Thirteen new members were elected, while the names of three who had been elected prior to peals were ratified.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rev. A. D. Henwood for acting as chairman and for his splendid address at the service, and to Mr. Tibbetts, his churchwarden, for his interest in the service and the meeting.—Mr. Tibbetts briefly responded on behalf of the Vicar and himself.

The ringers then returned to the tower, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Bob Royal, Cambridge Surprise Royal and London Surprise Major were rung, bringing to a close a very enjoyable and successful meeting.

THE DEVON GUILD. BRANCH MEETING AT COCKINGTON.

The spring meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at the renowned Cockington village on Saturday, when, in spite of the inclement weather, a good number of ringers were present from Exeter, Kenn, Christow, Buckfastleigh, Torquay, Paignton and Brixham, as well as the local ringers. There was also present the Rev. E. S. Powell (president of the Guild), Mrs. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cave, of Bristol. The ring of six bells were well utilised during the afternoon, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being rung.

A service was held in the fine old church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. C. Studdy), the lesson being read by Mr. F. J. Laxton, chairman of the branch. The Vicar gave an excellent address, and based his remarks on the story of Esau selling his birthright.

The visitors then adjourned to the Parish Hall, where a substantial tea was awaiting them, and this was followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. F. J. Laxton (chairman). For the next meeting, to take place on Saturday, October 4th, Chudleigh was proposed, as well as Brixham and Churston combined. On a vote being taken, the latter was carried.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his address. The organist and blower were also thanked.—The Vicar suitably replied, paying a special tribute at the same time to his own ringers. He consented to become an hon. member of the Guild.

The Chairman extended a very hearty welcome to the visitors from other branches, etc., and Messrs. E. Shepherd (Exeter) and W. A. Cave (Bristol) suitably replied.

This concluded the business, and the visitors went to St. Mary Magdalene Church, Upton, Torquay, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. THE CONDITIONS FOR PEALS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In my report of the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association published last week, the proposition made by Mr. W. E. White regarding the standard for peals is not quite correctly given. I should therefore be obliged if you will requote this again as below, thus avoiding any misunderstanding that might occur.—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST MORRIS,

General Hon. Secretary.

That each peal acknowledged and recorded by the association must comply with the following conditions:—

1. All peals must commence from and finish with rounds.
2. On five bells, a peal must consist of not less than 42 true and complete 120's, each commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's, and/or one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions.
3. On six bells, a peal must consist of not less than seven true and complete 720's, each commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's and/or one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions.
4. On seven bells, a peal must consist of not less than 5,040 true and complete changes, commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 5,040's, and/or one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions.
5. On eight bells and upwards a peal must consist of not less than 5,000 true and complete changes commencing from and finishing with rounds.
6. Splicing of 5 and 6, 6 and 7, 7 and 8, 8 and 9, etc., bell methods will not be recognised in any peal.

The proposition was agreed to at the general meeting as well as in committee.

THE INSURANCE OF CHURCH BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your timely leader on Insurance in this week's issue of 'The Ringing World' you say: 'If the bells are specially included, they are much more likely to be insured at their real replacement value.' This depends a good deal upon how recently the policy was issued or revised. It must be remembered that the price of everything has risen considerably in the last few years, and that in the case of total loss there are not many things that could be replaced at what they cost twenty years ago.

In revising the policy on our church and its contents here we requested the advice of the bell founders, organ builders, and clock makers; and in each case we found that the sum for which the items were insured was little more than half what we should have to pay for replacement in the event of a total loss, though the policy was not very old.

It is clear that it is not sufficient to have the bells specially included in the insurance at their cost price; the policy must be brought up to date.—Yours faithfully,

J. B. M. RIDOUT.

GARSTANG PARISH CHURCH BELLS RESTORED.

There was a crowded congregation at St. Helen's Parish Church, Garstang, Lancs, on Easter Sunday afternoon, when the bells were rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Blackburn.

The bells have been retuned and sandblasted and rehung on ball bearings with all up-to-date fittings, the work having been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who were represented at the opening by Mr. J. W. Trappitt, who had hung the bells. The restoration of the bells is only part of an extensive church restoration scheme, the tower and belfry also undergoing repair. The tower was erected so far back as the 15th century, and from recent investigations it was discovered that some of the massive oak beams were suffering from the ravages of the death watch beetle, which is causing much havoc to many old and historical buildings in various parts of the country.

On the occasion when the bells were rehung a hundred years ago they were rung all day by ringers from Preston, Blackrod, Croston, Leyland, Ribchester and Walton, and on Easter Sunday the old tradition was maintained, the local ringers being assisted by representatives of the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association. The opening touch was rung by the local ringers, while after the service 720 Kont Treble Bob Minor was rung by members from Penwortham, Leyland St. James', Preston, and Brindle.

The service, which was simple and impressive, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. C. F. Hood, while the Bishop gave an inspiring address.

The ringers present expressed their appreciation of the improvement both in the tone and 'go' of the bells.

WITHERNSEA'S RING OF SIX.

NEW TREBLE DEDICATED.

An impressive service was held at St. Nicholas' Church, WitherNSEA, on Wednesday evening, May 7th, when the dedication of the new treble bell, which completes the ring of six, took place in the presence of a large congregation. The bell is the gift of the WitherNSEA branch of the Girls' Friendly Society, and is inscribed:—

LAUS DEO.

THE WITHERNSEA G.F.S. GAVE ME.

FEB., 1930.

The service, which was fully choral, commenced with the singing of the hymn, 'We love the place, O God.' After the lesson and collects, the choir, churchwardens, clergy, crossbearer, and the Bishop proceeded to the base of the tower, where the dedication ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. Bishop Heywood, who pronounced the dedicatory prayers whilst holding an extended rope of the new bell.

Immediately after the dedication, the new bell was rung alone six times, and then the full peal of six were rung in rounds for a minute, the congregation standing. The processional hymn, 'Lifted safe within the steeple, now our bells are set on high,' was then sung, whilst the choir, clergy, and Bishop returned to the chancel.

In an eloquent address the Bishop commended the work of the G.F.S. in giving such a valuable addition to the church, and also paid a glowing tribute to the art of change ringing, which showed he was no stranger to the belfry. After the sermon, the hymn, 'O worship the King' was sung, followed by the Blessing and the recessional hymn, 'Come, let us join our cheerful songs.' After the service, the congregation were invited to ascend the tower to the ringers' room to see the bells being rung, and about a hundred availed themselves of this opportunity. Touches of Bob Minor, Grandsire, and Bob Doubles, were rung by the local ringers, with friends from Sutton-on-Hull, the following taking part: G. Dowling, M. Dixon, T. Sheppard, C. Tomlinson, E. E. Taylor, P. J. Metcalfe, J. Pickering, S. Webb, A. E. West, H. Rodmell, L. Rodmell, and Misses N. Dalton and W. Webb.

The work of adding the treble has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, as described in our issue of April 11th.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

DISTRICT MEETING AT YORKTOWN.

Success attended the district meeting at Yorktown on Saturday, May 3rd, when about 40 members and friends were present. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and at 4.30 the Guild's service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. M. Curwen). Tea and business meeting followed, the Vicar taking the chair, supported by Admiral F. P. Walker (hon. treasurer of the Guild) and the District Ringing Master, Mr. R. Hasted. The Vicar apologised for the absence of Miss Middleton, a life honorary member of the Guild.

One ringing member and six honorary members were elected.

Admiral Walker proposed, and Mr. F. Nye seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for taking the service and for presiding at the meeting, to the organist for his services, to the local band for making the arrangements, and, last but not least, to the ladies who provided such an excellent tea.

The tower was revisited at the close of the business, and the bells kept going in various methods until 9 p.m.

THE MASONIC PEAL AT COLERNE

By kind invitation of Brother A. Prince, several of those taking part in the Royal Arch peal, rung at Colerne on April 24th, were the guests of 'Royal Albert Edward' Lodge at the Masonic Hall, Bath, on the previous evening. After witnessing a ceremony exceptionally full of interest, they were entertained to a sumptuous repast, and during the course of the evening the Worshipful Master referred to the presence of the 'Campanological Brethren,' and wished them good luck in the effort to establish a fresh record. The clerical member of the party contributed to the harmony of the proceedings with a folksong.

W. Bro. Northover, replying to the toast of 'The Visitors,' referred to interesting points of contact between Masonry and the College Youths.

The Masonic peal book was produced by Bro. A. A. Hughes for the inspection of the brethren, who regarded the illuminated entries with great admiration. So keen was the interest aroused in the forthcoming attempt that some of the Bath Masons motored up to Colerne the following day and listened to the peal.

SEXTON FOR HALF A CENTURY.

The death has occurred of Mr. R. J. Woolridge, who for over 50 years had been sexton at the Parish Church of All Saints, Wandsworth. His family had held the office for several generations. He was buried on Saturday, and after the funeral a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 54 minutes by Miss C. E. A. Gray 1, J. W. Chapman 2, W. Essery 3, J. Lee 4, J. H. Rimby 5, W. C. Stacey 6, E. E. Bish (conductor) 7, W. G. Grey 8.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. REPRESENTATION ON DIOCESAN ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO BE SOUGHT.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild took place on Saturday, April 26th, when there was a good muster of members from all parts of the diocese, as well as of visitors from adjoining counties. By kind permission of the Dean and Chapter, ringing commenced at the Cathedral at 1.45. This allowed a good number to 'sample' the peal of twelve before service time at 3.30, when the ringers assembled in the Morning Chapel. The address was given by the Rev. Canon G. W. Jeudwine, Sub-Dean of Lincoln. Immediately this was over, all those present crossed the nave to the Ringers' Chapel, under the south-west tower, where the Right Rev. E. M. Blackie, Bishop Suffragan of Grantham, dedicated the memorial tablet erected to those members of the Guild who lost their lives in the war. About 100 members and friends gathered for tea at the Co-operative Hall.

At the commencement of the business meeting, the Sub-Dean (Canon Jeudwine) was elected president of the Guild and took the chair. The other officers were re-elected, namely, the Rev. H. Law James, Master; Mr. F. W. Stokes, hon. secretary; and Mr. F. F. Linley, hon. treasurer. Four representatives on the Central Council were also elected, namely, Rev. H. Law James, Rev. H. T. Parry, Mr. Rupert Richardson and Mr. G. Chester.

The President referred to the great loss the Guild had sustained by the death of their late president, Dean Fry, who had for many years taken a very lively interest in the work of the Guild, and largely through whose influence and help the augmentation of the Cathedral bells from eight to twelve had been made possible. He recalled to mind the opening of the bells on December 15th, 1928, when the late Dean, although in a very weak state of health after a serious illness, insisted on attending the service. The following resolution records the sense of loss felt by the Guild and the esteem in which the late Dr. Fry was held:—

'That this Guild places on record its respectful and profound attachment to its late president, Dean Fry, and also the humble and personal feeling of loss sustained by each member, as well as by the members as a body. It desires to acknowledge the thoroughness and magnitude of his work, especially in the Cathedral Church of the diocese, the augmentation of whose bells was largely due to him, and which, with many other acts of kindness, will be held as personal tributes to him.'

A resolution asking for representation on the Diocesan Advisory Committee was passed unanimously. This was brought forward by members of the Grimsby District in consequence of events in a parish in that district, where a certain amount of perfectly useless work had been done to the bells. The local ringers reported this at a district meeting, and consequently representations were made to the Church authorities, with the result that eventually something more satisfactory had been done, and the bells made ringable.

After the meeting, the ringers again visited the Cathedral tower and also the two six-bell towers of St. Peter-at-Gowts' and St. Botolph's.

An attempt to ring a course of Cambridge Maximus on the Cathedral bells during the evening unfortunately came to grief in the last lead, owing to one of the bells casting its rope.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held at Leeds Parish Church. The president (Mr. C. E. Lawson) occupied the chair and the towers represented were Armley, Rothwell, Holbeck, Batley, Headingley St. Chad's, Headingley St. Michael's, Hunslet and Drighlington.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mr. C. E. Lawson; vice-presidents, Messrs. T. Strangeway, J. Hey and W. H. Senior; ringing master, Mr. W. E. H. Ash; secretary and treasurer, H. Lofthouse.

The monthly ringing meetings list was left to the committee to arrange.

The balance sheet was read and accepted as a certain sign of the progress of the society.

The secretary's report showed an increase in the membership and also in the number of towers affiliated.

The amended rules of the society were read and approved, and it was decided to have them printed and to supply every member with a copy.

The secretary was instructed to write to the Vicar of Leeds and remind him that the bells of Leeds Parish Church were in urgent need of rehangings.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar of Leeds and to the local company brought the meeting to a close.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION. CHANGE IN OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association was held at Mansfield Woodhouse, Notts, on Easter Monday. The six bells, of which the tenor, 19 cwt., has recently been rehung on ball bearings, were ready at 5 p.m., and a few nice touches were brought round before the service, which was attended by 35 members, and was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Lowndes.

After service a party of 42 sat down to tea in the Parish Hall. In the absence of the president, the Vicar presided over the business meeting.

Mr. Wilson Dobb was elected president and Mr. Wilson Allin vice-president. The treasurer (Mr. Thomas Stimpson) was re-elected.

The secretary, Mr. H. G. Fretwell, who has left the district, was not present, and had intimated his intention to resign. Mr. J. W. England, The Common, South Normanton, Derbyshire, was elected in his stead.

The Ringing Master (Mr. J. Lord) is also leaving the district, and this announcement was received with regret. A resolution was passed that Mr. T. Bettison be invited to accept the office, and Mr. F. Knowles to assist.

The following were elected members of the Executive Committee: Messrs. G. Rogers, C. J. Partridge, W. Drake and F. Knowles. Nine new ringing members and three non-resident ringing members were elected.

The next annual meeting was fixed for Ripley, and quarterly meetings at South Normanton, Kirkby-in-Ashfield and Crich.

In proposing a vote of thanks of the late Ringing Master, Mr. E. Ashman voiced the appreciation of the association of his services, which was supported by Mr. J. W. England and carried with enthusiasm.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, who had given the visitors a hearty welcome, to the organist, and to Mr. A. Munks, who had provided the splendid tea, concluded the meeting, and good use was made of the bells until about 8.30, when they were lowered in peal, and this brought to a close a successful meeting.

DEATH OF AN OLD RINGER.

It is with much regret that we have to record the death of Mr. William Clark, of Aldermaston, who died on Wednesday, April 30th, after being taken ill on the previous night. Mr. Clark, who was 61 years of age, was a ringer at Aldermaston, Berks, for 24 years, and before that at Theale, having been a ringer for about 45 years altogether. Ringing, and singing in the choir, were practically his only hobbies. He was a man who was always ready to help others in and out of the tower.

The funeral took place on Saturday, May 3rd. The bells were rung fully muffled before the service, and half-muffled after.

In the evening a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung in 45 mins.: J. Frankum 1, R. Frankum 2, E. Richardson 3, A. Claydon 4, A. Arlott (conductor) 5, E. Arlott 6.

ONE THOUSAND WEEKS.

Readers of 'The Ringing World' will not need to be reminded that this is the one thousandth number of their journal. It is a notable 'mile stone' in the history of the ringing press, and we feel we may be permitted to record our pride and satisfaction at having reached this stage in our career. 'The Ringing World' has from the outset had as its principal aim the elevation of the art of ringing, the promotion of the interests of the Exercise, and the drawing together, through its columns, of all the varied interests which are open to ringers in the pursuit of both the art and the science of campanology. From first to last we have never deviated from that course, and as long as 'The Ringing World' continues we hope this will be its guiding policy.

In the course of a thousand weeks it is inevitable that there must have been numerous occasions when many of our readers have not seen eye to eye with us, but that has not altered the fact that 'The Ringing World' has conscientiously endeavoured to discharge what it has considered its duty to its readers, the Exercise and its own aim as expressed in the article which appeared on this page in the first issue: 'We intend to use our columns for the information, the instruction and, we hope, the elevation of all who take an interest in the art of change ringing, and in the business and social side of the organisations which promote the art.' How far we have succeeded it is impossible for anyone, us least of all, to say, but we are egotistical enough to believe that 'The Ringing World' has not been without influence on the Exercise. Obviously, too, it has never been possible to satisfy everybody in regard to what has appeared in our columns, and if there have sometimes been disappointments for some of our correspondents and readers we are sorry. Our endeavour has been always to give those items of news which were likely to interest the greatest number. We know quite well that a ringer's individual performance, whatever it may be, is to him as important as, if not more important than, any other thing in the current news, but there are occasions when, as, for instance, after the great festivals of the Church, we are deluged with reports of touches rung for service and it is impossible to find room for them all; or again, when under pressure of news of a wide general interest to the Exercise, we have reluctantly to sacrifice something of more limited appeal. It is not an enviable task to make the selection, but we are quite sure our readers will realise that our efforts in this direction are always made in the wider interests of the majority.

JOHN NICOLL,

Church Bell Rope and Clock Rope
Manufacturer,

64, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDON, S.E.13

Late of BERMONDSEY and PECKHAM.

Maker to St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Imperial Institute, Canterbury, Edinburgh, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peterborough, Melbourne (Australia), Rochester, Dublin, St. Patrick's, Manchester, Durban, and Worcester Cathedrals, etc., etc.

Muffers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

There is one feature of 'The Ringing World' to which we may, perhaps, here be permitted to refer, and that is to the articles which have appeared every week in this column. There has been no break in their continuity from the first number until the present, and always with the motive behind them of focussing attention on some matter of special interest, of making ringers think and, whenever possible, of providing a subject for discussion, either privately or in public. Sometimes, we admit, they have been deliberately provocative, and if occasionally there has been some hard hitting, it has always been, on our part, without rancour, or ill-feeling of any kind. If we have given knocks, we have always been prepared to take them, and our columns have always been open to the views of 'the other side.' For the most part, however, we confidently believe that the opinions which have been expressed in these leading articles have reflected the views of the majority of the thinking members of the Exercise. They have been written, not only from a fairly long experience, but from a very wide and constant contact with ringers throughout the country. They have thus, to a large extent, kept our readers in touch with the general feeling of the Exercise on questions of broad policy in ringing affairs, and in this respect have been something more than the views of the individual writer.

We look to the future with the confident hope that 'The Ringing World' may still serve the Exercise, even better than it has done in the past. We are grateful to all those who, during this last one thousand weeks, have given us their loyal support. The future depends as much upon the Exercise at large as it does upon ourselves. A journal run in the interests of a comparatively small section of the community can only fully succeed if all who are concerned in those interests give it their complete support. It cannot be said that the ringing community, as a whole, has given 'The Ringing World' anything like full support; if it were to do so, it would have in return a bigger paper at a much reduced price. If only half the ringers of England were to purchase a weekly copy a great advance could be made, but until the support justifies it, our readers, we feel sure, will agree that it is better to have a journal for threepence than none at all, because no one expects that any single individual should bear the cost as well as the responsibility of providing the Exercise with what, we venture to believe, is one of its most vital necessities.

In closing this one thousandth leading article we would like to be permitted to put on record a personal fact of which we feel proud, and which, whatever may happen in the future, will always be to us a matter of satisfaction and thankfulness. Every leading article that has appeared on the front page of 'The Ringing World,' from the first number to the one thousandth, has been written by the editor. It is a personal task which he has been able every week to discharge, despite, in former years, the handicap of illness; and to-day's article completes what has long been an ambition. It is not always an easy thing to fill this particular corner of the paper with a subject germane to ringing—there are times when the text itself is difficult to find, and the clothing of the bare bones with sufficient flesh even more difficult. That it should have been possible for a thousand weeks is something upon which we hope we may be allowed to say we look back with no little pride.

CASTING OF HASELBECH BELLS.

MORE THAN HALF THE VILLAGERS VISIT CROYDON FOUNDRY.

Over sixty parishioners of Haselbech, Northampton, visited Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Bell Foundry on Friday last to witness the casting of six new bells, which will be added to two old ones, dated 1621, to form a new ring of eight, in the Parish Church.

They are being presented to the parish by Miss F. D. Ismay, in memory of her late father, and dedication day is fixed to synchronise with her coming of age during the summer.

The visitors arrived at the Foundry at 3.30 p.m., and were taken round the works in two parties. They viewed, amongst other things, the big bells, ranging up to the 18-ton Bourdon, which are being added to the great carillon for Riverside Church, New York, and also some of the bells for the new big carillon now being cast for the University of Chicago.

At 4.30 p.m. the casting of the six new Haselbech bells took place, Miss Ismay, her mother, Mrs. Bower Ismay, the Rector and some of the parishioners throwing coins into the molten metal.

At 5 p.m. the visitors were entertained to tea, and departed at about 6.15 p.m.

The party motored the 70 miles each way in two motor buses, stopping for lunch at Mrs. Ismay's house in Grosvenor Street.

As the total population of Haselbech numbers only 100, practically the whole of the adult population were at Croydon, and friends from the neighbouring village of Naseby, famous for the battle on the Moor and now the country home of the Duke and Duchess of York, took charge of Haselbech for the day.

EATON SOCON BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I regret very much that it should go forth, as your article in your issue of May 9th assumes, that we hold the church bells in this parish in such light esteem, and that they were not insured. As a matter of fact we have no figures yet as to the actual cost of replacing the fabric, but the destruction has been so unprecedented, as the insurance company admit, that it is probable that the whole insurance of £18,000 will be required to put the fabric in order. Obviously, this must be our first duty, and that was the point of my remark, and all other things, such as the bells, the organ, the oak benches and the stained glass windows, must come last. How far we are able to replace these must depend on the response to our appeal for £8,000.

I need hardly say how much we appreciate the practical offer made by Canon Baker at the annual meeting at Leighton Buzzard, and, of course, any gift earmarked for church bells will be most gratefully used for the renewal of our peal. Three of these crashed and are in pieces, and the other three are badly cracked, and have had to be taken down and all the burnt timbers removed.

EDGAR P. HIGHAM, Vicar of Eaton Socon.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

LARGE NUMBER OF YOUNG MEMBERS ELECTED.

A meeting of the North and East District held at St. Mary's, Enfield, on Saturday last, turned out a great success, some 50 members and friends attending. Divine service at five o'clock was taken by the Vicar (Rev. J. Thomas). Tea was served in the Church Hall, and the unexpected number caused a strain on the catering department, which was, however, successfully overcome.

The Vicar, who had to leave early, afterwards gave the ringers a very hearty welcome, and was thanked by the hon. secretary, not only for the use of the bells, but for his kind and helpful words.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the vice-president (Mr. W. Pickworth), who was supported by the District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles), the assistant hon. secretary (Mr. G. R. Goodship), Mr. W. Pye, Mr. G. R. Pye, Mr. J. Parker, etc. No less than 25 new members were elected, including three of the local band, and twelve of St. Andrew's, Enfield, who were proposed as members by Mrs. F. K. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. G. W. Fletcher.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) expressed gratification at the election of such a large number of young members, and stated that he sincerely hoped that these young ringers would prove of great value to the association. The joining up of a new band at St. Andrew's was very pleasing to them all, and these young ringers were fortunate in having two capable instructors in Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher. The Secretary added that visitors would be welcomed at St. Mary's Church on Thursdays, where assistance was needed.

Stammore was chosen for the next meeting on June 28th.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. G. W. Daisley for the use of the St. Andrew's bells, and to Mr. F. Start for making arrangements for the meeting.

A course of Stedman Caters was afterwards rung on handbells by an expert quintette, prior to an adjournment to the tower. The ringing done during the afternoon and evening was of a very varied nature from rounds for the large number of beginners present, to Spliced Surprise (four methods) for the 'experts.' Early in the afternoon the bells at St. Andrew's were rung to touches of 'rounds,' and Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

SUFFOLK GUILD. AN AUGMENTATION FUND.

At the annual Easter meeting held in Bury Cathedral, the sermon was preached by the Rev. T. E. Goodbody, Precentor, on the valuable church work rendered by ringers. By invitation of Archdeacon Farmiloe, tea was provided at Abbey House. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not so large as it sometimes is. The balance sheet showed that although the income is not sufficient for the expenditure, there is still a balance in hand of nearly £9.

A collection amounting to £2 was made for the repairs to Halesworth bells.

It was decided to start an augmentation fund, to which members, who could not afford to pay half a crown a year, could still pay something more than a shilling, if they wished, and so increase the income of the Guild.

There was some discussion on the fact that neither ring of bells at Bury is heard to the best advantage. In both cases the sound is too penetrating, and not at all well blended. It was pointed out that this could be remedied at no very great cost.

It was decided to hold next year's meeting on the Saturday after Easter, and the meeting ended with the usual votes of thanks.

A general meeting of the Guild was held at Laxfield on Saturday, May 10th. Although half the district secretaries had not sent in their returns, it was announced that the report was now ready for the printers. Arrangements were made for distributing the report more expeditiously, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Grundisburgh on June 14th. There was ringing both at Cratfield and Dennington, as well as at Laxfield; all these towers have excellent rings of six bells.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Felkirk on Saturday, May 10th. Owing to the unsettled weather the attendance was small. Members were present from Ackworth, Crofton, Royston, Sandal, Wath and the local company. After tea, which was served in the Church School, a short business meeting was presided over by Mr. A. Nash.

Mr. G. D. Potter proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells.—The Rev. H. R. Coney, in replying, remarked on the wonderful record his ringers had achieved last year, and said he was very proud and delighted to see such a good account of it in 'The Ringing World.'

Crofton was selected for the next meeting.

It was decided to hold the Shield Contest at South Kirkby in July.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION'S TITLE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very much surprised, when reading in 'The Ringing World' the report of the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association held at Burton on Easter Monday, to see the action taken in regard to the association's title. The report states that a resolution was passed, 'That in future the full title of the association shall be "The Midland Counties Association of Change Ringers for the Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell."' It is further stated that this had met with the approval of the Lord Bishops concerned.

Now, Sir, seeing that the Diocese of Lichfield is already provided for by having an association in each archdeaconry of the diocese, all of which are already doing very good work, this change of title appears to me to be uncalled for, and is also in direct opposition to what the Church and our associations stand for.

One of the objects of our societies is, I believe, that of creating a spirit of brotherhood among the members. As a member of the society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, I cannot help thinking that this change of title was not given the due consideration by the members of the M.C.A. that it ought to have had, for on the face of it, as it appears in the report, it seems to me, and I do not like using the word, very much like 'poaching' on others' preserves.

This is not upholding the teaching of the Church, to which some of us, at least, are proud to belong.

In conclusion, I would like to ask the M.C.A. whether, before they came to their decision, the views of the members of the three societies at present in the Diocese of Lichfield had been ascertained from the officials of these societies, and whether they were in favour of this alteration?—Yours faithfully,

Brewood, Stafford.

JOHN PERRY.

TWELVE-PART PEALS OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The 12-part Stedman Triples by Mr. J. J. Parker, published on 24th April last, is merely my 12-part No. 8, which was first rung about 15 years ago, conducted by W. Pye.

With regard to the remarks by our old friend, 'W. H. F.,' I consider in the first place he had no right to refer to private correspondence, and in the second place the reference he made was not correct. I stated that the 10-part peal which Mr. Parker published recently for the first time was rung as my composition 28 years ago (not recently as stated).—Yours truly, Dublin.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We extend our sincere thanks to the large number of ringers who have written to congratulate us upon reaching this interesting point in our history, and to send us their good wishes for the future. We would have liked to give extracts from many of them, as evidence of the appreciation in which 'The Ringing World' is held, but space forbids, and we must content ourselves by saying a heartfelt 'Thank you.'

When 'The Ringing World' was started, the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths was Mr. Alfred B. Peck, and his was the first photograph to appear in our columns. He had many great performances to his credit even in those days, and he has since added the ringing of the tenor at Southwark to the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark, 12,675 changes in 9 hrs. 47 mins., and St. Paul's Cathedral tenor to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

Mr. F. E. Dawe, who supplied 'The Ringing World' with the photograph, has very kindly provided many of the excellent illustrations of church towers which have since appeared. Incidentally he wrote the first letter to the Editor which appeared in our columns.

While we feel that we have grown older since No. 1 of 'The Ringing World' was issued, there is one man whose name appeared in that issue and in this who refuses to recognise the passing of time, and who has been a great 'missionary' in the cause of this journal. He is seventy-six and a half, and has rung 1,059 peals, and intends to ring at least a thousand more—he is James George, 'of England,' who has been not inaptly described as 'one of the eight wonders of the world.'

In looking over the peal columns in the first number it is interesting to note how many whose names then appeared are still on the active peal ringing list.

Those who are no longer with us include such well-known conductors in their day as William Lomas, of Sheffield, Frederick W. Rice, of Crawley, William H. George, of Eastleigh, Robert E. Stavert, of Bushey, and York Green, of London, who all conducted peals recorded in our first issue.

Mr. E. Alex. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council, celebrated his 65th birthday yesterday. He now relinquishes his post as a surveyor under the London County Council, and the good wishes of his hosts of friends will go with him that he may long live to enjoy his well-earned retirement.

A board, recording the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Lincoln Cathedral, is shortly to be erected in the Cathedral tower at the expense of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The photographs of the big gathering at Canterbury on the occasion of the Kent County Association's jubilee, are now on sale (15in. x 12in. 5s., and postage 4d.; 12in. x 10in. 2s. 6d., and postage 3d.), from the hon. secretary, Mr. F. M. Mitchell, 114, Sun Lane, Gravesend, or Mr. Munn, photographer, Gravesend. Souvenir programmes can be had from the hon. secretary, post free, 4d.

'I-er got to tell you,' writes one of our flippant correspondents, 'that although the "Reds" were only at half strength on Saturday last, they were not severely trounced by Double Norwich.'

There is a certain bachelor ringer, well known in London ringing circles, who, we hear, is not a little envious of the recent performance in which one 'mere male' rang a peal with seven ladies.

The Sherwood Youths, with W. D. Crofts among them, rang 'Mr. Holt's true whole peal of Grandsire Tripples, containing 8,040 changes,' on Whitsun Tuesday morning, May 24th, 1768. 'The hobs we're call'd by J. S. Canner.'

The Royal Cumberland Youths rang a peal of 5,120 Court Treble Bob at Edmonton on May 26th, 1798.

Next Wednesday is the anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Caters, rung at Horsley Down by the College Youths, London, in 1787. The bells in this small tower are now never rung.

May 28th is also the anniversary of the first peal rung by the Junior College Youths. This was a peal of Grandsire Caters at Fulham, in 1820.

The Bristol Surprise record of 15,264 changes was rung in 9 hrs. 49 mins. at Hornchurch, Essex, by the Middlesex Association on May 28th, 1912, conducted by William Pye.

The first Surprise peal rung out of England was a peal of Superlative at Bray, Ireland, on May 28th, 1901, conducted by J. S. Goldsmith.

The only peal that has been rung on the sea was rung on the day following the above while crossing from Dublin to Holyhead on the S.S. 'Cambria.' The bells came round as the ship entered harbour. The band was made up of Messrs. W. Pye, W. H. Barber, G. R. Pye, E. Pye and W. Short (conductor). It was rung for St. Martin's Guild.

Later the same day these ringers with three other members of the touring company, including 'He of England,' rang the first Surprise peal in Wales, a peal of New Cambridge Major, conducted by W. H. Barber, at Bangor.

The peal of Grandsire Tripples at Taunton on May 3rd was the first peal 'inside' on eight by the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, and not by A. H. Reed, whose name was 'starred' in error.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

There is no member of the Exercise more esteemed and popular than Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council. His name is known wherever the art of change ringing is practised, and for years he has stood as the revered figurehead of the Exercise.

Canon Coleridge was born in the Devonshire vicarage of Cadbury on November 10th, 1857, educated at the Ayshford Grammar School, Uffculme; Chardstock, Dorset, and St. Edmund's College, Salisbury, before proceeding to Keble College, Oxford. His first lessons in ringing were given to him, when a lad, by Mr. R. Brimblecombe, a 'judge' much sought after in Devon prize ringings in those days. In these early lessons the necessity for the most accurate striking took precedence of all else, and those who have rung with Canon Coleridge know how this primary instruction of the old Devon tutor has been lived up to. Canon Coleridge's ringing has always been an example to emulate, and many ringers will agree with his view that a large number of people ring peals before they have learnt to ring rounds properly, or even to handle a rope correctly.

It was while at Oxford that he took up change ringing. He joined the University Society, at the time when the members in residence included C. D. P. Davies, H. A. Cockey, W. S. Willett and J. F. Hastings, who all later entered the Church and became prominent in the Exercise. Mr. Coleridge, as he then was, succeeded Mr. Davies as Master of the University Society, and he took part in the Society's first peal of Stedman Triples, which was rung at Drayton, although the undergraduates had previously rung peals with the Oxford City Society.

Canon Coleridge entered Holy Orders in 1884, and was licensed to the curacy of Caversham, where, naturally, the ringers became his special care, and where in 1891 the six bells were increased to an octave. The Caversham band made great strides, but in 1894 Canon Coleridge went to the Vicarage of Crowthorne, Berks, where he has remained ever since, and has endeared himself to the hearts of all his parishioners, as he has done in the wider field of the ringing Exercise among all who know him.

The strenuous work of a single-handed parish, with only a 'ting-tang' in the church turret, has prevented Canon Coleridge from taking part in as many peals as he might otherwise have done; nevertheless his list is not only of goodly proportions but contains some noteworthy performances, including the first clerical peal (Stedman Triples at Drayton), the first peal by the Central Council (Stedman Triples at Selby Abbey), a non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples at Drayton, the only peal (Stedman Triples) rung on Lundy Island, the first peal of Grandsire Caters on the bells at Exeter Cathedral, 8,800 Superlative Surprise Major at Loughborough, 12,096 Double Norwich Major at Boyne Hill, 13,054 Stedman Caters at Cheltenham and 15,041 Stedman Caters at Appleton.

A member of many ringing Guilds and Associations,

Canon Coleridge has been one of the guiding influences in building up the success of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, while the advance of change ringing in his native county, through the efforts of the Devon Guild, has always been followed by him with the closest interest. Outside these two societies, his greatest pride is in the Ancient Society of College Youths, which he joined in 1879, so that he is one of the few now living who have completed half a century of membership. Canon Coleridge seldom misses the annual dinner of the Society in London, and here, as at all other gatherings of ringers which he attends, his cheery speeches, his amusing stories, and above all, his genial personality, are not only welcome, but give delight to everyone.

Canon Coleridge has been an elected member of the Central Council since its formation, close on forty years ago, having represented the Oxford Diocesan Guild for the whole of that time. In 1921 he was elected president and now, after nine years in office, he contemplates relinquishing the post on account of his advancing years. He will retire to the regret of all the members, for he has presided over the deliberations of the Council not only with the utmost impartiality, but with a tolerance, tact and good humour that leave nothing but the pleasantest memories.

His unique experience of the Council gives him unexcelled qualifications to speak of its work, and for that reason the article which he has specially written for this issue of 'The Ringing World' is of additional interest and value.

The fact that Canon Coleridge has been able to write this sketch of the work of the Council is a happy evidence that he is now recovering from his recent serious attack of pneumonia. The whole Exercise followed with deep concern the progress of his illness and will join in congratulations to him upon what, it is hoped, is a complete return to health.

CANON G. F. COLERIDGE

FROM ONE TO ONE THOUSAND—AND AFTER.

BY THE EDITOR.

To-day 'The Ringing World' makes its one thousandth appearance.

One thousand weeks is but a mere flutter in the world's history, but it is a fair slice in the modern history of church bell ringing.

'The Ringing World' was founded on March 24th, 1911, and with one exception—in the period of the General Strike in 1926—it has made an unfailing appearance every Friday for more than 19 years.

It is interesting to note, therefore, that it has to-day the same editor, the same printers and the same publishers, whose association in its production and publication has never been broken.

MR. J. S. GOLDSMITH, Editor of 'The Ringing World.'

It is a proud boast that never once during the whole of this time has the publication of 'The Ringing World' been even one hour late from any reason within the control of the three departments concerned, and on this occasion, as Editor, I desire to acknowledge the cordial co-operation which has been given both by The Woodbridge Press, Ltd., the printers, and The Rolls House Publishing Co., Ltd., the main distributors.

The path of 'The Ringing World' from its first to its one thousandth number has, however, been by no means an easy one. Its appearance in the arena in 1911, at a time when the Exercise was badly in need of a reliable journal, properly edited and punctual in its publication, was at once a success as far as its reception among ringers was concerned, but the early difficulties which inevitably confront a new undertaking had scarcely been surmounted when there came the upheaval of the war with all it brought in its train—the departure of men from the belfries and the almost complete cessation of ringing, with the consequent loss of circulation; the alteration of values which added to the financial difficulties of carrying on; and the restrictions which handicapped production of every kind except of those things directly connected with the prosecution of the war.

During these strenuous days, which changed the whole course of our habits and our lives, numberless journals which, like 'The Ringing World,' catered exclusively for special interests, succumbed to the unequal struggle for existence, many of them never to be resuscitated.

Emaciated as 'The Ringing World' was in those troublous times, it contrived to maintain a precarious existence, and when the restoration of peace came, it was there to help and encourage those to whom fell the task of rebuilding the Exercise.

Since that time it has been held steadily on its course through the encouragements and disappointments, the successes and the difficulties which come to undertakings as well as to individuals in the progress of a long career. 'The Ringing World' has had the encouragement of a host of loyal supporters, whose kindness, consideration and help have been a stout buttress against the disappointments which come from the apathy of a large section of ringers, who do not even yet realise that a vast amount of the pleasure which they get from their ringing and of the knowledge which is at their disposal would have been unobtainable without the assistance which a ringing journal provides.

Any success that has been achieved has come to 'The Ringing World' by steadily pursuing a policy which has had for its aim the general uplifting of the status of the ringer and his art; and the difficulties have been met by the knowledge that throughout the Exercise it has had the goodwill and the consistent advocacy of countless friends. And because of all the assistance which has been received from so many well-wishers, and in spite of the apathy of so large a proportion of ringers, 'The Ringing World' is still a live force in the Exercise.

Coming more particularly to the personal, as distinct from the general review, I cannot let this occasion pass without thanking the many, many friends throughout the country for the always kindly welcome accorded to me whenever I have gone amongst them. The position of an Editor, even of a journal like 'The Ringing World,' is not always an enviable one, although it is always interesting, but the drawbacks have had their compensations, the greatest of all of which have been the friendships made, many of them deep and lasting.

It has been my privilege to know personally almost all the leading members of the Exercise—men whose names are household words among ringers—since the days when 'The Ringing World' was first launched. Many of them are no longer with us, but who that knew them, as I was happy to do, would not cherish the memory of the acquaintance of such famous men as Sir Arthur Heywood, William Snowden, Charles Hattersley, Henry Dains, Nathan Pitlow and John Carter—men whose service to the art of ringing will ever continue to benefit the Exercise—and such great ringers as Matthew Wood, James Washbrook, Ernest Pye, Bertram Prewett and Isaac Shade—to mention but a few—whose names will live in the annals of ringing as long as ringing itself shall last? It was a privilege to know these giants now gone from us; it is still a privilege to claim as friends notable men, whose name is legion, still actively engaged in our art, and it is in no small measure due to their support, in dark days as well as fair, that 'The Ringing World' has been encouraged to carry on.

I have referred to the past. What of the future? On an occasion like this we must look forward as well as back. The future of 'The Ringing World,' as the leading article to-day points out, rests as much on the ringers as upon those who are responsible for its production. Without circulation it cannot live. The paper is now going on on what is really a minimum circulation. There are, it is officially estimated, over 45,000 ringers in this country. The number of subscribers to 'The Ringing World' does not equal even the odd 5,000. Is it too much to ask that there should be a circulation equal to half the number of ringers? If this could be achieved, a journal as large as this issue could be provided for 2d., if not less. I know that there are many who refrain from buying a copy of the paper because of its price. What they do not realise is that less than half the sum goes towards the cost of production; the necessary channels of distribution swallow up the rest. The way to a reduction in price is a rise in circulation; the ringers thus have the matter in their own hands.

'The Ringing World' desires to serve the Exercise. It will continue to do so within the limits at its disposal. It is for the ringers themselves to enlarge those limits, and if they will do so they will not be disappointed.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE RINGING PRESS.

HOW NEWSPAPERS HAVE HELPED THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE EXERCISE.

BY THE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

It is with no little pleasure that I respond to the Editor's request for a short article for the one thousandth number of 'The Ringing World,' recalling a few impressions of the days when the Exercise had no journal devoted entirely to its interests, and showing, at least by implication, some of the many changes for the better that have ensued from the dissemination of ringing news and the interchange of ideas between ringers.

But, first of all, let me, sir, congratulate you most warmly on this, the attainment of the 1,000th issue of 'The Ringing World,' and on what it has done and is doing for the advancement of change ringing and for all that is best in connection with it. May your influence for good always be the same as it has ever been, and may the paper continue to flourish and its circulation continue to grow as the years pass on!

There are, I suppose, not very many of us left whose memories go back to the year 1874 or thereabouts. It was then that I first began change ringing. For about three or four years previous to that time I had been able to pull a single bell, but had had no opportunity of anything further. At that time 'Church Bells,' with a column for ringing under the sub-editorship of Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, had been in existence for a short time, but, though it was generally used as a channel for the publication of the performance of peals, there was little in it calculated to advance the interests of the Exercise in those many other directions that are now and have been for so long to the fore. It must not for a moment be thought that I am blaming 'Church Bells' for this, except in so far as the closely circumscribed space allotted to us often militated against the inclusion of matter that would have been of much use, but which had to be postponed or rejected altogether for want of sufficient room. As it was, the space available for anything in the way of instruction was nearly always fully and splendidly occupied by Mr. Jasper Snowden with his invaluable articles either scientific or historical.

To understand why his articles, of whatever kind they were, were so important, it is necessary that we should put ourselves in imagination to the state of affairs as they then were.

Except possibly for some very brief and occasional communication in 'Bell's Life,' or some such 'sporting' journal, the only means of correspondence that had ever existed between ringers was private and personal—that is, by post—and, be it remembered, a letter in the older days cost more like three and six than three halfpence. We know that there were ringing books, but they were neither many nor cheap, and to the ordinary man not at all easy of comprehension. The last of the old writers was Shipway, and of the more recent neither Hubbard nor Banister erred in the way of too full explanations. And so ringing pabulum was thin and scanty.

The natural result of this was that the Exercise was thoroughly unorganised. In London and the leading towns there were individual conductors and composers who knew one or two other conductors or composers up and down the country, but beyond this there was no general intercourse or cohesion between the various local units of the Exercise. And so each local company developed solely on its own lines and while in many centres, such as London, Norwich, Birmingham, Paiswick and others, change ringing well kept up its head, there were often co-existing developments of a less desirable nature, such as jealousies, quarrels, narrowness of outlook, accompanied by failure in general to realise and appreciate the uplifting power of the science, and, above all, its position and responsibility as pertaining to the Church of God.

What a different view meets the eye of the ringer of the present day as he surveys the scene around him! We do not mean that things are perfect. There is still much to be done in many ways. But on the chief lines we are well established. In place of sparse and casual units the Exercise, though not formally, but really and effectually, is a united whole. Every member of it is, or at least may be if he likes, thoroughly instructed in ringing theory and practice. Is there any question in connection with the art and science of change ringing on which he wishes for enlightenment? He may get replies galore in a few days. The same, too, as regards any point in its history or other particular on which he may wish for information. With the Church he stands well, chiefly as the outcome of the mutual recognition of his true position by his own realisation on the one hand, and on the other by the fact that the clergy and Church authorities have come to recognise him as a most important church-worker.

Thus the whole aspect of ringing has altered for the better. Here it is vital to remember that the improvement has mainly arisen, not as in most cases by kindly help from outside hands, but as the outcome of a moving spirit in the Exercise itself. It is true that Mr. Ellacombe struck the match, but the material for the flame was supplied by the ringing fraternity itself.

It took but a short while to discover that what was required was a voice of its own by which the Exercise could express its mind and its ideals, and could develop its own power of expansion both in knowledge and in action.

This speedily gave birth to 'Bell News,' which was at first published as a 'monthly,' but soon settled down as a 'weekly,' and ran a most useful course for somewhere near thirty years, when from various causes weakness began to affect its utility.

THE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

It was then that 'The Ringing World' came into existence, and since then has continued with conspicuous ability and faithfulness in its task of contributing to the unity and progress of the Exercise.

When we look at its pages at the present time and compare them with its earlier issues or with those of its predecessor we are at once struck by strong evidences of continuity of policy. The same causes of weakness in ringing circles, both from within and from without, are still at work and must be countered. From within comes ever and anon slackening of energy and purpose, and now and then dissension and estrangement. From without come attacks on ringing and ringers from the few—we are happy to say, the very few—who hate bells and everything to do with them. Deprived of our weekly journal we should lack the chief means of defence against these dangers.

The great point of difference between the older numbers and the more recent ones is to be found in the comparative absence of scientific matter at the present time. The reason for this feature is not at all to be attributed to any unwillingness on the part of the editor to insert matter of this description, nor to want of interest on the part of his readers, but to the simple fact that modern

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELLRINGERS, 1890-1930.

By THE PRESIDENT, CANON G. F. COLERIDGE.

Forty years an elected representative member, with never a miss at the annual meeting, a member of the Standing Committee, and for the past nine years President of the Council, naturally afford a deeper insight than would be granted to many of the objects and practical working of the Central Council from its inception to the present time. I therefore gladly accept the invitation of the editor of 'The Ringing World' to write a short article to mark the 1,000th issue of a periodical which should claim the active support of every ringer in the land.

Debarred as I am at the moment from access to the shelves of my library, wherein may be found volumes of 'Bell News' and 'The Ringing World,' complete from the beginning, the two containing records not only of the proceedings of the Central Council, but records extending over near 50 years, a mere sketchy outline of the Central Council is all that I can give, not laying so much stress on its transactions year by year as on the wisdom in which it was conceived, and the sound lines on which its constitution was drawn up, for on those lines the Central Council has made such sure and definite progress till it has become the natural body to which all ringers can with confidence appeal, and to which they can look for guidance in the solution of many a knotty point which has arisen during the 40 years of its existence.

This is just what might be expected, seeing that the Council from the beginning has always numbered amongst its members not a few of the best known and most highly respected men to be found in the Exercise, whether as practical ringers or as deeply versed in the theory of composition, method construction and so forth. Many of the original members have passed from our midst—a new generation is succeeding them.

What does this generation know of the origin and founding of the Central Council? How came it into being? There are some of us who will remember the occasion on which a 'National Association of Change Ringers' was first mooted. To celebrate the 80th birthday of Mr. Henry Johnson in the year 1890, Sir Arthur Heywood (he had not then succeeded to the baronetcy) invited nearly a hundred of the best known ringers to do honour to the old veteran at a dinner in Birmingham given by him. It was at this dinner that a scheme for such an association was laid before those present, and, after discussion, approved in so far as its main outlines were concerned. The various associations, guilds and societies were invited to send two representatives each to a further meeting to be held in London, where, under the chairmanship of Mr. Heywood, the draft scheme was gone through, thoroughly discussed, altered and amended in the course of an afternoon's work, and the proposed title changed into 'Central Council of Church Bellringers.'

The rules and constitution were circulated among the associations, guilds and societies with a request that representatives should be elected before the end of that year to attend the first meeting of the Council to be held in London on the Tuesday in Easter week following. There was a most satisfactory response, 63 out of the 74 elected were present, a large amount of business was transacted and the Council entered with high hopes on its career of usefulness.

Such, in brief, is the story of the inauguration of the Council; the younger generation may be glad to read it. Under the wise and firm guidance of Sir A. P. Heywood, who was president for 28 years till his death from overwork during the Great War, backed up by two of the most able secretaries, the Rev. H. Earle Butler and, after him, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, with a Standing Committee alive to the responsibilities entailed upon it, together with unflinching goodwill exhibited by members in Council assembled, though opinions on some points proved to be as far apart as the poles, the Council has made its way and gained its position as a body essential to the welfare of the Exercise. I venture to assert that it will continue to exercise its influence for just as long as there is no radical departure from the sound lines on which its constitution has been evolved.

By the rules of the Council the election of representatives is held every three years, and at the first meeting, always held in London, not more than 15 honorary members may be nominated. The two remaining meetings of the session are held in regular rotation either in the Midland district or North and South and East and West. This arrangement has been found to work well in the past, all parts of England being visited in turn according to rota, the selection of city or town to be visited being left to the decision of the members present at the previous meeting. In recent years the Council has not only been warmly invited to a centre, but has been officially received in Cathedral cities by Bishops, Deans and Archdeacons; in towns by the Mayor, notably at the last meeting in London by the Lord Mayor, Sir Rowland Blades, now Lord Ebbisham, who placed the Mansion House at the disposal of the Council. This year, for the first time, the meeting will be held at Lambeth Palace.

The output of literature by the Council has been considerable; it would be vastly increased if sufficient funds were available. Most of the books, pamphlets, etc., should be in the hands of every ringer. There are also volumes and typewritten collections of peals in the care of the librarian which may be borrowed by any member of an association represented on the Council.

Committees who do invaluable work, and whose praises are too often left unsung, are constantly at work, their labours being submitted to the Council annually, as for example, the 'Press and Publications Committee,' which is charged, among other duties, to correct misstatements in the public press when ringing and the legitimate use of church bells is in question; the 'Methods Committee,' diligent in their work for many a long year, and often disappointed when lack of funds prevents the publication of their labours; the 'Analysis Committee,' which annually produces its statistics of peals rung, with commentaries of surpassing interest appended; the 'Peals Collection Committee,' which is always at work, proving compositions and arranging them in volumes, some of which have been printed, while others, in typescript, are in the Council's library. Other committees having done their work have been dissolved with thanks for their labours; others, no doubt, will be appointed as occasion serves; while others again are kept in being in view of possible work in the future.

There is a lighter side to the annual meetings which must be mentioned—the pleasant evenings arranged by the association within whose area the meetings fall, the sumptuous teas at the close of business provided by them, with later entertainment, when native talent, musical and otherwise, is enlisted, and ringers of the district have an opportunity of meeting the Council members in an informal way.

A lighter side is also occasionally manifest in the midst of solemn discussions, as, for example, when we were informed that 'Stedman is not a method—it is a principle.' Forty minutes or so were occupied in discussion, which the president closed by stating that the only motion before the meeting was one made by a burly Yorkshireman—'that Stedman should be as it was in the days of his father.'

No doubt the Editor's blue pencil will strike out this paragraph—it would certainly heavily line any other lighthearted anecdote I could supply. To save him trouble, I refrain.

One serious question, however, remains to be asked—it is prompted by the statement made by the secretary three weeks ago, that no subjects for discussion at the next meeting had been sent in. We may well ask: What are the associations doing? What are their representatives doing? Surely there are plenty of subjects which touch the ringer on all sides, and subjects which might well be discussed. It is an old complaint of forty years' standing: if the Council is to be useful to associations, it is imperative that matter for discussion should be submitted by them to fill an agenda paper otherwise concerned only with routine business. Let us hope that the next forty years will see a big annual response in the matter of 'subjects for discussion.'

And now one word in conclusion. We welcome to-day the appearance of the 1,000th number of 'The Ringing World.' We may well ask: Where would the Exercise be if it had no journal devoted solely to its interests? Of what use would the Central Council be if no detailed account of its proceedings were made public? The answer is obvious. There is no need to give it, or, if given, to dilate upon it. It is enough to say that for a thousand weeks 'The Ringing World' has regularly appeared every Friday without a break. What this means to a proprietor and editor can never be realised by those who merely read. What it means to those who read is that a feeling of deep gratitude should rise and extend to him who for a thousand weeks has ministered to their needs.

To carry on a paper dealing with one subject only, for the benefit of a comparatively few in number, means indomitable faith, courage and pertinacity. Those virtues have been exemplified to the full. Week by week we read our journal, and with avidity the leading article, wondering whether the springs of inspiration will ever run dry; and if now and then in the past some of us may have felt that certain strictures on the Central Council were somewhat uncalled for, we must remember that years have passed since they were written—that they are now forgotten and have been more than atoned for by innumerable articles of the greatest help, all written by a man of courage, and one who is never ashamed of his opinions. I raise my hat to the Editor on this auspicious occasion, so full of satisfaction both to himself and his readers, and beg to assure him that the thousand congratulations I personally offer him will be exactly multiplied by the number of those who appreciate and value his laudable undertaking.

CONTROVERSIES THAT HAVE ADVANCED THE ART.

HOW THE RINGING PRESS HAS FURTHERED COMPOSITION.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

That the study of composition and the theory of change ringing is necessary, is a statement that few ringers, even the most careless, would care to deny. At the same time there are many who do think that these things are not of immediate importance—at least, not to themselves—and they are inclined to grudge the space and time which are given to them in the pages of 'The Ringing World' and the discussions of the Central Council. Let us have, they say, something practical and leave all this theory to those who are interested in it. Well, these good people should be reminded that these discussions and these questions are of the utmost importance; the progress and the very life of change ringing and the Exercise depend on them, and directly or indirectly they influence every individual ringer, however humble.

When the study of composition is keen and intelligent, then practical ringing flourishes; when it has been languid, then practical ringing has declined. The methods and the peals we ring to-day are the fruits of the study of men that have gone before, and perhaps there is nothing which more helps to keep change ringing alive and growing than the keen intellectual interest these problems give to the best men of the Exercise.

MR. J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

I suppose that throughout the long history of ringing there was no time when its future looked more uncertain than the third quarter of the last century. It was a period of stagnation, if not of actual decline. In the country villages, owing to various causes, some of them economic, some ecclesiastical, ringing was dying out. In the towns there was no progress. What ringing was done was almost entirely Treble Bob, Grandsire and Stedman, and Stedman only in a few favoured towers. And everywhere the social standing of ringers was at the lowest. This was the time when composition was at its worst.

The book on ringing, which William Sottanstill published in 1867, will give an idea of composition and the standards of originality at his time. If you take away what belongs to previous generations and what is either the merest variation of old peals or the closest imitation of old peals, very little is left of that work of many hundred pages. And Sottanstill was undoubtedly a very worthy man and above the average. Of course, there were a few men even then whose names rank, and deservedly, among the leading composers of the Exercise, but with the exception of Henry Johnson, their reputation depends on a few peals of Treble Bob.

Fifty years ago began the great revival of change ringing, of which we to-day are reaping the benefit. It was a revival in every branch of the art and science. The jubilee anniversary of association after association during these recent years has reminded us of one great feature of this revival. Jasper Snowdon's series of books on various methods (which are out of date to a surprising little degree) is another feature of this revival. And a third and equally potent was the establishment of a ringing press. For half a century the Exercise has not lacked the services of a weekly newspaper, and it is not easy to estimate how much ringers, and especially the more advanced ringers, owe to this fact. At first it was the now defunct 'Church Bells.' This was not primarily a ringer's paper, but it did open its columns to ringing compositions. Then in 1881 appeared 'Bell News,' a paper which, however much it fell away in its later days, served the exercise manfully till it disappeared along with many other better and worse things in the great war. Two papers, 'Campanology' and 'The Bellringer,' had brief careers. And, of course, for these last one thousand weeks we have had 'The Ringing World.'

These newspapers give us a full and complete history of the Exercise during this last half-century, and as we turn over the pages we can trace the development of ringing and the changes that have taken place, and how this method has waxed in popularity and that method has waned. It is easy enough to see why Treble Bob should have lost ground, but we wonder why Superlative, which was once hailed as 'the queen of methods,' should have declined; why Cambridge, once so despised, should now be so popular; why Double Norwich does not hold quite the position which we think it should.

But perhaps of all the articles in these pages the most interesting and the most valuable are those on composition and the science of ringing. We see a succession of problems arising, and we see the best brains of the Exercise setting themselves to the task of solving them. It is not always that we actually see the solution—we must look for that in the doings and opinions of the ringers of to-day.

Fifty years ago the burning question was, 'Is it possible to get a true peal of Grandsire Triples with common hobs only?' The answer is so simple, and the clues to it had been given to the Exercise more than fifty years earlier by Shipway that we wonder—now—that it ever could have been a problem. But it took some very clever brains to solve it. Later on the construction of peals of Stedman Triples on Thurstans' plan was investigated by the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer and Mr. Percival Heywood, whom we later got to know as Sir Arthur. He was a frequent contributor to the ringing press on composition, and many of his articles are of permanent value. Whatever opinions we may hold of his method Duffield (and mine are not high), there can be no doubt that the articles in 'Bell News' in which he introduced it to the Exercise (afterwards issued in book form) are among the best of ringing literature.

Then there was the big fight over London Royal. Many of us remember how Mr. Lindoff extended London Major to ten bells, how the College Youths, under the conductorship of Mr. George Price, rang the peal at Stepney; how composers from all sides with one consent shouted that whatever the method was it was not London Royal, and how the air was black with different London Royals, no two people agreeing on the same version; the net result being, I imagine, that ordinary sensible people came to the conclusion that there is no London Royal at all.

Then there was Mr. Law James' brickbat hurled at the head of Stedman ringers, when he bluntly told them that the first peal of Stedman Triples has yet to be rung, and what they were practising was a faulty extension. All of which had some truth and much exaggeration, but which admirably served its purpose of making people think.

So I could go on and tell of the battle we fought over Bob Major Lead-ends and Symmetry, now generally accepted by the Exercise, and on down to the latest dispute about Minor peals. And what is the good of it all? What? Fifty years ago, if you were a first-class ringer you would be ringing peals of Grandsire Triples. Now, Cambridge is an ordinary 'bread and cheese' method, and ten Surprise methods have been rung spliced into one peal!

MR. J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

GREAT WORK IN THE INTERESTS OF RINGING.

Mr. James Armiger Trollope, who has been for many years one of the most regular contributors to the ringing press, was born on January 8th, 1876, at East Dereham, Norfolk, and educated at King Edward VI. School, Norwich. His ringing career started in 1892, and his first peal was seven 720's of Bob Minor on handbells, which he conducted from 1-2. This peal, rung in the then quick time of 1 hr. 38 mins., was shared by the brothers George and J. E. Burton. Mr. Trollope's first tower bell peal was Bob Major, on the middle eight at St. Peter Mancroft tower, and in the same year, with a young band, he rang 5,040 in seven methods of Doubles at St. Peter

LOOKING BACKWARD, IN LIGHT AND SHADE.

BY WILLIAM WILLSON.

'Memory, the warder of the brain,' a phrase that Shakespeare puts into the mouth of Lady Macbeth, can hold, for most of us, both sweet and bitter reflections. A retrospect of 'One Thousand Weeks,' or a period of nearly twenty years, is like looking into a kaleidoscope with its never-ending prisms. Time rings the changes on faces and events which pass before us like a panorama. Let us see! On March 24th, 1911, the curtain was rung up on No. 1 of 'The Ringing World,' which from the outset was stamped 22 carat 'at Goldsmith's Hall.'

Since that time many things have happened and giants of their generation, mental and physical, have passed on. Names such as W. Banister, Sir A. P. Heywood, John Carter, and J. W. Washbrook, will live for ever in the annals of ringing. Peal records have been eclipsed to make room for further doughty deeds, though it would appear that the limit of human endurance must have been almost reached.

Perhaps the best performances of the past two decades were the long peals of Stedman Caters at Appleton, the Cinques at Southwark—with a tenor of 50 cwt.—and the Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne. I heard several hours of the Cinques, and checked many course-ends. The boom of the heavy bells could be heard long before the Underground train pulled into London Bridge Station. The striking was beyond any criticism when I came away after the seventh hour.

I regret that I did not hear the Ashton peal, but it goes without saying that it must have been one of the best, for anyone knows that a ringer cannot 'run amok' in Cambridge Twelve very far without wrecking the peal. With a 'scratch' hand, it is no fool's job to score a 5,000, but to pull off 15,000 at the first time of asking is little short of marvellous, and a feat of which the performers may well feel justly proud. I think that record will stand the test of time.

The other two peals were rung by the College Youths, whose hefty henchman, Mr. W. T. Cockerill, has just passed his 71st milestone, and on April 13th! This supposed unlucky date has not been unfortunate for him, for he carries his years—and weight—remarkably well. Somehow, these old-timers of the C.Y. retain their youth's certificate well beyond the allotted span. I first met some of them over 35 years ago, and they seem to have aged very little. On that occasion there were C. F. Winney, W. Prime, W. T. Cockerill, J. Waghorn, J. Pettitt and E. Horrex. Most of these remain, and one wonders if the secret of their longevity lies in the Coffee Pot? If it does, I must take to coffee. Of course, the secretary of the C.Y. must always remain a chicken, for unless he changes his name he will never die an old bird.

The flight of time has brought the carillon, though this does not seem to threaten change ringing at all. The view has been expressed that it would be a good thing if 8, 10 or 12 bells in every carillon were hung for ringing, as it would serve a dual purpose. It would, but as a rule, carillon towers are not built to carry swinging bells, and as the carillon is usually hung in several tiers it is probable that mechanism would be disturbed by the ringing. Still it is not beyond engineering ability, and the first bell founder who initiates it will get the business. In their place, carillons are delightful, and can be heard at their best on the Continent, where towers and spires are much higher than in this country. I call to mind sitting in the market place at Bruges on a summer evening, listening to the bells immortalised by Longfellow, when the carillonner accompanied a choir singing on a balcony below. The effect of bells and singing on the still, night air is thrilling, and visitors from many parts of Belgium come on Monday evenings in summer to a scene romantic and weird. One can ascend the tower and stand beneath the bells which are open to the sky, but the semi-wooden staircase is narrow, dark, and somewhat dangerous.

After counting 350 steps, I suddenly forgot how many, for a huge fellow was coming down with no room to pass.

'Go back, please,' I said. He answered, 'Nein, nein,' and came on like an elephant. 'Oh, that's your game, is it?' I replied, and 'prepared to receive cavalry.'

We clashed, but I was able to get in some fine bayonet work with the elbows, treading on his feet the while, by way of encouragement. 'Mein Gott! Donner und Blitzen,' he yelled, and with a final dig in his capacious paunch, I got clear. It was meat and drink to me to hear his grunts all the way down.

So, my readers, when you are rushed on the belfry steps, remember my recipe.

Some of the ringers whose names appeared in No. 1 are with us to-day—and some are not. The veteran I. G. Shade was a victim of the motor, and paid the toll of the road. Others we can never forget. One memorable name is missing—Bertram Prewett. Those who knew him will ever recall his sunny smile. When the holocaust of 1914 burst over Europe, many of our fellow-ringers exchanged the rope for the rifle, and the belfry for the battle-front. I have sought for their names in the cemeteries of the Salient, where poppies blow in Flanders fields, and where the blood of our nation was poured out like water.

Few can stand in these hallowed havens of peace without emotion. It is a peace unbroken, save for the sighing wind singing a requiem in the trees, save for the song of a bird piping its plaintive elegy to the fallen. There they lie. All that they had, they gave. Stretching out far beyond the horizon—from Poperinghe to Passchendaele, St. Julien to Ypres, and these are but a few—thousands on thousands of headstones gleam like fields of whitening corn, the harvest of 'the Reaper Grim.'

It makes one feel a better man to stand in the silent company of the heroic dead who found their journey's end in the garden of God. Faces we shall see no more come before the mental vision, lit now by the lamp of remembrance, and the words rise unbidden: 'These are they who came out of great tribulation.' Aye:—

They shall not grow old, as we who are left grow old,
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn,
At the going down of the Sun—and in the Morning

We will remember them.

Some years ago a course of Stedman Caters was rung in Westminster Abbey over the grave of the Unknown Warrior. Why not a ringers' pilgrimage at the Menin Gate?

MR. WILLIAM WILLSON.

There are others still with us who are like Tennyson's brook. To name a few: Lindoff, Pye, Pulling, G. Williams and, of course, J. George ('He of England'). The last-named must have been forgotten by Father Time. James, known to his friends of the vulgar tongue as 'Jimmie,' laughs at the old man with the hour-glass. The hero of many tenors commenced peal ringing late in life, and in consequence is a stayer. One scarcely knows how to place Jimmie in Shakespeare's 'Seven Ages of Man.' Always interesting and voluble, though never more so than when at the Central Council meetings, he seeks the bubble reputation, even at the cannon's mouth, notwithstanding the Canon in the chair deftly spikes Jimmie's guns. He tells me that he still retains 'that Kruschen feeling,' is as spry as a greyhound, and has taken a lease of his house that runs out when he is 130 years old. He is worried because he thinks he will have to renew the lease. His name, also, appeared in No. 1 of 'The Bellingranger' in 1907. Looking further back, I find two famous names also in No. 1 of 'Campanology' in 1898, but what is most remarkable the same two appeared in No. 1 of old 'Bell News' in 1882. They are Messrs. C. F. Winney and F. E. Dawe, and both are still in peal-ringing harness.

In a review of two decades we cannot but be impressed by the new methods and systems evolved, and one wonders what the ringers of old would have thought. There are those who will adopt nothing without a precedent, oblivious to the fact that everything that exists was once its own precedent. This retrospect is in no wise controversial, but the fact remains that some features of modern ringing have evoked divided opinions. It could be argued that methods like 'Little Bob,' where the treble only rings Minimus, ought to be scrapped from Major methods, on the ground that it never does the work. On the other hand, I recollect a peal of Stedman Caters where the seventh bell never went in 'slow.'

The splicing (within the lead) of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob might fitly be described as 'neither fish, nor good red herring,' as it is only rung by extraneous calls, but this is not altogether new, for Sottanstell produced the idea in 1867. I would, however, like to see a Plain Course of 'Mixed Treble Bob.'

The real splicing of methods, both plain and Surprise, is on a firmer foundation, and has come to stay, compelling, as it does, the utmost skill of composer, conductor and ringer. Shipway thought in 1816 that London Surprise might be rung if a band could be found clever enough to practise it. What would he think in 1930 when 6, 8 and 10 or more Surprise methods are rung, all compressed within a true peal of 5,000 changes?

Peals have been rung under various conditions. Once on the sea, and several touches down a coal mine are the present limits. No one seems to be sufficiently ambitious to attempt a handbell peal either down in a submarine or up in an airplane. The coal mine would not be so bad. I have been down 1,000 feet, and except for the atmosphere, which is a bit musty, there should be no difficulty. Those London ringers who live almost continually in the 'Tubes' would be quite at home. The airplane is a different proposition. If anyone contemplates it, I advise a trial flutter first. Except in the tail of a Handley-Page, the roar of the 'Prop.' is like thunder, air sickness is worse than sea water, and if the pilot should decide to do a little stunting, such as 'the Falling Leaf,' 'Spiral nose dive,' or 'loop the loop'—well, the striking would get a bit mixed, to say nothing of the ringers.

There is a feat, however, that remains undone. I think I am right in saying that no peal has yet been rung on the Continent of Europe outside the British Isles. A handbell band could easily ring peals in France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany in a week's tour. Dunkerque, Ostend, and Shuis are all in a 50-mile radius. Cologne could be taken at leisure. There is—or was—a monster 35 ton bell at Cologne, with two wheels for swinging, and the cannons forming a royal crown. A call could be made at Brussels, and a tribute paid to the grave of Nurse Cavell. I should be glad to join such a party. This is looking forward, but when the younger ringers reach the 2,000th number of 'The Ringing World' in 1948, may they then look back on something attempted and something done.

Well, here we are at the end of the programme. Talking is dry work, and my bearings need lubrication. There is just another dose in the dispensary, and, as my private Muse is nudging my arm, I give you

A TOAST:—

Then 'Here's success to the Ringer's Press, the captain and the crew.
Who seeks for fame, must play the game. It's up to me and you

To help our boat to keep afloat; so with our sails unfurled
Let every man do all he can to speed "The Ringing World."'

MR. WILLIAM WILLSON.

ONE OF THE FIRST CONTRIBUTORS TO 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

There has been no more trenchant pen in ringing journalism than that of Mr. William Willson, who was a contributor to the first number of 'The Ringing World'—and many subsequent issues—and returns to-day in reminiscent vein.

In his many contributions to the ringing press, Mr. Willson, in serious mood, has been a caustic writer, and often a formidable antagonist to those with whom he disagreed. When he gets down to business he has a way of saying things which make his opponents sit up and think, for he never hesitates to call a spade a spade.

Born on August 12th, 1868, Mr. Willson began ringing at the early age of ten years, and he has now rung over 350 peals of 5,000, 6,000, 7,000, 10,000, 11,000, 17,000 and 18,000 changes, proving that he is as tenacious at the end of a bell rope as he is in debate. He conducted the first seven-method peal for the Midland Counties Association, and also peals of 7,001 Grandsire Caters, 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major, 10,192 Bob Major, and 11,008 and 17,104 Double Norwich Major, while he was one of the band that cut a deep niche in ringing history when they rang the famous 18,027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough Parish Church. Among other notable performances in which he has taken part have been 'silent' peals of Stedman Triples, Caters, and Cinques (on handbells), and the first peals of Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise in Leicester.

Mr. Willson was for some years hon. treasurer of the Midland Counties Association, of which he is at present one of the representatives on the Central Council, and is Ringing Master at the Church of St. John-the-Divine, to which tower he gave two trebles to complete the ring of ten.

books on ringing, notably those of the Snowden series, have incorporated in their pages reprints of all the epoch-making articles in former issues of 'Bell News' and 'The Ringing World,' so that ringers of the present day are thoroughly and firmly set standing on their own feet in the science of ringing, and are able themselves to go ahead with any new views of their own, or to appreciate what is or what is not of real and permanent value in the ideas of others.

In fine, we may truly say that, while on the one hand the position and influence of the Exercise to-day are largely due to its own initiative and organisation, to its diocesan and county guilds and associations, to its supply of modern books and treatises, and, of course, to modern means of transport and intercourse, it has been and still is the case, that all these advantages have been made known and brought home to each and every individual ringer by the ringing press, and for many years past solely by 'The Ringing World,' to which with all our heart we wish every success and a long period of continued and increasing usefulness in the future.

THE REV. CHARLES D. P. DAVIES. INVESTIGATOR AND AUTHOR.

Although a ringer and conductor of no mean order, it is not so much for his work in this department of the Exercise that the Rev. C. D. P. Davies has made his imprint on the art. He is best known for his important labours in the investigation of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, the results of which solved many of the problems which baffled earlier composers, and which, embodied in the 'Snowdon' volumes, have become standard works upon the questions involved. In addition to his services in this direction, Mr. Davies has laid ringing under an obligation to him by the services he rendered as hon. secretary to the Central Council for twenty years. In addition Mr. Davies filled, for some four or five years, the position of editor of the ringing column in 'Church Bells.'

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies was born at Tewkesbury Vicarage, Glos. on September 12th, 1856, the eldest son of Canon C. G. Davies, who was Vicar of Tewkesbury from 1846 until his death in 1877, and who initiated a great scheme for the restoration of the Abbey—a work which he did not live to see finished. Last year his son preached at the jubilee celebration of the completion of the restoration, thus forging a memorable link in the history of the famous church.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies began his ringing at Tewkesbury tower, but progress was slow. By great perseverance, however, the company taught themselves to ring first Grandsire Doubles and then Grandsire Triples, and Mr. Davies eventually had the satisfaction of ringing a peal with the band on their own bells. After his father's death the family removed to Cheltenham, where, during vacations, Mr. Davies, who was then at Oxford University, rang with the Cheltenham company. At Oxford Mr. Davies practised with the University Guild, of which he became hon. sec. and afterwards Master.

Mr. Davies was ordained in 1880 at Lichfield Cathedral to the curacy of Whitchurch, Salop, where he worked up the local company to ring Stedman Triples. Going next to Chaceley, in Worcestershire, Mr. Davies completed and published his work on Grandsire, which was afterwards incorporated in Snowden's standard work upon the method. After filling curacies at Redmarley, Worcestershire and Whiteshill, Gloucestershire, he went to Ringmer, Sussex, where once more the existence of a ring of eight bells enabled him to coach a band. His next appointment—to the living of East Marden, a village among the South Downs—took him to a church without a ring of bells, but his association with the Exercise became more intimate than ever by his being elected hon. secretary and treasurer of the Central Council, on the death of the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer. This important office he occupied for no less than twenty years and filled with ability, punctiliousness and courtesy. When he retired in 1921 the Council presented him with a 'loving cup' as a small token of their appreciation of his long services.

In 1902 Mr. Davies accepted the living of Fretherne, Gloucestershire, where he remained for many years. He was again in a parish without a peal of bells, but he became Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, of which he had been one of the founders. He was in the office when the association celebrated its 25th year, and by a happy coincidence he was again Master in the jubilee year of the association. After a long period at Fretherne, Mr. Davies occupied for a few years the living of Deane, near Andover, and since his retirement has been living at Kemerton, Tewkesbury, where, despite physical handicaps with which illness has left him, he still keenly follows the developments of ringing, and has contributed to the literature of the art another useful publication under the title of 'Odds and Ends of Grandsire Triples.'

Mr. Davies has, unfortunately, no record of his peals, but they cover the standard methods on eight and ten bells, and include the 13,054 Stedman Caters at Cheltenham. There is, however, no yard stick by which his services to the Exercise can be measured. His researches fifty years ago laid the foundation of much of the knowledge which is the common property of ringers and composers to-day. Principles, which his painstaking labours discovered, are accepted facts from which modern investigators start; his compositions of Grandsire and Stedman are classics.

MR. J. A. TROLLOPE'S WORK FOR THE EXERCISE.

Permouniergate, Norwich. This company, who are all well known in the Exercise, was made up of Mr. Trollope, the brothers Burton, Mr. C. E. Borrett, afterwards for many years secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and now one of its vice-presidents, and Mr. Alfred W. Brighton, who later migrated to London and who has been a visitor to towers in every corner of the country. Three members of this band are to-day members of the Central Council.

Mr. Trollope's activities in the belfry have been very considerable, and his peals, from Doubles to Maximus in many methods, number nearly 400, the longest being 11,200 Bob Major on handbells, which stood for many years as the record length 'in hand.' He has rung a peal in each of 28 Major methods, which must be almost, if not quite, a record, in addition to another method in which the composition proved false, and two others which were included in the peal of ten Spliced Surprise Major methods, in which he took part, as well as in the peals of 4, 5, and 6 Spliced Surprise methods.

In the realm of method construction and peal composition and in his many short treatises on these and cognate subjects, as well as on the historical side of the art, contributed to ringing journals, Mr. Trollope has rendered lasting service to the Exercise. Articles from his fluent pen constantly appeared in 'Bell News' and 'Campanology,' while in 'The Ringing World' his contributions, always lucid and gifted, have been a feature of interest. His 'Notes by the Way,' which were published regularly for a time and now make occasional appearances, are often critically analytical and always informative and interesting.

These are among the things which are known to the ringing fraternity. What is not so generally known is the vast amount of work which Mr. Trollope has done in the interests of the science behind the door of his own study. A great deal of this has been in collaboration with the Rev. H. Law James and others, solely for the benefit of ringers in general. Some of the results of these years of labour have made their appearance through the Central Council in the shape of the 'Collection of Plain Major and Cater Methods' and in the revised 'Collection of Minor Methods,' which is awaiting publication. The Council and the Exercise are fortunate in having men like Mr. Trollope, and those with whom he has been associated, ready to give their time and knowledge to work of this kind, without any sort of personal reward. In addition, Mr. Trollope has also written one or two books on the science of ringing, which are in MSS. for private circulation.

Mr. Trollope's connection with the Central Council began in 1897, when he was elected as a representative of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and he has been an honorary member since 1900. He is thus one of the oldest members of the Council. He has served on the Methods Committee from 1899, and several other committees. He is now a vice-president of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY MEETING AT ABERGAVENNY.

A well-attended and successful meeting was held at Abergavenny on Saturday last, and will not soon be forgotten by those who paid the visit. Abergavenny, situated amongst beautiful scenery and hills at the north-west end of the diocese, possesses a ring of eight bells, and is a very different place to visit, from a ringer's point of view, to what it was a few years ago. Access to the tower was then almost impossible, but to-day the heartiest and most cordial welcome is given by a genial and enthusiastic band, amongst whom is Mr. W. Horsington, this year's Mayor of Abergavenny.

The bells were raised early in the afternoon and, contrary to the experience of a Yorkshire correspondent of 'The Ringing World,' as reported in the last issue, everyone had the opportunity of a ring. The Master, Mr. W. Pike, had charge of the tower, and saw to it that no one had to go away disappointed or had to wait long for a pull. Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. M. E. Davies), whose address was much appreciated. A move was then made to the old Priory buildings, now owned by the church authorities, where a bountiful tea had been generously provided. At the outset, the Vicar extended a welcome to all, and this was followed by a cordial welcome by the Mayor. Seventy-three sat down to tea, and then followed the business meeting, over which the Vicar presided.

Augmentations and restorations, and instructors' reports were given, and places chosen for the next meetings.

Caerleon was selected as the place for the next Monmouth meeting, with Trevelin as an alternative.

A suggestion from Llanbradach that, instead of holding the next meeting there, as had been arranged, it should be held there in the autumn, was agreed to.

An invitation having been given by the Vicar of Llantwit Major to visit his parish, it was decided to hold the next Glamorgan meeting at that church.

A number of new members were elected, including three ladies from Bedwellty.

After the usual votes of thanks, the meeting closed, and a return made to the tower, and the bells kept going until late in the evening. The meeting was a huge success.

A MEMORIAL TOUCH.

Monday, which was St. Dunstan's Day, was the anniversary of the birth of the late Mr. J. F. C. Bayley, towerkeeper of St. Giles' Church, Cripplegate, London, whose death was recorded a few weeks ago. Permission was granted to the Ancient Society of College Youths to ring 'the whole pull and stand' on the bells which Mr. Bayley had so long tended, and this was done on the back eight, a course of Stedman Triples being afterwards rung. 'De Profundis' was said before the ringing.

One who had the privilege of ringing in this muffled peal writes: 'Friend Bayley was like St. Dunstan, a craftsman, who got the Devil by the nose with his tongs—Mr. Hubbard told me they were red hot. Dear old Bayley did better. He served at Holy Mass, so had a stronger grip.'

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A record meeting of the Western Division was held at Hemel Hempstead on Saturday, when over 40 ringers attended. The bells have been recently quarter tuned and rebung on ball bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and the work does them great credit. Ringers came from Apsley, Harrow, Harpenden, Berkhamsted, Billington, Redbourn, King's Langley, Hitchin, Baldock, Edmonston, Linslade, St. Albans, Tring, Watford, and the local company.

The Vicar, the Rev. A. T. Robson, conducted the service, and gave an interesting address, dwelling upon the ancient history of the church, and how the rehung of the bells came about.

After service, by kind invitation of the Vicar, all sat down to a splendid tea in St. Mary's Hall, over which the Vicar presided.

At the meeting which followed the Secretary called attention to 'The Ringing World's' forthcoming 1,000th number, and it was the wish of the meeting that the paper should have further support from all ringers.

The tower was again visited until 8 p.m., when the bells were rung down in peal.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. DISAPPOINTMENT CHANGED TO SUCCESS.

A very successful meeting of the Peak District was held on Saturday at Bakewell, and not at Youlgreave, as had been arranged. On arriving at Youlgreave about 3 p.m., visitors were informed that no ringing could take place owing to illness nearby, and for a time it looked as if a great disappointment was in store for a large gathering. Thanks, however, to the kindness of Mr. A. G. Wallace, the use of the fine peal of bells at Bakewell, about four miles distant, was obtained, and eventually the whole of the visitors arrived there, and ringing took place from 4 to 8.30 p.m. Between 30 and 40 ringers arrived during the afternoon, and some very good ringing was accomplished, ranging from London and Superlative, through Double Norwich, Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman, Bob Major and Grand-sire, to rounds and call changes, so that all should be satisfied and no one should go short of the chance of a ring.

Ringers and friends were present from Bakewell, Baslow, Butterley, Chesterfield, Darley Dale, Dore, Duffield, Eyam, Great Longstone, Hathersage, Matlock and Ripley, and again, through the efforts of Mr. Wallace, a substantial tea was arranged at short notice at the Wheatsheaf, which was followed by a short business meeting, presided over by the Rev. W. P. Wright, of Eyam, and at which several items of business were disposed of.

The next meeting was arranged for the historic Church of Eyam, with its musical light ring of six, probably on June 14th, and an especially hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. A. G. Wallace and the Bakewell ringers for their efforts in converting what might have been a most disappointing afternoon into a very successful meeting.

CROYDON, SURREY.—At the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, on Sunday, May 3rd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 49 mins.: H. J. Skelt 1, *E. Acok 2, *F. E. Mitchell 3, H. G. Humphries 4, J. E. Cooper 5, A. W. Clark 6, D. Cooper (conductor) 7, J. Rumble, jun., 8. *First quarter-peal. Rung in honour of the consecration of the Vicar (the Rev. Canon E. S. Woods) as Bishop of Croydon, which took place on Thursday, May 1st, at Westminster Abbey.

PEALS AND PEAL RINGERS.

The peals analysis for the year 1929, which is published in this issue, again reveals a falling off in the number of peals rung. The difference between last year and the year before was only 37, but it followed on a much bigger decline in the preceding twelve months, and is the lowest total since 1921. The report of the committee and the tables which they have prepared will be perused and closely examined by those interested in peal ringing and who look upon the analysis as the barometer of the Exercise. There are many ringers who take the view that peal ringing is the least important part of the art. With this view we do not agree. It is true that the progress of change ringing cannot be entirely judged either by the number of peals or the quality and variety of the methods, but in our opinion these things do indicate to the observant whether enthusiasm for the art and enterprise in its application are advancing or suffering under a temporary cloud of apathy. It is usually in those associations which have the highest percentage of peal ringers that the standard of change ringing is best; and the greater the ambition for peal ringing among the members the keener they are upon attaining good striking, and, what is also important, discharging their Sunday duties in the belfry. The indications which can be gathered from a careful study of the peals analysis are, therefore, not unimportant in diagnosing the health of the Exercise generally, and it is for this reason that the tables and report have a value as well as an interest, especially when they are compared with those of the preceding year.

In the figures for 1929 there are certain disquieting features, apart from the reduced aggregate of peals, and the most striking of these seem to be the drop of nearly one hundred in the number of ringers who rang their first peal and the still greater fall of 366 in the number who rang their first in a new method or method on a larger number of bells. The drop in both these categories follows upon a fall of lesser extent in each in the preceding year. Is this an indication that fewer young ringers are taking an interest in peal ringing; that they are less ambitious, and is it another illustration of the now familiar story of 'other attractions'? Whatever the reason may be, it is, we suggest, a matter to which the ringing organisations should give close attention. In every association there are large numbers of ringers who have never rung a peal, and it will be worth while searching for and applying means of creating enthusiasm and ambition among these members of the Exercise. Success in a peal is often the factor which turns a man from indifference to keenness, and it is obvious that unless the supply of peal ringers is maintained there must ultimately be such a slump that the art itself will suffer badly.

TONBRIDGE DISTRICT ELECTS 29 MEMBERS.

The spring meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Marden on Saturday, May 17th, and was attended by about 30 members. Ringing commenced about three o'clock in methods ranging from Grandsire to Cambridge with rounds for the young beginners. An agreeable surprise was the arrival of the hon. general secretary, Mr. F. M. Mitchell, and his visit was much appreciated by the members. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. A. Finch), while Mr. W. E. Pitman, of Canterbury, presided at the organ. Tea was partaken of in the Hill Tea Rooms. The business meeting was held in the vestry, Mr. F. M. Mitchell presiding, when 29 new practising members were elected, including 19 members of the local band.

The District Secretary announced that the next meeting would be held at Hever early in July, and Mr. G. Edwards would endeavour to obtain permission to view the Castle and grounds.

In replying to a vote of thanks for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, the Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the members. This was the first time he had had the pleasure of meeting them, he said, but he hoped it would not be the last. He was very glad that his ringers had joined the association. The reverend gentleman then proceeded to give a humorous description of an expected call on the telephone when he arrived home, from a lady living opposite the church who, he said, had not yet developed an ear for bell music.

This ended the meeting, and the members then indulged in more ringing.

Members and their friends coming to London in connection with this meeting are reminded that early application should be made to the hon. secretary for vouchers enabling them to travel by rail at reduced rates.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD. PENZANCE BRANCH FESTIVAL.

A very successful minor ringing festival of the above branch was held on Saturday, May 17th, at St. Keverne, between sixty and seventy ringers attending, representing the towers of Truro Cathedral, Gulval, Phillack, St. Hilary, Helston, St. Anthony, Manaccan, Towednack and St. Keverne. The church at St. Keverne is the happy possessor of a fine peal of eight (tenor 18 cwt.) by Messrs. Taylor and Co. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and continued until 4.30, when a short service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. C. Norris, was held. The address was given by the diocesan secretary (the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella). He spoke of the duties of ringers as churchworkers, and emphasised that they were very important as such, as by their example they might be the means of bringing others to the church who never at present showed near.

After the service a substantial tea, kindly provided by the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Keverne, was partaken of. A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, also for his help and the churchworkers in providing the tea, was proposed by the Ringing Master (Dr. John Symons), who, in the course of his speech, gave a few helpful hints to the ringers.—This was seconded by the diocesan secretary.—The Vicar, in replying, said it was a pleasure to be able to help in any way to the welfare of ringing. He appreciated what his own men did, and he was sure these festivals helped and stimulated ringers immensely.

The Vice-Master (Major C. F. Jerram) was also present, and helped considerably to the success of the meeting. Among the visitors were the Rector of Phillack, the Vicar of Manaccan and the genial secretary of the Truro Branch.

After tea the bells were started again and kept going until about 8 p.m. At the committee meeting following, it was decided to hold the next festival at Ludgvan about the third week in September.

BOY SCOUTS' PEAL.

We record to-day a peal rung by members of the Boy Scouts' Association at Over on Saturday to commemorate Empire Day.

Frequent complaints are heard, writes Mr. W. Bibby, of Frodsham, that recruits cannot be obtained to fill vacancies in the belfry. I think the peal of Bob Major rung at Over, Cheshire, on Saturday last, by eight Scouts, points the way. Frodsham is pleased to have had three members of their company included in the band.

AN OCTOGENARIAN RINGING CLERGYMAN.

DEATH OF THE REV. O. S. WALFORD.

On the day before his 82nd birthday, the Rev. O. S. Walford passed away at Haslemere, Surrey, on May 14th. The deceased clergyman, whose father was second master at the Old Charterhouse in London, was educated at Charterhouse and Trinity College, Cambridge, and received his theological training at Wells College, from which he went to Haslemere in 1871 as curate. Subsequently he filled curacies in other places, and became Vicar of Holy Trinity, Gosport, where he stayed for five years before going to the Rectory of Liss in 1899. Here he remained until 1922, when he retired from active ministerial work and went to reside again in Haslemere, where he was always ready to give assistance in the services of the Church.

The Rev. O. S. Walford was greatly interested in ringing, and was an active ringer for some time, although his opportunities were few. He was a life member of the Winchester Guild, and one of the foundation life members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. As long as he was able, he delighted to sit in the churchyard at Haslemere and listen to the ringing of peals, and his personal interest in the Haslemere band was shown by the fact that he regularly had the young members at his house and taught them change ringing on handbells—he could ring two either to Grandsire or Stedman Doubles.

The deceased was buried by the side of his wife at Liss on May 17th, and on Sunday the bells at Haslemere were rung half-muffled for all three services, a touch of 1,115 Grandsire Caters being rung in the evening by H. Furlonger 1, R. Hayes 2, R. Overy 3, F. Bowden 4, J. S. Goldsmith (conductor) 5, B. Elliott 6, J. H. B. Hesse 7, M. Smither 8, A. J. Barlett 9, W. Eldridge 10.

RINGING ON THE CONTINENT.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. Willson, in his remarks last week, mentions the fact that he has no recollection of a peal on the Continent. In my forthcoming 'History' I have noted the following: 'The College Youths crossed the Channel to Calais June 2nd, 1732, and there rang a course of Cinques, and "another when they were half seas over."' Also the Cumberlands record 'the first peal ever accomplished on the Continent of Europe' when on handbells they rang Holt's ten-part Grandsire Triples in 2 hrs. 35 mins. at the 'Boulevard Bon Nouvelle à Paris' on Sunday, July 15th, 1855, viz.: Edward Sawyer 1-2, John Cox (conductor) 3-4, Cornelius Andrew 5-6, George Banks 7-8.—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST MORRIS.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is impossible to thank individually all the host of friends and well-wishers who have sent us their congratulations upon our one-thousandth number. Will they therefore kindly accept this expression of our indebtedness to them?

It is gratifying, indeed, to know that not only was last week's number particularly welcomed, but that the work which 'The Ringing World' has striven to do for nearly twenty years has met with such general appreciation.

Many of our correspondents are proud to remind us that they have every copy from the first to the one thousandth. For this evidence of their loyal and continued support we ask them to accept our thanks.

The peal at St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, on May 16th, was rung for the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.

After being silent for some time, the fine-toned peal of ten bells at St. Paul's Church, Bedford, were heard on Friday evening last when being given a 'trial spin' after being overhauled and rehung on ball bearings. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have carried out the work.

The first peal of New Cumberland Surprise Major was rung at Burton-on-Trent on May 31st, 1886. It has never been very popular with ringers, and it is some years now since a peal in the method was rung.

On June 1st, 1912, a peal of Stedman Caters, 14,031 changes, was rung on handbells at Guildford in 7 hrs. 3 mins. Later in the year the same band extended this record length 'in hand' by ringing 19,738.

The first 12-bell peal in Birmingham was rung on June 3rd, 1773. It was a peal of 5,324 Grandsire Cinques. St. Martin's is one of the few old towers which has anything like a complete record of the peals rung on the bells.

'The new peal of ten bells' at the famous Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside—which are still silent while money is being collected in their name for the restoration of the church as well as the bells—were rung for the first time on June 4th, 1762.

Letters from Mr. J. A. Trollope and the Rev. H. Drake, replying to our article on 'A Lead and a Challenge,' as well as a number of peals, are unavoidably held over.

A RINGERS' PILGRIMAGE TO MENIN GATE?

To the Editor.

Sir,—It gave me great pleasure to read Mr. Willson's suggestion of a ringers' pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, and I wish he, or someone, would arrange it. Why not the Central Council? Perhaps Canon Coleridge or the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn would go. As ringers, we should hold a short service at the Menin Gate and then visit Tyne Cot, Passchendaele, and there in that terrible but beautiful place, and in full view of the Salient, with the handbells give our farewell salute to our late friends. As a non-ringer once said, handbells at the graves of the dead are the most touching expression he had ever heard.—Yours,

A. H. PULLING.

ORIGINAL MEMBERS OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Having read Canon Coleridge's article on the Central Council, I would like to ask how many of the original representatives at that first meeting are still with us? At the annual meeting of the Lancashire Association in 1889, the Rev. H. J. Elsee and Mr. G. Longden were elected to represent us at the first meeting, and to-day Canon Elsee is still one of the members. Mr. Longden passed to his rest some years ago, and I am afraid that the bulk of the original members have gone from us.—Yours, etc.,

W. H. SHUKER.

THE PEAL AT LINCOLN.

The second peal on the twelve at Lincoln Cathedral was rung by a mixed band on Saturday last. The visitors were welcomed by the sub-Dean, who made the long ascent into the belfry to wish success to the ringers.

Eight of the band were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson at Surfleet for the week-end, and on Sunday enjoyed some excellent Cambridge Royal and Spliced Surprise Major on the Surfleet bells. The latter is, by the way, the first touch of Spliced Surprise rung at the church of the inventor of the system.

It is estimated that about 2,800 miles were travelled by the band who rang the peal.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Friday evening, May 18th, at St. Mary's Church, Hitcham, Bucks, 720 Grandsire Doubles in 35 mins.: P. Jaycock 1, C. Bunce 2, G. J. Berry (conductor) 3, H. Webb 4, T. Newcomb 5, T. Bunce 6. Rung with clappers half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Rev. W. H. George, who had been Rector at this church for the past seven years, and who died while on holiday at St. Leonards-on-Sea after a short illness, and was interred in the churchyard earlier in the day.

Compiled by the Committee appointed by the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

DEATH OF A BRABOURNE RINGER.

The Ashford District and East Kent have sustained a loss by the death of Mr. Ernest Cheesman, one of a well-known ringing family. He died in the Victoria Hospital on April 30th, aged 55 years.

The funeral took place at his native village of Stowting, on May 5th, the bearers being the local ringers.

As illness prevented ringing at Stowting, the bells at Brabourne (of which band he had been captain for several years) were later in the day half-muffled, and Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor rung by local ringers, assisted by Albert Tanton, an old friend from Lymington, a broken rope preventing a peal. The deceased was a good striker and had taken part in peals in various parts of the county.

REPORT OF THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

The total number of peals rung during 1929, as shown by the analysis, was 1,665, a decrease of 37 as compared with 1928.

|---------|--------|-------|--------|-------|
| | Tower. | Hand. | Tower. | Hand. |
| Maximus | 23 | — | 14 | 6 |
| Cinques | 23 | 3 | 19 | 6 |
| Royal | 49 | 4 | 52 | 9 |
| Caters | 83 | 9 | 80 | 3 |
| Major | 629 | 51 | 621 | 16 |
| Triples | 359 | 5 | 381 | 5 |
| Minor | 318 | 3 | 336 | 6 |
| Doubles | 126 | — | 146 | 2 |
| | 1,610 | 55 | 1,649 | 53 |

Tower Bells.—As will be seen, the peals of Maximus have increased, there being 6 more of Surprise and 3 in other methods. Cinques show 4 more, 3 of Stedman and 1 of Grandsire. Peals of Surprise Royal have decreased by 4, whilst other methods have increased by 1, making the total decrease 3. The increase of 3 in Caters is made up of Stedman 6, Double Norwich 1, whilst Grandsire have decreased by 4.

In Major the total increase is 8. Peals of Surprise have increased by 25, of which Cambridge alone accounts for 23. Treble Bob and Plain Methods have decreased by 17. Triples have decreased by 22, made up of a decrease in Stedman of 34 and other methods 3, and an increase of 15 in Grandsire. Minor have decreased 18 peals, the chief variation being decreases in peals in 1 and 2 methods 37, and increases in 3, 4, and 5 methods 20. The decrease in Doubles is 20, which is more than accounted for by peals in 1 method.

Handbells.—The decrease of 3 peals in Cinques is represented by Stedman; that of 5 in Royal by Plain Bob 3 and Treble Bob 2. Stedman Caters are 7 more and Grandsire Caters have decreased 1. Major have increased by 15, there being 11 more of Plain Bob and 4 more of Treble Bob. Triples, although being equal, show one more peal of Stedman and one less of Grandsire. Minor have decreased by 3 peals.

Yorkshire Surprise Maximus, Melton Surprise Royal, Loughborough Bob Major, Wellington Little Court Bob Major, and Spliced Treble Bob in the Worcester variation have been rung for the first time.

Again the Midland Counties Association have rung most peals, their total being 128, a decrease of 25 peals on last year's total. The Lancashire Association and Kent County come next with 104 and 100 respectively. Both totals are less than last year, Lancashire being 15 and Kent 9 down. Twenty-eight societies show a decrease in peals, the most serious being the Warwickshire Association, which has dropped from 34 to 6.

On the other hand 16 associations show an increase. The Suffolk Association, with 99 peals, have increased by 22; the Essex with 90 peals have increased by 40. The Lincoln, Stafford Archdeaconry and Chester have increased by 19, 13 and 17 respectively.

Without doubt the outstanding performance of the year is the long peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, 15,312 changes, at Ash-ton-under-Lyne, rung under the auspices of the Lancashire Association. This surpasses all previous records on 12 bells, and was a truly wonderful feat.

No other long length was rung on tower bells, but a peal of Minor of 7,200 changes was rung on handbells by the Suffolk Guild.

Other peals worth noting are a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 6 methods, and one in 10 methods by the Middlesex Association; Spliced Superlative and Cambridge Maximus by the Essex Association; a non-conducted peal of Double Norwich, one of Cambridge Surprise Major and one of Superlative Surprise Major by the Kent County; a peal of Grandsire Triples by 4 fathers and 4 sons for the Surrey Association; a Surprise peal by police officers for the Middlesex Association; a 'William' peal of Kent Treble Bob Major and an 'Edward' peal of Stedman Triples for the Kent County; and a 'James' peal of Double Norwich for the London County Association.

Following are the number of peals rung each month in 1928 and 1929:—

| | 1928. | 1929. | | 1928. | 1929. |
|----------|-------|-------|-----------|-------|-------|
| January | 124 | 113 | July | 118 | 118 |
| February | 145 | 118 | August | 116 | 148 |
| March | 144 | 92 | September | 144 | 137 |
| April | 127 | 141 | October | 154 | 150 |
| May | 164 | 148 | November | 152 | 197 |
| June | 125 | 132 | December | 189 | 171 |

The footnotes show a considerable decrease in the number of ringers who have scored their first peal. This year there are 499, as against 593 in 1928. Ringers of peals in a new method, or method on a different number of bells total 869, a decrease of 366 on last year's total. Ringers of their first peal inside number 62; away from the tenor 10; in the method inside 83; Maximus 18; Cinques 5; Royal 17; Caters 21; Major 72; Triples 39; Minor 89; Doubles 30; on twelve bells 27; on ten 60; on eight 36; on six 23; on five 10; Surprise 57; in hand 11; in method in hand 31.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. DERBY DISTRICT.

About thirty members and visitors were present at the district quarterly meeting held at Derby on Saturday last, which turned out to be very successful. Among the visitors were Messrs. E. C. Gobey and H. Harrison (Ilkeston), E. H. Bagworth (Leicester), J. H. Swinfield (Burton), and James George (Birmingham), etc. During the afternoon the bells of St. Luke's and St. Alkmund's were made good use of, various methods being rung and others attempted, everybody having an opportunity to test their ability. The fine ring at St. Andrew's was reserved for the evening, and the ringers were welcomed by Mr. A. H. Ward, Ringing Master (in the absence of Mr. C. E. Hart). The methods rung were Cambridge, Treble Bob, and Stedman Caters, the latter method proving more difficult than was first anticipated, but was, however, successfully brought round at the third attempt.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the vice-president (Mr. Henry Fletcher), who was supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. Geo. Freebrey), Mr. P. H. Tate, Mr. E. H. Clarke, Mr. F. Coxon, and Mr. J. Bailey. One life member (Mr. H. Joiner), of Stonehouse, Glos, was elected, and the members were pleased to welcome, on the proposition of Mr. Geo. Freebrey, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Irwin, Vicar of Duffield, as an hon. member of the M.C.A.

Mention was made of the death of Ald. J. H. Grant (late Mayor of Derby), who was one of the hon. members, and the chairman asked all present to stand in silence as a mark of respect to his memory. The next two places decided on for the quarterly meetings were West Hallam and Belper respectively, due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. John Swinfield proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to the towerkeepers for having everything ready.

At the subsequent tea, which was provided at King's Cafe, the arrangements gave every satisfaction, an enjoyable hour being spent in a room specially set out for the occasion.

LORD DAVIDSON'S DEATH.

The death of Archbishop Lord Davidson has removed a great figure from the Church and State.

While he was Archbishop of Canterbury he was president of the Kent County Association, and as ex-president he was one of those who signed the illuminated address recently presented to the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore.

Lord Davidson's last appearance among ringers was in March, 1928, at the great 'rally' at Croydon, attended by a company of about 2,500. He and Mrs. Davidson were photographed in the Bell Foundry with Canon Coleridge and the Mayor of Croydon in front of the 18½ ton bell destined for the Riverside Church, New York. He afterwards addressed the great gathering assembled at the Baths.

Throughout this week the bells in many places have been rung muffled in memory of the late Primate.

At Chiddington, Kent, on Sunday, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 46 mins., with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect to the late Lord Davidson: A. Wiles 1, F. Longley 2, J. Weller, Westerham (first quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples) 3, J. Cruwys 4, H. Huntley 5, A. Longley 6, E. H. Everest (conductor) 7, L. Everest 8.

There are 54 new conductors, and 73 conductors in a new method. On the occasion of national thanksgiving for the King's recovery 66 peals were rung.

Other footnotes show that 51 peals were the first on the bells; 46 since restoration or augmentation; and 158 the first in the method on the bells. Muffled and half-muffled peals number 58; birthday peals 241; weddings (including silver and golden) 59; church festivals and dedications 44; Empire Day 4; Armistice Day 14; anniversaries 63; welcome and farewell peals 46; and royal birthdays 12.

The ladies still figure largely in the peal reports, and 91 have rung peals this year. Three appear among the conductors, and one peal of Bob Major was rung for the Ladies' Guild.

We conclude our report with the number of peals rung in each of representative years since 1881, the total for the whole period being 53,206.

NOTE.—Mr. George resigned from the committee at the beginning of the year, and Mr. C. Dean took his place.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD. RINGING COMPETITION.

The sixth annual ringing competition of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild was held at Llanelly, Carmarthenshire, on Saturday (Empire Day), where, by kind permission of Canon Watcyn Morgan (Vicar) the bells of the Parish Church (St. Elli) were in use. The competitors were favoured with delightful weather. Some teams had journeyed very long distances to compete, and all were delighted that Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, had been able once more to honour the Guild as the adjudicator of the competition. His award met with full approval of all competitors.

In former competitions, the 'test piece' was confined to raising the bells in peal, ringing 120 changes Doubles, falling the bells in peal. In order, however, to encourage towers to interest themselves in other methods it was decided that teams ringing Stedman or Minor methods should have the benefit of five points, and it was pleasing to note that of the nine teams that entered the competition five took advantage of such benefit.

The order of ringing and the points obtained by the several teams were:—

|---------------------------|-----|
| Talgarth | 226 |
| Llanelly, Carmarthenshire | 210 |
| Brecon (St. Mary's) | 216 |
| Cadoxton, Neath | 233 |
| Neath | 215 |
| Cefn Coed | 228 |
| Gorseinon | 231 |
| Llanelly, Breconshire | 232 |
| Morrison | 209 |

The maximum number of points obtainable was 240, and the figures set out above include points earned for ringing methods other than Doubles. It should be noted that the local team (Llanelly, Carmarthenshire) were handicapped nine points for the privilege of ringing on their own bells.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, in his report, complimented the teams on their general proficiency, and stated that the competition had been keener than in previous years, and the standard of ringing had greatly improved. Most teams lost points because the fourth bell was kept rather wide on back-stroke.

Cadoxton, Neath, the holders, managed to retain the shield by one point. Certificates were presented to the first three teams.

A cold luncheon was served in the Parish Hall at 1 p.m., and tea was taken at 5 p.m.

Canon Watcyn Morgan presided at the tea table, and he was supported by the Rev. J. T. Davies (Vicar of St. Paul's, Llanelly), Rev. E. J. Kingsbury (Llanelly), Rev. W. Gurnos Davies (Vicar of Llanelly, Breconshire), Minor Canons Gomer Davies and David J. Jones (Brecon), the Rev. D. Thomas (Cadoxton, Neath), and other clergy.

