SPLICED GRANDSIRE DOUBLES,

BY GABRIEL LINDOFF.

I will now go on to show how to obtain four extents in three equal parts. For this purpose the three-part 120's must be used as the base, the splicing to be carried out as in previous examples.

I find that there are fourteen of these 480's which, when varied by starting at different leads, gives us a total of two hundred and twenty-four, which gives us an additional 105,520 changes.

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at St. Michael's, Teignmouth, on Saturday, May 13th, when ringers were present from Exeter, Kenn, Christow, Buckfastleigh, Paignton, Plymouth, etc. The bells were kept going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples during the afternoon, whilst some of the visitors rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles at Bishopsteignton Church.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. WORSLEY BELLS TO BE RESTORED.

The May quarterly meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Worsley on Saturday, May 20th. Quite a large number took advantage of a fine day to visit what is known as one of the prettiest spots around Manchester. The bells of St. Mark's were set going early in the afternoon. A ringers' service, at which 34 members were present, was conducted by Canon Elsee, president of the association, assisted by the Rev. Isaac Renshaw, Vicar of St. Mark's.

In his address Canon Elsee spoke of the beauty of Worsley Church, of its beautiful surroundings, and of the ringing associations connected with the bells. He referred to the ringers' 'contribution' to the Church of England in the office of bellringer, and said how essential it was that each one should make that contribution, in the sense of good striking, worthy of the high purpose for which it was undertaken.

After the service tea was served in the adjoining Parish Room, where the members soon satisfied hunger cravings created by bell-pulling and the open air. Afterwards, by the kind invitation of the Vicar, the members arranged themselves on the Vicarage lawn, where the business meeting was held. The president took the chair, whilst the meeting was further honoured by the presence of the Vicar.

In welcoming the branch to Worsley the Vicar mentioned that he hoped ere long the bells of St. Mark's would be in the hands of the bell founders. He added that since coming to the district three years ago several schemes in connection with the parish had already been put through, and the bells would be given his attention in the near future.

The President remarked upon the advisability of having a good job made of the bells when the time came.

A suggestion that the branch hold its June meeting jointly with the Bolton Branch at Walkdon, on the occasion of the association committee meeting there on June 17th next was adopted, and places chosen for the July and August meetings were Flixton and Radcliffe respectively.

After other business had been disposed of, a hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the room and grounds and for his services; to the organist, and choir boys; and to the ladies and local ringers for their help in making such a successful and enjoyable meeting. The president was also heartily thanked for his attendance and for his services.

The Vicar and President responded, after which the members adjourned to the tower for further ringing, expressing a general opinion that the afternoon had been well spent.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

SOUTHERN BRANCH PRESIDENT'S FAREWELL.

A successful meeting of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Edeuham on Saturday, May 13th. Under good weather conditions, and with the picturesque countryside looking at its best, there was a good attendance of ringers and friends from Boston, Bourne, Grantham, Spalding, Surfleet, Market Deeping, Deeping St. James, West Deeping, Hough-on-the-Hill, Wymondham, Rippingale, Morton, Billingborough, Folkingham and the local band. Through the kindness of the Rector, Rev. D. S. Rowlands, president of the branch, the fine peal of eight bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and a variety of methods were rung ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise. Service was held in the beautiful and ancient church, the Rector giving a helpful address. Mrs. Rowlands presided at the organ.

Tea was served at the Five Bells Inn, 37 sitting down. The Rev. Rowlands regretted not being able to attend the tea and business meeting, but expressed pleasure at seeing such a good attendance, and said he was sorry that it would be the last meeting he would attend as Rector of Edenham, as he was about to leave the parish to take up new duties at Kilmerson, Somerset. He wished the branch, of which he had been president for the past two years, and the whole Guild every success in the future.

Mr. R. Richardson (Master of the Guild) said the Rev. Rowlands had done a lot for the branch during the four years he had been at Edenham. Soon after he came to this parish he took an active part in raising funds for the two new trebles to complete the octave, and at the same time the tenor was recast, thus making a peal to be proud of. The best wishes from the branch would go with Mr. and Mrs. Rowlands to their new parish.

At the conclusion of tea the business meeting followed, at which Mr. R. Richardson presided.

Mr. V. English, of Edenham, was elected a member of the branch, and West Deeping was selected as the place for the summer meeting in July.

As some £40 was still needed to defray the cost of the Rev. H. Law James memorial, a grant of three guineas was made from the Southern Branch funds.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and the service, also to the organist and to all who had made the necessary arrangements for a successful meeting. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until 9 p.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It must be almost unique for a ringer to ring Cambridge Surprise Royal for his first peal, but William J. Root did this at Leicester, and is to be congratulated on his fine performance. He is quite a beginner, and has had very little practice on ten bells. Another creditable performance at the same time was that by Harrison Carter, whose first peal of Royal and of Surprise it was.

A lightning raid on the Irish Free State was carried out on Saturday by an expedition which left London on Friday night and returned victorious with the spoils in the early hours of Sunday morning.

It was appropriate that the first peal of Cambridge Maximus in Ireland should be called by a Patrick. Besides being Pat's first peal of Maximus as conductor it was his 50th twelve-bell Surprise peal rung in four methods. Messrs. G. R. and W. Pye and C. T. Coles all passed the half-century some time ago.

Rupert Richardson, by travelling from Surfleet to Dublin via London, set up what is probably a record distance travelled for a peal in the British Isles. At any rate, if not a record, 850 miles for one peal is pretty good going. What silly things members of the N.O.P.G. will do!

It is rumoured that a well-known London bachelor ringer found Kate in Dublin, and intends going there again next week. It is a wonder he came home at all!

The band at Gorton, Manchester, has now succeeded in ringing a peal in each of the four 'standard' methods. Grandsire, Treble Bob, Stedman and Plain Bob have all been rung by the local company since the bells were recast and rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in April, 1932. This performance is very creditable, considering that, for almost sixty years, nothing but Grandsire was rung at this church.

An attempt was made at Shiplake, Oxon, on Saturday, for a peal of 10,176 London Surprise Major. Unfortunately it came to grief through a shift course after almost five hours' ringing. There was one lady in the band.

PEALS OF MINOR.

ATTEMPT TO REGULARISE THE POSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your leading article on what we may agree to call the Minor controversy seems to call for some comment. In the first paragraph you say that 'if the Council find in favour of those who ask that the old conventions shall be broken down and fresh standards erected, then they have to decide further how far beyond the old barriers they recommend ringers to draw the new line.'

Speaking for myself, and, I believe, the seconder of the resolutions over our names, I can say that we are not asking for any conventions to be broken down. It is quite obvious to us that all the old conventions were broken down long ago, and, what is of still more importance, the Council has accepted the position. From the time when, several years ago, the Bankes James' Cambridge Minor and the Pitman's and Morris' Grandsire Doubles were first rung, the Council has each succeeding year accepted these peals as fit to be included in the Council's records. It has, further, done this with full knowledge of the merits (or demerits) of the peals concerned. Each year these peals have been included in the Council's analysis, besides which the majority of affiliated associations have, at some time or other, published records of them in their annual reports.

In the face of these facts an attempt to regularise the position by bringing the Council's decisions up to date should not be misunderstood. The resolutions are designed to cover peals of Minor and Doubles already rung and accepted, and they go no further. In the opinion of the proposer and seconder, they contain sufficient safeguards to avoid any departures from ordinary change-ringing rules being included. If the Council accepts the resolutions, it is to be hoped that six and five-bell ringers will not ring anything outside the new decisions. If the Council rejects the resolutions, it will have to face up to the position thus created. The Council cannot logically say that it will continue to recognise the peals already rung and at the same time rule them out for the future. It will have to say what shall be done about the records of the peals already rung, approximately 250 in number! When we find a composition to be false we promptly delete it from all our association records, and this is what we shall have to do with these peals of Minor and Doubles if the Council states its opinion that they are false.

Before Council representatives make up their minds on this question of falseness will they consider the following: A peal of Triples contains each of the 5,040 rows once only. If there is a repetition of a single row the peal is false, and no decision of the Council could alter it. A single 720 of Minor is in exactly the same position. But a peal of 5,040 Minor contains each row seven times. If one row is rung eight times in a 5,040, and another rung only six times, then the peal would be false. Whilst each row is rung seven times (no more and no less) the peal cannot be false in the same sense that a peal of Triples with a repetition of rows is false. It is entirely a matter of definition. And if the Council decides to regularise the position by accepting the resolutions, those ringers who do not wish to ring compositions they do not like can continue under the old style. Mr. Lindoff's tables this week will show them something of what they are missing in variety of calling.

NORTH STAFFS RINGERS VISIT SHROPSHIRE.

HODNET TO HAVE EIGHT BELLS?

On Saturday, May 6th, the ringers of Norton (Staffs) visited the towers of Hodnet and Clive. At the former place they were met by Mr. W. Weatherby and party, of Market Drayton, and Mr. Rodenhurst, of Kenstone

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A SPLICING 'SURPRISE'

Hendon was visited by members of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association on Saturday, May 13th, and the outing was quite a pleasant one. A nice toned peal of six, with a tenor of 16½ cwt., were set going quite early to Bob Minor, which was quickly followed by Cambridge Surprise, Kent and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Later a very nice tea was served, and the business meeting was afterwards held. Three new members were elected, and Stanmore chosen for the next meeting on June 24th.

A discussion arose on 'The Ringing World' and its failure to publish all the touches, quarter-peals, etc., which were sent for publication. This, said one critic, was responsible for the paper not being read by many young ringers. The Hon. Secretary stated that he felt sure the Editor was fully alive to what was wanted, but lack of space was the trouble he was faced with. A larger circulation would enable him to increase the size of the paper. The Hon. Secretary added his opinion that the Editor had to leave out other matters besides touches, etc., and had to use a considerable amount of discrimination in deciding what to publish and what to omit.

Another interesting subject raised was that of the bells lately at St. Andrew's Church, Wells Street. The hon. secretary was able to state the very latest news with regard to these bells, that they were to be hung for ringing in the new Church of St. Andrew, Kingsbury, Middlesex.

Questions were asked as to arrangements made in connection with the Central Council meeting at Whitsun, and these were replied to as far as possible. It was considered that London was able to behave to its visitors much better than it had ever done before.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. N. R. Boyd, Mr. C. H. Martin, etc., concluded the meeting.

Subsequently more ringing took place, and Mr. E. M. Atkins surprised not a few by calling a touch of 240 Grandsire Doubles with only two singles. He stated afterwards that this was what some people would like to stop being rung, and when asked if any change occurred more than twice he answered, 'No; that was two 120's rung spliced, and only two singles were used.' There certainly seems to be something to be got out of splicing, in spite of the croakers. 'Just fancy,' writes our correspondent, 'being able to cut out a number of those awful unmusical singles! Ringers of Doubles and Minor, please note!'

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON AT FELTHAM.

After a stormy morning, on May 13th, the weather became more settled, and bursts of sunshine tempted members of the South and West District to forsake their wireless sets, gardens, families and other vices and encumbrances and venture forth to Feltham! Ringing commenced punctually at 3.30 p.m., under the guidance of the Ringing Master, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, and continued intermittently until 5 p.m. In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, Rev. Brown, the curate conducted shortened even-song, the lesson being read by the vice-president, Mr. J. A. Trollope. Miss K. Bradford, of Twickenham, presided at the organ, whilst the choir consisted of the local ringers. Truly a ringers' service! Mr. Brown, in his address, said he preferred to speak to them as a body of fellow-workers of the Church rather than emphasise their particular vocation. Would that other clergy remembered this, and ringers' services would not then tend to become as stereotyped as they sometimes prove to be. Tea was taken in the Railway Hotel, presided over by the vice-president, supported by Rev. Brown and all the officers of the district with one exception. Over thirty members and friends were present. At the subsequent business meeting reference was made to the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, of Caversham, and it was agreed that the sympathy of the meeting be conveyed to the widow. Attention was also drawn to the passing of Mr. R. Kilby, of Willesden. The deceased gentleman had been a member of the association since 1914, although a member of the Willesden Branch for many years previously. The company stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of respect to the memory of the two gentlemen.

Five of the Sunbury ringers, together with one of the local band, were elected ringing members of the association.

It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Sunbury-on-Thames on Saturday, June 10th, with a meeting at Harlington, if possible, in July.

The meeting learned with regret of the prolonged illness of Mr. J. J. Pratt, of Hillingdon. A message was sent to him conveying the sympathy of the members, together with a wish that his recovery might be rapid.

The business concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the clergy and ringers of Feltham for the splendid welcome extended to the association, and to Mr. Denford in particular for the painstaking manner in which he had made the necessary arrangements.

Further ringing brought to an end a very happy and pleasant meeting.

MANGOTSFIELD, BRISTOL.—After evening service, on Sunday, April 30th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, as a compliment to the Rev. W. Austin, who has been filling the duties of incumbent for six months in the absence of the Vicar: J. Hopes (first quarter) 1, A. T. Maggs 2, F. Skidmore 3, E. Palmer 4, T. James 5, G. S. Wiltshire 6, J. G. Jefferies (conductor) 7, J. Jefferies, jun., 8.

THE NEW BELLS AT PORTSMOUTH.

A SPLENDID PEAL.

A meeting organised to enable all who desired to do so to ring on the new peal of bells at St. Mary's Church, Portsea, Portsmouth, was held on May 13th, and brought together a numerous company. The bells, as already described in these columns, are a product of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and replace an octave of mixed origin. The restoration was made possible by the generosity of the Barron Bell Trust, and the work, which has been carried out is so complete and thorough that the conditions both inside and outside the tower are as perfect as human ingenuity can make them.

St. Mary's Church, itself of almost cathedral-like proportions, with its tall, pinnacle-surmounted tower, was opened in 1899, and the bells then installed were an octave that consisted of four of a ring of six, cast in 1764 and taken from the previous church, and four new bells. Last year it became unsafe to ring them, and, in view of the other needs of the large but poor parish, it seemed as if the restoration might have to be long delayed. Thanks, however, to the interest taken by Mr. F. Hopkins, senior trustee of the Barron Bell Fund, the whole cost of the work was provided by the Trust, and St. Mary's Church is now in possession of one of the finest rings of eight at their weight in existence. In some respects we believe the bells are of experimental dimensions, but if that be so the experiment has been more than justified. The tenor of 17 cwt. 7 lb. is in F (instead of the customary E), the trebles are more powerful than is often found in rings of this size, and the whole peal is beautifully balanced. In the ringing room every bell is heard to perfection, and outside in the busy street the sound is so modulated that it can be no possible source of annoyance to the public. This result has been brought about by similar action to that taken at Lincoln Cathedral. Formerly the bells swung in the louvers in the upper part of the tower; the new bells have now been erected at a level 25ft. lower, the windows at this stage having been made sound proof. Another result of the lowering of the bells has been a great improvement in the convenience of handling. Previously there was 70ft. of rope between the ringers and the bells. The frame and the fittings are 'the last word' in modern bell engineering.

Saturday's gathering was, in a sense, an informal one. It brought together ringers from Alverstoke, Beckenham, Brighton, Fareham, Farnborough, Godalming, Gosport, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (the Cathedral and St. Mary's), Ryde, Titchfield, Wickham, Winchester, Woking, etc., while Mr. J. P. Fidler represented the bell founders.

The bells were kept going merrily to a variety of methods, from rounds for the novices up to Spliced Surprise in four methods, although the latter just failed to 'stay the course.' Courses in at least half a dozen Surprise methods were rung, but there was no neglect of the simpler things, and under the direction of Mr. F. W. Rogers, the Guild secretary and tower conductor, the ringing wants of everyone were supplied.

The Guild's service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon G. C. L. Lunt) was held, a feature of it being the glorious singing of a full choir. Canon Lunt's address, which was prefaced with a warm welcome to the ringers, was based upon the words, 'And in that day there shall be upon the bells of the horses Holiness unto the Lord.' The lessons which he drew from it were the need in the present day for holiness in work, holiness in worship and holiness in the home.

A happy party afterwards sat down to tea together in the Church Hall, and handbell ringing was indulged in before those present eventually returned to the tower to enjoy a further spell on the delightful ring of eight.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

RINGERS GIVE START TO 'CAMPAIGN OF WITNESS.'

On Saturday, May 6th, an extraordinary meeting of the Hinckley Branch of the above association was held essentially to meet the Lord Bishop of the diocese, who that day was beginning a ten-day mission in the district. The bells of the Parish Church (eight) were open during the afternoon and evening, and good use made of them by the visitors. Tea was served at 4.30 p.m. in the Church Hut, and over 60 ringers and friends sat down. Every tower in the district was represented, as well as many in other districts, and friends from the Warwickshire Guild.

Following tea, Mr. W. Wood, local vice-president, in a few well-chosen words, welcomed the Lord Bishop of Leicester (Dr. Cyril Bardsley) to the district. He explained the work of ringers as being essentially team work, a full company being always necessary to carry on successfully. They had to be diligent, patient and persevering. He assured his lordship that all felt highly honoured by his presence.

This was seconded by Mr. A. E. Rowley, the local secretary, who stated that the work of the district was appreciated by the clergy, and they were welcomed wherever they went. The membership was continually growing, and so long as this fellowship continued it would go on from strength to strength.

The Vicar of Hinckley, Rev. Canon Eacott, extended a most cordial welcome to the Lord Bishop and also the ringers. He explained the object of this visit, and trusted that the coming days' mission would show to the people in the parishes around more and more their purpose and personal witness. Many missionaries were coming into the district, and this beginning by the ringers spoke well for its ultimate success.

The Rural Dean (Rev. Canon Casson, Rector of Croft) supported the welcome, especially on behalf of the deanery.

BISHOP'S PERPLEXITY.

The Lord Bishop then spoke of the great pleasure it had given him to visit the Hinckley district ringers, and said he was highly delighted to see such a good company present. He would tell them more about the mission to be started at the service to be held later in church. After giving a few amusing reminiscences of various visits to country parishes, he said there was a certain worry that sometimes perplexed him. When he had to dedicate a peal of bells in some remote corner of his diocese he prepared the best sermon he could for the occasion—then perhaps he would have to go to the other end of the county on a similar errand, and sure enough, up popped the same faces among his congregation. He confessed he did not know a great lot about bells and ringing, and it sometimes embarrassed him. He had a large volume in his library by a well-known Leicester ringer, but found even that rather technical and not very adaptable for a sermon. However, he was very grateful to all these present for their kindly reception, for which he thanked them heartily.

The Rev. R. P. Farrow, Rector of Stoney Stanton, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Hinckley for his kind invitation that day, and to the Lord Bishop for his presence amongst them, said he spoke as a ringer and not as a parson. He had been a ringer for more years than he could remember, and had taken part in between 60 and 70 peals—not a great lot, nor nearly as many as some of the young men he had taught. He thought the Bishop of the diocese ought to make it an obligation that all clerics before admission to a living should become expert bellringers, and facetiously asked the Bishop to make him his examining chaplain on this matter! Anyway, whenever they went among the towers of this district the clergy had always been most kind, receiving them with a warm welcome.

Mr. Ernest Morris, the general hon. secretary of the association, supported these remarks, and said it was a great honour to have his lordship among them. He (the speaker) was one of the culprits who followed the Bishop whenever there was a bell restoration, and he apologised if his lordship did not find inspiration in his 'History and Art of Change Ringing.' However, he threw out a hint to the effect that it would be a good idea to go to the bells themselves for sermons. One came to his mind, viz., at Oadby there was an inscription 'Audite et Venite: Venite et Audite,' and for this mission of personal witness the motto fitted them as ringers, who were told to give the invitation to the world around: 'Hear and come, come and hear.' 'Hear us pealing—come to church—come and hear God's Word.' Mr. Morris concluded by assuring the Bishop that wherever he might go in the coming days of the campaign of witness, he would find no more enthusiastic, sincere or hardworking churchworkers than the members of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association.

Mr. C. H. Webb proposed a vote of thanks to Rev. R. P. Farrow for the splendid work done by him in the district and as a representative on the Central Council for the past three years.—This was seconded by Mr. A. Ballard and carried with enthusiasm.

The Earl Shilton handbell ringers gave some very fine selections, after which all present adjourned for a service in the church, at which the Lord Bishop gave a short address on 'Personal witness.' After the service, ringing was again indulged in. Everyone sharing in the afternoon's programme went home feeling that not only had it been a time of enjoyment, but a real start for the mission 'campaign of witness.'

It is proposed to erect a memorial in Eccleston Church to the late Mr. H. W. Wilde, who died in October last. The memorial will take the form of a tablet, cast in bronze, and placed in the Baptistry near the belfry door.

The committee will be glad to acknowledge subscriptions, which should be forwarded either to the hon. treasurer, Mr. A. E. Richards, School House, Farndon, Chester, or to Mr. J. W. Clarke, Wayside, Circular Drive, Chester.

NEXT TUESDAY'S COUNCIL MEETING.

The Central Council meeting in London next Tuesday is likely to be an interesting one, and will certainly provide the members with a full sitting. The 'triennial' meeting, in the metropolis, of necessity, produces more routine business than the two succeeding gatherings in the provinces, for it is the first session of a new Council and the officers and committees have to be elected, but on this occasion, apart from certain contentious motions on the agenda, the internal affairs of the Council will demand more than usual attention. The business includes consideration of the revised rules and the Standing Committee's recommendations as to their own constitution and that of other committees. Hitherto committees have been elected in a somewhat casual way, generally by asking the representative, who proposes the appointment of a committee for any purpose, to nominate the members. By this means the Council may or may not get the best Committee for the object in view. Whether it is possible to devise any better plan, however, remains to be seen, but whatever is done about the committees in general, there ought to be some less haphazard method of electing the Standing Committee—which is really the Executive Committee of the Council—than has been practised in the past. The number of elective members on this committee ought to be definitely fixed; vacancies should be filled as they occur and elections, when they are necessary, ought to be by ballot.

Very little criticism has been heard up to the present of the proposed new rules. Where they have been discussed by associations the rules seem to have proved generally acceptable and the principles which they seek to lay down for the constitution of the Council are, we think, likely to be adopted by the Council. The intention behind the rules is to make the bond between the associations and the Council a stronger one; to make the Council the central body of the ringing Exercise in fact as well as in name. The fixing of the representation of territorial and diocesan societies on a definite limited numerical basis will not only tend to prevent overlapping, but will also serve another useful purpose in providing, to a much greater degree than is at present possible, some guide to the number of ringers represented by the Council. The new rules also change the financial relationship of the societies with the Council, by basing the affiliation fees on membership and not upon the number of representatives elected to the Council. In actual practice very few associations will be affected, for most of them already elect the maximum number to which they are entitled, and we can hardly imagine any association declining membership of the Council on the strength of the financial liability, when the affiliation fees will be, at most, only about one halfpenny per member per annum. The service which the Council renders to the Exercise—not merely through the business transacted at the annual meeting, but by the work of its committees throughout the year, and the fact that it is actually the hub of the wheel of ringing organisation—more than makes its upkeep worth while, and this further attempt to strengthen the ties between the Council and the associations will surely be welcomed.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH VOTE TO LAW JAMES MEMORIAL.

The annual meeting held at Gainsborough on Saturday, May 20th, was a real success, the districts of Gainsborough, Grimsby and Lincoln being well represented, but, unfortunately, the Sleaford District was unrepresented. Honorary and performing members to the number of eighty were present from Bardney, Barrow-on-Humber, Bigby, Blankney, Brantson, Broughton, Burton-on-Stather, Cleethorpes, Elsham, Grimsby, Heapham, Lea, Lincoln, Misterlon (Notts), Nettleham, Scothern, Scotter, Scunthorpe, Thornton Curtis, Ulceby, Upton and Willingham, in addition to the local company, and Mr. C. T. H. Bradley (Southern Branch secretary).

The bells were available during the afternoon and evening, the methods rung ranging from Bob Doubles to London Surprise Major, also rounds for the less experienced.

Service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar (Canon G. H. Round-Turner) officiated.

Mr. Alan Stephenson, Mus.Bac., Oxon., kindly presided at the organ, and the assistance of a number of the choirboys was a great asset to the musical part of the service. Canon R. G. Fookes (Rector of Lea) gave a very helpful address.

Tea was provided at the Sun Hotel, after which a collection was taken on behalf of the Rev. H. Law James Memorial Fund, and realised the amount of £1 16s. 3½d.

The business meeting followed, at which Mr. F. F. Linley (Northern Branch president) occupied the chair, being supported by members of the committee.

A letter was read from Mr. R. Richardson (Guild Ringing Master) apologising for his absence and expressing the hope that the meeting would deal with the memorial fund as generously as possible, at the same time stating that the amount required had been reduced below £40.

The balance sheet and secretary's report for 1932 were adopted. The whole of the officers were re-elected en bloc. Messrs. William Raines (Thornton Curtis), Thomas Scott and Leslie Whitehead (Elsham) were elected performing members.

It was agreed that the arrangements for the 1934 annual meeting at Grimsby should be left in the hands of the general secretary and the Grimsby District members of the committee.

The principal item on the agenda was a grant from the Northern Branch towards the Rev. H. Law James Memorial Fund. Mr. Geo. Chester proposed, and Mr. J. A. Freeman seconded, the sum of £5. As an amendment Mr. C. McGuinness proposed, and Mr. C. A. Hewitt seconded, that £20 be voted. As a further amendment, Mr. C. H. Baker proposed, and Mr. H. M. Walker seconded, £10 10s. On being put to the meeting the amount of £10 10s. was agreed to.

Votes of thanks to Mr. Linley for presiding at the meeting, to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the service, to Canon Fookes for his instructive address, to the organist and choirboys for their assistance, and to the caterers for the excellent tea provided, concluded the business. Further ringing on tower bells and handbells took place until nine o'clock, and brought to a close a most successful and enjoyable meeting.

SOUTHGATE.—On Sunday, May 13th, for morning service, 1,280 Superlative Surprise Major in 50 mins.: A. R. Glasscock 1, J. Armstrong (conductor) 2, G. Slater 3, S. Wade 4, N. A. Tomlinson 5, H. Miller 6, J. E. Miller 7, W. Pickworth 8.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.WITLEY'S CRAMPED BELFRY.

The ringing room at Witley, the rendezvous of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday, May 20th, is not exactly ideal, as in the centre of the room there is a glass case containing the clock pendulum, which hides each ringer from the bell opposite him. In addition, most of the ropes fall very close to the walls, and any ringer with an outsize in belts finds some difficulty in placing himself comfortably between the rope and the wall. In consequence some of the ringing was inclined to be a trifle patchy, although most of the touches, including a course of Cambridge Surprise Major, came home.

Seven of the district towers were represented, and visitors included Mr. J. Cook, of Rock Ferry, and Miss Price, of Ely, and Guild members from Aldershot and Farnborough. The usual form of service was held, and it was learned that the organist had come from Bramley at some inconvenience to himself specially for the meeting. The main business of the meeting was the disposal of a bountiful tea supplied at a moderate charge by Mr. Denyer at the Church Hut. This being successfully accomplished, the Vicar, the Rev. P. G. Holden, was elected an honorary member, and Messrs. Turner and Smith, of the local band, as ringing members.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden thanked the Rector, the organist, the caterers and the local band on behalf of the members, and in this he was supported by Mr. A. J. Bartlett.

The sum of 5s. was collected towards the Admiral Walker Memorial Fund.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.CHIPPING NORTON DEANERY BRANCH.

The annual spring meeting of the Chipping Norton Deanery Branch was held at Hook Norton on Saturday, May 20th. Every tower in the deanery was well represented with visitors from Ilmington, Mickleton and Deddington. The lovely peal of eight bells were rung continually from two until four o'clock, by which time about 80 ringers were present and attended the service. The Rev. M. Sperring, Rector of Churchill, gave the address, and made an impressive allusion to the sad loss the Guild had sustained by the death of the Master.

Tea was next served in the Village Hall, after which the business meeting was held.

The Chairman (the Rev. E. C. Freeman) spoke of the sudden passing of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and remarked that if he had not been taken from them he would have been with them that day, as he had fixed the meeting to fit in with his other engagements. The Chairman said he felt sure it would be hard to fill his place in many ways. The deanery had now also lost an old and valued past-officer in the late Mr. J. F. Barlow, who was secretary of the branch for 21 years in the time of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson's activities.—The whole company stood in silence for a short time as a mark of respect.

The secretary produced the balance sheet, which was considered very satisfactory. The chairman (the Rev. E. C. Freeman) and the secretary (Mr. J. Keyte) were re-elected.

The Branch Secretary urged all ringers present to look forward and continue to go ahead and further the art of ringing, as their late Master would have had them do.

The Guild General Secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) said he had little to say only to back up all that the branch secretary had said, and urged them to 'carry on.' He was sure they would do so as long as they saw fit to re-elect the present officers, who they were very fortunate to have. He also urged all who could to attend the annual festival at Oxford in July.—Mr. Wright (Guild treasurer) made some comments upon the Guild finances, and also referred to the branch as being in a very flourishing financial position. He urged all branches to try and get their subscriptions sent in in good time.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of Hook Norton for his great welcome, to the Rev. M. Sperring, to the organist and blower, and to the ladies for providing the tea.

Charlbury was selected for the autumn meeting. Ringers then made a move to Great Rollright, Shipton-under-Wychwood and the local tower. Chipping Norton tower was closed owing to the death on the previous Thursday of Mr. Barlow.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

All being well, eight members of the Herts County Association hope to make another attempt for 18,144 of Bob Major at Rennington, Herts, on Whit Monday, starting 7.30 a.m.

Mr. Charles Dyson this year completes the jubilee of his connection with the Abbey tower, Tewkesbury.

Mr. E. V. Rodenburst, who rang his 300th peal on Saturday at Brewood, has rung his peals in 103 towers, in 19 counties and for 14 associations.

It has been proposed that a ringing tour should be attempted by the Oxford University Society, probably early in September. Will any old members who may be able to join write Rev. W. C. Barrett, secretary, O.U.S.C.R., St. Thomas' Convent, Oxford.

Mr. Walter Ayre rang his 200th peal on tower bells on May 20th. These peals have been rung in 79 towers in 16 counties and for 15 associations.

The ringer of the 3rd in the peal of Bob Major at Salehurst on May 6th was James G. Powell, not Nowell as printed.

One hundred and fifty-one towers are affiliated to the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, which has 1,620 members, made up of honorary life five, honorary 53, performing 1,274, life 232, non-resident 4, unattached 52.

An interesting feature of the annual report of the association is 'Odd Notes for Ringers and Conductors,' containing some very practical hints. They are based largely upon inquiries from members, and it is noteworthy that it was the five-bell ringers who were the keenest in their quest for knowledge. Consequently they get the biggest share of the space.

There were twelve six-scores of Plain Bob and thirty of Grandsire in the peal of Doubles at Grafton Underwood, the report of which was published in our issue of May 19th.

Will ringers who have the Christian name of Harry communicate with Mr. Harry Parks, 8, Station Road West, Canterbury, with a view to arranging a peal.

Ringings touches and two peals on a recent holiday, Mr. F. Warrington travelled 486 miles in one week. The towers visited were Higham Ferrars, Irthlingborough, Over, Safron Waldon, March, Wisbech (Elm), and Yaxley, and a call was also made on 'Henry the Eighth.'

This is the jubilee year of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. The annual meeting is to be held at Lichfield on June 11th, and it is proposed to hold a dinner in celebration of the jubilee later in the year.

Over 200 ringers and friends are expected at Duffield to-morrow for the dedication of the new ring of 10 bells, which have been installed by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

Miss Kathleen Jutson, of Peterborough, is shortly leaving for New Zealand, where she is to continue her work in connection with the Church Army.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE LONDON GATHERING.

The meeting of the Central Council next Tuesday is to be held in one of the finest halls of any of the City Livery Companies—Skinners' Hall. This is on Dowgate Hill, which adjoins Cannon Street Station. The Council will be welcomed at 11 a.m. by the Worshipful Master of the Company, Mr. R. D. Poland.

A special meeting of the Standing Committee of the Council is to be held on Monday evening at 8 p.m. in the vestry of St. Clement Danes' Church, Strand.

On handbells the first 'silent' peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung by the Yorkshire Association, who also rang a non-conducted

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A 'VOTE OF CENSURE' DEFEATED.

A general meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held in conjunction with the Leeds and District Society at Leeds Parish Church on Saturday, when the magnificent peal of twelve bells, recently recast and relung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., were available for ringing throughout the day. A number of methods were rung on eight, ten and twelve bells, success being attained in varying degrees.

At a meeting of the general committee, held in the afternoon, it was decided to subscribe the sum of two guineas to the Sam Thomas Memorial at Rammore, Sheffield.

A service was held, at which the choir and organist were in attendance, and a short address was given by the Rev. — Hall.

Tea was served in the St. Peter's Hall, over one hundred members and friends sitting down. Mr. J. H. Swinfield, of Burton-on-Trent, and Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough, were two very welcome visitors. Before tea was over, the Rev. — Hall had to leave, and Canon C. C. Marshall (president) took the opportunity of thanking him, as the representative of the Leeds Parish Church authorities, for the welcome extended to the association and for the use of the bells.

The Rev. — Hall suitably acknowledged the vote of thanks. At the meeting subsequently held apologies for absence were read from Messrs. J. W. Addison and F. W. Dale. A vote of thanks was accorded to the local company for the arrangements they had made, and to the ladies for waiting at the tea tables. This was acknowledged by Mr. W. Woodhead.

Messrs. A. Higginbottom, of St. Giles', Pontefract, and N. Scott, of Huntington, were elected members of the association.

It was decided to hold the September meeting at Howden, and Canon Marshall invited the association to an informal meeting at Far Headingley, where the bells have recently been recast and relung by Taylor and Co. This meeting will be held on July 29th.

Canon Marshall also suggested that a letter of congratulation be sent to the Lord Mayor of Leeds, the bells having been rung earlier in the day in honour of his birthday, and this was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. P. J. Johnson moved a vote of thanks to the president and secretary, but thought they ought both to be fined for being late. (Canon Marshall was half an hour late for the committee meeting, and the secretary 15 minutes late for the general meeting, having been detained by a course of Cambridge Royal.) This is the first complaint Mr. Johnson has made against the general secretary for seventeen years. Incidentally, Mr. Johnson arrived with Canon Marshall at the committee meeting also half an hour late. Mr. Cotterell, who had somewhat of a name for being late at committee meetings, has been on time on the last two occasions, and therefore thought he was in a position to move a vote of censure on the two culprits. When, however, this was put to the vote he was the only one to support it. Oh, those Western Division committee men!

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.NINTH ANNUAL RINGING COMPETITION.

The large company of bellringers who assembled at the tower of St. Cynllo's Church, Nantmel, Rads, on Saturday, May 20th, were favoured with good weather until late in the afternoon. There were nine bands of ringers who had entered for the event, which consisted of raising the bells in peal, ringing 120 changes of any method, then falling the bells in peal.

The Guild were again fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, who carried out his duties of adjudicator in an admirable manner. Ringing commenced at 11 a.m., and continued (with an interval for lunch) until 4 p.m., when the last of the competing bands had completed their allotted task. The order of ringing, and the points obtained by the bands, out of a possible 240, were as follows:—

Cadoxton	...	229
Brecon 'B'	...	202
Cefn Coed	...	231
Llanelli (Breconshire)	...	232
Talgarth	...	224
Neath	...	224
Brecon 'A'	...	212
Llanelli (Carm)	...	226

As, however, the first, third, fourth and eighth bands rang methods other than Doubles, they were each entitled to a deduction of five points from the totals shown above. Llanelli (Breconshire) were thus the winners, the second and third places being taken by Cefn Coed and Cadoxton respectively. Certificates were awarded the first three teams, whilst Llanelli (Brecon) also had the shield.

A company of over 100 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent cold luncheon which had been prepared on the lawn at the Vicarage. Tea had also been arranged on the lawn at 4.30, but unfortunately a heavy downpour of rain necessitated removal to the Parish Rooms adjoining the Vicarage. It speaks volumes for the untiring energy of the Rev. E. E. Davies, Mrs. Davies and their helpers that tea was served under such trying circumstances with hardly any delay. After tea the Vicar extended the Guild a hearty welcome to the parish, and stated it was a very long time since there had been such an invasion of Nantmel. He then called upon Mr. W. H. Fussell to deliver his adjudication.

Mr. Fussell stated that he was very pleased with the way the bands had performed their tasks. It spoke well of the enthusiasm of the ringers that nine bands had travelled such long distances for the competition. He congratulated Cefn Coed in particular, as they had rung Stedman and were only a point behind the winners. The performances, taken as a whole, were highly satisfactory.

The Vicar afterwards presented the shield and certificate to the captain of the Llanelli (Brecon) team (Mr. A. A. Rackham), and the certificates for second and third places to the captains of Cefn Coed and Cadoxton teams (Messrs. A. Hunt and J. E. Blaxham). Mrs. Davies very kindly presented medals to each member of the winning team.

The thanks of the ringers were heartily accorded the Vicar, Mrs. Davies and helpers, who had so magnificently entertained them to luncheon and tea. This was proposed by the Rev. W. Gurnos Davies and was duly seconded. Three hearty cheers were then accorded the Vicar and Mrs. Davies.

The ringers' thanks to Mr. W. H. Fussell was proposed by Mr. S. T. Rackham (Master of the Guild), who was supported by Mr. Chas. Powell (hon. treasurer) and Mr. L. T. Ekvard (hon. secretary).

TILEHURST RINGER'S DEATH.

The death occurred on May 16th of Mr. J. H. Barnes, sen., after a long and painful illness. Mr. Barnes, who was 53 years of age, had been a member of Tilehurst belfry for some nine years, and his service and practice ringing was an example to all. Before coming to Tilehurst he was a member of St. Giles', Reading, belfry, and previous to that was steepkeeper at Great Missenden, Berks, for some years.

The funeral took place on May 19th, at Tilehurst, and four of his fellow-ringers acted as bearers. Among the beautiful wreaths was one from St. Michael's ringers. The Reading and Caversham towers were represented by Messrs. L. Joyce, J. Swain, C. Watts and H. Simmonds.

He leaves a widow and two sons, both ringers, to mourn their loss. In the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, with half-muffled clappers, was rung by the local band: M. Haines 1, H. Hunt 2, E. Chapman 3, H. Goodyer 4, A. Haines 5, R. N. Runham 6, R. Chapman (conductor) 7, D. Sellar 8.

CARLISLE DIOCESE.

At Crosthwaite Parish Church, Keswick, on Wednesday, May 17th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: I. Green 1, J. Brownrigg 2, F. Girdale 3, T. Hartley 4, F. Hogarth 5, F. Barnes 6, T. Hogarth (conductor) 7, A. Dawson 8. This was rung to commemorate the centenary of the Carlisle Diocese. It was also a 21st birthday compliment to ringers of 2nd and tenor. First quarter-peal for ringers of 1st, 2nd and tenor, and only second attempt at the method. The ringer of the 4th comes back to change ringing after an absence of ten years, this being his first attempt since he left the tower.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.PROPOSAL TO ADOPT DIOCESAN TITLE.

Members of the Essex Association are to be called upon at their annual meeting next Monday to make an important decision. They are to be asked to change the name to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild.

There is a natural dislike among some older members of an old-established association to alter the title which they have so long respected, and at Chelmsford the reluctance to change may lead to strenuous opposition. It has to be remembered, however, that in these days ringing is much more closely allied in its organisation to the Church than it was half a century ago, and while it may be said that the name of a society in itself makes no difference to the service which its members may render, the effect upon other people must not be forgotten, and among churchmen a diocesan touch naturally makes a greater appeal to sympathetic interest than a merely territorial designation.

This is a point of view which members of the Essex Association are not likely to be allowed to overlook next Monday, and, if the Essex Association takes the step now proposed, it may be an incentive to other territorial organisations to follow its lead, so that in every area the ringing societies will, by their very titles, show the public their close association with the Church, to which we owe allegiance and service, and upon which we so largely depend for the practice of our art.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT FEERING.

A meeting of the Northern Division, Essex Association, was held at Feering on May 13th, when 49 members from 18 parishes were present. During the afternoon and evening touches in various methods from Grandsire Triples to Bristol and London Surprise Major were rung. At the service, Mr. Howard (Master of the association) read the lesson. The Rev. C. B. Howard-Knight (Vicar), in welcoming the ringers to Feering, gave an excellent address. Tea was provided at the Bell Inn. The Vicar, who presided at the business meeting, was unanimously elected an hon. member. Four ringing members were also elected, and it was agreed to hold the next meeting at Belchamp St. Paul's on July 29th.

Mr. Howard proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his excellent and impressive address, also to the lady organist and the blower for their services. He considered the large gathering was a compliment to Mr. W. Keeble, who had made such excellent arrangements for tea, and who was doing wonderful work for the association. Mr. Keeble was a man who was always as anxious to get a young band through their first peal as he was to instruct older members in more intricate methods (hear, hear).

The Vicar, in reply, said he felt it an honour to be a member of the association. He was proud to have a man like Mr. Keeble in the parish, and he hoped the association would visit Feering a good many times whilst he was there. He was pleased Mr. Howard had expressed his thanks to the organist, as this lady had somewhat inconvenienced herself to get there, and her services were appreciated and very much enjoyed by all. He would convey those kind remarks to her.

The district secretary takes this opportunity of thanking Mr. Keeble for his kind assistance in arranging tea, etc., and to all those who notified their intention to be present. It is worthy of note that of the 49 present 47 sent in their names.

UNVEILING AND PRESENTATION.

An interesting ceremony took place in the belfry of the Parish Church of Hanslope, Bucks, on Saturday, May 13th, when two peal boards were dedicated by the Vicar, Rev. J. Percy Taylor who afterwards thanked the ringers for the way in which they had carried out their duties since he became Vicar of the parish. Following the dedication, a presentation was made by the Vicar to Mr. A. W. Gibbons, who is leaving the parish, of a pipe and tobacco pouch, which was subscribed to by the Vicar and bellringers.

The Vicar made feeling allusion to the loss the Oxford Diocesan Guild had suffered by the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who for many years was the Guild Master. The ringers stood in silence for a few moments in remembrance of the deceased gentleman. Afterwards several short touches were rung on the bells by the ringers present, and on the following Sunday a quarter-peal of Minor was rung before the evening service by: A. Keeves 1, A. Atkins 2, H. Garratt 3, F. Brownell 4, A. W. Gibbons 5, E. C. Lambert (conductor) 6. This was rung as a farewell to A. W. Gibbons.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A meeting was held at Woolpit on Saturday, May 20th, when letters of thanks were read for the donations to the Rev. H. Law James and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies memorials, and from Mrs. Cyril Jenkyn for the vote of condolence passed at the annual meeting.

It was decided to meet at Halesworth on Whit Monday, and later at Stradbroke. There was much ringing at Woolpit during the afternoon, and ringing visits were paid to Wetherden, Elmswell, Drinkstone, Rattlesden and Hessett.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

The Mayor of Dorchester, Mr. R. N. Dawes, who was formerly chairman of the Dorchester Branch, welcomed the Salisbury Diocesan Guild to the ancient Wessex town on the occasion of their annual festival on May 16th. The choral service at St. Peter's Church was conducted by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, hon. secretary and treasurer of the Guild, and the lesson was read by the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master). The preacher was the Rev. A. Wilkinson Markby (Rector of Dorchester St. Peter's, who in the course of an interesting address remarked that at Dorchester St. Peter's they had eight bells, varying in dates and inscription, and he read on the 8th bell these words: 'Ring to the glory of God.' There were other inscriptions on the other bells, but that on the 8th appealed to him as a particular message for them that morning. What higher standard could anyone desire in this particular branch of their life's work than to have that highest of all desires—to ring to the glory of God? That bell had been hanging in St. Peter's tower for just on 200 years—in September next year—and just think of the different men and women who had pulled it during those 200 years, ringing to the glory of God. The Rector emphasised that first of all they had to ring true; a man had to be true to himself and to his fellow-men. They had to keep up the pitch of truth to the highest—no equivocation, no double dealing. Then they had to ring regularly and be depended upon, because team work was most important. Then they had to be punctual in their ringing; it was no good to turn up late. Punctuality was a great virtue, and the valuable time that had been lost by unpunctuality would accomplish a colossal amount of work if it was gathered together. Might their ringing every time they joined together as a team be in accord with the inscription on the 8th bell of St. Peter's, Dorchester—'Ring to the glory of God.'

YOUNG RINGERS COMING FORWARD.

Luncheon was served in the Corn Exchange. The chair was taken by the Master, who was supported by the Mayor, his chaplain (Rev. A. W. Markby), Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Canon A. L. Helps (Puddletown), Rev. D. F. Steneck, R.D. (Charminster) and Mr. O. C. Vidler (Dorchester).

The toast of 'The King' was honoured, and the Mayor then welcomed the Guild to Dorchester. As a very old member of the Guild—he was chairman of the Dorchester branch some 20 years—it gave him great pleasure to submit the important toast of 'The Guild.' It was pleasing to know that the Guild was still progressing, and one thing that he noticed at the meetings was there did not seem to be any fear of ringers dying out, as there were plenty of young ringers coming forward (hear, hear). That was what he had always stressed, and it was the finest thing they could have for the future of ringing. Twenty years ago most of the ringers were practically old men, and he was afraid that in those dark ages they did not welcome very much any new blood coming in (laughter), but he must say that had changed, and he thought the war changed it. Having to get youngsters and ladies as ringers broke down some of the old reserve and criticism which was rather rife among ringers. They must try and advance in the art of ringing, especially change ringing, which was most interesting and, he thought, most arduous. As the Dorchester Branch knew, he was not a ringer, but he had taken a great interest in the Guild for a number of years, and he thought that he had done a little bit to help on ringing (hear, hear). He noticed from the Guild's annual report that a number of peals were rung during the year, and he was going to call Dorchester to order—he wanted to see their names recorded as having rung a peal. They used to lead, but they did not do so now. The Mayor referred to the interest which the Bishop of Salisbury took in the Guild and to the honour which was bestowed on them by having the Earl of Shaftesbury as president.

The Chairman, responding to the toast, in the name of the Guild thanked the Mayor for his cordial welcome, and it was a great gratification to feel that they had been officially welcomed to the town (applause). They had known the Mayor as chairman of the Dorchester branch for many years, and they knew that his heart was with them, and that what he said he meant, and that his good wishes to them came from his heart. He was glad that the Mayor had spoken about the young ringers coming on, but he was not sure that it was as a result of the war. Still he knew perfectly well that it took almost as much as a war to alter the opinion of West Countrymen (laughter). It took them a very long time to get hold of a new idea, but when they did they held it as well as anybody. The young men were finding in change ringing something to interest and occupy them, and he was very glad that they were taking their part in the Guild and the work. He was perfectly certain that there was no doubt about the continuance of the Guild and that it would flourish as in the past. It was a pleasure to read in the annual report that more members were joining and more towers affiliating, and he looked forward to the day when all the towers in the diocese belonged to the Guild (hear, hear).

Musical honours were accorded the Mayor on the lead of the hon. secretary.

Mr. O. C. Vidler, who has long been associated with Dorchester St. Peter's Church, and is a member of the Dorset Archaeological Society, gave an interesting and detailed account of St. Peter's ringers' flagon, which was on view at the meeting. It bears the date February 7th, 1676, and an inscription records that it was 'the gift of Edward Lester which is to remain for ye use of ye ringers of Dorchester for ever. St. Peter's.'

The Chairman warmly thanked Mr. Vidler.

BUSINESS MEETING.

At the annual meeting which followed, the hon. secretary's report was received. This recorded the outstanding events of 1932, which was a memorable year in the history of the Guild, it being the jubilee year of the Guild. The reports of the various branches told of steady progress on all sides. More bands were taking up change ringing, and the peal records bear witness to gratifying advance. The first peal of Stedman Caters rung by resident members of the Guild stands to the credit of the Trowbridge band; the first local peal of Double Norwich constitutes another landmark; several local bands have rung their first peal, while quite a number of parishes have had the first peal rung on their bells.

The balance sheet was presented by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, who said that, while the receipts came to £69 6s. 9d., the expenditure was £93 11s., and the sum of £30 was withdrawn from the deposit account. There remained a balance in hand of £44 5s. 7d., as compared with £43 10s. 2d. at the beginning of last year.

On the motion of the Mayor the accounts were approved, coupled with a hearty vote of thanks to the general secretary for the excellent way in which he looked after the finances.

The Rev. C. C. Cox (Lyme Regis) proposed the re-election of the officers, namely, Rev. R. H. Gundry, Master; Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. F. G. Green, Devizes, hon. assistant secretary. They wanted to keep their Master as long as they could, said the proposer, and as for their secretary he did not think that any words could express what they owed to him, while Mr. Green backed him up admirably.

The proposition was agreed to unanimously on its being seconded by Mr. C. H. Jennings (hon. secretary, Dorchester Branch), on whose motion the Mayor was elected a vice-president. The Mayor said it was something that he should value very much.

The auditors, Rev. E. G. Newman (Gillingham) and Mr. H. R. Hopkins (Kington Magna), were re-elected, as also were the committee.

The representatives on the Central Council were elected as follows: Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Mr. S. Hillier (Devizes), Mr. C. H. Jennings (Wyke Regis), and Mr. F. W. Romaine (Salisbury).

AMENDMENT OF RULES.

Discussion ensued on the revision of rules, one of which provided that 'all branch officers shall be loyal members of the Church of England.'

The Rev. C. A. Phillips (hon. secretary, Wimborne Branch) said this was distinctly a new thing in the Guild, and it should be realised by the meeting. They all knew and realised more and more how all ringers were officers of the Church, but he thought in a very different position to any other officers who worked purely, as it were, for the working of the Church of England. The work of the ringers was for the whole of the town or village. Consequently they all knew how members of the parishes who were not members of the Church of England contributed loyally to and supported the work of the parish. Then came the time when one offered himself for ringing and became a ringer, and it was possible that such a ringer should from his merit naturally come to hold some office. That had been altered, and it was bringing things more up to date. Of course, in their own Guild they had an instance of a member holding the highest office, although not a member of the Church of England.

It was resolved to give a guinea from the Guild funds towards the re-hanging of Sherborne Abbey bells and a similar sum towards the restoration work at Corscombe Church.

On the motion of Mr. Jennings a letter of sympathy is to be sent to Mr. Northover (Bridport) in the death of his mother. The meeting also approved the suggestion of the Rev. C. C. Cox that a letter should be written to the Bishop of Salisbury conveying a good wishes for his recovery.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards proposed thanks to the Rev. A. Wilkinson Markby for his kindly welcome and stimulating address, to the church organist, to the several incumbents for the use of the towers, to the Rev. R. H. Gundry for his able chairmanship, and to Mr. Gregory for his excellent catering.

Parties of ringers afterwards motored to towers in the district and availed themselves of the use of the bells.

RINGER'S DEATH AFTER ACCIDENT.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Alfred Richell, of Great Baddow, Essex, which occurred under tragic circumstances. The deceased fell from a ladder in the Village Hall and broke his thigh. He was taken to hospital, but pneumonia supervened, and he died in the course of a few days. Mr. Richell, who was 74 years of age, was for fifty years a member of the local band, and for many years a member of the Essex Association. He took a prominent part in public affairs in the village of Great Baddow, and was highly respected.

After the funeral a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,280 changes) was rung with the clappers half-muffled as a last tribute of respect: G. Green (composer and conductor) 1, H. Devonish 2, H. Pennack 3, B. Bartholomew 4, P. Green 5, F. Watts 6, A. Head 7, Dr. Spencer-Phillips 8.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.CENTRAL BRANCH IN THE FEN COUNTRY.

A beautiful afternoon enticed some twenty or more members of the Ely Association to Littleport on Saturday last. Members were present from Chatteris, Cambridge, Fen Ditton, Great Staughton, Sutton, Wisbech, Willingham, Over, local ringers and the general secretary, Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake. The service was taken by the Vicar. Tea and business meeting were held at Fountain Cafe, Rev. Tyrwhitt Drake presiding. It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Chatteris. Due notice will be given in the columns of 'The Ringing World.'

Methods rung included Cambridge Surprise Major, Double Norwich, Kent and Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

SHERWOOD YOUTHS

On Saturday, May 20th, a meeting of the Sherwood Youths was held at Bottesford. St. Mary's is a beautiful church, situate in the lovely Vale of Belvoir, an ideal place on a glorious summer day such as was enjoyed on this occasion.

Many members and friends were present, and good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening. The usual standard methods were rung, and rounds for the beginners in the art.

The 'Youths' were pleased to welcome a young band of five lady ringers from a neighbouring tower, together with their instructor, and hope they will make good progress.

Thanks are extended to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to Mr. A. Ward for kindly making arrangements for the meeting.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.PENZANCE BRANCH SECRETARY RESIGNS.

The large number of eighty ringers attended a Penzance Branch meeting at Helston, famous for the Furry Dance, on Saturday, May 20th, from Zennor, Lelant, Ludgvan, Towednack, Gulval, Truro Cathedral, Crowan, Phillack, St. Hilary, Tuckingmill, Redruth and the local band. The company included Dr. J. Symons (president), Mr. W. H. Southard (vice-president), Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella (general secretary) and Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Ringing Master).

The handy ring of eight, tenor 12 cwt, 1 qr. 23 lb., which received the attention of Messrs. Taylor and Co. last autumn, were kept going during the afternoon and evening by the various bands. The service, fully choral, and attended by the choir, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. D. Moon, and an interesting address was given by Canon G. H. Doble, Vicar of Wendron, his text being, 'If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above.' Tea was generously provided in the Masonic Hall, for which a hearty vote of thanks was accorded.

After fourteen years of splendid service, Mr. W. Wood, of Gulval, the local secretary, felt that he was compelled to resign, and as a recognition of his work he was elected a vice-president, on the proposition of Col. Jerram.

Mr. Wood proposed as his successor Mr. E. Bassett, of Helston. This was seconded by the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella.

AN OLD BOTTESFORD RINGER.DEATH OF MR. MARK BEND.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Mark Bend, of Bottesford, which occurred on Wednesday, May 10th, at the age of 76 years. Mr. Bend, who until a year ago, when ill-health compelled him to retire, was one of those men who took the keenest interest and delight in bellringing, his consistent attendances being an example of what a ringer ought to be. For 50 years he was a valued member of St. Mary's band. He had about a dozen peals to his credit, these being Grandsire Triples, Bob Minor and one of Doubles. One peal of Grandsire Triples which he always cherished was the one rung for his 70th birthday, in which he took part. He was one of the oldest members of Framland Society, having joined in 1882. He was also a member of the Midland Counties Association, the Sherwood Youths and the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The funeral took place on May 13th in the churchyard, and was attended by the following ringing friends: Mr. A. W. Ward (representing St. Mary's band), Mr. R. H. Bartram (Melton Mowbray), Mr. J. H. Wildman (Croston Kerrial), Mr. W. G. Thorpe (Grantham) and Rev. C. J. Sturton (Orston). Immediately after the burial a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, from Holt's Ten-Peat, was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect by: C. T. Samuel 1, W. G. Thorpe 2, Rev. C. J. Sturton 3, A. W. Ward 4, C. F. Briggs 5, L. J. Abbott 6, R. H. Bartram 7, J. H. Wildman 8. This was conducted by deceased's old friend, Mr. R. H. Bartram.

RINGER ELECTED CHURCHWARDEN.

As a compliment to Mr. H. Goodyer, the captain of the Tilehurst ringers, on being elected churchwarden, a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted on May 10th by the local band. This was unfortunately lost after three hours' ringing through a rope slipping wheel: M. Haines 1, H. Goodyer 2, H. Hunt 3, A. Haines 4, A. Barnes 5, R. N. Runham (conductor) 6, R. Chapinan 7, P. Sellar 8. Longest length by 1st, 4th, 5th and 8th ringers.

PROGRESS—AND OTHERWISE.

The study of the Central Council's analysis of peals is always interesting, and may well be instructive to those who examine it for the purpose of judging what progress, or otherwise, is being made in the art of ringing in the various associations and in the country as a whole. We have already called attention to one disturbing feature of the analysis for 1932—the serious decline in the number who rang their first peal. There is another matter where there is little cause for congratulation, and that is in the large number of peals on five and six bells in which only one method was rung. There is a very slight improvement on the figures of the previous year, but the standard of Minor and Doubles ringing, judged by the number of methods rung in peals, has sadly deteriorated since the last generation. Forty years ago—in the year 1893-4, to be exact—out of sixty-one peals of Minor just a solitary one was rung in one method only, and fifty of them in seven or more methods. In 1932, out of a total of 408 peals of Minor, no fewer than 155 were in only one method, and only 107 in seven or more methods. We readily admit that a peal even in one method may be a considerable achievement and act as an encouragement to a young ringer, but we cannot imagine that it is merely the encouragement of the young ringer that has produced so large a percentage of one-method peals. There must, we think, be other causes, and among them we would suggest lack of enterprise and initiative on the part of many six-bell bands. In these days we pride ourselves on our progress in ringing, but in this matter we lag a long way behind the average performance of our fathers.

At the other end of the scale, however, there is marked evidence of advance, and it is to be found chiefly in the ringing of the higher methods. The increase in the total number of peals rung, as compared with the preceding year, was 120, of which no fewer than 79 were in the Surprise class. There are no statistics available to show how this increase arose, whether it was due to a more widespread practice of Surprise ringing or to many of the Surprise ringers ringing more peals, but we think our readers will agree with the assumption that the figures are an indication that more bands are practising Surprise methods. There are evidences also of a great deal more enterprise among those whose skill has lifted them to this level. Apart from the wonderful performances, which include the splicing of a number of methods into one peal, peals were rung in no fewer than thirty-one different Surprise Major methods, including eleven methods rung for the first time. In breaking away from the rut the Surprise ringers are setting a splendid example, which ought to be followed by less accomplished bands. Only eleven different plain Major methods were rung in the year, but in the Central Council's 'Collection' there are hundreds to choose from, which would not only make for variety but for progress; for the plain methods, many of them interesting and not altogether simple to ring, are stepping stones to more advanced practice. Bands who are looking for something to add interest to their ringing might make a study of some of the methods in this book: they would find it opens up a new and unexpected field.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

A meeting was held at Bletchingley on Saturday, May 20th, ringers attending from Buckland, Forest Hill, Godstone, Horley, Limpsfield Chart, Mersham, Redhill, Reigate, Westerham, and members of the local band. Ringing continued during the afternoon with short intervals, except when the treble bell went the wrong way down owing to the stay not being able to stand an extra bump. One of the local members kindly took the matter in hand and soon had it rigged up again with a couple of bolts, and all went happily afterwards. A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. A. Crawshaw), which was very appropriate. Tea was partaken of at the Church Hall, followed by the business meeting, Mr. D. K. C. Birt, Master of the association, presiding.

The Chairman referred to the death of Mr. P. Etheridge, of Horley, who had been a member of the association for many years. As a mark of respect the whole company stood in silence for a few moments.

One new member, Mr. J. Coppard, of Bletchingley, was elected. It was proposed that the next quarterly peal be Grandsire Doubles, to be attempted at Kingswood, with Mr. R. V. Fuller as conductor, with members of the local band standing in. Owing to Burstow tower being unavailable on July 22nd, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Limpsfield Chart on that date.

At the close the Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for granting the use of the bells, conducting the service, and for kindly interest in the association, also to the local members for making all arrangements. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until 9 p.m., the cream being served up in a well-struck course of Cambridge Major.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Pulborough on Saturday, May 20th. Although the weather was everything one could desire, only 18 members attended owing to various other attractions. However, the following towers were represented: Arundel, Chichester, Billingshurst, Heene, Sinfold, Shoreham, Pulborough and Washington. A short service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. E. Frost) and Canon Corfe, who gave a most interesting address on the history of bells. The company partook of tea at the Chequers Tea Room, and were accompanied by the Rector, Canon Corfe and Mr. Churchwarden Deudney.

The Rector presided at the business meeting, at which the secretary announced that it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Kirdford.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector, to Canon Corfe, and to Mr. H. Doick for making the local arrangements.

After a stroll round the spacious and well-kept Rectory grounds, with the Rev. E. Frost pointing out the various objects of interest, the company made their way back to the belfry for further ringing.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

VISIT TO TAMWORTH.

The last quarterly meeting of the society's year was held at Tamworth on Saturday, April 29th. Upwards of 60 put in an appearance from Bilston, Bradley, Bridgnorth, Coventry, Derby, Dudley, Erdington, Lichfield (St. Chad's), Nuncaton, Rugby, Stafford, Tettenhall, Walsall, Willenhall, Wolverhampton (St. Peter's), etc. One of the chief attractions at this particular meeting was to hear the new bells, the front seven having been recast and the tenor returned. On examining the old wooden frame it was found that the death watch beetle had played havoc with it, and it was deemed advisable to replace it with an iron one. Messrs. Taylor and Co. are to be congratulated on the splendid improvement they have made. Ringing in various methods, including the four premier Surprise methods, went space until 4.45, when a short service was held in church, with a practical address delivered by the Vicar, the Rev. E. H. Rogers. An excellent tea was laid in the schoolroom, at which the Vicar presided. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for his address, use of bells, etc., to the organist for his kindly assistance, and to all others who had helped to make the meeting so successful. In his reply, the Vicar gave the company a warm welcome to Tamworth, and hoped they would pay another visit in the near future.

Negotiations are afoot to arrange a joint meeting with members of the Hereford Diocesan Guild and the Stafford Archdeaconry, full particulars of which will be given later.

The annual (jubilee) meeting is to be held at Lichfield on June 17th.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A band of 'brass hats' and others, representing the Central Council, lost a peal of Stedman Caters at Fulham on Saturday after about 2½ hours' ringing. Strange how these 'cast-iron' jobs crack up!

At the next meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, to be held at Seale on June 24th, a proposal to start a bell restoration fund for the district is to be discussed.

Fifty years ago to-day the last peal on the bells of St. Michael's, Coventry, was rung. To-day is also the anniversary of the first peal rung in America. Henry Haley conducted Holt's Ten-Part at Christ Church, Philadelphia, on Sunday, June 9th, 1850.

A NEW RECORD.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S 18,144 BOB MAJOR.

The Hertfordshire band were successful in their effort on Monday to raise the record length of a peal of Major.

They succeeded in ringing 18,144 of Plain Bob in 10 hours 52 mins. at Bennington. There has only been one longer peal than this rung on tower bells, the record of Stedman Caters at Appleton.

THE PEAL AT OVER.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Much has been heard in the past as to what shall be recognised as a peal. We should not ring Doubles with more than one cover, or Minor with a cover; we ought not to ring peals on the Bankes James' or any other plan where the bells do not come into rounds at each 720; we ought not to do this and ought not to do that. Now, in your issue of May 19th we read of another new sort of performance on eight bells at Over, Cambridge, on which it would be very interesting to hear the views of your readers, and especially those on the Central Council. It has been said that this peal is in the nature of a novelty and in a similar likeness to the peal at Exeter and others where heavy or bad-going bells have been excused for having two men to ring them. Seeing that the circumstances at Over are quite different, one is tempted to ask where is the likeness? Since it is generally recognised that each man in a peal shall ring the full number of changes, without interval, a further question arises, should those men claim a peal after having rung only one hour and two hours respectively?

TRUTH.

RINGERS' JUGS AND PITCHERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the June issue of 'Apollo' (a journal of the arts for connoisseurs and collectors) there appears a fully illustrated article on 'Ringers' jugs, jacks, pitchers and gotchets,' by J. R. Nichols and myself.

For some considerable time we have been collecting data and illustrations of these interesting old-time relics, and have got details of the following:—

Jugs and pitchers.—Norfolk: Garboldisham, Norwich, and Great Yarmouth. Suffolk: Beccles, Bungay, Clare, Hadleigh, Hinderclay, Ixworth and Stowmarket. Cheshire: Crowe, Church Lawton and Macclesfield. Westmorland: Kendal. Oxon: Witney. Dorset: Witchampton. Essex: Braintree. Also a former one at Swansea; pewter flagons at St. Paul's, Salisbury, and Dorchester, Dorset; leather jacks of Lincoln and Stafford; ram's horn drinking vessel at Cirencester.

If any ringers or friends can give information of any other jugs, etc., of a similar nature, I should be very grateful if they will communicate with me direct.

ERNEST MORRIS.

24, Coventry Street, Leicester.

WHO WAS THE FOUNDER?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Can any of your readers help me to answer the question of a friend of mine as to the origin and founder of three small bells near here in Lincolnshire, one of which is on his house? They are marked R A B. The stamp between R and B has a bell between two branches of leaves.

(1) At Crosby, hanging in a brick and stucco bell gable on the church. In 1553 there were four great bells and a sanctus, but there is no trace of a tower now.

(2) Binbrook, on the school since 1882, when it lay in the church. In 1553 there were three great bells and a sanctus. The tower fell into ruins with the church about 1820. Diameter, 13 inches.

(3) Holton-le-Moor, at the Hall, which was built in 1784, but there is no record of its origin. A bell from the church, which was cracked, dated 1634, was recast into two in 1848, but there is no record of a sanctus bell.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT TUESDAY'S MEETING.

There was a record attendance of members at the annual meeting of the Central Council, held in London on Tuesday, the number present being 109. These included eleven out of the twelve honorary members, and 98 elected members, representing 40 out of the 51 societies affiliated to the Council. Out of the total roll of 141 members only 32 were absent. The meeting was probably also a record in length. It began at 11 a.m., and with only an hour and a quarter's break for lunch went on to 6.15 p.m.

The Council were welcomed by the Worshipful Master of the Skinners' Company, Mr. R. D. Poland, who was thanked by the president.

MR. E. H. LEWIS,
re-elected President.

After the meeting had been opened with prayer by Canon Coleridge, Mr. E. H. Lewis was re-elected president, and Mr. G. W. Fletcher hon. secretary and treasurer.

THE NEW LIBRARIAN.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake was appointed hon. librarian to succeed the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

The following hon. members were re-elected: Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. J. S. Goldsmith, J. Griffin, C. F. Johnston, J. A. Trollope and E. A. Young. There were three vacancies, two of which had been caused by the death of Mr. H. W. Wilde and the resignation of Mr. E. W. Elwell.

It was decided to follow the usual practice and keep open one vacancy for emergencies. Mr. C. Dean, formerly a representative of the Surrey Association, and a member of the Peals Analysis Committee, was elected to one of the remaining vacancies, and for the other three names were proposed: Mr. J. George, Mr. W. H. J. Hooton and Mr. C. W. Roberts. On a ballot being taken, Mr. C. W. Roberts was elected.

This being a newly-elected Council there were a number of new members presented to the president.

Apologies for absence from the meeting were received from Rev. W. H. Ingham, Mr. T. Metcalfe, Mr. J. C. Pollard, Mr. J. R. Newton, Mr. S. T. Rackham, and Mr. R. Richardson and Mr. J. Phillips through illness.

Congratulations were extended to three members of the Council: Mr. William Storey (Newcastle), on his appointment as a Justice of the Peace; the president of the Yorkshire Association, who had been made a Canon of Ripon; and Mr. Stephen Wood on his recent marriage.

Death among members was referred to by the president. Those who had died during the year included the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Mr. E. Barnett, Mr. H. W. Wilde, Mr. T. Faulkner, Mr. F. Hopgood and C. Player. The following former members had also passed away: Messrs. A. E. Parsons, W. Walmsley, H. Haigh and E. P. O'Meara. The Council stood in silence as a tribute to their memory.

FINANCE.

The Hon. Secretary presented a statement of the sale of publications, showing that £17 18s. 5d. had been received, and a balance of £7 3s. 1½d. had been handed over to the general fund.

The statement of the accounts of the Council showed receipts amounting to £110 17s. 6½d., including £61 11s. 11d. in hand at Whit-sun, 1932, subscriptions, 1931-32, £4, 1932-33 £31, hon. members £2 2s. 6d., interest £5, sale of publications £7 3s. 1½d. The expenditure included £10 10s. to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies Memorial Fund, £13 16s. 1d. to the Stedman Fund, and other items amounting to £17 18s. 3½d., leaving a balance in hand of £67 12s. 2d. The Council's investments include £50 3½ per cent. Conversion Stock, £50 4½ per cent. Consols, the present market value being £138 3s. 9d.

The trustees of the Carter ringing machine (Messrs. E. A. Young and A. A. Hughes) presented a report indicating that the machine was in excellent order. It was demonstrated to a large party of Council members on Monday at the Science Museum, South Kensington, and rang and recorded three courses of Grandsire Cinques.

COMMITTEES.

Under a reference made to them last year the Standing Committee reported upon the constitution of the various committees of the Council. They recommended that in future the Standing Committee should consist of the officers of the Council and the conveners of committees (ex-officio), and twelve elected members, who should have power to co-opt not more than two additional members. They also recommended that the conveners of committees should in the first place be appointed by the Council.

The recommendations were adopted, and the retiring members re-elected.

A report from the Peal Collection Committee showed that the work of proving the remainder of the Collection of Treble Bob peals was proceeding slowly. The report of the committee appointed to draw up a pamphlet on 'Variations' indicated that the matter had been at a standstill during the year, owing chiefly to the death of Mr. H. W. Wilde. It was decided to amalgamate the two committees. Messrs. G. Lindoff (convener), G. R. Pye and C. W. Roberts were added to it, and the other members (Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Rev. E. S. Powell, Mrs. E. K. Fletcher and Mr. J. A. Trollope) were re-elected.

NEW BOOKS.

The new book on Triples Methods, it was reported by the Methods Committee, was nearing completion, and it was decided, on the recommendation of the committee, that in the case of compositions produced by the committee for the purposes of the book they should be printed under numbers and not under the authors' names.

The committee, consisting of the Rev. E. S. Powell and Messrs. J. A. Trollope and S. H. Wood, were reappointed.

The reports of the Peals Analysis Committee and the Towers and Belfries Committee were adopted. The committees were reappointed, and Mr. James Hunt added to the latter.

The final report of the Stedman Tercentenary Commemoration showed that the Council have had to provide £13 16s. 1d. to complete the payment of the accounts. The full details showed that the cost of the memorial scheme had been £535 16s. 11d.

The Literature and Press Committee's report was read by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, and the committee reappointed with the exception of Mr. W. Willson, who has retired from the Council.

The proposed new rules of the Council, presented for adoption in a report of the Rules Committee, were agreed to without alteration.

It was reported that the pamphlet for beginners upon the proper way to handle a bell rope was ready for publication. The Council decided to issue it at 2d. per copy.

BREAKING UP OLD BELLS.

Mr. F. K. Dawe proposed the following motion:—

That this Council deprecates the breaking up of church bells renowned for their tonal qualities and historic interest, urges Church authorities not to assent to their destruction except for the gravest reasons, and furthermore recommends that independent expert advice be obtained in all such cases before action is taken.

This was seconded by Mr. E. A. Young, and debated at some length.

Eventually the following amendment, proposed by Mr. C. F. Johnston, was accepted by the proposer and seconder of the original motion and agreed to:—

That this Council deprecates the breaking up of church bells of proved good tone and of real historic interest, urges the Church authorities not to assent to their recasting except for the gravest reasons structurally or musically, and furthermore recommends that independent advice qualified to advise on historic, engineering and musical grounds, be obtained in all such cases before action is taken.

Mr. G. R. Newton had given notice of the following motion, which was seconded by Mr. Tomlinson:—

That this Council uses its influence to encourage five and six bell companies to ring their peals in more than one method. It also urges them to include, whenever possible, at least seven methods in their peals.

After discussion the motion was carried.

'AS YOU WERE' IN THE MINOR CONTROVERSY.

'The Minor Controversy' occupied the attention of the Council for something like two hours. The following motions were, for the sake of convenience, debated together:—

Proposed by Mr. S. H. Wood and seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith:—

That peals of Minor shall in general consist of seven or more separate extents rung consecutively and without interval. That Compositions arranged on what is known as the 'Bankes James principle,' notwithstanding that they do not conform to the above definition, shall be recognised as peals.

Proposed by Mr. C. T. Coles and seconded by Mr. E. M. Atkins:—

That a peal of Minor should consist of seven true and complete round blocks of 720 changes each, in a recognised method or methods, rung consecutively and without interval, rounds thus occurring at the beginning and end of and at regular intervals throughout the peal.

That a peal of Doubles should consist of 42 true and complete round blocks of 120 changes each, in a recognised method or methods, rung consecutively and without interval, rounds thus occurring at the beginning and end of and at regular intervals throughout the peal.

That peals as above may be lengthened by the addition of one or more true and complete round blocks of 720 (or of 120) changes each fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one true round block having less changes.

That any departure from the above standards is not encouraged; notwithstanding this, however, a peal of Minor or of Doubles may consist of any arrangement of 5,040 changes in a recognised method or methods, provided that no change is rung more (or less) than seven times in a peal of Minor, or 42 times in a peal of Doubles, and that the whole starts from and ends with rounds. Such a peal may be lengthened, provided that no change is rung more than once for each additional 720 (or 120) changes, and that the whole ends with rounds.

The following amendment to both proposals was moved by Mr. W. E. White, seconded by Mr. E. Denison Taylor:—

That a peal of 'Doubles' must consist of not less than forty-two true and complete round blocks of 120 changes each, rung consecutively and without interval, each 120 commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's and/or by the addition of one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions. It may be rung with or without a cover bell.

That a peal of 'Minor' must consist of not less than seven true and complete round blocks of 720 changes each, rung consecutively and without interval, each 720 commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's and/or one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions. It may not be rung with a cover bell.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards suggested as an amendment to Clause 4 that the first portion of Mr. Coles' motion should read: 'That any departure from the above standards is not encouraged; but that in view of the present experimental stage of development in composition any arrangement of 5,040 changes in an acknowledged method or methods may be recognised as a peal, provided . . .,' etc.

This was unsupported, and on a vote being taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. White it was declared carried by 44 votes to 26. On being put as the substantive motion, there was again a majority in favour, but as under the old rules which governed this meeting it had to be carried 'by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the meeting,' the President, after the names had been taken, declared that it was lost. So that the position remains exactly as it stood before the meeting.

Wolverhampton and Warwick were proposed for the 1934 meeting, and Warwick was selected.

GRANTS TO MEMORIALS.

On the recommendation of the Standing Committee, the following grants were made: Five guineas to the Law James Memorial at Suffect, ten guineas to the memorial to Sir Arthur Heywood at Duffield, three guineas to the memorial to Mr. H. W. Wilde, and three guineas to the memorial to Mr. E. Barnett.

Thanks to all concerned in the arrangements for the meeting and the social events connected with it brought a long session to a close.

The members and their friends were afterwards the guests at tea of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, and later there was a social at Anderton's Hotel, the headquarters

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

The summer-like afternoon no doubt was the reason why a large number of members were present at the Hornechurch meeting of the South-Western Division on Saturday, May 6th, between 80 and 70 putting in an appearance from Orsett, Corringham, Bentley, Priddlewell, Leigh-on-Sea, Hornechurch, Barking, Walthamstow, Romford, Edmonton, Leytonstone, Braintree, Hornsey, Over, Willingham, Bishopsgate, South Weald, Woodford, Fryerning, Brentwood and Dagenham. The bells were kept busy from 3 p.m. till 4.30, when service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. K. Waller), and the address given by the Rev. J. W. Eisdell, who is always a welcome visitor to the meetings. Tea held in the Village Hall was followed by the business meeting, with the Vicar in the chair, supported by Rev. J. W. Eisdell, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master), and Mr. A. Prior (District Master). Five new members were elected—three from Barking, one from Romford and one life non-resident. Brentwood was chosen for the next meeting to be held by special invitation on June 3rd. Business concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for allowing the use of tower and bells and for conducting the service, to the Rev. J. W. Eisdell for his splendid address, to the organist (Mr. Page) for kindly giving up his valuable time to come along and accompany the hymns, etc., to the Hornechurch band, especially Mr. McDougall, the secretary and Mr. J. Dale, steeplekeeper, for having everything in readiness.—This was carried with acclamation and responded to by the Vicar, who said he was only too pleased to welcome the association to Hornechurch, and hoped they would be able to see their way to pay another visit in the near future.

The Vicar kindly allowed visitors to walk round the Vicarage garden, and many took this opportunity, which gave them a chance to see a Judas tree in full bloom—a rather rare sight so far as Essex is concerned.

Other members returned to the tower, and the bells were soon going again. During the afternoon and evening touches in various standard methods, ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise, were rung, not forgetting rounds for some of the beginners, whilst one member rang his first touch of London and another conducted his first touch of Stedman Triples. When, all too soon, nine o'clock came and tracks were made for home, everyone had apparently enjoyed themselves in this famous old Essex village, with an opportunity for a pull on this splendid peal.

A MID-WEEK MEETING.

BRAUGHING'S ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

On Wednesday, May 10th, a meeting under the auspices of the Herts and Essex Associations was held at Braughing. This date is honoured yearly by the local ringers to celebrate the ringing of 12,000 Bob Major in 1779. A touch of Grandsire by the home team ushered in the day, and, later, visitors arrived in force from about twenty different towers. Touches of Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, London, Bristol and Stedman were rung. The party at tea taxed the resources of the Brown Bear to the utmost, but Mrs. Denton, the hostess, rose admirably to the occasion.

The towers represented were St. Albans (St. Peter's), Beddington (Surrey), Bennington, Bishop's Stortford, Cambridge, Great Staughton (Hunts), Hatfield, Harlow Common, Great and Little Munden, Melbourn, Leytonstone, Standon, Streatham, Romford, Ware, West Ham, Walthamstow, Bishopsgate, and a strong muster of the local team. About forty ringers put in an appearance during the day, and Aspenden, another old-world village, was suggested for the next mid-week gathering on June 14th.

EMPIRE DAY.

PARINGDON, BERKS.—At All Saints' Church, on Wednesday, May 24th, for Empire Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: E. Walker 1, F. Wheeler 2, C. I. J. Pearce 3, H. Edwards 4, H. Taylor (conductor) 5, F. Whipp 6, E. C. Hughes 7, B. Townsend (first quarter-peal) 8.

of the Council. There was great regret that, owing to illness, Mr. Rupert Richardson was prevented from presenting 'famous ringers and others,' on the screen, but there was an interesting incident towards the close of the evening when the president presented to Canon Coleridge a set of pipes and a tobacco pouch, as a slight token of their regard upon his having attended his 41st Council meeting. Canon Coleridge is the only member who has attended every meeting of the Council since its formation. There were in the room three others who were members of the first Council: Messrs. F. E. Dawe, G. B. Lucas and W. D. Smith.

On Monday and Tuesday various peals of bells in London were rung by members, including those of St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and the Imperial Institute.

The committee who made the excellent social arrangements was representative of all the societies in and bordering on London.

DUFFIELD'S RECAST RING OF TEN BELLS, A MAGNIFICENT RING.

'Come and hear the new sweet-toned bells that are different.' Thus ran the message advertising the dedication of Duffield's recast bells; but how different! In the words of one well-known critic of the Exercise, 'they exceeded even my wildest hopes of expectation,' and this was the unanimous verdict of those who attended the dedication ceremony on Saturday, when the church was crowded to capacity by villagers, ringing visitors and friends from a large area.

To ringers, Duffield is always associated with the name of Heywood, for it was here that Mr. Arthur Percival Heywood, afterwards Sir A. P. Heywood, lived, at Duffield Bank, and was the leader of a most enthusiastic band of ringers in the 1880's and 1890's. He it was who founded the Central Council of Church Bellringers and became its first president. His work as a composer and his treatise, 'Church Towers and Bell Hanging,' are evidence of the great interest he took in our art. He was president of the Midland Counties Association from 1886-1916, and although the opening of a recast peal of ten bells from the Loughborough Foundry would in any case have attracted a large crowd, the event had a special interest to members of the M.C.A., as the association had undertaken to pay for the recasting of the treble bell to the memory of Sir Arthur. Nearly 250 ringers and friends turned up, representatives being present from all the districts which the association covers, with visitors from Sheffield Cathedral, Birmingham, King's Norton, Erdington, Bishop Ryder's, Birmingham, Stockport, Northampton, with Mr. J. F. Smallwood.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Irwin, Vicar of Duffield, and the Bishop of Derby performed the act of dedication. The latter took as his text, 'Woe unto me if I preach not the Gospel,' the inscription which appears in Latin on the Bourdon bell, 'Great Paul,' at St. Paul's Cathedral, London. The service was both inspiring and interesting, for, in addition to driving home his message on the position which ringers hold as minor ministers of the church, he cleverly interposed his remarks with a reference to Fabian Stedman and St. Ben's Church, Cambridge, where he had been Vicar for some six years, and had assisted in the search of the parish and other registers in an endeavour to trace a record of the exact date of Stedman's birth. The sermon was more in the form of a homely talk than anything else. Everyone felt at their ease, and realised that the Bishop was talking to them more as a friend rather than as a high dignitary of the Church. The collection, which was in aid of the Bells Fund, amounted to over £13.

Ten was served in the chapel nearby the church, three sittings being necessary. At the second sitting, Mr. E. Denison Taylor, founder of the bells, expressed his kind appreciation of the many complimentary remarks which had been made concerning the recast peal, and made some appropriate allusions to the late Sir A. P. Heywood and his model railway at Duffield Bank. He paid special tribute to Dr. Irwin for his ready support of the scheme in connection with the bells; to Mr. Ruffell, churchwarden, and Mr. Sidney Dawson, captain of the ringers, for their patience and determination to see the job thoroughly done, and for the kind way in which they had dealt with the firm throughout the whole of the transaction.

Mr. Ruffell said how delighted he was at the wonderful improvement in the tone of the recast bells, which he believed were, without doubt, the finest in the whole county of Derbyshire.

The ringing during the dedication was performed by members of the local band, but afterwards the tower was thrown open to all, a feature of the ringing being three course of Stedman Caters splendidly struck, which enabled those outside to hear the bells to the very best possible advantage, the beat being 24 to the minute.

The former ring had a tenor of about 16 cwt., in the key of F, but the recast peal is in the key of E natural, with tenor weighing 17 cwt. 2 qr. 11 lb. The bells have been tuned on Taylor's 'true harmonic' system, and now possess a resonance and sweetness of tone with a perfectly balanced effect, which was so noticeably lacking in the old peal.

Duffield Church has a glorious setting, being some hundreds of yards away from the main road. Fields are all the way round, and the River Derwent ripples along close by. Truly the ideal place with an ideal peal of bells for a ringers' outing. Can it be wondered that so many lingered to have another pull after a refresher at the Bridge Inn? As one ringer put it, 'They are not half slogging them bells to-day,' ringing having been carried on ceaselessly from 4 to 9 p.m.

No praise is too high to Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, for the splendid peal which they have installed in the tower of Duffield Church. The writer believes that the rings of ten at King's Norton and Banbury are modelled similarly to the Duffield peal, but they will have to be something more than 'exceptionally good' to be better than Taylor's latest example of their fine work.

A JUBILEE.

VETERANS JOIN IN PEAL AT BIRMINGHAM.

The peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on Tuesday of last week was a jubilee peal for Messrs. T. Miller and W. H. Fussell. Mr. Miller rang his first peal of Stedman Cinques in St. Martin's tower in April, 1880; Mr. Fussell his first peal in the county of Warwick in April, 1883, at St. Chad's, Birmingham. Mr. T. Russam was unable to join the company owing to indisposition. He is the third survivor of the two old teams of those early '80's.

DEATH OF MR. EDWARD P. O'MEARA. A PROMINENT COLLEGE YOUTH.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Edward P. O'Meara, which occurred after a short illness on May 5th. Mr. O'Meara commenced his ringing career in the city of Bristol with the late Mr. Jim Hinton and his colleagues.

Removing to London in the late eighties, Mr. O'Meara soon became prominent in the London societies, and his work for the promotion of ringing is still remembered with gratitude by the older generation.

He installed gas lighting in the ringing room of St. Magnus', London Bridge, which swept away the ancient illumination by candles. At St. Augustine's, Kilburn, he put the new ring of Belgian bells into a suitable condition, to enable them to be rung in English fashion, and took part in the first peal rung there on May 26th, 1900. For his gratuitous work the incumbent, the Rev. FitzPatrick, presented him with a silver cup.

Mr. O'Meara was instrumental in raising a fund to procure a mahogany roll-top desk, a purse of money (gold) and an illuminated album containing subscribers' names, as a testimonial to the then secretary of the College Youths in appreciation of his work for several years. This presentation was made at a large gathering at a famous hostelry in Ivy Lane, City, on April 21st, 1900.

Mr. O'Meara rang the 9th in the first peal of Maximus on the famous Bow bells, Cheapside, on January 19th, 1907, and took part in a good many performances on all numbers at towers in and around London. At St. Michael's, Cornhill, is a fine tablet presented by Mr. O'Meara, recording the non-conducted Stedman Cinques rung there on February 22nd, 1913. The tablet was unveiled and dedicated by the present Rector, the Rev. John H. Ellison, M.A., M.V.O.

Mr. O'Meara very ably filled the office of Master of the College Youths in the four years, 1899, 1900, 1905 and 1906.

During and since the war his business arrangements kept him from taking an active part in bellringing, so that he was almost unknown to the younger generation.

The generous hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. O'Meara is widely known by the many whom they have entertained in past years, and their sympathetic help in cases of need was always forthcoming.

The funeral took place at Stronham Park Cemetery on May 9th, attended by Mrs. A. Miller (daughter), Mr. E. O'Meara (son), Mr. Arch Miller (son-in-law), and a good many old ringing friends. A course of Stedman Triples, following three rounds twice repeated, was rung over the grave in slow time by Messrs. H. Langdon, H. R. Pasmore, C. F. Winney and W. T. Cockerill.

DEVON GUILD ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held in Exeter on Whit Monday, and drew a large attendance of members. A short service was held in the choir of Exeter Cathedral, with an address by the Dean of Exeter. Luncheon was served at Deller's Cafe, where members were joined by the Bishop of the diocese (Lord W. Gascoyne Cecil), the Dean of Exeter, the president of the Guild (Rev. E. S. Powell), Revs. E. V. Cox, H. L. Pigot, F. H. Jellyman, R. Seymour, E. J. Pizey and 197 members. At the outset of the meeting the president announced with regret that this would be his last attendance as president, as he had accepted the offer of an incumbency near Daventry, Northants. He thought the occasion was a notable one, it being the first time in the 59 years of the Guild's history that the Bishop and Dean had both been present. The Bishop also voiced our regret at losing Mr. Powell, but perhaps at some future date he might return. The president was re-elected pro tem. until the committee have had time to find a successor. The general secretary, general treasurer and vice-presidents, with the addition of Mr. E. Shepherd, were also re-elected. The Rev. E. S. Powell, Mr. T. Laver, Mr. E. W. Marsh and Mr. G. C. Woodley were elected Central Council representatives. Mr. E. Shepherd was nominated for the office, but withdrew in favour of the general secretary. Torquay was selected as the place for the annual meeting in 1934, on the proposal of Mr. Bennett. Six associates were elected for Walkhampton band, and two members from Whimble were awarded certificates. Ringing was carried on at five of the city churches and at the Cathedral.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The May meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Grendon, near Atherstone, in beautiful weather. The church and the Rectory are about a mile away from the village, and approached from the main road through a gate and up a narrow lane. The six bells were kept going for about two hours during the afternoon to various methods. A gong sounding from the Rectory called the ringers and their friends to tea. This was served at small tables under a large cedar tree in the centre of a beautiful lawn, facing the Rectory windows. A tour of the Rectory and the gardens followed, and then, with many thanks to the Rector, Rev. A. C. C. Crawley-Boevey, and his wife, a return was made to the church, where ringing continued until about 8 o'clock. Courses and touches in the standard methods up to and including London Surprise Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening.

DARTFORD BELLS.A MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association was held at Dartford on Saturday, May 20th. The weather was kind, and there was a fair attendance. Touches in various methods from Grandsire Triples to London, Bristol and Spliced Surprise were brought round in the afternoon under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. T. Groombridge, sen.).

Service was conducted by the Vicar and senior curate. Afterwards some fifty members were entertained at tea in Sutton's Hall as the guests of Mr. S. K. Keyes. The Vicar presided, supported by Alderman A. J. Penney, J.P., C.C., Charter Mayor-elect of Dartford, Mr. J. Lack, people's warden, and Rev. F. W. Jordan, senior curate.

At the conclusion of the meal a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the donor of the tea for his generous hospitality. Owing to the unavoidable absence of Mr. Keyes, Mr. J. Lack responded, and in a jovial speech testified to his interest in matters relating to bells and bellringers, congratulated the Exercise on the continually rising status of ringers, and noticed with distinct approval the growing interest in the art displayed by the fair sex. He also referred to the forthcoming celebrations in connection with the granting of a charter to Dartford, and trusted that the bells would duly take their part in the festivities attending the institution of Alderman A. J. Penney as the first Mayor of the Borough of Dartford (cheers).

Alderman Penney welcomed the meeting to Dartford, and expressed his gratification at the way the bells were used to call the people to church and to mark all the most joyous and important events of life. In connection with Dartford bells, he would like to say that the report, published in one of the evening papers, that they were to be recast was entirely without foundation. Thanks to the good work of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank the bells were unlikely to require any attention for some considerable time to come (cheers).

The Vicar (Rev. Elliott Mitchell) stated that the report arose from a misapprehension of a remark of his, to the effect that Alderman Penney's civic honours would be celebrated by a peal on the bells, which he had had recast and rehung as a memorial to his parents. This had been construed as a hope that the recasting would be completed in time for such a peal, whereas actually the restoration was carried out some few years ago.

Then followed a course of Grandsire Cinques on handbells, which was much appreciated.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which one new member was elected. Mr. E. Barnett (district representative) read a report of the proceedings of the committee at the meeting held at Chislehurst on Easter Monday. This report was adopted with a vote of thanks to Mr. Barnett.

The selection of the place for the next meeting led to a considerable discussion on the desirability and possibility of avoiding the arrangement of meetings in contiguous districts on the same date, with special reference to the 'clashing' of dates in the Rochester and Lewisham districts. It was finally decided to try if some mutual arrangement was possible to avoid this, and that the next meeting should be held (D.V.) at Eynsford on Saturday, August 19th.

Mr. R. A. Jenkins, the indefatigable local secretary, expressed the appreciation of himself and the members for interest and care shown in Dartford in respect of their bells. A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for the service, and to the organist for his services was carried.—The Vicar replied.

Further handbell ringing followed, after which a return was made to the tower. A very enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.EAST BERKS AND SOUTH BUCKS BRANCH.

A youthful and lively crowd met at Great Kimble for the May practice meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Formerly known as Kimble Magna, this was John Hampden's church.

'Jupiter Pluvius' has taken a fancy to attend some of our meetings, and on this occasion arrived just before the Amersham contingent, not to their advantage. After numerous methods had been rung, including live or six in the Surprise category, the party adjourned for tea, which was followed by Grandsire and Stedman Triples on handbells, also some tunes with the assistance of the visitor from London.

The sun having by this time brightened things up a bit, it was decided to go on to Ellesborough, another ring of six. Amongst the touches rung here was one of Spliced Cambridge and London, which inspired one of the spring poets to the following:—

'Little Boy Blue, come ring up your bell,
For Cambridge and London, with bobs in as well.
Where is the little boy ringing the fifth?
He's dodged with the fourth and caused him to shift.'

(This should be all.—Conductor.)

The next practice will be arranged in Berks, if possible, whilst an invitation to St. Andrew's, Holborn, in London, has been accepted.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION WESTERN DISTRICT'S 'BEST EVER.'

The Western District meeting of the Herts County Association, held at Hemel Hempstead on May 13th, was unanimously voted the 'best ever' for that district. From the first touch to the last, the 'striking' was above the average for meetings. Members and friends 'rolled up' in such good numbers that Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, London, and, after tea, even Spliced Surprise were attempted. Everyone had the opportunity of ringing, no matter what their standard of attainment, the Surprise people being very eager to assist those of lesser capabilities.

The usual service was held in this grand Norman church, kindly taken by the Vicar, who gave a warm welcome to all.

The company was provided with tea in St. Mary's Hall, at the kind invitation of the Vicar. Postcards and penny stamps must be difficult to obtain in some places, for the caterers were a very worried look when they found the numbers so much increased. However, all survived, and there were four cakes left!

Following tea, the Vicar again extended a hearty welcome to all. In the course of his remarks he mentioned the sad loss which he, personally, and the ringers generally had sustained in the death of the Rev. Hollis, followed by the tragedy of the widow's death ten days later.

Turning to the brighter side, he emphasised Mr. H. Golding's 50 years' work as a ringer at the Parish Church.

The business meeting followed, when two 'young' probationers were elected, and Flamstead chosen as the place for the next meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his kindness in every way, and to those who had helped to make the meeting such a success. The Secretary personally thanked the visitors for their attendance.

A message of sympathy and of hopes for a speedy recovery was sent to Mr. A. Day (Harpenden), who was in the West Herts Hospital for an operation. This concluded the meeting, a little handbell ringing being then indulged in.

Ringers attended from Berkhamstead, Hitchin, Luton, Harpenden, Tring, Linlade, Redbourn, Waltham Abbey, Abbots Langley, Hemel Hempstead, Leverstock Green, Bushey, St. Albans, Watford, Beaconsfield and Apsley End.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Those who have had a long experience of the Central Council must have felt at last week's meeting the growing importance of this body to the Exercise. Steadily through recent years there has been an increasing recognition of the valuable part which the Council, rightly guided, can play in welding together the many ringing organisations throughout the country and in influencing the development of the art. All who have at heart the best interests of change ringing realise it; the associations realise it, and it was reflected in the attendance at the London meeting, which was the most representative on record. It was a newly elected Council; there were many fresh faces, and it was an encouraging sign that many of the new members were young men—men who will, we believe, come into its counsels with new ideas and new energies. There is plenty of wise experience among the old members, but the leavening of young men should have excellent effects in the future.

There have been occasions in the past when, looking back on a meeting of the Central Council, it was difficult to point to any substantial achievement; it was different last week when, despite the deadlock which was reached on the Minor question—brought about by the existence of a rule that required a two-thirds majority on this matter—there was a good deal to show as the result of the meeting, largely as the result of the work of the Committees throughout the year. Even the debate on the peals of Minor and Doubles was not entirely wasted, for it led to a ventilation of views which may at least clear the air for a settlement of a very vexed question. On the face of the voting, it was obvious that the bulk of the Council desire to revert to the old status of a peal of Minor, but in view of the fact that the necessary two-thirds majority was not obtained the position remains where it stood on the passing of the Hereford resolutions in 1928.

We shall have the opportunity of discussing this and other matters arising at the meeting at a later date, and would only add now the opinion that the London meeting must be included among the distinct successes of the Council. Under the able presidency of Mr. E. H. Lewis, backed by the excellent organisation of the hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Fletcher, the large volume of business was expeditiously disposed of, albeit the debates ran the sitting into one of record length. But for the businesslike way in which it had been arranged, and the lengthy consideration which the Standing Committee—by meeting, for the first time we believe, on the preceding evening as well as on the morning of the Council meeting, so that much of the ground had been fully prepared—had given to affairs, it is doubtful if the agenda would have been entirely disposed of in one day. Then, too, the social side of the arrangements was distinctly in advance of anything previously attempted in London. This was due to the co-operation, through a special committee, of all the ringing societies in and around London. It was a departure which was fully justified by the success attending it, and it is not too much to hope that this or some similar committee may continue to exist to keep all these metropolitan and sub-metropolitan organisations in fraternal touch with one another. If that alone happens, the 1933 Council meeting will not have been in vain.

AN OXFORDSHIRE RESTORATION.

SWALCLIFFE'S BELLS DEDICATED.

In the northern part of Oxfordshire, some six miles from Banbury on the one side and Edgehill on the other, lies the ancient and extensive parish of Swalcliffe. At the foot of a hill an important British village is reputed to have flourished, and coins and other relics are often found here. William of Wykeham, great architect and Bishop of Winchester, was presented to the living of Swalcliffe at the time when he was Archdeacon of Lincoln, and, after purchasing the advowson, he gave it with land which he had acquired to his new foundation, New College, Oxford.

The fine church stands on high ground and shows evidence of many periods from Norman times onwards, with a perpendicular tower at the west end.

The bells are a ring of six, with a tenor weighing 13½ cwt. in the key of F. The treble was cast in 1720, and all the remaining ones in 1685 by the Bagleys of Chacombe. On No. 2 is the quaint inscription:—

'Free and half founder Richard Wykeham Esquire
To help my Swalcliffe Tower doth me desire.' 1685.

On Whit Sunday, three years ago, the bells ceased to ring, as the Jacobean oak bell-frame was in a state which rendered ringing unsafe. A year ago, the Vicar (the Rev. A. Foreman Cox) and the parishioners started a 'big drive' for the funds necessary for the restoration of the bells, and Thursday, June 1st, saw a happy and successful conclusion, when the rehung bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Oxford.

The Bishop had to travel back specially from London, where he was in attendance at Convocation, and in order to suit his lordship's movements the changes were rung on the events for the day. The dedication service was postponed until 4 p.m., and the fete in the charming Vicarage grounds was put forward to 3 p.m., when Col. Norris, late of Swalcliffe Hall and a descendant of the family with a long connection with the village, opened the fete at the invitation of the Vicar.

The service, which took the usual form, was well attended. Among clergy present, in addition to the Vicar, were the Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley (chairman of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), the Rev. H. J. Riddesdell (Rural Dean), the Rev. A. J. S. Hart (Wiggington), the Rev. G. W. Dymond (Grimsbury St. Leonard's), the Rev. R. W. Sharpley (Cropredy), the Rev. W. M. Grogan (Sibford Gower), the Rev. H. Y. Necker (St. Peter's, Bishop Auckland) and others. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Johnston, of Croydon, were also present.

After the act of dedication, the bells were heard in peal for the first time, being rung in rounds by the local band. The Bishop, in his address, took for the text a verse from I. Corinthians, 14: 'For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?'

At the conclusion of the service several touches of Grandsire Doubles were rung, after which an adjournment was made to the Vicarage grounds, where the fete was in progress, and where tea was served in the open, the day being warm and sunny.

The bells have been tuned, one-eighth turned, furnished with new fittings throughout and hung on ball bearings in a cast iron H frame. All those present agreed that the work carried out by the bell-founders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, leaves nothing to be desired, the 'go' being perfect and the tone, after tuning, extraordinarily fine. The sanctus bell has been removed from the tower and placed in the bell turret over the chancel roof.

Some of the bellry wood work has been carried out by local craftsmen, including the fitting of a new oak door at the bottom of the bellry steps. Much of this work has been voluntary.

Later in the afternoon, while some of the ringers exercised their skill at the various attractions offered by the fete, a band rang the first 720 Bob Minor on the rehung bells, which was in all probability the first 720 Bob Minor ever rung in the tower. This excellently struck touch was rung by the following: L. J. Malings 1, E. Pearson 2, C. F. Johnston 3, H. Impey 4, E. Sibley 5, W. A. Stote (conductor) 6.

It is a source of pleasure to learn that the collection in church at the dedication service, together with the profit from the fete, have brought the restoration fund to a sufficient total to pay for all the work, which has been so excellently carried out.

A pathetic reminder of the recent loss of the Master of the Diocesan Guild was brought home to some who realised that the dedication day had been specially fixed to suit the Bishop and the Rev. Cyril Jenkyn, who had taken an active interest in the restoration of the bells.

BARNBY-ON-DON RINGER'S DEATH.

On Tuesday, June 6th, 720 of Oxford and 360 of Violet Treble Bob Minor were rung at Barnby-on-Don, Yorks, with the clappers half-muffled as a last mark of respect to the late Mr. Fred Cooke, for many years a regular service ringer at this church, and who was interred in Barnby-on-Don Churchyard on the previous Sunday: A. Phillipson 1, A. Coates 2, J. Thorley 3, J. Howsham 4, J. F. Mallaby (conductor) 5, C. Thorley 6.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The 54th annual meeting of the Essex Association was held on Whit Monday at Chelmsford, where there was a large gathering of members from all parts of the county and beyond.

Service was held at the Cathedral, at which the Sub-Dean (Canon Morrow) officiated and the Master of the association (Mr. C. H. Howard) read the lesson. The ringers' form of service was used. The address was given by the Rev. C. W. Alington, M.A., Vicar of Great Waltham, who took for his text, 'Ye shall be my witnesses.' The preacher referred to the church work performed by the ringers, and said as such they were successors to the Apostles.

A collection for the bell restoration fund in the county amounted to £1 10s. 3d.

Luncheon followed at the Golden Pheasant Hotel, after which the annual meeting was held. The Master, who presided, announced that Mr. F. J. Pistow, the secretary and treasurer, was prevented from attending by an engagement he felt compelled to keep, and that in his absence Mr. E. J. Butler, Romford, would carry out the secretarial duties.

THE MASTER'S REPORT.

The Master presented his report, which recorded a successful and encouraging year's work. The association had recovered from the slight reduction in numbers announced last year and now had a membership of 1,216, and an increase of 67, which exceeded all previous figures. Danbury, Belcham Walter, Great Holland, Fobbing and Stanford-le-Hope towers had become affiliated and Chigwell had withdrawn, making a total of 109 towers in union with the association. The district meetings had had an average attendance of about 50. These frequent meetings cultivated and fostered a real comradeship amongst the members, and at the same time there was a growing spirit of fellowship which was an undoubted essential if their position was to be maintained at the high standard of ringing, which was further reflected in the increased number and quality of peals rung—119, which exceeded all previous records. One hundred and ten were rung on tower bells and nine on handbells. The peals were rung in 48 towers and the conducting was shared by 43 members.

The year's record of peal ringing, added the report, was an accomplishment of which they might justly be proud, and, by the large number of members who took part in this achievement, it was evident that peal ringing was not confined to a select few, but, on the contrary, indicated that every assistance was afforded to the younger and less experienced who wished to avail themselves of the opportunity by this means of becoming more efficient in the art.

After referring to the numerous losses sustained by the association through death, the report went on to speak of the bellry improvements at Manuden, Witham, Thorington and High Ongar. At Dagenham the ring of six is to be rehung and the frame strengthened and some of the bells recast. A new treble is contemplated at Danbury to make a ring of six, and at Kelvedon it is proposed to add two trebles to the heavy and musical ring of six. When this improvement is carried into effect, Kelvedon will possess one of the most melodious rings of eight in the country.

The financial statement compared favourably with the one presented last year. The total income was £69 15s. 7d., against £77 12s. 1d. The difference was accounted for by the decrease in honorary and ringing members' subscriptions and the abolition of peal booking fees. On the other hand, expenses were considerably less, being £50 7s. 11d., against £60 18s. 5d., enabling £10 to be placed to the reserve Post Office deposit account and a balance of £30 1s. 7d. carried forward. Grants from the Bell Restoration Fund had been made of £5 5s. to St. George's, Woodford Green, £1 1s. to Manuden and £3 3s. to Thorington, leaving a balance in hand on this fund of £35 18s. 2d., against £33 12s. 7d. in the preceding year. The total worth of the association as shown in the statement of accounts was now £233 10s. 11d., against £213 15s. 1d. for 1931, which must be considered very satisfactory in these difficult times.

For another successful year's work the association was indebted to the general secretary and treasurer, the District Masters and secretaries, all of whom in appreciation of their services had been re-elected, the auditors and general committees and representatives upon the Central Council and the tower correspondents for their assistance in the arrangements of meetings, to all of whom, on behalf of the members, the Master tendered grateful thanks.

On the proposition of Mr. C. Tenn, seconded by Mr. W. Pyc, the report and balance sheet were adopted.

PROPOSED AUGMENTATION OF KELVEDON BELLS.

Mr. Butler presented the report of the General Committee, which recommended that one guinea be sent to the Rev. H. Law James Memorial Fund and that five guineas be given to the proposal to add two bells to the ring of six at Kelvedon. The Master announced that the Elliott family were prepared to give the treble bell, and it would encourage the local authority if the association subscribed towards the other bell. It would be a compliment to the Kelvedon band and also to Mr. Keeble, who regularly rang there and was keenly interested in the proposal. Kelvedon had the heaviest ring of six bells in Essex, and with the augmentation to eight they would have one of the finest peals in the county.—The recommendations for the grants were adopted unanimously.

Mr. Butler took the chair for the election of Master. Only one proposition was made, that Mr. Howard be re-elected, and this was carried unanimously. Mr. Butler thereupon congratulated the Master, who resumed the chair. The Master said he appreciated the enthusiastic way he had been re-elected for the 25th time, and it would be a great pleasure to him to continue in office. All the officers and members were most loyal, and wherever he went he was encouraged by the way he was received and supported. He would do his very best to carry on the duties, and when the members felt there should be a change, he would willingly stand aside and support whoever was elected. Mr. Howard mentioned as a coincidence that this happened to be the 25th year also that he had been re-elected a member of the Braintree Urban Council.

Mr. Pitow was unanimously re-elected secretary and treasurer. The death of Mr. Thomas Faulkner, formerly on the General and Peal Committees, was reported with regret, and the members stood as a tribute to his memory. Mr. George Green was elected to the vacancy on the General Committee and Mr. F. Dunch to the vacancy on the Peal Committee.

SOLE SURVIVOR OF FOUNDERS.

The Master introduced Mr. Thomas Edwards, Braintree, as the sole survivor of the founder-members of the Essex Association, and said the members were very pleased to see him at the 54th annual meeting.—Mr. Edwards expressed his gratitude at being present, and delivered a reminiscent address on former Essex ringers.

Mr. F. Bennett, Brighton, was elected a life non-resident member of the association, and the following old members of the association were elected life members: Messrs. A. Tarbun (Widford), E. Scrivener (Dunmow) and I. Cavill (Harlow Common).

Mr. L. Wiffen, Braintree, said he wished to raise the question of 'The Ringing World.' Some ringers did not realise the importance of this paper to ringers. 'The Ringing World' catered well for ringers, and the paper had a very capable ringer as editor, and every ringer should support him, if not it might come about that the ringing associations would one day have to finance a ringing paper.

The Master said he quite supported the references to 'The Ringing World,' and every member should take the paper. It was well worth the 3d. charged for it, and if the circulation was increased the paper might be enlarged. In the Northern Division of Essex they had a roll call of those who took 'The Ringing World,' and fresh subscribers were announced at each meeting. He urged other districts to do likewise.

The proposal to change the title of the association to 'The Chelmsford Diocesan Guild' is reported under a separate heading.

During the day ringing took place in the following towers: Chelmsford Cathedral (12), Writtle, Widford, Galleywood, Great Baddow, Great Waltham, Springfield, Broomfield and Boreham. The ringing included all the standard methods, from Minor to Maximus.

HIGH ONGAR IS ONE UP.

AUGMENTATION AT AN ESSEX TOWER.

For very many years the five bells at High Ongar, Essex, have hung forlorn and dejected; folks only knew they were there through the medium of a chiming apparatus. It has long been the wish of the Rector to remedy the defect, but in this truly rural parish the task seemed hopeless until a 'fairy godfather' turned up; then things began to move and continued to move until the Bishop of Barking, at a special service on Whit Sunday, put the final seal upon the work carried out.

The Bishop appreciated very much the attendance of so many ringers, and expressed that appreciation very feelingly. During the course of his address his Lordship publicly thanked the trustees of the Barron Bell Trust for their kindness in assisting the parish in so liberal a manner. He expressed his pleasure to know that the work of restoring the bells had been in such capable hands as that of Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. He was sure that the work had been done well, and this was confirmed by the experts he had consulted after they had examined the completed work. The Bishop also gave some very helpful advice regarding the care and preservation of bells, and hoped they would look after and use to their utmost this grand gift.

As there has not been a resident band at High Ongar for years, the ringing arrangements were in the hands of Mr. E. J. Butler, of Romford, and he was ably assisted by Mr. C. Howard, the stalwart head of the Essex Association, the brothers Pyé, Messrs. W. Nevard, W. Keeble, F. Bennett, J. Davis and numerous others, including Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough, who attended on behalf of the firm. The ringing undertaken was adapted to suit every type of ringer from the one whose hands still had to taste the pleasure of 'medals' to those who were members of the N.O.P.G. From everyone came sincere appreciation of the work of Messrs. Taylor and Co.

The workmanship is of a very high standard. The area of the tower is somewhat restricted, and although the bells are all on one level, there is a marked absence of crampedness. The design of the bell frame and the arrangement of the bells has been well thought out, demonstrating in no small manner the thoroughness of the Taylor organisation, and something to be proud of.

A new treble has been added to the old five and the old fourth has been recast. The sound bells have been tuned, forming a pleasing ring of six which will be an added joy to High Ongar. The framework is of well-dimensioned castings, mounted upon large sectioned girders, giving the impression that the job is made to stand for ever.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Beaconsfield bells were rung for 2 hours and 10 minutes in an attempt for a local peal of Cambridge Major on Saturday, June 3rd, and, by a coincidence, about the time of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mayne, who did so much in their 'courtling' days to maintain service ringing in this tower.

At the time of their marriage, says a correspondent, 'splicing' was becoming popular in the Exercise—Oxford Diocesan Guild with Middlesex County Association. It will be interesting to know what the 'boy' will become.

Friends of Mr. J. C. Truss, of Marlow, will be glad to hear he was well enough to visit Wooburn on Saturday and hear one of his youngsters ring his 'first.'

Mr. Uriah Braven, of Bristol, desires to express his thanks for the messages of comfort and good wishes received during his illness.

Through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Wilson wish to tender their sincere thanks and appreciation to Major J. H. B. Hesse and all those who took part in ringing the peal at Haslemere in honour of their marriage. The bride and bridegroom heard the peal throughout, and a very fine one it was.

PROGRESS AND FIRST PEALERS.

A WORD IN DEFENCE OF THE SIX-BELL MEN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your leader of last week you made mention of the large number of peals of Minor rung in one method only, and also mentioned some of the causes, among them being lack of enterprise and initiative on the part of the six-bell bands. Now, sir, 40 years ago the Bankes James Cambridge Minor was not in existence, and there were not bands who had rung Maximus, Royal and Major (and who normally ignore the six-bell man and his tower), and must ring all one method in order that there should be a footnote to the effect, 'Has now rung peals of Cambridge on six, eight, ten and twelve bells' (N.O.P.G.s, please note). This has been the cause of an increase in one method Minor peals. Peals in less than seven methods on six bells have on many occasions had to be rung for the simple reason that certain eight-bell men have had to be in the peal, and although they ring London, Bristol, etc., on eight, the unfortunate six-bell conductor finds that the extent of their knowledge of methods on six bells does not go beyond Cambridge, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob. This is a part of the other end of the scale. The six-bell towers have (in many cases) been the nursery which has produced a good many of to-day's eight-bell Surprise men, but they are too modest to say so. Other causes of one method Minor peals being rung can be found where bands have a 'bee in their bonnet' to head their peal 'Surprise Minor.'

Regarding 'first pealers,' I looked down the peal columns of your issue of last week and found: Triples and Major, 27 peals rung, first peals 3; Minor and Doubles, 15 peals rung, first peals 15. Need I say more?

GEORGE GILBERT.

WHO WAS THE FOUNDER?

To the Editor.

Sir,—Replying to the Rev. E. W. Carpenter's query, 'Who was the founder?' I should say the initials 'R. B.' doubtless refer to the family of Brend, of Norwich. The name of Robert Brend, bell-founder, is recorded in St. Stephen's register, 1565.

As early as 1564 initials 'R. B. and I. B.' are found associated with bells at South Bergh, Norfolk and elsewhere. R. B. may be connected with Robert Brend, whose name is met with in 1577 in the register of All Saints, Norwich. A number of other members of this family use only initials on their bells, such as 'W. I. B.' (William and John), 'W. A. B.' (William and Alice), and occasionally they use the Bracy shield and Norwich arms with no inscription in addition.

BRISTOL UNITED RINGING GUILDS.

NEW OFFICERS.

The general meeting of Bristol United Guilds was held on Friday, June 9th. Mr. Uriah Braven, having recovered from his serious operation, presided.

It was agreed that a 'charabanc tour week' be arranged for 1934. (No tour will be arranged this year.)

Mr. Frank Skidmore was invested as chairman for the year, Mr. S. Riches was elected as vice-chairman and Mr. A. Blackwell as pro-vice-chairman. The hon. treasurer and hon. secretary were re-elected, as were the trustees and stewards, with the addition of Mrs. F. Skidmore.

A donation of 10s. 6d. was made to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies Memorial.

A cricket match, Bristol ringers versus Wrington ringers, will take place on July 15th. An urn, presented to the Guilds in 1930, is now held by Wrington ringers, last year's winners.

The hon. secretary was requested to write to the Lord Bishop of Bristol (who was enthroned that day) and extend a welcome from his church bellringers.

A WELCOME.

The Worshipful Master of the Skinners' Company (Mr. R. D. Poland) welcomed the members at the outset of the proceedings. He said he understood the Council rang the changes from year to year, and chose on each occasion a fresh venue for their meeting. He only hoped that the setting they had chosen this year would be conducive to their deliberations. He most heartily welcomed them to Skinners' Hall.

The President (Mr. E. H. Lewis) thanked the Worshipful Master for his great kindness in allowing the Council the use of the hall and for coming there to welcome them. Change ringing, continued the President, was steeped in tradition. It went back nearly 300 years. They were very keen on everything that belonged to the past; on maintaining traditions, and, as far as they could, handing them on unswayed. For that reason they liked to go to some building that had tradition and that reminded them of a glorious past and encouraged them to hand on their traditions to the future as the Skinners' Company were handing on theirs (applause).

REPRESENTATION OF SOCIETIES.

