SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF DORCHESTER BRANCH.

The last of the summer meetings of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held in fine weather at Wool on Saturday week. A motor-coach left Weymouth at 2 p.m., and on the route picked up Upwey, Dorchester, Fordington and Sydling members. A halt was made at Puddletown, where the party were welcomed by Canon A. L. Helps and Mr. W. Hewlett, captain of the local band. After a ring on the bells Canon Helps kindly conducted the members of the party round his church and pointed out items of interest, for which he was afterwards thanked. Another halt was made at Bere Regis, and members visited the fine old village church, but time would not permit of a ring on the mellow peal of bells that hang in the tower. The journey was continued across the heath to Wool, which was reached in good time for the service. The Vicar (the Rev. E. S. Tarrant) and his churchwardens and ringers met the members as they arrived at Wool. The bells were rung by various bands up to 4.30 p.m., when the guild office was conducted by the Vicar. There was a large congregation. The following towers were represented: Bradford Peverell, Bere Regis, Fordington, Sydling, Upwey, West Lulworth, Wool and Wyke Regis. Members from Bournemouth, Poole and Evershot were also present.

The organist and choir were in attendance. The Vicar gave a most interesting address on the use of bells. Following the service the ringers adjourned to the parish hut, where a bountiful tea, kindly provided by the good people of Wool, was partaken of, members and friends to the number of between 80 and 90 being waited on by a willing band of ladies.

After tea a short business meeting was held. The secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings) reported the receipt of a telegram from Mr. R. N. Dawes (chairman of the Dorchester Branch) regretting his inability to attend, and in his absence the Vicar was voted to the chair. Apologies for absence were also received from the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Grundy), general secretary (the Rev. F. L. Edwards), Archdeacon Moule (Abbotsbury), the Rev. A. L. Bryant (Rector of Upwey), Mr. E. Hutchings (Abbotsbury), Mr. Hewlett (Puddletown), Mr. J. Ralph (assistant secretary, North Dorchester Branch).

The Rev. E. S. Tarrant was proposed as honorary member, and Capt. G. and Mrs. Wheeler, of Wyke Regis, were both elected associate members. Mr. A. C. Trotman, of Littlebredy Vicarage, was elected a ringing member.

It was resolved to hold the annual meeting at Dorchester either in December or early in January.

The Rev. C. A. Phillips, Bournemouth, proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar for taking the service and use of bells, to the organist and choir, the ladies for serving at the tables, the local band, and the good people of Wool for giving the tea.—The vote of thanks was seconded by the Rev. C. D. Job (Vicar of West Lulworth).

Responding, the Vicar said it was a great pleasure to welcome them there for the first time since he had been at Wool. He gave a brief history of his own bells, and said they were rung for Communion services at 8 a.m., on feast days and after evensong. He spoke about the bells of England, and mentioned he heard the carillons in Belgium last month. He also referred to the fact that this year was the tercentenary of the birth of Fabian Stedman, and that the ringers of England were going to carry out restoration of the bells where he rang at St. Bene't's Church, Cambridge, to commemorate the event.

The secretary gave a short resume of the Ringers' Pilgrimage to the Menin Gate in August.

The meeting concluded, some of the members went up again to the tower and rang on the nice-toned bells of Wool. Others went on to West Lulworth, and everywhere the members were given a most cordial welcome.

THE 'COLOUR' PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to find that there was some inaccuracy in the report of the 'colour' peal rung in Kent on September 20th. Unless the recent meetings of the British Association have decided otherwise, there are no more than seven colours, viz., red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. I can find that only one of these was represented.

However, apart from this small inconsistency, the idea behind it all is excellent. In these modern times the advance of ringing has been so rapid that there are no new methods or fresh compositions left to be rung, and if the existence of the Exercise is to be preserved we must step out in some entirely novel direction. We have had Masons' peals, police peals and so on, but we have yet to hear a newspaper peal, rung by an editor, a compositor, a paper boy, etc.

Then let us have a general ailments peal. Treble, chronic indigestion; second, wooden leg; third, cross eyed, etc.; the method, Stedman Triples, with a conductor who stutters, so that the odd and even bobs come just right. The ringers would, of course, form their own association, with subscriptions devoted to the purchase of patent medicines.—Yours faithfully,

S. E. ARMSTRONG.

Brighton.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.CANON COLERIDGE'S PRACTICAL LESSON.

A most successful quarterly meeting of the Sounding Deanery Branch was held at Waltham St. Lawrence on Saturday, when ringers were present from Binfield, Finchampstead, Sandhurst, Twyford, Wokingham (All Saints) and the local band. Ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m. and later a service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. D. Brown), the Rev. — Smythe reading the lesson. A practical address was given by Canon Coleridge (chairman of the branch) from the words of St. Paul to Timothy, 'No striker.' The reverend gentleman dwelt on three incorrect ways in which he had seen ringers handle their ropes, persistence in which would go far to earn for them the opprobrious title of 'No striker.'

Later in the belfry Canon Coleridge demonstrated to the ringers present the correct ways of rope handling, for which he had pleaded in his sermon.

Tea, kindly provided by the Vicar, was served in the Schoolroom, about 40 sitting down, including Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, of Groydon.

The hon. secretary (Mr. W. J. Paice) thanked all who helped to make the meeting a success, and voiced the appreciation of those present at having with them Mr. and Mrs. Johnston.

The Vicar, after welcoming the branch to the parish, called upon Canon Coleridge to present Mr. Cooper, one of the local ringers, with a sum of money subscribed by the Waltham ringers and a few friends as a mark of appreciation on his completing 40 years as a ringer at the Parish Church.—Canon Coleridge, in a humorous speech, congratulated Mr. Cooper, who briefly replied.

Methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Cambridge.

The bells have recently been rehung and retuned by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the tone and 'go' being much admired.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The usual monthly meeting was held at Idle, where the ringers had not been idle, but had made efficient preparations for the ringers, who assembled from Arnsley, Bramley, Batley, Calverley, Pudsey, Bradford and the local company. Ringing commenced at 3.30 p.m. and continued until 9 p.m. except for the intervals for tea and the business meeting. Two new members were elected. The methods rung were Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise. 'That's all' was called on a very enjoyable meeting.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.PRESENTATION TO A DEPARTING RECTOR.

A special meeting of the East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association was held at South Normanton on Saturday, September 26th, to pay tribute to the Rector, the Rev. J. H. Lewis, who has resigned, and will shortly be leaving, after 40 years' ministry in this parish. The bells were raised at 3 o'clock, and a service was arranged to give the members the opportunity of hearing the Rector for probably the last time. He has been closely associated with this organisation for 38 years, as an hon. member, and has always taken a personal interest in church bellringers. The service was well attended and the Rector gave an interesting address.

The secretary, Mr. J. W. England, read the lesson, and Mr. E. W. Riley presided at the organ.

Tea was generously provided by the Rector in the schools, and afterwards the president, Mr. Wilson Dobb, who took the chair, explained in a few well-chosen words the object of the meeting. The secretary followed with an account of the activities of the Rector, mentioning his public work and broad-minded sympathy with people of all shades of opinion. It was worth recording, he said, that on the committee arranging a parochial testimonial were four representatives of the Nonconformist places of worship.

Mr. James Rawson, vice-president, and an old friend, also addressed the gathering, and then the Rev. R. O. Wilson, past president of the association, handed to the Rector a gift from the members in the form of a silver inkstand, suitably inscribed.

On rising to reply, the Rector was heartily cheered. The gift was quite a surprise. He paid a tribute to the work of all ringing societies, and said that during his ministry he had noted the great strides made in the behaviour of ringers in general, and particularly in belfry conditions.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. R. O. Wilson was moved by the treasurer (Mr. T. Stimpson) and seconded by Mr. W. Allin; the Rector was also thanked for the bounteous tea, and thanks were accorded to the ladies who had carried out the work. The singing of the Doxology concluded the proceedings, and further ringing took place in various methods from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor. Members were present from Ault, Hucknall, Blackwell, Mansfield, Mansfield Woodhouse, Melbourne, Morton, Old Brampton, Pleasley, Ripley, Selston, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Swanwick, Tibshelf and Heanor.

The congratulations of the whole Exercise will go out next Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, of Stoneham Road, Eastleigh, Hants, who on that day will celebrate their golden wedding.

Ringers attending the Middlesex Association meeting at Barnet tomorrow should note that the tea is at the Red Lion Hotel, close to the church, and not at the Salisbury Hotel, as previously advertised.

Do any of our readers know of a heavier tenor than Yeovil, which was originally 44 cwt., cast by the Bilbies, of Chewstoke?

A grandfathers' peal has been rung at Marden, Kent, by a band whose combined ages totalled 522 years.

Last week a peal of London Surprise Major was lost at Guildford. The inquest lasted nearly an hour, many witnesses being called and much documentary evidence produced. Eventually the jury returned a verdict of 'death by misadventure, there being no evidence to show how the change course took place.' One witness ventured the suggestion that the deceased might have swallowed a 'bob' that did not belong to him, but the Coroner pointed out that this was impossible, as, while the symptoms were in part similar, the post-mortem examination failed to establish its existence. There is no truth in the statement that the police have now taken the matter in hand.

In an attempt for a peal of New Cambridge Surprise Royal at Leicester Cathedral on Saturday, a rope came down in the last course!

Mr. John Hallows, who rang the treble to a peal of Boh Major at Middleton, Lancs, on Saturday, is 75 years of age, and has been ringing at St. Leonard's Church, Middleton, since 1876.

At Ipswich, Mr. James Smith has rung his first peal of Treble Bob—and he is in his 71st year!

The many friends of Mr. Harry Barton, of Ventnor, who was formerly well known in London ringing circles, will deeply sympathise with him on the death of his wife, which has occurred in Australia, whither she went some months ago in the hope that she would recover her health.

THE PAINSWICK 'PEAL.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—While cordially approving of a tablet commemorating the wonderful feat of mental and physical endurance implied in the ringing of 17,687 changes, it seems most unfortunate that reference should not have been made to the error in the composition which disqualifies it from being a 'true peal' in the sense in which all ringers understand the term.

Perhaps there might still be added a few words indicating that by an oversight in the composition some changes were repeated, but without really affecting the merits of a marvellous performance. I think something of the kind is necessary to satisfy the general feeling of the ringing world, and at the same time it ought to content those who took part in the ringing and have suffered such a cruel disappointment.—Yours faithfully,

J. S. PRITCHETT.

King's Norton.

TO IMPRESS FUTURE GENERATIONS?

Dear Sir,—I think the whole Exercise is indebted to both the correspondent who supplied the information and yourself for the manner in which you have exposed this latest affront from Painswick. To my mind, this tablet has been erected with the DELIBERATE intention to impress future generations of ringers that it was a true peal, otherwise why not mention the fact that it was false? From the beginning the Exercise was suspicious of the performance, seeing that some two months elapsed before the figures were published, and when it was pointed out that it was false the conductor merely told us that the Painswick Youths made their own rules and still claimed to have rung the greatest number of changes on twelve bells, thereby meaning to claim the record. Did their courage fail them in placing this claim on the tablet? To sum it all up, it means that by fair means or otherwise they intend to stick to this ignominious performance.—Yours faithfully,

Portsmouth.

F. W. ROGERS.

MR BRUNDLE'S THANKS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I desire to thank all my ringing friends for congratulations and good wishes on my 80th birthday, and particularly my comrades of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, for their enthusiasm in arranging a peal, and our friends from Saffron Walden and Cambridge who took part for the occasion.—Yours sincerely,

5, Wellington Street, Ipswich.

TREBLE BOB ROYAL IN SEVEN COURSES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. G. E. Symonds claims the 5,160 Treble Bob Royal rung at Ipswich on Saturday, August 29th, 1931, to be the first rung in seven courses. This same peal was rung at Manchester Cathedral on April 21st, 1909. Also 5,376 of Maximus in five courses was rung at Ashton on March 25th, 1909, by the Ashton company, and both were conducted by Mr. Samuel Wood, of Ashton.—Yours sincerely,

B. THORP.

THE STEDMAN TRICENTENARY. RINGERS INVITED TO INSPECT BELLS AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

Excellent progress is being made with the restoration of St. Bene't's bells, Cambridge. The reconstruction of the old timber frame in the foundry is almost completed, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. will be pleased for any ringers interested to visit their foundry at Loughborough at any time between now and October 20th to inspect the ancient bells and framework.

The builders' work in the tower is going ahead in a most satisfactory way, and the re-erection of the bells will probably be begun about Monday, October 26th.

All being well, therefore, the restoration will be completed in ample time to permit the reopening to take place as provisionally planned, on Saturday, December 5th, and ringers who contemplate organising an excursion to Cambridge for the occasion should make their arrangements accordingly.

Subscriptions to the fund which have been promised and not yet forwarded should be sent either to

The Editor,

'The Ringing World,'

Woking, Surrey,

or to the hon. treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION'S CONTEST. FRIEZLAND WIN FOR THE FIRST TIME.

A quarterly meeting and six-bell contest were held by the Halifax and District Association at Sowerby on Saturday, October 3rd. In the competition 600 changes were rung with the usual practice of three leads or one plain course allowed. The draw was as follows: 1 Helmsfirth (Oxford Treble Bob); 3 Friezland (Oxford Treble Bob); 5 Stainland (Kent Treble Bob); 6 Elland (Oxford Treble Bob); 2 Meltham (Oxford Treble Bob); 4 Sandal (Oxford Treble Bob). About 80 sat down to an excellent tea. The meeting followed, Mr. E. Earnshaw (president) occupying the chair.

Mr. E. Whiteley (Meltham) proposed and Mr. W. Ainley (Elland) seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, also to the ladies for providing an excellent tea, and this was carried unanimously. Mr. Briggs replied in the absence of the Vicar.

Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford) and Mr. V. Bairstow (Denholme) were judges, with Mr. F. Smith (Sowerby) marker. The result was read by Mr. J. Broadley as follows:—

- No. 1.—156 faults; total 156.
- No. 2.—20 penalty; 246 faults; total 266.
- No. 3.—20 penalty; 120 faults; total 140.
- No. 4.—214 faults; total 214.
- No. 5.—10 penalty; 204 faults; total 214.
- No. 6.—20 penalty; 360 faults; total 380.

No. 3 (Friezland) were presented with the cup by Mr. Salmon (Halifax), who congratulated Mr. Burgess, the conductor of the successful band, on their fine ringing.—Mr. Burgess expressed thanks on behalf of the Friezland ringers, and said how pleased the people of Friezland would be. It was the first time they had won the cup.

The next contest was, as usual, left in the secretary's hands to arrange. A vote of thanks to judges and chairman closed a very enjoyable meeting.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A pleasant and successful meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Acton on Saturday last, when over 35 members attended, and the bells pealed out, after nearly 11 months' silence, under the superintendence of the ringing master (Mr. Goodfellow). Methods to suit all were practised, from Grandsire Triples up to and including Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

The company had tea at Lyons' Restaurant, those present including the vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope), Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fardon, the Misses K. Bradford and E. Fulton, Messrs. J. H. Hinnisett, J. Herbert, A. Harding, G. R. Goodship, T. Collins, E. Turner, R. Mackrill, J. Prior, W. H. Seabrook, etc. The visitors included Mr. F. J. Reeve (president, Hertford County Association) and Mr. Gilkin, Congleton, Cheshire, who received a hearty welcome. The tower was visited after tea and further ringing till 8 p.m. brought a most enjoyable meeting to a close.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

MEMORIAL TO LATE PRESIDENT.

The members of the Midland Counties Association paid a tribute of respect to the memory of their late president, Alderman R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P., on Saturday, September 19th, when a brass mural tablet and silver chalice were dedicated at Littleover Parish Church, near Derby.

The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar of Littleover, the Rev. C. E. Brown, assisted by the Vicars of Spondon (Canon Farmer) and Boulton (the Rev. J. E. Young). Among those present were Mrs. R. B. Chambers, Miss Chambers, the Rev. F. C. Bayliss, Sir Henry and Lady Fowler, of Spondon Hall, Mr. W. Blews Robotham, of Littleover, Mrs. R. Robotham, of Darley Abbey, Mrs. Edmund Orme, and the churchwardens (Messrs. W. G. Haslam and F. Mount). Mr. E. Denison Taylor (president) and Mr. W. E. White (treasurer), of the M.C.A., were unavoidably absent through business ties, but the association was represented by the vice-president, Mr. William Willson, and the general hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Morris. There were also present Mr. W. W. Worthington (vice-president of the Burton District), Mr. H. Fletcher (vice-president of the Derby District), and Messrs. A. Sharp (secretary, Burton), E. C. Gobey (secretary, Notts), E. Bagworth (secretary, Leicester), J. H. Swinfield (C.C. representative), as well as other members from several districts of the association's activities.

The vice-president, Mr. William Willson, read the lesson (Rev. 21, v. 1-7), and also, in the name of the association, unveiled the mural tablet. This, with the silver chalice, was dedicated, and then the Vicar of Littleover, in a stirring address, paid a warm tribute of respect to the memory of the late Alderman Chambers. 'We often hear it said it does not matter what church you belong to,' said the Vicar, 'but each church lays its special stamp on you. In your late president you had the best type of English churchman. He was interested in education, but he mistrusted merely secular education. He was proud of England and the Empire, but he thought most of the soul of the Empire. His interests were many and varied, but in them all his selfless activity was marked. The Midland Counties' members know better than I his great love and interest in bells and also the association's welfare.'

The Vicar went on to say that the old silver chalice had stood and served the church at Littleover since 1687, or nearly 250 years, and he ventured to say the present memorial chalice would be cared for, and be as long a token of the members' respect for their late president.

The brass mural tablet is of neat design and inscribed:—

To the memory of
of Littleover House,

A Devoted Son of the Church.
5th January, 1850—28th April, 1929.

Lord, I have loved the habitation of Thy House, and the place where Thine honour dwelleth. This memorial is offered to the church, with a chalice, in grateful remembrance of their President, by the Midland Counties Association of Change Ringers.

In the evening the bells of St. Andrew's, Derby, were available to members.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

HELP FOR THORNTON CURTIS BELL FUND.

A very pleasant meeting of the Grimsby District was held at Thornton Curtis. The towers represented were Burton-on-Stather, Fighy, Barrow, Grimsby, Ukeby, Elsham, Killingholme and several unattached members, in addition to Mr. Stephenson, who represented Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The ring of six bells have recently been rehung and are a credit to the church and to the bellhangers. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Park), who gave the members a very interesting address, including a short history of the bells.

An excellent tea, to which 32 sat down, was very kindly provided by the Rev. and Mrs. Park.

The president (the Rev. H. T. Parry) presided over the business meeting, at which one new member was re-elected.

A collection was taken at the meeting, which amounted to 22s. 6d., and a proposal by the president that the Rev. J. H. Park be asked to accept it towards the bell fund was carried with applause.—In reply, the Vicar heartily thanked the members for their generosity and a previous donation.

The president asked the opinion of members of the 'go' of the bells, and it was the unanimous opinion that a good job had been made of the restoration.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and for his address, also for the splendid tea and for his arrangements on the lawn for the benefit of the members. Owing, however, to rain, the sports were cancelled. Thanks were also accorded to Mr. Warburton, the organist, to the helpers and to the president for presiding.

RINGING TOUR IN SIX COUNTIES.

MEMORABLE PEAL RINGING TRIP IN THE NORTH.

About a year ago, at the end of a week's ringing in the Northants district, a much more ambitious tour was mooted. It was necessary, of course, to make plans early, and certain ringers with motors, who were then present, were 'booked' as certainties (and necessities) for the trip. It was thought that at least five counties might be brought in, besides several twelve-bell towers, and with a few exceptions the early plans materialised. The late Mr. Tom Gofton was one of the leading spirits, and was working on plans for making the tour a success at the time of his death. His loss, and the withdrawal about the same time of another member of the original band, left gaps that were hard to fill, and the organisers of the tour quickly realised the difficulty of adequately filling Tom Gofton's place. In the end the party travelled but nine strong, making the tour rather too strenuous for some, but not so for the keen members of the band. All difficulties in this respect were overcome, however, by including one or two 'part-time' tourists in certain of the peals and by calling upon local talent at various places visited. It will be noted that 19 ringers took part in the peals rung.

The party being scattered, Stamford was chosen for the rendezvous on Saturday, September 19th, at 10.30 a.m., and punctually to time the band set off in two cars, driven by Bob Pye and Ted Duffield. Sheffield was reached as arranged, by 2 p.m., and many old and brought to an untimely end, one of the party, who had had enough experience to know better, almost hanging himself when raising a bell in peal. He has decided that in future he will leave such tasks to the experts who know exactly how to do the job, but don't try. The grand effect of the Minster bells was greatly admired, both inside and, particularly, outside the tower. Taking leave of Messrs. Horner, Fearnley and Co., who had done everything possible to make their short stay in York a pleasant one, the tourists moved on to Eserick. Bristol was attempted here, but after 70 minutes' ringing a Sunday afternoon feeling came over too many of the band at the same time, and the one (and only) unsuccessful attempt of the tour resulted.

THE FIRST BIG TASK.

Halifax was reached soon after dark, and next morning the first real big task of the tour was attempted. With the inclusion in the band of Ted Jenkins and Tom Worsley, the first peal of Cambridge Maximus in Yorkshire was rung. As the back bells had not been rung for several years, it was not surprising that some relief was caused by the completion of this peal. It was at this tower that the first of several newspaper reporters met the party. The departure from Halifax was made along a road lined with spectators, who had apparently turned out to see the Bishop and Archdeacon from Bolton and Wyke respectively. At Bradford Cathedral an excellent peal of Cambridge Royal was rung on a really grand ring of bells, at the conclusion of which the local ringers, including Messrs. Joe Broadley where the first peal of Bristol Surprise Major in Cumberland was rung during the Northern Tour.

CARLISLE CATHEDRAL,

Before their augmentation to eight a few years ago, the old six bells at the Cathedral had not been rung for more than a century.

One bell (the old 4th) is said to have been cracked while being chimed, with a rope tied to the clapper, at the news of the victory of Waterloo. It was recast in 1845 and previously was said to bear the following inscription: 'This ring was made six tuneable bells at the charge of the Lord Howard and other gentree of the countie and citie and officers of the garrison by the advice of Mager Jeremih Tolhurst, governor of the garrison, 1658.'

There is a tradition that the bells were rung on November 17th, 1745, when the Pretender entered Carlisle, and that for this they were condemned not to be rung again for 100 years.

new friends were found awaiting the arrival of the visitors. Local ambitions have to be respected, and Stedman Cinques was, in consequence, rung, a good peal being brought round. At the finish a pleasant hour was spent with the Sheffield ringers. Mr. M. E. Wilson (Master of the Cathedral band) welcomed the visiting ringers and congratulated them on the peal they had rung, adding that they had certainly given a lesson in good striking. Mr. C. T. Coles replied with sincere thanks to the Sheffield ringers, and, on behalf of the visitors, wished them success in attaining their ambition of ringing a peal of Cambridge Maximus. It was a pleasure to meet old friends. Arthur Knights, Sidney Palmer, Jack Holman, John Flint, etc., whilst the composition enthusiast in the party, meeting A. Knights for the first time, was soon discussing the 'latest' peals of Double Norwich, to the infinite relief of Gabriel Lindoff, who thereby had a rest.

A 50 mile ride brought the tourists to York by 11 p.m., and next morning a visit was paid to the Minster. Here the tour was nearly and Jim Cotterell, offered hearty congratulations. Coming from men who are reckoned as knowing good ringing, this was much appreciated. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Hughes kindly entertained the party to supper, the excellence and quantity thereof causing one or two a rather restless night.

Next morning the 60 mile run to Darlington was made in good time, and on this part of the journey the scenery began to change. Glorious rolling moors took the place of the towns of the north-midlands, and made touring much more enjoyable. At Darlington (St. Cuthbert's) a good peal of London was rung, and the now almost inevitable reporter and photographer put in his appearance. It was remarked, however, towards the end of the tour, that none of the photographs had been seen, and we can only assume that the many handsome faces all together were too much for the cameras.

Stockton-on-Tees was the next stopping place, and on the journey the one railway member of the party was keenly interested in what he took to be the old Stockton and Darlington railway. Arriving at Stockton, Mr. W. Newton, the only surviving original member and the 'father' of the Durham and Newcastle Association, was met. In the tower the Vicar also met the party, and kindly returned after the peal (Cambridge Royal) to help let down the bells and congratulate the band.

Mr. J. A. Goffton, who had brought Mr. J. E. Keen from Newcastle for the peal, made an excellent pilot to Whitley Bay, after a tour round the back streets of Stockton trying to find a way out of the town. North Farm was reached at 10.30 p.m., and the whole party was cordially welcomed by Mrs. T. T. Goffton, who felt quite sure that she was carrying out her late husband's wishes by entertaining his ringing friends just as he had planned to do. With several members of the Goffton family present, there was a pleasant supper party, but without the genial Tom one felt that something was missing.

A TOUCHING TRIBUTE.

It was with mixed feelings next morning that the party rang a peal on the bells he loved so well, and in the afternoon a tribute was paid to his memory when a wreath was laid on his resting place, just at the foot of the belfry stairs, by William Pye, who afterwards, with C. W. Roberts, G. R. Pye and C. T. Coles, rang a course of Stedman Triples on handbells over the grave.

In the evening, with Messrs. C. L. Routledge, W. H. Barber and J. E. Keen, the first peal of Cambridge Maximus in the county of Northumberland was rung at Newcastle Cathedral. The 'locals' in this peal were congratulated on a good performance without having had any chance of practice beforehand. Quite a crowd turned up in the belfry before and after the peal, including the inevitable Press reporters and photographers. It would be nice to see one of the many photos taken during the tour.

During the day a heavy reinforcement arrived in the shape of Rupert, of Surfleet, with his good lady, much to the joy of the tired members of the party, who had visions of a well-earned (?) rest.

After breakfast next morning a touching scene took place when one of the tourists made an attempt to thank Mrs. Goffton adequately for her hospitality. The particular member to whom this duty fell found it difficult to convey the gratitude felt by the band at the wholehearted welcome given to them; but it was a much more difficult matter for Mrs. Goffton to reply, and she made a brave effort to let her guests know that under no circumstances would she have abandoned the idea of entertaining her late husband's friends in the way he had planned, for his sake.

Shortly after this, a final farewell was paid to North Farm, and the 32 miles journey to Hexham Abbey, through some glorious country, commenced. Reaching Hexham to time, the party was met by the Vicar (the Rev. G. V. C. Farquhar) and Mr. H. W. Robson, the secretary of the Abbey ringers. Whilst a good peal of Superlative was being rung, those members of the band 'resting' enjoyed the sights of this fine old town and of the Abbey.

RUPERT'S RECORD AND DISAPPOINTMENT.

After lunch, another 40 miles was quickly covered, and Carlisle Cathedral reached by 4.30. Here Mr. J. Boustead met the tourists, and a peal of Bristol Surprise, the first in the county, was rung. On leaving the tower, the band was dismayed at hearing that Rupert, on arriving at the hotel, had found a telegram awaiting him, which necessitated his immediate return to Surfleet. Quite apart from the assistance he would have been in the remaining peals, his help at sewing buttons to two, or even three, garments at a time made his going a real loss to the party. The whole band felt sorry for him at his enforced departure, and for the curse of it, and a message of sympathy was sent to him and his good wife. Apparently, however, Rupert has some small consolation in knowing that he has set up a good record in travelling 550 miles by road for one peal!

Next morning London was rung at St. Stephen's, and during this performance one of the party enjoyed an hour's talk on bells and ringers with the Vicar, who afterwards met and congratulated the peal band.

A good run to Ambleside, through the gorgeous scenery of the Lake District, was appreciated by even the least romantic member of the party. At the tower Mr. W. Robinson had everything in readiness, and the bells, with a fine tenor weighing 324 cwt., were soon going to Bristol. In just under 3½ hours the first Surprise peal in the county was rung. After leave taking, the party went on to Kendal for the night, meeting the enthusiastic Edwin Jennings. At this place Cambridge Royal was rung, Mr. Jennings making quite an efficient treble man. This peal was completed by 11.30 a.m., and, after lunch, a quick run was made to Hornby, near Lancaster. Here, in a curious octagonal tower, erected in 1514 by the first Lord Montague, a pretty peal of eight, with an 11 cwt. tenor, was found. As only five peals of Cambridge (Maximus and Royal) had been rung during the week, it was decided to ring Cambridge again, for a change.

With this peal the ringing part of the tour ended, and one could not help remarking how quickly and pleasantly the time had flown. Thirteen peals were rung out of 14 attempts, all, with the exception of the first, in Surprise methods. Four members of the party shared in the conducting, and although William Pye rightly headed the list, it must be said for him that he very often 'called ye bobs' because

HUNGRY 'MIDGES' HELP RINGING.

A quarterly meeting of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch of the Devon Guild was held on Saturday at Pinhoe, near Exeter. The six bells were made good use of during the afternoon, and a service was held in the church. The Vicar, the Rev. O. Puckridge, in the course of his address, gave a warm welcome to the branch, and the lesson was read by the president of the Guild (the Rev. E. S. Pownall). Tea was served in the Schoolroom, which was, unfortunately, at a considerable distance from the church.

At the subsequent business meeting a letter of apology from the chairman of the branch was read, explaining his absence through illness.

The election of one new member was confirmed, and, after some discussion, it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the branch on January 9th, 1932, at Topsham.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and to the organist. Owing to the distance, further use was not made of the Pinhoe bells, but some members made their way to Aylesbeare, where several touches were rung on the nice little ring of six bells.

Perhaps a note may be added on one feature of the afternoon—this was the superabundance of very hungry midges! These midges had one very useful result, as most of the ringers were driven inside to ring instead of standing outside talking.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Monday evening, September 21st, at St. Mary's Church, Halesworth, Suffolk, the bells were rung half-muffled as a last token of respect to the memory of the late Mr. John Youngs, a member of the local band, and a regular Sunday service ringer. The deceased was laid to rest at Holton St. Peter's Churchyard on Saturday afternoon, when 672 Bob Major was rung by J. Nunn 1, F. C. Lambert (conductor) 2, J. Gibson 3, W. Pierce 4, J. O'Neill 5, A. H. Took 6, C. Moss 7, E. Garrard 8. Other touches were rung, concluding with the 'ringers' farewell, the following taking part: Miss G. Roe, Messrs. C. Goodwin, W. Kemp, A. Lee, J. Jolly and G. Gowan. R.I.P.

A representative band of the Ely Diocesan Association rang half-muffled bells at Bourn in deep respect of a late member, Mr. E. Izzard, of that village. A peal was attempted, but, unfortunately, after ringing two hours 40 minutes, a bad clash put an end to an otherwise fair attempt. Those who rang were kindly invited to tea by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Duffil, M.A., who spoke of Mr. Izzard as being his most progressive ringer. The ringers were: J. W. Ward 1, H. J. Hazell 2, F. G. Gleaves 3, C. W. Cook 4, C. Robinson 5, J. Quiney 6, A. G. Rivers 7, F. Warrington (conductor) 8.

For evening service on Sunday, September 20th, at Holy Trinity Church, Queenborough, Sheppey, 720 College Single, with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect to Nurse Cooper, who met an untimely death on the previous Thursday morning, when her car was in collision with a bus. The deceased lady was a member of the Parochial Church Council, a sideswoman and a very enthusiastic church worker. The 720 was rung by J. Wilder 1, P. Hobbs 2, W. J. Wood 3, F. Pankhurst 4, S. Wood 5, W. A. Wood (conductor) 6.

OVER BELL AUGMENTATION FUND.

To the Editor.

Sir.—It may interest the Exercise to learn that the two new trebles for Over, Cambs, are well in hand. The Vicar, the Rev. F. G. Weston, M.A., has kindly given the treble, and Mr. Ingle Robinson and ringers are making a united effort for the second, which will be inscribed: 'In memory of Horace Bernard Woolley, M.A., Vicar of Longstanton 1905-1929.' Donations, large or small, will be welcomed, and should be sent to nobody else appeared particularly anxious for the job. Truly, a motoring and ringing tour combined does not leave much time for studying peal compositions, especially when postcards have to be sent from each place visited to wives (and sweethearts) left behind.

A word must here be said in sincere thanks to Messrs. P. J. Johnson, C. L. Routledge and E. Jennings, without whose valuable assistance in arranging various parts of the tour it could not have been carried out. Thanks are also due to the many local secretaries and towerkeepers, all of whom showed great willingness to assist in any way possible. Next, a word must be said for Bob Pye and Ted Duffield, who were responsible for the safe and punctual arrival of the band at every tower. Not once did they fail in this duty, and when it is considered that they 'did' over 900 miles in just over eight days, besides ringing in 12 and 13 peals respectively, it might be said that they deserve the thanks here accorded to them.

Lastly, a word of congratulation to Bill Pye, whose manipulation of heavy-going bells is still a treat to behold. Throughout a heavy week he was always ready for the back-end, and it would seem that the passing of years has had little effect on him. May he go on many more tours yet!

THE IRISH TOUR. IN AND AROUND BELFAST.

BY W. H. F.

Wednesday.—Our stay in Belfast lasted over three nights, which gave us an opportunity—after the day's work was done—to fraternise at the 'Kensington,' an hotel I can well recommend to future visitors to Belfast. Mr. W. MacCleary, the manager, kindly gave us preferential terms after it had been explained to him that our party were not American millionaires anxious 'to do' Great Britain at a minimum expenditure of dollars.

The first 'venture' was fixed for St. Thomas' at 10 a.m.—a suburban church reached by tramcar, where Mr. D. Ireland—bless him—kindly did duty for us. Our thanks to him and to the Rev. F. B. Werrall, acting on behalf of the Very Rev. the Dean of Connor, who was absent on clerical duty. This church is a modern structure in brick and stone of fine proportion, the tower surmounted by the usual spire. The parsonage adjoins the church and is built to match it. It is a nice well-kept ringing room, a good old peal of bells by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, tenor 20 cwt., the only ring of bells in Belfast, and all were ringing in 1930 by the founders.

Of the local company there are ten; of these, three are ladies, and all show some eagerness to push on with the 'method.' Naturally our own hand were pleased with themselves on leaving this tower after scoring five peals in five counties straight off the reel, but their 'Waterloo' was to come before the day was over. However, for the present moment, the cry was 'Onward,' so tramcar, lunch and York Road Station were patronised in succession, the party duly gathering together by 2 o'clock in the corridor carriage en route by rail for their second 'venture.'

Carriekfergus is beautifully situated on the north shore of Belfast Lough, a picturesque ride of 12 miles along the coast from the city. Its importance has declined during the past century owing to the rapid development of docks, shipbuilding and the linen trade of Belfast. Its antiquity is demonstrated by the surviving North Gate—only one of four—when formerly it was walled and fortified. It is the only place in County Antrim where there are remains of ancient mural defences, and where there is a castle in occupation built before the English connection. Of the Castle it is said that it was built on the site of an old Irish stronghold prior to the advent of the mediæval builders. In the main it continues to present all the features it possessed in the 12th and 13th centuries. The keep is 90ft. high and its walls quite 9ft. in thickness.

The Parish Church of St. Nicholas is best approached from the market place. We arrived at 3 p.m. and were met by some half-dozen friends, made welcome, and kindly invited to tea after our ringing at the Campanile. Superlative Surprise Major was attempted, but after nearly three hours ringing and good striking, the band got into such a 'tangle' that our composer and conductor was compelled to call 'stand.' The musical peal of bells, tenor 13 cwt. 2 qr. 16 lb. in F sharp, cast by Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, in 1920, go like machines. There had never been a peal attempted on them before, and here are the names of the men who tried and failed: Messrs. Barnett, Fussell, Riding, Hughes, Martin, Simpson, Horan and Lindoff—and so say all of us!

The church is supposed to have been built on the site of a pagan temple, and was originally connected with a Franciscan Monastery, founded about 1232, parts of it dating from the 12th and 13th centuries. The old tower and spire were considered too weak to bear the strain of a ring of bells, and when a town's war memorial was considered, the committee wisely decided to build a new detached tower to take the new octave. This work has very successfully been accomplished at a total cost of £3,500. A stone built into the walls states: 'New peal of bells in iron frame in a new tower all erected in memory of parishioners who served in the Great War, 1914-18.' You stand on the ground floor to ring; the bells are noisy in the ringing room, a nicely fitted apartment, and on the south wall is the record: 'This stone was laid by the Most Rev. John Baptist Crozier, D.D., Archbishop of Armagh, 25th October, 1919.' The Archbishop died before the tower was completed, and the dedication was performed by his successor.

Tea was served in the Schoolroom, the Misses Carnahan, MacConky, McAniff and Young seeing that everyone had sufficient, and in addition to the visiting ringers there were present the Rev. J. T. Rutherford, Mr. Wm. Pratt (hon. secretary of the Northern Branch), Mr. Wm. Young (president) and many of the local band, Mr. F. McCarrison (captain) and Messrs. J. Balls, T. Robinson, H. Jones, E. O. Hill and Henly. An enjoyable hour was spent with pipe, chat and the handbells, during which the Rector spoke a few kind words of welcome and hoped the visit would urge the home ringers to master the art.

It fell to the lot of the Welsh member, Mr. Hughes, to return thanks to our Irish friends for their hospitality to a band of English ringers, and hurrah for the 'Ringing Isles.' We left Carriekfergus by the 9.9 p.m. train with a hearty send-off from our hosts, and 'Kensington' was reached in time to visit the butler's 'pantry' before 'roosting' at 11 o'clock.

Members of the London Police Guild will sympathise with the president, Mr. Young, who on the strict orders of his doctor has had to give up bellringing. He only took up the art when the bells were put up in 1920, on retiring from the position of Chief Constable. Both he and his daughter have been of much assistance to the Northern Branch.

Thursday.—Our journey was continued to-day on the south side of Belfast Lough, with more coastal scenery, ending at the Irish 'Bay of Naples,' otherwise known as Bangor, a flourishing seaside resort for health and pleasure with three miles of promenade. For local history it claims Dr. Wm. Clanny, born 1766, as a native. He invented the safety lamp, for which the Royal Society of Arts presented him with the gold medal. Bangor was a religious seat before Canterbury. Its Abbey was founded by St. Columb, who was born in 432, and in the succeeding centuries its fame as a centre of Christian learning spread throughout Europe. At one time the Abbey housed over 200 monks and possessed a wonderful library. The Parish Church, dedicated to St. Columb, is a handsome modern building well placed at the apex of two main thoroughfares facing the Town Council offices. The bells are a very musical peal; both within the tower and without they are pleasing to hear. They were cast by John Taylor and Co. in 1899, with a tenor 21 cwt. Several of the bells are false clappers, especially the tenor; perhaps the staple fittings want attention after 30 years' use. Cambridge Surprise Major failed to settle down to a proper 'beat,' then Stedman Triples was rung to touches and the bells lowered. To Mr. Sam Miller, local hon. secretary, we owe thanks for the keys of the tower, for permission from the Church Council and a place in Main Street to dine. The local company muster ten, half them are lady exponents. We wish success to the belles of Bangor. To-day's programme stated: 'Breakfast 8.30, train 9.50,' but half the company came down by a much later train, which really meant a morning wasted with no peal attempt till 1 o'clock. Those who came early enjoyed the sea air and sunshine on the pier, and were not particular if they rang or not. The culprits got a trouncing from the skipper and promised it shouldn't happen again, but they did not know that the skipper was glad of a quiet hour—the only chance he had to send off a couple of dozen picture cards to his English friends.

For the evening peal attempt, Hollywood, on the return route to Belfast, was the next fixture. Here we were kindly welcomed by the Venerable Archdeacon Manning, M.C., M.A., Mr. William Pratt (hon. secretary) and his merry men, including Mr. R. McClelland, the only change ringer in Ulster who has rung a full peal. Tea was provided for us in the Mission Hall, served by Mrs. Manning and lady helpers. The Press photographer came round to snap us at hand in the home position, with the Archdeacon in the centre of the group. This picture appeared in the current issue of the 'Belfast News Letter,' the oldest periodical in Ulster, founded 1737, which described in flowery language the visit of the English team of bellringers and some of their performances. Our host, in addressing us, with hearty welcome to Ireland, mentioned the progress of his own men. With the help of Mr. Lindoff and Mr. Pratt, they had recently made a valiant attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples on his bells. Change ringing, he was glad to say, was now being done for Sunday services by the Hollywood company, which was founded in October, 1876. He hoped the visit would lead up to good work being done in other parishes on our list. Mr. Hughes responded.

Originally, the Parish Church, dedicated to St. Philip and James, consisted of tower, nave and chancel of small dimensions. The rapid growth of the town led to an extension of threefold capacity. A new nave, chancel and north aisle with porch has been added and the dividing wall pierced with arches. The Dunville family reside in this parish and are great benefactors to the church and local objects. The surroundings are pretty, with tall trees bordering a well-kept lawn and the church mostly covered with well-trimmed ivy. A ring of eight bells, tenor 12 cwt. 16 lb., with iron frame, was supplied by Taylor and Co. over 40 years ago, and dedicated on May 17th, 1891. It is to be hoped the first peal by the Northern Branch of the Irish Association will be accomplished before another 40 weeks have passed. They muster 14 members, nine of whom are change ringers, so watch 'The Ringing World.' At the cross-roads, High Street, is still retained a fine maypole, said to be the only survivor 'in England,' and the R.C. Church possesses a single bell weighing 30 cwt. Messrs. Rutherford, Savage, McKay, Pratt, jun., McCaw, Pratt, sen., and McClelland gave us a send-off to the station and the 10.15 to Belfast. We dined on the 'feathers' in County Down at midnight, and fell asleep dreaming of a record gathering of the Central Council in Dublin A.D.

TRURO CANON'S BIRTHDAY.

Sunday, September 20th, the Eve of St. Matthew's Day, was the birthday of Canon H. H. Mills, treasurer of Truro Cathedral, and in honour of this event a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung after the evening service by: Miss M. Penrose (longest length on eight) 1, Miss L. Willoughby 2, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 3, A. S. Roberts (conductor) 4, H. Williams 5, F. W. Marshall 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, W. H. Southard 8. Also, before the service, touches of Grandsire Caters by those who took part in the quarter-peal, with the assistance of A. W. Brighton (London), R. A. Watts, G. W. Taysom, N. Williams, W. E. Minors, C. Lanxon and Miss E. Robinson.

DOUBLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—The Methods Committee have not replied to my letter re above Six Score.

Everyone knows that the CONSTRUCTIONAL PLACES of the method are 3rds places when the treble leaves front and behind.

The Bobs and Singles indicated do NOT AFFECT the CONSTRUCTIONAL PLACES, therefore if the method is rung by the RULES of the METHOD, third's place must always be made when treble leaves front, and third's place must always be made when she leaves behind.

Will the committee show us how, under these circumstances, the six-score described in the new book can be obtained? By so doing they will greatly oblige.—Yours faithfully,

OWEN KAY.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A NATIONAL CELEBRATION.

Although by force of circumstances the commemoration of the centenary of Fabian Stedman must be held late in the year, a large number of ringers is certain to gather at Cambridge on Saturday, December 5th, when the restored bells of St. Bene't's Church will be reopened and a service of thanksgiving held. And there is real cause for thanksgiving, not merely for the fact that, after a long silence, the bells of St. Bene't's, upon which Stedman learned to ring and where his method was first practised, have been restored and will be heard again as they were more than two hundred and fifty years ago, and that the tower, a precious relic which has come down to us from Saxon days, has been made safer by the work which is now being put into it, but there is also cause for thanksgiving in the fact—greater than any other from the ringers' point of view—that Stedman lived, that he gave us, among other things, the method which is supreme among odd-bell methods, and by the books which he wrote placed the art upon a stable foundation, from which the present fabric has been reared. Without the work that Stedman did, the early development and progress of the art of change ringing as we know it to-day might have been long delayed. As it was, no other book fit to compare with his was published for a hundred years. Stedman did not give us the first 'cross peals,' but he extended Grandsire to Triples and Plain Bob to Major, as well as giving us the method by which his name will for ever be remembered. The Exercise has much to thank Fabian Stedman for, and the unique opportunity of December 5th will be welcomed by ringers throughout the kingdom to pay homage to the greatest pioneer which the Exercise has known.

Not one tithe of those who would like to be present at the service at Cambridge will be able to attend, but while those who are able to take part in the central act of the commemoration will be participating in a memorable event, the thousands who are unable to get to Cambridge can still share in the celebration by ringing the bells of their own churches. We would suggest that at every church on the afternoon of December 5th the bells should be rung—in touches of Stedman, either Doubles, Triples, Caters or Cinques, if possible, but, in any event, rung—and that arrangements should be made with the clergy to announce beforehand, either in church or through the parish magazine, the purpose of the ringing, so that the world may know that ringers throughout the country are uniting in doing honour to the man to whom, probably more than to any other, is due the characteristic ringing which has made these isles unique throughout the world in the music which floats from the church towers.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF PEALS RUNG.

The 54th annual festival of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Durham on Saturday, 26th September. A meeting of the committee was held at noon, and a good number assembled at the service in the Cathedral at 1 o'clock, when the Very Rev. the Dean of Durham welcomed the members on behalf of the Chapter, and wished them 'Godspeed' in their work for the Church.

After an excellent lunch at the Three Tuns Hotel, the annual meeting was held. Mr. E. E. Ferry, of Newcastle, president, being in the chair, supported by Canon Stephenson (Rector of Gateshead), Mr. Wm. Story, Mr. C. L. Routledge, Mr. Arthur Payne, J.P., and Mr. Thomas Newton, of Stockton, an original member of the association. Mr. J. W. Parker, treasurer, submitted a very satisfactory cash statement, showing a balance of over £28, and the secretary, Mr. G. S. Taylor, read his annual report.

He referred first to the loss which the association had sustained through the death of Mr. T. T. Gofton, of Whitley Bay, and five other members. The three association meetings, at Heighington, Rothbury and Consett, had been very successful, and the district meetings had also been well attended, although there was room for improvement. Assistance had been given to form a new band at South Church, Bishop Auckland, and eight probationers are making good progress there. Forty peals had been rung during the year, including six on handbells. This was an increase of seven on last year and 21 on 1929. Mr. W. H. Barber headed the list of conductors with 13, Messrs. J. W. Parker and W. J. Davidson following with six each, and ten members rang their first peal. Sixteen belfries had sent in recording sheets for Sunday service ringing. In the 8-12 bell towers, St. Ignatius, Sunderland, was first with 1,550 points, and Newcastle Cathedral second with 920. Of the five and six-bell towers, Darlington Holy Trinity was first with 1,586 points, and Whickham St. Mary's with 104. Steps have been taken to increase the number of honorary members, and circulars were sent out to 21 incumbents who have peals of bells but are not members. Only three had replied, however, and the members present were asked to use their personal influence in the matter.

Mr. Arthur Payne, in a witty speech, thanked the Dean for his address and for his welcome, and also proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring officers, which was carried with applause.

The whole of the officers were re-elected, and the meetings for the year were arranged as follows: Pre-Lent at Newton Hall, pre-Whitsun at Staindrop, and the summer meeting at Brancepeth.

Two honorary members and 16 ordinary members were elected, and the election as life members of the London band who had just concluded a very successful tour in the district was reported. Ringing at the Cathedral, St. Oswald's and at Chester-le-Street concluded a very pleasant meeting.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

'MISSIONARY' VISIT TO FORD END.

Although the weather was delightfully fine, very few attended the meeting of the Essex Association at Ford End on Saturday week. The object of the visit was of a missionary character, with the idea of meeting the newly-formed band of service ringers, and placing the claims of the association before them. In addition to the locals, only eight members of the association were present from Chelmsford, Felsted, Great Baddow, Maldon, Fryerning and Braintree. The tea and meeting was held in the Parish Room. The Vicar, the Rev. L. A. Wilson, presided at the tea, and the Master of the association, Mr. C. H. Howard, presided at the business meeting. Mr. A. Coombes, the hon. district secretary, was unable to be present owing to a recent accident, and Mr. G. Green, the District Master, officiated in his stead.

At the Vicar's own suggestion he was elected an honorary member and expressed the wish of his ringers to join the association, if tuition could be provided to enable them to become change ringers. The assistance of one tower was offered, and it is hoped that members of another adjoining tower will be prepared to offer their services during the coming winter.

The bells, a ring of six by John Warner and Sons, cast in 1881, with a tenor weighing only 4 cwt. 2 qr. 16 lb., are the lightest ring in the county. They have been recently rebung by Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich, and are in excellent going order. During the afternoon touches in several methods were rung, including a well-struck 720 Kent Treble Bob, conducted by Dr. Spencer Phillips.

The Master was asked to convey to Mr. Coombes the members' sympathy with him in his indisposition, and wish him a speedy recovery.

It was decided to hold the annual district meeting at Widford on Saturday, November 28th.

Responding to a vote of thanks for the use of the bells and his warm welcome, the Vicar expressed a request that the association would pay another visit at an early date.

CHESHUNT, HERTS.—On Thursday evening, October 1st, for the harvest festival service, 1,008 of Grandsire Triples: H. C. Tulley 1, A. J. House 2, E. Pickett 3, H. Warner 4, D. Tucker 5, W. S. Newnham 6, G. Maxim (conductor) 7, T. W. Chadwick 8.

DEVON GUILD.EXETER BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the Exeter Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Christow. Members of city bands made a motor tour of Dunsford, Bridford and Christow, and thoroughly enjoyed a beautiful afternoon in the charming surroundings of the Teign Valley. Grand-sire and Stedman Doubles and Kent Treble Bob Minor were the methods rung. At Christow service was conducted in the Parish Church by the Rev. G. C. Horne (Vicar), who gave an address.

An excellent tea was laid in the Parish Hall, and attended by about 30 members and friends. The general arrangements had been made by Mr. E. J. Ryall, the representative of the local band.

At a business meeting, Mr. A. W. Searle presiding, a resolution of condolence with the relatives of the late Mr. R. Hamilton, of Kenn (and formerly of the Heavitree and Cathedral bands), was passed by all standing.

The annual meeting was fixed for December 5th at St. Petrock's, Exeter.

Four members (three honorary and one associate) were elected.

Hearty thanks were passed to incumbents for use of bells, to Mr. Horne for conducting the service and Miss Ryall for presiding at the organ, and to the ladies who kindly assisted at the tea.

WEDDING BELLS AT LUTTERWORTH.

Saturday week was indeed a day of festivals and ceremonies at Lutterworth. The first in order was harvest festival, the day also brought the birthday celebrations of Mr. Walter Williams, who has been ringing master in this fine old tower for upwards of 25 years, and last, but by no means least, it was also chosen as the wedding day of his second daughter, Ivy, to Mr. Cyril Mitchell, also of Lutterworth. The bells went merrily into changes as the happy pair left the church, giving them a hearty send-off in their new sphere of life, and if this life goes along, as did the bells, without a hitch, then there is indeed much happiness in store for them. After the peal the ringers, at the express invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, started on a few fresh courses, but this time it was 'cats and drinks,' and justice was truly done, and all came truly home to eight hungry and thirsty ringers without much ado. Afterwards Mr. Ernest Morris, the genial conductor of the peal, proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom, wishing them long life and happiness. He expressed the hope that they would be as happy as he had been since the day he was wed. It is the wish of all the band to thank Mr. and Mrs. Williams, their daughter and son-in-law for their very kind hospitality.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.A WARM WELCOME AT SAWSTON.

A very successful meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Sawston on Saturday, when members were present from Cambridge, Chelmsford, Dry Drayton, Elmton, Exning, Fulbourne, Ickleton, Melbourn, Newton, Nuneaton, Royston, Saffron Walden, Stapleford, Stetchworth, Trumpington, Walton-on-Thames and a splendid muster of the local band.

A service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. J. Bywaters, who gave a most inspiring address, in which he compared our lives with bells, saying they must be in tune to make perfect melody.

A bountiful tea was provided and served by the generosity of Sawston friends, Mrs. Hurry's delicious home-made cakes and scones being greatly appreciated.

After a discussion it was decided to visit Melbourn on October 31st. Mr. W. Stone, of Nuneaton, was elected a member, also Messrs. H. Churchman, L. Hurry, W. Hurry, F. Matthews, J. Smith and S. Stubbings, all of Sawston.—Mr. F. Hurry said help from visitors would be very welcome at Sawston on Tuesdays at 8 p.m.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, the organist, who made a special journey from Shelford, also to those who provided tea and worked so hard to make the meeting such a success.

Methods rung during the afternoon and evening ranged from Kent Treble Bob Minor to London Surprise Major, thus catering for the needs of everyone.

CORBY BELLS AUGMENTED.

The bells of Corby, Northants, have recently been augmented from four to six and rehung in modern fittings. On Saturday week a meeting of the Kettering Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held in the village and attracted a large attendance of ringers.

Divine service was conducted by the Rev. A. Brooke Westcott, Rector, assisted by the Rev. R. C. Thursfield, of Cranford (president of the branch). In his address, the Rector welcomed the ringers to Corby and spoke of the enthusiastic way in which the local ringers were learning the art.

Mr. Abbott, leader of the ringers, and a number of ladies, had prepared an excellent tea in the Mission Hall, and subsequently the usual business meeting was held, the branch president being in the chair, supported by Mr. R. G. Black (general secretary), Miss Thursfield (Ladies' Guild secretary) and the branch secretary. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Weekley.

The Corby ringers, to the number of nine, including the Rector, who is taking up the art, were then elected as members of the Guild.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

After the peal of Stedman Triples rung at Woking, Surrey, on Saturday, in celebration of the Stedman Tercentenary, the band were kindly entertained to tea by Admiral and Mrs. T. P. Walker. The Admiral, who is churchwarden at Woking and hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, is keenly interested in change ringing, and takes part regularly in the service ringing at his church.

Mr. Alfred J. Turner, who last Saturday rang his 150th peal on the bells at Southover Church, Lewes, is one of the best known among Sussex ringers. He began ringing at this tower over 40 years ago, and there are few towers in the county which he has not visited, while he has rung peals on almost all the eight and ten-bell rings. He is still a keen cyclist and in his leisure hours loves to roam the countryside.

In our peal columns we record a peal of Doubles by a band whose average age is only 20 years 9 months. This was rung at Wychbold, Worcestershire, by the local ringers as a quarterly peal of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association. They are the youngest band who have rung such a peal. They desire to tender thanks to members of the Bromsgrove band for their assistance on practice nights when trying to achieve a peal of Minor for this occasion.

FAMILY'S RINGING RECORD.

OVER 100 YEARS AT ONE CHURCH.

A long family connection with the bells at Bretforton, Worcestershire, can be claimed by Mr. J. C. Perkins, whose silver wedding has just been celebrated by a peal at his Parish Church. Mr. Perkins has been a ringer at Bretforton for 40 years. His father rang there for 57 years and his great-grandfather rang there when the bells were installed in 1823. Further, he has two sons who are ringers and two who chime for Sunday services. It is also interesting to note that the great-grandfather of Raymond Jelfs (who took part in the silver wedding peal) also rang at the same church in 1823.

YEOVIL BELLS.

A WONDERFUL TRANSFORMATION.

The restoration of the fine ring of bells at Yeovil by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have recast the trebles and tuned the other eight, has provided the Somerset town with a glorious ring of ten. In the 'Western Gazette' Mr. J. T. Dyke, hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, has given an appreciation of them, in the course of which he says:—

'Yeovil bells! I knew them first twelve years ago. They were a good ring, but easily surpassed by others in the county. The lightest bells had not the power to sound on even terms with the sonorous notes of the heavier bells. The whole ring was "lumpy" and uneven. The individual bells were exceedingly good, but all were not a happy family. The frame holding the bells in the tower, too, was weak. Constant ringing had loosened its joints. And it had a job to do. It had to hold steadily something like eight tons of moving bell metal, when all the bells were ringing. Yeovil people felt that something had to be done, and that meant that very shortly it was done. The eminent firm of Mears and Stainbank was called in, and on its advice the bells were removed to London for tuning. The two lightest bells were found to be much below the standard of the other eight, and were consequently recast. The older eight, however, were capable of being tuned. Although to the founders who had the work in hand the task of tuning the bells was easy, albeit highly technical, I felt that even with their skill and long experience they would be unable entirely to get rid of the unevenness which was the unfortunate characteristic of Yeovil bells. But they have done it!

Inside the tower, or outside it, the ten bells are absolutely even. What a ring of bells it is! In the county, Wrington bells, by the same founders, are rightly famed. Wells Cathedral bells, with a tenor of over 52 cwt., are a glorious ring. Wrington bells are soft and mellow, Wells are sonorous and grand, but Yeovil possess the qualities of both, and are withal pleasing. Further, the "go" of Yeovil bells is the last word. Hung on carefully fitted ball bearings, it is no exaggeration to say that they could be rung by means of a piece of string. Yeovil people can be proud of their bells, the best ten in the West. No less can they be proud of their ringers, who, under Mr. J. E. Baker, are making wonderful strides in change ringing. Those Yeovil people who are responsible for the great work just completed are to be congratulated. They have left a heritage for future generations, and it is a goodly heritage.'

TREBLE BOB ROYAL IN SEVEN COURSES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Through an oversight, the word 'Oxford' was omitted in the claim of the first peal ever rung of Treble Bob Royal in seven courses at Ipswich on August 29th, 1931.

Mr. B. Thorp does not mention whether the peal at Manchester Cathedral was Kent or Oxford; if the former, then the peal at Ipswich is still the first of Oxford Treble Bob Royal to be rung, consisting of only seven courses.

I submit that the Exercise consider these two are different methods.
—Yours truly,
Ipswich. G. F. SYMONDS

THE STEDMAN TERCENTENARY.

COMMEMORATION DATE.

As already announced, the commemoration of the tercentenary of Fabian Stedman and the reopening of the bells at St. Bene't's, Cambridge, will take place on Saturday, December 5th. The special service will be held in the afternoon, but it is hoped that the bells at other churches in and around Cambridge will be available for ringing throughout the day. Details of the arrangements will be published as soon as they are completed.

While a very large gathering is expected at Cambridge, ringers throughout the country who cannot attend the celebration will doubtless desire to share in the commemoration in their own districts, and a suggestion is made in our leading article that special ringing shall take place wherever there are bells to ring and ringers to ring them.

It will add also to the interest of the event if peals of Stedman—Doubles, Triples, Caters or Cinques—are rung during the week before or the week after the celebration, if they cannot be rung on December 5th.

Those who have promised donations to the tercentenary fund and have not yet forwarded their contributions should do so without delay. They may be sent either to or to the hon. treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

The Editor,
'The Ringing World,'

Woking, Surrey,

DOUBLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is evident from his last letter that Owen Kay is not seeking information. Presumably he is anxious to tell us that in his opinion the six scores on page 15 of the 'Collection' are not Double Grandsire. Well, speaking for myself, I am ready to acknowledge that I should have no objection if he thought they could more appropriately be called Double Original.

At the same time, it has to be remembered that on principle there is no obligation in Grandsire for the bell in the hunt to follow the treble: it could equally well precede her. And, therefore, there is no reason why in Double Grandsire the hunt bell should not sometimes precede and sometimes follow the treble.

However that be, these six scores are demonstrably very well worth ringing, and there is probably more hope that five-bell bands will try them under the name of Grandsire than Original.

There are at least 24 three scores with bobs alone, and as there are numerous places where singles can be inserted, the number of possible 120's is practically limitless.

No doubt for actual practice in the tower it will be found more convenient to treat the method as Original, that is with Bobs called whenever an internal place has to be made.

The only serious criticism that can be raised consists in the number of calls thus required, viz., 28 or 30 bobs and two singles in a 120.—Yours, etc.,

E. S. POWELL.

WEDDING OF WELL-KNOWN LINCOLNSHIRE RINGER.

An interesting little ceremony took place in the ringing chamber of SS. Mary and Nicholas' Church, Spalding, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 6th, after the usual weekly practice, when Canon Nicholas (Vicar) presented Mr. T. Brown with a convertible oak table on the occasion of his marriage. The Vicar, in making the presentation on behalf of the local band and associates of the tower, referred to the many years of service of Mr. Brown as a ringer and chorister at the church, and wished him many years of happiness in the step he was taking for the second time in his life.

Mr. Brown is a well-known Lincolnshire ringer and is the representative of the Elloe Deaneries Branch on the Committee of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. Until recently he was in charge of the Spalding tower.

The wedding took place on Thursday, October 8th, at Swineshead Church, when he was married to Miss Holland of that village. After the ceremony the newly-married couple left for Skegness, where they will spend a week or two before taking up residence at Sinclair, Pennygate, Spalding.

BEDFORDSHIRE GETS ANOTHER OCTAVE.

HUSBORNE CRAWLEY BELLS AUGMENTED.

Husborne Crawley, Beds, where the Rev. Arthur Rust, president of the Bedfordshire Association, is Vicar, is now in proud possession of a ring of eight bells, two new trebles having been added by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and dedicated on Sunday week by Bishop Lauder. There was a large congregation at the ceremony and many ringers from the county attended. After the service various touches were rung, and everyone was very pleased with the new bells.

The old six are a mixed lot, as will be seen from the following details of the ring:—

THE TOWER OF HUSBORNE CRAWLEY CHURCH.

Treble: 5 cwt. 27 lb., Taylor, 1931.

