.

THE COUNCIL AGENDA.

The Central Council agenda was next considered, and various views on the difference between a 'delegate' and a 'representative' were stated. It was generally agreed, however, that the representatives, when voting at the Council's meetings, should consider the views of their members as expressed at association meetings, or discussion at these meetings would be useless.

On this question, and on that of the peals of Minor and Doubles, contributions to the discussion were made by Messrs. J. A. Trollope, J. Parker, A. H. Pulling, G. L. Joyce, and C. T. Coles, but on the latter very vexed subject representatives were given an entirely free hand, it being considered a question for expert advice.

Representatives were 'authorised' to support the proposal to raise the affiliation fees, although some doubt as to the wisdom of the increase was expressed. The possibility of some associations reducing their number of representatives to the Council was considered as quite a likely result, with lessened interest in the Council's activities.

Support was given to the next two questions on the Council's agenda, but opposition was shown to the final item.

Acton was chosen as the venue for next year's annual meeting.

Members were reminded of the joint meeting of the S. and W. District and the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which is to be held at Hillingdon on April 20th, and of the reopening of Clerkenwell bells on May 4th, whilst Mr. C. S. Bird made an appeal for donations towards a memorial which it has been decided to erect in the Acton belfry to the late Robert Holloway.

The President proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all those to whom members were indebted for the success of the meeting, including the Rev. W. Hudson Shaw (Bishopsgate), Rev. F. W. Isaacs (Cripplegate), and Rev. H. J. Fynes-Clinton (St. Magnus'), for the use of their bells, the Rev. A. Lombardini for his address, Mr. L. A. Warner (organist), Messrs. J. E. Davis, J. C. F. Bayley and W. Arnold, the towerkeepers and vergers at the various churches. —Mr. T. Walker, on behalf of the Rector of Bishopsgate, replied to the vote of thanks, and expressed his pleasure at being present.

During the afternoon and evening a great deal of ringing was done at St. Botolph's, St. Giles', Cripplegate, and at St. Magnus', Thames Street, and a large number of methods were rung, including most of the standard methods on eight bells, Stedman Caters and Cinques, Cambridge Royal, and Treble Bob Maximus.

THE F. G. NEWMAN FUND

Previously acknowledged, £7 9s.; Mr. H. Belcher, 2s.; Rev. Canon Helmore, 5s.; collection at Maidstone meeting on Easter Monday, per Mr. Groombridge, £4 4s.; grant from Kent County Benevolent Fund, £5; J. A. D., 5s.; Mr. W. J. Nevard, 2s. 6d.; Mr. C. T. Coles, 2s. 6d.; Mr. C. Slingsby, 5s.; total, £17 15s. Contributions should be sent to Mr. W. T. Cockerill, Frodingham, 32, Edgeley Road, Clapham, S.W.4.

STEDMAN AND CARTER'S DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Now that the publication of the Central Council's Collection of legitimate methods has been postponed, it may be an opportune time to suggest that Stedman's Doubles and its Reverse, and Carter's Doubles and its Reverse should be given in their correct form with Rounds as first row in the new publication, when issued, as follows:—

	Reverse Stedman's Doubles.	Stedman's Doubles.		Reverse Carter's Doubles.	Carter's Doubles.
Div. head	12345	12345	Div. head	12345	12345
	21354	21354		21354	21354
	23145	12534		12534	23145
	32415	15243		15243	32415
	23451	51234		51234	23451
	24315	15324		15324	24315
	42351	51342		51342	42351
	43215	15432		15432	43215
	34251	51423		51423	34251
	43521	54132		54132	43521
	45312	45312		45312	45312
Div. end	54321	54321	Div. end	54321	54321
2nd Div. head	53412	45231	2nd Div. head	53412	45231

It will be noticed that the only difference between Stedman's Doubles and Reverse Carter's Doubles is that the 1st place at the Division End in Stedman is converted into 5th's place in Reverse Carter's Doubles; and vice versa, the 5th's place of Reverse Stedman Doubles is converted into 1st place at the Division End of Carter's Doubles.

There is one other peculiarity worthy of notice, i.e., Carter's Doubles is the only one of the four methods that will extend perfectly, as a regular method, to Infinity.

Reverse Stedman Doubles will extend to Triples and Cinques, but the Caters of this method is only a three part touch as follows:—

1st Div. Head 123456789
2nd Div. Head 759381624
3rd Div. Head 684927153

123456789

Brighton.

Yours faithfully, GEORGE BAKER.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The bells of Dodleston, Cheshire, originally five in number, have just been rehung and retuned, and a treble added by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The new bell was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of the diocese on Easter Eve, and ringers will have an opportunity of hearing the ring at the Chester Guild meeting on Saturday, April 13th.

Mr. Albert Walker, the Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, is among those who have rung a hundred peals in his 'Sunday service' tower. He has taken part in 114 peals in the famous church in the Bull Ring, Birmingham. Of these he has conducted 48, and has called a peal at least three times off each of the twelve bells.

Among those who have also rung a hundred peals in their own tower are two Lewes ringers. Mr. A. J. Turner has scored 140 peals on the bells at Southover, in the ancient county town of Sussex, and Mr. R. J. Dawe has rung 135 there.

Mr. Arthur Knights has rung 207 peals on Chesterfield bells, and his son, Ben, has rung 125. Mr. T. J. Salter, of Kidderminster, completed the 'century' on the bells of St. Mary's Church, as long ago as October, 1906.

Guardsman J. Bragg, by communicating with Mr. R. J. Best, of 9, Cumberland Street, Finsbury, S.W.1, will be able to obtain the return of his wallet, which was found in Buckingham Palace Road. The finder, however, is unable to communicate direct as there was no address. The 'clue' to the owner is a receipt issued by the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

The bells of Birmingham Cathedral will be broadcast from 7.50 to 8 p.m. on Sunday.

Mr. Fred M. Mitchell, who succeeds the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore as general secretary of the Kent County Association, has been for ten years secretary of the Rochester District. His address is 114, Sun Lane, Gravesend.

Twenty years ago to-day the then record peal of 15,027 Stedman Caters was rung in 12 hrs. 18 mins. at Loughborough Parish Church—the first time one set of men had rung 'round the clock.'

To-morrow is the anniversary of the Treble Ten record, made at Ashton-under-Lyne in 1914, when 14,000 of Kent was rung in 9 hrs. 24 mins. Next Wednesday is the anniversary of the Treble Bob Maximus record, at the same church, a peal of 12,240 having been rung in 8 hrs. 39 mins. on April 17th, 1911.

It is 160 years next Wednesday since the first peal of 'Norwich Court Bob Ten In' was rung. The peal was one of the famous performances of the Norwich ringers of that day, and was recorded by the 'Norwich Mercury,' which stated that 'from the harmony and regularity of its changes, it filled every lover of the art of ringing with the most pleasing wonder and astonishment.'

The incomparable peal,' continued the report, 'was invented in the year 1751 by Mr. Wm. Porter, one of the ringers belonging to St. Peter's company, and though from that time it has been annually practised, yet never was perfectly gone through with, without bells being out of course, till now, so that it may be affirmed that this is the first compleat 5,040 that ever was rung in the known world.'

THE BROADCAST OF ST. MARTIN'S BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In answer to my appeal in 'The Ringing World' for opinions of the broadcast of the bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, on March 17th, I have received a good number of letters from ringers in different parts of the country who listened to the Bob course of Stedman Cinques. The following had perfect reception and consider the microphone was placed in the best position, viz., on the north-east end of the church roof in proper relation to distance from the bell tower, where any noise from tram and motor traffic, which is generally very heavy in the vicinity of the church, especially the east end, is eliminated. These districts report that all the twelve bells came through clearly and distinctly in the rounds, changes and rounds, during the ten minutes' broadcast: Shrewsbury, Derby, Stanton-by-Dale, Lincoln, Boston, Monkseaton (Northumberland), Pudsey, Norwich, Thames Ditton, Barking and Fulham (London), Bath and Taunton.

The three following places—Banbury, Cheltenham, and Weymouth—write that the bells did not come through at all clearly, and one correspondent from Wilham, Essex, wants to know why we did not do some change ringing (a little leg-pulling, I fancy).

Allow me, sir, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to thank all these friends for their expressions of opinion, which will be forwarded to the B.B.C. headquarters in Birmingham.

I also received many verbal congratulations at the Worcester meeting on Easter Monday on the perfect reception and good striking. Though one ringer from the Evesham district had a very bad reception of the bells, another ringer nearby had perfect reception, which makes one think some wireless sets are possibly overtuned.—Yours faithfully, Birmingham.

ALBERT WALKER.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

RESIGNATION OF HON. SECRETARY.

The annual general meeting of the Kent County Association was held at Maidstone on Easter Monday, and, owing to its central position and the fair weather, attracted a large number of members. During the day about 200 put in an appearance. Various towers in the neighbourhood were opened to enable visitors to have a ring on their journey 'in' and 'out,' with the ten bells at All Saints', Maidstone, as the central attraction. These bells were going until noon, when the association service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar (Canon Sopwith), the Rev. G. C. E. Ryley (Vicar of East Peckham) accompanying on the organ with his well-known ability. The special preacher for the service was the Rev. H. de V. Watson (Rector of Harrietsbam), who took for his text Colossians iii. 1, 'If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above.' Three hymns were sung, 'The strife is o'er,' the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God, Who livest,' and 'To the name of our Salvation.' A collection at the close for the County Ophthalmic Hospital, Maidstone, realised £2 10s. 1d.

Dinner followed in the Corn Exchange, which was taxed to its capacity owing to the large assembly. The Deputy Mayor of Maidstone (Councillor F. C. Connor) presided, supported by the hon. secretary (Rev. F. J. O. Helmore) and Miss Helmore, Canon Sopwith, Rev. G. C. E. Ryley, Rev. H. de V. Watson, Messrs. E. Alex. Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council) and Jackson (London County), and officers of the association.

After dinner, the toast of 'The King' was duly honoured, on the proposition of the Chairman, who said he was sure they were all glad that His Majesty was making such an excellent recovery.

Mr. F. White (Cranbrook) proposed the toast of 'The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Clergy of the Diocese.' He expressed pleasure that Archbishop Lang had consented to become their president, and offered their thanks to Canon Sopwith (Maidstone), Rev. H. de V. Watson, and the Rev. G. C. E. Ryley.

The Rev. H. de V. Watson, in replying, said he was rather a link of the association, as his father-in-law, the Rev. Knatchbull Huggeson, was one of the founders and first secretary of the association.

The Rev. G. C. E. Ryley also replied, and proposed the toast of 'The Chairman,' and thanked him for his attendance.—The Deputy Mayor of Maidstone said he was pleased to come in his official capacity and to welcome the association to their county town. He was one much in favour of old customs, and he hoped the day would never come when the old custom of bellringing would cease.

In response to an appeal on behalf of Mr. T. Newman, who was one of the founders of the association, a collection round the table realised £4 4s., and at a committee meeting held earlier a sum of £5 was voted from the Benevolent Fund.

REV. F. J. O. HELMORE'S 38 YEARS' SERVICE.

The hon. secretary's report and balance sheet having been adopted, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore said he wished to thank them all for their kindness to him in his recent severe illness and his more recent sudden bereavement. Owing to the severe trial he had gone through and his advancing years (he was now 78) he said the time had come when he must resign his post as their hon. secretary, a position he had held for 38 years. He thanked all who had helped him during his illness—Mr. Mitchell, who had been his assistant, Mr. Sone for making the arrangements for the dinner that day, and to the other district secretaries for their ever-ready assistance. When he first took office, the number of members was about 400; to-day it was nearly 1,000; the number of non-resident members was 13, and now it was nearly 250. The time had now come when he must hand over the job to another.

Mr. W. Latter (Tonbridge District secretary) said he had known Canon Helmore during the whole period of his secretaryship, and it hardly seemed possible to associate his name without 'Kent County Association.' On behalf of them all he proposed their heartiest thanks to Canon Helmore for his valued services as their hon. secretary, and said how sorry they all were that force of circumstances had compelled him to resign.—This was seconded by Mr. W. Haigh (Rochester), and carried with loud applause.

After the names of Lord Davidson, of Lambeth, and the Dean of Rochester had been added to the list of vice-presidents, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore said it was left to him to propose his successor as their hon. secretary. During his illness his assistant had rendered good service, and he had pleasure in proposing the name of Mr. Frederick M. Mitchell (another 'Fred'), of Gravesend, as their hon. secretary. He would find plenty of work to do, but he was sure that Mr. Mitchell would do it to the best of his ability until a more suitable successor could be found.—This was seconded by Mr. W. E. Pitman (Canterbury) and carried unanimously.

FINANCIAL GROWTH OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Mitchell, in accepting office, said he was having the honour thrust upon him, but he would do his best, and gave an account of the growth of the finances of the association during the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore's period of office. When he took office 38 years ago the balance in hand was about £90. Last year's report showed a balance of £70, in addition to which they had about £550 invested—

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note, from his letter of April 5th, that Mr. Severn speaks authoritatively for the majority of six-bell ringers, and in begging slightly to differ from him I am careful to avoid this. I am told that there are 40,000 ringers in the United Kingdom, and a very ridiculous estimate would place the number of Minor ringers at (say) 1,000. A majority would then mean 501 opinions personally canvassed, and this I have not done.

But the majority of the (comparatively) few with whom I have spoken have expressed the wish to see something like the following:—

A peal (meaning a 'five thousand'), or a touch (of less than this), shall commence and end with rounds.

In Major and upwards, it shall consist of at least 5,000 true changes, i.e., 4,999 different rows and two rows of rounds; one of the latter shall appear at the beginning, and one at the end.

In Triples, 5,040 true changes, i.e., 5,039 different rows, etc.

In Minor, it shall consist of at least seven blocks, each of 720 different rows, and one row, i.e., 5,040 true changes. Rounds shall be the first and the last rows of the peal. Each of the blocks shall be produced differently, with provision for one additional touch of less than 720.

In Doubles, similarly.

I agree with Mr. James that the 'commence from rounds' should be amended; we are too prone blindly to follow the mistakes of the past. We have an example of this (a trifling example, it is true) in Mr. Severn's letter. He shows three extents of London Surprise (upon which I congratulate him); he gives the figures before the bobs, when, actually, they follow the bobs. Why? Because it is customary, but that does not make it correct.

Let us get down to present-day need, and frame something which will help along rather than retard.

And a word about Mr. Guise's letters. From memory, I think he has suggested that his Guild should consider whether the expenditure in sending delegates-representatives-members (as you will to the Central Council), is worth while.

If so be that this Guild should decide that it is not worth while, it is to be hoped that none of its members will avail himself of the advantages to be obtained from the Central Council's Collection of Methods, Collections of Peals (and what not?), which are published from time to time with the aid of my money.

Let our criticism be constructive. The Central Council is a funny old body, but it is well worth while!—Yours faithfully,

St. John's, Leytonstone.

GEORGE L. JOYCE.

BRISTOL (?) SURPRISE MAXIMUS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A stock argument of days gone by with the Rev. E. H. James was that certain figures were an Oxford Extension of, say, 'London' Surprise or 'Bristol' Surprise, but in your last issue you have published a method which the reverend gentleman designates Bristol (?) Surprise Maximus, which, in so far as it can be called an extension of 'Bristol' Major at all, is most certainly an Oxford extension, and in face of the correct figures of 'Bristol' Royal and Maximus given by Mr. A. Craven in these columns on January 19th, 1923, I suggest that the Rev. E. B. James should find another name for his latest attempt at extending 'Bristol' Major.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

a growth of £530. The Belfry Repair Fund was instituted a quarter of a century ago, and since that time £143 had been paid out to various towers in need, and there was still a balance of £191. Their Benevolent Fund was started in 1912, with the result that £85 had been paid to deserving members, and the balance to-day was £131. Surely that showed the work of their hon. secretary, and Mr. Mitchell said it was a record impossible for him to beat. It was left to him to carry on the tradition of the association, which he would do to the best of his ability.

Mr. Frederick White proposed that they show their appreciation and place the name of the Rev. Frederick J. O. Helmore on the list of vice-presidents.—Several having risen to second the proposition, Mr. Frederick Thornton, as another 'Fred,' claimed the privilege, and it was unanimously agreed to.

The usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting, which, as regards numbers, was a record for a great number of years, about 50 towers in Kent being represented, and it was most fitting it should be, considering that the association was parting with such a highly-respected and devoted servant after so many years' faithful service.

Ten towers were open for ringing during the day, and it is hoped that full advantage was taken of the opportunities offered through the kindness of the various incumbents, as it is not very encouraging to the clergy if the use of the bells is granted and no visitors come to ring. It is true that Maidstone has many attractions, even to its gaol—and it is hoped no one found their way there—but ample time was afforded the visitors in their ringing pursuits.

SUFFOLK GUILD AND THE CENTRAL COUNCIL. PROCEDURE DISCUSSED.

The annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild at Ipswich on Monday was marked by a good deal that was of interest. The business was transacted in St. Mary-le-Tower Church House in the afternoon, and was well attended. Archdeacon Farmiloe presided, and all the officers were re-elected.

It was pointed out that the number of honorary members was lamentably small, being only 24 in all. It was, therefore, resolved that 'district and other secretaries be urged to obtain as many hon. members as possible.'

In order to put the relation between the Guild and the Advisory Committee of the diocese on a regular footing, it was agreed to choose as one of the officers to be elected each year a consultant who would act as technical adviser to any tower, and of whose appointment the Advisory Committee should be officially notified. Mr. J. C. G. Haggar, of Sproughton, was thereupon elected as consultant. The chairman also instructed the secretary to supply the Advisory Committee with copies of the cards 'On the care of bells' and on 'The elements of change ringing,' as published by the Central Council, and circulated by the Guild.

There was then passed unanimously this resolution: 'The Guild urges its members to get as many ringers as possible elected on Parochial Church Councils, the Diocesan Conference, and the Church Assembly.'

There had been some discussion at a former meeting as to whether the district secretaries were to be expected to visit every tower to collect subscriptions, and the following note to the rules was agreed to: 'In each company there shall be chosen a secretary (or captain, or Ringing Master), who shall collect all subscriptions as soon after January 1st as possible, and send them to the district secretary.'

There was considerable and lively discussion on the subject of splicing of extents, about which there had been so much correspondence in 'The Ringing World.' The following resolution was ultimately carried: 'The splicing of methods is theoretically unsound. But if this departure from strict regularity is allowed, the splicing of extents in five or six-bell ringing should be allowed also.' There was one vote against, the reason given being that it would not be well for the Guild to appear to oppose so widely accepted a practice as splicing.

STANDING ORDERS WANTED FOR COUNCIL.

The Secretary reported that he had sent the resolutions which had been passed by the last annual meeting to the secretary of the Central Council for his information. To his surprise, when he entered the meeting at Hereford, he found that they were put down on the agenda as 'late resolutions,' to be considered at the end. Both, however, were dealt with in the course of previous discussions. Nevertheless, at the end of the meeting the chairman, instead of passing them over, went to some trouble to explain that for some obscure point of order these resolutions were wrong. Evidently there was much confusion as to the relation between the Central Council and its constituent bodies. In one case there was even a proposal to withdraw the representatives. He thought this quite useless, and suggested that the best way to meet the difficulty was to have some standing orders drawn up so that the associations would know what to do. It was absurd that, when a matter had been referred to the associations, they should be told that they had done wrong to pass a resolution on the subject.

In the course of the discussion, the Chairman (Archdeacon Farmiloe) said that it was much more dignified and useful for the members of the Central Council to be considered to be representatives rather than to be mere delegates, who had to vote as they were told.

In the end the secretary was asked to write to the secretary of the Council for an explanation.

A letter in 'The Ringing World' on the Sudbury District was read, and it was agreed that was a matter which concerned the secretary for West Suffolk, and that the matter be referred to him, assuring him of the support of the Guild in the matter. Arrangements for an instructor for Hadleigh were decided on, and the meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks.

THE CATCHPOLE-MOTTS MEMORIAL.

The Vicar of St. Mary-le-Tower gave an address at a well-attended service, and afterwards Archdeacon Farmiloe unveiled, in the presence of all the members, a memorial in the ringing chamber of St. Mary-le-Tower to the late Wm. L. Catchpole and James Motts. This took the form of a tablet in Portland stone, consisting of an inscribed panel, buttressed and pinnacled in Perpendicular style, supported on a moulded ashlar base; two bells with their headstocks are carved at the foot of the panel, on which the inscription is as follows:—

'Omnia opera laudant. To the Glory of God—and in memory of William L. Catchpole, who died 1918, and James Motts, who died 1923, aged respectively 59 and 63 years, composers and conductors of numerous peals, well versed and capable, always ready to give a helping hand to their less learned comrades in furthering the art of change ringing. Of genial and noble disposition were these two men. This tablet is erected to record the high esteem in which they are held by the whole ringing fraternity.'

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION. THE CATHEDRAL PEAL.

The annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held as usual on Easter Monday at Worcester, when the fine weather, coupled with the attraction of the new peal of twelve bells at the Cathedral, brought together a large number of members and visitors, who commenced to arrive at an early hour. Among the latter were Messrs. F. E. Dawe (London), J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), J. Austin (Gloucester), and A. Walker (Birmingham).

The various city towers were open for ringing, but not too much use seemed to be made of them, the Cathedral seeming to be the 'Mecca' of everyone. The authorities had this year kindly granted extra facilities for the bells at the Cathedral, and shortly after 12.30 their glorious tones commenced to boom over the city. The first item of the day was the unveiling of a peal tablet in the belfry, recording the first peal to be rung on the new bells, viz., Stedman Cinques, on December 26th last. This was rung by the association, conducted by the Master (Mr. J. D. Johnson), who later expressed the gratification of the members to the Dean for making the long climb up to the ringing chamber to perform the ceremony.

As is usual on these occasions, the ringing was of a very moderate character, due to various reasons. Although there was an abundance of good twelve-bell men, it was exceedingly difficult to get them together owing to the congested state of the belfry and steps. As a consequence, some could not get in at all; some were wedged in and could not get out; some endeavoured to do their best on metal much above their calibre, the result being as stated. However, good humour prevailed, and everybody seemed happy.

The business meeting was held in the Chapter House in the afternoon, the Dean (the Rev. W. Moore Ede, D.D.) being in the chair.

At the outset, in welcoming the members, the Dean expressed the grateful thanks of the authorities to the members for their gift of a bell to the new peal, £100 having been raised. The 8th bell is suitably inscribed to this effect, and a bronze tablet has been fixed in the belfry. Associated with this he also wished to mention the name of Mr. A. E. Parsons. He was sure that he voiced the regret of those present that he could not be with them that day owing to indisposition. The speaker then invited London and Birmingham expert opinion on the bells, and asked Mr. F. E. Dawe, of London, and Mr. A. Walker, the Deputy Ringing Master, of St. Martin's Guild, to say a few words. Mr. Dawe said he was delighted to listen to such a magnificent peal, and if consent were given he would be pleased to bring a band of experts from London to show how they should be rung.

Mr. Walker congratulated the Dean and Chapter upon possessing such a noble peal, which he said was worthy of the edifice, and offered a suggestion regarding the louvres to prevent the sound beating down. He also incidentally remarked that they in Birmingham rather fancied themselves as twelve-bell ringers, and if any invitations were going they would like the opportunity. He would bring a band of ordinary ringers from Birmingham, who would do the bells justice. They had rung a peal on the bells of Exeter Cathedral, which were the heaviest in the world.

The Chairman humorously remarked that he would see what could be done for both, and that they (the Worcester people) would then decide who were the real experts.

The routine business was afterwards proceeded with. The report and balance sheet were adopted.

Mr. T. J. Salter moved, and Mr. W. Short seconded, that the association form a library for the circulation of ringing literature, and after some discussion this was agreed to, Mr. C. W. Cooper, of Lye, being appointed librarian. It was hoped that members would avail themselves of the opportunities of requiring knowledge.

A goodly number of new members were elected, and Worcester was again chosen for the annual meeting, this seeming now to have become an institution.—The arrangements for the annual peal were left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

Mr. J. D. Johnson having expressed a wish to retire, nominated Mr. R. G. Knowles to succeed him as Ringing Master, and this was carried.—Mr. H. C. Bird was added to the Central Committee, and all the other officers were re-elected. This concluded the business.

Service, which followed in the Cathedral with an address by Canon Blake, was well attended, the collection being given to the fund for the augmenting and overhauling of the ring of six at St. John's, which will shortly be put in hand.

After being photographed, the assembly adjourned to the Co-operative Cafe for tea, well over 100 sitting down. With the conclusion of this came the parting of the ways, some for home and others for more ringing, thus closing another successful and enjoyable meeting.

The work was executed by an old ringing comrade, Mr. Charles Mee, of Sproughton, and designed by Mr. J. C. G. Haggar, also of Sproughton.

The Archdeacon said it gave him much pleasure to unveil this memorial to two old members of St. Mary-le-Tower Society of Ringers. He referred to the fact that Mr. James Motts was a valued member of the Guild, and commended his example to the present members.

Afterwards a good number sat down to tea at Lyons' Restaurant, and ringing was indulged in at the various towers during the day.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION'S ANNUAL MEETING DIOCESAN TITLES DECISION AGAIN DEFERRED.

By the customary routine the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held at Leicester, and, despite the threat of a dull and boisterous day, the weather was not too bad, and, as usual, a large number of ringing members and friends from all parts of the association's activities were present from an early hour. Quite a number of life members from surrounding Guilds such as the Warwick, Peterborough, Lincoln, and North Notts Association, were welcomed.

The bells of St. Margaret's (12), the Cathedral (10), St. John-the-Divine (10), St. Saviour's (8), Belgrave (8), and All Saints' (5) were available throughout the day, except for short intervals for weddings, which even 'All Fools' Day' could not deter! Good use was made of the opportunities provided, although, as is so often usual, the ringing was not of a high standard. Nevertheless, it was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The committee met at 3.15 p.m., and carried out rather a heavy programme of routine and other business, making various recommendations for the general meeting which followed tea. Among the latter was the proposal to grant £2 2s. to the fund now being negotiated by certain Corporation and other high officials of Derby to present Mr. R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P., the highly-esteemed president of the association, with an oil painting of himself. This painting is by Mr. E. Townsend, and is now on view at the Derby Art Gallery.

Despite the announcement made by the general hon. secretary regarding the sending of names of intention to be present at tea, some 30 or more failed to do this. Fortunately, however, the local committee were able to cope with these, and subsequently 140 sat down to a splendid repast.

The general meeting immediately followed tea, and in the absence of Mr. R. B. Chambers (president) the vice-president, Mr. Joseph Griffin, took the chair. He was supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. Walter Wallace), the hon. secretary (Mr. Ernest Morris), and the Revs. H. Hurst and F. W. Pratt, of St. Margaret's, Rev. H. V. Williams, of St. John's, and Rev. R. S. Wilkinson, of Retford.

The Hon. Secretary first explained that for some time past the health of their worthy president had been very critical, and the cause of much anxiety, but despite that he had, in conjunction with Mrs. Chambers, sent his regards and best wishes to all members, and hoped all would have an enjoyable day and successful meeting.—Mr. W. Willson proposed that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mr. Chambers, expressing from all present good wishes for a speedy return to health.—This was seconded by Mr. Charles Draper and carried unanimously.

The election of ten ringing and one life member was duly ratified. The report and balance sheet for 1928 were also received and passed on the proposition of Mr. W. E. White, seconded by Mr. C. Draper.

A NEW DISTRICT IN THE PEAK.

The recommendations of the committee for the next three quarterly meetings were duly confirmed, viz., June, Bakewell; September, Lutterworth; January, 1930, Bolsover.

The proposal to form a new branch of the M.C.A. in the Peak District of Derbyshire having been fully discussed at the last meeting, was—after the explanation given as to its territory and work by the proposed new local secretary, Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, churchwarden of Dore—duly authorised, and its formation will take place as previously arranged.

The Chairman acquainted the members of the committee's deliberations and recommendations as to the payment of delegates' fees and expenses to the Central Council, the honorariums to the general and local hon. secretaries, steeplekeepers, etc., which were duly passed.

A discussion on the Central Council's agenda (motion 7) was debated at length, and after hearing the views of Mr. W. Willson the delegates were instructed to support same.

The officers of the association were re-elected 'en bloc' for 1929.—The Chairman announced that the testimonial fund to Mr. Wm. Willson would definitely be closed on April 30th, and it is hoped that all towers and individuals will note this, and send on to the hon. treasurer accordingly.

The question of the alteration—or addition to—the title of the association to include 'for the Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell' caused quite a diversion, and a lengthy discussion ensued in which Messrs. H. W. Needham, J. Harris, W. E. White, J. Swinfield, Rev. R. Wilkinson and 'A flat' took part.

It was thought that the association's territory in the Lichfield Diocese was so small, comprising, as it did, Burton-on-Trent and district, that the association could not rightly add that diocese without the Bishop's sanction. Burton, to which the association had in the past been greatly indebted, not only as a peal-ringing centre, but from the worthy men who upheld the association's well-being, naturally did not wish to be omitted. Therefore, as in other parts of the M.C.A. activities, where they find other societies and Guilds doing much good work, the question was, ought the association to make it appear to be overlapping or encroaching on these other societies' territory?

As at last year's meeting, so diverse were the opinions expressed, it was ultimately proposed and carried, that the matter be deferred.

This concluded the business, and Mr. W. Wallace proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the various clergy for the use of bells, and especially for their presence at the meeting.—Both the Rev. H. Hurst, of St. Margaret's, and Rev. H. V. Williams, of St. John's, replied most appropriately, with witty remarks and a 'story' each.—The Rev. Wilkinson proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, Mr. Joseph Griffin, for presiding in so efficient a way, especially during the debate on the association's title, remarking he would have made a good parliamentarian.—Mr. Griffin suitably replied, and, in passing, remarked on the fact that he was one of the very few original members left, he having had the pleasure of conducting No. 2 of the association's performances, viz., 5,040 Double Norwich Major on July 20th, 1882, at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent.

After further ringing on the various church bells, many of those participating assembled at the Victoria Hotel, where an impromptu concert was provided. A very happy evening was spent, and those contributing to the programme included Mr. Percy Harrison and family, with tunes on handbells, also other tunes by Messrs. H. J. Poole, E. Morris, C. H. Webb and P. Harrison. The new acquisition from the 'police,' a devotee to the art of ringing, Sergt. Turner, kept the company 'in tucks' by his funny stories, and the Rugby friends gave an excellent course of 'Rugby Triples Major!'—in other words, 'cagmag.' The titbit of the evening—F. H. Dexter remarking it was the best 'ringing' that day—was a touch of Stedman Triples on the piano by Maurice Swinfield, the bobs being called by H. J. Poole. Mr. J. Morris contributed his well-worn, but ever appreciated, 'Johnny,' and 'A flat' concluded the programme with his variation of the old 'grandfather's clock.'

NORFOLK GUILD.

THE RESULT OF THE REFERENDUM.

The annual meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Norwich on Easter Monday, when the rings of bells at St. Peter Mancroft (12), St. John-de-Sepulchre (8), St. Michael-at-Coslany (8), and All Saints' (5) were kindly placed at the disposal of the members. Divine service was conducted in St. Peter Mancroft's by Canon F. J. Meyrick (Vicar). The Rev. A. G. W. Paget (assistant Minor Canon of Norwich Cathedral) presided at the organ, and the address was given by the president (the Archdeacon of Norwich).

Luncheon was served at the Criterion Restaurant, White Lion Street, the Archdeacon of Norwich presiding, supported by the Rev. A. G. Blyth, the Rev. R. H. O. Banks, Mr. Philip E. Sewell, Messrs. Arthur L. Coleman (secretary), W. L. Duffield, W. C. Duffield (members of the committee), G. P. Burton (hon. auditor), and N. W. Cooke, W. J. Eldred, B. S. Thompson, W. B. Duncan (district secretaries), and 34 members.

The toast of 'The King' was proposed by the president and duly honoured.

The annual business then followed.

The report and balance sheet for the year ending December 31st, 1928, were adopted.

On the motion of Mr. A. L. Coleman, and seconded by Mr. P. E. Sewell, the Archdeacon of Norwich (Ven. G. M. MacDermott) was unanimously re-elected president. The vice-presidents were all re-elected, Mr. Arthur L. Coleman was re-elected general secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. P. Burton, hon. auditor, Canon F. J. Meyrick, Rev. A. G. Blyth, Messrs. Denison Hayward, James F. Duffield, William C. Duffield, William L. Duffield and E. Nolan Golden were elected members of the committee.

The Secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) moved the ratification of one belfry election, the re-election of seven old members and the election of ten new members, and these were all duly elected.

It was resolved that the Whit Monday meeting on May 20th be held at Pulham Market, and the August Bank Holiday meeting on August 5th at North Elmham.