Canon Coleridge then opened the business meeting with prayer, after which the hon. secretary reported that the present Council was composed of 128 members, representing 51 associations, and 12 honorary members—total 140. The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild had increased its representation from two to four members, and the Truro Diocesan Guild, which last year increased its representation to four members, had this year reverted to one. The figures which he had given, said Mr. Fletcher, did not include the North Wales Association, which had not so far paid the subscription for the year. All other subscriptions had been paid.

PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY RE-ELECTED.

Canon Coleridge proposed the re-election of Mr. E. H. Lewis as president of the Council for the ensuing three years. The Council had been very much blessed during the last three years, he said, in having Mr. Lewis at its head. He referred to Mr. Lewis' valuable service in giving technical advice in connection with bell restorations, and to the admirable manner in which he had conducted the business of the Council. They had in their president not a mere figurehead, but a man who knew everything that ought to be known about the Exercise and those who formed the Exercise (applause).

Mr. Lewis' re-election was agreed to with acclamation, and, in acknowledging the Council's cordial reception of the motion, the President said he sometimes felt he did not serve them quite as he should, partly because of other calls upon his time, but as far as he was able he would do his best during the next three years. At the same time, he thanked the Council for their co-operation, because unless they all co-operated and worked together, the Council would not function.

The President went on to propose the re-election of Mr. G. W. Fletcher as hon. secretary and treasurer. They had, he said, been extremely well served since Mr. Fletcher took up the duties, and the results of his efficiency would become even more noticeable as time went on and Mr. Fletcher picked up more of the threads. He (the president) possibly saw more of what went on behind the scenes than most of the members, and he could say that the work which Mr. Fletcher put in was colossal and the excellence of that work was very noticeable.—Mr. W. T. Cockerill seconded the motion, which was carried with applause.

REV. C. W. O. JENKYN'S SUCCESSOR.

The President said they had to elect an honorary librarian in the place of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. The Standing Committee had given a great deal of thought to the question, and recommended the name of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, who was willing to accept the position. He did not think the Council could do better than elect him. He was, from the Council's point of view, fortunately placed in the country, with a residence large enough to house their literature.

The election was approved with applause.

THE HONORARY MEMBERS.

The election of honorary members was the next business. Those retiring were Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. J. S. Goldsmith, J. Griffin, C. F. Johnston, J. A. Trollope and E. A. Young.

The President said they had lost by death Mr. H. W. Wilde, and Mr. E. W. Elwell had resigned, owing to having accepted an appointment in America. There was one other place left vacant. The Standing Committee recommended the election of the seven retiring members and also recommended the election of Mr. C. Dean, who was a very useful member of the Analysis Committee, and who was now no longer a representative of the Surrey Association. The committee would like to retain his services.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith proposed the re-election of the seven retiring members and the election of Mr. C. Dean.—Mr. C. T. Coles seconded and the motion was carried.

Mr. James Hunt proposed that the name of Mr. James George be added to the list. Mr. Hunt said he presumed Mr. George was not re-elected last year because of his unfortunate connection with the tablet recording the false peal at Painswick. He understood Mr. George had nothing whatever to do with the tablet and that it was put up against his wish.—The Rev. H. Drake seconded.

Mr. C. J. Sedgley proposed Mr. C. W. Roberts as an honorary member. Mr. Roberts was a young man of great experience in composition, and, if elected, would be a very useful member of the Council.—Mr. H. Knight seconded.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake proposed the name of Mr. W. H. J. Heaton, who, he said, was, as most of them knew, a young and very enthusiastic ringer and fine conductor, and a keen worker in everything connected with the Exercise.—Mr. J. A. Trollope seconded.

The President asked the Council to vote on whether they desired to keep open one place among the hon. members in case of emergency. This was agreed to non con.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards supported the election of Mr. George, who, he said, had taken very much to heart the fact that he was not re-elected last year. He was a great ringer and, in his 80th year, not only rang a peal about once a week, but spent a large part of his time in training beginners. It would be an unworthy act on the part of the Council to allow his declining days to be clouded by the sorrow of his severance from the Council. In 20 years' time, if events were reviewed by an impartial critic, it would stand as a black mark against the history of the Council if they allowed such a cloud to fall over the life of such a remarkable ringer. On more than one occasion he had heard from Mr. George's lips that he protested against any tablet being put up to that ill-starred peal.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett also supported Mr. George's election. Mr. George greatly regretted the Painswick incident, and to him exclusion from the Council had been a great sorrow. He (the speaker) urged that Mr. George should be restored to the position he greatly prized.

Mr. P. J. Johnson asked if the qualification for honorary membership of the Council was to be a man's individual ringing performances? What they ought to keep in mind was the service which a man could render to the Exercise as an honorary member. In the natural course of things it was inevitable that they must all get older, but if they were to adopt the principle that a man, once elected, had an inalienable right to being an honorary member, he did not know where some of the youngsters were going to be—it did not give them much of a chance.

Mr. C. T. Coles said he was sorry to contradict what had been said about Mr. George protesting against the Painswick tablet. He (Mr. Coles) had had it from Mr. George himself and from members of the Painswick band that he wished the peal board to be placed there. There was only one thing that would cause him to support Mr. George's election, and that was if he could really believe he regretted his action. Personally, he could not help feeling rather doubtful about it. Honorary members of the Council, said Mr. Coles, were elected, not for the number of peals they had rung, but for the services they had or could render to the Exercise. During his previous term of office Mr. George did nothing for the Council. He (Mr. Coles) was sorry to have to speak like this, but it required somebody to make a protest.

Canon Elsee said whether Mr. George had done any great service to the Council as such, or not, he had done a good deal of service to the cause of ringing, not merely by his own prowess as a bellringer, but in training and encouraging young ringers. He would be glad if the Council saw fit to re-elect him as an hon. member.

The three names were submitted to ballot, and the President, later, announced the result as follows: Mr. Roberts 40 votes, Mr. George 30, Mr. Hooton 26. Mr. Roberts was, therefore, declared elected.

While the votes were being counted, new members of the Council were presented to the President, who afterwards extended congratulations to Mr. W. Stacey, an old member, upon having been made a Justice of the Peace. He also congratulated Canon Marshall, president of the Yorkshire Association, upon having recently been made a canon, and Mr. Stephen Wood, one of their members, who recently got married (applause). To those three the Council offered their congratulations and best wishes.

THE DEATH OF THE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN.

The President next mentioned the losses sustained by the Council through death. Most of all, he said, they missed the cheery face of their late honorary librarian, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. He need not go into his life story—that had been published, but Mr. Jenkyn was a member of the Council from 1906. He was present at 24 meetings and only missed one when he was serving his country in France. He had been honorary librarian since the post was inaugurated in 1913; a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee since 1922, a member of the Standing Committee and a member of the Stedman Commemoration Committee; he also acted as treasurer of that fund. They missed Mr. Jenkyn in many ways. He was not only a 'ringing parson,' but they might call him a 'ringers' parson' (hear, hear). He regarded ringers as his parish and really did pastoral work among the ringers, particularly in his own diocese, and for upwards of 20 years his influence in that direction was very great indeed. One thing that struck them most about his ringing, and it was the one point they might dwell upon and keep fresh in their memory, was that whatever ringing he undertook it must be of the best. Mr. Jenkyn was a great lover of Stedman on all numbers. He liked twelve-bell ringing, but he was equally happy raising and falling five bells in peal, or even ringing call changes, provided that raising and falling, or ringing of call changes, was the best possible of its kind. That, said the President, was an ideal which they should all keep before them and try and keep his memory green in that respect. Mr. Jenkyn was a keen change ringer, but he was more keen on good ringing than he was on change ringing. In other words, he preferred well-struck rounds or call changes to bad change ringing. That was an example for them all to follow, while at the same time they all hoped to ring changes and ring them as well as they rang call changes. That was just one side of Mr. Jenkyn's life which he (the president) thought worthy of mention, especially as that side of ringing had been before them in recent years. They could only rejoice in the way Mr. Jenkyn left them. It was exactly the thing he would have wished. For themselves they were sorry; they could not be sorry for him. They would find it very difficult to fill the various gaps he had left.

OTHER LOSSES.

Continuing, the President said they had also lost Mr. E. Barnett, of the Kent County Association, who had been a member of the Council since 1903. He had been present at 26 meetings and absent from only two. Mr. Barnett was not a leader in debate; in fact, his voice was seldom publicly heard at Council meetings, but for all that he did very good work on the Council, because it was not only at the formal meetings that the work of the Council was done. A great deal of good accrued from informal discussions which took place before and after the formal meetings. Mr. Barnett took his share in that side of the work, and he took back to his adopted county of Kent a good influence which had possibly been strengthened by contact with members at their Council meetings. He had a wonderful influence in his particular sphere; he was keen on good striking and on method ringing provided good striking was maintained with it.

They had lost Mr. H. W. Wilde, a member since 1912, who had been present at 12 meetings and absent from seven. Being an honorary member, he didn't always find it easy to travel to the more distant meetings. He had been a member of the Peal Collection Committee, and was convener of the Variations Committee at the time of his death. He had done a great deal of quiet work on the question of composition of all sorts of methods. He was extremely careful, and he (the president) did not think he ever knew Mr. Wilde publish a composition which was afterwards found out to be false.

Mr. Thomas Faulkner, whose death they also regretted, represented the Ancient Society of College Youths since 1912. He was present at 14 meetings and absent from only five. He, again, did much good work as a member of the Council.

They had also lost Mr. Frank Hopgood, of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, a member of the Council since 1900, who had been present at 27 meetings and absent only from four. He was another of those quiet men who, while not taking much part in public debate, learned much from private discussion and took it back and spread it in the diocese of Oxford.

In addition to members of the Council, death had removed some former members, including Mr. A. E. Parsons, of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, a member from 1915 to 1923; Mr. W. Walmsley, of the Chester Diocesan Guild, a member from 1893 to 1899; Mr. C. Player, of Romney Marsh Guild, who was elected a member, but, unfortunately, died before he was able to attend a meeting. Last year they omitted to mention the death of Mr. H. Haigh, of the North Notts Association, a member of the Council from 1903 to 1923, who had done much good work in that rather isolated district. Last on the list was Mr. E. P. O'Meara, a member from 1897 to 1902 and from 1906 to 1908.

In memory of all these, the President asked the members to stand in silence.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED.

Visitors for the Council meeting began to arrive in London on Saturday, and quite a good gathering turned up at headquarters (Anderston's Hotel, Fleet Street) the same evening. On Sunday service ringing at various towers was well attended.

On Monday an enjoyable morning was spent at Westminster Abbey. About 34 visitors were present and were welcomed on behalf of the Dean and Chapter by the Rev. Dr. Perkins, superintendent of the belfry. Time for ringing was limited, and a short touch each of Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich was rung, as well as a course of Cambridge Surprise.

After the ringing the visitors were received in the Jerusalem Chamber by the Dean, the Very Rev. Dr. Foxley Norris, who gave a brief account of this historical room, panelled with cedar, said to have been brought from Lebanon. It was here that Henry IV. was brought to die, while the traditional story which credits Henry V. with putting on his father's crown before his death is connected with this room.

A very enjoyable morning was thus filled in.

In the afternoon a large party saw the Carter ringing machine demonstrated at the Science Museum, South Kensington, and then climbed to the belfry at the Imperial Institute, where the heavy ring of ten bells were rung for an hour.

There was an informal social at headquarters later in the evening.

After the Council meeting, the members and their friends were entertained to a sumptuous tea by the Middlesex County Association, the party numbering nearly 150, being presided over by the Rev. W. P. Cole Sheano (president of the association), supported by the officials of the Council and the officers of the association. Subsequently ringing took place at St. Paul's Cathedral, and this was followed by a social at which songs and glees were sung by the St. Clement's Quartette.

REOPENING OF BOW BELLS.ARRANGEMENTS FOR A 'RINGERS' DAY.'

His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury will dedicate the restored ring of twelve bells at St. Mary-le-Bow Church, Cheapside, London, at 3.45 p.m. on Friday, July 7th.

On the following day there is to be a ringers' opening, to which, by kind permission of the Rector and churchwardens, all ringers are invited. The bells will be available from 2.30 to 4 p.m. and 6.30 to 8 p.m. At 4 o'clock a service will be held in Bow Church, followed by tea at 5 p.m., at which the ringers will be the guests of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge, who has so generously defrayed the cost of the work which has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. At 8.30 p.m. there is to be a social at the Cannon Street Hotel.

Ringers should watch our notice columns carefully for details of the arrangements.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held at Brighton on Whit Monday, the towers of St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd being open for ringing. At the special service in St. Nicholas' Church, the Rev. V. P. Powell, M.A., Vicar, preached a sermon on the high calling of the ringers, pointing out that they rang out to the glory of God and called people to His worship. He alluded to the temptation which existed, also among priests, to work in the Name of God and yet leave Him out. They must not think solely of the pleasure of ringing, but must consider also its spiritual aspect.

Following tea in St. Nicholas' Hall, to which 70 sat down, the general meeting was held, the Master (Mr. J. Thornton Rickman) taking the chair. He explained the reason for postponing the date of the meeting to Whit Monday, which was accepted by the members present. One new member, Miss K. Shepherd, East Grinstead, was elected.

The balance sheet showed a strong financial position. On the general account the receipts were £87 19s. 4d., and included £61 1s. from subscriptions of affiliated towers and members. The payments were £69 10s. 0d., the balance in hand being £135 3s. 2d. In addition, there are balances of £50 in the reserve fund, £72 18s. 8d. in the benevolent fund and 17s. 1d. on the certificate account.

The report referred to the recent reorganisation by creating four divisions instead of three and providing for six meetings annually in the East and West and four each in the North and South. The report also again stressed the importance of regular and punctual attendance at Sunday service ringing, as also at the divisional meetings and combined practices, and called attention to the coming jubilee of the association, which will be celebrated in 1935.

After the report and balance sheet had been approved, the hon. general secretary stated that 73 peals had been rung by the association during 1932.

The following officers were elected: Master, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman; treasurer, Mr. O. Sippotts; hon. general secretary, Mr. A. D. Stone; peal secretary, Mr. F. I. Hairs; auditors, Messrs. F. C. J. Turner and W. C. Hart; representative to Central Council, Mr. J. T. Rickman; trustees, Messrs. F. B. Tompkins, H. R. Butcher and G. W. Stokes. All alterations to rules, as placed on the agenda, were carried. These were dealt with administrative matters.

Hastings was chosen for the annual general meeting in 1934.

The meeting congratulated the Crawley branch upon their peal ringing performances, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Master and officials.

The following towers were represented: Battle, Billingshurst, Bosham, Crawley, Chichester, Cuckfield, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), East Grinstead, Hastings (All Saints' and St. Clement's), Heathfield, Heene, Henfield, Southover (Lewes), Lindfield, Ringmer, Rotherfield, Shoreham, St. Leonards (Christ Church), Upper Beeding and Warnham. Among the visitors were Messrs. John Thomas, W. Claydon, Ruben Saunders, James Bennett, W. A. Cave, William Hewitt, Edwin Pike, H. T. Wisdom and G. S. Wiggins.

PRESENTATION TO CANON COLERIDGE.

Late in the evening, Canon Coleridge, who arrived from a Masonic gathering, was greeted with musical honours, and the President of the Council presented to him a set of pipes and a tobacco pouch. Mr. Lewis said this was a little present from the whole of the members of the Council to show their appreciation of the fact that Canon Coleridge had attended his 41st consecutive Council meeting. He was the only member who had attended every meeting since the Council was founded.

Canon Coleridge, in acknowledging the gift, said it was perfectly true that he had not missed a single Council meeting, wherever it had been held. He felt three years ago that he ought to give up being their president, and he was thankful he did so, because he did not know where the Council would have been but for having Mr. Lewis at its head. They were very fortunate in their present choice of president, and he hoped all of them would enjoy good health and good ringing for many years to come.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION'S TITLE.A REFERENDUM TO BE TAKEN.

The most important business before the annual meeting of the Essex Association on Whit Monday was a resolution passed at the annual district meeting of the Northern Division, at Braintree, on the 12th November, 1932, which came up for consideration:—

'That this meeting of the Northern Division recommends to the annual general meeting that the name of the Essex Association be changed to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild.'

In his introductory remarks, the Master stated that this matter was brought forward on a suggestion in 1928, the year before the association celebrated its jubilee, and it was then thought it would be better to complete 50 years without any change of name. When the Essex Association was formed in 1879, Essex formed part only of the diocese of St. Albans, which comprised Essex and Herts. Chelmsford Diocese had since been formed, and it conformed to the boundaries of Essex. It was thought by some that the association should now assume a diocesan status and be named the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild. There had been correspondence in 'The Ringing World' on the subject, and it had been discussed at all the annual district meetings so that members in every part of the county could have an opportunity of expressing their opinion.

Mr. W. Keeble then moved that the name be changed to 'The Chelmsford Diocesan Guild,' remarking that times changed and men's opinions changed.—Dr. Spencer Phillips, in seconding, said if they were named after the diocese the public would realise more their close association with the Church, and although they rang peals for their pleasure and profit, they were essentially a branch of church-workers whose first duty was service ringing.

Mr. W. Pye said such a change required serious consideration. It might cause unrest. The association had been known as Essex for 54 years and there were over 1,200 members.

After several others had expressed their views, Mr. G. W. Faulkner moved that a referendum of members be taken on the subject.—Mr. Moore seconded.

Mr. Butler supported, and suggested that the diocese of Chelmsford, which now included all Essex, might be divided a few years hence. The association should carry on in the name under which it was christened—Essex.

On a vote, 52 were for the amendment and 12 against. The Master declared the amendment carried.

On the amendment for a referendum being put as a substantive motion, it was carried with only three against.

The Master said arrangements would be made to take the referendum at an early date. He thanked the members for the excellent spirit they had shown in the discussion.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The annual meeting of the North Wales Association was held at Abergele on Whit Monday. About 50 members attended, representing the following towers: Bangor, Portmadoc, Llandudno, Rhyl, Wrexham, Chester and the local band. Several visitors were also present, including Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft (Ashton-under-Lyne), Mr. H. Martin (Birkenhead), Mr. G. Jones (Eccleston) and Mr. Dean (Norton, Staffs). A service was held in St. Michael's Church and conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. R. Hughes), who gave an interesting address and warmly welcomed the association to Abergele.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. R. C. Jones, Vicar of Bangor, was elected president of the association. The new president (who succeeds the late Rev. W. M. Morgan-Jones) takes an active interest in the art of ringing, being quite a proficient ringer himself.

The other officers were elected as follows: Vice-presidents, the Rev. Watkin-Davies, M.A., and the Rev. Benjamin Davies, M.A., Vicar of Wrexham; Ringing Master, Mr. A. E. Pegler; treasurer, Mr. T. Cathrall; secretary, Mr. W. Cathrall. District secretaries, Bangor, Mr. A. Pegler, jun.; Rhyl, Mr. B. R. Collis; Wrexham, Mr. A. Lea, jun. District instructors: Bangor, Mr. A. E. Pegler; Rhyl, Mr. Fuller; Wrexham, Mr. A. Lea, jun. Fifteen new ringing members were elected, also Mr. A. J. Hughes, the former Ringing Master, as a life member.

It was decided to hold the next half-yearly meeting at Mold on the last Saturday in September, or, failing this, at Rhyl on the same date; the annual meeting for 1934 to be held at Beaumaris, Anglesey.

The business having been disposed of, tea, kindly provided by the local ringers, was partaken of.

Before returning to the belfry for further ringing, a vote of thanks was proposed by the president (the Rev. R. C. Jones) to the Vicar for presiding at the meeting and for his interesting address, and also to the ladies who had prepared a most excellent tea.—This was seconded by the Rev. O. Williams, Vicar of Tryddyn, and replied to for the visitors by Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft and Mr. Dean, who extended an invitation to North Wales ringers to visit the Midland Counties and Staffordshire Guild meetings.

Prior to and following the meeting, the members took the opportunity of visiting the beautiful church of Bodelwyddan, which also possesses a very fine peal of eight bells.

THE NEW MAJOR RECORD. GREAT PERFORMANCE AT BENNINGTON.

As recorded in our last issue, a new Major record was set up at Bennington, Herts, on Whit Monday, when members of the Hertford County Association rang a peal of 18,144 Plain Bob in 10 hours 52 minutes.

The band met at 7.20 a.m., and, after raising the bells and adjusting the ropes, a start was made at 7.40. A little trouble came in the third course, and another start was made at 8 a.m. This time the band settled down to good ringing, which was maintained throughout the peal. The half-way single was reached at 1.24 p.m., and everything continued to run smoothly until the bells came round at 6.52 p.m.—the ringers being well satisfied with their day's work.

Mr. W. R. Madgwick was to have taken part in the peal, but, being unable to stand in, his place was taken by Mr. A. J. House.

The ringers wish to thank Mr. W. H. Lawrence and other friends for the interest shown in each of the attempts, and also to express thanks for the many congratulations received.

The composition, by Mr. Arthur Knights, of Chesterfield, was as follows:—

23456	W	5ths	M	H
56234	—	—	—	—
25463	—	3*	—	—

Eleven times repeated, singles at 6th and 12th part ends.

* Omitted in 3rd course of last three parts.

The previous longest length of Major was 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob at Heptonstall in 10 hours 51 minutes on April 18th, 1927, and the longest length of Plain Bob at 15,360 at Aston on October 1st, 1793.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

VISIT TO EDWINSTOWE AND PERLETHORPE.

A bi-monthly meeting was held at Edwinstowe on Saturday, May 27th, when about 30 members came from Bariborough, Blyth, Bolsover, Mansfield Woodhouse, Mansfield, Ordsall, Sutton-on-Trent, Shireoaks, Clowne, Warsop and Treeton to try the delightful peal of bells. During the afternoon about 12 of these ringers made a visit to Perlethorpe Church, where they were welcomed by the Rev. A. K. Moore and the local band. Touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise were rung. The situation of this beautiful peal of bells, placed in such a glorious church, with the park and woodlands around, gave the ringers a great change from town life. The Rev. A. K. Moore and local band must be thanked for their welcome given to the society.

Tea was held in the Church Room, when the Rev. Day-Lewis welcomed the ringers to Edwinstowe. The business meeting was presided over by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson.

Mr. W. Brett, jun., of East Markham, was elected a member.

The next meeting is to be held at Misson on July 1st, when it is hoped to give special attention to learners.

The secretary reported that he had tried to fix up instruction for Harworth, but he had not received any reply from the tower concerned.

The assistant secretary proposed a vote of thanks to the incumbents of the two parishes and to the caterers. Further ringing at Edwinstowe in the evening brought 'the end of a perfect day.'

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Halesworth on Whit Monday, the towers of Wenhamston, Wissett and Chediston being also placed at the disposal of the ringers. Members were present from Ipswich, Norwich, Beccles, Leiston, Ufford, Redenhall, Loddon, Lowestoft, Wilby, Wrentham, Saxmundham, Hacheston, Hovingham (Norfolk), Heveningham (Suffolk), Kessingland, Badingham, Rushmere, Huntingfield, Wissett, Chediston, Cookley and Halesworth. Pouches in many methods were rung, and tea was provided at the Town Hall, well catered for by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Took.

A short meeting followed, the chair being taken by the Rev. H. O. Newbery, Rector of Halesworth, who gave the Guild a cordial welcome.

Several new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next two meetings at Stratford St. Mary and Stradbroke respectively.

The Rev. H. Drake moved a hearty vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of bells at the four towers open for ringing that day, and the members then adjourned to the church for further practice. All agreed, when the bells were lowered at 8.30 p.m., that a most enjoyable time had been spent.

42 MINOR METHODS FOR A PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In a report of a Chester Diocesan Guild meeting published in 'The Ringing World' on May 12th Mr. Wolstencroft, in congratulating the Chelmsford band in ringing a 35-method peal, expressed a wish that the band would go on to ring one in 42 methods. The conductor, in replying, said they would attempt one when they had got the arrangement of methods to comprise seven true 720's. May I supply the conductor with the methods?

No. 1 contains fourth's-place Delight methods, viz., Waltham No. 22, Burslem No. 23; Surprise methods, Hexham 30, Surfleet 31, Berwick 34, Beverley 35, Primrose 38, Cambridge 39.

No. 2, Treble Bob methods, Waterford 16, Berwyn 17; third's-place Delight, Kentish 7, Berkeley 8, Edinburgh 9, Pembroke 10, Oswald 13, Barham 14.

No. 3, fourth's-place Delight, Evesham 1, Tewkesbury 2; third's-place Delight, Carisbrooke 1, Dunottar 2; Surprise methods, Wooler 10, Sandiacro 11.

These three arrangements, with four they have already rung, will comprise a peal of 42 methods.

These 720's are a combination of L. H. and N. K. groups, and must be rung as given, otherwise falseness may occur. The only change which may be made are in No. 1 when Nos. 30, 31, 34, 35, and in No. 2 where Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10 are interchangeable. As an alternative, Hull Surprise (No. 40) and Bourne (No. 41) may be spliced into groups Nos. 1 and 2 of the peal rung at Chelmsford, which will allow for a pair of methods being dropped out of either No. 1 or No. 2 of the above 720's. Care must be taken to select the right leads, or falseness may occur. If the conductor finds any difficulty in arranging them, I shall be pleased to reply to him.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

A very successful meeting was held at Bromham on Saturday, June 3rd, ringers attending from the following towers: Devizes, St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James' (Southbroom), Rowde, Holt, Westbury, Bratton, Trowbridge, Melksham and Bromham. The usual service was held, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. B. Phillips), Miss King ably presiding at the organ. The tea, which was arranged by Mr. Minty, was partaken of in the Mission Room.

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. The Rev. O. R. Yerbrough, Vicar of Steeple Ashton, and the Rev. P. B. Phillips, Rector of Bromham, were elected hon. members of the Guild, and Mr. K. Doddimead, of Melksham, as a ringing member. The half-yearly meeting was asked to be arranged at Bishop's Cannings on Saturday, July 1st.

Before the meeting closed, the Rector said it was a great pleasure to have the Guild visit Bromham, stating he had a hard working band of ringers, and he was pleased to know they were most loyal supporters of the Guild.

During the evening Rowde bells were available, and some members returned home in that direction and enjoyed a ring on this excellent six.

IDENTIFICATION OF COMPOSITIONS

As the full report of the meeting of the Central Council is unfolded our readers will find that a number of matters of genuine interest came up for consideration. For instance, arising out of the Methods Committee's report—which, like several others, was only a verbal statement, that gives members little opportunity for serious consideration, a thing which will happily be altered in future under the new rules—was a subject which concerns composers and conductors of peals. The committee asked permission to be allowed, 'as a gesture,' to publish their own compositions in the forthcoming book of Triples methods without attaching to them the composers' names. If members of the committee like to sink their personal claims in this way there is no reason why they should not do so. They did it without asking the Council in the Collection of Minor methods.

The desire of the committee is that future composers of peals shall, similarly, cease to identify themselves with their productions. We can see little hope of this becoming a generally adopted practice. Apart from the pride which the average author takes in his compositions, to which he feels justified in placing his name, there is the question of the identity of the composition itself. Unless all peals are to be given distinctive numbers it seems to us necessary that there should be some other means of tracing their origin. Even now there is a certain looseness about descriptions that often leaves a doubt as to identity with nearly everyone except the conductor.

Mr. Arthur Knights has adopted the very admirable plan of numbering his own numerous compositions, a plan which all composers ought to adopt, although even here there may be difficulties when it comes to such collections as Mr. Gabriel Lindoff's peals of London Surprise Major, which run to tens of thousands. In any event the numbering, if only for convenience sake, requires the author's name in addition, otherwise the reference for the purpose of identification is likely to get complicated and confused. Moreover, until there is a complete means of identification, the composer's name attached to a peal carries a certain amount of guarantee of the truth of what has been rung. But assuming that every composer is willing to sink his natural pride with his identity it will still be necessary, we think, to add an author's name to a peal so that there may be some means of identification — whether through the Press or association reports—at any rate until the advent of that register of compositions which we are told is impossible of effective compilation. If, of course, the Exercise is content to accept the record of a peal without any reference to its identity then the Methods Committee's gesture might be of some avail, and even the numbering of their own compositions would be unnecessary, but we fancy that day is far distant, and when it arrives it will mark the stage when ringing will have sunk to the level that few will care whether a peal is true or not.

PRYCE TAYLOR MEMORIAL.

LARGE GATHERING ATTEND ANNUAL SERVICE AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

The second annual service in memory of Mr. Pryce Taylor, nephew of Mr. E. Denison Taylor, the head of the Loughborough firm of bell-founders, was held at Loughborough Parish Church on Saturday, June 10th, when ringers to the number of about 160 were present from all parts of the Midlands.

It will be remembered that the base of the tower is being formed into a 'ringers' corner' and is separated from the main body of the church by a beautiful wrought iron screen, presented to the church by Mrs. Pryce Taylor in memory of her husband. The floor of the tower has been inlaid with ornamental bellmetal work, the gift of Mr. E. Denison Taylor; on the south wall are two bronze plaques of Mr. J. W. Taylor, sen., and Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., whilst on the opposite wall are two bellmetal tablets, one recording the then record of 18,027 changes of Stedman Caters rung on Easter Monday, 1909, and the other being a record of the peal rung to celebrate the signing of peace in 1919. It was hoped that there would be some further additions to the corner to be dedicated this year, but unforeseen delay had occurred which has necessitated their postponement until next year.

The proceedings commenced with the service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Canon Briggs), and an appropriate address was given by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall, who is himself a keen, enthusiastic and skilful ringer. He based his remarks on the words, 'His memorial shall not pass away,' and said they were present that day to keep a memorial to one who was cut off suddenly in his life and work. The beautiful and worthy memorial to the late Mr. Pryce Taylor was an outward and visible sign with an inward and deeper meaning. This young man he knew as a modest soldier, enthusiastic about his work, and with a gift of pleasant companionship that made him many friends, and the attendance at that service indicated the esteem in which he had been held.

The ringers, among whom were a number of ladies, were afterwards entertained to an excellent tea at the Fearon Hall by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, who also presided.

Mr. Taylor, in welcoming the guests, remarked that although his nephew died six years ago next month, it seemed such a short time to him, and it was hard to realise that there were ringers of the rising generation to whom his nephew was only a name.

A VISION OF THE FUTURE.

Continuing, Mr. Taylor said that the last ringers' gathering held at Loughborough was a meeting of the lady ringers, and a short time ago he read an article, entitled 'Bellingring for beauty.' The article pointed out that bellingring was so old a pastime that one would think there was nothing new left for bellingringers to do. There was one thing, however, that had never before been done, and a woman had thought of it. That woman was Mrs. Cross, secretary of the London District of the Ladies' Guild of Ringers, and with her husband and three other married couples she formed a unique band of ringers at Crayford, Kent. They were to arrange shortly to start for a peal of 5,000 or more changes. A peal by four married couples, when accomplished, would be the first of its kind. The article added that Mrs. Cross advocated bellingring for fitness and beauty, and, said Mr. Taylor, one wondered what would happen if leaders of Society in town and in country took serious heed of Mrs. Cross' advice. One pictured a joyous bevy of Society damsels, in their ardour to increase their beauty, surging into all the belfries and crowding out the ringers at present established, rendering it difficult for those poor displaced souls to get even an occasional pull. A truly startling prospect, but one about which they need not get into a panic just yet.

Mr. Taylor had thoughtfully had a painting of the late Mr. Pryce Taylor hung in the room for all to see, and those who knew his nephew agreed that it was a splendid portrait of him.

Mrs. Pryce Taylor, who now resides in London, was unfortunately prevented from attending the gathering owing to illness.

A band of five, including the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, rang a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters on a large set of handbells. Ringing took place on the fine ring of ten at the Parish Church, also on the light musical peal in the campanile at the Bell Foundry, and whilst this was in progress some belcok themselves to the Rectory gardens, which had been placed at their disposal by the Rector, whilst others took the opportunity of looking round the famous bell foundry.

A MID-WEEK MEETING.

On Wednesday, June 14th, a joint meeting of the Herts and Essex Associations was held at the old world village of Aspendon. Various methods were rung during the afternoon, and the Rector conducted a short service and gave a welcome to the visitors. Tea was served in the Village Hall and afterwards the tower was again visited and touches from Grandsire to Bristol Surprise brought round.

The towers represented were Bishop's Stortford, Braughing, Buntingford, Dunmow, Great and Little Munden, Harlow Common, Fulborn, London, Crayford (Kent), Melbourn, Ramford, Sawbridgeworth, Hatfield, Over (Cambs), Walthamstow and Hertford.

THE RECORD PEAL AT BENNINGTON

RINGING HISTORY OF A HERTFORDSHIRE VILLAGE.

Mr. W. H. Lawrence, of Little Munden, hon. secretary of the Eastern District of the Herts Association, writes: I should like to offer my hearty congratulations to those members of the Herts County Association who set up a new world's record for Bob Major at Bennington on Whit Monday. I am proud that they are all East Herts members and I also feel it an honour that the conductor is from Little Munden. I was unable to hear the bells plainly from here, the wind being in the wrong direction, but I have been told by the Rector and others who heard it that it was a good peal and well struck.

Bennington, adds Mr. Lawrence, has for many years been a meeting place of many noted men, and was the 'home tower' of the celebrated band which was kept up by Squire Proctor, at one time noted throughout England. It is very fitting, therefore, that another record should be made in this noted tower. A little of the church's history will be interesting. A Saxon church stood upon the site as early as 850, and in 1303 the present church, dedicated to St. Peter, was built and the tower was completed in 1378. A board records a 720 of College Single upon the ring of six which hung in the tower in 1793. In 1838 two trebles were added by the Squire Proctor, who had a little before that come to settle in Bennington at the old Lordship, and on January 29th, 1838, the first peal was rung. This was Grandsire Triples, conducted by E. Giles, presumably a London ringer, Squire Proctor ringing the tenor. The Bennington band was afterwards formed, and in 1849 a peal of Double Norwich was rung by the local band, most of them being employed by the Squire. This peal must be considered a wonderful performance for a village band of those now distant days. The next recorded peal on a board in the belfry is a peal of Kent Treble Bob in 1851 and two peals of Superlative in 1855. In 1865 a peal of Stedman Triples is recorded, and the top of the tree was reached in 1870, when a peal of London Surprise was rung. Only two peals in this method had been previously rung, the first at Norwich in 1835 and the second at Woolwich in 1849. In 1873 a peal of Cambridge (the first true peal in the method) is recorded.

It was nothing out of the common for London Surprise to be rung for services, and the bells were always raised in peal before the service touch and lowered in peal again before the service. It was done perfectly and was a treat to listen to. Bennington, in Squire Proctor's days, had a truly wonderful band, and their striking was perfect. It is, I believe, a fact that for 50 years without a miss they, as a band, visited the village of Braughing on the anniversary of the peal of 12,080 Bob Major rung on May 10th, 1779, and on one or more occasions took their own bellropes with them.

CENTRAL DISTRICT DISAGREE WITH NORTHERN PROPOSAL.

The annual meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held at St. Clement Danes, London, on Saturday, June 10th, and was very well attended. The methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Kent Treble Ten, Cambridge Royal and rounds for the beginners.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Wilson in the absence of the Rector. After tea, a short business meeting was held in the choir vestry. The officers were all re-elected, and Windsor was proposed by Mrs. Barker as the place for the next meeting.

Two new members were elected—Miss Glenister, of Abbots Langley, and Miss Margaret Pack, of London.

The other business included a discussion of the existing service forms and also of the resolutions passed by the Northern District, which, unfortunately, do not meet with the approval of the Central District. One of the proposals of the Northern District is to change the title to 'The Women's Guild.'

Before the meeting ended, a hearty vote of thanks was proposed to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Wilson for so kindly conducting the service and to Mr. J. Hawkins for attending to the bells. Mrs. Deal also proposed a vote of thanks to the secretary (Mrs. Cross) for the work she had done during the past year.

Unfortunately, the tower was not open for further ringing after tea, and the company, therefore, went along to St. George's, Southwark, where they met with a great welcome from the Vicar and Mr. Herbert and his fellow-officers of the London County Association, who were holding a meeting at this church. Mr. Herbert very kindly asked the ladies to ring a touch of Stedman Triples with their own band, and he saw that no visitor went away without joining in the ringing. They wish to thank the gentlemen very much for their kindness.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild met at St. George-the-Martyr on June 10th, there being a band on the spot punctually. Unfortunately, owing to a misunderstanding, no key was forthcoming, so the secretary, being somewhat of a champion walker, hiked off for an hour or two in an effort to find the key. One can find anything when one is determined, and he sure was. It was then thought best to have tea before ascending the tower, which course was pursued, and the Master started the proceedings at 5.45 with a touch of Stedman Triples. Rounds for beginners was also an item. Various methods were rung with more or less success, and later there arrived, at the same time as the Rector, a strong contingent of the Ladies' Guild from St. Clement Danes, accompanied by a number of gentlemen.

The Rector gave the association a welcome and remained in the tower whilst a band of ladies rang a well-struck touch of Stedman, conducted by Mrs. Fletcher, much to the surprise of the Rector, who apparently had no idea of the 'Deeds of Derring Do' performed by members of the Ladies' Guild. Spliced Surprise in four methods was rung by a mixed band, but, like the little boy who, as the poet said last week, shifted, this just missed. Amongst the business transacted at the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector (the Rev. Ernest C. Cook) for the use of the bells, and to Mr. N. Bagworth and the Metropolitan Police Guild for having things in order.

Further ringing brought the proceedings to a close.

Among the visitors were representatives from Lancashire, Norwich, Kent and Wales.

Bennington still retains its quietude and peacefulness, and the view of the old church from the village green, nestling as it does amongst the trees which partly hide it, is a sight not to be forgotten. It is an ideal place for a long peal, both for weight of bells and the position of the church. The occupants of the few houses near are not the kind that complain of the bells of their beloved old church, nor does the Squire, who now occupies the old home of the late Squire Proctor. The people of Bennington, especially the older ones, have been so accustomed to the music of their bells that they are part of their lives. The Rector informed me that no one complained.

So the record length of Major rests at Bennington, a very fitting link with a long history of great ringers of the past. May the historical old tower retain it long. The old Squire and his band have passed on, leaving a great example of what can be done by humble men using the talent given them. The last of them passed away about three years ago, and the lines on the peal board recording the peal of Double Norwich in 1849 are very applicable:—

Ye Bennington bells, ye Bennington bells,
How many a tale your music tells
Of youth and home and that glad time
When last we heard your merry chime.
Now time will come when we are gone,
Your tuneful peal will still ring on,
While other hands your tender ropes shall pull,
And strive our peal to ring which here we write in full.

The ringers were James Flott, Thomas Page, Leonard Proctor, William Collins, John Aylott, Charles Hollingsworth, Joseph Kitchener, George Warner, 'all resident in this parish.'

CLEVELAND ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING AT RIPON.

The Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association held their 35th annual meeting on Whit Monday at Ripon, by kind invitation of the Dean of the Cathedral. It proved a most successful and happy meeting, members and friends attending from Middlesbrough, Darlington, Northallerton, Thirsk, Kirby Wiske, Tadcaster, Sharow, Ormesby, Ripon, Leeds and district, Bradford, York, Newcastle and Easingwold.

The peal of ten, which has been recently recast and rehung on ball bearings, were quickly put to work, and everybody who handled them expressed the opinion that they are a real credit to Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The bells are beautifully hung and easy to handle, and a first class job has been made of the new framework. The musical tone of the bells is greatly improved, and the whole job is a lasting testimonial to the excellent workmanship of the Loughborough firm.

By permission of the Dean and Chapter, the bells were available all day, and full use was made of this privilege. In addition, several bands went out to Sharow (four miles away) to ring on the handy peal of eight there. The ringing was up to the usual excellent standard of the Cleveland Association, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Triples, Treble Bob Royal and Major, Double Norwich and Superlative being obtained at various times.

The annual business meeting was held in the Blue Bell Hotel after the dinner, the chairman being Mr. J. Stott, of Thirsk (president of the association). He was supported by Vice-President F. Tingle, of Ripon and the secretary, Mr. T. Metcalfe.

All the officers were re-elected and thanked for their past services. The report on the working of the Sunday service ringing scheme was presented, showing that the points awarded for ringing during the year were: Middlesbrough 993, Whitby 573, Tadcaster 261, Darlington (St. John's) 228, Stockton 173, Ripon (three months' ringing only) 116, and Ormesby 75.

The secretary's report and balance sheet, showing a credit of £26, was adopted with acclamation.

Meetings for the ensuing year were fixed as follows: September (annual ringing competition), Guisborough; pre-Lent, Thornaby; Easter Monday, Middleham; and Whitsuntide (annual meeting), Northallerton.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Ripon and the Vicar and churchwardens of Sharow for the use of the bells closed the meeting, and the ringers adjourned to the two towers for further ringing.

THE PEAL AT OVER.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In answer to 'Truth,' I will try and tell the truth. The two men whose names appear as ringers of one bell do not expect to be credited with a peal. A rather funny point arises in putting the peal on record, but not if looked at in a right and true spirit. Should any other point be raised, we were not in any competition. The band rang a very good peal, and when the change-over took place only an expert could have detected it. Further and lastly, I shall answer only letters from those people who sign their names.

'A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT.'

Sir,—Your correspondent, 'Truth,' raises a rather unique point, and one very worthy of careful consideration. It certainly was said that the performance in question was something of a 'novelty,' but in pursuing this statement to its logical conclusion it is really surprising to find what egregious anomalies arise. Supposing, for instance, eight ringers entered a church steeple and commenced to ring an eight-bell peal; after fifteen minutes (by previous arrangement) another relay of eight ringers entered the steeple and relieved the former eight, and so on, at regular intervals of 15 minutes throughout the peal. Assuming the peal was successfully rung in the space of three hours, twelve relays of eight ringers would then have taken part, thus completing the peal with no less than 96 ringers and twelve conductors! How exceedingly novel!! and yet, although the peal had been successfully accomplished, nobody could claim to have rung a peal and nobody could claim to have conducted one!! Indeed, it would be necessary to increase 'The Ringing World' from its present size to that of our leading national newspapers once 'novel' performances became a regular feature!

It has already been pointed out that the recognised exceptions are usually due to either a bad going bell or an outside, both of which may justify a double-handed effort, but, like your correspondent, I am of the opinion that to extend this concession to 'novelties' and 'freak' performances is, in effect, creating a dangerous precedent, as an unlimited field is at once opened up. Personally, I am unaware of any definite ruling on the matter by the Central Council, and should my surmise prove correct, would respectfully suggest that measures be taken to review the position and adopt the necessary action.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Owing to the ringers' opening of Bow bells having been arranged for July 8th, the summer festival of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, which had been fixed for the same date, has been postponed to July 22nd. It is to take place at Leatherhead and Ashted.

Great credit is due to Mr. H. Carter, the conductor of a three method peal of Minor at Colne Engaine on Saturday. He had only rung one peal previously. This one was a birthday compliment to him. He received the hearty congratulations of the band and also their thanks for his kind hospitality at the conclusion of the peal.

In connection with the new ring of ten bells at Duffield Parish Church, it is remarkable that the new bells were cast by Mr. Smith, head foundryman at Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s, who also cast the previous peal of eight in 1884.

Another noteworthy fact was that Mr. John Jagger, who was present at the dedication on June 3rd, was also present at the dedication of the octave in 1884. Both are still wonderfully well preserved men and very active.

The Salisbury Guild meeting arranged for Pewsey to-morrow has been cancelled.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO YOUNG RINGER. TRAGIC DEATH OF A PROMISING BOY.

As the result of colliding with a motor bus while riding a bicycle on Monday, June 12th, Master Raymond Thompson, of Whickham, County Durham, was taken to the Whickham Cottage Hospital and died there about four hours later. His loss is not only keenly felt by the local ringers, but by the whole of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association.

He was only in his 16th year, but could handle his bell with the best of them, and was so keen that he used to turn up at the Newcastle Cathedral practices when he was free of night classes and took his turn at any method that was going on any number from six to ten bells, and struck his bell well and truly. He had rung five peals in Minor methods. The funeral took place on Saturday, June 17th, and was attended by many ringers of the district, both his father and uncle being keen ringers. The deceased lad had also been in the choir of the Parish Church till his voice broke, and the church was packed by relatives, friends and sympathisers with the parents in their terrible bereavement. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by Messrs. John Anderson (president of the association), R. S. Anderson, J. E. Keen and W. J. Davidson. Later a peal of Minor (recorded in another column) was rung muffled to his sweet memory.

A CHURCH'S JUBILEE.

RINGERS TAKE PART IN A PAGEANT.

H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught and Princess Patricia, attended a special service at Bagshot, Surrey, Parish Church on Sunday afternoon to celebrate the jubilee of the church. The Duke of Connaught laid the foundation stone, with full Masonic honours, in 1883, and others who were present on that occasion and were at Sunday's service were Lady Elphinstone and Mr. Thomas Gould, one of the ringers who was a member of the choir of 50 years ago.

Before the commemorative service, which was conducted by the Rector (Canon Stuart), and at which the preacher was the Bishop of Guildford, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, in which Mr. Gould took part, despite his 76 years and the fact that, being crippled, he has to support himself on a crutch. The ringers were H. Hall 1, C. W. Denver (Aldershot) 2, J. Corbett 3, F. Nye 4, T. Gould 5, J. S. Goldsmith (Woking, conductor) 6, H. Gould 7, E. Comer 8. The service was attended by people of all denominations and representing the various religious, civic and social bodies of the parish.

The commemoration was continued on Wednesday, when among the festivities was a pageant of scenes from local history. In this two of the local ringers took parts for which in face and figure they were admirably fitted. Mr. J. Corbett (who incidentally is hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild) was the Abbot of Westminster, who received from Edward the Confessor in 1055 the grant of the lands of Bagshot to the monks of Westminster. Mr. Fred Nye was the landlord of the White Hart Inn in a scene which recalled Bagshot's coaching days and a duel of 1763.

THE 42-METHOD PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I point out (if necessary) a bob is omitted in the last lead of No. 1 extent, given in the last issue of 'The Ringing World.' May I also suggest that No. 1, from lead end 43652 in the first part, and from lead end 53462 in the second part, be rung as Cambridge not Primrose. In No. 2, from lead end 23564, should read Edinburgh, not Pembroke, and from lead end 53246 read Pembroke. These alterations will simplify the extents somewhat.

Here are two more six-methods extents: By leaving out the odd method in groups 6 and 7 of the peal rung at Chelford, Treble Bob: British Scholars No. 12. Third's Place Delight: Conisborough No. 24, Richborough Delight No. 23 and Woodcock's Victory Treble Bob No. 11 will splice into these two groups. This will give the conductor seven six-methods extents.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

CONSTITUTION OF COMMITTEES.

Arising out of the minutes of the last meeting, it was stated that the Council had had correspondence over the bells of St. Andrew's, Wells Street, London, and the final result was that the church was going to be rebuilt in the new district of Kingsbury and the bells were to be hung in the new tower when erected (applause).

The minutes were adopted.

The next business was the 'report of the hon. librarian.' The President said the Standing Committee recommended that a financial report only be presented to the Council. It had not yet been possible to go through all the various papers which had come on from Mrs. Jenkyn.

The hon. secretary stated that the receipts from the sale of publications was £17 18s. 5d. The number of publications sold was 354, chief among them being 58 copies of the Collection of Doubles and Minor and 125 method sheets. The expenses, including advertising, had been £10 15s. 3d., leaving a balance on the sale account of £7 3s. 1½d. There were 3,790 copies of publications in hand of a nominal value of round about £195.

Mr. J. A. Trollope pointed out that copies of recent publications by the Council did not appear to have been sent to the Library of the British Museum and other great national libraries. They ought to do this, not only to preserve their copyright, but in order that the books might be preserved for those who in the future might desire to do research work and might want to consult them.

The report was adopted, and it was decided to send copies of the publications to the British Museum, the Bodleian Library, Oxford, and the library at Trinity College, Dublin.

DELAYED SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The hon. secretary and treasurer presented the statement of the Council's accounts, which had been audited by Messrs. A. A. Hughes and W. A. Cave. The balance at Whitsun of 1932 was £61 11s. 1½d. The receipts were: Subscriptions, 1931-32 £4, 1932-33 £31; hon. members, £2 2s. 6d.; interest on 3½ per cent. Conversion Stock, £2 9s. 8d.; on 4 per cent. Consols, £2 10s. 4d.; balance of sale of publications, £7 3s. 1½d. The expenses included £10 10s. to the Davies Memorial and £13 16s. 1d. the balance of the Stedman Tercentenary Commemoration account. Other items amounted to £18 19s. 3½d., leaving a balance at Whitsun, 1933, of £67 12s. 2d. The Council has investments of £50 3½ Conversion Stock and £50 4 per cent. Consols of a present market value of £138 3s. 9d. The hon. secretary pointed out that the subscriptions of the London County Association and the North Notts Association were received too late to be included in the balance sheet. Subscriptions to the Council were due on January 1st, but he received only two in January. The others were received as follows: February, five; March, nine; April, nine; May fifteen; and the rest on June 1st and 2nd.

The balance sheet was adopted on the motion of Mr. Hughes, seconded by Mr. Cave.

THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

Mr. E. A. Young reported for the trustees of the Carter ringing machine that it was carefully inspected and was operated on May 27th by the demonstrators, Messrs. Fardon and Sharman. It then rang several small efforts and a course of Grandsire Cinques. The machine was in better order than when they reported a year ago. On the previous day the machine was again demonstrated as part of the entertainment of the visitors. Fifty or more attended and once more the machine was set working and rang two or three times a course of Grandsire Cinques, and everyone seemed pleased with what they heard and saw.

Mr. A. Walker, who said he was present on the previous afternoon when the machine was demonstrated, congratulated the trustees and those associated with the machine for the improvement made in it. It was now practically perfect in striking. He had known the machine for about 20 years, and the preceding day was the first time he had heard it strike perfectly. It was now in a condition such as John Carter would have wished them to have it (hear, hear).

The trustees' report was adopted, and the usual fee of a guinea was voted to the demonstrators.

STANDING COMMITTEE'S CONSTITUTION.

The Standing Committee reported that it had considered the question of its constitution, and recommended that it consist of: (1) The president, hon. secretary and treasurer, hon. librarian and the conveners of committees ex-officio; (2) twelve elected members (chosen by ballot if more than 12 names are proposed); the committee shall have power, in the event of the services of any other member of the Council being considered by them desirable, to co-opt not more than two members. The twelve retiring members to be the first names to be proposed.

With regard to the other committees, the Standing Committee recommended that the Council should appoint the conveners in the first instance, but changes may be made at any time by the committees.

The retiring elective members were the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Messrs. W. T. Cockerill, W. A. Cave, C. T. Coles, J. Griffin, A. A. Hughes, C. F. Johnston, J. D. Matthews, A. Paddon Smith and E. Alex Young.

Canon Elsee proposed and Mrs. E. K. Fletcher seconded the adoption of the report.

Mr. W. T. Cockerill said as he had been unable to attend any of the country meetings for many years, it was fair to the Council that he should resign from the Standing Committee. There were other members who could attend, and he, therefore, tendered his resignation in order that somebody should be elected who could regularly attend the meetings.

The President said the Council would have heard Mr. Cockerill's statement with a good deal of regret, and he thought they would like to keep Mr. Cockerill's name on the committee for another three years at any rate. The committee would like to have Mr. Cockerill's services. It was quite possible there might be meetings called in between Whitsuntides, and in that case those meetings would almost certainly be held in London, and Mr. Cockerill might be very useful.

The report was adopted and the retiring members of the committee re-elected.

PEAL COLLECTION COMMITTEE REORGANISED.

For the Peal Collection Committee the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson reported by letter that, as he explained last year, the single-handed charge of his parish and various diocesan work, including the secretaryship of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, made it practically impossible for him to settle down to any outside work, and he would be grateful if the Council would appoint another convener of this committee.

The retiring members of the committee were the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, the Rev. E. S. Powell, Mrs. Fletcher and Mr. J. A. Trollope.

The President said the Standing Committee proposed the re-election of the committee, with the addition of Mr. G. R. Pye and Mr. G. Lindoff, and that Mr. Lindoff be asked to act as convener.

The Rev. E. S. Powell said he was elected on to this committee at the Salisbury meeting, eight or ten years ago. He believed he had done some work for the committee before he was a member of it, but since he had been a member of the committee he had done no work whatever for it, and he had had no official communication from the committee. He suggested he should be taken off the committee. To put him on was simply a farce. If he could be of any use it would be another matter.

The President suggested that Mr. Powell's name should be left on until he had tried twelve months with the new convener. A lot of the trouble was that some conveners did not convene, and it was for that reason the Standing Committee had proposed that the Council should appoint the conveners.

The committee, as proposed by the Standing Committee, was elected.

EXTENDED DEFINITION OF A METHOD.

The Methods Committee reported progress. Mr. J. A. Trollope called attention to the proposed addition to the definition of a plain lead, reported in the minutes of the last meeting, which the Council was asked to consider and vote on. He formally moved that the words be added to the statement under the Council's 'definition of a method.'

This states that 'Methods are formed from principles in two ways,' and explains the two lines of development. The committee suggested the addition of 'an illustration of this statement is to be found in the Little and Alliance methods which have come into prominence of late years. In appearance their form places them outside the definition of Plain and Bob leads, but, properly speaking, they are in logical succession of such methods as Bob Major. Thus a Little method is one which follows the rule, except in so far as this is qualified by the restriction of the hunt to fewer places than the number of bells employed; an Alliance method is one in which the hunt has a composite path, comprising portions of more than one principle.'

The Rev. E. S. Powell seconded the motion, which was carried.

THE BOOK ON TRIPLES METHODS.

The Rev. E. S. Powell said progress on the book on Triples methods, which the committee were last year authorised to complete and send to the Standing Committee for publication, had not, for various circumstances, been as fast as they had hoped it would be, but that was not for the first time in the history of the Methods Committee (laughter). Except, however, for a few small items—the writing of the introduction and a couple of quarter-peals which had to be composed, the book was almost ready for typing and getting into final shape. The methods included were, of course, Stedman and Erin and all Triples methods with two hunts symmetrical about the leads, but none that were unsymmetrical. Of methods with one hunt they only proposed to publish eight out of nineteen which run to the natural six leads. They were not publishing methods which had adjacent places or any unsymmetrical methods such as methods which would run only to three leads. Three-lead course peals of Grandsire Triples could be described as a peal in a method in which the plain Triples consisted of the three bob leads. With regard to compositions, they were printing about eight quarter-peals and six peals of Stedman and several shorter touches: Erin, two quarter-peals and three peals; Grandsire and Reverse Grandsire, about twelve quarter-peals and ten peals. Contrary to what they proposed last year, they had decided that Holt's Ten Part ought to go in; not that it was likely to be rung to any very great extent, but because it was composed for Grandsire and it had got to be used as the foundation of peals in other methods in which the common single could not be used. In Double Grandsire they proposed to include one quarter and two or three peals; and in methods with one hunt, one quarter and two or three peals of each.

THE AUTHORSHIP OF PEALS.

Out of this there arose another question, said Mr. Powell, on which the committee not only wished to make a report, but desired, if possible, to set up a precedent. Most people recognised nowadays that real originality, in the sense in which it was regarded 50 or 60 years ago, did not exist in compositions of peals, say, of Major in any method and of ordinary length. Probably, also, in the case of Triples it was very unlikely that any really completely new composition, in the sense that Parker's twelve-part was new, was likely to be obtained in the future. For the purposes of this book the committee had had to produce compositions for the various methods, and they had had assistance from outside. That assistance they felt should be recognised, and recognised publicly by the Council, by putting the names of the composers at the foot. Some of these peals were composed 35 or 40 years ago; in days when there was a good deal of originality in composition. But there were several compositions specially composed for the book. With the Council's permission they were proposing to establish what amounted to a precedent, and it was a precedent that did not just consist of the publishing of this book. There had grown up in recent years the expectation, if not the demand, that any peal published in 'The Ringing World' should bear the name of the composer. The only ground for that demand was as to the proof of the composition. All, or nearly all the associations, now took steps to ensure that, where a composition was new or had not been published before, the figures should be open to them before they accepted the peal for publication in their reports, and he thought that would get over the whole difficulty. At any rate, the Methods Committee suggested that the Council should permit them to publish their compositions without any name, and if, as was probable, any of them were rung afterwards, they hoped the compositions would be referred to by the number that was given to them in the book. If the truth of their work was challenged, the figures would be there for any composer to test. This was a gesture on the part of the committee; it was one that others might be glad to follow. He had himself been at times in difficulties. When he wanted to call a local peal of Grandsire Cinques at Exeter Cathedral he had not got a large number of compositions available. He wanted something simpler than any he saw, and he put together a peal which stood as composed by him. He had since been called over the coals by a gentleman who suggested it was a composition by Mr. Hattersley. It was no more similar to that peal than it was similar to a great many others. They had to put it under some name and he had to put this peal down to himself. On what was a rather historic occasion he did not feel he could establish a new precedent and say, 'Here is a peal composed by nobody,' for the first peal rung on the twelve bells rung at Exeter by a band resident in the diocese. He moved that the book, as soon as completed, should be sent on to the Standing Committee with the condition he had put before the Council.

Mr. Trollope seconded.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith asked that the Council might be assured that the compositions, already recognised under the names of well-known composers, such as Holt and Parker, should continue to have the authors' names attached.

The Rev. E. S. Powell gave this assurance, and said that the composers' names would also be added to those peals which outside persons had contributed to the book. For instance, Mr. A. J. Pitman had specially composed peals for this book, and it would certainly be most improper to publish them without attaching his name to them. The only compositions which would have no names would be those which had been produced by one or other members of the Methods Committee.

The recommendations of the committee were adopted, and, on the motion of Mr. S. F. Palmer, seconded by the Rev. H. Drake, the committee, consisting of Mr. J. A. Trollope (convener), the Rev. E. S. Powell and Mr. S. H. Wood, was reappointed.

TWO COMMITTEES AMALGAMATED.

When the report of the 'Variations' Committee was reached, the President said the position was rather difficult. The committee was appointed to deal particularly with the question Mr. Newton raised at the Liverpool meeting, and it was suggested that a short pamphlet should be got out explaining exactly what was meant by variations. The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson was appointed convener, but at the end of the first year he said he was unable to tackle the work and proposed that Mr. H. W. Wilde be made convener. Mr. Wilde died last October and the committee had been left with only Mr. Richardson and Mrs. Fletcher, the latter's part being mainly the labour of typing. They had, therefore, come to a deadlock, and the Standing Committee recommended that this committee be amalgamated with the Peals Collection Committee (of which Mr. Lindoff was now appointed convener), with the addition of Mr. G. R. Newton to assist especially in this particular work.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith moved the necessary resolution to amalgamate the two committees. He pointed out that the remaining members of the Variations Committee, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mrs. Fletcher, were also members of the Peals Collection Committee, and as there was considerable relation in the work of the two committees, it would be an advantage to amalgamate them. He also moved the addition to the committee of Mr. G. R. Newton and of Mr. C. W. Roberts, one of the most versatile of the young composers, who had that day been elected an honorary member of the Council.

Mr. W. A. Cave seconded and the motion was carried.

'SILENT' AND 'NON-CONDUCTED' PEALS.

Mrs. Fletcher moved the adoption of the Peals Analysis Committee's report, which was published in 'The Ringing World' of May 26th and June 2nd.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett seconded.

Mr. P. J. Johnson called attention to a paragraph in the report referring to 'the first "silent" peal of Kent Treble Bob-Royal (on handbells), rung by the Yorkshire Association, who also rang a non-conducted peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major.' The Double Norwich, he said, was both silent and non-conducted, and the association would like it noted. They held that a non-conducted peal had no virtue at all if it were not 'silent.'

The President said the Analysis Committee would be prepared to alter their report to fit in with the wishes expressed by Mr. Johnson, but unless a peal was silent it could not be non-conducted.

A member: Cannot someone put a trip right?

The President: That would be conducting. I may be old-fashioned, but I never dreamt that any peal would be published as 'silent' or 'non-conducted' if one single word was spoken or sign made (hear, hear). Any other interpretation is unthinkable to my mind.

Mr. Johnson: You can easily get over it by saying it was 'silent and non-conducted.'

Mr. C. T. Coles said a recent peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Birmingham was described, 'No bobs were called throughout this peal.' There were about two words spoken in the peal, otherwise it would have been 'non-conducted.' He considered it was the correct way to describe such a peal, 'no bobs were called.'

The President: I was struck with the honesty of the people who sent in the report.

Mr. A. Walker said it was intended that it should be a silent peal. Only two words were spoken, and as regards the bob bells there was no mistake, but he sent in the report to 'The Ringing World' with the footnote that 'no bobs were called.'

Mr. Johnson said the silent and non-conducted Double Norwich was a peal to be proud of, and they felt it was something about which the Council should draw a definite line. It was what they in Yorkshire held ought to be the definition of such a peal.

The President: That, I think, is what is generally accepted.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert said that bob calling was not necessarily conducting. A man might call every bob in the right place, but not be capable of getting the bells out of a muddle.

The report, with the necessary amendment, was adopted, and the committee re-elected as follows: Mrs. E. K. Fletcher (convener), Mr. G. R. Pye, Mr. G. L. Grover and Mr. C. Dean.

Dear Sir,—The report of the election of honorary members of the Central Council makes rather poor reading, and it is unlikely that the prestige of the Council will be much enhanced by the rather bitter treatment of one of its late honorary members.

One would imagine that the recommendations of such members as Canon H. J. Elsee and Alderman J. S. Pritchett would have been sufficient to sway the Council to act graciously in this particular case, and no doubt the individual concerned would have been prepared to make the amende honorable—but it would appear that the spiteful element in the Council gained the day.

I entirely concur with the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards' remarks, and agree that in 20 years' time, when these things come to be reviewed dispassionately, the Council could not be said to have dealt with this case in a really dignified way.

It is interesting to note from the discussion which took place on this matter that at last members are to be judged and elected according to 'what they have done on the Council!' I can readily appreciate that not a few of the members of this august body are already beginning to feel uncomfortable!

A letter from Mr. James George was received too late for insertion in this issue.—Editor, 'Ringing World.'

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Eastern and Western Districts of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Gateshead on Saturday, June 10th. Mr. R. L. Patterson, of Sunderland, presided over a short meeting after an excellent tea, and the Rector and churchwardens were thanked for the use of the bells, and the ladies for their kind services in connection with the tea.

The next meeting of the Western District is to be held at Tanfield on July 8th, and the Eastern District at Sunderland on July 22nd.

The association secretary announced that the Dean of Durham, Dr. Alington, had consented to address the members on the occasion of the annual festival at Durham on the 30th September, and the service is to be held in the Cathedral at 5 p.m. on that day. The new secretary of the Wednesday Guild, Mr. W. Sheraton, also announced that he was arranging for a meeting at Houghton-le-Spring on June 28th, and asked the members to make it as widely known as possible.

A JUBILEE CELEBRATED AT PENZANCE.

DR. SYMONS PROVIDES COMMEMORATION DINNER.

One of the most interesting events in the annals of Cornish ringing history took place at Penzance on Tuesday, June 6th, when Dr. Symons, president of the Truro Diocesan Guild, entertained a party of ringers and friends to dinner at the Western Hotel to commemorate the first peal in Cornwall by a resident band, rung 50 years ago—June 4th, 1883. There were present Canon F. R. Carr (Vicar of St. Mary's, Penzance), the Rev. C. E. S. Buckley (Vicar of Gulval), the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella (general secretary of the Guild), the Misses Symons, Dr. Godfrey Symons, Mr. A. S. Roberts, Mr. William Wood, the full company of Gulval ringers and Mr. George Sellers, who, apart from Dr. Symons, is the only other surviving member of the band and who has reached the advanced age of 89.

After an excellent repast, Dr. Symons, in proposing the health of Canon Carr, gave a most interesting account of the early ringing history at Penzance. He mentioned that the bells were opened in 1861, the first change ringing, Grandsire Doubles, was accomplished in 1866, the first quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 1872 and a half-peal in the same method in 1873. Up to this time the band had been under the leadership of Col. Trelawney. In 1879 came a change in the leadership, and they started practising hard to score a peal. Early in 1883 they rang 4,000 Grandsire Triples in 2 hours 36 minutes just by way of practice; they did not want to ring a peal that day. On June 4th, 1883, came the great accomplishment, and they scored the long desired peal, the tenor being rung by the curate at that time, the Rev. Berry, who rang excellently, but who went home and went straight to bed. 'And when do you think he got up?' asked Dr. Symons. 'Thursday morning.' This peal when known brought them several visitors of fame, as in time Col. Troyte, Wm. Bannister and John Carter visited them.

Dr. Symons thanked Canon Carr for his assistance in the recent restoration of the bells and for allowing the Gulval band to ring at St. Mary's on the first Sunday in each month. He then read portions of a most interesting letter which he had received many years ago from Squire Leonard Proctor, in which he related the story of a visit to Mr. (afterwards Sir) A. P. Heywood, and described the wonderful ringing and enthusiasm which he found at Duffield. He mentioned an attempt for a peal of Treble Bob at that church and how the tenor man was tripped off the box by the rope, knocking over the seventh ringer.

Replying, Canon Carr thanked Dr. Symons for all he had said. He was not a ringer himself, but nevertheless had not shirked trying to learn several years ago, when Vicar of Kea, but the bell had got the better of him. He mentioned there was still a small balance to be met on St. Mary's bells, and hoped the Guild might be able to do something to reduce it.

Dr. Symons then proposed the health of Mr. A. S. Roberts, who had conducted a peal at St. Mary's on Easter Monday, and with this he coupled the name of the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella.

Both replied, the former remarking that it was splendid to have a link with the peal rung 50 years previously by the fact that Miss Eileen Symons took part on Easter Monday last.

During the evening songs were rendered by the Rev. C. E. S. Buckley and humorous stories told by Drs. J. and G. Symons, whilst Mr. George Sellers, despite his great age, delighted the company with his own poem, 'St. Mary's bells.'

EARLY STRUGGLES.

In the late seventies, residing in the historic town of Stratton, situated 'far from the madding crowd' in the extreme north of Cornwall, and destitute of all such amusements as 'pictures' and 'jazz,' bellringing appealed to Dr. Symons as an attractive pastime on the old peal of six by Pennington in 1778, subsequently augmented to the octave by a new treble and tenor from the Whitechapel Foundry in 1878.

Rounds and call changes, rising and falling in peal were alone practised on the church bells, and Dr. Symons' first introduction to change ringing was by coming across Hubbard's 'Campanologia,' from the study of which various touches of Bob Major were accomplished by 'tapping' on handbells.

DR. JOHN SYMONS.

NEW BELLS FOR MOULTON.

MEMORIAL TO MISSIONS PIONEER.

The Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild held their annual meeting at Moulton on Saturday, June 10th. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and at the service Canon A. Nugee, of Little Houghton, was the preacher, the Rev. J. White, of Pitsford, Rural Dean, read the prayers, while Dr. S. Madge, of London, read the lessons, the last named being the donor of one of the new bells, which arrived on June 1st from Taylors' Foundry, Loughborough. The Vicar (the Rev. J. M. Turner), with his band of handbell ringers, led the singing on the four octave set of bells, accompanied by Mr. W. Busby on the organ. There was a large congregation, ringers coming in from all parts. The Rev. Nugee preached an impressive sermon from I. Corinthians, 4, 7: 'What hast thou that thou didst not receive?'

An excellent tea was arranged by the ladies in the Church Room, Mr. Weaver, Vicar's warden, paying expenses, so as to make a clear profit, which will be devoted to the new bell. The Rev. Canon J. P. Fred, Rural Dean, from Collingtree, and the Rev. R. H. Palmer, of Brafield, were present.

After tea, at which the grace was sung to the music of the handbells, the Vicar invited the Guild to hold their business meeting on the Vicarage lawn, whereupon they streamed from the room to that pleasant meeting place. Mr. F. Wilford, Master Ringer of the Diocese, was present at this meeting.

Mr. J. Dean was elected Branch Master Ringer for the year, Mr. J. Taylor resigning, to the regret of the meeting.

A vote of thanks was proposed to Dr. Sidney Madge for his kind gift of the new treble bell, which he wishes to be dedicated to William Carey, the great pioneer of modern missions, who was Baptist pastor at Moulton, where he thought out his schemes of world evangelisation. The centenary of his death is June 9th, 1834.—This was seconded by Mr. F. Browning, the Guild secretary, and supported by the two churchwardens, Messrs. F. Weaver and G. Smart, who were present, and the vote carried with acclamation.

Dr. Madge responded with a most interesting speech on the Moulton bells and Dr. William Carey.

Ringing was then resumed in the belfry, while handbell experts indulged in change ringing on the lawn.

The new bells were on view and the following are the inscriptions:—
No. 1.—Ad maiorem Dei gloriam et in memoriam illustrissimi viri Guilelmi Carey ejus animum dulci sono pervenire solebant antiquae campanae Moultonenses hanc novam dono dedit S. J. Madge MCXXXIII.

(Composer's translation) To the greater glory of God and in memory of the illustrious Doctor William Carey, whose soul was often stirred by the sweet sound of the old bells of Moulton, this new bell has been given by S. J. Madge, 1933.
No. 2.—Motto of William Carey (died June 9th, 1834).

Young people
Expect great things from God.
Remember.
Attempt great things for God.
Carey.

The initials form Carey's name reversed.

GORSEINON.—At St. Catherine's Church on Saturday, June 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: G. Howell 1, J. Hanson 2, Reg Robbins 3, R. Baird 4, A. W. Dobbins 5, W. Dobbins 6, J. Williams (conductor) 7, C. Pettit 8. Rung with the bells deeply muffled as a last mark of respect to the late Charles Wallace, a promising young local ringer and a member of the Swansea and Brecon Guild.

Migrating in 1879 to his native town, the ancient and westernmost borough of Penzance, the opportunity of becoming associated with the band at St. Mary's, with eight bells by Taylor, 1865, was embraced. Not being satisfied with the ever repeating plain course of Grandsire Triples, a little more enthusiasm was infused into the band, and with the assistance and guidance of Col. H. R. Trelawney, an old change ringer, some longer touches and even quarter-peals were soon accomplished.

The ambition of every change ringer is to accomplish the full extent of changes on their peal of bells, and with a steady and unaided perseverance their efforts culminated on June 4th, 1883, in a 5,040 of Grandsire Triples, as the first peal rung in the county of Cornwall and by an entirely new band.

Frequent and valuable assistance in the practice of Stedman and other methods were willingly accorded by William Banister, Col. C. A. Troyte, John Carter and many others, whose memory is ever revered by the sole survivors of the first peal.

On Whit Sunday, June 4th, at the Truro Cathedral Church, for festal evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 52 minutes: Miss E. Robinson 1, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 2, Miss L. Willoughby 3, A. S. Roberts (conductor) 4, H. Williams 5, F. W. Marshall 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, H. Stephens 8. This was rung as a compliment to Dr. J. Symons, president of the Diocesan Guild, on the fiftieth anniversary of the first peal rung in Cornwall by a resident band on June 4th, 1883.

A CHURCH COUNCIL'S DECISION.

RINGERS TO BE CHARGED FOR USE OF BELLS.

Between 50 and 60 ringers were present at Sevenoaks at a meeting of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association on Saturday, when they received a welcome from the Rector and were entertained to tea by Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Taylor. The towers represented were Benenden, Horsmonden, Shipbourne, Crayford, Leigh, East Peckham, Seal Chart, Bromley, Merstham, Tonbridge Wells, Lamberhurst, Rainham, Tonbridge, Beckenham, Chislehurst, Penshurst, Brasted, Cranbrook, Buckfastleigh (Devon), etc.

The ringing during the day included methods from Grandsire up to London Surprise. The majority of the present bells date from 1769, when they were put in by the Whitechapel Foundry, and the first recorded peal on them was one in which James Barham took part. The lofty tower dates from about 1450, but other portions of the church go back to the latter part of the 13th century.

The association's form of service was conducted by the Vicar, who dealt in his address with the ministry of ringers.

Tea in the Church Hall was served by Mrs. Taylor, assisted by a number of helpers, including Mrs. E. H. Lewis. Mr. Lewis, who is a vice-president of the Kent County Association as well as president of the Central Council, presided, and among those present were the Ven. Archdeacon of Tonbridge and the Rector of Sevenoaks.

An interesting matter arising out of the business was further correspondence in connection with a decision of the Church Council at Brenchley to charge visiting ringers 5s. for the use of the bells, to limit the period of ringing to two hours and the number of visits to six per year. The district had taken the matter up through the general secretary of the association (Mr. F. M. Mitchell), who now wrote that he had been successful in getting the time limit of two hours extended so as to allow of peals being rung, but the decision to charge 5s. per visit for the use of the bells was unaltered. 'To get the time limit altered is something to be thankful for,' Mr. Mitchell added.

Mr. G. B. Lucas, of Walthamstow, was elected a non-resident life member, and the election of Mr. F. B. Smeaton prior to a peal was confirmed.

A vote of thanks to the Rector and his curate, to the organist and to Dr. and Mrs. Taylor for their hospitality and to their helpers was cordially passed.

A CAUSE OF BAD RINGING.

Mr. Latter, the district secretary, thanked Mr. Ford, the local secretary, for the arrangements made, and, in thanking Mr. Lewis for presiding, announced that the next meeting would be held at Brasted on July 15th, when Mr. Lewis had kindly promised to entertain them to tea.

Mr. Lewis, replying to the vote of thanks, hoped the members would manage to get to Brasted, where they had a peal of six, which, thanks to the sympathetic method in which Mr. Hughes, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, had tuned them, had been made into a very nice ring indeed. Mr. Lewis referred to the forthcoming publication by the Central Council of the pamphlet on how to handle a bell rope, and hoped it would be widely distributed in Kent, where, from his experience, such instruction as it would give was much needed. The pamphlet was to be published at 2d. There were, he said, complaints from the public in these days about the ringing of church bells, and some fear that legislation might be passed restricting ringing. The best counter action they, as ringers, could take was to ensure that, when they did ring, their striking was accurate. That was only to be achieved by the correct handling of the ropes. There was too much ringing with ropes too long at the tail and sallies too low. If steeplekeepers would keep the sallies well up and the rope end short, people would have to ring with their arms at full stretch and in that way would have full control of the bell. Many ringers rang with bent arms, and that was one of the things which produced bad striking. Mr. Lewis added that he hoped the associations would make arrangements to buy the pamphlet in bulk and distribute it to their members.

BRISTOL RINGERS' WELCOME TO NEW BISHOP.

On Sunday, June 11th, at St. Ambrose's Church, Bristol, after evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following members of the St. Ambrose Guild: A. C. Baker 1, A. Knight 2, Mrs. F. Skidmore (first quarter-peal 'inside') 3, F. Skidmore 4, A. T. Maggs (conductor) 5, S. Phillips 6, J. G. Jefferies 7, G. S. Wiltshire 8. This quarter-peal was attempted on Friday, June 9th, but came to grief through a rope breaking half-way through. It was arranged as a welcome to the newly-appointed Bishop (Canon C. S. Woodward, M.A.), who was enthroned at Bristol Cathedral on June 9th.

OXFORD SOCIETY OUTING.

The Oxford Society visited Frome, Mere, Westbury and Newbury for their annual outing on Whit Monday. They were very kindly received at all the towers, and rang touches in various methods. At East Garston the party was met by the Misses Jenkyn, who much appreciated a tribute of respect paid to the memory of their brother when four members of the society rang a course of Grandsire Triples over his grave.

AN 'IMPOSSIBLE' TOWER.

SILENT LONDON PEAL TO BE CHIMED.

On Saturday, May 20th, the back six of the ring of eight at St. Michael and All Angels, Star Street, Paddington, one of London's 'impossible' towers, were rung by the following: R. H. Dove 1, R. Davies 2, F. G. Woodiss 3, C. H. Kippin 4, E. G. Talbot 5, D. Cooper 6. Anxious as to the safety of the tower, also the difficulties of ringing, limited the ringing to plain courses of Grandsire Doubles and Rob Minor.

Although the bell-chamber is only 10ft. by 14ft. and the brick walls barely 2ft. thick, nevertheless, a ring of eight (by Warner, 1851), with a tenor, is hung in a massive two-tier structure 'four on four,' 70ft. above the ground, and it is not to be wondered at that the tower 'rolls' badly under the strain, especially as all the bells swing in one direction. The band do not recommend this as an ideal tower for a long peal, nor for a summer meeting. The ringing room has no means of ventilation except via the staircase, and there is only one tiny window on a level with the floor.

As on the day in question the temperature was in the region of the eighties in the shade and the electric light in the tower fused, ringing conditions could hardly be described as comfortable. To enable the bells to be heard it has been decided to install a chiming apparatus (by Taylor and Co.), which will at any rate be an improvement on one bell 'clocked' as at present, for the expense of making this tower fit for ringing is beyond the means of a poor parish. Other 'tower grabbers' who may wish to visit this church should bear in mind that they must provide their own ropes.

DEATH OF A SEDBERGH RINGER.

Sedbergh mourns the death of its oldest ringer, Mr. W. Pennington, which occurred on June 4th at the age of 80 years. When the bells were opened in 1897 he became a ringer and took on the duties of steeplekeeper, which he performed until seven years ago, when, to his infinite regret, he was obliged to resign owing to ill-health. He consoled himself with the thought that his two sons were regular ringers, and lately was very much pleased when his granddaughter, Miss Harrison, took up ringing and joined the band. He rang a few peals, but his best effort was in February, 1909, when he took part in eight different methods for the eight services in that month. His favourite methods were Sledman and Superlative, and he was always keen and ready to tackle a new method. He was greatly loved and respected by all.

The funeral took place on June 7th and was taken by the Vicar, Canon Walker, assisted by the Rev. A. J. K. Martyn. Four ringers acted as bearers. In the evening a 720 Bob Minor was rung with bells deeply muffled by H. Dawson 1, J. Smith 2, T. Sisson 3, H. Haresnapo 4, E. Jennings 5, G. F. Woodhouse (conductor) 6.

GAINSBOROUGH RINGERS' OUTING.

The thirteenth annual outing of the Gainsborough Parish Church ringers was held on Whit Monday. The first call was made at Boston, where, after looking round the beautiful church, the ringing members of the party climbed the famous 'Stump,' and change ringing was indulged in on the new peal of ten bells, which have recently been recast and hung on ball bearings. The next call was Holbeach, and as the weather was rather hot and the bells did not go too well, everyone was quite ready to leave at the appointed time.

Edenham was reached in the afternoon. On this splendid ring of eight various methods, which included Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise, were rung. Tea was taken at the old-fashioned Greyhound Inn. Afterwards the handbells were rung on the lawn and later the tower bells were set going. Home was reached about 11 o'clock, after a most enjoyable and successful outing.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

TOWCESTER BRANCH.

By kind invitation of the Rev. R. Howes, hon. secretary of the Towcester Branch, the annual meeting of the branch was held at Cold Higham on Saturday, June 10th. The bells, a handy ring of six, were available from 11 a.m., and were made good use of during the day. Luncheon was partaken of in the Schoolroom, after which the business meeting was held. The officers were re-elected and places of quarterly meetings arranged for the next year. The Rev. J. T. Russell, vice-principal of Cuddesdon College, preached an admirable sermon at the subsequent service.

Thanks are due to the Rev. R. Howes for his hospitality and arrangements.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

On Tuesday, May 27th, members of the local company, assisted by ringers from Lavenham, met at the Church of St. Lawrence, Little Walsingham, Suffolk, and rang several six-scores of Plain, Old Bob, St. Simon's and Grandsire Doubles to celebrate the 65th birthday of Mr. Walter Head, captain of the local band. Those taking part were S. H. and D. A. Symonds and L. Fryke (Lavenham), W. Head, H. Day, J. Andrews and B. Cornell (Little Walsingham). The party were afterwards entertained to supper by Mr. and Mrs. W. Head, which was followed by handbell ringing, in which a lady ringer, Mrs. Griggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Head, took part.

'SILENT' PEALS.

A short but none the less important discussion arose unexpectedly at the Central Council meeting, on the subject of 'silent' peals, and it ventilated a matter that it is just as well should be made clear. The Analysis Committee had recorded as 'non-conducted' a peal of Double Norwich Major rung on handbells by the Yorkshire Association; the association asked that it should be recorded as 'silent and non-conducted.' Ringing terms and descriptions are notoriously 'loose'; they have grown up out of use among men who paid little heed, in many cases, to the subsequent construction which might be put upon them; or they have been employed with varying meanings among different people. 'Silent' and 'non-conducted,' as applied to peals, have been regarded by most ringers as synonymous terms, but that there is room for the belief that there is a difference between them is manifest from the request of the Yorkshire representatives. A 'silent' peal is obviously 'non-conducted,' for any spoken word breaks the 'silence,' but, presumably, not everyone looks upon a 'non-conducted' peal as necessarily silent; in other words, they consider 'non-conducted' as indicating that no bobs are called, but that trips may be corrected. Although we imagine the majority of ringers do not accept this view, it is pretty clear that it exists, and as the Council have definitions of many things concerning peals, they might make clear what is to be understood by 'silent' and 'non-conducted,' and what, if any, difference there is between them.

And this leads us to another matter. A great deal of extra merit attaches to a 'silent' peal, and even a peal in which no bobs are called is worthy of a good deal more credit than an ordinary performance. In view of the standard which has been reached by many bands, we wonder why there are not more peals attempted without the services of a 'conductor.' Many peals are now rung by bands, the members of which are all capable of calling. It is an established practice that someone shall be deputed to call the bobs, but we imagine there would be a good deal more interest if all the band had to 'call' their own peal. No one denies the fact that 'conducting' in the true sense requires more knowledge of a method than the mere ability to ring it; therefore non-conducted peals ought to raise the standard of method knowledge. It would give the mentally 'lazy' ringer more to think about; and the ringer who is anxious to learn more would be given the opportunity of doing so. We do not for a moment suggest that 'silent' peal ringing could be generally adopted, but if those bands—and there are quite a number about the country—who are really capable of peal ringing on these lines, whether it is Plain Bob or London Surprise, would sometimes adopt the plan they would be pushing still further forward the advance trenches of achievement. Spliced-method ringing is receiving considerable attention; it is a distinct step forward. Peals rung without a bob caller; and, in a still greater degree, 'silent' peals would, if more widely practised, be yet another sign of progress. The loss of a few more peals in the process would be as nothing to the extra merit which would reward success.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION MEETING AT HEPTONSTALL.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Heptonstall on Saturday, June 10th. Although there had been a considerable cooling off in the weather, about 30 members took the advantage of being able to ring on this fine peal of bells, made famous by the long peal of Treble Bob and the unsuccessful long peal of Double Norwich. The towers represented were Armley, Almondbury, Brighouse, Bradford Cathedral, Drighlington, Holbeck, Halifax, Keighley, Leeds, Lindley, Northowram, Pudsey, Queensbury, Selsden and the local company. Friends from Cross Stone, Todmorden, Milnrow and Bolton were also welcomed. The bells were kept going in the afternoon in various methods from Grandsire to Superlative Surprise, and a bounteous tea was served in the schools.

The business meeting followed. Owing to a family bereavement, Mr. P. J. Johnson was unable to be present, and Mr. J. Cotterell occupied the chair, and the secretary was requested to send a letter of condolence to Mr. Johnson.

Mr. J. Heaton, of Selsden, was the only new member to be elected. An invitation to hold the September meeting at Ilkley was accepted. Mr. J. Cotterell proposed and Mr. J. F. Smallwood seconded that the best thanks of the meeting be accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood, in proposing a vote of thanks to the local company, spoke of the pleasure it had given him to be able to be present, and assured them that the bells were worthy of all the good things he had heard about them.—Mr. F. Robertshaw responded for the local company and assured the meeting of a hearty welcome any time they wished to visit Heptonstall again.

This concluded the meeting, and the tower was again visited for further ringing.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.

JUBILEE MEETING.

This is the jubilee year of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. Reference to this auspicious event was made at the annual meeting on Saturday week, and a dinner in celebration is to be held later in the year. In the course of the 50 years there have been five presidents, but only three lay secretaries. The first was Mr. W. A. Wood (1883-5), who is now Mayor of Lichfield and was present to give the society a welcome to the city for their jubilee meeting. The second lay secretary was Mr. Samuel Reeves (1885-1908), and the present secretary Mr. Herbert Knight, who has given 25 years' service, is the third.

The number of members on the books at the end of the first year of the society was 65, and one life member; to-day there are something like 280 ringing and 210 life members; but alas! the number of hon. members is deplorably low, there being only seven, whereas in the second year the number was 22. The first Ringing Master of the society was Mr. James E. Groves, who was elected in 1907, and held office until 1910. Those who succeeded him were: Thomas J. Elton from 1910-12, George Hughes 1912-14, William Fisher 1914-22, Thomas J. Elton (second time) 1922-26, Christopher Wallater 1926-27, Robert Pickering 1927-28, John C. Adams 1928-29, John Perry 1929-30, William A. Cooper 1930-31, John Warilow 1931-32, and Robert Pickering (second time) 1932-33.

The annual meeting, held at Lichfield, proved to be quite a success, more than 100 being present. Besides a good representation from affiliated towers in the Archdeaconry, there were visitors from Harlow (Essex), Coalbrookdale, Coventry, Stoke, Northampton, Birmingham, Derby, Loughborough, Old Hill, etc. The bells of the city—the Cathedral, St. Mary's and St. Michael's—were made good use of during the afternoon and evening.

The service in the Cathedral was impressive. The first lesson was read by the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th. (clerical secretary and treasurer of the society), and the second by the Very Rev. Dean Savage. In his address the Dean took for his text, 'It is a day of blowing trumpets unto you,' Num. 29, 1. He likened the ringing of bells to-day—for great national events—to the trumpets of the days of pre-Christianity. He also spoke of the beginning of change ringing—of Fabian Stedman and the 'sixes,' and remarked that his hearers might smile at that to-day, in the present advanced stage of the science. 'Scientific change ringing is a real church work,' he said; 'it is a great service, a service of real art and to the glory of God.' In conclusion, the Dean congratulated the members upon having a society which had lasted for 50 years, and hoped that many of the younger ones present might live to see the centenary celebration.

WELCOME TO THE MAYOR AND THE DEAN.

A beautiful tea was prepared in St. Mary's Parish Hall by Mrs. Cresswell (wife of the Rev. H. J. Cresswell, Vicar of St. Mary's) and a band of willing helpers. Before tea was begun, his Worship the Mayor (Alderman W. A. Wood) addressed the assembly. After giving the company a welcome to Lichfield, he recalled the fact that for the first two years of the society's existence he was the lay secretary. He also gave a brief summary of his ringing in those far-off days, and remarked that he knew of no work which was so keenly done by individuals as bellringing. He was sorry he could not stay for the tea, as he had some other duties to attend to.

Not long after the departure of the Mayor, the Dean arrived, and stated that he would like to say how heartily glad he was to welcome the society. He explained how difficult it was to 'hold the balance'—inferring that the bells were somewhat disturbing to those who lived in close proximity—hence the curtailing of the use of the Cathedral bells. He concluded by saying he hoped the members would have a really good day. He, too, apologised for not being able to stay any longer, as he had five or six hours' work to do before Sunday morning.

At the general meeting, which followed tea, the Ven. Archdeacon Bright presided. After the report and statement of accounts had been read, the Archdeacon moved the adoption of both, which were received with applause. He congratulated the members on holding the jubilee celebration, and totalled up the presidents since the inception of the society. They were Archdeacons Isles, Scott, Hodson, Blakeway and himself. He struck an average of each one's office, viz., ten years, and as he had done his 'quota,' he considered his time was up (laughter).

Three officers were re-elected, except the Ringing Master, Mr. Robert Pickering, who retired. There were three nominations for this office, and, on a show of hands, Mr. Bert Horton was declared elected.

The following places were chosen for the coming meetings: Bloxwich in September; Coseley, January; Brewood, April; and Lichfield (annual), June.

It was resolved that a dinner be arranged to take place in October in connection with the jubilee celebration.

A vote of thanks to the Archdeacon for his presence in the chair, and to Mrs. Cresswell for catering, brought forth applause. In reply, the Archdeacon invited all to visit his garden, which many did.

The committee in their report referred to the meetings held during the year, and expressed gratitude to the various incumbents for so readily granting the use of their bells, and for the helpful addresses given by them. Bell restoration had taken place at Tamworth, where the front seven had been recast and the whole octave hung in

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DORCHESTER BRANCH INVITATION MEETING AT BERE REGIS.

Through the kind invitation of Mr. Wm. Bedford—an hon. life member of the Salisbury Guild—members attended a special meeting at Bere Regis on Saturday, June 17th. The bells were available during the afternoon, and some good practice was obtained by the learners. The Guild service was held in the famous church, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. W. Taylor), the address being given by the Rev. A. S. Bryant (Rector of Upwey). After the service, tea, kindly provided by Mr. Bedford, was partaken of at the Village Hall, the chair being taken by the Rev. E. S. Tarrant (Vicar of Wool and chairman of the branch). The party numbered over 70, including representatives of the Dorchester branch from Bere Regis, Buckland Newton, Dorchester, Puddletown, Upwey, Wool and Wyke Regis, West Dorset branch from Bridport and Evershot, Wimborne branch from Bourne-mouth and Poole, and North Dorset branch from Kingston Magna. Among others present were Messrs. A. A. Hughes (Mears and Stainbank, London), J. H. Shepherd (Swindon) and I. Setter (Yeovil). Among the apologies for absence was one from the Master (the Rev. R. H. Gundry), who was taking the opportunity to go to the joint meeting of the Devizes and Salisbury branches at Amesbury.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed on the motion of the chairman, seconded by the Rev. A. S. Bryant, to Mr. Bedford for his kind invitation to Bere Regis, his hospitality in providing the tea, and for the great interest he takes in the Guild and his own band, and, following this, he was going to conduct the members over his wonderful extensive gardens.

Hearty votes of thanks were also expressed to the Vicar for conducting the service, to the Rev. A. S. Bryant for giving such an original address, to the organist, choir and blower.

Replying, Mr. Bedford welcomed the members, and mentioned he was proud of the fact of the service of the present ringers, which was: T. Boyte, 41 years; P. Hewitt, 40 years; I. Miller, 40 years; J. Jones, 38 years; G. Farr, 33 years; A. Jones (steeplekeeper), 22 years; H. Pitfield, 12 years; E. Rawbone, 6 years; J. Cleall, 6 years; H. Hann, 2 years. Mr. Bedford also gave details of the inscriptions and weight of the bells: Treble (no weight stated), inscription 'Pax,' 1919, Mears and Stainbank; 2nd, weight 8 cwt. 12 lb., inscription 'Although I am but small, I be heard among them all. A. L., J. D., C.W. Anno Domini, 1656. Anthony Lamb, John Daw, churchwardens'; 3rd, 10 cwt. 2 qr. 6 lb., inscription, Taylor and Co., Bell Founders, Loughborough, 1875 (this bell was recast); 4th, 10 cwt. 1 qr. 26 lb., inscription, 'Praise the Lord'; 5th, 13 cwt. 3 qr., inscription, 'Robert Frampton, Thomas Frampton, Thomas Knight, William Knight, Anno Domini, 1709'; tenor, 18 cwt. 2 qr. 17 lb., inscription, 'Justergen Ekins and John Haggard, Churchwardens, Job Augherlouy, Vicar: the gift of Mary Dyot. Clement Toscar cast me in 1698.' A warm welcome was extended to all the visitors, and Mr. A. A. Hughes replied on their behalf. They were fortunate, he said, in having such a man as Mr. Bedford, and he was always struck with the kindness and hospitality he always met with in their beautiful county of Dorset.

The meeting ended, the party was conducted round the famous farms and gardens of Messrs. Bedford and Jesty, where agriculture and horticulture dovetail one with the other. Strawberries, black currants, apples and pears, cultivated blackberries and a large acreage of watercress beds keep something like 200 employees in full work right through the year.

Good practice was obtained until late in the evening with the able assistance of Messrs. W. Shute and J. Ralph (North Dorset Branch), Miss M. White and Mr. A. Rose (Wimborne Branch) and Mr. A. A. Hughes. One party went on to Milton Abbey, while others rang at Puddletown. Thus ended a memorable meeting.

The quarterly meeting of the branch will be held at Wyke Regis on Saturday, July 15th, and due notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

CORONATION DAY.

On Thursday, June 22nd, at St. Andrew's Church, Farnham, in celebration of Coronation Day, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Boh Major (1,280 changes): C. Edwards 1, Miss H. F. Mills 2, J. Read 3, C. Wells 4, T. Upshall 5, F. Kemp 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, G. Upshall 8. On Friday, June 23rd, in honour of the birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, 504 Stedman Triples.

a new iron frame. Bloxwich eight had also been relung. Gradually much-needed restorations were being accomplished, but there were several more places where the bellhanger's services were desirable. The committee were fully aware of the difficulties of raising funds for this work—especially at this time when there is so much distress—and hoped that ere long times would be brighter and the desired improvements would be made.

The number of peals rung during the year was 33 and the conducting had been shared by 12 members. Those who had rung their first peals numbered eight. The committee recorded with regret the death of John William Perry, of Brewood; Edward F. Mitchell, of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton; Albert E. Parsons, of Old Hill; and Henry W. Wilde, of Pulford.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. NORTHERN BRANCH.

A Grimsby district meeting was held at Barton-on-Humber on Saturday, June 10th when a large number attended and enjoyed a ring on the fine peal of eight, a light ring, but very musical, hung in the ancient old Church of St. Peter. The bells were kept going during the afternoon and also after the meeting. The service was conducted by the curate, who gave the members an interesting address. Mr. H. Rushby presided at the organ. After service tea was served in the assembly rooms, 46 members and friends sitting down. Towers represented were Bigby, Barton-on-Stather, Ulceby, Thornton Curtis, Scunthorpe, Killingholme, Barrow-on-Humber. Unattached members from Grimsby, the Rev. G. H. Legge, of Killingholme, Dr. F. P. H. Birtwhistle, of Barton-on-Humber, Messrs. G. Williams and Hobson, of Hull, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bramwell, of Cleethorpes, Mrs. Rushby and the local ringers were also present.

The president of the district (the Rev. Canon H. T. Parry) presided over the meeting, at which four new members were elected from Scunthorpe and Barton-on-Humber.

The district bell fund collection was given to the Rev. Law James Memorial Fund.

The president gave the members an outline of the proceedings at the Central Council meeting.

The Vicar of Barton (the Rev. W. E. Varah) spoke on the coming centenary celebration of the Oxford Movement, and said that ringers had that movement to thank for the conditions of the churches and belfries as they are to-day. He hoped peals would be rung in honour of the great men who started the movement and those who carried it on.

Mr. J. Bray proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the curate for conducting the service, Mr. Rushby for playing the organ and Mr. Bramwell for acting as blower; to the caterers and all who had made the arrangements. Mr. Martin Walker proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the president for taking the chair. Afterwards the members adjourned to the tower for further ringing. The next meeting is on Saturday, July 15th, at Thornton Curtis. Particulars will be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

FIRST LOCAL C.E.M.S. QUARTER-PEAL IN WALES.

The first quarter-peal by a local band of C.E.M.S. members in Wales was rung at St. Peter's Church, Pentre Rhondda, on Saturday. This was Kent Treble Bob Major by H. Crabbe 1, W. Palmer 2, W. Cross 3, G. Palmer 4, G. Wines 5, H. Davies (conductor) 6, J. Lovett 7, F. Lasbury 8.

UP FOR T' COUNCIL.

YORKSHIRE VISITORS TO ST. ALBANS.

A party of Yorkshire ringers spent a very pleasant week-end at St. Albans, prior to attending the Central Council meeting in London on Tuesday, June 6th. The party was arranged by Mr. Maude, of Pudsey, and consisted of the following members: Mr. and Mrs. Maude, Mr. and Mrs. Cotterell (Bradford), Mr. Hardcastle (Bradford), Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, Leeds, Mr. Fearnley (York), Mr. and Miss Naylor (Lightcliffe), Mr. Pratt (Calverley) and Mr. Austin (Gloucester).

Ringling commenced at St. Peter's, where the local company had arranged for the visitors to ring at 8.15 p.m. for the King's birthday, and the local company at the Abbey had also arranged for the visitors to ring for morning service, when several touches were brought round.

Mr. Walter Ayre invited all the visitors to tea on Sunday afternoon at his home at Leverstock Green (which was rather 'rough' on his good lady, owing to her having such short notice), but when they arrived they found a real Yorkshire lady, with a real Yorkshire tea. After tea, handbell ringing was indulged in, and Mr. and Mrs. Ayre also entertained the visitors with some songs, which were greatly appreciated. The party's best thanks are tendered to both for their kindness.

Mr. Debenham, jun., had kindly made arrangements for a tour on the Monday, when Harpenden, Luton and Dunstable were visited, and touches in various methods were rung at each place. Mr. Debenham acted as guide, and a splendid guide he made, as he took no risks and landed the party safely back at St. Albans at 6 p.m. They had intended visiting Hemel Hempstead, but, owing to lack of time, this had to be cut out.

Mr. Debenham, sen., kindly invited all the party to dinner at his home in the evening, when they sat down to a sumptuous repast. After dinner was over, there was handbell ringing on the lawn, which was led by Mr. Ayre, Mr. Debenham taking a pair in a touch of Grandsire Caters, and, although he has not rung handbells for a considerable time, proved that he could still ring well.

The party wish to tender their best thanks to Mr. and Miss Debenham for their kindness in giving them such a hearty welcome. They also wish to thank the Vicars at various churches and all the members of the local companies who met them and had the bells in readiness. Some of the party were sorry they had not seen the member of the St. Peter's band who initiated them into the art of 'deep sea fishing' on their previous visit.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have been entrusted with the order to relang the heavy ring of twelve bells at the Church of St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, on ball bearings. The tower itself has recently been under restoration.

The 400th anniversary of the building of the church at Barton-under-Needwood, Staffs, was celebrated by a procession, with tableaux, etc., and drew together a large number of people from neighbouring towns and villages. A peal of Sledman Triples was also rung.

Ringers sometimes do funny things. Recently a party arranged to meet for a peal of Treble Bob at a tower in the North Midlands. When five of them arrived at the church, a wedding was in progress. They rested content until the ceremony was over and then wondered where the other three members of the band were? After talking matters over—how the absentees' ears must have burned!—the party found out they were at the wrong tower. The one they wanted was four miles further south! Eventually they reached the right tower three quarters of an hour late, but finished a very good peal just before service time.

Ringers who propose to attend the official opening of Bow Bells on Friday, July 7th, should note that the service will commence at 3.30 p.m. Applications for tickets for tea on Saturday, July 8th, must be made not later than Monday next. Full details will be found in our notice columns.

One of a celebrated family of ringing brothers, Mr. David G. Wightman, of Suffolk, has passed away at the age of 71 years.

MR. JAMES GEORGE AND THE COUNCIL.

A STATEMENT REPUDIATED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have carefully perused the account of the Central Council meeting in 'The Ringing World' of June 16th.

I am greatly hurt and surprised at the untruthful statement made by Mr. Coles. I have never thought such a thing, let alone told him or anyone else that I wished the Painswick ringing to be commemorated by a tablet. I challenge him to bring anyone forward who can TRUTHFULLY state that I have ever made such a statement, and I shall expect him to withdraw it. It is a pure invention on his part and was meant to do me an injury.

I have said, 'I object to various people calling it a "PEAL TABLET," as the word "PEAL" is not mentioned on it, and a note at the bottom should have been added that the composition was false, as it might be misleading to future generations.'

For the information of the Exercise I send you an extract from my letter to Mr. A. Wright on September 11th, 1932: 'I consider you have caused me sufficient pain by making me ring a false peal of such a length and cutting me out of the Central Council after 14 years as an honorary member through placing an unnecessary tablet in the belfry which I knew nothing about until after it was fixed.'

My jealous enemies (and I know them) can be counted on the fingers of one hand, but I have numerous kind and sincere friends, which is proved by this week's issue of 'The Ringing World.' I am deeply moved by the unexpectedly kind remarks of Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Mr. James Hunt, the Rev. F. L. Edwards and the Rev. Canon Elsec. I sincerely thank them, the Rev. H. Drake, who seconded my nomination, and the numerous members of the Central Council who voted for me on this occasion.

You will observe from my letter to Mr. Wright that I was ignorant of the tablet being fixed. If something could be done to get it either taken down or got my name erased from it I should be thankful.—Yours faithfully,
JAMES GEORGE.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The June meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held at Idle, near Bradford, on Saturday, June 24th, when about 20 ringers were present from Armley, Bradford Cathedral, Drighlington, Headingley (unattached), Northowram, Shipley, Sowerby Bridge and the local company. Ringing commenced about 3.30 p.m., and was continued until 9 o'clock. At the business meeting, held in the tower, Mr. C. E. Lawson was chairman, and it was decided that the next meeting should be held at Headingley (St. Chad's) on July 29th.

A vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens and the local company for allowing the use of the bells and for the general arrangements was proposed by Mr. H. Lofthouse and seconded by Mr. S. Batrop.—Mr. T. Hill (churchwarden and ringer) replied.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Central Branch was held at Chatteris, Cambs, on Saturday, June 24th. During afternoon and evening about twenty members were present, and some good practice in the following methods took place: London, York, Norwich and Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double and Single Oxford Bob, Double Court and Plain Bob, also 120 of Stedman Doubles. The Vicar (the Rev. E. Atkins) gave an inspiring address. He also welcomed the ringers to Chatteris. Mr. A. J. Abrams (local captain) saw to the needs of all, a measure of thanks being due to him for his interest.

The next meeting is to take place at Soham at an early date. Due notice will be given in the proper columns of 'The Ringing World.'

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

BELL BROKEN BY ELLACOMBE HAMMER.

The following report of the Towers and Belfries Committee was submitted by the President, the acting convener: During the year this committee has lost its convener by the death of the Rev. G. W. O. Jenkyn. In his position as Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild he was consulted in many cases of restoration in that diocese, and was always ready to give sound and practical advice to the local authorities. The committee has held no meetings because until late in the year no questions of principle had arisen in the various towers where the help of individual members was sought. The three remaining members of the committee gave evidence in at least 17 instances, in most cases after visiting the towers, in the remainder by correspondence. Recently two matters of principle have been raised, and it is desirable that the committee should consider them at an early date. A case has been reported where a bell has been completely broken in two by being rung with Ellacombe hammers in gear. Several other bells have been reported as chipped from the same cause. Until the question has been further considered, the committee would like to call attention to the need of an official being appointed who shall be responsible for seeing that Ellacombe hammers are left out of gear, in every tower where they are fitted. The other cause of damage which has been reported was due to the method sometimes employed of lowering bells out of a tower by means of tackle attached to the cast-in clapper staple, about which the committee wish to make further inquiry.

The President added that the Boston job had been completed practically as the committee recommended it should be done, and anyone who had rung there would agree it was quite successful. The Newbury restoration had rather tragic memories. It was one of the cases which he examined and recommended the addition of two new bells which would reduce, rather than increase, the motion of the tower. As they knew, the bells were put in and the effect on the tower was as predicted. It was after going to hear these new bells that Mr. Jenkyn suddenly passed away. There had been a case brought to their notice within the last fortnight where the question of deadening the sound of the bells had been held up for years because the local architect, who carried much weight with the clergy and churchwardens, said that if they closed the windows and confined the sound to the tower, it would disintegrate the walls of the belfry and soon damage the tower itself. He (the president) wrote back and pointed out, as politely as he could, that that was absolute bunkum (hear, hear, and laughter). They could block up the windows to within 3ft. of the top, and, if that was not enough, they could block them up altogether and open a hole in the roof. He believed the architect had now been outvoted by the parochial committee.

TOWERKEEPER'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Major J. H. B. Hesse (a member of the committee) referred to the case that had recently occurred of a bell being broken completely off through an Ellacombe hammer being left in gear. He wondered whether they, as a committee, with the help of the bellfounders, could ask people not to have chiming hammers put in. This case was in Somerset, where there was a complete family of Bilbie bells, all good. The history of those bells was now broken. They could get a new bell just as good, but it was not the same thing. His own grandfather was Rector at this church for 40 years, and arrangements had been made to have the bell recast. This case proved more than ever the necessity of instructing towerkeepers to see that all hammers were out of gear. He believed the late Mr. J. W. Taylor used to prefer to see bells clocked, if they were clocked properly. The chiming apparatus in this church would not go back, and they would swing-chime two bells if they could not get enough ringers. There was another case, said Major Hesse, in which a bell had been broken by being lowered out of a steeple by the crown staple. The bell was upside down and got a cross strain on the staple, which cracked the crown. He thought they might ask the bellfounders to watch this matter in future and see what they could do to stop it.

Mr. E. A. Young (also a member of the committee) said they must not stultify themselves over the question of 'clocking,' but there were other ways of chiming than by hammers. It was important that they should see if they could do something to prevent such a thing occurring again. Mr. Young added that he had inspected in two cases in Bedfordshire. In one case he was able to save a rather good oak frame, as far as the material was concerned, by recommending that it be turned upside down. The bells, which used to run anti-clockwise, now run clockwise.

Mr. C. F. Johnston said it was sometimes difficult to fit Ellacombe chiming hammers. There were many places where a parson wanted the bells rung on Sundays, but wanted the bells chimed in the week, and it sometimes took a little thinking out to evolve something which was nearly fool-proof. Meanwhile, he thought the bellfounders might collaborate to provide a clearer notice of warning in the tower to the effect that the hammers must be removed before the bells were swung. There were some machines where the hammers could be easily detached and some which were not so easy. Mr. Johnston said with regard to the accident in lowering a bell from the steeple that the person responsible ought to be speedily retired from the bellringing fraternity. Proceeding, he said he would like to express appreciation, as one who had had contact with the committee, of the helpfulness of the committee. On at least two occasions during the last four months they had been most useful. Mr. Lewis had been able to bridge the gulf between the bellfounder and the architect.

Canon Coleridge emphasised the need for care in regard to chiming apparatus, and instanced a case of many years ago where, after the apparatus had been put in, the new cords shrank in wet weather to such an extent that the hammers, although supposed to be out of gear, were against the bells.

ELLACOMBE HAMMERS SAFER THAN 'CLOCKING.'

Canon Elsee said Ellacombe hammers had saved a great number of bells from being cracked, whereas clocking had certainly been responsible for damage to a great many. As far as he knew, the actual number of cases of damage done by Ellacombe hammers was very small. Lovers of bells had a good deal of cause to be thankful to Canon Ellacombe for his invention, and, on the whole, they were as good a system for chiming as could be found.

The Rev. E. S. Powell suggested that the hammers should be fixed, as clock hammers were, to strike on the outside of the bell and be so arranged that they struck on the side contrary to the way in which the bell swung. It was, he believed, Canon Ellacombe himself who, at Clyst St. George, fitted the clock hammer on to the tenor so that the hammer never need be pulled off. They could raise the tenor without it touching the clock hammer at all.

Mr. Johnston said this might be possible, although it might take a little thinking out. It was a matter of leverages and might increase the work of the chimer considerably.

Mr. E. A. Young asked what happened when the bells were rung.

The Rev. E. S. Powell said he had never been into the bell chamber to see what happened to the hammer when the bells were rung.

Major J. H. B. Hesse: Isn't there a likelihood of its being broken off?

Mr. S. F. Palmer said they had experience of a tune playing apparatus at Sheffield Cathedral. Tunes were played every three hours and there was a great conglomeration of wires and hammers. Occasionally there was trouble and they would find a hammer broken. But they got over the difficulty. When the bells were taken down to be tuned and rehung they had to remove the chiming apparatus—and they forgot to put it back (laughter).

Mr. E. M. Atkins said when a chiming apparatus was installed it was a mistake to make the shanks of the hammers too strong. It was a point whether they could not be made of wood, as a stay was made. It was a mistake to think that chiming apparatus should be done away with. There were many occasions when the bells were needed and when it was impossible to get a band of ringers together. It would be wrong for the Council to put forward the suggestion.

Mr. J. W. Jones referred to a case in the Llandaff and Monmouth diocese where the incumbent had introduced the clocking system. He (Mr. Jones) had pointed out the danger of cracking the bells, but the incumbent had replied that it answered his purpose as well as having the bells rung. Further efforts failed to convince him, and he said that it was all piffle. What, asked Mr. Jones, did the Council suggest could be done in this case?

The President: I suggest you send him away for a holiday and forget to bring him back (laughter). The President went on to say that the Towers and Belfries Committee did not suggest doing away with Ellacombe hammers, but that the whole question be looked into. If the Council reappointed the committee, they would consider the subject and consult the bellfounders over it. The Standing Committee, he added, suggested that the committee (the president, Major Hesse and Mr. Young) be reappointed, with the addition of Mr. James Hunt, of the Bath and Wells Association.

This was agreed to, and Mr. Lewis was appointed convener.

THE STEDMAN MEMORIAL.

The hon. secretary presented the final report of the Stedman Tercentenary Commemoration Committee, and this consisted of a financial statement. At the last meeting of the Council, £50 13s. 6d., the balance of account, was owing to Mr. W. Sindall, the builder, and there were also outstanding the treasurer's expenses, £2 10s. At that time there was £19 8s. in hand, and since then £19 7s. had been received in subscriptions, 12s. by sale of ash trays and 5d. for postages. The accounts had been paid and there was now a deficit of £13 16s. 1d., which had been advanced by the Council. The whole statement of accounts was as follows: Receipts: Subscriptions and donations, £507 6s. 4d.; interest on bank deposits, £4 16s. 9d.; souvenir booklets, ash trays and blocks, less cost, £9 17s. 9d.; advanced by the Council, £13 16s. 1d.; total £535 16s. 11d. Expenses: J. Taylor and Co. (bellfounders), £289; W. Sindall (builder), £182 13s. 6d.; F. W. Troup (architect), £21 19s. 3d.; Birmingham Guild, Ltd. (for memorial tablet), £22 3s.; cost of faculty, £5 5s.; printing, etc., £6 9s. 6d.; hon. treasurer's expenses, £2 10s.; Commemoration Day expenses, £3 6s.; postages, £2 3s. 8d.; sundries, 8s.; total £535 16s. 11d.

The President, in proposing the adoption of the accounts, pointed out that the present position was that the Council had paid £13 16s. 1d. to square up the accounts. He proposed that the whole business be now closed by the Council voting this sum, and, if any further subscriptions were received, they should go into the Council's funds.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith seconded.

Mr. E. M. Atkins having raised the question of ringing on the Stedman bells at St. Benet's Church, Cambridge, the President said he understood the bells were available to anybody who wanted to ring them, but the difficulty was to find ringers. It was not what had been said about the ringing of the bells which was the cause of their not being rung. Other ringing in Cambridge had been almost closed down, and it was very difficult to get anything done. He had no doubt if things were more alive in Cambridge they would improve at St. Benedict's.

Mr. Atkins asked if the Council were satisfied that the bells were hung in such a way that beginners could be taught upon them? The impression had got about that the bells were hung in a very 'tender' way so that if the stay and slider were bumped there was a danger of breaking the canons, and that the committee had not done its job properly in seeing that the bells were properly hung.

The President said the committee were quite satisfied that the bells were properly hung. If reasonable care was exercised, there was no danger. Wherever they had got bells which were valuable, in fact, any bells at all, they should use discretion in teaching beginners, but, provided there was a thoroughly responsible person in charge, the committee saw no reason why beginners should not be instructed at St. Benedict's.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards: What has happened to the band that was being instructed there?

A BELLFINDER'S VIEWS.

Mr. E. Denison Taylor said he still protested against beginners being taught upon Stedman's bells. They were a very valuable relic from the past, and he did not think it was a place where beginners should be taught. They were old bells with canons and had been quarter turned, and there was a danger, if they were violently bumped, of breaking the canons off. He did not think it was a place at which to teach beginners.

Asked to explain the present position at St. Benedict's, Miss K. Willers, who was largely responsible for forming a band of learners at the church after the opening of the bells, said some of the pupils seemed to get on very well at first, but then got a bit slack. When they found the Council did not approve of beginners being taught on the bells, they felt a little discouraged and there was no ringing being done there now.

Mr. P. Johnson said it seemed to him a repetition of the story of the old lady who told the boy not to go near the water until he could swim. He had never had a single experience yet where a pupil he had been teaching had thrown a bell over. He thought it was largely a question of the tutor. That, said Mr. Johnson, is my personal opinion as a practical ringer. I don't speak as a bellhanger—thank heaven (laughter).

The President: Are you satisfied, Mr. Atkins?

Mr. Atkins: No, I am not. The Council should either endorse Mr. Taylor's remarks or do the opposite. They should say whether the bells should be closed on all but special occasions, or whether the Cambridge ringers should be encouraged to start again and be encouraged, also, by the fact of knowing they have the Council behind them in ringing for the Sunday service (hear, hear). That is what we restored the bells for (hear, hear). They put the bells back in the church, said Mr. Atkins, to be rung in the same way as the bells in any other church, and they, as a Council, should encourage the ringing of them by a local band. As long as the local people felt that the Council were against that view, they never would have a band there.

Mr. C. F. Johnston said there were canons and canons. Perhaps Mr. Taylor would tell them if the canons were specially liable to be broken off by rough usage. There were canons which, by normal use, took a lot of bumping off.

Mr. Taylor said he would not say that the canons at St. Benedict's were weaker than ordinary canons, but these bells were certainly more valuable than ordinary bells. They might ring them as much as they liked with a good band of ringers, but he stuck to his point that they should not have beginners practising on them.