After tea, Canon Morgan referred to the death of Dr. T. Price Thomas, Brecon, the donor of the shield, and the company present stood and observed a few minutes' silence. Dr. Thomas took a great interest in the bells and ringers at Brecon. It was at his suggestion that this competition was to be held on Empire Day, or the Saturday nearest thereto.

Canon Morgan gave the company a very warm welcome into his parish, and hoped they had as much pleasure out of their visit as he had in having the ringers there in such strong numbers. There were 80 ringers present at lunch, but by tea time there was a muster of about 100. Mr. Fussell was then called upon to deliver his adjudication referred to above, after which Canon Morgan presented the shield and certificates to the successful teams.

The thanks of the company were given to Canon Morgan and his band of lady workers for the welcome, and the very excellent luncheon and tea provided free of charge, on the proposition of the Rev. W. Gurnos Davies, seconded by Rev. J. T. Davies. The proposer then called for three cheers, and these were heartily given.

Canon Morgan, responding, said the work of providing luncheon had been attended to by Mr. Harding, his churchwarden at All Saints' Church, whilst the ladies were responsible for providing tea, and Mr. Harding was thereupon asked to speak. He expressed his pleasure in being able to do a small service to the ringers, and hoped they had enjoyed themselves.

Mr. Fussell was heartily thanked for his services also.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. JOINT DISTRICT MEETING.

On Saturday (Empire Day) the North-Eastern and Northern Divisions of the Essex Association held a meeting at Great Tey, when about 50 members from 17 churches, and a lady ringer and other visitors from Cambs attended and rang touches. A special service was held, conducted by the Rev. Saint, who welcomed the ringers, and also spoke on the Empire Day spirit.

Afterwards tea was served at the hotel adjoining, when the Rev. Saint presided, supported by Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association), Mr. W. J. Nevard, Mr. Ridgewell (Earls Colne), Mr. Stannard (Colchester), and other prominent ringers from the districts.

Mr. Howard proposed a vote of thanks for the use of the bells, and to the Vicar for his address, also to the choir and organist for their help in making the meeting a success.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.WAR MEMORIAL FUND COMPLETED.

In accordance with the rule of the Guild requiring the annual meeting to be held in the area of the different branches in rotation, the festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Calne, Wilts, on Saturday, May 17th. Some doubts had been expressed as to the advisability of holding it at a point somewhat difficult of access and far removed from the greater part of the diocese. All such misgivings, however, were completely dissipated by the result. Some ninety members assembled in the grand old Parish Church, with its fine bells and magnificent organ, at 12.30 p.m., and took part in one of the most inspiring ringers' services ever held. The singing was led by twenty surpliced choristers with exquisitely trained voices, and the special psalms and hymns were accompanied by the organist with thrilling effect. The office was intoned by the honorary secretary of the Guild, and the lesson read by the senior assistant priest. The Ven. Archdeacon Coulter, Vicar of Calne, in the course of an intensely interesting address, spoke of the ancient history of Calne Church and its close connection with Salisbury Cathedral, and quoted a very early reference to the ringing of the bells, while the Te Deum was sung, on the appointment of a former Vicar of Calne as Archbishop of Canterbury. In extending a hearty welcome to the Guild, the Archdeacon commended the wisdom of occasionally visiting the extreme points of the dioceses, in spite of the cost and sacrifice entailed, and aptly remarked that the activities of the body are not confined to the region round the heart but extend to the fingers and other extremities.—A collection taken in aid of the war memorial fund amounted to £2 0s. 7d. At the close of the service a beautifully struck touch of Grandsire Triples was rung, and the company then sat down to luncheon in the Town Hall, which was most attractively decorated with flags and flowers. The catering was undertaken by Maslen's Cafe, and the arrangements made reflected great credit on the firm.

After the King's health had been drunk with musical honours, the annual meeting ensued, under the presidency of the Master, Rev. R. H. Gundry.

The statement of accounts was approved, showing a working balance in hand of £97 16s. 1d. The Rev. R. H. Gundry was re-elected Master, and Rev. F. L. Edwards secretary. Mr. F. Green was elected assistant secretary, Rev. R. E. G. Newman and Mr. H. R. Hopkins auditors, the Bishop of Sherborne, the Dean of Salisbury and Mr. T. Horvey Beams vice-presidents, and Rev. F. L. Edwards and Messrs. T. H. Beams, S. Hillier and C. H. Jennings representatives on the Central Council. Messrs. C. H. Jennings, W. Townsend and L. A. Wilson were appointed bellfry inspectors in addition to Mr. S. Hillier.

The Master and Secretary both expressed the general regret at Mr. Beams' enforced retirement from office on account of failing health, and spoke in eulogistic terms of his valuable services to the Guild.

Mr. Beams had the satisfaction of reporting that his great labour of love, the raising of £200 for the ringers' war memorial in the Cathedral, had been brought to a successful conclusion. Not only had the full amount been subscribed, but he was able to produce as the finishing touch to the memorial the Guild badge, skilfully carved in oak by Mr. Northover, of Bridport, and handsomely gilded and coloured. The Master expressed the cordial thanks of the Guild both to Mr. Beams and Mr. Northover.

It was agreed to make two additions to the rules, and a grant of two guineas was voted towards the restoration of the grand peal of bells at Heytesbury.

Mr. C. D. Heginbotham proposed a vote of thanks to the Archdeacon, organist and choristers, for their respective parts in the service, to the ladies and gentlemen responsible for the decoration of the hall, and to the incumbents of the various churches for allowing the use of the bells. The Archdeacon briefly replied, and the meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed in a witty speech by the Rev. A. H. T. Clarke.

Eleven towers were open for ringing, and touches in the standard methods were enjoyed by visitors from all parts of the diocese, many of whom had travelled sixty or seventy miles to take part in the festival.

LEARNERS AT DISTRICT MEETINGS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I think our ringing friend, Mr. Harrison, of Conisborough, would have acted more wisely had he brought his complaint re ringing arrangements at Rotherham on Easter Monday before members of his association at a district meeting (instead of the whole Exercise). Personally, I cannot think the Yorkshire Association care less for the learner than other guilds or associations. My experience of over fifty years' of guild and association meetings is that over two-thirds of the ringing time is given up to the learner, and if the opportunity is not seized when, say, a 'first eleven team' are in the tower, the meeting goes off without a touch 'on the top line.'

We, as officers, know that we have to cater for all—that is, from rounds to the top-line ringer.

GEORGE WILLIAMS,
Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.BEDFORD DISTRICT VISITS TWO FIVE-BELL TOWERS.

On Saturday last a successful and enjoyable meeting of the Bedford District was held at the two five-bell towers of St. Mary's, Keysoe, and All Saints', Riseley. Keysoe was first visited, and the bells were raised about three o'clock and rung until 4.30 to touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob and St. Simon's Doubles. An excellent tea awaited the company on arrival at Riseley, to which full justice was done.

At the business meeting Mr. Harry Chapman (a welcome and regular attendant at the Bedford District's meetings) took the chair. Before calling upon the secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting, Mr. Chapman said he had with him the annual report of the association for 1886-1887, and, now, after being away from the neighbourhood for many years, he was back amongst them, and, looking back over forty years, he was proud of the progress the association had made. In that year only about eight or nine towers in the county belonged to the association in the neighbourhood of Bedford and Woburn. In those days Luton, Leighton Buzzard and Dunstable did not belong, but to-day the Luton District was a stronghold of change ringing. Continuing, Mr. Chapman said he would like to mention one or two names of men who by their keenness and enthusiasm in the early years had done much work—the late Mr. I. Hills, and Mr. Herbert, of Woburn, and Mr. C. W. Clark, who was still amongst them. To-day they were reaping the benefit of what these men did. He was pleased to see at the annual meeting of the association that a district ought to be formed in the Amphilph area, and he appealed to members to support the meetings when held there. This was a sure sign of progress, and he was glad the five-bell towers were being visited, as it was by holding meetings as they were doing on that day that enthusiasm could be created.

Mr. J. Church, of St. Paul's, Bedford, was re-elected a member of the association, while Norman Inskip and Ronald Ford, of Kempston, were elected new members.

It was decided that the next meeting be held at Stagsden, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance, as the association has never paid a visit to this tower before.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicars of Keysoe and Riseley and to Mr. Harry Chapman for taking the chair at the meeting, was heartily accorded.

Ringings were indulged in at Riseley until eight o'clock in Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and St. Simon's Doubles. Twenty members were present during the day from Bedford (St. Paul's and St. Peter's), Kempston, Turvey, Keysoe, Riseley, Great Staughton, Clapham and Stagsden, with visitors from Woolaston and Rushden.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NEW RINGING MASTER IN GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

Between 30 and 40 members attended the Guildford District meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Witley on Saturday, where they were welcomed by the Vicar-designate (Rev. P. G. Holden), who was inducted to the living two days later. The new Vicar, before the war, learnt to handle a bell at Runcorn, Cheshire, and was inducted to make a fresh start in his new parish. The Rev. P. G. Holden will, it is hoped, prove an acquisition to the Guild, which is badly off for 'ringing parsons.'

He conducted the Guild's service and delivered an address based upon the precept, 'Practise what you preach.'

At the meeting following tea in the Parish Room, the Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse) presided, supported by the Vicar-designate and Admiral T. P. Walker (hon. treasurer).

The resignation of Mr. A. H. Pulling as Ringing Master of the district was received with regret, and Mr. R. Hayes (of Haslemere) was elected to fill the vacancy, subject to his agreeing to act.

It was decided to transfer Dunsfold tower from the Haslemere group to the Guildford South group for the purposes of combined practices.

A resolution of deep regret was passed upon the death of the Rev. O. S. Walford, of Haslemere, a life member of the Guild.

On the motion of the Master, congratulations were accorded to the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' who is also general hon. secretary of the Guild, upon the completion of one thousand issues of this journal. The Master expressed the hope that all the members of the Guild would support it.—Mr. Goldsmith acknowledged the motion, remarking that his greatest recompense had been the many friendships he had made and retained among ringers throughout the country.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar-designate and organist concluded the meeting, and further ringing was done.

LLANTRISANT, GLAM.—On Thursday, May 15th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: J. Westcott 1, F. J. Thyer 2, W. Pike 3, P. Jones 4, C. H. Perry (conductor) 5, J. Darch 6, J. Evans 7, W. Westcott (first quarter-peal) 8. Rung after meeting short for a peal. Mr. Evans took the vacant rope, but too late for a peal.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

NEXT TUESDAY'S BUSINESS.

The dearth of motions put down for discussion at the Central Council meeting next Tuesday revealed in the first publication of the agenda, and which was commented upon by the President in his article in our one thousandth number, has been remedied by the inclusion of items permitted by an elastic interpretation of the rules. It did not, however, follow, because there were no motions for debate, that the Council would have little business to transact. The first session of every new Council always provides an additional amount of routine business which cannot be lightly passed over and this year, at least, the retirement of the President, and the election of a new occupant of the office, is hardly likely to be a purely formal affair. Then, too, there are the reports of the Committees to claim attention. Although this year there is not in view at the moment any burning question, like the Peals of Minor disputation which was brought to a head twelve months ago in the Methods Committee's report, the Council have an important question to decide in regard to the publication of the 'Collection of Minor Methods.' The issue of the complete work will be a costly affair, for in the revision of the Collection the Committee's anxiety to make the volume as full as possible has led them to expand it to more than twice the size of the original, and the Council have got to decide how far they can go in its printing, not only in regard to initial outlay, but also in providing a volume at a price that will be within reach of all who desire to possess it.

Three of the five motions on the agenda are put down in indefinite terms, and it is unlikely that any of them will go through without discussion. The suggestion that the Council should form a collection of lantern slides to illustrate ringing in its various aspects will surely commend itself to the members. The question of opening the door to motions in the name of affiliated societies is one which we hope will be supported, at least in principle, even if its application may need modification. Of the other motions, the most important—indeed, the most important of all—is that by which discussion will be initiated on the subject of alterations in the rules of the Council, as suggested in 'The Ringing World' last October. These suggestions were put forward as a means of drawing tighter the bonds between the Council and the associations, and of enabling the societies to have a direct voice in the affairs of the Council. There is a difference between a Council formed of persons chosen by associations, which are under no obligation to observe the decisions, and a Council formed of affiliated societies, who are pledged to accept the Council's rulings. There is a principle here which may well divide the Council, as also, probably, will be suggested alterations of the term of a member's election from three years to one year. While, of course, it is desirable that the practice should be uniform, it is not absolutely essential, and a satisfactory compromise, if one is needed, might be found in permitting societies to decide for themselves the period for which they elect their representatives. This motion is going to provide the widest scope for debate next Tuesday as far as can be judged from the printed agenda.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

ALTON DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting held at Liss on May 10th was a pleasant one in spite of the cold and showery weather, and was attended by ringers from Blackmoor, Bramshott, Petersfield, Rogate and Winchester. Most of the ringing was done at the 'old' Church of St. Peter, where there is a ring of six. Liss is a growing place. There is a new church, near the railway station, where a tower is being built, and the suggestion has been made that the bells should be transferred there from the old church, now but little used. Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, happened to be present at the meeting, and was able to give the Rector some valuable advice on this matter. During the afternoon some of the party visited Hawkey, two miles distant, and tried the bells there. The Guild service was conducted by the district secretary, and the Rector (Rev. S. N. Sedgwick) was at the organ, and also gave one of his characteristic addresses, brief, thoughtful and inspiring. Tea was served at the Spread Eagle, where the chairman (Rev. F. G. Eyres) presided over a company of twenty-three, which included the Master (Mr. G. Williams) and Mrs. Williams, Rev. S. N. Sedgwick, Mr. F. S. Bayley (Titchfield) and Mrs. Bayley, Mr. W. Andrews (Winchester), Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), and Mr. W. Read and Mrs. Read.

At the meeting which followed, the Chairman referred to the recent death of Rev. E. Dennett, Rector of East Worldham. He was an hon. member who had always taken great interest in the Guild, and had been district auditor, an office which he only resigned last January on account of failing health.

Three new members, all of Liss, were elected, which seems to show that there is a good prospect of the band being re-formed there. The incumbents of Liss, Hawkey and Newton Valence were also proposed for election as hon. members. In proposing a vote of thanks to the chairman, the Master commented on his regular attendance at the meetings, which he considered a shining example worthy of record.

FATALITY TO BEDWAS RINGER. A COLLIERY ACCIDENT.

We regret to announce the death of a most respected member of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, Mr. Geo. H. Martin, of Bedwas, who was killed on Sunday, May 18th, 1930, whilst following his employment at Bedwas Colliery. He fell about 25 feet from a ladder and was killed instantly.

He was laid to rest on Thursday May 22nd, at Bedwas Parish Churchyard, and after the funeral the bells were rung half-muffled in Grandsire and Stedman Doubles by the following: Geo. Cooke, W. Pike, T. Jones, A. Addicott, T. Love, Caerphilly, W. Hurford, Bedwas, A. E. Slatter, Machen. A peal could not be attempted owing to the bad state of the bell frame. A wreath was sent from the members of the Caerphilly tower.

Mr. Martin was greatly respected by all who came in contact with him. He was a member of the association for about twelve years, and had rung about half a dozen peals in the four standard methods. He was always willing to lend a helping hand to beginners, and will be greatly missed by the Caerphilly band, as he was a regular ringer there on practice nights. He was master of the association for the year 1929.

To his sorrowing widow, sons and daughter the members of the association tender their deepest sympathy.

PRESENTATION AT MYTHOLMROYD.

The ringers of St. Michael's Church, Mytholmroyd, Yorks, have presented Mr. John Wilcock, one of their members, with a suitably inscribed ringer's badge in recognition of his 55 years' association with ringing in the tower. The presentation was made on Ascension Day at a gathering in the belfry, by Mr. W. Carter, and the Vicar expressed the thanks of the church and himself to Mr. Wilcock for his loyal service. The gift was suitably acknowledged by Mr. Wilcock.

TWENTY-SIX SURPRISE METHOD PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May we tender heartiest congratulations to the Lamberhurst band? Their peal in 26 Spliced Surprise Minor methods is a splendid performance, which needs to be attempted to be fully appreciated. It is a record fully worthy of its 'record' in your 'one thousandth.'—Yours sincerely,

GEO. DAWSON,

Hon. Secretary,

St. John-the-Baptist Association.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A LONG-SERVICE BAND STILL UNAFFILIATED.

A very enjoyable meeting of the North-Western Division was held at Radwinter on May 17th. Members and visitors arrived from Harlow, Potter's Street, Matching, Nazcing, Stansted, Bishop's Stortford, Roydon, Trumpington, Saffron Walden, Finchingfield, Ickleton, Sawston, Stapleford, Melbourn, Braintree, Springfield, Long Melford and Sudbury. The bells were rung to various methods during the afternoon. Mr. G. Dent took control of the belfry and saw that everyone had a pull set to his or her particularly desired method.

A service was held in the church at 5 p.m., and a very substantial tea was afterwards served to 37 at the nearby Red Lion Hotel.

Following tea, a brief business meeting ensued, Mr. G. Dent being in the chair.

The following meetings were announced: Dunmow on Wednesday, June 4th; a joint meeting with the Ely Association at Ickleton on Saturday, June 21st; and at Hatfield, Broad Oak, on some Saturday in August.

Mr. L. Peacock, of Matching, was accepted as a ringing member.

Mr. C. H. Howard moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar, to the organist and especially to the blower (the reason he emphasised the blower being that the office was a most important one, and the official a most important person, and not being seen he did not always receive the credit due to him).—The Vicar, Rev. Whitworth, thanked Mr. Howard. He was more than pleased to welcome all ringers. His local band (seven of whom have been ringing for over thirty years and one for fifty years) were not members of the association, and he hoped they would be induced to join. The vote of thanks he would convey to the organist, and would be sure to express to the blower the appreciation of the meeting. This latter person was one of his Scouts, aged 12, and would think himself a more important person than ever—Ringing was continued during the evening.

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL, 1130-1930.

On Sunday, May 4th, at St. Leonard's Church, Hythe, Kent, to commemorate the dedication of Canterbury Cathedral, May 4th, 1130, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins., for morning service: W. Bidnell 1, W. Fright 2, R. J. Birch 3, W. J. Bidnell (first quarter-peal of Stedman) 4, W. Binfield, Folkestone, 5, A. Amos 6, S. A. Gower 7, W. J. Prebble 8. And for evening service, to coincide with the 800 years, a touch of 800 Bob Major in 32 mins.: W. J. Prebble 1, A. Wratten 2, R. J. Birch 3, W. J. Bidnell 4, W. Fright 5, A. Amos (first touch of Bob Major) 6, W. Bidnell 7, S. A. Gower 8. Both conducted by S. A. Gower.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Owing to the lamented death of the Vicar of Thames Ditton, the meeting of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, which was to have been held at Thames Ditton to-morrow, has been cancelled.

We understand that only one nomination for president of the Central Council has been sent in, and that is Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, who has been proposed by the retiring president (Canon Coleridge) and seconded by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

Members of the Central Council who attend next Tuesday's meeting would do well to take with them their copy of 'The Ringing World' for October 18th, 1929 (No. 969). They may need it when item No. 11 on the agenda is reached.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. are to instal a new peal of 12 bells, tenor 12½ cwt., at Frimley Parish Church, Surrey, but unfortunately the bells are not to be hung for ringing in full swing—they are to be played from a keyboard.

The new peal of eight bells which is to be dedicated at West-houghton Parish Church, Lancs, on Saturday next, June 7th, at 3 p.m., was cast by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and Lancashire will thus have yet another of those fine and melodious rings which are the product of the Loughborough Foundry.

'A Short History of Bells,' the first instalment of which appeared in the May number, is being written for 'The Accessory' (a monthly trade journal for the Radio and allied industries), by Mr. J. E. Nichols, of Stamford, author of 'Bells Through the Ages.' Mr. Nichols has also in hand a short series, entitled 'Britain's Bell Foundries,' which is to appear in 'The Metal Industry.'

To-day is the 38th anniversary of the 18,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major rung, in 10 hrs. 32 mins., at Debenham, Suffolk.

That number—it has previously been rung in the Kent Variation—was the longest peal of Treble Bob until June 8th, 1906, when 16,880 was rung at Mottram, Cheshire. This longer length, however, was rung on lighter bells, and occupied the shorter time of 9 hrs. 40 mins.

It is 80 years ago next Monday that the first peal was rung in America. It was a landmark in ringing history. The peal was Holt's ten-part and was rung at Christ Church, Philadelphia, on Sunday, June 9th, 1850.

A party of ringers was in the States on a handbell music ringing tour, and finding two or three other English ringers living in America they made up their band: T. H. Lesage 1, C. Rahill 2, F. (i) Wada 3, H. W. Haley (conductor) 4, J. Hewett 5, W. Lobb 6, E. Sawyer 7, R. Dodd and J. Davey 8. Dodd, who was a one-legged man, rang the tenor for 2 hrs. 15 mins., when he handed it over to Davey.

RINGING PAPERS FOR MORE THAN 60 YEARS.

Mr. T. E. Slater, of Glemsford, in congratulating 'The Ringing World' upon reaching its one thousandth number, informs us that he has in his possession a thousand numbers each of 'Church Bells,' the first issue of which is dated New Year's Eve, 1871, and 'Bell News.'

Before 'Church Bells' appeared, his father, Samuel Slater, used to take 'Bell's Life,' cut out the portions relating to ringing and paste them into a pocket book.

How many instances, asks Mr. Slater, are there of a father and son taking a ringing paper without a break for so long?

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

GRANT TOWARDS A PEAL BOARD.

A very successful meeting of the Southern Branch of the Lincolnshire Diocesan Guild was held at West Deeping on Saturday, about 40 ringers being present from Peterborough, Bourne, Spalding, Stamford, Surfleet, Edenham, Rippingale, Morton, Folkingham, Billingborough, Wymondham, Edenmonthorpe, South Norwood, Market Deeping, Deeping St. James, Deeping St. Nicholas and the local band. The musical and good-going peal of six were available during the afternoon and evening, and a variety of both Surprise and Plain methods were brought round.

The Rev. G. Dudley, Rector of West Deeping, conducted the service and gave a helpful address to the members. Tea was served in the schoolroom, thirty sitting down, and was followed by the business meeting, with the Rev. H. Law James (Master of the Guild) presiding. The Rev. G. Dudley, Rector of West Deeping, and Rev. H. Williams, Rector of Rippingale, were unanimously elected hon. members of the branch. Nine performing members and two non-resident life members were also elected.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Billingborough. It was thought by the members present that a peal board should be erected in West Deeping Church, recording the 10,080 changes of Minor in 14 methods, rung there in 1927. Subsequently it was agreed upon that a grant of £2 from the branch funds be made towards the erection of a peal board.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Law James for presiding at the meeting, and to the Rector of West Deeping for the use of the bells and the service, to the organist and to those who had made such excellent arrangements for the tea. Further ringing was continued until 9 p.m., when a most successful meeting concluded.

THE BELLS OF ARKLOW.

Many ringing visitors to Ireland have made a pilgrimage to Arklow, Co. Wicklow, where, in the sylvan surroundings of a beautiful park, the fifth Earl of Carysfort erected the beautiful Protestant church dedicated to St. Saviour, and presented it to the parish of Arklow in the year 1899. The handsome building was erected at a cost of some £40,000, and Earl Carysfort installed in the lofty tower a fine peal of eight bells cast at the Loughborough Foundry.

It was to this church that the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook went as instructor to a young band, and here he rang on more than one occasion two bells to a peal.

Next Monday the Irish Association will visit Arklow for their annual meeting. The first occasion on which the association went there for its annual gathering was in 1901, when the late Earl, the donor of the bells, was himself present and presided over the gathering, which was attended by the late Mr. R. R. Cherry, K.C., who afterwards became Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, and several English ringers, who at that time were touring in Ireland.

ST. SAVIOUR'S CHURCH, ARKLOW.

The bells, which have a tenor of 22 cwt. 2 qr. 19 lb. in E, and a total weight of 88 cwt. 8 lb., bear the following inscriptions:—

- No. 2.—Theodosia Gertrude Baillie. Born January 10th, 1833. Donor, William, 5th Earl of Carysfort.

- No. 8.—Francis Proby. Born August 3rd, 1819. Died May 15th, 1863. Donor, William, 5th Earl of Carysfort.

On each of the eight bells is also the inscription: 'John Taylor, of Loughborough. Me fecit 1898.'

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

THE QUESTION OF REAFFILIATION WITH CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual general meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association took place at Lydney, Glos, on Saturday, May 31st. There was an attendance of about 75. The hon. secretary and hon. treasurer gave reports of an excellent year's work.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted on the motion of Mr. Dyson (Tewkesbury), seconded by Mr. Thomas (Forest): 'That this meeting strongly supports the resolution circulated by the executive committee to all branches and accepted by them with a very large majority, and in addition proposes that a small sub-committee be formed to approach the Central Council in due course for re-affiliation in accordance with the resolution. Furthermore, the sub-committee be asked to prepare recommendations and report to executive, management and general meetings for discussion and decision.'

This means that the association will reaffiliate to the Central Council as soon as the recommendations printed in 'The Ringing World,' October 18th, 1929 (No. 969, page 665), are placed upon the official agenda of the Central Council in strict accordance with the rules of the Central Council. It was accepted that, although an item appears in a belated agenda, it would not be discussed by the Central Council according to their rules, not even under Rule 9, as this question is one affecting the rules.

A committee was formed to draw up regulations for future affiliation, and to decide how far the association should go in questions of finance and accepting rules and decisions of the Council in future.

The following alteration to Rule 5 was carried unanimously, on the motion of Mr. A. Wright (Stroud), seconded by Mr. T. Baldwin (Gloucester):—

'Rule 5.—That branches of the association shall be established in suitable areas and shall consist of one or more rural deaneries, members of which shall elect their own chairman and secretary, and be conducted in accordance with the rules set out under "Rules for Local Branches." The executive committee may decide to transfer a tower from one branch to another, but their action must be approved at the following general meeting.'

The following resolution to alter Rule 15 was then discussed:—

'That any alterations in, or additions to, the above rules shall only be made at an annual or special meeting. Not less than two months' notice must be given of any proposed alteration, addition or deletion to any of the above rules, or part thereof. If, in the opinion of the management or executive committee, such alteration, addition or deletion is of vital importance, the hon. secretary shall be requested to obtain a ballot throughout the branches upon such a point. (The ballot to be expedited so that returns shall be ready for presentation to the duly convened general or special meeting for confirmation.)'

This was proposed by Mr. Hopper (Swindon) and seconded by Mr. Jeffries (Bristol).

A suggested amendment was made following a letter read from Rev. C. D. P. Davies, that if less than 150 members attended the general meeting then all business carried out by them should be ratified by the branches. It was announced that 75 per cent. of the associations adopted the rule as it stood at present, and it was felt that this was sufficient guidance, and the resolution was therefore rejected by unanimous vote, consequently Rule 15 stands as before.

Mr. J. Gould and Mr. W. Lansdown were elected as vice-presidents, and Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Rev. Thorold, Rev. E. J. Phillips, Mr. F. K. Howell and Mr. Hale were re-elected as vice-presidents. The Master (Rev. E. S. Saleby) was re-elected, as were all the other officials.

It was decided to hold the annual meetings in future by rotation in each branch area. The next annual meeting will take place at Cheltenham on Easter Monday, April 3rd, 1931.

A vote of thanks to Rev. Jones, Vicar of Lydney, was warmly accorded, whilst a message from the chairman of the branch, Mr. Dewdney, extended the welcome of Lydney to the association, even though (as he humorously put it) it was in the absence of a Mayor.

An excellent meat tea at the Feathers Hotel concluded the meeting, and ringers (who had time before their trains) had a good ring on the peal of eight at St. Mary's Church.

DEATH OF MR. F. W. BOXELL, WYCOMBE.

The High Wycombe belfry has sustained a loss in the death of Mr. Frank William Boxell, who passed away on Empire Day at the age of 47. Mr. Boxell had been indifferent health for a long time, but early in the year his illness took a serious turn and he gradually grew worse, complications arising which caused his death despite medical skill and careful nursing.

Mr. Boxell had been a member of the Wycombe belfry for many years, and he had rung a good number of peals.

At the funeral at the Parish Church, on Wednesday of last week, handbells were rung by Messrs. J. W. Wilkins, F. Hayes, F. Boreham and F. D. Boreham as the mourners entered the church, and again at the graveside. On the Sunday evening after his death, 1,174 Stedman Cinques (conducted by F. Hayes) was rung on the muffled bells, and on the evening of the funeral the bells were again rung muffled.

FOUNDATIONS OF THE OXFORD GUILD. JUBILEE OF SONNING DEANERY BRANCH. ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING AT WOKINGHAM.

From 1880 to 1930 is a far cry, but both these dates were happily linked together at the jubilee celebration of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild in St. Paul's Parish Church, Wokingham, on Empire Day, Saturday, May 24th, when veterans of the first committee, with their successors through the years down to the juniors of the present time, united in union and reunion. The event follows closely on the jubilee of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch.

The Sonning Deanery Society was founded in 1880 with Mr. J. Walter, M.P. (of 'The Times') as president, Rev. R. H. Hart Davis, who afterwards for so many years did magnificent work for the Oxford Guild in various offices, as treasurer, and the Rev. J. F. Llewellyn, hon. secretary. The first towers to join were Arborfield, Sonning, Wargrave and All Saints' and St. Paul's, Wokingham. In 1881 the society became affiliated to the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which was founded in that year and became known as the Sonning Deanery Branch. For ten years the chairman was the Rev. Dolben Paul. From 1901 to 1924 the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis filled the office except from 1908-10, when the Rev. F. E. Robinson was chairman and Mr. Hart Davis vice-chairman. Canon Coleridge succeeded Mr. Davis in 1924, so that from 1881 the branch has had only four chairmen. It has been equally fortunate in its secretaries, of which it has had only five, among them the Rev. E. E. Broome, who filled the office from 1892 to 1918.

The feature of the jubilee celebration was a thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Parish Church, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. M. Walter (a son of the first president), and was well attended. Mr. A. H. Lusty, A.R.C.O., A.T.C.L., the organist, played suitable voluntaries and led the singing with the organ. The National Anthem was sung, it being Empire Day, then the hymn, 'Bright the vision that delighted,' the massed voices combining with fine effect, as they did in the Creed which followed. Psalm 150 was then chanted, after which the Rev. A. F. Sheffield read the lesson from Hebrews xiii. 7-21. After several prayers, the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God Who livest,' was rendered with spirit and fervour.

The Ven. Archdeacon of Berkshire, the Rev. R. Wickham Legg, gave a very fine address from the pulpit. Dispensing with a formal text, he said the first thing they wanted was to 'strike' the note of thanksgiving for all those engaged in the life and work of their own Guild from the beginning, for those gone to their rest who had done so much for them, also thanksgiving that they were able to keep their jubilee. They could congratulate themselves upon the fact that the Sonning Deanery Society preceded the larger body, the Diocesan Guild. Usually the procedure was the reverse, the smaller body growing out of the larger. They were further to be congratulated that the jubilee was being kept at St. Paul's, Wokingham, the same parish where their society started. Also, they were glad to see amongst them their beloved chairman, Canon Coleridge, and they thanked God for his wonderful recovery from very serious and dangerous illness.

A TRAINING PLACE.

The Archdeacon proceeded to say that the belfry was first of all a training place. Many people imagined on seeing the ringers at work, so natural, simple and spontaneous their efforts seemed, that all was done quite easily and readily. But skill in bellringing depended upon several things—upon being thorough and punctual, and upon perseverance and practice—even drudgery, without which no good work was really done, as in the case of the artist's picture and the sermons of the clergy. So with ringing, skill depended on that wonderful essential quality of the Christian life—steady perseverance.

A remarkable thing about bellringers was the delightful and wonderful and extraordinary fellowship, camaraderie, existing among them not only from belfry to belfry, but the world over; and, further, that same and ever-growing sense of fellowship between the bellringer and the church, especially shown when by the Enabling Act ringers might choose as to whether they came under the rule of the incumbent or of the Parochial Council, they unanimously decided for the parson, which showed the increasing sympathy, fellowship and understanding between bellringers and clergy. Another very touching exhibition of brotherhood was the way in which older members of the belfry looked after the younger members they were training, not only in ringing but in character and self-control and self-discipline in order to make life worth living.

The Archdeacon referred to the brotherhood of the British Empire—a great responsibility—and added that they were members also of another brotherhood, greater than that of the British Empire—the Christian Church, spread all over the world with increasing power and dominion, in spirit and corporate worship with other Christian men and women, as well as in their own homes. Bellringers had often other duties on Sunday, and could not always attend the church service. Ringing meant often a severe amount of physical and bodily strain, but the ideal of the bellringer was not only to call others to worship God in His church, but to join in that worship with them.

'May God bless you in your work; may you realise more and more the dignity of it, that it is a real vocation and a real privilege to which you are called; that the service you can render to the glory of God and to His Church, and that by the ringing of the bells and your varied character and conduct in life you may be able to set forth the mystery of the love of God through Jesus Christ our Lord.'

The address made a deep impression upon the large congregation, and showed a remarkable insight and sympathy on the part of the speaker, who confessed himself as 'not having the pleasure and privilege' of being himself a ringer.

'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven,' sung to the fine setting by Goss, was the concluding hymn, sung while an offertory was taken (realising £1 16s. 3d.) for the Branch Restoration Fund. The Blessing was then pronounced by the Rector, the Rev. H. M. Walter, who had conducted the service. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Guild, was also present and robed.

LINKS WITH THE PAST.

A move was next made to St. Paul's Parish Room (in lieu of the Rectory garden as arranged). All enjoyed tea, by the kind invitation of the Rev. H. M. Walter and Mrs. Walter. Mrs. Houlton was in charge of the arrangements, and was assisted by the churchwardens and Mesdames Newberry, Hyde, Parker, Harwood and Miss Webb. Among the party which tightly filled the room were Canon G. F. Coleridge (chairman, Sonning Deanery Branch), the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), the Rev. H. M. Walter, the Rev. B. Long (Rural Dean), the Revs. J. A. Anderson, W. T. Stubbs, A. Manday, A. F. Sheffield, L. R. Majendie, Mr. W. J. Paice (hon. sec., Sonning Deanery Branch), also Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (secretary of the Guild), Mrs. Broome and Miss Roe, and Mr. A. Hill, of Wokingham, and Mr. T. Attwell, of Chiddingfold, late of Arborfield, the last-named the two survivors of the original committee, Mr. J. Fuller (Wargrave) and other old members, Mr. W. Houlton, and Dr. Joyce (Reading).

The Rector welcomed the company and regretted that the weather prevented the garden meeting as intended.

Canon Coleridge, after tea, presided at a very pleasant gathering. Mr. W. J. Paice (hon. secretary) announced apologies from Mr. John Walter, who said it would have been a very great pleasure to have attended, and who congratulated the branch upon its well-maintained tradition since it started under the presidency of his late father, and he wished the society every prosperity. Mr. Walter also sent a telegram of best wishes. Other apologies were from the Vicar of Wargrave, the Rector of Finchampstead, Mr. A. J. Mackey, J.P., Miss Wedderburn, Mr. A. Riddell, etc.

The Chairman referred to his 25 years' connection with the deanery. He had, he said, recently attended four ringing jubilees. He welcomed the two members present who were on the original committee of fifty years ago (applause)—Mr. Albert Hill and Mr. Tom Attwell, whom he asked to stand up, as younger members might not know them.

Both gentlemen then rose, amid great enthusiasm, and briefly expressed pleasure and thanks. Mr. Hill said he was pleased to be present and to see so many of the old faces of past years. He was pleased to see the younger generation growing up to fill their places (hear, hear), and to see the Guild advanced.

The Chairman proceeded to thank the Rev. H. M. Walter for the service in his church and for the tea. He referred to the presence of Mrs. Broome (whose husband, the late Rev. E. E. Broome, was for so many years the branch secretary), and Miss Roe, who had journeyed from Bath to be present (applause).

The Rev. H. M. Walter said it was a special pleasure to him to do what he had for the Guild, as he was so connected with their tradition. He remembered the late Rev. Dolben Paul, the Rector of Bearwood, and the two bells of that church. The influence of church bells was peculiarly touching—their very sound revived so many memories. This was undoubtedly a poignant source of grief to many in the unhappy country of Russia. He thanked them for their appreciation, and regretted that Mrs. Walter was unable to be present.

The Master of the Guild then thanked the Archdeacon for his address; the two Wokingham incumbents for the use of their bells that day; also the organist and the organ blower of St. Paul's for their services. They were fortunate as a branch to have two rings of eight bells and two Rectors who so cordially welcomed bellringers (hear, hear). The Master referred to a paper read by Rev. H. C. Sturges at the Ruri-decanal Chapter, which was productive of something really good and great. The Rev. R. H. Hart Davis took it up with a letter to the 'Reading Mercury,' and the result was the Sonning Deanery Society, followed by the Oxford Guild.

Mr. Fuller, of Wargrave, said the Master was a very old member, though not one of the first, and Mr. Wright, of Sonning, was not far behind. He was glad to see present so many links with the past, and also to see the ladies already mentioned.

CANON COLERIDGE'S RECOVERY.

The Rural Dean, the Rev. B. Long, then expressed pleasure at their chairman's recovery and return, at which they could express their delight more fully than in church (great applause). Canon Coleridge had done so much for bellringing that he had endeared himself to the heart of every bellringer. Almost his first afternoon after a long convalescence he spent with them. He hoped he would keep well for a long time (applause).

The Rural Dean then went fully into the records of the branch, which was founded on May 26th, 1880, with a committee of four clergy and two laymen. This took place at St. Paul's Parish Room, Wokingham, at the Terrace opposite where they were now assembled. In 1873, at All Saints', Wokingham, there was started the Society of Honorary Change Ringers to encourage change ringing. They started, first, with handbells in 1874. In 1876, those ringers went to Bristol, and the 'Bristol Mercury' accorded them high praise. Their Guild had done something to promote change ringing since the early days.

The Rural Dean proposed thanks to the ladies and helpers at the tea.

The Mayor of Wokingham, Alderman A. E. Priest, who was enthusiastically received, responding, asked to be allowed to speak not as Mayor but as one who, baptised, confirmed, and married at St. Paul's, Wokingham, was very much attached to that church and parish, and was also a churchwarden and secretary of the Parochial Council, etc. It was a real, deep pleasure to feel that, fifty years ago, such a society of bellringers was formed in the parish. He did not know much about bellringing, but one could serve their church in other ways. For thirty-nine years, from a boy, he had been connected with St. Paul's. He knew Mr. Hill and Mr. W. Houlton and many others. He had learnt from the Archdeacon's excellent address that, fortunately for the Parochial Council, it was not concerned with the bellringers; that was the Rector's duty (laughter). He wished the branch and the Guild the very best success (applause).

Mr. R. T. Hibbert, in a racy speech, said he hoped in a few years to become a 50 years' member of the Guild, and referred to the fact that this branch had been as well served by its officers as any branch in this or any other Guild, notably by their succession of secretaries—the Rev. E. E. Broome, Mr. F. Dentry and now by Mr. W. J. Paice (applause). He wished the branch success—it had not much to fear. Might they wipe out the marks of their predecessors in energy and campanology, in good living and churchmanship. 'I hope I will come to the centenary of this branch' (laughter and applause).

Mr. A. J. Wright also expressed his pleasure. The Sonning Branch was one of the most progressive in the whole Guild, spending its money well and wisely. He hoped that gathering would prove a great incentive to the 'young faces' present. He hoped they would see the next jubilee, more prosperous even than they were to-day (applause).

The Secretary then said the collection would give an impetus to their Restoration Fund now considerably depleted. He had tried his hardest to get many old members present. Those and the younger members together were tremendously inspiring, causing them to 'thank God and take fresh courage' (applause).

In concluding the assembly, the Chairman thanked Mr. Paice for his encouraging letters during his (the chairman's) recent illness. He thanked them all for their kind thought and congratulations.

Canon Coleridge then called attention to the 1,000th number of 'The Ringing World' with its deeply interesting articles. For upwards of nineteen years had that periodical been regularly and punctually delivered. One could not say too much in praise of the proprietor of that paper when considering how much ringers were indebted to him for the bond of union among them. That meeting would be reported in it.

At the chairman's suggestion, the meeting instructed the secretary to send a letter of congratulation to the editor of 'The Ringing World.'

The two town churches were kindly opened for ringing.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the North-Western District of the Surrey Association was held at St. Mary's, Ewell, on Saturday, when ringers attended from Banstead, Beddington, Chelsea, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Ewell, Hillingdon, Kensington, Merstham, Mitcham (SS. Peter and Paul's), and Streatham (St. Leonard's). Ringing began with Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and as numbers increased some good practice was obtained in various methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major. A short and enjoyable service was conducted by the Vicar, who welcomed the ringers to Ewell, and regretted very much he was unable to join them at tea. Tea was served in the Parish Hall and thoroughly enjoyed by a company of some 20 ringers.

A short business meeting of the usual routine nature was held after tea, the District Master (Mr. A. W. Clark) taking the chair.

Mr. H. Wills, of Croydon, spoke of the slackness all over the country of ringers notifying their intention of being present to tea at association meetings, and he thought all ringers ought to make it a point of honour to do this.—Mr. E. Reeve, of Chelsea, also spoke on this matter, and there was a short discussion, in the course of which various opinions were expressed.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service, the organist for playing at the service, and to Mr. Read for making all arrangements.—Mr. Read replied, and said he was always glad to do all he could when the association visited Ewell.

The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until nine o'clock, methods practised including London Surprise and Spliced Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.

DOUBLES AND MINOR.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

I imagine that those people who are asking for a new rule for peals on five and six bells think that it is quite an easy thing to draw one up. I have seen several attempts; I have yet to see one worth anything. Men know quite definitely certain things which they want to allow, or (and more usually) certain things which they want to disallow. But when they come to set their rule down in words it is ten to one that it will say something quite different from what they mean, and forbid what they want to allow, or allow what they want to forbid.

The new rule of the Midland Counties Association is interesting. The truth seems to be that there are certain influential members of that body who want to forbid the ringing of the Morris and Pitman arrangements of Grandsire Doubles and the Bankes James arrangement of Cambridge Minor. Instead of saying so straight out, they have produced this new rule. If that is the best that can be done, the Central Council needs no justification for leaving the question for the present an open one.

Were I an ordinary member of the association I should enter an objection to Mr. Willson's last peal of Treble Ten on the grounds that it does not comply with the new rule. As I am only a life member, I may be told that this is none of my business and be invited to keep my paws out of their platter. I must run the risk. The M.C.A. is one of our leading associations, and what they do cannot but affect us others. Besides, I rather enjoy giving Mr. Willson good advice. It costs me nothing, and makes me feel good, like when one gives a penny to a beggar in the street.

The rule says that 'on seven bells a peal must consist of not less than 5,040 true and complete changes.' When the old ringers talked about ringing a true and complete peal, they knew what they meant and said what they meant, and we know what they meant. But what, in the name of common sense, is a true and complete change? The statement is nonsense. The rule also allows you to add one 'shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions'; one of which (there are only two) is that it must not be less than 5,040 changes.

Then the splicing of odd and even bell changes is forbidden. You may not splice Doubles and Minor, or Triples and Major, or Caters and Royal. And pray, why not? Because, I presume, these gentlemen do not like it. I do not know that I, personally, have much use for this kind of splicing; but other people have rung it, and I cannot see why, if once you concede the principle of splicing you have any right to forbid a band to ring, say, spliced Grandsire Caters and Bob Royal.

It is proverbially unsafe to prophesy, but I think the tendency in the future will be rather to loosen the rigid rules which for a long time have controlled method ringing. Time was, and not so long ago, when you had a Plain Course built up in rigid fashion with a definite number of leads all alike, and you were allowed one sort of bob and one only. No deviation from this was permissible. There were reasons for this, and those reasons can never be set aside, but they may be applied to different circumstances. Splicing has given us a Plain Course quite different from the old sort of Plain Courses, and there seems no reason why further development should not take place on those lines. A method has been rung (at least in touches) where the tenor is alternatively a working bell and a cover. Why should such be forbidden? Or again, it is quite good practice to ring Bob Minor and every time 5.6 dodge at home to interpolate a six-score of Grandsire Doubles. No one would say that these things are likely to be very common, but they are very interesting as a variation of ordinary ringing. And if a band choose to ring them, why on earth should they not?

Of course, it is against the Grandsire Doubles and the Cambridge Minor compositions that the rule is really directed. I have already said a lot about them and need not repeat. But this I will say to the five and six bell ringers: 'If you find these compositions useful and want to ring them: if you would rather not be tied down to the monotony of the old restricted callings, or if you would rather ring Cambridge Minor with 5.6 the right way and not with a multitude of 6.5's—why, then, ring them? Don't let a lot of eight and ten bell ringers, who do not understand your needs, dictate to you and rob you of your rights. It is you that can settle this matter, not they.'

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

This year the half-yearly meeting of the Lancs Association was revived, the place chosen being Southport. As it was between seasons, the place was not overcrowded. The bells of Christ Church were at liberty from 12 noon, and were kept going until 8.30, except during the short service, at which the Rev. J. L. Coursey gave a helpful address. A tea was provided in the schools at the expense of the churchwardens, to which some 56 sat down.

Canon Elsee (president) thanked the donors, and was supported by Mr. G. R. Newton. The wardens replied, and the Vicar also said a few words of welcome, and hoped the ringers would come again.

As the tower and bells are small (tenor 10½ cwt.) the visitors could not all get into the belfry at once, so while some were ringing others went out to try and discover the sea, but it had gone out for the day and was not expected back before midnight, but, taking all things together, no one was sorry for going to Southport.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

The Central Council, as already announced, will meet at the Guard Room, at Lambeth Palace, London, at 11 a.m. on Tuesday.

In connection with the meeting the following arrangements have been made on behalf of members visiting London over the week-end, viz.:—

The headquarters will be at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C. Members may stay at this commodious and centrally situated hotel at the reduced rate of 7s. 6d., bed and full breakfast (please mention C.C.C.B.R.). All those present in London will please enter their names and addresses upon the Council's visitors' roll for mutual reference.

Ringling for Sunday morning and evening service will be arranged at St. Clement Danes, St. Andrew's, Holborn, and St. Lawrence Jewry, and at a 12-bell tower if sufficient names are previously given in.

Social meetings.—The Royal Cumberland Youths have kindly placed their room at the King of Denmark, Old Bailey, at the disposal of members on the evenings of Sunday and Monday at 7 p.m. On Tuesday a social will be held at Anderton's Hotel at 7.30 p.m.

The hon. secretary will be pleased to assemble a party at Anderton's at two o'clock Saturday for a visit to Westminster. On Sunday afternoon a visit will be arranged to inspect the Carter ringing machine at the Victoria and Albert Museum.

A CARILLON RECITAL.

In connection with the meeting of the Central Council in London this year, a special recital on the Wellington (New Zealand) War Memorial Carillon, now in Hyde Park, will be given by Mr. Clifford Ball (whose services have been lent by Messrs. Cadbury) and Mr. Stephen H. Wood, a change ringer, on Whit Monday, June 9th, at 6 p.m.

Mr. Ball will give specially selected items, to be announced later, and Mr. Wood will chime out the lowest diatonic ten bells to represent actual changes on a ringing peal of ten.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the founders of the bells, invite all ringers (who may be accompanied by a friend), whether members of the Central Council or not, to tea at 5 p.m. at The Ring Tea House, Hyde Park (admission by ticket only).

Will ringers desiring to attend the tea write to Mr. E. A. Young, 155, Rushey Green, Catford, London, S.E.6, so that their application arrives not later than to-morrow (Saturday) morning? Those whose names are on the list of applications will be able to obtain the tickets at the Carillon Tower, Hyde Park, between 3 and 5 p.m. on Whit Monday.

THE FIRST C.E.M.S. PEAL.

Several correspondents have written to point out that the peal at Earl Shilton recorded a fortnight ago was not the first rung by a band of members of the C.E.M.S.

Mr. E. H. Spice, of Tunstall, Kent, writes that the first was a peal of Minor (seven different 720's) rung at Tunstall on March 12th, 1912, conducted by Wm. Spice.

Mr. H. Sheppard, of Dudley, calls attention to a peal of Grand-airs Caterers at Dudley on September 23th, 1912, conducted by J. Goodman, jun., and Mr. A. Rowley, of Brierley, in addition to quoting particulars of this peal, gives details of a peal of Grandairs Triples at Tipton on December 23rd, 1912.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

AN APPEAL FOR 'YOUNG BLOOD.'

At Retford, on Saturday, May 24th, the North Notts Association held their 42nd annual meeting. It was attended by 50 members hailing from Anston, Barlborough, Bolsover, Cuckney, Edwinstowe, Gainsborough, Gamston, Laneham, Lincoln, Misterton, East Markham, Ordsall, East Retford, West Retford, Sutton-on-Trent, Shireoaks, and Treeton. The towers of East Retford, West Retford, and Ordsall were visited by ringers during the afternoon and evening, when some excellent touches were rung in various methods.

A service was held in East Retford Church at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the Vicar, Rev. A. Parkinson, and the Rev. R. V. Dodd, of Shireoaks, gave a most interesting address. Mr. H. Blagg, of Retford, kindly played the harmonium for this service.

After the members had partaken of a splendid tea, served by Messrs. Cook and Sons, of Carlegate, the Rev. A. Parkinson presided over the business meeting, supported by Mrs. A. E. Rowsell, Rev. R. V. Dodd, Rev. R. E. Rogerson, Mr. H. Haigh (hon. treasurer), Mr. H. Rooke (hon. cup secretary), Messrs. M. Revill and R. W. Stockdale (hon. general secretaries).

The balance sheet for 1929 was considered very satisfactory, as it showed a balance in the Worktop Savings Bank of £37 lls. 8d., and £4 9s. 11d. in the treasurer's hands, the gain on the year's working being £7 18s. 2d. This is a record, and the committee wish to thank everyone who has helped to secure this excellent result.

BELLS THAT ARE NOT RINGING.

The secretary's report for 1929 stated that the membership increased by 23, and all meetings were well attended, but the association needed more young blood to fill the positions in years to come held by the older members of to-day. In the matter of bell restoration, not much progress was made during the year, but Shireoaks and North Collingham had since made improvements. Harthill was doing no ringing, as the bells were in bad repair. One vice-president had been trying to persuade a parish to have their bells rehung, recast and made into a ring of six, but success had not yet attended his efforts. Whilst the progress of the association was gratifying to all, a considerable number of church bells were frequently only chimed, and some not rung at all; some were only able for Sunday service to ring rounds and a few call changes. It could hardly be said that the art of change ringing was making the progress desired. They all knew the patience and forbearance that were required, first in teaching learners how to ring rounds well, and afterwards in teaching them the art. When they got to this stage he should be glad if they would bear in mind that change ringing was never completely learnt, and that they would always welcome new conductors. By the time the next report was published everyone would like to see some towers, who have lately dropped out, back again in the ranks. He appealed to every ringer to help forward the association's objects and bring back the losses.

The officers were re-elected en bloc for 1930.

Mr. A. Johnson, in proposing that Shireoaks and North Collingham be granted £2 10s. towards their respective bell funds, said that the association was always pleased to help any church which was trying to obtain a better peal of bells, and in these days it was very difficult to raise the amounts required for the various restorations. He added that credit was due to these towers for what they had accomplished, and he hoped a few more churches would follow the example they had set.

The arrangements for the Crawford silver cup was an item of great interest. It was decided to hold it again at East Markham early in September, and the rules were altered so that the home team could compete, and that six-bell ringing should be handicapped a little.

Edwinstowe was proposed by Mr. H. Haigh and seconded by Mr. A. E. Midwinter as the place of the next meeting, and this was unanimously carried.

Mr. H. Haigh, of Worktop, for 17 years the hon. secretary, and now the hon. treasurer, was elected a vice-president, on the motion of Mr. H. Revill, seconded by Rev. A. Parkinson.

Mr. A. Johnson proposed a vote of thanks to all the officials for carrying out their duties so well during the past year. It was also resolved that a vote of thanks be accorded to 'The Ringing World,' 'The Newark Advertiser,' 'The Retford Times,' and 'The Worktop Guardian' for publishing the reports of the meetings of the year, and 'The Ringing World' was congratulated upon reaching its one thousandth number.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the incumbents and wardens of East Retford, West Retford and Ordsall, to Rev. V. Dodd, the Rev. A. Parkinson, Mr. H. Blagg, to the caterers and everyone who had made the day so enjoyable to all.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Thursday, May 29th, at St. John's Church, Blackpool, 650 Grandairs Triples in 25 mins.: W. Wilde 1, W. K. Bovill 2, W. Strickland 3, J. Parker 4, L. Green 5, F. Foster 6, F. Greenwood (conductor) 7, G. Maries 8. Rung after an attempt for a quarter-peal of Stedman had come to grief, with bells half-muffled as a token of respect to William Birks, a ringer at the above church for the past six years, who was interred the day previous at Pudsey, Yorks.

DEDICATION OF GREAT BROMLEY CHURCH BELLS. AN ESSEX SIX RESTORED.

For many years the six bells in Great Bromley Church tower, Essex, have been in a bad state although ringable; in fact, it could hardly have been expected that learners would stay long. Early last year the churchwardens were approached, and one of them, the late Mr. Percy Crossman, of Great Bromley Hall, who had already done much in the church and village, agreed to bear the expense of the complete rehanging. Unfortunately, he was taken ill and passed away before the work could be started, but it was his wish that the work should go on, and as the tenor was cracked it was decided to recast it. However, a faculty could not be obtained for this without considerable restrictions, so the widow decided to have a new tenor cast and hang the old one for tolling only.

On Wednesday, May 28th, a service was held to rededicate the bells, which have been rehung on steel and iron frames with modern fittings and plain bearings. The new tenor, which weighs 15 cwt., and is in the key of E, bears the inscription: 'Alfred Bowell, Founder, Ipswich. The gift of Percy Crossman of this parish, 1929. God bless all whom we call.'

Owing to the very inconvenient hour of the service (3.30 p.m.), not many ringers could be present, but after tea several came from surrounding districts. Among those at the service were some from Great Bentley, Thorington, Thorpe, Mistley, Ardleigh, Ipswich, Edmonton, Clacton and Tendring. After service, two 720's of Oxford Treble Bob were rung, one by P. Almond (Great Bentley) 1, W. J. Hazell (Edmonton) 2, S. Davey (Ardleigh) 3, Jos. Bowell (Great Bromley) 4, G. A. Andrews (Thorington) 5, W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley) (conductor) 6; the other by Roy Woodard (Ipswich), 1 E. Bloomfield (Ipswich) 2, J. Bowell 3, S. Davey 4, Geo. Moss (Mistley) 5, Fredk. Bowell (Ipswich) (conductor) 6.

The entire work has been carried out by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, who also tuned the whole peal, which was much needed, and everyone agreed that an excellent job had been made both in tone and 'go.' It is hoped to hold a meeting there shortly, when a good attendance is desired to revive local interest in ringing.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD. DISAPPOINTMENT TURNED TO PLEASURE.

Members who journeyed to the small, picturesque village of Bickenhill on Saturday, May 31st, appeared doomed to be disappointed, as the bells of the old Norman church could not be rung owing to illness near. However, the reception accorded by the Vicar (Rev. G. Hood) turned a disappointing experience into an enjoyable one. The Vicar escorted the members round the church, pointing out interesting architectural features, particularly the Norman pillars and arches and the old Norman doorway. An object of interest was a framed list of Vicars of Bickenhill from 1320, extending in unbroken sequence up to the present time. The names of Vicars before that date are not known. On the south side of the tower, which is topped by a spire, is an old sundial in addition to a clock which has only one hand, the hour hand.

A splendid tea was partaken of at the Vicarage, kindly prepared by ladies of the parish. The Vicar expressed his delight in welcoming the Guild to Bickenhill, and remarked that what struck him most was the good fellowship which existed among ringers and the philosophy they showed in overcoming disappointments. When the Guild paid its next visit to Bickenhill, which he hoped would be in the not too distant future, the Vicar said he would promise the use of the bells, as anyone who was ill would be taken to the workhouse, even if he were the sick person.

Mr. J. H. W. White (Coventry) thanked the Rev. G. Hood for the great interest he had taken in the visit of the Guild and for his hospitality at the tea. He had great pleasure in proposing the Vicar as an honorary member of the Guild. The ladies, too, were thanked for arranging the tea and for looking after the comfort of the ringers.

Permission had been obtained to ring the bells of Hampton-in-Arden Church during the evening, and thither the members wended their way, some on wheels by road, others on foot across the fields—'a "country" mile and a half,' as some remarked upon arrival at Hampton. For about an hour and a half the six bells were kept going to various methods, including Grandsire, Stedman, Kent, Double Court, Cambridge and London.

Thus ended a most enjoyable meeting, which proved that, as far as Guild meetings are concerned, disappointments can be turned into pleasures by the reception accorded by the incumbent.

TO LEAD, OR NOT TO LEAD?

The article which appeared in this column a month ago, describing the action of the Midland Counties Association, in laying down its own rules as to what, in future, the association will record as a peal, as a 'lead and a challenge' to the Central Council, elicited two replies which we regret it has not been possible to publish until to-day. They are both arguments justifying the attitude of the Council in adopting a 'do nothing' policy on this question of what should constitute a peal. Obviously, of course, we do not agree that it is wise of the Council to refuse to express an opinion on this subject even though it be a thorny one. If the Council had never laid down any rules governing peals it might have been a different matter. But almost from the days of its inception the Council has, and rightly so, concerned itself with the standard that should be required for peals. It has not hesitated from time to time to lay down rules, and these rules are to be found in the official "Decisions" under the heading of 'Conditions required for peals.'

Our point is that the Council, having set up a standard—a minimum standard if you like—should not be afraid to amend these conditions as and when required. Our previous article did not attempt to suggest what those conditions should be, but to emphasise the need that the Council should be the body which should define the regulations and thus lead the Exercise, instead of being led by it. It will be far easier for the Council to retain the lead which it has set in the past than to regain it, once the associations have established their own standards for peals—standards which might possibly be extremely difficult to reconcile.

Unless the standard of peals is to fall, there can surely be no objection to specifying a minimum, but once lose the hold upon a standard of some kind and chaos may creep in which will undo all the good which forty years of work has done in the way of creating uniformity in the Exercise. If the Council is to wait indefinitely upon circumstance; if it is to wait to see which way the cat jumps, then it cannot be said that the Council is any longer the head of the Exercise, and the existing 'conditions' required for peals would be better expunged from the 'Decisions.' Either they exist to unify practice or they are useless; and unless the Council is prepared to move with the times and amend its rules where necessary and reinforce its own definitions when called upon to express an opinion, its operations lose the force of authority and the Council will lose prestige among those who only have a superficial knowledge of its work but look to it to give a lead to the Exercise.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Grimsby on Saturday, May 31st, and, taking into consideration that this is one of the extreme districts of the branch, there was a good attendance. Among the towers represented were Bigby, Branston, Burton-on-Stather, Elsham, Gainsborough, Grimsby (St. Andrew's and St. James), Kellingholme, Lincoln (Cathedral), Scotcherne, Scunthorpe, Thornton Curtis and Ulceby. The Rev. J. Barber, of Great Contes, and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and Mr. G. Ladd, from the Elloe Deaneries Branch, were also present. The two rings of eight were available, and kept going to various methods during the afternoon and evening, rounds being also rung for the learners. The bells at St. James' were rung half-muffled as a tribute of respect to the late Archbishop Lord Davidson.

Service was held in the Parish Church, the Vicar, Rev. H. R. Burrows, officiating and giving an appropriate address. Mr. H. Rushby, one of the local ringers, presided at the organ, and the singing was led in a most efficient manner by the choirboys. Mr. F. F. Linley, president of the Northern Branch, read the lesson. This was followed by a course of Grandsire Caters in the chancel by the following: Mrs. R. Richardson 1-2, F. S. W. Butler 3-4, R. Richardson 5-6, H. Marcon 7-8, C. W. Taylor 9-10.

Fifty-eight members and friends afterwards sat down to an excellent tea in the Church House.

Mr. Linley presided at the business meeting, and was supported by the Vicar of Grimsby, Rev. H. T. Parry, president of the Grimsby District, and members of the committee.

An apology for absence and good wishes for a successful meeting was read from Mr. J. A. Freeman, Northern Branch Ringing Master. The balance sheet and secretary's report for 1929 were passed, and the whole of the officers reappointed. Two new members, Messrs. G. Atkinson and H. Cawkwell, Thornton Curtis, were elected. The arrangements for the next annual meeting were left in the hands of the general secretary.

A suggestion was made that the number of bells, with name of correspondent for each tower, should be inserted in the next report.—It was decided to leave this matter in the hands of the committee.

In a very witty and humorous manner the Rev. Burrows gave the branch a most hearty welcome to Grimsby.

Mr. Linley proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the church authorities for the use of the bells, the organist and choirboys for their services, the caterers for the splendid tea provided, and all others who had in any way helped toward making the meeting such a success, at the same time making reference to the excellent manner in which the boys of the choir had rendered their assistance at the service.—This was carried and responded to by the Vicar, who alluded to the loyalty of his ringers as churchworkers.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the business, after which further ringing took place, and a very successful meeting brought to a finish.

ALDERSHOT'S ACTIVITIES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Aldershot may well be called a nursery for ringers.

Four years ago the Aldershot band was broken up, leaving only four of the old band to carry on. These, instead of taking things lying down, looked round and roped in three choirboys and three girls whose ages then averaged 13 years, all of whom have since rung a quarter-peal. To-day the Aldershot band is 17 strong, and is, I think, one of the youngest and keenest bands in the country.

It is not at all a strange sight to see as many as thirty at one of their Friday night practices. Everyone gets some ringing, some in rounds and some being coached in changes, according to the stage they have reached.

No meeting in the district is complete without the Aldershot band, who make their presence felt, especially at tea time.

How many other towers are there, I wonder, who devote three-quarters of their practice night to helping learners from other towers, and so to helping change ringing along in this country?—Yours faithfully,

E. BRAGG,

Grenadier Guards.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.To the Editor.

Sir,—It is good to sit and think. I do sometimes, and perhaps my subject may be the leading article in 'The Ringing World.' Week by week we get a topic to consider, and without doubt every single article interests some members. It would be absurd to state that the whole Exercise reads, marks, learns and inwardly digests every one, and it is, therefore, all to the good that we have such a diversity of topics. Sometimes it is highbrow for those that can appreciate it. More often it is a plain-spoken piece of advice, or even, perhaps, a rap over the knuckles of more or less severity, a gentle word of warning or a generous word of praise. I repeat, it is good to sit and think. It is, however, better to take action.

Consider for a while the first of the second thousand, 'Peals and Peal Ringers.' Here is food for thought to begin with. What does it show? Less ringers? Less enthusiasm? Less opportunities? Apparently less something. Should we be content with less? It is good to sit and think. It is better to take action. What action? I would suggest that the object to attain should be to change the degree of comparison from less to more in each of the above. That will be something to attain. However, as everyone knows, this will mean spade work for some. How many? Why not all. Many hands make light work. It is good to sit and think. It is, however, better to take action.—Yours sincerely,

'LAYMAN.'SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very successful quarterly meeting was held at Warnham on Saturday, May 31st, when about 40 members and friends attended from Billingshurst, Heene, Guildford, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Itchingfield, Horsham, Kirdford, Lindfield, West Grinstead, West Tarring, Rudgwick, Warnham, and Dr. E. L. Taylor, of Sevenoaks. The bells were available from two o'clock onwards, and were kept busy in the standard methods until five o'clock, when the company took tea at the good old Sussex Oak Inn.

At the business meeting, with Dr. Taylor in the chair, the following non-resident members were elected: Mr. C. Geary (Nottingham) and Mr. H. E. Audsley (Crayford).

Votes of thanks to Dr. Taylor for presiding, and to the Rector for granting the use of the bells, concluded this part of the programme, and another visit was paid to the belfry for further ringing.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.LUTON DISTRICT.

A very pleasant and successful meeting of the above district was held on Saturday week at Westoning and Flitwick, about 20 members being present from Barton, Silsoe, Luton, Woburn, Kempston, Dunstable and Totternhoe.

Ringing took place during the afternoon at Westoning, where hangs a good peal of six, with a tenor about 13 cwt., in good-going order, and of good tone, in spite of being a mixed lot. The treble and fourth are by Mears, second and fifth by Chandler, third and tenor by Russell. These bells were kept busy during the afternoon in methods ranging from London Surprise to Grandsire Doubles.

The tea and business meeting were held in the Bell Inn, the chair being taken by Mr. A. King, vice-president. Five new members were elected, and Woburn selected for the next meeting on June 28th.

After tea, Flitwick was the venue. This was the first time the association had ever paid a visit to this tower, where there is a very ancient ring of five bells: The treble, 1637, Taylor, recast 1867; 2nd, John Clarke, 1608; 3rd, John Keene, 1631; 4th and 5th, Miles Graye, 1653 and 1654: rehung by Bowell some years ago. Members were delighted to find the tower in first-class condition, it being, from bell chamber to floor, in a well-cared-for condition, and the bells going like tops. Grandsire, Stedman, and Plain Bob Doubles were rung. Members thoroughly enjoyed their first visit to this church.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN OLDHAM RINGER.

On Sunday night, just before starting to ring for evening service, Mr. Isaac ('Ike') Schofield, aged 68, of St. Mark's, Glodwick, passed away very suddenly in the tower.

Mr. Schofield was secretary to the Oldham and District Society, and his loss will be greatly felt. He was never tired of giving of his service to further the cause of ringing, especially to the young ringers. Mr. Schofield had rung a good many peals in different methods. He was one of the band that rung the record peals of Kent Trehle Bob at Mottram about 26 years ago. He was a member of the Lanes Association, Chester Guild, Ashton-under-Lyne Society and the Oldham and District Society. He was well known and respected in all these associations. Mr. Schofield lost his wife 14 months ago and his son last Christmas. He leaves behind three daughters to mourn their loss.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. installed a peal of eight at Great Baddow in 1924. Since that time they have rehung the peal of eight at Great Dunmow, augmented the peal at Great Bardfield to complete the octave, and the peal at Great Easton to six, and now the Loughborough Company is to instal another new peal in Essex. This is to be a fine new ring of eight, tenor approximately 15 cwt., at Great Holland Parish Church.

The first peal at Winchester Cathedral was rung forty-five years ago to-day, when Mr. F. G. Dawe conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples and Murray Hayes performed a herculean task in keeping the tenor going.

Jasper Snowden was born at Ilkley on June 18th, 1844.

A DEAN'S APPEAL FOR MORE RINGERS.

At the annual conference of the Rochester Diocesan C.E.M.S., held at Chatham on Saturday week, the Dean (the Ven. Donald Talbot) appealed for more bellringers.

'I am informed,' he said, 'the it is becoming increasingly difficult to enrol young men as bellringers. This is a great pity, because bellringing is one of our proud national possessions. You won't find it anywhere else in the world. I appeal to you members of the society to interest yourselves in it so that this possession will not be lost. Bellringers are as important in the worship of God as the men in surplices. The ringing of church bells is worship.'

THE PEAL AT PORTSMOUTH.

The peal of Double Norwich Major rung at St. Mary's, Portsea, and recorded elsewhere in these columns, was rung at the special request of the Vicar (Rev. G. C. L. Lunt) to welcome past members of the clergy staff, who were assembling during the Whitsuntide for a great reunion at Portsmouth. The Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang), a former Vicar of Portsea, was unable, owing to medical advice, to preside over this gathering of nearly seventy clergy, but those present during the week-end included the Bishops of Southwark and Kingston, Bishop Norman Lang, Canon Southam (Chester Cathedral), the Vicar of Fareham, the Rector of Beaconsfield and several other prominent clergy. The company were also favoured by the presence of the Bishops of Winchester, Portsmouth and Southampton.

VISIT TO OXFORDSHIRE TOWERS.

The Heyford bellringers had a most enjoyable outing on Saturday, May 3rd, when they journeyed by bus through Wootton, Bladon and Cassington, indulging in their art in each village; then on through Eynsham to Oxford, where they enjoyed a good tea, and rang at St. Giles' Church before leaving. They reached Islip at six o'clock, and rang there, and then at Ambrosden, Launton and Middleton Stoney, and returned home at 9.45. It is hoped this outing will be the forerunner of others. The arrangements were in the hands of the captain, Mr. F. Pritchett. The ringers wish to thank all those who so kindly helped, and the various incumbents for the use of the bells.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL. TUESDAY'S MEETING AT LAMBETH. ELECTION OF A NEW PRESIDENT.

The first session of the newly-elected Council was held by the courtesy of his grace the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Guard Room at Lambeth Palace, London, on Tuesday, where there was an attendance of nearly one hundred members.

The chair was taken at the outset by the retiring president, Canon G. F. Coleridge, and the Council was welcomed on behalf of the Archbishop (who is now away by the sea recuperating his health in view of the forthcoming Lambeth Conference) by his secretary, the Rev. A. Sargent.

Canon Coleridge then informed the Council that he felt compelled through advancing years to retire from the office of president, and as there had been only one nomination for the office he declared Mr. E. H. Lewis, who had for many years been a representative of Cambridge University Guild, elected.

Mr. Lewis took the presidential chair amid applause, and cheers having been given for Canon Coleridge, on the call of the hon. secretary, Mr. Lewis acknowledged the honour done him by his election to the office.

MR. E. A. YOUNG.

Re-elected Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of the Council.

No nominations having been received for the offices of hon. secretary and treasurer and of librarian, Mr. E. Alexr. Young and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn were re-elected to the respective offices. Mr. Young stated that during his contemplated absence from England Mr. W. A. Cave had kindly undertaken to carry on the work.

The Hon. Secretary and Treasurer presented the accounts, a summary of which has already been published, and these, having been audited, were adopted, as were also the accounts of the librarian, who presented the following report:—

ONLY MODERATE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS.

The hon. librarian's report for the year ending April 30th, 1930, was as follows: This has been an uneventful year, both for the library and the sale of publications. Few books have been borrowed, and the only addition to the library has been the peal composition books of the late Mr. John Carter, which were presented by the hon. secretary. As to the publications, shortly before Easter the revised issue of 'Rules for a Local Company' came from the printers, and notice of its being on sale was at once given in 'The Ringing World,' but up to the present only a few copies have been sold, though it has been much in demand while it has been out of print. The new issue of 'Minor Methods' has not yet reached the librarian. There has only been a moderate sale of other publications, amounting to £4 16s. 5d. The book 'On the Preservation of Bells, etc.' is in the process of revision preparatory to reprinting, for which it should be ready before long. The cost of advertising and postage was £9 10s. 6d., so that there was an adverse balance on the year of £4 14s. 1d.

The following honorary members were re-elected: Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, J. Griffin, E. A. Young, J. S. Goldsmith and C. F. Johnston. The Rev. A. T. Beeston, the other retiring hon. member, did not seek re-election.

The Hon. Secretary reported on various matters that had come before the Standing Committee, the members of which were re-elected, with the addition of the 'conveners' of committees who were not already members.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, reporting for the Peals Collection Committee, which was reappointed, stated that the work now in hand and almost concluded was the proof of peal of Treble Bob with tenors parted.—Mr. G. R. Newton raised the question of having the whole of the Treble Bob Peals Collection made more readily available for use by printing it, but it was pointed out that the question of printing costs was to come up later on another committee, and the matter would have to be left over for a time.—The committee's report was adopted.

The Literature and Press Committee's report was read by the Rev. F. L. Edwards and adopted, and the committee re-elected with the addition of Mr. C. H. Howard.

MINOR METHODS COLLECTION TO BE PRINTED.

The most important question in the Methods Committee's report was that of printing the collection of Minor methods. The Rev. H. Law James explained that the total cost of printing the work as it stood would be about £68, and to make it pay they could not publish it at less than 3s. a copy. The committee suggested that if the cost was too much to enable the Council to publish the whole at once, it should be published in two parts—one consisting of the methods and the other of the compositions.

Mr. Trollope said the committee had gone carefully through the transcript, and if the volume was to be what they wanted to make it they could not cut it down by so much as a comma.

Many suggestions were made as to what should be done to bring the cost of the work within reach of all ringers, including cutting down the contents, dividing the volume into a greater number of sections, giving only half-leads of the methods, and issuing it in several parts, but eventually Canon Coleridge moved a resolution to print the book as it stands, and sell out stock held by the Council in order to cover the cost. An amendment moved by Mr. P. J. Johnson (Yorkshire) to issue the work serially having been defeated, Canon Coleridge's motion was carried by a large majority.

The committee were re-elected with thanks for their services. After lunch, the Council dealt with the reports of other committees. That of the Analyses Committee, already published, was adopted, and the committee thanked for their work and re-elected.

The individual reports of the Towers and Belfries Committee was of considerable interest. The committee have revised the pamphlet on the 'Preservation of Bells, Frames and Fittings,' and it would shortly be ready for printing. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, the hon. secretary, and Major J. H. B. Hesse referred to the work done in belfry inspections during the year, and the President, arising out of an inspection he made at Barnet, gave a lucid and instructive address in regard to the ascertained strains and stresses on towers caused by the ringing of bells.

Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn moved that the report be adopted and the revised edition of the book printed as soon as possible.—Canon Elsee seconded, and the motion having been carried, and the committee elected, Mr. F. E. Dawe suggested that the expense of printing should be met by subscriptions from among the members of the Council, which he offered to head with a donation of two guineas. Several other members at once offered to contribute, and the sum necessary is likely to be forthcoming in this way.

The Records Committee's report was read and adopted, and the Rev. A. T. Beeston having retired from the Council, the other members, the Rev. H. Law James and Mr. T. Hervey Beams, were re-elected, and Mr. George Grover (Guildford) added to the committee.

The Legal Committee, having completed its work last year, was discharged with thanks for its services, but Alderman Pritchett was asked to hold a watching brief for the Council in case any legislation detrimental to ringing should be introduced. The Rev. H. Drake offered to defray the cost of printing the committee's report, which was a very valuable one, to make it accessible to those who ought to be in possession of it, and his offer was accepted with thanks.

The members of the Council stood for a few moments in silence to mark their regret at the death of Mr. F. A. Milne, a member of the committee, and as a token of sympathy with the relatives.

The Broadcasting Committee, having completed its work, was discharged with thanks for its services.

HON. MEMBERS INVITED TO PAY.

The Council then dealt with the motions on the agenda. The Hon. Secretary proposed that in future the subscription for the third and fourth representatives of an association should be 2s. 6d. only, and that hon. members should pay a subscription of 5s. per annum.

The first part of the motion was defeated, so that the subscription of 5s. will be payable for all representatives.

At the suggestion of Alderman Pritchett, the second part of the motion was amended to read that hon. members be invited to subscribe not less than 5s. per annum, and in this form it was adopted.

A discussion was initiated by the Hon. Secretary on the suggestions made in 'The Ringing Word' on October 18th last that the rules of the Council should be altered. He did not think there was a great deal in the suggested alterations, but thought they might well be considered.

Mr. W. A. Cave followed, and proposed: 'That, in order to bring ringing societies into closer communion and co-operation with the Central Council of Church Bellringers, every affiliated society be requested to include in their rules words to the following effect: "That this society be affiliated to the Central Council of Church Bellringers and loyally carry out the rules and decisions thereof."'

The Rev. H. Law James moved to leave out the words 'and decisions,' but the motion was carried in the form proposed except that, at the suggestion of Alderman Pritchett, the words 'loyally abide by' were substituted for the words 'loyally carry out.'

It was then further resolved: 'That the Standing Committee consider, and, if thought necessary, revise the rules of the Council and report to the next meeting.'

Notices stood in the name of the Rev. H. Drake as follows: (a) That a collection of lantern slides be formed by the Council to illustrate ringing in its various aspects, and (b) that all notices of motions to be laid before the Council shall be sent in the names either of individual members or of affiliated societies, and shall reach the secretary in time for them to be published a week before Easter, as a preliminary agenda. Within a fortnight after Easter other resolutions or amendments may be sent to him, but in this case only in the names of the societies.

Mr. Drake withdrew these proposals on the understanding that they would be taken into consideration by the Standing Committee.

On the motion of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. G. Grover, it was resolved: 'That the Methods Committee be requested to review the Council's statement on "Regular Methods" contained in "Rules and Decisions" and report to the next meeting of the Council, what, if any, amendments they consider are necessary in view of present developments in method ringing.'

Four places were suggested for the next annual meeting, which is due to be held in the North, viz., Ripon, recommended by the Standing Committee, Leeds, Dublin and Liverpool.

It was held that Dublin was ruled out under the scheme, and would be considered when the meeting next fell to be held in the West, and, on a vote being taken, Liverpool was selected.

A vote of thanks to the Archbishop of Canterbury for permitting the meeting to be held at Lambeth, was passed, and the business concluded with a vote of thanks to the president.

In the evening a social gathering, attended by many of the representatives and their friends, was held at Auderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, which was the Council's headquarters for the week-end.

A full report of the proceedings will be given in future issues of 'The Ringing World.'

FRATERNISING AT LAMBETH.

The Middlesex Association and London Diocesan Guild, South and West District, were at Lambeth on Saturday, May 17th, as visitors to the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild (Southern District), and a pleasant afternoon and evening were spent, very useful practice being obtained in various methods. The attendance was by no means startling, and one wonders what becomes of the advocates of joint meetings on these occasions. Ringing commenced soon after three and proceeded merrily until six o'clock, by which time among other visitors were to be seen a vice-president and secretary of the over-the-water association. Unfortunately, the L.C.A. District Master was prevented from being present by illness, and a letter of sympathy was directed to be sent to him with hopes for a speedy recovery. Mr. Essory, steward, L.C.A., and Mr. Mackrill, treasurer, shared the duty of M.O. quite skilfully in his absence. Some 22 sat down to an excellent tea, arranged by Mr. Hardy, the local steeplekeeper, to whom the best thanks of the company were given. Some of the 'giants' of the Exercise rang a service touch of Cambridge Major in fine style, and the company attended evensong, at which the Rector gave an address of welcome and advice, the musical side of the service being ably accompanied on the organ by Mr. Martyn, one of the Woolwich members, who stayed at some inconvenience to himself to help on the work. Members are indebted to him. A vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, etc., and ringing was carried on till 9.15, concluding with a course of London.

J. H.

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL.MR. E. H. LEWIS' INTERESTING CAREER.

At the meeting of the Central Council, on Tuesday, Mr. Edwin Hugh Lewis, one of the honorary members, was elected president in succession to Canon G. F. Coleridge. The Council is fortunate in securing the services of such a capable chairman, for Mr. Lewis comes to the office with a wide experience gained through his association with important industrial undertakings, as well as an expert knowledge of ringing.

Born on June 13th, 1881, at the Vicarage of St. Ann, Nottingham, the youngest son of Canon J. D. Lewis, Mr. Lewis was educated at Cordwalles School, Maidenhead, Charterhouse and Trinity College, Cambridge. He first learnt to handle a bell and ring call changes when Canon Lewis was appointed Rector of Trowell, Nottinghamshire, in 1900. He joined the Cambridge University Guild on entering Trinity College in 1901, and was a contemporary of the Revs. H. S. T. Richardson and B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake. His first peal was 5,024 Bob Major at St. Andrew's, Cambridge, on June 17th, 1902.

After taking his degree (Mechanical Sciences Tripos) in 1904, Mr. Lewis was appointed assistant manager of the Liverpool Silver and Copper Co., Ltd., Widnes, and lived for two years in Liverpool, ringing during that period at various churches in South Lancashire.

In 1906 he moved to Frodsham, Cheshire, and rang regularly at St. Lawrence's Church, where there were then six bells by Rudhall. He took charge of the belfry when two trebles were added in November, 1911. In the meantime he had taught a band at St. Paul's, Widnes, where eight bells had been hung in September, 1907. Mr. Lewis married in 1909 the daughter of Archdeacon Richardson, Rector of Southwell, and sister of the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson.

In 1914 he was appointed assistant manager of the Glasgow Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., Wishaw, Lanarkshire, in 1916 works manager, and in 1927 general manager. While at Wishaw he was responsible for starting up the cement works, where cement was made as a side line from the slag from the blast furnaces.

Last year he was invited to join the boards of directors of the Tunnel Portland Cement Co., Ltd., whose works are at West Thurrock, Essex, and of Messrs. F. L. Smith and Co., Ltd., who are associated with F. L. Smith and Co., A/S, of Copenhagen, the well-known engineers and makers of cement making machinery. As a result he took up residence at Brasted, Kent, in November last.

Mr. Lewis is a member of the West of Scotland Iron and Steel Institute (filling the important post of president, 1922-26), the Iron and Steel Institute (member of Council, 1922-26), the Institute of Metals, the Ceramic Society, and the Institute of Fuel, of which he was appointed one of the first Fellows in 1928.

Until May, 1929, he was lay elector, lay representative and churchwarden of St. Andrew's Church, Wishaw, and chairman of the Wishaw Local Employment Committee from its inception.

There was, of course, little opportunity of ringing in Scotland, even if business activities had permitted, but Mr. Lewis was able to attend occasional meetings of the College Youths (of which he has been a member for 27 years) when in London attending meetings in connection with iron, steel and cement trades.

Mr. Lewis has rung 154 peals (26 on handbells) from Minor to Maximus. He has been a representative of Cambridge University Guild on the Central Council since 1908. A few years before the war he called the attention of the Council to activities of the S.P.A.B., which resulted in the formation of the Towers and Belfries Committee, of which he is a member, and he contributed to Sir Arthur Heywood's book, 'Bells and Belfries,' much valuable information on strains and stresses, the result of scientific investigation and calculation.

BELL RESTORATION AT CHURCH OAKLEY, HANTS.

The peal of six bells at Church Oakley, Hants, have recently been retuned, quarter turned and rehung with new headstocks and ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon. The bells were rededicated on Wednesday, June 4th, by the Rector, the Rev. G. H. Jewdine, at a simple but dignified service, of which the main note was praise and thanksgiving, the local band ringing a touch of Grand sire Doubles after the rededication and before the sermon.

In the course of his sermon the Rector paid a tribute to the skill with which the bells had been removed and rehung and to the work of the local band of ringers, and appealed to his people to answer the 'Come' of the bells by 'We will go to the House of the Lord.'

A number of other ringers from other parishes attended the service, including Mr. George Williams, the Ringing Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and at the conclusion of the service they got busy in the belfry and kept the bells going till late in the evening.

'RULES' FOR PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—No doubt many of your readers will heartily agree with your recent leading article, 'A Lead and a Challenge,' but there is another side to the matter. Change ringing is not like many other things—it has no vital need for a written code of definite and precise rules. In cricket, or football, or bridge, or tennis, or billiards—in all these and all things like them, you must have a set of rules which provide for every possible circumstance and which must not be broken. Without them you would speedily have disagreement and anarchy, and no game would be possible. It is not so in change ringing. Its essential rules are implicit in the art itself, because the art is based on one or two broad and strong principles. You cannot have change ringing unless you do keep to these rules, and therefore, broadly speaking, you cannot (at least, not seriously) break them. The proof of this lies in the fact that during two and a half centuries ringing began and developed without either a code of agreed rules or any central authority to make or enforce them. Every rule in ringing which matters arose spontaneously; it was never laid down by authority nor defined. And yet throughout its history ringing remained and must remain essentially the same thing.

You never had, and never can have, one set of rules for ringing in one part of the country and another in another, in the same way that the primitive football has split into Association and the different forms of Rugby football. The fact that we have 'call changes' and 'cross peals' does not affect this.

The principles on which peal ringing is based were summed up by the ancients as Truth and Completeness. Now it does not require any definition to enable ringers to understand what is meant by a true and complete peal of Grandsire Triples or Bob Major or Superlative. Indeed, any attempt at definition would rather tend to cloud the issue than not. The instinct of ringers, which is really the accumulated experience of the Exercise in these things, is a safe guide. It is far more likely to be sound than the considered opinions of any individuals, however eminent. Only in a very narrow borderland is there any ground for uncertainty. Our peals must be true and they must be complete. To this rule there is no exception; but there is a little uncertainty as to what truth and completeness mean in a very small number of cases. It is here that people are so very anxious to rush in with definitions, and here that definition is much more likely to do harm than good.

For proof—twenty-five years ago spliced ringing was formally illegal. It was not merely forbidden by the precise wording of the adopted rule; if it had been submitted to the judgment of representative ringers it would have been condemned. Just that class of men who now want to bar the Bankses James arrangement of Cambridge Minor and the Morris arrangement of Grandsire Doubles would then have tried to bar spliced ringing if the question had been raised. But the men who started spliced ringing followed their instinct, thinking nothing and caring nothing for the formal rule, but feeling that here was something which was a natural development, a new and precious gift for the Exercise's treasury. And so it was firmly established before anyone bethought themselves as to whether it was formally legal or not. And, of course, once established the formal rule was impotent against it.

So, too, it would have been with these five and six bell compositions if the question had not been raised in an acute form before it had been shown by experience whether they are good or bad, useful or otherwise. The discussion has perhaps delayed the final settlement, but this at least is certain, that the result depends not on any attempts at making rules or definitions, but on whether, in the long run, the instinct of the Exercise approves or condemns them, whether the six-bell ringers want them or not. And I certainly, for one, feel strongly that any attempts (mainly by eight-bell ringers) to forbid them, and so prevent them being put to the only fair and satisfactory test, are clean contrary to the best interests of ringing and of the Exercise.

Individual associations, of course, have the right and the duty to decide what standard they shall exact for the peals they book, though that duty should not be carried out in any narrow and partisan spirit. But the Central Council must look at these things with a broader view, and not for the sake of precise definition hamper the progress of ringing or seek to restrict the liberty which is the right of every band of ringers. In ringing we do not want precise rules. What we do want is a fuller understanding of the great unchangeable principles on which our art is based. If we put our trust more in the instinct of the Exercise and less in individual opinion we shall not go far wrong.—Yours,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

'A LEAD AND A CHALLENGE.'

Sir,—If I am not able to support the line you have taken up in your article with the above title, you may say I am not consistent with the policy we both thought the right one on nomenclature. The reason, however, is this. As long as there are differing names, and differing technical terms in the Exercise, the development of the science of change ringing will be hindered. Only a central body can decide such matters, and, as you rightly point out, it is the duty of the Central Council to do this. It is not, however, its duty to decide all such questions. It is within its power and its duty to say that some questions are urgent, and should be decided at once, while others ought to be postponed. Now nomenclature was and is an urgent question, and some decision had to be made. The Council decided last year that the question of peals of Minor was not a question which ought to be settled at present.

There are several good reasons for this policy, besides those which have so far been produced. For instance, there has never been any uniformity of standards among the different societies, and I do not myself see any reason why there should be, as long as they are not more closely federated than is now the case. This may, as you say, diminish the authority and prestige of the Central Council. But in these matters this authority and prestige do not matter, if the Council is right in saying that the time to decide these questions has not yet arrived.

Again, one admires the action of the Midland Counties Association. They have taken a self-denying course which may injure them considerably, because they have the courage of their opinions. But it is very much better that this experiment should be tried by one society at a time, than by the whole Exercise. If the questionable compositions cease to be questioned, and are often rung, it is fairly certain that the society will retrace its steps—a fairly easy matter. But what is easy and advisable for one or more societies may be neither easy nor advisable for the Central Council.

Again, take my own case. As I have several times said, I do not hold any very strong opinion on the matter at issue, and felt it well to get the opinion of the Guild of which I am secretary. It was accordingly well discussed at the largest meeting the Suffolk Guild has ever had. Not a single voice was raised against these compositions. The only opposition to a motion in support was from a member who thought the discussion was premature—practically the same opinion as the Central Council ultimately expressed. Now it is possible, though not very probable, if the Central Council had decided differently, that we should have found ourselves cut off from them. Such a result can never occur now. It is clearly wiser for a central body to avoid decisions which may exclude any of its constituent societies.

You say that the M.C.A. knew what they wanted, and that the Central Council could have done the same. But that is just what they could not do. No doubt what you actually mean is that the M.C.A. had a sufficiently large body of favourable members to carry the resolution in question. The Central Council, however, had not. Moreover, such a decision could be made by a society by a narrow majority. It would be futile for the Council so to act. As long as there is an influential minority in favour of certain compositions, those compositions would be rung whatever a majority of the Council might pass. By obstinately or tyrannically using a majority in such an event the Council might split the Exercise, or it might give the questionable compositions the very fillip which it did not wish to, but it could not prevent the tide rising, if its rise was due.

It is also futile to argue about a higher standard, while some of us are convinced that the compositions in question actually are of a higher standard than the others. To enlarge the field of operations is not necessarily to admit inferior specimens. They may be better. The principle underlying the idea of 'red tape' is that quality is better than quantity. Fortunately this is not always the case.

THE DEVON GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING PROVOKES KEEN INTEREST.

The annual general meeting of the Guild at Exmouth on Whit Monday was attended by nearly 200 members from all parts of Devonshire. A service was held in the fine church of Holy Trinity, with popular hymns rendered by the full choir, the lesson being read by the president of the Guild, and an appropriate address given by the Rev. J. Daughish, R.D., Rector of Lymington, who spoke of the debt of gratitude which churchgoers owed to the ringers. The ringing of the bells, he observed, was inseparably bound up with English religion, and in these days, when Sabbath observance was so generally neglected, the call from the belfry was a challenge to those who disregarded the church services in their pursuit of pleasure. Therefore, he thought, the work of the ringers was more effective than any sermon; and the ringers themselves might take to heart the message of their bells, to practise what they preached.

Dinner was served in the Church Hall for 209 members and friends, the arrangements being carried out to perfection by a ladies' committee of Exmouth Hospital under Mrs. E. V. Cox.

The president (Rev. E. S. Powell) presided over a meeting which was animated and lengthy. The annual report and financial statement were adopted.

The report of the general committee of the Guild was as follows: A particularly encouraging feature of the year has been the attendance and interest shown at the many meetings which have been held. From the reports received from the various branches it would appear that the Guild generally has been marking time during the year 1929, and has not made such advances as might be expected to keep pace with the times. Only fifteen peals have been rung, compared with twenty-seven in 1928. While peal ringing is not the sole aim of the Guild, it is undoubtedly an index of progress, and this falling off, together with a decline in membership, are factors that give the committee some anxiety. The committee desire to impress on all members that the Guild is a live organisation, and as such it must be either progressive or retrograde. Every single member can do something to help forward the work, but if any are apathetic then the burden laid on the officers to carry on the organisation is unduly increased. The monthly Cathedral practices have been sadly neglected, and the committee would urge all, who can, to attend these practices to acquire an insight into twelve-bell work.

The statement of accounts showed that the balance in hand was increased during the year from £50 10s. 8d. to £53 15s. 1d.

A proposal for an alteration of the rules governing the election of president of the Guild and chairmen of branches was abandoned.

A further proposition for altering the rule limiting the period during which the annual general meeting should be held was deferred until the next general meeting.

The Rev. E. S. Powell was re-elected president, Mr. T. Laver as general secretary, and Mr. T. J. Stokes was elected general treasurer in place of Mr. T. G. Bartlett, who was cordially thanked for his ten years' service as treasurer.

Mr. W. J. Southwood and Major C. F. Jerram were elected vice-presidents with those already on the committee.

For the office of representative on the Central Council five nominations were received for four vacancies, and, on a ballot being taken, the Rev. E. S. Powell and Messrs. Marsh, Shepherd and Woodley were declared elected.

It was resolved that a sub-committee be constituted to consider a proposal to provide a permanent memorial to the late Rev. Maitland Kelly, in recognition of his lifelong and self-sacrificing devotion to the Guild.

Plymouth was selected as the venue of the annual meeting in 1931. One life member and three associate members were elected.

A proposal by Mr. Southwood that a special committee be appointed to examine certain alleged defects in the Guild's organisation was defeated.

The general committee was authorised to arrange a partition of the Exeter and North Devon Branches so as to constitute the area in the Deaneries of Holsworthy and Torrington a separate branch.

A vote of confidence in the Rev. E. S. Powell as president, proposed by the Rev. E. V. Cox, was carried with acclamation, the president in responding being visibly affected.

The keen interest shown by this large meeting in the proceedings would appear to belie the allegation that the Guild has reached its decline.

JUBILEE OF THE SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your account of this, in your last issue, you report me—quite correctly—as referring to a paper, read by the Rev. H. C. Sturges in 1879 to the deanery chapter, as being productive of the Sonning Deanery Society.

I have, however, since learned, on excellent authority, that the paper in question, of which I hold the original, was read by the Rev. E. H. Hart Davis.

This paper was handed to me by Mr. Hart Davis, a few years before he died, with some words of explanation which left me with the impression that it was the work of Mr. Sturges.

I have been informed, also on good authority, that Mr. Sturges did read a similar paper to an informal meeting of clergy at about this time.

I write this as giving some reason, I hope, for my words at the jubilee meeting, and for the benefit of those who in after years will be searching after truth.—Yours truly,

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

TRURO BRANCH MEETING.

St. Newlyn East, Cornwall, possesses a nice ring of six, tenor 9 cwt., rehung about four years ago by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., on ball bearings and in a new frame, when the present treble was added. The church, a beautiful edifice, possesses a fine screen. The Vicar, the Rev. M. May, M.A., extended a very hearty welcome to the fifty or so ringers from Truro Cathedral, Perranzabuloe, Illogan, Redruth, St. Gluvias and St. Budoeh, who attended a Truro Branch gathering on Saturday, and the result was a very happy meeting enjoyed by all. The bells were started before two o'clock by the local band, and were kept going until late in the evening.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, who also gave the address. He was assisted by the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella (diocesan secretary), who read the lessons. A splendid tea, provided by the Vicar and Mrs. May, was thoroughly enjoyed, a vote of thanks being proposed by the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella and seconded by Mr. A. S. Roberts (district secretary).

It is hoped to hold the next meeting of the branch at Truro on Saturday, November 1st, when it is hoped the Lord Bishop will give the address.

A LOSS TO TRURO CATHEDRAL RINGERS.

By the death of Mr. W. S. Sitwell, which took place suddenly on Saturday, May 31st, Truro Cathedral ringers have sustained a severe loss. Although it is seven years since Mr. Sitwell had a serious illness, which compelled him to resign the Mastership of the Cathedral ringers and give up active ringing, he had always taken a keen interest in their work, and at the time of his death held the position of Vice-Master and treasurer.

Mr. Sitwell was the senior partner of the firm of Messrs. Sitwell and Harvey, solicitors, and held many appointments, being secretary to the Dilapidations Board, legal secretary to the Bishop of Truro, and Diocesan Registrar.

On Sunday, June 1st, the Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled in his memory, and after the evening service a touch of 504 Grandsire Triples was rung by Miss L. Willoughby 1, Miss E. J. C. Augwin 2, A. S. Roberts 3, F. W. Marshall 4, W. H. Southard (conductor) 5, W. E. Minoos 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, P. Webb 8.

The funeral took place at Kenwyn Church on Tuesday, June 3rd, when the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella, Messrs. W. H. Southard and A. S. Roberts represented the Cathedral ringers. A wreath was also sent from the band.

AN ESSEX VISIT.

The ringers of St. Mary's Church, Burnham-on-Crouch, accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. D. L. Williams), visited St. Nicholas' Church, Tillingham, Essex, on Tuesday, May 6th, and spent a most enjoyable evening. The Burnham ringers, by getting the Tillingham ringers to ring with them, helped them with the first stages of change ringing. They also very much admired the great keenness shown by the Tillingham ringers, which is ever needed by those about to take up change ringing.

The ringers, of whom there were nineteen, were afterwards entertained to refreshments by the Vicar (the Rev. C. G. Gardner). The Burnham ringers would like, through 'The Ringing World,' to tender their heartfelt thanks to the Rev. C. G. Gardner for his kind hospitality and allowing them the use of the bells, and also to the Tillingham ringers who attended and gave them such a cordial welcome.

AN INTERESTING MEETING.

The Central Council meeting in London last week had many points of interest about it. To begin with, it was held in historic surroundings, for, by the kindness of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Guard Room at Lambeth Palace was placed at the Council's disposal and the deliberations were thus carried on in an apartment that has seen many important conferences in the history of the Church of England, and from the walls of which the portraits of a long line of Primates gazed down upon the assembly. Before and during the war the Council's usual meeting place in London was the Church House, Westminster, but thanks to the initiative of Mr. E. A. Young, the hon. secretary, the last three gatherings in the Metropolis have been held successively in the Jerusalem Chamber at Westminster Abbey, the Mansion House, and Lambeth Palace—a privilege which the Council has not been slow to appreciate. This year's meeting attracted an attendance of ninety-six members, which equalled the total of the 1927 London Assembly—easily the record attendance at a Council meeting. As is usual at the triennial meeting, the election of a new Council produced quite a number of members who came fresh to the central body, and although at this first appearance they may have felt themselves among many strangers, they will rapidly find in the Council—for all its divergencies of opinion—that same pervading spirit of brotherhood which characterises the Exercise to so marked a degree, and which, to no little extent, is one of its most attractive features.

The agenda provided the Council with a full day's work, and it can be said with satisfaction that something was really accomplished. There have been meetings when there has been little to show for all the talk that has taken place, but if for no other reason than for the decisions to print and publish three important works, the Exercise has gained from last week's meeting. The gathering, however, will probably be best remembered from the fact that it was the occasion of changing the pilot. Canon Coleridge, who has guided the deliberations of the Council for nine years, resigned from the presidency, and Mr. Edwin H. Lewis was elected to the office. Everyone was happy to see the Canon apparently so completely recovered from his illness, but they could not resist his decision that the time had arrived when a younger man should take over the work. The Council will, of course, still have the benefit of Canon Coleridge's advice and experience, for he remains, as he has done since the formation of the Council, a representative of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and we hope he will long be spared to take his share in the deliberations of the Council. The Council is more than fortunate to have as his successor in the chair Mr. Lewis, whose qualifications for the office are unexcelled among the members and indeed in the Exercise. His vast business experience, and his great knowledge of ringing and of matters relating to the technical side of bell hanging will be a great asset to the Council. His tactful handling of the meeting last week and his extremely valuable contribution to the report of the Towers and Belfries Committee convinced everyone, if conviction were needed, of the wisdom which led to putting Mr. Lewis forward as Canon Coleridge's successor.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

LEICESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting was held at Hallaton on Saturday, and a special bus conveyed a party from Leicester, passing through some very fine country en route. Tea was held at the Fox Hotel at which a party of 17 were present. Afterwards a short business meeting was held. The local vice-president, Mr. A. J. Harris, made reference to the sad bereavement of Mr. Ronald Russell, of the Hallaton band, by the sudden death of his father on the previous Tuesday, and asked the meeting to stand for a few moments in silence as a token of respect.

The Rector, Rev. F. S. Fulham, was elected an hon. member of the association.

The provisional arrangements for the combined meeting with the Hinckley District at South Wigston and Wigston Magna, on Saturday, July 19th, were ratified, and it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Foxton on Saturday, September 6th.

Before tea, a well-struck 360 each of Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung half-muffled on Hallaton bells.

About 6.30 p.m. the bus conveyed the ringers to Belton, just inside Rutland, where the rest of the evening was spent. The following methods were rung on the six bells: Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman Slow Course, Cambridge Surprise, Canterbury Surprise and York Surprise Minor.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Southern District of the Surrey Association was held at St. Bartholomew's, Horley, on Saturday, June 7th, when ringers from Redhill, Roigate, Charlwood, Merstham, Buckland, Burstow, Godstone, Limpsfield Chart, Crawley, Turner's Hill and the local band made good use of the bells. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. T. Lewis (Vicar), who welcomed the visitors to Horley. Immediately after the service, ringers numbering about 25 sat down to a good tea at the Six Bells Inn, provided by the Vicar, who presided over the usual business meeting. The ratification of Mr. E. G. Swift as a ringing member, and the Rev. G. Steer, of Limpsfield, as an honorary member, was confirmed.

The next quarterly peal to be attempted is Grandsire Triples at Horley, to be conducted by Mr. O. Sippetts. The next meeting is to be held at Oxted in August.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his address at the service, and for his hospitality in providing the tea; also to Mr. H. Bashford, of Roigate, for presiding at the organ during the service. The ringers returned to the tower again for further ringing, where good practice was had in the standard methods, and rounds for the beginners.

FAREWELL TO A VICAR.

At Yorktown, Surrey, on Saturday, after an abortive attempt for a peal, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a farewell to the Vicar, the Rev. R. Curwen, who is exchanging livings with the Vicar of Wintersloe, Wilts: J. S. Goldsmith 1, W. Viggers 2, F. Marchmont 3, F. Ewens 4, F. Nye (conductor) 5, B. Hawkins 6, H. Hunt 7, H. J. Hunt 8.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the above association was held on Saturday, June 14th, at Crich. Favoured with fine weather, this old Derbyshire village, with its famous Crich Stand (rebuilt as a war memorial to the memory of the fallen members of the Notts and Derby Regt.), and its beautiful ring of eight bells, attracted a good number of ringers from Alfreton, Ashover, Blackwell, Derby, Mansfield Woodhouse, Morton, Melbourne, South Normanton, Ripley, Selston, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Heanor, Worthington, and the local band. The bells were raised about two o'clock, and were kept going until service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. E. Jones), who gave an address and warmly welcomed the visitors on this the first visit of the association during his incumbency.

Tea was served in the schoolroom, followed by the business meeting, at which the president, Mr. Wilson Dobb, presided.

A resolution was passed, instructing the secretary to advertise all meetings in 'The Ringing World' during the next year. One gentleman expressed the opinion that, unless this course is adopted, the association appeared too conservative, as non-members did not know of the meetings. It was hoped that more ringers would be induced to subscribe to 'The Ringing World.'

One new member was elected, and the business concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist and ladies who catered for tea. Full use was made of the bells until 8 p.m., and another pleasant meeting was brought to a close by a good lowering of the bells in peal.

TRURO CATHEDRAL JUBILEE.

On Sunday, May 18th, for 10 a.m. Sung Eucharist, at the Cathedral Church of St. Mary, Truro, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 55 mins.: Miss L. Willoughby 1, Miss E. J. C. Augwin 2, J. Sedgley 3 A. S. Roberts (conductor) 4, F. W. Marshall 5, W. H. Southeard 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, N. Williams 8. Rung to commence the week of thanksgiving services, which took place each day, and which were attended by the various deaneries, to commemorate the jubilee of the laying of the foundation stone of the Cathedral. Service ringing was also done each evening (Monday excepted), and after the evening service of Sunday, May 25th, another quarter-peal was attempted, but failed to come around properly.