It was also resolved that formal notice be given at the next general meeting for the appointment of an adviser to the Guild on matters pertaining to church bells and belfries, who shall be an ex-officio member of the committee. This concluded the routine business, and the meeting then proceeded to the all-important matter relating to the recent circularisation of members to obtain their opinion as to a reorganisation of the Guild.

REPLIES TO THE QUESTIONNAIRE.

The President announced that the Standing Committee at their meeting held in the morning had accepted the result of the referendum, and referred the matter to the general meeting for consideration. The President said that 325 circulars were sent to members resident in Norfolk. Of these, 205 were filled up, signed and returned, leaving 120 not returned. That, he thought, was a very satisfactory result. The replies to the questionnaire were as follows:—

- (1) Are you in favour of having three large districts instead of the present eleven small districts?—Yes 157, no 40, neutral 8.
- (2) Do you approve of these districts covering the areas of the Archdeacons of the diocese?—Yes 151, no 33, neutral 21.
- (3) And should the new districts be called—(a) The Norwich Archdeaconry? (b) The Norfolk Archdeaconry? (c) The King's Lynn Archdeaconry?—Yes 150, no 29, neutral 26.

HESTON BELLS REOPENED.

After being silent for about six weeks the bells of St. Leonard's Church, Heston, were formally opened for ringing again on Easter Saturday. An inspection of the bells some weeks previously had been made by Messrs. Moars and Stainbank, who augmented and rebung the peal in 1908. They reported the bells to be in a bad condition and overhauling necessary. They suggested rebanging the bells on ball bearings, repairing the chiming apparatus, and overhauling and painting the frame, at an estimated cost of £110.

The Church Council wisely decided to put the work in hand at once, and asked the Whitechapel firm to try and get the bells finished by Easter. This they undertook to do, and so quickly did they complete their task that the bells were finished with a fortnight to spare, but it was decided to delay the opening until Easter Saturday, when a company of the local ringers and members of the Middlesex Association met for this purpose. Ringing commenced about 4.15, and continued until 5.30, touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob being brought round.

The party then adjourned to the Church Hall for tea, at which the Vicar (Rev. George Craggs, M.A.) presided, and expressed great pleasure in welcoming those present, and announced that some £70 of the sum required for the work had been subscribed.

After tea, thanks were accorded to the Vicar for his hospitality, and the company again returned to the tower for a further hour's ringing, when further touches in various methods were brought round in good style.

All present expressed approval at the way the work had been carried out, and the 'go' of the bells is all that can be desired. Among those present were Messrs. J. A. Trollope, W. H. Hollier, C. S. Bird, H. C. Chaudler, E. Gladman and C. S. Turner.

(4) Do you consider a committee consisting of chairman, secretary, and three or more elected members can be got together for carrying out the work of your own new district as proposed?—Yes 151, no 28, neutral 26.

(5) Are you in favour of changing the title to—(a) The Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers (the original title of the Guild?—Yes 166, no 24, neutral 15. Or (b) The present title of the Guild to remain, viz., The Norfolk Guild of Ringers for the Diocese of Norwich?—Yes 36, no 46, neutral 123.

After making comments on the areas of the three new districts being coterminous with the Archdeaconries now formed not to be suitable for the grouping of the existing districts, the President suggested that a small committee should be appointed to recommend suitable and convenient rearrangement for the grouping of the districts. In conclusion, the President pointed out that if the result of the referendum was accepted by the members involving alterations to rules, notice must be given at that meeting, and be brought forward at the next general meeting of the Guild.

A short debate then followed, in which several members took part. Mr. G. P. Burton strongly opposed any alteration to the present title of the Guild.

The following notice of amendment to a rule was given: 'That Rule 1, as regards the title of the Guild, be altered in accordance with the replies to the questions sent out, viz., to "The Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers," and that a small committee be appointed to recommend the rearrangement of the districts either into Archdeaconries or more convenient districts.'

A vote of thanks was passed to Canon F. J. Meyrick for the use of the church and bells, and also to the Rev. A. Henderson, the Rev. D. A. Callum, and the Rev. P. J. Raybould for the use of their bells.

This concluded the meeting. The members then adjourned to the bellies for further ringing. They were joined by late-comers, making a total attendance of over 50 members for the day.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

AN EXAMPLE TO ARCHDEACONS.

It would be well, in the interests of the Church as well as of the art of ringing, if there were more Archdeacons like the Ven. Ronald Irwin, the Archdeacon of Dorking. He has under his supervision approximately half the churches in the Diocese of Guildford and he told the members of the Diocesan Guild on Saturday that whenever he visits a church with a tower and bells he makes a practice of inquiring into their condition, and, what is more, he insists upon going up into the tower and seeing things for himself. He has not yet been a year in office, but already he has ordered certain restorations to be carried out in two towers. This is in striking contrast to the indifference usually displayed by Archdeacons in matters appertaining to the belfry. Unfortunately, their interest, as a rule, stops short of the tower, and it is not surprising to learn from Archdeacon Irwin that, when he inquires about the bells, authorities sometimes look a little surprised. Many of the bells throughout the country that are now in a neglected condition would be quickly put into better order if the Archdeacons were thorough in carrying out their visitations. They are entrusted with the duty of inspecting the churches, but few of them trouble to make an ascent of the tower, even if they give so much as a thought to the bells. If associations could get the ear of their Archdeacons in this matter much necessary work might be done. It is good to find at least one Archdeacon who needs no prompting in this matter.

It is strange, however, to find a parish anxious and ready to restore their bells and, with the money for the purpose already in the bank, having to hold their hand because of the obstruction of a Diocesan Advisory Committee. The little Bedfordshire parish of Tilsworth wants its bells rehung in a new iron frame; it has subscribed all the necessary funds; but because the Advisory Committee want a wood frame installed instead of a metal one the scheme has been held up for nearly two years. That is one of the drawbacks of Advisory Committees who have no member among them with any technical knowledge of bells and bell hanging. Even the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, the most conservative of all bodies where restorations are concerned, has come to the conclusion that a metal frame has advantages. Assuming other things to be equal, the only claim which oak has to preference is that it does not need painting, but, apart from taking up more room, there is great difficulty in obtaining really seasoned timber, and the frame is liable to shrink and warp, or be attacked by insects. A metal frame, on the other hand, is not affected by the humidity of the atmosphere, it gives the rigidity required to ensure easy going bells and consequent protection to the fabric, and it is not, of course, liable to be attacked by insects. While it requires painting at intervals to prevent corrosion, it has this great advantage that, when properly constructed and kept in proper condition, shock to the tower from the swinging of the bells does not arise. These are matters upon which the experts of the Ringing Exercise and the representatives of the S.P.A.B. are agreed. They are, however, probably unknown to the Advisory Committee which is dealing with the Tilsworth application, and that is another argument for the inclusion of a person with knowledge of bells and bell hanging on these authorities, or at any rate for securing the appointment of a 'Consultant,' such as is suggested in the motion which will come before the next meeting of the Central Council.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE FIRST YEAR'S WORK.

The first annual general meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Guildford on Saturday, and was attended by about 120 members, many of whom participated in the ringing during the afternoon, at the Cathedral and St. Nicolas' Churches. The Guild service took place in the Cathedral, where a full choir led the singing. Canon E. C. Kirwan (the Provost) officiated, and the lesson was read by the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge (Vicar of Leatherhead), who gave the address.

Speaking from the text, 'One star differeth from another star in glory' (1 Cor. xv. 41), the preacher reminded his hearers that no two things in nature were exactly alike. God never made two men alike; each soul was made to fulfil some particular part in the great harmony of the Universe, and to fulfil the glory of God. So it was with the various parts of the work for the honour and glory of God and his Church. The Church had discovered that among bellringers a great work was being done for God. It might be that it was only in comparatively recent years that the Church had recognised the work of the bellringers, but that was, he thought, very largely because the bellringers did not themselves previously recognise that they were doing a piece of work for God—they had looked upon it merely as a hobby, a craft, an art. But, thank God, during the past half-century ringers had increasingly recognised that they had a great part in the work of the Church, and without that part there would be something missing. Rightly, therefore, they had claimed to be looked upon as real, active fellow-workers for God. Such a thing as a diocesan service for bellringers would have been an unimaginable thing fifty or sixty years ago. Continuing, the preacher said that bellringers in one sense stood for the great advertising agency of the Church; they stood in the light of propaganda. Where there were bells, no one need be ignorant of the fact that there was a church, and that there were church services. The bells called men and women to do their duty to their God, which stood over and above their duty to their neighbour, and they entered into every phase of human life. Bellringers were, happily, coming into their own, from the part they played in the harmony, which came through the diversity, of the work which was being done for the glory of God.

Tea was served in Holy Trinity Hall, at which Mr. Walter Harrison, chairman of the committee, presided. He was supported by the Provost, the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge, Sir Arthur Martindale, Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master), Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O. (hon. treasurer), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary), and Mr. C. A. Burdock (hon. auditor), while, later, the Archdeacon of Dorking (Canon R. Irwin) joined the party. Among those also present were Rev. Sir John Herschel (West Clandon), Rev. C. F. T. Willis (Dorking), Mr. C. H. Kippin (hon. secretary, Surrey Association), Mr. J. Parker (Edmonton), W. Charman (Warnham), Miss H. F. Mills (Brixton), Miss Melville (Reigate), and members from Aldershot, Bagshot, Banstead, Chiddingfold, Cobham, Cranleigh, Dorking, Epsom, Farnham, Godalming, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Haslemere, Leatherhead, Otlands Park, Ottershaw, Seale, Shere, Thames Ditton, Walton, West Clandon, Woking, Worplesdon, etc.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Provost for the service, to the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge for his address, and to the Cathedral organist (Mr. Sowerbutts).

In their first report the committee referred to the successful inauguration of the Guild and the launching of the four districts. In each district the Guild was fortunate in obtaining enthusiastic officers. The committee acknowledged with sincere thanks the services which these gentlemen had rendered. The programme drawn up provided for six meetings in each district during the year, and these meetings were duly held, with, in almost every case, conspicuous success. In a few instances the attendance was not up to expectation, but when the numbers present were comparatively few, individuals were able to enjoy greater practice, so that even these meetings had their compensations, and certainly could not be written down as failures. The combined practices have met with varying response. In the Leatherhead District, where 33 were held during the year, the scheme which has been carried out had had excellent results. Here the object was definitely to assist the local band at the tower where the practice was held, and some splendid spade work had been done. In the Guildford District the practice had been monthly, those held on Saturdays having been more successful than those in the mid-week. In this district it was proposed in future to hold the meetings on the practice night of the tower visited. In the Chertsey and Farnham Districts there was a rather regrettable lack of support for the combined practices, and it was hoped that the members would in future rally better to their officers and give a helping hand, even if it be at some little inconvenience.

During the year 22 peals were rung, and these included the Guild's first peals of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, Bob Minor and Surprise Minor, Grandshire Triples, Double Norwich Major, Bob Major, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major, Grandshire Caters, and Kent Treble Bob Royal. Seventy-six ringers took part in the peals. Of these, ten rang their first peal, two their first peal with a bob bell, one his first in the method with a bob bell, 15 their first in the method, 10 their first peal of Minor, five their first of Major, five their first on ten bells, and four their first of Royal. The conductors were Messrs. A. Harman, 8; J. S. Goldsmith, 3; W. T. Beeson, 2; A. H. Winch, 2; F. R. Tullett, H. Langdon, W. J. Robinson, Frank Bennett, C. H. Kippen, R. Hasted and Fred Bennett, 1 each.

MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCE.

The membership of the Guild at the close of the year was 595, made up as follows: Life hon. members 19, hon. members 38, life ringing members 4, annual ringing members 393, compounding members 111. Financially, the Guild might congratulate itself on the first year's working, for after paying the initial expenses, which were rather considerable, there remained a balance in hand of £20 1s. 2d. on the general fund, while the balances in the four districts aggregate £11 0s. 10d. While the Guild could look back with satisfaction on the first year of its existence, there was still a considerable amount of work to be done. Apart from the fact that some few towers still remained outside the Guild, many of those which were affiliated were still below full strength in their bands. The first work of the Guild ought to be to help those companies to raise their numbers, so that the bells might be fully manned for the Sunday service ringing. This could only be done by the co-operation of all the clergy and ringers in the parishes concerned, not less than the officers and members of the Guild. There was still room for a greater measure of support by the members generally of those who were entrusted with carrying on the work of the Guild and who were doing their best to maintain its activities, create interest, and extend the art of change ringing. In the past year the Guild had done well; the future depended not alone on the officers but upon the members as a whole, and the committee hoped that the coming year would see the meetings and combined practices supported by still larger numbers.

The statement of accounts presented by the hon. treasurer showed receipts amounting to £71 17s. 4d., including £9 15s. from 39 towers which paid the affiliation fees, £24 3s. from life members, £7 18s. 6d. from unattached and compounding members, £21 15s. 9d. the quota from the districts, and £8 5s. 1d. from other sources. The expenditure, which totalled £51 16s. 2d., included £17 11s. 11d. incurred in connection with the preliminary organisation of the Guild. The balance at the close of the year on the general fund was thus £20 1s. 2d.

The report and statement of accounts were adopted.

The Hon. Secretary proposed the election of Mr. Walter Harrison as the first vice-president of the Guild, and in doing so referred to the interest which Mr. Harrison took in the old Winchester Guild, and the active and valued assistance he gave in the promotion of the new Guild, and since that time in carrying on its work.—Admiral T. P. Walker seconded the motion, which was unanimously carried amid applause, and the chairman acknowledged the compliment paid to him.

The retiring officers had been nominated by several towers, and as no other names had been received, the following were declared re-elected: Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse; hon. treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker; hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; hon. auditor, Mr. C. N. Burdock.

Canon Kirwan was elected a life member, Mr. James Parker a compounding member, and Mr. G. Pearce (Godalming) a ringing member.

Mr. B. H. Clark, hon. secretary of the Farnham District, presented to the Guild a handsomely bound peal book, sufficient to record 500 peals, and he was cordially thanked for his kindness, on the motion of the chairman.

Various alterations to the rules were considered, and on the recommendation of the Executive Committee it was resolved that in future the nomination of general officers should be made at the annual district meetings, and of the district officers at the district meeting immediately prior to the annual district meeting. It was also decided that all elections, if necessary, should be by ballot.

It was also decided that in future members attending a meeting of the Executive Committee should be entitled to receive their travelling expenses, and that power be given to the Executive Committee to make grants, if applied for, to towers which are endeavouring to add new bells to the existing ring, or are carrying out extensive repairs, any such grant not to exceed £3.

It was resolved to print a report for circulation among the resident members.

A discussion took place on the venue of the summer festival, which it was suggested should be held in conjunction with the jubilee festival of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild at Petersfield and Haslemere. Several speakers expressed the view that Haslemere should not be included on account of the distance which the two places are apart, and Mr. Hazelden regretted the fact that the jubilee festival was not to be held at Basingstoke, where the old Winchester Guild was founded.

The Master, hon. treasurer and hon. secretary were appointed as a sub-committee to act with the sub-committee of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild in making arrangements for the festival.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Guildford, the date to be settled by the committee.

The meeting then discussed the various motions on the agenda of the Central Council, and requested its representatives to vote for the principle contained in the proposal that the Council should not recognise as a peal of Minor or Doubles any composition in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders respectively before beginning the next 720 or 120.

The meeting was opposed to asking hon. members of the Council to pay an affiliation fee of 5s. each per annum, but agreed to the proposal that in future associations should pay a fee of 5s. per representative per annum.

In the other matters full discretion was left to the representatives to vote as they thought fit, after hearing the arguments.

It was left to the Executive Committee to decide what support should be given by the Guild to the Bristol United Guilds' proposal to enlarge the 'Ringers' Directory.'

The members agreed to a proposal to hold a joint meeting with the Royal Cumberland Youths at Epsom at some date to be arranged.

THE ARCHDEACON AND THE TOWERS.

The Chairman welcomed the Archdeacon of Dorking, who, in reply, said it was always a great pleasure to him to come among the ringers, and also to meet them at the churches he visited. There were some towers he knew of where the numbers were deficient, and he hoped that more ringers might be brought in. If he was allowed to apply for grants for bell restoration it would not be long before they received applications, because there were two towers where he had already ordered repairs to be carried out and the bells to be carefully inspected. He hoped the work would be taken in hand before long. He would tell these two parishes where there was a lot of money to back them up (laughter). Wherever he carried out an inspection he always asked, 'What about the tower?' That sometimes caused surprise, but he always said to the churchwardens, 'I am going up it.' He had had some perilous ascents (laughter). He had found some towers sadly neglected, and he intended to see that they were put in order (applause). With regard to the majority of towers, he must congratulate them upon the wonderful improvement made and the very great care taken of them (hear, hear). If there were any towers where it was necessary that improvements should be carried out, he would be only too glad if the Master or the hon. secretary would bring them to his notice, and he would bring the matters to the notice of the churchwardens at his visitations next month. The churchwardens were the people primarily responsible for seeing that the bells and towers were in order, and if he could help the Guild in that way he was at their disposal. Continuing, the Archdeacon said that although his engagements were very numerous he hoped it would always be possible for him to look in at the Guild's meetings, and if he knew the dates a good time ahead he would endeavour to keep them free, because it kept him in touch with a body of men whose work for the church he greatly admired. He was sometimes glad he did not live immediately next to a tower (laughter), but it was always nice to hear the bells sounding from a distance, and the work of the ringers was a very essential bit of church work in the diocese. Long might they continue their good work. He hoped he might always be in touch with the bellringers in his own archdeaconry, and if at any time he could possibly attend their meetings he would be glad to do so. His desire was not to be some high, bloated dignitary, but to be their servant and brother, and one who was only too anxious to help them in any way he possibly could (applause).

Admiral Walker gave an invitation to the members to the opening of the new treble bells at Woking on May 11th, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith informed the meeting that the Guild was losing the services of Mr. F. G. Woodiss, hon. secretary of the Leatherhead District, who was leaving for the North of England. He proposed that the thanks of the Guild be given to Mr. Woodiss for his services to the Guild.—The Archdeacon of Dorking seconded the motion, which was warmly accorded.

The business concluded with a vote of thanks to the secretary for his services and to the chairman for presiding.

A 'TIRED' PEAL.

PROPOSED RESTORATION OF BELLS AT NORTON, STAFFS.

Owing to the very bad going of the above bells, ringing is at present confined to touches of about 240 changes. An expert from Messrs. Taylor and Co. has now been called in to examine the bells, and in his report he states that the metal is absolutely tired, and that the bells are all out of tune with each other, and that the bearings are worn. The matter has been brought before the Parochial Church Council, owing to an S.O.S. thrown out by the leader of the ringers, Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, and it was unanimously decided to issue an appeal to the parish for funds to rectify matters.

The bells have been in the tower since 1826. They have, therefore, done very good service, and it is sincerely hoped that the appeal will meet with a response which will warrant the church officials giving the order for a clear out.

To have all the six bells recast will require a sum of £340, which is rather a big undertaking for a village in these days, but there is every confidence that the natives will rise to the occasion, assisted by outlying districts, to whom Norton bells always appeal, as the tower stands on a hill, and the bells are heard from far and near.

In the meantime the ringers intend to 'carry on' as well as possible with their backs to the wall (figuratively speaking).

BELL ROPES MUFFLES &C.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The commemoration dinner to the past officers of the Yorkshire Association will take place at the King's Head Hotel, Sheffield, on Saturday, September 21st, at 6 p.m.

Forty years ago next Monday Mr. W. T. Pates called the famous 15,227 Grandsire Caters at Cheltenham, which at that time was the longest peal rung on ten bells. Most, if not all, of the band have now gone from us, with the exception of the Cheltenham veteran. The peal was rung on Easter Monday, 1889, and occupied 9 hrs. 43 mins.

By a coincidence it was on the same day of the month in 1922 that the existing ten-bell record—and, in fact, the record length for any number of bells—was set up by the 21,363 Stedman Caters at Appleton.

St. George's Day is the 60th anniversary of a peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Epsom, Surrey, by four fathers and four sons. The last surviving member of that band—Mr. Thomas Miles—died only last June. He was 80 years of age at his death.

One of the earliest, if not the first, 'George' peals was rung on St. George's Day, 1857, at St. George's Church, Camberwell.

The ringer of the 2nd in the peal at Goscombe, Somerset, on April 1st was Franklin D. Rickards, and Frank D. Richards, as published.

Ringers visiting Belfast on holiday or business will be made very welcome at any of the towers, if they will communicate with the hon. secretary, W. Pratt, Kinnegar, Holywood, Belfast.

Mr. Arthur W. Searle, a well-known Exeter ringer, and one of the representatives of Devon on the Central Council, has been appointed deputy editor of the 'Devon and Exeter Daily Gazette.'

With the opening of the new peal of 12 bells at Walsall, there are now three peals of 12 in the Archdeaconry of Stafford. Walsall is in quite a good position for 12-bell ringers, as West Bromwich is only five miles distant, Wolverhampton 6½, and St. Martin's, Birmingham, is 8½ miles.

A CARILLON FOR NEW ZEALAND.

On Wednesday of last week the Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery, M.P., Dominion Secretary, and the Rt. Hon. Sir James Parr, K.C.M.G., High Commissioner for New Zealand, visited the Croydon Bell Foundry, where they inspected the first carillon for New Zealand. It consists of 49 bells, the smallest being 9lb. and the largest 5 tons, the total weight of the bells being 31½ tons. The carillon is to be erected at Wellington, and is a memorial to the men and women of New Zealand who gave their lives in the Great War.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are also carrying out the recasting of the bells of Derry Cathedral, and on Friday, in the presence of the Dean and members of the Honourable Irish Society, the new tenor of 31 cwt. was cast. To the new ring of ten will be added three semitone bells for tune playing, which will be hung dead.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

TRAVELLING FACILITIES FOR THE ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The railway companies, having reduced the qualifying number to 100, have agreed to issue a ticket to Chelmsford at a fare and a half, available between May 18th and 22nd next, provided that not less than 100 adults use the tickets.

As the usual attendance at provincial meetings (including visitors) is generally about 100, if all those desirous of attending from near and far will avail themselves of the said tickets, it will be to the general advantage.

I shall be glad, therefore, if the hon. secretaries of the various Guilds and associations will let me know, at once, the number of tickets they will require, for themselves and their friends, as unless somewhere near the required number is guaranteed it will be useless for me to proceed with the printing of the necessary vouchers.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

WHOSE MONEY?

To the Editor.

Sir,—Is Mr. Joyce right when he refers to 'my money,' as I rather fancy the Gloucester and Bristol Association have assisted as much as any other association, and therefore we, too, could say, 'Our money'?

As a matter of fact the Central Council publications are issued at a 'profit,' and therefore, in the event of our ceasing affiliation, Mr. Joyce might recommend to the Council that we should have a refund, and then bar us from future benefits.

However, as hon. secretary of an association with 1,000 members, the fear is not how to stop members buying publications, but how to get them to do so? The librarian, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, will bear me out in this.—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE.

P.S.—Mr. Joyce's definition of the Central Council being 'a funny old body' is gratefully accepted.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE'S 'OBSTRUCTION'

CRITICISMS AT BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The action of the Diocesan Advisory Committee in holding up the restoration of the bells at Tilsworth, Beds, was the subject of some outspoken criticism at the annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association at Leighton Buzzard on Easter Monday. The meeting followed lunch at the Plume of Feathers Hotel, when Canon W. W. C. Baker, president, occupied the chair. Explaining why Leighton had been chosen for the meeting, he said they had met at Bedford for the last 48 years, but a month ago it was reported to the committee that the bells of St. Paul's, Bedford, were not ringable, and they selected Leighton because the conditions for ringing appertained to those they were accustomed to at Bedford.

Mr. G. F. Green, who supported Canon Baker, proposed the latter's re-election as president, and said he had thought they were honouring Leighton by their visit, but, from Canon Baker's remarks, they were there simply because they could not go anywhere else, a fact which had minimised the pleasure he had previously felt at having them there (laughter).—Mr. J. Nicholls seconded the re-election of Canon Baker, who, in reply, said he did not do much ringing now, but his interest in the association was just as keen as ever it was.

Vice-presidents re-elected were Miss E. Steel, Bedford, Mr. A. A. King, Luton, Mr. Cyril Herbert, Woburn, and the Rev. A. Rust, Husbome Crawley.

In regard to the appointment of an auditor, Canon Baker said his brother-in-law, Mr. F. Tanqueray, who conducted the first 720 ever rung by the association, and showed his interest by being auditor, was very dangerously ill. Mr. Green suggested that they should re-appoint Mr. Tanqueray and send him a letter of sympathy in his illness. This was agreed to.

Mr. A. E. Sharman, Dunstable, was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and Canon Baker and he were re-appointed representatives on the Central Council.

When the venue of the next annual meeting was under discussion, a question arose as to when the bells at Bedford would be ready. Miss Steel said they had only about £70 towards the cost, and wanted about £290. They ought to be able to raise this sum, but there should be alternative places in case the bells were not ready.

Mr. Green suggested that as Leighton had ten bells and Linsdale eight, Leighton be the alternative place to visit, but added that it would be a disgrace to Bedford if the bells were not ready.

Miss Steel seconded, but Mr. Cyril Herbert suggested some other centre more accessible to ringers from the other side of the county. Luton and Biggleswade were other centres.

Mr. C. W. Clarke, Bedford, suggested Woburn, where they were sure of a good ring. They were bad bells at Luton.

A vote resulted: Leighton 10, Biggleswade 6, Woburn 5.

TILSWORTH BELLS.

Mr. F. Vickers, Linslade, thought that if the churchpeople of Bedfordshire could get Canon Baker and Mr. Green on the Advisory Committee they would get the Bedford bells done this year. It appeared that the present Advisory Committee, instead of helping the cause of bellringing, were doing it a lot of harm.

Canon Baker said they could not interfere in the matter of the Advisory Committee, because this was appointed by the Diocesan Conference. The committee was quite ready to listen to the representations of Mr. Rust.

Mr. Sharman: Do they take any notice of him? He went and reported on the bells at Tilsworth, but they did not take any notice. To my idea they are an absolute washout. The people of Tilsworth had been messed about for two years, because they had had the money in the bank all that time to carry out the work. It was disheartening to the people who had raised the money.

The Rev. A. Rust said he was asked to look at the Tilsworth bells, and sent in his report. He said that the bells were in a deplorable condition, and that a clean sweep should be made, but he was just thanked for his letter and heard nothing more about it. Had he been asked his opinion he would have suggested an iron frame, but the Advisory Committee was keen on having wood frames. Architects, for some reason, always thought they should have wood frames. He had the same trouble at Husbome Crawley, and insisted on an iron frame. He was afraid they were going to have a battle over wood or iron frames.

Mr. Sharman: Yet the bell founders say they cannot guarantee a wood frame.

Mr. J. Nicholls: They cannot get seasoned oak nowadays.

Mr. Vickers said he advised the people of Tilsworth to get a new treble bell and make a peal of six. They raised £400, and the late Vicar, Mr. Green, gave them £50 for the new bell. This £450 had been lying in the bank since 12 months last June. They could not get on with the job because the Advisory Committee would not budge. The Church Council said they would have the job done as they wanted, or not spend the money.

Mr. Sharman said that at Totternhoe a band of young ringers raised money outside the parish for a new treble bell, but the Advisory Committee had tried to put obstacles in their way.

Canon Baker replied that nothing could be done without a faculty, and the Chancellor of the diocese would not issue one except on the advice of the Advisory Committee. He did not know what they could do except protest.

Mr. Sharman said if there was an organ with two or three bad pipes, it was replaced by a new one, but they must not change a bell which was out of tune. What could they do if the bells were recast without applying for a faculty?

The Rev. A. Rust replied that they could be made to take them down again.

Mr. Green could not understand the Advisory Committee having the least objection to bells being rehung. Whether it was a wood or iron frame should rest with the bell hanger. If he said it was much wiser to have steel they should have it. He could not understand Tilsworth having £450 in hand and the bells not being rung. He would have thought that the villagers would have been up in arms ('They are'). For the Advisory Committee to keep people waiting like that was absurd.

Mr. C. Herbert said the reason given for not favouring bells in metal frames was that they spoiled the tone of the bells.

Canon Baker said he would raise the question at the next diocesan conference, and tell them of the indignation that had been expressed.

THE SIX-BELL PEAL CONTROVERSY.

Canon Baker asked for some expression of opinion on what he described as the very vexed question of five and six bell peals. He had been ringing for 50 years, and did not think they could do better than stick to the old way of having seven seven-twenties, which were complete in themselves.

After discussion, Canon Baker said he felt that the association did not wish for an alteration in the rules that would allow bits of seven-twenties being rung and pieced together to be called a peal.

A welcome to the members, on behalf of the Vicar and churchwardens, was given by one of the Leighton churchwardens, Mr. W. Gill, who said it was nice to have a predominant vote in favour of Leighton Buzzard for the next meeting. Referring to the excellent way in which the art of bellringing was carried out, he said ringers had very little idea what it would mean to outsiders if they lost their bells. He did not know of another theme more appealing than bellringing, and could not imagine what a town or village would be like without it.

Canon Baker, in reply, expressed thanks to the Vicars of Leighton and Linslade for the use of the belfries.

New members elected were Mr. F. Bennett and Miss Sear, Totternhoe.

It was decided to hold the summer festival at Barton.

The ringing at All Saints' Church included touches of Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters, Little Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Stedman Caters, Plain Bob Major, Bob Royal, Cambridge Surprise Major, and Little Bob Royal. Touches in various methods were also rung at Linslade.

IRISH ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN BRANCH MEET AT ARMAGH.

The second annual general meeting of the Northern Branch of the Irish Association was held at the Cathedral, Armagh, on Easter Monday, when about 70 members and friends travelled from Belfast. A short service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Dean (Very Rev. Forde Tichborne, M.A.), assisted by the Very Rev. W. Dowse, M.A., Dean of Connor, and the Rev. Canon C. C. Manning, M.C., M.A., Vicar of Holywood. The Rev. W. J. Parr, of Carrickfergus, presided at the organ.

The Dean of Armagh gave a most interesting review of the history of the city and the Cathedral.

The meeting was held in the Music Room of the Cathedral, where over forty members from Belfast, Carrickfergus, Holywood and Bangor attended.

The following officers were re-elected: President, Mr. W. Young, Carrickfergus; hon. treasurer, Mr. R. Adamson, Belfast; hon. secretary, Mr. W. Pratt, Holywood. New officers elected were Rev. Canon Manning as chaplain, and the Rev. W. J. Pass as organist.

The secretary's report showed that the association was in a very healthy condition, and that an interest was being taken in change ringing by other towers in the North. The four quarterly meetings during the past year had been well attended, and formed the basis for introducing the art to the ringers of the towers visited. The membership is at present 46, but it is hoped that by next year this will be very much increased. The members cannot yet claim a peal, but the Holywood band obtained their first extent of Doubles last August and 720 of Plain Bob on March 8th of this year, during a visit of Mr. Morris J. Morris, and since then several short touches of Triples.

The Dean was the guest at luncheon, and afterwards conducted the party over the Cathedral and library of Armagh. The observatory was also visited.

A demonstration of carillon ringing was given at the Roman Catholic Cathedral in the city by the Cathedral organist, Mr. T. W. Holden.

A most successful meeting was held, and the thanks of the members are due to the Dean, who made the splendid arrangements.

PEALS ON FIVE AND SIX BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In each of your last three issues the Exercise has been urged not to be in too much of a hurry to come to any decision about this vexed question of peals on five and six bells. I quite agree with the wisdom of giving time and common sense of the Exercise every opportunity to play their part, but we must not let this wisdom blind us to the other side of the question. We must not 'drift.' Neither must we forget that the Central Council meeting is an annual affair, and that what it does not decide on one Whit Tuesday it does not get another chance to discuss till twelve months later.

I want now to discuss certain points with an eye on the present and future, i.e., not taking into consideration whether they satisfy the ambiguous rules of the past or not. And in so doing, may I express the hope that others of your readers will criticise my views and put forward their own, because I believe that this is a way in which we of the rank and file of the Exercise can be of very real service to those whom we elect to be members of the Central Council, and whom, after all, whether as delegates or representatives, we more or less expect to reproduce between them the general feeling of the Exercise.

Let us take first the real cause and crux of the whole argument—Mr. Bankes James' peal of Cambridge Minor. Now I am quite sure, both from my own experience and from perusing the many letters on the subject in this paper, that the majority of the Exercise would be sorry to see this ingenious composition banned; I am equally certain that, according to the interpretation of the present rule which is held by the majority of the Exercise, it does not satisfy the conditions for a true peal. It is this unsatisfactory state of affairs which must at all costs be put right at the earliest opportunity. How is this to be done? Well, it is not at all an easy problem, but do not let us shirk it on that account.

I assume it agreed (for the purpose of this argument) that we want to keep the Bankes James' peal, and therefore we must frame our conditions so that without any hint of ambiguity or being let in by the side-door it satisfies them.

