First peal in the method in the county.

Prior to the peal at Irthlingborough an attempt at Finedon for a peal of Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise unfortunately came to grief with only eight leads to ring. The only other failure was the last peal in the programme, London Surprise, at Bourn (Cambs), which had to be terminated on account of a shift course.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL.

HOW OTHER PEOPLE LEARN IT.

The writer of the article which appeared in our last issue, and other correspondents, call attention to an error in the figures of the peal. After the 423567 the calling should have been 5.5.5d.5d. The second 5d was omitted. In order that those who are taking up learning the composition may have the complete calling before them, we repeat the figures:—

THE PEAL IN TOUCHES.

Mr. Allen Rowley, of Cardiff, sends the following split-up of the peal into a series of touches. He begins with a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) from rounds, in which he sets out the bells in a simple formula to assist the memory as follows:—

|-----|-----|
| 5. | |
| 3. | 4. |
| 4. | 4. |
| 3d. | 3d. |
| 7d. | |

| 7d. | 7d. |
| 3. | 3d. |
| 7d. | 5. |
| 7.* | |

* Omit the second bob of the double and bring the bells rounds by 2n.3.

The following touches continue in turn the calling of the peal:—

| No. | From Rounds. | Bells Before in peal. | Into Rounds. | Changes from peal. | Changes in touch. |

Bells marked with d are called Before with a double. Bells marked s are called into the hunt with a Single.

THE SEVEN NINETEENS.

Sir,—As one who has called the above peal several times, I was very much interested in the article which appeared in 'The Ringing World' of September 19th. I remember the second time that I rang the peal, I asked the then conductor, the late Mr. H. W. Haley, how to learn to call the peal, and he told me: 'Seventeen nineteens and one seventeen, including the two Singles.' When I got home I got out my 'Reeves, Jones and Blakemore's' book, and on pages 58 and 59 I found the peal just as he told me, in what may be termed eight parts, although not all the same length, but with the same number of calls in the first seven parts, and from that I set to work and learnt the 'bells Before' all off by heart. I have always called it that way. The part ends or division ends are as follows:—

|--------|---------------|
| 452367 | 1st part end. |
| 437256 | 2nd " |
| 234675 | 3rd " |
| 235764 | 4th " |
| 437625 | 5th " |
| 652743 | 6th " |
| 475238 | 7th " |
| 234567 | Rounds. |

Yours truly,
H. J. TUCKER.

ANOTHER HINT.

Sir,—In connection with your article on Holt's Original, may I be allowed to pass on the advice given to me by Mr. C. Wiltshire, now of Canada. It is by far the best way to learn the bells Before at the Doubles, then as soon as you call the previous bob to the Double you will know whether your two next bells are right.—Yours,
A. H. PULLING.

SET TO VERSE.

A correspondent, referring to the fact that some ringers set the calling of Holt's Original to verse, writes that in one of the issues of 'Campanology' in 1897 a writer suggested the following means of learning the peal, which, with him, had proved very successful:—
'Get out the bells "Before" in "common meter verse form," (that is, eight in the first and third, and 6 in the second and fourth lines, a figure being equal to a syllable, as for instance:—

| | | | | | | | |
|--|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| O - God - our - help - in - a - ges - past. | 5 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 4 | 4 | 3 |
| Our - hope - for - years - to - come, | 4 | 3 | 4 | 7 | 5 | 4 | |
| Our - shel - ter - from - the - storm - y - blast, | 3 | 4 | 4 | 7 | 5 | 3 | 5 |
| And - our - e - ter - nal - home. | 7 | 4 | 7 | 4 | 3 | 3 | |

'If you continue this treatment you will find it runs to five verses and a small bit, which I call the "Amen," thus:— 7.4.4.3.3.5 2s.5.6.3s.

'Observation or checking places may be chosen by the caller. The lead-ends at the first call in each verse are easy to learn, running thus:—

|---------|
| 645327 |
| 234675 |
| 734265 |
| 237465 |
| 275346. |

On working out the calling on the above system, our correspondent got the following result, to the air of 'O God, our help in ages past':—

| 1st verse. | 3rd. | 5th. |
|------------------|------------------|------------------|
| 5.3.4.5.4.4.3. | 3.5.4.7.5.5.4.5. | 3.5.7.5.7.3.4.4. |
| 4.3.4.7.5.4. | 3.4.3.4.3.3. | 7.3.7.3.4.3. |
| 3.4.4.7.5.3.5.3. | 7.4.4.3.4.3.7.5. | 4.7.5.3.7.3.7.7. |
| 7.4.7.4.3.3. | 7.4.3.4.5.7. | 3.7.7.3.7.3. |
| 2nd. | 4th. | The 'Amen.' |

A JOINT MEETING AT PORT SUNLIGHT.

A combined meeting of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild and the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Christ Church, Port Sunlight, on Saturday. There was a fairly good attendance, considering the wet day. Amongst those present were Rev. T. Webster (minister in charge of Christ Church), Messrs. A. L. Jarvis (secretary, who had made all the arrangements), J. C. E. Simpson (general secretary, Chester Diocesan Guild), Claude Davies (secretary, Liverpool District), and about twenty-six ringers. There was some good ringing during the afternoon, including touches of Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Bob Major. An excellent tea was provided and served in the art gallery, Mr. Jarvis acting as host.

The Rev. T. Webster gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Port Sunlight. He was very pleased to see them and to hear them ring. The band at Christ Church were making good progress, and he thanked Mr. Battle for his great assistance to the learners.

Mr. Brocklebank proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Webster and Mr. Jarvis for their kind welcome, for the use of the bells and for the tea, which was very much enjoyed. Mr. Davies seconded the motion, and invited those present to the annual meeting and service of the Lancashire Association to be held at Liverpool on the 27th inst. The vote of thanks having been carried with acclamation, ringing was carried on until eight o'clock.

EDGWARE BELLS RUNG AGAIN.

On Saturday, September 20th, the Finchley band visited the Parish Church of St. Margaret, Edgware, Middlesex, where the bells have been silent for the past ten years. Finding the bells ringable, 720 Kent Treble Bob, 360 Oxford Treble Bob, 360 Double Court, 360 Plain Bob, 360 Grandsire Doubles, 360 Oxford Bob, and a plain course of College Single were rung, the following ringers taking part: L. Tubb, B. Tubb, F. Tubb, F. Cherrett, E. Bonfield, W. Warren, F. Barker (conductor).

LEICESTER RINGERS IN LONDON.

The members of St. John-the-Divine's Society, Leicester, held their annual outing on Saturday, September 13th, when they paid a visit to London. The ringers, with their wives, reached the Metropolis at 1.10 p.m. Although there was a heavy downpour of rain, this failed to damp the spirits of the company, as by means of the Underground railway the various destinations were possible. A visit to St. Paul's Cathedral was the first item on the programme, and a profitable hour was spent within its walls, many of the company registering their first visit. Leaving the Cathedral, they went down Ludgate Hill, where the bridge came in useful for shelter, what time 'Jupiter Pluvius' did his damndest. Then on to St. Clement Danes, Strand, where, thanks to Messrs. T. H. Taffender and W. D. Grainger, the bells were at the ringers' disposal. Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung before closing down. Five o'clock saw the party at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, the famous church of broadcasting, where the use of the twelve bells had been kindly obtained for the Midlanders by the Master of the Cumberlands, Mr. J. D. Mathews. Here several Leicester friends, now residents in London, joined the party, and with their help Stedman Cinques and a course of Cambridge Royal were rung. Dinner was served at the well-known Coventry Restaurant, Rupert Street, Piccadilly, when twenty-eight were glad to sit down, but very loth to get up. Six courses were successfully negotiated before 'the coming home,' after which votes of thanks to the respective incumbents and custodians aforesaid were moved and carried with acclamation. The remainder of the time at the disposal of the party was spent at various places, some looking on the silvery Thames by night, some going to an exhibition, and the remainder to Madame Tussauds, where some fun was caused by certain individuals' inability to distinguish the living from the 'dud.' Eleven p.m. saw all the party at St. Pancras, and after a non-stop run of 100 miles, in a well upholstered saloon, reached home at 1.10 a.m., well satisfied that this outing was the best up to date.

JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of August 29th last, your correspondent, 'W.H.F.', writing of the Manchester tour, says it was ascertained that Washbrook's grave was neglected, and there is no headstone to mark his resting place at Pendleton. As an admirer of Washbrook's abilities I ask, cannot something be done to mark his last resting place? I am fully aware of the memorial to his memory at St. Ebbe's, Oxford. Could the Lancashire Association undertake the erection of a suitable stone by appealing through your valuable paper for subscriptions? I am willing to give my mile.—Yours,

A NOVICE.

RETIREMENT OF THE REV. H. E. WORTHINGTON, M.A.

As reported in our peal columns, a farewell peal was arranged and rung to mark the retirement from the ministry of the Rev. H. E. Worthington, M.A., who has for the last thirty-three years been Rector of Seals (Overseal and Netherseal). He has been a great friend of all ringers, showing the greatest interest in the art. He was for many years an hon. member of the Midland Counties Association, and rarely missed attending a meeting in his district. He is the cousin of Mr. W. W. Worthington, M.A., J.P., of Maple Hayes, Lichfield, the well-known ringer and donor of a number of bells in the Burton District of the M.C.A., of which he is vice-president. The Rev. H. E. Worthington is retiring to Hook Norton, near Banbury.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At Malvern Link, on Sunday, September 14th, at St. Matthias' Church, for evensong, with the bells half-muffled, as a tribute to the memory of the late Canon W. C. E. Newbolt, a former Vicar, the whole pull and stand, followed by 504 Grandsire Triples: R. G. Knowles (conductor) 1, E. C. Barber 2, F. Stanton 3, R. Gardner 4, W. Niblett 5, W. O. Gardner 6, P. J. Farrant 7, A. Richings 8.

On Monday evening, September 15th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung at Paignton, Devon, as a token of respect on the death of the Rev. Alfred Vyvyan Cox, who was assistant curate at Paignton 1875-79, and who died on the 11th inst. at Paignton at the age of 83 years. The quarter-peal was rung, after the funeral at Stockland, by: C. R. Walker 1, H. G. Lewis 2, F. T. Gover 3, G. L. Hewlett (Coalbrookdale) 4, C. F. Austin 5, F. E. Parnell 6, H. J. Hole (conductor) 7, A. L. Pope 8.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The recast ring of eight bells installed with new frame and fitting at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, Leeds, was dedicated on Saturday, and the happy event was celebrated with true Yorkshire ringers' enthusiasm.

The peal at St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, besides being rung by all local ringers, is notable for the fact that the ringers of the treble, 2nd, 3rd and tenor have only been ringing seven months, and are only 18 years of age. Great credit is, therefore, due to them.

It has not been found possible to arrange the meeting at Huddesdon on Wednesday, October 1st, for the Essex and Herts Associations, and a meeting will be held instead at Harlow Common.

A party of tourists are peal ringing this week in Mid-Wales.

Mr. Tony Price, a ringer well known in the Eastern Counties, who is now residing in Montreal, is to be married on Monday next, September 29th, to Miss Agnes Watson, who has gone out to Canada for the event. It would be a happy expression of the good wishes of his numerous friends if a peal in honour of the wedding could be rung.

The Rev. H. Drake, of Ufford, hon. secretary of the Suffolk Guild, and Mrs. Drake were involved in a motor accident on Saturday, when the car which Mr. Drake was driving came into collision with a motor coach at cross-roads at Shooter's Hill, Woolwich. Mrs. Drake had to be taken to Woolwich Hospital.

Mr. Edwin Gibbs, an old College Youth and a member of St. Paul's Cathedral band for many years, is in The Elms Nursing Home at Crayford. Although he is suffering severely from arthritis, he is very cheerful.

Mr. Gibbs was one of the band of College Youths who lost a peal of ten thousand odd of Stedman Cinques in the homing course at Cornhill. Before becoming a College Youth, he was a member of the Royal Cumberlands, and rang in the 8,896 of Treble Bob at Highgate.

A correspondent seeks information as to the quickest peal of Doubles that has been rung. Now, you record breakers, let us hear from you!

William Shipway was born at Bath on September 29th, 1760.

On October 1st, 1793, a peal of 15,360 Bob Major was rung at Aston, Birmingham, conducted by Joshua Short.

A COMBINED MEETING AT HORSHAM.

Owing to its having to be postponed from its original date, the combined meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex Association and the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday week unfortunately clashed with the others, and this, combined with the bad weather, made for a small attendance at the fine old Parish Church of Horsham. The well-known peal of eight, however, were set going soon after three o'clock, and Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent and Double Norwich were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, and his address was on rather an unusual subject, viz., the Guild's service form and its prayers.

About twenty ringers sat down to tea at the Queen's Head, and, as the weather improved, a few more afterwards put in an appearance, and enabled London and Bristol Surprise to be added to the methods rung before the close of this first combined meeting of these districts.

CUDHAM'S LIGHT RING OF TEN.

FIVE NEW BELLS WEIGH 15 CWT.

The lightest peal of ten bells hung for ringing in a church tower in this country was dedicated on Sunday afternoon at the Parish Church of Cudham, Kent, and, in addition to the large congregation of parishioners who gathered to take part in the proceedings, a great many ringers assembled to hear and try this unique peal. The church, which has two aisles of unequal length, and a tower surmounted by a spire, lies on the summit of a steep ridge, the climb up to which, from one side at any rate, is a severe test for the wind of the pedestrian and the vitals of a motor-car. The hill is long, and in places the gradient is one in three, and is frequently the scene of hill-climbing contests. One such was in progress on Sunday afternoon when some of the visitors arrived. The church is thus well situated for a peal of bells. There are few neighbouring houses, most of the villagers who use the church living in the valley far below, while the most populous part of the parish is nearly two miles away at Biggin Hill. Up to fifty years or so ago, there were four bells in the tower, one, probably of pre-Reformation date, inscribed, 'Ora Pro Nobis, Sancte Paul,' and the others cast by John Hodson in 1661. Then, it is recorded, some 'village idiot' broke the tenor bell in endeavouring to celebrate a wedding, and for a time only three sound bells remained.

In 1890 Messrs. Taylor and Co. recast the tenor and rehung the four bells in a frame constructed to hold six eventually. In 1920, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank added a treble, making a ring of five. About two years ago there was a desire to fill the vacant pit, and a bell was cast in 1929 at Croydon for the purpose. Meanwhile a prominent parishioner, in the person of Mr. Rolla Richards, died, and by a bequest, which presumably was to have turned the older ring of five into an octave, he left a sum of money for three new bells and a tower clock with quarter chimes. The result has been that a further bell has been provided from the bequest, and Cudham now has its very light peal of ten, whose total weight is less than 44 cwt.

The work has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who, in spite of the lack of metal possible in view of the weights of the existing ring, have provided some very fine bells, whose notes are clear and powerful. Nothing was done to the other five, which, as stated, are a 'mixed' lot, but the result is certainly a pleasing peal of ten, always, of course, bearing in mind the weight. The four smaller bells are carried in a separate frame over the other six, and the space in the ringing room is rather confined, the tower being only about 11ft. square. In the ringing room, too, there is too much noise, as the bells are immediately overhead. It is hoped that something may be done to mitigate this, otherwise ringing conditions will not be altogether satisfactory. The following are the particulars of the bells, the weights of which will be examined with interest:—

| No. | Inscriptions. | Cwts. | Qrs. | Lbs. |

| Total weight | | 43 | 3 | 13 |

A new clock has been placed in the tower, the dials being just under the eaves of the spire. It strikes the quarters, with Westminster chimes, and the hour. Ellacombe hammers have been fitted to all the bells, which can be chimed from the tower floor. In addition to the bells and clock, the organ has been improved, and all were dedicated on Sunday by the Rural Dean (Canon Thompson). There was not seating room in the church for all who sought admission, and the service, which began with a shortened form of evensong, was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. B. O'Loughlin). The Rural Dean dedicated the clock from the south porch, proceeded to the foot of the tower to dedicate the bells, and a memorial tablet, and then returned to the chancel to dedicate the organ. He preached an interesting sermon on the uses of the clock, bells and organ, and drew lessons of practical application from each of them.

After the service the bells were rung by visiting ringers who came from various towers in Kent, Surrey, Sussex and London, and among those present were Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council) and Mr. C. E. Johnston, who represented the founders.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

AN INSTRUCTOR FOR KNEBWORTH.

A meeting of the Northern District of the Hertford County Association was held at Knebworth on Saturday. The pretty little church is situated in the heart of the great park, within a stone's throw of Knebworth House, the residence of Lord Lytton. The weather was anything but kind, and the downpour commenced about noon, lasting until about 4 p.m., just the time at which so many ringers say, 'Shall we—or not?' However, by 3.20 p.m. the bells were going well to most of the standard methods. The tenor here was cast by John Biant in 1812, and the rest of the octave by Mears, the tenor being 12½ cwt. It was at the tower that in 1912 the Hertfordshire Association rang a peal of 12,160 Bristol Surprise Major.

Members were present from Benington, Baldock, Clifton, Graveley, Hitchin, Leichworth, Kimpton, Offley, London and Welwyn Garden City. The Rev. L. Denton Sayers conducted a service, the prayers, psalms and hymns being taken from the service paper of the association, while the words of the text were as follows: 'The zeal of Thy house hath eaten me up.' In the short address, the Rector referred to the fascination of change ringing.

Tea was afterwards served at the Lytton Arms. The business meeting followed, with the Rector in the chair.

The Chairman showed very keen interest in the work of the association, and asked for information for commencing a change ringing band in his parish, where at present interest is at a low ebb. He also informed the meeting that he would consider it an honour to become an honorary member of the association. He was, needless to say, duly elected.

Several members offered to give tuition to the local band.—The Rector expressed his appreciation, and extended his welcome to the association to meet at Knebworth whenever they wished.

Ringings afterwards continued until about 9 p.m. The secretary wishes to thank all who attended the meeting in spite of the inclement weather.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

On Tuesday, September 16th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung at Llandaff Cathedral: H. Thomas 1, W. Heath 2, J. W. Jones 3, C. H. Perry 4, T. Carter 5, J. Phillips 6, E. Coombes (conductor) 7, E. Coles 8. This was specially arranged and rung after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal to honour Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Pitcher on their golden wedding day. Mr. Pitcher is one of the Cathedral ringers and one of the oldest members of the association. During the evening the ringers enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Pitcher, to whom the best wishes for their continued happiness were extended.

The tablet records the gifts in the following words: 'To the glory of God and in memory of Emma Jane Richards, the wife of Rolla Richards, who departed this life on the 6th January, 1912, and also in memory of Rolla Richards, who departed this life on the 23rd April, 1929, and by whose generosity this church has been enriched by the gift of three bells, and a clock, and by improvements to the organ.'

After the ringing, which included touches of Caters and Royal, many of the visiting ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. Johnston, hasty preparations being made at Knockholt, about two miles away, which was the nearest point at which refreshments could be obtained. Those ringers who were able to take tea much appreciated Mr. Johnston's kindness and hospitality.

REOPENING OF A NOTED ESSEX PEAL. BOCKING BELLS RETUNED AND REHUNG.

Despite the inclement weather, a large assembly of ringers attended the reopening of Bocking bells on Saturday week. For an hour previous to the service the rain came down in torrents, but in spite of the adverse conditions the spacious edifice was filled to its capacity. The service began with the hymn, 'City of God, how broad and far.' The Rev. T. P. R. Clark, assistant curate, officiated. The lesson (Numbers x. 1-10) was read by the aged Dean, the Very Rev. J. S. Brownrigg, who is in his 90th year. The sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford, who expressed his appreciation of the successful efforts made by the parishioners in re-hanging their noble ring of bells. The collection, £16 4s. 6d., was for the bell fund. Only a few pounds are now needed to complete the £470 to free the fund from debt.

Immediately after the service the bells were rung by the local company, followed by 448 Cambridge Surprise by a selected band, conducted by Mr. W. Keeble. Tea was provided in the Workman's Hall by kind permission of the world-famed firm of Messrs. Courtauld, Ltd., under the chairmanship of Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association. Ringers were present from Bocking, Braintree, Remford, Colchester, Great Bentley, Rayne, Chelmsford, Sible Hedingham, Black Notley, Brentwood, Greenstead Green, Great Baddow, Stebbing, Great Bardfield, Peering, Earls Colne, Halstead, Great Yeldham, Dublin, Loughborough, Trumpington, Bentley St. Paul, Dunmow, Broomfield and Maldon. Included in this large company were Mr. W. J. Nevard, (District Master, North-East Division), Mr. F. Ridgwell (district secretary, North Division), Mr. E. J. Butler (district secretary, South-West Division), Mr. G. Green (District Master, South-East Division), Mr. Gabriel Lindoff and his son, who were on holiday in the district, Messrs. W. Keeble, L. W. Wiffen, F. G. Ringe, W. Lincoln, A. A. Saunders, F. Rudkin, of Braintree, and W. Bearman, of Bocking, two of the few remaining founders of the Essex Association, Mr. J. P. Fidler, representing Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., and Miss Kitty Willers, who rode a 'push bike' in the rain to and from Trumpington, some sixty miles.

The Master said he was sure the Dean and the authorities at Bocking were more than satisfied with the excellent response that the ringers of Essex had made to the invitation to be present that day. There were 75 who sent in their names, and he believed that there was that number present. It showed that they were enthusiastic, and that the weather did not stop them once they had made up their minds to go anywhere. He was sure the ringers would desire him to offer hearty congratulations to the Dean of Bocking and those who had worked with him on the splendid restoration of the Bocking bells. Bocking had been a noted ringing centre for a number of years, but change ringing had not been practised there in the last few years to the extent that it formerly was. There were change ringers at Bocking in the early seventies, and two of them, Mr. J. Murray Hayes and Mr. Ezra Carter, became noted ringers at St. Paul's Cathedral. Mr. William Bearman, a very old Bocking ringer, was with them that day. When he (the Master) first rang at Bocking he well remembered the very warm welcome he received from Mr. Bearman and the old Bocking company. Mr. Howard acknowledged the kindness of the Braintree ringers under Mr. L. W. Wiffen, in tutoring the young band recently formed at Bocking, and said he looked forward to the time, in the not distant future, when Bocking would regain its old position as a change ringing centre. 'The bells are in excellent order,' he said, 'and, when you get used to them, the striking should be of the best.' Before concluding, the Master tendered, on behalf of the ringers present, cordial thanks to Mrs. Clark and her helpers for arranging the tea.

The Rev. T. P. R. Clark apologised for the absence of the Bishop and the Dean. He extended a hearty welcome to the visiting ringers, and thanked them in the name of the parish for their attendance.

Short speeches were also made by Mr. O. J. Ollett, Mr. A. W. Tyler, churchwardens, and Mr. F. J. Fidler.

The bells, which hitherto rang round the back way, have been retuned and rehung in an iron frame on steel girders, with ball bearings, patent iron headstocks, and all the latest improvements by Messrs. Taylor and Co., who have carried out the work in a very efficient manner. The improved tone and go was the admiration of all present. The tenor weighs 18 cwt. 1 qr. 20 lb. in E natural.

During the afternoon and evening, touches of Bristol, London Superlative, Cambridge, Double Norwich, Stedman, Treble Bob and Bob Major were rung.

VISIT TO RETTENDON.

On Wednesday evening, September 17th, the St. Mary's, Burnham-on-Crouch, ringers paid a visit to All Saints' Church, Rettendon, and on six 'good going' bells some enjoyable ringing took place, touches of Kent, Grandsire, Bob Major and Bob Doubles, including 720 Bob Minor, being rung. The Burnham-on-Crouch ringers would like, through the kindness of 'The Ringing World,' to thank the Vicar for the use of the bells, and also the ringers at Rettendon who gave them a warm welcome.

'TROUBLES IN THE TOWER.' DIFFICULT PROBLEM AWAITING SOLUTION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In a village near Ipswich there is a peal of eight bells and about twenty men capable of ringing them. Four or five men have acquired the art of change ringing, and the remainder have advanced no further than call changes, and yet there does not appear to be a regular band to ring all the bells for the Sunday service. This seems to be a deplorable state of affairs, which is certainly true, and there is not the slightest doubt that things will be much worse before many weeks have passed.

The position is this: Until a few months ago, there was a regular band of call change ringers, who performed the duties of Sunday service ringing, and now, after a rest of twenty years or so, the old change ringers have stepped in with a view to creating change ringing. One of these gentlemen may be described as 'touchy,' and will not take part in any call change ringing, which, to my mind, is perfectly ridiculous. Two or three of the 'Gravestone' ringers are anxious to get on, and the rest do not wish to bother about it, and they have discontinued going into the tower, explaining that they have to sit out and watch five or six bells being rung to change ringing, which is not so musical as their own method.

The Rector, who was a regular ringer, and who had great pleasure in joining the call change ringers, is also among the 'sitters out,' and, if asked to ring, the touchy one walks out. This kind of thing may lead to the breaking-up of the band.

Every Tuesday evening a practice is held, which has so far proved successful to a certain extent, having been reinforced by periodical visits of ringers from Ipswich and district. Several 720's have been rung with five of the local band taking part, there being four good 'insiders' and two treble men, who appear unable to ring a working bell. This difficulty may probably be overcome in time, but both parties wish to ring, and there will shortly be a crash.

The whole business appears to be childish in one way, but most certainly serious in another, considering that all these men, who are interested in the art, will in all probability wash their hands entirely of the interests of ringing.

Bearing in mind that change ringing must be given every chance, Sunday ringing is most essential—a necessity which ringers must put before their own ideals, and which is really the origin of bells and bellringers.

A meeting is shortly to be called, and the ringers will be summoned to attend to discuss affairs and come to an understanding.

I would appreciate suggestions from ringers which may overcome these difficulties, and which I may put forward at the coming meeting, hoping they may smooth out matters, and once again set upon its feet the high name of which this old tower was once proud.—Yours faithfully,

CECIL W. PIPE.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED AT CRICH.

An interesting gathering of Notts and Derbyshire ringers took place at Crich, Derbyshire, on Saturday, for the dedication of a tablet, recording the first peal rung on the bells since recasting and augmentation to eight in 1928. The bells are a very nice octave, the weight of the tenor being 12½ cwt. in F sharp. They were set in motion shortly after three o'clock, and several touches were brought round before the ceremony. Service was conducted in church by the Vicar (the Rev. H. E. Jones). After prayers and the singing of the 150th Psalm, the clergy and churchwardens proceeded to the tower, where the tablet was unveiled by Mrs. H. E. Jones, the wife of the Vicar.

Dedicatory prayers were then offered by the Rev. R. O. Wilson, Vicar of Old Brampton, and formerly of Crich, who afterwards preached the sermon, and two suitable hymns were heartily sung by the congregation.

The ringers then adjourned to the schoolroom, where they enjoyed the hospitality of the churchwarden (Dr. H. J. Rankin), who had provided a splendid tea.

A vote of thanks to the clergy, Dr. Rankin, Mrs. Jones and the organist was proposed by Mr. E. Ashman and seconded by Mr. W. Drake.

The Vicar, in reply, welcomed the visitors, and congratulated the band which took part in the peal. He hoped that something else worth recording would be accomplished in the near future.

The Rev. R. O. Wilson expressed his pleasure at being present, and said how he had enjoyed the task, when at Crich, of assisting to raise the funds for the recasting of the bells.

The doctor was obviously pleased with everything, and the company returned to the tower for further ringing. Although the gathering was not so large as expected (owing, no doubt, to the inclement weather), some good ringing was heard in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major. The peal recorded on the board was one of Grandsire Triples, and was rung on January 26th, 1929, by the following: Messrs. G. Ashman, W. H. Buxton, F. E. Hill, W. A. Parsons, W. E. Drake, J. Lord, H. G. Fretwell and E. Ashman. The board is of oak, with the lettering neatly executed in gold leaf. It is the first peal board in the belfry.

REOPENING OF EARLS COLNE BELLS.

EXCELLENT WORK BY MESSRS. GILLETT AND JOHNSTON.

The bells of Earls Colne, Essex, were reopened on Sunday, September 14th, after being silent for nearly two months, when it was found necessary to have the frame restored and some of the bells rehung. This work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have completed it to the greatest satisfaction of all. It reflects great credit on the firm. A special word of praise should be given to Mr. Bert Newson, who was responsible for the rehanging of the bells. The frame has been strengthened with tie bolts and steel brackets, and the back six have been rehung on ball bearings.

The local company opened the ringing at 10.15 a.m. for service, and during the day visiting ringers from thirteen parishes were present and enjoyed touches in various methods up to London Surprise Major.

A service of thanksgiving was held at 3 p.m., conducted by the Vicar (Rev. O. L. Matlin). The Rev. Thomas (White Colne) was also present. The Rev. T. H. Curling, Rural Dean (Halstead) gave an excellent address, and Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) read the lesson. A large congregation attended this service, and an effort was made to raise the remaining £18 required for the bell fund. During this and the evening services the collections exceeded the amount required, and it is most gratifying to all who have assisted in raising this fund in so short a time to feel that the bells can now be rung free of debt.

The Vicar kindly entertained all visiting ringers, together with the local company, to tea at the Vicarage.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Waldron on Saturday, and in spite of the exceptionally rough weather twenty-four members attended from Eastbourne (St. Mary's, All Saints' and St. Saviour's), Heathfield, Lewes (Southover), Ringmer and Hawk-hurst, together with members of the local band. Good practice was had in all the standard methods, the younger members especially being given a good chance.

At the service the Rector (the Rev. R. W. D. Stephenson, M.A.) gave a most interesting address. A splendid tea was provided at the Rectory through the kindness of the Rector and Mrs. Stephenson, the members' wants being attended to by the younger members of the family.

At the short business meeting which followed, the Rector occupied the chair. Mr. E. Tigwell, of St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, was elected a member, and the election of Mr. K. Paffenden, of Stone-in-Oxhey, Kent, as a non-resident member was confirmed.

Mr. A. Hobden, then mentioned the fact that this year was the 150th anniversary of the opening of the peal of eight bells at Waldron, and that he hoped to be able to obtain a band to score a peal on All Saints' Day to commemorate the event.

The District Secretary (Mr. G. W. Stokes) then announced that the next quarterly meeting would be held at St. Clement's, Hastings, in December, and hoped that a goodly number of members would attend, so as to make the meeting a success.

Mr. W. D. Smith thanked the Rector for the use of the bells, his address at the service, and also for his kindness in providing the tea. He also thanked Mrs. Stephenson and family for so kindly attending to the members' wants.

The Rector, in reply, said that all that had been done had given Mrs. Stephenson and himself the greatest pleasure, and they hoped that Mr. Holden's efforts in ringing a peal for the 150th anniversary of the bells would prove a great success.

RINGER WHO WALKED 20,000 MILES.

The peal rung by officers of the Essex Association at Great Baddow on Saturday was a birthday compliment to Mr. and Mrs. John Sadler, of Great Tey, who celebrated their 77th birthday on September 15th and 22nd respectively. Mr. Sadler was for over fifty years a member of St. Peter-ad-Vincula band, Coggeshall. During that time it is estimated that he walked a distance of 20,000 miles to and from Coggeshall Church for the purpose of ringing.

The band desire to express their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. G. Green, who kindly entertained them to a bountiful tea at the conclusion of the peal.

WELDED BELLS.

A RESTORATION AT SOUTHFLEET, KENT.

The ring of six old bells at Southfleet Church, Kent, have been heard again after a silence of, it is said, at least a hundred years. Three of the bells were cracked and have been welded.

The present church at Southfleet was built about 600 years ago, on the site of a much older church, which, in turn, was built on the foundations of a pagan temple.

The rededication of the bells was performed in the presence of a large number of villagers by the Rev. Canon Wheatley, Vicar of St. Margaret's, Rochester. Mr. Mitchell, of Milton, Gravesend, was in charge of the band of ringers at the dedication service. These bells had not been rung within living memory because three of them were badly cracked, but the Rector, the Rev. J. H. Jones, who came to Southfleet three or four years ago, made up his mind that the peal should be restored. A restoration fund was opened for the repair of the church, and part of it was earmarked for the work to the bells.

The cracked bells have been restored by a scientific welding process operated by Barimar, Ltd., of London, and this portion of the work has proved highly successful. The bells have been rehung, and the iron clapper staples, which were believed to be the cause of the cracks, have been removed during the process of repair.

The bells are a ring of six, the tenor having been cast by Richard Phelps in 1736. He also cast the bell in 1705, while one of the others was by 'Witthelmas Carter' in 1610.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION REOPEN HOLBECK BELLS.A RECAST PEAL.

By the invitation of the Rev. R. J. Wood, a meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, Leeds, on Saturday last, on the occasion of the reopening of the peal of eight (tenor 12½ cwt.) after recasting and rehanging by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. There was a large attendance of members, the following towers being represented: Rothwell, Armley, Bradford, Shipley, Huddersley, Halifax, Batley, York, Selby, Mirfield, Denholme, Liversedge, Bramley, Calverley, Hunslet, Earlsheaton, Leeds, Birstall, Tadcaster, Keighley, Pontefract, Queensbury, Heptonstall, Lightcliffe, Guiseley, Barnsley, Holbeck R.C., and Sheffield. Mr. C. F. Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry, was among those present.

The service of hallowing of the bells was conducted by Rev. R. J. Wood (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. J. R. Moorman (curate), and the lesson was read by the Rev. C. C. Marshall (president of the Yorkshire Association). During the service a procession was formed to the steps leading to the belfry, and after the dedicatory prayers, and while the procession returned to the chancel, the following rang a few rounds: P. J. Johnson 1, Mrs. Cotterell 2, R. Thomas 3, T. Kendall 4, J. Cotterell 5, G. Robinson 6, L. Morris 7, S. Sadler 8. An address was then given by the Vicar of Leeds.

After the service, tea was served in the schools, when upwards of a hundred members sat down. During tea, the Vicar said he was pleased to see so many ringers present, and hoped they would often come now that the bells were going again.

The tea having been disposed of, the business meeting of the division was held, Mr. J. Cotterell (vice-president of the association) being in the chair, supported by the Rev. C. C. Marshall (president of the association). Two new members were elected, Messrs. J. Wormald (Rothwell) and T. Smith (Queensbury). There were no invitations for the next meeting, and it was decided to leave it in the hands of the secretary.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for inviting the association to reopen the bells, and this was seconded by Mr. D. Yorke and carried.

A vote of thanks to Mr. C. F. Johnston for defraying the cost of the tea, and to the ladies for presiding at the tea tables, was proposed by the Rev. C. C. Marshall and seconded by Mr. J. Lawson. This was also carried, and Mr. Johnston, in responding, said when he offered to pay for the tea he did not expect to see so many there, but it had given him the opportunity and also great pleasure to meet some of his Yorkshire ringing friends, especially Mr. J. Lawson, whom he first met when putting in the bells at Northwram. He hoped the bells would give satisfaction, and he added that it had been one of the most difficult jobs they had had to tackle.

During the afternoon and evening the bells were in constant use, and touches were rung in various methods until nine o'clock.

A PEAL AT RIPON CATHEDRAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—An attempt is being made to arrange a peal of Stedman Caters or Treble Bob Royal at Ripon Cathedral on the morning of Saturday, October 11th, and four ropes are to spare. Any reader who is intending visiting the Snowdon dinner at York would be welcome, and I would be glad if they would make direct application to me.—Yours faithfully,

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

APPROACHING THE JUBILEE.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Clent on Saturday. The weather was rather damp and cool, but nevertheless there was a good gathering of representatives from Brierley Hill, Wordsley, Smethwick, Erdington, King's Norton, Bromsgrove, Kidderminster, Kluver, Stourbridge, Lye Cradley, Old Hill, Nether-ton, Oldswinford, Hagley, Clent and Belbroughton. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. C. Thomas), who gave an eloquent address on the meaning of the Sanctus bell, the Angelus and the passing bell.—Miss K. C. Thatcher presided at the organ, and the association's form of service was used.

Tea was provided in the Parish Room, approximately sixty members partaking of the good things provided.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar presided, and gave the ringers a very hearty welcome to Clent. He also complimented them upon their fine singing of the psalms and hymns, showing that they were well acquainted with the Church service. Apologies were announced from Mr. A. E. Parsons, Mr. A. Walker and Mr. W. C. Dowding (Birmingham), Mr. J. Broad, Mr. H. T. Martin and Mr. B. Martin.

The Ringing Master (Mr. C. Skidmore, of Brierley Hill) was again elected, as was also the secretary, Mr. A. J. Skelding (Stourbridge). Mr. W. Short, of Clent, was re-elected as the Central Committee representative. The Vicar was also elected an honorary member of the association. It was unanimously decided to accept the Wordsley ringers' kind invitation to hold the next meeting at Wordsley in January.

The Secretary mentioned the loss of one of their young members, viz., Mr. G. Smith, of Lye, and it was agreed that a letter of condolence should be sent to his parents, the members standing in silence.

Mr. H. Mason said that in less than two years' time they would be celebrating the jubilee of the association, and he thought they might discuss in what way they would like to celebrate it. He also thought they should certainly have a meeting as near the day as possible at Bromsgrove, where the association came into being.

Mr. T. J. Salter said he thought a good way to mark such an important event would be to have a peal of twelve bells in any part of the county outside Worcester, and moved a resolution which was carried unanimously, and will in due course be forwarded for the Central Committee's consideration.

Mr. H. Mason moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding at their meeting, for the use of the bells, and for arranging the service, also to Miss K. Thatcher, the organist. He also said their very best thanks were due to Miss F. E. Thatcher, who had so kindly provided for their wants.—The vote was carried with acclamation. The Vicar, replying, suggested that the next visit to Clent should be tried in June, when he thought it would probably be finer.

The collection in church on behalf of the belfry repair fund amounted to 15s.

This closed a very good and enjoyable meeting.

The quarterly peal is to be attempted at Clent, the arrangements being left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

THE 'HEAVIEST' CAMBRIDGE ROYAL.

Attention has been drawn to the footnote to the report of the peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Southwark, published in our issue of September 12th, which claimed that it was the heaviest ring on which a peal of Cambridge Ten had been rung.

The claim will not hold good, as on December 31st, 1908, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, where the tenor is 50 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb. The tenor on that occasion was rung by Mr. W. A. Cave.

ECCLES.—At the Parish Church on Monday, September 15th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 44 mins.: J. T. Potter 1, *N. Heaps 2, L. E. Brookes 3, J. Myles 4, John Potter (conductor) 5, John Denner 6, F. Colley 7, *J. Stimson 8. * First quarter-peal.

OXFORD.—At St. Ebbe's Church, on Saturday, September 20th, the eve of the harvest festival, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. Judge 1, F. Beckitt 2, A. Hawes 3, H. Miles 4, F. Taylor (composer and conductor) 5, W. Melville 6, W. Collett 7, W. Wilkins 8. Specially arranged for Mr. Melville, of Guildford, who was staying in Oxford for the week-end.

WILLIAM SHIPWAY.

In the history of the Exercise certain names stand out pre-eminently, and are likely to retain their honoured place as long as the art of change ringing is practised in these isles. The name of Fabian Stedman, the Cambridge printer, is at the very foundation of the art; that of Benjamin Annable, the London baker, whose influence on ringing two centuries ago made a lasting mark, was cut early and deep in the Exercise. One hundred and seventy years ago this week—on September 29th, 1760, to be exact—another who was destined to take an outstanding place in the Exercise, first saw the light—William Shipway, the Bath cabinet maker. These three are the commanding figures in the early development of change ringing, and they 'blazed the trail' over which other explorers have travelled to open up lands unknown to these pioneers. The records of the Cumberland Youths, had they stood alone, would have shown Shipway to be a good ringer and a competent composer and conductor. But he has left us something beyond this. His 'Campanologia,' published in 1816, was the crowning of his life's work. It was for two generations or more the best text book available for ringers, and it reveals an extensive knowledge of the science such as is possessed by comparatively few, even to-day.

In this twentieth century one of the regrets which we have is that we know so little of most of the celebrities of the past. Of those, who with their contemporaries, have gone from us, it is regrettable that we have but the scantiest knowledge. Their names are to be found in the records of various old societies, but we know little of the men themselves. Shipway, however, is in some degree an exception. In his 'Campanologia' he gives us a biographical note which is of great interest to the student of ringing history. He tells us the date of his birth in Bath and the circumstance which introduced him to a knowledge of ringing. He was apprenticed to a Mr. Handcock, a cabinet maker, who was appointed sexton of the Abbey, and thus Shipway gained access to the steeple. He formed an acquaintance with the ringers and soon became attached to the art, which he apparently took up with avidity. It gripped him so completely that, although the company to which he belonged was able to ring Treble Bob Royal, and was 'a respectable and able band of ringers,' Shipway was not satisfied with the progress that was possible and therefore he left Bath for London, where, he knew, there would be greater scope. He reached London in July, 1785, and took a prominent part in the activities of the Cumberland Youths. To this it is possible to add that, with the exception of a few years spent in Kent, when he was engaged as instructor at Quex Park, after the installation of the ring of twelve bells in the Waterloo tower, Shipway remained to the end of his days in the Metropolis, dying in 1843 at the advanced age of eighty-three years. His seventy peals included some outstanding performances, but it is for his 'Campanologia' that his name has come down to us and will be handed on to posterity. He spent four years in its preparation, working presumably on the foundation provided by 'The Clavis,' and when it appeared in 1816 he was able rightfully to claim that it was 'the most complete Treatise ever published on the subject.' The Exercise owes a good deal to the man who was born at Bath just 170 years ago.

BRANCH SECRETARY COMPLAINS OF POOR ATTENDANCE.

The autumn meeting of the Reading Branch was held at Chenkendon on Saturday, September 20th. The weather was not very kind, but twenty visitors braved it, and the bells were set going at 3 p.m. A ringers' service was held at 5 p.m. conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. St. George Edwards). Afterwards, all sat down to a splendid tea, very kindly given by the Vicar, who is a keen and enthusiastic ringer. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers.

After a vote of thanks had been passed, the secretary spoke of the poor attendances at the branch quarterly meetings, and suggested they should not be continued. The chairman and Vicar both disagreed with him, and said they were a great help to the country towers.

The bells were again set going, and touches of Stedman, Plain Bob, and Treble Bob were rung, with excellent striking.

The meeting was on the whole very successful, and the local ringers especially had a really good, long and enjoyable practice.

The six bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Checkendon, are an excellent little ring, the tenor weighing 11 cwt. Two bells are by Lester and Pack, and four by Mears and Stainbank. They were last restored in 1899.

HOW CUDHAM BELLS WERE AUGMENTED.

It will perhaps be of interest to the Exercise to know how Kent came to possess another peal of ten—the smallest hung for ringing in any church tower in the country, and which, as recorded in our last issue, have just been dedicated at Cudham. In the years 1912-13-14 a gentleman used periodically to visit Crayford Church, and thus came in touch with Mr. E. Barnett, sen., the parish clerk. During one of these visits he mentioned that while he was alive his means would not permit, but that he would like, at his death, to leave some money to Cudham Church in memory of his wife, and he asked Mr. Barnett's advice as to how he should leave it. Mr. Barnett's advice was this: 'Well, there are five bells at Cudham; leave it to augment them to six, and, if you have sufficient to leave to augment them to eight, so much the better.' He promised to consider it, and went away. His next visit was a day or two before war broke out, when he told Mr. Barnett that he had definitely earmarked a sum of money in his will to do as he suggested. What 'that little word in season' will sometimes do!

FAREWELL TOUCH AT LIVERPOOL.

On Tuesday evening, September 23rd, at St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, on the back eight of the twelve, 960 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung as a farewell to the Rev. F. M. Young, who is going to take up clerical duties at St. Mary Abbots', Kensington, London. Mr. Young, who has been a great friend of the ringers at St. Nicholas' Church, visited the tower to say 'good-bye,' and it was then decided to ring this farewell touch: E. Goringe 1, G. R. Newton 2, T. Hammond 3, L. L. Grey 4, J. Meldrum 5, J. Martin 6, J. C. E. Simpson (conductor) 7, W. H. Joiner 8.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT AT HERSHAM.

A meeting of the North-Western District of the Surrey Association was held at St. Peter's, Hersham, on Saturday, September 27th. The attendance was somewhat smaller than anticipated; nevertheless, a very enjoyable time was spent by the ringers, who attended from Banstead, Beckenham, Beddington, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Hersham, Leatherhead, Mitcham (Christ Church and SS. Peter and Paul), Walton-on-Thames and Woking. Ringing commenced about 3.30, and a short service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a very interesting address. Tea followed in the Church House, sixteen sitting down to an ample and enjoyable meal (twenty-five having been catered for). The Vicar of Hersham (Rev. E. Russell Brittain) presided over the business meeting, at which thirteen new ringing members were elected, including the entire band at All Saints', Benhilton, and also Admiral T. P. Walker, of Woking (hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild).

Mr. F. Woodiss reported that Benhilton band required an official instructor, and this matter was referred to the district committee, with full powers to appoint whom they thought fit, and report at the next district meeting.

The Secretary also reported that he had received a very kind invitation to the district to tea at the next meeting at Mitcham by the Christ Church company. He therefore asked members to make a special note of the date, Saturday, November 29th, and turn up in good numbers.

A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the organist and to Mr. A. Woodrow for making the necessary arrangements.

The tower was again visited, and good practice was obtained in all the standard methods from rounds to Cambridge and London Surprise Major. It was very disappointing to the district secretary that so few attended this meeting, after the promises of support he received at the annual district meeting when this tower was proposed, but he hopes members will make amends by a special effort on November 29th at Mitcham.

A BIRTHDAY 720.

On Monday evening, at St. Mary's Parish Church, Birkenhead, 720 Bob Minor: W. Goodwin 1, J. Cooke 2, G. R. Edwards 3, W. Battle 4, Geo. Goodwin 5, W. J. Battle (conductor) 6. This was rung as a 16th birthday compliment to the ringer of the 5th, and was his first 720 on an inside bell. It was also the first 720 in any method by the ringer of the treble.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of the Western Division at Tring on Saturday, September 20th, was hampered by the inclement weather. Only sixteen ringers attended from Apsley, King's Langley, Leighton Buzzard, Linslade, Luton, and several of the local company. Ringing in the standard methods was indulged in, and a capital tea was partaken of at the Museum Cafe. Afterwards handbell ringing was indulged in before returning to the tower for more ringing, which was kept up until 8 p.m.

The Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Tring, is a massive structure in the Perpendicular style of architecture, dating from the fourteenth century. In the tower hangs a peal of eight bells (tenor 24 cwt. in D). The dates and founders of the bells are as follows: 3rd and 4th by Ellis Knight, 1636; 8th 1622, 6th and 7th 1624, by Robert Oldfield; tenor 1695, Chandler. These old six were rehung by Loster and Pack in 1752, and again rehung and trebles added in 1892 by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The bells again need the attention of a bell-hanger.

NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL RINGERS VISIT EDINBURGH.

The Newcastle Cathedral Guild members took advantage of their annual outing to visit their ringing friends in Edinburgh on September 20th, and spent the week-end with them, returning on Sunday, the 21st. They had a most enjoyable trip, despite the weather, which was wretched on the Saturday, but pleasant on the Sunday. Thanks to the great kindness and good offices of Mr. C. Cleveland Ellis and Mr. W. C. S. Heathcote, who arranged for ringing at St. Cuthbert's on Saturday evening, when excellent touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were brought round, and on Sunday, when Stedman Caters was rung at the Cathedral Church of St. Mary in the morning, and Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were brought round in the evening at St. Cuthbert's, the ringing portion of the outing was amply satisfied. In addition there was much handbell ringing. Mr. Stephen H. Wood, of Glasgow, joined in all the ringing on Sunday.

As everyone knows who visits Edinburgh, it is a city of hills and stairs, in spite of which the party, under the guidance of Mr. Heathcote, managed to see most of the sights, including the magnificent war memorial, and visit such places as the Forth Bridge, Granton and Leith.

The party were accompanied by their popular Ringing Master, Mr. C. L. Routledge, and the arrangements were made and carried out by the hon. secretary, Mr. Arthur Payne.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ringing tour of Mid-Wales was completed last Saturday at Ellesmere. Ten towers were visited by eleven members of the North Wales Association, the Welsh clergy giving them a hearty welcome. Of the fourteen peals attempted, thirteen were successful. The only failure was at Dolgelly, with about 40 mins. more to ring, to make up a 'highest possible' for the week.

Our recent article on 'Holt's Original and how to call it,' has been a fruitful source of discussion among ringers, the 'ould 'uns' as well as the youngsters having talked it over, but, of course, with the knowledge gained by experience behind them. We hear that, even at a ringers' wedding party the other day, it was one of the topics that helped to pass an enjoyable evening.

The first peal of Stedman Caters on the bells at Fulham was rung on October 3rd, 1819, and the first peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields was rung on October 6th, 1788.

The ringer of the treble in the peal at Northop, Flintshire, on September 20th, was Thomas W. Goodwin, not Woodhouse, as recorded. The peal at Waverton on August 23rd was rung for the Chester Diocesan Guild. May we again ask correspondents to check over their peal reports before sending them?

Bellringers are wanted for St. Paul's Cathedral—Melbourne, Australia, not London. Most of the ringers there are veterans. The Master, Mr. J. M. Guest, is 84, and has rung since he was 11. His 'offsider' is Mr. J. L. Murray, now 68, who has been a ringer since he was 17. They think it is time some younger members were trained, and they are appealing in the Melbourne press for volunteers.

HANDBELL MUSIC.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—From time to time I am asked to recommend some publication dealing with tune ringing on handbells, and giving the music for the same, especially on small numbers of bells.

If, through your columns, I could be put in touch with some one who supplies this, I should be grateful.—Yours truly,
CYRIL W. O. JENKYN.

THE 'STONE' RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is it true to say the most beautiful music possible from an octave of bells is when they are in the Queen's and Titlums positions?

Well struck (and you can all take your hats off to the stoney men, for they do strike), these changes are all obtainable with 4.6.8 or 7.4.8. covering. Why cannot they all 'have a go'? All the clever ones have to do is to ring 120 of Grandsire and let the rest cover. In this way they please themselves, the stoney man, the Vicar, and, last but not least, the general public, who dearly love to hear the good folk called to prayer and praise in harmony, which is far preferable to 'hammering pieces off each other' in some badly struck complicated method.—Yours truly,

J. W. D.

IRCHESTER'S BELLS.

ANOTHER FINE PEAL FOR NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

On Saturday week the augmented peal of eight bells and a new clock at Irchester Parish Church were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough in the presence of a crowded congregation, which included about eighty ringers from a wide area. The service opened with the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' and from the first moment that spirit seemed to dominate the soul-inspiring service. The lesson was read by the Rev. B. E. Owen, R.D., Vicar of Higham Ferrers. After the third Collect, the Bishop dedicated a beautiful processional cross given by a parishioner, also a memorial tablet to the late Vicar of Irchester, and subscribed for by the parishioners. The choir, robed clergy, the churchwardens, followed by the Bishop, then formed a procession to the belfry, headed by the processional cross. After reading the tablet recording the gifts, the Bishop handed the rope of the treble bell to the Vicar, who gave two or three strokes upon it. The dedicatory prayers were then said, the bell was immediately raised, the other seven having been previously raised, and the bells started off with a few excellent rounds, followed by a splendidly struck course of Stedman Triples by the following members of the Wellingborough Branch: A. Martin 1, L. Chapman 2, W. Perkins 3, G. Basford 4, J. Garratt 5, J. R. Main 6, A. Y. Tyler 7, O. Payne 8. The bells were then straightway lowered in peal, and the new clock dedicated. It had previously been set at about a minute to three o'clock, and the Bishop, by releasing a cord, started it again, and the Westminster chimes and hour allowed to strike. After the dedicatory prayer, the procession returned to the chancel, when the Hallelujah Chorus was rendered by the choir.

The Bishop then gave an excellent address, in the course of which he said it was a great day for Irchester in receiving these magnificent gifts, and he appealed to them not to hide them away as in a museum, but to treasure them and use them to the glory of God and of His Church.

At the close of the service, the eight members who opened the peal had the privilege of raising the bells and ringing a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples.

A public tea was afterwards held in the schoolroom, and again there was a crowded 'house.' It was a kind thought on the part of the Vicar to make preparation for the large body of ringers in one of the classrooms, and this was much appreciated. Tea over, a few short speeches were made.

The Bishop, asked to say a few words, said he had already had his say in church, and he did not think it necessary to say any more except that it was a great pleasure to be with them on such an occasion as this, and that he had enjoyed the afternoon.

Mr. L. Parsons, one of the churchwardens, proposed a vote of thanks to the Bishop, and, in doing so, said he was a farmer, and as they were famous for grumbling and grouching he had one for this occasion, and it was this, that they did not have their Bishop with them often enough.—Mr. Barber, secretary of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Guild, seconded the vote of thanks, and said he felt honoured by the privilege, and he would like to congratulate the Vicar, churchwardens and the good people of Irchester on receiving these magnificent gifts which had just been dedicated by the Bishop, especially in regard to the augmentation and rehanging of the bells. He especially thanked his lordship for coming to Irchester on a Saturday afternoon, as by so doing he had made it possible for such a number of the members of the Guild to attend and take part in that beautiful service of dedication. On behalf of those members, he sincerely thanked the donors of those gifts. He also said he felt sure all would agree when he said that great credit was due to Messrs. John Taylor and Co. for the way in which they had carried out their work, and for the excellent splice of the three new bells. It could be truthfully said that Irchester now possessed one of the finest peals in the county. Some eighteen months ago the Rev. C. F. Westcott, president of the Wellingborough Branch, invited the Vicar of Irchester to address a quarterly meeting, and during that address he said that, although the bells at Irchester had not been rung for twenty-five years, he hoped it would be possible to do so in the near future, and there they were that day taking part in that great event. He thanked the Vicar for the great part that he had played in the scheme, and played so well. He also appealed to those about to take up the work of ringing these bells, and hoped they would look upon the work as a duty and a privilege as well as a pleasure. He wished them every success, and hoped they would become not only good change ringers, but also regular Sunday service ringers, and, above all, loyal and true churchmen. He had very great pleasure in seconding the vote of thanks to the Bishop.

Amongst those present were the Rev. C. R. Westcott (president of the Wellingborough Branch), Rev. R. C. Thursfield (president of the Kettering Branch), Rev. G. G. Thompson (Vicar of Wollaston), Mr. R. G. Black (general secretary of the Guild), Miss S. Thursfield, Miss E. Steel, etc. The bells were then open to all, and only plain courses were the order of the day, but it is feared that, owing to the large number present, and also to the fact that the parishioners were allowed to inspect the bells and clock at intervals, some few may have been disappointed at not being able to have a pull, but a further opportunity will be offered on Saturday, October 25th, when a quarterly meeting will be held there by permission of the Vicar.

The bells and clock are the generous gift of Mr. John Turnell Austin, of Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., an old Irchester boy, who has presented them to the church as a memorial to his parents and sister who lie in the churchyard. Mr. Austin, who left Irchester over forty years ago, is the principal of one of the largest organ building companies in America. The cost of the work has been over a thousand pounds.

FEAT AT A MOVING TOWER.

DEDICATION OF A PEAL TABLET AT MACCLESFIELD.

During the meeting of the Macclesfield Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild at Christ Church, Macclesfield, on Saturday, September 20th, the Vicar (Rev. S. J. F. Sharples) dedicated a peal tablet recording a local peal of Grandsire Triples. Following tea, which was partaken of in the school, a short service was held in the chapel, and the Vicar gave an interesting talk on the history of the church, which he said was one of the finest examples of an English church in the country. After the hymn, the Vicar, followed by the ringers and friends (who numbered about fifty), proceeded to the staircase leading to the tower, where the tablet has been fixed, and there carried out the dedication.

Mr. J. Norbury, secretary of the branch, congratulated the Christ Church ringers on ringing the peal, and said it was a feat for 'strong' men of indomitable spirit to ring a peal on these eight bells, owing to the great sway of the tower.

A short touch of Grandsire Triples was then rung by the band standing in the same order.

The tower, which is brick built and is 120ft. high, is reputed to sway 2ft. on either side of centre when the bells are rung. They are a fine peal of eight, with tenor 23½ cwt.

GULVAL, CORNWALL.—On Saturday, September 27th, the eve of the harvest thanksgiving, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 38 mins.: A. S. Roberts 1, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 2, J. Wood 3, F. W. Marshall 4, P. J. Hitchens 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, F. E. Collins (conductor) 7, W. Wood 8. Rung after a peal attempt had failed. F. E. Collins, of Croydon, was elected a member of the Truro Diocesan Guild.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

BISHOP'S REFERENCE TO LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL BELLS.

Some have honour thrust upon them, others merit it. At the annual meeting of the Lancashire Association held in Liverpool on Saturday last the branch secretary was so busy arranging things for the comfort of the visitors and seeing that everyone had tea, that he had no time to partake of any himself. When all had finished, the bill was handed to him by the proprietor of the cafe headed thus: 'Mr. C. Davies, The Lancashire Ass of Change Ringers.' However, from other comments expressed it is quite certain that an enjoyable day was spent, and, considering the state of industry in Lancashire, the gathering was a great success.

The branch secretary (Mr. Davies) met an enthusiastic party at St. Nicholas' Church at 11.30 a.m., and duly despatched them on a circular tour, provided with details as to how this tour was to be carried out. They first visited St. Francis Xavier's Church, one of Taylor's rings of eight, having received instructions to proceed to Woolton, etc. Later another smaller batch arrived, and were sent on to Woolton to meet and join with the first party. However, the first party were so satisfied with St. Francis' that there they remained, much to the chagrin of the second company. Alas, 'the ways of mice and men gang aft agley.'

About 2 p.m. members began to congregate at St. Nicholas', and soon after the twelve were heard going merrily, and 'Britannic,' the largest boat that comes up the Mersey, sailed for New York to the tune of Stedman Cinques.

The annual service was held in St. Nicholas' Church at 4 p.m., Canon H. J. Elsee, president of the association, officiating. Archdeacon Howson read the lesson, and the Bishop of Liverpool gave the address, in which he welcomed the visitors to a city 'less rich in bells than many he and they knew.' Various references in his address to the looked-for bells in the new Cathedral, to the need for constant care of those bells which are at present in use, and to the coming meeting of the Central Council, showed his great interest in the work of the association.

At the close of the service, his lordship, accompanied by Archdeacon Howson and Canon Elsee and some of the officers of the association, ascended to the belfry, where two press photographers awaited them.

Tea was held in the Strand Cafe, when ninety sat down to the good things provided. The meeting followed in another part of the same room.

The Rev. Archdeacon Howson, the Warden of the Liverpool Guild, gave a welcome to the members, and, having other business, then left.

The committee's report was read and passed. As there were no nominations for either president or general secretary, Canon Elsee and Mr. W. H. Shaker were invited to retain their respective offices. Canon Elsee was re-elected after completing 40 years as president.

The 'tit bit' of the evening was the alteration of Rule 3, which has to do with the election and qualification of members and making the proposer responsible for the subscription of a member elected in prior to a peal attempt. As all apparently wanted to have a say, and as time was getting on, the matter was eventually passed over to the committee to discuss and bring up again next year at Manchester, where, it was decided, the annual meeting should be held in 1931.

Another notice of motion had to do with affiliation to the Central Council and abiding by its rules and decisions. The letter from the general secretary of the Council was read, and it was decided to support the Council in their work, and also to give them a loyal welcome when they come to Liverpool next Whitsuntide, both the Bishop and Archdeacon promising their support in this connection.

The usual vote of thanks was passed to all concerned, and Mr. C. J. Davies was asked to convey this to them.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

RINGING MASTER FOR ASHFORD DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Ashford District was held at Wye on Saturday, and was attended by 38 members, including visitors from Canterbury, Sittingbourne and Queenborough. The bells were kept merrily going until five o'clock in methods up to Double Norwich. Tea was served at the King's Head (presided over by the Vicar, the Rev. Medcalf).

At the business meeting the election of officers for the coming year took place. After some discussion, all were re-elected, viz., Mr. C. Tribe and Mr. E. S. Ruck, representatives on the Central Committee; and Mr. A. C. Kay, district secretary. Meetings were fixed for 1931 as follows: February, Willesborough; May, Hythe; July, Stone-in-Oxney; September 6th, Tenterden (annual).

Mrs. C. W. Everett was elected as a practising member.

Mr. C. Tribe gave a hearty welcome to the visitors, saying how much pleasure it was to have their company on these occasions.

The secretary then brought forward the question of the appointment of a Ringing Master, and after much discussion it was decided to give it a trial. Mr. E. S. Ruck was appointed to fill the position.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for presiding, and for granting the use of the bells, concluded the business. Ringing was again carried on up to 8.30, when a very successful meeting was brought to a close.

TOWER BUILT OF SHIP'S TIMBER.

GUILDFORD GUILD MEET AT QUAIN BELFRY.

In the diocese of Guildford there are just a few parishes which are in the county of Hampshire, and one of these is Farnborough, better known throughout the country for its connection with Army aeronautics. Farnborough has never taken any conspicuous place in ringing annals, but its tower is of more than passing interest to ringers, while its bells, in years gone by, were a source of 'amusement' to those who attempted to ring them. There is nothing imposing or ornamental about the tower, and were it not attached to a church a passer-by would hardly suspect that it was a belfry. It was erected about three hundred years ago, and its structure consists mainly of old ships' timbers. At each corner is a massive vertical member with its base embedded in concrete, and with dwarf supporting buttresses. These uprights may have been oak trees 'squared up' for the purpose, but there are indications in them that they also, like the cross braces and tie beams, came from a ship-breaker's yard. From their condition to-day, after a lapse of centuries, there is no question that these timbers were veritable 'hearts of oak.' It is hardly likely that there had been any previous tower at this church, for when it was added the west window of the church was blocked up. Part of this window arch now forms a door from the gallery into the ringing room. There are other belfries of similar construction in Hampshire, notably at Yateley and Binsted, and the reason, of course, is found in the comparative proximity of Portsmouth and Southampton Water, where in those days the building and breaking up of wooden ships was a prosperous trade, and from which cartage would have been a fairly easy matter. Externally, Farnborough tower is uninteresting. It is covered with modern oak weather-boarding and a slated roof.

The first bell that the tower contained, as far as is known, was cast at Reading by Henry Knight in 1619. Another bell bore the inscription, 'Prayes the Lord, 1633,' and another, 'Love God, 1638.' William Eldridge, of Chertsey, was the founder of one bell in 1699, probably to replace an older one, as it was the third of a little ring of four. None of these bells remains to-day. They were (with the exception of William Eldridge's bell) recast in 1887, when a treble was added. At that time the old four bells hung in a line, so that the ropes hung in a straight line. The treble was away in a corner. In 1922 Messrs. Gillett and Johnston recast the 4th and rehung the bells in a modern steel frame for six, and in 1928 filled the vacant pit with another treble. And so the bells stand to-day, quite a nice little ring, without modern tuning, with a tenor of 6½ cwt., and going so lightly that they require delicate handling.

The first meeting which the Guildford Diocesan Guild has held at the church took place on Saturday, when nearly thirty ringers were present from Aldershot, Farnham, Farnborough, Frensham, Hawley, Woking and Worplesdon, and excellent practice was put in with Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor. Canon Challacombe, the Rector, welcomed the ringers in the tower, and subsequently conducted the Guild service, at which the singing was led by the organ, at which Mr. T. A. Stroud, organist at Frensham and one of the Guild members, presided, one of the ringers acting as 'blower.'

After tea at the Jubilee Hall, the Vicar presided at the business meeting, when apologies were made for the absence of the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted), owing to the illness of his wife, and the Guild treasurer (Admiral T. P. Walker).

The meeting discussed the question of the sub-division of the district for the purpose of organising combined practices on the lines at present operating in the Guildford District. It was resolved to group Hawley, Yorktown and Bagshot, with Mr. H. Hunt as convener; Aldershot, Ash, Farnborough and Seale, with Mr. W. Viggers as convener; and Farnham, Frensham, Cronall and Bentley, it being left to Farnham tower to appoint a convener.

A cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, the organist and the 'blower,' the two former leaving it to the last-named to respond. Thanks were also given to Mr. Gasson and members of the local band for the arrangements made for the meeting.

The evening, up to eight o'clock, was devoted to further ringing, in the course of which some well-known members wrestled with the difficulties of making singles in Stedman Doubles, and others struggled with the vagaries of Cambridge Minor; while some found it easier to bump the stays than to keep the bells off them. But everyone fully enjoyed the proceedings.

DEATH OF A PENDLETON RINGER.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Joseph Lowe, who, after a long illness, passed away on September 14th on the eve of his 60th birthday. Mr. Lowe, who was a coaler, was keenly interested in the new bells at Walkden, where he lived. He started as a ringer at Worsley, and, when the old band died out, he transferred his affections to Pendleton, where he attended as long as he was able. Always a keen striker, woe betide anyone who was 'boiler making,' as he called it.

The deceased was laid to rest at Walkden, when ringing friends acted as bearers, and the handbells were rung over the grave.

Mrs. Lowe and her son wish to tender their sincere thanks to all who helped them at a time when it was very much appreciated.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. AXBRIDGE DEANERY DISCUSSES NON-PAYMENT OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

A very successful meeting of the Axbridge Deanery Branch was held at Axbridge on Saturday, September 27th, thirty-eight members attending from Weston-super-Mare, Bleadon, Congresbury, Mark, Uphill, Biddisham, Winscombe, Cheddar, Compton Bishop, Burnham-on-Sea, Axbridge, East Brent, West Pennard, Ubley, Loxton, Churchill, Compton Martin, Blagdon, Banwell and two visitors from Dursley and Cornwall. The peal of six were kept going from 2.30 till 4.30, when service was held in the church conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Owen Thomas), assisted by the president of the deanery (the Rev. Powys-David, Vicar of Bleadon). A splendid tea was provided at the Lamb Hotel, after which the business meeting was held, the president taking the chair.

It was agreed that the next meeting, being the annual, should be held at Burnham-on-Sea on Saturday, January 10th. The Vicar of Axbridge expressed a desire to become an hon member, and his election was carried with applause.

A question was asked the secretary why Congresbury had been omitted in the annual report, and comment was made that, though they were a little late in payment of the subscriptions, the rules should be waived and they should have been entered.

An open but very reasonable discussion took place on the subject, with various suggestions, one being that unpaid towers should be entered with black mark. The Secretary expressed the view that some members did not appreciate the fact that until the secretary of a branch had received names and payment from respective towers he could not notify or help the general secretary, whose no small task it was to publish a legitimate report. The secretary suggested that in the event of non-payment of subscriptions, should the tower concerned be able to furnish a reasonable excuse for delay, that tower should be included, but reports should be withheld until payment was forthcoming. Members, however, must not assume that such a policy would automatically be adopted, as Rule 7 must be adhered to until the association thought fit to alter it. In conclusion, the Secretary emphasised the fact that no blame was attached to any secretary for non-appearance of names in the reports providing subscriptions for the year had not been paid, and that it was most unfortunate for all concerned that a discussion of that character should be entered upon. To put a black mark under towers who had not paid would, he felt, be absolutely disregarding the true spirit and endeavours of the association.

The secretary was later asked to forward, on behalf of the meeting, a vote of sympathy to the Vicar of Banwell in his serious illness.

Further discussion took place regarding the first annual dinner to be held at the Cairo Hotel, Weston-super-Mare, on Saturday, November 15th. Considerable enthusiasm was shown, and there is the prospect of a really great social success.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and organist for their kind help, the Vicar suitably responding for both.

The general secretary, Mr. J. T. Dyke, sent a letter of apology for his inability to attend. Further ringing at Axbridge and Cheddar terminated what everyone agreed was a good meeting.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL—AND SOME REMINISCENCES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Thank you for your kind interest in the 'Original'—in Mr. Haley's time it was styled Holt's One Part. Thanks also to Mr. Tucker for his tribute to Mr. Haley. I do not know if Mr. Haley called it by knowing the twin bobs. I got it out from an original 'Shipway' presented to Broadwood's Library by a lady. (This copy is now in the possession of Mr. Peck. When the library was sold he retained it in hand.) I divided it into six parts, ending: 245673, 274536, 235764, 256473, 253746, 234567. I always know the twin bobs, and Mr. Tucker gave me an interesting record of the times he took when I first called it in 1884 on handbells: Mr. Edwin Gibbs, Frederick T. Gover, C. F. Winney and George T. McLaughlin; umpire, Mr. John Cox. The times noted by Mr. H. J. Tucker: 700, 7.55; 1,008, 8.5; 1,918, 8.38½; 3,780, 9.34½; etc. (twelve times taken in all); 5,040, 10.14½. Mr. Tucker, like Mr. Haley, was very thorough, as one can see by these notes which I copied from his paper in my book.

Referring to the 5D omitted, there are three or four places in the peal where a bell is called into the hunt by a twin bob, and by another twin bob is called out, and to dodge 6.7 up, and then has to be called Before. But when one is young, as Mr. Tucker was, he can call the peal quite easily, just as did Mr. Haley, who called it 'in hand' in 1876, when he was 57.

If anyone wants to hear a good story about Mr. Haley, ask friend Gibbs about the man who was ringing a bell with one hand and scratching himself with the other, when Mr. Haley set up his bell and said, 'It's no good going on like that.'

Mr. Pipe, I trust, will smoke the pipe of peace (in Suffolk) by quoting the motto in brass round the chandelier in the belfry of St. Barnabas, Pimlico: 'Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall see God.'

Yours truly, C. F. WINNEY.

THE LADIES' GUILD. WORK IN THE NORTHERN COUNTIES.

On Saturday, September 20th, a joint meeting of the Northern and Lincolnshire Branches of the Ladies' Guild was held at Sutton-on-Trent. Ladies were present from Enfield, Folkingham, Huddersworth, Lincoln, Rotherham, Surfleet and Sutton-on-Trent, and their numbers were much augmented by the gentlemen present, to whom they are much indebted, as they added to the success of the meeting. Bells were raised in peal about 2.45 p.m., and from then, except for service and tea, were kept going until late in the evening. Standard methods from Bob Minor to London Surprise were rung by mixed bands, and touches of Bob Minor and Cambridge by ladies.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Eling, whose welcome and address were much appreciated by all.

A good tea, which had been arranged by the Misses Burchnell, was followed by a vote of thanks accorded by Mrs. Ryder, on behalf of the Guild, to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the service, the organist and all who had in any way contributed to the success of the meeting.

The business meetings which followed were held separately and at the same time, as time was limited owing to members having to return by bus.

At the Northern District meeting, Mrs. Fletcher, the general secretary, whose presence was much appreciated, took the chair. Five new members were elected, and then a discussion took place on the advisability of electing a joint secretary owing to the difficulty of working such a large district.