ONE THOUSAND 720's.

At Lamberhurst, Kent, on Sunday, June 1st, 720 Oxford Bob: A. Relfe (conductor) 1, T. Fuller 2, A. Marshall 3, W. Durham 4, J. Bassett 5, E. Woodage 6. The conductor's 1,000th 720.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.VICAR BEATEN BY 'MATHEMATICAL TABLES.'

A meeting of the above was held at Jarrow on Saturday, June 14th, when there was a fairly good attendance. The bells of Christ Church were kept going with Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples.

After a splendid tea a short meeting was held, presided over by Mr. E. E. Ferry (president of the association), who mentioned that he had had a letter of apology for non-attendance from Mr. E. Burnett, vice-president, who had moved out of the association area to Kirkby Stephen. The President said he was sorry the association had lost such a useful member, but they hoped he would soon be back amongst them again.

Mr. J. W. Parker moved a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and the Rev. H. W. Dobson, replying on behalf of the incumbents, said no thanks were needed as he considered it an honour that the ringers should come to his church. He would always welcome them. He was always interested in the heltry, and although he wished he could ring, these 'mathematical tables' had him beat, the various diagrams being quite a puzzle to him. However, he hoped to be able to take it up some day.

Sunderland was proposed the next place of meeting on Saturday, August 16th.

After the meeting, the ringers went to St. Peter's Church, where Kent Minor and Bob Minor and a silent touch of Stedman Doubles were rung. They returned to Christ Church for Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Although the meeting could have been better attended, it was an enjoyable one to those present.

WYCOMBE RINGERS VISIT GLOUCESTERSHIRE 'TWELVES'

A very pleasant and enjoyable time was spent by members and friends of the High Wycombe belfry on Whit Monday. The party, to the number of 33, left the chair town about 8.30, and made Witney the first call. About an hour's stay was spent here, and then the journey was resumed to Cheltenham, arriving soon after noon. After a 'free and easy' lunch, the twelve bells were set going, and afterwards a move was made for Cirencester, where the twelve-bell ring (the second oldest peal of twelve in the country) were all in readiness for the ringers. After a first-class knife and fork tea, and several good touches on the bells, the homing course was commenced at 7.15. This was safely negotiated, and 'stand' was called at Wycombe at 9.45. The ringers desire very heartily to thank Messrs. John Monk, W. T. Pates and F. J. Lewis for their willing help and kindness, thus adding much to the day's pleasure.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Still another ring of eight by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, is to be installed in Lancashire. Walkden Parish Church is to have a fine new peal of eight bells, with tenor approximately 18 cwt., to be hung with modern fittings in a new cast-iron framework. This new peal is to replace an older and lighter one.

Miss D. D. Steel, of Bedford, won the Ladies' Open Croquet Championship at Roehampton on Saturday. Miss Steel, whose sister, Miss E. Steel, is one of the vice-presidents of the Bedfordshire Association, rings regularly at Bedford, and has rung both in Australia and New Zealand.

A hundred and forty years ago to-day the College Youths rung 6,016 Oxford Treble Bob at St. Mary's Church, Battersea, 'being the most ever rung true on the bells.' This record sounds rather as if there had been a false peal of longer length rung there before.

The first peal by the Midland Counties Association was rung at Derby on June 23rd, 1882. This was a peal of Grandsire Triples.

The only peal ever rung on fourteen bells was a peal of Stedman Sextuples on handbells at Birmingham on June 24th, 1922.

When Taunton bells were augmented to ten (they are now twelve) they were opened on June 25th, 1835, with a peal of Stedman Caters, which was afterwards withdrawn as not being true.

Mr. F. W. Richardson, of Brockley, writes with regard to the peal rung at St. John's on Saturday: 'I shall be grateful to you if you will allow me, through the columns of "The Ringing World," to tender my heartiest thanks to all those ringers who rang before the wedding service and in the peal afterwards. My wife and family, especially my eldest son, also wish to thank the ringers, particularly Mr. Wm. J. Jeffries, for their expression of good wishes.'

A MID-WEEK MEETING.

A NEW VENTURE IN ESSEX.

The North-Western Division of the Essex Association held a mid-week meeting at Dunmow on Wednesday, June 4th. This gathering was arranged solely for the benefit of those who are unable to attend the meetings held on Saturdays. Ideal weather prevailed, and representatives arrived from Braintree, Harlow Common, Stebbing, Little Munden, Bishop's Stortford, Fulbourne, Stapleford, Cambridge, Felsted, Royston, Great Easton, Brockley, Melbourn, Sudbury, Sible Hedingham, and Great Bardfield. Very enjoyable touches were rung during the afternoon.

Service was held, and afterwards 42 ringers were served with tea in the adjoining church rooms.

There was no business meeting, but Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Association) complimented the officers upon the success of their venture. He expressed his great satisfaction at seeing such a fine attendance. He thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his most appropriate address at the service. He also thanked the local band for the courteous manner in which they had received the meeting, and for the excellent tea which they had provided.—Mr. Finch voiced his appreciation at the success of the meeting, and Mr. Lawrence, of the Herts Association, said he was most interested in the idea of a mid-week meeting. He was surprised to see such an attendance.

It is hoped to hold another of these meetings at Hoddesdon in October.

At the outset, the retiring president (Canon G. F. Coleridge) occupied the chair and opened the proceedings with prayer.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S WISH.

The President then said they were greatly indebted to the Archbishop of Canterbury for his great kindness and courtesy in putting that historic room at their disposal for their meeting. At the end of the meeting a formal vote of thanks would be passed to His Grace for his kindness, but if it had been possible he would have been present to welcome them. His Grace, however, was away, trying to regain health for the most strenuous month or six weeks that any Archbishop could ever engage in—the meeting of the Lambeth Conference beginning in July. They would all devoutly wish and pray for his recovery, that he might be able to preside over that great gathering. As the Archbishop could not be present, he was represented by one of his chaplains, Mr. Sargeant, who had very kindly offered to welcome the Council that day (applause).

The Rev. A. Sargeant said the Archbishop would have wished, if he possibly could, to welcome the Council in person, but in any case, had he been well enough, it would have been rather difficult as he would have been engaged at the great reunion festival of past and present clergy at Portsea Parish Church, where he was once Vicar. Even that great pleasure, however, had been taken away from him, and he was now trying to get his strength back in preparation for the Lambeth Conference. He did not, however, want them to begin their meeting without some word of welcome, and on the Archbishop's behalf he had to give them a most cordial and hearty welcome to Lambeth, and he hoped they would use both the Palace and the gardens to the fullest extent possible. Mr. Sargeant went on to mention that in the historic room in which they were gathered that morning the 312 Bishops who came for the conference would have their lunch every day. The room had seen a great many interesting gatherings, and there were few, he knew, which the Archbishop would more cordially welcome to Lambeth than their own meeting that day. The Archbishop spent a very happy day down at Canterbury with the Kent Association at Easter, and they would remember his words both in the Cathedral pulpit and at the luncheon. The Archbishop was very glad on that occasion to have the opportunity of paying some tribute to the very great work which the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore had done in the diocese of Canterbury and the whole county of Kent, because there were few men in the annals of their craft who had done more for it, to keep the interest in it alive and to keep it on the right lines and in close and intimate touch with the Church which their craft served. Many of them knew Mr. Helmore, and would appreciate the work he had done (applause). On behalf of the Archbishop he extended to them a hearty welcome, and thanked them for the work they did for the Church.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The President next stated that, as they knew, he felt it incumbent upon him to ask them to let him resign the post of president, which he had held for the last nine years. He was not doing it lightly and without very great consideration. He knew it was the wish of a great many that he should continue, but, as they knew, two years ago he had to undergo two serious operations, and little more than two months ago he was at death's door with pneumonia and inflammation of the heart as a result of it. Thank God he had made a most wonderful recovery from both, and he hoped he might be spared for many years to be of use to the Exercise (applause), although not as their president. He had to consider age more than anything else, and he had to consider that if he was renominated this year he would be close on 76 by the end of the session, and, although ringers did not get into their prime until they were eighty (laughter), he felt he had passed his prime, and it was very necessary for the good of the Exercise that a younger member and a very responsible member should be elected in his stead. In addition to the reason of age, if he got a cold he became a trifle deaf, and that was absolutely fatal to a chairman of any kind. He was really a little surprised, when it got known that he did not offer himself for re-election, that there were not at least half a dozen nominations sent in for a new president. As a matter of fact only one had been sent in, and he (the speaker) was thankful to know that the person nominated was a man who was held in the greatest possible respect not only in the Exercise but also among outside bodies like the Society for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings. It was perfectly marvellous how these learned men—in their way (laughter)—hung upon the words which fell and had fallen from the lips of the Council's newly nominated president, who was one of the most able men in his profession (applause). Big firm after big firm had sought his services, and although he was in Scotland with one great concern, he had now come to London, which was the hub of the Universe and the hub of the ringing universe. He did not think the Council could possibly do better than to allow him to give them the name of Mr. E. H. Lewis, of Cambridge University Guild, friend and delightful companion of all who knew him, and one who, he was perfectly certain, would carry on the traditions of the Central Council as they had been carried on for the past forty years (applause). In the name of the Council he would induct Mr. Lewis into the presidential chair (applause).

Mr. Lewis then took the chair amid cheers.

The Hon. Secretary asked the members, as a slight mark of their love, affection and respect for the retiring president, to give him a hearty cheer. That ancient hall had resounded to many a cheer given to ancient captains, but he was sure that none would be more sincere than that which they would give to their own retiring captain (applause).

Three rousing cheers, led by Mr. Young, were then given for Canon Coleridge, who briefly acknowledged this expression of the members' feeling for him.

The new president, on rising, was received with loud applause, and thanked the members for the honour which they had done him in not sending in any other nominations, thereby electing him without opposition. He felt that he was not quite as well qualified as he might be for the office, and he would ask them to bear with him and remember that fifteen years of his life, as far as ringing was concerned, had been almost a blank, because he had been an exile in a 'foreign' country (laughter). Business had necessitated his living in Scotland, and if one lived there a little while one knew it was a foreign country, and the inhabitants of that country were very careful to point it out (laughter). There was very little ringing there except at two or three towers, which it had been difficult for him to get to, so in that respect he felt he was not quite as fully qualified as he might be. That day he saw many faces he did not recognise. That might be a slight advantage, because it was necessary for a chairman to be strictly neutral, and he might have been rather prejudiced one way or the other on certain questions which they had been debating recently. Before he sat down he would like to add his personal tribute to their late president. He had seen in their ringing paper all the things Canon Coleridge had done for the Exercise, and he realised how very difficult it would be to follow him and the previous occupants of the chair. So much did he feel it, that he would like the 'steeplokeeper' to fetch a box for him to stand on so that he might physically and in other ways reach the tail end of the rope (laughter and applause).

OFFICIALS RE-ELECTED.

The President announced that no nominations for the office of secretary had been received, and therefore it must be the wish of the Council that their excellent secretary and treasurer, Mr. Young, should carry on as before (applause).

Mr. Young, in thanking the members for their renewed confidence, said he was becoming one of the old soldiers. His doctor had told him to go easy, but he was loth to give up these duties in connection with the Council. They were pleasurable ones and were the more pleasurable because he knew they met with the approbation of the members. He had thought of giving up on this occasion, and had hoped that a certain gentleman would have been elected in his stead. He (the secretary) was going away for a good part of the year, from autumn to spring, and his absence was one of the difficulties in the way of his re-election, but their friend, Mr. Cave, realising the difficulty, had offered, and he (Mr. Young) had accepted his services as deputy while he was away. He wished to thank Mr. Cave for his kindly offer.

The President said the Council would be glad to hear of the arrangements made to carry on in Mr. Young's absence. They would have been sorry if Mr. Young had not been able to carry on the post he had occupied so well. Proceeding, the President said there were no nominations for the office of honorary librarian, so here again it was obviously the wish of the Council that the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn should carry on, and they could not possibly do better than have him in that position (applause).

The minutes of the last meeting, having been printed in 'The Ringing World,' were taken as read, and were proposed for adoption by Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. W. T. Cockerill.

Mr. C. T. Coles raised the question of the accuracy of one paragraph relating to the amendment proposed by Mr. W. Willson to the Methods Committee's report, and asked that the words included in Mr. Willson's amendment relating to certain compositions, 'on the ground that they are hopelessly false' should be included in the minutes.—This was agreed to and the minutes, as amended, were adopted. (To be continued.)

THE COUNCIL'S LAW REPORT.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Whilst appreciative of the generous offer of the Rev. H. Drake to defray the cost of printing the report of the Council's Legal Committee, and of the necessity of it being obtainable in pamphlet form, I would suggest that affiliated associations should reprint it in their annual reports. At least two have already done this (the Lancashire and Middlesex), and it would be within the means of most associations to spare the three or four pages necessary. The advantage of this course is that the report would be given the widest possible circulation.—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.
NEWBURY BRANCH.

The summer meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Hungerford on Saturday, June 14th, when the following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Beedon, East Ilsley, Newbury, Thatcham, and the local band. Visitors included ringers from Overton and Mr. A. King, of Luton. A short service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. B. D. Gotto), who also gave the address. Mr. T. W. Brooks, A.R.C.O., presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the Church House by Mrs. T. Geater, 32 sitting down. The business meeting followed, the Rev. B. D. Gotto taking the chair in the absence of the Rev. H. Bonsey, chairman of the branch. He was supported by Mr. H. W. Curtis, hon. secretary.

The next meeting was fixed for East Garston on Saturday, September 6th, a joint meeting with the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild to be held at Highclere on Saturday, June 28th.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. B. D. Gotto, to the organist, and Mrs. Geater, proposed by the secretary and carried with applause. The tower was again visited, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major being rung.

AN HISTORIC TOWER.ST. NICHOLAS' CHURCH, LEEDS, KENT.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal in this tower was rung on Whit Monday. It was at this church that James Barham rang many of his peals, as a member of the Leeds Youths, and where he took part with 13 others in the 40,320 of Bob Major.

DEATH OF PUDSEY RINGER.

On Wednesday, May 28th, the bells of St. Laurence's Church, Pudsey, rang out fully muffled to mark the passing of Mr. William Birks, who was laid to rest that day in the cemetery near the tower where he learnt to ring and where for many years he was a regular member of the band.

Mr. Birks, who died at Blackpool at the early age of 50 years, had been a respected member of the St. John's company there for some time, and the wreaths included one from that company and one from the ringers of Pudsey. For some years previous to leaving Pudsey to take up his residence at Blackpool he was 'mine host' at the White Cross Hotel, and many happy ringing gatherings were held there during his tenancy. Ever a man of genial temperament, he will be missed by many of his fellow-ringers.

Although not a prolific peal ringer, he rang some 14 peals in methods ranging from Bob to Cambridge Surprise Major. Like his father before him, he was a good striker, and whatever he rang he could be relied upon to ring well. As a last token of respect to his memory, the bells of Pudsey Church were rung fully muffled on Sunday, June 1st, and a well-struck quarter-peal of London Surprise Major (1,344 changes) was rung for evensong by the following members of the local company: Pratt Cordingley 1, Samuel Ward 2, J. Cecil Booth 3, Rowland Myers 4, William Barton (conductor) 5, George Ambler 6, John Ambler 7, J. William Cordingley 8.

MR. W. R. MADGWICK'S 100 PEALS.

There are not many ringers living in England who can claim to have rung peals on two continents. Mr. W. R. Madgwick, now residing in Manchester, has this distinction. He has just completed 100 peals as follows:—

Minor, in three methods 2, four methods 1, five methods 3 (conducted 1), six methods 1, seven methods 14; Grandsire Triples, 2; Stedman Triples, 6; Stedman Caters, 3; Bob Major, 5; Oxford Treble Bob Major, 1; Kent Treble Bob Major, 4; Kent Royal, 1; Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 9; Superlative Surprise Major, 8; Cambridge Surprise Major, 12; Cambridge Surprise Royal, 3; New Cambridge Surprise Major, 1; Pudsey Surprise Major, 2; Yorkshire Surprise Major, 3; Bristol Surprise Major, 7; London Surprise Major, 12; total, 100 (conducted 1).

Rung in 62 towers, in 13 counties, on two continents, and for 15 associations.

SPLICED PLAIN METHODS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The 720 rung at Lamberhurst on April 27th last was not the first time Mr. Parker's 2nd's and 6th's splice has been used in a 720 of spliced plain methods. A 720 of Spliced Fulbeck Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, Double Bob, Reverse Bob and Plain Bob Minor, containing Mr. Parker's splice, was rung on handbells at 52, Lamas Park Road, Ealing, on June 13th, 1929, by the following: J. Armiter Trollope 1-2, Ernest C. S. Turner 3-4, Wilfred G. Wilson 5-6.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST C. S. TURNER.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.ANNUAL MEETING AT CHELMSFORD.
SUPPORT FOR 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The 51st annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford on Whit Monday, there being a large gathering of ringers from all parts of the diocese. The day's proceedings were carried through with marked enthusiasm, testimony being borne to the record position in numbers held by the association, and the influence it exerted. In the morning, service was held at the Cathedral, where Canon W. E. R. Morrow, Sub-Dean and Rector, officiated and delivered the address, the Rev. W. Lindsay, Rector of Ingrave, read the prayers, and Mr. C. H. Howard, Braintree, read the lesson. The association's form of service, with their special hymns, was used. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £1 10s. 6d.

Canon Morrow, in his address, welcomed the ringers to that annual service in the Cathedral, and said he wished to recognise in a small way the contribution they paid to the church life of the diocese. They called the faithful to worship, they worked unseen to a great extent, for the congregations took everything as a matter of course, and barely thought of the men in the towers. But he recognised ringers as a very important branch of church life. There were many congregations who, if the bells ceased, would then ask why the bells were not ringing. There was an old Irish proverb that 'some people never hear the bell until it has stopped,' which meant that some things were only valued when they had disappeared. Then there was the comfort which the bells conveyed to the sick, aged and infirm. As bellringers fulfilled their duties, they must also consider the measure of their belief in God. Having chosen bellringing as a hobby or pleasant occupation, the mind and heart should go deeper. Were the ringers attracting people to church by their lives, which should be as living epistles? The expression should not be merely external and material, but the life should be sanctified by spiritual emotion to witness for what it possessed. To be admitted to the fellowship of the ringers should be admission to the joy of a service which was perfect freedom.

Luncheon followed at the County Hotel, there being 85 members present.

RECORD MEMBERSHIP.

The Master presented his report, in the course of which he referred to the successful celebration of the association's jubilee and to the holding of the Central Council meeting at Chelmsford last year. With regard to the district meetings, all these gatherings had been well attended and much propaganda work had been accomplished. The membership had increased to 1,140, exceeding the record of last year by 76. There were now 101 towers affiliated, showing an increase of eight.

After referring to the losses by death, the report dealt with the bell restorations. At St. Osyth, the ring of six had been rehung, and the whole band there had joined the association and were making good progress. Through the generosity of Canon Paynter, the ring of six at Springfield had been quarter turned, tuned and rehung with the latest improvements in ball bearings. The five bells at Pleshey had been rehung and the ring of eight at Harwich were now in good ringing order. The ring of six at Great Bromley had been rehung in an iron frame, and the tenor recast. The rings of five at Ingrave and eight at Earls Colne were to be rehung. At Fobbing the bells were to be rehung in an iron frame, and at Bocking the ring of eight were to be tuned and rehung in an iron frame with ball bearings. A new peal of eight with a tenor of 15 cwt. was shortly to be erected in the tower of Great Holland Church as a memorial to the late Miss Emma Barron, founder of the Barron Trust Fund.

In peal ringing the association has touched high water mark. Eighty-nine had been rung, exceeding the record of eighty-four in 1913. Of these 79 were rung on tower bells and 10 on handbells as follows: Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Spliced Maximus 1, Stedman Cinques 1, Bob Royal 1, London Surprise Major 6, Bristol 1, Superlative 5, Cambridge 7, Double Norwich Major 10, Treble Bob Major 9, Bob Major 12, Stedman Triples 4, Grandsire 8, Surprise Minor in seven methods 6, Cambridge Minor 1, Minor in seven methods 1, in various other Minor methods 12, and Doubles 4. The peals were rung in thirty-eight different parishes and thirty members were responsible for the conducting. Mr. W. Keeble again heading the list with twenty-nine. Thirty-one rang their first peal, and with sixty-seven members it was the first peal in the method. The peal of Spliced Surprise Maximus was the first to be rung by any association or band. The peal of Superlative at Writtle was rung in honour of the Jubilee by officers of the association, and is the first officers' peal.

Notwithstanding the much heavier expenditure incurred in the jubilee celebrations and the cost of entertaining the Central Council, the association had been able to meet all liabilities, without encroaching upon the reserve fund, leaving a balance in hand on the general account of £15 7s. 2d. The larger membership had brought with it an increased amount from subscriptions, £72 4s. 6d. (including some arrears), against £56 1s. 6d. for the previous year. The income, £17 7s. 7d., to the Bell Restoration Fund showed an increase against £12 0s. 9d. for 1928. After making grants of £11 11s., they carried forward in this account £27 12s. 5d., a very creditable result.

In summing up the year's work, the Master added, they had every reason to be satisfied with their position. The appeal made in the last report, asking members to visit outlying towers to give assistance, had been put into practice in all districts. The addition of seven towers and the increase in membership was in some measure due to this venture.

In conclusion he tendered the best thanks of the association to the general secretary, district officers, and the committee for all they had done to make the jubilee year the most successful and interesting in its history.

Upon the proposition of Mr. A. Saunders, seconded by Mr. R. Heazell, the report and balance sheet were adopted.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

Canon Morrow took the chair temporarily during the election of a Master for the ensuing year. Mr. T. Faulkner proposed the re-election of Mr. C. H. Howard, and said the committee had considered this question, and quickly came to the unanimous conclusion to recommend that Mr. Howard be asked to continue in the office (applause). Mr. Howard had served the association faithfully for 21 years, and this would be the 22nd year of his election and re-election. During that period the association had made tremendous strides, and its honour and prestige could not be surpassed. Mr. Howard had carried out the duties in a kindly way, which had won the respect, admiration and affection of all the members, and he had no hesitation in proposing that Mr. Howard should be re-elected Master for at least another twelve months.—Mr. G. R. Pyc seconded the proposition, which was carried with applause.

Canon Morrow said it was a great pleasure for him to be associated with the decision of the association, for the members were fortunate in having such a distinguished ringer to preside over their fortunes for another year (applause).

Mr. Howard, in reply, said he was extremely obliged for the renewed confidence, and would endeavour to serve the association to the best of his abilities in the coming year. He joined the association in 1885, and in the 46 years he had attended all the annual meetings except one (applause). He was thankful that he had had good health in being able to do it, and hoped that the privilege might continue (hear, hear). He thanked the district officers for their loyal support, which made the work of the association so successful. The report presented this year was the best the association ever had. There had never before been so many members, nor had there been so many peals rung or district meetings held. The association was very much indebted to the officers for all they had done (applause).

Mr. F. J. Pitstow, Saffron Walden, was unanimously re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and the committees were re-elected. The five District Masters were appointed a committee to administer the Bell Fund, with Mr. A. Prior hon. secretary. The following grants were made to bells restorations: Ingrave £4 4s., Earls Colne and Bocking £3 3s. each. The following new members were elected: Rev. C. S. Trimble, Fryerning, Mr. H. C. Tweed, Brentwood, hon. members; Mr. R. Hutson, Maldon, St. Mary's, life member; Mr. W. G. Heaster, Gillingham, non-resident life member; Messrs. G. Argont, I. Gibbons, F. Martin, F. Tarbrum, and W. Eady, Belchamp St. Paul's, ringing members.

Mr. L. W. Wiffen, Braintree, said he wished to bring up the question of 'The Ringing World' and the position it occupied in regard to ringers. He pointed out that it rested with the ringers to make a larger circulation for the paper, which could then be sold for 2d., or even less. He asked members of the Essex Association to do what they could in taking 'The Ringing World' (hear, hear). He said the ringing paper created a good deal of interest in ringing (hear, hear).

Mr. Butler said he wished to support the references to 'The Ringing World,' because he recognised the great value the paper was to ringers. The paper was honestly worth 3d., because of the information it gave of use to members of the different towers. 'The Ringing World' was worth its price ten times over because of the different meetings advertised in that paper.

The Master said he wished to congratulate the editor of 'The Ringing World' upon the issue of the thousandth number of that paper, and he supported what Messrs. Wiffen and Butler had said as to the value of 'The Ringing World' to ringers. He hoped the members would take the paper, and so increase its sale. There was a custom in some parishes to take one copy of 'The Ringing World' for the use of the tower, but if every ringer would take one it would greatly increase the circulation. By creating a larger sale for 'The Ringing World' they could expect the price to be reduced, although 3d. per week was not too much for a paper so valuable to ringers. It was the only paper in existence which devoted the whole of its columns to ringing matter. The Master moved: 'That this meeting of the Essex Association pledges itself to do its utmost to increase the circulation of "The Ringing World" in future.' Mr. R. Heazell seconded, and this resolution was carried unanimously.

The Master, in thanking Canon Morrow and the incumbents for the use of the bells at the several churches, said Chelmsford was the best ringing centre in the Eastern Counties, and he did not know a town in England where there were more towers available in an immediate neighbourhood, and where the whole of the bells were in such good ringing order (hear, hear).

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.A HUNDRED MEMBERS ENTERTAINED AT HAGLEY.

An extremely successful meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at Hagley on Saturday, June 7th, about 100 members and friends being present. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung in the afternoon at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, which stands in the lovely park surrounding Hagley Hall, and service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Robert Burns), who preached from the text, 'I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the House of the Lord.'

The members enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. H. Mason, of Goodrest, who entertained the company to tea in the Hall Barn, the host and hostess, who personally supervised the arrangements, being assisted by a number of lady friends. After tea, the Sedgely handbell ringers contributed selections.

The business meeting which followed was presided over by the Rector, who was supported by Mr. and Mrs. Mason, Mr. J. Goodman, jun., Mr. H. Sheppard and Mr. S. J. Hughes.

Mr. Mason extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, and proposed the Rev. R. Burns as an hon. member of the Guild. Their desire was, he said, to secure the active interest of all clergy whose churches had towers with bells in the area of the Guild. Mr. Burns had rendered them many acts of kindness. He also proposed as an hon. member Mr. F. Robinson, the people's warden, of Hagley. The elections were unanimously agreed to, and several new ringing members were elected.

At the suggestion of Mr. Mason, it was decided to contribute to the memorial, which is to take the form of a clergy desk and choir stalls, to the late Dr. Gray Matland, Vicar of Dudley. Mr. Mason pointed out that although their Guild was one of the very few, if not the only one, that had a membership subscription of only 6d. per year, they had very satisfactory finances, and he thought they would desire to be associated with this memorial movement to one who initiated some 20 years ago the ground plan for the formation of the Guild.

It was mentioned that the Guild had a credit balance of £7 4s. 1½d., and one guinea was voted to the memorial fund.

Satisfaction was expressed that the Hagley band had joined the Guild, and the promise of every assistance in acquiring the art of change ringing was made to them.

The coming Central Council meeting was referred to by Mr. Skelding, and Mr. Hughes (the representative) said he would welcome any mandate the members might give him. In his opinion the Guild should uphold the rulings of the Council.

It was decided to give Mr. Hughes a free hand, Mr. Mason remarking that the Guild could well leave their interests with him.

Sympathy was expressed with Mr. Round (Netherton) in his recent serious accident, and good wishes for his speedy recovery.

On the motion of Mr. Mason, thanks were expressed to the Rector for allowing the use of the tower, for arranging the use of the Hall Barn for the tea and meeting, and also for the very happy service they had had. He also thanked the ladies who had assisted Mrs. Mason in the tea arrangements.—The Rector replied, and added his personal thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Mason for their generosity in providing the tea.

A vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Mason was formally moved by Mr. Price.

Mr. Mason said it was a great pleasure for Mrs. Mason and himself to do what they could in this way. They 'only passed this way once,' and to do anything they could was their greatest happiness (applause). He hoped it would not be long before the Guild again visited Hagley, and gave them another opportunity of welcoming them as on that day. In his earlier days he did a good deal of change ringing, and derived much pleasure from it, and he should always value the friendships he formed. Apart from the art itself, membership of a band of church bellringers should also quicken their interest in and love for church work. There were cases in which ringers confined their activities to the tower, and were not associated with the general work of the church, but these instances were fewer than formerly, and there were cases in which their ringers were also members of church choirs and other parts of church organisations. Hagley was more fortunate in this respect than some, and the object of the Guild was not merely to make ringers, but ringers who were interested in church work. Whenever this was achieved it was something which was very gratifying.

After the meeting, some of the ringers again adjourned to the tower and rang several touches on the peal of eight, while the remainder of the party spent a very enjoyable time in Hagley Park and grounds.

A cross-country ride was thoroughly enjoyed, and landed the party at Basingstoke, where a welcome and most enjoyable spread was partaken of. Being thus refreshed, the party made tracks to the tower, where touches in various methods were conducted by Messrs. A. W. Osborne and L. T. Osborne. A pleasant hour was spent at Sherfield, and the party reached Reading at 10 p.m., after a very enjoyable time. THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A

THE COUNCIL'S JUSTIFICATION.

We remarked last week that if for no other reason than that a considerable programme of publication was decided upon, this year's meeting of the Central Council was productive of work of real value to the Exercise. The 'Collection of Minor Methods,' which in past years has given rise to some lively debates, first in regard to nomenclature and afterwards on the question of what should be recognised as a peal of Doubles and Minor, is at length to go to the printers; there is to be issued a revised edition of the booklet on 'The Preservation of Bells and Fittings,' and, in addition, the Council decided upon the publication of the report of the Legal Committee, which was presented last year and which is an authoritative review of the laws affecting church bells and of the legal position of ringers in their relation to Church authorities.

The republication of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' has been long delayed, and its appearance in the near future should be welcome to the five and six-bell ringers, for whose benefit the Methods Committee have taken untold pains and spent a vast amount of time, to give them not only a new print of an old work, but to amplify its scope and make it, within its limits, exhaustive. To such an extent has the old book been expanded, that the cost of production had seriously to be debated by the Council, which, of course, has not got unlimited resources. Having, however, made up its mind that it was able to afford the outlay, the Council undoubtedly did the right thing in deciding to publish the complete work in one volume, and when it makes its appearance we hope the Exercise at large, and not only the six-bell men, will support the Council's enterprise and quickly buy up the edition.

The other two publications which are to be issued are to be published largely, if not entirely, without cost to the Council, thanks to the generosity of some of its members, and through them ringers and others interested in bells will have at hand two important and valuable pamphlets. The immediate appearance of both of them might not have been possible had it depended upon the Council's funds, but by the private action referred to delay has been obviated, and it is in the best interests of the Exercise that it has been. Those who are fond of asking what is the good of the Central Council would do well to ponder upon whether the Exercise would have been anything like so well off for text books and printed information, if there had been no Council? Who would have undertaken the issue at any price—let alone cost price—of the many useful books which the Council has been able to bring out? Who would have been prepared to shoulder the risk—let alone the work—of publishing such books as 'The Glossary,' the collections of peals in the various methods, and the collections of methods themselves? No one but a body like the Central Council could have entertained it; and in what the Council has done in this direction alone can be found full justification for its existence. This part of the Council's work has advanced the interests of the Exercise to an enormous degree.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.CIRENCESTER RINGERS' ANNUAL OUTING.

The annual outing was held on Whit Monday. The first stop was Ledbury, where the party were met by Mr. Dance. The bells, a fine peal of eight by Rudhall, were raised in peal. Several touches of Stedman and Grandsire were brought round. Malvern was the next place of call, after a splendid run over the Malvern hills. Worcester was then visited, where the company, who were met by Mr. Jeffries, were fortunate in getting permission for a ring on the Cathedral bells, and touches of Grandsire Cinques were rung. The next move was to Pershore, where, on arriving, the company partook of tea at the Angel Hotel. At Evesham they were met by Mr. J. D. Johnson, and several touches were rung on the bells, a fine peal of ten. After a short stop at Cheltenham, home was reached at 10.30 p.m. The thanks of the ringers are due to the Dean of Worcester, Rev. Carnegie, of Ledbury, and the Vicar of Evesham, for the use of the bells, and to Messrs. Dance, Jeffries, and Johnson, who met the company and helped to make the outing such a success. The ringers also wish to thank Mr. F. Edwards for the excellent arrangements which made the outing so successful and enjoyable.

ST. MARY-LE-TOWER SOCIETY'S LONG DAY.

The above society held their annual outing on Saturday, June 21st. Arriving at Braintree by 8 a.m., where breakfast was waiting at the Nag's Head, Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, and Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen, welcomed the visitors, both standing in to a course of London Surprise Major. This was followed by a course of Cambridge Surprise Major on the 'all of a family' bells at Great Dunmow, at Bishop's Stortford a well-struck course of Cambridge Surprise Royal and a course of Superlative Surprise Major at St. Mary's, Harlow. After dinner at the Green Dragon, a splendid course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung, and was repeated at Chelmsford, where the visitors were again met by Mr. L. W. Wiffen and other members of the Essex Association, who had just rung a peal of Superlative at Galleywood. Double Norwich, Stedman, and/or Grandsire were also rung at each steeple. All agreed this was an outing par excellence, about 150 miles in 18 hours.

The society thank all incumbents and steeplekeepers for having everything in readiness.

TRURO CATHEDRAL RINGERS VISIT EXETER.

Although most of the Truro Cathedral ringers have many towers to ring at before they complete the 137 or so with a ring of bells in their own county of Cornwall, it has long been their desire to visit Exeter Cathedral and ring on the noble twelve. This was the main objective selected for the annual outing on Whit Monday. Soon after 7 a.m., the appointed time of departure, a party of twenty-seven was en route for Exeter, Truro's neighbouring cathedral city. Lunch was enjoyed in picnic style, and Exeter was reached at 12.30 p.m. The party arrived at the Cathedral at 12.45 p.m. precisely, as arranged, and were welcomed by Messrs. Gardner, Davey and Truman. They were soon in the ringing chamber, and after pulling the bells up rang rounds on the twelve, Grandsire Triples on the back and 'Thomas' eights, and also the 'Stafford' ten to rounds, the two youngest members, aged twelve and fourteen, acquitting themselves splendidly. One wonders if they are the youngest to ring in this tower, at least on the twelve. As a ring, these bells are certainly wonderful, and after one visit it would certainly be very unwise to say that the much praised 11th is a better bell than Grandison, the tenor, or the two trebles. After a hurried look around the interior of the Cathedral, the party made for St. Sidwell's, where they were welcomed by the Rector, the Rev. A. Lanyon Owen. They found a very handy ring of ten, which, as the numerous peal boards in the ringing chamber suggest, have been used to the fullest advantage. After a pull the ringers bade farewell to Mr. Gardner, who made them feel quite at home at this tower also. The next place visited was Torquay. Here no ringing was done, but a couple of hours enjoyed in the sun. The party arrived at Truro again at 11.30, tired, but nevertheless chattering of the 200 miles that had been covered, the places visited and the ringing done.

Thanks are especially due to the Dean of Exeter and the Rector of St. Sidwell's for the use of their bells, Mr. Gardner for acting as pilot at Exeter and allowing the ringers to view the Cathedral bells, and the Dean and Chapter of Truro Cathedral for again making such a long journey possible.

BISHOP STORTFORD COMPANY'S DAY OUT.

On Whit Monday, the Bishop's Stortford company and friends to the number of 30 had their annual outing, when they rang at Watford and Tilehurst in the morning, and after lunch at Reading rang at St. Mary's and Caversham, before proceeding to Hatfield. They reached home at 11 p.m. after a very enjoyable day, and wish to thank all those who welcomed them and had everything ready at the various towers which they visited.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ring of ten bells at St. Michael's, Coventry, were rung for the last time on June 28th, 1885, the previous peal on the bells having been rung two years earlier. The risk of damaging the fabric of the beautiful spire was the reason for ceasing ringing, and the bells have now been formed into a carillon. The 'battle' in the Consistory Court against breaking up the old bells is still fresh in the memory of the majority of our readers.

Elijah Roberts, one of the greatest exponents of 'tapping' that the Exercise has known, tapped a peal of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham on June 30th, 1883, the peal being conducted by Henry Cooper.

The first peal of Grandsire Cinques 'in hand' was rung at Birmingham on July 2nd, 1886.

Mr. Noel E. Hope was ordained at Chichester Cathedral last week and is taking up a curacy at the Church of St. Mary Magdalen, St. Leonards-on-Sea.

Mr. W. L. Gutteridge, of Stoke Poges, is lying in Windsor Hospital, having been involved in a serious motor-cycle accident at Gerrard's Cross, as a result of which his left leg is broken.

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Staplehurst on June 7th was the 50th peal together by Mr. and Mrs. H. Baker and T. E. and C. H. Sone.

The ring of ten at Truro Cathedral were dedicated twenty years ago last Saturday (June 21st, 1910). Amongst the many noted ringers present were the Revs. J. F. Hastings and E. V. Cox, Messrs. J. R. Newman, C. H. Hattersley, B. Prewett and R. Stavert, of whom some are fallen asleep. Methods rung were Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Kent Treble Bob Royal and Bob Royal.

Of the present company, only one member can remember this great day. Next year the 'coming of age' of the bells falls on a Sunday, and it would be splendid if the present keen band could (perhaps with assistance) repeat these methods.

The order for the recasting of the peal of eight at Ilfracombe Parish Church and the rehangings with new fittings in a new cast-iron framework has been entrusted to Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

At a meeting of the Council of the Library Association, on Friday last, Mr. J. S. Pritchett was appointed honorary legal adviser to the association in place of Lord Macmillan, who had resigned on being raised to the peerage as a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary.

'HENERY THE EIGHTH.'

Mr. Editor.

Dear Sir,—I see as how there be zum fellars as have rung a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Neots, Hunts, and as how one of 'em had the nerve to call 'isself Henery the Eighth.

You moight be good enough to tell all they blokes as writes to you that there be only one Henery the Eighth, and if they wants to know who he be, it be I. Him as rung a peal at Shiplake, that topper as was referred to in your paper a few weeks ago.

You can tell 'em to come down here, and that Lunnon bachelor as well, and we'll let 'em know who Enery the Eighth be.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

FUNDS HELPED BY INCREASED FEES.

The hon. treasurer presented the accounts, which had been audited by Messrs. A. A. Hughes and A. Paddon Smith. The balance at the bank at the beginning of year was £31 19s. 6d. The receipts included a donation from the Rev. Teape of £1 1s.; affiliation fees, arrears 7s. 6d., current year 17 at £1, 5 at 15s., 10 at 10s., 16 at 5s., £30 2s. 6d.; interest on stock £5; total £68 3s. The expenditure had been £13 14s. 1d., leaving a balance at bank of £33 5s. 6d., and cash in hand £16 3s. 5d. Last year, the Treasurer said, he pointed out that they were year by year sliding down in their balance, and they agreed that the affiliated associations should pay more. The receipts this year had therefore jumped up accordingly, and they got about £29 in fees. He explained that the donation from Mr. Teape was received in return for advice and services which he (the treasurer) had been able to give in connection with the recasting of some bells. Two associations, he added, had not paid their annual subscriptions, viz., the Doncaster and District Society and the North Wales Association, but they had new associations in the Romney

Marsh and District Guild and the Oxford Society. They now had three societies from that ancient city—the Diocesan Guild, the University Guild and the Oxford Society.

The balance sheet was adopted on the motion of Mr. Hughes, seconded by Mr. Paddon Smith. The auditors were also thanked for their work.

The Librarian presented his report (already published in 'The Ringing World'), and added that while the book, 'Model Rules for a local company,' was out of print he had several applications for copies, but since the revised issue had been completed, very few applications for it had been received. It was a most valuable little work, which was published at 6d., and he hoped the members of the Council would do their best to secure its sale, so that the copies were not left upon his shelves.

Replying to Mr. Coles, the Librarian said he was always pleased to send out the Council's publications 'on sale or return' to responsible officials of an association, but last year very little return in cash was received from this source. The report was adopted.—At a later point in the meeting the Librarian stated that the amount received for the sale of publications by associations was 4s. 9d.

HONORARY MEMBERS RE-ELECTED.

The following honorary members retired from office this year, and were re-elected on the motion of Mr. A. L. Coleman, seconded by Mr. J. George: Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, J. Griffin, E. A. Young, J. S. Goldsmith and C. F. Johnston. The Rev. A. T. Beeston also retired, but did not seek re-election, and the vacancy thus created was left open in case of emergency.

THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

The Council came next to deal with the report of its various committees. The Hon. Secretary, for the Standing Committee, said there was very little to report. They had had a meeting that morning and an interim meeting last November. He had done his best to obtain cheap travelling facilities for members of the Council, and many of them had availed themselves of the opportunity, but they had not sold the one hundred tickets which the united railway companies stipulated they should do. It therefore remained to be seen whether they would grant them the same facilities next year. With regard to his trusteeship, with the Rev. Davies, of the Carter ringing machine, he had to report that on the previous Sunday for the first time the machine was officially inspected by members of the Council and ringing friends, about 20 of whom assembled in the Science Museum at South Kensington. The machine was set working, and he explained it. They had scrapped the old battery of gongs and had got a new set of bells, given by Mr. Hughes. These were connected electrically with the machine, which, unfortunately, was in some respects beginning to show signs of wear. Two friends of theirs, Mr. George Fardon and Mr. Sharman, had devoted many hours trying to see what could best be done to adjust the wearing parts. On Sunday it almost rang a plain course of Stedman Cinques, but it did not come round. That, of course, was disappointing, but there was the machine; it was in good hands, and if they could only afford at some day to lay out £15 or £20 and overhaul the machine and have some of the cams and clicks renewed, it would be as good as it was in dear old Mr. Carter's time. Continuing, Mr. Young said the members of the Standing Committee who were up for re-election were Canon Coleridge, Revs. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Canon Elsee, C. D. P. Davies, H. Law James, Alderman Pritchett, Messrs. Cockerill, Hughes, Griffin, Young, Cave, Coles, and Paddon Smith. The Rev. A. T. Beeston, being no longer a member of the Council, could not be re-elected.

Replying to a question, Mr. Young said the president was an ex-officio member.

On the motion of Canon Baker, seconded by Canon Elsee, the report was adopted, and on the motion of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. W. Willson, the Standing Committee were re-elected, with the addition of the conveners of committees who were not already members of the Standing Committee.

TREBLE BOB PEAL COLLECTION.

For the Peal Collection Committee, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson reported that the only work in hand was that of proving the peals of Treble Bob Major with tenors parted, the chief interest of which was the development of the long length. He had got the manuscript almost complete, and he hoped it would be typed very soon. A suggestion was made—he forgot from what source—that Mr. Carter's peals should be edited and published by the Council. It would be a very good thing to do, but he thought the Council as a Council could hardly undertake the publication of any individual's compositions. Some opinion was expressed that the collection of Stedman Caters and Cinques compositions should be published.

The Hon. Secretary said the suggestion was not received in formal terms, and he simply sent the letters on to Mr. Richardson.

Mr. Sedgley said in the Suffolk Guild they would welcome the republication of Mr. Carter's 'Broadsheet.' It could not now be obtained, and its republication would prevent it being lost.

Rev. E. S. Powell said Mr. Carter's 'Broadsheet' was in the library, so that the peals could not be lost to them.

Mr. G. R. Newton urged that something should be done to publish the collection of peals of Treble Bob which were now in the library only in typed volumes. They should be placed within the reach of all ringers in a convenient form.

The President said it was a question of expense, and Mr. Newton's suggestion had better be left over until they had dealt with the Methods Committee's report and saw what was to be done in another direction.

The report was adopted on the motion of the Hon. Secretary, seconded by Mr. Coles; and on the proposition of Mr. Hunt, seconded by Mr. Hughes, the committee was re-elected as follows: Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Rev. E. S. Powell, Mrs. Fletcher, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, H. W. Wilde and J. W. Parker.

REACHING A NEW PUBLIC.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards presented the following report for the Literature and Press Committee:—

A general survey of literary publications during the past twelve months shows the last two months to have been the most interesting portion of that period from the ringer's point of view. In the 'Church Times' of May 30th a whole column was occupied with an article headed, 'Of Bells and their Music.' Commencing with the statement, 'He who would write the history of bells would come near to writing also the history of civilisation,' the writer proceeds to refer to the part played by bells in public rejoicing, of which he says: 'A great occasion would, indeed, be emptied of half its colour without the jangling clamour of the bells.' Then in the May number of 'The Accessory,' a journal for the Radio and allied industries, appears the first of a series of some twenty articles on 'The History of Bells,' by Mr. J. R. Nichols, author of 'Bells through the Ages.' The same author has contributed other articles on bells to various trade journals, which are of exceptional value by reason of their reaching quite a new public, whose interest must often be stimulated by the fact that they are so completely taken by surprise. Who, for instance, would ever have expected to pick up a publication entitled, 'The Tractor,' and find himself reading a vivacious article on 'Bells'? Another contribution from Mr. Nichols was published in 'Musical Opinion,' while, at the request of the editorial manager, a member of the Literature and Press Committee contributed an article to the 'Musical Standard' of April 21st on 'Some Musical Aspects of Change Ringing.' And last, but by no means least, the ringers' own journal, 'The Ringing World,' has attained its thousandth issue. The committee confidently anticipate the time when their successors on the Literature Committee will make a note of its jubilee year of publication. A most interesting discovery had been reported in the columns of 'The Ringing World' by Mr. J. Perry, namely, that of an old book published in the eighteenth century, which contains an article on change ringing with a detailed description of a spliced method.

Occasional complaints about bells, continued the report, have found a place in the public press. Mr. C. E. C. Kendie wrote to the 'Daily Mail' last summer stating his objection to Lewisham bells. In that case the laudable energy of the ringers appeared to have encouraged the wholesome practice of early rising, as the writer said: 'On Monday, June 3rd, the bells began at 6 a.m. . . . I got up, went to the church and protested to the chief bellringer.' Apparently what he protested against was the ringing of the bells in honour of the King's birthday. As the circumstances of last year gave exceptional occasion for public rejoicing at the preservation of His Majesty's life, the aggrieved correspondent could not be congratulated on the choice of a felicitous occasion for his protest. His attention might well be directed to the example of our gracious King, who recently signified his pleasure at hearing the bells of Windsor Parish Church rung for the Easter Festival after a temporary silence. Another newspaper correspondent made a complaint about St. Clement Danes' bells. His letter evoked a spirited reply from the Rector of that church, who aptly emphasised the fact that many members of the legal profession had contributed to the restoration of the bells. The 'Daily Telegraph' brought the matter to a satisfactory conclusion with a powerful leading article in defence of bells. One, Francis E. Trotter, had perpetrated in 'Everybody's Weekly' an article on 'Bells that make our Sundays hideous and our nights intolerable.' Evidently this gentleman would have found a kindred spirit in a certain Fellow of a college at Cambridge, mentioned by the late Oscar Browning, who seriously proposed that the college clock should cease to strike! At the same time there is no doubt that much needless annoyance is caused by the injudicious use of single bells, and it is in the interest of ringers to exert their influence on the side of strict moderation in such use.

The carillon installed in Hyde Park had received frequent attention on the part of the press. A regular contributor to the columns of the 'Church Times,' under the heading of 'The Humanities,' referred to it in appreciative terms, but concluded his remarks with the commendably English sentiment, 'For my own part I prefer the merry clangour of our native ringers.'

FORTUNE FOR A BELL TRUST.

Mr. C. H. Howard said, although it did not, perhaps, come within the scope of this report, he would like to mention that he had received information that Miss Barron, who had previously created a trust for assisting in the restoration of bells, had by her will left a sum of some forty thousand pounds for the benefit of the trust, which would add about £2,000 a year to the fund.

Canon Coleridge said a good many present might like to know that Mr. Ernest Morgiss' wonderful new work, a survey of ringing, was to appear at the end of this month, the only thing that remained to be done being to make an accurate index, on which he was now engaged. He (the speaker) believed there were the names of hundreds of ringers mentioned, many interesting photographs, one of them being that of the members of the Council assembled at Chester. He believed there were about 122 pictures altogether. The work, from what he had heard and seen of it, would be of intense interest to every ringer. It would be rather expensive, but he hoped that ringers who could not afford to purchase it would ask the Library Committee of their own town to obtain it and put it in the public library. The book would contain a great deal of sound knowledge which had never been put before ringers before. Library committees of town councils were only too glad to have suggestions.

A member remarked that the committee's report contained no reference to the complaints made in the press in regard to a peal of Double Norwich Royal rung at Westminster last year, and which emphasised the great need there was of care in regard to ringing peals in churches near hospitals.

The report was adopted on the motion of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. J. George, and the committee was re-elected as follows, with the addition of Mr. C. H. Howard: Rev. F. L. Edwards, Messrs. A. Paddon Smith, J. S. Goldsmith and W. Willson. Rev. A. T. Beeson and Mr. G. P. Burton, being no longer members of the Council, were not re-elected.

The sub-committee who had revised the rules for a local company (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Canon Elsee, Mr. Elwell and Mr. Wilde) was dissolved, and the committee thanked for the work they had done.

THE COLLECTION OF MINOR METHODS.

The Rev. H. Law James, reporting for the Methods Committee, said the Council would remember they arranged a year ago to print the 'Collection of Minor Methods,' but this had not yet been done because the expense of printing the book was so great in its full form that the publication could only be done at such a price that there would be, they were afraid, very little sale for it. As they had got so near to the time when the Council were going to meet again, it was decided to wait and ask the Council whether they would publish the whole thing at a cost of something like £68, or would divide it into two portions and publish it in two parts, the first part consisting of the methods only, and the second part consisting of the compositions. In view of the cost, to make it pay the charge would have to be about 3s. per copy if it were printed in one part.

Mr. A. P. Smith asked if the committee had got an estimate of the cost of printing it in two parts? If not, he suggested that the matter should be deferred until they had done so.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said the question of obtaining an estimate was not the committee's job; that belonged to the Standing Committee. The Methods Committee's job was to prepare the book, which they did, according to the standard which they set down for themselves. It was to be a complete book, and it was exhaustive. Mr. Young obtained for the Standing Committee an estimate for printing, and the committee demurred to the cost. The Methods Committee came to the conclusion that if they were going to print a book like that for the six and five-bell ringers, they must not have a book so costly that people could not buy it, and they decided that on the whole it would be better to divide it into two portions. It could not be divided into equal parts. The first part of the book would be a little less than two-thirds of the whole, and would contain a lead of all the six-bell methods which were considered to be regular, and a selection of five-bell methods; also the amended list of alternative names, the alphabetical list of the methods, and one or two other things. Among the methods, there was a complete list of Alliance and Little Minor methods, which were now very little rung, and which would introduce a new style of six-bell ringing. The committee considered that they could not omit so much as a single comma, if the thing was to be understood and useful and exhaustive. The second part consisted of the compositions and the appendix which they were last year authorised to include.

Mr. Willson suggested that before any expense was incurred, the societies should be approached and asked for a guarantee to take a certain number of copies, otherwise they would saddle the Council with an expense equal to two years' income.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Parish Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Urchfont, on Saturday, June 7th. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by the Guild service, conducted by the Rev. G. E. Lewis (priest-in-charge), who also gave an interesting address based on Daniel iii. 5. Miss Edwards was the organist.

Tea followed in the New Hall, which has been erected entirely by voluntary labour by the residents of the village.

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. He extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, Messrs. George Poppail, of Bedwellty, Mon, E. Woodroff and N. Allnutt, Swindon.

On the motion of the Chairman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. G. E. Lewis, to the organist and to those who prepared the tea.

Ringers were present from Urchfont, Aldbourne, Bratton, North Bradley, Devizes St. John and St. Mary, Melksham and Trowbridge, and touches of Grand sire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major were rung during the day. Ringing also took place at Market Lavington.

Urchfont possesses a peal of eight bells, tenor 21 cwt. The following description of the church is from 'Highways and Byways of Wiltshire': 'The noble church of St. Michael is a remarkably fine decorated work not too well restored, and yet by no means spoilt, for much of it remains untouched. A thirteenth-century church seems to have stood here, and this was rebuilt in the earlier half of the fourteenth, first the transept, then the chancel, then the south aisle, then in the fifteenth century the nave was attached and porch, and, last, the tower was added. The most interesting part of the church is the chancel of three bays, with its heavy buttresses and great stone vault.'

NEW PEAL OF 10 FOR IRELAND.

INSTALLED AT WEXFORD BY CROYDON FOUNDRY.

Five months ago Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., were asked to examine the bells at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Wexford, and to report on their condition to the Rev. John Sinnott, administrator.

The bells consisted of a diatonic eight, tenor 29 cwt., hung for ringing, with a flat second hung dead for tune playing. The tenor was cracked, and the others so badly out of tune that it would have been impossible to retune them satisfactorily. The frame, in two tiers connected one to the other, was of extraordinary height, being some 22 feet from the bottom sills to the bearing points of the top tier.

It was evident that the bells had not been rung for many years owing to these conditions, and as a result of the long inaction the fittings had become dilapidated and dangerous. Eventually it was decided to recast all the bells into a ring of ten, and hang them with new fittings throughout in a new metal frame, and to provide a chiming apparatus so that the bells could be either rung or chimed, and the order was given on condition that the whole contract was finished by May 25th.

The tower of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Wexford, where the new ring of ten bells has been opened.

The whole work has now been carried out, the metal of the old peal being distributed throughout the recast peal, the tenor of which weighs over 31 cwt.

It was on Sunday morning, May 25th, just three months after the order had been given, that the bells were inaugurated by chiming for the mid-day Mass, while in the evening at the close of the annual three weeks' men's mission an hour's demonstration of chiming and tune playing was given by Mr. S. R. Roper, the representative of the bell founders.

There was an assembly of 7,000 men in the precincts of the church, and the beautiful tone of the bells evoked the admiration of the entire audience. A further demonstration was given on Friday, May 30th, when the Papal Nuncio, the Most Reverend Paschal Robinson, O.F.M., visited Wexford to receive the freedom of the borough. This ceremony took place in the churchyard before a crowded assembly, and the enthusiasm of this Irish Catholic community was a most impressive spectacle to the privileged visitors.

From the ringers' point of view, however, Whitsun Saturday and Sunday were the great days. There is not a single ringer within 20 miles of Wexford, and accordingly arrangements were made to bring a representative band from Dublin. The ringing was arranged primarily for the purpose of testing the tower under ringing conditions, and after a few short touches the architect expressed himself thoroughly satisfied that the ringing bells had no effect on the stability of the tower, and considered that the frame provided all that engineering principles demanded. After this test a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,331 changes) was rung in fifty minutes by: P.C. R. S. F. Murphy 1, G. G. Lindoff 2, G. Lindoff (conductor) 3, T. McMorran 4, W. H. Wilson 5, E. Lutman 6, J. A. Atkinson 7, A. L. Murray 8, G. Wilmet 9, J. W. Townley 10.

Among other ringers taking part in the proceedings were Messrs. Lynch, Hogan and Kennedy, of Dublin, S. R. Roper, of Croydon, and Lungley, of New Ross. London ringers will recognise in the last-named an old Rochester Row ringer, and it is hoped that he will consent to teach a band to ring the new bells.

The volume of sound of the bells proved a revelation to the people in Wexford, and one old gentleman could scarcely believe that the ten bells could be rung by ten men, as he stated that the old eight bells required 17 men to ring them. The 'go' is all that can be desired, while the beautiful tone of the bells is a delight both to the inhabitants and ringers alike. They are pronounced to be equal, if not superior, to any ring of ten in Ireland, and Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., are to be heartily congratulated on this latest example of their craft.

The Dublin ringers wish to place on record their appreciation of being chosen to carry out the opening ringing on these bells, and their thanks are due to the Rev. John Sinnott, and the founders who defrayed the entire cost of their visit.

It is hoped to attempt a peal on the bells in the near future.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

The annual festival of the North Bucks Branch was held at Whaddon on Saturday, June 7th, and the weather being fine quite a large gathering was attracted, nearly a hundred being present. The following towers were represented: Bletchley, Beachampton, Bradwell, Fenny Stratford, Loughton, Maids' Moreton, Newport Pagnell, Stony Stratford, Swanbourne, Simpson and the local ringers, with visitors from Central Bucks Branch and the Beds Association. The bells were set going about 2.30 p.m., and service was later conducted by the Vicar of Whaddon (Rev. E. A. Selby Lowndes). The Guild form was used, and an eloquent address was delivered by the Rev. Wynne (Vicar of Grendon Underwood), and much appreciated by all.

The members were afterwards the guests of Col. W. Selby Lowndes, who had made arrangements for tea to be supplied on the lawn of Whaddon Hall, situated amidst beautiful surroundings, and where a complete view of the historic Whaddon Chase could be obtained.

After tea the business of the branch was transacted, the Rev. L. Moxon (chairman of the branch) presiding.

The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) gave a brief account of the work of the branch during the past year, and explained the financial position, which was considered very satisfactory, grants up to £10 having been made, and a balance of £12 4s. maintained.

The election of officers resulted in both the Rev. L. Moxon and Mr. W. Sear being elected chairman and secretary respectively.

The Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) addressed the meeting, expressing his appreciation of the healthy condition of the North Bucks Branch, and specially remarking on the good attendance of the clergy. Mr. E. T. Hibbert also spoke a few words of good advice.

The Rev. L. Moxon proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Col. W. Selby Lowndes for his kind hospitality. The grounds were open to members to walk round, and proved a great attraction. The bells were also kept going, the methods rung during the afternoon ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

WEDDING OF A WELL-KNOWN SUFFOLK RINGER.

On Saturday, June 14th, a wedding took place at St. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham, between Mr. William R. J. Poulson, a well-known ringer, and Miss Elizabeth C. Mills, both of Lavenham. The bride was given away by her brother. Mr. Lawrence Poulson, brother of the bridegroom, and also a ringer, acted as best man. As the happy pair left the church, the bells were thrice 'fired,' followed by a merry touch of Grandsire Triples. The bridegroom, who is deputy conductor at Lavenham tower, has rung upwards of 100 peals, and has a large circle of ringing friends in Essex and Suffolk. He is an adept, whether at the 'big' or 'little' end, his striking being an example for any young ringer. Mr. and Mrs. Poulson were the recipients of many useful presents, including one from the Lavenham ringers.

CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. PRESENTATION TO HON. SECRETARY.

The annual meeting of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association held at Northallerton on Whit Monday was a record in more ways than one.

The attendance was greater than that for many years past, representatives attending from Middlesbrough, Skelton, Ormesby, Stockton, Darlington (St. John's, St. Cuthbert's, and Holy Trinity), Selby, Thirsk, Ripon, Sharow, Tadcaster, West Hartlepool, and the local band, in addition to a visitor from the Lancashire District.

All had gathered to do honour to the ever-popular and enthusiastic secretary, Mr. Thomas Metcalfe, who, on that day, celebrated the 21st anniversary of his appointment. The presentation, consisting of a gold watch and chain with ringer's badge, and also a cheque for 26 6s., was made at the Primrose Cafe, when over fifty members and friends were present.

The President, in proposing a vote of thanks to Mr. Metcalfe for the valuable services he had rendered the association and the art in general during his years of office, mentioned that the secretary, in addition to being secretary and treasurer, had acted as Ringing Master, and, more often than not, president as well. Mr. Metcalfe's peal list was a formidable one, and had been performed in many and various towers of the association, but his chief forte lay in his work of teaching learners, a thing which many of the other leading ringers seem to ignore. Most of the members there owed their success in the art to Mr. Metcalfe, and the president voiced the opinion of the meeting when he declared that but for the work of the secretary the association would have died. Mr. Pollard also referred to Tom's famous 'bark,' but everyone agreed with him that the 'bark' was worse than the 'bite'—a fortunate thing for most of them. He gave a statement of the presentation fund which had been subscribed by 191 members and friends.

Vice-President Newton, in seconding the motion, dwelt on his many happy recollections of good times spent with Mr. Metcalfe, and touched the meeting by his sincerity and deep regard for the great and happy friendship he had enjoyed.

Mr. Pickering, a representative of the Tadcaster tower, eulogised Mr. Metcalfe's services to the association, and dwelt specially on the assistance he had rendered the Tadcaster band in their hard and uphill fight to gather together a useful company.

Mr. Robson (secretary of the Eastern Division of the Durham and Newcastle Association) accorded the thanks of the life members to Mr. Metcalfe for the way he had helped the younger members in the art.

Mr. Porter, of Darlington, one of the original members of the association, and one of Mr. Metcalfe's oldest friends, then made the presentation, which was accorded musical honours.

Mr. Metcalfe expressed his thanks in a few homely words, and gave some amusing reminiscences of his many adventures in pursuit of his favourite hobby.

At the annual meeting which followed, the secretary's report was presented, showing a continued run of successful and happy meetings and useful work performed by the association. The balance sheet showed that the funds were in a healthy condition. The first certificate under the Sunday service ringing scheme was awarded to the Middlesbrough tower, and the Ripon band received the second certificate. Meetings for next year were fixed for Guisborough in the autumn, Richmond pre-Lent, and the annual meeting at Thirsk on Whit Monday.

The service held in the Parish Church was attended by all the ringers, and the Vicar of Northallerton gave an inspiring address and welcome to the ringers, making special reference to the unique ceremony which was to be performed that day.

Photographs of the gathering and of Mr. Metcalfe were taken by Mr. Venus, of Darlington.

The peal of eight was kept going from an early hour till late at night in the various methods, ranging from Grandsire to Superlative, a special feature of this meeting being the number of young ringers present, who were made heartily welcome.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. PEAK DISTRICT.

A pleasant meeting was held at Eyam, on Saturday. About twenty-five ringers and friends were present from Bakewell, Baslow, Castleton, Dore, Eyam, Fairfield, Hathersage, Manchester, Matlock and Tideswell, and good use was made of the pretty light ring of six, tenor about 8 cwt., from 3 to 7 p.m., all the standard methods being made use of, and the ringing being concluded by a well-struck 720 of Oxford Treble Bob Minor by: V. Dane (Eyam) 1, Rev. W. P. Wright (Eyam) 2, F. Barker (Eyam) 3, F. Sheldon (Baslow) 4, A. G. Wallace (Bakewell) 5, J. E. Lewis Cockey (Dore) (conductor) 6.

At the kind invitation of the Rev. W. P. Wright, tea was partaken of at Godber's Cafe. After tea, a short business meeting was held, at which eleven members were elected, subject to confirmation at the next general meeting. Nine of these were from Fairfield (Buxton), which tower had expressed a wish to join en bloc, and were given a hearty welcome. The remaining two were Messrs. D. Carey and G. Thorpe, of Dore, the latter of these being 10½ years of age, who has to be placed on a stool to reach his bell, but who rang the treble through three courses of Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob quite creditably. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Dore on July 19th.

A cordial vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. W. P. Wright for his kindness in making all the arrangements, and for his generosity in providing tea and in opening his beautiful grounds to those present—an addition to the usual programme which always makes visits to Eyam so attractive.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

A joint meeting of the Dorchester and Wimborne Branches was held at Milton Abbey on Saturday, 120 members and friends attending. At 2.30 p.m. some members soon got the bells in motion. The following towers were represented: Bournemouth (St. Peter's and St. John's), Bradford Peverell, Bere Regis, Dorchester, Charborough, Fordington, Milton Abbey, Poole, Puddletown, Childs Okeford, Kingston Magna, Okeford Fitzpaine, Shroton, Sydling, Upwey, West Lulworth, Warham, Wimborne and Wyke Regis, and welcome visitors from Devizes in the persons of Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (chairman of Devizes Branch) and son. Four clergy accompanied their ringers.

At 4.30 the party assembled at the Abbey, where an inspiring service was held, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. J. Ellwood), and by request the Vicar of West Lulworth (Rev. C. D. Job) gave the address, in the unavoidable absence of the Master (Rev. R. H. Gundry). The organist (Mr. S. Sweetapple) presided at the organ, and the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God Who liveth,' set to the bell music, was sung for the first time in the Abbey, and the organist played the bell anthem as a voluntary. An al fresco tea followed in the grounds of the Hambro Arms. At the business meeting the Rev. C. D. Job was in the chair in the absence of the chairman (Mr. R. N. Dawes). Apologies for absence were received from the Master (Rev. R. H. Gundry), the general secretary (Rev. F. L. Edwards), Messrs. R. N. Dawes (chairman) E. Hutchings (Abbotsbury), R. Hawkins (Frampton), H. A. Runyard (Wool), and W. Cheater (Ringwood). Mrs. E. F. Middleton and Miss L. R. Clapcott (Bradford Peverell) were elected hon. members. It was left in the hands of the hon. secretary to arrange the next meeting at Bere Regis. The secretary was asked to write to Mr. T. Hervey Beams, sympathising with him in his illness.

Rev. C. A. Phillips proposed, and Rev. Wynn Wernick seconded, that a comprehensive vote of thanks be given to all concerned. The large party visited the Abbey gardens. Afterwards the Dorchester party visited Hilton and enjoyed a ring on this handy six in which the lady ringers took part. The Bournemouth and Poole party went to Puddletown and indulged in some nice touches of Minor and Doubles, and here the two parties met again, after having spent a most enjoyable day.

THE DEVON GUILD.

A meeting of the North-East Branch of the Devon Guild was held on Saturday at Cruwys Morchard. A good muster of ringers attended, and some very good ringing was done. The bells are a nice peal of six, with the tenor about 15 cwt. A service was held in the church, and the Rector gave an excellent address. After tea, the business meeting was held, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and passed. New members were appointed, and all the band of Cruwys Morchard.

A SUFFOLK ANNIVERSARY.

A very pleasant gathering took place at Lavenham on Saturday last, this being the 119th ringing anniversary. Upwards of 40 ringers were present from the following places: Ipswich, Colchester, Halstead, Sudbury, Long Melford, Coggeshall, Mistley, Stowupland, Glemsford, Groton, Finborough, Monks Eleigh, Little Waldingfield, Shipley (Yorks), and the local band. Everyone present obtained a pull on this far-famed peal. Many touches were rung in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich. The Maldon (Essex) band, who had been touring Suffolk and Norfolk, were unfortunate in arriving at Lavenham just as the bells were being lowered.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES & THEIR WORK

We referred last week in this column to the decision taken at the Central Council meeting to issue almost immediately three publications of importance and value to the Exercise. These publications, and others of similar nature, printed by the Council, are, of course, the work of committees, of whose labours, going on continuously behind the scenes for the benefit of the ringing fraternity, very little is heard. The Council meets but once a year; the labours of some of the committees go on unceasingly. Take, for example, the work of the Analysis Committee. From year's end to year's end it occupies no inconsiderable portion of the leisure hours of three or four people, who, with painstaking zeal, dissect the information which appears in every peal report, collate it and annually present to the world those tabulated statistics which are of so much interest to those who care to study them and make comparisons with the records of earlier years. To some ringers such details, perhaps, have no appeal. They may wonder why so much trouble should be taken; but even though the great majority of ringers were to take but a passing interest in the Analysis, the committee's work is more than worth while if only for the information which it assures to future generations.

Then take the work of the Methods Committee. That has a more direct bearing on the future of ringing, and, in the eyes of ringers, probably, a greater present value to the Exercise. We may not all agree with every view which the committee holds on various points of detail, but everyone who contemplates all that has been done in the last thirty years or so must appreciate the sacrifice of thought, time and labour which successive members of this committee have given, not only in their efforts to reduce the previously existing notions of the method construction to some sort of order, but to open up to all ringers the opportunity to extend their practice and expand their knowledge of method ringing. Years of study and work are compressed into the 'Collections' of methods which are published in the Council's name, and but for this committee's labours a great deal of what is now common knowledge or readily accessible information might never have been available to the ordinary ringer.

Then, too, there is the work done so unostentatiously by the members of the 'Peals Collection' Committee. In the early days of the Council some of the results of their labours appeared in print in the shape of 'Collections' of peals in plain odd and even bell methods. For a long period now work has been proceeding on peals of Treble Bob, and volumes of typed figures lie in the Council's library. Every one of these peals has had to be proved, and, in addition, a large number proved have been discarded for one good reason or another. The average man in the belfry has no idea of the tedious and exacting nature of a task like this, and where would it have been possible to find men voluntarily to undertake it, but for the stimulus given by an organisation which represents the whole Exercise.

And one might write thus of all the Council's committees; of the practical work done by the Towers and Belfries Committee, which is made up of men of scientific and practical qualifications, from whom even architects and the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings are able to learn something. The Legal Committee, dissolved at the last meeting because its work had been completed, has drawn together all the strings of the law as it relates to bells, bell ringing and ringers, and the committee's labours have produced a recital of legal information which would have been very costly to obtain in any other way. And so the work goes on. There may seem to some people little result from the deliberations and discussions of the Council; the debates may sometimes appear to lead nowhere, but the practical work is done by the committees, and a realisation of what has been accomplished ought to convince even the most indifferent that the Exercise without the Council would be very much like a ship without a pilot, drifting through uncharted seas.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Northern District, held at Handsworth, Sheffield, on June 14th, was very well attended. Ringing took place before the choral service held in the church. Mr. Baker, the Rector, gave a very interesting speech, and Mrs. Baker presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the schoolroom. Mrs. Scott, of Rotherham, proposed votes of thanks to the Rector, Mrs. Baker, the ladies for preparing tea, and the gentlemen for assisting in the belfry.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Baker, an honorary member of the Guild, was in the chair. Minutes of last meeting and the statement of accounts and secretary's report were passed. One new member was elected, Miss M. Higgins, of Handsworth. The following officials were elected: Mrs. C. Ryder, of Rotherham, vice-president; Miss N. Cawthorne, of Handsworth, hon. secretary; and Mrs. Wolstencroft, Manchester, Miss Burchall, Sutton-on-Trent, Mrs. Scott, Rotherham, and Miss E. Smith, Norton, Sheffield, on the committee. Mrs. J. Cotterell, Bradford, and Miss Lewis, Nuneaton, Warwickshire, were elected for the Central Committee (subject to their consent).

The next three meetings are: Sutton-on-Trent on September 20th, a joint meeting with the Lincolnshire District; December, at Miles Platting, Manchester; March, at Daybrook, Notts, if the local authorities will agree. The next annual meeting is fixed for Handsworth, Sheffield.

It was decided that the question of dividing the Northern District be brought before the Central Committee, owing to the impossibility of members in outlying districts attending the meetings.

Miss Burchall proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Baker for taking the chair. The bells were kept going in various methods till 9.30, when the bells were lowered in peal.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION.

A meeting of the Northern Division was held at Wethersfield on Saturday, June 14th. A service was held at the church at 4.30, at which the Vicar officiated, and Mr. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, read the lesson. The Vicar, in his address, spoke of the great service the ringers rendered to the church. Tea was then arranged in the school, followed by the usual business meeting with Mr. A. A. Saunders, District Master, in the chair. Two new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Sible Hedingham on September 13th. Mr. Howard said it was very gratifying to have such a good attendance at that meeting. He thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and his excellent address. The Vicar himself was a ringer, and Wethersfield was to be congratulated on having such a nice peal of bells, which were in excellent order. The tenor was a very ancient bell, being originally cast in 1623. Continuing, Mr. Howard said a peal was rung during the week, being the first ever known to have been rung on the bells.

The Rev. Smith, in reply, gave the visitors a very hearty welcome, and he extended an invitation to others. He appreciated the thanks accorded him. Various methods, including Treble Bob and Surprise, were rung during the afternoon and evening.

RINGERS OUTINGS.LEYTONSTONE RINGERS IN BUCKS.

The annual outing of the St. John-the-Baptist, Leytonstone band was held on June 21st and 22nd, a very enjoyable time being spent in North Bucks. On Friday night, June 20th, the party travelled to Bletchley, where arrangements for a brief stay had been very kindly made by Messrs. W. and H. Sear. The first stop on Saturday was the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Newport Pagnell. Here the party found a good ring of eight, with tenor 21 cwt. Ringing is done on the ground floor, and, considering the long draught, the bells went very well, and some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, also a course of Cambridge Surprise Major. North Crawley was next visited, where at the Church of St. Firman hangs a very good peal of six. Here a 720 Wells Surprise was rung, also 240 Durham. The next place was St. Mary's, Woughton. This church is well cared for, and the bells, a light ring of six, were soon going to Beverley Surprise, a good 720 being the result. A touch of Cambridge, then on to Simpson St. Nicholas. Here was found another well-going peal of six and a very interesting old church. A 720 Norwich Surprise and a touch of York were rung.

After lunch, Shenley St. Mary was visited, and a good 720 Southwell Surprise was rung on the ring of six, also 240 Cambridge, then on to the Church of St. Mary, Whaddon. Here, 240 of Ipswich and 240 of Cambridge were rung. At Winslow, St. Laurence's Church contains a grand ring of six, tenor 19 cwt. approximately, but, arriving late, only 240 London and a touch of Plain Bob could be attempted. Tea over, the ringers were soon on the road to North Marston. The Church of St. Mary contains another handy ring of six, where Mr. T. Faulkner ably conducted a 720 of Kent Treble Bob, after which 240 London was rung. The last place of call for Saturday was Swanbourne. The Church of St. Swithin contains another well-going light ring of six, which were soon going to Surfeet Surprise, a good 720 being the result, with 240 of London.

On Sunday morning the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Buckingham, was visited. Here there is a grand church, a splendid peal of eight bells, tenor 27 cwt., and a spacious ringing room, and bells that went well. A good three courses of Stedman was conducted by Mr. E. Smith, then a course of Kent Treble Bob. Afterwards, the party journeyed to Woughton again, where the local ringers invited them to have another pull, and six of the members rang a 720 London Surprise. Sunday afternoon saw the party at the old-world village of Old Bradwell. At this ancient and well-kept church the Vicar, Rev. Conway Davies, and local ringers were met, and on the handy well-going ring of six a good 720 Ipswich and 720 York Surprise were well rung.

Before returning home, a visit was paid to the Parish Church, Bletchley, where the brothers Sear may well be proud of their handy ring of eight, tenor 16 cwt., which go well. Touches of Stedman Triples and Superlative were rung, making a grand finale to the outing. The thanks of the party are due to the various clergy for readily granting permission to ring, and to the many local ringers, also to Mr. W. Sear and brother, who made the arrangements for such an enjoyable outing, which will be long remembered by all who took part.

GAINSBOROUGH RINGERS' OUTING.

The tenth consecutive annual outing of the Gainsborough Parish Church Guild took place on Whit Monday. With every prospect of a fine day, the members, with their friends and relatives, travelled in a 35-seater bus for Hull, via Boothferry Bridge, Howden and Goole, and at 10.45 the first stage of the journey was completed.

At Hull they were met by Mr. J. Chamberlain, one of the ringers at Holy Trinity Church, Mr. and Mrs. McGuinness, Mr. H. Marcon and Miss Norton, Lincoln, and Mr. R. Daniels, Stamford, who had made the journey by motor-cycles and car. The party were also given a hearty welcome by the Vicar. Owing to service, ringing was limited, but there was sufficient time to have a few touches on the splendid ring of ten bells. Proceeding to Beverley, the grand rings of ten at both the magnificent Minster and the fine Church of St. Mary were at the disposal of the ringers during their visit.

Mr. W. Gibson, one of the Minster ringers, joined the party at tea, after which the journey was continued to Goole Parish Church, which contains a well-going ring of eight bells. Here, as at Hull and Beverley, they were welcomed by some of the local ringers, including Mr. J. Drake. After an hour's ringing, the bells were lowered.

Parting then with the Lincoln and Stamford friends, the homeward journey was commenced, and Gainsborough reached about 11 p.m.

During the trip, the friends and relatives were able to indulge in sight-seeing, but not so for the ringers. With them it was a case of bus riding and bellringing, with the climbing of innumerable steps thrown in, but it is gratifying to be able to state that everyone had a most pleasant and enjoyable time. The best thanks of the ringers are due to the incumbents for the use of the bells, to those who gave them such a hearty welcome at the various churches, and all others who helped toward making the day's proceedings so successful.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday last, the Andover Branch of the above Guild held a combined meeting with the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Guild at Highclere, which was a great success, thirty-three members attending from the following towers: Brightwalton, Bucklebury, East Ilsley, Highclere, Newbury, North Stonham, Overton, Ringwood, Thatcham, Titchfield, Winchester and Woolton Hill.

The bells were set going at three o'clock, with a service in the church at 4.30, which was conducted by the Rev. Chilton Tomkins in the absence of the Rector, Rev. G. B. Dunlop, who was unfortunately away.

An excellent tea was very kindly provided by the Rector, and was greatly appreciated by the members, who wished to convey a vote of thanks to him, and regret that he was unable to be present with them.

A short business meeting followed, with Mr. G. Williams, Master of the Guild, in the chair, Mr. R. Rex acting as secretary, in the absence of the branch secretary, who was unfortunately unable to attend.

It was proposed by Mr. H. Curtis that a return meeting should take place at Thatcham in August, which was agreed. After votes of thanks, the members returned to the Highclere tower and then to Woolton Hill for further ringing until nine o'clock. During the day the following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples, Bob Minor and Major and Cambridge Surprise Major.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Southminster on Saturday, at which ringers and friends were present from Braintree, Burnham-on-Crouch, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Danbury, Galleywood, Great Baddow, Leyton, Little Bentley, Maldon, Romford, Rittendon, Southminster, Sible Hedingham, Tillingham and Great Yeldham.

Ringling took place in the afternoon, and a service was held in the church conducted by the Vicar (Rev. T. W. Scadding). The lesson was read by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association.

Tea was presided over by Rev. T. W. Scadding, supported by Mr. C. H. Howard.

A business meeting followed. It was arranged to hold the next meeting at Maldon on August 23rd. Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his helpful address, to the organist and blower for their help in the service, and the Vicars of Tillingham and Burnham-on-Crouch for the use of their bells during the afternoon and evening.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Longwood on Saturday, when the following towers were represented: Bradford, Keighley, Headingley, Lindley, Brighouse, Batley, Kirkburton, Armley, Huddersfield, Wath, Earlsheaton and the local company. During the afternoon the bells were rung to Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire. At the business meeting, Mr. J. Cotterell (vice-president) was in the chair. The place for the September meeting was discussed, and as a general meeting of the association is to be held at Calverley in September it was decided not to have a district meeting.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells was passed, also to the ladies for presiding at the tea tables, and to the local company for the arrangements. The tower was again visited, when the following methods were rung: Cambridge, Superlative, Double Norwich, Stedman, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

A combined meeting of the Grimsby District and the Lincoln Ladies Guild was held at Elsham on Saturday, June 21st. Members attended from Bigby, Burton-on-Slather, Barton-on-Humber, Lacey, Scunthorpe, Grimsby (St. Andrew's), Surfeet, Brigg, Branston, Gainsborough, Lincoln Cathedral, also the Misses Burchnull, of Sutton-on-Trent, and the local members. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Inglis, who gave the members an excellent address. The Ladies' Guild service was used, kindly provided by the ladies' secretary, Mrs. R. Richardson.

After tea, the ladies held their meeting on the lawn, whilst the Grimsby District meeting was held in the schoolroom. In the absence of the president, the Rev. H. T. Parry, the Vicar kindly presided over the meeting. One new member was elected, and one non-resident life member's name was confirmed by the meeting, Mr. L. W. Jacques, of Mansfield Woodhouse.

The collection for the district bell fund amounted to 8s. 2½d.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, to the organist, the ladies, and to all those who had made the arrangements. Some very good ringing was done during the afternoon and evening.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION. QUINCENTENARY CELEBRATION.

A successful meeting was held at Crofton on Saturday, June 14th, upwards of 30 ringers attending, the following towers being represented: Ackworth, Dewsbury, Earlsheaton, Felkirk, Horbury, Pontefract, Royston, Sandal, Selby, Shelley, South Kirkby, Wakefield, Wath and local company. A few touches were rung until 3.15 p.m., when the ringers attended divine service, a splendid address being given by the Rev. Marle, Vicar of Cross Stone.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar of Crofton, Rev. H. Brownrigg, presiding. He gave all a hearty welcome, and wanted to make it a good ringers' rally, it being 500 years since the church was built. Tea was served in the grounds kindly lent by Colonel Wilson. Touches of Major, Triples and Minor were rung at intervals on handbells, and the tower bells were kept going in various methods until 9 p.m.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The June meeting was held at Idle on Saturday, June 21st. The bells were kept going from 5.30 to 8.30 p.m. (except for a break for tea and the business meeting) in a variety of methods ranging from Plain Bob to Superlative.

The next meeting is due to be held at Calverley on July 26th. All ringers will be welcome.

DEDICATION SERVICE.

The eight bells of Westhoughton Parish Church, Lancashire, which were originally cast in 1870, have recently been recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, and rehung in the old oak frame, which has been strengthened. The bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Manchester on Saturday, June 7th, with the prayer: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ we re-dedicate these bells, recast and rehung through the generosity of friends of Westhoughton Church, to the glory of God, and in loving memory of those whose names they bear, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.'

Canon Elsee, president of the Lancashire Association, and many ringers from far and near were present. Mr. J. P. Fidler represented Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. The bells were opened by the local band, and afterwards were thrown open to the visiting ringers, a course of Stedman Triples being rung immediately after the service.

The old bells had never been really satisfactory, but everyone decided that the new bells, with a tenor of 14½ cwt., were excellent, both as regards the 'tone' and the 'go.'

On Sunday afternoon, June 8th, a special service was held, at which Canon Elsee preached a sermon on 'The History of Bells.'

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The mid-summer meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild on Saturday, at Stanmore, once again proved popular. Some fifty members and friends enjoyed a pleasant outing. The District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles) kept everybody in the belfry pretty busy, rounds to Surprise being the general rule.

At the service, the Rector (Rev. W. Howett) gave the members a cordial welcome and a useful message in his address.

After tea, the meeting was made as short as possible, only routine business being taken. Mr. W. Pickworth occupied the chair. Four new members were elected, and Hendon chosen as the place of the next meeting. It was announced that joint meetings with neighbouring associations would be held at North Mimms on July 19th and Edmonton on August 16th. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells; to the organist (Mr. Springett) and the soloist (Miss Atkinson); to the ladies who arranged tea; and to Mr. G. Hughes.

A course of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on handbells by G. R. Pye, Mrs. C. C. Mayne, C. C. Mayne, and W. Pye, and afterwards another visit was paid to the tower for ringing in all standard methods, including a very good touch of Spliced Surprise in four methods. Young Ernest Pye rang his first course of Grandsire Triples, and bids fair to add more laurels to that famous name.

RINGER'S WEDDING AT CARDIFF.

On June 21st a pretty wedding took place at St. John's Parish Church, Cardiff. Mr. Jack Phillips and Miss Edith Sullivan were the contracting parties, and the Rev. Jones officiated.

A large number of friends of the bride and bridegroom were present, the bride being a prominent churchworker and Sunday School teacher, and the bridegroom one of the most popular ringers in South Wales, being tower secretary at St. John's Church and one of the delegates on the Central Council for the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association. His fellow-ringers at St. John's rang touches of Stedman and Grandsire immediately after the ceremony, and later in the afternoon a peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted by a band composed of ringers from Aberavon, Llandaff, Whitchurch, and St. John's, but, to the disappointment of all, it came to grief after two hours' excellent ringing.

The happy couple afterwards left for Devonshire, where the honeymoon is being spent.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal of Double Oxford Bob was a 6,000 rung at St. Giles', Norwich, on July 6th, 1832.

John Holt first called his famous 'Original' from manuscript at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on July 7th, 1751.

St. Laurence's, Reading, where the bells have recently been augmented to 12, was one of the churches where an early peal of Grand-sire Triples was rung. A peal in this method was accomplished there in 1734.

James Barham, the famous old Kent ringer, who died at the age of 93, rang his last touch (as far as there is any record) when 91 years of age on July 8th, 1817.

William Sottanstell, who wrote a book on ringing, was born at Sowerby on July 9th, 1800.

The peal of ten bells, tenor 30 cwt., at Christchurch Priory, is undergoing a thorough scheme of rehangings by Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Salehurst on Easter Monday, April 21st, and published in 'The Ringing World' of May 2nd, should have been recorded as a Sussex County Association peal.

The Bristol United Ringing Guilds are kindly entertaining members of the Ladies' Guild to tea on the occasion of their meeting at Bristol on Saturday, July 12th.

DECAYING STONE WALLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should be obliged if any of your readers would give me advice on how to treat the stone walls of our belfry to prevent them from decay.

It should be noted that the church is not yet fifty years old, but the surface of the walls in the belfry is already turning into a powder in places and falling.—Yours faithfully,

F. LORD.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wish, through your columns, to tender my best thanks to the Master, secretary and members of the above association who attended the annual meeting at Lydney and did me the honour of electing me a vice-president of the association.—Yours faithfully,

JOSEPH GOULD.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Tuesday, June 24th, at Wootton, Northampton, the bells of the Parish Church rang out merrily during the afternoon and evening to celebrate the wedding of Mr. H. C. Frost and Miss A. E. Kightley. The service was conducted by the Rector, Canon T. H. Dodson, assisted by the Rev. J. P. de Putron, Vicar of Kingsthorpe. Mr. Frost has been a member of the local band for a considerable number of years, and has been a regular service ringer. The ringers, to appreciate his services, presented him with a silver bell inkstand suitably engraved. The reception was held on the lawn of the bride's home, the ringers being invited, and they made full use of the handbells and brought round some good touches.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

SERIAL PUBLICATION SUGGESTED.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said that he was not at all sure whether, owing to the cost of printing, the time had not come when the Council should consider the advisability of publishing this and other books in a serial way, instead of sinking, as in this case, two years' income all at once for a very problematical sale. They had a huge mass in the collection of peals of Treble Bob which the vast majority of ringers would never see.

A Member: And do not want to.

Mr. Johnson said that might be so, but if they were going to publish these things at prohibitive prices they were going to defeat their own object. They had made a collection of these things which should be material for the Exercise to work on, and he thought the time had come when, instead of some of the disputes which they found in the correspondence columns of 'The Ringing World,' they might obtain the publication of something of more use to the Exercise. He put this forward as a suggestion, and he thought the time would come in the near future when the Council would have to do this to conserve their funds.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith suggested that it would be possible substantially to cut down the material in the new book without sacrificing its utility. He referred particularly to the large number of Alliance and Little methods which had been introduced, and thought that these would be sufficiently represented by a few of the best examples. If they had not enough money to publish the whole, they must cut their coat according to their cloth.

Mr. Trollope said the ringing of Alliance methods was a new thing for ringers, and they put them in in order that ringers should have in the book everything they wanted. These methods were not rung now, but the idea was that they should be rung in the future. He hoped the Council would not agree to leaving out any single method that had now been included.

Mr. Barker asked if they could not save money by publishing the skeleton diagrams instead of the figures. Would that not considerably reduce the cost? ('No.')

Mr. E. M. Atkins said that they could save on the cost by publishing only half a lead of each method. Anyone who knew anything about methods could easily write out the other half.

Mr. Trollope: We are not publishing this book only for those who understand methods.

Rev. H. Law James said that when they published the first edition they purposely omitted all the 'bobs' and 'singles,' but distinctly stated how they were made. When they were preparing this new book they were asked to add the bobs and singles of every method, because the six-bell ringers could not understand it without. It was not the committee's fault. He would be perfectly willing to cut them all out, but his six-bell friends told him, 'No, we want them, please.' If they wanted them, they must pay for them.

Mr. J. Hunt said he was the person who suggested in the Council meeting that the bobs and singles should be included with the methods, but all he asked for was one page showing how the bobs were made in every class of method. It was not necessary for the committee to exceed their instructions; by doing so they were providing this book at a price which would be prohibitive for the six-bell ringer. He suggested they should cut out the compositions and give only examples of the bobs and singles. They could then publish the book at a much less price.

Mr. Trollope said he did not think that cutting out the bobs would very much reduce the price.

Rev. E. S. Powell said that the thing most six-bell ringers wanted was the methods. It was the conductors who wanted the compositions. The committee could not give any guarantee of what the cost of the methods alone would be; probably they would not cost more than 2s., and surely that was not too much in these days.

Mr. Cave: On a technical point, can you get a 720 of an Alliance Minor method?

Mr. Trollope: Of course not. The Alliance methods have to be used in conjunction with the Little methods, and in this way you can make up an extent.

Rev. E. S. Powell said the splicing of Alliance and Little methods was something which would enable the six-bell ringers to do what had been done at Willesden on eight bells.

The President suggested that it should be left in the hands of the Standing Committee to proceed with the printing of a section or the whole of the book with a money limit, if they liked, say, £35 or £40, otherwise they might be left for another twelve months without anything being done, and certainly there was a demand among six-bell ringers for this revised edition.

Mr. Trollope said he would rather that the actual sum of money was not mentioned if it were left to the Standing Committee. The committee ought to be left with a certain amount of latitude.

The Rev. H. Drake suggested that if a limit were imposed, it should be a limit on the price of the book when sold, and he suggested it should be not more than 2s. a copy.

Mr. T. Faulkner asked whether the committee were not authorised last year to publish the book?

Mr. Trollope: Yes.

Mr. Faulkner: Then why haven't you done it?

Mr. Trollope: Because the Standing Committee stood in the way.

Rev. H. Law James: The Standing Committee have to produce the money to pay the bills.

Mr. Faulkner said that he took the view that there was a great demand for this book, and whether it cost 2s. or 3s. they were more likely to sell a larger number of the complete book than of a portion of it. They must do something for the six-bell ringers. They sold the whole of the copies of the first edition, and now that they were giving them a new and fuller edition, there would be a very great demand which would justify their adventuring some of the money which they had in hand.

THE COMPLETE WORK IN ONE VOLUME.

Canon Coleridge said there was no doubt about the demand for this book, and he for one would like to see the whole book published at once, and he did not see why they should not do it. They had raised the subscriptions of the members, which brought in £10 or £12 a year more, and they had £70 invested, besides another £50 in hand. He thought it would be a very good thing if they published the whole book at once, and he moved that its publication in full be proceeded with, and that stock be sold out for the purpose of meeting the cost.

Mr. Faulkner seconded. It had been said, he remarked, that there was no business in it. Personally, he thought it was good business; they must speculate something.

Rev. E. S. Powell: Do you mean, published in two parts or one?

Canon Coleridge: One part.

Mr. W. Willson deprecated selling their stock. He did not consider it was good business to dispose of their capital.

Mr. Johnson moved as an amendment that the work should be published serially. He was entirely in sympathy with the resolution from the point of view that he believed that the whole of the material should be placed before the Exercise, and he believed also that the Methods Committee themselves would be bitterly disappointed if that were not done. But he also felt that they, as a Council, had no right to sequester the whole of their resources in one particular direction. They ought, however, to do something for the six-bell men, who were an important body of the Exercise.

Rev. E. S. Powell: The Major men have just had their Plain methods published for them.

The President: Do you mean that we should get into touch with the ringing paper and ask them to publish the methods?

Mr. Johnson said that was the spirit of his amendment. What the Council wanted to do was to get the whole of the methods placed before the Exercise, and the only object of publishing them in a book was for that purpose. His amendment was to get it through at a much lower cost.

A member asked if it was Mr. Johnson's intention to pay 'The Ringing World' to do this, and also how long he thought it would be before the whole thing was completed.

Mr. Johnson said that was a matter for arrangement. He did not suggest that they should ask anybody to do it for nothing, but, done in the way which he suggested, he thought the cost would be less and would be spread over a greater period.

Rev. H. Law James asked if it was the intention of the amendment that the book should be published in the newspaper or published in 6d. parts in the same way that Mr. Robinson's book on ringing was published?

Mr. Johnson said he was prepared to accept the idea that it should be published in 6d. parts.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said if they charged more than 1s. 6d. they would go beyond what most ringers could afford.

In the course of further discussion, Mr. Cave said they could reduce the cost per copy by having double the number, and he asked if it was thought that the demand would justify having 1,000 instead of 500 copies.

Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said, from the amount of copies of old books which he held as librarian, he should not recommend the Council to order any more than 500 copies of any work in the future.

Mr. Johnson's amendment was then put to the meeting and defeated.

Canon Elsee then spoke in favour of publishing the work in two volumes, one at 2s. and one at 1s. 6d., instead of in one volume at 3s.

Mr. Faulkner said the resolution as it stood was plain and straightforward. This book was long overdue to the six-bell ringers, and he did not think that another 6d. or 1s. on the cost would affect the sale of the book very much. Something had been said about sequestering the funds of the Council, but what were the funds for if not for the use and benefit of change ringing, and this book would benefit change ringing very substantially.

The Rev. H. Drake supported the idea of printing in two portions, but Canon Coleridge's motion on being put was carried by a large majority.

On the motion of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, seconded by Mr. Coles, the committee, consisting of the Revs. H. Law James and E. S. Powell and Messrs. J. A. Trollope and E. H. Lewis, were re-elected with the best thanks of the Council for the work they had done.

THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

After the luncheon interval, Mrs. Fletcher presented the report of the Analysis Committee (which has been printed in 'The Ringing World'), and, subject to the investigation of a point raised by Mr. Sharman with regard to the peals rung by the Bedfordshire Association, this was adopted, and the committee elected as follows: Mrs. Fletcher, Messrs. G. R. Pye, C. Dean and G. W. Fletcher. Mr. George Williams, who had been for many years on the committee, did not seek to be re-elected, and Mr. Coles asked if any reason could be given for the resignation of Mr. James George who was elected last year but apparently only served for a few months. No answer was forthcoming.

ANOTHER USEFUL PUBLICATION REVISED.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn made a statement with regard to the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee. During the year, he said, the committee had been carrying out the revision of the publication on 'The Preservation of Bells, Frames, and Fittings.' This book was originally brought out in 1891, and there was now only one member of that Committee still alive, and he was with them that day. He referred to Mr. F. E. Dawe (hear, hear). The committee had taken great pains with this revision, and it was now in typescript. There were certain small alterations to be made, chiefly to do with the question of cannons on old bells, and he was happy to say that they were now in a better position to deal with this more in accordance with the wishes of those who wanted to retain old cannons than they used to be. That was one of the things in which an advance had been made in the last year or two. Mr. Jenkyn added that there was now no reason in any place for it to be said that the bells were so noisy in the belfry that they could not be rung comfortably, or that some were so faint that they could not be heard, or that outside there was so much noise that the bells were a nuisance to the public. All these things, as a result of their work in the last few years, could be cured, and it would be found in this revised book how these things could be dealt with. They had kept as far as they could to the old book, but a certain amount of this was out of date and had had to be entirely rewritten, while a certain number of new discoveries had had to be included. They had felt it wise to eliminate Section 5, which was a sort of schedule which gave the prices of various peals of bells according to the weights of the tenors. If anyone was going to have a new ring of bells they could always get estimates from the leading bell founders, and it was really a waste of time and space to get out figures which, in a few years' time, might be quite wrong. They proposed to leave that section out altogether. It might have been of value at some time, but not in the last few years. Continuing, Mr. Jenkyn said with regard to the other work done by members of the committee, he had been quite busy in his own diocese, and the chief work he had been engaged in was the rehanging and augmentation of the peal at Reading. All who had been to that church were agreed that it was as near perfection as possible, both as regards the ringing of the peal and the sound inside and outside the tower. He thought that all members of the committee could report from different parts of the country that they were getting far nearer the state of things which they all desired to see as regarded the hanging of bells inside the tower and the sound of the bells inside and out. Mr. Jenkyn concluded by remarking that after the discussion on the printing of the Minor Methods he ought perhaps to be almost silent on the question of printing this book, but he was not going to be. At the moment, however, he would leave it for the Council to say what they wished and what they proposed to do.

Major J. H. B. Hesse said the principal work in which he had been engaged during the year had been the restoration of the bells at Washington, in Sussex, where he had a good fight for the faculty. He won in the end and got the job done as he wanted it. He had two other jobs in view, in one of which the architect and himself had come to loggerheads, and he did not know what would come of it.

The Hon. Secretary said that all he had been called upon to do during the year was to advise the Rev. Teape in the case to which he had already referred. He thought that the work of this committee would in itself justify, if necessary, the existence of the Council. The members of the committee were always there ready to advise with their expert knowledge.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the question raised by the representative of the Bedfordshire Association at the Central Council meeting regarding the number of peals credited to his society in the analysis, we have gone carefully into the matter and find that only 27 peals appeared in 'The Ringing World' under the Bedfordshire Association, and not 28 as stated at the meeting. A peal of Minor rung at Sandy on November 2nd, 1923, which appears in the Bedfordshire report, was published in 'The Ringing World,' No. 972, November 8th, page 709, under the Ely Diocesan Guild and Beds Association, and was therefore credited to the former society in the analysis.

A slight error occurred in printing the analysis, whereby two peals of Double Oxford were printed on wrong lines. The peal credited to the Bath and Wells should go to the Bedfordshire Association, and the one to the Cambridge University Guild to the Chester Diocesan Guild. This does not, however, affect the totals.—Yours faithfully,
EDITH K. FLETCHER.

THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the instalment of your report of the meeting of the Central Council contained in your last issue I notice on page 413 that the Standing Committee were re-elected with the addition of conveners of committees who were not already members of the Standing Committee.

It will doubtless be found useful from time to time at meetings of the Standing Committee to have the presence of someone who can report as to the work of any one of the other committees where such other committee or committees are not already represented, but I think that care should be exercised lest the Standing Committee should in this way grow to an unwieldy size. Hitherto it has been kept within workable limits, and it would be a pity were it to become larger than is really needed. I do not for a moment suppose that underlying the election of these new members there is the slightest idea that the Standing Committee has any powers of supervision over other committees and their work. It has none such whatever; at least, it certainly had none when I was hon. secretary. The work of the Standing Committee is to manage within recognised limits the work of the Council as a whole. It is not concerned with the work of other committees, which are responsible directly to the Council, and to the Council alone, and it is, of course, up to them to safeguard their rights and position in this respect. Mr. Trollope was perfectly right when he said (see page 414) that the question of obtaining an estimate is one pertaining to the Standing Committee. The Methods Committee do the work, and when that work is finished report to the Council, and the Council through its Standing Committee see to the question of publication.

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting was held at Ockley on Saturday, June 21st, when a number of ringers attended from Ockley, Cobham, Leatherhead, Dorking, Newdigate, Warnham, Charlwood and Rudgwick.

The peal of six bells at Ockley Parish Church are an old peal, dating from 1701. The tenor weighs approximately 15 cwt. Methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor were rung with varying degrees of success.

At the business meeting, the election of Mr. C. F. Winney as a compounding member was confirmed, and Mr. L. Leach, of Dorking, was elected a ringing member. Afterwards, the company adjourned to the tower for further practice. The bells were lowered at 8.30.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Laughton on Saturday, June 21st, 26 members attending from the following towers: Chiddingly, Eastbourne (All Saints', St. Mary's and St. Saviour's), Hellingly, Heathfield, Southover and Ringmer.

Ringing commenced about three o'clock, and the bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening in various methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. The Vicar, the Rev. W. A. Pearson, visited the tower, and welcomed the ringers.

At the business meeting Mr. W. D. Smith occupied the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The usual vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and also to Mr. Brett, the leader of the local ringers, who had everything in readiness. After the meeting, the members returned to the tower and kept the bells going merrily until about eight o'clock.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful meeting of the Christchurch District was held at Brockenhurst on May 17th, when thirty members were present from Christchurch, Lymington, Lyndhurst, Ringwood, Brockenhurst, Bishopstoke and North Stoneham. The church at Brockenhurst is of great age, and was mentioned in Domesday Book. Formerly four bells hung in the tower. These were augmented to six in 1924 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, one of the new bells being in memory of the New Zealand soldiers who died at Brockenhurst Hospital for New Zealand soldiers during the war, and were buried at Brockenhurst. This bell was given by the parents and friends in New Zealand.

During the afternoon and evening good use was made of the light ring (the tenor is only 4½ cwt.), and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung.

A splendid tea, provided by the generosity of the Vicar (Rev. W. A. Haslam) was enjoyed, and at the business meeting that followed the new band at Lymington were elected members of the Guild.

It was decided to hold two special meetings—Lymington on Wednesday, July 30th, and Lyndhurst on June 21st, and the next quarterly meeting at Ringwood on September 13th.

FESTAL RINGING DAY AT WHITTLESEY.

DEDICATION OF AUGMENTED PEAL.

Campanologists from a wide surrounding district comprised the greater part of a large and grateful congregation who assembled for the dedication ceremony of the rehung and augmented peal of bells at St. Andrew's Church, Whittlesey, on Saturday afternoon. The service, at which the Rev. D. A. Stewart, R.D., of St. Peter's Church, March, officiated, was a simple and impressive one, and brought back to many present precious memories of a magnificent band of ringers of a former generation.

The two new bells, which have brought those in the tower up to a peal of eight, are the gift of Mr. Charles Aveling, J.P., of Southport, in memory of his father, Mr. William Aveling, who was one of the leaders in the rapid progress of this doughty and enthusiastic band, and to whom campanologists throughout a wide area acknowledge their lasting gratitude. Expression was given to this feeling throughout the interesting proceedings, which included a parochial tea after the service, a reunion in the belfry, and an informal dinner at the Falcon Hotel in the evening, at which Mr. Charles Aveling was the host. The latter then surpassed his previous munificence by presenting the ringers with a fine set of handbells.

THE DEDICATION.

Among those present in the church were the Vicar (Rev. A. E. T. Newman), Dr. J. J. Waddelow, J.P., the Rev. W. Drake, of Lynn, Mrs. Waddelow, Mrs. Cole, the Rev. G. W. Jackson (Congregational minister), Mrs. Jackson, Mr. R. Rose, Mr. and Mrs. W. Oldfield, Mr. W. Rose (at the organ), Mrs. William Aveling, Mrs. Charles Aveling, Mr. H. Lefevre, Mrs. Frank Lyne, Mr. J. Boyce, J.P., Mrs. Boyce and the Misses Boyce, Mr. A. Whitehead, Mr. B. Walker (secretary to the Church Council), Mr. S. R. Neave, Mr. F. W. Tebb, Mr. H. Layton, Mr. F. Oldfield, Mr. H. Coxell, Miss Whyte and many other members of both parishes.

The order of service was as follows: Hymn, 'O praise ye the Lord'; Evensong, beginning with the Lord's Prayer; Psalm cxvii.; first lesson, read by Dr. J. J. Waddelow (Numbers x. 1-10); Magnificat; second lesson, read by Rev. L. L. Chaplin; Nunc Dimittis; the Creed; three Collects; hymn 166.