Supposing first that the Council decides at Whitsun that it is premature to come to a complete decision on the matter of peals on five and six bells, and therefore leaves it over for another year for further investigation and discussion, may I urge that in this case they will put matters on a more satisfactory footing by passing a resolution worded somehow like this: 'That pending a decision as to what shall constitute a peal on five and six bells this Council will in the meantime accept the performance of Mr. Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge Minor as a peal.' This would at least put things on a consistent basis until the whole matter is cleared up.

And now let us tackle the bigger problem. If we want to frame rules which admit the Bankes James' arrangement, there are three possibilities:—

(i.) A rule which admits not only this but certain other arrangements which have not yet proved their value by the 'acid test of experience,' and which I, personally, do not advocate letting in (at least, at present).

(ii.) A rule which lets the arrangement of Cambridge Minor in but keeps others out. This is well nigh impossible, and would certainly have to be done by back-door tactics, and must therefore be discarded.

(iii.) Letting it in boldly as an exception. This is rather drastic, but it seems the only consistent and logical way out of the difficulty.

To make it quite clear, my policy is to accept the Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge Minor, and to refuse the others, which include Mr. Law James' London Minor and Mr. Morris' Grandshire Doubles. I am quite prepared to argue my full reasons for this with any of your readers but I must not trespass on your space to do it here. Suffice it to say that the chief argument is that the Cambridge Minor fulfils a need which the others do not, and that it has proved its worth by the 'acid test of experience,' which the others have not.

I will now proceed to set down as briefly as possible a series of suggested rules and conditions which I put forward as a possible way out of the difficulty:—

(i.) Add words to the present condition: 'On all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds,' to make it quite clear that the word 'peal' includes 'extents' on six and five bells.

(ii.) Pass resolution 'that peals of Minor shall consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, each one satisfying the conditions for "extents" given above in (i.), i.e., each starting from and ending with rounds.'

(iii.) Splicing to be encouraged, but to be kept within the bounds of each 720, i.e., splice as many methods as you like into any 720, but keep the seven 720's themselves separate.

(iv.) Pass resolution 'That in view of the exceptional circumstances of Cambridge Minor, of which there is only one 720 with 5-6 the right way, the Central Council will accept as a peal seven or more 720's of this method, provided only that each contains no repetitions (the 720's may be divided at handstroke for this purpose), that they are joined by ordinary plain or bobbed changes, and that the peal comes round at the end.'

(N.B.—The actual wording of this would require some thought, but I hope that I have made its aim and object plain enough.)

This rough outline lays no claim to perfection, but I think that it is a reasonable and practicable way out of the difficulty, and that it is consistent and satisfies the views of the majority of the Exercise. I have not mentioned Doubles, but my intention would be to keep them in line with Minor, i.e., at least 42 separate 120's, each starting from and ending with rounds. I do not consider that as yet any exceptions to this are necessary.

I have stated my policy boldly, if briefly. I will refrain from expanding and explaining it in further detail until I see what criticisms are levelled at it.—Yours faithfully,
STEPHEN H. WOOD.

METHOD SPLICING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read in 'The Ringing World' that at the annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild the following resolution was passed: 'The splicing of methods is theoretically unsound. But if this departure from strict regularity is allowed, the splicing of extents in five or six-bell ringing should be allowed also.' It would be interesting to know the reason why method splicing is unsound in theory, but none is given in your report of the meeting.

Will the hon. secretary of the Suffolk Guild please say if any reasons were advanced? Method splicing is being very widely practised on all numbers of bells, but it is apparent from the correspondence lately published in your paper that many ringers are against any form of change, or any widening of the scope of ringing. The resolution in question is but another instance of this, and surely the large number of ringers who practice method splicing are entitled to know any reasons against their doing so. For if spliced experts are ruled out at the next Central Council meeting, we may expect an attempt to get spliced methods ruled out also.—Yours faithfully,
C. T. COLES.

PRESENTATION TO MR. W. JUDGE.

APPRECIATION OF SERVICES AT TACKLEY TOWER.

On Sunday evening, April 7th, an interesting function took place in the belfry of the Parish Church of Tackley, Oxon, when a presentation of a silver inkstand, in the shape of a bell, was made to Mr. William Judge, on his leaving the village for Kirtlington.

Mr. Judge had been in Tackley for seven and a half years as village blacksmith, and during that period he had given to the struggling ringers all the help he could. He came just at the time when the movement was on foot for augmenting the ring of five bells to six.

The ringers wish to tender Mr. Judge their most sincere thanks for all he has done, and they hope he will visit them during the fine weather as often as convenient.

Mr. E. F. Honour, deputy foreman, made the presentation on behalf of the ringers, and in a few words he expressed the feelings of those whom he had helped so unstintingly and brought to such a degree of success in the art of ringing, so that none can have any fear in taking a bell in a six-bell tower.

The present was supplied by Mr. T. E. Russell, of Woking, and was much admired by many.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

In cold, but pleasant weather, a general meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Whitby on Easter Monday. By the courtesy of the Rector and churchwardens, the ring of ten at the Parish Church of St. Mary were available throughout the day, and some sixty members made good and continuous use of them in a variety of methods.

A meeting of the general committee was held in the Church Vestry in the afternoon, following which tea was served at Hood's Cafe on the Marine Parade, and the business meeting was held. To the great regret of the meeting, the president (Rev. C. C. Marshall) was unable to be present, owing to clerical duties demanding his presence at Leeds. Mr. J. Cotterell was voted to the chair, and letters of apology for non-attendance were announced from Messrs. A. Walker, G. Halksworth, G. Lewis, J. Broadley, F. Clark, and J. Lawson.

An invitation having been received from Huntingdon, near York, it was agreed to hold the September meeting there.

At this juncture, the Rector of Whitby, Rev. Canon C. A. Hone, extended a hearty welcome to the association, and gave a most interesting description of the architecture of the Parish Church, which combines beauty with quaintness in its varied style.

The very kind and hearty chat was greatly appreciated, and a vote of thanks to the Rector and wardens, and the local company of Whitby for their kind arrangements, on being moved and seconded by Messrs. A. C. Fearnley and J. W. Addison respectively, was carried with acclamation.

Mr. G. F. Alexander briefly responded.

In announcing the date of the Snowdon Dinner, to be held at Sheffield on September 21st, the General Secretary urged members to do all in their power to make that gathering a success.

Further ringing brought to a close a most pleasant and successful meeting.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

FELKIRK'S FINE OLD CHURCH.

A meeting was held at Felkirk on Saturday, April 13th, when members attended from Sandal, Royston, Wath, Hoylandswaine, Shelley, and the local company. The bells commenced ringing early in the afternoon, and members arriving late had the benefit of hearing the bells at their best. The tower, standing in open country, lends itself to sound and perspective. This Felkirk Church, which sounds rather Scottish, but is not, is ancient and honoured in its varied styles of architecture. On entering the church one is struck by the sight of bases, clustered circular columns, and capitals of a Norman archway in the west end of the nave, in a design so pure, refined and chaste that it is doubtful if even the Norman work in Norwich or Durham Cathedrals can surpass it. Around and on this work has been built the present Gothic structure in Early and Late styles. It consists of nave, north and south aisles, with clerestory, porch and noble tower. In the churchyard stands an old school built in the scholastic Tudor style, quiet and unpretentious, yet from its only door have passed boys and men who have lived to uphold the good name of Felkirk. To-day it is used for meetings and other gatherings, and as a room for clergy and choir, from which they walk in solemn procession across the churchyard.

The Vicar, Rev. H. R. H. Coney, M.A., was probably the most interested person at Saturday's meeting. His eagerness to serve and care for the members was kindness itself. Service, which consisted of special and appropriate prayers and two hymns, was conducted by the Vicar, who also gave an address on the influence of bells and their great power for good.

Tea was enjoyed in the school, the Vicar presiding at the meal and at the subsequent business meeting.

The next meeting is to be held at Shelley. A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, the ladies and the local company for all arrangements so well made, was proposed by Mr. W. Keyner, who rejoiced in the all-round acknowledgment which the ringers received from the clergy, churchwardens, Church Council and Mrs. Finch.—The Vicar acknowledged the vote, and said he hoped to see the association meet again at Felkirk.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the beautiful Church of All Saints, Westbury, Wilts, on Saturday, April 6th. Ringing commenced on the glorious ring of eight (tenor 35 cwt.), cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1921, about 2.45 p.m., a new addition to the branch from Guildford, standing 6ft. 4in., raising the tenor, and continued in methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Double Norwich till 4.40 p.m., when the Guild service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. A. H. Mock), the lesson being read by the chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, and Mr. J. N. L. Jefferies being the organist.

Tea followed in the Church Institute, to which 35 sat down, including the Vicar (the Rev. E. C. Alexander, R.D.).

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. He thanked the Vicar for his efforts as Rural Dean, to get a representative of the Guild on the Bishop's Advisory Board.

Mr. H. A. Gummer, of Devizes, was elected a member of the Guild. The Chairman brought forward the question of the powers of the representatives to the Central Council, and, after discussion, a vote of confidence in the representative of the branch, Mr. S. Hillier, was passed, the same to be noted in the minutes.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the curate for conducting the service, to the organist, and to those who prepared the tea.—The Vicar, in reply, said he was pleased to welcome the branch to Westbury, and explained what he had done towards getting a representative on the Advisory Board. He hoped that the Guild would persevere until there was someone put on the board.

This concluded the business.

Ringers were present from Westbury, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Bratton, Buckhorn Weston, Chippenham, North Bradley, Swindon, Weston, Mere, Melksham, Warminster and Trowbridge. Touches of Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent, Cambridge and Double Norwich were rung during the afternoon and evening.

North Bradley and Bromham were suggested for the next two meetings.

In 'Highways and Byways of Wiltshire,' Edward Hutton, writing of Westbury, says: 'The church is a noble building, dedicated in honour of All Saints. It is a cruciform building, with fine central perpendicular tower, consisting of clerestoried nave of four bays, with aisles, and north chapel (this is the Penleigh or Becket Chapel, now the baptistry), and north and south transepts, chancel with north and south chapels, and two porches. . . . The south chancel chapel (now the Lady Chapel) is that of the Willoughbys. The north chancel chapel (now the vestry and organ chamber) is that of the Mandits. But whose is the recessed tomb in the south transept? Perhaps a Pavely lies there. The Caroline monument there, with effigies, is that of Sir James Ley, who became Earl of Marlborough, and of his wife.'

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting was held at Pontypridd on Saturday last. The bells, a sweet, light ring of eight by Taylor, were made good use of during the afternoon, various methods being rung by members who mustered well from both Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire. Among the visitors was Mr. W. Knight, of St. Stephen's, Bristol. The Vicar (Rev. Parry-Pryce) officiated at the service, assisted by his curate. Then followed tea, which had been generously provided in the adjoining Church Room. The subsequent business meeting was presided over by the Vicar.

At the outset, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. J. W. Jones) mentioned that since the last meeting four of the members had died, including the first Master of the association, Mr. Evan Davies, of Caerleon, Mr. H. Morgan, of Newport, Mr. A. J. Harford, of Bedwas, and a life member, Mr. Joe Sykes, of Huddersfield. As a last tribute of respect, all stood in silence for a few moments.

Instructors' reports were received, and under the heading on the agenda of 'Augmentations and restorations,' the Hon. Secretary announced that it was proposed to instal a new peal of eight bells in the beautiful church tower at Ebbw Vale, Mon.—A grant of £5 was made to the fund.

A letter was read from Mr. E. Guise, hon. secretary of the Bristol United Guild with reference to the Ringers' Directory, as issued by the Bristol United Guilds. A discussion followed, and it was resolved that the letter be received.

No resolution was passed in regard to the Central Council's agenda for the Whitsun meeting.

New members were elected, including seven from Pontypridd.

It was decided to hold the next Glamorgan meeting at Llantrisant. The next Monmouthshire meeting is to be held at Monmouth.

The usual vote of thanks concluded the business, and the bells were then rung until late in the evening, bringing to a close a very pleasant and successful gathering.

DEATH OF MR. R. TOMPSON, EALING.

Ealing ringers and Middlesex ringers generally have sustained a very real loss in the death of Mr. R. Tompson. Born at Chepstow in 1874, he started ringing at a very early age at St. Mary's Parish Church, Chepstow, where he was, for a great many years, foreman of the tower. While there he rang peals in many methods, including Surprise, in most parts of the West Country before coming to Ealing about five years ago, where he had endeared himself to all. He was a most capable conductor.

The ringers of Ealing highly appreciate the kindly remarks made by the Vicar of Ealing (the Rev. C. J. Sharpe) in the pulpit on Sunday evening, when he said how great a loss the Church had sustained by the death of Mr. Tompson, who was always at his post for service ringing to call the people to church. He had been 'called away,' and that on his silver wedding day, to a higher post. He was taken suddenly ill on April 3rd, and died on April 4th from an internal complaint for which he was too ill to be operated on. The sympathy of all would go out to his wife, son and daughter in their great loss.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire, with bells half-muffled, was rung at St. Stephen's, West Ealing, on Sunday morning, in 49 mins.: H. Folkard 1, J. E. Churchill 2, M. Stacey 3, H. Belcher (conductor) 4, H. J. Hunnisett 5, P. E. Clark 6, E. Harris 7, J. H. Hunnisett 8. And in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, also half-muffled, was rung at St. Mary's, Ealing, in 53 mins.: P. E. Clark 1, J. E. Walsom 2, J. E. Churchill 3, H. J. Hunnisett 4, A. Harding 5, M. Stacey 6, J. H. Hunnisett (conductor) 7, E. Harris 8.

DEATH OF MR. ARCHIE BREARLEY.

The Sheffield and District Society regret to announce the loss to the Exercise by the death of Mr. Archie Brearley, who died at his home, Wood Royd, Deepcar, on March 27th. Eldest son of the late Mr. David Brearley, he followed his father's business of builder and monumental sculptor, many examples of their skill being evident on every hand. He was a well-known ringer, and had taken part in nearly a hundred peals, and ringing contests.

His interment took place on Saturday, March 30th, at Bolsterstone Churchyard and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. The service in church which was conducted by the Rev. — Mason, Rector of Bolsterstone, was very impressive, the choir and organist being present. Among the hymns were 'Abide with me.' After the committal, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by Messrs. J. Thorpe, G. Lewis, B. Harrison and S. F. Palmer. Ringing also took place on the tower bells, which were deeply muffled, before and after the interment, but various circumstances prevented a peal being attempted. A touch of 1,440 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 52 mins. by: A. P. Knights 1, J. A. Helliwell 2, W. A. Wooler 3, J. Thorpe (conductor) 4, M. Wilson 5, R. Harrison 6, J. A. Brearley 7, S. F. Palmer 8. Other ringing was taken part in by members from Bradfield, Wortley, the Cathedral and St. Marie's, Sheffield, Ecclesfield and Conisborough.

ST. MARTIN'S BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In reference to the letter in your last issue re 'the broad-casting of St. Martin's bells,' I wish to state that on my Mullahard 'Master Three' set the bells came through splendidly, mellow and clear. The striking was good, too. It is a beautiful peal of twelve. I was fortunately able to get to the dedication service, and had a pull, and was very pleased with the 'go.' The recast bells are a great credit to the firm of Mears and Stainbank.—Yours faithfully, W. EVETTS, Jun.

THE METHODS COMMITTEE'S CHALLENGE

The report of the Methods Committee, which is to be presented to the Central Council at Chelmsford, is printed on another page and from this it will be seen that the committee hope to induce the Council to give countenance to peals of Minor and Doubles which, judging from the trend of opinion expressed both in these columns and elsewhere, are contrary to the desires of the mass of the Exercise. The report is a bit of special pleading for the admission, in an official publication, of compositions which ringers of wide experience have bluntly denounced as 'false,' and which, if admitted, will open the door to questionable practices in peal ringing and will moreover set one standard for peals on five and six bells and another for peals on higher numbers. It is difficult to reconcile some of the committee's arguments with some of their previous individual statements. One fact, however, emerges. The committee want the Council to admit as a peal of Minor any composition in which each of the 720 rows appears only seven times, no matter how often any row or any block of rows appears within the limits of any one 720. One is almost tempted to ask, 'What is behind this endeavour?' The report remarks that the contention that Mr. Bankes James' composition of Cambridge cannot be accepted on the ground that the 720's are true if rounds be counted as the first row, because 'it is contrary to the tradition and usage of the Exercise.' If that be so, how much more contrary to the tradition and usage of the Exercise is it to permit six-scores or 720's in which there are repetitions?

Before the Council adopts this report the Council must decide the principle of what is in future to be recognised as a true peal. The report would make it impossible for the Exercise to accept Mr. Bankes James' Cambridge as a peal if it is not prepared also to swallow Mr. Law James' London or Mr. Morris' Grandsire Doubles, and we imagine that there are a large number of ringers who, in those circumstances, will echo Mr. W. H. Barber's candidly expressed views and say, 'Scrap the lot.' There should be no juggling with truth, whether the peal be on six bells or any other number, and the plain question which the Council has got to decide, in answer to the challenge of the Methods Committee, is whether it will adhere to 'the tradition and usage of the Exercise' and insist upon the 'extent' of a method as the unit of truth, or whether it will be content to recognise anything, no matter what happens internally so long as in a peal of Minor each row appears only seven times (or in Doubles 42 times) and the ringing ends with rounds.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

This association held the second meeting of the year at Tuxford, on Saturday week. It was well attended by members from Anston, North Collingham, Gamston, Ordsall, Orston, Shireoaks, East Markham, Sutton-on-Trent, Treeton, Edwinstowe, Tickhill, Lincoln, Branston and Workop, with one or two of the local company. The six bells are a beautiful ring (tenor 11½ cwt.), noted for their purity and sweetness of tone. They run on ball bearings, and are easy to manipulate. The 33 ringers who assembled found everything in readiness, thanks to the capable arrangements made by Mr. J. H. Smith, the local captain and committeeman. Commencing at 2.30 p.m., the bells were kept in constant motion till 9 p.m. (except during interval for the tea and meeting), to the methods of Plain Bob, Oxford, Kent, Oxford Bob, Double Oxford, Sandal, Cambridge and London Surprise, five lady ringers taking part in the performance. Tea was provided in two sittings (through no fault of the caterers).

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson presided over the business meeting which followed, supported by the hon. secretary, Rev. C. J. Sturton (Vicar of Orston), Mr. H. Cafferatta, etc.

The Hon. Secretary made allusion to the passing of Mr. Benjamin Hall, of Shireoaks, who had been a member for nearly 40 years, and the company stood in silence to honour his memory and as a tribute to the bereaved family.

The following were duly elected as efficient performers: Harry Edwards, of Sutton-on-Trent, Leslie Bailey, of East Markham, George Rich, of Gamston.

The next meeting will be the annual general meeting held at East Retford, at the latter end of May or early in June, and will be advertised as usual in 'The Ringing World.'

A vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman for presiding over the meeting in the absence of the Rev. Walter Smith, Vicar of Tuxford, to whom the secretary was requested to send a letter of sympathy in his illness, with best wishes for his convalescence and thanks for the use of the bells. Votes of thanks were also passed to the caterers, and the chairman briefly replied. Another red-letter day in the annals of ringing at Tuxford ended at 9 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

WALSALL'S NEW BELLS.

BIG GATHERING AT RINGERS' DAY.

The spring meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at the fine old Church of St. Matthew, Walsall, on Saturday, April 13th. The chief attraction of the crowd (a record attendance at a quarterly meeting of this society) was to hear the excellent ring of twelve bells recently installed by Messrs Taylor and Co., of the Loughborough Foundry, and the occasion was made a 'Ringers' Day.'

Visitors arrived from Birmingham, Leicester, Worcester, and from most of the affiliated towers in the Archdeaconry, and many were the expressions of admiration of the tone of the bells, which were kept going from three o'clock until 4.45, when a short service was held in the church, with an inspiring address by the Rev. Preb. B. F. Relton, M.A., R.D. (Vicar).

A party of 130 sat down to a capital tea in the Brotherhood Institute, presided over by the Vicar, who was supported by the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th. (clerical secretary and treasurer of the society), Messrs. M. F. Harrison and T. A. Smith (wardens), F. H. Blanchard and F. F. Harrison (wardens for the foreign), D. Taylor, J. Oldham and C. Harrison, of Loughborough, T. Groves, Lieut. W. F. Halls-worth, and other notabilities too numerous to mention.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and his nice address, and to someone for the splendid tea, was moved by the Rev. C. H. Barker and carried with applause. The Vicar replied, and gave a welcome to the visitors, remarking that he, too, was unaware of the donors of the tea. He therefore called on Mr. T. J. Elton (captain of the local band) to enlighten them, but it was evidently to be kept a secret, as no solution was forthcoming. The tea was admirably arranged by Mr. S. Price (verger) and Mrs. Price, who were assisted by the wives and friends of the local ringers, to whom thanks are due.

Mr. D. Taylor, bellfounder, expressed his thanks for the appreciative remarks made about the new peal, and declared it to be the finest possible for the weight.

St. Matthew's handbell ringers gave several selections under the conductorship of Mr. T. J. Elton.

The following has been copied from some old records: 'Among list of ornaments, etc., confiscated by Edward VI. in 1553 from Walsall Parish Church, one sacrynge bell, a sancte bell and four other bells. These were not confiscated on the ground of any change of ritual, but merely for pecuniary reasons to benefit the Royal Exchequer.'

As will be seen from the following inscriptions, the original peal of eight was cast by Thomas Rudhall, of Gloucester, in 1775, and they were augmented ten by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1863.

Treble.—This Peal was recast, rebung, and augmented to twelve bells in 1928 by John Taylor and Co., Bellfounders, Loughborough. Basil F. Relton, Vicar; Thomas A. Smith, Matthew F. Harrison, Frank F. Harrison, and Frederick Blanchard, Churchwardens; Ernest H. Ingram, Mayor; Edward J. Shelley, Deputy Mayor; William Preston, Borough Member; Jeffries and Shipley, Architects.

2nd.—1928. In Memory of Henry Christopher Windle, 1860-1925.
3rd.—Rev. John Hodges Sharwood, Vicar; William Eagles and George Gilbert, jun., Churchwardens. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, 1863. Recast 1928.

4th.—This Peal of Bells was augmented to ten by the addition of two Trebles, by voluntary subscription raised through the kind exertions of David Smith Moore, Surgeon, of this Town. A.D. 1863. John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough, 1863. Recast 1928.

5th.—When you us ring we'll sweetly sing. T. R. 1775. Recast 1928.

6th.—Fear God and Honour the King. T. R. 1775. Recast 1928 in Memory of two who made the Great Sacrifice in 1917.

7th.—Prosperity to this Parish. T. R. 1775. Recast 1928 in Memory of Beaumont Cottam, 1813-1910.

8th.—Prosperity to this Parish. T. R. 1775. Recast 1928 in Memory of Matthew William Harrison, who fell in action at the Hohenzollern Redoubt, October 13th, 1915. Aged 29.

9th.—Thomas Rudhall Gloucester, Founder, 1775. Recast 1928 in Memory of Lieutenant Alfred Archibald Smith, who fell in action at Arras, April 2nd, 1916. Aged 26.

10th.—Thomas Mears and Son of London. Fecit, 1809. Recast 1928 in Memory of William Allen, Vicar of Walsall, 1871-1883.

11th.—Thomas Hector Edward Lycett, and Thomas Oerton Deykin Hemming, Churchwardens, 1775. Recast 1928.

Tenor.—I to the Church the living call and to the grave do summon all. Recast 1928.

MUFFLED BELLS

At Cirencester, Gloucester, on Thursday, April 18th, at Holy Trinity Church, Watermoor, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): F. J. Lewis, jun., 1, F. W. Bond 2, F. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 3, J. E. Waters 4, H. S. Parsons 5, H. Lewis 6, H. C. Bond 7, W. H. Hayward 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute of respect to the late Mr. W. J. Jefferies, for over twenty years chapelwarden at Holy Trinity Church, and who was in office when the bells were put in.

METHODS COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The following report of the Methods Committee is to be presented to the Central Council at its meeting at Chelmsford:—

Since the last meeting of the Council we have been engaged on the new edition of the Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods. The book would have been ready for publication before this, but for the fact that doubts have arisen in connection with certain compositions. Examples of these compositions are given further on in this Report, and we propose to include them in the book, but we think that first the Council should have the opportunity of expressing its opinion about them, if it thinks it necessary to do so.

Our reasons for including them are that we consider them to be fully in harmony with the traditions and usage of the Exercise, and we have ample evidence of their practical use to ringers. In making this statement, it will be clear from what follows that we do not wish it to be understood that these arrangements or anything just like them were rung in times past, but that they are fully in harmony with the fundamental principles of change ringing and are a logical development similar in character to the splicing of several Major methods into one peal.

We would state clearly that we consider that the first thing necessary in a peal is that it should be 'true and complete.' These words have been used in this connection by the Exercise from the earliest times, and they have an historical and definite meaning, and they express a fundamental principle of change ringing.

On seven bells 'true and complete' means that the peal contains the total number of changes without repetition, starting from and finishing with rounds, with all the work of the Method and all the Bobs and Singles properly made, and without any violation of the recognised rules of ringing. On eight bells and upwards the same holds good except that, as ringing the total number of changes becomes a physical impossibility, the number 5,000 or upwards is substituted. On five and six bells the total number of changes is less than 5,000, and obviously a peal must contain repetitions. Otherwise, the conditions stand.

When the demand of the five and six-bell ringers that their performances should be recognised as peals arose, the assumption was made that their 5,040's would consist of separate, independent extents, in other words, that each six-score or 720 would conform to the conditions laid down for a peal of Triples. (Throughout this Report we use the word 'extent' to signify a round block consisting of the whole number of changes on the number of bells with which we are concerned.) About 18 years ago, however, peals of Grand-sire Doubles were rung of which the composition was on similar lines to the following, two or more Extents being spliced into one another. A band starts ringing an Extent of Grand-sire Doubles with the 5th as half-hunt or observation bell down to the backstroke row 12435 (say). At this point a switch is made into another Extent with the 4th as half-hunt bell, and this Extent is completed, bringing the bells back to 12435, from which point the original six-score is resumed and carried to its completion.

In this arrangement we have two true and complete Extents. They are just as true and complete as two separate Extents rung consecutively, each from Rounds to Rounds, and it would be a misuse of words to call them false. The main difference is that in the spliced-in Extent the six-score runs not from Rounds to Rounds but from 12435 to 12435.

There is a popular fallacy among eight-bell ringers that this sort of thing is done simply for the glorification of the conductor, but this is by no means the case. The opportunities for variety among five-bell ringers are so few that inevitably they get to know them all by heart. Consequently ringers who could ring the ten regular Extents practically indefinitely without a false struck blow are liable to pile up immediately some small alteration in calling is made.

Then the desire of advanced ringers to score peals of Cambridge Surprise on all even numbers from six to twelve bells brought to the front the very limited number of 720's in all Treble Bob Minor Methods that do not bring up 6-5's at backstroke. It was in order to remove this intolerable blot that Mr. Bankes James introduced his arrangement. We would say that the chief reason why we think that this composition should be considered as a legitimate and natural development in peal ringing is that it has been tested by practical ringing. The fact that it is being rung by many bands in all parts of the country, and has been accepted by six-bell ringers, is, in our opinion, weighty evidence that it contains nothing out of harmony with the traditions and usage of the Exercise.

In this and similar compositions, instead of the peal being made up of separate Extents it is made up of larger blocks, in which necessarily there is repetition of rows, but the principles of Truth and Completeness are rigidly adhered to. We would point out that in any peal of Doubles or Minor every change must be repeated more than once, but this does not necessarily mean falseness, if that word is properly used.

The Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge referred to above does not consist of seven Extents. It is made up of three round blocks. One of these blocks is an ordinary Extent. The other two comprise each 2,160 changes. Each of these again is made up of three incomplete blocks. In these blocks 719 true changes are produced, but a point is reached where neither by a Plain Lead nor a Bob Lead can repetition be avoided. The three are, however, joined into one block by a Q set, either hobbled or plained, and the whole becomes a composition where both truth and completeness are adhered to, every individual row, of course, appearing three times, as it would do if three independent Extents were rung consecutively.

The claim has been made that this arrangement does really consist of seven true and complete Extents on the grounds that if we count Rounds at the start there are 720 true rows, followed by another 720 true rows, followed by yet another 720 true rows. We cannot accept this as sound argument. It is contrary to the tradition and usage of the Exercise, and contrary to the nature of change ringing, to count Rounds at the start as a change. And, apart from that, the first 720 changes do not contain the necessary quality of completeness. The justification of the arrangement lies in taking the first 2,160 changes as one round block, and we do not consider it of any particular importance (though of considerable interest) that this block appears so nearly to consist of three true and complete Extents.

Mr. Morris' arrangement of Grand-sire Doubles is of a different character to those we have already described. It consists of 240 changes. The handstroke blows produce 120 true rows, and the backstroke blows produce likewise 120 true rows. Of course, there is repetition between Handstroke and Backstroke, but no more and no less than there would be between the separate six-scores rung consecutively.

It has been objected that if once the Council recognises anything which does not consist of separate and complete Extents the door will be opened to all sorts of fantastic arrangements and the standard of peal ringing will be definitely lowered. We do not think there is any ground for such fear. The principle of Truth and Completeness is so deeply implanted in the tradition of the Exercise that it will be ample safeguard against any excess. After all it should be remembered that the Exercise preserved a high standard in these matters and kept within rigid bounds for more than two centuries before there were any definite written rules.

In conclusion, we would point out that the Exercise at large, and especially the five and six bell ringers as a whole, must be the final judge in this matter, and we confidently ask the approval of the Council to our proposal to print these Compositions and so put to the proof whether they are of permanent value or not.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS AND LIBRARY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reference to a recent letter stating that as a matter of fact the Council's publications are issued at a profit, will you be good enough to allow me to state in your column that, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the publications always stand on the Council's books at a loss (in fact, a very substantial one). But, despite this, I believe they have always been available to the Exercise at large.

I am, of course, not allowing for the unpaid services of the many skilled writers who have, in addition, contributed the subject matter.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

RAILWAY FARES.

By a clerical error it was stated in the announcement made last week that the reduced fares to Chelmsford would be at the rate of single fare and a half. The rate will be single fare and a third.

PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES.

'ROUNDS' FIRST, OR LAST?

Dear Sir,—I was pleased to see the letter in your last issue from Mr. Joyce, and congratulate both him and his friends in joining the majority who desire to see the definition of peals of Minor end with the words, Rounds shall be the last row or change. It is immaterial to me whether the word 'from' is deleted or not from the definition I gave in your issue of April 5th, so long as rounds is the last row of the peal. Now, why do I stress this point? And for an explanation I would like to refer him, and your readers, to your issue of February 22nd, where Mr. Law James is defining what a peal of Minor shall be. After explaining the various 720's, he makes use of these words: 'We have only made 5,039 changes so far. This last change brings us back to the first 123456, which is not the last row of the peal, but only the first row repeated.' So you will see, sir, that Mr. James would have six-bell ringers ring the last change first, and then go on to complete the peal. What is Mr. James' object in desiring this definition? Simply this, to accept rounds as the last row at once proves his brother's peal of Cambridge to be false, as rounds appears twice in the last 720 (as I explained in your issue of March 8th), and which Mr. James has not thought fit to challenge.

With regard to my three 720's of London, I fail to follow Mr. Joyce in his argument, but would like to point out that the 720's are set out by the course ends just the same as Major peals are, and the bobs under I. 4th. O. W. H. indicate the position of the 6th when the bob is made. Care must be taken, where two 4th's are made in one course, to call the second 4th's before the bob 'Out' is called, otherwise the second 4th's will be missing. I would advise Mr. Joyce and other six-bell conductors, when conducting 720's of Minor with more than nine bobs, to adopt this plan—sound advice with forty years' experience behind it. By doing so, they will be able to memorise the calling much easier.—Yours truly, Killamarsh.

C. SEVERN.

AN ARGUMENT OVERDONE.

Dear Sir,—As Mr. Wood invites criticism of his suggestions, re the settlement of the question of peals of Minor, perhaps you will allow me to remark on his suggestion No. 4. Firstly, is Cambridge Minor any more exceptional than many of the other Surprise Minor methods? I submit not. Secondly, it is possible to ring seven complete 720's of Cambridge with varied callings, and each coming round in the ordinary way, without 6-5's at backstroke. I allow that some of the 720's would be variations of the others, and in this respect not equal to the Rev. E. B. James' peal.

While on this subject, is not the question of 6-5's at backstroke being slightly overdone? If not, the first eleven Surprise methods might as well be consigned to the waste-paper basket.—Yours faithfully,
Newton, Cambridge,

C. W. COOK.

SIX-BELL BAND'S ENDORSEMENT.