The chair at the Lincoln District meeting was taken by Mrs. Walden, of Lincoln, and apologies were read from several members who were unable to attend. Here it was reported that several ladies in villages near Lincoln were being instructed in the art of change ringing, and it was proposed by Mrs. McGuinness, and seconded by Mrs. Humphrey, that the next meeting be held at Lincoln in the hope of increasing the numbers of the branch.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

The Western District of the Ladies' Guild held its autumn meeting at Portishead on September 20th. Members were present from Bath, Bristol, Corston, Cleve and Shepton Mallet, and friends from Bath and the neighbouring towers. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and courses of Bob Major and Kent and Cambridge Minor were rung, and in spite of very bad weather a very happy afternoon and evening were spent. An excellent tea was served by Mrs. Goldstone at the White Cot Dairy, and here the members were joined by Mrs. Jukes, wife of the Rector, and her daughter, Mrs. Briggs, an old member of the Portishead band.

At the business meeting which followed it was decided to hold the winter meeting in Bristol, as usual, the towers selected being St. Peter's and St. John's-on-the-Wall. It was also decided if possible to hold two mid-week meetings during the ensuing quarter, one at Shippam on October 15th, and one in the Paulton area in November, the tower and date being left to the secretary.

One new member was elected, Miss Daisy Ashman, of Weston, Bath.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, to Mrs. Jukes for presiding at the meeting, and to Mrs. Edwards and the Portishead ringers for their kindness in making all the necessary arrangements.

The lady visitors would especially like to thank the unknown donor of the beautiful roses which they carried away with them.

A MIDDLESEX EXPLORATION PARTY.

'RECORD' PEAL AT STANWELL.

A party of young ringers, whose average age was between 18 and 19 years, started from Hillingdon Church on Saturday afternoon, and, after sheltering once from a downpour of rain, reached Bedfont at 3.30, where they were joined by two more from Ealing. This church is of Anglo-Saxon origin, most of it thought to have been standing at the time of the Norman Conquest. The tower is of later date, with a small wooden tower top and spire. The bells are a rather false striking peal of six, and go fairly well, the tenor being about 12 cwt. Touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles and Bob Minor were rung. After the ringing, the Vicar's wife said they were very pleased to hear the bells again, as it had been 'ages' since they were last rung.

Stanwell, with its leaning spire, was reached at 4.30, and here the band were met by three local ringers. After having a look at the countryside from the top of the tower, the musical peal of five (tenor 13 cwt.) by Mears, were set going to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Singles, with call changes to give the locals a ring. A board in the belfry records the 'record' peal on the bells. This was two hours' call changes by the local band with two men on the tenor. Peal ringing would be rather difficult owing to the tremendous noise of the bells.

Harmondsworth was the last place visited, and after refreshing themselves the ringers obtained the belfry key from the Five Bells, and various methods were rung, including a course of Grandsire Minor.

JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In answer to your correspondent re the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook's grave, there is nothing to mark it in Philips Park Cemetery, which is five miles from Pendleton and over a mile from Miles Platting, which two towers he most frequently attended. I am afraid the time is not opportune to ask Lancashire to subscribe to a stone. When the national appeal was made, we had the matter before us and decided to support that scheme, which we did to the sum of over £20. Since then we have had two more local appeals, but if it is thought desirable, the committee might take the matter up again. Whilst he was in Manchester, Mr. Washbrook was not attached to any tower, and turned up anywhere as fancy dictated and his work would let him.—Yours,

W. H. SHUKER,

Secretary, Lancashire Association.

SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE.

Dear Sir,—In reply to 'A Novice,' regarding the grave of the late James W. Washbrook, which was mentioned in the account of the Lancashire ringing tour, an error seems to have been made, as the grave is stated to be at Pendleton. This is not so. Mr. Washbrook is buried at Philips Park Cemetery, Bradford, Manchester. I believe Mr. J. Hall (hon. secretary of the Manchester Branch of the Lanes Association) visits the grave quite frequently. I agree with 'A Novice' that something should be done.—Yours truly,

R. LONGDEN.

PENDLETON WOULD CONTRIBUTE.

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed to correct the misunderstanding that has been caused by the communication of 'W.H.F.' a few weeks ago. He was evidently misinformed, as James Washbrook is buried in Bradford Road Cemetery, Manchester, and not at Pendleton. I might add that if the suggestion of 'A Novice' is taken up by the Lancashire Association, Pendleton ringers will be only too pleased to contribute to the scheme.—Yours faithfully,

H. GREENHALGH,

Hon. Secretary, Pendleton ringers.

ENGLAND 'REVISITED.'

CAPETOWN PRIEST RENEWS OLD ACQUAINTANCESHIP.

The Rev. H. F. de Lisle, who is in England for four months' holiday from Capetown, and is renewing his acquaintance with ringing after an absence of more than a quarter of a century, asks if there are any ringers still living who took part in an attempt at a peal of Grandsire Triples at All Hallows', Barking, in, he thinks, 1881.

The late Rev. H. A. Cockey collected a band of College Youths so that I might ring a peal when I was twelve years old,' he writes. 'Amongst them were Mr. C. F. Winney, Murray and Sam Hayes. We did not get the peal, not because Mr. Winney or Murray or Sam Hayes (or even I) made mistakes! but because the gudgeon of the treble broke after one and a half hours. However, I did get a peal soon after, but where it was I don't remember.

Since those far-off days I managed to ring some 25 peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Royal, and one or two double-handed peals, including Holt's Original as conductor.

I have been in South Africa twenty-six years, and must plead guilty to having done no ringing. There is a nice little peal of eight at Woodstock, close to Capetown, but only one or two change ringers.

However, my old enthusiasm has revived, through meeting several old ringing friends. Mr. Winney and the other College Youths (still 'youths') kindly allowed me to have a pull when they were ringing at Westminster Abbey a few weeks ago, as did a band of Guildford ringers. We also got a peal of Superlative on August 16th at Galleywood, my old home in Essex, and one of Bob Major at Widdford.

It has been a great pleasure to ring again and find old friends still going strong, and to see that bellringing in England is flourishing more than ever.

I have just come back from seeing the wonderful Passion Play at Oberammergau, and heard the bells in the great "belfry" at Bruges. Forty-eight of them there are, and their tunes, worked by the drum of the clock, are wonderful, and the bells themselves of beautiful tone, but in spite of all their thrill, one wished to hear in preference some good striking on a sound English peal.

The Rev. H. F. de Lisle is returning to Capetown by the R.M.S. 'Edinburgh Castle' on October 17th.

TRING.—On Monday, September 22nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 50 mins.: H. Brackley (first quarter-peal) 1, J. Puplett 2, H. Bishop 3, H. Bull 4, F. J. Reeves 5, C. Badrick 6, F. W. Reeves (conductor) 7, N. Brackley 8. Rung on the homecoming of the Vicar (the Rev. J. Garmer).

Brigham 5, W. Blake 6, F. Taylor 7, W. H. B. Wilkins 8, W. F. Judge (conductor) 9, V. Bennett 10, H. Miles 11, G. Caudwell 12. The longest touch by an entirely resident band for at least twenty years.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE SALTER.

OLD KIDDERMINSTER RINGER PASSES AWAY IN IRELAND.

It is with regret that we record that Mr. George Salter (brother of Mr. T. J. Salter, of Kidderminster) died at Waterford, Ireland, on Tuesday, September 23rd, in his 62nd year. He commenced to ring at Wolverley, a six-bell tower, in 1884, and joined the Kidderminster band in 1887. He rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, on October 10th, 1888, which was reputed to be the first peal on the bells by a local band since 1765. He took part in the first peals of Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise for the Worcestershire Association.

He left Kidderminster for Bangor in 1907, later moved to Dublin, and finally settled down at Waterford, where for some years he was in charge of the Cathedral bells. He took part in the first peals of Stedman Caters and Bob Royal rung in Ireland, his total number of peals being about eighty.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION A WELCOME AT TREVETHIN.

A quarterly meeting was held at Trevethin, Pontypool, on Saturday last. The bells, a ring of eight by Gillett and Bland, were raised about three o'clock, and rung in various methods until 4.30, when service was held, the Vicar (Rev. Vaughan W. Rees) officiating, assisted by the Rev. Ivor Richards, curate of Blaenavon, who is a very keen and enthusiastic ringer.

Following the service, a bountiful tea, which had been generously provided by Mr. T. B. Pearson, the Vicar's warden, was served in the Church Rooms.

The business meeting was presided over by the Vicar, who at the outset welcomed the members to Trevethin. He hoped they would all spend a pleasant afternoon and evening and go away with happy recollections of the visit to Trevethin. He paid a fine compliment to his own ringers, who, he said, were a loyal and happy band.

Various routine items were dealt with, including reports on restorations and augmentations, and also instructors' reports.

The next quarterly meeting is to be held at Llanbradach, and it was left until the annual meeting to decide where the next Monmouthshire meeting is to be held.

Various items were commented on by the hon. secretary, including the announcement that a peal of Grandsire Caters had been rung at Cardiff during the week to honour one of the oldest association members, Mr. Jesse Pitcher, who had just celebrated his golden wedding.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, and the ladies for their great kindness, hospitality and welcome was passed, the Hon. Secretary remarking that he was at the opening of Trevethin bells over forty years ago, and that ever since, whether it was the occasion of a practice, a peal or a meeting, the same welcome was accorded by the local ringers, whose leader is Mr. T. Lade, and who on this occasion had, as usual, done all he could to ensure a good meeting.

The bells were afterwards rung in the standard methods until late in the evening, bringing to a close a most pleasant meeting.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A

MORE 'ADVICE' ON BELLS.

In a recent article we referred to the manner in which the well-intentioned but, in our opinion, sometimes misdirected endeavours of antiquarians, in regard to church bells and bell hanging, are passed on to the public as if they were the purely expert and only proper view of the way in which restoration work should be approached. The gentlemen whose primary mission in life is to preserve ancient rings, irrespective, it sometimes seems, of whether or not they have outlived their original object and their utility, seem able to obtain the widest publicity for their recommendations, both through a variety of organisations and the public Press. They are able by the means at their command—we do not blame them for availing themselves of it—to reach the people who, so far as they are concerned, really matter and they are thus left, almost without the possibility of contradiction, to carry on their propaganda to a degree which, unless something is done to counteract it, may some day make the necessary recasting of bells, and indeed of any restoration work on modern lines, extremely difficult to promote.

The latest excursion into the realm of 'advice' in connection with church bells comes from the 'Central Council for the Care of Churches.' It has just issued its fourth report upon 'The Protection of our English Churches,' in the course of which many matters, from the distempering of walls to the use of floral decorations and the rebuilding of organs, are dealt with. We, however, are concerned only with the reference to bells, and this is the 'advice' which is given: 'In all cases where alterations to bells, bell frames or their supports are concerned the Central Council regard it as essential that the advice of an architect skilled in work of this kind be sought in the first instance, before any bell founder is asked to visit the church. The hope is expressed that diocesan advisory committees will carefully recommend available architects in each locality whom they know from experience to be competent to deal with towers and bells.' This quotation is taken from 'The Times' review of the Council's Report.

It will be a sorry day indeed if all bell restorations are to wait until an architect 'skilled in work of this kind' is called in. We say it with no disrespect to the profession, but, with extremely few exceptions, architects do not know the first thing about bell hanging. Bell hanging is not an architect's job at all; it is an engineering job, and the sooner those folk who are so ready to give advice realise this the better. The Central Council for the Care of Churches may be competent to express an opinion upon the æsthetic taste displayed in the erection of memorial tablets or stained glass windows, but it is quite obvious that their knowledge in regard to bells is of an extremely limited kind. Where is the architect who could be called in and, without the aid of a bell founder, say whether it was possible to retune a bell; how many architects, without consulting a bell hanger, could tell a Parochial Church Council how to rectify a bad going ring of bells, and what the possible cost would be; and how many could competently design a bell frame throwing the minimum of stress upon a tower while retaining the necessary circle for the ropes and the proper facilities for ringing the bells? These are some of the simplest problems which bell founders have to deal with, but unless an architect has proved his competency in those things he certainly cannot be said to be 'skilled in work of this kind.' Bell hanging is not simply a case of putting girders into a stone structure to carry certain dead weights. As we have said before, bells are moving machinery and the man to be called in in the first instance is the bell engineer. The free advice which is issuing in such a prolific stream just now through various channels—although it may be largely from one source—will eventually have a reaction on bell restoration work unless something is done to qualify it. Cannot the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers take some step to reach 'those who matter' and tell them the bald truth about these things?

DEATH OF A TOTTENHAM VETERAN.

LONG AND VALUED SERVICES AT ALL HALLOWS' CHURCH.

A wide circle of ringers, especially of an older generation, will learn with regret that Henry A. Barnott, of Tottenham, has passed from among us. At the beginning of August he was taken ill and died suddenly early in the morning of September 27th.

For fifty-six years he was a regular member of the Tottenham All Hallows' Society, and for most of that time the bells owed their splendid condition to his care and attention. Deceased had rung 96 peals, mostly in the earlier half of his ringing career. His enjoyment in peal ringing was the company of his ringing friends and the assistance he gave to his own band. Therefore he was never interested in running up a long score. His capabilities as a ringer are known to all who met him. Steady and reliable in ringing, willing and glad to help in anything arranged, the value of his service in the tower of the church he loved so well cannot be estimated truly until his loss has been felt. He died on the eve of his 74th birthday. On the evening of the day of the funeral at Tottenham Cemetery an age 'touch' of the 'whole pull and stand' was rung, and representatives from various neighbouring towers attended for half-muffled ringing.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Parish Church of All Saints, Westbury, Wilts, on Saturday. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and, later, the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. C. Alexander, M.A., Rural Dean, who is also an honorary member of the Guild). Mr. Jefferies was at the organ.

A collection was taken at the close of the service on behalf of the Lord Mayor of Bath's appeal for the building fund of the new Royal United Hospital, Bath, and realised £1 5s.

Tea followed in the Church Institute, to which thirty sat down, including the Vicar, the curate (the Rev. H. Mock), and the organist. At the business meeting, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presided, and referred to the part of his holiday he spent in North Devon, and the ringing done there.

Letters received from the secretary of the Guild, the Rev. F. L. Edwards, were read in reference to the late Mr. T. Hervey Beams, and informing the branch that the badge of the Guild had been fixed to the war memorial in Salisbury Cathedral.

Mr. George Pearce, of Warminster, was elected a member of the Guild, and on the motion of the chairman a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the organist and to those who prepared the tea.—This was acknowledged by the Vicar.

It was proposed to hold the next meetings at Potterne in November and Warminster in December.

Ringers were present from Westbury, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Trowbridge, Melksham, Warminster, Swindon, Stratton, Bratton, Rowde, Holt, North Bradley and Weston (Bath). Touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich and Oxford Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening. A word of thanks is due to the Ringing Master, Mr. S. Hillier, and his assistant, Mr. J. Francis, for the excellent arrangements for everyone to have a ring.

BROMLEY PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

Contributions to the fund for the restoration of Bromley Parish Church bells are invited. The estimated cost of the work is £250, and subscriptions towards this amount will be gratefully received and acknowledged by:—

Mr. I. Emery, leader and steeplekeeper, 49, Wellington Road, Bromley, Kent; or

Mr. P. J. Spice, secretary, 5, Horsley Road, Bromley, Kent.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The autumn meeting was held at Enville on Saturday, September 27th. Upon arrival the party were met by the Rector, the Rev. W. F. O'Neil Fisher, who extended a hearty welcome and, later, proceeded to describe the interior of the church, which was particularly interesting. Very little can be said in favour of the bells, for they are a poor lot, especially the tenor (dated 1626). However, they were made good use of during the afternoon and evening. A short service was held in church, with an address by the Rector. Ten was laid at the Cat Inn, to which forty sat down.

The Rev. C. H. Barker proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his address and use of the bells, also to the organist for his kindly assistance at the service, to which the Rector briefly replied.

Courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters and Stedman Triples were rung on the handbells.

The next meeting is arranged to take place at All Saints' Church, West Bromwich, on January 10th.

A NEWPORT PEAL TABLET.

A handsome peal tablet has recently been placed in the north wall of the belfry of St. Thomas' Church, Newport, Isle of Wight, to record two well-struck performances rung in 1923 and 1930 respectively by the Newport Society of Church Bellringers, conducted by Mr. H. Barton. It consists of a slate slab, 30in. by 22in., polished to a dark colour, with the lettering incised and enamelled in white, the whole well spaced and carved with good character letters.

The Vicar, the Rev. Canon C. H. Thompson, M.A., in accepting the gift for the church from the donor, Mr. W. H. G. Scott, consented to its being placed in a position to match a similar record of two peals rung there in 1923, conducted by Mr. G. Williams. He expressed his appreciation of the ringers' work in the belfry, and said he was pleased to do anything he could for them.

This tablet states that the local company rang Stedman Triples for the first time in May, 1923, and a peal of Grandsire Triples on June 3rd, 1930, on the birthday of King George V., as a thankoffering upon His Majesty's recovery from a serious illness. Full particulars of this performance were forwarded to the King, and were duly acknowledged by a personal letter from His Majesty, which is to be framed and hung in the tower with a photograph of the team who took part in the joy peal.

These peal records form a most appropriate connecting link with those of the old Carishbrook and Newport Society of a century ago.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

After many years of service as hon. secretary of the Rossendale Branch of the Lancashire Association, Mr. J. H. Haydock has relinquished the post and is succeeded by Mr. Jack Bradwell, whose address is 8, Regent Street, Bacup. There is to be a meeting of the branch at Haslingden to-morrow.

Twenty years ago to-morrow the first clerical ten-bell peal was rung, when a party of parsons scored a peal of Stedman Caters at Warwick.

Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire was rung for the first time on October 12th, 1754, when it was called at Shoreditch by George Partrick. One of the ringers was Francis Wood, grandfather of Matt Wood, who a hundred years and more later became a foremost London ringer.

This is a long span to cover three generations. We do not know when Francis Wood was born, but he died in 1780, leaving a family of eight boys and two girls. One of the former, who was ten years old at his father's death, afterwards became the father of Matthew Wood, who was born in 1826, and died in 1912. The three generations thus covered at least 160 years of ringing.

A band that met at 4.30 on Saturday at Bocking for a peal started at four o'clock—by the church clock.

A peal was rung at Stoney Stanton on Saturday to commemorate the 80th birthday of Mr. Harry Briggs, of Stoney Stanton, 'father' of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association. Mr. Briggs and Mr. Wm. Jones, another Stoney Stanton 'youth,' heard the peal. Each is looking forward to celebrating his diamond wedding. That of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will occur (D.V.) next February.

His many friends in Suffolk and Norfolk ringing circles will regret to hear that Mr. E. F. Poppy, of Eye, has suffered a great bereavement by the death of his wife.

JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I would like to support the letter written by 'A Novice,' re James Washbrook's grave. As one who knew him personally, I think something should be done to mark his last resting-place, and I appeal to the general secretary and committee of the Lancashire Association to take this matter up, and also to get some ringer to spend a little time so that the grave shall not be neglected. When the time comes for a little subscription I am willing to give my share.

LANCASTRIAN.

MERTON COLLEGE BELLS.

The bells at Merton College, Oxford, have been rehung by Mr. R. White, of Appleton, and on Thursday of last week a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung by W. F. Judge (conductor) 1, W. Blake 2, W. G. Collett 3, W. H. Wilkins 4, R. A. Post 5, W. Simmonds 6, H. Miles 7, R. White 8.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

SUGGESTED RAISING OF ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION.

Bottesford, which stands on the extreme edge of Leicestershire, and very close to the borders of both Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire, was the scene of the second quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association on Saturday. The Church of St. Mary is ranked as one of the noblest parish churches in the country, and, indeed, is worthy of a visit if only to view the noted monuments in the chancel, which make it a sort of miniature Westminster Abbey. The chancel is 60ft. long and 27ft. broad, and underwent considerable repairs in the early 16th century, under the direction of Thomas, first Earl of Rutland, for the reception of the coffins and monumental remains of his ancestors, which he moved from Belvoir Priory and other monastic foundations after the dissolution. The first Earl was buried in a vault which he formed under the chancel in 1543, and it continued to be the burial place of the Manners family till the completion of the mausoleum at Belvoir in 1828-9. The monuments are many and varied, and are of great interest to archaeologists and other visitors. To ringers, the splendid tower and crocheted spire, rising to a height of 222ft., is the chief attraction, and the now magnificently restored ring of eight bells—tenor 22 cwt. 1 qr. 8 lb.—is a source of delight to all who hear them. The new ringing gallery, too, is an ideal belfry, being extremely light and airy, and everything up to a modern ringer's idea of perfection.

Ringers arrived early, and the first touch was Stedman Triples, called by E. Bartram. This was followed by an excellent course of London Surprise Major, in which the writer had the pleasure of ringing the tenor, with the genial Rupert R. by his side on the 7th. Then followed touches and courses of most of the standard and Surprise methods. The committee, under the presidency of Mr. E. Denison Taylor, met at 3.30 p.m., and carried out their routine and other duties, including certain recommendations to the general meeting.

Tea was served at the Rutland Cafe in a rather airy marquee, eminently suitable to the 'Fresh Air Brigade.' Some forty or more members and friends sat down from Burton, Derby, Loughborough, Leicester, Nottingham, Melton, etc., and were pleased to welcome friends of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild from Grantham, Surfleet and other places nearby.

PRESIDENT'S BRIEF REVIEW.

The general meeting immediately followed, the chair being taken by Mr. E. Denison Taylor (president), supported by Mr. W. Wallace (hon. treasurer) and Mr. E. Morris (general hon. secretary). In opening the meeting, the President first mentioned how pleased he was to see such a good number present, as for most members of the M.C.A. Bottesford was rather inaccessible. He stated that the quarter's peals were well up to the average, some thirty having been rung, including several Stedman Triples by the 'Wednesdayites,' Stedman Cinques at St. Margaret's and Cambridge Royal at St. John's, Leicester. He also wished to congratulate the conductor of the aforesaid 'Wednesdayites'—Maurice Swinfield—on his splendid record of calling 100 peals, each a consecutive different composition.

Mr. Taylor then spoke of the great loss sustained, not only by the M.C.A., but by the Exercise at large, by the death of Mr. Arthur Craven, who, as they all knew, was a ringer of exceptional ability. He read the following extract from the forthcoming book, 'History and Art of Ringing,' which will soon be published, by the M.C.A. hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Morris, viz.: 'Arthur Craven, of Sheffield, an eminent ringer, produced many excellent and well practised methods, among which might be named Yorkshire, Pudsey, Belgrave, Rutland, Ipswich, Kent, Lancashire, Palatine Surprise, and a host of others on the higher numbers of Royal and Maximus. He also produced many original compositions of Treble Bob Major, with qualities hitherto undiscovered; and other method compositions of merit.'

Mr. Taylor asked the members to stand in silence for a moment to the respected memory of Mr. Craven.

MEMORIAL TO LATE PRESIDENT.

Arising out of the minutes was the question of the suggested memorial to the late president of the M.C.A., Alderman R. R. Chambers, B.A., J.P., and the Hon. Secretary explained that unfortunately, owing to the distance, and not being very well, Mrs. Chambers could not attend their meeting that day. She had, however, after consultation with her brother, and the Vicar of Littleover—where it is proposed to place the memorial—sent on two suggestions of worth, both ornamental and useful. They were an almsdish, which could be made to suit any price available, and for a chalice, to be a replica of an ancient silver one now in use.

After discussion, the committee recommended the latter, and, if sufficient funds were available, a small brass tablet recording the fact. It was suggested that an appeal to all towers in the area be immediately sent out, the local secretaries to look after their respective districts. This suggestion met with the approval of all present, and will be proceeded with at once.

The Hon. Treasurer then reported that the National Savings Certificates held in trust for the association by the late president had now been converted by the solicitors for the estate of the late Mr. Chambers, and during the next week a cheque amounting to £110

THE AIR DISASTER.

BELLS' NATIONAL TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD.

At many churches on Sunday, after receipt of the news of the terrible disaster to the airship R 101, the bells were rung half-muffled for the evening service.

The ringing at St. Martin's, Birmingham, was in the nature of a national tribute to the dead, for at this church the bells were broadcast, and the plaintive notes of the half-muffled clappers had a most impressive effect as the finely struck touch of Stedman Cinques ended in some perfect rounds.

At Twickenham, on Sunday morning, the Vicar (Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane) visited the ringing chamber and expressed his grief at the calamity, and at his request the bells were rung half-muffled for the service by Miss P. Giles, Miss J. Stapleton, Miss E. Rabbits, Messrs. E. A. Morris, G. Bradford, R. J. Strutt, L. A. Brown and Wm. H. Hollier.

THE BIRMINGHAM BROADCAST.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The best thanks of the Exercise are due to the members of St. Martin's company, Birmingham, for giving a national expression of sympathy and respect in connection with the appalling disaster to the airship R 101.

Regarding the actual broadcast, those who took part in it are to be heartily congratulated on the splendid striking throughout the touch.

Ringings of this description will do more to enlist the sympathy and understanding of the general public than anything else, and also it demonstrates the importance of keeping the bells well up when broadcasting, thus giving the microphone a chance. Rapid ringing has a tendency to 'choke' the microphone, and makes it next to impossible for the listener to distinguish the different tones of the bells.—Yours faithfully,

Derby.

J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

A special meeting of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association was held on Saturday, October 4th, at Old Brampton, Chesterfield, on the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. R. O. Wilson. The six bells, in excellent order and of pleasing tone, were raised shortly after three o'clock, and rung until 4.30, when service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar, an eloquent address being delivered by the Rev. W. S. Brownlee, Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Chesterfield. Tea was provided by local ladies, and a good number enjoyed an excellent meal. A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. T. Clarke and seconded by Mr. J. Machin, to the Vicar for his invitation and use of the bells, and to Rev. W. S. Brownlee for his interesting address, was replied to by both clergymen, the Vicar extending an invitation to visit his church in the 'real' summer, when the country is seen at its best.

Further use was made of the bells until 8 p.m., the methods rung varying from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. Members were present from Ashover, Crich, Mansfield Woodhouse, South Normanton, Sutton-in-Ashfield and Morton, and it was pleasing to see several visitors for the first time.

This is the last of a series of summer meetings, which have been excellently attended, and there is no doubt the standard of ringing has greatly improved recently.

16s. 8d. would be sent to the present trustees, Messrs. W. Willson and W. Wallace. It would be necessary to consider how these funds were to be invested, and local committees are asked to bring this matter to the notice of their districts, and report on same at the next meeting in January, 1931.

Grants from the Bell Repair Fund suggested by the committee were, after reconsideration and reversing, given to Syston, where the eight bells are being retuned and rehung, also to Appleby Magna, where six bells are being overhauled.

New members elected since the last quarterly meeting, viz., 10 ringing, 4 life and 3 honorary, were duly confirmed.

THE ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION.

The Hon. Secretary informed the members that in considering the annual report, cost of printing, price, etc., the committee had passed a resolution that in future the annual subscription should be raised from 1s. to 1s. 6d., and that a report be given gratis to all members fully paid, instead of making a charge of 6d. per copy as now. This would ensure a greater return than the present system; but as no rule could be altered until the annual meeting at Easter, it was to be retrospective as from January next. In the meantime, the committee referred this matter to each local district for discussion, and asked that resolutions be sent in to the general hon. secretary before the next quarterly meeting in January, when the matter of printing annual reports will be settled.

No other business arising, hearty votes of thanks to the Rector of Bottesford for the use of bells, and to the local committee for arranging the meeting, were duly passed. A vote of thanks was also given to Mr. E. Denison Taylor for presiding. Further ringing was then indulged in until, all too soon, train and bus called a halt to an enjoyable afternoon's gathering.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PEAL RINGERS TO BE ASKED FOR BOOKING FEES.

The 53rd annual festival of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Newcastle-on-Tyne on September 27th. The festival service, in the choir of the Cathedral, was well attended, the service being intoned by Canon Stephenson, of St. Mary's, Gateshead. The Right Rev. Bishop Wood, Suffragan Bishop of Newcastle, gave a most inspiring address on the ministry of the ringers in the service of the Church.

After an excellent lunch at the Crown Hotel, the annual meeting was held, the president, Mr. E. E. Ferry, being in the chair, supported by Bishop Wood, Canon Stephenson, and the Rev. F. R. Hedley.

The loyal toast having been duly honoured, Mr. Arthur Payne proposed the toast of 'The Bishops and clergy of the two dioceses.' The Bishop's humorous reply evoked peals of laughter.

Apologies for absence from the Bishop of Newcastle, the Vicar of Newcastle, the Rev. Preb. A. B. Wynne Willson, Canon Boot, the Rev. J. Hudson Barker, and Mr. C. L. Routledge, were read by the secretary.

Mr. J. W. Parker, treasurer, submitted his cash statement, showing over £22 in hand, which was considered very satisfactory.

The secretary, Mr. G. S. Taylor, then read his annual report, in the course of which he stated that of the four districts of the association the Eastern and the Southern had been most active, ten meetings in all having been arranged, and he hoped that the Northern and Western would follow their example next year, as these district meetings, along with the association meetings, were by far the best means of keeping up the interest of the members and improving the ringing.

A very satisfactory report had also been received from Mr. Geo. Siddle, the secretary of the Wednesday Guild.

The peals rung by the association numbered 33, as against 21 last year. Mr. W. H. Barber had conducted 23 of these, and Mr. T. T. Gofton 5. Specially notable peals were one of Spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major, the first by the association; a peal of Stedman Cinques, to celebrate the 70th birthday of Mr. Wm. Story, ex-president of the association; a peal of five Spliced Major Methods and one of New Cambridge Surprise Major, the first by the association; and a peal of Grandsire Caters on handbells rung in a coal mine. Master R. S. Stratford, aged 12, had rung the 2nd in a peal of London Surprise Major, and Mr. Adam Dens had rung his 100th peal.

SERVICE RINGING CERTIFICATES.

The certificates for Sunday service ringing had been won by St. Ignatius', Sunderland, and St. Paul's, Whitley Bay, for the 8-12-bell towers, and Holy Trinity, Darlington, and All Saints', Hurworth, for the 6-bell towers.

The Secretary said he was pleased to state that the Right Rev. the Bishop of Jarrow and the Right Rev. Bishop Wood had consented to their names being added to the list of patrons. Reference was also made to the death of the Rev. Albert Simpson, Vicar of Evenwood, in April last, a clerical ringer, who would be much missed; and to the presentation to Mr. Thomas Metcalfe on the completion of 21 years' service as secretary and treasurer of the neighbouring association, the Cleveland and North Yorkshire.

A hearty vote of thanks to the officers for their work during the year was proposed by Mr. Wm. Story, and carried with acclamation.

Mr. E. E. Ferry was then re-elected president, Mr. J. Anderson vice-president for the Northern District, Mr. W. N. Park for the Southern, Mr. R. L. Patterson for the Eastern, and Mr. W. F. Pattison for the Western District.

Mr. J. W. Parker was re-elected hon. treasurer, Mr. J. F. Bird auditor, Mr. C. L. Routledge editorial secretary, and Mr. G. S. Taylor secretary. The secretary for the Northern District is Mr. J. Davison, for the Southern Mr. J. T. Titt, for the Eastern Mr. F. Robson, and for the Western Mr. H. Tyson.

The peal referees, Messrs. Barber, J. A. Gofton, Keen, J. W. Parker and C. Todd, were re-elected.

The second peal book had been completed during the year, and there was considerable discussion as to the best means of recording the 275 peals yet to enter, but Mr. H. G. Frampton, of Newcastle Cathedral, kindly offered to write up 25 of them in a new book, and Mr. J. T. Titt, of Darlington, offered to write up a further quantity, and the hearty thanks of the meeting were accorded to these gentlemen.

In order to form a fund to defray the cost of writing up further peals, it was decided to ask all members ringing peals in future to pay 3d. per peal, the conductor to be responsible for collecting the amount.

The Chairman announced that the pre-Lent meeting would be held at Heighington, the pre-Whitsun meeting at Rothbury, and the summer meeting at Consett and Blackhill.

Ringings on the bells of the Cathedral, St. John's, Newcastle, and St. Mary's, Gateshead, concluded a very successful festival.

THE RESTORATION OF ST. IVES CHURCH.

BELLS DEDICATED.

On the eve of Palm Sunday, 1918, a British aeroplane, flying over St. Ives, Huntingdonshire, dashed into the Parish Church, smashed the spire, and fell through the roof into the north aisle. The pilot was killed, and extraordinary destruction done to the fabric of the church. During the years which have since elapsed the work of restoration has been steadily carried on. First the three roofs were reinstated. This part of the work was completed two years after the disaster at a cost of £8,000. Eight years after the spire was finished at a further cost of £3,600, and now the bells and tower clock have been restored at a cost of £750. It has all represented great labour and no small sacrifices on the part of the parishioners.

The new bells and clock were dedicated by the Bishop of Ely at a service of thanksgiving on Thursday of last week, when a great congregation, representative of all classes and denominations in the town, gathered within the walls for the ceremony. The prayers offered by the Bishop included the following:—

'We beseech Thee to sanctify and bless these bells, which we now offer to Thee, that at the sound thereof the devotion of Thy servants may be awakened, and their hearts moved to enter into Thy Sanctuary, that they may hear and receive Thy Holy Word, be refreshed by Thy Sacraments, and comforted by Thy grace: through Jesus Christ our Lord.'

'Blessed be Thy Name, O Lord our God, that it hath pleased Thee to put into the hearts of Thy servants to repair the fabric of Thy holy habitation to Thy worship and service. Bless, we humbly beseech Thee, all those by whose pains, care and cost, this work hath been done. Bless their families and their substance. Remember them concerning this; wipe out this kindness that they have showed for the House of their God: and grant all who shall enjoy the blessing of this place may use it right thankfully to the glory of Thy Name: through Jesus Christ our Lord.'

After the dedication the Te Deum was sung, and the Bishop preached an inspiring sermon of congratulation, warning and confident hope upon the restoration of the church.

After the service a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung by members of the Ely Diocesan Association: T. Chinery (Cambridge) 1, J. W. Ward (Molbourn) 2, B. D. Buttress (Fulbourn) 3, C. I. Robinson (Over) 4, G. L. Perkins (Hemingford Abbots) 5, T. R. Dennis (Cambridge) 6, A. G. Rivers (Dry Drayton) (conductor) 7, F. Warrington (Over) 8. On Sunday evening the bells were again rung by members of the association for services, touches of Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob being brought round.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, carried out the work of restoring the peal.

The old bells, which were cast by Henry Penn, of Peterborough, in 1725, were considered a very unmusical set of bells, and too heavy for the pillars supporting the tower, and ringing was discontinued for many years on account of the excessive movement. After the spire had been rebuilt it was decided to hang the bells at a lower level, and to recast the whole peal.

The new tenor, in G, now weighs 12 cwt. 4 lb., as compared with 18 cwt. 7 lb., and the total weight of the peal 51½ cwt., as compared with 77½ cwt. The bells now hang 14ft. below the eills of the sound openings, the foundation members being only 6ft. above the first floor level. Ringing is therefore carried on from the ground floor level, and the movement in the tower is so slight as to be negligible.

The only inscription on the new bells consists of the names of the Vicar and churchwardens, which appear on the tenor only, as follows: 'Oscar Wade Wilde, Vicar; Reginald Martin Osborne, Edward Anderson, Churchwardens.'

As regards tone and go, the new peal leaves nothing to be desired, and although the loss in weight is deplored by the older inhabitants of St. Ives, the musical qualities of the new peal far outweigh any objections in this direction.

TENTERDEN RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, September 6th, the ringers of Tenterden, together with a few invited friends, including Mr. A. C. Kay, the district secretary, visited North Kent for their annual outing. Leaving Tenterden at eight o'clock by charabanc, Dartford was reached before ten o'clock, and the bells were soon going to Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major and Double Norwich. The following towers were then visited according to plan, viz.: Crayford, St. John's and Christ Church, Erith, Woolwich, Greenwich and Chislehurst. Touches in one or other of the foregoing methods were rung in each of the towers. Lunch was had at Crayford, tea at Greenwich, and the charabanc ran into Tenterden as the clock was striking midnight. Thus came the end of a perfect day. The best thanks of all the party are due to the hon. secretary, Mr. Battin, for collecting the money and making all the necessary arrangements for spending such an enjoyable day, and they also take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents who so kindly granted permission for ringing, and the many local ringers who met the visitors at their towers, thus affording opportunities for renewing acquaintances and for a pull together.

CHANGE RINGING IN GLASGOW.

BAND BEING FORMED AT ST. MARY'S CATHEDRAL.

After a lapse of many years, change ringing was heard again in Glasgow on Saturday, September 27th, when ringers from Edinburgh, Paisley, and Prestwick were present at a meeting at St. Mary's Cathedral. The bells are a fine ring of ten, installed by Taylor and Co. in 1901, the weight of the tenor being 35 cwt. They were rung regularly for a time before 1914, but since the war attempts to revive ringing have failed owing to complaints of excessive noise in the immediate vicinity of the Cathedral, and, except for a few months in 1922, when Mr. J. E. Sykes and one or two other ringers were in Glasgow, change ringing has been in complete abeyance.

Last year, however, the bells were overhauled by Taylor and Co., and the windows in the bell chamber and the spire boarded up and covered with Cahot's quilt, and a band is now being formed under the leadership of Mr. S. H. Wood.

The following ringers were present on Saturday: Messrs. W. C. S. Heathcote, C. Cleveland Ellis, J. Marshall, H. Mann and W. Jenkins, Misses Whitson and Taylor (Edinburgh), Mr. E. Astley (Prestwick), Messrs. A. E. Wrecks and R. J. Thom (Paisley), and Mr. S. H. Wood (Glasgow). The Very Rev. A. G. Seymour (Provost of the Cathedral) and Mr. T. Spens (secretary of the vestry) were also present in the belfry to welcome the visitors and express their pleasure at hearing the bells rung once more. Touches of Stedman and Grand-sire Triples and a course of Grand-sire Caters were rung, and some of the local beginners had their first experience of ringing 'rounds.'

Ten was served in the Synod Hall, followed by handbell ringing, and later in the evening the party went on to Paisley, where touches of Bob Major, Treble Bob, Stedman and Grand-sire brought to a close a most successful and enjoyable meeting.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

CUP CONTEST AT EAST MARKHAM.

On Saturday, September 27th, the third annual contest for the Crawford silver cup was held by the North Notts Association at East Markham, when at 3 p.m. four companies of ringers assembled at St. John-the-Baptist's Church to compete for this handsome trophy. It was given by Mr. Arthur Crawford, of Rampton, in memory of his father, Mr. Charles Crawford, of Lancham, who for 36 years was a faithful member of the association and died on April 17th, 1925. Mr. Charles Crawford was in his early life actively connected with East Markham, and partly by his great effort in 1895 an old peal of four bells was returned, rehung and augmented to a delightful ring of six. Later, he did great work in helping on the art of change ringing in a very wide area.

It was very disappointing to hear at the last minute the Sutton-on-Trent band were unable to get enough men to compete for the cup. The halloing for the order of ringing resulted as follows: East Markham, Ordsall, South Anston and Shireoaks.

The contest finished shortly after five o'clock, when a short service was conducted by the Rev. R. E. Rogerson, with Miss E. Rose playing the organ.

An excellent tea was served, for which the members wish to thank all the lady workers concerned in providing it.

The Rev. R. E. Rogerson presided over the business meeting, supported by Rev. A. Doxey, Mr. J. R. Brearley, Mrs. C. Crawford, Mrs. A. E. Rowsell, Mrs. A. Crawford, Mr. G. Booth, Mr. C. J. Hempsall, Mr. H. Haigh (hon. treasurer), and members from Anston, Everton, Edwinstowe, Gamston, Ordsall, Cuckney, West Retford, Sutton-on-Trent, Shireoaks, Treeton, with a full company of local ringers.

The Chairman announced the result of the contest as follows: No. 1, East Markham, total faults 195; No. 2, Ordsall, 94; No. 3, Anston, 115; No. 4, Shireoaks, 165. Ordsall were thus the winners.

Mrs. A. E. Rowsell, in presenting the cup, remarked that she was very pleased to see that East Markham had competed, and wished them better luck next time.

Mr. R. W. Stockdale, in receiving the cup, said he did not know how the judge had made Ordsall the winners, for Anston had rung very well.—Mr. J. R. Brearley, the judge, then made a few remarks as to the ringing.

It was very disappointing that no new members were elected, and the association still appeals for a great revival in Sunday service ringing.

Mr. H. Haigh proposed, and Mr. H. Hall seconded, that Ordsall be visited on November 9th, when they hoped to see the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson in the very best of health again. They were all very sorry he was not able to come and hear his ringers win the cup.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. R. E. Rogerson for all he had done in making the meeting such a success, and to the churchwardens.—The Vicar suitably replied, and on behalf of the association thanked the judge, who had motored from Bolderstone, near Sheffield.

Mr. H. Haigh then thanked Mrs. A. E. Rowsell for presenting the cup, and said that the members were always very pleased to see her and Mrs. C. Crawford with them at these meetings.

Afterwards the ringers again visited the tower, when some very good touches were rung.

A WINTER PROGRAMME INAUGURATED.

SUCCESSFUL GUILDFORD GUILD GATHERING.

The Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild contains about two dozen towers, and for the purpose of combined practices is divided into five sub-districts. Last Saturday the Cranleigh Sub-District began its winter's activities when, at the invitation of Mr. R. Whittington (the organiser) and Mrs. Whittington, members of the associated towers, with the organisers of the other sub-districts and the Master and general hon. secretary of the Guild, met at Cranleigh and spent a successful and enjoyable afternoon and evening.

Cranleigh Church has a very old foundation, and, according to authority, at one time had a full staff, including three Canons, whose stalls in the chancel are still to be seen. That may have been in the days of the Canterbury Pilgrims, for the Pilgrim's Way lay along the side of the Downs not far distant. The glories of Cranleigh may have departed, but its church remains. The broad spaces and the massive Norman pillars set an air of strength and quiet in the place that belongs alone to noble churches.

At the time of Edward VI.—halfway through the 16th century—Cranleigh had 'iiij belles hanging in the steeple the best waiteh xvij. c. and the reaste one under another according to the rate.' All these bells must have been recast, for the oldest of the present peal bear later dates, some of them having come from the Eldridges' foundry at Chertsey. The present eight are a mixed and not very tameful lot, with a tenor about 19 cwt., but the local ringers have long had a loyal and regular service band, with the name of Charman conspicuous for many years.

Saturday's proceedings began with an hour's ringing, and then a service was held, conducted by the Rector of Cranleigh, the curate reading the lesson and the Rector of Bramley giving an address. The choirboys were present, and one of the Dunsford ringers acted as organist.

Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Whittington kindly entertained the clergy, ringers and choirboys to tea in the Church Room, a bountiful meal being greatly enjoyed.

Subsequently the winter's programme was discussed, and the thanks of the visitors to Mr. and Mrs. Whittington and their helpers was voiced by the Master. Thanks were also accorded to the clergy, and, after some handbell ringing, the tower was again visited. Most of the ringers present came from six-bell towers, and several of them rang their first course and touches on eight. Beginners were helped through Grand-sire Doubles and Bob Minor. Bob Major, Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were also rung.

The combined practices have been arranged as follows: At Ewhurst, October 16th, November 20th, December 18th, January 19th, February 16th, March 16th, April 20th; at Bramley, November 6th, January 5th, March 2nd; at Womersley, December 11th, February 12th and April 9th; while there are practices at Cranleigh every Wednesday. Ringers will be welcomed at all these meetings.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Bridlington on Saturday, September 27th, the fine peal of eight bells being at the disposal of members, by courtesy of the Rector, the Rev. Canon Topham. There was only a moderate attendance, the following towers being represented: Goole, Howdon, Hull, Market Weighton, Selby and Withernsea.

Mr. F. Cryer presided at the business meeting, at which two new members were elected, viz., Miss N. Dalton, of Withernsea, and Mr. W. Applegate, of Pontefract (All Saints).

The next quarterly meeting will be held at Selby in December. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, and to the curate, the Rev. A. M. Seile, for his cordial welcome in the unavoidable absence of the Rector.

ONE OF HIS NINE LIVES.

In a car crash on the South Road, near the entrance to Durham City Golf Club, on Sunday week, Mr. David Vincent, a well-known North Country ringer, and his family, of Fulwell, Sunderland, had a remarkable escape from serious injury. With Mrs. Vincent and their two children (aged three years and nine months), Mr. Vincent was driving homeward when he was involved in a violent collision with another car, as a result of which Mr. Vincent's car was thrown on its side on to the footpath and completely wrecked. Both off-side wheels were ripped off, and the front of the car stove in. The occupants were imprisoned in the car, but when liberated were found to be little the worse for their alarming experience. Mr. Vincent had a cut finger, his wife was badly bruised, but the children were unhurt. The driver of the other car escaped with a cut above the eye. 'Just one of Vincent's nine lives,' is the laconic comment of the wrecked car owner.

FRYERNING, ESSEX.—At St. Mary's, on Sunday, September 21st, before evensong, 720 Westminster Surprise: H. Wright 1, L. Camp 2, C. Harrington 3, G. Camp 4, E. Stich 5, A. Bradley (conductor) 6. 720 London Surprise: L. Camp 1, G. Camp 2, C. Harrington 3, H. Wright 4, E. Stich 5, A. Bradley (conductor) 6.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.CASTLE HEDINGHAM REVISITED AFTER 13 YEARS.

A most successful and well attended meeting of the Northern Division was held at Castle Hedingham on Saturday, September 27th, when between 30 and 40 members, representing twelve parishes, were present. Various touches on the peal of six were rung until four o'clock, when a service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. Horne, M.A.) Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Association, read the lesson, and the Vicar gave a most interesting and instructive address. The choir and organist also attended, which made the service everything that could be desired.

A tea and business meeting followed at the Bell Hotel, at which the Vicar took the chair, supported by the Master, the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders), the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell) and Mr. W. J. Nevard (District Master, North-Eastern Division). Two new ringing members were elected and five probationers (all of Castle Hedingham).

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Coggeshall on Saturday, November 15th.

Mr. Howard thanked the Vicar for the warm welcome and helpful address he had given. He also thanked the choir, the organist, and the organ blower. He added it had been his wish for a long time to hold a meeting at Castle Hedingham, and he felt sure this would mean re-establishing change ringing there.

The Vicar, in reply, said he was pleased to welcome the association. In Castle Hedingham they had an enthusiastic band of young ringers, and with the help of members of the association he had no doubt they would make good progress. Now they had started they meant to keep it going. He was very pleased all the young ringers had joined the association.

The bells of Sible Hedingham Church, in addition to those at Castle Hedingham, were available, and during the evening several visitors took advantage of this opportunity and rang touches in various methods on them. This is the first meeting to be held at Castle Hedingham since June, 1917, and everyone present would appreciate what these district meetings mean to those who are learning the art of change ringing and to the Exercise in general.

WEDNESDAY MEETING.

A meeting was held at Potter's Street on Wednesday, October 1st, when members were present from Harlow, Sawbridgeworth, Bishop's Stortford, Walthamstow, Broxley, Melbourn, Roydon, Nazeing and North Weald. The local band were also in attendance. The bells were rung throughout the afternoon, and at 5 p.m. service was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. F. H. Lane (who is a very keen ringer and rings regularly with the Bishop's Stortford band). After service, a tea was provided in the nearby Church Rooms.

Following tea, Mr. George Dent voiced a vote of thanks to the Rev. F. H. Lane for the duties he had performed in church, etc., to the organist, and also to the blower.

Mr. F. Bird moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Dent for the splendid tea which he had so courteously provided (free of charge), and to the ladies (who were the wives of the local band) who had prepared and served the meal.

It was decided to hold the next mid-week meeting at Sawbridgeworth on Wednesday, October 22nd. The bells were rung during the evening.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Southampton District was held at Netley Abbey on Saturday, October 4th. The methods rung on the bells during the afternoon and evening ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples up to and including London and Bristol Surprise. Tea and business meeting took place at a local cafe, the Rector of Dibden being in the chair. The Vicar of Netley was unable to be present. Several ringers from St. Mary's, Southampton, were elected to the Guild, and it was decided to hold a combined practice at St. Michael's, Southampton, on Tuesday, November 4th, at 6.30 p.m.

Mr. G. Williams called the Vicar's attention to the condition of the bell frame, which requires the bell hanger's attention.

Members present were from North Stoneham, Overton, Dibden, Portsmouth, Southampton, Bishopstoke, Titchfield and Winchester, and Mr. Trimmer, of Croydon.

DEATH OF GENEROUS BELL DONOR.

It is with great regret we have to announce the death of Mr. Benjamin Wilson, of Horbury, Yorks, who died on Saturday, September 20th, and was interred in Horbury Cemetery on Tuesday, September 23rd. He was an hon. life member of the Yorkshire Association and in 1900 he gave a tenor and treble to SS. Peter and Leonard's Church, and paid for the recasting of the old 4th bell.

Prior to the funeral, 720 Bob Minor was rung with the bells deeply muffled: G. Hunt 1, H. Rowley (conductor) 2, E. Pickles 3, G. W. Pickles 4, J. Milner 5, G. Goldstraw 6, W. H. Mitchell 7; and in the evening 800 Bob Major: H. Pickles 1, G. Hunt 2, H. Rowley (conductor) 3, E. Pickles 4, A. White 5, J. Milner 6, G. Goldstraw 7, G. W. Pickles 8.—On Sunday, September 28th, as a last token of respect and esteem, 816 Bob Major: H. Pickles 1, G. Hunt 2, H. Rowley (conductor) 3, E. Pickles 4, W. H. Mitchell 5, J. Milner 6, G. Goldstraw 7, G. W. Pickles 8.

RINGERS' WEDDING AT NORWICH.

On Thursday, September 18th, at All Saints' Church, Norwich, the wedding took place of Mr. Lawrence Cyril Denham, only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Denham, of Norwich, and Miss Winifred Rose Browne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Browne, also of Norwich. Both the bride and bridegroom are ringers at All Saints' Church and ardent churchworkers in other directions. The service was fully choral, the hymn, 'The Voice that breathed o'er Eden' being sung as the bride with her father moved up the aisle. The bride was attired in a gown of white satin with Brussels net veil and orange blossoms, and carried a sheaf of lilies and white heather. The eight bridesmaids wore georgette frocks and carried bouquets of chrysanthemums. The Rev. N. S. M. Roxby officiated, and there was a very large congregation of friends of the bride and bridegroom. The service included Psalm 128 and the hymns, 'O Perfect Love, all human thought transcending,' and 'Lead us, Heavenly Father, lead us.' The bride was given away by her father, and the Rev. N. S. M. Roxby gave an address. Other appropriate music was rendered on the organ, and as the bridal procession returned to the south door Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played and the bells were rung in rounds and 'fired' by fellow-members of the All Saints' company.

A reception was afterwards held at the Samson and Hercules House, at which the Rev. N. S. M. Roxby and a number of friends of the family were present. Later the happy couple, amid many congratulations and good wishes, left for the honeymoon, which was spent on the East Coast.

The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful, including a sideboard from the Vicar and friends at St. John's Church, Timberhill, a mirror from the 13th Boy Scouts, of which the bridegroom was Scoutmaster, and a dinner wagon from the Pixies, of which the bride was leader.

During the evening nearly 2,000 changes of Stedman Doubles were rung to celebrate the event, and afterwards some handbell ringing at the bride's home. The bride and bridegroom have the best wishes of their ringing colleagues for their future health, wealth and prosperity.

YORKSHIRE PROBLEMS.

Only those who are responsible for the management of big associations know the difficulties which are encountered in keeping up a healthy and active interest amongst the rank and file of the members, and the wider the area and the more detached its districts the greater the task which confronts the officials. One of the most difficult of all county areas must be that covered by the Yorkshire Association, where, when one gets away from the industrial centres, means of communication are not easy and distances so great that the ordinary organisations of an association could not hope to cover comparatively frequent visits to all the towers which are so essential in maintaining local interest in the affairs of the association and indeed in the art itself, which if left in isolation rarely thrives for long.

Speaking at the Yorkshire Commemoration Dinner at York on Saturday the President confided to the members that the future prosperity of the association is a matter of serious concern to the officers. The Yorkshire Association was one of the first, it is still one of the greatest of the provincial organisations, but its future, if it is to maintain its traditions, depends upon the loyalty of the members. They have a splendid source of inspiration in the work of the men who are now but a memory, but, who, as the President remarked, laid the foundations of the association by self-sacrificing efforts. This spirit is surely not lacking to-day among Yorkshire ringers, yet it would be a great encouragement to those who are responsible for the present success and for the future prosperity of the association, if their efforts were more widely backed up and their labours rewarded by a more active support. 'We want to see more new faces at our gatherings,' remarked one official; 'unless we do, this commemoration will die out as the old members disappear.' That statement referred to the annual dinner, but it is a similar feeling in regard to the future that is, apparently, giving the association's officials food for serious thought.

In one direction the President threw out a suggestion which will doubtless be much discussed. The northern part of the county has always been a difficult problem for the county organisation. It has never effectually covered this area, where the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association has operated for many years. The gesture of the President was towards a united association for the whole county on some terms by which the smaller society would retain its identity. It is delicate ground, which would need careful exploration, but if it is likely to promote the interests of ringing and the progress of the

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Brixham on Saturday week, ringers being present from Exeter, Dawlish, Buckfastleigh, Torquay, Cockington, Paignton, etc., as well as from the local company. The bells were well utilised during the afternoon, and a service was conducted by the Rev. W. E. Jenner, who, as he usually does, gave an excellent address. After tea in the schoolroom, the business meeting was presided over by Mr. F. J. Laxton, the chairman. Reference was made to the death of the Rev. A. V. Cox, formerly of Paignton, and father of a well-known member of the Guild.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of Brixham for the use of the bells, to the Rev. W. E. Jenner for conducting the service, and to the organist and choirboys.

Kingsteignton and Wolborough were chosen for the annual meeting, which takes place on Saturday, January 24th.

A suggestion arose that collections should be taken at services and should be devoted to the Instruction Fund, and, after discussion, it was agreed to make a recommendation to the general committee.

Six new members from Brixham, one from Churston, and two full performing members from Colaton were elected.

The business concluded, a move was again made to the tower, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung. Churston bells were also available for the visitors during the afternoon and evening. The attendance was moderate, partly owing to the fact that another branch meeting was being held the same day.

WEDDING BELLS AT WEST BROMWICH.

On Saturday, Sept. 27th, the marriage took place at Christ Church, West Bromwich, of Mr. Arthur Edward Reeves and Miss Ada Uden. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar, Mr. Reeves, who has been a member of the Christ Church band, is going to reside in Boolle. The bride is a very much respected churchworker. The honeymoon is being spent at Scarborough. After the ceremony, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 53 mins.: E. Whitehead 1, L. Griffiths 2, P. Troth 3, F. Pickering 4, J. Walker 5, J. Screen (conductor) 6, J. Jagger 7, J. N. Read 8. The ringers were afterwards entertained at the Dun Cow, the home of the bridegroom's parents, a very happy time being spent. The health of the newly-married couple was proposed by Mr. J. Walker, supported by Mr. J. Screen, and drunk with musical honours. During the evening there was tune ringing and change ringing on handbells, and a very pleasant time was spent.

CRANLEIGH'S ANCIENT STALLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the report published in your issue of October 10th, of the meeting at Cranleigh, a small inaccuracy has crept in. The stalls, to which the report refers as stalls for three Canons, are situate in the sanctuary. They are an excellent example of ancient sedilia, literally seats for the use of the priest, deacon and sub-deacon during High Mass, at the time of the sermon, or while the clerks and people sing their parts of the office. Cranleigh may in old days have been a collegiate church, in which case the canons' stalls were in the choir. A fine example of such stalls may be seen in the old collegiate Church of All Saints, Maidstone.—Yours, etc.

THE LATE JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Through your valuable paper I beg to thank all those who have written you on the matter. The Lancashire Association are on the spot, and could be entrusted to carry out the job in an efficient manner. And I am of the opinion that if they decide to undertake it, they will not commit themselves to any financial liability. And you, I feel sure, sir, would be only too willing to help on the scheme.—Yours,

A NOVICE.

HANDBELL MUSIC.HOW TO ARRANGE YOUR OWN.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—With reference to the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn's letter in your issue of the 3rd inst., may I be allowed to state how my family and myself have given quite a number of 'turns' at concerts, etc.? The applause shows appreciation.

Two octaves require 15 bells. This is the number we generally use. Anyone with a smattering of music can arrange the music for himself as follows: Obtain four small manuscript music books. In the first write only the notes of the four smallest bells; in the second, only the notes of the next four; in the third, only the notes of the next four; in the fourth, only the notes of the three largest bells. The first three books are written in the treble and the fourth in the bass clefs.

Transpose all the tunes into the key of G (particularly old favourite airs), then the top note in the first book would be above the staff, and in the fourth book the largest bell would be written in the top space. Care must be taken to put in rests correctly where the ringer has nothing to play.

I have arranged my handbell music in this way, and, in some tunes, chords occur in which seven bells are struck at one beat.

Of course, more variations can be obtained by a few accidentals and one or two smaller bells.

It does not matter what key the handbells are in, one must pretend that the top and bottom notes are G, after the manner of tonic sol fa.

The first three ringers retain two bells in each hand, striking the top one crosswise and the bottom one downwards, and the fourth manipulates the three largest.

Moral: Necessity is the mother of invention.—Yours truly,

G. E. SYMONDS.

WALKDEN'S NEW BELLS.PROVIDED AS MEMORIALS.

On Saturday, October 11th, the new peal of bells and Westminster chimes at Walkden, Lanes, were dedicated by the Dean of Manchester in the presence of a crowded congregation, which included about 70 ringers from 28 towers. The service was conducted by the curate, Rev. A. H. Duncan, assisted by Canon H. J. Elsee, president of the Lancashire Association, who read the lesson.

The Dean gave a very impressive address in which he referred to the remarkable way in which the peal of bells was obtained. It was mentioned at the Easter meeting that the bells were in a bad way, and a committee was formed who issued an appeal for funds on the last Sunday in April. On the second Sunday in May seven bells had been promised, as well as £150 towards the tenor bell which the late Vicar, the Rev. W. M. Smith, wanted to be subscribed for by the people of Walkden. All the bells have been given as memorials to relatives, including one given by a Nonconformist family in memory of their parents. He regretted to say that three of the donors of the bells, including the Vicar of Walkden, had died while the restoration had been in progress. The chimes had been given by the widow of a former churchwarden.

After the sermon a special hymn was sung in memory of past worshippers, beginning, 'In our day of thanksgiving one psalm let us offer.'

At the close of the service a short touch was rung by the local company, after which the bells were open for ringing.

Tea was provided in the schools through the generosity of a few friends, at which about 120 sat down.

After tea the bells were half-muffled in memory of the R 101 victims. The order of the day was 'short touches' so that everyone present could ring.

The bells are a very fine peal by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., with a tenor of 18½ cwt., and the opinion of the ringers is that they are a credit to the church and to the founders, who were represented by Mr. J. P. Fidler.

YOUNG BAND'S PROMISING START.

On Friday, October 3rd, for harvest festival at Mickleton, Glos, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), with 4, 6, 8 covering, in 50 mins.: F. Fairfax 1, H. Terry (conductor) 2, D. Kinchin 3, F. Kinchin 4, F. Tuffley 5, L. Kinchin 6, S. Loynes 7, H. Bowles 8. Much credit belongs to the ringers for the way they rang their bells, for (with the exception of the conductor) they have all learned change ringing since Easter.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Yorkshire dinner in commemoration of the past officers of the Yorkshire Association is a reminder that one of the greatest of the old stalwarts, Charles Henry Hattersley, died on October 21st, 1915.

Mr. F. C. Dawe has made another step towards attaining his life's ambition of ringing a peal at every cathedral where there is a ring of bells. Forty-seven years ago he made his first attempt at Ripon—on Saturday he was successful.

Mr. James Broadley, of Bradford, who, we are glad to say, is now improving in health after a rather serious illness, is one of the few ringers left who rang peals with Jasper Snowden. Mr. Broadley will be 71 on the 25th of this month, and he rang with Jasper Snowden in 1881 and 1882.

Many ringing friends will regret to hear of the death of Mr. John William Simon, aged 62, at a nursing home at Scarborough. He was for several years a well-known ringer in the Heavy Woollen District and a member of the Yorkshire Association.

One hundred and forty years ago next Tuesday a peal of 8, 148 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung at St. Mary Abbots Church, Kingston.

The second time Holt's Original was conducted by a ringer taking part in a peal was at St. Giles' Church, Norwich, on October 23rd, 1752. The first time it was done was at St. Michael's Costany, just two months earlier. The conductor was William Dixon.

In our recent article on 'Trouble in the Tower' we stated that the tower concerned was in Essex. We are informed that it is on the other side of the border, in Suffolk.

THE 'HEAVIEST' CAMBRIDGE ROYAL.

SOUTHWARK CLAIM STILL HOLDS GOOD.

A correspondent sends us the following comparative weights of the back ten bells at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, and St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, to show that the latter bells were rightly claimed as the heaviest peal rung to Cambridge Surprise Royal. He points out that the tenor at Redcliffe was only about 39 cwt. until Taylor and Co. recast it and added considerably more metal. So that, while Redcliffe is slightly the heaviest tenor rung to Cambridge Royal, Southwark, as a peal, can claim to be more than 22 cwt. heavier, in the aggregate, than the Bristol ring. Here are the weights:—

YORKSHIRE COMMEMORATION DINNER.

RINGERS HONOUR MEMORY OF FAMOUS MEN.

Ringers from many parts of the country made a pilgrimage to York on Saturday to join with the members of the Yorkshire Association in their ninth annual commemoration dinner to the memory of the late Jasper Whitfield Snowden (the founder) and past officers of the association. Altogether nearly a hundred ringers and friends assembled, the former having the privilege in the afternoon of ringing on the glorious bells at the Minster, with their 60 cwt. tenor, one of the finest rings ever put into an English tower. The bells were rung with half-muffled clappers, as a mark of sympathy on the death of the 48 men who lost their lives in the airship disaster, and who were buried that same afternoon.

In the evening the company assembled at the famous old coaching hostelry near the Micklegate, the Windmill Hotel, where they dined under the chairmanship of the president of the Yorkshire Association, the Rev. C. C. Marshall, of Leeds. He was supported by the Revs. R. G. Pyne (St. Cuthbert's, York) and R. M. Kelly (Huntingdon), Messrs. E. A. Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council), F. E. Dawe (London), C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. P. J. Johnson (hon. secretary of the Yorkshire Association), and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. T. F. Earnshaw (president) and Mr. G. Horner (hon. secretary of the York Dinner Committee), Mrs. Earnshaw and Mrs. Horner, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fearnley (York), Mr. J. Cotterell (hon. treasurer of the Yorks Association) and Mrs. Cotterell. Among those also present were Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association) and Mrs. Coles, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary, Guildford Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. Goldsmith, Mr. W. H. Shuker (hon. secretary of the Lancashire Association) and Mrs. Shuker, Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. J. W. Rowbotham (Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet, Lincoln Diocesan Guild), Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smallwood (Derby), Mr. G. Dent (Harlow, Essex), Mr. and Mrs. McGuinness (Lincoln), Mr. Parks (Darlington), Mr. W. Thomas (representing the Bristol United Guilds), Messrs. S. R. Roper (Croydon), Colin Harrison (Loughborough), A. E. Norman and F. Haynes (Birmingham), F. Cryer (Selby), Mr. and Mrs. S. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lewis, Mr. J. Holman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bugar, Mr. J. Thorp and Mr. M. Wilson (Sheffield), Mr. T. Maude (Pudsey), Mr. S. Briggs (Rotherham), etc.

After enjoying an excellent repast, the loyal toast was honoured, and the Chairman announced that apologies for absence had been received from the Dean of York, the Bishop of Whitchy, Rev. H. Spence (Chamberlain of York Minster) and Bishop Heywood.

A MEMORIAL TO CANON NOLLOTH.

Mr. E. A. Young proposed the toast of 'Church and State.' As ringers, he said, they were closely in touch with both. In their ordinary lives they may not always feel at one with the State, but they did feel one with the Church as Sunday by Sunday they discharged their office in the belfry. As ringers they felt that they were more than a family of just two or three people. They belonged to a guild or an association, and were in touch with other similar guilds and associations, all of which were bound together by the Central Council.

The Rev. R. G. Pyne, who first responded, referred to the fact that there was a project on foot to provide at Beverley a memorial to the late Canon Nolloth, who rendered such great services to ringing, and who was largely responsible for the schemes that provided the present bells at Beverley Minster and the recasting of the bells at York Minster. One of the suggestions was that there should be a tablet of bell metal. At the time of his death, Canon Nolloth was collecting, or had collected, a great deal of material for the purpose of publishing a book on bells, but his strength did not permit him to complete the work. He wondered whether from that meeting they might send a recommendation to the Memorial Committee that someone competent should be appointed to put the manuscript into book form, and that it should be published at a nominal price as part of the memorial. He thought such a book would be welcomed by ringers all over the country, and he knew it would be something after Canon Nolloth's own heart (hear, hear). Proceeding, Mr. Pyne threw out the suggestion that all ringers should become members of the C.E.M.S. He thought it would strengthen them as a fraternity of churchworkers, and it would help churchpeople to realise that bells and bellringers were part and parcel of the work of the Church and held an honoured place. He thought, perhaps, it was a matter for the Central Council to consider how far there might be some sort of affiliation, even if only of an ex-officio nature. Mr. Pyne also suggested that there should be certificates or prizes offered by the Council to encourage progress among young ringers, and that medals for long service should be presented to older members. He would not go into details of any scheme, but he thought a long-service medal might be given for ten years' service and a bar for every subsequent five years.

The President said he thought he could assure Mr. Pyne that it would be most decidedly the wish of the members of that association if some such book could be compiled from Canon Nolloth's manuscript, that it should be published as part of the memorial to him.

The Rev. R. M. Kelly, who is a son of the late Rev. Maitland Kelly (formerly president of the Devon Guild), also responded in a brief and humorous speech.

JASPER SNOWDON.

To Mr. F. E. Dawe, who has been a member of the Yorkshire Association for over fifty years, and who personally knew Jasper Whitfield Snowden and the other men who built up the foundations of the association, was entrusted the toast to their memory. He first of all asked the company to stand for a few seconds as a mark of respect to the men of the R 101, who had been buried that day at Cardington, and to whose memory there had that day been rung a peal of Stedman Caters at Ripon.

This having been done, Mr. Dawe proceeded to remark that Yorkshire had produced many wonderful men in ringing in its time, and there was no reason why it should not do so in the future. He knew Jasper Snowden during the last four years of his life. They exchanged many letters, and he had preserved all those that he received from Jasper Snowden. The question arose, what was he going to do with them? He thought the best thing he could do would be to hand them over to the secretary of their association so that they might be perused by anyone who cared to read them. Jasper Snowden died on November 16th, 1885, and his death was the greatest bereavement the Exercise ever suffered.

Mr. Dawe asked for a show of hands by those who rang a peal with Snowden, but only Mr. Rowbotham and himself could respond.

Mr. Dawe described the effect which the news of Jasper Snowden's death had upon ringers in London, and said there were more funeral peals rung for him than for any other individual with the exception of King Edward. Mr. Dawe said that Mr. Snowden's death aroused great interest in medical circles and was the subject of an article in 'The Lancet.' The facts were that while he was away from home a favourite parrot of his died. The servants left it in its cage until he came home some few days later, and Mr. Snowden removed the dead bird. By a strange freak, some sort of powder on the bird's feathers got into a cut which he had on his hand; this resulted in typhoid fever, and he died in Leeds Fever Hospital. In his mind's eye, continued Mr. Dawe, he could still see Jasper Snowden. A man of medium height, thick set, muscularly strong, a man that you would call well knit, with piercing eyes that took in every material thing at a glance, and closely cropped hair; active, energetic and methodical in everything he did. He possessed many interesting traits of character, but Jasper Snowden told him once in confidence that his pet aversion was the man who sent him a new method and 5,000 of the abominable stuff and asked him to prove it. Among other things, he could do with very little sleep. He never went to bed until the small hours of the morning, and was always up again early, usually working on some problem. He was a great walker, and once walked from Leeds to London in five days. He did all in his power in the cause of belfry reform, which in those days was making only slow progress, and with his friend Bob Tuke he founded the Yorkshire Association and the old 'Bell News,' for which he frequently wrote articles. He was splendid company, a merry fellow, full of humour and always on the alert. He was a true historian, and his books on ringing were the most lucid that had ever been written. To him alone remained the credit of introducing coloured diagrams; as instruction in ringing, they were one of the most valuable things. When he was going to ring a peal, if he was not calling it himself, he always insisted on seeing the composition, and, if he had already rung it, another one had to be substituted. He rang all the Grandsire and Stedman Triples peals that there were, and he went in for even-hell methods, preferably Treble Bob. His system was carefully to write the composition on a playing card.

and it had to be hearts or diamonds. He used to stuff the card up his sleeve, and in the train or walking about he would pull it out to learn the composition, and push it back in his sleeve again. His ringing dress was a novelty. It was a silk garment that weighed about six ounces, and its nature was such that it would have made certain notorious town councillors squirm if they had seen him in it. Over three hundred people were at Sheffield when a presentation was made to Jasper Snowdon, for he was one of the men whom everybody loved.

'It is easy enough to be pleasant, when life passes by with a song, But the man worth while is the man who can smile when everything goes dead wrong.'

Jasper Snowdon was a man worth while.

OTHER YORKSHIRE WORTHIES.

Mr. Dawe then went on to refer to other past officers of the association. There was William Howard, an antiquarian and a very musical man; not much of a bob caller, but he composed peals of Grandfire Caters and used to send them to him (the speaker) to prove for him. Then there were William Whittaker, Bob Binns, Joe Harcastle and George Horner. They all did their bit; they were the backbone, the mainspring of scientific ringing in Yorkshire, with two well-known Sheffield men, Thomas Hattersley and his brother, Charles Henry, familiarly known as Harry Hattersley, one of the cleverest men that ever stepped into a belfry; one of the most reliable composers, splendid company, a man in every sense of the word. Then there was Charles Jackson, of Hull, one of nature's gentlemen, who called every known peal of Grandfire Triples, and George Breed, of York Minster. He was one of the finest big bell-ringers that ever stepped in shoes. He went up to London to ring the tenor at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on his (the speaker's) 21st birthday. St. Saviour's tenor at that time was something to be reckoned with; it was not the beautifully easy-going bell that it now is. To see him ring that difficult bell was like watching a bit of well-oiled machinery. Another peal in which he rang with George Breed was the first peal of Stedman Cinques in the North of England, at Sheffield. Of that company, there were now only three left, his old friends, Challis Winney and Jack Rowbotham. It was one of the finest peals it was possible to achieve. In conclusion, Mr. Dawe expressed the hope that those present would be able to meet as friends for many years to come, to honour the memory of the dear old men he had endeavoured to speak about.

The toast was honoured in silence.