The choir then proceeded to the tower, where the words of dedication were pronounced by the Rev. D. A. Stewart, who also unveiled two tablets carved from the displaced oaken frame by Messrs. John Thompson, Ltd., of Peterborough, in memory of Eliza Poole, a former benefactor, and of the present donor. The tablets are inscribed: 'This tablet, made from the old bell frame, is here erected to the glory of God and in memory of Eliza Poole, in life a worshipper and in death a contributor to the rehanging of the bells. MCMXXX.'; 'This tablet, made from the old bell frame, is here erected to the glory of God and to commemorate the rehanging of the bells and the gift of the two new bells by Charles Aveling, in memory of his father, William Aveling, a former ringer and a lover of the bells. MCMXXX.'

The ceremony was followed by a short peal, and an address by the Rev. D. A. Stewart, whose text was taken from Psalm xcvi. 6: 'O let us come and worship the Lord.' The preacher, after explaining the purpose of the bells, which was to call the faithful to worship, spoke eloquently of the place of worship in the lives of men. It was, he said, the means by which the soul attained to greater heights.

At the conclusion of the service an opening course of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung by: A. Abrams 1, J. J. Jutson 2, A. T. Newington 3, W. H. Waldron 4, H. M. Day 5, F. Rowlinson 6, W. Rose 7, F. E. Collins 8.

THE BELLS.

The tenor, which weighs 19 cwt., was recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1911, to commemorate the coronation of King George V., and now, after a lapse of 19 years, two trebles have been added to complete the ring of eight, and the whole peal has been rehung in a new teak frame, whilst the older bells have been fitted with the firm's patent canon-retaining cast-iron headstocks.

All the ringers present were delighted with the 'go' of the peal and the sweet tone of the new trebles, which match perfectly the tenor, just as they 'hold their own' both inside the tower and outside, and the Croydon firm were congratulated on all hands at the successful completion of a restoration that had not been without difficulties in order to comply with the wishes of the diocesan authorities.

Among those present at the subsequent tea was Mr. Cyril Johnston, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the world-famous bell founders, of Croydon, to whom was entrusted the work of tuning and rehanging. Mr. Johnston later took part in a few 'touches' with the visiting ringers. The tea was well attended, two sittings being held in the commodious Parish Hall. The committee responsible comprised Mesdames Tebb, Coxell, Warner, W. Oldfield, F. Oldfield, Doncaster, Harrison, Britten, Blackshaw, G. Rose, F. W. Brown, B. Walker, the Misses Todd, A. Hipwell, Boyce, Britten, F. A. Walker and E. W. Walker. The very charming table decorations were the work of Mrs. Blackshaw.

The touches included a course of Kent Treble Bob Major, Stedman Triples and Grantham Triples by: A. Abrams 1, J. Jutson 2, A. T. Newington 3, W. H. Waldron 4, H. M. Day 5, F. Rowlinson 6, W. Rose 7, F. E. Collins 8. St. Andrew's ringers who took part were: H. Brown 1, P. Newman 2, U. Britten 3, A. Garton 4, W. Middleton 5, G. Goodwin 6, W. Garton 7, W. Blackshaw 8.

A MEMORABLE DINNER.

A dinner, given to past and present ringers by Mr. Charles Aveling at the Falcon Hotel on Saturday evening, was a memorable meal, the speeches, though few in number and brief, being characterised by felicitous references to a former generation of Whittlesey ringers, of whom there are but few now living, and a solicitude that others as capable might be found to continue the art when the time came for present ringers to 'content themselves with the handbells at home.'

The chair was taken by Mr. Charles Aveling, J.P., who was supported by the Rev. L. L. Chaplin, Mr. J. Boyce, J.P., and Mr. W. Oldfield, churchwardens at St. Andrew's; Mr. W. H. Wickham and Mr. T. H. Aveling, churchwardens at St. Mary's; Dr. J. J. Waddelow, J.P., Mr. W. Maize, J.P., Mr. Henry Lefevre, Mr. Edward Mountfield, Mr. S. R. Neave, Mr. James Oldfield, Mr. Bertram Walker. Other present included Messrs. J. W. Pickett, H. Goakes, C. Wilson, T. Palmer, H. Kilby, H. Taylor, J. G. Kefford, J. N. Duddington, E. Billings, B. Barnes, F. E. Smith, T. Medlock, W. Rose, C. Rawson, J. Barratt, W. Shaw, W. Middleton, G. Goodwin, H. Lewis, J. King, A. Acred, A. Neal, G. H. Wade, W. Slater, W. Smith, Joseph Duddington, J. Hardy, A. Harper, H. A. Scott, B. Walker, and F. E. Collins (of the staff of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston). The oldest Whittlesey ringer present was Mr. J. N. Duddington, aged 84, who was a noted exponent of the art in the seventies, and the only absentee was Mr. R. Burbidge, who was seriously injured in a regrettable road accident that afternoon. Pleasing harmony was ably rendered by Messrs. H. Brown and C. Rawson.

THE SPEECHES.

Following the loyal toast, the Chairman, who was received with cheers, proposed the toast of 'The Ringers of Whittlesey,' and said his first message must be from his mother, whose final words before he left Southport were that she hoped they would have a very pleasant evening.

'Some may wonder why you are present to-night. You need not wonder. I have been looking for an occasion for many years to meet the ringers of Whittlesey, and I have only just found the occasion.'

Mr. Aveling, proceeding, said that nothing had given him more pleasure than to invite them—a pleasure with which he desired to associate his mother (applause). If there was one occasion that she had enjoyed it was the annual dinner of the ringers at the house just across the road (applause). At that time he was a youngster and used to play the handbells in the kitchen, getting into trouble for not striking correctly (laughter). In proposing the toast of the ringers, he wished to include those who had gone before (hear, hear). They had left a good set of ringers to carry on. He was older than many present, the majority of whom he did not know, but he was glad to see his old friends, Mr. Duddington and Mr. E. Mountfield, who, like himself, had changed in forty years. Nothing would keep Mr. Mountfield's father out of the belfry when the bells were ringing, and, indeed, he went up when he could scarcely crawl. He was also glad to see his own cousin, Mr. Harry Lefevre (applause).

Mr. Aveling remarked that he wondered whether bellringers realised the joy they were giving to other people, perhaps miles away from where they were pulling the ropes. Though he had been away for over forty years, the sound of the bells made it a real home-coming for him, and there was nothing more lovely than the link with childhood's days (hear, hear). He hoped they would see that those younger than they would be trained in order that they might carry on and give the joy to future generations that was being given to this. He feared to think of what was coming to the lovely English countryside; they were getting a lot of ribbon dwellings until they were driving between town and town. They had to go away before they could appreciate the beauty at home, and of this beauty the sound of bells was a part. Through the ringers of the past they were what they were to-day (cheers). He coupled with the toast the name of Mr. James Oldfield (applause).

Mr. James Oldfield, of St. Mary's, Whittlesey, in the course of an able reply, said he thought the toast should have been responded to by one of the St. Andrew's ringers, for that was their day. The majority of them would think about past ringers with mingled reverence and regret. The standard of ringing to-day was higher than when he was a boy, and he recalled how several of them had started at St. Mary's with the late Mr. Smith, and by hard practice had accomplished a little chiming. The height of their ambition then was to be able to ring the tenor behind when they were chiming. He recalled being able to do a few call changes, one of which was Jackson's, and also that there had been a disagreement with the Vicar or the wardens, and the ringers dropped out. In those days they were Messrs. Rawson, Jesson, Knight, Woodhouse, G. Clark, E. Clark and others, and later an attempt was made to form a boys'

PORTSMOUTH RINGERS' ENJOYABLE OUTING.

The St. Mary's, Portsmouth, ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, June 14th, and were favoured with glorious weather. Leaving headquarters shortly after 8 a.m., the party travelled to Reading via Petersfield and Alton. However, on arriving at Alton an excellent course of Cambridge Major was being rung, and on enquiry it was found to be the St. John's, Croydon, ringers on their outing. A few words of greeting and good luck were exchanged, and the party continued their journey to Reading. On arrival here a move was made to St. Laurence's Church, where Mr. E. G. Foster had everything in readiness. These are indeed an excellent ring of twelve, with a beautiful ringing chamber. Some rounds were rung on the twelve and also Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major. A move was next made to Henley-on-Thames, and after an interval at Shiplake for dinner and refreshments the tower was reached shortly after 2 p.m. Mr. W. Appleby was there to welcome the party. Some enjoyed a stroll over the bridge and by the river, whilst others climbed the steps and rang touches of Stedman Triples, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. An excellent view of the Regatta course was obtained from the top of the tower and also of the surrounding river and country. On leaving here, the journey was continued via High Wycombe to Beaconsfield, where the local band was there to meet the visitors and also had everything in readiness. Owing to the draught of rope this was somewhat different to the other towers, but being used to it at Portsmouth, some good touches of Stedman, Bob Major, Cambridge and Superlative were rung. An excellent meat tea was partaken of at the Royal White Hart Hotel, after which some touches on handbells were rung on the vicarage lawn, whilst others visited the spacious garden. Very reluctantly a move was made to Slough, the last tower to be visited, where Messrs. Bateman and Fussell met the band, and touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were rung on this excellent eight. After bidding farewell, the return journey was started via Windsor and through the Great Park past huge clusters of rhododendrons, Ascot race course, Bagshot and Farnham, and home was reached at midnight after an excellent and most successful day. Thanks are due to the various incumbents and to those who met the ringers and helped to contribute to the day's enjoyment.

team. Mr. Oldfield had many other interesting memories of the ringers of those days, with which he delighted his audience, and added that the greatest stimulus to change ringing was that given by the Rev. Colin Bell, Vicar of St. Mary's. It was a fascinating subject, and the more they knew about it the more they wished to know. He had never attended the little suppers over the road, but he recalled how the late Mr. John Lefevre promised the ringers a guinea when they could ring 720 changes of Bob Minor, and how he was waiting at the tower door after they had accomplished it to hand each man his guinea, and how they had turned it into liquid refreshment (laughter). He asked both bands of ringers to get together in good time and 'hang their bells about' to give their host a real feast of bellringing (applause).

The Rev. A. E. T. Newman, proposing the toast of 'Mr. Charles Aveling,' said he had seen five new chambers made; three were in his father's time as Vicar of Axminster. At Kilminster he had seen some churchwardens' accounts for the years 1585, 1587 and 1588 for rehanging and making a new chamber, for the purchase of a Bible and for an official celebration of the victory over the Spanish Armada. The Bible cost 89s.; the new bell chamber cost just over 100s. (instead of £400), and the Armada celebrations cost in drinks for the ringers 112s. (laughter). He supposed the life of an oak bell frame was about three or four hundred years; whether their teak frame would last longer only time would prove, but he thought it was impervious to the ravages of the death watch beetle. Thanks to the generosity of one man the bells at St. Andrew's had been completed (applause).

Mr. Charles Aveling, briefly replying, thanked the Rev. A. E. T. Newman, and pointed out, amid laughter, that of the amount expended in drink a large proportion of the 112s. would have gone in taxation. He hoped they would always have Vicars and churchwardens who were interested in the bells, and that the ringers of St. Andrew's and St. Mary's would always remain good friends and pass from one belfry to the other (hear, hear).

PRESENTATION OF HANDBELLS.

Mr. Aveling requested the ringers to perform a few changes on the handbells. It transpired that these had formerly belonged to the Whitlesey ringers, and had come into the possession of Mrs. William Aveling, who gave them to her son.

After a round by Messrs. W. Hardy, J. King, J. Barrett, J. Oldfield, W. Smith and A. Neal, Mr. Aveling asked the ringers of Whitlesey to accept them, a generous gesture that drew prolonged applause.

The proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

PEALS AT FINEDON.

PERMANENT RECORDS IN THE BELFRY.

An interesting event in the local ringing world took place in the belfry of Finedon Parish Church on Saturday, May 31st, when a beautiful tablet recording four peals recently rung there was unveiled. Ringing commenced about 4.30, and continued until six, when the Vicar (the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw) went into the belfry to conduct the dedication service. Before doing this he gave a very interesting account of the history of the bells in the tower, with the dates of casting, and the inscriptions thereon. He then proceeded to read the dedicatory prayers, and in the presence of Mr. G. J. Pearson and Mr. J. Cuttill, churchwardens, and a goodly company of ringers he unveiled the tablet. He afterwards spoke in very high terms of the local band, and said how much both he and the churchwardens appreciated their loyalty and services. The service concluded with the Blessing.

On behalf of the local band, Mr. J. R. Hensher thanked the Vicar for allowing them, in the first place, to put the tablet in the belfry, and also for his services in connection with the dedication.

Further ringing was afterwards indulged in until about eight o'clock.

Of the peals recorded on the tablet the first is a peal of Double Norwich rung May 29th, 1926, conducted by Mr. A. Y. Tyler, of Irthlingborough, the rest being local men; the second a peal of Grandshire Triples by the local band, and conducted by Mr. J. R. Main; the third a peal of Bob Major by the local band, conducted by Mr. J. R. Hensher; the fourth another peal of Double Norwich in which five of the local members took part, including the conductor, Mr. G. Basford.

Amongst those present at the ceremony were Mr. G. Black, general secretary, and Mr. J. Nickerson, secretary of the Thrapston Branch, who also took part in the latter peal of Double Norwich.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

By the kind permission of Rev. Canon Elnor, a bye-meeting of the Canterbury District was held at St. Mary's, Dover, on Saturday, May 31st. Owing to a meeting taking place in the Dover Parish Room, which almost adjoins the church, the bells were not available until after 4 p.m. Twenty-six members were present, representing the following towers: Canterbury Cathedral and St. Aphaege, Littlebourne, Wickhambreau, Deal, Walmer, Wingham, Brabourne and the local tower. Numerous short touches were rung in the usual methods until 5 p.m., when the ringers adjourned to the Cosy Restaurant, where Canon Elnor had provided a splendid tea for the visitors. Canon Elnor presided, and in a speech in answer to the hearty vote of thanks, welcomed the ringers to Dover.

The Church of St. Mary, owing to its position in the town, among the shops and picture houses, is not an ideal tower at which to hold a ringing gathering, and the Vicar gave his permission for the use of the bells with a request that no 'long touches' should be rung. However, the meeting was quite a successful one, and the Vicar remarked that he thought the shopkeepers should have no cause to complain.

The ringers were very glad to welcome to the meeting Canon F. J. O. Helmore, who in a speech after tea paid a warm tribute to the clergy of the county for their hospitality and kindly encouragement to the members of the association.

There was no necessity for a business meeting, and the ringers then adjourned to the tower for some further 'short touches.'

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The annual joint meeting of the societies in the Southern Division area was held at Conisborough on Saturday, June 21st. An excellent feature was the good striking which was upheld throughout the afternoon and evening. The towers represented were Doncaster, Ecclesfield, Sheffield Cathedral and St. Marie's, Ranmoor, Rawmarsh, Arksey, Wortley, Norton, Killamarsh, Worksop and Gainsborough. A short service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. Lee, was very much appreciated, as also were the services of the organist and choir. At the business meeting, the Vicar presiding, the minutes of the annual meeting were read and confirmed. The arrangements for the next meeting in September were left in the secretary's hands. Votes of thanks to the Vicar, etc., were heartily carried.

SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed to state that the Saffron Walden Society rang upon Radwinter bells a peal of Superlative Surprise (5,088 changes) on March 24th, 1894; also on January 2nd, 1897, 5,024 Kent Treble Bob, and again on March 5th, 1898, 5,040 Double Norwich Court Bob. I have a record of nine peals in all that the Saffron Walden Society has rung on these bells. I thought that someone would have written about this before. T. E. SLATER.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

UXBRIDGE.—At St. Andrew's Church, for evening service, on June 29th, a quarter-peal of Oxford Bob Triples in 45 mins.: J. Peddle 1, E. Hancox 2, P. E. Jones 3, F. Corke (conductor) 4, J. H. A WELCOME AMALGAMATION.

A word of congratulation is due to those who have successfully negotiated the amalgamation of the Towcester and District Association with the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. The Towcester Association has been in existence for many years, operating in a portion of Northamptonshire, and in its earlier days uniting a number of towers which were, to some extent, at a loose end as far as organisation was concerned. The formation of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild out of the Central Northants Association and one or two 'fragments' within the diocese provided an opportunity for the creation of a single diocesan unit, which was the great objective of those who advocated amalgamation in 1924, but it fell short of complete achievement, by the disinclination of the Towcester Association to join hands at that time. Now, however, other counsels have prevailed and the members of the Towcester Association have resolved to become an integral portion of the diocesan organisation.

In these days, when the tendency among ringing societies is towards diocesan status, small territorial organisations operating independently within the sphere of a diocesan association may be a very decided disadvantage—the territorial society may be looked upon, undeservedly perhaps, as something existing for objects quite apart from service to the Church, while the diocesan organisation lacks the strength and prestige of a fully representative association. Where a territorial society is supplementary to the larger diocesan association it can, of course, serve a useful purpose, but if it exists in a condition of rivalry, or even of passive isolation, the object of the diocesan organisation in providing a united body of church workers is definitely hindered. Many of the present associations are the outcome of the amalgamation of smaller societies and the success which has attended the union of forces has been so marked that comment upon it is needless.

The benefits which have been derived in other parts of the country will doubtless manifest themselves in the Towcester district as the result of amalgamation with the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. Not only will the Guild find an added strength, but ringing in the Towcester area ought to receive a welcome impetus from the energies of the larger organisation, and, we think, an increased dignity and prestige. This joining of hands will, we hope, also lead to a considerable revival of activity in the newly acquired district of the Peterborough Guild, and promote the interests of ringing generally in that part of the county of Northants. The amalgamation is one which will be welcomed by all who have at heart the interests of the Diocesan Guild.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

EDGBASTON RINGERS' EXCURSION.

The Edgbaston (Birmingham) ringers, together with their friends, had their annual outing on Saturday, June 28th, under the joint leadership of Mr. Harry Withers and Mr. Freemantle (sexton).

A start was made at 8 a.m., the first port of call being St. Michael's, Penkridge, Staffordshire. The bells (tenor 16 cwt.) were soon ringing out Stedman Triples. The party then proceeded to St. Mary's, Stafford (tenor 18 cwt.), where Stedman Caters and Cambridge Major were rung. Whichurch, Salop, was reached at mid-day. The bells were pulled up more or less in peal. Hardly had the band commenced to ring changes when the strong man of the party gave an extra hard pull at the second rope and broke it. This unfortunately ended the ringing here.

The turning point of the tour, viz., Chester, was reached about 2 p.m., where the party were met by Mr. H. W. Wilde. A very nice hot lunch was served at the King's Head Refreshment House, and when the 'inner man' had been satisfied a start was made for Eccleston (St. Mary's, tenor 26½ cwt.). These bells were indeed a pleasure to ring upon and to hear, and London Major, Double Norwich Major, and Stedman Triples were very much enjoyed. On the way back towards Birmingham, via Wrexham, a call was made at Shrewsbury for tea, after which the party were privileged to ring on the fine bells at St. Chad's, where a touch of Stedman Caters was rung on the ten back bells and some rounds on the twelve bells.

The one adventure of note on the way back was lack of petrol about two miles outside Shifnal, but this difficulty was soon got over, much to the relief of some members of the party. Home was reached at about 11.30, after a very enjoyable day's outing. The ringers wish to express, through 'The Ringing World,' their thanks and appreciation to the various incumbents for the use of their bells, and the towerkeepers and others who helped to make the outing the success it was.

HUGHENDEN RINGERS' TRIP.

The ringers of Hughenden, Bucks, participated in a most enjoyable outing on a recent Saturday. Leaving the home tower at 10.30, the first call was at Haddenham, but unfortunately a funeral prevented ringing there. A look round the church, however, was extremely interesting. At Buckingham, after refreshing the inner man, some good touches were rung on the fine peal of bells. Stony Stratford was then visited, and some enjoyable ringing indulged in. Newport Pagnell also have a very nice peal, and another pleasurable half hour was spent both in the tower and at the tea table. Woburn's fine ring was next sampled, and some good touches enjoyed, with the assistance of the talented band at this church. The final call was Leighton Buzzard, where further ringing took place. The ringers would like to take this opportunity of heartily thanking the Vicars and 'brother strings' at the various towers. Everybody gave the visitors a hearty welcome, and everything went off well; the weather was perfect, the country all around beautiful, and the drives between the churches very enjoyable.

FINCHLEY RINGERS VISIT CAMBS.

The annual outing of Finchley ringers was held on Saturday, June 28th, when they visited Cambridgeshire. Arriving at Melbourn, the party were welcomed by the Vicar, who conducted them to the tower. A beautiful peal of six was set going. Lunch was partaken of at Barrington on the village green. At the tower there, another nice peal of six, which had not been rung for some time, was made use of. At Stapleford the party were welcomed by the Vicar and the lovely little six were soon ringing. Tea was provided at Trumpington. Heartly votes of thanks were passed to the captain, Mr. F. A. Barker, and to the various Vicars and steeplekeepers for giving permission and having everything in readiness. The bells are in good order and go well. Several methods were rung, including Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford, College Single, Oxford Bob and Plain Bob.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.
SIX-BELL CONTEST.

The annual meeting, together with a six-bell contest, took place at Sandal, near Wakefield, on Saturday. The draw in the competition resulted in the teams being placed in the following order for ringing: 1 Earlsheaton, 2 Holmfirth, 3 Meltham, 4 Shelley, 5 Stainland, 6 Batley, 7 Liversedge, 8 Friesland. The length of touch was 600 changes in any method, with three leads, or one plain course for practice. Earlsheaton, for not taking their proper position, were penalised 30 faults and allowed to ring last. There was some very good ringing.

The day was beautifully fine, and the picturesque surroundings, especially the Castle Grounds, were delightful. A company of about one hundred sat down to tea, which was provided in the Parochial Hall. The organisers were again put to no little inconvenience from the fact that many had not notified their intention to be present. In a small village, tea cannot be provided at a minute's notice.

Ring ceased about 8.30, and the meeting was held immediately afterwards, Mr. Earnshaw (Meltham) occupying the chair.

The secretary read the balance sheet on behalf of the treasurer, Mr. F. Salmons, who was unavoidably absent. The President, in moving the adoption of the balance sheet, remarked that the association was in a very healthy condition, and if the members would keep the payment of their subscriptions more up to date, things would go even more smoothly.—Mr. W. Reyner (Sandal) seconded the balance sheet, which was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Earnshaw was re-elected president, Mr. F. Salmons treasurer, and Mr. L. Hargreaves secretary.

The President moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. A. Audley Parry), the churchwardens, and the ladies, for making the contest such a great success.

The Vicar, in reply, said how pleased he was to welcome the ringers to Sandal. It was most gratifying to him when he saw such old friends as Mr. Robinson and Mr. Reyner with them, as they were with him when he came to Sandal close on 21 years ago. In his opinion bellringers were preaching the Gospel just as much as he was. He was pleased to see such a number of young men and also young ladies present, and he asked them to stick together with one accord, and encourage the young men to continue with the art.

Mr. Reyner, referring to the Vicar's remark about sticking together with one accord, said a gentleman recently making a speech stated that he did not care whether it was accord, concord, or any other cord, as long as the cord was strong enough to keep them together. He (Mr. Reyner) thought it might be made to apply to the members present.

The judges, Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford) and Mr. W. Idle (Batley), then gave their decision as follows:—

Holmfirth (Oxford Treble Bob), 130 faults; total 130.

Meltham (Oxford), 162 faults; total 162.

Shelley (Oxford), 202 faults, 10 penalty; total 212.

Stainland (Kent), 170 faults, 10 penalty; total 180.

Batley (Duke of York), rung out.

Liversedge (Kent), 90 faults, 10 penalty; total 100.

Friesland (Oxford), 178 faults, 10 penalty; total 188.

Earlsheaton (Oxford), 223 faults, 40 penalty; total 263.

Liversedge were declared winners of the cup, and Mr. F. Hodgson (conductor) was heartily congratulated by the Vicar. They must have rung very well indeed to be placed first, he said, as there had been such good ringing.

It was resolved that the secretary should write to Longwood with regard to the next contest.

Mr. Reyner suggested that next year there should be a great Yorkshire rally of ringers, to be held, say, at Ilkley, in which all the associations in Yorkshire should be invited to take part.

A vote of thanks to judges and chairman closed a very enjoyable meeting.

SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY.

CELEBRATION OF 307th ANNIVERSARY.

'Great Ringing Day' at Saffron Walden, celebrated on June 27th, was once again well attended, and also favoured with fine weather. This year's anniversary, the 307th in the history of the society, opened at 9 a.m. with the local hand ringing some well-struck Stedman Caters. A number of visitors from all parts arrived during the day, and many old friends met once again. Stedman Cinques was rung immediately before the service, which began at 12.30 p.m. The Vicar, the Rev. Dr. Hughes, conducted the service and preached the sermon, after which all adjourned to the Rose and Crown Hotel, where an excellent lunch was served.

The bells were kept going all the afternoon and evening, touches in various methods being rung, and a plain course of Cambridge Royal just failed to come round. Between the ringing the visitors were able to sit out in the sun on the leaded roof of the church, from which a fine view of the town and the surrounding country can be seen.

At the conclusion of the ringing in the evening, all adjourned to the Cross Keys Hotel, where the handbells were brought out, Grand-sire Caters and Bob Major being the methods rung.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

THE PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE PRESIDENT.

In the words of the president, one cannot think of Duffield without connecting with it memories of the late Sir Arthur P. Heywood, for it was here that he had one of his seats, and in the days of the association's early activities did so much to encourage the art. Here it was on Saturday, June 28th, that the Midland Counties Association held its quarterly meeting, which, needless to say, attracted a large concourse of ringers from many parts. The ten bells were kept going during the afternoon, and again after the meeting, but the writer cannot vouch for any of the methods rung, as, owing to a heavy amount of detail work, few of the committee were able to get to the tower.

The committee met in the Church Hall and were most pleased to have with them Mrs. Chambers (widow of their beloved late president), who came specially to assist in choosing a suitable memorial to her husband. The minutes of the annual meeting were first read, and then the hon. secretary explained that the five selected committee men had met at St. Peter's, Derby—where the late Mr. Chambers was for over 20 years churchwarden—and there had met the Vicar and churchwarden. They had endeavoured to fix on a suitable memorial, but the Vicar being emphatic against either a mural tablet or stained-glass window, the choice was very small. The bells and belfry need no addition, and the Vicar suggested two 'useful' schemes: (a) To erect pews at the west-end of the church replacing the chairs at present there, or (b) to put in two oak cupboards under the tower for the reception of hymn and prayer books. The committee, with Mrs. Chambers, deliberated a long time on this, Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey having kindly obtained drawings and estimates of cupboards. No one seemed kindly disposed to either suggestion, the first being too large an undertaking, the second not in keeping as a suitable memorial. Eventually it was decided to have a tablet erected either in Derby Cathedral or Littleover Church, but first to allow Mrs. Chambers to consult her brother, who is a clergyman, on the matter.

ST. ALKMUND'S CHURCH, DUFFIELD.

Regarding National Savings Certificates invested in the name of the late Mr. Chambers, the Hon. Treasurer explained that negotiations with the solicitors had not yet been completed, and this matter was left over until the next meeting.

At the tea which followed, about sixty ringers and friends were present from Bolsover, Chesterfield, Derby, Dore, Leicester, Loughborough, Nottingham and elsewhere. After tea, the general business meeting was held, the chair being taken by the president, Mr. E. Denison Taylor. He was supported by the vice-president (Mr. J. Griffin), the hon. treasurer (Mr. Wallace), the hon. secretary (Mr. E. Morris), Mrs. Chambers, the Vicar of Duffield (Rev. Dr. Irwin), and the churchwarden (Mr. F. Wright).

HEADING THE PEAL LIST.

The President commented on the fact that the M.C.A. again topped the list of peal ringers for the past year, which certainly was a good sign of a healthy life. He also wished, on behalf of the members of the association, to congratulate 'The Ringing World' on its one thousandth issue, especially the editor (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) on his splendid editorials covering the whole period without a break. He also said how pleased all were to welcome Mrs. Chambers amongst them once more, and paid a great tribute to her late husband's efforts for and on behalf of the association during his office as president. He welcomed the presence of the Vicar and churchwarden of Duffield, the former of whom they were all glad to know had recently become an hon. member. The President also alluded to the connection Duffield would always have with the memory of the late Sir A. P. Heywood, who did so much to encourage the art, not only for the M.C.A. (as its second president), but for the ringing world at large. He was the founder and first president of the Central Council, aptly described by Mr. Ernest Morris as 'the ringers' parliament.'

The minutes of the annual meeting were read and passed with acclamation, and arising therefrom the Hon. Secretary explained the result of the special committee's deliberations in respect to the memorial to the late Alderman Chambers. He then asked Mrs. Chambers if she would care to say a few words to those present, which she most graciously did under the stress of great emotion. She said how grateful and touched she was that the members of the association should suggest erecting a memorial to her dearly-beloved husband, their president, and she had come specially to the meeting to be of service to them if she could in any way. She herself intended placing a memorial in the campanological world to commemorate their president, who, as all knew, worked so hard for them. Mrs. Chambers also said she would be quite willing to co-operate with the association if they so desired, and as Mr. Morris had so simply explained their suggestions, she would consult her brother and give them an early reply as to his views on the matter. She thanked the members most kindly for their cordial welcome to her, and they would understand what a trial it was to her to come, as on every occasion she had accompanied her husband. It was, however, greatly eased by their great kindness, which she appreciated very much.

An admirable report on the proceedings of the Central Council was given by Mr. William Willson, who gave an outline of most of the business and Mr. J. H. Swinfield also spoke on the matter.

New members confirmed in their election since the last meeting were 16 ordinary, 4 honorary, and 4 life.

Mr. W. E. White proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local committee for the arrangements made for the meeting, and to the ladies for catering so excellently. The Rev. Dr. Irwin, Vicar of Duffield, suitably replied with a witty little speech. E. M.

A BELFRY ENDOWMENT FUND.

Duffield Church, with which Sir Arthur Heywood was so intimately associated, is especially favoured by having a belfry endowment fund instituted by Sir Arthur and established in 1891. It consists of £500 5 per cent. Midland Railway Consolidated preference stock, the object of the fund being to give the ringers' society an improved position in the parish by providing them with an assured salary, independent of the vote of the church authorities, also to ensure at all times a sufficient sum of money in hand to keep the bells and ringing chamber in perfect order, without any draw upon the Church Expenses Fund. His hope in thus endowing the belfry was that the proper ringing of the bells for the Sunday services would be thereby guaranteed, while the proviso, contained in the trust deed, that only half the salary be paid if half-pull ringing deteriorated into rounds or call change ringing, is intended to encourage future generations of ringers to preserve scientific change ringing. The fund provides for the payment of £2 per annum to each of not more than eight official ringers, and £1 to each of not more than two deputy ringers, and £1 to the steeplekeeper for his care of the belfry, and 6d. for each service at which only one bell is rung. The fund also provides the cost of booking peals and of a new book when necessary. Any balance may be devoted to payment for ropes, muffles, oil for bells, lighting and warming the ringing chamber, treatises on change ringing, repairing bells, bell frames, sound shutters, belfry stairs and doors, painting and refurnishing the ringing chamber, etc.

Prior to 1720 there were four bells at St. Alkmund's Church, Duffield. In that year two trebles were added, while at various times subsequently the original four were recast. This ring of six was replaced by a peal of eight (tenor 17 cwt.), cast by Taylor and Co. in 1884 and in 1887, to commemorate the jubilee of Queen Victoria two more were added by Sir Arthur Heywood.

THE PEAL IN A COAL MINE.HOW PIT LAMPS SAVED THE SITUATION.

Our readers will have read with interest in our issue of June 27th of the ringing of the first peal in a coal mine. This was achieved by the Newcastle Cathedral Guild in the West Cramlington No. 2 pit of the Hartley Main Coal Co., Ltd., the ringing taking place in a new seam 441 feet below the surface. This performance (a peal of Grandsire Caters) ranks with other unique achievements such as the peal rung on the Irish Sea, the peal rung in a railway train, and another rung while the performers were in bed. It is interesting also to note that Mr. W. H. Barber, who conducted the peal in the coal pit, also took part in the peal rung on the sea.

The ringers in the mine were Messrs. John Anderson, W. H. Barber, W. J. Davidson, R. S. Anderson and Adam Deas, and the referees Messrs. J. E. R. Keen and Oswald Simm.

On arriving at the pit head about 4.30, on Saturday, June 21st, the ringers were met by Mr. Simm and Mr. Wilson (colliery under manager). After the group had been photographed, they were conducted to the lamp cabin, where every man received a small pit lamp. These lamps proved the salvation of the peal. From the lamp room the party proceeded to the engine room (where all cigarettes and matches had to be deposited before descending), then into the cage, which was carefully and quickly lowered to the low main seam. Then with heads down and backs bent, they proceeded through the galleries, and soon reached the 'ringing chamber,' where the walls were of solid 'black diamonds.'

A prompt start was made, and the bells rang out clearly and lively until the 18th course was reached, when suddenly out went the electric light, and darkness prevailed. However, within a second or two the pit lamps, which had been left on the 'roadside' were placed in the centre of the ringers by some of the small audience, and although this was a poor substitute it saved the situation, and the ringers were able to carry on in the semi-darkness.

Mr. Wilson, realising, however, the importance of a good light, immediately despatched a man to 'dig out' the company's electrician from his home in Cramlington, and, after what seemed like a year, though it was really 50 minutes, the electric light rays again streamed out, much to the relief of all, and especially of the worthy conductor. About 40 minutes later the peal was brought successfully to an end, and after the peal a course of Stedman Triples was rung by: J. E. R. Keen 1-2, W. J. Davidson 3-4, W. H. Barber 5-6, Oswald Simm 7-8.

The ringers take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Wilson and Mr. Simm for making the necessary arrangements and having everything in readiness for the peal.

DEATH OF OLD SURREY RINGER.

On Thursday, June 26th, the death took place of Mr. George Sayer, of Ashted, aged 81. George Sayer was a notable ringer about Surrey fifty odd years ago. He was the last survivor of the celebrated peal by four fathers and four eldest sons rung at Epsom Parish Church sixty-one years ago, which is recorded in the tower. He also took part in the first peal for the Winchester Guild at St. Nicolas', Guildford, which is recorded there, also the first peal on Ashted bells, on April 5th, 1874. During the past twenty-five years he did very little ringing. He had a short revival on the 50th anniversary of the opening of Ashted bells by ringing the third faultlessly to a peal of Grandsire Triples on December 29th, 1923; and on April 5th, 1924, the 50th anniversary of the first peal on the Ashted bells, he again rang the third, which was his last peal.

The funeral took place at Ashted churchyard on June 30th. Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung half-muffled before and after the service by the following: W. Messam, A. Dean, G. Mariner (Leatherhead), J. Beams (Ewell), J. Crawford (Epsom), W. Cook, G. A. Cook, W. H. Corbett, D. Auscombe (Ashted).

The Rector of Ashted, Rev. E. J. Austin, wishes the undersigned to thank the ringers who took part in the above ringing, also to express how much he admired the excellent striking and the deep impressiveness of half-muffled ringing.

DOUBLE LITTLE BOB.

The first peal of Double Little Bob was rung at Handsworth, Yorks, on July 1st. The following are the method and the composition:—

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Towcester and District Association has joined the Peterborough Diocesan Guild as from July 1st, 1930, and will now be known as the Towcester Branch of the Guild. The Towcester Association had roughly 100 members and nearly 20 towers, so this amalgamation should lead to a considerable increase in the Guild's activities.

The recast peal of eight (tenor 22 cwt.) for St. Mary's Parish Church, Penzance, has now been installed by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The dedication is to take place in the middle of August, notice of which will appear in our columns in due course.

In connection with the Middlesex and Hertford joint meeting at North Mimms, on July 19th, Mr. C. T. Coles asks us to state that cheap day return tickets are issued by the L. and N.E. Railway to Brookman's Park and Potter's Bar stations from King's Cross and immediate stations. Convenient trains from King's Cross are the 2.11 to Brookman's Park (change at Finsbury Park) and the 2.30 to Potter's Bar. There is also a frequent service from King's Cross to High Barnet at cheap fares, thence by the St. Albans bus.

Exactly one hundred years ago next Tuesday a peal of 5,000 New Treble Bob Royal was rung at Leeds. The 'New' Treble Bob is what is now known as Kent.

The first peal of Erin Gaters was rung at North Shields on July 12th, 1909.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday an exceedingly delightful meeting of the North Staffs Association was held at the beautiful village of Swynnerton in glorious weather. About thirty members attended from Uttoxeter, Leek, Stoke, Burslem, Brown Edge, Kidsgrove, Norton-le-Moors and Norton-in-Hales (Salop). As the village is situated some three and a half miles from the main road, the Rector (Rev. J. B. Frith) with his usual kindness conveyed the members from the main road to the church in relays in his motor-car, this mode of procedure being repeated on the return journey.

The tower contains a nice ring of six bells (tenor about 11 cwt.), which were freely used during the afternoon and evening. Tea was generously provided by the Rector, and, after this had been disposed of, Mr. J. E. Wheldon (Norton) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, not only for providing tea but for the very good work he was doing for the association. Without doubt, he said, the Rector of Swynnerton was the most popular clerical secretary since the late Rev. J. W. Alston, about thirty years ago. He also congratulated the Rector on the great progress he had made in his ringing since the meeting there last year, especially considering the geographical isolation of Swynnerton from other towers.

Mr. S. Churton (Stoke) seconded the vote of thanks, which was supported by Mr. E. A. Ridgway (Leek).

Ringing was kept up until 8 p.m. in many different methods, and concluded by a splendid 'drop' in rounds, the band being heartily congratulated when they got outside by the other ringers who had stayed to listen to it. This concluded one of the most successful meetings of the year.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

The President, in a valuable contribution to the Towers and Belfries Committee's report, said that during the year two interesting cases had come up as far as he was concerned. One was the case of Barnet, where the architect asked for information as to the amount and direction of the forces set up by ringing the bells in the tower. That was the first time he had heard of an architect asking this question, which was the first question any architect should ask when he had anything to do with the rehanging of the bells. He (the President) thought that was a step in the right direction. There was another interesting point. The architect himself suggested a reinforced concrete sill round the tower, built into the wall, to carry the frame and make sure that all the forces set up by ringing the bells were properly transferred to the tower as a whole and not to odd stones in the tower. The architect asked him to design a suitable beam. He got out the design and had it checked by a firm associated with his company, and he believed that beam was now in place. It was a continuous reinforced beam right round the tower, built into the walls with strengthening pieces across the corners. Another matter which came before his notice was from the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings. They were considering a frame in which, while some of the bells swung in the usual way, parallel to the walls of the tower, others swung diagonally. The society asked the question on a general principle, was it an advantage to arrange for bells to swing diagonally in a tower or the contrary? That raised an interesting question. It was some seventeen years, he believed, since he gave the Council a general statement on the problem as it then stood, and he would like to restate that to some extent now. They knew now what were the forces which they had to guard against, and they knew that those forces should be transferred to the tower in the most rigid possible way spread as far as possible over the whole of the walls. The amount of the forces was not really serious, because it was, generally speaking, less than the wind pressure on that portion of the tower above the bells in any reasonably stiff wind, so that the actual force, if properly transferred, was not at all serious. The danger was in the period of these forces—because they were regularly recurring forces—getting in tune with the natural beat of the tower at which it swung normally as an elastic body. In this case they might get a much greater movement of the tower gradually built up, and that might do very serious harm to the tower. One thing that could be done to guard against this was to be sure that the direction of the forces was so arranged that the tower should best stand up to them—that was to say, that the direction was that which would give the least movement of the tower. In a perfectly symmetrical square tower, the stiffness diagonally from north-west to south-east was exactly the same as the stiffness from north to south or from east to west. There was no getting away from that, provided that the actual masonry of the tower was sound, so that the tower was a whole piece of masonry and not separated into parts by a series of cracks.

EFFECT OF OPENINGS IN TOWER WALLS.

There were, however, no towers completely symmetrical, uniform and without openings in the walls, so they had to consider the question of towers where parts of the walls were cut away. The relative stiffness of any section of a tower could be accurately calculated. He would not go into details as to how it was done, but it was quite simple. Let them, however, take as an example a tower 14ft. square inside, with walls 3ft. thick. If they cut away 10ft. of the east and the west walls, as in the case of a western tower with an open arch and west window, the stiffness of that section of the tower from north to south was reduced to nearly 1/50th part of what it would be if the walls were continuous all round, and the stiffness east to west would be one-half of what it was with the walls continuous all round. With the stiffness in one direction reduced to about 1/50th, and in the other direction to about one-half, the diagonal stiffness was less than one-third of what it was in the original complete tower. If they went a little further and assumed a tower arch opening and west window opening 14 feet wide, so that they had walls left on the north and south sides 20 feet long and 3 feet thick, the stiffness of the section east and west was about two-fifths, and the stiffness north and south was less than one one-hundredth part of the complete section of the tower. He mentioned that as a practical example, because it was one of the commonest types of tower which they met with, and seemed to show that the heavier bells should be hung to swing east and west, if they wanted them to swing against the greatest stiffness. When they came to buttresses and other portions of the church which supported the tower, the problem became more complicated, but still to a large extent could be calculated. If to the tower which he had given as an example they put at each corner two buttresses 3 feet wide and 2 feet in depth, they increased the stiffness by approximately 50 per cent., and if in that case they had a 10 feet opening in the north and south walls, they would bring the east and west stiffness back to the figure of the original complete tower without buttresses. The north and south stiffness would be about twice what it was without buttresses. It was only right to point out that in certain particular cases a section of a tower might be stiffer in a diagonal direction, as in the case of Northaw. There the tower rests on two walls, one on the west and one on the south side, with a single pillar in the north-east corner, and it had been confirmed by measurement that the tower was stiffest in the north-west to south-east direction, the actual movement of the tower in different directions varying directly as the force applied, and inversely as the calculated stiffness. These principles had been applied to Barnet tower, which had been somewhat damaged by the way in which the bells were arranged to swing, and partly, it was alleged, by the heavy traffic on the roads on each side of the fork where the church stands. This would be more serious on account of the comparatively shallow foundations, and also probably on account of the natural water level in the ground being lowered by drainage, which in these days was more elaborate than formerly. The two heaviest bells originally swung on the west side of the tower in a north and south direction, and the ropes were hung on opposite sides of the wheels, so that they got the worst possible arrangement for the tower. It was difficult to do anything much in the way of rearranging the bells in the frame, but the whole frame was being turned ninety degrees, so that the tenors would swing east and west next to the north wall of the tower, and he would be looking forward with considerable interest to the result in regard to the movement of the tower when the bells have been so rehung.

This speech by the president was followed by the members with the closest interest.

COST OF BOOKLET TO BE MET VOLUNTARILY.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn proposed the adoption of the report, and moved that the revised edition of the pamphlet on 'The Preservation of Bells, Frames and Fittings,' be printed as soon as possible. Canon Elsoe seconded, and said the revised book would be of great use to those who were members of diocesan advisory committees.

The report was adopted, and the Rev. H. Drake, in proposing the re-election of the committee, viz., Revs. C. D. P. Davies and C. W. O. Jenkyn, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. E. A. Young and E. H. Lewis, asked whether it would not also be possible to include in the book Mr. Lewis' paper.

The President said he did not know if it could be conveniently published in the report, but it might be published later.

The Rev. E. H. Powell seconded.

Mr. F. E. Dawe said he did not agree entirely with all the funds of the Council being expended on one subject, but he thought that part of the cost of publishing the book on the Preservation of Bells might be met by subscriptions among the members themselves. He had sometimes been asked what was the good of the Central Council? Here was an opportunity for them to show that they were of some good to the Exercise. By having a subscription list for the publication of this interesting matter they would be able to meet part of the cost at any rate, and he was sure the great majority of the Council would be glad to subscribe. He would be pleased to start such a fund with a couple of guineas (hear, hear).

Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said he was glad Mr. Dawe had made this suggestion. Mr. Dawe had spoken to him about it that morning, and he told him that the same idea was in his own mind. He would be glad to back up the suggestion with a subscription of two guineas, because he thought it was going to be a book which would be very useful to the Exercise.

A number of other members intimated their willingness to contribute, and the President asked them to communicate with the secretary. From the promises, it appeared as if the book would be printed without cost to the Council.

The Rev. E. S. Powell suggested that the book should include the chapter from Sir Arthur Heywood's book written by Mr. Lewis. It would be an extremely valuable thing to the Exercise as a whole, as Sir Arthur's book was now out of print.

The President said if they would leave it in the hands of the committee they would see what they could do in the way of publication. The motion to print the book at once was carried.

THE YEAR'S NEW RECORDS.

The report of the Records Committee, read by the hon. secretary, submitted a list of records of first peals in new methods and of progressive lengths in the same or other methods up to date. In new or differently spliced methods the list was as follows: April 5th, 1929, 5,280 Spliced Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Maximus by the Essex County Association; May 18th, 5056 Loughborough Bob Major by the Chester Guild; August 13th, 5,120 Surprise Major in ten methods by the Middlesex County Association; November 30th, 5,280 Yorkshire Surprise Maximus by the Suffolk Guild; February 12th, 1930, 5,000 Double Norwich, Double and Plain Bob and Little Bob, and Double Oxford Bob Major Spliced by the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. In progressive lengths there were: May 18th, 1929, 5,184 Spliced Plain Bob and Canterbury Pleasure Major by the Kent County Association; August 5th, 15,312 Cambridge Surprise Maximus by the Lancashire Association; November 20th, 5,760 Duffield Major by the Midland Counties Association.

To the report there was attached a note by the Rev. H. Law James as follows: 'Superlative Surprise Maximus was published in the "Bell News" by my brother, and has never yet been rung. The variation which has been rung is only an inferior variation.'

Referring to Mr. James' note to the report, the President said so long as the figures of the method that was rung were known, the object of the Records Committee's report was complete.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston having resigned from the committee, the remaining members, the Rev. H. Law James and Mr. T. H. Beams, were re-elected, and Mr. G. Grover was added.

LEGAL COMMITTEE'S REPORT TO BE PRINTED.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett, on behalf of the Legal Committee, said that no reference had been made to them during the year. The work which the committee was appointed to do was completed when the report was presented at Chelmsford last year. The only thing now to do was to discharge the committee with thanks for their services, and he moved accordingly (laughter).—Mr. A. P. Smith seconded.

Rev. H. Drake said he did not think the work of the committee had finished. There were one or two things which might crop up, and they ought to keep the committee in existence, even if there was no work for them to do. There was one thing to do, and that was to publish the report. The committee's report ought to be printed. They had just heard a good deal about the cost of printing, but this report would not cost very much, and he would be glad to stand the expense of it (applause). It was a most important thing that there should be something in print to put before people who might raise any point covered by the report.

Alderman Pritchett said he was now the only member of the committee. Mr. Elwell was no longer a member of the Council. Mr. Milne had died, and he did not see that it was any good to keep the committee alive, unless there was something for it to do. He himself saw no further work for it.

Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said one of the duties they requested the committee to undertake was to keep an eye on legislation which might be contemplated, and it was for that purpose that they needed trained lawyers to watch over their interests and communicate with the Standing Committee in case of any emergency. The committee had defined the law as it stood so far, but something else might arise.

The President said one thing they had not referred to, and that was the unfortunate death of Mr. Milne. He thought they ought to take that opportunity of noticing that fact, and of expressing their regret and sympathy with the relatives in the usual way.

The members thereupon rose and stood in silence for a few moments.

The President added that he would propose that the committee, as suggested, be discharged with thanks for their services, and that Mr. Pritchett be asked to retain a watching brief for the Council on any new legislation which might be proposed. If he would do that, and if at any time he wanted assistance, the Standing Committee would give him permission to co-opt anybody he wanted to help him.

Alderman Pritchett said he would be happy at all times to advise the Council on all legal matters so far as his ability extended (applause).

The President said they should thank Mr. Drake for his offer to print the report of the committee, which was so very valuable (applause).

On the formal motion of the President, seconded by Mr. W. H. Shaker, the committee were discharged with thanks for their services. (To be continued.)

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The summer meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Dumbleton on June 28th, and was attended by a fair number of members. The weather was gloriously fine, and probably this fact kept a number away, for the haymaking was in full swing in the district. The bells were started at three o'clock. A short service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Collins Ashwin), with the organ and a full choir to support him. After service all were the guests of the Rector to an excellent tea, which was much appreciated.

At the business meeting the Rev. Collins Ashwin presided, supported by the Rector of Alderton and some 35 members of the branch. Regrets for absence were received from the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Mr. J. Austen and Mr. Jesse Gillett.

Several new members were elected, and hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Rev. Collins Ashwin, the organist, the lady helpers and, last but not least, Mr. Fred Nurdin, the energetic captain of the local tower.

The Chairman, in reply, said it always gave him the greatest of pleasure to welcome members of the association to Dumbleton, and trusted they would pay him another visit shortly.

After the meeting, some members returned to the tower, but the larger portion took the opportunity of visiting the beautiful grounds and greenhouses of Dumbleton Hall, the residence of the Right Hon. Sir Boulton Eyres Monsell, M.P. The party was conducted round by the head gardener (Mr. Gillett), and everyone was delighted with all they saw. The best thanks of the members are extended to Mr. Gillett for his courtesy.

More ringing on the bells made this one of the most enjoyable days the branch has had.

BELL RESTORATION AT BROUGHTON.

The peal of six bells at Broughton Parish Church, Lanes, have been thoroughly overhauled and relung with ball bearings and a guide for the ropes fixed to counteract the long draught, the bells being rung from the floor of the tower. The bells were rung for the first time since the restoration on Whit Sunday, when everyone was delighted with the splendid go and the great improvement which has been brought about.

The whole of the work has been carried out in a most satisfactory manner by Mr. J. E. Groves, Birmingham, and is a distinct credit to him.

AN EASTERN COUNTIES OUTING.

On Saturday, June 28th, the Helmingham and Otley bellringers had a most enjoyable day on the occasion of their annual outing. The party proceeded to Braintree, where they were met by Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) and Messrs. L. and G. Wiffen. Here a touch of Bob Major, two courses of Stedman Triples and a course each of Cambridge and London Surprise were rung. At Dunmow, a nice peal of eight (tenor 22 cwt.) was found. A touch of Bob Major and a course each of Superlative and Pudsey Surprise Major were achieved. At Bishop's Stortford, after dinner, a visit was made to the church, where there are ten bells, and a course of Kent Treble Bob Major, a course of Kent Treble Bob Royal and a course of Grandsire Caters were rung. Then a long run brought them to Clare for tea, and, afterwards, touches of Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were brought round. The Vicar welcomed the ringers, and expressed his pleasure at hearing the bells rung. A surprise call was made at Lavenham, where Mr. A. Symonds and his son, Stedman, were called on, and kindly responded, so that the company had an opportunity of ringing on this fine peal. A course of Bristol Surprise Major and three leads of Kent Treble Bob Major were accomplished. The party wish to thank the various incumbents for granting permission to ring, and also to thank all the friends who met them at the towers.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A 'CANCELLED' MEETING.

A meeting of members of the Ely Diocesan Association took place at Soham on Saturday, when among the visitors who attended were ringers from Fyfield (Essex), Saffron Walden, Brentwood, Newmarket, Sawston, Exning, Mildenhall and others, besides the members of the local band. Ringing took place on six, eight and ten bells. Unfortunately those responsible for the appeal, 'Please try and attend this meeting,' failed to attend themselves, therefore no business could be transacted.

An informal meeting was, however, held after ringing, when general dissatisfaction was expressed that no notice was given of the quarterly meeting being cancelled, thereby causing not only disappointment but unnecessary expense to those visitors who responded to the request to attend.

The visitors were afterwards shown over the picturesque gardens of the Vicarage by the Vicar (Rev. P. F. Boughey), who also entertained the ringers to tea on the lawn.

Those present expressed to the Vicar their thanks for the use of the bells and also for his kind hospitality.

AUGMENTATION AT ALMELEY, HEREFORDSHIRE.

Service at the Church of St. Mary, Almeley, on Sunday evening, June 29th, was a memorable one for the large congregation that was present to witness the dedication of a new treble bell to the memory of Mrs. C. T. Hunt. The ceremony was performed by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese (Dr. Linton Smith), who afterwards preached an eloquent sermon on the uses of bells.

The five bells in this tower had done duty since the year 1733, having been cast at the celebrated Rudhall foundry. Some time ago the question of adding a treble was brought forward, and in due course the scheme was to be proceeded with. In November last, Mrs. Cecelia Teresa Hunt passed away, and when the question of a suitable memorial to her was suggested to the Vicar by her relatives, he at once thought of the extra bell, and this was agreed to, as she had been an hon. member of the Clifford District ever since the division of the Hereford Guild into districts.

The new bell, which weighs 4 cwt. 3 qr. 6 lb., and bears the simple inscription, 'Cecelia Teresa Hunt, 1929,' was cast at the Whitechapel Foundry, and makes an excellent splice. In addition, the two back bells have been put on ball bearings, and four of the original five have also had new heads of the latest type put on the clappers. Angle plates have been fitted in every corner, and vertical bolts put through all the struts of the frame. The whole cost has been borne by the relatives of the deceased lady.

Ringers were present at the dedication service from Lyonshall, Norton Canon, Staunton-on-Wye, Kingstone, Eardisley and Madley. A few rounds were rung during the service by the local band and also after the service, the district secretary (Mr. J. P. Hyett) ringing the new treble. The bells were then thrown open, but a 720 of Bob Minor failed to materialise, although conducted by the Guild Master, Mr. C. Edwards.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.NEW SECRETARY APPOINTED.

The annual general meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Southampton on Saturday last, when nearly 80 ringers were present from various towers in the Alton, Andover, Basingstoke, Christchurch, Isle of Wight, Portsmouth, Southampton and Winchester Districts. The visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson (Surfleet), and Mr. J. M. Cripps (Shoreham-by-Sea). The peals of eight at St. Mary's and St. Michael's were available to the members during the afternoon and evening, and were used to full advantage. The business meeting was held in the Chantry Hall, presided over by the Master (Mr. G. Williams), supported by the hon. treasurer (Rev. Evan Jones) and the general secretary pro tem. (Mr. F. W. Rogers). Mr. G. Pulling (late hon. secretary) was also present.

The balance sheet showed a balance in hand of £48 15s. 1d. on the general account, and £23 16s. in the special purposes fund.

The election of officers (other than ex-officio) resulted as follows: Master, Mr. G. Williams; hon. treasurer, Rev. Evan Jones; recorder of peals, Mr. H. R. W. Aitken; auditor, Mr. G. Smith; Central Council representatives, Messrs. H. Barton and G. Williams.

Owing to the regretted resignation of the general secretary earlier in the year, it was necessary to elect a successor. Several prominent members were asked to carry out the duties, but declined, and as a last resource Mr. F. W. Rogers offered to carry out these duties for the ensuing year, or until such time as a permanent secretary could be found.

A discussion took place on the subject of Guild hymns and prayers at Sunday services, and also on the relationship between clergy and ringers. As the proposer of this motion was unable to be at the meeting, it was decided to defer it until the proposal could be fully explained.

On the question of the new Guild certificate, a rough sketch, drawn up by Mr. W. H. Fussell, was on view, and it was approved in principle and left to the sub-committee to decide on its final design. Mr. Fussell was thanked for his kind services.

Mr. E. C. Merritt (St. Peter's, Brighton) was elected a compounding member.

After proposals that either Portsmouth, Christchurch or the Isle of Wight should be the venue of the next annual festival, it was decided by vote that it should be held at Carisbrooke and Newport on Saturday, July 4th, 1931. The secretary was also instructed to invite the Bishop of Portsmouth to be the special preacher.

The Guild service was held in St. Mary's Church, at which the Vicar of Highfield (Rev. A. W. Chute, O.B.E.) was the preacher.

An excellent tea was served in the Chantry Hall, after which votes of thanks were accorded the Rector of St. Mary's and the Vicar of St. Michael's for the use of the respective peals of bells.

At the conclusion, the members adjourned to the two belfries for ringing until 8 p.m., the standard methods and Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major being rung.

THE DEVON GUILD.To the Editor.

Sir,—The report supplied to you of the annual meeting at Exmouth of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers stultifies itself. According to the concluding paragraph, 'the keen interest shown would appear to belie the allegation that the Guild has reached its decay.' But the report of the general committee, given earlier, says: 'Only 15 peals have been rung, compared with 27 in 1928. While peal ringing is not the sole aim of the Guild, it is undoubtedly an index of progress, and this falling-off, together with a decline in membership, are factors that give the committee some anxiety.' The compiler of the report of the meeting undoubtedly attempted to put the Guild in as favourable a light as possible, but those who have the best interests of the Guild at heart cannot agree with the policy of letting things go by default.

The decline and the causes that have contributed to it are matters that demand serious consideration. Attempts were made at the meeting to propound ideas that might be helpful, but the closure was relentlessly applied, and only one or two who refused to be brow-beaten succeeded in getting a reasonable hearing. Their challenge that the Guild membership had declined could not, apart from some quibbling about details, be denied, and there was no satisfactory answer to the assertion that a great deal of bad striking, mainly associated with even-bell methods by immature performers in various parts of the county, where call change ringing is usually carried out with beautiful rhythm, had done and would do much harm to the reputation of the Guild. There was some abuse of local and other critics of the Guild, including yourself, as Jeremiahs, and I was tempted to use Jonahs by way of retort, but refrained, as personalities are neither dignified nor desirable. It is not a comforting reflection that about a third of those who took part in the business felt compelled to break away from the traditional procedure and offer opposition to the present regime. That third includes a big proportion of the most experienced and most thoughtful members of the Guild. I am ready to bear tribute to the enthusiasm that has been shown, but venture to suggest that it should be tempered by consideration for others.—Yours truly,

A. W. SEARLE.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.VISIT TO SUTTON COLDFIELD.

The summer quarterly meeting of the above Guild was held on Saturday, June 28th, under very pleasant climatic conditions, at the ancient and royal borough of Sutton Coldfield, which is situated in lovely country about eight miles north-east of Birmingham. The bells of the Parish Church of the Holy Trinity were kept going in various methods from three o'clock to 4.30, when a shortened form of the Guild's service was conducted by the Rector (Canon W. J. Lyon, M.A.), who gave, instead of the usual address, an interesting account of the church. This dates from the latter half of the 13th century. The massive tower was restored by Bishop Vesey in 1533, and the whole of the church, with the exception of the base of the tower and part of the east wall, was restored in 1761. About three years ago the restoration of the interior of the church was taken in hand, and the whole work was completed last year. Features of interest are the fine specimen of Norman font, with its interlacing carving and remains of the bolts and hinges, the carved oak screens which once formed part of the communion rails in Worcester Cathedral, several fine stained glass windows and the Vesey Chapel in the north aisle, which contains the tomb of Bishop Vesey, with recumbent effigy, restored to its original beauty. The inscription on the tomb is as follows: 'Beneath lie the remains of that pious and learned Prelate, John Harman, alias Vesey, who was promoted by King Henry VIII. in the 11th year of his reign to the See of Exeter; was employed by him on sundry embassies; was tutor to his then only daughter, the Lady Mary, and President of Wales. So great was his affection for this his native place that he spared neither causes nor pains to improve it and make it flourish. He procured it to be incorporated by the name of a Warden and Society of the King's town of Sutton Coldfield, granting to them and their successors for ever the Chase, Park and Manor. He built two aisles to the church and an organ; erected the Moot Hall with a prison in it; a market place, 51 stone houses; 2 stone bridges (one at Curdworth and one at Water Orton), paved the whole town; gave a meadow to poor widows; and for the improvement of youth founded and endowed a free Grammar School. He built the Moor Hall, where he spent the latter part of his life in hospitality and splendour; saw for many years the effects of his munificence, and died in the 103rd year of his age in the year of our Lord 1555.' The Vesey Chapel is enclosed by a fine oak screen erected in memory of the late Rector, Canon Barnard, who was greatly revered by all who knew him.

Tea was partaken of at 5.30, and was followed by the usual business meeting, at which the presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, took the chair.

An interesting account of the proceedings at the recent Central Council meeting was given by the chairman, supported by Mr. A. P. Smith.

Several new members were elected, and it was agreed to hold the next meeting at Handsworth Parish Church on Saturday, October 4th. A vote of thanks to the Rector for his interesting address and use of the bells, proposed by Mr. A. P. Smith, seconded by Mr. Albert Walker, concluded the business.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Irish Association was held at Arklow on Whit Monday, over eighty members attending from various centres. The Arklow ringers kindly entertained the members to luncheon and tea, which was greatly appreciated by all.

The business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the president (Rev. W. B. Allman, M.A.).

The report for the past year showed that good work was being done all over Ireland.

Rev. W. Carroll, Rector of Arklow, was elected president, Mr. W. Gibson treasurer, Mr. G. Lindoff hon. secretary, Mr. R. S. F. Murphy (P.C.), and G. Lindoff representatives on the Central Council.

Twelve new members were elected and Dublin selected for the annual meeting next year.

The bells of St. Saviour's Church were kept going to touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire Triples, Stedman and Treble Bob.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful meeting of the Farnham District was held at Bentley on Saturday, June 28th, when about 25 members and friends attended from Aldershot, Farnham, Hawley, Farnborough, Seale and Bentley. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and later the Guild service was conducted by the Rector of Bentley (the Rt. Rev. Bishop Chandler).

Tea was served on the lawn at Linden Cottage. The District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted) was in the chair for the business meeting, supported by Major H. M. Gale, of Hawley. Two ringing and six honorary members were duly elected.

Votes of thanks to the Rector, the organist, the local band, and to the ladies who prepared tea, were carried with acclamation.

The tower was then revisited and the bells kept going in various methods until 8.30 p.m.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.A LIBRARY ESTABLISHED.

In beautiful weather and amid glorious surroundings, the mid-summer meeting of the Northern Branch of the above association was held at Chaddesley Corbett on Saturday, June 28th. Although the village is well off the beaten track, about 60 members attended from Kidderminster, Bromsgrove, Acoley Kings, Hartlebury, Belbroughton, Clent, Hagley, Oldswinford, Stourbridge, Lye, Old Hill, Kinver, Wordsley, Wellaston, Brierley Hill, Dudley and Smethwick, the branch being thus well represented. Service was held in the village church, and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. D. Thatcher), who also gave an eloquent address. Tea was served in the billiards hall of the Swan Hotel. The Vicar presided at the business meeting which followed, and was proposed as an honorary member, while the two companies of Stone and Cradley were elected as ringing members.

The Secretary stated that he had received a very kind invitation from Miss F. E. Thatcher, of Clent, to hold the next branch meeting at Clent. Mr. Quarry (churchwarden), of Wordsley, said he and his fellow-ringers had come to that meeting for the express purpose of inviting the branch to Wordsley for the next meeting, but he added that he would be content to withdraw his invitation in favour of Clent, providing the branch favoured them for the January meeting.—It was ultimately decided to accept Miss Thatcher's kind invitation to Clent for the September meeting, and Mr. Quarry's for the January meeting.

The Secretary made reference to the loss the association had sustained by the death of Mr. M. Hackett, of Halesowen. The deceased was very highly respected by all sections of churchworkers, and it was resolved that a letter of sympathy should be sent to the family, the members present standing in silence for a few moments.—Mr. J. Cox replied on behalf of the Halesowen band.

Mr. H. Mason moved a vote of thanks to Mr. T. J. Salter for the good work he had done in assembling such a fine collection of books for the association's library.

Mr. Salter said it had been his ambition for years for the association to have a good library, and it had been a great pleasure to him to do what he could to start it. The librarian, Mr. W. Cooper, of Lye, gave his report, and mentioned the advantages to be obtained by making good use of the books at the disposal of members.

The Secretary moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for all the arrangements he had made for the comfort of the visitors, and this was carried with applause.—Mr. Salter moved a vote of thanks to the organist, and the Vicar replied.

The members then paid another visit to the tower, and touches in different methods were indulged in until well after eight o'clock.

The collection at the service for the belfry repairs fund realised 12s. 6d.

ENCOURAGING BELL RESTORATION

Few associations devote so much money to the restoration of bells as the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which on Saturday, at the annual festival, voted three donations of five guineas each to supplement gifts of over ten pounds already given by the branches in which these towers are situated. Last year twenty-five guineas was voted for similar purposes, in addition to amounts given by branches. It is small wonder that restoration work in the diocese of Oxford is constantly and steadily maintained. The Master, who is diocesan adviser in these matters, is kept well employed in making inspections and giving advice, and he reported last year that he had dealt in this way with exactly a dozen towers; and that in ten other cases work had been satisfactorily completed. This, in one year, is a record of which the Guild may be proud, but it is unlikely that it would have been anything like so good, had it not been for the inspiration which the Guild itself gives by backing up its advocacy for efficient restoration with practical help where it is needed.

The Oxford Guild is, of course, not alone among the associations in contributing to restoration schemes. Many of them devote funds to this excellent purpose, but none, we believe, has a record quite equal to the Oxford Guild, who dip their hands into both pockets, as it were, by accepting as the best recommendation for a grant from the general fund, a prior grant from the branch coffers. Financial restrictions prevent many of the associations from following the example of the Oxford Diocesan Guild—they would have the opportunity if they had the funds—but it is interesting as well as gratifying to see the gradual spread of the restoration fund idea. A proposal is now on foot to establish a fund in the Bath and Wells Association and other societies have it under contemplation, so that eventually, we anticipate, it will be a recognised feature of the work of all associations. And, even at the cost of some small sacrifice on the part of ringers, the project is one to be commended, if for no other reason than that it helps to prove to church authorities that ringers are ready to put something into their work as well as take something out of it—that their desire for the preservation of bells is something to which they themselves are prepared to contribute. It is one of the ways by which ringers can show that their interest in bells is not one-sided or their activities outside service ringing purely selfish. By their contributions to restoration schemes, therefore, associations are doing useful work in more ways than one, but there is another direction in which we wish they could use greater influence, and that is in ensuring the maintenance of bells in good condition.

We believe that much expense could, in the long run, be saved to church authorities by a proper system of supervision. At present expert advice is seldom called in until the bells are entirely, or almost completely, out of order—a condition which systematic and competent inspection would often have avoided. But that is another story.

STOURBRIDGE RINGERS' TOUR.

On Saturday, July 5th, the ringers of St. Thomas' Church, Stourbridge, with their wives and friends, had their annual outing, the party numbering twenty-three. Proceeding by motor charabanc at 1.45 p.m., via Bromsgrove, Headless Cross and Alcester, Stratford-on-Avon was reached by three o'clock, after a most delightful run in glorious sunshine. Here the party broke up into groups to visit the various places of interest in Shakespeare's town. The next move was a run to Leamington, where a capital tea was served at Ballinger's Restaurant, and was thoroughly enjoyed. After a walk round the town and through the Jopson Gardens, the party went on to Warwick, where, at St. Mary's Church, they were met by Messrs. Adams and Bond and several of the local ringers, and adjourned to the tower to ring on this fine peal of ten, touches of Grandsire Caters, Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples being accomplished. The party left at nine o'clock for home, which was reached after a most enjoyable run. The band wish to take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the Vicar of St. Mary's, Warwick, for allowing them permission to use the bells, and to Mr. E. H. Adams and the local ringers for having everything in readiness and for their kind assistance. Best thanks are also due to the churchwardens of St. Thomas' for making the outing possible, and to Mr. J. W. Smith, secretary of the band, for so capably carrying out the arrangements to the complete satisfaction of all.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION CRITICISED. SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD'S RESOLUTION.

The annual meeting of the society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at Lichfield on Saturday, July 5th. Although the attendance was not as great as might have been expected, yet the number mounted up to nearly seventy. As this was not the year for the use of the Cathedral bells, St. Mary's (eight) and St. Michael's (six) came in for extra attention. Tea was laid in the Wade Street Schools, which had been prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Cresswell, who, together with many willing helpers, waited at table. After the 'corks' had been cleared, the general meeting followed, when the Rev. H. S. Cresswell (Vicar of St. Mary's) was invited to take the chair. An apology for absence was received from the Ven. Hugh Bright, Archdeacon of Stafford.

The report and statement of accounts were passed and ordered to be printed. Next came the election of officers. For the position of Ringing Master, Mr. Wm. A. Cooper, of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, was elected to succeed Mr. John Perry, retired.

The hon. secretaries were re-elected. Messrs. Joseph Timms, of Tamworth, and Frank Hallsworth, of Walsall, each with 44 years' membership to their credit, were elected as hon. ringing members.

At this juncture a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. J. Perry for his services during the year as Ringing Master; also to the auditors. Mr. Perry, in acknowledging the appreciation of his services, said he hoped his successor would get as much pleasure from the work in the coming year as he himself had done in the past.

The following places were selected for meetings during the coming year: Enville in September; Coseley and All Saints', West Bromwich, were put forward for the January meeting, and, upon being put to the vote, the latter was declared carried; Burton in April; and Lichfield for the annual meeting in June.

Mr. J. Perry moved the following resolution: 'That the members of the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, assembled to-day at Lichfield for their annual meeting, express great surprise at the action of the Midland Counties Association who, at their meeting held on Easter Monday last at Burton-on-Trent, passed a resolution stating that in future the association area shall comprise, among other dioceses, the Diocese of Lichfield. Seeing that this diocese has already a flourishing society in each of the three archdeaconries that form the diocese, of which our own society is one, it is considered that an alteration like this is not fair to our own society, and will not be beneficial to the Diocese of Lichfield, and will also have a tendency in future of creating a spirit of competition and antagonism between the various societies, instead of a spirit of brotherhood. We respectfully ask the Midland Counties Association to reconsider its decision.'

Mr. R. P. Brindley seconded the motion, and it was supported by Messrs. F. Colclough and H. Knight.

Mr. Brindley appealed for assistance to the bell restoration fund at St. Edith's Church, Tamworth, and it was agreed that one guinea should be forwarded.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Cresswell and her helpers, also to the chairman, was carried with applause. The chairman replied in happy mood, and said he would pass on the expression to his wife.

INCREASE IN PEAL RINGING.

The committee in their report recorded that successful meetings had been held during the year: at Lichfield, with a fair attendance; at Wombourne, with about 80 present; at Wolverhampton (St. Peter's), with upward of 100; at Cannock, also with a very fair muster. At the latter three places tea was generously provided. Bell restorations had been made both at Penn and Lapley; at the latter place it was hoped to have an additional bell placed in the near future, thereby completing a ring of six. The number of peals rung during the year was considerably larger than had been the case of late years, those in the Grandsire method being of greater proportion than usual, the cause of which was not far to seek, as several 'first pealers' had made their debut. One of the young members, H. Boswell, of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, had rung no less than 28 peals during the year, which was a record for any individual member for twelve months. The peals were as follows: Doubles (three methods) 1, Grandsire Doubles 7, Triples 28, Caters 3, Cinques 1, Erin Triples 1, Stedman Triples 4, Caters 4, Cinques 2, Kent Treble Bob Minor 1, Plain Bob Minor 1, Major 2, Cambridge Surprise Major 1, New Cambridge Surprise Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 1; total 58.

The committee regretted to record the loss the society had sustained through the death of the Rev. Thomas W. Wilkes, who, it would be remembered, most ably filled the office of clerical secretary and treasurer of the society for several years, until failing health caused him to give it up; of Mr. Joseph Key, Lichfield, who was the sole survivor of the original members; of Mr. Thomas J. Bratton, Birmingham; and Mr. William Kent, Aston.

WAVERTON, CHESHIRE.—On Tuesday, June 24th, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: W. Thomas 1, A. E. Richards 2, J. W. Clarke 3, G. Jones 4, J. Swindley (first touch in the method) 5, J. Morgan (conductor) 6.

DECAYING STONE WALLS. HOW TO PROTECT THEM.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Although I am secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, I have noticed in 'The Ringing World' a letter from Mr. Lord with regard to the decay of 'modern' stone walls. Mr. Lord asks a difficult question. The decay of stonework is due to impurities in the air, and it is the prevention of these impurities that is the only real way to preserve stone.

The question is really parallel to the hypothetical one which follows: 'I have a piece of copper in an acid bath. I want to be able to see the copper, but I do not want the acid to eat into it. Can you advise me how this may be prevented?' The answer is: 'Remove the acid.'

Of course, it would be possible to preserve the structure of the tower by covering it with properly made plaster; on the other hand, most people to-day would hold that to do so would make it a disagreeable sight, and there would be other objections. As long as the stone is exposed to the polluted air it will suffer.

The Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings and those who have the care of Government ancient buildings, under the 1913 Act, and, I believe, also the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, are all of opinion that little can be done with colourless stone preservatives when they are applied to stone which already shows signs of decay. I can call to mind a number of cases where stone has been treated in this way some years ago, and where, after a short period of apparent hardening, the decay is rapidly accelerated. The only preservative which does no harm at all to the stone, and which, if it is reapplied at intervals of five and ten years, does definitely act as a preservative, is limewash.

It was always used by mediæval builders as a covering coat for all their stone buildings—cathedrals, parish churches, cottages and barns. The chemists affirm that the lime has an affinity for the sulphur in the air; but in cases where the practice has been continued the protection accorded by the wash is satisfactory.

There are, however, a good number of people who dislike limewash because it changes the colour of a building. It is true that there is this change, but it is a change from one beauty to another. Everybody is agreed that mediæval mason work is beautiful; that the men who worked the stone then knew what they were about; it may therefore be presumed that the gleaming whiteness of a tower was a quality our great predecessors liked; and it may be held that the treatment is technically sound because these much-admired builders employed that method.

In addition to a limewash treatment, and, indeed, as a necessity before it, the joints between the stones must either be known to be sound or be made so. Everything should be done to secure that the acid laden rain shall run off the building and not soak into it.

I might add that Henry VII.'s Chapel at Westminster Abbey, and the cloisters there, have lately been completely limewashed; and, further, when Professor Lethaby was asked to give an address to the society this year, he devoted himself almost entirely to its use as a protection to stone work.—Yours truly,

A. R. POWYS.

THE CANCELLED MEETING AT SOHAM.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to the account in your last issue of an Ely Association meeting held at Soham, with regard to cancelling, I met some of the committee at Cambridge, and with them and the general secretary discussed the situation, as I could not attend myself. In my letter of permission to hold the meeting it was a condition that we must make good any repair needed after ringing, should it be caused by us, also that an official of the association must be present. It was left to me to do the best I could, and I had to cancel the meeting. I cancelled the notice in your columns by wire, but unfortunately no further reference was made to it in Belfry Gossip or elsewhere. In reply to my appeal, 'Please try and let me know,' etc., I received one postcard, to which I replied. I wired to three and sent about a dozen postcards. Before the next meeting I hope those who intend to be present will buy a penny stamp and postcard and send to me. Should the meeting be cancelled I shall then know to whom I must reply. Some come if the weather is suitable and everything is easy. Were there more at this meeting than at the 'annual'? I think not. I am in no hurry to say there were enough to ring Caters, let alone Royal. I do not know who sent you the report, and I care less. In closing, may I apologise to all those who did really travel such a long distance and had unnecessary expense (I had some) and disappointment. I was disappointed. I have yet to have a pull at Soham. There will be a meeting again shortly. I will appeal now to others to help. Make the postman busy; it only costs a penny to write to my new address.—Yours truly,

F. WARRINGTON,

District Secretary and Ringing Master.

Mill Road, Over, Cambs.

HONORARY MEMBERS INVITED TO SUBSCRIBE.

The Council then dealt with the motions on the agenda paper, the first being one which stood in the name of the hon. secretary: 'That the Council do further revise the incidence of the annual subscription.' Mr. Young said that when the matter was brought up last year it came up towards the end of a meeting in which they had spent several hours over another subject, and consequently it was rather rushed through, without the consideration which the Council usually afforded; therefore, in order to allow the matter to be better ventilated, he put it on the agenda again this year. They would remember that last year he proposed that the subscription, which was then 2s. 6d. per member for each representative of an association, should be raised to 5s., and that honorary members should pay 5s. The former was agreed to, but the latter proposal was rejected. The result had been that their funds had been increased by the double fee to the extent of some £7 or £8, and if they left it as it was they would be that much better off every year. But in view of the difficulty which some of the associations had in finding money, he had heard it suggested that 5s. was too much, and his suggestion now was that, for the first two members of any association, 5s. each should be paid, and for the third or fourth member 2s. 6d. only. With regard to the honorary members, he was quite aware that they came there without remuneration, a fact which indicated that their hearts were in the work, and that they enjoyed coming. He thought, however, that not only did they consider it a privilege, but that they would also be prepared to pay 5s. if that fee were imposed upon them. He, therefore, moved that in future, where there were three or four representatives of an association, the fee for the third and fourth should be 2s. 6d., and that honorary members should pay 5s. a year. As far as the finances of the Council were concerned, they would be about where they were now—what they lost on the swings they would make up on the roundabouts. He was asking the honorary members to do something which would in a way make up what they lost in the case of societies who returned three or four members. There were 17 societies who returned four members, and on them they would lose about £4. There were five who returned three members. They had fifteen honorary members, and 5s. from each would nearly recoup the Council.—The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards seconded.

Alderman Pritchett said, as an honorary member, he would like to go one better than Mr. Young, and therefore he made the following proposition: 'That honorary members be invited to subscribe not less than 5s. in each year.' He said 'invited,' because that would necessitate no alteration in their rules. A copy of the resolution could be sent to every honorary member at some time during the year, and he was quite sure that everyone would respond. In many cases they would be prepared to give more than 5s. towards the funds of the Council. He for one would be willing to subscribe a guinea, because he felt it was a great honour to be an honorary member. He had been one now for a great many years, and he had never subscribed anything, which was rather on his conscience, and he would be glad to make up for lost time (laughter). He had put the Council to some expense. The other day he had a letter from the secretary, which cost 1½d. to send and which enabled him to save 10s. on his railway fare. A subscription to the Council would be a good way of repaying the kindness. His proposition did not mean any alteration of the rules, and gave an honorary member the opportunity of subscribing a sum of not less than 5s., or nothing at all, according as he thought fit.

Mr. W. Willson seconded the amendment, and the Rev. R. P. Farrow remarked that he would support it on the ground that it was a pleasure to hear of a lawyer putting his hand into his own pocket (laughter).

The Hon. Secretary said he was prepared to accept the amendment proposed by Alderman Pritchett.

Rev. E. S. Powell moved that there should be no alteration in the present scale of fees for the association representatives. Had the proposal been put forward in its present form at Chelmsford it would have had something to commend it, but now the change had been made it would lead to confusion and uncertainty if they made a fresh scale.—Mr. Sedgley seconded.

Canon Elsee said that one thing had not been mentioned, and that was that the honorary members came to the Council always at their own expense, whereas by custom the expenses of the ordinary members were paid by their associations. He was rather anxious that no one should be shut out from the honour of being an honorary member of the Council by considerations of expense, and if he had to pay a subscription in addition to his own expenses, it was possible that it might shut out one or two.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Major Hesse spoke in favour of the subscription of honorary members being compulsory, but Mr. Pulling opposed the principle of asking honorary members to pay anything.

Canon Coleridge said the associations relied upon honorary members' subscriptions to assist their funds and to save some of them from becoming bankrupt. He thought the members of the Council were in the same position. It was a great privilege to be an honorary member, and he thought everybody ought to pay. Whether they used the word 'shall' or 'may' was another thing.

Mr. James George favoured the use of the word 'shall.' There were few, he said, who would not be willing to pay a small sum for the pleasure of attending their enjoyable meetings.

Mr. Cave suggested that the question of honorary members' subscriptions should be dropped, because he thought, after what had been said that day, subscriptions from the honorary members would be forthcoming next year without any request.

The President divided the motion for the convenience of voting, and the portion relating to the reduction of the ordinary representatives' fees in the case of the third and fourth members was defeated, while that with regard to honorary members, as put forward by Alderman Pritchett, was carried.

THE COUNCIL'S RULES.

The Hon. Secretary, in accordance with a motion which stood on the agenda, initiated a discussion on the subject of alteration in the rules of the Central Council, as suggested in 'The Ringing World' of October 18th, 1929. He said that last year there was a considerable ventilation of ideas as to what might be done to improve the Council and make it more useful. As a result of this, he expected to be inundated with all sorts of proposals and motions, but when the time came to issue the agenda for this year they could imagine his surprise when he found that there seemed to be a conspiracy of silence, for some reason or other. He felt it was a pity that something should not be done to ventilate the grievances, and he had some correspondence with his predecessor, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who knew the Council so well and how to get over the difficulties. He (Mr. Young) had been very much indebted to him whenever there had been any point he desired to have cleared up, and Mr. Davies had said that he thought it would be a good thing to put down a motion which would enable them to see where they were with regard to these grievances. On October 18th last year an article appeared in 'The Ringing World' from an anonymous contributor putting forward certain suggested alterations to the rules. At first glance it looked formidable, but he found on examination that there was not very much in it. The main point seemed to turn largely on the question whether the Council should have a purely advisory position, as it had now, or whether it should put the Exercise more into bonds. As some of them might remember it was deemed by Sir Arthur Heywood and those who founded the Council that they would be wise in maintaining themselves as an advisory body, and he had noticed that when Mr. Davies was secretary he tabled his motions in words which made it clear that the Council should advise this or that. Did the Council now wish to say that the associations must do so and so? If the associations and guilds did not fall in with the Council's rules or suggestions, what were they going to do about it? It was quite worth their while to think these things over and ventilate them. Another point raised was under Rule 2, by which the Council was to consist of representative members under a certain schedule of numbers. Under the suggested new rule, it was proposed that any recognised society could apply for affiliation, but that it should subscribe to an undertaking to recognise and observe the rulings of the Council. If they did not do so, he supposed there was no object in their subscribing, but if they refused to subscribe he supposed they would be outside the pale. That seemed to be the primary thing. Another point was that instead of the Council being constituted for three years, as they were at present, they should be on a yearly basis with a meeting every third year in London. He did not know that that would make very much difference, but he thought that if a man was only elected for one year they might not get to know his work, for it was only after a period of years on the Council that they were really able to recognise a man's value. He should prefer to stick to the triennial arrangement. But there did seem something, if they could strike a line of agreement, in endeavouring to draw the bonds between the Council and the associations a little closer. He did not think it would be of harm to the Council if they tried to get their rules observed, and he believed Mr. Cave had a motion to bring forward on this subject. If he did so it would go a long way towards ventilating the position and perhaps enabling them to reach a decision next year.

UNFAIR CRITICISM.

Mr. Cave said some of the criticisms which had been levelled at the Council were not fair, and some were actually untrue. For instance, one speaker at a meeting, reported on page 150 of No. 937 of 'The Ringing World,' said: 'The rules of the Council stated that no member should vote until the association he represented had paid the fee of 2s. 6d., and upon this rule being carried out, a further rule stated that the representative would be a member of the Council and not necessarily a representative of his association.' The latter part of this was not true, but it had not been contradicted, and they might imagine the effect of this upon a reader who, of course, took it as being true. If they would refer to the rules they would see that this latter part was a note to Rule 2 defining the word 'Member,' and meant that associations might, if they thought fit, appoint any person to represent them, whether a member or not. This note came about in this way: While he was acting as assistant secretary of the

Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, he discovered that one of the representatives had not paid his subscription for two or three years, and by the rules had ceased to be a member of the association. This was brought to the representative's notice. He refused to pay, but he attended the Central Council meeting at Exeter, where the question was brought up and decided, as they saw in the note to Rule 2. The association accepted the ruling and did not elect anyone to take this representative's place until his period of service was up, an example that the Gloucester and Bristol Association might well have followed last year. Then they had heard a lot about the member who was instructed to do one thing, although his own feelings prompted him to do the opposite. Most of the people he (Mr. Cave) had spoken to about it had blamed the member for saying what he did, and upheld the chairman in his ruling; and he was with them. This member was not the first, and probably he would not be the last, to do for an association what he would not do for himself. He (the speaker) did the same thing three years ago when proposing Bristol for the 1928 meeting of the Council entirely against his own feelings in the matter. Another instance was that of a resolution passed at the annual meeting of his association held at Painswick in 1925, and which was to have been put to the meeting at Ipswich in 1926. There was no authority from the Painswick meeting to put it on the Council's agenda, but the association having passed it he was quite willing to support it in their name. The fact that the chairman of the Council would not allow it to be put was the fault of the secretary of the association; the necessary alteration in the wording was pointed out to him before he sent it to the Council.

AN INVITATION TO ASSOCIATIONS.

Mr. Cave, continuing, drew attention to what he described as another instance of unfair criticism, in which it was stated: 'That the five and six-bell ringers had had their enthusiasm damped by the continued bartering of what they could ring and what they must not, and the effect of that upon the Gloucester and Bristol Association was a drop of from 14 to 8 peals upon 5 and 6 bells during the last year.' Mr. Cave said it was nothing of the kind. In 1927 there were 17 peals (not 14) on five and six bells, thirteen of which were Doubles, seven conducted by one and the same ringer. In 1928, of the eight peals, six were Doubles, only one of which was conducted by him—a drop of six, due to one man alone. Of course, the 'bartering' referred to was the Council's discussions on Mr. Bankes James' Cambridge Minor and the various 240's and 360's of Doubles. The secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was in favour of admitting them, and he (Mr. Cave) was against it. If the association had rung any of these, one could have understood it, but the fact was they had rung none of them, either before or since. Mr. Cave added that the associations had always sent their representatives to that Council to thrash out ringing matters so that they might benefit from the deliberations, and also to abide by their decisions. Although many associations had no reference to the Council in their rules, these decisions had been accepted as law. For example, he would refer them to page 20 of 'Rules and Decisions,' where it was stated: 'That Bob Triples and Grandsire Major are not worthy of being practised.' To-day peals in these methods were practically unheard of. Mr. Cave then moved: 'That in order to bring ringing societies into closer communion and co-operation with the Central Council of Church Bellringers, every affiliated society be requested to include in its rules words to the following effect: "That this society be affiliated to the Central Council of Church Bellringers and loyally carry out the rules and decisions thereof."' He thought that if this resolution was passed it would strengthen the bonds between the Council and the associations.

Mr. Young seconded the motion, remarking that the Council could not amend its rules without proper notice printed in the agenda, but they could pass a resolution which was advisory. This resolution recommended their affiliated societies to take a certain action, and he thought it would help to meet some of the criticisms.

Rev. H. Law James thought that the two words at the end of the motion 'and decisions' should be taken out. He had not the slightest objection with regard to the rules, but when they came to the 'decisions' it was another question (laughter). The Council were not like the M.C.C. in regard to the laws of cricket. The laws of cricket could be altered, but the laws governing change ringing could not—for instance, they could not get more than six changes on three bells. They were not dealing with a thing like cricket; they were dealing with a science. From time to time they found out that there were points and old decisions which had got to go. On the scientific side of change ringing they had to do with facts and not with theories. A scientific theory was like a clothes line—if they put too much weight on it, it would break. They could not ask associations to abide by decisions which in a few years' time might be out of date.

Alderman Pritchett said it was no use a society being affiliated to the Council unless the society was prepared to accept its rules. He suggested a slight alteration to the form of the motion by substituting the words 'abide by' instead of 'carry out,' and this was accepted by the mover.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Bishop of Liverpool has promised to speak at the annual meeting of the Lancashire Association on September 27th.

Mr. W. Griffin, of Walsall, writing on Saturday night, said: 'Re the peal of Maximus just finished, I can only say it acted as a real tonic. A really splendid peal; fine striking from start to finish.'

It was, in a way, an 'All-England' team that rang the peal, and one would have been surprised at anything else but fine striking from such a band. It is not always the case, however, that praise is given where praise is due.

The old peal of six bells at Hope Parish Church, Derbyshire, all of which were cast by Daniel Hedderley in 1733 (tenor approximately 15 cwt.) is to be rehung with modern fittings in a new framework designed for eight bells by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. It is not yet definitely decided whether the two trebles, required to complete the octave, will be put in hand at the same time.

At Surrey Assizes, at Kingston, £500 was awarded to the widow and £100 to the daughter of the late Mr. Alwyn Charman, a ringer of Cranleigh, Surrey, who, while wheeling his cycle, was killed as the result of a collision between a motor-cycle and a car.

The bells of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, were opened by the College Youths with a peal of Grandsire Cinques on July 18th, 1798.

Next Monday is the seventh anniversary of the record peal of Treble Bob, 17,280, in the Kent Variation, rung in ten hours, at Over, Cheshire.

The death of Mr. I. G. Shade, in a motor-car accident, took place on July 19th, 1925.

The ringer of the 6th in the peal at Wilby, Suffolk, on July 6th, was John W. Ward.

AMERICAN VISITORS.

MR. WARREN STURGIS, JUN., QUALIFIES FOR A.S.C.Y.

Mr. Warren Sturgis, of Groton, U.S.A., with his son, E. Warren Sturgis, who are on a visit to Europe with Mrs. and Miss Sturgis, paid a 'flying' visit to London recently from Paris. Mr. Sturgis, sen., is a master at Groton College. He was initiated into the art of ringing by the late Dr. Nichols, of Boston, Massachusetts, and is keenly interested in maintaining ringing at Groton, where he teaches students the art. When at home, Bob Major is practised on handbells in the family circle.

The recent visit to London was largely made to enable Mr. Warren Sturgis, jun., to qualify for membership of the Ancient Society of College Youths, which his father joined some years ago. The qualification for membership is ability to ring a quarter-peal in a standard method, and this Mr. Sturgis, jun., did on July 4th by ringing 7-8 to a 1,330 Grandsire Triples on handbells in admirable style. The band was: W. Roughton 1-2, C. F. Winney 3-4, H. Langdon 5-6, Warren Sturgis, jun., 7-8. He was elected a member of the society on July 8th. The other ringing done during the visit included 672 Stedman Triples at St. John's Church, Wilton Road, in which father and son took part. It was regretted that the visit was so short that a peal could not be arranged. Mr. Warren Sturgis, who is 17 years of age, is a born ringing enthusiast, and the College Youths look forward to the opportunity of ringing a peal with him at some future date.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

FESTIVAL AT OXFORD.

The annual festival, the 49th, of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, was held at Oxford on Saturday, and, as usual, attracted a large and representative gathering of members, who assembled for service in Christ Church Cathedral, where the Rev. H. E. H. Probyn, Vicar of St. Andrew's, Oxford, gave a striking address.

The business meeting was presided over by the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), who was supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright), the secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) and Canon G. F. Coleridge, about 120 members being present from all the branches. A number of apologies for absence had been received, and the Secretary read an extract from that received from Canon Norris, who desired to remind the Guild how much they ought to appreciate the Master for the work he did in advising and helping in bell-restoration work throughout the diocese (applause).

OFFICIALS' REPORTS.

The Master, in his report, referred to the numerous towers in the diocese in which bell restoration was either contemplated or completed, and drew attention to the fact that in four of the latter might be found excellent examples of what could be done by careful modern turning. Newbury and St. Laurence's, Reading, were as good as many of them believed they might be; St. Mary's, Reading, were a great deal better than most of them thought possible; Thatcham, with two trebles added, were a surprise even to the founders themselves. As a fitting crown to a year remarkable for restoration work, came the ring of twelve for Berkshire by the addition of two trebles to the ten at St. Laurence's, Reading. The raising of a fund for these two bells was undertaken by Mr. Hibbert and himself, and right well were they backed up by members of the Guild and their many ringing friends throughout the country. In the matter of peals, the Guild showed a slight improvement both as to quantity and quality. For the latter, they were chiefly indebted to Mr. George Martin and his friends. The young Central Bucks Branch was doing well, owing to the untiring efforts of the hon. secretary, the Rev. J. F. Amies. Towers were beginning to press into it. On the whole, the branches were in a decidedly healthy state.

The secretary's report recorded that the Guild was steadily increasing in numbers and in useful activity. The number of towers affiliated was now 205, an increase of four from last year. This was due to the growth of the Central Bucks Branch, owing to the indefatigable work put in by Rev. J. F. Amies, the branch secretary. The hon. members had increased by 12, and now stood at 221, while ringing members had increased from 2,015 to 2,222.

A SOUND FINANCIAL POSITION.

The Treasurer reported that the statement of accounts showed a balance of £158 4s. 11d., as compared with £145 9s. 5d. the previous year. The income was £123 5s. 3d., and the expenditure £111. The amount received from the branches was £89 7s., being £5 3s. 6d. in excess of any previous year. The balances held by the branches were £172, a decrease of £21 on the previous year. The balance sheets showed that a considerable sum had been given in grants for the restoration of bells—a worthy object and one which should be encouraged. The amount received from hon. members showed a decrease, and the subscriptions received by the general Guild were only £2 15s. as compared with £15 7s. 6d. in 1924. Considering that the Restoration Fund depended somewhat upon hon. members' subscriptions for a portion of the income, it was hoped that every effort would be made to increase the number. During the year grants have been made from the Restoration Fund amounting to £26 5s. A balance of £36 19s. 6d. was brought forward, and thanks were due to the North Bucks Branch who gave a donation of £5, and to the Master for one of £1. The fund had now a balance of £28 10s. 11d., which it was hoped would meet all demands for this year. This fund, started in 1924 with £10, has, since that time, made grants amounting to £52, without in any way reducing the general funds. The income from the sale of annual reports was only £3 7s. The reports were sold at sixpence per copy, and only 134 members appeared to want one. The net cost was eightpence-halfpenny; 325 are printed for those who desire to buy one. The demand appeared to be very small and getting less. It would be a question for the committee to consider whether it was worth while printing any copies beyond those actually required for the officials and hon. members. During the past four years the general funds of the Guild had increased 20 per cent. This meant a gradual increase of 5 per cent. per annum. Taking into consideration the position of many societies who were making no progress, it was a matter of congratulation that the Guild was in such a sound financial position.

The reports of the Master, hon. treasurer and secretary, having already been issued, were taken as read and adopted. The Hon. Treasurer pointed out that the £89 7s. received by the general fund from the branches was the largest ever received in the history of the Guild. The branch balances amounted to £172. With regard to the restoration fund, which had a balance of £28 10s. 11d. at the end of the year, a special donation of £10 10s. had been received from the Master and secretary. The fund had voted £10 10s. to the augmentation of St. Laurence's bells, but as sufficient was received without this amount, it was returned to the fund. After paying the grants recommended for this year, they would have a balance of £24 to carry forward, and in addition there would be the interest on investments, the collection that day of £3 0s. 2½d., and they might expect to get about £6 from honorary members.

THE SECRETARY'S SALARY.

A resolution was next brought forward: 'That the general secretary's salary shall be £10 per annum.' This was moved by Mr. A. D. Barker, who, replying to the Master, said it was a private motion, and did not come from his branch (East Berks and South Bucks). He moved it because he thought it might be of interest to the Guild to discuss it.

There was no seconder, and the motion, therefore, fell to the ground. The present salary of the secretary is £20.

The Master was re-elected with acclamation, on the motion of Canon Coleridge, seconded by Mr. W. P. Routh. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, in acknowledgment, thanked Canon Norris for his letter, and said that he would go on doing his best for the Guild, for the preservation and restoration of bells in the diocese, and for the furtherance of the art and science of change ringing.

The hon. treasurer and secretary were also re-elected, the latter remarking that if there was any dissatisfaction or loss of confidence in him, that was the time to nominate a new secretary. If he did the work again, he would continue to do it in his own way. The question of salary did not worry him one bit.—The election was carried amid applause.

Mr. Hibbert caused a good deal of laughter in acknowledging his re-election by remarking in his characteristic way, 'I shall make a lot of mistakes if I live, and I hope I shall live long enough to make hundreds.'

The Master said he must express the great gratitude he felt in having two such able officers as the treasurer and secretary. He need not tell them, for they had already shown they realised it, that the Guild was most fortunate in having two such men, who were always out to do their best for the Guild and for every branch. They were willing to sacrifice time and anything else required to give help to a branch. They could not do impossibilities, and he personally valued the Guild's expression of gratitude for their services (applause).

The twelve elected members of the committee were re-elected en bloc, as follows: Messrs. J. F. Barlow, J. Evans, G. Cauldwell, G. Holifield, W. Hibbert, senr., G. Martin, Miss V. Robinson, Messrs. R. White, A. D. Cullum, H. Sear, J. W. Wilkins and Miss S. Davis.

The confirmation of 172 members elected since the last meeting was also agreed to.

The committee recommended that the festival in 1931 be held at Oxford, and the Master pointed out that it would be the jubilee of the Guild.

On the motion of Mr. Barker, seconded by Mr. R. T. Hibbert, the recommendation was agreed to without discussion, and with it a proposal that the Master be invited to preach at the service.

RESTORATION GRANTS.

The committee recommended that a grant of £5 5s. be made towards the restoration of the bells at Somerton, and £5 5s. to Harwell. At Somerton, it was stated, the bells badly need rehanging, and Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s estimate has been accepted. The bells were to be hung in two tiers because it was desired to add two trebles to make a ring of eight. At Harwell the bells were in a bad state of repair and had to be rehung. Their condition had been condemned, and the bells could not now be used at all.—The grants were agreed to.

An application was also received for a grant for Standlake. At this church the shape of the tower added to the difficulties. It is a round tower, with a peal of six hung in two tiers in a timber frame, and the tower had been cut away to accommodate it. The Master said it was a deserving case.

The Vicar (Rev. Lovett) spoke in support of the application. The cost of the work, he said, would be about £260. They had raised about £160 in the parish (hear, hear), but he had made up his mind that they ought not to begin the work until they had all the money in hand. The present frame was acting as a battering ram on the tower, but the bells, when rehung, would be in two tiers in an iron frame. He appealed for the help of the Guild, because he was afraid the parish by its own efforts could not raise all that was required.

The Witney and Woodstock Branch had voted two guineas, and the Guild now voted a further five guineas.

A motion, 'That the travelling expenses incurred by members of the committee in attending committee meetings shall be paid by the general Guild, applications for same to be made to the general secretary after such meeting,' was moved by Mr. A. D. Barker. He said the motion was intended to apply to the twelve elected members. He said that certain of these had previously been branch representatives, and as such had been paid their travelling expenses by the branch. When they became 'elected' members they were, in a sense, promoted, but lost their privilege.

At the suggestion of Mr. A. J. Wright, the motion was amended to read 'that the treasurer be authorised to pay the railway fares of the twelve elected members,' and in this form it was agreed to.

LOSS ON REPORTS.

Mr. Barker then moved that 'The branch secretary shall inform the general secretary in January each year the number of annual reports his branch will require; these to be supplied free.' Mr. Barker referred to the fact that only £3 7s. was received last year from the sale of reports, which appeared to show that only 134 members wanted one. In 1924 it was decided that branch secretaries should inform the general secretary in January of each year of the number of copies the branch required, and these should be supplied to the branch at 6d. a copy, the copies for hon. members being supplied free. For two or three years several branches paid for their reports, but last year he believed only two branches paid.

The Hon. Treasurer: All paid for them that had them.

Mr. Barker, continuing, said the treasurer complained that only a small sum was received from the sale of reports. His point was that he did not get all the money he was entitled to from this source. If reports were to be free for some branches, let them be free to all. He mentioned that during the last five years £126 5s. 8d. had been spent on printing reports, and only £25 2s. had been received for their sale. He compared the cost of the 325 copies printed with the cost of 750 copies printed at a less price for another society of which he was a member, and said that on the score of economy they should take into consideration the cost as well as what they received.

The Hon. Treasurer suggested that the motion was out of order in view of the motion passed, adopting the treasurer's report, together with the statement of accounts and the recommendations contained therein.

The Master said it was before the committee at their last meeting and would not come before them again until next April.

Mr. Barker said if the motion was out of order, it should have been pointed out before, so that he might have saved his breath and the members' time.

The Master said when it came to the question of altering rules it was much better if the matter was brought before the committee first of all, but if it came before the annual meeting he had no right to stop it. According to the report of the hon. treasurer, which had been carried, the whole question would be gone into at the committee meeting next April.

Mr. H. Miles said the treasurer's report was not read, and conceivably the point was lost sight of by members. He thought it should have been pointed out if it was out of order.

The Master said members had had ample time to know what was in the reports. If they wanted them read, that could be done, but it would take up much more time.

Mr. Barker said, arising from the discussion at the committee meeting, he wrote to the treasurer for certain information, which was not, however, forthcoming. He had, therefore, no alternative but to bring the matter up. If they had this 'hole and corner' business with their finances they would not know where they were.

The Treasurer said Mr. Barker asked for information relating to five years without giving any reason for asking for it. If Mr. Barker expected him to dive into documents for five years simply to satisfy his curiosity—well, he was not going to do it. If he had given him a reasonable cause he would have done it. As far as he knew, all the reports that had gone to the branches had been paid for. Some branches had only taken two or three copies, but they had always paid for them.

Mr. Taylor said that as they lost £22 last year on reports, was it necessary to print so many? Was there no means of cutting it down?

The Master said the whole question of the reports would be gone into by the committee next April; and the meeting accepted this course of action.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Canon Coleridge gave a report of the meeting of the Central Council, but before he did so the Master expressed the delight of the Guild at having the Canon amongst them again after his serious illness. He also said a circular had been received from the Council asking the Guild to add to their rules a clause to the effect that the Guild should be affiliated to the Council and loyally abide by the rules and decisions thereof. That, said the Master, was a matter which would have to be considered by the committee.

Canon Coleridge thanked the members for the letter of sympathy he received from their secretary at the time of his illness. Of the several hundred letters he received, there was none he prized more than that from the members of that Guild. Canon Coleridge's review of the business transacted at Lambeth Palace was followed with interest. He referred to his own resignation of the office of president, and said he did not think it possible to get a better president than his successor, Mr. E. H. Lewis, who was a good ringer, a most capable engineer and one who spoke with great authority at joint meetings of ringers and the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings. It was sometimes difficult to talk to people with fads of their own (laughter). This society had the idea that bells should always be hung in a wood frame that springs well and gives to the bells (laughter). Mr. Lewis had been able to put them right on points like that. Referring to the 'Collection of Minor Methods,' that it was decided to print, Canon Coleridge said it was the result of years of labour, and would be

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

RINGING COMPETITION WON BY WATH.

The annual ringing contest of the Sheffield and District Society was held at Beighton, on Saturday, July 5th, and was attended by about 60 members. The contest was for six bells, and as many teams competed and rang in the following order: Ecclesfield, St. Marie's, Killamarsh, Wath, South Anston and Bradfield. Messrs. J. Brearley and G. Lewis were the adjudicators, with Mr. A. Staveley, of Beighton, as marker. The contest commenced about 3.15 p.m., and concluded about 6 p.m., when the company retired to the Church Institute for tea.

The presentation of the award and the business meeting followed tea, presided over by the Rev. R. Clarke, who is officiating at Beighton in the absence, on holiday, of the Vicar.