Mr. J. Parker: If we do not have any beginners we shall soon have no ringers (hear, hear).

Mr. J. A. Trollope said, as far as he was concerned, the value of the bells entirely consisted of their use in the services of the church. So far as their historical value as a memorial to Fabian Stedman was concerned, there was a great deal of sentiment. There was not the slightest proof that Stedman ever went into the tower; it was more likely that he did most of his ringing at St. Mary's or at Holy Trinity. The only historical association between St. Benedict's and Stedman consisted of the statement, made nearly 200 years afterwards, that the College Youths visited Cambridge and rang Stedman's principle at St. Benedict's. As there were in Stedman's time eight bells at St. Mary's, he would think it a most extraordinary thing if Stedman did not do most of his ringing at Great St. Mary's, but they had to put their memorial somewhere, and it was as well in St. Benedict's tower as anywhere.

Mr. E. Denison Taylor said the present Bishop of Derby was formerly Vicar of St. Benedict's, Cambridge, and he did a great deal of searching among the records there. The Bishop had told him that Stedman's name was in the records there as being parish clerk and that he spelt his name Phabian.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith also stated that there was reliable information in the parish records that Stedman was parish clerk of St. Benedict's, which was pretty good evidence that Stedman rang at this church.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards hoped the Council would do something to encourage the beginners at St. Benedict's.

Mr. E. M. Atkins moved 'That this Council expresses the hope that the Stedman bells will be rung regularly to the glory of God by a local band of ringers.'

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards seconded.

Replying to Mr. W. Ayre, the President did not think it was entirely the remarks made by Mr. Taylor at Plymouth and at the Midland Counties Association meeting that was the cause of the trouble. There were apparently other local ringing troubles in Cambridge.

The motion was carried and the report adopted.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

The report of the Literature and Press Committee, read by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, was a lengthy document, which dealt first with the new text books on ringing published during the year. These included 'The Ringers' Handbook,' by the Rev. E. S. and Mrs. Powell, and 'Village Bells,' by the Rev. R. Howes, published specially for the beginner; and, for more advanced ringers, 'Cambridge Surprise,' by Mr. W. A. Cave, and 'Cambridge Minor and Major Simply Explained,' by K. Quick. The committee expressed the hope that the enterprise shown by these authors would reap the reward which their courage and labour, as well as their desire to forward the art of change ringing, deserve. A number of articles by experts, said the report, had appeared in various and sometimes unexpected quarters. Several events had occasioned references to bells and ringing in the Press at large, and such references as had come under notice had, for the most part, been of an accurate and favourable character. The removal of the canons from a bell in Wiltshire called forth a leading article in 'The Times,' which was followed up by considerable correspondence under the heading, 'Reconditioned bells.' The committee's report went on to refer to the strange refusal of the Crown Lands Commissioners to allow the erection of a bell in a new Roman Catholic Church at Mottingham, Kent, and quoted the Parliamentary questions which were asked. The explanation offered was that the restriction was only imposed by the Commissioners in the interests of the occupiers of neighbouring houses and was expressly agreed to before the contract for the purchase of the site was made. There was no question of religious tolerance or discrimination. It would be well, added the committee's report, to keep a watchful eye on any such high-handed action. The dispute at Minety, Gloucestershire, where a disgruntled household showed their disapproval of the midnight ringing on New Year's Eve by creating a din with horns and trumpets close to the church during divine service on New Year's Day, found wide publicity in the newspapers. It was satisfactory to be able to report that the Rector of the parish received strong support from the Bishop and Archdeacon in upholding the right of the ringers to discharge their accustomed duties.

In the case of the complaints about the ringing of the bells at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, the report referred to the discussion in the Town Council on the subject of the ringers' weekly practice, when a proposal was submitted by the Finance Committee that steps should be taken to get the bells muffled on practice night. Eventually the minute was referred back for further consideration, but nothing further seemed to have transpired. The deplorable case of Llanstephan bells was also mentioned. This Carmarthenshire village possesses not only a ring of eight bells, but also an endowment to provide for their being regularly rung. Unfortunately, it also possesses an incumbent who refuses to have the bells used in any other way than by means of a chiming apparatus, and the money provided specifically for 'eight men to ring' is diverted to the pockets of three or four persons who manipulate the apparatus. In this case, as in the two former, a representative of the Council's committee had been in communication with those interested. Full information had been obtained and it was a matter calling for the intervention of the Central Council, if any means can be found of taking effective action.

BROADCASTS OF BELLS.

The report continued with the following reference to broadcasting:—

In accordance with a recommendation made by this committee last year, the secretary of the Council wrote to the B.B.C. expressing the Council's appreciation of the various broadcasts of change ringing and asking the Corporation to give the national art of bellringing a more frequent and prominent place in their programmes. Two suggestions were put forward: (1) That broadcasts of bells should always be advertised in 'World Radio' as well as in 'Radio Times'; (2) that B.B.C. should make a special feature of a broadcast of some well-known peal of bells—independently of any religious ceremony—for about 15 minutes on Christmas Day, Easter Day and the King's birthday. The first suggestion was accepted and carried out with commendable promptitude. To the second B.B.C. replied that they had found broadcasts of bells not to appeal to the taste of listeners except for about five minutes in connection with a religious service.

We are glad to note, however, that more prominence has, in fact, been given to bellringing, both in the programmes and in the letterpress. One or more ring of bells has been broadcast on most Sundays and duly advertised in the radio publications. In a sacred play on All Saints' Eve very effective use was made of St. Hilary's bells, Cornwall, both open and muffled. Bells were conspicuous in the midnight broadcast on New Year's Eve, and were introduced with romantic effect in a talk on Wales, when the speaker was referring to

St. David's Cathedral. A week of Lincolnshire programmes ended with the dedication of Boston bells. Both 'Radio Times' and the special announcer, Mr. S. P. B. Mais, referred to the pealing of the bells from the historic Boston Stump as a fitting climax to the week's celebrations, and the fine tone of the recast peal came over the ether with grand effect. Best of all, a radio week devoted to Leicestershire included a broadcast from Loughborough Foundry, and thus enabled Mr. Taylor to give an admirable description of change ringing with illustrations for the enlightenment of the general public.

Under the heading, 'A Carillon of Bells,' 'World Radio' of Jan. 13th published an article by Jay Coote. From one sentence it appeared that the writer imagined change ringing to be done from a keyboard, but otherwise the article was well written and full of interest.

Readers of 'Radio Times' may often find amusement and delight in the clever parodies of Pops' Diary, written by R. M. Freeman. In one of these ingenious paragraphs he explained the difference between ringing and chiming, and in a further reference to the subject spoke of himself as being taught to ring. Inquiry elicited the fact that this diverting author was actually taught to handle a bell at Norton St. Philip by H. Hamilton Palairot, a former Master of the Salisbury Guild. Another issue of 'Radio Times' contained a request from ringers at Blandford for longer broadcasts of change ringing.

We recommend that the Council thank the B.B.C. for carrying out their request to include broadcasts of bells in the programmes published in 'World Radio,' and express their appreciation of broadcasts of change ringing given during the past twelve months, with special reference to the bells ringing in the New Year, at the same time calling attention to the strange absence of bells from the Easter programmes, and suggesting that the programmes on church festivals should always be so arranged as to include at least one peal of bells, preferably on the National wavelength.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards, in moving the adoption of the report, which was seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, thanked those members of the Council and other ringers who had been sending him extracts from the Press from time to time.

The report was adopted, and the committee, consisting of the Rev. F. L. Edwards (convenor), Messrs. J. S. Goldsmith, C. H. Howard and A. Paddon Smith, were re-elected. Mr. W. Willson, having ceased to be a member of the Council, was not re-elected.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards suggested that a separate Broadcasting Committee should be brought into being. It needed a committee, he said, of three or four members whose circumstances would enable them to listen regularly to broadcasts of bells. His idea was that the committee should keep a watchful eye on the programmes and notice any improvement that might be introduced to the B.B.C. for making more effective use of church bells; also to take careful note of the broadcasts that were given and draw up a report, recommending any improvements that might be made, so that the broadcasts would give a better impression of ringing. The committee should be given power to take over the broadcasting side of the Literature and Press Committee's work, and he suggested that Mr. Albert Walker would be a useful member of such a committee.

Mr. E. M. Atkins said he believed more notice was taken by the B.B.C. of communications from the public than from committees. The best thing a committee could do was to find out what gave the best results and try and get every ringer in every Guild to write and say, 'This is what we want.' The way in which the B.B.C. gathered what was most popular among the public was from their postbag.

At the suggestion of the President, it was decided to give the Literature and Press Committee power to co-opt two or three wireless experts to take over the broadcast side of the work.

AUTHORSHIP OF PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Rev. E. S. Powell stated at the Central Council meeting that real originality in peals of ordinary length does not exist nowadays. Many of us have been aware of that fact for a good number of years. He further states how he 'composed' a peal of Grandsire Cinques and was 'called over the coals' because it was a composition by Mr. Hattersley. This is not correct. The peal 'put together' by the Rev. E. S. Powell is not original and contains no new features; in fact, it contains very old going off and homing courses, to say nothing of the interior, and when I pointed this out to him I certainly did not suggest it was a Hattersley composition. It has similar features, however, and I would suggest that all such 'put together' compositions should be recorded as a composition 'arranged and conducted by "so and so."'

The Rev. E. S. Powell said he had to put the peal down as being composed by himself. Why? Surely it should have been credited as a variation of the composer whose principal features were used, and not claimed as an original composition.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

HON. SECRETARY CRITICISES CENTRAL COUNCIL DECISION.

There was sufficient rain on June 24th to damp the ardour of the most enthusiastic of ringers; consequently it was pleasing to find some 36 or more braving the elements on an English summer afternoon to attend the meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at Stanmore on that date. Indeed, ringing started almost punctually at the advertised time, and continued until 5 o'clock, when the usual service was held. The Rector (the Rev. W. A. Hewett), in his address, gave the association a welcome to Stanmore, whilst Miss Atkinson added harmony to the proceedings with a well-rendered solo.

After a good tea had been 'cleared away,' the business meeting was held, under the chairmanship of Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president). The hon. secretary drew members' attention to the loss they had sustained through the death of Mr. R. Kilby, of Willesden, which took place on May 4th. To show their sympathy with his relatives, which had already been conveyed by the hon. secretary, the members present stood in silence for a few moments.

After three new members had been elected, the hon. secretary gave a brief account of the recent meeting of the Central Council in London. He drew attention to the forthcoming publication of a pamphlet upon the proper way to handle a bell rope, which would be published at the popular price of 2d. per copy; and to the approaching completion of the new book on Triples methods. He also pointed out that the report of the Peals Analysis Committee was passed without comment being made on the fact that it contained certain five and six bell peals not conforming with the Council's definitions—later in the day the Council decided that these compositions were not fit to be classed as peals. This was the general attitude of the Council on this important question, always 'yes' before lunch, always 'no' afterwards.

FIVE AND SIX BELL PEALS IN UNSATISFACTORY POSITION.

Referring to the resolutions before the Council, the speaker was somewhat critical of the president's ruling on the Minor controversy, the amendment, as the substantive motion, being declared lost because of the rule that it should be carried 'by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the meeting,' together with the entering of the names of the voters in the minute book. He had no recollection of that rule ever having been acted upon at a previous meeting, and he was not sure that the previous resolution would have been carried had that rule been put into operation. The speaker added that the question of the five and six bell peals was left in a most unsatisfactory position—the only satisfaction he could get out of the debate was that only one speaker had referred to these peals as being false, whereas four years ago they were so described by most of the speakers. Mr. Coles stated that the social arrangements were the best that London had yet produced, and that the association's invitation to the Council to tea had been accepted by some 90 members, who, with their friends and some of the society's officers, made up a party of 144.

A discussion took place on the suggestion to make an alteration in the name of the association, which produced some interesting observations by Messrs. E. M. Atkins and G. R. Goodship.

It was announced that the usual joint meeting between the Hertford and Middlesex Associations would be held at Hadley on July 15th, also that members had received a general invitation to attend the ringers' opening of Bow Bells on July 8th. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Willesden in August.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his address at the service and for the use of the bells; to Mr. Springell, the organist; to Miss Atkinson, the soloist; to the ladies who had provided tea; and to Mr. G. Hughes. The vote was carried unanimously, and the latter gentleman replied.

Subsequently ringing took place until about 8.30. Most methods from 'rounds' to Bristol and Loudon Surprise were rung, including an excellent touch of Spiced Surprise in four methods, with some quite unexpected participants.

RINGER STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

COMPANION KILLED.

Mr. William Manning, who is a much respected member of the St. Mary's, Walthamstow, Society, had an unfortunate experience on Monday, June 19th, in the storm which broke over Epping Forest. Whilst sheltering under a tree, he was struck by lightning and sustained leg burns and general shock. Mr. Manning's companion, a young man of about 20 years of age, was killed outright, as also was a large Alsatian dog which Mr. Manning was holding.

Mr. Manning, who is 74 years of age, was taken to Whipps Cross Hospital, Leyton, where he is making good progress. His many friends in the Ancient Society of College Youths, Essex, Hertford and Middlesex Associations and ringers generally will sympathise with him in his unpleasant experience, and wish him a speedy recovery.

SHILDON, CO. DURHAM.—At St. John's Church on Monday, June 12th, by the local ringers, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: J. Taylor 1, S. Bryant 2, J. West 3, G. W. Hutchinson 4, J. Pentland 5, R. B. Robinson (conductor) 6. The first 720 in any Surprise method by all and the first on the bells.

A YORKSHIRE SIX-BELL CONTEST.MELTHAM WIN KEEN COMPETITION.

Ten companies entered for the Hoylandswaine Society's annual open six-bell contest, which took place at St. John's Church, Hoylandswaine, on Saturday. Each set had to ring 504 changes in any method, and all of them got through their allotted task. The ringing commenced at 3 o'clock and concluded about 8.30 p.m. There was a large number of listeners, including many ladies, and they were treated to some excellent striking, particularly by four of the companies. The judges were Messrs. Walter Idle, of Dewsbury, and George Lewis, of Ecclesfield, with Mr. J. H. Sykes, of Penistone, as 'marker.' The order of ringing with the number of faults was as follows:—

1. Friesland, 114 faults.
2. Liversedge, 155 faults.
3. Sandal, 178 faults, including 25 penalties.
4. Kirkburton, 122 faults.
5. New Mills, 56 faults, including 5 penalties.
6. Shelley, 56 faults.
7. Meltham, 41 faults.
8. Stainland, 176 faults, including 10 penalties.
9. Holmfirth, 63 faults.
10. Wath, 235 faults.

The winners were Meltham, who received the silver cup, to be held for the year, and the special prizes provided by the local ringers. Shelley were second and also received prizes.

Before the prizes were distributed, the local company presented the Vicar (the Rev. J. Hewitson) with a group photo, framed in oak, of the local company and the Vicar and his two sisters to show their appreciation of the interest that he has taken both in the ringing and ringers. The Vicar, who was taken by surprise, heartily thanked the local company for their kindness and gift.

Mr. C. D. Potter, of Royston, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the hearty welcome he always extended to visiting ringers, and wished him many happy and peaceful years in retirement.—Mr. J. W. Moxon, of Sandall, seconded.

The local company wish to thank everybody who helped to make the contest a great success, especially the ladies who catered for the tea, to which 100 sat down.

THE LADIES' GUILD TITLE.SOUTHERN DISTRICT DECIDE AGAINST CHANGE.

The little village of Seale, Surrey, which boasts of an ancient church which lay in the track of the Canterbury Pilgrims on their way from Winchester, was the venue on Saturday of a joint meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the Southern Branch of the Ladies' Guild. Nearly 50 ringers, including 15 members of the Ladies' Guild, attended, from Aldershot, Ash, Cranleigh, Farnham, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas), Pirbright, Seale, West Clandon and Worplesdon.

The Rector (the Rev. R. S. Arrowsmith) conducted the Ladies' Guild service, and the ringers were afterwards kindly entertained to tea with strawberries and cream by Mrs. Bruce (vice-president of the Ladies' Guild), who was cordially thanked for her hospitality, on the motion of Miss H. F. Mills, seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

The Farnham District meeting, over which Mrs. Bruce presided, fixed July 29th for a meeting at Crondall, and voted a further half-guinea to the Admiral Walker Memorial Fund. In addition, a collection for the same purpose amounted to 13s. 6d.

A vote of thanks to the Rector was accorded on the motion of Mr. C. W. Denyer (district secretary), and the nine-year-old son of Mr. W. Denyer, John, who can already ring a bell, was elected a member of the Guildford Guild.

The Ladies' Guild elected Miss M. P. Kingdon, of Woking, as a member, and the retiring officers were re-elected as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Bruce; hon. secretary, Miss H. F. Mills; committee, Mrs. Whittington, Mrs. Hazelden, Mrs. Melville and Miss Fisher; representatives on the Central Committee, the vice-president and the hon. secretary.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at St. Nicolas' Guildford, in June, 1934.

The meeting considered the question of the revision of the service form, and recommended that there should be a greater choice of hymns, including the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God.'

With regard to the change of title to 'The Women's Guild,' suggested by the Northern Branch, the meeting voted in favour of leaving the name as it is.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Bruce for presiding concluded the meeting.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTH BUCKS BRANCH CHAIRMAN RETIRES.

The annual festival of North Bucks Branch was held at Newport Pagnell on Saturday, June 17th, when a good number attended, representing the following towers: Bletchley, Beauchampton, Bradwell, Penny Stratford, Hanslope, Milton Keynes, Olney, Shenley, Simpson, Stoke Goldington, Stony Stratford, Whaddon and Newport Pagnell. The visitors included Miss V. Robinson, of Wokingham, Miss Davis, Bucklebury, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock, Abingdon, and the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert). Previous to the service the bells were kept going to various methods. In his address the Rev. H. Adeane Byard (Vicar of Newport Pagnell) gave a very hearty welcome to the branch, and paid tribute to the work that such organisations did. He hoped that their meeting would promote the highest interests which they had in their minds.

After service, owing to the unsettled state of the weather, tea was taken in the schools instead of on the Rectory lawn. Between 70 and 80 sat down as the guests of the retiring chairman (the Rev. L. Moxon). Before the meeting, feeling reference was made by the chairman to the loss of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and of Mr. H. Justice, one of the Whaddon ringers, who died after a short illness. The meeting stood in silence as a last tribute of respect.

Mr. W. Sear (hon. secretary) presented the balance sheet and a report on the work of the branch, which showed it to be in a sound financial position, with a membership of 197 and 26 towers in union with the Oxford Guild. It was very much regretted that the branch was losing its chairman (the Rev. L. Moxon) after ten years' good service owing to his having left Newport Pagnell, but it was fortunate also that the new-Vicar of Newport (the Rev. H. Adeane Byard) had consented to be elected chairman.

This appointment was approved with acclamation, and Mr. W. Sear was again re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert addressed the meeting, giving good advice to the members to support the secretary in maintaining such a good branch, and another very interesting event was a presentation to the retiring chairman (the Rev. L. Moxon). This was made by the newly-appointed chairman, who paid a great tribute to the work his predecessor had done for the good of the branch.

The gift took the form of a silver bell inkstand, suitably engraved, and a briar pipe in case, subscribed for by the members of the branch.

In accepting the gift, which was a great surprise, the Rev. L. Moxon thanked the members for their gift and kind action, which he valued very much.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Newport Pagnell and others responsible for making the arrangements.

The methods rung during the afternoon ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

CENTRAL BUCKS BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Central Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Winslow on Saturday, June 10th, and was well attended. Ringing took place during the afternoon, and the Rev. G. Dixon dedicated a peal board hung in the ringing chamber to record the first peal rung by members of the Central Bucks Branch on Whit Monday, May 16th, 1932 (this branch is the baby branch of the Guild, having been formed only a few years ago), and the first peal on the bells. The ringers who took part were W. Bauner 1, H. France 2, P. Gibbard (conductor) 3, W. Jones 4, W. Hawkins 5, E. French 6.

The Guild service followed and was conducted by the Rev. G. Dixon. The Rev. S. H. C. Wynne, Rector of Grendon Underwood, gave the address, and made an impressive allusion to the sad loss the Guild had sustained by the death of the Master.

Tea was served in St. Laurence room, after which the Chairman (the Rev. G. Dixon) opened the business meeting by saying he was pleased to see such a good number present, and spoke of the sudden passing of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. The secretary produced a balance sheet which was considered satisfactory and reported that the branch was steadily growing.

It was agreed that £3 from the branch funds be subscribed to the Waddesdon Bell Fund when that fund had reached the £100 mark, and it was reported that this was not far off.

The chairman (the Rev. G. Dixon) and secretary (Mr. F. Gibbard) were again re-elected.

The Guild General Secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) complimented the branch on its steady growth and thought they were wise in re-electing their chairman and secretary again. He also urged all ringers present to look forward and continue to go ahead and further the art of ringing.—Mr. A. J. Wright, the Guild treasurer, made some comments upon the Guild finances. He urged all to pay their subscriptions in good time and referred to the branch being in a satisfactory financial position.

Night new ringing members were elected. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for the welcome received, to the organist, Mr. Thompson, to the organ blower and to the ladies for preparing the tea.

The ringers numbered about 35 in all, and came from Waddesdon, Steeple Claydon, East Claydon, Nether Winchendon, Great Horwood, Maids Moreton, Aston Abbots, Bicester, High Wycombe and the local company.

A 'WATCH DOG.'

The Literature and Press Committee of the Central Council, among its other duties, acts the part of a 'watch dog' and does its best to keep in touch with any disputes that arise which may involve the curtailment of ringing or the silencing of bells. This is a very necessary arrangement, for cases of this kind seem to be growing more frequent, and while the Council, through the committee, has no locus standi to intervene, its advice and help, when sought, can often be of considerable assistance. Particularly is it important that there should be constant watch for the introduction of any restrictive legislation, either through the ordinary channel of a Bill in Parliament or under some power conferred upon a Minister of State. There has already been one instance of a Government department prohibiting the use of a bell at a church on one of its estates. There were circumstances in this case which gave the department special control, but it is well to keep a watchful eye on official activities so that, in the event of developments of a menacing character, no time shall be lost in organising resistance to repressive legislation. It is even possible that such restrictions might come through new local bye-laws, and it is in cases of this kind that ringers themselves can render service by giving the committee early advice of any proposals which might directly or indirectly concern the ringing of church bells.

Another side of the Literature and Press Committee's work has been concerned with Broadcasting, and the committee is to be strengthened so that more attention can be given to this feature of its activities. The B.B.C. is a ponderous body to move and, while it is said to be susceptible to public influence, it is apparently not easily amenable to suggestions made by committees. In most matters the B.B.C. can be congratulated upon the efficiency with which its programmes are arranged. The reason for this, of course, is because it can command the best advice; but in securing efficiency in bell ringing performances it has not been anything like so successful. The explanation is not far to seek. It does not follow that the church which can provide an effectively broadcast service and an acceptable preacher, can also boast of a good band of ringers, and the result has been in many cases a very indifferent type of ringing which has been no credit to the cause of change ringing. Of the miserable travesty of alleged tune playing and bell chiming which is frequently inflicted upon the public prior to what is probably the most popular of all Sunday evening service broadcasts, from a London church, we here say nothing except that if it is true that it pleases the listening public, either the public does not understand or else is very easily pleased. But there ought to be a means of showing the B.B.C., through the Council, that while it rightly expects a high standard from all who take part in broadcasts, it is not consistently well served in regard to the bell ringing which is put over the ether. If the Council's committee can do this, and save the public, the B.B.C. and the art of ringing from being so badly let down as it is at times, it will do good service. It is for the committee to find the best method of approach and the solution of the difficulty.

A ROUND OF ESSEX TOWERS.

On Wednesday, June 14th, the ringers of St. Barnabas', Great Tey, had their annual outing. They were accompanied by the Vicar and Vicar's warden. Their first call was at Witham, where they were met by Mr. Evers and Mr. Mellins, members of the local band, and enjoyed a good pull. At Boreham they were met by Mr. Allen, and afterwards went on to Widford, where a good 576 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung. The next stop was at Writtle, where they were met by Mr. Lincoln, and then on to Chelmsford for lunch and to Galleywood for further ringing. A break in the ringing was then made by running down to Southend for a few hours. On the way home they called at Greab Baddow, and were met by Mr. Green and enjoyed the final pull of the day. Home was reached at 10.15 after a very enjoyable outing. The weather was all that could be wished for. The Vicar, on leaving the party, thanked them very much for the enjoyable day he had had, and said he felt greatly honoured in being asked to join them. The ringers would like, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all the incumbents for the use of the bells and those ringers who had everything in readiness for them. Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major were rung during the day.

VETERAN SUFFOLK RINGER'S DEATH.

The death took place at Brandeston, Suffolk, on June 14th, of Mr. David G. Wightman, at the age of 71 years, after a short illness. He was one of a family who took up ringing at Cretingham in the early eighties, and conducted his first peal, one of 21 methods of Doubles, on April 30th, 1883. He also conducted the first Surprise peal rung in Suffolk, a peal of Surprise Minor at Brandeston in 1888. In the same year he took part in a 10,176 of Kent Treble Bob Major at Coddensham, and in 1898 he conducted the first peal rung by six brothers. This was also at Brandeston. In all he had rung 168 peals and conducted 80. He had recently taken up handbell ringing at Monewden, and only on May 25th last he scored his first peal on handbells, ringing 5-6 to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major.

On June 21st the bells of St. Mary's, Monewden, were rung muffled as a last tribute of respect to deceased, a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob and touches of Cambridge, Double Court, Double Oxford and Plain Bob being brought round. Those taking part were Messrs. Alfred, George and William Wightman (brothers), W. J. Groom, J. Greasy, W. Miller, G. Pryke, J. Terrant, J. and C. Arbon and J. Thorndyke.

BENHILTON RINGERS' OUTING

All Saints', Benhilton, Surrey, ringers had their first ringing outing on June 17th last. The party consisted of eleven local ringers, accompanied by Mr. F. G. Woodiss, who has been of great assistance to them since the formation of the present band. A visit was paid to Turner's Hill, Coleman's Hatch, where ringing took place, and afterwards at Withyham, where everyone thoroughly enjoyed ringing on these beautifully toned bells. The visitors were also very pleased with the hospitality shown them by the Rector, who took them round his garden and round the church. This church has a beautiful chapel called the Sackville Chapel, and the fine chancel is flood-lit. The secretary soon availed himself of the opportunity to play the organ. The party then set out for Speldhurst, where tea was partaken of at the George. After tea ringing was indulged in at St. Mary's Church. Thanks are extended to the various incumbents, to the local representatives for making the party welcome, and congratulations are also due to the secretary (Mr. C. S. Poole) for so ably arranging this first outing, which went off without a hitch.

RINGERS SECURE 'ADMISSION TO HEAVEN'

BUT THE PARSON SECURES EXEMPTION FROM TEST.

The charming old city of Ripon and surrounding district was chosen for this year's outing of the St. Ignatius', Sunderland, ringers. The party numbered 20, including the Rev. P. E. Marples (senior curate) and five lady friends. The Rev. Canon Sykes, a former Vicar of St. Ignatius', was also invited, and joined the party at lunch. Arriving by train at about 10.30, the visitors were met at the Cathedral by Mr. F. Tingle, president of the Cathedral Guild, and the new bells were soon going to touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich, concluding with one of Stedman Caters, the latter going very well considering that some of the band had not rung on ten before. The ringing was much enjoyed, the tone and 'go' of the bells being all that can be desired.

After an excellent dinner at the Unicorn Hotel, the party proceeded by a comfortable motor bus to Kirkby Malzeard, and had the pleasure of ringing on the fine peal of six (tenor 17 cwt.) of this pretty village. The drive then took the excursionists through lovely moorland scenery, and, passing through Pateley Bridge and skirting the Gouthwaite reservoir of the Bradford Corporation, they arrived at How Stean, a beautiful rocky gorge on the River Nidd, where a very pleasant hour was spent. They then returned to Pateley Bridge for tea at the Crown Hotel, after which thanks were accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for their contribution to the expenses, to the visitors and ladies for their company, and to the secretary for the excellent arrangements he had made. Brimham Rocks was the next objective. These are huge masses of millstone grit, some of them 50 tons in weight, and many of very grotesque shape, scattered on the heath-clad moor. One of them, at least 20 tons in weight, is so well balanced as to be easily rocked by hand. The ability to squeeze through a narrow passage between two of the rocks is supposed to secure admission to heaven, and much amusement was caused by the remark of the portly parson of the party, who was unable to get through, that he had a private arrangement with St. Peter for exemption from the test. Unfortunately, time did not allow for a thorough examination of these wonderful rocks, and Ripon Station was reached at 8.35, with only a few minutes to spare for the train.

THIRTEEN TOWERS IN TWO DAYS.

LEYTONSTONE RINGERS' BUSY TOUR.

A 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Littleington enabled Mr. W. J. Nevard to ring in his 720th tower. He was on tour with the St. John the Baptist's Association, Leytonstone, who, as usual, spread their annual outing over two days. Mr. Nevard is 78 years of age and rang the tenor well. The headquarters for the outing were at the Green Man, Trumpington, Cambridge, and there the party arrived in time for supper on the Friday evening. On Saturday they had a charabanc tour, visiting in turn Ashwell (Herts), Littleington, Melbourn, Histon, Cottenham, Willingham (all six-bell towers, at each of which 720's or touches of Surprise Minor were rung), Over (for Grandsire and Stedman Triples and London Major), Swavesey (where 720 Southwell was rung), and concluding at Trumpington with a 720 of London Minor, non-conducted.

On Sunday the party arrived at Stapleford at 7 a.m., and on the light ring of six 720 of Surprise Minor was rung in six different methods. After breakfast a trip was made to Eaton Socon, Beds. This church was destroyed by fire a few years ago, and it is a pleasure to see how it has been rebuilt and completed with a splendid ring of eight bells by Taylor and Co. Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Cambridge and London Surprise Major were rung for the 11 a.m. service. After early lunch Wilburton and Haddenham were visited, and a 720 rung at each church. At Haddenham the visitors were kindly entertained to tea at the Vicarage by invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Kirkland). This over, a good 720 Ipswich for evening service completed the programme before the return to London at the conclusion of another very successful outing. The association wish to tender their best thanks to all the local ringers, who met them at every place visited and made them very welcome. It is worthy of note that at all the churches the party were met by the incumbents, who welcomed them to ring on their bells. Special thanks are tendered to the Vicar of Haddenham for his hospitality, and also to Miss K. Willers, who so ably assisted to make the arrangements for the very successful tour. It was regretted that Miss Willers was unable to accompany the party.

During the tour 720's of Beverley, Cambridge, Ipswich, Norwich, Southwell, London, Wells and York Surprise Minor as well as one in six methods were rung.

A THREE-COUNTIES TOUR.

On Whit Monday, June 5th, a party of Nuneaton and Chilvers Coton ringers, together with relatives and friends, set off from Nuneaton Church by motor-coach at 9 a.m. in glorious weather for a tour of Warwickshire, Gloucestershire and Worcestershire. Members of the party were picked up at various places en route to Coventry, where the last one joined. The first stopping place was Lillington, near Leamington, which was reached after travelling through scenery typical of 'leafy Warwickshire.' Mr. H. C. Burt met the party, and touches of Stedman, Kent, Grandsire, Cambridge and Plain Bob were rung on the light eight. Ringing ended abruptly by the breaking of a rope.

Through Leamington and Warwick with a short stay at Stratford-on-Avon, the journey was continued, through Shipston-on-Stroud, Moreton-in-the-Marsh and Broadway to Winchcombe, where the party had a picnic lunch. On again over Cleeve Hill, where a wonderful view was obtained, through Cheltenham to Leckhampton, where the very light peal of eight was tried. A little difficulty was experienced, at first, but soon the bells were going with a swing. Stedman, Double Norwich, Grandsire and Cambridge were rung here. A peculiarity of the ringing circle is that it is situated between the nave and the chancel of the church. Mr. W. Townsend welcomed the party here.

Off again to Tewkesbury for a tour of the Abbey and the Old Mill. Then on to Worcester for tea, which was much appreciated. Mr. Sid Holt met the party here, joined them at tea and conducted them to the church at Claines, after picking up Mr. T. W. Chapman, of the Nuneaton band, who was staying in Worcester. Grandsire, Cambridge and London were rung at Claines, and then after a refresher at the Mug House, which is situated practically in the churchyard, the party said, 'Good-bye' to Mr. Holt with many thanks for all he had done towards giving them a happy time in Worcester and district. A journey through Droitwich and Bromsgrove brought the party to King's Norton, where several of the band had their first ring on ten bells. Mr. George Fearn had kindly made arrangements here and had gathered together a band of able ten-bell ringers, who were very willing to assist the visitors in touches of Stedman Caters and Kent Royal. All too soon it was time for the last stage of the journey, which lay through Solihull, Meriden and Coventry.

It was after 11 p.m. when the party dispersed, all having voted the outing a great success and expressing the hope that it would become an annual event.

MEMORIAL TOUCH.

At St. Mary's Church, Newmarket, on Sunday, June 18th, for morning service, 720 Bob Minor was rung with the clappers half-muffled in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Leader, who met with a tragic accident while motoring home from Ascot. Mr. Leader was a sidesman at St. Mary's Church: G. Bonnett 1, Mrs. L. Warner 2, L. Moon 3, R. Heath 4, L. Warner (conductor) 5, S. Brown 6.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.COMMENTS ON THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

The summer quarterly meeting of the Guild was held on Saturday, July 1st, when a visit was paid to the old-world village of Castle Bromwich, which is now becoming quite well known as the place where the Midland section of the British Industries Fair is held and also for the Birmingham Aerodrome. Although only some six miles from the city centre, it still retains its rural appearance, and, the afternoon turning out fine and warm, a very pleasant and enjoyable gathering took place. The church contains a peal of six bells, and they were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening. An adjournment was made at 5 o'clock for tea, 32 members and friends sitting down. This was followed by the business meeting, which was held in the garden of the village Post Office, at which the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., presided.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, the Guild's representative on the Central Council, gave a resume of the recent Council meeting. In his opinion, it was the best meeting yet held, and the resolutions adopted were all good. He strongly advised every member to read carefully the full report now appearing in 'The Ringing World.'

The Chairman confirmed Mr. Smith's remarks, adding that the Skinners' Hall was an ideal place for the meeting.

Mr. Albert Walker (hon. member of the Council) thought it was a pity the resolution re Minor methods was not adopted.

The tower election of Mr. Ralph C. Parton, of the Lyc, was duly ratified, and Miss Kathleen Morris, of Shirley, was elected a ringing member.

Mr. Smith proposed and Mr. Walker seconded that the next quarterly meeting on Saturday, October 7th, be held at Solihull; whilst Mr. Haynes proposed and Mr. Johnson seconded that it be held at Edgbaston, pointing out that it was four years since the last meeting was held there.—On being put to the vote, Edgbaston was carried by a big majority.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells concluded the business.

The handbells were then brought out and several good touches in various methods were rung.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.TWO USEFUL SIX BELLS.

In spite of the stormy weather and various 'outings,' the Leatherhead District meeting at Newdigate, a six-bell tower, was quite well attended on June 17th, ringers and friends coming from Capel, Cobham, Leatherhead, Wainham, London and the local band in full strength.

The bells were raised in peal (a Cobham speciality) soon after 3 o'clock, and were kept going until 4.30, when the Rev. J. W. Ward conducted the Guild's service and gave an address, in which he put the necessity for ringers to attend some of the services for which they rang in a fresh and more convincing style.

After the service a move was made to the Six Bells across the road, where about 25, presided over by the Rev. J. W. Ward, sat down to tea. The Rector also took the chair for the ensuing short business meeting. Two of the local band were elected members of the Guild. The secretary explained the postponement of the Guild's summer festival at Leatherhead and Ashted to July 22nd, and also stated that the district's joint meeting with the Surrey Association would be held at St. Martin's, Epsom, and not Rammore.

The Rector said how pleased he was to have the meeting at Newdigate again, and he hoped it would not be long before there was another there.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rector and to the organist, who had had a long journey in the rain.

Ringing was afterwards resumed and good practice for everyone was got in during the afternoon and evening in a variety of Doubles and Minor methods, including a good 240 of Spliced Kent and Oxford, the only failure being a course of London for a young lady, which got 'stuck' about half-way, so that everyone was satisfied with the day when it was time to lower the bells at 9 o'clock. Then it was that the other Six Bells again came in useful.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A monthly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild took place at Arley, near Nuneaton, on Saturday, June 17th. About 20 members were there from Allesley, Chilvers Coton, Higham, Lillington, Nuneaton and Stoke, together with the local band, while a visitor from Cadeby, near Market Bosworth, was welcomed. The light ring of six (tenor 6½ cwt.) was kept going in various methods until 5 o'clock, when an adjournment was made to the vestry, a building in the churchyard, but some yards distant from the church. Capt. Tremelling, a Church Army representative resident in the parish, welcomed the ringers in the absence of the Rector, Canon King, M.A. A splendid tea was served by ladies of the parish, and full justice was done to it.

A return was made to the tower and several novices were shepherded through their first touches of Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor. Cambridge and London Surprise were rung by the more advanced.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Eastington on July 1st, and was attended by about 20 ringers from Goole, Hemmingbrough, Howden, Hull, Kirk Ella, Market Weighton, Pontefract, Selby, Thorne, Withernsea and the local company. Various methods were rung on the musical ring of six bells. Service was conducted by the Vicar, and Mr. Fox, of Kirk Ella, very kindly officiated at the organ.

An excellent tea, served in the Parish Hall, was followed by the meeting, over which the Vicar presided.

Two new members were elected, viz., Messrs. H. Heptonstall, of Selby, and G. R. Merryweather, of Withernsea.

Middleton-on-the-Wolds was selected as the place of the next meeting in September.

Mr. Taylor, of Withernsea, gave a very pressing invitation to all ringers and friends to attend the informal meeting, to be held at Withernsea on Saturday, July 15th.

On the motion of Mr. F. Crier, seconded by Mr. W. King and supported by Mr. D. Meadley, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and local company.—The Vicar, in reply, said he hoped the association would visit Eastington again in the near future.—Mr. P. Powis responded on behalf of the ladies and local company.

Further ringing on tower and handbells ended a pleasant meeting in glorious weather.

SOUTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATIONS MEET.ABSENCE OF STARS ENABLE LESSER LIGHTS TO SHINE.

The annual joint meeting of the societies in the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Conisborough on Saturday, June 24th, and whether it be due to holidays, the Civic Week at Sheffield or another attraction at Doncaster, it must be said that the attendance was very disappointing, only about 20 being present. The towers represented were Rawmarsh, Tickhill, Doncaster, Arksey, Adwick, Eastwood, Killamarsh, Gainsborough and the local company. However, the absence of the 'stars' gave some of the lesser lights an opportunity to shine. They made very good use of the occasion, and a number of touches in various methods were successfully accomplished. A splendid tea, provided by the local company, assisted by the ladies, was thoroughly enjoyed, and, at 9d. per head, made one wonder how it was managed.

The Vicar (the Rev. W. J. T. Pascoe) presided at the short business meeting of the Southern District, which followed tea. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Tickhill on September 23rd. As no new members were forthcoming, the chairman stepped into the breach and was made an honorary member of the association, thus saving a blank.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and all his helpers concluded the meeting.

RINGERS' PRESENTATION TO RECTOR.

The combined practice ringers who meet at Deane, Haunts, fortnightly have made a small present to the Rev. Howell, Rector of the parish, who is retiring and going to live at Winchester.

The Rev. Howell has done much to help ringers in the Basingstoke district, putting Deane tower at their disposal at almost any time. He always takes great interest in the touches rung at the combined practices, and has shown as much pleasure as the ringers themselves when any new method has been brought round successfully. These practices have resulted in Surprise Minor methods on six bells being rung and have done much to stir up interest in the district generally, with the Rector setting a wonderful example of fellowship.

Mr. W. Hunt, of Oakley, made the presentation, which consisted of a silver bell inkstand, suitably inscribed, and all were very sorry to have to say 'good-bye' to the Rev. Howell. He departs with good wishes for a long and happy retirement.

IPSWICH RINGERS' TOUR.

The St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, held their annual outing on Saturday, June 24th. Leaving Ipswich at 6 a.m. by motor-coach, the party arrived at the Angel and Harp, Great Dunmow, about 8 a.m., and the breakfast served consisted of the well-known fitch, etc. Continuing the prearranged route, ringing was indulged in at Sawbridgeworth, Ware, Hatfield and St. Albans Cathedral previous to a wedding. On the journey home St. Andrew's, Hertford, and Holy Trinity, Bengeo, bells were rung, then Bocking, Essex, where the Dean had a chat with several members. Handbell ringing and a convivial half-hour at Stratford St. Mary brought the outing to a close. The society wish to thank all steepkeepers, incumbents and others for their co-operation in making the outing so enjoyable.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—On Saturday, June 24th, at the Collegiate Church of St. Peter, for the Diocesan Missionary Festival, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): *Rev. C. H. Barker 1, H. Knight (conductor) 2 *C. R. Collins 3, T. Smith 4, E. E. Speake 5, J. Whitmore 6, F. Brotherton 7, R. Pickering 8, W. H. Lawley 9, H. Boswell 10. *Longest length on ten bells.

A NEGLECTED SPOT.LOCAL RINGERS ORGANISE A MEETING AT NEWMARKET.

A very enjoyable joint ringing meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association and the Suffolk Guild was held at Newmarket on Thursday, June 15th. This town, lying as it does on the extreme border of Suffolk, is seldom, if ever, the venue of Suffolk Guild meetings, which are generally held in Mid or East Suffolk. The local ringers, therefore, decided on a joint meeting with their neighbours in Cambridgeshire, with the result that some 25 or more, including three lady members, arrived, the following towers being represented: Clare, Dullingham, Exning, Fulbourne, Mildenhall, Melbourn, Newton and the local ringers, who were also pleased to welcome a visitor from Walthamstow. The bells of All Saints' (8) and St. Mary's (6) were available at 3 p.m., and touches of Plain and Treble Bob, Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Minor were brought round on the fine ring of six at St. Mary's (tenor 21 cwt. and a Loughborough gem). Many expressed their appreciation of the fine tone and easy handling of these bells, one of the ladies taking a turn at the tenor to Stedman. After tea All Saints' Church was visited. These bells (tenor 11 cwt.) are not renowned for their musical qualities, having been described by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson in his book, 'Among the Bells,' as a 'very discordant ring.' However, touches of Major, Grandsire and Bob Triples were rung before returning to St. Mary's Church, where ringing continued until nearly 9 p.m. The ringers desire to express their thanks to the Rev. J. Prankerd (St. Mary's) and the Rev. C. A. Barnes (All Saints') for the use of the bells, and hope that a similar meeting may be arranged at some future date.

FIFTY-EIGHT YEARS AT ONE CHURCH.

On Sunday, June 25th, at St. Marie's (R.C.), Norfolk Row, Sheffield, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung to celebrate the 74th birthday of Mr. Dixon, who has been a ringer at St. Marie's for 58 years. Enjoying good health, he still continues in the employ of the Gas Company, with whom he has been for about 40 years. The ringers expressed their good wishes to Mr. Dixon: G. Lewis (composer and conductor) 1, J. Osguthorpe 2, T. O'Hara 3, George Holmes 4, J. A. Dixon 5, R. Harrison 6, R. Harrison, jun., 7, H. Hurst 8.

'FIRST' BY ALL.

At Ringslead, Northants, on June 22nd, 720 Netherseale Surprise Minor: G. H. Roberts 1, E. E. Whitmore 2, W. J. Whitmore 3, B. J. Stubbs 4, C. M. Whitney 5, W. Copperwheat (conductor) 6. First 720 in this method by all the band and on the bells, and believed to be the first 720 of Netherseale Surprise rung in the county of Northants.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.MEETING AT CLENT.

The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at St. Leonard's Church, Clent, on Saturday, June 24th, but, owing to the very inclement weather, a very poor number turned up. The Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. C. Thomas), who also gave a very interesting address. At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the Roberts Memorial Hall, where the business meeting was held, at which the chair was taken by the Vicar, who gave a right cordial welcome to the members to Clent and his church.

Several new members were added to the roll, and it was resolved that the arrangements for the next meeting be left with the secretary. It was decided to attempt the quarterly peal at Clent, with the consent of the Vicar and his ringers, the arrangements being left with the Ringing Master (Mr. John Goodman, jun.) and Mr. W. Short.

Apologies were announced from Mr. Harry Mason and Mr. John Goodman (Ringing Master) regretting their inability to be present.

Mr. Colclough, the Guild's representative on the Central Council, gave an explanation of his absence from the Council meeting in London on Whit Tuesday.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Townsend proposed and Mr. B. Richards seconded that best thanks be given to the Vicar of Clent for his kindness in giving permission to hold the meeting at his church, also for conducting the service, for his eloquent address, also for the use of the tower and bells. Gratitude and thanks are also tendered to Mr. W. Short for his great assistance in having everything in readiness and looking after the comfort of those present, to Miss Thatcher for her kindness in officiating at the organ, and to all who in any way assisted in making the meeting a happy and successful one. The bells were kept merrily going during the afternoon and evening.

MUFFLED RINGING FOR P.C. HERO.

On Tuesday, June 20th, at St. John's Church, Whittle-le-Woods, Lanes, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells fully muffled by the following members of the Manchester City Police Bellringers: P.C. R. Benson 1, P.C. J. Mulliner 2, P.C. W. Robinson 3, P.C. W. Pye 4, P.C. G. Pye 5, P.C. J. Wilson 6, P.C. F. Page (conductor) 7, P.C. J. Turner 8. A touch of 504 Stedman Triples was also rung. It was on this day that P.C. Tom Williamson Jewes (who lost his life in an attempt to rescue a man from the River Irwell) was laid to rest in the churchyard. P.C. Jewes faithfully served under Supt. F. R. Williams, president of the National Police Guild of Bellringers.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Three of the bellringers at Kirbymoorside, Yorks, who have put in long service in the belfry have also over 50 years' service in the choir. Mr. Arthur Wood has been a ringer for 58 years and a chorister for 54, Mr. J. Rickaby a ringer for 40 years and a chorister for 50 years, while Mr. J. Anderson has served for similar periods. In addition Mr. J. Sturdy has sung in the choir for 60 years, Mr. H. Rutter for 50 years and Mr. J. Walker for 46 years. A wonderful record!

The bells of All Saints', Fulham, and St. Mary's, Putney, were silent on Sunday owing to the serious illness of the Lord Bishop of London. The chimes are also silent during the night at Fulham.

The handbell peal at Crayford on June 21st was Grandsire Caters, not Stedman Caters as recorded.

AN EARLY LIVERPOOL PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have recently been asked by Mr. F. West, of High Wycombe, if I could tell him the name of the composer of the peal of Grandsire Cinques rung at Liverpool in June, 1814.

It was rung by members of the Birmingham and Sheffield United Societies and was conducted by Henry Cooper. There is no record in St. Nicholas' tower of this performance, and no one in Liverpool, as far as I can ascertain, knows who the composer of the peal was. The figures are given in Shipway and reprinted in the Central Council collection of peals, Section I.

Apart from Mr. West and myself, other members of the Exercise may like to know who composed this peal. Mr. West thinks it possibly might have been one of Mr. Cooper's own compositions, and I am inclined to agree with him, seeing that Mr. Cooper called his own composition of Grandsire Caters at Lichfield in the following year. However, I should be glad if any member of the Exercise can supply the necessary information. GEORGE R. NEWTON.

OXFORD AND OTHER CHIMES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—If you think the matter interesting enough, I might add some notes about the Oxford and other chimes to the information which has already appeared in your column. Your correspondent did not mention those at New College, which I like better than the Magdalen set. The latter are in a more prominent position, and so better known, and the tone of the Magdalen bells is certainly superior. Both towers have ten bells, but as only the back eight are used for the chimes, I number them as such:—

Magdalen: I. 21; II. 2184; III. 435637; IV. 43563721; the hour striking on 8.
New College: I. 37; II. 8734; III. 357468; IV. 867453241; the hour striking on 8.

The new chimes at Merton (eight) are as follows, the Roman figures showing the end of each quarter, the notes before being repeated each time:—

875 (I.); 4565 (II.); 568 (III.); 7545 (IV.); the hour being struck on 8.
The chimes at Carfax were composed by Stainer for a church in the Isle of Wight—Freshwater, I think.

The Cambridge quarters were arranged for Great St. Mary's by Crotch, then a chorister at King's, who took the four well-known notes from 'I know that my Redeemer liveth' for the first quarter. They are seldom heard given correctly, probably from the fact of their being so often adapted to a ring of eight, which makes it impossible for the hour to be struck on the key note. This is the third of the quarter bells, and the hour should be its octave, not its fifth, which is what you hear most commonly. They require a ring of ten, the bells used being 1236. The hour ends on 3, the key note, and then the tenor gives its octave. If anyone will try this on a piano he will find it much more satisfactory than the usual fifth. They may be heard correctly at St. Mary Abbots, London.

There are five quarters at Norwich Cathedral on five fairly heavy bells, which at first may sound unfinished, as they form what a ringer would call the top five of a ring of six. But they may be regarded as in the scale of the first ecclesiastical mode, and are then not unfinished, as the fifth is the final of that mode. They run as follows: I. 12345; II. 54123-25345; III. 54315-31243-54235; IV. 14325-43241-51234-23451; and the hour strikes on 5. W. C. B.

KELVEDON BELLS.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO COMPLETE THE OCTAVE.

As recently announced in 'The Ringing World,' Mr. W. Elliott, who has been a ringer at Kelvedon for 54 years, has made an offer with the assistance of his family and relatives to present a treble bell towards completing the octave of this noble ring of six. There have been members of this well-known ringing family connected with this tower for considerably over a century. Many ringers who have visited Kelvedon have often remarked, 'Why not complete the octave?' Now is the opportunity. The Essex Association has generously promised a donation of £5 5s., and the following sums from ringers in the district have also been promised: Messrs. C. H. Howard (Master), £2 2s.; W. Keeble, 10s.; C. Botton, 10s.; A. J. Mason, 10s.; C. W. Burton, 10s. Any further promises of support or donations towards this very desirable object should be sent to Mr. W. Elliott, Brunswick House, Church Street, Kelvedon, who will gladly acknowledge same.

RE-OPENING OF BOW BELLS. TO-DAY'S CEREMONY—TO-MORROW'S FESTIVITIES.

The Lord Mayor of London and the Sheriffs will attend in State the re-opening of Bow Bells this afternoon, when the Archbishop of Canterbury will dedicate the work and give an address.

This is one of the most important events in connection with ringing that has occurred in the city, and is creating great interest, both in and out of ringing circles.

The church itself is of much historic interest. It goes back to early Norman times and was in existence in 1091, for, according to historians, it was badly damaged by a hurricane at that date. In 1271 a great part of Bow steeple fell down, killing 30 people. In 1512 a new tower was completed, but the church suffered total destruction in the great fire of 1666. It was rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren and completed in 1680, and the steeple is one of the architectural gems of the city of London. The crypt of the church dates back to the 11th century, and is built of Roman bricks, which led the architect to believe that it was the remains of a Roman temple. The foundations of the steeple are certainly laid on the site of a Roman pavement. The Court of Arches, said to be so called after the flying buttresses of the steeple, was first held in Bow Church in 1172, and is still used for the confirmation of the election of Bishops in the Province of Canterbury.

The present restoration of the bells was made possible by the generosity of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge. Through dilapidation they had been silent for some years and their repair was part of a general restoration scheme, for which an appeal was made for £15,000 in 1930. As funds came in, the tower and steeple were first taken in hand. The damage by time and the atmosphere was found to be more extensive than anticipated, and the roof and many cracks in the walls had to be repaired and the foundations at the south-east corner strengthened. The restoration of the bells, however, was still held up until Mr. Selfridge generously undertook to meet the cost of this part of the scheme.

A massive grillage, weighing 3½ tons, has been fixed in the tower immediately beneath the old oak frame, which is anchored securely to it and has been strengthened with corner brackets in all directions and altered on one side to improve the circle of ropes. New headstocks and specially designed clappers have been fitted and the bells, of course, hung on ball bearings.

When removed from the tower, five of the bells were found to be cracked, and these, with the three trobles, have been recast, leaving only the 4th, 5th, 9th and 11th of the old peal. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

At to-day's opening the ringing will be done by the Ancient Society of College Youths.

To-morrow will be a ringers' day, and a gathering from all parts of the country is expected. Already more than 500 ringers have accepted the invitation to be present. The bells will be open from 2.30 to 4 p.m., when a short service will be held. At 5 o'clock Mr. Selfridge will entertain the ringers to tea at his Oxford Street store, and there will be further ringing from 6.30 to 8.15 at Bow Church. In addition, the bells at St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. James', Clerkenwell, will be open from 2.30 to 6.30, and St. Clement Danes from 6.30 to 8.15. It is also hoped St. Martin's-in-the-Fields will be available.

The day will conclude with a social gathering in the Pillar Hall at the Cannon Street Hotel, commencing at 8.30 p.m.

Further information will be found in our notice columns.

MIDSUMMER MERRYMAKING AT MAIDENHEAD.

A tropical thunderstorm with its attendant deluge opened the proceedings of the East Berks and South Bucks practice at Boyne Hill, but even this failed to damp the spirits of the party that gathered from numerous towers for the usual cheerful monthly affair that has assisted greatly towards the success of this branch. The secretary was a bit late in arriving, because the rain would have spoiled his curls. The Mayor was expected, but, having five other engagements, it was not surprising that he was unable to put in an appearance. Two of the visitors left early, to keep an appointment on the other side of the globe, we believe. Not having been a quartermaster, the universal provider was five out in his forecast for tea, although it was noticed that he tried to fill the gap himself. Unfortunately, the handbells were left at home (what a salesman to forget his wares), so that the usual after-tea harmony was not heard.

However, on returning to the tower, by kind permission of Jupiter Pluvius, those who were not already warm did their best to make up for lost time.

Many touches in different methods were rung, including several courses of London, Cambridge and Superlative.

One little disappointment was the fact that some of the charming young ladies who had promised to come did not put in an appearance.

It is hoped that the next practice will be at Penn, when something new in the spliced category will be expected from the 'hot pot' factory.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

THE NEW RULES.

The next report considered by the Council was that concerning the new rules. This report, which set out the Rules Committee's proposals in detail, was printed in 'The Ringing World' on April 7th and had been circulated to the members.

The draft report was presented last year criticisms were asked for. One or two criticisms were sent in, the committee had had those points under consideration, and had redrafted the rules in the form in which the Council now had them. They were published a few weeks ago so that the Council had had ample opportunity to study them. There was one point of criticism about which he would like to say something. It was suggested that if it were made compulsory for associations to pay fees for the members to which they were entitled, rather than merely for the representatives they sent, some associations might possibly feel inclined to withdraw from the Council. The committee were of opinion that it was unthinkable that any association should contemplate taking such action because they might have to pay an extra five shillings or ten shillings a year. The cost of the subscription, at any rate in nearly every case, worked out at less than a halfpenny per member on the number of resident members of any Guild, so that he did not think there was any substance behind that criticism. It was not necessary for an association, because it was entitled to send four members and paid for four, to send four members to a distant meeting—that was for the association to settle—but the committee thought that those who were entitled to a larger number of members ought to pay a corresponding fee. With regard to other criticisms, the proper alterations had been made to meet them. He proposed that the amended rules be adopted as the rules of the Council.

Mr. C. T. Coles seconded.

The Rev. E. S. Powell asked if the actuarial work in computing the membership of the associations was to be left to the associations themselves or to a committee of the Council? It looked as if it should be done from a central source, otherwise mistakes might occur.

The President said he thought they could trust association secretaries to make what was a fairly simple calculation (hear, hear).

Mr. E. W. Marsh said they in Devon, besides the Devonshire Guild which was affiliated with the Council, had at least three associations of church bellringers. He asked whether, under the rule of affiliation, they could be represented on the Council, if so he welcomed the rule and hoped the associations would be canvassed. If they could get them to join they would be able to teach the representatives something which they could take back to their own associations.

The President said there was nothing whatever to prevent it under the rules. There was no definite ruling that affiliated societies must ring changes.

Mr. Marsh: May I suggest the secretary canvasses these associations and tells them they would be welcomed?

The President: That could be done.

Mr. Marsh: There are associations in Cornwall as well.

No amendments to the rules were proposed and they were agreed to non conc.

Replying to a question, the President said it would be competent by resolution to bring the rules into force for next year's meeting, as far as the general business of the Council was concerned. This course was thereupon agreed to on the motion of Mr. E. J. Butler, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.

HOW TO STRIKE WELL.

Canon Coleridge reported for the committee appointed at the last meeting to prepare a pamphlet on good striking. Mr. Dyke, he said, had been mainly responsible for preparing the pamphlet, and it was in the hands of the secretary by last August, except for the photographs with which it was to be illustrated. These presented some difficulty, but eventually they were taken. There were four showing how the young practitioner should be taught to hold his rope and two showing the most frequent faults which prevent good striking. After the manuscript had been placed in the hands of the hon. secretary, he heard nothing about the pamphlet until the previous night. The secretary was not, however, to be blamed for the delay. Mr. Fletcher reminded him that at the last meeting of the Council there was an amendment proposed by the late Mr. Jenkyn that the pamphlet should contain hints and rules showing how to ring and conduct Doubles and Minor. Mr. Dyke did not write anything about that, and the reason was that after the last meeting Mr. Jenkyn had had correspondence with the editors of a small book which covered the whole thing, and, he thought, Mr. Jenkyn was inclined to let this side of the publication drop, although he never said so. Meanwhile, with this amendment on the books the secretary quite rightly held up the printing of the pamphlet until the matter could come before the Council. He (Canon Coleridge) was always most anxious that the book should contain nothing but the most primary and elementary instruction about holding the rope and striking properly. If they put in anything else he was afraid the whole object of the book would be defeated because the price would be far more. What Mr. Dyke and he would like was a pamphlet which might be a help to the youngest of ringers and also a help to certain instructors. They wanted to keep it as as cheap as possible and to sell it at not more than twopence a copy. If the Council accepted it as it was now with Mr. Dyke's letterpress and the six photographs, it could be produced at about 2d. a copy, and he hoped the associations would buy it up in large quantities for distribution. He hoped at least 5,000 copies would be sold at once and every young practitioner given a copy. He was glad to have had a little hand in the production of the pamphlet, although the principal credit must go to Mr. Dyke. He moved that the pamphlet be accepted without any further addition so that it might be sold at as low a price as possible.

Mr. J. T. Dyke seconded.

The President said the Standing Committee's recommendation was that the sale price be not more than 2d. per copy post free, and that the book be confined to the material mentioned by Canon Coleridge, namely, the proper method of handling a bellrope.

Canon Elsee expressed the hope that associations would purchase a large number of copies in order to dispose of them again to their members. That, he thought, would be the best way to secure the pamphlet coming into the hands of the beginners by whom it was really needed.

The President said the Council would be selling actually at a loss by selling at 2d., but the Standing Committee thought it would be money well spent (hear, hear).

The resolution was agreed to and the pamphlet ordered to be printed.

This concluded the business of the committees, but the President said before they passed on to other matters it was only right they should thank the members of the various committees for the work they had done in the past three years (applause).

BREAKING UP OF OLD BELLS.

The Council then proceeded to the various motions which stood on the agenda. The first, which was in the names of Mr. P. E. Dawe and Mr. E. A. Young, was as follows:—

'That this Council deprecates the breaking up of church bells, renowned for their tonal qualities and historic interest, urges church authorities not to assent to their destruction except for the gravest reasons, and furthermore recommends that independent expert advice be obtained in all such cases before action is taken.'

Mr. Dawe, in proposing the motion, said it was a very important one and one that ought to have been discussed many years ago. They had now arrived at the parting of the ways; it would mean a battle royal between those who, like himself, were of an antiquarian turn of mind, with musical quality thrown in, and the up-to-date people who thought mostly of speed and noise, which they interpreted as music, and that abomination called football (laughter). There were thousands of rings of bells in these islands, and they came under three headings, good, bad and indifferent. There were many bells—not only individual bells, but rings of bells—that wanted baking, boiling, broiling and even drowning (laughter). On the other hand, there were bells which were wonderful productions. It would be out of place for him to attempt, out of the eleven hundred or twelve hundred peals of bells he had rung on and listened to, to tell them which were the best, but there were many that really ought to be preserved, cast 200, or 300, or even 400 years ago by hands now cold in dust, but hands which were master hands. These bells ought certainly to be preserved. It had been asked on many occasions, 'What is the good of the Central Council?' The idea of Sir Arthur P. Heywood, who was its founder, was that it should protect their rights and privileges and their interests in the future, and there was one occasion when the Council did something to justify its existence. There used to be about four rings of ten of great value; Coventry, Rotherham, Wakefield and Stepney. When the idea came about to destroy Coventry, the Council took up the cudgels under the leadership of Mr. Young, and at the Consistory Court did what they could to save those famous bells. Mr. Dawe said he attended the Court, where a gentleman who described himself as 'a professor of bells'—he did not know there was such a thing as a professor of bells before—went to the piano, struck a discordant note and said, 'Those are the bells you have in your tower.' He then turned with a self-satisfied grin and, striking a chord, said, 'Those are the bells you are going to have.' During lunch a high dignitary of the Church began to talk to him about the bells and asked what he thought of them. He (the speaker) replied that they were the sweetest and most beautiful ring of bells he had ever listened to. The dignitary said that was 'all rubbish,' which, proceeded Mr. Dawe, showed that some people unknown had been 'spoon feeding' the authorities. The dignitary said the bells were going away and were to be recast, and added, 'You must come and hear them.' He (Mr. Dawe) replied, 'I shall do nothing of the kind,' and they parted not such good friends as they met. Every old ring of bells of any note at all were valuable, but each had its own particular beauty; its own characteristic. If in future they were all going to be the same, they might as well walk to the Royal Exchange where the clock struck twelve and hear a tune played. After Coventry they came to Rotherham. They had been recast by generous donors—goodness knows where they came from, but they cropped up like mushrooms. Rotherham were a magnificent ring of ten, but they were not the characteristically tuneful, musical and harmonious ring that used to hang in St. Anne's tower. Then, said Mr. Dawe, they came to the greatest tragedy of all, and that was the wilful murder of Bow tenor. In his opinion, Bow tenor no more wanted recasting than the sea wanted water. He did not know what bell metal was worth a hundredweight, but the actual value of Bow tenor was probably between £400 and £500. The intrinsic value of the bell, however, was as nothing to its historical associations and its pure, musical note. It never ought to have been destroyed. He dared say there would be good reason put forward for it, but he hoped some step would be taken that would prevent another such calamitous happening in future. He hoped they would never see the beautiful eleventh at Exeter, or the eleventh at St. Saviour's, Southwark, or Lavenham tenor, turned out to be recast and musically improved. His motion, added Mr. Dawe, referred to expert advisers. He did not think they could possibly associate with this a better name than that of their worthy president, who had proved himself so valuable to them in every shape and form.

'HALF THE BELLS IN ENGLAND NEED RECASTING.'

Mr. E. A. Young seconded the motion. He would not say, he remarked, that any of the remaining fine bells were in imminent danger of destruction. Had it not been for the Council they might perhaps have heard that the peal which used to hang at St. Andrew's, Wells Street, had been split up into separate units or recast, but partly owing to the Council's action last year they were to be retained as a peal. Those bells were worth saving. Then there was the famous eleventh at St. Saviour's, Southwark, where he was a member of the 'screw' during the war. How sad it would be for those ringers associated with that historic church to feel that in some circumstances out of their control that eleventh should be recast. What was really wanted was that when it came to a crucial point such as Bow, there should be someone, or two or three, or at any rate an authority, immediately available to give the casting vote between the conflicting interests as to which of those interests should ultimately prevail. It was difficult to know where they would find such men, men who were at fault with all the points of ringing and of musical and archaeological knowledge. The President had spoken of the glorious traditions of the past, and some of them felt that there had been men in the past who had handed down to them something worth preserving. He agreed with Mr. Dawe that in a case like Bow tenor it should be handed on, and that where any question arose, their hands should be strengthened by having someone capable who would be prepared to step in and say whether it was wise or not to break up such a bell.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said he hoped the meeting would not be led away by Mr. Dawe's sweet and seductive tones, followed by the depressing influence of gloomy forecasts. 'Do let us have our bad bells recast,' said Mr. Smith. 'I can see no use whatever in preserving an old thing, simply because it is old. If it is old and good, I will stand up for it with anybody, but if it is old and not good, let us recast it' (hear, hear). How these people of Mr. Dawe's views can mention Bow tenor in the same breath as the eleventh at Exeter I cannot understand. 'Good gracious me,' went on Mr. Smith, 'Exeter eleventh is one of the grandest bells that ever was cast, and in proof of that we have one of our modern firms of bellfounders, when there was recasting to be done a few years ago, very carefully preserving this bell and advising that under no circumstances should it be recast. Bow tenor was never a cover to the other eleven bells since the moment it was put there. I have it on good authority that the bell was very badly cracked. Why on earth, then, do we want to suggest that it should be taken out of the tower, dusted and put back cracked? (laughter). If we were to talk like that in the business world in my part of the country they would not hesitate to tell us we were 'balmy' (laughter). Mr. Dawe drew an imaginary line round the kingdom and told us that within it there were so many peals of bells, and I am prepared to say that at least half of them ought to be recast next week (hoar, hear). It would be one way of helping to solve the unemployment problem. But, when these things come up for decision, do not let us have a resolution such as this, which will be sent to every incumbent who is thinking of having his bells improved. It will delay and damn the project for ever. Do not let us pass such a motion which may prevent the improvement and recasting of the rottenest peal of ten in England, and that is in Birmingham (laughter and applause). Let us save anything that is worth saving, but don't cumber up a tower with anything that ought to be in a museum. We do not want bells which are no good to us just because Oliver Cromwell rang on them (laughter).

Mr. C. H. Howard, speaking as a member of the Chelmsford Diocesan Advisory Board, said they were safe in the hands of the advisory boards, who were very careful to preserve anything of real historic value. The difficulty was sometimes to see that unnecessary pressure was not put on church authorities by the Advisory and Central Advisory Boards to retain bells which were no good. It was not for that Council to prompt them to go further than they were going to-day.

THE DANGER OF 'CLOCKING.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—While it is universally admitted that 'clocking' is liable to crack a bell, has it ever been scientifically explained why this is so? With a chiming apparatus the hammer comes up about where the clapper strikes in ringing, so that the bell can 'give'—you can see the ringing ropes move slightly. In clocking, unless the clapper has a lot of side-play, the sound bow is hit in about the same place, and again the bell can give to the blow. The only unorthodox strain would appear to be on the crown staple or the clapper itself, with no unusual strain on the bell. On the other hand, when the tower clock strikes the hours, the hammers come down, not only on the outside of the bell, which was never intended to be struck there, but also just below the stay, so that the bell cannot give at all: it appears to me that this should be far more liable to crack a bell than clocking.

J. B. M. RIDOUT.

MR. J. GEORGE AND THE COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. George's letter is couched in very strong language, which is quite unjustified. I cannot help his faulty memory, he has probably been so anxious to persuade himself that he made sufficient protest, that he has forgotten what he previously stated. His letter to Mr. Wright, from which he quotes, was written much too late to be of any use. The peal was rung in November, 1930, and in January of the following year it was reported to be false. In 'The Ringing World' of September 18th, 1931, it was announced that a tablet recording the peal was to be erected, and a strong protest was made. Mr. George must have noticed this. In 'The Ringing World' of October 2nd it was reported that the tablet had been unveiled. The report stated that Mr. George was present and had something to say, but not a word of protest. If he had disagreed, he could at least have kept away from that ceremony, and should have registered a public protest. He should, too, have insisted on his name not appearing on the tablet. In the following weeks many letters of protest from different people appeared in 'The Ringing World,' and on October 23rd a letter appeared, signed by myself, suggesting a reference of the matter to the Central Council. A leading article the following week contained a similar suggestion. I have searched for a protest from Mr. George, but fail to find one, and yet there was plenty of opportunity. Later on the Council met and passed a resolution. Mr. George was not re-elected to the Council, in any case it would have been an impossibility for him to sit in the face of that resolution. His letter of protest to Mr. Wright, written some months later, does not affect the issue, it was much too late. In these circumstances I still feel that my statement at the recent Council meeting was justified, especially in the light of a conversation I had with Mr. George shortly after the erection of the tablet. I cannot help it if he has forgotten. Actions, however, speak louder than words, and Mr. George's actions show ample support for any statements that have been made as to his connection with this matter.

For Mr. Smallwood's information I would like to say that honorary members are usually chosen for their ability and willingness to work for the Council. Nobody was able to say of Mr. George that he was ever willing to place any abilities he may possess at the disposal of the Council, and it is quite possible that this may have influenced many votes. Certainly the Council must choose men willing to work in preference to men who have been found wanting. I do not wish to elaborate this point, but there is ample justification for what I have said. If Mr. Smallwood desires to make comparisons, he should remember that honorary members are responsible to the Council, other members are responsible only to the societies they represent.

It is a great pity that this question was reintroduced. Mr. George's friends did him no service by bringing it up again. It was bound to lead to a protest and the raking up of a business unpleasant for all concerned. If it will help Mr. George I am quite willing to accept his word that he is now sorry for what was done, but I register a strong protest against his accusations. I have no wish to do him an injury, but I cannot let that wish influence my attitude and my vote in the Council chamber.

TIPTON RINGERS IN DERBYSHIRE.

The ringers of the St. Martin's Church, Tipton, visited Derbyshire for their annual outing on Whit Monday. They were accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. G. R. Mortimore) and friends, the party numbering about 20. They proceeded in motor-coach to Barton-under-Needwood, where they rang on the peal of eight bells and had lunch. They then continued to Ashbourne, where they had the pleasure of ringing again on another peal of eight. Afterwards they journeyed to Mayfield, where after tea ringing took place on the peal of six bells. Touches of various methods were brought round at all three towers. After a short interval, the tourists went on to Stapenhill, to pay a visit to the church and vicarage where the Vicar of Tipton is to take up the living. The tour was completed by the way of Lichfield. The ringers wish to thank all those who helped to make the outing a success.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT AT THANET.

The summer meeting of the Canterbury District was held at St. Lawrence, Thanet, on Saturday, July 1st, by the kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. Cowland Cooper. Over 40 members attended, including some of the St. Albans Cathedral Company and one ringer from Yorkshire. The Vicar conducted service and also gave a most interesting sermon. Tea, followed by the business meeting, in the Parish Room, were presided over by the Vicar, who gave a hearty welcome to the association, and, on behalf of the Canterbury District, gave a special welcome to the visitors from St. Albans. The captain of the St. Albans company thanked the Canterbury District secretary for making their summer meeting coincide with the St. Albans outing.

Mr. E. Spice, on behalf of the meeting, thanked the Vicar for the use of the St. Lawrence bells and for the service, also Mrs. Wilkinson for the musical arrangements, and Mr. Porritt, the local secretary, who had made the arrangements for the meeting. The Vicar suitably replied.

A proposition that Deal should be the place for the district's next by-meeting was carried unanimously.

After tea ringing continued until after 8 o'clock, the following methods being rung: Kent Treble Bob Royal and Major, Superlative Surprise, Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Major.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

A JOINT MEETING.

A meeting of the Salisbury and Devizes Branches was held at Amesbury on Saturday, June 17th. After ringing at various towers en route, the members arrived at the Church of SS. Mary and Melorins for the service at 4.30, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Moxon).

Tea was served in the Schoolroom, amongst those present being the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Guild), the Rev. F. L. Edwards (hon. general secretary), Mr. F. Green (assistant general secretary), Mr. W. C. West (hon. secretary, Devizes Branch) and Mrs. West, Mr. F. G. Caple (chairman, Salisbury Branch), Mr. F. W. Romaine (hon. secretary, Salisbury Branch), Mr. E. F. White (vice-chairman, Devizes Branch) and others.

After tea the Master expressed the thanks of those present to the Vicar for allowing the meeting to be held at Amesbury and for taking the service.

The members then returned to the tower. A party also journeyed into Salisbury and enjoyed ringing at St. Martin's. During the afternoon and evening the following methods were rung: Cambridge Surprise, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman Triples and Doubles and Grandsire Doubles. It seemed that all attending thoroughly enjoyed themselves, some expressing a wish that this will not be the last of combined meetings between the two branches.

A WORCESTERSHIRE EXCURSION.

The outing of the Oldswinford ringers was held on Saturday, June 24th, their destination being Upton-on-Severn. Leaving the home of the local secretary, travelling by charabanc by way of Worcester, they visited the British Camp, which is on the top of Malvern Hills, but the view obtained was very poor owing to the rain and mist. A splendid tea awaited the party at the Cross Hotel, Upton, and afterwards permission was obtained from the Vicar to ring on the Parish Church bells. Several touches of Grandsire Triples were nicely struck. The ringers wish to thank Canon Edmondson for so readily acceding to their request, as they had not previously sought permission. They were sorry their friends the Upton ringers were not at home. The return journey through Hanley Swan, Hallow and Witley was very much enjoyed, although the weather was not too kind.

SUFFOLK AND NORFOLK TOWERS VISITED.

On Saturday, June 24th, All Saints' Guild, Feering, Essex, with friends from four adjoining towers, wives and the Vicar and churchwardens, left Kelvedon by coach at 7.30 a.m. for an excursion to Suffolk and Norfolk towers. At Dobenham they were met by Mr. W. Rumsey, and short touches of Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Bob Major enabled the visitors to admire the go and tone of this lovely peal. At Eye, unfortunately, they could not ring, so they passed on to Diss, where they were met by several of the local company, including the veteran, Mr. W. Ireland, who took part in a perfect touch of Stedman. After various other touches, lunch next claimed attention, and then the journey was resumed to Redenhall, where they again received a hearty welcome, and one of the local men demonstrated his power with the twig for finding water and metals. Pulham Market was next visited, the visitors being met by Mr. C. Roope, and then on to Pulham St. Mary, where tea was followed by touches on the bells, and a very cordial welcome was given by the Rector. Arriving somewhat late at Stowmarket, two short touches on this grand peal enabled everyone to ring. The number of changes brought round during the day was 3,816. Home was reached at 10.30 p.m. After 15 hours of travel and ringing, dining and sight-seeing, everyone felt they had enjoyed a pleasant and successful trip, and thanks are due to the various incumbents for the use of the bells and to all local men who assisted in the arrangements and several who met the party.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH.

The summer meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Hungerford on Saturday, June 24th, when the following towers were represented: Beeton, Bucklebury, Brightwalton, East Ilsley, Highclere, Newbury, Thatcham and Hungerford. Visitors were present from Overton, Basingstoke, Abingdon and Reading. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Wardley King), who gave a very interesting address. In the absence of the organist, the Vicar led the singing with a violin. Tea was served in the Church House by Mr. and Mrs. Reed, and about 30 sat down to an excellent meal.

The business meeting followed. The Rev. H. Wardley King presided in the absence of the chairman (the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford), who sent an apology.

The next meeting was fixed for East Ilsley on Saturday, September 9th.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for his address and welcome to the ringers, also for playing the violin for the service; and to Mr. and Mrs. Reed for providing the tea.

Some good touches in the following methods were brought round: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Major. Hungerford bells are a very nice peal of eight, with tenor 13½ cwt.

V.W.H. BRANCH MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Vale of White Horse Branch was held at Faringdon on Saturday, June 3rd. Ringing commenced about 2.30, followed by a short service in All Saints' Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Dunbar), who also gave a very interesting address. Mr. H. Mason was at the organ.

Tea was served at the Wheatsheaf to 32 ringers and visitors. The chairman of the branch (the Rev. A. J. de D. Denne) presided at the business meeting, supported by the Rev. J. W. Dunbar, the Rev. R. C. L. Newhouse, Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary of the Guild), Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer of the Guild), Mr. R. Gilling (branch secretary) and members from Faringdon, Buckland, Uffington and Shrivenham, with visitors from Swindon, Newbury and Stawlake.

The financial statement was presented by the branch secretary, showing a balance in hand of £6 3s. 10d. in the general fund and £3 10s. in the restoration fund.

The officers elected for the year were: The Rev. A. J. de D. Denne, chairman; Mr. R. Gilling, hon. secretary and treasurer; and Mr. F. Wheeler, branch representative. Three new members were elected—Mr. H. Townsend (Faringdon), Mr. A. H. Minns and Mr. A. W. Richens (Uffington).

The Chairman spoke very feelingly of the loss to the Guild caused by the death of the late Master, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and of the great work he had done. He hoped everyone would do their best to see it was carried on. This was also mentioned in the short talks given by Mr. R. T. Hibbert and Mr. A. J. Wright. A grant of £2 2s. from the restoration fund was made towards the cost of repairing the bell frame of Shrivenham Parish Church.

It was suggested that the autumn meeting be held at Uffington on October 7th.

The Chairman thanked the Vicar for allowing the meeting to be held at Faringdon and for his address. He also thanked the organist for his services and the ladies who served the teas. The ringers then made a move to the belfry, where ringing continued during the evening.

BOW BELLS.

The dedication of Bow Bells last Friday was an event of first class significance in ringing history in London, and probably the most important since the opening of the bells at St. Paul's Cathedral more than fifty years ago. Certainly the restoration of no City peal of bells has excited so much general interest, and the importance of the occasion was sealed by the fact that the ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury and by the presence of the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs in State. The interest in the event is not surprising, for there are probably more 'traditions' attaching to Bow bells than to any other ring in the world, and for this reason they seem to have a warmer place in the heart of the citizens of London than any other peal. To the Londoner, London will be London again now that Bow bells can once more give voice; and they have returned to take their place in the scheme of things under the most promising auspices.

From the ringers' point of view the restoration of Bow bells is a matter of gratification. It is always a subject for regret when a great and renowned peal is lying silent through dilapidation, and the return of Bow bells to a state of usefulness is in itself a subject for satisfaction. Certain phases of the restoration have been much discussed in ringing circles, and the breaking up of Bow tenor has been openly condemned as 'murder.' But those who have heard the recreated bell admire her new qualities, and so great an improvement has been made that many who are competent to judge are now lamenting the fact that, when so many of the old peal were recast, there was not a clean sweep and an entirely new ring erected. It is, however, too late in the day to discuss such a question, and while restraining hands prevented more being done than was actually accomplished, Bow is in possession of a finer peal than it had before, despite the limitations enforced by the retention of four of the old bells. It should now be the aim of London ringers to see that full use is made of these restored bells. There ought to be a serious effort made by someone to get the bells rung for the Sunday services with some regularity. We know the difficulties of organising bands for ringing in London on Sundays, and Bow bells are no peal on which to start a company of beginners. It ought, however, to be possible to build up a band. It has been done with remarkable success at the neighbouring tower of St. Lawrence Jewry; it would be good to hear that someone competent had taken up the task at Bow. The bells have been restored to be 'used in God's service,' and it would be a thousand pities if they are heard only on 'paid' ringing days and in peals. Incidentally, we imagine the latter will be few and far between unless something is done to moderate the sound immediately round the church. That, however, is a matter that ought easily and speedily to be adjusted. What is of most importance is that Bow bells are restored and in that restoration have been made a better peal. They should now be re-enlisted into the service for which they are primarily intended.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

FALLING OFF IN PEAL RINGING.

The annual general meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Winchester on Saturday, July 1st, when 100 members and friends visited the historic cathedral city from most towers in the two dioceses. The visitors included Mr. Rupert Richardson (Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. R. Richardson.

The business meeting was held in St. Maurice's Hall, with Mr. G. Williams, the Master, in the chair.

The Master's report stated that the Guild's work for the year 1932 must be considered satisfactory again as regards finance, although the amount to the general fund was a trifle less than last year. The balances in hand of the districts showed an increase. The annual and district meetings had been well attended, and it was gratifying to note the amount of young blood that turned up at most of these meetings, considering the number of present-day attractions. There was still plenty of room for missionary work for members in the districts, to try and bring in more of the unaffiliated towers. The peal records for the year were somewhat disheartening, considering the number of members in the Guild, proficient in the higher methods. This year's list showed only three Surprise peals, compared with twelve in 1931, and the total falling from 36 to 25. 'Let us hope and endeavour,' said the report, 'not to let the Guild go back this year from the prestige it has held in the past.' Bell restoration had been fairly active during the year. Christchurch had been augmented to 12; St. Mary's, Portsea, recast and rehung in new iron frame by Taylor and Co.; Romsey Abbey, eight retained, the third, fifth and seventh recast and all rehung in ball bearings by Mears and Stainbank, while other minor jobs were about to be taken in hand. Thanks were due to the Barron Bell Trust for the help they had given during the year. In conclusion, the Master appealed to the more advanced members to try and keep up the prestige of the Guild, both in peal ringing and good striking, not forgetting the latter as the most essential work of the Guild for Sunday service ringing.

The report was adopted, as was also the balance sheet, presented by the treasurer (the Rev. Evan Jones). The balance on the general account had been increased from £56 18s. 5d. to £59 18s. 9d., while the special purposes fund, which began with a balance of £25 10s. 4d., now had a balance of £35 14s. 10d., the receipts having included £15 transferred from current account and 9s. 6d. interest. The expenditure was £5 5s. to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies Memorial Fund.

The officers were re-elected en bloc as follows: Master, Mr. G. Williams; hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; hon. treasurer, the Rev. Evan Jones; recorder of peals, Mr. C. E. Bassett; auditor, Mr. G. Smith.

AFFILIATION FEES.

The recommendation by the Executive Committee to alter Rule 7 was unanimously adopted. This now reads: 'That each tower in the Guild's area shall be invited to subscribe, through the incumbent and Parochial Church Council, an affiliation fee of 5s. annually.' The draft copy of the proposed circular to towers inviting them to pay these fees, which had been drawn up by the Master, treasurer, secretary and Mr. Pullinger, was approved, and sanction given to proceed with the printing of same.

Mr. E. Denison Taylor (Loughborough) was elected a life member and the election of Mr. F. Hopkins (Christchurch) was also confirmed. Several full members were elected from Alton, Fareham, Hambledon and St. Mary's, Southampton.

REARRANGEMENT OF DISTRICTS.

For some time past the question of re-forming the districts in the north-west corner of the Guild (embracing the towers in the Alton District and North Portsmouth District) had raised serious opposition from some members and also the Bishop of Portsmouth, on the ground that the proposed new district would cover part of two dioceses. At the last annual meeting a motion that the transfer of the towers should be made provided equal voting, many abstaining. A subsequent motion that the matter should be considered after the views of the Bishop of Portsmouth had been obtained was put and carried. As a result of this, the Executive Committee recommended to the general meeting, a resolution brought forward by Mr. G. Pullinger in the following terms: 'That the towers of Blackmoor, Bramshott, Buriton, East Meon, Froxfield, Hawkey, Liss, Petersfield, Privett, Steep and West Meon, all in the diocese of Portsmouth, be formed into a Petersfield District. That the towers of Alton, Bentworth, Binsted, Chawton, Froyle, Newton Valence and Selborne, all in the diocese of Winchester, be formed into an Alton District. These two districts to be united for administration purposes until such time as they are more fully developed, and to be known under the joint title as "The Alton and Petersfield District." That the isolated tower of Ropley in the Deanery of Alresford be transferred to the Winchester District. That the tower of Upham in the Deanery of Bishop's Waltham be transferred to the Portsmouth District.'

This resolution was unanimously approved, and to operate from January 1st, 1934.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Petersfield on Saturday, July 7th, 1934, and to invite the Bishop of Portsmouth to be the special preacher.

DEATH OF THE REV. A. T. BEESTON.

A FINE RINGER AND A GREAT SECRETARY.

It is with deep regret we have to record the death, at the age of 71 years, of the Rev. A. T. Beeston, hon. treasurer of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and formerly, for some 20 years, its secretary. Mr. Beeston, who retired a few years ago from the charge of New Mills Mission Church, had been living at Knutsford for about twelve months. For some time he had been in indifferent health, and he passed away on June 30th.

The funeral took place at the Knutsford Cemetery, on Monday week, after a service at the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar of New Mills, assisted by the Vicar of Knutsford, the Rev. E. Ealand. There were present many relatives and friends, the Chester Diocesan Guild being represented by the Rev. C. A. Clements (Master), the Rev. W. R. Ingham (secretary), Mr. T. Wilde (secretary, Bowdon and Stockport Branch), Messrs. J. Fearnley, A. Barnes, W. Gordon, S. Hough, N. Hough, J. Johnson, A. E. Marshall, A. T. Marsland, G. Smith and J. Webb.

At the conclusion of the service at the graveside, a course of Grand-sire Triples was rung on handbells.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston, who was born at Wirksworth, Derbyshire, on December 2nd, 1861, learnt to ring a bell at a very early age, but it was not until the year 1895 that he took any serious interest in the art. Originally he intended to follow a commercial career and spent five years in business before entering upon a three years' course of preparation for Holy Orders. Ordained at Advent, 1890, in Durham Cathedral, he served in the parish of St. John, Hebburn, and in 1895 removed to New Mills, where his interest in ringing was stirred by the gift of a peal of six bells to the Parish Church in 1898. At the beginning of 1899 a company of seven commenced to learn change ringing unaided, and, despite the difficulties, in October, 1899, rang a peal in four Minor methods, Mr. Beeston having meanwhile rung his first peal—Bob Triples—at Wirksworth in the previous March, and his second, 8,288 Kent Treble Bob, at Bolsterstone, in May. His first peal of Double Norwich followed in December of the same year, Stedman Triples and Superlative in 1901, Treble Bob Royal, Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise in 1902 and Yorkshire and London Surprise in 1903. He took part in the first peals of Yorkshire and Peterborough Surprise and Double Oxford Bob Triples ever rung, and altogether had scored over 400 peals, which were rung in many counties in England, Ireland and Wales. For some years Mr. Beeston accompanied Mr. William Pye on his annual ringing tours, and in this way rang in many parts of the British Isles.

Capable as he was as a peal ringer, however, it was not in this that the Rev. A. T. Beeston rendered his greatest service to ringing. Having been hon. secretary of the Bowdon and Stockport Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild from 1904, he was appointed general secretary of the Guild in 1907, and filled the office with great success for something like 20 years, during which time he rendered valuable aid to the cause of ringing in the diocese by the encouragement and help which he gave to the members. It was due to him that the Norbury band took up the practice of Spliced Minor ringing many years ago, and thus opened a new avenue of interest in ringing. Mr. Beeston was a fine ringer and a great secretary.

As a member of the Central Council for many years, he did a large amount of painstaking work as a member of the Analysis and Records Committees, and his departure from that body, on his retirement from the secretaryship of the Chester Guild, left a sense of serious loss.

He was a lovable man, and his work for ringers and ringing was only one side of a life of service to his God and fellow-men. His memory will be perpetuated in the Chester Diocesan Guild through the gift, which he recently presented, of the Beeston Library.

Votes of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral, the Rector of St. Maurice's and the Vicars of Hursley and Twyford for the use of the bells concluded the meeting.

Tea was served in St. Maurice's Hall, after which members attended the Cathedral evensong, which was followed by further ringing at the towers mentioned.

SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Southampton District was held at Fawley on Saturday, when members were present from Bishopstoke, Brockenhurst, Dibden, Eling, Fareham, Farnborough, Fawley, North Stonham, Swanmore, Wickham and Winchester.

Good use was made of the bells, which are a nice ring of six. During the afternoon and evening touches of Grandsire, Bob and Stedman Doubles, Bob and Kent Minor were rung.

The Rector of Fawley was elected an honorary member, and three members of the local band joined the Guild.

After tea the bells at Dibden and Eling were available for ringing, and a good number of touches were brought round at both towers.

The next meeting will be held at Netley on October 14th. Due notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

THE PRESERVATION OF OLD BELLS.

Continuing the discussion on the motion by Mr. F. E. Dawe, with regard to the breaking up of old bells of historical interest and good tonal quality,

Ald. J. S. Pritchett suggested that the proposer and seconder should agree to withdraw it. Mr. Dawe, he said, seemed to be under the idea that valuable peals of bells were in some sort of danger. He (the speaker) did not think they were. He did not think there were any instances on record of good bells being wantonly interfered with. When they were recast there was always some good reason for it. He was interested in the case of Coventry. There, there was a famous ring of bells which ought to have been preserved if they could have been preserved, but they had been silent for many years, and it would never have been possible to ring them again in that tower. The only way to have made them available would have been to build a fresh tower. The question was what should be done to make them usable, as the people of Coventry wished them put to good use. In his opinion—ringing being out of the question—the second best use was made of them. Bells of historic interest were already protected in various ways, and Mr. Dawe's motion was an alarmist resolution, because it suggested there were people going about anxious to interfere with good bells and destroy them. He objected to the word 'destruction.' Did it mean recasting, or breaking them up and selling them for old metal? He deprecated the breaking up of any old bell for the sake of selling it as old metal for any other church purpose, but he had no fear at all that any good ring or individual bell was in any sort of danger, and he thought it was quite unnecessary to pass that resolution.

Major Hesse said he did not believe anyone would wish to break up an old bell that was also a good bell. He agreed that to compare Bow tenor with the eleventh at Exeter was utterly ridiculous—a better bell than Exeter eleventh was never cast by anybody; it was almost perfect, and taking out a few more pounds by tuning made her more perfect. There were some other bells in the West Country—like Queen Camel tenor—by Bilbie and Purdue, that no one with an ear for music would agree to breaking up, but they did not want to preserve an old bell when it was bad.

THE 'MURDERER' OF BOW.

Mr. C. F. Johnston said as betrayer of Coventry and murderer of Bow (laughter), perhaps he would be in order in replying to the mover and seconder. The motion said that the Council deprecated the destruction of bells renowned for their tonal qualities. The question of tonal quality might be a matter of opinion, but he endorsed the remarks of those speakers who said it was ridiculous to compare Bow tenor with Exeter eleventh. Bow tenor was an unsatisfactory bell musically. It was badly cracked in the crown. It was carefully inspected by the architect of the church and by the adviser of the Diocesan Advisory Board, who were both satisfied that to replace it in its existing condition would be suicidal. The fracture went right through the crown, and he asked the Council would the authorities have been justified in putting that 53 cwt. ringing tenor over the heads of a band of ringers? Mr. Young did not tell them that he had tried to prevent the recasting of the bell. He called it 'destruction,' but he (Mr. Johnston) would point out that the contour of bells had not altered appreciably for centuries. Was it, therefore, fair to say that the bell was being destroyed when the same metal was used to recast the bell? The only other thing to do would have been to retain it in the church or tower and have a new one, but that did not appeal to everyone in these hard times. There had been a suggestion made that a hole should be drilled at the end of the crack to keep it from extending and the bell rebung. That, however, was a process which he knew was a failure. He mentioned these facts, he said, in defence of the recasting of Bow tenor. The Diocesan Boards, he added, were watching these matters very carefully. None, he thought, would question the desire of them all to preserve bells of good tonal qualities and real historic interest, and the assumption that a bellfounder should want to break up a peal of bells for his own benefit was an insult to his honour. He proposed an amendment to the motion as follows:—

'That this Council deprecates the breaking up of church bells of proved good tone and of real historic interest, urges the Church authorities not to assent to their recasting except for the gravest reasons structurally or musically, and furthermore recommends that independent advice qualified to advise on historic, engineering and musical grounds be obtained in all such cases before action is taken.'

WATCHED BY ADVISORY BOARDS.

Canon Elsee said he thought the best measure would be for ringers in the various dioceses to take care that they were adequately represented on the Diocesan Advisory Boards. The Boards now were generally ultra-conservative. The difficulty was sometimes to get a scheme of real improvement carried through, but there were cases still where, perhaps, bells of antiquarian interest were allowed to disappear. Some time ago he came across a very interesting example of an old bell at a country hall in the place where the coal scuttle was usually kept, and from its shape he judged it to be a 13th century bell. Later he mentioned the matter to Mr. Hughes and asked him if he knew the bell. He said he did and had sent it to the hall in question. It was a 13th century bell that was sent him from another part of the country as old scrap metal. Such a thing could not easily take place to-day, but there were cases where people had no idea that their old bell, which had been brought down from the tower and put in an out-house, had any antiquarian value at all. Advisory Boards, where they were aware of such things, were now very careful indeed to see that such vandalism was prevented, and he believed the bellfounders were equally keen to preserve anything that came into their foundries in that way if there was real interest attached to them. He did think it was important that ringers should see that their interests were represented on the Advisory Boards. In the diocese of Manchester he did not think ringers would have been represented on their Diocesan Board if he had not asked about it at the Diocesan Conference and pointed out that someone with knowledge of bells might be added. It was done promptly. There were, however, adjoining dioceses where there was no one on the advisory boards who had much real knowledge of bells, at all events from the ringers' point of view. If ringers would see to it that they had a properly qualified representative on the Advisory Board, he believed it would do a good deal to meet what was asked in this motion.

The proposer and seconder agreed to accept the amendment, which was put to the meeting and carried without dissent.

PEALS IN MORE THAN ONE METHOD.

The next three motions on the agenda related to peals of Minor. If the first of these was passed, said the President, he did not think it would in any way prejudice the other two. These two were very much the same up to a point, but one went further than the other, and he was going to suggest that when they came to them these two should be debated together. He thought it would be the simpler method, otherwise they would get a lot of overlapping. With regard to the first of the three, Mr. Newton, in whose name the motion stood, was unfortunately unable to be present, but he had sent a letter in support of the motion, and the best plan would be to read it. The motion was:—

'That this Council uses its influence to encourage five and six bell companies to ring their peals in more than one method. It also urges them to include, whenever possible, at least seven methods in their peals.'

Mr. G. R. Newton wrote in his letter that the resolution which he was submitting for the Council's consideration was the result of some serious thinking on the subject of one-method compositions, such as that of the Rev. E. B. James and others. He had no knowledge then that these were to appear on the agenda, and as they would be fully discussed later, he refrained from saying anything further on this subject. He hoped ringers of five and six-bell peals would not think that he wanted to be hard on them in bringing this resolution forward, and for those who could not master more than one method, he, and he was sure the Council, had full sympathy. There were, however, bands who continued to ring 5,040's in one method when they were well able to ring them in more. He did not say there was no merit in ringing peals in one method, especially if it was a Surprise method, but in his opinion the conductor was then the one person to whom the bulk of the credit was due. He went further and said that the band that could ring a 5,040 in one Surprise method could with very little practice ring peals in seven methods, which would not only be more creditable to them, but also more interesting and decidedly less monotonous. It should be the aim of every young ringer after ringing his first peal, should it be in one method, to persevere until he was able to ring a peal in at least seven methods. In his opinion, formed after close observation during the past few years, they seemed to be going backwards instead of forward. The peals of Minor and Doubles were not, generally speaking, of as good quality as they were years ago. They had, fortunately, and quite recently, those brilliant performances of the Cheshire ringers, who had achieved peals in at least 30 methods. The older members of the Council, he felt sure, did not forget the great fight that had to be made in order that their performances on five and six bells should be allowed to rank as a peal. This was one of the chief planks of the six-bell stalwarts and which swayed greatly in their favour, that a peal of Minor in seven methods required more ringing and was a greater achievement than peals rung in one method on the higher numbers of bells. It was not his wish to be hard on five and six-bell ringers, but this Council could, if it would, pass the resolution and so bring about in time what would be a great improvement in the quality of the five and six-bell peals that were rung.

'GOING DOWN HILL.'

Mr. A. Tomlinson seconded the resolution, which was supported by Mr. J. Hunt, who said he did not think it was Mr. Newton's intention to debar peals in one method to 'scratch' bands; neither was it to prevent men ringing a Surprise peal in one method, but it was intended for those bands who kept grinding out 720's of Bob Minor. They were in an age now when they seemed to be going down hill in this matter, and they should do their best to encourage a higher standard. There were very few ringers, who, if they could ring one method, could not learn to ring others.

The President said he thought Mr. Newton would wish his resolution to apply to the 'scratch' eight-bell men who went round to six-bell towers. In his days in Cheshire, when they used to ring six-bell peals, they were ringers mostly from eight-bell towers, and, as far as his recollection went, they did not ring any peals in less than seven methods. He thought Mr. Newton wanted to put up the standard for everyone, and, after all, an eight-bell ringer who could ring one Minor method could quite easily ring seven.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith said a comparison of peals of Minor to-day with 40 years ago showed that the average standard had deteriorated. Out of 61 peals of Minor rung in the year 1893-4, no fewer than 48 were in seven or more methods and only one was in one method; whereas in 1932 only 107 peals of Minor out of the 408 were in seven or more methods, and no fewer than 155 were in only one method. That peals in seven methods were no real handicap to those who were just beginning peal ringing was proved by the fact that in the 48 peals rung in seven methods 40 years ago, no fewer than 52 ringers rang their first peal.

The Rev. Canon Parry, speaking as one who came from a small parish in a county with 600 parishes and where small parishes prevailed, said they had extraordinary difficulties in keeping a band together. They might bring them to ring a peal in one or two methods, and then, perhaps, the band broke up and they had to begin again. They were having to face that difficulty constantly. If the Council accepted the principle of the motion before them, it would be most extraordinarily difficult to ring a peal in seven methods in face of the obstacles they had to contend with. He knew the motion said 'where it is possible,' but he hoped it would not go forth that the Council 'urges' its adoption. He would prefer to see it passed as a recommendation and encouragement. He was afraid it would have a deadening effect on many country bands if they asked them to ring their first or second peal in more than one method.

Mr. A. E. Sharman said in Bedfordshire they very seldom rang peals in one method, and they did not encourage it. There was very little difficulty in learning two or three methods of Minor, if a ringer knew Plain Bob, and if he could ring Bob Minor, St. Clement's, Oxford Bob and College Single he could go on and ring seven methods practically straight away. The Council ought to set a high standard, and no band ought to ring a peal of Bob Minor more than once.

Mr. E. M. Atkins said the difficulty in the country was to keep a band together in these days, and it was a great encouragement to some of these beginners to ring a peal, if it were only in one or two methods. The figures proved that there were a great many more active bands of six-bell ringers about the country, and he thought it would be a bad thing for the Council to say it was not pleased with the progress of these less efficient ringers. He would prefer to see the resolution amended to a recommendation.

Mr. P. J. Johnson asked whether they, as a Council of change ringers, could logically take up the attitude that when they had learned to ring a plain course of Bob Minor it was the be-all and end-all of change ringing? Standardisation meant sterilisation, and unless they held up some inducement to the men to go forward and encouraged a spirit of enterprise, they would, as in most other things, go backward instead of forward. He saw nothing in the resolution to encourage their alarmist friends in the views they took. The resolution was to encourage progress; could they, as a Council, do anything less? ('No'). Logically they could not, otherwise they would simply be selling their birthright.

The Rev. H. Drake said the wording of the resolution was quite all right, and the Council could very well pass it unanimously. They did not want to do anything which might unintentionally discourage those who were learning. It was a meritorious thing sometimes to ring a peal in one method. In his opinion, the reason why they had gone back in the standard of peals of Minor was that there were now no points for peals (laughter). People were encouraged by the points to ring more methods than they did now.

The resolution, on being put, was carried by a large majority.

A LINCOLNSHIRE AUGMENTATION.

MEMORIAL BELLS AT WHAPLODE.

After a silence of upwards of 14 years, the bells of Whaplode Church, Lincolnshire, were heard again on Saturday, July 1st, when they were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Lincoln. The bells have been rehung in a new iron frame with ball bearings, after being retuned and the third bell recast in memory of Mr. H. C. Wright, who was killed in an aeroplane accident. He left a legacy of £200 to be spent in something for the church, and it was decided to rehang the bells. A new treble has been added in memory of Mrs. Eva Wright, an aunt of the above, and suitable memorial tablets have also been placed in the church. The work has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the 'go' and tone of the bells is admirable. Previous to the dedication the ringers taking part were entertained to tea by the ladies of the parish. Among those present were Mr. G. Ladd, secretary of the Elloe Deaneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild (who was present when the bells were rehung 45 years ago), and Messrs. J. T. Brown, R. Mackman and Mr. J. Oldham, representing Messrs. Taylor and Co.

After the dedication, the bells were rung in various methods from rounds to Cambridge Surprise. The ringing concluded with a well-struck 720 Oxford Treble Bob by A. Riggall 1, J. B. Hallifax 2, A. J. Farr 3, J. Curry 4, J. G. Ames 5, G. Ladd (conductor) 6. The weight of the tenor is 12 cwt. 0 qr. 14 lb. in F sharp.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The president of the Central Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis) and the hon. secretary (Mr. G. W. Fletcher) were among those present at the opening of Bow Bells on Friday.

A correspondent writes that both the C.C. and the B.B.C. lost a fine opportunity by not broadcasting the ceremony from Bow.

Mr. A. R. Gardiner, who rang his first peal at Thorington on Saturday, was a call change ringer for over 40 years before taking up change ringing, and cycles the four miles from St. Osyth to Thorington almost every week for practice. He struck his bell almost faultlessly through the peal.

THE LIVERPOOL PEAL, 1814.

1814, June 4th.—St. Nicholas', Liverpool, 3,000 Grandsire Cinques, composed and conducted by Henry Cooper, at the opening of the new bells by Dobson.

1814, June 7th.—St. Nicholas', Liverpool, 5,016 Grandsire Cinques in 3 hours 36 minutes, composed and conducted by Henry Cooper. The last three bells were rung doubly manned. Cooper usually took a middle bell when calling Caters, Royal, Cinques.

Between the years 1811 and 1815 Cooper composed and conducted nine peals of Grandsire, varying from Triples to Cinques, including performances at Birmingham, Worcester, Aston, Droitwich, Kings Norton and Deritend.

1814, October 18th.—Joseph Riley, of Cheltenham, took part in a peal of Grandsire Caters at the opening of Aston bells, composed and conducted by H. Cooper. Joseph Riley was mentioned, in error, as belonging to Gloucester at the Liverpool meeting.

1822, September.—The St. Martin's Society, Birmingham, purchased a new peal book—Henry Cooper as the president. This society won a 20 guinea cup at the Liverpool opening. (See society's records and Morris' history.)

Henry Cooper was always keen on securing the services of the famous Sam Lawrence, as a 'back ender,' when tackling heavy jobs.

Mr. Newton will be interested to hear that his namesake, Joseph Newton, composed and conducted a peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Oldham on 6th March, 1832, which performance exceeded the celebrated peal at Birmingham in 1820. It contained 7,392 changes and was timed at 5 hours 14 minutes 32 seconds.

Both Mr. West and Mr. Newton failed to give us the DATE of and the NUMBER of changes in the peal they inquire about!

ROTHERHAM BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Dawe's allusion to the above at the Central Council meeting, as reported in your issue of July 7th (page 426), I should like to point out to Mr. Dawe that before he makes aspersions he should be sure of his facts. If Mr. Dawe can remember what the peal of 10, as referred to by him, were like, then he must be more advanced in years than one would believe, for there is no record here of a 'St. Ann's tower' in this town.

He has visited, he says, 1,100-1,200 towers—all I can say is he has mixed some other with ours. The nearest reference one can find here to St. Ann's is a church in St. Ann's Road, Rotherham, and this is known as St. Stephen's Church, and has a peal of eight bells (by Warners). It cannot then be that. Presumably Mr. Dawe means 'All Saints,' which is the name of the Parish Church of Rotherham, and has been so known for 700-800 years.

Now for something about our old ten bells. In 1820, and whilst a ring of eight were still in our tower, it was reported in the local press that we were to have a HARMONIOUS peal of ten—that is when the tradition respecting our old ten began. (We ultimately got them 105 years later.)

The fact that the old ten had the reputation of being harmonious did not make them so, any more than their reputedly being a maiden peal added to their musical qualities. Modern methods go to prove just the reverse. The reputation was zealously handed down though, and, among the old school, considered something to be proud of—until we got something far, far better, and in the opinion of those considered fit to judge—magnificent.

There was no historical interest attached to the old peal—the then founders evidently not considering any inscriptions that appeared on the previous eight to be worth reproducing.

In the paragraphs immediately preceding Mr. Dawe's reference to the above, he says, 'Any old ring of bells of any note at all were valuable.' Now our old ten were like that. 'ANY NOTE AT ALL,' the numerous tonal defects, etc., being gloriously covered by their reputation only.

I thank Mr. Dawe for his referring to our present peal as 'magnificent'—that's the kind of peal we wanted.

I might inform Mr. Dawe that there is still another very old Ring of Bells in this town whose end is near—it has ceased to be either in harmony with the church or itself, and no amount of sentiment will save it—but it only happens to be a 'pub' of that name.

COLIN HYDER.

BOW BELLS RING AGAIN. DEDICATION BY THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY LORD MAYOR ATTENDS IN STATE.

The dedication and re-opening of the restored bells of the church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, London, took place on Friday with all the pomp of ecclesiastic ceremony and civic state. After six years' silence Bow bells once more gave voice over the City. The dedication was performed by his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, and attended by the Lord Mayor of London (Sir Percy W. Greenaway) and the Sheriffs.

On Saturday there was a great gathering of ringers to hear and try the bells. Nearly 500 were present from all parts of the country, and over 300 actually had a turn at the ropes during the afternoon and evening. There was a stirring service in the church, followed by tea, at which the ringers were the guests of Mr. Gordon Selfridge, and the day's proceedings concluded with a social gathering at the Cannon Street Hotel.

THE RESTORATION.

The story of the restoration of Bow bells has already been told. The bells became silent about six years ago at a time when other pressing work was needed to the fabric of the church and steeple. The result was that in 1930 an appeal was made for £15,000. As funds were available, the tower and steeple were renovated, substantial sums being contributed by the city Livery companies. The bells were restored by the generosity of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge, who undertook to pay the entire cost of the recasting and repair of the bells and fittings on condition that the work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry, on the lines proposed by them. At the time it was thought that the recasting of only two or three bells would be necessary, but in the end eight out of the twelve bells were recast, including the tenor. This latter is now a magnificent bell of 54 cwt. 12 lb. in B, and the old eleventh of 31 cwt. 2 qr., which has been retained, cannot 'live' up to her. Compared with the tenor, the 11th is short in weight, which no tuning could rectify. The result is a noticeable difference in the 'body' of tone in the two bells, to the disadvantage, of course, of the old bell, and it illustrates the difficulty of getting a balanced peal when old bells are left in a minority among new bells if the latter are to come up to modern standards. Entirely new fittings have been supplied to all the bells, which have been rehung on ball bearings in the old frame, which has been strengthened with angle plates and anchored to a massive girder grillage. The ceiling of the ringing room has been lowered and a slight rearrangement of the frame has provided a better circle for the ropes. Everything in the equipment of the bells is of the most modern type, and the whole work has been designed and executed with the efficiency characteristic of the Croydon Foundry. The question of acoustics, however, has not yet been finally settled satisfactorily, and further adjustments, now that the effect of the bells has been ascertained, will be made. A serious problem, however, arises outside the tower, where the noise from the bells is overpowering. The Church authorities must do something to remedy this.

THE DEDICATION.

The historic church was filled with a congregation representing many phases of city life, when the bells were dedicated on Friday, and large numbers of people waited in Cheapside to watch the arrival of the Lord Mayor and to hear the new bells. The Lord Mayor, who was accompanied by the Sheriffs, aldermen and members of the City Council, the mace and sword bearers and the City Marshal in gorgeous uniform, was met by the robed clergy and moved in procession to their allotted seats. Another procession was then formed, headed by the choir, and including the Archbishop of Canterbury and some twenty or more clergy, with the Rector (the Rev. S. Gordon Ponsonby), and proceeded to the chancel. The service began with Psalms 122 ('I was glad when they said unto me: We will go into the House of the Lord') and 150 ('O praise God in His holiness'). Prayers were then offered by the Rector, and the lesson was read by the Lord Mayor from Rev. xxi., 1-7. Next came the hymn, 'Through all the changing scenes of life,' which was followed by the address.

The Archbishop of Canterbury based his address upon the text, 'There are so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification.' How many kinds of voices there are in the world, he said, we know better than any other generation in the world's history. It baffled thought to reflect that at this moment we had at hand an apparatus to hear sounds coming from all parts of the earth and passing on their unknown ways. All there, he thought, would agree that of all the voices in the world there were few that had more signification than the sound of church bells. Here in England they had reason to be proud of their church bells, more perhaps than in any other country. Some of them remembered hearing the great booming tones of the magnificent bells in the Low Countries, sounding over the market place, and some the almost unequalled beauty of the sound of the bells in old Russia, now, alas, silenced, and the metal out of which this rich music once came diverted to other uses. But in England their bells were more numerous and rich than in any other country. Indeed, one great writer said if he were asked suddenly, 'What is England?' he would reply, 'It is hearing the sound of the bells rising from the village church through the clustering trees and roofs, in the stillness of the summer air.' The sound of the bells in many of their cities and towns was equally impressive and he was using no exaggeration of language when he said that of all the bells of England—the great and famous bells of England—there were none better known than the bells of Bow. Every English child who had learned the story of Dick Whittington—and he hoped there were still some children of England who were educated in the old nursery tales; it would be a woeful thing if they were not—every English child, properly educated, knew that legend of the city of London, and the sound of these Bow bells had been familiar to the citizens of London for long centuries. It was even said in the days of old that no one who was not born within the sound of these bells could properly call himself a citizen of London. Therefore, it was that the bells of Bow had been almost a part of London itself. For some time they had been silent; in a few minutes their voices would be restored and London would hear again their old familiar sound. Was it too much to say that this was not only the restoration of Bow bells, but the restoration of a real part of the life of London?

POWER OF AROUSING ASSOCIATIONS.

What then, continued the Archbishop, was the signification of those voices of the bells? He was not going to speak of things so obvious as that they interpreted, as no other sound could do, the joys and sorrows of human life, but of that most wonderful signification of the bells, their power of arousing associations. He made bold to say there was no spell more potent to revive the associations of our conscious and sub-conscious life than the sound of the bells. As an illustration of this, the Archbishop mentioned that through the marvels of wireless, the chimes of Big Ben at Westminster could be heard all over the world, and only that week one correspondent in the West Indies and another in Arabia had told him that when they heard the sound of Big Ben, all that London meant came back with a sudden rush into their minds and spoke to their souls. Again when the bells of the famous Boston Stump were restored—by the generosity of those whose forefathers went over to the United States with the first pilgrims in the seventeenth century—were heard in Boston, Massachusetts, he had been told how wonderfully and quickly and in a manner impossible through any other means, there came to those Bostonians in the United States the sound of the homeland from which their fathers had come. There was nothing which brought back to those who had lived in Oxford memories of happy days of irresponsibility, promise and hope, like the sound of the bells from the towers and spires of that city, which still, in spite of the clamour of modern life, spoke of the enchantment of the Middle Ages. So there in London, he ventured to ask, if any former citizens were permitted to be there—perhaps Sir Richard Whittington himself—these Bow bells would not in a more immediate and direct way recall the days of their past life in a manner which nothing else could do? And yet there was a second and bigger signification about which he ought to speak; it was that church bells summoned men to worship. There in the midst of the clanging of things seen and temporal the voice of the bells called men to the things unseen and spiritual. It was right, therefore, that they should rededicate these bells to the service of God, so that they would once again summon the citizens of London to worship or at least remind many of them of His presence in their midst; remind them of that other world so different from the world of their business. It was harder to hear the sound of Bow bells to-day than it used to be, for who could hear sounds so beautiful in the midst of the ceaseless discord of our modern traffic, this incessant and increasing hideousness of noise with which modern life seemed inevitably attended? It was harder in this modern life to hear the message of the church bells; so hard for us, in the midst of the increasing perplexity and pressure of this world, to think of the other world unseen.

Was it too much to fancy that, in a few moments, that beautiful church, one of the masterpieces of Wren, the great architect of London, might find again its own voice, make again its own appeal of asking them to join in thanksgiving for the magnificent generosity which had made the restoration of these bells possible, and help the Rector in carrying on his great work of restoring, decorating, heating and lighting of that great church? He asked those present, so far as each might be able to do it, to share in making that old church a living factor in the life of the City, but most of all he hoped there would always be a response to the summons of the bells. He trusted that more and more in the heart of that city the church bells would be heeded as they rang and that more and more of our people would listen to the summons, 'O come let us worship and fall down and kneel before the Lord our Maker.'

'THE CEREMONY'

During the singing of the hymn, 'O God, our help in ages past,' the Archbishop, accompanied by the Rector, the churchwardens, Mr. Gordon Selfridge, Mr. Cyril Johnston and the vestry clerk (Mr. J. Trustram), proceeded to the tower, where the actual dedication was performed, the ceremony being heard in the church by means of amplifiers. Mr. Johnston, representing the bellfounders, handed the rope of the tenor bell to Mr. Selfridge, who gave it into the hands of the churchwardens, saying, 'I pray you receive these bells which have been restored, that they may once more call God's people to this His House of Prayer.' The churchwardens then handed the rope to the Archbishop, requesting him to rededicate the bells, which his Grace did, in the following terms:—

'In the faith of Jesus Christ we do solemnly set apart and rededicate these bells to the glory of God. In the Name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.'

He then handed the rope to the Rector, with the following injunction: 'Receive these bells that have been solemnly set apart from profane and unhallowed uses as a sacred trust committed unto thee as the appointed minister of Christ in this church, and take care that they be ever and only used in God's service and for His glory.'