2: 5 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb., Taylor, 1931.

3: 6 cwt. 2 qr. 2 lb., 1637, recast by Taylor 1820.

4: 7 cwt. 23 lb., Newcome, 1611.

5: 7 cwt. 2 qr. 25 lb., Emerton, 1779.

6: 9 cwt. 3 qr. 6 lb., Newcome, 1616.

7: 11 cwt. 2 qr. 13 lb., Taylor, 1820.

Tenor: 18 cwt. 2 qr. 12 lb., 1613 Newcome, recast 1911 by Taylor.

In 1911 the six bells were rehung by Taylor and Co. in a new iron frame, which was constructed to take the complete octave.

The tower of Husborne Crawley Church is one of the finest in the country. It is built of blocks of brown and green sandstone mixed together, and the colour effect is very beautiful. No one can trace the source of the green stone, which is very uncommon.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN OF THE OSPRINGE BAND.

After a great many years of suffering, Mr. Herbert Baker, who had been captain of the Ospringe, Kent, band of ringers for about 20 years, and a ringer in the same band for between 30 and 40 years, passed peacefully away on Tuesday, October 6th, at the age of 59 years.

After the funeral on Saturday at the Parish Church, which the ringers attended, the local band rang the bells half-muffled. Among the many beautiful wreaths were one from the past and present ringers of the Ospringe band, and one in the shape of a bell from the Ospringe handbell ringers.

SUFFOLK GUILD.RESOLUTION ON PAINSWICK 'PEAL' TABLET.

A meeting was held at Cavendish on Saturday week. After ringing a 720 and several touches on the church bells, lately rehung and enlarged in a very pleasing way by Taylors, of Loughborough, a short service was held in the church, with an interesting sermon by the Rector, the Rev. J. D. Barnard. Tea was at the George, and the meeting followed, at which Mr. C. E. Fisher was elected to the chair.

It was decided to leave the election of a new district secretary to the next district meeting, to be held in a month's time.

The secretary, the Rev. H. Drake, then proposed that 'This meeting recommends the annual meeting to take steps to remove from the Guild any member who continues to approve of the words "17,867 changes," being on the tablet lately fixed in Painswick Church.' He said that when the feat was first accomplished there was much praise for it on all hands, but later, when the figures were published, it was found that, after ringing 16,000 odd changes, some of the rows were repeated, and, therefore, were not changes. Nevertheless, a tablet had been put up in the church saying that these 17,000 odd changes had been rung. They might have described it in several ways which would have only been misleading. For instance, they might have called it a peal. It certainly was a peal, though a false one. But they had carefully chosen the only description which was not merely misleading, but actually untrue. He did not know who were the actual ringers, and he hoped no names would be mentioned, for it was not a personal matter: but he did not want to belong to any guild or association of which those who approved of these untrue words were members.

It might be said that such a Guild as theirs was in existence to raise the standard of ringing, or to improve the position of ringers as church workers, and this was true; but, after all, it was not their first and chief work, which was to witness to the truth. Other people could do all these other things, but they only knew what was the truth in such matters, and their chief duty was to guide those who were trusting them. The church authorities at Painswick were ignorant of these things, and they had to rely on those who know. For them what was done was merely a mistake. It was, however, very different for us who knew what was true, and deliberately approved of what we knew to be untrue. If we do not witness to the truth in these matters, for which we exist, and for which people rely on us, it were much better not to have such a Guild as ours in being.

This was seconded by Mr. Arthur Symonds, of Lavenham, and there was considerable discussion. It was pointed out that the ringing so long was a wonderful feat of endurance which all must admire. It was also pointed out that, although the feat was a failure, it was a glorious failure. There was, however, no opposition to the resolution, and, on being put to the meeting, it was carried.

Afterwards there was more ringing on the bells, the 'go' and tone of which were pronounced excellent. Some members also rang at Glensford and at All Saints', Sudbury.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

The quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at the Parish Church, Bldmere, near Birmingham, on Saturday, October 3rd. The day was fine and about 40 members attended from various towers in the diocese. The bells, a handy peal of eight, were raised about 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major until 5 p.m., when an adjournment was made to the Parish Hall for tea, kindly prepared by Mrs. Eaton, wife of the people's warden, and her lady friends.

The Presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., being unable to attend, the business meeting was presided over by Mr. R. A. Eaton, who, in addition to being a churchwarden, is also master in the belfry.

The secretary at the commencement of the proceedings remarked how pleased they were to have Mr. James George amongst them again, and wished him a speedy and complete restoration to good health.

It was decided to hold the Henry Johnson commemoration dinner as usual on Saturday, February 27th, 1932, and that the officers of the Guild make the necessary arrangements.

Mr. G. F. Swann gave notice that at the next meeting he should propose an alteration to rule re subscription of life members.

Mr. H. J. Turner, of Northfield, was elected a full ringing member, and the tower elections of Mr. L. W. G. Morris, Mr. C. E. Lawson, of Leeds, Mrs. P. Humphrey, Miss F. Humphrey and Mr. C. T. H. Bradley, of Folkingham, were duly ratified.

It was decided to hold the next meeting, being the annual, at headquarters, St. Martin's Hotel, on Saturday, January 2nd, 1932.

A vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding at the meeting and making the necessary arrangements for tea, etc., to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for their services was proposed by the secretary and seconded by Mr. J. George.

The handbells were then brought out and some good touches of Stedman Triples and Cinques and Treble Bob Maximus were rung. Further ringing on the tower bells was brought to an abrupt finish owing to the breaking of the wheel of the second bell.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL TO LATE PRESIDENT.

On Saturday last the memorial erected by the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild in the belfry of Barnet Parish Church to the late Mr. F. A. Milne was unveiled and dedicated, in the presence of a large congregation, who attended to pay their respects to the memory of one who did much towards the founding of this association. Amongst the company were the Rev. W. E. Moll (Rector of Barnet), Canon Overton (Rural Dean of Barnet), Mrs. Rowlands and Mr. H. W. Milne (daughter and brother of the late Mr. F. A. Milne), the Rev. R. E. Priestley (curate), Mr. M. E. Case (churchwarden), and several relatives and friends of the Milne family. The many ringers included Messrs. W. Pickworth and J. A. Trollope (vice-presidents of the Middlesex Association), C. T. Coles and W. H. Hollier (hon. secretaries), W. Pye (Master), G. R. Goodship (assistant hon. secretary), A. W. Coles (District Master), G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council), G. B. Lucas, G. R. Pye, C. H. Martin, J. Parker, W. Bowden, J. E. Miller, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, etc.

Mr. W. Pickworth asked the Rector to receive the tablet from the members of the Middlesex Association, who had placed it in the belfry as a memorial to their late president and treasurer.

Mr. H. W. Milne having unveiled the tablet, which was dedicated by the Rector, the congregation descended to the church, where a very impressive service was held. The lessons, Ecclesiasticus xlv., 'Let us now praise famous men,' and Revelation xxi., 'I saw a new Heaven and a new earth. . . . And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes,' were very appropriate, as was Psalm 23, 'The Lord is my Shepherd.'

The tablet is of white marble, on a black marble base, and records the last peal in which Mr. Milne took part, rung on February 4th, 1922, exactly eight years before his death, by Barnet and Southgate ringers. After the record of the peal the tablet contains the following inscription:—

'To the Glory of God and in grateful memory of Frank Alexander Milne, M.A., J.P., President of this Association, the members have erected this tablet, recording the last peal in which he took part. He died, at the age of 75, on February 5th, 1930. "The memory of the just is Blessed"—Proverbs x., 7.'

After the service some 36 ringers and friends sat down to tea in the Red Lion Hotel as the guests of Mrs. Rowlands, who was afterwards cordially thanked by Mr. C. T. Coles, on behalf of the members of the association, for so kindly entertaining them that day.—Amid applause, Mrs. Rowlands briefly replied, thanking the ringers for coming in such large numbers, and expressing pleasure at meeting them.

The ringing arrangements during the afternoon were in the capable hands of Mr. A. W. Coles (Master, North and East District), who saw that no time was wasted, and that the whole of the large company of ringers were able to take part. Needless to say, a great variety of methods were rung, including the now inevitable touches of Spliced Surprise Major, which are becoming quite a popular feature at meetings nowadays.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH AT BRADFORD-ON-AVON.

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Bradford-on-Avon, on Saturday, October 3rd. This tower contains a beautiful peal of eight bells with a tenor 32 cwt. The bells of Christ Church, a comparatively new peal of eight bells (tenor 12 cwt.) and very musical, were also available for ringing. Ringing commenced in both towers soon after 3 p.m., and at 4.45 all assembled at Holy Trinity for the Guild service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon W. H. M. Clarke). The organist very kindly attended and the chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham) read the lesson. Tea followed in the Church House, to which 41 sat down, including the Vicar and representatives from Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Warminster, Trowbridge, Bratton, Rowde, Holt, Urcfont, Westbury, Melksham, Bradford-on-Avon (Holy Trinity and Christ Church), Bath Abbey, Weston, Wootton Bassett and Abberdale.

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (branch chairman), who extended a hearty welcome to all, and especially to the visitors. The chairman also spoke of the success of the lecture on 'Ringing' given by Mr. C. F. Andrews at Melksham on September 21st, which was well attended. After this lecture some of the members present decided to hold a weekly practice in the more advanced methods at various eight-bell towers in the branch area, the first practice being at St. John's, Devizes, on September 28th.

Three lady ringers were elected members of the Guild: Miss E. M. Slade, Miss M. Slade and Miss B. Candy, all of Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon.

It was provisionally decided to hold the next monthly meeting at North Bradley on November 7th. The branch secretary (Mr. F. Green) announced that he wished to resign from that office at the next annual meeting on the first Saturday in January.

The usual votes of thanks brought the meeting to a close, and ringing was continued till about 8.30 p.m. The following methods were rung both in the afternoon and evening: Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

SUGGESTIONS FOR ASSOCIATION'S COMING JUBILEE.

The second quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held on Saturday at Staveley, near Chesterfield. The weather was ideal—a chip off the long lost summer—and this added considerably to the enjoyment of those who attended. Ringing commenced soon after 2 p.m., and was carried on during the afternoon and evening, methods from Grandshire to Bristol and London Surprise being rung, although Treble Bob seemed to go best. Perhaps the bells know this time, for numerous tablets record many peals of 'Yorkshire Glory' there.

The committee met in the Church Hall at 4 p.m. and carried out their routine work, in addition to making grants from the Bell Repair Fund to Ratby, where two new troubles are being added to make a ring of eight, and Market Harborough, where the bells are being overhauled and rehung on ball bearings. A number of schemes for commemorating the jubilee of the association next year were discussed, such as a dinner and entertainment, special Cathedral service, peal by original or old members, photos of past officers in annual report, display of Surprise ringing by special bands, etc. This matter was left for local districts to discuss, and is to be finally decided at the next meeting in January.

Tea was served at 5 p.m. and some 50 or more members and friends sat down. These came from Bolsover, Belper, Burton, Colgrave, Chesterfield, Derby, Leicester, Ilkeston, Nottingham, Loughborough, and the association was delighted to have friends from Sheffield Cathedral, Ecclesfield, Kilnmarsh and elsewhere.

PRESIDENT'S SURVEY.

The business meeting, which followed tea, was presided over by the president, Mr. Denison Taylor, who was supported by the vice-president, Mr. W. Willson, hon. treasurer, Mr. W. E. White, and general hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Morris. It was a pleasure also to have the Rector of Staveley, Sir Josiah Court and Mr. W. J. Kittridge (churchwarden) present. The Rector, having to go early, first welcomed such a good gathering to Staveley, and trusted they would enjoy their visit. He stressed the ideal of the ringer, and spoke of their calling as being equal to the parson in the pulpit.

The president then gave a survey of the last quarter's working. The most important event was, of course, the dedication of the mural tablet and silver chalice in Littleover Church, near Derby, to the respected memory of the late president, Alderman Chambers. He regretted that owing to business ties he had been unable to be present, but they all had read the account of the service in 'The Ringing World,' and knew that it had been a very impressive and appropriate one. He would ask Mr. Willson later to give his impressions on this. Mr. Taylor then mentioned the recent ringers' pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, so successfully organised and carried through by the vice-president. Full accounts had appeared in 'The Ringing World' of this most impressive tour, and it made one regret inability personally to go on such a memorable visit to the battlefields. Peal ringers had been successful in over 30 performances from Minor to Yorkshire and London Surprise, and the Leicester company had rung Stedman Caters and Cinques 'in hand.' Then there was that unique record accomplished by Mr. Maurice Swinfield in conducting 100 different compositions of Stedman Triples. He was sorry to note the passing away of several well-known ringers who were life members of this association, and especially noted the death of Mr. A. Markwell, of the local company. He tendered the sympathy of the members to his family, some of whom were present. In concluding his remarks, the president asked all branches to consider the coming jubilee celebrations, and to be ready to make final arrangements.

New members elected since the last meeting, viz., eight ringing, three rejoins and three life, were confirmed.

The hon. treasurer informed the members of the committee's grant to Ratby and Market Harborough, and this was ratified.

TWO MEMORABLE EVENTS.

The vice-president, Mr. William Willson, gave a vivid impression of the memorial service to the late Alderman Chambers, and said how fitting it was to thus commemorate one who had worked so hard for the association's welfare, and who alone had placed the finances on such a sure foundation. He was glad the members had revered his memory in such a way. Speaking on the pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, he said that for long he had thought over a scheme whereby they could commemorate and revive the memory of ringers of England who fell in the Great War in a different way to the mere tangible memorial. This visit had been the outcome and would ever be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to take part in it. Everyone should go and see for themselves the dreadful results of war, and on hallowed and holy ground feel the awful yet wonderful emotion too deep for words. There would be no more war then. He was afraid the younger generation who had not known its horrors were apt to forget all that their fathers and elder brothers had gone through. There had been the pleasant side, and the enjoyment of visiting cities of the Continent, and the handbell peals successfully rung. The latter would remain as historic events, and the M.C.A. would thus always be connected with the pilgrimage.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESS OF THE NORTHERN BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Hartlebury.

Touches in various methods were rung during the afternoon and the service in the Parish Church was conducted by the Rector (Canon H. D. Noel Paterson), assisted by his curate, the Rev. — Dukes. The Rector gave a very inspiring address and drew the members' attention to the names carved on the ends of the pew of the at one time pewholders. They date back to the 15th and 16th centuries.

Tea was provided in the Church Hall, at which some 80 members were present. The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding, supported by the Rev. Dukes, Miss F. Gibbons (the first lady honorary member of the association), Mr. R. G. Knowles (association ringing master), Mr. J. R. Newman (general secretary), Mr. C. Skidmore (ringing master of the Northern Branch), Mr. A. J. Skelding (branch secretary), Mr. W. Short (Central Committee representative).

Arising from the minutes, the Rector explained that unfortunately the Bishop of Worcester, who resides at Hartlebury Castle, could not give a date in September, although he would very much have liked to address the ringers. The officers were unanimously re-elected, and a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to them for their splendid services. The officers suitably replied.

The Ringing Master of the association (Mr. R. G. Knowles) and the general secretary congratulated the branch upon the successful meetings which had been held, and it was unanimously agreed to hold the next meeting at Kidderminster.—Mr. T. J. Salter, in a humorous speech, explained that although the bells did not at present go 'extra grand,' he would do all in his power to make the meeting successful.

The Hartlebury ringers were proposed as performing members, and Miss F. Gibbons, in seconding, said she did so with great pleasure, and hoped they would take full advantage of the association's help to learn the beautiful art of change ringing.

The Rector and his colleague were then proposed honorary members.

Mr. T. Hemming proposed that the quarterly peal be attempted at Hartlebury, and the Rector readily gave his permission.

Mr. R. G. Knowles spoke to the members of the work of the Central Council, and strongly advised the members to read the reports in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. J. R. Newman congratulated Miss Gibbons, on behalf of the association, on having been raised to the magistrates' bench, and said he thought she was the first member of the association to attain the honour.—Miss Gibbons thanked the members sincerely for their congratulations.

The secretary said they had within the last few months lost by death a very old and honoured member of the association in the person of Mr. H. Oldnall. He had been a Sunday service ringer for 60 years at Hartlebury Church, and moved that a vote of condolence be passed with the family, the members agreeing by standing in silence.

Mr. C. W. Cooper, librarian, produced one of the volumes of 'Bell News' for the members' inspection. The whole series are now handsomely bound, and will be for the use of any member of the association.—Mr. H. Mason was warmly thanked for his beautiful gift.

Mr. C. Skidmore moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and Mrs. Paterson for entertaining them to such a bountiful tea, to the Rector for the use of the bells, arranging the service and his address, which had been quite interesting, also for presiding at that meeting.—This was seconded and carried with applause.

The Rector, in reply, said it had been a real pleasure to him and Mrs. Paterson to entertain the branch and he thanked them sincerely for their very kind vote of thanks. He wondered why he had not been a member before. He said the association would be celebrating their jubilee next year. It was formed in his old parish of Bromsgrove, and he hoped he would be with them.—The Rev. Dukes also returned thanks for his election to the honorary members' list.

This closed a very successful meeting.

The collection in church for the Belfry Repair Fund amounted to 17s.

Mr. W. Turner, towerkeeper, wishes it known that his address is The Village, Hartlebury.

Sir Josiah Court then spoke a few words of the pleasure it had given him to be present with such a good number of ringers, and wished them happiness in their calling. He hoped to have the pleasure of seeing them all again 'ere long.

Mr. W. E. White proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local committee for arranging this most successful meeting, and to Mr. Parsons and helpers for providing tea.—Mr. W. J. Kittridge, the churchwarden, replied in a pleasing speech, and Mr. Parsons also said a few words on behalf of the local company.

Further ringing was indulged in and the parties present broke up to wend their several ways home, pleased with themselves and all concerned at such an enjoyable afternoon's entertainment. E. M.

THE IRISH TOUR.

FIRST PEALS ON 'UNKNOWN' RINGS.

By W. H. F.

By Mac and O you'll always know
True Irishmen, they say;
For if they lack both O and Mac,
No Irishmen are they.

Friday.—The two towers for to-day, Ballymena and Coleraine, were previously unknown to change ringing. No peal had ever been attempted at either and the 'go' of the bells was an unknown 'quality.' Both churches are dedicated to St. Patrick, the famous early Irish saint, who was buried at Downpatrick, the capital of County Down.

Ballymena, the geographical centre of County Antrim, is midway betwixt Belfast and Portrush, called the 'City of the Seven Towers.' We regretted leaving Belfast without seeing Mr. Kimber, late of Hughenden, who wrote us on seeing the report of the 'English bell-ringers' visit to Ireland' in the local Press. Our train left at 9.30, and a scenic railway ride of an hour revealed the farming practice in Ireland for economy of labour. All the crop of the newly-mown hay-fields was stored in large haystacks evenly spaced. The Ballymena district is noted for famous men—Sir George White, hero of Ladysmith, was born near, also Sir William Brown and Lord Kelvin, chairman and engineer of the Atlantic Telegraph Co. At the Parish Church we were welcomed by the Rev. M. Robb (in the absence of the Vicar, the Rev. T. A. Cullen), Mr. Montgomery, churchwarden; Mr. V. C. Patterson, hon. secretary; and local ringers.

In the belfry it was found the bells had already been placed the 'right way up' for us to call 'go' at once, so a touch of Stedman Triples was rung just to record in this tercentenary year of Stedman that his method was the 'first ever' on Ballymena bells. It was rung by Messrs. Barnett, Lindoff, Wooler, Martin, Shepherd, Riding, Horan and Simpson. On the tower walls is the record that 'These bells were placed here to ring in memory of Rev. J. W. Murray, LL.D., Dean of Connor. "He being dead yet speaketh." They are a fine peal of eight, tenor 17 cwt. 2 qr. 19 lb.—in tone and weight the exact replica of St. Mary's, Slough—cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1895. A fine ringing room, good circle and draft of rone, bells going well, all that conduces to a good peal. On leaving this church we were heartily congratulated by all who had listened to the ringing and escorted to the Clarence Hotel, where a substantial hot luncheon had been generously ordered. We should have preferred to have spent an hour or two with the local company to add to the figures, rules and addresses that were scribbled on pieces of paper for their enlightenment, but the 4.18 p.m. train for our next parish could not be missed. Again our thanks were given for hospitality and kindness, and as we went to the station 'tears of the mountain' began to fall for the first time since our landing.

At Coleraine is a beautiful stone church, with battlemented tower of graceful proportions, surmounted by four handsome corner pinnacles—the only church of twelve we had visited without a spire. It has some choice stained glass and a beautiful veredos; the Communion chalice—rare and valuable—was the gift of the Honorable Irish Society 300 years ago. Its bells are equally beautiful, cast by Taylor and Co. in 1893, tenor 20 cwt. 1 qr. 12 lb. in E flat, all hung in an iron frame, and now, after nearly 40 years' constant use, in good going order to-day. The base of the tower forms an entrance porch to the nave, and herein a tablet records: 'This church dedicated to the Glory of God, in memory of His servant, St. Patrick, was founded in the 5th century after the birth of Christ, was rebuilt by the Honourable Irish Society of London in the year 1614 and was again rebuilt in the year 1884. Sir John Whittaker Ellis, Bart., placed this tablet here, Governor of the Honourable Irish Society, in August, 1884.' In the church is a drawing in letters of gold and suitably framed which gives a list of the leading British clergy on duty abroad—a new feature to me—headed quite simply with the happy title, 'Our People Overseas.'

Coleraine is pleasantly situated in the valley of the River Bann, noted for its fishing, the Banbridge being almost in the centre of the borough. Its name owes its origin to St. Patrick himself: it is a word-poem meaning the corner of the ferns; whilst the Book of Leinster contains a detailed account of a feast held here almost 2,000 years ago. According to the Venerable Bede, the Rivers Bann and Bush were full of salmon in the year that Christ was born, and the supply never seems to have failed. The town has a good harbour and regularly maintains services with Glasgow and Liverpool and other ports in Scotland and England. It has always been the spoilt child of London—its beneficent mother—and has enjoyed a Charter since James I., 1612.

Our party were met at the railway station and escorted direct to the cafe, where a substantial tea awaited them. Mr. W. Jackson (churchwarden), as host, deputising for the clergy. Mr. J. Bishop (hon. secretary), and the only one remaining of the band who opened the new bells in 1893, kindly assured us we could ring till 10 p.m. and that several ladies had been inquiring when the English ringers were going to begin their music. The local band muster eleven—two of

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

PENZANCE BRANCH MEETING AT LUDGVAN.

A meeting of the Penzance Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild, held at Ludgvan, was attended by ringers from Madron, Phillack, St. Hilary, St. Anthony, Manaccan, Gulval, Zennor and Truro. The ring of six was kept going during the afternoon and evening, and in the evening many also made their way to Gulval, which church possesses a very musical ring of eight cast by Warner.

Owing to the indisposition of the Rector of Ludgvan (the Rev. A. T. Bescarwen), the service was conducted by Canon T. F. Maddrell, Vicar of Gulval, who gave a very forceful address and told those present some reminiscences of the early days of his ministry at Truro. Tea was provided in the Church Hall.

Dr. Symonds proposed a vote of thanks to all the helpers, and asked that a message of thanks be conveyed to the Rector.

Ludgvan Church is pleasantly situated on a hill and overlooks Mounts Bay and St. Michael's Mount.

whom sat in the belfry whilst we successfully brought home one more 'first peal in the method in the county.' With thanks to the Rector, the Rev. L. V. Upprichard, M.A., and to Mr. Jackson, we left Coleraine in the rain, and rushed on to Portrush (70 miles from Belfast) to the Finvola boarding house that Mr. Bishop had arranged for us to spend the night in. Our landlady received us at 10.30 p.m. and packed us off at 7.30 in the morning; she was evidently well used to emergency meals and was a real 'mother' to two ladies of our company from Low Moor.

HISTORICAL RESEARCH.

In this issue of 'The Ringing World' is Mr. J. Armiger Trollope's concluding article on one of the most important periods of the history of the College Youths. These articles must have been read with widespread interest, not only by members of the Ancient Society scattered throughout the country, but by all ringers with a desire for knowledge of the past. Mr. Trollope's articles have been based upon long and painstaking research among old books and documents, and the Exercise is indebted to him for the light he has thrown upon the happenings of a society which has always held a prominent place in the art. Coupled with the historical facts which Mr. Trollope has been able to give us, his facile pen has presented the developments of those three or four decades in a readable and entertaining style, which few could have equalled.

Mr. Trollope set out to clear up the question of the continuity of the society which was established in 1637, and whose claim to an unbroken pedigree has from time to time been challenged, largely on the strength of the notes left by Osborn, which are now in the British Museum. What Mr. Trollope has made clear is that the original society can be traced from 1637 onward to 1788 and extinction, and that the present society can be traced directly backward to 1756. Between 1756 and 1788 there were two societies running parallel and independently, and he leaves the reader to draw his own conclusions as to whether the migrations from one society to the other during the period are sufficient to substantiate the claim to continuity, while fortifying a decision in the affirmative by the fact that the Cumberlands, who, had there been a real break in their rivals' line of descent, could have laid claim to being the senior society, but have never done so, and that Shipway, who came to London about this time, wrote in his book, published in 1816, that the College Youths appeared to be the most ancient society of ringers, said to have been established in the sixteenth century.

Nothing so exhaustive as the articles by Mr. Trollope has ever before been published concerning this vital period in the history of the Ancient Society, nor, we imagine, has anyone previously gone to the same expenditure of time and diligence as the writer must have devoted to the subject. We have already lost sight of far too much of the history of the Exercise, and anything that can be permanently saved to us is a gain not only now but for the future. Mr. Trollope, by his researches, which, by the way, he is still carrying on into the early history of ringing, is making a valuable contribution to our knowledge and is bringing phases of the past before us in a new perspective.

THE IRISH TOUR.

BY W. H. F.

'If stones could speak then London's prayers should sound,

Who built this church and citie from the ground.'

Saturday.—Our last day in Ireland came without invitation, and Londonderry was reached—in a Scotch mist—after nearly 40 miles' run, most of the journey alongside Lough Foyle, with its sea coast similar to that of North Wales from Rhyl. Whilst waiting for morning prayers to close the beauties of the town and Cathedral were examined, including a cannon ball fired during the famous Siege of Londonderry in 1688-89; 'roaring Meg,' one of the guns that did good work in its defence, and Macanlay's original MSS. in praise thereof. The town is situated on the River Foyle, the older parts upon a hill rising to 120ft. above sea level, the ancient Cathedral crowning an area enclosed by the old city walls, some 20ft. high, erected in 1600 to 1617 at a cost of £9,000, and still intact. Like Chester, it is one of the few walled cities of the kingdom, and bears the proud title of the 'Maiden City,' having successfully withstood three sieges in the 17th century. Its history can be traced back to the time of St. Colum, who was born not far away, and was founder of an abbey here in 546. A relic is still preserved in the churchyard of Long Tower, called St. Colum's stone, on which the saint is said to have knelt in prayer.

Originally known as Derry, its title was changed in 1613, the same year that a Royal Charter was granted to the Honourable the Irish Society, the Governor, recorder and five of the 24 assistants being Aldermen of the City of London. This body rebuilt the Cathedral in 1633 at a cost of £4,000, and a foundation stone in the tower porch records the words heading this report.

The Cathedral belfry, octagonal in plan, has large lancet windows on three sides, is handsomely fitted with high panelling, surmounted with a bold cornice all round its walls. The modern seats have bell-shaped backs similar to Rayner's chair at Newport, Isle of Wight, which was made 100 years ago. Circle and draft of rope are excellent and the sound of the bells just comfortable. My first impression on entering the room was 'here's another Exeter—all things bright and beautiful,' and I trust the Derry ringers will—for generations to come—appreciate the generous efforts of the Dean and Chapter to provide a ringers' room worthy of the chancel.

We were met by the curate—on behalf of the Dean of Derry, the Rev. R. G. S. King, who was on holiday—and Mr. O. Bryan, vergar, who kindly hastened our preparations for the 'Go—Treble Bob Royal.' At 12 o'clock the conductor called 'stand' with only an hour's faultless Kent. We were ringing ten bells and there were 13 ropes, and our bob-caller—who is still riding the tenor box in grief—suddenly discovered that you cannot buy three shillings worth of this method in one packet. This was a most annoying failure, to come to Londonderry all the way from London and then have to abandon the crown of the tour. As a consolation Norwich Major was substituted at once and another attempt made on the lighter eight—the tenor is 23 cwt. and not 20 cwt. as previously mentioned. This came home safely into rounds at 3.47 p.m., and our only train due out at 4 p.m. from the distant G.N. station.

These bells—newly cast in 1929—are by Gillett and Johnston, and are hung with new iron frame, the total weight of bell-metal being very nearly 7½ tons. This is one of the most successful modern 'ringing contracts' I have met with, and the only regret I have is that Derry bells are too far away for our English ringing friends to go over and try them.

Did we catch our train? Yes, thanks to one of the Derry boys, who took us through ancient alleys and by-ways, and the 'dressing' was completed by several men on the train. Had it not been that our 'short cut' of a mile was mostly downhill, this 12½ stone of Buck could never have done it. The carriage racks were full of bulging baggage, with the six peals in six counties in six days that our tourists were lugging back to England.

'Ruminating' in my carriage corner about 5 o'clock, I remembered our breakfast was at 7 a.m. On reaching the luncheon car I found the 'gormandisers' had cleared up the 'lot.' Oh, my!—my poor inner man: I felt as if I'd taken part in a Painswick performance.

Now on the homeward trek the whole circle of Ulster was completed at Portadown Junction, and the party had quite 'rounded' Lough Neagh, its centre, and the largest area of fresh water in the British Isles. Dear Dublin was reached at 8.5, the party having travelled nearly 400 miles for the nominal fee of 30s. a head, the railway officials having shown much courtesy to us when making arrangements for the tour. Mr. R. S. F. Murphy helped us to 'fill in' time till the return boat for Liverpool left at 11 p.m., and saw us off with the urge to 'come again soon.' It is a breach of etiquette to use the landing stage at Liverpool without notifying members of the Lancashire Association. On this occasion Mr. G. R. Newton and Mr. Claud Davies were on duty, and took the tourists to breakfast, gave them a touch of Stradman at 'Old Nic's,' and a course of Cambridge at St. Luke's with the local Sunday 'stedfasts.'

Breaking up a party is always a matter of regret—like breaking up an old bell. Before this happened we all agreed that the good work of change ringing in the Emerald Isle was progressing; that the name of Lindoff was already a familiar one wherever bells were to be found, and that the clergy of Ireland fully appreciated all that he has done in the past for the Irish Association.

MOULTON BELLS RESTORED.TREBLES TO BE ADDED LATER.

The dedication of Moulton Church bells, which have just been restored, took place on Thursday, September 24th, by the Bishop of Peterborough, the ringers taking part in the opening touch of ringing being: T. Tehbutt, J. J. Taylor, T. Law, W. J. Dove, H. England and F. Wilford. Mr. J. Oldham, representing Messrs. Taylor and Co., was present, and rang in several touches after the service.

On Saturday, October 3rd, at the special invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. J. M. Turner), ringers and friends of the Northampton and other branches of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild had a festival gathering, and rang, at intervals during the afternoon and evening, on the newly dedicated peal.

Service was conducted by the Rev. A. Price, of Little Billing, assisted by the Rev. Canon J. P. Friend, of Collingtree, the Rev. H. D. Smith, of Yardley Hastings, the Rev. J. White, of Pitsford, who presided at the organ, the Vicar and the Ringing Master (Mr. F. Wilford). The Rev. Canon J. P. Friend gave a splendid address, taking for his text the inscription which is on the treble bell, and which, translated from the Latin, means, 'Do all to the Glory of God.' During the service whilst the three hymns were sung, handbells accompanied the organ, the performers being the Vicar, Mr. F. Wilford, Mr. J. Dunkley and Mr. A. Taylor, and this was very much appreciated. After the service, ringers and friends proceeded to the Church Room, where a splendid tea, arranged by the Ladies' Working Party, was served to 77 adults and children. Afterwards further selections on the handbells were given.

The Rev. J. White (president of the branch), praised the Vicar, the Moulton ringers and everyone concerned in the efforts they had made in raising the money required for the rehanging of the bells, as it had only been just over 12 months since it was decided to have the work done. At the same time he handed over to him the collection, £1 2s. 5d., from the service to put to the bell fund.

The Vicar thanked the ringers for the gift and hoped before long that two more bells would be added to complete the octave, as a frame for eight bells had been put in.

Mr. Weaver, churchwarden, in proposing a vote of thanks to the visitors, said that at present it was impossible to go in for the other bells, but in the course of 12 months or so it might be.—Mr. J. Fidler, for Messrs. Taylor and Co., replied, and complimented the ladies on the splendid tea provided.

Further ringing took place on the bells up to 8.30 p.m. The work of the bellhangers met with the highest commendation.

MR. & MRS. GEORGE WILLIAMS' GOLDEN WEDDING.COMMEMORATIVE BELLS FOR NORTH STONEHAM.

The Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild and Mrs. Williams celebrated their golden wedding last Thursday, when they received numerous messages of congratulation and good wishes from ringing friends.

On Saturday the ringers of North Stoneham, where Mr. Williams has built up an admirable band after getting the bells augmented to eight, and to which church he and Mrs. Williams are presenting two trebles to make a peal of ten in commemoration of their half-century of wedded life, presented them with golden wedding gifts, a walking stick to Mr. Williams and an umbrella to Mrs. Williams.

Of course, a peal was rung at North Stoneham in honour of the event, and it was conducted by Mr. George Williams, who has been one of the greatest conductors in the Exercise during the last 50 years. By a coincidence this last was his 1,300th peal. Mrs. Williams was the first lady to ring a handbell peal. She rang three altogether, the first being in 1892. The others were rung in 1897; all of them were Grandsire Triples and Mrs. Williams rang 1-2. The peals were called by Mr. Williams, and they were thus the first married couple to ring a peal together.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams desire to express their warmest thanks to the many friends who sent them presents and letters and telegrams of good wishes.

PRESENTATION.

On Saturday last the North Stoneham ringers held their annual outing to Sherfield English, calling at East Tytherley en route, where they rang touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich. Meanwhile the Rector of North Stoneham arrived in his car with the Rev. T. Salmon (curate). On behalf of the North Stoneham ringers the Rector presented Mr. Williams with a walking stick and Mrs. Williams with an umbrella on the occasion of their golden wedding. The Rector, in making the presentation, mentioned the fact that Mr. Williams was mainly responsible for the treble and tenor bells being added at North Stoneham in 1909, and now Mr. and Mrs. Williams were generously giving two new bells to increase the peal to ten to celebrate their golden wedding.

Mr. Williams thanked the Rector, curate and the North Stoneham ringers for the gifts. He said he tried to do his best, although he found now he could not do as he used to do. His motto was to ring for both services and attend at least one of them.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, is at present under treatment in the Cottage Hospital, Claremont Road, Wallasey, Cheshire, and will be unable to attend to correspondence until further notice.

The president of the National Police Guild of Ringers (Mr. William Bottrill) has been promoted from Inspector to Sub-Divisional Inspector in the Metropolitan Police Force, and has been placed in charge of the Hammersmith Police District. His address is now No. 2, Married Quarters, Police Station, 1, Queen Street, Hammersmith, W.6. Hinging friends both in and out of the force will congratulate him upon his promotion.

By ringing the treble (approximately 1½ cwt.) to the first peal on the bells at Fools Cray, Kent, it is believed that Mr. Tom Groombridge, sen., has rung the lightest as well as the heaviest (Bow tenor, 53 cwt.) bells that have been rung to peals by the Kent County Association.

Mr. Groombridge and his son, Tom, jun., have now rung together peals of Stedman on all numbers from Doubles to Cinques, Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise on all numbers from Minor to Maximus. Tom, jun., has also rung Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus. What, by the way, is the greatest number of methods that have been rung on all numbers by any one ringer?

The paragraph which appeared in this column last week with regard to the peal of Doubles at Wychbold was a little ambiguous. The claim to be the youngest band to ring a peal of Doubles related to a quarterly peal by the Worcestershire Association. A younger band rang a peal of Grandire Doubles at Workton, Kettering, Northants, on August 7th, 1930. The average age of that company was only 18 years.

In connection with the meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild of Ringers, which is being held on Saturday, October 24th, at Buckfastleigh, the bells of Buckfast Abbey will be available for ringing from 3 p.m. till 4 p.m. In addition to the Limited Stop bus service, which runs between Exeter and Plymouth, a half-hourly bus service runs from Newton Abbot to Buckfastleigh, and visitors should alight at Dart Bridge for the Parish Church and the Abbey.

Ernest William Pye, the young son of the best known of all ringers, Mr. William Pye, rang his first quarter-peal on Sunday. And it was Stedman Triples, too. Father called it and Uncle Bob was also one of the band.

The tower of the Church of the Holy Nativity, Bristol, which is to provide the city with yet another ring of eight bells, is nearing completion, the final pinnacle, which crowns it, being well on the way. It is expected that the bellhangers will soon be at work. A young band of ringers, trained by Mr. W. A. Cave, who have been practising at St. Thomas' Church, will be ready to ring the bells by the time they are opened.

We understand that the restoration of the bells at Romsey Abbey, Hants, is to be taken in hand shortly.

If Mr. F. Simmonds, of Gloucester, will send his address to Mr. J. Poplett, Aylesbury Road, Tring, the cap which he left in the belfry will be sent to him.

The handbell peal at Chislehurst recorded last week was conducted by Thomas Groombridge, jun., and not Thomas Groombridge, sen., as printed.

THE PAINSWICK PEAL & SUFFOLK GUILD RESOLUTION

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Painswick 'peal' has given the Exercise a great deal of amusement from the time when Mr. Albert Wright, the conductor-composer, made his now famous claim that part of a false peal constitutes a record. The erection of a tablet recording the false peal was no less amusing, and, to my own knowledge, has caused a great deal of laughter in many parts of the country.

But surely the greatest joke of all is the resolution passed by a meeting of the Suffolk Guild members recommending their annual meeting to expel all members who continue to approve of the words '17,687 changes.' How can such a resolution be made effective? Can the Suffolk Guild control the views of its members? Quite a number of ringers never state their views on any subject, and even if the Suffolk Guild has any right to expel any member who voices his approval (which right I deny), it has no control at all over those who approve but say nothing. Thus the resolution is quite futile, and can only bring ridicule on those who passed it.

If the Suffolk Guild desires to voice its disapproval of the erection of a tablet to a false peal, which does not record the whole truth, its best way is to pass a resolution stating so. If any further action is felt to be necessary, the matter might be referred to the Central Council, with a recommendation to that body to expel any member or representative who has actually shown his approval of the tablet being erected. I venture to suggest that such a resolution would be taken seriously and would receive a great deal of support.

Resolutions which cannot under any circumstances be made effective can only cause amusement.—Yours faithfully,

31, Vincent Road, E.4.

THE STEDMAN TRICENTENARY.

Saturday, December 5th, will see a great pilgrimage of ringers to Cambridge, when the bells of St. Bene't's Church, restored in commemoration of the tricentenary of Fabian Stedman, will be reopened at a thanksgiving service.

Full details will be given in due course.

Donations promised to the Tricentenary Fund but not yet forwarded should be sent without delay either to

'The Ringing World,'

Woking, Surrey,

or to the hon. treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

THE FIRST PEAL OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.

BICENTENARY COINCIDES WITH STEDMAN'S TRICENTENARY.

It is a coincidence that this year, in which the Exercise is celebrating the tricentenary of Fabian Stedman, is the bicentenary of the first peal of Triples on his principle. On the 25th October, 1731, that is 200 years ago next Sunday, a peal was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. At that time there was keen rivalry between Norwich ringers, and the company that practised at St. Michael at Coslany in the same city rang a peal of Stedman Triples on the following December 6th. By their claims the St. Michael's company discredited the Mancroft performance, but, whichever of the two had the actual right to be termed the first, the bicentenary falls in this year.

The tablet in the belfry of St. Peter's Mancroft is worded as follows:

'On the 25th October, 1731, here was rung that Mysterious Peal called Stedman Triples: the discovery thereof has been the Study of several Ingenious Ringers in England, though to no effect, until this intricate Peal, which differs from all other Methods of tripples, as being every bell a like course, was perfectly discovered by Tho. Melchior, who first completed the Peal of Perfect Stedman Triples, with only two Doubles, and no alteration, the extent being 5,040 changes, was completely rung by us in 3 hours 40 mins., on which Occasion Wilm. Scott, in his remarks upon the ringing this peal, did Elegantly sing, viz.:-

As for the sweet and Pleasant Treble she

By Melchior well was rung that Bell, and called the bobs so free;

Blowfield the 2nd; Palmer 3rd did ring;

Ather rung 4th, and was not Loath, but made her for to Sing.

Gardener the 5th did sway; Forster the 6th did play;

The 7th round Cris Booty bound and made her to obey;

The tenor fine and neat, brave Porter so compleat

Did ring her out & turned about that Cymbal loud and great.'

The peal at Coslany was recorded thus:

'In this steeples, on the sixth of December, 1731, Was rung that most Incomparable as well as Intricate Peal of Stedman Triples, which had been long ye Study of many well skilled in the Art of Ringing, but without success, till Edward Crane, one of the company, with much pains and application brought it to perfection with two Doubles. This peal contains 5,040 Triple Changes, 2 Doubles only excepted, and is allowed by all Judges of the Art to be the most Ingenious Peal that till now has been composed. The Bobs were called by Edward Crane before mentioned, and was rung and completed in 3 hours 18 minutes by us whose names are under-written: Richard Barulham, 1; Edward Crane, 2; Jno. Harvey, 3; Robt. Knockall, 4; Wm. Pettingill, 5; Thomas Crane, 6; Rice Greene, 7; R. Crane, tenor. W. Woolbright, B. Elden, Churchwardens.'

These two peals led to a bitter controversy between the rival bands, into which the local Press and public seem to have entered. Insults and accusations were bandied about, and during the ringing of the Coslany peal attempts were made outside the church to upset the ringing, and, although the peal was brought round, the affair ended in a free fight, and some people 'were sent home to their shame with bloody noses.'

DOUBLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—At last we have a half-hearted admission by one of the members of the Methods Committee that the so-called six score of Double Grandsire Doubles in the new collection of Doubles and Minor Methods is something different from what it was represented to be.

In theory the bell in the hunt can be sent down before the treble, but in practice it is NEVER done; why then bring this in to try and obscure the issue?

It was shown in these columns on 14th September, 1928, that there are only two TRUE PLAIN COURSES of the method, and, seeing that the Bobs and Singles do not affect the constructional places, there was no excuse whatever for the Methods Committee trying to foist on the Exercise something that is not what it is represented to be.

A similar but a worse fiasco appeared in the 1907 book, and the figures given, to correct the error, on April 20th, 1923, contained 6 LEADS ONLY that could rightly be called Double Grandsire Doubles.—Yours faithfully,

OWEN KAY.

MEETING AT THE 'CATHEDRAL OF THE PEAK.'

A very successful meeting of the Peak District of the Midland Counties Association was held at Tideswell on Saturday last, about 20 ringers being present from Bakewell, Bolsover, Darley Dale, Dore, Edinburg, Eyam, New Mills, Rotherham, Tideswell and Uttoxeter. The beautiful ring of eight bells, recently restored by Messrs. Taylor and Co., were raised about 3 p.m., and were kept going in the standard methods till 8.30 p.m., with varying success, some good touches being interspersed with some of a very jazz-like nature. The latter, however, provided some useful experience for a number of learners. The visitors on arrival were welcomed by the genial Vicar, the Rev. R. Fletcher Edwards, and those interested were conducted round and shown the beauties of the glorious old church, well known as the 'Cathedral of the Peak.' Founded on the site of an old Norman Church, the building was commenced and completely finished in the 14th century, and it stands to-day much as it was at completion—a noble monument to the glory of God, and to the pious and patient labours of its mediæval builders. An interesting fact is that building was completely stopped for a period of 20 years or so when the 'black death' fell upon the country, and the Vicar stated that experts can tell the very stones which were in position before and those which were laid after 'the death.' Another object of interest is the 'Gabriel' bell, one of the original six, by a 14th century founder, now resting from its labours and in a place of honour at the east of the church.

A bountiful tea was provided for the ringers in the schools, through the kindly efforts of a number of local ladies, who could hardly be prevailed upon to accept a modest 6d. from each in payment. During tea the usual racy anecdotes were exchanged between the Rev. W. P. Wright and the Vicar, and were supplemented by one or two from others present, to the general amusement.

A short informal business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. W. P. Wright. It was decided to hold the next monthly meeting at Darley Dale on November 21st, and at the same time to try and carry out a little missionary work by making up parties to visit the two neighbouring five-bell towers of Elton and Winstar, both of them within easy reach by bus.

Amid great applause the Rev. R. Fletcher Edwards was made an honorary member of the association, Mr. F. Marshall, of Edinburg Cathedral, a life member, and Messrs. T. B. and F. Bagshaw (Tideswell) and Mr. S. Beighton (Dore) ordinary members.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, the ladies and local company on the proposition of the Rev. W. P. Wright, and the Vicar, in response, stated how pleased they all were to welcome the Peak District. He expressed his pleasure at becoming an hon. member, and said he hoped to attend some of the meetings and to bring some of the local ringers with him, a statement which produced further applause.—The secretary (Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey), in supporting the various votes of thanks, referred to the most generous welcome which they always received at Tideswell, to the pleasure it gave them to welcome more local ringers into the association, to the spade work which the district was doing in the Peak in trying to arouse interest in change ringing, and to his hope that the new members would make the most of their membership and attend as many meetings as possible and obtain the greatest possible return from their subscriptions. The secretary added a word of welcome to an old friend, the Rev. A. T. Beeston, of New Mills, at one time one of the foremost ringers in the county, but now unhappily precluded from ringing by doctor's orders. He had come over from New Mills to listen to the bells and enjoy the meeting.

Following tea, further ringing till 8.30 brought a very happy meeting to a close.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

ROMSEY ABBEY BELLS TO BE RESTORED.

A meeting of the Southampton District was held at Sherfield English on Saturday, October 17th, when the musical peal of eight by Taylor were kept going to methods from Grandsire to London Surprise Major. Tea and business meeting took place in the Parish Hall, the Rector of Dibden in the chair, supported by Mr. G. Williams (Ringing Master), Mr. F. W. Rogers (general secretary), and members from Basingstoke, Bishopstoke, Dibden, Titchfield, North Stoneham, Twyford, Lynnington, Romsey, Farnborough, Southampton, Milford-on-Sea and Winchester.

Mr. Williams was congratulated by those present on celebrating his golden wedding on the previous Thursday.

A vote of sympathy was passed to Mr. Harry Barton in his recent bereavement.

It was mentioned that Romsey Abbey bells and clock are to be restored. The Abbey has a ring of eight with tenor of 25 cwt. 8 lb. in D.

It was decided to hold a combined practice at St. Michael's, Southampton, in November, and the annual meeting at Southampton on January 16th, 1932.

H. J. Huleup, of Dibden, was elected an honorary member of the Guild.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS, 1750-1788.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

XVI. CONCLUSION.

Is the Ancient Society of College Youths the same as the Society of College Youths which was founded in 1637? The reader may answer the question for himself. The account of what took place is now published for the first time, and the facts as I have given them cannot be contradicted.

My original intention was to reproduce Osborn's account in full and without comment. Osborn was a painstaking and accurate collector of facts. He was by training and profession peculiarly qualified to find the truth, and his statements may be relied on. But he had a bitter quarrel with the society, and he left it either in anger and disgust or because he was expelled under rule nine or its equivalent. He made no secret of his contempt for the College Youths of his own day, and these things might have warped his judgment. I decided, therefore, to go myself to the original records and write the story afresh.

Two things are clear. If we start at 1637 and trace the main course of the College Youths downwards, it leads us directly to 1788 and extinction. If we trace the main course of the present society backwards it leads us directly to 1756 and the formation of George Meakin's company. For thirty-two years these two run parallel; there were two distinct societies as independent of each other as both were of the Cumberlands' Society. At two points and two only there was a connection between them—one in 1756, the other in 1788. Each was a migration of members from the old society to the new. The first was of approximately half the company, the second of more than half. There was no official union at either time. Continuity depends entirely on those two migrations, and it will be seen at once that there was no link at all in any formal or legal sense. The present society has as little (or as much) right to say they are the successors of the Eastern Scholars as of the College Youths.

On the other hand, the new company always called themselves College Youths, which was, in itself, a claim to be the successors of the original society. Their great rivals were the Cumberlands, and after 1788 that company could have claimed with justice that they were the senior and leading London society. But they did not. Shipway came to London in 1785, and he must have known all about the events of 1788. In his book (1816) he wrote of the College Youths, "This appears to be the most ancient society of ringers. They are said to have been established in the sixteenth century." It is not very enthusiastic, and Shipway and his contemporaries knew little and cared little about the history of ringing. But it is good evidence that ringers at the end of the eighteenth century were content to allow the College Youths' claim of continuity. And what satisfied them may satisfy us.

The new company carried on the traditions and dignity of the old, which, after all, was the most important thing. The society has not always been so fortunate. Forty years or so later it went through another crisis. That time there was no question of continuity, but in the changes that took place it definitely lost those qualities and characteristics which had made its members for so many years the social and intellectual aristocracy of the Exercise.

THE RINGERS' DIRECTORY.

PUBLICATION OF A NEW EDITION.

The third edition of the 'Directory of Church Bell Ringers' (published by Bristol United Ringing Guilds at 1s.) is on sale to-day. It is twice the size of the previous issue and more than twice as useful. There are thirteen hundred names and addresses under the alphabetical list, and these names are also rearranged under the associations and towers, so that the directory has now developed into a volume which fully justifies its title. It will be of great value to ringers desiring to communicate with or visit other areas, and its usefulness to ringers is greatly enhanced by a section containing many pages of Sunday service touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters compiled by Mr. Gabriel Lindoff. Apart from its convenience to individual ringers, therefore, a copy of the Directory ought to be kept in every tower ready for reference in emergency when a service touch is needed. And some of these touches, by the way, will get conductors away from the rut in these methods. The Empire section, written by Mr. W. H. Fussell and dealing with ringers and ringing overseas, is full of interest, and these excursions beyond the main purpose of the directory make it all the more acceptable.

Those who subscribed to the Directory, and thus got the advantage of getting their names and addresses included, should receive their free copy in the next day or two. The Directory is on sale to others at 1s., and may be obtained from the hon. secretary of Bristol United Ringing Guilds (Mr. E. Guise, 39, Tankard's Close, St. Michael's, Bristol).

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

F. A. MILNE MEMORIAL.

The following sums are gratefully acknowledged by the Memorial Sub-Committee of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild: Tottenham ringers, 10s.; Harrow Weald ringers, 10s. 6d.; Barnet ringers, £1 1s.; Southgate ringers, £1 1s.; Harrow ringers, 10s.; Hendon ringers, 10s. 6d.; Northaw ringers, 10s.; Stanmore ringers, 7s. 6d.; collection, South and West District annual meeting, £2; Oxford University Society, £1 1s.; a friend, 10s.; Messrs. W. J. Bowden, 2s. 6d.; E. Barnett, 2s. 6d.; J. C. Jackson, 2s. 6d.; J. Bennett, 2s. 6d.; W. Lawrence, 1s.; I. Emery, 6d.; W. H. Hollier, 10s.; W. Pickworth, 10s. 6d.; C. T. Coles, 5s.; J. A. Collins, 2s. 6d.; H. S. Arbin, 2s. A sufficient sum having been collected to defray the cost of the memorial tablet and all incidental expenses, this fund is now closed, with sincere thanks to all subscribers.

C. T. COLES,
Hon. Secretary to the Sub-Committee.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.TWO NEW BANDS JOIN.

The quarterly meeting was held at Shirenewton (Mon) on Saturday last. Favoured with beautiful weather, a good number put in an appearance from both dioceses, many probably being drawn by the fact that it was the first time the association had held a meeting at this tower. The bells, a light, musical ring of six, by Evans, of Chepstow, with the exception of the treble, put in by Mears as a peace bell after the war, were raised about 3 o'clock and various methods rung. It was a surprise to find that the local band were practising half-pull ringing, and in February last had rung a peal of Doubles, which is recorded on a peal board hung in the tower. Mr. Marsh, the people's warden, and one of the ringers heartily welcomed the visitors on their arrival. Service was held, the Vicar (the Rev. W. E. N. Williams) officiating. Following tea in the Church Room the business meeting took place. The Vicar, who presided, heartily welcomed the association on their first visit to Shirenewton, at the same time championing his own band of ringers, who, he said, were a keen and enthusiastic band of ringers and church workers.

The report on restorations was given, followed by instructor's report. New members were elected, including the whole of the Bassaleg ringers, who are now doing half-pull ringing, and also the whole of Shirenewton ringers, thanks to the interest and enthusiasm of Mr. Churchwarden Marsh.

The selection of the place to hold the next quarterly meeting was left over until the annual meeting, which is to be held at Newport on December 26th.

After the usual votes of thanks the meeting closed and a return made to the tower, where more ringing was indulged in.

As Shirenewton is situated in an isolated part of the county and in a purely agricultural district, it was most gratifying to find such a number attending, and, with the results achieved, the gathering can best be described as a most encouraging and successful meeting.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday at Pirbright, where H. M. Stanley, the explorer and discoverer of Dr. Livingstone in Africa, lies buried, his grave being marked by a huge rough-hewn block of stone. There is a light peal of six in the tower, and ringing took place on them during the afternoon, but, owing to illness near the church, the ringers voluntarily abandoned the evening ringing. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Slade-Kelsey), who in his address emphasised the need for a return of the country to prayer and corporate worship in these days of unrest and upheaval.

Tea in the Institute was attended by about 20 members from Aldershot, Ash, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas), Haslemere, West Clandon, Woking and Worplesdon. There was no formal business to transact, but the Vicar, who was thanked for the use of the bells and for the service, was asked to convey the sympathy of the members to the sufferer and relatives at 'Churchmeads'.

Admiral T. P. Walker called attention to the suggestion in 'The Ringing World' for the celebration of the Stedman Tercentenary by special ringing at every church, and hoped the proposal would be generally adopted in the Guildford Guild.

Afterwards by car and motor-cycle most of those present were transported to Worplesdon Church, where permission had been kindly granted at short notice for ringing in the evening. The new Vicar and his son visited the belfry to welcome the ringers, and the latter intends to take up ringing. Various methods up to Cambridge Surprise were rung at the two churches, the abilities of all being admirably cared for by the District Ringing Master (Mr. W. R. Melville).

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Barnesley and District Association was held at Sandal on Saturday, October 10th, members being present from Armley, Barnesley, Crofton, Darfield, Dewsbury, Felkirk, Horbury, Hoylandswaine, Pontefract, Royston, Shelley, Wath and the local company. The bells were kept going during the afternoon in various methods. Tea was served to about 40 members and friends in the Parochial Hall, and the business meeting followed, the Vicar (the Rev. A. A. Parry) presiding. He gave all a hearty welcome and said he was always pleased to grant the use of the bells for those meetings. He also made reference to Mr. H. Robinson, who has been a ringer at Sandal 59 years, and hoped he would be able to 'carry on.'

South Kirkby was selected for the next meeting. Votes of thanks were passed, and further ringing followed both on tower bells and handbells.

BLETCHLEY, BUCKS.—On Wednesday, October 7th, 720 Bob Minor: R. W. Sear (first 720) 1, H. Sear 2, H. V. Sear 3, F. Vickers 4, S. Smith 5, W. Sear (conductor) 6.

KINGSLEY.—At St. Werburgh's Church on Tuesday, October 13th, 720 Bob Minor: T. Edwards (first 720) 1, W. Edwards 2, E. Twigg (first 720 'inside') 3, E. Wood 4, H. Cornwell 5, A. W. Hall (conductor) 6.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION.MEMORABLE MEETING AT TRING.

The meeting of the Western Division at Tring on Saturday, October 10th, was held on a glorious day, when about 35 ringers attended from Apsley, Amersham, Burton-on-Stather, Blechley, Berkhamsted, Hemel Hempstead, Aston Clinton, Kings Langley, Ellesborough, Gloucester, Watford, Winslow, St. Albans and the local company. Ringing in various methods took place in the afternoon, and an interesting ceremony took place in the tower when the Vicar (the Rev. T. T. C. Wood) dedicated a peal board recording the peal rung at his induction in December, 1930. In the course of the brief service the Vicar's wife (Mrs. Woods) unveiled the board. This was followed by a touch of Grandsire Triples by the same band standing as in the peal. In the belfry were gathered a number of church officials and workers, among them the churchwardens, Messrs. T. B. Fells and E. Henchin.

After the ceremony all present sat down to a splendid tea in the Vestry Hall, arranged by some of the local ringers' wives, who were complimented and thanked for their efforts.

At the meeting held after tea the Vicar, who presided, extended a hearty welcome to the association, and said he should always remember the hearty welcome accorded to him on his induction. He warmly praised the ringers of the peal.

Two new members were elected, viz., Mr. F. West, of West Wycombe, and Miss Elsie Leach, of Berkhamsted.

The secretary (Mr. J. Puplett) proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to all the ladies who had assisted in providing such a splendid tea, and Mr. Good proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, etc. Other short speeches followed and further ringing then took place. It was one of the most memorable meetings held in the division.

VETERAN STOURBRIDGE RINGER.DEATH OF MR. G. H. PAGETT.

The death occurred on Sunday, September 27th, of Mr. George Henry Pagett, of Stourbridge. He had been unwell for some time and his condition gradually grew worse since he sustained a fall some weeks ago. He was a staunch churchman and had been a member of St. Thomas' Church choir for over 50 years, and a bellringer for nearly 55 years. He was a member of St. Thomas' band and helped at neighbouring towers. He was a familiar figure at the Worcestershire Association meetings as their representative some years ago.

He was ever ready to push forward the art of ringing both by advice and practical instruction, and was a general favourite with his fellow-ringers. In all he undertook his genial manner earned him a host of friends, by whom he will be greatly missed.

Mr. Pagett was for over 27 years porter at the Midland Bank, Stourbridge, from which post he retired in November, 1922, when he was presented with a handsome chair from the staff of the bank as a parting gift. He was 73 years of age and is survived by his wife.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon, October 1st, the first part of the service being held at St. Thomas', the Vicar (Canon Newland, R.D.), the Rev. E. G. Horner and the Rev. W. Smith officiating. The choir were in attendance and the hymns were 'There is a Blessed Home' and 'Jesus lives'; the 23rd Psalm was also chanted. The organist, Mr. Bertie Allechurch, played appropriate music, including 'O rest in the Lord.' There was a large assembly, including members of the Ancient Order of Foresters (of which Mr. Pagett had been a member for 53 years), the Church Council, the churchwarden (Mr. W. A. Horne), Mr. C. H. Cartwright (manager of Old Bank), and the following bellringers: Messrs. W. Farley, W. Short, J. Bass, J. Carter, H. Hartshorn, H. V. Cooper, H. Kirkham, Sidney Thompson, H. T. Amphlett, A. L. Dunn, J. W. Smith and C. W. Cooper. The interment took place at the Borough Cemetery, and following the committal the Foresters' funeral service was read and a course of Grandsire Triples rung on handbells over the grave by Messrs. H. T. Amphlett, H. V. Cooper, J. Bass and W. Farley.

Floral tributes were many and included those from 'His sorrowing wife'; the Vicar and Miss Newland; St. Thomas' ringers; organist and choristers, St. Thomas'; Mr. A. J. Skelding, secretary, Northern Branch, Worcestershire Association; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cooper. A half-muffled peal was rung on the bells of St. Thomas' Church immediately after the burial.

YEOVIL BELLS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was particularly interested to read in 'The Ringing World' this week of the wonderful improvement in the peal of ten at Yeovil. I am sure all that Mr. Dyke says is true, as I have personally heard these bells from time to time in the foundry.

I quite believe that, with the careful way these bells have been tuned, they are now the finest ten in Somerset, but, in my opinion, it is a pity that the ninth is not a better match for the glorious tenor.

Can any reader of 'The Ringing World' let me know if they know of a heavier bell ever being cast at the Chew-Stoke Foundry by the Billies? I believe Yeovil tenor is the heaviest bell that was ever turned out from this noted old West County foundry.

The report which you quote says, 'Wells Cathedral tenor of over 52 cwt.'—she is considerably over 52, as she goes 57½.

BEQUEST TO RINGERS.TWYFORD FEAST DAY.

The 7th October in each year has been known for very many years at Twyford, Hants, as 'Ringers' Feast Day,' when, according to the will of the late Mr. William Davis, a resident of Twyford, the ringers of Twyford Church bells are to receive £1, providing they ring twice on that day, morning and evening. A copy of the will hangs on the north wall of the church, near the tower, the late Rev. Charles Buston having been instrumental in obtaining a copy of the will, for which the ringers of Twyford have always been grateful. Tradition has it that Mr. Davis was returning home when he lost his way in the dark, probably across either Twyford or Shawford Down—no one seems to know which—when the church bells of Twyford rang out, and Mr. Davis was able to tell in which direction he was going, and suddenly discovered he was actually on the brink of one of the deep chalk pits. A few steps further and he would have fallen over. He owed his life to the sound of the church bells, and therefore provided in his will that this sum be paid annually to the ringers of Twyford.