The meeting was opened with a short address from the chairman, who then called upon the adjudicators for their report. Mr. J. Brearley, in declaring Wath company to be the winners, said the ringing on the whole had been very fair. He then submitted the results, which were as follows: Ecclesfield, 163 faults; St. Marie's, 168; Killamarsh, 111; Wath, 88; South Anston, 131; and Bradfield 138.

The chairman then presented Mr. A. Panther, of Wath, with the society's silver cup. Mr. Panther, in acknowledging the applause, said he was very pleased his team had been successful, but hoped that next year would see more entries for the contest.

Mr. J. W. Champion, of Wath, then proposed, and Mr. C. Severn seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the judges for the excellent manner in which they had carried out their duties.—This was carried unanimously.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the ladies for providing a splendid tea, and to the local ringers for having everything in readiness, were then carried, thus bringing to a close a happy and most enjoyable meeting.

The ringers then returned to the tower for further ringing.

of the utmost value to all ringers, and especially to six-bell ringers. The book was so voluminous that some members were afraid it would be beyond the reach of many ringers, and it was therefore suggested it should be published either in two parts, or in sixpenny numbers, which would be a most expensive way of doing it, and would take a long time to complete. Eventually it was decided to publish it in one book at a cost of about 3s. If any six-bell ringer could not afford that sum, he suggested he should apply to the Parochial Church Council. They had to provide copies of the diocesan services book for the use of the choir, so they ought to find a copy of the new Minor Methods Collection for the use of the ringers in the belfry (hear, hear). Better still, let the ringers ask for six copies, and if they did it in a nice way they would probably get them. The question of the alteration of the rules of the Council was discussed, continued Canon Coleridge, and the outcome was the suggestion contained in the letter from the secretary, already read. The meeting was an excellent one in every way, and one in which a tremendous lot was done for the good of the Exercise.

The Master, in thanking Canon Coleridge for his report, spoke of the work of the committees of the Council. He referred the members to the article on the subject which recently appeared in 'The Ringing World,' and said he had never fully realised all that the committees did until he had himself been engaged on the revision of one of the publications. Some of the committees were at work throughout the year, and people who grumbled that the Council did nothing overlooked the work which the committees did.

The Master then proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church and to the preacher and organist.—Alderman J. S. Pritchett, who seconded, said it was a great privilege to meet in that venerable building. They met under auspices second to none in ringers' gatherings throughout the land, and they were greatly indebted to the Dean for making such arrangements for their comfort. Continuing, Alderman Pritchett expressed the deep regret which the members of the Central Council felt at the retirement of Canon Coleridge from the office of president. They felt it as a great loss, but they had an excellent successor in Mr. Lewis, who, he felt sure, would in due time earn for himself a large measure of the affection which they all had for Canon Coleridge (applause).

This concluded the business, and the members then proceeded to the magnificent dining hall of Christ Church, where they partook of luncheon, under the presidency of the Master, who proposed the toast of 'Church and King,' which was cordially drunk, the National Anthem being sung. Usually there is no other toast at this gathering, but Mr. R. T. Hibbert said he took it upon himself to propose 'The health of the Master.'—This was drunk with enthusiasm, the company giving it musical honours. The Master, in reply, congratulated the Guild upon such a good muster at a time when, in an agricultural area such as theirs chiefly was, so many of the members were busily engaged on the land. He reminded them of next year's jubilee celebration, which, he said, he hoped they would make worthy of that great Guild.

Afterwards the members proceeded to the various church and college towers, where they engaged in ringing for some hours before the close of an interesting and enjoyable day.

REPRESENTATIVES CRITICISE CENTRAL COUNCIL. GUILDFORD GUILD MEMBERS' REPORT.

A feature of the meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, at Woking on Saturday, was the presentation of a joint report by the three representatives of the Guild on the Central Council, which reviewed the principal matters that came before the meeting at Lambeth, and on one or two items contained some outspoken criticism. 'The Council,' said the report, 'after a long discussion and consideration of various amendments, decided to print the "Collection of Minor Methods" at a cost of about £70. This book is a complete collection of Doubles and Minor methods, including Alliance and Little Minor methods. Your representatives voted against this heavy outlay of the Council's funds for the following reasons: The cost of printing the book represents two years of the Council's net income; the printed copies will have to be sold at about 3s. each to repay the expenditure; if the state of six-bell ringing throughout the country can be judged by the standard in our own Guild, there are very few companies in the country to whom the book can be of any practical use, and we are afraid there will be little demand for the book, and the result will be a dead loss to the Council of between £60 and £70; we think the price of the book too high for many individual ringers to buy it, and the peal reports do not show that there are many companies who have exhausted the methods given in "Standard Methods." The Council is, however, now committed to the printing of the book, and we think that a scheme should be drawn up to minimise the danger of the work being left on the Council's hands. We suggest that the various ringing organisations should themselves purchase outright not only this book but all the Council's publications and resell them to their members. The various ringing bodies get the benefit of the Council's publications, and in our opinion should bear some of the risk of the loss on sales.'

Referring to the proposal that hon. members should pay an annual subscription to the Council, the report said: 'After considerable discussion it was decided to invite hon. members to subscribe an annual sum. We voted against the suggestion that hon. members should pay or be invited to pay anything. Hon. members are elected on the Council either because of their expert knowledge of some particular subject, or because of the services they render to the Exercise. They give what is often valuable time, and are put to no little expense in attending meetings of the Council, and your representatives consider it "check" that any subscription should be demanded or invited from them.'

'We are all of opinion,' continued the report, 'that the fees payable by associations to the Central Council should be calculated on the number of the annual members of each association and not, as at present, on the number of representatives elected on the Council. For example, one of two associations with over 450 members might elect four representatives, as allowed by the rules, and pay £1 annually to the Council, and the other might elect only one representative and escape with an annual payment of only 5s.'

A discussion ensued on the various points raised in the report, and the members expressed general approval of the line taken by their representatives, who were cordially thanked for their report.

The meeting was presided over by the Ven. G. M. Davies, who had conducted the service in the absence of the Vicar (Canon G. Askwith), and tea was served in the Church Hall, a bountiful meal, in which bowls of cherries were a feature, having been provided by a party of ladies. Archdeacon Davies was supported by Admiral T. P. Walker (hon. treasurer of the Guild) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. G. L. Grover (district secretary), and Mr. R. Hayes (District Ringing Master).

A vote of sympathy and condolence was passed with the relatives of the late Ven. Ronald Irwin (Archdeacon of Dorchester), who was a life member of the Guild.

Mr. Rance, of Worplesdon, was elected a member, and a vote of thanks was accorded to Canon Askwith, Ven. G. M. Davies, the organist and the ladies who had arranged the tea.

During the afternoon and evening, ringing took place on the Parish Church bells, the methods ranging from Minor to Surprise Major.

HIGHAM FERRERS RINGERS' TRIP.

The ringers of Higham Ferrers, with a few friends, including Mr. Harry Chapman, late of Manchester, had a most enjoyable outing on Saturday, July 12th. The first call was at Newport Pagnell, where, after two short touches, ringing had to stop through illness close to the church. At Stony Stratford, several touches were rung, in some of which part of the local band joined. After tea at Leighton Buzzard, an hour's ringing was enjoyed on the peal of ten. The ringing concluded at Woburn. It is over forty years since Mr. Harry Chapman used to go there to ring, and he found great alterations made since that time. During the trip, Superlative, Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung. The ringers wish to express, through 'The Ringing World,' their heartiest thanks to the Vicars and all the ringers at the places visited for allowing the use of the bells and making arrangements for such an enjoyable outing.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH AT TROWBRIDGE.

The half-yearly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Trowbridge on Saturday, July 5th. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by the Guild service, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. Nesbit Wallace, M.A., Mr. Wicks accompanying the hymns on the harmonium.

After the service, the Rector expressed his regret that he was unable to accept the invitation to tea, but he invited the ringers to visit the Rectory gardens later. A party of twenty-two sat down to tea, and a short business meeting followed, presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, who referred to the death of the Earl of Radnor, a vice-president of the Guild, and the Rev. Wm. Noakes Dawson, Vicar of Chilton and Marden. Those present stood in silence as a token of respect. The Chairman also stated that his son, Mr. D. E. Heginbotham (a very promising young member of the Guild) was leaving for America on the following Tuesday.

Bratton, Upavon and Westbury were selected for the next three meetings.

Mr. Hillier gave a report of the meeting of the Central Council which he attended, and a vote of thanks was passed to him. The best wishes of those present were extended to Mr. D. E. Heginbotham for his future welfare.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for conducting the service and the use of the bells, and to those who prepared the tea.

A visit was then paid to the Rectory gardens, where the Rector met the party and pointed out various items of interest in connection with former Rectors of Trowbridge, including a table belonging to the poet Crabbe, who was Rector of Trowbridge from 1813 till 1832, and during whose incumbency the first peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Trowbridge.

Ringers, including Miss D. White (Ditchat), Mr. Tiley (Bruton), Mr. L. Wilson (secretary, Calne Branch), were present from Trowbridge, Bratton, Devizes St. John and St. Mary, Rowde, Warminster, Bradford-on-Avon, Hilperton, Holt, Southbroom and Melksham. Touches of Grandsire Caters, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening. Ringing also took place at Hilperton.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT AT WITHERNSEA.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Withernsea on Saturday, July 5th, in delightful weather, and was attended by some 30 members representing towers at Beverley, Goole, Hull, Eastington, Kirk Ella, Patrington, Pontefract, Market Weighton, Selby, York and the local company. The ring of six was kept going to various methods until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Tomlinson, M.A.), who delivered an appropriate address.

Tea was afterwards served in the Select Cafe, where several of the members were joined by their wives and friends.

The business meeting followed in the Church Institute, Mr. F. Cryer (Selby) presiding.

Three new members were elected—Messrs. W. Swallow and W. Maundrell (Pontefract, All Saints'), and Mr. H. Walker (Pontefract, St. Giles').

Subject to the usual consent, Bridlington was chosen for the September meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, for the service, and for the use of the Institute, to the organist, and to Mr. H. S. Webb and the local company for their excellent arrangements.—Mr. Webb, responding, hoped that members would make an annual informal visit to Withernsea, and the hon. secretary was asked kindly to undertake this duty, to which he agreed.

This closed the meeting, and the members then dispersed on to the promenade, which apparently was more attractive than ringing.

SURREY RINGER'S SUDDEN DEATH.

The death took place on June 17th of Mr. Charles Sleet, of Otter-shaw, Surrey, who died suddenly, at the age of sixty years, while following his occupation of landscape gardener. He had been a ringer at Ottershaw for twenty years, and before that was attached to the Chobham band for about the same period. Deceased never missed his turn of Sunday ringing, and always attended on practice night. He took part in a peal attempt a month ago, which unfortunately was lost by the tenor rope breaking in the last 720 changes.

The interment took place on Saturday, June 28th, and the Vicar, in the course of his address, paid a glowing tribute to the deceased for the services rendered by him as a most regular and keen church worker.

Among the floral tributes was a large bell wreath from his fellow-ringers. After the funeral, 360 Grandsire Doubles was rung with muffled bells by: H. J. Chaffey 1, D. Sleet (conductor) 2, Miss D. Sleet 3, Miss M. Thompson 4, H. Hancock 5, F. Wallace 6.

GUILDFORD GUILD'S SUMMER FESTIVAL.

Ringers of the Guildford Diocesan Guild were favoured with glorious weather on the occasion of their summer festival held on July 5th at Egham and Staines. This locality, with its three almost perfect peals of eight within easy distance of each other, and situate close to a beautiful stretch of the Thames, is an ideal place for a summer meeting.

The bells at Egham were set going early in the afternoon, and at 4.30 a short service was held there conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. C. Tranter, who gave an extremely interesting address, in which he spoke in glowing terms of the beauty of bell music and of the services to the Church of bells and ringers. Seventy-nine members (including the Master, Major J. H. B. Hesce, and the hon. treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O.), and visitors from Egham, Bantstead, Old Woking, Ottershaw, Aldershot, Bagshot, Epsom, Yorktown, Cobham, Farnborough, Leatherhead, Farnham, Haslemere, Hawley, West Clandon, Dorking and the Cathedral Church, sat down to a splendid tea in the Church Hall.

At the end of the tea, the Master thanked the Vicar for welcoming the Guild to Egham and for his address, and apologised for the absence of the hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who was unable to be present. Afterwards, some of the party went back to Egham tower, and others crossed the 'ocean' and did their best to put joy into the hearts of the inhabitants of Middlesex by making good use of the bells at the Parish Church and at St. Peter's, Staines.

YORKSHIRE RAMBLERS.

RINGING PARTY'S GREAT TIME IN HERTFORDSHIRE.

At Whitsuntide, by sundry and devious ways, a party of Yorkshire ringers, with their wives and relations, and headed by Mr. T. Maude, of Pudsey (who with his usual untiring enthusiasm had at last got his team together), arrived at St. Albans for the week-end. The local committee, consisting of Messrs. G. W. Cartmel and E. P. Debenham, had arranged headquarters at the Ver House Hotel, which, standing in delightful grounds, some acres in extent, with the River Ver flowing through, made an excellent resting place during the week-end. The party were met by Mr. Debenham on their arrival on the Saturday. He very kindly gave all particulars of the programme, but, to the great regret of everybody, ringing was unobtainable at the Cathedral on the Sunday owing to the ravages of the death-watch beetle having been detected in the belfry floor. This magnificent pile, containing varying styles of architecture from Saxon onward, is a most imposing structure, and was a great attraction to all.

Sunday morning saw the party at St. Peter's Church, where the handy ring of ten were set going to various methods, following which the more staid members were introduced to a variety of deep sea fishing, which at once attracted their envy and admiration. More might be said, but as the proprietor is very jealous of the patent, those who desire further knowledge must apply direct. Sufficient to say, that this part of the proceedings was most popular, and rejuvenated those interested in a manner somewhat startling.

A visit was paid to Bushey Parish Church to ring for evensong, and the light eight were made full use of. As the Church of St. Stephen, close to the Ver House Hotel, has a peal of six (tenor 15 cwt.), permission was sought and most courteously given for a pull there on Monday morning. This church is a fourteenth-century building, with the bells in a wooden tower, and the ringing room on the ground floor, at the west end, opening direct into the churchyard. With the 'heavyweight' on the tenor, the bells were set going to Oxford, but it was a novel experience to ring in relays in order that the non-ringers might go out to watch the tower rock. Cordial and hurried thanks were accorded to the local conductor, and tracks were made for Hatfield. 'Eight Bells' were soon found there, after which a visit was paid to the Parish Church for a pull on the ring of ten. Lunch was served at the One Bell Hotel in a most bountiful fashion, and the writer commends this house to travellers, both for comfort, quality and service. A move was next made to North Mimms, where, amid sylvan surroundings, the light peal of eight (tenor 14 cwt.) were enjoyed for a long period. While in the neighbourhood a visit was paid to Hatfield House, the fine park and the magnificent Elizabethan mansion being greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

St. Albans was reached by a tired but happy band. Tuesday saw the break-up of the visit, some journeying homeward, others travelling toward London for the Central Council meeting.

This sketch would be incomplete without mention being made of the bountiful hospitality of Mr. E. P. Debenham and his family on two evenings, though, to the great regret of everybody, their kind host was confined to bed with a severe chill. Despite this handicap, however, he insisted on the engagement going forward. To Mr. G. W. Cartmel, kind thanks are due for his great trouble in making all arrangements, and also to Mr. W. H. Buckingham for an interesting innovation. The fine scenery, kind reception on all sides, the fine churches, and late hours will live long with all who took part in this latest and most enjoyable of the Yorkshire itineraries. The party consisted of Messrs. T. Maude, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cotterell, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Johnson, Mr. and Miss Naylor and Messrs. A. C. Fearnley, W. Idle, C. Pratt, R. Patterson and S. F. Palmer.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT AT COLSTON BASSETT.

On Saturday, the monthly meeting of the Nottingham District was held at Colston Bassett. The bells, a very fine peal, with tenor of 22½ cwt., were set going, but as the local ringers were busy in the hay fields the bells had been somewhat neglected, and until one gentleman brought an oil can from his car the bells did not like being pulled about. About 25 members turned up, and the bells were kept going in various methods until about 8 p.m. Mr. J. J. Jackson, of Ruddington, paid a visit, and rang in some nice touches of Stedman, which everyone enjoyed. About twenty sat down to tea at the village inn. Colston Bassett is a charming village with a very pretty little church, tower and spire. The old church and ruins were visited by most of the party, and the old wooden headstocks of the bells were viewed with interest. Favoured with glorious weather, everyone enjoyed this outing.

DOUBLE LITTLE BOB.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' of last week I note that a peal of Double Little Bob Major was rung at Handsworth, Sheffield, conducted by Mr. G. Lewis. I would like to point out to Mr. Lewis that a peal in the same method was first rung at Crayford, and appeared in 'The Ringing World' of March 21st last, under the name of Erith Little Bob. The figures of the method and peal were sent at the same time, but have not appeared. Mr. G. H. Cross some years ago gave me two 'Little' methods unnamed, the present one under discussion and its companion method, Dartford Little Bob, rung at Dartford on February 21st, 1925, the figures of that method and the peal appearing in 'The Ringing World' the following week.—Yours, etc.,

THE COUNCIL & THE ASSOCIATIONS

The relationship between the Central Council and the associations has been much discussed in our columns from time to time. We have always been in favour of a closer tie between the two and for that reason we are glad that the Council decided to approach the associations with a request that they will adopt some resolution by which, in effect, they would pledge themselves to be affiliated to the Council and abide by its rules and decisions. As we have more than once pointed out, some of the associations and guilds have already included such a decision in their rules, but the majority make no reference to the subject, and some, in the past, have deliberately refused to acknowledge the Council in any such way. We hope that this fresh approach by the Council will lead to a general acceptance of the principle that the Council, which is an assembly elected by the associations, deserves the loyal support of those who appoint the members, and that the decisions, come to by the Council, incorporating as they do the considered opinion of the most representative body of the Exercise, should be accepted and recognised.

Whether we like it or not, the Council is growing more and more into a body which is expected to represent, and where necessary, carry out the wishes of the associations. There are still members who prefer the atmosphere of the Council to be that of a body of perfectly independent action, that is to say of an organisation setting itself up as an authority but responsible to nobody and living on the hope that its decisions will be acceptable to the Exercise. That may have been all right in the early days, before territorial associations themselves had found their feet, and before the Council really knew the part that it should play in co-ordinating the practice of ringing and matters appertaining to it. But times have changed, and the majority of the associations do not now pay affiliation fees and travelling expenses merely to give a favoured few of their number an interesting holiday in some distant city, there to settle to their personal satisfaction any questions that may be put before them. If that were so, reluctance to recognise the Council's rulings could well be understood; but in these days associations, for the most part, take a different view of the position. Where they have opinions on any subject which may be before the Council, they expect those opinions to be represented by those whom they elect, and it can only be by a recognition of this principle in the Council that loyalty to decisions of the Council can be expected from the associations. It seems to us that the two things must go hand in hand and when, later, the Standing Committee review the existing rules it must bear this aspect in mind. Associations can only be expected to give their full allegiance, if the Council is composed of association representatives and not, as in the view of some members at present, of members who, once appointed, represent themselves only. If this is made clear, there is not one of the constituent bodies who would, we imagine, decline to pledge their loyalty while affiliated to the Council, for, as the point was aptly put, the associations themselves expect loyalty from their own members, and it is, therefore, not too much to expect them in turn to be loyal to their own central organisation.

AMONG SUFFOLK TOWERS.

Chelmsford ringers had their outing on Saturday, July 19th, when the party, numbering twenty, left Chelmsford at eight o'clock for a tour in South-East Suffolk. About a mile from Colchester the main road was left behind, and they entered the pretty border country, which will live for ever in so many of John Constable's pictures. About 9.45 the party reached Hadleigh, where it was proposed to have the first pull. Here, too, they met the Earls Colne band, who were apparently making a similar itinerary. By the kindness of the Dean's wife, some short touches of Stedman and Grandsire were rung on this tuneful peal of eight, but as the Dean was ill, the singers moved on, pleased to have been able to inspect the church and hear its bells, if only for a few moments. The next stop was at Stowmarket, where touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich were rung on the fine peal. Pushing on through peaceful country lanes, catching a glimpse here and there of pretty little village churches nestling in the trees, Stonham Aspal was reached, with its tower topped by a wooden cage, in which hang ten bells, the gift of a former ringing squire. The bells were soon going to Grandsire Caters in very tuneful fashion. A welcome lunch at the Red Lion, Debenham, had been arranged for by Mr. Ramsey, a local ringer, who met the party. After lunch, the church was viewed, but the bells could not be rung owing to the tower being cracked. A move was then made to Framden, another village with eight bells. Here Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung and enjoyed. The next church visited was Helmingham, where touches of Bob Major, Superlative and Grandsire convinced the company of the prettiness of its ring of eight. Here they took leave of Mr. Rumsey and pushed on to Henley, where the Rev. W. C. Pearson, himself a ringer, met them. On this light peal of eight, some touches of Stedman and Kent Treble Bob were enjoyed. Then to Ipswich and tea. This was enjoyed about 6.30 p.m., and the party afterwards adjourned to St. Mary-le-Tower for touches of Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Royal—a fitting end to the ringing side of the day. Leaving Ipswich about 9 p.m., Chelmsford was reached about 11, everyone agreeing that the trip had been a most delightful one.

M.C.A. AND LICHFIELD DIOCESE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Re Mr. John Perry's letter in your issue of May 23rd last, and your report of the annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, held July 5th, and 'the Midland Counties Association of Change Ringers for the Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell,' I do not think Mr. Perry or any member of his society need apprehend any alteration of policy by the M.C.A., or a desire to extend its area following on the addition to its title.

When the M.C.A. was formed, a part of one of the original rules read as follows: 'Ringers not resident in the counties of Derby, Stafford, Nottingham and Leicester, may become non-resident members, etc., under certain conditions,' and this rule still exists, so that we are not claiming any new territory, but we want it to be known by the clergy and others that we are, as we profess to be by the objects of our association set forth for many years in our annual reports, a body of churchworkers. Hitherto I am afraid this has been to a great extent lost sight of.

Our action has the support and sanction of all the four Bishops concerned, the Bishop of Lichfield writing on July 3rd, 1929, as follows: 'I can see no reason why you should not add to your title the words "for the Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell." Such a title does not imply that you are the only ringers' association connected with the Lichfield Diocese.'

I am glad to know that there is a flourishing society in each of the three archdeaconries forming the Diocese of Lichfield.

We have considerable overlapping by associations in all parts of the country, the counties of Derby, Stafford, Leicester and Nottingham being no exception, but I cannot see any harm being done so long as we are all striving to make the best of our art and exercising it for its proper use and not merely as a sport or pastime. We are not 'poaching on others' preserves,' 'acting in direct opposition to what the Church and our associations stand for,' but I do hope we are 'upholding the teaching of the Church to which some of us, at least, are proud to belong.'

I am sorry Mr. Perry and the members of his society have taken umbrage, but let me again assure them that no unfriendly feeling was, or is, intended, and that no extension of territory is contemplated.—Yours faithfully,

TOWER HUNTING IN SURREY.

Apsley and Hempstead ringers and friends held their annual outing on July 12th. This year the venue was Surrey, and the beautiful scenery Surrey has, with its hills and dales and woodlands, is a surprise to those who visit the county for the first time. The hills were somewhat trying at times for the means of transport on the occasion of this excursion. The first call was made at Egham at 9 a.m., the residents wondering what was the matter, their bells ringing thus early on Saturday. (It was later learned that the Vicar gave some of his parishioners a splendid excuse!) After ringing had been in progress a short time, the Vicar himself came to welcome the party, and a right hearty welcome it was. It was with regret that the Vicar and his bells were left behind. Things now took on a livelier aspect, as previous to ringing at Egham the morning had been cold, and by the time Cobham was reached everything was as it should be. The Vicar of Cobham being unable to meet the visitors, the curate and one of the local ringers did so, to the pleasure of everybody concerned. After ringing for nearly an hour, a move was made to Leatherhead, where one or two of the party had their first pull on ten. A right royal dinner was partaken of at the Institute, and, much refreshed, Rammore Common was sought—first of all, unfortunately, in the wrong direction. However, after a continual climb of mile after mile, the church was eventually found, and the splendid peal of eight soon put to good use. The stairs to the belfry, which are numerous and deep, caused several comments, but an ample reward was found when the bells were going. Leaving Rammore, another hunt among the hills followed, this time for Kingswood. It was eventually found, a little late, with ringers patiently awaiting the party. The visit here had to be cut short in order to reach Epsom in time for tea. Passing the renowned racecourse, one or two winners were 'spotted' and notes made! and then on to Wright's Restaurant, where a capital tea was quickly disposed of. With great difficulty the party was persuaded to leave, but eventually they reached Kingston, where the back eight of the ten were soon in use. These 'men's bells' were utilised for about three parts of an hour, and then the majority endeavoured to get to East Molesey in time for a ring. This place was eventually reached after taking several wrong roads, but the arrival was so late that the coach was again headed for Kingston, where all the doings of the day were talked over as ringers know how. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the various incumbents and towerkeepers for the use of bells and having things in readiness, and also wish to apologise to any cricketers who, owing to them, were bowled, several stumps having been seen flying during the day, and some of the excursionists wondered if they were the cause of it all!

HERTFORD AND MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATIONS.

JOINT MEETING AT NORTH MIMMS.

This popular fixture was this year held at North Mimms, it being the turn of Hertfordshire ringers to welcome their friends from over the border. Even in these days of easy travel, North Mimms is somewhat difficult of access, and it was therefore very gratifying to find that some forty ringers and friends, including several ladies, had made a successful attempt to find this pretty spot.

Mr. A. W. Coles (District Master, Middlesex Association) took charge of the ringing, which ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise Major. Youngsters from St. Albans and Enfield showed remarkably good signs of progress.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Little Heath (North Mimms being at present without an incumbent), who gave the ringers a very cordial welcome and an interesting discourse on the uses of bells in the Middle Ages.

Mr. G. W. Cartmel (general secretary, Herts Association) presided at tea, supported by Mr. W. Pye (Master, Middlesex), Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president, Middlesex), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary, Middlesex), Mr. W. Nash (president, Hertford), Mr. G. R. Pye, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, Mrs. W. Pye, Mrs. C. T. Coles, Mr. A. W. Coles (District Master, Middlesex), Mr. J. T. Kentish, Mr. H. Goodenough, Mr. W. L. Buckingham, etc.

After tea, the president of the Hertford Association, welcomed the visitors to North Mimms, expressing satisfaction at the happy spirit prevailing. Mr. Coles, in replying, congratulated Mr. Nash on being elected president of his association for the present year, thanked the Hertfordshire ringers for their cordial welcome, and promised them as sincere a welcome when next they visited Middlesex.

Mr. W. Pickworth proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Little Heath for his very interesting address; to the lady who had so ably presided at the organ; and to the friends who had prepared a very nice tea.—This was seconded by Mr. G. W. Cartmel, and carried unanimously.

An object of interest was the Hertfordshire president's badge of office, a silver bell, which was presented to that association by Mr. Cartmel last year.

Whilst some of the ringers and their friends admired the beautiful grounds in which the church is situated, others paid another visit to the tower for more ringing in a great variety of methods.

NORTH NOTTS RINGERS VISIT EDWINSTOWE.

On Saturday, July 12th, a most enjoyable day was spent at Edwinstowe, when members from Bolsover, Bulwell, Chesterfield, Cuckney, Collingham, Gainsborough, Mansfield, Misterton, Nottingham, Ordsall, Southwell, Sutton-on-Trent, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Treeton, Workson and the local ringers made good use of the bells.

An excellent tea was served in the Parish Room, but owing to the absence of the Rev. F. C. Day Lewis, Vicar, Mr. H. Haigh was asked to preside over the business meeting. He was supported by H. Revill and R. W. Stockdale, hon. secretaries.

Arising out of the minutes of the last meeting, the Chairman remarked that he still held the opinion that a mistake had been made in the cup contest rules at the last meeting.

The Rev. H. H. Skinner, of Misson, and Rev. A. Doxey, of Ordsall, were elected vice-presidents, and Mr. J. C. Hurst and Mr. J. Pierrepont, of East Markham, were made performing members.

A long discussion took place on the subject of the place and date of the next meeting, but it was finally decided to hold it at Misson on July 26th. If the secretary could not arrange this, Tuxford was chosen as the alternative.

The secretary read a letter from the Central Council of Church Bellringers with regard to adopting a rule under which associations agree to loyally abide by the rules and decisions of the Council, but the matter was left over until the association's representative could find the time to be present.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. F. C. Day Lewis, to the caterers, and to Mr. F. Martin for all they had done to make the meeting such a glorious success.

STROUD RINGERS IN BERKSHIRE.

On Saturday, June 28th, the Stroud Branch of the Gloucester and Bucks Association had a most enjoyable day's outing. Leaving Stroud at 8 a.m., and travelling through Cirencester and Fairford, a halt was made at Wantage, where touches of Grand sire and Stedman Triples were rung on the Parish Church bells. The next stopping place was Brightwell, where there is a handy peal of six, which were set going to Grand sire and Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Minor, and afterwards the inhabitants enjoyed hearing the handbells on the village green. The party then proceeded to Wallingford, where they rang Grand sire Triples and Bob Major, and went on to Benson, another peal of eight, and rang touches in the same methods. The next call was Dorchester, with its fine old abbey and bells dating 1320-1328. Here Grand sire and Stedman Triples were rung. The next stopping place was Abingdon, with its nice peal of ten, which were heard in Grand sire Triples and Caters. Stroud was eventually reached about 10 p.m. The incumbents, for their kindness in granting the use of bells, and all the friends who met the visitors at the various towers, are cordially thanked.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

THE COUNCIL'S RULES AND DECISIONS.

Mr. J. A. Trollope seconded Mr. Law James' amendment, that the words 'and decisions' should be omitted from Mr. Cave's motion, urging that there was no single rule in ringing which a band had not a perfect right to break if there was any sufficient reason for it. The rules they had got were not restrictive; they did not say: 'You must not do this,' or 'You must do that.' They were the experience built up through three centuries of change ringing, and the difficulty was that when they came to put these things down in words they did not always say what they meant. They could not look at the rules of ringing as hard and fast things, but as a sort of standard. Mr. Trollope went on to illustrate his point by referring to various developments in method ringing, quoting as one example a rule which said that a method should have as many plain leads in the plain course as there were working bells, a rule which was now breaking down in view of spliced ringing, which was producing a different plain course altogether. The Council's rules and decisions were nothing more than what was, in the opinion of the best people of the Exercise, the highest thing at the time to aim at.

Mr. Coles supported the amendment, and pointed out that despite resolutions of the Council many peals had been rung which did not accord with the Council's decisions.

Mr. W. Willson asked for what purpose did the members of the Council come there year after year? Was it to make decisions and be laughed at? If the rules were not to be accepted they had better scrap the book they had already got. If they were to have rules, the associations should abide by them.

CONSIDERED JUDGMENT.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said their rules and decisions were the considered judgment of those who came there as delegates of the associations. It had been very definitely ruled on many occasions that they had no direct authority over the associations, and that they simply came there as an advisory body, but if they, as a Council, had no more courage than to doubt whether they should recommend the associations to carry out their decisions that they came there to make, what were they there for? (hear, hear). There were some opinions which they could never reconcile, but the decisions which they came to were the considered judgment of that body, and that being so they had a right to expect that they would be accepted by the associations which sent them (hear, hear).

Mr. J. W. Jones said he supported the resolution on the ground that associations expected their members to abide by their rules and decisions, and they ought to expect the associations to abide by the rules and decisions of the Council on the same ground.

Canon Elsee hoped that neither the resolution nor the amendment would be carried. He thought the Council would be well advised to remain as it always had been, an advisory and not a legislative body. He believed that the decisions of the Council would carry more weight with the associations if they remained as they were. He thought it was important that they should respect the independence of each association, and that they should not try to lay down laws that the associations were bound to carry out without any consideration by those who sent their representatives. He pointed out as a parallel the Lambeth Conference of Bishops from all parts of the world, which was shortly to be held in that same building. Its decisions would carry immense weight with the whole Anglican communion, but he believed that all through there would be no law laid down. Opinions would be expressed and certain resolutions carried, but the independence of each church sending its Bishops to that conference would be respected. He hoped the Central Council would follow the same course, the course which it had adopted from the beginning, namely, that, while it considered things carefully and gave considered opinions which ought to carry great weight with the constituent associations, it would refrain from laying down rules and saying that the associations must abide by them.

The Rev. E. S. Powell thought that some of the members were labouring under a confusion of thought, and that confusion lay in the question of the word 'rules.' They had had a speech from Mr. Trollope about the rules of ringing; what the resolution dealt with was the rules of the Council. They were not concerned at all in that resolution with the deeper question of the rules of ringing. Was it not true that the rules of that Council were things which were binding only on the Council, and as such could in no case be carried out by the associations? They were not concerned with points such as those raised by Mr. Trollope. With regard to the question as a whole, he felt rather anxious on the matter. He supposed they all sympathised with the idea that it would be a splendid thing if they could be linked more closely officially as well as unofficially with the associations, but there was a great danger in trying to draw the cords too tight. He believed that the Midland Counties Association and the Yorkshire Association had recently, in dealing with Spliced Minor and Doubles peal ringing, gone further than that Council had gone in laying down that which they would be prepared to accept as a peal. If they put into their rules that they agreed to abide by the decisions of the Council, did it not imply that they also promised that they would not go further than the Council went? He was delighted to see the Midland Counties Association make this experiment, and he would look forward with a great deal of interest and a certain amount of entertainment to see how it worked out in practice. If the Council adopted this resolution, did it not mean that those who had gone further than the Council would have to draw back?

Mr. Law James' amendment, on being put, was defeated, and Mr. Cave's resolution was carried by a large majority.

Mr. Faulkner asked what the Council would do if an association declined to act on the suggestion?

The President: Nothing; it is merely a request. You cannot do anything if they refuse to act upon it.

Mr. Cave then moved: 'That a committee be appointed to consider, and, if thought necessary, to revise the rules of the Council and report to the next meeting.'

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith seconded.

Mr. C. T. Coles said the Midland Counties Association within the last two years had already ignored the decisions of the Council on thirty occasions in ringing peals which did not accord with the decisions of the Council which made it obvious that the rules of the Council were hopelessly out of date.

Alderman Pritchett suggested that the motion be altered to read: 'That the Standing Committee be requested to consider, etc.' He did not think they wanted a special committee, but the Standing Committee, if they desired to do so, could delegate the work to a sub-committee. That seemed to him the proper way to approach the matter if it required consideration at all, which he was very doubtful about.

The amendment was accepted and the motion carried.

LIVERPOOL FOR NEXT YEAR'S MEETING.

The Council next considered where they should meet next year, the Secretary reporting that the Standing Committee recommended that, as the meeting was due to be held in the North, it should take place at Ripon.

Mr. P. J. Johnson urged the claims of Leeds, which, though not a cathedral city, nevertheless had many attractions to offer to the Council, including six excellent rings of eight and the ring of twelve bells at the Parish Church. The hotel accommodation and the railway facilities were excellent, and in all respects Leeds was a far more convenient place than Ripon.

Mr. Murphy offered the Council a very cordial welcome to Dublin, if they would go.

Mr. G. R. Newton invited the Council to go to Liverpool, whose claims he eloquently pleaded.

The President said that, while they appreciated the offer of the invitation to Dublin, they looked upon that city as being in the west, and its claims would have to be considered when the turn of the next meeting in the West came up for decision. Dublin was a place, which, from the point of view of the Council, would require a good deal of organisation to get there.

Only the other three places were put to the vote, Ripon and Leeds receiving 23 each, and Liverpool 34, so that the last-named city will be the meeting place in 1931.

The Rev. H. Drake had given notice of the following motions: 'That a collection of lantern slides be formed by the Council to illustrate ringing in its various aspects,' and 'All notices of motion to be laid before the Council shall be sent in the names of either of individual members, or of affiliated societies, and shall reach the secretary in time for them to be published a week before Easter as a preliminary agenda. Within a fortnight after Easter other resolutions may be sent to him, but in this case only in the names of the societies.' Mr. Drake asked that these motions might be referred to the Standing Committee to be considered by them when considering the other matters referred to them. This course was agreed to.

AN OUT-OF-DATE 'STATEMENT.'

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, in accordance with notice of motion, called attention to the Council's statement on 'Regular Methods' contained in the Rules and Decisions of the Council. He pointed out that the statement did not cover the ringing of 'Little' methods, and was contrary to Mr. Trollope's suggestion with regard to the altered conditions as the result of spliced ringing. The statement appeared to be out of date, and he moved: 'That the Methods Committee be requested to review the Council's statement on regular methods contained in Rules and Decisions, and report to the next meeting of the Council what, if any, amendments they consider are necessary in view of present developments in method ringing.'

Mr. G. Grover seconded, and the motion was carried without discussion.

The President proposed a formal vote of thanks to the Archbishop of Canterbury for his courtesy in allowing the Council to use Lambeth Palace for its meeting. This was at once agreed to.

Canon Elsee suggested that a message of greeting should be sent to a respected member of the Council who was laid aside by ill-health—Rev. C. D. P. Davies.

Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn seconded the motion, which was cordially carried.

The President said he understood there were present that day at least four original members of the Council, viz., Canon Coleridge, Canon Baker, Canon Elsee and Mr. J. Griffin (applause).

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.A MID-WEEK MEETING.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at Seaford on Wednesday, July 16th, when the attendance, though not large numerically, was a representative one.

The belfry was open at 2.30, and various touches were brought round, the ringing continuing till 4.30, when a service was held, at which an interesting address on bells and their uses in various countries, East and West, was given by the Vicar of Seaford (the Rev. E. H. Phillips, M.A.).

A collection was taken at the service for the benevolent fund, and amounted to the useful sum of 10s. 5d.

Tea, provided by the kindness of Mr. T. Fisher, the Vicar's churchwarden, was followed by the usual business meeting, the Vicar being in the chair, supported by Mr. T. Fisher, Mr. J. T. Rickman, Master, and Mr. K. Hart, acting as secretary in the unavoidable absence of Mr. A. D. Stone. The agenda was short, consisting principally of the election and confirmation of election of new members. New members elected were Messrs. Alfred Lavender, Eric Osborne and William Hurst, Seaford. The election of Messrs. L. A. Tidy and J. Knight, jun., Limsfield, and F. H. Dexter, Leicester, was confirmed. When this had been disposed of, Mr. Rickman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Seaford for the use of the bells and for his helpful address, coupling with this the names of the host, Mr. Fisher, and the organist; and acknowledgments by these gentlemen brought the meeting to a close.

An adjournment was then made to the tower, where ringing was kept up till shortly after eight, the methods brought round ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise.

Canon Coleridge proposed a vote of thanks to the president, and expressed the gratitude of the members for the admirable way in which he had conducted the meeting. This having been carried, the President briefly replied, and the business terminated.

After the meeting, many of the members took the opportunity of inspecting the Palace, and later on there was a large gathering of ringers and friends at Anderton's Hotel (the headquarters of the Council during the week-end), where an enjoyable social took place, musical items and handbell ringing helping to pass a very pleasant evening.

Major J. H. B. Hesse asks us to state that he was not in favour of the hon. members of the Council being compelled to pay an annual subscription, as reported, but of Alderman Pritchett's proposition that hon. members should be invited to subscribe.

ON SUFFOLK AND NORFOLK BORDERLAND.

On Saturday, July 5th, the St. Clement's Church, Ipswich, bell-ringers had their annual outing, which took the form of a ringing tour on the Suffolk and Norfolk borderland. The first stop was at Cotton (six), where the ringers are exposed to all the weather. The bells are a good peal. The next stop was at Bacton (five), where, after repairing the ropes and several attempts, a course of Plain Doubles was scored, the 'going' being very bad. Leaving here, a run was made to Thelnetham (five), where the church stands in excellent surroundings. The Vicar met and welcomed the party. Blo' Norton (six) was the next stop, and the bells were soon made use of. A run was then made through very pretty country to East Harling. Here was found a good ring of six, with tenor 12 cwt., in good ringing order. Ringing over, a visit was paid to the Bull Hotel for dinner. At Kenninghall (eight) a course of Oxford Treble Bob Major and Bob Major were scored. A mile run through an avenue of trees brought the band to the round tower of Quidenham (eight), where some Bob Major was brought round. The 'going' of both these peals leaves room for improvement. Quidenham Church, like Thelnetham, stands in very pretty surroundings, in one corner of the park. After a group photograph had been taken by the secretary (Mr. F. Bowell), a run over Banham Moor brought the party to New Buckenham (six). At Tibenham there is a fine peal of six, with tenor 20 cwt. Unfortunately, owing to the very bad 'go' of the bells, only a few rounds were possible. It had been arranged to ring at Eye, but having lost much time at Tibenham, it was decided to miss Eye, and go on to Shelfanger (five). Here was found a very unmusical ring, badly in need of a tuner, but in fair ringing order. The return journey was via Diss and Norwich main road, home being reached at 10.30 p.m. The trip covered a distance of 85 miles, and everyone agreed that this, the sixth outing, had been the best. The company wish to thank all the incumbents for permission and arranging for the towers to be open ready.

St. Clement's, Ipswich, bells will not be available for ringing for some considerable time, as the tower has been found unsafe, and all ringing has been suspended since Whit Sunday until further notice. An appeal will shortly be issued for funds for the restoration of the tower, so that the bells may be rung, and any contributions toward this work from ringers interested will be gratefully accepted, the parish being a very large but poor one. £200 is required for the tower and £700 for the church. Any donations will be acknowledged by the Rector.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal of eight at Christ Church, Epsom, has now been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon, who have also overhauled the ring of eight at Westerham, Kent.

The ring of six at Standish, Glos, are to be rehung in a new cast-iron two-tier frame with complete new fittings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd.

A faculty has been granted to rehang the bells at Godalming, Surrey, and another for the erection of an oak screen to the belfry at Haslemere, where at present the tower is open to the full view of the church.

Liverpool and district ringers will be pleased to hear that the heavy ring of six at Huyton Parish Church are now being rehung with modern fittings in a new framework, and it is hoped to have the work completed early next month. The work is being carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

A well-worn silver Bath and Wells ringer's pendant has been found loose in the post at the Bristol G.P.O. The owner may have the same on application to the general secretary, J. T. Dyke, Chilcompton, Bath.

Gravesend Corporation, who made a generous grant of one hundred guineas towards the recasting of the bells of the Parish Church, have now voted fifty guineas towards the restoration of the bells of Milton-next-Gravesend, where, in addition, two bells are to be added to complete the octave to commemorate Mr. F. M. Mitchell's 21st year as leader of the tower.

Waterford Cathedral bells, on which the first peal in Ireland was rung, were opened on July 26th, 1872. The peal was rung by a band of College Youths on the following day.

An incident which probably had a considerable effect on ringing a century ago occurred on July 29th, 1785. On that day William Shipway arrived in London from Bath.

The knowledge which Shipway acquired while in London enabled him to write his celebrated text book on ringing, which, published in 1816, was the best until the days of Jasper Snowden.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL NON-CONDUCTED.

At Tonbridge, on Wednesday week, Holt's 'Original' was rung, non-conducted. The only other occasion on which it has been thus rung by the Kent County Association was at Aylesford on April 30th, 1892.

The ringers at Tonbridge were G. Edwards (Penshurst), T. E. Sone (Staplehurst), W. C. Pitman (Canterbury), F. W. Richardson, E. B. Crowder and W. J. Jeffries (St. John's, Deptford), G. H. Daynes (S. Nicholas', Deptford), and A. Relfe (Lamberhurst). Messrs. Sone and Richardson have also called this composition 'round the circle.'

Such interesting performances always lead to inquiries, and we are now asked how many times has the composition been rung 'non-conducted,' and who has called it from all the bells? Can any of our readers oblige?

BELFRY AS A PLACE OF HISTORY.

TABLET UNVEILED AT DORE.

A very pleasant meeting of the Peak District of the Midland Counties Association was held at Dore, near Sheffield, on Saturday, over thirty ringers and friends being present from Baslaw, Bakewell, Bolsover, Derby, Dore, Fairfield, Grimsby, Handsworth, Hathersage, Sheffield Cathedral and Treeton. The beautiful toned ring of eight bells (tenor 11½ cwt.) were raised about 3 p.m., and were made good use of till nearly 8 p.m., Cambridge, Double Norwich, Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire all being tried, while learners also had plenty of opportunities in rounds or six-bell methods.

An interesting ceremony took place at 3.30 p.m., when Mrs. A. J. Grant, of Dore Moor House, who was accompanied by Mr. A. J. Grant, managing director of the great steel firm of John Brown and Company, Ltd., unveiled a beautiful oak peal tablet, commemorating the centenary of the church. In the absence of the Vicar, Mr. H. E. Baggs, Vicar's warden, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Grant, and in asking Mrs. Grant to unveil the tablet, in a few appropriate remarks referred to the ancient custom of erecting peal tablets, some of which, dating back centuries, are now of great interest both locally and nationally. The idea at Dore was to make the belfry a place of history and to record for the benefit and emulation of those that come after, not only these ringing performances (which in themselves were notable in that they required tremendous effort and concentration), but, what was of more importance, to emphasise that these peals were rung to the honour and glory of God, as acts of praise and devotion, and that the tablets recorded something more than ringing performances—historic events in the life of the Church and country. Mr. Baggs emphasised, too, that all the took part in the peal. It is of solid oak, about 5ft. by 4ft. and 1in. thick, fitted with 'Staybright' fasteners into the walls, which will never rust or corrode. It records that on All Souls' Day, 1929, a peal of Bob Major was rung—particulars of which appeared in 'The Ringing World' at the time—as an act of praise and thanksgiving for the lives of the faithful departed, and especially those who in the preceding 100 years had given of their time and means for the building and embellishment of the church. The peal was rung also to mark the centenary of the church, consecrated on August 22nd, 1829, by Henry Ryder, Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry, and to commemorate the association of the church life of the village with the dioceses of Lichfield and Coventry, Lichfield, Southwell and Derby. The names of the Vicar, wardens, organist and steeplekeeper follow.

The ringing chamber itself had been specially redecorated for the occasion, and presented a pleasing spectacle, being decorated with bunches of roses and carnations, provided by Mrs. Cockey and Mrs. Thorpe, who with Mr. H. W. Westlake and other members of the Church Council were also present.

A tea was provided in the schools, arranged by Mrs. Cockey, and was followed by a short business meeting presided over by Mr. H. E. Baggs, Vicar's warden. The next meeting was fixed for Castleton, probably on August 16th, and two new life members, Messrs. L. Haywood and R. Payne, of Treeton, were elected. Mr. W. Wallace, treasurer of the M.C.A., in proposing a vote of thanks to the wardens, Mrs. Cockey and the other ladies, referred to the splendid condition of the belfry and bells, and to the many improvements which he noticed since his last visit nearly twenty years before. Another old friend, who received a warm welcome, was Mr. Arthur Craven, who in days past has rendered much help to Dore, and who everyone was pleased to note was well enough to have a short touch or two before tea.

RINGING'S UPS AND DOWNS AT HISTORIC DORE.

Christ Church, Dore, postal address Sheffield, but actually within the county and diocese of Derby and in the area of the Midland Counties Association, stands in a commanding position, some 600ft. above sea level and on the edge of the glorious Peak District of Derbyshire. Its sweet-toned bells resound for many miles over the bleak and rugged moorlands towards Carl Wark and Stanage Edge, where, in the dim history of the past, many a grim and bloody battle has taken place, long ere the tramp of the Roman legions resounded on the road to Stanage, and where, in later times, some of the wan and weary fragments of Prince Charlie's army passed on their 450 mile trek back to death and destruction near Inverness. It stands, too, on historic ground, for here, at King's Croft, close to the east wall of the churchyard, if tradition speaks aught, the English nation was born. According to the records in the libraries at Oxford, in A.D. 826, Egbert, King of Wessex, having conquered most of the South of England, East Anglia and Mercia, marched northwards with his army to Dore to attack the Northumbrians. This northern kingdom, however, being in revolt at the time, the King Eadwald came to meet Egbert and offered him submission, Egbert thus becoming first King of all England. This treaty was actually made at Dore on the field which, to this day, is called the King's Field.

In 1820, Dore, then a tiny isolated moorland village, could boast only a little chapel, which had succeeded some 100 years earlier a chantry, formerly served by the monks of Beauchief, and this little chapel in 1828 was 'literally and truly speaking altogether unfit for any person to sit or stand in.' By a mighty effort, aided by valuable help from one of the church societies, the Dore people built for themselves the present pretty little church, which was consecrated by Bishop Henry Ryder, of Lichfield and Coventry, on August 22nd, 1829, and of which the centenary was celebrated on August 22nd last at a memorable and impressive service.

During the incumbency of about 35 years of the present Vicar, the Rev. W. R. Gibson, the church has been greatly beautified and improved, the three most notable additions being a fine 'Te Deum' east window, organ and peal of eight bells. The latter, a particularly sweet-toned ring, tenor 11½ cwt., by Taylor and Co., were dedicated by the Bishop of Southwell on New Year's Day, 1909, and on the same day the first peal, one of Double Norwich, conducted by the late Mr. Sam Thomas, was rung on them. Unfortunately, there are no notable inscriptions on the bells, except that, on the 6th, it is recorded that it was given by the Girls' Friendly Society, and on the 7th by Ebenezer Hall, a great benefactor to the district.

Ringing has had its ups and downs since 1909, and there have been several interregnums of silence. Of late years, however, it has been possible to keep the bells going regularly and to ring an occasional peal on them, but only at the cost of constant alertness against a limited but as keen and vindictive an opposition as it is possible to meet with in this country—an opposition, too, not altogether confined to non-ringers. It may be added, also, that it has been possible to found and train up more than one ringer, of both sexes, of outstanding ability, and that a number of notable peals have been rung, though only in the easier methods. It should be noted, too, that each peal rung since 1922 has been someone's 'first' of one sort or another, including the centenary peal. Of the present band, the majority, including several girls, are under 18 years of age, and a beautiful records in the belfry had been provided without any cost to the church, and that the band of ringers now at Dore, many of them very young, were the survivors of fifty or sixty people who during the last few years had tried their hands at the art of ringing, and from one cause or another had faded away, most of them as soon as they found that it needed real grit and perseverance to become a ringer.

Mrs. Grant, in responding to the request to unveil the tablet, referred to the great interest in and love for the bells which they had at Dore Moor, and to the many pleasing and complimentary remarks which the many frequent visitors there often made concerning them, and to the compliment which had been paid her in asking her to undertake the unveiling.

Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, people's warden, who conducted the peal, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Grant, who had specially left another engagement to be present there. He referred to the appreciation of the church authorities at their kindness, and especially to the fact that it was due to Mr. Grant that several additions and improvements to the bells themselves had recently been carried out. He added that the esteem and affection in which Mrs. Grant was held by those who came in contact with her at Dore Church was only equalled by that in which Mr. Grant was held in the great steel firm with which they both had the honour to be associated.

Mr. Grant, in a few words of response, remarked that this was his first visit to a belfry. He expressed his appreciation of the beautiful bells and fittings to the belfry, and assured those present of his interest in their work.

The tablet itself is an exceptionally fine piece of work, carried out by Mr. H. W. Westlake, church decorator, of Sheffield, whose son

THE LADIES' GUILD, ANNUAL MEETING AT BRISTOL.

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at Bristol, on Saturday, July 12th. The attendance was not as large as usual. Ringing took place at St. Stephen's Church and also at the Church of St. John-on-the-Wall. A short service was held at the latter church, conducted by the Rev. D. A. Jaquet, Vicar of SS. James and John, who gave a most helpful address from the text, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.' After the service, the Vicar pointed out to the visitors the chief points of interest in the church, which has recently been reopened after restoration.

The Guild members were afterwards entertained to tea at Carwardine's Cafe by the Bristol United Guilds. Before the business meeting, Miss N. G. Williams proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. John's for conducting the service, and also to the Vicar of St. Stephen's for the use of the bells, to which Mr. Jaquet replied.

Mrs. Richardson, of Surfleet, thanked the Bristol United Guilds for their hospitality, Mr. Williams, the chairman, replying.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by Miss E. Smith, vice-president of the Western District, in the absence of Miss Steel, the president, who was prevented by an accident from attending. The accounts were presented, showing an excess of income over expenditure for the year of £4 2s. 4d.

The Secretary (Mrs. G. W. Fletcher) presented the following report: 'Although, perhaps, we might have hoped for a year of greater activity and increased membership, which would have rendered the writing of this report a much simpler task, yet we do not feel that we have been unsuccessful in furthering the objects of the Guild. That there is still work to be done goes without saying, and the splendid leading article which appeared in "The Ringing World" some months ago should spur us on to further efforts. There is not the slightest doubt that some of the present districts are too large to be worked satisfactorily, and there are still parts of the country where no work is being done. If we can in any way remedy matters during the coming year we shall do so, but everything depends on the co-operation of individual members. All the districts have held meetings regularly, and the majority have been well attended. Here again difficulties arise owing to the frequency with which some associations hold meetings, and care has to be taken to avoid clashing. Many joint meetings have been held with county and diocesan associations, and these have proved a great success. There is undoubtedly a much higher standard of ringing among members, which is evidenced by the frequency with which their names appear in the peal columns of "The Ringing World" in a great variety of methods. Two peals have been rung for the Guild—one of Bob Major at Bucklebury, and one of Minor in three methods at Gamston. The latter peal deserves special mention, as the conductor, Mrs. R. Richardson, had only previously called one peal. We congratulate the bands most heartily. The Western District has sustained a severe loss through the death of Mrs. William Thomas, one of the Guild's most loyal members, and she will be very much missed. In conclusion, we extend to all district secretaries our best thanks for their work, and again urge members to support them to the best of their ability.'

Miss Steel was re-elected president, and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher hon. secretary and treasurer. Leicester was chosen as the place for the next annual meeting.

Ringling took place after the meeting at St. Philip's Church, the methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The Southern District of the Ladies' Guild held their annual meeting at Egham on July 5th in conjunction with the Guildford Diocesan Guild's summer festival. After tea, with Mrs. G. W. Fletcher in the chair, the business was got through quickly. Mrs. Walker, of Woking, wife of Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., was elected an honorary member, and the officers were all re-elected, viz.: Miss Bruce (Worplesdon), vice-president; Miss Mills (Farnham), secretary; and Mrs. Hazelden (Guildford), Mrs. Whittington (Cranleigh), Mrs. Melville (Guildford) and Miss Fisher (Aldershot), committee.

It was proposed to hold the next annual meeting at Worplesdon.

A vote of thanks to the secretary brought the meeting to a close. Members are reminded that the next quarterly meeting is at St. Laurence's, Reading, on Saturday, October 11th.

UPS AND DOWNS AT DORE.

number of them are up to the peal stage. A notable fact is that each member of the band is a regular communicant, and that it is very unusual for any of the band not to take part in the services for which they ring.

One might, perhaps, conclude by quoting the text used by Bishop Ryder at the consecration of the church on August 22nd, 1829, as an expression of hope from now onwards, quite as much applicable to the belfry as to the church itself: 'The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the Lord of Hosts, and in this place will I give peace, saith the Lord of Hosts.' J. E. L. C.

DOUBLE LITTLE BOB.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to the communication by Mr. E. Barnett in your last week's issue, I must first rectify one little mistake made by him. The credit of conducting the peal must go to Mr. F. Watkinson, of Handsworth, to whom I supplied the method and composition. I should now like to explain how I came to name it Double Little Bob. I have always understood Little Bob to be Bob Minimus with Major lead-ends, and in the figures given below I would like to try and show that the method rung is the same as Double Bob Minimus. To work the Major method into the Minimus, one pair of bells at least must cross over in each lead. In this case, the 3rd and 6th do this in the first lead, this constituting one set of 4th's place.

| DOUBLE BOB MINIMUS. | DOUBLE LITTLE BOB MAJOR. |
| 1234 | 1234 5678 |
| 2143 | 2143 6587 |
| 2413 | 2416 3857 |
| 4231 | 4261 8375 |
| 2431 | 2461 3857 |
| 4213 | 4216 8375 |
| 4123 | 4126 3857 |
| 1432 | 1462 8375 |
| 1423 | 1426 3857 |
| 4312 | 4618 2735 |

As Plain Bob has been rung for ages, I did not consider any place name was required. I therefore sent it to Mr. Watkinson as D.L.B. I hope Mr. Barnett will accept my explanation in the same spirit as it is given, as I can assure him it is given with the kindest intention. I may add that any block of 24 courses can be substituted for the first 24 in the peal (after calling the bob before), thus giving a good variation of peals for conductors. With these remarks, I now leave it to the Exercise to judge whether it is Double Little Bob or Erith, at the same time admitting that the band at Crayford have the claim to the first peal rung.—Yours truly, GEO. LEWIS.

[Mr. Barnett has also written apologising for the slip in giving Mr. Lewis' name as the conductor instead of Mr. Watkinson's.—Ed. 'R.W.']

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION. SHIELD CONTEST WON BY SHELLEY.

The meeting and annual contest of the Barnsley and District Association was held at South Kirkby on Saturday, July 12th. The draw resulted as follows: 1 Sandal, 2 Wath (A), 3 Darfield, 4 Shelley, 5 Wath (B), 6 Felkirk. Owing to Sandal company not all being present at the appointed time, they had to take their turn last.

Tea was served in the Church Institute at 5 p.m., about 60 being present.

Felkirk were unable to raise a band, and only five teams were left to compete. The contest finished about 7 p.m.

The business meeting followed, and was presided over by the Rev. C. W. Handford (curate), in the absence of the Vicar. The judge (Mr. J. R. Brearley, of Bolsterstone) presented his report as follows:—

Wath (A), 111 faults; total, 111.

Darfield, 166 faults, 5 penalties; total, 171.

Shelley, 67 faults, 5 penalties; total, 72.

Wath (B), rung out.

Sandal, 93 faults; total, 93.

Shelley were therefore declared winners of the shield and six B.M. teapots. Sandal, being second, received six sets of carvers.

Wortley was selected for next place of meeting.

Mr. C. D. Potter moved a hearty vote of thanks to the clergy, the judge, these providing tea, and the local company for the duties so successfully performed.—Mr. W. Idle seconded.

Mr. W. Reyner, in supporting the motion, suggested that a day be set apart some time next year for a great ringers' rally, all the associations in Yorkshire to be asked to join in.

The Rev. C. W. Handford, in reply, said how pleased he was to welcome the ringers and friends to South Kirkby. He hoped to join in ringing, but being an eight-bell ringer he would require a little more practice on six to make himself competent.

A few of the ringers afterwards adjourned to the belfry and kept the bells going until 9 p.m., which brought to a close an event marked throughout by good spirit and an excellent social feeling.

BEQUEST FOR CURFEW.

A bequest has been made to the parish of Sturminster Newton for the ringing of the curfew. The testator, Mr. Frederick Giles Symonds, a retired bank manager, who died on May 10th, at the age of 83, left estate of the gross value of £14,707. By his will he left £100 upon trust to pay the income to the Vicar and churchwardens of Sturminster Newton towards keeping alive the ancient custom of ringing the curfew bell from Michaelmas Day to Lady Day, any surplus to be paid to the Vicar for the sick and needy fund. He also left £200 to the Vicar and churchwardens, the income to be paid annually to the poor of the parish over the age of 65 years.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. SUCCESS ON A SHILLING SUBSCRIPTION.

According to the report of the Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for the year ended on May 31st last, the association had at that date 153 affiliated towers and 1,664 members—a decrease of three towers and an increase of 11 members.

The 48 peals rung was an increase of 12 on the previous year. The increase, adds the Master, is owing to the large number of peals of Grandsire Doubles. While Grandsire is a useful method, it should be remembered that Minor methods could be rung on six bells, and no good purpose was served by the same band piling up peals of Doubles. The time could be better spent in the practice of Minor methods.

The year 1929 was successful financially, the income exceeding expenditure by £20 ls. At the beginning of the year £30 was placed on deposit. They had now on deposit a sum equal to an average year's income, which put the association in a safe position, and a yearly surplus was assured.

The committee had carefully considered the financial position of the association, and was determined to make a recommendation to the association as to the manner in which the annual surplus should be used. If its recommendation was carried, non-affiliated towers would have a further inducement to join the association. It must not be thought, however, that the association was overburdened with riches. It was one of the few associations which continued to work on a subscription of one shilling per member, and gave its reports free. It was only by the careful and economical working of the branches by the local secretaries that the present satisfactory financial state of the association had been achieved.

DEATH OF THE REV. A. C. R. FREEBORN. HIS SERVICES TO THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

It was only towards the close of the day that it became known to those attending the festival of the Oxford Guild at Oxford that Mr. Freeborn had passed away. For 39 years he was Vicar of Kidlington, where he was successful in restoring his tower and bells, and in gathering round him a faithful band of ringers, chief among whom one remembers such names as Harry Judge, William Bennett and Frederick Webb. All these have now passed to their rest.

Though not a ringer himself, Mr. Freeborn was always ready to welcome ringers and to encourage peal ringing, and among many peals rung at Kidlington in his time was the 17,000 of Double Norwich, in which H. Judge and W. Bennett took part. When the Witney and Woodstock Deaneries Branch of the Guild was started, early in this century, he was good enough to accept the office of chairman, and right well did he carry out his duties, until a few years ago, when failing health compelled him to resign both his office and the living of Kidlington.

As a mark of honour and appreciation he was elected a vice-president of the Guild, and as such he maintained his interest in ringers and ringing matters.

The figure so familiar at Guild meetings was that of an old athlete, and, indeed, in his younger days Mr. Freeborn was a runner of great distinction. A strong and kindly man, and a devoted priest of the Church of God, may he rest in peace. C. W. O. J.

MALDON RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, June 21st, members, with their wives and friends, left Maldon by motor coach for a day's tour. The first stop was at Stratford St. Mary for breakfast. The next halt was at Dobenharn, where, owing to the state of the tower, the bells are unringable. Eye was the next place visited, with its grand peal of eight bells, which were soon swinging to the tune of Grandsire Triples and other methods. After a brief inspection of this beautiful church, and a chat with the Vicar (the Rev. I. R. Vincent), the coach was again boarded, Norwich being reached at one o'clock. Here they were met by Major E. Felce, of the Norwich Publicity Association, who took charge of the party. Ringing was enjoyed at St. Peter Mancroft Church for half an hour. Although the tenor weighs about two tons, the bells go remarkably well. Wymondham was reached at about 6.45 p.m. The massive western tower in this abbey church contains a grand peal of eight bells, which were used well in several methods. Maldon was reached at midnight, after an enjoyable day's outing. Thanks are due to Major Felce, whose services were of so much value in Norwich, and to those who met the ringers at the towers of Eye, St. Peter Mancroft, and Wymondham.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Saturday, July 12th, at the Parish Church of St. Mary, Sandbach, the wedding of Mr. H. Parker to Miss M. Devenport was solemnised, and to mark the event eight ringers met at the church in the afternoon to attempt a peal of Bob Major, which unfortunately came to grief after 2 hrs. 50 mins., nine leads from home, through the rope on the 5th bell breaking. The ringers were: A. V. Rees 1, A. Booth 2, T. Hurd 3, D. Smith 4, J. Tipper 5, W. Stevenson 6, E. Bennett (conductor) 7, J. Worth 8. After the attempt the ringers sat down to an excellent repast, which was provided by the happy couple. Mr. Parker is the secretary of the Northwich Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a useful meeting at Weybridge on Saturday. This is one of the few towers that has not yet been affiliated to the Guild, but it is hoped that, as a result of the visit, the band may be reinforced and the tower brought into the Guild. The Vicar (the Rev. E. H. Tritton) gave the Guild a warm welcome, conducted service, gave a homely but inspiring address, and afterwards entertained the ringers to a sumptuous tea in the Vicarage.

Admiral T. P. Walker presided over a brief business meeting, at which the Vicar was thanked for his kindness and hospitality, and thanks were also extended to the organist and to the ladies who waited upon the ringers at tea.

The question of the affiliation of the tower was discussed with the local representatives, and Mr. Taylor, the captain of the band, was elected a member of the Guild. Assistance in instruction in change ringing was offered to the tower, and it is hoped that in the autumn the band will be recruited to full strength and regular practices established.

Mr. R. L. Newman, of St. Albans, was elected as a non-resident life member, and a vote of condolence and sympathy with the relatives of the late Mr. C. Sleet, for 20 years a ringer of Ottershaw, was passed by the members standing in silence.

The next meeting of the district will be held at Ottershaw early in October.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening was limited to Grandsire Doubles and Triples and Bob Minor and Major, but some very useful practice was put in, and 'firsts' of Triples and Major were scored by some of the visitors.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The summer meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Hever on Saturday, July 12th, and was very well attended. In the absence of the Rector, who was on holiday, the service was conducted by Rev. H. C. Edwards, Vicar of Edenbridge, while Mr. Baker, organist of Penshurst Church, presided at the organ. Two churchwardens of Hever were present, and also Canon Cropper, Rector of Penshurst. After service, a move was made to Hever Castle, permission to view this and the beautiful grounds having been kindly granted by Major and Lady Violet Astor on the application of Mr. G. Edwards, of Penshurst. This privilege was much appreciated by the members and their friends, who were much interested in all they saw.

Tea was partaken of at the Henry the Eighth Hotel, and was followed by the business meeting, Rev. H. C. Edwards presiding.

Votes of thanks were passed to Rev. H. C. Edwards, who had given up a cricket match to conduct the service, to the two churchwardens and Canon Cropper for their attendance, to Mr. Baker for his services at the organ, and to Mr. G. Edwards for his splendid arrangements for the meeting.

RESTORATION AT MILTON-NEXT-GRAVESEND.

CORPORATION'S GENEROUS DONATION.

As announced in 'The Ringing World,' the Parochial Council of the Parish Church at Milton-next-Gravesend opened a fund to restore the present peal of six and add two new trebles to commemorate the 21st year as leader of the tower, of Mr. F. M. Mitchell, who is also hon. secretary of the Kent County Association.

We are pleased to report that the appeal has met with a ready response. Two friends at the church have each promised a bell to complete the octave, and the Gravesend Corporation granted 50 guineas from the borough funds towards the restoration. This, with other generous donations, has resulted in nearly £300 being raised in five months, and the Rector of Milton has kindly promised to subscribe the balance required when all collecting cards are in.

The work will be put in hand at once, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank being entrusted with the order.

If this note should meet the eye of any who have collecting cards, would they please forward same at once, together with any amount collected, to the hon. treasurer, Mr. F. M. Mitchell, 114, Sun Lane, Gravesend, who wishes to thank all who have assisted in this excellent result.

A COMMEMORATIVE PEAL.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob at Over, Cheshire, on Saturday, was rung on the seventh anniversary of the 17,280 of the same method, on the same bells and by the same band, standing in the same places. This is the first occasion that the band has been able to visit Over tower since ringing the long peal. It is also the first peal in which Mr. R. Sperring has taken part since October, 1929, and the band were pleased to note his wonderful recovery after his long and trying illness.

Thanks are due to Mr. Sadler, of Over, who kindly met the band and had everything in readiness for the peal; to Mr. H. Lewis, of Chester, who very obligingly acted as ninth man, and to Mrs. Atherton, of Over, who entertained the band to tea at the conclusion of the peal. It was agreed by all that it was one of the most pleasant Saturday afternoons spent for some time.

THE MINOR METHODS COLLECTION.

A COMPARISON WITH MUSIC.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have been wondering for a long time now as to when the enlarged collection of Minor Methods would make its appearance, and I am glad to notice that at long last it has been decided to have it printed. But I also observe that there is a division among the members of the Central Council as to the charge that should be made on each copy. Three shillings has been suggested, and, personally, I don't think that this is too much. Taking into consideration the number of methods involved, they would work out at less than one-eighth of a penny each. Surely this is reasonable. On the average it takes about twenty-three minutes to ring the full extent of one method. If you were buying a copy of music for the piano which occupied the same amount of time to play, the cost of this would far exceed the cost of the whole collection of Minor Methods, and I for one would certainly get as much pleasure in ringing that one method as the pianist would acquire from his piece of music. This leads me to believe that we ringers get our pleasures very cheaply, for what is finer than to have a ring on good-going bells, with five other kindred spirits swinging along at a merry pace which sets your blood tingling and makes life worth living? Believe me, if the pianist had access to his music as cheaply as the ringer has to his methods, he would go into raptures. By the practice of a little self-denial, even the poorest ringer could procure his copy, which I can assure him would be well worth while. How a ringer can quibble at paying 3s. for such a wealth of information as this book will contain is beyond the comprehension of yours sincerely,

JOHN E. WHEELDON.

HILLINGDON RINGERS IN SUSSEX.

The annual outing of the ringers of St. John-the-Baptist Church, Hillingdon, Middlesex, took place on July 5th. The day dawned with a cloudless sky, and splendid weather continued all day. Leaving the church, the ringers, who, with friends, numbered twenty persons, sped along in the fresh morning air, seated in a very comfortable motor coach. Hanworth aerodrome was passed, and the great array of machines about to start for the King's Cup air race proved of vast interest. Kingston, Esher, lovely Oxshott woods, Leatherhead and Dorking were quickly left behind. Shortly after nine, the party arrived at Warnham, so early that even the local ringers had not reached the tower. However, on the arrival of Messrs. Branch and Charman, the bells were raised and touches of Grandsire, Oxford Bob, and Stedman Triples. Plain Bob and Double Norwich Major was rung. Peal boards in the tower were of special interest to the visitors, as the late Harry Chandler, a native of Warnham, who afterwards lived and died at Hillingdon, took part in and conducted many of the peals in question.

Pulborough was the next stop. Here Mr. P. H. Doick was waiting for the party. The church is situated on an eminence, and some very fine views were obtained from the top of the tower. However, the ringers of the party were soon at the ends of the ropes, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman Triples and Kent Major were rung. A conductor must have a good voice to be heard here; in fact, it would be a good idea to hire a sergeant-major to call the bobs!

Bury Hill stood between the party and the objective of the day, Bognor. However, the trusty motor went up like a bird (?), and the seaside was reached shortly after mid-day. Lunch was partaken of immediately, and the excursionists then separated to spend the time as they chose. Bathing, speed boating and ice-cream consuming were among some of the means resorted to to pass away the afternoon. Bognor was left directly tea was disposed of. Chichester, with its Cathedral and campanile, Midhurst and its lovely park, and Petworth were passed, and Chiddingfold was reached according to programme. Here the bells were ready, and various Triple methods, together with Double Norwich Major were rung without delay. The temperature of the bellry rose with the intricacy of the methods (was it a coincidence?), and many parched throats had to be appeased before departure time. The Rector of Chiddingfold greeted the visitors, and the Vicar of Hillingdon, who accompanied his ringers, expressed the thanks of the party for the very warm welcome that had been extended.

The final journey was accomplished safely, the way being through Godalming, Guildford and Staines. Much amusement was caused by the loud cry of 'Fish' from the budding anglers whenever water was sighted. Hillingdon was reached at 10 p.m., and thus the day, crammed full of changing views and incidents, became but a memory.

The best thanks of the visitors is accorded to Messrs. Branch, Doick and Luff, of Warnham. Pulborough and Chiddingfold respectively, for having their bells ready, and to the incumbents of those places for granting permission to ring.

ASHTED, SURREY.—On Thursday, June 18th, for practice, 1,280 Superlative Surprise Major: G. W. Newberry, J. H. B. Hesse, Miss Irene I. Hastie, G. Mariner, J. Hoyle, A. Smith, G. Cook, A. Harman (conductor).

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION AT PRITTLEWELL.

Probably owing to the distance, the fine afternoon and various counter-attractions, the meeting of the South-Western Division on Saturday at Prittlewell was not quite so well attended as usual. Nevertheless, twenty-two members and friends were present and made good use of this handy peal of ten during the afternoon and evening. After the service, conducted by the Vicar, Canon Ellis-Gowing, who gave up some of his valuable time to be present, the business meeting was held, at which two new members were elected and Hornchurch selected as the place for the next meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the organist for accompanying, to Mr. Blake and the ladies for providing the tea, and to the members of the local band for having everything in readiness. This was carried with acclamation, after which another visit was made to the tower, and the bells kept going until 8.30 p.m.

Members were present from Barking, Romford, Harlow Common, Leytonstone, Orsett, Beniley, West Tilbury, Broomfield, with members of the local band, and touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Hob Royal, Cambridge and London Surprise Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung.

It is hoped to arrange the next meeting for September 27th; will other district secretaries kindly note?

PRESENTATIONS AT ARDLEIGH.

The meeting of the North-Eastern Division at Ardleigh on Saturday week was in the nature of a birthday gathering for Mr. Neuth, who invited the members to tea, a party of forty-seven sitting down after the customary service in church.

After tea, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association), on behalf of the members, presented the Vicar and Mr. Neuth each with a set of pipes and a tin of tobacco as a small token of appreciation of their generosity shown at the annual gathering at Ardleigh for the last ten years. Mr. W. J. Nevard (District Master) also voiced the thanks of the members, whose gifts were greatly appreciated by the recipients.

Much ringing was done on the bells during the afternoon and evening.

SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY'S TOUR.

The Saffron Walden Society held their annual outing in glorious weather on Monday, July 7th. The party proceeded by charabanc to Foxearth, where the first stop was made. Here on the light peal of eight, the tenor being just over 7 cwt., the methods rung were London and Cambridge Surprise and Stedman Triples. Passing through Long Melford, Lavenham and Stowmarket, Stonham Aspal was reached half an hour behind scheduled time owing to losing the road. Consequently the stay at the tower had to be curtailed. After ringing touches of Stedman Caters and Kent Royal, the party went on to the Lion at Debenham, where an excellent hot lunch was served. In the afternoon, at Framsden, London and Superlative Surprise and Stedman Triples were rung. The next stop was at Helmingham, where the visitors were met by Messrs. W. C. Runsey and G. Whiting. The ring of eight are a musical peal, and all enjoyed ringing on them, the methods being London and Cambridge Surprise and Stedman Triples. Going on to Coddanham, touches of London Surprise, Double Norwich and Stedman Triples were brought round on this peal of eight. After tea at the Crown Inn, the homeward journey was commenced, the route being via Ipswich, Colchester and Bishop's Stortford, and Saffron Walden was reached at 9.45 p.m., a very enjoyable day having been spent. Thanks are extended to the incumbents for the use of the bells at all the towers, also to the steeplekeepers for having the bells 'up,' while special thanks are due to Mr. W. C. Runsey, of Debenham, for the trouble he had taken in arranging the lunch and getting permission to ring at several of the towers.

BRAINTREE RINGERS' TRIP.

The annual outing of the ringers of St. Michael's Church, Braintree, took place on Saturday, July 5th. Leaving Braintree by bus at 8 a.m., the first stop was Galleywood, where the bells were set going to Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise. At Brentwood, the next tower on the list, Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich and Stedman Triples were successfully brought round. At Hornchurch, a touch of Double Norwich had to be cut short owing to a wedding, but after the ceremony the bride and bridegroom were greeted with a course of Bristol Surprise. At Romford, Superlative and Double Norwich were rung. After lunch came a long drive to Prittlewell, where Double Norwich Major, Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Treble Bob Royal were each brought home. Rayleigh came next, with more Double Norwich and Bristol Surprise. At Great Baddow, the last call, several of the local ringers were met, and the day's ringing was concluded with Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, and Stedman Triples. Braintree was again reached at 10 p.m., after a most enjoyable day. The ringers wish to thank all the incumbents at the churches visited for the use of the bells, and the steeplekeepers for having the bells ready for them.

SURPLUS FUNDS.

Many association officials must have rubbed their eyes in astonishment when they read last week that the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association have made success upon a membership subscription of one shilling each, and wondered how it is done. It says a good deal for the management of the Bath and Wells Association that they have not only paid their way, but have accumulated sufficient funds to be able to contemplate offering further inducements to unaffiliated bands to join. The position of the association is such that an annual surplus is assured and the committee's chief concern at present is how these available funds can best be spent in the interests of ringing.

It is refreshing to find an association ready to spend its surplus in this way. Some organisations go on accumulating a balance and look upon the piling up of a big reserve as good policy. Others, of course, are not in this happy position, but while we agree that it is sound finance not to spend to the last halfpenny, ringing associations are not exactly on the same footing as business concerns, which have to be prepared for trade fluctuations, to meet risks and to shoulder responsibilities. Ringers support their associations with their subscriptions in order that the art and the objects for which the organisations exist may be furthered, and it cannot be said that the hoarding of funds, for the sake of hoarding, helps this in any way. A balance sufficient to cover a year's liabilities ought to be enough to secure the financial stability of any ringing association, and anything beyond that would be well spent in promoting the art.

We are quite sure that much more might be done than is already done by many associations by way of instruction, not merely in the rudiments of ringing, but in helping those who already have some knowledge of it to acquire still more. There might, too, be more encouragement given to young ringers to attend meetings. Many of them can ill afford to travel a distance and meet the other incidental expenses of a meeting and funds might often be usefully employed in this direction. Some associations already pay part railway fares, and this has proved a considerable inducement to ringers of limited means to support meetings which they would not otherwise attend. The encouragement of restoration work by grants to bell funds is another direction in which some associations might do more.

In these and other ways, surplus funds could be well 'invested,' and the results would probably be more beneficial than even the reduction of the amount of the annual subscription. The funds of ringing associations are meant to be used, yet there are societies that are content to add year by year to their funds but show no initiative in using them to further the interests either of ringing or ringers beyond the limits necessary to keep the organisation together. Money judiciously spent is always a good investment, and ringing associations, like other bodies, would find their return in increased progress.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL NON-CONDUCTED AND MEN WHO HAVE CALLED IT 'ROUND THE CIRCLE.'

The performance at Tonbridge, where Holt's Original was rung non-conducted, as recorded in our last issue, with the inquiry as to how many times the composition has been rung in this way, and how many ringers have called it from every bell, has brought a number of replies.

Among the most interesting are the recollections of Mr. Challis F. Winney, who writes: Holt's Original was rung non-conducted for the first time on October 23rd, 1884, at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, and 'in hand' for the first time on March 11th, 1887. About 25 years ago it was rung by the Waterloo young 'school,' with Messrs. Wilde, Davis, Barton and Co. C. F. Winney has called it all round on tower bells and from each even pair in hand. A racy story is told of a parson who in one such peal on tower bells missed the sallie and thus struck his most correct blow. On another occasion Mr. Tanner, sen., who had lost one or two fingers from one hand, missed the sallie just before the second single, and the bell set up. The peal was put on a fortnight later, and was called by Mr. James Pettit from the tenor, and he thus 'completed the circle.' But he was not the first to do so. The week before, Mr. Charles Hounslow, of Oxford fame, finished the calling of the peal from every bell, and thus was the first person to do so. That was over fifty years ago. Our friend James Washbrook did it, and, of course, the indefatigable Alfred Pulling has done it. There may be others.

Mr. Alfred Rowley, of Brierley Hill, writes: Congratulations to the band who rang it at Tonbridge, Kent, on July 18th. It would be interesting to know if, besides being non-conducted, the peal was rung strictly silent, and no sign or motion made by any person in order to keep the ringing going and so secure the peal.

I had the pleasure of making one of a band who rang this composition under these conditions, at Christ Church, West Bromwich, on November 20th, 1909. The band stood as follows: J. Timms 1, Rev. C. C. Cox 2, S. Reeves 3, Rev. E. V. Cox 4, R. Pickering 5, A. Rowley 6, T. H. Reeves 7, J. C. Adams 8. Messrs. T. Miller and W. H. Godden, two well-known Birmingham ringers, acted as witnesses in the ringing chamber. The former, who has this particular method at his finger ends, checked the ringing from the figures of the peal, while the latter kept his eyes open to see that there was no sign or motion made by any member of the band.

In answer to the question, who has called this composition from all the bells, the ringer of the 3rd above did so, and I think I am correct in saying that each time he called it it was on a different peal of bells. I have also done the same, but my peals were called at the church to which I was attached as a ringer, viz., St. Martin's Parish Church, Tipton, popularly known as 'The Black Country Pepperbox.' In conclusion, I may add I have also called a peal of Bob Major and Kent Major from each bell at 'The Pepperbox,' each peal a different composition.

Mr. H. J. Tucker, now of Chichester, has called the peal three times 'round the circle,' calling it from the tenor at Holy Trinity, Newington, London, on April 4th, 1885, for the Ancient Society of College Youths; at St. Andrew's, Hertford, on July 4th, 1885, for the Hertfordshire Association; and at St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, on December 26th, 1900, for the Essex Association. In all, he has called the peal thirty-three times.

Mr. G. E. Symonds, of Ipswich, took part in the peal non-conducted on June 4th, 1898, at St. John's, Waterloo Road, S.E. He has called this composition three times from each working bell, twice from the treble and once from the tenor.

BECCLES RINGERS' ANNUAL OUTING.

On Saturday, July 19th, the Beccles company of ringers held their annual outing, accompanied by a few friends from neighbouring towers. The weather at the start was not very pleasant, but the 50-mile run to Lavenham took the party quite out of the rainy area. At Lavenham, the party were met by Mr. H. Symonds and his son, and some short touches were rung on the fine peal of eight. Sudbury was the next place, and after lunch the visitors were met by Mr. A. Scott, who took them to St. Peter's and to St. Gregory's Churches for more ringing. Unfortunately the grand peal at All Saints' Church could not be rung owing to the recent fall of a beam in the tower, but it is hoped that the bells will soon be restored to good going order. Then came tea, and after this a short run to Long Melford, where the local company met them, and the bells were kept going until it was time to start on the long journey home, which was reached about midnight, and everyone agreed that this was one of the best outings yet held. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Plain, Sledman, Treble Bob and Double Norwich, and a course of Cambridge Major at Sudbury with the help of some of the local band. The best thanks of the company are tendered to Mr. A. Symonds, of Lavenham, Mr. A. Scott, of Sudbury, and Mr. Ambrose, of Long Melford, for their kind assistance in making the arrangements, which made this day such a success, and to the incumbents of the churches visited for the use of the bells.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at Llantwit Major on Saturday last, and proved a most successful and pleasant one. The Vicar, Rev. Canon David, heartily welcomed the members on arrival. The bells, a ring of six, by Mears and Stainbank, were raised early in the afternoon and rung in various methods. Service was held in the fine old Parish Church, the Canon officiating, and his address being much enjoyed.

Tea, which had been very generously provided by the Vicar and churchwardens, was followed by the business meeting, Canon David kindly taking the chair.

Before reading the minutes of the previous meeting, the Hon. Secretary asked all present to stand as a last mark of respect to the late Mr. George Martin, of Bedwas, who met with a fatal accident the day following the last meeting at which Mr. Martin attended.

Instructors' reports and various matters were discussed, including the election of the whole of the whole of the Llanarth ringers, who wished to join the association. Instruction is being given at that tower by Mr. Clift, of Usk. The whole of the Llantwit ringers also rejoined.

The circular letter received from the hon. secretary of the Central Council was read in regard to the proposal of including in the rules of the association that it be affiliated to the Central Council and loyally abide by the Council's rules and decisions. The general feeling was in favour of such a rule, but the final decision will be made at the next annual meeting to be held on December 26th.

The next meeting will be held at Caerleon, with Trevelthyn as an alternative.

The best thanks were given Canon David for his great interest in the bells, his ringers and his exceptional kindness and hospitality.

The bells were afterwards rung during the evening.

SURREY ASSOCIATION AND GUILDFORD GUILD MEET.

A most successful and enjoyable joint meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild (Leatherhead District) and Surrey Association (North-Western District) was held at Rammore Common on Saturday. Although the weather was very unsettled, a good muster, numbering well over forty ringers, attended at this delightful spot and enjoyed ringing on the grand peal of eight bells, which were set going soon after three o'clock to call changes and Grandsire Triples for the beginners and progressed, as more ringers arrived, to Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major, the striking being all that could be desired. The Rector (Rev. G. F. Heslop) conducted a short service, Mr. F. E. Darby kindly filling a gap at the last moment by playing the organ. Tea followed, presided over by the Rector, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all, though it was noticed that those on the open-air table cast anxious glances at the sky between mouthfuls of bread and butter and cake.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells and conducting the service, also to Mr. Darby for playing the organ. The Rector suitably replied, and ringing was then continued until nine o'clock and brought to a close another very enjoyable joint meeting between these two associations.

THE FIRST PEAL AT TIDESWELL.

The first peal has now been rung on the fine peal of bells recently restored at the glorious Church of St. John-the-Baptist, Tideswell, Derbyshire, well named the Cathedral of the Peak, a photo and description of which appeared in 'The Ringing World' some little time since. It was a source of great pleasure and satisfaction to the genial and enthusiastic Vicar (the Rev. R. Fletcher Edwards) and the locals generally that one of their number, Mr. Giles Chapman, who has had very little experience of eight-bell ringing, was able to ring the treble through the peal. The peal followed a largely attended wedding, and was listened to with interest by scores of visitors to this historic spot. At its conclusion, the Vicar and several of the locals ascended to the ringing chamber to tender their congratulations, and on reaching the church again the band signed their names in the visitors' book with a note to the effect that they had just completed the first peal on the bells. An interesting signature on the same page was that of Mr. Geo. Bernard Shaw, who had, however, signed before the ringing took place.

A substantial tea was provided by the Vicar and a number of ladies, who very kindly attended to the wants of the band. The Vicar announced that he intended to put up a board recording the peal in the ringing chamber, and suggested that it should be unveiled on the last Saturday in September, when it was hoped to hold a Peak District meeting there. The only regret was the absence of the Rev. W. P. Wright, vice-president of the M.C.A., who was prevented by indisposition from ringing, and whose genial presence and racy anecdotes at the tea were greatly missed.

The band would like to thank, too, Mr. Chapman, one of the wardens, who took them round the church and explained its many beauties and items of interest.

The ringers came from the following towers: G. Chapman, Tideswell; G. H. Paulson, Darley Dale; Miss Foulk, Duffield; A. G. Wallace, Bakewell; W. Bingham, Dore; M. E. Wilson and S. F. Palmer, Sheffield Cathedral; J. E. Lewis Cockey, Dore.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. DERBY DISTRICT.

The second quarterly meeting of the Derby District was held at West Hallam on Saturday. About twenty members and friends attended, and good use was made of this light ring of eight bells. The methods rung ranged from Bob Major to Cambridge Surprise Major, under the mastership of Mr. E. H. Clarke.

The Rector extended a hearty welcome and expressed his willingness to become an honorary member. Afterwards, he showed a party of visitors round the beautiful grounds of the Rectory.

After the tea the business meeting was held, Mr. W. Wallace being voted to the chair (in the absence of Mr. H. Fletcher, vice-chairman). Two new honorary members were elected, viz., the Rev. G. H. Hartley, Vicar of St. James', Derby, and the Rev. W. Ratcliffe, Rector of West Hallam. Mr. Percy H. Tate was elected to act as Ringing Master at the next quarterly meeting, which will be held at Belper.

BURTON DISTRICT.

A ringing meeting was held on Saturday, July 12th, at Barton-under-Needwood. There was a fair attendance, including representatives from Burton, Barton, Repton, Overseal, Uttoxeter, Melbourne and Rolleston. The usual business meeting was held in the belfry, Mr. T. Meredith being elected chairman.

After discussion, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Hanbury on Saturday, August 16th.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells. During the afternoon and evening, the bells were kept going, and touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, etc., were successfully brought round.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A well attended meeting of the Western Division took place at Flamstead, on Saturday, when ringers were present from Apsley End, Hemel Hempstead, Harpenden, St. Albans, Linslade, Berkhamstead, Redbourn, Tring, Dunstable and the local company. The methods rung ranged from Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. A service was conducted by the Vicar, who also presided at the organ.

At the meeting which was held at the Vicarage, the Vicar (the Rev. T. C. Clare) welcomed the ringers, who, later, by great applause, elected him an honorary member. Eight of the young band were also elected ringing members.

After the meeting, more ringing took place, everyone being well pleased with the tone and go of this fine peal of six.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday, July 19th, at Lewisham, there being rather a sparse attendance, but some good work was done, the bells being kept going from 3.30 to 8.30 under the direction of Mr. Mance, Master. Mr. Herbert (secretary) was away in the Isle of Wight, Mr. Mackrill kindly filling the office pro tem.

A feature of the meeting was the fact that, although only 15 or 16 attended, Cambridge and Superlative were rung, so it is supposed that most of the ringers were 'highbrows.'

There were no outstanding points in the business meeting, and the usual routine was quickly got over.

Votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. Warnett (steeplekeeper) and to the Vicar for the use of the bells.

DUNSTABLE RINGERS' OUTING.

The annual outing of the Dunstable Priory Church ringers took place on Saturday, July 12th, when they were accompanied by the Rector, Rev. G. C. Rolfe. Leaving Dunstable at 8.15 a.m., the first part of the run was to Bicester, just over thirty miles away. Ringing on the peal of eight (tenor 15 cwt.) was enjoyed, and then the journey was continued to Kidlington, where, after an inspection of the fine old church, the belfry was visited, and touches rung. A move was made to Oxford for dinner, and this was an event which will long be remembered by all the party. The dinner had been arranged by the Rector at his old college (Worcester), and the privilege of using the fine dining hall was much appreciated. The majority of the party spent the afternoon in the lovely grounds around the college, but six of the more energetic visited St. Giles' and New College to ring with members of the Oxford Guild who were in the city for their annual festival. The party met again for tea, and on the homeward journey rang at Thorne and Haddenham. At Aylesbury, a social hour was spent, and Dunstable reached at 11 p.m., all agreeing that a more enjoyable day could not be spent. A noteworthy feature of the outing was that every tower visited was reached dead on scheduled time. The methods in which the ringers took part during the day included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Boh, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise and Stedman Caters, with rounds for the two juniors. The best thanks of the party are extended to the clergy for their permission to ring, and local ringers who at each tower met the visitors.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED. PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

From a preliminary notice elsewhere, our readers will perceive that the restored octave at St. Mary's Church, Penzance, is to be dedicated by the Bishop of Truro on Monday, August 25th. It is hoped that ringing friends who are visiting the West at that time will endeavour to be present.

The heavy ring of eight (tenor 30 cwt.) at St. Stephen's Church, Elswick, Newcastle-on-Tyne, are undergoing a comprehensive scheme of rehanging by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are also restoring the ring of eight at Earls Colne, Essex, and rehanging the peal of six at Illogan, Cornwall.

The bells at East Grinstead, Sussex, are temporarily out of commission on account of repairs to the tower.

Another peal of Bob Minor has been rung on handbells at Johannesburg by Canon G. H. Ridout and four sisters of St. Margaret's Mission House. A few months ago we recorded their first peal, and now they have added a second one, rung prior to the departure of one of the sisters for furlough in England.

By the peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Margaret's, Leicester, the conductor, Mr. Ernest Morris, has now called peals of Triples, Caters and Cinques in both Grandsire and Stedman on these bells.

Some of the 'old 'uns' of the Worcestershire Association rang a peal of Stedman Triples last week. All were over 60 years of age, all have rung over 100 peals, and all are either past or present officers of the association—but the details of the peal have not yet come to hand.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. Martin's Church, Eynsford, on Saturday, when some thirty members attended. During the afternoon and evening touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise were rung. Service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. T. H. Groves, who gave an interesting and somewhat unusually presented address.

After tea, the business meeting was held, with Mr. W. J. Jeffries presiding. The members congratulated those present who had taken part in the non-conducted peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's original) on a splendid performance.

One new member was elected, and the election of two ringers previous to peals was confirmed.

St. Mary's, Lewisham, was selected for the annual district meeting in October.

Mr. F. W. Richardson proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and for his address; also to the organist for his services.—This was carried unanimously.

The members then heard with interest of proposed improvements to the bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley.

At the close of the meeting, the members returned to the tower for further ringing, finally dispersing at 8.30 p.m., after a successful gathering.

NEW RING OF EIGHT IN NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

A FINE PEAL AT HASELBECH.

DAUGHTER'S GENEROUS GIFT IN MEMORY OF HER FATHER.

Haselbeck, a tiny parish with a total population of about 120 souls, situated in some of the most celebrated Northamptonshire hunting country, has been unknown in the past to ringers, or, indeed, to any but a very limited world. It is, however, now likely to claim attention in the Exercise in future from the fact that there has just been installed in its grey old tower a ring of eight bells, which should prove not only the pride of the village but a joy to Northamptonshire ringers and any others who may seek out this old-world spot. Haselbeck has a more famous neighbour in Naseby, where Cavaliers and Roundheads clashed during the turmoil of the Civil War, but in recent years, at any rate, it has been fortunate in having in its midst a family whose desire has been to promote its wellbeing. About twenty-one years ago Haselbeck Hall, which the church adjoins, was taken by Mr. Charles Bower Ismay, a member of the firm who built up the fame and fortune of the White Star Line. Mr. Ismay died in 1924, leaving a widow and an only child, Miss Florence Delaplaine Ismay, who have continued to reside at the Hall. Mrs. Ismay has been the 'fairy godmother' of Haselbeck, 'Miss Del' has been the idol of the villagers. On Monday of last week bells. These have been saved by the use of a specially designed headstock, by which the canons are enclosed in a kind of circular box and the bell held to the stock by bolts which pass right through to the top of the casing. One of the difficulties of rehanging old bells without sacrificing the canons has thus been effectively overcome.

Owing to the confined space of the tower, which on the inside is little more than ten feet square, the bells are hung in two tiers, the fourth, fifth, seventh and tenor being in the bottom frame, with the treble, second, third and sixth mounted over them. The frame itself is of iron carried on steel girders, which are secured at their ends into the walls. In this way the tower has been reinforced, and the thrust of the swinging bells is counteracted by a strong and extremely rigid structure. The bell frame and clock chamber have both been lowered, and, as the ringing takes place on the ground floor, rope guides have been fixed, while the sound of the three small bells can be accurately regulated to suit the ringers by the provision of sound pipes fitted with adjustable dampers. Glass shields in the louvres help to regulate the sound of the bells outside the tower, and both inside and out they can be evenly heard. All the fittings are, of course, new, and of the most modern type, and the bells, being in ball bearings, run perfectly. A new chiming apparatus has the bonny girl whom they have seen grow up to womanhood 'came of age,' and the whole countryside spent a day of rejoicing and celebration. There were presentations of birthday gifts, commemorative tree planting, tea for the parishioners, sports, entertainments and supper for nearly 500 people from the two villages of Haselbeck and Naseby. But the chief event of a memorable day was the dedication of the new bells with which Miss Ismay has endowed the church as a memorial to her father.

THE NEW BELLS.

Hitherto the church has possessed four bells, cast in 1621 by Hugh Watts, of Leicester. Of these Nos. 2 and 3 were bells of excellent quality, and they have been retained in the new peal. No. 2 has been left untouched, and the rest of the peal have been based upon it. No. 3 had only to be slightly tuned, and the two are incorporated as Nos. 4 and 5 of the octave. The new tenor is 15 cwt. in F sharp, and the peal is a very fine one, reflecting the greatest credit on the founders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon, who have performed their work with characteristic skill. The balancing of the clappers has been particularly well done, and it is impossible to distinguish the old from the new bells. Moreover, the firm have surmounted, in a very efficient way, the obstacle of the canons, so that there has been no mutilation of the two 300-year-old been installed and Haselbeck is now one of the most inviting places that a ringer could wish to visit.

The following are the inscriptions and weights of the bells:—

- 1.—Diameter, 26in. 'We praise Thee, O God.' Weight, 4 cwt. 0 qr. 23 lb.
- 2.—Diameter, 27in. 'My song shall be alway of the loving kindness of the Lord.' Weight, 4 cwt. 2 qr. 14 lb.
- 3.—Diameter, 28in. 'Rejoice with them that do rejoice and weep with them that weep.' Weight, 5 cwt. 0 qr. 17 lb.
- 4.—Diameter, 29in. 'John Walpole, Thomas Ireland, Churchwardens, 1621.' Weight, 4 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb.
- 5.—Diameter, 31in. 'Cvm sono si non vis venire nunquam ad preces cupies ire, 1621.' Weight, 5 cwt. 1 qr. 4 lb.
- 6.—Diameter, 34in. 'Glory be to God Most High, and on earth peace, goodwill towards men.' Weight, 7 cwt. 1 qr. 11 lb.
- 7.—Diameter, 33in. 'The two bells dated 1621 were tuned and six bells added by Florence Delaplaine Ismay, July 21st, 1930.' Weight, 10 cwt. 3 qr. 2 lb.
- 8.—Diameter, 43in. 'To the glory of God and in memory of Charles Bower Ismay. The gift of his only child, Florence Delaplaine Ismay, 1930. Rev. George Ernest Jackson, Rector; Matilda Constance Ismay and Alexander Moore, Churchwardens.' Weight, 15 cwt. 0 qr. 12 lb.

The treble and tenor of the old four bells, which were indifferent in tone, have been preserved in the church as interesting relics. Their inscriptions are:—

No. 1.—'George Bagshawe, Parson, 1621.'

No. 4.—'IH'S. Nazareuus Rex. Ivdeorvm Fili. Dei Misere. Mei 1621.'

THE DEDICATION.

There was a notable gathering for the dedication, which was performed by the Dean of Windsor (Dr. Arthur Baillie, C.V.O.), the service being conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. G. Jackson).

During the singing of the psalm, 'I was glad when they said unto me,' the Dean, clergy, churchwardens and choir walked to the belfry, and the churchwardens took the rope of the new tenor bell, handed it to the Dean, and requested him to dedicate the bells. The Dean received the rope with the words: 'I solemnly set apart and dedicate these bells to the glory of God and to the use of this church, in memory of Charles Bower Ismay, separate from all profane and unhallowed uses.'

Having delivered the rope to the Rector, with the command to 'take heed that they be ever and only used to His service and for His glory,' Dr. Baillie offered prayer for those whom the bells should summon to worship, for those 'plighted in Christian faith and love' for whom the bells should ring, for the sick that the bells might be to them a reminder of the prayers of the church for the absent, and finally for the ringers of the bells.

Then the Rector chimed the treble bell, and a plain course of Sledman Triples was rung by a band of ringers of the Peterborough to the fact that social things may change, politics may change, our whole position may be changed, but one thing is safe—men will go on finding life in God through Jesus Christ. And so long as they do that, so long will they value the place which is set apart for them to come and exercise their fellowship with God. May God therefore bless this gift to you; may it be a beginning of a time when you use more fully the great opportunities offered to you for life with God.'

As the congregation left the church, two courses of Double Norwich Court Bob Major were rung on the new bells, and, later, three courses of Superlative Surprise. Those who took part in the ringing were Messrs. F. Wilford, T. R. Hensher, W. Rogers, R. G. Black (hon. secretary of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild), C. Bird, S. J. Lawrence, W. J. Dove, T. Tebbutt, B. O. Soden, with Mr. C. F. Johnston, who was present to represent the founders, and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

RINGERS' DAY.

Owing to the festivities, which, despite an almost continuous down-pour of rain, were kept up until midnight, a huge marquee providing cover for everyone, the ringing was limited, but members of the Diocesan Guild and many visitors had their opportunity on Saturday, when the bells were thrown open, and nearly 150 ringers and friends were the guests of Mrs. and Miss Ismay.

Ringling started early in the afternoon, and touches in a variety of methods were rung from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Major. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the congregation filling the little church. Mr. F. Wilford read the lesson, and the Rector gave a happy address, in which he welcomed the Guild Haselbech bells, showing the special type of headstock on the 4th and 5th, which has enabled the canons of the old bells to be preserved.

Diocesan Guild, under the supervision of the Master, Mr. F. Wilford, of Northampton, who had made all the arrangements for the ringing.

After the hymn, 'Hark, hark, my soul,' the Dean of Windsor delivered an address. They had just dedicated, he said, to the service of God a noble gift which had been added to their ancient church by a parishioner in memory of a parishioner. That gift would mean a great deal in the life of the village and neighbourhood. It was only one gift in the long history of the church on which generation after generation had left a mark. This reminded them of a remarkable fact, that through all the history of this country the one thing that had withstood all other changes had been the Parish Church. There had been extraordinary changes of social conditions, extraordinary political changes, and changes of opinion and outlook; things like the castle and the monastery had been swept away; yet through all the Parish Church had remained stable.

It was a tremendous thought, declared the preacher. People said lightly that the Church had lost its influence. They had said it a hundred times in centuries past. It was not true. The sort of 'floating' people who used to go to church through habit might not be going so much through habit to-day, but there were just as many people to-day who found in what the Church provided as much a source of life as ever.

'As the bells of Haselbech ring out now,' concluded the Dean, 'more richly and nobly than before, they ought always to be witness to Haselbech in connection with the greatest occasion which had ever happened in the history of the bells of the parish. Of all the appointments of their churches, he said, perhaps those which were more closely linked with the lives of the people than any other were the bells, which marked the occasions of rejoicing and mourning in individual, parochial and national life. The bells called them all to the duty of worship, and, although in these days the faith of some people might have received some serious damage, the voice of the bells was for ever reminding them of the great truths that existed. The bells would go down from generation to generation as something which linked them together, and he hoped they would be the means of leading many to God's House who would not otherwise come.

Afterwards the large party sat down to tea in the Village Hall, whose accommodation was so much overtaxed that a number had to wait for a second sitting, and meanwhile sought to pass the time by further ringing. At the close of the tea, at which Mrs. and Miss Ismay, the Rector and Mr. C. F. Johnston were present, Mr. Wilford proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bower Ismay for her great kindness in providing a sumptuous repast. In the words of one of the speakers at Monday's festivities, that also was a 'great do,' and they appreciated very much Mrs. Ismay's hospitality. They also thanked Miss Smce, who had had a great deal to do with the arrangements, and the other ladies who had looked after them. Mr.

Wilford also thanked the Rector for the use of the bells, for the service and for his address, also the Rev. J. White, of Pitsford, who had presided at the organ, and the organ blower.

Mrs. Ismay said that they in Haselbeck all felt that the thanks should be the other way about. They ought to thank the ringers for coming to enable them to hear the beauty of the new bells. The ringers had given them great pleasure. They owed a great deal to those who rang the bells, she added, for if there was one sort of music in the country that an Englishman or woman learned to love, and which made their heart grow tender, it was the sound of the English church bells (applause).