Dear Sir,—With regard to the Minor and Doubles controversy, we of the Lamberhurst band would like to endorse Mr. Joyce's letter in this week's issue of 'The Ringing World.'—Yours truly,
A. H. SMITH.

EAST HERTS MEETING AT BRAUGHING.

This old-world village was visited on Saturday week by the Eastern Branch of the Herts County Association. A very enjoyable time was spent by those who braved the uninviting weather, and the fine toned bells were kept busy.

The Vicar welcomed those who gathered, and gave a helpful address in church, and afterwards visited the tower.

Braughing was in past years a favourite place for Squire Proctor to visit, and was also renowned for its famous band of Bob Major ringers, as the peal tablets testify. The bells are a very musical octave with a tenor of 19 cwt.

LIFTON CHURCH BELLS.

APPEAL FOR RESTORATION FUND.

The bells, framework, etc., in the tower of St. Mary's Church, Lifton, Devon, have been examined by experts during the past twelve months, and several defects have been found. The bells, a ring of eight, with 23 cwt. tenor, were placed in the tower by Messrs. Taylor and Co. a hundred years ago, and have been in constant use ever since. They are now in a very unsatisfactory state, and the proper ringing of them presents a very difficult and arduous task. Also, the bells are rather out of tune. The chief causes are two defective supporting beams, weakness of frame joints, and inadequate bracing in the construction of the frame; bell fittings showing bad signs of wear in gudgeons, bearings and clappers. The bells require to be quarter turned, etc., in order to make the clappers strike true, and the whole system requires to be overhauled.

Estimates have been considered, and the Parochial Church Council have decided to place the work in the hands of Messrs. Taylor, Loughborough, the original makers and hangers. To defray the cost of this work approximately £300 is required, and the Council would like to raise as much as possible of this amount by voluntary donations. An appeal is therefore made to ringers as well as to parishioners to subscribe to this fund as liberally as they are able, and contributions will be heartily welcomed and gratefully received by the Rector (Rev. G. F. Newman) or E. Ball, hon. secretary, P.C.C., and treasurer, Bell Fund.

WEDDING BELLS.

A pretty wedding took place at St. James' Parish Church, Bratton, Wilts, on Easter Monday, between Herbert Jack, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Smith, of Bratton, and Gwendoline Julia, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Chapman, of Westbury. The Vicar, the Rev. S. Collett, conducted the service and the hymns, 'The Voice that breathed o'er Eden' and 'O Perfect Love,' were sung. Miss Hobbs presided at the organ and played the Wedding March. The reception was held in the Jubilee Hall, and nearly 70 guests sat down to the wedding breakfast. The bride and bridegroom were recipients of a large number of useful presents.

The bridegroom is a regular ringer at Bratton, and before ringing commenced for matins on Easter Day the Vicar, with a few chosen remarks, presented him with a silver-plated butter dish and knife, which had been subscribed for by his fellow-ringers. The bride's father is a respected member of the Westbury ringers, and her brother is also a regular ringer at Bratton. After the ceremony on Easter Monday, touches of Grandsire Doubles were rung, the ringers being afterwards entertained to refreshments by the bridegroom's father and mother (Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Smith).

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Any of our readers requiring part-time employment may be interested in the following advertisement: 'Second Verger required for Sherborne Abbey.—For particulars, apply to Hon. Secretary, Parochial Church Council, "Lona," Coldharbour, Sherborne, Dorset.'

The famous peal of eight bells at the Abbey offer a great opening for the energies of a keen ringer on the church staff.

Miss D. E. Lewis, of Chilvers Coton, was elected as general secretary of the Warwickshire Guild on Saturday. This is a distinction which few, if any ladies, have before attained. Although several have been elected as district secretaries, we cannot recall the appointment of any lady as general secretary of a guild or association, except, of course, the Ladies' Guild itself.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at Manchester Cathedral on Saturday was rung in place of the one in May, 1927, which afterwards turned out to be false. It was by the same composer, Mr. B. Thorp, who was also the conductor, and he expresses his apologies to the band who rang in the earlier peal.

Mr. John Hoyle informs us that there is still one survivor of the peal rung at Epsom on April 23rd, 1869, by four fathers and four sons. This is Mr. George Sayer, the junior of 60 years ago, who was the conductor of the peal. The old gentleman is living at Ashted, Surrey.

The first peal of Bob Major was rung at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, on April 26th, 1725, by a band of College Youths.

The famous peal of 15,840 Kent Treble Bob Major at Bethnal Green was rung on April 27th, 1868, in 9 hrs. 12 mins. Ted Horrex was the last survivor of this band, which included several of the renowned London ringers of the last half of the nineteenth century.

The first time a band rang three Surprise peals in a day was on April 27th, 1901, when the St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, company scored Superlative, Cambridge and London.

The 12,896 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung by the Midland Counties Association at Stoney Stanton on April 28th, 1923.

Next Thursday is the anniversary of the first peal of which there is an authentic record—Grandsire Bob Triples at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on May 2nd, 1715.

The ringer of the 4th in the peal of Double Oxford at Port Sunlight, on April 13th, and published last week, was Ralph G. Edwards, and not G. Ronald Edwards, who rang the 7th. To ring both 4th and 7th would have been a somewhat difficult proposition.

METHOD SPLICING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As Mr. Coles asks whether there were any reasons advanced against method splicing at the annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild, I can only say that we had a good representative meeting with our best ringers present, and that a number spoke against it and no one in favour. There was one who voted against the motion, but he did not say anything in favour of splicing, but, as it was so widely practised, he thought we ought not to seem to disparage it. Everyone seems to have a different reason for not supporting splicing, but as no record was kept it would not be safe to say more than that it seemed to be the general opinion that if we started to ring a method we should ring it and not change to something else before concluding. My own reason was that the theory we ring by is that we must keep to one method in what we ring, varied by two kinds of calls, and only two. To have a third kind of call breaks this principle in one way; to splice in another method or methods breaks it in another way, and a broken principle is an unsound principle. You cannot rely on it; it will not bear any weight of argument.

The line we took up was that we do not want to ring spliced methods ourselves, but we do not want to hinder others who wish to do so. Only if rules, or theories, or principles are to be broken or strained to allow of the splicing of methods, much more should the splicing of extents be allowed. The latter is interesting to the ordinary ringer, and is good practice, while the former only concerns advanced men. This point is especially telling in a diocese where there are so many five-bell towers as there are in Suffolk.

HERBERT DRAKE.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATION.

On Saturday, April 13th, ringers from Norton-le-Moors, Cheadle, and the local band met at Kingsley Parish Church to ring in honour of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. Carnwell. A 720 of Cambridge and touches of London, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob were rung, after which, at Sunny Side, Host and Hostess Carnwell provided a real wedding feast, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Carnwell gave everyone a hearty welcome, which was acknowledged by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon. Tea over, a move was made for the tower, where a well-struck quarter-peal was rung for the occasion, consisting of 240 York, 240 London, 240 Cambridge, 240 Violet, 120 Woodbine, 216 Kent, by the following: J. Barker 1, J. Beresford 2, W. Carnwell 3, H. Carnwell (conductor) 4, J. E. Wheeldon 5, A. W. Hall 6.

MORE CROYDON CARILLONS.

WORLD'S LARGEST BELL ORDER FOR MESSRS. GILLET AND JOHNSTON.

THE WELLINGTON CARILLON.

The first carillon for New Zealand, which has been cast at the Croydon Bell Foundry and is to be erected at Wellington, is a memorial to the men and women of New Zealand who gave their lives in the Great War. The carillon has been given by individuals or groups of people, and will be one of the most important in the world. It consists of 49 bells, covering four and a quarter chromatic octaves, the bass bell being five tons in weight. Each bell has an inscription bearing the name of some battleground or engagement of the war, whose names have now become household words, such as 'The Somme,' 'Jutland,' 'Gallipoli,' 'Ypres,' 'Anzac,' 'Delville Wood,' 'Hill 60,' etc. Some are dedicated to individuals, others to the memory of military units, such as that of the 5th (Wellington) Regt., 'The Nurses' Bell' (dedicated to the nurses and V.A.D.'s who made the supreme sacrifice), the officers and men of the medical service, members of Government departments, the Royal Navy and the Merchant Service, the New Zealand Mounted Rifles, the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps, the New Zealand Division, and the men of Wellington City and suburbs. Five of the bells bear badges, or symbols, and not only are they extremely fine examples of the founder's craft in their appearance, but as an instrument the carillon is one of the finest ever built. The tuning and tone has been pronounced exceptionally fine by no less an authority than Dr. Sydney Nicholson, warden and founder of the School of English Church Music, and late organist at Westminster Abbey, who has especially commended the excellence of the small bells, the lightest of which weighs only 9 lbs.

In the construction of the carillon there is the usual clavier for hand operation, the lowest 25 keys being attached to pedals as well as to the manuals. In addition the firm's patent electro-pneumatic mechanism is attached, and has a dual function. One connects an ivory keyboard, similar to that of a piano, which can be fixed in any part of the tower for use by a musician, who is not necessarily a carillonneur, and the other operates a paper band machine, on the principle of the pianola, whereby tunes, specially arranged for carillon music, are played—the mechanism being released by a clock at any intervals desired in the day. The machine will be equipped initially to play twelve tunes in this way, but other music will be added from time to time. There is no limit to the selection, but each tune has to be arranged specially to suit bell music.

The frame weighs 34 tons, and is constructed to carry 53 bells eventually, as the intention is to add four lower bells, the largest to weigh ten tons.

A formal inspection of the bells by the High Commissioner of New Zealand (the Rt. Hon. Sir James Parr, K.C.M.G.), was made at the Croydon Foundry, as briefly reported in our last issue. There was a large number of guests, who were received by the genial head of the firm, Mr. C. F. Johnston, and they had the opportunity of hearing the fine qualities of the carillon, played by Mr. Clifford Ball, of Bournemouth, and Miss Nora Johnston.

In the foundry the visitors saw the casting of bells for a carillon in Holland and many other interesting things connected with the making and tuning of bells.

Before adjourning for tea, Mr. Johnston referred to the occasion as 'Dominion,' and especially 'New Zealand,' day at the foundry. He reminded the company that all the big bell orders for different parts of the world were being carried out in England, and the furthest point from these shores which would have a carillon was Wellington. He referred to the many interesting points about the new bells, and to the fact that this carillon would be shipped in a fortnight and be in New Zealand long before the tower to receive them was completed—in fact, the architect had not yet been appointed.

Sir James Parr complimented the firm on proving the fallacy of the idea that a British manufacturer always wanted about three years to complete an order. There was under consideration a suggestion that the bells should first go to an exhibition in North-East England for six months. Sir James expressed cordial sentiments on behalf of New Zealand, particularly on the fact that the bells were British, and gave interesting information about the destination of the carillon.

CHICAGO'S RECORD ORDER. SIXTY-FOUR BELLS.

Speaking at the New Zealand gathering at the Croydon Bell Foundry, Mr. Cyril Johnston was able to announce that his firm had obtained the largest contract for bells ever placed in one order. Addressing his guests, he said: I would like to tell you a dead secret—at least it has been one until this moment. It concerns the University of Chicago, which is a good example of the scale upon which educational life is carried on in America. At Chicago the University pursues a peaceful existence some eight miles from the 'City of Gunmen' and roaring traffic. There are 800 professors attempting to instil learning into 6,500 undergraduates in 75 buildings. The newest building is the beautiful Gothic Chapel by the famous architect, Goodhue, of New York. Arising from it is a massive tower, 210 feet high, and dominating the whole neighbourhood. In that tower will be placed a great carillon of 64 bells, the boudon (or largest) weighing 17 tons, and one of the two largest clocks in existence will chime quarters and strike the hours. This, the largest order for bells ever placed at one and the same time, has been placed with this firm, and here is the cable authorising the announcement.

DERRY CATHEDRAL BELLS. AN ULSTER RESTORATION.

On Friday week another interesting gathering took place at the Croydon Foundry, where, in the presence of the Dean of Derry (the Very Rev. R. G. S. King) and members of the Honourable Irish Society including Sir Louis A. Newton (governor), the 31 cwt. tenor bell for Derry Cathedral was recast. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are recasting the whole peal of ten with three additional semi-tones for tune playing, and the whole is to be rehung in a new metal frame, with new fittings throughout. The total estimated weight of the thirteen bells is 146 cwt.

St. Colomb's Cathedral, Derry, was completed in 1633, and it was recorded on the tenor bell of the old peal of eight, which were recast in 1812, that 'the five larger bells were presented to the City of Londonderry by King Charles I. in 1638.' Another was given by the citizens of the town in 1671, and two by the Honourable the Irish Society in 1630. When the bells were recast in the early 19th century the old inscriptions were not preserved on them, but these are being restored on the new ring of ten. The recast tenor bears the inscription: 'Glory to God in the Highest. The Honourable the Irish Society of London, Founders of this Cathedral and Donors of its two most ancient bells, gave me A.D. 1928. Colonel Sir Louis A. Newton, Bart., Alderman, Governor, Frederick Whittingham, C.C., Deputy Governor, Leslie C. Landragin, Secretary.'

The visitors, prior to the casting of the bell, were received by Mr. C. F. Johnston and shown the many interesting things to be seen in the works, including the Wellington carillon, upon which a recital was afterwards given by Mr. W. E. Jordan, the Loughborough borough carillonneur.

At the casting of the tenor, the Dean of Derry and Sir Louis Newton threw silver coins into the molten metal as it was poured into the mould.

When the second bell was recast, the 7th in the peal, given as a memorial to Sir John Macfarland, Major Ronald Ross, the present M.P., and Canon Pat. McCormick, grandson of a past M.P., also dropped coins into the molten metal.

When the sixth bell, originally given by Charles I. in 1638, was recast, Lady Clanmorris and Mrs. Ronald Ross threw in pieces of silver.

An amusing little incident delayed the proceedings for a minute as the ladies came up on to the platform without their purses, and instantly the eager hands of a number of Ulster folk were reached forward with coins to supply the deficiency.

The three semi-tone bells are hung 'dead' and will be used only for tune ringing.

DERRY CATHEDRAL.

DUNMOW RINGERS' FESTIVAL.

The Dunmow ringers held their annual ringing festival on April 13th, when about 40 ringers were present from Braintree, Maldon, Greenstead Green, Bardfield, Stebbing, Springfield, Romford, Brentwood, and Great Easton. During the afternoon a service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. N. Mellishe, V.C.), assisted by Rev. P. E. T. Widdington, Rector of Great Easton. A party of about fifty were entertained by the ringers, their wives and other friends in St. Mary's Room, the Vicar presiding, supported by the Rev. P. E. T. Widdington, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) and Col. Gibbons.

Touques were rung on the handbells, but, unfortunately, the gentlemen who had arranged a few songs were ill. Otherwise, a very enjoyable evening was spent.

The Vicar, on behalf of the ringers, welcomed the visitors to Dunmow.—Mr. Howard responded by thanking the Vicar for the use of the bells, also Mr. Sanders (the organist) and the various ladies for their work in providing the tea. They were all very pleased to come to Dunmow, where they were always so well received, and where there were such a splendid peal of bells. He was also very pleased they had carried out the scheme he had advised in having a thorough job made of the bells, and by having such a reputable firm as Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. to carry it out. The bell founders completed their task to everybody's satisfaction, and the bells still went as well as they did the day they were opened. He was very glad to see a number of visitors present, as it gave the ringers and the association a great deal of encouragement in their work.

During the afternoon and evening various touches were rung, including Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandisire Triples.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION ENTERTAIN OXFORD GUILD JOINT GATHERING AT HILLINGDON.

A successful joint meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at St. John's, Hillingdon, on Saturday, and was attended by a company of over sixty. Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (Ringing Master) was in charge of the ringing, the feature of which was that only ten-bell methods were practised, hence its success, as a number of members from both Guilds had, to their delight, an opportunity of having a pull on ten bells for the first time, if only in rounds.

A service was conducted by the Rev. W. J. Monies, the 'Ringers' Manual' being used. Mr. R. Williams was the organist, and six choir boys assisted greatly to make the service bright and musical.

The party afterwards adjourned to the Church Hall, where Mrs. F. W. Goodfellow (hostess) and her willing assistants had tea waiting. The Vicar (the Rev. H. J. Kitcat) presided, supported by the Rev. W. J. Monies, Mr. G. H. Nevill (churchwarden), Mr. A. D. Barker (hon. secretary and treasurer of the Oxford Branch) and Mrs. Barker, Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow, J. A. Trollope (hon. treasurer), Mr. W. H. Hollier (hon. secretary of the South and West District), and Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president of the North and East District), Mr. F. Corke (Ringing Master), etc.

The Vicar, who welcomed the Oxford Guild to Hillingdon on behalf of himself and the Middlesex County Association, said what a great pleasure it was to him to see so many present from the surrounding districts. He wished them every success, and said he would be delighted to welcome them there again on any future occasion. Mr. Trollope and Mr. Pickworth further extended the welcome.—Mr. Barker, on behalf of the Oxford Guild, said what pleasure it had been to accept the invitation, as it enabled them to have an opportunity of practising on ten bells, and, furthermore, it indicated the brotherly spirit that existed between the two Guilds.

As a last tribute of respect to Mr. W. Stagg, Mr. R. Thompson and Mr. J. F. Stilwell, who had passed away since our last meeting, the Hon. Secretary asked the company to stand in silence with bowed heads. This was done, and the Vicar offered an appropriate prayer.

Handbell ringing by Messrs. G. Cross, A. D. Barker, W. Gutteridge, C. W. Roberts, W. Hewitt and others, and tune ringing by Mr. and Mrs. Barker and members of the Oxford Guild were greatly appreciated.

Other well-known ringers present were Messrs. A. W. Coles, G. Martin, W. Welling, W. Henley, J. R. Mackman, R. Bullen, R. Wingrove, G. Gutteridge, G. Gilbert, etc.

Mr. Nevill (churchwarden) was elected hon. member, and votes of thanks were accorded to the clergy, organist, choir boys, Mrs. Goodfellow and her assistants, also to Mr. Fred Goodfellow, Mr. J. J. Pratt, and all who assisted in making the meeting such a great success.

The 'return visit' of the Guildford Diocesan Guild to the Middlesex Association will take place at Sunbury on Saturday, June 8th.

LADY RINGER MARRIED.

Bagshot Church, Surrey, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, when Miss Mabel A. Nye, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Nye, of Lynhurst, Bagshot, was married to Mr. Victor Welton, eldest son of Mrs. Welton, of Dulwich. The bride's father has been for many years one of the most enthusiastic ringers in the district, and the bride herself proved an apt pupil in the belfry. As a teacher in the day and Sunday Schools and an active participator in the social activities in the district, Miss Nye is extremely popular, and a large congregation of well-wishers assembled to witness the ceremony, which was performed by her uncle, the Rev. A. V. Nye, Vicar of Brightmet, Bolton, Lancs. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a charming dress of white georgette, trimmed with pearls, and a veil with a wreath of orange blossom. She carried a sheaf of Madonna lilies. Three sisters of the bridegroom acted as bridesmaids, and they were attired in powder blue chepo-de-chine dresses. Mr. F. Nye, jun., was best man. The hymns, 'Lead us, Heavenly Father,' and 'O Perfect Love,' were sung in the service, at the conclusion of which the bells were merrily rung by the local ringers, and as the happy couple left the church the organist played Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March.'

A large number of guests, including many ringers, attended the subsequent reception at the Parish Hall, and, when Mr. and Mrs. Welton left for their honeymoon in the Isle of Wight, they departed to the sound of the bells, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples being rung by: Mrs. Hazelden (Guildford) 1, J. S. Goldsmith (Woking) 2, B. Hawkins (York Town) 3, H. J. Chaffer (Ottershaw) 4, W. Melville (Guildford) 5, F. Nye (Bagshot) 6, C. Hazelden (Guildford) (conductor) 7, H. Hunt (Bagshot) 8.

The large number of presents which the bride and bridegroom received was testimony to the esteem in which they are both held. There were gifts from the Vicar, superintendent and scholars of the Sunday School, the master, teachers and pupils of the Day School, the Vicar, churchwardens and ringers of Bagshot, the Tennis Club, the Cricket Club (of which Mr. Welton is secretary), as well as from individual ringing and other friends.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.A HAPPY LITTLE MEETING AT CHRIST CHURCH, EPSOM.

Although only fourteen ringers attended a meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Christ Church, Epsom, on Saturday last, methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Major were rung, and everybody was happy. The towers represented were Leatherhead, Epsom (St. Martin's), Banstead, Ewell and Newdigate, and those present included the general secretary of the Surrey Association (Mr. Chas. H. Kippin) and the secretary of the Central District of the same association (Mr. Daniel Cooper). In the absence of the Vicar, the service was conducted by the priest-in-charge, the Rev. H. Hamilton Maughan, who took as his text, 'We will make a joyful noise unto the God of Jacob.' We thought his text singularly appropriate. A 'joyful noise' is a good term to apply to the average ringing at meetings (this particular meeting, of course, excepted). In the course of his address, the Rev. Maughan welcomed the Guild to Christ Church, and said how pleased he was to find that the bellringers in the Guildford Diocese had formed themselves into 'a definitely religious brotherhood.' In the course of his journeyings about the country he had come across bands of ringers who would ring the bells for a service and then go to the nearest public-house, and he was therefore pleased to meet a Guild of bellringers who never did that sort of thing.

Some of us wondered how we had earned such a distinction. We all felt very good. It was nice to be told that we were not as other men are. The Guildford Diocesan Guild has reason to be proud of such members.

Immediately after tea, the Rev. Maughan had to leave, but before doing so expressed his pleasure in being able to serve the Guild in any way, and, on behalf of the Vicar, said he hoped we would enjoy our visit and come again. This was all the more welcome in view of the fact that Christ Church, Epsom, is one of the very few towers possessing peals of bells in the diocese which have not yet become affiliated to the Guild.—On the proposition of the district secretary, seconded by Mr. G. Marriener, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Maughan for his kindness and hospitality. This was carried with acclamation.

At the business meeting which followed, the following new ringing members were elected: Miss J. M. E. Cottrell, Mr. C. A. Read, Miss H. I. Port, and Rev. C. F. T. Willis, of Dorking, and Mr. William Robinson, of Christ Church, Epsom. The following belfry elections were also confirmed: Mr. R. Chapell, of Dorking, elected as a ringing member prior to an attempt for a peal at Rammore, and Mr. R. H. Dove, of Thornton Heath, elected as a compounding member prior to a peal at Banstead.

The District Secretary (Mr. F. G. Woodiss) briefly explained the circumstances which compelled him to relinquish his duties at so short a notice, as reported in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' and which made it necessary for them to find a successor immediately—a successor who could be relied upon to carry out his duties efficiently and well. He was pleased to be in a position to inform the meeting that the district committee had succeeded in finding such a man in Mr. Alan R. Pink, of Dorking. Mr. Pink had consented to serve them at the sacrifice of other claims upon his time and leisure, and in proposing him as his successor, the District Secretary said he hoped they would give Mr. Pink the same wholehearted support as they had given him.—This was seconded by the Chairman (Mr. A. Harman), and carried unanimously.—The usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting.

During the ringing in the evening, several members commented upon the fact that the 'go' of the bells was much worse than usual. Examination revealed the fact that the fittings were in a precarious condition, and that this peal of bells, which have been regarded for the last thirty years as ideal for peal ringing, needed the immediate attention of the bell hanger if serious damage was to be avoided. Plans were made to inform the proper authorities. F. G. W.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The spring meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Swindon Village on Saturday, April 13th. The uneven hexagonal tower contains a peal of five bells (tenor about 12 cwt.), all of which go well.

Owing to the illness of the Rector, the chairman of the branch (Rev. A. D. Pennington) conducted the service, the lesson being read by Mr. G. A. Nock (Elkstone). After service, the members adjourned to the school, where a splendid tea, generously provided by the Rector, was awaiting them.

The business meeting, followed with the Rev. A. D. Pennington in the chair, supported by Mr. W. Zeend (churchwarden), Mr. G. A. Nock, Mr. W. Wakeford (secretary, Tewkesbury Branch) and over thirty members representing Prestbury, Cheltenham (St. Mary's and St. Mark's), Leckhampton, Elkstone, Alderton, Badgeworth and the local tower. It was decided, on the invitation of the chairman, to visit Alderton for the summer meeting, in which it is hoped the Tewkesbury Branch will combine.—The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for providing tea, and trusted that he would soon regain his full health on his retirement (which takes place in a few weeks).—The Rev. A. D. Pennington was heartily thanked for the service. The tower was again visited, and good practice obtained.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Southampton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Lockerby on Saturday, April 13th. The bells of Lockerby and East Tytherley were utilised during the afternoon. Tea took place in the Memorial Hall, Lockerby, presided over by the Rector of Dibden, district chairman. Those present included the Vicar of Lockerby, Mr. G. Williams (vice-president), Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), and members from Dibden, Romsey, Portsea, Titchfield, King's Somborne, Winchester, and North Stoneham. The Vicar of Lockerby (Rev. R. A. Sidebottom) was elected an hon. member of the Guild, and votes of thanks were accorded the Vicars of Lockerby and East Tytherley for the use of the bells, after which the handbells were made use of, a course of Grandsire Caters being rung by the following: Mrs. G. Williams 1-2, F. T. Bayley 3-4, F. W. Rogers 5-6, G. Williams 7-8, W. Andrews 9-10. Afterwards, on Lockerby bells, Doubles, Kent Treble Bob, and Cambridge Minor were rung. The next meeting is fixed for July 13th at Dibden, due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Winchester District was held at Twyford on Saturday, April 20th. Ringing on the light peal of eight bells and service conducted by the Rev. Morris (Vicar), who gave a short address, was followed by tea, prepared in the Village Hall, to which 30 sat down. Ringers were present from Winchester, Twyford, Micheldever, King's Somborne, Hursley, North Stoneham, West End and Ringwood. At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar was voted to the chair. Several new members were elected, including the Vicar of Twyford as an hon. member.

A vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his splendid address.—In reply, he gave the Guild a hearty welcome, and was very pleased to see so many visitors.

After the meeting, a party journeyed to Owslebury Church, where there is a ring of six. Others continued ringing at Twyford till eight o'clock.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The spring meeting of the Newbury branch was held at Midgham on Saturday, April 13th, members being present from the following towers: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Beenham, Englefield, Hampstead Norris, Highclere, Newbury, Thatcham, Woolton Hill, and the local ringers. A short Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. V. W. Peake), who gave a very interesting address. Mr. W. Mathews, of Bucklebury, presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the schoolroom by Mrs. H. Warner, of Woolhampton, when 23 sat down.

The business meeting followed with the Rev. V. W. Peake in the chair, supported by the secretary and treasurer (Mr. H. W. Curtis). The Secretary reported the death of Mrs. G. W. Palmer, an hon. member of the branch, also of Mr. H. Benson, of Peasmore tower (a life subscriber), and all present stood for a few moments as a token of respect.

The summer meeting was fixed for Bucklebury on Saturday, June 15th.

Three guineas was voted from the Branch Fund to Hampstead Norris tower towards the repair of the bells.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. V. W. Peake, Mr. Mathews, and Mrs. Warner, proposed by the secretary and carried with applause. The tower was again visited, and some good touches brought round, Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor being rung.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.FRITTENDEN'S NEW BELLS.

A meeting of Ashford District was held at Frittenden on Saturday, April 13th, when a company from twelve different towers assembled to ring on the new peal of bells. The gathering was honoured by the presence of the donor of the bells (Admiral Sir A. Moore) and Mr. C. F. Johnston, of the firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. M. Leathley), the association form being used. The Vicar gave a short address of welcome to the association, and spoke upon bell history. Tea was served at the Bell Inn by Host Bearsby, some 29 members being present to enjoy the good things provided.

At the business meeting, which followed, Mr. C. F. Johnston presided, and Warchorne and Buckinge were selected for the meeting in May. Admiral Moore and Rev. M. L. Leathley were made honorary members of the association, and six new practising members were also elected. Mr. C. Tribe then voiced the members' opinions of the excellent work of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in producing such an excellent peal of bells, the 'go' being perfect. To this Mr. C. F. Johnston replied, speaking of the great care that was taken in the musical production of such a peal.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, organists and Mr. H. Baker, the captain of the local band, were passed. A return was then made to the tower, where further ringing brought to a close a most enjoyable meeting.

Some alteration is to be carried out in the tower to reduce the noise in the ringing chamber.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.CHANGE IN THE SECRETARYSHIP.

The annual meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Rugby on Saturday last, about 38 members and friends attending. The bells of the Parish Church were used for ringing during the afternoon and evening, most of the standard methods being attempted. The committee met in the vestry at 4.30, where various matters to be brought before the general meeting were discussed.

A good tea was partaken of at the Corner House Cafe, after which the meeting took place.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been accepted, the motion on the agenda, 'That this Guild's name be altered to the "Coventry Diocesan Guild,"' sponsored by Mr. F. W. Perrens, was the subject of a lengthy discussion. After various opinions for and against, Mr. James George moved an amendment that the matter be postponed for one year, and this was carried unanimously.

The balance sheet for the year 1927-8, which showed cash in hand £22 10s. 8d., was accepted.

On the election of officers, two changes were made, viz., Miss D. E. Lewis, of Chilvers Coton, was appointed general secretary in place of Mr. J. A. Fenton, and Mr. W. Dale, of Coleshill, Birmingham District secretary in place of Mr. J. W. Pemberton. The other officers were re-elected.

The meeting places for the next three months were decided on as follows: May, Clifton, near Rugby; June, Exhall; July, Stoke-in-Coventry. One life ringing member and six ringing members were elected.

The reports covering two years were distributed, a record number of peals being shown, due in the main to the late Mr. J. E. Sykes.

The Ringing Master, Mr. T. W. Chapman, proposed a vote of thanks to the president (Rev. J. L. White) and the Rector of Rugby, who were both present, and their replies brought a successful meeting to a close.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.A JOHNSON 'RELIC.'

The quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, was held at Coleshill, Warwickshire, on Saturday, April 8th. The Parish Church, which stands on high ground, has a very fine steeple and ornamented spire, and is a well-known landmark over a wide area of country. The church originally dated back to the 14th century, but very little of that building remains now, as it was thoroughly restored in 1868. It does, however, contain a remarkably fine specimen of Norman font, which is probably a relic of an earlier church on the same site. It has also a number of very fine and interesting monuments, particularly two effigies of knights which lie under low moulded arches in the walls of the north and south aisles. These are 14th century and are supposed to be of John de Clinton of the time of Edward I., and his grandson John. There are also many costly mural monuments and several good brasses.

The bells, a nice handy peal of eight, were kept going in various methods from Grandsire to Cambridge Major during the afternoon and again after the business meeting.

Tea was partaken of in the Council Room at the Town Hall, and was followed by the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Vice-president T. Russam, owing to the unavoidable absence of the Presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., who was on duty at Lincoln.

The Chairman referred to the loss the Guild had sustained in the death of one of the vice-presidents (Mr. William Kent), whom he had known since 1870. He had a most genial and lovable temperament, and was a good friend to all he came in contact with. As a last tribute of respect to his memory he asked all present to stand for a moment in silence.

The Central Council agenda was discussed in detail, and finally it was decided to give the Guild's representative a free hand to vote on the various items as he thought fit, after hearing the views of the other representatives. Should the proposition to increase associations' subscriptions to 5s. be carried, it was decided to support it.

Mr. Walker reported the receipt of a letter from Mr. W. T. Pates, of Cheltenham, enclosing a letter Mr. Pates had received from the late Henry Johnson, sen., containing the figures of a long peal of Grandsire Caters. It was decided to preserve this in the Guild's archives, and the secretary was instructed to tender to Mr. Pates the best thanks of the Guild for the gift.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Great Barr on Saturday, July 6th.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the Ven. Archdeacon Richards for the use of the bells and to Mr. C. Dale for making the necessary local arrangements for tea, etc., thus bringing a very enjoyable meeting to a close.

TWENTY YEARS' RINGING.
AN ESSEX CELEBRATION.

On Sunday, April 14th, at St. Peter's, Goldhanger, Essex, for morning service, 720 of Plain Bob Minor: S. J. White 1, A. Appleton 2, J. R. Owers 3, B. C. Mann 4, G. H. Neville 5, J. D. Buckingham (conductor) 6.

This was rung on the 20th anniversary of the first 720 on the bells by a band of service ringers standing in the same order, with the exception of the treble and 4th, Mr. S. J. White taking the place of his brother, the late Mr. F. White, and Mr. B. C. Mann that of his father, who, to the regret of the band, was indisposed. During this period 669 720's in 18 methods, including London Surprise, have been rung on these bells by 55 ringers.

For evening service on the same date, 720 of College Exercise by: J. C. Buckingham (conductor) 1, B. C. Mann 2, H. B. Gardner 3, S. J. White 4, G. H. Neville 5, A. Appleton 6. Rung on the eve of the conductor's 28th wedding anniversary.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A USEFUL REPORT.