Then, as the procession returned to the church, the great bells overhead pealed out for the first time, and London heard once again, after long silence, the sound of her famous 'Bow bells.' They were rung in rounds for about two minutes, the men who had this privilege being the following members of the Ancient Society of College Youths: C. F. Winney, H. R. Newton, E. G. Fenn, H. R. Pasmore, T. Langdon, H. G. Miles, W. T. Cockerill, W. Rushton, C. S. Burden, T. H. Taffender, H. Langdon and A. B. Peck.

When silence once more fell, special prayers were offered by the Archbishop, and during the singing of the hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven,' a collection was taken for the Restoration Fund, for which £2,400 is still needed. The impressive service concluded with the Blessing pronounced by the Archbishop.

As the congregation dispersed, the bells once more pealed out and went into a well-struck touch of 1,059 Stedman Cinquses, rung by C. F. Winney, F. M. Butler, E. G. Fenn, H. R. Pasmore, T. Langdon, H. R. Newton, W. T. Cockerill, W. Rushton, C. S. Burden, T. H. Taffender, H. Langdon (conductor) and A. B. Peck. Large numbers of people as they passed through Cheapside stopped to hear the bells, which were again rung in the evening to touches of Stedman Cinquses and a course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

RINGERS' DAY.

300 TRY BOW BELLS.

Saturday was 'Ringers' Day' at Bow, and from the number who shared in the proceedings it was obvious that they looked upon the gathering as a national event. All the afternoon the precincts of the famous church were thronged with ringers, who had come from all parts of the country. Under the supervision of members of the committee, they were marshalled into bands, and as many as possible tried their hand at the ropes. In some cases only rounds were possible, but courses of Stedman and Grandsire Cinquses and three bob leads of Treble Twelve were rung. The same procedure was followed in the evening, and altogether some 500 ringers took part in the ringing. Other towers were also utilised during the day, among those placed at the disposal of the visitors being St. Giles-in-the-Fields (8), St. James', Clerkenwell (8), St. Clement Danes (10) and St. Martin-in-the-Fields (12), but this last-named tower, having been brought in at the last minute to help relieve the pressure, and being available only in the afternoon before the facilities were fully known, was not used.

There was a wonderfully inspiring service in Bow Church at four o'clock, the spacious building being filled by ringers and their friends. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. S. Gordon Ponsonby), and opened with the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God.' No choir was needed to lead the singing, the voices of the great congregation filling the church with a wonderful volume of sound. Following the lesson, the Rector recited the prayers, one of which offered thanks and praise 'for all the benefactors of this Thine ancient house of prayer; and especially for those who have helped us at this time with the roof, the steeple and the bells.' After the hymn, 'O God, our help in ages past,' the Rector gave an address based upon the words, 'Make a joyful noise unto God' (Psalm 66, 1). He traced the history and uses of bells, and, referring to the growing importance of the position of bellringers, said it was of interest to him that they had met that day in Cheapside, where, as far as he could ascertain, the first Guild of ringers, known as the Scholars of Cheapside, was formed in 1602—before the great Society of College Youths, which was founded in 1637, and many other societies, one of which was the London Scholars, which in 1745 took the name of Royal Cumberland Youths. As the years went on the importance of the position of ringers in the organisation of the Church of England had been gradually recognised, and the ringers themselves realised the hallowed nature of their work.

The service concluded with the hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' and the Blessing.

The ringers then made their way to Selfridge's Store, in Oxford Street, where they were entertained to a meat tea by Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge. Lt.-Col. C. C. O. Whiteley, O.B.E., one of the churchwardens of Bow, presided, and was supported by the Rev. S. Gordon Ponsonby, Mr. J. H. Clark (managing director of Selfridge's), Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, Mrs. A. Johnston, Miss Nora Johnston, Mr. E. S. Underwood, F.R.I.B.A. (architect), and Mr. J. Trustram (vestry clerk). The ringers present, who numbered over 450, represented the following Associations and Guilds: Ancient Society of College Youths, Royal Cumberland Youths, Bedfordshire Association, Chester Diocesan Guild, Ely Diocesan Association, Essex Association, Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, Guildford Diocesan Guild, Hertford County Association, Kent County Association, Lancashire Association, Llandaff and Monmouth Association, London County Association, Middlesex County Association, Midland Counties Association, North Notts Association, Norwich Diocesan Guild, Oxford Diocesan Guild, Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Salisbury Diocesan Guild, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, Society for the Archdeaconry of Staffs, Suffolk Guild, Surrey Association, Sussex Association, Warwickshire Guild, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild and the Yorkshire Association.

BOW CHURCH MICE.

After tea Lt.-Col. Whiteley proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Gordon Selfridge for his hospitality. He said when they knew that the ringers were going to honour them with their presence, the question arose as to how they were going to entertain them. Church funds were none too good in these days. They had all heard of the church mouse, and the mice in Bow Church were no exception (laughter). When the matter was mentioned to Mr. Selfridge, without a moment's hesitation he said, 'May I have the honour of entertaining them at my establishment in Oxford Street?' 'And, gentlemen,' said the Chairman, 'here you are' (applause). Mr. Selfridge, in his kindness and generosity, had, as they all knew, footed the bill for recasting Bow bells, and, speaking on behalf of the church, the Rector and the churchwardens, he could not find words to express their gratitude to Mr. Selfridge. Therefore, while they were enjoying his hospitality at that gathering, he (the chairman) would like to remind them that in Bow Church there was a great monument to Mr. Selfridge's generosity (applause). Unfortunately, Mr. Selfridge could not be with them that afternoon, but they had there his managing director, Mr. Clark, whom he would ask to express to Mr. Selfridge not only the thanks of the Rector and churchwardens and all connected with Bow Church, but of the company present that afternoon (applause). There was one other gentleman whose name he must mention, and that was Mr. Johnston, the founder of the bells (applause). As far as he knew, the bells were well and truly founded. They had heard the bells and Mr. Johnston had done his job right nobly. He thought those present would also like to say, 'Thank you' to him for organising that show. It had meant an enormous amount of work, and they were very grateful to him. He (the chairman) thought it was perfectly wonderful that ringers should have come there from all parts of the country, and many of them at considerable expense, and, on behalf of the church, he expressed appreciation of the honour they had done to Bow Church (applause).

Mr. Clark, acknowledging the vote of thanks, said Mr. Selfridge asked him to express his intense regret that he was unable to be present. Mr. Selfridge's interest had already been referred to; he could assure them that Mr. Selfridge was just about as proud that Bow bells had been reconditioned as they were who had been joyfully ringing them that day. Mr. Selfridge's interest in bells started when they erected the very beautiful clock on the front of their building. He made one or two visits to Croydon, and he (the speaker) also had the privilege of being present when the big four-ton hour bell was cast, and had the pleasure of throwing a humble coin into the metal. Mr. Selfridge had asked him to express a hearty welcome to them all and regret that, as it happened to be Saturday, they had not the opportunity of looking through the store. Mr. Clark expressed his personal pleasure at meeting so many bellringers. He was, he said, essentially British, and the chiming of bells was still one of the most musical things he could listen to. There was nothing more beautiful and nothing more delightful than to hear the strain of the bells while enjoying the beauty of the English countryside, and he had happy recollections of the bells of the church in his native town of Shepton Mallet in Somerset.

The Chairman thanked the staff of Messrs. Selfridge, who were working that afternoon and giving up their time for that party (applause).

Mr. C. F. Johnston, who was received with applause, proposed an 'omnibus' vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens of Bow Church for letting them have the use of the bells there, to the Rector for the impressive and beautiful service and for his arresting address. He (Mr. Johnston) did not think many of them could recollect many ringers' services so well attended, and, perhaps, so thrilling. Mr. Johnston also thanked the organist, who had given up his Saturday afternoon for their service, and the vestry clerk, who had had no small amount of work in connection with the arrangements. They also appreciated the presence of three of the churchwardens that afternoon. Their thanks were also due to the incumbents of the other churches where the bells had been placed at their disposal—St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, St. Clement Danes, St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. James', Clerkenwell. He also thanked the steeplekeepers of those churches and expressed his own appreciation of the help given by the committee of well-known ringers who had assisted in the arrangements and who had been in attendance to control the ringing and make sure that everybody, as far as possible, got a pull. Mr. Johnston added that 28 Diocesan Guilds and County Associations were represented at that gathering and there were something over 450 ringers present. Mr. Johnston expressed regret that the pamphlets which it was proposed to distribute had not been received from the printers, but these would be sent on by post to all those who had applied for tickets. Proceeding, he said he appreciated the honour the authorities of Bow Church had done him in asking him to organise that day's meeting. He immediately set to work to collect ten or twelve ringers, used to organisation, and they readily gave their assistance. To them he tendered his sincere thanks (applause).

Mr. F. M. Mitchell (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) seconded the vote of thanks, which was acknowledged by the Rev. S. Gordon Ponsbury, who said it was a great honour to have so many ringers from all parts of the country at their church. He welcomed them all very warmly and hoped they would sometimes have visits from some of them in the future. He expressed the great indebtedness of the church to Mr. Selfridge for his generous gift of the bells, and hoped they would long be rung for the welfare of the church and the glory of God (applause).

A SOCIAL EVENING.

Later in the evening there was a large gathering of ringers in the Pillar Hall at the Cannon Street Hotel, where Mr. Howard Hicklenton, senior churchwarden of Bow, presided and a happy evening was spent. It was mentioned that among those present was Mr. J. W. Rowbotham, who rang the second bell when the ring of twelve was first opened at Bow in 1881, and had rung the second again that day. Mr. Rowbotham's health was drunk with musical honours.

Also present was Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., who had rung in the two long peals at Bow, the 6,048 Stedman Cinques in 1909 and the 7,392 Cambridge Maximus in 1925. Others in the 1925 peal who were present were Messrs. C. T. and A. Coles, G. R. Pye, J. H. Cheesman, W. H. Hewitt and J. E. Davis. Mr. Joseph Waghorn, sen., now 91 years of age, was also among the company, and a message of sympathy and good wishes was sent to Mr. E. Gibbs, who rang in a peal at Bow in 1890, and who is now in a nursing home.

The evening was spent with an entertainment provided by professional artists, and in handbell ringing, the latter including Stedman Cinques, Treble Ten, Double Norwich Major and Stedman Triples. More than all, however, it provided an opportunity for many old friends to meet again and enjoy each other's company for an all too brief time. The social was at the invitation of the churchwardens of Bow and was arranged by the vestry clerk (Mr. J. Trustram), to whom, as to the artists, thanks are due.

The whole of the day's proceedings had been admirably organised and passed off with the greatest success.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Yeovil on Saturday, July 1st, when nearly 100 members were present, the following towers being represented: Bath, Chilcompton, Pensford, St. Mary's, St. James' and St. George's (Taunton), Evercreech, Castle Cary, Butleigh, West Pennard, North Cadbury, Trowbridge, Martock, Ilminster, Douling, Langport, Trull, East Coker and Yeovil.

Touches in various methods on the bells of the Parish Church were followed by a service in the church, which was conducted by the Vicar of Yeovil (the Rev. J. E. S. Harrison). The lesson was read by the steward of the Yeovil belfry (Mr. John Goodchild).

In the course of a short address, the Vicar gave a very cordial welcome to the members of the association, and said that since they last visited Yeovil the bells in the tower had been reconditioned and various improvements had been carried out. They were now in first-class condition, and, no doubt, would be a joy and a pleasure to the ringers present that day. Speaking of the ringers in that tower, the Vicar said he was indebted to them for the willing way their duties were carried out Sunday by Sunday, as, no doubt, ringers in other parts of the diocese were doing. The ringers were rendering most useful work to the church, and were doing it, he hoped, to the honour and glory of God and the worship in His Holy House, of which he hoped they all took the fullest advantage.

After the service the Vicar proceeded to the ringing chamber, where he dedicated a tablet which has been placed there to commemorate a peal rung on December 26th, 1932.

The members adjourned to St. John's Schoolroom, where they enjoyed tea.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The business meeting followed, and was presided over by the Master, the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, supported by the Vicar of Yeovil.

On the proposition of the secretary (Mr. J. T. Dyke), seconded by Mr. D. G. Taylor, Messrs. A. E. Coles, of Bridgwater, and J. Maddock, of Taunton, were elected honorary life members, as a mark of appreciation of their work in past years for the association. Mr. Maddock replied.

The report of the Master and the treasurer's balance sheets were adopted.

Calling on Mr. J. Hunt for an account of the proceedings at the Central Council meeting, the Master congratulated him on being co-opted on the Towers and Belfries Committee. Mr. Hunt's report was adopted.

The Rev. E. S. C. Lock was unanimously re-elected Master, and Mr. J. T. Dyke (Chilcompton) hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. D. G. Taylor (Ilminster) was re-elected hon. auditor.

It was decided to hold the quarterly meetings at Milverton, Corston and Castle Cary, and the annual meeting at Taunton.

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Yeovil for the welcome he had given the association and for his kind words to them at the service; and to the organist and to the ladies who had provided tea.—Mr. W. J. Prescott seconded the motion, which was heartily carried.

The Vicar, in reply, said they had been delighted to have the association at Yeovil, and he hoped it would not be another five years before it met there again. He wished to join with them in thanking Mrs. Goodchild and the ladies who had helped her with providing tea.

Further touches were afterwards rung on the bells. The methods rung during the day included Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Kent.

'GREAT RINGING DAY.'

SAFFRON WALDEN'S COMMEMORATION.

By the kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. L. Hughes, D.D., the 310th anniversary of Great Ringing Day was celebrated at Saffron Walden on Saturday, June 24th, it being the nearest Saturday to the festival day—June 27th.

The society opened the day at 9 a.m. with touches of London and Cambridge Surprise and Stedman Caters. Visitors began to arrive at 9.30, and the bells were going all the morning in the Surprise methods as well as in Stedman Caters and Cinques. The usual service was held at 12.30, and the Vicar preached a splendid sermon, in which he mentioned the history of Bow bells and Dick Whittington.

A hot lunch was served at the King's Arms, at which the Master of the Society, Mr. Alfred Pitstow, presided.

The bells were kept going all the afternoon and evening until 9 p.m. in methods on eight, ten and twelve bells, three plain courses of Cambridge Royal being successfully brought round. To close a good day's ringing, the handbells were brought out, and touches of Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and Caters were rung. Among those present were Dr. E. L. Taylor (Sevenoaks), Mr. G. Dent (Potters Street), Master of North-West Division of Essex Association, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cross (Barnhurst), Messrs. J. W. Jones (Monmouth), F. Ridgwell (Earls Colne), J. Ward (Melbourn), T. and G. Jordan and T. Watts (Stansted), W. Prior (Bishop's Stortford), A. Pye, Fiddler (Hitchin), Lucas (Tottenham), F. Hurrey (Stawston) and others. The society rang on the festival day at 7.30 p.m.

A YORKSHIRE RINGING CONTEST.SHELLEY WIN BARNSELY SHIELD.

The Barnsley and District Association held a meeting and shield contest at Darfield on Saturday, July 8th. Only five bands entered for the competition and they were drawn to ring in the following order: 1 Sarnal, 2 Wath 'B,' 3 Shelley, 4 Wath 'A,' 5 Hoylandswaine. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., the test piece being 720 changes of Minor. All the bands rang through and finished about 7.30 p.m. Tea was served in the Schoolroom to a party of upwards of 40, who were joined by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Sorby).

The Vicar presided at the business meeting and gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Darfield. The Vicar takes a great interest in the bells and in bell hanging, and illustrated how the bells should swing as a protection to the tower.

Crofton was selected for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, August 12th. It was impressed on all intending visitors to Crofton who wished to have tea that applications must be sent in, as, being a small village, it was a difficult problem to provide for extras.

The judges, Mr. G. Lewis and Mr. R. Thickett, then gave their report on the contest, which placed the teams as follows:—

1 Shelley, 55 faults, winners of shield and half-dozen knives and forks for each ringer.

2 Sandal, 88 faults, winners of salad bowls.

3 Wath 'A,' 89 faults, winners of fruit spoons.

4 Hoylandswaine, 162 faults.

5 Wath 'B,' 269 faults.

A vote of thanks to the judges for their services was moved by Mr. A. Goldthorpe, seconded by Mr. J. W. Moxon and supported by Mr. A. Panther. Both Mr. Lewis and Mr. Thickett replied.

Mr. Potter proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding, for the use of the bells and for presenting the prizes, and also to the ladies for providing such a splendid tea and to the local company for the arrangements made.—The Vicar replied for the whole.

Mr. R. J. Ricketts then moved that the best thanks be extended to the secretary (Mr. Panther) for the extra work done in trying to make the contest a success.—This was carried unanimously and accepted with pleasure.

A few visitors afterwards adjourned to the tower and kept the beautiful bells going until 9 p.m. To all subscribers to the prize fund the hon. secretary extends his best thanks.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.GUILDFORD DISTRICT MEETING AT GRAYSHOTT.

Grayshott, situated on the border of the Guildford Diocese and, in fact, just in the county of Hants, has a light ring of eight, which was installed in the Parish Church about two years ago, but not until July 1st this year have the members of the Guildford District had an opportunity of holding a district meeting there. The weather was a complete success, but, measured by the attendance of district members, the meeting was only partially so.

Whisper it gently in the eight and ten bell towers of the district, apart from the local band, the number of members attending from these towers was only six! However, thanks to a contingent from a six-bell tower, who appear to have a very efficient motor convoy, the Farnham District and the local band, the total ringers present numbered nearly thirty.

The usual service, conducted by the Vicar, was brightened by the attendance of the organist and a fairly large choir of boys. One gentleman from afar, who by means of rail and cycle had arrived on the scene early, was rather late for the service. It is understood that, in accordance with his usual custom, he had been bird-nesting round the bell frame!

At the business meeting, presided over by the Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse), Mr. R. J. Bailey, of the local band, was elected as a ringing member of the Guild, and Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, as a compounding member.

In proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar, Mr. W. C. Ryde, of the local band, who made all arrangements, the organist and choir, the Master mentioned that although the bells had been in the tower for two years, no peal had been rung on them, and he expressed the hope that an opportunity for an attempt would be granted in the near future.

OVER, CAMBS.—At the Parish Church for evensong, a 720 Norwich Surprise (second observation): R. Smith 1, F. C. Ginn 2, C. Robinson 3, M. Ginn 4, A. J. Ginn 5, F. Warrington 6.

PUTTING SOMETHING IN.

We would like to underline a question put generally to ringers by the Hon. Secretary of the Middlesex Association at a joint meeting of his own and the Hertford County Associations on Saturday: 'What do we put into ringing?' It is not a new question, but it needs repeating and emphasising. There are plenty of ringers who ask themselves, 'What do I get out of it?' without realising that they will get nothing out of it for long unless in their turn they put something into it. It is usually the men who complain most of getting so little out of membership of their ringing association who put least into it; and who become disgruntled because things are not always done for their special benefit. We commend Mr. Coles' remarks to all ringers of this type — there are numerous ways in which the humblest of us can help others. The man who reaps the richest reward and achieves the greatest satisfaction is he who seeks to benefit others without thought of his own gain. There are many such doing work in the Exercise; there is room for many more.

And as if to emphasise the point, the Oxford Diocesan Guild on Saturday was provided with an outstanding example of this sinking of personal inclinations in order to advance the common purpose. Faced by the sudden and irreplaceable loss of its revered master, the Guild was without a successor of influence and experience, until Canon Coleridge, 'nearer 80 years of age than 70,' as he put it, and already almost overburdened with the work of a large parish, stepped into the breach and shouldered the duties of the important office which had for well over twenty years been so faithfully and adequately discharged by the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. Canon Coleridge told the members that it was only the emergency which induced him to accept election; but few men of his years would have accepted it under any circumstances, and the Oxford Guild has thus been furnished with one more instance of that loyalty and devotion to them and to the cause of church bell ringing which have been shown in numberless ways during more than half a century by their new Master.

Let it be remembered that the mastership of the Oxford Guild is no sinecure. The Guild covers three counties, and numbers something like 2,400 members spread over its fifteen branches. To accept the burden of office at his time of life is therefore no mean undertaking for the Canon, but years and labour seem to sit lightly upon him. Would that the spirit which burns within him could be kindled in others, who lack interest and enthusiasm. It is the men like Canon Coleridge, and his predecessor, who, through long years, put their utmost into ringing who have made it what it is to-day, and we venture to say that no one has got more real joy out of it than they have. If something of their zeal could be more widely imparted, belfries would be more fully manned, ringing would be better, associations would be more efficient, and the art raised to a still higher level.

QUALIFIED ADVISERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The remarks of Canon Elsee at the Council meeting during the debate on Mr. Dawe's motion prompt me to ask a question or two.

Generally the person who represents ringers as a body is the Guild officer. He may be an accomplished ringer and efficient in his duties as a society official. But does it follow that he always has sufficient knowledge of bell matters to carry any weight if elected to an Advisory Board?

How and when does a man become properly qualified to advise on bell restorations?

I maintain that to-day, with very few exceptions, the only person competent to give sound advice is the bell founder.

MR. JAMES GEORGE'S CHALLENGE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I cannot accept Mr. Coles' letter in 'The Ringing World' of July 7th, as any answer to mine. The point at issue is the truth of his statement that I was a party to a tablet recording a false peal. This I again challenge him to prove.

I have nothing to add or delete from my letter except that it is to be hoped that Mr. Coles' memory may be as good as mine when he reaches my age.

LEADING BELL FOUNDERS

PEALS OF MINOR.

The Council next came to the consideration of two motions by which it was sought to lay down a definition for peals of Minor and Doubles. The first, proposed by Mr. S. H. Wood, was as follows:—

That peals of Minor shall in general consist of seven or more separate extents rung consecutively and without interval. That compositions arranged on what is known as the 'Bankes James principle,' notwithstanding that they do not conform to the above definition, shall be recognised as peals.

The second, in the name of Mr. C. T. Coles, was in these terms:—

That a peal of Minor should consist of seven true and complete round blocks of 720 changes each, in a recognised method or methods, rung consecutively and without interval, rounds thus occurring at the beginning and end of and at regular intervals throughout the peal.

That a peal of Doubles should consist of 42 true and complete round blocks of 120 changes each, in a recognised method or methods, rung consecutively and without interval, rounds thus occurring at the beginning and end of and at regular intervals throughout the peal.

That peals as above may be lengthened by the addition of one or more true and complete round blocks of 720 (or of 120) changes, each fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one true round block having less changes.

That any departure from the above standards is not encouraged; notwithstanding this, however, a peal of Minor or of Doubles may consist of any arrangement of 5,040 changes in a recognised method or methods, provided that no change is rung more (or less) than seven times in a peal of Minor, or 42 times in a peal of Doubles, and that the whole starts from and ends with rounds. Such a peal may be lengthened, provided that no change is rung more than once for each additional 720 (or 120) changes, and that the whole ends with rounds.

These resolutions, said the President, were not prejudiced by the resolution which the Council had just passed. They were sent in independently, and they were very much on the same subject. He was therefore going to suggest that they took them together in debate.

This course having been agreed to, the President said he had to make an apology to Mr. Stephen Wood, who sent his resolution through him to the secretary, and in putting it on the agenda a parenthetical note was left out. This note was intended to define what was meant by the Bankes James arrangement, and was as follows:—

This arrangement consists of a number of successive blocks of 720 true rows, not necessarily round blocks themselves, but which, when joined together consecutively, form a round block, starting from and ending with rounds. It is recommended that such compositions should only be used when there is considered to be some definite gain from the point of view of variety or music.

COUNCIL NOT LEGISLATING FOR THE PAST.

The President, continuing, said there had been a great deal of confusion as to what was meant by the Council recognising peals or otherwise, and the question had been raised—he had heard it in private discussion—as to what, if the resolution of the Midland Counties Association was passed, was going to happen with regard to the various peals that had been rung containing these special compositions which were not true round blocks of 720. It did not seem to him that anything happened at all. Many of the peals which had been rung did not conform to the Council's existing rule, or so he was told. Whether they did or not, the Council were not legislating for the past; they were legislating for the future as to what should be the standard at which five and six-bell ringers should aim. In his view the Council had taken no steps either to recognise or not recognise the various peals that had been rung. The only way the Council came in touch with the peals was through the Peals Analysis Committee, and that committee did not attempt in any way to discriminate between legitimate or regular peals or otherwise. That committee's function, when it was appointed, was to carry on the work formerly done by Mr. Attree, and that work was to make an analysis of the peals published. The Council had no control over the publication of the ringing papers, and the Analysis Committee did not control the figures they took out; they merely took out the figures that were published, unless a peal was definitely withdrawn by subsequent publication. There was no question of the Council recognising these peals or not. Many peals were rung which were not regular, and all those peals went in the analysis. He wanted the Council to be clear on that point. Now that they had adopted the new rules there was the possibility of the Council recognising a peal in future, for this reason: Societies, associations and guilds would in future be definitely affiliated to the Central Council and agree to abide by its decisions. If, therefore, the Council decided that such and such peals should not be rung, the local associations, being loyal, would see that such peals were not recorded in their own books, and should such peals be published under the name of any society the society would be expected to see it was withdrawn from under its name. In the past the Council had not been able to do that. It would be a physical impossibility for the Analysis Committee to inquire into the composition of every peal that was rung. Local associations could do it because they had the local knowledge and knew who the conductors were and the conductor's reputation, and they would know pretty well what he was likely to have called. There was one other difficulty. A number of Minor peals had been published without stating what was rung. Whatever they did, he thought the Council should be sure that nothing happened which would drive the figures underground. What was most important was that what was rung should be recorded somewhere so that future generations could decide on the merits of it, whether it should be rung or not. They did not want to do anything to hide the figures of peals. It did not matter, to his mind, whether people rang these things or not, but they could not expect the Central Council to go outside its rules if, in the future, it could maintain some sort of control on publication. If a thing was rung, as long as they knew what was rung, the general public could judge it on its merits.

THE COUNCIL'S DUTY.

Mr. Wood then moved the first of the resolutions. Quite frankly, he said, many people were heartily 'fed up' with the question, and wanted to see the end of it, and the reason he put the motion before the Council that day was because he felt they had a definite duty to perform. The majority of the Exercise did look to them for a lead, and he did not think they had done their duty until they had given a definite pronouncement on the subject, and they had not done that yet. Until they did it, either unanimously or by an overwhelming majority, they certainly had not done much to clear up the muddle which existed. He did not see that they could lay down definite laws as to what should be rung or not, but what the Council said to-day was going to have a definite influence on Minor ringers and on what they were going to ring and on the direction in which Minor ringing was going to develop in future. What he was asking the Council to say was this: 'We will agree to accept separate extents as a general principle of a peal of Minor and Doubles.' Then he was going to ask them to agree that, having accepted that general principle, any other compositions which deviated from it must be considered as exceptions, and if they agreed to do that they could deal with each exception on its individual merits. What he did not see the point of was, if they were going to have the Bankes James principle, they must have everything else. He did not think that was necessary at all. If they wanted the Bankes James or any other particular composition, let them have it; they could only say what they would recognise and what they would not. He asked the Council to consider very carefully whether it was wise to throw over at one fell swoop all the old conventions, because that was what Mr. Coles' motion asked them to do. He asked them to let in everything. Surely the wiser course to pursue was to stick to the general principle and consider other things as exceptions, consider each one individually, and see whether or not it was worth retaining. As regards the Bankes James principle it was for him to put forward the case for accepting that composition in future. He promised not to talk about 'tampering with truth,' 'Did rounds come at the beginning or the end?' or 'Did they ring rows or changes?' To his mind none of these things had a direct bearing on the subject. All the Council had to decide was, was it their opinion that it was in the interests of ringing that the Bankes James arrangement should continue to be rung; if it was, let them have it, but let them have it honestly and straightforwardly. It did not conform to the general rule; let them, therefore, have it as an exception, and not by twisting the old rules to mean something they were never intended to mean. There were those who asked the Council to allow no exceptions at all. With that view he had a good deal of sympathy. His only reason for asking them to pass his motion instead of the amendment was that the latter had been tried already and found wanting. Under that system there was an awful muddle going on, and if they passed a rule saying they would allow no deviations from the principle of separate extents, they would do nothing to clear up this muddle, and there was grave danger of the figures being driven underground. If the amendment were passed that the Bankes James arrangement would not be accepted as a peal in future, and he saw the record of a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor without further description, he would not feel very happy in his own mind as to what was rung. He thought a most important point was: How and why did these compositions first come to be composed? He could answer that question, because his friend, Mr. Hooton, who was the first to call it, was in the room when Mr. James composed it. It arose like this. They had been ringing peals of Cambridge Minor and found themselves up against two alternatives, either they had to ring the same or similar 720's over again, or, to get a greater variation of composition, they had to include 720's with the 6.5's at back stroke, and so Mr. James composed his peal. It did not conform to the general idea, but he (Mr. Wood) was not concerned with that. If they liked it and it was useful, let them ring it; if it was not, let them say so. Had it been proved useful or not? They must answer that by the number of times it had been rung and the number of times it continued to be rung. It was proved that there was a definite need for it; if the need still existed he asked the Council to vote in favour of the resolution, and he asked them to accept the Bankes James arrangement definitely as an exception to the general principle.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith formally seconded the motion.

HISTORY OF THE CONTROVERSY.

Mr. C. T. Coles, in moving his resolution, said the president's speech had cut some of the ground from under his feet. Mr. Wood had said all there was to be said about the Bankes James arrangement of Minor, and all there was to be said about the Morris and Pitman's arrangements of Doubles, because they were in the same category, and they could not admit the one without the other. The Council would remember the old definition of a peal of Minor, which laid down that there should be seven true and complete 720's each ending with rounds and with only one row of rounds intervening. Up to 1928 there was no definition for a peal of Doubles. They should remember also that when the Minor ringers began to agitate for their performances to be classed as peals the only thing for them to ring was seven 720's or one 720 seven times, or 42 six-scores of Doubles, and on that the Council laid down its first definition of a peal of Minor. The trouble began in 1923 when the Bankes James peal of Cambridge Minor was rung. This peal departed from the orthodox. It consisted of 720 rows, but to get 720 true rows they had to count the first row of rounds. The 720's were not in round blocks; the 720's were in two round blocks of 2,160 each. That was a departure from the standard. Then they got Mr. Law James' London, which departed further from the principle, and the Pitman and Morris Doubles. They were rung considerably throughout the country, and as regards the Cambridge Minor 'The Ringing World' published a paragraph calling it a wonderful contribution to composition, and they did not then find any criticism of the peal. At the Hereford meeting an attempt was made to alter the rule for peals of Minor to bring in the Bankes James arrangement, and for the first time to put in a ruling for peals on five bells on a similar plan. That definition was framed for the purpose of bringing in the Bankes James arrangement, but no 720 could be complete unless it came back to where it started from. When they came to the Chelmsford meeting the Methods Committee brought up a report, and wished to print these compositions in the 'Collection of Minor Methods.' They had then one of the most terrible decisions perpetrated by that Council; they had a motion to refer the report back, so far as the Pitman and Morris Doubles and the Bankes James Cambridge and Law James London were concerned, on the ground that these compositions were 'hopelessly false.' That began a tremendous controversy. They had the words 'hopelessly false' bandied about for months. That motion was carried by 30 votes to 29, but subsequently on the same day the Council decided to publish the whole lot of the compositions in the Methods Committee's book, simply with the proviso that it did not commit anybody to the opinion that they were suitable for peal ringing. That was carried by 44 votes to three. First of all the Council expressed the opinion that the compositions were hopelessly false, and then they agreed to print them in their book. They had had a recurrence of the controversy several times since. Mr. Powell, Mr. Trollope, Mr. Law James, himself and others had tried to voice the ideas of the Exercise and to state the logical sequence of events in the Council. The only ground on which they could turn down a composition was that it was false. If in a peal of Major or Triples there was a repetition it was false, and no resolution of the Council would ever make it true. One 720 of Minor or 120 of Doubles was in exactly the same position; if they had a repetition of one row it was false. But in a peal of Minor they had to have each row seven times, and if they only had each row seven times they could not say it was false—it was a misuse of language to say that it was. Were they now going to turn down the compositions that had been rung so much? The Bankes James Minor had been rung 72 times by 22 associations; the Pitman and Morris Doubles had been rung 125 times by 18 associations; and, incidentally, there had been 37 peals of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung without description, whereas, before the controversy they used to be described, showing that the fear which had been expressed, of driving figures underground, had actually occurred in the past. Two well-known conductors had candidly admitted to him that although they rang the Bankes James composition they did not publish the fact for the very reason that doubt had been cast on the composition. He asked the Council to clear their minds of any idea that people were trying to thrust something on the Exercise. He was sorry he could not subscribe to the president's idea that what had gone could be left. He believed the logical result of turning down his motion would be a motion brought to ask the Council to give instructions to associations to expunge the peals from their records. If these peals were not fit to ring in the future they were not fit to be rung in the past. To show how difficult it was to get agreement, Mr. Coles mentioned that the gentleman in the Midlands, who called these peals 'hopelessly false,' wrote in 'The Ringing World' that if there was one peal above all that he would accept it was Mr. Atkins' peal of Minor, with only two singles, rung at Isham, while another well-known member of the Council, present that day, wrote to him that he subscribed generally to ringing these compositions, but the thing he could not get on with was the Isham peal. There was another peal which had been published, but never rung, a peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor by Mr. Turner, which consisted of seven true and complete 720's, but because it started in the middle of a 720 it had been described as hopelessly false. Although it consisted of seven true and complete 720's, because it started in the middle of the first 720, some people wanted to rule it out as hopelessly false. They could not find a way out of this impasse, and the only logical thing to do was to accept it. If the Council were prepared to accept the principle of his motion, he was prepared to accept any amendment which would give them a safeguard against those things which had been described as 'abominations.' There was, however, no need to fear; the first two paragraphs laid down what a peal should consist of, and the last paragraph said that any departure from this should not be encouraged. If there was any amendment which would strengthen the position he was prepared to accept it. He asked the members not to be carried away with the idea that these peals were false; they could not possibly be. After the Chelmsford meeting he was talking to a gentleman in that room who, he noticed, had voted for the 'hopelessly false' amendment, and he discovered that he had an objection to peals on six and five bells of every description, because there was repetition in them all. Those who held that view, Mr. Coles contended, ought not to put their spoke in this controversy.

MONOTONY FOR DOUBLES RINGERS.

Mr. E. M. Atkins, who seconded, asked the members to think of the monotony to the five-bell ringers who had to ring peals of Doubles with the limited calling that was now at their disposal. Did they realise that in a peal of Doubles every four minutes rounds came up with absolute and unerring regularity, and not only that, every 40 seconds either the third or the fifth would be double dodging in 4-5. Mr. Lindoff's scheme of splicing together the 120's of Grand sire eliminated that, and was a thing which ought to be encouraged, but they would be debarred unless Mr. Coles' resolution was carried. His only doubt was whether the resolution went far enough. They ought to admit anything that was useful and which the Exercise as a whole took up. The proof of the pudding was in the eating, and anything which would enlarge the scope of the six and five-bell ringers ought to be welcomed. If, on the other hand, they were to defeat this motion and go back to the principle which was in vogue ten years ago, they would be putting a limitation on the five-bell ringers which would restrict them to the monotony of the old 120's. The motion was simply to bring the Council's definitions up to date and put into words the recommendation which was implied in the Minor and Doubles book with regard to compositions of the five and six-bell peals.

The Rev. H. Drake said he agreed with what Mr. Coles had said, except with regard to extents being true and complete. They could not talk about an 'extent' being either true or false. An extent was true, and there was no meaning in the words 'true' or 'false' in relation to an extent. What he took it the motion asked them to do was to allow the use of extents which were not complete. If they had a Morris or a Bankes James arrangement they at once ceased to have an extent which was complete, but it did not follow that it was wrong. They ought to have it clearly in their mind that when they talked of 'true and complete' in relation to Minor and Doubles it only related to extents and not to five thousands.

THE AMENDMENT.

Mr. W. E. White proposed the amendment to the two resolutions in the following terms:—

That a peal of 'Doubles' must consist of not less than forty-two true and complete round blocks of 120 changes each, rung consecutively and without interval, each 120 commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's and/or by the addition of one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions. It may be rung with or without a cover bell.

That a peal of 'Minor' must consist of not less than seven true and complete round blocks of 720 changes each, rung consecutively and without interval, each 720 commencing from and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's and/or one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions. It may not be rung with a cover bell.

He said that under the motion proposed by Mr. Coles they would be able to ring a 5,040 of Bob Doubles with only three bobs in it. With regard to the Bankes James composition, as he understood it, they did not complete the first 720, and looking at it from that standpoint it was not what most of them had been brought up to consider right and proper. It might be of interest to the conductor and a clever performance on the part of the composer, but he did not think it was of very much interest to the other ringers. (A Voice: Isn't it!) It was no more credit to the rest of the band to ring the Bankes James arrangement than it was to ring seven other 720's, and if the band was so far advanced that they could ring a peal of Cambridge Minor, for goodness' sake let them do as recommended in the resolution the Council had just passed, ring seven Surprise methods in their peal! The Cambridge composition might be a very wonderful production, but there was no special merit in ringing it. He was bringing forward the amendment at the definite request of his association (the Midland Counties Association), because they considered it would be in the interests of the majority of the six-bell ringers.

Mr. E. Denison Taylor seconded and said he heartily endorsed what Mr. White had said. He might be old fashioned, but Mr. White had voiced his views.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Edward Jenkins, of Bradford, informs us that Wigston Surprise Major was discovered many years ago by Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, and is in his series F., No. A2, but unnamed.

The many friends of Mr. W. E. Redrup, of Amersham, will be pleased to know that he is home again, but, although there are no bones broken, it will be some weeks before he can walk again.

The peal of Stedman Caters at Loughborough Parish Church, on July 8th, was rung in 3 hours 30 mins., not 2 hours 30 mins. as published.

The party at Oxford had lunch under the watchful eye of King Henry the Eighth (painting). Where was the other merry monarch, and why didn't the Bright Young People entertain the party instead of performing to a select half-dozen late in the evening?

Ten ladies rang a 'bob' course of Grandsire Caters at Magdalen College, although most of them were 'singles.'

MITCHAM BELLS TO BE REHUNG.

The bells of the Parish Church, Mitcham, are to be rehung with new fittings. The work will be carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. This church was at one time a centre of much activity in the Surrey Association.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

COMMENTS ON THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held on Saturday, July 1st, at Creswell, Derbyshire. Although somewhat off the beaten track, about 40 members and friends assembled to have a ring on the very fine eight bells in this new tower. Each of the eight districts of the society was represented, viz.: Burton, Chesterfield, Derby, Loughborough, Leicester, Hinckley, Nottingham and the Peak. The committee met in the church vestry, and got through a very long routine agenda.

Arising out of this the Hon. Treasurer reported on the amount collected towards the memorial bell at Duffield, recast by the members and friends of the association in memory of the former president, Sir A. P. Heywood. As only a few collecting sheets had been returned, he appealed to all secretaries and towers to send in these and any subscriptions with all speed, so that the accounts may be closed.

The sub-committee appointed to revise the rules had met, and shortly a copy of rules suggested will be sent out to each district secretary for discussion, and the matter brought forward at the next general meeting.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, and the general meeting followed, the president, Mr. E. Denison Taylor, being in the chair, supported by the Rev. Waugh (Rector of Clowne), the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. E. White), and the hon. secretary (Mr. Ernest Morris).

The President gave a very interesting review of the past quarter's peals, remarking that, although not up to the average, yet they varied from Doubles to Surprise Royal, and numbered 26. He also voiced the regret of all on the loss by death of a valued hon. member, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and an old life member, Mr. Mark Bend, of Bottesford. During the past quarter an extraordinary meeting of the Hinckley District had been held to meet the Bishop of Leicester in starting a 'mission of personal witness.' This was well attended and appreciated. Mr. Taylor briefly remarked on his visit to the Central Council meeting, and his observations on the ringing at St. Benet's Church, Cambridge, which had already been reported in 'The Ringing World.' He was sorry the Vicar of Creswell could not be present that day, but welcomed the Rector of Clowne, whose bells would be available to the members after tea.

The Rev. Waugh, in reply, said the Vicar of Creswell sent his apologies for unavoidable absence, and asked him to come in his stead. He was delighted to thus come and meet the ringers, and trusted each and all would enjoy the social intercourse of the meeting and the ringing at both Creswell and Clowne. At his church they had a young band who were getting on well, and he took the opportunity of thanking publicly Mr. John Flint, of Bolsover, who had—and was still—helping them so much.

The hon. secretary read the list of members proposed since that meeting, viz., nine ringing, one rejoined, and three life, whose election was confirmed.

Each of the three other representatives to the Central Council (the president making the fourth), Messrs. J. H. Swinfield, W. E. White, and E. C. Gohey, gave impressions of the Council meeting, and each stressed the point that much time was wasted in receiving committee reports, appointing members of committees, and various discussions arising from these committees, that items of real importance were left until too late for many members to stay and take part. As an instance the Minor question, which had aroused such a commotion, was again shelved, whereas, had this been brought on while all members were present and properly discussed the matter would undoubtedly have been settled.

It was pointed out that the next quarterly meeting fixed for Quorn, near Loughborough, would be unsuitable, the bells being in a bad condition. It was therefore agreed this be transferred to Ripley.

After the meeting a number of ringers went to Clowne (six bells), where various standard and Surprise methods were rung.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVALCANON COLERIDGE ELECTED MASTER.*SUGGESTED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN.

Nearly 200 members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild were present at the annual festival held at Oxford on Saturday, when Canon Coleridge was elected Master in the place of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, to whom it was decided to erect a memorial.

The day's proceedings began with service in the Cathedral, the customary form of the Guild being used. Canon Coleridge officiated, and the lesson was read by Canon E. J. Norris. The singing was of a most impressive and stirring kind.

Canon Coleridge preached from the words, 'As every man hath received the gift even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God' (1 Peter iv. 10). Many years had passed, he said, since, on a memorable occasion, they dedicated a memorial in the cloisters of that Cathedral to the men of the Oxford Diocesan Guild who gave their lives for their country in the war. Who, then, had any idea that their beloved Master, after many years, would be numbered among them? Gassed in Flanders, never wholly free from the effects of the poison, yet carrying on more and more manfully as the years rolled by, never complaining, never even letting intimate friends know of his distress with the painful shortness of breath and all its attendant ills. All knew the story of his death. Trumpets sounded for him on the other side, but they were left, like children, without a friend to guide them. For twenty-three years Mr. Jenkyn was their guide and friend—a friend well beloved not only by ringers in the diocese but throughout the country; well known to great numbers. The more men got to know him the closer they were attracted by his genial presence. In their own Guild especially their Master was well known throughout three counties. His regular, periodical visits to the branches were eagerly looked forward to, his counsel and advice equally welcomed. Few, if any, Masters could devote their Saturdays as he did to promote ringing throughout the diocese, and the whole secret of his work was to be found in their text, 'As every man hath received the gift even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards to the manifold grace of God.' He realised, as each one of them should realise, that no man's gift was given to him so that he should keep it to himself. He had it in trust for the benefit of others. He had a gift and must needs use it in the best way for the benefit of others. All his knowledge of bell hanging (and his knowledge in that direction was fuller than that of most men), all his meticulous care in striking, whether in rounds or changes, all his geniality among ringers—all were looked upon as gifts of God; the brain, the hand, the eye, the ear, all to be trained in the service of God, all to be used for His honour and glory, all to be devoted to the service of men. Truly a great example had been left behind him. They would be considering later on the question of some permanent memorial by the Guild to him. That was not the place or time for him to go into the matter in any detail. He only knew what he would like—possibly some of them might think differently. But seeing that hard by in the cloisters there was, in addition to the memorial to the men who fell in the war, and in which Mr. Jenkyn was so deeply interested, a tablet in memory of their first Master, the Rev. Francis E. Robinson, he (the preacher) thought it would be wholly fitting, subject, of course, to the approval of the authorities of Christ Church, that a somewhat similar memorial should be placed alongside the memorials that were already there. Times, he knew, were bad with many people, and perhaps they could not expect to raise huge sums, but it was just possible there might be some other form of memorial besides this. He (Canon Coleridge) would only make the suggestion, because he knew it would be after Mr. Jenkyn's own heart. It might be that a fund would be started towards enlarging the Chapel of Queen Anne's School, Caversham, where he faithfully ministered for so many years. That chapel was too small to accommodate the children. Mr. Jenkyn knew it only too well and, at the time of his death, was interesting himself greatly in enlarging it. Whether the Guild could help in that scheme, if it materialised, or give some special piece of furniture for equipping the enlarged chapel, it would be for the members to decide. That chapel had been the centre of Mr. Jenkyn's clerical life and ministrations, and with this he never allowed anything to interfere, but the moment he was free from his duties at the school his next thought was for the ringers all over the diocese. The example of his life was a great one; the memorial they would wish to erect should be a worthy one. The best memorial they could erect was in their own hearts, a memorial which might be found in the words of the text. That was the best way in which every one of them could perpetuate his memory, and in doing so they would be carrying out a most important precept of Holy Scripture, words inspired by the Holy Spirit of God for all men to lay hold on and see that they were the dominating factor in their lives.

The service terminated with a hymn (during which a collection for the Guild restoration fund amounting to £3 5s. 8d. was taken), the Te Deum, and the Benediction, pronounced by Bishop Shaw.

The business meeting was held in the Chapter House, Canon Coleridge presiding, supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright) and the secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert). All the fifteen branches were well represented.

The Secretary, after having announced the letters of apology, mentioned that he received over forty letters from associations and guilds sympathising with them in the death of their Master. He thought the members would appreciate the feeling in which the late Master was held from the fact that they had letters from so many representative bodies.

The Chairman said he also received numberless letters from various individuals expressing regret at their loss.

At the suggestion of Mr. A. D. Cullum, the reports of the Master—the last written by Mr. Jenkyn—the hon. treasurer and hon. secretary were taken as read, they having been circulated in the report.

A NEW MASTER.

The Chairman said the committee had asked him to carry on as Acting Master until that meeting. It was for the Guild now to elect a new Master.

The Hon. Treasurer said every member of the Guild would be thankful to know that Canon Coleridge, despite the little time he had to spare, had undertaken to carry on the Mastership for the ensuing year (applause). It would take them some time to recover from the great blow they had sustained by the death of Mr. Jenkyn, but they would have perfect confidence in Canon Coleridge's direction of the Guild.—This motion was seconded by Mr. W. Evetts, supported by Mr. T. Trollope and Mr. A. D. Cullum, and carried unanimously.

Canon Coleridge said nothing would have induced him to take the office except the emergency caused by the death of Mr. Jenkyn, on account of his age, which was now nearer 80 than 70, and also the knowledge that he would be utterly unworthy to follow the footsteps of their great friend, the late Master. To carry on that Guild as it ought to be carried on required a youngish man, a man with money, a man with a motor-car, and a man with plenty of leisure on Saturdays. They would not get this combination in everybody, and he was afraid they did not exist in him, but it was put to him so forcibly that he ought to undertake the office that he said he would do so and would do his best (applause). He joined the Guild in its first year, and had thus been a member for 52 years. At one time he did a fair amount of peal ringing, he had attended the annual meetings regularly, as most of them knew, and he had the deepest possible interest in the work of the Guild. It would, therefore, be his endeavour to do his utmost for the Guild, but he must tell them plainly that for the most part it was impossible for him to get away from his parochial duties on Saturdays. He thought it was doubtful if they would find a Guild in England with a Master who would do as Mr. Jenkyn had done for the Oxford Guild. He was able to give up his Saturdays to go to the meetings. He knew he (the chairman) would be welcome at any meetings he could attend, but he could not promise to go to the meetings regularly or to preach as Mr. Jenkyn did, for he already had almost more on his hands than he could carry out, but should they be in any difficulties he would be glad to assist them to the best of his ability in all directions, with limitations of age and means of getting about. He thanked them most warmly for electing him.

A DEPUTY MASTER APPOINTED.

Proceeding, Canon Coleridge said it was the recommendation of the committee that the Rev. T. Elliott Wigg, who was assistant curate at High Wycombe, should be elected Master, and he magnanimously said he would be willing to undertake it, but would do so with fear and trepidation. He therefore wrote to Mr. Wigg, and was overjoyed when he got Mr. Wigg's reply. Mr. Wigg wrote that he was a young man and was willing to do everything he could for the Guild, but he honestly felt relieved because one in his position as an assistant curate was not his own master, and he was working in a large parish which was suffering from depletion of staff. His parish work must of necessity come first. There was, however, continued Canon Coleridge, the question of a Deputy Master. Mr. Jenkyn, knowing that he was in failing health and could not continue to do as much as he had been doing, felt the need of asking the Guild at that meeting to appoint a Deputy Master, who might in a few years' time, if he should still be amongst them in the diocese, be able to take up the work that Mr. Jenkyn laid down. Mr. Jenkyn had it in mind to propose Mr. Wigg for this office. It was, of course, open to the members not to have a Deputy Master, or to propose someone else, but it was Mr. Jenkyn's wish, and he pitched on Mr. Wigg as the outstanding man in the diocese for the office. He (Canon Coleridge) felt they could not make a better choice, and he asked them to agree to Mr. Wigg being appointed Deputy Master.

Mr. Wilkins proposed Mr. Wigg's election, remarking upon his enthusiasm and ability as a ringer.—The motion was seconded in several places, and Mr. T. Fowler said he was sure they would all give Mr. Wigg every possible support, and he hoped that when the time came he would accept the office of Master, although he trusted that the necessity would not arise for many years, as they hoped to see Canon Coleridge in the chair for a considerable time yet (applause).

Mr. T. Trollope, in supporting, said he had known Mr. Wigg nearly all his life, and he was quite sure that, apart from his ringing, which was a great point, Mr. Wigg would serve them well.

Mr. H. Miles, while supporting the proposal, asked whether the appointment did not necessitate altering their rules.

The Chairman said Mr. Jenkyn was elected Deputy Master when the Rev. F. E. Robinson was Master, so that they had a precedent for it.

The proposal was carried unanimously, and Mr. Wigg expressed his thanks for the honour the Guild had done him and the trust and confidence they had placed in him, especially as he had only had a knowledge of the Guild for the last five years, and before that time did not know one end of a bell rope from the other. He would be only too pleased to do all he could for the Guild.

TREASURER AND SECRETARY RE-ELECTED.

Mr. A. J. Wright was re-elected hon. treasurer, with the best thanks of the Guild, and took the opportunity of pointing out the altered conditions of certain matters through Mr. Jenkyn's death. Mr. Jenkyn was in the habit of taking the secretary and treasurer with him in his car when he went to visit the branches as often as they could go. A resolution had now been passed by the committee that the secretary's train fares should be paid when he attended a branch annual meeting, but it was hoped the branches would bear the expense of conveying him from the nearest railway station to the meeting. The branch secretaries had agreed to this, and he thought the funds could well bear it, as he found that the balances held by the districts were over £300. Every branch had a good balance in hand. Then with regard to the restoration fund, the rule had been that he (the treasurer) should not pay out any grants until he had received a certificate from the Master that the work had been properly and efficiently carried out. They must continue to have that safeguard in some form or other, and he suggested that the Guild should authorise him to accept the certificate of their secretary, who was thoroughly competent to know whether the work had been done well or not (hear, hear).

Mr. Cullum moved that the branches be asked to defray the expenses of the conveyance from the station to the annual branch meetings of the secretary and hon. treasurer.—Mr. Pearson seconded.

The Secretary said he did not know whether the meeting understood exactly what was intended. It was not a question of getting to places like Banbury, but to those out-of-the-way places where the late Master used to run them in his car and put them down at the nearest public-house door (laughter). There were places like Appleton, about six miles from a station, and he was not going to walk six miles there and six miles back. He would rather have a letter from the branch secretary to say they could do a lot better without him (laughter).—The motion was carried.

It was also resolved that the secretary's certificate of the satisfactory completion of restoration work should be accepted by the hon. treasurer for the purpose of paying the Guild's grants.

The secretary was re-elected with applause, and, in replying, said he would do his best for the Guild. He had his shortcomings, like everybody else, but he would keep their big Master up to scratch when he was in good health, and he would keep the Deputy Master on the move (laughter). He could not promise to do much himself; the branch secretaries did that (laughter).

The Master referred to the loss which the Guild had sustained by the death of Mr. J. F. Barlow, of Chipping Norton, a member of the committee. They would miss him very much, he said, and he would be missed particularly in his own district. His death left a vacancy on the committee.

The following eleven members of the committee were re-elected: Messrs. J. Evans, G. Cauldwell, G. Holifield, W. Hibbert, sen., G. Martin, Miss V. Robinson, Messrs. R. White, A. D. Cullum, H. Sear, J. W. Wilkins and Miss S. Davis. The vacancy was filled by the election of Mr. Walter F. Judge, of the Oxford City Branch.

The Rev. R. W. H. Acworth, having removed from the diocese, Dr. L. Joyce, of Reading, was elected a trustee in his place, the other trustees being Canon Coleridge and Sir George Dashwood.

The vacancy caused by the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn in the Guild's representation on the Central Council was filled by the election of Mr. W. Evetts (hon. secretary of the Witney and Woodstock Branch).

Mr. Cullum asked if it was necessary to have four representatives. The Master: You will have to pay for four, whether you have them or not.

Mr. Cullum: The affiliation fees, but not the expenses.

The Master: You don't pay their expenses.

Mr. Cullum: We may have to.

The Master: I don't think it is likely at present.

'LITTLE FISH' WHO SLIP OUT OF THE NET.

The Secretary proposed the confirmation of the election of 184 new members. He said they made about this number every year, but their net membership increased only by about 35 to 50 year after year. 'Some of you,' added Mr. Hibbert, amid laughter, 'may be very good fishers of men and land these little fish, but you let them slip.'

The Master said he hoped they would do what their secretary suggested, and hold on to the little fish until they became big fish, and, in fact, regular whales in regard to bellringing (laughter).—The elections were confirmed.

The Master said it was the wish of the committee that they should do honour to certain of their members who had served long and faithfully in the Guild. One was a parson and the other a layman. They were going to ask Canon Norris and Mr. John Evans whether the Guild might have the privilege of electing them as vice-presidents (applause). Both had served the Guild loyally and well, and Canon Norris' interest in it was shared by his daughter. What Mr. Evans had done they all knew.

On the motion of Mr. Cullum, seconded by the secretary, the election was agreed to by acclamation.

Canon Norris thanked the Guild for the honour conferred on him, although, he said, he felt he had done very little to recommend himself to them. He joined the Guild 49 years ago, but owing to circumstances he was unable to continue his bellringing. Now, however, in his later years, he was attempting in a feeble kind of way to take it up again (applause). He had certainly never lost his interest in it.

Continuing, Canon Norris said he had been thrown into work connected with the towers in the diocese for the last seventeen years. He happened to be one of the committee appointed by the Bishop to advise the Chancellor on all questions concerning churches, and the result of that sometimes meant a great deal of anxious thought and work with regard to the restoration of towers and the very vexed question of frames. Many years ago he advised the committee to submit every question that came before them in the Oxford Diocese to their late Master, and for about fifteen years every question connected with faculties for the restoration of towers and bells was submitted to him. Throughout that time Mr. Jenkyn's advice was of inestimable value to the committee, and only twice, as far as he could remember, had the committee differed from his judgment, and the second time was only a few months ago, and then the committee changed their mind, after hearing further evidence, and approved of Mr. Jenkyn's recommendation. He had been wondering what they would do in these matters in the future, and he was particularly interested that morning to hear that Mr. Hibbert was ready to put his unrivalled knowledge at the disposal of the Guild, which meant indirectly that the committee would be able to go to him if they were in difficulty. He knew also, when he heard that Canon Coleridge was likely to be appointed Master, that they would have a tower of strength behind the committee. They could understand that this was a very important thing for the Advisory Committee, because there were sometimes differences of opinion, which were very often local, and the committee had to take the responsibility of deciding which was the better of two plans. It was, therefore, with the greatest possible pleasure he had heard what had been said that morning, and he would carry the information to the Advisory Committee.

Mr. Evans also thanked the members for the honour the Guild had conferred on him.

A MEMORIAL PROPOSED.

The following grants were made from the restoration fund: Swalcliffe and Newbury £5 5s. each; Abingdon (St. Nicholas'), Drayton, Shrivensham and Sunningwell, £2 2s. each.

Canon Coleridge has been in the habit at the annual meeting of giving a report of the proceedings of the Central Council, but as it was getting late and the company were due at luncheon, he suggested that the members should read the report appearing in 'The Ringing World.' The only thing he would like to emphasise, he said, was that in the place of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn the Council had elected the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake as hon. librarian.

Mr. T. Fowler moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church for the facilities that had been given to the Guild, to Canon Coleridge for his address, which they had all much appreciated, and to the organist for his services.—This having been carried, the Master expressed thanks to the steward of Christ Church for his assistance in connection with the luncheon.

The Master said there was one other matter of importance, to which he had made reference in the Cathedral. He felt sure the Guild would like to erect a memorial to their late Master, and he would like to take a vote on it. He proposed that a fund be started for the purpose of providing a suitable memorial to Mr. Jenkyn.

This having been at once agreed to, Canon Coleridge suggested that the carrying out of that proposal be left to a committee of the principal officials of the Guild, with power to co-opt. He said they would be glad to receive and give careful consideration to any suggestions which any member of the Guild might like to make. They ought to have something worthy to show the debt of gratitude they owed to Mr. Jenkyn for all he did for them (applause).

This proposal was unanimously agreed to.

By the courtesy of the authorities of Christ Church the members again had the privilege of lunching in the spacious and beautiful hall, hung with scores of oil colour portraits of famous men who have passed through the House. A company numbering 185 sat down under the chairmanship of Canon Coleridge, who was supported by Canon Norris, the Rev. T. Elliott Wigg, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, Mr. A. J. Wright, etc.

At the conclusion of the meal the Chairman proposed the toast of 'Church and King,' and afterwards the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards submitted 'Prosperity to the Oxford Diocesan Guild,' which, he said, he joined about the year 1894. Although he had not lived in the diocese since his undergraduate days, he had always regarded it as a privilege to belong to the Guild, which was one of the leading Guilds in the country. There might be other Guilds with a larger membership, and others who had put up greater performances in the way of change ringing in its modern developments, but there was none other that had the privilege of meeting for its luncheon in a college hall (applause). Mr. Edwards went on to refer to the great loss the Guild had sustained since the last annual meeting, but said he was sure that, with Canon Coleridge as Master and such an able Deputy Master to assist him, and with the full energy of all the officers and branch officers behind him, the Guild would not fail to maintain its very high standard and go on from success to success. That this might be the experience of all those connected with the Guild was his fervent wish (applause).

WELL UP AS A GUILD.

Canon Coleridge, who replied to the toast, said he had only been Master for about two hours, therefore they could not expect him to say much about the Guild as Master, but he could say a great deal from his knowledge outside that office. He could not say exactly how many members they had in the Guild, but he believed it was about 2,400. That put them pretty well up as a Guild. He was very pleased to see the other day in the report of the Central Council's Analysis Committee that they had rung 146 peals last year; in the report their own secretary made it 147. That was very satisfactory, for they were thus first among all the societies for the number of peals rung. He did not say that in any spirit of competition, but because he hoped it indicated that the younger members who were coming on were anxious to ring peals, and a peal of Grandsire Triples by a young band was worth half a dozen peals of London or Cambridge Surprise rung by people who could ring it with their eyes shut (applause). Each one of them who was able to ring a little must do his or her utmost to inspire others by their example and help in every way. They had promised to help him in the position to which they had elected him. He had not sought the position, but it was put to him that they ought to have someone of experience. Mr. Wigg, who was nominated by the committee, also felt this, and he also felt that his position as an assistant curate might possibly prevent him, very unwillingly, from carrying out the necessary duties. They hoped, however, in a very few years' time Mr. Wigg might be presented with a living in the diocese which might enable him to give a large portion of his time to the Guild (applause)—unless he was called upon, distinguished man that he was, to be a Bishop overseas. If they sent him to Central Africa he would not get much chance of ringing there (laughter). They hoped, however, that he would remain for some years in the diocese, and when the vacancy occurred they might be able to elect Mr. Wigg to carry on the traditions of their Guild, traditions by which everyone endeavoured to carry out the objects of the Guild to the greater glory of God and the furtherance of the great art of change ringing. The Master went on to thank the members for having unanimously elected him to the post. He was a very busy man, especially on Saturdays, but with the help of the secretary, the treasurer and Mr. Wigg he would do his utmost to carry on and to help the branches in any difficulties that might arise. Their officials had been tried and proved and never found wanting. When they held their committee meeting in March 61 members were present. That showed the life in the Guild. It was true it was the day after the burial of the friend and Master's burial, and they were in a sad state of mind, but the committee came there not merely to testify their feelings, but to see what they could do to further the interests of the Guild. Every member of that committee left the room determined to do his best to carry on the high traditions of the Guild, and he believed everyone present that day would leave that beautiful hall more than ever determined to carry out the great principles which they ought to have at heart (applause).

Canon Coleridge then called on Alderman Charles Brown, of the Oxford City Council, who was Mayor of Oxford and a member of the Oxford City ringers.

Alderman Brown in an amusing speech expressed his pleasure at being present at such a wonderful gathering and meeting such a wonderful variety of men and women all interested in such an extraordinary cause as that of bellringing. He had got no further in ringing than to take a rope for service ringing in a 120 with the tenor behind, but he knew the pleasure which ringers derived from their art.

Canon Coleridge apologised for the absence of Bishop Shaw, who was compelled to attend another luncheon—to members of the Economic Conference. He went on to propose a vote of thanks to the authorities of Christ Church for their kindness in allowing the Guild the use of the Cathedral, the Chapter House and that hall.

This terminated the proceedings, and the company broke up to participate in ringing in the many churches in Oxford, the 12 bells at the Cathedral, the tens at Magdalen and New College, the eights at Merton College, St. Giles', St. Ebbe's and All Saints' Churches, together with several of the rings of six being available, and throughout the rest of the afternoon Oxford was a veritable city of bells, which could be heard ringing in all directions.

POINTED QUESTIONS.

MIDDLESEX SECRETARY SHOWS HOW ALL CAN HELP.

A fraternal gathering of the Middlesex and Hertfordshire Associations was held at Monken Hadley, one of the prettiest spots near London, on Saturday, July 15th, and might have been attended by quite a large crowd had the weather been more settled, and had there not been other attractions. As it was, some 40 or so members of one or both the associations had quite a pleasant afternoon's outing, and some good practice in almost any method they fancied. The fine peal of eight at St. John's, Barnet, was the attraction in the early afternoon, and these bells could be heard by the few ringers who were watching cricket on Hadley Common, waiting for others to make up a band.

At 5 p.m. a bright service was held in the ancient church at Hadley. The Rector (Rev. G. Richardson), after welcoming the two associations, said that he had heard a comparison made between the peals at Barnet and Hadley which had set him thinking. 'We may not,' he said, 'have such fine bells as some of you have in your own belfries, but we have as fine a setting in this pretty village as one could wish for. There is not a prettier spot round London, and when, as we soon hope to do, we have sent the bells to Loughborough or Croydon to be retuned, we shall then have as nice a peal as any of you would wish to have.'

After a good tea had been enjoyed, an informal meeting took place. The Rector took the chair, being supported by Mr. E. C. Shepherd (Herts president), Mr. W. Nash (Herts District secretary), Mr. W. Pickworth (Middlesex vice-president), Mr. W. Pye (Middlesex Master), Mr. A. W. Coles (Middlesex District Master) and Mr. C. T. Coles (Middlesex District secretary). The latter gave a hearty welcome to Hertfordshire ringers, and touches on two topics of which much had been heard lately. First, the social side of ringing, which was much advanced by these joint meetings. It was a change to see new faces, different people, and get a different atmosphere. He said he could quite understand ringers staying away from a Middlesex meeting, because they saw the same old faces, the same old secretary, time after time. It was good to see others, and he was quite sure that Mr. Nash was a good antidote to himself. So they welcomed Hertfordshire ringers to this meeting. Secondly, 'What do we do for ringing?' 'It is easy,' said Mr. Coles, 'to assess what we get out of ringing—an occasional peal, perhaps plenty of peals. But what do we put in? We cannot all be conductors of peals, secretaries or Masters of associations, but we can find plenty of scope in helping at practices, assisting with young ringers, or regularly attending meetings. We might all asked ourselves two questions, "What do I put into ringing?" "Can I do anything more?"'

Mr. E. C. Shepherd thanked the Middlesex ringers for the welcome given to himself and other visitors from Hertfordshire, and said it would be well if they all thought over what Mr. Coles had said, which he heartily endorsed. He deplored the lack of support that association officials sometimes had from members. He added that he had much enjoyed this very pleasant meeting.

Mr. W. Nash proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector of Monken Hadley for his very interesting address and for the use of the bells; to the Rev. P. C. Deane for the use of the bells at Barnet; to Mr. Arbin and Mr. Sumpter, the towerkeepers; and to the organist and vergers. This was seconded by Mr. W. Pickworth and carried unanimously.

The Rev. G. Richardson replied. He again expressed his pleasure at meeting the ringers, and endorsed all that had been said by a previous speaker about putting something into ringing instead of only taking out. It was the same in everything in life. He added that he hoped soon to stir people up about their bells, and have them tuned, when they would have a peal to be proud of. He paid a tribute to the local captain, Mr. H. S. Arbin, who in spite of many difficulties kept his band together.

The meeting closed with a well-struck touch of 168 Stedman Triples on handbells by Messrs. J. Thomas, G. R. Pye, W. Pye and G. Collins.

Subsequently a large number of touches were rung in the tower for the benefit of all present, even Grandsire Triples was not despised by the Surprise ringer if it was to help a beginner. And the beginner was equally interested in the London and Bristol Surprise, in which we hope he will some day take part.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Monday, July 10th, as an expression of sympathy with the relatives of Miss Hester Mary James, who passed away on the 7th inst., daughter of Mr. John James, J.P., churchwarden of Cotgrave, 720 of Bob Minor was rung at Cotgrave with the bells half-muffled, by: L. Henson 1, W. E. White 2, W. Hickling 3, W. White (conductor) 4, J. H. Burton 5, J. P. Hayes 6.

EXETER'S FESTIVITIES.

At St. Thomas' Church, Exeter, on June 27th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by members of St. Thomas': C. Hosgood 7th quarter-peal 1, E. Hill 2, J. Hosgood 3, F. Wills 4, W. A. Wills 5, P. Wreford (conductor) 6, E. W. Biffin 7, A. H. Goad 8. Rung in connection with festivities for the 800th anniversary of the foundation of the Cathedral.

LADIES' GUILD TITLE.

ANNUAL MEETING DECIDES AGAINST CHANGE.

A most enjoyable and successful gathering was held at Christchurch on July 8th, when members of the Ladies' Guild attended from a wide area for the annual meeting. Ringing commenced at 2.30, and some members had their first experience of twelve bells. Rounds were rung by twelve members of the Guild, but the weight of the bells prevented an attempt at changes by a ladies' band.

Members and friends to the number of 53 sat down to a most enjoyable tea, after which a short service was held.

The business meeting followed, at which the chair was taken by Mrs. R. E. Deal, the vice-president of the Central District, in the unavoidable absence of Miss Evelyn Steel, the president. Two ringing members and one hon. member were elected, viz., Miss M. Hodge, Miss M. Rous, of Christchurch, and Mrs. F. E. Bayley, of Titchfield.

The hon. treasurer presented the accounts, which showed a loss on the year's working, but it was pointed out that two donations amounting to £3 5s. were included in the expenses, which more than accounted for the deficit. The balance in hand at June 30th was £25 2s. 0½d.

The president, Miss Evelyn Steel, was re-elected, as was also the hon. secretary and treasurer, Mrs. E. K. Fletcher.

The Secretary reported that in all districts meetings had been held regularly, and were in most cases well attended. She mentioned that the district secretaries have a good deal of trouble in collecting subscriptions, and urged members to pay at the commencement of each financial year. In one district with 59 members, only 26 had paid for the year ending June, 1933.

The form of the new service papers were discussed, and several alterations and additions were made.

RESOLUTIONS FROM THE NORTH.

At the request of the Northern District the secretary brought forward four resolutions which had been passed by that district. The first was: 'That the title of the Guild be changed from "The Ladies' Guild of Change Ringers" to "The Women's Guild of Change Ringers," because the members felt that the original title was out of date, and they considered the word "Woman" to be a much nobler title and in every way more comprehensive.'

Miss N. G. Williams, Western District secretary, was of the opinion that if a new Guild were being formed it might be desirable to consider the adoption of the proposed new title, but as the Guild had been in existence for so many years it would be inadvisable to change the present title.

Miss H. F. Mills, Southern District secretary, stated that the matter had been carefully considered at the annual district meeting, and there was no desire to alter the existing title.

Mrs. P. Humphrey pointed out that if the title was adopted, girls would not be eligible for membership. Mrs. Fletcher suggested that a juvenile section might be formed.

Mrs. Fletcher, general secretary, stated that the 'Ladies' Guild' had been in existence 21 years, and even if the name was changed the original title would still be used by the majority of ringers. It would be a pity after so long to change the name. In the years to come, say, 10 or 20 years hence, it would appear as if the Ladies' Guild had lapsed and another Guild had been formed. About 200 badges had been sold with the present title, and they would be useless to the members who had purchased them. Also a peal book had been presented to the 'Ladies' Guild of Change Ringers,' and this would have to be altered. She further stated that she had discussed the matter with ringing friends, and the general opinion was that it would be a great pity to change the name.

Mrs. Richardson, Lincoln district secretary, also spoke against the alteration, which she thought was quite unnecessary.

Mrs. Deal, vice-president of the Central District, stated that the Central District were unanimously in favour of retaining the present title.

There were no speakers for the resolution, the meeting being thus unanimously in favour of 'no change.'

The second resolution had reference to the service papers, and the suggestions were adopted.

THE ROTA OF ANNUAL MEETINGS.

The third resolution, that the annual general meeting be held in each district in turn and not in London every third year, was not agreed to, it being pointed out that by having the meeting every third year in London it was possible for all districts to attend at least every third year, there being excursions to London from all parts, whereas by being held in each district in succession some members would be prevented from attending for much longer periods, as cheap travel across country was not possible.

The fourth resolution, that 'if a representative be sent to the annual general meeting all expenses be paid by her own district,' was not discussed at length, as the income of the Guild would not allow of this expenditure. The Chairman reminded the members that the general secretary, by a resolution passed many years ago, was entitled to 25 per cent. of the annual income of the Guild for travelling expenses, but that she had not drawn a penny. This had enabled the Guild to keep a fairly substantial balance, and she did not think the Northern District fully realised the state of the Guild's finances.

YORKSHIRE CHANGE RINGING CONTEST.

EIGHT COMPANIES COMPETE FOR HALIFAX ASSOCIATION'S CUP.

Halifax and District Association held their annual meeting and a six-bell contest at Meltham on Saturday, July 15th. The competition consisted of a touch of 600 changes, with three leads practice.

Eight sets had entered for the contest, and two sets of prizes were given, the cup and six clocks going to the winners, while biscuit barrels were given as second prizes.

The draw was made thus: 1 Sandal (Oxford Treble Boh), 2 Liversedge (Oxford), 3 Kirkburton (Oxford), 4 Almondbury (Kent), 5 New Mill (Oxford), 6 Holmfirth (Oxford), 7 Stainland (Oxford), 8 Shelley (Oxford).

Unfortunately, Sandal were not able to take their place as drawn, so were sent last, and had a penalty imposed of ten faults.

An excellent tea was provided, to which over one hundred sat down.

Mr. E. Earnshaw (president) was chairman at the meeting, when the balance sheet was presented and adopted on the motion of Mr. J. Tinker (New Mill), seconded by Mr. W. Dransfield (Almondbury).

Mr. E. Earnshaw (president), Mr. F. Salmons (treasurer) and Mr. L. Hargreaves (secretary) were re-elected.

Mr. W. Idle (Batley) and Mr. E. Whiteley (Meltham) acted as judges for the competition, with Mr. Webster (Meltham) as marker.

The result was as follows: Liversedge, 132 faults; Kirkburton 350 faults; Almondbury, 327 faults; New Mill, 120 faults; Holmfirth, 110 faults; Stainland, 292 faults; Shelley, 171 faults; Sandal, 167 faults and 10 penalty, total 177. Holmfirth were thus winners, with New Mill second.

Mr. Hollingworth presented the cup and prizes, in the absence of the Vicar. Mr. H. Booth (Holmfirth) and Mr. J. Tinker (New Mill) replied on behalf of their ringers.

A vote of thanks was given to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, also to the ladies for providing such an excellent tea.

Mr. H. Booth (Holmfirth) and Mr. J. Fisher (Stainland), the auditors, were duly thanked, as were also the judges and chairman.

STEDMAN TRIPLES AT KNARESBOROUGH.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—While congratulating the members of the Lancashire Association who recently rang a peal of Stedman Triples at Knaresborough, they were evidently misinformed as to it being the first peal of Stedman on the bells. The first peal in that method rung at Knaresborough was rung on Saturday, October 17th, 1925, at the rededication of the bells, and two of the then local band rang in it—Mr. A. M. C. Field and the late Mr. Fred Smith. The composition was Heywood's No. 1, and the conductor was yours faithfully,

PERCY J. JOHNSON.

ELY ASSOCIATION'S FIRST PEAL OF LONDON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of July 7th a peal of London Surprise was published for the Ely Diocesan Association claiming to be the first in the method by the association. This is incorrect, the first peal of London having been rung for that association at Coggeshall on February 14th, 1914, conducted by D. Elliott.

W. KEEBLE.

OXFORD MOVEMENT CENTENARY.

On Friday evening, July 14th, to celebrate the 'Kemble centenary service,' held at St. Michael's Church, Southampton, the following members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, at the request of the Vicar (the Rev. R. A. R. Spread), rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: G. Williams (conductor) 1, C. J. Fray 2, G. Pullinger 3, J. W. Faithfull 4, J. Hill 5, W. Troke (first quarter in method) 6, W. T. Tucker 7, R. Brown 8.

It was decided to hold the next annual general meeting at Surfleet, Lincolnshire, the Lincoln District not having had a general meeting in that area.

Mrs. Fletcher proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Miss C. Sparshott, of Christchurch, who had arranged the meeting, and mentioned that Miss Sparshott had been a member of the Guild since its formation, and it was the first opportunity she had had of attending a meeting. In spite of this, Miss Sparshott had always sent her annual subscription within a month or six weeks after it became due, without any reminder from the secretary, and if all members would follow her good example the task of the district secretaries would be much easier.

Miss Sparshott, in replying, said how delighted she was to welcome the Guild to Christchurch, and she hoped they would come again. A vote of thanks was also passed to Mr. G. Preston, to the priest who conducted the service, and to the organist.

Among the visitors was the 'movie' operator of the Surfleet Picture Corporation, with his 'infernal machine,' and a further 90ft. of film recording the doings of the Guild outside the belfry will be added to the collection. If this sort of thing continues, a film censor to the Exercise will have to be appointed in the near future.

AN UNSATISFACTORY POSITION.

The 'Minor' discussion at the Central Council meeting, really a major matter, ended in a very unsatisfactory manner. There were two motions and an amendment before the Council. The amendment was, in brief, for limiting peals of Minor to seven true and complete 720's, and peals of Doubles to forty-two 120's—in fact, it carried the definition of a peal of Minor back to where it was before the Hereford resolution of 1928, and placed a peal of Doubles, which before that time was undefined, on the same basis. The two original motions have already been referred to in this column. One sought to limit peals of Minor to seven 720's, but to admit the Bankes James' arrangement—which, by the way, has been extended to other methods besides Cambridge—as an exception. The other went further than this and opened the door to any composition or compositions of Minor so long as they are in a recognised method and no change occurs more or less than seven times in a 5040.

With the commendable intention of cutting out controversial theories, those responsible for the motions and the amendment confined themselves to broad arguments, such as whether departure from the old standard was in the interests of ringing and whether, the exceptional compositions having been rung on so many occasions without protest, the Council had not already recognised them as being admissible in peals. Unfortunately, the vote was taken late in the session when some of the representatives had already left, but no fewer than 70 members voted on the amendment, and the figures left no question as to the opinion of the Council as then constituted. There was a majority of 44 to 26 for reverting to the old standard for peals, but, despite this expression of opinion, the amendment could not go out as the Council's considered definition because, under the old rules which expired at the end of the session, a two-thirds majority of the meeting was required. It was unfortunate, or fortunate according to the way one looks upon the subject. For the time being, the Hereford resolution still holds the field, but after this last debate it is obvious the matter will not be allowed to rest where it is. Hardly anyone, in fact, is satisfied.

When the subject comes up again it will be discussed under the new rules, and a bare majority of the Council will carry the day, but one thing seems certain, whatever decision is arrived at, the Council will have to take its courage in both hands and say, after they have arrived at a definition, that they will 'recognise' only peals rung in accordance with it. They cannot prevent anyone ringing what they choose, and calling it a 'peal,' but they can refuse to recognise it if it is not in accordance with their conditions and, if they refuse to recognise it, associations who have subscribed to the undertaking loyally to abide by the Council's decisions, will be in duty bound also to refuse to recognise such performances as peals. If that were done, it would quickly put an end to the use of compositions of which the Council does not approve. There does not seem to us any necessity to try to undo what is past, even if it could be undone. The Council has to legislate for the future and, as in law, many things permissible in the past are now illegal; so in ringing, performances which have been admitted as peals in the past can be ruled out for the future. We believe that is a position which the Exercise would be ready to accept.

ANCIENT AND MODERN BELL HANGING.

A COMPARISON OF METHODS.

The two accompanying pictures of the old and new bells at Bow Church, Cheapside, illustrate vividly the contrast between the old and the modern methods of hanging bells. The heavy wooden headstocks, which did duty until recently, can be compared with the new iron headstocks designed on engineering lines. The difference in the shape of the old and new bells can be seen by an examination of the five larger bells in the lower picture. These photographs are reproduced by courtesy of Messrs. Gillett & Johnston, who, as is well known, carried out the restoration work.

The old bells and headstocks removed from Bow steeple.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DORSET BRANCH MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Wyke Regis on Saturday last, and, as the Wimborne Branch were not holding their usual monthly meeting, it was made a joint gathering. Representatives attended from Bradford Peverell, Bradpole, Bridport, Bournemouth, Corfe Mullen, Dorchester, Evershot, Fordington, Lytchet Minster, Netherbury, Poole, Wareham, Kington Magna, Sydling, Upwey, West Lulworth and Wyke Regis, and visitors from Twyford, Berks, and Evercecech, Somerset. Ringing took place in the afternoon, and the Guild office was conducted by the Rev. C. Edwards. The address was given by the Rector (Rev. E. de B. Thurston). The service was choral, Mrs. Howard being at the organ. The Rector, in his address, said he was going to depart from the usual address on bells and bellringing, and, as it was St. Swithin's Day, tell them about that noted saint, who was a Bishop of Winchester and died in 861.

An excellent tea was provided by Mrs. Gray and members of the Women's Union in the Memorial Hall, a company of 51 sitting down.

The business meeting followed. In the absence of the chairman, the Rector at first presided. He welcomed the members to Wyke Regis, and stated by a strange coincidence while in London that week for the commemoration of the centenary of the Oxford Movement he accidentally came across the late Master of the Salisbury Guild, Major Hughes D'Aeth. When the Rector vacated the chair to keep another appointment, his warden, Captain G. Wheeler, presided.

The following new members were elected: Mr. B. Brewin (Wyke Regis), hon. member; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Watts (Wyke Regis), associate members; Mr. H. J. Holton (Upwey), ringing member.

The Hon. Secretary stated that the arrangements were now complete for holding a by-meeting at one of their favourite places, Milton Abbey, on Saturday, August 19th. The quarterly meeting was fixed for Thursday, August 31st, at Frampton. The Secretary said this would give the members who could not attend on a Saturday a chance to attend at least once in the year.

Expressions of sympathy were extended to Mr. F. Stephens (Wyke Regis) and Mr. W. Williams (West Lulworth), who are both in hospital, the latter through a fall down the belfry steps. He has now been in hospital over three months.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Rector, the Rev. C. Edwards, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Gray and the Women's Union, and the local band.

The Chairman welcomed the visitors, Messrs. R. G. Cross, of Twyford, and R. Whitehead, of Evercecech.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

Some excellent practice on the eight bells was afterwards obtained, and the six-bell ringers especially made good progress under the guidance of the Ringing Masters of the North Dorset and Wimborne Branches. An excellent slow fall of the bells in peal concluded the programme at 9.15 p.m. As Wyke Regis and Upwey are now in the borough of Weymouth, the town possesses two peals of bells—an eight and a six.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.HARLINGTON BAND JOINS UP.

A visit was paid to one of the few six-bell towers in the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association on Saturday, July 15th, when a meeting was held at Harlington. Meetings held here have become famous for the strawberry teas that were provided. Whether it was the knowledge that the strawberry season was over, or whether St. Swithin was exerting some evil influence, is a moot point, but the attendance was disappointing, only some two dozen members and friends attending.

The Rector, Rev. H. W. Reindorp, conducted shortened evensong, when the vice-president, Mr. J. A. Trollope, read the lesson. An enjoyable tea was disposed of in the Church Hall, presided over by the vice-president in the regretted but unavoidable absence of the Rector.

At the subsequent business meeting five of the local band were elected ringing members. Thus, after years of call change ringing, Harlington has made the first step towards 'the light.'

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow) asked members to give all the assistance they could, and invited members of the Harlington tower to visit the other towers affiliated to the association.

It was agreed that the hon. secretary purchase fifty copies of the new Central Council leaflet on how to handle a bell, etc. It was hoped, however, to dispose of twice that amount. The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of his bells, etc., and to Mr. and Mrs. Portsmouth for providing the tea. Heavy rain marooned the party in the hall for a time, during which the handbells were brought into use and one or two humorous stories told.

The tower bells, a nice ring of six with a tenor of about 7 cwt., were made good use of. Several Doubles and Minor methods, including Surprise, were rung.

Will members and secretaries of neighbouring associations please note the forthcoming meeting dates: August 19th, Ruislip; September 9th, Staines; and October 14th, Hillingdon. The last-named will be a joint meeting with the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.ISLE OF WIGHT DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the I.O.W. District was held at Freshwater on Saturday last. Ringers attended from Carisbrooke, Freshwater, Godshill, Gosport, Newport, Portsmouth, Ryde and Whitwell. The visitors included Messrs. A. E. Richards, of Farnham, near Chester, J. L. Stokes, of Birmingham, and G. H. Straw, of Leicester. Freshwater bells are rather a heavy peal of six, and judging by the 'go' on Saturday appear to be in need of a good overhaul and new ropes, 'splicing' being a prominent item during the meeting. Handbells were made good use of during the 'repairing' intervals.

In the absence of the Rector, owing to R.D. duties, the lay reader, Mr. May, conducted the Guild service, and gave a very interesting address to the members present. Tea, by kind invitation of the Rector, was served at Gilling's Tea Rooms. In the Rural Dean's absence, Mr. R. J. Stone, of Portsmouth, was voted to the chair, and ably presided over the business.

It was resolved that the office of district president, vacant owing to the recent departure from the Island of the Rev. G. Heald (late Rector of Chale), should be left vacant until the annual meeting in January next.

It was agreed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Carisbrooke in October, and a by-practice meeting at Godshill on Saturday, September 9th.

The Secretary, Mr. B. J. Snow, on behalf of the district, welcomed the visitors, and thanks were expressed to the Rector for the use of the bells and for his kind hospitality in providing tea, also to Mr. Stone for conducting the business.

DISTRICT REARRANGEMENT.

A quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at East Meon on Saturday last, when, by kind permission of the Vicar (Rev. C. H. Mylne), the peal of eight bells at All Saints' were available to the members. A beautiful afternoon attracted nearly 40 ringers from Alverstoke, Fareham, Gosport, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Petersfield, Steep, Swanmore, Wickham, and visitors from Southampton, Ryde, Blackmoor, Alton and Frome. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m., and continued until 5 o'clock, when tea was partaken of at the George Hotel.

The business meeting was held afterwards, the Master (Mr. G. Williams) being in the chair, supported by the general secretary (Mr. F. W. Rogers) and district secretary (Mr. A. T. Greenwood). The Vicar of East Meon was elected an honorary member, and several new members were elected from Fareham, Petersfield and the Cathedral.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Alverstoke on Saturday, October 21st, and a by-meeting at Catherington on Friday, August 18th.

It was announced by the general secretary that under the scheme for the re-formation of the districts, which was approved at the annual meeting at Winchester, East Meon would be one of the towers to be placed in the new 'Alton and Petersfield District,' which will operate as from January 1st, 1934.

This met with the unanimous approval of the members present on Saturday.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of East Meon and the Rector of West Meon for the use of their bells, after which the Guild service was held in the church, at which the Vicar addressed those present. Further ringing took place in the evening at both towers, which included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.ILCHESTER BRANCH AT SOMERTON.

A well-attended meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Somerton on Saturday, July 22nd. Touches of London and Cambridge Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung during the afternoon and evening.

A service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. L. J. Jackson. He also presided at the meeting which followed the tea, and warmly welcomed the branch to Somerton. He was pleased to see such a good gathering, but although he did not know as much about the association as perhaps he ought to, he realised what a good thing it was for ringers to meet together in this way.

The company present included the general secretary (Mr. J. T. Dyke) and members from Yeovil, Ilminster, Martock, Langport, Taunton, Somerton, Butleigh, Evercecech, Castle Cary, Kington Magna, Buckland, Newton, etc.

The Rev. L. J. Jackson was elected an hon. member, and five Somerton ringers and four of Montacute were elected members.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kind welcome and for making all arrangements concluded the business.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—At St. Paul's Church on Sunday, July 2nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples for evening service: H. Austin 1, S. Ainger 2, J. H. Paulson 3, H. Taylor 4, N. Leech 5, A. Sharp 6, G. H. Paulson (conductor) 7, J. MacDonald 8. Arranged for the ringers of 1, 3, 4, 7, who were on a visit from Matlock and Darley Dale.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO WORCESTER RINGER.

A sad fatality has occurred to a well-known Worcester ringer, Mr. Charles G. Bowkett, who met his death by being crushed between the buffers of two rail coaches while carrying out his duties at Shrub Hill Station. The deceased, who was a shop inspector employed by the G.W.R., was on the point of testing the steam heating apparatus of one of the coaches, which was separated from another by about three feet. Although the wheel was scotched, the engine attached to the coach suddenly moved backward, knocking away the 'scotch' and crushing him between the buffers. He was conveyed to hospital, where he died, and at the inquest a verdict of 'Accidental death' was recorded, the engine driver being exonerated from blame, the unexpected movement of the engine being due to the movement of a lever necessary to stop a rush of steam in the engine cab through the blowing of the steam heating valve.

Mr. Bowkett was Master of the Hallow Guild, and had rung regularly at that church for the past 33 years. He was also a member of the St. John's Guild, Worcester. He was not a great peal ringer, but he did a great amount of spade work in teaching beginners.

There was a large attendance at the funeral, and the scene was very impressive.

A guard of honour was formed by members of the G.W.R. staff and Oddfellows from various lodges. Among the ringers present were Messrs. T. Lewis, W. Lewis, W. Edgington (Redditch), A. Hill, J. Hill, J. Woodvatt, W. H. Johnson (Worcester Cathedral and St. John's), W. Ranford (Suckley), T. Green and T. Lane (Hallow).

At St. John's Church on the same evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by F. Barnett 1, J. Woodvatt 2, R. Rowe 3, W. K. Powell 4, W. Lewis 5, T. W. Lewis 6, J. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, E. Crump 8. Earlier a 504 Stedman Triples was rung.

A LAKE DISTRICT TOUR.

There is to be a peal ringing tour in the Lake District from August 4th to 13th, and the following is the programme:—

- August 4th: Kendal, 6 p.m.
- 5th: Kirby Stephen and Sedburgh.
- 6th: Orton.
- 7th: Ambleside and Keswick.
- 8th: Cockermouth and Workington.

- 11th: Hensingham and Silloth.
- 12th: Carlisle, St. Stephen's, and Penrith.
- 13th: Dalton-in-Furness.

A GLOUCESTERSHIRE WORTHY PASSES ON.DEATH OF MR. BEN ETHERIDGE.

A Gloucestershire worthy in the person of Mr. Benjamin Etheridge, of Maisemore, has passed away at the advanced age of 86 years. Last May he had an attack of giddiness while walking in a lane near his home and was found lying on the ground. He was removed to hospital, where it was found he had fractured a small bone leading to the spine. He gradually became worse and died on July 6th.

Ben Etheridge had many claims to fame. In the first place his cousin is Mr. Harry Etheridge, an American millionaire. Mr. Harry Etheridge was in England several times recently, and visited Maisemore, the place of his birth, in 1928.

His cousin Ben remained in Gloucestershire all his life, and became exceedingly well known in the district.

For a great number of years Ben was the postman at Maisemore. He was the first man in the district to build and ride his own 'penny-farthing' bicycle. He used it in his work of delivering and collecting letters. Although, of course, Mr. Etheridge forsook his old 'penny-farthing' when later machines were designed, he never gave up cycling while he was working. Three years ago at the age of 83 he retired, and it was then and only then that he ceased to use his bicycle. He estimated that he had covered 130,000 miles in the course of his work.

Mr. Etheridge was the oldest ringer in the Gloucester Branch of the Diocesan Association.

A large congregation attended the funeral, which took place at the Parish Church on July 11th. The Rector (Canon F. Billett) officiated, and the service was choral. The bearers were Messrs. W. H. Harris (branch secretary), S. Romans (branch chairman), J. Williams and E. Davis, who, after the committal, rang two courses of Grandsire Triples over the grave. Many towers in the diocese were represented, and the bells were rung half-muffled. Flowers were sent from the Gloucester Branch.

In the evening 720 of Bob Minor was rung half-muffled under the conductorship of Mr. J. Austin.

On Thursday, July 13th, a muffled peal was attempted in memory of Mr. Etheridge at St. Mary-de-Crypt Church, Gloucester, but was unfortunately brought to grief after 2 hours 50 mins. excellent ringing owing to the Rector entering the ringing chamber. Another peal attempt was lost at Barnwood after 1 hour 50 minutes through the breaking of a rope.

TUNSTALL, KENT.—On Sunday, May 14th, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major: Mrs. G. H. Spice 1, G. Kenward 2, Mrs. E. H. Spice 3, E. H. Spice 4, W. E. Spice 5, W. Spice, sen., 7, G. H. Spice (conductor) 8. A birthday quarter-peal for Mrs. Spice, sen.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A peal of Horsmonden Bob Minor was rung at Lamberhurst, Kent, on Saturday. The method is given on page 21 of the 'Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods,' and is described on page 113 as one of the methods in which 6-5's are inevitable. But the peal rung consisted of seven different compositions, each keeping 5-6 the right way behind. Two of the 720's were Nos. 75 and 76 on page 101.

The jubilee commemoration dinner of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Staffs is to be held at Wolverhampton on November 4th.

RINGERS' ANTHOLOGY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Some of your readers may remember a letter published in 'The Ringing World' a few months ago in which I asked for material for a ringers' anthology of prose and verse. It may interest those who so kindly responded to that appeal to know that the collection is now ready for the Press. Since, however, the book, if published, would necessarily have only a very limited sale among the general public, it will be necessary to guarantee that at least 750 copies will be disposed of in order to produce the thing at a cost of 5s.

I should, therefore, be very grateful if all who are willing to buy a copy would inform me as soon as possible, in order that it may be ascertained whether or not publication is feasible.

The book would contain about 170 pages, and would consist of selections from the works of many different types of authors, both humorous and serious. It is also hoped to include a number of black and white drawings.

THE DANGERS OF 'CLOCKING'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I had hoped someone who is more able than I am would explain to an inquirer writing in your issue of July 7th the dangers of bell clocking. It is quite possible and surprisingly easy to break a bell by giving it heavy blows in quick succession, and to momentarily hold the clapper against the side by a rope attached to the clapper. The reason is that the clapper tends to check the vibration in the locality of the blow, and a bell will not stand up to a very heavy blow if it cannot vibrate freely. One may say this could not happen with a careful operator. Perhaps not, but his place may be taken on some occasion by an ignorant or careless person. The remedy is never to allow a rope to be attached to the clapper.

With a properly constructed chiming apparatus, properly fitted and in good order this danger is hardly present, but it should be noted that if the bells get on the swing the chiming hammer may meet the bell coming towards it, or may strike the bell too low on the lip, thus causing damage. Clock hammers seldom cause damage unless they are allowed to rest on the bell instead of on the spring. Bellringers who go into a strange tower and start ringing without making sure that everything is clear should in future be advised to stay at home.

If chiming gear must be used, frequent examinations should be made to ascertain that all is in order.

Mr. Morris' 'History and Art of Change Ringing' gives a list of 22 bells in the London district, nearly all tenors, cracked by 'clocking' for funerals.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS' FIRST PEAL.

TABLET UNVEILED AT COLERNE.

An interesting ceremony took place on Sunday afternoon, July 16th, at the Parish Church of Colerne, Wilts, when a tablet was dedicated recording the first peal rung by a band of Royal Arch Masons. After preliminary touches on the fine ring of eight bells, the hymn, 'Praise the Lord, ye heavens, adore Him,' was sung, as the surpliced choir and clergy made their way in procession to the foot of the tower, where the tablet has been hung. The Rector, Rev. H. W. St. Leger Chambers, in a few well-chosen words, expressed his pleasure in accepting the tablet on behalf of the parish, after which the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild) read the first part of the dedication service.

The Rector then unveiled and dedicated the tablet, using the form issued by the Salisbury Guild, and the brief ceremony concluded with the hymn, 'Angel voices, ever singing.'

The tablet, designed by Mr. A. Prince, the conductor of the peal, and skilfully executed by Mr. H. Cross, of Bath, is an exceptionally fine example of craftsmanship, and won universal admiration. The record of the peal is surrounded by numerous masonic symbols, in which both Latin and Hebrew inscriptions are introduced. The lettering is clear and dignified, and the rich colouring highly effective.

Unfortunately three of the original band were unable to attend. Companions W. Bolton, E. Bishop, W. H. L. Buckingham, F. Ll. Edwards and A. Prince were present, and with the assistance of other ringers from the neighbourhood well-struck touches of Grandsire Triples were rung after the dedication and again for evensong, at which the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards occupied the pulpit.

HIGH COURT ACTION OVER BELLS.

Application for Injunction.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT ARRIVED AT.

A case concerning church bells came before the High Court last week, when, in the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Luxmoore, Mr. Manley Collins, who lives in West Heath Drive, Golders Green, sought an injunction to restrain the Rev. H. Trundle, Vicar of St. Alban's, West Heath Drive, 'and all persons acting under his direction,' from tolling or ringing the bells of the church so as to cause any nuisance, disturbance or annoyance to Mr. Collins or his family.

The defence was a denial that the bells were a nuisance.

Mr. F. R. Evershed, K.C., for Mr. Collins, said what was complained of in this case was the early morning ringing which, on Sundays, had been so loud and so long that sleep was impossible. There was evidence that on Wednesdays the bells rang from 6.45 to seven o'clock in the morning, and that on another occasion they were rung continuously from ten p.m. to 11.30 p.m. The latter, it was supposed, was for practice.

Mr. Evershed said that Mr. Collins suggested that they should not be rung before early morning service.

The Judge: They must be rung. I do not know any church in the country where it is not done.

Mr. Evershed said that, when a motion in connection with the action was heard, an undertaking was given to Mr. Justice Farwell that the bells should not be rung except at specified hours.

Mr. Ernest Hamilton, petrol dealer, West Heath Drive, said he complained of long spells of ringing without stop, and the strange times at which they took place. The bells woke him up on a Sunday morning. He wrote a letter saying that since the new church was built life had become quite intolerable, and complaining of the 'unpleasant and nerve-shattering din.'

The bells rang at seven o'clock in the evening when he was sitting down to dinner. The ringing had not improved his nerves, and he had taken steps to sell his house because of the noise.

Mr. C. J. Conway, K.C. (for the defence), asked Mr. Hamilton to what church he belonged.

'I usually play golf on Sunday,' replied witness, who added that he was an agnostic.

Evidence was given by various witnesses that the bells disturbed them. Mr. F. D. J. Mackintosh said the 'unmelodious sound' had disturbed his rest.

Mr. George Henry Lewis Marcus Samuel, cigar importer, West Heath Drive, N.W., said the ringing of the bells in the evening had kept his youngest child awake. 'The chimes are rapid and continuous, and they multiply into a great jangle.'

Mr. W. K. Hales, M.P., who lives in West Heath Drive, complained of the continuous chiming of the new bells. 'If they were ringing outside this Court, your lordship would have to stop them before we could continue,' he said.

Cross-examined, Mr. Hales agreed that he sometimes found the House of Commons an irritable place, but he threw off any irritation when he left there. The chiming of Big Ben, he confessed, sometimes came in at awkward moments (laughter).

Mr. Conway: Do you play golf on Sunday?—It is an old man's game! I have not started yet (laughter).

Plaintiff, who is a property owner and moneylender, said he wrote to the Vicar saying the nervous condition of members of his household had been affected by the ringing of the bells. The bells averaged about 130 strokes a minute.

On the third day of the hearing, as soon as Mr. Justice Luxmoore took his seat, he said that it would be a lamentable thing if the case continued. Counsel then consulted with the judge in his private room.

Mr. F. R. Evershed, K.C., for Mr. Collins, subsequently stated that his client and Mr. Trundle had agreed on terms for modifying the ringing of the bells.

'Mr. Trundle does recognise,' observed Mr. C. J. Conway, 'that Mr. Collins, in bringing the action, was actuated by perfectly honest motives. He thought he had a legal grievance, but the legal aspect would never be decided. The parties have shaken hands, and I suggest that, on this occasion, we ought to have a peal of bells' (laughter).

His lordship said the parties had been well advised. All proceedings were stayed on the terms agreed.

The bells at St. Alban's, Golders Green, are not a ringing peal. There are ten bells played by a clavier.

We understand that the arrangement arrived at provides for chiming a single bell for five minutes before 8 a.m. service, and chiming all the bells for a quarter of an hour before the ordinary morning and evening services.

QUARTER-PEAL ON RESTORED RING.

At Oswestry, Shropshire, on Sunday, July 16th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. Wright 1, R. Edwards 2, H. T. Hughes 3, E. H. Kynaston 4, W. B. Kynaston 5, G. Williams 6, R. T. Evans (conductor) 7, T. Marshall 8. First quarter-peal on the bells since being rehung by J. Taylor and Co.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

FESTIVAL AT SWANSEA.

The tenth annual festival of the Guild was held at Swansea on Saturday, July 15th, when ringers from all parts of the diocese attended. The festival service was held in St. Mary's Church at 5 p.m., the preacher being Canon W. T. Havard. In his address he said it was a great pleasure to welcome the Guild to St. Mary's for their annual festival, and paid a glowing tribute to the work of the ringers. Before closing his most interesting address, Canon Havard stated that St. Mary's would always welcome the Guild whenever they wished to hold their festival at Swansea.

The Lord Bishop of the diocese, who read the lesson, pronounced the Benediction.

After service, tea was partaken of at Messrs. David Evans by kind invitation of Canon Havard.

At the annual meeting which followed, the Lord Bishop presided. The accounts were presented and passed as correct.

The president (the Lord Bishop of the diocese) was re-elected, as also were the vice-presidents, with the addition of Canon W. T. Havard.

The following officers were also re-elected: Master of the Guild, Mr. S. T. Rackham, Gilwern; hon. treasurer, Mr. Chas. Powell, Brecon; hon. secretary, Mr. L. T. Havard; hon. auditor, Mr. E. I. Rowlands.

Mr. Gwynne Lewis, Cadoxton, was appointed to represent the Guild at the next Central Council meeting. The Rev. W. Wilmer was elected to serve on the committee vice the Rev. H. O. Williams. The other committee members were re-elected en bloc.

It was decided that the annual festival for 1934 should take place at Brecon.

With regard to the ringing competition next year, Mr. Stich stated that Canon D. M. Jones, Llanelly, had extended the Guild a hearty invitation to Llanelly (Carm). The Canon's invitation was accepted, and the secretary was instructed to thank him for his kindness.

On the proposition of Mr. E. Stich (Aberavon), seconded by Mr. J. Williams (Gorseinon), it was resolved that the names of the Guild's officials shall be printed in the next issue of the 'Ringers' Directory.'

Considerable discussion took place with regard to the Guild's report, to the cost of which the hon. treasurer drew attention. It was decided that instead of printing the reports annually they should be issued every three years, the whole position to be reviewed at a later meeting.

Mr. G. Lewis (Cadoxton) raised the question of medals to be presented to the shield winners, and it was resolved that in future the secretary be empowered to purchase more suitable medals as advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to Canon Havard for entertaining the ringers to tea, and for the use of the St. Mary's bells throughout the day.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

BANBURY BRANCH PROGRESS.

The annual meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Adderbury on Saturday in glorious weather. The fine peal of eight were set going soon after 2.30 p.m., and ringing continued amid profuse perspiration until the service at four o'clock, which was conducted by Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley, Vicar of Adderbury, the chairman of the branch. The vice-chairman, Rev. A. L. E. Williams, Vicar of Banbury, preached the sermon, and a collection was taken for the Guild restoration fund.

Some seventy ringers sat down to the tea kindly provided by Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley, and the business meeting followed. Once again the secretary was able to record a very satisfactory year's progress; the number of honorary and ringing members had increased, with a consequent improvement in funds. Swalecliffe bells had been restored during the year, and it was pleasing to have Rev. A. Foreman Cox, the Vicar of Swalecliffe, at the meeting, who proposed the election of ten Swalecliffe ringers as members of the Guild. Rev. A. F. Cox also invited the branch to make Swalecliffe the next place of meeting, and this was gratefully accepted.

After the re-election of the various officials, Mr. R. T. Hibbert and Mr. A. J. Wright each had a congratulatory message—and something further. They urged the members to profit by the fine example of their late Master, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and to live up to the high standard he set by a hearty backing-up of the officials, that the Guild might not slip back, but that it might become the finest monument to the memory of that beloved man and the memorial he himself would wish to have.

Besides the ringers and clergy of many of the towers in the branch there were present visitors from Abingdon, Faringdon, Bicester, Oxford, Enstone, Warwick and Exeter. Rev. C. Elliot Wigg (Deputy Master), Mr. Hibbert (general secretary), and Mr. A. J. Wright (general treasurer) were also present.

The neighbouring towers of Banbury and Deddington were open, and good use was made of these bells, as well as of those of Adderbury, during the evening. Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major being among the methods rung.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

THE DISCUSSION ON PEALS OF MINOR.

Mr. J. A. Trollope, continuing the discussion on the Minor resolutions, said the Council had just agreed to an alteration of their rules under which they expected the affiliated societies to carry out any rule that the Council liked to pass, even if it concerned such a thing as the ringing of peals. That involved an obligation on their part that they should not do anything which might in any shape or form be contrary to the best interests or the improvement of the Exercise. History taught them that when ringing had been flourishing there had been continually going on a process of breaking or of adapting old rules, but throughout history, from the time changes were invented, they had never got beyond two principles—truth and completeness. But rules had altered. There was the rule that change ringing should be done in whole pulls; then someone broke it and rang changes in half-pulls. There was the rule that no peal should be less than 5,040 changes, then someone said, 'Why not ring 5,008 on eight bells?' And in more recent times people had found the benefits of spliced ringing on six and eight bells, and they had broken the rules to do it; and so with the Little methods. And they would find that that would have to happen in the future, for this reason, not only in ringing, but in every human activity progress was made by trial and error. They had to experiment. When ringing was progressing in the eighteenth century they were continually doing these things. Then they came to a period in the nineteenth century when they got little or no improvement, and the standard of the ringers went down both intellectually and socially. Now, in the last 50 years, ringing had advanced and the standard of ringers had risen. It did not follow, continued Mr. Trollope, that if they made these new rules everyone was to ring these things: it was simply that they must not do anything that would discourage a forward movement. It had been said that these rules would let in a lot of things that were rubbish; he thought they need have no fears on that score. No one would go for a peal and ring the first lead over again before going on to the second, and then the second again before going on to the next; ringers did not do these things, and they could safely ignore such fears. To allow a little latitude was in the best interests of the Exercise. When he took part in the peal of Oxford Treble Bob, composed by Mr. Turner, he did not consider he did anything to lower the intellectual standard, and it was very much better to ring a peal of Minor with the tenors always the right way than having them frequently the wrong way. But although he took part in a peal of this kind, he did not ask anybody else to do so if they did not want to. He certainly did not consider he was lowering the standard of ringing; rather was he encouraging that spirit of looking forward, experimenting and getting the best out of the art.

'A HOPELESS JUMBLE.'

Mr. P. J. Johnston asked the Council if they realised where these resolutions of Mr. Wood and Mr. Coles would lead them? He disagreed with Mr. Trollope as to the way in which the standard of length of a peal had developed; he suggested that the standard for a peal of Major was set up by the limit of physical effort, but because a peal on eight bells was reduced from 5,040 changes to 5,000, it did not justify them in reducing the number in a 720 to 719.

Mr. Trollope: I did not say that, and I did not mean it, either.

Mr. Johnston said that was what was implied by those who had spoken in favour of these motions; if it wasn't, then these gentlemen did not know what they were speaking about (laughter). There certainly were not 720 changes, in what was called the first 720, in the Bankes James composition. They had been told they ought not to come to any decision that was contrary to the desires expressed by certain people. What was it caused them to arrive at the decision with regard to what were called legitimate methods, when they came to the conclusion only to accept methods that had Bob Major lead-ends? Some of them would remember Oxford Surprise, a method by the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook, which was said to be far more difficult than London. There had been no peals of that rung since the Council's decision, because it did not produce Bob Major lead-ends? If the five and six-bell ringers wanted to ring these irregular things, let them ring them—the Council had no right to say they should not ring them—but to say that the people who rang them should decide for the whole Exercise what should be the standard of a peal was another matter altogether (hear, hear). Mr. Wood wanted to make an exception of the Bankes James arrangement. If they were going to admit exceptions, the Council would have to decide on all the various experiments that were made before coming to a conclusion whether they were worth ringing or not. He would ask the six-bell ringers whether they did not get enough scope by spliced ringing, and whether it was not better than ringing the Bankes James arrangement? By splicing they did ring complete extents of 720 changes; under the Bankes James principle they did not do so. Paragraph 4 of Mr. Coles' motion, which, literally interpreted, meant that they could ring the whole 5,040 as they wished—it was a hopeless jumble—provided that no change occurred more than seven times ('No.'). If they were going to carry this resolution they were going to admit as peals things that any tyro or schoolboy could produce, and they would have to come many miles at great expense to deliberate on things that were not worth deliberating on at all.

Mr. J. Hunt said, as a sensible body of ringers, sent by the associations because they were supposed to have a little bit of intelligence, he appealed to the Council to squash these motions once and for all, and say that every 720 in a peal should begin from and finish with rounds. Mr. Hunt referred to the Isham peal which, he said, consisted of seven 360's, ending with a single and then another seven 360's, ending with another single. That, as a plain ringer, was what he called piffle and nothing but rubbish (laughter). His association had rung none of these things. Mr. Dyke, in the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association's report, this year had put forward a thing which they had known for the last 40 or 50 years, that if ringers wanted more than the old ten six-scores of Grandsire Doubles they could use Extremes, and they could get 42 different 720's starting from and finishing with rounds. If they wanted anything more they could have 60 Grandsire Doubles and 60 of Stedman coupled together with singles, and they would have a true extent. That was what he (the speaker) called real progress. He urged the members of the Council to vote for the amendment.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said he had been of opinion that, since the Analysis Committee accepted these peals, they were practically recognised by the Council. Fancy, he said, a schoolmaster saying to his pupils, 'Here is a rule; if you don't like it you can do as you like.' That was what this motion said with regard to the 720's. 'If you do not like them you can ring a 5,040 in any other way and we will accept it.' Could they say in the face of that that they were leading the Exercise? The theory of Mr. Bankes James arrangement might be absolutely true, but in practice it was false. Despite all the arguments of the highbrows, they did not start to ring their 5,040 with the backstroke. If they wanted to ring a composition of Minor which did not consist of seven 720's they should not say it was true, because it wasn't. If they wanted to ring it they should not call it a peal, they should call it 5,040 changes.

'AN EXPERIMENTAL CONCESSION.'

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said it was impracticable to retard the wheels of progress. This kind of experiment would go on, and the best thing they could do was to make it clear in the resolution that it was only an experimental concession. He suggested that paragraph 4 of Mr. Coles' motion should read: 'That any departure from the above standards is not encouraged; but that in view of the present experimental stage of development in composition any arrangement of 5,040 changes in an acknowledged method or methods may be recognised as a peal, provided that no change is rung more (or less) than seven times in a peal of Minor, or 42 times in a peal of Doubles, and that the whole starts from and ends with rounds. Such a peal may be lengthened, provided that no change is rung more than once for each additional 720 (or 120) changes, and that the whole ends with rounds.'

Mr. A. D. Barker said the Council had just passed a resolution urging five and six-bell ringers to ring peals in more than one method, and, if possible, peals of Minor in not less than seven methods. Those who wanted to ring seven 720's of Cambridge Minor had eight compositions which would keep the tenors the right way, which ought to be quite enough without calling on the ingenious arrangement of Mr. Bankes James. There were other methods in which they could not get seven 720's with the tenors the right way, but he hoped everyone would support Mr. White's amendment. If they did he was quite sure they would please the six-bell ringers.

In replying to various points raised in the discussion, Mr. Wood said he thought Mr. Coles had made out a very good case for the Bankes James arrangement, but not so good a case for the rest of his own motion. His (Mr. Wood's) case for the Bankes James arrangement was that if they wanted it let them have it honestly as an exception to the rule. He did not consider Mr. Coles' motion was logical, because, first of all, he wanted to discourage certain peals and then said, 'Let us let them in.' That was not the way to discourage them. Mr. Edwards had said something about the present experimental stage of composition. Experiments in composition were not confined to 1933; they had been going on since about 1600. It would be of no use to have a temporary motion; they would always be experimenting. The one question they had to ask themselves was, 'Is it in the interests of ringing that this arrangement should be rung?' They were not concerned in his motion with anything about starting at backstroke, or whether rounds came first or last, or whether, even this peal was true; they were there to say whether they would accept it as being for advancement in the right direction. That was all he asked them to vote on. His motion was included in Mr. Coles' motion, and those who were prepared to support Mr. Coles must, to be logical, vote for his also. With those who would vote for the amendment he had a good deal of sympathy, but he asked them to bear in mind that the amendment was not going to end the trouble. He asked them to give as unanimous a vote as possible to let in the Bankes James composition as an exception and nothing else.

'AMENDMENT IS HYPOCRISY.'

Mr. Coles, also replying, flatly contradicted Mr. Hunt that his association had not rung any of these special compositions, and said that peals of Grandsire Doubles rung by the Bath and Wells Association between 1926 and 1932 included six in which Pitman's or Morris' arrangements or both appeared. With regard to the mover and the seconder of the amendment, who said that ringers did not want these compositions, he pointed out that their own association, the Midland Counties, had rung Morris' arrangement probably more than any other association, and their own secretary called it so often that many people thought it was his own composition. Further, they passed a resolution in 1930 declining to recognise peals which included these compositions, but that did not prevent them publishing in their report for 1931 a peal of Cambridge Minor rung on these lines. Did they have the courage to withdraw it? asked Mr. Coles. 'They didn't,' was his reply. Moreover, they rang the Pitman and Morris arrangements in a peal that most people would have taken exception to, a peal which included both Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles. 'I say their amendment is hypocrisy,' said Mr. Coles, 'and they have been driven into this position by Mr. Willson's "hopelessly false" resolution at Chelmsford.' As to the position of the Council, Mr. Coles said they had accepted these peals. Whether the Analysis Committee had been justified in putting them in the analysis or not by the rules of the Council, no protest had been made, and no protest was made when the Analysis Committee's report was brought up that day. Mr. Johnson had said that under his (the speaker's) motion they would be allowed to ring a hopeless jumble, but he pointed out that his motion provided for the peal being rung only in a recognised method.

Mr. Johnson: What I said was that paragraph 4 was a hopeless jumble, not the methods ('Oh!!').

Mr. Coles said that was not what he understood Mr. Johnson to say. He went on to suggest that the old seven 720's had become much too easy for the average conductor, and his resolution would permit them to ring things which were harder, such, for instance, as the varieties of 240's and 360's published by Mr. Lindoff. Mr. Coles said if his own motion were defeated, he would be bound to vote for Mr. Wood's, but he would point out that Mr. Wood's motion did nothing for the five-bell ringers—it did not mention Doubles.

The President: It was intended that it should.

Mr. Coles said he hoped the Council would pass his resolution; it would end the controversy once and for all, and the way would be quite clear. If the resolutions were passed there would be no fear of ringers departing from recognised methods; neither did it mean that ringers would have to ring these things if they did not wish to ring them.

The President said Mr. Wood's motion was intended to cover Doubles similarly. It was absolutely his (the president's) mistake in passing on the motion. There should have been in the motion a paragraph that a peal of Doubles should consist, in general, of 42 extents.

Mr. W. E. White mentioned, with regard to the peal in the Midland Counties Association's report, referred to by Mr. Coles, that as soon as it was noticed it was deleted, and it was not recorded in the association's peal book. The peal was cancelled, and now when a peal was rung, if the composition was not given, they asked where the figures were to be found.