Mr. P. J. Johnson submitted 'The Visitors,' and in doing so expressed the regret all felt at the absence of Canon Solloway, the well-known Vicar of Selby, to whom the Church itself owed a great debt, not merely as a friend of ringers, but for his scholarship and the work he had done in the restoration of the great Benedictine Abbey Church of Selby. He advised all the visitors who had not already been there to call at Selby to see for themselves the great restoration work that had been carried out there, and for which Canon Solloway was largely responsible. Mr. Johnson went on to refer to the numerous representatives of other societies who were present. They took the presence of these gentlemen, he said, as an indication that they desired to honour the memory of one who did more for change ringing than any single man had ever done. These visitors, many of whom had come long distances, came not merely to enjoy a convivial evening, but to add their tribute to the genius of the men who had now gone from their midst. The Yorkshire Association was greatly indebted to them for their presence that night.

Mr. Albert Walker, who first responded, thanked the Yorkshire men for the hearty welcome the visitors had received. They all joined, he said, in regretting the absence of Canon Solloway, of whom many of them had the pleasantest recollection, and they wished him a speedy recovery from his illness. Mr. Walker said he brought from Alderman Pritchett, the Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, an expression of his best wishes for a happy evening and his regret that he was unable to be present that night. In conclusion, he congratulated the York Society on the way in which they had organised that dinner.

A PRESENTATION BELL.

Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, who also replied, said that one of the things that struck him most about the career of Jasper Snowdon, who was such a great ringer, such an able man, and one who did so much for ringing before he died at a comparatively early age, was that he actually walked from Leeds to London in five days. He wondered how many of them could do that without getting knocked up before they got through. Continuing, Mr. Johnston said that recently they had a visit at the Croydon Foundry from the Rev. C. C. Marshall, their chairman, and by a coincidence it so happened that on the day of his visit they were casting the peal of bells for Burley, Leeds, which was an adjoining parish to his own. It was purely a happy coincidence, but knowing how deeply Mr. Marshall was connected with ringing and the work he had done for the Yorkshire Association, he thought they would not mind if he took that opportunity to make him a little present as a memento of the occasion. He had therefore surreptitiously brought that memento with him to hand over to Mr. Marshall. It was a model bell, inscribed, 'To the Rev. C. C. Marshall, who was present when the bells were cast for St. Matthew's Church, Burley, Leeds, on the 20th September, 1930. A memento of the occasion.'

Mr. Johnston handed the gift to Mr. Marshall amid applause, and the Chairman expressed his sincere thanks for the handsome present, which he said he would value and treasure very much. It would be used at his little cottage in Wales to ring him in from the sea when he was away in his boat and they wanted him back. It would be a pleasure to have it there to remind him of his visit to the foundry, and of the fact that he was present at the founding of the bells for almost the next parish to his own at Leeds. He should always have a unique interest in those bells, and Mr. Johnston's gift would remind him of that visit to the foundry when they were cast.

DIFFICULTIES OF A BIG AREA.

The Chairman proposed 'Continued prosperity to the Yorkshire Association,' and remarked that he had received a letter from Miss Snowdon, who, in the name of her mother and herself, sent their good wishes to that gathering, and assured them of their good wishes always for the association with which they felt themselves so closely connected by bearing the name of Snowdon (hear, hear). He was sure he would only be following the desire of those present if he reciprocated those good wishes to Mrs. and Miss Snowdon (applause). The association, continued the Chairman, started from a small beginning in 1875 under the wonderful impetus of the enthusiasm of their great founder, Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, and it had gone on to truly great things. He thought he was right in saying the Yorkshire Association now held an honoured place among the ringing societies of the land, and had earned an honoured name amongst ringers. The future rested with the present members, and it was therefore well that they should consider how the prosperity of that association could be continued. In his view they must all try to preserve and to increase the Yorkshire characteristics of their association, because he believed that was what they existed for. In the past it had been the Yorkshire characteristics which had brought honour to their association. Those who were visitors from different parts of the country would, he thought, realise that there were certain things in the Yorkshire character which were worth preserving. Yorkshiremen might be rather blunt; they might be rather bad-mannered, but that was only on the surface, because, as they all knew, behind that brusqueness there was a heart of real goodwill, and there was a thoroughness and reliability which he hoped would always be the characteristic of the members of that association, and would make them honoured wherever they went (applause). The Yorkshire Association was responsible for an extensive area. He sometimes felt that people did not always realise the difficulty of maintaining the life of the association over so wide an area, and the officers were from time to time very troubled as to what was the best way to carry on the work covering the whole of that great county. It was a very real problem, because of the difficulty there was of getting from place to place, and there was also the fact that there was working in Northern Yorkshire another honoured association, the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. Somehow, it seemed wrong that there should be two competing associations covering that part of the county, and he could not help feeling that for the prosperity of the association they ought all to contemplate some kind of affiliation between those two societies, so that the competition between them might be done away with, and they might work together amicably, the smaller association keeping its identity, yet being part of the county association.

LOYALTY NEEDED.

They were, he continued, an association banded together for the good of the whole, and they could not have prosperity unless there was a very real spirit of loyalty. He trusted the members would always have this in the forefront of their efforts and of their thoughts. Sometimes one felt in these days that there was not the same loyalty amongst the members of the association that there was in the past. When one thought of the giants of the past, whose names they had honoured that evening, one realised how intensely loyal they were. They realised that the honour of the association rested with them; they endured a great amount of self-sacrifice to further the welfare of the association to which they belonged, and for the cause they had at heart. Those who were following them must endeavour to foster that same spirit of loyalty, and of considering the good of the whole over their individual pleasure. Then, too, continued the Chairman, the association existed for, and the continued prosperity of their association must rest upon, the very real interest which they gave to their art, and one hoped that the association which in the past had brought forth such great names would continue to do so in the future, and that the memory of the men who had gone would stir them to become pioneers of the art and to uphold the high traditions of which they were now the representatives (applause). It used to be said that in Yorkshire there was only one method rung, and that was Kent Treble Bob. There was a time, perhaps, when to a great extent that remark did apply, and one reason probably was the contests which took place in certain parts, but whatever they might say about contests, they did foster one of the essentials of change ringing—extreme care in striking. In these days, however, ringing was spread over many other methods, and he hoped that in the practice of the more intricate methods their members would continue to take that care and that pride in the striking of their bells, and especially in the rising and falling in peal. Their association existed also as a branch of church work, and that always must be kept in mind, for they would never bring full prosperity to their association unless they remembered they were an integral part of the great Church to which they belonged and to which the bells belonged. They must remember that they were ministers of that Church, that they gave their services to it, and he hoped that, more and more, ringers would be identified with the full, free and true life of the Church of England to which they had the honour to belong (applause). The Chairman then referred to the recent death of Mr. Arthur Craven, who was one of their most eminent members—a very eminent ringer and composer, and he thought it right that they should that evening in some way express their sorrow at his death and their esteem for the work he had done for the Exercise (hear, hear).

The company thereupon rose and stood in silence for a few moments.

A vote of thanks to the artists was proposed by Mr. F. E. Dawe, and the speechmaking concluded with 'The health of the chairman,' proposed in complimentary terms by Mr. T. F. Earnshaw, and responded to by the Rev. C. C. Marshall.

The musical programme was a most enjoyable one, for much of which the Ebor Quartette was responsible. Their glees and part-songs were splendidly rendered and much appreciated by the audience. Songs were also rendered by the members of the party. The humorist was Mr. Holmes, who created great amusement by a topical song, in which he introduced the names of many of the prominent ringers present. A course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells, and some handbell tunes also added to the variety of the excellent programme.

Many of the visitors who had come from a distance stayed the night in York, and rang at the Minster in the morning, while some afterwards visited Esrick, Tadcaster and Selby.

INFORMATION WANTED.

One of our readers, who thoroughly enjoyed himself at York last Saturday, would be glad of a little information on the following points:—

1. Who provided the humorous singer with the information for his excellent topical song?
2. Why did not the president see all his 'children' safely to bed as in former years?
3. Will the 'silent member' from Bristol, as a result of his experiences, take more care of his bedroom key on future occasions?
4. Who was the gentleman who rang for his shaving water at 1.30 a.m.?
5. Did he get it?
6. Whether it is true that a certain 'delicate' visitor from Suffolk was negotiating with Teddy Brown for an exchange of garments?
7. Was the bell presented to the chairman tuned on the five-tone harmonic principle?
8. Was the gentleman who made the presentation sincere when he declared that the reason for his not having a wife was that he couldn't get one?
9. Any offers?
10. Was the carving knife, sharpened 'off stage' during one of the speeches, intended for cutting the yarn?
11. What kind of bar did a clerical speaker refer to as a suitable reward for long service?
12. Who was the gentleman who had the temerity to revisit, after six years, the scene of his Waterloo?
13. Did the heroes who journeyed back to London by the 3 a.m. train enjoy their journey?
14. Why was there no Yorksher Pudden?

TROUBLES IN THE TOWER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your leading article of September 26th should go a long way to solving the problem, but not, as you stated, in Essex. I assume it is next door in 'Silly Suffolk.' I believe Mr. Winney is right. I am afraid your correspondent 'J.W.D.' does not offer a very helpful solution of the problem. Why should he say 'complicated methods are hammered off each other'? The insinuation is there which shows he has little inclination to make progress. He, amongst many, must realise that in ringing, as in every other pursuit, there is no standing still. This is the day of progress, and if that does not happen, you must go backwards. I have 'had some.' You find a drone in more than one tower. I will leave it at that.

Now, sir, one more point. If the arrangement you suggest is approved of by Mr. Pipe's friends, with a proviso that the numbers of the stoney ringers are not added to, this would eliminate the stoney hand in time, and let the change ringers put their whole best in their work and press forward. Then they will be in time independent of any stoney men.—Yours truly,

ESSEX COLT.

LONDON RINGER'S FATALITY.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Harry Dyas, a well-known London ringer, who passed away on Friday at St. Stephen's Hospital. On September 29th Mr. Dyas, while crossing the road near his home, was knocked down by a motor vehicle and badly hurt. He was taken to hospital, where, as stated, he succumbed to his injuries.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

LARGE GATHERING AT HORNCHURCH.

No doubt the fine weather was responsible for the large number of ringers and friends who put in an appearance at Hornchurch on Saturday last for the meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association, as, during the afternoon and evening, representatives totalling 69 were present, 53 of that number sitting down to tea. The towers represented were Braintree, Romford, Bushey, Maldon, All Saints', Hornchurch, Leytonstone, Wanstead, West Ham, Prittlewell, Tilbury, Woodford, Barking, Leyton, Brentwood, Grandisburgh (Suffolk), Bentley, Orsett, Erith and London. The bells were rung half-muffled prior to the service as a mark of respect to the victims of the R 101 disaster and to Mr. H. Torble, an old member of the West Ham band, who was interred in the City of London cemetery earlier in the day.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. K. Waller), at the conclusion of which the hymn, 'Rock of Ages,' was sung instead of one picked from the association service.

After tea, the business meeting was presided over by the Vicar, supported by the Association Master (Mr. C. H. Howard) and Mr. A. Prior (District Master).

One honorary, two life non-resident, and two resident ringing members were elected.

It was decided to hold the next meeting, the district annual, at Brentwood on November 22nd.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for allowing the use of tower and bells and conducting the service, to the organist, Mr. Page, for accompanying the hymns, etc., and to Messrs. Dale and McDougal, of the Hornchurch band, for having everything in readiness. This was carried with acclamation and suitably replied to by the Vicar.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was to see Mr. J. Waghorn, sen., present. Despite his 88 years of age, he is still able to put in an appearance at some of the association meetings. A hearty welcome was also extended to the Rev. J. W. Eisdell, who was also present, and who has now taken up residence in Hornchurch.

The bells were kept going till 9 p.m. in various methods from Grandshire to London Surprise, and from 9 till 10 p.m. the time was spent by the younger members listening to the deeds of valour recounted by some of the older members present.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

GREAT MEETING AT READING.

Reading proved a popular resort for ringers on Saturday, especially for the ladies. Close on sixty put in an appearance for the meeting of the Southern and Central Districts of the Ladies' Guild, thirty of them being members of the 'fair sex.' Everyone was full of praise for the ring of twelve at St. Laurence's Church, which were 'manned' once or twice by the ladies for rounds and for a course of Stedman Cinques.

The Guild service at St. Laurence's was conducted by Canon G. F. Coleridge, who gave an inspiring address which made the members feel that they must live up to it and be faithful ministers of the Church.

The party then adjourned to the hall and enjoyed a tea arranged by Miss Blencowe and other lady members of St. Laurence's. After the tea, Mrs. Deal, vice-president of the Central District, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicars of St. Laurence's, St. Mary's and St. Peter's (Caversham), for the use of the bells, to Canon G. F. Coleridge for conducting the service and giving the address, and to the ladies who provided tea.

Miss Robinson occupied the chair for the business meeting, at which six ringing members were elected, viz., Miss Wills (Croydon), Miss K. Mills (Abingdon), and Misses Hayes, Lovett, Holloway and Belcher (Reading). Miss Hilda Taylor, of Maidenhead, was elected an honorary member, and at the age of three months holds the record of being the youngest member of the Guild. It was arranged to hold the next quarterly meeting of the Southern District at Farnham in conjunction with the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, if possible on January 24th, 1931.

The business meeting over, the members visited St. Mary's Church, where the ladies proved their skill with heavy bells by ringing a very good touch of Stedman Triples conducted by Mrs. Fletcher. The bells were half-muffled in token of respect for the heroes of R 101.

The Vicar came into the tower and greeted the ringers before they left.

Ringers from a distance were pleased to have the opportunity of congratulating him on his bells and well-kept belfry. The bells were lowered in peal, and then some of the visitors went on to St. Peter's, where a welcome awaited them, and they rang various touches of Major, including a course of Cambridge.

Ringers were present from Aldershot, Alton, Abingdon, Bath, Beaconsfield, Bristol, Bucklebury, Cookham, Croydon, Enfield, Edmonton, East Ham, Farnham, High Wycombe, Hillingdon, Maidenhead, Norwich, Oxford, Reading, Slough, West Clandon and Wokingham.

The Guild takes this opportunity of thanking all who supported the meeting.

JUBILEE OF CRAWLEY BELLS.

RINGING'S UPS AND DOWNS AT A CELEBRATED TOWER.

The jubilee of the bells at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Crawley, Sussex, has just been reached. They were opened on October 6th, 1880, having been put in (to replace three old bells more or less cracked) by the efforts of the then Rector, the Rev. J. Barrett Lennard, who was himself a ringer. Since those days ringing history has been made at Crawley. Older members of the Exercise will recall the many performances, particularly of Superlative Surprise, including the then record of 9,312 rung on Boxing Day, 1894, accomplished by a band under the leadership of Mr. James Parker (now of Edmonton) and including such well-known names as those of Rice and Jordan, Alf Mills and Fred Deuch. In these peals James Parker was generally to be found on the seventh, with Fred Rice, something of a 'character' in his way, on the tenor. For some few years from about 1891, Crawley had one of the 'safest' Superlative companies in the country, and was a stronghold of Sussex change ringing. Then Mr. Parker went to London, others followed him, and ringing at Crawley went downhill until, in 1902, Mr. A. D. Mills formed a band, the present leader (Mr. O. Sippetts) being one of these, generally ringing the 2nd from a box 10 inches high. In 1907 a local peal of Grandsire was rung, and thence onwards, to the outbreak of war, a fair band was maintained.

After the war, ill-health, etc., prevented the older ringers taking active part, and an effort was made to raise a band of ladies, but that could not be called a success. In 1923 Mr. J. Rice and Mr. A. Mills passed away, leaving only Mr. O. Sippetts and three young lads, who could ring rounds, to carry on. However, by dint of great effort, Mr. Sippetts began to get together another band, and this he did with the aid of the valuable services of Mr. A. J. Rull, of Horley, who assisted in training the new hands. Every practice saw him in the tower. When a certain amount of progress had been made, other ringers were attracted to the tower, and practice in higher methods began. At the moment, London and Bristol, as well as other Surprise methods, are rung, and although a peal has not yet been scored in the two methods named, it is hoped that it will not be long before this is achieved.

To commemorate the jubilee of the bells, a peal of New Cambridge (recorded elsewhere) was rung by members of the local branch.

The bells, in the key of F, are as follows:—

Treble.—Weight, 4 cwt. 2 qr. 13½ lb.; inscription, Glory.

2.—4 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb. Sir W. W. Burrell. Honour.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

ASTON BELLS TO BE RESTORED.

The usual quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild was held on Saturday, October 4th, at Handsworth Parish Church, Birmingham. Ringing took place from three o'clock onwards, and at 4.30 the Guild's service was conducted by the Rector, Canon W. G. Arrow-smith, who also gave a very helpful address. Tea was served in the schoolroom, presided over by the Rector, who stated that he was particularly pleased to welcome the Guild at his church.

The business meeting followed, at which the Presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, took the chair. Formal business having been disposed of, Mr. Albert Walker proposed, and it was unanimously agreed, to hold the annual Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner on Saturday, February 28th, 1931, as usual, and that the officers of the Guild make the necessary arrangements.

Mr. W. Davies reported that the Parochial Church Council of Aston Parish Church at their last meeting had definitely decided to proceed with the restoration of the bells.

The Chairman remarked that he was sure not only the Guild but members of the Exercise generally would be pleased to hear that this ancient peal was to be restored. In the years past the bells had always been available for peal ringing, and many notable peals had been rung on them. As the parish was a very poor one, he suggested that many ringers throughout the country would be happy to have the opportunity of subscribing towards their restoration. He therefore proposed: 'That a subscription list be opened in aid of the restoration fund, and that subscriptions be invited from members of the Exercise in general.'—This was seconded by Mr. Paddon Smith and carried unanimously.

Local representatives were requested to collect subscriptions from their members and forward to the hon. secretary.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and schools and for his address at the service, and to Mr. Danby for having everything ready, concluded the meeting.

The annual meeting was fixed for Saturday, January 3rd, 1931, at headquarters.

THE PEAL AT ISHAM.

The composition of this peal was arranged with two Singles only, viz., at halfway and end, the halves of the 720's being arranged in corresponding positions in the two halves of the peal. This causes the row 123456 to come up at the end of each of the first six 360's, and 124356 to come up at the end of the next seven 360's. It would be interesting to learn if this is the first peal of plain Minor methods to be rung with two Singles only.

CARE AND PRESERVATION OF BELLS.

The book on the 'Care and Preservation of Church Bells,' which is now out of print, has been carefully revised and rewritten by the members of the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council, and the cost of reprinting is being defrayed by private subscriptions. Tenders were invited from four printers connected with the Exercise, and that of 'The Ringing World,' being the lowest, was accepted.

It is hoped that this useful book will be on sale at an early date.

THE AIRSHIP DISASTER.

MUFFLED BELLS THROUGHOUT THE LAND.

One of the expressions of national mourning and sympathy for the deaths of the gallant men who perished in the disaster to the airship R 101 has been the ringing of muffled bells throughout the country, particularly on Saturday, when the funeral took place. The peals rung are recorded in their proper columns.

It was the sad privilege of members of the Bedford District of the Bedfordshire Association to show their deep regret for those who lost their lives in the airship R 101, and their sympathy for the bereaved. Immediately at the conclusion of the burial service the two following 'touches' were brought round on the fine peal at the Parish Church of St. Mary, Cardington, with the bells half-muffled: 336 Bob Major: Miss D. Steel 1, H. Gayton 2, C. W. Clarke (conductor) 3, S. Foskett 4, P. C. Bonnett 5, W. Stapleton 6, E. Freeman 7, H. Stapleton 8; followed by 167 Grandsire Triples: F. Tysoe 1, H. Gayton 2, C. W. Clarke (conductor) 3, H. Stapleton 4, P. C. Bonnett 5, W. Stapleton 6, S. Foskett 7, E. Freeman 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled.

At St. Paul's Church, Bedford, during the detrainment of the bodies at Bedford and their departure to Cardington, a quarter-peal of Stedman was rung with the bells muffled, in 50 mins.: H. L. Harlow 1, Miss E. Steel 2, G. W. Harris 3, E. H. Tingey 4, H. Tysoe 5, H. Sharp 6, A. E. Sharman (conductor) 7, L. Williams 8. Further touches of Stedman and Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon, and for evensong on Sunday 514 Stedman Caters was rung.

At All Saints' Church, Leighton Buzzard, with the bells half-muffled, on Saturday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. Jeffs 1, F. Vickers 2, R. Butcher 3, B. Whitney 4, F. Plummer 5, J. E. Arnold (conductor) 6, J. Nicholls 7, J. Shepherd 8. During the ringing of this quarter-peal, the special train from Euston to Bedford, carrying the coffins of the dead of the R 101, passed through Leighton Buzzard station.

On Saturday evening, at the Parish Church of St. George, Doncaster, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins. with the bells half-muffled: G. Hawksworth (conductor) 1, C. Holmes 2, E. Cooper 3, J. McClusky 4, W. Lloyd 5, R. Thompson 6, F. Newsome 7, H. Baldwin 8. Also for Sunday morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Newsome 1, E. Baldwin 2, J. Holmes 3, W. Betley 4, C. Holmes 5, W. Lloyd 6, R. Thompson (conductor) 7, W. Walker 8.

At the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, Brith, Kent, on Saturday, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): L. J. Cullum 1, J. J. Lamb 2, H. Hovard 3, B. W. Aldridge 4, W. J. Beer 5, R. Brett Smith 6, H. A. Holden 7, F. J. Cullum, jun. (conductor) 8. Rung after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal.

On Sunday, October 12th, for morning service at Leiston, Suffolk, 1,024 Kent Treble Bob Major: A. Keeble 1, H. J. Button 2, J. M. Bailey 3, C. F. Bailey (conductor) 4, J. G. Rumsey 5, E. S. Bailey 6, L. P. Bailey 7, F. J. Smith 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled. Longest length by H. J. Button for 25 years.

At Bradwell, on October 12th, for evensong, with the clappers half-muffled, 720 Grandsire Doubles: M. Chapman 1, E. Whitlock (conductor) 2, G. French (first 720) 3, A. Coley 4, C. Alderman 5, A. Lathal 6.

At Milnrow, Lancs, on Sunday, October 12th, before morning service, with fully-muffled bells, 504 Bob Major: S. Parry 1, G. Staff (conductor) 2, W. Staff 3, J. H. C. Massey 4, S. W. Dunn 5, J. C. Bennett 6, J. B. Shaw 7, A. Sidebottom 8.

On Saturday, October 11th, at St. Mary's Church, Ringstead, Northants, 720 Bob Minor in 27 mins. with the bells fully muffled: E. E. Whitmore 1, A. Smethers 2, W. Copperwheat (first 720 inside) 3, G. H. Roberts 4, W. J. Whitmore (conductor) 5, C. M. Whitney 6.

At Sutton-on-Trent, Notts, on Friday, October 10th, in 47 mins., a quarter-peal of Minor, being 360 each of Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine and Oxford Treble Bob, and 180 Plain Bob, rung with half-muffled clappers: H. Denman (first in four methods) 1, H. Cafferata 2, Miss K. Burchall 3, Miss G. Burchall 4, E. Midwinter 5, L. Pierrepont (conductor) 6.

At the Church of St. Giles, Stony Stratford, on Saturday, October 11th, in 50 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: W. Clark 1, H. E. Tompkins 2, E. Yates 3, T. C. Tompkins 4, W. Neale 5, E. G. Lambert 6, H. C. Edwards (conductor) 7, T. Trasler 8. Rung with half-muffled clappers.

At Cosgrove, Northants, on Saturday, October 11th, in 45 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: W. Crowder 1, E. C. Lambert (conductor) 2, J. Higgins 3, E. Hillyer 4, F. Johnson 5. Rung with half-muffled clappers.

CERTIFICATES OF PROGRESS?

One of the problems that constantly face the Exercise is that of obtaining and keeping recruits. It has been discussed many times and by many different sections of the ringing fraternity, but in these days of almost unlimited counter attractions there is a great difficulty first in getting young people into the belfry, and next, having got them, in keeping them there. Recently, a meeting of the Lancashire Association referred the subject to the committee to grapple with and everyone will watch with interest for the recommendations they may make. Frankly, the question is a difficult one, and it is also an important one. If the art of ringing is to be maintained, it is essential that the ranks of the Exercise shall be also maintained; yet everywhere there is a demand for beginners which cannot be satisfied.

In another column a correspondent puts forward some suggestions for helping beginners to keep their interest, and curiously enough one of his proposals is on the same lines as a suggestion made by a speaker at the York dinner, namely, that of giving badges or certificates to mark progress. This, of course, presupposes that the recruits have been obtained. Incidentally, it may be recalled that the same idea was ventilated by the Central Council, carried to the associations for an expression of opinion, and, finally, on a vote at the subsequent Council meeting, turned down. The action of the Council does not, of course, preclude any individual association from adopting a scheme of this kind, and it would be a very useful guide as to its practical worth if some active and enterprising organisation would make the experiment. Among older ringers there seems to be considerable aversion to being 'ticketed,' but there might not be the same reluctance among young ringers to wearing a badge of competence when they are at ringers' gatherings.

But while ringers may object to being labelled, we have never been quite able to understand the objection to the issue of certificates to a young ringer to mark his progress. There are hundreds of ringers up and down the country who are inordinately proud of the certificate of membership of one or more associations, and they are displayed in frames on the walls of their homes. These certificates mean nothing in themselves, except that a man has paid his subscription; why, therefore, should there be any objection to the issue of certificates showing that a ringer has really made progress in the art? Seeing that the test of membership of, at any rate, the majority of associations is the minimum of qualifications, a ringer ought to be far prouder of a certificate which vouches for his recognised competence in the art. Indeed, why should there not be provided on the certificate of membership not only a space for the date of election, but spaces in which could be inserted the dates on which the holder qualified for the different grades, which might be laid down as marking a ringer's progress? There might easily be arranged a uniform standard of qualification for each grade, which all associations would recognise, and whenever a reprint of certificates is next made, the necessary provision for endorsement could be made in the design. This, of course, is only a matter of detail, but we offer the suggestion as a contribution to the discussion on the encouragement of young ringers. The great and primary problem, however, is how to get these young ringers!

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE FIVE-BELL TOWERS.

A meeting of the Central Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Lower Beeding on Saturday, October 11th, when representatives to the number of thirty-seven were present from the three Brighton towers (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd), Bolney, Coleman's Hatch, Cuckfield, East Grinstead, Keymer, Lindfield, Lower Beeding, Seaford, Turner's Hill and Warnham. The tower was open for ringing at 2.30, and at 4.30 a short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Guy D. Cooper, who delivered an eloquent address on the words, 'Let Jesus Christ be praised,' from the well-known hymn by Caswall.

A collection taken for the benevolent fund amounted to 12s. Afterwards the company adjourned to the Plough Inn, opposite the church, where a generous tea had been prepared by the kindness of the Vicar, who expressed the great pleasure it gave him to welcome the members of the association.

The usual business meeting followed, also presided over by the Vicar, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman). The proceedings were mostly of a routine nature, two new members being elected, viz., James William Jeffery, Cuckfield, and W. Henson, the Good Shepherd, Brighton. The election of Mr. J. Crampton, South Woodford, London, and Mr. Wilfred Williams, Erith, Kent, as non-resident members was confirmed.

Under the item 'any other business,' the question was raised as to whether more could not be done for five-bell towers. The Secretary expressed his fear that a company would not be present if a meeting was arranged, and stated further that these towers were born in mind when meetings were arranged at most suitable towers near them, which the members of the five-bell towers could easily attend.

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Lower Beeding for the hospitality he had extended both in the belfry and in the church, and for his kindness in providing the meal, which had been so thoroughly enjoyed.—This was carried by acclamation, and, the Vicar having suitably replied, the meeting concluded. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until about 8.30, when the bells were lowered in peal, everyone being of the opinion that the meeting had been a great success. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

DEATH OF MR. HARRY TORBLE.AN OLD WEST HAM RINGER.

Another ringer, well known, especially among the older generation, has passed away in the person of Mr. Harry Torble, who died on Monday, October 6th, after an illness extending over ten years. Mr. Torble was born at Eye, Suffolk, in 1865, and from there migrated to Stratford to enter the employ of the late Great Eastern Railway Company in their shops at Stratford, and soon after his arrival joined the old Bow (Stratford) Society, which brought him in touch with several well-known ringers in the vicinity, among whom were the late Messrs. W. Doran, J. Bradley, S. Hayes, J. Scholes, H. Flanders, etc., and eventually he joined the West Ham band, with whom he has been identified ever since. Although unable to take part in ringing during the past ten years he, nevertheless, still took a great interest in the art, and often paid a visit to towers in the district, where his presence was always welcomed.

He was interred in the City of London Cemetery on Saturday, October 11th, and among those present were Messrs. J. Waghorn, sen., and G. Haydon, representing the West Ham band, W. H. Theobald, the Leytonstone band, and E. J. Butler, the Essex Association.

On Tuesday, October 14th, several of his old friends met at All Saints', West Ham, and rang, as a mark of respect, half-muffled touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, the Treble Ten, together with 'the whole pull and stand,' those taking part being Messrs. J. Davis, G. W. Faulkner, W. Miller, R. Molton, A. Reeve, E. D. Smith, W. H. Theobald, C. Hughes, E. J. Butler, G. R. Pyc, G. Haydon, A. J. Neale, F. C. Newman, J. Waghorn, sen., and E. W. Furbank.

'SILLY' SUFFOLK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am not happy with anonymous persons. They infringe the ninth commandment. Nevertheless (to use Dr. Temple's word) I think J. W. D. admirable. There is 'a true ring' in his letter! There is a story that, when a calf got hung up in a gate in Essex, they cut off its head to release it, and it seems to me that 'Essex Calf' wants to decapitate the free will of the round ringer. Never mind, he is interesting. 'Silly Suffolk' comes from a Saxon word, Sielig, which means 'Holy.' If I recollect correctly, I read it some 40 years ago in 'Stoke Magazine' by the Rev. Charles Forlesse. Dr. Raven also quotes it in a pious expression, Sielig Suffolk.—Yours truly,

C. F. WINNEY.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.TERLING BELLS MAY BE AUGMENTED.

It was a very happy band of ringers that paid a visit to the old church at Terling on Saturday, October 18th, for a meeting of the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association. Thirty-one members were present from Braintree, Broomfield, Great Baddow, Chelmsford, Feering, Galleywood, Kelvedon, Maldon, Witham, Writtle, Inworth, Black Notley and Terling.

A service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. E. Moss), the lesson being read by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association.

Tea was served at the Rayleigh Arms, presided over by the Vicar, supported by the Master and District Master.

At the business meeting which followed, one ringing member was elected, and it was decided to hold the district annual meeting at Writtle on November 29th.

Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for the warm welcome that he gave the ringers.—The Vicar, in reply, welcomed the ringers to Terling, and said he hoped that by the time they next came there would be six bells instead of five.

A touch of Grandsire Triples and 720 of Minor was rung on the handbells, and ringing on tower bells continued till 9 p.m. in various methods.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of Barnsley and District Association was held at Cawthorne on Saturday, October 11th, when the towers represented were Armley, Darfield, Darton, Felkirk, Holmthorpe, Hoylandswaine, Royston, Shelley, Wath and the local company. Ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m., the bells being half-muffled. Tea was served at Holt's Cafe, and was followed by the business meeting, which was held in the Parish Hall, Mr. J. C. Wimmis (churchwarden) presiding. A vote of condolence was passed by the members standing in silence in sympathy with the relatives of the Vicar (Rev. C. A. L. Woolley), who died rather suddenly three weeks previously, of Mr. W. Ward (aged 91), who had been sexton at Cawthorne for 50 years, and was the oldest inhabitant in the village, and also of the victims of the R 101 disaster.

Penistone was selected for the next place of meeting.

After the usual vote of thanks, the bells were kept going until about 9 p.m. in various methods, there being some very good striking.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The good wishes of the Exercise will go with Mr. E. Alex. Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council) and Mrs. Young when they sail to-day on the 'Winchester Castle' for a visit to South Africa. They expect to be absent from England until about April.

Central Council matters should still be addressed to Mr. Young at his new office address, 165, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6.

Many visitors to the W. D. Crofts dinners at Nottingham will remember Mr. John F. Adkin, the bass member of the quartet who did so much to make the programmes enjoyable. We regret to announce that he died on Friday last after much suffering. A staunch friend, he was always ready to oblige his vocal colleague, Mr. A. Coppock, in any project connected with ringing, and had sung at seven out of the eight Nottingham ringers' dinners.

To ring a peal of Bob Doubles at Wilby, Norfolk, last week, Mr. Alphaeus J. Berry cycled 42 miles along main roads, by-roads and lanes, over brecks and through meadows to reach this church, situated in the 'wilds' of Norfolk. There's enthusiasm for you!

We have not had long to wait for the peal of London Surprise at Crawley, Sussex. Before our article on the jubilee of the bells was in print last week, the peal had been rung.

A tower of now departed glories is St. John's, Waterloo Road, London. There was a period when peals were rung there nearly every week, but the bells are now silent and unringable. The first peal on them was rung 105 years ago to-day by the College Youths.

On October 24th, 1807, a peal of 15,120 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham.

To-morrow is the anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Triples, which was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on October 25th, 1731. The rival company at St. Michael Coslany disputed its accuracy and rang a peal on December 6th.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at Wakefield on October 26th, 1822.

The first 'double-handed' handbell peal was rung at Sheffield on October 30th, 1811, the method being Oxford Treble Bob Major.

As announced in the peal columns, the first peal on the light ring of ten at Cudham Church, Kent, has been rung by members of the Kent Association. The conductor was well advised to make the peal one of Kent Treble Bob owing to the excessive noise in the ringing chamber, as he had to shout his loudest to make the 'bobs' heard. It is to be hoped that this difficulty will be remedied, and that some attention will be given to the ventilation of the belfry, the space being small, and there being no window. Even the trap door has to be shut down so that the treble ringer may stand on it. The ringers must have welcomed 'that's all' so as to raise the trap and let fresh air in.

It is reported that the ringers of Harmondsworth, Middlesex, have gone on strike following a complaint by the Church Council that some of the ringers go home instead of attending service.

The ringers want an apology before they resume their duties, as, the captain says, most of the men attend at least one of the services on Sunday, and they contend the Church Council have no cause to complain.

BELLS REHUNG AT EPSOM.

TWO ASSOCIATIONS AT REOPENING.

Forty years ago this year a ring of eight bells was placed in the new tower of Christ Church, Epsom, and they were opened with a peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by J. W. Washbrook. Of the band that took part only the Rev. Canon Coleridge survives. Last Saturday a festival service was held at Christ Church for the reopening of the bells after restoration, and a large gathering of ringers assembled for the event. There was also a numerous congregation of parishioners, and the Boy Scouts attended, bringing their colours with them. The service began with a procession from the chancel to the western tower, where the new Assistant Bishop of Guildford (Rt. Rev. C. H. Golding-Bird, D.D.) offered the appropriate prayers. Modified evensong followed, the service being conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. L. Mylrea.

Bishop Golding-Bird, who was senior chaplain to the Australian Forces in the war, and has since held a bishopric which covered the islands of the Indian Ocean, preached a sermon, in which he enlarged upon the privileges enjoyed by worshippers in this country, and graphically compared them with the conditions prevailing in the islands of his former see. He recalled especially an event which happened exactly a year before when he landed on a small coral island 300 miles from the coast, and conducted a service for the 80 or 90 inhabitants—men engaged in digging and shipping guano—in a hastily provided 'church' made by raffia, and upon which had been written, 'Church of Christ. Welcome, Lord Bishop.'

After the service, visiting ringers to the number of about 60 were entertained to a beautiful tea at the Church Hall by the bell founders (Messrs. Gillett and Johnston) and the Vicar and churchwardens. The Assistant Bishop supported the Vicar, who was in the chair, and before leaving expressed his pleasure at coming among ringers, and reminded them of their duties as workers in the Church.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild) proposed a vote of thanks to the donors of the tea. He congratulated the parish upon having had their bells restored, and said that, from what he knew of the work of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, he was sure they had made an excellent job of the restoration. He also welcomed the opportunity of that reopening as affording another occasion for displaying the friendly feeling that existed between the Surrey Association and the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Although their areas overlapped, there had always been the most amicable relationship between the two, and they carried on their work not as rivals but as friends who had the same cause at heart and the same goal in view.

The Vicar, who first replied, thanked Mr. C. H. Kippen, of the Surrey Association, for his help in connection with the scheme. It was he who first called their attention to the need for the restoration, and who afterwards told them exactly what was wrong. The bells, said the Vicar, would not have gone on as long as they did if they had not had such an excellent captain as Mr. J. Crawford to look after them, and they would realise how devoted Mr. Crawford was when he told them that he walked five miles to ring and five miles back again every Sunday. The Vicar thanked Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for the work they had done, and their bell hanger, Mr. Newson, for the way he had carried out the job.

Mr. C. F. Johnston also replied, and remarked that he had specially pleasant recollections of Christ Church, Epsom, as it was there he rang his first peal of Stedman Triples. He said it was a very rare occurrence for two associations to be officially concerned in the reopening of a peal of bells. Among old members of the Surrey Association there was some doubt as to what was likely to happen when the Guildford Diocesan Guild came into being, with something like 400 members, three years ago, but so far as he could see there had ever since been between the two associations a spirit of co-operation and goodwill, and the Guildford Guild and Surrey Association were working amicably together over the same territory.

The Rural Dean (Rev. C. R. P. Muir, Vicar of St. Martin's, Epsom) also spoke. Christ Church, he said, had come through some difficult years with flying colours, and they had that day reached the culmination of another great achievement. The speaker told an amusing story of an Epsom lady to whom he spoke about a church bell. She said she loved the bell, and when he asked her why, she replied that it reminded her that 'They're off' (laughter).

Mr. C. H. Kippen (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association) also congratulated the authorities of Christ Church upon having successfully carried out the restoration, and said he was sure the founders had made an excellent job of it.

The Vicar said the parish had not much money, and was now faced with a big scheme for the repair of the church roof. The bells had been restored by the many small gifts of generous subscribers, and he was thankful to say they were now in a position to pay the bell founders (applause).

The ringers then returned to the tower, where ringing from rounds to the Surprise methods, and including a touch of spiced Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, was indulged in, everyone finding the bells go like the proverbial tops. Among those present was Mr. J. Beams, of Ewell, who was also present at the original opening of the bells.

THE BELLS OF EAST ILSLEY, BERKS.

'THE RETURN OF THE NATIVES.'

In our peal columns last week was the record of a peal of Grand-sire Triples rung at East Ilsley, Berks. This was the consummation of a long-cherished wish and ambition of ex-Sergt.-Major W. Hibbert and his brother 'R.T.H.' For a long time past it has been said: 'If we could get young Bill from Coventry and Uncle from Reading we could ring a first-class peal'—and we did.

The father of R. T. and W. Hibbert started change ringing in this tower about 1885 on the poor old ring of five bells, and tried very hard for many years to get a treble added. In 1920 it was decided to add this bell, and by the kindness of friends and the hard work of others money was raised to complete the octave. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank took the old bells to Whitechapel, tuned them, and added three of the finest little bells that were ever hung in a steeple, the result being a very beautiful little eight, and an ideal place to ring (round the beautiful old Norman font) and to hear bells.

St. Mary's Church, East Ilsley, Berks.

The church is a good specimen of a village church of mixed styles, the south aisle being Early English, the nave transition Norman, the north aisle, about 1820, being the poorest portion of the building.

The bell inscriptions and weights are:—

- 1.—Tieble.—Ring we merrily unto God our strength. 3 cwt. 1 qr. 25 lb.
- 2.—Glory to God. In Thankfulness. M. & S. 1921. 3 cwt. 1 qr. 25 lb.
- 3.—1914 + 1918. M. & S. 1921. 4 cwt. 0 qr. 22 lb.
- 4.—Prayso ye the Lord. 1589. J. C. 3 cwt. 2 qr. 3 lb.
- 5.—3 cwt. 3 qr. 15 lb.
- 6.—This bell was made 1612. Recast M. & S., 1921. 4 cwt. 1 qr. 23 lb.

7.—W. R. Carr. 1700. 6 cwt. 1 qr. 25 lb.

Tenor.—Richard Whitwick gave this bell. 1625. 8 cwt. 1 qr. 23 lb.

The 3rd has in quarters the initials of the 21 men of the village who gave their lives in the Great War.

It is worthy of note that four of the band who rang in the peal on October 11th went to the village school together upwards of forty-five years ago, and the other four about seventeen years ago.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In fairness to all members of the Ely Archdeaconry of the Ely Diocesan Association, I am sorry to say I cannot carry on the duties of district secretary and to do the job as it should be done. My duties sometimes prevent me attending the meetings, as in the case at Ickleton on Saturday. I trust that my successor will be able to carry on to a greater success, and that members will give him (or her) their continued support. In closing, I thank you for publishing the reports of our meetings in 'The Ringing World,' also Mr. A. G. Rivers for his kindness.—Yours truly,

F. WARRINGTON.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have strengthened the foundations of the bell frame by inserting two iron girders, which have been anchored to the tower walls. The frame itself has also been strengthened, and the bells hung on ball bearings. The tenor is just under 12 cwt. The turret clock has been overhauled and cleaned and the dials redecorated.

'ADVICE ON BELLS.'

To the Editor.

DEAR Sir,—Referring to your leading article of October 10th, in which you say that the 'Central Council for the Care of Churches' recommend that an architect 'skilled in work of this kind' be called in for bell restorations before the bell founder, I give you an instance of what has really happened in our diocese.

In 1927 the bells of a parish church in my district were under restoration, the three front bells being rehung in a new iron frame, and a new treble added. When I heard of the work, I had a conversation with the Vicar and recommended a well-known firm of bell founders for the work. He told me that this firm were going to cast the treble, and that the diocesan architect had been called in to inspect the steeple. So far, so good, but the snag came when the Vicar told me that the architect was going to get someone known to him to rehang the bells, whom he could trust better than the bell-hangers.

I visited the work whilst in progress, and called the Vicar's attention to certain matters. However, he thought it best not to interfere with the work until it was finished. The day came for the dedication of the bells, and I selected a good band for the opening ring.

Imagine my dismay on climbing aloft shortly before the service to find that the 2nd and 4th bells had been changed over in their respective positions in the tower, and the ropes carried down to the opposite side of the ringing chamber. A roller had been fixed on the top of the first floor, a second roller in the middle of the intermediate chamber under the bells, and a third one on the floor under the bells to carry the ropes for the 2nd and 4th bells. So that a ringer was expected to stand on one side of the tower to ring a bell on the other side over three rollers, the first four bells being hung in an upper tier above the back two. We tried to ring, but found it an almost impossible task to raise them and ring 120.

I told the churchwardens not to make any payment, and myself wrote the architect. The bells were changed over and some improvements effected which made the bells go better, but the job was spoilt as the iron frame had been partially cut through on each side to allow the bells to rise through the frame. In this case no one was to blame except the architect, who took upon himself the responsibility of giving a skilled job of bell hanging to a local firm of builders, who would doubtless have made a satisfactory job if they had been put to fix together stone and mortar.

I do not think it desirable to mention the names of the principals in this unfortunate episode, but, let it be a warning to others.

A DISTRICT RINGING MASTER.

NORTH STAFFORD AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

GIFTS TO NORTON BELFRY.

A very successful meeting of the above association was held at Norton on Saturday, October 11th, attended by fifty-four members from Bucknall, Biddulph, Brownedge, Burslem, Cheadle, Kingsley, Lawton, Spondon, Swynerton, Wolstanton, Uttoxeter and Norton. The first part of the proceedings consisted of a short service in the belfry, conducted by the Rector of Norton (Rev. J. G. Hamlet), who also unveiled a marble tablet presented by Mr. John Bourne, of Burslem, which recorded the names of the ringers of Norton who had worked so assiduously in helping to obtain the necessary funds for the recasting of the six bells at Norton Church, and also the thirty years' faithful service rendered by Mr. John E. Wheeldon as leader of the ringers of that tower, July 15th, 1900-1930. An oak table was also unveiled, which was presented by Mr. Henry Finney, of Audley, for the use of the ringers in the belfry.

Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, on behalf of the ringers, thanked the two donors for the beautiful gifts, which he could assure them were greatly appreciated.

The Rector then said how delighted he was to extend a hearty welcome to such a large gathering of loyal churchworkers as had assembled there that afternoon, and he sincerely hoped that the same happy relations existed in the various towers from which they came as obtained between his own ringers at Norton and himself, for he considered ringing was a very important part of Church life. He was very glad to have that opportunity of expressing the high appreciation not only of himself, but of the whole parish of Norton, who were very proud of their bells.

Mr. George Walker, an old ringer, expressed his great pleasure at the way the younger generation of ringers, under the able leadership of Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, were keeping alive the noble art of change ringing. He wished them every success, and exhorted them to continue in this important and fascinating part of the work of the Church.

Tea was afterwards partaken of in the Church Institute, during which the Lawton ringers regaled the company with musical selections on the handbells, which was quite a new feature and very much appreciated. The tower was afterwards revisited, where ringing was indulged in until 8.30, which brought to a close one of the most enjoyable meetings of the year.

WHAT TO DO WITH OUR BEGINNERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—At the recent meeting of the Lancashire Association held at Liverpool, the subject, 'What to do with our beginners,' was on the agenda, but owing to the shortage of time the discussion had to be limited, and, in the end, it was decided to leave it to the committee to overhaul the whole question.

I would like to put forward a few points of my own with the hope that the committee will keep them in mind whilst discussing this most important question. The chief bone of contention seems to be the association's rule which says that a ringer, to qualify for membership, must ring 120 changes. I have no hesitation in saying that as regards this rule the average conductor could get a beginner through 120 changes before he knows his way up and down the belfry steps, but by doing so you have not laid one brick which goes to build up the foundation of a change ringer. Instead of altering this rule I would wipe it out entirely. It is not always observed, and it is not much good when it is observed. Now, what have I in its place?

This: When a beginner comes to the belfry to learn to be a change ringer, I would admit him into the association right away, pointing out to him all the advantages, and get his entrance fee. When he can ring, to the satisfaction of his conductor, a service touch in any method, I would award him the badge or certificate (badge preferred, because he could carry it with him to meetings, etc.) of a third-class ringer.

When he can ring a service touch in the standard methods I would award him a 2nd class, and when he rings one or more Surprise methods, then he should be entitled to be acknowledged as a first-class ringer. He should himself pay for these badges, which should be available for a very small sum.

I would apply the same thing to conductors. Conduct one peal, 3rd class; conduct all the standard methods, 2nd class; conduct one Surprise method, 1st class conductor. If these small badges were worn at meetings it would be a great help in organising ringing.

In my experience with beginners, which has been very extensive, I find that the most important thing of all is that you must keep moving. You must have a goal to aim at, and when that is reached there must be another. 'You cannot stand still; if you are not going forward, then you are going backward.' It is only the hardened ringer who can withstand the pitfalls and the very disheartening process of going back to the beginning again and still remain a ringer. The young fellow will not, and I believe that this is the chief cause of so many promising ringers being lost. Give the young ringer plenty to do, plenty to aim at, plenty of fields to conquer, and something to show that he has succeeded, and you will not only keep him, but you will have others wishing to follow his example.—Yours truly,

H. LUDKIN.

Hough Green, Widnes.

FIRST STEPS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Is it true to say that all 'stone' ringers are content with ringing call changes? Has it ever occurred to 'Essex Colt' that in ringing, as in every other art or profession, one must start from the bottom of the ladder? From rounds and call changes, to hunting a treble, and on to Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and so on. No one should be content with ringing call changes, but no man can be expected to jump from rounds to Stedman and Double Norwich, and that is what a great many like 'Essex Colt' expect one to do. If a recruit cannot start at the point where these more efficient ones have reached, is it fair to call him a drone? The real root of the trouble is that a great many of these Stedman and Double Norwich ringers (particularly the old hands) are afraid that they might have to put themselves about a bit to keep some of these young recruits interested. To go back to ringing Grandsire and Plain Bob themselves might lower their dignity.—Yours, etc.,

WALK FIRST, THEN RUN.

P.S.—I will remind 'Essex Colt' that in Mr. Jasper W. Snowdon's books of tuition, all recruits to the art are taught to ring Grandsire and plain methods before learning Stedman and Treble Bob.

OVER (CAMBS) RINGERS' SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Over (Cambs) Society was held in the vestry of the Parish Church on Monday, October 13th, the president (the Vicar) occupying the chair. The secretary, Mr. W. I. Ginn, presented the accounts for the past season, which were duly passed, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. F. G. Weston; vice-presidents, Mr. H. Edwards and Mr. H. Asplin (churchwardens); secretary, Mr. W. I. Ginn; treasurer, Mr. F. C. Ginn; captain, Mr. A. J. Ginn; vice-captain, Mr. F. Warington.

The Vicar (Rev. F. G. Weston) thanked the ringers for their services during the past year, and congratulated them on their successes.—Mr. A. J. Ginn suitably replied.

Mr. B. Wayman resigned the vice-captaincy, owing to business reasons, to the regret of his fellow-ringers.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT ON 12-BELL RECORD.

The Ancient Society of Painswick Youths will make a further attempt on the twelve-bell record length on Saturday, November 8th, starting at 8 a.m.

THE PEAL OF MINOR AT ISHAM.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In my opinion (for what it is worth) the kind of peal rung recently at Isham should strongly be discouraged.—Yours truly,
J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

PRESENTATION TO THE SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL BELFRY INTERESTING PEAL RECALLED.

A very pleasant gathering took place recently in the ringing chamber of Sheffield Cathedral, when Mr. J. W. Rowbotham, of London, one of the oldest and most respected members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, paid a visit to his native city and presented a framed record to the Cathedral company of his first peal rung 53 years ago at the then Parish Church of Sheffield.

Mr. Rowbotham, in his younger days, was apprenticed to the late Mr. Thomas Hattersley, a Sheffield stalwart and well-known ringer of his day, from whom he obtained his first insight into the art of change ringing.

He, however, was not destined to stay long in Sheffield, for he quickly transferred to London to make his name and fortune, but during the short time available he advanced so far in the art as to become competent to ring a peal of Grandsire Caters with his master.

In addition to this being Mr. Rowbotham's first peal, it also has an historical standing owing to the fact that one of the participants was the late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, and it was this very visit of Mr. Snowdon's that induced him to consult Mr. Hattersley with a view to fostering the Yorkshire Association, which had just recently been formed. That this effort was successful is now a matter of history.

The record is beautifully written and illuminated on parchment, which is enclosed and sealed in an excellent fumed oak frame, whereby it is rendered dustproof and practically airtight, so that it will withstand the ravages of time.

In making the presentation, Mr. Rowbotham thanked the Cathedral company for allowing him to do so, and for the privilege of placing on record his first peal in the tower in which he was taught to ring. He knew that space was now most valuable owing to the many peal boards already erected containing famous and historical peals of the years gone by, and he especially considered it an honour to add his to the famous collection.

Mr. S. F. Palmer, on behalf of the Cathedral company, warmly thanked Mr. Rowbotham for his most generous gift, and for his kindly thought in wishing to do honour to the tower that gave him birth into the ringing world. In accepting the gift, Mr. Palmer stated he was voicing the appreciation of the whole of his colleagues, who were united with him in expressing their gratitude for the beautiful work presented to them.

An adjournment was then made to the local meeting room, where a very pleasant hour was spent, in the course of which Mr. Rowbotham related reminiscences of his early association with the men who helped to lay the foundation of the high standard of ringing the Exercise has now reached.

The following is a copy of the record:—

Tenor 41 cwt.

PROGRESS!

At Burescombe, Devon, on Sunday afternoon, October 5th, says the 'Somerset County Gazette,' members of the local band of ringers executed in 2 hrs. 16 mins. a peal of 360 call changes in the method of Bob Minor. This is held to be the longest peal and the first length of Minor ever rung on the bells. All the calling was done by the captain from rope sight, and the duties of marker and time-keeper were discharged by Mr. G. H. Okewell with his usual efficiency.

DUFFIELD.—For evening service, on Sunday, September 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): C. Draper 1, Miss F. Hartle 2, Miss E. Foulk 3, M. Marshall 4, R. Boulton 5, S. Dawson 6, G. Tandy 7, C. Draper 8.

THE ISLEWORTH BELL SCHEME.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION'S EFFORT TO COMPLETE THE FUND.

To the Editor.

Sir,—A year or two ago the South and West Branch of the Middlesex County Association decided to try and raise a fund to give two new trebles to Isleworth Parish Church. The western suburbs of London are badly off for ten-bell towers. After you leave Kensington and Fulham you do not come across one till you reach Kingston, which is out of the Middlesex district, or Hillingdon, which is right away on the west border of the county. We thought that a ten-bell tower somewhere in the neighbourhood of Acton or Ealing would be an advantage both to our association and the Exercise at large and help the promotion of change ringing. There was more than one tower which might be suitable: Acton, where there was at that time a regular and enthusiastic band under the late Robert Holloway, and where peal attempts were allowed quite frequently. The tower and situation were quite suitable, but the bells were deemed not good enough. St. Mary's, Ealing, was thought of. The eight were recently rehung and retuned by Taylor. Quite a good peal, but a weak tower. Christ Church, Ealing, has got by far the best and strongest tower in the district; a good peal, too, of the old style tuning, but rather too high in note to make a satisfactory ten. Besides, the architect who some years ago carried out some very costly internal decorations to the church, put the organ in such a position that no bell can be got in or out of the tower without pulling the organ to pieces.

That left All Saints', Isleworth, not so good in situation as these others, but in most other respects a good place for a peal of ten. The tenor is only 18 cwt., but it is deep in tone. The bells were restored by Taylor some years ago, they are hung in an iron frame, go well, and are very musical outside. Besides these were other reasons why it would be a grateful thing for us to try and get two new bells there. For a long time it has been unofficially the headquarters of the branch. Every year the annual meeting is held at the church, and then and always the clergy and churchwardens have treated the association with the utmost kindness and courtesy.

The fund was started and met with quite a lot of success. A large sum of money was raised, and then, when the end was nearly in sight, things, as is usual, slackened off a bit. Now we want to finish the job, and we want a few more pounds. We are making an appeal to the Exercise at large to help us.

It will be a good thing for ringing in general if we ringers show by a gift that we appreciate the kindness we receive at the hands of so many towers where we visit. If any reader of 'The Ringing World' can spare something, will he forward it to Mr. Hollier or to Mr. Bridges, the treasurer of the fund.

For the Middlesex Association (S. and W. Branch),

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE, 52, Lammas Park Road,
Vice-president.

MR. BRIDGES, Manager, Barclays Bank, Isleworth
Branch, Isleworth, Treasurer.

DEDICATION OF A PEAL BOARD AT TETTENHALL

On Saturday, October 11th, a peal tablet was unveiled and dedicated in the belfry of the Collegiate Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Tettenhall, recording two peals of Grandsire Triples rung by Sunday service ringers of this church. The unveiling was carried out by Mr. H. J. Lockley, the donor of the board. The Vicar (Rev. W. Goode), after dedicating the board, said how pleased he was that the ringers had succeeded in ringing two peals, as four of those taking part in them had been taught how to handle a bell since they had had their new bells.

Mr. R. Pickering expressed the thanks of the band to Mr. Lockley for giving the board, and to the Vicar and churchwardens for kindly defraying the cost of painting the same, the writing having been splendidly done in gold leaf on a black ground.

Besides the Vicar, those attending the ceremony were the Rev. J. G. Campbell (curate), Major W. L. Foster (churchwarden), Rev. C. H. Barker, Mr. H. Knight (hon. secretary), and Mr. W. A. Cooper (Ringing Master of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford). Members of the society also attended from Wolverhampton, Walsall, Coseley, Brewood and the local band, with a local ringer who has had to give up ringing owing to illness, and whose name is recorded in the belfry, viz., Mr. J. H. Rowe.

The ringing which took place afterwards included touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, the clappers being half-muffled as a token of respect to the victims of the ill-fated R 101, and of the Grove Pit disaster at Norton Canes.

A splendid tea was partaken of at the Mitre Inn, Lower Green, provided by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lockett. After tea, handbell ringing was the order. Grandsire and Stedman Triples, with Doubles for the younger ones, and Plain and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung. Altogether a very enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent.

THE LATE MR. HARRY DYAS.

The funeral of Mr. Harry Dyas, of Kensington, whose death as the result of being knocked down by a motor-car we recorded last week, took place in the Kensington new cemetery at Gunnersbury, the first part of the service being held in St. Peter's Church, Cranley Gardens. The committal prayers were said by a pious priest from St. James', Norlands, who himself cast the earth upon the coffin, and after the sorrowing widow and children (a son and daughter) had taken a last look at the coffin, Messrs. Bolton, Elson, Pasmore and Winney rung handbells over the grave. There were about 30 wreaths.

Mr. Harry Dyas was formerly one of the staff of the Royal Mews, and a great lover of horses. He was an imposing figure when in Court dress and seated on the box of one of the King's carriages, and when he retired from service he was granted a royal pension.

Mr. Dyas started his ringing at St. Andrew's, Wells Street, and he became a keen service ringer, taking more delight in this than in peal ringing, although he had rung approximately 50 peals, half of them Stedman Triples, Caters and Treble Bob Royal being among the remainder. His last peal was at Clerkenwell for the diamond wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henden, and he rang his last quarter-peal at St. Paul's, Bath Road, on St. Matthew's Day, for the evensong, which he attended.

By his own wish, horses were used to draw the hearse and carriages at the funeral.

At St. Andrew's, Wells Street, on Thursday, by kind permission of the Vicar, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung half-muffled as a last tribute to the deceased, who was caretaker of the bells. One of the band recited the De profundis (with 'Rest Eternal,' etc., at the end in place of Gloria, Patri) before the ringing. A touch of Stedman Triples was also rung. C. F. W.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD, PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

A well-attended meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Curdridge on Saturday last, when forty members and friends were present from Curdridge, Gosport, North Stoneham, Petersfield, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Southampton, Shedfield, Swanmore, Titchfield, Ryde, Wickham, Bishopstoke, Lymington, Overton and Winchester.

Full use was made of the bells during the afternoon, when a short service was held in the church, at which the Vicar (Rev. A. H. Starry) officiated. An excellent tea was served in the reading room, after which the business meeting was held.

The election of the following non-resident members was confirmed: Miss I. L. Hastie (Dorking), Mrs. A. E. Lock (Abingdon), and Messrs. A. J. Bartlett (Chiddingfold), R. Overy (Haslemere) and E. J. Munday (Rogate). Two full members from Steep and one from Swanmore were elected ringing members.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Portsmouth Cathedral on Saturday, January 24th, 1931. It was decided that the following resolution be forwarded to the Central Committee: 'That all non-resident ringers, on joining the Guild as compounding members, be presented with a copy of the Guild certificate.'

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells and being present at the meeting, after which a further visit was made to the tower, the methods rung including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major.

STREATHAM RINGERS VISIT THE FEN DISTRICT.

A very pleasant and enjoyable outing was spent recently by St. Leonard's, Streatham, ringers during a visit to the Fen District. On arriving at Peterborough, a visit to its magnificent Cathedral was much appreciated, but it is much to be regretted that the heavy peal of six are unringable owing to the weak state of the tower. In the afternoon a visit was paid to St. Mary's Church, where Mr. Jutson, of the local band, soon had everything in readiness for a pull on this handy ring of six, which were rung in Minor and Doubles. The next move was by bus to Whittlesey, Cambs (about seven miles distant) to ring on the recently augmented peal of eight at St. Andrew's Church (where the captain of the visitors first learnt to pull a bell thirty years ago). Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung here. The thanks of the visitors are due to the Vicars of St. Mary's, Peterborough, and St. Andrew's, Whittlesey, for the use of the bells and the welcome given them. London was reached on the return about midnight.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. YOUNG RINGERS AND FRESH METHODS.

A very successful meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Cranbrook on Saturday, October 11th, and was attended by about thirty members, the following towers being represented, viz.: Benenden, Horsmonden, Hawkhurst, Lamberhurst, Sevenoaks, Penshurst, Tenterden, Staplehurst, Tunbridge Wells, and the local members. The bells were half-muffled as a mark of respect to the memory of the crew of the R 101, and some good practice was obtained, several members scoring their first touch in various methods.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. S. C. Swingle), assisted by the curate (who is learning to ring), and an excellent address was given by the Vicar. Capt. E. R. Lewis, one of the churchwardens and an hon. member of the association, was present. Tea was partaken of in the Parish Room, and at the business meeting the Vicar presided. One honorary, two non-resident life members, and several practising members were elected.

Mr. F. White urged members to look up methods that they were unable to practice at home, and come to these meetings and ask those in charge for an opportunity to practice them. This would always be granted and every assistance given. He said it was better to try and fail than not to try at all.

The District Secretary said he thought that most young ringers were nervous of tackling a fresh method at the meetings for fear of not being successful. He could assure them that the best ringers made mistakes and broke down, so it was no disgrace, and there were always members willing to help them through a touch.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, curate, organist, churchwarden, Mr. White and the rest of the local members for the various parts they had taken in the meeting, to which they replied, terminated the meeting, and the members adjourned to the tower.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A well-attended meeting of the Wirral Branch was held at St. Nicholas' Church, Wallasey, on Saturday, October 11th. As this was the day appointed for the funeral of the R 101 victims, the flag on the tower was at half-mast and the bells half-muffled. Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. S. Roscamp), who made appropriate reference to the disaster, and in place of the usual psalm and hymns, Psalm 23 and the hymns, 'Jesus, Lover of my soul,' and 'How bright those glorious spirits shine,' were sung.

The address was given by the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, who was on a visit to Wallasey.

The Vicar gave the ringers a very warm welcome to St. Nicholas', where, he said, he was always very pleased to see them.

An excellent tea was provided, and much enjoyed. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for his kind welcome, and also to Mr. Edwards for his address.

THE R 101.

HOW CHANGE RINGING CAME TO YATELEY.

RINGERS ENTERTAINED.

Recently the local band of bellringers at Yateley, Hants, were the guests of Mrs. Stilwell, of Thriftswood, Yateley, who very kindly entertained them to supper at the White Lion Hotel. After doing justice to the capital courses served up, Mr. S. J. Riddell, president of the band, proposed the health of Mrs. Stilwell, remarking that for over fifty years a great interest had always been taken in bellringing by the Stilwell family, and many kind and useful things had been done by them for the benefit of change ringing. He was sure that Mrs. Stilwell would be pleased to know that among the strong company present were Mr. W. B. Tree and Mr. J. R. Bunch, who were two of the first in Yateley to take up change ringing, and without whose efforts the art might have been lost to the parish. They commenced 42 years ago, under the tuition of the late Mr. Henry White, of Basingstoke, whose services for six months were generously defrayed by the late Mr. John Pakenham Stilwell, who was for many years president of the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Ringers, and who also gave three bells to the church. It was very pleasing to see in the room four grandchildren of that great supporter of the Guild in its early days, together with Mr. H. Oswald from overseas. The health of Mrs. Stilwell and family was received with acclamation and accorded musical honours.

Major J. G. Stilwell responded. He said that they were always pleased to assist the Yateley band, and, like his grandfather, he considered that a good company of ringers was a splendid asset to any church and parish. They had in Yateley one of the strongest bands in the Basingstoke district. He felt that, although they had to thank the older ringers for introducing the art of campanology into the village, the success of the present band was mainly due to their president, Mr. S. J. Riddell, who gave a tremendous amount of his time in teaching beginners.

The handbells were then produced, and some capital old English and Scotch melodies were played by the handbell section, and Grandsire and Stedman were rung, the whole company taking part in turns.

PEALS OF MINOR.

We are very glad to see a member of the Methods Committee publicly discouraging peals of Plain Minor rung on the lines of a recent one at Isham, which was arranged with two singles only. In this form it may be a novelty, but it cannot be claimed as advancing the standard of peal ringing; indeed, it is just the reverse, and, in our opinion, a retrograde step. It is exactly one of the developments which, during the controversy on the Methods Committee's report last year, we pointed out would be led up to by admitting into a peal of Minor anything but true and complete 720's, or anything but true and complete 120's in a peal of Doubles. In fact, we quoted an exactly parallel case of Doubles in which, if repetitions are to be admitted before the completion of any extent, 5040 Grandsire Doubles with only two singles would have to be recognised as a peal.

It is the logical outcome of what we called 'tampering with truth,' and once you break the rule which requires each 720 (or 120) to be complete, however desirable may be the immediate end in view, you cannot decline to recognise any absurdity which a conductor may think fit to call a peal, so long as each row occurs not more than seven times in a 5040 of Minor or more than 42 times in a 5040 of Doubles. Mr. Trollope may object to the form of the Isham peal for reasons totally different to our own—he does not tell us on what grounds he thinks it is undesirable and therefore to be discouraged—but it is a good thing to find a member of the Methods Committee taking the first opportunity strongly to discourage 'freak' arrangements of this kind.

Nothing in the recognised standards of peal ringing is binding upon anybody, but the tendency in these days ought to be to raise them and not to open the door to the lowering of them. There may be some who would argue that the Isham peal is not retrogressive; but if such arrangements became accepted in general practice, why should not 5040 of Bob Minor be rung with only two singles, and if the one is to be recognised, why should not the other be? The Exercise has spent more than two and a half centuries in trying to build up a standard; ringing in these days has reached a stage when peals on the higher levels are 'cheap,' and anything which may tend to lower the qualification for any performance to be given the dignity of a 'peal' should be sternly rejected. There will probably always be people with strange notions of their own as to what they would call a 'peal,' but that does not make it necessary that the Exercise should recognise them, and, if the Exercise refuses recognition, such things will quickly cease to be practised.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF THE NORTHERN BRANCH.

In delightful weather, apart from being cold, the half-yearly meeting of the Northern Branch at Barton-on-Humber, on Saturday, October 25th, was one of the most enjoyable meetings in the annals of the district. Among the towers represented were Bigby, Burton-on-Stather, Elsham, Gainsborough, Goxhill, Grimsby (St. Andrew's), Lincoln (Cathedral), Scotter, Scunthorpe, Thornton Curtis, Ulceby, Upton and Willingham, in addition to the local company. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet) and Mr. Howell (Holy Trinity Church), Hull.

The ancient tower of the church, dedicated to St. Peter, contains a sweet-toned ring of eight bells, which were kept going in the standard methods and Double Norwich during the afternoon and evening.

At the request of the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Park (Thornton Curtis) conducted the service and gave a most eloquent address to the large number present. Subsequently fifty members and friends partook of an excellent tea at the Assembly Rooms, after which the Vicar (Rev. W. E. Varah) extended a hearty welcome to all, and in his interesting speech referred to Harrison's Bell Foundry, which was at Barton some years ago.

Mr. F. P. Linley (Northern Branch president) took the chair at the business meeting, and was supported by the Vicar, Rev. J. H. Park and Rev. H. T. Parry, Bigby (Grimsby District president), and members of the committee.

Apologies for absence were announced from Canon Hicks, Messingham, Mr. J. A. Freeman, Lincoln (Northern Branch Ringing Master) and Rev. H. Law James, Surfleet (Guild Ringing Master).

Gainsborough was agreed upon as the place for the next half-yearly meeting, the arrangements being left in the hands of the general secretary and local members of the committee.

Speeches of interest were made by Mr. Linley, Rev. H. T. Parry and Rev. J. H. Park.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Rev. J. H. Park for his very helpful address, the organist, the caterers and waitresses, and, last but not least, to Mr. A. W. Hoodless for the excellent arrangements he had made, and all others who had helped towards making the proceedings such a success. This having been duly responded to by the Vicar and Mr. Hoodless, the business meeting concluded, after which further ringing on handbells and tower bells helped to bring to a finish 'a perfect day.'

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.GLASTONBURY DEANERY BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Glastonbury Deanery Branch was held at Dinder on Saturday, when the towers represented were Glastonbury, Wells, Meare, Crocombe, Dinder, West Pennard, Doultling, Shepton Mallet, and Leigh-on-Mendip. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and, later, service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. M. Y. McLean). Tea was served in the Village Hut, and was generously given by Mr. A. F. Somerville.

At the business meeting, which followed, the Master of the association, the Rev. E. S. C. Lock (West Pennard) was voted to the chair, and was supported by the branch secretary, Mr. F. D. Rickards (Wells) and the Ringing Master of the branch, Mr. H. J. Trim (Glastonbury).

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the branch at Glastonbury in January.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. Somerville and the ladies who prepared the tea; to the Rev. and Mrs. McLean; to the organist and blower; and to the local ringers. Further ringing was then indulged in, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor being rung on the bells, a very enjoyable meeting terminating about 7.30 p.m.

LAVENHAM RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Saturday, October 18th, the marriage took place at St. Lawrence's Church, Little Walsingham, of Mr. F. A. Poulson (Lavenham) and Miss M. H. Martin (Little Walsingham). The ceremony and reception were of a quiet nature by request, hence no 'wedding bells.'

The bride was given away by her sister, and the bridegroom's brother, Mr. L. Poulson, another ringer, acted as best man. The bride's brother is also a ringer.

The happy pair afterwards travelled to Cambridge, where the honeymoon was spent, and have now taken up residence at Newton, Suffolk.

The Lavenham 'bachelors band' regret losing their deputy conductor, but they can still 'muster' enough for the octave, whereas the 'Benedicts' have to rely upon their three non-resident members.

Mr. F. A. Poulson is one of the trio of well-known ringing brothers of Lavenham, Suffolk, all of whom have left the 'single' ranks during the last eighteen months.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal on the bells at Buckfast Abbey, Devon, was rung on Saturday, when a peal of Stedman Cinques was scored by a band of visitors from London and elsewhere, with Mr. William Pyc as conductor.

Owing to the tower being unsafe, ringing at Shopton Mallet, Somerset, has been suspended until further notice.

The first peal of Grandsire Triples by the local hand on the fine ring at Congressbury was rung last Saturday, the only outside help being from Mr. L. G. Tanner, of Weston-super-Mare. It is 21 years since the local men rang a peal of Doubles, at the time the bells were a heavy ring of six. The advent of Mr. C. R. Lilley and his son to Congressbury has stirred things up in this Somerset village.

For some years the bells at Tibenham, Norfolk, have been pronounced by visiting ringers as unringable, but last Thursday a peal was rung on them. They are said to be the finest ring of six in the county. We hope this peal will not delay any necessary overhaul of the bells. The whole village appeared to take an interest in the peal, and the Vicar, who was particularly pleased at the performance, showed his appreciation in 'liquid fashion' at its conclusion.

A correspondent inquires what a friend of his has been training on at Duffield to ring the treble and tenor to a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples?

The bells of St. Paul's Cathedral were opened on November 1st, 1878.

To-morrow is the 150th anniversary of the opening of a ring of eight bells at Waldron, Sussex. A peal of five bells was put in the tower by Richard Phelps in 1732. A treble was added in 1773 by Thomas Janaway, and the octave completed by Wm. Mears in 1780.