There are few more important things in connection with church bell ringing than the acoustic arrangements of the tower and ringing chamber. Not only is it a matter which affects the ringers, but, often more acutely, the public as well. The subject is one which is frequently before the Exercise and it again comes under notice by the report, which we print in another column of the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council. This report deals with the acoustics, both outside and inside the tower, and, because the former has previously received more attention than the latter, arrangements for regulating the sound of the bells internally receives rather more detailed consideration than the stopping of noise outside the tower. The value of the report lies in its recommendation of practical expedients, which have been tried and found effective. It will be read with interest and, we hope, with profit by all those who hear either too much or too little of some or all of the bells in the ringing chamber.

The question of subduing the sound of bells outside a church has previously been dealt with in an earlier report (Section II of the 'Preservation and Repair of Bells, Frames and Fittings'), and little is now added to elaborate those recommendations. Yet this is probably the most important phase of the matter. In a populous neighbourhood, a peal of bells which is noisy in the vicinity of the church can be, if much rung, a decided inconvenience, not to say nuisance to those around, and it cannot be denied that all reasonable steps should be taken in such cases to minimise the cause of complaint. There are, up and down the country, numerous rings of bells which are far too noisy outside the tower for the comfort of the neighbours and even new and costly rings are sometimes erected without precautions being taken in this respect. There have been cases where large sums have been spent on new bells, but nothing has been done to allay the noise outside, with the result that the bells soon come near to permanent silence out of consideration for the public who live or work close at hand. While we do not agree with those incumbents whose line is that of least resistance, which results in stopping the bells, when opposition to them comes from a small section of the public, there can be no question that where there is genuine cause for complaint every effort should be made to remedy the matter. In the vast majority of cases this can be done at comparatively small cost, particularly if the ringers will themselves do the work with material provided for them by the church authorities.

The Tower and Belfries Committee's report is a useful contribution to the subject of belfry acoustics, but if it is to be of real value, it must go further than the Council Chamber. The salient features of the earlier report, to which only reference is made, should be embodied in a pamphlet with the material of the present report and should be available to associations for use among church authorities wherever an improvement is necessary or desirable. It should be printed in a form which stamps it as authoritative advice, and it should be brought formally to the notice of all the associations, and not left to them to find out casually that such a document exists.

EAST BERKS AND SOUTH BUCKS BRANCH JUBILEE.

The jubilee celebrations of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch will be remembered for many years by those who attended at Boyne Hill on Saturday last. Some fifteen different towers in the branch area were represented, and, in addition, a number of unattached members and visitors were present.

The bells were raised punctually at 3 p.m., and were kept going to various methods until 4.30 p.m., when the Guild service was conducted by Rev. W. S. Riddelsell, M.A., Vicar of Bray and chairman of the branch. The Archdeacon of Oxford, Rt. Rev. E. Domett Shaw, D.D., gave an excellent address on the text taken from Zachariah xiv. 20 and 21, 'In that day shall there be upon the bells of the horses, holiness unto the Lord, and the pots in the Lord's house shall be like the bows before the altar. Yea, every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be holiness unto the Lord of Hosts.'

An excellent meal was served at the Parish Hall, where the company included Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), Mr. A. J. Wright (general treasurer of the Guild), Mr. W. Bottrill (Metropolitan Police Guild), Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (Ringing Master, South and West District, Middlesex County Association), and Messrs. C. F. Winney, J. J. Parker, W. H. Fussell, J. Evans, H. Collins and E. Keeley, the last-named being over 90 years of age.

The business meeting followed, the Chairman offering a warm welcome to the Master and Canon Coleridge.

The election of 17 new members was confirmed, and the Rector of Fulmer and his band of eight ringers were proposed as members by the Secretary, and elected forthwith. The son of the new Branch Ringing Master was also made a member.

A vote of condolence was carried in silence to the relatives of three recently deceased members.

The financial statement was well received and accepted, a vote of thanks being accorded to the auditor.—The Secretary commented on the present strong financial position of the branch, and also on some of the more recent monthly practices, especially the much enjoyed joint meeting with the Middlesex County Association at Hillingdon.

Canon Coleridge humorously suggested that a new rule might be made compelling ringers to sit in the front pews and not the back ones, to the benefit of the preacher as well as the listeners.

Numerous votes of thanks and appreciation were passed to all connected with making the arrangements.—Mr. J. J. Parker, responding, expressed his pleasure at having been a member for 50 years.—Mr. W. H. Fussell produced the receipt for his first subscription, dated July 26th, 1879.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, Rev. W. S. Riddelsell, M.A.; branch secretary and treasurer, A. D. Barker; Branch Ringing Master, Mr. T. J. Fowler; branch representatives on General Committee, Mrs. A. D. Barker, Messrs. J. L. Kirk, T. J. Fowler, J. C. Truss and G. H. Gutteridge.

It was decided to pay the expenses, where necessary, of representatives attending the General Committee meeting.

It is hoped to visit Amersham for the next monthly practice.

After the business was finished, a musical evening was enjoyed, and, following a touch of Stedman Triples on handbells, some excellent songs were rendered by Messrs. W. R. Ash, T. J. Fowler and Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. Mr. Ayres, organist, of Cookham, presided

GOLDEN WEDDING.

On Friday, April 19th, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hands, of Hemdean Road, Caversham, celebrated their golden wedding.

Mr. Hands is one of the oldest members of the St. Peter's Society, Caversham, which was inaugurated in 1884, when Canon Coleridge first took holy orders.

To mark the occasion, a quarter-peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on Sunday evening, April 21st, by: H. Simmonds 1, A. D. Cullum 2, J. Hands 3, W. Lewington 4, A. Wiggins 5, E. J. Menday 6, G. Essex 7, E. W. Menday (conductor) 8.

Messrs. E. W. Menday, G. Essex, J. Hands and H. Simmonds are four of the first change ringers of the St. Peter's Society, Caversham, and have been ringing every Sunday for 45 years. Mr. Hands, who has passed 'the allotted span,' is still in the pink of health.

at the piano, and still another member from Cookham produced some weird and wonderful noises behind the scenes.

A little community singing formed part of the programme, and the evening closed with the National Anthem.

It is rumoured that the arrangements for the centenary are already in hand, and it is hoped that although the meal may be chiefly in tabloid form, there will be liquid refreshment to suit all, as well as suitable cosy corners and seats for loving couples—unless this is out of date in 1929.

THE METHODS COMMITTEE REPORT. MR. TROLLOPE CRITICISES OUR COMMENTS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The best reply to your criticism of the Methods Committee's report is, I think, the report itself. We want members of the Central Council to read it and note what it says and what it does not say, and vote accordingly. But there are one or two things which perhaps may profitably be said.

1. You say that before the Council adopt this report it must decide the principle of what is to be recognised as a peal. The principle was decided centuries ago: it is truth and completeness. But if you mean the details, then, surely, you are putting the cart before the horse—'Jedwood justice'—sentence first and trial afterwards. What we desire is that the Exercise, and, particularly, the five and six bell ringers, should have the opportunity of testing and judging these compositions. Later on it will be time enough to settle on a definite rule. And in this connection I would most respectfully suggest to eight-bell ringers that they should suspend their final judgment on the matter. In eight-bell ringing the opportunities for expansion and development are practically unlimited. There is plenty of room to pick and choose. For five and six bell ringing it is not so. There the scope is very limited, and it does seem rather selfish for eight-bell ringers to refuse to five-bell ringers such opportunity for development as there is.

2. All heated talk about 'no juggling with truth,' is quite beside the point. No one wants to juggle with truth. No one would willingly ring a false peal. We propose to print these compositions because, after having examined them judicially, we are convinced that they can properly be called both true and complete. The only people who can fairly be said to juggle with truth are those who, by straining language beyond the breaking point, tell us that the Bankes James' Cambridge consists of seven true 720's.

3. I am quite aware that 'many ringers of wide experience' object to these compositions, and even 'bluntly denounce them as false.' There never was any development in ringing that some ringers of wide experience did not object to. Little methods, spliced ringing, the use of singles in composition—all of them we have been told are theoretically unsound. I remember the highest authority in the Exercise saying that London was an illegitimate method; and I do not doubt that the old Plain Change ringers of the seventeenth century looked on Cross Peals as undesirable. People are fully in their rights in not liking these new compositions, but they need not ring them unless they like; and, even if they are in a majority, that seems no adequate reason for stopping those who do want to ring them.

4. It is not fair to read into a formal document like this report, signed by more than one person, anything which is not there. We nowhere say that we want the Council 'to admit as a peal of Minor any composition in which each of the 720 rows appears only seven times, no matter how often any row or any block of rows appears within the limits of any one 720,' or anything like it. Personally, I should subscribe to no such opinion. We ask for approval of our intention to print certain definite compositions which we think are useful to the Exercise.

5. The report does not set up 'one standard for peals on five and six bells and another for peals on higher numbers.' It recognises that, owing to facts, a difference already exists and must exist. Namely, on seven bells you can and must ring the full extent of the changes. On eight and more bells you cannot, and therefore need not ring the full extent, and on six and five you must repeat changes. The older idea that a peal of Minor must consist of seven separate extents went when the Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge was accepted. And as you yourself publicly accepted that arrangement as sound, you cannot blame our committee for doing the same thing. It is a logical and defensible position to take up that a peal of Minor must consist of seven separate 720's, but once you abandon that you cannot in fairness or logic admit a composition like the Cambridge and condemn Morris' arrangement of Doubles. If you say the 120's of the latter are false, so also are the 720's of the former. If the former can be justified as a whole composition (as you do justify it), so can the latter. They stand or fall together.

6. Of all the new compositions we propose to include, there are only two which you have not approved. We cannot see anything in which they differ in principle from the others.

7. May I remind you that the Exercise, while accepting as a natural thing the principle of truth and completeness, has never been fully agreed for any long time as to what does constitute a peal of Minor or Doubles? There has been a good deal of change and development of opinion on this matter in the past, and there seems no reason why there should not be further change and development in the future.

8. Our position is broadly this: When we decided to improve the 'Minor Collection' by adding compositions, we found that there were two compositions which were beginning to be popular among five and six bell ringers. Both were different from older compositions, and we had to decide whether to include them. The question was not whether we as individuals approved them, but whether the five and six bell ringers wanted them, and whether they were likely to be of use to them. There could be no doubt as to the answer.

In conclusion, may I suggest that it is rather a pity you did not yield to the temptation to ask, 'What is behind this endeavour?' The answer would have been so easy.—Yours sincerely,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

COMMITTEE'S CONFLICTING VIEWS.

In the above letter, Mr. Trollope says that 'of all the compositions we (the committee) propose to include, there are only two which you have not approved. We cannot see anything in which they differ in principle from the others.'

It is very kind of Mr. Trollope to refer to our approval, but that is not the point that matters. The attitude which we have adopted has been one of supporting the intentions of the Central Council as indicated at Hereford. The Exercise, and certainly the Council, have a right to know what the other compositions are—if they depart from the recognised standard of being true and complete extents—before they are printed and published under the name of the Council. Up to now the only compositions which have been definitely mentioned in this controversy are Bankes James' Cambridge, Law James' London, and Pitman's and Morris' Grandsire Doubles. Are there any others? If so, the Council would probably like to know.

There are a number of points in Mr. Trollope's perfectly fair criticism of our article with which we should like to deal did space permit, but for the moment space forbids. We cannot, however, resist contrasting some of the statements, made by members of the committee, which show that they have wobbled pretty considerably over this matter individually before making up their minds collectively, while Mr. Trollope in his letter this week appears to have forgotten what Mr. Trollope said in these columns on December 14th last.

Mr. TROLLOPE, December 14th, 1928:—

The 720's in the Rev. E. B. James' arrangement of Cambridge are all true.

Mr. TROLLOPE, May 3rd, 1929:—

The only people who can fairly be said to juggle with truth are those who by straining language beyond the breaking point tell us that the Bankes James' Cambridge consists of seven true 720's.

Mr. TROLLOPE, January 25th, 1929:—

Unless you do count rounds at the start as a change, six of the seven 720's cannot by any stretch of the word be considered true.

Rev. H. LAW JAMES, January 18th, 1929:—

Consider my brother's arrangement of Cambridge Minor. We make 720 changes of the bells so that we have the correct number of changes made, but the last change made takes us into the next 720. We now ring through that, and the last change made brings us into the next 720, and so on throughout. The last change in the seventh 720 brings us back into the first 720 again, and completes the first 720, so that each of the seven is true and complete.

Mr. TROLLOPE, January 25th, 1929:—

The old idea of a six-bell peal was that it must consist of at least seven true and complete extents. The words 'true' and 'complete' and 'extent' have been used in the Exercise for a couple of centuries, and they always have had and have a definite and unmistakable meaning.

Mr. TROLLOPE, February 8th, 1929:—

It (the Hereford resolution) lays down that a peal of Minor shall consist of at least seven true and complete 720's.

Committee's Report, April 26th:—

The Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge does not consist of seven extents.

Committee's Report, April 26th, 1929:—

The Bankes James' arrangement does not consist of seven extents. . . . The justification of the arrangement lies in taking the first 2.160 changes as one round block.

Regarding Mr. Morris' arrangement, the Report says: 'Of course, there is repetition between handstroke and backstroke.'

(Other letters are unavoidably held over.)

THE YOUNGER GENERATION.

Mr. C. F. Winney, quoting from 'The Ringing World' report of the Middlesex County Association, 'Increasing interest of younger generation,' writes: 'This is not my experience and of several of my keen friends, who are sad at the apathy of persons they have tried to encourage in this duty to the Church.'

SUDDEN DEATH OF A BURTON LATIMER RINGER

We deeply regret to announce the death of Mr. Harry Meadows which took place with tragic suddenness on Tuesday evening, April 23rd. The deceased had been to his work that day as usual, and, in the evening was at work in his garden, when about 6.30 he was seen to fall to the ground. A neighbour went to his assistance, but Mr. Meadows died in about two minutes. At an inquest which was held, the doctor stated that a post-mortem examination revealed that the deceased's heart was twice the normal weight, and the jury returned a verdict of 'Death from natural causes.'

The funeral took place at St. Mary's Church on Saturday afternoon, the Rector (Rev. G. L. Lethbridge) officiating. In addition to the local ringers, there were also present Mr. R. G. Black, general secretary, and Mr. W. T. Wilson, treasurer of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Mr. R. Turner (Kettering), Mr. A. Henman, Kettering (an old-time Burton ringer), Mr. J. R. Main (Finedon), and P.C. Robinson, who is also a ringer.

The deceased had been a ringer at St. Mary's Church for 23 years, and during the whole of that time had been most regular in his attendance to ring for the Sunday services. He had not been a great peal ringer, but he had rung about twenty peals in all, the greater part of them having been Minor in seven methods.

After the funeral the bells were rung half-muffled to touches of Plain Bob Stedman and Grandsire. The bells were also rung muffled for both services on Sunday.

ARCHDEACONS WHO HELP.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to your leading article on this subject, I would like to say that in the Ven. Archdeacon Howson, Archdeacon of Warrington in the diocese of Liverpool, ringers have another valued friend and helper.

For many years the Archdeacon has held the office of warden of the Liverpool Diocesan Guild, which comprises the Liverpool and Wigan Branches of the Lancashire Association, and, what is still more to the point, frequently attends the branch meetings.

He never loses an opportunity of encouraging our art amongst those newly ordained into Orders, and there are not many towers in the district that he has not visited. Despite advancing years, his energy and work on behalf of ringers does not diminish. In fine, we all love our Archdeacon for what he is—our friend.

I am also informed that the first Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild was Archdeacon Barber.

'APPRECIATORY.'

LADIES' GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Duffield on April 13th, when again the attendance was extremely poor. Nevertheless with generous assistance from the gentlemen quite a variety of methods was attempted, the ease with which the bells can be handled making them most suitable for ladies to ring. A very appetising tea was provided in the schoolroom, after which the business meeting took place, three new members being elected.

The new rules for the Ladies' Guild and also for the districts were brought forward and passed, one of the latter being that the annual district meeting shall precede the annual general meeting.

Votes of thanks were extended to the Vicar, and especially to the local band for their efforts to make the meeting a success, also to the ladies who prepared such an excellent tea.

Date and place of next meeting were left open pending arrangements for the unveiling of the ladies' peal tablet. Further ringing took place throughout the evening, bringing a most enjoyable meeting to a close.

METHOD SPLICING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Drake's reply seems to call for some comment. He states that several reasons were advanced in support of the resolution that the splicing of methods is theoretically unsound, but he only gives us his own reason. He contends that the theory we ring by is that we must keep to one kind of method in what we ring, varied by two kinds of calls. To do other than this breaks the principle, and a broken principle is an unsound principle.

I should like to ask Mr. Drake three questions: (1) Has he ever rung 120 Grandsire Doubles, or Holt's Ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples? (2) Does he consider that either of the different singles used breaks the Doubles or Triples principle? (3) If he agrees to breaking principles by the calling of any kind of single, in odd-bell methods, why does he object to further innovations which have the decided merit of increasing the scope of ringing and making it much more complex and interesting?

It is a pity the other reasons advanced at the Suffolk Guild's meeting are not given. One can only come to the conclusion, regretfully, that there are still a number of ringers who object to change of any kind.—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

P.S.—In my letter published on April 19th an error occurs. In the last line but two the words 'spliced experts' should read 'spliced extents.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

At Kington Magna, where the bells were rung on St. George's Day, the King's message to his people was, at the Rector's request, read out to the ringers by the steepkeeeper.

A minor tour, resulting in four peals of Major, took place in Hants last week. It extended over three days. The last of the peals was London Surprise on the new bells at Milford-on-Sea, and the band had a miraculous escape from losing it. Just as the conductor called 'This is all,' at backstroke, his rope broke, came down in front of him and laid on the belfry floor. Has such a thing ever been known before?

Four fathers and four sons have repeated at St. Martin's, Epsom, the performance of exactly sixty years ago in the same tower. They have rung a peal of Grandsire Triples.

The peal at Henstridge on April 18th was rung by members of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

Next Sunday is the anniversary of the 12,312 Grandsire Caters rung at Painswick in the year 1817. Even at that date it was not the record length, for a peal of 12,603 had been rung at Norwich in 1737.

The first peal of Grandsire Bob Maximus was rung at Southwark on May 7th, 1792.

Edmonton bells were opened by the Cumberland Youths with a peal of '5,230 Oxford Treble Bobs,' composed and conducted by John Reeves, on May 8th, 1788.

'Many happy returns' to-day to Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, and on Tuesday to Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Challis Winney writes that April 29th was the late 'Jack' Hayes' wedding day, and on that date in 1884 he turned in Southwark tenor. It was a vastly different problem in those days, remarks Mr. Winney, compared with to-day, when the bell is tucked up in an iron stock. It was George Mash who persuaded Hayes to tackle the the job one practice night.

Several correspondents have reminded us that Miss Lewis, who has been appointed general secretary of the Warwickshire Guild, is not the first lady to hold such an office. Miss Violet Shorter was secretary of the Ely Diocesan Guild for twelve months, about six or seven years ago, and did most admirable work.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

THE MEETING AT CHELMSFORD.

The Essex Association, through the hon. secretary, Mr. F. J. Pitstow, announces the following arrangements in connection with the meeting of the Essex Association at Chelmsford on Whitsun Tuesday:—

The following eight-bell towers will be available for peals on Saturday, May 18th: Writtle, Widford, Galleywood, Great Baddow, Boreham, Feering, and Braintree. Those wishing to take part should send their names as early as possible, but not later than Saturday, May 11th, to Mr. W. Keeble, Rye Mill Farm, Feering, Kelvedon, Essex. Service ringing on Sunday in addition to the above-mentioned towers at the Cathedral (12), Great Waltham (8), Broomfield (6), and Springfield (6).

The headquarters will be the County Hotel. Bed and breakfast at the usual commercial rates. Accommodation can also be given at the Bell Hotel and White Hart Hotel. To prevent disappointment, intending visitors should write and make their arrangements at once.

The Essex Association is celebrating its jubilee on Whit Monday at Chelmsford. Visitors will receive a hearty welcome. For particulars see announcement in notices columns. A private 20-seater bus has been engaged to enable ringers to visit the neighbouring towers from 3 to 8 p.m. on that date.

Luncheon on Tuesday can be had at Hicks Bros.' Restaurant, High Street, Cannon's Restaurant, Duke Street, near Railway Station, also at County Hotel. Previous notice should be given at the latter place. A room at the County Hotel has been reserved for the use of visitors and friends in the evenings of Monday and Tuesday.

The Essex Association invite all members of the Central Council to tea at the County Hotel at the conclusion of the afternoon session on Tuesday.

BUST TO BE EXHIBITED IN THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

A bust of Mr. W. T. Cockerill, the hon. secretary of the College Youths, is to be shown at this year's Royal Academy exhibition. The sculptor is Miss Hiley (daughter of Mr. H. Sesom Hiley, architect, and a student of the R.A.), who has produced a fine work of art, which has received the hall mark of the R.A. by acceptance for the exhibition at Burlington House. The sculptor was commissioned by Mr. E. Alex. Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council), and the bust is a gift to Mr. Cockerill. It was cast in bell metal, provided by Mr. A. A. Hughes, by Singer-Morris, Ltd., and stands upon a Hoptonwood marble base, carved to Mr. Young's design by Mr. J. Rowbotham, also of the College Youths.

BELFRY ACOUSTICS.

The following is the report of the Towers and Belfries Committee on Belfry Acoustics, to be presented to the Central Council at the Chelmsford meeting:—

It is important in the case of rehanging and tuning to pay great attention to acoustic conditions. The tower is cleared of many large beams, thick planks and the accumulation of the dirt and dust of ages, which all tend to deaden sound, and into this empty room are placed the bells, rendered by tuning more powerful in tone than before.

Much excellent advice is given in Section II. of the 'Preservation and Repair of Bells, Frames and Fittings,' published by the Council, and need not be repeated here.

So far as the noise outside the tower is concerned, there is nothing to add to this except to draw attention to the sound-deadening material known as Cabot's Quilt, which is of use in forming a lining to the wooden shutters suggested for the belfry windows.

As to the inside, and dealing first with the difficulty of hearing one or two bells in a ring, the committee has notes of a successful experiment recently carried out by Mr. Hesse in the Haslemere tower on the lines laid down in the above publication. In the same connection special mention should be made of the ingenious, though very simple, contrivance of Mr. Pates in the tower of St. Mary's, Cheltenham. Here the treble swings side by side with the tenor, and although a shute was placed near the mouth of the treble it was quite inaudible in the ringing room after the first pull off in rounds. Something was wanted to throw the treble sound towards the shute, and at the same time to throw the tenor sound away therefrom. This was effected by boarding in the lower half of the tenor and treble wheels with half-inch match boarding. The result is all that could be desired.

Then with regard to the comfortable hearing of a whole ring in the ringing room, too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of there being at least 2ft. 6in. between the floor immediately under the bells and the ceiling of the ringing room, with no connecting shutles of any kind. If it can be 8ft. or 10ft., so much the better.

In cases where a plastered ceiling is not practicable, e.g., where wires and cranks of chiming hammers have to be accommodated, it will be necessary to have a wooden ceiling, and in this case much can be done with Cabot's Quilt, Celotex, Lead (2lb. per foot) or Felt, laid above the ceiling.

In any case, it is well to have some sound-deadening material immediately under the bells, and in some cases round the walls of the belfry as well. This, of course, applies to towers where the ringing room is obviously too near to the bells and cannot be lowered.

Cabot's Quilt is composed of seaweed or eel grass that comes from Nova Scotia. It is usually made up into mats, but may be obtained loose for packing in between floors. It can be obtained through the leading bell foundries. Celotex is a felted board made of sugar-cane, and can be obtained through any architect or builder.

A case is known of a heavy ring of eight to which the ringers' floor is so near that the sallies go round the wheels. There is only one floor between the ringers and the bells. The noise was, of course, unbearable, but a vast improvement was made by laying down Cabot's Quilt directly under the bells, the layers increasing according to the size of the bell.

There are many towers where both acoustic and other conditions would be far better if the bells were rung from the ground level. When the bells are being rehung this may well be considered. Often it brings the ringer to exactly the right distance from the bells, but it has also certain possible disadvantages.

The alternative plan of a ringers' loft or gallery open to the church has very much to recommend it. This is especially adapted to a west-end tower with a high arch on the east side, and perhaps a large west window, with the floor of the tower required for church seating or a baptistry or a choir vestry. A floor is put in 8ft. or 10ft. from the ground, it may be of deal; across the east arch runs an oak front, or a light iron railing, just high enough for safety. The window remains visible, and is in no way spoilt by the hanging ropes, as is sometimes supposed to be the case. The floor is reached by a wooden staircase from inside the church. The ringers have perfect ventilation without draught, are in good light and within good hearing of the bells.

Examples may be seen at Aldermaston, Bletchley, Clapham Park, St. Peter Mancroft, Painswick, Wokingham All Saints', and very many other places.

BISHOP'S CONGRATULATIONS.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples were rung at St. Michael's Church, Minehead, on Sunday, in honour of a visit of the Bishop of Taunton. At the commencement of his sermon at evening service, the Bishop congratulated the ringers on their quarter-peal, and remarked upon the perfect striking of the bells. The ringers were W. Folly 1, C. Strawbridge 2, L. Mason 3, F. Bulley 4, F. Date 5, W. Hoyle 6, J. Pugsley (conductor) 7, W. Male 8.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH, CLERKENWELL.A GREAT CITY RESTORATION.

The new ring of eight bells in the famous Church of St. James, Clerkenwell, recast and rehung with new fittings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Stepney on Sunday, April 28th, at 6.30 p.m. His Worship the Mayor, the Mayoress and members of the Finsbury Borough Council were in attendance.

The old bells had an unenviable reputation for years. The fittings were old fashioned and out of repair, and the oak frame had lacked attention, with the result that it was hard work for the ringers to ring the bells.

In order to remedy this state of affairs the existing wood frame has been materially strengthened by the insertion of corner plates and stout vertical bolts; and the fittings have been replaced by cast iron headstocks, ball bearings and all the latest improvements that have been evolved in recent years by the bell foundries, in order that the strain on the tower should be reduced to a minimum and the work of the ringers made easy.

The bells, too, were unsatisfactory in tone, their harmonics were false to such an extent that nothing short of recasting could convert them into a musical peal. This course was, therefore, adopted, and each of the eight bells has now been tuned to sound a perfect five-tone chord. It is interesting to note that this is the first ringing peal of bells in the county of London to be tuned on this system, sometimes known as the Simpson Principle.

General acoustic requirements have also not been lost sight of: The louvre openings of the belfry have been partially blocked inside the walls so as to prevent the sound beating down on the neighbourhood unduly.

A special device, a patent of the firm, has been fitted to the tenor, namely, a clapper control. This releases the clapper from the bell immediately after the blow, thus rounding off the peal musically. The attachment can be put in or out of action at will by the ringers, but it certainly improves the effect of the peal outside the tower.

Inside the tower, the ringers' comfort has not been forgotten. The Ringing Room has been painted and redecorated, linoleum has been laid on the floor and electric light installed. In fact, by the happy co-operation of the Vicar and churchwardens with the bell foundries, a model belfry has been aimed at, and it is hoped that the authorities' desire that Clerkenwell should have a peal of bells and a belfry of which the parish might be proud, will be rewarded by a speedy formation of a capable band of ringers, willing to serve the church in the exercise of a centuries' old craft.

Nos. 1, 5, 6, 7 and 8 were cast originally in 1791, No. 4 in 1837, and No. 2 was recast previously in 1801, and No. 3 in 1904. All the old inscriptions have been reproduced and the old metal used again. The tenor is 24 cwt. 2 gr. 21 lb. in E flat.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have carried out the whole of the bell restoration work, have a special interest in Clerkenwell, for it was in this borough that Mr. William Gillett, the founder of the firm, first set up his factory a hundred years ago, before he moved to Croydon in 1844.

The present head of the firm, Mr. Cyril Johnston, was chairman for four years of the British Horological Institute, which is in Clerkenwell, and has many personal associations in the locality.

St. James' Church, Clerkenwell, holds a unique position, inasmuch as by an Act of Parliament in 1784, in the reign of George III., for pulling down the church and building a new church, the church with its appurtenances is vested in the trustees, the following being an extract from the Act:—

'and the property in the bells, pews, seats, books, and all goods, chattels, and ornaments, in the said new church and churchyard shall also be vested in the said Trustees for ever upon the same trust.'

THE REDEDICATION.

A crowded congregation was present at the service on Sunday evening, when the Bishop of Stepney rededicated the organ and the bells. The Mayor and Mayoress of Finsbury, the town clerk and members of the Corporation were in attendance, and preceded the choir in procession to pews reserved for them. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. J. Parker, with whom his people were that day celebrating the successful restoration of the organ, the spire and the bells at a cost of more than £3,500. For the actual ceremony, the clerical and civic procession moved to the base of the tower, where the Bishop rededicated the bells, tolling the tenor twice and offering the customary prayers.

In a sermon that must have been one of the most impressive and eloquent ever delivered on such an occasion, the Bishop congratulated the Vicar, wardens and parishioners on the splendid result of their endeavours, for certainly St. James', Clerkenwell, had given a lead to the churches of the diocese, and he wished that the numerous other churches, so sadly in need of similar attention, would follow their bright example. He wished at least one message of his to remain in the minds of his hearers. Whenever, after that day, they heard the bells of that church ring out, he wanted them to remember that a man's destiny should not control him; whatever the temptation or the trials, a man could rise triumphant over all these things—he could control his own destiny.

At the close of the service, the Bishop, the Mayor and many visitors were specially interested in the old registers, dating back to the middle of the 16th century, that had been restored with great skill.

Before and after the service a special band of Middlesex County Association, organised by the hon. secretary, Mr. C. T. Coles, and including Mr. W. Pyc, Master of the Association, rang the bells; and the Bishop specially complimented Mr. Cyril Johnston on the tone of the recast peal, which he much admired.

A meeting of the Middlesex County Association is to be held at Clerkenwell to-morrow, and will be in the nature of a ringers' opening of the bells. In connection with this a social will be held at the Victoria Hotel, Charterhouse Street, corner of Farringdon Road, at 8 p.m. All ringers will be welcome.

DEATH OF AN OLD SUFFOLK RINGER.

It is with deep regret we have to record the death of Mr. J. Larter, who passed away at his residence at Reydon, near Southwold, on Wednesday, April 24th, after only a few days' illness, at the age of 74 years. He joined the Norwich Association soon after its formation, and was district secretary for the Halesworth District for many years. There being no bells in his own parish, he rang in all the churches round about, and was widely known by a large circle of friends, his greatest hobby being instructing young ringers. There are few ringers who have travelled and walked more miles than he did for this purpose. He was in the employment of the Earl of Stradbroke as foreman for approximately forty years, and lived at the timber yard until he retired four years ago and went to reside at Reydon.

The funeral took place at Reydon Parish Church on Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Ashton, of Uggleshall, officiating. In addition to the family mourners there were present many old friends of the deceased, including Mr. J. Hill (late Butler), Mr. Haggarth (head gardener), Mr. R. Thompson (foreman, also a bellringer). The ringers present were Messrs. G. and R. Pearce, of Wenham, E. R. Goate, J. Snadding and C. F. Sayer (Beccles), J. Howard and R. Thompson (Halesworth), L. Hammond (Chediston), W. Kerrison (Wissett), F. Ford and P. Self (Brampton), E. Grindell and E. Goodwin (Southwold), E. Bailey, sen., E. Bailey, jun., W. Durrant, W. J. Sawyer, A. J. L. Naunton and F. W. Naunton (Wrentham). Immediately after the committal prayer, a course of Bob Major was rung over the grave by J. Howard 1, A. J. L. Naunton 2, J. Spalding, 3-4. E. R. Goate 5-6, F. W. Launton 7-8.

The funeral arrangements at the deceased's express wish were carried out by his brother ringers, Messrs. Naunton Bros., of Wrentham. In the evening from 5 to 7.30 various touches were rung on the Southwold bells with half-muffled clappers as a last tribute of respect. A half-muffled peal was also rung at Wrentham on Sunday.

There were many floral tributes, including a beautiful wreath from the Earl and Countess of Stradbroke.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting was held on Saturday, April 20th, at Pontefract (All Saints'), some 40 members being present, representing towers at Arkey, Barnsley, Goole, Hatfield, Hemingbrough, Howden, Hull, Leeds, Selby and Snaith.

A short service was held at which the address was given by the Rev. C. C. T. Naters, Vicar of Pontefract. Tea was provided in the All Saints' Church House by the local company, and was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar of All Saints', the Rev. A. G. Shipley, M.A., presiding.