The amendment was then put to the meeting, and the President announced that it was carried by 44 votes to 26. This was greeted with applause, and on being put as a substantive motion there was again a majority in favour, but as, under the old rules which governed the meeting, matters outside the private business of the Council had to be carried by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the meeting, and this majority not being obtained, the President had to announce that it was not carried by the requisite number. The position, therefore, remains exactly as it was before the meeting.

WARWICK FOR THE NEXT MEETING.

The next business was the place for the next meeting. The President said two places had been suggested—Warwick and Wolverhampton. The Standing Committee did not make any definite recommendation, but it was the turn of the Midlands to have a meeting.

Mr. H. Knight (hon. secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford) gave an invitation to the Council to visit Wolverhampton.—This was seconded by Alderman Pritchett.

Warwick was proposed by Mr. J. A. Trollope, and seconded by Mr. J. H. White.

On being put to the vote, Warwick was selected.

On the recommendation of the Standing Committee, the following grants were made to the various memorial schemes for which appeals had been received:—

Five guineas to the Law James memorial at Surfleet.

Ten guineas to the memorial to Sir Arthur Heywood at Duffield.

Three guineas to the memorial to Mr. H. W. Wilde.

Three guineas to the memorial to Mr. Edwin Barnett.

A vote of thanks to the president was passed on the motion of Canon Elsec, and the President then proposed a vote of thanks to all concerned in the meeting and social arrangements: to the Skippers' Company for the use of the hall; the Worshipful Master of the Company for his welcome; to the societies and their representatives on the joint committee who had arranged the social programme; to the Middlesex County Association for their hospitality in inviting the members of the Council and their friends to tea; to the authorities at the South Kensington Museum; to H.M. Office of Works for the use of the bells at the Imperial Institute; and the incumbents of the various churches for similar facilities in regard to their bells; and to the respective steeplekeepers; also to the Rector of St. Clement Danes' for the use of the vestry at that church for the meeting of the Standing Committee on the preceding day.

This concluded the business, and the Council then rose.

The report of the round of social events connected with the meeting of the Council has already been reported in our columns.

MR. COLES' REPLY TO MR. GEORGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should have thought that my letter contained enough evidence to show Mr. George was fully aware of the creation of the tablet at Painswick, and that he was a party to it, to satisfy anyone, but he evades all I said, and still asks for proof. Well, I have no desire to go all over the ground again: the evidence is there, and the proof. As regards my statement at the Council meeting, I still say that Mr. George made no protest. This is proved by Mr. George himself, who admits that his letter to Mr. Wright was not written until the following September, i.e., nearly twelve months too late. My statement as to Mr. George's wishes I am not in a position to prove, and for that reason only I withdrew it. The evidence against Mr. George is quite good enough without it, and it can go.

Mr. George had a great responsibility as an hon. member of the Central Council, and should have repudiated the whole business. Instead, he attended the unveiling ceremony and forced the Council to take the only action open to it, consistent with its dignity. He then saw his error. At this year's meeting his friends tried to stage a 'come back' for him by putting in hearsay evidence and statements that Mr. George had had nothing to do with the matter, although all the available evidence proves exactly the opposite. My only regret is that I relied on hearsay evidence when putting up my protest, instead of putting in the facts which can be proved by anyone who takes the trouble to read 'The Ringing World' regularly. I still consider my protest was justified, and that the attempt to have Mr. George reinstated should never have been made, especially with the unsatisfactory evidence put in on his behalf.

C. T. COLES.

ANTIQUITY (?) CHALLENGED.

BY IRENÆUS.

Thryberga, a stone's throw from Rotherham, was a known place before the days of William the Conqueror, and was mentioned in Domesday Book. Now it is mentioned in something just as famous, to wit, 'The Ringing World.'

I am no Thrybergonian, nor am I Rotherhamite, or Eborencian, or 'of antiquarian turn of mind with musical quality thrown in.' No, I am one of two VANDALS who received instructions to inspect the old bells (1821) and frame and report in writing to the Rotherham Church Council.

Now, when Mr. Dawe was throwing in the effulgence of his antiquarian mind, plus the musical quality, plus the 'baking, boiling, broiling and drowning,' before the 'C.C.'—reader, in future 'C.C.' has a cryptic significance, it stands for 'cookery class'—and after he had 'drowned' nothing except common sense, he tried to make everybody there believe he knew more about Rotherham old 10 than anyone else. P'raps he does; p'raps he doesn't! I, being an 'up-to-date'! and a vandal! am pitting inherited antiquarian 'taste' with his acquired antiquarian turn of mind. Battle Royal will I do with him on the old Rotherham 10, and will in the end TRIUMPH, not only over Mr. Dawe, but over physical disability.

Now, reader, when I started this rejoinder I intended to give Mr. Dawe a sample of what I deem to be bells of antiquarian value. However, one now decides to use those opening remarks as a foil leading up to a challenge!

In the near future (D.V.), and with the editor's permission, gladly will I give you a genuine example of antiquity—which hangs in Thrybergh tower.

Here's my challenge to Mr. Dawe: Who cast the eighth bell in the old ten at Rotherham? Was she a 'maiden,' born in the province of Canterbury? or was she 'hatched' and 'chipped' in the province of Eborencia?

If Mr. Dawe can answer those questions it will go a long way towards making me believe he does know, at least, a little about Rotherham old ten.

Rotherham bells of to-day ARE BELLS! Formerly they were not! To-day you may find inscribed in facsimile what history was left—by the vandals of 1821—you will also find to-day bells with a musical quality 'put in' (happy phrase)—not thrown in. In conclusion if, when one answers the 'home' call, these vandalistic bones of mine should be crumbling 'neath a nameless mound, of a truth my anonymous footprints in Rotherham steeple will be—my memorial!

BOLTON RINGER'S DEATH.

For evening service with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect to Mr. John Catterall, a member of the band at St. Bartholomew's Church, Bolton, Lancs, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles with the six-scores spliced on Lindoff's principle: H. Weall 1, R. Knowles 2, T. Longworth 3, E. Edwards 4, Peter Crook, sen. (conductor) 5, J. Aspden 6.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION.

A SILVER CUP FOR GOOD STRIKING.

The annual meeting of the Irish Association held in Kilkenny on Whit Monday was attended by members from Arklow, Bray, Dublin (three towers), and the local company. The bells of St. Carice's Cathedral (eight) were placed at the disposal of the ringers, and some good touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman were brought round.

Luncheon was served in Lewis' Hotel, 75 members sitting down, after which the business was proceeded with, the president (Mr. W. H. Wilson) being in the chair.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. R. Lynch, Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin; hon. treasurer, Mr. D. Gibson, Bray; hon. secretary, Mr. G. Lindoff, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin.

Dublin was selected for the next annual meeting.

The attendance shield was carried off by St. George's, Dublin, Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, and St. Saviour's, Arklow, each with 100 per cent.

A discussion arose as to getting a new trophy to be awarded for progress. It was considered that funds would not permit, but Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C., kindly offered a silver cup for an annual competition in striking. Needless to say, this offer was accepted and Mr. Murphy thanked for his kindness.

The formation of a fund out of which towers getting their bells renovated could be assisted, caused a lively discussion. The result was that Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C., offered a gentleman's gold watch, and Mr. J. Hutchinson, P.C. a lady's gold watch, as prizes in a 'stop watch' competition, the gentleman's watch to go to the gentleman making the nearest guess, and the lady's to the nearest lady. The proceeds at twopence per guess will go to the fund. These kind offers were gladly accepted, and Mr. Murphy and Mr. Hutchinson warmly thanked.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Dean for granting the use of the bells, and to the chairman for presiding.

LAVENHAM'S ANNIVERSARY.

The Lavenham Society celebrated the 122nd 'ringing day' on June 24th, when many touches, each of short length, were rung in the following methods: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise. Fourteen towers were represented by visiting ringers; notably amongst them being Messrs. E. Alex. Young, G. Fardon, F. Claydon, A. Saunders, D. Elliott and Miss Hilda Snowden, an aspiring Essex ringer. During the tea hour some of the handbell novices tried their abilities at double-handed ringing. One of the ringers present, Mr. D. A. S. Symonds, is the fifth generation of that family to attend these annual gatherings.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE CLASHING OF DISTRICT MEETINGS.

The Rochester district's choice of Tunstall for the last quarterly meeting for the year proved to be entirely suitable, touches of Spiced Major and cricket in alternate courses being successful in relieving congestion in the somewhat small ringing chamber. The local company were at full strength, and were supported by members from Sittingbourne, Queenborough, Maidstone, Rainham, Chatham, Rochester, Frindsbury, Gravesend, Northfleet and Crayford.

The service was conducted by the Rector, who is an honorary member of the association. The presence of Mr. G. H. Wills, one of the churchwardens, who is also an honorary member, was very much appreciated by the ringers, as was also the attendance of the choir, ably led by Mrs. G. E. Spice, one of the local company, who officiated at the organ. During the singing of the last hymn a collection was made in aid of the benevolent fund of the association.

Tracks were then made to the Church Hall, at which upwards of 60 sat down to partake of the splendid tea which Mr. Spice had generously provided, and to which everyone present did ample justice.

The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding, supported by Mr. G. H. Wills, Messrs. Spice and Belsey, district representatives, and the district secretary. An apology was sent by Mr. Mitchell, general secretary, who was unable to be present.

Rochester Cathedral was chosen for the annual district meeting, the date being left for the secretary to arrange with the Dean as convenient.

The secretary read a letter received from the Lewisham district secretary regarding a resolution adopted at their last meeting dealing with the clashing of dates of the meetings in the Rochester and Lewisham Districts, and also his reply to this letter. The members endorsed the secretary's preliminary action and voted unanimous support for every attempt to be made to bridge this difficulty.

A resolution was also passed to extend the scope of the arrangement of dates of district meetings so as to embrace all districts. The matter is to be brought up at the next general committee meeting.

In addition to touches on the tower bells, which included London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, a notable touch, amongst others on handbells, was one of Grandsire Triples by Mr. Spice, two sons and his daughter-in-law.

At the Church Hall, before reassembling at the tower, the Secretary explained that this was Mr. Spice's jubilee year. The response to three hearty cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Spice it was feared would cause the clouds to burst, but the weather remained fairly kind to the last.

AN INVITATION MEETING.

There was a memorable gathering of the Tonbridge District on July 15th, when a meeting was held at Brasted by invitation of Mr. E. H. Lewis. A large number of members attended from this and the Lewisham Districts, and among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, Mr. A. A. Hughes, and several other well-known London ringers, Mr. F. M. Mitchell (general secretary of the Kent Association), etc. Ringing was kept up by mixed bands in various methods during the afternoon and evening. The usual service was held, conducted by the Rector. The organist and full choir were in attendance, the association form of service being used, and the hymns, 'Ring out, wild bells,' by Lord Tennyson, set to music by Mr. T. H. Wood, and 'Unchanging God, Who livest,' were heartily sung. The address was given by Rev. E. L. M. Allen, Vicar of Edenbridge, and a collection was taken for the association benevolent fund. The service was very hearty throughout. The only 'fly in the ointment' was that the clerk of the weather was not in a very good humour, and the tea, which was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis at their residence, could not be partaken of outdoors as was intended. But the host and hostess were equal to the occasion, and the large company were accommodated inside the house.

The business meeting followed, Mr. Lewis presiding. The ringers of Brasted, who have been under Mr. Lewis' tuition for the past year, were elected members of the association. Votes of thanks to the Rector, Rev. E. L. M. Allen, the organist and choir were passed and replied to.

Mr. Lewis, replying to a vote of thanks to himself and Mrs. Lewis for their hospitality, expressed his great pleasure in meeting such a large company. Mr. Lewis, referring to the ringers of Brasted, said that they had only commenced ringing a year ago, and the reason they were not further advanced in change ringing was that he insisted on their striking being perfect in rounds before starting in change ringing.

The weather having by this time improved, Mr. Lewis suggested that the younger members should try the maze he had erected, which suggestion was taken up not only by the younger but some of the older members. Handbell ringing, both in the house and on the lawn, was indulged in, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

If any ringers happen to be in Brasted on Thursday evenings they will be heartily welcomed at the tower by Mr. Lewis.

RINGER-RIFLEMAN'S SUCCESS AT BISLEY.

Flying Officer Charles Bunch, late R.A.F., a member of the Yateley, Hants, Parish Church ringers, had remarkable success as a rifleman at the Bisley N.R.A. meeting last week. He was the silver medalist in the second stage of the King's prize, his aggregate at the three ranges being 145 out of a possible 150. In the first stage he tied for second place. In addition he won the English Twenty championship, was second in the Wimbledon Cup, second in the Alexandra competition, and 4th in the Stock Exchange competition. He was also a member of the English Twenty team that won the International trophy, and of the English Eight that won the Colapere Cup. The Exercise will congratulate Mr. Bunch on his great achievement.

Several ringers from different parts of England took part in the meeting.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The summer meeting of the Western Branch of the Worcester and Districts Association was held at the Priory, Great Malvern, on Saturday, July 15th. About 40 members and friends were present, representing eleven towers, together with visitors from Bromsgrove, Erdington, King's Norton, Northfield, Newport, Ross, Reading and Selly Oak.

At the business meeting Mr. R. G. Knowles spoke of the loss the Western Branch had sustained by the accidental death of Mr. C. G. Bowkett, a prominent and very much respected member of the Hallow band.

It was decided to hold the autumn meeting, if possible, at Claines. The ringers then adjourned to the Winter Gardens for tea, kindly given by the Vicar, Rev. Bartlett, and the churchwardens. After tea Mr. Knowles tendered a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for their generosity in providing tea and for the use of the bells. In replying, the churchwarden (Mr. Hilier) welcomed the association to Great Malvern, and hoped that the Priory would again be visited in the near future.

At the service which followed, Rev. Fraser, in the absence of the Vicar, gave an excellent address.

The tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going until 8 p.m. to touches of Triples and Major. This brought a very successful meeting to a close.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Guild took place at Monk's Kirby on Saturday, July 15th. There was a splendid attendance of members from Allesley, Chilvers Coton, Croft, Husband's Bosworth, Leicester, Lillington, Rugby, Stoke, Nuneaton, Wigston and Wolvey, with the local band. The majority of the better-known methods were rung on the fine-toned peal of eight before tea, which was served at the Den-high Arms. This was followed by the business meeting, Mr. J. H. W. White, Master of the Guild, taking the chair.

The following meeting places were decided upon: Exhall for August, Berkswell for September, and Solihull for the October quarterly meeting.

The names of Messrs. T. W. Thorpe and J. Taylor, who were elected members prior to a peal, were ratified.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar and the local ringers.—Mr. J. Harrison responded.

A return being made to the belfry, further ringing followed, including a course of Wigston Surprise Major. Other methods rung during the meeting were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Cambridge, Superlative, London and Bristol Surprise.

After the lowering of the bells in peal a return was made to the tea room and handbell ringing indulged in by the experts and those who hoped to be some day. A course of Grandsire Caters was rung by five members rejoicing in the name of Joseph, namely: Joseph H. Beale 1-2, Joseph H. W. White 3-4, Joseph B. Fenton 5-6, Joseph A. Fenton 7-8, Joseph Carter 9-10. Stedman Triples was rung by: D. H. Argyle 1-2, F. W. Perrens 3-4, J. A. Fenton 5-6, L. G. Watkins 7-8; and Stedman Caters by D. H. Argyle, H. C. Burt, F. W. Perrens, J. A. Fenton and A. H. Beamish. Tunes on the handbells were rendered by C. H. Webb, J. B. Fenton and J. A. Fenton.

Thus closed a very pleasant meeting, which everybody appeared to enjoy. D. E. H.

LADIES' GUILD.

A meeting of the Northern Branch of the Ladies' Guild was held at Sutton-on-Trent on Saturday, July 15th. A good number of members and friends assembled from Bulwell, Cotgrave, Collingham, Handsworth, Long Eaton, Rotherham, Sheffield, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Treeton, Nottingham, etc.

The bells, a light peal of eight, proved admirable for the ladies to ring, and were kept busy during the afternoon and evening. Touches of Cambridge, Superlative, Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, Little Bob, Plain Bob, rounds for beginners in the art and a touch of Grandsire Triples by a ladies' band being rung.

An excellent tea was served in the Institute, to which the company was welcomed by the Vicar.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the ladies who provided so well for the 'inner man,' and to the local ringers for their kindly welcome.

BELLS AND THE PUBLIC.

The recent case in which an action was brought by a parishioner against the Vicar of St. Alban's, Golders Green, for an injunction to restrain him and anyone acting under him from annoying the plaintiff and his family by the tolling or ringing of the bells, is not only of great interest, but importance to church authorities and ringers, despite the fact that a settlement, by agreement, was arrived at before the defendant's case was heard, and the Court was not called upon to decide the issue. The bells at St. Alban's Church are not hung for ringing, and the complaint was against the chiming of the bells for prolonged periods and early in the morning and late in the evening. The settlement arrived at limits future chiming to a quarter of an hour before the usual morning and evening service, and a single bell for five minutes before early service.

The publicity which was given to this case may encourage others who dislike the ringing of church bells to take similar action, in the hope of restricting the time of the ringing of which they are within earshot, and the prospect is not a very reassuring one to ringers, because one or two objectors in a parish might very easily succeed in effectually closing a tower to change ringing if only by 'agreement' with the authorities. In the Central Council's booklet on 'The Law affecting Church Bells' it is pointed out that 'bells may be a private nuisance liable to be restrained by injunction at the instance of any person specially aggrieved,' but, 'so long as bells are rung in moderation—even for peal ringing—it is unlikely that the Courts will interfere with such an old established custom.' We are not sure that this comforting opinion would stand the test of a legal action, although obviously it must make a difference whether the objector settles himself within the range of the 'nuisance' or the 'nuisance' is brought to the objector.

A noticeable thing in most cases of objection to church bells is that those who complain seldom have any interest in the church or even in the observance of Sunday except as a holiday. There will, therefore, generally be a much stronger claim to resist the efforts of those who would restrain ringing if the bells are regularly rung for their primary purposes—the church services—and if other ringing is done in moderation, and under conditions which will reduce the possibility of annoyance to a minimum. It must be admitted that many rings of bells are far more noisy outside the tower than they need be. Let the sound go out in full volume, by all means, for the service ringing and on public occasions; but there is no reason why the people living round about the church should be given the full benefit (?) of the bells when the ringers are practising or ringing a peal for their own amusement. In these days there are simple and inexpensive means of considerably moderating the noise from the bells in the neighbourhood of the tower and ringers, in their own interests should see that steps are taken to that end, particularly in crowded towns. It is wiser to safeguard the ringing by taking reasonable precautions, than to risk the closing of a tower—not necessarily by High Court action, but, as sometimes happens, by the 'pressure' put on the incumbent by some influential resident or residents.

DEATH OF OLD IRTHLINGBOROUGH RINGER, MEMBER OF A FAMOUS BAND.

We regret to record the death, which took place on July 18th, of Mr. Alpheus Perkins, of Irlthlingborough, Northants, the oldest member of the band that achieved fame many years ago for their Surprise ringing. Mr. Perkins, who was 71 years of age, had been connected with St. Peter's belfry for 40 years, having joined the band which was formed after the restoration of the tower in 1893. He rang his first peal in 1894, and afterwards took part in the first peals of Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major in the county. His last peal was one rung muffled on the death of Queen Alexandra in 1926. One of his peals was a 9,312 of Superlative Surprise.

He was not a great peal ringer, as peal ringing is counted in these days. He had taken part in all in about 50. But while always willing to let others take his place in peal attempts, he was a regular Sunday service ringer up to the beginning of his long illness, and, even since a serious operation some fifteen months ago, he was frequently to be found in the belfry on Sundays. He was always keen on having good striking. His fellow-ringers have lost a loyal and devoted colleague, and his place will be difficult to fill. To the widow and family, the greatest sympathy has been extended in their irreparable loss.

Ringers from many towers attended to pay their last tribute at the funeral which took place on Saturday afternoon, July 22nd. The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. L. W. Wright).

The chief mourners were: Mrs. S. Perkins (widow), Mr. Wilfrid Perkins (son), Mrs. A. Abbott (daughter), Mr. Oliver Perkins (son), Mrs. W. Mumford (daughter), Mr. Osmund Perkins (son), Mrs. W. Perkins (daughter-in-law), Mr. Frank Perkins (son), Mrs. O. Perkins (daughter-in-law), Mr. A. Abbott (son-in-law), Mr. W. Mumford (son-in-law), Mr. S. Perkins (brother), Mrs. S. Perkins (sister-in-law), Mr. W. Perkins (brother), Mrs. Roberts (niece), Mrs. Bailey, Miss L. Abbott and Mr. G. Perkins (grandchildren), Miss H. Freeman (friend), Mr. H. Perkins (nephew), Mr. and Mrs. E. Poole (brother-in-law and sister-in-law), Mrs. A. Poole and Miss G. Poole (sister-in-law and niece).

A coiled bell rope lay on the coffin, which was carried to its last resting place by brother ringers of St. Peter's, Messrs. A. Y. Tyler, J. Mawby, C. Newman, J. Ward, H. Chambers, E. Shelton, A. Bigley and F. Palmer.

The visiting ringers walked in front of the cortege, headed by Mr. F. Barber, Wellingborough, secretary of the Wellingborough District, bearing a beautiful floral tribute in the form of a bell, from his brothers ringers of St. Peter's. Other representatives present were Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild; Mr. C. W. Clarke, Bedford; Mr. J. W. Taylor, Northampton; Mr. J. R. Sharman, Cogenhoe; Mr. A. Martin, Higham Ferrers; Mr. T. Hensher, Mr. J. Main, Mr. G. Basford, Mr. C. Richardson, Mr. T. Abbott, Finedon; Mr. J. Packwood, Wellingborough; Mr. F. Kirk, Raunds; Mr. J. Garratt, Mr. W. Whitmore, and several others.

At the close of the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the handbells over the grave by Messrs. A. Bigley 1-2, C. W. Clarke 3-4, A. Y. Tyler 5-6, and J. Mawby 7-8.

After the funeral half-muffled touches were rung on the tower bells, the methods including London, Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire, and Bristol Surprise, Double Norwich and Stedman.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

It was a happy day at Sunderland for ringers on Saturday week when the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association held another successful meeting. Members were present from Whickham, Newcastle, Morpeth, Chester-le-Street, West Hartlepool, South Shields, as well as the local men. The bells of St. Ignatius Church were kept going until five o'clock, and afterwards a substantial tea awaited the ringers in the Institute. A short meeting followed, Mr. R. L. Patterson, vice-president, presiding.

After the loyal toast, the chairman made reference to the forthcoming marriage of Mr. Robson, the secretary of the Eastern District. In a happy little speech he said he was sure that all the members would wish him and his bride all health and happiness.

Mr. J. W. Parker proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, and said they always welcomed the ringers to Sunderland. He welcomed Mr. J. Leighton back again among the ringers, after a serious illness. That day he had rung the first touch on the bells for over 12 months.

Mr. Storey, in proposing a vote of thanks to the ladies for providing tea, said they owed them a debt of gratitude for giving up their Saturday afternoon. The ringers fully appreciated their part in the meetings.—Mr. Anderson proposed, and Mr. Robson seconded, the re-election of Mr. R. L. Patterson as vice-president, and Mr. Picking proposed, and Mr. Leighton seconded, that Mr. F. Robson be secretary for the coming year, these nominations being subject to approval at the annual meeting.

It was proposed that the next meeting be held at Houghton-le-Spring on September 9th.

After the meeting ringing took place at Holy Trinity Church. The methods rung were Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION CAERLEON BELLS AGAIN RINGING.

The quarterly meeting was held at Caldicot on Saturday, July 29th, and was splendidly attended by members from both counties. Soon after two o'clock the bells were raised and rung in the standard methods, and at 4.30 service was held, the Vicar (the Rev. Theo. M. R. Younghuges) officiating and giving an address. Tea was afterwards served in the Church Institute, the members enjoying the hospitality of the Vicar, who afterwards presided over the business meeting.

The Hon. Secretary reported that since the last meeting the bells of Caerleon tower were again ringing. Some minor repairs had been done to the tower. Since the arrival of the new Vicar a new leader had been appointed, and the bells were being rung for the Sunday services and a weekly practice night arranged.

Instruction reports were received, progress being reported at Nash, Redwick and Caerleon.

Restoration and augmentation reports were also received, and the representatives to the Central Council meeting gave their report, for which they were thanked.

New members were elected from several towers.

The Hon. Secretary commented on the leading article in 'The Ringing World.' After reading the first portion referring to 'Putting something in,' he endorsed all that had been said by the hon. secretary of the Middlesex Association at their meeting. They had, he said, the same experience in that part of the country. The Hon. Secretary then referred to the arrears of subscriptions, ringing of peals, etc.

The meeting closed with the very best thanks to the Vicar for his kindness and hospitality.

The Vicar having obtained permission for the visitors to view the Castle and grounds, a party took advantage of the opportunity. Further ringing until late in the evening brought a most enjoyable and successful meeting to a close.

A GOOD TIME AT KEYSTON. HAPPY GATHERING OF RINGERS.

There was a happy gathering of ringers at Keyston, Hunts, recently, when the marriage was solemnised between Mr. John James Lilley, son of Mr. C. R. Lilley, and Miss Elsie May Fensome, daughter of ex-Sergt. Fensome, of Keyston. The visiting ringers were also delighted to meet once again Mr. Harry Chapman, formerly of Manchester, who now lives here in retirement. As one of them writes, he was welcomed by Mr. Chapman 'as of old, with his usual gist of enthusiasm, and both of us synchronised with a feeling that confronted us with a programme of ringings and meeting of ringers which is akin to our state of calling.'

We don't quite know what this means, but they evidently had a good time.

Ringers were present from, among other places, Irthlingborough, Rushden, Woollaston, Raunds, Nottingham, etc. Ringing took place on the five bells, Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Doubles being accomplished.

After the ringing, refreshments were partaken of at the local hostelry, where touches and tunes were rung on handbells, and in the evening part of the company paid a visit to the residence of the bridegroom's father to enjoy further hospitality and to extend their good wishes to the newly-wedded pair.

We are confirmed in our view that the ringers had a rollicking time from the fact that our correspondent goes on to say: 'The company later reassembled to bless the day, which surely and slowly was closing, after which we cautiously and carefully retired to our virtuous couches.'

The next day one of the visitors discovered a beautiful and tuneful peal of eight bells at Raunds, on which he helped to ring Stedman and Double Norwich, and then 'after inspecting the church's precincts and historical adjuncts,' made a long detour to survey 'the green pasturage and foliage in its prime and colourful state in a quiet and peaceful countryside which could scarcely be surpassed.'

BROOKFIELD RINGERS' OUTING

The ringers of Brookfield Unitarian Church, Gorton, Manchester, accompanied by wives and friends, visited North Staffordshire and Cheshire for their annual picnic. Proceeding by motor coach, Newcastle-under-Lyme was reached, and the fine peal of 10 bells was soon ringing, also an old acquaintanceship of long standing renewed, the two persons concerned not having met for 35 years.

Leaving Newcastle, with the addition of two more handy men who were cordially invited to join the party, Wolstanton was the next place of call. Here a few short touches were rung. They then continued to Lawton, the venue of the picnic, where, after a fine tea, for which thanks are due to Mr. W. Rigby and his friends, ringing was again indulged in on the handy ring of eight, touches ranging from Grandsire to Double Norwich being successfully brought round. The ringers wish to thank all steepkeepers, incumbents and others for their co-operation in making this, the 13th post-war picnic, so successful.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD. SIX-BELL FESTIVAL.

The annual festival of Truro Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday at Callington. It was a six-bell festival, the towers of Callington, Linkinhorne, St. Mellion, Pillaton and South Hill being used. All these towers contain rings of six, with the exception of South Hill, which has a ring of five in a minor key.

Ringers were present from Truro Cathedral, St. Anthony-in-Meneage, Callington, St. Gluvins, Kea, Landulph, Laneast, Launceston St. Mary's, Launceston St. Thomas, Lewannick, Lezant, Manaccan, Pillaton, Redruth, South Hill, South Petherwin, and also a few visitors from Plymouth, and other parts of England.

A fine service was held in Callington Church, conducted by the Vicar, the singing being led by the church choir.

After the service the ringers and their friends sat down to tea in Callington Town Hall, during which the Rev. W. H. R. Trehella thanked the incumbents of the various churches for the use of their bells, and the Rector of Callington, Rev. R. W. Marsh, and his churchworkers for the service and for organising the tea.

Lieut.-Col. C. F. Jerram, the Ringing Master, mapped out the times of ringing in each place in such an excellent way that neither the bells nor the ringers were idle all the time. Everyone seemed happy, and no grumbling was heard.

Ringing varied from rounds to some of the higher methods. Lezant is to be commended for their excellent striking in 'call changes' at Callington. They rang with an open lead at the hand-stroke. Perhaps this is the first step in their advance to half-pull methods.

It was pleasing to see several of the clergy present, including Revs. R. W. Marsh (Rector of Callington), Perry Gore (curate of Callington), I. S. Jenkins (Rector of Calstock), R. Hocking (Rector of Pillaton), and G. E. B. Scott (Vicar of Lewannick).

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN DEVON RINGER. LEADER OF CHARLES CHURCH BAND.

The many friends of Mr. Walter H. Marsh will learn with regret of his death, which occurred at Plymouth on July 17th, at the age of 77 years. A man of forceful personality, he was held in high esteem by all with whom he had come in contact. As a keen churchman he served as a chorister for 40 years, and as a keener ringer he was responsible for teaching the rudiments of change ringing to numberless learners at the Church of Charles, Plymouth, where he was the leader. Such were his methods that one could not fail to learn under his tuition, and he brought his hand up to a very high standard. His punctuality was a byword, and as chairman of the South-Western Branch of the Devon Guild he controlled the meetings admirably until ill-health compelled him to relinquish all his activities.

Ringers from Cornwall and Exeter joined the Plymouth ringers in attending his funeral on Saturday, July 22nd. The bells of Charles Church were rung half-muffled for the service, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave, to which old comrades carried him.

On the Wednesday following his death a representative band of the South-Western District rang course of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob at the Church of Emmanuel, Plymouth, with bells half-muffled, and on Saturday evening a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, which unfortunately came to grief, was attempted at Plympton St. Maurice. Those taking part were J. Woodley, W. G. Lavers, W. J. Rundle, W. Oatway, J. Pook, W. Wonnacott, W. Richards and A. Wonnacott.

On Sunday evening, at the Church of Charles, where Mr. Marsh had served so long, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung to his memory, half-muffled, by H. Rogers, A. Weatherby, S. Pengelly, W. Oatway, S. O'Shaughnessy, J. O. Pook, A. T. Westcott (conductor) and J. Sims.

NEARLY A BACHELORS' PARTY.

It was nearly a bachelors' party that met at Penn for the July practice of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild, only one male having the forethought to bring a lady with him. Numerous methods were rung, Cambridge being greatly in demand. One lively youth of some 70 odd years rang his first course of 'bachelors' delight' at the first attempt.

The usual excellent tea was enjoyed by all, a 'thoroughly domesticated' young man officiating with the teapot. The handbells (since sold) were produced and sounded quite pleasing. Is there to be any commission for those who advertised their musical qualities?

More arrivals after tea helped to swell the party to its usual numbers. The 'globe trotter' left early, but it is understood that the bells were kept going until a late hour.

The next gatherings of this branch are to be held in London on August 5th, and Windsor on August 26th (see notice column), but ringers are advised not to wait until afterwards and say, 'I wish that I had been there.'

ORIGINALITY IN COMPOSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It was stated at the Central Council meeting that 'real originality in peals of ordinary length does not exist nowadays.'

I would invite any holding this view to try their luck with Silchester Surprise, and should like to hear their opinion when they have produced a peal or two.

BELL FOUNDER'S EMPLOYEES' PEAL.

LOUGHBOROUGH MEN RING BOB MAJOR.

Peals scored by ringers having the same Christian name, by fathers and sons and husbands and wives are not now unique, and although several peals have been rung before by employees of one firm, the peal rung at Loughborough on Monday, July 24th, as recorded elsewhere in this issue, is not without interest.

Even to-day, with facilities for peal ringing such as never before existed, there can be few, if any, firms anywhere which can claim, like Messrs. John Taylor and Co., the proud distinction of having amongst their employees a band capable of ringing a peal on eight bells. In addition to those who rang in the peal referred to, there are Mr. E. Denison Taylor, head of the firm, and Mr. J. Oldham, the manager, who often take a rope when visitors to the foundry wish to see an exhibition of change ringing on the bells in the foundry campanile.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. have usually had a muster of men who understood the practical side of ringing in addition to bell hanging, for as far back as 1888 the late Mr. J. W. Taylor, sen., with his two sons, the late Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., and Mr. E. Denison Taylor, together with seven of their employees, rang at Loughborough Parish Church a peal of Stedman Caters.

More frequent attempts for peals would be made by employees of the Loughborough Foundry were it not for the fact that some of them are rarely at home at the same time.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Southern District was held at St. Andrew's, Limpsfield Chart, on Saturday, July 22nd, and the musical ring of six bells was made good use of during the afternoon and evening by members from Buckland, Burstow, Godstone, Merstham and Reigate, with visitors from Brighton and Shoreham, while members of the local band mustered in good force. A short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. Chamberland, of Hurst Green, Oxted. Tea and meeting followed in Chart Hall, at which the Master of the association, Mr. K. D. C. Birt, presided. One new member was elected, and it was announced that the next meeting would be held at Reigate on September 16th.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rev. Chamberland, to the organist and organ blower, to the local band for making arrangements, and to Mrs. L. A. Tidy for providing an excellent tea. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until nearly 9 p.m. in various methods up to London Surprise.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Conductors of peals rung to-morrow and on Monday are requested to forward their reports in time to reach us on Tuesday.

Ringers desirous of purchasing copies of the Central Council publications should note that they may now be obtained from the new hon. librarian, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, Watlington Rectory, King's Lynn, Norfolk. The list of publications will be found in an advertisement.

In a handbell peal of Doubles, rung at Gravesend, Kent, the conducting was shared by two of the ringers who alternately called the six-scores. It all helps to make a change. We remember a handbell peal some years ago in which each ringer called a quarter-peal, and each quarter-peal had a different calling. There have been numerous instances of a change over of conductor with each 720 of a peal of Minor. Why not a peal of Stedman Triples with courses called by all the ringers in turn?

The tower of Buckfast Abbey, Devon, is to be raised another 40ft. The work will be carried out by the five monks, under the leadership of Brother Peter, who last August completed the building of the Abbey after 25 years. They are now erecting the scaffolding.

When the tower is completed the bells will be raised and the present belfry used as the ringing chamber. Ringing is at present done from a stone gallery.

An attempt for an 'Ernest' peal took place at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, on Saturday, but failed after 2 hours' ringing. Another attempt will be made later.

In the report of the peal of Bristol Surprise at St. John-the-Baptist, Erith, on July 22nd, and published in our last issue, the name of the ringer of the 7th should have been Frederick J. Cullum.

MUSICAL BIKES!

It is reported that the famous Dr. Strabismus, of Utrecht, has approached a ringer with yet another idea from that fertile brain.

This is no less than to attach to the side of the front fork of a bicycle an octave of small hemispherical or cup bells. By means of tappets on each spoke the bells will strike in their proper turn, the curve of the fork allowing 'compass' and preventing 'firing.'

Seventy spokes, each with its suitably affixed tappets, and—oh, boy! away to work to an oft-repeated but perfectly struck Plain Course of Grandsire Triples. The ringer is referring the learned doctor to Mr. Cyril Johnston.

HANDBELL RINGING IN NEW ZEALAND.

CHRISTCHURCH RINGERS VISIT DUNEDIN.

Messrs. J. R. de Lambert and G. Lightband, members of Christchurch Cathedral Company, New Zealand, recently spent a week's holiday in Dunedin. The opportunity thus presented was taken advantage of to put in as much useful handbell practice as possible.

On May 1st, at 9, Balmoral Street, the residence of Mr. J. S. Wilde, 720 of Bob Minor was rung by: C. Wilde 1-2, J. R. de Lambert 3-4, J. S. Wilde (conductor) 5-6. On May 23rd, 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor: *G. Lightband 1, *J. R. de Lambert 2, J. S. Wilde (conductor) 3-4, J. Whipp 5-6. * First 720 in the method.

During the week other successful items included 120's of Grandsire Doubles, touches of Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, plain courses of Grandsire Triples and Major and Bob Major.

SQUIRE PROCTOR AND DUFFIELD.

CHILDREN 'TEACH' THEIR FATHER.

As a complement to the ringing history of Bennington and its association with the revered name of Squire Leonard Proctor, it may be of some little interest to those of his brother ringers in the mid-Victorian period to give some extracts from an amusing letter received from him by Dr. Symons, of Penzance, in July, 1885:—

'I had a fortnight since a great ringing treat in visiting Duffield, near Derby. Mr. Percival Heywood is a capital ringer, his family all ring and the peal of eight are very ringable near his house. Started for a peal of K.T.B., rang well for 75 minutes, when the tenor man caught his foot with the rope as it lifted from the tenor box, this knock knocked him clean off the box and also not being satisfied with his own fall, but he must needs cannon against the seventh man and knock him over too, so they both came sprawling into the middle of the ringing floor and "Mr. General Stand" was immediately called into requisition.

'Wonderful to see little daughters of Mr. Heywood ringing two handbells in hand well—"Superlative Surprise" telling their father where to go to—three daughters and two sons, all ring, seven and eight years old! When hunting "quick" they say, "Father, we are going by the "express train," you by the stopping train; therefore, dodge and stop at intermediate places and stations.

'Father has a private rail in his grounds, stations, etc., 1,000 yards long, tunnels, etc., and drives his own engine. A wonderful clever man and fine place.'

A CELEBRATED SOHAM FAMILY.

NOTABLE PERFORMANCES RECALLED.

A meeting of the Central Division of the Ely Diocesan Association at Soham, Cambs, on Saturday, recalls the notable performances at this church in the distant past, when a society calling themselves the Soham Youths flourished for many years.

Prior to the year 1788 the tower contained a ring of six bells. Then Thomas Osborn, of Downham, Norfolk, cast a peal of eight to replace the former ring, and it was on this octave that the Soham Youths began their activities. They soon gained proficiency, and a number of peal boards in the tower record some of their more notable achievements. The first appears to have been a peal of 5,120

In the following year the bells were increased to ten, the two old trebles being recast and two more bells added by John Briant, of Hertford. Robert Tebbit was at that time one of the churchwardens, and his name appears on the bells.

Another tablet records a peal rung on November 16th, 1820, 'in honour of the Queen's acquittal'—when party feeling ran high over the King's treatment of Queen Caroline. A year later came a peal of New Treble Bob Royal (what we now know as Kent), and the last of the tablets records a peal of Grandsire Tittum Caters, rung in 1830, in which, again, the name of Tebbit occurs—William, who was the conductor, John, Robert and Thomas, jun. And with that peal the ringing history that is left to us of the Tebbits and the Soham Youths comes to an end.

SOHAM CHURCH.

Oxford Treble Bob Major rung in 1790. Among the ringers were Thomas, Robert and Edward Tebbit, who played a prominent part in the ringing in this tower for many years thereafter, and were succeeded by their sons.

In 1795 they rang a peal of Norwich Court, in which the name of Thomas Tebbit, jun., appears, and in 1800 came a peal of Imperial the Third. Luke, Goldsbrow, Joseph Finch, Robert Silver, Thomas Brown and Thomas Talbot are other names which appear in the records, and some of them were still actively engaged in peal ringing in 1820.

The most notable performance was in 1809, when the Tebbit family, of 'three brothers and their sons,' rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major: Thomas Tebbit 1; Robert Tebbit, son of Robert, 2; Benjamin Tebbitt, 15 years of age, 3; John Tebbit, son of Thomas, 4; Robert Tebbit 5; Edward Tebbit 6; Thomas Tebbit, son of Thomas, 7; William Tebbit, son of Thomas, 8.

At the meeting, on Saturday, it was only possible to ring rounds on the fine peal of 10. Grandsire Caters were tried, but with no success. Bob Major, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Grandsire Triples were, however, rung. Among the visitors were Rev. E. Banks James, Rev. E. B. Sheppard, Miss Price, and Mr. C. W. Cook, District Master, Ely Archdeaconry, of Newton. The towers represented were Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, Chatteris, Fordham, Mildenhall, Over, Willingham, Wilburton. The next general meeting is at March, but there is also to be a meeting at Sutton in connection with a thanksgiving service of the rehanging of the bells, which has been carried out by Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich. The probable date is August 19th or 26th, but notice will be given in the proper columns of this paper. Ringers are always welcome at Sutton, the 'cathedral church in the Isle.'

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

JOIN WITH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT HEADINGLEY.

The July meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held in conjunction with an informal meeting of the Yorkshire Association at St. Chad's, Headingley, on Saturday, when Canon Marshall invited all present to use the Vicarage grounds, in which were hand-bells and garden games, where the young and not-so-young ringers filled in the time between the spells of ringing in the tower.

Tea was served in the church schools, when 77 members and friends took advantage of this provision.

The Leeds Society members held a business meeting immediately after tea. Mr. J. W. Baxendale was chairman. Three new members were elected—Messrs. J. Croft, of Burley, J. E. Cawser (hon. general secretary of Yorkshire Association), and H. Walker (unattached).

The suggested date of the next meeting was August 26th, to be held at Shipley.

The Chairman proposed the very best thanks of the society be accorded Canon Marshall for allowing the use of the bells and the Vicarage grounds, also to the ladies who served tea, and to the local company for the other arrangements.—Canon Marshall replied.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT SUMMER FESTIVAL.

The police forces at Leatherhead and Ashted did not find it an extremely difficult task to control the crowd which the summer festival of the Guildford Diocesan Guild attracted to those places on Saturday, July 22nd. Only just over thirty members attended the meeting, and this was the poorest attendance for a summer festival since the formation of the Guild. A possible explanation is to be found in the fact that a change of date had been necessary.

The bells at Leatherhead Parish Church were rung during the afternoon, but neither Grandsire nor Stedman Caters would 'go,' although, fortunately, three leads of Treble Ten were brought round for the service touch.

The Guild's form of service was conducted, and an address given by the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge, and (all members please note) it was learned that the lady organist had left a sister who was very ill in order to play.

After tea, to which 42 sat down and which was served in the Leatherhead Institute, some of the party went on to Ashted, where the peal of eight were kept going in the standard methods until late in the evening. A broken rope at Leatherhead brought the ringing there to an early close.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. PRESTON BRANCH SECRETARY RETIRES.

The annual meeting of the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Whittle-le-Woods on Saturday. The bells, which are noted as one of the finest, if not the finest, peals of eight in or about Lancashire, were kept going, with an interval for tea and the business meeting, from before three o'clock to eight, the methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Little Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. Besides the usual members present, there were visitors from the Fylde, Wigan and Manchester Branches, to whom the chairman extended a hearty welcome, the visitors suitably replying.

The meeting confirmed the re-election of Mr. W. Loxham, of Penwortham. The next meeting was then fixed to be held at Eccleston on Saturday, September 2nd.

Mr. C. Sharples gave a report of the committee meeting held at Walkden in June.—The report was accepted with thanks to Mr. Sharples.

The Secretary, in giving his report of the working of the branch during the year, said since the last annual branch meeting, meetings had been held at Preston St. Mark's, Hoghton, Brindle, Brownedge, Penwortham, Samlesbury, Tarlton and Broughton, as well as having the association annual meeting at Chorley and a joint meeting with other branches at Poolstock.

The attendances had been about the average for the past years.

FALLING OFF IN PEALS.

The number of branch peals rung was the lowest for years, only three having been rung, namely, a peal of Minor in three methods at Garstang—the first peal on the bells—a peal of Double Norwich at Whittle-le-Woods, and a peal of Plain Bob Minor at Leyland St. James'. Twenty-four members had rung in one or more peals for the association, ranging from Plain Bob to the Surprise methods. Seven members have rung their first peal during the year, whilst six rang their first in some method, and one his first as conductor in a method.

One redeeming feature about the members who had rung peals was that they included members from towers from which no members had rung peals in the past, but there were still one or two towers in the branch from which no members had rung a peal.

During the year one honorary member and three new ringing members had been elected, and an old member rejoined.

In discussing the report, various members made comments on the reasons for the apparent falling-off in ringing activities, but the feeling of the meeting was that the ringing of the Surprise peals in the branch by bands mainly composed of branch members would ultimately be for the good of the branch in the future.

The secretary was thanked for his report, which was adopted.

The nominations for the association officers was then proceeded with. Mr. F. G. Bradley was nominated for vice-president, Mr. E. R. Martin for treasurer, and the retiring ringing secretary and two auditors were renominated.

Mr. Wm. Sharples was re-elected as Ringing Master and representative on the committee.

The election of branch secretary then took place, Mr. Rigby having intimated to the members his desire to retire from the office. Various members tried to persuade him to take office once more, but as he remained firm in his decision, Mr. Wm. Taylor said it was with great reluctance that he moved that the secretary's resignation be accepted with regret, and that the best thanks of the branch be accorded to him for his services.

RETIRING SECRETARY NOMINATED AS VICE-PRESIDENT.

Mr. F. G. Bradley, in seconding, said it gave him great pleasure to say a few words of appreciation of the splendid and efficient manner in which Mr. Rigby had done his work as secretary.—Other members also supported the vote of thanks.

Mr. Rigby thanked the members for their kind words of appreciation, and said he would only be too pleased to help his successor as far as possible.

Mr. John Charnock, of Whittle-le-Woods, was elected to the office, on the proposition of Mr. Wm. Taylor, seconded by Mr. F. Rigby.

Mr. F. G. Bradley then said that, seeing that Mr. Rigby had retired, he himself would like, with the consent of his proposer and seconder, to withdraw his nomination for the position of vice-president, and proposed Mr. F. Rigby for the position. This was agreed to unanimously.

Other business included a proposal that combined practices be held at four or five different towers in the near future, and another that a letter be sent to the incumbents of some of the churches in the branch to use their influence in getting some of their ringers to attend the branch meetings.

The usual vote of thanks to the local authorities for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for having all in readiness, concluded the business.

KENSINGTON.—At St. Mary Abbots on Sunday, June 18th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: F. V. Sinkins 1, A. Cutmore 2, W. E. Judd (conductor) 3, H. Cook 4, W. H. Wood 5, E. R. Mackrill 6, C. Hunt 7, C. Warner 8. Arranged as a farewell to Mr. P. V. Sinkins, who is leaving Kensington to reside at Southsea.

A NOTABLE CHURCH.

BUT CRONDALL'S BELLS NEED RESTORATION.

Tucked away in the folds of the low hills, through which the road from Farnham to Winchester runs, but a mile or two off the main highway, is the village of Crondall. It is a village not much known to fame, but it can claim a priceless possession in its Norman church—one of the best and most complete examples in the South of England. Its chancel, at any rate, was built by a master hand, for the roses in the vaulted ceiling bear the marks of one of the builders of Canterbury Cathedral, and, so it said, no other church in the country can boast of it. Only in Canterbury and Crondall can you find the marks which distinguish this particular master craftsman. The church, built almost as it stands at present, was erected about 1150, on the site of an earlier building, probably of Saxon origin. The circular Saxon font is still in use, and there seem to be traces of Saxon workmanship in the remains of an ancient tower, which at one time was entered by a doorway from the chancel.

Nearly three hundred years ago a new tower of imposing proportions but of complete incongruity with the ancient church was built in brick and to the eastward of the old tower, from which it is separated by a space of some twelve or fifteen feet. The base of the tower is used as a vestry; to gain access to the upper floors the stone stairway in the old tower (where pigeons nest) is still used, and the ringing room and the floor above are connected with it by open galleries. Thus, to reach the bells from the ringing room, one has to cross a gallery, mount the stairs in the old tower, and recross another gallery. The last stage of the journey is up a fairly long and precipitous ladder.

There are six bells in the tower hung in a frame, bearing the date 1642, which has long since passed the stage of usefulness. It is massive but decrepit, and, in ringers' parlance, 'walks round the tower' when the bells are rung. The tenor moves in three directions, in addition to revolving, when it is pulled off. The loose frame goes backward and forward; the bell goes from side to side through ill-fitting bearings, and up and down owing to loose gudgeon plates, and it also 'wobbles' on the stock, coupled with all of which the bells are badly out of tune! The serious need for the attention of a competent bell hanger is obviously indicated.

Of the bells themselves three were by Henry Knight, 1616 and 1619, two by Robert Wells, of Aldbourne, 1788, and one a pre-Reformation bell bearing a Latin inscription, which, broadly interpreted, reads, 'Chiming I will call to prayer; I ring when folk do wed and toll in lamentation for the dead.' The tenor was recast about 50 years ago.

DISTRICT SECRETARY'S BEREAVEMENT.

It was here on Saturday that the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a meeting, which was attended by about 25 ringers, but the actual ringing was limited by the physical energy necessary to keep the tenor going. Six scores of Grandsire, short touches of Bob Minor and courses of Treble Bob and Cambridge were all that were rung, longer lengths not being worth the effort required.

The Rector, who has not long been in the parish after many years in the mission field, conducted the Guild's service and gave an impromptu address. He also presided at the subsequent tea and business meeting, at which he was elected an hon. member, and the general hon. secretary of the Guild (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), in proposing a vote of thanks to him, took the opportunity of pointing out the necessity of calling in an expert to report on the condition of the bells.

A gloom was cast over the gathering by the news of the sudden death of Mrs. W. Denyer, of Aldershot. Her husband, Mr. W. Denyer, is the 'father' of the Aldershot tower, where he is constantly training literally young blood, and has a band of over twenty ringers whose degrees of advancement vary from rounds to the Surprise stage. Her eldest son is Mr. C. W. Denyer, the enthusiastic and capable hon. secretary of the Farnham District, and a daughter and two other sons—one aged only nine—are ringers at Aldershot church. Mrs. Denyer, who was 54 years of age, had a seizure on Thursday morning, and passed away in the afternoon. Despite his bereavement Mr. C. W. Denyer very courageously carried out his duties in connection with the meeting, at which the hon. general secretary expressed the Guild's regret at the death of Mrs. Denyer and their sympathy with Mr. William Denyer and his family.

The funeral had taken place on Saturday morning, when the choir boys and organist attended, and two of Mrs. Denyer's favourite hymns, 'Jesus lives' and 'O blest Redeemer,' and Psalm 23, were sung. As the cortege left the church for the cemetery the bells were rung half-muffled, and as the committal was being said their distant notes were wafted on the breeze to the mourners and formed a fitting requiem to one into whose life bells had so largely entered, although she herself had not been a ringer.

FIRST 720 AT 12 YEARS OF AGE.

At Braintree, on Sunday, July 23rd, for matins, at the Parish Church, 720 Bob Minor: Miss Myrtle Reason (aged 12 years, first 720) 1, W. G. Melbourne 2, G. Wiffen 3, S. Warne 4, H. Coote 5, A. Wiffen (conductor) 6. For evensong, 336 Bob Major: Miss Edith Reason 1, Miss Myrtle Reason 2, C. H. Howard (conductor) 3, W. G. Melbourne 4, G. Wiffen 5, S. Warne 6, H. Coote 7, A. Wiffen 8.

A LONG TRIP.220 MILES FOR A DAY'S OUTING.

The ringers of St. Mary's Slough, selected Swanage for their annual outing, and were favoured with very fine weather. The journey was made in a comfortable motor coach kindly provided by the Parochial Church Council, and was thoroughly enjoyed by a party of 15, including Messrs. F. Taylor and A. Perryman, two veterans, who no longer handle the 'dancing sally.'

On the outward journey a visit was paid to the new Church of All Saints, Basingstoke, where a pretty little ring of eight bells (tenor 10 cwt.) was placed at the disposal of the company. Here Messrs. H. Horne and Wanning gave the party a welcome on behalf of the absent Vicar and wardens.

Near King's Worthby, a fine clump of beech trees stands by the roadside, affording peaceful shade for the ringers' humble lunch, which thoughtful friends of 'other years' again supplied, consisting of the now familiar black bottle, brown jar and the farmer's thumb-piece. Resuming the journey, 'longing eyes' were cast towards the central tower of Winchester Cathedral as the coach wended its easy way through the old city. Along the fine roads of the New Forest distant views of the Dorset country and the urge of the 'Demon of Speed' seemed to say 'Onward' to our careful driver, but all in vain. We 'sloughed' down approaching Ringwood at a certain bend of the road to glance regretfully at the bank where three members of an old Slough family recently met their death. In the old days of motoring one of the wayside signs shown at danger spots represented a skull and crossbones. If the Ministry of Transport will visit Upton Church, Slough, he will find a more appropriate one, 'Tis the pace that kills,' which was engraved on stone long before the very first motor vehicle appeared in Bucks, strangely enough upon the Upton and Datchet road.

Swanage Bay, sparkling in the sun, gave the party a cheery welcome, and at the Trocadero Hotel hot luncheon was served in excellent style half an hour late, per programme, plus ten per cent. appetite. Here another warm welcome was given by the generous host, Mr. E. Sargeant, who at once arranged for tea at the same hotel at 5.30 p.m. instead of at Romsey, as intended.

Swanage Parish Church, dedicated to St. Mary the Virgin, possesses an old octave of mellow bells, with a tenor at 22½ cwt. in the key of E, and these were set going to various musical touches of Triples and Major by courtesy of the Rector. All the local band of ringers were away on their outing, but a willing representative did 'belfry duty' on behalf of Capt. J. B. M. Ridout and Mr. W. J. Bastable, who had made arrangements for the visitors.

During the afternoon sight-seeing was indulged in. There is so much and yet so little to see at the seaside nowadays, even if you have forgotten your field glasses. Most of the company climbed up Peveral Point, Durlston Head, to gaze across to the Isle of Wight or Poole Harbour, and the Isle of Purbeck, made famous by its building stone for the church. A certain Preist's Way was explored, but Brother Edward, the monk who officiated, had no tuncure.

Time, like an ever-flowing stream, reminded the company of the homeward journey, not that from which no traveller ever returns. Accordingly six o'clock found the coach moving, and passing in rapid succession Corfe Castle, Wareham Church and Ringwood Causeway, in due course deposited its burden at the north transept of Romsey Abbey, where ringing was enjoyed from 8 till 9 p.m. Here Mr. F. H. Paskins and several Abbey ringers received the visitors and showed them up the 'long, long trail' to Ethelfreda's belfry, with its grand historical peal of eight bells, with tenor 25 cwt. in D. These bells have recently been restored and go well, and after several standard methods had been rung the visitors lowered them in peal in excellent style as a finale to the day's ringing.

Continuing homewards, the same old beech trees afforded umbrella cover whilst the onions were all cleared up, as well as a couple of 'erates' from 'Old Bill,' who remembered that 'closing hour' was ten o'clock. The party passed the old 'dug out' at Windsor whilst the curfew chimed were going, and reached St. Mary's, Slough, after 17 hours' absence, safe and sound from a journey of 220 miles.

Mr. A. Bateman, the home steeplekeeper, is asking all kind friends of the bellringers to accept the united thanks of his men through the Press, as he would rather push a jackplane than the mighty pen.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DISTRICT VISIT BEDDINGTON.

The meeting of the Southern District of the London County Association, held at Beddington on Saturday, July 22nd, was not too overcrowded, but in spite of lack of numbers some good work was done. A lovely day, a beautiful old church set in delightful surroundings, a splendid peal of bells, a welcome superlatively hearty, a nice tea party, and a social hour after ringing should have been sufficient inducement for 50 to attend. However, among other things Cambridge Royal and London Major were accomplished. At the social hour vocal items were rendered by Mr. David Wright, Mr. Royden Davies, Miss Price and others, some handbell ringing being interspersed among them, Miss Bradford very ably presiding at the piano.

ENJOYABLE MEETING AT EPSOM.

A most enjoyable meeting was held at Epsom on Saturday, July 29th. It had been arranged as a joint meeting of the North-Western Division of the Surrey Association and the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, but the members of the Leatherhead District must have forgotten their social obligations, as the district secretary was the only resident member present, with the exception of the two local towerkeepers. The visitors had the opportunity, seldom given in these days, of ringing at the Parish Church and also Christ Church in the evening.

There being no service, the ten bells at St. Martin's were kept going until 5.20, when the company adjourned to Wright's Restaurant for tea, 25 sitting down, representing a wide district of Surrey, with visitors from Kent, London and Twickenham. After tea, the Parish Church was again visited for a short time, and then a move was made to Christ Church, where full use was made of the peal of eight until nine o'clock. A good standard of ringing was maintained throughout the afternoon and evening in a variety of methods, including Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Ten, Cambridge Royal and a course of Bristol at the one church, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge and a touch of four spiced Surprise methods at the other. So in spite of disappointments all enjoyed a good time, and thanks are due to the Vicars of both churches and those who made the arrangements.

BEACONSFIELD RINGERS IN HERTS AND BEDS.

On Saturday, July 22nd, the Beaconsfield ringers, accompanied by friends from Farnham Royal and Amersham, set out to visit towers in Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire. After a slight delay (partly caused by one 'little' fellow getting stuck under a bus seat for some unknown reason), a start was made shortly before 1 p.m. The first call was made at St. Peter's, Bushey Heath, where the ringers were pleased to meet and ring with an old member of the band, Mr. C. C. Mayne. After enjoying a few touches on the bells, the journey was continued to Hemel Hempstead, where, though time was short, everyone managed to have a pull. The next stop was at St. Albans Cathedral, where great admiration was expressed for the tone and 'go' of the bells. The one regret here was that time was very limited owing to a late arrival.

After tea, for which arrangements were made by one of the local ringers, the party pushed on to Dunstable, where everyone enjoyed ringing on the beautiful bells, while the architectural beauty of the Priory Church was much admired. Leighton Buzzard was next visited, and here some of the party tried Stedman Caters for the first time. The last tower, Tring, was reached eventually, and, judging from the number of ringers left in the belfry at the last, it was concluded that the outing had, at any rate, satisfied some people's appetites for ringing. Beaconsfield was reached at 10.45 p.m. The methods rung were Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. The ringers wish to thank the incumbents of the various towers, and also the local ringers who welcomed them at each tower.

TALL TOWERS TOO TIRINGFINEDON RINGERS AMONG LINCOLNSHIRE BELLS.

The Finedon (Northants) ringers and friends spent their annual outing in a visit to Lincolnshire. Starting at 7.30 a.m., the party travelled via Kettering and Stamford to Harrogate, where several well-struck touches were rung. The fine old Saxon tower was greatly admired. Lincoln was reached at 11.45, most of the party having a look round the stately Cathedral, but the big climb to the ringing chamber was too much for some of the cripples, who, however, found a great deal to interest them in the ancient city. After dinner they proceeded to Heckington, where the fine peal of eight (tenor 1 ton) were soon merrily swinging to Stedman, Superlative, etc., excellent striking prevailing throughout. The next stop was Boston. The 186 steps to the ringing chamber were almost too much for the old hands, and the big circle seemed to upset the ringers, the striking leaving much to be desired. The tone and 'go' of the splendid peal were, however, greatly admired.

Surfleet was reached after a pleasant journey, and the party were met by the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. Clark. Tea was arranged in the Church Hall, the Vicar and Mr. W. R. Madgwick sitting down with the visitors. General regret was expressed at the absence, through illness, of Mr. Rupert Richardson. After tea, a move was made to the belfry. The younger members of the party were allowed a few rounds on the twelve, and excellent touches on the back eight followed. The splendid tone and ease of handling of this light twelve delighted the visitors. The next stop was at Crowland Abbey, where the Vicar gave a brief but very interesting lecture on the wonderful church and the adjoining ruins, which was very much appreciated. The journey was continued through Peterborough to Orton Longueville, where a social hour was spent at the Gordon Arms, all the singers being in splendid voice. Dropping the visitors on the way, home was reached about midnight, after a most enjoyable day. The thanks of the party are heartily extended to Mr. Rupert Richardson, who made all the arrangements for ringing, also to the Vicars of the various churches and the ringers who welcomed the tourists.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Kirdford on Saturday, July 22nd, and was attended by 15 members from Billingshurst, Crawley, Heene, Rudgwick, Warnham and the local band. After ringing several touches in different methods, the members attended a short service, conducted by the Rev. G. Wells, Vicar of Kirdford, who also joined the company at tea, but owing to an engagement was unable to stay to the business meeting.

Mr. W. Charman therefore presided, and the following new members were elected: Messrs. L. Brunt, W. Carver, H. R. Parker, H. R. Coombes, P. Edgehill, T. Freeland, L. Link, J. A. McCrae, J. Seamark, S. Selsey and R. Weston, of Westbourne, and W. Stent, of Kirdford.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, to Mr. W. Charman and to Mr. Dunton for making the local arrangements were passed, and another visit to the belfry for further practice brought the proceedings to an end.

DEATH OF A TETTENHALL RINGER.

Tettenhall tower has suffered a great loss by the death of Mr. Arthur Bennett, the sad event occurring suddenly on Saturday, July 22nd. Deceased, who was 57 years of age, had been a member of Tettenham band for about twenty years, and his loss will be felt very much by his fellow-ringers. The deceased was not a prolific peal ringer, having rung eight peals for the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, and previous to coming to Tettenham, had rung peals for the Salop Guild.

He was laid to rest in the churchyard on Wednesday, July 26th, a large number of wreaths, including one from the ringers, being sent to show the respect in which he was held by the villagers and friends. In the evening a muffled peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original) was attempted, but, one of the muffles turning on the clapper, it was called round at the quarter-peal: N. H. Smith 1, C. R. Collins 2, B. Dalton 3, A. D. Collins 4, H. T. Piper 5, R. Pickering 6, H. Boswell 7, T. W. Bate 8.

BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, July 22nd, ringers and friends of St. John's, Bournemouth, had their annual outing. They travelled by coach through the New Forest to Fareham, and after ringing for more than an hour sallied forth to Chichester. Despite the heat, justice was done to the appetising luncheon. Ringing at the Cathedral campanile included Stedman Triples and Kent Major. The journey was continued to Portsmouth, where, after tea, a visit was paid to Portsea, where the visitors were met by Messrs. Hannis and Taylor, of the local ringers, who gave them a very hearty welcome and joined in the ringing. The party then journeyed to Bassett, Southampton, to visit the miniature zoo, where one of the monkeys took quite a fancy to 'Little Willie,' showing his affection by biting him. Charming little fellow—the monkey. All good things must come to an end, and the homeward run was not without its delights.

The ringers wish to take the opportunity of thanking incumbents and tower correspondents who helped to make the outing so very enjoyable.

LINCS RINGERS AT NORFOLK RESORT.

A pleasant day that will long be remembered by the Spalding, Lincs, ringers was spent at Great Yarmouth. With the adult members of the choir and Canon Nicholas, the party left home at 7 a.m. by motor coach. After a delightful journey and a short stay at Dereham, the party arrived at Yarmouth Parish Church at 11 a.m. The bells were already raised, and some of the local band were there to welcome the visitors. Touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman were rung on the hack eight, and with the assistance of other visitors the twelve were got going in rounds. After lunch some of the party enjoyed a trip on the sea, while others were content to sit on the front and enjoy the sea air. Incidentally, they got a good view of H.M.S. 'Warspite.' The return journey was made after tea, and Spalding reached about 10.30 p.m. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the local ringers for their assistance.

A WEEK-END OUTING.

The annual outing of the St. Albans Cathedral Society took the form of a week-end at Herne Bay, the fourteen members arriving there on Friday evening, June 30th. As had been their good fortune for several years past, the weather was excellent. On Saturday a visit was paid to St. Lawrence, where a meeting of the Kent Association was held, an account of which has already appeared in these columns, and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. On Sunday morning a visit was paid to Canterbury, where after a hurried look round this beautiful old Cathedral a visit was paid to the belfry, and the bells got going for the morning service.

Monday was spent round and about Herne Bay until it was time to catch the 3.48 train for home, after a delightful week-end. Thanks are offered to the Kent Association, Canterbury District, and its secretary, Mr. A. Smith, also to the Canterbury Cathedral Society for the cordial reception given to the visitors.

WINCHESTER AND SALISBURY.

LYME REGIS RINGERS' OUTING.

For their annual outing Lyme Regis, Dorset, ringers took a very enjoyable trip into Hampshire on Saturday, July 22nd, in glorious weather. After a break at Wimborne for a short, second breakfast, Romsey Abbey was the first point of call for ringing. Here they were met by Mr. Paskins, captain of the Romsey band, and Mr. Smith, of King's Somborne. These grand bells, going well now, were fully appreciated in Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, and the glories of the ancient abbey church also were duly admired. Hursley, so prominent to-day as sheltering the tomb of John Keble, came next, and touches in the four standard methods were rung, Mr. Hunt giving a cordial welcome. Winchester was reached for luncheon. A pull on the Cathedral bells not being permitted, some part of the afternoon was spent on the six at St. Maurice's Church, Kent, Plain Bob and a good course of Cambridge Surprise being rung. The route for the return journey was via the delightful Salisbury road, with a halt at Stockbridge, where Mr. Carey and some of his ringers were waiting to offer welcome. On these light bells, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent and some excellent Cambridge Surprise were tapped off. Salisbury was reached for tea about 6.30 p.m., the final tower of the day being St. Martin's. This had a special attraction, as the Rector, Canon W. N. Willson, had been Vicar of Lyme Regis previously. Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Major were rung here, in which Messrs. F. Romaine and C. D. Heginbotham, of Salisbury and Devizes fame respectively, joined. Before the departure of the visitors, Canon and Mrs. Willson kindly entertained them with refreshments in the Rectory garden. The last stage of a long day's journey began about 8.45 p.m., and home was reached safely at 11.30.

The Lyme Regis band wish to thank all the incumbents who so willingly opened their towers to them, and also those at the various towers who made ready for them and met them with such friendly welcome.

A TEN-TOWER DAY.

CHURCH WITH A THATCHED ROOF.

On Saturday, July 1st, the St. Clement's, Ipswich, company of ringers, accompanied by two members from Rushmere St. Andrew, had their annual outing—a motor tour of the Norfolk and Suffolk borderland. Starting at 8 o'clock, the first stop for ringing was made at Thrandeston, where is a ring of six. The next call was at Brockdish, where after a ring on the six the party were entertained to refreshments by the Vicar, and had a look round the Vicarage gardens. Moving on to Starston, the six bells were soon in use. Here again the Vicar was present to welcome them. A short run on to Redenhall completed the programme before dinner. An hour of ringing on the fine ring of eight passed all too soon. Dinner was excellently served at the Magpie Hotel at Harleston. A move was then made to Alburgh, where, however, owing to delay in obtaining the keys, only a short stay could be made, but long enough for all to have some Major. Bungay was the next place for ringing on the eight, but the reversed ringing position caused some trouble at first. Here Mr. Barrell, a member of the local band, had everything ready. The next stop was at Ditchingham to try the recently restored peal of six, which are hung in new iron frames and modern fittings. They proved well worth the visit.

The next call was at Stockton, where is a small church with thatched roof and a round tower with spire. The 'go' of the five bells could hardly be termed excellent, but some 120's were scored with hard work. This, however, was easily compensated for by an invitation by a retired clergyman living at Stockton Hall, and who at one time was connected with St. Clement's and Rushmere, as well as several other nearby churches. Tea was served on the lawn, an ideal spot for such a hot day. Having taken leave of their hosts, the ringers began the return journey via Bungay to Wissett, where hangs a good ring of six in a round tower. Here they were met by Mr. F. Lambert, of Halesworth, who had walked over to meet them. He also travelled to Chediston, the last stopping place. Here the six were made good use of, after which the usual group photograph was taken, which proved quite a success in spite of the late hour of nine o'clock and waning light. Leaving at 9.15, the last stage was via Halesworth to home, which was reached at 10.45, after a most enjoyable day. Ringing took place at 10 towers, the distance covered being over 100 miles.

MUFFLED BELLS.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled at Irchester on Tuesday evening, July 25th, as a token of respect to the late Mrs. C. Payne, who was laid to rest on the previous Saturday.

Mrs. Payne was the wife of Mr. C. Payne (belfry foreman at Irchester) and mother of Mr. F. Payne, both of whom are members of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, and the deepest sympathy is extended to them in the great loss they have sustained. The ringers were R. Payne 1, A. D. Stone 2, W. Dunkley 3, C. Aldridge 4, L. Chapman 5, G. D. Deighton 6, O. Payne (conductor) 7, H. Goosey 8.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.INVITATION MEETING AT WITHERNSEA.

An invitation meeting was held at WitherNSEA on Saturday, July 15th, when a good company assembled from the towers of Eastington, Howden, Hull, Patrington and Selby. A variety of ringing took place in Minor and Doubles methods, affording useful practice to several inexperienced ringers. After an interval for tea, the party again ascended the tower, where the bells were kept going until 8 p.m.

A vote of thanks was accorded for the use of the bells, and in reply the local secretary gave those present a cordial welcome, and expressed a desire for such meetings to be held with greater frequency, not only to promote good fellowship and advancement in proficiency, but to stimulate and encourage the members in punctual and regular attendance in service ringing.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.A BRADFELD DEANERY REVIVAL.

The Bradfield Deanery Branch held its summer meeting at Stratley on Saturday, July 8th. This was the first meeting, other than the annual meeting, to be held by the branch for some years, and it is hoped other meetings will be arranged in future. Amongst those present were Rev. H. C. Wilder, R.D. (the chairman of the branch), Rev. J. Hughes (Vicar of Stratley) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary), also representatives from the following belfries: Aldermaston, Abingdon, Basingstoke, Beedon, Bradfield, Caversham, Cholsey, Compton, Exeter, East Isley, Goring, Henley-on-Thames, Peasmore, Reading (St. Laurence's and St. Mary's), Stratley, Tlcale and Wokingham, a total of 43 members.

Rev. J. Hughes conducted the service, assisted by Rev. H. C. Wilder. Tea followed, and a very happy company gathered at the table. The Chairman thanked the Vicar of Stratley for the way he had welcomed the branch, also for his address, and the arrangements made. He also thanked all those who had given assistance and made the meeting a great success.

A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by W. Hibbert 1-2, R. Hibbert 3-4, Miss P. Holloway 5-6, E. Caudwell 7-8. The company then dispersed, some going to Goring, where they had the pleasure of ringing on a lovely peal of eight touches of Double Norwich, Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples. Other ringers returned to Stratley, and several touches of Bob Minor, Stedman Doubles and Grandsire Doubles were successfully rung.

The secretary of the branch, Mr. T. W. Palmer, would like to thank all those who turned up from near and far, also those who so ably assisted him, especially Mr. H. Perry and J. Bower, foremen of the Stratley and Goring towers respectively. The branch annual meeting will be held on Saturday, September 30th, notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World' at a later date.

LONDON RINGERS VISIT BERKSHIRE.TRIBUTE AT GRAVE OF REV. C. W. O. JENKYN.

The annual outing of St. Andrew's, Holborn, Guild, took place on July 1st. Proceeding to Reading by train, the party were joined by Messrs. J. C. Truss, G. Martin, F. and D. Borcham and F. West, and the journey was then continued by motor coach to Highclere, where the bells, a delightful little peal, were set going to Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major and Double Norwich. The church stands in beautiful surroundings. Hungerford was the next call, which was reached after a splendid ride through glorious country. Lunch was partaken of at the Plume Hotel, where full justice was done to the good things provided, although one gentleman, calling 'Time' too soon, nearly made the party miss a course. After lunch, they found their way to the tower, when Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were brought round on the nice peal of bells, which go very well indeed.

The next point of the journey was East Garston, to pay tribute at the grave of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. The Master of the Holborn Guild laid a wreath on the grave, after which the Rector of St. Andrew's offered a prayer. A course of Stedman Triples was then rung by the following: C. F. Winney 1-2, J. C. Truss 3-4, G. Martin 5-6, A. A. Hughes 7-8. This little ceremony was most impressive. After a look round the church, the ride was continued to Bucklebury through most delightful country. Here they were met by Mr. Matthews and Miss Stella Davis, who gave the party a hearty welcome. Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were all recorded. Tea was served in the Village Hall and much appreciated and enjoyed. The opportunity was taken of proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector of St. Andrew's for his presence, and his gift of cigars.—The Rector, in reply, said how delighted he was to be with them, and how much he had enjoyed the ride and scenery. Returning to Reading, the Rector was left at the railway station, and the ringers went on to St. Giles' Church, where they were welcomed by Mr. A. W. Osborne. Here the bells were rung to Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich. Afterwards the party proceeded to the Shades to discuss the day's doings, etc. Here they were all delighted to meet Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hibbert, Mr. and Mrs. Cullin, Mr. C. Gardner and Mr. W. B. Kynaston, of Swindon. The 'Bishop' could not attend. Time flew all too fast, and the 10.15 p.m. train to Paddington conveyed the party safely to London after a happy and glorious day.

A TOUR IN WEST SUFFOLK.GLORIES OF A PAST AGE.

The ringers of St. John-the-Baptist, Hillingdon, held their annual outing on Saturday, July 1st. Favoured by excellent weather, an interesting tour of West Suffolk was carried out by means of a motor coach, a distance of about 190 miles being covered. Leaving Hillingdon at 7.30 a.m., a pleasant drive through Uxbridge, Rickmansworth and Watford, thence by the Great North Road, brought the party to Baldock. Refreshments were eagerly sought upon arrival, and the ringers then visited St. Mary's Church, where excellent use was made of this fine ring of eight, with a tenor of 23 cwt. in D.

Again on the road, the coach sped on its way through pleasant rolling country. Newmarket Heath presented a pretty spectacle, at Bury St. Edmunds, the White Lion was found with difficulty, its unpretentious frontage misleading all. A very plentiful and appetising lunch was disposed of in a workmanlike manner! The old Norman bell tower attached to St. James' Cathedral was then visited. The ringing on this fine ring of ten, tenor 30 cwt., cast in 1736 (incidentally a maiden ring) was greatly enjoyed. Leaving Bury, the main road was forsaken, and the signposts to Lavenham eagerly followed. The past prosperity of East Anglia is shown in a remarkable manner by comparison of church accommodation and the present population. A very striking example is Lavenham, surely one of the finest Perpendicular churches in the country. This church was built in the fifteenth century, mainly through the generosity of a family of clothiers living at Lavenham. It is 200ft. long and 60ft. wide, with a tower, the finest in Suffolk, 141ft. high. The population of Lavenham to-day is 1,620! The bells are indeed worthy of the tower, with a tenor of 23 cwt., cast in 1625 by Miles Graye. The opinion of the visitors, however, was divided as to whether 'its equal cannot be found in England,' as stated on a peal board in the tower! After ringing and enjoying the extensive views from the top of the tower (what a climb!), a reluctant departure was made.

Sudbury, the next stop, possesses three fine churches, all being built or rebuilt in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries. St. Gregory's, where the bells were rung, occupies a site of an old wooden Saxon building, which it is thought existed up to the time of the Conqueror. Continuing the journey, Dunmow was reached at 5 p.m., where an enjoyable tea was partaken of at the Angel and Harp. St. Mary's Church was then visited, and the musical ring of bells, tenor 21 cwt., rung. The 6th and 7th were cast about 1600. One item in the church deserves mention. A carpet from the chancel steps to the altar was made by members of the local branch of the Mothers' Union. Several other evidences of local craftsmanship were also to be seen.

The final halt was at Hertford, where the bells of All Saints' (a very fine ring of ten, tenor 25 cwt. in D) had been placed at the disposal of the visitors. This church is the successor to the one burnt down in 1898. After a visit to the shops, on a final souvenir collecting expedition, the last stage of the journey was commenced. Hillingdon was reached soon after 10 p.m., bringing to an end a day of pleasant memories. The methods rung were confined to Grandsire Stedman and Plain Bob, but all enjoyed the fine tone of the different bells, and the towers snatchers had a happy day!

SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY'S OUTING.EXCURSION TO NORWICH.

The Saffron Walden Society held their annual outing on Monday, July 3rd, in ideal weather. Leaving at 9 a.m., and proceeding via Newmarket, the first call was made at Mildenhall, and the bells were set going to Stedman Triples, after which touches of Cambridge and London Surprise were brought round. They then moved on to Elvedon, and quite enjoyed ringing on the light peal in the memorial tower. The methods rung here were Stedman Triples, London and Double Norwich.

At Wymondham they were met by Mr. G. Peggall. Hot lunch was served at Underwood's Cafe, and they then proceeded to climb the 92 steps to the belfry. By the time they reached the top they were more than pleased to find the bells 'up.' The methods rung were Stedman, London and Cambridge. Going on to Norwich, they visited St. Peter Mancroft, where they found Mr. G. Howchin awaiting them. The first touch on this glorious peal was Stedman Caters, and afterwards two touches of Stedman Cinques, the visit closing with three leads of Kent Royal. After tea at St. Michael's Coslany, touches of London, Superlative and Stedman were rung, and this completed the ringing of the day. The homeward run was commenced at 7.30, and Walden was reached at 10.30, all agreeing that it had been a good day. The society's thanks are due in the first place to Mr. G. H. Cross for the trouble he took in making most of the arrangements, also to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and to the steepkeepers for having the bells 'up' at all the towers.

FARNHAM.—On Sunday, June 25th, for morning service, in honour of the visit of the Bishop of Portsmouth to preach at the church, a quarter-peal (1,280 changes) of Double Norwich Court Bob Major: C. Denyer (Aldershot) 1, J. Beagley 2, J. Read 3, W. H. Viggers (Aldershot) 4, G. Upshall 5, C. Wells 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, T. Upshall 8.

IS PEAL RINGING FUTILE?

We publish elsewhere in our columns a letter on the subject of peal ringing which has reached us from a source which demands respect. The writer is a ringer of long standing and considerable repute, and although he has adopted a nom de plume on this occasion our readers may take it that his letter has behind it the full force of genuine conviction arrived at after many years of wide ringing experience, and, doubtless, much thought. Having said this, however, we hasten to remark that we profoundly disagree with several of the conclusions at which 'Enlightened' has arrived, and we are quite sure that the majority of our readers will be with us in this respect. In his arguments against peal ringing our correspondent gives three reasons for his conclusions; that it is (1) futile, (2) a desecration of the bells of the Church, (3) a nuisance to many parishioners.

Is peal ringing futile? This may be a matter of opinion, but in our view peal ringing is a means to an end—it is the best means of raising the standard of striking and of securing the highest competence in accurate method ringing. We do not pretend that the end is always achieved, but we do say that the general standard of ringing to-day would have been nothing like as high as it is without the peculiar practice which peal ringing has provided. While there are plenty of 'sloppy' ringers who get through peals, we think it can hardly be denied that peal ringing with any band makes, in the end, for good ringing. There is also another aspect from which to judge peal ringing. No other practice can take its place in the cultivation of the mental attributes necessary to good change ringing—concentration, consistent accuracy, the subjugation of the individual to the collective aim. From each of these standpoints one peal is worth far more than four quarter peals; not only because the ringers attach more importance to it, but because of the greater sustained effort which is necessary.

Is peal ringing a desecration of the Church? In our view, emphatically no, if the behaviour of the ringers is consistent with the sacredness of the place in which they are engaged. When bells are dedicated they are set apart from 'profane and unhallowed uses,' and, when proper reverence is observed by the ringers, we cannot believe that peal ringing, which should bring out all the best characteristics in a ringer, is 'profane and unhallowed.' A peal can be no more profane and unhallowed than a practice, whether of the ringers, the choir or the organist, and we feel that our correspondent has adopted an exaggeration of language when he includes all peal ringing under the term of 'desecration.'

Is peal ringing a nuisance to many of the parishioners? Here there is more room for agreement with 'Enlightened.' There are undoubtedly numerous towers where the noise of the bells is more than the immediate neighbours ought to be asked to put up with, not only for peals, but also for practice. But the remedy is not the abolition of peal ringing; it lies in the effective control of the sound of the bells—a matter which, as was mentioned in our leading article last week, is simple and inexpensive in the majority of cases, and is one which should be undertaken wherever necessary by the church authorities.

DAVID MAXON, ROPE WORKS, GRANTHAM

RECAST RING OF SIX AT DAGENHAM. BELLS RING AGAIN AFTER FOURTEEN YEARS.

Dagenham is one of those many villages and townships that have been assuming in these last few years a dual personality. As one approaches the vicinity of this one-time rural retreat in Essex, the new great Ford works loom into view not many furlongs from the by-pass road to Southend. Thence a mile run through modern villadom brings the visitor to old-fashioned Dagenham and its church, dedicated to SS. Peter and Paul, with tower and timbered spire.

The church was rebuilt and a ring of six bells installed in 1804 during the incumbency of Rev. Henry Morice, but records dated October 3rd, 1552, give evidence of the bells that were installed in a previous belfry:—

'Bell mettall. It'm. Remeynyng in our church iijj bells wyth a lytyll sance bell and a cloke strykyng upon the grett bell the gret bell weying by estymacyon xc the thyrd bell weying by estymacyon viijc the secundo bell weying by estymacyon viijc the treble bell weying by estymacyon vjc the lytyll sance weying about xxxli.'

The peal erected at the beginning of the last century had fallen into a grievous state, and had not been rung for about fourteen years. The wood frame was 'mobile,' the fittings in serious condition, four bells were cracked, and the whole ring was of poor tone.

The determined efforts of the Vicar, the Rev. George Jones, and his Council, have now altered this state of things, and the rededication of the bells by the Bishop of Barking (Dr. Inskip) took place on Thursday evening, July 27th, in the presence of a large congregation, clergy from neighbouring parishes, and a strong complement of ringers.

The wood frame has been reinforced and set on heavy steel girders; ball bearings and other new fittings have been supplied, and all six bells recast into a most musical ring with a 14½ cwt. tenor in F sharp.

The previous inscriptions have been reproduced with the addition on each bell of 'Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1933,' and the firm were congratulated on all sides for yet another perfect peal, easy to handle and of outstanding musical quality.

Just inside the west entrance to the church and in the tower is a plate bearing the inscription: 'To the glory of God. All six bells were recast, and a new steel grillage erected, in the year 1933, by the efforts of the parishioners and largely by the generosity of Mrs. C. Gunary and her sisters in memory of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Maria Farrance, formerly of this parish. Rev. G. Jones, Vicar. Edward J. West and Frederick T. Lazell, Churchwardens.'

The Bishop based his address on the words 'Rejoice in the Lord.' The word 'bell' only occurred twice in the Bible, he said, and bells were not known in this country much before the ninth century, when they were then used in some of the ancient abbeys. There were no foundries, and the bell founders used to travel about the country and would cast bells at the churches where required. Things were very different to-day. It was recognised that every church had to have its bell or bells, and they ranged from the type to be found in St. Paul's Cathedral down to the awful little tinkle from a single bell rung continuously by some diminutive choirboy.

In ancient and historic churches, such as that at Dagenham, it would be particularly appreciated that they should have a peal of bells. In new towns they were proud of their associations with the past, and that was where they were the envy of Americans, who had nothing that could be called really old. No one could foresee the future of Dagenham, but it had already taken its place among the important towns of the country, and the growth of its population was the greatest in the past ten years of any town in the kingdom. It was up to the people in the district to maintain the traditions of the past and also to build up traditions for the future, and he hoped that an enlightened Church would play no small part in that. They had been without a peal of bells for fourteen years, and he hoped that, now the belfry had been renovated and the bells recast, they would do justice to the town.

His Lordship went on to refer to the ringers, and said that they, like engine drivers and others who did useful work, were often taken for granted. Yet they often served for years without further reward than the satisfaction they got out of their labours.

Proceeding, he referred to the uses of the bells and of the sorrows and happinesses which they indicated. He hoped that they would strike a true note and that their message would bring back the wanderer to the right road.

After the Bishop had dedicated the bells they were rung in rounds by members of St. Margaret's Society, Barking, till the choir, clergy and Bishop had returned to the chancel. After the service 240 Bob Minor was rung by F. E. Collins (Croydon) 1, R. Fenn 2, G. W. Faulkner 3, E. G. Cottis 4, A. Chaplin (Dagenham) 5, C. Fenn (conductor) 6. There were about 50 members of the Essex Association present, including Mr. Pryor (Master South-Western Division) and Mr. E. J. Butler (divisional secretary), and many visitors. All of the ringers afterwards had the opportunity of ringing, and touches in methods from Cambridge Minor to Grandsire Doubles and rounds were rung. Everyone was delighted with the 'go' and tone of the bells.

A LINCOLNSHIRE BEAUTY SPOT.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at West Deeping on July 29th. It was not an overcrowded gathering, but ringers were present from Market Deeping, Bourne, Wymondham, Grantham, Folkingham, etc. Despite 72ft. of rope, the bells go well, and touches of Surprise Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung, and quite a happy time was spent, thanks to the arrangements made by the Vicar, Mr. Neal and Mr. Cuthbert Bradley. Tea was served on the Vicarage lawn, and thanks are due to the ladies for their efforts in this direction.

West Deeping was beautiful from the pride taken by the villagers in the appearance of their homes. Nearly every house was gay with well-tended flowers growing in the windows and gardens, while the old water mill added a touch of picturesqueness to the scene.

The spire of the church was struck by lightning recently, but happily very little damage was done.

MR. GEORGE GILBERT'S 300 PEALS.

Mr. George Gilbert, of Maidenhead, who has had the rare experience of ringing two peals with seven ladies, has just completed his third century of peals. In these 300 peals 442 ringers, of whom 31 were ladies, took part. In the 131 peals which Mr. Gilbert conducted, 43 ringers rang their first peal and 301 their first in the method.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT CHESTER.

The annual festival of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Chester on Saturday, July 29th, when there was a good attendance representing all the seven branches of the Guild and several visitors from the bordering counties. The Guild's form of service was conducted in the Cathedral by Rev. W. R. Ingham, the secretary and treasurer of the Guild, and an instructive address was given by the Lord Bishop of the diocese.

At the business meeting held directly after the service, the Master, Rev. C. A. Clements, spoke of the loss the Guild and ringers in other parts of the country had sustained by the death of Rev. A. T. Beeston, who was the secretary of the Guild from 1907 to 1926, treasurer from 1908 to 1932, and for several years a trustee of the Guild. As a mark of respect all present stood in silence.

The report and statement of accounts were confirmed.

All the officials, with the exception of two vacancies on the committee, were re-elected, the vacancies being filled by Rev. H. S. T. Stevens, Crewe, and Mr. T. Thompson, Bowdon and Stockport.

Mr. J. Norbury gave an interesting report on the proceedings of the meeting of the Central Council held in London at Whitsuntide.

After a short discussion it was decided to hold the next annual festival at Grappenhall on August Bank Holiday, 1934.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Dean and Chapter for allowing the use of the Cathedral for the service, the refectory for the tea and the meeting, and for the use of the bells, also to the Lord Bishop for his address, and to all the officials for their work during the past year.

An excellent tea had been arranged by a band of voluntary helpers, and the company numbered more than 100, one of the greatest of recent years.

The bells of the Cathedral, St. Mary's, Handbridge, St. Mary's-within-the-Walls and Christleton were open for ringing during the evening.

BELLS OF ST. NICHOLAS', ABINGDON.RESTORATION COMPLETED.

On Sunday afternoon, July 30th, the Church of St. Nicholas, Abingdon, had a crowded congregation at an inspiring service, when the peal of six bells was rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Oxford.

The bells are a light ring of six with a $7\frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor in B flat, all cast by Rudhall in 1741. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have retuned the peal, a remedy that was badly needed, and rehung the bells in a heavy cast-iron frame together with new fittings, which include ball bearings and the last word in modern bell hangers' improvements.

That the bells now 'go like tops' and sound a musical little ring was the testimony of parishioners and ringers alike.

The opening rounds were rung by the St. Nicholas' band, A. E. Lock, Miss D. Stanley-Turner, Mrs. A. E. Lock, F. Juggins, F. Barrett, J. Gerrard, whilst ringers in numbers arrived for the ceremony and subsequent ringing from Appleton, Hagbourne, Harwell, Headington, Isley, Marcham, Miln, Oxford, Reading, Slough, Sutton Courtney, Stevenston, Sunningwell, Wittenham and Wycombe.

At the appointed time in the service the Bishop, accompanied by the Rector and warden, proceeded to the ringing room, where Mr. Cyril Johnston (representing the bell foundry) handed the ropes to the churchwarden (the Hon. A. D. Chetwynd), who requested the Bishop to dedicate the bells.

The civic dignity of the borough was added to the ceremony in this ancient church, for the Mayor, aldermen and councillors attended in their robes, together with Major-General E. J. Cooper (vice-chairman of the Church Council), General Sir Charles Corkram, and other distinguished parishioners.

THE LATE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN'S PEALS.

The late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn rang exactly 400 peals. He conducted Thurstons' Four-part 40 times. His peals were as follow:—

Minor 3, Grandsire Triples 49, Grandsire Major 1, Grandsire Caters 16, Bob Major 7, Bob Major (on handbells) 1, Bob Royal 2, Stedman Triples 158, Stedman Caters 31, Stedman Cinques 25, Kent Treble Bob Major 21, Kent Treble Bob Royal 7, Kent Treble Bob Maximus 3, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Little Bob Major 3, Little Bob Royal 2, Double Oxford Bob Major 1, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 24, Superlative Surprise Major 17, Cambridge Surprise Major 18, Bristol Surprise Major 4, London Surprise Major 5, Washbrook's Caversham Major 1; total 400.

VILLAGE RINGERS VISIT LONDON.A TOUR OF THE CROYDON FOUNDRY.

Ringers of the village of Great Chishill, with their president (the Vicar), vice-president (Mr. G. W. Tottem), and a few friends, visited the Metropolis for their annual outing last week. Leaving the Cross by coach at 7 a.m., a pleasant run through the country brought them to the city just as teeming thousands were wending their way to work. The party found much to interest them in the sights of Central London, as they passed through on their way to Croydon for a visit to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Foundry. Here, having picked up their appointed guide, let the recorder of the company describe their experiences:—

Used as we are to the sounds of nature and the peace of the countryside, it was disconcerting to be amid the din of the 'shop' into which we were shepherd. After a bit, however, we learnt the knack of making our voices heard under the racket.

A volume could be written on the casting of a bell, and it must suffice if we give here just a vignette or two. At the time of our visit the moulds for four large bells were in preparation, as also the metal. There were two and a quarter tons of this being reduced to liquid form, under the watchful eye of 'a little gentleman with a shovel.' He allowed us the privilege of using one of his peep-holes, but he did not allow us to drop a shovelful of coal in the 'right' spot of his precious furnace. Indeed had he suggested such a thing, our refusal would have been very emphatic. We can think of many much cooler jobs. He was no doubt an artist at his job—some day he will be counted one of the old hands; at present he has only been in the foundry some 60 years.

Amongst the many interesting details noted was that of the process of tuning. Obviously a rough cast bell has a note of its own, but before it can take its place in a 'ring' it must be tuned and finally tested and passed by Mr. Johnston himself. The primary tuning is carried out by a young lady member of the staff. At the moment there were no bells under inspection, but she gave us an exhibition of her skill. Within a circle of some 24 bells (standing on their crowns) she manipulated a series of independent hammers of varying weights, the heaviest of which must have turned the scale at a round dozen lbs. Watching her it was a little difficult to decide whether she was performing on the bells or going through a graceful physical exercise, but there was no doubt about her being able to touch a bell in the right spot.

Gillett and Johnston have a high reputation as clock makers as well as bellfounders, and their products can be found in many countries outside the Empire, notably America. The term 'mass production' has not yet entered their vocabulary. Within the last few weeks they have completed the job of recasting and erection of Row bells.

After bidding adieu to Mr. Johnston and our guide we went to the great air-port of Croydon. Mounting to the roof of one of the buildings we had a bird's eye view of the entire aerodrome. Machines were standing around like so many cars in a park. Our attention was centred in the giants, and we were fortunate in seeing one start off for Paris, and the arrival of a machine from Paris.

After lunch we had time to pay a short visit to the Parish Church (St. John's), which we found worthy of a much longer stay. In many respects the church is similar to the Parish Church of Saffron Walden.

Our next 'point' was South Kensington, which provided another run, which brought under view many interesting features of London. As soon as we reached Kensington we had an hour and a half in which to see part of the Science and Art Museum. By a coincidence this section contained models of gliders and flying machines of the past 50 years, as also the actual machines which had helped to make history in recent times, notably Amy's Australian machine. In addition to these there were innumerable models, all of which could be set in motion by pressing a button or turning a handle, and even the oldest of us could not resist the temptation 'to see how it worked.' It was a trying matter to gather the flock together from such fascinating surroundings, but as we had arranged for tea in the Victoria and Albert Museum force had to be used to disengage the youngest of the party from his particular model. After a pretty full day, the homeward journey was made quite without incident, and we reached our destination by nine o'clock. It will be some time ere we finish comparing notes on a most successful outing. G. W. T.

WEDDING BELLS.DURHAM DISTRICT SECRETARY MARRIED.

On Saturday, July 29th, at St. Oswald's Church, West Hartlepool, the wedding of Mr. F. Robson and Miss D. Dodsworth took place. While the happy couple were leaving the church the bells were rung to Grandsire Triples. The ringers attended the wedding reception and afterwards returned to the tower and rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples.

The bridegroom is well-known as a district secretary of the Durham and Newcastle Association, and rings regularly for Sunday services and practices at the above church.

The ringers were: W. Pillar 1, W. Oxley (Sunderland) 2, T. Stephenson (Sunderland) 3, T. Metcalf (Middlesbrough) 4, H. Robson 5, E. Robson 6, R. L. Patterson (conductor) (Sunderland), 7, S. Breeze 8.

TILEHURST RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, June 24th, the ringers of St. Michael's, Tilehurst, Berks, went by coach for their annual outing. They were accompanied by friends, among whom was Mr. E. G. Foster, the local branch secretary, and the party made a tour through Bucks, stopping to ring at Haddenham, Long Crendon, Thame and Great Milton. Tea was enjoyed at Long Crendon, and the ringers once more thank the Rector most heartily for his generosity in providing it. They wish to thank also the Rector of Long Crendon and his efficient helpers for their splendid catering.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The cost of the Law James memorial, which consists of two treble bells to make a ring of twelve at Surfleet, where Mr. Jamca was Vicar for more than 30 years, has been £176 0s. 6d. Towards this sum £162 19s. 10d. has been subscribed, and the fund is to be closed on August 31st. All further contributions should therefore be sent in by that date to the Master, Mr. Rupert Richardson, Glyn Garth, Surfleet, Lincs.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are shortly dispatching to Canada a very fine carillon of 23 bells, with a bass of four tons. The bells are of wonderful tone and perfect in their harmonic blending. They are to be erected at the new Roman Catholic Cathedral, at Hamilton, Ontario, and the biggest bell is to be hung to swing. Canada is dotted along the banks of the great St. Lawrence river with bells from the Whitechapel foundry, some of which went out over a hundred years ago.

Can any church in the country claim an older complete ring of eight bells than St. Lawrence Jewry, London, the official church of the city Corporation? These bells, which are all intact, and a year or two ago were rehung and greatly improved by tuning, were cast at Whitechapel in 1687.

In the report of the peal of Stedman Triples at Brookfield Church, Gorton, Manchester, on July 24th, the name of the ringer of the 4th should have been Alfred Frost.

THE CARE OF CHURCHES.

VIEWS OF THE S.P.A.B.

The annual report of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, a book of more than 160 pages, which has just been circulated, will be of much interest to antiquarians, but, except that a number of churches are listed among the cases in which the society has given advice, there is nothing this year which immediately concerns the interests of church bellringing.

There is, however, a section on the care of churches generally, in which it is recorded that there is no doubt at all that the parish churches of England are now receiving better care and more thoughtful treatment than they have received for two hundred years. This is due, says the report, to a changed public opinion, an opinion that was largely formed by the society, and which is now expressed by it and by the Diocesan Advisory Committees.

To-day, continues the report, there are two causes at work which too often bring harm to these old buildings. The first of these is the scare about the death watch beetle. It is very rare to find an old oak roof or framework that shows no sign of this insect's activity. This has always been so; and it is not certain that it has not always been equally active. The society finds people prepared to take up the sound covering of roofs so that they may come at and treat timbers that, as yet, show no structural distress. The society views this procedure with alarm where old roofs are concerned, for apart from extravagance of cost where such works are done in this atmosphere of beetle panic, more old worked timbers are discarded than is at all desirable. Most roofs that show no distress are good for another century or two.

The second tendency has much that is theoretically laudable to encourage it. The desire to make a 'permanent' job of repair work is often plausibly brought to the fore and is not uncommonly opposed to proper economy and to common sense. This desire, so apparently well backed by a moral or semi-moral incentive, does cause loss of interest to an ancient building when it is allowed free scope.

What the report advocates in preference to 'permanent' repair in such cases is continual watchfulness and 'daily care.'

May we add that so far as this advice applies to bells and bell frames it is excellent—when the authorities start with bells and frames in perfect order. But when the contents of the tower have passed the stage of usefulness—and in this case we refer particularly to bell frames—'patching' is a wasteful expedient if the bells are to be applied to the purposes for which they were primarily installed, and used in the manner in which they were intended and are expected to be used.

SILCHESTER SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I shall be surprised if the Rev. E. B. James, or any other composer, is able to produce a peal in the above method with tenors together, as there are only 21 true plain courses, with eight false course-heads to each course as follows:—

HOLT'S ORIGINAL.HOW THE PEAL MAY HAVE BEEN BUILT UP.

By JOSEPH J. PARKER.

The origin of some of our old peals will always be of interest, and anything calculated to show the mental stages gone through by the early composers should be interesting.

While I was engaged upon my investigation of Grandsire Triples in the year 1888 I built a certain table of lead ends, with a view to trying to obtain a six-part peal with the 6th and 7th never called 'Before.' While experimenting with the table, I noticed that certain passages in the table were similar to some passages in Holt's peal. This set me wondering what suggested to Holt the idea of having two bells never called before, and those two bells the 2 and 6; also why the peal contained so many calls.

To get anything like a feasible answer to these questions, we have to consider what material Holt would have in those days to assist him in producing such a peal. To this last question I will suggest that the Bob and Single peal gave him the idea for a six-part peal, with the 6th and 7th never called before, and I believe this was the kind of peal Holt set out to compose.

Taking the Bob and Single peal to start with, naturally it would occur to Holt to substitute bobs for all the singles, not that that would get him very far.

At this stage a few experiments will have suggested a table of lead ends, similar to the one I built in 1888, at which time I happened to transpose the peal from the row 347526—to see what it would be like with the 6 and 7 taking the place of 2 and 6, I found that it produced a very poor peal, and I took no further interest at the time.

Having recently reproduced the transposition from my table, to see what actually happened in the process, I found the result very interesting. I will here give a description of the table, which is built in three sections.

SECTION A.

This section is built to the six following rows: 236745, 346725, 426735, 327645, 247635, 437625. Bobbing every row, except when the 6 or 7 comes before, will give the whole section in six round blocks, with the 6-7 and 7-6 coming into 4.5 at regular intervals. These rows should be taken as the dominant numbers of 24 Q sets.

SECTION B.

This section is built to the six following rows: 234567, 342567, 423567, 324576, 243576, 432576. If this section is treated as section A, we get six round blocks, with the 6-7 and 7-6 coming behind at regular intervals. Here again we get the dominant members of 24 Q sets.

SECTION C.

This section should contain 24 B-blocks in which the 6th and 7th never come before.

I will now endeavour to show how I believe Holt first composed his peal. In dealing with section A and B by plaining nine Q sets in each case, he got the whole of section A, with nine B-blocks linked together into one round block.

He also got section B, with fourteen B-blocks linked together in the same way. At this stage a certain B-block will appear in both sections, but by omitting two bobs, the three false rows are cut out, and the two sections joined up, giving the peal in its transposed form, with section A at the beginning, and section B, with all the 6-7's and 7-6's at the end of the peal.

We now see that Holt had to transpose in order to get some 6-7's spread about the peal instead of 2-6's, and to get the singles to come in the last four leads.

With regard to the number of calls, I would suggest

PEAL RINGING.

The following letter has been written to 'The Ringing World' by a well known ringer, whose views on peal ringing seem to have changed with the passing years. While many will disagree with him, his opinions deserve respect. We invite the views of others on the subject. Our own are given in our leading article.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The slow and gradual march of civilisation has witnessed the removal of many abuses, such as slavery (partially), duelling, bull-baiting, cock fighting, etc.

May we hope that the future will see the extension of this list by the inclusion of that gross travesty of music, viz., 'jazz,' and, finally, of 'peal ringing,' and that brutal sport (?) prize fighting.

This may seem an extraordinary view to be taken by one who has rung some hundreds of 5,000's. This aspect of peal ringing has gradually been borne in on me during recent years, and for the following reasons:—

- (1) Peal ringing is futile,
- (2) is a desecration of the bells of the church,
- (3) is a nuisance to many of the parishioners.

(1) It is futile, because unnecessary as a practice. I hold that any progressive band of ringers can become proficient in any method by constant practice on the weekly occasions.

When we consider that we begin all peals from 'rounds,' it stands to reason that of, say, the 40,320 changes of Major the much larger proportion are never heard by human ears. Why not make one of the other bells the 'hunt' bell instead of the treble, and if our talented composers could compose the 40,320 in blocks of 1,260 we would then probably hear some beautiful music hitherto unheard.

(2) The bells of our churches are consecrated instruments to be used to the glory of God and the service of the church.

Can you imagine one of our organists attempting a time record of organ playing? To my mind the ideal belfry would be where all the members were regular communicants of the church and where prayer was offered, at least, on all occasions when divine service followed the ringing.

I would rather see the front pages of your excellent paper filled with the records of first touches in such and such a method for service than all the 5,000's.

Have we not been too liable to forget the main object of our existence as ringers?

(3) I submit that, in the present overpopulated condition of the country, a continual ringing of the bells for three or four hours must be a tax on the nerves of many of our neighbours. If we were not ringers we should perhaps be the first to object.

I know that the above expression of my views will come as a sort of bombshell to many of our brethren, but if it has the least effect of causing them to regard their calling in a more serious light, and if it prompts composers to give us compositions which produce the hitherto unheard music, my suggestions will not have been in vain.

Apologising for the length of this epistle, for which, in your goodness, I trust you may find room,—Yours sincerely, that Holt never selected and bobbed thirty Q sets, but that he adopted the plan of plaining eighteen Q sets.

'ENLIGHTENED.'

In building his table, I think we may take it for granted that Holt began with section B, as he would naturally start with the row 752634, when the rest would follow.

DOUBLES.

HOW METHODS MAY BE SPLICED INTO TRUE SIX-SCORES

Often, when licence is claimed on behalf of the five and six-bell ringers for departure from the accepted standards of ringing, it is on the ground of the need for greater scope and variety. With regard to methods, however, the six-bell ringer has no ground for complaint, now that such a wide field has been introduced by 'splicing.' He, at least, has no more need to break the conventions of method construction because of the limitation of recognised methods at his disposal.

The case is, perhaps, somewhat different with the Doubles ringer. He has not got the scope of the six-bell man and his desire for variety cannot be so easily satisfied. There are, in fact, very few methods which consist of pure doubles changes and the consequence is that, if a number of methods are required in a peal, those coming under the heading of 'irregular' have to be rung.

When the Central Council first defined a 'legitimate' method and published the first edition of the 'Collection of Legitimate Methods' they said, in their preface, 'In dealing with Doubles every possible variation of every method is given because the number of methods is small and the committee wish to give five-bell ringers the greatest possible variety.' After detailing the number of extents obtainable in the methods which they gave, they added, 'It is to be hoped that five-bell ringers will find sufficient variety, without recourse to "Dreams" and other such productions, which are neither worth the paper on which they are written nor the time taken to practice them.'

When the new edition of the 'Collection' was published two years ago the committee, because the number of regular methods on five bells is so very limited, decided to give 'a selection of methods which contain features' (such as irregular lead ends, and bells lying still for more than two blows in one position) 'which should not be tolerated on larger numbers of bells where the scope is much greater.' The result is that five-bell ringers are given a selection of sixteen 'irregular' methods, which it may be taken for granted are, in the opinion of the committee, the best of the bunch. Of pure Doubles they give only Original (forward and backward), Carter's principle and the reverse, Stedman and the reverse, Grandsire and the reverse and Double Grandsire. They have omitted New Grandsire and its reverse, but have included Reading, which, while consisting of pure Doubles, has a plain course of only two leads, and has different work for different bells.

It is surprising how little advantage seems to be taken of the material provided for the five-bell ringers. They will clutch at mongrel compositions of Grandsire for 'the sake of relieving the monotony,' but miss entirely the greater attractions of mixing the methods. Even the ringing of the different variations of Grandsire would add a good deal to the interest of a peal and provide the conductor, as well as the ringers, with something about which to keep alert.

In the last annual report of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association it was suggested the Spliced Doubles might well be rung and that a six-score could be made up of half Grandsire and half Stedman, the methods being coupled together by singles. Any methods of pure Doubles can be treated in this way, for the reason that in one method is rung all the in-course changes and in the other all the out-of-course changes, between which there can be no risk of repetition. Thus 60 of Original can be spliced to 60 of Stedman or Grandsire; 60 of Stedman to 60 of Carter's principle or Grandsire and so on, and in each case it would be a true six-score.

The splicing together of methods with one hunt, either with other methods of a similar character or with methods of pure Doubles, is not so simple a matter, because the methods themselves produce both in and out of course rows in the plain course, and it is extremely difficult to avoid repetition. Among the methods which can be thus spliced into true 120's are, however, Grandsire and Union Doubles. The latter method (No. 11 in the 'Collection') is as follows:—

3 2 4 1 5
4 3 2 5 1
4 2 3 1 5	Bob
2 4 1 3 5	2 4 1 3 5
2 1 4 5 3	2 1 4 5 3
1 2 4 3 5	1 2 5 4 3

1 4 2 5 3 1 5 2 3 4

A six-score of Union can be got by calling a bob at each course end.

— 4352

Twice repeated.

A spliced six-score of Union and Grandsire can be got by ringing alternate leads of these methods.

2345 Union	2345 Union
4253 Grandsire	— 5234 Grandsire
4325 Union	— 3452 Union
2453 Grandsire	5324 Grandsire
— 5324	— 2453

Each twice repeated.

In these illustrations the first lead is rung in Union, the next in Grandsire, and so on, and in the first example the 120 is got by a Grandsire bob at every fourth lead. The second example is bobbed in the first lead of Union in each part and at every lead of Grandsire.

There are two pure, but irregular methods of Doubles, which can be spliced together, and, when rung in alternate leads, will produce the extent of the in-course rows without a bob. The second of the two methods is Reading Doubles (No. 12 in the 'Collection'), but the first is not to be found in the Council's book:—

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.ELLOE DEANERIES BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch was held at Surfleet on Saturday, July 22nd, under ideal conditions. A short service was held in the church, when an address was given by the Vicar, his subject being the Oxford Centenary. The lessons were read by the Rev. E. C. Gee, Vicar of Pinchbeck.

Tea was provided by the Master of the Guild and Mrs. Richardson on the lawn at Glyn Garth, and was very much enjoyed. A short business meeting followed, at which members were present from Donington, Surfleet, Pinchbeck, Spalding, Fleet, etc. Among the visitors were Mr. G. W. Hensman, of Pinchbeck, Mr. C. T. and Mrs. Colos, of London, Mr. F. W. Perrons, of Coventry, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough. The members were pleased to have with them Mr. J. Phillips, the Eastern Branch secretary, after his recent illness.

The Rev. H. Law James memorial fund was mentioned, and the total cost was given as £176 0s. 6d. Subscriptions, etc., up to date, amounted to £162 19s. 10d.

It was decided to close the fund on August 31st, and it is hoped that further subscriptions will be forwarded before that date. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for arranging the service, and to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson for providing the tea and for the use of their lawn.

Afterwards further ringing was indulged in until about nine o'clock. During the evening there were two exhibitions at the local cinema of famous ringers and their doings, which were greatly enjoyed.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.MEETING AT SHEPTON BEAUCHAMP.

On Saturday last a quarterly meeting of the Crewkerne Deanery Branch was held at Shepton Beauchamp, and ringers to the number of about twenty attended from the following towers: Barrington, Bridgwater, Hinton St. George, Ilminster, Taunton St. James, Taunton St. Mary, Wilton and Yeovil, as well as ringers from the home tower.

Ringing began soon after three o'clock, and continued at intervals till 4.30, when the special ringers' service was conducted by the Rector. After this the party sat down to tea in the schoolroom. At the business meeting which followed, it was resolved to hold the next quarterly meeting at Crewkerne some time in October.

The meeting over, a move was made to the tower again, and ringing continued till about eight o'clock. During the afternoon and evening 'six-scores' of Grandsire Doubles were rung, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, as well as some Bob Minor, were brought round.

Other investigators may like to try their hand at splicing further methods of Doubles, but this article will be sufficient to enable five-bell ringers to break new ground and ring more than one method in a six-score. There has not yet been a peal rung on these lines. What band will be the first to do so?

QUICK SIX.A NEW MINOR RECORD.*THIRTY-EIGHT METHODS RUNG IN A PEAL.

A new record was created on Saturday, when a peal of Minor in no fewer than 38 methods, compressed into seven true extents, was rung at Knutsford, Cheshire, by a band who have recently been gradually adding to the number of methods in their peals. It is a truly fine performance and ranks with the greatest achievements in the annals of change ringing. One 720 had eight methods in it, and the others five methods each.

The previous greatest number of methods in a peal was 35, rung for the first time in 1923 at Norbury, Cheshire. Mr. J. Fernley, jun., who took part in that peal, was one of the ringers on Saturday, but the rest of the band was different.

With a different treble man, the band who rang the peal last Saturday rang 35 methods to a peal last April, but the 38 method peal included one 720 with five fresh methods. The Exercise will congratulate the company and particularly the able conductor, Mr. Ernest Bennett.

Of the peal itself the band are content to let the record speak for itself; but the incidents leading up to it are reported below. How many bands, we wonder, would have been in record-breaking form after such an experience? Here is what 'E.B.' writes:—

It was decided by six ringers, all suffering from 'Minormania,' that to attempt a peal of Minor in 38 methods would be a grand way in which to pass the afternoon away last Saturday, and so it was arranged to go to Knutsford and try the fine-tuned peal of six, which are a left-handed ring, so as to make things easier (?). The time for starting was 3.30 p.m., and the 'Bishop of Disley' and his mate (both plumbers) were met at the church by Mr. S. Hough, sen., at 3.10 p.m. There were no signs of the remaining three, and at 3.30 p.m., when the bus came in, 'him' from Grove was not on it, much to the distress of the 'Bishop.' The 'Bishop' and his mate then went to sleep until the next bus came at 4.30 p.m., when 'him' from Grove was on it, much to the Delight of 'Disley,' who said it was quite a Surprise to see him.

Still nothing could be seen of the two from Macclesfield (one of whom was another plumber), and as the band were then three short of being one too many they went to enjoy a nice tea at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Hough, whom they wish to thank for their hospitality. At 5 p.m. the other plumber of Macclesfield turned up straight from work on a motor bike, whereupon the 'Bishop' gave him orders 'to go to Macc' (a journey of 12 miles each way, i.e., 24 altogether), 'for yon chap called Wilf Stevenson, and to bring him straight back and not call at any place on the way.' The motor bike arrived back with its 'load' at Knutsford Church at 6 p.m. The peal was started at 6.14 p.m., and after 2 hours 58 mins. good ringing the conductor (one of the three plumbers) called, 'This is all' at 9.12 p.m., and a successful conclusion was brought to a day when a band met nearly three hours later than the time appointed.

A JOLLY DAY.

Apsley and Hemel Hempstead ringers had a long day for their annual excursion. They assembled at 7 a.m. and made an early call at Little Munden, the party being welcomed by Mr. W. Lawrence and Mr. S. Carter. Various touches were brought round on this peal of six, Mr. Lawrence delighting the visitors by ringing 1-2 to Bob Minor. Great interest was taken in an old tree in the churchyard, which is known to be at least a thousand years old. Leaving Little Munden after an hour's ringing, many twists and turns of the road and a good many miles were traversed before finally reaching Thaxted. This fine old church was much admired, but the ringing had to be curtailed owing to late arrival. A move was next made to Littlebury. This peal of six, although not exactly musical, were used to the best advantage for three-quarters of an hour. After dinner at Saffron Walden, where the visitors were met by Mr. L. Pitstow, who had helped considerably in the arrangements in this district, the party went on to Ashwell, where the best peal of six of the day was found. A remarkable feature of this tower is its height and the passages that have to be traversed to reach the belfry. Leaving Ashwell shortly after four o'clock, the journey was resumed to Pottton, another peal of six, but considerably lighter, the tenor being only 7½ cwt. It was a pleasure to be welcomed here by the Vicar. The annual photographs—quite an important feature of the day—were duly taken at this spot. After tea at Hitchin the party were met by Mr. Scott and a number of his fellow-ringers, and the beautiful peal of eight were kept going until about 8.30. A short time was then spent in Hitchin before setting out for home, after a very enjoyable day. The methods rung on the trip were Bob Minor, Oxford Bob, Double Court, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, and, with the assistance of the Hitchin band, Stedman and Double Norwich. The party wish to take this opportunity of thanking the various incumbents for the use of the bells, and the towerkeepers, etc., for making arrangements, without which the outing could not have been a success.

MIXED GRILL.

The first ingredient of the mixed grill during the holidays has been the weather. It has grilled everybody and everything, and, in case you don't remember, it completes the trio of hot bank holidays this year. It made peal ringing seem a mug's game, and put 'paid' to the good intentions of more than one band. In fact, the wise ones left the said good intentions for another day and did not start. One company met on Monday morning in one of those well lighted towers with three great windows in the ringing room, which let in all the sun. It was already hot; it promised to be hotter. 'Come on, let's get 'em up,' said the conductor. 'Why?' asked the man who had been allocated to the not-so-good-going tenor. And, on contemplation, the wisdom behind that brief question appealed to the good sense of the remainder. The next question in another place was, 'What's yours?' Again the wisdom of it appealed to good sense.