Mr. C. F. Johnston, on behalf of the ringers, tendered their congratulations to the donor of the bells on her coming of age (applause). It had been the aim of all concerned in the installation of the bells to put in a peal which should be a model one for the belfry, and not only for the belfry of a village, but for a town. Great consideration and care had been taken not only to provide for the comfort of the ringers, but to study the comfort of the population who had to listen to them from outside the tower (applause). Proceeding, Mr. Johnston appealed to the ringers of the diocese to assist in forming a band of ringers for Haselbeck. In the first talk he had with the Rector, Mr. Jackson was, frankly, pessimistic as to being able to get the bells rung when they got them, but he had assured the Rector that when the bells were put in, ringers would spring up like mushrooms in the night (laughter), and he went on to say he was sure that Mr. Wilford and the officers of the association would see them over the first few difficult months. He had thus somewhat committed the association in advance, and he hoped they would forgive him and would do their best to help. Mr. Wilford, as they already knew, brought a band for the dedication service, and Mr. Black had arranged the very successful meeting that day. In conclusion, Mr. Johnston expressed the appreciation of himself and of the firm's staff at the happy relations which had existed between them and the Rector and churchwardens and everybody concerned during the progress of the work, and asked the company to drink the health of Miss Ismay.

This was done with rousing cheers, and Miss Ismay, in reply, said it was lovely to see so many present that day. It had been a great pleasure to her to give the bells, and they looked forward to hearing them rung.

The Rector thanked Mr. Johnston for the admirable work which had been done in the tower. He and his staff had spared no pains to perfect the work. For a number of years they in that parish had hoped against hope that they might some day have one more bell to raise their peal to five, but now their wildest hopes had been exceeded, and they were, almost miraculously, in possession of a

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR.

A PEAL RUNG IN ELEVEN METHODS.

After several unsuccessful attempts, a peal in eleven Surprise Major methods was rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on Thursday, July 24th. It was hoped to ring this peal at Willesdon, where the five, six and ten method peals were rung, but three attempts, in which failure came on each occasion after ringing over half the peal, were recently made at that tower, and to avoid having to postpone a further attempt until October (owing to holidays intervening), it was arranged to try for the peal at St. Giles-in-the-Fields. Here the slower pace of the bells proved a great help, and a good peal was rung. The continuous changing of methods makes it imperative that everybody should be on the alert, and a bad trip is impossible. Mr. William Pye again proved himself a wonderful conductor, and nothing in the way of a mishap was allowed to develop.

It was the opinion of the whole of the band that this composition is much more difficult than the ten-method peal rung by them in August last, owing to the way in which the methods are spliced together. If any Surprise experts find ringing one-method peals too easy, they are advised to attempt some of Mr. Pitman's clever compositions.

We understand that that gentleman has a peal in twelve methods ready for any band wishing to go in for new records, but meantime all ringers will join in congratulating the band who rang the eleven-method peal upon adding another and still greater performance to their previous notable achievements.

Four times repeated.

The course-ends bracketed are not actually rung, Norfolk cutting out the H. lead. Norfolk must be rung with a fourth's place bob.

The methods are noted as follows, the figures showing number of changes: L=London 1,600, R=Rutland 960, C=Cambridge 480, S=Superlative 320, Pud=Pudsey 320, Lin=Lincolnshire 320, Y=Yorkshire 320, Pet=Peterborough 320, N=Norfolk 320, B=Bristol 160, NG=New Gloucester 160.

From the above composition peals in six to eleven methods are obtainable. A six-method peal may be had by ringing Bristol (three leads) for Peterborough, and Cambridge at every Middle lead. By substituting other methods as shown above, peals in seven to eleven methods may be obtained.

ST. NEOTS AND EYNESBURY RINGERS' WEDDING.

At St. Neots Parish Church, on Saturday, the marriage took place of Mr. Wilfred Ibbett, of Eynesbury, and Miss Catherine Fields, of St. Neots. Both are excellent ringers, and they will carry with them the best wishes of the whole Exercise in their future home at Winchester.

Miss Fields, it will be remembered, was district secretary of the Hunts District of the Ely Diocesan Association, and her untiring efforts for the good of the cause is well known to all who knew her. She was always ready to help a beginner and to take her place in service ringing. Without doubt, both will be much missed at St. Neots.

An excellent peal of Treble Bob at St. Neots, recorded elsewhere in this issue, was rung to mark the occasion immediately after the ceremony. After the peal, the band joined in the wedding feast. The honeymoon is being spent at Mablethorpe.

splendid ring of eight. He had nothing but praise for the work done by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who had put in one of the finest peals in the county and had given them a first-class job (applause).

The ringers then returned to the tower, where the rest of the evening was spent in ringing touches, and the bells were lowered in peal as darkness began to settle over the countryside.

For the villagers, however, the day was not ended. Later on, there was a display of fireworks, which had been postponed from the previous Monday on account of the rain.

On Sunday afternoon a band of ringers from Northampton and Market Harborough revisited Haselbeck and rang touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Major before and after a children's special service.

THE OUTING SEASON.

RINGERS EXPLORE THE COUNTRY.

This is the season of the 'annual outing,' and every week-end sees a 'general post' among ringers, who by road or rail seek out new lowers in which to exercise their skill. Below are some of the reports which have reached us, telling of happy days spent among the bells:—

AN ESSEX WELCOME.

There is, perhaps, a no more enjoyable way of spending an occasional Saturday than by invading fresh towers and ringing with new-found friends. And if it happens to be anywhere in Essex you are assured of the pleasantest possible time with the minimum of trouble. So a party of thirteen from Diss and district found out on Saturday, July 19th, when they allowed themselves to be projected into an almost foreign territory and to be persuaded to exercise themselves with the aid of strange ropes. Diss was left behind before 7 a.m., and in about a dozen miles the whole party sat on its allotted seat, discussing the day's programme and other matters. Ardleigh was reached at nine, and courses of Treble Bob and Double Norwich rung, accompanied by various volunteers by an enthusiastic organist, who may, or may not, have been the Vicar. Great Tey was reached with some difficulty, an arm of the law sadly disgracing himself. But the tower was reached more or less according to programme, and Mr. Percival, of the local band, met the wanderers. Here Treble Bob and a good touch of Plain Bob, with the young member of the local company, a complete master of the treble, was brought home. In this touch was an extreme of ages, with a gap of sixty-six years!

Braintree and lunch were the objectives, and at the Nag's Head Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) courteously met the party and gave them a hearty welcome to Braintree. It is impossible to express the gratitude of the visitors for the help given and kindness shown before and on the day by this gentleman, whom the association are very fortunate to have at the head of such a live organisation. Braintree's fine little ring impressed all who heard and rung them for the first time, while the neat belfry contrasted strongly with some they had left behind. Treble Bob, Stedman, Double Norwich and Superlative were rung here to the satisfaction of everyone.

Coggeshall's eight were soon discovered and the church admired, as were some of the bells, but it was felt that the frame and bearings could mutually be improved. A course of Kent and one of Plain Bob seemed to suffice the demands of the most enthusiastic. A move was then made to Kelvedon. Here old friends were met in Mr. William Keeble and Mr. Elliott. It was not long before this grand peal, with its 21 cwt. tenor, was heard to advantage in Cambridge, while courses of Treble Bob and one of London, in which the baby of the party rang his first on six, were begun and ended with rounds at the appropriate place.

Mr. Keeble accompanied the party to Colchester, where Day's restaurant proved an attraction. Proceeding to Thorington, a good peal of six was found, and a far superior gentleman in the person of Mr. William J. Nevard. Following touches here, Mr. Nevard was to direct the bus to Bromley, but he soon lost himself in a cloud of dust of his own making. After an exciting chase, his car was seen in the distance crawling along to enable the chariot from Diss to catch up. Great Bromley has many interesting features. First the hats high up on the east wall of the tower, with the dates when their owners, in answer to a higher call, had no further need of them. Second, the grand toned peal of six recently rehung. Treble Bob, Plain and Cambridge were rung, the latter touch with Mr. Nevard handling the 15 cwt. tenor with wonderful ease. Handbells were produced at a neighbouring place of refreshment, and double-handed Grand sire Caters and Bob Major brought round. Mr. Nevard and his friends were left all too soon at 9 p.m., but home was then felt to be several miles off, and it was at 11.30, with the trip mileometer registering 157, that the last remaining ringer was disposed of at Diss.

Our heartfelt thanks to you, Master and members of the Essex Guild of the association, for the kindness of your welcome! N. G.

NORTON RINGERS' OUTING.

On Monday, July 14th, the St. James' company of Norton Church, near Sheffield, had their annual outing, Skegness being the venue. Accompanied by the Vicar, churchwardens, and other churchworkers, a start was made at 6 a.m. from the Vicarage, in a 30-seater saloon coach. The first scheduled stop was at Gainsborough, where a hearty welcome by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Round-Turner, and representatives of the ringers, was given to the visitors. The fine peal was soon going to the tune of Bob Major and touches of Grand sire, and whilst this was in progress, other members of the party were given an interesting tour of the interior. The ringing of the bells at the early hour of eight o'clock caused a lot of interest in the vicinity of the church. Resuming the journey through Louth, where so much damage was done by floods a little time ago, the beautiful spire of the Parish Church was an object of much interest. Skegness was reached about 11 a.m., after a pleasant journey, and, after refreshment had been taken, the various attractions of the seaside were indulged in, followed by a reunion at 4 p.m. at the Savoy Hotel on the promenade, where all enjoyed a splendid tea. This 'course' being over, the Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Pegg, M.A., said how pleased he was to be one of the party, and hoped that he would be present on many more events of like character.—He was supported in his remarks by Mr. E. Hunstone, senior warden, who expressed his pleasure at being able to be with them and, although eighty years of age, looked forward to future occasions, as he always considered the ringers' outing the outing of the year. Mr. Swift (warden) also made a humorous speech, and then, after a short stroll on the front, a start was made for home. Shortly after leaving Skegness a terrific rainstorm was encountered, but the party were well protected, and suffered no inconvenience. Returning via Spilsby and Dunham Bridge, Norton was reached at 10.30 p.m., everyone being delighted with the day's outing, and wish, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all who contributed to the pleasures of a successful day.

THROUGH PEAKLAND.

'You know our dales; you've driven by our streams on dusty days?'

Apart from the natives of the Peakland of Derbyshire, very few are acquainted with the beauties of hill and dale in that district.

The bellringers of Overseal St. Matthew's Church had heard of Peakland, and so it came about that they decided to take a day's tour to see that of which they had heard so much. Since seeing, it is their wish that I should tell 'The Ringing World' of their glorious tour in Peakland. Reach down your map then, and let us go together.

Starting from Overseal at 7 a.m., we pass via Burton-on-Trent and Tutbury to Ashbourne. How many ringers know that it was here Moore, the poet, paid tribute to 'those evening bells'? But we must get on. Leaving Ashbourne by Fenney Bentley, we are soon 'out on top' in the bleak area lying between Ashbourne and Buxton, a stern region of limestone walls and moorland. Passing on, we soon pass Newhaven House, and, reaching Parsley Hay, turn right to view 'Arborlow,' next to Stonehenge, the finest Druid circle in the land. Space will not permit a full account of this circle with its out-works, of its history, antiquity, and the rites performed there. The ringers were deeply impressed, and after having rung a 'peal' on their handbells, grudgingly took their departure via Monyash to Bakewell. It was on this part of the route that questions as to the brakes on the bus began to arise, but even these were forgotten, as will be seen later. Passing through Bakewell to Ashford, we enter the beautiful dale of Taddington. Varied scenes of woodland, stream and crag call forth the appreciation of the ringers as the bus steadily mounts up and up to Topley Pike at the head of the dale. Here a halt is made, and we decide to walk a little way down the slope, peeping cautiously over the wall on our right into the depths of Miller's Dale below. A train crawls along in the vale, like a toy on a model railway.

Our bus now takes us into beautiful Ashwood Dale, a typical Peakland ravine, with craggy sides and well wooded. Emerging from the dale, we suddenly find ourselves in Buxton, where the far-famed ceremony of 'well dressing' is seen in all its splendour. We are impressed by the architectural grandeur of the Crescent Hotel, the Devonshire Hospital and other buildings bequeathed to the town by one of the Dukes of Devonshire.

An hour quickly passes in Buxton, and, leaving it by Fairfield, after a sharp rise we find ourselves once more 'out on top' crossing Fairfield Common on our way, via Dove Holes, to Castleton. Between Plumpton and Sparrow Pit we stop to view the Ebbing and Flowing Well—a geological puzzle, for this is the region of Derbyshire's geological mysteries. On our right is Eldon Hill with its mysterious Hole, on our left is bleak Rushup Edge, and mocking us in front scowls Mam Tor. Gradually we approach the Tor, and the road winds steeply to the top of the slope on the side of the Tor. Looking out of our bus, we see a road winding down, we see a sheer drop of apparently a few hundred feet. Brakes are forgotten, and we are consoled by the fact that 'we have the bells, the parson, and the sexton with us.' Bravely the descent is made, and to those who watch there comes one of those great thrills of which there are so many in Peakland. The town of Castleton lies below, the great Peak Cavern yawns at us, and Peveril Castle, that ancient stronghold of William Peveril, looks down as if to say, 'I am ruler here,' as once it was. A whole week may easily be spent in exploring around Castleton. The Peak Cavern, Speedwell Mine, and the world-famous 'Blue John' mine are only a few of its attractions.

A good lunch at the Castle Hotel, a visit to the interesting Parish Church, and we leave, via Hope and Bradwell, for Tideswell. It is here that we inspect 'The Cathedral of the Peak,' and well it merits its title, being rich in architectural beauty.

Leaving Tideswell, we pass on to Eyam, famous in history for the bravery of its citizens in fighting a terrible plague. Read the book, 'The Brave Men of Eyam,' if you would know something of their terrible ordeal. The church and Cucklet Delph bring back to us the scenes of those terrible days, and show the matchless fortitude of its people.

From Eyam we pass down the beautiful Middleton Dale, and, after passing through Baslow, reach Chatsworth House, one of our 'stately homes of England.' Rich in treasures of art, it stands in a beautiful setting on the banks of the sleepy Derwent, a peaceful scene after the rugged scenes around Castleton. Beeley and Rowsley are passed, and soon we come to Haddon Hall, a grand old pile now occupied by His Grace the Duke of Rutland. Its story has been often told around the romance of Dorothy Vernon.

Bakewell is reached, and a visit is paid to its magnificent church, which rears its lofty spire so as to impress all who enter the town. It holds the story of the families of Haddon, and is rich in history. We have a pull on its ring of eight bells, which, together with those of Youlgreave, form two of the finest peals for miles around. From Bakewell we retrace our way by Haddon Hall, and pass on through delightful and pretty scenery to the top of Winster Bank. Our road now lies through the wonderful Via Gellia, a richly-wooded ravine of six miles, to Cromford, the town of Arkwright's spinning days, and where his old mill still stands.

Our tour through a small part of the Peak is ended. We have left much unexplored, and pass on somewhat sadly through Derby and Burton-on-Trent to Overseal. But our tour has not been in vain, nor will have been whilst memories of it remain.

'A thing of beauty is a joy forever;

Its loveliness increases.

It can never pass into nothingness.'

And now, to other ringers who would visit the Peak District, I would offer a few suggestions. If you are lovers of beautiful scenery, historical associations, and simple grandeur, then tour the Peaklands slowly. But perhaps warning is unnecessary, for the Peaklands will not allow you to hurry through them. Obtain the aid of some old resident, and you will be shown and told more of the district and its honest, hardy folk than you could ever hope to find by exploring alone.

SURREY RINGERS IN BERKS AND HANTS.

Leatherhead Parish Church bellringers had their annual outing on July 19th, when, accompanied by friends from Ashted, Cobham, Dorking, Ewell and Croydon, the party, to the number of fourteen, started shortly after 7.30 a.m. The first place visited was Wargrave-on-Thames, Berks. The bells were raised, and short touches of Bob Major, Double Norwich Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung, finishing with a course of Superlative Surprise Major. These bells are a nearly new ring of eight, taking the place of an older ring which were destroyed by fire in 1913, when much damage was done to the roof and other parts of the church. It will be remembered that this was one of the churches that the 'Suffragettes' fired during their 'Votes for women' campaign. Leaving here at 10.15, the next place of call was Thatcham, after a pleasant run along the almost level Bath Road. Here was found a ring of eight in perfect going order. These bells were only augmented from six last year, when the old ones were rehung and tuned and two trebles added, making an ideal octave, with tenor 14cwt. in F. There was a little difficulty in obtaining the belfry key here, so some time was wasted, which necessitated the curtailing of ringing to very short touches of Bob Major and Double Norwich, finishing with a course of London Surprise, the bells being afterwards lowered in peal. After a few minutes' run the party arrived at Newbury, where the church was much admired, it being a grand building in late Perpendicular work. The bells are a fine ring of eight (tenor 21½ cwt. in D). They were cast at the Wiltshire foundry of Aldbourne, but have recently been tuned by Mears, and are now acknowledged as one of the finest eights in Berks. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, and, in conclusion, the eight lowered in peal. After an excellent mid-day meal at the Two Brewers, Highclere, Hants, was visited next. Here was found a good light ring of eight, on which touches of Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major were rung. Bristol Surprise was attempted, but without success, and the bells were finally lowered in peal. The next call was at Basingstoke, but the bells at the Parish Church here were not so good or in such good going order as those tried earlier in the day. Nevertheless, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung. Superlative Surprise Major was tried, but failed. Farnham, the last stopping place, was reached at 6 p.m. Here the first item was tea, and, as at Newbury, there was no failure with this part of the programme. After tea, ringing was indulged in at the Parish Church on a good ring of bells in a noble tower. Bob Major, Double Norwich Major and Stedman Triples were rung, but London Surprise was again unsuccessful. Afterwards an hour was spent with the Farnham ringers, and Leatherhead reached about 9.45. All agreed that they had had an excellent day, and the best thanks of the ringers are given to the various incumbents for permission to ring, and to all those who by virtue of their office helped to make the day such a success.

HASTINGS RINGERS' VISIT TO CROYDON BELL FOUNDRY.

On Saturday, July 5th, the bellringers, members of the congregation and choir of St. Clement's Church, Hastings, held their annual outing, and paid a visit to Croydon and Windsor. The party, which numbered sixty, left in motor coaches shortly after seven, the first stop being made at Sevenoaks, after which they proceeded through West Wickham to Croydon, which was reached at 10.45. Here at the Croydon Bell Foundry they were met by Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, who conducted the party over the works, where they saw the new peal of 64 bells, which are being cast for the Chicago University. Mr. Johnston tapped the bells, and the tone was a delight to all. After explaining the way the bells are tuned on the five-tone principle, Mr. Hollands, on behalf of the visitors, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Johnston and his staff. Leaving Croydon, the party arrived at Windsor at 1.15 p.m., but it was found that only two coaches had arrived, the third having been last seen at Staines. However, promptly at 1.30 the coach, containing the ringers and choir with 'The Harem King' at the front, pulled up before Windsor Castle. Here, after having partaken of lunch, the party were taken over the State apartments, St. George's Chapel, and the round tower. The party then proceeded to Guildford, which was reached at 5.45. Here tea was partaken of at Ayers' Cafe.

After tea, Mr. G. Martin, on behalf of the ringers, welcomed the choir and members of the Church Council who had combined with them and made the day so successful. He said he hoped to see them on many future occasions.

Mr. Hollands, on behalf of the Rector and wardens, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. G. Martin for all he had done in making the success of the outing assured and for all the trouble he had gone to in making the arrangements.

Musical honours followed, after which the party were allowed an hour to view Guildford, and Hastings was reached shortly after midnight, after having made a stop at Newick at the request of many who wished to see that all were safe, including little 'Spuddy Taylor,' who fell out of the charabanc.

The ringers desire, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, the Vicar and secretary of the ringers of the Parish Church, Windsor, for so readily granting permission for them to ring, although, unfortunately, owing to the late arrival of the ringers at Windsor, it was impossible to take advantage of the opportunity, owing to the visit of the party to the Castle. Thanks are also given to Mr. G. Martin for all he did to make the day the best that the ringers have ever had.

DOUBLE LITTLE BOB.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There is a discussion going on in your columns as to whether Erith or Double Little Bob is the right name for a method. As a matter of fact, Erith only of these words is a name. The other words are descriptions, or titles of classes. Double is not the name of a method, Little is not the name of a method, and Bob is not the name of a method. If each of these descriptions is correct (a matter which I will not now go into), they might be written in brackets, after the name. Thus: Erith (Double Little Bob). Of course, it does not matter which of the four words is used for calling or other purposes; but it is clearly absurd to discuss whether anyone is entitled to give the method any of the three descriptions. That is a question of fact, not of property.

HERBERT DRAKE.

A BIRTHDAY PEAL AT KING'S NORTON.

The peal of Stedman Caters rung at King's Norton on Saturday was arranged as a birthday compliment to Mr. George E. Fearn, also to his brother Henry, whose birthday was a few days previously. The start of the peal was delayed more than an hour through the 'eleventh' man trying to get from Derby to Birmingham via Cheltenham. This added eighty miles to his journey, and he arrived just in time to take part in his first peal at King's Norton. Everyone, however, was much relieved to see him turn up smiling. The delay, however, prevented Mr. J. Neal from taking part in the peal, and Mr. James Bitterton filled the gap and rang the tenor with characteristic precision. The band and some 'extras' adjourned after the peal to the Bull's Head for a very substantial meat tea, kindly provided by Mr. George E. Fearn, and congratulatory speeches ended a very happy evening.

DEAN BATE'S KINDLY THOUGHT FOR VISITING RINGER'S.

The St. Andrew's Guild, Earls Colne, held their first annual outing on Saturday, July 19th, when 15 members journeyed by motor coach to various parts of Suffolk. Leaving home at 8 a.m., the first call was made at Hadleigh, and although information had been received that no ringing could take place there owing to the illness of the Dean (the Very Rev. H. N. Bate), he kindly consented on the arrival of the party to allow the use of the bells, for which the visitors were most grateful. At this tower the Chelmsford company were met and were given the first offer of the ropes. At Finborough, which was next visited, the Earls Colne ringers found the peal of six in readiness, and much enjoyed their short stay there. The next call was Stowmarket, where they enjoyed some good ringing, also a capital lunch at the Gordon Dining Rooms. Proceeding to Henley, they were met by the Rev. W. C. Pearson, who joined with the visitors in several touches on the light ring of eight. The final call was made at Ipswich, where they spent a very pleasant time with the members of St. Margaret's company. The day was most successful, and the courtesy received at every church was very much appreciated. Thanks are extended to all those who kindly assisted in making the outing such an enjoyable one, especially the Dean of Hadleigh, the Rev. W. C. Pearson (Henley), Mr. J. Souther (Stowmarket), and Mr. Cowey (Ipswich).

The bells at Earls Colne are now under repair, and there will be no ringing for a few weeks. When this work is completed, the company will be pleased to extend the same welcome to visiting ringers as was accorded to them.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A

THE PRESERVATION OF BELLS.

In a recent article on this page we suggested that church authorities might, in the long run, be saved a great deal of expense in the matter of bell restorations if some plan of systematic and competent inspection of belfries could be introduced. Theoretically, we believe, the inspection of bells and belfries is part of the duty of Rural Deans, but there are very few instances in which these gentlemen give practical effect to this portion of their duties. In a perfunctory way they may inquire about the bells when they make their official visit to a church, or they may not. The answer which they receive may or may not be accurate, although given in perfect good faith, because, unless the church has a band of ringers who are really jealous of the condition of their bells, the church authorities themselves often do not hear of any defects until something serious develops. It is not the same with other furnishings of the church. If the organ goes wrong, even to a small extent, the organist quickly sees to it that steps are taken to carry out the necessary repairs. Yet in how many instances do the ringers at the first signs of something out of order up above, show sufficient concern to bring the matter at once to the notice of the churchwardens? They are not infrequently content to put up with the increasingly bad going of the bells until the times arrives when the bells are no longer ringable and a considerable scheme of restoration becomes necessary. If this is not immediately possible the bells become temporarily silent, and, in some cases, unhappily, permanently so. It is the old story of the stitch in time.

What, we feel, is needed is the appointment in each Rural Deanery of a competent person whose business it should be to inspect the bells and their fittings in every tower and annually make an official report, with any recommendations that may be necessary. In dealing with restoration schemes, many diocesan authorities already recognise the value of having an advisor who is an expert upon bells and, we believe, it would be found of even greater advantage if the bells could be kept under constant supervision. There are, of course, many steeple-keepers who can and do maintain the bells in their charge in the highest state of efficiency, but there are a far greater number who consider their duties discharged when they have greased the bearings, or spliced a rope. Indeed, they realise little the importance of going over the nuts which hold the bells to the stocks, or, in the case of a wooden frame, of tightening up the bolts. An officially appointed 'inspector,' who on his visits to a tower could give authoritative advice on things of this kind to ignorant or neglectful steeplekeepers would, in a very short time, more than recoup the church authorities for any expense that might be incurred. Many bells would thus be kept in an efficient condition for many years longer than they often are, and heavy restoration schemes almost indefinitely postponed. How the appointment of such experts could be brought about it is rather difficult to suggest; but the subject might be opened up if ringers who are members of Ruri-decanal Conferences would bring the matter before these bodies. And in this connection let us make it plain that we do not refer solely to bells hung in peals for ringing, although they are our main concern, but all church bells hung in towers. It is often the twos, threes and fours, which are irreplaceable from an antiquarian point of view, which are the most neglected.

YEOVIL RINGERS VISIT DEVON.

Yeoovil Parish Church Guild went for their annual tour on Saturday, July 12th. The first place to be visited was Teignmouth, where touches were rung on the bells of St. Michael's Church. Lunch and tea were partaken of at Torquay, and during the afternoon touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, and Bob Major were rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church. The return journey was made via Exeter, where the bells of St. Thomas' Church were rung. The tour was carried out under the leadership of the conductor, Mr. J. E. Baker, and the tea was provided as usual by Alderman W. E. Tucker, the Mayor, who is the parish warden, and Mr. J. Goodchild, the steward of the Guild.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE CHURCH BELLS.

FIRST SECTION OF A COUNTY SURVEY.

The completion of the detailed history of the church bells of England is a slow process. The task is one which appeals only to the antiquarian who, to be successful in the work, must also combine the qualities of a steeplejack and acrobat. The collection of information regarding bells in towers where ringing is practised is, of course, a comparatively simple matter, but it is in churches where there are one, two, or three bells, hung in almost inaccessible bell lofts, that the difficulties chiefly arise, and it is among these that the most interesting specimens of ancient bells are often found, for the simple reason that there has not been the same inducement to recasting as there has been when such bells formed part of a peal used for ringing.

Slowly the exploration of the church towers is going on. Several counties have, of course, been completed, others are partly done. No exhaustive survey of the bells of Nottinghamshire, however, has yet been made, but the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall, and an enthusiastic ringer, is doing valuable work in this direction in the northern part of the county, and the result of his labours is being published in instalments by the Thoroton Society. The first instalment, which appeared in the 'Transactions' of the Society for 1929, has now been reprinted in book form. It deals with the bells in the rural deanery of Tuxford, which is in the Archdeaconry of Newark, and covers 22 churches. It is admirably printed, and is accompanied by a number of plates on art paper illustrating the lettering and shields found on the old bells. The inscriptions on all the bells are given, with ample descriptions of all the more interesting specimens, and much information relating to old practices.

BELFREY 'CHEESES.'

There was, for instance, the interesting custom which formerly existed in the parish of East Drayton in connection with weddings. After the banns were published for the first time, the ringers used to ring a special peal when the service was over. On the wedding day the bells were rung immediately the registers were signed and at intervals throughout the rest of day. The wedding party brought up to the belfry a large plum loaf of six or eight pounds weight and a cheese. Very often these were carried by the 'best man.' All the school children paraded to the tower at the same time, and the oldest ringer distributed a piece of the loaf and cheese to each child, in the order in which they stood in school. The ringers also received £1, which it was the custom to spend in equal shares at the two village inns. A final peal on the bells was rung at 6 a.m. the next morning. Then, if all had been carried out in the above manner, a ring was painted on the belfry walls, in red ochre, with the initials of the bride and bridegroom and the date. There are nearly a hundred such rings in the belfry, the first dated 1777 and the last 1865.

Traces of similar rings could be seen years ago at Troswell and Laneham on the tower walls, where locally they were known as 'cheeses.'

Ringings always took place at East Drayton on Christmas, New Year and on November 5th, and on each of these occasions the ringers received 4lb. of candles, ½ pint of oil and 2s. 6d., and on one occasion in the church accounts there is a charge of 2s. 6d. for red ochre.

East Drayton, also, is one of the parishes in which there is a plot of land held for the provision of bell ropes. It bears the name of 'Bell String Close,' and the tenant, who is usually the parish clerk, has it rent free on the condition that he provides new bell ropes when necessary. At Laneham there was formerly a small plot of land called the 'Bell Holt,' where osiers and rushes were grown and the sale of these was used to provide a fund for the ringers and new bell ropes when necessary. Whether this is still done, or, if not, why the practice was discontinued, the author does not tell us.

Kirton lost two of its bells by theft many years ago. In the Inventory of 1552 there were 'iii bells in the stepyll,' and they remained until 1843, when, according to White's 'Directory of Notts,' 'sacriligious thieves broke into the church and carried off the communion plate and surplice. About a fortnight after this a second visit was paid to the sacred edifice, and one of the bells, which had been broken, was taken by these high mettled thieves.' The story in the village is that two bells were stolen from the tower and thrown into the pond, where they remained for some time, and were afterwards carried off and sold.

The first section of 'The Church Bells of Nottinghamshire,' which can be obtained at 1s. 6d. per copy from the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Ordsall, Retford, Notts, is an interesting little volume which shows that the work is being done with thoroughness and knowledge. It is hoped to publish at least one section covering a rural deanery each year. The next will be Mansfield Deanery, which will be followed by Retford.

FAREWELL QUARTER PEAL.

At the Parish Church of St. Michael, Bishop's Stortford, on Sunday, August 3rd, for morning service, and as a farewell to Mr. Victor Matthews, a member of the local band, who is leaving the neighbourhood for Guildford, Surrey, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: Miss D. Wacey 1, W. T. Prior 2, Harold Wacey 3, H. M. White 4, H. Bull 5, W. W. Tucker 6, F. Bird (conductor) 7, W. Wilkinson 8.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

ACTIVITIES IN THE BANBURY DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild attracted a big gathering to Banbury, where the new peal of ten bells was available. Ringers were present from Northampton, Swindon, Burford, Oxford, Banbury, Adderbury, Deddington, Lower Heyford, Dun's Tew, Great Tew, Somerton, Cropredy, Sherington, Warmington, Wicken and Coventry, and Messrs. Taylor's work was spoken of in terms of high praise by all who rang on the bells. Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Canon Jones), and the address was given by the Rev. J. A. Hultgren, who based an inspiring address on 'Is it worth while?' He said that perhaps some of them noticed the two large beams which lay outside the church as they came in. They were taken out of the belfry when the bells were put in. He was looking at them one day when a man came along and, after hearing what the new bells had cost, said, 'Is it worth while? It will all be the same in a hundred years' time.' Well, there were many people who said that, and he wanted them that afternoon to think about that utterance. People said that sort of thing and thought they were uttering a truth of experience, and went even further and acted upon that principle. It might seem that they were right, because a man might drop down with sickness and pass away, and though his grandchildren might remember him his great-grandchildren would not, and his deeds would not remain in the memory of his friends. Take, for instance, the bellringers of that church a hundred years ago. How many of them could even remember their names? That seemed to be the fate, these people would argue, with respect to their institutions, customs, fashions and buildings—that they passed right away. And a great mass of ordinary things and persons did seem to pass out of existence, so that they might think they were only sure of those immediately behind and those in front of them. If, however, they thought for a moment or two about the statement that it would all be the same in a hundred years' time they would see that it was untrue, and that it was in most cases an excuse for a lazy and indolent life, the taking of the line of least resistance, which was the wrong line. They were the heirs of the ages, and believed that nothing could be lost.

Having emphasised the need of everyone doing his best and utmost for beauty, humanity, goodness and brotherliness, the preacher asked, 'What could they, in their humble way, do as members of the Christian Church—and bellringers in that Church? Men had a right to expect a good example of them, in the first place in their family home, the practice of patience, and the setting of an example of temperate and holy living. And a good example, too, outside the home. Think of the harm done when a bellringer, who rang others to church, did not go to church himself, and whose conduct was no higher than that of the man who professed no religion at all. Their St. Mary's ringers had a glorious peal of ten bells. The Parochial Church Council might have been content with less, but after much advice they had done their best, and the result was something to be proud of. Those bells would ring out for many generations and delight the minds and touch the hearts of countless men and women and lift their hearts to God. If that sort of mind should be the standard in all they put their hearts to, then the world would be a better place in a hundred years' time for their having lived in it in the early years of the 20th and the last years of the 19th century.'

THE WORK OF THE BRANCH.

After the service, tea was partaken of at the Church House, and was followed by the annual meeting of the branch. The Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley (president of the branch) was supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. R. R. Lewis), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), Canon Coleridge, Rev. Canon Jones, Rev. W. E. MacFarlane (vice-president of the branch) and Mrs. MacFarlane, Rev. G. Barry, Rev. J. A. Hultgren, Rev. R. W. Sharpley, Rev. C. L. Marchant, Mr. W. Potts, Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary) and Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild secretary).

Mr. Lewis presented the balance sheet, which showed the year was started with a balance in hand of £7 0s. 8½d., bank interest was 1s. 7d., ringing members' subscriptions came to £4 17s. 6d., and honorary members' £2 10s., making a total income of £14 9s. 9½d. On the expenditure side grants of £1 to Deddington (second) and £2 to Somerton had been made, and £3 13s. 9d. forwarded to the general treasurer. These and a few incidental expenses made a total of £7 19s. 9d., leaving a balance of £5 1s. 7d. in the Post Office Savings Bank and cash in the treasurer's hands of £1 8s. 5½d. The accounts had been audited by Mr. Miller. Mr. Lewis observed that £1 of the cash in hand had been promised the Banbury Restoration Fund.

The accounts were adopted.

Mr. Lewis then read his report as secretary as follows: In making a few observations on the year's working I would point out that two towers have been added to our list—Steeple Aston by transfer from the Witney and Woodstock Branch, and Sherington by the election of two new members. The Rev. J. W. S. Walker, honorary member of Steeple Aston, I regret to state has resigned. While you will note an increase of members' subscriptions to the amount of 18s. 6d., I must point out that there are far too many asterisks against the names of members in this year's report. Honorary members' subscriptions have also increased by 5s. Six new members have been elected during the year. One peal has been rung by members of the branch with the assistance of Messrs. Holfield, senior and junior, of Appleton, namely, a peal of Grandsire Triples at Adderbury on December 26th; while members have taken part in several attempts. Since our last annual meeting Banbury bells have been completed and were dedicated by the Archdeacon of Oxford (Bishop Shaw) on Palm Sunday at evensong. We now have a fine light peal of ten, and only need keenness and the perseverance of the ringers to accomplish some fine bell music. The bells, I am sure, can be rated as one of the finest peals in the diocese, if not in the whole country. Deddington bells are in the hands of the bell hangers, and should soon be ready for dedication. Somerton, too, if not already started upon, will soon be put in hand. These two facts alone should be an encouragement to greater efforts in the art of change ringing. The branch has made grants to £2 to each of these towers. As a branch we are most fortunate in the fact that we have been entertained to tea at three of our meetings during the year. While the meetings have been fairly well attended, there is much room for improvement. I feel that there is not the same keenness as when the branch was first formed. Perhaps this can be attributed to the fact that three of our towers have been out of commission. I would like to mention the fact that I have been greatly encouraged by the help of our chairman and Mrs. Cholmondeley. They are always in attendance at our meetings, and I am sure put themselves to much inconvenience on our behalf. As to the future, I would ask members to make every effort to be present at the meetings, and pay their subscriptions in January when they are due. By so doing they help all their officers, both branch and general guild, and conduce to that good fellowship necessary to every good effort (applause).

The report was adopted.

MORE KEENNESS FOR SUNDAY RINGING NEEDED.

Mr. Lewis read an appeal on behalf of St. Matthews', Harwell, Berks, where £600 was required to carry out the work of restoration, and, owing to other expenses in the parish, it was necessary to raise a large part of this outside.

The meeting voted £1 to the appeal.

The Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley was re-elected president, and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn congratulated the branch on having such a chairman, and said he hoped he would receive the backing of all the members.

The Rev. W. E. MacFarlane was re-elected vice-president.

Mr. R. Lewis was re-elected hon. secretary, and thanked the members for their renewed confidence. He would do his best, and asked them all to do likewise. He said there was not enough keenness for Sunday service ringing. At one or two towers he visited for Sunday service ringing he only found the ropes half manned. It was not good enough. Sunday service came before anything else (hear, hear).

Mr. Miller was re-elected auditor, and Messrs. H. Baggett and J. Simons representatives to the general committee of the Guild.

Mr. Leslie Malings, of Duns Tew, and Mr. Albert Grant, of Lower Heyford, were elected new members.

Deddington was chosen for the next meeting on October 18th.

BELL RESTORATIONS.

The Chairman congratulated the branch on the meeting that day, and spoke of how they were favoured by the presence of the Master, the secretary and treasurer of the Guild, and also Canon Coleridge.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn congratulated the branch on its year's work and on being able to make grants to two towers. He also congratulated the secretary on his excellently composed report, and all those who had been concerned in obtaining that delightful ring of ten bells in the Banbury tower. There was only one thing to be done now, and that was to make the acoustic conditions perfect.

Canon Coleridge was called upon, and alluded to the work the Central Council did for ringers. He mentioned two books which were shortly to be published. One was on Minor Methods, to be issued by the Central Council. He recommended them to approach their Parochial Church Councils with a view to their obtaining a volume for the ringers at each church. The other was a book to be published by Mr. E. Morris, of Leicester, and would be a complete history of ringing and ringers, and would form a monumental work. Concluding, he said it had given him very great pleasure to come to Banbury, where he had not been on ringing matters since the days of the late Canon Porter. The bells then were in a totally different condition to what they were now, and he congratulated all concerned on the work which had been carried out.

Mr. A. J. Wright, the Guild treasurer, observed that he would have pleasure in a few days in sending a cheque towards the restoration of the Banbury bells. During the past five years the towers in the Banbury Branch had received £20 out of the £60 he had got together for restoration purposes. He referred to the number of members who had not paid their subscriptions, and hoped that next year that would be remedied.

Mr. Miller proposed that each tower appoint someone to collect the members' subscriptions and have them ready to hand to Mr. Lewis at the January meeting. This was seconded by Mr. Scarrott and carried.

Mr. Hibbert, the Guild secretary, said the Banbury bells were an exceptionally fine peal, as were also Adderbury and Great Tew, and when Deddington and Somerton had been restored there was no reason why the members should not make a name for themselves. He urged them to back up their secretary, who had done splendid work since the branch began to toddle.

SUPPORT BY THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

Mr. W. Potts proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to Canon Jones for the use of the church and tower for the service and ringing, to the Rev. J. A. Hultgren for his excellent address, to Mrs. Palmer for her accompaniments on the organ, and to the Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley for his services in the chair. As a member of the Oxford Diocesan Advisory Committee, he was acquainted with the very great movement there was for the advancement of ringing in that diocese. All at once there seemed to have been a movement to put bells in order, and at every meeting they got appeals. The committee was giving the movement its heartiest support, but he did not think they could do it without the valuable advice of the Master of the Guild. He was their technical advisor. During the last three years their debt to Mr. Jenkyn had been simply inestimable. As a member of the Banbury Parochial Church Council he was pleased with the commendations which had been passed upon their bells. They would give satisfaction to the members of the Parochial Church Council and the town of Banbury as a whole. They were pleased with them themselves, but they were glad to have it as the expert knowledge of those in that room. He alluded to how the Parochial Church Council was helped in the matter by the band of ringers and notably by their secretary, Mr. Lewis, who attended meetings and gave invaluable advice, which they gladly followed, the result of which they had seen. The books Canon Coleridge had recommended should find their way to the Banbury belfry. He was glad to know that that Rural Deanery had been so successful in securing so large a proportion of the Guild funds, and he did not think they had done yet, as there was another belfry not far from Banbury coming along for treatment, and the generosity they had received in the past gave him encouragement to hope it would also be helped (applause).

Mr. L. Clifton seconded the vote of thanks, which was accorded with acclamation.

Canon Jones, in reply, said he was glad to see such a good company and to welcome them to the parish and belfry and Church House. He was not a ringer, but he lived within fifty yards of St. Mary's, so he claimed to know all that could be known about the sound of bells (laughter). They were glad to have had Canon Coleridge and Mr. Jenkyn with them. They found their advice at all times most helpful. As chairman of the Parochial Church Council he would be very glad to benefit by the suggestion of Canon Coleridge, and he would see that copies of the books should be in the belfry, and he hoped the ringers would read them.

This concluded the meeting, and members of the company then adjourned to the tower, where more ringing was indulged in, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Royal being rung.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Southampton District was held at Bishopstoke on Saturday, July 26th. The bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and tea and the business meeting were held at the Anchor Inn, presided over by Mr. Geo. Williams, vice-president and Ringing Master, supported by Mr. F. W. Rogers, Mr. G. Pullinger, Mr. F. T. Bayley, and Capt. W. Linter. Others present were from North Stoneham, King's Somborne, Portsmouth, Overton, Swanmore, Titchfield, Portsea, Bath and Bishopstoke. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Netley Abbey on Saturday, October 4th.

A vote of thanks was passed to a friend for kindly defraying the cost of tea, and to the Rector of Bishopstoke (who was unable to be present) for the use of bells. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at East Meon on Saturday, July 19th, when nearly 40 ringers were present from Bramshott, Blackmoor, East Meon, Petersfield, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and St. Mary's), North Stoneham, Ryde, Swanmore and Titchfield, also visitors from Balh, Rogate and Mr. J. W. Trappitt (Alton).

Ringing commenced about three o'clock and continued until 4.30, during which time the Vicar (Rev. C. Beckwith) visited the belfry and welcomed the members. The Guild service was held in the Lady Chapel, the Vicar also acting as organist. A very helpful address was also given by him, based on the Rotary motto, 'Service, not self.'

An excellent tea was served in the George Inn, which was followed by the business meeting, at which the Vicar presided. Mr. Alan R. Pink, late secretary of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, who now resides at Petersfield, was elected a ringing member and was warmly welcomed to the district.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Havant, where the bells have been recently restored, on Saturday, October 18th next.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. C. Beckwith for his kindness in giving permission to ring and for presiding at the meeting. In the course of his reply he said how much East Meon was indebted to the Guild for the valuable assistance given to his ringers by instruction.

The ringers adjourned to the tower for further ringing until 8 p.m. During the day the ringing ranged from Rounds and Grandsire Doubles to Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The 'touring' season has begun. A 'week' is now in progress in Lancashire, and there is shortly to be one in Somerset, while next month a party will be peal ringing in Cambridgeshire and Northants. It is said that, for some people, these tours are the only weeks of work they do during the year. But that may be a libel. Anyhow, two peals a day for a week may be looked upon as a holiday, but it isn't—entirely.

Half a dozen of the band who rang the record peal of Cambridge Maximus last year celebrated the first anniversary on August Bank Holiday by taking part in a peal in the same method at Reading.

A 'silent' peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Drayton, Berks, on August 7th, 1899.

The first peal of Double Norwich in Wales was rung on August 13th, 1883.

'Many happy returns of the day' to Mr. William Pye, who will reach his 60th birthday next Thursday.

The peal of Cambridge Maximus at Walsall was rung on July 12th, not the 5th as published.

Wigan is famous for many things, including its pier, but few people know that it has been celebrated for its bells. The foundry existed in the 17th and 18th centuries, and bells cast in those days are still to be found in about thirty churches in Lancashire, Cheshire and North Wales.

The original firm was that of James and John Scott. They were bailiffs in 1627, and in 1653, 1688 and 1701 members of the same family were Mayors. In the 18th century the Scotts were succeeded at the Foundry by the Ashtons, who, in the order Ralph, Luke and Ralph, carried on the trade for three-quarters of a century.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO WHITTLE-LE-WOODS RINGER.

KILLED WHILE RETURNING FROM TEST MATCH.

When returning from the test match at Manchester, on Saturday week, to his home at Whittle-le-Woods, Mr. Edward Byfield, Coxhead was killed, as the result of a motor-cycle accident, which it is believed was caused by a burst tyre. The deceased, who was 27 years of age, was a ringer at Whittle-le-Woods Parish Church, and was a keen cricketer. He was secretary of the Whittle-le-Woods Cricket Club and captain of the second eleven.

Mr. Coxhead began his ringing with two or three other young men at the end of the Great War, in which three or four of the Whittle-le-Woods ringers gave their lives. He was regular and conscientious in his attendance at both service ringing and practice, and a most reliable ringer in the standard methods, in most of which he had rung peals. He was of a cheery disposition, and will be sadly missed, especially by his cricketing and ringing friends.

The funeral took place on Wednesday week at Whittle-le-Woods Parish Church, the Rev. T. H. Priestnell officiating. Members of the cricket club acted as bearers into the church, and the ringers conveyed the coffin to the grave. Among the many floral tributes was one in the shape of a bell from deceased's fellow ringers.

WORCESTERSHIRE VETERANS.

OFFICERS AND EX-OFFICERS TAKE PART IN A PEAL.

The interesting photograph of Worcestershire veterans on this page was taken after they had rung a peal of Stedman Triples at St. John the Baptist's Church, Worcester. Apart from the fact that they are all over 61 years of age, they have all served the Worcestershire

William C. Jones (Worcester), age 62. A Gloucester man, but has resided in Worcester long enough to serve the association as auditor for 25 years, and three years as Branch Master. Has rung 136 peals.
 Albert E. Parsons (Old Hill), age 64. Although his peals of recent years have been few and far between, he has served the association in many ways, including eight years as Master. His peals number 119.

Henry Middleton (Evesham), age 63. Rang in the long peal of Stedman Cinques (11,111 changes) at Birmingham, was Branch Master for many years. Has rung 199 peals.

Frederick J. Johnson (Hinton), age 65. Father of family of ringers who have rung in peals on handbells of Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Caters, Royal, Cinques, and Maximus. Rung 150 peals.

The peal band, all of whom have served the Worcestershire Association. Standing: W. Short, W. C. Jones, H. Middleton, F. J. Johnson, W. Ranford. Seated: A. E. Parsons, T. J. Salter, W. Page.

Association in office and some are still serving. The record of the peal will be found in the customary place, but the following brief details give something of the part the band have taken in ringing during a long number of years. Their peal aggregate is 2,240.

Thomas J. Salter (Kidderminster), age 63, took part in the first peals of Stedman Triples, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 5,152, bearing my name as composer. The figures have not appeared in your columns, but were rung at Bolsover, Derby, on January 19th, 1929, conducted by John Flint, and appear in the Midland Counties report (peal No. 3833).

I offer my most humble apology to the conductor and his band and also the association for so having polluted their report. I would ask each member not to fail to endorse the same as false in their reports.—Yours truly,
 ARTHUR CRAVEN.

William Page (Worcester), age 68. Served the association for more than thirty years, Master for three years. Conducted the first peals of Superlative Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise for the Western Branch. His peals number 111.

William Short (Clent), age 62, has been one of the leading peal ringers of the country, his total being now 787. He rang in 14,112 of London Surprise at King's Norton, conducted the 11,111 of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham, and has rung more peals than any other Worcestershire ringer.

William Ranford (Suckley), age 61, the 'nipper' of the band, although he is often called 'father.' Served on the committee for eight years, and has rung 294 peals.

A FALSE PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is my very unpleasant duty to call your readers' attention to a false peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major 5,152, bearing my name as composer. The figures have not appeared in your columns, but were rung at Bolsover, Derby, on January 19th, 1929, conducted by John Flint, and appear in the Midland Counties report (peal No. 3833).

I offer my most humble apology to the conductor and his band and also the association for so having polluted their report. I would ask each member not to fail to endorse the same as false in their reports.—Yours truly,
 ARTHUR CRAVEN.

THE OUTING SEASON. MORE REPORTS OF PLEASANT DAYS.

This is the season of the 'annual outing,' and every week-end sees a 'general post' among ringers, who by road or rail seek out new towers in which to exercise their skill. Below are some of the reports which have reached us, telling of happy days spent among the bells:—

The Higham Ferrers ringers, accompanied by Mr. Harry Chapman, of Kingston, and Messrs. C. Whitney and W. and E. Whitmore, of Raunds, spent an enjoyable day when they visited the belfries of Newport Pagnell, Stony Stratford, Leighton Buzzard and Woburn for an outing. Travelling via Wollaston and Olney, the first stop was made at Newport, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, but the bells had to be hurriedly lowered owing to illness. The party then proceeded to Stony Stratford, and on peal of eight, touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Kent Treble Bob Major were brought round. Then along Watling Street, through beautiful Buckinghamshire country to Leighton Buzzard, where, after tea, the peal of ten (tenor 25 cwt.) were raised, but after a course of Grandsire Caters it was decided to confine ringing to the back eight, as some of the ringers were not fully acquainted with ten bells. Proceeding to Woburn, the fine peal of eight in the beautiful Church of the Blessed Mary were soon set going, and these were voted 'the best of the day.' Here a course of Superlative was rung besides the usual methods. The party then travelled home through Woburn Park via Ampthill and Bedford, arriving in Higham Ferrers at 10.30 p.m. Thanks are due to the various incumbents and steeplekeepers and to Mr. Geo. Randall, of Higham, who so ably arranged this outing.

LAVENHAM'S BENEDICTS BEAT BACHELORS.

The SS. Peter and Paul's Society, Lavenham, held their ninth annual outing on Saturday, July 26th, under the leadership of Mr. Stedman Symonds. A start was made at 7.30 a.m., the first halt being at Framlingham, where the party were met by Messrs. Maulden and Crickmer. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob were rung and a brief visit was also made to the old castle. The next call was Kelsale, where Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent and Superlative were rung. At 12 noon the party reached Leiston, the main objective of the day. Here the ringers were met by the Messrs. Bailey. St. Margaret's handy peal of eight were soon tapping off merry touches of Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent and Superlative. A competition in striking took place between the society's single and married bands, the latter winning by one point. At Sizewell, Falcon Inn, the party sat down to lunch. This event was also won by the married section by two points. An enjoyable hour and a half was afterwards spent on the beach at Sizewell Gap, where the 'Dulcet Handbell Quartette' rendered some fine old airs, 'four in hand.' At Pettistree, courses of Plain Bob and Kent were rung on the peal of six. Afterwards the party were entertained to tea at the Grange by Mrs. B. Taylor, a native of Lavenham. The last call was at Grundisburgh, where the Rev. Sutton (Rector) gave the ringers a hearty welcome in the tower. The methods rung here were Grandsire, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford. Home was reached at 10 p.m., when, for the eighth year in succession, the same unanimous opinion was expressed, 'that this was better than the last.' The ringers wish to take this opportunity of offering their thanks to all those who helped to make the outing such an enjoyable one.

HARWICH RINGERS IN SUFFOLK.

The annual outing of St. Nicholas' Guild, Harwich, took place on Saturday, July 26th, when in glorious weather a visit was paid by charabanc to Suffolk. Calling first at Henley, the ringers were met by the Rev. W. C. Pearson, and the bells were set going to Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples on this light ring of eight. The next stop was Helmingham, where the fine old church dates back to 1500 and contains a very musical peal of eight bells. Touches of Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were brought round. After inspecting the very interesting church, a move was made to Framlingham, which was reached about 1.30 p.m. Mr. F. Watting, of Saxmundham, here joined the party, and, lunch having been disposed of, tracks were made for the tower of St. Michael's Church, where a well-struck 576 of Kent and 504 of Grandsire Triples were brought round on the fine old peal, the bells having been cast at various dates from 1583 to 1718. The church also possesses an organ which dates from 1674, and was presented to the church by Pembroke College in 1708. After an interesting visit to the Castle, the journey was resumed to Hasketon, the home of Mr. G. Thompson, captain of the Guild, where tea was waiting. Tracks were then made for home, which was reached at 10.45 p.m. The Guild wish, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to thank the Rev. W. C. Pearson, of Henley, for granting permission to ring on the bells, also Messrs. Whiting and Last, of Helmingham, and Mr. J. Hall, of Framlingham, for meeting them and helping to make the day a success. They also thank Miss Thompson for arranging the tea.

AN ISLAND TRIP.

The ringers of St. Mary's, Putney, held their annual outing on Saturday and Sunday, July 19th and 20th. The direction chosen this year was Portsmouth and the Isle of Wight, and 6.30 a.m. saw the noble 14 packed into a local 'Chiev.' and off via Kingston Bypass Road and the old Portsmouth Road, complete with luggage and the famous handbells of 'He of the many initials.' On top of Hindhead a course of Grandsire Triples was tapped off in solemn solitude before 8 a.m.—Have we made a record? (I wonder)—and 8.55 saw the party seated for breakfast at headquarters, Madden's Hotel, Portsmouth. Having shown that, as a band, we have as healthy an appetite as the next one, and bedrooms having been allocated, we proceeded in leisurely fashion to lose a boat across to Ryde. However, in compensation, we were enabled to see the arrival home of the battle cruiser, 'Suffolk,' from the China station, also Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, 'Shamrock V.,' which was then about to start for America, watching crowds voicing their hopes for victory and the return of 'The Can.' Ryde was reached soon after eleven o'clock, and 'Old Joe' soon finding another charabanc (a rather difficult job, as they are so small), we were on tour, taking the route to Brading, where an eight of about 10 cwt. were at our disposal. Ringing was done in standard methods, Mr. Pain kindly obliging with keys. It was intended to put two refractory persons in the ancient stocks here, but unfortunately, or the reverse, as you look at it, the stocks were nailed in. It was a case of 'On, Stanley, on,' this being the 'Shuvver,' so via Sandown and Shanklin, through lovely lanes in delightful weather, occasionally 'hitting up' a piece of promenade, we went, reaching Godshill in time for a light lunch, afterwards proceeding to the quaint hilltop church, where we found a wedding in course of progress. Very appropriately the bells rang out for another happy couple, seemingly all the more so because of the music of a nice little six, smartly turning in a touch of Bob Minor. These bells are by Llewellyn and James, a name not very frequently met with among bells nowadays. A look round the very interesting church here, and we were loaded into our coach by the aforesaid Joe, and on the road to Carisbrooke, driving round the Castle slowly and admiring this ancient structure. Time would not permit a close inspection, as we were due to ring on the splendid eight here (tenor 25 cwt.) by the Croydon Foundry. Several touches were enjoyed and the bells lowered, farewells said, and we were on board for Ryde. Here a heavyish eight by Taylor were in contrast to the last peal, preferences being rather divided. After separating the combatants, tea was had, and 'the Joe person' announced that he had done with the party till supper time, so they could have the remaining part of the day to themselves. All went their ways, but caught a boat and arrived back at headquarters safely. Two other 'Erbs' arrived at 11.50, and after feeding were put to bed, and then, 'rest for the organiser.' Sunday morning saw the party at Alverstoke, where the local band welcomed them, a very fine light eight by Taylor's being made use of. Various diversions till 5.30 were the order, but not much could be done in the way of sightseeing as the weather became undone. It did not, however, entirely damp the spirits of the party, a fire of railery and chaff making up for much. Ringing for evening service was the last item, so to St. Thomas à Becket, where Mr. Burnett and his men gave us a welcome, and the lovely 25½ cwt. peal of eight were heard to advantage in standard methods. Borrowing a few locals, an almost 'Faultless' (capital F, please) course of Double Norwich was the outstanding feature of the whole trip, one severe critic remarking that it was well worth while travelling the distance to ring that alone. Home was the next objective, and, the weather by now having become more or less a deluge, we had a rather more difficult journey to go through, arriving at Putney, tired but happy, at 11.50, one, whose name I withhold, having to stay the night with Mr. Samaritan. Thanks are due to gentlemen who met us at the towers with such courtesy, also to Vicars and Rectors for the use of the bells. Prizes as usual were awarded, Mr. Cassell receiving the Iron Cross, while the treasurer was presented with a very nice and useful pipe, which I believe he knows how to use. Conducting was shared by Messrs. Elson, Malins, Cassell and Herbert.

BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS' TOUR.

The annual outing of the ringers of St. John's Church, Bournemouth, took place on Saturday, July 26th. Leaving Bournemouth at 8.30, the first stop was North Stoneham, where the band was met by the Master of the Guild (Mr. George Williams), and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise were rung. The next call was at St. Michael's, Southampton, where various touches were successfully brought round. After lunch, came an interesting drive to All Saints', Dibden. After ringing here, the party made for Lymington, where tea was partaken of at the church. Many excellent touches were afterwards accomplished. Proceeding to Milford-on-Sea, many methods were rung on this beautiful peal of eight, which was the last call of the day. The handbells were kept very busy on the homeward journey, Bournemouth being reached by 11.30. The ringers wish to thank all the incumbents at the churches visited for the use of the bells and the steeplekeepers for having the bells ready for them.

HASLEMERE RINGERS VISIT THAMESIDE TOWERS.

The annual outing of the Haslemere, Surrey, ringers was held on July 19th, when, accompanied by Miss Irene Hastie, of Leatherhead, Messrs. A. J. Bartlett and M. Smithers (Chiddingfold) they spent an enjoyable day on the Thameside. The first stop was St. Mary's, Staines, where touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman were brought round. At Egham, touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Treble Bob were brought into rounds, and the Vicar came to speed the parting guests. At Windsor, an excellent lunch had been prepared, and, after 'full justice had been done,' Old Windsor Church was visited, and touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Treble Bob and Stedman were rung. Going next to Bray, the bells were raised, and Bob Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Treble Bob were rung, and this finished the ringing for the day. After an excellent tea at the Crown Hotel, at the invitation of the Master, a trip on the river to Boulter's Lock and back was greatly enjoyed. The homeward journey was commenced, and home was reached about 9.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable day. The company arranged to meet for a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters on the Sunday evening, and this was rung in 48 mins. by the following: Major J. H. B. Hesse 1, R. Hayes 2, B. Elliott 3, F. Bowden 4, H. Furlonger 5, J. Bartlett (conductor) 6, W. Eldridge 7, R. Overy 8, M. Smithers 9, E. Wicks 10. This was W. Eldridge and H. Furlonger's first quarter on an inside bell.

BEACONSFIELD RINGERS IN SURREY.

Beaconsfield ringers had their annual outing on July 12th, when they visited some West Surrey towers. A start was made from the church a little after 12 o'clock for Farnham, where they were met by the veteran Mr. Clapshaw, and the bells raised and started to Stedman and Double Norwich. The bells and tower here are all that can be desired, and this accounted for the party being a bit late in getting away. Frensham was next on the list. Here there is a nice ring of six, but the time here had to be cut short to enable the party to catch up with the schedule, but all had a pull, Kent and Cambridge being rung. Then away over Hindhead to Chiddingfold, where Stedman, Double Norwich and a particularly good course of Cambridge were rung. After tea, the party proceeded to Witley. Here conditions are not in favour of good ringing, but Stedman was attempted, and Bob Major was brought round. Proceeding to Godalming, the last tower on the list, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were brought round, and the bells lowered. The inner man having been refreshed, a start was made for home, which was reached at 11.30 p.m., all being agreed that a good half-day had been spent. The band wish to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents and towerkeepers of the towers mentioned for the use of the bells and the trouble taken to make the visits a success.

PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL RINGERS' EXCURSION.

The annual outing of the ringers of the Cathedral Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury, Portsmouth, was held on Saturday, July 12th, when, accompanied by an old friend, in the person of Mr. J. H. Blake, of Chichester, a start was made just before 8 a.m. in fine but somewhat cold weather. The route taken was via West End, Lyndhurst and Christchurch to Poole, which was reached 30 minutes late, due to the driver having chosen the wrong road. Ringing took place at St. James' Church, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major being rung. At Wimborne, an excellent lunch awaited the party at the Crown Hotel, but unfortunately time did not permit an inspection of the Minster Church of St. Cuthbert, as the ringers were due at Wimborne St. Giles. On arrival, it was found that a wedding was about to take place, so, immediately after the ceremony, the bells rang out a message of gladness to the happy couple from ringers of another diocese. After touches of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob, and Kent Treble Bob Major had been rung, a move was made to Salisbury. In the absence of the Dean (who was unfortunately unable to be present in person), one of the resident canons was waiting to welcome the party, and, together with a guide, pointed out the great architectural beauties and historic relics of the Cathedral. Tea was taken at the County Hotel, after which touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung on the sonorous octave at St. Thomas' Church.

The homeward journey was made via Romsey, where a short stop only was made, and Portsmouth was again reached at 9.45 p.m. The company would like to give expression, through these columns, of their feelings of deep appreciation of the kindness and courtesy shown them by the Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop Randolph, D.D., and the canons and staff of Salisbury Cathedral, also to all the incumbents and steeplekeepers of churches who contributed so much to the success of the day.

This composition was rung for the first time on July 30th, at Orich, Derbyshire, conducted by Maurice Swinfield. The peal, as originally published in 'The Ringing World' on April 1st, 1921, was false, but altered as above by Mr. Swinfield, it is true. The figures have been checked and confirmed by Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, to whom Mr. Swinfield expresses his thanks.

FEERING RINGERS VISIT KENT.

On Saturday, July 5th, members of All Saints' Guild, Feering, accompanied by the Vicar and churchwardens and friends from Kelvedon, held their annual outing. Leaving Feering at 8 a.m., Gravesend was reached at 10 a.m., and the towers at Wrotham, Aylesford, Chatham, Rochester Cathedral and Gravesend were visited in turn, short touches of Major being rung at each, interposed with rounds to enable all to have a pull, including the juniors. The Guild desire, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all the clergy for the use of the bells, and all ringers who kindly met them at the various places, also Mr. F. Mitchell, who so kindly assisted in the arrangements. The party left Gravesend at 9 p.m., arriving home safely shortly after 11 p.m., having spent a long but thoroughly happy day amidst some of the lovely scenery of Kent.

ROCK FERRY, CHESHIRE.—On Thursday, June 12th, at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Minor (1,260 changes) in 42 mins., being 240 each of Cambridge Surprise, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, 120 each of Oxford Single, Double and Single Court and 180 of Plain Bob: Miss D. I. Leatham 1, Miss M. Cooke 2, J. Leslie 3, F. Banton 4, W. Dean 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6. Rung for the induction service of the Rev. F. E. Hicks, as Vicar of St. Peter's parish. Also a birthday compliment to the ringer of the second, it being her 15th birthday. First quarter-peal in seven methods by the ringers of 1, 2 and 4.

HALSALL, LANCs.—At St. Cuthbert's Church, on May 16th, for the Confirmation service, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor in 26 mins. J. Fairclough 1, T. Prescott 2, J. Gardner 3, A. Mawdesley (conductor) 4, H. Sergeant 5, E. Blundell 6.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. PRESTON BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

A very successful meeting of the Preston Branch was held at Higher Walton on Saturday, August 2nd. The bells, a handy peal of eight, were raised shortly before three o'clock, and were rung in various methods till after 8 p.m. Members were present from eleven of the branch towers, as well as Messrs. Grounds and Booth, from Standish, and all present had a pull, the ringing being of quite a high standard.

Before commencing the business meeting, the Chairman, Mr. W. Sharples, referred to the tragic death of one of their fellow-ringers, Mr. E. B. Coxhead, of Whittle-le-Woods, and also to the death of Mrs. Booth, the wife of Mr. J. Booth, of Standish, who was present with them that day. The Chairman proposed a vote of condolence with Mr. Coxhead's relatives and also with Mr. Booth.—This was carried with the members standing in silence.

Arising from the minutes of the last meeting, the Secretary read correspondence, and explained why the meeting which was to have been held at St. Helen's, Garstang, had been postponed. The explanation was accepted.

The meeting confirmed the election of Arthur Townley Parker, of Chorley, as a member of the association.

The place and date of the next meeting was then fixed, and the Secretary then gave a report of the branch's activities during the year. Meetings had been held, he said, at Chorley Parish Church, Hoghton, Broughton, Samesbury, Preston Parish Church, Brownedge, Leyland St. James, Penwortham, Whittle-le-Woods, and Chorley. They had also held a joint meeting with the Fylde Branch at St. Annes. At the meetings held at Hoghton and Preston Parish Church, Mr. Wm. Taylor gave lectures which were much appreciated by all present, the subject being, 'In and out of course in change ringing, and also aids to the young conductor.' The meeting at Preston Parish Church was a joint meeting, at which the Blackburn, Fylde, Wigan, and Bolton Branches were represented, and it is proposed to hold a similar meeting at Blackburn about the same time next year. On the whole the meetings had been fairly well attended, a fair number of other branch members having been present at various meetings. The standard of ringing in the branch seemed rather better, if they judged by the methods rung at the meetings and the peals rung by the branch. The number of peals rung was thirteen, which was as large a number as ever. They had been rung in seven different towers by thirty-four members, eleven of whom have rung their first peal in one or more methods, while five had rung their first peal inside in a different method. The methods rung were: Plain Bob Minor 2, Minor in three methods 1, Cambridge Minor 1, Minor in seven methods 1, Grandsire Triples 2, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 4, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 1. Local peals were rung at Penwortham, Brindle and Whittle-le-Woods. In the local peal of Minor at Penwortham, Mr. E. W. Hutchinson was successful in ringing his first peal: this at the ripe age of seventy-three years. The peal of Minor at Preston was on the heaviest peal of bells rung to Minor by the association. The peal of Minor rung half-muffled at Brindle was rung as a last token of respect to Mr. J. H. Garstide, of Chorley, an old and esteemed ringer and churchworker. During the year, Mr. B. A. Knights had completed his one hundred peals for the association, and he was the first Preston Branch member to do so.

UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The bells at St. Helen's, Churchton, and Broughton had both been in the hands of the founders and bell hangers during the year, and the reports regarding both peals were very satisfactory. Subscriptions had come in fairly well, although there were one or two towers where they had not had a meeting recently, where the members had not paid for the current year. The list of members was slightly larger than last year, as sixteen or seventeen new members had been elected, but they had lost one or two through death, among them Mr. E. B. Coxhead, who was killed the previous week in a motor accident. They had also lost a few members through lack of interest, as well as members leaving the district. For various reasons the annual social was abandoned this year, but it was to be hoped it would soon be revived.

The report was accepted, and the secretary thanked.

Mr. Sharples gave a report of the committee meeting held at Chorley last month, and this was accepted with thanks to Mr. Sharples.

Before the election of branch secretary took place, a proposal was put that the secretary be elected for two years, as it was thought it would be beneficial, as the committee men would then retire in alternate years.—On being put to the meeting, the proposal was carried, and the retiring secretary was elected unanimously, with a vote of thanks for his services, one of the supporters humorously suggesting that the secretary be paid the same remuneration as before.

The Secretary thanked the members for their vote of thanks and for their renewed confidence in him.

A letter was then read regarding the Central Council's proposal that associations should agree to abide by the rules and decisions of the Central Council.—The matter was discussed, and Mr. Bradley

SKIPTON RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. William Downham Hillary, of Skipton, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on July 31st, having been married at Skipton Parish Church in 1880. Both are well known in Skipton, and received many congratulations upon the auspicious event.

Mr. Hillary has been a ringer at Skipton since 1878. He is the second oldest member of the band, his brother-in-law, Mr. William Billows, having had two years longer service. When Mr. Hillary joined the band in 1878, there was only a peal of six bells, and the ringers were Messrs. Wm. Trees, Joseph Barrett, J. Ingham, W. Pate, Joseph Thompson, Tom Harry Trees, S. Watson, W. Holdsworth, Wm. Billows and himself. He has served under three Rectors—the Rev. P. C. Kidd, the Rev. H. L. Cook and the present holder of the living, the Rev. R. S. Stoney; he has rung in honour of great events in the reigns of three monarchs—the jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1887, the Diamond Jubilee in 1897, and the coronations of King Edward and King George. He has taken part in 37 peals, including 6,048, which was the record for the longest peal of Oxford rung in Yorkshire at that time (1889). The ringers, in addition to Mr. Hillary, were Messrs. F. Anderson, J. Boothman, C. Langstreth (Gargrave), J. McKell (Gargrave), and W. Billows (conductor).

Mr. Hillary can remember vividly the addition of the two new bells and the rehanging of the old ones in 1887, to commemorate the Queen's Jubilee; and also when the bells were recast and rehung ten years ago. He also took part with the Skipton ringers in the reopening of the bells at Holy Trinity Church, Burnley and Salsdale Parish Church. During the war, when a number of ringers joined the fighting forces, their places were filled by four ladies, among them being Mr. Hillary's daughter, Miss Ada Hillary (now Mrs. Geo. Bottomley), who rang until 1922.

Mr. Hillary in 1879 joined the old Volunteers and served until 1901, when he retired with the rank of sergeant. For nineteen years he was a member of the Skipton Fire Brigade in which he attained the rank of superintendent.

As a young man he was a prominent competitor at all the local sports meetings, and at once time was regarded as the best exponent of the long jump in the district. He also acquitted himself well in the sprint events, and was no mean performer in events over longer distances, as his successes testified.

For 47 years Mr. Hillary was employed as a painter with Messrs. G. H. Mason, and it was only as the result of a fall he suffered in 1928 that he retired and was prevented from completing half a century of service with the firm.

Mrs. Hillary is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Bellamy, of Chapel Hill, Skipton, who, with her husband, attained their golden wedding anniversary a few months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillary have had five sons and four daughters, and they have eight grandchildren. One son, Thomas, who was a member of the Territorials, died before the war, while two of his brothers died during the war, Horace in England, from wounds received in Gallipoli, and Harold, who had held positions with the Skipton and Branshaw (Keighley) Golf Clubs and a similar appointment in Canada, died in France.

On the eve of the golden wedding, Mr. Hillary took part in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Skipton Parish Church in honour of the event. The ringers were: W. Billows 1, W. Birtwhistle, Gargrave (conductor) 2, W. E. Townsend 3, W. Bradley, Gargrave, 4, J. Garlick 5, C. Langstreth, Gargrave, 6, J. Smith 7, W. D. Hillary 8.

THORNHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

The members of the Thornham and Cotton company of ringers had their annual outing on July 12th. The party went by motor to Newmarket and then on to Ely Cathedral. The next call was Haverhill, where an excellent dinner was provided for the ringers, who later rang on the bells of that church. The next calls were Clare, Long Melford, Sudbury and then Nayland, where the party stopped for tea and ringing. They then proceeded to Hadleigh and Ipswich, but it was too late to ring on the bells of St. Margaret's. The touches were conducted by Mr. G. Cattermole and Mr. B. Chilvers, and the ringers are grateful to the latter for organising the best outing they have had.

said as the Central Council was comprised of representatives elected by the associations it was only reasonable that the Council's decisions should be recognised and upheld by the associations.

The feeling of the meeting was that as the Lancashire Association's rules did not contain a rule governing the above resolution, a resolution to discuss the same at the annual meeting should be sent to the general secretary.

Another item of interest was put before the meeting by a member who asked for information regarding the branch peal book. After discussion, the meeting instructed the secretary to try and get the book to the next business meeting.

The usual vote of thanks to the church authorities closed the meeting.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, July 26th, a visit was paid by members of the North Notts Association to Misson for the purpose of reviving the art of change ringing at that tower, and it is hoped the effort will prove successful. Members arrived from Branston, Edwinstowe, Everton, (Tamston, Misterton and Ordsall, and a full company of local ringers was present.

Tea was served in an excellent manner, after which a business meeting followed presided over by Rev. H. H. Skinner, Vicar of Misson, who gave the association a most hearty welcome to his church.

The Hon. Secretary stated that during the past week he had been in communication with the Everton ringers, and he was very pleased to say that they had decided to be reaffiliated with the association. It may be remembered that Everton was among the founders of the association. The following members were duly elected: Messrs. S. Harrison, H. Searle, F. Searle, A. Smith, E. Smith, F. Smithson, G. Swindon and R. Welsh, of Everton, and T. Seamore, of Misson.

It was stated that the next meeting would be at East Markham on a date to be fixed by the committee.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the caterers, and all who had helped to make the meeting such a success from the learners' point of view. It is desirable that a few more towers should follow the example set by the Everton band.

DEATH OF AN OLD BARNSELY RINGER.

The death of Mr. Wilfred Richardson, of Barnsley, at the advanced age of 84 years, has to be recorded with regret. A member of St. Mary's company for over fifty years, he was always present for service ringing, and was a ready teacher of young ringers on practice nights. His occupation, that of warehouseman for Messrs. Geo. Guest, grocers, of Barnsley, did not permit him to go in for peal ringing away, but at home he was always ready to join in for the benefit of ringing and ringers. He became a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Yorkshire Association in the 'Seventies,' and also helped in the formation of Barnsley and District Association in the year 1909. Owing to age and chronic rheumatism, his active ringing had to cease some years ago. He is the last of the band that Mr. C. D. Potter (the first president of Barnsley Association) met in the tower at St. Mary's 54 years ago.

TAUNTON RINGER'S BEREAVEMENT.

We regret to announce the sudden death of Mrs. J. Burge, beloved wife of Mr. James Burge, of Taunton. The deceased lady underwent a serious operation a few years ago, but although it was thought that the operation was a very successful one, it left its mark behind, and she succumbed on July 26th. She was laid to rest on August 2nd in St. Mary's Cemetery amid many manifestations of esteem and regard. The first part of the service was held in St. Mary's Church, the Rev. W. H. Allen, Vicar of Broadway, officiating. As the cortege left the church, the grand peal of twelve was rung in rounds, followed by two courses of Stedman Cinques conducted by W. White, the bells being half-muffled. The band was made up of ringers from the three towers in Taunton. Amongst the many beautiful floral tributes was one from the ringers of St. Mary's, where Mr. Burge has been conductor for over thirty years. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Burge and his daughter in their great loss.

THE NON-CONDUCTED PEAL AT TONBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As umpire to the above peal, I feel it is only fair, on behalf of the band, to reply to the query raised in your last issue by Mr. Alfred Rowley, of Brierley Hill. I can, without fear or favour, confirm that the peal was rung strictly silent, and that no motion was made by those taking part. At no time did any of the band appear to be in doubt, and the striking was perfect throughout.—Yours faithfully,

W. CROUCHER.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS.

It is admitted that one of the most valuable parts of the work of the Central Council is the printing and publishing of various books and pamphlets in connection with the art of ringing. Some of these publications are the results of years of patient work, which would probably never have been undertaken except by the incentive of some such representative authority, and would certainly never have passed through the press without the financial backing of a body like the Council. There is too much monetary risk in the printing of ringing literature for any ordinary investigator to undertake the work, but the Central Council is able to step in and serve the Exercise where private enterprise is unable or unwilling to shoulder the responsibility. The Council is representative of the Exercise, and what it does, by way of issuing publications, is therefore done in the name and on behalf, as well as for the benefit, of the Exercise. In effect, when the Council decides upon the issue or reissue of any work, it is carrying out the wishes of the Exercise as expressed through its elected representatives and in this way the whole of the ringing associations have a responsibility in promoting the sales of the Council's publications. The majority of ringers, perhaps, have not viewed the matter quite in this light, and it may be for this reason that in the past the sale of the Council's literature has been of no interest to them. But a little thought on the matter will enable them to see that through their associations they have a direct interest in the successful issue or otherwise of a publication, for it is through this channel that the bulk of the Council's money (derived chiefly from association fees) is expended—this quite apart from the individual interest which a ringer ought to have in the personal possession of any publication which will add to his knowledge of the art.

A few weeks ago the Guildford Diocesan Guild's representatives on the Council put forward to their members a practical suggestion for promoting the sales of the Council's publications. It was that every association should purchase a number of copies of the various works for re-sale on the ground that, as the various ringing bodies get the benefit of the Council's publications, they should bear some of the risk of the loss on sales. As a matter of fact the Council almost every year makes a loss on sales; the total number of publications sold does not defray the cost of advertising. This is not because the goods it has to offer are not worth buying, but because the article itself cannot be come by without a little trouble, and that is one of the things which many ringers

Manufacturer,

64, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDON, S.E.13

Late of BERMONDSEY and PECKHAM.

Makers to St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Imperial Institute, Canterbury, Edinburgh, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peterborough, Melbourne (Australia), Rochester, Dublin, St. Patrick's, Manchester, Durban, and Worcester Cathedrals, etc., etc.

Muffers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

—we might almost say the majority of them—will not take when it comes to anything affecting ringing. If these publications could be put right into their hands, instead of their having to write a letter and get a postal order, they would probably buy almost any of the books and pamphlets which the Council issue, but if it is left to their own volition, the thing never gets done. Of course, if they only realised what they have lost and are losing by neglect to purchase many of these books—not only those issued by the Central Council but by private enterprise as well—they would quickly make amends, but the difficulty is they do not realise it. We believe, however, that a great deal could be done, if the associations would act upon the suggestion made by the Guildford Guild's representatives. It is true that publications can be had by associations on the 'sale or return' system, but this brings little grist to the mill—last year it brought in to the Council less than five shillings. If the associations purchased the goods outright there would be a keener desire to sell, and if the books were distributed through district officers there ought to be few meetings at which at least a few copies were not disposed of. We suggest that in the interests of ringing, as well as in the interests of the Council's business, which in the long run is the concern of the affiliated bodies, associations should seriously consider taking off the Council's hands a considerable portion of their stock. One other result of this would be to enable the Council to go on with the publication of further works in the interests of the Exercise.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have recast the 4th and tenor at Havant, Hants, and rehung the 3rd and 4th in new bearings. The next meeting of the Portsmouth District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild is to be held at this tower.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are also retuning and rehangings the peal of six at Whitstable, Kent.

Six ringers who were delayed in Reading for half an hour on August Bank Holiday were treated to some 'topping' Maximus striking at St. Laurence's Church; in fact, they would have been listening yet had not their shepherd bawled them off to the station to catch their train for a remote village in Berkshire, where they rang a humble peal of Bob Major.

The seventh bell at Tenterden, Kent, being out of action, owing to bearing trouble, no ringing is possible. Will intending visitors please note.

The ringer of the 3rd in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Aberavon on July 11th was W. J. Nulton.

In our account of the veterans' peal at Worcester, Mr. W. Page's peal total was given as 111; whereas he has rung 138. This, however, does not affect the aggregate total rung by the band.

A well-known ringer joined the ranks of the Benedicts on Bank Holiday, when Mr. George H. Cross, formerly of Norwich, and now of London, was married to Miss M. L. Mutton, at St. Nicholas' Church, Chislehurst. The congratulations of their many friends will go out to the happy couple, who are spending their honeymoon in the West.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Norwich on Bank Holiday was rung in honour of the event, as was also a peal of New Cambridge Surprise Major at Eriton on Saturday.

Somebody sat up late at Burton-on-Stather on July 31st, for we record this week a handbell peal begun on that date and finished on August 1st, so that the ringing was spread not only over part of two days, but part of two months as well! It is the kind of performance that cannot very well be beaten unless some band will take on a peal that will need more than a month to ring.

York Minster has the unique record of having had three peals of twelve and a peal of ten in the course of its history. Its tower was the first to contain a peal of twelve. That was in the year 1655, but in 1765 a new peal of ten to replace them was cast at Whitechapel, and these were opened on August 18th of that year. These bells were destroyed by fire in 1840 and another ring of twelve replaced them. These were succeeded by the present glorious peal of twelve, cast at Loughborough.

The ringing 'week' in Lancashire and Cheshire ended on Sunday with a record of 14 successes in 16 attempts. The peals included three of Double Norwich, four of Superlative, three of Cambridge, one of Stedman Triples, two of Stedman Caters and one of Kent Treble Bob Royal. The two unsuccessful attempts were Stedman Cinques at Ashton-under-Lyne, lost after an hour and a half through a change course, and Cambridge Major at Radcliffe, after an hour, from the same cause.

The report of a peal rung on Saturday at Ormesby has been sent without the number of changes.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

BRATTON'S FINE CHURCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Parish Church of St. James the Great (or St. Margaret), Bratton, Westbury, Wilts, on Saturday, August 2nd. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m. and the Guild service was afterwards held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Seymour Collett), Miss Hobbs being the organist. Tea followed in the Church Institute, to which 21 sat down.

A short business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginbottom, and Miss M. Traylen and Mr. S. Davis, of Devizes, were elected members of the Guild. Ringers, including Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Chilcompton, hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, were present from Bratton, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Trowbridge, Westbury, Warminster and Rowde. On the motion of the chairman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, the organist and those who prepared the tea.—The Vicar suitably replied and extended an invitation to those present to visit the Vicarage gardens.

Touces of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening, also a touch of Cambridge Surprise Minor, which is believed to be the first touch of Cambridge on the bells. The following is a description of the bells:—

1. Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London, 1897. On waist: 'These two small bells were added A.D. 1897 in commemoration of Queen Victoria's long and eventful reign.'

2. Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London. On waist: 'R. S. Jacob, Vicar. G. G. Cleverley, James Hurlle, Churchwardens.'

The Interesting Church at Bratton, Wilts.

3. God be our Guyd, 1587. I.W. On waist: 'Recast by Mears and Stainbank, Whitechapel Foundry, London, 1896.'

4. John Whitaker, Churchwarden, 1793. (4 roses.). Thomas and James Bilbie, Chew, Stoke, Somerset. Fecit (rose).

5. G. Mears, Founder, London, 1858.

6. Honour the King. I.W. 1617.

The tenor and old treble were cast by J. Wallis, the large capitals I.W. on the 3rd being, according to Cocks' 'Church Bells of Bucks,' an imitation of the fancy ones used sometimes by Wallis, as at Hemington, Somerset, and Windsor Castle (Curfew Tower). There were 'tiii' bells in the tower in the days of the 1553 Church Inventory.

The following is a description of the church taken from 'Highways and Byeways of Wiltshire':— 'Under the White Horse on Bratton Down I went on to Bratton, and saw the noble church there. There is nothing in all this county finer in its way than this airy and spacious village church of stone, a work as we see it of the early fifteenth century. It is a cruciform building with fine central tower of four stages splendidly ceiled, and consists of clerestoried nave of two bays, with north and south aisles, transepts and chancel, with three doorways north, south and west of nave; the two former strangely far to the east, and the south doorway having a porch. The position of these two side doorways, perhaps, is due to the older church which certainly stood here in Norman times, as the bowl

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS.

A pleasant meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Hawley, an eight-bell tower, on Saturday. Hawley is on the fringe of the diocese, and is one of the half-dozen towers in Hampshire which come within the Guild's area. The church and bells are modern and ideally situated for ringing. The surroundings are rural, but the bells, which are a useful peal, with tenor about 16½ cwt., would be improved outside if the sound were better modulated by stopping up the slate louvres, which throw the sound down in a rather overpowering way in the immediate neighbourhood of the church. There is one other little drawback in the tower, and that is closeness of some of the ropes to the walls. On Saturday a stalwart guardsman found that the easiest place from which to ring the tenor was the belfry window sill. Although the gathering was not a large one, most of the district towers were represented during the day, including Aldershot, Ash, Bagshot, Farnborough, Farnham, Hawley and Yorktown, while there were also ringers from Woking and a welcome visitor in Mr. Maurice Hibbert, of Bushey, who, seeking an afternoon in the country, succeeded in getting it by landing at a railway station three miles from his objective, and finding no means of reaching Hawley except by walking.

The Guild's service was conducted by the Rector, who, in his address, emphasised the need of personal example in the lives of all those who served the church. A bountiful tea was served in the Parish Room, and thoroughly enjoyed by the 23 who participated.

The Rector was thanked, on the call of Admiral T. P. Walker, for the use of the bells and conducting the service, and thanks were also extended to the ladies who prepared the tea, and to the organist.

At the brief business meeting, over which Admiral Walker presided, as the Rector had to leave for another engagement, one new member was elected, and a discussion took place on the recommendation of the Guild's Central Council representatives that the Guild should purchase, for resale to members, copies of some of the Council's publications. The suggestion found favour, as it was thought that sales might be effected at meetings if the publications were on view, whereas ringers would not trouble individually to send to the librarian for them.

Major Gale (Hawley) was elected to fill a vacancy on the Executive Committee of the Guild, caused by the regretted departure from the district of Mr. H. Tinsey (Scale), to whom it was resolved to send a letter of good wishes on the new venture which he has undertaken in Norfolk.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held at Farnborough, where the bells have recently been increased to six, and where this meeting would have been held but for the recent death of one of the churchwardens.

During the day Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Minor, Bob Major and Treble Bob Major were rung. Major Gale and Admiral T. P. Walker took part in some of the touches, and the treble to a course of Kent was rung by a thirteen-year-old schoolgirl from Aldershot, where there seems an inexhaustible supply of 'youngsters,' and an example is set to other towers to 'catch 'em young.'

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

ALTON DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Alton District was held on Saturday at Froyle. The unfavourable weather no doubt affected the attendance, and there was only a small party, which included the master (Mr. G. Williams) and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Read, and ringers from Blackmoor, Petersfield, Alton and Froyle. After about two hours' use of the bells, the Guild Office was said in St. Mary's Church by the district secretary, and then the party adjourned to the Shrubbery House for tea, by the kind invitation of Sir Hubert Miller, who is a life member of the Guild. Sir Hubert joined the ringers during tea, and, in response to the vote of thanks proposed by the master, cordially expressed the hope that the fixture at Froyle might become an annual one. The visitors afterwards had a stroll in the beautiful grounds, under the guidance of Mr. Gerald Robinson, head gardener, and a member of the Froyle band. This was most enjoyable, as the sun was then shining brightly, and when the company dispersed at 7 p.m. their only regret was there had not been a larger number to enjoy Sir Hubert's hospitality.

of the font testifies, as do the east walls of the transepts and the walls of the porch. Apart from them, the whole church is a really fine work of the early Perpendicular time at its best, and gives one a most happy notion of the art of the fifteenth century.'

The country round about Bratton is supposed to be the scene of the Battle of Ethandun, in 878, when King Alfred conquered the Danes.

MR. JAMES BENNETT'S 500 PEALS.

Although there are quite a number of ringers who have scored 500 peals, the man who would achieve this record has got to keep busy over a considerable number of years. The latest addition to the ranks of those who can claim this distinction is Mr. James Bennett, of Lewisham, whose performance is the more noteworthy from the fact that over 300 of the peals were rung while he was serving in the Royal Marines. Here is the list of Mr. Bennett's peals, and, as will be seen, it is made up of a great variety of methods:—

SOME 'EXERCISE'!

If in one hundred years' time our art is taken from us, we can at least see to it that our ringing societies shall, although bereft of their bells continue as organised bodies down the pathway of time. Here is a suggestion for what it is worth; only we must organise at once.

I furnish an extract from 'Bengal Lancer' (Gollancz, Ltd.):—

'At Tughlakabad . . . we found the hereditary well-jumpers of the Moghul court still plying their profession. In 1922 some twenty of these men were alive, and all still active, including the eldest, who was ninety-nine.

'The shaft was eighty feet deep and only eight feet wide, so that if the jumpers had taken off with the slightest outward impetus they would have hit the sides and killed themselves. The only way to reach the bottom in safety was to step off as if going down a stair, and this the old men did.

'One after another they went down, making a noise like popping corks.'

(One side of the well is cut away in a ramp to water level with five arches in the shaft which enable spectators to see the performers flash by.—Ed.)

' . . . The eldest well-jumper came up to us, wringing his wet, white beard.

"Sahib, what are we to do with our boys," he asked. "Government has forbidden us to teach them to jump, saying it is dangerous, and that they must be educated. Are they to sit in schools with idol-worshippers instead of learning our ancient craft?"

"Who is to know what you teach them?"

"That is true," he chuckled, "and on bright nights we do still show them how the trick is done, beginning from the bottom archway. But their heads are so full of this new tyranny of education that I doubt whether they will ever have our skill."

So, there you are! Let us catch and train the younger generation now. Alternate Saturdays for 'Youths' and 'Gumberlands' at Tower Bridge, commencing from the low level. Jumps from the top span to count as a peal of Cambridge Maximus. Other bridges on the river to be allotted to the junior London societies.

A committee to be formed, known as 'The Extinction Committee,' to bring this most important question forward at the next annual meeting of the Central Council.

May I add that our certificate will in no way be affected, as the descent from campanology to Thames is very clearly depicted thereon.

A. Includes the first peal ever rung by a Navy and Army band of ringers

B. Includes the record peal on 12 bells, also of Surprise.

C. The only spliced peals ever rung on 12 bells.

Rung in 23 counties, for 22 associations, in 168 towers, in nine of which the circle has been completed.

The first of these peals was rung at St. Mary's, Chatham, Kent, on 10th April, 1912, and the 500th at St. Mary's, Ealing, Middlesex, on 21st May, 1930; 303 being rung whilst Mr. Bennett was serving in the Royal Marines. Since the above total was completed, Mr. Bennett has rung a further nine peals, of which four have been Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL. TOUCHES FROM THE PEAL.

The famous one-part peal of Grandsire Triples, known as 'Holt's Original,' which was, so far as is known, the first peal of Grandsire Triples composed with ordinary bobs and two ordinary singles only, is a composition that all Grandsire conductors should aim at calling. There was a time when it was recognised as an outstanding performance to call this peal; and it is still one of the best proofs of a conductor's ability to memorise a difficult composition. True, it is no uncommon achievement in these days—another sign of the advance of the times—and a week or two ago we published the record of the peal being rung 'non-conducted.' It was not the first time it had been rung in this way, but whenever it is done it is a performance which ranks high among notable peals. But when all is said and done, there are a great many Grandsire conductors who rather shrink from calling the 'Original,' not because it is really beyond them, but because of the application that is necessary to memorise the calling. It is sometimes overlooked that scores of touches of various lengths can be got from the peal, and that practically the whole of this 'one-part' can be learnt and practised piecemeal.

For instance, a start can be made on the first five hundred or so, a touch of 545 being obtained by ringing the first 33 leads producing:—

Or there is the last 756 changes of the peal got by starting in the plain course, which comes up at this point.

Our old friend Mr. Challis Winney, who is a past master in the calling of this composition, sends us two quarter-peals, out of the middle of it. One, which he got from 'Dick' French nearly 50 years ago, emanated from All Hallows, Tottenham, and commences 18 leads after the half-peal (564723).

Mr. Winney adds that he sends us these quarter-peals in the hope that young ringers will aspire to call the 'Original' and, to borrow his old friend Matt Wood's expression, not despise Grandsire Triples.

ANOTHER WHO 'COMPLETED THE CIRCLE.' To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Amongst others who have called Holt's Original from every bell is Mr. Herbert P. Harman, one time of Bromley, Kent. This gentleman 'completed the circle' on December 26th, 1901, at Dartford, Kent. I myself had the pleasure of taking part in this peal.—Yours faithfully,
GEORGE R. NEWTON.

WOLVERHAMPTON RINGER'S CYCLING FATALITY.

It is with very deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. H. R. Pickering, a very promising ringer at St. Michael and All Angels', Tettenhall, Wolverhampton. His end came with tragic suddenness. He was cycling home on Saturday, July 26th, when he fell from his cycle in such a manner as to sustain fatal injuries, death taking place in the Royal Hospital, Wolverhampton, on Monday, July 28th.

The funeral took place in the beautiful churchyard at Tettenhall on Saturday, August 2nd, when six of his brother ringers carried him to the grave. The bells were rung half-muffled for the service, and again afterwards, when the whole pull and stand was rung 28 times, corresponding with the years of his age. Afterwards a peal of Grandsire Triples half-muffled was rung, which is recorded in the proper column.

COLLINGHAM BRIDGE, YORKS.—On Tuesday, August 5th, at the ancient Parish Church of St. Oswald, 720 Grandsire Minor, in 35 mins.: W. Hague 1, A. E. Rawlings 2, H. Mason 3, C. Hague 4, G. H. Rawlings, jun., 5, W. Scheerer (conductor) 6, H. Groves 7, S. Atkinson 8 (7 and 8 covering). First 720 for all ringers. The last previous 720 at this church was rung before the war.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

AN ASSISTANT SECRETARY APPOINTED.

A very satisfactory meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held recently at Grundisburgh, at which ringers from a number of towers were present, and many different methods were rung. But the chief feature of the meeting was the reorganisation of the local band, under the guidance of ex-Sergt.-Major Pipe. Besides some young beginners, several very old members rejoined the band, among the best ringers being Mr. Clarke, now in his 80th year, and his son.

These also journeyed to Southwold, where a very successful meeting was held on Bank Holiday, August 4th. By kind permission of the Vicar, the bells of St. Edmund's Church were at the disposal of the ringers from midday; the methods rung were Plain Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Double Norwich; and members and friends were present from Beccles, Grundisburgh, Leiston, Halesworth, Wrentham, Cambridge, Ufford, London and other places.

The business meeting was held in the belfry, with Mr. F. C. Lambert, Halesworth, in the chair. Much sympathy was expressed with the general secretary in his nervous breakdown, which considerably limited his powers. It was decided to elect an assistant secretary, and the mantle fell on to Mr. C. E. Fisher, who, to the satisfaction of all the members, promised to do all he could to help with the work until such time as the secretary had completely recovered.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to divide the Southwold District into two parts, which would be absorbed into the neighbouring districts. Members from all the towers concerned agreeing, it was unanimously decided to join Southwold to Halesworth, and Wrentham and Brampton to Beccles.

It was agreed that the next meeting be held at Fressingfield on September 27th. After the usual votes of thanks, members adjourned to Chapman's Restaurant for tea, which was admirably served.

On their way back members tried to visit the tower at Walberswick, but as a service was being held, only the exterior, together with the beautiful ruins and excavations, could be inspected. Then to Westleton, where everything was locked up. A warmer welcome was met with at Middleton, where some local ringers joined the company, including two ladies who are learning to ring. There was only time for a few touches of Grandsire and Stedman here before the ringers dispersed.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Whittlesey on Monday, August 4th. Between 40 and 50 ringers were present from various parts of the country. A short service was held in St. Andrew's Church and was conducted by the Rev. A. E. T. Newman. This was followed by a tea and meeting, held at the White Lion Inn, the general secretary (Mr. R. G. Black) presiding.

The bells of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's Churches were kindly placed at the disposal of the ringers and were kept going during the day to various methods, ranging from Bob Major to Double Norwich, a most enjoyable day being spent by all.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ashford District was held at St. Martin's, Cheriton, on Saturday, August 9th, but would have been poorly attended had it not been for visitors from Canterbury, Lewisham and Rochester Districts. Service at 5 o'clock was followed by tea in the School-room, kindly provided by the Church Council.

At the business meeting votes of thanks were passed to the lady organist and Mr. H. Beal, who kindly had everything in readiness. Returning to the tower, the ringers were able to practice methods up to Double Norwich, and the small meeting, which was noteworthy in having present members from four districts, was quite successful.

BURFORD RINGERS AT EVESHAM AND TEWKESBURY.

The ringers of Burford, Oxon, had their annual outing on Saturday, July 26th. Leaving the lovely little Cotswold town behind at 8.30, they were soon at Moreton-in-Marsh, and the peal of eight peals at the Parish Church going to the tune of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Thence to Chipping Campden, a fine eight, with 24 cwt. tenor, where good ringing was enjoyed. A surprise call was made at Badsey, and, consent being readily given, the peal of eight (tenor 17½ cwt.) were soon ringing out. A move was then made to Evesham, where a welcome lunch had been arranged, and Mr. J. D. Johnson was waiting to welcome the visitors to the bell tower. A long stay could not be made, owing to the tenor being required for a soul departed. Tewkesbury was the next place of call, and ringing on the beautiful peal of ten bells at the Abbey was much enjoyed. With the help of the Rev. E. G. Benson and Mr. T. Devereaux, a course of Stedman Caters was brought round, being the first Caters rung by most of the visiting band. After tea at Tewkesbury the party headed for the Cotswolds again, calling at Northleach, where there is another fine peal of eight. Home was reached at 9.30 after plenty of exercise and a most enjoyable day. The best thanks of the ringers are given through 'The Ringing World' to the various incumbents for permission to ring, and to those who kindly met them at the towers.

SEVENTY-TWO YEARS A RINGER.DEATH OF A DERBYSHIRE VETERAN.

We regret to announce the death, on Tuesday, August 5th, at the advanced age of 84 years, of Mr. John William Scott, of Tibshelf, Derbyshire. The deceased was a member of the East Derbyshire and Nottingham Association since its formation in 1887, and had always faithfully attended its meetings until a few months ago. Always willing to give his help and advice in the training of young ringers, he was known and held in great esteem among ringers in a very large district. Born in Co. Durham, he commenced ringing at Winlayton at the age of 12, and thus had the remarkable record of 72 years as an active ringer, nearly 50 of which had been spent at Tibshelf as ringer, tower-keeper and clock attendant.

At the funeral on Thursday, August 7th, the Vicar paid tribute to the sterling work of the deceased, and urged all young ringers to take his life as an example. He was consistent in his work as a ringer and consistent also in his worship of God.

Mr. Scott leaves one son, Mr. J. E. Scott, of North Shields, who is also an enthusiastic change ringer, and often takes part in peals in the North. The bells were rung at the funeral by fellow-members of the association, which was represented in the cortege by the secretary (Mr. J. W. England), who received his early training at the capable hands of deceased. In the evening a muffled peal was rung, particulars of which will be found in the peal columns. John William Scott was a remarkable man. May he rest in peace.

DONCASTER BELLS.OPPORTUNITY FOR BROADCAST COMPARISON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I understand Doncaster bells are to be broadcast on Sunday, August 31st.

As you are aware, the late Lord Grimthorpe designed and was very proud of these bells, and perhaps some of your interested readers may care to express an opinion in your columns as to how they compare with modern bells when heard via a loud speaker.

The bells are very thick and the tone rather hard. The tenor is a 54in. bell in E flat and weighs 30½ cwt.

WEDDING BELLS.MR. G. H. CROSS AND MISS M. L. MUTTON.

A wedding of much interest to members of the Exercise took place at Chislehurst on August Bank Holiday, when Mr. George Herbert Cross, second son of the late Mr. F. and Mrs. Cross, of Winter Road, Norwich, was married to Miss Marjorie Louise Mutton, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mutton, of 6, Camden Grove, Chislehurst. Mr. Cross is well known in ringing circles, both as an able ringer and composer, and since coming to London from Norwich has taken an active part in ringing in the Metropolis, being now Ringing Master at St. Clement Dances. His bride has been one of the ringers at St. Nicholas', Chislehurst, and is a member of the Ladies' Guild.

The service took place at St. Nicholas', Chislehurst, and was conducted by Canon Oscar Hardman. The service was fully choral, the Rev. F. H. Keyworth accompanying on the organ the following hymns: 'Love divine, all loves excelling,' 'O perfect love,' and 'Gracious Spirit, Holy Ghost.'

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of parchment satin, underlined with pink, in mediæval style; she wore a necklace of pearls and a gold watch, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were the Misses Gwen, Mary, Annie, Eileen and Evelyn Mutton (sisters of the bride), while the bride's brother, Master Donald Mutton, was a diminutive page. The elder maids wore long gowns in lemon, green, mauve and pink, and the two children cream and green; their ornaments were crystal necklets, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridegroom's brother, Mr. B. Cross, acted as best man. Chislehurst Ringers, of which the bride was a member, formed a guard of honour.

A number of ringing friends were present, and as the happy couple left the church, the bells were 'fired' and two courses of Stedman Triples and two courses of Double Norwich, in which Messrs. T. H. Taffender and C. W. Roberts (London), F. W. Rogers and A. T. Greenwood (Portsmouth) and B. Thompson (Norwich) took part.

After a reception, held by the bride's parents at the Guides' Hall, at which over a hundred guests were present, the happy pair left for a honeymoon tour of Somerset, Devon and Cornwall. The bride's going-away dress was of pale green crepe georgette.

During the reception two courses of Stedman Triples and two courses of Stedman Caters were rung on handbells, and as their car left for the station, they were given a send off with Stedman Triples and a 'size sixteen' shoe.

ANOTHER CHISLEHURST WEDDING.

Another Chislehurst ringer was married, on Saturday, when the wedding of Mr. Cyril Brett-Smith, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brett-Smith, of 68, White Horse Hill, Chislehurst, and Miss Mildred Doris Mallett, elder daughter of Mr. Frederick F. Mallett and Mrs. Mallett, of 89, Green Lane, Chislehurst, took place at St. Nicholas' Church, the Rev. G. R. Hampson officiating.

As the bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. H. C. Mallett, entered the church, the Bridal Chorus from 'Lohengrin' was played. She wore an ankle-length dress of ivory silk, a tulle veil with a wreath of orange blossom, and gold brocade shoes. Her bouquet was of red roses and white heather, and she wore a necklet of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary R. Mallett (bride's sister), Miss Rosetta E. Gale (bride's cousin), and the Misses Lizzie, Annie and Lydia Brett-Smith (sisters of the bridegroom). They were attired in forget-me-not blue silk, with silver net mob-caps and wreaths of forget-me-nots; and their bouquets were of pink sweet peas. They also wore necklets of pearls. Mr. Jack Brett-Smith, the bridegroom's brother, acted as best man.

As the congregation left the church Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March' was played by the Rev. F. H. Keyworth, who officiated at the organ. The local ringers 'fired' the bells and rang a touch of Grandsire Triples in honour of the event.

After a reception, held by the bride's mother, at which over 40 people attended, the happy pair left for a honeymoon in Hertfordshire. Green silk marocain was the basis of the bride's going-away dress, and she wore a hat to match.

RINGERS' WEDDING AT WINGFIELD.

The wedding took place at North Wingfield Church on Saturday, August 9th, of Mr. Bert Wheeler, of Morton, and Miss D. A. Tarlton, daughter of Mr. J. P. Tarlton, of North Wingfield, hon. secretary of the Chesterfield District of the Midland Counties Association. Both bride and bridegroom are enthusiastic ringers at North Wingfield Church.

At the close of the ceremony 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung by local members and friends. In the afternoon a peal of Double Norwich was attempted, but came to grief. Various touches were afterwards brought round by a band of friends from the surrounding districts, the bride's father also taking part.

At the Holy Cross Church, Morton, Derbyshire, for the wedding of Miss Lily Knowles and Mr. Vaughan Cox, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, recorded in our peal columns, was rung on Saturday. The bridegroom is a ringer at the church and the bride a sister of the conductor of the peal (Mr. F. W. Knowles).

WORSLEY RINGERS' TRIP INTO DERBYSHIRE.

The annual outing of the St. Mark's, Worsley, bellringers took place on Saturday, August 2nd. The showery weather, in which the party started at 7 a.m., did not damp the courage of the ringers, their wives and 'intendeds,' and friends from neighbouring towers of Walkden and Swinton. Tideswell was reached by 9 a.m. and lunch was provided at the Star Hotel. Afterwards the ringers were greeted at the church by the steeplekeeper. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major were rung on the fine peal recently placed in the tower by Taylor's, three members of the local company joining in with touches of Bob Major. Just before 11 a.m. the journey was resumed to Matlock, the destination. Handbells were set going again to change ringing and tunes, and Matlock was reached about noon, and after dinner the Parish Church was visited. Here Mr. Paulson, the vergier, was waiting for the party, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob were rung. Mr. Paulson joining in. After a good spell at the ropes the party spent some time in a round of sightseeing. At tea time they received a visit from the Vicar (the Rev. J. Renshaw) and his wife. The return journey was enlivened by the handbells and mouth organ solos, and after a call at Buxton, where an hour was spent, home was safely reached about 10.30 p.m., all somewhat tired after a most enjoyable outing that will not be forgotten. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World' the party wish to thank the towerkeepers of Tideswell and Matlock, the Vicars and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and all those who helped to make the outing such a pleasant one.