The first 'name' peal was rung on November 3rd, 1796, when eleven Williams, members of the Royal Cumberland Youths, rang a peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

The first peal of Superlative Surprise Major was rung at Huddersfield on November 5th, 1821.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

LACK OF INSTRUCTORS.

The quarterly meeting of the Alton District, held at Ropley on October 25th, was well attended, representatives being present from Bishop's Sutton, Blackmoor, Farnborough, North Stoneham, Overton, Petersfield and Winchester, and some useful work was done on the bells.

At the meeting following the tea, at which the party numbered 31, an interesting feature was the decision of the Ropley band to rejoin the Guild.

Mr. Wilfrid Andrews spoke of the difficulty of finding instructors in country districts, and urged the younger members to work hard to make themselves efficient in order to meet this difficulty. He very kindly consented to instruct the Ropley band himself.

The Master referred to the hon. auditor's hereavement in the death of Mrs. Griffin, and a vote of condolence was passed.

A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Read, was also passed to Mr. Alan Pink for his services to the district, especially in the Petersfield neighbourhood.

ST. PETER MANCROFT, NORWICH.500TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

A thanksgiving festival has been held at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the church. The Bishop of Norwich preached the sermon at the morning service and also dedicated a beautifully figured and gilded reredos, a cross, the gift of Mrs. Barnard, and a pair of candlesticks, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Beattie, members of the congregation, in memory of relatives who were former worshippers at the church. The Lord Mayor and Corporation attended in state, being received by the Vicar, the Rev. Hugh McMullan, and the choir at the great west door, and the procession entered while the hymn, 'We love the place, O Lord,' was being sung. At the rear of the procession was the Bishop of Norwich, preceded by the churchwardens and the Rev. F. W. Baggallay (son of a former Vicar of the parish).

In his sermon, preached upon a text from the Psalms, 'O come, let us worship,' the Bishop offered hearty congratulations and encouragement to those who were working in and for the Church of St. Peter Mancroft. 'We have long learnt,' he continued, 'to identify

As early as the fifteenth century St. Peter Mancroft had a ring of five bells, and they were made into six by the addition of a treble in 1602. The augmentation to eight took place in 1672, and in 1736 this ring was made a peal of ten by an addition of two bells subscribed for by Gentlemen in ye Parish.' In the following year, there was rung a peal of Grandsire Caters, 'which for excellency of its ringing, Harmonious changes and ye number of them, was certainly superior to anything of its kind ever done in the world; and to remove all doubt of the truth of the performance several ingenious Ringers were abroad the whole time with proper rules to prove the certainty of ye same. Thus was this great peal perfectly complicated to the entire satisfaction, surprise, and amazement of thousands of hearers in the space of 8 hours 15 minutes. The number of changes were 12,600 rung by 9 men belonging to the steeple, the tenor singly by a young ringer for 8,000, then a second rang her to the end of the peal. The persons' names and the bells they rung were as follows: Tho. Melchior treble, Wm. Pettingall 2, John Gardiner 3, Tho. Barrett 4, Robert Crane 5, Wm. Porter 6, Tho. Blofield 7, Edwd. Crane 8, Christ. Booty 9, James Jerom and Robt. Liddamon tenor.'

THE CHURCH OF ST. PETER MANCROFT, NORWICH.

it with generous thought and gifts. Taught by its late incumbent (Canon Meyrick), who made a fine appeal in Norwich, through the many years of his ministry and by his predecessors here, this parish and congregation have taken broad views of the call of the Church. Now I rejoice to find that the good work is still going forward, and that your new incumbent is making his own contributions towards the fuller development of Church life and Church influence in the parish.'

At evensong, the service was also very impressive, the organ and choir being augmented by a number of string and brass instruments, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. F. W. Baggallay. Before evensong a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters (1,287 changes) was rung in 55 minutes by the following members of the St. Peter Mancroft Guild: Miss M. Robertson 1, Miss A. Cushing 2, Miss H. Bill 3, H. J. Borrett 4, B. J. Honchin 5, W. E. Bason (conductor) 6, F. H. Knights 7, G. Mayers 8, G. Bailey 9, F. W. Curtis 10.

St. Peter Mancroft has been famous in ringing history. Here the first peal on record was rung (Bob Triples) in the year 1715. The first peal of Grandsire followed in 1718, and the first peal of Stedman Triples in 1731. For these three performances alone St. Peter Mancroft holds an important place in ringing, but many other famous peals have been rung there.

In 1775 it was decided to replace the old peal with a new ring of twelve, with a tenor of 41 cwt., and these were cast by Pack and Chapman, of Whitechapel. 'The new peal of twelve bells was opened on Wednesday, June 21st, 1775. On that day a Te Deum and Jubilate was performed in the Church with a chorus from the Messiah. The Coronation Anthem was also performed by a band of about thirty gentlemen to a genteel and numerous audience. After this the bells were opened by the ringers, much to the admiration of the listeners and admirers of music and ringing. It was at first apprehended that the note of the tenor was not deep enough to cover the peal with dignity; but her majestic and complacent giving sound soon proclaimed her superiority, and the execution of the whole has reflected honour on the founders, and on the gentlemen who tuned these harmonious bells.'

The old tenor, inscribed, 'To the King, Queen and ten children this harmonious peal of twelve bells is dedicated,' was cracked in 1814, and was recast at a weight of about 41 cwt., and, typical of the spirit referred to by the Bishop in his sermon, in 1909 a flat sixth bell was added to make a middle eight, and this bears a Latin inscription which may be literally translated: 'I am called Gabriel. The Guild of Ringers of this Church with the good will and gifts of many have me made, 1909.'

BOB MAJOR COURSING ORDER.

AN ARTICLE FOR YOUNG CONDUCTORS.

BY J. SEGAR, JUN.

No conductor likes to say after three hours' ringing, 'This should be all.' He will always try to find a few places in the composition where he can check the progress of the ringing and call 'Stand,' if something is wrong. Jasper Snowden dealt very fully with the importance of this in 'Ropesight' and in his 'Treatise on Treble Bob,' where he states that the ablest class of conductors comprises those who know the positions of the bells throughout the peal.

So far as Plain Bob is concerned, it is quite easy to know the coursing order throughout the touch or peal, and to work out mentally the effect of a bob before calling it. I am assuming that the tenors are not parted, and that the conductor is ringing an observation bell. In the plain course the bells come to lead in this order, 8.7.5.3.2.4.6. It is sufficient to remember the working bells, 53246. A bob alters the work of three bells, which will be met consecutively. A bob will rearrange but not separate the bells whose work is altered by the call. A bob at the first lead (i.e., W) causes (532)46 to become (325)46. The first of the three has become the last of the three figures in brackets. 336 changes of Bob Major with calls at W could be written:—

325 46

532 46

If you take the first opportunity of calling this touch you will find the coursing orders given are correct. There are two more ways of putting three figures in brackets—5(324)6, 53(246)—and there are two more places in a course where a bob can be called. It would be very convenient to find a bob at Middle had rearranged the middle three (324), and a bob at last lead had rearranged the last three (246). Unfortunately, this is not so. Another visit to the tower will show:—

| 3 bobs at M. | 3 bobs at H. |
|--------------|--------------|
| 53 246 | 5 324 6 |
| 53 462 | 5 243 6 |
| 53 624 | 5 432 6 |
| 53 246 | 5 324 6 |

It will be noticed in all three cases, W.M.H., a bob causes the same rearrangement. I previously mentioned that the first (of the three bells affected) becomes the last, and this applies at M. and H., just as it did at W. Those who would like a little practice on paper before attempting the mental transposition in the belfry will not be wasting their time. This system can be applied to composition, and a false touch can easily be detected.

23456 W. M. H.

62534 — —

52436 — —

The coursing orders of the above figures are:—

| W. | M. | H. |
|---------|---------|---------|
| (000)00 | 00(000) | 0(000)0 |
| 32546 | 32546 | 35426 |
| 35426 | 35264 | 32654 |
| 32654 | 32546 | 32546 |

and the falseness at M. is exposed. When ringing Major only, there is one other place where a call is sometimes made, i.e., 'Before.' This has a simple, but rather different, effect: 53246 becomes 65324.

Anyone using this system of proving compositions should be careful of bobs 'Before.' Other calls produce a new order instead of the old. Bobs Before produce a new order in addition to the old.

Some may find bobs at M. the easiest, so I conclude with a quarter-peal in skeleton form with simple calling and easy coursing orders:—

| B. | M. | H. |
|-------|-------|-------|

LITTLEHAM, EXMOUTH.—On Wednesday, September 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandire Triples (1,260 changes): Rev. E. S. Powell 1, John Arbury 2, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 3, William Howe 4, John Flint 5, Oliver Gatter (first quarter-peal) 6, J. Armiger Trollope 7, Mrs. E. S. Powell 8.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

'MISSIONARY' EXPEDITION TO BARNARD CASTLE.

Efforts to create an interest in change ringing are being made at Barnard Castle, Co. Durham. A meeting of the Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held there on October 18th, when the members met the local ringers at tea, kindly provided by Mrs. Bircham. After ringing on the Parish Church bells, the company, numbering 24, met in the Mission Room under the chairmanship of the Vicar (Rev. H. W. H. Bircham). The visitors included Messrs. T. Titt (secretary), G. Park, Roland Park, Norman Park (vice-president), Lawes, Porter and W. Oliver, of Holy Trinity, Darlington; Messrs. Venus and Clarke, St. Cuthbert's, Darlington; Messrs. J. W. Shipp and H. Shipp, Staindrop; Mr. Hall, Heighington; and Mr. Burnett, Kirkby Stephen. Local ringers present included Messrs. Tom Chatt (captain), Robert Blenkinsopp, W. Cheesebrough, A. Stoddart, E. W. Willis, and T. W. Harwood, of the Parish Church belfry. The Rev. G. K. Spiller (curate), and Mr. F. R. Battersby (lay reader) were also among the guests.

After the repast, the Vicar, in offering a hearty welcome to the guests, referred to the importance of the bellringers as part of the Church organisation, but regretted that in many cases ringers appeared to be outside the general band of churchworkers, although their work came within the same category as Sunday School teachers, district visitors, churchwardens, sidesmen, and so on. He wanted the ringers to regard themselves as part of the Church organisation and feel that their services were valued. Since an enthusiastic band of change ringers had come to the town he had taken the opportunity of offering them welcome. They were proud of the peal of bells at Barnard Castle Church, and they were proud to have people from a distance to ring them. The local clergy desired to recognise the ringers more than they had done in the past. There were ringers who, although they called people to church, did not go in themselves. He submitted affectionately that they who rang the invitations to other people to gather for worship should go into God's House themselves. His friends from a distance had shown him a little book on change ringing, and if the local ringers would accept copies from him he would be pleased to provide them. If local bellringers cared to go in for change ringing members of the association would be pleased to come over some Saturday afternoons to give them instruction. There were no handbells in use at Barnard Castle at present, but if there was a possibility of them being used they would be provided. There was need for progress in everything, and he would like to see progress made in bellringing.

Mr. Norman Park promised that the association would do all it could to assist local ringers in change ringing. If handbells were provided, they would be pleased to come over some Saturday afternoon.

Four ringers from Holy Trinity, Darlington, rang touches of Stedman Triples on the handbells, and then Mr. Norman Park expressed the thanks of the company to the Vicar and Mrs. Bircham for their hospitality and kindly welcome.

Mrs. Bircham, acknowledging the vote of thanks, said how pleased the Vicar and she had been to have the ringers with them. She was sorry there were no change ringers or handbells in Barnard Castle. She hoped that soon there would be change ringing in the town.

DEVON 'CALL CHANGE' RINGERS KEEN.

On Thursday of last week 170 ringers of the Tavistock Deanery assembled for a festival at Bere Ferrers. They came from 16 parishes, including Lewtrenchard, Buckland, Walkhampton, Tamer-ton, Milton Abbot, Tavistock, and Bere Ferrers.

The ringers visited the towers in the various parishes they passed through, and ringing began at Bere Ferrers at 2 p.m. and continued until eight o'clock.

A service was held, when the Rector and Rural Dean welcomed the visitors. He was assisted by Rev. W. Moore (Kelly), who is the indefatigable hon. secretary of the Deanery Guild, as well as being president of the South Devon Branch of the Devon Guild. The Vicar of Eggbuckland (Rev. J. C. L. Johnstone) was the preacher.

Tea was provided, the catering being carried out by the wives of the Bere Ferrers ringers, under the supervision of Mrs. Collom.

Most, if not all, of those present were round and call change ringers, and it says something for the keenness of these Devon men when they will assemble in such numbers for a mid-week festival.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Western Division of the Hertford County Association was held at Apsley on Saturday, and was fairly well attended. Ringers came from King's Langley, Berkhamsted, Leighton Buzzard, Tring, Ealing, Hemel Hempstead, Watford, and, last but not the least, Mr. J. H. Shepherd, from Swindon. The methods rung ranged from Grandire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. B. Goodwin), who also kindly entertained the ringers to tea in St. Mary's Hall, and presided at the business meeting.

The bells have recently been overhauled by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and a great improvement has been effected in the 'go' of them.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. W. Ayre proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for all he had done in regard to the bells, and for his kindness and hospitality.

CORNISH RESTORATIONS.ST. MABE BELLS REHUNG AND AUGMENTED.

The bells at St. Mabe, near Penryn, Cornwall, restored and augmented to six, have been dedicated by the Archdeacon of Cornwall (Canon G. W. Hockley). The bells, originally a ring of five, hung anti-clockwise, were cast in 1877 by Messrs. Warner and Sons. The old treble has been recast, the remaining four retuned, and a new treble has been added (this being the gift of Mr. J. M. Stuart in memory of his mother). They have been rehung in a new iron frame on ball bearings with the latest fittings. The fifth and tenor, which were terribly out of tune, would not be recognised as the same bells. This goes to show what can be done by retuning. The whole of the work has been admirably carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., and the bells are now a most pleasant ring, the tenor being 9½ cwt.

After the dedication service, the Vicar, the Rev. C. Daly Atkinson, extended a pressing invitation to the district secretary of the Truro Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild, to arrange a meeting for October 25th, exactly a year after the last meeting, when those present made a collection to start a bell fund for the restoration, and at the Vicar's request the Rev. W. H. R. Trewbella, Messrs. W. H. Southard and A. S. Roberts inspected the old frame and made a report for him to set before his Church Council. Now, through the efforts of the Church Council, enthusiastically led by the Vicar, things have been set in order, and the bells were at the disposal of the sixty or more ringers who were present on Saturday last, the towers of Illogan, Budock, Gwennap, St. Agnes, St. Gluvias, Perranwell, Kenwyn, Gulval and Truro Cathedral being well represented. Dr. J. Symons (Diocesan Ringing Master) and Major C. F. Jerram, C.M.G., D.S.O. (vice-master), were also present.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, and an address given by the Rev. W. H. R. Trewbella (diocesan secretary), who emphasised the great call of the bells to worship and prayer. He also urged those bands who at present were content with rounds and call changes to aspire to something greater—change ringing—now the winter was setting in. A special word was addressed to the captains of bands on leadership and encouragement.

The bells were kept going from 2 p.m. until late in the evening, and it was only during service time that they were silent, as whilst some were at tea others were ringing. The method ringing included Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor.

Everyone congratulated the Vicar and local ringers on such a result in less than a year, and this is a splendid example of what enthusiasm will do.

ANOTHER TRURO DISTRICT RING PUT IN ORDER.

During September, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston rehung the six bells in the detached campanile at Illogan, putting them on ball bearings, and overhauling the fittings and frame generally. The 'go' of these bells is now splendid.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SUGGESTED PROFICIENCY BADGES FOR YOUNG RINGERS.

A very enjoyable and successful meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Upper Deal on Saturday by the kind permission of the Rector, Rev. E. D. Bowser. Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock and continued until 4.30 p.m., when a service was held in the church, the Rector officiating and giving a very appropriate address. Mr. J. P. Cobbold stepped into the breach caused by the absence of an organist, and presided at the instrument. Tea was held at the Magnet Inn at 5.15 p.m. It was hoped that the Rector would be present at the tea and meeting, but unfortunately he was prevented from attending. Twenty-five members were present, representing the following towers: Canterbury Cathedral and St. Alphage, Dover, Slurry, Wickhambreaux, Wingham, Littlebourne, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, Whitstable and Deal.

Mr. J. Sharp was unanimously elected to the chair for the business meeting, at which three new members were elected, viz., Mr. H. Hopkins, of Whitstable, and Messrs. W. Hunt and F. Lewing, of Upper Deal.

Suggestions were invited for the next by-meeting. Two towers were proposed, Wingham and Chilham, and each secured ten votes. Eventually the chairman was persuaded to give his casting vote, which went in favour of Chilham, the proposed date being Saturday, December 6th.

A somewhat lengthy discussion arose as to the advisability and benefits to young ringers of awarding some sort of 'proficiency' badge by the county in recognition of advancement made in change ringing.

Eventually the chairman pointed out that in any case that meeting could take no definite steps. It must be left to the Central Committee to deal with, and the only thing they could do was to instruct the representatives to bring the question before the committee in November.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and for the service and address, and to Mr. Cobbold for the music.

During the afternoon and evening the following methods were rung: Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise, Plain Bob, Double Oxford and Stedman.

THE LONGEST PEAL OF MINOR IN Lincs.DEDICATION OF PEAL BOARD AT WEST DEEPING.

On Wednesday, October 8th, a peal tablet was dedicated in the belfry of St. Andrew's Church, West Deeping, recording the longest length of Minor rung in the county of Lincolnshire. The tablet, which records the 10,080 changes rung in 14 methods in 6 hrs. 19 mins. on Saturday, August 13th, 1927, by members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, was dedicated by the Rev. G. Dudley, Rector of West Deeping, immediately before the commencement of the harvest thanksgiving evensong. The Rector proceeded to the belfry accompanied by the choir and ringers, and offered the dedicatory prayers. The address at the service which followed was given by Canon Jarvis, of All Saints' Church, Lincoln, and he expressed great pleasure in being able to take part in this unique service of thanksgiving. In the course of his address, the Canon referred to the tablet which had previously been dedicated, and said he understood it was a tablet recording a very worthy performance. Furthermore, it was pleasing to know that five of the ringers who took part in this peal were present at that service of praise and thanksgiving. Owing to her missionary work in Leeds, Miss Kathleen Judson was unable to be present. She had the distinction of being the first lady ringer to accomplish a peal of this length.

At the conclusion of the service, 360 Cambridge Surprise was brought round by the following who took part in the peal, with the exception of the treble ringer, who kindly made up the band: Mrs. P. Humphrey 1, C. T. H. Bradley 2, A. Riggall 3, J. J. Judson 4, W. Tilley 5, H. M. Day (conductor) 6. Further ringing continued, there being a good attendance of ringers from the local towers.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.CHANGE OF DISTRICT SECRETARY.

A district meeting of the Archdeaconry of Ely Branch was held at Ickleton on Saturday, October 18th, when the fine peal of eight bells was placed at the disposal of members by the courtesy of the Vicar (Rev. A. E. Penney). Although the event was favoured with fine weather, the attendance was very poor, members and friends from the following towers being present: Cambridge, Trumpington, Melbourn, Saffron Walden, Dry Drayton, Hitchin, and the local band.

A short service, conducted by the Vicar, who gave an interesting address, was held in the church.

Tea and the business meeting took place at the residence of Mr. P. Webb, captain of the local ringers, who kindly provided an excellent tea at short notice, owing to the local caterers dropping out at the last moment. Provision had been made for thirty or more, but only twelve sat down, with the Vicar in the chair.

A letter was read from Mr. F. Warrington, district secretary and Ringing Master, expressing his desire to retire from office, owing to inability to attend to the business of the association. The resignation was accepted with regret, and Miss Kitty Willers, the enthusiastic and popular lady ringer of Trumpington, accepted the invitation to stand, and was unanimously elected to serve until the annual meeting.

It was decided to suspend the office of Ringing Master for the present.

The Central Council's circular on the subject of inter-relationship with affiliated Guilds, and the inclusion of a covering rule, was read and discussed. It was felt that the matter should be left for decision at the annual meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and taking the service, and to Mr. and Mrs. Webb and family for so kindly providing tea, and the use of their room for the meeting, concluded the business.

During the afternoon and evening, touches in the standard methods were rung, one or two beginners scoring their 'first in the method.' The next meeting will be held at Fen Ditton in November.

VETERAN RINGER DIES AT HORSHAM.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mr. Stephen Knight, who at the ripe age of 80 passed away on October 4th at Horsham. A well-known member of the Hertford County Association, he had years ago taken part in a number of peals in that district. Since his retirement he had lived for some years in Horsham, his former home. Always keen and active, he was up to the last found in his place if it was possible for him to get there.

His genial reminiscences of his peal ringing days with the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, J. W. Washbrook, Nathan Pittow and others of the old school were always interesting, and his death severs another link with the past.

He was buried in Horsham Cemetery, and at the graveside were members of the local company and visitors from neighbouring towers, who after the interment rang several touches at the Parish Church with the bells half-muffled.

BIRKENHEAD.—At St. Mary's Church, on Monday, September 8th, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor in 23 mins.: Miss M. Cooke 1, Miss E. M. Cooke (first 720 of Surprise) 2, J. Cooke (conductor) 3, J. Leslie 4, W. J. Battle 5, G. R. Edwards 6.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. PEAK DISTRICT MEETING AT BUXTON.

The first meeting of the M.C.A. to be held at Buxton was a monthly meeting of the Peak District, which took place at the Church of St. Peter, Fairfield, and which turned out to be a very successful and enjoyable function. Between 30 and 40 ringers were present from Bakewell, Baslow, Burbage, Darley Dale, Dore, Eyam, Fairfield, Norton-on-the-Moors and Tideswell, and the bells, a nice ring of six (tenor 12 cwt.) were kept going all the afternoon and evening in all the standard methods from Cambridge Surprise downwards.

A substantial tea was served at 5 p.m. in the Church Room, presided over by Mrs. Williams, wife of the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Williams), who welcomed the M.C.A. to Fairfield in a very pleasing speech, and regretted the absence of the Vicar, who was away for the week-end.

A short business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. W. P. Wright, of Eyam, who expressed the warm thanks of those present for the kindly welcome and excellent arrangements made for them.

The Hon. Secretary extended a warm welcome to the ringers of Fairfield and several of Burbage who had recently joined the society, expressed the hope that they all, and especially the younger ones, would make full use of the monthly meetings, and assured them that every help would be extended to them. A welcome was also extended to two visitors from the North Stafford district (Messrs. J. Walley and W. P. Dean), who, incidentally, gave much kindly help during the day to a number who were struggling with Cambridge Minor.

Mr. Dean, in reply, mentioned several joint meetings in prospect in their area, and invited the attendance of any who cared to come.

Two new members were elected—Messrs. Rex Wilson (Fairfield) and S. Kirk (Burbage)—and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Matlock, if possible on November 22nd next. It might be borne in mind by those interested that Double Norwich is still the method selected for special attention.

A kindly invitation was then received through Mr. R. Ashmore to make use of the bells of Christ Church, Burbage, on the other side of Buxton, and a number of those present availed themselves of the offer, finding a pretty little ring of six (tenor 10½ cwt.) and a nice belfry, where a number of courses, mostly of Cambridge, were brought round. Tunes and changes were also indulged in on the musical set of handbells brought from Bakewell by Mr. Wallace, and a most successful meeting closed about 8 p.m.

CHESTERFIELD DISTRICT.

The meeting of the Chesterfield District, which was held at Staveley on October 18th, was fairly well attended, members being present from Ecclesfield, Worksop, Warsop, South Normanton, Kilmars, Chesterfield, Cresswell, North Wingfield. Between 20 and 30 members sat down to tea, after which a short business meeting was held, the Rector being voted to the chair and being supported by Sir Josiah Court and Mr. Churchwarden Kilbridge.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at North Wingfield on December 20th. This will be the annual meeting of the district.

The bells were afterwards kept going in various methods until 8.30.

DEATH OF MR. HARRY WRIGHT.

PASSING OF A GREAT YARMOUTH RINGER.

It is with regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. Harry Wright, of Great Yarmouth, which took place on Monday, October 6th. He was a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, joining as a probationer in 1892 in the old school of the St. Nicholas' Society at Great Yarmouth, which recalls the names of William Blyth, Robert Christian, Matthew Long, James Matthews, William Secrett and Arthur Webber, all of whom have passed over.

Deceased was a very steady and capable ringer in the methods that he knew, and had rung 25 peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association, also a few peals with other associations. His first peal was one of Plain Bob, and his last one of Stedman Caters (rung in London), his occupation sometimes taking him from home for several months at a time.

The interment took place on Saturday, October 11th, amid many manifestations of regret and respect. The St. Nicholas' Society was represented by Mr. Denison Hayward, the veteran of the company, who happily is still on the active list and, we hope, will continue for many years to come.

Mr. Wright was a man of very genial disposition, and will be greatly missed by his large circle of friends.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Wednesday evening, October 22nd, 1,440 Bob Minor (two 720's called differently) was rung at St. Andrew's Church, Halstead, Essex: Ed. Pritchett (longest length in the method) 1, P. Braizer 2, G. Snowden 3, A. Root 4, W. Coppin 5, J. Root (conductor) 7, with the 6 and tenor covering, all the band being local men. It was rung as a wedding peal to the Rev. E. F. Harmer (late curate of the parish), who was married at the Church of the Epiphany, Santal Pagarinas, North India.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

COMMITTEEMAN RETIRES AFTER 40 YEARS' SERVICE.

The annual meeting of the Rochester District was held at Rochester Cathedral on Saturday, when ringers attended from Chatham, Frindsbury, Rainham, Newington, Sittingbourne, Tunstall, Borden, Lynsted, Queenborough, Gravesend, Milton-next-Gravesend, Beckenham, Gillingham, together with the local band. The bells were available from three o'clock, and until four o'clock were rung in various methods, when the assembled company attended evensong in the Cathedral, the organist and choir being present.

At the close of the service the ringers were entertained to tea by the association at the City Cafe, the Dean of Rochester, Dr. Talbot, presiding, supported by the Vicar of Gillingham (Rev. Webb), Mr. F. M. Mitchell (general secretary), and the district representatives (Mr. Haigh and Mr. W. Spice, sen.), about fifty sitting down to enjoy the splendid spread.

At the business meeting, which followed, the Dean expressed his pleasure in meeting the bellringers again, and more particularly because during the last few days he had discovered the fact that one of their number had during his lifetime been honoured by a memorial recording his services to his fellow-ringers. The Dean said this was usually done after one had died, but he was sure that Mr. Mitchell richly deserved all that had been done.

At the election of officers for the ensuing year, Mr. Haigh, upon being proposed for a further period of office as district representative, asked to be relieved. He had served now for forty years, and considered a change would be beneficial.

Mr. Spice, sen., was re-elected, and Mr. Belsey was chosen to fill Mr. Haigh's place. Mr. S. Shellock was re-elected as district secretary.

A very hearty vote of thanks was recorded to Mr. Haigh for his very long services on the general committee of the association.

The district secretary's report and the balance sheet both showed that progress is being made, the membership having increased by about twenty practising members and one honorary member, while the number of peals rung also shows an upward movement.

Three new honorary members were also elected during the evening, together with two practising members.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Dean for the use of the bells and for presiding at the meeting. The tower was then again visited, and touches in the various methods were enjoyed.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MANCHESTER BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Prestwich on Saturday, October 18th. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by service, conducted by Canon Cooper, who gave an excellent address. Tea was served at the Tower Cafe, when the members sat down to a splendid repast, kindly arranged by the local band.

After further ringing, the business meeting was held in the Institute, the branch president being in the chair. Pendleton was selected for the next meeting on Saturday, November 15th, Manchester Town Hall for December, and the Cathedral for the annual branch meeting in January.

Three new members were elected, Messrs. Thos. Welsby from Worsley, and Kenneth Hey and Harold Simpson from Prestwich.

A discussion took place re the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook's grave, and it was decided to leave it over till the meeting at the Cathedral.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector, Canon Cooper, for the use of the bells and to the local ringers for having everything ready and making everybody comfortable.

Further ringing then took place. Although the attendance was small, this was compensated by everyone having good practice in various methods.

WHO CAN TRUMP THIS?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Some time ago Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., of Crayford, rang his 200th peal on Crayford bells, which must be a record.

I should be interested to know who has rung the least number of peals in 100 different towers, as on Saturday last I completed my 100th tower with my 160th peal.

Perhaps an enquiry through 'The Ringing World' will help to satisfy my curiosity.—Yours truly,

HARRY PARKES.

FOR THE WANT OF OIL A PEAL WAS LOST.

At St. Piran's Church, at Perranarworthal, Cornwall, on Friday, October 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandisle Doubles (1,260 changes) in 42 mins.: Cyril Laxon (aged twelve, first quarter-peal) 1, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 2, Miss L. Willoughby 3, W. E. Minors 4, W. H. Sleemau (conductor) 5, A. S. Roberts 6.

The band started for a peal, but owing to the bad 'go' of the third bell, it was decided to bring them round. It was a great pity that the young and promising treble ringer could not have scored his first peal at the first attempt. All the bells wanted a little oil, but the tower key could not be found.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A

A GREAT SOCIETY.

To-morrow members of the Ancient Society of College Youths from all over the country will assemble in London to celebrate the 293rd anniversary of the foundation of the society. This gathering, by far the largest event of its kind in the ringing calendar, seems to grow in popular favour every year, and were it open to ladies, as are the social gatherings in other parts of the country, would expand with a bound. It is, however, not only difficulties of accommodation which limit the party. A conservative policy of the society itself—which, for one brief period, admitted ladies to membership and then recanted—now restricts the dinner to gentlemen almost, but not absolutely.

The conservatism of the College Youths is one of its traditions, but that is not to say that the members have not kept abreast of all that is best in the advancement of ringing. The College Youths have a history of nearly three hundred years and those who are responsible for its management endeavour to live up to that history. To some people this tranquil progress which has been pursued through the centuries, which has been almost un-deviating since the days when Charles I. was on the throne, may seem out of date and antiquated, but there are some respects in which it is to be encouraged. Since change ringing began the College Youths have been at the very centre and core of the Exercise; indeed, the society has been from the first one of the pillars round which the Exercise has woven itself, and ramified throughout the country. It is only in the last fifty or sixty years that the territorial societies have come into existence; before that it was the College Youths and a very few societies of a like nature that kept alight the torch of change ringing and enabled the expansion of the last half century to be made. For its part in maintaining the art in the past, the Exercise owes it a debt and ringers look up to it as the doyen of all ringing societies.

There is still, however, about its proceedings—which necessarily centre chiefly in the Metropolis—a spirit of aloofness and exclusiveness which is not unnoticed by those outside. This spirit may be inbred through the traditions which are behind the society, but in these days of the wider brotherhood among ringers, it seems, though we cannot for a moment think it is really intended, a little austere. London may be somewhat crowded with ringing societies; in places they may be treading on each other's toes, but there certainly is scope in London for a greater intermingling of organisations. A policy of isolation is entirely out of keeping with the spirit of the age—in ringing as in other things. The goodwill which finds expression in the presence of so many non-members at the College Youths' dinner is proof of this, and the cause of ringing in the metropolis would receive a great impetus if all the societies interested endeavoured to work in less watertight compartments.

PRESENTATION TO MR. J. E. WHEELDON. THIRTY YEARS AS LEADER OF THE NORTON-IN-THE-MOORS BELFRY.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Monday, October 27th, in the Church Room, at Norton-in-the-Moors, Staffs, on the occasion of a presentation to Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, leader of the belfry. At the kind invitation of the Rector (Rev. J. G. Hamlet) and Mrs. Hamlet the following were present at tea: Messrs. J. E. Wheeldon, W. C. Lawrence, J. Walley, F. Triner, W. Corfield, H. Wibberley, S. Ryles, C. Williams, J. Walker and G. W. Walker. Apologies were received from Mr. G. Lawrence, Mr. J. Mountford (ringers), and from Mr. W. Jack, people's warden.

In proposing the toast, Mr. G. W. Walker referred to the capabilities of Mr. Wheeldon as a change ringer, and also to the admirable way in which he had controlled the belfry at Norton for the past 30 years. Mr. Walker expressed the wish, on behalf of those present, that he might be able to carry out his duties for many years to come.

At the conclusion of the tea, upwards of fifty people assembled to witness the presentation to Mr. Wheeldon, which was in the form of a cheque. In presenting the gift, the Rector referred to the work that had been done in connection with the church during 1929-1930. It would stand as a record. He wanted specially to record the work done in connection with the bells, which had been recast and rehanged during 1930, and also to record the thirty years' loyal and faithful service of Mr. Wheeldon, who had worked assiduously during these years, and particularly in helping to raise funds for the bells scheme. In asking Mr. Wheeldon to accept the cheque, the Rector expressed the wish that Mr. and Mrs. Wheeldon would be favoured with good health and a happy life.

In thanking the Rector, churchwardens, and parishioners for their generous gift, Mr. Wheeldon said that during his years of leadership at Norton he had always been happy. He had always endeavoured to instil into the ringers their responsibility as churchmen. Concluding, he spoke of the ready help that had always been forthcoming from his fellow-ringers, and said he had many happy reflections from their companionship, and hoped that he might still be allowed to continue his associations.

Mr. W. Lawrence and Mr. A. Walley expressed their pleasure at being present, and supported what had been said by the Rector.

The rest of the evening was spent in a happy mood, when songs and short stories were contributed by the friends present. Mr. S. Moreton and Miss Sillitoe supplied the music for dancing. At the close of the evening the Rector thanked all those who had helped to make the evening a success.

BELLS RESTORED AT DEDDINGTON. AN ENGLISH OAK FRAME.

On Saturday afternoon the Bishop of Oxford dedicated the newly rehanged ring of bells at Deddington, Oxfordshire, in the presence of a large congregation. The bells were raised previous to the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, and took the form of a shortened evensong. The lesson was read by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, immediately after which the Bishop, clergy and churchwardens proceeded to the tower, where, at the request of the churchwardens, the Bishop offered the customary dedicatory prayers. In his excellent sermon the Bishop referred especially to the uses and customs connected with bells, and said he hoped that the sound of the bells ringing out Sunday by Sunday would turn the thoughts of those living nearby to God and the church and their duties as Christians.

After the service several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung by members of the Diocesan Guild from Banbury, Appleton, Caversham, Reading, Adderbury, Bodicote, Launton, and the local band.

The work of rehanging has been most satisfactorily carried out by Mr. Richard White, of Appleton, who has put in a massive frame of beautiful English oak, on a foundation of four very massive oak beams, under which are two rolled steel girders encased in concrete.

The canons have been retained on the bells, which have been hung to headstocks made from some of the finest seasoned elm in the country, and fitted with self-aligning ball bearings of the latest pattern. The whole is a very fine piece of master craftsmanship, and the fine timber—very rare in these days—of which the frame is composed is well worth inspection. The bells go beautifully, and it is hoped that in the near future two trebles will be added to complete the octave. Provision has been made in the frame for these additional bells. The present six are a 'maiden' peal cast by Thomas Mears in 1791, and all bear the same inscription, viz.: 'Thos. Mears, late Lester, Pack and Chapman, of London, fecit 1791.' They are in the key of E, and the tenor is 17 cwt. 10 lb. There is also a small sanctus bell inscribed 'Anthony Basely, Richard Large, C.W., 1649.'

The tower was rebuilt about 1683. It is a very massive structure, worthy of a ring of eight, as is, indeed, the grand old church. The town stands on a slight hill, and the tower is a landmark for miles. Its predecessor fell down in 1635, and in 1643 Charles I. demanded the bells, which, as he explained, were of no use to the church as the tower had recently fallen, and so they were carted into Oxford and made into guns.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Canon G. F. Coleridge will have the good wishes of the whole Exercise when he celebrates his 73rd birthday next Monday.

One of the ringers in the peal at Buckfast asks who rang the treble to the peal? Apparently he did not see him during the ringing, and, we suppose, following his usual custom, was out of the tower almost before the bells stopped. However, he will find the name in the report of the peal in another column.

The secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association writes that the tenor at Congresbury is 35 cwt., not 38 cwt. as reported in a peal report last week; also that the first peal of Grandsire, Triples on the bells was rung on November 29th, 1924.

Lord Harris, the veteran cricketer-peer, is trying to raise £400 for the repair of the parish church bells at Throwley, Kent. One of the bells has to be recast.

In the tower at Huddersfield is one of those rare old boards which records not only the performance of a peal but gives the composition as well. 'On November 13th, 1820, the Society of Ringers belonging to the old Church of this Town performed a Peal of New Trillie Bob Major, 10,080 changes, consisting of thirty-six courses, in five hours and forty-five minutes.' Then follow the names and the course-ends of the peal.

Market Drayton bells (8) and Hodnet (6) have been taken down and removed to the Loughborough Foundry. The former are to be recast, and the latter are to be tuned and rehung in a frame for eight.

The many friends of Mr. Fred Atwell, of Newport, will be pleased to learn that on Saturday last he was returned as a member of the Town Council. Mr. Atwell is a Conservative in politics, and beat a Labour opponent at the poll. Mr. Atwell is the oldest active ringer in Newport. He was one of the band at St. Woolos', when the present hon. secretary of the association (Mr. J. W. Jones) removed to Newport. At that time the church had but six bells. He has seen the six augmented to eight, then recast and made ten. He also saw All Saints' Church built with a ring of eight installed, and was one of the earliest members of the Llandaff Association.

Mr. George Barraclough, a Yorkshire veteran, in honour of whose golden wedding a peal was rung at Birstall on Saturday, has the distinction of having rung more peals with the late Jasper W. Snowden than any other ringer now living.

ELEVEN-METHOD WEDDING TOUCH.

At Kimbolton, Herefordshire, on Wednesday, October 29th, at St. James' Church, a quarter-peal of Doubles (1,320 changes) in 45 mins., being a six-score each of Stedman's Slow Course, Christmas Eve, New Year's Eve, Old Doubles, Morning Star, St. Dunstan's, Original, April Day, Plain Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, and Grandsire: W. E. Jaine 1, F. A. Jaine (conductor) 2, J. F. Fox 3, W. E. Brookes 4, T. G. Cooke 5, J. Robinson 6. First quarter in eleven methods by all the band and on the bells. Rung on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. John Green and Miss G. Phillips, a member of the company, who were married at the above church earlier in the day, the band wishing them 'long life and happiness.'

MILTON BELLS AUGMENTED. RECOGNITION OF MR. F. M. MITCHELL'S WORK

The bells at Milton Church, Gravesend, have been augmented to eight, to mark the twenty-first anniversary of Mr. F. M. Mitchell (hon. secretary of the Kent County Association) as leader at the tower. The old peal of six have been completely restored and re-hung, and the treble and the tenor retuned. The back five were cast in 1656 by John Hodson. The new trebles are inscribed:—

No. 1.—'M. & S., London. Given by Churchwarden Ernest E. and Mrs. J. E. Knowles, 1930. G. W. Mennie, M.A., 30 years Rector.'

No. 2.—'Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London, 1930. In memory of Alan Gates Sandford, killed at Loos, 1915. F. M. Mitchell, 21 years leader.' (Presented by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sandford.)

These new bells are hung in cast-iron frames, and a new chiming apparatus, presented by the Misses Andrews, has been installed.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have made an excellent 'splice,' and they were heartily congratulated on their work.

THE TOWER OF MILTON CHURCH.

The dedication ceremony took place on Thursday evening, October 25th, the 30th anniversary of the induction of the Rector (the Rev. G. W. Mennie, M.A.). The service, which took the form of shortened evensong, was attended by the Mayor (Councillor G. L. Simmonds, J.P.), the town clerk (Mr. H. H. Brown, B.A.) and members of the Corporation in civic state. There was a crowded congregation.

The founders of the new bells were represented by Mr. A. A. Hughes (proprietor) and Mr. A. R. Macdonald (manager).

During the singing of the processional hymn, the Dean of Rochester (Dr. R. T. Talbot, D.D.), the Rector, and other clergy, and the churchwardens (Messrs. E. E. Knowles and C. Devereaux) proceeded to the tower.

The Dean offered prayer, and then taking the ropes of the new bells from Mr. Knowles and Mr. Mitchell (deputising for Mr. Churchwarden Sandford) said: 'In the Faith of Our Lord Jesus Christ we do solemnly set apart and separate the Bells now hung in this Tower from all profane and unhallowed uses, and dedicate them to the Glory of God and to the benefit of His Holy Church.'

The bells were then rung by the following members of the local band: F. A. Mitchell 1, Mrs. F. M. Mitchell 2, J. Burles 3, H. Argent 4, F. M. Mitchell 5, F. Seabright 6, C. M. Mitchell 7, G. R. Ambrose 8, also Messrs. G. Huggins and S. Parker.

After prayers and the hymn, 'Ring forth, holy bells,' the Dean addressed the congregation. It was not an ordinary occasion, he said. It marked the occasion when a brother of his and of theirs had for 21 years been doing the same thing in the same place. Mr. Mitchell had been honoured in his lifetime—it was so simple to honour people when they were dead—but he had been honoured by his comrades and confreres, who had put up the bells in his memory. Mr. Mitchell had not only been leader of the ringers at Milton for 21 years, but he was also well known in the ringing world throughout the whole of Kent. It had also been made the occasion of celebrating the ministry for 30 years not anywhere but at that church, of their Rector. It was so easy to go about from place to place and to start with a flash of fire first here and then there. But it took a man of proven qualities to survive the test of being microscopically examined by day and by night, in fact at all times, for 30 years. He personally could not stand that: he had never stayed in one place for 30 years. There in God's House Mr. Mennie had been present with three generations. He was now seeing the third, and in that was his consolation and his hope. Mr. Mitchell, in writing to him, had mentioned that he had thought he was interested in bells. He did not think he was more interested in them than anybody else till he went to live in Wiltshire. There, by accident, he found that ringers thought they were a very injured and neglected people. They thought they were quite as necessary to the going of the church as anybody else, but no one thought of them. If there was one person he liked it was the neglected and forgotten person. Others could swim by themselves, but these poor, sad, neglected people made a strong appeal to him. So at every church he visited, before the service, he always went up, and sometimes stumbled up, the narrow stairs to the tower. He saw men doing what appeared to be such an unpromising thing—just standing up and holding a rope with a tasselled end. Then, at a moment's notice, those men let loose sounds that stirred you to the very utmost depths.

That was how he came to care about the ringers. 'You also care for them, I know, very much,' he added. Some people said any fool could ring. Could he? No! It was a science and an art which had to be much followed unless one was only willing to produce vain, jangling sounds.

The final hymn was, 'Lifted safe within the tower, now our bells are set on high.'

After service there was a reception at the Milton Church Schools. The Mayor and members of the Corporation were preceded to the schoolroom by the churchwardens and the mace, borne by the sergeant (Mr. J. Parkinson). Among those present were the Mayoress (Miss Ada Simmonds), the Deputy Mayor (Councillor R. McGregor, J.P.), the Rector of Swancombe (the Rev. E. F. Campbell Ward), the Vicar of Northfleet (the Rev. C. G. T. Colson), and churchwardens and churchmen and women from other churches in the district.

Regret was expressed that Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sandford were unable to attend.

The Rector said they were delighted to once again welcome the Mayor and Corporation. Their presence showed their backing and their sympathy. In a reference to Mr. F. M. Mitchell, he said that he had been a fine man in the tower at Milton. Everything had gone harmoniously and without a hitch since he had been leader at the tower. He publicly thanked the donors of the bells and other subscribers to the work of restoration.

The Mayor, replying to the welcome, amused the company with reference to bells, cracked and otherwise, and said that, heard in the distance, nothing sounded sweeter than a peal of church bells.

Refreshments were served by the ladies, and the evening passed pleasantly with dancing and harmony.

During the evening between 60 and 80 ringers attended from all parts of Kent, and enjoyed a ring on the bells.

DERBY DISTRICT QUARTERLY MEETING.

Belper and Duffield, which are situated some few miles north of Derby, were the scene of the third quarterly meeting of the Derby District on Saturday, which was most successful. Ringers arrived at Belper early, and the first touch to be rung was Grandfire Triples as a local wedding party was leaving the church. The new Vicar, the Rev. A. F. G. Fletcher, paid a visit to the belfry to give everybody a welcome. Afterwards touches in the various methods up to London Surprise was indulged in by the thirty odd ringers present, everybody agreeing that the meeting was most successful.

At the business meeting one new member was elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting (which will be the annual) at Derby, St. Andrew's during the afternoon and St. Alkmund's in the evening, due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Duffield bells were utilised in the evening.

STONE, WORCESTERSHIRE.—At St. Mary's Church, on Saturday, October 25th, a quarter-peal of Grandfire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 40 mins.: W. Payne 1, T. J. Salter 2, J. Smith 3, J. Woodberry 4, J. E. Lawrence (conductor) 5, A. Jones 6.

THE FIRST PEAL AT BUCKFAST. THE ABBEY AND ITS BELLS.

One of the most interesting peal ringing achievements of this year was the first peal on the twelve bells at Buckfast Abbey, Devon, on Saturday week, the particulars of which appear elsewhere in this issue.

Although Buckfast Abbey, which stands on the banks of the River Dart, has been re-established only about fifty years, its foundation is lost in antiquity. It dates back at least to the latter half of the 9th century and, with the exception of a period in the reign of William Rufus, when its lands were distributed among the King's favourites, it flourished up to the time of the Dissolution. Its resurrection dates from 1882, when monks, dispersed by the French Government from the Abbey of La Pierre-que-vire, were offered the chance to purchase what remained of the Abbey. Their decision to acquire the property was a venture of great faith, but Cardinals, Bishops and distinguished laymen of the Roman Catholic Church showed their sympathy in unmistakable terms. First the abbot's tower was restored and a temporary church erected. The foundations of the ancient Abbey were excavated, and a young architect, Mr. Frederick A. Walters, was entrusted with the care of supervising everything and preparing the plans. After a lapse of nearly half a century, he still has a guiding hand on the work of restoration which, beginning very slowly, has gone on ever since, brothers of the Order having been trained as craftsmen and having executed the work.

Buckfast was made a separate community, distinct from that of Pierre-que-vire, in 1889, and three years later, from a priory, it was raised to the dignity of an independent Abbey. The first abbot of the new line was chosen in 1902, a young monk of the Abbey, Dom Boniface Natter, who lost his life in a shipwreck off the Spanish coast, while on his way to fulfil a mission in South America. His companion on that tragic voyage, Dom Anscar Vonier, was rescued, and was destined to succeed him as abbot. Abbot Natter had longed to undertake the rebuilding of the Abbey Church at Buckfast. Abbot Anscar, immediately on his election, struck a bold line, and informed the world that he wanted to rebuild the church in memory of his predecessor. He had one capable mason for the work, but no money, but contributions began to come in, and the first stone was laid in January, 1907. Everyone must admire the spirit of faith that initiated the enterprise, and the perseverance that has carried it on until final achievement lies in the near future.

The Abbey Church is approaching completion. It follows the foundations of the 12th century edifice, is cruciform in plan, and reproduces the transitional style of the Norman and Early English period. The length from west to east is 240ft., and the width across the nave and aisles 62ft. It is built of Bath stone, and the vaulting is of local red sandstone. Against the piers in the nave there are four altars, and in the choir of two bays there are temporary stalls for the monks, and the organ. When the church is completed there will be seventy carved oak stalls for the monks, and they will occupy three bays. Beyond the choir is a central space from which the transepts open, and above rises an open lantern, with a stone gallery running round at a height of 51ft. from the floor. Over this again is the belfry in which are 14 bells, the gallery being at present the 'ringing chamber.' The three easternmost bays comprise the sanctuary, but the high altar is not yet complete. In the north transept is the Lady Chapel, in the south transept the Holy Cross Chapel, and in the eastern ambulatory, behind the high altar, are six chapels. The tower itself is not yet finished. Another storey will eventually be added, to which the bells will be raised, and a ringing chamber will then be formed.

THE BELLS.

The bells themselves came before any tower was ready to receive them. They were the gift, in 1910, of Sir Robert Harvey, and for a time were fixed in the old abbot's tower. In the dark days of the war it was Sir Robert more than anyone else who enabled the monks to carry on their building operations, and he offered to pay for the belfry in which the bells are now hanging.

In the sixteenth century when the Abbey was dismantled, there were five bells, which, it is recorded, were bought by the mon of Buckfastleigh for the sum of thirty-three pounds fifteen shillings for the Parish Church. The present bells are a ring of twelve, with two semi-tones. The tenor is about 28 cwt., and the translation of their Latin inscriptions is as follows:—

- Treble.—GEORGE. The Dragon is cast out.
- Semi-tone.—PAUL. You were bought with a great price.
- 2.—PETER. Thou art Christ, the Son of the living God.
- 3.—THOMAS OF CANTERBURY. Avenge our blood, O Lord.
- 4.—GREGORY. Ye angels, bless the Lord.
- 5.—VERONICA. I will seek the face of the Lord.
- 6.—BONIFACE. Ye nations, bless the Lord.
- Semi-tone.—BERNARD. O sweet Virgin Mary.
- 7.—BENEDICT. Let nothing be preferred to the work of God.
- 8.—RAPHAEL. Ye Heavens, bless the Lord.
- 9.—GABRIEL. Hail, Mary!
- 10.—MICHAEL. Who is like unto God.
- 11.—ROBERT. The faithful man shall be much praised.
- Tenor.—MARY. Come, let us adore the King, for whom all things live. This and thirteen other bells, cast to form a harmonious chime through a well proportioned weight of metal, were given to the Abbot and Convent of Buckfast as a free gift by the most munificent man, Robert Harvey, of the Order of Knighthood, from Dundry, Totnes, in Devon, whose way God has prospered, as a means of perpetuating the memory of his well-beloved wife, the religious and noble lady, Alida Mary Harvey, born in the state of Peru, on the 23rd December, 1858, piously fallen asleep in Christ at Dundry on 12th July, 1901. That she may live with the angels we pray. 'And they shall come from the East and the West, and the North and the South, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God' (Luke xiii. 29).

A DIFFICULT PLACE TO RING IN.

The peal rung on Saturday week had been long contemplated. A member of the band, whilst on a visit to Devonshire early in the year, called on the Father Abbot and obtained his promise that a peal might be attempted after the holiday season. Preparations were made to take a band for Cambridge Surprise Maximus, and a provisional date was fixed. Good fortune favoured the band chosen, all being able to make the journey, whilst the date was quite suitable to the Abbey authorities.

Most of the ringers travelled to Exeter on the day prior to the peal and completed the journey next morning. Twelve o'clock was meeting time, shortly after which hour lunch was served in the Abbey guest house. By one o'clock the band was in the lofty belfry. The narrow gallery, from which ringing is done, is about 4ft. wide, with a waist-high protecting wall. The space in the middle is about 20ft. square, with a drop of 51ft. to the floor below.

It was quickly realised that to attempt a peal of Surprise Maximus would be exceedingly risky, owing to acoustic difficulties and a bad rope-sight. The four trebles, in a straight line, are almost hidden from one another by projecting pillars, and the ringer of the third has to stand with his back to the two smaller bells. Stedman Cinques was, therefore, decided upon, the bobs being called by Mr. W. Pye from the tenor. These could just be heard on the opposite gallery, but visitors in the Abbey below heard a 'big noise,' most of the sound travelling down the space between the galleries.

An excellent peal was completed in 3 hrs. and 50 mins., and amongst those first to congratulate the ringers were several of the monks themselves.

The Father Procurator very kindly treated the ringers to selections on the splendid Abbey organ, after which tea was taken and a departure made. The visitors felt that a good impression of change ringing was left behind, and hope that it will not be long before another band may be fortunate enough to ring a peal on these very fine bells.

Those of the party travelling by road arrived back in Exeter in time to join the Cathedral ringers at their practice, and two courses of Stedman Cinques were rung. Next morning a special treat was in store for them. By the kindness of the Dean and Chapter the party were given an opportunity to ring a course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus. Two being required on the tenor (just to see if two could work together), a thirteenth ringer was required, and Mrs. E. S. Powell very ably 'made up the number.' She is to be congratulated on the way she performed her part.

The course was rung prior to the soldiers' service by Mrs. E. S. Powell 1, A. Walker 2, R. Pro 3, F. W. Perrons 4, C. T. Coles 5, A. E. Reeves 6, S. T. Holt 7, F. E. Pervin 8, J. Bennett 9, J. T. Dyke 10, E. P. Duffield 11, W. Pye and A. W. Coles 12. Time, 27 mins. This was the first course of Cambridge Maximus rung in the county.

Other items during the pleasant week-end were a visit to St. David's to ring for morning service, when several novices rang their first touches of Spliced Surprise Major; an interlude in the afternoon at Heavitree, when an opportunity occurred to ring on a magnificent eight, one of the best ever heard; and a visit to Clyst St. George in the evening as the guests of the Rev. E. S. and Mrs. Powell. The first course of London Surprise Minor, and a course of Cambridge, besides some touches in easier methods, were rung for evensong.

A peal at Thorverton on Monday ended the programme for the last of the party to leave Devonshire, which they did very reluctantly.

Thanks are heartily given to everybody who contributed in any way towards this pleasant and successful week-end.

THE PEAL AT PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL.

The peal of Superlative rung at Portsmouth Cathedral last Saturday, besides being the first in the method on the bells, was rung at the earliest opportunity as a welcome to the new Provost (Canon T. H. Masters), an honorary member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, and former Vicar of Petersfield. It was also Mr. A. C. Williams' 100th peal, and Mr. A. R. Pink's 50th peal, and was a farewell to the latter, who is leaving the district for Woking after doing some splendid spade work in the Petersfield area.

'BELLS FOR SUNDAY WORSHIP.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I notice in 'The Ringing World' that a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Tickhill by a mixed band of church bell-ringers. Will someone enlighten me on what 'honours' are gained in thus ringing a quarter-peal when the mixed band leave three of their churches short of ringers for Sunday services?—Yours truly,
'CHURCH SERVICE RINGER.'

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Fylde Branch was held at the Parish Church of the ancient town of Kirkham on Saturday. The eight bells are a very harmonious ring, with tenor about 20 cwt., cast by Rudhalls, of Gloucester, and are in good going order. Seventeen members assembled in the ringing chamber by three o'clock, and the bells were kept merrily going to the tune of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob and Little Bob. An encouraging feature was the appearance of three local ringers, who, although only stoney men, showed an interest in the ringing, the leader of them asking if it was possible to have an instructor sent to give them instructions in change ringing.

A special item in the afternoon's programme was provided by Mr. A. Hague, who brought a set of handbells, and a course of Grand-sire Caters was brought round in good style by the Blackpool ringers.

ARMISTICE.

BY WILLIAM WILLSON, LEICESTER.

A November day, and the clouds are grey o'er the clock in yonder tower,
And heads are bare in the City square as the hands approach the hour.

The wheels that whirl now cease to stir—a gun booms overhead—
A sudden thrill and the world is still! . . . in THE SILENCE for the dead.

Our homage is made and the moments fade. If faces are stern and set,
There's nought of shame or ought of blame, e'en though your eyes be wet.
Two minutes' toll can sear the soul, constraining men to pray,
Nor need we quail to lift the veil from our hidden hearts to-day.

O, woman of grief, 'tis sure relief that your loved one under the sod
Came back to your side as you softly cried—came back from the light of God.
He stood as you bowed in the waiting crowd, to dry the tear that falls;
You will meet no more till the journey is o'er, and the last Reveille calls.

And war-time men recall again how they 'ducked' at the sniper's 'pop';
How they furtively felt for the cartridge belt, the time to go over the top.
How they stood in the trench in the mud and the stench—and how cheerily they strode,
Dodging the shells from a hundred Hells, at Messines and the Menin Road.

Then our thoughts turn where they sleep 'out there,' in the land where poppies grow,
Where graves are white in the fading light as flakes of falling snow.
And we count the cost of the lives we lost, and their Calvary keep in mind
As year by year we here revere—the lads who were left behind.

Is it nothing to you that they pulled us through; that still there are hearts that ache?
That theirs the light through years of Night—yet We saw Morning break!
Then never forget we owe the debt—a debt we can ne'er repay—
Till wars shall cease and the bells of Peace, ring in the Eternal Day.

THE FIRST PEAL AT KINGTON MAGNA.

The first peal on the bells of Kington Magna, recorded in another column, was rung by request of the Rector, Rev. F. L. Edwards, on All Saints' Day to celebrate the patronal festival of the Parish Church. Mr. Edwards reports on it as follows: 'The striking was magnificent. The peal literally answered to the description sometimes found in old records, "rung without a single false blow being struck or a bell misplaced from beginning to end." At the conclusion, the bells were delightfully lowered in peal.'

The ringers were subsequently entertained to supper at the Rectory. The bells are a very musical ring of five, with pre-Reformation tenor, second and third cast by John Wallis, 1608, fourth dated 1643. The treble was cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1914.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting of the Sheffield and District Society, held at Eckington on Saturday, November 1st, proved a great success. Although the weather was none too kind, about thirty members attended from Killamarsh, Norton, Bolsover, Sheffield Cathedral, Hands-worth, North Wingfield, Raunmoor, Creswell, Chesterfield and Rotherham.

Eckington is fortunate in possessing a fine peal of eight bells (tenor 16½ cwt.), and these were set going early in a variety of methods, including Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise, Duffield, Oxford and the four standard methods, and the striking of the bells was excellent.

At the business meeting held in the tower it was decided that the next meeting be held at Rawmarsh on Saturday, December 11th, instead of December 4th, in order to form a joint meeting with Yorkshire Association, the secretary having previously read a letter from the secretary of the Yorkshire Association requesting this change of fixtures.

A proposition that the secretary write the Rector of Eckington, the Rev. W. R. Hewson, expressing the thanks of the meeting for his kind hospitality in granting the use of the bells, was put forward by Mr. J. Flint, seconded by Mr. G. Lewis and carried.

This concluded the business, and ringing was continued until 9 p.m., when the bells were rung down in peal, bringing to a close a happy and enjoyable day.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.RECORD WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH MEETING.

By permission of the Vicar (the Rev. A. W. Laws) a quarterly meeting of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Irchester on Saturday week. A record attendance of members was present from a very wide area, some twenty-five towers being represented. The newly-augmented peal was in great demand during the afternoon and evening, and many methods were rung, from rounds and Grandsire Doubles for beginners, to Superlative, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major for the more experienced. Many expressions of satisfaction at the tone and 'go' of the bells were forthcoming.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, who also gave a most helpful and practical address, in the course of which he expressed his great joy at being in the position to welcome them to ring the bells. It was not only a joy to him, but to the whole village. Two years ago, when he became an honorary member of the Guild, he had the lucky privilege of addressing the members, and he then said that they hoped to put their bells, which had been silent for twenty-five years, in order. That wish had been gratified, and had exceeded their greatest expectations. He appealed to all of them to look upon their work of ringing the bells as much a part of the ministry as his was; in fact, they appealed to a much larger audience than he could hope to.

After the service, tea was partaken of in the Co-operative Hall, eighty-nine members and friends being present, the Vicar presiding.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar being in the chair. Finendon was suggested as the next place of meeting. The election of Messrs. George Williams, Charles W. Roberts, Wilfred Williams, James Bennett, Thomas T. Giffon, John W. Wood and Ernest W. Tipier, as non-resident life members, was confirmed. Messrs. J. Lillie, F. Brudenall, A. Stone, W. Dunkley, S. Lawrence, R. Payne, C. Aldridge, S. Boddington and J. Smith, all of Irchester, were elected ringing members.

The secretary, on behalf of those present, offered a very hearty welcome to them as members of the Guild. He also thanked those who had, and were, helping their Irchester friends, and said that those who knew anything about ringing knew what a difficult task they had before them. It was bad enough when they had one or two beginners, but when they got a dozen, the problem was multiplied considerably, and he hoped that any who could would continue that help. He also thanked the members for attending there that day in such splendid numbers. As some of them would remember, they had a record attendance at their meeting held at Higham Ferrers in January, but that record had been left behind that day. There were complaints about the falling-off in attendance at various meetings up and down the country, but he was thankful to say that was not the case in the Wellingborough Branch.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his excellent address, to the organist, not forgetting the blower, and all who had helped to make the meeting such a success, was proposed by Mr. E. Wilford (Master of the Guild) and carried with acclamation.

Apologies were received from the Rev. C. F. Westacott (president of the branch), Rev. B. E. Owen, R.D. (Vicar of Higham Ferrers), Rev. G. G. Thompson (Vicar of Wollaston) and Rev. J. H. Marlow (Vicar of Bozeat). Amongst those present were Mr. R. G. Black (general secretary), Mr. H. Baxter (secretary of the Kettering Branch), Mr. J. Nickerson (secretary of the Thrapston Branch), Mr. C. T. H. Bradley (secretary of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild), Mrs. P. Humphrey (Folkingham, Lincs), Mr. A. King (Luton), etc.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The annual meeting of the Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild took place at Clanfield on Saturday, October 25th. A service in the church, at which the preacher was the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Guild, was conducted by the Rev. H. M. Goodacre, and the secretary (Mr. W. Evetts, jun.) read the lesson. After the service the bells were rung, and tea was served at the Mason's Arms. The business meeting was then held, and in the absence of the Rev. F. R. Marriott, the Master took the chair. He referred to the loss by death of two of their members, the Rev. A. C. R. Freeborn (late branch chairman) and Mr. T. Buggins (foreman of Wootton tower).

A statement of accounts was given, but as several towers had not sent in their subscriptions, it was impossible to give anything but a rough estimate of the financial position to date. Only 106 members out of a possible 150 had so far paid their subscriptions. Honorary members were still up to previous numbers.

The Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Clanfield for his hospitality, coupling with his name the ringers of Clanfield.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, the Rev. F. R. Marriott; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Evetts, jun.; representatives on the Guild Committee, Messrs. W. T. Bond, N. Spindlow and G. Clarke. The next meeting will be at Eynsham.

The Secretary asked that all foremen of towers should send him weights of the tenor bells in their various towers to help the Bristol United Ringing Guilds Committee to bring their 'Directory of Church Bells' up to date.

The Master mentioned that a memorial tablet was to be erected in Kidlington Church to the memory of the late Rev. A. C. R. Freeborn, and said he thought the branch might like to associate themselves with it.—It was decided to send a guinea.

The members then returned to the tower for ringing, and others went to Rampton, where there is a peal of eight bells.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH AT POTTERNE.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the beautiful Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Potterne, on Saturday, November 1st (Feast of All Saints), and in spite of the wet weather a large number were present.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon Kewley, M.A. (Rural Dean), Mrs. Kewley being the organist. In a short address Canon Kewley spoke of the lessons to be learnt from the Festival of All Saints, and said it would be much better if more brightness could be put into our religion. He referred to the part ringers took in putting brightness into the services.

Tea followed in the Church Room, to which 28 sat down, including Canon and Mrs. Kewley. Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presided at the business meeting, and extended a welcome to the visiting ringers, viz., Messrs. Prescott and Linter (Bath), Woodroffe (Swindon), Box (Wootton Bassett), and spoke of the improvement made in the ringing chamber at Potterne by the laying of the new floor. He hoped that it was the forerunner of other improvements, and that he would see the day when there would be a peal of eight in the fine tower. He also congratulated Mr. W. C. West, of Melksham, on ringing his 50th peal, he having now also rung a peal on each of the bells at Melksham Parish Church.

Mr. F. Green, the secretary, read a letter from Mr. W. J. Prescott, thanking the branch for the donation sent towards the building fund of the new hospital at Bath.—Mr. Prescott also spoke a few words of thanks.

The question of the length of the meetings and the reducing of the annual subscriptions was discussed.

A vote of thanks was passed to Canon Kewley for the use of the bells and conducting the service, Mrs. Kewley for playing the organ, and Mrs. Wells for preparing the tea.—Canon Kewley replied.

Ringers, in addition to those mentioned, were present from Potterne, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Holt, Bratton, Trowbridge, Rowde, Melksham and Market Lavington, including the Vicar of Market Lavington, the Rev. J. A. Sturton, B.A. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain, Bob and Cambridge were rung in the afternoon and evening.

The following is a description of the bells given in 'The Church Bells of Wiltshire,' by Mr. H. B. Walters, F.S.A.—

- 1.—The gift of the Rev. George Edmonstone, Vicar, 1920. R. T. Watts and Jos. Glass, Ch. Wardens. James Wells, Feecit.
- 2.—(Unintelligible inscription.)
- 3.—+ Anno Domini, 1624.
- 4.—Mr. John Gaisford and John Moore, C.W., 1713 (vine border above) W. bell C.
- 5.—On rin, R. Wells, of Aldbourne, Feecit MDCCLXXI.
- 6.—+ Drawe Neare to God. Anno Domini, 1624. RP.IM.—: RBRP.

'The date of the 2nd bell is probably about 1600. It is very far from being so ancient as Lukis imagined. The inscription is apparently meaningless, and I do not know any exact parallel, but such collocations of letters and quasi-letters are not uncommon at that period.

'1553, Potterne iij bells and Sanctus.'

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION VISIT TO LLANBRADACH.

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, held at Llanbradach on Saturday last, proved a most pleasant one. The bells, a light ring of eight by Taylor, were kept going until 4.30, when service was held in the Parish Church, the Vicar, the Rev. David J. Wills, officiating. It being All Saints' Day, the address had a direct bearing on the occasion, the preacher very aptly applying his remarks to the ringers and their duties. He specially mentioned that his own ringers were a loyal and faithful band, mustering punctually and regularly every Sunday.

Following the service, the ringers sat down to a sumptuous knife and fork tea which had been very generously provided in the magnificent suite of rooms belonging to the church. Although the muster was a very good one, it was perhaps a bit disappointing to those who did the catering that there were not even more present.

Following the tea, the business meeting was presided over by the Vicar, who at the outset heartily welcomed the association to Llanbradach.

Instructors' reports were read, new members made, including ten of the local band, and restorations and augmentations reported on, and the usual votes of thanks passed.

The hon. secretary brought to the notice of the members the little book on 'Rules and Diagrams for Instruction of Beginners' issued by the Lancashire Association, and disposed of several, which, by the way, had been sent by the hon. secretary of the Liverpool District, Mr. Claude I. Davies, who before going to Liverpool was one of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association's most enthusiastic members.

The bells were rung in the four standard methods and Double Norwich until later in the evening. Those who failed to turn up missed a real treat.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT.

For the second time in succession the elements were unkind to the members of the North and East District on the occasion of their meeting, and a wet, dismal afternoon on Saturday undoubtedly kept a number of intending visitors away from what was a very pleasant gathering. Some 36 members in all attended, and the peal of eight at St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, were kept going continuously from 3 to 5 p.m., when service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. F. Tyrrell), who was assisted by the Rev. T. Lewis. The Vicar gave the association a most cordial welcome.

Tea was served in the Church Schools. The two clergymen attended for a short time, the Vicar again expressing his pleasure at meeting the members.—Mr. C. T. Coles took the opportunity of thanking Mr. Tyrrell for his kindness in meeting them that day, and for the use of the bells.

At the business meeting after tea, the members stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of deep respect to the late Mr. Harry Barnett, of Tottenham, who had been a member of the association since its inception, and to the late Mr. Harry Dyas, of St. Andrew's, Wells Street, a member of many years' standing.

Five new members were elected, including two provisionally elected prior to ringing peals for the association.

The District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles) proposed a vote of thanks to the several ladies who had prepared an excellent tea, and to the Rev. J. O. Vince (Dalston) for allowing his bells to be rung that evening.—This was seconded by the hon. secretary, who also expressed his great pleasure at seeing so many young ringers present.

The Hon. Secretary asked members to attend a mid-week practice meeting, which he had arranged at St. Paul's, Glyn Road, Hounston, on Tuesday, November 18th, and also to assist the Dalston and Clapton bands at their practices on Tuesdays and Wednesdays respectively.

There was further ringing until shortly after 7 p.m. at Clapton, and a good number afterwards paid a visit to St. Mark's, Dalston, where the bells were kept going until about 9 p.m., most methods from 'Rounds' to London Surprise giving everybody an opportunity to ring.

A VENERABLE TREASURER.

At Charing, Kent, on Sunday evening, November 2nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: A. Baxler (first quarter) 1, F. Good 2, M. Johnson 3, W. Good 4, W. Henniker (first as conductor) 5, L. Osman 6. This was rung for the 90th birthday of Mr. P. Edwards, who for many years was captain of the Charing band, and is now treasurer, but has been unable to ring since he was 80.

THE 'ORIGINAL.' To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Miss Phyllis Moss (now Mrs. C. C. Mayne) called the 'Original' at Acton, on April 21st, 1924; Miss Norah G. Williams called it on October 8th, 1926. These two ladies are to be congratulated, and I would suggest that we toast them in a glass of good strong ale.—Yours truly,

C. F. WINNEY.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

ABERAVON, GLAM.—On Sunday, November 2nd, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: G. Chappell 1, E. Stith 2, W. J. Nulton 3, W. Williams 4, C. Jones 5, C. Mathers 6, A. J. Pitman (conductor) 7, J. Weathersby 8.

RENHILTON, SUTTON.—On November 2nd, for evening service, a 720 Bob Minor in 26 mins.: W. C. Smith 1, G. Reed 2, G. Rayner 3, J. Crawford 4, H. E. Good 5, A. V. Good (conductor) 6, A. Giberd 8 (covering). The conductor hails from Hemel Hempstead, the ringer of the 4th from Epsom, the remainder being local ringers.

ANTIQUARIANS OR ENGINEERS?

From the after-dinner speeches at the College Youths' gathering on Saturday two points, of real importance to the Exercise at large, emerged. One was made by the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, who urged both that the Church should treat ringers and that the ringers should consider the Church more seriously; the other was pressed home by the ex-president of the Central Council when he emphasised that bell restoration work was a task for the bell engineer and not for the architect, as the Council for the Care of Churches would have church authorities to believe. Both speakers, from different angles, directed attention to the importance of bells being kept in the best possible order, and to the fact that the people who understand the mechanical principles involved and the requirements necessary for their use were the people who should be consulted both in the provision of new bells or the restoration of old ones—a thing which we have long and persistently endeavoured to bring home to all whom we could reach through this journal.

For far too great a time ringers, their art and their work have been, for the most part, at the mercy of ill-informed writers in the public press. Some, with a little knowledge, have wilfully distorted the facts, others out of sheer ignorance have just lampooned the ringers and all things connected with them. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn put the feelings of the Exercise into a nutshell when he said, 'We are no longer a people to be talked about in a funny way, and we resent it.' What we most strongly object to, however, is the action of writers who do ringers a deliberate injustice, and who entirely misrepresent both their aims and their competence, when the writers themselves approach the subject from a biased standpoint. The people who have been the greatest offenders in this matter, and who, unfortunately, have the ear of the majority of those responsible for church property, are simply antiquarians, who would have the rest of the world believe that the only thing that matters about bells and their fittings is their age and that ringers who wish to see this valuable church property kept in efficient condition, for the purposes for which it was installed, are by their very nature and desires pure vandals.