There are many seekers after antiquities among bells and their belongings. Recently in our columns information was asked for with regard to ringers' mugs, jugs and pitchers. A relic of apparently great importance has reached us. Its age is uncertain, and we have been asked to pass it on to the seeker after knowledge. It is a bell-shaped tablet, and appears to be of gold—on one side. It is about 2½ inches by 2½ inches—where the dimensions are not otherwise—and is covered with inscriptions. It has been autographed by many celebrities, including Caesar, Nero, Horatio Bottomley and William Pye, but as it is also 'S.P.Q.R., Fecit A.D. 1174,' there seems some doubt as to its authenticity. However, as the sender thinks it might be of priceless value to 'the Royal Hist. S. Fellow,' we shall have great pleasure in passing it on.

And talking of history, here is a more serious inquiry which we have been asked to make. Can any reader inform us who cast the bells which hung in the tower of Christ Church, Spitalfields, London, before the destructive fire of 1836? In its day it was one of the seven rings of twelve in London, the others being St. Bride's, Cripple-gate, Shoreditch, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Cornhill and Southwark. St. Paul's and Bow did not have twelve till long after. Spitalfields were a peal of ten until 1801, when two trebles were added from the Whitechapel Foundry. The tenor in those days was said to be 44 cwt. After the fire the old bells were replaced with a ring of eight with a tenor of about three-quarters of the weight. They have not been rung for years, and have joined the 'derelict' rings of London, among them St. John's, Horsleydown, and St. Dunstan-in-the-West.

A well-known ringer, who must be writing from experience, sends us a few hints to husbands whose wives are on holiday:—

Always put the broom out. This is a 'secret sign,' and in any case you won't want it until the last day. A good sweep up then works wonders and saves time.

Don't forget to invest in a bottle of 'liquid sunshine.' This will be useful when listening to the 'weather and news.'

A bed can be slept in for three nights (middle and two sides) before turning the mattress.

Dig a hole at the bottom of the garden to bury your unsuccessful attempts at cooking; to finish burning annoys the neighbours. 'Runners' can be bent to go in the saucepan, but a long pot is necessary if you want to cook a marrow, otherwise you will have to cut it up.

To make a jelly set, don't try, eat it out of the packet; you will get the flavour then, and if you drop it on the floor you can pick it up.

Don't write more than one letter to your wife, and when she comes home tell her what a fine time you have had, and how busy you have been writing letters, but don't say who to.

And, if you do go to a ringing meeting, keep with the party.

The report of a peal of Minor, the first in seven methods by all the band, has reached us, and with it the following letter: 'I suppose you would call this our first real peal of Minor, being in seven methods. We think that you don't realise what local conditions really are, or you couldn't write such hard things about these Minor ringers. Here it is the exception to find a change ringing band at all, let alone anything progressive. Sorry to add this little growl, but we really think it wonderful to ring Minor at all. Best wishes.'

Have we said hard things about Minor ringers? Certainly not about the struggling bands. We sympathise with them. A peal in seven methods is a thing to be aimed at—that is the highest, we think, at which we have put it. What we complain of are the ringers who ring peals in one or two methods—whether on six or eight bells—and never aspire to anything more. We congratulate this band, who have just rung their first peal in seven methods, and commend their perseverance to those other ringers who prefer to sit down under difficulties and do not try to rise above them.

A 'SURPRISE' OUTING. HUNTING THROUGH HUNTS AND CAMBS.

The Irthlingborough ringers' 'good old annual' had this year to be curtailed to a half-day excursion. A start was made at 1.30 p.m., and Bourn, Cambs, was reached after a very pleasant ride via Kimbolton and St. Neots. The very sweet toned peal were soon merrily ringing to Bristol, London, Yorkshire, and Irthlingborough Surprise, finishing with a course of Stedman. Miss Kitty Willers joined the company and rang a very good course of Irthlingborough Surprise, never having previously struck a blow in the method—an excellent performance.

OVER CHURCH, CAMBS.

A cross-country run through beautiful scenery in lovely weather brought the party to Over, Cambs, where the Vicar and Messrs. Ginn (father and son) gave them a hearty welcome. Courses of Superlative and Cambridge Surprise and Double Norwich were rung. The church, with its quaint carvings and misereres were viewed with great interest by the 'invalid' and the ladies. Once more on the road (very much cross-country), through Swavesey to St. Ives, an enjoyable tea, and on again through St. Neots to Eaton Socon. The magnificent peal of eight were greatly admired, and splendidly struck courses of Bristol, London and Irthlingborough Surprise were brought round—seven Surprise methods in the afternoon and all successfully completed!

A convivial evening at the Sun, with excellent handbell ringing, concluded the very pleasant trip. On arriving home (late) the 'poet' burst out with:

A party from 'ar tarn' one day,
Went ringing out Huntingdon way;
The methods they rang all went with a bang,
And they ne'er lost a touch the whole day.

SHIRLEY, WARWICKSHIRE.—On July 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: John N. Jukes 1, Kathleen Morris 2, Arthur Morris 3, Paul Newell 4, Edgar C. Shepherd (conductor) 5. First quarter-peal for ringers of 1, 2 and 4, whose ages are respectively 18, 13½ and 15 years.

A TWO-DAYS' TOUR. IN THE THAMES VALLEY.

The ringers of St. Mary's, Putney, held their annual outing on July 15th and 16th, and incidentally missed most of the storms which visited many places that week-end. A start was made from Hammersmith about 7 a.m. on Saturday morning, a handy coach for twenty being the mode of travel. After a quick run to Reading it was found that all (or nearly all) were quite prepared for the breakfast provided, and, having 'bruk' the bells at St. Mary's-in-the-Butts were tried out, Dr. Joyce kindly welcoming the visitors. Some touches were rung here, and the party moved on to East Hagbourne, where difficulty was experienced in obtaining keys, but one was found in the Old Boot. Breathe it not—it's a 'pub.' A very nice peal of bells of about 24 cwt. were here made good use of in the restricted time at the party's disposal, and after finding the luggage merchant—not in the Old Boot—they moved off for Sutton Courtney, passing 'The Wharf' of 'wait and see' renown just before reaching the church. Touches on this six, reputed a ton (but the expert said, 'Je ne pense pas'), were rung, a visit paid to Lord Oxford's tomb, a course of Grandsire rung on the churchyard stile on those delightful little handbells well known in the Isleworth region, and the company packed in again for Drayton, famous as the church of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson. One of the touches rung here was judged by Mr. Challis Winney in connection with a competition for which valuable prizes were offered (but not forthcoming). The party were loth to leave this little eight, but time was fleeting, and lunch was waiting at Abingdon, which place had been made headquarters for the week-end. Ringing was resumed after lunch at Banpton, a beautiful eight (about 24 cwt.) being much appreciated by all, especially the crew who rang the faultless course of Bob Major—unfortunately for them not in the contest. Witney was next on the programme, one of the touches rung being in the contest. Operations were brought to a swift conclusion owing to a service. A move was then made to Oxford. On the threshold of 'the tea house of ten thousand joys' the party bumped into the 'bright young people' one reads of up for the Oxford Guild festival, who quickly invited the party to 'ring some.' 'After tea we'll be pleased,' was the rejoinder, and in the evening an enjoyable couple of hours were spent at All Saints' and Christ Church, the Oxonians very kindly giving over some of their own time to the visitors. This was all the more appreciated, as it was entirely spontaneous. Return was made to Abingdon, tunes and touches rung on the handbells, then supper and bed.

Before breakfast, on Sunday, the ducks were in the river, and, after a run out to Appleton, picking up Mr. Lock (whose help in this outing was responsible for most of the pleasure), to ring for morning service. The procession to the church, headed by the Royal Cumberland mace bearer and the venerable College Youth, was quite imposing. Good touches were rung in conjunction with Messrs. Holifield and White, the long peelers having quite a lot of reminiscences to go over. Back to Abingdon to dinner, and after a leisurely afternoon there was the ten at St. Helen's, Abingdon, to conquer. The touches were finished by a splendid course of Double Norwich Major, some of the locals assisting. On the homeward journey a visit was paid to Dorchester Abbey, where the party were welcomed by the Vicar and spent three-quarters of an hour in dispensing sweet sounds on the country air. The archaeologists would have made a longer stay, but the outing secretary wanted everyone home in good time and early for work on Monday. So the party reached Hammersmith soon after ten o'clock, having had a strenuous two days, and having rung about 6,000 changes in five methods in eleven towers. Thanks are extended to all who helped in one way or another to smoothe the path to so much enjoyment.

RINGERS SUMMON FIRE BRIGADE.

AMUSING INCIDENT AT LANCASHIRE MEETING.

As the result of a meeting of the Bolton Branch of the Lancashire Association, held at the village of Blackrod, on Saturday, July 29th, it is hoped to interest the local band in change ringing. At present their limit is a plain course of Grandsire Doubles rung, not by method, but from memory. Practices in change ringing are to be arranged and help given. The six bells (tenor 10 cwt.), cast in 1786, are of good tone and go well.

An amusing incident occurred when the first of the visitors arrived. Not being able to find any of the local ringers, and wishing to draw the attention of someone in authority, a bell was tolled from inside the church with the tolling rope. Now this bell is tolled in a certain manner to give an alarm of fire in the village, and unwittingly it was tolled in this particular way on this occasion, with the result that men were soon running from the cricket field, bowling greens, clubs and inns to their homes to don their uniforms, and eventually gather in the churchyard for information as to the whereabouts of the 'fire.'

The mistake was taken in good part, and the firemen dispersed before the 'village' gathered round.

Touches were rung in Grandsire Doubles and Minor, Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, and Kent Minor.

The 'Bolton School of Ringers' made the meeting a real success, turning up in good numbers.

MORE ALLIANCE MINOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A little over four years ago a letter from Mr. J. A. Trollope appeared in your columns, in which we were informed that he had worked out the extent of these methods.

Probably most of those who have purchased the 'Collection of Minor Methods' imagine that it contains all the methods possible in this class, but it does not. Nine methods have been omitted, and this appears to have been done deliberately.

Would the Methods Committee please let us know what objection they have, if any, to the nine methods, named and numbered as below, being adopted as an addendum to their 'collection'?—Yours faithfully,

'THE MAD HATTER.'

A MUFFLED 'DIRGE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A few months ago I was having tea at some 'tea rooms' by the side of the Parish Church of Pinner, where they were ringing a 'muffled peal' for their late Rector.

I thought, at the time, that it sounded particularly solemn and appropriate, but, being with friends, I did not take very great notice.

On thinking it over afterwards I came to the conclusion that there were only six bells out of eight being rung, and that the 'tenor' and the one above were missing. This would make the peal the last six notes of the Phrygian ecclesiastical mode, with the minor second at the end, and would account for the mournfulness of the sequence, say, A flat, G, F, E flat, D flat, C (with slight pauses on the last two notes). Do you ever ring a dirge in this scale? Of course, I may have been mistaken, considering the lapse of time after hearing it and thinking over the matter.

STEPHEN PLUMMER,

Organist of St. Giles-in-the-Fields, W.C.2.

VARIETY IN FIVE-BELL RINGING.

It has been claimed over and over again that the limitations of five-bell ringing have justified departure from the orthodox calling of Grandsire Doubles, in order to introduce variety. We have never been able to support that contention, because, since the time when peals made up entirely of Grandsire Doubles have been rung in any numbers, there have been ample means of introducing variety, not only for the conductor, but also for the ringers. Even in distant days, there were a sufficient number of six-scores in existence, by the use of extremes, to ring 42 different extents; now they can be obtained by the use of the alternative single, so that even those who stand for 42 true and complete 120's on the old-established lines as the standard for a peal can exercise their ability and ring 42 extents in which the rows appear in some different order every time.

Then, too, further and still more interesting scope was made possible by the revival of a principle known even to Stedman, of substituting some other bell than the treble as the 'hunt.' We doubt if many five-bell bands have tried this form of ringing the Grandsire method, but if they would practise it they would find that Grandsire Doubles can be interesting—even to 'old stagers.' We believe the most experienced would find 'something to think about,' if the hunt were changed in each six-score in a peal.

For those who are still limited to Grandsire ringing, Mr. Gabriel Lindoff has now shown yet another way of getting variety into it. His method of splicing the compositions together is a perfectly sound one, for all the combinations will, if desired, take to pieces, as it were, and stand as separate true extents, although, of course, not necessarily 'beginning from and ending with rounds.' The great defect of the Morris and Pitman arrangements is that they do not consist of two separate extents spliced together—they are just a conglomeration of twenty leads in the course of which each row appears twice. But with all the 'legitimate' material that is available, there is ample scope for ringers and conductors of Grandsire Doubles to ring something which everyone will recognise as a true peal, and still find plenty of variety without resorting to those things with which so many disagree.

In our view, however, no band ought to be content to stick merely at Grandsire Doubles. They ought to go on to other methods—and there are other Doubles methods worth ringing, even apart from Stedman and Carter. Plain Bob may not be all it ought to be, because of its four blows behind when the treble leads, but there are others where this is avoided. They, too, have their defects, but these are really negligible when the methods are utilised to bring variety into a peal. Last week we introduced a new plan for Doubles ringing and showed our readers the first steps to that very interesting practice—method splicing—as applied to five bells. This week we add a further contribution to this phase of ringing. In the last annual report of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association the splicing of Grandsire and Stedman by singles was described—our contributor, 'Quick Six,' has gone much further and shown how certain methods can be spliced lead by lead. Here is something which five-bells ringers have not had before; we hope they will use it. While they may not find it possible to splice as many methods into a peal as in that wonderful performance at Knutsford, recorded last week, there is enough material now available for them to give real spice to a peal and raise the merit of a 5040 of Doubles to a much higher plane than at present satisfies the average ringer.

RINGING IN NEW ZEALAND.

CHRISTCHURCH SOCIETY'S 36,000 CHANGES IN A YEAR.

The 52nd annual general meeting of the Christchurch Cathedral Society, New Zealand, was held in the Deanery at the invitation of the Very Rev. Dean J. A. Julius and Mrs. Julius, on Thursday, June 15th, there being a good attendance of members. The secretary's report, covering a very successful year's work, contained an urge to increase the active membership, which was very low, as competition was necessary to keenness and progress. Exclusive of plain courses, a total of 36,492 changes had been rung in complete touches on the tower bells during the previous 12 months. The presence of Rev. C. A. Clements, of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and Mr. J. S. Wilde, of Dunedin, enabled the society to attempt the higher methods on tower and handbells.

As was customary, a party of ringers with handbells accompanied the ringers' cake to St. Saviour's Orphanages on Christmas Eve, their visit (and the cake) being much appreciated. It was reported that the broadcast of the bells on Christmas Eve was heard in England. The report made reference to the good work done by the Master, Mr. G. H. Clayton, his example of keenness and regularity of attendance being one that all the members could well follow. The visits of such an experienced ringer as Mr. Wilde were invaluable to the society both in the practice and the theory of ringing. Two members were able to visit Dunedin a few weeks ago, where they were often the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilde, and, with the band of three ringers there, were able to score a 720 each of Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor on handbells, as well as ringing touches in many higher methods. This band of three in Dunedin were doing good work, scoring very frequent 720's in a variety of Minor methods.

In discussing the report, the Dean congratulated the society on the amount of excellent work done and on the services rendered.

It is intended to institute an annual dinner to be held previous to the general meeting at the end of the year.

A vote of thanks to the Dean was carried with acclamation, and the meeting adjourned to enjoy a very good supper provided by Mrs. Julius.

The standard of ringing at Christchurch is slowly but surely improving, and it is hoped it will not be long before the society will be able to report a quarter-peal of Triples by the local band.

Once again the society extend to any ringer who may intend visiting the Dominion a hearty invitation to come and 'have a pull' with them. The hon. secretary is Mr. John R. de Lambert, 69, Riccarton Road, Christchurch, New Zealand.

OLD LONDON RINGERS MEET IN NEW ZEALAND.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—During my recent visit to New Zealand I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Cornelius Charge, who until a few years ago was a very active ringer and composer in London. His many friends will be glad to know that he is in the best of health, and happy in the sunny climes of New Zealand. Bellringing, composing and everything connected with campanology still interest his very active mind. 'The Ringing World,' which he receives regularly, is the one great link which keeps him informed of the doings of the Exercise at home.

There is little scope for his talents in ringing in New Zealand, although I believe there is a peal of eight bells in Auckland. The nearest ringing band is at Christchurch, several hundred miles south. Still, Mr. Charge is busy finding the extent in certain methods and composing new peals in others. Any conductor calling one of Mr. Charge's compositions may rest assured that the pleasure is equally shared by him when he reads 'The Ringing World.' He has still a great ambition to return at some future date and call some of his latest compositions.

We had not met for over 30 years. Then I was an active member in the ringing Exercise. My greeting to him was, 'Is it Bob or Single?' His reply was, 'It all depends on the method.' I formally introduced myself, and then followed an invitation, which I readily accepted, to spend an evening with him and have a long talk over old times. My wife and I spent a very happy evening with Mr. and Mrs. Charge, and many were the peals that we rang, or thought we had, during those few brief hours. Many compositions in his methods were discussed, and where they had been rung, and even the conductor's names were known to him almost in encyclopædic form.

In place of bellringing Mr. Charge's leisure time is now mostly spent in his beautiful garden. The display of fruit and vegetables, which only a wonderful climate like that of New Zealand can produce, is ample reward for his labours.

I bade Mr. Charge good-bye the day before I sailed, and his parting words were, 'Give my greetings to your brother and all old friends.' He handed me an envelope, addressed to my brother, which contained some of his compositions.

W. C. HASTED.

COMPOSITIONS BY MR. CHARGE.

Mr. Walter Hasted, who looked up his old police and ringing colleague in New Zealand, was an active member of the Exercise in London about thirty years ago, and both were members of the Royal Cumberland Youths. Among the compositions which Mr. Charge sent home were the following:—

A ROUND OF ESSEX CHURCHES.

LAVENHAM RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On Saturday, July 29th, the Lavenham ringers with their honorary members and probationers, held their annual outing, visiting Essex. Starting at 8 a.m., a pleasant run was made to Sible Hedingham, where the ringers were met by Mr. B. Pettitt. After everyone had stood in a touch or course, a move was made for Finchingfield, where good use was made of this peal of eight. At Great Bardfield Church the Vicar met and extended a hearty welcome to the party. He conducted the ringers round the church, pointing out many beautiful and interesting things, notably the elaborate stone screen built soon after the reign of Edward III. Only two other such screens are said to be in existence—one in the neighbouring church of Stebbing, the other in Trondhjem Cathedral, Norway. Another interesting object was the newly discovered aumbry in the north wall of the chancel. The fine and handy eight bells were also much enjoyed, both by the ringers and listeners.

Full justice was done to a splendid lunch at the Butcher's Arms, Tags End. Here the party was augmented by the appearance of their honorary member from London, N.7. Whilst the fragments were being recovered by W.R.J., the Dulcet Quartette entertained the villagers to some pleasing airs on a peal of sixteen. The next place visited was Thaxted. Here a fine peal of eight, with extra long draught of rope, was put to good use. A look round the church proved very interesting to the ringers, especially the inspection of a beautiful collection of robes, which have been in use at this church for more than four hundred years! At Saffron Walden the party were met by Mr. F. J. Pitstow. Courses were the order here, including a trial on the full twelve. At Radwinter, the next call, the ringing was somewhat spoilt owing to the 5th and 7th ropes 'slipping wheel.' Clare Church was next visited, and the grand old peal set going to various courses, including a short course of Kent, in which the following relatives took part: A grandfather, two fathers, two sons, two grandsons, two uncles, two cousins, two nephews and five brothers! A course of Bob Minor was rung to oblige Miss Chinery, of Ossett, Essex, and this concluded the ringing for the day. A halt was made at Long Melford, where a happy hour was spent with good cheer and handbell tunes. Home was reached at 10 p.m., everyone thoroughly satisfied that the day had been a huge success. Sincere thanks are herewith accorded the incumbents of the various towers and all the friends who helped to provide this good time. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent, Oxford and Superlative.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Bank Holiday week tour in the North of England was a very successful one, thirteen peals being rung in sixteen attempts. Four of the peals were 'the first in the method in the county.'

It is interesting to note that the peal at Truro, recorded elsewhere, was specially arranged to celebrate the centenary of the Oxford Movement in the only Cathedral built and completed in this country since the Reformation. The local ringers who took part in the peal deserve congratulation. Truro is one of the few centres of change ringing in Cornwall.

The bi-centenary of the Oxford Society is to be celebrated by a dinner at Oxford on October 21st.

It will be a surprise to many to read that there has been a society of ringers at Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand, for 52 years.

Young 'Teddy' Barnett, still only 14 years of age, has called a peal of London Surprise from a working bell. The grandson of the late Mr. E. Barnett has excelled all previous records in youthful peal ringing. We are not sure what his present total is, but it must be in the sixties, and a large proportion of the peals are in Surprise methods. Last week he rang one peal of Cambridge and two of London!

Teddy called the bobs with the greatest precision, and was warmly congratulated at the finish. On the one previous occasion when he attempted to call a peal of London it came to grief within a course of the end, not through any failure by the conductor, but through over-anxiety on the part of the rest of the band.

It is just a year since Mr. E. Barnett, sen., passed away. He would have been proud of his grandson, in his quiet way, had he lived.

FAMOUS LONDON BELLS.

ST. LAWRENCE JEWRY AND CHRIST CHURCH, SPITALFIELDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is the statement in Belfry Gossip that St. Lawrence Jewry bells are a complete octave dating from 1687 quite correct? The report of the Royal Commission on Historical Monuments gives the tenor as by James Bartlet, 1687, 3 to 7 by the same founder 1679, and the two trebles later on in the eighteenth century.

The first recorded peal on the bells was 5,040 Union Triples, rung by the College Youths on February 17th, 1723, conducted by Annable. It was also the first recorded peal in the method, but possibly peals both in the tower and in the method had already been rung. Another early peal on the bells was the first five thousand of Court Bob (1735). It was also by the College Youths, and was conducted by Richard Spicer.

Christ Church, Spitalfields, was built in 1729 by money voted by Parliament. A heavy ring of eight, tenor 44 cwt., was given by one of the parishioners, a Mr. Wheatley. There were only two men at the time capable of casting such big bells—Richard Phelps, of Whitechapel, and Samuel Knight, of Holborn—and probably they were Phelps' bells. In 1790 they were increased to ten, and in 1801 to twelve. In 1836, through the culpable carelessness of some boys, who used the belfry as a sort of clubroom, and possibly had made a fire there to warm themselves, the tower was burnt out and the bells and clock destroyed. The present bells were cast out of metal salvaged from the wreckage. They were said to be very inferior to their predecessors. In February, 1735, Laughton's band rang the first touch of Treble Bob on the bells, and five days later the Eastern Scholars rang the first peal in the same method. The tenor was turned in single handed by a man named Philemon Mainwaring, and that was the heaviest bell rung single handed to a peal of Major until the London Surprise at St. Mary-le-Bow in recent times. But only three days after the Eastern Scholars' peal the College Youths repeated the performance with John Trenell at the tenor. He had previously rung her to a 720 of Cambridge Minor. In 1785 Robert Mann rang her to 6,400 Treble Bob.

The heaviest bells rung to a peal of Major then and for many years after were St. Mary-le-Bow on the old lot, cast by Hodson, which were about the same weight as the present ring, but it took three good men to the tenor and two to the seventh.

Mainwaring was one of the greatest heavy bellringers of all time. He was the first man to turn in Southwark tenor single handed; but his greatest performance was to ring the 28 cwt. tenor at West Ham to 15,120 of Major. On eight bells it still stands unrivalled. No bell so heavy has been rung in on any number to a 15,000, and only one as a cover—the tenor at Loughborough to Stedman Caters.

In the early part of the nineteenth century several good peals were rung at Spitalfields by a disreputable set of men who called themselves the Junior Cumberlands. Their leaders were John Noonan and William Williams.

CRONDALL CHURCH.A TOWER WITHOUT STAIRS.

In our issue of August 4th we described some of the charms and the peculiarities of Crondall Church, Hants. Below we give a photograph of the church, with its great brick tower, erected about 300 years ago. In this picture the present top of the old tower can be seen over the porch-way. In the right hand picture can be seen the unusual method of access to the bell tower, which contains no staircase. Instead, the steps of the original tower are used and are connected with two of the floors by open galleries. The way from the ringing room, on the first floor, to the bells is across the lower gallery, up the steps of the old tower and across the upper gallery, thence by a long ladder to the bell chamber. The ground floor of the brick tower is used as a vestry, the door of which opens into the chancel.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH AT BRATTON.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Bratton on Saturday, August 5th. There was ringing during the afternoon, and the service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Seymour Collett). Tea was held in the Church Institute, to which 27 sat down and enjoyed the fare provided by Mrs. Cook. The usual short meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. One new member was elected in the person of Mr. A. C. Curtis, of Warminster.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Upavon, and that the towers be made available in the following order: Netheravon, Fittleton, Enford and then Upavon, for service, tea and meeting.

The usual votes of thanks were passed, and the members returned to the towers, with the exception of a few handbell ringers, who delighted the inhabitants of the surrounding cottages with some well-struck touches. Edington tower was visited during the evening, and amongst other methods a course of Minor was rung, but not enjoyed, on this 'not very excellent' peal. Steeple Ashton and Kcevil towers were also visited later in the evening.

Amongst those present were the following visitors: Messrs. W. J. Whiting (Leatherhead), A. P. Cannon (Forest Hill), W. C. Shute and J. Ralph (Kington Magna), W. B. Kynaston and N. Allnat (Swindon). Representatives attended from St. John's, Devizes, Urchfont, Rowde, Holt, Westbury, Warminster, North Bradley, Bratton, Bradford-on-Avon, and Melksham, the following methods being rung: Cambridge Surprise, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles. In spite of the hot weather, those attending obviously enjoyed themselves, Bratton being situated in a most beautiful part of Wiltshire.

BELLRINGERS IN CAMP

August Bank Holiday week was spent by five young ringers from Raunds, Northants, in camp at Woodhouse Eaves, near Loughborough. On Sunday all went to the early service, and after breakfast returned to ring a 720 Bob Minor with the assistance of Mr. H. Haynes, the local captain. In the evening the party journeyed through beautiful country to Anstey to ring Grandsire Triples. On Tuesday morning, with the aid of Mr. I. J. Wade, of Anstey, a peal was attempted at Woodhouse Eaves, but came to grief in the fourth method.

Wednesday was voted the best day of all, a visit being made to Messrs. Taylor's Bell Foundry. The party, who were conducted round the works by Mr. H. Stubbs, saw frames and fittings being made in the foundry, and peals and chimes being completed in the other shops, and a huge oak frame under construction in the carpenter's shop. After signing the visitors' book, the back six of the foundry ten were raised, and with the assistance of Mr. Stubbs a 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung. Some of the ringers, finding that little bells were not so hard to ring as they anticipated, had a go at the trebles, and a course of Plain Bob was rung on the front six.

On Friday morning, in company with Mr. Haynes, a visit was made to Old Woodhouse, where 720 Double Court was rung before matins. Saturday was the lucky day, a peal of 5,376 Bob Major being rung at Ratby. On Sunday morning a wonderful week was finished off with 720 Plain Bob at Old Woodhouse, Mr. A. Jaques, of Woodhouse Eaves, kindly making the team up.

The Raunds ringers wish to thank all Leicestershire ringers who helped to make their holiday such a success, and also Messrs. John Taylor and Co. for the very interesting visit to their foundry.

DOUBLES.

MORE METHODS FOR SPLICING.

The splicing together of Doubles methods, as was illustrated in the article published last week, should provide five-bell ringers with a new interest in the limited field at their disposal.

Here are some further methods which will splice into true six scores:—

St. Simon's. (No. 16).	St. Dunstan's. (No. 13)	Reading (No. 12).
1 2 3 4 5	1 2 3 4 5	1 2 3 4 5
2 1 4 3 5	2 1 3 5 4	2 1 4 3 5
2 4 1 5 3	2 3 1 4 5	2 4 1 5 3
4 2 5 1 3	3 2 4 1 5	4 2 5 1 3
2 4 5 3 1	3 4 2 5 1	2 4 5 3 1
4 2 3 5 1	4 3 5 2 1	4 2 3 5 1
2 4 3 1 5	4 5 3 1 2	2 4 3 1 5
4 2 1 3 5	5 4 1 3 2	4 2 1 3 5
4 1 2 5 3	5 1 4 2 3	4 1 2 5 3
1 4 5 2 3	1 5 4 3 2	1 4 5 2 3
1 4 2 5 3	1 5 3 4 2	1 5 4 3 2
Bob 1 5 4 2 3	Bob 1 5 4 2 3	Bob 4 1 2 5 3
		1 4 2 3 5
		1 2 4 5 3

St. Simon's and St. Dunstan's can be spliced lead by lead. For example, beginning with St. Simon's:—

2345 St. Simon's

4253 St. Dunstan's

3254 St. Simon's

— 2453

Twice repeated.

This arrangement can be begun at any point and the bob in each part called either in St. Simon's or St. Dunstan's.

Other six-scores can be obtained by bobbing three of the four leads in each part, thus:—

2345 St. Simon's	2345 St. Dunstan's
— 5423 St. Dunstan's	— 5423 St. Simon's
— 3254 St. Simon's	— 3254 St. Dunstan's
5342 St. Dunstan's	— 4532 St. Simon's
— 2453	3425

Each twice repeated.

Similarly Reading and St. Simon's may be joined lead and lead:—

2345 Reading

3524 Reading

— 3542

St. Simon's may be rung first, followed by Reading, but the bob must be made in the St. Simon's method.

QUICK SIX.

LEIGHTON BUZZARD.—At All Saints' Church, on Sunday, July 16th, for a Masonic festival service in the afternoon, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,277 changes): H. B. Whiteney 1, F. Plummer 2, F. Jeffs 3, P. Vickers 4, E. Belson (first quarter of Caters 'inside') 5, W. Botsford 6, W. Jeffs 7, J. E. Arnold (conductor) 8, J. Nicholls 9, J. Chandler 10. Ringers of 3, 4, 5 and 7 belong to the belfry of St. Barnabas, Linslade.

A DORSET AUGMENTATION.
CHARMINSTER BELLS REHUNG.

The five bells in the Parish Church of St. Mary, Charminster, a Dorset village near Dorchester, have been rehung and augmented to six, and an excellent 'splice' has been made by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who carried out the work. A fund for the provision of the extra bell and the restoration of the old ring was started during the incumbency of the late Canon W. G. Barclay, and money has been steadily coming in since the appointment of his successor, the Rev. D. F. Slembeck, R.D. The new bell is inscribed, 'In God rejoice,' and the initials F.V., W.B., c.w., D.F.S., v., 1933. These letters stand for Mr. F. Virgin and Mr. W. Batten, churchwardens, and the Rev. D. F. Slembeck, Vicar. There was ample room in the belfry for the addition to the peal, and the bells are hung in a manner that has elicited high commendation from experts.

A large congregation was present at the dedication service on Friday week, and ringers and others connected with the Guild from many parts of the diocese evinced their interest by attending. Among them were the Mayor of Dorchester (Mr. R. N. Dawes), for many years chairman of the Dorchester Branch, Messrs. C. H. Jennings (Wyke Regis, hon. secretary of the branch), W. J. Simons, J. T. Godwin, H. G. Lock, J. Smith, J. Squire, and W. A. Groves (Dorchester St. Peter's), Miss Clapcott, Messrs. G. R. Runyard and R. Trevett (Bradford Peverell), P. Field, D. W. Chant, and P. Palmer (Buckland Newton), W. Bowditch, H. C. R. Vine, H. Smith, F. Bishop, and F. Isaacs (Evershot), K. Bowditch and S. Thomas (Sydling), C. H. Lathey (Bradpole), W. C. Shute (Kington Magna), W. B. Northover and C. A. Crabb (Bridport), C. Smart and F. Virgin (Upwey), L. G. N. Williams (Wool), J. Hannam, R. J. Tompkins, M. Furmage, C. W. Richards, W. G. Bird and F. Gale (Charminster).

The service was conducted by the Vicar, with whom were the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild) and the Rev. A. F. Godley (Rector of Stratton). During the chanting of portions of Psalm xxxi. the clergy, churchwardens (Messrs. F. Virgin and W. Batten), and surpliced choir walked in procession to the foot of the tower, where the Vicar recited special collects and offered the dedication prayer, placing his right hand meanwhile on the rope of the new bell, which was afterwards rung by Mr. R. J. Tompkins, vice-captain of the ringers.

A VOICE BEHIND THE BELLS.

Clergy and choir returned to the sanctuary, and after the hymn, 'Glorious things of thee are spoken,' the Vicar announced that the cost of the new bell and necessary repairs to the other bells would be roughly £100. Of this there was in hand about £31 14s. 6d. in a sixth bell fund which was started in the time of his predecessor, Canon Barclay. There had been received in donations the sum of £47 5s. 6d., leaving about £21 to be raised. The Vicar added that they had received great encouragement and support from the Diocesan Ringers' Guild.

The Rev. R. H. Gundry was the special preacher, his text being, 'There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification' (1 Corinthians xiv. 10). In the course of his sermon he said that as the notes of the bells rang out from the old church towers there seemed to come to them the call of God's Own Presence. To many the harmony of the bells was nothing but a jingle, but if one would only take the trouble to listen they would hear the tones of harmony all through and the melody ringing in one great tune. There were some to-day who failed altogether to understand this; they did not seem to be able to grasp it. But behind it all there was the sound of a Voice which, like the whole peal in the tower, rang into their hearts—God Himself spoke to them. They wanted to remember throughout their lives that all good came down from above. The thought that came to them that evening was that which was described on the new bell, 'In God rejoice,' and that was something to remind them that God had them in His love and in His care. Let them rejoice with great thankfulness for what God had done, was doing, and would do. When they listened to the new bell let them try and pick out, as it were, the message that it rang to them, that in it they might hear the Voice of God and learn a new lesson, and so learn to trust and leave things to Him.

Before the Blessing, the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' was sung, and a collection of £2 13s. 1d. was taken for the bell fund.

After ringing by St. Mary's Church ringers their colleagues from other towers availed themselves of the opportunity of ringing Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles, and Bob Minor, and they were especially pleased with the tone and splendid splice, reflecting credit on the bell foundry.

BROKEN ROPE SPOILS JUBILEE PEAL.

At the Church of St. Elisabeth, Reddish, Lancashire, in connection with and to commemorate the festivities of the jubilee of the church, John R. Pritchard's well-known peal of Bob Major (5,056 changes) was attempted on Saturday, August 5th, but failed owing to the breaking of a rope after upwards of 4,000 changes had been rung in 2 hours and 20 minutes: Alfred Barnes (conductor) 1, William Brammer 2, Tom Jones 3, Harry Ashton 4, Alfred Frost 5, Charles E. Tomkinson 6, James Fernhead 7, Peter Laffin 8.

PEAL RINGING. SOME LEGAL ASPECTS.

The letter on the subject of Peal Ringing which appeared in our last issue was read with widespread interest. It has resulted in the following communication, which, while bearing the nom de plume of 'A Learner,' carries the considered views of a member of the legal profession.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of August 11th you invite comments on the letter of a 'well-known ringer' (who remains anonymous) in effect advocating the removal of peal ringing as an abuse which he compares (among other things) to bull-baiting and cock-fighting. Some of his conclusions are matters of opinion, but I should like to call attention to certain well-known facts which have a bearing on the question whether peal ringing is a nuisance. Let us start with facts.

(1) I read in the last annual report of the Guildford Diocesan Guild that two towers in an important town have been closed 'to any ringing by organisations outside the local bands.'

(2) Not long ago I read in 'The Ringing World' that in one tower (I forget where) the local authorities promulgated a rule that no ringing was to last for more than two hours. This time limit was afterwards extended to three hours, on hearing a ringers' petition, but a rule that payment was to be made for the use of the bells was insisted on.

(3) In a parish in the West of England, where there had been a good deal of ringing, some of the parishioners organised something like a jazz band orchestra, which assembled in the churchyard and made sufficient noise to interrupt the Sunday morning service. As the greater part of the congregation had probably nothing to do with giving permission to ring, the conduct of the rioters seems to suggest to me that if I am annoyed by the local fishmonger sending me stale fish I am entitled to retaliate by breaking the grocer's shop window. The persons who made the noise, I suppose, thought they were proving themselves to be in the right; in fact, they put themselves in the wrong, and only proved that they were very angry.

(4) Recently, there was the action against the Vicar of a church at Golder's Green, which ended in a compromise, no decision being given. It is to be noted that (according to the report in 'The Times') all the ringing complained of was in connection with some service; no peal was apparently rung, as the bells were rung by a mechanical chiming apparatus. At first sight it might appear that this case decided no legal principle; but this is not so. We all know that the Vicar's (or Rector's) consent is required for the use of church bells, but this case shows that even if the consent is given it does not necessarily follow that the consent is sufficient authority for a peal—or any other form of ringing. The Vicar is not in the position of an umpire in a cricket match, whose decision either way is final. If the Vicar refuses to allow ringing his decision is final; if he permits it, his decision can be challenged by an action in the Law Courts, alleging that the ringing is a nuisance. If the Vicar's decision was not open to review, there was a short answer to the action, but neither the Vicar's counsel nor the judge suggested that this short answer would be valid, and the hearing lasted into the third day.

There is another important point to be considered. Somebody had to pay the costs of the legal proceedings; and (if I rightly recollect the report) no order was made as to costs, which means that each side would have to pay its own. But suppose that the plaintiff in the action had complained of peal ringing, and suppose that the judge had decided that (in the special circumstances) such ringing was a nuisance, and had ordered the Vicar, as defendant, to pay the costs of both sides. This might be a serious liability for the Vicar, and it is very doubtful whether he would be legally entitled to charge the costs against the church fund. Any parishioner who subscribed to that fund would be entitled to say, 'I subscribed to any expenses which might be lawfully incurred. The order to pay costs was made because the Vicar was permitting a nuisance, which is not a lawful thing.' If this objection prevailed (which is not impossible), let us ask two questions. (1) Would any other Vicar give permission to ring a peal (if there was any serious risk of legal proceedings) without getting from the ringers beforehand some security, or indemnity, against costs? And (2) if he asked for such security, or indemnity, would any band of eight or ten ringers be prepared to give it?

I suggest that the actual facts above referred to do show that a section—be it large or small, reasonable or unreasonable—exists among the parishioners in many parishes, who object to peal-ringing, and if in any parish such a section successfully applies to the High Court for relief, the consequences to the ringing fraternity—so far as peal ringing is concerned—might be very serious. Is it worth while to run the risk of these consequences by ignoring these objectors?

A LEARNER.

PEALS A TRAINING GROUND.

Sir,—The Bible tells us, 'If Christ is not risen our faith is in vain.' To 'Enlightened' I say: If church bells are not 'God's instruments of music' our labours are futile. My experience is that those who do or have done peal ringing are the best ringers in most cases. To God be all the glory, and what glory is there in bad striking? This is where peal ringers score, giving their best, for as a rule peal ringing is good. I know a gentleman who never attends a place of worship, but he admitted when he heard church bells rung it made him 'think.' Any Christian must think; it is God calling him to remembrance. The only nuisance to parishioners is peals too often. We at Over are among the houses, but by good sense we approach any objection and still ring. If I never ring another peal I still think peals are training grounds for good ringing.

HELPING EMPLOYMENT.

Dear Sir,—To me your correspondent 'Enlightened' appears to see through very coloured glasses. I quite admit he is entitled to his views as others are to theirs. He apparently quite overlooks one cardinal fact, that man in his evolution has always striven to rise above his fellows, and human nature being what it is will continue to do so. Further, anything which tends to solve one of the most pressing problems of the day—unemployment—should be encouraged, and if I only walk a mile I am helping to tear out a pair of boots and so helping the bootmaker, and if I ride a mile I likewise am helping the transport trade, and the more peals that are rung the more bell ropes will be wanting sooner than otherwise. There are also other reasons why I myself am in favour of peal ringing. Doubtless other ringers will give their views. Having topped several centuries and being still in the running, like 'Enlightened,' modesty tells me to remain

A WAYFARER.

AMERICAN BOY RINGS QUARTER PEAL.

RINGERS FROM FOUR STATES AT GROTON SCHOOL.

One of Mr. I. J. Attwater's pupils at Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A., has rung a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, and is the first student at this school to do so. It will be remembered that a peal of ten bells, hung for ringing, was put up at the school, with the idea of encouraging the art of change ringing, and Mr. Attwater was appointed instructor. As the personnel is, of course, constantly changing, it is not an easy task to get the pupils far advanced before they leave the School, but the youth—Albert D. Bosson by name—who has now rung his first quarter-peal, has great promise. He only started change ringing last September, but he can already ring four handbells (1.2.3.4) to a course of Grandsire Triples and 120 Grandsire Doubles. His success will give a stimulus to the Kent Guild, and as he will be at the School for two more years his help should be very valuable.

The quarter-peal was rung at a very pleasant and successful gathering at Groton School, Massachusetts, on July 9th, when nine ringers met from four States: Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut. As the school was closed for the summer vacation, the bells were up and in readiness at 11 a.m., and 504 and 336 Grandsire Triples were rung, as well as some Bob Minor.

After lunch, at Groton Village, which was generously given by Mr. S. Warren Sturgis, a start was made for the quarter-peal, all going well till the half-way was reached, when a serious trip called a halt, but at the second attempt the band settled down, and a very good quarter-peal was brought round in 47 mins., the first for a good many years in U.S.A. The band was Richard Newton 1, Isaac J. Attwater (conductor) 2, William Bashford 3, S. Warren Sturgis 4, Albert D. Bosson 5, Warren Sturgis 6, J. Roland Henson 7, James F. Laker 8. The ringers were all very satisfied at the success of the meeting, and thanked Mr. Sturgis for his efforts, which enabled the gathering to take place, and which it is hoped may be followed by another in the near future.

WEDDING BELLS AT MANGOTSFIELD.

On Saturday, August 5th, the bells of St. James' Church, Mangotsfield, were rung as a wedding compliment to Mr. Charles Edward Jefferies (youngest son of Mr. John G. Jefferies, the popular chairman of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association) and Miss Evelyn May Bath.

The ringing for the wedding itself was carried out by the local band (with one exception), and they are to be complimented on the good striking, the 'firing' being almost perfect.

After the wedding the ringers were invited to the reception, which was held in the schoolroom.

In the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following: Verdon Palmer (first quarter) 1, Mrs. Frank Skidmore 2, A. T. Maggs 3, E. Palmer 4, P. C. Williams 5, F. Skidmore (conductor) 6, G. S. Wiltshire 7, A. Smart 8. After the ringing the ringers were kindly entertained by Mr. John Jefferies at the village hostel, and everyone had a jolly time.

BELLS AND THE PUBLIC.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your leading article on this subject not only emphasises the value of your journal to the ringers of England, but is also an immediate call to them to use every opportunity of educating and informing the public as regards the scientific ringing of church bells. It cannot be denied that there is an appalling ignorance prevalent to-day regarding not only the art of ringing but of the manner in which church bells are rung. It is therefore up to us all, if we wish to preserve our art, to do our part, however little that may be, in removing that ignorance, and in giving such information through the press, or otherwise, as will enlighten the general public.

For your general information I will pass on what has recently been done in St. Albans, and which I suggest might be repeated in many other places. Some months ago Mr. Hughes (of Mears and Stainbank fame) was invited by the St. Albans Rotary Club to lecture on bell casting at their weekly meeting. Those of you who know Mr. Hughes will agree that it is superfluous for me to say that the lecture was interesting—it was more—it was educative and appreciated by the business men who form the Rotary Clubs. I was an invited guest on that occasion, and as evidence of the interest created by Rotarian Hughes, I was asked, at the close, at a future date to give a talk on change ringing, with demonstrations on the handbells. This talk I have recently given, and with the kindly help of my ringing friends we gave a demonstration of Triples, Major and Caters. There was unbounded enthusiasm, and bellringers have become 'heroes' in this ancient city, men with wonderful memories and of physical endurance and many other qualities which modesty forbids mentioning. The local Press gave a good account, and further commented upon the wonders of change ringing in an article in the same issue.

But this is not the end. On Sunday week the Rotarians organised an open-air service on the Verulamium site, which was attended not only by the civic authorities and combined choirs of other Anglican churches of the city, including also the splendid band of the Salvation Army, but by several thousand people. At this service we were invited to ring the handbells, and as the procession reached its appointed place we rang a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters. The effect of the ringing was 'electric'—dead, absolute silence everywhere, even among the children, only the bells giving forth their melodious notes, and at the end we felt that we had done something to help forward our cause by giving unbounded pleasure to so vast an audience.

Now what has been done in St. Albans can be multiplied all over the country. We have been hiding our 'mysterious art' far too long, and I suggest that now is the time to come out into the public gaze and demonstrate what ringing really means—in parish functions and other suitable places. Let the people know that it is a scientific problem, and requires a clear thinking mind, a stout heart and an enthusiasm which never cries 'Stand' at difficulties. Opposition may come at any time from some disgruntled being, who is never happy unless complaining (and, of course, not even then). If it should come, I am sure that you will find that your quiet propaganda work has not been in vain, and that you have gathered around you a vast army of those who really love the bells and will help you in difficult times, because you have taught them to enjoy the intricate and beautiful rhythmic music of the bells.

One more suggestion. Do not keep a closed belfry. Keep it clean, dust the chairs, and ask people to come and see the bells and explain how ringing is done. If you have an ancient peal, with a history, so much the better for your visitor. Much more could be said upon the subject you have ventilated, Mr. Editor, but I desire only to supplement your excellent article, so will conclude with thanks for your courtesy.

A MEDALLION OF THE 'WOODEN AGE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The 'relic' you most kindly sent on to me during my vacation 'Hovering near the Hart of Brighton,' is much appreciated and will be valued most highly. Would you allow me, through the medium of your columns, to thank the sender, 'Sir Josiah Stedman Cotton, M.C.A.C.R.,' and to explain that, although I share his doubts as to its antiquity, the relic is most interesting, and may be a copy of an earlier medallion. As you remark in your 'mixed grill' column, it appears to be gold on one side, but undoubtedly it goes back to the 'wooden age.' In my historical researches I have as yet been unable to trace the maker, 'Nero Roma-Madriana, Fecit A.D. 117,' but the superscription, 'Cæsar J.,' and the stamp which appears to be a crude reproduction of St. Peter's, Rome, may assist in tracing its actual history. It is significant that it appears to have once belonged to H. Bottomley, as his signature is on the obverse, while on the reverse are many hieroglyphics, which under the microscope might be decipherable. Doubtless, when I get back to my study, I shall (W.P.) spend many a happy hour in silent endeavour trying to decipher those superscriptions.—Yours fraternally,

Of Leicester.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very much interested in Mr. J. J. Parker's article on Holt's Original, because anything from him is always welcome, and when you are talking about Grandsire Triples his is the only name that can be mentioned alongside Holt's. But especially because, only a fortnight ago, working on my history of eighteenth century ringing, I wrote the following:—

'To-day, with our knowledge of the law of Q sets, to compose a one-part peal of Grandsire Triples is no very arduous undertaking. It was quite otherwise in John Holt's time. He had to deal with an entirely unexplored problem; his brain was a mathematical one, but it was totally untrained; and he, perforce, had to work by intuition and empirical methods. Yet, of course, he must have had some general scheme in his mind. The number of ways in which you can arrange bobs and plain leads in a 5,040 is so almost inconceivably great that no mere hit-or-miss plan is ever likely to bring success. What his scheme was cannot be known, but there is one which would be likely to occur to anyone in his position. It is to take the 15-lead blocks produced by the three-lead course plan and try and unite them by omits instead of singles. Annable had already experimented with this, but without success, and in itself it is not very promising. Yet, it well may have been Holt's starting point, and some confirmation may be found in the fact that in his peal the 6th is never called before.'

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

THE THIRTY-EIGHT METHOD PEAL.

BY JOHN P. FIDLER.

Although there are actually only three more methods rung in the Knutsford peal than in the 1923 Norbury peal, those who are conversant with Spliced Minor ringing will fully appreciate the added difficulties those few extra methods incurred. Every credit is due to the band, particularly when one realises that 'Method Splicing' was published before the three men at the 'heavy end' commenced to handle a bell. None of the 'old band' are jealous of the youngsters' performance, and I doubt whether there is a prouder man than Jim Fernley, sen., and when 'The Ringing World' reaches New Zealand there will be another proud man.

For some time now it has been common knowledge in Hazel Grove that the new company were out to smash the record, and I had hoped that a peal in a greater number of methods would have been rung at Norbury, but I am more pleased it has been rung at Knutsford, because only a few weeks ago it was reported in these columns that the Rev. A. T. Beeston was laid to rest there.

There is no comment in the peal report, and it is quite possible Knutsford was chosen unwittingly, but by ringing the peal there the ringers have paid A.T.B. a great tribute, and had he been alive he would have taken it as such. I shall never forget his expressions of delight when we had rung the thirty-five method peal: his face spoke volumes, and one could see that he then felt his labour had not been in vain.

Although he was not the discoverer of 'spliced' ringing, he did more to develop this system of Minor ringing than any other man, but little or no credit has ever been given to him for the part he took in building up 'multi-method' peals, because, when he was alive, he would not permit his name to be mentioned. One might safely say that only the Norbury company of pre- and post-war days know of the work he did and the trouble he went to, the very many times he has walked from New Mills to Hazel Grove, the hurried mustering of the band to try something new, the disappointments, the triumphs that made it all worth while! What a pity it is he died just before a peal was rung that would have let him see his efforts had been worth while.

Let us hope that what has just been done at Knutsford will be an incentive to others. All the data for ringing such peals is in book form, the spade work has been done—and much had to be done ere the earlier 'multi-method' peals were rung. The 'Cheshire Youths' have proved that by constant practice and study peals of more than seven methods can be rung in a few years. What they can do others can do, and such peals ought to be the rule rather than the exception.

Mr. J. P. Fidler was one of the band who rang the first 35-method peal at Norbury, Cheshire, in December, 1923. He is the author of the chapters on the practical side of 'splicing' which appear in 'Method Splicing'—a book on this very interesting phase of the art, which can be obtained post free for 1s. 3d. from 'The Ringing World' Office, Woking.

WEDDING BELLS.

Bysouth 8. Rung for the wedding of W. Revill, son of the ringer of the seventh, also as a birthday compliment to the ringers of treble, fourth, seventh and tenor, the last being 79 years of age.

ROTHERHAM BELLS.

'MAGNIFICENCE' v. 'PERFECTION.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the above heading, and to try and still the buzzing of the hornets and hackers-up of same, may I crave a small portion of an early issue of 'The Ringing World' to try to justify, in my humble way, the statement of Mr. F. E. Dawe as reported in 'The Ringing World,' July 7th, 1933, issue, p. 426: 'Rotherham were (should read "are") a magnificent ring, but were not the characteristically tuneful, musical and harmonious (here he should have inserted "well balanced for weight, one with another") ring that used to hang in St. Ann's tower.'

To start with the first part of the extract, the word 'magnificent' should be applied only to the very best of everything, i.e., that which is without flaw or mistake. Such an article generally finds its way to a museum or art gallery, for the sake of being taken care of and as a perpetual reminder of the age of that particular type of craftsmanship. Now as bells should not be museum pieces but articles of use, we certainly must not use the word 'magnificent,' but must search the dictionary for a more fitting word. Here we are, the word 'perfect.'

Now with this word we get bell founding more in form and keeping with bellringing, for clearness and comfort—clearness in being able to hear every bell distinctly, and comfort in ringing, whether on the light, middle or heavy end. Now with the old peal at Rotherham (with due respect to all the champions of the new, the majority have never rung on the back end yet, and I don't suppose they ever will; others have rung on the back and try to get away from it as much as possible; others write in praise of them, and I doubt whether they have had a ring on them), we certainly got the first item, i.e., clearness of tone (the comfort certainly had gone either in had steeplekeeping or age of bearings). One could hear every bell distinct from its neighbour, the only fault besides had going being the ringing chamber itself, but this had nothing whatever to do with the bells or tone as far as outside was concerned. With modern hanging, to have had the bells cleaned and the belfry alterations that have been done ready for the new peal, what a peal it would have been! Instead we have a 'magnificent peal' with all its attendant horrors, namely, odd-struck bells, trebles that cannot be heard, tenor too heavy for the rest of the peal, and ropes that slip the wheel in the hands of careless ringers. A few peals have broken down through the latter cause, even by the hands of so-called expert ringers. Still, the 'magnificent peal' is cast now, and the future generation will certainly have to eat more porridge than the present one does, and will have to keep to ringing Cater methods only, and not be able to get as much Royal method ringing as before, the task being too great to get the tenor into the speed required by the remaining nine.

Bells should be bells, and not glorified organs, which I am afraid is being aimed at at the present day, much to the detriment of good striking. The only effect seeming to be aimed at now is the eternal 'Three Blind Mice' with variations, to the exclusion of the remaining bells, a thing that was, if I remember rightly, condemned by one of the leading bell founders at a famous North Country minster some years ago. Certainly we get now a more musical 'Three Blind Mice' and not the bark that used to obtain in the ringing chamber, but the provisions in the ringing chamber did not apply then as now. So we must leave the question of 'magnificent' bells in the hands of those admirers to whom I presume the magnificence hides a multitude of sins (and had ringing) and gives an opportunity of not caring whether ringing is good or bad, so long as deaf ears can testify to the sweet cadences of sound (whether in jumbles or shots) that emanate from the so-called 'magnificent' bells.

With regard to the old peal at Rotherham, certainly there was not much antiquarian value attached to it, with the exception that the peal was subscribed for by the gentry of the district and citizens of the then small township of Rotherham, with the view of having a glorious peal of ten in the 'magnificent' (here, Mr. Editor, the word is used in its best sense) church. They were also a maiden peal—and since the meaning of 'maiden,' as applied to bells, is the casting of the correct note without any tuning, it is a thing to value in itself—but that certainly does not put, as dear old 'Irenæus' says, any antiquarian interest into the same. But how many good ringers bother about antiquarian interest in bells? I haven't come across one yet. All they seem to bother about is the clearness of tone, the easy going of the bells, and the quality of the ringing (not the quantity of noise). These three points being the main items, we leave the antiquarian interest to the antiquarians themselves. Possibly 'Irenæus' will say what the bells of Thrybergh require to make them into a good peal in his next article, which I presume will soon be coming (when we get the tuning fork tuned up to the 'magnificent' bell pitch), seeing he thought of giving Mr. Dawe an article on them.

As for his challenge to Mr. Dawe regarding the old eighth at Rotherham, can he bring proof of his argument, seeing the bell is recast, or shall we say it is all 'bunkum,' like his statement that he was one of two 'who received instructions' to inspect the old peal. I would have said 'asked to inspect,' but by whom and why I for

OXFORD GUILD IN LONDON.

AN INVITATION MEETING AT HOLBORN.

So many London ringers having joined the Oxford Diocesan Guild during their excursions into Berks and Bucks, it was decided to try a meeting in London some years ago, with good results. An invitation from St. Andrew's, Holborn, tempted a repetition of the dose, with possibilities that it might become an annual institution (a bit later in the year, it is hoped). Ringers were present from a wide area, one having to get 'doctor's permission.' History always repeats itself, and it would not be surprising if some were trying to emulate those not unknown Londoners who found their 'better half' in Bucks. They are reminded that not all who run can wear the victor's crown, because on this occasion the sirens were apparently kept upstream by the busy 'lock' (a deep one).

The heat was very great, but touches in numerous methods were rung. However, the party were glad to adjourn for tea, enjoying the kind hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hawkins.

Afterwards, a few words of welcome were spoken by Mr. A. A. Hughes on behalf of the St. Andrew's Guild, and then the party enjoyed a couple of hours of yarn spinning and music, Mr. E. A. Young bravely stepping into the breach to perform 'on the ivories.' Some of the Devon items were quite good, but wasn't it rather warm to be 'wrapped up in my old stable jacket,' although 'the yeomen of England' are rather conservative about their dress.

Several courses of Stedman Triples were rung, also one of Grand-sire Caters. A few tunes were rendered, but part of this band was holiday making. The evening (?) closed with a 'cup o' kindness.'

one fail to see, as certainly he has never rung on them much (neither on the new magnificent peal). 'Would have been better to have got the opinion of two qualified ringers (not writers), who with a good deal of common sense would have suggested, in the event of recasting, to lighten the whole peal, and not, as eventually happened, lighten the front nine and add a further 3 cwt. to the tenor.'

In conclusion, I must refer to the letter on page 440 of the July 14th issue of 'The Ringing World,' re the name St. Ann's as applied to our church. In old Yorkshire Association reports we find peals accredited to 'St. Ann's Church,' Rotherham. So we must presume at some time or other it was so called; why, we don't know. But there is a district close by the church which is called the St. Ann's Ward, in which was situated a well (called 'St. Ann's Well'), noted at that time for healing, so we must presume the St. Ann's Ward got its name from the church, and by the well being in that ward. Neither is there proof that the church has been called 'All Saints' only for the last fifty years or so, during which time a lot of smaller churches have been built in the district. Certainly it has always been called the 'Parish Church.' I hope, therefore, Mr. Dawe has spent no sleepless nights thinking he has the wrong name in the list of churches he has rung at. I hope this little article will impress upon bellfounders and the ringing fraternity (whether of antiquarian or scribe turn of mind) to make more use of the word 'perfect' and leave the 'magnificent' to the museums.

WANTED: COUNCIL FOR CARE OF BELFRIES

There is a Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings; there is a Central Council for the Care of Churches. The former carries great weight with the latter and with all Diocesan Advisory Boards; indeed, except for the purely ecclesiastical element, members of the former, we believe, predominate on the latter. The Central Council for the Care of Churches is an official body, and its findings govern the issue of faculties in something the same way as the rulings of the Court of Appeal settle the findings of the Courts below. Can we not have some similar organisation for the Care of Belfries? We shall, of course, at once be told that this is part of the function of the existing Council; that its supervision covers the tower and bells as well as the rest of the fabric and its contents. That may be so, but the supervision is too one-sided; it is too much confined to 'don't' and too little to 'do.' What we want in connection with our belfries is an authority with more power to enforce the execution of really needful repairs.

In every diocese there are cases to be found of real neglect—despite all that has been done in recent years in the way of belfry restoration—neglect which the local authorities themselves would refuse to tolerate in any other part of the church, neglect not merely of the bells themselves, but often of the general arrangements in the tower. But it is to the neglect of that valuable church property, the bells, that we are here chiefly concerned. However ruinous the condition may have become, there is no power to compel necessary work to be carried out, and while Rural Deans and Archdeacons may occasionally make formal representations, it is seldom anything comes of these recommendations—usually because there is so much else that requires attention. The absence of money is always an effective answer to ecclesiastical pressure.

We would like to see a Central Council for the Care of Belfries set up which would have power to investigate complaints of serious neglect in towers and call for estimates of the work necessary, and when that has been done to discuss with the Central Council for the Care of Churches any schedule of other repairs needed in the church in question. An order of priority could then be arrived at, and no faculty granted for any restoration work outside the priority schedule until the schedule had been completed. That would remove any chance of prejudicing the carrying out of any other really urgent scheme, but it would scotch the old trick of delaying bell restoration 'until we have got a new organ,' or 'until we have reseated the nave,' when the organ is a perfectly useful instrument and the seats capable of another fifty years of use.

Of course, all this is far too 'advanced' for average ecclesiastical thinking; it savours too much of Mussolini or Hitler, but it will need something like it before some of the clergy and parochial authorities will be brought to a sense of their responsibilities. There are scores of towers left with derelict bells and no ringers simply because there is no means of compelling the execution of essential restoration. We believe more could be done than is now accomplished by Rural Deans and Archdeacons, but few of them know much of the subject of bells and the upkeep of a tower. Failing our suggested Central Council for the Care of Church Belfries, whose duties could be carried out by the Ditto Ditto Churches—if they were given the power and would exercise it—ringers might do well if they brought extreme cases to the notice of the responsible Rural Dean or Archdeacon.

RINGERS v. POLICE.

ANOTHER ENJOYABLE GATHERING AT BOLTON.

On Saturday last Lancashire ringers, their wives and friends again took advantage of the invitation of the Bolton Borough Police by visiting their bowling green and athletic ground. The weather was ideal, and an added interest was a wonderful pageant held by the local hospital in the same grounds. It was the finest pageant ever held in the town, but the bowling green was reserved. It was here that battles were fought over again, and old scores wiped out.

The president of the association (Rev. Canon Elsee, M.A.) sent an apology for his absence.

During the evening a 'free and easy' social was kept going until nearly eleven o'clock. A concert party, arranged by ex-P.C. Hayhurst, assisted by Miss A. Potter, and touches on handbells provided the entertainment.

Mr. John Potter moved a vote of thanks to the Police for their kind invitation. In replying, Mr. Hayhurst extended a further invitation to the winter quarters later on in the year.

A SUSSEX VILLAGE RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. H. W. JONES, OF RINGMER.

By the death of Mr. Henry William Jones, the band at Ringmer, Sussex, has lost one of its oldest and most respected members. Mr. Jones passed away recently at the age of 63 years, after a long illness, patiently borne.

Mr. Jones was one of a young company formed at Ringmer Church well over forty years ago by the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who was then assistant curate of the parish. Under this expert tuition excellent progress was made, and Grandsire and Stedman ringing was mastered. Then came Mr. Davies' departure, and ever afterwards that village band had a dour struggle for existence. Mr. Jones and Mr. Charles Painter were then, and remained through the years, the backbone of the little company—unable to do much change ringing unaided, but seldom failing to maintain a Sunday service band. Of a reticent, almost shy, nature, Mr. Jones was a safe ringer in the methods he knew—just one of those content to do his own bit to the best of his ability.

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' salutes the passing of an old friend and early mentor.

The funeral took place on Friday week, when the coffin was borne from the house to the church by bellringers: Messrs. C. Painter, A. Carpenter, J. Geall and E. W. Geall. The Vicar officiated at the service, and referred to Mr. Jones' Christian characteristics and his faithful service to the church as ringer and sidesman.

The bells were rung muffled in the evening.

THE FOUR STROKES OF AN OUTING.

A MERRY BRISTOL PARTY.

On Saturday, August 12th, a merry party set out from SS. Philip and Jacob's Church, Bristol, at 1.30 p.m., for a short tour in Somerset. The first stop was Wymall Church, where the party was met by Mr. H. C. Windsor, and some touches of Stedman and Bob Major were rung on the excellent peal of eight there. The feminine element of the party was particularly pleased about the 'go' of the bells, one damsel remarking, 'I could ring this bell for a week.' However, time would not permit too long a stay, so on to Backwell, where another stop was made for a ring on the fine peal of six (tenor 19½ cwt.) to the tune of Stedman, Cambridge Surprise and Grandsire, after which the Vicar of Backwell, the Rev. H. S. Urch, an old acquaintance of several of the party, took part in some rounds, in which the Rev. M. E. Thorold, Vicar of SS. Philip and Jacob's, Bristol, also took part.

By this time everyone was feeling a trifle 'peckish,' and the inner man and, of course, woman too, must be attended to, so the journey was resumed with 'Old Sol' still in attendance to Weston-super-Mare for tea, after which the party split up for a while, some to sun themselves on the beach or stroll on the 'prom' and view the mud, while one spark went for a swim. Everyone satisfied, the nose of 'the old bus' was turned toward Clevedon, where a very enjoyable hour's ringing took place. Grandsire and Treble Bob Major were brought round, and another 'peal of rounds' in which the ladies had to show the mere men how to ring the back bells. However, all good things come to an end. Time was getting on, and bidding 'Au Revoir' to Clevedon, the homeward journey was commenced, broken only by a short stop at the pump, or, to be more correct, the Bristol Hotel, and a very welcome stop, too, after such a hot afternoon. Then 'up in the cart' for the last time, accompanied by the faint aromatic odour of 'fish and chips,' which seemed to hang about in the vicinity of a certain elderly lady of the party with the austere countenance, who seemed to be trying to conceal a suspicious-looking parcel. Bristol was reached eventually, and so ended a delightful afternoon of handstrokes, backstrokes, crawl-strokes and sunstrokes, and the St. Philip's ringers take this opportunity of thanking those in charge at the various churches, who helped to make the trip such a successful one.

PINNER BELLS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With regard to the letter from Mr. Plummer in 'The Ringing World' of August 10th about a half-muffled peal at Pinner, the tea rooms he speaks of are right underneath the tower, and have been the source of the chief objections to ringing since pre-war time, as the bells hit them hard.

In Mr. Plummer we have a man with a musical training and an alleged 'ear,' sitting under the bells for at least half an hour, and unable to recognise a common octave! The method was Stedman Triples, not Major, and was a slow, well-struck peal. I rang the seventh and Cecil Mayne the tenor. These are the sort of people whose word is sometimes the deciding factor on bells and ringing, as they have 'a musical ear' (P).

MAURICE F. R. HIBBERT.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Saturday, August 19th, at the Church of St. Peter ad Vincula, Coggeshall, Essex, the marriage took place of Miss Mary Beckwith, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Beckwith, of Coggeshall, and Mr. Partridge, of Braintree. The following ringers met at the church and rang 608 Double Norwich as the bridal party left (the church: W. Keeble (conductor) 1, A. Mason 2, C. W. Burton 3, F. Claydon 4, F. Ridgwell 5, W. Elliott 6, L. W. Wiffen 7, D. Elliott 8. The bells were also 'fired' three times. Afterwards 576 Kent Treble Bob was rung. The Rev. F. Pickford (Vicar) officiated at the ceremony.

The ringers were most hospitably entertained at the residence of the bride's parents. They desire to express their cordial thanks for the hospitality, and wish the bride and bridegroom long life, health and happiness.

WEDDING OF WOOLWICH TOWER SECRETARY.

The wedding took place at St. Mary's Parish Church, Woolwich, on Monday, August 7th, of Mr. Cyril Palmer and Miss Winifred Crussell. The service was conducted by Rev. J. C. Grey, assisted by Rev. P. Rodeck, with Mr. Robert G. Sales at the organ. Mr. Stanley G. Harris, of Woolwich Central Old Boys, ably carried out the duties of best man.

Mr. Cyril Palmer has been tower secretary of St. Mary's Church for the past five years, and the following ringers rang a touch of Grandsire Triples: Messrs. H. Finch, J. Lamb, H. James, J. Dafters, A. Rowe, T. H. Culver, B. W. Aldridge, E. Thraves.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.
EASTERN DIVISION.

A meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Brightling on Saturday, August 12th, when about 25 members attended from Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), St. Leonards, Ringmer, Rotherfield, Mayfield, Battle, Heathfield, Frittenden, Kent, and members of the local band.

In the absence of the Rector, the service was conducted by the Rev. Canon J. C. Le P. Hatten, Rector of Dallington, who gave a most interesting address.

Tea was served at the Church Room, and at the business meeting which followed the Rector of Dallington occupied the chair and was made an honorary member of the association.

Mr. W. Franks proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector of Dallington for so kindly taking the service and for presiding at the tea and meeting, and also to the Rector of Brightling (the Rev. A. H. Huxtable) for the use of the bells and for providing such a splendid tea.

This concluded the meeting, and the members returned to the tower and kept the bells going until eight o'clock.

FINCHLEY RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.PRESENTATION TO MR. W. WEBB.

In honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. Webb, of Finchley, an attempt was made on Saturday, August 19th, for a peal, but unfortunately this came to grief. However, a 720 of Bob Minor was rung to celebrate the occasion.

Mr. Webb has been a regular Sunday service ringer at St. Mary's Church, Finchley, for 57 years, and during that long period has never once missed taking part in the Christmas ringing.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb kindly entertained the local ringers and several ringing friends at their residence, and during the evening a silver bell inkstand, suitably engraved, was handed to Mr. Webb from the local band.

PEAL RINGING.AN ALTERNATIVE OCCUPATION.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—At last somebody has had the pluck to ask whether peal ringing should be abolished.

My answer is emphatically Yes! Perhaps the men would be able to be useful on a Saturday afternoon and evening, instead of rushing away directly after dinner and coming home last thing at night, pleased at their efforts of torture upon the public.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A correspondent seeks information as to whether there is any Sunday service ringing in Jersey?

Two interesting weddings are shortly to be solemnised. At the Cathedral, Guildford, on Saturday, September 2nd, Mr. Charles H. Kippin, of Beddington, the popular hon. secretary of the Surrey Association, is to marry Miss Jessie Melville, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Melville, of Guildford. Mr., Mrs. and Miss Melville are all ringers.

On September 7th, at St. Martin's Church, Dorking, Mr. Alan Roy Pink, Dorking, who is at present attached to the staff of the Midland Bank at Eton, is to marry Miss Elsie Cleve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cleve, of Dorking.

ANCIENT V. MODERN BELL HANGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very interested in Mr. Trollope's letter this week referring to heavy bell performances in the 18th century. It made me turn back to the interesting comparison in your issue of July 28th (headed 'Ancient and Modern Bell Hanging') between the fittings on Bow bells as they were and as they are now.

These bells previously hung in the old style plain bearings, and all but one on wooden headstocks, whereas they are now all in ball bearings and iron headstocks, and very nice they look.

Notwithstanding the old-style methods, Bow tenor was turned in single-handed to London Surprise Major by Mr. Bob Newton, and to Treble Bob Major a few years ago by Mr. Chas. Kippin (neither of them heavyweights). Southwark tenor, also on plain bearings, was turned in to Superlative Major by Mr. Bob Newton, and was rung by Mr. Peck to the record peal of Stedman Cinques, in which I had the honour to take part. St. Paul's tenor (plain bearings) was turned in to Cambridge Maximus single-handed by Mr. Peck. I also know of an instance when a well-known London ringer pulled up the whole twelve at Bow single-handed previous to an attempt for a peal.

In reviewing these performances and those mentioned by Mr. Trollope, I cannot help being impressed by the great skill of some of the older bell hangers. It is a point one is apt to forget, and it sets me wondering—will it be as easy to turn in, for instance, Bow tenor to a peal of Major under its modern conditions.

One very seldom hears of bells hung on plain bearings in these days, and I am thinking it will soon become one of the lost crafts. I know that ball bearings are a very nice job. They get over the trouble of lubrication, keep out dirt, and are clean, but it all sets one thinking.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM HIBBERT (YOUNG BILL).

SUNDAY PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is it not time some protest was made against Sunday peal ringing? I can scarcely conceive any occasion when a peal rung on Sunday does not break the spirit of the Lord's Day—a day of rest and peace. It is possible that some great national or Church celebration might justify a Sunday peal, if the commemoration were clearly and unmistakably associated with that day. To me there seems no other justification for a Sunday peal.

To utilise the day as merely another opportunity to add a peal to already glowing lists far outweighs, in my opinion, any 'excuse' that can be put forward, while to do so in the course of peal ringing tours, such as that which has recently taken place in the North, has nothing behind it but selfishness and the gratification of personal vanity. When Sunday is one of nine days available for peal ringing, and peals are to be attempted at the rate of two a day, why need these men deny themselves a full day's rest at the beginning of the most strenuous period of their tour and rob the inhabitants of the most prized hours of peace in the whole week? We may be told that the Church authorities readily welcomed the ringers, said they were pleased to have them there, or even asked them to come. That makes no difference to my point of view. With a programme that included eight other days' ringing in fifteen other towers I say that a Sunday peal in the circumstances is peal ringing and tower grabbing gone mad.

The ringers on that northern tour carry distinguished names; I hope they will pardon my outspoken remarks. I don't suppose I shall be far wrong if I say that this particular peal was arranged without any thought for the fact that it was Sunday beyond the consideration that it was necessary to fit it in between the services, but I suggest that men who are in a position in the Exercise in which they are looked up to for leading, should be careful of the example they set. I hope we shall read of no more Sunday peals, especially on tours of this kind.

OBSERVER.

ELTHAM, KENT.—At the Parish Church, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by the under-mentioned band: T. E. Thurland (first quarter-peal) 1, F. J. Hurrell 2, C. A. Bines 3, J. Hurrell 4, J. J. Lamb 5, G. Rawlings 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, G. Kilner 8.

OLD WINDSOR'S BELLS.

A CENTURY OF PEALS.

The 100th peal on the bells was recently rung at Old Windsor, Berks. It is, in a sense, a milestone in the history of the bells, and some particulars about them will probably be of interest.

The earliest records of St. Peter's Church, Old Windsor, say that in 1184 the church was connected with Waltham Abbey, the Abbot being Rector of Old Windsor. The actual date of the building of the church is not, however, known, but certain extracts show that there was a church many years before that date.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH, OLD WINDSOR.

The first reference to bells appears in the churchwardens' account book of 1774.

Expences on going to Oxford and Salisbury and carrying old bells and bringing new ditto from Longford from bell founders ... £6 18 9
Smith's bill for ironwork in tower ... £7 5 0
Bell founders' bill ... £175 6 6

Edward Lawrence, John Close, Churchwardens.

Up to that date it is not known how many bells hung in the tower, but from 1775 until 1872 there was a peal of five by Thos. Swaine. A treble was added by Mears and Stainbank in 1872 as a thankoffering for the recovery of the Prince of Wales (King Edward VII.) from serious illness. The bells were not only unmusical in 1890, they were also in bad order, and it was decided to tune and rehang the whole peal, also to add two trebles and so complete the octave, the treble being given by the Rev. J. H. Hindson (Vicar of Wraysbury, and late curate at Old Windsor), himself a ringer. The second was given by Mrs. A. H. Moore in memory of her husband. The old third was recast. The work was entrusted to the Whitechapel firm, and the result was the pleasant peal of eight that hangs in the tower to-day. The same firm again rehung the bells on ball bearings in 1927.

The first peal on the bells was rung on December 22nd, 1890, after the dedication, and some well-known names appear in the record. It was Thurstans' 4-part peal of Stedman Triples: W. Lawrence 1, J. E. Hearne 2, A. Andrews 3, J. W. Washbrook (conductor) 4, Rev. F. E. Robinson 5, W. Napper 6, R. Flaxman 7, Rev. G. F. Coleridge tenor. The thermometer, it is said, registered 5 degrees Fahr., and persons passed freely in and out of the tower from the body of the church during the peal.

Situated in the extreme corner of Berkshire, joining Bucks and Surrey, with Middlesex only a mile away, Old Windsor has figured in three ambitious feats. On April 27th, 1901, a band of College Youths rang three Surprise peals in one day: London at Old Windsor, Berks, conducted by J. N. Oxborrow; Superlative at Wraysbury, Bucks; and Cambridge at Staines, Middlesex. Again, on April 24th, 1905, the same society rang three peals of London, one at Old Windsor, one at Wraysbury and the other at Isleworth, while on April 13th, 1914, a Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild band, under the conductorship of Mr. W. Pye, rang the last of four Surprise peals in one day, the other three being at Egham, Chertsey and Staines.

It was at Old Windsor, too, that the ladies rang their first peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by Miss E. K. Parker (now Mrs. Fletcher).

The following is the list of peals rung in the tower:—

Grandsire Triples	43
Stedman Triples	19*
Oxford Bob Triples	3
Bob Major	6
Double Norwich Court Bob Major	5
Kent Treble Bob Major	3

* Included first by a band of ladies and one non-conducted peal. In all, 31 conductors have shared in the calling of the peals. Mr. William Welling has for many years had these bells under his care, and all those who have visited the belfry must appreciate the attention which he bestows upon them. He has rung in 69 of the peals, conducted 34, and took part in the one non-conducted.

DOUBLES.

THE SPLICING OF EXTENTS.

A few weeks ago we printed the results of Mr. Gabriel Lindoff's investigations into the splicing together of extents of Grandsire Doubles by inserting into one extent other six-scores produced from a reversal of the rows. By this means an infinite variety of callings was obtained, each composed of complete extents welded one into the other.

Mr. Lindoff extended his investigations into Bob Doubles and Stedman Doubles, and he gives below some of the results.

BOB DOUBLES.

This method allows little scope for splicing extents, and only one example appears worth considering, that of 360 spliced with bobs.

This, started at a different lead, each time gives eleven extra variations.

STEDMAN DOUBLES.

This method, like Bob Doubles, must be spliced by calls.

The following are examples of reversed extents spliced into forwards, giving 240's, the notation being the number of sixes which separate the singles.

'THE IDEAL CONDUCTOR.'

'MOST DISCUSSED' MUSICIAN SAYS IT IS THE BELLRINGER.

In the course of an article in the 'Daily Mirror' on 'This modern music,' Igor Stravinski, described as 'the most discussed musician in Europe,' says that the ideal conductor is the bellringer.

'The aversion which I feel,' he says, 'from sensational conductors explains my attitude to musicians who wish to interpret my works.'

'A conductor who conducts in a sensational manner—that is to say, who capriciously alters the "tempo"—imagines that he is expressing the feelings of the composer whose music lies before him.'

'Actually, his interpretation is quite different from the original feelings of the composer.'

'People have often cited my saying that the ideal conductor is the bellringer. The man who pulls ropes that set bells in motion—for example, the famous Bow bells—has no immediate idea of what is taking place at the other end of the ropes. He cannot influence either the tone or the rhythm of the bells.'

'The music lives in the bells and is not born of the expressive power of man. For that reason, the bellringer seems to me to be the ideal prototype of conductor who has not to depend upon his own feelings.'

'It is the same with individual performances in orchestra.'

'For some time I had intended replacing the four pianos by four pianolas for my cantata, "Noces," because this technical instrument has complete musical precision and is not influenced by any nervous musician!'

FINCHAMPSTEAD RINGING ROOM IMPROVED.

PINE PANELLING AND NEW SEATS.

A pleasing ceremony took place on a recent Sunday evening in the ringing chamber of Finchampstead Church, when the Rector, Rev. R. D. Weller, M.A., dedicated the new work lately carried out to make the ringing room more comfortable and worthy of the fine tower and ancient church. The Church Council generously defrayed the cost of the work, which consisted of panelling all round the walls in Oregon pine 5ft. high, thus eliminating the contact with the white-washed wall when the ringers are seated after ringing. The uncomfortable forms have been removed and seats fixed in the recesses of the walls, thus giving more room as well as comfort. A table has also been provided, made from the old oak frame which was taken out when the bells were rehung some years ago.

The Rector was accompanied to the belfry by the churchwardens and the builders who carried out the work, and before the dedicatory prayers thanked the ringers (all young men) for their painstaking and consistent service to the church.

The Foreman (Mr. W. J. Paice) thanked the churchwardens and Church Council for their interest and generosity. The churchwardens remained for the ringing for evensong, and expressed their pleasure and interest in the ringers' work.

Any part can be reduced to six changes by omitting the calls in that part. Each part-end comes into the plain course in regular order, and can therefore be brought round from any part-end.

It can likewise be started at different six ends, giving a number of variations.

I might state that it consists of nine and a half reverse extents spliced into one forward extent.

THE SPLICING OF GRANDSIRE AND STEDMAN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to see the articles by 'Quick Six' in your two last issues, as I spent some time a short while ago experimenting with Spliced Doubles. There is one 'snag' in splicing Grandsire and Stedman which he does not mention, however; that is, that as in Stedman the single is made at the back and in Grandsire on the front, it is impossible to get a six-score exactly half of each. I found it possible to get over this by changing method just before the single, then both singles come at the back or both at the front. As two or three rows at the half-way single are the same, whether Grandsire or Stedman, it runs out quite true.

I found that Plain Bob and New Doubles can be rung in alternate leads, as can also Union and Grandsire, as 'Quick Six' points out.

WESTMORLAND AND CUMBERLAND.

JOTTINGS OF A RAMBLE AMONG THE FELS AND THE BELLS.

BY W. H. F.

O Christ, be Thou our strength, for though the day be long,
For old and young the bells at length must ring to evensong.

KENDAL HISTORY.

It was my privilege to make one of the party joining in what has recently become known as the 'Bennett Annual,' and having made a few notes during the week I beg to submit some of them, briefly, for the approval of our editor. A list of 17 towers was announced in 'The Ringing World,' of which 'ventures' 13 were successful, as recorded in the peal columns last week, three lost and one abandoned. To avoid the crowded 'Lakes Express' at mid-day the advance party from the London end left Euston at 10.30 a.m. on Friday, August 4th. This necessitated a change at Crewe, where they were placed in the wrong part of the train and were almost despatched, at Carnforth Junction, to Barrow-in-Furness. The new summer holiday tickets issued by the railway companies were a great boon to us. There was a certain amount of dressing to be done at the end of the journey, as we had removed our coats owing to the heat wave. Kendal was duly reached at five o'clock by the same train we had planned to avoid. Troubles are sent to try one, and the next disappointment was the absence of Messrs. E. Jenkins, of Bradford, Leslie Morris, of Leeds, the former having injured his hand at work that morning, and the latter called away on urgent duty at short notice. The other members of the team having safely reported themselves, it was decided to ring Major in a ten-bell tower for the want of another mate.

KENDAL CHURCH.

Some day this handsome building may be the Cathedral of the diocese of Westmorland. It measures 140ft. long by 103ft. wide, and is reputed to be the third widest church in the kingdom. It can seat upwards of 1,500 people. There are double aisles on either side of the nave, the four rows of Early English columns, with tall, pointed arches, forming a most graceful interior, beneath the timbered roof, with hammer beam trusses. Readers who have seen Abingdon Church, Berks, have only to place its campanile at the west end of the nave to find its resemblance to Kendal.

The local guide tells us: 'There is a peculiar charm about an ancient parish church. It occupies a large and prominent place in the outward life of those who live within sight of the tower and within hearing of its sweet-toned bells. It lights up memories of days long passed away. There arise unbidden in the mind pictures of the comings and goings of generations of parishioners of whom no record now remains, save on chiselled gravestones, in many cases moss-grown or undecipherable. It is not many country towns that possess a church at once so striking and with so many claims upon the affections of its people as Kendal Parish Church, which stands on the fringe of the town near the riverside. It catches the eye at once as something out of the common. There is nothing quite like it in England. Its prototype may be seen, however, in the Church of St. John of Jerusalem at Rome.'

Last year we rang a bell used for the 'Devil's knell,' and I have fondled the bell at Shrewsbury marked with the Devil's claws. On the walls of Kendal Church hang the helmet and sword of 'Robert the Devil,' of Belle Isle in Lake Windermere, who came on horseback to the church on Sunday in quest of his enemy, Col. Briggs, and, not finding him, hastily rode out again and struck his head against the arch of the west door. His helmet was knocked off and has since been kept in the church. Scott has made use of the tradition in Rokeby, and historical lines have been recovered from tradition, entitled, 'Dick and the Devil.' A brass tablet let into the floor tells us that Ralph Tirer, late Vicar of Kendal, died A.D. 1627:—

'London bred me, Westminster fed me,
Cambridge sped me, my *sister wed me,
Learning brot me, Kendal caught me,
Death oppressed me, and Grave possessed me.'

* Found him a wife.

A very notable list of Vicars exists, commencing from the year 1190. It is known that the first Baron of Kendal made a grant of the tithes of his estates in Westmorland to St. Mary's Abbey at York, subject to the Abbey making provision for the due performance of divine service in the churches, including Kendal.

In 1848 Mr. Crowther, a prominent Manchester architect, by invitation of Vicar Barnes, visited the church, and was shocked at its condition. He described it as 'presenting about as melancholy a spectacle of neglect, ruin and irreverence as the imagination could conceive.' The following year saw the beginning of a great restoration, which occupied two years, other sections of the spacious building being restored in 1860 and 1863.

In Morris' 'History and Art of Change Ringing' appears a view of the Kendal ringers standing in their original bell loft, the floor being level with the sill of the west window. A doorway—cut from the stairs, now used to reach the new and higher room—is still left in its old place, its well-worn stone threshold reminding one of the old Kendal pioneers of change ringing in the North of more than a century ago. The men and their belfry—and the jug—have gone for good, but very interesting facts are preserved that tend to prove the old adage that Jack could take his fill as steadily as his master, and perhaps carry it better.

Local chronology mentions:—

1089.—There was one dark day when the people of Kendal were assailed by a Scotch Army, with Duncan, Earl of Fife, at the head, who entered the town and put to death a large number of the inhabitants who had fled to the church for protection.

1232.—An indulgence was granted for the restoration of Kendal Church, which had been allowed to fall into ruin.

1302.—Robert de Wessington, a direct ancestor of President Washington, is mentioned in a grant of land.

1517.—In the Will of W. Parre, dated November 7th, 1517, he wills that a Gilt Cross be given to the Parish Church of Kendal.

1553.—Sir Roger Bellingham at his own proper cost and charges built the Chapel of Our Lady within this Church of Kendal.

The old sanctus bell of this chapel is now in the tower in use. It is a pre-Reformation casting.

1576.—The Aldermen, Burgesses and 24 Assistants of this Burgh shall be ready to accompany the Alderman, before or at the time of ringing the third peal, to the Church, both morning and evening Prayer.

1584.—It is ordered that butchers shall close their shops and cease to offer flesh for sale after the ending of the third peal of bells on Sundays.

1653.—Some leading Quakers came to Kendal Church and pretended they had a commission to pull down the steeple.

1658.—There were five bells in the steeple at this date.

1688.—Henry Hunter, who had been sent by Mr. Braithwaite and the Mayor to stop the bells ringing, was assaulted by the crowd and knocked down in the churchyard.

1699.—Many would tarry at home rather than go to the church.

1745.—The Scottish Army marched thro' Westmoreland. At Kendal they halted over the Sabbath and attended divine service in the Parish Church. The news of their approach frightened the Vicar away, and his place was filled by the Grammar School master.

1745.—During the same year, on the Rebels' retreat from Derby, combatants who were killed or died from their injuries were interred in Kendal Ch'yard near the river. A public subscription provided the stone to commemorate the event.

KENDAL BELLS.

A ring of eight, tenor 25 cwt. 13 lb., was supplied by Pack and Chapman, of London, in 1775; the trebles were added in 1816 to commemorate the victories of Trafalgar and Waterloo, the treble being known as the 'Nelson' bell, and the second as 'Wellington.' Subscriptions by the townspeople were promoted by Nathaniel Wilson, who took part in the first peal on the old octave in 1796, and by direction of Thomas Strickland, aldermen, and other leading townsmen, with a committee appointed by the vestry of the parish, and Thomas Symonds, D.D., the Vicar, as chairman.

With reference to the original ring of six, the first three were removed in 1775 to Crosthwaite Church to make room for the six new bells, and the two smallest of these were 'casten' in 1695 by Christopher Hodson, bell founder, in the ancient bellhouse, at Kendal, demolished in 1790. The aforesaid Nathaniel Wilson was reputed to be one of the first scientific ringers in the North of England, and usually did the conducting or 'bob calling.'

At a vestry meeting, September 29th, 1790, it was agreed that the buildings in the churchyard called the Bell House be removed, and the slate and timber be sold and the moneys arising therefrom appropriated to erecting 'new seats' in the middle cross-aisle of the church.

In 1658 mention is made of the five bells and certain ropes, but in 1695 the treble or fifth bell being casually cracked, it be 'recasten' and a sixth bell is to be added.

On behalf of our party I would here mention that our headquarters for two days was the 'Waverley' (Miss Braithwaite) close by the church, where the frequent bus service from Leatherfield Bridge was of great assistance during our stay. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jennings not only planned our route but kindly gave us a welcome on arrival, and a 'send-off' when we left the county.

Musicians will be glad to know that the 'organist' is remembered. At Kendal Church the list from 1708 gives four in succession, putting in 53, 31, 47 and 31 years' service respectively. The Braithwaite who wished to stop the bells was Mayor six times. The John Jennings, who rang the tenor to the first peal in Kendal, was a forefather of the present leader at Holy Trinity, and our 'mascot.'

'A quaint old town, with venerable church,

Around whose tower in solemn harmony

The cawing rooks would flap their dusky wings;

The sunbeams lingered on the grassy mounds

And danced upon the ancient moss-grown tombs.'

THE PEAL AT EGREMONT.

Mr. G. W. Tembey, of Cleator, writes that the footnote to the peal rung at Egremont is not quite correct. It was not the first Surprise peal on the bells. That was a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung by the local band conducted by W. Norman on November 19th, 1923.

ASSOCIATION GUIDE.

SECRETARIES' NAMES AND ADDRESSES.

The following are the names and addresses of the secretaries of the principal associations of ringers. The list will be useful in many ways, but its publication is chiefly in order to facilitate the scheme for keeping ringers, who remove from one area to another, in touch with ringing and bringing them into contact with the tower nearest to their new place of residence. When a ringer goes to live in the area of another association, the local secretary should forward his new address to his general secretary, who will pass it on to the secretary of the association to which the member has gone, and, through him, the ringers in the town to which the member has removed will be able to hunt up the newcomer—if he needs it.

BEARINGS—AND RINGERS.

Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, to whom we owe much of our present knowledge of the strains and stresses on bell towers, has recently tackled another problem which has considerable interest to ringers, no less a question, in fact, than the resistance to be overcome by the ringer when ringing a bell hung on plain bearings—as all bells were until comparatively recent years. Ball-bearings have now become quite common; indeed it is rare that the old type is used in these days if bearings have to be renewed. There are many ringers, however, who having had experience of both types, say they still prefer plain to ball bearings. 'Theoretically,' of course, there ought to be no question as to which make for the easier ringing, and advocates of ball bearings will tell us that 'practically,' also, there is only one answer; but, despite this, the liking for plain bearings remains with many ringers. The reason, presumably, is that they find that bells which are hung in ball bearings, are 'on their hands' more than those on the plain type. In order to ensure command of the bell they are inclined to over-pull it, and that means there is more 'holding' to be done between each stroke, and more effort required to get the bell back. That, of course, the ball-bearing advocate will say is not the fault of the bearing; it is the fault of the ringer, who should learn so to adjust his pull that his ringing should be practically effortless, because friction, which is the only thing the ringer ought to have to overcome, is negligible in ball bearings.

Friction, however, is a force to be reckoned with on a plain bearing, and Mr. Lewis, in the article in another column, shows to what extent it affects the ringer, who has to apply the power to overcome it. A medium sized bell, effectively lubricated, requires no great physical effort to ring it—all ringers know that from experience—but actually what energy they have to exert to overcome the frictional resistance they will probably now learn for the first time. For a 12 cwt. bell with a 1½ in. gudgeon it is something less than one lb. applied through a distance of two feet, or, say, a couple of tons spread over a peal. This, of course, is not all the energy a ringer will expend, even on the perfectly lubricated bell; there are other factors which will add to the output required from the man at the rope end and which in practice differ between one ringer and another. The competent ringer is he who can get the best command of the bell with the least expenditure of strength, and it is those who can carry this skill into their work on heavy bells who make the really great 'back-end' men, given that other essential gift, a keen ear. Brute strength alone has never made a good heavy bell ringer, but, when the mechanical efficiency of the bell begins to be impaired, strength must enter into the calculations—how much additional energy is required as the bearings dry out, Mr. Lewis shows—and the good strong ringer will beat the good weak one. It is, however, the proper application of the adequate, but only just adequate amount of energy, that stamps the truly great ringer.

DEVON GUILD PRESIDENT'S IMPENDING DEPARTURE.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. POWELL.

A quarterly meeting of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch was held at Colaton Raleigh on Saturday, when about 50 ringers were present. A service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar, the lesson being read by the chairman of the branch and an address given by the president of the Guild. The Rev. E. S. Powell based his remarks on the text, 'I am among you as he that serveth,' and at the close of his address spoke of how for 20 years it had been his privilege to serve the Guild, first as secretary and then as president, sometimes he knew with failure, sometimes through difficulties, but always with a great sense of gratitude for the unfailing support and encouragement given him by the members themselves. In wishing them 'God-speed' in the future, the President spoke of the forward movement among church bellringers in Devon, which he felt to be imminent, and asked that the loyal support that he had received himself might be given to his successor.

An excellent tea was prepared in the Schoolroom by Mr. G. Elliott, of Colaton Raleigh, and a band of willing helpers, and ample justice done to it.

The business meeting followed and was presided over by the Rev. E. A. Jullian, chairman. The branch was especially honoured by the presence of Canon G. F. Coleridge, Master of the Oxford Guild, and an ex-president of the Central Council.

The President, in offering a welcome to the Canon, pointed out that he was the senior member of the Devon Guild to-day, having joined it in 1874.

An apology for absence was received from the Rural Dean, who was prevented by indisposition from attending.

Topsham was suggested as the venue for the annual district meeting, and the date fixed for December 2nd.

The Chairman having asked for nominations for the secretaryship, Mr. Skinner proposed the election of Mr. R. Brook, of Topsham. This was seconded by Mr. Matthews and carried with acclamation.

Mr. Jullian then, on behalf of the branch, presented a beautiful salad bowl and biscuit barrel to Mrs. Powell, the retiring secretary, and spoke very kindly of the work she had been able to do for the branch.—Mrs. Powell, in reply, expressed her most grateful thanks.

Votes of thanks were then accorded to the Vicar, the organist and blower, and to the local ladies and gentlemen who had made such excellent arrangements for the comfort of the branch, and the meeting was brought to an hilarious close by stories told in his inimitable fashion by Canon Coleridge, whose presence added very much to the pleasure of the occasion.

The Rev. E. S. Powell is shortly leaving Clyst St. George for a living near Daventry.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

'HIGH-BROW' MEETING AT RUISLIP.

Ruislip possesses the largest band of ringers affiliated to the Middlesex Association, and it was, therefore, appropriate that the largest and most successful gathering (so far!) of the South and West District this year should take place there on Saturday, August 19th. Favoured by good weather, assured of a hearty welcome and looking forward to some good ringing (evidently), some 44 members and friends put in an appearance during the afternoon and evening. The ringing, which was pretty good for a meeting, consisted mostly of the more intricate methods. Cambridge, Bristol and Spliced (in four methods) Surprise Major were rung. A rather unique feature was the fact that no one requested a touch of Grandsire! Very encouraging signs.

Shortened evensong was conducted by the Rev. F. Dyson, in the absence of the Vicar of Ruislip, who was on holiday. The vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope) read the lesson. Tea followed in Fabb's Restaurant, at the conclusion of which a course of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells.

With the vice-president in the chair, the business meeting consisted of routine matters. The Vicar of Ruislip (the Rev. Canon E. Cornwall Jones) and one of the churchwardens (Mr. E. Dixon Smith) were elected honorary members.

The hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow) announced that the next meeting would be at St. Peter's, Staines, on Saturday, September 9th. He said that as a presentation to Mr. John Phillips on the occasion of his 75th birthday was to be made at this meeting, he hoped there would be a good attendance. Mr. Phillips was a member of St. Peter's band and had been connected with ringing for 60 years. A joint meeting with the Oxford Diocesan Guild would be held at Hillingdon on Saturday, October 14th, and it was hoped to arrange a meeting at Acton in November.

The meeting concluded with thanks to all those responsible for making the necessary arrangements, etc., and especially to Mr. Tom Collins, of the local tower. After further handbell ringing, a return to the tower was made, except for members of the committee, who remained to discuss the second annual supper arrangements. It was pleasant to see so many 'better halves' at this meeting, as well as old friends, whose absence in the past has been a matter of regret to many. Perhaps at Staines, Hillingdon, etc., they and others will be seen again. Who knows?

CHRIST CHURCH, SPITALFIELDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In further reference to the notes which have appeared in your pages recently, the following may interest your readers:—

Amongst the valuable records belonging to the 'College Youths' is this footnote to a peal rung at Christ Church, Spitalfields, on March 26th, 1808, recorded as 5,040 Oxford Treble Bob Maximus, i.e.: 'These bells were originally a noble peal of 8, the tenor of 44 cwt. in the key of C sharp, and were the gift of . . . Wheatley, Esq., a wealthy inhabitant of the Parish, about the year 1735. They were augmented to Ten Bells in 1792 and finally augmented to Twelve in or about 1804, and were catechised by all Ringers to be the finest and most musically tuned peal of Twelve in London. They were destroyed by Fire on Ash Wednesday, 1837, at which time the office of Steeple-keeper was vacant, and through the neglect of the Parochial Authorities in appointing an efficient person to the care of the Bells a parcel of Boys had the run of the place, got smoking on the Steeple and set the place on Fire. The Church had a very narrow escape and cost the Parish £10,000 to repair the damage done. The present peal of eight bells are by no means to be compared to the original Bells given by Mr. Wheatley.'

The above footnote is signed, 'S. Austin, College Society, 20th August, 1857,' i.e., 21 years after the fire, which occurred in 1836, as stated by Mr. Trollope; the Ash Wednesday, however, is probably correct. It is gratifying to hear that the fire was caused by members of a boys' club and not by ringers, despite rumours to the contrary current some years ago.

Despite Mr. Austin's comparison, I seem to remember the present eight as a deep sonorous 'ring'—but it is 40 years ago.

It is interesting to note that the tower is considered to vie with St. Mary-le-Bow and St. Bride's amongst English Renaissance steeples, and it is by Hawksmoor, Wren's gifted pupil.

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

ANOTHER VERSION.

With reference to the origin of the fire at Christ Church, Spitalfields, mentioned in Mr. Trollope's letter in our last issue, Mr. Edwin Gibbs says that this was due to a party of ringers who were ringing there on a very cold day, and who had a charcoal fire in the belfry for the purpose of heating up some refreshments.

While this was in progress, someone in authority was heard coming up into the belfry, and the brazier was hurriedly hidden away under the tenor box and left.

This version was given to Mr. Gibbs by the late John Cox, and it was also confirmed by the late Mr. Matthew Wood, who saw the fire as a boy.

AFTER FORTY YEARS.

THE BELLS OF ST. MARY'S, LEWISHAM, OVERHAULED.

On Sunday, August 20th, the bells of St. Mary's, Lewisham, the 'mother' church of this district of the Kent County Association, were reopened with ringing for divine service by the local band, after a brief respite of some six or seven weeks, during which period they have been thoroughly overhauled by Messrs. Taylor and Co., the famous bellfounders, of Loughborough.

Before ringing commenced the band was photographed in the belfry by a representative of 'The Kent Mercury.'

Forty years ago (1893) these bells were rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and from then to the present (with the exception of the short overhauling period above mentioned) have been in constant use for Sunday services, practice and occasional peals, so that nothing could have been more natural than to call in the same firm. The chief culprits for this long absence of the bellhanger are Messrs. Dick Lane and Harry Warnett, sen.; the former was from Taylor's firm and in charge of the 1893 overhaul, the latter has been a ringer at St. Mary's for 43 years and the respected towerkeeper and leader of the local band for 37 years. It is due to his tactful arrangement of the louvres, regulating the sound, that during this long period only one complaint as to the ringing at this tower has been received, although Lewisham Hospital almost adjoins the churchyard, the one complaint coming from elsewhere.

On Thursday evening, August 24th (without permission from 'Enlightened' or 'A Ringer's Wife'), a peal of Bob Major was attempted by a band mainly local, but, unfortunately, came to grief in the first course of the second half, the ringers being H. Warnett, sen., 1, J. Daffers 2, R. H. Dove (Taylor and Co.) 3, A. J. House 4, H. Warnett, jun., 5, E. Mounter 6, C. Davis 7, J. Bennett (conductor) 8. The ringers would like to express their appreciation to Messrs. Taylor and Co. for the way in which the work has been carried out. The 'go' of the bells, which are still in plain bearings, leaves nothing to be desired. St. Mary's tenor is 22½ cwt. J. B.

HANDSWORTH, BIRMINGHAM.—On Sunday, August 20th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. Wells 1, J. Jagger 2, S. Danby 3, M. Turner 4, J. Prickett 5, J. Screen (conductor) 6, H. Howl 7, E. Lees 8. Rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. J. Screen.

RINGERS' WIVES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—'Ringer's Wife' is either to be pitied or blamed. Like all the rest of mankind, ringers can be placed in three categories—good, bad, indifferent. Ringers' wives can also be thus placed.

Perhaps 'Ringer's Wife' is one of those who would like their 'other half' (I won't say 'better half') tied to their apron strings every moment of their little leisure time, dragging them hither and thither on all sorts of domestic jobs they themselves could (and should) do—or like 'Mary's little lamb,' meekly following them about where-so'er they go.

On the other hand, 'Ringer's Wife' might be one of those very unfortunate ones who are tied to a mean, selfish man who thinks of nothing else but his hobby, and neglects wife, home and even work to carry out some insane ambition to ring peals at whatever cost. Fortunately these are few and far between.

I have had great experience of the 'conjugal rites,' both personally and impersonally. In the former element it might be added that there are few Midlands ringers who have devoted more time to bells and ringing (either within or without the belfry)—yet I still find time to devote to wife, home and duty as well as putting in a good deal of church work. (Won't Mrs. M. say something to this when she reads it!) And we both 'hit it off' very well indeed—if you doubt it, just ask 'P. H. or H.P.' (the 'saucy ones') what Mrs. M. says!!!

On the latter point, I have assisted many hundreds to 'tie the knot that cannot be broken,' and am still doing so every week. I have noted the characters of the various parties concerned, and one can almost tell beforehand whether the 'union' will be a success or not. It is (or should be) a case of fifty-fifty, and it is up to BOTH sides to 'ring true' and SHARE EQUALLY the hopes and ambitions as well as the disappointments and failures. Never forget it takes two to make a bargain.

As I stated at the outset, 'Ringer's Wife' is either to be blamed or pitied. If the former it is in her own hands to rectify (amicably, I trust) the faults—if the latter, then there is no one who sympathises with her more than

ERNEST MORRIS.

N.B.—May I point out to 'Enlightened' that it is far from being enlightened to either open or enter a subject of controversial nature hiding under a nom-de-plume. It points either to someone who is afraid to openly voice his own convictions, or not to be taken seriously.

A MAN SHOULD HAVE A HOBBY.

Dear Sir,—I would like to ask 'A Ringer's Wife' how she would like to be deprived of any pleasure she may have to be given more work to do? I have been a ringer's wife more than 40 years and have, I think, as much experience as most as a ringer's wife. In the first place, a man should have a hobby, and bellringing is a clean hobby as well as a very healthy exercise, as I can prove. As for torturing others, I fail to see how that can be if bells are rung properly.

We have lived very near to a church, and unless the louvres are too open it is impossible to call it torture, and as for men being more useful at home, surely when a man has worked all the week some recreation is necessary for health's sake.—Yours faithfully,

CHILVERS COTON RINGER MARRIED.

On Saturday, August 19th, the wedding took place at All Saints' Church, Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, of Mr. John Gibbons and Miss Mary Moreton, the Rev. J. A. B. Davies, Vicar and president of the Warwickshire Guild, officiating.

As the couple left the church, the bells pealed forth in rounds and 'queens,' interspersed with 'firing,' following which two well-struck touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, the following taking part: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish, J. E. Moreton, J. Draycott, E. Stone, P. Stone, H. Harris, Mrs. Billington, W. Barratt and M. Melville.

The bridegroom has been a member of the local band since 1927. He was presented with a case of stainless cutlery by his fellow-members.

A peal of Bob Major in honour of the event was rung two days later.

REVIVAL OF OSWESTRY RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, August 26th, members of the Oswestry Society staged what proved an excellent revival of the annual outing. Accompanied by several ladies and favoured with beautiful weather, a start was made at 10 a.m. At Welshpool the party were welcomed by the local captain, Mr. W. J. Maddox, and the eight bells were fully employed for the time available. The remaining towers on the programme—Montgomery, Leighton, Westbury and Pontesbury—all contained peals of six bells, and good use was made of them. Oswestry was reached at 9 p.m., and the ringers take this opportunity of thanking the respective clergy and local ringers for their several kindnesses.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Guildford Diocesan Guild's memorial to their first hon. treasurer (Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O.) is to be dedicated on Friday, September 22nd, at 7.45 p.m. It consists of a recast 6th bell at Woking Parish Church and forms part of a general memorial to the Admiral, which includes the retuning of the other seven bells and a bronze tablet to be erected in the church. A special ringers' service is to be held on the following day. The work in connection with the bells has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

A peal of Double Norwich Major was rung at Wrotham, Kent, on Saturday, conducted by the president of the Central Council. It was his first peal as conductor since 1914!

In the footnote to the peal rung at Barley, Herts, on August 12th, the date of Mr. William Howard's death should have been August 8th and not December 8th. But this was not our fault.

The peal rung at St. Magnus' Church, London, on August 19th, was Cambridge Surprise Royal.

BELLS IN JERSEY.

RING OF SIX DISPLACED FOR CLOCK BELL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to your note in 'The Ringing World' of August 25th as to Sunday service ringing in Jersey, I am very sorry to say that there is no change ringing done in the Island. The Church of St. Mark, in St. Helier, contained a peal of six bells hung for ringing, and is the only church here which has bells hung on these lines. They were hung in 1844 by Mears; the tenor weighs 10 cwt. 2 qr. 25 lb. and is in G.

Some years ago a clock was put into this tower and a large bell of 2 ton 18 cwt. was placed on the frame containing the six bells, with the result that some of the other bells were placed together in a corner of the frame. The clock works fill the belfry and there seems little hope, therefore, of ever seeing any ringing done in this tower.

I have been told that about 50 years ago there used to be a band of ringers who practised change ringing, and when I was in the tower just over two years ago I found a card with a course of Grandsire Doubles pricked out on it.

If at any time there are two or three handbell ringers coming to Jersey, I would very much like to attempt a handbell peal. I would like to know if there has ever been a peal rung on this island.

NO SERVICE RINGING.

Sir,—Perhaps I may be useful to your correspondent who seeks information re Sunday service ringing in Jersey.

A few years ago I spent rather a long holiday on the 'Isles,' and habitually visited what I might term its principal churches. If my memory serves me rightly, 'there is no Sunday service ringing' in Jersey. My vainest research was at St. Mark's, to discover a peal, I believe, of eight, deprived of 'ringing order' apparently for common chiming purposes.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WELL-ATTENDED MEETING AT WOODFORD.

A fine afternoon drew quite a number to the meeting on August 19th at St. Mary's, Woodford, of the Northern District of the London County Association. Woodford is on the extreme edge of the association's boundary, but the choice was obviously a popular one. A variety of methods was rung until 5.30, when a short and very bright service was conducted by the Rev. F. J. Albery, M.A., Rector of Woodford.

The address was very much out of the rut, being more in the nature of a friendly talk than a sermon.

Tea was served in the Parish Church Memorial Hall, and the things provided were more than enough, despite the valiant attempts of the Master and secretary to clear the tables. When these two gentlemen had sufficiently recovered from their exertions, the usual business meeting was held, at which Mr. Albery presided.

One new member was elected, and St. Mary's, Stratford-by-Bow ('Bow in the Road'), was chosen for the October meeting, with St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, as an alternative.

The District Master (Mr. J. A. Waugh) proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Albery for his welcome and to Mr. Moss for the ringing arrangements; to the organist and to the lady who prepared and served the tea. The secretary (Mr. J. G. Prior), in supporting the motion, said how very much they who were visitors to Woodford appreciated the welcome which they had received.—The vote was carried by acclamation.

In replying, Mr. Albery said that he was really very pleased to welcome the association, and the members were assured of a welcome whenever they were inclined to visit Woodford again.

Further ringing until 8.30 p.m. then took place, methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major being rung, to conclude a very enjoyable meeting in very pleasant surroundings.

BELLS IN PLAIN BEARINGS. CALCULATION OF FRICTIONAL RESISTANCE.

By E. H. LEWIS.

The question of the advantage or disadvantage of ball-bearings has recently been raised in several quarters. I thought it desirable to ascertain, if possible, the amount of work required to overcome friction in the case of a bell mounted on good plain bearings.

From the calculations of the reaction at the gudgeons which I made 20 years ago, it is possible to arrive at an approximate value of the frictional resistance for any particular bell. In the case of the bell of about 12 cwt., of which details are given in Sir A. P. Heywood's "Bell Towers and Bell Hanging," I found that the total work to be done to overcome friction for each revolution where π is 3.14 approx.; d is the diameter of the gudgeon (expressed as a fraction of a foot), and μ is the coefficient of friction.

The value of μ varies according to the condition of the bearing. It should not exceed .0025 in the case of a well-lubricated bearing and would be as much as .15 in the case of a completely dry bearing.

Taking the lower value, and assuming a gudgeon diameter of $1\frac{1}{4}$ in., $\pi d \mu \times 2692 = 1.982$ foot pounds.

In other words, if the rope can be pulled through a distance of two feet, a pull of less than one pound is required to overcome friction of the bearings. If, however, the bearing is completely dry, a pull of nearly 60 pounds would be required to keep the bell up.

From this it is obvious that there is far less difference between a ball-bearing (with a negligible loss due to friction) and a well-lubricated plain bearing than there is between a well-lubricated and an ill-lubricated plain bearing.

It has been argued that the slight 'drag' due to friction at the end of the revolution of a bell in plain bearings is of assistance in ringing, particularly in the case of a tower or frame that moves. Taking the same bell and the same gudgeon diameter and assuming a wheel of six feet diameter, the 'drag' at the end of the revolution in the case of a well-lubricated plain bearing would be equivalent to a pull on the rope of 1.036 of an ounce. I wonder how many ringers can judge the weight of their hands to 1.036 of an ounce. Would it be better in such a tower to deliberately keep the bearings of the smaller bells rather dry? Could a steeplekeeper adjust μ to the exact value required between .0025 and .15?

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The August meeting took place at Exhall, near Coventry, on Saturday, August 19th. There was a good muster of members and friends from Allesley, Bulkington, Chilvers Coton, Croft, Handsworth (Birmingham), Nuneaton, Shilton and Stoke, with the local band. The Vicar being away, his two sons, Mr. Malcolm Melville and Mr. Gordon Melville, both ringers, welcomed the visitors. The bells were put to good use during the afternoon until a halt was called for tea, served in the Village Hall by local ladies. There was handbell ringing after tea, and then further ringing on the tower bells in the better known Doubles and Minor methods.

OLD YORKSHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

One of the oldest ringers in Yorkshire has passed away in the person of Mr. Henry Thorley, of Thorne. He first rang on the old peal of five at this church 60 years ago.

As a last mark of respect to his memory, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,344 changes) was rung on August 23rd with the bells half-muffled: E. Thorley 1, A. Woods 2, W. Sleight 3, T. H. Hepworth 4, C. H. Thorley 5, W. Hobson 6, J. Thorley 7, C. Thorley (conductor) 8.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A MEETING AT RADCLIFFE AND WHAT CAME OF IT.

The August quarterly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held jointly with the Rossendale Branch at St. Bartholomew's Church, Radcliffe, on Saturday, August 26th.

In the absence of the Rector, the service was conducted by the Rev. W. Grimwood, who, in his address, spoke very encouragingly of bellringers and of the uses of bells.

After service tea was served in the Institute followed by the business meeting of the Manchester Branch. The chair was taken by the branch president (Mr. C. Ollier), and the meeting was attended by members from Ashton, Bury, Bacup, Bolton, Elmsworth and Manchester. The visitors included Mrs. R. F. Deal and Master Deal and Mr. J. P. Fidler.

An invitation from the Rector of St. Matthew's, Stretford, inviting ringers to the dedication of the new ring of eight bells at that church on September 14th, and also to the Manchester Branch to hold its next meeting there on September 23rd, was gladly accepted.—The meetings for October and November are to be held at Miles Platting and Pendleton respectively.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Grimwood for conducting the service, to Mr. Woodhead for his services at the organ and to the ladies and local ringers for supplying and serving tea were heartily given.

The business completed, some of the members returned to the tower, whilst others played the gallant part of entertaining the ladies. George (at the time a grass-widower) seated himself in front of the harmonium, and with Bill, who, by the way, should have been looking after George, ably assisting with a tenor voice which really does deserve recognition, made more singers than ringers.

Inquiries are now afoot in Radcliffe, writes our correspondent, to find out who ate the lump sugar, and if a certain member (another grass-widower) enjoyed his supper there more than if he had cut his own at home. Information is also sought respecting six persons alleged to have been guilty of keeping a fellow-creature at work after 'washing-up' time. Descriptions—unknown, but believed to belong to the 'Green Dahlia Gang.'

BOLTON BRANCH AT NEWCHURCH.

A successful meeting of the Bolton Branch was held at Newchurch, near Warrington, on Saturday last. The church is situated in a beautiful country district, and the tower contains what is considered to be one of the best light peals in the north. The ringing chamber floor is covered with lino and a good tapestry carpet. Its walls are panelled in oak and memorial tablets of copper with engraved and enamelled lettering.

There was a good attendance of members, with visitors from Cheshire and Wigan Branch, some of whom got their first touch in higher methods. The striking was good throughout the meeting, and the following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise in the Major methods.

At the business meeting Mr. John Potter was elected to represent the branch on the committee for the next two years. Mr. Peter Crook was re-elected as secretary.

Mr. J. Frank Smallwood moved a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for their preparation. He congratulated them on their beautiful ringing chamber.

Mr. John Worth, one of the band who recently rang in the record peal of 38 Minor methods, gave an interesting discourse of the ringing of these multi-method peals, and the secretary gave a rough outline of the arrangements for the forthcoming annual dinner. He said the dinner would be held in the Co-operative Hall, Bolton, on Saturday, October 21st, and the tickets 3s. 6d. each. It was hoped to have distinguished patronage. All that was now needed was a good rally and success would be assured.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The August meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held at St. Paul's Church, Shipley, on Saturday. The bells were rung up at 3.15 p.m., and members were present from Armley, Bramley, Burley, Calverley, Drighlington, Elland, Guiseley, Ilkley, Headingley (St. Chad's), Idle, Horbury, Bradford Cathedral, Northowram, Batley and the local company.