A PEAKLAND EXCURSION.

The Overseal ringers' first trip to Peakland, which was made last year, aroused such keen interest in the hills and dales of Derbyshire that this year the ringers planned a similar tour. The first point of interest to be reached was the wonderful church of Hoar Cross, near Burton-on-Trent. Built by the beneficence of Lord and Lady Meynell-Ingram, this church possesses features such as may be found in few churches of its size. Beautifully proportioned and rich in carving of wood and stone, its beauty holds one spellbound. Leaving Hoar Cross, the party passed on to the very old town of Abbot's Bromley, where the ancient market hall is still intact. Its Tudor buildings take us back to the days of 'Bluff King Hal,' and many are the good old tales of Abbot's Bromley in the 'good old days.' From here they went on via Wetley Rocks and Cheadle to Leek, 'the metropolis of the moorlands.' It saw much of the struggles of the Stuart period, being a garrison town of Charles I. Its ancient church has many interesting features, including curious epitaphs.

After an excellent lunch at the Red Lion Hotel, the drive took the company out of Leek to the top of Morridge, and, passing via Oneocote down a steep, winding road, they reached Hulme End Station in order to take a trip by the narrow gauge railway down the wonderful Manifold Valley. This valley is rich in caves and recently many relics, including Roman coins, have been unearthed. Leaving Hulme End, they travelled on to the pretty village of Hartington. Nestling in the valley, this village was beloved of John Cotton and Isaac Walton. 'The Compleat Angler.' The road then lay by way of Olstonfield and Hopedale to Ilam, and as a thrilling experience the 'drop' into Ilam compares very favourably with the 'snake' at Castleton. The sexton only was with the party this time, but his services were not required, as the bus and driver were both equal to the task. Passing through Ilam, the Isaac Walton Hotel was reached, and, after a good tea, a ramble in beautiful Dovedale was enjoyed. Mayfield was then reached, where the bells were tried. The old church, with its bullet-scarred doorway and door, and strict Puritan severity, forms a marked contrast with the church of Hoar Cross. Leaving Mayfield, the route lay through Ellastone and the old town of Uttoxeter to Tutbury, famous for its old castle. And then through Burton-on-Trent to Overseal.

NETHERTON RINGERS' CELEBRATION.

On Sunday evening, August 3rd, at Netherton, Dudley, Worcester-shire, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Grandsire Triples in 46 mins. was rung by the following local ringers and friends: Ben Gough (Coseley) 1, Ben Boote 2, Tom A. Townsend 3, Sam Hughes (Smethwick) 4, Alf Rowley (Brierley Hill), conductor, 5, Harry Hubble 6, Albert Prestidge, sen., 7, Albert Prestidge, jun., 8.

This quarter-peal was specially rung in honour of its being the 30th anniversary of the election of Mr. Albert Prestidge as a ringer to the St. Andrew's, Netherton, band, he having been made a member on Sunday, August 3rd, 1900. Mr. Prestidge is also a member of the local Church Council, is now ringing master and conductor, and a prominent citizen of Netherton, where he has been licensee of the Bird-in-Hand, St. Andrew's Street, for over 20 years, and where he is always pleased to see all ringing friends.

CHANGE RINGING'S CHANCE IN AMERICA

The art of change ringing, which has had a precarious existence in America, is likely to receive a new impetus from a gift which is being made to the Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have in hand a ring of ten bells, with a tenor of 25 cwt., which are to be hung for ringing in the new chapel tower, and an interesting and encouraging feature about the provision of the new bells is that change ringing is to be taught and is to be an institution at the school, so that there is a chance of ringing in America being at last set on a firmer basis, with a regular supply of ringers, who, it may be hoped, will go out from the school and become 'missionaries' of the art.

We believe this is the first time it has ever seriously been proposed that the art and science of ringing should be made officially part of a school curriculum, and the influence which it may have is not unlikely to have an important effect. The various efforts made in the past to get change ringing to take root on the American continent have all had very disappointing results. The late Dr. Nichols, of Boston, did his utmost to encourage the practice in the towers in and around his own city, and not very long before his death he got round him a number of ringers from England in a further attempt to establish the art in the States. He founded the Boston Guild—of which his daughter is still the President—but the members are so few and widely scattered that practice is seldom, if ever, possible. Mr. Warren Sturgis, of Groton School, has also valiantly endeavoured to keep the flag flying, but the task has been a difficult and, for the most part, disappointing one.

The proposal at Kent School seems to offer greater possibilities. If the students can be interested in the art while at school a certain proportion, at any rate, may be expected to take away with them a love of ringing, and sow the seed in other places. There is always, of course, the stumbling block of distance, but let us hope that the students after their campanological 'course' will be able to raise in their own districts sufficient interest to get more bells installed. It is something, at all events, to know that at Kent School it is not only the bells that are to be provided. If change ringing is to be taught in the school, and made part of the training of the students, in the same way that they now indulge in sports—the Kent crew did well at Henley this summer—there is the assurance that a supply of ringers will be kept up for this particular ring of bells. And it does not seem too much to hope that in course of time the art may spread far beyond the school and become in America a really healthy growth at last.

SPliced PLAIN MINOR.

A NEW EXTENT IN EIGHT METHODS.

The ramifications of the problem of splicing plain Minor methods is again illustrated by the following extent in eight methods, which has been arranged by Mr. A. Relfe, of Lamberhurst. The basis is College Single and St. Clement's (which are the same method except for the 2nd's and 6th's lead-end links) in one half, and London Bob and Double Oxford (a similarly related pair) in the second half. With the former are spliced Lytham and Thelwall, and with the latter Wavertree and Childwall.

Here is the composition:—

|-------------------------|----------------------|
| 23456 College Single. | 24356 London Bob. |
| 64523 Lytham. | 63524 Wavertree. |
| — 35642 College Single. | — 45632 London Bob. |
| 26435 St. Clement's. | 26345 Double Oxford. |
| 42563 Thelwall. | 32564 Childwall. |
| 54326 Lytham. | 53426 Wavertree. |
| 63254 College Single. | 64253 London Bob. |
| — 42635 College Single. | — 32645 London Bob. |
| — 56423 Thelwall. | — 56324 Childwall. |
| 45362 St. Clement's. | 35462 Double Oxford. |

|---|---|
| Twice repeated with Single at the end produces 24356. | Twice repeated with Single at the end for rounds. |

This 720, in which there are 54 changes of method in 60 leads, was rung at Lamberhurst on Wednesday, August 13th, by: (1. Fuller 1, W. Marshall 2, J. Bassett 3, A. Smith 4, J. Waghorn 5, A. Relfe (conductor) 6.

On the previous Sunday, August 10th, for matins, 720 Spliced Hexham, Surfleet, York, Durham, Berwick and Beverley Surprise was rung at Lamberhurst by: W. Marshall 1, J. Bassett 2, B. Luck 3, A. Marshall 4, A. Smith 5, A. Relfe (conductor) 6.

This is the third combination of six Surprise methods to be rung in one extent. In this, Mr. A. G. Driver has combined the course splice with Mr. J. W. Parker's 2nd and 6th splice, to obtain the extent.

The above 720's were arranged for Mr. A. Smith, of Leatherhead, who was home on holiday.

LONDON.—On Sunday, August 17th, at the Church of St. Botolph, Bishopsgate, for evensong, 1,280 Cambridge Surprise Major: A. Waddington 1, C. W. Roberts (conductor) 2, J. E. Davis 3, J. A. Waugh 4, J. H. Crampion 5, W. Williams 6, C. W. Pipe 7, E. Brett 8.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is expected that the opening of the new peal of eight at St. David's Cathedral will take place in about two months' time. These bells, with a tenor of 25 cwt., have been installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Messrs Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., have in hand the rehanging of the peal of six at Fittleworth, Sussex.

Fittleworth is of special interest as regards bells, as it was in this parish that the late Canon Simpson, who spent some forty years in research on the subject of the tones and tunes of church bells, resided.

The bells at St. Philleigh, in the Roseland district of Cornwall, have now been hung with complete new fittings in a new iron and steel frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Nos. 1 and 2 bells having been recast. The tower, until recently in danger of collapse, has now been completely restored.

Renovations, costing between £500 and £600, are being carried out to the interior of St. Martin's Parish Church, Birmingham, which is being thoroughly cleaned for the first time for 25 years. The belfry is being included in the scheme.

Those who listened on Sunday evening to the broadcast from this church must have wondered when they heard only the front eight of the twelve ringing. It was not due to absentee ringers, but to an absentee clapper.

The peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor rung at Morton, Derbyshire, on August 9th, should have been credited to the East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association.

The Bristol United Guilds have issued gratis a leaflet giving changes in the information contained in the last edition of the 'Ringers' Directory.' Notifications to enable the directory to be kept up to date should be sent to the hon. secretary, Mr. E. Guise.

Henry Hubbard, who published a work on change ringing about the middle of last century, was born at Norwich on August 25th, 1807. On August 24th, 1868, he conducted a veterans' peal at Guiseley, in which the combined ages of the eight ringers was 553 years.

The first true peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on August 26th, 1718. Grandsire Triples had been 'ye study of ye most ingenious men of this age who delight in ye art of variations, but all their projections have proved errors until it was undertook by John Garlthorn, who, with long study and practice, have perfectly discovered those intricate methods which were hidden from the eyes of all the ringers in England.'

On August 27th, 1814, a peal of 12,320 Treble Bob was rung in 7 hrs. 15 mins. at Otley, Yorks.

Benjamin Annable conducted a peal of Bob Major St. George at St. George's Church, Southwark, one hundred and eighty years ago next Thursday.

THE MANCHESTER TOUR.

NOTES OF A RINGING WEEK WITH THE LANCASHIRE LADS.

BY W. H. F.

Preliminary arrangements for the tour in Lancashire and Cheshire, the peal results of which were recorded in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' were negotiated at the Central Council meeting in London last Whitsun by Messrs. W. H. Shuker, of Pendleton, and Mr. F. Bennett, of Brighton, but a misunderstanding about headquarters being centred at Stockport almost led to its downfall. What promised to be a very ordinary venture proved most successful with 16 peal attempts in three counties, 14 of which were well and truly brought home, whilst some 20 ringers took a rope in the various methods attempted.

The programme started on Saturday, August 2nd, at New Mills, the home of the Rev. A. T. Beeston, who has had unique personal experiences in the past of ringing tours. He kindly met us at the church and saw us off at the station with 'one up' after a lunch which left behind a large 'bone' of contention. Ashton-under-Lyne for Treble Twelve was to follow for the afternoon performance at 4 p.m. On the way, the 'managing director' allowed his party to be divided, some sticking to the programme, others taking a short cut on local advice, and as late as five o'clock several of the band were missing, owing to the Manchester holiday congestion of all means of transport.

A disappointing wait by those in the belfry for nearly one and a half hours was beguiled with touches on ten, and then the Bradford men, Albert and Edward, had to leave—grumbling in Welsh, I believe—or stay and be stranded for the night. On the arrival of the absentees another team with local help was raised for Stedman Cinques that ended in 90 minutes' ringing. St. Michael's tower (illustrated in this journal a year ago) has a splendid ringing room, and it was a revelation to the strangers to see its fittings and appointments; the peal tabletson the walls, worthy records of the past—Thorpe 1869-1874, Woods 1911-1914, and the present world's record, Pye, 1929. It was, perhaps, just as well the tourists had an hour or two to spare in such a room with all its history, to 'see and hear' of the fame of this fine campanile.

For over a century the citizens of Ashton have ever shown the greatest interest in its bells, and have gloried in the prowess of the hands who have made such mighty efforts. The recent little 'touch' of Maximus of nearly twelve hours was a trifle compared to the ringing of four days' duration in 1819, of which more anon.

AN INTERESTING RINGERS' PARLOUR.

Near the church stands the Church House. A fully licensed inn, it has been the scene of many noted ringers' gatherings, and perhaps a few bickerings ever since the 'House of Ashton' possessed a peal of bells. In the ringers' parlour are pictures of the band who rang the 16,000 Treble Bob in 1883; an excellent engraving of Wrexham Church (considered to be one of the seven wonders of Wales), the old print of the Royal rung at Manchester a hundred years ago; and the Painswick long peal of Kent Royal.

Here the steward brought out the loving cup, holding a quart of liquor, engraved: 'Ashton ringers' tankard, 1786,' the peal book of the society, the first entry being the Major of 1683, and their set of handbells, 'presented to this company in 1886.' A valuable relic is a solitary handbell (tenor size 20, by H. Symondson, London), the only remnant of a set of twelve of former days, which is engraved: 'This peal was won at Liverpool by the College Youths of Ashton-under-Lyne, June 4th, 1814.'

I should like to see this bell refitted and silver plated, mounted on an ebony stand to be used by the Master of Ceremonies on all fitting occasions hereafter.

At supper, certain members of the company preferred Cheshire cheese to the Lancashire brand, and some chose a bottle of 'W.W.W.' in preference to one of 'Gabriel,' just in the same way that some ringers prefer Grandsire to Stedman Caters on handbells. Mr. Sam Wood, now slightly indisposed, came to spend an hour with us, and I am indebted to him for the loan of an interesting document which the Editor may issue as a supplement to this effusion.

Headquarters during our stay was in the Moss-side district of Manchester, a short tramway ride from the heart of the city, known as Piccadilly, where one could easily reach the various towers we had to visit. To Mr. R. and Mrs. Bertha Davies, the tourists owe many thanks, freely given to them personally, for their help in turning No. 55, Hartington Street, into an 'inquiry office.' The dozen men assembled during the week were housed in several private quarters in this street, and if Bert was out Bertha was in to render all assistance. There was little variation in the following routine: Rise 7.30 a.m., breakfast 8, tram corner 8.30, and Piccadilly 9.30. To this I may add that on only one evening did the wanderers present themselves to their respective landladies before 10 p.m., because they found a 'ringers' den' at the Mitre Hotel, M.C.R., as close to the Cathedral as it is possible to be. The evening in question, Wednesday, was spent in the 'inquiry office' with the Davies family—all musical—and the only son a pianoforte artist of some promise, who, though scarcely out of his teens, has gained two noted distinctions by examinations. Mr. Dennis, of Cambridge, also gave the party a song and accompaniment, whilst gazing earnestly at Mr. 'Rugby' George, which runs thus: 'Why was he born so beautiful?'

In the course of our journeyings, we were destined to hear more of this chant, and the writer feels jealous; it does not harmonise with his favourite hymn peal lines, 'All things bright and beautiful, all creatures great and small.'

Service ringing at West Didsbury on Sunday morning for 10.30 matins was the order. This is Mr. R. Davies' tower, from which he is seldom absent on Sundays. Here he called the first peal on the bells with the local band, and has put in 66 peals for the Lancashire Association altogether. The verger kindly presented the visitors with a small brass bell engraved as a souvenir of this fine octave by Taylor and Co., which were very kindly placed at our disposal during the week if required in emergency. After lunch, we went on to the other side of the city, Newchurch being successfully visited, and peal No. 2 finished in time for evensong. There is no patron saint named for this church, which celebrated its silver jubilee last October. It was erected in place of the old building of 400 years ago, and then known as Newchurch, which was destroyed by fire on Sunday, April 19th, 1903. The tower contains an excellent lightweight ring of bells by Taylor and Co., a cosy belfry, comfortably furnished, which the Newchurch company make good use of, with no nearby houses to lead to grumbings at their practice. Methods up to Double Norwich are rung, and the Leatherbarrow family are in force, Mr. Joseph having scored over 63 peals for the association.

We were fortunate enough to find in such a rural district a place where the whole party could sit down to a meal in peace and plenty without previous notice to the caterer of the Harrow. At the same time 'wireless' in the next room was repeating the divine service taking place at St. Cuthbert's Church, Edinburgh, so near and yet so far.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH, STOCKPORT.
One of the finest churches in the country.

THE TWO TENS.

A double event was brought off on Monday in the town of Stockport, the 'first' at St. Mary's Parish Church with its massive square tower and a circular belfry in stone, erected in 1817. Owing to excessive vibration the old tower was demolished, with part of the church, in 1810-13. Stockport will always be associated with the name of Wm. Gordon—of handbell music fame—who died on June 15th, 1915. He did much to advance handbell tune playing from music, and was a valuable help to the many teams competing at the Belle Vue Gardens, Manchester, competitions, which are now no longer held there. Why cannot these meetings be revived? A peal board in the ringing room gives a short history of the bells, beginning with four in 1584. Additions were made in 1683 and 1731, and this peal of six was taken to Marple Church in 1815, where they remain to-day. In 1817, John Rudhall, of Gloucester, provided the tower with a new octave, the tenor afterwards being cracked. Taylor and Co. were called in in 1897 to recast the tenor (24 cwt.) and supply two trebles, the latter at the expense of the Rector, Rev. W. Symonds, M.A., and Col. George Leah.

On the 4th bell appears the name of 'J. Rixon' (when Rudhalls hung the eight in 1817). He was a famous bellringer in his day. He died at Romilly, aged 95 years, and was buried at Stockport, Deember 14th, 1851. The 'Stockport Advertiser' of July 25th last has an excellent account of the old clock and bells, with portraits of the late Mr. Wm. Gordon and the present band of ringers, and copies can be obtained from the Editor of that journal. Our party was indebted to the towerkeeper, Mr. Wm. Gordon, eldest son of the late Mr. Wm. Gordon, for his attention to our needs and fixing up lunch. He has been in charge since 1915, succeeding his father, who filled the office for about 60 years previously. At the present time six members of the family are ringers at this church. A gravestone at the entrance to the church records the death of George Smith, a ringer here for 50 years, who died suddenly whilst ringing for service on January 10th, 1836.

St. George's Church, Stockport (our second string), occupies a bold position on high ground. It is a modern church, considered to be the finest building, not being a cathedral, in England, with a wonderful tower and spire in the centre of a cruciform plan 180ft. long by 75ft. wide, and holds 2,000 people. It was erected in 1896-7, and consecrated by the Lord Bishop of Chester. The back eight bells were made to match the octave of that cathedral. Here a good peal of Kent Royal was rung with the 'faithful couple' at each end instead of pairing off on the tenors. This manning of the ropes was done to allow our 'young 77' to prove whether the 9th bell would knock him up or not. Another veteran, Hampshire 'George,' stood out and refused a job as 'strapper' to the 'Terror' of the Crews. On going to bed at Moss-side that night, there were sundry murmurings and twitterings, like birds when going to roost, which seemed to say, 'We've had a good day to-day,' without a pat on the back.

IN CHESHIRE.

Another 'double' followed on Tuesday at the parish churches of St. Elizabeth, Reddish, and St. George, Hyde. The former very much resembles Boyne Hill Church, Maidenhead, with its clerestory nave and lean-to side aisles, a partly detached tower and spire built of brick, with numerous horizontal bands of stone and coloured brick in relief. Here Mr. A. Barnes, who has '70 up' for the association, could not meet us, but sent a good deputy to wait on us. It is a very small belfry for eight men to ring in, with scanty stern room, a light ring of eight, the treble having the reputation of losing the hand a peal if not handled carefully. On these tours a 'seasoned hand' is accustomed to take the rough with the smooth, and when you use the 'ring' it is for 'better or worse.' It all depends, too, upon how you handle them.

Hyde Church is a repetition of Windsor Parish Church, a square building, under a one-span roof, with square tower at the west end, surmounted with four corner pinnacles. It has a new ring of eight, highly tuned, and go 'too well' with the hall bearings on which they are hung. After this peal, No. 6, the local band, with Mr. Tom Wilde, entertained the visitors to supper, brought out their handbells, and made us all at home with a hearty welcome and congratulations. Only last May the first Double Norwich here was rung by the local band, and our party were glad to have an hour with them and to compliment Mr. James Shaw on his 55 years' service as a ringer at Hyde Church, and Mr. Tom Wilde, their conductor.

At St. Bartholomew's Church, Radcliffe, we had a simple failure for Cambridge Major. It rested between the Oxford and Cambridge men, and needed the presence of the late Bert Prewett to give the culprits a 'lecture.' Only half the week gone, and two losses! It was getting serious, but no one knew then of the string of luck, or was it 'concentration,' that was to follow in all the other attempts. Radcliffe is another fine ringing tower, similar to Hyde, and everything that a 'method' band can wish for—tenor 15 cwt. The head ringer, Mr. Emerson, left all in order with open doors, and we carefully followed his instructions and those in the 'Annual Report' before leaving.

A former incumbent was Rector for 55 years, and was buried in the church, aged 85 years. The Sunday Schools have a recorded history of going back 150 years, and one of the early treasurers had to fork up 6d. owing to the short weight of gold in a sovereign amongst the subscriptions. Alas! Sunday Schools are rapidly falling into disuse. Moving on to the second tower for Wednesday, 'Cambridge' was successful at Norbury, a name association with Hazel Grove and spliced method ringing. These bells are a repetition of the sweet octaves at Northam, Devon, and Llanfagan, in Brecon. At this church a double team of ringers are doing Sunday duty, the family of Fernleys conspicuous in the peals they have scored for the Chester Diocesan Guild. A crowd awaited the band on leaving the church, including Rev. A. T. Beeston, and a 'family' conclave was enjoyed for an hour before the parting at the course end. This is the tower where the 'Fiddler' called the tune and the ringers danced to it, but I have yet to learn who pays the piper. The church authorities in the southern counties may take a lesson from the Lancashire people and the Scots by providing men's conveniences in most of their churchyards, such as we found at the parishes visited during the week. On the way to 'Piccadilly' we broke the orders to follow a short cut for Moss-side; result, an hour's wait for buses. Some fourteen passed us, all full up, and then we went on according to programme. It was the Belle Vue crowd going home after the dog racing and fireworks which our guide had forgotten.

CHANGE RINGING TO BE TAUGHT AT KENT SCHOOL.

A peal of ten bells hung for ringing is to be installed at Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A. The bells, which are to have a tenor of 25 cwt., are to be cast at the Whitechapel Foundry, and, all being well, will be opened on June 1st next.

When they have been erected change ringing is to be taught and be an institution at the school.

The scheme originated, we understand, through the donor, who wished to present some bells to the school in the event of the proposed chapel tower being built. When on a visit to England, he heard some bells being 'rung,' and was very much impressed by their effect.

He also heard about the Oxford and Cambridge University Guilds, and decided that if he did give the bells 'change ringing' should, if possible, be made an institution at the school.

Just about this time, his son, who is a student at the school, was one of those saved from an accident at sea, and the donor thereupon decided to give the bells as a thankoffering.

This gift and the circumstances under which the bells are to be installed will, we hope, lead to a revival of the art of ringing in America.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL. A FALSE QUARTER.

Mr. C. F. Winney writes: One of the quarter-peals from the Holt's Original (the 1,259 brought round at hand) published in 'The Ringing World' last week is false. My friend, Mr. H. G. Miles, by natural intuition, saw it. Please accept my apology to you and the Exercise. This concoction has not been attempted. The 'Tottenham' quarter-peal can be cut short by bringing it round at 461, or a 447 from 423567.

The first quarter of the peal can be brought round as follows from:—

'ROUND THE CIRCLE.'

Mr. R. Pickering, of Wolverhampton, has completed the circle in the calling of Holt's Original, and has also taken part in the peal non-conducted. When the circle was completed on February 23rd, 1926, his son, whose tragic death—from a cycle accident we recorded last week, rang his first peal, which was on the treble.

ESSEX, HERTS AND MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATIONS. JOINT MEETING AT EDMONTON.

'Very fortunate with the weather,' was the general opinion of the visitors to Edmonton, numbering nearly sixty, on Saturday last, when adjoining districts of the Essex, Herts and Middlesex Associations met in a sociable and friendly gathering and, incidentally, to do a little ringing together.

Ringing started early at Enfield (St. Andrew's) and Edmonton, and all met at the latter church at 4.30, where a short and beautiful service was held. The Rural Dean of Enfield (Rev. E. Forbes) officiated (in the absence of the Vicar on holidays), and he was assisted by the Revs. Charlewood and Hardy. The sermon preached by the Rural Dean was calculated to cause his hearers to think deeply of the seriousness of their calling. A feature of the service was an excellently rendered solo, 'I know that my Redeemer liveth,' which was sung by Miss Dawson, daughter of Mr. George Dawson, of the Leytonstone band.

At tea, the Rural Dean presided, and he was supported by the other clergy, the organist (Mr. Chatfield), Mr. J. Parker, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, Mr. W. Lawrence (Herts), Mr. E. J. Butler (Essex), Mr. A. W. Coles (Middlesex), Mr. C. T. Coles (Middlesex), Mr. A. Prior (Essex), and many other well-known ringers. At this stage an exceedingly well-struck course of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells by Messrs. A. H. Ward (Derby), G. W. Fletcher, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, Messrs. G. R. Pye and J. Thomas.

There was no business meeting, but on behalf of the Middlesex ringers Mr. C. T. Coles welcomed the visitors, expressing great pleasure at the presence of Enfield's new Rural Dean and the other clergy.

Mr. W. Lawrence replied on behalf of Herts ringers, and Mr. E. J. Butler for Essex ringers. Mr. Butler also proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy present for their interest in them, and to Miss Dawson for the very fine treat she had given them at the service.

Mr. Coles seconded this, and included the Vicars of Enfield and Edmonton, and the Rector of Tottenham, who had so kindly allowed the use of their bells. Thanks were also given to the organist for his able assistance, and to Mr. J. Parker and Mr. W. J. Bowden for their help in making the meeting an enjoyable one.

The Rev. C. Forbes replied on behalf of his brother clergymen and himself, and expressed great pleasure at being present to meet so many ringers. They had especially enjoyed the beautiful handbell ringing they had just listened to.

Mr. J. Parker responded on behalf of Edmonton ringers, and promised all present another cordial welcome on their next visit. Three peals of eight were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and whilst the main body met at Edmonton quite a number visited St. Andrew's, Enfield, and All Hallows', Tottenham. The ringing all round was good, and included a great variety of methods. Spliced Surprise Major was very popular, and included some 'first attempts,' whilst many others did well in their first courses in Surprise or other methods. In short, all tastes were satisfied.

WEDDING BELLS AT BELGRAVE, LEICESTER.

'In wedlock bands, all ye who join with hands,
Your hearts unite.

So shall our tuneful tongues combine,
To laud the nuptial rite.'

Thus runs the inscription on many an ancient bell, and tuneful tongues combined with gusto at Belgrave, Leicester, when the genial towerkeeper and leader of St. Peter's ringers (Mr. Rowland Barrow) was joined in wedlock bands to Miss Elsie Ferneyhough, a well-known churchworker. Immediately the happy couple left the church, the local company gave some 'harmonious' changes, and, later, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 43 mins. by H. L. Martin 1, F. W. Sharman 2, E. Morris 3, A. Disney 4, G. Tillson 5, R. F. Elkington 6, W. A. Skinner (conductor) 7, F. A. Graham 8.

Later, a peal of 5,056 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung, conducted by Ernest Morris, details of which will be found in our peal columns.

Needless to say, everyone joins in wishing both bride and bridegroom every happiness and prosperity.

SERVICE FORM FOR PEAL TABLET DEDICATION.

A new, brief form of service for the dedication of a peal tablet has been printed by the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and authorised for use in the Diocese of Salisbury. It should meet a want in this particular direction, and copies may be obtained from W. H. Bush and Co., High Street, Devizes.

The service has the following introduction: 'Brethren, we are met together in God's House this day to dedicate a tablet recording a peal of . . . rung on the bells of this Parish Church, and at the same time to ask God's blessing upon all our service for His Church as ringers. We pray that He will accept our efforts, and that such service, freely offered, may be at all times for the honour and glory of His Name. We pray also, that God will accept this record of an achievement requiring patience, skill, and endurance, and the further dedication of our lives, which we here offer and present unto Him. Amen.'

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. PEAK DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Peak District was held at Castleton on Saturday last, about 25 ringers and friends being present from Bakewell, Castleton, Chesterfield, Dore, Ecclesfield, Hathersage, Manchester, Norton, Sheffield, and Tideswell, and some good ringing was accomplished in Oxford and Plain Bob Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples, learners not being forgotten in rounds and five and six bell methods.

A substantial tea was partaken of at the home of Mr. Payne, the sexton, close to the entrance to the famous Peak Cavern. A short business meeting followed, presided over by Mr. A. G. Wallace, of Bakewell, in the absence of the Rev. W. P. Wright. It was learned with regret that Mr. Wright had not been too well recently, and the secretary was asked to write him and convey the good wishes of those present and their regret at his absence.

One new life member, Mr. W. J. Moss, of Stretford, Manchester, was elected, and given a hearty welcome.

A cordial invitation to hold the next meeting at Tideswell on Saturday, September 27th, had been received from the Vicar of Tideswell, and it was unanimously decided to accept, Mr. Giles Chapman, the Tideswell representative, being asked to convey the acceptance and thanks to the Vicar.

A hearty vote of thanks to the local ringers was replied to by Mr. Payne, and concluded the proceedings, some going back for further ringing, others to enjoy the scenery and other attractions of this famous Peakland village.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

A very successful meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held on Saturday at Sunderland. Ringing was indulged in at Bishopwearmouth Church during the afternoon, and then the ringers wended their way to St. Ignatius' Institute, where a substantial tea awaited them.

A short meeting was afterwards held, Mr. R. Pattison being voted to the chair in the absence of the vice-president. Letters of apology were read from Mr. E. E. Ferry and Mr. J. W. Parker. Mr. Pattison welcomed Mr. Miller, of Leytonstone, and Mr. 'Tom' Metcalfe, of Middlesbrough, the popular secretary of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, to the meeting on behalf of the association.

Mr. Ditchburn moved a vote of thanks to the respective Vicars for the use of the bells, and Mr. Metcalfe proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for such a splendid tea. Both proposals were carried with acclamation.

This being the last meeting before the annual meeting in September, the following officials were proposed for the coming year, subject to the approval of the annual meeting: Mr. R. Pattison, vice-president, and Mr. F. Robson, secretary of the Eastern District.

Mr. Pattison, in thanking the members for their vote of confidence in him, said that he would do his very best for the Eastern District. He was very pleased to be back at the meetings again, after having been away from them of late, but it was good to know he had so many friends. He would try and make the Eastern District the best in the association.—Mr. F. Robson also thanked the members, and said he would help the vice-president in anything appertaining to bellringing.

The meeting finished, the ringers went to St. Ignatius' Church, and the bells were kept going until 8.30 p.m. 'Kept going' are the right words for it, because no sooner was one touch finished than more ringers were ready for the next. The methods rung were Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich. Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise, and all the ringers had full enjoyment from the bells.

Ringers were present from Whitley Bay, Newcastle, Durham, Jarrow, Sunderland, Hartlepool and Middlesbrough, and all were agreed that it was a most enthusiastic gathering and a really good meeting. And what can one want more than that?

MOTTOES AND MUTTERINGS.

BY 'A FLAT.'

A bad Striker in the belfry is better than the Critic who stays at home.

Some well-known ringers are always right 'at the course ends.' Novices get found out before.

What is the difference between ringing societies and church authorities? One likes to preserve a balance, the other likes to present a debt.

Some writers want to know what happens between the rows. I know; that's where I usually get lost.

According to the Central Council, figures may be faked, but not fashions.

Why refer to bells as pre-Reformation? Isn't pre-Simpson bad enough?

It's a poor hunter who can't be taught to dodge.

Some conductors look for trouble, and, while looking, make it.

All ringers should learn methods, and then practise them; not vice versa.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR. A NEW PEAL IN FOURTEEN METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. W. Pye and his band are to be congratulated on adding another wonderful performance to their records by ringing such a peal as the Surprise Major peal in eleven methods.

The following composition will be of interest, as showing what may be done in splicing Surprise methods. From this peal can be rung in from any number of methods from six to fourteen as desired. I also append leads in the new methods which Mr. C. T. Coles has kindly sent me.—Yours faithfully,

A. J. PITMAN.

'OLD BILL' REVISITS SURFLEET.

THE CHRONICLE OF AN ADVENTUROUS WEEK.

It required a train with two powerful engines to convey a travel-worn trunk (12½ x 21 x 2½) and its well-known owner ('Old Bill') to Spalding Station, en route for Surfleet, for the start of the 'Ringing Week' on Friday, August 1st. Saturday afternoon saw the arrival of the remainder of the party, who assembled for a happy reunion under the hospitable roof of Glyn Garth, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson. A peal attempt after tea came to a sudden end about half-way, but as two of the band had attended a wedding earlier in the day, there was foundation for a good excuse for not being able to ring. There were also rumours of a 'proposal' in the air, but it is expected that the gentleman concerned will be late, as usual.

The ringing for Sunday morning service at the Parish Church was two well-struck touches of Stedman Caters, with 'Old Bill' calling the 'bobs,' no 'conducting' being required. Sunday afternoon is not usually a good time for peal ringing, but the men folk managed to bring round a peal of Bob Major, while the ladies continued their 'little chat,' although how they (the ladies) managed to do this with two of them acting as 'umpires' cannot be explained by a mere male. Two of them either did not talk—really talk—or else they did not 'umpire'—really umpire—for even ladies cannot do both these things—really do them—at one and the same time. But perhaps this is neither here nor there—as the poet once said.

Two peals were scored on Monday, and a game of bowls in the evening, with supper after, brought the entertainment of the day to an end; at least, everybody thought so, but it was not to be. Whether it was the strain of ringing, the 'proposal,' or the brilliant(?) play at bowls that upset the single member of the party will, perhaps, never be known, but the result was that the member in question was walking the corridor about midnight, clad in a carpet sweeper and a pair of socks, calling for his 'how-de-do's' and 'what is its.' It was certainly not the wine.

Tuesday was another full day, two peals being added to the list, but the bowls match proved that Rupert's partner was still 'off colour,' or else required a lot of practice. Had it not been for the wall and shrubbery surrounding the lawn, it would have provided at least one of the band with a good deal of walking.

Work will sometimes interfere with pleasure, but as the visitors were at Glyn Garth for 'a change,' a morning's work was looked upon as a novelty. Another peal was afterwards brought round, and the rest of the day passed off peacefully. Even at night there was only one feeble inquiry for 'what-do-you-call-ems' and a mumble about making use of the roller blind!

ATTACKS ON THE SEA AND RIVER.

Thursday was set apart for a day at the seaside. Skegness was chosen because it happened to be nearest (and cheapest), so one half set off by train and the remainder travelled by car. Soon after arrival it rained, so three of the party decided that the best place was in the bathing pool. Rupert and Walter, being more or less on the sick list, were excused immersion, and Old Bill's 'annual' was not due for another 24½ days, so they kindly acted as official towel bearers. The remainder of the day was spent in sightseeing and dodging, not 5-6 up and 7-8 down, but the rain. The thanks of the party are due to one of their number who very kindly ordered dinner and left someone else to pay.

An armed attack was made on the river on Friday morning, and, contrary to the angler's usual tale, the catch was nothing to speak about. Two of the band wanted one peal each, 'just to make their number up,' so a peal of Bob Royal was rung for the occasion.

Troubles never arrive singly. They all arrived on Saturday! An BROADCASTING EFFECTS.To the Editor.

Sir,—It may interest Mr. H. Walker to know that the comparison he refers to has already been made. St. Paul's Cathedral bells were broadcast Sunday afternoon, July 27th, and, although I discussed this with two well-known ringers who got very indifferent results, I had the pleasure of listening to the finest 12-bell broadcast I have yet heard, far superior to any of the Simpson-tuned bells (St. Paul's are Lord Grimthorpe's design, I believe). The reception was perfect; the sixes could be heard quite distinctly. Doncaster are very hard, I know, having rung one peal on them, and that quite enough. If possible, I will let Mr. Walker know the result of the Doncaster broadcast.—Yours truly,

W. KEEBLE.

Feering.

RINGERS' WELCOME TO NEW CLERGY.

A peal rung at Yorktown, Surrey, on Saturday, was specially arranged as a welcome to the new Rector and curate. The Rector (Rev. F. W. T. Waithman) was instituted by the Bishop of Guildford on Sunday. The curate (the Rev. H. J. Percival Smith) has been in the parish only a few weeks. During that time, however, he has taken special interest in the ringers, and has begun to learn to ring. As there is not a local peal ringing band at Yorktown, the company on Saturday was made up by five visitors, and after the peal they were entertained to tea by the Rev. H. J. and Mrs. Percival Smith at their residence. The Rector and Mrs. Waithman were also present to greet the ringers, and at the close thanks were given to the hosts and the hope expressed that there would be a long and happy association between the ringers and the clergy of the church.

COMPTON MARTIN RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of Compton Martin, with a few friends, including Mr. Thomas Whytt, had a most enjoyable outing on Saturday, August 9th. They first called at Abbots Leigh, where short touches were rung to give all a chance of a pull. Then Easton-in-Gordano, Portbury, and Clapton-in-Gordano were visited. Tea was had at Clapton, and afterwards the tower of Nailsea was reached, and there the ringing was concluded. During the outing, touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Bob Doubles and Minor were brought into rounds. The ringers wish to thank the respective Vicars for allowing the use of the bells, and their heartiest thanks are extended to Mr. Thomas Whytt and friends for their arrangements.

THE ADVENTURES OF THE SURFLEET WEEK.

attempt for Stedman Catens in the morning came to a stop in the turning course after some good 'tapping.' Another attempt in the afternoon took the same road. Reluctantly, the band had to say farewell to their '1-2 man,' that lady having to return home rather earlier than expected. It was more unfortunate still from the ladies' point of view, as they had not quite finished the 'quiet chat' that commenced the previous Saturday! A number of chicken had to be caught after supper, and it was during this operation that the host met with a mishap which might have had more serious results. Whilst climbing down from a tree, where he had just caught three chicken, Rupert slipped and caught his foot in a forked branch, causing him to swing down with his foot held fast and his leg twisted. Fortunately, the other men were at hand and managed to push him back to the top of the bough, and thus release his foot. After examination, nothing more serious was discovered than a twisted leg, which, nevertheless, was rather painful next day.

Sunday morning service ringing was not up to the standard of the previous Sunday's. The 'bob caller' was there, but the 'conductor' was hardly awake. A later attempt for Kent Treble Bob joined the 'great majority' after about an hour.

Another attempt at Kent Treble Bob on Monday proved too much, but whether for the conductor or the band, it is not quite certain, so poor old Plain Bob had to be called upon again. Afterwards, bowls were in use again, but please don't mention the subject in public! Departure time arrived, and, despite the fact that the luggage grid had been made larger and strengthened with a few odd lengths of girder, it was found impossible to get everything and everybody in the car, so a public hire bus was called into service. Why cannot everybody travel with a trunk measuring 12½ x 21 x 2½? But that was before it left Surfleet. When it did leave it had probably been stretched a bit in several directions.

You cannot stay at Glyn Garth without having a thoroughly jolly time, hence the party's hearty thanks to Rupert and his very good lady for a most enjoyable week, and what proved to be a happy reunion after three years of ups and downs for all. The band have one regret—that more interest in handbell ringing is not taken by ringers in general. When a band only meet once a year, without much practice between, it is not so easy as it seems to ring several methods.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A

COMMON SENSE BEFORE SENTIMENT

Different people look at bells from different angles. Ringers look upon them as the instruments of their craft, which should be as perfect in sound as possible and as efficient mechanically as modern skill can make them. Antiquarians have an eye mainly upon bells which, from their age, have some claim to veneration as relics of a past age or as specimens of the handiwork of some long-departed founder. Unfortunately, it is seldom that these two aspects can be brought into alignment and as a result there sometimes come into the public press statements which are given to the world as authentic, but which do not really fully represent both sides of the question. The antiquarian standpoint has recently been very ably put forward in 'The Times' by Mr. H. B. Walters, the well-known authority on that subject, but as we show elsewhere in a reply to some of his statements, he has not been, in our opinion, quite fair, either to present day bell ringers or bell founders. We do not believe Mr. Walters has intentionally misrepresented them; it is just that colouring of his review of the matter that arises from a natural bias for his own special subject.

Mr. Walters speaks of the 'fallacious notions' of ringers that bells are more easily rung in a metal frame than in a wooden one; and the 'modern mania' for enlarging rings of bells without regard to the number which the tower was originally erected to hold. He asserts that 'the reasons given for substituting metal frames for old wooden ones are often inadequate,' and that 'it is quite unreasonable—as has been too frequently done of late years—to recast older rings of bells (ante 1700) wholesale,' in order to have a peal tuned on harmonic lines. These and other similar assertions are sweeping statements which have gone forth to the world at large. They may be good propaganda for the antiquarian, but both directly and by inference they are calculated to create the impression that modern methods of bell hanging, based as they are upon sound engineering practice, are 'fallacious' and only used on ill-advised advocacy of the ringers. The 'modern mania' for enlarging rings of bells has lasted as long as bells themselves. From the very first days when bells were put into church towers, men have constantly planned to add to their number, and Mr. Walters probably knows this as well as, if not better than, anyone else. He probably also knows quite well, if he thinks about it, that rings of bells of an older date than 1700 have not of late years been recast wholesale, in order to introduce Simpson-tuned peals. There have, perhaps, been a few isolated instances of seventeenth century bells being broken up, but to say there has been anything like 'wholesale' recasting of bells of this date for the sake of Simpson tuned rings is very wide of the mark.

We have dealt elsewhere with other points in which we think Mr. Walters has done less than justice to the advances which have been made in regard to bells scientifically and mechanically, and cannot do more than add here that we think it is regrettable in an article which obtained the publicity which Mr. Walters secured, that modern ringers and bell founders were represented as ignorant people serving their own interests without a thought for those bells, frames, or towers which are the veneration of antiquarians. As we have pointed out before, bells are not hung in church towers merely to be or to become objects of interest to archæologists. They are there primarily for use, and if they are past the stage of usefulness they must make way for something more efficient. If an old bell cannot be tuned and there is not sufficient money to replace it with new metal, what is to happen? Is it to remain a discordant blot in an otherwise perfectly harmonious musical instrument? Or, if a frame has reached the rickety stage when it is beyond efficient repair and renders the bells unringable, is it to remain merely because of its age? And if it did, who among the hundreds of antiquarians would ever make a pilgrimage to look at it? Let us have common sense before sentiment.

SMALLER MEETINGS IN BLACKBURN BRANCH.

On Saturday, August 23rd, the annual meeting and social of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Church, near Accrington, where there is an historic church. The bells, a handy ring of eight, tenor 14 cwt., which were recently augmented and recast, were kept busy in the standard methods from 3 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. An adjournment was then made to the schools, where a bountiful tea was partaken of by upwards of fifty ringers and friends. After tea, the curate (the Rev. J. Owen Holt), who occupied the chair, extended to the ringers a hearty Church Kirk welcome to the parish, which, he said, he knew from his own experience during the twelve months he had been amongst them was a very real thing indeed.

The secretary (Mr. F. Hindle) presented his report and balance sheet. During the year meetings had been held at Blackburn (Holy Trinity and St. Michael's), Burnley (St. Peter's), Padiham, Church, Huddlesden, Nelson, Oswaldtwistle, Rishton and Whalley, but he was sorry to say the attendance on the average had not been good. Ten peals had been rung by the branch as follows: Grandsire Triples 1, Bob Major 3, Kent Treble Bob Major 4, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Minor in two methods 1. The conductors were L. J. Williams (5), W. H. Hunter (2), and H. Entwistle (1), whilst T. Chambers and W. Aaron conducted their first peals. With the exception of Mytton and Waddington, all the rings in the branch were now in first-class order, and it was hoped that before long something might be done to these two almost unringable peals of six. The membership at present consisted of 24 life members and 115 ringing members, against 25 life and 125 ringing members last year—a loss of eleven on the year. There were still a few subscriptions owing, which the secretary hoped would be forthcoming, 11 life members and 95 ringing members having already paid.

Arising out of a discussion on the decreased attendance at branch meetings, Mr. L. J. Williams, of Church, proposed that in future branch meetings be held every second month instead of every month as at present. He thought that members who at present were either unable or unwilling to attend a meeting one Saturday in four might be able to do so once every two months. It was also thought that the deplorable state of the cotton trade was responsible for some of the members being unable to afford the journeys to the opposite end of the branch to that in which they resided.

The proposal was opposed by the secretary on the ground that if they failed to get round to the towers somewhere near once each year the subscriptions would fail also.

Mr. A. Tomlinson (Blackburn) also opposed the motion, remarking that he could not see how six meetings a year, which would mean a visit to each tower only once every two and a half years, was going to improve matters. He thought the whole secret of a successful meeting rested with the ringers of the tower in which it was being held. If all these local men would make it a point of honour to attend when meetings were being held at their own tower, then it would be next to impossible for it to be a failure.

A number of members also spoke on the question, and on the chairman putting Mr. Williams' proposal to the vote, the motion was defeated.

Mr. Wilson (Blackburn) and Mr. Williams expressed the regret which the branch felt at the loss of Mr. R. Hartley, of Burnley (who had taken a business at Fleetwood), and extended to him and his wife the best wishes for their future success. Mr. Hartley has been a ringer at Holy Trinity, Burnley, for thirty-four years, was a past-Ringing Master of the branch, and served on the committee of the Lancashire Association.

Mr. F. Hindle, Blackburn, was reappointed hon. secretary, and Mr. W. H. Hunter, Burnley, elected to serve on the committee of the association. The following were elected ringing members: Messrs. T. Bailey and B. Sharples, of Clitheroe, and F. Cockshott, of Church.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Whalley, in August, 1931, and the next branch meeting at Clitheroe on Saturday, October 4th, 1930.

The usual vote of thanks terminated the meeting, after which the evening was spent in music and dancing.

VISIT TO SOMERSET TOWERS.

On Saturday, August 23rd, the ringers of East Brent and friends took their annual outing in lovely weather. Leaving East Brent about 9.30 a.m., with eleven aboard a very comfortable bus, a nice run was made to Meare, the first stopping place, then on to Ballonsborough, Somerton and Langport, where lunch was taken. Continuing the journey, Middlezoy, Chedzoy, and Puriton were visited. The methods rung during the day were Stedman and Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor. The ride through the beautiful scenery of Somerset and the ringing was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were taken at Huntspill on the return journey, where unfortunately no ringing could be done, as no arrangements had been made. East Brent was reached about 8.15 p.m., where short touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung to finish up a very successful day. Thanks are due to the incumbents of the churches visited for the use of the bells, also to those who had everything in readiness at each tower.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.NORTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

A meeting was held at Hatfield Broad Oak on Saturday last. This tower had not been visited by the association for a number of years, and owing to the village being very much out of the way, and also to the very inclement weather conditions, not a very big muster resulted. However, the eight bells were rung during the afternoon, and a service conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. H. Hearn) was held in the church. Tea followed at the near-by Cock Hotel.

A brief business meeting ensued. Epping Upland was decided upon for the next meeting place, and the following were elected ringing members: W. Negus, G. Pratt, A. Whitmore, C. Drury, W. Miller, R. Chambers, all from Chrishall.

It was announced that a mid-week meeting would be held at Hoddesdon on the first Wednesday in October.

Mr. G. Dent thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for the service in church.—The Rev. Hearn, replying, said it was his pleasure to welcome the association to his tower, and hoped it would not be long before they visited him again.—Further ringing was continued in the evening.

SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION AT MALDON.

A very pleasant meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Maldon on Saturday, twenty-six members being present from Braintree, Great Baddow, Galleywood, Chelmsford, Feering, Burnham-on-Crouch, Maldon, Rittendon, Romford, Prittlewell, Goldhanger, Springfield and Fulham. After ringing from 2.30 until 4.30, the members attended service conducted by the Rev. A. G. Munsen (in the absence of the Vicar). The lesson was read by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association.

Tea was presided over by Mr. Howard, and at the business meeting which followed one non-resident member was elected. It was arranged to hold the next meeting at Terling on October 18th.

Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. J. L. Seymore) for the use for the bells, to the Rev. A. G. Munsen for his address, to the organist, and to Mr. Ellenger for accompanying the organ on the tubular bells.—The Vicar said it gave him great pleasure to welcome the ringers to Maldon. Ringing continued until 9 p.m., both at All Saints' and St. Mary's churches.

OVER, CAMBS.—At the Church of St. Mary, for matins, on Sunday, August 24th, a 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: G. Whybrow 1, M. Ginn 2, D. Adams 3, R. Thoday 4, H. Robinson 5, F. Warrington (conductor) 6.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT SELSTON.

A well attended meeting of the above association was held at Selston, Notts, on Saturday.

Selston Church is a Norman building, in which the stonework is wonderfully preserved. The tower is a typically Norman structure, and contains a ring of six bells (tenor 12 cwt. approx.), which 'go' very nicely, but it cannot be said that they are particularly tuneful. The treble, second and fourth were added to an existing three in 1905 by James Barwell, while, of the three older bells the tenor (1704) is the only one which bears a date. The third and fifth are apparently older than this, and are rather long in shape, with very little lettering.

The bells were raised about three o'clock, and rung until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. P. A. Sharp), who gave an interesting address. After service, the company adjourned to the schools for tea (rain having prevented tea on the Vicarage lawn as arranged), and 35 persons had an excellent repast.

A brief meeting was held after tea, and sympathetic reference to the death of Mr. J. W. Scott, of Libshelf, was made by the president, supported by the Rev. J. H. Lewis, South Normanton, and the secretary. A vote of condolence with the relatives was passed by the members reverently standing in silence.

Nine new ringing members were elected, and one hon member, the Rev. P. A. Sharp, who gave the association a hearty welcome to his parish, which is also the residence of Mr. W. Dobb, president of the association.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist and ladies for catering was proposed by Mr. T. Stimpson and carried in a hearty manner.—The Vicar and Mr. J. Rawson, churchwarden, responded.

The visitors then returned to the tower, and ringing took place until 8.30, when the breaking of a rope put an end to an enjoyable day. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise, and learners were not forgotten.

Members were present from Alfreton, Blackwell, Heanor, Mansfield, Mansfield Woodhouse, South Normanton, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Swanwick, Ripley and the local band, while visitors were welcomed from Eastwood, Sandiacre and Breaston.

HAGBOURNE, BERKS.—On Sunday, August 10th, before evening, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: A. W. Cox 1, J. S. Napper (Coventry) 2, W. E. Napper (Coventry) 3, J. Dearlove (Brighton) 4, T. East (conductor) 5, J. Sawyer 6, R. G. Rice (Harwell) 7, W. Lambell 8.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

By the death of Mr. Arthur Craven, of Sheffield, which took place last week, the Exercise loses a well-known composer and the author of many methods.

The bells of St. Ives Parish Church, Hunts, are being recast at the Whitechapel Foundry and reduced in weight. They are to be hung with new fittings and frame work. The spire at this church fell in 1918 through an airplane crashing into it.

Maurice Swinfield, the brilliant young conductor, of Burton-on-Trent, has achieved a remarkable record for the Midland Counties Association. He has called one hundred peals for the association, and no two of the compositions have been the same.

The longest handbell peal on record, 19,738 Stedman Caters, was rung at Guildford on August 31st, 1912. It was conducted by Mr. Alfred Pulling, the other ringers being Messrs. A. and W. Shepherd, J. Hunt and F. Blondell.

The first ten-bell peal in Scotland was rung at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, on August 31st, 1886, conducted by F. E. Dawe.

The first peal rung upon the bells of St. Michael's Church, Bishop's Stortford, was a peal of Grandsire Caters, 5,039, by the Junior Society of College Youths, on September 2nd, 1820, conducted by Henry Symondson, sen.

The name of the conductor and ringer of tenor in the peal of Minor at Willesborough on August 16th was E. S. Ruck.

The number of changes in the peal of Superlative at Dunmow on August 9th was 5,056, not 5,120, as printed.

The bells of St. Chad's R.C. Cathedral, Birmingham, are to be broadcast on Sunday evening at 7.50. These bells are a ring which come through well when broadcast. They are hung four over four, and every bell swings by the windows.

A BIRMINGHAM WEDDING.

A young lady, well known to many ringing visitors to Birmingham, is to be married at St. Martin's Parish Church to-morrow. She is Miss Winifred Edith Walker, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, of 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, Birmingham, the bridegroom being Mr. Leslie Arthur Reynolds, also of Birmingham. The bride's father is the popular Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, and naturally the bells at the famous church will ring out in honour of the event. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walker and their daughter will join in wishing the young couple 'health, happiness and long life.'

DONCASTER BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note Mr. Keeble's remarks, but it must not be forgotten that, although Lord Grimthorpe designed St. Paul's bells, the founder (Taylor) deviated somewhat from the specification in regard to thickness. The Doncaster peal was cast true to specification by Warner and Co. I may add the back four are 'maidens.'—Yours faithfully,

HAROLD WALKER.

DEBENHAM TOWER UNSAFE.

CRACK IN WALLS THREE FEET THICK.

The famous tower of St. Mary's, Debenham, is in a dangerous condition, and the Church Council have a scheme on hand for its restoration and also for the restoration of the roof of the church, which has got into a state of considerable disrepair.

Debenham Church has long been a favourite tower among ringers, and many fine performances have been achieved there, the most notable, of course, being the 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung in 10 hrs. 32 mins. on June 6th, 1892. The bells were cast in 1761 by Lester and Pack, the treble being recast in 1891. The tenor, in addition to bearing the name of the Vicar and curate of those days, is also inscribed:—

'In Wedlock's bands all ye who join,
Your hands with hearts unite.
So shall our tuneful tongues combine
To laud the nuptial rite.'

The tower and roof of the nave have been carefully inspected by a well-known Ipswich architect, and his report on the former will interest the many ringers who know this interesting church. He says, with regard to the tower: 'This is a very interesting structure, and of rather unusual character, being entirely without buttresses, and 23ft. square, though only 56ft. high. The lower part of the tower exhibits long and short work, and may be pre-Conquest, and the upper part is probably early 15th century.'

The Tower and West Entrance of Debenham Church.

This tower contains a celebrated peal of eight bells, hung in an old wooden frame of extraordinary construction, which allowed a large amount of lateral movement. To overcome this movement, wedges were placed between the frame and the walls, and probably this has been the cause of the failure in the belfry walls. The same trouble has occurred before, and two iron ties were placed in the walls of the belfry, both in the direction of east to west. The bells are not now rung, but it seems a pity that this celebrated peal of

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

INTERESTING BELL INSCRIPTIONS AT OXTED.

A meeting of the Southern District of the Surrey Association was held at St. Mary's, Oxted, on Saturday last, about thirty ringers and friends being present from Redhill, Reigate, Horley, Godstone, Limpsfield and Limpsfield Chart, Mitcham, St. Peter's Croydon, London, Crawley, Turner's Hill and Sevenoaks. The ringing during the afternoon ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Gibbons), who afterwards took the ringers to the Burnham Tea Rooms, where twenty-three sat down to tea. This was followed by a business meeting held in the vestry, the Rector presiding.

Mr. H. Jordan, of Reigate, was re-elected a member of the association, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Buckland in October.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his address at the service, for the use of the bells, and for presiding at the meeting, was passed, and thanks were also accorded to Mr. A. Newnham, the local secretary, for his assistance in making the arrangements. This concluded the meeting, and the ringers returned to the tower, where they put in some further good practice, the bells being lowered in peal at 8.45 p.m.

In the inventory of church goods made in the reign of Edward VI. it is recorded that there were 'iiij belles in the steple.' In the fourth year of Edward VI.'s reign there were 'sold unto one Thomas Tafford, founder, one sauns bell poz xl lb, ij procession bells poz xvj lb, with as much other latten as weied in all together elxxxij lb for the sume of liiij. ix d.' In 1729, Richard Phelps placed a peal of five in the tower, and two of these had interesting inscriptions.

On the 4th was: 'Ricardus Phelps me fecit 1729. Ab omni fulgure defenda nos Domine.' This inscription referred to a bad storm in July, 1719, when the church was struck by lightning and the bells destroyed.

The tenor has this unusual inscription: 'Good Folks with one Accord we Call to hear God's Word we Honour to the King and foy to Brides do Sing We Triumphs Loudly Tell & Ring your Last Farewell. R.P. Ft. 1729.'

In 1923 a fund was raised for the restoration of the bells, something like £600 being received. The third and fourth were recast by Mears and Stainbank, and a new treble added, all the bells being hung on iron headstocks. The church contains an interesting list of Rectors from 1294 to the present day.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Bourn on Saturday last, a few ringers being present, including the late general secretary (Rev. R. Copeman), Mr. A. G. Rivers, Mr. T. Chenery, Mr. J. W. Ward, Mr. F. G. Gleaves, Miss Willers, Miss Shorter, Mr. F. Hurry and others. Although the ringing was not all 22 carat, the following methods were practised: Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich, Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob. Tea was partaken of at the Vicarage, by kind invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. J. Duffin, to whom thanks must be given for his splendid welcome at all times.

For the benefit of one or two local ringers, a peal is to be attempted in the near future.

Although the weather was none too kind, a much bigger gathering might have made the meeting more successful.

18th century bells should not be rung, and I hope it will be possible to redesign the frame and make it safe for them to be used again.

A crack has now developed in the eastern wall of the tower, at the south-east corner, of a very serious character. This crack is wide and loose, extending the whole height of the belfry storey and clean through the wall, which is here 3ft. thick. This crack should be immediately dealt with, and I recommend cutting out so far as is necessary to effectively deal with it, bonding across with large stones at the back of the facing, and building up and grouting the whole in cement, and making good the crack on the outside face with masonry to match the present. In addition, I would recommend two iron ties, similar to those existing and just below them, extending from south to north.

The other serious defect in the tower is the condition of the parapet. This is of dressed stone about 9in. thick, and rendered on the inner side in cement. Apparently there is no bed left to the majority of these stones, and the whole parapet is therefore loose, and some of the stones are bulging out, in one case as much as 1 1/2 in. I am afraid that nothing will avail but taking down the parapet, numbering the stones and rebuilding exactly as before, bedding all in cement and pointing in cement and stone dust. When this is done, the opportunity should be taken to insert a sound new apron flashing, as the present roof cannot last a great many more years without attention, and it would be a pity to disturb the rebuilt parapet when this time comes. The probable cost of the above work would be £350.

Including the repairs to the roof, a sum of £600 has got to be raised, of which only about £200 has been received or promised in subscriptions and expected grants. An appeal is made to members of the Exercise to help in the restoration scheme, and donations can be sent to Mr. W. C. Rumsey, Debenham, Stowmarket, Suffolk.

ANCIENT BELLS AND FRAMES.

CRITICISM OF AN ANTIQUARIAN VIEW.

An article on church bells which appeared a short time ago in 'The Times' newspaper from the pen of Mr. H. B. Walters, the celebrated antiquarian, who is perhaps the greatest living authority on the historical side of church bells, was received with mixed feelings in ringing circles, because, while much of what Mr. Walters said, such as the eminent desirability of preserving mediæval bells and his condemnation of the practice of 'clocking,' was a welcome restatement of the case, some of his other points were, to say the least, highly debatable. Mr. Walters' article occupied a conspicuous place in the Church and Empire Number of 'The Times' and was consequently widely read. The impression which it made was, doubtless, correspondingly important. We are quite sure that Mr. Walters had no intention of misleading his readers, but in one or two respects he, shall we say, 'misinterprets' the attitude of ringers in the modern developments of bell hanging.

Mr. Walters is, for instance, out to prevent the removal of the old wood frames or the laying of violent hands upon any bell of venerable age. He attributes, at any rate by inference, the change from timber to metal frames to ringers who appear to hold the 'fallacious notion that bells are more easily rung in a metal frame than in a wooden one,' whereas the change is merely the evolution of mechanical efficiency. A bell when it is rung is a piece of moving machinery, and we imagine that no modern engineer would, for preference, place moving machinery in a wooden frame. Hence, ringers advocate metal frames where possible. What antiquarians do not seem to realise is that a metal frame is better than a wood one from the point of view of the stability of the tower. Without constant and careful attention, a wooden frame is likely to develop into a battering ram upon the tower walls and do serious damage to the fabric, while in the event of fire its presence is, of course, disastrous. 'Frames of good seasoned wood,' said Mr. Walters, 'should last for at least two hundred years and many of those in our church towers that date as far back show no signs of decay.' With regard to some old bell frames Mr. Walters is perfectly right, but where can wood seasoned sufficiently to last a couple of centuries be found in these days? When big bell restoration schemes are undertaken good, sound old wood frames are not wantonly sacrificed, but where a frame has got to come out, it is cheaper, safer and far more efficient to put in a metal one.

Then Mr. Walters talks of 'the modern mania' for enlarging rings of bells 'without regard to the number which the tower was originally erected to hold.' 'Few bell founders, for instance, seem to have realised,' he adds, 'that the magnificent towers of Somerset were intended to hold not more than five or six heavy bells and that great risks have been run by topping these with two or three lighter ones, an addition which the tower could not reasonably be expected to bear.' This is a reflection on our modern bell founders which is quite unjustified. To begin with, the enlarging of rings of bells is not a 'modern mania.' The enlarging of rings of bells has been going on for centuries, and while it may be true that it has proceeded faster in the last fifty or sixty years than it had done before, there has been no period when the safety of the fabric has been more carefully or skilfully considered than in the last quarter of a century. Thanks to metal frames and modern methods of bell hanging, many towers have, indeed, been made actually safer with an additional number of bells than they were before the extra ones were put in.

Mr. Walters condemns the practice of applying Simpson tuning to old bells or recasting old rings because they lack this quality. 'English bells,' he says, 'have always been tuned on a different system and cannot be adapted to the Simpson method, though it may be quite suitable for new bells.' There are obvious reasons, of course, why old bells cannot be adapted to the Simpson method of tuning. The tone of a bell depends upon its shape and the old bells are, for the most part, of the wrong contours to retune on the Simpson principle. But the old 'system' was not a system at all in the sense that Simpson tuning is a system. All that the old English founders really troubled about was to get the strike note correct. The harmonics did not concern them, or, if they did, they knew very little indeed about correcting them. If they obtained a bell with its harmonics approximately correct—and there are a few such old bells about—it was by a large measure of luck. Mr. Walters' article makes it appear that the Simpson principle is just an alternative to the tuning of these old bells—we do not, of course, refer to the more modern bells scientifically tuned on what has been called the 'old style'—whereas these ancient bells which he, and almost everyone else we imagine, is anxious to preserve, are just individual notes, approximating to the diatonic scale, but with little or no relationship in their harmonics.

Mr. Walters' article would have been more convincing to people with an intimate knowledge of bells had he been less anxious to condemn some of the modern ideas and practices in regard to bells and bell hanging. In the archaeological realm Mr. Walters speaks with authority, but he views modern methods and progress with the bias of the antiquarian. The difficulty in contesting any of the statements arising from an article such as that by Mr. Walters is that it is almost impossible to obtain the same conspicuous publicity or even to reach the same body of readers. Last week a letter appeared in 'The Times' traversing briefly some of the points, but the original article, with all its inferences, is the one which will leave the most lasting impressions, and the letter which appeared in the correspondence columns is unlikely to be seen by a tithe of the public who read the original article.

GUILDFORD RINGERS' TRIP INTO KENT.

The ringers of S. Nicolas Church, Guildford, had a very enjoyable outing, the seventh of a series, which has on every occasion been favoured by fine weather. The party travelled by motor coach through Dorking and Reigate to Godstone, a halt being there made to ring at the Parish Church. Later, the journey was continued over the Surrey border to Westerham, Kent. Here they were fortunate in getting a chance to ring, as the bells were still in the hands of the bell hangers, the men kindly leaving their work for a short time, and the glorious peal of eight were soon going. Westerham was at once voted the 'til-bit' of the trip. While ringing was in progress, preparations were made at Stokes House for tea, which, to the joy of everyone, was served in a lovely secluded garden, making it a great wrench later when the time arrived for the journey to be resumed to Edenbridge. There Mr. J. W. Steddy was waiting for the party, and the bells were soon going in the standard methods. Again the party were very reluctant to leave a beautiful and perfectly going peal of bells, but time is an inexorable master, and departure could no longer be delayed. Guildford was reached at about 10 p.m., everyone voicing their thanks to all who had contributed to the success and pleasure of the trip.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

ARISTOCRATIC PATRONS OF THE EXERCISE— DOUBTFUL TRADITIONS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

During the seventeenth and early part of the eighteenth centuries ringing was a fashionable sport. It was practised at Oxford and Cambridge, and it attracted a good many of what are sometimes called 'superior class' people. Then it was forsaken by its aristocratic patrons. The social status of ringers declined and during the latter part of the eighteenth and a large part of the nineteenth centuries it was very low indeed. Those few ringers who had superior education and a larger income seem to have been rather ashamed of the company they found themselves in. Thus Squire Powell, of Quex Park, was very careful to say that the broadsheet of Stedman Triples issued by him was by an 'amateur of that art' and many lesser men when their names appeared in records of peals and such like things would clap 'Esq.' to the end of them, to show that they were not like other and common ringers—a bit of snobbery which survived till less than forty years ago.

As for the common ringers, though they knew they were nobodies and of low esteem, yet they liked to look back to the days when a ringer might have been somebody. It pleased them to cherish a connection, however shadowy and remote, with people of social standing, and they fostered a tradition of the past social greatness of the Exercise.

Old men would tell with pride how in their young days, or mayhap in the days of their fathers, it was no unusual thing to see My Lord This or Sir Something That in the belfry. You will find a hint of this spirit in the history which the College Youths print (or did print) in their book of rules. They give a list of 'names of eminence' from its 'time honoured roll of members.' Eminent as what? Who were Sir Richard Everard, Sir Henry Tulse, Sir John Bollis and the others? I profess I cannot tell. Secular history knows not their names, and they have made no mark on the annals of ringing. But they were people of title and at a time when titles were less common and more esteemed than they are now.

There is a tale which has been printed many times during these last hundred and fifty years which tells how, once upon a time, when St. Bride's bells were ringing, all the gentry and fashion of the town would ride up and down Fleet Street in their carriages to listen. And, after one peal was rung at that tower, the band dispersed to their own homes each in his own carriage. The tale does not ring quite true. It has all the signs of being the result of a lively imagination working up and embellishing some vague tradition. Unless my notion of the old ringers is sadly at fault, they certainly did not disperse to their own homes after the peal, even with all the pomp and circumstance of carriage and horses.

Peals were not common things in those days, and the first peal of Bob Maximus was no mean achievement. You may be sure they went, all of them, round to some coffee house hard by and had some refreshment. There they talked the peal over, and told each other what fine fellows they were, and generally enjoyed the only reward that a peal ringer ever gets—the satisfaction of having done something that takes some doing. And, anyhow, why carriages? London was a comparatively small place then. All the ringers would have lived within walking distance of the tower. People in those days did not use carriages to get about town. They went on their feet, or, if they were opulent and fastidious, they hired a sedan chair.

When Ben Annable, who called the peal, took a band down to Oxford for a week's ringing, it was not in carriages they went. They walked on their feet, all of them, except one, and he rode a horse. I should like to be able to give an account of Annable, what he was, and where he lived, and so on, but I have not the material. He was a great man, one of the greatest the Exercise has produced, by far the greatest that ever belonged to the College Youths, and they owe to him more than to any other the position they hold in the Exercise.

Of one of his band, one of those who rang in the Bob Maximus at St. Bride's, I can give some account. He is in the College Youths' list of 'names of eminence'—'John Hardham, a celebrated ringer and an extensive tobacconist in Fleet Street, the inventor of the snuff still called Hardham's 37,' a sound solid tradesman, but most certainly not of Society and the carriage folk. Here is an account of him taken from a book by Leigh Hunt, called 'The Town,' which is a description of London during the eighteenth century. There is no reference to Hardham's ringing, and I imagine that belonged to his early days, before he achieved either money or fame.

'On the same side of the way as Shoe Lane, but nearer to Fleet Market, was Hardham's, a celebrated snuff shop, the founder of which deserves notice for a very delicate generosity. He was numberer at Drury Lane Theatre, that is to say, the person who counted the number of people in the house from a hole over the top of the stage—a practice now discontinued. Whether this employment led him to number snuffs as well as men, we cannot say, but he was the first that gave them their distinctions that way. Lovers of "the pungent grains of titillating dust" are indebted to him for the famous compound entitled "37." Being passionately fond of theatrical entertainments, he was seldom without embryo Richards and Hotspurs strutting and bellowing in his dining-room or in the parlour behind his shop. The latter of these apartments was adorned with heads of most of the persons celebrated for dramatic excellence, and to these he frequently referred in the course of his instructions. There is one circumstance in his private character which deserves a most honourable rescue from oblivion. His charity was excessive to an uncommon degree, and was conveyed to many of its objects in the most delicate manner. On account of his known integrity (for he once failed in business more creditably than he could have made a fortune by it) he was often entrusted with the care of paying little annual stipends to unfortunate women and others who were in equal want of relief; and he has been known with a generosity almost unexampled to continue those annuities long after the sources of them had been stopped by the deaths or caprices of the person who at first supplied them. At the same time he persuaded the receivers that their money was remitted to them as usual through its former channel. Indeed, his purse was never shut, even to those who were casually recommended by his common acquaintance. This admirable man died in 1772; and by his will bequeathed the interest of £20,000 to a female acquaintance, and at her decease the principle, etc., to the poor of his native city, Chichester.'

Part of the above was a quotation by Hunt from a book published in 1782 called 'Baker's Biographia Dramatica,' Reed's edition, Vol. 1. This book apparently contains a biography of Hardham. It would be interesting, if one could come across a copy of it, to see if there are any references to ringing and the ringers of the eighteenth century.

OVER, CAMBS, TO HAVE EIGHT BELLS.

FUND OPENED.

At a meeting of the Parochial Church Council held at Over, Cambs. on Thursday week, it was decided to open a fund for the augmentation of the bells to a peal of eight. The scheme has already found support. Anyone interested and desiring to help the fund should forward subscriptions either to the Vicar (Rev. F. G. Weston), the wardens (Mr. H. Edwards and Mr. Harry Asplin), or Mr. William I. Ginn, hon. secretary of local company, Chain Road, Over, Cambs. Any sum, small or great, would be gladly welcomed. Over £2,000 has been spent on the church in recent years, which makes the appeal for outside help all the stronger.

Over is a very strong centre of change ringing in the Ely Diocese.

THE MANCHESTER TOUR.

'Come fill up the can and fill up the glasses,
Here's health to the Lancashire lads and the lassics.'

BOLTON BLESSED WITH BELLS.

Bolton, the home of the president of the Lancashire Association, the Rev. Canon Elsec, M.A., is a town blessed with bells and toffee. There are eight octaves, but we contented ourselves with two only. The first tower, St. Peter's, is very finely proportioned. There are over one hundred steps in all to the ringing room (91 from the floor of the church). A local reporter came to inquire what the bells were ringing for. As the writer was on door duty, the inquirer was duly informed, and a column of matter appeared in the 'Bolton Journal' with a portrait of the ringers grouped in the belfry as they completed their peal.

Fortune favoured us in the search for lunch, and the oldest licensed house in Lancashire was inspected. It dates from A.D. 1254, and is named 'The Man and Scythe.' A number of relics are to be seen, including a chair in which the seventh Earl of Derby sat just before his execution on October 15th, 1651. Townspeople call it the oldest licensed house in England. I have personally visited three others within two years, viz., at Finedon, Swansea and Chiddingfold. All these claims seem to confirm the belief that it is a good thing to be an antiquarian, especially if he is fond of the 'old.'

The 'double' came round in the afternoon at Holy Trinity Church. Here is an excellent peal of eight, cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1920, tenor 17 cwt. 1 qr. 4 lb. in E (a replica of Slough), which replaced a peal of theirs destroyed by fire. The original ring of bells was opened on Easter Sunday, 1877, and in the porch hangs a photograph of the band who rang the first peal on them. In this belfry the late H. W. Jackson put in a life's work (65 years), joining the Lancashire Association on July 1st, 1876, when he had already rung several peals with friendly teams. With our thanks to the tower-keeper, we took seats in a stately saloon car that carried us back to Piccadilly and Moss-side.

With reference to the above two performances, all agreed that a certain member of the team was well tuned on the Simpson principle, judged by his true striking—in other words, he was a 'sound bean.'

In our travels it was regrettable to hear of the urgent need of employment in the textile trades throughout Lancashire, one of the two counties in England with the largest list of 'unemployed.' We found a number of ringers affected by the present trade conditions.

The two towers for Friday were Bolton Deane, once a suburb of Bolton, and now included within its boundary; and Westhoughton, further afield. The facile motor coach again carried the party safely to and from the city of Manchester. The tenors at each of these towers are much the same weight, viz., 14 cwt., and both peals form useful octaves for Major practice. Messrs. Barlow, Rigby and Worsley (183 up) have here each carried on good work for the Lancashire Association in the past.

Dean Church tower, at the west end, is open to the nave, and has a ringers' gallery, reached by a step ladder, with trap door. It was some time before the band settled down to the quick running and irregular clapping of this octave.

Footpaths in this churchyard, like most of the old parishes in this part of England, have been paved with ancient headstones bearing the names of many old Lancashire families. Here is the verse copied from one to the memory of Mary Boardman, 1806:—

'A dropsy more than seven years I bore,
Twenty times I tapped was;
By which sad means to ease my pains
Above eighty gallons were took, alas.'

Mr. Barlow well fed us at the Stag, which has a fine bowling green, and it was difficult to get certain men away to try their hands elsewhere with ball bearings. Our double-barrelled gun fired well to-day—a kill right and left, but I noticed the sportsman showed signs of want of sleep before reaching Moss-side and the bedside later than usual.

A DAY IN MANCHESTER.

Manchester was the centre planned for the last day of the tour on Saturday, with Prestwich in the morning and the Cathedral in the evening for the finale. St. Mary's, Prestwich, was found to be a beautiful stone building, richly furnished, with its architectural elevations in excellent repair. The bells are a really fine-toned ring of eight, running easily, and the Stedman rung here gave the team a welcome change after so much Major ringing. The head ringer kindly met us, and after falling in peal, to allow Mr. Shepherd to ring, locked up, wishing us a happy ending to our tour.

For the afternoon, a 'touch or two' on the famous ring of ten (tenor 52 cwt.) at the Town Hall was very kindly arranged by Mr. F. Page, a privilege which everyone appreciated, although only half the party accepted for 'blistering' reasons. At this tower there are two ringing brothers, counterpart of the Pyes of Essex, without being related. I believe both George and William have had to explain to friends that they were not in the Ashton long length. I have been asked if the famous ringing brothers had any connection with the Pye Radio Corporation of Chelmsford, Messrs. W. G. Pye and Co., whose last reports of their manufactures show a profit of 158 per cent. on their ordinary shares. I think my readers will be quite safe in backing up both firms.

Meeting at the Cathedral at five o'clock, several of the well-known Manchester men received the visitors in the belfry, and wished them every success. After the peal of Stedman Caters, as recorded in the peal columns, a convivial gathering was held at the Mitre, where we were reminded of the ancient history of this handsome building by a paragraph in the local evening papers as follows: 'Originally the Parish Church of Manchester, the Cathedral is dedicated in honour of St. Mary, St. George, and St. Denys. It was in its earliest years the church of a Rectory, but was collegiate in the reign of Henry V. by royal charter. This foundation was dissolved by Edward VI. and its property impropriated, the buildings being leased to the third Earl of Derby. Queen Mary reinstated most of the officers and granted the church a fresh charter, and her successor, Queen Elizabeth, granted still another. In 1635 the foundation was reconstituted by Charles I. as the King's College of Christ in Manchester.'

As to the bells, installed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, they are a most musical peal, go well, and are quite worthy of the handsome tower in which they are installed. We all felt highly honoured by the permission to attempt a peal upon them. The honours of the Lancashire Association so far scored in this belfry have included all the first peals of Royal in Grandsire, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise, as well as Grandsire and Stedman Caters—no mean list of achievements.

Of the eighteen towers at which the party rang during their tour, only three possessed the additional feature of a spire. It would seem that the fashion set by the Cathedral of a plain battlemented square tower with corner pinnacles has been followed in the surrounding country. In the course of our convivial, it was ascertained that Washbrook's grave was neglected, and there was no headstone to mark his resting place at Pendleton; that death in the belfry has occurred in Lancs several times, among them the following instances: Massey, in 1911, at Manchester, just as rounds came up in a peal he had conducted, dropped dead; and Schofield, in Oldham belfry, died whilst ringing for Sunday service. In referring to these sad facts, I may quote the brief text which is to be seen on the tomb of the late George Fordham, a noted jockey, at Slough: 'Tis the pace that kills.'

THE KEY TO SUCCESS.

The hour of good-night and good-bye arrived too soon for most of the company; it was good to be with the veterans who have helped on the association to its jubilee. During the evening an opportunity was made to thank Mr. Shuker and the 'lads' of Lancashire for their willing help to enable the 'way of the ringer' to be pursued with success. Not a bad-going bell, not a single rope stranded, nor a belfry key missing. No wonder the men of the North are keen on change ringing, and, just let us add on behalf of the clergy, not a tower refused.

The final peal at Whittle-le-Woods on Sunday, August 10th, was an unexpected favour granted at short notice. Certain of the band were available, and a wish was expressed to hear the finest ring of eight in Lancashire. Our Shepherd was appointed missionary and sent out on Saturday morning to ask leave of the church authorities. Thanks to the wardens and Mr. Alfred Blogg, head ringer, we enjoyed a quiet, comfortable day in the parish, rang a good peal of Double Norwich and were well served with meals at the Bay Horse. The home company here are energetic, and ring up to Double Norwich Major, but they naturally feel the sad loss of one of their number in a recent motor-cycle accident. His was one of the last interments in the parish churchyard. One of the first persons buried here was a parishioner who was killed 300 years ago by the capsizing of the old stage coach at a dangerous part of the turnpike road. The church is a modern stone building, erected on the site of a smaller and much older one, by the Coes family, lords of the manor.

Returning to Moss-side for the last time, only four men were left to bid adieu to the land of 'cotton' on the following morning, thus closing the strenuous Lancs 'week.' For the first time, I believe, a group of ringers has been photographed when four of its number have each achieved upwards of a thousand peals. There are five all told now on the 'millennium list,' and I begin to wonder if their numbers will increase or decrease during the next few years.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Thursday, August 14th, at the Church of St. Michael, Brent Knoll, Somerset, in honour of the marriage of Mr. L. Scott and Miss A. Yandle, which took place on the same day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): A. Evans 1, C. Usher (first quarter-peal and rung at the first attempt) 2, C. Weare (conductor) 3, W. E. Wiseman 4, A. E. Ham 5, A. Hunt 6.

On Saturday, August 23rd, at Chelmsford Cathedral, the wedding took place of Mr. J. L. Clark (steeplekeeper and conductor at the Cathedral) and Miss Margery Clark, of Chelmsford. As the bridal party left the church, 504 Grandsire Triples was rung on the back eight bells: A. Saltmarsh 1, P. Green 2, H. Edwards 3, H. Devenish 4, H. Allen 5, W. Lincoln (conductor) 6, J. Wood 7, G. Cooper 8.

'BELLHANGER' WANTED AT KENNINGTON, KENT.ROMNEY MARSH GUILD DISCUSS THE STATE OF THE BELLS.

The August monthly meeting of the Guild was held at Kennington on Saturday. Ringing commenced at 2.30, and a short service was held in the church at 4.30, the address being given by the Rev. J. A. Wood (Vicar), whose subject was the Guild's first rule, 'Unity and good fellowship.' Tea followed in the Church Room, dispensed by a committee of ladies. The Vicar welcomed the company to Kennington, and was unanimously elected to preside at the business meeting which followed. Two hon. members and three ringing members were elected, and Rye, on the chairman's casting vote, was chosen for the next meeting.

Then ensued a very animated discussion on bells and bellhanging, particularly in regard to Kennington bells. It transpired that about £60 had been paid for putting the bells 'in order,' and it was the unanimous opinion of the ringers that all the bells now want is a 'bell hanger' to take them in hand. The tenor, dated 1602, weighs 12 cwt., but wants a 40 cwt. pull. The fifth (9 cwt.) is in the same proportion. The fourth is dated 1704. It is 7½ cwt., and the 'best bad goer' in the tower. Third 6½ cwt., 1602, second 1804, treble 1883, which was apparently the last date on which a 'real bell hanger' did anything at this tower.

Mr. Percy Page, captain, and his band of young ringers, were highly commended for their efforts to carry on in face of such difficulties.

The Guild Master, Mr. C. W. Everett, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding, said how pleased the Guild was to have Vicars and their wardens at their meetings. It showed that they were really taking an interest in their ringers.

The Vicar, in reply, showed that he and his Church Council were really a live body, and all felt that, in time, Kennington bells will be in going order.

A return was then made to the tower, and Oxford, Stedman, and Grandsire methods, with rounds for beginners, were rung until 8 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal. The towers represented were Ashford, Willesborough, Tenfenden, Rolvenden, Stone, Canterbury, Wye, Charing and Kennington.

THE SUCCESS OF DISTRICT MEETINGS

The business of maintaining the attendance at district meetings is as difficult a matter in some parts of the country as the getting and keeping of new ringers, and the experience of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association, reported last week, is by no means exceptional. In some areas district meetings are always highly successful; in others, so far as numbers are concerned, they cannot by any means be thus described. The causes are various. In counties like Lancashire, doubtless the industrial depression is having a serious effect on ringing meetings. Men who are unemployed cannot be expected to travel away from home for the purpose. There are, however, districts in which there is little unemployment among ringers, but where ringing meetings are poorly attended, and in these cases it must be attributed to lack of interest.

On the other hand, a small attendance does not necessarily mean a useless meeting. A great deal of good in instruction can be done at gatherings where the numbers are limited, provided the right material is there. Indeed, while success is often, and for some reasons rightly, judged by the size of a gathering, more actual progress is frequently made where there is only a moderate attendance, if it includes ringers in both elementary and more advanced stages. There is much truth in the contention that more good is done by getting beginners through their first touches than by any number of courses in Surprise methods rung by experts, although no one, we think, will deny the experts the pleasure of a course or two in advanced methods if they take their share also in helping the novices in the simpler things.

Another standard by which success may be judged, is by the attraction which the meetings have for a varied circle of members. Unless, periodically, all the members of a district are drawn to the meetings, no plan of campaign can be said to be entirely successful. Officials know only too well that the backbone of their meetings is a certain nucleus of enthusiasts, who can be relied upon to be present. With them comes a varying fringe of occasional visitors, but unless at least the majority of members of a district can be brought into this 'fringe' with something like regularity it cannot be said that the work of the associations in this direction is being accomplished with complete success. The remedy is, indeed, hard to find, and for the most part it must rest largely with the ringers themselves. One speaker at the Blackburn meeting, however, seems to us to have put his finger on the pulse of the matter when he suggested that the secret of a successful meeting was that the local band should make it a point of honour to attend when the meeting is held at their own tower. This is very little to ask of a ringer, but it would have a marked effect upon the meetings, especially in districts like those of the Lancashire Association, in which an endeavour is made to visit every tower once a year.

A SOMERSET RING RESTORED.

The village of West Monkton, which lies four miles north-east of Taunton, boasts a fine tower and a good peal of six bells (tenor 20 cwt.). It has, however, been a laborious task for the past twenty years to ring these bells, but they have now been restored by a lady, Miss Rose, who has generously defrayed the whole cost of re-hanging the bells in ball bearings, strengthening the beams, tie bolts, etc., the contract having been carried out in a workmanlike manner by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A party of ringers from Taunton, at the request of the Rector, tested the bells and found everything in good going order. Several six-scores of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Surprise Minor were brought round. The refreshments afterwards were very acceptable at the close of one of the hottest days of the year.

OXFORD AND WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILDS.

NEWBURY AND ANDOVER BRANCHES FRATERNISE.

A joint meeting of the above Guilds was held at St. Mary's Church, Thatcham, on Saturday, August 16th, when forty ringers were present from Reading, East Isley, Oxford, Overton, Bramley, Mortimer, Woolton St. Lawrence, Croydon, Newbury, Brightwalton, Woolton Bassett, Swindon, Shaw, Bucklebury, Beenham, Highclere, Beedon, Winchester, and the local band. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. C. Moore), who gave a very interesting address. Mr. J. G. Fyfield presided at the organ. Tea was served by Mrs. Adams, and Mr. H. W. Curtis proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. R. C. Moore for his address and welcome to the ringers, which was seconded by Mr. W. Andrews, of Winchester, and carried with applause.

The tower was again visited, and the bells kept going till nine o'clock, the following methods being rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Cambridge Major. It was worthy of note to see so many visitors from so far away.

UXBRIDGE RINGERS' OUTING.

St. Andrew's ringers, Uxbridge, had their annual half-day outing on Saturday, August 23rd, accompanied by friends from St. John's, Hillingdon. A start was made just after two o'clock, the route taken being via Beaconsfield, Boyne End and Marlow to Henley-on-Thames, which was reached half an hour in front of schedule. In this spare time some visited the town while others had a trip on the river. The interior of the church was visited, where the old Chancery Room was of interest. It dates back to the 14th century. Mr. White, the steeple-keeper, met the visitors, and touches of Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob were rung on the fine peal of bells. Proceeding via Shiplake to Sonning, an excellent tea awaited the party at the Bull Hotel, and afterwards ringing was indulged in at the church on a good ring of bells. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Oxford Bob Triples, and Plain Bob were rung. Leaving this beautiful little spot, the journey was resumed to Hurst, where a quarterly meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch was being held, and a cordial welcome was received. Several excellent touches were rung with the members of the branch. The homeward journey was made through Maidenhead and Slough, Uxbridge being reached shortly after ten o'clock, after a very enjoyable afternoon. The band wish to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents and towerkeepers of the towers mentioned for the use of the bells and the trouble taken to make the visits a success.

HOLIDAY THOUGHTS.

NOT INTENDED FOR SERIOUS READERS.

BY O.P.Q.

Bellringing is a serious art; you have only to try it once to learn that. Try to be funny at the same time that you try to catch the flying sailly, and your lesson will more than likely be a peremptory one. Of course, when you are learning to handle a rope you can be funny, and look funny, too, without trying. And so can your instructor, if you happen to let go the rope and the end of it gets entangled with the gas bracket, or the clock pendulum, if that happens to swing in the ringing chamber. But what I mean is, when you are really ringing—peals and things—you have to be seriously serious. Try and tell the conductor in the middle of a peal of Superlative that last funny story you heard, and see what happens! Ten to one something will. Suppose, for instance, Mr. Tom Coles had said to Mr. William Pye in the middle of the eleven-method Spliced Surprise peal: 'I say, Bill, have you heard that one about —?' Would Bill smile and say, 'No, what is it?' Not a bit; at any rate, not just like that.

No, you have got to be desperately in earnest when you are change ringing, and that is why I don't believe in going for peal ringing holidays. Fancy having to be dead serious for half your waking hours while on your holidays, and spending the other half in one mad rush to snap up your meals and in getting from one tower to another! Of course, some people like this kind of thing—that may be because it is the only time they really work—and, of those who do like it, it seems to me that the older they get the more they like it, if you understand what I mean. If you don't, look down the names, in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World,' of those who took part in that tour in Lancashire and Cheshire. Some of them were ringing before most of us were born. Of course, I won't mention names, because the question of age with some folk is a tender point, but it won't be many years before two or three of them reach the octogenarian stage! And then, I suppose, it will be three peals a day for a fortnight, instead of two a day for a week.

But can't we do something to enliven the proceedings when we are peal ringing? I know there is entertainment to be got sometimes from watching other people's faces, but then, you can get tired of other people's faces if you have to look at them for three hours. And I know that some conductors entertain the band by doing a 'horn pipe' when things look like going up the pole towards the hither—or should it be the sweet—end. Also I am aware that ringers occasionally put up syncopated music with the bells, which, of course, is really bad form. But these things cannot always be relied upon to relieve the tedium of this monotonous concentration. Why not introduce clock golf, or table tennis, or even billiards? I'd give anything to see Mr. James Shepherd ringing a tenor with one hand and playing ping pong with the other, or Mr. Ted Jenkins calling a peal of London and trying to 'put' at the same time. Or why not occasionally try a little community singing? Some of the old songs could quite well be adapted to the purpose. For instance:—

Pull, brothers, pull; the bells run fast,
A course end is near, and the single's past.

Or:—

D'ye ken Jim George with his coat so gay,
D'ye ken Jim George at the close of the day,
D'ye ken Jim George at the end of the fray,
With a peal for his book in the morning?

The sound of the bells kept me from my bed,
The striking was grand, it went to my head,
But we cannot repeat what the neighbours said—
For the ringing hadn't stopped since morning.

Or, for those who are on a peal-ringing tour:—

The dusky night rides down the sky and ushers in the morn;
The ringers join in glorious cry, and tender hands they scorn.
Then peal-hunting they will go,
Peal-hunting they will go.

I am one of those who are not good judges of bells. I never was and never shall be. But I am a patriot; a 'parochial patriot,' if there is such a thing, and I like the bells of the church where I first learned to ring. Some people call them only 'a middling old lot,' but their music is ever sweet to me. I know that if one is to be in tune, as it were, with modern thought, one has got to be a Simpsonite; but I am not much gone on the harmonics and the hum, which (I say it with bated breath) often obliterates the sound of the individual bells when they have been elaborately tuned. While rambling on my holidays recently I stumbled upon the ancient village of Trapps—Trapps is not its proper name, but it will do for my present purpose. It was practice night for the ringers, and I strolled into the tower. It was only rounds and call changes they were ringing, but even to my admittedly indifferent ear these bells weren't much of a collection. 'Old pots' most people would have called them, and they wouldn't have been far wrong. Later on, over a mug of beer at the Cornstalk, the local foreman waxed almost eloquent about his bells. He was a 'parochial patriot,' his bells were ever sweet to him, and he had not much use for Simpson tuning, either. This is what he told me, although he did not put it quite in this form, and you have got to allow a little poetical, and other, license:—

I've rung at Little Puddleton; I've pulled the bells at Rudd;
I've tried 'em up at Applecombe, and at Slopston-in-the-Mud;
In fact I've rung in lots of towers; more'n any of our chaps,
But of all the bells I've ever 'eard give me the bells of Trapps.
Now Trapps is down where I was born and where I learned to ring;
There ain't no bells for many a mile, to touch 'em when they swing.

Though they be old, they lovely be, when we chaps strike 'em round,

And when we ring for weddings, they make a merry sound.

They rouses all the jackdaws that nest up in the tower,
And Susan—that's Squire's dairymaid—says they turns the milk all sour;

And Farmer Giles's bull goes mad when he hears the bells ring out,

And Parson, he just says a prayer, when he knows that we're about.

But that don't matter, not a bit; 'tis well that all should heed,
For on our tenor bell 'tis writ: 'Jesus bee oure goode speds.'
So we be fond of our sweet bells that swing in Trapps' old tower,
And every week we practises and rings 'em by the 'our.

They say the treble's out of tune with all the other five,
But does it matter if it don't hum like bees round a hive?
The second once was used, they say, upon a big sea boat,
And 'gainst the others it don't seem to be quite the right note.
The third's a topper, that it is, it's tone is real choice,
But since the clapper broke last year the bell has lost its voice.
The fourth is cracked from crown to tip, but still it rings out well.

The fifth, perhaps, ain't half as good, but 'tis a glorious bell.

The tenor's got a hole in her, just where the clapper hits—

I often wonder who it was walked off with all the bits.

But that was many a year ago, before my father rung;

The tenor'll last a long time yet; the hole's filled with a bung.

So now you see why down at Trapps we're proud like of our bells;
There's none, I say, can beat 'em 'twixt London town and Wells;
And if ever you are passing through our village by the stream,
Just stop and try our bells, my friend; they're grand; they're just a dream.

A celebrated cricketer interviewed with regard to the dropping of Chapman from the last test match team described him as an 'If-or,' and went on to explain that he was a batsman who might knock up a lot of runs 'if'. I don't know whether the said celebrated cricketer is right or not, because I don't know anything much about first-class cricket, except what they tell us in the newspapers, and you can't always rely on that, but I do know there are a great many 'If-ers' of another sort in the ringing Exercise. There's the man, for instance, who will come to practice only if it suits him, and the man who turns up for service only if he knows there is going to be a full company present. There is the man who will attend the district meeting if his favourite football team is not playing at home that day, and the man who will only stand in a peal if he is asked to call it. There is the 'if-or' who lets his bell flop about and spoil the striking, and the 'if-er' who keeps a whole band from progressing, because he is too lazy to look up a new method. Yes—there are lots of 'if-ers' in ringing—lots more than are mentioned here—and with most of them it is not a case, as it is with a great cricketer, or a great ringer, of occasionally striking an 'off day'—it's just a bad habit with him.

What shall we do with the 'If-ers,' when they won't come, up to scratch?

What shall we do with the 'If-ers' when they spoil the rest of the batch;

With the shirkers who mess up the workers, and those who come along late;

With the slackers who think nothing matters, if only seven meet 'stead of eight;

Who stay away when they're wanted, and frequently blight our hope,

Or spoil all the striking because they've no liking to pull at the end of the rope?

They ought to be tarred and feathered, or boiled in a vat of oil;
Or sent down for years to Dartmoor, where prisoners have to toil.

If I could, I would make it still stiffer, the sentence should fit the crime—

But, perhaps, 'tis as well 'If-ers' don't get a 'spell,' for I'm only an 'If-er' at rhyme.

CAMBRIDGE YOUTHS' SUMMER OUTING.

After a lapse of many years, the annual outing of the Cambridge Youths was revived recently. Favoured by fine weather, the party, ten strong, left Cambridge shortly before 2 p.m. for Ely, reaching the cathedral city half an hour later. Here the melodious peal at St. Mary's were soon set going to touches of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Major. Littleport was next visited, and touches in various methods attempted. The tenor rope, however, could not stand the rough handling of one of the heavies, and parted before a touch of Bob Major could be brought home. After a stretch of 12½ miles through the fen country, and roads suggesting the 'rocky road to Dublin' in parts, Mildenhall was eventually reached at 5 p.m. Here the party were welcomed by Mr. P. Fordham, and an excellent tea partaken of at Messrs. Hagger's Restaurant. After tea, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent and a course of Cambridge Surprise were brought round on the fine-toned peal at St. Mary's Church. Leaving Mildenhall soon after 7 p.m., the party made for Newmarket, where they were met by Messrs. F. C. Turner and R. Sharpe, and ringing was indulged in on the exquisite six of St. Mary's until 8.30 p.m. Headquarters was reached at 9.30 p.m., everybody agreeing that a most enjoyable half-day had been spent. Thanks are due to all the incumbents for the use of the bells, and to all those who so kindly welcomed the visitors.

BY COMBE AND SEA.

St. Sidwell's, Exeter, ringers had their outing on August 16th, when they went by motor coach to Branton, Georgeham, and Combemartin, at all of which places they found rings of eight in excellent condition. Georgeham belfry is on the noisy side, and much improvement could be effected by a ceiling and layer of sawdust. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major, and some good striking was done. Apart from the bells, the visitors were much interested in the ancient features of Branton Church—remarkable bench ends, Armada chest, palimpsest brass, and emblems of St. Brannock, the patron saint; Georgeham's beautifully-kept churchyard and the Easter sepulchre in the church; and Combemartin's screen and tower. The inland and sea views between Branton and Combemartin were greatly enjoyed. At tea the Rector (the Rev. H. Lanyon Owen) expressed the pleasure he felt at being able to share in the trip after his recent illness. The arrangements were made by Mr. E. Shepherd, while assistance as pilot was rendered by Mr. A. H. Hayward, of Combemartin, who, with Mr. J. G. Sanders, of the same place, participated in the ringing.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have just recast the treble and tenor of the ring of six (tenor 25 cwt.) at Stogursey, Somerset. The other bells have been retuned and the whole rehung in an oak frame.

Few ringers can have rung two hundred peals in one tower, but Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., scored his second century at Crayford last Saturday.

One hundred years ago next Sunday, the College Youths rang a peal of 6,144 Oxford Treble Bob Major at St. Peter's, Walworth.

John Holt called a peal of Bob Triples at St. George's, Southwark, on September 9th, 1750. It was one of a series of twenty-one peals which Holt rang with the Union Scholars over a period of about five years from 1747 to 1752. He was their leading conductor, for he took part in every one of the society's peals during that time and called them all but one.

On September 10th, 1741, the Crowfield Society of Ringers rang at Coddensham, Suffolk, a complaint peal of five thousand and forty of Gathrine's Triples, 'being the first true peal that ever was pricked with two Doubles only.' This peal, it is generally accepted, was John Garthorn's peal of Grandsire, first rung at Norwich in 1718.

A YOUNG CONDUCTOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Regarding a peal of Stedman Triples rung at Buckland, Berks, on Saturday, August 9th, and published in your issue of the 15th, I note the conductor is named Richard Post. His present age is 16½ years, and I wonder if any younger ringer has beaten that performance? The tenor is given as 17 cwt., and I see that he rang the 7th in the peal. Surely some feat for a stripling youth? Perhaps some of your readers may know of an equally young conductor. I would like to know, and I am sure that 'Tubby' himself would, too.—Yours, etc.,

S. W. G.

RINGING AT CASTLETON.

Ringling at Castleton, Derbyshire, where a peal attempt was made on Saturday in memory of the late Mr. Arthur Craven, is unfortunately at a low ebb now, only rounds and a few call changes being rung by the local band, but between 50 and 100 years ago there appears to have been a good band there, and it is believed that peals were rung. Mr. G. R. Payne, of Castleton, possesses some very interesting ringing books by Sottenstall, Shipway and others, with interesting newspaper cuttings relating to ringing performances at Sheffield Cathedral and elsewhere in the early nineteenth century, proving that there was keen interest in change ringing at that time. It is hoped that with the influence and help of the new Peak District of the M.C.A. this interest may in the near future be revived.

PENZANCE BELLS RESTORED.

RING OF EIGHT RECAST AND REHUNG.

After a silence of twenty-five years, the bells of St. Mary's Church, Penzance, have been restored, and thus has been consummated a scheme for which Dr. John Symons, Ringing Master of Truro Diocesan Guild, has laboured and waited so patiently. The work, which has consisted of recasting and rehung the whole peal, has been splendidly carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, the cost having been about £1,000, of which one hundred pounds has still to be raised.

The dedication of the bells took place on Monday week, the ceremony being performed, in the presence of a large congregation, by the Lord Bishop of Truro. The service was attended by the Mayor and members and officials of the Corporation, and opened with the National Anthem. After a prayer and lesson, the Bishop, with Canons T. F. Maddrell, Jennings and F. R. Carr (Vicar) proceeded to the tower, where the churchwardens handed the ropes to the Bishop and requested him to dedicate the bells. This his Lordship did in the following terms: 'Be pleased, O Heavenly Father, to accept our offering of this work of our hands; bless and hallow these bells that they may continually call together the faithful people to praise and worship Thy Holy Name. In the faith of Jesus Christ we dedicate these bells.'

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, PENZANCE.

The Bishop then turned to the Vicar, and, placing the ropes in his hands, said: 'Receive these bells that have been solemnly set apart from all profane and unhallowed uses as a sacred trust committed unto Thee as the appointed minister of Christ in this Church, and take care that they be ever only used in God's service and for His glory.'

Then followed a prayer granting 'that whosoever shall be called by the sound of these bells may enter unto Thy gates with thanksgiving; that whosoever by reason of sickness or other necessity be hindered from coming into the house of the Lord may be reminded of the prayers of Thy Church and rejoice in the communion of saints; that those who in their daily calling shall hear the sound of these bells may draw nearer in spirit to Thee, the God of their salvation.'

HOLY INSTRUMENTS.

The address was given by Canon H. R. Jennings (Vicar of Madron), who based his remarks on Numbers x. 2: 'And the Lord spake unto Moses saying: Make thee two trumpets of silver, that thou mayest use them for the calling of the assembly.' Having briefly traced the development of the bell to its present use in the church, Canon Jennings said: 'Bells are looked on as holy instruments with a holy message, and are solemnly blessed—as the bells have been blessed to-day—for God's service. But though you find bells everywhere in Christian lands, yet it is only in England that you find them properly rung. In many places bells are rung anyhow, jangled without system or method, just to make a noise. In other places bells are chimed by a machine from a keyboard; but in England the bells are rung to bring out all their music. And the music of the church bells of England as they peal out over hill and dale is one of the features of English life which most strikes a stranger as he comes to our shores; or some exile living far from his English motherland when he comes back. Of all the things which touch his heart and bring tears to his eyes, it is the music of the church bells which touches him most. You can hear them, over miles of country spreading their sweet music, and giving their message—their message to all within reach of the sound. English bellringers take a pride in this art. If it be only simple round ringing, they do it as well as possible. In that special art of change ringing the music comes even sweeter, with the thousands of variations you can get from a peal of eight, without repeating any single one. The system called by quaint English names—such as Grandsire Caters, Stedman and Surprise—displays the fullest beauty, the sweetest music, the highest skill in the use of the bells, requiring physical strength, concentration of thought, mental alertness and constant practice on the part of those who ring. Some 65 years ago,' continued the preacher, 'the people of Penzance determined to fit out the town with a peal of eight in place of the old bell which had served its purpose for so long, outdoing the old Mother Church with her peal of only five. A man from Madron (Mr. R. C. Trelawny) and Dr. Symons taught the St. Mary's ringers how to ring, and the ringers became famous throughout Cornwall. But for certain reasons the strain of the ringing of the bells became too great for the tower, and for 25 years the bells of St. Mary's have been silent. How we all missed the sweetness of their music on Armistice Day, on Peace Day as well as on Sundays and the festivals which recur! The last time I heard them ring was 30 years ago, when the sound of my own wedding bells floated on the harbour with the music of good wishes and hope. Now generous hearts have made it possible to recast and rehang the bells. And once again the bells of St. Mary's ring out. The very name has a lit and ring of music in it, and for many a long year may the bells of St. Mary's ring out their message. In times of rejoicing, and in times of sorrow, for festivals and national gala days the music is unearthly and so sweet.'

OLD SCANDALS GONE.