This sum is augmented by the ringers themselves, and they invite a number of friends interested in bellringing to a supper or feast on each October 7th. The event was held as usual this year, when about 24 sat down to an excellent repast catered for by Mr. W. Hills, of the Cafe, Twyford. The Vicar, the Rev. Harold S. Morris, took the chair, and Mr. L. S. Lampard, conductor of the local band, the vice-chair. There were also present two of the old Twyford band of ringers, Mr. John Ashford and Mr. George Smith, both members of the Diocesan Guild, and who have attended those suppers for a number of years. Dr. G. A. E. Roberts, also an old supporter of the bellringers, and who has attended for very many years, Dr. G. Marsden Roberts, Dr. Hugh Mallinson, Major Duncan Lewis, Mr. Henry Hewlett (people's warden), Col. F. J. Parker (Vicar's warden), Mr. E. Watling, Mr. Arthur Smith, Mr. W. G. White, Mr. P. W. Lynch and the ringers. Mr. Walter Young, captain of the band, was unfortunately unable to be present.

After the supper the Vicar proposed the toast of 'The King,' and Major Lewis the toast of 'The Bellringers,' which was responded to by Mr. Lampard. The Vicar read the will, the copy of which had been brought from the church for the occasion. The following is an extract:—

'In the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, in the will of William Davies, late of Twyford in the County of Southampton, deceased; dated twenty-second April, 1754, is as follows:—

'I also give to the Ringers of the Parish of Twyford the sum of twenty shillings to be paid them every year for ever, on the 7th day of October (New Style), provided they ring on the morning and evening of that day, but not otherwise. And I do hereby charge my freehold estate in Twyford with the payment thereof, and if the said sum of twenty shillings be not duly paid them every year as aforesaid, I do hereby give the Vicar of Twyford, for the time being, full power to enter on the whole or any part thereof for the use of the Ringers aforesaid.'

Mr. Lampard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for taking the chair, and the Vicar, in reply, said that that evening was his 22nd year of attending those suppers.

The rest of the evening was spent in games, etc.

ABERAVON RINGERS' SOCIAL EVENING.

In April last 15 Aberavon ringers and friends experienced a great disappointment when they arrived at a certain cafe to find that no supper awaited them—although it had been arranged for—and all had to return home empty. Needless to say, this establishment didn't get a second chance. However, all's well that ends well, and at the Charlton Cafe on Tuesday evening of last week, the ten ringers, with the Rev. W. H. Jones, Vicar, the Rev. Ivor Davies and the Rev. E. H. Jones, curates, and Mr. W. M. Evans, Vicar's warden (Mr. F. D. Jones, people's warden, was unable to attend owing to illness), sat down to a splendid supper, and an enjoyable 'free and easy' evening was spent.

The Vicar, in a short address, spoke of the good work the ringers were doing, and said how delighted he was to be there amongst them that evening, and hoped they would go on for years to come doing the work which they had undertaken.

A brief account of the bells, ringers and peals rung was given. The years of service of the ten ringers are as follows: Messrs. W. Williams (46), J. Weatherby (28), A. J. Pitman (22), W. J. Norton (21), E. Stitch (17), F. K. Stone (15), C. Hughes (11), C. Jones (7), C. Mathers (7) and G. Chappell (5); total 179 years. The bells were hung by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1893, the first peal rung on them in 1904, and the first local peal was rung by eight of the above on March 20th, 1931, Mr. W. Williams taking part in both. The first peals on the bells of Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major were all conducted by Mr. A. J. Pitman. There have been 29 peals rung on the bells, but none without a local man in it.

Nearly all present said a few words, and all agreed that the gathering had been a great success, and spoke of making it an annual event, next time inviting wives and sweethearts. It was a disappointment to all that Mr. F. D. Jones was kept away through illness, everyone wishing him a speedy return to health.

RINGER'S MOTOR-CYCLING FATALITY.

The ringers of St. Andrew's Church, Yardley Hastings, suffered a severe loss by the death of Mr. Fred Wooding, who met with a fatal motor-cycling accident on Sunday night, October 4th, and died in hospital the next morning without regaining consciousness. He was only 18 years of age, but had been ringing for six years, and had taken part in six peals.

The funeral took place on the following Thursday afternoon, and the coffin was borne to the grave by six members of the local band. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. D. G. Smith), assisted by Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

After the ceremony Mr. Wilford, with the local band, rang several touches of Minor with the bells fully muffled, and on the Sunday following the bells were rung half-muffled.

THE PAINSWICK TABLET.

The last has probably not yet been heard of the Painswick performances—the false peal and the erecting of a tablet to commemorate it. Had the failure been left where it was, when the falseness of the peal was pointed out, the unfortunate fiasco would by this time have been well on the way, if not to entire oblivion, at any rate to the realm of those things which only historians would desire to disturb. The recent action of the Painswick Youths, in erecting a monument to their failure, call it 'glorious,' 'ghastly,' 'ignominious' or whatever adjective you please—and ringers have been pleased to call it many things—has, however, rekindled the flame of resentment which sprang up when an attempt was made to justify this 17,687 as a record length on twelve bells, despite the repetition of changes which occurred. The tablet might easily have been worded so that those who read it in future years would have known the exact facts, without any loss of admiration for the endurance of the men who, as far as the performance went, tried and failed through no fault of their own. As we pointed out when the inscription was first made public, the record, as it stands, will be open to misconception in generations to come, when those with first-hand knowledge have gone.

It is this which is likely to keep alive the feeling which is abroad in the Exercise, and which will eventually, we think, culminate in a public protest through the Central Council. That some ringers feel deeply about the placing of this tablet in the church is obvious from the resolution of the Suffolk Guild branches to their annual meeting. The form of the proposal, however, is most unusual. The removal from the Guild of any member who continues to approve of the words '17,867 changes' being on the tablet might prove difficult to carry out and still more difficult to justify. Without a referendum, one cannot see how it can be ascertained who approves and who does not. Moreover, would it be right to remove a man from the Suffolk Guild for his opinions on an act of the Painswick Youths? We could understand the Suffolk Guild, or any other association which desires to maintain the highest standard in ringing, registering a protest against a tablet thus worded being placed in a church tower, but beyond that it is difficult to see that they can wisely go. It is doubtful, however, whether anything that can now be done will undo what we consider was a misguided action on the part of the Painswick Youths. Most of those who provided the tablet were probably ignorant of the recognised canons of ringing, and we can only imagine that the ringers themselves were unaware of the wording that had been adopted until it was too late to alter it. We do not hear, however, that any one of them has raised his voice in protest. To erect a tablet at all was, in our view, a mistake; to let it remain without some addition which will make it clear that this was a false peal will give ground for the suspicion, already widely felt, that there is an intention that future generations shall look upon this as a record peal.

THE LAST SURVIVOR.

At St. George's Church, Dunster, Somerset, for morning service on Sunday, October 4th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. T. Tudball 1, J. J. Hole 2, A. R. Tudball 3, H. W. Lloyd 4, T. Elliott 5, W. Dibble 6, W. W. Thorne (Guildford, Surrey, conductor) 7, W. Owen 8. W. W. Thorne is the only surviving member of the band who rang the first peal on these bells 48 years ago. The rest of the company are all Sunday service ringers at Dunster.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.FIRST MEETING AT BUCKFASTLEIGH.

A successful meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devonshire Guild was held at Buckfastleigh on Saturday last. The weather was beautiful, and a good muster of ringers was present from Exeter, Whimple, Sidmouth, Kenn, Littlehempston, Paignton, Cockington, Brixham, Clyst St. George, Plymouth, etc., as well as ringers from the locality. The bells of the Parish Church were raised soon after 2 o'clock, and a touch each of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles rung. A move was then made to Buckfast, Abbey, where the Lord Abbot of Buckfast had kindly given permission for the use of the bells. Here rounds were rung on the back ten in order that all who wished to do so should have a pull. Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Caters were then rung, and the bells were lowered and the visitors came to St. Luke's Church, where a hearty service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Horace Mychrest). Some of the choirboys assisted, Mr. E. W. Penny (organist) was at the organ, and the lesson was read by Mr. F. J. Laxton, of Torquay (chairman).

The Vicar gave an excellent address from the text, 'Their sound is gone out into all lands' (Psalm 19, verse 4). He mentioned the Stedman Tercentenary, which was being kept this year, and commemorated by the restoration of the bells of St. Bene't's Church, Cambridge, where Fabian Stedman used to ring.

A collection was afterwards taken for the Branch Instruction Fund. After the service the visitors adjourned to the White Hart Hotel, where over 40 sat down to tea. The usual business meeting, which followed, was presided over by Mr. F. J. Laxton.

The secretary explained why the meeting was being held at Buckfastleigh instead of Ashburton, which was originally chosen.

For the annual meeting, to take place on Saturday, January 23rd, St. Mary Magdalene, Upton, Torquay, was selected.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, organist and choir for the welcome extended, and this was replied to by the Vicar, who remarked that it was the first time he had attended a Guild meeting. He said that it was the first orthodox meeting of ringers to be held at Buckfastleigh, and he hoped it would not be the last.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast for the use of the Abbey bells, and to Mr. A. L. Bennett for making the arrangements.

The Chairman extended a welcome to the visitors, mentioning among them Mr. S. R. Roper, of Croydon.—Messrs. Roper, E. Shepherd (Exeter) and W. J. Rowland (churchwarden) suitably replied. This ended the business, and the party returned to the Parish Church.

SUFFOLK GUILD.EASTERN MEMBERS SUPPORT RESOLUTION ON PAINSWICK 'PEAL.'

A meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Wilby on October 10th. This is a beautiful ring of eight bells, which go well, but owing to the noise in the ringing chamber, they are not very comfortable to ring, nor is it easy for 'scratch' hands to accomplish any touches on them. Perhaps for this reason the attendance, though representative, was not large.

It was decided to hold a meeting on November 28th at Woodbridge. There was considerable discussion on the secretary's motion, which he brought forward here, in the east of the county; as he had previously done at the meeting at Cavendish, in the west. This stated that this meeting recommends the annual meeting to take steps to remove from the Guild any member who continues to approve of the words '17,687 changes,' being on the tablet lately fixed in Painswick Church.

Mr. Drake said that, in addition to the reasons he had already given, they should remember that the repetition of changes not only vitiated all that followed, but also affected the rows that had already been once rung, and which, thereby, became false when rung for a second time. These rows were then, not changes, but duplicates. It was the same in other performances, such as music or athletics, a defect at the end spoiled the whole. The object of guilds such as theirs was to keep up the standard in these matters. He himself would lose all interest in ringing if they were going to have two ideas of what were changes. He went further, and, as a churchman, he held that there ought not to be untrue statements put up in a house of God. He had taken part in services in Painswick Church in the past, and had hoped to do so again if he lived. But he did not wish to go into that church now as long as there was that untrue statement on its walls. He would avoid it, and he would avoid Gloucestershire.

All present supported the resolution with the exception of Mr. J. Langstroth, who said that the feat was a very fine one, that the ringers were entitled to a board, and that the Suffolk Guild ought not to interfere.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector, the Rev. H. S. Marriot, for so generously giving the tea and for the use of the bells.

Notice was given of a guild practice meeting, to be held monthly at Ufford, the first being on October 24th. This was duly held last Saturday, and was very successful. A number of those learning new methods attended from Woodbridge and other towers, and made much more progress than they would have done at home.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Miss Kathleen Annie Hughes, eldest child and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry, celebrates her 'coming of age' to-day. To-morrow a peal in honour of the event is to be attempted at Stepney, and in this the young lady's father and grandfather will take part.

Several well-known composers have endeavoured to get a peal of Double Norwich Major with all the combinations of 4, 5 and 6 in 5-6 in a length less than 5,378 with only two singles. Among them were Mr. Arthur Knights, Mr. W. Taylor, Mr. George Lewis and the late Mr. Arthur Craven, but it baffled them all.

The 'plum' has fallen to one of our younger composers. As the result of a talk between Mr. Knights and Mr. C. W. Roberts at Sheffield during the northern tour, the latter has got a peal with these properties in 5,152, and it was called last Saturday by Mr. B. A. Knights at Penwortham.

The service ringers at Leesfield Parish Church, Lanes, have rung their first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major together at their first attempt, and the performance included five 'first peals.' The peal was rung at Marsden, Yorkshire, and they wish to thank the Vicar for the use of the bells and the Marsden ringers for having everything in readiness for them.

One hundred and twenty years ago to-day the first double-handed handbell peal was rung. It was Oxford Treble Bob Major at Sheffield. Exactly a hundred years ago next Sunday a peal of 6,160 Double Norwich Major (the longest in the method up to that time) was rung at St. Michael Coslany, Norwich.

Next Thursday is the 110th anniversary of the first peal of Superlative, rung at St. Peter's, Huddersfield.

The ringer of the 7th in the peal of Bob Major at Hethersett on October 15th was George H. Moore.

The peal of Minor at Burton-in-Lonsdale on October 17th was rung for the Lancashire Association, and not the Yorkshire Association.

It is interesting to recall that it is just 20 years since the famous band of Bailey brothers rang their peal of Bob Major at Leiston. The anniversary was commemorated by a peal at Leiston on Saturday, but only three of the brothers took part, James M., Ernest S. and Charles F.

The other brothers in the original band were Allan F. (now doing much handbell peal ringing at Stockport), Frederick W., Leonard P., Norman R. and Edgar H.

It has been found necessary to cancel the Hertford County Association meeting, which was to have been held at King's Walden to-morrow.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN BIRMINGHAM RINGER.

As we go to press we learn with much regret of the death, which took place on Tuesday last, of Mr. James E. Groves, of 43, Malvern Road, Handsworth, Birmingham.

Mr. Groves, who was 63 years of age, had been in ill-health for some time, and his death removes one of the best-known figures in Midland ringing circles.

The sympathy of the whole Exercise will go out to Mrs. Groves, the widow, in her bereavement.

THE REV. F. L. EDWARDS. OPERATION AFTER AN ACCIDENT.

We are glad to report that the Rev. F. L. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, who has been under treatment at Wallasey Cottage Hospital, Cheshire, is progressing most favourably.

Mr. Edwards visited the Vicar of St. Nicholas, Wallasey, on Oct. 10th, to preach, as he usually does, at the meeting of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Guild. Unfortunately, he had a fall at the swimming baths and damaged an arm. Nevertheless, despite physical disability, with his arm in a red silk sling and obviously no little pain, he preached the sermon, which was founded on Stedman's principle, and afterwards attended the tea and meeting, where he was given a very warm reception.

As the result of the accident, however, he contracted some virulent germ, and blood poisoning set in. He was removed to hospital, where it was found necessary to open his arm, and it was then ascertained that he had also chipped off a piece of bone at the elbow point.

His many friends will be glad to learn of his improvement.

A UNIQUE ACHIEVEMENT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Saffron Walden Society records contain the names of several well-known and noted ringers.

One of its present members, who is also well-known to the Exercise, has recently accomplished rather a unique performance by composing and conducting peals of Cambridge Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus within about two months.

It would be interesting to know if any member of the Exercise has previously accomplished such a performance.—Yours faithfully,

ALFRED E. PITSTOW.

THE STEDMAN TRICENTENARY.

PROGRESS OF THE RESTORATION WORK.

Excellent progress has been made with the work of restoration in connection with the bells and tower of St. Bene't's, Cambridge. Since the bells were removed, the builder, Mr. Sinfield, has constructed the reinforced concrete corbel course right round the interior of the tower, and, thanks to the special brand of quick-drying cement which has been used and which was the generous gift of the Tunnel Cement Co., Ltd., it was possible to begin the re-erection of the bell frame last Monday.

The old cage, originally built before Stedman's days, was in wonderful preservation, and only one or two members have had to be replaced. It is to be carried on new main oak beams of large section, and the work on these foundations has been completed.

The bells will return to Cambridge next week. They have been provided by Messrs. Taylor and Co. with entirely new fittings, and a limited amount of tuning has been done to bring the strike notes into proper relation.

Preparations are being made for the reopening of the bells and the celebration of the tricentenary on Saturday, December 5th, and next week we hope to give preliminary details of the programme.

Those who have not yet forwarded their promised contributions to the fund should do so without delay. They can be sent to—

The Editor,

'The Ringing World,'

Woking, Surrey,

or to the hon. treasurer of the fund, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

FIVE BELLS AND FIVE METHODS.

THE 'GUILD SPIRIT' IN MARLBOROUGH DISTRICT.

The Rev. L. Bartlett, chairman of the Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Guild, having left the district at the beginning of the year, and the hon. secretary (Mr. Cyril Hussey) having removed from Aldbourne, with eight bells, to Grafton, with none, the Marlborough Branch has been working for the past year under difficulties. But although the attendance at meetings has not been all that can be desired, the real 'Guild spirit' is only dormant, not dead. It awoke and blossomed at Chisledon on Saturday last. The hon. secretary was present and members from Aldbourne and Ogbourne, also Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (chairman of the Devizes Branch) and Mr. Winter (from St. John's, Devizes), together with the local ringers. What the company lacked in numbers they made up for in energy and determination. Grandsire Doubles, the usual fare provided at five-bell towers, was soon disposed of, and Bob Doubles followed. Then Stedman was proposed. After the first attempt someone humorously suggested it reminded him of the efforts to 'fire' the bells for the King's birthday. Someone else said, 'Never mind, we will try a touch for every member of the Royal family until one is brought round.' The Prince of Wales did it! God bless the Prince of Wales. By this time everyone was keen to try something never attempted before. Tea, however, became a necessity before further efforts. 'There being no 'Trocadero' or 'Lyons' or even 'A.B.C.' in Chisledon, the local band very kindly distributed the visitors among their respective homes and dispensed hospitality. Heartfelt thanks by the visitors for this kindness.

After tea the Vicar came to the belfry and gave the visitors a welcome. Bob Doubles were rung, and then the adventurous spirits, after a brief theory lecture by a local expert, went for a 120 of Canterbury Doubles, which was successfully brought round. Another member of the company then explained St. Dunstan's Doubles, and, after a trip or two, this also was brought to a successful conclusion. How many more five-bell methods would have been rung it is impossible to say if the time to cease ringing had not arrived. One thing is certain—every member that attended that meeting was given the opportunity to learn something new, and, what is more important still, 'took it.' And that is how successful meetings are made. If one may judge from the farewells, all enjoyed themselves and hope to meet again.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

PRESENTATION TO THE HON. SECRETARY.

The October quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held on Saturday at Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, the following towers being represented: Allesley, Bulkington, Lillington, Nuneaton, Stoke and Warwick, together with members of the local band. There was ringing on the light peal of eight at George Eliot's 'Shepperton' Church from about 3 to 4.30, when a short service was held, conducted by the president of the Guild (the Rev. J. A. B. Davies, M.A., Vicar of Chilvers Coton). The Guild's form of service was used, and the hymns, 'We love the place, O God' and 'Saviour again to Thy dear Name we raise,' were sung. The address was homely yet encouraging, and was much appreciated by those who heard it. Mr. H. Argyle, one of the Guild's Central Council representatives, read the lesson, and Mr. N. Dodds officiated at the organ. Tea in the school followed, and 30 members and friends sat down.

Before the business meeting began, the Vicar rose to say that he had a very pleasant duty to perform. He asked the members present to cast their minds back to the beginning of August, when their secretary (Mrs. Beamish) was Miss D. E. Lewis. He spoke of the esteem in which she was held by all the members of the Guild, of the work she had done as hon. secretary, and wished Mr. and Mrs. Beamish long life and happiness. He asked her to accept with the best wishes of the Guild an oak hat rack, on which was a silver plate inscribed: 'Presented to Miss E. Lewis by the Warwickshire Guild of Bellringers on the occasion of her marriage, August 3rd, 1931'; also a copy of 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' by Ernest Morris.

Mrs. Beamish thanked the members for their handsome gifts, and said that it had always been a pleasure to work for the Guild.—Mr. A. H. Beamish also thanked the members for their generosity to his wife, saying that whatever she undertook she did thoroughly and in no slipshod fashion.

The business meeting followed this pleasant episode, the Vicar taking the chair. It was explained that the meeting was originally fixed for Warwick, but owing to the presentation to the hon. secretary, it was decided, in the meantime, to hold it at Chilvers Coton, Mrs. Beamish's home tower, as being most appropriate. Therefore, the January quarterly meeting would be held at Warwick, and the November monthly meeting at Bulkington. The December meeting was dispensed with owing to the proximity to Christmas.

Three new members were elected from Arley.

Mr. O. J. Hunt, the auditor, having left the district, Mr. H. Argyle (Nuneaton) was elected to fill the vacancy for the current year.

The meeting ended with a vote of thanks to the Vicar, the organist and the ladies.

Handbell ringing was then indulged in, Messrs. Perrens, Pervin, Hooton and Whitehead ringing a course of Double Norwich, while Mr. H. Argyle joined them for Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal. Other members returned to the tower, where ringing continued until about 8.30. The majority of the standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening up to London and Bristol Surprise, including also some Spliced London and Cambridge.

SURREY ASSOCIATION IN GUILDFORD.

The North-Western District of the Surrey Association made a friendly invasion of the centre of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday, when a meeting was held at the ten-bell tower of St. Nicolas', Guildford. There were members and visitors from Beddington, Benhillton, Buckland, two Croydon towers, Twickenham, Aldershot, Cathedral and St. Nicolas', Guildford, Dorking and Woking. Among the party were five young ringers, of both sexes, from St. Peter's, Croydon. They form part of an enthusiastic little company of beginners, whose ages range from 12 to 19 years, and are being taught by Mr. T. Mills. Although they began only a few months ago, some of them rang Grandsire Triples at the meeting. The ringing also included Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Ten and London Surprise Major.

The short service was conducted by the Rev. A. W. Tappenden (curate), who, although not a ringer, gave a striking address upon the words, 'My voice is to the sons of men.'

Tea at Ayers' Cafe was followed by a short business meeting, at which the belfry election of Mr. D. Vincent (Sunderland) was ratified, and Roy Simmonds and Harry Simmonds were elected ringing members of St. Peter's, Croydon.

It was necessary to alter the previously arranged date for the next meeting, which is to be held at Benhillton, and December 12th was fixed after a close vote.

Thanks were accorded to the Rev. A. W. Tappenden for the service and address, to the organist, to Mr. C. Hazelden and the St. Nicolas' band for the arrangements made, and to Mr. J. S. Goldsmith for presiding at the meeting. The Chairman said he welcomed the Surrey Association to Guildford, in the very heart of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, because he felt that this friendly interchange of visits would cement the good feeling which already existed between the Surrey Association and the Guildford Guild.

AN OLD BRISTOL RING.

THE BELLS OF ST. MICHAEL'S.

In the church books of the parish of St. Michael, Bristol (City), is the following entry:—

May 30th, 1739.—At a Parish Meeting it was decided and agreed that the Churchwarden should provide and put up six new bells and frame in the Tower, making the old bell go as far towards it as it will with new frame, wheels and everything necessary. The Churchwarden to be reimbursed by a Church rate.

And thus it came about that William Evans, of Chepstow, who ten years earlier had recast 'Grandison,' Exeter Cathedral's tenor, was entrusted with the making a new ring of six for Bristol, and installed the bells that hang in St. Michael's tower to this day. They are inscribed as follows:—

Treble (3½ cwt.).—James Kellson, Parish Clerk. W. E.
2nd.—Francis Pitts, Thomas Wellington, Gents. W. E.

TOWER OF ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH, BRISTOL.

3rd.—Wm. Whitton, Thomas Jones, Thomas Prutch. W. E.
4th.—Percival Thomas, Percival J. Dolman, W. Oliver. W. E.
5th.—John Hale, Churchwarden; Gilbert Cobb, Thomas Gibbs, Gents. W. E.

Tenor (13½ cwt.).—My sound to Church the living bring, and for the dead I always ring. Rev. Samuel Jochem, Rector. W. E. William Evans cast us all, 1739.

Early in the 18th century the east end of the church was destroyed by fire, but the west end was saved, and thus the tower and bells were not damaged.

The first peal of Minor in the city was rung in this tower on December 17th, 1898, and Mr. John Burford, now of St. Stephen's, is the only active member left of the peal ringing band.

Many prominent ringers have learnt their early ringing here, including the Thomas family, Stephen, William, George (in Canada) and John (now of Edmonton). In 1907 the Treble Bob methods, mostly the Delights, were extensively practised, and it is believed that this is the only instance in Bristol where Delight methods have been rung.

BURG.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—By using the word 'expel,' Mr. Coles has put quite a new meaning to the Suffolk Guild proposals. No one has ever suggested such a course of action. I certainly should not be in favour of any expulsion, either by a guild or by the Central Council. Our resolution, if passed, will be made quite effective without anything unpleasant.

Why was the Painswick peal false? For this reason and no other: 17,687 rows were rung, and they were not all changes. Over 15,000 changes were rung and some of the rest were duplicates. Apparently some people do not at present know the difference between changes and duplicates. (I am not, of course, referring to Mr. Coles here.) Well, they must learn the difference. If not, we will not have them in our Guild; nor, for the matter of that, will anyone call them change ringers. Does Mr. Coles suggest that there is anyone who cannot learn this difference? If not, there will be no one to 'expel.'

There are two other points. If we are agreed, we might perhaps induce the authorities to alter the word 'changes' to 'rows.' This would not be misleading, and would give due honour to those who did actually perform a wonderful feat, even if not a successful one. The present board is only a cause of amusement. This is the last thing we wish, when we think of those who rang. But if we are not agreed that the words '17,687 changes' are untrue, we can do nothing.

The other point is that the Suffolk Guild, unlike other guilds, has nothing in its rules to say that members must be change ringers. As far as I know, no round ringers have ever joined. But it is advisable that we should show our disapproval of these words being on a board; or we shall not be in a position to object if some members wished to put up a board recording, say, 5,000 changes, when we knew that only 4,000 changes and 500 duplicates had been rung.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT STREATHAM.

The October meeting of the Southern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held at Streatham on October 17th, and brought together a goodly number of members and friends, who spent a pleasant afternoon and evening practising their noble art at the two Streatham towers. At 3 o'clock the early birds opened the proceedings at St. Leonard's, which has a good peal of eight, with tenor of about 14 cwt., which are very pleasing to the ear, and, thanks to Mr. J. Chapman (steeplekeeper), go like the proverbial tops. Conditions in the belfry have been greatly improved by the recent addition of an intermediate floor, which successfully eliminates noise. Touches in various methods were rung till 5.30, when an adjournment was made for tea and meeting.

These having been conducted in the Master's usual prompt and businesslike style, and votes of thanks having been accorded to the incumbents and steeplekeepers, the company 'shifted course,' and duly arrived at the Church of the Immanuel, where hang an eight by Warner (and quite good, too) of about 18 cwt., where several more friends assembled, including a well-known founder and his good lady, and ringing was carried on till 8.30. Everyone agreed the time had been well spent. Some of the places represented were Hounslow, Twickenham, Beckenham, Croydon, Thames Ditton and the North District.

SCARBOROUGH, YORKS.—On Tuesday, 15th September, for practice at St. Mary's Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Tringles: F. Ferguson 1, T. H. Taffender (London, conductor) 2, H. Gosson 3, H. Hills (Duffield) 4, W. H. Barker 5, T. Lancaster (Middlesbrough) 6, H. Barton 7, P. Davidson 8.

OVER'S OCTAVE.NEW BELLS DEDICATED AT CAMBRIDGESHIRE CHURCH.

The dedication of new trebles to complete the octave at Over, Cambs, took place on Saturday, October 24th. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Price, D.D., Archdeacon of Ely, performed the ceremony, which aroused great interest. The Bishop was attended by the Vicar (the Rev. F. G. Weston), the Rev. A. C. Hair (Willingham and Rural Dean), the Rev. R. L. B. Oliver (Dersingham and former Vicar of Over), the Rev. F. Ingle (Rampton), the Rev. B. H. Tyrerwhitt-Drake (Wallington, King's Lynn, general secretary, Ely Diocesan Association), the Rev. E. G. A. Gardener (Pen Drayton), the Rev. A. F. Royston (Lolworth), the Rev. Canon Woodard (Sutton, Isle of Ely), the Rev. C. E. O. Finch and the Rev. F. G. Cooksey (Swavesey). The service opened with the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' and the dedicatory prayers followed. While the Bishop, clergy and choir proceeded to the chancel, rounds were rung by C. Robinson 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, G. Whybrow 3, M. Ginn 4, F. Warrington 5, F. C. Ginn 6, A. J. Ginn 7, R. Smith 8.

The Bishop's address was based on the words, 'Whatsoever ye do, do it unto the Lord,' and was appreciated by all.

The towers represented at the service were Trumpington, Sawston, Somersham, St. Neots, Chatteris, Cambridge, Newton, Dry Drayton, Fulbourn and Melbourn. The collection, for the bell fund, taken by five local ringers, Messrs. A. J. Ginn (captain), F. Warrington (vice-captain), F. Ginn (treasurer), C. Robinson and R. Thoday, during the singing of the hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' amounted to £4 7s. 3d.

After the taking of group photographs, the opening touch was rung by C. Robinson 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, M. Ginn 3, A. W. T. Ginn 4, B. Wayman 5, F. C. Ginn 6, A. J. Ginn 7, F. Warrington (conductor) 8. Over 100 sat down to tea in the school close by, after which the Vicar (the Rev. F. G. Weston) thanked all who had travelled so far, some from spots that he thought were 'off the map.'—The Rev. R. L. B. Oliver (Dersingham, Norfolk) replied, saying how pleased he was to be with them, for, if there was a village he loved, Over was that one. He thought the Vicar had overlooked the fact they were well on the map; they had the King next door (laughter).

The Rev. B. H. Tyrerwhitt-Drake associated himself with the previous speakers.

Mr. A. J. Ginn spoke on behalf of the ringers and heartily welcomed all to the tea. They were, he said, particularly glad to see the visiting ringers.

Mr. F. Warrington seconded Mr. Ginn's remarks, and appealed to all ringers to make an effort to stop to the services they rang for, erecept under special circumstances. Church bells, he added, were God's instruments of music, and ringers loved bells; therefore, they should love the service of those bells. He also spoke of the perfect splice of the new trebles put in by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, everyone agreeing it was a splendid piece of work.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, who represented the firm, said he was pleased to have been entrusted with this work, as he and the Vicar were associated in London. He also stated how fortunate Over was to have 17 ringers. He hoped they would carry on the good work.

Mr. Ratcliffe, of Mears and Stainbank, was present, and he was congratulated on the hanging of the bells.

A word of praise for the ladies must not be forgotten. Ringers' wives and friends provided a tea such 'as mother used to do.'

The inscriptions on the bells are as follow:—

Treble—A.M.D.G., 1931. A thankoffering from F. G. Weston, M.A., Vicar. Ringing melody to the Lord.

2nd.—Laus Deo. In memory of Horace Bernard Woolley, M.A., Vicar of Long Stanton, 1905-1929. A ringer's friend. F. G. Weston, M.A., Vicar; H. Edwards, H. Asplin, Churchwardens. Given by Ingle Robinson, younger son of Ingle Robinson, clerk of this church, 1839-1883, and the united efforts of Over ringers.

For evening service on Sunday, October 25th, a quarter-peat of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes), first on the bells as an octave: C. Robinson 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, M. Ginn 3, A. W. T. Ginn 4, B. Wayman 5, F. C. Ginn 6, A. J. Ginn 7, F. Warrington (conductor) 8. All are members of the local company.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.ARCHDEACONRY OF WISBECH.

A successful joint meeting of the Ely and Norwich Associations was held at Terrington St. Clement's on Saturday, October 10th, when members were present from Watlington, Elm, Shouldham, King's Lynn, Dersingham, Gaywood, Surfleet, Fakenham, Fleet, North Walsham, Wisbech, Harlow, Downham and a muster of the local band. Methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. A. Boxley), who gave the ringers an appropriate address.

Tea was afterwards provided in the Boys' School by Mrs. A. A. Boxley.

At a business meeting, which followed, the Vicar presided and was elected an honorary member of the association.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Whitby.

Thanks were expressed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the ladies who assisted at the tea table.

METHODS SIMPLY EXPLAINED.A POPULAR BOOK.

A new edition of 'Grandsire Doubles and Triples Simply Explained' (the seventh thousand) has just been printed. It is an excellent little book and has proved of great help to beginners. There are some improvements in the arrangement of the new edition, figures illustrating various points being put alongside the explanations.

For the most part, the directions for ringing are quite simple and easily understandable. There is, however, one point in which we think the authors (I. H. Roe and M. Broome) might make an alteration in future editions. The sections are headed respectively 'Grandsire Doubles (6 bells)' and 'Grandsire Triples (8 bells).' It might save confusion on the part of those who begin their study of change ringing through this book if it were explained that if six or eight bells are used in this method, the tencer is always behind and takes no part in the method, also that six bells are not essential for the ringing of Doubles, which can quite well be rung on five.

If there is one other suggestion that we would make it is that the explanation of the work at a bob in Triples might be further simplified. As it stands at present it might prove too great a tax on the memory of some beginners. But these are small things. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and the fact that the book has run through six editions is ample testimony to the useful purpose which it is serving. Coupled with this it is published at the modest price of 6d. post free. An advertisement in our notice columns gives information as to the address from which it can be obtained.

A DIAMOND WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Briggs, of Stoney Stanton, celebrated their golden wedding recently, when they were the recipients of many congratulations. Mr. Briggs is 81 years of age and his wife is two years older. They have brought up a family of eight children, four of whom are now alive. For over 65 years Mr. Briggs was a bellringer at Stoney Stanton Church, and at one time his seven sons used to ring with him. Among his proudest possessions is a Bible given him on the occasion of his golden wedding and a book, entitled 'The Fireside,' presented to him in recognition of his services as a bellringer at the village church.

Mr. Briggs is keenly interested in music, and in his younger days was a singer of great ability, and for many years was a chorister. The choruses from 'The Messiah' and other great works he still knows thoroughly. Although he had no schooling whatever, he reads and writes with ease, and to him the greatest of all books is the Bible.

On Saturday, October 17th, the following met for a peal of Cambridge Surprise, but unfortunately lost it after 2 hours, viz.: C. Henry Webb (Croft), Ernest Morris (general hon. secretary, M.C.A.), the Rev. R. P. Farrow, M.A. (Rector of Stanton), William Willson (vice-president, M.C.A.), John Oldham (Loughborough Bell Foundry), Thomas W. Chapman (Nuneaton), Percy Harrison and Fred H. Dexter (of Leicester Cathedral).

After ringing the church bells, the party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs to congratulate them and to cheer them with handbell selections. Tunes were played by Messrs. Webb, Morris and Harrison, and courses of Grandsire Triples, Caters, Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung. The veteran 'Grandsire' Briggs then rang 7-8 in Triples and 9-10 in Caters after the manner born of long practice, and piloted them through faultlessly, despite the fact that he has not rung for several years. His son, Charles, who is now in charge of Stanton belfry, also took part, and an enjoyable evening was spent, the whole party retiring well pleased and wishing 'God-speed' to the veteran Darby and Joan. May they yet live long to enjoy the quiet peace and tranquillity of the evening of life.

Mr. Briggs is one of the best-known ringers of the Hinckley district of the M.C.A., and has rung over 30 peals in all the standard methods.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very happy gathering was the verdict on the meeting of the Eastern Division held at the quiet old-world village of Hunsdon, which lies in a very pretty part of Hertfordshire, only 20 miles from the Metropolis. Yet one might fancy it a hundred miles off, for Hunsdon still retains its quietude, except that a few buses find their way here. These conveyances, however, helped the enjoyment of the meeting by bringing along a few ringers. A very bright service was held, the hymns, psalm and canticles being accompanied by the organist, and a short address given by the new Rector. Tea and business meeting followed, and during the afternoon and evening good practice was gained. Twenty-five attended, and all enjoyed themselves during the lovely autumn afternoon.

A CHANGE OVER.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I find that Canterbury Surprise and Alnwick Surprise are changed over in the new edition of the Central Council 'Collection.' Which is correct? I find Canterbury is a very old method, why, therefore, has the change been made? Is it an error or is there some reason for it?—Yours faithfully,

JAMES MORGAN.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. NORTHERN BRANCH MEETING.

The half-yearly meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, and was fairly well attended by members from Barrow-on-Humber, Bigby, Lincoln, Misterton, Nettleham, Scotter, Scunthorpe, Springthorpe, Ulceby and Willingham, in addition to the local company. Messrs. J. Flint and J. Moss (Bolsover), J. H. Brothwell (Treeton) and H. Haigh (Worksop) were welcome visitors. The ring of eight bells was well utilised during the afternoon and evening.

Service, consisting of the Guild office, was conducted by the Vicar, and a most appropriate address was given by the Rev. R. Bond, of Grayingham. Mr. Alan Stephenson presided at the organ and a number of the choirboys assisted in the singing.

Afterwards 39 members and friends sat down to a substantial tea at the Sun Hotel.

Mr. F. F. Linley (president) took the chair at the business meeting, supported by the Vicar, the Rev. R. Bond and members of the committee.

Canon Round-Turner having to leave early, a vote of thanks was accorded him for the use of the bells, the service and for his presence. In response, he gave a very hearty welcome to the branch, also some useful advice in regard to instructing ringers, at the same time stating that he wished a more simplified book could be published on the subject.

It was agreed that the set of Central Council's publications which Mr. George Chester had obtained should be retained by the branch, thus enabling those members desirous of purchasing them the opportunity of doing so through him.

Ewerby was fixed as the place for the next half-yearly meeting, the members expressing their wish that it should be held not later than the last Saturday in September.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the preacher for his useful and instructive address, and the Rev. R. Bond, in responding, stated that although in accordance with his doctor's instructions he was compelled to give up ringing, yet it still had a warm place in his heart.

Reference was made to the loss which the branch had sustained by the death of Mr. F. A. Holden, the members standing in silence as a tribute of respect.

Votes of thanks were passed to the organist and choirboys, the caterers for the splendid tea provided, and Mr. Linley for presiding at the meeting.

This concluded the business, after which further ringing took place until about 8.30 p.m. The methods rung were Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, Bristol, Cambridge and London Surprise Major, also rounds for the benefit of learners.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. LEICESTER DISTRICT'S SUGGESTIONS FOR JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS.

A very pleasant and enjoyable meeting of the Leicester District was held at King's Norton and Gaultby on Saturday. The bells were raised about 3.30 and kept going in various methods. Tea was partaken of in the Village Institute by 21 members, and thanks are due to Mrs. Patrick for her arrangements.

After tea suggestions were asked for the programme of the jubilee of the M.C.A. at Derby on Easter Monday next.

It was proposed that a lunch and dinner should be held, with the committee meeting before lunch and general meeting after; also, if competition ringing takes place, as suggested at the last general meeting, that the other towers in the town be open as well, otherwise the members were not in favour of competition ringing. Further, it was suggested that a short service be held in the Cathedral, followed by the dinner, and afterwards a concert, with singing and handbell ringing, etc. These proposals were, of course, only suggestions to next general meeting at Beeston in January.

The tower was again visited afterwards, but a political meeting in the Institute at 7 p.m. unfortunately put an end to ringing in this tower. Permission was, however, granted to ring at the next village of Gaultby, where good use was made of the bells until just after 8 p.m., despite the fact that the 'go' of them is 'rather rough.'

Thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells of the two towers, and thanks are also due to Mr. Ernest A. Marsh for conveying the members to King's Norton and Gaultby. Without this help the meeting would have been an absolute failure, as the towers are situated in an out-of-the-way spot.

LONG COMRADESHIP IN THE BELFRY.

Thirty-five years ago on Thursday, October 15th, a team of six bellringers was formed in the parish of Marnhull, Dorset (the 'Marlot' of Hardy), and they have rung together ever since. Their average age is 63. On Thursday night they rang together in memory of their long comradeship of the belfry, and their captain, who, on the 25th anniversary, gave them each a little silver bell medal to wear, is now giving them each a walking stick to help their willing older steps towards the belfry door.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT AT BISHOP'S WALTHAM.

A well-attended meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Bishop's Waltham on Saturday last, when the fine weather attracted a large number of ringers from Bishop's Waltham, Gosport, Lynnington, North Stoneham, Overton, Petersfield, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Southampton, Swanmore, Ryde, Titchfield, Twyford, Wickham and members of the local band.

The two peals of six at Swanmore and Bishop's Waltham were available during the afternoon and evening, and were used to full advantage. At the Guild service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. N. H. Stubbs), Mr. D. C. Williams, F.R.C.O., presided at the organ.

An excellent tea was served in the Elms Hut, which was followed by the usual business meeting, at which the Rector presided, supported by Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. F. W. Rogers (general secretary) and others. The Rector was elected an honorary member and A. Garrett (Petersfield) a ringing member.

A vote of congratulation to the Master and Mrs. Williams on celebrating their golden wedding was passed with acclamation.

A sadder note was struck when the meeting stood in silence as a token of respect to Mr. H. Barton on the loss of his wife recently.

It was decided to hold the annual district meeting at Fareham on January 23rd, or, failing this, at Alverstoke.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector and also the Vicar of Swanmore for the use of their respective towers, and also to the organist for his services. In reply, the Rector said how delighted he was to be there on that occasion, and hoped the members would partake of his hospitality during the coming year.

A further visit was made to the towers at the conclusion of the meeting, the methods practised being Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Grandsire Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise.

THE ISLAND BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Island Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at All Saints' Church, Ryde, on Saturday, October 17th. Ringers attended from Brading, Chale, Godshill, Gosport (Holy Trinity), Newport, Carisbrooke, Portsmouth Cathedral and Ryde. The visitors included Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (chairman of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild) and Mr. J. Thomas, of Edmonston. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Canon G. A. Johnstone, M.A.), who based his address to the members on 'Fellowship.' Mr. O. E. Weare presided at the organ.

Tea was afterwards served at the Welby Institute, and at the business meeting following it was resolved to hold a combined practice meeting at Brading on Saturday, November 28th, and the annual meeting at Newport on Saturday, January 30th.

Messrs. W. Salisbury and Legg, of Brading, were elected ringing members of the Guild.

The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

A PENDLETON CENTENARY.

St. Thomas' Church, Pendleton, was consecrated by the Bishop of Chester on October 7th, 1831. At that time it had only one bell. In 1844 seven more were added by Mears, and these did duty until 1906, when the present ring were put in by Taylor and Co. There have been upwards of 100 peals rung on them since, and in honour of the centenary another was attempted, but was lost just past the half-way. A quarter-peal of Bob Major was rung on October 7th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire on the 9th and a quarter-peal of Stedman after the attempt for the peal on the 10th, those taking part in the ringing being: E. Moores, S. Greenhalgh, W. J. Howard, W. Edwards, R. Johnson, W. H. Shaker, H. Hollingworth, H. Greenhalgh, W. E. Clark, J. Potter and A. E. Wrecks. All these are Sunday service ringers with the exception of Mr. J. Potter, Walkden, who kindly came to conduct the peal, and Mr. A. E. Wrecks, Paisley, who learnt his ringing at Pendleton in the seventies, and who came down from Scotland specially to be associated with the centenary ringing, which was carried forward to four services on the Sunday. Mr. H. Greenhalgh conducted all the quarter-peals.

WEDDING BELLS AT BUSHEY HEATH.

On Saturday, October 10th, at St. Peter's Church, Bushey Heath, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by: W. J. Simons 1, G. A. Hughes 2, E. Ashby 3, J. E. Rootes 4, T. Norris 5, P. Edwards (conductor) 6, A. Deamer 7, H. C. Cockram 8, on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. Charles Cook to Miss Hilda Olive Langley, which took place that day. Mr. Cook is a member of the band at St. Peter's, and the ringers wish the bride and bridegroom many years of health and happiness together.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. John's, Deptford, on Saturday, and was well attended, ringers being present from Beckenham, Bromley, Crayford, Chislehurst, Dartford, Erith, Eltham, Greenwich, Hayes, Lewisham, Seal and Woolwich. Ringing during the afternoon and evening included touches in all the standard methods. Service was conducted by the Vicar, who also gave an interesting address. The presence of the organist and choir was greatly appreciated.

After the service the members adjourned to the Church Hall, there to partake of high tea, generously provided by the churchwarden. The Vicar occupying the head of the table. Immediately tea was over the company was entertained with a touch of Grandsire Caters on handbells by Messrs. H. Audsley, R. Brett-Smith, G. H. Cross, T. Groombridge, jun., and T. Groombridge, sen.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. A report of the past year's work was read by the secretary and adopted.

Two ringers were elected members of the association, and the elections of six members previous to peals were confirmed.

The following officers were re-elected: District secretary, Mr. A. Hill; representatives on General Committee, Messrs. E. Barnett, jun., and W. Smith; District Ringing Master, Mr. T. Groombridge.

Christ Church, Erith, was chosen as place of next meeting, to be held on Saturday, January 30th.

Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and his address and for presiding at the meeting; to the organist and choir for their services; to Mr. H. V. Game (churchwarden) for his generous hospitality; to the ladies for their help at tea; and to Mr. W. J. Jeffries (captain of St. John's ringers) for the arrangement of such an enjoyable meeting. This was seconded by W. Smith and carried with applause.—Mr. Game responded.

The Vicar pronounced the Blessing and declared the meeting closed. The members then found their way back to the tower, and further ringing brought a successful gathering to an end.

SAFEGUARDING COMPOSITIONS.

Questions relating to compositions are continually cropping up, and a statement made in our columns last week, on the authority of a well-known member of the Exercise, with regard to Double Norwich Major, has brought several correspondents into the field. Unfortunately the information which was sent us for our last issue did not contain quite all the essential facts, and to some extent, therefore, the point of the writers this week has been lost, but, nevertheless, the information which they are able to give will be interesting and helpful both to those who practise Double Norwich and those who are interested in its peals. There are many who have been of opinion that composition in this method has been 'worked out,' but there are still some things in it which invite the attention of investigators, and Mr. Roberts has shown that they are not all beyond the realm of possibility. He has, presumably, obtained a composition singular in its special class, and for that reason his right to authorship, as in the case of all original productions, deserves to be safeguarded. With the possibility of some new composer coming along in the future and alighting on the same thing—as has sometimes occurred in regard to other compositions in the past—how can this best be done?

With the balance of expert opinion strongly against the formation of a tabulated register of compositions, on the main ground that it would be too difficult, if not impracticable, to put it to efficient use, that possible means of settling claims is out of reach for the present, at all events, and fresh examination of old material strengthens the view that, as a check upon originality, it would in all probability fail in material respects. In another of his interesting articles, Mr. J. A. Trollope to-day shows that some of our most cherished ideas upon authorship must be modified. He explains how even Annable's 'classic' peal of Bob Triples, which has stood as the essence of originality for more than 200 years, can be definitely traced for its basis to an earlier author. Unquestionably our ideas concerning authorship have got to change, but, even so, there is no reason why the credit of any advance that is made in the evolution of the art, and in that we include progress in the production of peals, should not be given to those who have successfully applied their talents to the task. With the production of that which is really good or which may mark an advance on what has been previously obtained, a great deal that is indifferent is bound to see the light. We do not ask that this should endure, but, failing a complete register of compositions such as has been suggested, would it not be possible to establish some record in which the earliest known compositions of certain qualities or on specific plans could be collected and indexed? This would be nothing like so gigantic an undertaking as one complete register, and, while its use might be more limited, its application to the needs of the future would be simpler, and its objects serve a more important purpose. Moreover, apart from its utility, such a record would also be of historical interest, and if different men, each with special acquaintance with individual methods, or groups of methods, could be induced to undertake the work, irrespective of whether they are members of the Central Council or not, something might be produced in the course of a few years which would become a valuable acquisition to the collated knowledge of the Exercise.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.CENTRAL DIVISION'S SUCCESSFUL SIX-BELL MEETING.

Favoured by magnificent weather, a most successful meeting of the Central Division was held at Barcombe on Saturday, October 24th. The tower was open from 2.30 for ringing, which was kept up in various methods till 4.30, when a service was held, at which an eloquent address was delivered by the Rector of Barcombe (the Rev. H. W. Farrar), to whom the thanks of all present are due, as also for the excellent tea at the Rectory. Thanks are also extended to the ladies, who looked after the needs of all present. A collection was taken at the service on behalf of the Benevolent Fund, and amounted to the useful sum of 13s.

The business meeting followed the tea, the Rector of Barcombe in the chair, supported by the Master, Mr. J. T. Rickman. New members elected were R. F. Greenaway, A. J. Greenaway, D. R. Winter, R. W. Woolven, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Brighton; F. Hazelden, of Buxted; and F. C. Smaile, of Lindfield. The election was confirmed of the following non-resident members: E. C. S. Turner, West Ealing; H. J. Balcombe, Harwell, Berks; G. Popnell, Monmouth; D. G. Clift, Monmouth.

The remaining items on the agenda being disposed of, Mr. Rickman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and for the service and address, and also for his most kind hospitality.—This was carried with acclamation, and the Rector having replied, the meeting closed.

Ringing was resumed until 8 p.m., the methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor. The following towers were represented: Alfriston, Barcombe, Brighton (St. Peter's and the Good Shepherd), Buxted, Crawley, East Grinstead, Seaford, Shoreham, Lewes (Southover), Turner's Hill and Uckfield.

42 SIX-SCORES OF STEDMAN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—On reading 'The Ringing World' of October 23rd, I see that a peal of Stedman Doubles was rung for the Kent County Association with 42 different six-scores. As there are only 15 six-scores in the new 'Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods,' will Mr. Groombridge be good enough to give us the calling of his 42 six-scores, so that others may have a chance to do what they have accomplished?—
Yours faithfully,
Wolverton.

COMPLETION OF A RESTORATION FUND.THANKSGIVING AT AMBROSDEN.

The restoration of the six old bells and the addition of two memorial bells has given Ambrosden, Oxfordshire, an excellent ring of eight, of which the parishioners are very proud. They have raised nearly £750 to pay for the work, and on Saturday week a service of thanksgiving was held for the completion of the fund. There was a large gathering of ringers and the service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. C. D. Oake). The lesson was read by the Rural Dean (the Rev. C. D. Read), and the preacher was the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

After the lesson there was a procession to the belfry, where ringers stood by their respective bell ropes with the clergy in the centre while the Vicar offered special thanksgiving prayers. A course of Stedman Triples was then rung by F. Sharp (Launton) 1, W. Sear (Bletchley) 2, W. F. Judge (Oxford) 3, H. Sear (Bletchley) 4, W. Simmonds (Oxford) 5, E. Hines (Bicester) 6, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 7, H. Miles (Shipton-under-Wychwood) 8.

The Master based his address on Psalm xxxiv., 3, and first referred to the fact that the sum of £745 had been raised in three years and a few months, half in gifts and half in efforts, and Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who carried out the work, granted favourable terms. Then he spoke of the two memorial bells—the treble in memory of those from the parish who fell in the Great War; the second in memory of William White Kennett, Vicar of Ambrosden, who died as Bishop of Peterborough in 1728. The latter had the bells recast and augmented to six in 1697 and restored the Ambrosden Church Lands Trust to the use originally intended by its unknown pious benefactor. In acts of thanksgiving and praise man reached his highest possible spiritual heights here in worship—a foretaste of hereafter. Always around also was the thanksgiving of nature silent in beauty or in song, and we should all be better and happier if we thanked God more. Lips said 'God be merciful' that never said 'God be praised.' The preacher concluded his sermon by saying that they took away an inspiration to be more trustful and hopeful, and to help others to be likewise. They took away a spirit of greater thankfulness for that and all towers in which it was a joy to ring.

The visiting ringers then had tea at the Vicarage, after which speeches were made by the Rev. C. C. D. Oake, the Master, the Rural Dean, the Rev. W. O'Reilly and Mr. R. T. Hibbert. The bells were then open to visiting ringers and many touches were rung.

Thanks are due to Mr. Fred Sharpe, of Launton, for his helpful collaboration with the Vicar in the arrangement of the service.

BELL ROPES MUFFLES &c

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A holiday at Blackpool seems to have worked wonders for Mr. James George, who is now so completely recovered from his long illness that on Wednesday week he rang the 7th to a peal of Stedman Triples at Whitwick.

Norwich ringers suitably commemorated the centenary of the peal of 6.160 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, rung on October 31st, 1831, at St. Michael at Coslany, Norwich, by ringing the same composition at the same church.

The peal of Grandsire Triples at West Ealing, reported in our last issue, was credited in error to the Middlesex County Association. It should have been published under the title of the Christ Church, Ealing, Guild only. It is but fair to say that the mistake was no fault of the sender of the report.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at All Saints', Hertford, on October 17th, was rung in 3 hours 25 minutes.

A series of coincidences marked Mr. T. E. Sone's 150th peal at Harrietsham on Saturday. It was rung at the same tower, in the same method and time and with the same band that took part in Mr. Sone's 100th peal. It was also Mr. A. Relfe's 150th peal, these two ringers having rung 65 peals together.

Mr. Sone's peals have been rung in 49 towers and seven counties, and with 183 ringers. He tenders his gratitude and appreciation to his ringing friends for their valuable assistance in keeping the flag flying.

A BIRTHDAY QUARTER-PEAL.

The best laid schemes 'gang aft a-gley.' The peal arranged at Stepney on Saturday in honour of the coming of age of Miss Kathleen A. Hughes (only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry) could have been looked upon as a 'snip' in the ordinary course of events, but it came to grief through a cause that could not have been anticipated—the breaking of the ninth clapper. This clapper is one of the originals, which has stood the test of generations of ringing, and it was more than annoying that it should select this auspicious occasion to part company. It broke in the third course of the peal, but, not to be outdone, eight of the band rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples on the treble, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and tenor, the ringers being W. D. Smith, T. Groombridge, jun. (conductor), T. Groombridge, sen., J. H. B. Hesse, A. T. Harris, P. E. Clark, A. A. Hughes and J. S. Hawkins. Mr. W. D. Smith is the grandfather of the young lady whose birthday was being celebrated.

But if the ringers at Stepney were unlucky, the band that attempted a peal of Grandsire Cinques at Southwark the same day were even more unfortunate, for they broke down in the last course.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. CANTERBURY DISTRICT.

A well-attended meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Wingham on Saturday. It was the autumn quarterly meeting, and, as is usual, the association paid half-fares to members attending. Upwards of 40 ringers were present from Canterbury (Cathedral and St. Alphego), Littlebourne, Dover, Deal, Wickhambreau, Sturry, Herne, St. Nicholas', St. Peter's, St. Laurence, Walmer, Ashford, Egerton and the local tower.

The Rev. D. A. Taylor, Vicar of Wingham, officiated at the service and gave a very interesting address. Mr. Fred Lovell presided at the organ.

Tea was served at the Dog Inn, at which the Vicar presided, and subsequently took the chair at the business meeting. The election of a non-resident life member was confirmed.

The district secretary intimated that the Rev. C. A. Manley (Vicar of Littlebourne) was anxious that a meeting of the association should be held at Littlebourne, where the bells have recently been rebung by Messrs Mears and Stainbank. Upon this intimation, Herne, which had been previously proposed, was withdrawn, and Littlebourne was accepted unanimously. The meeting will probably be held on November 28th.

The district secretary (Mr. Percy W. Smith), in proposing a vote of thanks to the Rev. D. A. Taylor, said that the association greatly appreciated his keen interest in ringing, and were glad to notice that he was becoming such a familiar figure among them. Coupled with the motion was a vote of thanks to Mr. Lovell for the musical arrangements.—The vote was accorded with acclamation, and the Vicar responded.

Ringing was continued after tea in the usual methods.

BROKEN ROPE ENDS PEAL.

On Saturday, October 31st, five members of the Darley Dale ringers paid a visit to Elton, an out of the way village among the hills of Derbyshire to attempt to ring a peal on the light ring of five bells there. But after 35 minutes ringing the 4th rope broke, and by the time it was replaced it was too late for another attempt. A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was, therefore, rung in 40 minutes by: J. Taylor 1, W. Blagshaw 2, E. Blackwell 3, H. Taylor 4, G. H. Phipps (conductor) 5. It was rung for the Harvest Festival.

THE STEDMAN TERCENTENARY.

PLANS FOR THE CELEBRATION AT CAMBRIDGE.

The arrangements for the celebration of the Stedman tercentenary at Cambridge on Saturday, December 5th, are now well in hand.

The service of dedication of the work that has been carried out will take place at 3 p.m. at St. Benedict's Church, where Stedman was one of the ringers, and where he also served in the office of parish clerk. The ceremony will be performed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Price (Archdeacon of Ely), and the sermon preached by Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge. After the service, as many visitors as possible will be given the opportunity of ringing on the historic bells.

For those who arrive in Cambridge early in the day, there will be conducted parties round the principal places of interest in the University, and the bells of Great St.

ST. BENE'T'S BELLS IN THE FOUNDRY.

They have been fitted with new clappers on independent crown staples, the 3rd and 4th have been tuned, and all have been cleaned by sandblasting.

The inscriptions on two of them are specially quaint. Round the tenor is the following:—

'John Draper made me in 1618 as plainly doth appeare this bell was brooke and cast againe with fine churchwardens were Edwarde Dixon for the one who stode close by his tacklin and he that was his partner then was Alexander Jacklin.'

On the 3rd is cast:—

'Of all the bells in Benet I am the best,
And yet for my casting the parish paided best.'

Mary's (12), St. Andrew-the-Great (8), the Roman Catholic Church (8), Trumpington (6) and Old Chesterton (6) will, it is hoped, be available both before and after the dedication service.

Towers along the main routes into Cambridge will, it is expected, also be open to ringers, both on the outward and homeward journeys, and particulars of these will be given later.

By the kindness of the governing authority of Corpus Christi College, adjoining St. Benedict's, the dining hall will be used for serving lunch and tea. Lunch will be at 12.30 and 1.30, if there are sufficient to require two sittings, and the price will be 2s. 6d. Tea will be served as required from four o'clock onward. The charge for a meat tea will be 2s., and for a plain tea 1s. 3d.

Throughout the day a large room at the Lion Hotel will be set aside for the use of visiting ringers and their friends, where they will be able to meet for social intercourse and where, during the usual hours, refreshments will be available.

A large gathering is expected, and tickets will be issued for the service and for the ringing at St. Bene't's, as well as for both the lunch and tea. The organisers will be greatly assisted in making the arrangements if they are supplied with certain information as to the requirements of intending visitors, and forms for this purpose, upon which alone tickets will be issued will be sent on application by postcard to—

The Stedman Centenary Secretary,
'The Ringing World' Office,
Woking, Surrey.

In the case of a party travelling together, only one form need be applied for. The seating accommodation in St. Benedict's Church is limited, and seats will therefore be allotted in strict rotation as the application forms are received.

Subscriptions to the fund which have not yet been paid should be sent at once to the Hon. Treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A pleasant and successful meeting of the South and West District was held at St. John's, Hillingdon, on Saturday, October 31st. The methods practised before service ranged from Grandsire Caters up to and including Cambridge Surprise Royal. The service was conducted by the Rev. Henry Kitcat (Vicar), after which the company adjourned to the new Parish Hall for tea, which was ably served by the Ringing Master and Mrs. Goodfellow.

The Vicar presided, supported by Mr. Trollope (vice-president), Mr. C. H. Neville (churchwarden) and Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary of the North and East District). Others present were Mr. H. Chandler (Assistant Ringing Master), Mr. E. A. Morris, Mr. J. F. Corke, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fardon, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gutteridge, Messrs. W. Hewitt, J. Herbert, E. Turner, J. J. Pratt, W. H. Coles, T. Collins, W. Williams, the Misses D. R. and K. E. Fletcher and K. Bradford, etc.

The vice-president presided at the business meeting, at which four ringing members were elected, and it was decided to hold a meeting at Christ Church, Ealing, on the last Saturday in November, of which due notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, to the host and hostess and all who attended to the needs of the company, and also to Mr. J. Pratt, of the local band, after which the tower was again visited and further ringing indulged in until nearly 9 p.m., when a happy party of 48 dispersed.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Stonham Aspal on Saturday, but the attendance was somewhat disappointing. Good use was, however, made of the ring of ten bells, touches of Bob Royal and Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Caters being rung, the proceedings concluding with a really good course of Cambridge Surprise Royal.

Tea was provided at the Ten Bells Inn, the Rev. Canon Wonnacott (Rector of Stonham Aspal) being present. He extended a hearty welcome to the Guild and hoped that something might be done in the near future to induce his own band to take up change ringing.

It was announced that the next meeting of the Guild would be held at Woodbridge on November 28th, notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World' in due course.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for his welcome concluded the business.

NON-CONDUCTED SURPRISE MINOR.

At Lamberhurst, Kent, on October 24th, 720 each of Norwich and Norfolk Surprise, non-conducted, was rung in an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Surprise Minor by J. Waghorn 1, A. H. Smith 2, A. Relfe 3, A. Marshall 4, B. Luck 5, J. Bassett 6.

Afterwards a 720 Spliced Walsingham and Cromer Alliance and Crayford Little Court and Little Bob: A. Relfe (conductor) 1, A. H. Smith 2, B. Luck 3, A. Marshall 4, J. Waghorn 5, J. Bassett 6. This is believed to be the first time these four methods have been rung in one 720.