On the motion of Mr. P. J. Johnson (Leeds), hon. general secretary, the following officials were re-elected: Mr. G. S. Miller (Hull), Mr. R. B. Smith (Howden), to the committee; Mr. F. W. Dale (Hull), to the general committee; and Mr. A. B. Cook (Hull), hon. district secretary, who was accorded a special vote of thanks for his past services, and who acknowledged the continued confidence which the members placed in him.

Four new members were elected: Messrs. D. Fewster and J. M. Pickering, of St. Patrick's, Patrington, and Messrs. G. Cawkhill and R. Newham, of Howden. An invitation from the Rector of Hatfield to hold the summer meeting there was unanimously accepted.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar of All Saints' for the use of the bells, service and presiding at the meeting, the Vicar of Pontefract for his address, and the organist, also the local company and Mr. W. Pearson for the competent arrangements.

ANOTHER RING OF EIGHT IN DEVON.

NEW OCTAVE AT KINGSTEIGNTON.

Kingsteignton, Devon, is now in possession of a fine ring of eight bells, cast and hung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. There was previously a peal of six in the tower, successors to an earlier ring. The new octave, which is, of course, tuned on the five tone harmonic principle and hung in a new frame with all the latest modern fittings, has cost about £650, all of which has been raised by voluntary subscriptions.

The dedication was performed on Saturday week by the Bishop of Exeter, who, in an address, congratulated the parishioners on the mighty work they had completed, and added that the bells could speak a message to them that no human tongue could teach. The bells told them all things that interested them as a community. They were essentially a part of the whole social organisation of their civilisation. People forgot at times that they were a community and talked only as a set of individuals. He deprecated the selfishness of that old idea. Thinking of themselves alone conducted to what he described as a miserable life.

Parties of ringers were present from Wolborough, Moreton, Chagford, Bovey Tracey, Chudleigh, East and West Teignmouth, Ippeton and Highweek. All expressed themselves delighted with the music and 'go' of the bells.

The notes, inscriptions, and weights of the bells are:—

- Treble F.—Presented by George H. and Alethea Beer, 1929. 4 cwt. 2 q. 10 lb.
- 2nd, E.—Presented by S. and W. Couch, in memory of their mother, H. R. Cooke, Vicar; T. J. H. Partridge, A. P. Yeoman, churchwardens, 1929. 4 cwt. 3 qr. 8 lb.
- 3rd, D.—Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London, Defunctus Plero, Plebem Voco, Festa Decoro, Donum Johannis Whidborne, 1869. 5 cwt. 0 qr. 2 lb.
- 4th, C.—Mr. Samuel Mudge and Mr. Nicholas Watts, churchwardens, Thomas Bibbie, Fecit, 1766. 6 cwt. 0 qr. 1 lb.
- 5th, B flat.—Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London, 'Gaudemus Gaudetibus Dolentibus,' Donum Johannis Whidborne, Anno Domini, 1874, John H. Hext, Vicar. 7 cwt. 2 qr. 4 lb.
- 6th, A.—Tri Vni Deo Sit Gloria Sempiterna, I. Byrnell, W. Wayne, wardens, I.P., E.S., 1726. 9 cwt. 0 qr. 16 lb.
- 7th, G.—Soli Deo Detur Gloria, T.P., 1623. 11 cwt. 2 qr.
- Tenor, F.—God Save the Church, the Rev. Christopher Beeke, Vicar, William Wayne, Richard Westlake, churchwardens, 1745, Tho Wroth, Fecit; recast 1919; John Nightingale, Vicar; Thomas Butland, Virginia Quinton, churchwardens; 'Peace on earth, good will towards men.' 16 cwt. 3 qr. 11 lb.

WELLINGTON BELLS RESTORED.

The bells of the Parish Church of Wellington, Shropshire, have recently been restored, and hung on ball bearings in a new steel frame. The work has been admirably carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry.

On Tuesday, April 16th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 45 mins. by: H. Whalley 1, W. Saunders 2, E. V. Rodenhurst 3, J. B. Tyler 4, L. Bishop 5, H. Hayward 6, W. A. Fletcher (conductor) 7, W. Thomas 8. The ringers expressed themselves as highly pleased with the 'go' of the bells, and congratulated Mr. Tyler, who has been responsible for the rehanging, on the satisfactory completion of his work.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Coalbrookdale on Saturday, April 27th. The church is beautifully situated on the side of a hill, and the bells are a very fine peal of ten by Mears and Stainbank. About 25 members and visitors were present from Shrewsbury, Alberbury, Malinslee, Worthen, Wellington, Bridgnorth, Sheriffhales, Crewe, Birmingham, and the local tower, also two lady ringers from Cardington, who rang rounds on ten very well considering that their own tower contains only four bells.

Ringing began at three o'clock and continued until five, when tea was partaken of in Trinity Hall. The business meeting followed, the Vicar, the Rev. T. Eland, presiding.

It was explained that this meeting would have been held at Wellington, but permission could not be obtained. The tower there is very close to the shops, and numerous complaints are received if the bells are rung on a Saturday afternoon.

Nine new members were elected from Whitchurch.

It was unanimously decided that Mr. W. Saunders attend the Central Council meeting at Chelmsford if possible, and that his expenses be paid.

Mr. A. Woodvine proposed that the association print a balance sheet annually for circulation amongst the members, and this was carried. The next meeting will be held at Moreton Corbet on July 20th, if possible.

Mr. Saunders proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the hon. secretary (Rev. F. Tennison) for his presence at the meeting and his continued interest in the association. This was carried with applause, and in the course of his reply the Rev. F. Tennison said how grateful the members were to the Vicar of Coalbrookdale for the use of the bells and hall.

This concluded the business, and the members then returned to the tower for further ringing until 8.30. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Bob Major.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Southern District of the London County Association and the North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, April 20th, at St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Woolwich, and was fairly well attended. Ringing took place under the supervision of the District Master, Mr. H. Mance, some very good touches in various methods being brought round, including a course of Cambridge. The beginners, also, were not forgotten, everyone being accommodated.

A very bright service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. G. M. Pickering), who gave the association a hearty welcome, and a helpful address. One of the local young ringers presided at the organ, and the hymns and psalms, etc., were well rendered. Tea followed in the Mission House, where the party were the guests of the Rector, churchwardens and the local band. A splendid repast, thoroughly enjoyed by all, was presided over by the Rector, supported by the Master and the local Ringing Master (Mr. Aldridge). The business meeting followed, with Mr. Mance in the chair. The routine business was soon got through, but there was an animated discussion under the heading of 'other business.' This arose because a tower had not been obtained at which to hold a meeting, and it was stated that it was partly owing to the fact that the local band were not first asked their permission. The secretary maintained that the proper person to ask was the incumbent, whilst a member moved a resolution that the secretary be instructed to obtain sanction first of the local band. The resolution was, however, lost.

During the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, for arranging and conducting the service, also, as part host with the churchwarden and local ringers, for supplying the tea, to the ladies who prepared and served the tea in such great style, to the organist, and, last, but by no means least, to Mr. Cyril E. Palmer, local secretary, whose help in arranging details was regarded as most valuable by the district secretary.

As a consequence of the discussion, a somewhat late return was made to the tower, when more ringing was indulged in, but some members had to leave early, as Woolwich is right at the extremity of the district's activities.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR A RINGER.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I ask for a little space in your columns to give a few details about the vacant post at Sherborne Abbey, to which reference was made in 'Belfry Gossip' last week? I learn that the office is one of whole-time employment, and the emoluments amount to about £100 a year. The vergor has to attend to the cleaning and heating of the building, work in the Abbey close and so forth, besides the official duties at the church services. In the event of some capable ringer obtaining the appointment, there will be a great opportunity of doing valuable service in the cause of ringing. The eight massive bells afford a most interesting field of enterprise.—Yours faithfully,

F. LL. EDWARDS.

A SHEFFIELD CHURCH'S JUBILEE.

ORIGINAL RINGERS TAKE PART IN CELEBRATIONS.

The celebration of the jubilee of the Church of St. John, Rammoor, Sheffield, took place on Wednesday, April 24th. The original church was erected by the late John Newton Mappin, and opened April 24th, 1879. It was destroyed by fire on January 2nd, 1887, and re-opened September 9th, 1888. The service was conducted by the Rev. C. Cole-Hamilton, M.C., Vicar of Sholing, and the same hymns and psalms were used as when the church was consecrated by Dr. William Thomson, Archbishop of York.

The bells were rung previous to the service, and several touches were brought round. Three of the ringers who took part were Messrs. G. Holmes, W. Bugar and J. Dixon, who participated in the ringing forty-nine years ago, when the bells were first opened, and later rang in the first peal on the bells early in 1881.

The bells were also rung in the evening, the local company being assisted by Messrs. R. Harrison, sen., R. Harrison, jun., W. Bugar, J. Dixon, and S. Lee. The Rev. Canon J. R. Lee Nicholls, M.A., rang the third in a short touch of Stedman Triples before the morning service.

TREBLE TEN AT BLACKBURN.

The peal of Treble Bob Royal at Blackburn, which is recorded in this issue, represents a step forward by the Preston Branch. It was rung at the first attempt. The ringer of the 4th had never previously had a pull on ten bells, and all excepting the conductor scored their first peal of Treble Ten. The composer is a Preston Branch ringer, and the composition is now rung for the first time. Grateful thanks are tendered by the band to the Blackburn Cathedral ringers for making the attempt possible, and for their kind congratulations after the peal.

F. G. NEWMAN FUND.

Previously acknowledged £17 15s., Mr. G. Williams 5s., Mr. G. Austin 2s. 6d., Mr. E. Brett 2s., Mr. J. S. Hawkins 2s., Mr. W. G. Whitehead 5s., H. A. R. 2s. 6d., Mr. W. Idle 2s., Mr. C. J. Burgoyne 2s.; total £18 18s. Further contributions should be sent to Mr. W. T. Cockerill, hon. secretary, Frodingham, 32, Edgeley Road, Clapham, S.W.4.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL.

On Tuesday, April 16th, in 55 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,260 changes) was rung on the Cathedral bells: S. J. Wolfe 1, C. McGuiness 2, G. Flintham 3, T. Pyle 4, J. A. Freeman (conductor) 5, C. H. Chester 6, J. Walden 7, H. L. Pask 8, H. Walker 9, J. Vickers 10. First quarter-peal of Caters on the bells, and rung as a birthday compliment to the Dean of Lincoln (the Rev. Dr. T. C. Fry), who was 83 on the 16th. It was rung after meeting short for Cluques.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The members of the Southern District of the Surrey Association met at Leigh Church on April 6th. During the afternoon ringing took place, members numbering over 30 from Buckland, Burstow, Charlwood, Horley, Leigh, Limpsfield Chart, Reigate and Redhill towers being present. Many visitors from Beddington, Crawley, Croydon, Leatherhead, Newdigate, Swindon and other towers were also present. A service was held in St. Bartholomew's Church, and was conducted by Rev. T. Kane, Vicar of Leigh, and Miss A. M. Mitchell (organist) presided at the organ. The Vicar gave a short address.

An excellent tea was provided at the Plough Inn by Mr. W. Parsons, and was followed by a meeting, Rev. T. Kane being elected to the chair. Mr. F. Sanders, of Buckland, was elected to the committee, a vacancy having been created by the election of Mr. D. K. Birth, of Merstham, to be Master of the Association. Two peals had been recorded since the last meeting, held at Charlwood in January.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Limpsfield Chart in June, and the quarterly peal will be attempted at Betchworth, and conducted by Mr. G. F. Hoad, of Reigate, subject to its being possible to make the necessary arrangements.

Rev. T. Kane was elected an hon. member of the association, and the following were also elected members of the association: Messrs. G. H. Weller, P. Pescud, S. Beadle, R. Beadle, A. Warren, G. D. Weller and J. Weller.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. T. Kane for taking the service, for addressing the members and for occupying the chair at the meeting. Miss A. M. Mitchell was also accorded a hearty vote of thanks for presiding at the organ; Mr. G. H. Weller was thanked for making the excellent arrangements, which contributed to the success of the meeting.

The members afterwards returned to the tower, and the ringing of standard methods was resumed.

A DROP IN PEALS.

Our readers will doubtless turn with interest to the study of the peals analysis for last year and to the report of the Analysis Committee. Those who judge the progress of the Exercise by the peals that are rung may read this report with some misgivings. There was a falling off of no fewer than 139 peals, which is perhaps disappointing in some respects, after the revival which 1927 showed upon the two immediately preceding years, but, surveying the post-war position as a whole, this falling off is hardly as serious as may appear at first sight. The year 1927 showed an exceptional jump forward of over a hundred and seventy peals, so that, compared with 1925 and 1926, there is nothing very alarming in the drop in 1928. The number rung (1,702) is well below the average for the last eight years, during which it may be said peal ringing returned to something like its pre-war conditions, but it was still above the number rung in the two years before 1927. Perhaps the most disquieting feature of the year's peal ringing is the drop of 46 in the peals of Grandsire Triples. If this were offset by more peals in more advanced methods it might have been attributed to the progress of the ringers, but the decline is spread through all the grades of ringing and the drop in Grandsire seems to point in some measure to a lack of aspiration on the part of young ringers.

There is, however, another probable contributory cause, and that is that most associations are now holding more meetings and practices than they used to do. This somewhat curtails opportunities for peal ringing, but expands the work of the ringing organisations, which is really a more important matter. Many other things may, of course, easily make a difference of a hundred or so peals in the aggregate. Even the element of uncertainty attaching to peal ringing might weigh more heavily against the ringers in one year than in another and so affect the total. There is, therefore, no need for pessimism. Peal ringing is bound to have its ups and downs; its good years and its leaner years. At the same time, those twenty-seven associations whose peal totals have dropped during 1928 compared with 1927 might do well to look into the causes of the falling off. If it is lack of interest or enthusiasm, now is the time to try and infuse a little more keenness into the members, because, when all is said and done, it is usually the peal ringers who are most competent as service ringers. Peal ringing, as a rule, not only makes a man a better method ringer, but often a better striker. This advantage which peal ringing gives is often overlooked by those who say that peal ringing is of no importance to anyone but those taking part. Unquestionably it is a factor in improving a person's ringing, and, if it does this, it is worth wide encouragement. At present the number of people who take part in peals is small compared with the total number of ringers and the general standard of ringing would be raised if more could be induced to interest themselves in peal ringing.

SUTTON COLDFIELD BELLS REHUNG.

The bells of the Sutton Coldfield Parish Church were reopened on Tuesday, April 30th, after having been rehung and placed in ball bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel Foundry, London.

Touques of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, and Grandsire were rung during the evening, members of the Sutton Coldfield tower and the following visitors taking part: Messrs. Wm. Davies, J. W. Pemberton, F. Rishworth, G. Sims, F. Dickens and T. Bloore. The conducting was shared by Messrs. B. Leedham (Ringing Master, Sutton Coldfield), J. W. Pemberton, Wm. Davies, and T. Bloore. The Vicar and churchwardens expressed their delight at the excellent manner in which the work had been completed, and thanked the ringers and visitors. The 'go' of the bells is all that can be desired.

DEATH OF LADY RINGER.LOSS TO THE WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

It is with deep regret we have to record the death of Miss E. M. Johnson, of Hinton, near Evesham, which took place at her home on Saturday, April 27th, at the early age of 28 years. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Johnson, and for several years held an important post in the Income Tax department at Evesham, and later was transferred to Hereford. At the end of 1925 she was compelled, through failing health, to resign her post and live an open-air life, which it was hoped would renew her vigour. Although her illness was a lengthy one, she bore it with great fortitude and cheerfulness, and her thoughts were always for others rather than for herself. Although every care and attention was bestowed upon her, she passed away as above stated.

Miss Johnson was a member of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, the St. Martin's Guild, and the Ladies' Guild, and had on many occasions travelled long distances to be present at the meetings of the latter. She was an adept handbell ringer, and never happier than when ringing a pair of handbells in a peal. Her last peal was rung last December, and was her 51st, 50 of which were rung with her brother Joseph.

Referring to her death at the Sunday evening service, the Rector, the Rev. V. C. Blythe, said Miss Johnson had a great love for God and His Church. She had been a Sunday School teacher, a member of the Church Council, and of all whom he had been privileged to visit he had never seen anyone who showed such sincerity and readiness for the last call. The important thing in our life, he said, was two-fold—the influence we leave behind us and the character we take away with us. Nellie Johnson always showed gentleness, quietness of manner, ability, kindness and love, and he hoped her influence would be for the good of all his hearers.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, April 30th, when the pretty church was filled with mourners and friends. The Rector, the Rev. V. C. Blythe, and the Rev. J. H. Stallard, Vicar of Hallow, officiated. The grave was beautifully lined with flowers, and at the end of the service four of her very near ringing friends with whom she had rung many handbell peals rang a course of Grandsire Triples over the grave, viz.: H. Middleton 1-2, J. Hemming 3-4, G. J. Hemming 5-6, J. Hall 7-8. Later, muffled touches and the whole pull and stand were rung on the tower bells, as a token of respect and esteem in which deceased was held. No less than 45 beautiful floral tributes were sent by relatives and friends, including two from her colleagues from the Evesham and Hereford tax departments. The greatest sympathy will be extended to the bereaved parents and family.

The following is a list of Miss Johnson's peals:—

DEATH OF MR. J. H. BATTING, OF BEACONSFIELD.

It is with deep regret that the Beaconsfield ringers have to announce the death of Mr. James H. Batting at the comparatively early age of 53 years. Born at Beaconsfield in 1875, he had been a member of the local band about 35 years, and for the greater part of that period had acted in the official capacity of steeplekeeper. He had been ailing for some time past, and an operation was found necessary, which was carried out at the King Edward Hospital at Windsor. From this, however, he never rallied, and quietly passed away on April 26th. The interment took place on Wednesday, May 1st, at the Beaconsfield Cemetery, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. The burial service was impressively conducted by the Rev. R. Wells (Rector of Beaconsfield), and the sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved wife and children in their great loss.

Mr. Batting's death leaves a gap in the ranks of the Beaconsfield ringers which will be hard to fill as he was always at his post for service ringing. He was not a great peal ringer, as he was debarred from ringing many peals owing to a weakness left by a serious illness which he had some twenty-five years ago. He had, however, taken part in a few peals, including the only local peal on the Beaconsfield bells. He was a very safe ringer in most of the standard methods, his favourite method for service ringing being Stedman Triples. After the interment the local ringers rang a 504 in this method at the Parish Church with the bells half-muffled: F. W. Buckland 1, Miss K. Fletcher 2, Miss D. Fletcher 3, W. H. Fletcher 4, H. Wingrove 5, J. Blackmore 6, R. Buckland 7, A. S. Bagley 8.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The Third Session of the Thirteenth Council (37th Annual Meeting) will be held in the Cathedral Hall, Chelmsford, on Whitsun Tuesday, May 21st, 1929, at 11 a.m. precisely.

The morning sitting will be adjourned from 1 p.m. till 2.30, from which hour the Council will sit, if necessary, until 5.30 p.m.

The Standing Committee will meet previously at 9.45 a.m. in the same room.

AGENDA, 1929.

1. Minutes of the last meeting.
2. Apologies for absence.
3. Statement of accounts and of sale of publications.
4. Election of honorary members.
5. Presentation of new members to the President.
6. To receive and discuss the reports of the following committees, viz.:—

- (a) Standing.
- (b) Peal Collection.
- (c) Literature and Press (sub-committee).
- (d) Methods.
- (e) Peals' Analysis.
- (f) Towers and Belfries.
- (g) Records.
- (h) Legal Liability.
- (i) Broadcasting.

MOTIONS.

7. That this Council will not recognise as a peal of Minor or Doubles any composition in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders respectively, before beginning the next 720 or 120. (Mr. R. Whittington and Mr. A. H. Pulling.)
8. (a) That honorary members pay an affiliation fee of 5s. each per annum. (b) That associations in future pay a fee of 5s. per representative per annum. (Mr. E. W. Elwell and Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.)
9. (a) The Council asks each association to appoint a consultant to the Advisory Committee or Committees in its area. (b) The Council asks each association to make every effort to get as many ringers as possible elected to Parochial Church Councils, to Diocesan Committees and to the Church Assembly. (Rev. H. Drake and Mr. Ch. J. Sedgley.)
10. That the rules of the Council be amended in order to provide that the notice and agenda of each annual meeting of the Council be published at least eight weeks, instead of twelve weeks, prior to such meeting. (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and Mr. C. T. Coles.)
11. That a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongst members of our affiliated change ringing associations, with power to report to the next annual meeting. (Mr. W. Ayre and Mr. E. A. Young.)
12. To fix the place of next year's meeting.
13. Other business, if any.

E. ALEX. YOUNG,

155, Rushey Green, S.E.6.

Hon. Secretary.

TRAVELLING FACILITIES.

Owing to the small number of applications received, no vouchers for cheap tickets to Chelmsford will be issued through the secretary of the Central Council. The following information will, therefore, probably be welcomed by members and friends:—

Dear Sir,—The L. and N.E. Company now issue cheap tickets daily from Liverpool Street to Chelmsford at the single fare for the return journey, viz., 3s. 11d. These tickets are available on the outward journey by any train after 9.30 a.m., and on the return journey by any train the same day. A fast train leaves Liverpool Street at 10.3 a.m., arriving at Chelmsford 10.52. This should suit Council members staying in London. Earlier trains at ordinary fares are run at 8.15 and 8.45. These timings are, of course, for Whit Tuesday. A special service will be run on Whit Monday, and cheap fares under above conditions will be available. The times of these trains are not yet published.

Week-end tickets are available from Friday, Saturday or Sunday until Monday or Tuesday, available by any train. Fare, 5s. 3d. return.

This information may be of use to members of the Council.—Yours faithfully, 21, Vincent Road, E.4.

C. T. COLES.

MORE YOUTHFUL RINGERS.

On Monday evening, April 29th, for practice, 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung by: G. Battle 1, W. Bailey 2, Miss M. Cooke 3, S. Bailey 4, W. J. Battle 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6. The first 720 on an inside bell for the ringers of the 2nd and 4th, the latter being only 12 years of age.

ST. JAMES' CLERKENWELL.

GREAT RINGERS' GATHERING AT OPENING OF BELLS.

A great gathering of ringers on Saturday attended the meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, arranged in connection with the opening of the new ring of bells, which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have installed at St. James' Church, Clerkenwell. A description of the work which has been done was given in our last issue, and suffice it now to say the visiting ringers found that the bells and the 'go' fully upheld the reputation of the Croydon firm. An interesting point about the new ring is that they are the first in the city of London tuned on the Simpson principle, which gives them power as well as tone, and the probability is that something will have to be done to lessen the sound in the streets around, and possibly to reduce the volume in the ringing chamber itself. Everyone was extremely pleased with the bells, and the church authorities are to be congratulated upon the successful issue of their big restoration scheme.

Everybody was accommodated with a pull during the afternoon or evening, under the tower mastership of Mr. William Pye, and in all about 120 ringers took part.

A bright service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. J. Parker), the singing being led by the choir, and a solo was sung by Miss Dawson. The Vicar gave a most appropriate and thoughtful address.

Subsequently the Vicar and churchwardens entertained the ringers to tea in the crypt of the church. This is now a commodious parish hall, complete with stage and other necessary accommodation. 'Twas not always thus. It is not so long since that it was a vast vault, piled six feet high, with rotting coffins and mouldering bones. These were reverently removed and buried elsewhere, and then came a somewhat daring building scheme. The huge brick pillars, eight feet thick, supporting the church overhead, were cut away and the arches supported on girders carried on stanchions, with the result that there is now a large and well-lighted apartment for parochial use.

The ringers' gathering was presided over by the Vicar, supported by Mrs. Parker, Mr. C. F. Johnston, Mrs. Johnston, his mother, Rev. O. A. Archer and Rev. T. E. Thear (curates), Mr. W. Pye (Ringing Master), Mr. W. Pickworth (North-East District vice-president), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), Mrs. How, Mr. A. J. Duncombe (churchwarden). Tea was served by members of the congregation.

Afterwards a brief business meeting was held, at which five new members were elected, and it was left to the secretary, in conjunction with the district secretaries of the Essex and Herts Associations, to arrange the venue of the joint meeting between these three organisations. There was a sprightly discussion, however, before a decision was come to.

ONE OF THE FINEST PEALS IN LONDON.

Mr. C. T. Coles said they had heard that day perhaps the finest peal in London; if it was not the finest it was not far away from it. It was the first peal tuned on the Simpson principle in the county of London. There were one or two very close outside London, in Surrey, but that was the first one in London, and he thought that all who had heard them would say they were a very fine peal of bells indeed, and a great credit to the firm of Gillett and Johnston (applause). They congratulated Mr. Johnston and his staff on a very fine piece of work. Many ringers did not like bells hung on ball bearings because one of the drawbacks was that bells so hung had a tendency to whip back, which resulted in the ringer having to hold the bell, but no one who had rung on these new bells could complain of that. That was the first time he had rung bells on ball bearings which went so easily. Many ringers disliked ball bearings on bells because, they said, the ringer had more worry than work. In this case they could say there was neither worry nor work. As regards the tone, they were a very fine peal of bells, both inside and outside the tower. Outside, perhaps, they might be improved a little if the louvers were blocked up a little more. The bells were still very noisy near the tower, and he hoped something might be done in that respect. Continuing, Mr. Coles thanked the Vicar, on behalf of all present, for inviting them to that 'ringers' opening' and for meeting them in the very fine style he had done. He wished to couple with that vote of thanks the names of the churchwardens, Mr. Howe and Mr. Duncombe, who, with the Vicar, had given them that excellent tea (applause). For a district meeting, that was a record for their association. On one or two occasions they had had more at their annual meeting, but to his knowledge never at a district meeting. They were most grateful to the Vicar and churchwardens for their kindness (applause). Mr. Coles also thanked the ladies of the congregation of St. James' who had waited upon them, and also the choir and organist and the soloist for their help at the service. He congratulated the Vicar on being the possessor—almost the sole possessor of this fine peal of bells. He understood that St. James' was one of three churches in the country where the bells and other property of the church were vested in the Vicar and churchwardens for ever, and even Advisory Boards and Chancellors had no power over them. He had even heard it said they could burn the lot down as long as they did not burn the house opposite (laughter). Whether that was true or not, it was true that the property of the church was vested in the Vicar and churchwardens, and that the Chancellor had no control over the bells at all (laughter). Mr. Coles added that a local hand was to be formed at St. James'. There was already a nucleus from those who remained of a company he had the pleasure of helping a few years ago. They hoped to get some more young men locally, and the association would arrange for an instructor. The practice night would be Friday, and he hoped, after a few weeks, when they got going, that other members would come along and assist them (applause).

'A SHOW JOB.'

Mr. Cyril Johnston seconded the vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for their hospitality. He said a few years ago there was a popular song that told them, 'Every cloud has a silver lining,' and in the dedication service last Sunday he seemed to catch from the Vicar a fleeting glance which reflected that sentiment (applause). Proceeding, Mr. Johnston said: 'Although this is essentially a "bell gathering," I know you all would wish to congratulate him, his wardens and the people of the parish on the successful issue of their magnificent efforts. It is not every Vicar, who, with his wardens, can celebrate at one and the same time the restoration of the organ, the spire, the bells, the ancient registers, the installation of electric light—all at a cost exceeding £3,500—and then proceed to indulge in the entertainment of a large body of bellringers. Although we are told that nobody has any money nowadays, the Vicar has given a great lead to other churches, some of which have done nothing to their bells for three or four centuries. I ought not to say too much about this, perhaps, because we are contractors. The story of that part of the restoration of St. James' for which my firm has been responsible—that of the bells—might be summed up in the following short interview that took place. To put it tersely, I said to the Vicar, "Look here, let's have a show job," Churchwarden How, at his elbow, ejaculated, "Shall us?" and the Vicar said "Let's" (laughter). Not only were they anxious to have the last word in modern fittings and musical bells, but I want to tell you how readily they adopted every suggestion for improvement of the ringing room and for the ringers' comfort generally. The verdict has been pronounced very generously by Mr. Coles to-day, and on behalf of myself and my staff I wish to say how much we appreciate what he has said. A bell founder's calling in these days would seem to require many and increasing qualifications. He must be versed in engineering, music, bellringing, business methods, organisation, finding his way by road to a little village that is not on the map—and now, I am told, in ecclesiastical law as well (laughter).

ST. JAMES' UNUSUAL TRUST.

We work in places that are full of interest and historical associations, and not the least of these has been St. James' Church, Clerkenwell. This church was rebuilt in 1784, and is, I believe, as Mr. Coles has told you, one of only three churches in the country that have a peculiar constitution. By an Act of George III's reign, it was vested in the Vicar and wardens as trustees in perpetuity, and 'the property in the bells, pews, seats, books, and all goods, chattels, and ornaments, in the said new church and churchyard shall also be vested in the said trustees for ever upon the same trust.' Our own interest has been a special one, for Mr. William Gillett set up his factory in Clerkenwell a hundred years ago, before we moved to our present site in 1844, and intimate personal associations with the neighbourhood have lasted right down to the present day through the British Horological Institute and the local members of the clockmaking industry. There are, we know, some ringers who do not approve of the progress that has been achieved in this country in the art of tuning bells. I am sure,' continued Mr. Johnston, 'that they are considerably in the minority. It is hard to believe that anyone with the faintest pretension to possessing a musical ear can prefer a succession of false chords, with no regular sequence of the falsities. They say they like the good hold tone of our predecessors' pattern—well, in our opinion, and in that of the Vicar and wardens, the bells of St. James' were a bold, had lot. They have now been given a new lease of life that will be measured probably in centuries, and I trust you will find that they have gained nobility of character. They were cast or recast previously at varying dates from 1791 to 1904, and therefore no question of antiquity entered into the problem. That rather leads me to refer to the difference of opinion that occurs on occasion between some of the ecclesiastical authorities or societies with antiquarian interests and the bellfounders, in the matter of the restoration of church bells. Is the old wood frame to be used again?—it has been here. If a new frame is necessary, should it be of wood or metal? Ought the bells to be recast, or ought they not? How old should a bell be before it either deserves retention in a peal to the musical detriment of the whole, or relegation to a museum? Every case ought to be treated on its merits, and I am confident that if Advisory Committees and those interested in the care of churches and church bells would get more in touch with the bellfounders, who have the practical knowledge, difficulties would be removed, obstruction of schemes avoided and satisfaction gained by all parties. In concluding, I want to express our appreciation of the spirit in which the Vicar and wardens have entered into this whole scheme. It is difficult to realise that Mr. Parker has been here as curate or Vicar for 42 years. Surely he must have taken Holy Orders at that period of his life when Mellins' Food was his principal nourishment (laughter). I would like to refer to the enthusiasm of our staff and employees, who have worked with a will in the foundry and in the tower to give you of their best, and, last but not least, I want to thank personally Mr. Coles, Messrs. Pye and their band of ringers, who not only rang the peal so successfully at last Sunday's ceremony, but were good enough to give us a trial run on Friday before the great day. If only we could take them to every opening job we have in every part of the world, I feel sure we should sell a new peal of bells every day' (laughter and applause).

The Vicar, in responding, referred with regret to the absence of Mr. How, who for the last few months had given nine-tenths of his time to the repairs which had been going on in the church, and it was a great joy to him to see everything so quickly nearing completion. For himself, he thanked God they had been enabled to do this work. With those who let their churches go for century after century without doing anything, he sympathised very much, because he knew the difficulties when they had not got the money. In St. James' they had been able to raise the money, but there were so many parishes where they had not got it. He respected those who declined to incur liabilities if they had no guarantee of being able to pay. In that parish they had a legacy left them just in the nick of time. The bells had not been rung for over two years, because the steeple was not fit. The organ was dropping to bits week by week, and the organist spent more time in the organ repairing it than he did at the keyboard. The money came just in time to justify them putting the work in hand. As far as the bells were concerned, it was a great gratification to him that they approved of them, and that they liked them. For himself, without any technical knowledge, it had been a great pleasure to listen to the bells. They were of brilliant tone, and, as far as he had ever heard bells, he knew of none that gave a better result than these (applause). The Vicar, in conclusion, expressed his pleasure in seeing such a large gathering, and hoped they would have pleasant memories of their visit. He added his thanks to the ladies who had assisted at the tea.

Following further ringing, a social evening was spent at the Victoria Hotel, Charterhouse Street, and was attended by Mr. C. F. Johnston, Mr. J. H. R. Freeborn, Mr. Jones (works manager), and several others of the foundry staff, besides a large number of association members and friends. Mr. Freeborn acted as M.C., and songs were given by Miss Dawson (daughter of Mr. G. Dawson, of St. John's, Leytonstone), whose item, 'Ring, Bells, Ring,' was especially appreciated and was asked for a second time; also by Mr. Freeborn, Mr. Dave Wright (Croydon), and Mr. G. L. Joyce (Leytonstone). Miss Windsor and Miss Lamb were the accompanists. On handbells, courses of Stedman Caters and Cinques, Cambridge Major, and a

THE MINOR METHODS COLLECTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your request the following is a list of the compositions at present in the MSS. of the 'Collection of Minor Methods.' It is, of course, subject to revision and alteration.