'Old writers loved to draw mystic teaching from the bells, bells which teach of constancy and perseverance, for bells are always in tune once they have been tuned: they never lower their pitch or lose their harmony once they are erected with proper care. The voice of the bells reaches beyond the compass of the preacher's voice. Sunday by Sunday and on feast days, too, will come from that tower the call to the unseen to which no ear can be deaf—even if hearts refuse to listen or respond. All Penzance can hear these bells, and everyone that hears knows what their calling means—a testimony to God and a call to His worship: the reality of things unseen: the passage of human life and thoughts of the hereafter. Through court, alley and street the call to worship will float. Those who cannot come can uplift their hearts and in spirit join in the worship as they hear the calling of the assembly. Even on practice nights the people will say: "There are the church bells; bells of the house of God, of the house of prayer, speaking of God, of things unseen, of heaven." But as we thank God for the bells of St. Mary's, I would turn your thoughts for a moment to those who ring them. Gone are the old scandals which used to disgrace our bellcotes, and there are few ringers now who do nothing for the glory of God, recognising that they are ministers of the church as much as the choir, and that this witness of music is as hallowed as the organ. Our Truro Guild of Ringers now numbers nearly 800 devoted men, who realise that they are servants of the Church, and who are trying to improve their skill in this difficult art. To ring bells as yours will be rung entails hours of patient practice, concentration and attention, for a single slip on the part of a ringer will spoil the peal. To manage a bell is one thing, to keep one's place in the change ringing is another, which demands the whole of a man's thought and attention while he rings. But the chief and main purpose of the bells and the ringers is the calling of the assembly to the throne of God. May God bless the bells of St. Mary's and the ringers, with the music and the message, and grant a gracious answer to the prayers we have offered for them to-day.'

The service concluded with a hymn, and then the bells rang out over the old Cornish town.

Between seventy and eighty ringers were present at the dedication. The ringing included several excellent touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples rung by the Gulval ringers, assisted by expert visiting brothers from London, Norwich, Swindon, Newport, Exeter, Plymouth and Truro, to the admiration and enjoyment of the assembled

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. ARTHUR CRAVEN.

AN OUTSTANDING COMPOSER.

It is with great regret that we have to record the death, briefly referred to in our last issue, of Mr. Arthur Craven, which took place suddenly at Sheffield early on Wednesday morning, August 20th. The deceased had suffered indifferent health for the past four years, supposed to have been caused by being knocked down by a motor-cycle, but a post-mortem examination proved that this was not so.

The funeral took place on Saturday, August 23rd, the body being taken into the Cathedral, where the first portion of the service was conducted by the Rev. B. F. Sheppard, M.A., Vicar of St. Michael's, Neepsend (formerly a curate and ringer at the Cathedral). The interment followed at Abbey Lane Cemetery, the deceased being borne to his last resting place by six of his brother ringers, Messrs. R. Harrison, sen., R. Harrison, jun., C. Harrison, J. E. L. Cockey, M. G. Wilson, and S. F. Palmer.

A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the handbells over the grave at the close of the service.

The chief mourners were Mrs. Craven (widow), Mr. Albert Craven (brother), Miss Dorothy Craven (daughter), Mr. G. W. Aked (father-in-law), Mrs. E. Williams (sister), Rev. H. Thackeray, Vicar of Barnethy (nephew), Mrs. F. Drew, Stapleford, and Nurse Sylvester (sisters-in-law), etc. A large number of ringers and friends were also present, the former including representatives from Arksey, Doncaster, Ecclesfield, Eekington, Chesterfield, Bolsterstone, Norton, Wortley, Dore, Staveley, Rotherham, Ranmoor, All Saints', St. Marie's, and the Cathedral, Sheffield, whilst official representatives included Mr. Geo. Lewis (vice-president), Mr. F. Clarke (sec-tary, Southern Division, Yorkshire Association), Mr. A. Knights and Mr. J. E. L. Cockey (Midland Counties Association), Mr. R. Harrison, sen. (president), Mr. H. Thorpe (secretary, Sheffield and District Society), Mr. G. Clarke (Doncaster and District Society), and Mr. Colin Harrison, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

Included amongst the numerous and beautiful wreaths from the family and friends were tokens of their deepest sympathy from Messrs. Hey and Humphries (Leeds), Billy and Syd (Pudsey and Rotherham), Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis (Ecclesfield), Mrs. and M. E. Wilson and the Sheffield Cathedral company.

Mr. Arthur Craven commenced his ringing career at Birley, and was afterwards connected with Armley, St. Michael's and St. Chad's, Hendingley, St. Peter at Arches, and the Cathedral, Lincoln, Chesterfield, Melton Mowbray, Eekington, Staveley, All Saints' and the Cathedral, Sheffield.

In his younger days Mr. Craven did a fair amount of peal ringing, and as far as can be ascertained he rang approximately 150 peals in various methods, but it was as a composer that his gifts were most pronounced and his name made famous.

His ability in this branch of the Exercise was almost unlimited, and he was an outstanding figure in the realm of method construc-

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Wimbrough Green on Saturday, August 30th. A fair number of members and friends attended from Billingshurst, Heene, Kirdford, Itchingfield, Slinfold, Warnham, Hartfield, West Grinstead, with Mr. C. Tribe, of Tenterden, and some members of the local band. Good use of the bells was made during the afternoon. About 30 sat down to a very welcome cup of tea at the Three Crowns Inn, and owing to the temperature the business meeting was held on the lawn, with Mr. Walter Charman in the chair.

There was very little business to transact. No new members were proposed, but the election of the following non-residents was confirmed, viz.: Messrs. Peter Crook, of Bolton; George Clode, of Guildford; R. F. Overy, of Haslemere; Chas. Denyer, of Aldershot; and H. Wingrove, of Beaconsfield.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and to the chairman. The latter, responding, said he hoped the members present and a good number of other ringers would not fail to attend the proposed combined gathering which is to take place at Horsham on Saturday, September 13th, between the Sussex Association and the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Another visit was then paid to the belfry for further practice.

RINGERS WEDDED AT MANCHESTER.

At the Church of St. John-the-Evangelist, Miles Platting, Manchester, on Saturday, the wedding took place of Mr. Arthur Saul and Miss Elsie Simpson. As both are members of the local band, the ringers assembled in full force for the occasion. They rang until the arrival of the bride at the west door of the church, where the cross bearer and choir were waiting. The hymn, 'The Voice that breathed o'er Eden,' was sung as the bridal procession moved to the chancel steps, where the ceremony was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Harold Sheen). The bride was given away by her father, and Mr. W. Birtwistle acted as best man. When the happy couple afterwards left the vestry, a band started for a peal, which was successful, and is recorded in the proper place.

The wedding reception took place in the schoolroom, where close on one hundred guests sat down to tea and all the many good things provided. This over, the company settled down to enjoy themselves with dancing and music, 'the health of the bride and bridegroom' being drunk with musical honours. The wedding presents were numerous, including a pair of pictures from the ringers. The bride and bridegroom have the best wishes of their belfry colleagues for their future health, wealth and happiness.

CHIPSTABLE RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday afternoon, August 23rd, the eight members of the Chipstable band visited Nyncehead, Rockwell Green, Burlescombe, Sampford Peverill, Halberton and Huntsham, and rang many 120's of Grandsire Doubles, also Pitman's Doubles. The ringers wish to convey, through 'The Ringing World,' many thanks to the respective incumbents for the use of the bells, and to the towerkeepers for having all ready. The party thoroughly enjoyed the tour.

tion. During his latter years he composed upwards of fifty new Surprise methods, ranging from Major to Maximus, also numerous Triple and Major Plain methods, the greater portion of which have never yet been published or rung.

He is the only person that has ever produced the sixty course-ends of Treble Bob Major in all numbers of courses from 20 to 28 inclusive, embracing changes numbering from 6,496 to 8,228.

He has left behind a vast quantity of compositions, the extent of which cannot yet be ascertained, and in accordance with his wishes a small committee has already been formed to examine the whole collection, with a view to depositing the manuscript in a safe place for future preservation to the Exercise.

Mr. Craven had a personality all his own, and was ever ready to assist and expound his gifts to the rising generation of young composers.

His passing over to the Great Majority marks another irreparable loss to the Exercise.

Only a fortnight ago, a few days before his death, Mr. Craven rang his last touch at Castleton on the occasion of a meeting of the Peak District of the Midland Counties Association there, and last Saturday an attempt for a half-muffled peal of Bob Major in his memory was made by the following members of the M.C.A. on these weird but interesting bells: Miss Mary Benton (Dore) 1, Miss Noel Cawthorne (Handsworth) 2, F. Hector Bennett (Chesterfield) 3, J. G. Saunders (Bakewell) 4, Alfred G. Wallace (Bakewell) 5, Walter Bingham (Dore) 6, O. W. Payne (Castleton) 7, J. E. Lewis Cockey (Dore) (conductor) 8. The attempt unfortunately was not successful, and the bells were called round, after 1 hour 10 mins. very fine striking, owing to a shift course. It is believed that this is the first peal attempt and the first in which a Castleton ringer has taken part for about fifty years.

As recorded in our columns, muffled peals to the memory of Mr. Craven have been rung at several towers.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

RULES FOR THE NEXT COMPETITION.

Favoured with a delightfully fine day, a large number of ringers assembled at Brecon on Saturday to take part in the seventh annual festival of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild. The Vicar of Brecon (Canon E. A. T. Roberts) and the Vicar of St. David's, Brecon (Rev. John Simon, R.D.), having been good enough to permit the bells of their church to be rung from 10 a.m. onwards, the ringers made full use of the opportunity. There were members present from as far afield as Tenby and Llanelly (Carmarthenshire), other towers being represented by members from Glasbury, Talgarth, Morriston, Llanelly (Breck), Cefn Cwd, Aberavon, Neath, and the local bands. There were also visitors present from Swindon and Southampton.

A service was held in the newly-restored St. Lawrence Chapel of the Cathedral Church of St. John, which was intoned by Canon E. A. T. Roberts (Sub-Dean). The lesson was read by the Rev. F. W. Lockyer, Glasbury, and Minor Canon H. Gomer Davies presided at the organ. Other clergy present were Canon H. J. Stewart (Sketty), Canon-in-Residence at the Cathedral, Rev. John Simon, R.D., and the Rev. F. J. Kingsbury, Llanelly (Carmarthenshire). The festival sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of the diocese. A collection taken at the close of the service was towards the Cathedral Maintenance Fund.

Tea was afterwards provided, at the kind invitation of the Lord Bishop, in the beautiful grounds of his residence, Ely Tower, and the annual meeting was held afterwards, over which his lordship presided.

The Hon. Treasurer (Mr. Charles Powell) presented the accounts for the past year, and these were adopted on the proposition of Mr. James P. Hyett, seconded by Mr. David J. Lewis. The Treasurer then explained to the meeting that he had been unable to invest the sum suggested at the last meeting in Savings Certificates, inasmuch as the Guild was not regarded as a society which could properly do so, and the sum was therefore placed on deposit at one of the local banks.—The hon. treasurer was warmly thanked for his services.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with, and the president and vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc, with the addition of Dr. Gwyn Davies, Talgarth, as a vice-president.

Two names were put forward for the office of Master of the Guild, and Mr. A. J. Pitman, the present Master, was re-elected upon a vote being taken. The other name was that of Mr. S. T. Rackham, Gilwern (a former Master of the Guild).

Messrs. Charles Powell, 3, North Road, Brecon, and W. R. Howells, N.P. Bank Chambers, Neath, were re-elected hon. treasurer and hon. secretary respectively. The committee members were also re-elected, with the exception of Mr. George Lewis, Morriston, in whose place Mr. J. T. Williams, Morriston, was elected. Mr. Jack Coombe and Mr. L. T. Havard were asked to continue in office as hon. auditors.

Mr. C. H. Hawkins suggested that the next annual festival be held at Gorseinon, at a date suitable to the Lord Bishop, and the hon. secretary was requested to make the necessary enquiries and arrangements.

Mr. W. D. Griffith extended to the Guild a very hearty invitation to hold the next ringing competition at Talgarth in May next, he being requested to do so by Dr. Gwyn Davies, Vicar of Talgarth. The invitation was accepted amid applause.

The Master of the Guild then presented his report on his visit to the recent meeting of the Central Council, and he was warmly thanked therefor. Arising out of his report, and upon a letter from the Central Council's hon. secretary being read, the meeting resolved that the Guild should loyally abide by the rules and decisions of the Central Council.

Mr. James P. Hyett, Glasbury, enquired when the annual report could be issued, as it had been promised some time ago.—The Hon. Secretary stated the blame was entirely his, owing to his having been in ill-health, which necessitated his absence from duties for over three months, but the meeting was promised the report within the next few months.

PROPOSED NEW DISTRICT.

Mr. C. H. Hawkins, Llanelly, enquired whether it would not be possible for the Guild to extend its activities in order to form a new district to include the southern portion of the diocese of St. David's, and the meeting decided that, in the event of such a district being formed, it should be invited to join the Guild. The hon. secretary was asked to undertake the necessary enquiries for the formation of such a new district, and to offer any assistance in that direction to the towers concerned.

The result of the ringing competition for 1930 was reported as follows (maximum points 240): Cadoxton (holders) 233, Llanelly (Breck.) 232, Gorseinon 231, Cefn Cwd 228, Talgarth 226, St. Mary's, Brecon, 216, Neath 215, Llanelly (Carm.) 210 (including handicap of 9 points for being the home tower), and Morriston 210.

The meeting concluded with the usual votes of thanks.

At a committee meeting held immediately afterwards, convened to consider the rules of the ringing competition for 1931, it was decided that these should be as in former competitions with the exception that the

INTERESTING PLACES VISITED BY SLOUGH RINGERS.

The band of Sunday service ringers of St. Mary's, Slough, visited Hertfordshire on their annual outing, and made good use of the fourteen seater kindly placed at their disposal by the church authorities. Meeting at the church at 8 a.m., they effected an early start via Denham and Rickmansworth to St. Albans, where the plain 'portable' lunch at noon became no longer visible. The famous Abbey was examined with interest. Here the 'silent bells' are waiting for restoration work in the tower to be completed before the 'death watch' beetle does further damage. The Saturday market proved interesting. The ancient clock tower was inspected, as was also the adjoining inn, the Fleur de Lys, where King John of France was detained for a while in 1356: 'A mediæval clock tower, almost unique in England. It contains a large Curfew Bell dating from 1335. The adjacent French Row was occupied by the Dauphin's Troops 1216.'

Incidentally, it may be here mentioned that Dr. Harwood, in his valuable history of Old Windsor, refers to this King's war in England. After being taken prisoner, he was placed in the dungeons of the Curfew Tower at Windsor Castle.

The party resumed their journey through Watford to Luton, thirty-five miles, where Brother Blackburn was on duty at the tower. Mr. King being engaged elsewhere. Here there was considerable flag wagging and public rejoicing going on to welcome H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. At the church there were more rejoicings, a considerable number of young couples hastening up to the altar with the wedding ring, so that the 'touches' rung on the bells would appear to have touched up everybody the right way for once.

The return journey to Slough was taken via Toddington, Wing and Stoke Mandeville, and at each tower some musical touches were rung to the satisfaction of all. Toddington bells are a mellow peal (tenor 22 cwt.), the Church of St. George standing in an old-world village which was left with regret. Passing through Leighton Buzzard, with its ten bells, the company little dreamed that another band from Finedon was there the same afternoon, or the two companies might have been 'spliced,' to their mutual happiness. Wing, with its heavy ring of six (tenor 29½ cwt., one of Warner's finest castings), was enjoyed, as was the scenery of North Bucks viewed from the parapet of the tower top. The county town of Aylesbury was passed through, before reaching Mandeville, where the Vicar kindly met the party and rang in several of the touches with his visitors. Tea was partaken of at the Bull before another 'good pull,' and then off towards home through Wendover, past the Coombe Hill, with its county war memorial standing up boldly against the fading light of evening. Approaching Slough, the handbells were packed away, after giving the youngsters a touch or two in which 'tittums' came up, on the spring seats, more often than the 'Queen's' change. Needless to say, a vote of thanks was acclaimed by the party for those who had afforded them a good day's holiday, with fine weather thrown in for nothing, except many thanks, 'to the clerks of the weather' and the towers they rang in.

STAFFORDSHIRE RINGERS VISIT SPONDON.

On Saturday, August 23rd, a party of ringers from Milton, near Stoke-on-Trent, visited Spondon, and on arrival were joined by several members of the local band. The six bells were kept going in various methods until 6 p.m., when there was an interval of one hour for tea.

Included in the touches rung were two courses of London Surprise, 720 Cambridge (believed to be the first on the bells), 360 York, 720 Plain Bob and courses of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, all conducted by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, of Milton. Other ringers taking part were Messrs. J. Walley, W. Corfield and C. S. Ryles, of Milton, and W. Slater, F. Coxon, J. Bailey, C. M. Coxon, J. Cope and W. Slater, jun., of the Spondon band. Some of the striking was quite good, and a very enjoyable meeting concluded about 8.30 p.m.

LONDON RINGERS' TRIP INTO ESSEX.

The annual outing of the St. Giles-in-the-Fields bellringers took place on Saturday, August 9th. The party, which included members of the Tottenham band, and one or two friends, left London at two o'clock, and arrived about an hour later at Harlow, where they were welcomed by the curate and his wife and children. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman were rung on the peal of eight. Tea was provided at the White Horse Inn, Harlow Common. During the evening, touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Bristol Surprise were rung on this very beautiful peal. Home was reached at 11.30. The party would like to thank the respective steeplekeepers and Vicars for the use of the bells, and all those who helped to make the outing such a pleasant one.

benefit of earning 5 points for ringing Stedman or Minor be deleted. Bands may now ring any method they choose, and in the event of a tie, a 'ring-off' will take place. Subject to Whit Saturday, 1931, being convenient to Talgarth parish it was decided that the competition should take place on that day. The necessary arrangements for the attendance of adjudicator and all other details were left in the hands of the hon. secretary as on former occasions.

DEATH OF MR. T. HERVEY BEAMS.

PIONEER WORK IN DORSET.

We much regret to record the death of Mr. Thomas Hervey Beams, of Bradpole, Dorset, assistant hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and one of its representatives on the Central Council, who passed away last week. Mr. Beams, who was a retired school-master, had been in failing health for some time.

Forty years ago Mr. Beams was at Scaford, Sussex, and filled the office of hon. secretary of the Eastern Division of the Sussex Association. For some years, under his guidance, the division flourished, and many enjoyable meetings in those distant days are still remembered. Afterwards Mr. Beams removed to Leytonstone, where he was associated with the six-bell band at St. John's Church, and about twenty-five years ago he went to Bradpole, where he had resided ever since. While there he introduced change ringing into many towers where it had not previously been practised, and was responsible for getting many rings of bells restored and others augmented.

The death of Mr. T. Hervey Beams, writes a correspondent, inflicts a serious loss on the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, for which he had done yeoman service during the past quarter of a century. On taking up his work as head teacher at Bradpole School, Mr. Beams at once set about the introduction of change ringing in West Dorset. Under his personal instruction one tower after another has adopted method ringing, while a large number of the parishes in the district have had their bells restored or augmented. He was always ready to put his experience and skilled advice at the disposal of Church authorities, and would travel to any part of the county to inspect belfries and make recommendations as to restoration.

For upwards of twenty years Mr. Beams acted as assistant secretary to the Guild, and in that capacity did excellent work. During two periods, when the present secretary had occasion to be abroad for some time, Mr. Beams took the secretarial duties entirely on his shoulders, and he was at all times willing to undertake any work that might be required. It was on his initiative that a Guild badge was designed and adopted, and until the last year of his life the sale and distribution of badges was entirely in his hands. The war memorial to ringers in the Cathedral was also organised by Mr. Beams, and he had the satisfaction of completing the required sum of £200 within four months of his lamented death. His forceful personality and energetic advocacy of any policy conceived in the interest of ringing were conspicuous features of every business meeting, and, as far as the present writer remembers, he never missed an attendance either at the Guild festivals or at the committee meetings.

At the funeral service in Bradpole Church on Thursday week, the general secretary of the Guild (Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards) officiated, the Vicar of Bradpole and the Rector of Bridport assisting. A large number of Freemasons were present, as well as many ringers, including the Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and representatives of all the Dorset branches.

Addressing the large gathering, the Rev. F. L. Edwards referred to Mr. Beams' fine record in four spheres of activity—as a school-master, a churchman, a ringer and a Freemason. Dwelling especially on his services to the cause of ringing, he emphasised the fact that the restored and augmented peals of bells for many miles round would bear perpetual testimony to his skill and devotion, while the establishment of change ringing in West Dorset was entirely the result of his good work.

listeners. Some very creditable examples of round ringing and call changes were also rung by the diocesan affiliated bands of Camborne, Helston and Phillack. The unanimous opinion of all the ringers was that the peal was of an extremely melodious tone and excellent 'go,' Mr. Denison Taylor being heartily congratulated on the unexcelled success of his firm's production.

The tenor of the recast peal is 23 cwt. 3 qr. 23 lb. in E flat, and the bells bear the following inscriptions:—

- I.—'Peace and good neighbourhood. William Coulson, Tre-garthen.'
 - II.—'Prosperity to this borough. George Poole, Howell Mabbott, Aldermen and Members of the Committee. 1930.'
 - III.—'To the Glory of God. The gift of Philip Hedgeland, M.A., Vicar; James Aldridge Devenish, Assistant Curate; Walter Edmonds, jun., Churchwarden; Samuel York, Sidesman. A.D. 1865. Canon Frederick Carr, M.A., Vicar, 1930.'
 - IV.—'Prosperity to the Church of England. Walter Howard Frere, Bishop of Truro, 1930.'
 - V.—'The gift of Caroline and Elizabeth Catherine Thomas Carne, A.D. 1865.'
 - VI.—'Fear God, honour the King. John Symons, Ringing Master, Truro Diocesan Guild of Ringers, 1930.'
 - VII.—'The gift of the Corporation. Francis Boase, Mayor, 1865. William Gage Goodfellow, Mayor, 1930.'
 - VIII.—'God save the King. Bolitho, 1865. Richard Foster Bolitho, 1930. This octave recast in 1930.'
- On each bell: 'J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.'

NEW BELLS AT NORTON, STAFFS.

RECAST RING DEDICATED.

Norton Parish Church bells, all six of which have been recast and rehung with modern fittings, were dedicated on Sunday, August 24th, by a former Rector of Norton, the Rev. E. Kenworthy-Browne, now Rector of Paulerspury (Northants). The presentation of the new bells to the parish was performed by Mr. John E. Wheeldon, leader of the ringers of Norton.

The Rector of Paulerspury was the preacher at the morning service, and before beginning his discourse he remarked that when he entered the church the previous night he thought he had never seen a more beautiful church than Norton possessed. He spoke of the message of bells. Bells, he said, were used in the earliest days mentioned in the Bible, in worship in the wilderness, for we read that little golden bells hung from Aaron's robe. Perhaps the most important message was the great message of faith, for bells proclaimed our faith and belief in God. A third important message, which would be best realised by the bellringer himself, was the message of co-operation, for one man might throw a whole peal wrong. There had been co-operation between the Rector and the parishioners of Norton to get the bells recast. Only co-operation between capital and labour, master and man, could bring prosperity to England. Bells were rung on many different occasions, but there was one bell which was rung for everyone—the passing bell. Its message might be one of the end of a life of faith, and like the bells on Aaron's robe it would proclaim the entry of another soul into the holy place.

A special service was also held in the evening, when the Rector (the Rev. J. G. Hamlet) was the preacher. Both services were preceded and followed by short touches.

The recasting and rehung work has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, and a representative of the firm (Mr. J. P. Fidler) was present in the church during the service and also took part in a touch of London Surprise. The method chosen for the first full extent on the new bells was Milton Double Surprise: Owen Williams 1, Charles S. Ryles 2, John E. Wheeldon (conductor) 3, William Corfield 4, William C. Lawrence 5, James Walley 6.

PLANS FOR THE COMING MONTHS

The approach of longer evenings and the curtailment of hours which can be spent in outdoor occupations, when suspended ringing practices will be resumed and ringers think of returning from playing fields and garden to the belfry, is the time when all who are eager to improve their skill in ringing or to see the art advanced should make their plans. Without some crystallised scheme to promote progress, there is little hope of turning the opportunities of the coming months to fullest advantage. Even those who have been able to maintain their practices during the summer would do well to lay plans for the winter—to have some definite object in view; to determine on some new stage of advancement. But in those towers where there has been a lapse of practices, perhaps for months, a real attempt at reorganisation and a 'plan of campaign' are almost essential, if next summer is to see the company any further advanced than the last.

The summer hiatus frequently results in one or more of the indifferent ones dropping out altogether, and these gaps should be filled at the earliest opportunity. Moreover, it ought not to be left to one member of the band—usually more enthusiastic than the rest—to do all the 'donkey work' of teaching new hands to handle a bell. This is a task in which all should share; and it ought to be no matter of casual interest either. Unless a company is at full strength, and can ring all the bells all the time, half the interest goes out of ringing, and it is this, more often than not, that results in the eventual dispersal of a band. The filling of the ranks, then, should be the first matter for attention, and where there is already a band capable of change ringing there should be a definite intention of going on to a new method or methods. There is no excuse in these days that the ladder of progress is difficult to climb; the steps have been made both short and easy for those who have hitherto got no farther than Grandsire or Plain Bob. The Central Council's Collections of Methods come to the aid of everyone, and any band of average intelligence that is ringing Bob Major, for instance, to-day ought to be ringing Double Norwich before the winter is out, for they can reach it by easy stages if the complete jump is too big to be taken all at once. But whatever position a band may have reached, there is always a step forward that can be made, and no company worthy of the name will take up the winter's work without the determination to reach a new standard by the time practice is again interrupted.

In every tower, whether short-handed or not, there ought to be a relay of recruits taught; where change ringing has got but a precarious hold, the band should determine to get a good grip of it, and this can only be done by the loyal support of everyone, both by study outside the tower and regular practice in the belfry; where competent bands already exist, let them set out to ring methods in a higher category or add to the variety of what they ring. If this spirit of aspiration and performance were generally to prevail, the work of the coming months would put the Exercise in a much stronger position, and ringers themselves would find an even greater interest in the art.

SIBLE HEDINGHAM RINGERS' TOUR.

On Saturday afternoon, August 23rd, St. Peter's Guild, Sible Hedingham, went for a short tour and first visited the tower of Great Finborough, where they rang touches of Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Grandsire Doubles. Afterwards they visited the towers of Stowmarket, Hadleigh and Sudbury, where touches of Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Stedman, Grandsire Triples, and Cambridge Surprise were brought round.

A GLIMPSE OF THE PAST.

A COUNTRY BAND OF RINGERS A CENTURY AGO.

A glimpse of the ringers and ringing in an old country market town a hundred years ago is provided by the following sketch which appeared in a series of reminiscences of 'Our Parish,' written by a resident of Hailsham, Sussex, half a century ago. He discussed the changes that had taken place since his boyhood, and we get quite an interesting and, doubtless, true picture of the conditions that prevailed in that country belfry in those days.

'Looking back,' he wrote, 'we may note other features and changes. To begin with, our church ringers. Then, the master tradesman thought it no degradation, but rather an honourable distinction, to be one to minister to the rights of the belfry. To be a ringer was a privilege. I remember but one new hand, and he carried his election by force of prescriptive right and family interest. His father had been one of the fraternity, and a brother stood then foremost man as leader. Each bell had its regular hand. There was the hatter, glover, shoemaker and blacksmith in succession, and a few others—odd men to take a turn as occasion required, and one, the street driver, who was always needed to fetch the beer from the tavern. They were all professionally earnest, devoted men, and, to do them justice, as a rule—and what rule is not more or less broken?—they were sober men. But the potent god, bred of malt and hops, at times got possession of the brain, and then was the time to take note of the work of the features and lips as the ropes flew up and down. No wedding was allowed to go by unringed or uncared for. On practice nights and rare occasions they would treat the outside world with a set of changes. Four bells allowed but little variation, yet with the steady and even pull of the tenor by the tall blacksmith, George Huggett, and the clear unerring lead of the hatter, Samuel Jenner, the old-fashioned peal was considered to be eclipsed by the change of four-and-twenty. The great treat of the year was, when I was a boy, to be awakened on Christmas morning by the early clatter of the bells, and to lay awake watching until midnight on New Year's Eve to hear the old year rung out and the new year rung in; and during the whole of my life I have never once upon these occasions been beyond the reach of the gladdening sound. I have hoped to live to hear a fuller peal. I have importuned those in authority upon the subject, but with no success, to add a sixth. Our old ringers would yearly make a house-to-house call and accept any gratuity as an acknowledgment for their services. What master tradesman now amongst us would do the like?'

The writer of 'Our Parish' died in the year 1889 without seeing the accomplishment of his wish for an augmented ring of bells, but early in the following year the bells were rehung in a new frame and three troubles were added to make a ring of eight. The five original bells were cast by John Hodson, of London, in 1663, but the second of them was recast in 1668, and the third in 1768.

LONDON & SURREY ASSOCIATIONS AT BEDDINGTON.

A HEAT WAVE MEETING.

A joint meeting of the London County and Surrey Associations was held at Beddington on Saturday, August 30th, in delightfully hot weather, so hot, indeed, that it is feared that many people were afraid to venture. About 3.30, one, coatless and hatless, strolled across Beddington Park, finding sufficient shade to prevent himself being melted, and, on approaching the fine old church, in which hang an excellent peal of ten bells of about 18½ cwt., of which everyone has or ought to have heard, music came filtering through the trees. 'Ah! yes, that's Stedman Triples,' and then 'That's all' came up, and off went the bells again to Grandsire. The coatless one reached the belfry at the conclusion of that touch. He was accorded a hearty welcome, inasmuch as he seemed ready stripped for ringing. Up to tea time various touches were rung, but the company did not swell so much as was anticipated. Tea was partaken of at the Harvest Home, a party of 20 sitting down, and lingering and chatting for a bit afterwards.

The tower was revisited for an hour or so, and the company returned to the 'Home' for a social hour, under the directorship of Mr. C. Kippen, who, with the 'carillon' (by the way, one gentleman said Charlie had got the bells all mixed up), set the party community singing. Other items were well executed by the same Charlie, accompanied by Messrs. Darby (piano) and Wills (concertina). Songs were sung by Mrs. Darby, Mr. Bernard Wells, Mr. Herbert and A. N. Other. He of the no coat, having a long way to go, left the party still enjoying themselves.

Thanks are due to the Rector for the use of the bells and to Mr. C. Kippen and Mr. D. Cooper for the splendid arrangements.

A VISIT TO MOTTRAM.

On Saturday, September 6th, eight of the ringers of Milnrow Parish Church had an outing to Mottram (Cheshire). They were met on arrival by Mr. B. Goddard, and rang touches of Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Grandsire Triples. After tea a return was made to the belfry and a quarter-peal of Bob Major was rung: Stephen Parry 1, Walter Staff 2, John Fitton 3, George Staff (conductor) 4, John H. C. Massey 5, John C. Bennett 6, Albert Buckley 7, Andrew Sidebottom 8.

IRTHLINGBOROUGH RINGERS' LONG TREK.

For once in a while the weather behaved quite decently, and at 7 a.m. promptly a merry party of husbands and wives, sweethearts and bachelors left 'the Boro' for 'the good old annual.' The Finedon contingent was picked up in due course, and at Barton Seagrave the last member of the party came aboard: perfectly sober in spite of his name. Good roads and a capable driver made a very pleasant journey through Leicester and Loughborough to the first stop, Beeston, reached a little in front of the scheduled time. A hearty welcome by Mr. Albert Coppock and Miss Thompson (the former an old friend of some of the company), and soon the handy peal of eight (19½ cwt. in F) were merrily ringing to London, Superlative, Double Norwich and Stedman. Through lovely scenery, deep cuttings and avenues of silver beech and firs, another 17 miles was then covered, and Mansfield reached once more before schedule. The party were met by the veteran, Mr. T. Bettison, and Mr. C. Carr. The bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church (tenor 14 cwt.) were raised, and, in spite of the need of attention by a bellhanger, Bristol, Superlative, Double Norwich and Stedman were rung. The interesting old chime barrel, still in use, was inspected, and then the company sat down to an excellent repast at the Swan Hotel. Mr. W. Perkins presided, and Mr. Bettison and Mr. Carr were the guests of the company.

After lunch, the party again took to the road and made for Bolsover, where the Church of SS. Mary and Lawrence undoubtedly possesses one of the finest peals of eight in the country (tenor 14½ cwt.). The visitors were unanimous in their appreciation. Messrs. E. Robins and Jim Moss met the tourists on their arrival, followed by the well-known conductor, Mr. John Flint, and an old friend in Mr. Arthur Knights, who came from Chesterfield with a great desire to meet the big little 'Andy' of Arleborough.

Canon Paget, the Vicar, also came into the belfry and gave the visitors a hearty welcome. Great interest was taken in the peal boards recording peals of Peterborough, Pudsey, Rutland, Norfolk, London and Bristol Surprise, which hang in the belfry. Well-struck touches of London, Bristol and Superlative Surprise, Double Norwich and Stedman were all successfully brought round.

The ladies, in the meantime, paid a visit to the historic Bolsover Castle with its magnificent architecture (partly in ruins), and the house with its wonderful and priceless paintings now being renovated and restored. The old sexton's knowledge of epitaphs greatly interested some of the party. Tea followed, kindly arranged by Mr. John Flint, the company then being augmented by Mr. J. Brothwell, who motored over from Rotherham.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Flint and the ladies who arranged the tea on the proposition of Mr. W. Perkins, seconded by Mr. T. Hensler, and Mr. Flint briefly responded. Then off again to Cresswell, in the heart of the colliery district and the home of the famous Cresswell Colliery Band. Messrs. A. Knights, J. Flint and J. Brothwell accompanied the visitors and took part in the ringing at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene (tenor 17½ cwt.). Superlative, London, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Stedman were rung on this very merry peal and heartily enjoyed by all who took a rope. After refreshment at the nearest hostelry, 'good-bye' had to be said to all at 7.45 p.m. for the long trek home. The silver-toned vocalists opened their lungs and to a very musical accompaniment the party went through Warsop, Mansfield and Bradmore to the village of Costock, where a most enjoyable hour was spent in singing and hand-bell ringing until 'Time, gentlemen, please,' sent the company speeding home. The organisation of the outing was splendid and reflected great credit on the secretaries. Songs, glees, hymns, choruses and 'yarns' enlivened the homeward journey and concluded a thoroughly enjoyable outing.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN BRANCH ENTERTAINED.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Stanley Castle on Saturday, August 30th. The Rev. B. H. T. Drake officiated at the service and afterwards the members were invited by Sir Edmund and Lady Lechmere to tea at Swan End. Amid beautiful surroundings tea was served on the lawn, and about 40 members sat down to do justice to the good things provided. Sir Edmund and Lady Lechmere, in welcoming their guests, remarked that it gave them great pleasure to entertain the members of the association, and hoped that they would have the opportunity of holding another meeting there in the future.

At the business meeting, which took place immediately after tea, Lady Lechmere was elected to the chair. Two new life members and six new performing members were elected.

At the close of the meeting the Rev. B. H. T. Drake and Mr. S. T. Holt expressed the thanks of the members to Sir Edmund and Lady Lechmere for their kindness.

HORNSEY.—On Sunday, July 27th, at St. Mary's Church, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor (1,296 changes) in 50 mins.: E. G. Hibble 1, F. G. Symonds 2, C. H. Ross 3, F. Fensom 4, M. Fensom 5, J. G. Nash (conductor) 6.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.A 'TROPICAL' MEETING.

A meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at St. Peter's, Staines, on Saturday, August 30th, in tropical weather, and the number attending was very small for the riverside church. Ringing commenced about 3.30 with short touches. A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Dr. W. H. Flecker) and the singing was led by the organ.

After service the company adjourned to the Parish Hall for tea, the Vicar presiding, supported by Mr. J. H. Hunnisett and the hon. secretary (Mr. W. H. Hollier). The Vicar gave the Guild a most hearty welcome again to his parish.

The Vicar vacated the chair after tea, and the business meeting was presided over by Mr. Hunnisett. St. John's, Hillingdon, was announced for the October meeting, on the second Saturday in the month, and the usual notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.' At the request of the Vicar, touches were rung on the handbells by Messrs. W. C. Parker, E. S. Turner, L. Wilson (Swindon) and E. J. Goates.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for conducting the service and the welcome he gave to the Guild, to the organist, to the hostess (Miss Mackie) and her assistants, and to Mr. G. Walmsley and Mr. W. C. Parkes, of the local band. This concluded the meeting, after which St. Mary's tower was visited, but little ringing was done owing to the heat. The seats in the churchyard proved a great boon to some of the company on this occasion.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD.A RINGING WEEK IN LINCOLNSHIRE.

The annual ringing week was held this year in Lincolnshire, headquarters being at Surfleet Vicarage. It was unfortunate that 13 members only were able to attend, some of whom were unable to take part in peal attempts. However, a peal of Stedman was rung at Washingborough, and some good practice was obtained at Heckington, Ewerby, Surfleet, Pinchbeck, Fulney, Croyland, Lincoln Cathedral and Spalding.

Those present were the Revs. H. Law James, E. Bankes James, Canon H. J. Elsee, C. W. O. Jenkyn, H. S. T. Richardson, R. H. Whitford, B. F. Sheppard, E. G. Benson, and Messrs. J. T. Rickman, F. M. Atkins, F. E. Haynes, W. H. J. Hooton and A. G. G. Thurlow.

Next year the Guild hopes to meet in Hereford, and it is hoped that more members will be able to come.

ANOTHER 'OLD BILL' AT SURFLEET.

Another 'Old Bill,' with a few ringing friends, spent a pleasant week-end at Surfleet recently, at the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson. The host had arranged an attractive ringing programme, which was carried out with a hundred per cent. success. It was left to the host to choose the methods, and, as he considered 'London' a luxury, London it was. The first item on the programme, a peal at Spalding, was brought round in just over three hours. Next day Cambridge Royal and Stedman Caters at Surfleet for morning service were followed by an early dinner and a peal of Stedman Triples 'in hand.' One of the umpires went to sleep, to the obvious envy of the 7-8 man, who wanted to do likewise. Only the knowledge that a peal had to be rung that day made him keep awake.

This peal enabled the other 'Old Bill' to complete the full circle of dates as conductor, a wonderful achievement.

After tea, a run to Holbeach was suggested, where a course of London was rung for 'practice,' as only a peal had been rung the day before. The hostess pleased the party by ringing in this course, and is considered a good recruit for a peal in the method. The best thanks of the hand are due to the Holbeach ringers for allowing them to ring. Next day two more peals of London were rung at Kirton-in-Holland and Sibsey, which brought the ringing programme to an end. Back to Surfleet for tea, and a short talk with a few members of the Cambridge University Guild, who were just arriving, before starting for London—the town of that name, not the method—which was reached the same night in Bob's trusty steed.

The sincere thanks of the party are accorded to Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson for their usual unfailing and generous kindnesses. A stay at Surfleet is always pleasant, and departing time always comes much too quickly.

DEATH OF YORKSHIRE RINGER.COLLAPSE FROM HEAT.

The death took place on Thursday afternoon, August 28th, of Mr. William Sutcliffe, of Sowerby, at the age of 64 years. He was overcome by the heat and collapsed while at work. He was removed to his home and died shortly after.

Mr. Sutcliffe had many friends, and at St. Peter's Church, Sowerby, was a devoted worker, having held various offices in the church besides being a bellringer and conductor for 42 years. He will be missed by all who came in contact with him.

The bells were rung muffled for his funeral by his fellow-ringers. Mr. Sutcliffe leaves a widow and one son.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. William Pye has set up yet another record. He is the first to conduct a peal on every one of the 366 days of the year.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are overhauling the peal of eight at Malvern Priory, and retuning and rehangings the ring of eight at Bromley Parish Church, Kent.

The first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal in Wales was rung on Saturday, which is a reminder that the first peal of Superlative in the Principality was rung on September 13th, 1907.

A peal of 5,040 Imperial Place Major, composed and conducted by William Shipway, and being the first ever performed in the method, was rung at St. Mary's, Islington, on September 13th, 1902.

Charles Middleton, whose name is associated with the peal composition of Cambridge Surprise Major, died on September 14th, 1886. He was a Norwich man.

The Society of St. Martin's Youths, from which St. Martin's Guild has descended, and whose traditions have been carried on uninterruptedly at St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, rang their first peal, a 5,040 of Bob Major, on September 16th, 1755. This was at St. Philip's Church.

History was made at Drayton, Berks, on September 17th, 1896, when the Oxford Guild rang a peal of 11,328 London Surprise Major, conducted by J. W. Washbrook. That record has since been exceeded, but at the time it constituted a big step forward in the length obtained in the method. Nothing over 6,048 had previously been rung.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very pleasant meeting of the Southern District was held at Sketty on Saturday, when, no doubt on account of the wet weather, the attendance was not as good as usual, only about 16 members being present from Aberavon, Cadoxton, Morriston, Swansea, and three very welcome visitors from Pentre Rhondda. The service was conducted by the Rev. Canon H. J. Stewart, who gave those present a very interesting address, and extended a hearty welcome to the Guild. Tea followed in the Church Hall, provided by someone unknown, and enjoyed and appreciated by all.

The business meeting, with the Rev. Canon H. J. Stewart in the chair, was very short. Swansea was chosen for the December meeting, which will be the district annual.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the unknown donor of the tea, to the Rev. Canon H. J. Stewart for conducting the service, for the use of the bells and his kindness to the Guild members, to the organist for presiding at the organ, and to the ladies for their kind help at the tea table.—The Canon, in reply, said it was a pleasure to have the ringers there, and he would be always pleased to do his best for them at any time when they came to Sketty. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major.

An invitation was accepted to ring in Swansea on the way home, when Grandsire and Stedman were rung, and the bells lowered in peal about 9 p.m.

NEW RING OF TEN FOR KENT.LIGHTEST CHURCH TEN-BELL PEAL.

Through the generosity of two benefactors, five treble bells, together with a Westminster quarter clock, are being installed at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Cudham, near Sevenoaks, Kent, and, as advertised elsewhere in this issue, the dedication will take place on Sunday, September 21st.

Cudham will then possess the lightest ring of ten yet installed in any church and the second lightest ring of ten in the world. This ring of ten should be a valuable asset to change ringing in the district, as there is only one other ten-bell tower in the diocese, namely, that of Rochester Cathedral.

The whole work of clock and bells and the provision of an Ellacombe chiming apparatus and other improvements are being carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

DEVON GUILD.MEETING AT PRESIDENT'S CHURCH.

The autumn meeting of the Exeter Branch was held in the parish of the president, Clyst St. George, on Saturday. This is the first occasion on which a meeting of change ringers has been held in the parish, whose Rector from 1850-1885 was that great authority on bells, the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe. Mr. Ellacombe was a man of many accomplishments. He rebuilt the body of the church at Clyst St. George and personally devoted much time to decorating the interior; he wrote a number of valuable treatises on bells—indeed, when over the age of 70 he ascended every church tower in Devon, excepting one, to take notes of their condition and of the bells; he invented a chiming apparatus, the original pattern of which may still be seen in Clyst St. George belfry; he was a learned antiquarian and a most earnest priest and kindly gentleman.

The president of the Guild (the Rev. E. S. Powell) conducted a well-attended service in the beautiful little church. It was intended to hold the tea and business meeting which followed on the adjoining lawn of the Rectory, but the clerk of the weather ordained otherwise, and a move had to be made to the school buildings at short notice, where an excellent meal was provided by the efforts of Mrs. Powell, wife of the president, and friends.

The business meeting was presided over by the chairman of the branch, the Rev. E. V. Cox. The annual meeting was fixed for December 6th, at Heavitree, Exeter. Several new members were elected, and the Chairman said it was hoped that during the coming winter more frequent friendly visits amongst neighbouring bands of ringers might be arranged. He emphasised the necessity for raising and lowering the bells well and striking them perfectly.

A very hearty welcome was accorded to three distinguished visitors from other associations, Messrs. J. A. Trollope (Ealing), J. Flint (Beisover) and O. Sippetts (Crawley). Full use was made of the bell during the afternoon and evening.

THE LATE MR. T. H. BEAMS.HIS PUBLIC WORK.

The late Mr. T. Hervey Beams, who did so much for the promotion of change ringing in West Dorset, gave his services in many other directions outside his profession as schoolmaster. His interest in education was by no means confined to his own school, for he represented the general cause of education in the diocese and also proved himself an active organiser in the interests of teachers. As a member of the National Union of Teachers, he had occupied the positions of secretary and president.

Three years ago he was elected a member of Bridport Board of Guardians, and here he proved himself a useful public servant. He was also a Rural District Councillor and a member of the newly-constituted Guardians' Committee. He will be greatly missed by both officers and inmates of the Poor Law Institution. As a member of Bradpole Parochial Church Council, he occupied the chair for a period.

A churchwarden at Bradpole for seven years, Mr. Beams had been a chorister since the age of six. He was a licensed lay reader. Mr. Beams was a Freemason, having been a member of St. Mary's Lodge (No. 707), Bridport, since 1920.

Mr. Beams leaves, to mourn their loss, a widow, three sons—Mr. Douglas J. Beams, Salisbury; Mr. Reginald Hervey Beams, who is assistant master at Trowbridge High School for Boys; and Mr. Percy H. Beams, Bridport—and one daughter, Miss Marjorie Beams, who is on the staff of St. Mary's School, Bridport.

By a pathetic coincidence it was just a week after Mr. Hervey Beams' burial that the Salisbury Diocesan Guild ringers' war memorial, which was so largely the result of his devoted labours, was actually completed. On Thursday, September 4th, Mr. W. S. B. Northover, accompanied by the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, conveyed to Salisbury a copy of the badge of the Salisbury Guild carved by himself in English oak, and in the presence of the Archdeacon of Sarum affixed it to the ringers' screen in the memorial chapel of the Cathedral.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.EXPLANATION OF A POSTPONED MEETING.

The Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association held a very enjoyable meeting at Coalpit Heath on Saturday, and, in spite of the inclement weather, a good number of ringers gathered at this delightful old church, with its fine peal of six bells, 17 towers being represented, while visitors included Messrs. Burecombe and Finsell (Dursley and Stinchcombe) and Mr. G. Popwell, of Bedwellty, South Wales. The usual ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. J. Phillips), who was supported by organist and choir.

A very nice tea was awaiting the members after service, kindly provided by the Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Phillips in the billiard room of the Vicarage.

At the business meeting which followed Mr. F. Skidmore (chairman of the branch) presided. The question as to why this meeting had been postponed from the previous Saturday, the original date, was satisfactorily explained by the Vicar, who, being on holiday, would have found it difficult to get home in time to provide tea.

The secretary was asked if he would put this on record, as the previous Saturday a peal had been rung by members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and there were some who thought the meeting had been deferred for this purpose.

The appointment of a representative on the sub-committee re Central Council proposals (Bristol Branch) was again brought up, and, on the motion of Mr. J. Gould, Mr. F. Skidmore was unanimously elected. Five new members were elected, including three from Westerleigh, at which lower it is hoped to get other members.

The Chairman moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the organist and choir, and coupled with this the name of Mrs. Phillips for kindly providing tea and waiting upon the company.—This was seconded by Mr. W. H. Thomas.

The Vicar, responding, said he was always pleased to welcome the association to Coalpit Heath, and was very grateful for the help the association had given them. He was also glad to see their neighbours from Westerleigh back in the association. Mrs. Phillips also suitably replied.

This concluded the business, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were afterwards enjoyed on the bells, several of the young members getting their first six-score of Grandsire.

WEDDING BELLS AT BIRMINGHAM.

The historic Church of St. Martin, in the Bull Ring, has been the scene of many weddings, but none more pretty than that of Miss Winifred Edith Walker, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, who was married to Mr. Leslie Arthur Reynolds on Saturday, August 30th. Whilst a large congregation of friends and well-wishers assembled in the church, suitable music was played on the organ by Mr. Richard Wassell.

The bride, who arrived with her father, was attired in a gown of ivory georgette, with veil, and a wreath of orange blossom, and carried a sheaf of lilies and white heather. The bridesmaids were attired in pale green and floral pink, and carried bouquets of cream roses. There was also a very tiny girl attendant, dressed in pale pink, and carrying a posy of pink carnations.

The bridal party was received at the west door by the Rector of Birmingham, Canon T. Guy Rogers, and as the bridal procession moved up the aisle, the hymn, 'Love divine, all loves excelling,' was sung. The Rector of Birmingham officiated and the bride was given away by her father. The service was choral and included Psalm 121 and the hymn, 'O perfect love, all human thought transcending,' which was sung kneeling.

As the procession returned to the west door, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played, and the bells were 'fired' by the St. Martin's company, who also rang a peal later to celebrate the event.

A reception was afterwards held at the Crown Hotel, at which the Rector, Mr. Wassell and friends of the family were present. Many messages of congratulation and good wishes were received, including a letter from Alderman J. S. Pritchett, and telegrams from St. Martin's ringers, Messrs. P. J. Johnson, A. Prince, F. W. Perrens, W. Saunders, etc. The bride and bridegroom's health was heartily drunk, and afterwards the happy couple left for Weston-super-Mare, where the honeymoon was spent.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The annual visit of the Leeds and District Society to Rothwell took place on Saturday, August 30th, and at the business meeting the president (Mr. O. E. Lawson) was in the chair, supported by members from Armley, Batley, Bramley, Headingley St. Chad's, Holbeck, Almondbury and the local company.

With regard to the question of peal attempts at meetings, it was explained by the president that it was thought advisable to have the bells open for all the visitors rather than to limit the ringing to eight members.

Owing to the Yorkshire Association having two meetings arranged in the district on successive Saturdays in September, it was decided that the society's meeting for September be cancelled.

The usual votes of thanks were given to the Vicar and churchwardens of Rothwell and to the local company.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

A VISIT TO BERE REGIS.

Bere Regis proved an attractive venue for the quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, which was held in the delightful old village on Saturday week. Glorious weather favoured the event, and representatives of the branch were present from Bradford-Peverell, Bere Regis, Charminster, Dorchester, Puddletown, Sydling, Upwey, Wool and Wyke Regis. The North Dorset Branch were represented by Buckhorn Weston and Kingston Magna, and the Wimborne Branch by Poole. A motor-coach left Weymouth at 2 o'clock for Bere Regis, and the representatives of the surrounding districts were picked up at Dorchester. A halt was made at Puddletown, where the members visited the fine old church and rung touches on the peal of six, and ringing at Bere Regis was continued until 4.30, when the Guild service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. W. Taylor), who also gave a thoughtful address, which was much appreciated.

The members then adjourned to the Parish Hall, where a sumptuous tea (kindly provided by Mr. W. Bedford, of the Manor House) was awaiting them. Among the welcome visitors present were Messrs. J. Keyte (hon. secretary, Chipping Norton Branch, Oxford Guild), J. R. Keyte (Charlbury), W. G. Collett (Oxford), H. Gregory (Clifton), G. B. Cole (London, late of Poole).

A short business meeting followed. In the unavoidable absence of the chairman (Mr. R. N. Dawes), Mr. W. Bedford was voted to the chair. Before the meeting began the members stood in respectful silence in memory of Mr. T. Horvey Beams, late assistant general secretary and a representative on the Central Council. The hon. secretary paid a moving tribute to his great work for ringing in Dorset.

Apologies for absence were received from the Ven. Archdeacon W. S. Moule (Abbotsbury), the Rev. E. L. Edwards (general secretary), the Rev. H. R. Gundry (master), the Rev. C. A. Phillips, the Rev. A. S. Bryant, the Rev. C. D. Job, the Rev. Wynn Werninck, Col. H. D. Robson, Messrs. R. Hawkins and W. Williams. Two life members were elected, Messrs. W. G. Collett (Oxford) and F. G. Ringe (Brentwood). The annual meeting was arranged to be held at Dorchester in December, and the hon. secretary said he would do his best to fix up one or two practice meetings between now and that month.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for conducting the service, and also for his able address and the use of the bells; also to Mr. W. Bedford for providing the tea. The hon. secretary also thanked Mr. Bedford on behalf of the Guild, not only for his kind hospitality always to them, but for what he had done in general for bells and the ringers, and in making the arrangements for the members to visit his fruit gardens. The organist was also thanked for his services.

After the meeting the members were taken round the magnificent fruit gardens and the famous 'sylvasprings' water cress beds belonging to Mr. W. Bedford. The owner personally escorted them, and the general opinion was expressed that 'everything was wonderful,' the members being greatly impressed by the abundance of fruit.

After this the members again adjourned to the tower and others went on to Wool, and good practice was made throughout the afternoon and evening, the following methods being rung: Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Kent and Oxford and Cambridge Minor. This ended a most delightful meeting.

Bere Regis is the 'King's Bere' of Thomas Hardy's famous novel, 'Tess of the d'Urbervilles.' It is situated on a hillside and commands extensive views over Purbeck and the coast. The church, built about 1100, was restored by Street with excellent results in 1875, and is a fine edifice, principally perpendicular, but there is a good deal of Norman work in the interior and a fine transition Norman font is noticeable. The carved wood roof of the nave is also remarkable, with its fine beams decorated with effigies half life size in the dress of the time, and some fine bosses. The figures are supposed to represent the Apostles and have been carefully restored. The fine pinnacled western tower contains a glorious peal of six bells, tenor 18½ cwt. in the key of D. Previous to 1921 there were five bells, in a very bad state, but, thanks to Mr. W. Bedford, these were rehung in new iron frames and a treble added to complete the peal.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Upavon on Saturday. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m. and the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Joyce-Watson, M.A.). Tea followed, after which a short business meeting was held. In the absence of the chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham), the vice-chairman (Mr. B. Cook) presided.

The Vicar welcomed the branch to Upavon, and, on behalf of those present, the vice-chairman thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service. Reference was made to the death of Mr. T. Horvey Beams, of Bradnole, Dorset, and the loss the Guild had sustained thereby. Those present stood in silence as a token of respect.

DEATH OF MR. W. R. BOND, OF CRAYFORD.

The death occurred on Saturday, August 23rd, of Mr. W. R. Bond, a faithful and valued member of the band at Crayford for over 30 years, who passed away at the age of 47. He attended practice on the previous Tuesday evening, when he said he felt a little 'off colour.' The next day he went to London, but collapsed on London Bridge platform. The railway officials telephoned to Mrs. Bond to meet him at Crayford. The doctor advised him to go to bed and rest which he did, and he appeared quite bright and comfortable until Friday, when he became worse, and, despite the efforts of the local doctors and a specialist, he passed away in the early hours of Saturday morning.

He was never what one might call 'peal hungry.' He would always come if required and was always happy to stand out, and, what is more, he would always come at a minute's notice if a band found themselves a man short when ready to start for a peal. Almost his last peal was one of these occasions when a band met short in a neighbouring parish. 'Bill' was rung up, and half an hour later the bells were going and the peal rung. Such was his disposition.

He always regarded his Sunday ringing as a duty, and everything else had to take second place. His peals, of which he had no record, numbered between 70 and 80, ranging from Grandsire to Double Norwich. One of these he was always extremely proud of, viz., what, apparently, is the quickest peal of Triples yet rung on tower bells—Stedman at Crayford on August 30th last year in 2 hours 14 minutes, to which he rang the tenor.

The funeral took place at Crayford on August 28th, and a muffled peal was rung to his memory on August 30th, as recorded in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World.' He leaves a widow and two children to mourn their loss.

On Sunday morning, Canon Gedge, the blind Rector of Crayford, in his sermon referred to Mr. Bond's death. They were at that time, he said, denoting the loss of Mr. W. R. Bond, whom they had just laid to rest, and who had been called away at an early age. He had found in Mr. Bond a kind personal friend, and his passing left them all the poorer.

A NORTHAMPTONSHIRE TOUR.

Another 'ringing week' begins on Saturday, when a party of well-known ringers will begin a peal programme, principally among Northamptonshire towers, but including also towers in Rutland, Huntingdonshire and Cambridgeshire. Headquarters will be at the Bull Hotel, Irthlingborough, Northants, and it is interesting to note, as showing the readiness of authorities to grant the use of their bells, that permission was granted for every tower applied for except one.

Saturday, September 13th: Oakham (Rutland), 3.30 p.m.

Sunday, September 14th: Wicken, 2 p.m.

Monday, September 15th: Titchmarsh, 9.30 a.m.; Thrapston, 2.30 p.m.

Tuesday, September 16th: Higham Ferrers, 9.30 a.m.; Burton Latimer, 2.30 p.m.

Wednesday, September 17th: Rothwell, 9.30 a.m.; Desborough, 2.30 p.m.

Thursday, September 18th: Hazelbeech, 9.30 a.m.; Northampton (St. Sepulchre's), 2.30 p.m.

Friday, September 19th: Finedon, 9.30 a.m.; Irthlingborough, 2.30 p.m.

Saturday, September 20th: St. Neots (Hunts), 9.30 a.m.; Bourn (Cambs), 2.30 p.m.

MUFFLED BELLS.

Taylor 4, H. J. Lockley 5, A. Bennett 6, B. Dalton 7, T. W. Bate 8.

Mr. G. Winter, of Devizes, was elected a ringing member, and Mr. D. C. Heginbotham as a life member.

Ringers were present from Upavon, Devizes (St. John and St. Mary), Swindon, Rowde, Bratton, Melksham and Warminster. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and Plain Bob Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The next meeting is to be at Westbury on October 4th, if the bells are available.

BIG ESSEX PARTY IN SURREY.

Glorious weather favoured the Loughton and Woodford ringers on Saturday week, when with their friends and members of the Wansled band, 51 in all, they toured some of the most charming parts of Surrey. An early start was made in order to avoid the congested traffic of the Metropolis. For a time the chief topic of conversation was the tropical storm that had disturbed the slumbers of most of the party. The marvels of the London traffic, however, soon seized the attention, and the careful and speedy manipulation of the super coaches brought forth striking comparisons from those in the party who had taken their early outings in brakes and horse-drawn vehicles. London Bridge, ever attractive to the passers-by, was soon left behind, and once beyond the 'Elephant and Castle,' thoughts of the first pull began to arise. The country aspect gradually began to predominate, especially as the coaches approached Sandown Park.

The first halt was made at Cobham. Mr. W. James welcomed the ringers and led the way to St. Andrew's Church, where several touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire Doubles and Kent Treble Bob were rung on a light musical six. Ringing is done from the ground floor of the Norman tower, built of rubble in pudding stone, the walls being 3ft. 6in. thick. The doorway in the south aisle has interesting zigzag and billet mouldings, whilst the oak tracery in the porch is 14th century work. Historical associations are connected with the north-east chantry, built about 1200, probably by the monks of Chertsey Abbey for their special masses. By order of Pope Innocent, 1292, all the titles of Cobham Church were paid over to the Abbey. During the last century much has been done to restore and beautify the church. All the windows are of stained glass, whilst a large oil painting of Abraham preparing to slay Isaac adorns the Children's Corner.

A quick run was then made to Chiddingfold, via Ripley, Guildford, Godalming, Milford and Witley, the landscape at Ripley and Witley being most picturesque. Mr. A. J. Bartlett and Mr. T. Atwell welcomed the party at St. Mary's Church, but time would only allow short touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples on a light well-sounding eight, which contains one of the few pre-Reformation bells found in Surrey. The church developed as the place prospered, a Royal Charter in 1300 establishing it as a market town. The tower, shunted and unimposing, was probably built in the 15th century, and raised 14ft. in 1870. The ringing floor is reached by going up a stairway in the church and passing through a trap door, an unusual and awkward contrivance. The nave pillars are high and massive. Many stained glass windows, chiefly memorials, give the interior a reverential tone. A lancet window near the tower is filled with many pieces of ancient glass discovered in the neighbourhood. A rather extensive library is set up at the back of the church clearly indicating that Chiddingfold believes in an educated congregation. The churchyard has many interesting tombs and memorials, the one attracting considerable attention being the gravestone set up in memory of Arthur Stedman, blacksmith, who died in 1766. The epitaph reads as follows:—

'My sledge hammer lie declin'd,
My bellows, too, have lost their wind,
My fire is out, my forge decay'd,
And in the dust my vice is laid.
My coal is spent, my iron gone,
My nail is drove, my work is done.'

Dinner was taken at Haslemere at Burgess' Restaurant, where the fare and timely attention reflected the greatest credit on the manageress, Miss E. Pincott. The Parish Church was visited, but there was a general regret that permission was not granted to use the bells, a well-reputed peal of ten.

The last halt was made at Staines, after passing through such interesting places as Hindhead, Churt, Farnham and Bagshot. Tea was served in the Parish Hall, Mr. E. W. Butler welcoming the party, the good fare provided being appreciated. At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. Chalk (Wanstead) and carried with acclamation to the organisers of the outing, Mr. J. Rann (Loughton) and Mr. C. Moss (Woodford), and to Sergt. Thorpe (Loughton), who had energetically guided the party over a long route. St. Mary's tower, built by the famous Inigo Jones in 1631, was visited, and several touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob were rung on a good going and well-sounding eight, members of the Middlesex Association taking part.

A quick return to the coaches followed, for the sun had already set, and the programme had been completed. Joyous moments had been spent, fresh acquaintances made, old friendships strengthened, and hopes expressed that all might be snared to partake in the next annual outing. All offer their sincere thanks to the incumbents of the various parishes for the use of the bells and to the ringers who greeted the party.

ACCIDENT IN UXBRIDGE BELFRY.

Mr. T. Smith, ringer and towerkeeper of St. Andrew's Church, Uxbridge, Middlesex, met with a painful accident in the belfry on Friday, August 22nd. After winding the church clock, he slipped off the ladder leading from the clock chamber and fell to the floor, injuring his ribs. He was taken to Uxbridge Cottage Hospital and is progressing favourably.

A HAPPY REUNION.

'The more we are together,
The merrier we'll be.'

Thirty-two years ago this August a 'heterogeneous' band of ringers went to Shrewsbury. Another such band, at the invitation of Mr. W. W. Worthington, of Lichfield, met at St. Paul's, Burton, on Saturday, August 30th, and, after the usual exchange of greetings, motored off to Monk's Kirby, Leicestershire—a splendid run. On arrival an inspection of the church was made—always an interesting item at ringers' outings—then to the belfry, where touches of Stedman and Double Norwich were the order. A hunt was then made to find a tombstone, recording the name of a man who had, so Billy Smith said, 40 children. Anyhow, the stone was not found, and we made off to Claybrooke. After ringing Stedman Triples, the writer asked young Jim George to call a touch of Double Norwich in honour of a loving friend, Miss Winifred Walker, who had just been married at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on that day. Then we drove off to 'The Land of Carraway Seed Sop'—Burbage—where again Stedman and Double Norwich were the order. Next a short drive brought us to the junction of roads where stands an ancient monument to mark the exact centre of England. The country must have warped a lot since it was placed there, as Meriden is claimed as the centre now!

All aboard again; off we go to 'The Tin Hat,' Hinckley. Why it is thus called I do not know, but I have heard this:—

Let the Hinckley pump
Take a hop, stride and jump
If ever I cease to love.

Only a very short time was left to have a touch here. Several of the local ringers welcomed us, which was much appreciated. Then rather a long run to the home of the Squire of Maple Hayes, Lichfield, who took young Jim with him to have a 'quick one' before the rest arrived, but we soon answered the call. A stroll round the beautiful gardens and grounds, which looked a perfect picture, and then dinner, the next and most important item, as the 'Guv.' called it. Real old English fare, the rest of the evening being spent in handbell ringing, young Maurice 'ringing' a touch on the piano with young Jim calling. The best thanks to the Squire was proposed by Mr. J. Jaggard, seconded by Mr. J. George, and carried with acclamation. Mr. Worthington's reply bearing out the lines at the head of this report. The arrangements for the happy reunion were thoughtfully made by Mr. Worthington and Mr. J. Swinfield with every success.

A DAY IN 'OUR OWN COUNTRY.'

BY A BERKSHIRE MAN.

On a recent Monday the ringers of St. Laurence's, Reading, with the Vicar and a few friends, met at the tower at 8 a.m. for their annual outing, and spent it in their own county of Berkshire. Hagbourne was the first stop and the glorious peal of eight were soon rolling round to Stedman Triples and Grandsire. Then on to Abingdon, where the noble church, with five aisles, was much admired. Here a service was in progress with a wedding to follow, so ringing was curtailed. Anyhow, two touches of Grandsire Caters were brought round on the fine ten, and everyone had a pull. Then to that 'mecca' of all Berkshire ringers, Appleton, where some of the youngsters could not believe that ten bells could be hung in the tower they were looking at across the meadows. An excellent lunch was laid under a spreading chestnut tree and enjoyed the more, because our friend and 'master,' the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, arrived just in time to sit down with us. Then to the tower, where, with the help of some of the '20,000' veterans, Stedman Caters and Grandsire Caters were brought round on this truly wonderful peal. Next, to Drayton, where the Rev. F. E. Robinson lived as Vicar for so many years. Grandsire and Stedman went well here, and Miss Vera Robinson, who was with the party, was able to point out many specimens of her late father's handiwork as a carver in the choir stalls and organ case with which he enriched the church. Then over the glorious Berkshire Downs to East Isley with (to quote the Vicar's account in the parish magazine) 'its red roofs and bowering trees lying in a steep hollow of the hills.' As the time was 6 p.m., tea was the first necessity, and the youngsters still talk of the feed they had under the roof of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hibbert (brother to their ringing master). This village was celebrated for many years for the training of racehorses and its sheep fairs.

'Isley, remote upon the Berkshire Downs,

Claims these distinctions o'er her sister towns:

Far famed for sheep and wool, though not for spinners,

For sportsmen, doctors, publicans and sinners.'

The climb up to the church after such a tea was rather trying, but after Stedman and Grandsire Triples and two touches of Rob Major, several made the ascent of various ladders to the top of the tower and enjoyed a glorious view over the rolling downs. At 9 p.m. we left 'home' for our homes, one stop being made at the top of 'Applesia Hill' for a last look over a piece of beautiful countryside. Everyone expressed the opinion that it was a very fine day's outing, and the hope that they may be able to visit the same places and the same people again. The 'Old Man' was very pleased at the way the children 'shaped' at the various towers.

CREWE BELLRINGERS' PICNIC.

The ringers of Christ Church, Crewe, had a very happy and enjoyable outing on Saturday, August 23rd, to Loughborough Bell Foundry. Leaving Crewe at 5 a.m., they proceeded to Leicester, where breakfast awaited them, afterwards continuing their journey to Loughborough. They straightaway then made their way to Taylor's Bell Foundry, and were met by Mr. J. P. Fidler, who proved a splendid guide during their tour of the works. Ringing was much enjoyed on the foundry bells, and, as they are such a light peal, the visitors also found them quite amusing. Touches of Double Norwich, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters and a Speedway Course of Bob Minor were much enjoyed, with the assistance of some of the local ringers.

After lunch ringing took place on the fine peal of ten at Loughborough Parish Church, and included touches of Bob Royal and Stedman Caters, again with the help of the local band. The party next made their way back to Leicester for tea and more ringing, this time on another fine peal, the bells of the Church of St. John the Divine, where the party were again made welcome by the local ringers, and touches of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters, Kent Royal and Cambridge Royal were rung. This concluded the ringing for the day, but before leaving for home a very happy hour was spent in a certain little 'snug' round the corner from the church.

THE 184 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A

A LIBRARY FOR EVERY TOWER.

There ought to be in every well-appointed belfry a bookcase stocked with volumes concerning bells and bell-ringing. The output of works of interest to and instruction for ringers proceeds steadily, and all who can afford to do so readily purchase the books for their own library shelves. But the majority of the members of the Exercise are not in a position to obtain all the works that come from the press, although many of them are almost essential to one's ringing education. Collectively, however, a great deal could be done, and the funds of the local company, or a small subscription from each of its members, would secure most of the volumes as they appear without any great strain on either. Several of the associations have libraries which serve a useful purpose, but these cannot be of quite the same utility as a collection of works ready to hand in a tower.

An extremely useful and interesting library could be built up in course of time, and it should not only contain the textbooks on ringing which are already in circulation. These should be but the nucleus. There are many volumes of great interest dealing with bell history, as well as works of reference, which should find their way into the tower bookcase, and the gradual building up of the library would prove a source of interest to the ringers. It is probable that in many towers a beginning could be made by gifts or loans from members, and only recently a practical suggestion was made by Canon Coleridge that, in regard to two forthcoming volumes, ringers should get their Church Councils to buy them. Where Church authorities are able to assist in this way, the start of a library will be made considerably easier, although most ringers who have had dealings with Councils are rather sceptical as to the outcome of applications for funds for this purpose.

However this may be, the ringers at every tower ought to make an effort to begin a library. The standard works on method ringing, association annual reports for reference, and the bound volumes of 'The Ringing World' should form the basis of the collection; new works as they are issued could be added, and volumes of bell history could be acquired as opportunity offered. With every new tower library more ringers would have at hand a means of extending their knowledge, which individuals cannot, except in a limited number of instances, hope to acquire. Co-operative effort can do great things, and a pooling of resources, if nothing more, would help to make a useful start. The first step in a matter of this kind is the most important, and often the most difficult. But once a start is made, ringers themselves will be anxious to see the bookcase gradually filling up; and many advantages will accrue from having the books always available for study or reference. The beginning need not be ambitious; the important thing is that there should be a beginning. A HUGHENDON PEAL.

TABLET UNVEILED.

A happy little gathering of Berks and Bucks ringers took place at the Parish Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Hughendon, on Saturday, September 6th, for the unveiling of a peal tablet erected in the belfry recording 'one more' peal of London Surprise that has been achieved in this historical tower. The Vicar (the Rev. G. Herbert Jones, M.A.), the churchwardens (Major Coningsby R. Disraeli, D.L., J.P., and Mr. William Pearson), with about two dozen ringers and friends from neighbouring towers, were present, representing St. Albans, Hillingdon, Iwer, Beaconsfield, Chalfont, Wycombe, Maidenhead, Farnham, Slough, Old Windsor, Cookham and Harrow, etc.

Proceedings began with a musical 'flourish' of Stedman Triples on the tower bells, conducted by Mr. P. Martin, when the bell ropes were looped together and the company arranged round the belfry. The Vicar then offered up a dedicatory prayer, followed by another in which all heartily joined. Major Disraeli was next invited by the towerkeeper to expose the tablet—which had previously been covered with a pair of green curtains—by pulling a light cord having a small sally. In doing so the Major briefly referred to the performance recorded on the peal board, which was rung last November as a welcome to the new Vicar, and expressed his hope, on behalf of the churchwardens (and the ringers), that the Vicar and his wife and family would be spared for many years to live and work amongst them in the parish.

In reply, the Vicar thanked the churchwardens and the ringers for their peal of welcome to Hughendon, also for the handsome tablet presented to the church recording it. He admitted that he himself was also a ringer, but parochial duties in the past had prevented his following up the work of the belfry.

Mr. J. Evans, C.C., and Mr. W. H. Fussell, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Vicar and wardens for their presence in the belfry, and a touch of London Surprise Major was then rung to seal the ceremony.

During the remainder of the evening, from 6 to 8 p.m., other touches were rung to Cambridge, Superlative, and Bristol Surprise Major, relieved by Double Norwich and Stedman, so that everyone could enjoy a short pull. The team whose names appear on the tablet were all present, and rang a course in the same order and method, viz., W. Henley, Mrs. Mayne, W. H. Fussell, W. Welling, J. Evans, H. Wingrove, G. Martin and C. C. Mayne.

Hughendon tower has a long association with the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Here a good many ringers throughout England (for the past fifty years) have scored their 'first' in a peal of Stedman or Major, and these lines may serve to remind them of a happy visit to St. Michael's tower in the days of their youth. It possesses a well-bound volume, beautifully written up, containing particulars of all the peals rung on the bells since they were increased to an octave in 1831 as a memorial to the late Earl of Beaconsfield.

The churchwardens' accounts go back to 1685, when there was a ring of four bells, and amongst the interesting entries may be found the following items:—

1688.—I paid Ringers for Gunpowder Treason, 2s. 6d.

1691.—For a Bushell of Malt for Ringers, 4s.

1694.—Paid for Ringing ye Bell on Queen's burial day, 1s. 6d.

1702.—Paid Grove for Malt for the Coronation, 7s.

1705.—Paid Wright for 2 Bushells of Malt, 6s.

1717.—Two Quarters of Tobacco spent on Ringing Days, 9d.

1723.—Pd. D. Weedon ironwork for ye Bells of ye Church, 17s. 08d.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.
NEWBURY BRANCH.

A meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at East Garston on Saturday, September 6th, when the following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Beedon, Childrey, Highclere, Newbury, Overton, Shaw, Thatcham, and the local ringers. Service was conducted by the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (Rector of Shaw), who gave a very interesting address on the history of bells. Miss S. Davis presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Village Hall by Mrs. Liddiard, when 25 sat down to an excellent meal.

The business meeting followed, over which the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford presided, supported by the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. H. W. Curtis). The annual meeting was fixed for Newbury on Saturday, November 15th.

Hampstead Norris bells, it was announced, are to be rededicated on Sunday, September 21st, at 6 p.m.

Messrs. H. and G. Garrett, of Overton, were elected as unattached members, and hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. Kingsley Kefford for his address and presiding at the meeting, to Miss Davis for presiding at the organ, and to Mrs. Liddiard for providing the tea. The tower was again visited afterwards, and the following methods rung: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Maids Moreton on Saturday, September 6th, this being the first time for a good many years that a meeting had been held. The attendance was very good considering that the place lies rather wide of the activities of the branch. About twenty-five members were present, and the ringers were welcomed by the Vicar (the Rev. O. Worne), who has only been in the parish a few months. It was his first experience of a ringers' meeting, as he had never previously been at a church where there was a full peal of bells.

Service was held, conducted by the Vicar, who in his address to the ringers said that it was a great delight to be able to address them. Although he knew nothing whatever about bells, it was very interesting to know that such organised branches of ringers existed, and for the good work that must result, and he hoped to see more of such meetings. Tea was served in the Parish Hall, and a very pleasant time was spent, the Vicar, by his very witty stories, keeping the ringers highly amused.

The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) thanked the Vicar for his very warm welcome to the branch, and for making such a successful meeting. This was very suitably responded to, and further ringing then took place, the methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Minor. Other members visited Buckingham to ring on the peal of eight, and a course of Cambridge Major was brought round.

CHIPPING NORTON DEANERY.

The autumn meeting of the Chipping Norton Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, September 6th, a large number of ringers being present. The Guild's special form of service was used, and was conducted by the Rev. E. C. Freeman, assisted by the Rev. Nind. The address was given by Archdeacon Crosse. Tea was held at the Bull Hotel, with upwards of forty sitting down. After tea, a short business meeting was held, presided over by the chairman (the Rev. E. C. Freeman).

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Burford and to Archdeacon Crosse for preaching such an interesting sermon. Churchill was proposed for the spring meeting.

Visitors were present from several of the neighbouring branches, and a very hearty welcome was extended to them.

The ringers afterwards visited the bell foundry of Mr. Bond, and were shown the most interesting art of bell casting, which he had in process.

Further ringing afterwards brought to a close a most enjoyable day.

FARMBOROUGH RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, August 30th, the ringers of Farmborough, near Bath, had their annual outing in lovely weather. Leaving Farmborough with fourteen aboard a comfortable charabanc, they enjoyed a nice ride to Castle Cary, Marston Magna and Taunton, and on to Bridgewater for tea. Continuing the journey, a stop was made at Mark and West Pennard, where ringing was participated in by all, the methods rung being Surprise, Grandsire, Plain Bob and Minor. Thanks are due to the incumbents for use of the bells in the churches visited, also to those who had everything in readiness at each tower. Home was reached at 11 p.m. after a splendid outing.

NORBURY, CHESHIRE.—On Monday, August 25th, in 46 mins., a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,280 changes): D. Gosling (first attempt for a quarter-peal) 1, J. Fernley, sen., 2, R. E. Jones 3, J. Baneroff (first quarter-peal for twenty years) 4, J. Fernley, jun., 5, W. Fernley 6, J. W. Hartley 7, E. Bennett (conductor) 8.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL. HOW TO CALL THE PEAL.

Recent references in these columns to touches from and the calling of Holt's Original have brought us several inquiries as to the best way of conducting this famous peal, and a well-known ringer deals with this subject in the article which follows.

However you approach it, Holt's Original is not an easy peal to call. I make no comparisons between it and other difficult compositions, but in the view of most people who are competent to judge there is nothing which taxes the ability of a conductor of Grandsire Triples more than John Holt's one-part. And yet every Grandsire Triples conductor ought to make the calling of this peal a goal to be reached sooner or later. The mastery of the calling requires a fair amount of concentration. There are a hundred and forty-eight bobs and two singles, and they have just got to be learnt from beginning to end; there is no regularity about their positions, or even any 'blocks' of calling which recur to help the memory. Nevertheless, every average Grandsire conductor ought to be able to master it. To some men the calling of this peal comes as easily, when conducting, as saying the alphabet and, what one can do, others who give the necessary application to the task ought also to be able to accomplish.

What is the best way of learning the peal? That is the question which chiefly seems to concern those who aspire to calling it. I have heard of people who have set it to verse, and of one well-known conductor who went to a memory-training institute to have a system of mnemonics adapted to it. This system was such a profound 'secret' that it died with the conductor—the authors, of course, having forgotten all about it. Unquestionably, to my mind, the best way of learning the peal is by the bells 'Before.' I have known conductors who have learnt it by making one particular bell the 'observation bell,' but that has its drawbacks, because the conductor is then almost sure to find himself limited to ringing that particular bell every time he wants to call this composition. Another conductor, I remember, called it by learning the number of leads between the bobs. There are, in my opinion, decided disadvantages in this method, such as the added mental effort which is necessary and risk of error in counting the leads from one call to the next while the ringing is in progress.

By calling the peal from the bells 'Before,' one has a simple guide to the places of all the bobs. In case it is necessary to explain to any reader what is meant by bells 'Before,' I might here say that a bell is said to be called 'Before' in Grandsire, when it is going to make third's place—the one place in Grandsire not affected by a bob. The conductor who can see the least bit further than the work of his own bell can watch the bell which has to be called 'Before' gradually working into position. Assuming that he has two or more leads to run before the bob is called, each time he passes the bell in question he will find one other bell less between it and the treble, until, when the bell to be bobbed has dodged in 4-5 up, it will be followed, up and back to the lead, immediately by the treble, and the bob is called when the bell 'Before' leads. In brief, the bell which is coming 'Before,' is coursing in the lead before the bob immediately in front of the treble.

The first thing to do then, when starting on Holt's Original, is to learn the bells 'Before.' Now there are two ways in which these may be treated. You may learn the whole 150 off by heart, as they occur, or you can reduce the number of bells to be memorised by calling certain of them 'Before with a double.' This expression means that a bob has to be called at two consecutive leads; that is to say, when the bell comes 'Before' and again at the next lead when it will dodge in 6-7 down, or 'Wrong,' as this calling position is known. By memorising the doubles, I always think, the risk of confusion when calling is reduced, and any system which lessens the chance of a 'mix-up' of the bells is worth adopting.

It is quite certain that when you set about learning the peal, however you learn it, you will automatically reduce the calling to 'groups.' I don't know whether any two conductors ever group the bobs in exactly the same way, and each new aspirant will probably make up his own grouping. In other words, he will make his own 'parts,' although there will be no similarity between them.

Then there is another thing to do, and one in which, again, conductors are likely to follow their own inclinations, and that is to pick out certain 'landing places' in the peal where one may be certain that the bells are right. The ideal conductor, of course, is he who knows if the bells are right from beginning to end, who can transpose the coursing order from start to finish as he goes along, and who can actually anticipate in his own mind the change which will be effected in the coursing order by the next bob. But all conductors of Grandsire have not reached that stage—if they had there would be no need for this article—and therefore it is well, in calling a peal, that they should have certain points where they may be sure whether or not the bells are right. Incidentally it should be remembered that one advantage of calling Holt's Original by the bells 'Before' is that if there is a 'shift course' by any pair of bells except 2nd and 6th (which are not called 'Before' until the last four leads), sooner or later, and sooner rather than later, a bell which should come 'Before' will be found to be in the hunt, from which position, of course, it is impossible to call it 'Before.'

But apart from this check upon the accuracy of the ringing, it is as well to have some well-marked and readily observed places where the position of all the bells can be seen. For this purpose some easily recognised changes, and not too many of them, should be selected. They mark the intervals of the peal and, if nothing else, it is always a comfort to the conductor to know definitely that the bells are still running in their proper order. From what has been written it will be seen that the 'make up' for the calling of the peal rests very largely with the conductor, but I give below the way in which I set out the peal and group the calls, together with the landing places which I make. It should be noted that the latter do not always come at a call; it may be one or more leads after the call indicated by the *.

The following are the bells 'Before,' and the letter D after a figure means that that bell is called 'Before with a double.'

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

Although the weather on Saturday and the inaccessibility of the village might easily have resulted in the Guildford District meeting at Dunsfold being a double 'washout,' thanks to over twenty enthusiasts who came from the local company, S. Nicolas' and the Cathedral Church, Guildford, Cranleigh, Croydon, Haslemere, Old Woking, Godalming, Seale and Aldershot, this was not the case.

Various touches of Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Doubles were brought round on this light ring of six, and the usual form of service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. E. Hollins), whose informal address was much appreciated.

As the secretary was unable to think of any business matters for discussion, in place of the usual meeting after tea, the Rector conducted the ringers round the ancient and interesting church, and pointed out the various 'show' items, from the sanctuary knocker on the seven hundred years' old door to the 'port, starboard and stern scuppers,' by which in days past the water was swept out of the church after the floor had been washed.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR
PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic post-cards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, where much ringing history has been made and the pioneer spirit in Maximus methods developed, has just had added one more new performance to its records. The enterprising band, under Mr. George Symonds' conductorship, rang a peal of Pudsey Surprise Maximus, on Saturday—the first ever.

As the footnote to the peal intimates, this is the eleventh Maximus method in which a peal has been rung by the society within the last ten years. There have been peals rung of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Forward, Duffield, Cambridge, New Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire and Pudsey, and in nearly, if not quite all of these, the distinguished veteran, Mr. Robert Brundle, has taken part. Saturday's peal was in celebration of his 79th birthday.

Visiting ringers will be welcomed at Hazelbeech, Northants, where there is a new ring of eight bells. In our notice columns the Rector of this little country parish invites applications.

The dedication of the new peal of bells at Walkden Parish Church, Lancs, is provisionally fixed for December 11th at 3 p.m.

'The first peal on the new ten bells' at Grantham was rung on September 19th, 1775. Although the bells were new, it took thirteen men to ring them to a peal—two on the ninth and three on the tenor. The bells couldn't have been on ball bearings.

Matt Wood, the famous old ringer of Bethnal Green and St Paul's Cathedral, who died in 1912, was born on September 22nd, 1826.

The attention of any ringer proposing to attend the Church Congress at Newport, October 4th to 11th, is directed to an announcement in our notice columns.

We hear that a very successful start was made with the Northants ringing week, the first four attempts resulting in two peals of London and two of Bristol Surprise.

Mr. F. Wilford, the popular Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, celebrated his 60th birthday on Monday. It is not too late to wish him 'many happy returns.'

EATON SOCON CHURCH RESTORATION, TOWER ALREADY REINSTATED.

Energetic measures are being taken for the restoration of the Parish Church of Eaton Socon, Beds, destroyed by fire some few months ago. The contract for the rebuilding of the church on the original lines has been entered into for £15,000, and the tower has already been restored at a cost of £1,300, the ringing floor, clock floor, bell-cage floor and new roof having all been reinstated in best English oak and masonry, under the plans and direction of Messrs. Richardson and Gill, architects, of London. The Parochial Church Council are now considering the question of the bells, and we hope it will be possible for the restored peal to be ready when the church is reopened.

BROMLEY PARISH CHURCH BELLS.RESTORATION FUND APPEAL.

As stated in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' the ancient bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley, Kent, are being restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, after over 157 years of service. They are, as is pretty well known, a peal of eight by Thomas Jannaway, 1773, and all intact. There have been well over 200 peals rung on them, including some famous ones—a 12,176 of Bob Major in the year 1783, the first peal of Real Double Bob, and one which has always stood without dispute to be the first muffled peal rung in the kingdom, to the memory of Wm. Chapman, the leader of his day, and a famous ringer. But of late years, the bells have got more and more out of tune, and clattering and going very badly, so that a thorough restoration is much overdue. The work has now been placed in the hands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who are going to retune and recapper the whole peal, rehang in ball bearings, with new wheels and some new headstocks, and strengthen the frame with vertical bolts and angle plates, with their assurance that it will be a good sound job, and that the bells will tune up into an excellent peal. The estimated cost is approximately £250, and as money is difficult to raise at present in Bromley, owing to the fact that £300 has just been spent in cleaning and redecorating the church, the local ringers (the Society of Bromley Youths, established 1773) have promised to try to raise a portion of the required sum, and hereby appeal to all ringers, and especially to their ringing friends who have rung peals on the old bells, or any who may have rung on them, kindly to assist them in this matter. Any subscription, however small, would be gratefully received and acknowledged at the close of the appeal by:—

Mr. I. Emery, leader and steeplekeeper, 49, Wellington Road, Bromley, Kent, or

Mr. P. J. Spice, secretary, 5, Horsley Road, Bromley, Kent.

BOB MAJOR'S FIRST BOB MINOR!

Bob Major rang his first 720 of Bob Minor at Lawton, Cheshire, on September 5th: R. Major 1, E. Harper 2, T. Arrowsmith 3, W. Rigby (conductor) 4, G. W. Biddulph 5, W. Longman 6. This was R. Major's first attempt in the method, and the first time he has rung with the tenor in.

NEW BELLS AT GIGGLESWICK.A YORKSHIRE AUGMENTATION.

This small Yorkshire village had a red-letter day on August 23rd, when the opening of the augmented ring of six bells to eight bells at the Parish Church of St. Aikelda took place. The church itself is a most interesting building, dating from the twelfth century onward, and well repays a tour of inspection.

Originally there were only three bells at Giggleswick, but in 1880 these were augmented to six by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry. The present augmentation was made possible, and a long-standing ambition fulfilled, by a bequest of £250 made recently by Miss E. M. Bryning, the two new bells being intended as memorials to her late uncle, Mr. T. E. Foster.

To the great disappointment of all concerned, the Vicar of Giggleswick was unable to take part in the proceedings owing to a sudden illness, and the conduct of the service devolved on the Rev. C. C. Marshall, the president of the Yorkshire Association.

After the introductory prayers, a procession was formed to the belfry, where the bell founder (Mr. C. F. Johnston) handed the bell ropes to the churchwardens, who in turn handed them to the president for dedication. After the dedication, the ropes were handed to the steeplekeeper, Mr. J. Hodgson, and while the choir and clergy returned to the chancel the following rang a few rounds on the bells: P. J. Johnson 1, Mrs. J. Cotterell 2, R. Thomas 3, C. E. Lawson 4, J. Cotterell 5, G. Robinson 6, E. Simpson 7, W. O. Talbot 8.

Following the service, a bountiful tea was provided, and ringing indulged in until a late hour.

The tenor weighs 10½ cwt. in the key of A flat. The bells go splendidly, and are a great credit to the founders, both for running and tone.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.MEETING AT HENDON.

A very wet and dismal afternoon was made bright by some good ringing obtained at a meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at Hendon on Saturday last. The attendance, although below the average, was not too small, and all tastes were catered for. In the absence of the Vicar on holiday, the service was taken by the Rev. C. L. Waller, whose sincere welcome and good advice were much appreciated.

A good tea having been disposed of, the usual short business meeting was held. Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president) took the chair. Reference was made to the death of Mr. W. Dell, of Hadley, who died on August 5th, after a long illness. He was one of the foundation members of the association, and was well known to the older members. Those present stood in silence for a few moments as a last mark of respect to their late colleague.

Four new members were elected, and St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, chosen as the venue of the next meeting.

The thanks of the members were accorded to the Vicar (Rev. N. R. Boyd) for the use of the bells; to the Rev. C. L. Waller for his address at the service; to Mr. and Mrs. Hardy for arranging an excellent tea; and to Mr. C. H. Martin for his usual cordial welcome.

Afterwards a great variety of methods were practised—rounds for one or two learners present, with Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent, Double Oxford, College Single, Oxford Bob, Double Court and Cambridge Surprise to satisfy the more ambitious.

The very old church was an object of much interest. Recent restorations have caused the uncovering of a beautiful old 12th century archway at the east end, which had been partly covered in and partly cut through by a 14th century archway and window. These are the first traces of the earlier building yet discovered and caused much excitement when found.

PENTRE BELLRINGERS' BEREAVEMENT.

The many ringing friends of the three Pentre (Rhondda) ringing brothers—Messrs. W. Page, T. Page and H. Page—will extend to them their heartfelt sympathy at the loss of their mother, who passed away on Monday, September 8th, after a prolonged illness, patiently borne with Christian fortitude.

The late Mrs. Page came to Pentre over forty years ago from Ilchester (Somerset). She was the wife of a former Pentre ringer, and of her four sons, who became ringers, three are now recognised as amongst the ablest connected with the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, Mr. T. Page having also served the association as its Master.

The funeral took place on Saturday, September 13th, at Treorik Cemetery, conducted by the Vicar of Ystradyfodwg (the Rev. D. Spencer Jones). Members of the St. Peter's Society attended, and afterwards took part in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) with the bells half-muffled: J. Lovett 1, G. Palmer 2, W. Palmer 3, W. Heath 4, H. Davies (conductor) 5, F. Chamberlain 6, F. Lashury 7, H. Crabb 8. The ringers of the 4th and 6th kindly came from St. John's, Cardiff, to assist.

JOHN BRIANT.

NEW BIOGRAPHY OF THE HERTFORDSHIRE WORTHY.

Mr. Herbert C. Andrews, the hon. secretary of the East Herts Archaeological Society, has done a great service in publishing a volume upon John Briant, the Hertford bell founder and clockmaker, the centenary of whose death was suitably commemorated last year. Antiquarians have been at pains to search among the old bells in the churches of this country in order to give us something of their history, but we know very little of the founders of past centuries. Specimens of their handiwork remain; but of the men themselves our knowledge is of the scantiest. Of John Briant, however, we now have a most interesting biography, which gives us a close insight into the character of this old Hertfordshire worthy, who cast over 400 bells, which were to be found distributed over half the counties of England and even in Ireland, and whose turret clocks were among the best in the world, but who died in the shelter of the Marlborough almshouses at St. Albans. He was a man who was never satisfied that the best had been achieved; he was frequently experimenting to improve his craft; he was indulgent with his customers, when they were unable to pay for the work he had done, and he took a philosophical view of life. When an admirer of his genius and industry expressed regret that he had not acquired a competency to run a carriage, it is said he bluntly replied, 'I don't want a carriage; I'm satisfied with the station of life that God has placed me in. I've enjoyed more real pleasure in my favourite pursuits than the wealth of India could afford.'

John Briant enjoyed the confidence of church authorities in many parts of England, and the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln consulted him on the recasting of 'Great Tom' when that bell became cracked at the beginning of the last century. A letter on this subject which he wrote in January, 1828, is worth quoting. It is an illuminating document, dealing with the casting of big bells in those days:—

'Dear Sir,—I received your second letter duly, and now proceed to answer it. It would be of no use whatever to drill any hole—rely upon it, no more good would result from such an experiment than making the excision you mentioned in your first. (This was an inquiry whether any temporary improvement in the tone would be obtained by cutting a piece out of the bell as far as or a little beyond the crack.) It is in truth a cracked bell, and my experience of now more than upwards of half a century has never seen any remedy applied to one, although frequently attempted, nor do I entertain the least prophetic knowledge I ever shall; and I should be extremely sorry that any friend of mine should make an attempt to effect what I feel convinced is impossible to be accomplished.'

'In reply to the material question contained in your first letter, as to the probable expense, and the most eligible place to recast the bell at, I offer the following as my opinion after the most mature deliberation. It is now upwards of a century since a bell of this magnitude has been founded, consequently no living experience derivable from founders concerned in them is now available to guide us. We must, therefore, place our confidence for success in the account that has been handed down to us by others, aided by our own, and this will concur in giving the most decided preference to London for this reason: We know that there there is a furnace of sufficient capacity that has been proved over and over again, and has at all times been capable of producing that heat to the metal which is the desideratum for ensuring a good bell; and allow me to remind you heat is of all things what we have most to combat with for success.

'I have no fear of a good article with a proved furnace; but the great uncertainty of effecting a cast with a new one is greatly decreasing the probability of success. Not that I think it wholly impossible; and did I feel myself equal, as I have had so considerable experience in building furnaces both for myself and others, I should have had no repugnance to make an attempt; but the anxiety and care it would create upon my mind would be so great as to divest me of that equanimity I find necessary to retain at my advanced years.

'Exclusive of the great risk of a good cast in a new furnace, there would be a great deal of additional expense in consequence. A proper furnace would cost about £60, besides which there would be many incidental and necessary expenses in a new place of casting, all of which would be avoided if founded in London; and the expense to be considered against this is the amount of carriage. Whether water carriage is available, I cannot tell—probably not. If so, and land carriage is resorted to, you can be supplied with a new bell before the old one is removed, and the same conveyance that brings the new one to Lincoln can carry the old one back to London. I have made some inquiry as to the probable amount of the carriage, and, from the best information I can obtain, it would be less in proportion than one to two as to the erection of a furnace. But under every consideration London is the preferable place; nor is there another furnace now in England sufficient to contain the requisite quantity of metal.

'In confirmation of my opinion upon the difference of a new and an old furnace, we have an elucidation of it at Oxford. The great bell there had a new furnace erected to cast it in, and after casting and recasting three times, produced the worst of all great bells in England. St. Paul's, which was recast in 1709 in London, turned out a good one the first heat—the proved furnace in London being capable of producing the requisite intensity of heat, but which the new furnace at Oxford could not effect after three attempts. And in a work of this magnitude I submit, with great deference, no experiment ought to be tried; yet, if the Dean and Chapter should desire to have it founded in their Cathedral, so far as my best judgment and experience might be rendered useful, it would be one of my highest gratifications to promote their wishes.

'It would be impossible, not having particularly noticed the groined roof where you propose to take this stupendous bell up and down, and also some other matters connected with it, to state anything like an accurate sum, but I think the operation of recasting will be from £200 to £250.

'In undertakings of this nature, which so seldom occur, I am exceedingly happy that it is to be effected by so liberal and learned a body as the present Dean and Chapter of Lincoln, as upon their arrangements everything depends; and I entertain no doubt a proper regard will be had to obtain the greatest excellence, in preference to adopting a system that has of late been resorted to by inferior bodies, to induce persons contracting to execute their orders at so low a price as to sacrifice all other considerations, of which there is a notable instance recently at Liverpool.

'Having myself declined founding, I hope readily to receive your assent, as well as of those concerned, that I am not influenced by any other feelings in this affair, than a most ardent desire to be instrumental in producing as good a bell as the old one, which was the most superior great bell in England, and in the attainment of which object I hope I shall not be found to shrink from any exertions. On the subject of a new or an old furnace I have personally conferred with Mr. Mears, the London founder, whose opinion and mine are in unison in this respect. Should it be thought well, we shall be happy of an opportunity to examine the place, and to confer with you upon any further steps in this business, of which you will be pleased to let me know. Any communication for the succeeding three weeks will find me if addressed to King's College, Cambridge, where I am going to fix a new turret clock.'

Briant's advice was not immediately followed. The experiment of cutting a piece out of the bell proved a failure, and the bell was eventually recast in 1834, five years after Briant's death.

The story of Briant's life and work is admirably told by Mr. Andrews, who also gives us some no less interesting details of some of his various foremen and bell tuners. One of these was Robert Taylor, whose name, although he was not strictly an assistant of Briant, appears on an 1816 bell at Riseley, in conjunction with Briant's. He served an apprenticeship with Edward Arnold at St. Neots, and took over the foundry at his death in 1800. Later the firm became R. Taylor and Son. They removed to Oxford in 1821, and later to Loughborough, where they laid the foundations of the present famous business. Briant's own business was taken over by Messrs. Mears, of Whitechapel.

Mr. Andrews has made a comprehensive survey of Briant's work, and devotes a chapter to his stamps and inscriptions, gives a chronological list of his bells and a county list with details of recastings and other information concerning them and the clocks he manufactured. This work, as far as we know, is the first devoted to a single bell founder, and it would be a great addition to the bibliography of bells if historians could be found to bring to light for us the story of other old members of the bell founding craft. This volume, which has been admirably printed by Messrs. Wm. Cartmel and Sons, of St. Albans, is illustrated by a number of plates, and is published at 6s. 6d.

FAIRFORD RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On Saturday, August 30th, the Fairford ringers held their annual outing. Leaving Fairford at 7.35, they reached Prestbury at 8.50, and there they were met by Mr. T. Pendry, and the nice peal of eight bells were set going for about an hour. Proceeding to Tewkesbury Abbey, the party were met by the Rev. E. G. Benson and an old friend and late ringer of Fairford, Police Inspector G. W. Hastings. The lovely peal of ten was soon going to Grandshire Triples and a course of Grandshire Caters. Going on to Upton-on-Severn, the company enjoyed a splendid hot lunch, which had been kindly arranged by Mr. C. Camm. This was very much enjoyed. Steps were made to the church, where ringing took place on the peal of eight. Ledbury was reached later, but on this ring of eight the ringing was not good, as the ropes were new and stretched a lot. Arriving at Newent, ex-Sergt. J. Williams had a splendid tea awaiting the party. On the nice peal of six bells, Grandshire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung. Barnwood, where there is a lovely light peal of eight, was the last stop, and the party were received by Mr. Waite and his two sons. Grandshire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung. Mr. Waite had kindly arranged for supper, and, after a satisfactory repast, the tables were cleared and the handbells were set going to touches and tune making, a very enjoyable wind-up to the outing, Fairford being reached at 11.20.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association was held at Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Notts, on Saturday. Although it was a very wet and dismal afternoon, the meeting was well attended, and several visitors were welcomed. Good use was made of the five bells (which were rehung and augmented from three to five in 1927) until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. Smith). Tea in the schoolroom was followed by the business meeting, and the Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the association, and expressed his delight in meeting an old friend in Mr. H. Haigh, of Worksop, who was for many years the secretary of the North Notts Association.

Six new members were elected, and Mr. Ashman, of Crich, extended an invitation to all ringers to visit Crich, Derbyshire, on Saturday next, when a board, recording the first peal on the bells, since their augmentation, will be dedicated.

Several items of business were disposed of, and the meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and local workers who provided tea, and Mr. G. Rawson, a visiting member, who officiated at the organ.

Further ringing took place until 8.30 in a number of methods. Members were present from Blackwell, Crich, Kirkby, Morton, South Normanton, Ripley, Selston, Sutton-in-Ashfield and Tibshelf.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.A MIXTURE OF METHODS AT HOLLOWAY.

A meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association was held at St. Mary Magdalene's, Holloway, on Saturday. Proceedings were due to commence with ringing at 3.30 p.m., but, owing to the inclement state of the elements, there were still only a few present at 4 p.m., when a start was made with Stedman Triples. The rain having ceased before the touch, the attendance showed signs of increasing, and before long there was an expert band in the tower, and good ringing was done up till 5.30 p.m., when an adjournment was made for tea. The latter was served at Lyons, and altogether seventeen sat down to do it justice.

The tower was revisited at 6.30 p.m., and a short business meeting held, the only important item being the election of a District Ringing Master, which position had been vacant since the resignation of Mr. F. E. Alloway, in January last.

Mr. John H. Crampion, of Woodford, was elected to fill this office.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and steeple-keeper for their kindness in allowing the ringing, and also to the young man who opened and closed the tower, and who was also put through his first course of Grandsire Triples on the treble.

There being no further business, the chairman's hammer was put back into its cage, and the meeting was closed. By this time, a large number of the leading lights of London ringing circles were present, and a course of Cambridge was rung. The bells having got over this method were then put to some more Grandsire Triples, followed by Double Norwich and Plain Bob Major. Superlative was then essayed, and a very good course rung, the best of the evening. London having already been rung during the afternoon, Bristol Surprise was attempted and brought round in very good style. This encouraged still further efforts, and, after some more Grandsire Triples, a course of Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung. It was then decided to ring some Bob Major, and a course of London to conclude the meeting, but, after the Bob Major, news was brought that two old ladies living near the church had made loud complaints about the ringing, and the Master, deeming prudence the better part of valour, decided to close the proceedings without ringing the London. The most successful meeting of the district for some considerable time was thus brought to a close. The attendance was moderate, about 25 being present, but the standard of ringing (both methods and striking) was good, there being ten different methods rung, and it is believed to be the first time that Bristol and Yorkshire Surprise have been rung at a Northern District meeting.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at
RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM.

According to a correspondent, a situation has arisen in an Essex tower, which has occurred from time to time in other places and which requires handling with tact and care. It appears that there are sufficient ringers to ring the bells, but some are change ringers who want to make headway in the art, others are not change ringers and have no desire to learn. The result is a division in the camp which threatens to leave the bells unring for services. There are not enough change ringers fully to man the bells on Sundays, and the others will have no part in it if for a substantial portion of their time they have to 'sit out' and watch the efforts of the change ringers. Our correspondent invites advice from those competent to give it, and we imagine there will be considerable diversity in the replies which may be expected. Whether, however, there will be as many satisfactory solutions of the problem remains to be seen.

It ought, of course, to be borne in mind, as our correspondent points out, that the essential use of bells is for service ringing and in any step that is taken it should be the aim of everyone to maintain the ringing on Sundays. The question is not an easy one to settle, and it seems to us that in a case of this kind there must be concessions on both sides. The non-change ringers ought to put no obstacle in the way of their colleagues who want to make headway by practising the art and the change ringers, while making every effort to induce the rest to see the extended interest which can be obtained from change ringing, ought to consider the positions of the old 'stoney' men.

If, prior to the coming of change ringing they have rendered long and loyal service to the Church within the limits of their talent and opportunity, they ought to receive the greatest consideration, which, in the end, would probably well repay itself. If the two sides can meet in good will a compromise ought to be possible. If the 'stoney' men will definitely not entertain learning change ringing and their past services and present numbers justify it, they ought, in our opinion, to be given facilities to share in the ringing. If it cannot be agreed to share the same periods allotted for ringing, would it not be possible for alternate practices and alternate Sundays to be allotted to the two groups, with the clear understanding that if individuals of one side desired to join in the ringing of the other they should be entitled to do so? In this way the conflicting forces might be brought closer together; in any event there should be sufficient give and take between the ringers to ensure that the bells are fully manned for Sundays. This being done, the non-change ringers ought to give the change ringers full opportunity to practice their art and to enlarge their numbers. This is the kind of settlement which we would suggest. What do our readers say?