On October 25th, for matins, 720 Cambridge Surprise: A. Marshall 1, T. Fuller 2, W. Marshall 3, C. Bishop 4, J. Bassett 5, B. Luck (conductor) 6.

THE STORY OF A COMPOSITION.

HOW ANNABLE GOT HIS FAMOUS PEAL OF BOB TRIPLES.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

That it would be possible to make a reasonably complete register of compositions I do not doubt. Whether it would be worth while taking so much trouble merely to convince (if possible) a few young men that they are not so clever as they suppose, I am inclined to question. That it would solve the problem of originality I do not believe. For when you have made your collection, and arranged it, and classified it, and proved it, you would have to settle to whom all that mass of figures belonged; and who were the real composers of the many peals. A fearsome task.

The test was once priority of publication; but who would accept that now? In old days composers used to quarrel over peals 'like two dogs at a bone.' They snarled and snapped at one another like one o'clock. But though it was abundantly evident that their opinions differed, in the upshot it was by no means clear whose the bone really was.

And, leaving that aside, you would have to settle what constitutes an original peal. The more one knows about the matter—the more one realises how one peal follows from and is dependent on another—the more originality recedes into the background; and I am inclined to think that there never was a peal quite so original as the young composer imagines his first composition to be.

As an illustration of all this I may perhaps be allowed to relate the story of one of the classic compositions of old time. Annable's Six Part of Bob Triples is a standard composition, one of those of which, like Holt's Ten Part, it may be said that in its class it cannot be bettered. It is the oldest five thousand in the method that has come down to us; and though not the first rung, it was quite likely the first rung with ordinary bobs and singles. It has been rung scores of times and was the model for most of the subsequent peals in the method. Here, at any rate, we may suppose is an original peal.

The first composition that ever was invented was the Sixes on three bells. We have Stedman's authority for giving this as an historical fact. Some time, very early in the seventeenth century, a man discovered that if he wrote out the Six on 234 backwards and put a 1 in front of every row, he had got the lead-ends (back and hand) of what he called Doubles and Singles on four bells, and we call Bob Minimus. So was composed the first 'Cross Peal.'

Some years later, just after 1640, when Stedman's mother was rocking him in a cradle, and the Long Parliament was in its early sessions, another man wrote out the Four and Twenty backwards in 2345 and putting 1 in front of every row produced the lead-ends (hand and back) of the first 'Cross Peal' on five bells. Very soon afterwards it was called Old Doubles, and has survived in the Exercise to this day. Only the bob was made as we make it now. And for many years the method was rung with that bob. Who the composer was we do not know; but probably he was one of the lawyers who at that time formed the backbone of the Society of College Youths.

The same man, or a friend of his, carried the composition one step further. He wrote out the Six Score of Old Doubles, again backwards, on 23456, and, putting 1 in front of every row, produced the first 720 in a 'Cross Peal' on six bells. We can hardly call it the first 720 of Bob Minor, because, although you ring courses of that method, there are no bobs and singles, but different Extreams at the course ends.

About 1650, Robert Roan composed Grandsire Doubles. This was an original composition; by which I mean that Roan did not take a four-bell method and adapt it, as his predecessor had done, but set himself the task of pricking the Six Score on five bells with all double changes. He did not quite succeed—the task was impossible—but he produced 'the best and most ingenious peal that ever was composed to be rang on five bells.' Next he tried to extend it to six bells. He did not go to work as a modern man would have done, but he took a hint from the older composers and improved it. He wrote out Grandsire Doubles on 23456, but instead of writing it out backwards he wrote it out reversed.

135264	143526
153624	134562
156342	143652
165432	134625
158423	143265
165243	142356
162534	124536

Thus he produced the lead-ends (hand and back) of what he called Grandsire Bob, and we call the 'standard' 720 of Bob Minor. Only his 720 was to call a bob every time the second is in 5-6, except when the fourth is with her; instead of, as usual nowadays, every time the tenor is in 5-6 except when the fifth is with her.

This is the reason why the ancients sometimes called Plain Bob, Grandsire Bob; and not, as Mr. Law James rather naturally supposed, because they recognised that Grandsire is only Plain Bob with a bell-in-the-hunt.

Stedman studied and understood all these things; he realised that here was a general mathematical law; and when, in 1677, he published his 'Campanalogia' after he had given Bob Major, he tells us that if we want a 40.320, all we have to do is to ring full courses, and at the course-ends, when 1, 2 are at home, let the other six bells ring the 720 of any six-bell method in which half the changes are triple changes. Quite simple, is it not? Here, in a sentence, are thousands and thousands of extents of Major. It does not matter what six-bell method you use, whether it is good or bad, regular or irregular, legitimate or illegitimate, provided half the changes are triple changes. Plain Bob will work, and Double Court, and Oxford, and Cambridge. But not Kent, or Canterbury Pleasure, or London. If you care to experiment for a few minutes with a few figures you will see why.

But already, soon after 1650, before Stedman's time (or rather before he knew anything about composition, and while he was still an apprentice to John Field, the Cambridge printer), another man had carried the old composition one step further. He took the 720 Triples and Doubles on Six Bells, wrote it out on 234567 backwards, and had the lead-ends (back and hand) of the first extent on seven bells. He called it Restoration Triples. You can hardly call it Bob Triples, for there are no ordinary bobs and singles; but you ring full courses of that method throughout, with three different Extreams at regular intervals at the course ends. Who he was we do not know. Probably not a Londoner, for neither Stedman nor the authors of the I.D. and C.M. 'Campanalogia' seem to have known of him or his peal. But Annable had it on an old manuscript and copied it into his book, more as a curiosity than anything else, for by then it was quite obsolete.

Annable had Stedman's book, and he knew all about these things. When he wanted a five thousand of Bob Triples to call for the College Youths, he took the hint from these old compositions. He looked for a 720 of some Minor method that he could treat as Robert Roan had treated Grandsire Doubles, and he found it in what he called London Single and we know as Single Court. I rather fancy he composed it himself specially, but really it was already an old method and had been rung 70 years earlier at Nottingham. He simply reversed it, wrote it out on 234567, using the seventh as the treble, put 1 in front of every row and there were the lead-ends, hand and back, of his peal.

1645273	1654327

etc.

You may settle now, if you can, how much of the peal belongs to Annable, how much to Stedman, how much to Roan, and how much to the other unknown composers.

THE PAINSWICK PEAL AND THE SUFFOLK GUILD RESOLUTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The letter from the Rev. Herbert Drake is difficult to follow, and I am at a loss to know why he should say that the word 'expel' gives quite a different meaning to the words 'to remove from.' I venture to say that nobody reading the report of the Suffolk Guild meeting in your issue of October 16th would have suspected any other meaning than that any member approving of the words '17.687 changes' would be removed from the Guild, or, as I put it, expelled. If that was not the meaning of the resolution, then the whole of the discussion, as reported, was misleading.

Now I understand it to mean that any member who 'continues to approve, etc.,' will be removed from the Guild by being taught the difference between rows and changes. If the unfortunate member who is ignorant of the difference is unable to learn, he will be removed from the Guild in reality, but if he learns the difference and therefore no longer approves of the offending words, he will then have been 'removed.'

Really, the explanation is very ingenious, and quite as amusing as the resolution.—Yours faithfully,
C. T. COLES.

THE SNOWDON DINNER.

FAMOUS YORKSHIRE RINGERS COMMEMORATED.

The tenth annual commemoration dinner to Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past officers of the Yorkshire Association was held at the Victory Hotel, Briggate, Leeds, on Saturday, October 24th. The president of the association (the Rev. C. C. Marshall) presided, supported by the Lord Bishop of Pontefract, the Vicar of Leeds (the Rev. Canon T. H. Elliott), the Rev. Canon R. H. Malden, the Rev. F. H. Moore, the Rev. F. J. Lindley, the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee (president of the Lancashire Association), the Rev. J. F. Harvey, Mr. Edwin H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. and Mrs. G. Lewis and a company of over one hundred. After dinner had been served, the loyal toast was honoured, and after a short interval Mr. J. E. Kitchen (churchwarden of Headingley), in proposing the toast of 'The Church and State,' paid a tribute to ringers for their devotion and attention to their duties, and, while regretting the divisions that were occurring outside the Church, which were bound to have a serious effect on the nation, pointed out that the serious divisions inside the Church were much more regrettable. He expressed the hope that the near future would see the conflicting bodies more reconciled, as otherwise a separation from the State was inevitable, and in his opinion it would be a calamity for both Church and State should such a happening occur.

In the course of an interesting reply, the Vicar of Leeds expressed his great regret that the bells of Leeds Parish Church were unringable, and stated that the sum of £625 had been subscribed toward a total of £1,500 required to put the bells in order. He hoped that in the early part of next year sufficient funds would have accrued to justify the placing of the contract for the requisite work to be done (applause). It would be found, if inquiry were made into the motive of much of the ringing that was done, that pleasure and recreation on the part of ringers played a great part, but ringers should subordinate that side to the calling of people to worship, which was, in many cases, a personal act of sacrifice and worship. It was the evident intention of the toast, added the speaker, to honour the Church and State in their relation to one another. The bells were a reminder of the eternal as against the material issues of life, and it was the duty of the Church to bring the thought of the things eternal to all the world, and he trusted that ringers would always keep this conception of their ringing before them.

EXERCISE BUILT ON TRADITION.

Mr. E. H. Lewis proposed the toast of 'The Memory of Jasper Snowdon and Past Officers of the Association.' 'When your president asked me at Liverpool to come to your dinner to-night,' he said, 'I accepted with great pleasure. For one reason I think it good that the officers of the Central Council should get into the closest possible touch with the associations. Then I wished to again enjoy some good Yorkshire striking, having had one taste of it more than 20 years ago. There was a third, a personal reason. Your president and I have both had connections with a certain county. It is the only county in which I have rung on all the peals of bells. There is only one peal in the county' (laughter).

'We have met to-night,' he continued, 'to do honour to the memory of some of those who have helped to hand down our wonderful traditions. The Exercise is built on tradition. Some of the traditions have reason behind them, some have none. For instance, there is good reason why we should ring our bells, to get full tone-value and carrying power. There is good reason behind our tradition of ringing changes to avoid monotony. There is a musical reason for the tradition of the open lead. Without it there can be no musical 'cadences,' and the main charm of ringing is lost. That applies also to six bells. Is there, from the outside listeners' point of view, any reason behind the tradition of truth in composition? Would anyone in the street distinguish between the two halves of a peal of Bob Royal if 2-3 are turned over at a half-way single? Don't think, however, for a moment that I want to belittle that great tradition of truth. I regret very much recent happenings in the West Country. Nor do I like the idea of a 5,040 of Minor with two singles only, even if there is musical reason behind it. To call a collection of a '719,' twelve '360's' and a '1' a peal of Minor seems to open the door to laxity in our tradition of truth (applause).

'It would be presumptuous on my part,' proceeded Mr. Lewis, 'to try and tell you anything about those who have upheld the tradition in Yorkshire. I can only speak of those with whom I came in contact. Jasper Snowdon died when I was a very small boy; yet I seem to know something of him from his splendid books. When starting to ring 30 years ago I was told to get 'Rope-sight' as a standard text-book. I should not like to say how many copies have been through my hands since. Ringers are good borrowers. A wealthy innkeeper once showed his son his well-stocked library with greening shelves. "My boy, never lend a book—all these are borrowed." Let those towers where libraries are being formed—and the number is increasing—be sure to have a rule that no book must be removed unless signed for. Such towers could not do better than start with the "Snowdon" series. When I came down from the tower of St. Nicholas, Liverpool, after my first peal of Stedman Cinques I saw sitting in the churchyard a figure surmounted by a silk hat, and did not feel happy until I had heard Mr. C. H. Hattersley's verdict on the peal. I regret that I only had few opportunities of meeting that true English gentleman. Mr. Holland I met at Council meetings. He did not often say much, but when he did it was to the point, and he was always ready to stick up for the six-bell ringers. What a pity that the modern developments of six-bell splicing were not reached in his time! How he would have enjoyed the further opportunities of adding to his great achievements on six bells. Mr. William Snowdon, of course, I met at Council meetings, and we perhaps know him best for his valuable work in completing and editing his brother's books (applause).

CHANGE RINGING A GREAT CHARACTER BUILDER.

'While speaking of the giants of the past I cannot forbear to mention one who, as far as we are able to trace, was born just 300 years ago. Fabian Stedman not only gave us his own beautiful method, and extended Grandsire Doubles to Triples and Bob Minor to Major, but wrote a book which was far in advance of its time and remained the best book on ringing for very many years. The bells on which he used to ring, as you know, are being restored, and the wonderful Saxon tower of St. Bene't's, Cambridge, is being strengthened as a memorial to him. It is now practically certain that the reopening will be on December 5th, six weeks from to-night. I hope those of you who can will try and attend.

'We are living in troubled times, which have been referred to by previous speakers. The country would not be in such a state if there were a larger proportion of the type from which ringers are drawn. A man cannot be a change ringer unless he does his own thinking. Too many people nowadays put out their thinking as they do their washing. We hear much of economy. True economy consists of wise spending, spending which increases production and gives a return. I hope that there will be no curtailment of the funds required for restoration and maintenance of bells. It would be a great pity if for such a reason the number of ringers should be reduced, bearing in mind that change ringing is, both from the higher standpoint and intellectually, a great character builder. What we want is an ever-increasing number of ringers to carry on the traditions which have been handed down to us by the great ringers of the past' (applause).

The toast was drunk in silence.

After the toast had been drunk, a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by Messrs. C. Harrison, P. J. Johnson, G. F. Swann, S. Briggs, G. Lewis and S. F. Palmer.

In proposing 'Continued Prosperity of the Yorkshire Association,' the Lord Bishop of Pontefract told of his many associations with the president and ringers generally, and said it was not enough to talk of and to discuss religion, but they must practice religion if they were to achieve the object of the Founder of the Church.

Mr. P. J. Johnson proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' who represented the Midland Counties Association, the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, the Gloucester and Bristol Association, the Surrey Association, the Essex Association, the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham.

During the evening musical items were interspersed by the Headingley Quartet, and a most delightful recital on handbells was given by Mr. C. F. Johnston. A most delightful and pleasant evening was spent.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ARCHDEACONRY OF ELY BRANCH.

An enjoyable meeting was held at Melbourn on Saturday, when members were present from Barley, Cambridge, Chrishall, Elmdon, Ickleton, Meldreth, Melbourn, Sawston, Stetchworth and Trumpington. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. McNeice), who, in his address, said how absolutely essential it was to have a leader in every beiry. Mr. H. J. Hazel, A.L.C.M., kindly presided at the organ.

There was no formal business, but Messrs. R. Clements, E. Flitton, L. Flitton, W. Flitton, H. Hutley, G. Lilley and L. Lilley, of Ickleton, were re-elected members. Mr. J. Negus, of Elmdon, was elected a non-resident life member.

After passing a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the tower was again visited, Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Kent, Oxford and Woodbine Treble Bob, Cambridge, Beverley, London, York and Durham Surprise being rung.

A CORNISH 'QUARTER.'

On Saturday, October 31st, the eve of All Saints' Day, eight members of the Truro Diocesan Guild met at the Church of St. Felicitas, Phillack, Cornwall, to enable one of the local band to attempt his first peal. Owing, however, to a case of sickness near the church, it was considered that three hours' ringing would be a little too much, so a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was substituted, and was rung in 52 minutes by: H. Williams (Truro) 1, W. Wood (Gulval) 2, J. Wood (Gulval) 3, A. S. Roberts, conductor (Truro) 4, Miss E. J. C. Angwin (Truro) 5, P. J. Hitchens (Gulval) 6, G. W. Taysom (Mawnan) 7, W. J. Bagge (Phillack) 8. This was W. J. Bagge's longest length.

DOUBLE NORWICH COMPOSITION.

MR. ROBERTS' ACHIEVEMENT.

A letter from Mr. George Lewis, of Ecclesfield, throws a rather different light upon the claim made in respect of the composition of the peal of Double Norwich Major rung at Penwortham. The qualities which were enumerated in the information sent to us had been obtained before, but were not all that this peal contained. Mr. Roberts' composition was got under greater restrictions than those mentioned, as will be seen from the following letter. Mr. Lewis writes:—

The remarks in 'Belfry Gossip' in your last issue regarding the peal of Double Norwich obtained by Mr. C. W. Roberts will be rather misleading to many. It should read as follows: The full combination of 4, 5, 6 in 5, 6, without 2 or 3 in 6ths in two equal parts, with two singles only and calls at only 1, 4, 6. I take this opportunity to sincerely congratulate our young friend on his production, as this rather upsets the theory held by many that there is nothing new to be got in compositions, and is another example of a plan not yet obtained.

I submit the following for some of our young composers to practice with. I have produced it to Bristol, but as yet I do not think that anyone has produced it to Treble Bob. The late Mr. Arthur Craven told me that he had tried for 20 years, but with no result. I have spent many interesting hours, but as yet with no success, so I am now turning it over to some of our younger enthusiasts with a feeling that I am sure it will provide them with a small measure of amusement.

OTHER PEALS OF DOUBLE NORWICH.

Dear Sir,—The paragraph included in 'Belfry Gossip' in your last issue relating to the possibility of a peal of Double Norwich Major with all the combinations of 4, 5 and 6 in 5-6 with two singles only in a length less than 5,376 is surprising. The question of peals with these combinations was raised by the late Henry Dains in the 'Bell News' some time in 1903. If reference is made to the Central Council's 'Collection of Peals,' Section 3, Group 2, it will be seen that Peal No. 197, page 346, is a 5,024 of Double Norwich Major by the writer, composed in November, 1905, with two singles only, which has the extent (36 whole courses) of the combinations mentioned. A 5,008 with the same qualities, but several singles, is also included. It remains for composers to get the combinations in the latter number with two singles.—Yours faithfully,

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

Sunderland.

A 5,008.

Here is another peal with the 4, 5 and 6 the full combination in 5-6 with only two singles. It is by G. Wilfred Slack, of Burley, Leeds, and composed in August, 1930.

By omitting the bells marked * in one part, the peal is 5,008; by substituting three bells at 6 for these three in one part and omitting them in the other, the length is 5,152; whilst calling the bells at 6 in both parts gives 5,232.

ALDERSHOT'S BIG BAND.

COMPANY MAINTAINED BY YOUTHFUL RECRUITS.

A very pleasant joint meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild and the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Aldershot on Saturday, and attracted about 35 ringers from Bagshot, Farnham, Farnborough, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Hawley, Seale, West Clandon and Woking, as well as the local band. It is always an inspiration to visit Aldershot. They have there one of the largest and youngest bands in the country. There are no fewer than 20 ringers of both sexes, and only four are over 21. For many years the 'father' of the company has been Mr. W. Denyer, who not only taught his own children to ring, but believes in catching all his pupils at an early age. Mr. Denyer's patience—and it needs a lot of patience to teach and manage a large team bursting with the buoyant spirit of youth—has been equalled by his success. Many of his pupils can ring the standard eight-bell methods as well as Surprise Minor methods, while his eldest son is the capable and ever-smiling hon. secretary of the Farnham District. Of the present band, five are still at school and three have only just left, while four of the boys and four of the men are in the choir. In fact, it is the choir which is the recruiting ground of the Aldershot band. The boys are 'captured' early, and then, when they are no longer able to sing, they have still an interest in the church through the belfry, and remain because they are still among their friends. That is how Mr. Denyer has built up his band, and it is a scheme which might be widely adopted with advantage.

The youngest members of the company are still practising rounds, and several of them have to mount boxes to reach the rope ends. They took their share in the ringing on Saturday; they helped to lead the singing at the service (which was the Ladies' Guild form), and afterwards with the rest of the choirboys were entertained to tea.

The address by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Le Fleming) was a practical one on fellowship, and everyone enjoyed the very delightful service.

The Vicar joined the ringers at tea, and was thanked on the motion of Major Gale (Hawley) for his part in making the meeting the success it was. The tea was catered for by two of the local lady ringers, Miss Fisher and Miss Nancy Denyer, and there was a bountiful spread at a minimum charge. It was rumoured afterwards that the net profit on 45 teas was exactly twopenny halfpenny, so that the resulting income tax will not go far to balance the national budget.

The short business meeting was presided over by the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted), and the proposed Guild excursion to Cambridge for the Stedman Tercentenary was discussed. The ladies, with Mrs. Melville, in the chair, conducted their business in face of the opposition of a handbell party, who made more noise than progress, and really ought to have been ordered out of the hall. The next meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild is to be held at Burslem in February.

Ringings with mixed bands afterwards took place in the tower, the methods including Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge.

5,024 ON A SIMPLE PLAN.

Sir,—I read with interest—not to say surprise—your remarks with regard to Double Norwich compositions containing certain extent properties and produced with two singles only.

I might say I have had in my possession a number of compositions of Double Norwich Major, all two-part peals, with the combinations of 4, 5 and 6 in 5-6 and produced with two singles with a less number than 5,376, since September, 1927.

The enclosed 5,024 is an example (though not a good one!) of the type you mention, on so simple a plan that I shall be surprised if no one claims it as a variation of some other peal. At any rate, we have heard from those who spill much ink in the ringing Press (and also from private correspondents) that there is no such thing as a fresh composition, that all possible lengths and qualities have been produced, that everything is in existence, and hence nobody now has claim to originality. I am, therefore, interested in such compositions as mentioned this week in 'Belfry Gossip'.—Yours faithfully,

NOLAN GOLDEN.

THE DEATH OF MR. J. E. GROVES.A DISTINGUISHED RINGER.

As briefly recorded in our last issue, the Exercise has lost a valued member by the death of Mr. James E. Groves, of Handsworth, Birmingham. Mr. Groves has been among the great ringers of the past, for while in the last few years his name has not been so prominently before the public as formerly, his earlier achievements placed him in the foremost rank among his contemporaries. A fine heavy bell-ringer, a good conductor and a ready helper where young ringers were concerned, he was an extremely valuable asset to the art in the western Midlands.

Born at Wroseter, near Shrewsbury, on March 13th, 1868, Mr. Groves took up ringing when he was 18 years of age, receiving his first lessons at the Old Abbey Church, Shrewsbury. His first peal, however, was not rung until four years later, this being Grandsire Triples at Upton St. Leonard's, Gloucestershire, conducted by Mr. John Austin, on November 8th, 1890. In September of the following year he moved to Wolverhampton, where, joining St. Peter's company, then struggling with Grandsire Triples, he was elected captain, a position which he held for some years and in which he greatly improved the capabilities of the band. About this time Mr. Groves was for six years instructor to the Hereford Diocesan Guild, and in 1904 was elected the first Ringing Master of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, an office which he held for five years.

On taking up residence in Birmingham, his energies were naturally concentrated on St. Martin's Guild, of which he was elected Deputy Ringing Master (an office which carries control of the ringing activities in the famous Bull Ring tower) in 1910, in succession to Mr. Albert Walker, who, at that time, removed to London. Mr. Groves held the position until 1921, when he resigned, and was succeeded by Mr. Walker, who, in the meantime, had returned to Birmingham.

Mr. Groves was one of the few men who have rung two tower bells to a peal, which he did at St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, the only man who had previously accomplished a similar feat being the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook. Mr. Groves took part in the 11,111 Stedman Cinques rung at Birmingham, had conducted a 7,019 and 11,500 Grandsire Caters, as well as having rung in 8,009 of the same method. He called the first peals of Erin Cinques both on tower and handbells, and his many handbell peals included the one and only peal of Stedman Sextuples yet rung. He called the first handbell peal rung in Wales, and he is the last man who could claim to have rung Grandsire on all numbers from Triples to Maximus.

Mr. Groves was a composer as well as ringer and conductor, and had a number of peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques as well as of Grandsire on the higher numbers, but he will be best remembered, perhaps, for his transposition of J. J. Parker's famous 12-part. Mr. Groves arranged the composition with the 7th as observation bell, and in this form it is, in these days, rung as often as it is in its original arrangement. Mr. Groves was a member of many ringing societies, including, in addition to St. Martin's Guild, the College Yeuths, whose dinners in London he frequently attended, the Worcestershire, Essex, Gloucester and Bristol, Bath and Wells, Midland Counties and Shropshire Associations, Peterborough, Salisbury, Winchester and Portsmouth, Oxford, Warwickshire and Hereford Guilds, and Archdeaconry of Stafford Society.

Mr. Groves was for many years employed by Messrs. Barwell, of Birmingham, as bellhanger, and afterwards he went into business on his own account, carrying out many restorations in the counties around Birmingham.

The funeral took place on Friday last at the Handsworth New Cemetery. In addition to the widow and relatives, representatives were present to pay their last respects from the Handsworth and District Allotment Society, of which Mr. Groves was a prominent member for many years. The St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, was represented by Messrs. Albert Walker (Deputy Ringing Master), A. Paddon Smith, George F. Swann, Tom Miller, John Neal and J. George. Mr. John Jagger was also present representing the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. A course on the handbells was rung over the grave at the conclusion of the service.

Mrs. Groves desires to thank the members of St. Martin's Guild and all ringers for their kind sympathy in her sad bereavement.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—If Mr. Morgan will turn to page 116 of Minor Methods he will see that the name 'Canterbury,' which was given to No. 3 Surprise Method in the first edition, was deliberately transferred to No. 2. If he will refer to the many discussions on the names of the methods in the Central Council and 'The Ringing World,' he will find the reason why. There was no Alnwick in the first edition. I may also say that full opportunity was given to everybody to express opinions on the names of these methods before they were printed.

May I also say that the 6,160 of Double Norwich rung at Goslany in 1831 was not the 'longest in the method up to that time,' nor was it claimed to be, although Jasper Snowden in his 'Double Norwich' seemed to think so.—Yours truly,
J. A. TROLLOPE.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

The Ancient Society of College Youths without William T. Cockerill would be like 'Hamlet' without the Prince of Denmark. Ever since the year 1892 Mr. Cockerill has very largely guided the destinies of the society. He has been a wise counsellor to the faltering; he has restrained the impetuous; he has conducted its affairs with a dignity and courteousness that have made him beloved of everyone; he is, in the minds of all who know him, the Ancient Society of College Youths personified. Yet Mr. Cockerill is the most retiring of all its members; he has never sought the limelight, but those who have come in contact with the College Youths have never failed to realise that the mainspring of the society, the real force behind it for more than a generation, has been William T. Cockerill. Year after year Mr. Cockerill has played an important part in the planning and carrying out of the society's dinner, although he appeared little in the public eye. His speech in response to the toast of the evening has always been a model of point and brevity; his presence has been more felt than seen. It was therefore a shock, which came almost like a douche of cold water upon the company on Saturday, when it was learned that Mr. Cockerill was ill; that for the first time for forty years he would not be in his accustomed place at the anniversary gathering. If ever there was a unanimous wish for a man's early and complete recovery from sickness that wish was expressed in the hearts of everyone present in that representative assembly of ringers.

But for the absence of Mr. Cockerill, Saturday's gathering would have been one of the happiest on record. It was not so large as some which have preceded it, but a company of two hundred from the four corners of the kingdom was sufficiently representative to rank it in importance with any that have gone before, and in good fellowship it has never been excelled. The speeches, too, were interesting. As was only to be anticipated, the recent series of articles in 'The Ringing World' on the history of the society at a critical period of its existence furnished a topic on which some of the speakers felt bound to dwell. This subject, however, dealt with the past; it was left to the hon. secretary of the Central Council to speak pointedly of the future. He appealed boldly for a development of the social side of ringing in London; for the spread of the goodwill and harmony which pervaded the proceedings on that one day over the other 364 days of the year. He left it to the Ancient Society of College Youths, as the oldest of London's ringing organisations, to take the initiative, and many will agree with him that London and ringing would benefit if all the societies operating in the Metropolis could be brought together in a closer fellowship—in that fellowship which only social intercourse and goodwill can foster. There are too many 'camps' among ringers in London from which the occupants look out upon one another in a spirit of rivalry and suspicion. It would be all to the good if the barriers could be melted, and in no way could this be better effected than by a warming up of the social atmosphere.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The autumn meeting of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Hallow on Saturday.

Ringing commenced shortly after half-past two. Service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Stallard, was attended by about 45 members of the branch; also present were visitors from Bromsgrove, Cradley, Kidderminster and Mathon.

Afterwards an excellent tea, provided by the Vicar, was partaken of at the Village Hall.

At the meeting which followed the present officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. Nine new members were also elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Ripple.

Mr. R. G. Knowles proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his generosity, and this was carried with applause. To this the Vicar suitably replied, and the ringers again visited the tower and the bells were kept going until shortly before 9 o'clock. The methods rung included Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

'ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENCE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I ask those to whom questions are addressed through your columns to remember that those questions may be of interest not alone to those by whom they are propounded? Often we may read of just those problems which have exercised our own minds, but on which for some reason or other we have hesitated to ask publicly the opinion of others; then we look forward with pleasure to having our difficulties explained, and are disappointed when no reply is given, possibly for some purely personal reason which is entirely beyond our knowledge or concern.

Such a question is that put forward several weeks ago by Mr. George Baker regarding Carter's Principle. By the introduction of 'Carter' and its relation to 'Stedman,' the matter is somewhat complicated, and is put in a guise in which it is unfamiliar to many; but as applied to 'Stedman' the question is of more intimate concern. The writer recently heard it discussed seriously in a belfry, following which a well-struck plain course of Reverse Stedman Triples was rung; but after the ringing some still contended that it had been rung wrongly.

In this year of special interest in Stedman and his method, would not the Methods Committee please tell us why they start 'Stedman' as Stedman started it, but Reverse Stedman in such a way as to make a radical alteration entirely beyond that which is incidental to reversing the method?—Yours faithfully,

'THE MAD HATTER.'

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.ROCHESTER DISTRICT'S BIG MEETING.

The annual meeting of Rochester District was held at Rochester Cathedral on Saturday, October 31st, by kind permission of the Dean. Even the capacious ringing chamber of the Cathedral was taxed by the number attending, upwards of 70 putting in an appearance from the following towers: Gravesend, Frindsbury, Chatham, Rainham, Milton-next-Gravesend, Queenborough, Tunstall, Sittingbourne, Upchurch, Lynsted and Gillingham, together with several visitors from neighbouring organisations. After ringing from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., evensong was attended in the Cathedral, and later the company assembled for tea, which had been prepared at the Temperance Cafe only for the 50 people who had taken the trouble to acquaint the secretary. Obviously an additional 50 per cent. added to the number to be catered for rather upset the arrangements, but with the district secretary backing up the waiting staff, and incidentally getting no tea for his pains, the company were eventually placed in a happy frame of mind.

The secretary read a card he had received from the Dean saying how sorry he was in being unable to meet the ringers once again, but hoped they had a successful meeting. A representative from Messrs. Gillett and Johnston was also in attendance, and explained that Mr. C. Johnston had been forced to abandon his intended visit at the last moment.

The Vicar of Frindsbury, the Rev. H. F. Shepherd, had been asked by the Dean to preside in his stead, and was supported by the Rector of Chatham, the Vicar of St. Margaret's, Rochester, and the general secretary and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell.

The balance sheet and report were read and accepted, particular attention being drawn by the secretary to the small percentage of district members taking part in peals accredited to the district during the past year; on the other hand, the district was to be commended on the financial statement, especially in regard to their generous response which had been made to appeals for the benevolent fund.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in 'no change,' Mr. S. Shellock being retained as district secretary, and Messrs. W. E. Spice, sen., and F. Belsey remaining as district representatives on the Central Committee.

Resolutions of thanks were passed to the Dean for permission to use the bells and to the Vicar of Frindsbury for presiding at the meeting.

The bells were again used during the evening, the standard of ringing being good, and at 9 p.m. they were rung down in peal, thus bringing to a close a very successful meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Joseph S. Hawkins, of St. Andrew's, Holborn, received an unopposed nomination for the Mastership of the College Youths for the ensuing year. The election takes place next Tuesday. Mr. Hawkins was Master in 1927.

The oldest member of the College Youths present at the dinner on Saturday was Mr. Edward Wallage, who joined the society over 61 years ago. When the Master 'took wine' with those present who had been members for 50 years and upwards, Canon Coleridge, Mr. J. W. Rowbotham, Mr. W. D. Smith and Mr. Challis E. Winney rose to greet the chairman.

Those who attended this 294th anniversary dinner and were present at the 250th anniversary gathering were Messrs. Winney, Walter Prime, Tom Faulkner and J. Christopher Mitchell. At one time Mr. Mitchell's name was constantly in the ringing 'news.' He practised regularly with the College Youths and was a very fine handbell ringer, scoring a number of peals with 'a pair.' The claims of his important position as secretary of the London General Omnibus Company have kept him out of active ringing for many years.

The Secretaries' Association mustered a good band at the College Youths' gathering on Saturday, and if they could not have knocked off the courses in the tower as well as they did at the festive board, they could at any rate have put up a 'decent show' had they been challenged—before the dinner.

Mr. George Pullinger, formerly hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, rang his 100th peal on Saturday. Ninety-nine of them have been rung with only one arm—a great triumph over handicap. Mr. Pullinger lost the other arm in the war. By a coincidence his peal on Saturday was rung in the same tower and on the same bell as his first peal in March, 1913—the only one he ever rang with two arms.

Mr. Ben Knights wishes to apologise for the 'shock' he gave to composers recently (by the omission of details), and hopes that they may soon recover.

Ringers who are interested in motor-cars should write for a copy of an instructive little booklet, 'First Aid for the Car,' which can be obtained post free from Sternal, Ltd., Publicity Department, Royal London House, Finsbury Square, London, E.C.2.

The ringer of the tenor in the peal at Hadlow on October 24th was George Kenward, not Kenwood as published. In the peal of Double Norwich at Clevedon, the report of which was published last week, Miss White rang the 2nd and Mrs. Wilkins the 4th.

The Rev. H. T. Parry, president of the Grimsby District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and a member of the Central Council, has been made a Canon of Lincoln Cathedral.

ROWS OR CHANGES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It seems to amuse Mr. Coles to misquote what I have written, so I will not spoil his fun by again pointing out his mistakes. What one wonders is why Mr. Coles, of all men, should try to draw us away from the point by introducing such words as 'expel' and 'remove.' The point is, whether rows when they are repeated are changes or not.

When people have rung a false 5,000, are they entitled to say that they have rung 5,000 changes, as long as they do not call it a peal? It is correct to say that they have rung 5,000 rows; but to say that they have rung 5,000 changes is a false statement. I do not want to have anything to do with such people, any more than I want to have anything to do with people who make other false statements. Nor do I suppose Mr. Coles, or any other change ringer, wants to have anything to do with them, whatever he may argue about 'expelling' or 'removing' them.

There is one matter which calls for correction. The heading of Mr. Coles' letter contains the words, 'The Suffolk Guild Resolution.' There is no such resolution. The Suffolk Guild, as a whole, has not even had an opportunity of considering the matter. All that has happened is that two comparatively small meetings, in two different parts of the diocese, have recommended the annual meeting next Easter to consider the matter. It would seem, therefore, the part of a wise man to wait and see whether any such proposals appear in the agenda, or in the acts of that annual meeting, before one condemns them as impracticable or improper.

What we have now to decide is whether a false peal contains 5,000 changes or not. Is there really any room for doubt in the matter? Is it necessary for Mr. Coles to champion those who are ignorant of that which a change ringer should learn first of all?

HERBERT DRAKE.

FORTY-TWO SIX-SCORES OF STEDMAN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. J. E. Whitlock, the peal of Stedman Doubles at Fests Cray consisted of the 15 six-scores he mentions varied by starting at different places in the sixes. It is possible to call each 120 in six variations and by this means giving a total of 90 different six-scores with 15 different callings. In the peal in question 14 six-scores were called starting with a slow six, 14 starting with a full quick six, and 14 with the ordinary Stedman go off.—Yours faithfully,
T. GROOMBRIDGE, Jun.
Crayford.

THE STEDMAN TERCENTENARY. ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE COMMEMORATION AT CAMBRIDGE.

The celebration of the tercentenary of Fabian Stedman at Cambridge on Saturday, December 5th, will be one of the most noteworthy events in the annals of the Exercise. The service at St. Benedict's Church, where Stedman was a ringer, will take the form of a thanksgiving, as well as of dedication, and it is hoped that all who come to join in the proceedings will have the opportunity of ringing on the very bells which Stedman himself rang.

The programme which is being arranged will provide a day full of interest for those who visit Cambridge. A ring of 12, two rings of eight and two of six will be available, in addition to those at St. Bene't's, so that there will be no lack of ringing facilities, but, in addition, Cambridge, with its many glorious college buildings, offers attractions to the visitors which only the sister university city of Oxford can rival. Facilities are being provided to enable visiting ringers to make a tour of the most important and interesting places in the town.

The catering arrangements are kindly being undertaken by the authorities of Corpus Christi College, which adjoins St. Bene't's, but it is absolutely imperative that the numbers who require meals shall be known well in advance; indeed, in order that all the day's arrangements may run smoothly, it is essential that the committee shall know how many visitors to expect and what their wishes are. For this purpose an application form has been prepared, and will be sent on receipt of a postcard addressed to

The Stedman Centenary Secretary,
'The Ringing World' Office,
Woking, Surrey.

Send for this form at once, as it must be returned not later than Tuesday, November 24th. In the case of a party travelling together, only one form need be applied for.

The importance of making application in good time will be appreciated when it is pointed out that admission to the church up to ten minutes before the service will be by ticket only; that preference in the ringing at St. Bene't's will be given to ticket holders, and that only those who have purchased luncheon and tea tickets beforehand will be guaranteed meals at Corpus Christi College. We repeat, therefore, that the application form should be obtained AT ONCE.

Those who are not making the journey by road should inquire at their own railway station as to cheap tickets for the day to Cambridge.

Contributions promised to the Stedman Commemoration Fund, for the restoration of St. Bene't's bells, if not already sent, should be forwarded without delay to the hon. treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.—It is hoped to run a bus from Kettering district to Cambridge on Saturday, December 5th, for the Stedman Tercentenary, starting at 9 or 9.30 a.m. Seats must be applied for not later than Wednesday, November 19th, with a deposit of 5s. per seat. Lunch and tea tickets will be obtained by the organiser of the bus, and the total cost should not exceed 10s. 6d.—H. Baxter, Bredon, Windmill Avenue, Kettering.

A DEVON PIONEER.

MEMORIAL TO THE REV. MAITLAND KELLY.

In the spacious belfry of Exeter Cathedral on Saturday a memorial was unveiled to one to whom the Devon Guild will for ever remain indebted. For 60 years the Rev. Maitland Kelly laboured in the cause of change ringing in a county where progress was admittedly more difficult than in most places. But his perseverance never wavered; his patience never tired, and he lived to see the Devon Guild—the first of the modern associations run on county and diocesan lines—flourish and grow into a strong and healthy organisation.

The memorial is in the form of an oak tablet, which is inscribed: 'Erected by the Guild of Devonshire Ringers in memory of Maitland Kelly, M.A., Priest, who was President of the Guild for 28 years and Honorary Secretary for six years. He entered into rest 15th June, 1929. His pioneer work for the Guild will ever remain to stimulate the progress of change ringing in the Diocese.'

The tablet is surmounted by the emblem of the Guild picked out in colour.

There was a large gathering of representatives of the Guild from all parts of the county, and others present included Mr. Arthur Kelly, the Rev. E. M. Kelly (Oakford), Mrs. Cardwell and the Misses Kelly (2), sons and daughters of the Rev. Maitland Kelly.

Mr. T. Laver (hon. secretary of the Guild) mentioned that a committee was appointed by the Guild in 1930 to consider means of perpetuating the memory of Mr. Kelly. Six schemes came under review, and it was eventually decided to have a memorial tablet at Exeter Cathedral and to help improvements at Kelly Church which Mr. Kelly wished to have carried out.

The Rev. E. S. Powell (president of the Guild) gave an outline of the ministerial career of Mr. Kelly, and remarked that he proved himself to be a faithful, active and earnest priest. As a ringer he participated in 1865 in three six-scores of Grandsire Doubles at Kelly, these being the greatest number of changes that had ever been rung up to that time by men of Devon. In 1874 the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was inaugurated, and Mr. Kelly was elected a member of the committee. In 1899 he became hon. secretary, and in 1896, when the then president (Col. Troyte, father of Col. Troyte, M.P. for the Tiverton Division) passed to his rest, Mr. Kelly became president, and continued in that position until 1924, when the Guild attained its jubilee and he retired. His characteristics were modesty and unselfishness, enthusiasm and earnestness, sound judgment, and pluck and perseverance. He never failed in his confidence about the Guild's future, and was always cheerful and hopeful.

Mr. Powell then unveiled the tablet and asked Canon McLaren to accept custody on behalf of the Dean and Chapter.

Canon McLaren assured all that the Dean and Chapter would give the tablet their care and protection. Mr. Kelly was a man in whom the qualities mentioned by Mr. Powell really did shine, and he had a delightful courtesy characteristic of what was called the old school, and which was not often found nowadays.

The bells were afterwards rung in various methods. Thanks were tendered to the hon. secretary for the pains he had taken in connection with the memorial and to the president for his general services. Visits were paid by visiting bands to other towers in the city.

DEATH OF FORMER DEVON GUILD SECRETARY.

By a coincidence, on the afternoon that the Devon Guild unveiled a memorial to a former secretary and president, there was laid to rest at Silverton, Devon, the mortal remains of the Rev. George Edward Francis Molinieux, former Vicar of Colyton, who for 14 years—from 1899 to 1913—had also faithfully discharged the duties of hon. secretary of the Guild, and from 1913 to 1920 was hon. treasurer. Mr. Molinieux passed away on Wednesday of last week at the age of 76 years after a long illness. He was a member of the Devon Guild for nearly 50 years and did great work in encouraging and helping beginners in change ringing at a time when the fortunes of the Devon Guild were at a low ebb. He had rung only two or three peals, but his more enduring work was in the labour which he spent in helping to lay the foundation of scientific ringing in Devon. The deceased clergyman leaves a widow, two sons and four daughters to mourn their loss. One son and three daughters are abroad.

The funeral took place on Saturday at Silverton, and was attended by a large number who came to pay a last tribute of respect. The Guild of Devonshire Ringers, who sent a wreath, were represented by the Rev. E. S. Powell, Rector of Cyst St. George (Guild president), the Rev. E. V. Cox, Vicar of Braunford Speke (a former officer-bearer in the Guild), Mr. T. Laver (Guild secretary), Mr. A. W. Searle (chairman, Exeter District), Messrs. W. Richardson and E. Shepherd (Exeter), the Rev. F. Carter, Vicar of Withleigh (Devon North-Eastern branch), and Mr. J. H. Godfrey, of Ottery (hon. secretary, East Devon branch). Members of Silverton branch of the Guild acted as bearers, as follows: Messrs. A. and P. Selley, R. Hutchings, M. Denford, H. Pook and R. Harris.

Immediately after the interment a 720 of Bob Minor was rung with the bells muffled by E. Shepherd 1, A. W. Searle 2, the Rev. E. S. Powell 3, Mrs. Powell 4, Mr. W. Richardson 5, the Rev. E. V. Cox (conductor) 6. Subsequently the muffles were removed and the bells were rung open by local and other ringers.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' ANNIVERSARY.

LAST SATURDAY'S GATHERING IN LONDON.

One of the greatest social events of the ringing year is the anniversary dinner in London of the Ancient Society of College Youths. It attracts ringers from all over the country, who join with their brethren of the Metropolis in an event which always proves a pleasant and interesting reunion. Last Saturday was no exception to the rule, and some 200 members and visitors took part in the celebration of the 294th anniversary of the society, which was founded on November 5th, 1637. Many spent the afternoon in ringing at various City churches and then assembled at St. Michael's, College Hill, which the society looks upon as its 'mother' church. Here they joined in the special service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Canon Bullock Webster), the preacher being the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford (Rector of St. Clement Danes), who took for his text, Psalm c., 1-2: 'Make a joyful noise unto the Lord all ye lands, serve the Lord with gladness; come before His presence with singing.' In referring to the history of the College Youths, the preacher said that the society had always assumed the dignity of an old city company, although it was not one of the liveried bodies. He had always had a great admiration for the ringers of London, and he was indebted to them for their services on many occasions. He did not wish to be in any way disrespectful to them when he referred to ringing as a joyful noise. There were, however, some unsympathetic people who were ready to complain when church bells were rung, but he found that a friendly talk with those who objected generally gave satisfaction and peace to the troubled mind. The motto of the society, continued the speaker, was 'Let us live together in unity.' He had always been struck with the extraordinary spirit of friendship which prevailed in the ranks of ringers, and he hoped this spirit would continue to grow. As they pursued their work let them never be unmindful of the purpose of church bells. He asked God to bless the work of the Ancient Society of College Youths and prosper the service which they rendered in the towers.

THE DINNER.

Dinner was served at the London Tavern, Fenchurch Street, the company of close upon 200 being presided over by the Master (Mr. Percy E. Clark), who was supported by the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, the Rev. W. P. Besley, M.V.O. (Rector of St. Lawrence Jewry), the Rev. Dr. Biggs, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. E. T. Wright, Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Central Council), Dr. E. L. Taylor (Sevenoaks), the Rev. H. J. Fynes-Clynton (Rector of St. Magnus'), the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford, Mr. J. Christopher Mitchell (secretary of the L.G.O.C.), Mr. E. A. Young, Mr. C. F. Johnston, Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn, Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer of the Oxford Guild), Mr. F. W. Sergisson (hon. secretary, St. Clement's Youths), etc. The vice-chairman was Mr. C. J. Choct, and the company included many well-known London ringers. Among the visitors were Mrs. Wilkins and Mrs. Cann (Bristol), Messrs. J. T. Dyke (hon. secretary, Bath and Wells Association), R. T. Hibbert (secretary, Oxford Diocesan Guild), C. H. Kippin (hon. secretary, Surrey Association), J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff and Monmouth Association), P. M. Mitchell (hon. secretary, Kent County Association), T. H. Reeves (hon. secretary, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), E. Guise (hon. secretary, Gloucester and Bristol Association), F. W. Rogers (hon. secretary, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), J. S. Goldsmith (Guildford Diocesan Guild), F. Leaker (representing Bristol United Guilds), W. Andrews (Winchester), T. King and F. Rich (Bath), W. A. Cave, C. Gordon, W. Knight and H. Burt (Bristol), S. Palmer and A. P. Knights (Sheffield), F. Smallwood (Wisbech), C. Moo (Ipswich), E. Adams (Warwick), A. T. Greenwood and T. Taylor (Portsmouth), H. Jennings (Isle of Wight), D. Cooper and R. Dove (Croydon), G. Hoad and C. Clavdon (Reigate), A. H. Pulling and W. R. Melville (Guildford), R. Hayes (Haslemere), H. Argent, F. H. Mitchell, C. Mitchell, G. Goodship (Gravesend), E. C. Goldsmith, J. Corbett (Bagshot), R. Post (Oxford), F. Romaine, L. Harris and S. Macey (Salisbury), E. Poppy (Exeter), J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), W. Lawrence (Little Munden), E. Foster and A. D. Cullum (Reading), G. Dent (Harlow), A. G. Rivers (Cambridge), W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), F. S. Wilson (Winchester), W. Osborn (Gallhampton), T. Satter (Yeovil), T. Fowler (Cookham), G. Miles (Brentwood), etc. The officers of the society who attended were Messrs. J. S. Hawkins and A. B. Peck (stewards), A. A. Hughes (treasurer), C. F. Wimey and Walter Prime (trustees), but, to the deep regret of everyone, the popular and genial hon. secretary (Mr. W. T. Cockerill) was prevented by illness from attending.

MR. COCKERILL'S ILLNESS.

After the loyal toast had been honoured the Master made a feeling reference to the hon. secretary's enforced absence. He had visited Mr. Cockerill that afternoon, he said, and found him very cheerful. It was the first occasion during his illness that he had been out of his bedroom, but he (the Master) was afraid it would be some time before they had the pleasure of his company again. He was sure it would be the wish of all of them that their acting secretary (Mr. Peck) should send Mr. Cockerill an expression of their deep regret at his illness and their best wishes for his speedy recovery (applause).

The Master then proposed the toast of 'The Church,' and stressed the importance of the Church in the lives of all of us. The Church, he said, was responsible for all the highest ideals which made life worth living (hear, hear); without it life, indeed, would be chaos. The country that destroyed its Church fell morally and socially, as history had proved repeatedly. They had only to look at what was going on in Russia to realise what catastrophe could befall a country when its Church was destroyed. There need be no fear, he thought, of anything like the conditions in Russia applying to this country, but it must be confessed that their Church was confronted with many difficulties, and it was here, perhaps, that they, as ringers, could prove their worth. In what way could they show themselves worthy of the service they had undertaken? It was said there were between 30,000 and 40,000 ringers in this country. So large a number should be able to exert a great influence for good, provided they made quite sure that the part they undertook in the service of their Church was carried out as it really ought to be (applause).

The Rev. W. P. Besley replied to the toast, and spoke of the great service which had been rendered to his church (St. Lawrence Jewry) by Mr. Hughes, whose firm restored the bells, and who had since instructed the band of ringers, which had been formed from members of the choir and congregation. Their bells were now said to be one of the best rings of eight in the kingdom, and they had an enthusiastic band of ringers. He welcomed the information that there were between thirty and forty thousand ringers in England, and if the ringers and the Church worked together—and there was no reason why they should not—they should be one of the greatest influences for good in the country (applause).

THE CONTINUITY OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

Canon Coleridge was again entrusted with the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths,' a task which he has discharged now for many years. He began with an expression of deep regret at the absence of Mr. Cockerill, and said that, apart from anything that might be officially done, he would at the first possible moment write to Mr. Cockerill to convey to him the regret which every one of them present felt that he was unable to be present and their good wishes for his recovery. Continuing, Canon Coleridge said: Standing here to-night, I hardly know how to describe myself, whether as an ancient or a modern (laughter). Those of us who read 'The Ringing World' have been very much taken up recently, week by week, in reading an account of some of the earliest days of the College Youths. The question has been debated whether we in any sense represent the original society. If I am to obey the preacher of this afternoon I must say we are one and the same with the society which was established in 1637. If I am to be led by Mr. Armiger Trollope, I might come to a different conclusion. I look at things in my own way and I hold that continuity is expressed by the lives of the members (hear, hear). Suppose for one moment that every Bishop of the Church of England was beheaded except one (laughter)—I am not speaking invidiously in any way, I have several friends among them, and should be very sorry to see any of them beheaded—suppose every priest of the Church of England, save one, was hanged (laughter); suppose all the laity of the Church of England except one were taken out in ships and sunk in the sea; suppose every church was razed to the ground and every Bible and prayer book destroyed and no record left of them at all, would the old Church become extinct? Not a bit of it. There would still be the apostolic succession, a Bishop to ordain, a priest to administer the sacrament and a layman to receive it. Now, between the beginning of the new society and the expiry of the old one 32 years elapsed, and I like to think myself that if there were only two or three of the old, original body existing after the end of that 32 years, continuity was not lost (applause). That is in any way looking at it. I may be totally wrong, but I am sure everybody is very grateful for the tremendous research Mr. Trollope has undertaken in putting before us what he honestly believes to be true.

TWO TABLETS.

Speaking of truth, continued Canon Coleridge, I would like to call your attention to a little fact which I suppose hardly any of you here are aware of, that is of a ceremony taking place this afternoon in Devonshire. Nearly two years ago the former president of the Devonshire Guild of Ringers died. The Rev. Maitland Kelly was one of the very old members of this society, a man beloved by everybody, whose heart and soul was in the dissemination of the knowledge of ringing. In his honour the ringers of Devon, for the most part, have put up to-day a tablet in Exeter Cathedral to commemorate their worthy president (applause). I feel certain that tablet will speak the truth (hear, hear). When I think of that tablet, I cannot help thinking of another one (laughter), which does not convey the truth (hear, hear). Far from it (applause). I am exceedingly sorry to feel that people have been asked to subscribe to what they believe to be a true record of a true peal. I cannot understand any man getting a Vicar to dedicate it. Probably he is absolutely ignorant of what a true peal really is—I don't know—but there it remains. Whether more will be heard about it in another place I don't know; probably something will be said.

THE STEDMAN TRICENTENARY.

Another thing which has become of great moment in the annals of ringing is the tricentenary of Stedman's birth (applause). I could say a great deal about that, but I will refrain from it in the presence of two distinguished Cambridge men, Mr. Lewis, the president of the Central Council, and my good friend, Mr. Jenkyn, the Council's librarian, who is treasurer of the commemoration fund. They both come from Cambridge and are far more competent to speak on the subject than I am, but it so happens that I shall have an opportunity of saying something about that great man a month hence at Cambridge at the dedication of that great memorial to him. That memorial shows us what can be done by the perseverance and assiduity of one individual (hear, hear). He seized the opportunity. The tricentenary was at hand; a great man whose name will live amongst ringers for ever ought to be commemorated; how better commemorate him than by restoring the tower and bells at St. Bene't's, Cambridge, where he rang, where he invented his principle? (applause). One individual, whose name I need not mention, a great friend of mine, started the ball rolling, and I believe I am right in saying that over £480 has already been subscribed (applause). I trust it will be made up to £500 to set up that great memorial to Fabian Stedman. No greater thing has been done, I think, in the whole history of ringing in honour of any man who has ever lived amongst us (applause).

In conclusion, Canon Coleridge said without Mr. Cockerill that gathering did not seem like the same family party at all. He had been the 'father' of London ringers, members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, for many a long year, and he trusted he would be among them for many years to come (applause). They were all getting older, but they were thankful to know that younger men were coming on, and it fell to his lot that night to couple with the toast, instead of the name of Mr. Cockerill, that of Mr. Albert A. Hughes (applause).

The toast was drunk with enthusiasm with many an expressed wish for Mr. Cockerill's speedy recovery.

NOT A PEAL RINGING SOCIETY.

A course of Stedman Cinques having been rung by Messrs. H. Hodge, C. F. Winney, A. H. Pulling, F. W. Smallwood, J. Thomas and H. Langdon, Mr. A. A. Hughes replied to the toast. He said he could leave those present to imagine his feelings at having to fulfil the task which Mr. Cockerill had discharged for so many years. During the past 12 months the society had rung 17 peals. From the peal ringing point of view that was a very small number, but they did not worry about that. He did not look upon the number of peals as in any way important, because, after all, the society was not a peal ringing society. They were established to promote the art of change ringing, and in furthering that object they had held 75 meetings during the year in the city of London, and there had been an average attendance of 16 members per meeting (applause). He was sorry to report a rather long list of losses by death, including Canon W. W. C. Baker, who was an old and well-loved member of the society; Mr. Nicholls, of Stepney; Mr. Tom Gofton, of Newcastle; Mr. Tom Beadle, of Isleworth; Mr. Pole Routh, of Reading; and Mr. Percy Lafin and Mr. James E. Groves, of Birmingham.

As a mark of respect, the company stood in silence for a few moments.

Continuing, Mr. Hughes said he was glad to report that during the year they had made 36 new members (applause), and he felt that as long as they could keep up the standard of the practices held in the past 12 months, and for many years before, the society would still go on strongly. They had a great number of young members coming along and they must give them encouragement (hear, hear). The older ones could not carry on for ever, and they had to look to the young members to follow on those who had been leading the way. He was happy to say he had ten or twelve young ringers at St. Lawrence Jewry, whose enthusiasm was extraordinary (hear, hear). They held two practices a week, and it was a good sign that they were all anxious to become members of that society as soon as they were qualified (applause).

DICK WHITTINGTON.

Mr. E. A. Young submitted 'The Visitors,' whom he cordially welcomed to that 'birthday celebration.' Turning to the subject of the history of the College Youths, Mr. Young said that he was responsible, with three or four colleagues, for the history of the society which appeared in the handbook, but Mr. Trollope had challenged him about the connection with Dick Whittington. It was very nice to think they might have some connection with Dick Whittington, who was a great city magnate and four times Lord Mayor, who founded a college and many charities, and was buried in the church on College Hill, where they had assembled that afternoon. He thought they were to be forgiven for roping Whittington in and giving, among the dry facts, collected from all sorts of sources, a little that was only legend, for it had been proved that old legends and folk lore often had a basis of fact, much to the astonishment of the critics. He lived in hope that one day they might find that their dear old society really had got some link right back, not only with the college from which they took their name, but with Dick Whittington himself. He had been through many of the documents in the British Museum and the Guildhall Library, and through those wondrous manuscripts by Osborne, who was once a member of their society and afterwards a Cumberland. Unfortunately, in Osborne's time there was a good deal of dissension, and this rather warped his judgment here and there. That, at least, was their opinion, and for that reason they did not put much of Osborne in their records. For himself, he was certain the society went right back by direct links to 1637. Sometimes in a family the elder brother died and the younger brother succeeded to the title, and he was not certain that after 1755 the line was the direct line—the evidence was rather obscure. It might be that their line was the true line, but whether collateral or direct, they came down without break to the present day (applause).

The toast was responded to by the Rev. H. J. Fynes-Clinton, who said the College Youths stood in a very honourable position both in this age and the past, and in its wonderful record of good fellowship and splendid service to the Church.

The vice-chairman proposed 'The London and Provincial Ringing Societies,' and expressed the pleasure which the College Youths had in seeing so many of them represented at that gathering. He gave them a hearty welcome, not only that night, but on all occasions; on their practice nights and whenever they met. They relied on the provincial societies to promote ringing in all parts of the country and to bring in as many recruits as possible to the art. They welcomed them with open arms in London, and wished them continued prosperity and success.

THE 'SOCIAL' SIDE IN LONDON.

Mr. G. W. Fletcher responded for the London Societies, and on their behalf expressed deep regret at the absence of Mr. Cockerill, and wished him a speedy and complete recovery. He said that was the first time he had attended a dinner of the College Youths, and it was the first time for 19 years that he had been in London on the dinner day. He was really unable to understand the good feeling and good fellowship that existed. He did not know it was possible. He did not do much ringing in London, but it seemed to him that the good feeling shown on that one day could quite easily be fostered and used and spread over the remaining 364 days to a greater extent than it was. The social side of ringing in London was sadly neglected, and he thought in this year of all years they might begin and try to build up the social side. Three hundred years had gone by since Stedman was born. They could look on that 300 years as the 'going-off course'; let them have the next 300 years as very good course ends. They had been told by visitors that in London they got good bells and good ringers, but they got no social side ('Shame'). It was a shame; let them see what they could do to remedy it. There was plenty of time in front of them, and by the time the Central Council met in London in 1933 he hoped that something would have been done. As secretary of the Central Council, he would appreciate it if they could have some sort of social organisation to fit in a welcome for their country guests. It was a very good work which the College Youths, as the oldest society, could start and invite the co-operation of the other London societies. It was only a hint which he threw out, for, of course, the other societies would not venture to dictate to such a society as theirs. Let them carry on with the good fellowship shown that night and extend it through the years. London and ringing would be much the better for it (applause).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith replied for the Provincial Societies, remarking that the number of members of these organisations who came year by year to that gathering was a striking tribute to the interest which they retained in the College Youths, their admiration for its past and their good wishes for the society's future. He referred to some of the ancient societies which existed in the provinces even before the foundation of the College Youths, and suggested that ringing even to-day might benefit by the application of some of the rules which governed these old companies. One which he quoted was among the ordinances of St. Stephen's Guild, Bristol, which was granted a royal charter in 1620. This provided that any member who missed striking his bell at the second sway in the rising of the peal should, for his offence, pay one penny. Mr. Goldsmith said he believed this might have a salutary effect in helping to improve ringing by making bad ringers more careful or getting rid of them altogether from fear of bankruptcy. Rising and falling in peal was an art which was sadly neglected in many parts of the country, and he urged provincial societies to encourage its practice a good deal more extensively than at present. The modern provincial societies, he continued, could look back to the accomplishment of a great work for ringing. They had spread the art more widely and fostered the spirit of brotherhood among ringers to a much greater extent than their founders could have anticipated; they cemented the Exercise into one common whole, with common objects and common aspirations; they were essential to the life of the Exercise and to the very existence of the art (applause).

Interspersed among the speeches were some delightful songs by Mr. T. Warren and Mr. A. T. Brooker, while Mrs. A. A. Hughes' handbell solos were again a feature of the evening's entertainment. She played with all her customary skill and grace Dvorak's 'Humoreske' and 'A little gift of roses' (Openshaw), with 'Ash Grove' as an encore. Mr. H. N. Pistow was the accompanist. The very enjoyable proceedings terminated at 10.30 with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

Many of the visitors were welcomed in the London towers on Sunday for service ringing.

BRISTOL'S RINGING HISTORY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am enclosing a copy of the letter I sent to the three chief newspapers in the district, i.e., 'Gloucester Citizen,' 'Bristol Times and Mirror' and the 'Evening World,' concerning the Painswick peal.

You will, I am sure, not be surprised if I tell you that I shall not take my history of ringing in Bristol as it appears in the columns of 'The Ringing World' from time to time. I have already exploded the myth of New Triples and Caters being rung at St. Stephen's. Now I read that in 1907 the Treble Bob methods, 'mostly the Delights,' were extensively practised at St. Michael's, and is believed to be the only instance in Bristol where Delight methods have been rung.