DOUBLES.

1. The standard callings of Stedman and Carter's Principle.
2. All the standard callings of Grandsire.
3. A 5,040 made up of spliced six-scores. This gives the greatest variety of calling possible.
4. Examples of six-scores with bells other than the treble as the Whole Hunt. These variations are as old as Fabian Stedman.
5. Pitman's arrangement of Grandsire.
6. Morris' arrangement of Grandsire.
7. The standard callings for Plain Bob, New Bob, and suchlike methods.

MINOR.

8. Fifty 720's for the different Plain and Treble Bob Methods.
 9. Five selected 720's, with mixed Bobs and Singles, for Plain Bob. These with the two standard callings make a very suitable 5,040 for Bob Minor.
 10. Thirty-five 720's which, with two Singles, are applicable to various Plain methods. When the Singles are omitted, these give incomplete 720's, which can be used as in the Bankes James' arrangement of Cambridge.
 11. A selection of arrangements similar to the Bankes James' Cambridge for Treble Bob methods with sixth's place at lead-end.
 12. Law James' arrangement of London.
 13. Compositions for spliced Little and Alliance methods.
- It will be seen that all those about which there is any controversy are referred to in the committee's report, and they comprise only a small proportion of the total number.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

touch of Double Norwich, were given by Messrs. G. R. Pye, W. Pye, G. H. Cross, C. W. Roberts, W. Hewett and T. Groombridge. Mr. C. F. Johnston saw that nobody lacked refreshments, and during the evening proposed 'Success to the Middlesex Association and health to its officers.' Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary) acknowledged the toast, and took the opportunity of thanking Mr. Johnston for his hospitality, and the several artistes who had so kindly entertained the company.

The proceedings were eventually terminated by the singing of the 'National Anthem.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, has been elected a vice-president of the Birmingham Association of Mechanical Engineers, of the Council of which he has been a member for six years.

That inveterate veteran, James George, has been at it again. He is 75½, but on Tuesday of last week he rang the 11th at St. Martin's, Birmingham, to a peal of Cinques, and on Saturday put the 49½ cwt. tenor at Worcester Cathedral through a peal. This knocks the proverbial spots off anything that anyone of his age has ever done before.

A peal at Worcester Cathedral is still a 'man's job,' despite the magnificent rehanging of the new peal by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The tower still (metaphorically) wanders all round the cathedral while the bells are ringing (formerly it used to make a wider tour of the whole precincts), and the peal on Saturday was, without doubt, one of the greatest performances in Mr. George's wonderful career.

Incidentally the peal at Worcester was the one hundredth which he and Mr. Albert Walker have rung together.

The peal of Cambridge at Brading, Isle of Wight, on Saturday last, was the second Surprise peal to be rung on the Island. It is nearly 33 years ago (August 3rd, 1896) that the last Surprise peal was rung there. This was Superlative at All Saints', Ryde, and was conducted by George Williams.

The bells of Scorton, Lancs, were opened fifty years ago next month (June 28th, 1879), but the first peal was not rung on them until last Saturday. Messrs. E. Jennings and W. Robinson, who took part, rang their 25th peal together, and are the first Westmorland ringers to ring this number together.

A hundred and fifty years ago to-day a peal of 12,240 Bob Major was rung at Braughing, Herts.

To-morrow is the anniversary of the record peal of London Surprise Major rung at King's Norton in 1903. The 14,112 changes occupied 8 hrs. 40 mins., and this is still the longest peal of London yet rung.

A memorable Superlative Surprise performance took place on May 15th, 1894, at Loughborough, when a peal of 8,900 was rung in 6 hrs. 16 mins. Canon Coleridge and Dick Lane are among the survivors.

The ringer of the 9th in the peal at Blackburn on April 27th was J. T. Bimson and not Brinson, as published last week. With the peal of Maximus at Liverpool, Mr. Ben Knights has now called a peal of Kent Treble Bob on six, eight, ten and twelve bells.

The bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, will be broadcast on Sunday evening from 7.50 to 8 p.m.

Mr. George Wells, of Deeping St. James, Lincs, who with his wife has just celebrated his golden wedding, has been a ringer for 61 years, and is still learning fresh Surprise Minor methods, and hopes shortly to score a Surprise peal on a light ring. Unfortunately, he did not feel equal to standing in the peal arranged in celebration of his wedding jubilee.

Writing with regard to the peal at Henstridge, Somerset, which was claimed to be the first on the bells, Mr. E. F. Creed writes that a peal was rung there on June 3rd, 1911, by Castle Carey and Ditchat members of the Bath and Wells Association.

The peal rung at Twickenham on April 27th was the first by Miss K. M. Bradford and not by C. H. Brown. It was a twenty-first birthday compliment to Reginald A. Wagner.

Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, who has been residing at Wishaw, Scotland, for a number of years, and has been general manager of the Glasgow Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., has now taken up an important position in London as a director of the Tunnel Portland Cement Co., Ltd., and of Messrs. F. L. Smidth and Co., Ltd.

Before leaving Wishaw, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were the recipients of numerous parting gifts, including presents from the employees of the Glasgow Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., the West of Scotland Iron and Steel Institute's Council, by whom they were entertained to dinner, and the congregation of St. Andrew's, Wishaw, of which Mr. Lewis was Rector's warden, lay representative and lay elector.

Later in the year Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will settle at Brasted, Kent, in what is now the Rectory. Mr. Lewis' business ties have kept him from any very active part in ringing for some years, but we hope he may now be able to find a little more time to join in the arl.

The demands on our space this week by the analyses tables and report have necessitated holding over a number of reports and letters to the editor.

'NARROW ESCAPES.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very much interested to read, under 'Belfry Gossip,' of the narrow escape a party of ringers had of losing a peal of London Surprise Major at Milford-on-Sea. We had exactly the same experience when ringing a peal of Doubles at Dinder, Somerset, on Easter Monday last (recorded in your issue of April 12th), the rope of the tenor falling at my feet just as the conductor said 'That's all.'—Yours truly,
EDWARD J. ROWE.

Stourton, Zeals.
Several other correspondents have written, telling of ropes breaking after the bells had come round or when the bells were being lowered after the peal.

REPORT OF THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

The peal ringing of the year 1928 shows a serious decline as compared with 1927. It falls short of last year by 139 peals, the total number being 1,702, against 1,841 in 1927. Tower bells show a decrease of 108, there being 12 peals less on twelve, 4 on ten, 84 on eight, 3 of Minor, and 5 of Doubles. On handbells there are 31 peals fewer, in spite of an increase of 10 peals on twelve. They have decreased by 5 on ten, 32 on eight, 2 of Minor, and 2 of Doubles.

The following table shows the total peals rung under the different categories:—

	Tower Bells.	Handbells.
Maximus	14	6
Cinques	19	6
Royal	52	9
Caters	80	3
Major	621	16
Triples	381	5
Minor	336	6
Doubles	146	2
	1,649	53

Peals of Maximus and Royal are more than last year, but there is a falling-off in Cinques, Caters, and Triples, as the following table, compared with that of last year, shows:—

	Stedman.	Grandsire.	Erin.	Methods.
Cinques	22	3	—	—
Caters	48	35	—	—
Triples	197	184	1	4
	267	222	1	4

Stedman peals are 14 less, Grandsire 53 less, and other methods 7 less. Triples show a great loss of 53 peals, Stedman accounting for only one of these, a decrease of 46 peals in Grandsire Triples being remarkable.

Major also shows a serious falling-off of 40 on tower bells and 23 on handbells.

Surprise ringing has not maintained last year's disappointing level; in Major Bristol shows 5 peals less, Superlative 15 less, other methods 2 less. Superlative Maximus is also one down, London Surprise peals are the same, and the following show increases: Cambridge Maximus 2 peals, Royal 6, and Major 1, other methods of Royal 2 peals, and Spliced Surprise Major 4. Altogether there are 8 fewer peals of Surprise.

A large proportion of the decrease in Major peals is in Treble Bob, there being no fewer than 46 peals less, but there is compensation in the fact that there are 9 more peals on the higher numbers. Altogether there are 182 peals of Treble Bob this year, made up as follows: Maximus, 4 of Kent and 2 of Oxford; Royal, 28 of Kent and 1 of Granta; Major, 115 of Kent, 24 of Oxford and 8 Spliced.

These last are included in the Spliced Major column in the table.

It is satisfactory to note that Double Norwich continues to increase, showing 14 more peals than last year, a total of 124. Little methods have also advanced from 5 peals to 9, but to set against this Plain Bob has decreased by 29 peals on all numbers, a total of 149.

Other methods of Plain Major are 5 more, while Spliced peals on all numbers (other than Surprise and Treble Bob) are 2 less.

Minor peals are 5 less, and Doubles 7 less than last year.

The Midland Counties Association again have scored the most peals, having 150 tower and 3 handbell peals, a decrease of 30 peals on last year's total. The Lancashire Association has 110 on tower and 9 on handbells, a drop of 15 peals, while the Kent County Association has 109 peals, all on tower bells, 3 fewer than last year. No other society has reached the century, the Yorkshire Association having dropped from 103 to 70.

Thirteen societies show an increased number, totalling 99 more peals. Three newly-affiliated total 38 peals, while six associations have the same number. Twenty-seven show a decrease, amounting in all to 276 peals.

New Cambridge Surprise Maximus, York Surprise Royal, Kent and Lincolnshire Surprise Major, Gainsborough Little Bob Major, and the Liversedge variation of Spliced Treble Bob Major, were rung for the first time.

Unlike last year, long lengths on 8-10 bells are conspicuous by their absence, the only one to report being 10,800 of Minor in three methods by the Suffolk Guild.

Peals worth noting are Stedman Cinques by the London County, the band consisting of six fathers and six sons; the first 10-bell peal by members of the Police Force, being Grandsire Caters for the Lancashire Association; 22 methods of Surprise Minor in seven 720's by the Essex Association; Double Norwich Major, in which 2.3 were rung by one man, for the Gloucester and Bristol; a Frederick peal of Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples by one family, both for the Kent County; a peal of London Surprise, being first in the method by all the band, for the Lincoln Guild; and the peal of five Surprise methods of Major by the Middlesex County.

Following are the number of peals rung each month in 1927 and 1928:—

	1927.	1928.		1927.	1928.
January	148	124	July	120	118
February	152	145	August	139	116
March	133	144	September	140	144
April	159	127	October	191	154
May	149	164	November	165	152
June	144	125	December	201	189

An analysis of the footnotes shows that ringers who have scored their first peal number 593, being 18 less than in 1927. Ringers of peals in a different method, or method on a different number of bells total 1,135, an increase of 39 on last year's total. Ringers of

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. John's, Erith, on Saturday, April 27th. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, touches being brought round in methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major. The Vicar (Rev. W. M. Browne) conducted members who were not ringing on a very interesting inspection of the church, which is of great historical interest.

The Vicar officiated at the service, and gave a very interesting address. At the conclusion of the service the members repaired to the G.F.S. hut, there to partake of tea, kindly supplied by the Vicar, who heartily welcomed the members to Erith.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. One new member was elected, and the election of another previous to a peal was ratified.

Mr. E. Barnett, jun., gave a report of proceedings at the association's committee meeting on Easter Monday, at Maidstone, and called attention to the circular by the new secretary (Mr. F. M. Mitchell). Eynsford and Shoreham (Kent) were proposed for the next meeting, and Shoreham finally chosen for a date in July.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his kind help to the members in describing the church, for conducting the service and address, and for his generous hospitality in supplying the tea; to the organist for his services, and to the ladies for their attention to the visitors' creature comforts.—This was carried with applause.

The Vicar briefly responded and voiced his thanks that Mr. F. J. Cullum, the veteran captain of his ringers, was sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be present on that occasion. This concluded the meeting, and after a few touches on handbells, which were warmly appreciated, the members returned to the tower for further ringing.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A GAIN TO THE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the North Eastern Division of the Essex Association was held at the parish of St. Osyth, near Clacton, on Saturday week, when 42 ringers were present from 18 parishes. The Rector officiated at the service, having previously conducted all the ringers round the church, explaining to them the various items of interest (of which there were many). The visitors much appreciated this extra 'turn,' in their welcome to this, one of the oldest parish churches in East Anglia. Among those present at the tea were the Rector, churchwardens and organist, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Association), Mr. Nevard (District Master), Mr. R. W. Stannard (district secretary), and other well-known ringers, many of whom were visiting this out-of-the-way parish for the first time. At the subsequent meeting ten new members were elected, and Messrs. Howard and Nevard proposed and seconded respectively a vote of thanks to all.

St. Osyth is a gain to the association of a new tower, with its nine members, and there is a promise of having the bells restored shortly.

their first peal inside number 51, away from the tenor 16, in the method inside 73, Maximus 1, Cinques 4, Royal 21, Caters 9, Major 77, Triples 25, Minor 82, Doubles 35, on 12 bells 18, on ten 59, on eight 33, on six 12, Surprise 21, 'in hand' 6, in method 'in hand' 29.

The number of new conductors totals 60, and conductors of a fresh method 79.

In addition, the footnotes show that 61 peals were the first on the bells, 38 since restoration or augmentation, and 158 the first in the method on the bells. Muffled and half-muffled peals number 81, birthday peals 269, wedding (including silver, golden and diamond) 63, church festivals and dedications 34, Empire Day 5, Armistice Day 22, anniversaries 60, welcome and farewell peals 50, complimentary 15, royal birthdays 16, golden wedding and retirement of the Archbishop of Canterbury 19, enthronement of the new Archbishop of Canterbury 3.

There is a slight decrease in the number of ladies who have rung peals. This year's total is 88. Two only appear among the conductors. Two peals—one of Rob Major and one of Cambridge Surprise Major—were rung by the Ladies' Guild.

Two peals of Doubles were published with faulty statements, corrections of which have been received from the secretaries concerned.

Again we conclude our report with the number of peals rung in each of representative years since 1881, the total for the whole period being 53,541:—

DEATH OF M.C.A. PRESIDENT.

CLOSE OF A LONG AND ACTIVE CAREER.

The Midland Counties Association has sustained a great loss by the death, which occurred on April 26th, of the president, Mr. Robert Baker Chambers, J.P., of Littleover, Derbyshire. Mr. Chambers was in his eightieth year, and had been in failing health for some little time past, as a result of which he had relinquished many of the public positions which he formerly held, but he retained until the last his office and his interest in the M.C.A. Mr. Chambers succeeded the late Mr. J. W. Taylor as president of the association, and he rendered it invaluable service by the transformation which he effected in its financial standing. By interesting his large circle of friends in the organisation, he secured what must be the largest list of honorary members in any ringing society, and thus he built up the association in a strong position. He was himself of a generous nature, and materially assisted in bell repair funds, almost invariably giving a private donation when the M.C.A. made a grant. The tenor bell at Peatling Magna, Leicestershire, bears his name as the donor at recasting in 1906, and he did much work anonymously in this direction.

Mr. Chambers was a man of many parts, who served his day and generation without sparing himself. A Derbyshire man, he was born at Wilne, near Shardlow, on January 5th, 1850. His father, Mr. Joseph Chambers, who was a farmer and landowner, died in the year 1856. His mother, a daughter of Mr. William Hall, of Peatling Magna, Leicestershire, owned considerable property in the parish, and also in the parishes of Boulton and Allestree, in the county of Derby. Mr. Chambers was educated at Mr. R. N. Wilson's School, Castle Donington, and at Ellesthorpe House School, near Rugby. For a time after leaving school he occupied a large farm, and took an interest in agricultural affairs, being a member of the Derbyshire Agricultural Society, and a steward at several shows. He took an active interest in athletics, and was president of the Sawley Cricket Club, captain of the Sawley Football, Athletic and Rowing Clubs, winning numerous prizes in local walking and other competitions. During two seasons he played full-back for South Derbyshire Football Club. In 1870, Mr. Chambers matriculated at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, and during his residence there he rowed in his College Torpid and twice in his college eight. He won the College mile walking race from scratch in 8 mins. 15 secs., and was second in the three-mile walking race at Oxford University sports in 1872. He took his B.A. degree in 1875, Magdalen Hall in the meantime having been transformed into Hertford College. In 1876, Mr. Chambers took up his residence at South Stith, Idrigehay, where he remained until 1893, still taking an interest in sport. He was also actively engaged in political matters, being four years a member of the Executive Councils for both the Midland and West Derbyshire Conservative Associations, and he represented the Wirksworth Rural Deanery on the Diocesan Council. In the year 1882, he was articled to Mr. A. H. Robotham, Derby, and was admitted as a solicitor in 1886. He was associated with the firm of Robotham and Co. for some years afterwards. In 1893, Mr. Chambers removed to Green Hill, Derby, and since then took an exceedingly useful part in town affairs. He had, for instance, been a churchwarden of St. Peter's, Derby. The notable restoration of that ancient church, which cost nearly £10,000, was in a large measure due to Mr. Chambers' efforts as hon. secretary to the restoration committee, as well as to his own generous gifts. He was a member of the Southwell Diocesan Conference, and of important committees connected with that body. He also actively co-operated in educational affairs. He became one of the Church of England members of the School Board in 1902, and continued thereon until the duties were taken over by the Town Council, and he then became a member of the Education Committee. He had twice been Mayor of Derby, having been first elected to the Town Council in 1903.

He was an ideal sportsman, and was associated with innumerable county organisations of a charitable or philanthropic nature.

The funeral at Littleover was attended by a very large and representative county gathering, and among those present were Mr. J. Griffin (vice-president), Mr. W. Wallace (hon. treasurer), Mr. E. Denison Taylor, and Mr. W. Willson, representing the Midland Counties Association, and wreaths were sent by the M.C.A. and St. Peter's Church bellringers, Derby.

Muffled bells were rung in many parts of the area of the association's activities, including a peal at Leicester Cathedral and at St. Peter's, Derby (recorded elsewhere), and the touches given below.

One of the cherished possessions of the general hon. secretary (Mr. Ernest Morris) is a silver bell inkpot given to him (unknown to the general body of members of the association) by the deceased president in recognition of the clerical help which the secretary had given him. It is inscribed, 'E. M., 22nd January, 1927.'

At All Saints' Church, Wigston Magna, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) by the Sunday service band, with the bells half-muffled: W. H. Humberstone 1, W. Brewin 2, A. Ward 3, A. Chamberlain 4, A. H. Carter 5, J. Carter (conductor) 6, F. Lloyd 7, E. Lloyd 8.

At Wingfield, 936 Bob Minor, with the tenor covering: J. P. Tarlton (conductor) 1, Olive Tarlton 2, Dorothy Tarlton 3, Doris Dilkes 4, B. Wheeler 5, W. Wain 6, P. Martin 7.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

CHELMSFORD.

The interest of the Exercise will centre next week upon Chelmsford, where on Monday the Essex Association will celebrate its jubilee and on Tuesday the Central Council will assemble for its annual meeting. Each, in its own way, is an important gathering. The Essex County Association has for fifty years been among the most virile of the territorial organisations, guided by energetic and tactful leaders, with the result that it established and has continually maintained a foremost place in the Exercise. The jubilee celebration will doubtless draw together a big gathering of members and friends, and it is largely as a compliment to the association that the Central Council fixed upon Chelmsford as the venue for this year's meeting.

The Council seems likely to have quite a full day's sitting on Tuesday. In its agenda are items which may make the session a fairly long drawn out one, and one or two of the subjects will doubtless provide interesting debates. Not the least controversial is the Methods Committee's report round which we may expect to get the main arguments in regard to what shall in future be recognised as a peal of Doubles and Minor. If, however, that should fail in this purpose, then the motion in the name of Mr. Whittington should not fail to bring a clash of opposing views. The old standard of a peal on five and six bells has been challenged, and the Council will be asked in the report to recognise a new condition, and, in the motion, to reaffirm the existing standard. The Council, in brief, will be asked whether it will accept in a peal on five or six bells the single extent, or a medley of extents as the unit of truth.

The whole Exercise is awaiting a decision on this point, and we have no hesitation in saying, despite the claim made by the Methods Committee that their proposal is 'in harmony with the traditions and usage of the Exercise,' and that 'tradition' will be 'ample safeguard against any excess,' that no step that has ever been taken in regard to fixing the standard of a peal has been so retrograde in its principles as this proposal of the Methods Committee will be if carried. Instead of raising the standard, it will open the door to all sorts of jiggery-pokery by unprincipled conductors—and unprincipled conductors have been known in the Exercise. And for what is the Council asked to do this? To justify the inclusion in the Minor Collection of certain compositions of which, up to now, no one but the composers and the committee have had a good word to say? If in their construction these particular compositions have anything to recommend them, they have the vital disadvantage of introducing a principle which can lead, despite all the committee's assurances, to the introduction of 'fantastic arrangements,' and even the committee could not tell us where the line could be drawn. It is for the Council to draw the line, and we shall be surprised if they do not do it emphatically by ruling out such compositions as the Law James London and Morris arrangement of Doubles.

SHOULD NONCONFORMISTS RING AT CHURCHES?

A SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD DISCUSSION.

In delightful spring weather, the quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at that beauty spot, West Lulworth, which, as usual, proved a great attraction. The world-famous Lulworth Cove is close by this old country village, encompassed by hills, and the Cove is one of the most remarkable features of the coast. It is a fairly-like inland sea, almost shut out from the ocean proper, and guarded by two projecting spurs of rock which form the Pillars of Hercules of this miniature Mediterranean.

Two motor coaches brought the majority of the ringers, one starting from Bournemouth and picking up en route a total of thirty. Another starting from Weymouth did likewise, and arrived via Bere Regis with a party of 32. Both coaches passed through most of the 'Hardy country,' and enabled the visitors to see Lulworth Castle, with its circular towers at each angle; the front of the mansion, which is ornamented with heraldic shields and allegorical statues of music; and also Bindon Abbey, a Cistercian monastery founded in 1172.

The bells, a light ring of six, were available from 2.30 p.m., and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob were rung. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. D. Job), and the Rev. H. L. Phillips (late chairman of the Wimborne Branch) gave a short and excellent address. Colonel Robson (churchwarden) read the lesson.

Subsequently high tea was served in the Church Hall, where between 80 and 90 ringers and friends sat down as the guests of Col. Robson.

A short business meeting followed. In the absence of the chairman (Mr. R. N. Dawes), the Vicar was voted to the chair. Five new members, including two ladies, were elected.

The Secretary reported he had been in communication with the authorities at Milton Abbey for their summer meeting, and he was pleased to say they could hold it there in June. This announcement was received with applause, and carried unanimously, no meeting having been held at Milton for a number of years. The Secretary also called attention to the annual festival to be held at Bridport on May 11th, and to further meetings which would be held during the summer at Wyke Regis, Abbotsbury and Frampton, with an occasional practice.

The Rev. C. A. Phillips (hon. secretary, Wimborne Branch) proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar, to Col. Robson (who had provided such a sumptuous feast), and to the organist and choir. He reminded them that the late Rev. W. P. Schuster, who was Vicar of West Lulworth, was formerly the general secretary, and had done such good work for the whole Guild. He would have loved to see such a meeting as that.—Mr. Dance seconded, and Mr. Hewlett, endorsing what had been said, paid a special compliment to Mrs. Ironmonger and her party of ladies who had done so well for such a large gathering.—Both the Vicar and Col. Robson replied.

The business being ended, the Vicar called on Col. Robson to give a talk on the subject of Nonconformists taking part in ringing, under the heading of 'Unity of the Churches and Ringing.' Col. Robson made an eloquent speech, and was listened to with the deepest interest. He took a very broad view of his subject. He is churchwarden at his church, and a practical ringer. He said we had heard a lot of talk of our empty churches and the falling-off of our bellringers, and parishes not able to get ringers to ring the bells. Even at his own church they could only ring three bells. It was 'Ding, dong, bell,' a shame on the village. Unfortunately, the doctor had ordered the Vicar not to ring again. Why should there not be unity of the churches, and why not have Nonconformists come and ring the bells? The churches belonged to the people. If clergy could preach in other churches and chapels, why should not ringers from other denominations ring the bells in the church? When recently in Scotland, where there was no Church of England, he found he could say his prayers in the other church as well as in his own. In conclusion, he asked, 'Why are we short of ringers?' He knew one thing was apathy, and he was pleased that two of the number who had joined the Guild that day were going to be ringers at his own church.

The Vicar, who followed, said the question was a deep one. They must ring the people to church, and they must make bellringers out of their churchmen.

Mr. Burton, who agreed with Col. Robson's broadminded view, said they wanted more of it in the church. He knew one church where Nonconformists rang for the service and then went to their own chapel to worship. He was a member of the choir, as well as a ringer at his church, and sometimes the choir went to the churches of other denominations to assist in the music. Why, therefore, should not ringers of other denominations ring the bells of the church? They rang for God, and not for the churchpeople only.

Mrs. Ironmonger (who was formerly a ringer) said a lady who used to ring with them was a Nonconformist, and she eventually got confirmed and came to the church and proved an excellent member.

The Rev. H. L. Phillips, Mr. Dance and the secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings) took part in the debate, which proved very interesting.—Col. Robson was thanked for his talk, and the Vicar for conducting the meeting.

NEW BELLS AT WOKING.

TREBLES DEDICATED BY THE BISHOP OF GUILDFORD.

Since the year 1884 the Parish Church of St. Peter, Woking, Surrey, has had a ring of six bells. They were originally cast by William Eldridge in the neighbouring town of Chertsey, where for a long period there was a flourishing offshoot of the foundry first established at Wokingham. The fourth was recast in 1766, and the tenor in 1887, and to these six bells two trebles have been added. The augmentation has been carried out as the result of the efforts of the local ringers, who launched the scheme and collected all the money. They are fortunate in having among their number Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., who is also churchwarden, and he has done a great deal towards the successful outcome of the scheme. The new trebles, which have been tuned to blend with the old bells, are hung in the pits and fittings of the former trebles, which have been hoisted into a new iron frame built over the old. A perfect 'splice' has been effected, and an admirable circle obtained for the ropes in the ringing room. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are to be congratulated upon an excellent job. Each bell is inscribed, 'Gloria in Excelsis Deo,' and with the names of the Vicar and churchwardens. The work done up to the present has cost about £200, but it is hoped to raise a further sum to enable the rehanging of the rest of the peal to be carried out.

The dedication was performed on Saturday by the Bishop of Guildford. The church was full almost to capacity, a considerable portion of the congregation being ringers from every part of the diocese. The old six bells were rung prior to the service, at which the Bishop was accompanied by the Rev. J. G. Bruce, Rector of Worplesdon, who acted as Bishop's Chaplain, the other clergy present being Canon G. Askwith (Vicar of Woking), Archdeacon R. Irwin, and the Rev. P. Bradshaw (curate of St. Peter's, Woking). The Guildford Diocesan Guild's special form of service was used, with the introduction of suitable dedicatory prayers. It opened with the singing of Psalm 150, followed by a short lesson read by Archdeacon Irwin, and the Magnificat. The congregation stood during the dedication of the bells which followed. The Woking Parish Church bellringers, followed by the Rev. P. Bradshaw, Admiral T. P. Walker and Mr. F. C. T. Mann (churchwardens), Archdeacon Irwin, the Bishop of Guildford and the Rev. J. G. Bruce, proceeded to the ringing chamber, where the ropes of the two new bells were presented to the Bishop by the churchwardens. After the words of dedication and a prayer that the bells might continually call together faithful people to praise and worship, the ropes were handed to the conductor, and while the Bishop and clergy were returning to the chancel, the bellringers rang a few 'rounds' on the bells. After the hymn, 'Unchanging God Who livest,' the Bishop gave an address, and during the closing hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' an offertory for the bell fund was taken, and amounted to £14 6s. At the conclusion of the service a Diocesan Guild band rang 504 Stedman Triples.

THE JUSTIFICATION FOR BELLS.

The Bishop took his text from Isaiah xl. 3, 'A voice that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight a highway for our God.' He said a church building itself and all its adjuncts, however great their beauty might be, were only means to an end. They were to help us to realise the glory of worship, the beauty of the Divine presence, and the great compelling thought that our very best was all too poor for the worship of the majesty of God. To give less than our very best to His service was not only unworthy of Him, but unworthy of us. All the adjuncts of the church should reflect that great truth. Yet how easy it was without any means of grace to forget that and to miss our chances, and how often we did miss them. We were always missing our chances, and he thought this was particularly true of our church bells. They ought never to be sounded without prayer. He believed he was speaking to many bellringers, and he would say to them, Don't miss your chance. Don't ring your bells without praying as you ring. They may be a voice crying in the wilderness to those who hear them—that most wonderful cry which could fall on human ears, so searching and so full of appeal: 'Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make straight a highway for our God.' Otherwise, what justification was there for the bells of the church? It was not the mere music; they meant something spiritual. The bells were a call to the human race and all who heard to prepare the way of the Lord, and as we listened we should pray that the message might go home into life after life and soul after soul. Never was there a time when the bells and the bellringers should be so much at work, because the habit of public worship had decayed, and decayed very sadly indeed. We should not have so much to deprecate and deplore, or be anxious over if all of us, when we heard the bells, prayed, to accompany them. It was a solemn thing, the Bishop added, to come to a service like that. It involved an issue of deeper spirituality and more real religion, and it could not leave them unaffected, unmoved and unchanged.

BIG TEA PARTY.

Subsequently, the Church Hall was filled for a big tea party, which numbered about 220, and included subscribers to the bell fund and the ringers. Admiral Walker presided, and he was supported by the Bishop of Guildford and Mrs. Greig, Archdeacon Irwin, Mr. W. Harrison (vice-president of the Guildford Diocesan Guild), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master), Mr. F. C. T. Mann (churchwarden), Mr. G.

Milner Walker, J.P., Mr. Walter C. Ryde, K.C., Mr. Price Williams (chairman of the Urban District Council), Mr. E. A. Young (secretary of the Central Council), Mrs. A. L. Ryde, Mr. A. A. Hughes (of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (secretary of the Guildford Guild), etc.

After tea, Admiral Walker referred with pleasure to the fact that the Vicar, Canon Askwith, had got on so splendidly following his illness that he had actually been able to take part in the dedication service (applause). The Chairman also expressed deep appreciation of the fact that the Bishop had come amongst them to dedicate the bells in the church. They thanked him also for his inspiring address. They now had, he said, a good ring of bells. It was not quite complete, but a ring of eight was infinitely better than a ring of six. Referring to visitors that day, Admiral Walker said they had one with them whose father was Bishop Titcomb, who was Vicar of Woking fifty years ago. They also had Mr. Ryde, K.C., who was captain of their old bellringers 30 or 40 years ago. Admiral Walker added that Sir John Simon, who formerly resided in the parish, was prevented from attending owing to the general election. This showed what old associations a parish with bells had. Sir John Simon was there for about six months, and remembered the place mainly on account of the bells.

A CHEERFUL CROWD.

The Bishop of Guildford said a company of bellringers seemed as cheerful a crowd as one could find oneself with. He had had some very interesting and cheery meetings since he had been Bishop of Guildford, and one that stood out was the great meeting of bellringers at Croydon last year, when ringers from every part of Great Britain gathered in their thousands. More and more he felt that one of the revivals of church life which was most welcome and likely to be most powerful, was that among the bellringers. He felt they had a great source of strength and a great ministry as important as any. Therefore, when he was asked to come to a gathering of that kind he did not come with the idea that he was paying them a compliment or doing them a favour; he came with the utmost possible pleasure and a sense of privilege to share in the comradeship and fellowship with men who were working together for the same purpose that he was working, to increase the Kingdom of God. The Bishop added that he and his wife would go away with a feeling that they had spent a profitable and delightful afternoon and evening in their company (applause).

PRESENTATION TO ADMIRAL WALKER.

Mr. W. H. Edwards, the secretary of the Woking Parish Church ringers, paid a tribute to Admiral Walker's work in connection with the new bells. He felt sure they would never have got the new bells without Admiral Walker, and the local band of ringers very much appreciated what he had done (applause).

At the request of Mr. Edwards, the Bishop presented Admiral Walker with a gold badge in the form of a bell as a token of the local ringers' appreciation. The Bishop said the badge was given by the ringers in a spirit of real affection to one who had won respect and regard by the whole-hearted way in which he threw himself into the life of the parish and especially the bellringing (applause).

Admiral Walker suitably acknowledged the ringers' kindness, which, he said, had taken him 'flat aback.'

The Rev. P. Bradshaw voiced the thanks of the assembly to the churchwardens and their wives and the other ladies who had helped in the provision of the tea. He also thanked the local band of ringers for arranging the decorations, especially mentioning the miniature bells hanging over the tables.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith reminded the company that the addition of the two treble bells was not the end of the scheme to restore the Woking bells. It was desired to have the other six rehanged, and if Admiral Walker was as enthusiastic in this as he had been already, this would soon be accomplished. Admiral Walker wanted more money for the rehanging of the old bells, and among the things he had done to augment the bell fund was to have replica models of the two new bells cast. The bells were suspended over the tables, and they were for sale.