Both the public press and the church authorities are, at the moment, influenced by a propaganda which is entirely inimical to the interests of ringing. We have it on the authority of one of the foremost bell founders that the present influences that are at work are not only causing considerable difficulties where restorations are concerned, but, if allowed to go on unchecked, must inevitably, in time, prevent the carrying out of work essential for the effectual restoration of many rings of bells. The propaganda is being carefully disseminated throughout the Diocesan Advisory Committees; very few of which include, or consult an expert in bells and ringing who can represent the practical side of the question to them. The committees themselves have no technical knowledge, and the views which they hold or the influences which are brought to bear — often through diocesan architects — are almost entirely those of the antiquarian school. We hope sincerely that the references made at the College Youths' gathering will lead to definite action being taken at the next Central Council meeting to set up some countervailing influence among church authorities and advisory committees.

THE FIRST RING OF BELLS IN JERSEY.A TENOR OF NEARLY THREE TONS.

The island of Jersey has now got its first ring of bells. Recently there was consecrated at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Thomas a new bell, cast in a French foundry, weighing 2 tons 18 cwt., which forms the tenor of a peal of five. The ceremony took place on the occasion of the golden jubilee of the establishment in Jersey of the Society of Jesus, the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, and the Society of Helpers of the Holy Souls. A congregation numbering 1,400 attended the consecration, which was performed by Bishop Cenez, Vicar Apostolic of Basutoland, who acted for the Rt. Rev. Dr. Cotter, Bishop of Portsmouth, who was unable to cross to the Island. The bell bears a long inscription in Latin, the translation of which is as follows:—

"I Anne Marie Andree Ignatius, consecrated by the Illustrious, Well-loved and Very Reverend Lordship William Cotter, Bishop of Portsmouth, having for Godfathers the Illustrious and Very Reverend Lordship Augustin Dentenwell, Archbishop of Ptolemy, Superior-General of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, and the Reverend Father Grenier, Provincial of the Order; for Godmothers Mothers Lucie Marie and Clemente, Superior-Generals of the Order of the Holy Family of the Convent of St. André at Tournai.

"Commemorating the 50th year of the arrival in Jersey of the Oblate Fathers of Mary Immaculate, the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, and the Mothers of the Society of "Helpers of the Holy Souls."

"I call and will call the people for the purpose of giving praise to Jesus Christ and Mary Immaculate."

"In praise of the great and good God and in honour of Mary Immaculate, the Oblate Fathers, the Jesuit Fathers and the Helpers of the Holy Souls, in recognition and remembrance of their Jubilee, have dedicated this bell to "the greatest glory of God."

The church has a tower of continental design.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett, who is Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, was on Monday elected for a further period of six years as an alderman of the City of Birmingham, having already enjoyed that honour for the past 19 years. Ringers will join in congratulating the popular alderman, who will have their good wishes for continued health to discharge the duties devolving upon him.

Mr. William Story, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, has just retired from his association with business on Quayside after 56 years' work. Last Friday he was honoured at a complimentary dinner, presided over by Sir Arthur W. Sutherland, supported by Sir Walter Runciman, Sir George Renwick and other business magnates. High testimony was paid to the services rendered in trading circles by Mr. Story, who was connected with the Bedlington Coal Co., Ltd., and he was presented with a snuff box, an album containing the names of 132 subscribers, and a cheque for 70 guineas.

The Vicar of Crowle, Worcestershire, and Mrs. Bamber have two children, a son and daughter. Both were born at the Vicarage while peals were being rung at Crowle Church, the son during a peal of Grandsire Triples on November 17th, 1928, and the daughter last Saturday while a peal of Bob Major was in progress.

On Sunday, November 9th, Mr. W. R. Hunt completed 53 years as a ringer at Rochester Cathedral, having first rung there on November 9th, 1877.

The bells at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley, Kent, are to be reopened with a thanksgiving service on Saturday at 3.30 p.m., after which they will be open for the use of visiting ringers. Details will be found in our notice columns.

It is rumoured that, in view of a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association that all members taking part in a peal shall pay 3d. each towards the cost of insertion in the association's peal book, such payments to be collected by the conductor, the Newcastle Cathedral Guild have decided to ring all future peals 'non-conducted'! Aberdeen beaten to a frazzle!

POTTERNE'S OLD BELL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your report of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild meeting at Potterne, it is stated the inscription on the 2nd, or pre-Reformation bell, is 'unintelligible.' This is not the case, as it was deciphered by the late Rev. H. C. Evans, who was curate at Potterne in the late seventies of last century. He pointed out to the writer that it was usual at the time the bell was cast to omit certain letters from the inscription, probably every other one, and by inserting the missing letters the inscription, instead of being a jumble, can be easily read. The inscription was copied, reproduced in full in the original characters, and inserted at the bottom of the stained glass window at the west end, where anyone may see it who visits this beautiful church. The inscription is the first verse of the 42nd Psalm: 'Like as the hart,' etc. The date on the treble bell should be 1820, not as printed. —Yours faithfully,

AN OLD RINGER OF POTTERNE.

GREAT ACHIEVEMENT AT PAINSWICK.

TWELVE BELL RECORD BROKEN.

Members of the Painswick Youths on Saturday accomplished a great performance when they were successful in ringing in eleven hours and 36 minutes the longest peal on twelve bells, a 17,687 of Grandsire Cinques, which was composed and conducted by that enthusiastic master of the Society, Mr. Albert Wright, now approaching the veteran stage in years of service, but still imbued with that spirit of eternal youth which characterises ringers in the pursuit of their art. This great achievement is the outcome of persistent effort to bring back to the famous old Gloucestershire tower the record which was held there from 1920 until August of last year when the Ashton-under-Lyne peal displaced the Painswick 13,001.

Three attempts were made prior to Saturday's successful effort, in two of which the bells were brought round at a long length, but short of the record. There was great enthusiasm among the inhabitants at Painswick on Saturday at the success of the band, who, in addition to Mr. Wright, included five others who took part in the 13,001 ten years ago. They were Messrs. T. Baldwin, W. Ireland, W. Staite, A. Hannis and J. Ballinger. The most remarkable thing of all about the peal was the fact that the tenor (26½ cwt.) was rung by Mr. James George, who will be 77 years of age on the 27th of this month. Two of the previous attempts had had to be curtailed for the sake of the tenor ringer, but the extraordinary stamina and fitness of Mr. George enabled him to see the job through in a really wonderful fashion. It is no idle flattery to say that Mr. George has done something which comparatively few men of any age could accomplish; to do it when practically 77 years old is a feat absolutely unparalleled, and ringers will lift their hats to this veteran youth upon his achievement.

The bells went off into changes at 8.10 a.m., and settled down to a pace of about 25 changes to the minute, which was maintained consistently throughout the peal. The welcome call, 'This is all,' came at 7.46 p.m., and a mighty cheer went up from a big crowd in the churchyard and the vicinity as the bells came round. The Vicar (the Rev. A. M. Goode) was the first to enter the tower and congratulate the band collectively and individually upon their fine performance. A former Vicar, the Rev. C. H. Veney, also joined in the congratulations, and then came a press of ringers who had gathered to hear the end of the peal, among them Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester. Others who came to congratulate the band were Lord and Lady Dickinson, of Painswick, and Sir Francis Hyatt.

Afterwards the band, who had, of course, been without any kind of food or drink throughout the day, partook of refreshments at the Golden Hart, where a gathering of ringers took place, and renewed congratulations were extended and acknowledged by Mr. Wright.

The official details of the performance will be found in our peal column, and the best thanks of the ringers are expressed to the two steeplekeepers, Mr. F. Cole and Mr. H. Birt, for all they did to secure that the bells went well throughout so long a trial. The performance is also a great testimonial to Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, for the efficient work they put in on the bells when they relunged them in 1909, for, despite a great amount of ringing on them since, they continue to 'go' admirably.

Many big performances have been accomplished at Painswick, and next week we hope to be able to give some particulars of them.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS IN HISTORY.

'A SILLY FICTION.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is it not time that the silly fiction was dropped that the A.S.C.Y. is the leading ringing society? In the time of Benjamin Annable the College Youths were the leading ringers in London, and, I suppose, except for the Norwich Scholars, the leading ringers in England. But Annable died in 1756, and since then they have been living on his merits. In no one thing—neither in method ringing, nor composition, nor organisation, nor belfry reform—have they led the Exercise. In all these things they have lagged woefully behind the best of the country bands. Nor, according to history, are they the oldest ringing society. The Society of College Youths was, indeed, founded in 1637, but after a long and honourable career it fell on evil times, and in 1788 a meeting was held and the whole thing was wound up and finished. The then Master of the Cumberland Society paid the outstanding debts on condition that the society's property was handed over to him. The present Ancient Society of College Youths is descended from one of the Junior Societies of College Youths which from time to time broke away from the parent body.

I was about to sign my name to the above, when I bethought me that I have one or two friends among the College Youths—big, hefty chaps—and prudence suggests that on the whole I had better remain

FITTLEWORTH BELLS.

WHERE CANON SIMPSON EXPERIMENTED.

The bells of Fittleworth Church, Sussex, were reopened on Saturday, November 1st, after restoration. Fittleworth is of special interest to ringers, as it was here that Canon Simpson was Rector at the time he was investigating the harmonic principle of bell tuning, now associated with his name, and the bells bear the marks of his handiwork upon them.

Some time ago it was found necessary to have the frame restored, and, thanks to an anonymous donor, the completion of this work has been rendered possible. The wood frame is now resting on iron girders which are anchored to the walls of the tower—not only making the bells more staple, but also giving added strength to the structure.

The work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have completed it to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

The local band opened the ringing at 3 p.m. Mr. Matthews, of Fittleworth, and Mr. P. H. Doick, of Pulborough, arranged the attendance of visiting ringers, and the following towers were represented: Billingshurst, Heene, Kirdford and Pulborough, with Mr. Cyril T. Johnston representing the Croydon Foundry, and Mr. A. W. Grove, secretary of the Western Division, representing the Sussex County Association, to which Fittleworth is affiliated.

The Rector (the Rev. Lucey) kindly entertained all the visiting and local ringers, churchwardens and organist to tea at the Village Hall. The Rector thanked the visiting ringers, and hoped they would often come now that the bells were going again.

Mr. Matthews, on behalf of the local band, expressed their appreciation, and hoped they would in the near future treat them to a peal.

Mr. A. Greenfield, Pulborough, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his kind hospitality, and this, needless to say, was unanimously carried.

A service of thanksgiving was held at 5.30, conducted by the Rector, after which the bells were kept going in various methods until eight o'clock.

EX-SERVICE MEN'S PEAL AT HANDBRIDGE.

This peal was arranged as the result of a chance remark at a poorly attended branch meeting at Tilston, Cheshire. The remark was that the members adrift were 'leadswingers,' a popular slang term used by the troops. When counting up the local ringers it was found that Handbridge and the Cathedral could muster a Treble Bob band of ex-Service men—otherwise professional 'lead-swingers.' With the help of Mr. G. Lindoff (formerly of the Royal Engineers) it was made possible to ring the ex-Service men's peal for the 12th anniversary of the Armistice. The striking of the peal was excellent throughout, and was a credit to 'the lads of the old brigade.'

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

CELEBRATION OF THE 293RD ANNIVERSARY.

Once again a gathering of considerably over 200 ringers assembled in London to celebrate the anniversary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, when on Saturday the 293rd anniversary of the founding of the society was commemorated. Ringers were present from many parts of the country, attracted by the opportunity of meeting old friends and showing their respect to the venerable organisation, of which so many of them are proud to be members. There was ringing at various city churches during the afternoon, including St. Lawrence Jewry, where the bells have recently been restored after a silence of about 30 years, St. Andrew's, Holborn, St. Magnus', London Bridge, and St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark. At five o'clock the ringers concentrated on St. Michael's, Peterborough, College Hill, which stands on the site of the church, destroyed in the Great Fire, from which they originally took their name. Here the annual service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Bullock Webster, who again extended a hearty welcome to the society.

ETERNAL MIND BEHIND METHODS.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who filled the gap at the last minute, preached from the words, 'So that I might finish my course with joy' (Acts xx. 24). Three words in the text, he said, were of outstanding interest and importance to Christian people, and particularly to Christian bellringers. The first was the word 'course.' With that word they were at once initiated into the mysteries of divine working; God worked in course. It was something that man really had no hand in. There was the course of the sun, the course of the waxing and the waning of the moon, the course of the seasons, the course of our mighty rivers, all working in the divine order. Man kept that order in his arrangement of things in this life, and they as church bellringers knew the primary importance of the word 'course.' It seemed to set them at once on a different footing altogether to those who had not yet been able to get beyond ringing call changes. Call changes were something man-made. They must not think that he despised those who rang call changes; he admired those who rang them well—he rang them himself for a good many years—but the difference between ringing call changes and a plain course of Grand-sire Doubles was just the difference between something that was entirely man's work and that which was God's. He thought they would agree with him that, when they were initiated into the science and art of change ringing, and when they really sat down to study it, they must be impressed with the symmetry of a course of a method and the way it worked out from the beginning to the end. They talked about people who invented methods, but they knew they did not invent methods—they discovered them. They were already there, and God had given some men the gift and power to discover them; they were there, coming from the mind of the Eternal for them to discover. In a course they had a tremendous foundation to help them in the ringing of a peal. The peal or touch was only an extended course, and it was only by making themselves thoroughly acquainted with the course that they were able to complete the peal. Next, said the preacher, there was the word 'finish.' To 'finish' struck the note of completeness; it did not mean just scrambling through; it meant maintaining a high standard to the end. The trouble with so many of them in the world to-day was that they were only too anxious to get to the end, and they did not really make a good finish. There was something wondrously, unsurpassingly grand in the one Greek word which our Lord uttered on the cross, and which meant in English, 'It is finished.' It was perhaps the grandest word ever spoken. It was not something just coming to an end; it was something which had been grandly carried through to a perfect finish. Then they came to the third word, 'joy.' To finish in joy meant to finish in truth; it struck the difference between just ending and finishing, and he supposed there was no joy like that which came from much endeavour, begun again and again, and at last coming to a real finish. He thought, perhaps, in their practising it would be very much better if, instead of smashing through, they stopped again and even again and started afresh, because it put the right test upon human temperament. It was a great thing to be able to say, 'That is not good enough, we will stop and start again.' These, said the preacher, were the thoughts which he got himself from the text, and he ventured to hand them on to his hearers as bellringers. He wanted them, as men who were trying to follow the Lord Jesus Christ in this life, to realise that the course which St. Paul was speaking of was the course of this life, and the course of this life was the plain course; it was the course in which they had to do their best in order to carry through to a finish the course which God had planned for them hereafter; it was a course in which they made many mistakes, and in which they had often to seek forgiveness. It was a great thing to be able to say, 'I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.' If they could say this, there was laid up for them the crown of life, which they might call the perfect peal, which awaited them in the life of the world to come.

In the place of the concluding voluntary, a course of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells.

A REPRESENTATIVE COMPANY.

The dinner was served at the Bridge House Restaurant, London Bridge, a company of 230 sitting down to a satisfying repast. The chair was taken by the Master (Mr. Charles J. Choofet), who was supported at the head of the table by Canon G. F. Coleridge, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Guild), Rev. E. C. Bedford (Rector of St. Andrew's, Holborn), Mr. Edwin H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. J. Mathieson, Dr. E. L. Taylor (Sevenoaks), Mr. Stafford H. Green, Rev. F. L. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Guild), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild), Dr. L. Joyce (Reading), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer of the Oxford Guild), Mr. Skinner (Dean's verger of St. Paul's), Rev. C. C. Crawley, Mr. F. W. Sergison (St. Clement's Youths). The officers of the society present were Mr. J. Bullock (past Master) in the vice-chair, Messrs. C. W. Pipe and C. W. Roberts (stewards), A. A. Hughes (treasurer), W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary), C. F. Winney and W. Prime (trustees). The only lady present was Mrs. Wilkins, of Bristol. The company also included Messrs. J. D. Matthews (Master of the Cumberland Youths), F. Mitchell (hon. secretary of the Kent County Association), R. T. Hibbert (secretary of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), C. Kippin (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association), J. W. Jones (hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association), E. Guise (hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), F. W. Rogers (hon. secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), and there were visitors from as far away as Sheffield, Leicester, Bristol, Bath, Glamorgan, Loughborough, Bridport, Oxford, Cambridge, as well as from all the counties round London. Among the old members of the society were Mr. E. Wallage, who has completed sixty years as a 'Youth,' and Mr. J. Rowbotham, T. Benny, W. D. Smith, and, most remarkable of all, four ringers from one tower, St. Mary's, Walthamstow—Messrs. W. B. Manning, George Grimwade (aged 84), R. Maynard, sen., and J. H. Wilkins, who have completed fifty years of membership. They were given a specially hearty reception when they 'took wine' with the Master in the course of the meal.

After the toast of 'The King' had been honoured, the Master proposed 'The Church.' He said it behoved them as ringers and members of the Church to do their best to maintain Sunday service ringing (hear, hear). Sometimes it entailed a little sacrifice to attend regularly, but they should do it if they could. Sunday service ringing, he said, should be as good as possible, which meant that they must pay attention to the striking. The primary use of bells, as they all knew, was to call people to divine worship, and what the outside public noticed most was the striking of the bells. They did not know or care what was rung, and it was better to ring call changes or plain methods well than to ring Surprise methods badly (hear, hear). He would say, 'Do not turn divine service ringing into a practice, and remember that you are ringing for the honour and glory of God' (hear, hear). The Church, like the State and other institutions, was passing through troublous times, with dissensions within and controversies without; they could only pray that she might have a happy issue out of her difficulties (hear, hear). They had with them that night eminent preachers and members of the Church: some were ringers, and some were not, but they all took an interest in their bells and their ringers, and they were indebted to them for the use of the bells for practice and for an occasional peal (hear, hear).

CHURCH SHOULD TREAT RINGERS MORE SERIOUSLY.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, whose name was coupled with the toast, said the Master had given them some very good advice and expressed some very sound sentiments. In drinking that toast, he said, they were not drinking particularly to the clergy, but to the whole Church, of which they, as ringers, were a part. It did, however, occur to him that it might be well to have a toast to the clergy, for they seemed to be getting into a very poor way (laughter). They had had to come to a humble person like himself to fill a pulpit in the City of London. It was the third time in the last month that he had had to step into a breach, because it had been impossible for someone else to preach to ringers, or someone had been frightened at the last moment, or some other reason. He hoped that clergy were not getting frightened of the ringers, and that the ringers were doing nothing to make them so (laughter). They might well drink to the toast of the clergy, therefore, and hope that at that time next year they would have better health, and that one of the London clergy would be able to preach at their service. Proceeding, the speaker asked them all to remember that when they were talking of the Church they were talking about something divine, a divine institution for all the sons of men, but they thought that night more particularly of the relation of that institution to themselves as church bellringers, and of themselves to that institution, and the point he wanted to make was that both the Church should treat the ringers and the ringers should consider the Church more seriously. Some of them no doubt read what was written about church bellringers in the Empire number of 'The Times' in May, and there were some of them, anyhow, who felt that they were not treated in quite that dignified way that they ought to have been (hear, hear). They were no longer a people to be talked about in a funny way, and they resented it (applause). They were Church officers, and they felt that they wanted to offer themselves in the best way they could to do their work in the Church. They wanted their actual ringing to be the best they could give, and, if they could ring Surprise well, then he felt it an honour to be able to do so instead of ringing a plain method, although he fully agreed with the Master in what he said about the first stage. Further, they felt that the bells, which were the property of the Church, should be kept up in the very best manner possible, and that was what he meant by the Church and the ringers treating the whole question seriously (applause).

THE PERFECT TOWER.

Canon Coleridge, as for many years past, proposed the toast of the evening, 'The Ancient Society of College Youths.' He said Mr. Jeukyn had called their attention to what was written in 'The Times' Empire number about bells and ringers. Since then there had issued from the Church Assembly a report on the preservation of ancient churches. There was an enormous amount in that report which was simply magnificent. It dealt with all sorts of subjects, and when it referred to organs it gave most excellent advice. It recognised at once that the modern mechanism of organs was infinitely to be preferred to ancient mechanism, and then it went on to refer to bells. If only it had said that modern mechanism in the belfry was to be preferred to the old mechanism, the writers of the report would have done a very good work (hear, hear). Instead of that they laid it down that nothing whatever must be done except under the advice of a competent architect. Was there such a man existing in relation to bells? He doubted it. Their old friend, Mr. Phillott, was one, but he was gone. The hanging of bells was an engineering job, and it would not do, as the report recommended, to splice up an old wood frame when it decayed, and to put in nothing new except where it was absolutely necessary to keep the shape of the frame as it was before. A great many church authorities made a great mistake in going straight to an architect when they wanted their bells restored. Canon Coleridge went on to say that some little time ago an architect applied to him for some information as to what was necessary in a bell tower which he was called upon to erect. He went to considerable trouble to inform him, and sent him about twelve pages of typewritten foolscap as to how he ought to build his tower. Among other things he told him to make a stairway wide enough for the fattest man he ever knew to get up in comfort, and high enough the tallest man he ever thought of to get up without bumping his head if he stood upright (laughter). He told him about the lighting and the ventilation, and he told him to put the sound openings right in the top of the tower, and many other things. Some little time after, he received a letter from the architect telling him that he (Canon Coleridge) had made one mistake, and that he proposed to put narrow windows where the bells were for the sake of light. He (the Canon) had replied that it was quite unnecessary if he had provided, as he had been told he should do, electric light in the bell chamber. He did not know what the architect had done, as he had not seen the tower since it was completed, but he believed, if the whole of the suggestions he made had been embodied in the design, it would have been the best tower in England from the ringers' point of view (hear, hear). Such a tower, however, had never yet been seen, and he doubted if it ever would (laughter). Canon Coleridge added later that he was told that, after all, the slits had been put in the walls of the bell chamber, and so his perfect tower had yet to be built (laughter).

THE COCKERILL AND HIS HEALTHY BROOD.

Proceeding, Canon Coleridge said: 'I have talked to you about this report. There is another report that comes to us every week in the pages of "The Ringing World" (hear, hear). Every true ringer ought to read that publication. If he does he sees many things in it which he rejoices at; he reads of the doings of others, and hopes some day to be able to do the same; he reads of those delightful tours in which peals to the number of ten or twelve a week are rung—a wonderful example of pertinacity, especially when rung, as they often are, in difficult methods. I thought,' proceeded Canon Coleridge, 'that I would have a little turn myself this year, after two years on the shelf. I was very kindly allowed to join a party in the West of England. From a peal-ringing point of view it was not successful—I do not think it could be attributed to the cider (laughter)—we were unlucky, but we had a very enjoyable time. These tours do a tremendous lot of good in exciting interest wherever we go. Then there has been that short tour to Devonshire, in the course of which the first peal was rung at Buckfast Abbey, an uncommonly difficult job—one of the most difficult that has ever been done, I think, because you have to ring in a little gallery, and you look down over the parapet to the ground about fifty feet below, something like Merton College, Oxford. I am quite sure we shall congratulate any band who succeeds in ringing a peal there' (hear, hear). Continuing, Canon Coleridge quoted, from a recent issue of 'Punch,' a parody on 'The Bells of St. Clement's,' relating to the extermination of pigeons in the neighbourhood of St. Paul's Cathedral. The authorities, he said, could do what they liked with the pigeons, but, he added, 'there is one they will not exterminate, and that is' (Continued at foot of next column.)

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

VISIT TO 'GEORGE ELIOT'S' BIRTHPLACE.

Chilvers Coton, where the last quarterly meeting was held, is closely associated with Mary Ann Evans, the famous novelist, who wrote under the nom de plume of 'George Eliot.' She was born and lived the first twenty-one years of her life in the parish, and in many of her books are descriptions of places in the locality. Chilvers Coton Church was called 'Shepperton' in 'Scenes from Clerical Life,' and the church is aptly described by her, although certain internal alterations have been undertaken since her time. She describes the 'little flight of steps, with their wooden rail, running up the outer wall and leading to the school children's gallery.' This is one of the 'dear old quaintnesses.' 'The substantial stone tower looks at you through its intelligent eye, the clock.'

The bells in the tower of her time were three—two dated 1616 and the other 1639. In 1907 these were recast and formed numbers 4, 5 and 6 of a new ring of eight by Messrs. Taylor and Co., with the tenor 13 cwt. 1 qr. 24 lb.

The inscriptions on the bells are:—

1. Glory to God in the highest.
2. On earth peace, goodwill toward men.
3. Make them to be numbered with Thy Saints. (Scholars Bell.)
- 4.—Colorem Chrste patiat tibi Rex sonus iste, 1616. Recast 1907. (Let this sound be pleasing to Thee, O Christ, King of Heaven.)
- 5.—I. H. S. Nazarenus Rex Judæorum fili Dei misere mei, 1639. Recast 1907. (Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews, Son of God, be merciful to me.)
- 6.—God save the King, 1616. Recast 1907.
- 7.—Ring out the false, ring in the true.
- 8.—Ring out the darkness of the land.

Ring in the Christ that is to be.

The date on the old bell frame, 'Anno 1601 T.C.T.C.', has been cut out and mounted.

This splendid peal of eight bells was set going at 3.10 p.m., and various methods were rung until 4.30, when a halt was called. A service was then held in the church conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. A. B. Davies, M.A.), who gave an inspiring address. The Guild's form was used, and the hymns, 'How sweet the name of Jesus sounds,' and 'Ye servants of the Lord,' were sung, Mr. Norman Dodds officiating at the organ.

The tea which followed was served in the Coventry Road School. The Vicar was voted to the chair for the business meeting, and extended a hearty welcome to those present.

Apologies were received from the president (Rev. J. L. White, Vicar of Nuneaton), Rev. J. H. Dingley (Vicar of Bulkington), and Mr. F. W. Perrons (one of the Central Council representatives). It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Rugby, and the November meeting at Shilton. The December meeting was dispensed with owing to its proximity to Christmas.

Two new members were elected, and the election of two others who were made non-resident members prior to a peal was ratified.

Mr. H. Argyle proposed that Mr. A. Wilkerson, a former secretary, who is leaving the district for Weston-super-Mare, be made an hon. life member for his services to the Guild.—This was seconded and carried unanimously.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar and the ladies who had provided the tea. The Vicar suitably responded.

After some handbell ringing, a return was made to the belfry, where ringing was resumed. Thirty-five members and friends attended the meeting, and the following towers were represented: Allesley, Arley, Bulkington, Burton-on-Trent, Derby, Erdington, Higham, Husbands Bosworth, King's Norton, Leamington, Nuneaton, Shilton, Stoke, Warwick and Uttoxeter, and the local band. The methods rung during the meeting were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Forward Major, Duffield Major, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major.

Shortly before nine o'clock the bells were lowered in peal, and so ended what all considered a most enjoyable meeting. D. E. L.

our old Cockerill' (loud laughter and applause). They would not exterminate him, and they would not exterminate the healthy brood which he had nurtured and brought up (applause). He had acted the part of father as well as mother to that society as they had known it now for many years. Thoughtful men in the society were looking to the future with anxiety to know who would succeed their old friend, Mr. Cockerill, but he felt inclined to tell them not to trouble; there were plenty of beans in the old chap yet (laughter and loud applause). He trusted he would go on for many years, and that the members of the society, whether in that city or scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land would uphold the dignity of the old society of which that day they were keeping the 293rd anniversary. He was glad to see present a member with 60 years' membership to his credit, and several with over fifty years, and he trusted the society would grow and flourish and abound until time should be no more (loud applause).

The health of Mr. Cockerill was drunk with musical honours amid great enthusiasm. Afterwards, a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells.

SUFFOLK GUILD.THE PRESIDENCY.

A quarterly meeting of the above Guild was recently held at Fressingfield, and was attended by about twenty members from the towers of Ipswich, Ufford, Debenham, Wilby, Laxfield and Bungay, the local band also turning out at full strength. Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock, the methods rung including Bob Major, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Stedman Triples. Tea was provided at the Fox and Goose Hotel through the generosity of the Rector (Rev. Canon Goldsmith), who presided at the business meeting which followed.

A vote of condolence with Mr. E. F. Poppy upon the death of his wife was passed, the secretary being instructed to convey to him the expression of the members' sympathy.

It was deemed necessary to find a new secretary for the Fressingfield District, and Mr. Thos. Moyes, of Wilby, was elected to fill that position.

The presidency of the Guild having been rendered vacant by the departure of Archdeacon Farmiloe, to take up duties abroad, it was resolved to ask Canon Goldsmith to act in that capacity, pending the appointment of a new Archdeacon for the Sudbury Archdeaconry, and after some persuasion the Canon consented to this arrangement.

He invited the Guild to hold a special meeting at Fressingfield some time next summer, intimating that he should like it to take the form of a garden party interspersed with ringing, games of bowls and tea on the lawn.

Needless to say, everyone agreed with the idea, and thanked the Canon in anticipation.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Eye in November.

A quarterly meeting was held at Eye on Saturday, November 8th. Ringing began shortly after three o'clock, and continued until 4.45, when the members adjourned to the Commercial Hotel for tea, about twenty sitting down, including the Vicar (Rev. J. R. Vincent), who, however, had to leave early to take a service. Mr. Rumsey was voted to the chair for the business meeting, which followed.

Arising out of the minutes, the General Secretary stated that a new Archdeacon of Sudbury had been appointed, and while it appeared to be the general wish that Canon Goldsmith should continue as president of the Guild, it was only fitting that the Bishop of the diocese should be consulted on the matter.

It was resolved that the general secretary approach the Bishop in this connection.

Three new members were elected, and it was decided to hold a meeting at Stutton and Holbrook during December, to be followed by one at Halesworth as soon as convenient in the new year. Due notice of this will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

The members afterwards repaired to the tower for further ringing, the methods ranging from Bob Major to London Surprise, thus enabling almost all to practise or attempt something to help them a little further forward in the art.

ECHO OF THE SOHAM CANCELLED MEETING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—At the meeting of the Herts Association, held at Hitchin on Saturday, October 25th, I was asked to explain, to satisfy a friend—and I hope still to remain friends—the actual reason of cancellation of the Ely meeting at Soham. Here is an actual extract from the letter I received from the Vicar of Soham: 'I am glad to give permission for the use of the bells provided that one of the officials of your company is present during the ringing, and the society will undertake to make good any damage that may be done by the use of the bells. I must ask you to assure me on this point before making final arrangements.' As explained in a previous letter, and in my interview with the general secretary and some of the committee, I trust this may make a happy ending to somewhat of a misunderstanding.—Yours truly,

FRANK WARRINGTON.

CHURCHWARDEN FOR 65 YEARS.

At Ambrosden, Oxfordshire, on Saturday, November 8th, a fully-muffled 720 of Grandsire Doubles was rung on the bells of the Parish Church at the funeral of the late W. H. P. Hadland, for the last 65 years churchwarden of the parish: H. Auslin 1, F. Neale 2, M. Turner 3, H. Gregory 4, F. Sharp (conductor) 5, M. H. Tuffrey 6. First 720 by ringers of the treble and tenor. Mr. Hadland is reputed to have held office as churchwarden longer than any on record.

HOLT, DENBIGHSHIRE.—On Tuesday, November 4th, at the Parish Church of St. Chad, 720 Chester Surprise Minor: W. Thomas 1, J. W. Clarke 2, R. Sperring 3, J. Swindley 4, J. Morgan 5, H. W. Wilde (conductor) 6. First 720 of Chester Surprise in North Wales. Also 720 Chester Surprise Minor: H. W. Wilde 1, A. E. Richards 2, J. W. Clarke 3, J. Swindley 4, R. Sperring 5, J. Morgan (conductor) 6.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.LEWISHAM DISTRICT'S ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of Lewisham District was held at St. Mary's, Lewisham, on Saturday, November 1st, and, despite inclement weather, was well attended, members being present from Beckenham, Bromley, Chislehurst, Crayford, Dartford, Eltham, St. John's, Deptford, St. John's, Erith, Christ Church, Erith, Gravesend, Greenwich, Woolwich, and the local band. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m., and the bells were in constant use during the afternoon and evening, in all the standard methods, with some rounds for the beginners.

Service was conducted by the Rev. A. Marsh (curate), who also gave a very interesting address. He extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the Vicar (Rev. A. L. Preston), who was unavoidably absent, being at that very moment at Southwark Cathedral for his induction into a canonry.

After the service, the members visited the Institute Hall, to partake of high tea, generously provided by the Vicar. The curate and the churchwarden (Mr. J. A. Robertson) occupied the head of the table, some sixty ringers enjoying the good things provided. Afterwards, the Rev. A. Marsh having to leave to attend to other duties, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to him for officiating at the service, for his address, and for his presence at the table.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. J. A. Robertson presiding, the secretary read a report of the past year's work, and this was adopted.

Four ringers were elected members of the association, and the election of two members previous to peals was confirmed.

Mr. A. G. Hill (hon. secretary), and Messrs. E. Barnett, jun., and W. Smith, the retiring representatives on the association committee, were re-elected, no other nominations being made.

Mr. L. Emery extended an invitation to the members to hold their next meeting at SS. Peter and Paul's, Bromley, on Saturday, January 24th. This invitation, which was made on behalf of the Vicar of Bromley, was gratefully accepted. Mr. Emery also stated that the reopening of Bromley bells after retuning, etc., would be on Saturday, November 15th, and the bells would be available for ringing in the afternoon, and after the service till 7 p.m., provided that the founders had completed their work by that date. This was nearly, but not quite, certain to be the case, and all ringers would be welcome.

Mr. F. W. Thornton referred to the institution, that day, of the Rev. A. L. Preston, Vicar of St. Mary's, Lewisham, as a Canon Residentiary of Southwark Cathedral, and of the Rev. E. Pickering, Rector of Woolwich, as an honorary Canon. Both these gentlemen, he said, were good friends of ringers and ringing, both as to their own hands and to the association, and he (Mr. Thornton) suggested that three cheers should be given to signify the members' congratulations on this deserved and signal honour.—The company rose and cheered as only ringers can.

The chairman was proposed as an hon. member of the association, and was unanimously elected with applause. He replied with words such as ringers delight in, but seldom hear from sources outside those immediately connected with the Exercise.

A discussion followed concerning the proposed appointment of a Ringing Master for the District. It was agreed that such an officer was necessary, and Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., was appointed to the officer for the ensuing year.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his generous hospitality; to the organist for his services; to the vergers and steeplekeeper for their excellent preparations; and to the ladies who had helped at tea.—This was carried with applause, and a similar vote of thanks to the chairman brought a successful meeting to a close. The tower then again became the centre of attraction for those able to stay a while longer.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.GRIMSBY DISTRICT.

At a Grimsby District meeting held at Scunthorpe the following towers were represented: Elsham, Burton-on-Stather, Bigby, Brigg, Ulceby, Grimsby, St. Andrew's, Barton-on-Humber, and the local members, also friends from Lincoln. The beautiful peal of eight bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening. The service was conducted by the Rev. Charles Steele (Vicar), who gave an interesting address. 'Tea was awaiting the members at Potts' Cafe, to which 17 members did justice. The president (the Rev. H. T. Parry) took the chair at the business meeting, when a proposal was made that at each district meeting a method should be chosen to be practised at the following meeting. It was pointed out that this would give members the opportunity to look it up in the meantime. After some discussion the matter was left over till the annual district meeting.

Mr. M. Walker proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his address, to the organist and to the caterers, and to those who made the arrangements.—This was carried, and a hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. J. Bray, to the president for presiding, concluded a very pleasant meeting.

LEICESTERSHIRE ARCHÆOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

LECTURE ON BELLS BY MR. ERNEST MORRIS.

On Tuesday afternoon, October 28th, in St. Martin's Church House, a bi-monthly meeting of the Leicestershire Archaeological Society was held, followed by an interesting lantern lecture entitled 'Church bells and the founder's art, famous bells of the world, etc.' The chair was taken by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, of Loughborough, and the lecture was delivered by Mr. Ernest Morris, general hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association.

In his opening remarks, the Chairman stated that his father, Mr. John W. Taylor, sen., was for many years a member of the society, and he himself had followed in his footsteps, although for business and other reasons he had not been present at many meetings. He had the greatest pleasure in introducing the lecturer, Mr. Ernest Morris, as a personal acquaintance, and one well known first and foremost as a ringer of exceptional ability, who had rung all sorts and conditions of bells, and many long and intricate peals. He was the general hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association, and displayed a most remarkable enthusiasm in all things campanological. As an historian, he had written at an early age the history of St. Margaret's Church, Leicester, and also had in MSS. a complete history for the revision of North's 'Church Bells of Leicestershire,' which he trusted would some day be published. His crowning effort, however, was a volume now in the hands of the publishers, entitled, 'The history and art of change ringing.' This would be a monumental work of nearly 700 pages, profusely illustrated, and covering every side and phase of this intricate art.

Mr. Morris, in his brief opening remarks, stated that this lecture—owing to time limit—could not include an historic survey, but would be a practical demonstration of the subject. He then proceeded to show by lantern slides the various processes of bell founding, sand-blasting, tuning, frame erecting, hanging, etc., and followed with examples of ancient and modern founders' marks, decorations and inscriptions. 'Ringing the changes' at St. Paul's, London, bell 'mauling' at Seville, Spain, bell 'treading' at Notre Dame, Paris, bell 'thumping' in China, and tolling from trees in Africa were shown, as well as the great bell of Moscow and the several famous carillon towers at home and in Belgium.

The lecture was well received, and a hearty vote of thanks to the lecturer was proposed by Mr. G. F. Farnham, M.A., F.S.A., vice-president of the society, seconded by Major W. J. Freer, D.L., V.D., F.S.A., who stated that all were gratified to know Mr. Morris had revised North's great work.

Mr. Morris, in reply, stated that he was sorry not to have been able to give them any historic data, but that could form a special paper on the subject if and when the committee would care to accept it from him.—This was carried with acclamation.

Mr. S. Russell (iron founder, of Leicester) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Denison Taylor for presiding, and in a brief speech gave an interesting outline of the history of metals. This was seconded by the Rev. Canon S. T. Winckley, M.A., F.S.A. (Master of Wyggeston Hospital), who, in passing, remarked that he knew Mr. Morris as a personal friend, whom they were proud to have on the Bishop's Advisory Committee (for granting of faculties) as hon. adviser on any matters arising re bells. He was pleased and proud to meet Mr. Taylor, and remarked that it was good to have a chairman who 'know his subject'!

'BELLS FOR SUNDAY WORSHIP.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—If 'Church Service Ringer' will write under his own name I will go fully into the circumstances which resulted in the quarter-peal of Stedman Triples being rung at Tickhill on October 26th. It was a gross misrepresentation of the facts of the case, and was, I rather think, written with the deliberate intention of trying to cause mischief.—Yours faithfully,

J. E. CAWSE.

BELLS FULLY MANNED.

Dear Sir,—I, for one, would be very pleased if 'Church Service Ringer' could let us know which three towers were left short-handed on the occasion of the 'mixed band's' recent quarter-peal at Tickhill. I should like to point out that there was only one from Doncaster, leaving eleven there to man the bells; two from Arksey, where very often there are ten or twelve in the tower for the service ringing, and the service in question was, I believe, no exception to the rule, as, from what I understand, all the eight bells were rung. I don't know how they are fixed at Warsop, but I should think there would be enough ringers left for the four bells there, and that leaves only Conisborough, who, I daresay, were short. The conductor could not be accused of leaving any tower in the lurch, as he is at present unattached.

Also, I should like to know what honours are gained by those who stay at home instead of making it a point to be in the belfry at every Sunday service they can possibly get to. Is 'Sunday Service Ringer' a regular attender?—Yours faithfully,

E. COOPER.

ARMISTICE ANNIVERSARY SERVICE RINGING.

They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old,
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.

Laurence Binyon.

THE PAINSWICK PEAL.

What is the 'twelve-bell record'? This question is raised by a letter, which appears in another column, from Mr. C. T. Coles, hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, as the result of the description applied to the peal of Grandsire Cinques rung at Painswick on Saturday week. Mr. Coles' argument is, in brief, that a twelve-bell peal can only be a peal of Maximus, and, that being so, the twelve-bell record is still the peal of Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne on August 5th last year. When it comes to a question of record performances it is only right that these matters should be treated seriously, and for that reason the claim that is made by Mr. Coles is one for serious consideration. On the face of it, the simple question appears to us to be was or was not the Painswick performance a twelve-bell peal? If it was, then, in our view, it was a twelve-bell record; if it wasn't—well, where does Mr. James George come in, after having rung a 26 3/4 cwt. tenor for 11 hrs. 36 mins.? Surely it cannot be suggested that he did not take part in the peal? The facts that the twelve bells were rung throughout the peal, and, while eleven bells provided the changes, the tenor was essential to the effective completion of each change, place it, in our opinion, clearly in the twelve-bell category. Mr. Coles' argument that a twelve-bell peal can only be rung in a twelve-bell method puts a limit on the expression 'twelve-bell peal,' which, we think, will not be generally accepted.

It might be as well, perhaps, if the Central Council were to classify the records, and then obviously Cinques and Maximus would be definitely separated. As a matter of fact, in all such performances so many different factors have to be taken into account that it is difficult, if not impossible, to make comparisons between them, and the only thing the Exercise has recognised up to now has been the number of changes rung, and the number of bells engaged in ringing the peal. Neither the time occupied, nor the weight and 'go' of the bells, nor the method rung, enter into consideration—so far as records go it is a question of the longest length. At the moment the longest length that has been rung in which twelve bells have been employed is the peal at Painswick, but that does not detract one jot from the greatness of the achievement at Ashton-under-Lyne. While one peal was two thousand changes longer than the other, they are not in the same category and no question of comparison between the performances, qua performances, arises. What remains to be settled, however, is whether or not the Painswick peal was a twelve-bell peal, and in settling the question let there be no confusion between the expressions 'a twelve-bell peal' and 'a peal in a twelve-bell method.'

Having said this, let us add our congratulations to the men of the Painswick Youths upon their really great performance. Every time some new record length is set up there is a feeling that this, at last, must be the limit, but every time others are found prepared to put their skill and endurance to the test and show that the final word has not been said. These long peals—and they are long peals indeed when they last nearly round the clock—are remarkable exhibitions of pertinacity, stamina, and concentration. To the conductor, Mr. Albert Wright, the moving spirit of so many long peals at this famous belfry, and to all the band the congratulations of the Exercise will be extended upon a wonderful achievement, but perhaps to Mr. James George more than to anyone will these expressions go. We all know that long peals are not exclusively the prerogative of youth, as are the records in most other pursuits, but for a man within a few days of his 77th birthday to ring a 26½ cwt. bell for 11½ hours without rest or refreshment is almost beyond belief. Yet Mr. George has done it. For a man thirty years his junior it would be a great achievement; his performance is a marvellous feat and demonstrates not only his exceptional physical fitness, but his ability and judgment in handling a bell.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.SNOWDON DINNER 'TOO ELABORATE.'

The monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Penistone on Saturday, November 8th, when the towers represented were Aston-under-Lyne, Bolsterstone, Cawthorne, Darfield, Ecclesfield, Felkirk, Handsworth, Hoylandswaine, Royston, Sandal, Shelley, Wath and the local company. Ringing in various methods of Major, Triples and Minor was continued from 3 to 5 p.m., when tea was served in the schoolroom, followed by a short business meeting, at which the Vicar (Rev. E. B. Carleton) presided, and welcomed the association to Penistone.

Five new members were elected, and it was decided that the next meeting should be a joint meeting with the Yorkshire Association (Southern District), the Sheffield and the Doncaster Society at Rawmarsh on the second Saturday in December.

A discussion arose on the Snowdon Commemoration Dinner, the general opinion being that it was too elaborate for the majority of ringers to attend.

It was finally agreed to ask the committee of the Yorkshire Association to try and arrange a meeting at Ilkley (where Jasper Snowdon is buried) some time next summer, and to make it as nearly as possible meet the desires of the majority of ringers, so that it may be termed the 'Snowdon Commemoration Ringers' Rally.'

Mr. Rayner moved the vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the ladies who provided tea.

Further ringing was afterwards continued until 9 p.m.

FORTY-NINE YEARS A RINGER.

The band at Christ Church, North Shields, has suffered a severe loss by the death, after a long illness, of Mr. Clark Edward Waugh, aged 59. He had been a member of the band nearly 50 years, having commenced his ringing career at the early age of ten, and as his father had been a ringer, and his grandfather verger and beadle at the same church, the family connection with Christ Church extended over almost a century.

Mr. Waugh had only one peal, in 1896, to his credit, but he was a regular attender for Sunday service ringing, and also on special occasions, and, being of a cheerful disposition, he was loved and respected by his fellow-ringers.

At the funeral, on Monday last, a short touch on handbells was rung at the graveside, and in the evening a muffled peal of Stedman Caters was rung on the bells of Christ Church, particulars of which will be found in the peal columns.

Deepest sympathy is extended to his widow in her bereavement.

PASSING OF A HAGBOURNE WORTHY.DEATH OF MR. E. E. NAPPER.

Visitors to East Hagbourne will miss a familiar figure now that Mr. Ernest Edwin Napper has passed away.

Born the youngest of a family of thirteen at the Fleur de lys, he had been the popular landlord there since 1902, the house having been in the Napper family for over two hundred years.

Practically all the village organisations have had their headquarters there, including the football club, cricket club, the local branch of the British Legion and the St. Andrew's Bellringing Guild. The deceased was one of the original change ringing band first formed in the village, the company including two of his brothers, two cousins, and others. He rang a fair number of peals of Grand-sire and Stedman Triples with the local band, and also with the late Rev. F. E. Robinson and J. W. Washbrook at various towers, including Bishopstone, Great Tew, Shipton-under-Wychwood, etc.

A perfect striker, he preferred to ring a small bell, but when persuaded could ring a heavy bell with the best, as behoved a man of 6ft. in height and about 16 stone in weight.

He passed away on Saturday, November 8th, at the age of 70 years, and the interment took place on Tuesday week.

A very large number of people attended the funeral, including many brother ringers, among them Messrs. F. Napper, D. Napper (cousins), W. E. Napper, J. S. Napper, J. F. Napper, W. H. Napper (nephews), W. J. Napper, C. W. Allen, J. E. Butler, E. A. Butler and J. Bower. Eight nephews acted as bearers. The bells were rung half-muffled before the service, and also while the cortege proceeded to the cemetery, and again after the interment. In the evening eight members of the local band rang a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Triples in 50 mins.: A. W. Cox 1, W. V. Webb 2, H. K. White 3, W. Lambell 4, T. East (conductor) 5, J. Sawyer 6, A. H. Webb 7, J. Hitchman 8.

ANOTHER RING OF SIX FOR LINCOLNSHIRE.

Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have added a treble to the bells at St. Mary's Church, Tydd, Lincolnshire, and rehung the old ring of five, the tenor of which is 11 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb. The bells were dedicated on Sunday, November 9th, after the morning service, and the opening ringing consisted of a 720 of Bob Minor in 28 mins.: G. Ladd 1, H. M. Day 2, A. Riggall 3, J. Curry 4, A. J. Farr 5, J. G. Ames (conductor) 6. For evening service 360 St. Clement's Minor was rung. In the afternoon the same ringers rang a peal of Minor in seven methods, as recorded in our peal columns.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Grayshott, Hants, hopes to have a peal of eight bells in the near future. At present there are three, but a parish meeting has decided to recast them as part of the octave. About £200 has been subscribed up to the present, and an appeal is to be made for the rest of the money required.

Mr. W. C. Ryde, K.C., who over forty years ago was a ringer at Woking, is the moving spirit in the scheme.

Double Dublin Surprise Major, the first peal of which was rung at Hersham, Surrey, on Saturday, is a method by the Rev. E. Bankes James.

The Ancient Guild of St. Stephen's Ringers (Bristol) was granted a Royal Charter on November 17th, 1620. It is still in existence, although it has now no direct connection with bellringing.

The first peal of Grandsire Cinques on the present ring of twelve at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, was rung on November 23rd, 1775.

On November 24th, 1816, the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus on handbells was rung at Sheffield.

A peal of 15,120 Bob Major was rung at West Ham on November 25th, 1737, by the Eastern Scholars, a now long defunct London society.

Next Thursday Mr. James George, hero of the Painswick peal, will be 77 years young. It won't be long before he rings his 1,100th peal. Most people at his age would be thinking of giving up ringing, but Mr. George is looking for more worlds to conquer.

The carillon cast at the Croydon Bell Foundry for the Wellington (New Zealand) War Memorial, and which was erected at the North-East Coast Exhibition last year, and has been regularly used for recitals in Hyde Park this year, is now to be taken to Buenos Aires for the British Empire Exhibition next spring. It is hoped to hang the carillon in Wellington in time to ring for Armistice Day next year. When it arrives at its ultimate destination the carillon will surely be the most travelled set of bells in the world.

Was the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, rung at Twerton, Bath, on November 10th, the first by the Bath and Wells Association by resident members? asks a correspondent, who congratulates the band on a capital performance.

The peal of Superlative Surprise at Warnham on November 1st was rung in 2 hrs. 53 mins. (not 2.43). The ringer of the 7th in the peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Stowmarket on October 25th was Arthur Grimwood, not Greenwood as published.

'BELLS FULLY MANNED.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I would like to draw Mr. E. Cooper's attention to the facts of his letter on the above. He writes that the bells 'should have been' fully manned, but does not know if they were. As regards Doncaster, it is true eleven were left to man the bells, but they were manned by six ringers and one learner not yet able to ring rounds correctly.

One of the most relied-upon ringers was away at Tickhill. I don't think he makes his case any better by his remarks on the conductor. If a ringer wants to go to another church to ring he ought, in my opinion, to give reasonable notice, so that his place in the tower may be filled. I know Mr. Cooper does not like to hear six bells at his church on Sundays. I attend regularly.—Yours faithfully,
Doncaster, W. E. LLOYD.

CELEBRATED PEALS AT PAINSWICK. A TOWER OF MANY 'LONG LENGTHS.'

The peal of 17,687 Grandsire Cinques rung in 11 hrs. 36 mins. at Painswick, Gloucestershire, on November 8th, has naturally been a matter of great interest throughout ringing circles, for it is a feat that has few equals. For a couple of centuries Painswick has been conspicuous in ringing annals, for as soon as ten bells were put in the tower the ringers there went in for long lengths, a 10,000 of Caters being rung in 1735 and a 12,000 in 1736.

THE PARISH CHURCH OF ST. MARY, PAINSWICK.

Previous to the year 1686 there were six bells in the tower. In January of that year a meeting was held at which it was decided to add two more bells, which were cast by Abraham Rudhall, of Gloucester. Forty-five years later it was determined to add two more bells and recast the existing eight, which was done at the Gloucester foundry, from which in 1821 came two trebles to complete the ring of twelve. The new bells did not come up to the calibre of the old ones, and in 1887 were replaced by two recast trebles from the Whitechapel Foundry. In 1902 Messrs. Taylor and Co. rehung the whole twelve on one level, and they have not had any attention from a bell hanger since—one more proof that the more bells are rung the better they are cared for.

The Painswick Youths have in their possession some interesting records of peals of past days:—

| | | | | |
|-----------------|-----------|---------|-------|-------|
| Feb. 29th, 1731 | Yo whole | | in ye | 3.27. |
| Mar. 1st, 1731 | Peal of | 5,040 | space | 3.36. |
| Mar. 26th, 1731 | Triples | changes | of | 3.24. |
| Mar. 1st, 1734 | | 8,064 | in ye | 4.45. |
| Mar. 1st, 1735 | A peal of | 10,080 | space | 6.27. |
| Apr. 18th, 1736 | Caters | 12,006 | of | 7.55. |

Various long lengths rung on the bells since then have been:—

| | | hrs. mins. |
|-------------------|---------------------------|------------|
| Sept. 23rd, 1816. | 10,278 Grandsire Caters. | 6.48. |
| May 5th, 1817. | 12,312 Grandsire Caters. | 7.44. |
| Sept. 21st, 1818. | 6,300 Bob Royal. | 4. 2. |
| Dec. 9th, 1832. | 10,224 Treble Bob Major. | 6.50. |
| Feb. 16th, 1858. | 8,448 Stedman Cinques. | 5.52. |
| Mar. 24th, 1913. | 7,325 Grandsire Cinques. | 5. 0. |
| Feb. 14th, 1920. | 13,001 Grandsire Cinques. | 8.45. |
| Feb. 15th, 1930. | 9,261 Grandsire Cinques. | 6.10. |
| Apr. 21st, 1930. | 12,231 Grandsire Cinques. | 8. 0. |
| Nov. 8th, 1930. | 17,687 Grandsire Cinques. | 11.36. |

Only three peals with more changes than that on November 8th have been rung on tower bells, two of them being Stedman Caters, and the other Oxford Treble Bob Major.

This is the way the record length of Cinques has grown:—

| | | | |
|------------------|-------------------|-------|-------------|
| Apr. 27th, 1861. | 8,580 Stedman. | 6.41 | Cornhill. |
| Feb. 28th, 1881. | 9,238 Stedman. | 6.48 | Birmingham. |
| Dec. 26th, 1901. | 11,111 Stedman. | 8. 2 | Birmingham. |
| Feb. 14th, 1920. | 13,001 Grandsire. | 8.45 | Painswick. |
| Nov. 8th, 1930. | 17,687 Grandsire. | 11.36 | Painswick. |

The Maximus records have included the following:—

| | | | |
|------------------|----------------------------|-------|--------------------|
| Dec. 9th, 1833. | 10,224 Treble Bob. | 6.50 | Painswick. |
| Apr. 17th, 1911. | 12,240 Treble Bob. | 8.39 | Ashton-under-Lyne. |
| Aug. 5th, 1929. | 15,312 Cambridge Surprise. | 11.30 | Ashton-under-Lyne. |

Other lengths longer than the last Painswick peal have been:—

| | | | |
|------------------|---------------------------------|-------|---------------|
| Apr. 12th, 1909. | 18,027 Stedman Caters. | 12.18 | Loughborough. |
| Apr. 22nd, 1922. | 21,363 Stedman Caters. | 12.25 | Appleton. |
| Apr. 18th, 1927. | 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Major. | 10.51 | Heptonstall. |

THE TWELVE BELL RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—First to congratulate Mr. Albert Wright and his band on a fine performance, which I do most heartily. If any member is deserving of special praise it is the veteran tenor man, Mr. James George.

But does this peal constitute the twelve-bell record? The daily press referred to it as containing the 'greatest number of changes on twelve bells,' which the peal certainly did not. Unless Jimmy George was at fault, and I cannot imagine that he was, the peal did not contain one change on twelve bells, and I cannot see why it is described in 'The Ringing World' as the twelve-bell record. If it is, where is the eleven-bell record? This one cannot be both!

The Central Council's 'Glossary of Technical Terms,' compiled by six famous members of the Exercise in 1901, contains, on page 17, the following definitions:—

Cinques.—The changes produced on eleven bells, in which five pairs of bells change at each permutation.

Maximus.—Change ringing in which twelve bells are concerned in producing the permutations is known as 'Maximus,' or, more familiarly, as 'twelve-in.' Methods adapted for twelve bells are usually known as twelve-bell methods.

If anything further is needed, Mr. Editor, I will refer you to 'The Ringing World,' Vol. I., page 74, which contains the following:—

'The long peal of Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne (i.e., 12,240 Treble Bob Maximus in 1911), setting up a new record for twelve bells, naturally revives interest in the previous record which was set up over 77 years ago. This peal was rung at Painswick, Gloucester, in 1833' (i.e., 10,224 Treble Bob Maximus). The explanatory notes in parentheses are mine.

Now, between those two peals the 11,111 Stedman Cinques was rung at Birmingham in 1901, and this peal 'The Ringing World' did not consider as having superseded the Painswick 10,224 Maximus. In other words, 'The Ringing World' in 1911 considered that only Maximus could beat Maximus for the record on twelve bells. This, I submit, is quite correct, and maintain that the 15,312 Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung last year still remains as the twelve-bell record.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' DINNER.

Mr. Cockerill, who was very cordially received, responded to the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths,' proposed by Canon Coleridge, and first announced apologies for absence from the Dean of St. Paul's, Dr. Perkins (Westminster Abbey), Rev. Canon Haldane (Southwark), the Rectors of St. Michael's (Cornhill), Bow (Cheap-side), St. Dunstan's (Stepney), St. Michael's (College Hill), and St. Clement Danes, and the Vicar of Cripplegate, Rev. C. A. Clements (Chester Guild), and Rev. W. J. Besley (St. Lawrence Jewry), Messrs. P. J. Johnson (hon. secretary of the Yorkshire Association), L. Pitslow (Saffron Walden), J. T. Dyke (hon. secretary, Bath and Wells Association), A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild), J. F. Smallwood (Derby) and A. Brooks (manager of the Columbia Record Company). A radiogram had also been received from the A.S. 'Winchester Castle': 'Viramus vanimeter felicitations.—Young.' During the year, continued the hon. secretary, they made twenty-three new members, and most of these purchased a copy of the original certificate engraved by Bartolozzi. They had lost nine members by death, viz.: Thomas W. Emsden (Chislehurst), George Bowen (Hiracombel), James C. F. Bayley (steeplekeeper at Cripplegate), T. Hervey Beams (Bradpole), Wilfred Richardson (Barnsley), Henry A. Barnett (Tottenham), Harry Dyas (St. Andrew's, Wells Street), Harry Torble (West Ham), and Reuben Copelin (Gravesend).

The names of these departed members were received by the company standing in silence.

During the year, proceeded Mr. Cockerill, they had had 71 practices at the various city churches and Southwark Cathedral. At these practices a good number of young members obtained practice on 12, 10 and 8 bells, and acquired that necessary habit of good striking (hear, hear). During the year 24 peals had been rung, not a great number perhaps, but they did not worry about ringing a lot of peals; they thought they were doing more good by holding practices and carrying on the ringing for the church services (hear, hear). The peals were made up of Grandsire Triples 2; Bob Major 1, Stedman Triples 5, Stedman Caters 5, Stedman Cinques 3, Double Norwich Major 2, Cambridge Surprise Major 2, Superlative Surprise Major 1, London Surprise Major 1, Cambridge Surprise Royal 1, Kent Treble Bob Maximus 1. In conclusion, Mr. Cockerill asked the members to join with him in wishing Canon Coleridge many happy returns of Monday, which would be his birthday.

Canon Coleridge's health was drunk with musical honours, and in acknowledging it he said his advancing years was one reason why he did not continue as president of the Central Council, and now that he was no longer president he thought the toast which he had for so long proposed should be entrusted to his successor, who had a far prior claim to him. Mr. Lewis was a much younger man, much more in touch with ringers than he (Canon Coleridge) could be at his mature age. Failing Mr. Lewis, there was another gentleman they could fall back on. He referred to Dr. Joyce, churchwarden of St. Mary's, Reading, who had now become a ringer, and only a week ago succeeded in ringing his first peal, one of Stedman Triples (hear, hear), and to whom he (Canon Coleridge) owed a great debt of gratitude.

Mr. A. A. Hughes proposed 'The Visitors,' by which toast, he said, they meant particularly the incumbents of the city churches, to whom they were indebted for the use of the bells for their practices. Unfortunately they had been disappointed that evening by several absences, including that of the Rector of St. Lawrence Jewry, who was unable to be with them. The bells there were silent for nearly thirty years, but since their restoration the Rector had brought forward recruits from his church, and with the help of several members of that society they were training a band who were going on very well indeed (applause). Two or three members of that band were present as visitors that night; he hoped next year they would be there as members (applause).

The Rev. E. C. Bedford (St. Andrew's, Holborn) responded, and he spoke of the valuable services rendered to his own church by the ringers of St. Andrew's Guild.

Mr. J. Bullock (vice-chairman) proposed 'London and Provincial Societies,' many of whom were represented that night. They extended a hearty welcome to them all.

Mr. F. W. H. Scrgison (St. Clement's Youths) replied for the London Societies, and referred to the difficulties which were experienced in regard to the ringing at London churches, first because of the proximity of business and office premises, and secondly because the ringers themselves had moved farther out. The smaller London societies like his own valued very much the help and support they got from the Ancient Society of College Youths.

FROM BRISTOL TO LONDON.

Mr. W. A. Cave (Bristol), whose name was also coupled with the toast, said there is just one thing about being a provincial: one never knows in these days of rapid changes, how soon circumstances may so alter as to turn him into a Metropolitan. When this happens in the case of a ringer, it is good to know that he will at once be able to meet friends who will do all that is possible to make him feel at home. Mr. Cave mentioned three who had passed from the provinces to London by way of Bristol, and had attained the highest honour in London's premier ringing societies. Mr. O'Meara, who was Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths for four years, 1899, 1900, 1905 and 1908, did some of his earliest change ringing in the neighbourhood, but left there before his (the speaker's) time. The other two he knew well. Mr. J. D. Matthews, the worthy Master of the Royal Cumberlands, who came to Bristol from Northamptonshire, and was the only ringer in his (Mr. Cave's) experience to make a lengthened stay in Bristol, who knew more about ringing than they themselves, and he was not forgetting Mr. Fred May, who developed into such an excellent conductor after his arrival. Mr. Matthews was largely instrumental in the St. Stephen's band ringing the first Surprise peal in Bristol. Mr. Charles Horton, Master of the College Youths, 1918 and 1919, learnt all his ringing at Bristol before coming to London. Many handbell practices the three of them had at Mr. Matthews' home when his eldest son, Cecil, was a baby in the cradle by the fire-side. There were, continued Mr. Cave, two peal performances he would like to refer to. One was the so-called peal of Minor at Isham. As a speaker at the Central Council meeting said, 'There is nothing in the world to prevent any band ringing just what they like.' True, but if it was to be recognised as a peal it must be within a certain standard, and 14 360's were definitely not within that standard. It might have been rung with a certain object in view. Of that he knew nothing; but if the Analysis Committee decided not to recognise it as a peal, he thought they would be quite justified, and it was good to know they had the support of such eminent men as Mr. Trollope and the editor of 'The Ringing World.' The other peal was the one at Buckfast, the record of which was published the previous day. He considered Mr. Pye and his band had done a great service to ringing and ringers generally in visiting the Abbey and ringing such an excellent peal of Stedman Cinques. It was performances such as this that did an immense amount of good to the cause of change ringing. And especially did this apply to Devonshire, where there was such powerful opposition. He knew how thoroughly this opposition society did its work. He had seen in Devonshire towers large posters printed in red and blue announcing competitions, on both six and eight bells, giving the figures of the changes to be rung, besides the list of prizes to be won. They were a church society, recognised by their clergy, so that they were one with the rest of the Exercise, and it was up to them as change ringers to try and convert them to change ringing. This could only be done by visiting ringers giving of their very best, and not giving the round and call change ringers a chance to say, 'Us can ring better'n that ourselves' (laughter and applause).

Mr. R. T. Hibbert proposed 'The Press' in his typically outspoken manner. Amid laughter, he summed up all newspaper men as 'sons of Ananias.' He appealed to ringers to support their own paper, 'The Ringing World,' in which he hoped to see further encouragement given to young ringers, and took the Editor to task for the article which appeared in the previous day's issue describing the College Youths as exclusive and aloof. They were, he said, always glad to welcome any ringer. The College Youths were the hub of the wheel in ringing, and the provincial societies were only the spokes, the felloes and the tyres.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, Editor of 'The Ringing World,' replied to the toast, and this brought the speechmaking to a close.

The musical programme was exceptionally enjoyable. Mrs. A. A. Hughes again delighted the company with her handbell solos, 'Sol-veig's Song' (Grieg) and 'Until' (Sanderson), being followed, as an encore, by the ever popular 'Land of hope and glory.' Mr. E. Cave greatly amused the party with his humorous stories and sketches, while the baritone songs of Mr. Reginald Johnson were finely rendered, and the vocalist had to respond to an encore at each appearance. Mr. H. N. Pitslow was the accompanist. The very happy evening terminated with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

If any doubts remain, the point is one which, to use a phrase which has lately become very popular, 'in the interests of truth' should be cleared up.

I am not attacking the latest Painswick performance. I have nothing but admiration for any band that can put up a peal lasting nearly twelve hours, but I do object to claims being made that do not conform to ringing custom. I have yet to find the text book that describes Cinques as anything else but 'changes on eleven bells,' and emphatically state that the Painswick ringers have beaten no record but their own.—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

November 15th, 1930.

P.S.—The Central Council's 1927 edition of 'Rules and Decisions' states (page 17), with regard to peals on nine and eleven bells: 'That there be not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval, in each case with the addition of a covering bell'; and on eight, ten and twelve bells, 'That there be not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval' (1892 and 1925).

DEATH OF CANON W. W. C. BAKER.

We deeply regret to announce the death, which took place on Friday, of the Rev. Canon W. W. C. Baker, president and one of the founders of the Bedfordshire Association. For a considerable period Canon Baker was Vicar of Dunstable, but a few years ago he took the living of Southill, Beds.

Canon Baker was a member of the Cambridge University Guild and one of the few surviving original members of the Central Council, on which he had served without a break up to the time of his death. His passing will be a great loss to the Bedfordshire Association, and removes from the Exercise a very lovable figure.

Canon Baker has led a very active life that extended outside his parochial duties. For many years he was a member of the Bedfordshire County Council, and he was one of the members of the first Church Assembly.

BROMLEY BELLS RESTORED.

TUNING EFFECTS GREAT IMPROVEMENT.

The bells of SS. Peter and Paul's, Bromley, Kent, were reopened on Saturday last, after a complete restoration by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The bells have been retuned and recappeded on modern principles, with some new headstocks, all new wheels and fittings, including ball bearings. The old bells have tuned up wonderfully well, everyone present expressing their pleasure and surprise at their volume compared with the way they sounded only a few short weeks ago.

A service of thanksgiving was held at 3.30, at which, despite the inclement weather, there was a fair congregation present, including about 30 ringers. After the prayers of dedication and thanksgiving, the Vicar, the Rev. Prebendary Basil Rolton, gave a very bright and interesting address on bells, and their relation to divine worship, which was much appreciated. After the service an opening touch of two courses of Stedman Triples was rung by the local ringers, the Society of Bromley Youths, and then the bells were made good use of by local and visiting ringers for about two and a half hours, practically all the popular methods being rung, including London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, Double Norwich, Bob Major, Stedman Triples, and some Grandsire for the younger ringers. The company present included Mr. A. A. Hughes, Mr. A. Macdonald, Mr. J. H. Thomas, and Mr. G. Oliver (who hung the bells), of the firm of Mears and Stainbank, Messrs. H. Langdon, A. Colles, W. Hewett, C. Kippen, D. Cooper, E. F. Pike, W. Smith and other well-known ringers. All the ringers were not only well pleased with the greatly improved sound of the ancient bells, but also with the improved 'go' of them. In fact, the whole job leaves nothing to be desired, and in all ways reflects the greatest possible credit on the skill and workmanship of the ancient Whitechapel firm. I. E.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, November 8th, the North Notts Association held their last meeting of the year at Ordsall, near Reicford, when members from East Markham, Edwinstowe, Everton, Collingham, Cuckney, Gainsborough, Gamston, Mansfield Woodhouse, Misterton, Scotter, Sutton-on-Trent, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Treeton and Worksop came forward to test their skill on the light peal of six bells, and a full company of local ringers gave them a hearty welcome.

Tea was partaken of in the Parish Hall, excellently served by a few lady workers of the parish, who in due course were thanked for their admirable work.

The business meeting was presided over by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall, who in welcoming the association said that it was much to his regret that he could not be with them at every meeting, but his attendance this year had been affected by his illness. Mr. H. Haigh, in reply, said the association was very pleased to see the Rector back with them again as he was a very great help to the society. Mr. Haigh also remarked that not many towers had two clergyman ringers, but Ordsall had, and he wished the Rev. A. Dooxey the best of success in the art of change ringing.

Mr. P. W. Briggs, of Everton, was elected a new member, while Mr. Jas. Swindin, Mr. John Swindin, Mr. G. W. Stevenson, Mr. H. Stevenson, Mr. R. Lindy and Mr. F. Gibson were re-elected. It is very interesting to note that these gentlemen were ringers at Everton when the society was founded in 1887, and were among the leaders in the art of change ringing of the association. The same success, it is hoped, will favour the young band at Everton now.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Sutton-on-Trent on January 17th if possible.

The secretary had received quotations for the insurance of the Crawford Cup, and the premium quoted by the Phoenix Assurance Company was accepted.

Mr. H. Haigh thanked the Rector and all who had helped to make such a pleasant day for the visitors. This concluded the business, after which the tower was again visited.

NEW RING OF EIGHT FOR LEEDS.

A LIGHT PEAL AT BURLEY CHURCH.

The reopening of the bells at St. Matthias' Church, Burley, Leeds, after being silent for some considerable time, took place on Thursday, November 13th, and was attended by ringers from Leeds, Armley, Bramley, Headingley, Far Headingley, Calverley, Bradford and Holbeck. The founders of the new bells were represented by Mr. C. F. Johnston.

St. Matthias' Church was consecrated by the Bishop of Ripon on November 10th, 1854, and forms a very attractive object in the picturesque valley in which it is situated. The church is designed on the geometrical or middle-pointed style; the plan is cruciform, and consists of an attached tower 21ft. 6in. square at the west angle of the south transept. The tower is of three stages, and forms the entrance to the church. It is stone vaulted and surmounted by a spire 163ft. high. The steeple was built at the sole expense of Mr. Wm. Beckett. It originally contained a peal of six bells (tenor 7½ cwt.) presented by Mary and Elizabeth Beckett, of Meanwood Park, Leeds, in 1854. For some time, however, the bells have been unringable. The work of restoring them was given to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have cleared out the scaffold-like structure on which the old wooden frame was placed, and recast the existing peal of six into a peal of eight. The bells with their inscriptions are as follows:—

- 1.—B flat. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1930. Weight, 3 cwt. 1 qr. 1 lb.
- 2.—A. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1930. Weight, 3 cwt. 1 qr. 12 lb.
- 3.—G. Cast 1855. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1930. Weight, 3 cwt. 2 qr. 9 lb.
- 4.—F. Cast 1855. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1930. Weight, 3 cwt. 3 qr. 24 lb.
- 5.—E flat. Cast 1855. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1930. Weight, 4 cwt. 0 qr. 19 lb.
- 6.—D. Cast 1854. This peal of six bells recast and increased to a peal of eight bells 1930 by public and private subscriptions. Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. Weight, 4 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb.
- 7.—C. Cast 1854. This bell restored in memory of Elizabeth Hannah Watson, Park Hill, Burley, 1930. Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. Weight, 5 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb.
- 8.—B flat. Cast 1854. This bell restored in memory of William Plews, Esq., J.P., of the Woodlands, Burley, 1930. The original peal of six bells presented by Mary and Elizabeth Beckett, of Meanwood Park, 1854. Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. Weight, 7 cwt. 3 qr. 16 lb.