It is the first time I have heard or read anything about it, and I can assure you that I was very much alive 24 years ago. I have the list of members of St. Michael's at that time before me, and I cannot, in my mind's eye, see them practising the Delights very extensively. What I can see is some of the former members ringing on Monday evenings at one tower, Tuesdays at another, with an occasional peal attempted on the Thursday and Saturday thrown in.

I am afraid the statement has about as much foundation in fact as the one I read in 'The Ringing World' nearly two years ago, when someone spoke of the excellent work done by James Hinton, 'ESPECIALLY IN THE DIOLETT METHODS.' Now, I yield to no one in my admiration and gratitude to Jim Hinton for all he did for ringing in Bristol all the 20 years I knew him. But it will not be for his help in the higher methods. It will be for his unfailing encouragement to all and sundry under all sorts of conditions. A man who was never disheartened companionably in the face of disappointments. As a conductor, he was as good as the best with Grandsire on all numbers, and fairly good with Stedman, of which he called two peals of Caters. But with the higher methods, although I regret to say so, he was outclassed. After many attempts he called the first peal of Superlative in Bristol, but when the band moved on to Cambridge he ceased to attend the tower except at very rare intervals, although frequently asked to do so.

The only peals he rang outside the standard methods were one peal each of Superlative and Cambridge Major, and one of Cambridge Royal. He also rang the treble to a peal of Double Norwich.

He rendered a great service to his association when he induced many who had for years refused to recognise it to join, and, as a result, the first peal of Stedman Cinques for the association was rung by the combined band on New Year's Eve, 1899. Despite his limitations, I still regard him as greatest factor in the advance, in the campanological sense, of Bristol during the years 1895-1900, which can be summed up in the words from 'Grandsire to Superlative Surprise.'

Historians should be sure of their facts, and be able to quote chapter and verse for their statements, otherwise they are apt to be, if not frankly disbelieved, at any rate doubted.—Yours truly,

W. A. CAVE.

THE PAINSWICK PEAL.

Mr. Cave's letter to the Gloucester and Bristol newspapers on the subject of the Painswick peal was as follows:—

Next week-end brings with it the first anniversary of what is at once one of the greatest performances and one of the greatest failures in the whole annals of change ringing, for on Saturday, November 8th, 1930, a band of ringers met at Painswick, Gloucestershire, and rang upon the 12 bells of St. Mary's Church a peal of what was thought to be 17,687 true changes of Grandsire Cinques in 11 hours and 36 minutes. Had the peal been true, it would have taken its place as the longest peal on 11 bells (e.g., only 11 bells were used to ring the changes, the other being used as a cover, acting as a sort of big drum to the band), and thereby beaten the 13,001 rung on the same bells in February, 1920. Congratulations were extended to the ringers from all over the country, and then came the tragedy. The figures of the peal were published. Every peal has to be composed before being rung and every composition should be proved before being rung. Unfortunately, in this case it was not done satisfactorily, for some of the changes were rung twice, thus invalidating the whole performance.

At the time of the discovery great sympathy was extended to the ringers, but since then a wave of resentment has spread over the country against the action of the band in having the peal recorded on the walls of the church as though it were a true peal. Had the tablet merely recorded the fact that the bells were rung for a certain length of time, no objection could or would have been raised, but as it stands it is untrue in substance and in fact. There are certain laws to be obeyed in ringing as there are in all other pursuits where records are made and broken. For instance, a person would not be allowed to widen the jaws of the pockets of a billiards table and then claim a record for the biggest break if he should happen to break the existing one; nor if he broke the 100 yards running record and the track were measured and found to be short would he be allowed to substantiate his claim to the record. So it is in ringing: one row or change having been rung, it must not be rung again, whether it is intended to ring 5,000 or 20,000.

This is not the first occasion on which a false peal has been rung in the country, but it is the first occasion on which the ringers have not had the good sense to bow to the inevitable. The right thing to do is

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

REOPENING OF WEST HARTLEPOOL BELLS.

A special meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at West Hartlepool on Saturday, November 7th, the occasion being the reopening of St. Oswald's bells after being restored and rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

A service was first held in the church at 3.30 p.m., the Vicar (the Rev. T. H. Lilburn) officiating, assisted by Canon Froggart, of Stockton, Canon Poole, of Christ Church, and the Rev. A. J. Cass, of Horden.

The Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association were well represented, and ringers were present from Saltburn, Ormesby, Middlesbrough, Stockton, St. John's and Holy Trinity, Darlington, Sunderland, Newcastle, Houghton-le-Spring, Gosforth, Jesmond and the local ringers.

There was a large congregation present and all enjoyed the fine service, appropriate hymns being sung by the choir and congregation and an interesting sermon on bells preached by Canon Froggart.

The bells were rung up in peal as the congregation was leaving the church, and short touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were rung until about 5 p.m., after which the ringers wended their way to the Parochial Hall, where a substantial tea awaited them.

A short meeting was held after tea, Mr. R. L. Patterson (vice-president) being in the chair. Mr. Patterson moved a vote of condolence to Miss Stephenson, a local ringer, whose mother had passed away the previous day, the ringers standing in silence for a few moments.

Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy and choir for inviting them to the reopening, and said it was a great pleasure to be present. He recalled happy little incidents of years ago when the Rev. Lilburn was at Sunderland.—The Vicar replied in a humorous vein, and, after giving a brief history of the local bells, said that he could never understand why ringers were always wanting to be at the bells, as, when he went with the local ringers on their annual outings to the various beautiful places that the North Country is noted for, the ringers went straight to the 'musty, stuffy, cobwebby belfry' and stayed there. He called it a busman's holiday.

Mr. J. C. Pollard, president of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for arranging such a splendid tea, and Miss Gladys Robson suitably replied.

Mr. Tom Lancaster and Miss Laura Lancaster were elected life members of the Durham and Newcastle Association.

The next meeting will be held at Sunderland some time in January on a day to be fixed by the vice-president and secretary.

After the meeting the ringers went back to the tower, where various methods were rung. All agreed that the 'go' of the bells is excellent and that the meeting had been a great success.

ABERAVON, GLAM.—On Sunday, October 18th, for morning service, 504 Grandsire Triples, and for evening service and in honour of the visit of the Bishop of Llandaff, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. Williams 1, J. Weathersby 2, A. J. Pitman 3, W. J. Norton 4, E. Stith 5, F. E. Stone 6, C. Hughes 7, C. Jones 8, C. Mathers 9, G. Chappell 10; 504 conducted by E. Stith, quarter-peal by A. J. Pitman.

obvious, i.e., withdraw it and ring it again, after the faulty part has been cut out. The tablet recording the performance should be supplemented by a line stating that the composition of the peal was false.

As an instance of the sort of feeling the action has provoked, the following extract from the speech of a Suffolk clergyman will show:—'I go further, and, as a churchman, I hold that there ought not to be untrue statements put up in the house of God. I have taken part in services in Painswick Church in the past, and had hoped to do so again if I lived. But I do not wish to go into that church now as long as there is that untrue statement on its walls. I will avoid it as I will avoid Gloucestershire.'

It seems to the writer to be a matter for the Chancellor of the Gloucester Diocese. He, apparently, granted the faculty for the erection of the tablet, and took it for granted that what appeared on it would be true. Had he been properly advised of all the circumstances surrounding it, he would probably have made further inquiries before granting it, in the course of which it is conceivable that such evidence would have been adduced as would have justified him in refusing it.

A CENTURY-OLD PEAL RECORDED.OLD RULES FOR RINGING GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Chiddingstone on November 7th and reported in this issue was accomplished after an unsuccessful attempt, which lasted 2 hours 50 minutes, on October 19th, on the occasion of the dedication of a peal board, erected to commemorate a peal rung on the bells in the year 1824, and the record of which was recently discovered by Mr. Philip Hodgkin, the Headcorn veteran, who attended the first meeting of and helped to form the Kent County Association over 50 years ago. He found the record in 'The Kentish Gazette' of October 28th, 1824, at the Beane Institute, Canterbury. It was worded as follows: 'On Thursday evening last was rung at Chiddingstone Holt's Peal of Grandsire Triples, 5,040 changes, in 3 hours and 13 minutes, by the following youths of that place: C. Carpenter treble, William Everest 2, Richard Leigh 3, William Moore 4, John Leigh 5, Thomas Parrott 6, Thomas Hollauby 7, Rd. Marchant tenor. Conducted by William Everest.' Six of the above names have been verified as those of parishioners by the old registers.

Previous to the unsuccessful peal attempt mentioned above, the Rev. R. C. Salmon read a few appropriate prayers and dedicated the new peal board, for which a vote of thanks was accorded to him and also for his survey of the registers.

Previous to this little ceremony there hung in the ringing chamber two peal boards, recording two peals of Grandsire Triples rung in 1848 and 1849 respectively. The writer personally knew the two conductors of these peals, but has no recollection of any of the others who took part. The names of the two conductors were Charles Carpenter and James Payne, and, as a boy, the writer chimed for services with the former, who at that time was sexton and clerk, and rang once with the latter, who, as well as being a ringer, was organist at the same church for 52 years, and has been known to say he could leave the organ easily for the bellry. The old sexton, on being once asked how trade was, made the following quaint reply, 'Everybody lives too long, nobody gets married and consequently no christenings.' It seems as if there were bad times for some in those days. It is quite evident that neither of these conductors knew of this newly-discovered peal, or something would have been heard about it from them, as they would sometimes talk of the peals they had conducted. The headstone in the churchyard of Mr. James Payne shows that he was six months old when the 1824 peal was rung, and Mr. Charles Carpenter was a year or two older, so that the treble man in this peal must have been C. Carpenter, sen.

The present band, which started change ringing in 1894, owes its origin to Mr. James Payne, who furnished them with the rules for Grandsire Triples and tried to explain them, which must have been a difficult task for him, as he was nearing 80 years of age. It would be very interesting to know if the 1824 peal was rung by the same method as the two later ones and many more by the present band, who still hang on to the old method and have no shift courses, which are impossible if one sticks to the method, no course bell needed, or ropesight. As this may be news to many in the Exercise, here are the rules as handed down by Mr. James Payne:—

Rule 1: If you meet treble in treble's place, make 3rd's place, either at a bob or a dodge.

2: If you meet treble in 2nd's place, dodge in the middle, going out with your 2nd and 1st, 2nd, two out behind, then the treble, hunt four more and lead. If a bob be called, make 3rd's place and go in the hunt.

3: If you meet treble in 3rd's place, dodge with your two last twice over, then your first, treble, hunt three more and lead. If a bob be called, bob with the old hunt and 1st old hunt and 2nd old hunt two out behind, then the treble, hunt, four more and lead.

4: If you meet treble in 4th's place, dodge with your 1st and 2nd twice over, then the treble, hunt, two more and lead. If a bob be called, bob with your two last three times over, then your first, treble, hunt, three more and lead.

5: If you meet treble in 5th's place, dodge in the middle, coming home with your 3rd and 4th, 3rd and treble hunt one more and lead. If a bob be called, bob with your 1st and 2nd three times over, then the treble, hunt, two more and lead.

6: If you meet treble in 6th's place, you are in the hunt. If a bob be called, bob in the middle, coming home with your 3rd and 4th, 3rd and 5th, 3rd and treble, hunt, one more and lead.

I have read Mr. Morris' book, 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' and, while so doing, wondered if he might deal with various ways of producing the changes. It is just possible that this conglomeration has not come his way. Some, perhaps, may think it is quite an art to commit to 'memory,' and if they started a young band on this plan they would find out that learning the rules was the stumbling-block. Of course, none of this is needed for cricket or football, with due respect to both, hence the struggle of many bands to be fully equipped. The writer would like to hear if this method of ringing Grandsire is known elsewhere.

There is not the least doubt that the conductor of the 1824 peal was a great-great-uncle to the present conductor, who rang the same bell and conducted the same peal, at the conclusion of which a vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, churchwardens and Church Council for their kindness in defraying the expense of and causing the tablet to be relung.

THE WILL TO TEACH.

Has the Exercise got sufficient reserves to maintain its present standard of efficiency? Are there enough young ringers coming along so that, when the gaps occur, there are men—or women—to fill the breach? The question—by no means new—constantly exercises the minds of those who think of the future of the art, as well as of the present. It is probably correct to say that there are as many ringers to-day as ever there were, but whether there are as many ringers as there used to be in proportion to the number of bells which are hung in the churches, is by no means certain. The activities of the bell founders since the beginning of this century, and particularly in the last ten years, has been almost amazing, and rings of bells have increased in number and in size (by augmentation) at a greater pace than at any other time in history. Has the numerical strength of the ringers increased on the same scale? New peals of bells create new centres of enthusiasm, and, usually, new bands of ringers, but they do not all become a permanent addition to the Exercise. The chief cause of any falling-off there may be in the ranks of ringers, however, is the lack of a continual supply of recruits for every band. In far too many cases the absence of one or two ringers from a service or practice means that the bells cannot be fully manned; companies are content to go on without recruits as long as there are enough to ring all the bells when all the company are present. In many cases, of course, bands are permanently under strength and never get all the bells rung for service unless with the casual help of visitors. This is a state of things much to be regretted, but can it be remedied? In isolated cases, perhaps, the situation may be hopeless, however keen the remaining ringers may be, but we find it difficult to imagine circumstances, given four or five enthusiastic ringers, under which a full band could not be built up and maintained. The youth of the present age is difficult to enlist in such a task as bellringing—largely because he does not know the fascination of it when he has really begun to fathom some of its mysteries—but the greatest drawback is not always so much the lack of desire to learn on the part of young people as the absence of will to teach on the part of many who could really do a great deal, but are disinclined to do anything. Attached to every tower there ought to be at least half as many ringers again as there are bells to be rung, and even this is all too small a margin. "Where are we to get the recruits?" is a question that will be asked by some who have not taken the trouble to look around. The answer depends a good deal on local circumstances, but there are organisations in most parishes which ought to be able to furnish the comparatively small numbers who would be needed to keep the ringers' ranks full—youths and men upon whom the Church has influence, and who, if the claims of the belfry were put before them, and if there were offered efficient instruction and adequate opportunity, would readily grasp this means of rendering service. Recently we referred to the example of Aldershot, where the chief recruiting ground is among the choir boys, a method which serves a double purpose: the belfry benefits by the reserves of ringers which are built up; the church benefits by retaining the interest of the youths, instead of, as is so often the case, losing touch with them when they can no longer take their place in the choir. The tactful help of the incumbent is of great value through whatever channel recruiting is done, but first and foremost is the great need that the ringers themselves should be willing to give time and patience to the teaching. Many of the half-empty belfries could be filled with a little determination and self-

ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN, GUILD.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's, Holborn, Guild took place on Saturday in the Court House. Fifteen members sat down to a meat tea, kindly provided for by the Rev. E. C. and Mrs. Bedford. At the business meeting which followed the officers were elected for the ensuing year, viz.: Ringing Master, Mr. W. J. Norton; secretary, Mr. J. S. Hawkins; treasurer, Mr. W. J. Norton. Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. and Mrs. Bedford for their kindness in providing tea. Handbell ringing and songs by Mr. and Mrs. Froings and Mr. T. Benney helped to make a most successful evening.

CAMDON SURPRISE.

MR. LINDOFF'S NEW COMBINATION METHOD.

A new method, in which Cambridge and London Surprise have been combined, has been produced by Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, and the first peal was rung at Leiston on Saturday. The work in front is Cambridge work and that at the back is London—hence the name, Cam-don.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. William T. Cockerill begs to thank most heartily all those brother ringers who have so kindly expressed their sympathy and good wishes in his prolonged illness.

Mr. C. W. Roberts points out that the touch of 1,280 Double Norwich on page 121 of the 'Ringers' Directory' contains a repetition of changes in the first and ninth courses. Attention is drawn by another correspondent to the first 252 Stedman Triples on page 110 of the Directory. It contains a repetition of one of the plain-course sizes.

The annual general meeting of the Royal Cumberland Youths will be held at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on Saturday, January 16th. There will be ringing at Shoreditch from 2 till 4 p.m. and afterwards at headquarters.

Mr. James George has received so many letters of congratulation upon his complete recovery from his recent illness that he finds it impossible to reply to them individually. He, however, desires to thank sincerely all those who have sent him such kindly messages.

By the way, Mr. George will be 78 years old next Friday.

The conductor of the peal at Kinver, recorded last week, was Frederick Handley, and it was his first attempt.

STEDMAN'S AND CARTER'S PRINCIPLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In effect, the 'Mad Hatter's' letter is answered by Mr. Groombridge. Theoretically, a method can start anywhere in the Plain Course, but practically in methods with a treble hunt, musical considerations compel a start at the treble's back-stroke lead. This naturally does not apply to Stedman, and, in fact, peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques go off at all possible points both in slow and quick sizes. And why not?

Supposing that the Stedman principle were a new thing to-day and was going to be practised for the first time, it would undoubtedly be set out with the start at either a quick or slow six-end. And so it would appear in all textbooks, as indeed is the case with the Erin variation. But what would be said—above all in this centenary year—if a proposal were made that in future 'Stedman' should always start, except when there was a special need for alteration, at a quick six-end?

With the reverse variation there is no such ancient traditional cause for an artificial starting place, and there is no sufficient reason for preserving the strangeness of the original go off. This is an instance where both parties in the little controversy in the 'Mad Hatter's' belfry were both right and wrong, right in their contention that the start they recommended was correct, but wrong in condemning the other party's view.

Some three or four years ago the Methods Committee explained to the Central Council that the purpose of the change in the arrangement of 'Carter' was to exhibit its close relationship with 'Stedman,' a relationship which was (apparently deliberately) concealed by Mr. Carter when he first published the figures. I venture to think that the ordinary ringer will find the resemblance more easily in the Collection than in Mr. Baker's rearrangement.—Yours, etc.,

Clyst St. George, Exeter.

E. S. POWELL.

THE MINOR METHOD COLLECTION.

Sir,—As your correspondent (that very clever and well-informed person who calls himself 'The Mad Hatter') knows, one of the chief difficulties in arranging the Collection of Minor Methods was to get everything in in the minimum of space. We had to assume that readers would know the usual simple laws of variation and that there is no reason why Stedman cannot be started at any change in the Six. The ordinary variation was given in the ordinary way, which shows a symmetrical Twelve. The reverse was given by alternate Sixes. The same plan was adopted with Carter, in that case partly to show its relationship to Stedman. With regard to the first part of his letter, may I say I have written dozens of letters explaining points connected with this collection, but do not feel obliged to take notice of what are really attempts to find fault under the pretence of asking for information.—Yours, etc.,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

DEATH OF MR. HARRY EGBY, OF READING.

It is with deep regret that we record the death of one of Reading's oldest ringers, Mr. Harry Egby, who passed away on Sunday, November 8th, at the age of 74 years.

The funeral took place on Thursday, November 12th, at the Reading Cemetery, a plain course of Grandsire Triples being rung on handbells at the graveside after the committal by A. Wiggins 1-2, L. T. Osborne 3-4, Miss P. Holloway 5-6, H. A. Osborne 7-8.

In the evening at St. Giles' Church, with the bells half-muffled, 672 Stedman Triples by W. Osborne 1, A. W. Osborne (conductor) 2, J. Swain 3, L. T. Osborne 4, A. Bailey 5, H. A. Osborne 6, A. Jeffery 7, H. Simmonds 8. Also 224 changes of Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Egby was a member of the St. Giles' Society, Reading, for very many years, and will no doubt be remembered by ringers all over the country. He still enjoyed ringing up to a few weeks of his death. He will be missed very much amongst all ringers in Reading and district.

THE STEDMAN TRICENTENARY.

MAKE DECEMBER 5th A DAY OF NATIONAL CELEBRATION.

Cambridge will be the 'Mecca' of ringers from all parts of the country on Saturday, December 5th, when the tricentenary of the birth of Fabian Stedman will be commemorated by a service of thanksgiving in St. Benedict's Church, where Stedman learned to ring, and where the restored bells and a memorial tablet will be dedicated.

Arrangements are being made to secure the comfort of all who notify their intention of being present and to provide them with a programme which should be full of interest. Cambridge itself offers many attractions, and facilities are being provided to enable visiting ringers to make a tour of the most interesting colleges, chapels and other places in the town. The bells of various churches will be open for ringing, but the central event of the day's proceedings will take place at St. Benedict's Church in the afternoon.

The thanksgiving service will begin at 3 o'clock, and admission up to 2.50 p.m. will be by ticket only. The memorial tablet is to be unveiled by Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, and the dedication of the completed work will be performed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Price (Archdeacon of Ely). The opening 120 of Stedman Doubles will be rung by a representative band, and the sermon, which will follow, will be preached by the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge. After the service, the bells will be available for visiting ringers, but in order that those who have notified their intention of being present may have preference, tickets will be issued for this purpose. Those without tickets will have to wait for their opportunity of ringing.

The hours during which the other bells in and around Cambridge will be available will be announced next week in 'The Ringing World.'

Special facilities for luncheons and teas are being kindly provided by the authorities of Corpus Christi College, in the College Dining Hall. Meals will be provided only for ticket holders. As the last day for receiving applications for luncheon and tea tickets is Tuesday next, November 24th, those who desire to obtain them should send a postcard to-day for an application form to

The Stedman Tricentenary Secretary,
'The Ringing World' Office,
Woking, Surrey.

A large room at the Lion Hotel, Cambridge, has been reserved for use throughout the day, where ringers can make rendezvous with their friends; handbells will be available, and refreshments obtained during the usual hours.

There are still a few promised donations unpaid. Will subscribers kindly send these at once to the hon. treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading?

In connection with the commemoration a "Souvenir" booklet is to be published.

There will, of course, be many thousands of ringers who will be unable to attend the proceedings at Cambridge, but it is open to them all to join in the commemoration. We suggest that on the afternoon of Saturday, December 5th, they should ring the bells of their own churches—in peals or touches in the Stedman method, if possible. By this means the celebration of the event would be made 'national' in the truest sense of the word, for bells throughout the land would be joining simultaneously in the commemoration. As we suggested in our leading article a few weeks ago, public emphasis would be given to the event, if ringers could induce incumbents to announce this special ringing to the congregations at the services on the previous Sunday. A few brief notes for this purpose will be given in our next issue.

We also suggest that, wherever possible, a peal of Stedman—Doubles, Triples, Caters or Cinques—should be rung either in the week preceding or following December 5th, if it cannot be rung on the actual date of the commemoration.

RINGING ARRANGEMENTS.

For those travelling by road, ringing can be arranged at any of the following towers en route to or from Cambridge:—

Huntingdon, St. Mary's	(8)	Morning and evening.
Godmanchester	(8)	" "
Newmarket, All Saints'	(8)	" "
Newmarket, St. Mary's	(6)	" "
Fulbourn	(8)	" "
Bourn	(8)	Morning only.
Royston	(8)	Morning and evening.
Sawston	(8)	" "
Stapleford	(6)	" "

There is a good train and bus service between Shelford and Cambridge.

It is essential that any who wish to take advantage of ringing at either of the towers should advise the secretary of the Tricentenary Commemoration not later than Tuesday, December 1st.

The ringing arrangements in Cambridge will be announced next week.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The case for the continuity of the Society of College Youths is not nearly so weak as Canon Coleridge (if I understand him aright) seems to think. The membership never was reduced to only two or three—one bishop, one priest and one layman. On the contrary, the crucial years 1756 to 1788 were one of the two most brilliant periods in the society's history. It is a bold thing to say and cannot actually be proved, but I believe that the annual dinner was not missed in any one year from 1637 right down till to-day. (I do not remember what happened during the last war.) And after 1788 there were several in the company whose membership was in an unbroken succession from the time of Annable. That would be an unanswerable argument if it did not prove too much. For all these old ringers used to quarrel and go from one society to another, so that there was scarcely one of any account who had not belonged, at some time or other, to every one of the principal companies in London. If the membership argument is valid, then the present society can claim that it is the successor and representative of nearly all the important extinct London companies. And, in a sense, that is true, because for many years the College Youths did not teach ringers, but took its members ready made from other bodies. Many a famous society had to die that the College Youths might live, and this went on until the supply dried up. All the rival companies except the Cumberlands were absorbed, and a period of decadence and decay set in.

The real difficulty is that in these changes there was a distinct and definite breach of official continuity. To adapt Canon Coleridge's simile, it was as if the Church had kept its continuity of membership and lost its Apostolic Succession. Whether such a succession is as important in a ringing society as in a Church is not for me to say. I know what I should maintain were I a College Youth. My only concern as a mere historian is to state the simple truth of what did happen. It must not be forgotten that these old societies consisted (apart from their country members) of one band, and any member who joined another band ceased automatically to belong to his original society.

Mr. Young referred to Dick Whittington, and said truly that I had challenged the reality of his connection with the College Youths. I have been able to find out quite a lot about the first College Youths and the general conditions under which the society was founded; and it is impossible to come to any other conclusion than that it had nothing whatever to do with Sir Richard Whittington, or with his College, or with College Hill, or with any church therein. The full story is too long to give here and now, but I will state a few of the most important facts.

(1) Whittington's College was dissolved and the buildings pulled down in 1547—ninety years before the College Youths were founded. (2) College Hill was not so named until it was rebuilt after the fire of 1666, when the College Youths had already been established for 29 years.

(3) There is no evidence that there ever was a peal of bells at St. Michael's, Peter-noster Royal, and the evidence for there having been six bells at St. Martin Vintry is (to put it mildly) very poor.

(4) The first College Youths were not literally youths at all, nor were they students at Whittington's College or any other college. Lord Breerton, the first Master, was a man 26 years old at the time. Captain John Harrison was somewhere about 50 and had spent an eventful life in many parts of the world. John Houghton was a tradesman. The second Master, who is called in the society's hand-book Sir Cliff Clifton, was a cadet of a wealthy country family, Clifford Clifton by name. He was 22 years old when the society was founded and did not receive his knighthood till many years after, in the reign of Charles II.

The original records of the society have long since disappeared, but we can tell what they were like from the extant records of the Scholars of Cheapside and from a manuscript I have discovered in the British Museum relating to the Society of Esquire Youths, a distinguished company, the memory of which has utterly been forgotten by the Exercise. They were purely secular bodies formed for the purpose of practising ringing as a sport. They had no connection with any particular church, but went from tower to tower as they found it convenient.

As has been the custom of sports clubs in all ages, they gave themselves fancy names. Modern footballers call themselves rovers or wanderers or such like; these old ringers called themselves Scholars or Youths. The words 'College Youths' mean literally schoolboys, and the society took that name in the same spirit that the modern football club calls itself the Corinthians. But wherever it came from, it is an exceedingly fine title.

Mr. Young pleaded that a 'little legend' should be allowed among the 'dry facts' of ringing history. With the greatest respect, I altogether dissent. All along ringers have been somewhat given to inventing what Jasper Snowdon called 'absurd legends' and William Loughton called 'damned unaccountable lies,' and the mischief is not only that they are not true, but that they create false values, and in some instances do real harm.

The use of history is to show us how to deal with present-day problems in the light of the past. The Exercise, far more than most

DEVON RING AUGMENTED.

LITTLE PARISH'S GREAT EFFORT.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. have restored the bells at Exbourne Parish Church, Devon, and have added a treble to increase the ring to six. The old bells were retuned and quarter turned, the old clapper staples have been drilled out and new ones provided, all the bells having been also hung on ball bearings in a new cast iron frame, which in its arrangement has lessened the strain on the tower from the thrust of the bells.

The five original bells were cast in 1768 by the Penningtons; the tenor is over 8 cwt. The notes and inscriptions are: E flat, 'God save the King'; D flat, 'God preserve the Church'; C, 'Peace and good neighbourhood'; B flat, Joseph Row, C.W., and Simon Westlake, S.M.; A flat, Anthony Tripe, Rector I.P., 1768. 'I call the quick to Church and dead to grave.' S.M. signifies sidesman. The Penningtons had their headquarters in Cornwall, first at Lozant and afterwards at Stoke Climsland. One of them, FitzAnthony Pennington, was drowned in the very year in which the old Exbourne bells were cast while crossing the Anthony ferry with a bell for Landulph Church in Cornwall.

The new treble, presented by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tattershall and the Misses Tattershall, well-known residents of Exbourne, in memory of their parents, weighs just over 4 cwt. and is inscribed: 'Edmund Tattershall, obit. 1884—Ursula Tattershall, obit. 1919.' The total cost of the restoration scheme has been about £320, and practically the whole amount had been raised when the bells were reopened and the treble dedicated on Saturday, October 31st, by the Bishop of Crediton. It is noteworthy, says 'The Devon and Exeter Daily Gazette,' that during the previous two years £500 was collected for the purpose of installing an organ. Thus, with the scheme just accomplished, and renovation work at the church, nationisers and friends have subscribed nearly £1,000. The population is in the neighbourhood of 300. This satisfactory result has not been attained without a great deal of extra labour on the part of the Rector (the Rev. E. J. White), whose wholehearted efforts have been ably seconded throughout by the churchwardens (Messrs. J. D. Lewis and R. W. Chappell).

The Rector conducted the dedication service, and among the clergy present were the Rev. E. S. Powell, president of the Devonshire Guild.

The Bishop of Crediton, in his address, said that all through the ages bells had been used for the great purpose of calling people to the worship of God. It could not be too clearly impressed that the belfry was part of the church, and that bellringing was part of the work of the Church of God. Ringers should, therefore, always remember that the belfry was a hallowed place, and behave accordingly. They should also be quite clear as to the purpose of their ringing. There was no more beautiful thing in Devon than the sound of bells pealing, but ringers must remember that bells were not provided merely to please them, but to bear witness to God. Of course, those who rang them should realise 'they were calling themselves to worship as they called others.' He thought the great purpose of bells was to remind those who could not attend church that they could join in prayer so that the witness of God could be kept in the hearts of men in their daily work.

Psalm 150 was followed by the hymn, 'O praise ye the Lord,' during which the Bishop and clergy walked to the tower, where prayers were intoned, and Mr. Tattershall handed the rope of the new bell to the Rector, who accepted it. The churchwardens then handed the rope to the Bishop, and asked for his blessing. After the prayer of consecration the sexton (Mr. T. Fairchild) rang the bell. His Lordship charged the Rector with the care of the bells, and the clergy returned to their stalls. The augmented ring was handled for the first time by the Dolton ringers, and the service closed with the hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven.'

Ringings were afterwards continued for four or five hours by bands from Newton St. Cyres, Brampford Speke, Cockington, Okehampton, Hatherleigh, Idlesleigh, Sampford Courtenay, Broadwoodkelly and other places.

thing, is what it is, because of what it was. The problems of to-day had their rise as far back as the 18th century or further. Real progress consists in knowing what to keep and what to change. The Exercise owes a big debt of gratitude to the Society of College Youths for the tenacity with which it has clung to old traditions; but there is another side of the picture, and the fact that London ringers utterly failed to do anything towards that movement of reform which during the last 50 years has so wonderfully improved everything connected with ringers and ringing is simply because they lived and acted in the 19th century as if the conditions of the 18th century still existed.

Mr. George Fletcher, in his interesting and timely speech, touched on what is a striking example of this. He complained of the lack of social feeling in London, a strange charge to bring against a society which throughout its long history has, more than any other, cultivated the social side of ringing. And does so still. The trouble is that its ideals in the matter are those of the 18th century, when every society was a small exclusive body where the members lived on the closest terms of social intercourse with each other, and treated all outsiders with suspicion and antagonism. The wider social spirit of to-day is, as Mr. J. S. Goldsmith said, due to the provincial territorial associations.—Yours sincerely,
J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

DOUBLE NORWICH MAJOR COMPOSITIONS. TWO MINDS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT.

While several well-known composers were seeking a peal of Double Norwich Major, with all combinations of 4, 5 and 6 in 5-6, without the 2nd or 3rd in 6th's place and with two singles only, in less than 5,376 changes, one such composition, the work of a tyro, lay hidden in a notebook for fear of trespassing on well-trodden ground. After the explanations that appeared in our issue of November 7th, Mr. Nolan Golden sent us the letter and composition given below, the peal having been composed towards the end of 1927.

Mr. C. W. Roberts has also given us the figures of his peal, presumed at the time, from lack of evidence to the contrary, to be the first of this particular kind. Examination will show that the two peals have precisely the same calling, begun from different points.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I must apologise for getting excited over Double Norwich compositions. I was almost certain that such productions as mentioned had been in existence. In fact, in this city we have between us a goodly array, mainly brought out as curiosities, not daring to trespass on well-trodden ground.

I find, however, that I have one of the kind you now mention, one of my first efforts at stringing up courses. It has not been 'put over' any company for the reason aforesaid.—Yours faithfully,

NOLAN GOLDEN.

AN INQUIRY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will someone in authority inform me if, say, 5,040 of Stedman Cinques coming home at hand would be in order, seeing that a start had to be made at back-stroke.—Yours,

'A NOVICE.'

SUCCESSFUL NORTH HERTS MEETING.

A well-attended meeting was held at Hitchin on Saturday, November 14th. Over 40 members were present, representing all divisions of the county, Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire, and visitors from afar included Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cross and Mr. Stone, from Nuneaton. The bells were raised about 3 p.m., and methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise, whereby the many visitors were given the opportunity of ringing their favourite method. Tea was served at the Grange—and a very excellent tea, too. The lady helpers, Mesdames Fidler and Else, waited at table, and checked the course ends—not as they 'came up,' but as they went down!

A short business meeting followed, the Vicar of Hitchin (the Rev. R. F. B. Routh) in the chair. Baldock was chosen as the place for the next meeting, with Royston as an alternative. Two new members were elected, C. Saunders, of Stovenage, and H. W. Conquest, of King's Walden.

A short service was conducted in the church by the Vicar, and further ringing took place until 9 p.m.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at North Bradley on Saturday, November 7th, when, in spite of the weather, quite a good number took part in the ringing, which was carried out in a variety of methods. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. D. M. Davys), and Mr. F. Wheeler, one of the local ringers, was the organist. Tea followed in the Village Reading Room, to which 27 sat down, including the Vicar and representatives from Devizes (St. John and St. Mary), Bratton, Warminster, Rowde, Melksham, Holt, Mere, North Bradley and Clifton, Bristol.

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, who extended a hearty welcome to all, and especially to the visitors.

The secretary reported that he had received an application from the North Bradley ringers for a course of instruction in change ringing, and the meeting unanimously decided to recommend this application for the sanction of the general secretary.

The next monthly meeting will be held at Market Lavington on December 5th.

It was decided to arrange with Mr. C. F. Andrews, of Trowbridge, for the next lecture on 'Ringing,' to be given at Trowbridge, if convenient, about the middle of November.

The Vicar said how pleased they were to have a visit of the Devizes Branch at North Bradley, and assured the Guild of a hearty welcome at all times.

The usual votes of thanks from the chair brought the meeting to a close and a move was made to the tower for more ringing. By this time darkness had fallen and the rain was splashing down, but the bells rang merrily till about 8 p.m. The following methods were rung during the afternoon and evening: Cambridge Surprise, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles. On their way home the Melksham, Rowde and Devizes ringers halted at Hilberton for about 40 minutes. Touches of Cambridge and Plain Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung on this light peal (tenor 7½ cwt.), thanks to Mr. W. J. Mees, the local captain, who had everything ready.

STEDMAN TERCENTENARY ARRANGEMENTS.

'THE PAINSWICK PEAL'To the Editor.

Sir,—I have just read Mr. W. A. Cave's letter, in which he says: 'On November 8th, 1930, a band of ringers met at Painswick, Gloucestershire, and rang upon the "12" bells of St. Mary's Church a peal of what was thought to be 17,687 true changes of Grandsire Cinqus in 11 hours 36 minutes. Had the peal been true, it would have taken its place as the longest peal on "11" bells,' etc. For goodness sake let us drop this '11' bell talk, as you cannot leave Mr. George out of that great performance, unfortunate as it turned out to be. It is 12 bells and should have been recorded as the longest length in the method. Personally, I looked upon that peal as a marvellous performance, because, and I know the 'crank' ringers will agree, it would take as much energy as the peal of Cambridge Maximus. When you put the two bands together, let me ask any of the gentlemen who rang the Maximus which they would sooner go for? I could picture half of the band being asleep after two or three hours, and I consider that's the strain: to keep awake! The tablet placed in the church is ridiculous as it reads. Not many years ago a certain horse won our great English Derby, but for doing something wrong in the race was disqualified. So this peal must go, but it is 12 bells.

JOHN JAGGAR.

THE PAINSWICK PEAL AND THE SUFFOLK GUILD RESOLUTION.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Drake may say what he likes about rows and changes, I am not concerned with his views on the matter. As a member of the Suffolk Guild, however, I am concerned with the resolution, or recommendation, to 'remove from' the Guild any member who continues to approve of the words 17,687 changes. If I am wrong in interpreting 'remove from' as meaning 'expel,' I wish he would tell me so, and not stray from the only point in his resolution that I have ever criticised. Whatever members may think of the action of the Painswick band, they certainly do not deserve to be threatened with removal from the Suffolk Guild if their views on rows and changes do not coincide with those that Mr. Drake holds. If his resolution has any other meaning, I shall be glad to hear of it; after that he can say anything he wishes about rows, changes, duplicates, etc., and I shall not trouble to contradict him.—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT.

The district meeting at Banstead on Saturday week enabled some to pay their first visit to this extreme point of the diocese, among them being Admiral and Mrs. T. P. Walker, of Woking, and Mr. Alexander, of Farnborough. Ringing commenced about 3 o'clock, stopping at 4.30 when the Guild's service was conducted by the Rev. Matthews, in the absence of the Rector, Canon Skene, who was attending a conference.

Tea at the Victoria Hotel followed, 24 sitting down. Afterwards came the business meeting, Admiral Walker being in the chair. The principal business was the nomination of district officers, the retiring officials being renominated, with the addition of Messrs. A. R. Pink, F. G. Woodhiss and W. J. Whiting as General Committee representatives.

The Chairman also moved a resolution, 'That this meeting expresses a wish that the Master and general secretary of the Guild will continue to "carry on" for another year,' and this was given the meeting's whole support.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. Matthews, Canon Skene, the organist and choirboys and the chairman concluded the business, and, in responding, Admiral Walker said that he had been looking forward to this visit to Banstead for a long time.

The tower was then revisited and the bells kept going until 8.30 by ringers from Ashted, Cobham, Dorking, Croydon, Buckland, Leatherhead, Sutton, Farnborough, Woking and the local band.

THE BELLS OF SELLY OAK.RESTORATION TAKEN IN HAND.

Owing to their unsafe condition, it has not been possible to ring the bells at St. Mary's Church, Selly Oak, Birmingham, since 1922, but a scheme has been undertaken for their restoration, jointly with the provision of a Church Hut, which is needed principally as a centre for the activities of the juvenile organisations of the parish. The total cost of the combined schemes will be about £750, of which £350 is required for the bells. Up to the end of October £465 had been contributed, of which about £200 is to be devoted to the bells.

The work of dismantling the bells was begun last week. They are to be taken to the Croydon Foundry, where they will be cleaned, tuned and quarter turned. They will be rehung in a new iron frame.

Towards the balance that is required donations will be welcomed by the Church Council. They may be sent to Mr. F. W. Leonard, 1, Lodge Hill Road, Selly Oak, Birmingham, or to Mr. W. B. Cartwright, 81, Quinton Road, Harborne, Birmingham, hon. secretary to the Council and Ringing Master.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Peterborough and Oundle Branches of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at St. Mary's, Peterborough, on Saturday, November 7th, and was well attended by members and friends from Peterborough, Oundle, Warrington, Nasington, Stamford, Surfleet, Polebrooke, etc. Service was in St. Mary's Church, when the Vicar gave a very interesting address and also welcomed the ringers there.

Tea was afterwards supplied at the Dujon Cafe, a company of 29 sitting down. There was no business meeting. Some good ringing took place in the evening, which ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Surprise. Thanks were expressed to the Vicar for the use of bells, and also the organist, who helped to make the afternoon so enjoyable.

BRISTOL'S RINGING HISTORY.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. W. A. Cave, what he read in 'The Ringing World' nearly two years ago respecting the excellent work done by James Hinton, 'ESPECIALLY IN THE HIGHER METHODS,' I presume, refers to the remarks made by the chairman at the Bristol United Ringing Guilds' dinner on January 18th, 1930.

The statement was: 'In Bristol they looked back with pride on the ability of J. W. Hinton, a forerunner' (the forerunner was meant to be conveyed) 'in the practice of the higher scientific methods.' The great bulk of Bristol ringers think so to-day. It would be better for Mr. Cave, also, to quote chapter and verse for his statements.—Yours faithfully,
W. H. THOMAS.

Sir,—There is only one member of the ringing fraternity who would challenge the authenticity of the article given in your issue of October 30th, and his records of the 'History of Bristol Bells' will, therefore, be incomplete.—Yours faithfully,
EDGAR GUISE, B.U.R.G.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

RINGERS' MAGNIFICENT EFFORT.

After nearly eleven months' work we are approaching the consummation of one of the most interesting events in ringing history. Next week the Exercise will celebrate the tercentenary of the birth of Fabian Stedman, and will mark the commemoration by the dedication of the work carried out at St. Benedict's Church, Cambridge, for which it has so readily and generously provided funds. Never before have ringers collectively attempted so ambitious a scheme. A Saxon tower in danger of disintegration has been restored and rendered safe for, it is hoped, centuries to come; the bells on which Stedman learned to ring and the frame in which they swung even before his days have been made once more fit for service; indeed, it is not too much to say that never in the whole course of their history were they so well hung as they now are, with all the modern engineering skill which is to-day employed in the craft of the bell hanger. It is a truly great undertaking that has been carried out, and one that is worthy of the fraternity to which we all belong and of which Stedman has been and will remain one of the most conspicuous figures.

Few of the great worthies among ringers of the past have ever had a tangible memorial raised to them; indeed, except in name, there is little left to remind us of who or what these men were. They lived their day; they made their mark upon the art, and, departing, have been almost if not entirely forgotten. Stedman was among the earliest pioneers of change ringing. What was known of the art before his days was little enough, and had it not been for his efforts to preserve and expand the knowledge that then existed, who can say how long its development might have been delayed? Stedman himself, when he wrote 'Tintinnalogia,' tells us that he did so in order that what was known might not be lost and obscured, and but for his labours little might have been done for quite another century. The advances which grew out of his work for the art began to manifest themselves in various parts of the country, and while peals, as we know them, were not rung until after Stedman's death, it was the stimulus which he gave to the science and the foundation which he laid and upon which his successors worked, that eventually enabled the early ringers to set up new landmarks in the art. Despite all this, however, Stedman might have passed out of memory, as many others have done in the passage of time, but for the fact that his name remained associated with one of the many methods which he produced, a method which, with the exception of Grandsire, has proved the greatest attraction to ringers for generations, and is still regarded as the high-water mark in odd-bell ringing.

Fabian Stedman has, happily, never been entirely forgotten, and is now to be permanently commemorated at the church with which he was for long actively associated, where he was not only a ringer but also parish clerk, and where his interest in ringing developed into an enthusiasm which was fraught with so much benefit to the Exercise. Ringers of Great Britain, Ireland and overseas have risen magnificently to the opportunity which this tercentenary year has provided, and a great scheme of restoration has been carried out. The unfortunate delay, which was no fault of those responsible for the work, may interfere somewhat with the size of the gathering at Cambridge next week—December is not as inviting as September for an excursion—but the national character of the celebration will be in no way impaired, for many who cannot visit Stedman's church will join in the commemoration by special ringing on their own bells, and thus throughout the country Stedman's memory will be fittingly honoured.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.INTERESTING PEAK DISTRICT MEETING.

A very pleasant meeting of the Peak District was held at Darley Dale on Saturday, about 20 ringers turning up from Bakewell, Chendale, Darley Dale, Dore, Eyam, Kingsley, Matlock, Morton and Norton-on-the-Moors. The musical ring of eight bells (tenor about 16 cwt.) were kept going at intervals from 3 to 8 p.m., with varying success in Cambridge, Double Norwich, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, and Stedman and Grandsire Triples. A substantial tea was partaken of, presided over by the Rector, the Rev. R. Griffiths. A short informal business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. W. P. Wright, of Eyam.

It was decided to have no meeting in December, the next to be the annual meeting at Bakewell in January, the arrangements for which were left with the secretary.

Suggestions were invited for the jubilee meeting of the M.C.A. at Derby next Easter.

A welcome to the Rector of Darley, extended by the Rev. W. P. Wright, was replied to by the former in a graceful speech, in which he referred to the pleasure and privilege of being present, to his love of the bells of England, and to his appreciation of the calling of a ringer and to the qualities necessary for proficiency.

A welcome to a number of ringing friends from North Staffordshire was proposed by the secretary, and was replied to in a racy speech by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, who stated that they had had a cold ride over the moors from near Stoke-on-Trent, but it was well worth it and that they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves. He concluded with some good advice to learners, and to ringers generally to support in a more generous measure 'The Ringing World.'

SUDDEN DEATH OF COVENTRY RINGER.

The Stoke, Coventry, band of ringers lost their oldest member (in years of service) by the death of William George Webster, which occurred with tragic suddenness on Sunday, November 14th, last. Decensed, who had never had a day's illness in his 47 years of life, left his home early on Sunday morning, and within a few hundred yards collapsed and died.

He had been a member of the Stoke band for 30 years and was one of the original members of the Warwickshire Guild.

The funeral took place in Stoke Churchyard on Thursday, November 19th, when a course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by E. Sibley, F. W. Perrens, F. Pervin and J. Taylor. In the evening a peal in the same method was rung half-muffled on the bells he loved so well.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We are glad to say that Mr. W. T. Cockerill is gradually recovering from his illness.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, who had to enter Wallasey Cottage Hospital for treatment for blood poisoning, had a relapse after leaving the hospital and had to return. He is, however, now making satisfactory progress, and is looking forward to being able to attend the Stedman Commemoration gathering at Cambridge.

By a peal rung at Lavenham on Saturday, November 14th, the ringer of the treble completed the circle from tenor to treble in the last eight peals rung on the bells.

Mr. H. Argyle, a member of the Central Council for the Warwickshire Guild, is in the nursing home at Attleborough, Nuneaton, having undergone an operation. His many ringing friends will be pleased to know he is making fairly good progress and hoping to be home in a few days.

As last year, the St. Paul's Cathedral band, furnished by the College Youths, rang for afternoon service on Monday last, the occasion being the annual service on St. Cecilia's Day, St. Cecilia being the patron saint of music. The service had additional and special music. It was also attended by one of the old City Companies—the Musicians.

The peal rung at St. Ebbe's Church, Oxford, on November 5th, was Oxford Bob Major and not Oxford Treble Bob, as printed in the report in our columns. The ringer of the 4th in the peal at Harlow Common on November 5th was Frank Creasey. In the peal at Writtle on November 11th the ringers of the 2nd and 4th were W. R. Thrift and R. C. Thrift respectively, not Shift as printed.

The many friends of Mr. T. R. Dennis, of Cambridge, will regret to learn that he is suffering from a severe nervous breakdown.

The Guildford Diocesan Guild propose to hold their second annual dinner on Saturday, January 9th.

Owing to pressure on our space, we have been compelled to hold over letters from the Rev. H. Drake, 'The Mad Hatter' and Mr. George Baker.

RINGING IN BRISTOL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Just a few lines in answer to your correspondents.

(1) To Mr. Jaggard: The letter I wrote about the Painswick peal was not intended in the first place for the experts who read 'The Ringing World,' but for those who might be able to right the wrong, i.e., the incumbent of Painswick and the Chancellor of the Gloucester Diocese, as well as those inhabitants of the neighbourhood who, I know, were interested in the performance. Had I written it for 'The Ringing World' I should have given my reasons, one of which, I may say, is that Grandsire should not be rung on even numbers.

(2) To Mr. Thomas: If there is any statement of mine which requires confirmation I will do my best to supply it. I will write the history of Bristol ringing during the time I mentioned showing the advance in efficiency and quality and the men responsible for it, on condition that I write the history of the decline of the same since the foundation of the B.U.R.G. and the men responsible for it.

(3) To Mr. Guise: Read my letter again and then write something in answer to it. I made it quite clear that the part of the article I doubted was that relating to practice of a certain class of method. I wrote, 'My history of ringing in Bristol': a totally different thing to the 'History of Bristol bells,' a subject which does not interest me in the least.

Finally, Sir, about this 'will to teach.' If you lived in Bristol you would soon learn something about the 'will to allow others to teach.'

W. A. CAVE.

ARCHDEACONRY OF ELY OFFICERS.

The quarterly meeting of the Archdeaconry of Ely branch was held at Fulbourn on Saturday, when ringers were present from Bearstead (Kent), Cambridge, Dunmow, Elmdon, Exning, Fulbourn, Ickleton, Melbourn, Newmarket, Newton, Sawston, Shelford, Stetchworth and Trumpington. The bells were set going at 3 p.m. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. T. H. Hennessy), with Mr. H. J. Hazel at the organ. Afterwards the company were entertained to tea at the Six Bells, by the generosity of the Rector, who took the chair for the business meeting.

Mr. A. E. Austin had expressed his wish to resign the District Mastership, so Mr. B. D. Buttress kindly consented to undertake the office. Miss Willers was re-elected district secretary. Messrs. Austin, Hazel, Hibbins, Twitchett and Webb were appointed on the committee.

It was decided to visit the five-bell tower of Barton on January 2nd. Mr. Faux, of Cambridge, and Mr. Thurlow, of Dunmow, were elected members.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for granting the use of the bells, for taking the service and for providing the tea. In replying, the Rev. T. H. Hennessy said he always found pleasure in entertaining ringers at Fulbourn.

Various Minor, Triple and Major methods were rung during the afternoon and evening.

THE STEDMAN TRICENTENARY. PROGRAMME FOR NEXT WEEK'S CELEBRATION.

The work on the tower and bells at St. Benedict's Church, Cambridge, is practically completed, and the dedication next Saturday week will take place in the presence of a representative body of ringers who are coming from all parts of the country to join in the proceedings. Not the least interesting link with Fabian Stedman will be the presence of official representatives of the Ancient Society of College Youths, of which Stedman was not only a member but also Steward in 1668 and Master in 1682.

The service will begin at three o'clock, and seats will be reserved for ticket holders up to 2.50 p.m. The service will follow evensong up to the second lesson, when a procession to the tower, which is at the west end of the church, will be formed. Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, will unveil the memorial tablet, and Bishop Price, Archdeacon of Ely, will dedicate the whole of the work. Afterwards 120 of Stedman Doubles will be rung and the sermon delivered by Rev. Canon G.

There is a good train and bus service between Shelford and Cambridge.

It is essential that any who wish to take advantage of ringing at either of the towers outside Cambridge should advise the secretary of the Tercentenary Commemoration not later than Tuesday, December 1st.

Luncheon for ticket holders will be served at 12.30 p.m. in Corpus Christi Dining Hall, adjoining St. Benedict's Church. Tea, also for ticket holders, will be served in relays in the same hall in accordance with the times printed on the tea tickets.

A large room at the Lion Hotel, Cambridge, has been reserved for use throughout the day, where ringers can make rendezvous with their friends; handbells will be available, and refreshments obtained during the usual hours. It is hoped that visitors will take full advantage of the accommodation provided if they desire to rest or meet their friends.

There are still a few promised donations unpaid. Will subscribers kindly send these at once to the hon. treasurer, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading?

THE ANCIENT OAK BELL FRAME at St. Benedict's Church. The frame is 13ft. 10in. square, and some idea of its massive timbers can be gained from this picture.

F. Coleridge. At the close of the service special representative companies will ring, and the bells will also be open to bands of ticket holders. When all these have had their turn, non-ticket holders will be able to ring.

In addition to St. Benedict's bells the following bells in and near Cambridge will be available:—

Great St. Mary's	(12)	11 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. 4.30 p.m. to 6 p.m. 7.30 p.m. to 9 p.m.
Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady and the English Martyrs	(8)	1 p.m. to 2.30 p.m. 4.30 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.
Great St. Andrew's	(8)
Old Chesterton	(6)	11 a.m. to 2 p.m. 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.
Trumpington	(6)	12 noon to 2 p.m. 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The two last-named churches are best reached by frequent local bus services.

For those travelling by road, ringing can be arranged at any of the following towers en route to or from Cambridge providing hands can be made up:—

Huntingdon, St. Mary's	(8)	Morning and evening.
Godmanchester	(8)	" "
Newmarket, All Saints	(8)	" "
Newmarket, St. Mary's	(6)	" "

WHAT TO SEE IN CAMBRIDGE.

Cambridge is a town full of interest to the visitor, but for those whose stay is limited to the one day it will be impossible to see all there is to be seen. As a guide to those who arrive early, however, and want to see as much as possible of the University town, we suggest a visit to some or all of the following places as time permits. The whole can be taken in in one 'walk,' starting from the Market Place.

GREAT ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

The Parish Church of Cambridge adjoins the Market Place. It is also used by the University for sermons on Sundays and occasionally at other times. A church on this site was consecrated in 1351. The present building, an excellent specimen of Perpendicular Gothic, was begun in 1478, but proceeded very slowly, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the university to obtain subscriptions by sending the Proctors on horseback through England with begging letters. The nave roof was not framed till 1506; the tower was begun in 1491, and carried up to the top of the west window in 1530. The belfry stage was begun in 1593 and finished in 1608. In 1611 the existing four bells were recast into 'five tunable bellies,' and in 1620 and 1621 two of the old peal were recast and another added. In 1667 the third and fourth were recast and the peal augmented to eight. This, it will be noticed, was just before Stedman published his 'Tintinnologia,' which appeared in 1668. It was decided in 1722 to recast the ring of eight, and later in the same year it was finally concluded to add two more bells. The work was carried out by Richard Phelps, of Whitechapel, the tenor being 26 cwt. 19 lb. In 1770 the tenor was recast, the weight being 29 cwt. 26 lb., and two further bells added to increase the ring to twelve. These troubles were recast in 1911, while the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey was Vicar. The bells run anti-clockwise. KING'S COLLEGE.

Founded by King Henry VI. in the middle of the 15th century. The magnificent chapel, begun in 1446 and completed in 1515, contains very beautiful stained glass and organ screen. The stained glass in the east window and in the windows on the north and south sides was executed between 1515 and 1531, and these windows contain 'the finest series in the world of pictures in glass on a large scale.'

CLARE COLLEGE.

Originally founded by the university as University Hall, 1326. Was rebuilt 1638-1715. The beautiful buildings have been described as 'more like a palace than a college.'

Walk down Avenue to Barks of Colleges and return through Trinity College Avenue to

with its noble quadrangle, great gate (built 1518-1535) and glorious chapel (finished about 1564).

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE

has the most beautiful of all the Cambridge gateway towers. Founded in 1511 by the mother of Henry VII., on the suppression of the Hospital of St. John the Evangelist, founded 1135. The new chapel was built 1864-69 of Ancaster stone.

CHURCH OF THE HOLY SEPULCHRE, commonly called the Round Church, one of the four round churches in England, with massive Norman pillars, probably built between 1120 and 1140. During a restoration in 1841 the belfry over the central nave was pulled down and replaced by a conical roof.

JESUS COLLEGE.

Founded 1437 by the Bishop of Ely, on the suppression of the Benedictine nunnery of S. Radegund. The college took possession of the buildings, and consequently the plan of Jesus College is different from that of any other college in either university. It is monastic, not collegiate.

CHRIST'S COLLEGE

(founded 1505), Petty Cury, Market Place and thence to St. Benedict's Church.

ST. BENEDICT'S CHURCH.

The interesting points about this ancient building are described in the Tercentenary 'Souvenir.'

CORPUS CHRISTI COLLEGE

(adjoining St. Benedict's Church) was founded 1352 by the Gilds of Corpus Christi and St. Mary. It consists of two completely separate groups of buildings: (1) That of the Gilds; (2) that erected 1823-27. The Old Court, reached by the passage at the east end of the hall, was the first closed quadrangle built in Cambridge. It has been a good deal altered, but still retains a more ancient appearance than any other collegiate structure in the university.

The original chambers in this court were of the roughest description; the ground floor was of clay; the walls were destitute of plaster; and the windows were probably half-shuttered, half-glazed. On the first floor they were open to the roof. The garrets were added in the reign of Henry the Eighth.

The scholars used the neighbouring church of St. Benedict for their devotions, but with one exception of a chapel, this small court contained all the buildings required for the collegiate life. The entrance was through a plain archway on the north side, along a path skirting the west side of the churchyard.

The chapel contains the stall work from the old one, which had been constructed by Sir Nich. Bacon, 1579. The library contains a unique collection of MSS. collected by Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury 1559-75. Some of the most interesting are exhibited in glazed cases. In one of the rooms under the library is the Lewis Collection of coins, gems, vases and other objects of antiquarian interest.

ST. CATHERINE'S COLLEGE, founded 1475.

Cross the Court of St. Catherine's College to

founded 1447 by the Queen of Henry VI., and refounded 1465 by the Queen of Edward IV. The principal Court was built immediately after the foundation. The material is red brick and the plan includes square corner-turrets and an entrance gateway, flanked by towers (the third built in Cambridge). The original caves have been replaced by battlements and the folliations cut out of the windows, otherwise the buildings are unaltered. The buildings in the second or Cloister Court are partly coeval with the first Court, but the two lateral cloisters are of later date. By the time this college was founded the plan of a Manor House had been accepted as the best for college buildings, and accordingly this college affords a close copy of such a house, as, for example, Haddon Hall. The arrangement of the principal Court is the same, and in the second and subordinate Court, approached by the passage through the Screens, are the apartments of the President, occupying the same position as those of the Lord of Haddon. The gallery of the President's Lodge, built about 1540, is a singularly beautiful and unaltered specimen of the domestic architecture of the 16th century.

PEMBROKE COLLEGE, founded 1346. The original chapel, now the library, at the north-west corner of the Court was the first collegiate chapel built. The new chapel was erected in 1663-64 at the sole cost of Dr. Matthew Wren, former fellow, then Bishop of Ely, in fulfilment of a vow made during his imprisonment in the Tower of London. The architect was his nephew, Sir Christopher Wren.

PETERHOUSE.

The first college founded in Cambridge (1281) still retains some of its primitive buildings. It shows by what steps the first colleges arrived at their familiar quadrangular arrangement. At first the founders provided only that which was indispensable, viz., rooms for sleep and work, a church for prayers, and a hall for meals. An ordinary dwelling house supplied the first, a parish church the second, and the third had usually to be built. The founder of Peterhouse (Hugh of Balsham, Bishop of Ely) first placed his 14 scholars and their master in two dwelling houses, and when he died he bequeathed 300 marks to his scholars, who with the money bought a piece of ground behind their house and 'built thereon a handsome hall' and buttery. The north side of the quadrangle was not begun until 1424, no the west until 1431.

THE FITZWILLIAM MUSEUM is full of interest and well worth a visit.

A NATIONAL COMMEMORATION.

In making the commemoration a national one, it is hoped that wherever possible special ringing will take place on Saturday afternoon, December 5th, so that the bells of the whole country will join in the celebration. If the ringing cannot take place then, it may still be possible to arrange it for some other day, but, whenever it takes place, public emphasis will be given to it, if, as already suggested in these columns, an announcement of the purpose of the ringing can be made in church on the preceding Sunday. To assist ringers in 'prompting' their incumbents, the following brief facts can be used. The paragraph might be cut out and handed to them:—

Fabian Stedman was one of the greatest figures in the early history of change ringing—a purely English art, practised to-day in thousands of church towers in this country. He was the author of the first books on the subject, and by his labours in this direction laid the foundation upon which ringers in succeeding years have built up the art and developed a highly fascinating science.

Stedman is said to have been born in or near Cambridge in 1631, and learnt to ring at St. Benedict's Church in that town at a time when change ringing was in its infancy. In 1668 he produced the first book ever written on the subject, and called it 'Tintinnalogia.' In the few years which elapsed before his second book—'Campanalogia'—was published in 1677, he had made great advances in his investigations and opened up entirely new ground. Change ringing is done by 'method,' and some of the methods which Stedman produced are largely practised to this day, one, bearing his own name, being among the most widely rung of all.

On Saturday, December 5th, the ringers of England will celebrate the tercentenary of Fabian Stedman's birth. By funds, amounting to nearly £500, subscribed by the ringers of Great Britain, Ireland and overseas, the bells and tower of St. Benedict's Church, Cambridge, have been restored. The tower was built in pre-Conquest days; five of the six bells are those on which Stedman himself rang. Ringers from all parts of the country will assemble at Cambridge for the commemoration, and the work will be dedicated and a memorial tablet unveiled at a special service.

At the same or other convenient time ringers elsewhere will join in the commemoration by special ringing on the bells of their own churches.

DERBY CATHEDRAL.—In honour of the Stedman Tercentenary on December 5th the peal of ten bells will be available for ringing from 3.30 to 5 o'clock. Visitors and friends will be welcome.—James Pagett, Ringing Master.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' DINNER.