Afterwards touches were rung on handbells, much to the interest of those who had seen nothing of the kind before.

The Woking Parish Church band who rang during the dedication service consisted of J. Brackley, Admiral Walker, A. P. Osborne, W. H. Edwards, F. Foot, H. Greenhill, T. Strudwick and C. Coles. Mrs. Edwards and D. Munday were spare ringers.

Touches on the bells were rung throughout the evening. There were 'rounds' for those who could do nothing more, and the methods ranged up to London Surprise Major.

THE LATE MISS NELLIE JOHNSON.

The death of Miss Nellie Johnson makes one think of Henry Kirke White. Her short life was full of poetry. One regrets that it was not her privilege and delight to have taken part in a peal of Stedman 'in hand.' What a happy home circle is broken! We loved her in life; let us not forget her in death.

If worth, if genius, to the world are dear,
To Nelly's shade devote no common tear.
Her worth on no precarious tenure hung;
From genuine piety her virtues sprung.

C. F. W.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE ALLDER, OF BURNHAM.A BUCKS PIONEER.

One of the old South Bucks ringers, who began ringing on the original peal of five bells in the 'seventies, passed away on Sunday, April 28th, in his 71st year, after a few weeks' confinement to his house—George Alder, of Burnham.

The funeral took place at St. Mary's Church on May Day, his children and friends in attendance, and the service being conducted by the Vicar. There was a large display of floral emblems, one in the shape of a bell, with carnations and laurel leaves, sent by the Burnham ringers inscribed: 'In kindly and grateful remembrance from some of his old friends and fellow-ringers.'

George was ever an outspoken man, in business, sport or bellringing. On the football field for years his shrill, clear voice earned him the nickname of 'Piper,' which clung to him to the last. He was a clever builder, and never hesitated to take on any difficult job below ground or upon a roof, and he would climb about a high roof without fear like a cat.

For nearly 50 years he has acted as steeplekeeper at St. Peter's tower, and he frequently took out a bad-going bell. He spent many hours doctoring up the bearings and fittings, thus saving the church-wardens some expense.

He was a member of the College Youths, the Middlesex Association, and the Oxford Guild, and had rung peals in most of the standard and Surprise methods on eight bells. He was also one of the earliest members of the Berks and Bucks Association of ringers formed in 1878, and took a hand with the writer in the practices at Boyne Hill and Farnham Royal held from 1878 to 1882.

Of a generous, impulsive good nature, his death breaks the chain of half a century—round ringing to method, the old school and the new—and his willing and obliging disposition regarding the tower and bells ('his' tower he always called it) at all times will be sadly missed by those who enjoyed the combined practices there for the past 20 years, when the Surprise methods were tackled by so many ringers in the Burnham district with success.

In the evening, after the funeral, the local ringing company, with Mr. W. H. Fussell's help, rang two touches with muffled clappers, conducted by the Rev. Percy Nott. Half-pull could not be attempted, but well-struck changes in the same old way that George began his ring with, 'Stoney,' marked his end. It is hoped later to ring a muffled peal for him as a farewell from his fellow-churchmen.

W. H. F.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Central Division was held at Burgess Hill on Saturday, April 27th, about forty being present. Ringing commenced at 2.45, and continued until 4.30.

At the service, the Vicar (the Rev. G. F. Beddard) first said that he hoped those present would kindly consider themselves as his guests. He went on to deliver an eloquent address on the history and uses of bells from the earliest times, tracing their development from the rude wooden instrument which was used in their stead at the beginning, and mentioning particularly four principal uses to which the bells of the church have been put for many ages—the sacring and passing bells, the Angelus and the curfew.

A collection on behalf of the Benevolent Fund amounted to 10s.

At the Parish Hall, a capital tea, kindly provided by the Vicar, was greatly appreciated and enjoyed. This was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar presiding, supported by the Master, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman.

Mr. S. S. Vince, of Lower Beeding, and Mr. A. E. Andrews, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Brighton, were elected new members. All the officers of the division were re-elected, viz.: Hon. secretary, A. D. Stone; Committee of Advice, K. Hart, F. Bennett and C. Tyler.

A discussion then arose as to the advisability of arranging combined practices of the whole division. This, the meeting considered, would not be practicable, supporting the view that the grouping together among themselves of adjoining towers for practice would be found more successful.

The holding of divisional meetings on Wednesdays instead of Saturdays was then discussed, it being decided that one meeting this year should be held on a Wednesday, as a trial, Mr. Keith Hart kindly offering to act for the hon. secretary at this meeting.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Rickman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for the service and most instructive address, and for his generous hospitality, coupling with this the name of the organist. This was enthusiastically received, and the Vicar, in his reply, again referred to the great pleasure it had given him to welcome those present.

Ringling was again resumed and continued until close on nine o'clock, the methods during the afternoon and evening ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Superlative Cambridge and London Surprise. The following towers were represented: Brighton (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd), Bolney, Burgess Hill, Crawley, Cuckfield, East Grinstead, Keymer, Lindfield, Lower Beeding, Seaford, Shoreham and Southover (Lewes).

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal of Stedman Caters at King's Norton on Saturday was rung on the 26th anniversary of the record peal of London Surprise at the same church. Mr. Harry Withers, who on the former occasion took down the figures of the peal as rung, on Saturday again appeared from somewhere and presented the band with figures of the composition they had just completed. On this occasion he had taken down the sixes of the turning course!

Mr. George Williams asks us to thank his many friends who have sent him birthday congratulations and good wishes.

To-morrow is the anniversary of the 16,608 of Kent Treble Bob Major rung by the Ashton-under-Lyne Society at Mottram-in-Longdendale, Cheshire, on May 18th, 1883. The peal occupied nine hours and forty-eight minutes, and was conducted by Mr. Sam Wood. It is interesting at this date to recall the names of the men who set up the record of that day, for, in the words of the footnote to the peal, 'This is the longest peal ever rung in any method by one set of men.' The ringers were Thomas Moss, James Adams, James Wood, jun., Samuel Wood, Benjamin Broadbent, Joseph Mellor, George Longden and John Thorp.

Thurstans' famous four-part, still recognised as a 'masterpiece,' was rung for the first time on May 18th, 1846.

On May 19th, 1777, a peal of 11,080 Treble Bob Royal was rung at Shoreditch by the College Youths.

The South-West tower of York Minster and its ring of ten bells was destroyed by fire on May 20th, 1840.

The celebrated 13,054 Stedman Caters at Cheltenham, was rung in 8 hrs. 16 mins. on May 21st, 1888. It was conducted by Mr. W. T. Pates, and among those who took part were Rev. C. D. P. Davies and Canon G. F. Coleridge. The late Mr. C. H. Hattersley was also in the peal, and used to say it was the finest struck peal he ever took part in.

Next Tuesday is also the anniversary of that wonderful achievement, the 12,675 Stedman Cinques at Southwark, rung by the College Youths in 1923.

Thirty years ago next Wednesday was rung the 17,024 Double Norwich Major at Kidlington, and the same day is the anniversary of a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, exactly a hundred years earlier. This was the first peal of Stedman Triples outside Norwich.

A correspondent who has been much interested in the recent achievements of Mr. James George, would like to ascertain something of the doings of ringers at the other end of the scale. Who has been the youngest ringer to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Treble Bob, or Surprise Major? To publish the names and ages of these youthful ringers might be an incentive to the juveniles to conquer such things at a still earlier age.

JOHN MURRAY HAYES.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A GIANT OF THE EXERCISE.

Mr. F. E. Dawe writes: I can quite appreciate and fully corroborate Mr. C. F. Winney's remarks about the peal of Treble Twelve in at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on April 29th, 1884—45 years ago. Mr. Winney and I both took part in it, and it was as he describes, a very different proposition in those days, for when a band was made up it was always agreed to meet at the church 'on the off-chance of the tenor going well!' This was usually expected in dirty weather, when cold, damp, fog and rain prevailed—especially the two latter!

I have known bands meet there and then not go up, in anticipation of a 'rough time.'

During the progress of the peal in question (which was a good one), and which Hayes called, there were many anxious looks. All frequently scrutinised Hayes, and the same thought must have pervaded the mind of each of us, 'Can human being last the time?' He did, and I well remember being the first to speak to him immediately on setting the tenor, and his reply was, 'Yes, Frank, I had to keep the furnace going at full blast, and very little water in the boiler!'

I think most of our older friends will agree with me in saying that John Murray Hayes, a stonemason by trade, was certainly one of the three or four strongest men in the ringing Exercise during the last 70 years.

I remember him being accosted by some men with a weight-lifting machine by 'Try your strength, sir,' and Hayes replied, 'Well, I've been doing that all day.' Whereupon he had a pull, and the indicator went right round the clock face as far as it could go!

Amongst many other notable performances, Murray Hayes rang the tenor to the famous 15,840 Treble Bob at Bethnal Green 61 years ago.

At an occasional convivial gathering it was a rare treat to get him to sing 'Tom Pearce's Old Mare' with a rollicking chorus concerning 'Uncle Tom Cobley and all,' which could be relied upon to 'bring down the house.'

Yes, 'Jack' Hayes was a good, honest, open-hearted creature, always ready to do a good turn for all, and never cherishing evil thoughts of anyone. I wish more of his calibre existed now. I rang fully 50 peals with him.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.MORE MONEY WANTED FOR WAR MEMORIAL.

The annual festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Bridport (which was revisited after a lapse of 18 years) on Saturday, and was largely attended. A service was held at St. Mary's Parish Church, conducted by the Rev. S. H. Viggars (Rector). The lessons were read by the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, Kington Magna, Gillingham, hon. secretary and treasurer of the Guild, and a sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the Archdeacon of Sherborne (Bishop Joscelyne), one of the vice-presidents. Church bells, he said, were as sermons in wrought iron; they summoned the people to higher thoughts and issued a general call to useful service.

A luncheon, attended by about 160 members and friends, was served at the Greyhound Hotel. The chair was taken by the Rev. R. Hugh Gundry, of Shroton Rectory, Blandford, Master of the Guild, who was supported by Bishop Joscelyne, the Rev. S. H. Viggars, the Rev. F. L. Edwards, Canon Hutchings (Beaminster), the Rev. C. Carrow Cox, president, West Dorset Branch (Lyme Regis), Messrs. W. S. B. Northover (Bridport), Frank Bugler (Beaminster), Martin Stewart (Ferndown), and Mr. T. Hervey Beams, hon. secretary of the West Dorset Branch. Others present included the Rev. J. C. Phillips (Bournemouth), the Rev. E. H. H. Lee (Whitechurch Canonicoorum), and the Rev. A. B. Hutton (Loders).

Luncheon over, the toast of 'The King' was duly honoured.

At the business meeting a statement of accounts was submitted by the Rev. F. L. Edwards. It was shown that the balance in hand amounted to about £90. This was reported to be the highest credit balance on record, but the Secretary reminded his hearers that he foresaw heavy expenditure in the near future, and that this money would be all required. Fifty pounds was on deposit, and so earning a small amount by way of interest.—The report was adopted on the proposition of the Rev. C. C. Cox, seconded by Mr. J. B. Benger (Dorchester).

On the proposition of Mr. Stewart, the officers were re-elected en bloc, as under, and thanked for their past services: Master, Rev. R. H. Gundry; hon. secretary and treasurer, Rev. F. L. Edwards; hon. assistant secretary, Mr. T. H. Beams; hon. auditors, Rev. A. D. H. Allan, Wimborne, and Mr. H. R. Hopkins, Kington Magna.

The Master, returning thanks for his re-election, said he was proud to hold the office he did. He had been a ringer for about 50 years, and ringing was one of the keenest joys of his life. He would gladly continue to do all in his power for the good and welfare of the Guild and its members. He again repeated a previously made appeal to branch secretaries that they should advise him of their meetings in order that, whenever possible, he might be present. He particularly asked that such notice should be given him of the proposed dedication of bells after rehanging or the addition of new bells.

The General Committee was elected as follows: The appointed officers of the Guild and of branches; the Rev. C. Wood, the Rev. R. E. P. Gorrington and Messrs. J. R. Jerram and E. B. Barter.

Mr. T. Hervey Beams, presenting a statement of accounts relating to the War Memorial Fund, said the amount paid in to the hon. treasurer was £120. In addition they had £3 17s. in the bank and about £2 14s. in hand (the amount taken up in a collection at that day's service). The expenses incurred—mainly for printing—amounted to £3 17s. They were still a long way short of the amount required, and, although they had till their jubilee year, 1932, in which to raise the balance, it was his fervent hope that every member would do his best to have the fund completed and done with at the earliest possible moment. He would not be satisfied until the money was raised.

Mr. W. S. B. Northover also deprecated the slow way in which the money was coming in. It was a debt they owed, not to the Guild, but to the memory of their fellow-members who went down in the war, and he thought it was incumbent upon them to see to it that the money was raised with the least delay. The amount due was about £80, and he proposed that £30 of the balance they had in hand as a Guild be voted to the Memorial Fund.

The Master agreed that the money should be raised as soon as possible, but he queried whether their Guild funds, raised for an altogether different purpose, could be put to that use. He did not think it was right or fair to make the memorial a charge upon their funds; that memorial was originally intended to be a personal contribution from the members.

Messrs. Edwards and Cox agreed, the latter expressing the hope that the susceptibilities of those members who had not contributed would be touched as a result of the comments made that day. The matter was then allowed to drop.

The proceedings concluded with a vote of thanks to Bishop Joscelyne for his attendance and words of encouragement, to the Rector of Bridport for taking the services for them that day and the use of his church and bells; to Mr. Beams and his local committee for the excellence of their arrangements; to the incumbents of surrounding churches for the use of their bells, and to Mr. Walter Trump, who had so successfully maintained his high reputation as a caterer.

Ringing took place during the day at Bridport, Beaminster, Bradpole, Whitechurch, Burton Bradstock, Litton Cheney, Loders, Netherbury, and Symondsbury, where the bells were rung.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.TRURO BRANCH MEETING AT PERRANZABULOE.

A well-attended meeting of the Truro Branch of the Diocesan Guild was held at Perranzabuloe on Saturday, May 11th, when there were about 50 present from St. Mabe, St. Gluvias, Gwennap, St. Agnes, Illogan, Truro Cathedral, and the local band. The bells, a nice ring of six, tenor 9½ cwt., hung last June by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, were raised at 2.30 p.m. and kept going until nine o'clock, except during the interval for service and tea.

The service was conducted and the address given by the Rev. Father Boyd (Vicar), the lessons being read by the Rev. Father Skrine (curate). The Vicar took an unusual text, for he based his remarks on the words which one often sees on a brass plate outside the front door of a house, namely, 'Please do not ring unless an answer is required.' He said that ringing was an outward ceremony for a form of worship, which required the combined efforts of a band who should not turn their ringing into a mere pastime.

After tea it was decided to hold the next meeting at St. Gluvias, an invitation having been received from Mr. Nicholls, who said his Vicar very much wished the next meeting to be held at that place. The last Saturday in September was decided upon as the date. It is, however, possible, that an earlier meeting will be arranged during July at St. Mabe, to create local interest in the rehanging and augmentation of the present ring of five, which are hung anti-clockwise. The Vicar is quite keen on this project, and the local ringers are confident that the money would be forthcoming if a start were made. It is thought, therefore, that this would be a good way of supporting the local band in their hope and desire.

NEWBURY BELLS RESTORED.REDEDICATION SERVICE.

The rededication of the bells of Newbury Parish Church was performed by the Right Rev. Bishop Shaw on Sunday afternoon, April 28th, when about 700 people attended, including the Mayor and Corporation of Newbury. The Church Lads' Brigade led the civic procession from the Municipal Buildings to the church. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. R. Majendie). Bishop Shaw gave an interesting address on the use of the bells, remarking that Newbury bells were recast 125 years ago at the local foundry, Aldbourne, Wilts. The bells have now been retuned and hung on ball bearings in a steel frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of London, to whom great credit was due.

About 95 ringers were present from all parts, and were afterwards entertained to tea in the Parish Room.

The Bishop offered his congratulations to the parish on accomplishing its purpose so thoroughly.—The Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) expressed his great satisfaction at what had been done. It was a special feature of this scheme that although the bells had been retuned and rehung, their character had not been destroyed, and they were the same old Newbury bells.—Mr. R. T. Hibbert, secretary of the Guild, spoke of his boyhood acquaintance with Newbury bells, and it was a great delight to hear them ringing again, and to know that they are now safe.

Mr. H. W. Curtis (captain of the tower) thanked the Rector and the committee for their efforts in raising the fund for restoration. The collection on behalf of the bells fund amounted to £12 10s. 9d. The Rector said the collection would now clear the debt of restoration, and thanked Mr. A. A. Hughes for the splendid work his firm had done.—Mr. Hughes suitably responded. The bells were kept going in the evening until nine o'clock.

WHAT SHALL CONSTITUTE A PEAL?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read with much interest the Methods Committee's Report and your leading article and the other correspondence which has followed it. With a great deal of the report and of Mr. Trollope's letter in your issue of May 3rd, I agree, but there are one or two points on which my views differ very considerably from those of the Methods Committee, and as I know that I am by no means alone in my opinions, I would like to try and express some of them here, in order that the Exercise, and particularly those members of the Central Council who have to decide what is to be done about it on Whit Tuesday, may have both sides of the question before them.

First of all, let me say that I do not want to take up an extreme view and refuse to listen to any arguments that do not agree with it; I readily admit that the whole business is a most complicated problem, and that many reasonable arguments can be, and have been, put forward on both sides. But it must also be said that a lot of unreasonable arguments have also appeared, and that there has been (as someone has already said) 'much muddled thinking' on the subject. It has been my aim and object in expressing my views to face the facts and to follow them out to their logical and reasonable conclusion.

I have said in these columns that I value and respect the opinions of Mr. Law James, and I say the same of his two colleagues on the Methods Committee, but I cannot remain blind to the fact that their collected views (as expressed in the report and in their individual letters) would bear much more weight with the Exercise and the Central Council if they showed a little more sign of consistency. In the issue of May 3rd there are laid out before us four definite examples of occasions on which members of the Methods Committee have flatly contradicted each other, and in some cases themselves as well. This is not by any means a complete list of their contradictory statements, and I would like to mention just one or two more. The Report says: 'The claim has been made that this arrangement (i.e., Mr. Bankes James' Cambridge Minor) does really consist of seven true and complete extents on the grounds that if we count rounds at the start there are 720 true rows, then another 720, etc. We cannot accept this as sound argument.' Nor can I! But who was it that made this claim? Was it not the Rev. H. Law James himself, who half a column lower down signs the report that contains this statement? If anyone doubts this, I ask him to look at the issue for January 18th, page 41, and read the second paragraph of Mr. James' letter, ending with the words, '... so that each of the seven is true and complete.' Mr. Law James can hardly deny that he has been the chief advocate of counting rounds (in certain cases) as the first row of a touch or peal and not the last. When I asked him to reconcile this policy with the Central Council's rule that 'a peal must start from and end with rounds,' he replied (at the second time of asking) that it was a 'natural law which cannot be altered.' And now the Report tells us that 'it is contrary to the tradition and usage of the Exercise, and contrary to the nature of change ringing, to count rounds at the start as a change.'

I have said that I agree with a great deal of the Report. I certainly agree with its producers in hoping that the Council will accept the Bankes James arrangement of Cambridge as a true performance. A lot has been written about 'juggling with truth' and the meaning of 'true and complete,' etc. Surely, a great deal of this is irrelevant to the main issue. The point the Exercise is trying to decide is not whether any individual 720 (or sequence of 720's) is true and complete or not, but what it is going to accept as a true performance, so that then it can bring its rules into line with this.

I think that we must all agree with the Methods Committee in regarding the Bankes James arrangement as made up of two round blocks of 2,160 changes and one ordinary 720. If it is going to stand, it must be regarded in this light and not as seven separate 720's. It is in their next point that I differ so entirely from the view expressed in the report, which says, 'We do not consider it of any particular importance that this block appears so nearly to consist of three true and complete extents.' That is where I, and I believe a great many others with me, disagree entirely. The leading article on April 26th suggested that the committee wanted the Central Council to admit as a peal of Minor any composition in which each of the 720 rows appears seven times, no matter in what order, and this desire was denied by Mr. Trollope in the next issue. Now I do not wish to read into the Report anything that is not there, but I do honestly think that the writer of the leading article was to a certain extent justified. It certainly appears that the committee advocate allowing a certain amount of scope in the arranging of the block of 2,160 changes, provided that each of the 720 rows appears three times. They particularly say that they consider the fact that in Mr. Bankes James' arrangement the 2,160 is so nearly three successive true 720's of no importance. This is where I think the majority of the Exercise will find it so hard to agree with the committee.

Now I have advocated letting in this composition as an exception, and I drew up a rough outline of the main points of the policy which embodies this. I am aware that this is an original, and perhaps bold, policy to put forward, but there is really a great deal to be said for it, and I do urge the Exercise to consider it. After all, it is an exceptional case. Time, practice, and experience have proved this. The arrangement is habitually rung to Cambridge Minor, but not (to my knowledge) to Kent or Plain Bob. Why? Surely because there is a need for it in Cambridge, and not in the other cases. I ask those who think deeply about this matter to consider very seriously this question, and I want to lay great emphasis on it: 'Is it a reasonable thing to alter the whole basis of five and six bell peals for the sake of one (or, if you like to include Mr. Morris' Doubles, two) compositions? Some people may say that there are other compositions at stake as well, but I would remind them that practically everyone who has expressed his views on this subject, not excluding the members of the Methods Committee, have, when it has come to arguing in detail, gone straight to Mr. Bankes James' peal of Cambridge Minor.

In the policy which I put forward in my last letter I would, however, like to make a slight modification, and that is, substitute for suggested resolution (iv.), 'That in the case of Treble Bob methods in which not more than one (or 4, or 7; I leave this important point for the consideration of others) essentially different 720's are obtainable, a round block of 2,160 changes may be substituted for any three successive 720's, provided that this block consists of three blocks of 719 true changes joined together by the three members of the missing Q set.'

I submit that this is a reasonable and logical line of action to take, and that it satisfies the desire of the majority of the rank and file of the Exercise, which is to admit the Bankes James arrangement of Cambridge Minor and exactly similar compositions without opening the door to all kinds of peals of Minor in which we may substitute for three 720's a block of 2,160 containing all sorts of repetitions, provided that each row only appears three times. Whether this latter is really what the Methods Committee want the Exercise to allow or not, I do not know, but in spite of Mr. Trollope's contradiction of this in his last letter, it is certainly what they appear to advocate in the Report.

I am aware that this letter contains a certain amount of adverse criticism of the members of the Methods Committee. May I repeat, in conclusion, that I respect all that they have written, and agree with a great deal of it, and that what I have written has been in no unfriendly spirit, but because I feel very strongly that that part of the policy which they appear to advocate, which I have dealt with above, is not in the best interests of the Exercise.—Yours, etc.,

STEPHEN H. WOOD.

'ROUNDS' FIRST OR LAST?

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Severn's letter in your issue of April 26th, I am sorry to note that he seems deliberately to have misquoted me. I think that my letter of April 12th could not have been plainer, on two points at least.

First, that a peal '... shall COMMENCE and end with rounds ... that it shall consist of 4,999 different rows AND TWO ROWS OF ROUNDS....' Does this look as though I have joined his 'majority' in that rounds shall be the 'LAST ROW OR CHANGE'? You will excuse the capitals; they would appear to be necessary.

Secondly, that I did not wish to quote a 'majority.' I have no right to speak for anybody but myself in letters which appear over my name; the views of the Leytonstone company would be expressed over the signature of its hon. secretary, and not through one of its members. And, unless the opinions of a very goodly number of ringers have personally been canvassed by Mr. Severn, he, too, has no right to talk of 'majorities.' My letter of April 12th said this in a gentler way.

I wrote therein of 501 opinions. I will go further, and say that it is doubtful if Mr. Severn could name five men who have given him a perfectly logical reason as to why the Bankes James five thousand of Cambridge Minor should be considered false. A number object to it because the extents do not run round; others because it does not conform to the existing rule that a peal shall commence FROM ROUNDS. Mr. Severn says this 'from' is immaterial to him. Quite! It is the basis of his objection to the peal.

We all have our different opinions, and none of us is more correct than another in a case of this description. We (in the form of the Central Council—bless 'em) have got to agree as to which view shall be considered correct, and no talk of falsity on a split straw will help to decide the question. The peal has come, and, I hope, to stay, but if the Central Council decide otherwise, sensible men will abide by its decision. Personally, I hope it will decide for the Cambridge and any others similarly constructed, and against the London, although I must admit the truth of Mr. Drake's past arguments on the question of 'splicing' as applied to the latter. I am not going to endeavour to justify my inconsistency in supporting extents in spliced methods, while I am against peals in spliced extents. I cannot!

I am obliged by Mr. Severn's kindly advice on conducting London, out of his experience of forty years. This I shall carefully note. He has, however, missed my point with regard to the setting out of his figures; but, as I said, it was merely a piffing example of following tradition, and it is not worth further explanation.

Writing of London, I wonder if Mr. Severn would object to my ringing this method with 164235 as a plain lead-end, with second'splace bobs—would the 720 be 'legitimate'? Or would his doughty champion (Mr. W. Willson) describe it as an abortion, a monstrosity, or a what not? In my meagre experience of four-TEEN short years I have rung the extent many times—legitimately!

I object to Mr. Drake's definite statement that a method must be varied by two kinds of call only. The 22-Surprise-method peal rung at Chigwell (which, Mr. Severn may recall, I had the honour to conduct) contained calls that were neither bobs nor singles; but I do not think Mr. Drake means us to take him too literally in this respect.—Yours faithfully,
GEO. L. JOYCE.

May 4th, 1929.

A DEFINITE LINE.

Dear Sir,—In their report, the committee seem to have made out their case and put it clearly before us so that we can vote on it, yes or no, quite easily.

With regard to your article on it, when you say there should be 'no juggling with truth,' this does not seem a very happy use of words: whereas when you say in the same sentence that we have to decide whether to 'insist upon the extent of a method as being the unit of truth,' you seem to have expressed the matter very happily. To me they seem to be an unpleasant way and a pleasant way of saying the same thing—not, as you put it, opposite things. At any rate, to ring more than a single six-score, or a single 720, is to repeat rows, and if we call such lengths a peal, we are juggling with truth—most certainly—although it is not a nice way of putting it.

At the same time, I do not like the constant repetition of the appeal to the tradition and usage of the Exercise. Our forefathers, it would seem, deliberately refused to have anything to do with splicing. It two methods were to be rung together they made them into a combination or 'Union,' and rang them as a new method from beginning to end. The practice of splicing has grown up in the last twenty years, and is a new thing, and we need not pretend that it has anything to do with the traditions and usage of the Exercise. It is better to face the fact that it has not, and that being a new thing it requires new regulations.

Theoretically I would support those who object to 'juggling with truth,' and those who would 'scrap the lot.' But in practice I am afraid I have not the courage of my opinions, and dare not lay such a proposition before the Council. I will challenge those who speak so boldly on this matter to table such a proposition, and I will support it. But it must be understood that 'no juggling with truth' means that no peal of Doubles must exceed 120 changes, and none of Minor shall exceed 720. Also that 'scrap the lot' makes all splicing illegal. For if we are to favour one kind only, the splicing of extents must come before the splicing of methods.

The conclusion of the whole matter is this. The Methods Committee have drawn a definite line and given their reasons for it. We may not agree with that line, but at any rate their opponents have drawn no definite line. They are not yet agreed where the line should be drawn, and they have given no reasons for their objections. All they say is that one does not like this, and another does not like that. This will not do. Either we must have a definite line drawn somewhere, and reasons given that we can all work on, or we must take one of the two extremes, of absolute truth, or absolute variety.

HERBERT DRAKE.

THE FINAL JUDGES.

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the report of the Methods Committee that is to be submitted for debate at the coming meeting of the Central Council. In the meantime, however, I would like to add a few personal comments in the shape of a brief summary of the 'going-off' course, and the various 'turning courses' that have occurred, as 'the trend of opinion' has forced the leading critics to repudiate their original contentions and subordinate to the irreconcilable truths revealed in reasoned argument.

Most of your readers are aware that primarily an attack was made upon my arrangement of Grandsire Doubles. This, the critics sought to discountenance, but at the same time still continue to recognise the Rev. E. B. James' arrangement of Cambridge S. Minor. I replied in the issue of 'The Ringing World' on December 14th last, pointing out the irrationality of such argument, quoting the ruling of the Central Council which requires that on all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds.

The critics, then realising the futility of their argument, continued by admitting that even Mr. James' Cambridge Minor was 'threatened' with expunction. I contend that, if the rule quoted above be adhered to, not only Mr. James' Cambridge, but most decidedly all arrangements in this category must be dealt with alike.

Incidentally, the criticism comes from exponents of the art whose activities are not limited to the narrow margin of exploration open to the five-bell ringer, and under these circumstances a large number of the Exercise (particularly the five-bell ringers), will echo Mr. J. T. Dyke's sound query, 'If you must destroy, what are you going to substitute?'

As the committee aptly remark in their report, it is the five and six bell ringers who must be final judges in this matter, and, in

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A monthly meeting was held at Shelley on Saturday, May 11th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and the local men were present in force to welcome one and all. Members attended from Wath, Felkirk, Royston, Penistone, Huddersfield and Elland. Tea was enjoyed at the local inn. Mr. A. Nash (president) presided at the business meeting.

The coming Central Council meeting failed to attract a delegate. A summer 'rally' was voted out for this year, and the Roylands-waine Cup contest, to be held on June 15th, will do away with a monthly meeting and allow full and free endeavour at that annual event.

The Secretary (Mr. C. D. Potter) sprang a surprise on the meeting by stating that Dr. Horne, Old Hall, Shelley, having been told of the high position held by Shelley ringers in the association in winning the shield twice in succession, and otherwise standing high in the estimation of the association and churchpeople, he desired to entertain them to a dinner. This was accepted with delight, and the secretary was requested to write to Dr. Horne, thanking him for the honour.

A vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the Vicar, churchwardens and local ringers for the splendid arrangements made for the meeting. Further ringing followed at Shelley and Kirkburton, and completed a happy meeting.

DEVON GUILD.

MID-DEVON BRANCH MEETING.

Staverton is a pretty village on the banks of the River Dart, a few miles from Totnes. Its church is a fine edifice, and its well-built tower contains a fine-toned ring of six rehung by Stokes and Son, of Woodbury, in 1927. At the kind invitation of the Vicar (Rev. E. D. Drake-Brockman) the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild held their quarterly meeting here on Saturday, May 11th, and ringers attended from Brixham, Paignton, Collaton, Cockington, Torquay, Buckfastleigh, Exeter, Crediton, Kenn, Clyst St. George, Talaton, Swindon, etc., as well as some of the local ringers.

The bells were kept going to Grandsire Doubles during the afternoon, and a service followed, conducted by the Vicar, who gave an excellent address.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall by Mr. A. F. Searle, and at the subsequent business meeting Mr. F. J. Luxton, of Torquay (chairman of the Branch) presided.

Kingsteinton was chosen for the next meeting to be held on Saturday, October 12th. One life member and one unattached performing member was elected.

The Chairman expressed regret at the impending departure of Rev. L. W. Browne, of Collaton, a member of the branch, but expressed pleasure at his new appointment.—The reverend gentleman suitably replied.

The Chairman also expressed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for so kindly inviting them to Staverton, for conducting the service, and for his excellent address, also to the organist.—The vote was acknowledged by the Vicar.

The company afterwards returned to the tower, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung. The tit-bit of the evening was a well-struck touch of Kent Treble Bob Minor, which was favourably commented upon, and which delighted the Vicar. Some of the visitors also wended their way to Dartington on their return home, and rang Grandsire and Stedman Doubles.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District of the Diocesan Guild was held at Havant on Saturday, April 27th, and over 40 members were present from Alverstoke, Bramshott, Havant, Hambledon, Petersfield, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and St. Mary's), Shedfield, Swanmore, and Titchfield, with visitors from King's Somborne, Rogate, and Ryde.

By permission of the Rector (the Ven. H. N. Rodgers), the bells were available during the afternoon and evening. The Guild's service was held in the church, at which the Rector officiated and preached. A tea which he kindly provided was partaken of in the Parish Hall, after which the business meeting was held, the Archdeacon being unanimously voted to the chair. It was decided, subject to consent, to hold the next meeting at Bramshott on Saturday, July 27th.

At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells and for providing the tea, and to the lady who had presided at the organ during the service.

After the meeting the members paid a further visit to the tower until 7.30 p.m. During the afternoon and evening the methods rung included Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, and Cambridge Surprise Major, also Grandsire Caters, and Stedman Triples on handbells.