The business meeting was held in the tower, the president (Mr. W. H. Senior) being in the chair. Two new members were elected, viz., Messrs. C. Renton, of Armley, and W. Ainley, of Elland.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and to the local company for the arrangements.—Mr. L. W. G. Morris seconded and Mr. E. Simpson acknowledged the motion on behalf of the Shipley ringers.

THE EGREMONT PEAL

To the Editor.

Sir,—I must apologise to the Egremont band for the footnote to the peal rung there on August 10th. I was not aware Cambridge Minor had been rung. It should have read 'The first peal of Surprise Major on the bells.'

WESTMORLAND AND CUMBERLAND.

BY W. H. F.

A beautiful summer morning greeted us on rising on Saturday, and favoured our long drive by car over the mountains into Yorkshire. Distant views of the fells and pikes showed the elevated nature of the country which the Midland Railway engineers had to deal with in laying their line to the North. The Pennine Chain showed up grandly, and one ridge of tableland which ended in a sharp point resembled the Black Mountains as seen from the Golden Valley.

The Vicar (the Rev. F. Reed, M.A.) received us at the church, and Mr. E. Burnett (foreman) had everything in order. Here the ringing room is at the west end on a level with the nave floor, and was cool and comfortable for peal ringing, whilst outside the temperature was more suitable for the bellfounder. The church is an early English building erected about 1230 on the site of the original Norman church, which had a central tower that collapsed. The columns, dividing the nave from the aisles, are built upon the bases of the huge piers of the old Norman arcade built about 1170.

There appears to be no dedication known to this church. The name of the parish is supposed to be derived from Kirk by Eden, as that river flows close by. In my opinion, the first church was rebuilt in the period of King Stephen, grandson of William the Conqueror, and hence the name of the parish, and I have since discovered that Canon James Simpson, LL.D., an early Vicar, 1863, caused the old tenor to be inscribed 'Sancte Stephane.' It is regretted that our Simpson did not ring it instead of the other 'Jimmy.'

Warner and Sons, of London, cast the octave in 1877. They were hung by Mr. Mallaby, of Masham, who discovered an old bell frame (for one bell)—stowed away in the top plate of the tower—which he thought must have been in use when there was only one bell. County historians say there was one bell in the old tower inscribed 'S Hugo Ora pro nobis.' In 1875 there were four bells dating from 1631 to 1749—yet Bishop Nicholson in his visitation on March 7th, 1704, mentions there were five, in the Carlisle Diocesan Accounts. Two of these were cast into the bell, which is now the tenor, in 1745, after Culloden. Two old customs lingered here, the 'Kale bell' after morning service, and the 'laggybell' for the curfew every night at 8 o'clock. The Kirkby Bell Restoration Committee consisted entirely of ladies of the parish, with the Vicar (the Rev. Thomas Mason, LL.D.) as treasurer. A brass plate in the nave records that: 'The peal of bells was completed by four new bells, pulpit, clock and other gifts added, to a total cost of £1,700.' It is said that Kirkby Stephen is indebted to Whittington, Lord Mayor of London, for its bells. Whittington died in 1434, at which time the present church tower was not built and the original central tower had been taken down. I have come across indications that point to Whittington being a Herefordshire man, and would refer my readers to the valuable work by Mr. Gordon Selfridge—the donor of Bow bells—entitled 'The Romance of Commerce,' which tells us more about Dick Whittington than has hitherto been published.

EARLY BELL FOUNDERS.

There is an excellent preserved list of the subscribers to the early recasting of the old bells in 1658, and early bell founders are remembered, viz., E. Selber, of York, T. Langshaw, of Carlisle, and T. Stafford, of Penrith.

The town is situated on the main motor road, Newcastle-Blackpool-Morecambe. There is much traffic, and, in leaving the church, we found dozens of charabancs pulled up with hundreds of holiday people loyally crowding the King's Arms. The local men came to congratulate us on the peal and sent us on our journey rejoicing at 1 o'clock.

After lunch at the Waverley at Sedbergh, we went on to St. Andrew's Church, where the bells were rung muffled in Peal No. 3 to the respectful memory of an old tradesman buried that day. The antiquarians claim no Saxon or Early Norman pedigree for this cosy building, but evidences of 12th century work are traced throughout the various periods down to the last restoration under Scott. A carved poor box, 1633, and part of the Jacobean pulpit are preserved. Austin and Paley, of Lancaster, were the architects for the restoration of 1866 at a cost of over £4,000 to the memory of Canon Platt, 42 years Vicar.

The 13th century tower contained three bells until 1897, when Mrs. R. H. Quick added five new ones in memory of her husband, Vicar 1883-7, so our Stedman, as the first on the bells, was very appropriate. The inscriptions on the bells are recorded on a brass tablet on one of the pillars. The registers date from 1595, and a silver chalice and paten 1732. The three old bells, cast in the 15th century, have their Latin inscriptions repeated on the new. A cutting mounted in the belfry, 'Little Boy Blue,' and a marble tablet mentions the death of one of the local hands in the belfry on Sunday, May 7th, 1911, after 14 years' service, John E. Senogles, aged 36 years.

Sedbergh company has a full team for service change ringing, and members have scored a peal of Major unaided. We appreciated a heavy curtain hung over the west window, to keep out sunshine during our ringing, and the presence of Mr. John Flint, of Bolsover, who came over to hear the peal.

ANOTHER RINGING MACHINE.

We also had the pleasure of meeting Mr. G. F. Woodhouse, a Cambridge chum of Mr. Banks James, who very kindly took us to his house and exhibited his very intricate ringing machine. The inventor has never seen Carler's masterpiece, and has worked out the difficult problem in quite another manner, and we had a course of Treble Eight performed on a set of small handbells with great accuracy. Our thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Walker, M.A.) and the local men for their welcome. They told us there was seldom an accident in the narrow streets of the town with their narrow side-walks, but coach drivers in this district must be cautious; with steep roads and a heavy stone wall on each side, there is no room for 'dodging.' Leaving Sedbergh at 8 o'clock, we went to our Kendal beds early, dog tired and warm as toast.

'Those chimes shall peal through distant morrows,
When we no more near praise or blame,
Sooth many a mourner when he sorrows,
Or fan devotion's sacred flame.'

THE LAY OF THE BELL.

A HOMELIKE SUNDAY.

Sunday was quite homelike—practically the same as the ringers' usual day of 'rest,' a quiet, late breakfast—to which they came down in twos and threes—some good touches for morning service at Kendal Parish Church filled up the morning. An afternoon drive over fell and dale to All Saints', Orton, where the Vicar (the Rev. W. King), now absent on holiday, had kindly placed the bells at our disposal. The churchwarden and a few local hands gave us a good reception after we had enjoyed a 'real lunch' at the George Inn. Orton is a quaint, straggling, stone-built old town of great trading importance before roads and rails were in vogue—an ancient bridge for the pack-horse is still to be seen. The church consists of chancel, nave and tower in line. The cool belfry is on the ground floor level. Like most buildings in the place, the fabric is weather-worn externally, being exposed to the winter storms at an elevation of 1,000ft. above sea level. A brass tells us that John Simpson was parish clerk for 49 years, and a stone that John Gibson founded and endowed the free school. Willing hands had raised the bells for us, but we had to fall them and raise the sallies a foot or two before 'Go' and 'That's all' were called.

A valuable group of three interesting old bells are preserved in the north aisle with old stocks—dead—and parts of the original frame. Our Shepherd had one of his easiest tasks to take measurements of their apertures of metal.

The 'Orton Chronicle' says the old quartette of bells at this tower cast 1529 probably came from Nottingham. Bishop Nicholson's visit 1703 records that 'they have four good bells and a block at the tower.' It is probable that soon after the Bishop's visit the tenor was recast by Rudhall, of Gloucester, 1711. Bells Nos. 1 and 3 are dated 1637, but the second is a much older casting, as it bears the same shield as at Grasby, Lincolnshire, dated 1500.

In pre-Reformation times it was the custom to dedicate the tenor to the patron saint of the church, so possibly No. 2 was the tenor of the set of four 1529 bells, as it bears the same title as the church. Most of the population were abroad during our peal listening to it, and our team members were objects of personal interest as we went back to the George, where Miss E. M. Hunter saw to our comfort. Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, supplied the present bells in 1917 with new frame and fittings complete, and they are an excellent peal. It is hoped our first performance on them will urge the home team—as they have promised—to take up method ringing this winter.

A UNIQUE EXPERIENCE.

Departure from our programme was now proposed and led to the bus load (14) going six miles further on to the Parish Church of Shap. Here an enjoyable evening with a good small choir was shared in, and the Vicar (the Rev. Robert Sinker) interviewed afterwards. Permission to ring his small peal of six bells led to a unique experience for the visitors. We raised the bells in peal, rang Stedman and Grandsire Doubles and Rob Minor, the first half-pull ever on these bells, which were supplied by Taylor and Co. in 1864, tenor 8 cwt. Measuring its diameter put our Shepherd in happy mood for the rest of the week. The belfry is very small, the ceiling low; loose stocks and wheels produced a 'wobbly' feeling all the time the bells were swinging, and our hands went up into cup-holes in the ceiling at backstroke. Leaving St. Michael the Archangel, Shap, at 8 p.m., we failed to call at Shap Abbey, now in ruins, its bells at the Reformation being sent anywhere. One of them is supposed to have been taken to Kendal Church, and another to Orton, the second bell there. Kendal history tells of the five bells in the steeple, the three largest formed the earliest ring, of which one at least came from Shap Abbey, bearing date 1631 and weighing 35 cwt. The great bell was recast by Abraham Rudhall, of York, in 1711, having for several years been broken, and in 1717 it was again recast. It again burst in 1774, and, being so unwieldy in size, taking two men to ring it, and not being in tune with the rest, it was broken up and remodelled with other metal in three smaller bells, making a total of eight.

A beautiful drive back to Kendal along the main Carlisle-Lancaster road by Wastdale Beck and High Barrow bridge, about 1,500ft. above sea level, with a run of several miles downhill, and so to bed at 10.30 p.m.

DORCHESTER BRANCH AT HISTORIC MILTON.

Milton Abbey, with its great historic associations, is always a favourite spot with members of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. They flocked thither in large numbers on Saturday week, when a meeting was held, and were joined by many visitors. The meeting was one of the most successful held by the branch, and the large attendance included visitors from France, London, Ireland, Yeovil, Poole, Weston-super-Mare, Essex and Moreton Pinkney. Branch members attended from Bradford Peverell, Bere Regis, Buckland Newton, Charminster, Dorchester, Puddletown, Sydling, Upwey and Wyke Regis, and Guild members from Bournemouth, Christchurch, Hazelbury Bryan, Kington Magna, Lytchett Minster, Wareham and other places. Motor-coaches left Weymouth and Bournemouth and picked up ringers en route. The Weymouth party stopped at Puddletown, where they were met by Mr. W. Hewitt, captain of the local band of ringers, and other stops were made at Athelhampton Hall and Bere Regis. The bells of Milton Abbey were rung from 2.30 p.m., and a large congregation attended the Guild service in the Abbey, conducted by the Rev. D. F. Slameck, R.D. (Vicar of Charminster). The Abbey organist, Mr. S. Sweetapple, presided at the organ, and Guild hymns were sung.

In the course of a deeply interesting address mainly on the church history of old Milton, one of the treasured shrines of the county, the Rector of Upwey (the Rev. A. S. Bryant) dwelt upon the wonderful setting of the old Abbey in nature's most beautiful surroundings. He delved into Saxon history to recount the story of King Athelstan and the vision that came to him, when he slept at Milton, of the victory he would win over Scots and Danes, and how after the battle in 938 he founded the Abbey as an act of thanksgiving. The chapel stands on the spot within the earthworks where the vision came to the King—this and the one at Abbotsbury being dedicated to St. Catherine, who (tradition said) was buried by angels on Mount Sinai. Nothing remains to-day of any buildings of this date. Of the Abbey, Mr. Bryant spoke of the earlier building, which was destroyed by lightning (1309), and then he took up the story of the Abbey as it is known to-day and those who built it and added to it—Abbot William Middleton and Abbot John Bradley (who surrendered the house and estates on the Dissolution), and then John Tregonwell, a King's Proctor—Chief Judge of Admiralty, and one of the Commissioners to receive the surrender of religious houses. Thus did he become possessed (for £1,000) of Milton Abbey and the estate.

The Abbey was preserved intact and used as the Parish Church until 1786, when Lord Dorchester built a new church. In 1752 Milton had been sold to Joseph Damer, who was created Lord Milton in 1753 and Earl Dorchester (1792). In 1852 the estates passed into the hands of the Hambro family. Mr. Bryant told the interesting history of such features of the Abbey as the pulpit (now in Winterborne Whitechurch), the font (now in Milton Abbas Church) and the Twelve Apostles (Hilton Church), but the Gothic canopy now in the south transept, which was originally over the high altar, he pointed out as unique in the whole kingdom. It was a deeply interesting and instructive address, and those who heard it realised that they were standing on historic ground and on the site of a much greater Milton than exists to-day.

After the service, tea was served at the Hambro Arms. Among the visitors present were the Rev. C. A. Phillips, of Bournemouth, the Rev. E. V. Roe (Vicar of Caundle Marsh), the Rev. D. F. Slameck and Miss M. Slameck (Charminster), Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (chairman of the Devizes Branch), Mrs. Heginbotham, Mr. T. J. Setter (Yeovil), Mr. and Mrs. W. Fletcher, Miss D. R. Fletcher, Miss K. E. Fletcher and Miss E. M. Fletcher (Beaconsfield, Bucks), etc.

In the absence of the chairman of the Dorchester Branch (the Rev. E. S. Tarrant), the Rev. A. Bryant presided at a short informal business meeting, at which cordial thanks were expressed to all those who had assisted in connection with the arrangements of the meeting. Thanks were voiced to the Rev. C. J. Ellwood (Vicar of Milton Abbey), who was away on holiday, for placing the Abbey and bells at the disposal of the branch; Canon A. L. Helps (Vicar of Puddletown), the Vicar of Bere Regis and the Rev. H. A. Caryl (Vicar of Hilton) for allowing the use of their bells; the Abbey organist; and Mr. J. North (captain of the local ringers) for the successful arrangements he had made. Thanks were also accorded the Rev. A. S. Bryant for his address, and the Rev. D. F. Slameck for conducting the service.

The secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings) referred to the accident which befell Mr. G. R. Runyard (captain of the Bradford Peverell ringers), who is now in the County Hospital, and mentioned that Mr. Williams, of the West Lulworth band, was still in hospital. The secretary hoped they would soon be restored to normal health.

Thanking the secretary for his work, the Rev. A. S. Bryant remarked that he had 'borne the heat and burden of the day.'

The party afterwards returned to the Abbey, where they were conducted round the gardens and grounds by the head gardener and Mr. North, who were both thanked.

Many of the party afterwards went on to Hilton, where ringing was continued until 9.30 p.m.

A FOUR-HANDED PARTY.

JOINT MEETING AT ENFIELD.

An innovation, in the form of a joint meeting of four associations, was arranged to be held at St. Andrew's, Enfield, during the afternoon of Wednesday, August 23rd, and although the attendance of some 35 ringers and friends did not quite reach the number hoped for, there was still cause for satisfaction. The 'hosts' were the Middlesex Association, the 'guests' the Ladies' Guild and the Essex and Herts Associations.

Ringings commenced soon after 3 o'clock, and at 5 a shortened evensong was held, at which the Rev. J. Frost officiated. A very nice tea was served at the 'A.B.C.' and was much enjoyed, after which Mr. C. T. Coles, on behalf of the Middlesex Association, welcomed the visitors. Acknowledgment was made by Mr. W. H. Lawrence (Herts Association), Mr. E. J. Butler (Essex Association) and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild).

Mr. W. Pickworth (Middlesex Association) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. G. W. Daisley) for the use of the bells, and to the Rev. J. Frost for taking the service. The latter, in replying, expressed pleasure at being present, and regret that the Vicar had been unable to attend.

Mr. Butler thanked Mrs. Fletcher and the Enfield ringers for arranging the meeting, which Mrs. Fletcher hoped would be repeated next year. Welcome visitors to the meeting included Messrs. G. Dent, J. Parker, G. W. Fletcher, G. B. Lucas, G. R. Pye, etc.

After tea a great deal of use was made of the bells, Mr. A. W. Coles taking charge of the ringing, and seeing, in his usual unassuming way, that everybody present had an opportunity of a pull. Several touches of rounds were included for the beginners, whilst Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge and London were popular items. The meeting was brought to a successful close with the ringing of a very good touch of 288 Spliced Surprise in four methods.

FARNHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of St. Andrew's Church, Farnham, had their twelfth annual outing on Saturday, August 19th. With their wives and friends, including Mr. H. Alexander, of Farnborough tower, and Mr. R. J. Hasted, of Hayling Island, they proceeded by motor bus via Godalming, Dorking and Reigate to Godstone, where they arrived at 9.30 a.m., and were met by Mr. Hoare, of the local band. A pleasant hour was spent by the ringers on this nice light peal of eight, whilst an inspection of the beautiful interior of the church was made by the rest of the party.

The journey was then continued by way of Westerham and Riverhead to Sevenoaks. Here the party dispersed to meet again later for lunch, whilst the ringers made their way to St. Nicholas' Church, where there is a grand peal of eight (tenor 21½ cwt.). They were welcomed by Dr. E. L. Taylor and Mr. Ford, of the local band, and the bells were kept going to different methods, in which the local men took part, for about three-quarters of an hour.

A move was then made to the Sennocke Hotel, where lunch had been provided, and to which a party of 36 sat down, including the Rector of Farnham (Canon E. M. Girling) and Mrs. Girling, who had motored from Farnham (52 miles) for this purpose, and Dr. Taylor, who about 20 years ago was in Farnham for several months acting as locum tenens, and used to ring with the then local band, three of whom were present on this occasion.

After justice had been done to the splendid lunch provided, a short time was spent in social intercourse. The journey was then resumed through Farnborough and West Wickham to St. Peter's Church, Croydon, which was reached at 3.15 p.m., the party being welcomed by the veteran Mr. D. Wright and several others of the local band. Here on the splendid ring some of the younger members had their first touch on ten, including Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Royal. On leaving Croydon, the bus was headed via Epsom and Ashted for Leatherhead, and tea was taken at the Institute, after which a visit was paid to the Parish Church, where Mr. G. Marriner was waiting to welcome the party, and an enjoyable hour was spent in ringing on this fine peal of ten (tenor 19 cwt.), some of the local ringers taking a rope to help the younger members in Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal.

On leaving Leatherhead, a start was made for home via Guildford, where a brief stop was made, Farnham being safely reached at 9.45 p.m. The weather was ideal, the scenery through which the company passed on the 110 mile tour was grand, and every one of the party voted it a thoroughly enjoyable day.

The Farnham ringers wish through these columns to thank the incumbents of the different churches for giving them permission to use the bells, and all those who met them and helped to make the outing a successful one. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major and Royal, Double Norwich Major and Cambridge Surprise Major.

PRESENTATION AT HEMINGFORD ABBOTTS.

After evensong, at St. Margaret's Church of the Hemingfords, an interesting presentation took place on the Rectory lawn on Sunday, August 20th. Mr. G. Ransome, a local ringer and late captain, is taking up an appointment at Wisbech, and to mark the occasion he was the recipient of a clock striking the hour and quarters. The Rector, in a few well-chosen remarks, said what a joy it was to ask his wife to make the presentation, but they were also experiencing regret, for they were losing a good churchworker. He (the Rector) wished Mr. Ransome 'good luck' in his new sphere of life.

Among those present were Mr. J. Perkins and Mr. H. Sanders, local ringers, the former approaching 70 years, the latter over 70, also Mr. C. Robinson, with Mr. F. Warrington (district secretary, Central Branch, E.D.A.). A 720 of Plain Bob was rung prior to evensong by: G. L. Perkins 1, C. Robinson 2, H. Sanders 3, G. Ransome 4, F. Warrington (conductor) 5, J. Perkins 6.

SHIPLEY RINGER'S DEATH.

At the Church of St. Paul, Shipley, Yorks, on Thursday, August 17th, in 54 minutes, a quarter-peal (1,382 changes) of Bob Major: G. Titterton 1, J. Briggs 2, T. B. Kendall 3, E. Jenkins 4, T. A. King 5, F. Seager 6, W. Feather 7, H. Stott 8.

Rung with half-muffled clappers as a last tribute of respect to Mr. Herbert Haigh, who died on Sunday, August 13th, in Bradford Royal Infirmary, aged 53 years. He had been a member of the local company for 16 years and a member of the Yorkshire Association for 32 years.

BELL RINGING AS A HOBBY.

Is ringing a selfish hobby? That seems to be the question raised by 'Ringer's Wife,' which has been spiritedly replied to by two ladies who are non-ringers. In a sense, of course, all hobbies can be made selfish. From hunting to chess; from motor racing to cricket; any pastime can be indulged in selfishly if the individual concerned puts his hobby in front of every other consideration. A person, if he or she becomes so engrossed in it that the hobby comes before everything else, can wreck domestic happiness, and 'golf widows' for instance, are said to be frequent victims of men's over-indulgence in that fascinating game—there are 'golf widowers' too. So, also, can bell ringing be made a selfish hobby by the man who puts it always first in his leisure hours, but, as our correspondent so aptly expressed it last week, 'a man should have a hobby, and bell ringing is a clean hobby as well as a very healthy exercise'—and Mrs. Groombridge ought to know, for husband, son and grandson are all ringers.

Bell ringing, however, is more than a hobby; it is one means by which men and women can render service, and when service is rendered, as it is in a great many cases among ringers, without reward, it is placed on a different plane to a mere pastime followed solely for the amusement that is got out of it. Most wives, we believe, would naturally encourage their men to have a useful hobby, and there can be few voluntary occupations which offer such opportunities for service, physical exercise and mental refreshment—and that should be the real purpose of any hobby—as church bell ringing. A wife who would see her husband's spare time usefully and cleanly employed could wish for him no better pursuit than ringing. In any case, the two spells of ringing on Sunday are acts of service which no woman, worthy the name of wife, would wish to prevent her husband giving to the church; the weekly practice she ought to be the first to encourage because every wife ought to desire to see her mate excel in anything he takes in hand, while the occasional Saturday peal is a piece of personal pleasure which no woman worth her salt should wish to deny her partner. 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy' it is said, and the man with a hobby which he exercises in reason makes a more contented husband, which in turn means a happier home. Every sensible wife realises this, and we believe the two ladies who have taken up the cudgels in our columns in support of bell ringing as a hobby for husbands reflect the opinion of the large majority of non-ringing wives; else there would not be so many happily married ringers. As far as recollection serves us,

SURFLEET RINGERS' OUTING.

On Wednesday, August 30th, Surfleet ringers, together with wives or lady friends (one of the latter being very 'boyishly' dressed), set out by bus for Hunstanton. The first stop was at King's Lynn, when two of the band thought it more profitable to sell ice-cream, and were caught in the act by the well-known 'Movies' photographer. Luckily no police were on the scene, as neither of the ringers had a licence.

After staying at Sandringham for a short time and viewing the gardens, they finally reached Hunstanton in time for lunch, where they were joined by the Vicar (Rev. G. H. Clark) and Mrs. Clark.

The majority of the ringers found their way to the bathing pool, and the 'annual' bath was enjoyed very much.

After spending a most enjoyable day by the sea, the party arrived home in good 'spirits' about 11 p.m.

RINGERS' BIG EXCURSION PARTY.

INTERESTING TOUR AMONG EAST ANGLIAN CHURCHES.

A party of nearly fifty enjoyed a pleasant day's outing on Saturday, August 26th, when, in ideal weather, the Loughton and Woodford ringers, who were joined by Mr. W. H. Theobald and Mr. J. Moule, of Leytonstone, toured some of the interesting parts of Essex, Cambridgeshire and Suffolk. The 'right away' was sounded at 8 a.m., and an enjoyable run was made first to Newmarket. As the coaches sped along eager eyes were focused on the towers of Harlow, Sawbridgeworth, Bishop's Stortford, Newport, and Saffron Walden, each in turn claiming favourable comments from those who had had touches on their respective bells. Graceful stepping thoroughbreds, with their trainers in attendance, brought Newmarket very near, and by 10.30 St. Mary's Church was reached.

Mr. O. A. Moody, a member of the local band for forty years, welcomed the party, and later on the Rev. J. Pranker, M.A., joined in the friendly greeting. Touches of Kent Treble Bob and Grandsire Doubles were rung on a mellow-sounding six, tenor 21 cwt. The second and third both date back to 1580, and the treble and fourth to 1619.

The church is in a good state of preservation, much of it having been rebuilt in the middle of the nineteenth century. The tower, built of flint with a dressing of stone, dates back to the early part of the fifteenth century, and is surmounted with a wooden spire. At the south-east corner of the tower is a small open wooden cot, containing bell, erected about two centuries later. Affixed to the north wall is a small purse found about the year 1500 on the piscina. It contained three Rechening Pfoonnigs, or Nuremberg Jettons, bearing the name of Hans Schultz, who is reputed to be one of the first makers of counters. Similar purses were used for the distribution of Maundy money up to the time of Charles II. Stained-glass windows, cleverly executed by Christopher Webb, beautify the interior, whilst the side chapel on the north side has an added adornment in the lovely painting, 'Christ Entering into Jerusalem,' by J. Wood.

A quick run soon brought the party to Bury St. Edmunds, one of Suffolk's most interesting towns. Mr. J. Chinery and the vergier extended a hearty welcome at St. James', the Cathedral Church since 1913. Touches of Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Caters were rung on a fine sounding peal of ten, tenor 30 cwt., which is in keeping with the exquisite Norman tower, a 'moniment of antiquitie,' erected a short distance away from the church. Well may Bury St. Edmunds be proud of such a structure, claimed to be the finest of its type in Europe. It is 88ft. high and 36ft. square, with walls nearly 6ft. thick built with rubble and boulder, and faced with Barnac stone. The church is lofty and spacious, built in the Perpendicular style. The chancel is in the Decorated style.

Dinner was taken at the White Lion, all doing justice to a real Suffolk menu.

Lavenham was the next objective, one that aroused great interest among the ringers, for the picturesque of this one-time cloth exporting town is only excelled by the magnificent Church of SS. Peter and Paul, and the rich sounding peal of bells, one of the finest peals of eight in the land, tenor 23 cwt. A party from St. Martin's-in-the-Fields had just finished their touches when Mr. A. Symonds extended a genial welcome to the newcomers. A bare hour seemed far too short a time to spend in such a tower. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung and well struck. The tenor, cast by Miles Gray in 1625, must be the envy of all bell founders! The tower, built about 1435, is worthy of such a peal. It is majestic, rising to 141ft. No pains were spared to use the best of materials, and Barnac stone and Brandon flint are both in evidence. Strong buttresses give strength and beauty to this crowning glory of an outstanding edifice.

Many took the opportunity of viewing the landscape from its top, a panorama of broad acres. The nave was built a short time after the tower, and was considered by Pugin, the noted English architect, to be the finest piece of late perpendicular work in existence. Rectors have in turn done much to maintain the glories of the interior, but none has rendered greater service than the Rev. G. H. Lennox-Conyngham, who, a few years ago, discovered that the great beams of the roof had been attacked by the death watch beetle and the roof was declared unsafe. The necessary repair work was skilfully carried out by local workmen. Both aisles contain parcloes, built round the tombs of Thomas Spring, and John, seventh Earl of Oxford. Much was done to beautify the church by their descendants. In 'Lavenham Church and Town,' by the Rev. G. H. Lennox-Conyngham, some interesting facts are recorded about Thomas Spring (1456-1523). His character became tainted through dishonest trading in cloth. On his request a general pardon was granted in 1508 by Henry VII.

Great Dunmow was reached via Sudbury, Halstead and Braintree, and a refreshing tea at the Angel and Harp was quickly served.

At the conclusion, Mr. W. Rule and Mr. J. Chalk voiced the thanks of the visitors and ringers respectively to Mr. J. Rann (Loughton) and to Mr. C. Moss (Woodford), the organisers of a very successful outing, and to Sergt. Thorpe for his directing activities throughout the day. Mr. J. Rann and Mr. Moss both suitably replied, and again offered their services and gave a hearty invitation to all present to join in the next function.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DORCHESTER BRANCH TOUR IN FROME VALLEY.

Although 12 days only had elapsed since holding the last meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at Milton Abbey, a very successful gathering was held at Frampton on Thursday of last week, and was well attended by representatives from Bradford Peverell, Charminster, Dorchester, Frampton, Sydling, Stratton, Upwey, Wool and Wyke Regis. Several members met at St. Peter's, Dorchester, at 2 p.m., where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perrons (Coventry) and Messrs. J. and J. P. Keyte (Charlbury, Oxon). They first motored to Charminster (where they were welcomed by the Vicar), and rang a few touches on the six bells. The next call was at Maiden Newton, where some touches of Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob were brought round. Cattistock was the next place of call, and here the carillon of 35 bells was inspected. Afterwards a few touches of Grandsire Triples were brought round on the peal of eight rung for ringing.

The company proceeded to Frampton, where the Guild service was held, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. Wynne), assisted by the Rev. E. S. Tarrant (chairman of the branch). Afterwards tea, kindly provided by the Vicar, was enjoyed in ideal weather on the lawns. Forty-two members were present.

A short business meeting followed, the Rev. E. S. Tarrant presiding. Messrs. F. Gale and B. Fine (Charminster), L. Tiffin and L. Riddick (Frampton), J. Coombs (Wool), B. Miller and R. Willsbire (Wyke Regis) were elected ringing members.

The Hon. Secretary announced this would be the last of the summer meetings, but he hoped to continue with some practice meetings. The annual meeting would be held at St. Peter's, Dorchester.

The Chairman gave a warm welcome to their visitors, and said it was always a pleasure to see them come to Dorset. Messrs. Perrons and Keyte acknowledged the cordial welcome, and said it would be reciprocated if any of the members of the Salisbury Guild visited Coventry or Oxford.

A comprehensive vote of thanks, proposed by the chairman and seconded by the Rev. A. S. Bryant, was passed to all concerned, especial mention being made of the Vicar for his kind hospitality that day and on previous occasions. The Chairman said they had all enjoyed the tour of the Frome Valley and had admired the beautiful grounds of Frampton Vicarage.

This concluded the business, and the party enjoyed a stroll around the landscape gardens. The tower was again visited, and the local band (every member of which turned up) was given special attention, while another party motored to Maiden Newton and Cattistock. The final call was made at Sydling, where ringing concluded at 9.30 p.m.

FAIRFORD RINGERS IN WILTSHIRE.

Fairford ringers had their annual outing on Saturday, August 26th. A start was made at 7.30 a.m., and Calne was reached before scheduled time. Ringing took place on the nice ring of eight at this church, and the conductor met an old friend from the North, who joined in the ringing. The next halt was Chippenham, but here the ringers could not strike these bells so well. At Bradford-on-Avon a call was made at the new church, St. Mary's, where there is a nice light peal of eight (tenor 12 cwt.), quite a ladies' peal. After lunch at the Three Gables (a seventeenth century house), ringing took place at the Parish Church (tenor 32 cwt.). The bells are a lovely toned peal that was much enjoyed. The ringing did not go so well at the next stop, Westbury (tenor 35 cwt.). Perhaps it was the fault of hands getting a little sore. The last ringing of the day was done at Devizes, which was reached at 6.30 p.m. The ringers were soon at home on the peal of eight at St. John's Church, and all the ringing went well. Mr. Hillier and an old Fairford ringer, Mr. G. Winter, were determined to make the visitors welcome and give them a good time, and this they did. After ringing, a supper was arranged at the Elm Tree. The party were also entertained with plenty of handbell ringing, Mr. Hillier ringing the first four bells to 120 Grandsire Doubles. Methods rung through the day were Grandsire and Stedman Trebles and Plain Bob Major. Home was reached at 11.30 p.m. after a most enjoyable day.

Then followed a visit to the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, where Mr. W. H. Smith and Mr. A. Perry extended a warm welcome to all comers. Touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and Kent Treble Bob Major, were rung on a well-sounding eight, tenor 23 cwt. The church, built mainly of flint, with a well-turreted tower, has many striking features. The interior shows that the fabric has been well looked after, and interesting additions made to beautify it. On the south wall there is the original Dunmow Charter, with seal affixed, granted by Philip and Mary, and a translation of it hanging beside it. Above the south porch is a parvis, which was probably used for staging religious plays. It is now used as a library. A very old disused stone font stands near the octagonal one now in use. The lofty west arch is thirteenth century.

The run home was interrupted by a minor coach trouble, but the waiting moments served to recall the many sights and sounds that had been enjoyed throughout a long and well-arranged tour.

All offer their sincere thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and the ringers who greeted the party at the four towers visited.

TOUCHES IN FIVE COUNTIES.

BY BERKSHIRE BWOYS AND GALS.

The ringers of the Municipal Church of St. Laurence in Reading had their annual outing one sunny day not long since, and very enjoyable everything was. They had the company of their Vicar, the Rev. R. H. A. Bullock, and left the biscuit town at 7.30 a.m. A fine run through Basingstoke and Winchester (where they could not ring owing to services) brought them to Hursley, where Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich were brought home. Then Romsey Abbey, with its glorious peal of eight, was much enjoyed both by the archaeologists and campanologists. Christchurch Priory was the next stop, and the fine peal of twelve were manned to a great extent by the 'gentle' sex. Here some good Grandsire and Stedman Cinques were much enjoyed.

Over the Dorset border they then went to ancient Wimborne Minster. Here a disappointment awaited them. The tenor clapper had broken the day previous, but still the bells were in the west tower, so after a dinner, which the children still talk about, they went up and essayed Grandsire Caters, with one of their famous tenormen pulling the chiming hammer up against the sound bow of the tenor. It was not a great success, as he claimed several more snatches than the rest of the ringers had pulls.

Going on to the county where it is said 'a man raked a pond for the moon' ('Nuff zed,' Mr. Editor!), Salisbury City was reached. St. Thomas' bells were, however, a little bit too much for them, but anyhow everyone had a pull (and a good tea), then to St. Martin's, and here Grandsire and Stedman and Plain Bob were rung as all methods should be. St. Edmund's was the last church on the programme, and a very fine peal of eight hang in the tower, but the band who banker for more than a 5,000 there are inclined to be 'greedy.'

A fine run to Newbury and a look in at the Wagon and Horses to see if any old friends were about, and on to Reading, which was reached at 11 p.m., brought another successful day to a close, but it does not bring the writer's literary labours to an end, for on Saturday last (September 2nd) the same 'irresponsible, irrepressible' crew boarded a land ship, licensed to carry 22 passengers, and got off to Uxbridge.

Ringing had been arranged at two Middlesex towers, St. Andrew's, Hillingdon, and St. John's, Hillingdon, and at both the ringing was good—Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich at the first-named, and Grandsire and Stedman and Treble Ten-in at the second. On again to High Wycombe, in Bucks, where the beautiful twelve were soon rolling out Cinques in the Grandsire and Stedman methods. All the 'hungry rabble' were well fed at the generous invitation of Mr. H. W. Smith, one of Reading's veterans, to whom all tendered most hearty thanks. Thanks are also hereby tendered to all old ringing friends who met the party at each tower. R. T. H.

FUTILE PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There are many ways of looking at the question of peal ringing. Not every peal that is rung can be said to have done any good, and not every one can be termed 'futile.' There are many rung which are perfectly justified, and almost necessary to maintain the interest of those struggling on the bottom rungs of the ladder—ringers who, unless they can be kept interested, soon drift from the fold. There are also others rung at strange and outlandish towers, where there are no ringers or only call-change men, and do good if only to create new interest in the parish. In respect of the latter there is considerable room for improvement, and many more such peals might be rung.

On the other hand, there are a number of peals rung which serve little or no purpose beyond satisfying a few selfish bands who are out for peals simply for their own ends, peals such as those rung in the higher methods each week (and often twice or three times a week) by the same bands, bands who have got to the stage when they can ring Cambridge and London practically with their eyes shut. Such peals to my mind are 'futile' in the fullest sense of the word. It should be the ambition of every ringer, when he has reached that standard, to try and bring others up to his own level; but, unfortunately, many of this type of ringers are too apt to be governed by pride, and ring peals only for their own gain or to try and 'go one better' than their fellows.

The example set by Mr. Ernest Morris is one which should, and could, be followed by many others. Only a week ago he helped four struggling learners through their first peal of Grandsire Triples; a few days beforehand he had obliged several higher placed ringers with a pair of handbells through a peal of Stedman Cinques. I have rung peals of Doubles with him, and, some time ago, when I wanted a peal of Caters, he was equally as keen to oblige. And the same courtesy would be forthcoming at such a time that I felt capable of ringing in a peal of Maximus, or another of Minor or Doubles. How many of his standard do we find willing to step from one extreme to the other? The majority usually want the Surprise stuff and nothing else, and pick out the very best of towers to ring their peals in at that!

ANTI-SURPRISE MAJOR.

SURREY ASSOCIATION'S SECRETARY MARRIED.

PRESENTATIONS AT BEDDINGTON.

The marriage took place at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford, on Saturday, of Mr. Charles H. Kippin, of Beddington, and Miss Jessie Melville, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Melville, of Guildford. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the bridesmaid was Miss Millicent Melville (sister of the bride). Mr. E. G. Talbot, a member of Beddington tower, was best man, and the Rev. H. D. Pilcher officiated at the ceremony.

Mr. Kippin is the popular hon. secretary of the Surrey Association, and leader at Beddington tower, where his bride has also been one of the Sunday service band.

The members of St. Mary's company gave the happy couple a canteen of silver-plated cutlery, which was handed to Mr. Kippin by the Rev. Whitcombe (in the unavoidable absence of the Rector) at the usual practice meeting on Thursday of last week. A large number of ringing friends attended, among them members of the committee of the Surrey Association. On behalf of the association Mr. F. E. Darby presented Mr. Kippin with a handsome dinner gong in the shape of a bell. This was of 5in. diameter, fitted with headstock and gudgeons. It is carried on two wrought-iron scroll brackets, mounted on an oval oak base, the oak being between 150 and 200 years old. The bell was suitably inscribed. It was cast and mounted by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Kippin, who are spending their honeymoon in the Isle of Wight, were the recipients of many other presents and numerous messages of congratulation.

RINGING IN THE ROYAL BOROUGH.

A real crowd turned up at Windsor for the August meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, the following counties being well represented: Beds, Berks, Bucks, Herts, Lancs, Lincs, Middlesex, Suffolk, at least one Cockney, and, in addition, the British Legion. Some of the merry wives were also there (to see what father liked so much?). Excalibur was found to be still as keen as ever, too. The numbers for tea were only just right, not one seat being empty. It was fortunate that the last one in was a 'fin' un, though.

The methods rung were like the party, many, but we must mention Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London, as it is no good remembering where you forgot—afterwards.

Grateful thanks are accorded to Mr. T. Smith and Mr. W. Welling for their kind co-operation at their respective churches, also to the Editor for the 'middle page advertisement,' which played its part in the success of the meeting.

WIVES AND RINGING.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am surprised that 'A Ringer's Wife' should object to such a clean and pleasant hobby as ringing for her husband. I consider it the best hobby a man can have, as more receive pleasure than torture from a peal of bells, but perhaps he is expected to stay at home on his half-day to do the washing, scrubbing, etc. As she remarks, he could make himself useful! My husband is also a ringer. I'm proud to be his wife, and whenever he is fortunate enough to be asked to take part in a peal I help him all I can, and wish him luck, and am always as disappointed as he, if he is unsuccessful, as his pleasures are mine also. I always find that the music and charm from a peal of bells brings some mystic, peaceful calm that nothing else conveys.

'ANOTHER RINGER'S WIFE.'WHAT 'THE MISSUS' SAID.

The letters which have appeared in 'The Ringing World' on this subject are interesting and open out a new point of view for opponents of the art.

I have a 'go' sometimes, and on August 26th went for a wedding peal in the afternoon, with the result that 'the missus' had to go down the village by herself to do the shopping. A small boy rushed out of a passage and knocked her down, bruising her knee and smashing her glasses—cost, about five bob for repairs.

'If you had been with me to look after me instead of your old bellringing that would not have happened, so there, and that's that,' was her comment.

I have an invitation for another peal on September 16th, but, 'You are going to stay at home and gather my damsons,' says 'the missus.' So, brother strings, please sympathise with me.

STAFFS RINGER.KNUTSFORD BELLS.To the Editor.*

Sir,—In view of the wonderful performance recently achieved at Knutsford it is most interesting to note that the fifth Lord Torrington, whose diary has recently been discovered, records a visit to Knutsford in the year 1790, and concludes an account of a church service there as follows: 'As for the Sermon, it had the Merit of being Short. The bells are very tuneable, and they practise ringing.'

MUFFLED BELLS FOR DUDLEY'S MAYOR.

On Thursday evening, August 31st, at the Parish Church, Dudley, Worcestershire, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Alderman H. J. Golding (Mayor of Dudley), who was interred at Netherton earlier in the afternoon: Ronald Goodman (longest length in the method) 1, John Goodman, jun. (conductor) 2, George Hughes 3, Gilbert T. Guest 4, Herbert Sheppard 5, Cyril Winwood 6, Henry Goodman 7, George Boughey 8.

On Sunday morning, September 3rd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,260 changes) in 57 minutes, with the bells half-muffled in connection with the memorial service held at Netherton for the late Mayor: Ronald Goodman (first quarter-peal of Caters and first attempt) 1, George Hughes 2, John Goodman, jun. (conductor), 3, Henry Goodman 4, Harry Goodman 5, Herbert Sheppard 6, Benjamin Gough 7, Cyril Winwood 8, Gilbert T. Guest 9, George Boughey 10.

At St. Andrew's Church, Netherton, on Sunday, September 3rd, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (composed by James George) was specially rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute to the memory of Alderman H. J. Golding, late Mayor of Dudley, who, during his lifetime, had held every office from chorister to Vicar's warden at this church, and was greatly respected by all in the borough: H. Hill 1, H. Shuck 2, H. Price 3, S. J. Hughes 4, H. Hubball 5, A. Prestidge, jun., 6, A. Rowley (conductor) 7, J. H. Davies 8.

OLD BURTON RINGERS' REUNION.

On Saturday, August 26th, at the invitation of Mr. W. W. Worthington, a few old Burton ringers again met at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, where a motor coach was waiting to take them on a very nice run to Earl Shilton, Burbage, Hinckley, finishing at Tamworth. Unfortunately, Mr. Worthington was unable to join the party owing to sudden illness in London.

A very convivial evening was spent at Tamworth.

The company, all of whom expressed regret at the enforced absence of their host, and hoped for his speedy recovery, passed a vote of thanks to Mr. Worthington and Mr. Swinfield for arranging such a nice outing, and to all those at the places visited who helped to make the excursion so enjoyable.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A peal ringing tour is in progress this week in the Liverpool district.

The Parish Church bells and ringers' records provide a chapter in a new history of Dartford, written by Mr. Sidney Kilworth Keys. It is a volume of 727 pages, royal 8vo., with 250 illustrations, and is published at a guinea.

In the peal at Lutterworth reported last week the ringer of third was Richard J. Jackson, not Walter Williams as stated. The former took the latter's place at the last minute owing to unforeseen circumstances.

Strange things happen even in ringing affairs. Over fifty years ago William Rigby and Charles Ollier learned to ring together in Cheshire. After a lapse of more than half a century they have now rung their first peal together.

Mr. Alfred H. Winch, a member of the Leatherhead band, was married on Saturday to Miss Edith P. Dilley. Mr. Winch has long been a well-known figure in Surrey and London ringing circles, and his many friends will wish him and his bride long life and happiness.

REV. C. D. P. DAVIES' MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I ask your kind permission to publish the information that, so far, the faculty for augmenting and tuning Tewkesbury bells has not been passed.

We believe that it will be passed some time in September, and due notice will be given of the date that it is proposed to hold the dedication service. Will ringers please note my new address?

'PERSECUTORS OF THE HUMAN RACE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Some time since going into one of the churches in the Thames Valley (Twickenham, I think), where the tower is used as a porch, I saw pinned up a paper whereon was written, 'Ne pas touchez ces cordes, s'il vous plait.' I wondered whether it was an appeal from a Continental gentleman to the ringers for mercy; and it reminded me of some very old lines I heard long ago:—

Persécuteurs du genre humain,
Qui sonnez sans miséricorde,
Que n'avez-vous au cou la corde
Que vous tenez en votre main.

INCONNU.

PINNER BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Hibbert's letter in 'The Ringing World' is of that unfortunate type which would alienate the sympathy of non-ringers from bells and ringing.

Whatever the explanation of Mr. Plummer's mistake in the present case, his reputation as a capable musician needs no defence against Mr. Hibbert's discourteous insinuations, but it is only fair to point out, in addition, that Mr. Plummer is keenly interested in bells and ringing, and that in the hands of 'this sort of people' the art would be safe against all attempts to discontinue or curtail ringing.

I feel compelled to write this as I have better knowledge of Mr. Plummer's 'ear' and musical abilities than Mr. Hibbert, and can personally testify to his love of bells, having been a choirman and bellringer at St. Giles-in-the-Fields for some 12 years. Other members of our band to whom I have spoken have expressed a wish to be associated with me in regard to this letter.

Kensal Rise. ALFRED HOWKINS.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the West Tyne Division was held at Newton Hall on August 26th, when about 20 members attended from Newcastle, Newton, Whickham, Chester-le-Street, Benfieldside, and Blaydon. Several touches were rung on the fine peal of six before tea, which was served in the picturesque village inn.

The President, Mr. J. Anderson, submitted the loyal toast, and Mr. W. Storey, in a neat speech, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells.

Mr. R. W. Leighton was re-elected district secretary.

Handbell ringing was indulged in before returning to the tower, where the following methods were rung: Cambridge, London, Double Court, Oxford and Plain Bob.

A FIRST ACHIEVEMENT.

At St. Guthbert's Church, Kirkby-in-Furness, on August 29th, 720 Bob Minor: W. Campbell 1, R. Marr 2, M. Stables 3, N. Campbell 4, J. A. Briggs (conductor) 5, H. Casson 6. This is the first 720 by a local band at this church. The achievement is the result of eighteen months' hard work. Practices have been held weekly, sometimes as many as three in a week. All the ringers are keen and eager to tackle fresh methods, and are very proud of this first successful effort.

WHERE ENERGY GOES. FORCES THE RINGER HAS TO OVERCOME.

To the Editor.

Sir,—You rightly say in your leading article, in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' that frictional resistance is only one factor contributing to the amount of work which a ringer must do. The various factors are as follows:—

1. Friction of gudgeons. I mentioned in my article a figure for the work to be done in the case of a 12 cwt. bell in plain bearings. To obtain an approximate figure for bells of other weights, the gudgeon diameter must be taken into account. Thus if the work to be done for a bell of 12 cwt. and $1\frac{1}{8}$ inch diameter gudgeons is 2 foot pounds, the work required for a 30 cwt. bell with $1\frac{5}{8}$ inch gudgeons would be $2 \times \frac{30}{12} \times \frac{1\frac{5}{8}}{1\frac{1}{8}} \times \frac{1\frac{5}{8}}{1\frac{1}{8}} = 7.2$ foot pounds.

2. Resistance of the air to the revolution of the bell. This could be determined by experiment.

3. Sound. A certain amount of work is used up in distorting the bell by means of the clapper blow, causing it to vibrate and send out sound waves. This could also be determined approximately by experiment.

4. Distortion of the frame and movement of the tower. If the frame be not loose and the tower be normal, they can be treated as elastic structures, whose deflection is proportional to the force applied. The forces are known, and if the deflections can be measured the work done in causing the deflection = $\frac{1}{2} P x$ where P is the maximum force applied and x is the maximum deflection. Should the frame or fittings be loose, impulsive forces are set up, whose magnitude cannot be calculated, and the work required could only be ascertained by experiment after all the other factors are known.

5. Friction of clapper, roller, etc. There are a number of items so small that normally they can be neglected.

6. Changing the time of revolution.

(a) In rounds, the only change in the time of revolution is that required for the open lead, which is to some extent automatically provided for by the fall of the rope as between backstroke and handstroke.

(b) In changes, there is the further alteration required to move the bell from one place to another by restricting or extending its swing. In both these cases the work required can be calculated for any particular bell at any predetermined rate of striking.

To the further consideration of these various factors I should like to return in the course of a few months if it is of sufficient general interest to your readers.

EDWIN H. LEWIS.

A HOT JOB.

It is seldom that we read of a peal being rung in record time on bad going bells, yet such was the case in the peal rung at Llan-garron, Herefordshire, on Sunday, September 3rd. The bells are a peal by Rudhall, 1733, and being long waisted and loose on the headstocks had to be rung under 'set.' The weather being ideal for sun-bathing, it was a man's job to ring either bell, especially the third, but the ringers, having met specially to ring a bi-centenary peal, and some having travelled many miles, were determined to see it through. The peal took 2 hours 35 mins.

A RECTOR'S DEPARTURE.

After evening service on Sunday, September 3rd, at St. Giles' Parish Church, Newcastle, Staffs, 504 Grandsire Triples was rung as a farewell to the Rector, Rev. L. J. Baggott (who is leaving to take up new duties at Clifton, Bristol), and to show the ringers' esteem for him: G. Holbrook 1, A. Vaughan 2, *F. Foster 3, D. Steel 4, *A. Thompson 5, H. Vaughan 6, C. Page 7, J. Weatherhill 8. * First 504 in the method. The same ringers also rang 504 of Stedman Triples on Friday, September 1st, both touches being conducted by G. Page.

DEVON GUILD'S NEW PRESIDENT.

REV. E. V. COX SUCCEEDS REV. E. S. POWELL.

The Devon Guild held a special meeting in Exeter on Saturday last to receive the resignation of the president, Rev. E. S. Powell, who is leaving the diocese, and to elect his successor. In definitely resigning his position, Mr. Powell expressed his deep regret at having to leave Devonshire after 30 years' residence, and the Guild of Ringers, after holding office first as secretary and later as president for a period of 20 years.

The Rev. E. V. Cox was nominated and unanimously elected to the office in succession to Rev. E. S. Powell, there being no other nomination.

In returning thanks, Mr. Cox said he accepted office with some trepidation, as he felt he had a difficult task in maintaining the prestige upheld by his predecessors, Col. Troyte, Rev. Maitland Kelly and the retiring president. He would, however, promise to do his best to promote the culture of change ringing, which he thought was now the main object of the Guild's existence. He appealed to branch secretaries to advertise their meetings in 'The Ringing World' to enable him to attend as many of these as he possibly could.

The Rev. E. V. Cox has held office previously as secretary and treasurer of the North-East Branch of the Guild for two years from its formation in 1920, and acted as general secretary of the Guild during its jubilee year, 1924. He has been instrumental in effecting bell restorations and training young bands at Bampton (Devon), Littleham-cum-Exmouth, and at Brampton Speke, near Exeter, his present incumbency.

A DUNSTER JUBILEE.

BELFRY FINES FOR RINGERS' SICK FUND.

The Dunster 'Free Press' last week quoted the following from its issue of September 1st, 1883:—

'Dunster Guild of Change Ringers performed "a feat believed to be unsurpassed in the county of Somerset" when they rang at the parish church 5,040 changes in the Grandsire method in 3 hours and 8 minutes on the eight bells. The ringers were: J. Field, treble; W. Thorne, 2nd; J. Graham, 3rd; W. Thrush, 4th; C. B. Craze, 5th; R. Hole, 6th; Rev. J. U. Todd, 7th; J. Field, conductor; J. Payne, tenor.'

Only Mr. W. Thorne of this band survives. He now lives at Ockham, Surrey, but being on holiday in his native place he was able to take part in celebrating the jubilee. Unfortunately, Mr. Thorne has been in ill-health for some time, and a peal attempt was out of the question for him. With the local ringers, however, he took part in a 350 Grandsire Triples to commemorate the event, and afterwards touches were rung with ringers from Carhampton and Minehead, and Mr. Collett, of Oxford.

In connection with this jubilee a commentator in the Dunster 'Free Press' recalls that the peal rung by the Dunster Guild fifty years ago was 'a long time before the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers was formed, but they used to have Ringers' Guilds in those days. One of the earliest of the local guilds, I believe, was at Porlock. It was in existence nearly sixty years ago, and, what is rather interesting about them, they formed a post-office savings bank fund with a view to giving assistance to any member who should be sick or out of employment at any time.' 'This benevolent fund,' he adds, 'was embodied in rhymed belfry articles which hung, and still hang, I believe, in Milverton Church tower. It is laid down therein that anyone who chances to curse or swear must pay sixpence to the poor.'

And whosoever a noise does make,
Or comes his glass to fill,
Must sixpence to the ringers take,
To help when they are ill.
If any overthrow a bell,
As that by chance he may,
Because he minds not ringing well,
He must this sixpence pay.
Or if a man of noble mind
Comes here to ring a bell,
He must a fee of shilling find
To keep us when unwell.
Since fines for sickness we intend
Kind friends, thine aid impart;
'Twill much an invalid befriend
And cheer the ringer's heart.'

WESTMORLAND AND CUMBERLAND. INCIDENTS OF THE NORTHERN TOUR.

BY W. H. F.

'And thou, grey, friendly, sturdy Norman tower,
That changelessly looks down on night and day,
Art thou rejoiced to have thy sons once more
And feel them shake thy stones in noisy play.'

J. A. SINKINSON.

Monday was 'bussing' day—a beautiful drive through the heart of lakeland, with ten-shilling railway tickets in our pockets; from Kendal to Windermere and Ambleside, and on again to Keswick and Crosthwaite, in the early morning sunshine. Passing alongside Windermere, the smooth surface of the lake reflected the distant woods and hills like a vast mirror. Why go to Italy to see Lake Como, when similar grandeur may be seen in Westmorland; or, again, to Lake Constance whilst Derwent Water remains in Cumbria? During our day's journey we had numerous company everywhere, excepting in church; it was the week of holidays for Lancashire and Yorkshire people. We hope they enjoyed the bells as much as we did during our stay.

Ambleside Church, like that of Kendal, is on the outskirts of the town, and hence such ready consent to our peals in the middle of the busy holiday season. It is a modern building in grey, hard, local stone, has a massive tower and lofty spire adjoining the chancel, and to other church restoration work, and, like the dog and his bone, the offer was lost.

AN S.O.S.

Dedicated to St. Kentigern, the church at Crosthwaite is a pleasant 1½ mile walk out from Keswick, and the graveyard is crowded with fir trees and shrubs, almost hiding the building—a pretty and poetical situation. The belfry on the ground floor and level with nave was cool with the trees outside shading the open west window. Here Mr. T. Hogarth had kindly made arrangements for us, and his deputy raised the bells ready. They are a light going, easy and musical octave, the old six cast by Warner and Sons, London, but since increased and rehung in 1925 by Taylor and Co., who say the tenor is 13 cwt. During our round of the churches on leaving the belfry we always found a pair of 'Doves' nestling in one of the pews, whose smiling faces spelt 'another peal' for the tourists. Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Albert had no blisters to show, although the teapots were very hot and very heavy, and the tea cups numerous on this tour.

There is a little story of one of the ladies which I ought to give for the benefit of the members of the Ladies' Guild. During the Bradford tour last year the whole band were kept waiting outside a certain church until evensong had concluded. When the clergyman left, out came the 'Dove,' a 'congregation' of one. The Vicar thought she was a parishioner, the team thought otherwise; however, an excellent peal was scored, and the conductor never said a cross word to his partner.

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH, WORKINGTON.

planned on similar lines to that of All Saints' Church, Ryde, I.O.W. Its bells, by Taylor and Co., are similar in heavy tone, weight and hanging. Ryde tenor is 27 cwt., Ambleside is nearly 34 cwt., and was cast in 1901. We were received by Mr. W. Robinson, one of the local stalwarts, who has done a good deal of spade work in the district for many years, beginning with the Kendal ringers, when Ambleside only had six bells (by Mears and Co., tenor 8 cwt., cast 1850-60) for their new church. Mr. Robinson's peals totalled 99, the same as his pupil, Mr. Jennings, who had taken half the time to overtake his tutor. The peal of Double Norwich Major was brought home in fine style, with our 'lightweight' (9st. 12lb.) on the tenor, turning it in in masterly fashion to secure a well deserved county record. Local men came to congratulate our backenders, one of whom should have been Mr. H. Chapman, of Keystone Burgundy history.

There was too brief an interval for lunch in the High Street, purchasing souvenirs, etc., before taking the express coach onward. Grasmere water and the church, beloved by Wordsworth, were passed, Helvellyn on one side and Langdale Pikes on the other, speeding over the mountainous roads amidst surroundings resembling scenery in North Wales. Grasmere Church, dedicated to St. Oswald, has three bells, rehung by Taylor in 1925 (tenor 13 cwt.), the treble being added in 1809 to two old bells of 1731 cast by E. Sellar, Ebor. These bear shields with the arms of the Fleming family, of Rydal Hall. It is said a prominent resident wished to place a new ring of six bells in the tower as a memorial to the poet. Unfortunately the church authorities thought the new bells would be too much of an innovation, but some people say they were anxious to turn the gift

Owing to the absentees, our 'hands' were too few, so an S.O.S. was sent out for Mr. James George, of Birmingham, and we had the good news that he was on the way, stranded with holiday traffic at Carnforth for the night, and would arrive in the morning in time for our 'next.' We duly reached Cockermouth about 10 o'clock, where, sad to relate, the Shepherd lost his 'flock' owing to the name of the 'pen' being wrongly given. Two temperance hotels here adjoin. The flock strayed to the Grassmoor, where they grazed in plenty, and the Shepherd to the Derwent. Someone politely said it was done purposely to avoid the Bucks 'mouth organ.'

TWO FIRES RECALLED.

'Forty-eight years, strange to tell,
He bore the bier and tolled the bell,
And faithfully discharged his trust,
In "earth to earth" and "dust to dust."'

Epitaph on John Broadbent, of Saddleworth.

Camden, the Elizabethan topographer, visited Cockermouth (c. 1590), and mentions in his 'Britannia' that the castle stood on one hill and the church on another opposite to it. He noticed the arms on the gateway of the castle, which was then partly ruinous. The castle suffered further damage in 1648, when it was held for King Charles, but taken and burnt by the Parliamentarians. The original parochial Chapel of All Saints may then be presumed to have been a Norman and Early English structure, first built by Waltheof, about the same time as the castle, and much enlarged, if not rebuilt, by William de Fortibus soon after 1215. The tower of this church actually remained standing until 1850, when it was destroyed by fire with the entire church. Although the town policeman gave alarm at once, when at 1.30 a.m. he saw smoke and sparks issuing from the church, the fire gained rapid control and almost everything was destroyed, excepting the bare walls. The old ring of six bells, clock chimes, organ, pulpit, seats, fittings, and the galleries were all consumed. The foundations of the present church were laid in 1852, and the consecration ceremony performed by Lord Bishop of Chester in 1854.

It is a cruciform building in the Early English style by Mr. Joseph Clarke, of London, and the plan comprises chancel, nave with north and south aisles, north and south transepts, central tower with spire, north and south porches and vestry. The total length of the building is 122ft. (nave alone 70ft. by 60ft. high), and the topmost point of the spire is 180ft. from the ground. The bells are from Whitechapel, cast in 1856 by Mears and Stainbank, tenor 13 cwt., and played by a carillon every three hours. The east window of the chancel was erected by national subscription in 1853 to the memory of William Wordsworth, born 1770, a native of the town, the particulars being recorded on a brass plate on the tower pier facing the chancel. The ancient communion plate was preserved from the fire, the oldest piece, dated 1639, having been presented by Luke Pirry. In the year 1930 Canon Pankar's jubilee was observed with special thanksgiving services, presided over by the Bishop of Carlisle, and some 350 subscribers raised the sum of nearly £1,500 to benefit the living. Every winter one of the bells is rung at seven o'clock for five minutes, and a legend is attached to this 'evening bell,' as it is called, according to which a person who was benighted on the fells was guided to safety by the sound of All Saints' bells.

Mr. W. T. Holmes, local captain and hon. secretary of the Cumberland County Association, kindly met us. He is another of those 'stalwarts' who keep on pegging away at the ropes, and has conducted peals of Kent Major in several of the neighbouring towers. Our peal of Superlative here was begun at 9.30 a.m., but this attempt only lasted half an hour. At the second venture a good peal resulted. Rounds came up at 1.12, and the train onward was due out at 2.12. Fortunately I was on the 'reserve list,' and the lunch was expedited, bags sent to station, accounts paid up, and the train caught.

TWIN PEALS FROM WHITECHAPEL.

The train was half-hour late in arriving at Workington, but the usual 'stalwart' was found faithful to his trust when we arrived at St. Michael's Church, where our three attempts at Double Norwich Major were unavailing—something went wrong with the fittings of the third bell.

On Monday, January 17th, 1887, the church was destroyed by fire, and it was rebuilt and opened on April 24th, 1890. There was a nice ring of six in 1775, tenor 11 cwt. 3 qr. 3 lb., by T. Mears, recast in 1810, the total weight being 45 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb. at the time of destruction. The older church, on the same site, was built in 1770. A few years later—Sunday, September 14th, 1775—the sailing boat, 'Olive Branch,' Captain Powe in charge, was anchored in the harbour. The captain was a well-known London merchant, and had arrived with a load of church bells, the peal for Workington and another for Cocker mouth (so the story goes), after an eventful journey round England from the East of London. I think it should be Keswick and Workington, for both peals were founded in the same year by the same firm, with the tenors of same weight. The Rev. W. T. Addison held the living at Workington from 1753 to 1792, and in December, 1792, advertised the old bells for sale. They were described as being 'sound and suitable for a country church or chapel.' The list of Vicars begins in 1150. Pieces of masonry have been saved from the old church, and the stair door and base of the tower shows sections of late Norman work. For a modern building I have never seen one where the parapet walls were so marked by crenulations—on the tower, nave, chancel and aisles.

Our lost peal gave the party a certain amount of spare time. The train to Whitehaven was due away at six instead of eight o'clock, so the whole crowd 'bumped' the scales on Workington Station platform. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, 12.5 and 12.4; Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, 12.7 and 12.11 respectively—a grand total weight of 50 stone at a penny a mile! Oh, dear! what about my next Midland dividend? The line on to Whitehaven, our next centre, runs beside the coast, and we had good views of the Irish Sea sparkling in the sunshine like gold.

RINGER'S DAUGHTER MARRIED IN SUDAN.

The marriage took place at All Saints' Cathedral, Khartum, Sudan, on August 27th, of Mr. Frank Crowther, M.Sc., A.R.C.S., D.I.C., of Gezira Research Station, Wad Medani, Sudan (younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crowther, of Poplars Farm, Harpenden, Herts.), and Miss Beryl Edith Bond, B.A., of the Church Missionary Society, elder daughter of Mr. F. W. Bond, and the late Mrs. Bond, of Cirencester.

Mr. Bond is one of the ringers at Cirencester Parish Church, and in honour of the wedding a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Cirencester before evensong on Sunday, August 27th: F. W. Bond 1, H. L. Cooke 2, J. C. Eden 3, J. J. Jefferies (Worcester) 4, H. C. Bond 5, F. J. Lewis (conductor) 6, H. S. Parsons 7, F. J. Lewis, jun., 8.

SUNDAY PEAL RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Apropos the letter from 'Observer' in 'The Ringing World' of August 25th, raising the ethics of Sunday peal ringing, and, presumably, intended as a protest against a peal in which I took part at Orton on the 8th ult., may I be permitted to state that 'Observer's' contention re breaking the spirit of the Lord's Day by ringing a peal raises very wide issues in which I for one must agree to differ. I do not propose to trespass on your valuable space to any undue extent, or to enter into a lengthy discussion upon the religious aspect of the subject, but I should like to emphasise the point that in many cases the importance of a peal of bells in connection with church life and work is grossly misunderstood. Personally, I feel that they are as much a part of the church as the organ, and I would suggest that there is no fundamental difference between a band of ringers giving a peal or the organist rendering a Sunday recital.

Each is a component and necessary part of church life, and each has the furtherance of religious observance as their ultimate aim, and it seems rather unkind on the part of 'Observer' to infer that I and my distinguished colleagues, with whom I had the honour of ringing on the occasion referred to, should be lacking in a sense of what was fitting on the Sabbath Day. In addition, he makes the very absurd statement that we were 'peal ringing and tower grabbing mad,' surely an unfortunate choice of words, without any knowledge of the facts or local circumstances applying to the case. May I make it quite clear that I arranged the various towers for the tour, and that I was personally responsible for the Sunday peal.

Orton, where the peal took place, is an isolated hamlet in Westmorland, situated in the midst of the Shap and Ravenstonedale fells, with its parishioners very widely scattered. The church possesses a fine peal of eight bells, and I need not stress the point that in a parish of this description the predominant part of the male population are farm labourers, who frequently change their places every six months, and where the formation of a band of ringers is something of a problem for ordinary church services, and where facilities for peal ringing are unknown. I had on several occasions had it suggested to me by people in the parish that they would welcome the opportunity of hearing their bells rung as a peal, prompted, perhaps, by the following beautiful lines of Charles Lamb:—

'The cheerful Sabbath bells, wherever heard,
Strike pleasant on the sense, most like the voice
Of one, who from the far-off hills proclaims Tidings of good to Zion: chiefly when
Their piercing tones fall sudden on the ear
Of the contemplant, solitary man,
Whom thoughts abstruse or high have chanced to lure Forth from the walks of men, revolving oft
And oft again, hard matter, which eludes
And baffles his pursuit—thought—sick and tired
Of controversy, where no end appears,
No clue to his research, the lonely man
Half wishes for society again,
Him, thus engaged, the Sabbath bells salute.
Sudden! his heart awakes, his ears drink in
The cheering music; his relenting soul
Yearns after all the joys of social life,
And softens with the love of human kind.'

However, when I arranged the towers for the tour I thought it would be an excellent opportunity of letting people in this isolated place have an opportunity of hearing accomplished exponents of the Exercise at work on their bells, and I can assure 'Observer' that it was very much appreciated by the people in these parts. There was no question of tower grabbing, nor the fact of adding a further peal for record purposes, for the majority of us would have preferred a quiet day among the Lakes. It was just a question of my friends obliging a request made to me repeatedly, and as it happened Sunday was the only available day.

There is much more that could be said, but I have already taken up too much space, but I would assure 'Observer' that his arguments have no foundation; in fact, further, that his aspersions would have carried more point, had they not appeared under the guise of a non-de-plume.

SILCHESTER SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was interested to find the Rev. E. B. James was in possession of compositions of peals, tenors together, in the above method. As there are only 21 true courses, tenors together, I should be pleased if Mr. James would publish one composition wherein the method was strictly adhered to, viz., every working bell ringing every portion of the course of the method.

I heartily agree it will tax the ingenuity of the best brains to produce peals, tenors together, in this method.

A NEWCASTLE WEDDING.

HANDBELLS RUNG WHILE CAKE IS CUT.

Miss Sybil Routledge, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Routledge, of Jesmond Road, Newcastle, was married to the Rev. Francis Hedley, M.A., Vicar of Gosforth, on Saturday, September 2nd, at St. Nicholas' Cathedral, Newcastle, where Mr. Hedley was formerly curate.

The fully choral service was conducted by Canon Hedley, father of the bridegroom, and Holy Communion was administered by Canon Bateman Champain, Vicar of Newcastle.

Mr. Routledge is Ringing Master of the Cathedral Guild, and while the bridal procession was leaving the church members of the Guild rang a touch of Erin Cinques.

At the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Routledge, the ringers afterwards attended the reception, held in the Assembly Rooms, and the guests displayed great interest in a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells, which was rung as the bride cut the wedding cake.

In the evening an attempt for a peal of Cambridge on the Dixon eight at the Cathedral unfortunately came to grief after over an hour's very good ringing. The ringers were: A. Deas 1, J. Anderson 2, R. Park 3, R. A. Gofton, jun., 4, W. H. Barber 5, T. H. Reeves 6, W. N. Park 7, W. J. Davidson 8.

PREJUDICE IN HIGH PLACES.

The vast improvements which have been effected in the bell industry during the last quarter of a century have given us incomparably better bells and made ringing much more of a pleasure and less of a labour than it used to be. These changes have been due to the initiative of the bell founders and the advance of scientific knowledge. In most cases, happily, those who seek to restore their bells are ready to take full advantage of the results which have come from the specialised work of those whose chief concern it is to offer the best in this department of church equipment. There are still, however, instances in which prejudices are brought to bear and, although these are sometimes overcome, they have their influence in retarding the wheels of progress. The opposition of a type of antiquarian, whose love of things and methods ancient overrides appreciation of the demands of modern efficiency, still persists in places.

The notion that old and tuneless bells and aged and decrepit frames, that have outlived their usefulness, are to be preferred because they were made two hundred or more years ago, ignores the purpose for which bells are placed in church towers. They were put there originally to be rung, and the purpose of their existence is, or should be, more important than the existence itself, because the bells would not have come into being but for the purpose behind their creation. If the purpose of the bells is that they should be rung to call the people to worship, it follows that they should be kept in the best possible condition to fulfil that object. When they have passed that stage they should be superseded. Preserve them as antiquarian relics by all means, if it is so desired, but not in the bell chamber. Do not let them remain in service in the church, where, we are so often told, nothing but the best is worthy to find a place. The same thing applies to bell frames—only more so. While some bells lacking in harmony may be tolerated while they are sound, there is, in our opinion, no ground for retaining a ramshackle frame which is beyond effective repair; and yet there are some people who would rather the bells remain practically silent than scrap a timber frame which had come to us down the ages. It is not even as if such a relic of the past could become an object of permanent interest, calling for frequent inspection, with suitable veneration, by antiquarians. No one but the sexton, and he only at rapidly widening intervals, would ever see it under such circumstances.

Whatever the bells, the bell frame and fittings should be of the most efficient type, and yet, such is the prejudice in some quarters, that an eminent ecclesiastical architect, not so long ago, advocated, before a diocesan advisory board, the provision of oak frames—in preference to metal—even if, for the first year or two, until the shrinkage and other distortions of the timber had finished, the ringers had hard work to ring the bells! It is simply amazing that such a proposal should come from one who occupies an eminent position in his profession; but it doubtless carried great weight with the responsible authority which he was addressing. It was not the only amazing statement which he made on that occasion; but it illustrates the prejudice which has still to be overcome in certain high places when the question of bell restoration is under consideration.

ANOTHER SURFLEET WEEK-END.

THE FIRST SURPRISE PEAL AT BOSTON STUMP.

The well-known Lincolnshire 'Rest Home for Ringers' was far from being a place of rest during a recent week-end, when 'Rupert the Great' invited a few ringing friends from London to spend a short holiday (?) there. Some travelled by road and some by rail, and all were punctual so as to have time to do justice to the good fare provided by Mrs. Rupert before a rush was made for Boston, to climb the Stump. That climb was enough to 'enlighten' even the most enthusiastic ringer, and to cause another glut of anonymous letters to 'The Ringing World' with all sorts of reasons (except the real one) why peal ringing should be abolished.

Boston bells are now a glorious ring of ten, with a tenor of 21 cwt., and listening to them one soon forgot the 185 steps that had to be negotiated before the belfry was reached. In a little over 3½ hours the first Surprise peal on the bells was completed, and the Master of the Lincoln Guild received many congratulations on having got back to peal ringing again, after an illness that might easily have meant him giving it up altogether. The best thanks of the ringers are due to Messrs. Dewey and Clarke, of the Boston band, for having everything ready for this peal.

Boston Stump, which is more than 270 feet high.

The tower was built in the perpendicular period, the two turrets, which had formerly flanked the west front, being retained as stair turrets, and the west window altered to form an arch opening into the new tower. In the same period the chancel was lengthened by the addition of two bays, and finally the whole structure was crowned by the erection of the beautiful octagonal lantern on the top of the square tower, about the year 1450, so that the whole edifice, which was begun in 1309, took about 150 years to build. The tower rises in stately grandeur to a height of 272½ feet, and stands in the front rank of examples of gothic art. It is divided into four storeys, the bells hanging in the third, with the ringing chamber immediately beneath and over the groined ceiling, which is 156 feet above the floor. The interior of the church gives a remarkable sense of vastness, with its exceptionally wide aisles and the twelve slender and widely-spaced pillars which support the roof. In the chancel are 64 ancient stalls, which, with the miserere seats, carved with many quaint designs, date from about 1390, and form the second largest and one of the most interesting collections in the kingdom.

Sunday was a 'quiet' day, ringing at Surfleet morning and evening, handbells in the afternoon, and the rest of the time spent in dodging the movie camera fiend. Woe betide the unsuspecting individual visiting Surfleet who makes himself too comfortable in a deck chair. His afternoon slumbers quickly become an object for the amusement of the wakeful ones, who crowd round to see the fun. And on the next visit he sees himself on the screen, as others saw him in real life! One member of the party, after seeing himself having a quiet siesta, vowed that he would never go to sleep in a Surfleet deck chair again. One can only be thankful that Rupert has not invested in a 'talkie.'

Monday morning was chosen for an attempt for Stedman Cinques at Surfleet. Improvements in the acoustics of the bell chamber since the opening day have greatly helped, and the little bells are now heard almost perfectly. A composition with 19 courses each way was successfully brought round, little Johnny Gilbert, of Handsworth, Sheffield, who rang the eighth, receiving congratulations for the able manner in which he rang his bell to his first peal of Cinques. He is only 15 years of age.

The real hard work was left for Monday afternoon, when a peal of London Surprise Major was rung at Hulbeach. Here the ringing is done from the ground floor, with a very long length of rope, making ringing far from easy. The band was, however, congratulated on ringing a very good peal, and the ringers were quite satisfied at having done their best. It was a matter for deep regret that the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' who was to have been in these peals, was prevented from being with the party owing to a recent illness. One member of the band was particularly disappointed, he having made up his mind to renew the discussions on Spliced Doubles and Minor, in relation to recent editorial pronouncements in that paper. The disappointed one made two or three attempts to start a discussion with other members of the party, but nobody was interested.

Before departing for London on Monday night, the sincerest thanks of the party were given to Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson, especially to the latter, whose unsparing efforts to make her guests comfortable was much appreciated.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Grimsby District was held at Waltham on Saturday, September 9th. The glorious weather brought members from the extreme ends of the district. Towers represented were Barrow-on-Humber, Bigby, Burlton-on-Stather, Grimsby St. James', Louth, Scunthorpe, Ulceby, Elsham, Killingholme, Thornton Curtis, Marsh-chapel, unattached members and the local band, also the Rev. G. H. Legge, of Killingholme, and Mr. F. Dexter, of Leicester. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, ranging from rounds to London. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. G. H. Holme). Mr. G. W. Moody presided at the organ.

After service members adjourned to the Church Hall for tea. The president (the Rev. Canon H. T. Parry) presided at the business meeting, supported by the Rector. The minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted. Mr. Brown proposed the election of G. B. Croft, of Waltham, seconded by Mr. Willows and carried. The collection for the district bell fund amounted to 11s. Owing to the date of the Caistor meeting being unsuitable, it was decided to hold it on Saturday, September 23rd, instead of the 30th as previously arranged.

The President proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for conducting and for the use of the bells and for the welcome which he always extended to them; and also congratulated him on the celebration of his jubilee in the ministry, saying that 50 years was a long time to look back on. He wished him good health in the years to come and hoped we should meet him at Waltham for many years to come. There is evidence of his active work stacked up in the form of concrete blocks for the foundation of a new church at New Waltham, which is part of the growing parish. He has already made twelve hundred of them with very little help. The resolution was seconded and carried with applause. The Rector suitably responded. Mr. M. Walker proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the caterer and organist and those who had helped with the arrangements. This brought a very pleasant meeting to a close, after which handbells were brought out and others returned to the tower again.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NEW SECRETARY FOR ASHFORD DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Ashford District was held at Ashford on Saturday, September 2nd. The tower was opened at 2.30, and service was later by the Rev. Hugh Lance, the association form being used, and a short address and welcome extended to the ringers. Nearly 50 were present at tea in the Parish Room, and at the business meeting which followed. Stone-in-Oxney was selected for the next meeting, the first week in October.

The secretary then read a short report and tendered his resignation. The representatives on the committee, Messrs. C. Tribe and E. Ruck, were re-elected, and Mr. F. Conley was appointed district secretary.

Quarterly meetings were arranged for 1934 as follow: February, Hythe; May, New Romney; July, Tenterden; September, Ashford (annual meeting).

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and the Rev. H. Lance for the bells and service and to the organist for his assistance were passed.

Visiting members were present from Canterbury, Dover, Rainham and Gullford, and were given a hearty welcome.

The collection for the Benevolent Fund realised £1 0s. 6d. Further ringing closed a very successful meeting about 8.30 p.m.

ACLE BELLS AND TOWER RESTORED.

REDEDICATION CEREMONY.

There was a large gathering of parishioners and ringers at Acle, Norfolk, on Wednesday, September 6th, when once again the bells of Acle, which have been silent for some seven years past, are ringing and summoning people to church. Originally they numbered five, but now there are six, the Rector of Acle (the Rev. James E. H. Williams) and his wife having presented the new treble bell. The improved tone of the restored ring of bells with the addition of a new treble bell was much remarked upon.

The Right Rev. Bishop O'Rorke, D.D., Rector of Blakeney, Norfolk, rededicated the restored tower (which is a circular embattled western tower, with octagonal belfry stage) and the bells, and also dedicated the sacring bell and the new clock on the face of the tower. The clock was given to Acle Church some years ago by the late Canon Sutton, who made similar gifts to other churches. The tower at that time, however, was so structurally unsound that the bells had to stop ringing, nor could the clock be affixed until the tower had been restored. The old wooden frames for the bells were eaten by the death-watch beetle to such an extent that they were not safe. Consequently the bells were taken down and sent to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, bellfounders, Croydon, to be cleaned, sand-blasted and carefully tuned. Iron headstocks have been fixed and the gudgeons now work in ball bearings. The bells have been hung in tiers in the new steel frame, which in its turn is suspended from a steel tower which has been erected inside the walls of the old tower by Boulton and Paul, Ltd., Norwich. It is believed to be the only instance in England where a steel tower has been erected in such circumstances. It is about 35ft. high and 10ft. square and braced completely.

The weights of the bells and the inscriptions on them are as follow:

Treble.—E. A.M.D.G. Jacobus. E. H. Williams, Rector. Et Brenda Ejus Uxor. D.D. MCMXXXIII. Agnes Dei, Tua Pace Nos Dona. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. 3 cwt. 3 qr. 26 lb.
2nd.—D. Anno Domini. 1623. 4 cwt. 0 qr. 1 lb.
3rd.—C. Anno Domini. 1623. 3 cwt. 3 qr. 24 lb.
4th.—B. Anno Domini. 1623. 5 cwt. 2 qr. 3 lb.
5th.—A. John Brend made. 1664. 6 cwt. 2 qr. 14 lb.
Tenor.—G. Omnis Sonus Laudet Dominum. 1623. W. Whetsacer. 9 cwt. 1 qr. 19 lb.

Translation on treble bell.—Presented to the greater glory of God by James E. H. Williams, Rector, and Brenda, his wife, 1933. 'O, Lamb of God, grant us Thy peace.'

Translation on tenor bell.—Let everything that hath sound praise the Lord.

At 7.30 in the morning there was celebration of Holy Eucharist. At 2.30 p.m. presentation purses from parishioners and friends were received in the church porch by the Hon. Lady Austruther-Gough-Calthorpe, who is Lady of the Manor of Acle and patroness of the living. Upwards of 200 purses were presented. The restoration of the tower cost £600 and the expenditure in respect of the bells (exclusive of the gift of the treble bell by the Rector and his wife) and clock amounted to £420. A large proportion of the money had previously been raised.

The dedication service began at 3 o'clock. 'All people that on earth do dwell' was sung as a processional hymn. Among the clergy were the Right Rev. Bishop O'Rorke, D.D., the Rector of Acle, the Rev. A. Shillito (Rector of Blofield and Rural Dean) and the Rev. A. Hewitt (Rector of Reedham). Following the procession came the 1st Acle Company of Girl Guides with a number of Brownies in charge of Miss Daniels. The first lesson was read by the Rev. A. Hewitt and the second lesson by the Rev. A. Shillito. During the singing of the hymn, 'Lift up your hearts,' the Bishop, clergy, choir and congregation walked to the south side of the tower. The Rector's warden (Mr. G. N. Knights), with whom was Capt. Hardinge (deputy warden), then requested the Bishop to rededicate the tower and clock 'to the glory of God and the use of this church.' The Bishop having done so and sprinkled water on a metal cross affixed to the tower, the procession then went by the north door to the entrance to the tower, where the Bishop dedicated the bells in these words: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ, we solemnly set apart and dedicate this sacring bell for special use in the service of God's most holy mysteries, and these bells to the glory of God and the use of this church, in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.' Then, delivering the ropes to the Rector, the Bishop charged him 'as a sacred trust committed unto him,' to 'take heed that they be ever and only used in God's service and to His glory.'

After prayers had been said by the Bishop, for a short period rounds were rung by the following ringers: Messrs. W. B. Williams (the Rector's son), ringing the new treble bell given by his parents, George Howchin, Fredk. J. Howchin, William L. Duffield, Fredk. W. Middleton and Edwin R. Goate. During the singing of the hymn, 'O thanks to Thee, our gracious Lord,' the Bishop proceeded to the pulpit, the clergy to the chancel and the congregation to their seats.

In the course of his sermon, Bishop O'Rorke said he thought it would be the wish of the Bishop of Norwich 'that I should tender to you congratulations, as well as on my own behalf, to the Rector of this parish, to the churchwardens, the Parochial Church Council, all workers and worshippers in this church and all faithful parishioners

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN ARKSEY RINGER.

On Tuesday, September 5th, Mr. Henry Trout, a very well-known member of the All Saints' company, passed away after a long illness.

He was a member of both choir and belfry for upwards of 60 years, having rung on the old five which hung in the tower till the late nineties. His was an example which could be well followed, courteous and obliging to a degree, ever ready to take a rope to help the rawest of learners, never a grumbler if things weren't going exactly right, and always punctual both for service and practice. He was a churchwarden for a number of years and on the Parochial Church Council up to the time of his death, at the age of 75.

The funeral, which took place on Thursday, September 7th, was attended by the vice-president, the Ringing Master and several members of the Doncaster and District Society. The service was attended by full choir and organ, and the lesson was read by the Ringing Master (Mr. G. Clark). The Vicar of Arksey (the Rev. J. Pierce Price) officiated at the service and the interment.

Immediately after the funeral the bells were rung to an exceedingly well-struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, with the clappers half-muffled, by: F. Garner (Arksey) 1, G. Clark (Arksey) 2, P. Clark (Arksey) 3, G. Halksworth (Doncaster) 4, H. Arrand (Arksey) 5, J. Thorley (Thorne) 6, C. Thorley (Thorne) 7, E. C. Stacey (Sprotborough) 8. Conducted by C. Thorley. The bells of St. George's, Doncaster, were also rung muffled in the evening.

On Sunday the bells were again rung muffled, and for evensong was rung a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Garner 1, G. Clark 2, A. Harrison (Nottingham) 3, E. Clark 4, H. Arrand 5, E. Cooper 6, T. Revill 7, B. Burditt 8. Conducted by A. Harrison. Thus do we record the passing of another of the old stalwarts whose places we find it increasingly difficult to fill.

He was one of nature's gentlemen and will be sadly missed by all who knew him either in the belfry or in any other branch of church work or in connection with his business as joiner and wheelwright. May he rest in peace.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful meeting of the Oxford and District Branch was held at Long Crendon on Saturday, September 2nd, when 55 ringers and friends attended from the following towers: Oxford (All Saints', St. Giles', St. Ebbe's and St. Thomas'), Wolvercote and visitors from Bicester, Reading, Beeton, Twyford, Abingdon, Cuddesdon, High Wycombe, Cookham, Stoke Poges, Ellesborough, Deddington and Thame. The local ringers, who have just recently joined the Guild, were well represented, ten members being present.

Tea was provided by kind invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. D. R. A. Williams), and was greatly appreciated by all. Before returning to the tower, 'the bright young people' entertained the party with handbells.

Thame bells were available at 7 p.m. and an hour's good ringing was enjoyed on them. Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and London, not forgetting rounds for the beginners.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

A visit to North Crawley by the above branch was made on Saturday, September 2nd, and was very well attended. The following towers were represented: Blechley, Bradwell, Chicheley, Fenny Stratford, Hanslope, Newport Pagnell, Stony Stratford, with several ringing visitors. It had been some years since a meeting had been held at North Crawley, but it proved very successful and good practice was given to the younger ringers during the afternoon. A short service with address was held, conducted by the Rev. Chalmers Bell, Vicar of North Crawley. After tea a short meeting was held, the secretary (Mr. W. Sear) apologising for the absence of the chairman (the Rev. A. Byard), who was away on holiday. After the meeting further ring took place, methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to London Minor.

upon having accomplished the work that we have together dedicated to-day.' The church was, said the Bishop, rich in historic associations and memories and in the accessories to worship. During the singing of the hymn, 'Lifted safe within the steeple,' a collection was taken. The Bishop gave the Blessing and the Doxology was sung. The Rev. J. W. Jacobs, Rector of Cantley, presided at the organ.

After the service the congregation listened with pleasure to various touches of Minor rung by the ringers present, Mr. Cyril Johnston, of Croydon, Mr. A. L. Coleman (general secretary and treasurer of the Norwich Diocesan Association), Mr. R. J. Goate, Mr. R. W. Barber and others taking part in some of the touches rung. Mr. H. H. Turner, representing Messrs. Boulton and Paul, was also present.

Subsequently at a parochial gathering tea was served on the Rectory lawn. Speeches were made by Mr. S. Capon, Mr. A. E. Smithdale (chairman of Acle Parish Council) and the Rev. A. Shillito (Rural Dean). After tea the ringers adjourned to the belfry and joined by fellow-members who were unable to be present in the afternoon. The festivities of the day ended with a dance on the Rectory lawn.

DEVON GUILD BRANCH MEETING.

The East Devon Branch of the Devon Guild held a district meeting at Talaton on Saturday, with an attendance of about 30 members, several coming out from Exeter. The Rev. J. H. Bradford (Rector) conducted the service, for which the new form just issued by the Guild was used for the first time. In his address, the Rector urged his hearers to do their best both by practice and precept to carry on their work with religious motives.

Tea was provided in the assembly room of the Talaton Inn, the Rev. E. V. Cox (president of the Guild) presiding, supported by the Rector and churchwardens of the parish, the general secretary and Mr. C. F. Johnston, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who carried out the recent restoration of the bells. Good wishes were extended to the Rev. E. S. and Mrs. Powell in their new sphere of activity, with gratitude for their help to the branch in the past, and a hearty welcome to the Rev. E. V. Cox to his first meeting as president.—Mr. Cox, in reply, said it gave him great pleasure to be present at this branch meeting, as it was at Ottery St. Mary, nearly 30 years ago, that he conducted his first peal, cycling 13 miles each way for the effort.

It was decided to hold a meeting at Feniton on January 13th next. A suggestion for holding practices for evening bellringing during the winter months was discussed, and it was eventually decided to leave it to the branch secretary and Mr. Woodley to arrange. A vote of thanks to the Rector concluded the meeting, and members then returned to the tower to ring touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Saturday, September 2nd, at All Souls' Church, Bolton, on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. Jack Kay to Miss Nellie Helme, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Ernest Pike 1, Charles H. Pike 2, Robert Holden 3, Charles Brownlow 4, Albert Heywood 5, Herbert Johnson 6, John E. Markland (conductor) 7, Norman Critchley 8.

At the Church of SS. Mary and Cuthbert, Chester-le-Street, on September 2nd, the wedding took place of Mr. H. Brown and Miss Annie Sheraton, daughter of Mr. F. Sheraton, Guild Master of the belfry. As the bride arrived at the church the bells pealed forth, and as the happy couple left the church a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstans') was rung by J. A. Brown 1, F. Ainsley 2, G. S. Taylor 3, T. Stephenson 4, H. B. Ditchburn 5, J. W. Parker (conductor) 6, W. Sheraton 7, R. Patterson 8. All the above belong to Sunderland, except the ringers of 1 and 7, who are local.

The ringers were afterwards entertained to tea at the home of the bride's parents, and drank to 'the health of the bride and bridegroom.'

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN WORCESTERSHIRE RINGER.LEADER OF WORCESTER ST. JOHN'S CHURCH BAND.

The many friends of Mr. William Page will learn with regret of his death, which occurred at Worcester on August 30th, at the age of 72 years. He was buried on September 4th at St. John's, Worcester, where he had been master of affairs in the belfry as well as an ardent churchgoer, a sidesman and one of the church feoffees. The funeral was a quiet affair, the ringers being represented by W. Lewis and J. J. Jeffries (St. John's), A. Hill and J. Hill (Worcester Cathedral), W. Ranford (Suckley) and G. Hinton, sen. (a former Cathedral ringer). Wreaths were sent from the St. John's band, W. Ranford and E. P. Thomas (Fernhill Heath). Muffled ringing took place at St. John's the same evening, a 504 of Stedman Triples being rung by old members or those best acquainted with him, viz.: S. T. Holt 1, W. Lewis 2, J. Woodyatt 3, W. R. Powell 4, J. J. Jeffries 5, W. Ranford 6, G. W. Checketts (conductor) 7, T. W. Lewis 8. Other touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich were rung, in which F. Barnett, E. Crump, P. Blissett and I. Eaton (Bournemouth) took part.

Mr. Page was born at Ripple, Worcestershire, where he first learnt to handle a bell, and also ring Grandsire Doubles. He moved to Worcester in 1882, where he joined the old Cathedral band, and was one of the original members of the Cathedral Guild when it was formed in 1893. He joined the Worcestershire Association soon after it was founded in 1882, and although his membership had lapsed for one or more periods, he was a member at the time of his death. He was Master of the association for three years, 1921-22-23. He was elected instructor to the Hallow band, which was formed when the bells were installed there in 1900, and conducted their first peal—Grandsire Triples in 1902. When the Kidderminster band were at the height of their fame, he used to cycle there and back from Worcester for Surprise practice, and it was he who first introduced Surprise ringing in Worcester. He conducted the first peal of Spliced Treble Bob (Worcester Variation) ever rung, and also conducted the first peal of Double Norwich Major, Cambridge, Superlative, London and Bristol Surprise Major and Cambridge Surprise Royal by the Western Branch of the association. Mr. Page rang in all 193 peals, of which he conducted about 80, his first peal being rung at All Saints', Worcester, on May 30th, 1887. The method was Grandsire Caters. He had been a ringer at St. John's for a good number of years, where he conducted the first 14-method peal of Minor for the association, and it was through his influence that St. John's bells were augmented to eight by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, in 1929-30.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The bells of Ranmoor Church, Sheffield, are to be recast from a peal of eight to a ring of ten, with, we understand, the same total amount of metal. At present they are a poor peal, and for some time have been badly in need of rehangings.

Members of the British Association, meeting at Leicester, visited Loughborough Bell Foundry on Friday, and also listened to a special recital on the famous Loughborough carillon by Mr. Eric Jordan.

Another ringing tour begins to-morrow. Mr. William Pye and a party will be busy among Hampshire towers.

In the report in our issue of August 25th of the peal of Minor rung at Dallington, Sussex, on August 5th, it was stated inadvertently that the conductor was Mr. W. Gorrings. This peal was under the conductorship of Mr. James G. Powell, to whom we tender our apologies.

Mr. R. T. Woodley, who rang in the peal at Lowestoft, recorded in our peal columns, was a well-known London ringer some 50 years ago. He succeeded the late Mr. James Muskett as secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, relinquishing this office on his leaving London for Leeds, when he in turn was succeeded by Mr. Cockerill. Since 1911 he has resided at Lowestoft, and when the bells were installed there he formed a band and became their leader.

ANOTHER BELLRINGER'S WIFE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am also a ringer's wife, and proud of it, too, for I think that bellringing is the finest hobby a man can have, as it calls for mental ability as well as physical fitness.

I always encourage my husband to go ringing whenever possible, as (1) it provides just that relaxation so necessary to body and mind these hectic days; (2) it gives him a chance of meeting old friends and making new ones; and (3) it gives me the opportunity to do any odd job in the house, or to entertain my friends if I wish.

Occasionally I have been privileged to go with my husband when he has been taking part in a special peal on 10 or 12 bells, and, far from being a 'torture to the public,' as another ringer's wife suggests, or 'Futile,' as 'Anti-Surprise Major' would have us believe, I think the music beautiful and must be a source of inspiration to many.

I wonder how many of your readers spent their honeymoon as we did. We were in London, and on the second evening we were at a practice meeting at St. Magnus-the-Martyr, whilst the following Sunday evening my husband joined in the ringing for the service at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill.—Yours faithfully, (Mrs.) J. F. MILNER.

SUNDAY PEALS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I do not suppose the letter of 'Observer' appearing in your issue of August 25th has made much impression on your readers. Men may state their views, but an anonymous letter which finds fault with others is not calculated to command respect. My reason for addressing you is that the letter really casts a censure on a section of the parochial clergy—a proceeding which the Exercise cannot approve. It is hardly likely that any of your clerical readers will condescend to be 'drawn' in this manner; perhaps, therefore, a few remarks by a layman may not be improper.

The Church lays down no special rules for the employment of our leisure time on Sunday. Things not wrong in themselves do not become so by being done on Sunday. Men may make such rules as they see fit for their own conduct on that day; but whatever may be our individual view and practice on particular points we should not lose sight of the freedom which the Church gives. If we do so, we come into danger of mistakes, unfairness to others and even absurdities.

There is nothing wrong in a ringer starting for a peal on Sunday unless it breaks a rule he has conscientiously thought right to make for himself. But whether he starts or not depends, not on himself, but on the incumbent of the church where he proposes to ring. An incumbent, when applied to for leave for a Sunday peal, has the right and the duty of deciding whether to refuse or to accord his consent. If he refuses, his decision is to be unquestionably accepted as right. If he grants permission he is also right. He has been trained in theology and parochial work; he knows the conditions, local and otherwise, of his church and parish; his permission will involve no breach of any rule of the Church; and if he sees his way to allow a Sunday peal he is not to be referred to in terms which suggest that he is accessory to something which is in itself wrong.

Peals have been rung on Sunday ever since they have been rung at all. Their continuance on that day must depend on opinions and circumstances; but in themselves Sunday peals are things indifferent.

BIG BEN AND THE B.B.C.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is surprising to hear the announcer of the B.B.C. making an erroneous statement so very frequently on the wireless.

Almost every evening one hears something like the following: 'In two minutes you will hear Big Ben strike half-past six.'

This sounds very ridiculous to those who know that Big Ben only strikes the hours.—Yours truly, GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION'S JUBILEE.

A COMMEMORATIVE TABLET AT DERBY.

It was in the schoolroom attached to St. Andrew's Church, Derby, that the Midland Counties Association was formed in the year 1882; it was there that the jubilee meeting of the association was held last year, and in the lofty tower a commemorative peal was rung in October by a representative band of the association.

On Saturday there was another gathering of members at St. Andrew's Church, when a beautifully carved slate tablet, recording the peal, was unveiled and dedicated. It is the gift of the president of the association (Mr. E. Denison Taylor), and has been placed in one of the window recesses. It was made by Mr. C. H. Webb, of Croft, near Leicester, a ringer who specialises in this type of tablet.

The occasion of the gathering was a quarterly meeting of the Derby District of the Association, and members attended from Derby, Leicester, Burton-on-Trent, Nottingham, Loughborough, Duffield, Ilkeston, Cotgrave, Hearn, Beeston, Spondon, Stoney Stanton, Broughton Ashby, Bolsover and Botherham, among the veterans of the association present being Mr. J. H. Swinfield, Mr. C. Draper and Mr. W. C. White. Mr. H. Fletcher (vice-president of the district), Mr. G. Freebrey (district hon. secretary) and Mr. E. Morris (general hon. secretary of the association) also supported the president, when the Vicar (the Rev. V. T. S. Jagg) visited the belfry for the dedication.

The President first congratulated the ten members of the association who rang the peal—which, he understood, was a very good peal indeed—to commemorate the jubilee of the association. He was very pleased to see eight of the band present that day. The jubilee meeting on Easter Monday last year was a notable landmark in the history of the association, and they had pleasant memories of a most enjoyable day. Mr. Freebrey's idea to further commemorate the jubilee with a peal was a very good one, and St. Andrew's tower was very suitable for the purpose, because, as most of them knew, the society was founded in St. Andrew's Schoolroom. He was very pleased that the peal was successful, and it gave him great pleasure to offer a peal board to record it and to stand as a permanent memorial of the jubilee. In asking the Vicar to unveil the tablet, Mr. Taylor thanked him, on behalf of the association, for allowing it to be put into St. Andrew's belfry.

The Vicar, on behalf of the church and parish, accepted Mr. Taylor's kind gift to the belfry, and congratulated all concerned upon the performance and upon the event which the board actually commemorated. They at St. Andrew's, he said, were very proud of their ringers and their belfry.

The Vicar then unveiled the tablet and dedicated it with suitable prayers. The inscription, engraved in silver lettering, is as follows:—

St. Andrew's Church, Derby.

The Midland Counties Association of Change Ringers, 1882-1932.

To commemorate the jubilee of the association, a peal of 5,050 changes of Stedman Caters was rung on these bells in 3 hours and 11 minutes on 29th October, 1932, by John H. Swinfield treble, Colin Harrison 2, Alfred Ballard 3, Albert H. Ward 4, Charles Draper 5, Edward C. Goby 6, Jack Bailey 7, Percival Price 8, Ernest Morris 9, Arthur Brains tenor. Composed by Sir A. P. Heywood, Bart., and conducted by Ernest Morris.

Presidents of the association: Rev. J. H. Fish, 1882-1883. Sir A. P. Heywood, Bart., 1883-1916. John W. Taylor, 1916-1919. Alderman R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P., 1919-1929. E. Denison Taylor, 1930, who presented this tablet.

Mr. E. Morris, in his dual capacity as hon. secretary of the association and conductor of the peal, thanked Mr. Taylor for his generous gift. It was, he said, a magnificent addition to the tower. The members of the association were very proud of their president, and they were indebted to him for the great interest he took in all they did. That gift was just another indication of his interest in their activities. Mr. Morris went on to assure all those who did not hear the peal that it was one worthy to be recorded, not only for the occasion for which it was rung, but also for the ringing itself. When Mr. Freebrey put forward the suggestion for the peal he (Mr. Morris) felt they ought to make it worthy of the occasion, and he looked for a composition by their former president, Sir Arthur Heywood, who did so much for the association. He came across one with 5,050 changes, which he thought fitted in particularly well with the jubilee. They made the band as representative as possible and the peal was well rung. On behalf of the association, he thanked Mr. Taylor for his generosity in giving that very fine tablet (hear, hear).

Mr. J. H. Swinfield, as probably the oldest member of the association present, supported Mr. Morris' remarks, and Mr. Taylor suitably replied, remarking anent some of the younger members present that he hoped they would be spared to see the celebration of the centenary of the association.

The eight members of the band who were present then rang a touch of Stedman Triples.

Later the quarterly meeting of the district was held, Mr. H. Fletcher presiding. The Rev. N. J. Poole, of St. Chad's, Derby, was elected an hon. member, and Mr. Flower was appointed Ringing Master for the next meeting, which is to be held at Duffield.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells.

The ringing during the day included Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Royal, London and Bristol Surprise Major.

THIS 'FUTILE' BUSINESS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Socrates or Shakespeare or one of those writer fellows once said 'Some folks are born great, others have greatness thrust on them.' I certainly cannot aspire to the first, but beginning to think I might yet attain to the latter! And this, all because I am a ringer whose activities have been written about by some of those non-de-script (I beg your pardon—I meant 'non-de-plume') gentlemen, who will rush in where angels fear to tread.

The centre of Leicester is marked by an elegant clock tower, around which the city gyrates, and on this are pedestals and niches containing statues of some of our leading 'great ones.' Already one of these niches has been chosen for me, and on a recent occasion I was shown the site by our sergeant-major, who very kindly (as all S.M.s do) asked me which position I liked best, W.M.H. or N.S.E.W. Now after reading 'Anti-Surprise's' letter (how I hate these non-de-plumes), I am to be given another even greater and higher position, where the population can gyrate around. I feel giddy already at the thought of such elevation! No wonder I am suffering from 'Craniumitis'—I made that up myself, 'itis' for swelled, and 'cranium' for 'head.' For some months now I've not worn a hat, and there are some unkind ones who say it's not because of the heat wave! To add to my woes, the other day as I sat in silent meditation at my desk, wondering if my next peal would be Plain Doubles or London Maximus, I got such a smack in the ear—nearly toppled me off my seat, and a 'still small voice' said, 'Who's this ringer's WIFE you are writing to?' Wouldn't I like to meet her—we would have a real heart to heart talk. Oh! what a futile world it is. We make agreements between nations and then call them 'scraps of paper.' We send gentlemen to Parliament to fight for our better welfare, and then hear no more of them. We have our local Council spending the money we work so hard for to pay our rates and taxes. If we save a bit for a rainy day it is taxed beyond recognition. In our private family lives we have these FUTILE little arguments, and now even in our 'Ringing World' these FUTILE suggestions crop up. Life itself seems futile to those who look at it so—even Mrs. M. made my little eulogy of praise to her seem futile by boxing my ears—yet, like Gracie, let's look on the 'bright side,' and clear all these FUTILE thoughts away.

ERNEST MORRIS.

EXPERTS READY TO HELP LEARNERS.

Dear Sir,—Your reader's letter, entitled 'Futile Peals,' in this week's 'Ringing World,' certainly hits the nail on the head with regard to many Surprise peal ringers. May I, without, I hope, taking up too much space, quote you some of my opinions. As a young (aged 20) and perfectly independent member of the Exercise, who has rung in over 500 towers, I think I can claim to know something about ringers' attitudes and teaching ability.

First I have noticed that there is a marked tendency amongst many young ringers who, having suddenly sprung from the simplicities (?) of standard methods to Surprise methods, immediately lose interest in ringing those simpler methods for the benefit of learners. To quote from a recent conversation I had with a promising young ringer (aged 16): 'Do you go over to practice at — now?' 'No, they can only ring Plain Bob.'

The youth in question could only ring Grandsire Triples about two months ago. He has now rung his first course of Superlative. Admittedly good progress, but a bad attitude in one so young towards those who can only ring simple methods.

So it is not always the experts who cease taking interest in the simple methods; the progressive youngsters themselves suddenly follow their example! I can mention the names of some really splendid men, men who can call a peal of London one week and still call a peal of Grandsire Doubles the next week (a far greater effort to call it truthfully). Messrs. J. T. Dyke and E. Morris are fine examples. On the other hand, there are a far greater percentage of ringers who, although able to ring Surprise, are totally incapable of putting anyone right in Grandsire Triples or to call a bob in any method. In fact, they stand chatting when, at a meeting, simple methods are being rung with learners standing in.

As regards Surprise 'peal snatchers,' I do not think one need worry about them, providing they help the learner in their spare time. Many brilliant conductors do this, and all credit to them. Their work is appreciated. If some of those so-called 'experts' heard the way in which their name was 'taken in vain' by the lesser lights, they might wake up. The majority would give up in disgust! I don't care either way! I enjoy myself as I go along, thanks to the kindnesses of the many people whose towers I visit. I can number amongst my friends many Surprise conductors and ringers who help the learner all they can and are very popular. It is the people who ring peal after peal of Surprise, generally at the same two or three towers, and care not a jot for anyone who can't ring at least Double Norwich. I could name many of these, but they mightn't like it! Forest Hill.

The back eight bells of St. Andrew's, Derby, were dedicated by the Bishop of Lichfield on December 31st, 1881, and the first peal (Grandsire Triples) rung on them on January 3rd, 1882. They were made into ten in 1923, the two trebles being given by two of the local ringers, Messrs. C. E. Hart and A. H. Ward.

WESTMORLAND AND CUMBERLAND.

By W. H. F.

A HAVEN OF REST.

On Wednesday the two towers, Arlecdon and St. Bees, were worked from Whitehaven as a centre for three days. We had very nice quarters, near bus and train depots, at the Waverley Hotel. A civil porter saw to baggage and a noisy dog nearly wagged his 'sally' off in welcome.

St. Michael's Church, Arlecdon, is a modern pretty little church of warm coloured red sandstone, consisting of nave and chancel, and rather isolated from the scattered houses of the parish, some of which are dated 1626 and 1755 or thereabouts, and show the rural ancient character of the place before steam and oil propulsion. You will see rows of small cottages near to coal and mineral mining shafts, which have not been so busy of late years as one could wish. The old font in the church is dated 1578 and is preserved in a special baptistry. The porch, west window and a lych gate are good features, and to us the pretty little ring of eight bells, cast by Taylor and Co. in 1904, particularly so. We were here welcomed by the Rector, the Rev. H. A. Wilson, M.A., and a smart body of his ringers, who look capable of doing good work in the near future. They gave us a touch of rounds, with the steeplekeeper, Mr. Marston, at helm.

After our peal of Superlative, luncheon was kindly provided in the Village Hall by the Church Council, and several ladies attended to the wants of the company, which included local men as well as visitors. Handbells were rung, and the Rector gave us reminiscences of his years spent in Canada. He praised the ringing, was glad to welcome us and wished our tour every success. Mr. G. R. Newton thanked him on behalf of all present, also the ladies who had given up their afternoon to attend to our needs, and mentioned the honour of achieving the 'first peal' on Arlecdon bells. This 'plum' should have fallen to the pocket of Mr. Keeble eight years ago, when, unfortunately, the treble became 'unringable' owing to the metal pin on the stay top not working in the slots, although a man, who had handled all the big bells of Manchester to peals, tried his best with 'the little beggar.'

There is so much of interest to ringers on these outings I hardly know what to omit. For the sake of brevity perhaps I had better quote to myself a well-known instruction to the Police Guild when there's a crowd, 'Pass along, please.'

Every change ringer has a bee in his bonnet; some are after counties, some the towers, others the tenor and some the method, but I often times wonder if, after adding 'one more' to the list, we all feel thankful for the health and strength we enjoy to enable us to do so much. Leaving Arlecdon at 2.45, we returned to the Haven and trained to St. Bees' Church, and were favoured by a rare privilege, permission to ring a peal on the Priory bells. The church is an interesting building of long Cumberland history, dedicated to St. Bega, consisting of nave, north and south aisles, north and south transepts, central tower of quaint appearance with conical roof. There is no window in the ringing room, but a small door looks down into the nave. The stairs, built on the north-east corner of the tower, ascends direct from the churchyard to the bells; there is no light to be used as a rule in case of fire. We were in trepidation about the electricity being switched off during our peal, and expected urgent messages to come from the well-known St. Bees' Clerical College adjoining the Priory. Everything went smoothly, however, and the band looked carefully inside their bonnets on leaving the tower, but found no 'sting.' The ringing room is 22ft. square, the circle of ropes and draught good, 'going' not too good, but the way our tenor man buzzed afterwards it must have been a bumble bee he discovered. The bells were installed in 1853, they were cast at Whitechapel and form one of Mears and Stainbank's good octaves of that period.

A double honour in ten hours is not often the lot of a team of change ringers, so our thanks to Messrs. Temby and Brown—more stalwarts—not forgetting the steeplekeeper, who disappeared with the keys of the stair and could not be found when asked for. Priory, railway station and hotel, all adjoining the latter, named 'the Albert'—whether it was after Albert the Good I know not, but the ale was—and our 9.33 left some time after 10 p.m. for Whitehaven and—with apology to Mr. H. Mason—a good rest.

Cleator Moor and Egremont were the two towers for Thursday, and an easy bus, a good road, a fine morning and 'punctuality' helped to give the tourists another 'double.' We were out at 8.40 a.m. by bus for the first attempt at Cleator. Dedicated to St. John, well designed and built in 1861 with the valuable local red sandstone, this church possesses a handsome interior, relieved with stone and coloured brickwork, making a warm and comfortable impression as one enters from a rather bleak desolate country moorland. A few yards from the tower stands the tall chimney stack of one of the numerous iron mines of the district, most of which are now disused. Smoke from the shaft, accumulating in the church, was caused by the pumping to keep water from the workings until the 'happy day' should come to restart.

Originally there were six bells here, all recast by Taylor and Co. in 1909, the tenor 22 cwt., reputed to be the heaviest in the county? They are hung in new iron frame and fittings, and a real 'good job' from the ringers' point of view. We put our 'octogenarian' on the tenor, and rang the first peal on the bells in easy and comfortable fashion. The Vicar received the company on arrival and kindly visited the belfry afterwards with Mr. Temby—another Cumberland stalwart—to offer congratulations to the hand and our 'Ancient.' It was a very noisy ringing room at one time, but Mr. Temby had made an improvement by putting in another floor with sawdust packing. There is a good light, circle and draught of ropan, but all the windows are fixtures to prevent the ringers from being 'smoked out' when the shaft is going full steam ahead. During the peal our Simpson climbed one of the neighbouring hills, over 1,600ft. up, with the contradictory name of 'The Dent'—he found us at the Ironworks Inn, indication of the trade of this part of England, and here we heard the depressing news that one of the Whitehaven collieries had closed down that day and the local district had 90 per cent. of its working population unemployed, two-thirds of whom were males.

Egremont was reached at 2.30 and lunch at the Douglas Dining Rooms really enjoyed with all present. We were met at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. J. E. McKinley (Rector) and Mr. John Spedding (verger) and made welcome. Like most of the churches in this part, Egremont is built of the usual red sandstone, its bells are by Taylor and Co., 1902, tenor 14 cwt., in excellent ringing order, which serves to show they are well looked after. Old Sol could not dazzle our eyes as the four large windows are high up, the circle and draught of rope with sally guides comfortable, the room fairly cool, as a pair of large trap doors in the floor were opened and air freely circulated whilst we made our peal No. 11. Local bands came round to see us and kindly let bells down, to join in the 70th birthday greetings to Mr. Churchwarden Douglas. Let me now tell you of a 'plot' that was hatched with only one man 'Rugby' not in the scheme.

When we stripped to ring it was found 'someone' had taken the tenor and adjusted the rope to his own satisfaction. Preliminary rounds and then stand followed as usual. The band were then shuffled, and 'Jimmy' found the treble vacant, much to his astonishment.

Here the local company have made good work by ringing Bob Major and Surprise Minor (a peal in 1929), also Kent Major, conducted by W. T. Holmes, in 1921.

Walking to the railway station to get the 7.40 train to Whitehaven, we were joined by the three umpires, Messrs. Newton, Dennis and Shepherd, with favourable remarks. The town appears to be a prosperous one with a long broad High Street and market place. At one time the moorlands were preserved for deer and game, but since the Squire of Dent died, have been allowed to deteriorate. One old gamekeeper of 92 years remembers the good old days when he earned 28s. a week, but now draws a dole of 30s. weekly for himself, wife and family. He was noted for his keeper cleverness on the principle of setting a poacher to catch a poacher. There were so many 'firsts' in our bag of peals during the tour—with two doubles in the last four days—I fear the Cumberland ringers will think we have 'poached' some of theirs.

STILL JOGGING ALONG.

An early move was made on Friday morning for Hensingham Church, a few miles out of 'Haven. The local bands had raised the bells, installed by Taylors in 1914 with new iron frame, in readiness, and the Rev. D. Freeman, a practical change ringer, kindly welcomed the party to his tower. Days when he was a neighbour of the late Rev. H. Law James at Surfleet were recalled, and in the Vicarage adjoining he was able to enjoy our Superlative to his heart's content, to say nothing of our own jubilation, in which he shared, when 'That's all' sounded. A neat, well-kept belfry, good bells and fittings, it was such another belfry as Egremont, but rather noisy, like four of our previous towers. We found the local company were making progress in the method and that Mr. Holmes has rung his usual Treble Bob Major here. A nice modern church, built with the ever ready local red sandstone, in beautiful order, with a well-timbered churchyard that adds graceful surroundings to the garden of rest. Bus to the railway station and good-bye to Whitehaven, followed by the '1.40 p.m.' to Maryport, but it did not leave till 2 o'clock, and, indeed, most of our railway service was unpunctual.

Maryport is a fine town with harbour on the sea coast of the Solway Firth and the resort of fashionable people during the summer. It has decayed of late years, due to the neighbouring idle coal and mineral mines, dead shipyards and loss of shipping, and has 75 per cent. of its workers unemployed. Here was built the first American battleship, the 'Ironside,' for the U.S. Navy. There are remains of a Roman station near, the early occupants of which discovered the value of its ores. The church tower possesses a set of good hemispherical bells, which, to my knowledge, are much to be preferred to those metal 'drain pipes' called tubular bells, which a few years back were frequently substituted for the 'real' thing. Our lunch was enjoyed at the 'Granville' before enjoying another stretch of sea coast—by bus this time—to Silloth, via Allonby, with the Scottish hills 10 miles across the water. For about 12 miles the road passes close by the sea-shore, a strip of 'no man's land,' which enables hikers, tourists and visitors to camp, picnic and bathe as and when they wish. We saw a great deal, from the upper deck of our bus, that would have greatly distressed 'Mrs. Grundy' of Victorian

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of the North and East District at St. Mark's Church, Dalston, on Saturday last, was held in very pleasant weather, and attracted a good number of ringers. Ringing commenced punctually with a good touch of Stedman Triples. This was followed by Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise. The service was taken by the Vicar (the Rev. J. O. Vince), with one of the local ringers (Mr. C. A. Randall) at the organ, and the choirboys in full attendance. A bright service and a generous welcome were much appreciated. An excellent tea was provided in the Church Hall, after which the business meeting was held, with Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president) in the chair. The hon. secretary apologised for the absence of the District Master, who was away holiday making. As a mark of respect to the late Rev. A. T. Beeston, who died on June 30th, and to the late Mr. J. Wicks, of Hadley, who died on July 26th, all present stood in silence for a few moments. Mr. Beeston had been a member of the association for upwards of 20 years, and Mr. Wicks was a foundation member.