In his letter last week with regard to the unbroken continuity of the College Youths' dinners, Mr. J. A. Trollope referred to a possible break during the war period 1914-1918. Although the actual anniversary gathering was suspended at that time, the annual supper of the St. Paul's Cathedral band was enlarged and called the 'College Youths' dinner,' and was attended by some 40 or 50 persons, including the Master and most of the officers of the Ancient Society. Our informant asks us to publish these facts for the benefit of future historians.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.SUGGESTED DIVISION OF GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

Godalming Church, with its central tower and lofty spire, has a beautiful setting, as it nestles, with the quaint old-fashioned streets of the little Surrey town, in a narrow valley where the River Wey runs between the steep shoulders of the hills. For some years until recently, however, the setting of the bells in the tower had been anything but beautiful, and they had been no attraction to ringers. About a couple of years ago a meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Godalming provided the opportunity for calling attention to the much needed restoration, and it is a matter of much gratification that this has now been carried out. The frame has been strengthened and the bells quarter-turned and rehung with new fittings. The work was done by Mr. R. White, of Appleton, and the Guild had the first opportunity of ringing on them on Saturday. A board in the tower says the bells were recast by Swaine in 1772, but it could only have been part of the ring, for there are still bells in the tower cast by Thomas Lester in 1740. The first recorded peal on them was a peal of Grandsire Triples in 1775.

Saturday's meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was well attended, members being present from Aldershot, Chiddingfold, Cranleigh, Farnborough, Godalming, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas), Haslemere, Scale, Witely and Woking. The customary service, at which the singing was led by organ and choirboys, was held, and afterwards a company of over 30 sat down to tea in the Church Room.

The Vicar (Canon G. S. Richards) was thanked by Admiral T. P. Walker for the service and for the use of the bells and congratulated upon the restoration that had taken place. The Vicar said the work had been made possible partly by a bequest, and they were very glad that the bells were now in good order again and also that the seventh bell had proved not to be cracked, as was suggested it might be when attention was called to the condition of the bells when the Guild last met in Godalming.

Admiral Walker presided over the business meeting which followed, when nominations were received for the officers for next year. For Ringing Master two names were proposed, Messrs. W. R. Melville and C. E. Smith; for district secretary, Mr. G. L. Grover; for district auditor, Mr. C. Hazelden. There were no fewer than eight nominations for the two places on the Executive Committee. Mr. S. Marshall was renominated as the hon. members' representative. The elections take place at the annual meeting in the new year.

It was reported that a suggested division of the district had been brought before the Executive Committee, and would be again discussed at their next meeting. The members were asked to give the matter their consideration so that some resolution of guidance to the committee might be passed at the annual district meeting.

On the motion of Admiral Walker, a unanimous resolution was passed expressing the hope that the Master of the Guild and the general hon. secretary would continue to hold office for another year.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting, and further ringing afterwards took place in the standard and Surprise methods.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT HORNSEY.

The ancient tower of St. Mary's, Hornsey, was the venue of a meeting of the North and East District on Saturday last, and for a six-bell meeting the attendance was a very fair one. This tower stands alone, the old church having been pulled down a few years ago, and the movement of the edifice affects the go of the bells very considerably. The ringing was, however, generally good, as well as being in a variety of methods, including Cambridge and London Surprise Minor. It was a real pleasure to see Mr. Joseph Waghorn, sen., present, and in fairly good health in spite of his 89 years of age, and he was given a cordial welcome.

The Rector (the Rev. H. C. Montgomery-Campbell) took the usual short service, after which tea was served in the Parish Hall. The business meeting was presided over by Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president), who was supported by Mr. A. W. Coles (Master), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), Mr. G. R. Goodship (assistant hon. secretary), etc. Seven new members, including Mr. Cornelius Charge, of New Zealand, were elected, and it was announced that the district annual meeting would be held at Edmonton on Saturday, January 30th.

It was decided that the association should be officially represented at the Stedman Tercentenary celebration at Cambridge on Dec. 5th.

After the usual votes of thanks to the Rector, and to Mr. G. W. Blee for making the very satisfactory meeting arrangements, there was a little handbell ringing, followed by a further visit to the tower. Here another old friend, Mr. Sidney Wade, put in a belated but none the less welcome appearance, and was soon 'taught' how to ring Double Court. Thus the last meeting of the year passed in a very pleasant way—considering all things, a most successful year, with the average attendance at the meetings reaching the satisfactory total of 50. Will members note, and endeavour to beat this next year.

LUTON, BEDS.—On Thursday, October 22nd, at the Parish Church, 1,344 changes of London Surprise Major in 49 mins.: E. Shane 1, A. King 2, T. Blackburn 3, A. J. Smith 4, B. Wilson 5, F. Hunt 6, H. Wood 7, I. A. Goodenough (conductor) 8.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN DISTRICT'S RECORD ACTIVITIES.

Nearly 50 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association, held at Bocking on Saturday week.

At the service the Dean of Bocking, preaching from the text, 'Ye shall be My witnesses,' said there were two sounds in life which stirred the hearts of man—the beat of the drum, which quickened the pulse and stirred the blood, and the sound of the bells, a sound which was associated with their lives in all that was uplifting. They were sounds they connected with high days and glory, which days of deep penitence and sorrow. He (the Dean) was happy to be with the members of the Essex Association at that church; to have heard them ringing the old and tuneful bells the church possessed, and to have observed the amazing skill they had acquired in the art of campanology. He was pleased to see they had that kind of discipline which, rightly understood and exercised, favourably affected mind and body. It was not easy to ring a bell—it required very real skill, muscle and nerve; it demanded training of the mind. It demonstrated a wonderful harmony in many ways, a harmony the ringers were scrupulously careful not to allow anything to break. The sound of the bells conveyed the message of the Gospel to alleviate dull everyday trials—sordid, ugly, depressing things which surrounded them. To-day more than ever they wanted the uplift of bells ringing in their souls. On the bellringers, therefore, there rested a glorious responsibility, and the whole Church had reason to be glad of the existence of organisations such as the Essex Association—to be proud of its very high tradition which Essex people greatly esteemed.

Following the service tea was served in the Church Room, and subsequently the annual meeting was held, under the chairmanship of Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association, who was supported by the Dean of Bocking and Messrs. A. Saunders, F. Ridgewell, W. Tyler and W. J. Nevard.

The Chairman expressed regret at the absence from the annual gathering of Mr. Lewis Wiffen, who was so keenly interested in the art of change ringing, and also that of Mr. Fred Rudkin, of Braintree, who at the age of 74 was one of their oldest ringers, and who, he was sorry to say, was dangerously ill. (Mr. Rudkin has since passed away.)

The annual report was submitted by Mr. F. Ridgewell, the district secretary, who said that during the past year meetings had been held at Rayne, Kelvedon, Great Bardfield, Foxearth and Bocking, with an average attendance of 38 (applause). Twelve members had been elected as follows: Two hon. life members, one non-resident life member, seven ringing members and two probationers. Since the last annual meeting, said Mr. Ridgewell, the record number of 38 peals had been rung in the division on towers and handbells in the following methods: Tower peals: Bob Minor 1, three-Minor methods 1, four-Minor Methods 3, five-Minor methods 1, seven-Minor methods 1, Kent Treble Bob Minor 1, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Kent Major 2, Double Norwich 6, Superlative Surprise 2, Cambridge Surprise 5, Bristol Surprise 1, London Surprise 2. On handbells: Bob Minor 5, Oxford Minor 1, Kent Minor 1, Bob Major 2, Kent Major 2. Among those who had conducted the peals were W. Keeble (13), O. Brayd (nine) and W. Arnold and L. W. Wiffen (five each).

The report having been received with enthusiasm, the Chairman observed that the record was certainly a very good one, and he thought they could congratulate themselves on the fact that the association was carrying on a very useful work (hear, hear). Mr. Howard proceeded to thank retiring officers for the efficient services they had rendered the association during the year, especially the Ringing Master, Mr. Arthur Saunders, of Greenstead Green, and their district secretary, Mr. Fred Ridgewell, of Earls Colne, who had carried out his duties in a most satisfactory manner. They were greatly indebted to these two officials, who brought to bear on the work a great deal of experience and to whom they tendered their best thanks (applause).

Replying to his re-election as Ringing Master, Mr. Saunders said he considered it a great honour to hold the position, and promised to do his best to see that the work was efficiently carried out during the year.

Mr. Ridgewell spoke of his interest in the work and of the pleasure it gave him to discharge the duties connected with the office of district secretary (applause).

The Dean of Bocking was elected an honorary member, three ringing members were elected and three probationers.

Mr. W. J. Nevard, of Great Bentley, in an interesting speech, said he had rung in 720 towers in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, including 152 towers in Essex and more than 100 in Suffolk. There was not a county in England in which he had not rung. So far this year he had rung in 66 different towers (applause).

The Chairman said this was a remarkable record and an inspiration to them all. He knew that Mr. Nevard had on several occasions rung as many as nine hours out of the 24 (applause).

It was announced that a collection made for association funds had realised 12s.

It was agreed to hold the next gathering at Felstead on the first Saturday in February.

DEDICATION OF BELLS AT STANWICK.

Three new bells have been added to those in the church of Stanwick, Northamptonshire, which has now a ring of five. Of the previously existing ring of three bells, No. 1 has been rehung 'dead,' No. 2 has been recast and No. 3 rehung on ball bearings. With the three newly-added bells, they have been rehung in a metal frame for six. The work was dedicated on Sunday, November 15th, by the Rt. Rev. C. H. Blagden, Lord Bishop of Peterborough.

The bells were rung during the dedication service by a band of ringers from Raunds, assisted by Dr. Daniels, from Stamford, a relative of the lady who gave the 2nd bell.

There was a crowded congregation at the service, which took place in the afternoon, and the sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough. A large number of ringers attended, including the Master of the Guild (Mr. F. Wilford) and Mrs. Wilford, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, Mr. F. Barber (secretary of the Wellingborough District), Mr. W. Perkins, Mr. A. Y. Tyler (Irthlingborough), etc.

Various 120's of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob were rung after the dedication service, when an adjournment was made for tea, some of the ringers being invited by parishioners, while the rest were kindly entertained at the hotel by Mr. Cyril Johnston, whose kindness was much appreciated.

The bells were rung for the evening service by the Irthlingborough ringers, assisted by Mr. F. Wilford, Mr. F. Barber and Mr. H. Pettitt. Although the bells are a very light peal, and there is a long draught of rope (the bells being rung from the floor of the tower), with the assistance of rope guides the bells are rung with ease and comfort. Everyone was perfectly satisfied and of the opinion a good and sound job had been carried out by the founders.

The inscriptions and weights of the bells are as follow:—

- 1: F. 1931. 3 cwt. 1 qr. 22 lb.
 - 2: E fiat. A.M.D.G. D.D. Mary Eliz. Wetenhall. 1931. 4 cwt. 17 lb.
 - 3: D. Benedictus Dominus. D.D. Parochiani. 1931. 4 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb.
 - 4: C. Ihs Nazarenus Rex Iudeorum Fili Dei Miserere Mei Gloria Deo Soli Anno Dom. 1721. Recast 1931. 5 cwt. 3 qr. 2 lb.
 - 5: R fiat. Celorum Christe Placiat Tibi Rex Souva Iste. 1613. 6 cwt. 2 qr. 26 lb.
- On bells 1-4: Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.
Sanctus: Simon De Nazfelde Me Feicit.

A FOUNDER OF THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.DEATH OF MR. FREDERICK RUDKIN.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Frederick Rudkin, which took place on November 18th at the Bull Inn, Braintree, where he had been landlord for 24 years. His health had been failing for some time, but he had attended to his business until recently.

Before the bells were augmented to eight in 1899 the deceased was a member of the old Braintree company, who practised over 30 Minor methods, including London Surprise. He conducted at Braintree the first 720 rung in that method in Essex on September 8th, 1883.

The deceased, who was 74 years of age, was one of the founders of the Essex Association. Although he had not done much ringing for several years past, he kept up his interest in the association and was present at the jubilee celebration in 1929.

For 39 years he was a member of the Braintree Fire Brigade and for 17 years captain. He was personally presented with a medal by Queen Victoria in 1887 and also had the long service medal. He was a member of the Town Band in his earlier days and had held every office, except that of secretary, in the Foresters' 'Court Campile,' of which he was a member.

Mr. Rudkin was twice married. He leaves two sons and a daughter in bereavement.

There was a large assembly at Braintree Cemetery at his funeral on Saturday last. The assistant priest (the Rev. R. Woodhams) officiated. In addition to representatives of the various bodies with which Mr. Rudkin had been associated, there were present Mr. C. H. Howard (Master), Mr. W. J. Nevard (District Master, N.E. Division), Messrs. H. E. Hammond (Braintree), H. Emery and H. C. Young (Stebbing), representing the Essex Association. Among the many floral tributes was one from the Essex Association.

In the evening, with the bells half-muffled, 1,280 Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung on the bells as a tribute of respect: S. Warne 1, C. H. Howard (conductor) 2, L. W. Wiffen 3, W. G. Melbourne 4, F. Ely 5, A. Wiffen 6, G. Wiffen 7, W. H. Hammond 8.

ASHTON BELLS RESTORED.NEW TREBLE FOR A NORTANTS RING.

The dedication of Ashton, Northants, church bells, which have been augmented to five, the old four having been tuned and restored, took place on Saturday, November 14th, by the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Peterborough. The ringers taking part in the opening touch were Messrs. F. Wilford, B. Soden, J. Townsend, R. Smith and J. Taylor.

Tea was provided in the Church Hut and was presided over by the Rector (the Rev. S. A. Beveridge), supported by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough, the churchwardens and a large company of parishioners and friends.

A large number of ringers were also present from the surrounding villages, including the Rev. R. Howes, Rector of Cold Higham and secretary of the Towcester District.

Various 120's of Grandsire, St. Simon's, Plain Bob and Stedman were rung during the evening, everyone being pleased with the 'go' of the bells. The old frame has been strengthened, and all new fittings, including ball bearings, have been supplied to the bells. The whole of the work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and delight was expressed with the great improvement which has been brought about.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The first quarterly meeting to be held by the Western Division of the Sussex Association at the newly-affiliated tower of St. Mary's, Washington, took place on Saturday. Members to the number of 30 attended from Billingshurst, Heene, Icklingfield, Kirdford, Henfield, Brighton, Slinfold, Steyning, Shoreham, West Grinstead, Warnham and the local band.

After being welcomed by the Vicar (the Rev. A. H. S. Patrick), ringing commenced at 3 o'clock. Later the ringers attended a short service conducted by the Vicar, who also acted as organist. Tea was then partaken at the village tea rooms.

A short business meeting, presided over by Mr. W. Charman, followed, when the following new members were elected: Mr. Allen Parker, of Icklingfield; Cecil Wood, of Billingshurst; Alex. Lamb, of Steyning; and Mr. Gordon Wooton, of Witley, non-resident member.

After votes of thanks to the Vicar for granting the use of the bells, to Mr. Charman for presiding and to Mr. Settatre for making the arrangements, the members adjourned to the belfry, the bells being kept going in various methods ranging from Grandsire to London Surprise until 8 o'clock. The ringers were unanimous in their praise of the bells, which were overhauled and augmented to six in 1930.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Southern District was held at Redhill on Saturday last, over 40 ringers attending during the afternoon and evening from Banstead, Buckland, Crawley, East Grinstead, Godstone, Horley, Limpsfield Chart, Reigate, St. Peter's, South Croydon, St. Lawrence Jewry, London, Turner's Hill, Westerham, and the local band.

The bells, which have just recently been rehung, etc., by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, were set going about 3 o'clock.

A short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. L. E. Mantering, Vicar of St. John's. In the course of his address the Vicar gave the association a hearty welcome to his tower.

A move was next made to the Parochial Hall for tea, 39 sitting down. At the business meeting, presided over by the Vicar, Mr. Frank Lucas, of Horley, and Mr. Reginald Jenkins, of Reigate, were elected as resident members, and the election of Messrs. Jos. Wren and Ernest Ladd, of East Grinstead, Mr. Philip Thompson, of Hartfield, and Mr. Albert Edwards, of Robertsbridge, as non-resident life members was confirmed. The annual district meeting is to be held at Horley in January.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his address, to Mr. Bashford for presiding at the organ, and to Mr. and Mrs. Gear for their assistance in arranging the meeting.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Superlative Surprise Major.

KENT RINGER BEREAVED.

Members of the Exercise will extend their sympathy to Mr. George Hayes, of Swanscombe, one of the oldest members of the Kent Association, in the loss he has sustained by the death of his wife, who died on October 31st.

Visitors to Swanscombe in bygone days will remember the hospitality shown to them by Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, who always welcomed visitors to their native home, and the parting is even more painful owing to Mr. Hayes having been in delicate health for a number of years, unable to follow his occupation, and through his complaint being debarrd from taking his accustomed place in the belfry.

The interment took place in Swanscombe Cemetery on Thursday, November 5th, the officiating clergyman being the Rector of Swanscombe, the Rev. Campbell Ward, an honorary member of the Kent Association.

'ROWS' AND 'CHANGES.'

Ringers are notoriously loose in their terminology. In connection with both the science and art of ringing they use expressions which have different meanings under different circumstances; sometimes they use different terms to indicate the same thing, and sometimes a term is used which, strictly, does not represent what it is intended to convey. This practice has grown up largely because the men who first used the words in their different applications were not, probably, capable of drawing fine distinctions, but the terms which they employed have remained with us to this day. The Rev. H. Drake, in his letter in this issue, tries to make plain a point that is still not appreciated by many ringers—the difference between 'rows' and 'changes.' With the question of what is right or wrong in the wording of the Painswick peal board we are not concerned in this article, but the right use of the words 'rows' and 'changes' has a not unimportant bearing on certain other questions in connection with peal ringing. There is, for instance, a considerable school of thought which holds that a peal of Minor cannot be considered true unless it consists of seven extents each completed before the next is begun, that each 720 must start from and end with rounds. In this case each extent is produced by 720 'changes.' There are others who think that an extent can be equally true if it consists of the 720 'rows'—which need not necessarily mean quite the same thing as 720 'changes.' There is, of course, a third view that a peal of Minor is true as long as, in the 5,040, no row occurs more than seven times, although individual 720's, true in themselves, are dispensed with. Into this last phase of the question we do not propose to enter here, but we want to emphasise the fact that there is need for ringers to recognise that there is a difference between a 'row' and a 'change.' A 'row' is a set of figures representing a distinct permutation; a 'change' is a rearrangement in the order of striking the bells, and it is because it takes two rows to make the first change that the idea has grown up that a method begins with the first change after rounds. A method, however, is constructed of rows, and the first row of any method with a hunt is rounds. When a method is rung the bells change from permutation to permutation, but the initial rounds is as essential to the first change as the final rounds to the last. Both, however, cannot count, and it is custom alone that has led us to count only the final rounds. That the initial rounds is an essential part of the method is recognised in the latest edition of the Collection of Minor Methods, where the line, which used to be drawn under this row, is transferred to the other end of the lead, where it makes a division between the hand and back-stroke leads of the treble. And let it not be supposed that this is merely a modern way of looking at a method. Fabian Stedman, in his first book, 'Tintinnalogia,' printed all his figures with the initial rounds as part of the method and, if he put a dividing line, it was in front of the final rounds. If the initial rounds is, therefore, an essential part of the method, there is strong reason why it should be taken into account in settling the truth of an extent.

THE BENTLEY COLLIERY DISASTER.

The bells of Doncaster Parish Church were rung half-muffled throughout the day on Sunday as a token of respect to the 44 miners who lost their lives in the explosion at Bentley colliery. Before the memorial service held in the afternoon, when the Archbishop of York addressed the mourners, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 50 minutes, together with the 'whole pull and stand,' the tenor being tolled by Mr. F. Newsome. The ringers of the quarter-peal were: G. Halksworth (conductor) 1, E. Baldwin 2, J. Holmes 3, C. Clark 4, F. Newsome 5, W. E. Lloyd 6, H. Wagstaff 7, H. Baldwin 8.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Newbury Branch, held at Newbury, was attended by about seventy ringers, including visitors from Hereford, Devizes, Reading, Basingstoke, Mortimer, Overton, Aldermaston, Marlow and Abingdon. Service was conducted by the Rector of Newbury (the Rev. W. L. Cooper), assisted by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), the address being given by the Rev. W. L. Cooper. Mr. Ramsey presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Parish Room by Mrs. H. W. Curtis, assisted by other ringers' wives, 65 sitting down to an excellent repast.

The business meeting followed, over the first part of which the Master presided, in the absence of the chairman (the Rev. H. Bonsey), who sent an apology, and also said he wished to resign the chairmanship, as he found he could not attend the meetings of the branch. Apologies were also received from the Rev. H. Wardley-King, Rev. R. C. Moore, Rev. J. E. Smith-Masters, Rev. A. Brown-ing, Mr. E. J. Davis and Mr. C. A. Hawker (churchwarden).

Mr. H. W. Curtis (honorary secretary and treasurer) presented his report. Six peals had been rung in the branch, and meetings had been well attended.

The balance sheet, showing a balance in hand of £13 7s. 2d., was read and adopted.

The Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford was unanimously elected chairman of the branch. Mr. H. W. Curtis was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer. Messrs. S. Quinlin, T. Curtis, F. J. Owen and A. Smith were re-elected as representatives on the general committee.

Good reports were received from nearly every tower in the branch. The Master referred to the illness of the Rev. L. R. Majendie (Rector of Sandhurst), late chairman of the branch. He added that he was sorry there were not so many clergy present at that meeting as in previous years.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary), complimented the East Isley ringers on ringing a local peal, and Mr. A. J. Wright congratulated the branch on the number of its honorary members, which, he said, was second for the whole of the Guild.

The next meeting was fixed for Shaw in February, and the spring meeting for Hampstead Norris in April, the dates being left to the secretary to arrange.

Four new members were elected, and votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. W. L. Cooper for his address and welcome to the ringers; to the organist; and to Mrs. Curtis and her helpers. The tower was again visited and the bells kept going till nine o'clock in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major.

Will those who attended the meeting of the Middlesex County Association (South and West District) at Hillingdon on October 31st please note, that copies of the photograph taken on that day are now available. The three-quarter plate size (mounted) are 2s. each and postcards 6d. To secure a copy, please send your requirements to F. W. Goodfellow, 16, Nellgrove Road, Hillingdon Heath, Middlesex, who can vouch that the result is very successful.

There are some towers which ringers, according to the success or otherwise which attends their efforts, consider 'lucky' or 'unlucky.' It appears, also, that there are bells which come into the same categories. Last Saturday Mr. G. Whiting rang the sixth at Framden to a peal for the first time. It is twenty-nine years since he first attempted to do so.

Large placards bring to the notice of Bristol people the usefulness of the B.U.R.G. A request from the Lord Mayor of Bristol has been acceded to, and combined Guilds will give handbell selections at the Colston Hall on March 10th, 1932. An audition has also been granted to the Guilds, and it is quite likely at an early date that the B.U.R.G. will give a broadcast from West Regional area.

The members of the new Guild of Ringers at the Church of the Holy Nativity, Knowle, Bristol, have been elected as members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

The story of the rivalry between the two Norwich companies of ringers to ring the first peal of Stedman Triples has often been told. St. Peter Mancroft ringers claimed the first, on October 25th, 1731. The truth of the peal was disputed by the ringers of St. Michael at Coslany, who themselves rang a peal on December 6th in the same year. That was exactly 200 years ago next Sunday.

In this steeple on the sixth of December, 1731, was rung that most incomparable as well as intricate peal of Stedman Triples, which had been long ye Study of many well skilled in the Art of Ringing but without Success till Edward Crane, one of the company, with much pains and application brought it to perfection with two Doubles. This peal contains 5,040 Triple changes, 2 Doubles only excepted and is allowed by all Judges of the Art to be the most Ingenuous Peal that till now has been composed.

That is part of the record on the peal board in the tower. It is an interesting coincidence that the 200th anniversary of this peal falls on almost the same day as the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the birth of the author of the method.

Forty-eight years ago next Tuesday the 'five ones' (11,111) Stedman Caters was rung at Fulham. Although that was nearly nearly half a century ago, half the band are still alive, and most of that half are still engaged in ringing. The tenorman, Mr. Walter Prime, can be seen any Sunday on the 'big box' at St. Paul's Cathedral 'drumming' to the celebrated 'three courses of Stedman Cinques' for service. Frank Dawe, Challis Winney and John Rowbotham also still have an active interest in ringing.

Although the first peal on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral was rung only two years before (December 10th, 1881—so that the jubilee occurs next Thursday), there are now no survivors of that company of College Youths.

BELLS IN PROSE AND VERSE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am hoping to publish an anthology of passages in English literature, both prose and verse, which deal with the subjects of bells and ringing. May I make an appeal to your readers for assistance in collecting material for this book, which should, I think, prove of interest to a large number of ringers? All suggestions forwarded to the following address will be gratefully acknowledged.—Yours truly,

C. E. WIGG.

Wycliffe Hall, Oxford.

THE CHAPEL YOUTHS OF STOURBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As there is no mention of the Chapel Youths of Stourbridge, Worcestershire, in Mr. E. Morris' book, 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' under ancient ringing societies, perhaps the following paragraph which appeared in 'Borrow's Worcester Journal' of October 12th, 1775, will be of interest to the author and ringers in general:—

'We hear that last week the new peal of eight bells at Walsall which was cast by Mr Rudhall of Gloucester was opened by several Societies of ringers from Birmingham and other parts but on the 2d inst the society of Chapel Youths from Stourbridge rung five handed the first true peal of 5,040 Bob Majors in 3 hours and 10 minutes to the General Satisfaction of the Inhabitants.'

Yours faithfully,

L. C. DOWDESWELL.

THE STEDMAN TERCENTENARY.

TO-MORROW'S HISTORIC GATHERING AT CAMBRIDGE.

The stage is set for to-morrow's great and historic gathering of ringers at Cambridge, when Fabian Stedman's tercentenary will be celebrated. The restoration of the tower and bells of St. Benedict's Church has been completed, and the work will be offered as a thanksgiving from the ringers of Great Britain, Ireland and overseas to the memory of one whose labours, nearly three hundred years ago, did so much for our art.

Although the month is December, ringers are travelling from all parts of the country to be present upon this unique occasion, while thousands of others will, we are sure, be there in spirit, and many of them will share in making the celebration a truly national event by ringing in their own towers.

The service at St. Benedict's Church is timed for three o'clock, and ticket holders should be in their seats by 2.50 p.m. The service will be conducted by the Vicar, and the lessons read by the Rural Dean and the Master of Corpus Christi College—Vice Chancellor.

After the second lesson the clergy will proceed to the tower, where the president of the Central Council will unveil the bell-metal memorial tablet and request Bishop Price, Archdeacon of Ely, to dedicate the work. When this has been done, and while the procession returns to the chancel, a special band, consisting of the president of the Council and the Masters of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Royal Cumberland Youths, the Oxford Diocesan Guild, the Essex Association and the Middlesex Association, will ring an extent of Stedman Doubles in the manner in which it was rung in Stedman's days; that is, with two 'extremes.' The sermon will be preached by Canon G. F. Coleridge. At the close of the service special representative companies will ring, and the bells will be open to bands of ticket holders. It is expected that it will take at least four hours for all who desire to ring to have a pull on the famous bells, and a limit of 120 has had to be fixed for each 'touch.' Stewards will be in charge, and will make up bands to follow each other in quick succession.

There will be a big luncheon party in Corpus Christi Dining Hall at 12.30, and after the service tea will be partaken of in two sittings in the same hall.

Early visitors who wish to be shown round some of the most interesting places in Cambridge can be provided with guides if they will call at the Lion Hotel, which will be the 'headquarters' for the day, and where a room will be reserved for the use of ringers and their friends. It is hoped that visitors will make full use of this accommodation.

In addition to St. Benedict's bells, the following will also be available:—

Great St. Mary's	(12)	11 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. 4.30 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. 7.30 p.m. to 9 p.m.
Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady and the English Martyrs	(8)	1 p.m. to 2.30 p.m. 4.30 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.
Great St. Andrew's	(8)
Old Chesherton	(6)	11 a.m. to 2 p.m. 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

SOUVENIRS.

In connection with the commemoration, a souvenir is to be published to-morrow at the popular price of sixpence. It will contain, in addition to the details of the Tercentenary Commemoration Scheme, an article on 'Fabian Stedman,' which deals with all the known facts of his life and work, and a description of St. Benedict's Church, tower and bells, with illustrations. A complete list of the subscribers to the Tercentenary Fund will also be printed. The souvenir will be on sale at Cambridge, or may be ordered from 'The Ringing World' Office, Woking, Surrey, by post 8d. Every ringer should secure a copy of this booklet; it will be found to be full of interest and a pleasing memento of a unique event.

Another interesting form of souvenir will also be on sale. One of the ancient beams, which had to be taken from the tower—oak that may well be five hundred years old or more—has been converted into ash trays, and these will be disposed of for the benefit of the restoration fund.

FABIAN STEDMAN AND THE TIMES HE LIVED IN. WHEN THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE ART OF RINGING WERE LAID.

When we think of some great figure in history, we often try to visualise what manner of person he was, what his surroundings were, and what kind of life he led. Many of our readers must have tried to picture Fabian Stedman, but we have nothing but our imagination to draw upon. There is no known portrait of him. Of his character we can glean something from the work which he left to us. That he was an enthusiast for the art of ringing goes without saying; that he was anxious to secure its future is obvious from his own statement in his first treatise on the art, which, he tells us, was written in order that 'the rules thereof might not be lost and obscured to some, as the Chronicles before William the Conqueror, being given only by tradition from father to son.'

Stedman must have had a good education; that is made plain from his style of writing. He must to have had an orderly mind; he was a master of detail and had a wonderful gift of clear expression. He would seem, also, to have been a generous and friendly soul, and that he was highly respected by those who counted most in the Exercise in his time is proved by the fact that he was not only welcomed into the ranks of the College Youths of those days but, in spite of his residence in Cambridge, was elected their Steward in 1677 and their Master in 1682.

But while we know little about the man himself, it is interesting to recall something of the times in which he lived, and from them get a glimpse of the conditions under which the art of ringing was carried on. It was in Stedman's days that the Puritans rose to the height of their power and made a deep impress on the social life of the country. In their desire to put down all amusements on Sundays, they objected to the ringing of bells, even for the purpose of calling people to church. 'The Lord's Day,' says Fuller, the historian, 'began to be precisely kept. People became a law to themselves, forbearing such sports as were as yet by statute permitted: yea, many rejoicing at their own restraint therein. On this day the stoutest fencer laid aside his buckler; the most skilful archer unbent his bow; games and morris dances grew out of request; and good reason that bells should be silenced from jingling about men's legs if their very ringing in steeples were adjudged unlawful.' Even before the Civil War had run its course the Puritans laid a heavy hand on popular amusements, and in 1643 all persons were forbidden, under heavy penalties, to practise on the Lord's Day any such sports as shooting, bowling, wrestling, ringing church bells for pleasure, or dancing.

There was little ringing in those days except as a secular pastime, and it was doubtless this that, in the first instance, drew to St. Benedict's tower men of the University. They shared with Stedman the pleasure and recreation which was got from ringing. Of one such, Samuel Scattergood, we have now some definite information, brought to light recently by Mr. J. A. Trollope. Samuel Scattergood, who afterwards became an eminent divine, was the author of the 'Cambridge Peals,' which Stedman included in his 'Campanologia,' published in 1677.

London, when Stedman first knew it, was still a city of narrow streets and overhanging houses, and when he visited it in connection with the publication of his 'Tintinnalogia' the rebuilding of the city after the Great Fire was only just beginning, and St. Paul's Cathedral had not yet risen out of the ashes. Many of the houses left in the portion which escaped the ravages of the conflagration were built of wood.

Travel in those days was difficult and dangerous; the art of road making was almost unknown. Roads were merely tracks across country—in dry weather deep in dust, in wet weather a quagmire into which the wheels of a vehicle would often sink to the axles. Coaches had begun to be in general use, but many people still preferred horseback, and it was by this means that Stedman travelled in 1689, when he visited Leicester to explain 'to ye bell ringers ye desirability of establishing a Societie of Scholars for setting forth ye "artes and mysteries" of change ringing not onlie for ye edifyinge of their minds, but also for their enjoyment and the healthfull exercise of their bodies.' Highwaymen then roamed the countryside, and it may have been partly for the mutual protection which would be obtained by the presence of other travellers that Stedman chose the Leicester 'fayre tyme' to make his journey, which was no light undertaking. The difficulties of transport in those days was one of the reasons why so many of the church bells of that period were cast in the villages where they were to be used. It was easier for the bell founder to build his furnace on the spot than, in many cases, to transport new bells across country.

Stedman lived in times of great political turmoil—the trial and execution of Charles I., the period of the Commonwealth, and the restoration of the house of Stewart. The Great Plague and the Great Fire were events which preceded his first book on change ringing, and the Battle of Sedgemoor was fought after he had been Master of the College Youths. Village life in its main features remained almost the same as in the Middle Ages, and the discipline of the stocks and the pillory, as well as of the 'ducking stool' was freely used. Stedman must have watched the first great efforts made to reclaim the Fenland, which began as an adventure, with the land as its reward, from the Cambridge side. Stedman lived in stirring days; the modern history of England was in the making; and it was in this time the foundations of the art of ringing were being developed, in which Stedman played a great and lasting part.

DERBY CATHEDRAL.—In honour of the Stedman Tercentenary on December 5th the peal of ten bells will be available for ringing from 3.30 to 5 o'clock. Visitors and friends will be welcome.—James Pagett, Ringing Master.

'LIVELY' PEALS OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.

TWO SEVEN-PARTS BY MR. J. W. PARKER.

There can be few people who look upon Stedman Triples as a monotonous method to ring, but, for those who do, here are two peals, recently rung at Bushey, which will keep everyone on the alert. They are the compositions of Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland.

Mr. M. F. R. Hibbert, the conductor of the two peals, expresses the opinion that there should be an umpire. With so many bobs and singles it would be quite easy to change any pair back again after a shift, or if, say, there are three bobs and a single in a block, to call the single anywhere, without the band knowing whether it was right or wrong.

ROWS DO NOT CHANGE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The letter which Mr. Cave has sent to the Gloucester and Bristol papers is an excellent one in every way, and I hope it will have the desired effect. If, therefore, I comment on two points, it is not in the way of criticism, but rather to indicate how understanding could be arrived at. It is as well to have one side of the case put down definitely, but there usually has to be some give and take before a settlement is arrived at.

Mr. Cave suggests adding a line stating that the composition of the peal was false. There are several difficulties here. The tablet was fixed by a faculty. This means that such an addition (supposing, of course, that there is room for it) would have to be approved by: (a) the local church authorities; (b) the P.C.C.; (c) the Advisory Committee; (d) the Diocesan Chancellor. The latter would then probably insist on a hearing in Court, and the issue of a new faculty, with the necessary fees. Now I cannot imagine any one of these people agreeing with Mr. Cave's words. I certainly would not myself, if I were in their position. Sooner than have anything with the word false on it in the church I would dispense with the tablet. Moreover, the proposed words would not meet the objection that many of us have to the tablet. The wrong use of the word 'changes' would remain, and there would be added an unpleasant sentence which the ordinary reader would not understand. Two wrongs would emphatically not make one right.

On the other hand, if the wording has been painted, it would be a small thing to scrape off the word 'changes' and to substitute the word 'rows.' All that would be required would be to ask the Chancellor's permission, which he would probably grant, without further formality, when it was explained to him that a mistake had been made.

The other point is that Mr. Cave says that some 'changes were rung twice.' Now anyone accustomed to studying long arguments in text books (as are those persons who have permitted the erection of this tablet) would say to him—in fact, probably one of them has already said something like this to those who have used such an argument: 'What you are saying seems to me nonsense. If a thing occurs twice it is a repetition, which is the exact contrary to a change. You ringers may use the word "change" in some Pickwickian sense that makes nonsense of it to other people, but, if so, you must keep it to your own books and papers, which no one but a ringer need read. You cannot claim to have placed in a public position where anyone can read them words which appear to the ordinary person to be untrue; and then, in addition, to say that these words which are quite in accord with your own use of the word "changes" are misleading.'

Now, why is it that we of the older generation, such as Mr. Cave and Mr. C. T. Coles, use the word 'changes' in this wrong way? It is because when we learned to ring the word 'row' was not in common use. People used the word 'change' when they really meant 'row.' They spoke of 'false changes'—an obviously contradictory form of words, which I hope I never used myself.

Then someone, it may have been the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, pointed out to us that the word row was correct, and that a row does not itself change, but that it is the result of a change, or of a repetition. In the former case we call it a true row, in the latter a false row. Then it was said that changes took place 'between the rows.' This was found to mean too much; but we all agreed that 'it takes two rows to make a change.' Here is the real criterion. One row is either the same as some other row, or it is different. In the latter case there is a change; in the former case we do not say that it is a false change, or a repeated change, or a change rung twice, because any of these terms would be untrue, being self-contradictory. We simply say there is NO CHANGE.

If then, in a false peal, x number of rows are repeated, there is NO CHANGE in 2x number of rows. Thus to find out how many changes were actually rung at Painswick, we must deduct from 17,687 twice the number of rows that were repeated. How then can it possibly be true to say that 17,687 changes were rung? Those who do not see this are making the same error as those who cannot see the truth of the rule in arithmetic, which tells us that if we multiply anything by nothing, the result is nothing. If we repeat a row (i.e., multiply it by 'no change') we shall get as a result only 'no change.' We may go on repeating a row any number of times, but we still shall not get a false change, or a repeated change, or any other kind of change, but simply NO CHANGE.

Mr. C. T. Coles speaks of those people whose 'views on rows and changes do not coincide with those that Mr. Drake holds.' He does not, however, in any of his letters, tell us what those views are. I hope I have shown that there is no room for any views (either mine or anyone else's) in this matter. We do not hold views on matters of arithmetic. We simply have to accept them—that was the first thing we learnt at school. Mr. C. T. Coles also says he wishes I would tell him whether the Suffolk Guild intends to expel him. In the first words of my first letter I pointed out that the Guild intends to expel no one. I worded my resolution (which, of course, need not be the form ultimately put before us) in such a way as clearly to exclude people who, like Mr. C. T. Coles, continue to sit on the fence; and apparently have not decided whether to come down on the change ringing side or the other.

HERBERT DRAKE.

ROYAL CUMBERLANDS' JUBILEE.

MESSRS. FUSSELL AND BARNETT CELEBRATE 50 YEARS' MEMBERSHIP.

On November 27th, 1881, the previous election, in the belfry of St. Giles-in-the-Fields, of William H. Fussell, as a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, was formally confirmed by the society in general meeting. On December 9th of the same year Edwin Barnett, was elected a member.

MR. EDWIN BARNETT.

On Saturday last these two men, now veterans in the Exercise, stood together in the tower at Shoreditch to celebrate the jubilee of their membership. Unfortunately the peal of Stedman Cinques, which was to mark the event, was lost after three hours' ringing, but both received the congratulations of the band and good wishes for further years of health and strength to enjoy participation in the art with which they have been linked for so many years.

Mr. Fussell has rung peals in every county in England, and all but one in Wales, as well as in many in Ireland and Scotland. He is one of the greatest organisers of ringing tours who have ever taken a hand in the task, and his descriptions of these excursions always make interesting reading.

Like Mr. Fussell, Mr. Barnett has a long score of peals, accumulated through more than half a century of ringing, but he has one other claim to celebrity which his brother Cumberland will not be able to wrest from him. Mr. Barnett has rung peals in which both his son and grandson have taken part, and only the other day the three generations rang together in a peal of Stedman Triples.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the South and West District was held at Christ Church, Ealing, on Saturday last, and nearly 30 attended. Standard methods were practised, as well as 'Spliced' Surprise Major. A short service was conducted by the Rev. W. D. W. Greenham, and Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president) read the lesson. After service, the company adjourned to the church Schoolroom for tea, ably served by the hostess, Mrs. Wilson (mother of the assistant secretary).

Mr. Trollope presided, supported by the Rev. W. D. Greenham, Mr. Goodfellow (Ringing Master), Mr. H. C. Chandler (assistant Ringing Master), etc.

At the business meeting eight new members were elected. Feltham was selected for the meeting on January 16th, and Isleworth for the annual meeting on February 6th. Due notice of these will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

It was announced that a peal of Stedman would be attempted at St. Peter's, Staines, and St. Andrew's, Hillingdon, for the Stedman Tercentenary celebration on December 5th.

Touques of Grandsire Caters and Cinques were rung on the handbells by Messrs. F. Goodfellow, J. A. Trollope, G. W. Roberts, W. G. Dilson, E. S. Turner and J. Herbert.

The Ringing Master read a paper on the handling of the bell rope and the teaching of learners (supplied by Mr. Andrews, of Trowbridge, Wilts), which was most interesting and appreciated by all.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, to the Rev. W. D. Greenham, to the organist, to the hostess for the excellent tea, and to her many lady assistants, and, last but not least, to Mr. Wilfred Wilson for making the necessary arrangements, which proved so successful.

A further visit was paid to the tower and ringing maintained until nearly 9 p.m., when a pleasant meeting closed.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The November meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Bulkington, near Nuneaton, on Saturday, November 21st. The six bells were set going soon after three o'clock, and various methods were rung until a halt for tea was called. A sumptuous meal was partaken of in the schoolroom prepared by Mrs. Hinde, an hon. member of the Guild, together with the wives of the local ringers. A few enthusiasts rang handbells after tea, but the majority returned to the belfry, where ringing continued until about eight o'clock. The attendance was splendid for a monthly meeting, Allesley, Chilvers Coton, Lillington, Shilton, Stoke, Warwick and Wolvey being represented, together with the local band. The methods rung during the day included Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, London, York and Durham Surprise.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

CENTRAL DISTRICT'S ACCESSION OF MEMBERS.

The annual meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held on Saturday last at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, between 50 and 60 members and friends being present. Amongst those who came from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Davies, of Liverpool. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock, and, with the assistance of the gentlemen, the methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Bristol and London, with rounds for the beginners. A good course of Cambridge was also rung by members of the Guild.

A short but cheery service was conducted by the curate (Rev. L. C. Loveless), the Rector unfortunately being absent through illness. After the service tea was partaken of in the room adjoining the church, at the close of which Miss E. Steel (president of the Guild) thanked Rev. L. C. Loveless for taking the service and his cordial welcome, Miss Cornish and her helpers for the excellent tea provided, and Mr. A. W. Coles and other members of the local company for having everything in readiness and being present.

Tea being over, at the request of the Rev. Loveless, a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells, in which two members of the Guild took part.

Then followed the business meeting, the gentlemen having adjourned to the tower for further ringing, Miss Steel (president) being voted to the chair.

The following were elected new members: Mrs. C. I. Davies, Mrs. G. Goodship and Mrs. Shellock (hon. members), the Misses McIntior, Eades and Shorney (Milton-next-Gravesend), Mrs. E. Beer and the Misses K. Beer, D. Britton, and S. Tibbrooke (Gravesend), Miss Durling (Northfleet), Miss Colishaw (Frintsbury), Mrs. Spice (Canterbury), Miss Hoveyd (Dartford), Miss Mutton (Chislehurst), the Misses E. Greenall, P. Knights, D. Knights and L. Wheeler (Enfield), also the Misses Church, G. Pack and Prockson and Mrs. Osborne.

Mrs. R. F. Deal was re-elected vice-president. Owing to the resignation of Mrs. A. Discrens, the position of district secretary had become vacant. It was proposed by Mrs. R. F. Deal, and seconded by Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, that Mrs. G. H. Cross be elected to fill this vacancy, and this, on being put to the meeting, was carried.

The following were chosen as members of the committee: Mrs. Deal, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss D. Fletcher, with Mrs. Deal and Mrs. Barker on the Central Committee.

At the kind invitation of Mrs. Mitchell, it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Milton-next-Gravesend, the date to be either at the end of February or the beginning of March.

A vote of thanks to the president concluded the meeting, and the ladies afterwards joined in further ringing.

NATIONAL POLICE GUILD.

During the visit to London of Chief Inspector James Meldrum (Liverpool City) and Station Sergeant Peter Crook (Bolton Borough) on the occasion of the annual Police Conference, a peal a Kent Treble Bob Major, by members of the National Police Guild, was attempted at the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark: P.C. E. Gwilliam 1, S.D. Inspector W. Bottrill 2, ex-P.C. F. Digby 3, Sergt. G. Schleuter 4, P.C. T. Bannister 5, Ch.-Inspector J. Meldrum 6, St. Sergt. P. Crook 7, ex-P.C. E. Brett 8. After an hour and a half's good ringing, the single light electric bulb fell out of its socket and plunged the ringing chamber into darkness. Such was the end of this attempt. An opportunity to go for this peal again in the near future will present itself, when it is to be hoped better luck will be experienced.

All the band, with the exception of Messrs. Meldrum and Crook, are serving or ex-members of the Metropolitan Police.

A CHEERY CROWD.

The East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held their monthly practice at Bray on Saturday, when the usual cheery crowd turned up. The visitors, including the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) and Rev. A. J. Harris-Revet, were welcomed by Canon Jones, a newcomer to Bray, although no stranger to the Guild.

A bright service and interesting talk was followed by tea, which had been tastefully prepared by Mrs. Hobbs and Mrs. Norman (of Cookham) in the face of many difficulties, including 1s. for the light and 6d. for boiling the water. It is rumoured that one well-known member was only able to have three cups of tea instead of his usual seventeen. The difficulties, however, did not end with the tea, as some who were present found to their cost.

Among the methods rung were Cambridge Surprise and Kent and Oxford 'spliced.' London Surprise was attempted, but was unsuccessful.

It is hoped to hold the next practice at Boyne Hill on December 19th.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT ENTERTAINED AT LITTLEBOURNE

A most successful meeting of the Canterbury District of Kent County Association was held at Littlebourne on Saturday, where the six bells have recently been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

The meeting was held by the kind invitation of the Vicar (Rev. C. A. Manley), who, during the course of a most interesting address at the service, both surprised and pleased the ringers by his wide knowledge of and interest in change ringing. About 35 members were present, representing the Cathedral, St. Alphege, and St. Stephen's, Canterbury; Deal, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, Whitstable, Wingham, Wickhambreau, Sturry, Kennington, Ashford, Egerton, and all the local ringers.

The association form of service was used, the Vicar officiating and Mr. J. P. Cobbold (Littlebourne) ably presiding at the organ.

In the course of his appropriate address Rev. C. A. Manley quoted a poem from Canon Raven's 'Bells of England,' dealing with the various excuses made by ringers on the occasion of breakdowns of peals. The poem concludes:—

And now from henceforth be it known,
When'er a peal turns lame,
The ringers never are in fault,
The bells are all to blame.

Subsequently the ringers adjourned to the Vicarage, where the Rev. and Mrs. Manley had prepared a splendid tea for the visitors. Before leaving, a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the host and hostess for their kind hospitality and entertainment, and to Mr. Cobbold for the musical arrangements. A course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells brought to a close a very enjoyable hour at the Vicarage, and the ringers again returned to the tower, where ringing, which had taken place during the afternoon, was continued until 8.30 p.m.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

The South-Western Division annual meeting at Romford on Saturday, November 21st, was well attended, over 60 members and friends from various parts of the county being present. Touches in various methods were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. S. Abraham). At the business meeting after tea, two honorary and ten ringing members were elected.

Messrs. A. Prior and E. J. Butler were re-elected district Master and secretary respectively, and St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, selected as the place for next meeting.

A vote of thanks was accorded the retiring officers for their work during the past year, and one also to the Vicar for allowing the use of tower and bells and conducting the service, to Mr. Griggs, the organist, for accompanying the hymns, etc., at the service, and to Mr. H. Dawkins, hon. secretary of the Romford band, for having everything in readiness. This was responded to by the Vicar.

During the afternoon and evening members were present from Leytonstone, Harlow, Brentwood, Romford, Grantham, Stowmarket, Bentley, Walthamstow, Hornchurch, Maldon (All Saints') and St. Mary's, Barking, Bentley, Loughton, Orsett, Prittlewell, Shenfield, Wanstead, and West Ham, and the bells were kept going to various methods till 9 p.m.

SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting was held at Widford on Saturday, November 28th, when forty-three members were present from Braintree, Broomfield, Blackmore, Bentley (South Weald), Chelmsford, Galleywood, Goldhanger, Great Baddow, Kelvedon, Maldon (All Saints'), Romford, Springfield, Writtle and Widford.

The service was conducted by the Rev. S. J. Burling (curate of St. John's, Moulsham), owing to the absence of the Vicar (Rev. F. R. Thurlow) through illness. The lesson was read by the Master of the association, Mr. C. H. Howard.

The tea was served at the White Horse, presided over by the Rev. S. J. Burling. The annual district meeting followed, at which the chair was taken by Mr. C. H. Howard.

Mr. G. Green, District Master, did not wish to be re-elected, and Mr. H. W. Kirtan was therefore elected to the office.—Mr. A. E. Coombes was re-elected hon. secretary, the chairman thanking the District Master and secretary for their services during the past year.

Six new members were elected from Writtle, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Galleywood on Saturday, February 13th.

Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to Rev. S. J. Burling for conducting the service, and to Mr. R. C. Clark for accompanying the hymns.—In reply, Rev. S. J. Burling said it had been a great pleasure to be present, and he hoped that he would have the opportunity to meet the ringers again.—Ringing continued till 9 p.m. in various methods.

ROSS-ON-WYE. — On Saturday, October 3rd, at the Parish Church of St. Mary, 1,008 Bob Major: T. Baldwin 1, J. Gillett 2, J. W. Jones 3, G. Popnell 4, W. T. Poston 5, J. Austin (conductor) 6, J. Webb 7, J. Clark 8. Rung after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples as a welcome to the Bishop of Hereford to Ross for an ordination service.

REVERSE STEDMAN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I thank the Rev. E. S. Powell and Mr. Trollope for their letters, though neither, I think, justifies the transposing of the reverse methods.

Their contention seems to be that no starting place is, theoretically, more correct than any other, but Mr. Powell has a preference for starting with a whole six, and he tells us there is no sufficient reason for preserving the original go off. Mr. Trollope mentions that Stedman with the ordinary start shows a symmetrical 'twelve,' which seems to me to be quite a good reason for retaining this go off.

The plain course of Bob Minor consists of five symmetrical leads, and we start to ring it at the beginning of a lead. I agree with Mr. Powell that there is one reason for so doing which does not apply to Stedman, but I do not feel that it is the sole reason. If a plain course of Stedman Doubles, or of Reverse Stedman Doubles, consists (as it does) of five symmetrical divisions of 12 rows each, then it seems to me quite natural to start to ring it at the beginning of a 'twelve,' and that Mr. Powell's terms, 'an artificial starting place' and the 'strangeness of the go off' would apply more reasonably to a start at any point other than a 'twelve'-head.

But let us come to practical considerations. In ringing the slow work of Stedman we make our first whole turn by a whole pull (at lead) WRONG, a blow in second's and a whole pull RIGHT. In reversing the method, we understand that we must do our slow work behind, and the dodging in front; but in ringing Reverse Stedman Doubles, as given in the 'Collection,' we should have to do our first whole turn by a whole pull RIGHT, a blow in fourth's, and a whole pull WRONG, which closely resembles our LAST whole turn in Stedman. The remainder of the work is altered correspondingly, of course.

Surely this would prove confusing to a Stedman band attempting Reverse Stedman for the first time. Still I ask, why need this confusion be thrust upon them?

The committee does not profess to have given us a variation of Reverse Stedman, but 'Reverse Stedman' itself. My view that their 'Reverse Stedman' is not the old method reversed may perhaps be made clearer by a homely illustration. I part my hair on the left. When I look into a mirror I see a fellow who parts his hair on the right. He is 'The Mad Hatter' reversed. If I open Snowdon's Standard Methods—Diagrams—at Stedman, and hold it up facing the glass for that fellow to see, the diagram HE shows ME is Stedman reversed. If your readers will try it, I have little doubt what their verdict will be.—Yours faithfully,
THE MAD HATTER.

SYMMETRY.

Dear Sir,—When the present Methods Committee realise that the following Principles: Stedman, Reverse Stedman, Carter and Reverse Carter, all have separate BASIC PRINCIPLES of twelve rows to a division in which each separate move can be shown, just as the moves of methods can be shown in the Plain or Treble Bob Principles, they may possibly alter their views as to the symmetry of Principles.

That Stedman knew something of symmetry is evidenced by the way in which he produced his Principle.

That there are BASIC PRINCIPLES for 12, 10, 8, 6 and 4 rows to a division in Principles, in which can be shown the separate moves of the particular Principle, is known to—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

AMERICAN CLASS REBUILT AFTER VACATION.

With the opening of the new school year at Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A., where Messrs. Mears and Stainbank erected a ring of ten bells, Mr. I. J. Attwater, the instructor, became actively engaged in rebuilding the band. Of his original 17 members who took up ringing when the bells were opened, four graduated and left the school, and five others lost interest. Mr. Attwater thus had eight, who had learnt to handle a bell, as the nucleus, when the new term began. He is building up a class of 20 students to allow for 'lenkage' of the non-enthusiasts.

Ten of the present band have been taking part in ringing 'hunting leads' on the open bells, while six of the others are very promising pupils. Plain courses of Grandsire Triples on the tower bells and Bob Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Triples on handbells are now being practised. Mr. Attwater tells us that progress has been very encouraging, and he looks forward to the winter's 'campaign' with confidence.

This week-end the ringers are paying a visit to Mr. S. Warren Sturgess, at Groton School, Mass., for a ringing meeting of the two schools to-day and to-morrow. This should be a most interesting event and a fine stimulant to the cause of change ringing in U.S.A.

Many people have been to the bell tower at Kent School during the summer to listen to the bells. While the school was closed for the vacation set changes, hymns and old English songs were played on the bells, in lieu of ringing, and were listened to with interest by the visitors.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

CROYDON.—At St. Peter's Church, on Sunday, November 29th, 1,259 Grandsire Caters: W. J. Adcock 1, D. Wright (conductor) 2, C. Dean 3, H. E. Wills 4, F. W. Larbey 5, W. Bulpitt 6, F. Leek 7, E. Denham 8, F. E. Collins 9, R. H. Dove 10. Rung as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston on the first anniversary of their wedding.

READING, BERKS.—On Sunday, November 29th, at St. Giles' Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: R. Sawyer 1, W. Osborne 2, A. W. Osborne (conductor) 3, L. T. Osborne 4, A. Bailey 5, H. A. Osborne 6, A. Jeffery 7, H. Osborne 8. Rung for the Confirmation service, also as a birthday compliment to the ringer of the 2nd.

GOSPEL OAK.—At St. Martin's Church, for evening service, on Sunday, November 15th, 720 Bob Minor: A. Harwin 1, T. G. Bannister 2, F. Bondfield 3, R. Newman 4, E. Bondfield 5, A. Warren (conductor) 6. The conductor's first attempt to call a 720 in any method.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.FIRST STEDMAN AT TRURO BRANCH MEETING.

A successful meeting of the Truro Branch of the Diocesan Guild was held at Vryan on Saturday, November 21st, when about forty ringers were present from St. Gluvias, St. Dennis, St. Ewe, Truro Cathedral and the local band. Vryan have lately rejoined the Guild after a lapse of many years, and the tower is all the more welcomed because it was one of the first to be affiliated when the Guild was formed over twenty years ago, and the Vicar at that time, Canon Kempe, was the first secretary of the Diocesan Guild.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Gerwyn Rhys, who in the course of his address mentioned the early days of the Guild at Vryan.

A sumptuous tea was provided in the school, and two big log fires were greatly appreciated, seeing that the church heating apparatus had refused to work.

A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Major C. F. Jerram to the Vicar, the local ringers and lady helpers, and this was seconded by the Rev. W. H. R. Trowhella. Both speakers referred to the Stedman tercentenary, and urged the various bands to ring on December 5th for a short while.

A feature of the meeting was the good striking that prevailed throughout and the general improvement in the ringing was very noticeable.

After tea a splendidly struck 120 of Stedman Doubles was rung by: Major C. F. Jerram 1, A. S. Roberts 2, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 3, G. W. Taysom (conductor) 4, W. H. Southard 5, W. H. Sleeman 6. It is good to think that the first Stedman ever rung at a Truro Branch meeting has been accomplished in the tercentenary year.

NORTHANTS' OLDEST RINGER.DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM J. GILBERT, OF RAUNDS.

We regret to record the death of Mr. W. J. Gilbert, of Raunds, the oldest ringer in Northamptonshire, which took place on Sunday, November 8th. Mr. Gilbert, who had reached the advanced age of 80, had been a ringer for over 50 years. His first peal, Bob Triples, was rung at Titchmarsh in 1882, conducted by C. W. Clarke, of Bedford, and in 1883 Mr. Gilbert was one of the first to help form the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Association. With the late Mr. H. Stubbs, Mr. Gilbert did a lot of spade work in teaching young bands.

The funeral took place on Armistice Day. The bearers were four of his oldest friends. At the graveside were, among others, Messrs. H. Chapman, W. Perkins, A. Perkins, G. Jeffs, sen., G. Jeffs, sen., G. H. Roberts, C. Willson, T. Willson, and R. Loveday. Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung on the bells half-muffled by G. W. Roberts 1, A. Perkins 2, H. Copperwheat 3, F. Kirk 4, A. Sharman 5, H. Chapman 6, W. Perkins (conductor) 7, R. Loveday 8.

ROCHESTER RINGER'S DEATH.THIRD LOSS TO ST. MARGARET'S TOWER.

The Church of St. Margaret, Rochester, has suffered yet another loss among the bellringers, the third within just over a year, Mr. John Pope Kidd having died on Sunday evening, November 7th, after a long and painful illness, which was patiently borne.

Mr. Kidd had been a ringer at Rochester for 56 years and had been tower secretary for 40 years. He was also one of the first members of the Kent County Association, and his many friends will extend to his family their deepest sympathy in the loss they have sustained. Two of his sons are bellringers, one belonging to the St. Margaret's band, and the younger being a member of St. Mary's, Chatham.

On Sunday evening, November 14th, a representative band of the district rang a memorial quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Margaret's Church, Rochester, with the bells half-muffled: T. Brister (St. Margaret's) 1, H. Hogarth (Chatham) 2, D. T. Hills (St. Margaret's) 3, W. Walker (Newington) 4, S. Shellock (district secretary, conductor) 5, J. Rayner (Cathedral) 6, E. A. G. Allen (Frindsbury) 7, A. Haylor (St. Margaret's) 8.

THE STEDMAN SPIRIT.

About eleven months ago 'The Ringing World' set out to organise a national commemoration of the tercentenary of Fabian Stedman's birth. Last Saturday that work was completed, and we may, perhaps, be pardoned if we say that the success of our efforts and the fulfilment of our aims is a matter of great gratification. No proposal ever put before the Exercise has captured the imagination of ringers as this scheme has done. It has revealed a wonderful unity of purpose; it has manifested, too, the extraordinary place which Stedman retains, after a lapse of three centuries, in the appreciation of the Exercise. What Stedman did, he did purely for the love of the art; he could have anticipated no reward except the satisfaction of knowing that he had done what in him lay to preserve whatever knowledge of change ringing existed and to consolidate its foundations and extend its boundaries so that those who came after him might have a more stable and more commodious structure in which to develop the science. There is a lesson in this for all of us. Too many ringers in these days want their ringing provided for them; they are willing to take all there is to be got out of it, but are not so ready to put into it all of which they are capable. If everyone was imbued with the spirit of Stedman, and was anxious to leave the art a little better than he found it, in his tower, in his Guild, or in the Exercise as a whole, ringing would be all the better and ringers more efficient in the service of the Church.

There was a remarkable enthusiasm about last Saturday's gathering at Cambridge, and among all those present the day, we feel sure, will remain an interesting memory. "Gratitude, thankoffering and thanksgiving" were, as the Vicar of St. Benedict's Church reminded the large congregation, the keynote of the service, and it has been in that spirit that the whole scheme has been carried out. The commemoration proposals were launched through 'The Ringing World,' but they could not have been carried to such a successful issue without the co-operation of the Exercise as a whole, and particularly of certain leading members of it, who threw themselves wholeheartedly into the scheme, and have given unstintingly of their expert knowledge, time and labour, in order that nothing might be left undone which would ensure that the work of restoration should be as complete and effective as possible. In this connection 'The Ringing World' gratefully acknowledges the assistance given by the president, the hon. secretary and the hon. librarian of the Central Council. Their work has been absolutely invaluable. Then, too, we have to acknowledge the enthusiasm, the courtesy and the help

JOHN NICOLL,

Church Bell Rope and Clock Rope
Manufacturer,

54, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDON, S.E.13

Late of BERMONDSEY and PECKHAM.

Makers to St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Imperial Institute, Canterbury, Edinburgh, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peterborough, Melbourne (Australia), Rochester, Dublin, St. Patrick's, Manchester, Durban, and Worcester Cathedrals, etc., etc.

Mufliers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

of the venerable Vicar of St. Benedict's, the Rev. W. Greenwood, who has smoothed away difficulties, and, in fact, made the whole scheme possible.

From this time onward, as we say elsewhere, St. Benedict's will enshrine all our memories of Fabian Stedman; it will be hallowed ground to ringers in the generations to come. The tower, already a national relic in the antiquarian sense, is now a national possession in the eyes of the Exercise. More than any other place in the kingdom will it be looked upon as the first home of change ringing, and, enfolded as it is in the bosom of the University, we hope that in the future it may be a training ground from which many young men may go out into the world to promote the art, as Stedman himself went out as a 'missionary' more than two hundred and fifty years ago. If this end can be effected, the ringers' national memorial to one of the art's greatest pioneers will be something more than an act of gratitude shown in the restoration of an historical peal of bells; it will be a memorial in what we believe to be the true Stedman spirit, namely, a means of diffusing knowledge of the 'artes and mysteries' of change ringing.