The peal has been placed in an iron frame on rolled steel girders securely grouted into the walls, thus putting an end to all that movement of the tower which the previous six bells caused when rung. They have also put the chimes in order. The layout of the bells and the great care used in distributing the swinging weight of the metal is a revelation, and the founders are to be congratulated on their work.

The service of dedication commenced at 7.30 p.m., and was conducted by Rev. F. H. Moore, M.A., Vicar. During the singing of Psalm 122, 'I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the house of the Lord,' a procession was formed to the south porch, where the dedicatory prayers were offered by the Bishop of Ripon. While the procession returned to the chancel the bells were raised in peal by: P. J. Johnson 1, R. Thomas 2, W. Slack 3, G. Bennett 4, F. G. Sherwood 5, E. Hutchinson 6, G. Robinson 7, S. Sadler 8. The anthem, 'Let all men praise the Lord' was rendered by the choir, and the address which followed was given by the Bishop of Ripon.

After the service the bells were open to visitors, who expressed satisfaction at the 'go' of the bells, but complained of the noisiness in the ringing chamber. It is hoped that this will be remedied.

After the bells had been lowered, ringers and friends were entertained to supper, which was served by ladies in the Parish Hall.

OLD LANCASHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

Another old member of the Lancashire Association has passed away in the person of Mr. John Smith, of 153, Palatine Road, Blackpool, who died from cancer on Saturday, October 11th, at the age of seventy years.

He began his ringing career at Christ Church, Bacup, and became a member of the association in 1887. From Bacup he removed to Rawtenstall, and was a ringer at the Parish Church there for many years. He went to live in Blackpool over twenty years ago, and had been most regular in his attendance at St. John's for Sunday service ringing. He never failed to attend the Fylde Branch meetings whenever his health and his work allowed him, and was Fylde Branch secretary for a year or so at one time.

Touques of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were rung with the bells half-muffled in his memory at St. John's, Blackpool, by the local company on Thursday, October 16th.

A GLOUCESTERSHIRE RING RESTORED.

After being silent since the autumn of 1914, St. Nicholas' Church bells, Standish, Gloucester, were heard again for the first time on Saturday, November 8th, when they were re-dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Headlam, Bishop of Gloucester.

The church was crowded to its utmost capacity for the service, which took the form of evensong, during which the Vicar, churchwardens and Bishop proceeded to the west end of the church. Here the Bishop dedicated the bells and offered suitable prayers. The bells, which had been raised prior to the service, were then rung in rounds, this being the first time for over 16 years.

After the dedication, a new English altar was dedicated and vested, the Bishop then giving an address. At the conclusion of the service, a picked band of members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association rang 360 Grandsire Doubles, and for the remainder of the evening visitors from Painswick, Gloucester, Stonehouse, Great Witcombe, Elkstone, and other towers, had the opportunity of trying the bells.

The founders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who were represented by Mr. R. H. Dove, have made an excellent job, the 'go' of the bells being perfect, and the tone appreciably improved. No. 3 bell, which was cracked, has been recast, and the remainder retuned and turned, while the whole peal has been equipped with complete modern fittings, and hung in a two-tier metal frame. New oak floors to the ringing room, intermediate chamber and bell chamber, have been installed, while new louvres have also been fitted.

The cost of the work has been raised by voluntary subscription, and reflects great credit on such a small and scattered parish.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:—

- Treble.—Charity brought me hear in the 1720th year A.R.
- 2.—Gloriam : Dei = in : Excelsis : Sono : 1656. W. : Chew : G. : Stratford Gardi, 1656.
- 3.—W. Chew. G. Stratford Gardi, 1656. Recast 1930. Andrew Freeman, Vicar. George Knight, Richard Thomas, Churchwardens. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.
- 4.—Giles. Weyman. John Pridley. Chvrehwardens. Peare. God. 1651.
- 5.—Peace and Good Neighbourhood. A.R. 1748.
- 6.—Sancta : Maria : Ivo : Sverre : Piissima : Servo : Winelmo : Lawley : Viquaire : Cave : Me. (Weight, 12 cwt. 1 qr. 10 lb.)

THE FIRST RING OF BELLS IN JERSEY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having made several journeys to my many relations in the Channel Islands, and having spent the most happy times of my life there, particularly in Jersey, I was keenly interested in the article in 'The Ringing World' under the above heading.

I know St. Thomas in Val Plaisant very well, and have in my collection a picture postcard of a most beautiful bell, shown suspended in this church, ready for hoisting up into its place in the tower. The wording on this postcard reads: 'Maria Immaculata bell of St. Thomas' Church, Jersey, rung for the first time December 8th, 1904.'

But this is not the first ring of bells in Jersey, for within a stone's throw, at the corner of David Place and St. Mark's Road, stands the Episcopal Church of St. Mark, which may be termed a daughter church of St. Helier, and a peal of six was installed here in 1844.

It is a musical ring of six, tenor about 11 cwt., cast at Whitechapel in 1844 by C. and G. Mears.

In looking through my diary of my ringing activities I find that on Friday, July 15th, 1904, at 3 p.m., I inspected the whole of this tower with my island friend, Mr. Philip Gaudin, and saw the six bells by Mears pushed into the corner to make room for the 2 ton clock bell by Taylor, 1881. On the following Sunday at 3 p.m. we met the Rev. Cobbe, of Devizes, hon. secretary, Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and tapped a few changes on these bells.

I have been in every parish church in the Islands, and as far as I know there has never been any change ringing, nor do I know of any other ring of bells in Jersey.—Yours sincerely,

F. W. RICHARDSON.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Southern District was held at Buckland on Saturday, November 1st, between forty and fifty ringers attending from Limsfield Chart, Charlwood, Mersham, Reigate, Godstone, Redhill, Kingswood, Burstow, Horley, and the local band, with visitors from Dorking, St. John's and St. Peter's, Croydon, Beddington, Mitcham, Turner's Hill and Swindon. At the service the Rector (the Rev. H. W. Dunk) welcomed the gathering, and paid a warm tribute to the keenness of the local band, and to their care of, and interest in, the bells. He spoke of the social aspect of a ringing band, and of the characteristic keenness that seemed to rise to such a height among men who had mastered this craft.

Tea was served at the Village Hall, provided by the Rector, his wife and other ladies, forty-four being present. After tea the usual business meeting was proceeded with, the Rector presiding.

The Rev. H. W. Dunk was elected as an honorary member, and Wilfred Tidy and Albert Brown, of Limsfield Chart, as ringing members (Continued in next column.)

MEMORIAL TO A RINGING MASTER.

DEDICATION AT ACTON.

A meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Acton on Saturday, November 8th. The bells pealed forth at 3.45 p.m., this being the first time they had been rung in the year 1930. The methods indulged in ranged from Grandsire Triples up to and including London Surprise Major.

To the citizens of Acton, the ringing was a summons to an impressive ceremony in the Parish Church, in memory of the late Mr. Robert E. Holloway, who was Ringing Master of the South and West District of the association, for 15 years captain of the local band, and a most zealous churchworker.

The service consisted of shortened evensong from the Ringers' Manual, and opened with the hymn, 'Ye servants of the Lord.' The prayers were read by the Rev. H. Segil (assistant priest), and the lesson, from the Book of Wisdom, was read by Mr. J. Armiger Trollope (vice-president). By special request the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' was sung, while the Rector (the Rev. Percival Gough), followed by Rev. H. Segil, Mr. Trollope, Mrs. Holloway (the widow), and her son and daughters, and Mr. Wm. H. Hollier (hon. secretary), proceeded to the west end of the church for the dedication of a memorial in the shape of a handsome peal board recording a half-muffled peal of Bob Major, rung on October 6th, 1928, in memory of the late Mr. Holloway.

By permission of the Rector, Mr. Trollope gave an address, in which he pointed out that Mr. Robert Holloway's claims to their remembrance and gratitude arose from his devotion to his duty as a churchman and ringer. The lesson they had to learn, he said, was duty and loyalty to the band to which they belonged and to their church. It was not given to many of them to leave names behind them, even as ringers, but it was well if it could be said of any man, when his time came, as they said of Robert Holloway, that he served his generation according to the will of God, and had fallen asleep.

The board, which hangs on the screen, was then dedicated by the Rector. The hymn, 'Unchanging God Who livest,' was sung while the members of the little procession returned to their places. Afterwards the Rector read the final prayers and gave the blessing.

The ringers then adjourned to St. Andrew's Hall for tea, Mrs. Holloway, her son and daughter, and Mrs. Hollier being also present. Mr. Trollope presided, supported by Mr. Wm. Pickworth (vice-president), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), Rev. H. Segil, and Mr. E. Maurice Atkins and others.

After tea, Mr. Pickworth, on behalf of the Guild, presented to Mrs. Holloway a framed photograph of the peal board.—Mrs. Holloway thanked the members for the gift, which she would greatly treasure.

Mr. C. T. Coles and Mr. W. H. Fussell spoke in terms of admiration and respect of the late Mr. Holloway.

Members were present from Acton, Chiswick, Isleworth, Ealing (St. Mary's and Christ Church), Hillingdon (St. John's), Putney, Harrow, Twickenham, Harrow Weald, Chelsea, Beaconsfield, Southgate, St. Giles-in-the-Field, Kilburn, Bishopsgate, Stanmore, Ruiship, Willesden, Bushey Heath, Slough, Beaconsfield, Hammersmith, Kettering and Walthamstow.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, to Mr. Trollope, to the assistant priest, the organist, to Mr. Fruin of the local band, and to the host and his assistants.

The District Ringing Master being unable to be present, best thanks are given to Mr. Albert W. Coles, Ringing Master of the North and East District for his assistance, and to all the officers and members who met to pay their last tribute of respect to the late Mr. Robert E. Holloway.

It was decided to hold a meeting in December, of which notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

The tower was again visited after tea, and further ringing took place.

The next meeting is to be held at Blechingley or Betchworth, the arrangements being left to the secretary.

The next quarterly peal is to be attempted at Charlwood.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, for his address at the service, and for his and the ladies' hospitality in providing the tea. Votes of thanks were also accorded the organist for presiding at the organ during the service, and Mr. Frank Sanders for his assistance in making the arrangements for an enjoyable meeting.—This concluded the business, the ringers returning to the tower, where the bells were kept going till nine o'clock from rounds to London Surprise Minor.

CANON'S FIRST QUARTER-PEAL.

At Sherborne Abbey, Dorset, on November 6th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 58 mins.: J. Rickman 1, W. P. Lambert (first quarter-peal as conductor) 2, R. C. Day 3, D. Clothier 4, F. Price 5, Canon Wingfield Digby (first quarter-peal) 6, H. Pope 7, C. Vowles 8. Rung with ten different callings and 7.6.8 covering.

ARMISTICE ANNIVERSARY.MEMORIAL TOUCHES.

MORTON, DERBYSHIRE.—On Sunday, November 16th, for evening Armistice service, a quarter-peal of Minor (240 Cambridge, 360 Oxford, 360 Kent and 300 Plain Bob) in 40 mins.: F. W. Knowles (conductor) 1, E. Mallender 2, V. Cox 3, F. Wheeler 4, F. Clarke 5, B. Wheeler 8.

HAGBOURNE, BERKS.—On Sunday, November 16th, before the annual Armistice memorial service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled: A. W. Cox 1, T. East 2, W. V. Webb 3, W. Lambell 4, H. K. White 5, A. H. Webb (conductor) 6, J. Sawyer 7, R. G. Rice 8.

OCTOGENARIAN RINGER'S DEATH.

Godalming has lost one of its oldest ringers in the person of Mr. W. Clissold, who passed away on Wednesday, November 5th, at the age of 80 years. The deceased was a regular Sunday service ringer for over 50 years, and attended divine service regularly.

At the funeral the members of the local band rang the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect, and in the evening eight members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild rang a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Triples half-muffled: J. Bartlett (Chiddingfold) 1, Mrs. Hazelden (Guildford) 2, J. C. Childs (Godalming) 3, V. H. Smith (Godalman) 4, M. Smithers (Chiddingfold) 5, C. Hazelden (Guildford) 6, C. E. Smith (Godalming) (conductor) 7, W. Mills (Godalming) 8.

BELL RESTORATION APPEALS.

The columns of 'The Ringing World' have ever been open for the making of appeals, either on behalf of distressed members of the Exercise, or to assist ringers in their efforts to raise funds for bell restoration or augmentation. It is always a pleasure to bring these appeals to the notice of our readers, for it gives an opportunity to those who are able and willing to do so to lend a helping hand. These, however, are days when, with depression in industry and vast unemployment, the resources of ringers, in common with other classes, are depleted, and not all have anything to spare for outside objects. Yet, whenever these appeals are made, how much might be done if everyone who is earning a regular wage would contribute even a shilling? Except where the cases have a direct human appeal, however, requests for help are frequently passed over as being of no concern of the reader, because they do not happen to relate to some tower which he knows or which is in his own association's area; yet there is at the back of all these appeals a genuine need for help, and help which could be given in many cases without much, if any, sacrifice on the part of the giver. There are those cases, for instance, where impoverished parishes are anxious to have their bells set in order and are absolutely without the means of raising sufficient funds locally to do the work; and cases where, with the parish already giving its utmost to carry out a scheme of restoration, an opportunity presents itself for effecting further improvement if only outsiders will come to the aid of the local people.

Such an appeal as this appears in our present issue. The little Worcestershire agricultural village of Hinton-on-the-Green is spending all the money it can raise at home upon putting its bells in order and adding another to make them into a peal of six. Simultaneously an offer comes of a new bell if the ring is made into eight. The opportunity seems too good to be missed, for that part of Worcestershire is sadly handicapped by want of a handy octave for eight-bell practice. The task of raising the rest of the funds, therefore, falls largely upon the shoulders of the ringers, who, for years, have steadfastly discharged their duties to the church and maintained a band of double numerical strength and more to ensure that the bells should be regularly rung on Sundays. Is this not one of the cases, therefore, where not only members of the Worcestershire Association, who took such an admirable share in the recasting of their Cathedral bells, but members of the Exercise generally should lend a helping hand to further, as they undoubtedly would, the art of ringing in a district which promises well to repay any effort made to assist it? Many of us are apt to spend shillings without thought upon personal trifles of no consequence. We should be doing some real service to our art sometimes if, when restoration appeals are made, we diverted what would otherwise be a promiscuously spent shilling to a channel in which it could help to do some permanent good. We hope there will be a ready response to the appeal from Hinton-on-the-Green, in substantial sums by all means, if possible, and in those small contributions from the multitude, which would not only count up to a considerable total, but show a spirit of goodwill in an undertaking which, at the moment, is a venture of faith and a project which will enable its sponsors to carry on their work with greater scope, if not more worthily, than in the past.

A MID-WEEK MEETING.

A very enjoyable and encouraging joint meeting of the Heris and Essex Associations was held at Hoddesdon on Wednesday, November 19th, when no less than 15 parishes were represented, viz., Cheshunt, Brockley, Enfield (St. Andrew's), Harlow, Harlow Common, Edmonton, Hertford, Walthamstow, Leytonstone, Stortford, Romford, Hunsdon, Ware, Hoddesdon and Little Mundon.

The Vicar gave an address, and went to considerable trouble to secure the choir and organist for the service. He was heartily thanked for his and their help, which made a bright and happy service.

Some very good ringing was done, ranging from a plain course of Grandsire Triples to Superlative and Cambridge Surprise, and several received great help in the practical side of the art.

This new venture of holding a mid-week meeting for those whose work prevents attendance on Saturdays has proved the great usefulness of the movement, and will no doubt be kept up. It is hoped to hold the next at St. Andrew's, Enfield, in January.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Steyning on Saturday, November 15th. Although there was not a large gathering of members, some good practice was put in in methods from Grandsire to London and Bristol Surprise Major. Twenty-five put in an appearance during the afternoon and evening, representing the following towers: Brighton (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and Good Shepherd), Hove, Kirdford, Itchingfield, Hentfield, Lewes, Horsham, Shoreham, Warnham, and members of the local band.

Tea was partaken of at the Railway Hotel, and at the business meeting, with Mr. Walter Charman presiding, the following new members were elected: Messrs. William Morey, Eric Morey, Frank King, Ronald Childs, and Harold Trower, of Henfield, Frank Halstead, Alex Hancorn and Horace Gardener, of Shoreham.

Votes of thanks to the chairman, the Vicar and Mr. W. Hills, for making local arrangements, were passed, and the ringers then returned to the belfry, where the bells were kept going until eight o'clock, when a very successful meeting was brought to a close.

STAPLEFORD, CAMPS.—On November 15th, 720 Munden Surprise: Cecil N. Austin (first 720) 1. Miss K. Willers 2. J. W. Ward 3. A. E. Austin 4. F. Harper 5. E. H. Finch (conductor) 6.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The marriage will take place at St. Mary's Church, Cadogan Street, London, to-morrow, at 2.15 p.m., of Mr. Cyril Frederick Johnston (son of the late Mr. Arthur Anderson Johnston and of Mrs. Johnston, of Broadwater, Addiscombe, Croydon), head of the Croydon Bell Foundry, and Miss Mary Evelyn O'Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Evelyn O'Leary, of Sydney House, Bedford Park, W.

Sh-h-h, not a word! Mr. James George, who yesterday celebrated his 77th birthday, has been put in the parish stocks! This happened at Painswick, and the painful incident might have remained unnoticed had it not been for a press photographer who passed at the moment. The picture of the prisoner undergoing his 'sentence' is now on record for all time in the 'Gloucester Journal.'

'A first peal by all' has been rung at Badgeworth, Gloucestershire. This is always a creditable performance, and in this case there were five young members of the band, and the peal was in three methods of Doubles. The tower owes much of its progress to Mr. W. Yeend, secretary of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, who started a young band at this church between four and five years ago.

William Douthleday Crofts, the Nottingham solicitor and famous Sherwood Youth, died on November 29th, 1899. His interesting peal book is still preserved.

The first peal by Mark Master Masons, which we record this week, recalls the fact that the first Freemasons' peal was Grandsire Caters, rung at St. Clement Danes, London, on December 4th, 1819.

On November 27th, 1789, the London Scholars rang a peal of 6,204 Grandsire Cinques at Cornhill.

Members of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association are reminded of the altered date of the Redcliffe meeting, which is now to be held on December 6th.

THE MAITLAND KELLY MEMORIAL.

COMMITTEE'S PROPOSALS.

The Devon Guild decided at the last annual meeting to provide a permanent memorial to the late Rev. Maitland Kelly, in recognition of his lifelong unselfish devotion to its welfare.

The general committee has considered carefully various proposals that were brought before it, and has decided to recommend:—

(1) The erection of an oak tablet, with incised letters, in the Exeter Cathedral bellry, at a cost not exceeding £10.

(2) Participation in a scheme to instal carved oak panelling in the sanctuary of Kelly Church. This scheme to improve the east end of the church is one long desired by Mr. Kelly himself. A definite section of the panelling, the extent of which can be arranged in accordance with the amount of money received, will be assigned to the Guild, and will be distinguished from other portions provided by parishioners and personal friends.

An appeal has been issued to all the towers in the Guild, but there are many members outside the county who will doubtless like to contribute, and they are invited to send their contributions to Mr. T. Laver, general secretary, 21, Cross Park, Heavitree, Exeter. Contributions should be forwarded before December 31st next, when it is intended to close the appeal.

THE LATE CANON W. W. C. BAKER.

A GREAT LOSS TO BEDFORDSHIRE.

We briefly chronicled last week the loss which the Exercise, and particularly the Bedfordshire Association, had sustained by the death of Canon W. W. C. Baker, Vicar of Southill, a member of the Central Council and president of the Bedfordshire Association, of which he was one of the founders. Canon Baker, who was 70 years of age, was taken ill after attending a meeting of the Bedfordshire Elementary Education Sub-Committee, and succumbed to an attack of bronchial pneumonia on Friday, the 14th inst.

He began his ringing when an undergraduate at Cambridge, and was one of the early members of the University Guild. For a great number of years he joined them on their annual summer tour, and was present last year at the jubilee celebrations. He acted for many years as hon. secretary of the Bedfordshire Association, and later became president, which office he occupied at the time of his death. He represented the Bedfordshire Association on the Central Council from the latter's formation to the present time. He had rung a number of peals, but kept no record of these performances. Among the peals in which he took part was the first peal of Treble Bob by the Bedfordshire Association in 1887; his first peal as conductor was rung in 1888. His last peal for the association was, we believe, a peal of Stedman Triples with his own hand just before leaving Dunstable. One of his unfulfilled ambitions was to return to Dunstable and ring with his old friends there a peal of Superlative Surprise, a method of which he was very fond.

Born at Long Melford, Suffolk, Canon Baker was first educated at the village school at Eversholt, where his father was then incumbent. Later he went to King's College School, London, and Clare College, Cambridge. He took his B.A. degree in 1882, and his M.A. in 1886. In 1884 he was ordained deacon, and priest in 1885, and his first curacy was at St. Mary's, Nottingham, which he took in 1884. After two years in the north, he returned to his native county, and became Vicar of Milton Bryan. He remained there for ten years, and removed to Ridgmont in 1896. In 1903 he became Rector of Dunstable, the appointment being made by the Bishop of Ely, and when Dunstable became a part of the diocese of St. Albans the Rector was appointed by Bishop Jacob an honorary Canon and Rural Dean of Dunstable. He also served as a Proctor in Convocation from 1917 to 1919, and was a member of the Diocesan Board of Finance and a large number of other diocesan committees. For some years, up to the beginning of the war, he was chaplain to the County Territorial Battalion.

Canon Baker, says a writer in 'The Bedfordshire Times,' was an active force for good, not only through his eloquent preaching and distinguished services for his church, but also through his work and example in the public life of the county. An intimate friend said of him this week, 'He was the truest example of a Christian that I have ever met.' He was the intimate and cherished friend and neighbour of the Lord Lieutenant of his county: he was no less the friend of the humblest of his parishioners. The elementary teachers of Bedfordshire valued him and trusted him as a staunch friend. His death is indeed an irreparable blow to Bedfordshire education on its administrative side.

Generous and warm-hearted, never turning a deaf ear to any appeal, affable and easy of approach at all times, possessing the gift of disagreeing in a friendly way with those holding other views than his own, a manly man who could enjoy a good story and tell one too, and was very fond of a joke, Canon Baker was a popular and a dominating figure in whatever company he happened to be.

He was appointed to the first Education Committee for Bedfordshire on May 8th, 1903, and served as a co-opted member until March, 1910, when he was elected to the County Council as one of the Dunstable representatives. From then, until 1922, when he retired from the Council, he represented the Council on the Committee. In the meantime, in September 1914, he had been appointed chairman of the Elementary Sub-Committee, and his services on that body had become so valued that he was prevailed upon to continue his service as a co-opted member. On several occasions since 1922 attempts were made to persuade him to accept an aldermanship, but he preferred to concentrate his energies and time on the educational side of the Council's work.

When Canon Baker resigned the living of Dunstable in 1924, a cheque for £100 and an album containing the names of 525 subscribers were presented to him by the Mayor in the presence of several hundred residents of all denominations.

Canon Baker married, in 1888, Catherine Anna, the younger daughter of the Rev. Truman Tanqueray, Rector of Tingleth. There were nine children, six of whom are living. Canon Baker's second and third sons died in action in the war, Capt. Charles Baker in Gallipoli in 1915, and Lieut. Aveling Baker in France in March, 1918. With Mrs. Baker and the surviving members of the family, widespread sympathy has been expressed.

Canon Baker's great work in various directions in Bedfordshire was manifested by the large and representative gathering from all parts of the county that attended the funeral on Tuesday week.

The coffin was taken into Southill Parish Church on Monday evening, and a requiem celebration of the Holy Communion was held at 8.30 a.m. on Tuesday morning, the Rev. Scott Baker (the deceased's son, chaplain of King's College, Cambridge) being the celebrant.

The opening sentences of the funeral service were read by the Rev. G. H. Strange, of Sheffield, and the lesson by Archdeacon Parnell. The remainder of the service in church and at the graveside was taken by the Rev. A. G. Hodgson, who was Canon Baker's curate at Dunstable from 1907 to 1909. The Blessing was pronounced by the Archdeacon. Among the clergy present who robed was Canon G. F. Coleridge, while the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) and the Rev. R. Copeman (representing Cambridge University Guild and Ely Diocesan Association) were also present, as well as Miss E. Steel (Bedford), Mr. A. King (Luton), Mr. Cyril Herbert (Woburn), vice-presidents of the Bedfordshire Association, Mr. A. E. Sharman (hon. secretary), Messrs. F. Smith, H. Tysoe and E. Tingey (St. Paul's, Bedford), C. Page (Biggleswade), etc. There were a large number of beautiful wreaths, including one sent by the Bedfordshire Association.

At St. James' Church, Husbore Crawley, where Canon Baker often rang, the bells were rung half-muffled for morning and evening service on Sunday, November 16th. Touching reference was made by the Rev. A. Rust during his sermon to the great loss the association had sustained. Those taking part in the ringing were the Rev. A. Rust, H. Fleet, C. Fleet, A. Fleet, sen., A. Fleet, jun., W. Peacock, E. Redding, F. Bowler and Horace H. Smith.

At Priory Church, Dunstable, on Sunday, November 23rd, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung at the close of the memorial service with the bells half-muffled, in affectionate remembrance of the late Canon, who in past years took part in many such quarter-peals with the band: G. H. Sentance 1, C. Rollings 2, G. W. Harris 3, E. Chappell 4, G. W. Heley 5, A. E. Sharman (conductor), B. A. G. Matthews 7, B. F. Calcott 8. Dunstable tower is under repair, and special permission had to be obtained from the architect for the ringing.

Memorial peals rung for Canon Baker will be found recorded in our peal columns. A muffled peal of Grandsire Caters attempted at St. Paul's, Bedford, on the day of the funeral was unfortunately lost after an hour and fifty minutes' ringing.

THE DUFFIELD METHOD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I write as an ignoramus on matters appertaining to campanology, being, as yet, one of the babes of the Exercise. It is, therefore, someone deigns to reply to my letter, I hope they will bear this in mind and forgive my ignorance.

However, to come to the point, some days ago, I was fortunate enough to discover Sir A. P. Heywood's treatise on 'Duffield.' My only other acquaintance with this method had been through 'Standard Methods,' and I had paid it but little attention. The discovery of the original treatise, however, led me to a fuller investigation. Among many interesting points I noted the following: In Major the course-ends recur every 48 changes with 7 and 8 double dodging in the home position. Further, throughout the course 7 and 8 keep well together, and, even in peals, it is possible to keep the 6th at home throughout. From a musical point of view, this is all that can be desired. Moreover, the method is easily extended to 10 and 12 bells by simply double dodging in the extra places, as in Stedman. These are not the only advantages pointed out by the author, but these few seem to me to warrant a wider practice of the method. Yet peals of 'Duffield' are few and far between, notwithstanding the fact that the author believed that, 'as in Stedman is found the perfection of odd-bell ringing, so in this new method will be found the most musical and adaptable even-bell system possible of attainment.'

Perhaps there is some reason for the falling from grace of this method. Can anyone enlighten me?—Yours, etc., FRED F. RIGBY.

THE TWELVE-BELL RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has been said that 'consistency is the refuge of little minds,' or something to that effect. Whether it is or not, I cannot object to your inconsistency on the subject of what constitutes the twelve-bell record, but I must emphasise that in 1911 you stated that a 12,240 Maximus had supplanted as that record a peal of 10,224 Maximus rung in 1833, quite ignoring a peal of 11,111 Cinques rung between those dates. What I do object to is that you should now, because I want to insist that you were right in 1911, interpret that as an argument that a twelve-bell peal can only be rung in a twelve-bell method. I cannot find anything in my previous letter which justifies such an interpretation being put on my case that the recent Painswick peal is not the twelve-bell record.

The difference between Cinques and Maximus seems to have been decided by the Council long ago, and for the sake of clearness I repeat the definitions for peals:—

'On nine and eleven bells: That there be not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval, in each case with the addition of a covering bell (1892 and 1925).'

'On eight, ten and twelve bells: That there be not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval (1892 and 1925).'

The sentence 'in each case with the addition of a covering bell' also answers your question as to where the tenor man comes in.

The whole question is not the simple one as to whether the Painswick peal was, or was not, a twelve-bell peal. It is the larger issue of whether we are going to mix up Triples with Major, Caters with Royal, and Cinques with Maximus. When the Council decided that a peal on eight bells could be of 5,000 changes, it obviously did not intend this to apply to a peal of Triples, which has to contain the extent of 5,040. And yet a peal of Triples, with the usual covering bell, is still an eight-bell peal.

The Council has distinguished between peals on eleven bells and peals on twelve bells, and have provided for the former to be rung with an additional bell. I, therefore, think I am entitled to repeat the question, 'If the Painswick peal is the twelve-bell record, where is the eleven-bell record?' If there is no such thing, what is the use of the Council's definition of an eleven-bell peal?—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

21, Vincent Road, E.4.

[While admitting that the extract from a paragraph in 'The Ringing World' of April 21st, 1911, which Mr. Coles quotes against us to show 'inconsistency' may, when taken by itself, be read as he suggests, we hardly think 'The Ringing World' can actually be accused of inconsistency in this matter, for, from the very first number, reports of peals of Cinques have appeared in its columns under the heading of 'Twelve-bell peals,' and for nearly twenty years no one has objected to that designation. We, of course, have used the expression in its broad sense, and the sense in which, for want of evidence to the contrary, we believe it has been accepted by the Exercise.—Ed., 'R.W.']

CERTAINLY NOT.

Dear Sir,—By all the 'Rules and Decisions' on ringing, Grandshire Cinques is regarded as an eleven-bell method. Now, if the Painswick peal is regarded as the twelve-bell record, may I ask if a band ringing 18,000 of Minor with 6-8, or 7-8 covering (and 720's are frequently rung this way) could claim this as the eight-bell record?—Yours faithfully,

A. E. REEVES.

Bristol.

[As we are asked the question, we would say, in our opinion, 'certainly not.' Twelve bells are essential to a properly recognised peal of Cinques, but eight bells are not essential for a peal of Minor.—Ed., 'R.W.']

WHY WORRY?

Sir,—Why worry, and cause a useless argument? Let us call each peal by its proper name—Ashton is the longest of Maximus, Painswick longest of Cinques.

That twelve bells are involved, all ringers know, and they know—or should do—the difference between Cinques and Maximus.

Ninety per cent. of the outside public would not know the difference between Grandshire and Cambridge even if they heard them rung consecutively. Ringers would know! So again—why worry?

THE LONGEST PEAL ON FIVE BELLS?

To the Editor.

Sir,—A fortnight ago in your issue of October 31st you published particulars of the dedication of a peal table at West Deeping, Lincs, recording what is so far believed to be the longest peal yet rung on six bells by members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. It would be interesting to know what is the longest peal yet rung on five bells. I once read of a band who rang 6,000 changes on five at Barrow-on-Soar, Leicestershire. Has anyone ever exceeded this?

EXTREMES!

BENEVOLENT SCHEME IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

On Saturday the St. Albans District held a meeting at St. Peter's, St. Albans. Mr. E. P. Debenham (whose long association with this tower is so well known) was present to meet the visitors, and various methods were rung during the afternoon on the ten bells. A service was held in this church, at which the Rev. W. B. Lea Wilson gave an interesting address. Tea was served at the Clarendon Hotel, and was followed by the business meeting, at which one new member was elected.

A discussion took place on the forming of a benevolent fund.

Mr. G. W. Carlmel explained the scheme, and it is hoped to get it started in the near future.

Kimpton was proposed for the next meeting place, the third Saturday in January being the provisional date selected.

A vote of thanks to all concerned with the arrangements of the meeting was carried with accord.

The Cathedral was then visited, where the ringing on the five peal was enjoyed by all.

WESTERN DIVISION.

The meeting of the Western Division at King's Langley was attended by about twenty ringers from Apsley, Hemel Hempstead, Tring, Rickmansworth, Watford, Welwyn Garden City, and eight of the local company. The methods rung included Grandshire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Kent Treble and Double Norwich Major.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. D. Lushington), who gave a most interesting address. After service, he invited the ringers to tea in the Parish Hall, and presided both at the tea and the business meeting which followed. In the course of the meeting the hon. secretary was asked to write a feeling letter to Mr. F. Norris, of Berkhamstead, who has been ill for a length of time, and has been missed at these gatherings.

The next meeting, if the tower is available, will be held at Great Gaddesden on Saturday, January 10th, 1931.

The secretary, Mr. J. Puplett, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his hospitality, and for all he had done to help make the gathering a success. This was seconded by Mr. Ayre and carried.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Newbury on Saturday, November 15th, when the following towers were represented: Beeton, Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Chieveley, Compton, East Isley, Hungerford, Peasemore, Shaw, Thatcham, and Newbury. Visitors were present from Swindon, Abingdon, Reading, Overton, Maidenhead, Woodford and Farnham. Service was conducted by the Rev. W. L. Cooper (Rector of Newbury), who gave a very inspiring address. The Rev. J. M. Beaufort presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the Parish Room by Mrs. H. W. Curtis, assisted by other ringers' wives, and 76 sat down to an excellent meal.

The business meeting followed, over which the Rev. H. Bonsey presided, supported by the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), Rev. W. L. Cooper, Rev. A. Browning, Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford, Rev. R. C. Moore, Mr. H. W. Curtis (hon. branch secretary and treasurer), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary), Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild treasurer), and Mr. E. J. Davis (secretary of the Parochial Church Council).

The secretary's report showed a record of successful meetings held during the year. Eight peals had been rung in the branch, four of them entirely by members of the Newbury Branch, and conducted by H. W. Curtis. Several ringers rang their first peal. Five pounds had been paid to Thatcham tower, £2 to St. Laurence's tower, Reading, £3 3s. to Hampstead Norris tower, leaving a balance in hand of £3 15s. 9d.

The Rev. H. Bonsey was unanimously re-elected chairman of the branch. Mr. H. W. Curtis was also re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and thanked for his work.

Messrs. T. Curtis, S. Quintin, F. Owen and A. Smith were elected as representatives to the general committee of the Guild.

Good reports were received from nearly every tower in the branch.

The Master congratulated the branch, and mentioned that he had given the address for some years past at the annual meeting, and said he very much appreciated the opportunity of being able to listen to so inspiring an address as the Rector's.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert congratulated the branch on the work of restoration, and Mr. A. J. Wright complimented Newbury Branch on its progress. He said it was fifth in order in the list for the whole of the Guild.

Two new honorary members were elected, and eleven new ringing members were also elected.

The next meeting was fixed for Beeton in February and the spring meeting for Kintbury in April, the dates being left to the secretary to arrange.

The meeting concluded with thanks, proposed by the chairman, to the Rector for his address, to the organist (Rev. J. M. Beaufort), and to Mrs. Curtis for providing an excellent tea.

The tower was again visited, and the bells kept going till 9.15.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. DISTRICT OFFICERS NOMINATED.

A meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Puttenham on Saturday, when members and visitors attended from Aldershot, Farnborough, Seale, Puttenham, Ash, Haslemere, Guildford, Godalming, Cranleigh, Clandon and the local band. The Guild's form of service was conducted and an address given by the Rector (the Rev. S. Power).

Ringling in various methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor was enjoyed on the bells during the afternoon and evening.

Mr. S. Marshall, churchwarden, presided at the business meeting, which followed tea in the Church Hut, and in accordance with the rules of the Guild nominations for district officers for 1930 were received. In the case of the District Ringing Master, secretary and auditor, no election will be necessary at the annual general meeting, as only one nomination was made for each office, namely, Mr. W. R. McIlville, of the Cathedral Church, Ringing Master; Mr. G. Glover, of East Clandon, secretary; and Mr. C. Hazelden, of S. Nicolas', Guildford, auditor.

For the two vacancies for ringing members on the executive committee of the Guild, Messrs. R. Whittington, S. Radford, S. Petter and L. Hunter were nominated, and this will necessitate a ballot at the general meeting.

Mr. S. Marshall, of Puttenham, was nominated as the district's hon. member on the executive committee.

The annual meeting of the district had been fixed for January 10th, but as the Guild dinner is to be held on that date it was decided to hold the former on February 14th.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector, the organist, and Mr. S. Marshall.

LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT.

The last meeting of the year of the Leatherhead District was held at the Parish Church of St. Martin, Epsom, on Saturday, November 15th, but, despite good going bells of easy access, the number of ringers attending was very poor. Maybe it was the weather or the ten bells, or was it that everyone said to himself, 'There will be plenty without me; I shall not be missed'? Anyway, the service was conducted at 4.30 by the Rev. Pattison Muir, who omitted the address; as he jokingly remarked afterwards, he had not the heart to preach to so few.

The service was followed by tea in the Church House, at which the Vicar presided, and at the business meeting, which followed, two ringing members and one honorary member were elected.

The retiring officers were renominated with the addition of two extra names to be submitted for election to the general committee.

A report on the last meeting of the Central Council was read by Mr. Grover, one of the Guild's representatives.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and the organist brought the business to an end. The tower was then revisited, and several 'firsts' were scored in Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, London and Cambridge Surprise Major, Stedman Caters and Treble Ten, with rounds for two young visitors.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A MEETING AT BRENTWOOD.

The meeting on Saturday last at Brentwood was not quite so well attended as is usual for the meetings of the South-Western Division, the inclement weather no doubt accounting for this, but nevertheless between 40 and 50 members were present during the afternoon and evening, the bells being made full use of for some excellent ringing. The service at 4.30 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar, who gave an inspiring address, and during the singing of the last hymn the collection for the Association Bell Restoration Fund was taken, and amounted to £1 7s. 8d.

A bounteous tea, kindly provided by the wives, mothers and friends of the St. Thomas Society, was partaken of in the Greenstead Hall. The meeting which followed was presided over by the Vicar (Canon Brown), supported by Mr. C. H. Howard (Master), A. Prior (District Master), Col. Frank Landon, Messrs. H. Hodgson, A. E. Rainbird, and R. B. Davey, hon. members. Miss D. M. Landon, of Brentwood, was elected a life member, together with one new honorary, one ringing, and one life non-resident member. Messrs. A. Prior and E. J. Butler were unanimously re-elected Master and hon. secretary respectively of the division for the ensuing year.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at West Ham, if possible in January next, and also to send a letter of condolence to Messrs. W. Miller and W. Watson sympathising with them in their illness, and wishing them a speedy recovery.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for allowing the use of tower and bells, for his inspiring address at the service, and for presiding at the tea and meeting, to the organist for kindly accompanying psalms, hymns, etc., to the ladies for providing tea, and to Messrs. Ringe and Ong and members of the Brentwood band for having everything in readiness.

During the afternoon and evening members were present from Romford, Maldon, Shenfield, Leigh, Prittlewell, Leytonstone, Langford, Great Baddow, Barking, West Tilbury, Braintree, Bentley, Chelmsford and Brentwood, and touches in various methods ranging from Grandsire to London Surprise were rung.

PEAL OF EIGHT FOR HINTON-ON-THE-GREEN.

HELP WANTED FOR TINY RURAL PARISH.

The church in the tiny parish of Hinton-on-the-Green, near Evesham, at present has a peal of five bells (tenor 12 cwt.) of somewhat unique local interest, inasmuch as they are one of the only two complete peals known to have been cast in Evesham. They were cast there by Messrs. Clarke and Bushell in the year 1705. For a number of years the parish has been well blessed with ringers, having an average of ten, and in one year no less than 16, and the bells have been regularly rung for services under the most disheartening conditions until they are no longer safe to ring or even chime.

The Church Council in the first instance decided on a thorough restoration scheme, and to augment the peal to six, when a lover of bells came forward and generously offered to defray the cost of the treble, provided they are increased to the octave, as the tower and present five lend themselves admirably to this fuller scheme.

The whole district is badly in need of a handy peal of eight in good order, as in this district, over a wide rural area, there is not a single peal of eight suitable for beginners.

The parish being a tiny one, with a population of under 200, almost all agricultural workers, it was felt that the undertaking would be too great without considerable outside help, and a few local ringers have set about the task of raising the cost of the 2nd bell. With the gift of the treble and the guarantee of the 2nd, the order for the octave has now been placed with the Loughborough Foundry. The rehanging scheme is a comprehensive one. It includes cleaning, tuning and quarter-turning, rehanging with entirely new and modern fittings and ball bearings in the existing frame, which will be strengthened.

Funds are still required for the scheme, and it is hoped to have the whole of the money in hand by the completion of the work, as, owing to the size of the parish, the question of any debt cannot be entertained.

Should any friends interested be able to assist, subscriptions, however small, may be sent, and will be gratefully acknowledged by:—

J. D. JOHNSON,

'A SUNDAY SERVICE MAN.'

DEATH OF MR. JAMES ELDERFIELD.

On Friday, November 14th last, James Elderfield, of Farnham Royal, Bucks, passed away suddenly from an internal trouble in the 63rd year of his age. He was one of a family of eleven children, his parents coming from Stoke Poges to Farnham some fifty years ago. Two of the five sons took up bellringing, under the instruction of Mr. J. J. Parker, with other young Farnham men of the period about 1890, including J. Basden (Ealing), C. Clarke, A. Crook, F. Elderfield (Fulmer), J. Parker, jun., C. Chapman, and J. Bovingdon. Of these, the only survivor now is the last-named.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, the 18th, the service being conducted by the Rector. In addition to a number of relatives and friends, officials were present representing the various organisations in which Mr. Elderfield took an active interest, viz., the Cricket and Football Clubs, Special Constabulary, Allotments Association, Church Bellringers, etc. A number of handsome floral tributes were placed around the grave, including one from the Rector and ringers and another from Sir Gomer Berry, of The Chase, where Mr. Elderfield was employed as a gardener for many years.

In the evening muffled touches were rung on the tower bells, conducted by Messrs. Parker and Hooper, in four methods, in which Messrs. Henley, Bateman, Basden, Batten, Bovingdon, Fussell, Smith and Hudson took part.

The deceased was strictly a 'Sunday service man.' He never went outside his own parish for ringing, except when the ringers and choir took their annual outing to some seaside town. He had taken part in fifteen peals on St. Mary's bells, mostly conducted by the veteran steeplekeeper, Mr. Parker: Oxford Bob Triples, 11; Grandsire Triples, 2; Kent Treble Bob Major, 2, including the first peal on the eight bells in October, 1893, and his last on December 1st, 1913. All were rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

BURNLEY'S LOSS.

DEPARTURE OF MR. RENNIE HARTLEY.

The belfry of Holy Trinity, Burnley, has become the poorer through the departure of Mr. Rennie Hartley, who has just recently removed to Fleetwood. The congregation and the ringers could not let him leave without giving him a small token of their appreciation of his work during the last thirty-four years. The presentation took place on Sunday, November 16th, in the presence of the local clergy and church officers and members of other towers in the district. The senior ringer made the presentation, which took the form of a gold Albert, and many of those present spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Hartley's work for the church and belfry.

Mr. Hartley thanked everyone for the nice things said of him, and managed to stay to ring for the evening service, when a well-struck 640 of Stedman Triples brought his official career at the church to a close. The good wishes of all go with him to his new sphere.

FIRST STEPS.

WELL-KNOWN ESSEX RINGER GIVES AN ADDRESS.

The annual meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association was held at Coggeshall on Saturday, November 15th, when, despite the inclement weather, 60 ringers attended from 24 parishes. Very little ringing has been done at Coggeshall for some time past, partly due to the bad 'go' of the bells. However, after a little lubrication several touches in various methods were brought round. A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. Pickford), Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Association, reading the lesson. The usual collection for the Essex Bell Restoration Fund was made, and amounted to 18s. 3d.

Tea was served at Ye Olde Woolpack Inn, where 58 sat down, the Vicar taking the chair. It is pleasing to note that 51 of that number had notified their intention to be present.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. Howard took the chair, supported by the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders) and the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell).

The secretary read a short report on the work of the division during the past year, in which he stated that five meetings had been held with an average attendance of 40, also two joint meetings. Twenty-five members had been elected and 33 peals had been rung on tower bells and handbells.

The Rev. F. Pickford was then elected an hon. member, and three other ringing members were also elected.

The District Master and secretary were unanimously re-elected for the ensuing year, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Rayne on February 14th, 1931.

Mr. Howard thanked the Vicar for the splendid reception he had given them and the excellent spirit he had shown by joining the association. The Vicar, in reply, said he did not understand much about ringing, only 'Bob Single,' and that was what he paid for his tea (laughter). 'but,' he added, 'with your help and good wishes I hope Coggeshall will soon stand out again among other ringing centres.'

The company was then entertained by Mr. W. Keeble with an essay on 'First Steps,' in the course of which he said that one night in December, 1894, a youth of 16 was about to take his 'First Steps' in the art of change ringing. The method was Grandsire Doubles. Another youth of 18 on the tenor called 'Go,' but just before the half-way single the ringer of the 3rd shouted, 'Call them round at half-way; he will never make a ringer.' However, with a little advice from the tenor man another attempt was made, and a passable 120 was rung. In May, 1895, this youthful aspirant rang 720 Bob Minor, followed up in February, 1896, by a 5,040 in the same method. Another 'first step' was taken by ringing a 5,040 Bob Minor at another tower, this time conducted by the youth referred to, and ringing a non-observation bell. Moral: 'It is never safe to prophesy.' In course of time the before-mentioned youth quitted home, and other 'first steps' were taken with credit and honour. The war intervened, and ringing practically ceased. Afterwards, the work of rebuilding weekly practices commenced. The youth had now become a Bob caller or conductor. During the years following he had the pleasure of tutoring several in that mysterious method called 'London,' and had the pleasing satisfaction of calling the first peal in that method in which the before-mentioned ringer of the 3rd took part. This youth had now become a tutor of 'first steps.' Mr. Keeble added that the first step to take was to teach the pupil to handle a bell properly, so that he could master it at every stroke and never let it master him. One met occasionally with ringers who in a touch in the simplest method were continually 'wool gathering.' Why could they not leave that alone and have a little consideration for the outside public?

It was to be noted that in recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World,' a writer used the word 'drone.' Well, there were some. What would they think if the parson preached the same sermon Sunday after Sunday, or the choir always sang the same hymns? Could not these drones see that in ringing, as in all else, progress must be made or back they would go? A well-known and popular ringer recently said: 'I fear I am entirely ignorant of one branch of ringing, i.e., conducting. What are the "first steps"?' The advice given was successful and much appreciated. 'Meeting here to-day,' concluded Mr. Keeble, 'where the bells go badly, and with the Master's consent, I have given you a brief opinion of "first steps." See that every "first step" you take is the correct one, and if it meets with your approval, my next essay shall be on "Winning through."'

This address opened a wide area for discussion, and various opinions were expressed, the Master thanking Mr. Keeble for the pleasant hour they had spent on the subject.

It was learned with regret that Mr. G. W. Moss, of Manningtree, Mr. W. J. Hazell, of Edmonton, and Mr. H. Evers, of West Bergholt, were all indisposed. The meeting passed a vote of sympathy with them, and requested the secretary to convey this expression in writing, which has since been done.

The towers of Kelvedon and Feering, in addition to Coggeshall, were available, and ringing was continued until 9 p.m.

'BELLS FOR SUNDAY WORSHIP.'

TICKHILL DIFFICULTIES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As Mr. Lloyd and 'Church Service Ringer' are one and the same person, I will go into the details of the events which led up to the quarter-peal of Stedman being rung at Tickhill.

It will first of all be necessary to go back to the summer of 1928. At that time we had at Tickhill a band of eight change ringers, but as one was nearly always at work on Sundays, and another was only mildly interested, it was nearly always a case of ringing Minor. As a band of service ringers, those six were far ahead of any service band round Doncaster, both as regards the number and quality of methods rung and the striking. A 720 of Cambridge could always be attempted with confidence, and quite a number of visitors rang their first 720 in that method at Tickhill. In a very short space of time, however, that band was broken up. One, owing to age and infirmity, had to give up ringing, the one who was only mildly interested finished altogether, another met with an accident which for some time has rendered him incapable of ringing, and three of us have left the district. This left two, one of whom, Mr. Hill, is both a capable ringer and conductor.

From 1922 to 1928 numerous attempts were made to augment the band, and I myself taught some thirty or forty beginners to handle a bell. A number of these, of course, fell away before they made any attempt at change ringing, but quite a few made good progress. It was most remarkable, however, that every one who made any headway left the district shortly afterwards. When I left in 1929 Mr. Hill was successful in getting together another band of learners, and it is to his credit that at the present time there are at Tickhill eleven ringers capable of ringing rounds, and all the bells are rung every Sunday for morning and evening service. Tickhill is so situated that visiting ringers are conspicuous by their absence, and as five of the band are on shift work, thus causing practices to be few and far between, it will readily be seen that progress is very, very slow. Mr. Hill has several times asked me if I could get a band to go and show them how the bells should be rung, and that was why the quarter-peal was rung. It was only the second occasion this year that genuine change ringing has been heard at Tickhill for a service. That the quarter-peal was appreciated is to put it mildly. The Vicar, lay reader, two churchwardens and quite a number of the congregation expressed their great pleasure and thanks to me at hearing the bells rung in changes again. I might add that nine of the local band turned up, and afterwards everyone had a pull in rounds with us.

Now turning to those ringers of other towers who were asked to stand in. I am assured that the only complaint is from Doncaster. The only ringer from there who was asked to stand in was, until he got married five years ago, a resident of Tickhill, and it was I who persuaded him to take up ringing, and he was the first person I taught to handle a bell and initiated into the art of change ringing. When he came to Tickhill for that Sunday he was but helping those who had helped him. Nearly half the present band at Doncaster were change ringers before they went there. It is nearly always the same: country places do the work, and towns like Doncaster reap the benefit. Of that I do not complain, but when a man like Mr. Lloyd writes a letter such as he did, it is either the height of selfishness or ignorance, or both. No tower has done as much as Tickhill to further the art of change-ringing round Doncaster, and no tower is in more need of help at the present time. I cannot recall one single instance of Mr. Lloyd helping anybody. Can he tell me of one? Has he had anything to say to the other four absentees who were not at Tickhill?

In his second letter I suppose his remark about the conductor means that I ought to be rather ashamed of myself for not being attached to any tower at present. Strictly speaking, I suppose I am still attached to Tickhill, but as I now live ten miles away it is very seldom that I am able to be there. In fact, to ring at any tower now takes up three hours of any Sunday morning or evening, and although I could always manage an hour for every service, I am seldom in a position to spare three.

If Mr. Lloyd is as keen on service ringing as he would have us believe, there is plenty of scope for him round Doncaster. Let him take his coat off and get to work, and when he has had as many setbacks and disappointments as we have had at Tickhill, if he comes through smiling and ready to do the same again, he will, indeed, be a church service ringer.—Yours faithfully,

J. E. CAWSE.

A WRINGTON BELL TO BE RECAST.

The fifth bell at Wrington, Somerset, is to be recast. This bell has become slightly cracked in the crown, and the recasting will be done by the Whitechapel Foundry, who did such excellent work in the tower in 1911. The work is to be carried out in memory of Lt.-Col. John Valentine Hesse and his wife, Ellen McGhie, also of Edward Dowell Marshall, M.A., of Pierce Hay, Wrington, son-in-law, as the gift of Rose Ethelind Marshall and John Harley Bridges Hesse.

An extra floor is to be placed in the belfry to deaden the sound in the ringing chamber, to which the ringers of Wrington are themselves generously contributing £10.

THE CHOICE OF METHODS.

Why do ringers 'take' to some methods and discard others? We do not include in the latter methods which, by their nature, fail to comply with the standards of these days, and are therefore really 'taboo,' but methods which may, broadly, be said to be as interesting to ring and as musical, or, if you like, as unmusical, as some of those which may be termed popular. The point raised last week by a correspondent regarding 'Duffield' brings this matter again to the front, and one is still left wondering why. Let us look for a moment at some of the facts. In 1913, the year in which the greatest number of peals was rung—viz., 2,359—the four most practised Surprise Major methods accounted for 177 peals, with 13 other Surprise peals divided between five methods. Of other peals of Major, 566 were either Treble Bob, Double Norwich or Plain Bob, with 18 peals divided between eight other methods. In 1929, when 1,665 peals were rung, the four popular Surprise Major methods produced 204 peals, and seven others produced 18 peals (apart from five 'Spliced'). In other Major methods Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Plain Bob accounted for 370 and 11 other peals were rung in eight other methods. These figures go to show that ringers' tastes and practice generally have changed but very little in the last 16 years. Triples and peals on the higher numbers exhibit very much the same characteristics; ringers cling tenaciously to the old and well known methods. Here and there a band experiments with something new; but nothing seems to take the popular fancy in plain methods any more than in the more advanced. Indeed, in the last thirty years only one new method can be said to have really made a wide appeal, and that is Bristol Surprise, which won its place on its own merits, both in its construction and its musical qualities.

How is it ringers, as a whole, show so little desire to ring fresh methods? They have them in plenty, so it cannot be for lack of material. Neither can it be for lack of skill, for there are many ringers to-day who, given a few hours to study a diagram, could make quite a good show at ringing any method of ordinary construction. Is it lack of initiative, or is it that in the great majority of towers a complete band cannot be kept together long enough to get over the stages of laying the foundation? Quite a lot depends upon this latter element. Unless the foundations have been well laid, it is impossible to build properly, but once a band is established and has properly grasped the principles, there is, given opportunities, nothing to prevent them from going on from method to method almost indefinitely.

Whatever the cause, it does seem strange, on reflection, that so many of the good methods that exist should go unrun. For those ringers who have got no further than plain Major there are vast and interesting possibilities in the Central Council's Collection, which offers easy steps to the more complicated things. For example, many ringers, if they want to get away from Plain Bob, are turned straight on to Double Norwich. The work in the latter is many stages removed from the former and months are often spent in trying to learn the fresh method; whereas in the Council's Collection is a series of methods which would take the learner by easy and comparatively quick stages, giving him a constant new interest instead of blunting the keenness of his ambition against a rock which he finds tantalisingly difficult to surmount. Yet it seems as if all except a very few limit themselves to the well established methods and make little or no effort to explore what may be termed the by-paths, and it is, we believe, more because of this than of any difficulties or demerits in the vast bulk of other methods that so little is done away from the beaten track and ringers cling to what everyone else is practising and put aside the rest.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT MITCHAM.

A meeting of the North-Western District was held at Mitcham on Saturday, and proved, as all who attended will agree, the most enjoyable meeting of the year. About sixty ringers attended during the afternoon and evening from Banstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Brockley, Bushey, Chelsea, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Ealing, Erith, Ewell, Hillingdon, Merton, Mersham, Mitcham (Christ Church and Parish Church), Streatham, Sutton and Woodford. The light peal of six at Christ Church were open from 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods until five o'clock, when a very enjoyable service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. D. G. Matthews). Tea had been prepared at the Welfare Centre, through the kind generosity of the Christ Church company, a party of 52 sitting down to a meal that only ringers really know how to enjoy, but even this large company could not quite clear the tables of eatables.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, supported by Mr. D. K. C. Birt (Master of the Association). Four new ringing members were elected, and the District Secretary reported that the new certificates were now ready and could be obtained from him at the price of 1s., and he hoped all members of the association would apply for one.

It was proposed to send a letter of congratulation and good wishes from the meeting to Mr. Cyril Johnston, of the Croydon Bell Foundry, and an honorary member of the association, who was married earlier in the day.

The Master, in a short speech, said how pleased he was to see so many young ringers joining the association, and he urged the ringers in all towers to do their utmost to teach the younger ringers to come on, and so keep the bands at full strength.

A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of Christ Church for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the Vicar of the Parish Church, whose bells were available during the evening, also to the captain and band of Christ Church for their kind generosity in providing the tea, and to the ladies who waited at the tables.

The Vicar, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Reading, of the local company, suitably replied.

The bells in both towers were kept going during the evening in methods ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Minor and Major, and Spiced Surprise Major. The secretary finds he made an error in giving out the date of the district annual meeting at St. Peter's, Croydon. It is to be held on January 24th, not the 31st.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CHELTENHAM BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association took place at Prestbury on Saturday, November 22nd, when the nice ring of eight were set going at three o'clock, and soon a good number of ringers were waiting to take their share in the ringing.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Bagot de la Bere), Canon F. W. Sears, of Leckhampton, reading the lesson.

After service, members adjourned to the Church Room, where a splendid tea was in readiness, given by the Vicar, who had the help of many lady friends. Before he left, a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for all he had done that day, and, in reply, he said how very pleased he was to welcome the branch to his church.

The business meeting followed with Canon F. W. Sears (chairman of the branch) in the chair, supported by Rev. E. G. Benson, of Tewkesbury, and forty members from the following towers: Dumbleton, Alderton, Swindon, Cheltenham (St. Mark's), Badgeworth, Charlton Kings, Tewkesbury, Gloucester, Burford, Leckhampton and the local tower.

The Secretary gave a short report of the year's work, and congratulated the bands that rang the Double Norwich at Leckhampton and the peal of Doubles at Badgeworth.

Two new members from Prestbury and two from Swindon were elected.

Mr. J. Austin praised Mr. Albert Wright and his band on their great performance of the previous Saturday at Painswick, and Mr. J. Ballinger, who rang the 11th, replied.

Mr. Walter Rose, of Prestbury, was elected on the special sub-committee which is to consider the question of reaffiliation to the Central Council.

The following were re-elected officers of the branch for the coming year, and thanked for their past services: Chairman, Canon F. W. Sears (Leckhampton); representative, Mr. G. H. Walters (Prestbury); hon. secretary, Mr. Walter Yeend (Swindon).

Withington was selected for the next meeting in the late spring, the arrangements being left to the secretary.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

During the afternoon and evening the following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Little Bob, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich, as well as rounds for the beginners.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Congratulations are offered to Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, wife of the hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, who has returned to ringing after a few years' absence, on ringing a quarter-peal on Sunday evening last. Mrs. Mitchell, as Miss Ethel Goodship, was in the first attempt for a ladies' peal, which unfortunately came to grief.

Composers of peals of Triples will soon have to get busy and produce something new, or Maurice Swinfield, of Burton-on-Trent, will have exhausted the supply of compositions. Last week he rang his one hundredth peal of Triples for the Midland Counties Association, as conductor, and every one has been a different composition!

Mr. James George seems, at last, to have 'got going' with peal ringing. Having had a bit of practice down at Painswick the other day, he is now ringing peals so fast that we are losing count of them. It is fortunate, therefore, that the report of a peal rung last Saturday at Derby reminds us that it was his 1,100th! Some people may say he ought to be ashamed of such a record, but, there, what can you do with these irrepressible boys?

A peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Michael Coslany, Norwich, on December 6th, 1731. Six weeks before, there had been a peal of Stedman rung at Mancroft, and it led to a great deal of feeling between the rival bands. The St. Michael's band claimed that theirs was 'the first time that ever it was rung,' thus casting doubts on the Mancroft peal.

According to contemporary records, before the peal at St. Michael's was begun, the Mancroft company employed a bellman to 'cry about the streets the following scandalous verses':—

This is to give notice to all sorts of people,
That the ringers that practise at St. Michael's steeple,
Have crazed their brains by setting forth false pretences,
That it is to be feared they have quite lost their senses.
Therefore let 'em repair to John Foster's, and 'tis plain
There's those that can help them to their senses again.

The 'five ones' (11,111) of Stedman Caters was rung at Fulham on December 8th, 1883.

It was at Painswick on December, 1833, that the 10,224 of Trolle Bob Maximus was rung, which stood as the longest in the method until the Ashton-under-Lyne peal in 1911.

The first peal on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral was rung on December 10th, 1881. Mr. Ted Horvex was the last survivor of that band.

In the two hundred and more years that have elapsed since the first peal on record, there have not been many peals of 'Real Double Caters,' but George Gross composed one and conducted it at St. Magnus, London Bridge, on December 10th, 1770—just 160 years ago next Wednesday.

The peal at Ilkeston, recorded last week, was rung on Wednesday, November 19th, not Thursday, the 20th, as reported.

On St. Cecilia's Day, November 22nd, the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral were rung from 3 to 4 p.m. The ringing took place at the instigation of Mr. E. Alexander Young (secretary of the Central Council), prior to a service for the musical fraternity, whose patron saint is St. Cecilia.

MARRIAGE OF MR. C. F. JOHNSTON AND MISS M. E. O'LEARY

CROYDON BELL FOUNDRY'S WEDDING.

The marriage took place on Saturday, at St. Mary's Church, Cadogan Gardens, London, of Mr. Cyril Frederick Johnston (head of the firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Bell Foundry, and son of the late Mr. A. A. Johnston and of Mrs. Johnston, of Broadwater, Addiscombe Road, Croydon), and Miss Mary Evelyn O'Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Evelyn O'Leary, of Sydney House, Bedford Park, London.

MISS MARY E. O'LEARY.

From his intimate connection with the bell world, Mr. Cyril F. Johnston is widely known to ringers all over the country. The work which his firm has done in hundreds of belfries has brought him into personal contact with members of the Exercise in every corner of England and beyond, and Saturday's event is, therefore, one of unusual interest to a very large circle of ringing friends.

There was a picturesque setting for the wedding ceremony at St. Mary's, the church being decorated with lilies and pink and white chrysanthemums. Miss O'Leary made a charming bride in a dress of parchment satin, with a train of old Brussels lace and tulle veil. She carried a sheaf of lilies. The bridesmaid was Miss Nannette O'Leary (sister), who wore a dress of turquoise blue georgette, and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses. The small train bearers, Master John Norman (nephew of the bride) and Miss Xenia Cox, were attired in parchment satin. The bride's mother wore a dress of wine satin, with black hat and fur coat. Mrs. Johnston was gowned in blue velvet and georgette, with a toque to match; while Miss Nora Johnston wore a dress of red georgette trimmed with beige fur.

The bridal party was met at the entrance to the church by the officiating clergyman (the Rev. C. E. Sutton) and the choir, and the bride advanced up the aisle leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. H. O. Serpell, J.P., who, owing to the illness of her father, gave the bride away. Mr. Highmore King, son of the late Sir George King, was the best man. The service was fully choral, and was attended by a large gathering of friends of both families and by many members of the Croydon Foundry staff.

Unfortunately there is no peal of bells at St. Mary's, Cadogan Gardens, and it was impossible, therefore, at this church, to give the happy pair the customary ringers' salute upon their marriage, but arrangements were made for ringing at St. Luke's Church, Chelsea, in honour of the occasion, and the bride and bridegroom, on the way to the reception, drove to St. Luke's and listened for a short while to the wedding bells.

About a hundred guests were present at the reception given at Hans Crescent Hotel, and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. C. F.

A CHIME OF TWELVE BELLS. ADDITION TO A SURREY CHURCH.

On Wednesday of last week, the Bishop of Guildford dedicated a chime of twelve bells and a new clock at the Parish Church of St. Peter, Frimley, Surrey. The bells, which consist of ten in the diatonic scale and two half notes, have a tenor of 12½ cwt., and have been cast and installed by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. There was formerly in this tower one bell, a recast in 1872 of a bell by Bryan Eldridge, of Chertsey, dated 1654. The tower is of small dimensions, and is too frail to carry a peal hung for ringing, but by the generous gift of Caroline Lavinia Johnson, as a thankoffering, Frimley is in possession of a delightful chime.

Despite a drenching evening, the spacious church was filled for the service, and many of the congregation lingered afterwards to hear the recital on the bells given by Mr. Harry Withers, of Birmingham, who, immediately after the dedicatory prayers, played the hymn, 'We love the place, O God.' Subsequently his recital included a perfectly tapped course of Erin Caters, a selection of hymn tunes, and Welsh, Irish, Scotch and English melodies, in which he brought out all the beauties of the chime. The large audience was delighted, both with the excellence of the playing, upon which Mr. Withers afterwards received many congratulations, and the beautiful tones of the bells, which are typically fine specimens of Loughborough work. The bells are, of course, hung 'dead,' and are operated by a clavier.

The clock, by Messrs. Smith, of Derby, is of the electric self-winding type, which chimes the Westminster quarters and strikes the hours.

A tablet in the church porch, under the tower, records the gift, and on the waist of the tenor bell is the inscription: 'Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam Dedit Donum Caroline Lavinia Johnson. A.D. 1930.' Round the inscription band is: 'Taylors, Founders, Loughborough.'

Mr. J. P. Fidler represented the founders at the opening ceremony.

THE HINTON BELLS APPEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The appeal for contributions toward the rehanging, etc., of the bells at Hinton-on-the-Green, near Evesham, which you published in your last issue, should have the sympathy of all interested in bells. A peal of eight would be of great help to many ringers in this district, but it is impossible, in these times, for an agricultural parish of this size to raise the money without outside assistance. Mr. Johnson, who makes the appeal, is a native of the parish, and he and his father have been of very great assistance in this district in helping and teaching others.

We in Worcestershire are grateful for the support you have given to the appeal, but to remove any misapprehension may I state that a donation was contributed from the funds of the Worcestershire Association of just double the amount previously given to any other parish, and a collection was made at the service on the occasion of the annual meeting. In addition, many members have privately helped, so that your readers will see that we have already given this appeal our practical and most sincere support.

In conclusion, may I personally thank you for calling attention to and supporting this scheme for a ring of eight at Hinton-on-the-Green. I sincerely hope it will be successful.—Yours truly,

JAMES R. NEWMAN,
Hon. Secretary, Worcestershire Association.

Johnston left for Paris, where the honeymoon is being spent. The bride travelled in a coral pink dress and hat, and squirrel coat.

They were the recipients of a large number of handsome and valuable presents from, among others, the Right Hon. Sir William Mitchell-Thompson, M.P., the Bishop of Croydon and Mrs. Woods, Mr. Montague C. Norman (governor of the Bank of England), Mr. H. O. Serpell, J.P., Lady King, Mr. Highmore King, Sir Claude and Lady Morrison-Bell, Lady Eldridge, etc.

On Thursday of last week Mr. Johnston was presented with a silver tea and coffee service, as a token of esteem by the staff and employees of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The presentation was made by Mr. W. Steer, who has been in the employ of the firm for over forty years, and was suitably acknowledged by Mr. Johnston.

Immediately after the ceremony at St. Mary's, 504 Stedman Triples was rung at St. Luke's, Chelsea, by D. Wright (conductor) 1, R. H. Dove 2, F. E. Larbey 3, B. N. Newson 4, J. W. Trappitt 5, E. J. Trimmer 6, C. H. Kippin 7, W. Essery 8. With the exception of the ringers of 7 and 8, all the band are employees at the Croydon Bell Foundry. At Croydon Parish Church (where Mr. Johnston first learned to ring) a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung to celebrate the event by R. Loveland 1, F. E. Mitchell 2, H. Skelt 3, G. H. Humphries 4, J. E. Cooper 5, J. Rumble, jun., 6, D. Cooper (conductor) 7, J. Cawley 8. The same afternoon members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, of which Mr. Johnston is a life member, rang a peal of Norfolk Surprise at Warnham, in honour of the occasion.

A peal was also to be attempted by members of the Surrey Association, with which Mr. Johnston has long been closely connected, at Christ Church, Epsom, on Wednesday, illness near the church preventing a similar attempt at St. Peter's, Croydon.

THE LONGEST PEAL ON FIVE BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Replying to 'Extremes' query regarding the longest peal on five bells, my records show that 7,080 Doubles were rung at Wrentham, Suffolk, January 3rd, 1824, in 4 hours. A greater length is recorded, however, on a tablet at Whapload, Lincolnshire, thus:—

'Feby. 27th, 1775,
Peals by Wm. Jackson, Richd. Harwood, Wm. Money, Stepn. Davis &
Richd. Pottenger. Raised & settled the Bells in 7 hours & 25 minutes.'

Unfortunately there is no mention of method or methods rung.

The longest peal on five bells in Leicestershire or by the M.C.A. was 6,600 changes, rung at Billesdon, conducted by yours sincerely,
ERNEST MORRIS.

Leicester.

TWO SOMERSET PEALS.

Dear Sir,—In answer to 'Extremes' re long peals of Doubles, on February 2nd, 1901, in 4 hrs.-12 mins., 7,440 of Bob Doubles was rung half-muffled for Queen Victoria, and on May 20th, 1910, in 4 hrs. 30 mins., 8,160 (68 six-scores) of Grandsire Doubles, rung half-muffled for King Edward VII.'s funeral. These two peals were rung at Norton Fitzwarren by members of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and conducted by the late Mr. T. Creed. Both peals were rung with the tenor covering.—Yours truly,

J. HUNT.

Taunton.

ROMNEY MARSH GUILD.

MAYOR ELECTED A MEMBER.

In spite of the inclement weather, members from all parts of the district turned up at the meeting of the Romney Marsh Guild at Tenterden for a pull on this fine peal of bells, and, incidentally, to pass an opinion on Messrs. Bowell's work in rehanging the seventh. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. with a short touch of Stedman Triples, and was followed during the afternoon and evening by Grandsire, Superlative, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge and Double Norwich, with rounds for the learners. The Vicar and two churchwardens paid an early visit to the belfry. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave an address. Mr. W. E. Pitman, Mus.Bac., presided at the organ. The ringers then adjourned to the Temperance Hotel for tea. The Vicar presided, supported by the two wardens, the Guild Master (Mr. C. W. Everett), and the hon. secretary (Mr. A. J. Batten), the company numbering 38. The Vicar also took the chair at the business meeting which followed, when Charing was chosen for the next meeting on December 20th. The Master proposed the election of the Rev. M. L. Man as an hon. member, and, in thanking the members, the Vicar expressed his pleasure at meeting and welcoming so many churchworkers to Tenterden. He assured them that the clergy really did appreciate the time and energy they gave to the church.

The Hon. Secretary then proposed that the two churchwardens be elected hon. members, and said he felt sure the Guild would be pleased to have them, especially as the Vicar's warden, Col. Findlator, was now Mayor of Tenterden. He could assure them from a ringer's point of view they were ideal wardens. He (the speaker) happened to be secretary of the local band, and lately they seemed to want a good deal in the belfry, but their wardens never made any trouble of it. It was, 'Oh yes, certainly,' and they got on with the job (applause).—Mr. C. Ballard seconded, and the elections were carried with acclamation.

Lt.-Col. Findlator thanked the members for the great honour they had done him, and said, although he did not understand their art, he loved to hear the bells, and he was very pleased to be among them and to associate himself with their work. He also welcomed them to Tenterden.—Mr. Hippley Smith also briefly replied.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Pitman having been accorded, the Vicar, in concluding the meeting, said he was sure they would all like him to express their pleasure at being able to meet under the roof of their oldest ringer, Mr. G. Cramp, and their appreciation of the splendid way Mrs. Cramp had catered for them.