Two new members were elected, and Willesden chosen for the next meeting on October 7th.

The Chairman proposed a vote of congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. W. Webb, of Finchley, on their golden wedding, which was celebrated early in August. Mr. Webb was a member of the Finchley band and had been a ringer there for 57 years. The hon. secretary, in seconding, remarked that Mr. Webb was evidently one of those fortunate persons who found it quite possible to attend to his duties and pleasures as a ringer and to be happy in his married life at the same time.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his welcome to the association; to the local ringers, the organist, the choir, and to the caretaker for arranging tea. This was seconded by the hon. secretary, who made special mention of the help given him by Mr. Crouch, the local secretary. The Rev. J. O. Vince replied in his usual wholehearted way with a sincere welcome to the members present.

Some handbell ringing followed, a touch of Grandsire Triples being rung by Miss L. Wheeler, G. B. Collins, G. W. Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher, who also, with the help of Messrs. W. Pye and C. T. Coles, rang a course of Grandsire Cinques.

Later the tower was again visited for more Stedman, Double Norwich and Surprise, including a very good course of London to enable a youngster or two to reach another rung of the ladder.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At the Parish Church of St. George, Doncaster, on Thursday, September 7th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples half-muffled in 54 mins. as a token of respect to the late Mr. H. Trout, of Arksey: G. Halksworth (conductor) 1, A. Pye 2, G. B. Lucas, sen., 3, W. A. Pye 4, E. Stacy 5, W. E. Lloyd 6, R. Thompson 7, H. Baldwin 8.

days. However, I may add none of our men alighted. The order was, 'Pass along, please.'

SILLOTH.

He is not a lazy man—or a slothful ringer who handles this tenor twice on Sunday. We had heard unfavourable remarks about the 'go' of these bells and proved them true. The octave at Christ Church was installed by Taylor and Co. about 50 years ago; they are hung on one level with plain bearings in a timber frame (tenor 24 cwt.). The Vicar and churchwarden kindly came to greet us in the belfry, and it was explained that pains had been taken to make them go easily by a local 'engineer.' We prepared for Stedman Triples and knotted the ropes below sally to get the Yorkshire tail end to suit the back-stroke. The tenors go up false clappered, it was easier when these were turned right, but after 18 minutes' ringing Mr. George reluctantly set up, and Mr. Pye agreed at his 'common sense' in doing so.

A straggling old-fashioned town is Silloth, where most of the houses are rendered for warmth and dryness in the winter owing to its exposed position to the north.

The church, a modern Gothic building, with nave, north and south aisles, transept, vestry, the base of the tower forming the porch—its buttresses built in diaper work with a lofty stone spire. The ringing room is small, ceiling low, and not enough ventilation. We came here according to programme, and left a nice little ring of eight by Mears and Stainbank at Aspatria, east in 1896, and only a few miles away. The nearest point to re-use our 'summer' tickets was Wigton, a station on the Carlisle line, and we arrived in the city at 7.30 p.m. to put up at Ridley's Temperance Hotel. Talking of tenors in this county, we have Carlisle, Cleator, Penrith and Silloth between 20 and 24 cwt., but it is not generally known that Highmoor, near Wigton, possesses nine bells by Taylors, the heaviest weighing 8 tons 16 cwt. My readers will understand why I never told Mr. George or Mr. Shepherd of this as we were passing by. I am afraid one of these days they will between them devour one of these sweet tenors.

'If you ring me, pull me gently,

Do not throw your strength away,

Just rehang me—oil in plenty—

And have a go another day.'

Silloth Tenor.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.SOUTHERN DISTRICT'S VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday last at Gorseinon, when about 20 members attended from various towers, and there was also a good muster of the local men. The bells (8) were raised in peal about 3 p.m. and kept going until 4.30, when a short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. J. Thomas). Tea, kindly provided by the Vicar, was partaken of in the Parish Hall. A band of ladies saw that everyone was well provided with all the good things, and, needless to state, the cup of tea was very much enjoyed.

The Vicar having to leave early, the chair at the meeting was taken by Mr. D. J. Lewis. Swansea was selected for the December meeting.

A long discussion took place on Rule 18, and a vote of confidence was passed in the district secretary, all present being satisfied that the balance sheet had been made out according to rule.

It was agreed to give the annual report to each member and pay for them out of the funds.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman, to the Rev. W. J. Thomas and to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success.

Rounds were rung for the learners, and the methods practised were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Minor.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.ARCHDEACONRY OF ELY ANNUAL MEETING.

An enjoyable meeting was held at Fulbourn on Saturday. Ringers came from Cambridge, Clare, Fen Ditton, Fulbourn, Ickleton, Newmarket, Newton, Over, Royston, Sawston, Thrapston and Trumpington. Ringing ranged from rounds to Superlative Surprise Major. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. T. H. Hennessy), who gave an inspiring address and afterwards entertained the company to tea.

At the business meeting Mr. C. W. Cook was re-elected District Ringing Master, and Miss K. Willers district secretary. The committee was elected as follows: Messrs. T. R. Dennis, H. J. Hazel, E. G. Hibbins, F. Hurry, S. Twitchett and P. Webb.

Mr. F. Warrington, whose company was much appreciated, kindly invited the Ely Archdeaconry to a joint meeting with the Central Branch at Longstanton on October 21st. It was decided to hold a by-meeting at Chippenham on September 23rd if permission can be obtained.

The instruction of beginners was discussed, and Mr. Dennis said he hoped good progress in this direction would be made at the Church of St. Mary the Great in Cambridge during the coming winter, using the Seage apparatus.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, taking the service and for his generous hospitality.

Although numbers were not large, a note of real encouragement was struck, and it was cheering, too, to see three schoolboys from the Trumpington band attending an association meeting for the first time.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH.

In connection with the September monthly meeting, the above branch made a tour of part of the Avon valley on Saturday, September 2nd. A party numbering over 40 assembled at Netheravon at 3 o'clock. Short touches were the order of the day to enable all who wished to have a pull. After a short time the advance party went on to Fittleton, raising the bells and doing the 'donkey work' generally for the 'main body' to come in and take possession. The same procedure was gone through at Enford and Upavon. At Upavon the Vicar welcomed the members and conducted the Guild service, the congregation numbering 49. Tea was served in The Antelope.

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. In his opening remarks (which were somewhat humorous) he welcomed all who had made the journey, mentioning by name those who resided outside the branch area—W. B. Kynaston and J. Berry (Swindon), F. W. Romaine (Salisbury), D. Field (Buckland Newton) and W. Bolwell (Ealing). Two new members were elected, and notice was given of the next meeting, which will be a quarterly at Bradford-on-Avon. The usual votes of thanks being passed, the meeting closed and the members returned to the tower, where ringing continued until 8.30. The touches of Grandsire on handbells at the branch meeting were quite a feature. Later in the evening some 'stalwarts' journeyed to Urchfont and were rewarded with an excellent touch of Stedman Triples. At the six-bell towers most methods were rung up to Cambridge Surprise, the striking being quite good. The following towers were represented: Devizes St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James', Southbroom, Warminster, Westbury, Chilton, Urchfont, Rowde, Bishop's Cannings, Bratton, Seend, Longbridge Deverill and Melksham.

ROTHERHAM PARISH CHURCH AND ITS BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—After a holiday by the sea (where, unfortunately, my 'Ringing World' did not follow), one feels sufficiently invigorated to wield a pen and advise the Exercise at large to take no notice of the illogical outbursts of the 'Museum' Methodists or Bluechapel Frothblowers.

Our other correspondent's letter from this town, as reported on page 525, cannot be dealt with by me seriatim, as his final paragraph affects the writer personally.

The church. In a previous letter I made a statement respecting our church's name of 'All Saints,' and with regard to same Mr. Briggs says amongst other things 'that we must presume at some time it was called "St. Ann's." Mr. F. E. Dawe was advised to be sure of his facts, and the same applies to his "backer-up" from Rotherham.

The following is culled from a brief history of our church by the greatest living authority in this town, viz., J. H. Cockburn, Esq., O.R.E., F.R.Hist.S., etc.:—

'There is not any evidence or any reasonable probability that Rotherham Parish Church was dedicated in the name of St. Anne, or even that any chapel or chantry was called by the name of that saint.

'From time immemorial it has been called "All Saints," and is so inscribed in ecclesiastical records kept in York.

'All Saints' was pre-eminently a dedication in use before the Norman Conquest.'

Rotherham bells speak for themselves, and all sensible campanists are in full agreement.

With regard to their alleged imperfections, one can safely say that an odd struck bell wherever it exists presents no great difficulty to an average ringer, but a far more insidious thing is an odd struck ringer.

Wheel slipping, whenever it has happened at Rotherham, has almost always been due to one or the other of the following causes: Wet and stiff ropes or the ill-choosing of a site for a short splice. (The writer accepts responsibility for the latter part.)

Your correspondent says a few peals have broken down through the latter cause. Now, being unable to define 'a few' and wishing to be strictly truthful, I can say this, that in not one case (which is, I think, less than a few) on our present peal has a 'wheel-slipper' caused a successful peal to be otherwise.

To strike a more serious vein, what importance can the Exercise attach to the remark as to 'the task being too great to get the tenor into the speed required by the other nine.' Just think of that for a moment, please. Is that not first-class bunkum? and that from a man who dares to suggest to bellfounders with centuries (some of them) of experience behind them how to distribute the metal in a ring of bells.

I would like you to know, Mr. Editor, that in quite a number of respects we are fortunate in Rotherham. Firstly, we have a magnificent peal at our Parish Church, and, secondly, we are just as fortunate in having men for the back end who enjoy ringing a big bell. Also our grumbling friend is fortunate inasmuch that he has the chance of quite a few lighter peals in this district where he, no doubt, will be able to ring in comfort either at the front or back.

COLIN RYDER.

A NOBLE TEN.

BY IRENEUS.

In spite of the illogical criticisms put forth by Mr. Briggs on page 525 of 'The Ringing World,' one has the effrontery to say, Rotherham bells are—'The round, the "ring" and "top of sovereignty"; a "noble ten" and they grace not only a magnificent church, but a "stately pile"!

Will Mr. Briggs please tell us who could have done the job in its entirety with greater efficiency and have given greater satisfaction, and why?

As to my challenge to Mr. Dawe, I made it to ascertain whether or no Mr. Dawe had made notes on the old ten at Rotherham, but, as he prefers to remain silent, one perforce comes to the conclusion that he made no notes. Nevertheless, I did—two decades before the 'old eighth' was recast, and those notes are extant. Living testimony is also forthcoming to substantiate what I am about to write. Bells 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9 and 10 were all inscribed, 'T. Mears of London, fecit 1821,' and they were all 'maidens' (nine maiden bells do not make a maiden peal of ten!) The old eighth was not a maiden, and the only inscription she ever bore was, 'Thomas Hilton of Wath made me.' That's plain English! and not 'Bunkum'! Will the gentlemen whose attention I drew to that fact please verify it through the medium of 'The Ringing World.'

In my former letter I set out to compare real antiquity with 1821 antiquity. And my comments on Thrybergh are simply held over. A retrospect is all that is essential before they are put into writing. Mr. Briggs asks me what is required to make Thrybergh bells into a good peal. My answer is, 'A competent founder who can turn five homogeneities and a like number of amalgams into one! and leave in Thrybergh tower five bells of equal temperament!' But 'Ireneus' would never be party to such procedure. Thrybergh bells are five intact chapters of parochial and bellfounding history, which Mr. Briggs cannot transcribe!

Further, we are asked by Mr. Briggs to picture Rotherham's old bells 'cleaned' and hung on modern hangings, and with a sob he asks us to stretch our imaginations and visualise 'what a peal it would have been'! My rejoinder to that delusion is, 'If the ten bells cast in 1819—now hanging in the "Crooked Spire"—were "cleaned" and popped in the modern hangings at Rotherham, Mr. Briggs would certainly not have such a "musical three blind mice" but would have something on a par with Rotherham's old ten which "barked."'

'Cleaning' 'Big Ben' would never make 'Big Ben' 'Little John'! With the aid of a 'cow-beel' one might teach (?) the advocate of 'cleaning' more about the nature of metals than he thinks he knows!

Let me see—er—oh! ah! I remember 'receiving instructions' from the Parochial Church Council of All Saints, Rotherham, and I sent in a written report of my findings to the aforesaid Council. Does Mr. Briggs think I was 'asked' by the local sanitary inspector? And 'why' one 'received instructions' obviously arose from the fact—that in spite of our friend being a 'qualified ringer,' he had not the ability to advise. He proves his inability by advocating 'sacrilege' where the fabric would withstand the additional thrusts and strain of a further pair of trebles!

'Ireneus' will never perpetrate sacrilege to meet the requirements of dwarfed physique! Incidentally, we—who 'received instructions'—rang something like half a dozen peals with Mr. Briggs on light eights in the neighbourhood of Rotherham. On every occasion 'Ireneus' rang the sixth—for the same reason as he rang the ninth Sunday by Sunday on the twelve at Sheffield Cathedral—and Mr. Briggs was never on the heavier side! Further, we three rang together in a peal of Caters on the old ten which 'barked'—incidentally this was 'the last' the writer rang anywhere! 'Ireneus' was on the seventh, but Mr. Briggs didn't care so much for the heavier end; he rang the sixth! and he was again in front of the writer in a touch on the day the more 'musical three blind mice' were dedicated. True, one has not rung much on this new peal—haven't got over the shock of ringing on the 'old nus.' The remainder of the comments pertaining to the future, which Mr. Briggs makes, is treated with the contempt such 'untasty' remarks deserve.

However, one of these days 'Ireneus' may pop into All Saints' ringing room again for a pull, and if our friend will submit to blind-folding, 'Ireneus' will guarantee to be 'on the box'! That sounds like 'swank,' but it is the one sure way of finding out whether ringers (placed on equal footing) are equally 'qualified ringers.'

But all flippancy aside, the writer was ever ambitious to leave 'marble' where he found 'brick'! 'Twas ever his aim—as he gazed into the convex mirror of the past and saw something 'great'!—to leave something 'nobler'! for eyes to look upon when the hand that pens these lines is 'still,' and a 'holiness of beauty' rolls in deep diapason over Rotherham, 'Gloria-Patri-et-Filio-et-Spiritui-Sancto,' from a noble ten! in a 'stately pile.'

EARL SHILTON RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to report the death of Arthur Waters, of Earl Shilton, at the early age of 32 years. Arthur was one of the original band when the peal of eight was installed in 1921, and rang in the first peal on the bells, which was by the local band on October 28th, 1922. He was not a great peal ringer, only having rung nine peals—Grandsire Doubles 2, Grandsire Triples 4, Bob Major 2, Kent Treble Bob Major 1. He took part in the first peal for the Midland Counties Association rung by members of the C.E.M.S. The funeral took place on Saturday last, a muffled quarter-peal being rung by his close friends after the interment in Earl Shilton Churchyard.

RINGING TOURS.

This is the period of the year when peal ringing tours attract attention. For those who like this form of holiday these trips among "new" towers can be very delightful, although, to a good many ringers, they savour rather too much of hard work, at any rate when the programme covers two peals a day for a week. But to those with sufficient enthusiasm and energy, who are prepared to devote their vacation to carrying out a pre-arranged excursion of this type, no one will begrudge the entertainment and pleasure which they get out of it. It is surprising, however, that there are not more tours arranged like those which the Cambridge Guild have carried out for many years past, in which peal ringing is really only incidental to the trip. An excursion which covers a visit to several towers in a day for short spells of ringing, with, perhaps, occasional peal attempts, but plenty of fraternal social intercourse, is an ideal way to spend a ringing holiday, as was proved last year by the very considerable party who joined in the "week" organised by the Bristol United Guilds, when, indeed, peal ringing was put entirely in the background. If that experiment could be repeated in other parts of the country many ringers would find a new source of enjoyment in the pursuit of their favoured hobby.

But even tours, it seems, can arouse controversy among ringers. Into the question of Sunday peal ringing we do not propose to enter more than briefly. It is a matter, we feel, for the conscience of the ringers themselves and the incumbent of the church where a peal is rung. Local conditions must also have weight, and the incumbent, surely, is the best judge of a matter of that kind. A Keswick correspondent this week, however, raises another point which, while having something to commend it in principle, would not, we imagine, work out well in practice. He suggests that on these peal-ringing tours the visiting bands should make room for one or two local ringers and ring a method which would give the latter some much needed experience. Would this be fair to, or even a reasonable thing to ask of men, who may have travelled long distances for a set purpose? Local men of established ability are already frequently invited to take part in peals with touring visitors, but these excursions are not "missionary" enterprises, and those who embark on them can hardly be expected to play the part of tutors and reduce the standard of the methods rung and of the striking to the level of any Tom, Dick or Harry who desired peal ringing practice. It may be hard for those who are really keen, to be denied opportunities for peals owing to local circumstances, but we imagine few touring companies could be got together if at each tower visited their scope were to be limited to the best that a local ringer could do. This best would be an unknown quantity until the tower was reached, and little enjoyment would be got from a succession of peal attempts marred by the carrying of "lame ducks," as would often be the case. Peal opportunities for men of this type might be provided by the associations if they cared to organise "missionary" effort on these lines, but it is too much, we think, to ask ringers who have come from a distance to undertake such a task. A peal ringing tour is something out of which the participants want to get the best that is possible.

THE VISIT TO LIVERPOOL.A RINGING WEEK ALONGSIDE THE RIVER MERSEY.

Seven peals were successfully rung at the various towers mentioned below. The tourists desire the Editor of 'The Ringing World' to express their sincere thanks to the clergymen and belfry captains of the twelve churches visited who so kindly placed the bells at their disposal and rendered personal assistance. Mr. G. R. Newton, on the Lancashire and Mr. W. Bibby on the Cheshire side did much to show the party many local features of feminine interest on sea and ashore, such as She's a fine tenor, or She's a fine boat, neither of which can be handled without a fine rope.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DISTRICT.

Another successful meeting took place at Houghton-le-Spring on Saturday, September 9th. Ringers were present from Sunderland, Darlington, Whickham, Chester-le-Street and West Hartlepool, with the local men. Ringing took place at the beautiful old church until 5 p.m. After tea a short meeting took place, Mr. R. L. Patterson, vice-president, presiding. Mr. Parker proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells. The Rector was always willing to have the ringers at Houghton, and the ringers were always pleased to visit Houghton. The Rev. Dawson Walker apologised for the Rector's absence, and said he was glad to welcome the ringers. He enjoyed the performances on the bells and hoped they would come from time to time. Mr. J. T. Titt proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for providing a splendid tea, and said it was a great help to ringers' meetings when the ladies gave up their time for them.

Mr. Parker proposed and Mr. Robson seconded that Jarrow be the next place of meeting on Saturday, November 4th. Jarrow has been much neglected of late, and a good attendance would be greatly welcomed to give a helping hand.

Before the close the vice-president took the opportunity of saying 'Au Revoir' to Mr. R. Parkinson, a local ringer and past vice-president, who is leaving the district for Blackpool. He said there was regret on his going away, and he would be specially missed by the Houghton ringers. Mr. Parkinson had done a great amount of spade work, and it was mainly through his efforts that the local ringers were in such a state of perfection. Mr. Patterson then called upon the Rev. Dawson Walker to make a presentation of a silver bell inkstand to Mr. Parkinson of the Houghton ringers in token of esteem. He hoped that it would always be a reminder of his ringing career in Houghton, and wished him all health and happiness.—Mr. Parkinson, in reply, said he was deeply touched by all the kind things expressed about him. He would always remember his 15 years at Houghton.

After the meeting the belfry was again visited and the bells kept going until 8 o'clock, the methods being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Major, Double Norwich and Cambridge.

STOURBRIDGE.—On Sunday, September 10th, at St. Thomas' Church for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: D. Tuner, L. W. Turner, C. Wm. Cooper, Ernest Turner, A. Reynolds, J. Wm. Smith (conductor), Arthur E. Whatmore, E. S. Bushell. First as conductor, also first for E. S. Bushell away from the table.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NEWBURY BRANCH MEETING.

A very successful meeting was held at East Ilsley on Saturday, September 9th. Members from the following towers attended: Bucklebury, Beedon, Brightwalton, Compton, Hampstead Norris, Newbury, Peasmore, Slaw, Thatcham and East Ilsley. Visitors were present from Abingdon, Cuddesdon, Overton, Portsea, Reading, Stratley, Wokingham and the Deputy Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg), of High Wycombe. A short service was held, conducted by the Rev. B. S. Spencer, Rector of West Ilsley, the Rector of East Ilsley (the Rev. A. Ogle) being on holiday. Mrs. W. East presided at the organ.

Tea was served in the Old Schoolroom by Mrs. W. Hibbert, the company including the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (chairman of the branch), the Rev. B. S. Spencer, Mrs. A. Ogle and Mr. R. T. Hibbert.

The Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford presided at the business meeting. The annual meeting was fixed for Newbury on Saturday, November 18th. The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. B. S. Spencer for his address, to Mrs. W. East (the organist), and Mrs. W. Hibbert and her helpers for providing the tea, which was carried with applause.

Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells after the meeting. The tower was again visited and the bells kept going in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Major.

A DAY IN KENT AND SUSSEX.

The Dartford and district ringers' outing took place on Saturday, September 2nd, to Brighton. The party left at 7.45 a.m., and were joined by ringers at Dartford, Erith and Crayford. A pleasant journey was then made to Tunbridge Wells, via the Hop Gardens, Wrotham and Paddock Wood. On arriving at St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, a fine peal of eight bells were soon going and several touches brought round. Arriving at Brighton at 12.45 p.m., lunch was partaken of at Ogden's Cafe. At St. Peter's, Brighton, the ringers enjoyed the fine peal of ten. After tea St. Nicholas', Brighton, with a fine peal of ten, was the next stage, but time there was far too short, as a service was held at 6 p.m. So a little handbell music was rung on the green, much to the delight of the residents. Leaving Brighton at 6.45 p.m., the next stop was Buxted Church, which stands in a beautiful park where deer abound. All ringers here had a pull on the fine peal of eight.

The ringers wish to thank all ringers of the churches and the Vicars of each for the use of the bells, as the success of the outing depended on their co-operation. They also wish to thank Mr. A. Stevens, who made the arrangements for lunch and tea.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Rev. E. S. Powell, who, first as hon. secretary and then as president, held office for 20 years in the Devon Guild, has been inducted to the living of Staverton, near Daventry, where he took up residence this week.

'The Ringers' Handbook,' of which he and Mrs. Powell are joint authors, can now be obtained from Mr. Powell at Staverton.

Mr. Stephen Plummer, whose letter on Pinner bells appears in another column, has just completed his jubilee as an organist. The Rector, churchwardens and choir of his present church have presented him with a handsome silver-mounted Indian picamento walking stick.

Will ringers please note that the date of meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association, Archdeaconry of Ely, at Chippenham, should have been Saturday next, September 23rd, and not the 16th.

WEDDING BELLS.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Southover, Lewes, on September 6th, in honour of the wedding of Mr. Marsh and Miss Uridge, the bride being a daughter of one of the vice-presidents of Southover Ringers' Guild. The ringers were: J. Wilmshurst 1, G. P. Elphick (first quarter-peal 'inside') 2, C. J. Rugg 3, O. Wood (Seaford) 4, A. J. Turner 5, R. J. Dawe 6, R. W. E. Dawe (first quarter-peal as conductor) 7, W. Ward 8.

BRIDGEND RINGER'S DAUGHTER MARRIED.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Iltyd's Church, Bridgend, on Sunday, September 10th, the contracting parties being Mr. Albert A. Worthington, of Bryn Mill, Swansea, and Miss Dorothy Muriel James, daughter of Mr. Rees James, the oldest and much respected member of the Bridgend band. The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace, with embroidered veil held in place with a coronet of orange blossom, and carried a bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaids (Miss Olga James and Miss May Thornton) wore floral organdie dresses, with hats to match, and carried bouquets of sweet peas. As the happy couple left the church the bells were rung by the local men to a touch of Oxford and Grandsire Triples, firing, etc. In the afternoon a peal was rung in their honour. The band take this opportunity of thanking the parents of the bride for their kind hospitality after the peal.

MARRIAGE OF MR. A. R. PINK.

WEDDING CEREMONY AT DORKING.

At St. Martin's Church, Dorking, Surrey, on September 10th, the marriage took place of Mr. Alan R. Pink, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pink, of St. Columh Major, Cornwall, and Miss Elsie A. Cleeve, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Cleeve, of Dorking.

Mr. Pink, who is on the staff of the Westminster Bank, at Eton, has been for some years an active ringer in the various districts of Surrey, Hants and Berks, where his duties have taken him. In the Windsor district his enterprise, coupled with the enthusiasm of ringers from various towers in the district, have led to the ringing of peals in a considerable variety of methods. The bride, too, has been an honorary member of the Guildford Diocesan Guild for a number of years.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Robins, who is himself a ringer at Dorking Parish Church, and the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, had as her matron of honour her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Storer. Her youngest brother, Mr. Stanley Cleeve, was the best man.

The bells rang out merrily after the ceremony, which was attended by about 35 guests, and later Mr. and Mrs. Pink left for the Lake District, where the honeymoon was spent.

A large number of presents were received, among them being a cut-glass flower bowl and stand from the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, of which the bridegroom was formerly secretary.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT ASH.

A meeting of the Farnham District was held at Ash on Saturday. Ringing on the peal of six commenced at 3 p.m., and the Guild service was conducted by the Rector of Ash (the Rev. B. J. Scott) at half-past four. The choir were in attendance under the leadership of the choir-master (Mr. L. Mansfield). Miss I. Gillians presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Church Room by Mrs. Bailey, a company numbering 34 (including choir) enjoying a splendid meal.

The Rector was in the chair for the short business meeting, and, following this, Mr. W. H. Viggers proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector, Mr. C. D. Mansfield and the local ringers, Mr. L. Mansfield and the choir, Miss Gillians, and Mrs. Bailey and her helpers. This was carried with acclamation, the Rector briefly replying. The tower was then revisited and good practice was put in until 8.30 p.m. Towers represented during the afternoon and evening were Aldershot, Ash, Farnborough, Farnham, Chiddingfold and Worplesdon.

AMONG WORCESTERSHIRE TOWERS.

A 100 PER CENT. WEEK.

After the successful tour in South Wales of September last year, it was unanimously decided to organise a similar ringing tour this year, Worcestershire being selected for the venue, and this summer Mr. Sid Holt was asked if he would arrange the towers and very readily consented. There were originally 12 possibilities for the tour, but only seven were able to make the trip, and six of them met at Paddington on Saturday, September 8th, for the Worcester express. We all regretted the absence of Wilfred Williams, who was the prime mover, but he found himself unable to get away from his business. Worcester was reached at 3.30 p.m., and the first attempt at 5 o'clock was at Hallow, about three miles out of the city. Here we found a fine Taylor eight, tenor 21½ cwt. hung in a tower with a very high pointed steeple. London was selected for the kick-off, and a good peal was brought round in 3 hours 11 minutes, our massive tenorman ably conducting.

On Sunday morning the opportunity was taken for a pull on the Cathedral bells, Stedman Cinques being rung with the local men. These are undoubtedly a magnificent peal, and we took the opportunity of inspecting the bells and the 82 cwt. Bourdon. It was decided to risk the wrath of 'Observer' and attempt a peal on Sunday afternoon at Claines, a village about two miles along the Birmingham Road. The Rector met us and wished us the very best of luck. We were unable to commence ringing until 5.33, but a peal of London was successfully brought round at exactly half-past six. It was a very near thing, as the organ commenced playing immediately we stopped. Here the ringing chamber is open to the church. After the service the bells were lowered.

The larger programme commenced on Monday, and we were up very early to Foregate Street for the train to Hagley. Our morning attempt was at Clent, where we met the Worcestershire veteran, Mr. William Short, and he welcomed us to his tower. He agreed to stand in the peal, the clappers being half-muffled in honour of the late Rector, who had passed away a few days previously. We found a very tuneful peal of eight, tenor 11 cwt., and an ideal belfry for ringing peals, and a splendid peal of London was rung in 3 hours, the third in succession. After a quick lunch, we moved to Hagley and a change of method. We found the church situated in ideal surroundings on the edge of Lord Cobham's park. Here there is a light peal, tenor 8½ cwt., and we decided on Bristol. However, after ringing two courses, the second rope slipped wheel, and as Bristol would not go, Cambridge was put on. The frame here is an old wooden one and very loose, and the bells do not go too well, but Cambridge was successfully rung in 2 hours 59 minutes. We were naturally very pleased at the fourth success.

On Tuesday morning an early train had to be caught for Stourbridge, where Reg. Chance was waiting to guide us for our first visit to Staffordshire. A splendid peal of Bristol was brought round at Brierley Hill, and the band very much enjoyed the peal on these tuneful well going bells and a nice airy belfry. After lunch a move was made to Kinver under the guidance of Mr. John Bass. The church here is situated on a very high hill several hundred feet above the village and possesses a light peal of eight, tenor about 12½ cwt., but long draught of rope. An almost perfect peal of London was successfully rung in 3 hours 6 minutes. No failures so far and the company full of enthusiasm.

Our first attempt on Wednesday was at Hanbury, right in the heart of the countryside, 10 miles from Worcester and well away from any bus route, but Mr. Percy Thomas very ably came to our rescue by loaning us his Lanchester complete with chauffeur. While waiting for the car some of the band had the opportunity of inspecting Mr. Thomas' windmill and pump works, and everything was much admired. On arrival at the church, Mr. Robert Knowles made up our band. It was originally decided to try Bristol, but one whole pull and Cambridge was selected. A new rope had a few days previously been procured for the tenor, but it would equally have done duty for a bell ten times the weight instead of a tenor of 16 cwt. A start was made and the peal of Cambridge rung in 3 hours 3 minutes. The bells did not go too well, especially the treble and two, which hadn't been pulled up for over eight months, but the band stuck to each bell very well and a decent peal resulted. Our next tower was at Bromsgrove. Here Cambridge Royal was successfully accomplished on the mixed peal of ten, with tenor about 18 cwt., in 3 hours 24 minutes, rather longer than the usual peal on these bells, but we did not intend to hurry them unduly. The church is undoubtedly a fine building with a splendid high spire. Mr. Harry Price and other local ringers were waiting to offer us congratulations, and our eighth peal in successive attempts was duly celebrated. We enjoyed Harry's hospitality very much.

Malvern Link, about eight miles out of Worcester and in the shadow of the Malvern hills, was our tower for Thursday morning. Here Mr. Knowles welcomed us to his tower and rang the treble for us. Sidney was enabled to call the first peal of Bristol on the bells and incidentally his first in the method as conductor. He performed very ably without any help from our tenor man, who also knew the peal. These are a splendid octave, tenor 16½ cwt., which sound under ideal conditions in the belfry, and the bells absolutely talk to each other in this very musical method, and the peal, which was practically free of trips, was rung in 3 hours 18 minutes. The afternoon attempt, at All Saints', Worcester, was not so ideal. Here we found a nice peal of ten, with tenor a ton, but as the tower twists and rocks they are rather a handful to ring, especially for the back enders. However, a very good peal of Stedman Caters was rung in 3 hours 16 minutes.

Our first tower on Friday was at Northfields, on the outskirts of Birmingham. Here we had the assistance of Mr. Pervin, from Coventry, and an excellent peal of London was rung in 3 hours 5 minutes. The belfry and bells here are ideal, the tenor being about 14½ cwt., and the band very much enjoyed the peal. Our afternoon attempt was at St. John's Church, Worcester, just across the river from the Cathedral, and here Bristol was the order. However, three home bolts brought the attempt to a premature end after two courses had been rung, but a second attempt met with success, and our twelfth in succession. This was incidentally the first peal of Bristol on the bells, and the peal was well worthy of the fine bells, with tenor 15½ cwt. After the peal the band enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Lewis, high tea being provided at their home.

On Saturday morning we said farewell to the father of the party, Keith, who departed leaving the bachelors to take care of themselves. Having stood in two attempts daily on four successive days, he was entitled to a rest, and he always prefers to ring at his home tower at Brighton St. Peter's for Sunday service. An eight mile bus ride into the country took the party to Sidney's home place, Crowle, a very peaceful place. However, it was our intention to disturb the peace, and Sidney conducted us to the tower. The bells are a light peal of eight, with tenor 10 cwt., and Cambridge was rung here in 2 hours 48 minutes. The third is very liable to slip wheel, but in Sid's capable hands was successfully rung, although it almost beat him two courses from home. Our tenor man was seen at the light end for the first time on the tour, and performed very ably, whilst Jack and Alf rung the tenors very well in quick time, a very good peal. Back to Worcester and thence by bus to Droitwich Spa for our final attempt at Dodderhill, on the hill opposite the town, with the band fully determined to give of their best so as to obtain all the possibles. These are undoubtedly a very fine peal, having been recast and rehung in a new frame by Taylor's in October last, the tenor being 18½ cwt., and the whole peal splendid in tone. Yorkshire Major was perfectly rung and this musical method sounded well on these bells. After 3 hours 8 minutes our conductor was able to say 'This is all,' and we had successfully accomplished all the 14 peals arranged.

Although only seven made the trip from the South, with the capable assistance of various Worcestershire ringers we were enabled to carry out our programme without a hitch. Everywhere we went we were made very welcome and everyone was very interested in our performances. The company are especially grateful to Mr. Sidney T. Holt for his untiring efforts in obtaining towers and ringers to fill the gaps, also the other ringers who came along to help us at short notice. Every peal was excellently struck, and 13 out of the 14 were Surprise peals. The company were a happy, sociable band. We were made very comfortable by our landlord and his wife. Incidentally the two Saturday peals were rung by all bachelors, also one or two during the week. The whole band voted the week a complete success, both as regards ringing and socially. C. E. S.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A happy gathering of the Central Branch took place at Sutton on Saturday, September 16th. About 27 members and friends were present, including Mr. Harry Chapman and Kate(?) Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., breaking off with Cambridge Surprise. Touches were rung in London, Cambridge, Norwich Surprise, Spliced Treble Bob, Kent, Woodbine and Oxford Treble Bob, Single Oxford Bob, Plain Bob and Stedman Doubles. Tea was very kindly provided by the Rector (the Rev. Canon Woodard) and Church Council. Among the ladies present were Mrs. Woodard, Mrs. G. Few, Mrs. R. Knights and Mrs. C. Gimbert (ringers' wives). A thanksgiving service was held in church at 7 p.m., conducted by Canon Woodard. The Rector gave a very inspiring sermon based on I. Epistle St. Paul to Corinthians, x., 30: 'Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.'

At a meeting later, a special practice meeting was fixed to take place at Somersham on September 27th, and it was agreed to hold these meetings every third week. The next meeting (general) will be at Longstanton on October 21st, and will be held in conjunction with the Ely Archdeaconry. Watch notice columns in this paper, please.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Stratton St. Margaret on Saturday, September 16th. This handy peal of eight were kept busy from 3 o'clock until about 8.30 p.m., with an interval for refreshments. The hon. secretary was requested to convey the sympathy of the branch members to Mr. Alfred Lawrence on the death of his wife. The older generation of ringers would remember Mr. Lawrence, who was a member of the Swindon Parish Church band for over 50 years. Members and visitors were present from Swindon (Christ Church and St. Mark's), Rodbourne Cheney, Fairford, Wootton Bassett, Colehill and members of the local band. Methods rung ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge and Superlative Major.

THE ROUGH WITH THE SMOOTH

At Carlisle we were involved in two unusual predicaments on Friday night. In the first place, our headquarters were being rebuilt whilst carrying on business as usual. One building in a block of valuable frontages was devoted to bedrooms, approached by back yards, several stairs and landings, that led to discussion on 'pairing off.' The meals were taken in another block, with scaffolding and workmen about and dust and noise enough to destroy all sleep and appetite.

The Very Rev. Cecil Cooper, Dean of Carlisle, had regretfully to refuse a full peal, but kindly sanctioned a half-peal on Saturday. This was altered to an hour's ringing on Friday evening, 8 to 9, when the vergers and the keys were not at home. Another key was procured, and then the mystery of Carlisle tower became acute. Half an hour in finding the key of the stair-door, only to discover that one key answered for both. Arrived in the tower, one member, in the growing gloom, walked round the entire tower in the narrow passage formed in the solid walls, another found the bell loft and saw the bells, but no ringing room was discovered until an electric pocket torch revealed the secret chamber, and at last eight men were within. Stedman Triples was rung with the oldest tenor ringer, 1853, on the oldest ringing bell, 1402. The bells were lowered, clock hammers carefully reinstated and all doors locked, ending what was, to me, an experience of a lifetime. Here the ringing room is beneath the belfry, yet not too noisy, as the old bells are a poor lot and preserved for their historical value. There is little hum note to be heard when ringing, and, like some of the older clergy, their voices are worn by long service to the Church, yet beloved by all who have the privilege to hear them. I was greatly impressed by the fine view of the Cathedral from the north-west; in proportion and outline it is almost a duplicate of Brecon Cathedral as seen from the same angle. These bells were restored in 1925, two trebles by Mears and Stainbank being added to the six old bells of 1658, cast at the charge of Lord Howard and other gentry of the county and city. An excellent report of the dedication and history has already appeared in these columns. There have been two peals rung here, Stedman and Bristol, but there does not appear to be early prospects of a local band scoring a peal, as surrounding offices and business premises deny long peals.

CARLISLE ST. STEPHEN'S.

Our final day together was Saturday, August 11th, and there was much to do before leaving for Penrith by the 12.40 train. A team was selected for Cambridge Major at St. Stephen's Church at 9 a.m. It only went three or four courses and the wise decision made then to look over the dear old Cathedral. The first peal in the county of Cumberland was achieved in this tower on May 18th, 1890, conducted by W. Gregson. The bells were cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1865, tenor 15 cwt., the late Baroness Burdett Coutts being the chief subscriber. She was a lover of church bells and gave the octave to St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, Westminster, at a total cost of £867 in 1861, as well as helping in the Chertsey restoration of 1859 with three new bells. Speaking from memory, I believe the Baroness, also in 1861, presented the bells to Vancouver, B.C., thus indirectly helping the first peal in the Dominion, 1911, a jubilee peal. Thanks were given to the Vicar and steeplekeeper with apology for not making better use of the opportunity. The band regretted they were unable to come again next Saturday.

'I set the bell a-ringing,
When the bride to the altar was led,
And I lov'd to hear it swinging
So merrily over my head.'

'The Bellringer.'

Gretna Green, the well-known matrimonial village, is situated a few miles out of Carlisle, on the Scottish border. It was visited by a quartette of our party—two married ladies and two bachelors, for safety—the famous blacksmith's shop was sedately inspected, and to the relief of the male members Kate was not present. The smith struck the anvil with his hammer and quoted the old formula, 'Will you,' etc., to a number of tourists gathered round him, but there was nothing doing and no wedding bells. John Linton's portrait is to be seen, priest 1825; and John Murray's chair, 1845-65, and many curios, but the 'tieg of knots' has fallen off. The Registry Office is now supplanting the blacksmith.

Carlisle City was left behind us at 12.30 with a yearning to see more of its surroundings and probe into its stirring history of five centuries. Its Cathedral bells were restored in 1825 in memory of her husband, Canon Rashdale, by Mrs. Rashdale, another instance of the affection for bells shown by the women of England.

PENRITH.

'And a-hunting we will go.'—John Peel.

This handsome and important old sporting town is but a few miles from Shap, and we arrived here for lunch after having completed a circular tour of the two counties of some 170 miles by road, rail and bus, with such brilliant sunshine the whole week that doubts arose as to whether Great Britain was off the gold standard? By kind permission of Canon Byard, we were allowed to attempt an afternoon peal, and our team, reduced to eight, were met at St. Andrew's Church by Mr. Harriman, and found all in readiness. We had the pleasure also of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Spice, of Canterbury, on holiday in the Lake district. At 3 p.m. a start for Superlative, the tenor asking to be 'turned in' and reputed to be 25 cwt., was short lived, the rope coming untucked. This was remedied and the second try ended well.

In 1763, Lester, Pack and Chapman cast a ring of six bells for this tower, tenor 12 cwt., and in 1902 they were increased to eight by Taylor and Co., tenor 10 cwt., when a new iron frame was installed. The belfry is very broad and is rather noisy, with a good circle and draught, and the windows can be opened, so there was no serious distress of any of the band when the happy 'That's all' came to the last peal of the tour.

About the year 1625 a bellfoundry existed in Penrith carried on by Thomas Stafford, whose bells are to be found in several neighbouring parishes. The 'great bell' at Cartmel Priory was cast in 1630 by him at a cost of £7, the founder 'agreeing to make it tuneable with the others.' No work dealing with the church bells of Cumberland has been published, excepting a few odd pieces of information collected by the Rev. H. Whitehead, of Lancaster, issued in 1886. Near Penrith is the home of that notable sportsman Lord Lonsdale, and in the churchyard is buried John Peel, the world-famous 'luntingsman.' If any reader would like instruction in this art I would recommend Troyte's 'Change Ringing,' see page 13. Our party found it most useful climbing the towers of Cumberland for a week. Messrs. Chapman and Jenkins will remember this tower in 1925, when, after barricading the stair door, four or five of the local hands came up and sat on a form stolidly watching the two tenor men until they set up. The bellhanger has been here since that eventful visit.

At 7.31 p.m. we bid farewell to Cumberland, and, our number reduced to six, slept at Kendal for the night. I should now like to thank the Vicar of Broughton for his kind offer of his bells for a Sunday peal. The party having broken up before it came, I fear the parishioners as well as ourselves were a little disappointed. The return journey to London in the afternoon was most restful, a first-class compartment (reserved, but unclaimed) was allotted to us all the way to Euston. We all felt truly grateful for the many kindnesses shown us by the authorities at the respective churches, and fully endorse the sentiments expressed by Canon Rawsley, the first president of the Cumberland Association, in the following lines:—

'Long may the bells of merry Cumberland,
Ring out to call the people unto prayer,
And skill and pious purpose hand in hand,
Week in, week out, climb up the belfry stair.'

PRESENTATION TO STAINES VETERAN.

On Saturday, September 9th, a meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Staines. The weather was glorious. St. Peter's Church was the venue, and ringing commenced about 3.30 p.m., several methods being rung, including Cambridge and London Surprise Major. Shortened evensong was held at 5 p.m., at which the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Flecker) delivered an address full of inspiration and of obvious sincerity, touching on the duties of bellringers. The local organist (Mr. Willard) attended. Tea was served in the Church Hall, where the large attendance (over 40) taxed the resources of the caterers. Miss Riggs and her assistants proved equal to the task.

Before the usual business meeting, a pleasing little ceremony took place. The Vicar, in a few well-chosen words, said that Staines' oldest ringer, Mr. John Phillips, had just attained his 75th year, of which 60 years had been connected with ringing. To show with what respect and affection they of Staines regarded him, a sum of £6 had been collected to present to him. An illuminated testimonial would be presented later. He personally congratulated Mr. Phillips on his record, and then called on Miss Riggs and Mr. Jackson (both members of the St. Peter's band) to make the presentation, which also included a miniature bell-medal. Mr. Phillips briefly replied.

The business meeting dealt with routine matters. The hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow) announced that the next meeting would be held at St. John's, Hillingdon, on Saturday, October 14th. It was hoped to arrange a social evening on that occasion. Permission had been granted to hold a meeting at St. Mary's, Acton, on Saturday, November 18th. Reference to the second annual supper on Saturday, January 13th, 1934, was also made. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to all who had contributed towards the success and arranging of the meeting.

After some handbell ringing, St. Peter's tower was revisited. Later the tower of St. Mary's was visited and the bells utilised for an hour. Some delay was experienced by the hon. secretary on his homeward journey through tyre deflections, but, having a well-trained ringer's wife, his excuse was accepted without demur! Morn, marry a ringer!

THE PINNER PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have just read Mr. Hibbert's criticism of my letter to you, re the Pinner half-muffled peal. I am sorry that his zeal as a campanologist should have led him to adopt such a discourteous tone (publicly) to a musician of equal zeal, who was expressing admiration at what seemed to him a most pathetic and beautiful effect.

Had Mr. Hibbert read my letter carefully, he would have seen that my hearing of the peal was of the shortest duration, as I went with my friends from our car to the tea table, and, with the conviviality all around me, could pay no more attention. It was only some days after when my imagination, evidently at fault, conjured up an impression such as I have stated.

I really think that Mr. Hibbert should withdraw his (I almost should say) gibes at my remarks, and not try to make an enemy of (up to that time) an admiring critic.

I only regret that my great friend, the late Mr. William Wooding Starnier, whom you must have known of, as the greatest authority on bells, is not alive to champion my musical instincts, however much they may differ from those of a campanologist.

You might be interested to know that the Phrygian Mode is the most pathetic and beautiful of all the ecclesiastical modes. The greatest musician who ever lived, John Sebastian Bach, has used it to harmonise the first Chorale in his Christmas Oratorio to the words, 'How shall I fitly meet Thee?' the melody of which is the same as that of the tune to the words of No. 111, Hymns Ancient and Modern, the Passion Chorale, 'O Sacred Head,' though there there is another setting of Bach's harmonies to the same melody.

The full scale in the Phrygian Mode will be found on a peal of ten bells, from the highest note downwards, but omitting the tenor and the bell above it, thus: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. Note the minor 2nd, the characteristic interval of the scale between the two lowest notes, which gives the desolating effect.

The six bells I imagined would be in a peal of eight bells, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, rung slowly, with an accent on 2, 5, 6. Of course, I understood that the bells were ringing changes, always letting the two characteristic bottom notes end the scale. These six notes might be vocalised, 'Another soul has flown.'

I think you will acknowledge that variations on these six notes, always preserving the position of the last two notes at the end, would constitute a most perfect funeral dirge, and one I should like to feel might be rung for myself, were I thought worthy of it.

Here are two variations I might suggest: 2, 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 1, 3, 2, 4, 5, 6.

The tonic-sol-fa names of the six notes of my quotation are, doh, te, lah, soh, fah, me. Each of the ecclesiastical modes has its beginning on a white key of the pianoforte, consisting of eight notes, omitting the black keys. They are Dorian, Phrygian, Lydian, Mixolydian, Aeolian, Sorian and Ionian.

STEPHEN PLUMMER.

September 2nd.

MR. MAURICE HIBBERT EXPLAINS.

Dear Sir.—My letter in 'The Ringing World' of August 25th was not intended for publication, being comments (as one of the band) sent for the editor's perusal. Still, on re-reading both letters, it holds good. I see a Mr. A. Howkins enters the lists on behalf of Mr. Plummer. If Mr. Howkins will kindly read my letter again he will find that I emphasised Mr. Plummer's musical training. What I attacked was his ear, a very different thing. If Mr. Plummer had written as an ordinary individual, I should merely have been amused, but, coming from an organist, it implied, quite unintentionally I have no doubt, a slur on the peal. I emphasise again that he sat for a considerable time under a very resonant peal, ringing half-muffled Stedman Triples in the slow time of 3 hours and 21 minutes.

Then he says he thought there were only six bells ringing, 7-8 being missing. What is the inference most people would draw on reading this, from an organist? They would assume that the bells were in a continual jumble and couldn't be picked out, when, as a matter of fact, it was an excellent peal. I suppose we must grant Mr. Plummer an ear, as a choirmaster, but it was most emphatically absent at Pinner. We have plenty of people in this village who don't know a note, but they know (and comment) when we ring six or seven instead of eight. I am pleased to hear Mr. Plummer is interested in bells, and am very sorry if I have hurt his feelings. I should like to point out to Mr. Howkins that the band who rang the peal are also interested, and ring all the year round, and, unlike most organists, are unpaid.

SUNDAY PEAL RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reading 'The Ringing World' of September 8th I was very much interested by the remarks made by Mr. Jennings with regard to Sunday peal ringing and the Lake District tour. I understand from those remarks that the peal was arranged for the benefit of the parishioners and youth of Orton on that particular Sunday, but I am sure if a vote were taken as to who enjoyed the peal most, the people outside, who were having their day of rest spoiled by three hours' pealing of bells, or the party who were ringing them, I think the voting would be obvious.

Mr. Jennings would have been better advised if he had arranged the peal on a night during the week, when he could have been outside the tower and explained to the crowd gathered there the attraction and fascination that change ringing has for himself and the party ringing the bells. He probably would have converted all the youth of Orton to the view that to be a change ringer was something worth while.

Sunday peal ringing should not be allowed by the Church authorities or recognised by the Exercise. All church bells are dedicated to the service of God, and, Sunday being our Lord's day, service ringing of not more than one hour in duration should be the object of every church bellringer. I agree with 'Observer' that Sunday peals are arranged for peal grabbing and not for the good of change ringing.

I compliment the party who took part in the tour of the Lake District, but I also condemn them for the way they chose their methods in the respective towers—perhaps I ought not to condemn all the party, but only those who had the arrangements in hand.

The following was the order of the day: On arrival at the tower inquiry was made from the local man who was there as to what method had not yet been rung through a peal on the bells. The method having been discovered, a peal was registered as the first peal in the tower of that method. These tactics are those of tower grabbers, without fear of argument.

In this district, where the towers are so scattered and enthusiasm has to be kept at the highest pitch to keep change ringing from dying out, would it not have been for the good of the district to ask the local captain if he had a man who would stand in for a peal. His striking, perhaps, would not be all that could be desired, but before he got through a peal with seven experts who would be in the team his striking would be as good as the rest of them, and he would have learned more in the three hours than all the practising he could ever get with his local band. A party who would tour this district with that object in view would be the pioneers of peal ringing in the Lake District, and their names would be honoured for a generation, whereas the peals recently accomplished by the experts will be regarded as a matter of form to such men and forgotten by the local tower in twelve months.

I must apologise, sir, if I have taken up too much of your valuable space, but I could have said more, and I sign myself, not by a noble plume, but

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A VISIT TO THE HOME OF JASPER W. SNOWDEN.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Ilkley on Saturday, September 9th. Members were present from the following towers: Armley, Burley, Bradford, Brighouse, Batley, Brantley, Guiseley, Headingley, St. Michael's and St. Chad's, Keighley, Holbeck, Low Moor, Pudsey, Queensbury, Rothwell, Ripon, Sheffield, Shipton and Shipley, with the local members. Although the bells were not of the easiest going, various methods were rung throughout the day.

Ten was served in Oddy's Cafe, and, through the generosity of Mr. Crawshaw, of Ilkley, a good tea was enjoyed at a reduced cost. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the vice-president (Mr. P. J. Johnson), the business meeting was presided over by Canon C. C. Marshall, M.A., the president of the association. The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted. The following new members were elected on the motion of Mr. L. W. G. Morris, seconded by Mr. J. W. Baxendall: Messrs. G. W. Debenham (St. Albans), Wilfred Hellwell (Bolton, Lancs), C. Renton (Armley).

Canon C. C. Marshall, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens, said that it was always a pleasure to visit the home of our founder and first president, Jasper W. Snowden. Mr. J. Cotterell seconded the motion.

Mr. J. Cotterell proposed that the best thanks be accorded to the local company, especially to Mr. Crawshaw for his generosity in the reduced cost of the tea. Mr. J. W. Baxendall seconded the motion. Mr. Crawshaw responded on behalf of the local company and promised to convey to the Vicar the vote of thanks accorded him.

Mr. J. Cotterell proposed, and Mr. F. G. Sherwood seconded, that the December meeting be held at Armley. The question of organised ringing at these meetings was discussed, and the committee are to report at the next meeting. This concluded the meeting, and some adjourned to the tower for further ringing, others to view the beauties of the moors and river.

Rope and Flag Works - EXETER, DEVON

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT.

The first meeting ever held at Middleton-on-the-Wolds took place on Saturday, September 9th, when the quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held. A choral service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. J. Wilson, M.A.), who preached a very good sermon on the various uses of bells in calling people to prayer.

Mr. A. N. Wood, of Northampton, a native of Middleton, who learnt to handle a bell on this musical ring of six bells, on learning of this meeting at Middleton, wired the secretary and asked to be allowed the pleasure of bearing the cost of the tea. He also sent some copies of 'The Ringers' Handbook' and 'Village Bells,' several copies of the current issue of 'The Ringing World' and cigarettes to be handed round after tea. He expressed the wish that the various towers in the district who received the books would make good use of them. He also wrote the tower secretary at Middleton asking what state the ropes were in. On receiving this report, he instructed Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, to supply a new set of ropes and six new mats for the belfry. He instructed the local secretary to have the old ropes sent away to be repaired, and said he wished everything to be in perfect order for the comfort of the visitors. Before commencing tea, the Rector sent, on behalf of all the guests, a telegram of grateful thanks and best wishes to Mr. Wood for his generosity. This action of the Rector's was received with loud applause. A bountiful tea was supplied to the 36 ringers present.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rector presided. Mr. F. Cryer, in moving a vote of thanks to all who had helped to make such a successful meeting, referred to Mr. Wood's extreme kindness. He remembered corresponding with him in his (Mr. Wood's) early days as a ringer, and impressed upon the local ringers the necessity of reading the books over and over again, advising them to obtain a set of handbells to practise on. He asked them to act on Mr. Wood's advice and have combined practices with other towers in the vicinity. This being seconded by Mr. Middleton, of Beverley, was carried with acclamation. Two new members were elected. Messrs. F. Braithwaite, of St. Mary's, Beverley, and L. G. Marritt, of Patrington.

Beverley was chosen as the next place of meeting in December. Further ringing on tower and handbells closed one of the most successful and enthusiastic meetings ever held in the Eastern District. The towers represented were Beverley Minster and St. Mary's, Goole, Howden, Hull, Kirk Ella, Market Weighton, Selby and Withernsea, and the local company were in full force.

CHULMLEIGH CHURCH BELLS. A FINE DEVON TOWER.

The ancient town of Chulmleigh was formerly a borough, but it does not appear that it ever sent burgesses to Parliament. The original Charter of Chulmleigh was granted to John de Courtenay, the then lord of the manor, authorising him to hold a market every Thursday and a fair once a year, on the feast of St. Mary Magdalene (to whom the church is dedicated). The Charter was signed by Henry III. in 1242. The church and tower are magnificent buildings, the tower itself being about 100ft. high.

The collegiate or prebendal church is certainly worthy of being reckoned among the many other fine churches in North Devon, standing as it does on the top of a hill, over 500ft. above sea level, overlooking the valleys of the Rivers Taw and Little Dart, over which the beautiful peal echoes and re-echoes.

Chulmleigh bells are well known for their sound and sweetness. Until 1924 they were a ring of six bells. Then two more were added, which were given by Mr. W. P. Martin, of Colleton Manor, and Mr. T. Sanders. The tenor weighs 28 cwt. The inscriptions on the trebles are:—

1.—In memory of Old Comrades N.D. Hussars who fought in the war 1914-18. Given by Thomas Sanders, Chulmleigh, 1924. Cast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. Note E flat. Dia. 30in. Weight 6 cwt. 3 qr.)

2.—To the Glory of God. In memory of the men of Chulmleigh who fell in the Great War 1914-18. Presented by W. P. Martin and M. C. Martin. Colleton, 1924. Cast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon. (Note D. Dia. 21in. Weight 7 cwt. 1 qr. 22 lb.)

The inscriptions on the original six bells are:—

Treble.—M. for Omnes. Pax. Lewes. Huins. Ecclesiae. Rectore, E.E. W.E.

2nd.—Apud Fratres Caritas. E.E. W.E.

3rd.—Erga. Deum. Pietas. Iohn Foss. Gent. E.E. W.E.

4th.—Thio. Tannar. Wm. Marker. Chw. EE. In. Ecclesia Episcopatus.

5th.—Iohn Chaunt. Simon Harris. Gent. E.E. W.E. Floreat Regno Monerchia.

Tenor.—Thoma. Bury. Armigero. Guardiano. E. W.E. Gloria Deo In Excelsis.

The date of the bells is 1718. Last August a visit was paid by a band of the Devonshire Guild, and the 'first peal of scientific ringing' was accomplished on the eight bells. This was a peal of Grandsire Triples. It greatly interested the listeners, but the Rector was away on holiday, and so was not able to give the expert campanologists the welcome he would have liked. Two of them (formerly parishioners) were on holiday from High Wycombe. Mr. Percy Newton, who was the conductor of the peal, and his brother Arthur, their father, Mr. Hyla Newton, and their brother, Mr. Levi Newton, reside at Chulmleigh. It is hoped that some day Chulmleigh, with the population of over 1,200, will be able to provide a full band of change ringers affiliated to the Devon Guild.

FORWARD!

Now that the dark evenings are returning, there will be in many parishes a return of ringers to the belfry for the weekly practice, which in summer has been allowed to fade out. There are arguments for and against the maintenance of ringing practices in summer, and those who would keep them going are frequently also faced with hard facts, which make effort in this direction entirely futile. Force of circumstances compels them to close down while long evenings and outdoor labour and pursuits claim their members, yet there are other bands who succeed in keeping together, and find it possible to meet for the weekly practice as readily as the Sunday services. But whatever has been done or left undone through the past summer, now is the time to set out with renewed vigour and interest to make some definite effort during the coming winter. There are few bands in which there is not room for new ringers, and few also who are so accomplished that they have no new fields to conquer.

We believe it to be a fact that in something like half the towers in the country there are insufficient ringers to ring all the bells for the Sunday services. Here, then, is a great opportunity to do some useful work this winter by, first of all, bringing all the depleted bands up to full strength. 'Where are the recruits to come from?' we shall be asked. It is not always easy to find them, but we would say search first among the congregation—among those who are already devoted to their church and who may be looking for a way to serve it further. And remember that ringing in these days is not limited to men. Women may prove equally useful recruits to the belfry, while the boys as they leave the choir are also good material. Only one in ten, perhaps, of those who are started will stick to ringing, so the task will not be an easy one; but that is no reason why an effort should not be made to build up bands, and there is no success so sweet as that ultimately achieved in face of difficulties and discouragement.

In those towers where the band is fortunate enough to have a full complement there ought to be no marking time. No company should be satisfied with being able to ring Grandsire, or Plain Bob, or Treble Bob, or even London Surprise. There is always something else to be learned, and there is no excuse for stagnation. It may be that there are companies who have just learned the elementary stages of change ringing and who find themselves unable to advance further by their own unaided efforts. For these there is always help available if they will go to their associations and seek it. Most of the ringing organisations have schemes for providing instructors, but in any case there are nearly always men available who are only too ready to give their help voluntarily where they know that help is needed. Every band should set before themselves some new standard to aim at—a stronger company, an improved level of striking, a new method, a 'local' peal—anything, as long as it will require fresh effort and create new interest and lead in the end to the advancement of the art of change ringing. RINGING TOUR IN HAMPSHIRE.

WITH A HOP INTO THE ISLE OF WIGHT.

A full measure of success on a ringing tour is an event to be proud of, and the Hampshire tourists sincerely congratulate their Worcester-shire 'rivals' on the ringing of all the peals attempted. That the same measure of success did not attend their own efforts was, perhaps, due to a little bad luck, although nothing is certain in peal ringing, but the bare fact remains that two were lost through causes other than lapses on the part of the ringers themselves. Indeed, it was noticeable that on no occasion was a second start necessary, and, apart from the two abortive attempts, the programme arranged was carried out in its entirety.

The band met at North Stoneham at 4.30 p.m. on the 16th inst., where a good peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung, conducted by Mr. George Williams. The next morning London Surprise Major, Cambridge Royal and Grandsire Caters were the order for morning service, in which some of the local ringers took part.

At Dibden in the afternoon an attempt was made for London, but after one hour's good ringing the sixth rope broke below the sally ('Observer,' please note!). The whole of the party were afterwards the guests of the chairman of the Southampton Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild to tea at the Rectory. Mr. and Mrs. Triton were warmly thanked by the ringers, before departure, for their generous hospitality. On Sunday evening part of the band rang at St. Mary's, Southampton, whilst others paid a visit to Christchurch Priory, where Grandsire Cinques was rung for even-song with other visitors and the local ringers.

Apart from the successful peals, which are duly recorded in the appropriate columns, an attempt was made for Bristol at Romeys Abbey on Tuesday, which failed after 2 hours and 50 minutes through the 5th rope slipping wheel, leaving the bell set up. Enough said!

At Whitchurch on Wednesday, after a good peal of Superlative had been rung, the band and friends were entertained to tea at the Vicarage by the Rev. M. S. and Mrs. Douglas.

Thursday was a busy day, a rush to the Isle of Wight and back leaving not much time to spare, but two good peals were the result of the visit. Friday and Saturday brought four more successes, the peal ringing part of the tour concluding with a good peal of London at Ringwood. Six of the band shared in the conducting, and it is a point worthy of notice that Mr. Lindoff last called a peal of Cambridge 40 years ago!

The tour was arranged in an admirable way by Mr. George Williams, to whom the thanks of Mr. William Pye and his colleagues are due. Sincere thanks are also accorded to the Rector of Dibden and Mrs. Triton, and to the Rev. and Mrs. Douglas, of Whitchurch, for their hospitality, also to the several towerkeepers for having the bells ready at the towers visited. Practice on Tuesday evening at St. Mary's, Southampton, was attended by some of the party, whilst on Saturday, after the peal at Ringwood, some eight members of the band paid a visit to Christchurch Priory, where Mr. George Preston had very kindly arranged a special practice for their benefit. Touches of Stedman Cinques and Treble Twelve were rung on the very fine peal in this beautiful old building, making a fitting termination to a very enjoyable ringing holiday. It is hardly necessary to add that the lovely scenery of the New Forest was greatly enjoyed on the many occasions it was passed through, whilst the shipping in Southampton Water was an object of interest, the 'Berengaria,' the 'Majestic' in dry-dock and the 'Empress of Britain' being specially noticed.

HANDBELLS AT WINCHESTER PRISON.

A LECTURE TO H.M.'s GUESTS.

Mr. Wilfred Andrews, a prominent member of Winchester Rotary Club, and captain of the Cathedral ringers, was invited to lecture on bells and change ringing at H.M. Prison, Winchester, on Wednesday, September 21st. He was accompanied by Mr. G. Noice and Miss Noice.

The party were met at the main entrance by the chaplain and chief warden, and were escorted through numerous doors and iron gates, and up winding stairs to the chapel, where about 200 prisoners were privileged to be present.

The lecturer, armed with a large assortment of manuscript, photographs and books, kept his audience's keen attention for about 30 or 40 minutes. He explained the casting of bells and how they were hung in church towers for ringing, and also described with the aid of diagrams on a blackboard the method of change ringing. He mentioned several outstanding peals of considerable merit that had been rung recently, including the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Exeter Cathedral, which he described as a very fine performance.

Miss Noice (1-2-3-4) and G. Noice (5-6-7-8) then rang on handbells courses of Grandsire Doubles and Triples and one or two other selections. This is believed to be the first change ringing ever done in one of H.M. Prisons.

At the conclusion, one of H.M. guests thanked the lecturer and his helpers for the very pleasant hour spent.—Mr. W. Andrews, responding on behalf of his colleagues and himself, said they were well repaid if a little pleasure had been given.

VETERAN AUSTRALIAN RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. J. M. GUEST.

The death occurred on August 15th at Melbourne, Australia, of a well-known ringer, Mr. J. M. Guest, at the advanced age of 87 years.

Mr. Guest had been closely associated with ringing in Melbourne since his arrival there about the year 1880, first at St. James' Cathedral and later at St. Paul's Cathedral when the latter was consecrated in 1891. He remained at St. Paul's Cathedral for five years and then gave up ringing.

In 1907 he was induced to return, and remained an active member up to the time of his death. Mr. Guest rang in two peals—conducting Holt's ten-part January 1st, 1890, a year before the Cathedral was completed. Thirty-six years later (1926), at the age of 80, he rang the 6th to Reeves' Variation of the same peal, conducted by the late Arthur Fitzgerald. Mr. W. R. Madgwick also rang in this peal. With increasing years Mr. Guest seldom attempted to call, preferring to leave this to younger and aspiring men.

Mr. Guest was a native of Staffordshire, England, and attributed much of his knowledge to that well-known ringer and teacher, the late Mr. William Micklewright.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

CONGRATULATIONS TO KNUTSFORD RECORD PEAL BAND.

The Stockport and Bowdon Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild held their quarterly meeting at Marple on Saturday, September 16th. The weather was gloriously fine and sunny, and the old six bells were set going early. These bells were cast by Rudhall and hung in Stockport Parish Church, where they did duty until a new ring was installed there about 1800. Some years later the old bells were hung at Marple, where they have been ever since.

Service was held in the church at 4.30, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. S. Spackman), who also gave the address. Tea followed in the Parish Institute, at which over 40 sat down.

At the business meeting, which was held outside in the grounds, the chairman, Mr. James Fernley, sen., congratulated the band who had rung the record peal of Treble Bob Minor at Knutsford on August 5th. He said that it was a very great achievement, and they deserved every credit for their performance. They had upheld the prestige of the branch for Minor method ringing. The branch was proud of them, and hoped they would go on further still and break their own record in the future.

There was no business on the agenda for this meeting, and, after votes of thanks to the Vicar and all who had catered for the tea, a return was made to the tower.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION MEET AT TICKHILL.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Tickhill on Saturday, when upwards of 30 members were present, the towers represented being Conisborough, Rawmarsh, Ecclesfield, Eastwood, Rotherham, Barnsley, Doncaster, Norton, Arksey, Sheffield Cathedral and the local company. Touches in methods ranging from Stedman to Double Norwich were rung previous to tea.

At the business meeting Mr. G. Lewis presided. Messrs. W. H. and J. C. Taylor, of Handsworth, were elected members of the association.

For the next meeting on December 16th an invitation was kindly given by the Rotherham company to have the meeting at that tower, and this was accepted with thanks.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens and to the local company concluded the meeting. It was very interesting to learn that one visitor had travelled from Essex, via Grimsby, to attend this meeting, which must be something of a record, but it is not true he was brushing up the dialect ready for the Snowden dinner at York.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Cheltenham Branch was held at Elkstone on Saturday afternoon, attended by some 30 members. The service was conducted by the Rev. T. S. Tonkinson, and a most interesting address delivered by the Rev. P. C. W. Earee. Tea, by invitation of the Rev. Tonkinson, was presided over by the branch chairman, Archdeacon Sears.

The business meeting was very short, and handbell ringing was indulged in and much appreciated.

Grateful thanks were accorded to all who had helped to make the meeting such a happy one. Amongst those present were the Rev. N. E. Hope, of Chedworth, and Mr. Fred Townsend, of Poole, Dorset.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN BRANCH.

A meeting of the above branch was held at Rowley Regis on Saturday, September 16th. The bells were available to the visitors from 3 p.m., and several good touches were brought round before service time, which was 4.15. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. Card, who gave an inspiring address on the duty of the ringer to his church and services.

Tea was served in the schools and was presided over by the Vicar. The business meeting followed, the Vicar taking the chair. Although a non-ringer, he very tactfully conducted the business. He was supported by Mr. W. Short (Ringing Master of the association), Mr. H. F. Martin, Bromsgrove (Ringing Master of the branch), Mr. C. W. Cooper (librarian), Mr. H. Mason, of Hagley, and Mr. A. J. Skelding (branch secretary).

The secretary read a letter from the Stourbridge ringers, giving them a very hearty invitation to hold their next meeting at Stourbridge on January 6th, 1934. It was unanimously agreed to accept that very kind invitation for the new year. Mr. A. Wyer, of Cradley, was disappointed that he had not been earlier with his invitation.

Special reference was made to the loss the association had sustained by the death of the Rev. P. C. Thomas, Vicar of Clent, who was always a warm friend of the association; also to Mr. W. Page, of Worcester, who had filled several offices of the association, the members standing in silence for a brief period. Apologies were received from Mr. W. B. Cartwright, of Selly Oak, and Mr. H. Martin, of Birkenhead.—The Ringing Master of the branch, Mr. H. F. Martin, and the branch secretary were re-elected, and Mr. W. H. Webb, of Halesowen, was elected Central Committee representative. On the proposal of Mr. H. Mason, the Vicar (the Rev. H. Card) was elected an honorary member. Several performing members were also elected.

It was decided that the quarterly peal be attempted by the local company and conducted by G. H. Detheridge, jun. Mr. W. H. Webb emphasised the importance of the branch. The largest part of the county was in that branch. The secretary also asked the members to be kind enough to allot themselves the duty of letting him know if they would be likely to attend the meetings. He had only 30 names sent in, yet 60 turned up for tea. It was hardly fair to him or to the local ringers who had to provide for them.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the ringers' wives who had so kindly assisted at the tables on the proposal of the Vicar, and he spoke very highly of their husbands, who gave of their best Sunday by Sunday.

Mr. H. F. Martin said it gave him great pleasure to move a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the kind way he had received the ringers, for arranging the service and presiding at that meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A number of letters to the Editor are unavoidably held over.

The memorial to the late Mr. H. W. Wilde will be opened on October 28th. The memorial takes the form of a tablet, cast in bell metal and placed in the baptistry of Eccleston Church, near the belfry door. The tablet has been made by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

Last Saturday, Mr. George H. Williams rang in a peal of Stedman Triples at Coleshill. It was his first peal for 38 years! What a gap!

Mr. D. Cecil Williams, of Shirley, Southampton, has just taken the degree of Mus.Bac. in the University of Durham. Few ringers have achieved similar distinction.

Mr. W. J. Moss, of Stretford, Lancs, has just completed 35 years' service at St. Matthew's Church, where he learned to ring in 1898. He rang his first peal in 1902, and on September 18th of the same year his first peal in his home tower.

The 3rd bell at Rowberrow, Somerset, which was cracked by a chiming hammer, has been recast by Major J. H. B. Hesse, of Haslemere, Surrey, and his sister, Mrs. Marshall, of Wroughton, in memory of their father and mother, the late Lt.-Col. J. B. and Mrs. E. M. Hesse.

The cracking of this bell was the source of some discussion at the last meeting of the Central Council.

A gentleman wrote to us this week for a copy of a method sheet and enclosed the cost—3d. We do not supply these publications; therefore, the application was forwarded to the hon. librarian of the Central Council. Moreover, the 3d. was sent through the post in coin of the realm—result, a surcharge of 6d. on the letter! This is going to be a profitable transaction for someone.

The Rev. C. Elliott Wigg, curate at All Saints', High Wycombe, who was recently appointed Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, was on Sunday, in Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, ordained priest. A peal in honour of the event was rung by a local band, of which Mr. Wigg is a popular member, at High Wycombe on the same day.

A member of the Oxford University Society was giving some explanations to a beginner, when a friend standing by, but not interested in the matter, observed, 'It doesn't sound a very respectable sort of business—such a lot of dodging and lying in it.'

By the way, the first meeting of the society for the new academical year will be held on October 10th.

The peal of Bob Royal rung at Gravesend on Sunday, September 17th, should have been credited to the Kent County Association.

REMOVAL OF A LINCOLN CHURCH.

ST. PETER-AT-ARCHES TO BE DEMOLISHED.

A £15,000 scheme to remove the Church of St. Peter-at-Arches, Lincoln, to another district has been adopted. The new site is in the parish of St. Giles, and the material of the old church is to be absorbed into a new and larger building, which, owing to the circumstances of the site, is to face west instead of east.

St. Peter-at-Arches has a ring of eight bells and a 'ting-tang.' These are to be retuned by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and hung in the new church.

PREJUDICE IN HIGH PLACES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Quite seriously and earnestly I implore you to reprint the leading article in 'The Ringing World' of September 15th, and earnestly I ask someone who has inter-diocesan knowledge to direct a copy of this reprint to the chairman and secretary of every Diocesan Advisory Committee. It is, as your article says, 'the opposition of a type of antiquarian' which is so baneful.

You might also open your correspondence column to receive stories of fatuous suggestions put forward by diocesan architects and such.

Here is one. The frame in the parish of T— is eaten by death-watch beetle and wood worm. It is built so high that it swings backwards and forwards. The ends of the beams are rotten. The parish, naturally, wanted a new frame, and got a tender from two leading firms of bellhangers. But in steps the diocesan architect and describes this suggestion as 'vandalism,' and gets out a scheme for splicing, undergirding and patching the old frame, which then 'might last 60 years.'

Knowing the difficulty of facing the Advisory Committee with the architect against them, the parish thought it best to get estimates for this patchwork scheme. The estimates were slightly higher than the cost of a new frame.

Fortunately, a certain Canon, who is a well-known ringer, was good enough to come down and give his opinion. I need not say what his advice was.

There the matter stands at present, but is it not monstrous that a parish should be at the mercy of a committee of country parsons who know as much about bell frames and ringing as a cow knows about ironing a shirt?

MEMORIAL TO RINGING ADMIRAL.

BELLS DEDICATED AT WOKING.

A memorial to the late Admiral Thomas Philip Walker, D.S.O., for nearly a quarter of a century churchwarden of the Parish Church, Woking, and hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild from its foundation until his death, was dedicated on Friday. A bronze tablet on marble has been erected in the church, and the bells, which he loved so well, have been tuned and the sixth recast. The Guildford Diocesan Guild associated themselves with the parochial scheme, and undertook to defray the recasting of the cracked bell, and so readily did the members respond that, when it was found that more money was needed to complete the scheme than had been raised locally, the Guild contributed the balance.

The work in connection with the bells was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who in 1929 added the two trebles, for the provision of which Admiral Walker was chiefly responsible. A vast improvement has been effected in the ring, which are now one of the finest in the diocese. The tenor is now approximately 18½ cwt. The new sixth bell is inscribed:—

'This bell was recast by the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers in memory of their first Hon. Treasurer, Admiral Thomas Philip Walker, D.S.O. A.D. 1935.'

The inscription on the tablet, which is surmounted by a naval anchor, is:—

In affectionate memory of Admiral Thomas Philip Walker, D.S.O., for upwards of 24 years (1908-32) churchwarden of this church. Entered into rest 27th August, 1932. The bells in the tower were retuned and this tablet erected by friends and relatives.

The dedication took place at the harvest festival service, and was performed by Bishop Golding-Bird (Assistant Bishop and Archdeacon of Dorset). There was a large congregation, Mrs. Walker (the widow) and other members of the family being present. Many ringers attended, including the Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse), the hon. treasurer (Mr. J. Corbett), the hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council) and Mrs. Lewis, Messrs. A. H. Pulling, C. Hazelden, G. Glode (Guildford), W. Denyer and C. W. Denyer (Aldershot), A. Harman, A. H. Smith and W. Whiting (Leatherhead), H. J. Chaffey (Chertsey), C. H. Kippin (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association) and Mrs. Kippin, Mr. F. E. Dawe and a full muster of the local band, including Mr. J. Brackley (captain) and Mr. D. Munday (hon. secretary). Mr. A. A. Hughes represented the founders.

The Vicar (Canon G. Askwith) conducted the service, and the Bishop first dedicated the tablet, after which a procession to the tower was formed. Those who assembled in the ringing room with the Bishop were the Vicar, the churchwardens (Lt.-Col. R. R. Hill and Mr. F. C. T. Mann), Mr. A. E. Garrod (hon. treasurer of the Memorial Fund), the Master, hon. treasurer and hon. secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, Mr. A. A. Hughes and the local ringers.

The Master, on behalf of the Guild, requested the Bishop to dedicate the new bell to the memory of Thomas Philip Walker, while the Vicar, on behalf of the subscribers, requested him to rededicate the other bells.

The Bishop then performed the ceremony with the prayers customary on such occasions, and while the clergy and churchwardens returned to the chancel, the local ringers rang the bells in some good rounds. The Bishop preached a striking and thought-provoking sermon from the words, 'For what we have received may the Lord make us truly thankful.'

Afterwards, the hour being rather late, ringing was limited to two short touches of Stedman Triples, the first being by a band representative of all the four districts of the Guild.

GUILDFORD GUILD'S 'GIFT OF LOVE.'

The proceedings were continued on Saturday, when the Guild held a special meeting, which was attended by over fifty ringers from all parts of the diocese. A service was first held in church, conducted by the Vicar, the Guild's form being used. This includes the 150th Psalm, which was specially sung at the late Admiral's funeral, and the hymn, 'Unchanging God,' which was one of his favourite hymns.

The Vicar, in his address, paid a tribute to the late Admiral Walker's services and devotion to that church and the diocese, and spoke of the special interest which in his later years he displayed in the ringing of church bells. The tribute which they, as ringers, were paying to him that day was, he said, not one of mere memory, but a practical token of esteem and affection. On the previous evening they had dedicated the memorial tablet and the returned bells, and he thought it was a wise and considerate suggestion on the part of the hon. secretary of their Guild that they should have that service in order that the ringers who were unable to be present at the dedication service might feel that they were not left out of some little share in what was being done. On behalf of himself, the churchwardens and the members of his own belfry, he welcomed the Guild. The Vicar then went on to speak of the message of the bells, which, he said, was one of cheer, comfort and a call to come to the House of God. Such a message could be given effectually only when sent out by straight men and women. They must not contradict in their lives the message they wanted to give.

RINGING TOURS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your leading article of the 22nd can only be described by any broad-thinking ringer as rot and rubbish. I heartily agree (as I think 75 per cent. of ringers would if it was put to a vote) with the remarks of Tyson Hogarth, of Keswick. To your question of would it be fair to expect touring bands to make room for a local in their peals, I would, and I believe scores of others too, decidedly answer, 'Yes.' How many ringers worthy of the name of change ringers are there who could not at the least ring treble to any Plain or Treble Bob method or drum tenor to Stedman? Yet these men would rather ring those bells themselves than give a chance to a local whose generosity they are enjoying for their ring at that particular tower. Whether the parson grants the use of the bells or not, the locals have also a perfect right to say who shall ring at their tower and who not. It would be so at the home tower of any of these touring bands, and they would not be particular at saying what method should be rung. I know of plenty of towers where, if a Grandsire band wanted a peal there, they would be refused, but if a Surprise band asked to go they would almost run after them with a taxi to meet them. No band who were genuinely out for a pull at a strange tower would mind what method they rang providing it was 'struck.' The very fact that they want to pick out those methods which only fit in with their own ideas proves that they are for themselves and themselves only. Such ringers are useless and only ornaments to the Exercise.

My remarks can be proved still further by anyone who takes the trouble to read 'The Ringing World' thoroughly each week, as I have done for 12 years. They should know that these touring bands act exactly the same when at home as when out, for they never do any helping with learners (as far as peal ringing is concerned at any rate). They are 'Surprise mad' and nothing else, and one can only express surprise at you, sir, backing up ringers with such selfish methods, particularly when one reads other articles of yours preaching the encouragement of beginners.

'A VOICE FROM NORTANTS.'

We are sorry to have provoked 'A Voice from Northants' to such a wrathful outburst, but, having thus delivered himself, perhaps he will read the 'rot and rubbish' again, when he may have time to realise that he has taken out and criticised one sentence from a reasoned argument and ignored the rest as well as the hard facts of these ringing tours. 'A Voice from Northants' apparently belongs to a ringer who imagines that peals should only be rung for the benefit of beginners. Peal ringing of any other sort is anathema to him. We doubt if those who read his letter will put him in the category of 'broad thinking' ringers. A peal ringing tour, when ringers travel hundreds of miles at great expense for a set purpose, is on a different basis to peal ringing carried on locally, but, of course, you cannot make people see this if they have made up their minds that they do not want to see it.—EDITOR, 'R. W.'

Afterwards ringing took place, and later tea was served in the Parish Hall. The Vicar presided, supported by Mrs. Walker, the churchwardens (Lt.-Col. Hill and Mr. Mann), the hon. treasurer and hon. secretary of the Guild.

After tea the Vicar extended a welcome to the ringers, and the hon. secretary expressed the gratification of the Guild in being able to take a share in the memorial to Admiral Walker. He apologised for the absence of the vice-presidents (Mr. Walter Harrison and the Provost, the Very Rev. E. C. Kirwan) and the Master (Major Hesse). In their absence he had, he said, great pleasure in handing to the Vicar the Guild's donation to the Memorial Fund—a cheque for £60—and expressed the hope that the bells, which had been vastly improved, would find no lack of enthusiastic ringers to maintain the purpose for which they were placed in the tower and the art which Admiral Walker was so keen to foster.

The Vicar expressed deep appreciation of the Guild's generous gift, but reminded those present that they had got it at tremendous cost—the loss of Admiral Walker. The Vicar added that he was pleased to see so many young ringers present, showing that there were those coming on who would be able to take the places of the older members.

Lt.-Col. Hill, who succeeded Admiral Walker as churchwarden, thanked the Guild for their invitation to be present that day. He had, he said, a great interest in everything connected with Woking Parish Church, but after the proceedings connected with that memorial he would have a still greater practical interest in the bell-ringers and sympathy with their work.

The hon. secretary thanked the Vicar for holding the service and the use of the bells. He also thanked him and the churchwardens for their presence, and said they were specially honoured in having with them Mrs. Walker, whose interest in the Guild, first prompted by her husband, had continued to grow.

Mrs. Walker made an exceedingly gracious and brave speech in reply, in the course of which she thanked the Guild for their 'gift of love.'

Afterwards the ringers returned to the tower, where touches in a variety of methods were rung—from rounds to London Surprise. Five ladies took part in the ringing, and one of them, Miss Viggart, of Aldershot, rang the tenor admirably to a touch of Stedman Triples.

WANDERINGS IN WESSEX.

SOME DORSET TOWERS.

Dorset is rightly called 'a county of varied charms,' for here the wanderer can find some of the finest of cliff scenery; bold, rugged hills; gently smiling valleys, babbling streams; woodland, wild heath, and 'high places,' from which one can obtain views as varied as they are beautiful. But Dorset's charms do not end here; the ringer will find an additional attraction in the glorious towers and bells which abound in this region.

Some 'tower grabbers' from Bucks spent an enjoyable fortnight amongst these Dorset bells, which are as varied as the scenery.

Ringling activities began at All Saints', Wyke Regis, on the first Sunday morning, where we met with a hearty welcome from the local band, and greatly enjoyed the touches on these lovely bells. The evening found us at Dorchester, where, after exploring the fascinating old Roman town and Maumbury Rings (an excellent specimen of a Roman amphitheatre), we rang on the fine bells at the ancient Church of St. Peter. Outside this church stands a statue of the Dorset poet, William Barnes, famed for his charming poems in the Dorset dialect.

'Sweet Be'mi'ster, that bist abound
By green and woody hills all round.'

Thus Barnes describes the secluded, quiet little town of Beaminster, placed in a charming countryside, from which its 'Tudor tower of red stone' (the finest in Dorset) rises with great dignity. What a thrill we felt as we studied the wonderful architecture of the tower and its magnificent proportions. And what a grand setting for the famous bells that hang within the tower. These are a fine ring of eight, cast by Thomas Bilbie and his son in 1765, in the adjoining churchyard, owing to difficulties of transport in those days. In spite of the obstacles which they must have encountered, the Bilbies succeeded in casting a maiden peal, which is a sheer delight to listen to. All the bells of this notable ring bear the names of the founders, 'T. Bilbie, sen., and T. Bilbie, jun.,' the names of the churchwardens, Thomas Harris and John Hearn, and the date, 1765. In addition the tenor bears the inscription, 'I to the church the living call, and to the grave do summon all.'

A climb to the top of the lofty tower reveals a wondrous view of

'The zwellin' downs wi' chalky tracks,

A climmin' up their zunny backs.' (BARNES.)

And so a long cherished dream was fulfilled—to ring on Bilbie's masterpiece—and as we thanked the enthusiastic ringers who met us there (some at considerable inconvenience), and made it possible for us to try these glorious bells, we secretly cherished the hope that we might have the privilege of ringing a peal there—some day.

Saturday was devoted to an interesting tour of Dorset in a comfortable motor coach, with facilities for ringing in four towers. The first call was made at Puddletown, a peaceful little village, though not so many years ago it was a flourishing market town. It was interesting to find that this church is the one described by Thomas Hardy in his novel, 'Far from the madding crowd.' The fine, carved oak singing gallery, dated 1635, is still to be seen. Here Thomas Hardy's father used to play as one of the musicians accompanying the choir. But the glory of the church is to be seen in the beautiful old silver-grey oak roof, wonderfully carved, which was added in 1400, and which has, unfortunately, been found to be unsafe through attacks by the death watch beetle. After ringing on the handy little peal of six here, we journeyed on to Bere Regis—the Kingsbere of 'Tess of the D'Urbervilles'—where the tombs, memorials and famous window of the Turberville family may be seen. This beautiful church has a pinnacled tower and an extraordinary timber roof, richly carved, ornamented and painted with figures of cardinals and bishops. Two touches were rung here before the journey was resumed to Milton Abbey, where a meeting was in progress. This glorious Abbey, set in such beautiful, natural surroundings, forms a picture which will long remain in our memories, but as it has already been described in 'The Ringing World' I will say no more. After taking part in the service and social arrangements, and enjoying a few touches on the harmonious eight, we visited the charming little old-world village of Hilton. Here we safely negotiated the thick darkness of the bellfry steps, and rang our last touches for the day—a day that will not easily be forgotten.

On Sunday evening, after exploring the fascinating ruins of Corfe Castle, we were enabled to ring on a beautiful modern eight at Kingston, cast by John Taylor and Co. 50-60 years ago. Here we received quite a welcome, for the ringers were short-handed owing to several of their members having been called away to fight a heath fire some miles off. However, we just numbered eight, and the bells were soon going to a nice little touch of Grandsire, in which the mellow music of the bells was heard to good advantage. The time passed all too quickly, and we felt like expressing Oliver Twist's sentiments; at all events we certainly hope to repeat this experience at some future date!

The church itself was worth the visit, being known as Street's masterpiece; it is built of the beautiful Purbeck marble and stone, all of which was quarried within two miles of the church. Situated on a tree-clad eminence, it commands a wonderful panorama of the surrounding district.

Monday was devoted to the varied interests of Abbotsbury—the old Abbey ruins and picturesque fifteenth-century tithe barn (the largest in England), the quaint little Chapel of St. Catherine on the extreme summit of a hill, the attractive swannery, and the ancient Church of St. Nicholas. Here we spent a happy evening with the local ringers, together with some enthusiasts from Dorchester and Upwey, and became so much engrossed that we nearly forgot there was such a thing as a last train!

The following day was spent at Lulworth, 'that small basin of sea enclosed by the cliffs,' and one of the most romantic spots on the south coast. The afternoon was spent at Holy Trinity Church, West Lulworth, where some very enjoyable touches were brought round, thanks to the assistance of two of the local ringers.

We should like to express here our very great appreciation of all the kindness which was extended to us by the genial Dorset ringers during our stay in Dorset, and also the very deep debt of gratitude which we owe to Mr. C. H. Jennings, the hard-working secretary of the Dorchester District, who did so much, through his abilities as guide and ringer, to add to the enjoyment of an extremely happy holiday.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Members from both dioceses attended the meeting held at Peterston on Saturday, September 16th. It was most interesting to learn that the locals had made definite arrangements to reorganise the ringers, who for the past couple of years had done little ringing. The band is formed, a new leader appointed and there is every likelihood of Peterston band being once again affiliated to the association after a lapse of about 15 years. The bells, a ring of six, were rung during the afternoon in the standard methods, and at 4.30 service commenced, the Vicar, the Rev. M. Jones-Powell, D.D., who for many years was Vicar of Cardiff, officiating.

Following the service tea was taken in the Church Hall through the generosity of the Vicar. The business meeting followed, and the various items dealt with included reading of minutes, instructors' reports, restorations and the election of several new members. The usual vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for taking the chair, for the service, for the use of the bells and for his hospitality. Afterwards the bells were kept going unusually late, bringing to a close a most pleasant and enjoyable meeting. The next meeting will be held at Bedwellty.

DEVON GUILD BRANCH MEETING.

The Exeter District Branch of the Devon Guild held an autumn meeting at Kenn, near Exeter, on Sept. 16th, with an attendance of 34 members, although facility for ringing was practically limited to the six bells of the Parish Church.

A service in the fine old church was conducted by the venerable Rector, the Rev. F. W. Vining, with organ and choir. Tea in the Schoolroom adjoining the Rectory was followed by the business meeting, under the chairman of the branch. The Rev. E. V. Cox, president of the Guild, presented certificates to seven members of Ide band, and congratulated the voluntary instructors on their success. Mr. Cox said he thought Kenn was one of the most lovely churches they could visit for their meetings, and the presence of the Rector at their meeting was an honour for which they were grateful. He hoped the spirit of unselfishness which had borne such good fruit at Ide would be continued, and that members would show ambition to progress in their ringing to something higher than the plain methods. He emphasised the need of greater support for 'The Ringing World,' of which every tower should regularly take at least one copy weekly.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at St. Sidwell's, Exeter, on Saturday, December 9th. Mr. A. T. Truman, the local representative, having appealed for assistance in training some recruits, after discussion it was resolved to apply for a grant for car hire, as the bus service was unsuitable. After the meeting members returned to the tower and rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor. A party went over to Exminster to ring there, a three miles walk through typical Devonshire lanes.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Chipping Norton Deanery Branch held their autumn meeting at Spelsbury on Saturday, September 9th, with about 50 in attendance. Ringing commenced at 2 o'clock. The service was held in the church at 4 o'clock, when the Vicar gave the address.

Tea was partaken of in the Memorial Hall. After tea a short business meeting was held, presided over by the chairman (the Rev. E. C. Freeman). The Chairman asked all members to stand in silence in remembrance of an old member, the late F. Candy, of Chipping Norton, who was always a regular attendant at their meetings. The secretary (Mr. J. Kye) then read the minutes of the last meeting, which were adopted and passed.

Kingham was chosen for the annual spring meeting. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Spelsbury for his invitation there that day and also for giving the address, also to the organist, blower and ladies for providing the tea. The ringers then rang at the following towers: Spelsbury, Shipton-under-Wychwood, Churchill and Chipping Norton, the following methods being rung: Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob Minor and Grandsire Triples. Ringers took part from Chipping Norton, Churchill, Chastleton, Charlbury, Ilmington, Shipton and Coventry. This brought to a close a very successful meeting.

WEDDING BELLS AT RUMNEY, CARDIFF.

On Monday week the wedding was solemnised by the Rev. F. A. Oswell (a bellringer), who deputised for the Vicar, of Mr. Albert Stoodley and Miss Hilda Heath, daughter of the popular Cardiff ringer, Mr. Bill Heath. The bride was given away by her father and looked most charming, as also did her young sisters, prettily dressed, who acted as bridesmaids. Whilst the register was being signed the bells struck out in the usual rounds, Queens and firing and were kept going for nearly an hour. It had been arranged to go for a peal on Rumney bells, but, owing to a serious case of illness near the church, it could not be attempted. In the meantime, not to be disappointed, the Vicar personally arranged with the Vicar of Peterston for the use of his bells; the peal was rung as recorded elsewhere. The ringers were afterwards the guests of Mr. Heath.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

Over thirty members visited Berkswell on Saturday, September 16th, to try the bells which have recently been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough. Those who had rung there on previous occasions pronounced a marked improvement in the 'go' of the bells. The only drawback is that there is so little space for the ringers to stand. However, when the difficulty of ropesight was overcome, some good ringing resulted. After tea much amusement was caused by Mr. W. A. Stote (Coventry) producing from his pockets a set of handbells, the tenor of which was about 3in. in diameter. The handles were of wood.

The tower bells were put to good use again in the evening until about 8 o'clock, the majority of the better known methods being rung. The following towers were represented: Allesley, Arley, Birmingham (St. Martin's), Chilvers Coton, Exhall, Erdington, Lillington, Nuneaton, Stoke (Coventry) and Warwick. The best thanks of the Guild are due to Mr. James, the local captain, for his welcome and the trouble taken to ensure the success of the meeting.

OXFORD'S BICENTENARY.

Oxford is this month to celebrate a bicentenary that will help to remind ringers that this seat of learning has a long history in the art of change ringing. For two hundred years at least there are records of change ringing in Oxford, although it is fairly safe to surmise that the art was well known there for the best part of a century before that. The rival 'Varsity town of Cambridge can offer more definite evidence of the practice of change ringing in the last half of the seventeenth century, but it is more than likely that the art was equally established at Oxford even in those early days. One of the grounds for the contention is the name of the method which has been known as Oxford Treble Bob from the time when Fabian Stedman published the first books on ringing; and of other methods which were described as 'Oxford methods,' suggesting that they originated in Oxford. But be that as it may, there were undoubtedly change ringers in Oxford in the early eighteenth century, and they had, even in those days, plenty of bells on which they could practise. But definite records are lacking until the year 1733, when, according to Hearne, an Oxford diarist, Oxford men rang the bells at Christ Church in an endeavour to imitate some London ringers, who on a recent visit had done some 'most surprisingly fine' ringing. The Oxford men, remarks the chronicler, 'were soon out and made poor work of it in comparison of the others.'

These men had nothing to do with the University, but belonged to the town. Whether they had actually formed themselves into a society we are unable to say—perhaps the Oxford Society can tell us—but they were the foundation upon which the Oxford Society was ultimately built. There are very few ringing organisations with a two hundred years' long pedigree; and those who can claim it, however humble, are entitled to the respect and admiration of ringers to-day. It is these societies which sowed what later generations reaped; which during the early days of the art laboriously kept it alive and which produced the men who dug and delved to enrich the knowledge of those who followed them. Ringers of to-day owe more to the men of these old societies than most people realise. They formed the centres through which knowledge could be circulated and if sometimes they rather jealously guarded their 'secrets,' it was only by the aid of such societies that progress could be made. Even the rivalries between them helped to advance change ringing, not alone by the competition which existed to set up new standards of peal ringing, but by the endeavours of, shall we call them, the more 'brainy' ones to provide new and better compositions. the ringers of Oxford in the eighteenth century contributed to the general stock of knowledge we are unable to say. There are no outstanding names like Stedman, or Annable, or Reeves or Shipway, but that is of no moment. What matters is that for two hundred years there have been ringing activities in Oxford, and throughout that time—more in some periods, less in others—the art of change ringing must have radiated and added to the sum of knowledge and interest that slowly but surely spread throughout the country. The members of the Oxford Society do well to remind us of these things, as they do by celebrating the bicentenary of Oxford's recorded ringing performances.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday, September 16th, at Reigate. Various methods were rung on the eight and ten bells during the afternoon, and tea was provided at Mark Dean's Restaurant. At the business meeting, Mr. L. A. Tidy (Ringing Master) presided.

It was proposed that the next quarterly peal be attempted at St. John's, Redhill, the method to be Grandsire Triples and Mr. G. Hoad conductor.

The secretary announced there would be a ringing meeting at Buckland early in October, by the kind invitation of the Rector (the Rev. H. W. Dunk), notice of which is given in our notice columns, also that the next bi-monthly meeting will be held at St. John's, Redhill, on Nov. 18th. Afterwards the tower was again visited, and ringing continued until 9 p.m. All enjoyed the fine toned peal of bells and good belfry.

MUFFLED BELLS.

Denyer (conductor) 5, S. Petter 6. Rung as a token of respect to the late Mrs. G. Chandler (wife of Mr. George Chandler and sister of Miss K. Avenell, two local ringers), who was interred at Pirbright the same day.

LANCASHIRE'S NEW RING OF EIGHT.

DEDICATION AND RINGERS' OPENING AT STRETFORD.

On Thursday, September 14th, the new peal of eight bells at St. Matthew's Church, Stretford, was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Manchester, those who assisted in the service being the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee (president of the Lancashire Association) and the Rev. E. W. Horrocks, Rector of Stretford and Rural Dean. Members of the local band rang for the dedication, and the visiting ringers had the pleasure of trying the bells after the service.

On Saturday, September 16th, the day of the presentation to Stretford of its Charter of Incorporation, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung on the new bells by ringers from eight towers within the Lancashire Association. The ringing of the peal covered the time of the actual presentation of the Charter by the Earl of Derby.

By invitation of the Rector, a joint meeting of the Ladies' Guild (Northern District) and the Manchester Branch was held as a ringers' opening of the new peal on Saturday, September 23rd. The bells were set going about 3 o'clock, and various methods were rung until service time, the 'service touch' being rung by members of the Ladies' Guild.

The service, which was attended by more than a hundred ringers and friends, was conducted by the curate (the Rev. S. B. Stirrup), the lesson being read by Canon Elsee, who also delivered the address, in the course of which he referred to the history of Stretford Church. There were records, he said, of a chapel being on or near the site of the present church 400 years ago. About 1780 an open market was held near to the church, and the time for closing the stalls was signified by the ringing of the church bell. The nave and tower of the new church were built in 1842, and there was one bell, which is now the tenor of the present peal. In 1870 five more bells were added, making up the old peal of six. These were given by Henry Hayes, of Myrtle Lodge, Stretford. Now, the preacher continued, we come to 1933, when another very generous gift to the church has increased the old peal of six to a very beautiful peal of eight.

The whole of the cost of the latter work has been borne by the nephews and nieces of Ada Alice Ridge, in affectionate remembrance of her life-long association with the church.

After the service tea was served in the Church Institute, provided by the donors of the bells. Members of the Mothers' Union and wives of the local ringers presided at the tables, and the whole of the 120 seats, with the exception of one or two, were filled.

The Rector after tea referred to the generosity of the relatives of the late Mrs. Ridge, and said it would give him great pleasure to be able to convey to them the thanks of all present. Canon Elsee then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the donors, not only, as he said, from those present, but from the Lancashire Association. The gift of the bells meant much to the association as a whole. He also proposed a vote of thanks to the members of the Mothers' Union and the ringers' wives who had so capably arranged and served the tea; and to the Rector and local ringers for the invitation to Stretford and the general arrangements of the day.

In welcoming the Ladies' Guild, Canon Elsee said it gave him very great pleasure to see them there, and it said much for their enthusiasm to see so many of them, some of whom he knew had travelled long distances to order to attend.

Miss I. B. Thompson (Nottingham), speaking on behalf of the Ladies' Guild, seconded the votes of thanks, and said how pleased they were to have been received in such a way. Mr. C. Ollie (branch president) heartily endorsed the votes of thanks on behalf of the Manchester Branch.

The ladies then adjourned to another room to hold their business meeting, whilst the remainder of the assembly, before returning to the tower, listened to a well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples on hand-bells.

Mrs. W. W. Wolstencroft presided at the business meeting of the Ladies' Guild, and the twelve members present came from the following places: Ashton-under-Lyne, Arncliffe (Leeds), Bolton, Dore, Handsworth (Sheffield), Nottingham, Flixton, Todmorden, Walkden and Manchester. Several of the ladies renewed their membership with the Guild, and Miss Thompson (Manchester) was elected a new member.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the Guild at Rotherham in February.

At the tower in the evening it soon became a case of 'queue up and wait your turn.' No time was wasted, however, and the bells were kept merrily ringing until a late hour, many old acquaintances being renewed during the period of waiting.

Thirty-five towers were represented at the meeting during the day. The work done to the bells includes recasting and rebanging in a new frame, with the addition of two new bells. The weight of the tenor is now given at 11½ cwt.

Mr. Wilfred Moss, chief ringer at Stretford, is to be congratulated on the able manner in which he has carried out the arrangements during these memorable days that have been held in Stretford, which is now the latest but not the least of the notable boroughs of Lancashire.

Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, are also to be congratulated on the perfect manner in which they have carried out the work of restoration, the tone and 'go' of the bells being everything that could be desired.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

THE DUFFIELD MEMORIAL.

The second general quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held on Saturday at Ripley, Derbyshire, and the bells of the Parish Church (8) were kept going during the afternoon and evening to various standard and Surprise methods. Members and friends came from each branch of the association, viz., Chesterfield, Derby, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough and Nottingham. The committee met in the church room, and carried out their usual routine and other duties. In the unavoidable absence of Mr. E. Denison Taylor, the president, through a severe cold, Mr. W. E. White (hon. treasurer) was voted to the chair at this and the following general meeting.

Regarding the Duffield memorial bell to the late president, Sir A. P. Heywood, it was decided to meet the balance owing from the interest of invested funds, and so settle the account.

The hon. treasurer reported that this would leave no further funds for bell restoration schemes, and as the association was not paying its way in the general funds, the appeals from Tutbury and Sileby would have to be left over until January, by which time it is trusted those members whose subscriptions were still outstanding would pay up and so put the funds in a sound financial condition.

Mr. Colin Harrison read over the full draft of suggested new rules, and, after a lengthy discussion, the matter was left to come again before the committee in January. In the meantime, local secretaries are asked to put these proposals before all members possible so that the whole draft may be completed and passed at the next annual meeting.

Tea was served at 5 p.m., and about 40 members sat down. The general meeting followed, and Mr. William E. White presided, supported by the Rev. Groome-Merrilees, Vicar of Theddingworth, Mr. G. T. Hales, churchwarden of Ripley, and Mr. Ernest Morris, hon. secretary. Mr. White read a letter from the Rev. E. Pegg, Vicar of Ripley, in which the writer regretted his inability to be present and wishing the members good cheer. The Chairman asked the local members present to convey to the Vicar appreciation of his interest and regrets on the knowledge that he was shortly leaving Ripley. The Chairman also welcomed the churchwarden (an hon. member of the M.C.A.), and the latter replied in a few kind words of welcome to the members, and trusted all would enjoy Ripley bells.

Mr. Colin Harrison read an address from the president, Mr. E. D. Taylor, commenting on the past quarter's work. This showed that 27 peals had been rung, including Wigston Surprise Major, a new method rung for the first time at Wigston Magna. The Leicester branch had rung seven handbell peals of Caters and Cinques, and a peal of Bob Major had been rung by a band comprised of all employees of Loughborough bellfoundry. Doubles and Minor peals were conspicuous by their absence! Two valued members had been lost by death—Mr. Arthur Waters, of Earl Shilton, and the Rev. A. T. Beeston.

New members proposed since last meeting, viz., eight honorary, six ringing, two rejoins, five life members, were duly confirmed in their election.

The members were informed of the committee's decision regarding the new rules.

In concluding the meeting, the Chairman welcomed the presence of the Rev. Groome-Merrilees, and the latter replied.—Votes of thanks to the Vicar of Ripley and the local committee were duly passed, when the members adjourned for further ringing and social intercourse.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

SPLENDID MEETING AT PHILLACK.

A splendid meeting of the Penzance Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild was held at Phillack on Saturday, September 23rd, when about sixty ringers attended, including Dr. J. Symons (president) and Miss Symons, Messrs. W. Wood and W. H. Southard (vice-presidents), Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Ringing Master), Mr. J. Thomas (Edmonton) and Mr. A. W. Brighton (London). The delightful ring of eight, cast by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. in 1929, were kept going during the afternoon, and the method ringing accomplished was Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

The service was conducted and address given by the Vicar (the Rev. Butler-Reeve), and the full simplified chair was present. A bountiful tea was provided in the Parish Hall, and the usual vote of thanks was proposed by Dr. Symons, seconded by Col. Jerram.

A feature of the meeting was the handbell ringing done immediately after tea, as this is so seldom heard in Cornwall. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Dr. J. Symons 1-2, A. W. Brighton 3-4, J. Thomas 5-6, A. S. Roberts 7-8, and this was followed by tune playing by J. Thomas 1-2-3-4 and A. W. Brighton 5-6-7-8. Those present were delighted with the performances and showed their appreciation by prolonged clapping. Mr. John Thomas then 'rang' a course of Grandsire Triples and one of Double Norwich Court Bob Major on the piano, which amazed many who consider method ringing a most difficult thing. It is certain that these items did change ringing in Cornwall a great deal of good. Dr. Symons took the opportunity of explaining to the call-change ringers the difference between odd and even bellringing.

Mr. R. J. Rule (Tuckermill) was elected branch secretary.

DEATH OF MR. F. G. NEWMAN.

AN OLD COLLEGE YOUTH.

A well-known London member of the Ancient Society of College Youths passed away on Monday of last week, in the person of Mr. Frederick George Newman, who was 73 years of age.

Mr. Newman was born at Mereworth, Kent, on October 31st, 1859. He came of a ringing family, and a cousin still rings at the church in his native village. Mr. Newman could handle a bell when he was nine years old, and he early developed into a good ringer and a safe bob caller. Church bellringing was his passion, but he was also a born dancer. He was an excellent penman, and in his latter years, when illness incapacitated him from walking, spent much of his time in writing peal records. For some time he was in Whips Cross Hospital, from which he was discharged in May last year, being incurably afflicted with dropsy.

Mr. Newman rang his first peal at Frittenden. This was Bob Triples. His last was Stedman Cinques at St. Michael's, Cornhill, on December 27th, 1924. Altogether he had taken part in 227 peals, of which he had conducted a considerable number.

The funeral took place on Friday at Clingford Mount, the mourners including the widow, the stepdaughter, two sisters and neighbours, and at the close of the committal service Mr. C. F. Winney, the one ringer present, rang a handbell thrice in slow time over the grave, in farewell to an old comrade of the belfry. There were five wreaths, one from his widow and Doris being in the shape of a bell with rope attached, all carried out in flowers. Another bore the inscription, 'A lover of campanology,' two were from the deceased's sisters and one from neighbours.

When ringing at St. Paul's, writes Mr. Winney, Fred Newman was one of the few men who could set each of the four back bells in one pull from back-stroke. At that time the tenor could be pulled off by one person with the double rope.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

THE MASTER INDISPOSED.

A meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association took place at Earls Colne on Saturday, September 23rd, when, despite inclement weather conditions, 37 members were present from 13 parishes: Greenstead Green, Earls Colne, Dummow, Halstead, Kelvedon, Colne Engaine, Springfield, Braintree, Wickham St. Paul's, Brentwood, Chelmsford, Gestingthorpe and Clacton-on-Sea. Ringing commenced at about 3 p.m., and during the afternoon and evening various methods up to and including London Surprise Major were rung.

Service was conducted by the Rev. F. B. Rowley, priest-in-charge of the parish, and the special lesson (Numbers x.) was read by the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell). Preaching from the text, 'Behold, I bring you tidings of great joy,' the Rev. F. B. Rowley spoke on the use of bells and their meaning, and remarked that he was rather struck with the ringers' form of service which they had been using.

Tea was afterwards partaken of at the Village Hall. This had been very nicely prepared by Mrs. Ridgwell, Mrs. Claydon, Mrs. Bowhill, Mrs. Laver, Mrs. French and Mrs. Bartholomew. The Rev. F. B. Rowley presided.

Previous to the commencement of the business meeting, which followed the tea, the district secretary said he was very sorry that Mr. C. H. Howard, the Master of the association, was unable to be present. No doubt most of them were aware that he had been indisposed for some time, and, so far, there had been little improvement. Mr. Ridgwell then read a letter he had received from Mr. Howard, in which the writer expressed regret that he was unable to attend the meeting, and conveyed his best wishes for an enjoyable time.

Mr. H. G. Herbert, of Sudbury, was elected a non-resident ringer member. It was also agreed that the annual meeting of the division be held at Dummow on November 11th.

Mr. L. W. Wiffen proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. F. B. Rowley for his excellent address and for attending the tea. He also thanked Mr. Wenden for his services as organist, and the ladies for so kindly preparing the tea.

In seconding, the district secretary thanked the Rev. F. B. Rowley personally for all he had done.

The Rev. F. B. Rowley, responding, said that nothing could have given him greater pleasure than to be with them on that occasion. He was very pleased to see so many ringers present on such a wet afternoon. It seemed to him that ringers of to-day were as content to sit down to a nice cup of tea as the old ringers of years ago were to something a little stronger (laughter). He also would like to thank the ladies for the excellent tea they had prepared, and for the nice way they had served it.

A number of the ringers subsequently indulged in handbell ringing, whilst others returned to the tower, where ringing was carried on until about 8.30.

LEYTON, ESSEX.—At St. Mary's Church on Thursday, September 28th, for the harvest festival service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. Blaker 1, E. W. Pye 2, R. D. Ward 3, E. D. Smith 4, J. Moule 5, F. Hull 6, E. E. Holman (conductor) 7, P. J. Daw 8.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.NEW BRANCH FOR RUTLAND TO BE FORMED.

At a special general meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild held at Oakham on September 23rd, it was decided to establish a new branch for Rutlandshire. Over seventy ringers attended the meeting, and five branches of the Guild were represented, those present including Mr. F. Wilford (Master), the Rev. R. C. Thursfield (president of Kettering Branch), Canon E. E. Law (Empingham), the Rev. W. St. G. Coldwell (Tickencote), the Rev. J. H. Woods (Glaston), the Rev. A. B. Westcott (Corby), Miss Thursfield (hon. secretary, Northants Branch, Ladies' Guild), Messrs. F. Barber, H. Baxter and W. H. Waldron (branch secretaries) and Mr. R. G. Black (general secretary). An apology was received from Mr. S. F. Millward (auditor).

Preston, Wing, Whissendine, Glaston, Empingham and Oakham belfries were the Rutland towers represented, and ringers from a wide area were present from Corby, Kettering, Leicester, Peterborough, Rugby, Melton Mowbray, Wigston, Bourne, Market Deeping, Warkton, Cranford, Isham, Northampton, Burton Latimer, Rothwell, Desborough and Wellingborough.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Fraser), and the collection for the Belfry Repairs Fund amounted to £1 0s. 3d. Tea was served in the Women's Institute Room, after which Canon E. E. Law presided at a meeting, which considered the suggested formation of a branch of the Guild in Rutland.

The Master briefly stated the objects of the Guild, which now has nine branches and nearly 1,100 members.

After some discussion, the Rutland ringers present were asked to vote on a proposition: 'That the Rutland Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers be formed,' and this was carried.

The first meeting to elect officers, etc., is to be held at Empingham on Saturday, November 4th, of which due notice will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. R. G. Black moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Oakham for the use of the bells and for conducting service; to the organist, the caterers and to Mr. W. E. Higgs, Oakham, who had made the arrangements.

The splendid ring of eight bells (tenor 28 cwt.) was much appreciated by the visitors, who made good use of them during the afternoon and evening, from rounds for the less advanced to London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

RINGING TOURS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to say through 'The Ringing World' that our experience of touring ringers does not fit in with the remarks made by a Northants ringer.

Quite recently a touring band obtained permission to attempt their first peal on our bells. This being granted, they immediately invited two members of our local band to stand in and asked them to name the method.

They were also given permission to attempt the last peal of the tour a week later. For this attempt they invited three members of the local band to stand in, again giving the locals choice of method.

RINGING TOURS v. DOG IN THE MANGER.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent, 'A Voice from Northants,' seems to have bitten off more than he can chew. As a ringer who has done a fair amount of spadework and also taken part in a few ringing tours, I think I may fairly claim to speak from a rather wide experience. I would remind your correspondent that it is not necessary when on a tour to be always carrying passengers or helping lame ducks over a stile. Most visiting ringers prefer something else. They can always be accommodated with the lame ducks nearer home. One does not have far to go to see them swimming around, but, Mr. Editor, how difficult it is for one to see the other fellow's point of view? Now I can quite understand the difficulties of Mr. Hogarth's district, having toured through there a few years ago, but may I point out to him that all Surprise ringers have, like himself, to start at the bottom and gradually to work upwards, often after a lot of practice and also expense. One would think it a more courteous act to ask visitors to ring either in a touch or peal attempt than to want local men to butt in. But to return to 'A Voice from Northants.' He appears to tar all Surprise ringers with the same brush, but to him I for one can give the lie direct. Having just rung my 50th peal this year, I find they have been rung with 85 different ringers. That alone speaks for itself and needs no further comment from me. One could say a great deal more from experience, which, to my mind, is the best teacher of all.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The condition of the bell frame and the ringing chamber floor has made it necessary to cancel the meeting of Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild at Andover.

'Enquirer' asks if any reader can supply him with information regarding the church and derelict peal of eight situated on Lundy Island.

'Is ringing dying out?' Mr. A. Castle of Elham, Kent, is prompted to ask this question from the fact that in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World' no fewer than 68 meetings were advertised.

A tablet recording the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung at Exeter Cathedral on October 15th last year will be unveiled and dedicated in the Cathedral belfry on Saturday, October 14th, at 4 p.m. Canon McLaren will perform the ceremony.

The three large bells at Falmouth Parish Church, Cornwall, have been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank into eight, the treble weighing 3 cwt. and tenor 8½ cwt. Unfortunately, they have been only hung for chiming.

Two trebles are being added by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. to the ring of six at St. Anthony-in-Meneage, Cornwall, and are to be dedicated on October 14th. This will make Cornwall's 31st octave.

The meeting of the Lancashire Association which was to have been held at Poulton on October 14th has been postponed to the 28th.

He will be 80 years old next month, but last Saturday that physical wonder of the Exercise, Mr. James George, rang the 50 cwt. tenor at Southwark Cathedral in an attempt for a peal of Stedman Cinques, which was lost in the last course, through a misunderstanding, after four hours! Mr. George was as fit at the end as he was at the start. Many ringers would like to know the secret of his apparently perpetual youth.