GODMANCHESTER, HUNTS.—On Saturday, October 3rd, at the Parish Church, an attempt for a peal in connection with the harvest thanksgiving had to be brought round, owing to illness near the church, after ringing 3,328 changes of Kent Treble Bob, the band being: J. Smart (longest length Treble Bob Major) 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, B. Wayman 3, M. Ginn 4, F. C. Ginn 5, J. Ginn 6, R. Smith (longest length Major) 7, F. Warrington (conductor) 8.

REV. F. J. O. HELMORE—OCTOGENARIAN.

The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, for more than 30 years hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, on Wednesday of last week celebrated his 80th birthday, and received many congratulations, in which ringers not only in Kent, but the country will join. He has been connected with Canterbury Cathedral, of which he is a Minor Canon, for over 50 years, and has served under five Archbishops and six Deans.

To him more than to any other single individual the Kent Association owes its present proud position, and the ringers at many towers rang the bells in his honour. Peals were rung at Brenchley and Sittingbourne, and among the touches were the following:—

At St. Nicholas-at-Wade, on December 2nd, 720 Bob Minor: A. Prett 1, G. H. Gore 2, P. Gore 3, W. Laws (conductor) 4, H. Beake 5, F. Beake 6.

At St. Martin's, Herne, on December 2nd, 720 Bob Minor by the local band.

At St. Vincent's Church, Littlebourne, on December 2nd, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor: H. Stringer 1, J. P. Cobbold 2, P. W. Smith 3, W. Savage 4, H. Bramble 5, A. Johnson (conductor) 6.

At St. Mary's, Dover, on December 2nd, St. Mary's Society rang a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes): G. Eagles 1, S. A. Wells 2, J. Eagles 3, C. R. Millway 4, H. J. Saunders 5, R. T. Clark 6, C. Turner (conductor) 7, H. Whitehead 8. First quarter of Bob Major by the treble and 6th ringers.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN WARD.A VETERAN LONG EATON RINGER.

The death occurred on November 29th, at 59, Regent Street, Long Eaton, of Mr. John Ward, who had reached the advanced age of 81 years. Mr. Ward was one of the first members of the Midland Counties Association, having joined in 1883. In his earlier days he was associated with Mr. John Taylor, sen., and later with Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., also with the late Sir Arthur Heywood. He was a man with a striking personality, bluff and hearty. He was an able conductor.

He recently had a seizure, from which he never recovered. He attended the last annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association and looked forward to being at the jubilee meeting next year. It was interesting to hear him talk of his old days, and his recollections of men like William Cooter, Murray Hayes, Ted Horrex and other and London ringers since departed.

The deceased was buried in Long Eaton Cemetery on December 2nd, the Rev. T. A. L. Phillips officiating. The bells of Long Eaton Parish Church were rung half-muffled at all services on Sunday, December 6th.

NEW SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR RECORD.MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION BAND'S PERFORMANCE.

The Middlesex Association band that in the last year or two have made history in peal ringing by their Spliced Surprise Major performances carried their records one step further last week, when they rang the longest length on this plan—a 5,760 in nine methods. It is an outstanding performance upon which the ringers and particularly the conductor are to be congratulated; while the ingenuity of the composer, Mr. A. J. Pitman, of Port Talbot, also deserves recognition.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Harry Mason, of Hagley, Stourbridge, has been appointed by the directors as chairman of Lloyd's South Wales Testing House Co., Ltd., Cardiff. Mr. Mason has had a lifelong interest in ringing, and is a member of many ringing associations and guilds.

Which is the oldest ringing society in the country? The question is asked by a correspondent because he has discovered in the Lancashire Association's report that one of its members was admitted in A.D. 1028. Our correspondent suggests that this ringer might have known William the Conqueror, let alone Fabian Stedman, and, we understand, he is still on the active list.

Among the peals rung to celebrate the Tercentenary was one at St. Ambrose's Church, Bristol, when Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport, Mon, and Mr. Samuel Phillips met for peal ringing for the second time in their lives. The first occasion was a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Caerleon in 1889—forty-two years ago!

CORNWALL CELEBRATES THE TERCENTENARY.

A HAPPY GATHERING AT TRURO.

A few short prayers, in which the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella mentioned Fabian Stedman, in St. Kea Church, near Truro, on Saturday was the beginning of a happy gathering at Truro in connection with the celebration of the Stedman Tercentenary. Members of Truro Cathedral company were joined by Maj. C. F. Jerram and a few friends from Penryn, and the bells were kept going to Stedman Doubles and Grandsire Doubles and Triples. Afterwards a move was made to Truro, where about twenty sat down in St. Mary's Hall to tea, prepared by Mrs. W. H. Southeard and two of the lady members of the Cathedral hand. There was then just enough time to hand round tobacco pouches and cigarettes (and for the non-smokers to do the washing up) before going to the Cathedral, where over an hour was spent in ringing Stedman Doubles on the back six, Grandsire Doubles on the front six and Grandsire Caters before leaving for Kenwyn Church. The diocesan secretary saw that everyone present wrote their name on a special page in the visitors' book as having taken part in ringing on the day of the Stedman commemoration. At Kenwyn Church more Stedman Doubles were rung and a few touches of Grandsire Triples, and just after 8 o'clock the bells were lowered in peal. Thus ended the programme, which had been arranged to honour one who had given those who took part a method which is delightful to ring and musical to listen to.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at All Saints', Hastings, on Saturday, December 5th, when about 20 members attended from Battle, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Hastings (Christ Church, Blacklands, and St. Clement's), Heathfield, St. Leonards, Lewes, Sedlescombe, Rye and Uckfield.

Good practice was had in various methods during the afternoon and evening.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. A. Penson) and the Rev. N. E. Hope, the latter giving a most interesting address upon Fabian Stedman, whose Tercentenary was being celebrated at Cambridge that day.

A splendid tea was provided in the Parish Room, the Rector presiding. Following the tea the Rector gave an interesting lecture on the history of All Saints' Parish Church bells, giving the dates when the original peal of five were provided, when they were augmented to six bells, and the provision of the full octave in 1922. He was pleased to record that they now had an enthusiastic band of ringers under the leadership of Mr. Levett.

At the short business meeting the Rector occupied the chair. The local secretary (Mr. G. W. Stokes) announced that the annual meeting of the division would be held at Eastbourne in March next. He also proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and for presiding at the tea and meeting. Mr. W. Franks also proposed a vote of thanks to the organist for his services.

The Rev. E. A. Penson, in responding, first congratulated the Rev. N. E. Hope on his address upon Fabian Stedman. He added that he was pleased to welcome the members of the County Association. He considered that they had a good peal of bells, and he hoped that the ringers had found enjoyment in ringing them that afternoon.

The members returned to the tower and kept the bells going up till about 8 o'clock. Two well-struck touches of Stedman were brought round to commemorate the Fabian Stedman Tercentenary.

MISSING RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—The above society was the band of ringers attached to the Church of St. Thomas, Stourbridge. They took the name of 'Chapel Youths' because it was originally the chapel-of-ease to the Ancient Parish Church of Oldswinford.

The book containing the full records of the above society is in our district somewhere, and Stourbridge ringers would be very grateful if it were returned to the tower where it belongs. I have scrutinised it many times, but I have lost all trace of it since we buried Mr. A. W. Pugh, the old towerkeeper.

THE CELEBRATION OF STEDMAN'S TERCENTENARY.

DEDICATION OF THE RESTORED TOWER AND BELLS AT ST. BENEDICT'S CHURCH.

A MEMORABLE DAY AT CAMBRIDGE.

The tercentenary of the birth of Fabian Stedman was commemorated on Saturday. The centre of interest was Cambridge, but in many other parts of the country ringers joined in the celebration.

At St. Benedict's Church, where the Saxon tower and the bells on which Stedman rang have been restored, a thanksgiving service was held and the work dedicated in the presence of a large gathering of ringers representative of the whole Exercise.

Ringers came from most of the counties in England and from South Wales; nearly every association and guild had one or more members present, and, having trod the hallowed spot which Stedman himself had frequented, and joined in the inspiring service, those who were privileged to share directly in the commemoration will retain lifelong memories of the wonderful gathering which met to do honour to one of the first and greatest pioneers of the art of change ringing.

THE COMMEMORATION SCHEME.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE AT ST. BENEDICT'S CHURCH.

Nearly three hundred ringers from all parts of the country made a pilgrimage on Saturday to the church which will for the future enshrine all our memories of Fabian Stedman, a pioneer of the art and science of change ringing, a founder of the Exercise. We know little of Stedman himself, but among the undisputed facts of his life there is nothing more definite than that he was a ringer at St. Benedict's Church. It was here that he practised the art in which he was destined to play so important a part; it was here that first was rung the incomparable principle which bears his name, and it was these bells that enabled him to develop the interest which eventually prompted him to write the first text books on the subject of bell-ringing.

But if to-day we know little of the man himself—we cannot be certain even of the place or date of either his birth or death—we are happily in possession of material things with which he was associated. There are still one or two copies of the original editions of his books; in St. Benedict's tower are five of the six bells upon which he rang, and they hang in the same frame in which they swung when Fabian Stedman was a ringer in Cambridge. The tower itself, which was ancient even in Stedman's days, still stands as a witness to the efficient craftsmanship of our Saxon forefathers. Age, however, had begun to take its toll; cracks had developed in its walls. The bells and the bell frame through years of neglect had also sunk into decrepitude. No longer was it considered safe to ring the bells—except for short periods very occasionally, when it was desired that some signal honour should be shown in connection with a parochial or national event, they had remained silent, and only the tenor was chimed for service by 'clocking.'

A NATIONAL RESPONSE.

Then came the year marking the 300th anniversary of that which tradition has always associated with Stedman's birth; how better could the event be commemorated than by restoring the bells? It was a unique opportunity for the Exercise, and the suggestion put forward in the columns of 'The Ringing World' by the editor was seized by the ringers of the land and responded to with alacrity. Never was any appeal to the Exercise so popular. Associations and Guilds, companies and individuals took up the proposal in a way that at once made its success assured as a national scheme. Carefully the ground was prepared. The sympathy of the church authorities was invoked and readily given, and here it should be mentioned that the Vicar, the Rev. W. Greenwood, not only entered wholeheartedly into the project, but gave invaluable assistance in all the many details into which local considerations entered. In such a scheme, however, there were other bodies to be consulted, and prejudices, if any, allayed. The tower is not merely a parochial possession; it is a national relic. Before any interference with such a building could be made, the agreement of antiquarian authorities was almost imperative if the assent of the Ecclesiastical Court was to be forthcoming. The plans had, therefore, to be very carefully gone into, and it was this phase of the scheme which was kindly undertaken by Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, one of the greatest living authorities on the very involved subject of the strains and stresses set up by moving bells upon the structure of church towers. The result of Mr. Lewis' investigations was a scheme to lower the bells 12ft. beneath their old position, and to carry the frame on a reinforced concrete corbel course running completely round the four walls of the building, thus bonding the tower together and spreading the stresses more evenly over the whole structure. In addition, the frame was turned so that the greater strains were taken by the stronger walls, which was not the case before the restoration. While the work was in progress the cracks in the walls were grouted with cement, and the tower is stronger now than it has been, probably, for hundreds of years.

THE RESTORATION.

When the plans had been definitely settled, the Central Council, representing the Exercise, was asked to take over the scheme, with the result that the following committee was appointed to see the undertaking through: The president, the hon. secretary (Mr. G. W. Fletcher), the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (who has acted as hon. treasurer of the fund), Major J. H. B. Hesse, and Messrs. T. R. Dennis, J. S. Goldsmith and E. A. Young. The restoration involved two separate contracts. The work upon the tower itself was carried out, under the direction of Mr. Troup, an eminent London architect, by Mr. W. Sindall, of Cambridge. The contract for the restoration of the bells and frame was obtained by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The bells were removed to their foundry, where they were cleaned by sand blasting; two of the bells, the 3rd and 4th, were slightly tuned in the tap notes (anything in the nature of harmonic tuning having been expressly forbidden), the old clapper staples, which were cast into the bells and were, of course, liable to crack them, were bored out and new independent staples fitted. Entirely new fittings, including clappers, were provided, but in keeping with the character of the scheme, the canons were retained and the bells rehung on wooden headstocks, but with ball bearings.

When the old frame was taken to Loughborough it was dismantled and rebuilt. Only one or two of the ancient timbers had to be replaced, for it was in a remarkable state of preservation. Its massiveness would carry a much heavier ring of bells, and it has gone back into the tower further strengthened by iron angle plates and tie bolts. New main beams of oak of heavy section carry the frame, and most of the old beams have been left in position to add strength to the tower, some of the many openings in the walls having also been stopped up on the inside not only to help reduce the volume of sound outside the church, but to give an added strength to the upper part of the building.

In Stedman's days and up to the time of this restoration the bells were rung from a ringing chamber, above the tower arch. How it was approached formerly we do not know, but in later days it has been reached by a vertical iron ladder, which was both difficult and dangerous to negotiate by those not used to climbing, and which has deterred many from going aloft. It has been a valuable feature of the restoration from the ringers' point of view, and one which has been facilitated by the dropping of the frame, that the ropes have now been brought to the ground floor. A climbing apparatus has been installed, and another incidental improvement, making for the safety of the tower, has been a new iron stove pipe for the church's heating apparatus. This used to pass through the pit of one of the bells and was in somewhat dangerous proximity to the frame. When the tower was inspected it was long past its best days. A new flue has been erected, carried into the wall where it passes the frame, and everything that safety demands has been done to guard against accidental fire.

The restoration has thus been complete. It was designed by men of unsurpassed experience; it has been carried out with superb craftsmanship. The ringers of the world have not only enabled a great task to be undertaken, but they have by their generosity ensured its being done in the best possible way. The commemoration work has been rounded off by placing an explanatory tablet in bell metal on the north wall of the tower, where it will remain imperishable for future generations to read and to bear witness to what the Exercise has done to perpetuate the memory of one of the greatest figures in our art.

A GREAT DAY.

THE SERVICE AT ST. BENEDICT'S CHURCH.

Saturday was one of the greatest days in the annals of the Exercise; it was unique in ringing history. Ringers came to Cambridge from all parts of England to share in the event, and, when the great thanksgiving service in St. Benedict's began, the church was filled to capacity, many being unable to find seats. It is estimated that close upon four hundred people were present. There was only one disappointment, and that was that illness prevented the Right Rev. Bishop Price (Archdeacon of Ely) from attending to dedicate the work. His doctor had refused to allow him to leave his bed, and the ceremony, in consequence, was performed by the Rural Dean, Canon Adams. In addition to the Vicar, the Rural Dean and Canon G. F. Coleridge, the preacher, many clergy robed, including Professor Barnes, D.D., Professor Whitney, D.D., the Vicar of Great St. Mary's, the Vicar of St. Andrew's the Great, Dr. Chaytor (St. Catherine's College), Rev. W. W. Lucas, Rev. E. R. Ostrehan, the Vicar of St. Mary the Less, the Rector of St. Botolph's, the Rev. C. G. Wilkinson (the veteran senior curate of St. Benedict's), the Rev. R. Copeman (formerly hon. secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association), the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake (present hon. secretary of the association), the Rev. H. Drake (hon. secretary, Suffolk Guild), the Rev. J. F. Amies (Vicar of Ravenstone), etc. Among the congregation were the Mayor and Mayoress of Cambridge, the Vice-Chancellor, and the Master of Downing, while Dr. Giles, Master of Emmanuel, who was engaged at the Senate House, was represented by Mrs. Giles.

There was no choir, but the volume of the voices that rose with the opening bars of the processional hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' must have thrilled everyone. When the clergy had reached the chancel and the hymn had ended, the Vicar spoke a few sentences of introduction.

'The keynote of this commemoration,' he said, 'is gratitude, gratitude in its fulness; thanksgiving; gladsome recognition of the genius of Fabian Stedman and his clear call to serve the church, every man according to his ability and opportunity. And the people of this parish and congregation join in the tribute paid to one of its most famous men and recognise that a great work has been done for the Church, a work altogether beyond our powers to have accomplished. And so we rejoice together and together give thanks.'

Evening song was said up to the second lesson. The psalms were 122, 'I was glad when they said unto me: we will go into the house of ring, in the manner in which Stedman gave it to the Exercise, namely, with two 'extremes.' Heard in peal, the bells were decidedly pleasing; and, considering their varied age, by no means a poor ring. At the conclusion of the ringing Canon Coleridge held the rapt attention of the large congregation while he preached the commemoration sermon.

THE ADDRESS.

Canon Coleridge selected an extremely appropriate text upon which to base his sermon. It was from Ecclesiasticus xxxix., 9: 'Many shall commend his understanding: and so long as the world endureth, it shall not be blotted out: his memorial shall not depart away, and his name shall live from generation to generation.' Here, he said, we have reference to one who was truly wise; the words are almost prophetic of him who is so much in our memory to-day: they are well suited to the unique occasion which has brought us here. Such a concourse of ringers, assembled for the commemoration of the life and work of a single man, marked out among his fellows, has never before been seen in our history. We all know why we are assembled here—to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the birth of Fabian Stedman, the father of all true change ringing; to rededicate the bells on which he rang, on which he practised and taught his matchless Principle; to make good for generations to come the old Saxon tower in which the bells have been hanging since his day; to erect a tablet setting forth the occasion: the whole a permanent memorial to that gifted man. It is a memorial such as has commended itself to ringers throughout the land: the ready way in which the subscriptions, big and small, have been voluntarily tendered up to £480 shows in no uncertain way how dear is the name of Stedman, how determined we are to perpetuate his memory in a very tangible way; to see to it that he is no longer 'numbered among those who have no the Lord,' and 150, 'O praise God in His holiness.' The Rural Dean read the first lesson from Numbers x., 1-11, and the second lesson, from I. Corinthians xiv., 1-15, was read by the Vice-Chancellor.

THE CENTRAL ACT.

Then, during the singing of the hymn, 'Lifted now within the steeple,' a procession was formed to the tower for the central act of the service. Headed by the Churchwardens, the Architect (Mr. F. W. Trapp), the Bell Founder (Mr. E. Denison Taylor), the President of the Central Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis) and other members of the representative band chosen to open the bells, walked to the tower in front of the Rural Dean and clergy. Here the President of the Council drew aside the covering of the memorial tablet and requested the Rural Dean to dedicate the work 'in memory of Fabian Stedman, to the glory and praise of God.'

The Rural Dean then offered prayers and formally dedicated the work in these words: 'In the Faith of Jesus Christ we dedicate this work to the glory of God and in memory of His servant, Fabian Stedman, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.'

It was an impressive moment; it consummated the work to which ringers in Great Britain and many parts of the world had set their hands and of which they had individually and collectively borne the cost.

Handing the ropes to the Vicar, the Rural Dean committed the bells to his care as a sacred trust to be ever and only used in God's service and for His Glory, and then, as the clergy retraced their steps to the chancel, the bells pealed out, rung by Mr. J. D. Matthews (Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths) 1, Mr. E. H. Lewis (President of the Central Council) 2, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) 3, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) 4, Mr. William Pye (Master of the Middlesex County Association) 5, Mr. J. S. Hawkins (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) 6. An extent of Stedman Doubles was memorial, 'perished as though they had never been.' 'Honoured in his generation—the glory of his times,' his name and his works do follow him, untarnished through the centuries. We want to show that we hold him in no less honour in our own day than was meted out to him when he composed his Principle and gave it once and for all to his fellows in the Exercise. Knowing the Principle as set out by him on five bells—soon to be extended to higher numbers—knowing how highly it is esteemed among ringers; how frequently peals are rung (for myself, I want nothing better), I can confidently echo the words of my oldest ringing friend, who wrote a book on Stedman, the Rev. Charles Douglas Percy Davies, where he says, 'There is no more delightful method than Stedman: ringers of methods of all degrees of intricacy find in it a continual freshness and charm. If we are to seek for the grounds of such a well-deserved popularity, we shall probably be right in ascribing it chiefly to the varied nature of its work, while at the same time its music has a peculiar, smooth and mellow cadence.'

We know the method, we love to ring it, but do we know the man who produced it? We know something, but not much. 'A printer in Cambridge'—that was his profession—but we do not know where he was actually born: there is no mention of his name in any register in Cambridge: we do not know for certain whether he was baptised, or whether his name was accidentally omitted. Registers in those days were only written up for the most part annually. It may be that his mother gave him birth in some outlying village with better air and more healthy surroundings, for, about the time of his birth the Plague was raging in the town itself. We do not know. If we did, if only we knew the actual date and place of his birth or baptism, much that is obscure might be easily cleared up. Learned men have done their best, they have searched the records and registers and rolls of Cambridge without result. All we are certain about is that he was 'a printer at Cambridge,' of necessity several years after his birth. Of his earliest years we know nothing; of his latter end we are no better informed. True, some 30 years ago a will was produced, signed by one Fabian Stedman, but on careful examination and analysis we must come to the conclusion that in all probability it was the will of some other man. Our man was 'a printer in Cambridge': this man was connected with the Excise and lived in London. I should like myself to think that they were one and the same. I should like to think that Fabian Stedman, the printer at Cambridge, came to London and was appointed head of the printing office in the Excise and Customs Department; that he held a lucrative post under Government, and 'died in a good old age, full of riches and honour,' but the evidence is too flimsy to admit of such a supposition. The will, however, is full of interest. The testator leaves numerous legacies to his sisters, nephews, nieces and great-nephew and nieces and to cousins; nothing to wife or children, from which we may gather that he lived and died a bachelor—an uncle evidently mindful of his nearest relatives. He leaves smaller legacies to those with whom he came into daily contact—'to the maid who cleans my office,' to 'the four watchmen of the yard,' and, what is of most interest to us, 'to the poor of the parish where I was born, £10, and to the poor of the parish where I shall die, £5.' This £5 was duly paid by his executors to the parish of St. Andrew Undershaft in the city of London. It appears in the churchwardens' accounts. That he died and was buried there is certain. His name is entered in the registers, November 16th, 1713, though no memorial in stone or marble can be traced. But, 'the parish where I was born,' that is the point in question. If only we could discover that, we could supply many after details. We could, moreover, say with absolute certainty whether the Fabian Stedman who was 'a printer at Cambridge' was one and the same Fabian Stedman who was in the Excise in London and left a notable will, whose place of burial we know without any manner of doubt. As it is, the evidence is not sufficient for adequate proof. There is a lesson attaching to this will which ought to be learnt by all of us—the lesson to be perfectly accurate and explicit in the smallest detail when making our last will and testament. We all ought to make our wills, even though the possessions we wish to leave are but of small intrinsic value. 'The place of my birth,' for example, is not sufficient. We should give the name of the parish, the name and situation of the house or number of the street, to be on the safe side. And if, for instance, we should wish to leave a small legacy in appreciation, say, of a valued servant, who had served faithfully for perhaps the best part of a lifetime, we should take care that the name is given in full, that the intended recipient is not described as 'my gardener,' or 'my housekeeper,' otherwise long and faithful service might be passed over, the executors paying the legacy, as in duty bound, to him or her who held those positions on the day of the death of the testator, possibly having held them but a few weeks. The will would take effect to their benefit to the entire exclusion of those whose benefit the testator fondly, but vainly, imagined he had secured. But this is only advice given for what it is worth by an executor who more than once has been puzzled to know and 'do the thing which is right' in the absence of explicit directions.

With this digression let us look at Fabian Stedman as the author of his book, 'Tintinnalogia, or the artes, mysteries and fancies of diffusing of sweet musick.' There is a delightful account given us in Mr. Ernest Morris' book, 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' a book which ought to be in the possession of every ringer throughout the length and breadth of the land—or at least a copy for reference should be deposited in every tower. Experience has taught me that Parochial Church Councils are as ready to supply ringing books for the belfry as they are to provide hymn books and psalters for the choir. Here in this book we can read a most instructive account of a visit paid by Stedman to Leicester in 1669, where not only was our hero honoured by the ringing of the bells, which during his visit 'discoursed sweet musick nightlie,' but was also entertained 'sumptuously,' a large sum, as money went in those days, being expended on 'meates, wines, beere, tobacco and pipes.' After attending morning service at St. Martin's, Fabian Stedman entertained his friends at his inn—a goodly number, for the great hall was filled when, after the midday meal, he addressed his guests at length on 'the artes and mysteries of bell ringing.' An acceptable discourse, we may gather as we read the account, 'for the gentlemen and youth, with many others, clergy and gentlemen, were mightily pleased, all departing for their homes neare seaven of the clock.' Nor did they fail to speed the parting guest on the morrow, not a few accompanying him on his way for a certain distance towards Cambridge.

We pass on to his efforts to disseminate more knowledge in the Metropolis itself. He knew all about the College Youths. He paid several visits to them; he was appointed steward in 1677 and attained the office of Master five years later. Possibly these honours came to him as a signal mark of regard and appreciation, he having dedicated his book to that ancient and honourable fraternity, changing its name to 'Campanologia.' We can well imagine that the London ringers were as quick to recognise his skill and abilities as were the Leicester men, and, seeing how early Stedman was rung there, we might add the Norwich men as well. And there we must leave him—imparting instruction wherever he went. His dust mingles with that of others, we know not of a certainty where. Even his birthplace is not known to us—would that we could discover it. Search, as I have said, has been diligently made in the registers of Cambridge with no result. Would it be too much to ask the clergy or parish clerks of villages, say within a 15 mile radius of Cambridge, to search their registers for the magic name 'Fabian Stedman' about the years 1651 to 1713 for his baptism or burial, and also the churchwardens' books for an entry made in 1713 as to the receipt of £10 for the poor of the parish? If only such entries could be found, much that is obscure would at once come to light; incidentally the gratitude of the whole Exercise would be tendered to him who makes the discovery; richly rewarded would be he who finds them, he would ever be assured of a warm place in the hearts of all to whom the name of Stedman is dear. I can only say that if I happened to be an incumbent anywhere in this neighbourhood I should at once set to work on an investigation of my church registers and parish books. I am fully persuaded that not a few of my clerical brethren would do the same; should they hear of what is wanted they would at once respond, in the good old words of the Church Catechism, 'Yes, verily, by God's help so I will.' May their search be crowned with success! I have said enough: all our thoughts are on the work of remembrance, which is this day dedicated to the glory of God—the ringers' memorial to one of the greatest among them—the restoration of the old tower and bells, in which and on which he practised and taught; with the tablet of commemoration setting forth the occasion, testifying to what has been done by the ringers of the present day, who, as they leave this hallowed spot, as they think to-day and in days to come of him whose memorial we have set up, will not be unmindful of those words with which I began, and with which I will end: 'Many shall command his understanding, and so long as the world endureth, it shall not be blotted out: his memorial shall not depart away, and his name shall live from generation to generation.'

Special prayers were afterwards offered and the inspiring service concluded with the 'Te Deum' and the Blessing.

Several representative bands next rang the bells, the first being members of the Ladies' Guild: Miss V. Robinson (Wokingham), Miss K. Willers (Trumpington), Miss E. Steel, president (Bedford), Miss H. Bill (Norwich), Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet), Mrs. A. D. Barker (Slough). After them came a band of secretaries: C. T. Coles (Middlesex County Association), Mrs. E. K. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild), J. S. Goldsmith (Guildford Diocesan Guild), F. M. Mitchell (Kent County Association), E. Morris (Midland Counties Association), G. W. Fletcher (Central Council). Others followed, in which were many men widely known in the Exercise, and the bells were kept going throughout the rest of the evening until shortly before 9 o'clock, by which time everyone who desired to do so had had the opportunity of a ring on the bells.

HOW THE RINGERS WERE ENTERTAINED.

There has probably never been so much ringing in Cambridge on one day as there was on Saturday, for the bells of St. Benedict's, the twelve at Great St. Mary's, the eight at Great St. Andrew's and the heavy ring of eight at the Roman Catholic Church were at times all going together. Facilities for this ringing were readily granted by the various incumbents, and ringers are greatly indebted to them, and to the authorities at many other churches around Cambridge, where the use of the bells was offered, for the kindly spirit of co-operation which they showed in helping to make the event the success it was. Some intensive work was put in during the day by members of the Commemoration Committee, including particularly the president and hon. secretary of the Council and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, and they received valuable assistance from members of the Society of Cambridge Youths and the Cambridge University Society, who acted as stewards and directed the activities at the various towers.

The morning of the day was pleasant and fine, and early arrivals made a tour of the many places of interest, while the various towers were filled during all the hours that they were open. Lunch was served to a company of 150 in the handsome dining hall at Corpus Christi College, which had been kindly assigned to the use of the ringers for the day by the Master and authorities of the college. Here there was an amusing incident. The president of the Council, who is a Cambridge man, presented to Canon Coleridge (whose Oxford 'patriotism' is well known) a copy of the Commemoration Souvenir, tied with a huge bow of Cambridge ribbon, at the same time expressing the hope that it would remind Canon Coleridge that Cambridge had done a little for change ringing. This rejoinder to the Canon's speech at the Oxford Guild's jubilee was greatly enjoyed.

There were on view, both during lunch and tea, some unique photographs, showing the inscriptions on St. Benedict's bells in their actual size. These had been kindly produced at the expense of Mr. Denison Taylor, and it is hoped they may find a permanent home in St. Benedict's Church.

A company of about 250 partook of tea in the College Hall. It was a happy and informal gathering, but opportunity was taken by the Vicar of St. Benedict's to propose a vote of thanks to those who had been responsible for carrying out the work.

EDITOR, EXERCISE AND EXECUTIVE THANKED.

Rising during tea, the Vicar of St. Benedict's said he desired to propose a vote of thanks to those chiefly concerned in the commemoration. First, to the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' who had brought about this commemoration—the ringleader, he would call him. He congratulated him upon his success. It was one thing to issue an appeal, however, it was another thing to get an answer, and that took him from the Editor to the Exercise. It was the way in which the Exercise had responded to the appeal that enabled them to meet and rejoice that day over the completion of the work. From the Exercise he must pass in his thanks to the Executive, but here he hardly knew where to begin. From the time the proposition was made it would not have been possible for the scheme to have been in better hands. When they learned that the tower was to be in the care of a distinguished architect, that the bells were to be in the hands of the great Loughborough firm and the building part of the scheme in the hands of Mr. Sindall, there was nothing else to be said, but to be thankful that it was in such excellent keeping. He wanted them to understand that the tower and its contents belonged not to them as a parish, but to the universe. The parish were only the guardians and caretakers of the wonderful old tower and of Stedman's bells, and, in a sense, the eyes of the world, especially the ecclesiastical and antiquarian world, were upon them, to see that they kept the tower intact and likewise its contents. Let them suppose—horrible thought—that disaster had befallen their precious relic. What would it mean? It would mean a double disaster. It would mean that not only the casket, but the jewels contained in the casket would be lost to them—the destruction of both the tower and Fabian Stedman's bells. To their immense relief this restoration had taken place, and he could not tell them how thankful they were that the bells could now be rung without trepidation and without the nervousness which they had experienced about their ringing in the past. If they had been unduly nervous in the past it was because, when he came there as incumbent 25 years ago, the diocesan surveyor and architect informed him that there were no less than 20 cracks in the grand old Saxon tower, and it was for that reason they had not allowed the bells to be rung regardless of time and regardless of other considerations. Now there was no obstacle to their being rung in reason, bearing in mind the proximity of the college and surrounding business premises. In conclusion, the Vicar said he would also like to include in the vote of thanks their preacher. It had recently been said by someone that clergy were incapable of speaking sense for more than five minutes at a time (laughter). That statement had been completely falsified that afternoon (applause). He proposed a vote of thanks to the Editor, the Exercise, the Executive and all who had been kind enough to help in making the commemoration the great event it had been (applause).

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' first responded, 'because he was the cause of all the trouble' (laughter). Although the suggestion for the commemoration, with the restoration of Stedman's bells, first came from him, many others had taken a large part in carrying it through, and he desired to acknowledge their help. The response of the Exercise to the appeal had been extraordinary, and it was a source of intense gratification to him that the scheme had proved the huge success which they had seen that day (applause).

The President of the Central Council replied for the Exercise and the Executive. He said they greatly appreciated the fact that they had been allowed to do this important work in St. Bene't's Church and put the bells into ringing order. With regard to the future ringing of the bells—a question raised at the very beginning of the scheme—although no definite arrangements had been made, they believed it would be possible for the Cambridge Youths to ring the bells for service once or twice a month (applause). They also hoped they would be available for visiting hands. The bells had been lowered 12ft. in the tower and some of the openings had been blocked up, but if it was found by experience that the noise outside was still somewhat excessive in the immediate vicinity of the church, the committee would be quite prepared to have the sound modified. It was most important that the sound should be properly moderated both inside and outside the tower, particularly outside, so that the public should have no real cause of complaint (applause). The committee would like to hear the opinion of the college, of the nearby banks and of the general public as to the volume of sound which now escaped from the tower, and they would do their best to get the amount of sound properly adjusted. As far as the Executive were concerned, the scheme had given them great gratification. The Vicar and the parochial officials had been most kind to them and had met their views in every way, so that there had been no difficulties (applause). The origin of the scheme had been entirely due to Mr. Goldsmith, who had done a great deal towards carrying it through as well, and he would also like them to know that as far as the details of the restoration were concerned the work had been done very largely by Mr. Fletcher (applause).

The brief speechmaking concluded with a vote of thanks to the authorities of Corpus Christi College for the use of the hall, and to the college staff for the catering arrangements, proposed by Canon Celeridge.

Heavy rain had begun to fall during the service in the afternoon and continued for most of the evening. This, however, did not deter many from making their way after tea to the various towers, but a large number took advantage of the accommodation provided for their use and comfort at the Lion Hotel, where in one of the great rooms a social gathering was held. Old friends met, new friends were made, healths were pledged, and the time passed happily and all too quickly. Gradually the inexorable calls of train and home thinned the ranks, but it was getting well towards midnight before the last of the party broke up and an historic day was brought to a close.

It was a matter of sincere regret that age and infirmity prevented the attendance of the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, whose work for ringing through the Cambridge University Guild, for more than fifty years, has borne such valuable results; and it was also a disappointment that illness caused the enforced absence of Mr. W. W. Worthington, of Lichfield, a generous donor to the restoration fund. Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Recorder of Lincoln, and Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, was prevented from attending by duties at Birmingham Assize Court.

RINGING FOR THE COMMEMORATION.

At a large number of towers up and down the country special ringing took place on Saturday and Sunday to commemorate the Tercentenary. Perhaps the most unusual ringing of this kind took place at St. Lawrence's Parish Church, Caversfield, Oxfordshire, where there are three bells hung for ringing. Before evensong on Sunday, 720 Stedman Singles were rung in 32 minutes by three members of the Oxford Guild: Cyril Kinch, treble; Leslie Evans, 2; Frederick Sharpe, tenor. This is claimed to be the first 720 on the bells, although Stedman's sixes are rung on them for almost every Sunday service. In addition to the three bells hung for ringing, there is another bell of about 3 cwt. cast between the years 1200 and 1219.

On Saturday, in 47 mins., at Immanuel Church, Streatham, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): John Lee 1, W. J. Ames 2, E. E. Bish 3, E. A. Reeve 4, T. W. Welbourne 5, W. Essery 6, J. W. Chapman (conductor) 7, W. J. Anscombe 8. Also touches of Stedman Triples at St. Leonard's Church by the same band, with R. Grater taking part.

After a peal attempt had failed, at Swindon, Wilts, a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters (1,301 changes) was rung in 52 mins.: R. G. Townsend 1, N. Allnatt 2, H. W. Badger 3, L. A. Wilson 4, H. W. Bishop (conductor) 5, J. Berry 6, S. Palmer 7, E. Bishop 8, W. B. Kynaston 9, E. Coombes 10.

The ringers of Wicken Parish Church made an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples on December 5th in honour of the Stedman Tercentenary, but it unfortunately came to grief after ringing 2 hours 55 mins. with only three more courses to ring. The ringers were all local: J. A. Green (aged 14) 1, T. Roberts 2, T. Read 3, F. Case 4, L. Smith 5, G. Cooper 6, A. J. Green (conductor) 7, C. Warner 8. This was the first attempt of Stedman for the treble ringer and the first attempt for a peal by the tenor man.

At St. Mark's, Swindon, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Stedman Doubles was rung on Saturday with two 'covers' after meeting short for Triples (owing to illness): N. Allnatt 1, J. Penny 2, S. Hopper 3, W. B. Kynaston 4, J. Woodroff 5, F. Weston 6, G. Lawrence 7.

On Saturday, at St. Giles' Church, Reading, Berks, 672 Stedman Triples: W. Osborne 1, A. W. Osborne (conductor) 2, J. Swain 3, L. T. Osborne 4, A. Bailey 5, P. Dyke 6, A. Jeffery 7, H. Osborne 8. On the same day at St. Mary's Church, 504 Stedman Triples: W. Osborne 1, L. T. Osborne 2, A. W. Osborne (conductor) 3, A. Bailey 4, P. Dyke 5, J. Swain 6, A. Jeffery 7, H. Osborne 8.

For the celebration of the Tercentenary, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung by the St. Mary's Society, Dover, in 45 mins. (Brooks' Variation): S. A. Wells 1, T. W. Robinson 2, H. J. Saunders 3, C. George 4, C. R. Millway 5, R. T. Clark 6, C. Turner (conductor) 7, C. Hardeman 8. First quarter of Stedman by the ringers of the 2nd and 4th.

At St. Peter's Church, Bournemouth, on Saturday, in 49 mins., a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in honour of the Tercentenary: E. F. Hondley 1, H. R. Bennett 2, E. Waters 3, A. V. Dent 4, C. R. Forfit 5, H. A. Mitchell 6, A. V. Davis (conductor) 7, C. Chandler 8. Conductor's first attempt to call a quarter-peal of Stedman.

At Fairfield, Glos, on Saturday, between the hours of 2.30 and 4 p.m., touches of Stedman Doubles were rung with 6, 7, 8 covering, the band meeting one short for Triples: Miss F. M. Hope 1, J. Hope (conductor) 2, W. Hayward 3, J. Peyman 4, H. Acock 5, E. Gardener 6, A. King 7, E. Cooper 8.

At Stow-on-the-Wold, Glos, on Sunday, December 6th, for morning service, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Stedman Triples: W. Bennett 1, F. Davis 2, E. Hill 3, B. Phillips 4, R. Hick 5, C. Robbins 6, E. Pardon (conductor) 7, W. Ewins 8.

At Dunstable, Beds, on Sunday, December 6th, for matins, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Stedman Triples in 48 mins.: A. E. Sharnan (conductor) 1, G. H. Sentance 2, A. G. Matthews 3, G. W. Harris 4, G. Heley 5, C. Rollings 6, A. J. Smith 7, P. Ramsay 8.

On Sunday, at the Church of St. Botolph, Bishopsgate, London, for evensong, 1,260 Stedman Triples: W. H. Hewett 1, E. Stith (Port Talbot) 2, F. Digby 3, E. F. Pike 4, W. R. Madgwick 5, H. Belcher 6, C. W. Roberts (conductor) 7, J. E. Davis 8.

On Sunday, at St. Andrew's, Holborn, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: Joseph S. Hawkins (conductor) 1, Henry C. Alford 2, Arthur Cutmore 3, Robert W. Green 4, Charles J. Choat 5, Frank H. Crook 6, Albert C. Darrell 7, Richard G. Bell 8. Arranged for Messrs. F. H. Crook and R. G. Bell, of Watford, and rung in commemoration of Fabian Stedman.

At Tunstall, Kent, an attempt for Thurstans' four-part unfortunately came to grief at the half-way single: W. A. Wood 1, S. B. Dobbie 2, E. J. Dobbie 3, W. Wood 4, S. E. Taylor 5, G. Kenward 6, W. Spice, sen. (conductor) 7, W. Gorman 8.

To commemorate the Stedman Tercentenary, at Bishop's Stortford, on Saturday, 504 Stedman Triples at St. Michael's Church: F. Springham 1, Rev. F. W. Lane 2, E. Hayden 3, W. M. White 4, H. Bull 5, W. T. Prior 6, F. Bird (conductor) 7, W. Wilkinson 8.—On Sunday, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstans') 1,260 changes, in 45 mins.: R. Hayden 1, F. Springham 2, H. M. White 3, E. A. Wacey 4, H. Bull 5, W. T. Prior 6, F. Bird (conductor) 7, W. Wilkinson 8.

At Burford, Oxon, on Saturday, December 5th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 45 mins. by the local band: T. Bond 1, T. Timms 2, W. Brunsdon 3, T. Midwinter 4, R. Hudson 5, A. Bishop 6, F. Soden (conductor) 7, G. Faulkner 8.

At Pentre Rhondda on Saturday, December 5th, at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: G. Wines 1, W. Palmer 2, W. Cross 3, G. Palmer 4, T. Hamlin 5, J. Lovett 6, T. Page (conductor) 7, H. Crabb 8.

At St. Werburgh's, Kingsley, Staffs, on Saturday, December 5th, for the Stedman Tercentenary, a quarter-peal of Treble Bob Minor (1,296 changes), the methods being Killamarsh, Woodbine, Duke of York, Kent and Oxford: W. Edwards 1, G. Hulme 2, H. Carnwell (conductor) 3, E. Wood 4, F. Edwards 5, W. Carnwell 6.

On Saturday, December 5th, at St. Andrew's Church, Netherton, the local band rang several touches of Stedman Triples in honour of the Tercentenary of Fabian Stedman, including a 504, which was conducted by the leader of the company, Mr. A. Prestidge, sen.

At Stoke-on-Tern, Shropshire, on Saturday, December 5th, 720 Grandsire Doubles in 26 mins.: F. Price 1, T. Price 2, E. V. Rodenhurst (conductor) 3, W. Lycett 4, G. Berry 5, E. Gregory 6. Longest length by ringers of treble, 2nd, 5th and tenor. The 4th ringer hails from Stanton, the remainder are from Hodnet.

At St. Mary's Church, Reigate, 1,260 Stedman Triples was rung on Saturday, December 5th, in honour of the Tercentenary commemoration: *R. Fuller 1, *R. Tuffin 2, *C. Hygate 3, *P. Jeal 4, W. Claydon 5, *A. Willett 6, G. Hoad (conductor) 7, G. Stemp 8. *First quarter-peal in the method.

At Henfield, Sussex, on Sunday, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): F. Parsons 1, Eric Morey 2, C. A. Barnes 3, Willie Morey 4, W. J. Alliss 5, A. E. Baker 6, C. Tyler (conductor) 7, A. Crutenden (first quarter-peal) 8.

On Sunday for evening service at the Church of St. Edmund, Warkton, Northants, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: G. W. Clarke 1, H. Patrick 2, E. J. Sargeant 3, H. O. Mutton 4, B. P. Morris (conductor) 5. Rung to commemorate the Stedman Tercentenary.

GREATEST SINGLE EVENT IN HISTORY OF EXERCISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Stedman Commemoration of last Saturday will stand out for all time not only as a landmark in the annals of ringing, but rather as the greatest single event in the whole history of the Exercise from its earliest beginnings to the present day. As one perforce obliged to take only a passive part in the proceedings at Cambridge, I ask leave to congratulate the author of this magnificent movement first and foremost on the splendid inspiration that prompted its initiation, on the wonderful response to his appeal, the masterly organisation of every detail and the signal success that has crowned the efforts of all those responsible for carrying the project to its triumphant issue. To all those privileged to be present the Tercentenary celebration was a thrilling experience, and I feel confident that the sentiments thus imperfectly expressed are those of every one of your readers.—Yours faithfully,

F. LL. EDWARDS,

Hon. Secretary, Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

SOUVENIRS.

Two splendid souvenirs of the Tercentenary have been prepared and may be obtained by ringers. One is a daintily got up booklet, which records the details of the Commemoration scheme, has a long and interesting article on Fabian Stedman and a description of St. Benedict's and its tower and bells. In addition there is a complete list of subscribers to the Tercentenary Fund. There are several illustrations, including, as a frontispiece, a fine picture of the Saxon tower. Every ringer should secure one of these souvenirs, which can be obtained post free 8d. each from 'The Ringing World' Office, Woking, Surrey.

The other memento of the unique event is an ash tray. A number of these have been turned up out of an ancient oak beam which was removed from St. Benedict's tower in the course of the restoration, and they form very charming souvenirs. Nearly all that were ready were disposed of at Cambridge, but more will shortly be on sale and will be obtainable at 2s. 3d. post free from the Hon. Secretary of the Central Council, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex. Early application for these is desirable, as the number is limited.

NOTICES.

THE CHARGE FOR NOTICES of Meetings inserted under this heading is at the rate of 3d. per line (average 8 words) per insertion, with a minimum charge of 1/6.

'The Ringing World' can be sent direct by post from the Editorial Office for 4/- per quarter.

All communications should be sent to THE EDITORIAL OFFICE of 'THE RINGING WORLD,' WOKING, SURREY.

ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS (Established 1637).—The subscription of 1s. 8d., which enables members who have not met twenty times to vote on matters of finance, is now due. Meetings for practice will be held at St. Magnus' on December 17th and 31st; *St. Paul's Cathedral on the 15th; *St. Michael's, Cornhill, on the 29th, at 7.30 p.m. *Business meeting afterwards.—William T. Cockerill, Hon. Sec., Frodingham, 32, Edgeley Road, Clapham, S.W.4.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD.—A ringing meeting will be held at Cowden on Saturday, December 12th. Tower opened 3 p.m. All ringers welcome.—G. Lambert, Drummond Hay, Moat Road, East Grinstead.

CAMBRIDGE REFLECTIONS.

The Fabian Stedman commemoration scheme, from start to finish, has been a revelation of what a united Exercise can do. The raising of nearly five hundred pounds for the restoration of the tower and bells of St. Benedict's Church, contributed directly or through the associations and guilds by the ringers themselves, was a magnificent gesture. The presence, at the ceremony of dedication of the work, of representative ringers from something like thirty counties in England and Wales was a further mark of the widespread interest which was taken in the scheme. No single project which the Exercise had undertaken before has ever been so national in its character or so successful in its outcome, and Cambridge, one of the earliest homes of change ringing, will for the future have a new place in the thoughts of ringers.

As the result of what has been done a fresh impetus will, we hope, be given to ringing in Cambridge. It should not be sufficient that St. Benedict's should be merely another tower in which the bells have once more been made ringable. It is important that they should be regularly rung for service, if possible by a band specially created for the purpose; and in this, we have no doubt, the Cambridge Youths will be able to render valuable assistance. Beyond this, however, Stedman's bells ought to play another and not less important part. For fifty years the Cambridge University Guild, by interesting and instructing undergraduates—not a few of whom have afterwards entered the Church, and among whom we number to-day several of the most prominent men in the Exercise—has rendered notable service to ringing. The president of this Guild for over half a century, the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, learned to handle a bell at St. Benedict's. Could not this tower be used as the special 'home' of the Guild where the art could be taught to new members, so that, with the inspiration of Fabian Stedman behind them, they might go out to help in carrying on and extending the work which he began nearly three hundred years ago? St. Benedict's bells could be used for no better purpose, and we hope that eventually the tower will, in some such way, become a University ringing centre.

One other thought may well be mentioned; it must have occurred to many, and it is voiced by a correspondent in a letter elsewhere in this issue. The success and the truly national character of the proceedings at Cambridge opens up the prospect that an annual gathering of ringers, somewhat on the same lines, especially if held in the summer, might prove an innovation to which the Exercise would be ready to give its support. Our correspondent suggests that it might be held in London, with a service in St. Paul's Cathedral. That, indeed, would set the seal on the recognition of ringers as part of the organisation of the Church, but if that proposal is not practicable there seems no serious obstacle to another pilgrimage to Cambridge, at a suitable time, so that others not able to join in the tercentenary commemoration might have the opportunity of visiting the scene of Stedman's early ringing days and maintaining touch with the church which, more than ever before, will claim a big place in their interest and affection as ringers.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED AT FOLKESTONE.

VICAR'S GENEROUS GIFT.

On Tuesday evening, December 8th, at a combined practice meeting, a peal board was unveiled at the Parish Church, Folkestone, by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Holden) recording a peal of Grandsire Triples rung in the tower in April last, the ringers having been J. Coppin (Folkestone) treble, W. Bidnell (Hythe) 2, C. R. Millway (Dover) 3, F. Castle (Elham) 4, W. Kitelin (Folkestone) 5, R. T. Clark (Dover) 6, C. Turner (Dover) conductor 7, T. Anderson (Folkestone) 8. The Vicar said he always tried to encourage those engaged in the work of ringing the bells, and at the close said he wished to defray the expense of the peal board.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Taunton Deanery branch took place at St. James', Taunton, on Saturday. There were 50 members present from most of the affiliated towers of the district. Service was held in the church, the Vicar (the Rev. E. Ogden) officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. Sweetnam, Vicar of St. Mary's and president of the branch. Tea was served in the schools after service. Amongst those present at the subsequent meeting were the Rector of Norton Fitzwarren (the Rev. F. L. Grosvenor), the Vicar and curate of St. James', Mr. J. T. Dyke (hon. secretary of the association), Mr. J. Maddocks (former conductor of St. James'), and Mr. J. Burge (St. Mary's conductor, who has recently recovered from a serious operation).

The balance sheet showed a balance on the right side of £5 15s.

The report of the past year was favourable, although a few of the village towers are short of members. Fifteen peals were rung during 1931, a remarkable fact being that in them all someone had scored a 'first.' A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at St. James' was the first by all except the conductor (Mr. J. Hunt). Other peals included four of Stedman Triples, one Double Norwich, and two of Grandsire Triples, one of Spliced Treble Bob Minor (the first by all), one of Treble Bob Minor and five peals of Doubles. Messrs. W. Gigg (St. James'), A. J. Wyatt (Wilton) and W. H. Lloyd (St. Mary's) were congratulated on conducting their first peals of Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

The officers of the branch were all re-elected, viz.: President, the Rev. J. G. Sweetnam; hon. secretary, Mr. S. P. Merson; Ringing Master, Mr. J. Hunt.

Creech, Wiveliscombe and Wellington (All Saints') were chosen for quarterly meetings. Four new members were elected.

Reference was made by the president to the recent broadcasting of St. Mary's bells, and some discussion followed as to the procedure, time limit, etc., in any future broadcast.

A course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells, and then the ringers returned to the tower. The ringing varied from Doubles on the back six to Stedman and Grandsire Triples and a course of Bristol Surprise.

A DATE TOUCH.

On Sunday, December 13th, at St. Wilfred's Church, Calverley (Yorkshire), for evening service, a date touch (1,931 changes) of Kent Treble Bob in 1 hour 6 mins.: S. Keighley 1, W. Popplewell (conductor) 2, W. Stanhope 3, W. E. Scrimshaw 4, D. Thompson 5, E. Hudson 6, G. Thompson 7, W. Lee 8. Rung as a birthday compliment to the ringers of the treble and 5th, the latter having reached his 21st birthday. It was also his longest length.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The two new treble bells, increasing the light eight at North Stoneham, Hants, to a ring of ten, are to be dedicated on Sunday at 11 a.m. by the Rector (the Rev. T. Salmon). The bells have been given by Mr. and Mrs. George Williams to commemorate their golden wedding.

This will be one of the lightest rings of ten in the country, the tenor being only 9 cwt. 26 lb. Since Winchester Cathedral bells were increased to twelve there has been only one ring of ten in Hampshire, namely, at Christchurch Priory, and these, if all goes well, will also soon be made into twelve, so that the addition at North Stoneham is not only an interesting personal gift from the first man and wife who took part in a peal together, but a timely augmentation for the Winchester diocese.

Mr. J. C. E. Simpson, a well-known member of the Chester Diocesan Guild, of which he was formerly hon. secretary, has just taken his degree of Doctor of Physics in the Faculty of Science at Liverpool University.

The enterprising band at Leiston, Suffolk, have rung peals in no fewer than ten Surprise Major methods this year: Cambridge, Superlative, Bristol, London, Guildford, Surrey, Dublin, Rochester, Camdon and Suffolk. A fine record!

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Melville, of Guildford, and their daughter, Miss Jessie Melville, took part in a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on Saturday at Epsom, Surrey, to commemorate the anniversary of the parents' wedding day. This is, we believe, only the second time that a peal has been rung in which father, mother and daughter have taken part.

Phyllis Tillett, of Ipswich, aged 12, a daughter of John F. (Ben) and granddaughter of Frederic J., rang the treble at St. Andrew's Church, Rushmore, on Thursday evening last, at the first attempt, to 720 Plain Bob Minor. It would be interesting to know if she is the youngest girl to ring the extent on tower bells.

The name of the ringer of the tenor at Bridstow, Herefordshire, in a peal of Grandsire Triples on November 21st, and a peal of Stedman Doubles on December 5th, should have been given as Harvey H. Winney.

A BURY ST. EDMUNDS INCIDENT.

THE NEED FOR ACCURACY IN RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has been suggested that the 17,687 Grandsire Cinques rung at Painswick may be accepted by succeeding generations as a true peal. Without expressing any opinion on this unfortunate matter, I might say that the ringing at Bury St. Edmunds on Monday, May 14th, 1855, seems to have been recognised as a true peal, and a record has appeared in Mr. Morris' book giving the impression that a peal of 5,000 changes, conforming to the recognised standards of ringing, was completed on that date.

According to William Freeman, who rang the 6th in the 'peal,' the bells did not come 'home' (somebody turned round to look at a watch!), the ringing coming to a premature end and a few changes from home. The 'Norfolk News,' recording the performance, uses the phrase 'UPWARDS of 5,000 changes,' when on each occasion before and after the number of changes is definite; and the late Mr. Samuel Slater, well known for his knowledge of local ringing history, on the conclusion of the peal of Kent Royal on Saturday, February 23rd, 1895, at the Norman tower, remarked, 'Well, gentlemen, we have now rung the first peal on the bells.' 'Campanology' of December 23rd, 1896, page 175, also states in an appreciation of Samuel Slater: 'Mr. Slater was the organiser of the band that rang the first and only peal on the ten bells of the Norman tower at Bury St. Edmunds.'

I do not think the Norwich worthies of the 1855 peal would have deceived the public intentionally with regard to their ringing at Bury, but the fact remains that they have received the credit for the first peal there; and in writing this letter I am of the opinion that our records should be as accurate as possible.—Yours faithfully,

NOLAN GOLDEN.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A pleasant meeting of the Towcester branch was held at Bradden on Saturday. The service was well attended, and after tea, which was served in the Parish Hall, the secretary (the Rev. R. Howes) presented certificates to Miss Grant Ives, Messrs. Richardson, Pilgrim, Hillyer, Johnson, Green and Meakins for first peals. He said that some towers were now getting on to Stedman with the help of the guild instructor.

Votes of thanks were given the ladies for preparing the tea and to the Vicar.

PICTURES AT CAMBRIDGE.

Below we give, by the courtesy of the 'Cambridge Chronicle,' two interesting pictures taken at the Stedman Tricentenary Commemoration at Cambridge. In the upper photograph the clergy, the band which opened the bells, the architect, bell founder and other officials are seen at the entrance to St. Benedict's Church; in the lower picture the secretary of the Ladies' Guild is seen actively engaged in selling ash tray souvenirs.

In the top picture are the Rural Dean (Canon Adams), who dedicated the bells (on the extreme left), and the Vicar of St. Benedict's (on the right). Among others in the group are Canon Coleridge, the Rev. H. Drake, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. Troup (architect), Mr. E. Denison Taylor (bell founder), the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Messrs. C. H. Howard (Essex Association), W. Pye (Middlesex Association), J. D. Matthews (Royal Cumberland Youths), G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council) and J. S. Goldsmith.

AN ANNUAL NATIONAL GATHERING.

DEAR Sir,—Having been privileged to attend that truly great occasion at Cambridge on Saturday week, and seeing such a vast concourse of ringers from all parts of the country, it struck me very forcibly that a national gathering of ringers might be held once a year, say in London, with a special service in St. Paul's Cathedral and the city churches open for ringing. (I do not suggest that St. Paul's bells should be thrown open.) There are so many organisations recognised in these days, and it would be a grand thing if the bellringers of this country could have a recognised gathering in the great centre of the Empire; recognised by the Church through a gathering at St. Paul's.

If this suggestion does not appeal to the majority of the Exercise, could a meeting at Cambridge annually be arranged upon the same lines as on Saturday week? I am sure very many would enjoy it.—

Yours sincerely,

W. H. LAWRENCE.

WHERE RINGERS CAME FROM.

It is impossible to mention a tithe of the places from which ringers came to attend the celebration. Durham, Lancashire, Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, Cheshire, Derbyshire, Northamptonshire, Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Cambridgeshire, Leicestershire, Warwickshire, Worcestershire, Gloucestershire, Oxford, Dorset, Wilts, Hampshire, Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, Hertfordshire, Huntingdonshire, Bedfordshire, Middlesex, Kent, Surrey, Monmouth and Glamorganshire were all represented, to say nothing of a strong contingent from London, and other counties may have had ringers among the big gathering. Several ringers had to leave home on Friday in order to reach Cambridge in time. One ringer travelled all Friday night from South Wales.

Barrett 5, C. J. Tricker 6, H. Impey 7, W. Sparrow 8. Also a further two courses with Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport (Mon) ringing the 2nd.

At the Parish Church, Beaconsfield, Bucks, on Sunday, December 6th, for evening service and in commemoration of the Tercentenary, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 48 mins.: G. Swift 1, Miss K. Fletcher 2, Miss D. Fletcher 3, F. Buckland 4, R. Buckland 5, J. Harrison 6, H. Wingrove (conductor) 7, W. Fletcher 8.

SOUVENIRS.

Two splendid souvenirs of the Tercentenary have been prepared and may be obtained by ringers. One is a daintily got up booklet, which records the details of the Commemoration scheme, has a long and interesting article on Fabian Stedman and a description of St. Benedict's and its tower and bells. In addition there is a complete list of subscribers to the Tercentenary Fund. There are several illustrations, including, as a frontispiece, a fine picture of the Saxon tower. Every ringer should secure one of these souvenirs, which can be obtained post free 8d. each from the 'The Ringing World' Office, Woking, Surrey.

The other memento of the unique event is an ash tray. A number of these have been turned up out of an ancient oak beam which was removed from St. Benedict's tower in the course of the restoration, and they form very charming souvenirs. Nearly all that were ready were disposed of at Cambridge, but more will shortly be on sale and will be obtainable at 2s. 3d. post free from the Hon. Secretary of the Central Council, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex. Early application for these is desirable, as the number is limited.

DEATH OF MR. HARRY ARGYLE. WARWICKSHIRE GUILD CENTRAL COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE.

The ringing fraternity will be deeply sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Harry Argyle, who passed away on Wednesday, December 9th, after a five weeks' illness following an operation. He was progressing favourably until five days before the end, when he had a relapse and passed away as stated.

The interment took place at Nuneaton Cemetery on Saturday, December 12th, and was preceded by a service in church. This was attended by a large number of Freemasons, Mr. Argyle having been a member of both the Nuneaton lodges and hon. secretary of the Abbey Lodge, No. 432.

A number of ringers were present from Chilvers Coton, Coventry, Higham, Leicester and Rugby, with members of the local band. Canon J. L. White, M.A. (Vicar of Nuneaton) officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. A. B. Davies, M.A. (president of the Warwickshire Guild) and the Rev. J. H. Faulkner (curate).

The service was fully choral, Psalm 23 being sung and hymns, 'Jesu, Lover of my soul' and 'Lead, kindly light.' The chief mourners were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Argyle and Mr. and Mrs. R. Argyle (sons and daughters-in-law) and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Chapman, Mr. Chapman having been associated with Mr. Argyle in the belfry for 42 years. The widow did not attend the service. At the close of the committal service at the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by J. A. Fenton 1-2, J. H. W. White 3-4, W. H. J. Hooton 5-6, F. E. Pervin 7-8. Among the numerous wreaths was one from the Warwickshire Guild, in the shape of a bell in white chrysanthemums and violets, also one from the Nuneaton ringers and one from the Coton ringers.

In the evening a peal of Stedman Triples was rung on the bells of Nuneaton Parish Church with the clappers mutilated on the back stroke.

Mr. Harry Argyle was a native of Burton. He rang his first peal at Shenstone, near Lichfield, on Saturday, February 26th, 1878, at the age of 13 (the treble to a peal of Grandsire Major) and his second peal at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent (the treble to Grandsire Triples), the following Thursday. He did no further ringing until he moved to Nuneaton in 1889, where he joined the band at the Parish Church, who were then struggling with Grandsire Doubles and Triples. After several years of hard work teaching young hands with variable success, he, together with Mr. T. W. Chapman, got together a good band of Sunday service ringers, who have rung all the standard methods and the well-known Surprise methods for over 20 years. They continued the good work at Chilvers Coton, and it is largely due to their efforts that there is a promising Sunday service band there.

Mr. Argyle had rung over 190 peals, having conducted twelve. Messrs. Argyle and Chapman have rung 100 peals together on the bells of Nuneaton Church.