A return was then made to the tower until 8.30 p.m. All who had previously experienced the bad 'go' of the 7th were satisfied that Messrs. Bowell had completed another successful job.

A YOUNG CORNISH RINGER.

At Kenwyn Parish Church, Truro, on Friday, November 28th, in 48 minutes, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Cyril Lanxon (aged 12, first quarter-peal on eight) 1, J. Sedgley 2, W. E. Minors 3, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 4, A. M. Thomas 5, A. S. Roberts (conductor) 6, F. W. Marshall 7, H. Williams 8. The treble ringer is the youngest to ring a quarter-peal in Cornwall. All are members of the Truro Cathedral band, except the ringer of the fifth, who is the son of the Vicar of Kenwyn, this being his first quarter-peal of Triples 'inside.' The touch was a compliment to a nephew of the fourth ringer on his birthday.

THE PAINSWICK PEAL*To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—The Maximus peal at Ashton-under-Lyne and the Cinques peal at Painswick has disturbed the minds of a few. The Central Council will not recognise peals rung on seven, nine or eleven bells only. Being odd-bell methods, the Council will recognise them when an additional bell is added as a covering bell, and therefore they come under the heading of 8, 10 or 12 bell peals, and twelve bells were necessary at Painswick. Those who rang at Ashton-under-Lyne should be satisfied with their peal of Maximus, and those at Painswick with their peal of Cinques. I agree with Mr. Ernest Morris that ringers should know the difference between Cinques and Maximus, and the bands of each record be content with each performance.

Mr. A. E. Reeves has been described in these pages as 'a level-headed' ringer, or words to this effect, and I agree, but I cannot conceive that his letter is his own considered thoughts.

After the Painswick peal, I anticipated a letter to 'The Ringing World' from Mr. C. T. Coles, and in this he did not disappoint.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR PRINCE.

Bath.

RECORDS ARE 'CHANGE RINGING' RECORDS.

Dear Sir,—My reason in asking the question, Can an 18,000 of Minor, with 6-8 or 7-8 covering, be called an eight-bell record? was this: Now and again peals of Doubles are rung with 4-6-8 covering. I admit eight bells are not essential for a peal of Minor, neither are three covering bells to a peal of Doubles. And peals of Doubles rung thus are recognised by their associations, and also published as eight-bell peals. But I quite agree with your opinion, 'Certainly not.' If a band were successful in ringing such a peal as I described, it would certainly not be recognised, and probably laughed at, but the fact remains that it would be a six-bell record, as all the Minor changes could only be rung by six bells. And that is my point in regard to the Painswick peal. Our records are records of change ringing, and as the change ringing at Painswick was done on eleven bells, my opinion is that it is the eleven-bell record. With regard to Mr. Morris' letter, 'Why Worry?' I don't think there is any reason to worry much. All we are trying to get at is this: Is the Painswick peal the twelve-bell record?—Yours faithfully,

A. E. REEVES.

Bristol.

HOW LONG COULD THE TENOR MAN HAVE CONTINUED?

Sir,—I, in common with all other twelve-bell ringers, have been much interested in the correspondence, and your excellent 'leader,' together with the circumstances generally, that have appeared in your valuable paper since the success of the record peal of Grand-sire Cinques at Painswick recently. Technically, it was, of course, an odd-bell method on an even number of bells, the tenor finishing each successive change, without which it would have been impossible to have attained it. The performance has been duly recorded in your paper under the usual heading of 'Twelve-bell peals,' which definition has obtained without question for many years. There are no entries for 9, 7 or 5 bell peals.

Now, as we all presume, and it goes without saying, that a tablet will be placed in the ringing chamber recording the performance, I have a strong presentiment that it is extremely unlikely they will omit the name of the tenor man, therefore it certainly becomes a twelve-bell peal. At the same time, we, as ringers, know that there is no comparison, from the scientific point of view, between the Cambridge Maximus and the Grandsire Cinques.

By the way, speaking of the 'tenor man,' everyone, of course, knows him—not to know Jim George is to argue one's self unknown—and I have enjoyed the privilege of his personal acquaintance for nearly fifty years. We are all fully aware of the wonderful ability of this genial personality, his enthusiasm and marvellous 'staying' powers; nothing seems to 'knock him up'! I have had the pleasure of taking part in many performances in which he has astonished the band by his 'fresh' condition at the finish. I can recall some wonderful instances such as 'the big bell at Bow' for Treble Twelve in, the tenor bell at Worcester Cathedral (surely one of the greatest performances), and many others too numerous to mention.

As the peal at Painswick occupied over 1½ hours, it now occurs to me that it would be a matter of very great interest to the ringing Exercise generally to be furnished with a reasonable estimate as to actually how long 'Sir' James could have rung the bell on this occasion, and 'as the onlooker sees most of the game,' I respectfully suggest that all the band furnish their own idea on the subject to our esteemed friend, Mr. Albert Wright—the able and capable conductor, who will transmit the result to you for the benefit of 'each and every' of us, who will gladly take off our hats to this wonderful and energetic old man, who has the audacity to appear only half the age he actually is!—Yours, etc.,

FRANCIS E. DAWE.

(Other letters on this subject are held over.)

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The society's November meeting was held at Headingley. Ringing took place in the afternoon at St. Chad's Church, and a very good muster took tea together before proceeding to St. Michael's in the evening.

The business meeting was held in St. Michael's tower. The president was unable to be present, and Mr. Strangeway (vice-president) took the chair. Four new members were elected.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Pudsey on January 24th.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicars of the respective churches for the use of the bells, and to the local companies for the necessary arrangements. During the day the following methods were attempted: Plain Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Superlative and London.

THE 26-SURPRISE METHOD PEAL.

On November 29th, a peal tablet, placed in the belfry of St. Mary's Church, Lamberhurst, by the church authorities, recording the peal in 26 Surprise methods, rung last May, was dedicated by the Vicar, Rev. E. Salisbury Jose. The Vicar, in a short address, said the church authorities had placed that tablet in the belfry to show their appreciation of the work done by the ringers, also with the hope that it would be an incentive to future ringers to give of their best in the belfry.

The ringers were afterwards entertained to tea at the Chequers Hotel, and the tower was again visited, and touches in various methods were rung until 8.30.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Writtle on Saturday, forty-four members being present from Braintree, Broomfield, Blackmore, Brentwood, Chelmsford, Galleywood, Great Baddow, Maldon, Rettendon, Springfield and Writtle. The service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave an inspiring address. The lesson was read by Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association). Tea was served at the Rose and Crown, presided over by the Vicar, supported by Mr. C. H. Howard and the District Master.

A business meeting followed, Mr. C. H. Howard presiding. Mr. G. Green was re-elected District Master, and Mr. A. E. Coombes hon. secretary.—Three new ringing members were elected.

It was arranged to hold the next meeting at Rettendon on Saturday, February 21st.

Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the officers for their services during the past year, and also to the Vicar for the use of the bells.

A POSTPONED MEETING.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Association, advertised to take place at Norton-sub-Hamdon on November 29th, had to be postponed at the last moment to December 6th owing to two deaths in the parish.

Every effort was made to advise all who had promised to attend, but in case of any turning up, the Vicar of Martock, who is president of the branch, kindly offered the use of his bells. One ringer from Sherborne and another from Yeovil came on to Martock, and with the help of the local ringers rang some Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob. They heard that a ringer from Swindon had been to Norton, but that gentleman did not arrive at Martock.—Yours faithfully,

F. FARRANT,

Branch Secretary.

A JUBILEE.

A peal rung at St. Andrew's, Wells Street, London, on November 29th, commemorated the fiftieth anniversary of the bells, which were dedicated after evensong on St. Andrew's Eve, 1880. They are a ring of eight, cast by Lewis, of Brixton, a famous firm of organ builders. They are a 'maiden' peal, hung just as they left the mould, the tenor being 21 cwt. In the opinion of many good judges they are a fine peal, and, writes a correspondent, retaining their virgin purity, ring as true to-day as when Ted Horrex and C. F. Winney listened to them on that Monday night fifty years ago. The bells were the gift of Susanna Imbert Terry in memory of her daughter, and were opened by the Royal Cumberland Youths. The bells bear Latin inscriptions, one portion being two verses from St. Bernard's hymn, 'Jesus dulcis memoria,' and the other relating to the circumstances of the gift.

DARLEY DALE.—On Wednesday, November 26th, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor: J. Taylor 1, W. Blagshaw 3, E. Blackwell 4, H. Taylor 5, B. Allsop 6, G. H. Paulson (conductor) 7, R. Allsop tenor covering. First 720 of Oxford for 1, 3, 5, 7, 8. Also a plain course of Cambridge Surprise Minor.

A WEST COUNTRY DINNER.

AXBRIDGE DEANERY'S SUCCESSFUL VENTURE.

Enthusiasm and enterprise made a huge success of the venture undertaken by the Axbridge Deanery of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, when, at Weston-super-Mare, they organised a dinner and social. The company numbered nearly 200, and they spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening, thanks in large measure to the efforts of the hon. secretary, Mr. L. G. Tanner. Dinner was served at the Cairo Hotel, and the company, which was presided over by the Rev. E. S. C. Locke, Master of the Association, included ringers from Weston-super-Mare, Burnham-on-Sea, Bristol, Bath, London, Uphill, Kewstoke, Bauwell, Cheddar, Congresbury, Bleadon, Lymsham, East Brent, Brent Knoll, West Pennard, Compton Martin, Churchill, Shipham, Compton Bishop and Chew Magna.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, the Rev. J. H. H. Doorbar (Kewstoke) proposed that of 'The Axbridge Deanery.' He said he thought the branch was second to none in the Archdeaconry of Wells and in the diocese (hear, hear). It owed its excellent position to the extraordinary list of very eminent presidents—he happened to be one of them (laughter). The excellent position of the branch was also due to the extraordinarily energetic secretary. They must admit that the very fact they had met together was due to that lump of human energy known as Len Tanner (applause). His work as secretary was known to all ringers. Mr. Tanner thought that the ringers should get 'oiled' at least once a year (laughter). He objected to their getting oiled at any other time, especially when they were ringing! 'To-night he has tried to oil the bearings of our friendships,' the speaker continued, 'to marshal us as a unit; to teach us that we are part of a great organisation; and to get a little oil into our wheels so that the comradeship and good feeling which ought to exist among ringers shall be cemented at least once a year.' The ringers represented a very important piece of church work, he added. He was told there was a preparation used on a very large scale by rural, urban and municipal authorities, which was supposed to keep Council houses together—they wanted it! (laughter). He was told it would mend leaks in roofs, stop floor-boards from dissolving partnership, stop shutting from leaking, and if freely applied would double the life of a Council house—a very necessary thing indeed. He was told on the best authority that the people who used that stuff called it 'bunkum' (laughter). Mr. Tanner must know something about that stuff! Some people might be ringing the changes, but ringers would stick to change ringing, and they hoped the branch would grow. The ringers met together to call people to prayer and worship; to send happy couples along their happy voyage of life; and to close the door behind the departed with a muffled peal. Ringers had very important duties indeed. He saw from the 'Diocesan Gazette' that the Axbridge Deanery was very well off in the matter of towers with six and eight bells, and if the Axbridge Deanery was not second to none in the archdeaconry and in the diocese, it was the ringers' own fault. They had a wonderful supply of towers with six bells, and counting the tubular bells at Hewish—(laughter)—there were five towers with eight bells.

Responding, the President (the Rev. L. T. Powys David) remarked that he was no bellringer. 'Ask some of the Bleadon boys,' he said amid laughter. 'I get the bell a little bit too much over, and I have to work as hard as I can to keep up with the rest, and the whole thing ends up in a crash. Time, perhaps, will mend all that. I am told that if I come to the practices I will make quite a good ringer in time.' His experience as president during the past year had taught him that for real enthusiasm in bellringing the members of the Axbridge Deanery Branch would take a lot of beating (hear, hear). They rolled up in large number at all the meetings, and they were always enthusiastic gatherings.

The President also submitted 'The Visitors,' saying he was pleased to know that there were so many guests from places as far away as Bristol and Bath. That gathering was the first of its kind in their Deanery, but they were living in hopes that it would not be the last by a long way: that they would meet together for equally pleasurable gatherings for many more years. The success of such a venture as that depended to a large extent upon the number of visitors they had. They looked to the visitors for propaganda. They wanted to stimulate interest and keenness for bellringing everywhere. They wanted wives and sweethearts to stir up their men-folk to come along and help.

Mr. W. Thomas, of Bristol, suitably responded.

The toast of 'The Press and "The Ringing World"' was submitted by Mr. L. G. Tanner, who spoke of the power of the Press, and appealed for support for 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. W. A. Cave, of Bristol, responded to the toast.

The artistes were thanked on the motion of the Rev. S. R. Hosbons.

Mr. H. Minifie, who replied, remarked that the young men of today were not fond of hard work, like their ancestors were. 'I was speaking to a young fellow the other day,' he said, 'and asked him, "Why don't you take up ringing?" "Ringing is too much like hard work," he replied. "Your dad did before you," I reminded him. "I don't care," he said, "I'm not taking up any ringing."'

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Eastern District was held at Houghton-le-Spring on Saturday. There were only a fair number of members present, and the methods rung were Kent and Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Double Norwich.

After a splendid tea in the old Kepier School, a short meeting was held, Mr. R. L. Patterson being in the chair. Mr. J. W. Parker proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, which was carried with acclamation. Mr. Parker went on to say that although the meeting was short in numbers, there had been some good ringing, and it was a great pleasure to come and give the learners a hand.

It was proposed that Gateshead be the place for the next meeting, which was to be held on Saturday, January 17th.

The ringers after the meeting brought their chairs round the fire, and some handbell ringing took place, after which they went back to the belfry and kept the bells going until 8.30 p.m.

It was a very happy meeting, and all who were there thoroughly enjoyed it.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

A meeting was held at Hertford on Saturday, when the peal of ten bells at All Saints' Church and the eight at St. Andrew's were open for ringing during the afternoon and evening. Members and friends were present from Harlow Common, Broxbourne, Edmonton, Ware, Hertford, Ipswich, Beddington, Rickmansworth, Nazeing, Bushey, Waltham Abbey, Benington and St. Albans, together with the district secretary.

A bright and earnest address was given at the service by the Rev. Randolph Smith, and the organist kindly gave his services, the hymns being heartily sung.

Mr. G. Gray, of Hertford, was voted to the chair at the meeting which was held after tea, and a short discussion upon the benevolent scheme took place.

The Vicar was heartily thanked for his address, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. T. N. Gardner, Rector of St. Andrew's, for allowing the ringers to use the bells at that church.

'TOAST TO THE PRESS'

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the report appearing in your issue of November 21st, of the toast to 'The Press' at the College Youths' Dinner, Mr. R. T. Hibbert is quoted as having said that, 'all editors were sons of Ananias.' To give a bare statement of this kind without the context in which it appeared, gives a false impression of the meaning of the speaker, and I ask you, sir, to publish this letter giving the statement referred to in full. Mr. Hibbert said: 'If you read the "Daily Herald," the "Daily Mail," and the "Daily Sketch," you are in a maze, and you come to the conclusion that all editors are sons of Ananias.' Possibly others who were present noticed this point, and I think it is one that is best corrected, as it is liable to misinterpretation as published.—Yours faithfully,

G. N. PRICE.

[No one who knows Mr. Tom Hibbert will take him too seriously on this subject, but since Mr. Price is anxious there should be no false impression, and yet has misquoted both 'The Ringing World' and Mr. Hibbert, let us remove all doubts and give exactly what was written and what was said. 'The Ringing World' report of Mr. Hibbert's speech (on page 750) was that Mr. Hibbert 'summed up all newspaper men as "sons of Ananias."' What Mr. Hibbert actually said on this point—and we take it from the shorthand note of his speech—was: 'I know there are some journalists in the room, but if you read the "Daily Herald," and then you read the "Daily Mail," and then the "Daily Mirror," you are in a maze, and you will find, as I have said before, that all journalists are sons of Ananias.'—Ed., 'R.W.')

That is our trouble,' Mr. Minifie said. 'We have to convince the young men round the diocese that it is a real pleasure.' It was a delightful pastime, bringing out the best characteristics in a man—and sometimes the worst, he added, amid laughter.

The health of 'The hostess' was drunk on the proposition of Mr. G. H. Fruen (Burnham-on-Sea), and the chairman was thanked for presiding, on the motion of Mr. Tanner.

The speeches were interspersed with enjoyable entertainment, provided by the following: Miss Evelyn Urch, Miss Price, Mr. L. G. Tanner, Messrs. C. Grinfield and H. Minifie, and the Uphill Quartette. The function concluded with a dance, which was kept up until midnight, and in this connection special thanks are due to Mr. H. Minifie for so kindly obliging at the piano for certain dances which the gramophone records would not supply.

Many of those who attended were late in their application for tickets, and several came without having given any notification: as a result three tickets are still unpaid for. Should this meet the eye of those who overlooked this important part of the arrangements, will they kindly send their remittances to the hon. secretary?

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

OXFORD.—At St. Ebbe's Church, on Sunday, November 30th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 42 mins., by the following members of the Oxford University Society and of the Oxford Society: F. RINGING INSTRUCTORS.

What is the best way to teach the art of change ringing to beginners, so that the study may be made interesting and the instructor get the best results? That is a question which must often have occurred to many ringers, and where answers have been found they must have been of vastly differing nature. The tuition of young ringers differs enormously in type, from the variety which consists of a vague verbal explanation, supplemented perhaps by imaginary figures drawn on the palm of one hand by the forefinger of the other, to a carefully detailed exposition by means of text books, figures and diagrams, both of which—and all the degrees in between—lead directly, as a rule, to putting a beginner at the end of a rope and endeavouring to show him the way through what is, to him, a maze. Unless the teacher is gifted and the pupil receptive, it is a slow and cumbersome arrangement, generally speaking, and all too frequently the learner gets tired and 'gives it up.' A great deal, of course, depends upon the intelligence of the pupil; but a great deal more depends upon the ability of the instructor. A man who is a good ringer is not necessarily a good teacher; even if he possesses the important qualities of patience and tact, he has not always got the gift to impart knowledge. If the best use is to be made of the material which comes into the belfry—and in these days it is difficult enough to obtain—more instructors who can really teach are needed. The text books that we have for beginners are, for the most part, excellent in their way. They are much more effectual in their purpose, however, when supplemented by intelligent explanation, but this is not always available. The rough and ready methods of teaching which are all that many ringers can hope to give to pupils and which, let it be said, have formed the groundwork upon which many exponents of the art have built up great skill and ability, are not, however, the limits with which the Exercise ought to be content to-day. In this respect we have lagged much behind many other pursuits. There might very well be a text book prepared for the use of teachers, giving hints upon the best way of training beginners and elaborating some of the essential details which should be passed on by way of explanation to pupils; courses of instruction organised, and ultimately, if the system were efficiently worked out, it might be possible to have examinations, so that those who emerged successfully would be recognised as fully qualified instructors and would hold a diploma. Such an arrangement, indeed, would be almost certain to induce many more ringers to study seriously the best methods of instructing beginners, for it should be counted an honour to hold a diploma, in the same way that teachers of other arts already do. Even if a beginning were made almost immediately this final step would be one for the future, but there seems no reason why the Central Council could not consider the question of providing a handbook for instructors and getting the associations to encourage its use among all those who find cast upon them the task of teaching beginners. There is scope for good work here.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Harold E. Symonds has had an unusual experience. He rang several peals of Maximus in various Surprise methods before scoring his first peal of Surprise Major, which he did at Grundisburgh on Saturday week.

A correspondent asks what compositions can be used for a peal of Rutland Surprise Major. Will someone please oblige?

The Edwins have scored their first peal, when they brought round a peal of Bob Major at Crayford. The band included three generations of the Barnett family, Edwins I., II. and III. Is this the first peal of Major in which three generations have taken part?

A peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at Cheddon Fitzpaine, Somerset, on Friday, in which three members of the local band took part. They only began 'scientific' ringing just over twelve months ago, and the peal was rung to mark their 'admission year' to the Bath and Wells Association. At the conclusion of the peal the Vicar, who is keenly interested in the doings of his ringers, and the local Ringing Master extended to the ringers their congratulations, which were much appreciated.

Mr. C. J. More's numerous friends in East Anglian ringing circles will be glad to hear of his complete restoration to health after serious illness.

Mr. J. J. Mawby, who has rung round about 150 peals in various methods up to London and Bristol Surprise, rang his first peal of Minor last Saturday. There is always some new experience awaiting even the best of ringers.

By the way, this peal, rung at Wollaston, was the first by the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, containing four Surprise methods. Wells and York Surprise had not been rung before in a peal by the Guild.

Earl Shilton Parish Church handbell ringers are to broadcast from the Birmingham Studio during the children's hour, 5.15 p.m., on December 31st. The ringers are Messrs. E. V. Chesterton, P. Coe, W. H. Sturgess and G. A. Newton. The ringers are members of the Midland Counties Association, and belong to the Earl Shilton band, Mr. Newton being Ringing Master.

Peal boards recording memorial peals rung at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, one on February 19th, 1916, in memory of Viscountess Iveagh, and the other on October 24th, 1927, in memory of the Earl of Iveagh, were to be unveiled yesterday at St. Patrick's belfry, in the presence of the Earl of Iveagh and members of the family.

Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have issued their calendar for 1931. Its interest is increased by the illustrations of churches and towers in Great Britain and America, where work has been done by the firm.

Mr. Harry Turrell, verger and bellringer of St. George's Church, West Grinstead, died on Friday. His death will be regretted by many Sussex ringers.

The first peal in South Africa was rung at Woodstock on December 15th, 1904.

Halesworth Church tower will be reopened by the Archdeacon of Suffolk on Sunday next. The bells are now back in the tower, but it will not be possible to ring much on them until the clock is finished at the end of January.

OVER SIXTY YEARS A RINGER.PEAL RINGING AT 79.

Mr. John Harrison, of Ashton-under-Lyne, who celebrated his 79th birthday by ringing the 7th at Mossley Parish Church to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, has been a ringer for well over sixty years. His ringing career began at Marple, when he was 16 years of age, and his interest in the art remains undiminished. He is one of the most respected Lancashire ringers, and is a life member of the Lancashire Association.

A native of Knutsford, Mr. Harrison went at an early age to Marple, where his interest in ringing first developed, and he became a member of the Parish Church band. Afterwards he lived at New Mills, and first went to Ashton in 1878, where he became a member of the Parish Church company, which in those days rang their peals in the old tower. After five years in Ashton, Mr. Harrison spent another period at New Mills, but he returned to Ashton, where he joined the company at St. Peter's Church, of which he remained a member for about 45 years.

Mr. Harrison was one of the first band to ring the bells at Manchester Town Hall, and in 1906 took part in the 16,800 of Kent Treble Bob rung at Mottram.

A blacksmith by trade, Mr. Harrison has led a strenuous life, but is still remarkably fit for his years. He frequently walks from Ashton to Mossley to assist the band there on Sunday evenings and at practices.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.RECORD MEETING AT ASH.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Farnham District was held at Ash on Saturday week, when there was a record attendance. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and at 4.30 the Rev. W. J. Blaikie conducted the Guild service. Members of the choir were present under the leadership of Mr. L. Manfield (choirmaster). An excellent tea in the Parish Room had been prepared by Mrs. Bailey and the Misses A. and E. Bailey, and 45 sat down to enjoy the meal.

The Rev. W. J. Blaikie presided over the business meeting, and the retiring officers were renominated for 1931, with the exception of Mr. E. J. Bragg as hon. auditor, Mr. Bragg having left the district. Mr. P. Eldridge was nominated in his place.

It was decided that the Ladies' Guild (Southern District) should hold a meeting in conjunction with the annual general meeting of the district at Farnham on January 24th, 1931.

Mr. G. Grover, a representative of the Guild on the Central Council, read a report of the Council's last meeting, and, on the proposition of Mr. P. Eldridge, he was thanked.

Votes of thanks to the chairman, the organist, blower, choir, local band, and the ladies who prepared tea, ended the business.

The tower was revisited and the bells kept going in various methods until nine o'clock. Towers represented included Ash, Aldershot, Farnham, Guildford (S. Nicolas), Frensham, Overton, Farnborough, Bagshot, Clandon, Seale and Devizes.

A RING OF EIGHT ON DARTMOOR.THE BELLS AND CLOCK OF A MOORLAND VILLAGE.

Quite recently in a West county paper a photograph of what was described as a 'unique clock dial' appeared; dials of this description are usually of antiquarian interest, but this one proved to be otherwise, and was quite a recent production. The wee paragraph accompanying the photograph gave very few details and no publicity, hence it was necessary to seek further information. The subject of seeking fresh fields and pastures now is over a fascinating one, particularly from certain ringers' points of view; and here was promise of something fresh, and one which proved fruitful.

The Parish Church of Buckland-in-the-Moor, the proud possessor of this clock, is truly 'far from the madding crowd,' and no small effort is necessary ere the place is reached. For touring ringers, here is a place to visit.

About the centre of Ashburton will be found a road leading off the main Exeter-Plymouth Road with a small direction sign, 'To Buckland'—incidentally this leads to the famous Widdecombe—and after travelling for a quarter of a mile the road turns sharply to the left over a narrow bridge, and to the ringers fortunate enough to drive a car, a 'change down' to a lower gear is advisable. After passing over the bridge, there commences a nice long climb out into the open spaces, and the road carries one through some beautiful wooded country. Before reaching the village, a well developed and cared for estate is passed through, the village is left behind ere it is realised, and the church with its bold, plain tower appears standing like a sentinel on an eminence overlooking Dartmoor.

At a first glance the clock dials look similar to any other, but a closer inspection reveals that the numbers are replaced by old English characters, which were only deciphered with the aid of one who might truly have been Uncle Tom Cobleigh. The letters are 'My Dear Mother.' Just at the moment the clock commenced to chime, they started the hour of the well-known Chard chime, with an extra bar or two added before the hour was struck, which had no small amount of enchantment about it. Chimes of this description meant eight bells, and their notes came out crisp and clear, free from discordant effect, which truly indicated that the journey had not been made in vain.

The church appears to be of great age. It is in very well-kept condition, and seems to spell a welcome. To the ringers' eyes the vision of eight new bellropes, seen through the east arch of the tower, was good to look on, and made one long for eight good men and true.

From natural curiosity access was gained to the tower, and the sight in the bell chamber was one never to be forgotten, and it needed no explanation to say that 'Taylors' had recently been 'up to something.' The internal dimensions of the tower are rather restricted, but a more neat and compact job could not be desired. The massive cast-iron frame has been nicely designed, and carries the bells in two levels, whilst the ropes have been brought down in an ideal circle. It was ascertained that early in the year the tower contained five bells with a tenor weighing 7½ cwt. Through the generosity of Mr. W. Whitley the octave was recently completed by the addition of three new lighter bells, and the whole hung with the latest type of fittings in a new metal frame, and the work certainly has been carried out in that thorough manner which is typical of the Taylor Foundry, and it is a credit to the 'old firm.'

At the same time Mr. Whitley had the new clock installed with the special dials, as already intimated; the variation of the chime was his idea also. This part of the work has been carried out effectively by Smiths, of Derby, and, as the inscription on the new third bell says:—

'Come, ye children, hearken unto me. The 5 largest bells in this tower, dated 1759, were rehung and 3 new bells added, together with the new clock and chimes, in memory of Elizabeth Eleanor Whitley, wife of Edward Whitley, of Liverpool. Born 27th June, 1847. Died 9th June, 1929. A woman that feareth the Lord shall be praised. 1930. Live to live. Taylor, Loughborough.'

The memorial is a beautiful one, and Buckland-in-the-Moor is the richer for it.

NORFOLK VETERAN'S DEATH.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. William Nudds, of Banham, Norfolk, which took place on Sunday, November 30th. He had been for over sixty years a regular ringer at the church, and had rung several peals before the Norwich Association was formed in 1877. He took part in his last touch some four years ago on handbells, but he played an important part in the training, undertaken by Mr. C. F. Goodman, of the present Banham company, visiting the tower and standing behind beginners to help them to find their way in changes. This he did till just a fortnight before his death, at the ripe age of eighty-seven. His son, Mr. W. J. Nudds, is well known in London ringing circles.

As a mark of respect to his memory, the local band rang on the evening of the funeral a 720 of Bob Minor with the bells half-muffled: J. Barham 1, H. Barham 2, R. W. Chapman 3, G. E. R. Chapman 4, J. Cunningham 5, C. F. Goodman (conductor) 6.

GLoucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. A CROWDED MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association took place at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, on Saturday, December 6th, and members turned up in full force to have a ring on this grand peal of twelve bells, some of them not having had an opportunity to ring there before. The service was conducted in the Lady Chapel by the Rev. E. L. Hertslet (Vicar of St. Mary Redcliffe), who gave the incumbers a very interesting address on bells and some of the legends attached to them.

Tea was served at Redman's, opposite the church. This was due to a misunderstanding with the Vicar, as tea had been advertised to be held at the Parish Hall. Owing to the numbers present, the business meeting was held over so that all present could have a ring.

The attendance book at the meeting was unfortunately not signed, owing to the members being divided into two sections for tea, one room being insufficient to accommodate the number. Will any readers of these notes who were present at the meeting kindly send a card to the secretary, Mr. H. Bennett, Highfield, Runswick Road, Brislington, so that he may enter their names?

GLoucester Branch.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester Branch was held at St. Lawrence's Church, Barnwood, on Saturday, November 29th, when, despite the inclement weather, twenty-four members attended, also Messrs. C. Gardiner and Kynaston, of Swindon, Mr. J. Clarke, of Ross, and visitors from Hereford. The bells were opened at 3 p.m., and service held in the church at 4.30 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Bryce), who extended a hearty welcome to the members. Miss A. E. Waite presided at the organ.

At the conclusion of the service the Vicar invited the members to the schoolroom, where tea had been provided. The usual business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. Letters of apology were received from the Rev. E. D. S. Carnus (Rector of St. Mary de Crypt), Mr. G. Packson (churchwarden of St. Mary de Lode), and Captain C. Lodge (churchwarden of Quedgeley).

Mr. W. H. Harris, branch secretary, presented his report, which showed that during the past year eleven meetings had been held in different parts of the diocese with a total attendance of 212 members, an average of just over 20 members per meeting. The total membership of the branch remained the same as last year, viz., 110 performing members and 27 hon. members. The Sec. also informed the members that Hardwicke and Standish towers had been transferred to the Stroud Branch, for what reason he could not say.

Thanks were extended to the incumbents in the diocese for the courtesy shown to the members when visiting the towers.

The report, being considered very satisfactory, was adopted. The balance sheet and accounts of the branch were also presented and passed.

Mr. S. Romans was elected branch chairman, upon the proposition of Mr. J. Austin, and Mr. W. H. Harris was again elected branch secretary, on the proposition of Mr. A. A. Waite.

Mr. T. Baldwin was appointed as representative on the management committee, and was also elected to serve upon the special sub-committee relative to re-affiliation to the Central Council.

It was decided, upon the proposition of Mr. J. Williams (Newent) to again hold an annual dinner. It will take place at the Spread Eagle Hotel, upon a date to be announced later in 'The Ringing World.' A dinner committee was formed.

Mr. J. Austin proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. Canon Bryce for the use of the bells, for his excellent address in church, and for his kind hospitality in entertaining the members and visitors to tea. He also thanked Miss A. E. Waite for presiding at the organ. He said it was a pleasure to visit a tower like Barnwood, where the Rector was always with them.—Mr. J. Williams, in seconding, said he hoped in the future to see the clergy take a more active part and interest in the work of the ringers than they had in the past.—The motion having been carried unanimously, the Vicar said it was always a pleasure to have the members of the association at Barnwood, and he hoped to see them again in the near future.

This concluded the business, and the members again returned to the tower, where the bells were kept going until 8.15 p.m. in standard methods, concluding with a touch of Little Bob Major, which brought a very pleasant meeting to an end.

'LONDON BELL RINGING.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Under the above heading, the following appeared in a recent issue of the 'Daily Mail.' What have London ringers to say to such a very pertinent question?—Yours, etc.,

ROBERT WHITTINGTON

(another country ringer).

To the Editor of the 'Daily Mail.'

Sir,—While visiting London recently I was disappointed with its bellringing. Why do not London ringers 'rise and fall' bells in peal? There is no sweeter music to be found.

A COUNTRY RINGER.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. BURLEY NOW 'ON THE MAP.'

A meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at St. Matthias' Church, Burley, on Saturday last. Despite the foggy weather there was a good attendance of members, the following towers being represented: Holbeck, Bramley, Armley, Rothwell, Batley, Queensbury, Keighley, Headingley, Far Headingley, Bradford, Leeds, Shipley, Guiseley, Calverley, Sharrow, Idle, Pontefract, Pudsey, and the local company. During the afternoon the bells were rung to Double Norwich, Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Stedman. Tea was partaken of in the Parish Hall, and the business meeting was held immediately afterwards, Mr. J. Cotterell, vice-president of the association, being in the chair. Two new members were elected, viz., M. Moorhouse (Armley) and G. A. Briggs (Sowerby).

Mr. P. J. Johnson, in moving a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens, congratulated them on the 'go' and tone of the bells, which have recently been recast and rehung, and said he hoped that the Vicar would consent to be made an honorary member of the association.—The vote of thanks was seconded by Mr. Woodhead and carried.—The Rev. F. H. Moore, in responding, said he was delighted to have the ringers at Burley, and was glad that the bells were going again, not only for his own sake but also for the sake of Mr. Slack, who had worked very hard, and who had often despaired that the bells would ever be put in order. He was also pleased to hear from the ringers themselves that the peal was a good one, and he would be glad to be an hon. member of the association.

The Chairman then proposed, and Mr. Morris seconded, that Rev. F. H. Moore be elected an hon. member of the association, and this was carried with applause.

A vote of thanks to the ladies for presiding at the tea tables, and to the local company for the arrangements made, was proposed by Mr. Broadley and seconded by the chairman. This was also carried, and Mr. Slack, in reply, said that whenever the secretary wanted a tower for a meeting he hoped he would remember that Burley was now 'on the map.'

This concluded the business meeting, and the tower was again visited for further ringing.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT A FIVE-BELL TOWER.

A well-attended meeting of the Ely District was held at Fen Ditton on Saturday, when members were present from Cambridge, Cherryhinton, Exning, Fulbourne, Newton, Stapleford, Stetchworth, Trumpington and the local band. Various methods were rung, ranging from Plain Bob to Carter's Doubles. At 4.30 p.m. a short service was conducted by the Rector (Canon E. J. Church).

Tea was served at the Ancient Shepherds Inn, the Rector presiding.

At the business meeting which followed, it was decided to hold quarterly meetings during 1931 at places in different parts of the archdeaconry, to be chosen by the committee, with intermediate meetings to be arranged as members desire. The next is to be in Cambridge on January 3rd.

Canon Church was elected a member of the association.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Austin thanked the Rector for his kindness, also the organist and the organ blower for their services.—The Rector, in replying, said what a pleasure it was to welcome the association to Fen Ditton. He had always been impressed by the good fellowship that existed amongst ringers. This was a great thing for the church.

Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were then rung on handbells, after which a move was made to Old Chesterton, where additional members from Cambridge and Sawston (who had been unavoidably prevented from being present at Ditton), were waiting. Methods rung in this tower ranged from Bob Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING AT STOKE-ON-TRENT.

The annual meeting of the North Staffordshire and District Association was held on Saturday, at St. Peter's Church, Stoke-on-Trent, where Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have recently retuned and rehung the bells with ball bearings, etc., of the latest type. The ringers began to meet soon after 3 p.m., when several touches were rung. Tea was provided by the Rector, the Rev. D. H. Crick, and about sixty ringers were present from the following towers: Leek, Norton, Cheddle (R.C.), Fenton, Lawton, Uttoreter, Wolstanton, Biddulph, Wistaston, Stone, Tunstall, Brownedge, etc. Mr. J. P. Fidler, from the firm of Messrs. Taylor and Co., was also present.

Regret was caused by the absence of the clerical secretary, Rev. — Frith, owing to a serious illness, and the meeting expressed a wish that he would have a speedy recovery.

After tea, the ringers visited the tower again, and ringing was kept up till about 8.45 p.m., all the ringers speaking in high terms of praise at the 'go' of the bells. The local band wish to thank Messrs. Taylor and Co. for an excellent job.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.SOUTHERN DISTRICT PROPOSES REDUCED SUBSCRIPTION.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held at Swansea on Saturday, when about thirty members attended from Aberavon, Neath, Cadoxton, Morriston, Gorseinon, Llanelly and the local band. The bells were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Rev. H. S. Willis, curate of St. Mary's, and a change ringer, who gave those present a very interesting address. Tea was taken in a nearby cafe, kindly provided by the Rev. Canon W. J. Havard, Vicar of St. Mary's, and was enjoyed and appreciated by all.

The business meeting followed, with the Rev. H. S. Willis in the chair. Mr. E. Stitch and Mr. G. W. Hollis were re-elected hon. district secretary and auditor respectively for 1931, and Neath was chosen as the place of next meeting. Two new members were elected from Llanelly.

A long discussion took place as to the best means of getting each member to pay his subscription each year, and not to allow anyone to get in arrears. A resolution was carried, to be brought forward at the next Guild annual meeting, that a member being two years in arrears should cease to be a member of the Guild.

A resolution was also carried unanimously, to be brought forward at the Guild annual meeting, that the yearly subscription be reduced from 1s. 6d. to 1s. per year.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. Canon W. J. Havard for his kindness in giving the tea and for the use of the bells; to the Rev. H. S. Willis for conducting the service, for taking the chair at the meeting, and for his very kind welcome to members of the Guild; also to the organist for presiding at the organ.

The methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor. The bells were lowered in peal about 8.30, bringing to a close one of the best meetings held at Swansea.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Parish Church of St. Denys, Warminster, on Saturday last. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m., and the usual service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. R. Bellars, M.A.), Mr. Simonson being the organist. Tea followed at the Magnet Cafe, where 25, including the Vicar, sat down.

The Vicar, who had to leave early to conduct another service, said how pleased he was that a meeting was again held at Warminster. He wished the branch every success, and, as he would not have the pleasure of seeing some of those present again before the new year, he wished them all every success in the coming year.

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding, and giving the visitors a hearty welcome.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. W. Greenaway and S. Marshall (Devizes), G. E. Rugg (Heytesbury), K. White and R. Mogg (Warminster).

It was decided to pay the expenses of the representative on the Central Council and the usual honorarium to the secretary.

The Secretary reported the receipt of a cheque for £1 7s. 6d. from the Parochial Church Council of St. James', Bratton, towards the funds of the branch.

The following visitors were present, viz., Messrs. W. Tiley (Bristol), E. Coward (Mere), — Rowe (Stourton) and E. Box (Wootton Bassett), and the following towers were represented, viz., Warminster, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Bratton, Corsley, Heytesbury, Rowde and Melksham. It was much regretted that the respected Ringing Masters, Messrs S. Hillier and J. Francis, were both unable to be present.

Touches of Oxford Minor, Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, were rung during the afternoon and evening. Those present spent a very pleasant time, and were pleased to welcome the members from Heytesbury tower.

The deaths of Dr. T. Wood Lockett, of Bratton, a member of the Guild, and Mr. H. J. Mead, of Bratton, one of the first to join the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, were reported, and those present stood for a few moments in silence.

The annual meeting will be held at Devizes on January 3rd. Warner and Sons added two bells at Warminster in 1881, when they recast five others of various dates, leaving the tenor, which was cast by Abel Rudhall in 1737. At the time of the Edwardian inventory, 1553, there were 'v bells and sanctus bell.'

WHAT THE 'EARLY BIRDS' MISSED.

At the Parish Church, St. Ives, Hunts, on Saturday, December 6th, at the Ely Association meeting (Hunts District), after the 'early birds' had gone home, 672 Bob Major: W. Seekings 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, F. Warrington (conductor) 3, F. C. Ginn 4, G. E. Crisp 5, E. Wakeling 6, A. J. Ginn 7, J. Perkins 8. Longest length of Bob Major on the bells. Also a 704 Kent Treble Bob: F. Warrington (conductor) 1, F. C. Ginn 2, F. G. Gleaves 3, M. Ginn 4, E. Wakeling 5, A. J. Ginn 6, R. Smith 7, G. E. Crisp 8. First touch on eight bells by M. Ginn (aged 16) and R. Smith.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

In Christmas week it will be necessary to print 'The Ringing World' much earlier than usual. Secretaries and other correspondents should therefore note that anything intended for the issue of Dec. 26th must reach 'The Ringing World' Office not later than first post, Monday, Dec. 22nd.

THE TWELVE-BELL RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I shall not be writing you again on this subject, but in closing I should like to say that what I have written I have not written for someone else, as has been insinuated. I asked a question, and I thank you, sir, for your opinion and courteous answer.—Yours faithfully,
A. E. REEVES.
Bristol.

AN INQUIRY.

Dear Sir,—It would be interesting to know if Mr. C. T. Coles is writing for himself individually or collectively for the band who rang the Cambridge Maximus. He charges you with being inconsistent. I fail to see it, but in any case surely one is entitled to change their opinion? If not, why not? I am reminded of this by a one-time famous politician, who once said no man was worth more than £500 a year. After attaining Cabinet rank, with £5,000 a year, he was questioned on this point. 'Quite right,' he remarked; 'but a wise man changes his mind—a fool never.' However, why worry? as Mr. E. Morris writes. You will die if you worry, and you will die if you don't, as a famous song says, so why worry at all?—Yours truly,
K. W.

'A FLAT' SUGGESTS COMPETITION SCHEME.

Sir,—In order to escape such a castigation as you have received this week, and to avoid the Central Council wasting valuable time, could you not inaugurate some scheme of competitions, such as a cup for the longest Maximus, plate for Cinques, medal for Caters, belt for Major, and, possibly, wooden spoon for Minor? All you would have to do then would be to draw up a 'scale of allowances,' such as 'weight for age,' 'length of pull,' 'weight of metal in ratio to ringers,' 'revolutions per minute,' and any other little clause which may occur to the public. When a team give notice of an attempt you would pick the bells; the team would weigh in at your office; selections from the peal would be taken on the dictaphone and submitted to a committee of A.R.C.O.s and L.R.A.M.s, and A.S.C.Y.s. Then, after this claim had been submitted the public would know who were the real champions. Of course, ringers would have their own idea.—Yours,
A FLAT.

JEALOUSY?

Sir,—Does not all this criticism re the Painswick peal point to jealousy? All this needless arguing whether it is an eleven or a twelve bell peal, seems to be an attempted 'got out' by Mr. Coles and one or two others, to try and have it discarded as 'the twelve-bell record.' But, with you, sir, I think that in the majority of ringers' minds this argument will not be accepted. Surely, if twelve bells have been rung longer than at any time previously, no matter whether to Maximus or Cinques, it should be accepted as the twelve bell record, and Mr. Albert Wright and his band should be given the credit for ringing twelve bells, not eleven.

In these days, when we hear so much about the 'spirit of brotherhood,' one cannot think, when reading the arguments that they do any good towards promoting this end. I agree with Mr. Prince that those who rang at Ashton-under-Lyne should be satisfied. If they are not, then why do they not try for 18,000 or more changes at a twelve-bell tower and act like sportsmen? They have got the chance! —Yours, Northants.
A HUMBLE RINGER.

A FALSE PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has been pointed out to me in a letter from Mr. C. T. Coles that the peal by N. J. Pitstow that I called for Lincolnshire does not run true to that method, as it brings up a false course-end in the second part of peal, namely, 36245. I had not seen any composition for peals of Lincolnshire, but thought as the lead-ends and course-ends came up in the same order as in Superlative the same calling would run true. I am grateful to Mr. Coles for pointing out my mistake. If you will kindly let it be known that the peal which we rang at Helmingham on Thursday, November 20th, is false, I shall be much obliged to you.—Yours sincerely,
T. W. LAST.

DEVON GUILD.PROPOSED DIVISION OF EXETER BRANCH.

A most successful gathering was held at Heavitree, Exeter, on Saturday, on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Exeter Branch of the Devonshire Guild.

A well-attended service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. K. A. Lake. The tea and business meeting followed at the Constitutional Club Rooms, and over ninety members, visitors from other branches, and friends were present. The Rev. E. V. Cox, chairman of the branch, presided, and was supported by the president (the Rev. E. S. Powell), and Mrs. Powell, and the Rev. K. A. Lake.

The Hon. Secretary and Treasurer gave a brief summary of the finances of the branch, and reported that the numbers had been maintained, notwithstanding the loss of Honiton Clist tower, owing to local difficulties.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and to all who had helped to arrange such a splendid tea was carried with acclamation.

The Exeter Branch having become too unwieldy to work satisfactorily as it stands, a recommendation from the branch committee,

That the general committee of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers take the necessary steps to divide the Exeter Branch by the formation of a separate branch for the Aylesbeare Deanery, was then discussed at some length, the recommendation finally being adopted.

It was resolved to ask the general secretary to call a full Guild meeting early in January to carry out this step at once, and the question of the election of officers and arrangements for spring meetings was adjourned until after the formation of the separate branches.

The Rev. E. V. Cox was re-elected chairman, Miss Lomas hon. secretary, and Miss Davey assistant secretary, until such time as the division is effected.

The President referred to the deep regret felt by the whole of the branch that the Rev. E. V. Cox was shortly about to resign the living of Littleham-cum-Exmouth for health reasons. He hoped, however, that Mr. Cox would still reside in Devon and continue the splendid work he was doing for the Guild.

Several new members were elected, and change ringing certificates were presented by Mrs. Powell to P. W. Gatter and L. S. West, of Littleham, and to F. Quick, of Heavitree.

The Cathedral and all the city towers with ringable peals were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and members took full advantage of the opportunities provided.

RETIREMENT OF MR. J. W. JONES.RAILWAY PRESENTATION TO SECRETARY OF LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION.

Mr. John W. Jones, the popular hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, retired last Friday, on reaching his 65th birthday, from the service of the Great Western Railway as storekeeper of the engineering department at Newport. He had been 47 years with the railway company, and at an influential gathering of members of the departmental staff Mr. Jones was presented with a wallet of Treasury notes by Mr. A. E. Maddox, chief clerk of the engineering department, while Mrs. Jones received a travelling case, the gift being handed to her by Mr. G. W. Virgo, inspector of mechanics, on behalf of his colleagues. The gathering was presided over by Mr. A. W. Hollingdale, assistant divisional engineer, and testimony was paid to Mr. Jones' long service, the chairman expressing regret at his departure, and that the regulations prevented him from having the advantage of his experience and services any longer.

Mr. Jones is well-known to ringers in many parts of the country, and his genial presence is always welcome. He is leader of the ringers at All Saints' Church, Cardiff, has been secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association for 27 years, and is a representative of the association on the Central Council.

But while he has been an almost lifelong enthusiast for ringing, Mr. Jones has also been a very keen cricketer, and for several years was an active player in the ranks of Newport Athletic Club. What is still more remarkable, perhaps, is the fact that for the past 45 years he has not missed seeing the Australians in a Test match in England.

During the 47 years he was with the G.W.R. Mr. Jones was never once absent from his duties on account of ill-health, which, he always says, speaks well for ringing as a means of keeping fit.

To celebrate his retirement and his 65th birthday, a peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted at St. Woolos', Newport, but was unfortunately lost after 2½ hours' ringing, owing to a missed bob. Ringers in the attempt were from Abergavenny, Bedwelty, Cardiff, Llandaff, Newport, Pentre, Usk and Whitchurch.

(a) Including 6,000, (b) including 6,336 (both rung in one day), (c) including 6,720, (d) including 6,011 and 8,009, (e) including 6,080 and 7,280, (f) including 9,261, 12,231 and 17,687 (record in the method and the longest peal ever rung on twelve bells), (g) including 6,000 and 12,240 (record in the method).

Mr. James George has received so many letters of congratulation upon the long peal and his 77th birthday, that he finds it impossible to reply to them individually. He, however, desires to thank sincerely all those who have sent him such kindly messages.

CROYDON RINGER'S DEATH.

All who knew him will much regret to hear of the death of Mr. Joseph D. Talbot, of Croydon, who passed away on Monday, December 1st, at the age of 65 years. He will be greatly missed by his fellow-ringers at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Croydon, where he had been a member of the band for 42 years, most regular in his attendances on Sundays and practice nights, and a very sure ringer in the methods he knew. He was always pleased to see the younger ringers making progress, and, although he did not ring them himself, he never stood in the way of those who wanted to practise the higher methods.

Mr. Talbot was not a great peal ringer, having rung 11 peals for the Surrey Association, and only a few outside this association.

The funeral took place on Thursday, December 4th, at St. John's, Croydon, the bells being rung fully-muffled for the service.

A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave at the cemetery by four of his fellow-ringers as a last token of respect for one who was greatly respected by all who knew him.

CHURCHWARDEN'S FIRST 720.

At the Parish Church, Hartford, Hunts, on December 1st, 720 Bob Minor by the regular Sunday service ringers: C. Pannell 1, E. Pannell 2, H. Linford 3, J. M. Pannell 4, J. Smart (conductor) 5, R. Hibberd 6. First 720 by all except the ringer of the 5th. Mr. C. Pannell is churchwarden.

ANOTHER HERTFORDSHIRE PEAL REHUNG.

Ringers from all parts of the county and surrounding districts had the opportunity on Saturday, November 29th, of 'trying their hand' on the beautiful peal of bells at Baldock which have recently been rehung on ball bearings, and quarter turned by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank of the Whitechapel Foundry.

Ringers were present from Barley, Biggleswade, Benington, Cambridge, Graveley, Hitchin, Kington, London, Melbourn, Meldreth, Offley, Stevenage and Royston, together with the local band, who turned up in good strength. Mr. A. A. Hughes represented the founders.

The bells were kept going continuously from three o'clock until 5 p.m., when the Rector of Baldock conducted a short service from the association service paper.

The company then adjourned to the White Lion Hotel, where Mr. Bray, the local captain, had arranged an excellent 'knife and fork' tea. A short business meeting followed, the chief item on the agenda being a discussion on the Benevolent Fund which the association hopes to start working in 1931.

After the business, the Rector of Baldock, the Rev. C. W. Alington, said how pleased he was to welcome the ringers again before his departure from the parish to take up duties in Essex.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for conducting the service and for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Bray for arranging such an excellent tea.

On behalf of all present, the Secretary congratulated the founders on the excellent way in which they had rehung the bells. This was met with loud applause, everyone being extremely pleased with the way the bells go. One member of the company declared that he could turn the tenor in with a piece of cotton! The weight of the tenor is 28 cwt. Further ringing afterwards took place until 9 p.m.

RINGING FOR SERVICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Lloyd, in your issue of November 21st, seems to be upset about something, and goes so far as to say he attends regularly on Sundays. It is quite likely, from the tone of his letter, that he knows something of the identity of 'Church Service Ringer,' who wrote such a charming little note under a nom de plume. According to his letter, the one man referred to, even had he stayed in Doncaster, would not have made it possible for all eight bells to be rung, and therefore he is condemning the one and apologising for eleven. Rather consistent, don't you think? As for saying that I do not like to hear six bells rung at my own place, Mr. Lloyd is wrong. I do like to hear six, almost as well as I like eight, and more so when those six are rung well, and there is only the possibility of poor eight-bell ringing, although I will grant that, where there are eight bells, all eight should be rung if possible on Sunday of all days. Incidentally, no mention was made of the three towers short handed.—Yours faithfully,

E. COOPER.

Sir,—Mr. Cawser wrote in your issue of November 28th that Tickhill has done more than any tower to further change ringing around Doncaster. I ask him one question, 'Who built up the Doncaster and District Society, and what tower did that ringer belong to?' I have always been a willing hand to help any learner, many of whom Mr. Cawser knows nothing about. I do not look for honours by others' labours, if that is what Mr. Cawser means.

I repeat the question asked in the first letter: What honours are gained in ringing these quarter-peals, when mixed bands leave their own towers short-handed on Sunday?

On page 767 of 'The Ringing World' of November 28th is recorded the passing away of one who leaves an example for us all to follow, and I take off my hat to him.—Yours truly,

W. LLOYD.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A

WHAT IS A 'TWELVE BELL' PEAL?

In the discussion on the subject of the 'twelve-bell record,' Mr. C. T. Coles asked the question: If the Painswick peal was the twelve-bell record, where is the eleven-bell record? Up to the present there has been no reply to the inquiry, but if Mr. Coles looks to us for an answer we are inclined to say that, if there is an eleven-bell record, it was rung at Painswick. But is there an eleven-bell record? We do not think that, strictly, there is. There is, of course, a Cinques record, but no peal of Cinques has been rung with the use of eleven bells only. The whole question seems to us to turn on what definition is to be applied to the expression 'a twelve-bell peal.' Mr. Coles has referred to the Central Council's definition for a peal on eleven bells, which says that it shall consist of not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval, with the addition of a covering bell. This is just the kind of point about which lawyers would delight to argue, but the mere fact that the Council stipulate that, in addition to the eleven bells, there shall be a covering bell, puts it, in our humble opinion, at once into the category of a twelve-bell peal, and the deduction appears therefore to be that there is no actual 'eleven-bell' record. It seems to us that there is still a certain amount of confusion of thought in regard to our use of the term 'twelve-bell peal.' As we have previously pointed out, a 'twelve-bell peal' is not, in our view, necessarily a peal in a twelve-bell method, but the term broadly covers any peal in which the use of twelve bells is essential to comply with the general practice and with the conditions laid down.

The discussion which has taken place, has, of course, ranged round the description applied to the Painswick peal in the columns of 'The Ringing World.' With a nicer discrimination, no doubt, the Central Council, in their official records, will ignore the number of bells used and place the particulars of the performance among peals of Cinques, and, even perhaps, in the still closer division of Grandsire, so that no one will have cause for complaint, because Maximus will be in a compartment by itself with nothing to overshadow that truly great performance at Ashton-under-Lyne. And so honour will be satisfied all round and the generalisation of 'The Ringing World' will be forgotten. All the same we have a notion that—assuming existing records remain unbroken—when future ringers inquire what was the longest length rung on twelve bells they will be told that the twelve-bell record was made at Painswick. But in any case the Exercise acknowledges that both the Ashton-under-Lyne and the Painswick peals were gigantic performances, and in their respective categories merit all the honour which accrues to those who took part in them.

INDIVIDUAL RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—This is the 'record-breaking' age, and we read of it in all branches of sport and pastime. We have had swimming, flying, dancing, running and even fasting! Why not bellringing?

Here is an ancient individual record:—

On the wall of the belfry at Ashwell, Herts, an inscription states that John Pack rang the fourth bell for twelve hours on March 16th, 1811, but for what reason is unknown!

Now, Mr. George, here's a chance for you to ring a record peal 'all on your very own.' What about it?—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST MORRIS.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is proposed to hold a police ringers' meeting at Leicester on Saturday, January 24th. All policemen-bellringers are earnestly invited to attend. Will those interested please communicate with Harold J. Poole, 326, Narborough Road, Leicester?

In connection with the effort to raise funds for the restoration of Bow Church, for which the bells are the 'stalking horse,' gramophone reproductions of the bells are to be given from the belfry. Bow bells have been silent for something like five years, and one of the last peals rung on them was that magnificent performance of 7,392 Cambridge Surprise Maximus by the Middlesex Association on December 19th, 1925.

At Christ Church, Spitalfields, which lost its twelve bells in a disastrous fire about 90 years ago, a peal of 6,334 Stedman Cluques was rung on December 20th, 1806.

The first peal on the bells at Ickleton, Cambs, by a local band was rung on Saturday, December 13th, with the bells muffled, as a token of respect to the late Mr. W. Brand, who died at the age of 89, and had been a member of the Ickleton Society for several years. The funeral took place on the 11th inst. All the band that took part in the peal are regular service ringers, and it was their first attempt as a local company. The achievement must be a great gratification to Mr. Percy Webb, who has rendered such long and faithful service to ringing at Ickleton.

The second of a series of 'Henry VIII.' peals was accomplished on Saturday last at Goring-on-Thames.

Her many friends will be pleased to see the name of Miss H. F. Mills in the peal columns again after the serious accident which befell her just over two years ago whilst on holiday in Ireland.

Thanks to the initiative of Mr. Alfred H. Pulling, the Guildford Diocesan Guild has recently been credited with the first peals of three Surprise Major methods, the last of the trio having been Reverse Dublin rung at Ewell on Saturday. The others were Double Dublin and Surrey. It is interesting to note that Mr. George Wilson, one of the band, took part in the 'first ever' of Dublin (rung at Leiston), Double Dublin and Reverse Dublin. He has yet to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples!

FATAL GUN ACCIDENT TO RINGER'S SON.

The many friends of Mr. Maurice F. R. Hibbert, 21, Melbourne Road, Bushey, will regret to learn of a tragic accident which befell his eldest boy, Leonard, who was ten years of age. The lad had a half-holiday from school on Friday and went, as he often did on such occasions, to pass the time on Tyler's Farm, near his home, assisting a neighbour. The farmer's brother, who was on a visit to the farm, left a gun, loaded and cocked, against a building. A young employe, not thinking the gun was loaded, aimed at Leonard and pulled the trigger. The gun went off, and the charge shattered Leonard's shoulder and perforated his lungs. He died as a result of his injuries six hours later. The sympathy of all ringers will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Hibbert in their sad loss.

STOW-ON-THE-WOLD, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

Stow-on-the-Wold, where a peal of Bob Major was rung on November 26th, is a small but old-fashioned North Cotswold town, situated on a hill which is 800 feet above sea level, and when in winter time a "Nor' Easter" is blowing the old-time rhyme certainly comes true, viz., "Stow-on-the-Wold, where the wind blows cold." The church stands nearly in the centre of the town, and the tower is a landmark for miles around.

THE PARISH CHURCH OF STOW-ON-THE-WOLD.

The tower is supposed to have been built about the year 1445. It is 80 feet in height and consists of four stages, its walls varying from 5 feet to 6 feet in thickness. It contains a fine ring of eight bells, viz. :—

- Treble.—7 cwt. September, 1897. By Taylor and Co
- 2.—8 cwt. September, 1897. By Taylor and Co.
- 3.—10 cwt. Dated 1620. Cast by Henry Farmer, of Gloucestershire.
- 4.—14 cwt. Dated 1717.
- 5.—18 cwt. Dated 1606. This bell is dedicated to King James, who was patron of this living.
- 6.—21 cwt. Dated October 16th, 1620, and cast by Henry Farmer, of Gloucestershire.
- 7.—25 cwt. Dated 1778.
- Tenor.—30 cwt. Dated 1811.

Owing to the church being surrounded by business premises, peal attempts are very limited.

Griffin, of Burton-on-Trent, showed me in three seconds what a treble bob hunt was by merely striding across the floor, and no doubt countless little devices of this nature can be, and are, used regularly.

We spend much time at our meetings in telling one another what fine fellows we are. We have chairmen who appear to love to hear themselves speak, sometimes on totally irrelevant matters. We have the greaser and the earnest enquirer who both waste time. Wouldn't it be much more useful if one ringer who knew what he was talking about gave a short dissertation on one particular aspect of ringing? A discussion could follow. If I remember rightly, Mr. W. A. Cave gave a paper on the 'In and out of course of changes' to a meeting in Bristol some years ago, and at the time it struck me as being the most useful thing I had heard of being attempted in ringing. Here we have the easiest thing in the world to understand, but few ringers know anything about it, or about its practical application.

Yes, sir, there is a crying need for adequate instruction, and it is up to associations to provide it, but there can be no hard and fast rules.—Yours truly,

J. T. DYKE.

THE INSTRUCTION OF RINGERS.QUALIFICATIONS AND DRAWBACKS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The leading article in your issue of the 12th inst. calls attention to a real difficulty. For years I have considered this matter, and have reached the conclusion that it would be next to impossible to draw up a scheme of instruction which would meet the needs of everyone.

What are the attributes of a good ringer? I will put them in order of importance as I consider them. He must possess:—

- (1) Ability to handle the bell.
- (2) Broad vision, as opposed to 'tunnel' vision.
- (3) Sense of rhythm.
- (4) A pair of ears.
- (5) A fair quantity of intelligence.

If he has them all, he becomes one of 'the top liners,' but few ringers have them all.

To deal with these requirements separately, the first is a sine qua non, and is not impossible of attainment. Correct movement of the hands and body should be insisted on. Nine-tenths of country ringers hold the tail end of the rope wrongly, and at least one-fifth of them never by any chance at the hand stroke raise their hands above the level of the chin. Change ringing should never be attempted until rounds can be rung properly, and before the learner with a tied clapper has practised cutting and holding, slow blows and quick blows. By a judicious use of these methods in the early stages, the learner is put well on the way to change ringing. It follows, then, that the initial instruction must not be relegated to any one of the band, but rather to the man who handles his ball with precision and ease, puts it where he wants it, and makes it stay put when he wants it to stay put. Progress is somewhat slow and very often disheartening, and learners are liable at this stage to give up, and this is quite a good thing. Early on, the learner who lacks grit is weeded out, thus saving the time of many good men later on.

The ringer who lacks quality (2) is, I believe, a nearly hopeless case. His visual angle is very small, due to a certain physical condition, and he sees only the rope at which he is looking at the moment. The only thing you can do is to put him on a corner bell, if you have one. Never expect him to ring one of a straight line of ropes. We all know him, the man who looks slowly round in a bovine sort of way, looking for the bell he should strike, usually pitching on the wrong one. It would be presumptuous on the part of any ringer to tell this man that he will never make a ringer. His own good sense will lead him to undertake some other branch of church work. If this type of man, however, possesses the other four attributes, he can, with perseverance, become a good ringer, but the condition is rare. In any case, he will never become a conductor, for a good conductor should see a trip coming before it starts.

Quality (3) can never be inculcated in grown-ups. If it is not in-born, it cannot be acquired; although it is surprising how soon children get hold of rhythm. Perhaps with the various rhythmic exercises taught in schools nowadays, we may look forward to a more easily taught generation of ringers.

Lack of attribute (4) can largely be overcome if (1), (2) and (3) are present. Lack of ears does not mean bad striking necessarily, nor does the possession of them ensure good striking. I have known really bad strikers, after judicious coaching privately, to develop into surprisingly good ones.

In regard to point (5), I say only a fair amount of intelligence is necessary. That much is obvious, for some of the most intelligent men in the Exercise are but mediocre ringers; while the minds of some of our best ringers are singularly empty of general knowledge. No one suffers fools less gladly than I, but I do know that the dull boy at school can progress in ringing often faster than his brighter prototypes. It is all a question of finding his particular difficulty or point of view.

Now as to instructors. Most associations make some sort of attempt to provide instructors. The usual arrangement, however, is rather haphazard. I would suggest that the branches with their relatively small areas conduct their own affairs in this respect. There should be a standard scale of charges, a distance limit, and a limit to the number of lessons. Further, and this is most important, instructors should be chosen with the utmost care. One type of instructor gives one lesson and has the tower to himself at the next meeting. Another type is far too easy, with the result that his leg is pulled unmercifully. Another gets his pupils through a peal after ten lessons, and is proud of it. Yet another gets fulsome in his praise, and says, 'Well done,' when a learner for the first time manages in shaky fashion to get his bell from lead to behind a few times. That sort of thing is likely to make a ringer satisfied with his standard of performance, and that means no further progress.

All these types are to be avoided. By far the best instructors are purely voluntary, and who, like the ubiquitous Shute in the West, do this work purely for the love of ringing.

There can be no rigid rule in regard to method teaching. Some men can understand a diagram, some figures, and some require verbal explanations supported by some homely illustration. Joseph

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE STATE OF WIMBORNE MINSTER BELL TOWER.

The annual meeting of the Wimborne Branch of the Salisbury Guild was held at Wimborne on Saturday week. Ringing on the Minster bells was indulged in during the afternoon, and at the service the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry) read the lesson, and the Vicar (Canon Keith) gave an appropriate address. The Rev. A. J. Burgess also assisted in the service, and Mr. A. Fripp, a member of the Minster tower, played the organ.

Tea in the Church House was followed by the business meeting, at which the Master presided and proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Canon Keith for his address.

The Hon. Secretary and Treasurer (the Rev. C. A. Phillips, of Bournemouth), in presenting the balance sheet and report, observed although there were two or three members less, there were several towers in the branch, especially in the Cranborne district, which had not joined, so there was still plenty of work in that and other directions to do. They heartily congratulated the chairman of the branch (Canon E. C. Eddrup, Rector of Corfe Mullen) on his preferment to an honorary canonry in Salisbury Cathedral. It was recognition of many years' devoted and faithful service to his parish and the diocese of which they had some special knowledge and special cause for gratitude, and in which they all took some special pride (applause). The year had been one of steady work, in which, with the help of their good friends from North Dorset, something more in the peal line had been attempted and something done. The recorded results were a peal of Grandsire Triples at Poole on October 11th, rung half-muffled in sympathy with the victims of the R101 disaster, conducted by Mr. O. F. Turner, and a peal of Minor at Corfe Mullen—in both peals lady members figuring. After referring to the various meetings held during the year, the Hon. Secretary said the amendment to Rule 4, with regard to associate members, proposed by Mr. I. Davis (Poole) at the last annual meeting, was duly submitted to the committee, and approved and passed at the annual meeting at Caine, and they welcomed that day several friends who had been regularly helping at their meetings and practices, and they would, the Secretary hoped, become formal associates (hear, hear). The branch would join with the rest of the Guild in very grateful memory of the devoted services of the late honorary assistant-secretary of the Guild, Mr. T. Hervey Beams (of Bradpole).

Those present stood as a tribute to Mr. Beams' memory.

The financial statement for the year ending December 31st next indicated that with the balance brought forward of £6 12s. 9d., and subscriptions from 114 ringing members (at 1s. 6d.), £8 11s., and three honorary members, 15s., the receipts totalled £16 3s. 3d., and the present balance was £6 19s. 2d. (applause).

The Chairman observed it was a matter for congratulation in these days of pessimism, trade depression, and hopelessness (laughter) that the branch was in such a sound financial position, and interest was maintained in the work (hear, hear, and applause).

Both report and balance sheet were adopted.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The officers were unanimously re-elected—Canon Eddrup chairman, the Rev. C. A. Phillips secretary and treasurer, and Mr. F. W. Townsend (Poole) Ringing Master, with cordial thanks for their past services, and Mr. Phillips, in reply, acknowledged the great help he had received from Mr. I. Davis in arranging meetings.—Messrs. Russell (Ringwood) and W. Hibberd (Corfe Mullen) were elected life members. Ordinary members elected included Mr. John Elliott, son of the Vicar of Lytchett Minster, and three associate members from Poole included Mrs. Townsend, the Ringing Master's wife.—It was decided to hold the first quarterly meeting at St. Giles' on the Saturday following Easter Sunday, and the summer meeting at Kingston, other practices and meetings to be arranged by the secretary.—Mr. G. R. Dance (Lytchett Minster), who mentioned that he had rung at church services for 40 years, and his youngest daughter was a member of the branch, expressed cordial thanks to Mr. Phillips and the band of ringers for their willing help on many occasions last winter to the struggling band at Lytchett Minster, with the result that the previous Sunday they were able to ring a six-score of Doubles for service.

The Vicar, who is an honorary member, made the interesting announcement that observations were being taken regarding the western tower of the Minster, but there was, he said, nothing in the least to be really alarmed about. It was known there was one crack in the tower sufficient to justify it being put under micrometer observation by the town surveyor, in order to ascertain whether there was any possible movement. There was, too, a likelihood of louvers being opened presently in the bell chamber which would let out the vibrations of the peal better than at present. No doubt a great deal of vibration was caused by the ringers of a peal in such an enclosed heltry. They had no misgivings in asking the visitors to ring there, although under the circumstances they were, he thought, ringing less continuously perhaps than they would have done in the old days.

The Secretary expressed thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting pleasant and delightful, including Mr. F. Hart (Wimborne Minster), for the arrangements for the meeting, and Mrs. Arnold for arranging the tea.—The Master also voiced his best wishes to the branch for the coming year; and the hon. secretary of the Dorchester Branch (Mr. C. H. Jennings) brought on behalf of his members a similar greeting. A quartet—the Ringing Master, Miss M. White, and Mr. P. Dent (Bournemouth St. John), and Mr. Cheater (Ringwood)—at the close interested the company with handbell selections. Afterwards there was further ringing on the Minster bells.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO MR. T. HERVEY BEAMS.

The annual meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Mere, Wilts, on Saturday, when twenty towers were represented. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, when the bells were set going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob Major, etc. Service was held in the Parish Church; Canon Wingfield-Digby (Sherborne Abbey) read the prayers and lesson, and the Vicar (Rev. I. G. Cameron) preached a very practical sermon for ringers. Rev. A. A. Cramp was also present.

The members afterwards were entertained to an excellent tea in the Grove Buildings, eighty-four sitting down.

The business meeting followed, at which Canon Wingfield Digby (chairman of the branch) presided. He was supported by Rev. A. E. Nedham, Compton Abbas (secretary), Rev. F. L. Edwards, Kingston Magna (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Guild), Rev. E. C. King, Stourton, Rev. I. G. Cameron (Vicar), and Mr. C. H. Jennings (secretary of the Dorchester Branch).

The balance sheet showed a credit of £7 8s. 2d. at the beginning, and £8 6s. 10d. at the end of the year. The Secretary reported that there was still money owing for badges and membership.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, Canon Wingfield-Digby, Sherborne; secretary, Rev. A. E. Nedham, Compton Abbas; assistant secretary, Mr. H. James Ralph, Kingston Magna; Rev. I. G. Cameron was elected an hon. member, and the Chairman thanked him for accepting the honour and for preaching such an excellent sermon. Ringers felt that they must get more recognition, and must remember that they do all for the honour and glory of God. It would help if there were a system by which ringers could get recognition as members of the Parochial Church Council. He was assured that such was the case in Mere.—The Vicar responded.

Mr. W. Shute (Buckhorn Weston) was re-elected Ringing Master, and the quarterly meetings of the branch were decided upon as follows: March at Sturminster Newton, June at Stourton, September at Iwerne Minster, and the annual meeting in December at Sherborne. Four new members were elected.

Referring to the proposed memorial to Mr. T. Hervey Beams, late assistant secretary of the Guild, Mr. Edwards said he had suggested that it be placed in Bradpole Church. He had met Mr. Northover, who had executed a model of the Guild badge in oak, and which had been submitted to the Archdeacon, who was very pleased with it. It was Mr. Beams' wish to complete the £200 for the ringers' war memorial in the Cathedral while still alive. The sum was completed last May before he passed away, and the memorial had been erected.

It was resolved that each tower secretary collect subscriptions for the Hervey Beams' memorial.

The following towers were represented at the gathering: Bishop's Caundle, Bourton, Blandford, Child Okeford, Cucklington, Compton Abbas, Fontmell Magna, Gillingham, Henstridge, Kingston Magna, Mere, Okeford Fitzpaine, Poole, Ringwood, Sherborne, Stourton, Sturminster Newton, Wyke Regis, Yeovil and Zeals. Mr. Edwards proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, choir, organist and helpers, and Mr. Delorne replied. The Chairman at the close wished all a happy Christmas and a prosperous new year for the Guild.

FEERING'S ANNIVERSARY.

The 36th anniversary of the dedication of the original peal of six bells at Feering, Essex, was celebrated on December 8th, when a quarter-peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major (1,344 changes) was rung by C. S. Burton (longest length) 1, S. Pye 2, J. C. Newman 3, C. J. Rogers 4, E. Mingay 5, W. Keeble (conductor) 6, G. Hayward 7, F. Fludder 8. First quarter-peal in the method by all except ringers of 3, 6 and 7.

SUSSEX RINGER'S DEATH.

Another old member of the Sussex Association has passed away in the person of Mr. Harry Turrell, of West Grinstead, who died on December 5th at the age of 69 years. The interment took place on Wednesday, December 10th, when six ringers acted as bearers. The bells were rung muffled after the service, the ringing including 720 Oxford Treble Bob: W. Weaver 1, T. Adams 2, G. Warnett 3, V. Goatcher 4, J. Bowell 5, W. Denman (conductor) 6. Also 720 Kent Treble Bob: V. Goatcher 1, W. Denman 2, T. Adams 3, R. Langridge 4, W. Charman 5, R. Stredwick (conductor) 6; and 240 Cambridge Surprise. On Sunday, December 14th, for morning service, with the bells half-muffled, a 720 of Oxford Single Bob, and for evening service touches of Cambridge Surprise and Woodbine: V. Turrell 1, F. Turrell 2, G. Warnett 3, V. Goatcher 4, J. Bowell 5, W. Denman (conductor) 6.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

In Christmas week it will be necessary to print 'The Ringing World' much earlier than usual. Secretaries and other correspondents should therefore note that anything intended for the issue of Dec. 26th must reach 'The Ringing World' Office not later than first post on Monday next.

THE TWELVE-BELL RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As a general rule it is perhaps as well to ignore anonymous letters, but that signed 'A Humble Ringer' calls for a reply. I have carefully avoided saying anything that could give rise to suggestions of criticism or jealousy; indeed, I know of nothing in the Painswick peal to criticise or to be jealous of. Your leading article of November 21st truthfully states that the Ashton and Painswick peals are not in the same category, and that no question of comparison of the performances arises. If your correspondent cannot understand that, he must be humble in intellect as well as humble in ringing. And what right has he to talk about the spirit of brotherhood, and acting like sportsmen, when he is so humble in decent manners as to do so without letting us know who he is?

I agree with Mr. Prince that ringers should know the difference between Cinques and Maximus, and as Cinques has been definitely classed by the Central Council as being changes on eleven bells, I fail to see why Mr. Prince's Painswick friends describe their peal as containing the greatest number of changes on twelve bells. Mr. Prince evidently thought there was something to write about, or why should he have anticipated a letter from me?

With the exception of Mr. A. E. Reeves, your several correspondents have carefully ignored the Council's definitions of eleven and twelve-bell peals, and have simply thrown in vague generalities, eulogies of the tenor man, and other matters quite beside the point. I have already quoted the definitions twice, and there is no need to repeat them, but until they are proved to cover the Painswick ringers' claim, I see no reason to alter anything I have already written.

Whether your correspondents who think this is a point not worth worrying about are right or not is a matter of opinion, but it seemed of sufficient importance for you, Mr. Editor, to write a leading article on the matter, in which you said that the question was one for serious consideration.

Whilst on the subject of decisions of the Council in relation to record peals, I would point out that clause three is in connection with the composition. This should have been sent, sealed, to the secretary of the association for whom the peal was rung, prior to the attempt, and on the peal being rung should have been forwarded to 'The Ringing World' for publication immediately. Is it not about time the figures were published?

In conclusion, and to satisfy another of your anonymous correspondents, I may say that I am writing entirely for myself in this matter. Further, if this correspondent will read my previous letters again, he will see that I raised no objection to you having changed your opinion; but I consider that I have a perfect right to point out that you did so. If not, why not? I might yet change my mind on this subject, but not until I get a reply which intelligently meets the point at issue, and does not contain vague and unfounded suggestions of bad feeling and jealousy.—Yours faithfully,

21, Vincent Road, E.4.

C. T. COLES.

A LEAD BY 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

Dear Sir,—More ink has already been spilled in the controversy re the 'twelve-bell record' at Painswick than is either necessary or desirable. Most practical ringers are, I think, agreed on that, particularly in view of the admirably brief and lucid comment by Mr. Ernest Morris.

However, since what has happened once may happen again, would it not seem desirable to scrap the rather ambiguous phrase, 'twelve-bell record,' and give to each record peal its accurate definition? This, of course, should apply right down the scale from Maximus to Doubles. Surely a bona-fide record peal is worthy of correct description, no matter what the number of bells may be.

And here, sir, is a suggestion as to how you may forward that end considerably. I confess to no technical knowledge of printing, but would it not be possible, when printing the weekly peal reports, to sub-divide them under the headings Maximus, Cinques, Royal, Caters, Major, Triples, Minor and Doubles, and omit altogether any peal having more than one bell covering?

That a lead thus given by 'The Ringing World' would be followed by the Exercise at large, is the humble opinion of GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

VILLAGE WAKING FROM MEDIEVAL SLUMBER.

Chobham, where the bells are more interesting from an antiquarian point of view than they are tuneful, was the venue of a meeting of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday. Chobham is easier of access to-day than it used to be, for the ubiquitous omnibus has brought it within reasonable access from a railway station, but as far as ringing is concerned it is just as 'distant' as it was two generations ago. As a matter of fact, the people of Chobham are not easily moved; for centuries their slogan was, 'What was good enough for my father is good enough for me.' Innovations were coldly received, and it has only been the inevitable progress forced upon communities in the last few years that has roused them from the mediæval slumber in which they had so long been wrapped. And the Diocesan Ringing Guild is still knocking at the door at Chobham to endeavour to wake someone up—or, at least, it was until last Saturday.

Earlier this year there blew in from the sea a new Vicar—the Rev. F. T. Robinson—who had served most of his clerical life as a chaplain in the Navy. With him came not only the breezes of the ocean, but the spirit of the Navy, which believes in getting things done and doing them well. There is hope, therefore, that even yet Chobham, which up to now has openly declared that it has no use for such new-fangled ideas as Diocesan Guilds, may be induced to change its views and come into union with the Guildford Guild. At any rate, at Saturday's meeting the Vicar, from the chancel step, gave the Guild a cordial welcome, and hoped they would visit the parish again; while afterwards he joined the Guild as an hon. member, as also did the churchwarden, Mr. N. Power. With this excellent lead before them, it ought not to be difficult for the ringers to discard old prejudices and follow their example, and, incidentally, discard also the 'music stand' and written figures, which are at present utilised to assist the ringing. Unfortunately, none of the local men attended the meeting, but members of the Guild were present from Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Farnborough, Ottershaw, Esher, Thames Ditton, Dorking, West Clandon, and Woking, and Mr. A. W. Coles (of London) was also a welcome visitor.

The Vicar displayed all the versatility of the 'handyman' by conducting the service, playing the organ (with the district hon. secretary as blower), and giving what he called an impromptu address, but one which, nevertheless, was much appreciated. Afterwards he genially presided at the tea and meeting held at the White Hart Inn, where he was supported by Mr. Power and Admiral T. P. Walker (hon. treasurer of the Guild). It was learned that the Vicar was not entirely unacquainted with ringing, for in his Cambridge days he had rung the tenor at Great St. Mary's, and had also taken the treble to 'something, he did not know what.' But service in the navy, of course, had robbed him of any opportunity of following it up.

The principal business of the meeting was the nomination of district officers for the ensuing year. Mr. H. J. Chudley expressed a wish to retire from the office of District Ringing Master, but promised to give any help he could to his successor. Mr. F. E. Hawthorne was accordingly nominated for the office. Mr. H. Hancock was again nominated as district hon. secretary, and there were four nominations for two places on the executive committee, so that at the annual district meeting a ballot will be necessary. As the representative of the hon. members on the committee, the Rev. F. T. Robinson was nominated.

Mr. G. Grover (one of the Guild's representatives on the Central Council) read the representatives' report on the last meeting of the Council, and the business terminated with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for the service and for presiding at the meeting.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening consisted of Grand-sire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Treble Bob, and Superlative Surprise Major.

The 6th is the oldest bell in the tower, and was cast by William Culverden, a brazier, of London, who died in 1522. Two others, the 5th and 7th, by Richard Eldridge, of Wokingham, were cast in 1597, and the tenor by the same founder in 1610. Admiral Walker mentioned to the ringers that one of the bells in the steeple was given by a Vicar who lived to be 117 years old, and he hoped Mr. Robinson would follow his example. At the time of the inventory in the reign of Edward VI. there were in the steeple 'iiij belles whereof the best waies ix.e and the rest one under another according to the rate,' and also one 'sance bell.'

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Towcester Branch was held on Saturday at Gayton. Ringers were present from Blisworth, Cosgrove, Paulers Pury, Green's Norton, Hanslope, Lois Weedon, Cold Higham and Bradden. Miss Grant, St. Ives, was present, and rang several touches of Minor. The Master of the Guild (Mr. F. Wilford) also attended. The Guild's form of service was held. After tea, the Secretary (Rev. R. Howes) reported that several young bands were without instructors, and it was hoped that a few more experienced ringers would come forward and help.—The Master also spoke on the need of good striking.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT AT SELBY.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Selby on Saturday, by courtesy of the Rev. Canon Solloway, D.D., and was only moderately attended, the towers represented being Hemingbrough, Howden, Hull, Kirk Ella, Pontefract, Sutton, Withernsea, York, and the local company. A short service was held in the Abbey, the hymns sung being accompanied on the organ by the deputy organist (Mr. F. Ellis), with a short address and welcome by the Vicar. The business meeting followed in the sacristy, the vice-president (Mr. F. Cryer) presiding. It was resolved to hold the annual meeting at Pontefract in March.

A vote of condolence was moved with the relatives of the late Mr. J. W. Stickney (Hull), all standing for a few moments in respectful silence.

On the motion of Mr. A. H. Fox, seconded by Mr. A. C. Fearnley, a vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, service, and address, the deputy organist, and Mr. W. A. Hall, and the local company for their excellent arrangements.

An excellent report was afterwards served, followed by further ringing.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

NORTHERN DISTRICT MEET AT MANCHESTER.

A meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild was held at St. John's, Miles Platting, Manchester, on Saturday, December 6th, when members were present from Ashton-under-Lyne, Miles Platting and Sheffield. Many more gentlemen than ladies attended, and the members very much appreciated their presence, and thank them for coming to help them.

The Rector (Rev. H. C. Sheen) conducted the choral service, which was held in the church.

A splendid tea, which was enjoyed by all, was prepared by the ladies, and after tea a vote of thanks was given to the Rector for the use of the bells and for the service, also to the choir and the organist for services rendered.—Mrs. Wolstencroft seconded the vote, and also proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Hall, who had made all the arrangements for the meeting.

The gentlemen were admitted to the short business meeting, Mr. Sheen taking the chair.

Three new members were elected, and the electing of a joint secretary was left to the next meeting.

Ringing in various methods took place during the afternoon and evening.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

The last quarterly meeting of the above association was held at South Normanton on Saturday last. The meeting was fairly well attended by members from Crich, Mansfield Woodhouse, Morton, Ripley, South Normanton and Sutton-in-Ashfield. After some ringing in the afternoon, the members attended service conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. H. Lewis), who, in the course of an interesting and instructive address, reminded his hearers that it was some 55 years since he delivered his first address to the members of that association. As he has been an honorary member nearly the whole of this time, he can truly be described as an old friend.

After a sumptuous tea, provided in the Church Schools by the ladies, a business meeting was presided over by the president (Mr. W. Dobbs).

Nine new ringing members were elected, and it was decided to arrange a ringing meeting at Sutton-in-Ashfield on Saturday, February 14th, if possible.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for his address and the use of the bells, and, in reply, he said it was always a pleasure to meet his fellow churchworkers at South Normanton. He also voiced the thanks of the meeting to the organist and the ladies.

Further ringing afterwards took place, the methods varying from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

STEBBING RINGER'S DEATH.

On Saturday last the funeral took place at Stebbing of Mr. A. Barker, who passed away on Wednesday, December 10th, the Rev. F. J. Hutchinson officiating.

Mr. Barker, who was 71 years of age, had been a ringer at St. Mary's, Stebbing, since 1870, and was a regular and constant Sunday service ringer until, through failing health, he had to retire about three years ago. He was a member of the Essex Association for a good many years, and took a lively interest in its affairs, often walking from Stebbing to Braintree and back after a day's work to improve himself in the art—a distance of seven miles each way. The chief mourners at the funeral were the sons and daughters of the deceased.

A 720 of Bob Minor was rung after the funeral by the local company, the bells being half-muffled: W. Chapman 1, G. Emery 2, E. Thake 3, H. P. Emery 4, J. T. Barker (conductor) 5, F. Harrington 6. A 720 of Minor was also rung for Sunday morning service, the bells being half-muffled: H. P. Emery 1, G. Emery 2, E. Thake 3, J. T. Barker 4, F. Harrington (conductor) 5, H. C. Young, sen., 6.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

A very pleasant meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Blechley on Saturday, December 6th, when, in spite of adverse weather conditions, about 40 members attended, the following towers being represented: Bradwell, Beachampton, Hanslope, Great Buckhill, Loughton, Newport Pagnell, Stony Stratford, Swanbourne, Whaddon and the local ringers, with visitors from Watford, Northampton and Central Bucks Branch. The bells were going from 2.30 p.m. A very inspiring service was held. It was fully choral, and thanks are due to the choir for so kindly attending and giving their assistance. The address, given by the Rev. D. R. James, of Great Buckhill, an honorary member of the branch, was of an interesting nature, and appreciated by the members.

Tea was served in the schoolroom, where everything had been prepared for the comfort and enjoyment of the visitors.

After tea, the business meeting was held, the chairman of the branch, Rev. L. Moxon, presiding. The secretary (Mr. W. Sear) gave a brief account of the position of the branch, which proved to be satisfactory, and would be more so when all towers had paid their subscriptions.

He stated that a letter had been handed to him that afternoon, saying that it would not be convenient to hold the branch annual festival at Whaddon, as previously arranged, and he asked the meeting to select a place.

After discussion, Shenley was chosen, if it was locally convenient. If not, Newport Pagnell was the second choice.

The Secretary then proposed that a grant of £2 2s. be made to the Harwell Bell Fund. It was, he thought, a deserving appeal.—The motion was carried.

Votes of thanks were passed to the preacher, choir and to the ladies, which concluded a very enjoyable meeting. Further ringing took place, methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD. ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT BILSTON.

The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at St. Leonard's Church, Bilston, on Saturday, December 6th, and was very well attended. The bells were placed at the disposal of the members from three o'clock, and were kept merrily going until the service, which was held in the Parish Church. The Guild's special form was used, and the Vicar of Bilston (the Rev. Havelock Davidson) officiated and also gave a very interesting address on the early usages of bells. At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the schoolroom, when an excellent tea was in readiness, provided by the generosity of the Vicar.

The business meeting followed, at which the chair was occupied by the Vicar, who was supported by the Ringing Master (Mr. John Goodman, jun.), Mr. S. J. Hughes (hon. treasurer), and the secretary (Mr. H. Sheppard).

The Chairman said how pleased he was to meet the Guild, and gave them a hearty welcome to Bilston. It was a new experience for him, as that was his first church as Vicar where there was a peal of bells.

After the business of a routine character had been disposed of, several new members, including the remaining members of Bilston band, were added to the roll.

It was resolved that the next meeting, which is the annual, be held at Dudley on Saturday, March 7th. It was also decided to attempt the quarterly peal at Bilston, the date and other arrangements being left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

At the close of the meeting, on the proposition of the Secretary, seconded by Mr. S. J. Hughes, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of Bilston for his kindness in granting permission to hold the meeting at his church, for conducting the service, for his admirable and interesting address, for presiding at the business meeting, for the use of the tower, bells and schoolroom, and especially for his generosity in providing such a bounteous tea. Thanks were also accorded to the ladies who prepared and served the tea and kindly looked after the comfort of all present, also to the organist for the musical part of the service, to Mr. T. Justice for making the necessary arrangements, and to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting a happy one.

The Vicar responded on behalf of all concerned, and further ringing then took place.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE WEDNESDAY GUILD.

The annual meeting of the above Guild was held at Chester-le-Street on Wednesday, December 10th. There was a good attendance, and the bells were kept going till bedtime. After tea a meeting was held, at which Mr. Geo. Liddle, Chester-le-Street, was re-elected secretary. The next meeting was arranged to be held at Houghton-le-Spring on Wednesday, February 4th. The company then repaired again to the belfry, and some good ringing took place. The methods were Oxford and Kent Minor, Grandsire, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major.

THE PEAL AT ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL, DUBLIN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As a reader of 'The Ringing World,' I see in your paper of December 12th a report of a peal of Grandsire Caters rung on December 6th at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin. I notice, however, that the weight of the tenor is given as only 19 cwt. Is this correct? I have always heard that the weight of St. Patrick's Cathedral (Dublin) tenor was 45 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb. I know that by having a half-ton bell B flat a light peal of eight can be rung at St. Patrick's, with the 9th bell of the peal of twelve as tenor, which is only 19 cwt., but I did not know that a ten-bell peal could be rung with the 9th bell as tenor.

In any case, the time it took to ring that peal, viz., 3 hrs. 39 mins., makes me think that it is possible that the peal was rung on the back ten bells of the peal of twelve, with the 4½ cwt. tenor.—Yours faithfully,

W. E. G. HEWSON.

TWO IN TWO HUNDRED.

The following is the list of the 200 peals which M. J. Morris and G. F. Swann have rung together, and is particularly interesting because it includes Stedman from Doubles to Sextuples, and Cambridge from Minor to Maximus: Minor, four methods, 1; Grandsire Triples, *11; Grandsire Caters, 5; Grandsire Cinques, 2; Erin Triples, 2; Erin Cinques, 1; Stedman Doubles, 1; Stedman Triples, 39; Stedman Caters, 24; Stedman Cinques, *70; Stedman Sextuples, 1; Little Bob Major, 1; Plain Bob Major, 7; Double Oxford Major, 2; Double Yorkshire Major, 2; Double Norwich Major, 5; Forward Major, 1; Kent Treble Bob Major, 5; Oxford Treble Bob Major, 3; Cambridge Surprise Minor, 1; Cambridge Surprise Major, 13; Cambridge Surprise Royal, 2; Cambridge Surprise Maximus, 3; total, 200. * Including one silent.

MR. F. WARRINGTON'S 100 PEALS.

Minor: Plain Bob 9, Kent Treble Bob 11, Oxford Treble Bob 4, Cambridge Surprise 15, London 3, Norwich 1, Annable's London 1, 2 to 7 methods 22, Doubles 2. Major: Plain Bob 7, Little Bob 1, Kent Treble Bob 14, Oxford Treble Bob 2, Cambridge Surprise 1, Double Norwich 6, Grandsire Triples 1. Total, 100.

'RUTLAND' SURPRISE MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There must be many thousands of peals in existence applicable to this method.

Any peal of London Surprise will be true for Rutland, and Rutland having only one false course-end, 24365, tenors together, it is possible to produce far better peals for Rutland than for London, the latter having three false course-ends.

Here are three peals of different lengths. I do not claim them to be original, probably they are not; but they are evidence of the fact that composition of peals of Rutland is a very simple matter, and the only thing to be avoided is the reversing of bells in 5.6 by course-ends equivalent to 24365.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

OTHER PEALS.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your correspondent re compositions for Rutland Surprise Major in last week's 'Belfry Gossip' column, the incense half of any peal of Double Oxford Bob Major, having a bob at Before in every course, may be used for this method. Several such peals will be found in the Central Council Collection, Section H., pages 263, 264 and 265.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NORTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the North-Eastern Division was held on Saturday 6th, at St. Peter's, Colchester. Service at St. Peter's was followed by tea at the schoolroom adjoining, and the meeting was afterwards held. The Master (Mr. C. H. Howard) presided, supported by the District Master (Mr. W. J. Nevard).

The District Master and the Secretary (Mr. R. W. Stannard) were both re-elected unanimously and thanked for past services. Fifty members attended from 26 parishes.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Southern District was held at Bletchingley on Saturday last, when ringers attended from Redhill, Leigh, Burstow, Reigate, Horley, Godstone, Limpsfield Chart, Merstham, Beddington, St. Peter's, Croydon, Turner's Hill, Westerham, and the local band. A short service was conducted by the Rev. Ailken Crawshaw, and tea was served at the Village Hall. The Rector came to tea with the ringers, but as he was unable to stay for the meeting, before his departure a hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for his address at the service, and for the use of the bells.

The business meeting followed, Mr. L. A. Tidy, Ringing Master of the District, being voted to the chair.

Four new members were elected, viz., Mr. Pescud, of Leigh, and Mr. Andrews, of Bletchingley, as resident members, and Mr. John Weller, of Westerham, and Mr. Frank Hoad, of Ruster, as non-resident life members.

The next meeting, which is the annual general district meeting, is to be held at Reigate in January.

The next quarterly peal is to be attempted at Bletchingley, to be conducted by Mr. Geo. Hoad.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Tidy for presiding, also to those who had helped to make the arrangements for the meeting.

The tower was again visited, and the bells were rung in the standard methods. The young blood was not forgotten, the ringers willingly assisting in ringing rounds for their practice, the bells being kept going till about 8.30 p.m.

DATE TOUCH AT GRUNDISBURGH.

On Tuesday evening six members of the Suffolk Guild met at Grundisburgh Church and rang upon the bells a date touch, consisting of 1,930 changes of Plain Bob Minor in 80 mins.: Arthur Grey 1, Frederick J. Crapnell 2, Frederick Clarke 3, Edward Simpson 4, Charles Clarke 5, Cecil W. Pipe 6. Arranged by C. W. Roberts, and conducted by C. W. Pipe.

This is the tower where the 'troubles' commenced owing to differences with the stoney band would-be change ringers. Happily, all is now running smoothly, and steady progress being made, thanks to those ringers who kindly offered suggestions, which were made use of, especially those from Mr. Challis F. Winney, who is ever ready to help lame dogs over stiles, and whose personal advice on how to run a tower on lines of discipline and dignity was much appreciated.

THE SCIENTIFIC SIDE OF RINGING

The proportion of ringers who take up seriously a study of the scientific side of ringing is comparatively small, and yet it is a deeply fascinating subject. The reasons why so few really enter this department may be many and various; in the case of the majority, perhaps, because they are not scientifically-minded and feel that they could not, without great labour, grasp the many important details which go to make up a successful understanding of the theoretical branch of our art. Others, and there are doubtless many, may have the ability, but not the time or inclination to take it up. But whatever the cause, the number of ringers who have more than a superficial acquaintance with the principles underlying the science is insignificant. Many people have composed peals, because they have been able to put together a series of course ends, and, by the help of proof scales, say whether the peals are true. Yet what percentage of the composers could themselves have got out the proof scales? Moreover, some, even with the assistance of proof scales, have to rely entirely upon the process of trial and error—they have not the knowledge by which they can say beforehand whether any particular plan of construction will carry them to the end they have in view. Again, many of those who have groped more or less blindly in their efforts to 'compose' peals, have often had to waste many hours of work and reject many fruitless results, for reasons not obvious to themselves, except, merely, that their productions have been false. They have no acquaintance with and therefore no knowledge how to utilise to their advantage, that, to them, mysterious thing called 'Q sets.' And it is, we believe, because of the obstacles which they meet and the disappointments which arise as a consequence that many ringers give up bothering their heads about anything except the practical application of the art in the belfry.

It is true that much of the necessary knowledge is hard to come by. The existing text books are not entirely easy to follow—their style is really too 'scientific'; the writers have not dealt with their subjects on what in these days are called 'popular' lines, so that they do not appeal to the mass of ringers. For instance, able and exhaustive as is the 'Investigation into the construction of peals of Stedman Triples' by Sir Arthur Heywood and others in the volume on 'Stedman' in the Snowdon series, it requires not only long and close application to digest it, but its character is such that only the studiously-minded are likely to proceed with it after sampling the first few chapters. To the earnest student, of course, treatises such as this are invaluable, and, indeed, indispensable, but for the average ringer who desires to get below the surface without the boredom of an analytical study of microscopical details, the style of this kind of writing offers no attractions, although, for the purpose for which it is intended, the treatise mentioned is one of the cleverest pieces of work that has ever been penned on a subject relating to ringing. But the ordinary ringer of to-day wants something which he can read without having to force his interest, something which he can understand without racking his brains too extensively, and something which will increase his knowledge of his favourite subject without boring him.

In this issue we begin a series of articles by Mr. J. A. Trollope, who is—and we say it without flattery—one of the most lucid writers on ringing matters that the Exercise has ever known. He has a happy knack of putting very plainly and simply for all to understand, things which have seemed to be complicated and abstruse. In this new series Mr. Trollope deals with a subject which is really of wide importance to ringers, especially to conductors and more particularly to composers, and it will be found that it has been written in a style which readers of all classes will be able to follow with interest, and, most of them, grasp with clarity. He covers the ground of 'Variation and Transposition,' on which many wordy battles have been fought in the past, very widely, and we are quite sure that the articles will add not only to the knowledge of our readers, but to their better appreciation of the values and importance of developments both in method and peal construction.

HALESWORTH BELLS RESTORED.

OCTAVE NOW HUNG ON ONE LEVEL.

The bells at Halesworth Parish Church, Suffolk, have been restored by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, who has installed a new massive cast-iron frame, carried on heavy steel girders, and rehung the bells in special steel headstocks, so that the old cannons have been retained. The bells are now all on one level and have been provided with new fittings. The clock is being rebuilt, and Westminster chimes added. The bells were rededicated on Sunday week by the Archdeacon of Suffolk in the presence of a representative and crowded congregation of townspeople.

The service opened with the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' sung as a processional. Prayers were taken by the Rector, and the lesson read by the Archdeacon.

During the service Archdeacon Darling, accompanied by the Rector and the churchwardens, Mr. C. J. Goodwin and Admiral E. F. Breun, C.B., proceeded to the belfry, where he received the bell ropes from Mr. Goodwin. Having dedicated the bells, the Archdeacon handed the ropes to the Rector. A touch was then rung, the ringers being: A. H. Took 1, L. Hammond 2, A. Lee 3, W. Pearce 4, C. Moss 5, J. Howard 6, F. C. Lambert (conductor) 7, J. Jolly 8.

After the hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell' had been heartily sung, an interesting address was delivered by Archdeacon Darling, who said it had given him great pleasure to accept the invitation to dedicate the bells. The bell founder and architect had contributed their skill, so that the bells were placed satisfactorily. Unfortunately this was not always so, and in many churches the want of care and foresight, which they had exhibited at Halesworth, had meant the loss of the bells and damage to the church. His own church (Eyke), he said, was a striking example of how bells had been badly used. At one time in the history of the church it was decided that two of the bells were not needed, and the churchwardens got rid of them to buy lead for the roof, and later the lead was sold to have slates on the roof. Another bell was wanted, and there was no room for it on the frame. Ignorant of the stress and strain of the bells on the tower, often made of flint rubble, the frame was cut away and the local carpenter or blacksmith wedged the bell frame securely up against the wall, with the result that the tower cracked. Bells had their message in times of joy and sorrow, and in the past had been much used for parochial purposes. One of the Halesworth bells, added the preacher, had an inscription written on it, which was very rare in this part of the country, many such bells having been lost during the time of the Reformation.

At the conclusion of the address, the Rector announced that the expense of rehanging the bells, etc., would be about £340, of which they had £213 in hand. During the singing of the hymn, 'When morning gilds the skies,' a collection was taken for the fund amounting to £52s. 1d.

After the service a well-struck touch of Bob Major was rung by the local band with Messrs. H. Barrell (Bungay) and G. Howlett (St. Margaret's). Ringers were also present from Chediston, Wissett, Huntingfield, Bramfield (Mr. J. Punchard, aged 82), Peasenhall, Badingham, Laxfield, Redenhall, Southwold, Aldeburgh and Ipswich. They took part in touches in various methods, and expressed their great satisfaction at the improved tone and 'go' of the bells. The tenor is 18 cwt. 26lb.

Halesworth Church tower was completed about 1420. Between 1440 and 1480 a peal of five bells from the foundry at Bury St. Edmunds was hung, and two still remain—the treble (now the fourth), 'Sancte-Thoma-ora-pro-nobis,' and the old third, now the sixth, with the legend, 'Johannes-Christi-care-dignare-pro-nobis-orara.' Both bear the arms of the old abbey of Bury—a crown with crossed arrows—with the initial H.S.

In the certificate of 1553 'five bells and a sanctus' were mentioned, and in 1611 the old fourth (now the seventh), which had become cracked, was recast by one William Brend, a Norwich bell founder, and on it is the inscription, 'Anno Domini 1611. A.B.—W.' The original bell frame was at this time taken out of the tower, having become much worn and decayed, and the Brends supplied the frame which did duty for the five largest and oldest bells up to the present restoration. In 1624 the tenor bell was recast by William and John Brend, and bears the words 'new repaired by Roger Woods, Erasmus Moss, Churchwardens, Jeffery Barrett gave me. W.L.B. 1624.' This Jeffery Barrett was born about 1365, being described in a will of 1460 as an old man.

In 1627 the present fifth bell, formerly the second, was also recast by the same man, and its inscription reads: 'Richard Welton and Daniel Barne, churchwardens, Iulij (July), 1627. W.L.B.' In 1759 another bell was added, and in 1770 two trebles to complete the octave. The sanctus bell was recast in 1825, and is now used for the clock.

The ringers of these bells were first mentioned in the will of Wm. Walpole, of Hallsforth, July 19th, 1559, in which he left 26s. 8d. for the priest, clerks, and ringers for their 'bred and drink.' This money, equivalent to £26 now, was invested in a piece of land, and is now included with other charities, but the ringers still receive five guineas a year for ringing on Christmas Day and the Sovereign's birthday. Their records concerning the ringing in the tower date back to 1771.

QUEER STORY 'TOLLED' BY BELLS.

Much has been written of the story of the bells—that of Dick Whittington, for instance—but few have been more queer than that 'tolled' by the bells of St. Osmund's Church, London Road, Derby, on Sunday week.

Ding, dong; ding, dong, they rang. There was nothing unusual about that. But when the inhabitants of the area realised that the hour was 8.30 p.m., they sensed a mystery.

Ding, dong; ding, dong, the bells rang. That was all they could say, but, did the passers-by but know, what a lot they were saying.

Here is the story of the bells of St. Osmund.

After evensong, the organist and some of the congregation remained, unknown to the verger, to practice carols in the organ loft. When the practice was over they found to their amazement that they had been locked in, and the only way of communicating with the outside world was by means of the bells. A parishioner let them out when he went to investigate.

RUTLAND SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The compositions mentioned by my old friend, Mr. H. W. Wilde, will produce the number of changes all right, but is this wholesale bobbing by Belfores in Rutland, or any other method, quite the thing?

The result is that five of the seven working bells are ringing the method, the tenors are ringing something different from the other five, and something different from each other.

This can easily be demonstrated by comparing the diagram of the plain course with diagrams of separate courses in which the tenors are always bobbed Before.

Symmetry should be the great thing in change ringing, but there is not much symmetry in the diagram of Bobbed Before Course.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

BREWWOOD, STAFFORD.—On Thursday, December 11th, at the Parish Church, for Confirmation service by the Lord Bishop of Lichfield, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: G. F. Newman (first quarter peal) 1, A. G. Hunt 2, T. Perry 3, E. F. Mitchell 4, A. E. Winterton 5, Percy Bill 6, J. Perry (conductor) 7, J. Walford 8. After service a 504 of Stedman Triples was rung.

ILFRACOMBE BELLS.

FROM A ROVING CORRESPONDENT.

Having been away from Ilfracombe for a few years, and, of course, not having heard its bells for the same period, I recently had a pleasant surprise. As all ringers who visit this 'Queen of watering places' know, Ilfracombe Parish Church is one of the very few places in North Devon where the mysteries of our craft are practised, and, as can only be expected, visiting ringers were attracted to it; not so many of them, however, would climb up to the church to have a ring, as the bells were such a poor lot.

The church, as many know, has a remarkable situation, occupying an eminent position overlooking the sea on one hand, and the town on the other, with the war memorial, in nicely laid-out grounds, at the foot, and ringers, myself included, have often wished to hear a really fine peal sound out from a tower with such a commanding position. That wish has now materialised.

It was during a recent hasty and brief visit, quite oblivious of the fact that any work to the bells was contemplated, that I had the pleasant surprise beforementioned.

When one has been used to, and expects, a few old 'pois and pans' to work in conjunction with clocks, it comes as a bit of a surprise to hear clock chimes that possess a richness and dignity all of their own—it made one's pulse beat to think that they might be clock bells only. Happily, I discovered this was not so, but that the bells of the Parish Church had been cast into a fiery furnace, and out of the Loughborough mire and clay had they been builded up. One often wonders what are the mysteries—if there are any—about the Loughborough moulds—Taylors only specify, like other bell founders, that the bells will be cast of bell metal, yet the timbre has an outstanding characteristic of its own.

It was with regret that I had to forego a visit to the tower while ringing was in progress, but what enjoyment I lost in the handling of a rope I gained by being able to listen to the ringing; they are truly a magnificent peal, and although the tenor weighs only 12 cwt., an impression of greater weight is created. They are truly a grand exchange for the previous set, which had done good service, and future visiting ringers should not fail to have a pull there.

From enquiries I found that all the old bells had recently been recast and hung in a new cast-iron frame. All the latest gadgets have been supplied, nothing has been left undone to make the job a success, and the Church Council and Taylors are to be congratulated on the result, which only shows what co-operation can do.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Ely Association meeting at Cambridge on January 3rd ought to prove a great attraction, for there will be a rare opportunity of ringing at St. Benedict's Church, where Stedman rang.

Ringers generally will regret to hear of the illness of Mr. W. T. Cockerill, the hon. secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and will wish him a speedy recovery.

Boxing Day has seen the performance of many memorable peals, and it is 20 years ago to-day that a band at Glent rang the 9,728 Superlative Surprise Major, which made a new record in the method, the peal of 9,312 at Crawley, which was the longest up to that time, having been rung exactly 16 years before.

On Boxing Day, 1901, the 11,111 Stedman Cinques was rung by St. Martin's Guild at Birmingham, and on December 26th, 1831, a peal of 15,168 Kent Treble Bob was rung at Elland, Yorks.

The Cambridge Surprise Royal record of 10,440 was rung at Walthamstow on December 27th, 1923; and on the same day in 1904 the Midland Counties Association scored the 17,104 Double Norwich Major at South Wigston.

On the last day in the year 1888, a peal of 15,041 Stedman Caters was rung at Appleton, the fourth peal of over 12,000 changes of Caters rung in that year. Two of the others were at the same tower, and the remaining one at Cheltenham.

In many places peal ringing is too little appreciated by the inhabitants. Not so at Uppingham, where a peal is reported this week. In this case the ringers were the heroes of the day, and remarks of approval were heard on all sides, and a veritable feast was prepared for the hungry—and thirsty—performers.

Irthlingborough is coming into its own again. There was a time when this tower figured largely in the ringing performances in higher methods, and then came a period of more or less quiescence. Mr. Anderson Y. Tyler has now got round him another excellent local band which this year has rung London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, all of them conducted by Mr. Tyler.

Recently some Americans raised money for the placing of a window in Fulleigh Church, Essex, in memory of its seventeenth-century Vicar, the Rev. Laurence Washington, an ancestor of George Washington. As a token of gratitude, the present Vicar gave the Bishop of Oregon a worn-out clapper taken from one of the church bells, which has been passed on to Christ Church, Alexandria, Virginia.

PEACE COMMISSIONER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal of Grandsire Caters, published in your issue of December 12th, I desire to point out that the ringer of the 9th (the president of the undermentioned society) is not a P.C. in the sense that you have described him. The letters P.C. after his name, as it was sent in for publication, does not imply that he is a police constable, but a peace commissioner for the City of Dublin, a rank similar to that of a justice of the peace in England, and as it existed prior to the establishment of the Irish Free State.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. WILSON,

Hon. Secretary,
St. Patrick's Cathedral Society.

ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN.

BELLS THAT RANG FOR AGINCOURT.

The parish church of St. Andrew, Holborn, possesses one of the finest rings of eight bells in London. The following interesting article concerning them is contributed by the Rector, the Rev. Edwin Bedford:—

When the old church of St. Andrew, Holborn, was pulled down at the end of the 17th century, owing to the ruinous state into which it had fallen, Sir Christopher Wren, the famous architect, was chosen to erect a new church. He kept the old brick tower standing, however, and raised it to the height of 110 feet, casing it with stone. This tower is not considered one of his best efforts architecturally, but it contains one of the finest rings of eight bells in London.

And the bells are old, for when they have been recast from time to time the old bell metal has been used again, so that it is boasted that the bells of St. Andrew's rang out to celebrate the victory of Agincourt!

There are many interesting notes on the old bells contained in Churchwarden Bentley's book—a valued possession of the church since the 17th century. Here are a few of them:—

'The steeple of the Church that now is, was begun to be builded, and the old steeple pulled down in the 25 year of King Henry VI., and made up so that the bells were first hung up therein, and rung in the 35 yr of the said King.'

Item. 'The Churchwardens made or new cast a bell in the 21 year of King Henry VII., whereunto many well disposed parishioners and other people gave much money.'

Item. 'The bells were accustomed to be rung always at the election of a pope—as in all London over—(how much rather ought they to be rung and rung again for our Christian prince), and for these peals the Churchwardens were allowed in their accounts.'

Memo. 'The little bell set up and the steeple covered and leaded in the 18 year of King Henry VIII. to the charge of the parish of £7 or £8.'

Memo. 'A great gathering towards the new bells in the 21 year of King Henry VIII. Thomas Lawrence, of London, bell founder.

'The 1 bell named Spes, 807lb.

'The 2 bell named Katherine, 1,110lb.

'The 3 bell named Maria, 1,414lb.

'The 4 bell named Andrew, 1,825lb.

'Total 52 cwt.'

Memo. 'That Thomas Neale and William Preston, Churchwardens, made account of 3s. and 4d. paid by them of a penalty or fine unto the King's servants for not ringing the bells when the King's Majesty came by.'

'The obit of the Pope was solemnly kept and with great ringing of bells.' 4 Mary, 1557.

Memo. 'A broken bell—to wit the 3 in number—new cast by Hugh Walker.' 8 Eliz.

Item. 'Another bell new cast by Hugh Wadlow and John Bromley, Churchwardens, at the parish Charges.' 9 Eliz.

The present peal dates from 1731 and the bells bear the name of Phelps—now Messrs. Mears and Stainbank—founders, as also the names of the then Rector, Rev. Geoffrey Barton, and the churchwardens. In 1921 two of the bells were recast by Mears and Stainbank, and the peal rehung—iron girders being substituted for the old wooden beams.

The tenor weighs 28 cwt., and the whole peal 5 tons 12 cwt.

In the tower, besides, there still hangs the old 'Sanctus' bell of pre-Reformation times, cast by Robert Mott. This bell is still rung for week-day services to call the people to prayer.

St. Andrew's has a Guild of Change Ringers, three of whom have held the proud position of Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Each Sunday morning and evening the bells are rung, as on special occasions as well, and the practice night is one Thursday each month. The Rector is president of the Guild, Mr. H. Alford Master, Mr. J. Hawkins (steeplekeeper) is secretary, and Mr. W. J. Norton treasurer for the current year.

In May, 1928, Mr. Joseph Rayner—well known in the ringing world—died at the ripe age of 92 years. He had been a ringer at St. Andrew's for 45 years and steeplekeeper for 20, and never did the belfry have a more careful custodian, or church bells a more devoted lover.

A GREAT BADDOW DEDICATION.

A lychgate of English oak, roofed with oak shingles, has been erected at the southern entrance to the churchyard at Great Baddow. The lychgate was provided from a bequest by the late Miss Mary Louisa Crabb, in memory of her family, which had been for many years associated with the parish. It was dedicated by the Bishop of Barking, who referred to the fact that he came there six years ago to dedicate the peal of bells which had been recast and rehung. Such things, he said, were symbolical. The bells rang out the invitation to worship, and the gate was symbolical of an entrance through Christ to God. It was also symbolical of a halting place for them to ponder about higher and spiritual things.

In connection with the dedication, a peal was rung on the church bells conducted by Dr. Spencer Phillips, who is churchwarden.

VARIATION AND TRANSPOSITION. THE PROBLEM EXPLORED.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

One of the questions which most interest ringers is that of the authorship and originality of methods and peal compositions. Whenever you get one or two of them talking together it is as likely as not to crop up. A peal has been published as composed and conducted by so and so, and people knowing what has been done in the particular method say that it cannot possibly be original. Conscientious secretaries are oftentimes troubled in their minds whether they ought to let certain names stand in their reports as the composers of certain peals, and I am frequently asked my opinion on the originality of compositions. Some little while ago the captain of one of the foremost bands in the country wrote me a long and interesting letter on the subject. He suggested that it was a matter which the Central Council should take up, that some standard of originality should be agreed on, and that a register of compositions made available so that anyone could find out whether a peal was an old one or not. He invited my co-operation, but the subject bristles with difficulties, and though I gave the matter some thought I did nothing. Now, an influential member of the Exercise has asked me to deal with the variation and transposition of peals and methods, and I am going to do so as a necessary part of the other and larger subject.

In the first place we must recognise that the ideas which ringers hold about authorship and originality have been gradually evolved during three centuries, and they have changed from time to time, and are still changing. We shall make a great mistake if we imagine that the various standards of ringing are fixed and unalterable. It is a healthy sign, a sign of life and progress, that what men think in one generation is not quite the same as what they think in the next. Take the form of ringing as an example: its division into lead and course and peal or touch. After more than a hundred years' development ringers adopted the standard that you must have a method which consists of a course which has as many leads, all alike, as there are working bells; and that one kind of bob only is allowable. Later on they agreed that the lead must have certain definite qualities. By this means they arrived at the style of method which is now universally practised. Here, at least, you might think there is finality. But no; method splicing has introduced quite new ideas, and the tendency seems to be that the rigidity of the old standard will be relaxed. It is not that the old has been found to be wrong, but that new development has caused new ideas. So with the standards of authorship. Five and twenty years ago men held opinions about authorship and originality of composition which they thought final. To-day those views are changing, and five and twenty years hence quite different views may prevail.

In the early days there was little question of authorship. It was a recognised fact that certain men had introduced certain peals and methods, but neither in Stedman's two books, nor in the various 'Campanalogias' nor in 'The Clavis' are the names of any composers given. By the accident that Stedman's name became the title of his Principle, his authorship of it has been recognised. Tradition tells us that Porter composed Double Norwich, but for the most part we do not know, or can only guess, to whom the Exercise owes the standard methods—Treble Bob, Cambridge, London and the rest. It is only by tradition that we know that one of the three authors of 'The Clavis' was the composer of the peals given in it. The book says nothing, except that Superlative was 'our own'; and it is quite likely that some, at least, of the peals were ones which were familiar to John Reeves, but were not actually his own composition. Indeed, if I remember aright, there is one peal always reckoned as Reeves', which in the Cumberland peal book is said to be the composition of George Gross.

It is the same with peal boards. As a rule the early ones say nothing about the composer. Where they do it is usually in such exceptional cases as the first peal of Grandsire or Stedman. The earliest peal board of all is an example, and its wording is interesting and instructive. It is the record of the peal of Grandsire Bob Triples rung at Norwich in 1715. It says: 'It has been Studied by the most Acute Ringers in the land, but to no Effect ever since Triple Changes were first Rung; but now at last its found out to the truth by John Garthorn, one of the said Society and Rung by him and the rest of the Society.' We can paraphrase it something like this. For a long time ringers knew that there was a peal of Grandsire Bob Triples to be had if only one knew how to apply Bob Minor to seven bells, and John Garthorn was the first man who had the knowledge and ability to do so. It is quite a different claim to the modern one of authorship and ownership. The wording of the boards recording the first peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples are similar. But where boards record peals of Major or Caters or Royal, no composers' names are given. Not till Shipway's book, which appeared about 1820, do we find it the rule to put a man's name as composer to every composition.

But, of course, the modern ideas about authorship had been growing up in the Exercise from very early times. Annable, in his note-book, which was evidently a draft of the book he intended to publish, is careful to put an initial letter under the leads of the six-bell methods he wrote out to show the composers, or perhaps the persons from whom he got them—A for Anable, S for Stedman, D for Doleman, and L for Laughton. Whether he would have put their names in the printed book or not, we cannot tell, for unfortunately it was never completed and never published. But by Shipway's time, when composers had multiplied and had turned their attention to many methods, it was generally recognised that, as nothing could exist without a cause, so there could be no composition without a composer. And, since composition was a vital and high branch of ringing, it was only due to the composer to recognise his work by putting his name to his compositions.

During the nineteenth century these ideas became more definite and reached the opinions generally held five and twenty years ago. In the eighties and nineties there were a number of composers of outstanding ability and industry who produced an immense number of peals. Three of the most typical and leading of these men were Henry Dains, Nathan Pitstow and Charles Henry Hattersley. The Exercise benefited enormously by their work, and their opinions are worthy of respect. Broadly, their view was as follows, and it was shared generally by ringers. They accepted one or two rules of variation. Beyond that, each method or peal was a distinct composition and belonged to the person who first produced it. As a rule it was necessary to publish a peal to prove priority of composition, but other ways, such as ringing it, might be accepted. Once you had made out your title to your peal it was your property. Another man might compose it quite independently. That did not affect the case. Priority of composition was everything. It was no answer for the man to say that he did not and could not know that there had been previous publication. He should have known. It was the business of anyone who wished to enter the ranks of the composers to make himself acquainted with what had already been done. When, as must inevitably happen, someone did by mistake publish a peal that had already been published, it was his duty to apologise and withdraw as soon as the fact was brought to his notice. No one ought to use another's peal without acknowledgment, and it was even held that if a man spoke disparagingly of a composition or a method he was insulting its composer. People thought that they had real rights and property in their peals, and they were ready to fight for them, and did fight for them, as you can see if you turn to the correspondence columns of the ringing papers.

Now, apart from extravagances, if you accept two ideas, these views were quite natural and logical. The two ideas are, first, that each composition, with its definite variations, is a distinct thing; and the other that the composer creates something which did not exist before. Ringers had got to look on compositions in ringing as if they were like literary or musical compositions. Everybody recognises, and the law recognises, property in musical compositions. Why not in peal compositions? It takes, or rather it once took, as much ability and knowledge to compose a peal of Bob Major as a hymn tune. If there is copyright in one, why not in the other? True, the arrangement of bobs in some peals is very simple; but so is the arrangement of notes in an Anglican Church chant. And they are copyright. I think that when Holt issued his broadsheet of peals of Grandsire Triples he had produced something which did not exist before, and, speaking diffidently, as becomes a layman, I think the law would have upheld his property and copyright in his peals.

But it soon became clear that there are difficulties. Holt had to use an infinity of labour and trouble to get his peals, but once they were published it was no great difficulty for other people to get other peals, similar in many ways, but not quite the same. Whose property are they? John Reeves, as we know, found that by bobbing the Q set with the second before he could get an improvement. That was called 'Reeves' Variation,' giving the credit partly to the original author and partly to the author of the variation. Other men were not so particular. In the belfry of Lambeth Parish Church there is a board recording a peal of Grandsire Triples; when and by whom rung I do not remember. It does not matter. But it is said to have been composed by such a one, and to have contained 103 bobs and 2 singles. When we consider all the circumstances, it does not require much imagination to guess that what was rung was half of Holt's Ten Part and half of Reeves' Variation. We may think that it was not quite honest of the man to call it his composition, but I do not know that we ought to. People knew very little about variation in those days, and they may quite well have thought that this really was a new peal.

Shipway does not hesitate to put his name to a peal which is only Reeves' Variation begun at another lead-end. This sort of thing was done continually, and the names of the people who did it forbid us to think that it was anything which was not considered perfectly right and allowable. There are many such instances in Sottanall's book, and in 'Treble Bob' Jasper Snowden gives some cases. The three Surprise peals rung at Bennington—Cambridge in 1873, Superlative in 1855, and London in 1870—were all by J. Miller, and all were variations of older compositions. It is pretty sure that Miller knew of the older peals and used them to produce his; but did he know that his variations would automatically produce true peals, as we know it now? I am not so sure. Perhaps he thought he was doing what would be considered quite legitimate now—taking the idea of an old peal and using it to produce another peal with different course-ends and different qualities.

The publication by Jasper Snowden of 'A Treatise on Treble Bob' in 1878 set up a new standard. He explained that any composition may be varied by beginning it at any lead-end, and that every composition may be reversed and still be true. This was the standard which I said was generally accepted five and twenty years ago. Each composition was regarded as a distinct thing, but it could be varied in these two ways, and the original and the variations alike were the property of the first composer. But now a new factor came into the case. The older composers, all except Fabian Siedman, worked by experimental methods, and looked on their peals as artistic productions. In the late eighties and nineties a new style of composition came in which regarded a peal as the result of mathematical law. C. D. P. Davies and W. H. Thompson were the pioneers of this class of composition, and they were followed by A. P. Heywood, H. Earle Bulwer and others. For the most part they held the current ideas of ownership, and were equally ready as the others to fight for their rights. But it makes all the difference in the long run if you consider a composition as the solution of a mathematical problem instead of an artistic creation. And especially if you teach other people to look at it so.

The publication of the Central Council Collections may fairly be said to have given the death blow to the old ideas of authorship and ownership so far as methods are concerned. The six-bell methods were worked out neither as distinct compositions nor as the solution of mathematical problems. A simple formula was set up which gave every combination of all possible places in a lead. From this, by a purely mechanical process, the different leads were written out. Those which did not produce the proper lead-ends were rejected and the remainder were the full total of Minor methods. In the same way all the Plain Triples and Plain Major methods were produced. The latter number over eight hundred, and of course, they could not all be printed. In making the necessary selection a new plan was adopted. There is a short chapter in the book which begins thus: 'Methods are not isolated independent things. They are related to each other in a number of ways.' It is then pointed out that there is a small number of simple, or 'key,' methods, and that all the others follow from these by means either of combining them together or by varying them according to definite and ascertainable rules. Then follow the simply constructed methods in the order they appear one from another. Anyone who studies this part of the 'Collection of Plain Major Methods' will see that there is no room for individual authorship and ownership. And, indeed, anything of the sort was ignored in making the collection. Where a method had been rung or was known to the Exercise from its having been printed in one of the standard books, its name was carefully given. Many of the others no doubt had been published and possibly named. As they had never been rung, and, to all intents and purposes, were forgotten, it was not considered necessary to search for them, since every possible method was in the hands of the compilers.

What is true of the Plain Methods is equally true of Treble Bob Methods. But with this proviso. The number of methods on the Treble Bob Principle is so immense, so unbelievably immense, that no one will ever be able to claim that he has written them all out, or even an appreciable part of them. But the laws of method construction are now fairly well known. We can see pretty well what is possible. We can see how methods are related to each other. We can by means of short formulæ set down hundreds of methods in any one of which the lead-ends, or for that matter any particular row, can readily be ascertained. During these last thirty years, working on the Methods Committee's investigations, I must have written out many thousands of fresh methods. How many I have worked out in formulæ I should not care to say, even if I knew. But I have never claimed the authorship or ownership of a single one, and most of the new methods which appear from time to time are old friends. I have before me a manuscript book, the result of some investigations I made into Surprise Methods. It measures about eleven inches by eight and four inches thick. It consists of sheets of thin paper, and has nothing but half-leads of Surprise Methods, each one of which stands for two methods, sometimes for four, sometimes for more. How many there are all together I do not know. It is too long a job to count them. These represent only a small proportion of those that can be mechanically written out without any experimenting and with the certainty of arriving at a

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

JOINT MEETING IN THE SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Rawmarsh on Saturday, December 13th, in conjunction with the other societies in the Southern area of the county, and the result was a successful gathering, upwards of thirty members attending from Ecclefield, Doncaster, Arksey, Conisborough, Wath, Dartfield, Treeton, Handsworth, Rotherham, Felkirk, Sheffield Cathedral, Adwick-le-Street, Ashton-under-Lyne and the local company. Previous to service, good practice was obtained in Stedman and Grandsire Triples. Double Norwich Major and Cambridge Surprise Major. At the usual service the Rev. Canon Scovell officiated, and his address, delivered in his own bright and happy style, was much appreciated. Tea was served in the Parish Room, and the ringers were honoured by the presence of the Rector and his curate and both of the churchwardens.

Previous to the business meeting, the company were entertained to a course of Bob Royal on handbells by the same band that recently rang a peal of Royal, the first in the Southern area for a number of years. It is hoped, now they have started, that they will continue with the good work. The band was Mrs. C. Ryder 1-2, S. Briggs 3-4, A. Nash 5-6, C. Ryder 7-8, and A. Firth 9-10.

The Rector presided at the business meeting, and Mr. G. Lewis, vice-president of the Southern Division, gave a very hearty welcome to the kindred societies, and thanked them for their attendance.

Mr. J. R. Matlock, of Wath, was elected to membership of the Yorkshire Association, and an invitation was given by Handsworth to hold the annual meeting at that place. This was accepted, the date being fixed for March 21st, 1931.

A suggestion was made that the local societies should drop their usual monthly meetings in the month when quarterly meetings of the association are due to be held and combine in a joint meeting. This met with a favourable reception, and the secretaries of the societies concerned promised to bring the matter before their members and do all in their power to give effect to the proposal.

The next annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association is to be held in the Southern area at Wakefield, on Saturday, January 31st, and the secretary asked all who possibly could to attend and help to make it a success.

Mr. Thorpe, hon. secretary of the Sheffield and District Society, and Mr. Gledstone, hon. secretary of the Doncaster and District Society, heartily thanked the Southern Division for the invitation to the meeting, and hoped that the happy relations and good feeling which existed between the local societies and the Yorkshire Association would continue, and, if possible, grow stronger from year to year.

Votes of thanks to Vicar and churchwardens, to the ladies for the excellent tea, and to the local company, were carried and replied to by the Rector and his warden (Mr. Roberts).

given lead-end, if only one knows the laws of method construction. When one reaches this stage, what, do you think, is left of any ideas of a method as a distinct composition or of authorship and ownership?

It is only fair at this point to say that when you have more or less blindly written out half a lead of a method, you have not done very much. Before it is any good to the Exercise there are many other things to do. You must know something about necessary qualities, you must work out proof scales and peals. This wholesale manufacture does not supersede the kind of work that Arthur Craven did, or that Messrs. Bankes James and Lindoff and others are doing. But it does throw a flood of light on questions of authorship and ownership which are sometimes hotly debated. When methods are common property, anyone has the right to take one and by working out proof scale and peal composition make it possible for a band to ring it. And if someone says, 'That is only a variation of my method,' the obvious retort is, 'And so is yours of someone else's.' There is no method which will stand any test of originality.

And now the question arises, Can originality be maintained in the case of peal compositions, or must they, too, be considered as, so to speak, common property? Personally, I think that the time will come when the idea that every composition has a composer who has the right to put his name to it will have to be dropped. When we issued the 'Collection of Major Methods' we had to supply peals for those methods where they were not already available. I was strongly in favour of printing them without any composers' names, as was the case with the methods. Probably we should have done so but for the fact that an outside composer had been invited to supply many of these compositions, and it would not have been fair to him to have broken the established custom. I will come to those peals I myself supplied later and show how much originality there was in them. Perhaps I may say, now, that by no accepted rule could I have put other men's names to them. Where that was possible, even by stretching the rule, it was done.

Now, after this long preamble, I come to what I am asked to do. I want to cover the ground as simply and as thoroughly as I can, and, of course, I shall have to say a good deal of what is already generally known. I am not writing for experts, but for the ordinary intelligent member of the Exercise who takes an interest in the scientific as well as in the art side of ringing.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

BY O.P.Q.

The spirit of Christmas is abroad, or it is as I write these lines. With a cold in my head and no fire in the grate, the coalman having forgotten to call because I forgot to pay his last bill, I feel I have thoroughly gripped the mood for penning a few cheerful notes for readers of 'The Ringing World.' This is the season of peace and goodwill—you may have heard that sentiment before, and I certainly do not claim it as an original composition. For a few days, at any rate, we shall put aside our petty squabbles. Over the nuts and wine none of us will care two taps on a cracked bell whether the Painswick peal was a twelve-bell record or a peal of Doubles; whether or not Mr. James George had rung a peal after he had stood for 11 hrs. 36 mins. on the tenor box in the Gloucestershire tower; whether or not a certain London society is the oldest and the leading ringing organisation in the country, or any of those many other little things which seem to worry many of my ringing friends. Let us be merry. I am only concerned about one thing at the moment and that is whether my Christmas dinner will be a record turkey, or the sausage meat I am going to buy for the stuffing—if I get it. As one tramp said to the other, 'If we had only got some ham we could have ham and eggs, if we had only got the eggs.'

But never mind, we ringers are cheerful folk—sometimes. See how readily we get up early on Christmas morning and disturb the peace and rest of everybody in the parish at some unearthly hour in the interests of 'peace and goodwill'! It is really great fun—for us—to awaken Christians and heathen alike at 5 a.m., to remind them of this peace and goodwill. It may be a pretty custom, but it is also a pretty fiction. There is not much peace for anyone within earshot when the bells begin, and it brings little of goodwill to the ringers—at least, not in the street where I happen to live. After Christmas it usually takes me about twelve months to regain the goodwill, which I lose by helping to ring at five o'clock on Christmas morning, and I ask myself every year, 'Is it worth getting out of a warm bed at that hour to go out into the cold, unaired streets and into a draughty belfry on purpose to upset all my neighbours on such a day as Christmas?' I am quite sure it isn't, after I have done it, and yet every year, like many of you, gentle readers, I do the same thing. Yes, we are cheerful folk, obedient to custom and command. We and our forefathers have done this ever since Queen Elizabeth (or was it Gladstone?) said, 'Let the bells ring out at five o'clock on Christmas morning.' And I suppose we shall always do it, for, after all, it is only the prelude of what we try to give the public on Boxing Day.

Yes, Boxing Day; that is the day for ringers; that is the time when we really do let ourselves go with the bells, and no one seems to mind. Of course, Boxing Day would not be the right day to attempt to beat the Painswick record, for you are not always quite fit on Boxing Day, what with having got up earlier in the morning on Christmas Day, the feasting and drinking you have indulged in, the staying up until morning hours. No, heads are not always quite so clear on Boxing Day as on some days in the year. It is all right, of course, for a few thousand, which doesn't matter whether it is rung or lost, and peals of this kind on Boxing Day are generally cheerful affairs. What matters it if the spirit of Christmas does cause two bells to change course, or a rope to break; it is all part of the fun. Besides, if you lose the peal there is more time to drink to each other's health.

And speaking of Boxing Day peals reminds me, as someone once said. I have no doubt we have all had queer ringing experiences, especially at Christmas. There are various things which account for them at this time of year, such as, for instance, plum pudding and mince pies, and—other things usually associated with Yuletide festivities. One of the weirdest adventures I ever had happened to me on a Boxing Day. A party of youths of varying age—they ranged from about 70 down to vanishing point—arranged to go out into the country for a peal of Caters, but one by one, after they had met, they dropped out, somewhat like the ten little nigger boys of our nursery days. You shall read the story in rhyme:—

Ten very stalwart ringing youths, imbued with Christmas zeal,
Once set out on a Boxing Day to Slopton for a peal,
But at a country inn they stopped and there the landlord's wine
Made one of them so helpless that they trudged on, only nine.

The road was long, and when they reached the village churchyard gate,
Bill Binns was also missing, so they numbered only eight.
Then eight jolly ringing youths made for the belfry stair,
The last one stuck when half-way up, and only seven got there.

Seven eager ringing youths knew quickly what to do,
Tom Brown said if they liked to start he thought he could ring two.
So off they went, but Tom soon got into a pretty fix,
One of the ropes got round his neck, and that left only six.

They started then for Minor, but it did not long survive;
A bob choked the conductor, then there were only five.
Five frightened youths rushed to his aid, but when on the trap door,
Jim Smith fell through to the church below, and that left only four.

Out of the tower these ringers dashed and bumped into a tree,
The churchyard ghost grabbed 'Ginger' Boast, and that left only three.

Three ringers white, with shaking knees, made for the Old Dun Cow.
Joe Binks fell in the village pond, then there were only two.

With hearts revived by potions strong, these two strode out for home;
A roadside ditch claimed Peter Fitch, and I went on alone.
And all around the spectres danced, they stood me on my head—
I sat up quick and rubbed my skull—I'd fallen out of bed.

There are, of course, various kinds of Christmas spirits—there is no need for me to detail them; you know them as well as I do, but at a church where I used to ring, the spirit of Christmas was once displayed in an unexpected manner. In the 'good old days,' before the advent of 'belfry reform,' the ringers had a habit of laying in a store in the belfry for 'consumption on the premises' during the festive season. There was much ringing to be done, and ringing was thirsty work. Christmas eve was the time when they 'stocked the cellar,' which, as they rang on the ground floor, was behind the door of the stairs leading up to the tower. To old George, the steeple-keeper, was entrusted the task, and the cask, of the purchase. On this particular Christmas Eve he called at the Wagon and Horses for the customary nine-gallon barrel of 'old,' but, being Christmas Eve, he stopped long at the Wagon, and it was pretty late before he started to roll the cask towards the scene of its execution. I don't know whether any of my readers have tried it—I must confess I haven't—but I should imagine that to roll a cask over the inequalities of a village street in the darkness of night, and to steer it along the narrow paths of a churchyard would not be an easy job at any time, but on Christmas Eve of all nights of the year—well, it would be, I should think, inordinately difficult. And so old George found it. He had been gone from the Wagon and Horses some time, when Bill Muggins, nothing by trade, but poacher by profession, came across him, sitting by the side of the road, clapping the barrel and telling it that he did not intend it should run away—not if he knew it. Now old George saw in Bill Muggins a very present help in time of trouble, although at other times he would not care to be seen in his company, and he called upon him to come to his aid and help him direct the recalcitrant barrel to its proper destination. Between them, or rather, in front of them, for Bill did the pushing and George followed on behind, they eventually established the cask under the stairs. George could not see very well in the dark, so he got Bill to lock up the belfry and deposit the key under the mat in the porch ready for the first corner in the morning.

The inhabitants of the village were aroused, as they expected to be, at six o'clock on Christmas morning with the ringing of the bells. Despite the hour, the ringers were present in force, and, having rung, turned to further herald the day by pledging peace and goodwill to all men in a draught of the 'old.' Old George went behind the door to drive in the tap which he had brought in his pocket. At the first blow of the hammer there was an ominous, hollow sound from the cask, and at the next the tap went home without any of that solid, satisfying feeling which accompanies the final drive into a full barrel. George's misgivings developed into certainty as he carefully lifted the cask. Unquestionably, it was empty, and his chin dropped. The others, waiting on the other side of the door, could not believe the tragic news until about half of them had separately tested the weight of the barrel. And then they held an inquest, at which they formed themselves into coroner and jury combined, with old George as the principal witness. He called on Jim Cowhide to witness that when he left the Wagon and Horses the cask was full, and Jim had to admit that, as he had helped George to get it out of the door of the Wagon, he was quite sure it was full at that time. And George called upon them all to witness that there were no signs of any leakage in the belfry. All the same, it was their money that had been spent, and their throats that were dry, and—well, what was George going to do about it? George didn't know, but he said he would see the landlord of the Wagon at opening time. Meanwhile he could only attribute it to the ghost which was said to haunt the churchyard on Christmas Eve.

Bill Muggins had the merriest Christmas of his life. Old ale only came his way when he called for a drink at someone else's expense.

and that wasn't often. But 'Father Christmas had brought him a nine-gallon barrel of it this year,' he told his family, and his family had learned never to tell tales. Bill told himself that it was not much trouble to fit a bung to an empty cask, and carry it in the dark from the yard of the Wagon and Horses to the church. It was harder work to get the full cask home—but it was worth it.

The Editor has entrusted me with the task of reviewing some of the books recently received from publishers, and I would recommend my readers to add the following to their bookshelves:—

'The Treatment of Bells.'—This is a new handbook on the care and preservation of bells, and I give you a few of the hints which it contains—there are, of course, many more equally as useful—so that you can judge of its value for yourselves:—

'Bells being musical instruments should be treated as such. Do not knock them about with a sledge hammer; they resent it. If they are obstinate, it is best to talk quietly with them, and, if necessary, pat them gently. The most stubborn bells can generally be made to go by kindness.'

'It is useless to attempt to produce sound from bells by blowing into them as you would into a cornet or flute. It is easier to blow the froth off a pint of ale. The best results are obtained from bells if they are struck with the clapper, which is usually provided by the maker for the purpose.'

'Where the tones are harsh, these may sometimes be softened by simmering the bells for a few hours over a gentle heat.'

'Bells will not crack if they are never touched.'

'In cold weather the steeplekeeper should wrap the bells in blankets at night, and, if possible, cover them with an eiderdown quilt. They like it (the bells, not the steeplekeepers), and start up quicker in the morning.'

'Frames with rheumatic joints or which have gone groggy at the knees should be made "tight." This can sometimes best be done by lubricating the ringers.'

This book should be kept in every belfry for ready reference. It costs 2s. 6d., and would be cheaper at half the price.

'Make your own Methods,' by Rasper Raindon.—This is a text book that all ringers should have by them for emergencies. It is prepared in ready reckoner form, so that ringers may compile their own methods and at the same time produce the necessary compositions to obtain peals. To the uninitiated, the procedure for doing this appears to be slightly complex, but the author is confident that anyone can master its intricacies in 25 years. It is cheap at a shilling, and would make a suitable Christmas present for a beginner—if he is a young man.

'Christmas Bells.'—This little book of verse is by Abel Puller, who in his preface says he has gained his inspiration from his actual experience as a ringer. Here is the opening of his first poem, which gives the title to the book:—

The bells on Christmas morning, from out the steeple high,
Spread their sounds across the house tops, beneath the starry sky.
(For as yet the sun is hidden; 'tis the hour before the dawn.)
The children wake with laughter; their parents curse and yawn. . . .

I don't think it is necessary to quote any more of the poem. These lines speak for themselves, and there is plenty more such rot to be found in the volume, if you care to buy it.

'The Missed Sallie.'—Miss Belle Ringer, the author of 'Love in a Belfry,' and 'Eric the Tenorman,' has achieved her greatest success in her new novel, 'The Missed Sallie.' It is a thrilling story of a woman's daring for the man she loved. For poignant treatment and intense drama, we have read nothing to compare with this book—and don't want to!

WHAT IS A 'TWELVE-BELL' PEAL?

To the Editor.

Sir,—I do not think that ever lawyers could equal the amount of verbal quibbling that has amused me ever since the Painswick peal. My own view—as a lawyer—is a very simple one, viz., there are two varieties of twelve-bell peals, one with the tenor covering, the other with the tenor taking part. The Painswick peal was of the former variety, and surpassed in the number of changes any peal in either variety; therefore it is a record in twelve-bell peal ringing. Don't you think this correspondence may now cease? We shall have worries enough in the new year without this one.—Yours faithfully,
Birmingham, J. S. PRITCHETT.

MANCHESTER RINGER'S DEATH.

With much regret we announce the death of ex-P.C. Walter Billinge, of Moss-side, Manchester, which took place on Thursday, December 11th, at the age of 62 years, after a short illness, from pneumonia. The deceased was a member of the City Police band of ringers for many years, until his retirement from the force in June, 1922.

The funeral took place on Monday, December 15th, at the Southern Cemetery.

A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by P.C. W. Pye, P.C. D. Brown, P.C. F. Page and P.C. W. Robinson, as a token of respect for one who was much respected by all who knew him.

Repeat four times.

To ensure the truth of the peal the two leads marked * must be rung in the same method.

When method C is rung, method B must also be rung. If Craven's No. 10 Reverse is rung, method A must also be rung, and Lincolnshire must be rung at 7.

From this composition peals may be rung in from seven to sixteen methods. For seven ring London, Cambridge, Bristol, Rutland, New Gloucester, Norfolk and Lindoff's No. 30.

A RINGER'S JIG-SAW PUZZLE.

TRY YOUR HAND AT 'COMPOSING.'

If you get tired of eating and drinking this Christmas and are looking for something to do, try this ringer's 'Jig-Saw'; it will provide you with a little mental exercise, and to some it will probably prove an intriguing problem.

In the panel given below are the 30 lead heads and lead ends of a 720—let us, for this occasion, give it a seasonable name—Yuletide Surprise Minor. It is a method in which 2nd's place is made at a plain lead and, of course, 4th's place at a bob. To facilitate manipulation of the figures, cut out the panel and stick it on a card—a post card will do—and then cut the panel along the lines into 30 sections.

What you have to do is to re-arrange the sections so that the whole of them are used. When this has been done you will have a true extent in the method because all the 720 rows have been utilised. The top line in each section is a 'lead head' and the bottom the corresponding 'lead end,' and every lead head of one section must properly connect with the lead end that precedes it by a 24365 or a 32465 transposition. Thus, 126435 lead end can be succeeded by one of two lead heads only: 124653 (by means of 2nd's place) or 162453 (by means of 4th's place). Here are the alternative connections:—

DEATH OF THE REV. C. C. PARKER.

FORMER MASTER OF THE BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION.

We regret to announce the death of the Rev. Claud Campbell Parker, Rector of Corston, vice-president and formerly Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, which, for some years, he represented on the Central Council. The deceased gentleman, who held a Prebendary stall in Wells Cathedral, had been Rector of Corston for 27 years, and during that time many improvements had been carried out in the church and parish through his instrumentality.

Prebendary Parker was the second and last surviving son of the late Joseph R. Parker, C.S.I., of the India Office, by his first wife. Educated at Keble College, Oxford, and Cuddesdon Theological College, he graduated M.A. in 1894, having been ordained priest in the previous year. While at Oxford he was a successful coxswain, and, in addition to being actively interested in the Bath and Wells Association, he was fond of golf and shooting. He was head of the social and athletic, as well as the religious life of the Corston district, and will be greatly missed and mourned throughout the neighbourhood. He had been ill for more than a year. Just before Christmas, 1929, he underwent an operation which, at the time, was successful, and he had been able, with help, to resume his duties since July until about a month ago.

The funeral took place on Monday, when the Archdeacon of Bath officiated at the service at Corston, and in the evening muffled ringing, as a last token of respect, took place at Bath Abbey.