Mr. Argyle joined the Warwickshire Guild in 1907, the year of its formation, and had been an active worker in its interests until his death, attending the last quarterly meeting at Chilvers Coton on Saturday, October 24th. He has represented the Guild on the Central Council for a number of years. He rang in the first peal of Major for the Guild at Bedworth on Saturday, March 7th, 1908, and rang his 100th peal for the Guild on Thursday, November 7th, 1912. He also rang in the first Masonic peal, Grandsire Caters, at St. Clement Danes, on December 4th, 1919.

The elder of his two sons is an accomplished ringer also, having rung a peal of Stedman Triples on May 27th, 1911, at the age of 14. On December 28th of that year he conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples, and a year later rang a peal of Superlative Surprise.

Mr. Harry Argyle will be greatly missed in Nuneaton and district, having been a ringer at the Parish Church for 42 years and for many years a sidesman and a member of the Parochial Church Council.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of the Western Division, held at Kings Langley, was attended by about 20 ringers (including two ladies) from Abbots Langley, Berkhamsted, Tring, Watford, Waltham Abbey, Hemel Hempstead, Maidenhead and the local company. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung in the afternoon. Then the Vicar (the Rev. Lushington) conducted a short service, and in the course of his address emphasised the great need of Christianity in the present world crisis.

At the Vicar's kind invitation tea was partaken of in the Village Hall.

Subsequently it was decided to hold the next meeting at Northchurch in February.

Mr. F. Reeves, president of the society, proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his great kindness, and also all others who had helped to make the meeting a success.—The Vicar suitably responded, saying it had given him great pleasure to 'do his bit.' The ringers were a branch of churchworkers whom he greatly admired.

Although not in the highest methods, the ringing which took place was an encouragement to several present.

WESTERN DIVISION'S SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT LINDLEY.

A meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Lindley on Saturday last, when upwards of 50 members attended from Armley, Headingley, Far Headingley, Lightcliffe, Earlsheaton, Batley, Queensbury, Keighley, Birstall, Pudsey, Longwood, Idle, Elland and the local company. During the afternoon the bells were kept going, and tea was served in the Parish Room. Mr. J. Cotterell, vice-president of the association, presided over the business meeting, at which five new members were elected, viz., S. Britton (Birstall), A. H. Pulling (Guildford), H. J. Poole (Leicester), J. A. Brown (Chester-le-Street) and H. Armitage (Longwood).

It was decided to endeavour to arrange the next meeting at Northorham.

The Chairman, in moving a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and Parish Room, said it was 38 years since the association last visited Lindley.—The vote was seconded by Mr. H. Lofthouse and carried unanimously.—The Vicar, replying, said he was pleased to welcome the ringers, and was glad to hear they had enjoyed the use of the bells and the Parish Room. There was, he said, nothing finer than a good peal of bells, and he hoped that it would not be 38 years before they visited Lindley again.

A vote of thanks to the local band for providing the tea free was proposed by Mr. P. J. Johnson, who said he would like to pay tribute to the enthusiasm of the local ringers, and added that there was a Yorkshire saying, 'If the does owt for nowt do it for thisen,' but the Lindley ringers had 'done summat for nowt,' not for themselves, but for the visitors. He also included in the vote the ladies who had assisted at the tea tables.—The chairman, seconding the vote of thanks, said the visit to Lindley reminded him of a peal of Treble Bob he rang there, which was composed and conducted by Mr. Schofield, a member of the Lindley band, who had recently passed away, and in which all the calls were extremes.—The motion having been carried, Mr. Smith, in responding, said it gave him great pleasure to welcome the association to Lindley. They had had the whole of the parishioners behind them in providing the tea, the Vicar had given them every assistance and the ladies, when asked for their help, were delighted to give it. He had always enjoyed attending meetings at other towers and was glad to be able to return the hospitality.

This concluded the business meeting and the tower was again visited for further ringing.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting was held jointly with the Doncaster and Barnsley District Societies at Rawmarsh on Saturday, when upwards of 30 members attended from Bolsterstone, Conisborough, Doncaster, Arksey, Handsworth, Sheffield (the Cathedral and St. Marie's), Rotherham, Wath, Ecclesfield, Treeton, Wortley and the local company. Touches in various methods were brought round previous to a short service, conducted by the Rev. Canon Scovell, who gave the visitors a very hearty welcome to his church.

Tea was provided in the schoolroom by the local company, and quite upheld the high standard associated with Rawmarsh.

At the business meeting which followed the Rector was voted to the chair, and an apology for non-attendance was received from Mr. A. Panther (secretary of the Barnsley and District Society).

The following were elected members of the Yorkshire Association: Messrs. A. Champion, J. H. Sykes, E. Tyas, H. Dawson, F. Cartwright, N. R. Brownhill (all of Penistone), C. Lyons (Gainsborough), R. Daniels (Stanford) and J. Marshall (Edinburgh).

Subject to the necessary permission being obtained, it was decided to hold the annual meeting at Sheffield Cathedral on Saturday, March 12th.

Votes of thanks to the Rector and his curate, to the ladies for tea and to the local company were heartily carried and replied to by the Rector on their behalf, and this brought a very enjoyable meeting to a close.

Further ringing in various methods was indulged in after the meeting.

EASTERN DISTRICT MEETING AT YORK.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at York on Saturday, December 12th, and was attended by some 30 members, representing towers at Beverley, Hemmingborough, Hull, Leeds, Market Weighton, Patrington, Pontefract, Selby, Withernsea and the local company.

By courtesy of the Very Rev. the Dean of York (Dr. Lionel Ford), the peal at the Minster was available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and the privilege was greatly appreciated by those present.

An excellent repast was served in the Feasegate Restaurant, and was followed by the business meeting, the vice-president, Mr. F. Cryer (Selby) presiding.

The Rev. R. P. Frost, M.A., Rector of Patrington, was elected an honorary member of the association, and the following as ringing members: Messrs. H. Andrews and R. Culbert (Patrington), Mr. J. W. Schofield (Burler, Leeds), Mr. F. Atkinson (York) and Mr. T. Creasey (Hemingborough).

MR. CHALLIS WINNEY'S RECOLLECTIONS.

We referred recently to the fact that December 10th was the jubilee of the first peal rung on the bells at St. Paul's Cathedral. It was rung by J. Pettit 1, G. Muskett 2, W. Cooter 3, J. R. Haworth 4, R. Jameson 5, G. Mash 6, G. Dorrington 7, W. Tanner 8, M. Wood 9, E. Horroxx 10, J. M. Hayes 11, W. Jones and W. A. Tyler 12.

One of the few ringers who remember this notable performance is Mr. Challis Winney, and he sends us his recollections of the occasion.

The Goose and Gridiron, he writes, stood on the north side of the west front of St. Paul's. The preliminary rounds were rung with M. A. Wood on the 4th and W. Greenleaf on the 9th. Mr. Haworth turned up late and the writer assisted him to climb over the low fence and enter by the west door. He reached the tower through what is now All Souls' Chapel (or Kitchener Chapel). Mr. Greenleaf gave up his rope at once and Mr. Wood gave the 4th rope to Haworth and took the 9th. Mr. H. W. Haley, who, by the way, was never a 'parochial' ringer at St. Paul's, came along after two courses had been rung and at once recognised the peal as one of his compositions, which he had called 40 years previously, and, curiously enough, the date was the actual anniversary of it. It was delightful to see him put down the remainder of the course ends. Just previous to a course end coming up he would adjust another pair of spectacles, put down the figures and then resume his original pair. Then he would go on chatting as before, and as the next course end approached, sink into silence, change his glasses, and go through the same performance. On the same day the Royal Cumberlands rang a peal at St. Martin's, composed and conducted by Mr. John Cox. The writer and Mr. John W. Rowbotham heard this peal run round and skeddaddled back to the Goose and Gridiron to hear the end of St. Paul's peal. Mr. Rowbotham somewhat impetuously entered the upper room where Haley sat and called out, 'They have just finished their Cinques at St. Martin's.' Mr. Haley, very quietly and dignified, said, 'Keep quiet, you will hear them round in a real peal directly.' After the peal, as each ringer came up in turn to the room, he was greeted by clapping of hands.

A picture of this room has lately been discovered by an old member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. J. C. Mitchell, who has presented it to the society. The tavern was a rendezvous, in 1710, of the Ancient Order of Freemasons, of which Mr. Mitchell is an ardent member. It was in this room that Mr. Mitchell rang his first handbell peal (Holt's Original) on January 25th, 1887. On February 25th of the same year he took part in the 'Original' rung non-conducted, and on December 29th, at the Goose and Gridiron, was one of the band that rang a strictly non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH HAVE A 'STEDMAN' MEETING.

The last of the monthly meetings of the Devizes branch for 1931 was held at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Market Lavington, on Saturday, December 5th. This tower contains a very nice peal of six bells (tenor 15 cwt.), which were rehung and tuned by Messrs. Taylor and Co. about 4½ years ago, and are in excellent going order. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m. and various methods were rung by nearly 30 stalwarts who braved the weather. The Guild service at 4.40 was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. Sturton, the lesson being read by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (branch chairman), and Miss Edkins presided at the organ. Tea followed at the Institute, to which 27 sat down, including the Vicar. The following towers were represented: Devizes St. John, St. Mary and St. James, Southbroom, Melksham, Warmminster, Bratton, Rowde, Urethfont and Market Lavington. A short business meeting followed the tea, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding.

After the usual words of welcome, the Chairman spoke on the life and work of Fabian Stedman, the Tercentenary of whose birth was being commemorated and honoured that day in Cambridge.

It was announced that the annual meeting of the branch would be held in Devizes on Saturday, January 2nd.

The Vicar, who is a very enthusiastic change ringer, also spoke on the Stedman Tercentenary, and hoped all would make themselves efficient ringers of this most musical method. He extended a hearty welcome to the branch at all times.

The usual votes of thanks brought the meeting to a close.

Ringling was continued till about 8 p.m., the Stedman method being rung as much as possible. During the evening six ringers from Melksham and Devizes visited Potterne tower and rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Doubles. Arrangements had been made to ring Stedman at St. John's, Devizes, in the evening, but the weather being anything but pleasant, the band could not get back from the meeting in time.

The annual meeting in March, 1932, will be held at Selby. On the motion of Mr. A. Walker, sen. (Pontefract), a unanimous vote of thanks was accorded the Dean for the use of the bells, and to Mr. X. Horner and the local company for their excellent arrangements.—Mr. T. F. Earnshaw responded. Ringling during the evening brought another delightful gathering to a close.

DEVON GUILD.EXETER DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The first annual gathering of the reconstituted Exeter District branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers took place in Exeter on Saturday, December 5th. St. Petrock's Church was kindly made available by the Rector (the Rev. C. W. Bate) for a service which he conducted, and which was marked by much heartiness.

Mr. Bate, in a charming address, congratulated the assembly on being singers as well as ringers, expressed appreciation of the work of ringers, and suggested the possibility of getting a band of youths and young men to ring St. Petrock's bells for Sunday services.

Tea was laid in St. Kerrian's Hall and attended by 58 members and guests, who included the Rev. E. C. Powell (president of the Guild) and Mrs. Powell, the Rev. C. W. Bate and Mr. Cudmore (churchwarden of St. Petrock's). Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Arthur Searle kindly helped with the tea-pouring.

At the annual business meeting Mr. A. W. Searle presided, and announced numerous apologies for absence, including the Bishop of Exeter, Lord Mamhead, Sir Edgar Plummer, Mr. Arthur Thomas, Canon McLaren, the Rev. M. T. Hainsselin (Exminster) and Mr. E. Sawdye.

The annual report reviewed an interesting programme of quarterly meetings and propaganda work, and of excursions (arranged by the chairman), in which ringers' wives and friends were able to participate, including a visit to Mamhead Park, by invitation of Sir Robert Newman (now Lord Mamhead). The year started with a membership of 114; it was hoped to equal, if not exceed, this by the end of the year if arrears of subscriptions were cleared up. The accounts started with about £13 received from the funds of the old Exeter district branch. Ordinary working expenses had been more than met, but outlays on special propaganda and other visits had been heavy, and the prospective credit balance would be about £7 or £8. The report and accounts were adopted.

Congratulations were extended to Mr. Biffen and the St. Thomas' band on scoring a peal, especially as four of the band were under 17 years of age.

Mr. Searle was re-elected chairman, Mr. W. Howe hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. W. Wills assistant hon. secretary.

Hearty thanks were tendered to the Rector and organist of St. Petrock's and to all incumbents for use of bells.

Thorverton was selected for a meeting on February 6th, and the question of having collections for funds was set down on the agenda to be dealt with, the bands being meantime asked to consider the matter and report through their representatives.

The Sheriff of Exeter (Mr. C. J. Ross) and the Rev. E. H. Robertson (St. Thomas') were made honorary members, and, at the instance of the Rev. E. V. Cox, it was agreed that congratulations be conveyed to Lord Mamhead on his elevation to the Peerage.

Visits were later paid to the Cathedral and other towers for ringing purposes. At the Cathedral the ringing wound up with a touch of Stedman Triples (called by the chairman) in recognition of the Tercentenary of Fabian Stedman, who produced the method.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT.

The last meeting of the year was held at All Saints', Benhilton, Sutton, on Saturday, and was much enjoyed by all present. Ringers to the number of 40 attended during the afternoon and evening from Banstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Brockley, Camberwell, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Crawley, Dorking, Epsom, Ewell, Guildford, Leatherhead, Limpsfield Chart, Merstham, Mitcham, Shouldham, Norfolk, Streatham, Sutton and Westerham. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 o'clock and good practice was obtained by all present during the afternoon.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. I. Clements), who gave an excellent address, his theme being the well-worn subject of ringers attending service after calling other people to church. The presence of the organist and choir at the service was much appreciated.

Tea had been kindly prepared by some of the local ladies at the Church Hall, and 31 ringers sat down to a very enjoyable meal, presided over by the Vicar.

The District Master (Mr. A. W. Clark) presided over the business meeting, which was of a very short character. The election of two members was ratified and one new member elected from Benhilton tower.

A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the organist and choir for their help, to the ladies for waiting at tea, and to Mr. C. Smith, the local secretary, for making the necessary arrangements.—Mr. Good, the local captain, suitably replied, and added that they would be pleased to welcome any visitors to Benhilton tower either on Sundays or practice night (Tuesdays).

The secretary announced that the annual district meeting would be held at St. Peter's, Croydon, on Saturday, January 23rd.

The tower was again visited and ringing continued until 9 o'clock, when a very enjoyable meeting came to a close. Methods practised ranged from Grandsire to Bristol Surprise and four Surprise methods spliced.

FATALITY TO HUGHENDEN RINGER.MR. RALPH BIGGS KILLED IN MOTOR-CYCLE ACCIDENT.

A sad fatality occurred on December 3rd, when Mr. Ralph H. Biggs, a popular member of the Hughenden (Bucks) band, was killed while motor-cycling home after leaving his work at the chair and furniture factory in High Wycombe where he was employed. The accident happened about 6.30 p.m.

It is believed Mr. Biggs was temporarily blinded by the dazzling lights of a passing car, and crashed into the back of a stationary lorry, the rear lamp of which was unfortunately obscured by the lowered tailboard. Death was instantaneous.

The sympathy of the whole Exercise will go out to the widow and daughter who are left to mourn their loss.

Mr. Biggs, who was a ringer at Hughenden for over 40 years, was 60 years of age, and had 156 peals to his credit in the following methods: Stedman Triples 73, Stedman Caters 2, Stedman Cinques 1, Grandsire Triples 20, Grandsire Caters 3, Double Norwich 18, Bob Major 10, Kent Treble Bob 8, Oxford Treble Bob 1, Alliance Major 1, Forward Major 1, Superlative Surprise 9, Cambridge Surprise 2, London Surprise 7, total 156.

He was a splendid striker, reliable timekeeper and a most regular attendant at both service and practice ringing. His loss is an overwhelming blow to Hughenden. Visitors to the belfry were always certain of a hearty welcome from him, and beginners could always rely upon his wholehearted assistance.

He was in a band arranged to attempt a peal of Stedman on December 5th to commemorate the Stedman Tercentenary, but owing to his lamented death the attempt was abandoned.

In addition to his ringing services to the church, Mr. Biggs was also for more than 50 years in the choir, and his fine voice will be sadly missed.

He was also chairman of the Parish Council for two successive years. He leaves a widow and daughter to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place in Hughenden Churchyard on the 8th inst., and a very large congregation, including ringers from neighbouring belfries, gathered to pay their last tribute to a universally respected parishioner.

After the interment a course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by S. T. Goodchild 1-2, Harry Wingrove 3-4, R. Buckland 5-6, Roland Biggs 7-8. A well-struck quarter-peal was also rung on the tower bells immediately after the service with fully muffled bells.

On Saturday, the 12th December, a peal of Stedman Triples on half-muffled bells was rung in memory of deceased, the record of which will appear in the peal columns. R.I.P.

DEATH OF CLEWER VETERAN.A FAITHFUL SERVANT OF THE CHURCH.

The mortal remains of the late Mr. Edward Thomas Brown, of Clewer, Berks, who died on November 30th, at the age of 82 years, were laid to rest, with those of his wife, on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 3rd, in the churchyard of St. Andrew's, Clewer, with every mark of respect. In addition to relatives, ringing friends were present at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. W. Brook, M.A., of St. Agnes' Church. After the committal a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave.

One son, five daughters and six members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, with the churchwardens, Messrs. Cross and Barlase, carrying wands of office, joined in the service to honour the passing of one of the 'old school'—the last of the five-bell band that existed before the treble bell was added at Clewer. The handbells used were an old set by H. Symondson, with boxwood clappers, more than a century old, and rung in slow time by Messrs. Farr, Stilwell, Fussell and Smith. After the service six-scores of Stedman Doubles with muffled clappers were rung on the church bells by Messrs. Smith, Fussell, Leader, Stilwell, Farr and H. Belcher, the last named now succeeding Mr. Brown as steeplekeeper. Later on the home band met again and rang another touch for their deceased foreman.

Mr. Brown's parents came to Clewer from Bristol by road about 1840. He left home at an early age for Bath, his occupation being that of a gardener, and he first learnt to pull a bell at St. John's Church, Bathaston, in 1867—just rounds and call changes; as he once told the writer, 'There wasn't much half-pull about in those days.' He rang at many towers in Wilts, Gloucestershire and Somerset, and recollected an occasion when the six-bell team from Larkhill did some Grandsire at Bathaston and the treble ringer collapsed and died in the belfry. His migrations took him to Felixstowe, Denham and Slough, and he returned to Clewer in 1881, when he joined the band there, and has acted as foreman for some 20 years past. During the last decade he rang the treble to six-scores and encouraged the successful attempts by Berks and Bucks ringers for the first peals of Doubles and Minor upon his beloved bells.

This contribution is sent to 'The Ringing World' as a record of the faithful and constant duty rendered to the church by a humble call-change hand—'through all the changing scenes of life' and a half-century of belfry reform. W. H. F.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD RESOLUTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Drake has not yet told us what his resolution means. Although he may exclude me from the punishment it threatens (because I sit on the fence), yet there must be a large number of members of the Suffolk Guild who have quite definite but differing views on what are rows and what are changes. Mr. Drake says that certain things are a matter of arithmetic, and that we have to accept them. If nobody can have any opinions other than those he puts forward, and if people who sit on the fence (including myself) are excluded, then there remain none who come within the scope of the resolution. Therefore, it falls to the ground as being meaningless, useless and ridiculous, and I hope that if it comes before the Suffolk Guild annual meeting it will meet the fate it deserves.

One of my several correspondents on this matter has given a good illustration. If Mr. Drake when he goes to church on Sunday morning dons his clerical garb he 'changes.' Then when he gets back into his ordinary clothes he 'changes' again, i.e., two changes. Now he would have us believe that when he repeats the operations on Sunday evening there is NO CHANGE!

However, as I have said before, I do not wish to discuss rows and changes, but hope I have shown that the Suffolk Guild resolution is nonsensical, and that it ought to be consigned, with the Painswick false peal tablet (referred to by the aforesaid correspondent as the 'Great Hoax of Painswick'), to oblivion.—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

21, Vincent Road, E.4.

ROWS ARE CHANGES.

Sir,—I don't need arithmetic to prove it. Two Ringers have a Row. Row denotes a difference. Difference denotes Change. Thus: Row x Difference = Change.—Yours,

A FIAT.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The 'high water mark' in enthusiasm was reached at the Cheritsey District meeting held at Weybridge on Saturday. The number of members of that district interested enough to attend for the purpose of nominating next year's officers reached the staggering total of three. Had the Rector of Weybridge, who kindly provided the tea, relied on his own district he would have had any number of stale cakes on hand this week. However, thanks to visitors, representing the youth of a neighbouring district, the Rector's dining table was saved from collapse.

'Churchyard Bob' and Grandsire were rung before tea, but in the evening, thanks to the arrival of visitors from Leatherhead and Maidenhead, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples were accomplished.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of the district secretary, the duty of bringing the business meeting to a successful conclusion devolved on Admiral Walker (chairman) and a visiting scribe.

Messrs. H. Hancock and D. Sleet were both nominated for the office of district secretary, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne as Ringing Master, and the Rev. P. E. Robinson and Messrs. H. J. Chaffey and P. Wallis as members of the Executive Committee.

The Chairman reported that the Guildford District were going to consider a suggestion that that district should be divided into two, and after some discussion a resolution was passed 'That the Cheritsey District recommends to the Guild that a sub-committee be appointed to consider the question of the rearrangement of the districts.'

The members present expressed the unanimous wish that the Master and general secretary of the Guild would continue in office for another year.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for the tea, service and use of the bells and to the organist were carried with applause.

A SOMERSET DINNER.

ENJOYABLE PARTY AT WESTON-SUPER-MARE.

The second annual dinner of the Axbridge Deanery branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, held at Weston-super-Mare, was a most enjoyable affair. Eighty ringers, representative of 15 towers, were present, the company being presided over by the Rev. F. S. C. Lock, Vicar of West Pennard. As last year, the speech of the evening was that of the Rev. J. H. H. Doorbar, Vicar of Kewstoke, who, in proposing the toast of 'The Axbridge Deanery,' kept the company interested and amused, and more than one was sorry when they realised that his excellent speech had come to an end.—The president of the branch, the Rev. L. T. Powys David, responded.

The Rev. A. P. Wickham, East Brent, submitted 'The Visitors,' to which Mr. W. A. Cave (Bristol) replied.

The toasts of 'The Artists' and 'The Chairman' were also honoured. An exceedingly pleasant programme of music was provided by the Misses Price and Hale and Mr. H. Cottell, with Mr. H. Minifie as hon. pianist.

Soon after 9 p.m. the party adjourned to the dance hall, where those who wished to danced, and those who did not moved about among their friends, or sat and chatted as the 'spirit' moved them. Midnight came all too soon, and many had to travel weary miles through a nasty fog before they reached home, and so to bed.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

TWENTY TOWERS REPRESENTED AT DISTRICT MEETING.

The annual meeting of the North-Western Division was held at Bishop's Stortford on Saturday, when there was a very good attendance. The bells were rung to various methods during the afternoon, and a service was conducted by the Rev. H. McCarthy (Vicar), who welcomed the visitors and assured them that there would always be a warm and hearty reception for them at his tower. Tea was served to 32 members in the adjoining Parish Rooms, the Vicar presiding. At the business meeting Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association) took the chair. The retiring District Master (Mr. G. Dent) and retiring secretary (Mr. H. Wacey) were both unanimously re-elected, and were thanked by Mr. Howard for their past services.

The next meeting will be held at Roydon in January.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, etc., to the organist and to the steeplekeeper. Further ringing was afterwards indulged in. No fewer than 20 towers were represented at the meeting, and the collection in aid of the bell restoration fund amounted to 9s. 8d.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS GRANT, DUBLIN.

LOSS TO IRISH RINGERS.

The St. Patrick's Society, Dublin, has suffered a severe blow in the death of Mr. Thomas Grant, who passed away on November 13th, after an illness of about six months, at the early age of 47 years. 'Tommy,' as he was affectionately called, joined the St. Patrick's Society at the end of 1899, when only 15, and early in 1900 piloted the treble through the first peal by that society, Grandsire Caters.

Up to the time of his death, with the limited opportunities at his disposal, he had scored some 40 peals, the last of which he conducted and was the first peal by a band composed entirely of Irishmen, viz., Grandsire Caters on December 30th of last year.

He was laid to rest in Martry Churchyard, Co. Meath, on November 16th, the following ringers attending to pay their last tribute of respect: R. S. F. Murphy, P.C., W. H. Wilson, J. A. Atkinson, R. Lynch, G. Lindoff, E. Lutman, G. G. Lindoff, G. Booker and G. Wilmet.

Deceased leaves a widow and two children in bereavement, and the St. Patrick's Society mourn the loss of a great Irish ringer; a man respected by all who knew him.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at All Saints' Church, Sedgley, on Saturday, December 5th, when a fair muster was present, considering the inclemency of the weather. The beautiful peal of eight bells was placed at the disposal of the members from 3 o'clock. The Guild's beautiful form of service was conducted by the assistant priest (the Rev. K. P. Goodison), who also gave a very interesting and helpful address. At the outset he apologised for the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. H. Marley), who was confined to his room with a chill, and on his behalf he gave the members a cordial welcome to Sedgley.

At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the schoolroom, where a substantial tea was in readiness. Much regret was felt that there were not more members present to partake of the good things provided.

At the business meeting which followed the chair was taken by the Rev. K. P. Goodison. It was decided to hold the next meeting, which is the annual, at Dudley, the date to be fixed by the secretary. It was also proposed to attempt the quarterly peal at Sedgley, subject to the consent of the Vicar and ringers being given, the necessary arrangements for the same are left with the Ringing Master (Mr. John Goodman, jun.).

The chairman was asked to convey the Guild's sympathy to the Vicar with the wish that he would soon be restored to health, also the best thanks of the members for permission to hold the meeting at Sedgley, for the use of the tower and bells and schoolroom.

Thanks were accorded to the Rev. K. P. Goodison for conducting the service, for his address and for presiding at the business meeting; also to the donors of the tea; to Mrs. B. Fullwood and her band of assistants in preparing and serving the tea and for looking after the wants and comfort of those present; to the organist and choir for the musical part of the service, which was greatly appreciated; to Mr. B. Fullwood for the great part he played in making the necessary arrangements; and to all others who had assisted in any way to make the meeting a success.—The Chairman briefly replied on behalf of himself and others concerned, and then closed the meeting with prayer.

The ringers then returned to the belfry and indulged in further ringing in various methods. The Sedgley members gave selections on the handbells, which were enjoyed by those present.

NEWPORT, MON.—On Sunday, November 29th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: O. Amos 1, F. Bullock 2, F. Millard 3, H. Forbes 4, T. Ford 5, G. Day 6, J. W. Jones (conductor) 7, W. Hall 8. First quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples for ringers of 1st, 2nd and 3rd, and rung on the occasion of the 2nd ringer's birthday.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

PEACE AND GOODWILL.

To-day the church bells will play one, if not the greatest, of their traditional parts in our national festivals. From their lofty towers in town and village they will peal joyously in celebration of Christmas, and, with their brazen voices, once more ring out the message of peace and goodwill. These are difficult times, but, despite all the troubles that surround us, Englishmen will endeavour to forget them for one day at least, for it takes more than an economic blizzard to quench the spirit which springs to life, even in face of gloom and depression, at this season of the year. And the bells, with their merry pealing, will render no small service in promoting this cheery spirit. Rung in the early morning, they will give the keynote of the festival to-day as they have done for ages past. Ringers have an important part to play. It is hardly necessary, however, to bid them to be up and doing, for they are very much alive to their opportunities and privileges as well as to their duties. This is the time above all others when bells are welcomed by the public, and their absence, for any reason, on Christmas Day is always a matter of comment. To the people of this country Christmas without bells would be devoid of one of its most characteristic features; and if for no other reason than that of maintaining a traditional right to express public sentiment, the bells in every church ought to take their part in heralding this great festival.

It is hardly likely, however, that ringers will need any urging. The Christmas season is always one of great activity among members of the Exercise, who are ready to seize any and every opportunity to indulge in their art. But in the exercise of their craft it must not be forgotten that this is also a time when the public themselves are keenly listening for the bells and in ringing for their own pleasure, therefore, it would be well if ringers did not forget that they were ringing also for the pleasure of others, and that it is, consequently, essential that the bells should be rung well. Because it is Christmas time do not imagine that anything will do. The public are expecting to hear the bells; the public's expectancy is the ringers' opportunity. It is one of the occasions when a chance is afforded of popularising bells, and the surest way to do this is to give only of the best.

As long as Christmas lasts, and it will last as long as the Christian faith, we hope the bells will play their customary part. For centuries they have rung out the message of peace and goodwill, for centuries more may they continue to share in disseminating this spirit; of helping to dispel gloom; of helping to remind the world of the Prince of Peace. We believe that to the part they

BELFRY GOSSIP.

According to the annual report of the Lancashire Association recently issued, there is a membership of 1,514, made up of 95 honorary, 283 non-resident, and 1,136 resident ringing members. Ninety-one new members were elected during the year. The number of peals rung was 122.

The composition rung at St. Ambrose's Church, Bristol, was Cave's transposition of Washbrook's peal.

The peal at Worsley, Yorks, on November 28th, was the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob on the bells.

We often read of 'the quickest peal on the bells,' but very seldom of the slowest. However, a peal of Minor at West Deeping, Lincs, rung with the bells half-muffled, and 'well struck throughout,' in 3 hours 30 minutes, is recorded as the slowest 5,040 on the bells.

The peal was rung in memory of the late Mr. William Tilley, who was a ringer at West Deeping for nearly 40 years. It was largely due to his untiring efforts that a treble was added to make a ring of six in 1923. He was also one of the band who rang the 10,080 of Minor at West Deeping in August, 1927.

The peals of Kent Treble Bob Minor at Lamberhurst and Kildown, Kent, on September 19th and December 5th respectively, contained the fourteen possible 720's with the 5-6 the right way behind, taken from 'The Mad Hatter's' tables.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held at Neath and was attended by 30 members from eight towers. The bells, a ring of six, very much in need of the attention of a bell hanger, were rung until 4.30, when a service was held, conducted by the curate, Rev. — Jenkins, who gave the members a hearty welcome to Neath, and a very helpful address. Tea was afterwards served in St. David's Room, where the Rector, Rev. Gwilym Francis, met the ringers and saw that everyone was provided for, although nine more had come than had sent in their names, the Rector pointing out how very unfair to all concerned this was.

The business meeting followed, at which Mr. C. Morse was voted to the chair.

Mr. E. Stitch and Mr. G. W. Hollis were again re-elected secretary and auditor respectively. Morriston was chosen for the next meeting.

A suggestion was made that in the next ringers' directory the Guild officials' names should be printed. The secretary pointed out it was not in order for the district to deal with this matter, and it was left over until the next meeting, when a notice of motion will be moved to go to the annual meeting of the Guild.

Six new members were elected from Llangyfelach and one from Morriston.

The secretary gave a brief outline of what had been done at Cambridge and of his visit on December 5th. Mention was made that all the details of what had occurred had been given in 'The Ringing World,' but, unfortunately, every ringer did not take the paper. Mr. Stitch also referred to the souvenir book and ash trays which could be obtained post free 8d. and 2s. 3d. each respectively. To those who rang Stedman, said Mr. Stitch, there was no need to praise the method, but to those who could not ring it, it was well worth while to learn, and they would never regret any time they spent on it.

Votes of thanks were accorded the chairman, the Rector, the curate, the organist, the donors of the tea, who were unknown, to the ladies and to all who had helped to make the meeting a success.

The bells were kept going until 8 p.m., when they were lowered in peal. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung during the afternoon.

RINGING IN RUTLAND.

Mr. W. J. Tugwood, of Wing, Rutland, took part in a peal on the bells of his Parish Church on November 28th, and although the bells were installed 28 years ago he is the first local ringer to ring a peal there.

In Rutland, change ringing is at a rather low ebb, and as a consequence peals are few and far between, despite the fact of there being over twenty towers with rings of five and six bells and two rings of eight bells. It is the hope of members of the band who rang the peal at Wing to ring (if conditions will allow) a peal in every tower in Rutland, and wherever possible to include a local ringer in this way, in order to create a new interest in the county.

Of the five bells at Wing, the tenor is by Thomas Newcombe, cast some time between 1560 and 1580. The treble, second, and third are by Robert Taylor, cast in the old foundry at St. Neots about the year 1800, and the fourth is by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, 1903.

ANOTHER FAMOUS CAMBRIDGE TOWER.ST. MARY THE GREAT.

With all the attention which has been focussed on Cambridge during this year, it is not uninteresting to learn something of the bell history of the very fine old church of St. Mary the Great—not so old as St. Benedict's, but still venerable even as churches go—which has been the home of the Cambridge Youths. It had a peal of six in Elizabeth visited Cambridge in 1564, St. Mary-the-Great was fined 'ijs. ijd.' for not ringing. Good Queen Bess was probably fond of bells, for we know she was so delighted with them when she visited Bristol that St. Stephen's Guild of that city eventually received a royal charter. The absence of the sound of the bells when she went to Cambridge was evidently a source of annoyance to her, but we imagine the fine was inflicted more from a sense of offended royal dignity than from the loss of any 'sweete musick' which they might have diffused.

In 1595 the tenor was recast; and in 1596 the parish book records: 'This yere all our bells are rung out as was never before.' The occasion seems to have been the Queen's accession, November 17th. The bells had been put in order and appear to have been finished only the day before, for the accounts show that on November 16th 'paid to John Dowsey for iij dayes and half and his sonne for iij dayes abowght yoking of the greates bells with the old yoke and drawing of the three greates bells into neu frames from the nethermost flore vijs vjd.' On October 6th, 1611, it was resolved to recast four bells into 'five tunable belles,' and to spend £45 on the frame. The total cost appears to have been £53 13s. 7d., of which £14 19s. 10d. was paid to St. Michael's parish for one of their bells weighing 4 cwt. 1 qr. 10 lbs. There seems, however, to have been a dispute over the matter, for later there is an acknowledgment of the receipt of £16 10s. 4d. 'in full discharge of all reckonings about our bell and the suit touchinge the same.'

In 1620 and 1621 two of the old bells were recast and another added, thus making a peal of six. In 1667 the 3rd and 4th were recast and the peal augmented to eight, Stedman's early days, and these were augmented to eight just before he published his 'Tintinnalogia.' It is fairly safe, therefore, to assume that some of his ringing was done, and probably his first acquaintance made with eight bells, at this church.

The earliest knowledge which we have of bells at Great St. Mary's is in the fifteenth century, when there were three bells, known as the 'forebell, myddell bell and great bell.' To these a fourth was added later. When Queen the weight of the tenor being given by Dr. Mason as 18 cwt. 2 qrs. These bells bore Latin inscriptions, the translations of which were:—

Treble. If you don't wish to come when I call, you will never wish to go to church at all.

2. O mother of God, remember me.

3. O Christ King of Heaven may that sound be pleasing to Thee.

4. John Yorke made me in honour of Blessed Mary.

5. Untouched I am silent; strike me and I sweetly sing.

6. Glory to God only; peace to men.

7. Music is the medicine of that worry which is brought on by toil.

Tenor. I being struck am called Mary, Rose of the world.

In 1721 it was decided to recast all or such of the bells as was thought proper, and in 1722 it was, in addition, resolved to increase the weight of the eight bells so that the tenor should not exceed 28 cwt. and to rehang the bells in a new frame. Later in the same year the contract was given to Richard Phelps, of the Whitechapel Foundry, and it was finally concluded to add two more bells to make it a peal of ten. The total cost of the bells, fittings and hanging amounted to between £500 and £600, exclusive of the allowance for the metal of the old bells. The sum of £419 2s. 2d. was raised by church rates and the rest by voluntary subscriptions. The heads of all the Colleges gave two guineas each.

The tenor of this peal was recast in 1770 by Pack and Chapman, who at the same time added two more bells to make a ring of twelve. The trebles being too heavy were recast by Taylor and Co. in 1911. These bells recorded their original casting in the following inscription: 'These two tribbles to make them a compleat peal of twelve was raised by subscription at the interest of Chas. Day and Jno. Paris, ringers of this Society, in the year, 1770.'

The earliest recorded peal on the bells was one of Bob Major in 1779. In 1788 6600 Bob Maximus was rung there in 5 hrs. 5 mins. by the Cambridge Youths, who in 1790 rang a 6000 of Oxford Treble Bob Royal, and in 1791 7002 Grandsire Quaters. Other peals have, of course, been rung there, including the first peal of Stedman Cinques which a Vicar had taken part in on the bells of his own parish church. This was in 1912, the Vicar being then the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey. His curate at that time (the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson) also took part in the peal.

ESSX RINGER'S DEATH.

By the death of Mr. Harry Redgwell, of Rayne, which took place at the age of 64 years on November 30th, the Essex Association has lost a loyal and devoted member. For some long time the deceased had suffered from heart affection, which compelled him to relinquish ringing. When in good health he was a regular service ringer at his parish church and a frequent attendant at the association meetings. By his unostentatious manner he had made a large circle of friends, as evinced at his funeral, which took place on Saturday, December 5th, conducted by the Rev. O. Hutchinson (Rector). Among those present, in addition to his three sons (two of whom are ringers), his daughter and brother (Mr. A. Redgwell) and other relatives, there were present Messrs. G. Wiffen and W. H. Hammond representing the St. Michael's Guild, Braintree and the Essex Association (the Master, Mr. C. H. Howard, being unavoidably absent), Mr. A. Shuttleboth (Braintree) and Mr. F. Radley (Bocking). In the evening two extents of Bob Minor with the clappers half-muffled were rung by B. Redgwell 1, A. Redgwell 2, J. Claydon 3, H. Gentry 4, G. Wiffen 5, B. Redgwell (conductor) 6.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

LONDON.—On Sunday, December 20th, at the Church of St. Botolph, Bishopsgate, for evensong, 1,344 Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major: H. Belcher 1, C. W. Roberts (conductor) 2, W. H. Hewett 3, F. Digby 4, E. F. Pike 5, W. R. Madgwick 6, J. E. Davis 7, R. Sanders 8.

PENTRE RHONDDA.—On Sunday, December 13th, at St. Peter's Church, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Superlative Surprise Major (1,280 changes): W. Ciss 1, W. Palmer 2, G. Palmer 3, J. Lovett 4, H. Page 5, W. Page 6, F. Lasbury 7, T. Page (conductor) 8. First quarter-peal in the method by all the band, who are all Sunday service ringers.

STEDMAN TERCENTENARY.

FIRST PEAL ON RESTORED BELLS.

On Thursday of last week the first peal on the restored bells at St. Benedict's Church was rung by members of the Ely Diocesan Association, conducted by Miss Kitty Willers. It consisted of seven 720's of Cambridge Surprise Minor.

A BAND FOR SUNDAY RINGING.

It is hoped to form a band of ringers for Sunday service ringing at St. Benedict's Church immediately after Christmas. Members of the Ely Diocesan Association have offered to give voluntary instruction, and we understand that nine boys and one lady have expressed a wish to learn change ringing. The arrangements are in the hands of Miss Kitty Willers, hon. secretary of the Ely Archdeaconry Branch of the association, and Mr. G. Hibbins.

WHEN WAS STEDMAN BORN?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Now that the memorial at Cambridge has been so happily and so successfully completed, it is well to point out two things in the interest of historical truth.

1. It is entirely incorrect to call Stedman the 'father' of change ringing, or to say that he was the first to produce regular methods or peals. The art was firmly established and all its essential features fixed before he was born; and though he did invaluable work in its development, it would have been substantially the thing it is if he had never lived. In 1658 he published his 'Tintinnalogia.' In it he gives a description and explanation of ringing as it then was. The book was the earliest, and in some respects remains the best that has been written on the art, but not one of the methods or peals in it is his own composition. They are all by older men, and, although they appear at first sight to be very crude, they contain the germs of all the development of the last three centuries and recognise (at least by implication) most of the standard laws of ringing, such as truth, symmetry, continuous movement, etc.

Nor is it correct to say that scientific ringing began at St. Bene't's. So far as we can form an opinion on a matter where necessarily direct evidence does not exist, change ringing sprang up simultaneously and spontaneously in all parts of the country and grew out of the peculiar religious and social conditions of the sixteenth century. In the subsequent development, Cambridge and its University bore an honourable and prominent part, but not a larger one than was borne by London, Oxford, Nottingham and, perhaps, other places.

2. It is impossible to accept 1631 as the exact year of Stedman's birth. He was born somewhere about three hundred years ago, and this is near enough his tercentenary, but if we study what we do know about his life we shall, I think, be compelled to put the correct date at somewhere about 1642.

The authority for saying it was 1631 is a man named John Alfred Parnell, who supplied Shipway with the very scanty material he used in writing his chapter on the origin of change ringing. Parnell was living at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and, of course, had no further information than tradition to go on. Actually we do not know what he did say; we have only Shipway's paraphrase of it. At that time probably less was known of early ringing than at any other time in the history of the Exercise. All the books of the College Youths had disappeared, the copy of the early peal book and list of members which the society now possesses then lay hidden and forgotten in a Gloucestershire library. Stedman's two books were rare, so rare that it is quite certain that Shipway had never read either. All that really was known of Stedman was a vague memory of a great personality and the method bearing his name, which not very long before had practically been rediscovered by the College Youths at Norwich. Of the other men of the seventeenth century—Roan, Tendring, Patrick, etc.—the very names had been forgotten.

The name of Patrick in some sort survived, but he was confounded with another and later John Patrick and with George Partrick, the first Master of the Cumberlands. Thus you will find Partrick's twenty-two-course peal of Treble Bob given in Snowden and other books as by Patrick.

Parnell gave Shipway three dates referring to Stedman—1631, his birth, 1656 when he gave his Principle to the College Youths, who rang it at St. Bene't's in 1669, when he published the 'Campanalogia.' The last two can definitely be proved to be wrong, and that casts grave suspicion on the first. This suspicion is confirmed by the fact that a thorough search in the Cambridge registers of that year failed to find any record of Stedman's birth or baptism. Still more convincing is the fact that it does not fit in with what we do know about Stedman. We have (though Shipway and Parnell had not) absolute proof of the dates of some of the events of his life, the dates of the publication of his two books, of his election to the College Youths and to the offices he held in that society. And then we have the will, though that cannot yet be said definitely to be the will of our Fabian Stedman. If Stedman was born in 1631, he would have been about forty years old before he turned his attention to composition. Not an impossibility, of course, but we should have expected an earlier date. If we take 1642 as the more likely date of his birth the difficulties about the will disappear. It would have been most unlikely that a Cambridge printer should be appointed to a position in the Audit of Excise after he had turned fifty. But we have no difficulty in believing that a man who by his books had shown that he possessed a first-class mathematical brain, and who had influential friends in London—judges, lawyers and men connected with the Royal Court—should have received a post in the public service when he was barely forty. It was quite a natural thing at the time and under the circumstances.

If you ask how did Parnell get the date 1631 if it were not the right one, I cannot answer. I can only point out that in these things mistakes seem very easy to make. For instance, Osborn, Snowdon, Mr. Daniell and Mr. Morris tell us Stedman was steward to the College Youths in 1667. Actually the year was 1677.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

MORE COMMEMORATION TOUCHES.

At Landulph, Cornwall, on December 5th, 720 Grandsire Doubles: R. Hosking 1, F. Hosking 2, H. M. Brown 3, H. J. Clark (conductor) 4, C. C. Clark 5, W. Luke 6. The band has only taken up change ringing during the last 12 months.

At Cirencester, Gloucester, on December 5th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was attempted to mark the Stedman Tercentenary, but unfortunately failed two courses from home: F. W. Bond 1, F. J. Lewis, sen., 2, J. C. Eden 3, F. Edwards 4, H. C. Bond 5, F. J. Lewis, jun., 6, W. H. Hayward (conductor) 7, H. P. J. Roberts 8.

At St. John's, Kirdford, on Saturday 5th, to commemorate the Stedman Tercentenary, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: M. Stenning 1, S. Sopp 2, S. Kilner 3, G. Sopp 4, P. Duneton (conductor) 5, H. Charman 6.

At Lyme Regis, Dorset, on Saturday, December 5th, 240 and 360 Stedman Doubles with 4, 6, 8 covering: H. Keeley 1, C. Powell 2, Rev. C. C. Cox 3, G. Whitmore 4, F. Blackmore 5, W. Sartin 6, F. Ash 7, J. Philbrick 8. Also three courses of Stedman Triples: H. Keeley 1, C. Powell 2, J. Philbrick 3, Rev. C. C. Cox 4, G. Whitmore 5, F. Price 6, F. Blackmore 7, W. Sartin 8. This is the first tower in West Dorset in which Stedman has been rung by a local band.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was attempted at All Saints', Gosforth, on Saturday, December 5th, to celebrate the Stedman Commemoration, but was lost after ringing an hour: K. A. Nicholson 1, J. Anderson 2, C. L. Routledge 3, R. S. Anderson 4, H. J. Davidson 5, J. E. Ken 6, W. Goffon 7, R. A. Goffon, jun., 8, A. Deas 9, W. H. Barber (conductor) 10.

At Sowton, near Exeter, Devon, on Friday, December 4th, for the Stedman Tercentenary, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 40 mins. was rung on the bells conducted by A. G. Betts. First quarter-peal of Stedman Triples by the band.

At Farnham, Surrey, at St. Andrew's Church, on Sunday, the following touches were rung to commemorate the Fabian Stedman Tercentenary: For morning service, 672 Stedman Triples: J. Read 1, J. Beagley 2, G. Upshall 3, S. Meadows 4, E. J. King 5, F. Kemp 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8. For evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): E. J. King 1, T. Upshall 2, J. Read 3, S. Meadows 4, C. Wells 5, F. Kemp 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8.

On Sunday, November 29th, at the Parish Church, Braintree, the Vicar (the Rev. R. S. Eddleston) read at matins an extract from 'The Ringing World' with reference to the Stedman Tercentenary celebration. On Sunday, December 6th, for matins, two extents of Stedman Doubles were rung with two extremes: G. W. Melbourne 1, C. H. Howard 2, L. W. Wiffen 3, A. Wiffen 4, H. C. Reason 5, S. Warne 6; and for evensong, Thurstans' quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: A. Wiffen 1, C. H. Howard 2, G. Wiffen 3, G. W. Melbourne 4, F. Ely 5, H. C. Reason 6, L. W. Wiffen (conductor) 7, S. Warne 8.

At Corston, near Bath, a peal attempt was made for Stedman Triples, which unfortunately came to grief after two hours' ringing: H. W. Brown 1, T. F. King 2, W. H. Crocker 3, C. W. Bell 4, G. Cross 5, F. S. Merrett 6, W. J. Prescott (conductor) 7, H. Ellis 8.

SOUVENIRS.

Two splendid souvenirs of the Tercentenary have been prepared and may be obtained by ringers. One is a daintily got up booklet, which records the details of the Commemoration scheme, has a long and interesting article on Fabian Stedman and a description of St. Benedict's and its tower and bells. In addition there is a complete list of subscribers to the Tercentenary Fund. There are several illustrations, including, as a frontispiece, a fine picture of the Saxon tower. Every ringer should secure one of these souvenirs, which can be obtained post free 8d. each from the 'The Ringing World' Office, Woking, Surrey.

The other memento of the unique event is an ash tray. A number of these have been turned up out of an ancient oak beam which was removed from St. Benedict's tower in the course of the restoration, and they form very charming souvenirs. Nearly all that were ready were disposed of at Cambridge, but more will shortly be on sale and will be obtainable at 2s. 3d. post free from the Hon. Secretary of the Central Council, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex. Early application for these is desirable, as the number is limited.

CHANGES OR ROWS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Surely Mr. Coles' letter is merely perverse. He says that I have not yet said what my resolution means. I began my first letter by doing so, and have done so more than once since. For the nth time I must tell him that it means that the Suffolk Guild will not (any more than any other change ringing society) have any members who want to claim that they have rung, say, 5,000 changes, when they have actually rung only 5,000 rows. On this point is Mr. Coles with the Churchyard Bob ringers, or with the change ringers? If, as I suppose, the latter and he really means that he wants the resolution differently worded, he will have no difficulty in having his wishes carried out, if he will only express them. He says that 'there must be a large number of members of the Suffolk Guild who have quite definite but differing views on what are rows and what are changes.' I cannot believe this. As far as I can tell, everyone thinks as I do, that a row is something written on paper, and a change is a difference between rows, whether written on paper, or when rung on bells. I have pointed out that these are facts, not opinions, either Mr. C. T. Coles', or mine, or anyone else's.

If Mr. Coles thinks there is any difference, let him give us the two sides. I think that when he tries to express them he will find that the difference disappears. At any rate until he does so, I must be excused for not believing that such a difference exists. Mr. Coles may rest assured that there is no possibility of anyone being excluded from the Suffolk or any other Guild owing to a difference of opinion. His illustration does not illustrate, for three reasons. In the first place, I do not wear clerical garb on Sundays and lay attire, or ordinary clothes, in the week; and if I said I did it would not be a false change but a false statement. Secondly, if I did, there would not be two changes, but one change, and a replacement. An observer who saw me on Saturday, and next on Monday, would correctly report, in spite of Mr. Coles' correspondent, that there was, in fact, no change. Thirdly, a change of suits and a change in ringing are not the same thing. To change suits requires a fresh suit of clothes each time. But one does not need a fresh ring of bells every time one makes a change.

Here are two different rows, and from them we can deduce that there are two changes and only two, on two bells. But these rows are not the changes, any more than they are the actual bells. Moreover, as written above, they only represent one change. To get another change we must write another row:—

12

This does actually represent two changes. So we get the rule that 'To make two changes we need three rows.' If it were suits of clothes we were dealing with, we might say there was one change and a replacement, but we are not. And in order to count the number of changes easily, we draw a line either after the first 12, or before the second. We then see that this rule is universal: 'To make n changes, we need n+1 rows.' It is hardly necessary to warn Mr. C. T. Coles that these are not my opinions, but facts—facts which cannot be spoken against.

Mr. Coles suggests that both our resolution and the Painswick tablet should now be consigned to oblivion. This, unfortunately, cannot be done in either case. The Suffolk Guild must be protected from those who would ring 5,000 rounds and then claim to have it recorded as a peal because it consisted of 5,000 rows, especially now that Mr. Coles has championed their cause. And the tablet is not only the 'Great Hoax of Painswick,' but it is a solid fact, in wood or stone, and, moreover, protected by a faculty. This means that it requires a lawsuit (expensive even if successful) to remove it, let alone to forget it. Who is anxious to waste this money? I am not.

To alter the word 'changes' into 'rows' on the tablet seems both possible and practicable. I cannot say the same of any other suggestions that have been made. Can we not agree on this?

There is a wider question. Some people have expressed the opinion that such a feat, though it was not a peal, deserved such a record as a tablet. With this opinion I have the very greatest sympathy. Moreover, in your columns the opinion has been expressed that records should be kept of attempts as well as successes. This would become impracticable if we are to use the word 'changes' indiscriminately, as Mr. Coles seems to desire. If, however, we agree to reckon up the number of 'changes' only when true changes have been rung, and in other cases merely to count the number of 'rows,' then we should know where we are, and it would be safe to record unsuccessful attempts.

Best wishes of the season to you and all my other fellow-ringers.

AN EVENING AT WILL COSTER'S.

MR. J. A. TROLLOPE CONJURES UP GHOSTS OF THE PAST.

There is (or there was) an impression in the Exercise that the College Youths of Annable's time were men of wealth, dignity and position. Once, according to the old tale, after they had rung a peal of Bob Maxims at St. Bridget's in Fleet Street, they departed to their own homes in pomp and state, each in his own carriage. Who first invented this tale, I cannot tell; at the best it is but a silly fable, for, whatever the College Youths of those days may have been, and whatever else they may have done, of this at least we may be sure, that when they finished that peal they went to the Barley Mow (or wherever their club house then was) and made a night of it. There was a time (but that was in earlier years still) when the College Youths were men of good social position. Whether they were ever quite respectable is another matter. There was, even in their best days, a certain Bohemian atmosphere about some of their proceedings which would hardly meet with the approval of the really respectable. What they were like in Annable's time I have tried to hint at in the following sketch. Much of the detail is, of course, imaginary, but all the persons, most of the incidents, and a lot of the dialogue are strictly historical.

WILL LAUGHTON ENTERS.

One evening towards Christmas, in the year 1733, a man was groping his way through the narrow, ill-paved and ill-lit streets of Moorfields. There was a touch of early winter in the air, and the east wind blew sharply, dimming the few lamps that here and there served to make the dark lanes seem darker still. The wayfarer turned down Angel Alley and, stopping at the Bell Tavern, lifted the latch and prepared to descend the few steps into the parlour. As he did so he caught his foot on some obstruction and fell sprawling into the middle of the room.

'Curse that step!' he muttered. 'The devil fly away with the man who made it!'

Five or six men were sitting round the fire smoking. At the clatter of the newcomer's entry they turned, and, seeing who it was, greeted him with a shout. 'What, Will! What, Laughton! Is this the way to come into the company of gentlemen?'

Laughton picked himself up, a bit ruffled in temper. 'Gentlemen!' he snarled. 'I know how to meet gentlemen. You're only a pack of— Here! Coster! Will Coster, bring me a dram to keep this cold out.'

The landlord came into the room at the moment. He was a big, burly fellow, between forty and fifty years old, once evidently an athletic man, but now grown fleshy and red faced as a publican will.

'Look 'ee here, Will Laughton,' he said, 'when you come into my place, try and pretend to be a man and walk on your hind legs, and not like the ass you are on all fours.'

'Ass!' snapped the other. 'I'd sooner be a well-bred ass than an old fat-sided pig like you.'

Coster regarded him with a grin. 'If I have much more of your lip, I'll take you by the scruff of the neck and drop you outside in the gutter where you belong.'

'All right, Coster,' said one of the others. 'Let him alone. He's all right, only Ben's been upsetting him again.'

'Who?' said the landlord. 'What, Annable? What's he bin doing to you, Laughton?'

'Me?' said Laughton. 'Nothing. I care no more for Ben Annable than I do for you lot, and I'll tell him so, too,' a boast which which greeted with a derisive laugh.

'Ben's a good ringer, anyhow,' said a tall young fellow, John Trenell by name.

'He ain't the only one,' said another. 'There's better than him.'

'You shut up, Jerry Gilbert,' said Coster. 'You don't know a good ringer when you meet him. Not that you'll get the chance, for the College Youths won't have the likes of you.'

'They can wait till I ask 'em,' rejoined Gilbert, 'but I say again, there's better men ringers than Ben Annable.'

'Who is?' asked Trenell. 'Well, Matt East for one,' said the other.

'I don't know about that,' said Coster. 'Matt's a good chap, but he ain't as good as Ben.'

'He called the Gran'sir Cinques at Bridget's, anyhow,' said Gilbert.

'Ay,' rejoined the landlord, 'and Bill Jackson pricked the peal. And both of 'em had to go to Ben to show 'em how. Did you ever see the peal they started for at first? Big bells mixed up something awful. No wonder they couldn't ring it. Jackson said that that was how Doelman used to prick Gran'sir, and what was good enough for him was good enough for anybody. They wouldn't let Ben call, of course; said they didn't want boys to show 'em how to do things. He was only a youngster then, but soon as he got the chance he showed 'em how to ring peals. I will say this for Matt East, he wasn't a bit jealous, and let Ben have his own way soon as he knew how good he was.'

'The worst of Ben is that he always wants his own way,' said Laughton. 'He thinks nobody can prick a peal except him, nobody can call bobs and nobody else ring a big bell.'

'Ben's a bit masterful, I grant ye,' said Trenell, 'but where should we be without him? They say the London Scholars are all sixes and sevens because they haven't got anybody to lead 'em.'

'The London Scholars are finished,' said Coster. 'they'll break up any time. More's the pity. They were better chaps than over the College Youths was.'

'Who told you that, Coster?' asked another man, who had not yet spoken.

'Never you mind,' was the answer. 'I knows a lot, and did afore you was born, Dick Spicer.'

'All right,' said Spicer, 'we all knows you're an old man and know'd all the old 'uns. Tell us who's the best ringer you ever met?'

'Old be d—d!' answered Coster. 'But it's true I've rung with every one of the old ringers—Doleman and John Patrick and John Gartlon of Norwich—but I never come across one man so good that there wasn't a better. But if you ask me, I say the cleverest ringer that ever lived was Bob Baldwin. In them days we had a hand at Duustan's that 'ud beat anything you lads could do. Pity Baldwin dropped ringing; he'd ha' done more'n ever Ben'll do.'

THE 'RAMBLING RINGERS'

'I ain't a saying anything against Ben as a ringer,' said Laughton. 'What I say is, why don't he keep his mouth shut and not go finding fault with everyone like he do.'

'You shouldn't make trips, Bill,' said Trenell. 'Ben likes good striking, and ye know when you've got a drop too much you do flounder about a bit.'

'That's nothing to no one,' said Laughton. 'I takes my drink like a man. Ben don't care about good fellowship. He don't drink. What I say is: What's the good of finding fault? For whoever rings as well as he can shouldn't be blamed by anybody. If Ben could tell a mistake before it's made I should say he'd great, good luck. But he don't know no more than the Pope o' Room, who's going to make a fault before it's done. And what signifies it calling out when it's over and the man who made it knows it as well as he does. It only sets 'em a fretting and making more mistakes; and the consequences we've seen too often when we've bin ringing. What do you say? Let's make up a friendly party of our own and have a bit of friendly ringing by ourselves.'

'You daren't do it,' said Spicer. 'Where are you going to get a hand and who's going to get leave for the towers? D'ye think they'll let you go to Bridget's or Saint Martin's? And who's going to ring the big bells at Cornhill? What'll the College Youths say if you start a new company?'

'I ain't a-thinking about starting a new company,' said Laughton. 'We're all College Youths here, ain't we? All except Jerry, and we're going to stop College Youths. We han't any design to affront any soul on the earth. What I say is, Let's have a little diversion and go and ring at the different towers in the City. I say: Let's have variety. Because there's peals of twelve in town, that's no reason why we shouldn't have a go at fives and sixes. Let's meet next Thursday. Where shall we go? I'll stand you a hang-up here at Will Coster's afterwards.'

'Who are you going to get?' asked Spicer.

'What about Jack Cundell and Hardham?'

'We don't want Cundell,' said Laughton. 'There's too much of Ben Annable's style about him, and Hardham won't come. We've got enough. There's me and Jerry and Spicer and Trenell. Harrington and Tom Clark and Jack Dearmore'll come. What about you, Coster?'

'Not me,' said the landlord. 'I'm not a-going traipsing about in dirty five-bell towers with you lads. You can come here afterwards if ye like, and one day I'll give you a sea pie that you'll talk about as long as you live.'

'All right, ye fat pig, stop at home! Me and my friends is going to do some famous exploits in the art of ringing. Let Ben and the others take it hainously if they like and endeavour to ridicule folks behind their backs. That's what they'll do, you mark me. But I say, hang all these Snarling Criticks! Where shall we meet first? What about Benet Fink?'

'What about Peter Poor?' said Coster.

The others laughed. 'There's a dear old she-sexton there,' said Gilbert, 'that loves Laughton. You know her, don't you, Bill?'

'I know her all right,' answered Laughton, 'and I know how to get the keys all right. I'll bring Pogg Crabb's haughty stomach down if she makes any trouble. I did a job for the warden 'tother day; mended his clock, and he likes me. Well, then. Meet at Benet Fink Thursday next. Then we'll go to Hart Street and Shadwell and Peter Poor and wherever we want. Here, Coster! fill up these glasses and I'll give you a toast. "Success to the Rambling Ringers and confusion to all Snarling Criticks!"'

NOTES.—Angel Alley was where the Metropolitan Railway Station, Moorgate, now is. St. Benet Fink Church was at the back of the Royal Exchange, St. Peter la Poor was in Broad Street. Both have since been pulled down. 'Hang-up' was Laughton's slang term for a treat. I do not know if it was a common expression at the time.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

A well-attended quarterly meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild was held at St. Stephen's, Eastwood, Rotherham, about forty members and friends being present. The bells were rung in various methods before the choral service, which was held in the church, conducted by the curate (the Rev. R. Donne), who presided over the tea which followed the service.

The curate, on behalf of the Vicar and himself, extended a hearty welcome to the Guild and all ringers—Mrs. Scott proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, the curate, the organist and choir, the Mothers' Union and Mr. Measures.—Mr. Measures suitably replied.

After the tea the business meeting was held (the gentlemen adjourning to the belfry while this was in progress). Members were present from Bramley, Dewsbury, Leeds, Dore, Norton, Rotherham, Eastwood, Thurncroft and Handsworth. Mrs. Thomas (the Vicar's wife) was voted to the chair and two new members were elected, viz., Mrs. Parkin, of Eastwood, and Miss Dugdale, of Dore.

Workshop was selected as the place of the next meeting, and the business concluded with a vote of thanks to Mrs. Thomas for taking the chair. The ladies then joined the gentlemen in the belfry, where ringing was continued till 9 o'clock.
