EXTENDING THE MINOR REPERTORY

While the pundits—and others—argue about what shall constitute a peal of Minor, the peal at Hayfield, Derbyshire, in which twenty-one methods were spliced into seven true extents, should give many people cause for thought. Twenty-one methods is by no means the limit of what can be done on these lines, and as long ago as 1923 no fewer than thirty-five methods were introduced into a 5040; but these occasional performances which include such a number of methods should remind six-bell ringers of the vast field of variety and interest that lies before them and make them wonder whether any of the compositions which fill the appendix of the Central Council's Collection of Minor Methods, and others about which there has been so much discussion, are really worth bothering about. All the while ringers want to ring peals of Minor in only one or two methods it may be argued that such compositions should be open to them, although up to the present they seem to have been treated rather sceptically by conductors. Apart from the Bankes James' Cambridge composition, and the two arrangements of Doubles, which were in use before the Collection appeared, we believe that only once has any composition from the appendix been rung, while the discussion which has taken place has, as far as we can judge, considerably curtailed the use of the Pitman and Morris arrangement of Doubles.

This article, however, is not intended to discuss the propriety or otherwise of ringing such compositions in peals, but to suggest that from the ringers' point of view, as distinct from the conductor's, there ought to be very little use for them. No ringer ought to be satisfied with being able to ring only one method—whether of Doubles or Maximus. Where, however, there are only five or six bells, it should especially be the aim of every ringer to master a variety of methods and at least to maintain the standard aimed at fifty years ago of ringing not less than seven methods in a peal of Minor. There is comparatively little credit to the ringer or band who, from one year's end to the other, makes no attempt to progress beyond one method, for with the scores of good methods that are now provided for them, ringers have not only a wide field open before them, but every encouragement to pass on to higher attainments. A peal in seven methods, if only plain methods, is an end worth striving for and except to complete some personal ambition, such as ringing a peal of Minor, Major, Royal and Maximus in one method, like Cambridge, for instance, peals in just one method of Minor ought to be only stepping-stones to at least seven extents, and not, as sometimes seem the case, a permanent resting place.

AN ANCIENT GIFT FOR BELL ROPES.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A letter, entitled 'An Ancient Gift for Bell Ropes,' in 'The Ringing World' of December 16th last, has been shown to me, and I was asked if I could answer the inquiry.

The acre of land named 'Belleropes' is now part of a field called Lumley's Close, or, as it is named in old records, 'Grimsdale' or 'Grimsdale.' A few trees and marks of a ditch show where the hedge stood which divided 'Belleropes' from the other part of the field. This field now forms part of the estate of Earl Spencer, together with practically the whole village of Harlestone, and has been in the possession of the family for about 100 years.

No funds for bell ropes are now derived from 'Belleropes,' and I do not know of any record as to when they ceased.

J. F. COOCH.

Harlestone, Northampton.

The record referred to was discovered by Mr. Anthony E. F. Trotman, in 'The Estate Book of Henry De Bray.' The rough translation of the entry is: 'In the year of our Lord twelve hundred and ninety-four an acre of land in Grimsdale was handed over by the village community to Master Richard de Hette, who was then Rector (of Harlestone) to provide funds for bell ropes.'

BELLS ON THE 'WIRELESS.'To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have just been 'listening' to Winchester Cathedral bells, and again I wonder why it is that ringers who broadcast cannot realise that anything beyond Triples or Major is unsuitable for wireless reception. A non-ringing friend asked me what they were 'trying' to ring, and I confess I couldn't tell, but I thought it was a method called 'Stedman' on eleven bells, with the largest bell coming last every time. 'Well,' said my friend, 'I can't say I find anything beautiful about that jangle.' And I had to agree with him. I still feel a little doubtful as to what they were ringing, as the tenor seemed to be leading at times.

Anyway, I think it is a great pity Triples is not chosen on these occasions, and even then rung slowly enough for people who know nothing of the science to appreciate that it is at least as nice to listen to as the chiming on St. Martin's bells we hear so often.

DATE TOUCHES.AN INTERESTING JUBILEE COMMEMORATION.

For morning service, at All Saints' Church, Maldon, on Sunday, December 18th, a date touch of Minor (1,932 changes) in 1 hour 3 mins., being 492 Plain Bob, 720 Double Court and 720 Oxford Treble Bob, by: W. H. Chalk 1, J. H. Waldo 2, A. South 3, Miss A. E. Waldo 4, F. Chalk 5, H. J. Mansfield (conductor) 6.

This was arranged on the 50th anniversary of a date touch of 1,882 changes, viz.: 442 Plain Bob, 720 Double Court, 720 Oxford Treble Bob, the ringers of which were F. Fitch 1, R. Hutson 2, T. Mansfield 3, G. Mansfield 4, Wm. Chalk (conductor) 5, W. Mansfield 6.

It was hoped that Mr. Richard Hutson, the only surviving member of the 1882 company, would have been able to ring, but he felt he could not manage to do so that morning. He, however, took part in 120 Plain Bob just previous to the service. In ringing the 1,932 changes three sons of the former ringers took part.

At Thrapston, Northants, on New Year's Eve, at the Parish Church, a date touch of Minor with 6-8 covering, consisting of 720 of Kent Treble Bob, 720 of Oxford Single Bob, and 192 of Plain Bob (1,932 changes), was rung in 1 hour 16 mins.: J. Nickerson 1, G. Groom 2, G. W. Jeffs 3, G. H. Roberts 4, T. Jervis 5, W. C. Labraham 6, C. Wilson (conductor) 7, R. Davis 8. This is the longest length by the ringers of 6 and tenor.

A CARDIFF WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Heath took place at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Cardiff, on Boxing Day, the bridegroom being Mr. W. A. Hutchinson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. W. Heath, one of the St. John's ringers, also well known in Cardiff in connection with the Cardiff City Fire Brigade. Both parents are held in high regard and esteem. The bride looked most charming in a costume of blue.

Although the service was held at the early hour of nine o'clock, many ringing friends of Mr. Heath (better known to the ringing fraternity as Bill Heath) were present from Aberavon, Llandaff, Newport and Whitechurch, together with the local men, who mustered well to honour the bride and to show their highest regard for one of their keenest ringing colleagues.

Immediately following the service the bells struck out. Rounds, 'firing' and 'Queen's' were followed by a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,313 changes) by: Ernest Coles 1, Evan Coles 2, W. Richards 3, G. Large 4, J. W. Jones 5, E. Stith 6, A. Rowley 7, F. Chamberlain 8, E. Coombes (conductor) 9, S. R. Barker 10.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There was a big burst of peal ringing last week, as was only to be expected, with two bank holidays in addition to Saturday. We have received close upon a hundred reports of peals rung during the week, and they will be published as quickly as space permits.

The new 'Beeston' Library, containing the books and papers presented to the Chester Diocesan Guild by the Rev. A. T. Beeston, has been placed in the belfry of St. George's Church, Stockport.

The attention of members of the Leeds and District Society is drawn to the alteration of date of the Pudsey meeting. It has been arranged for January 14th instead of the 28th to avoid clashing with the Yorkshire Association meeting.

The Berks and Bucks ringers send their hearty greetings for the new year to diocesan and distant friends of the Exercise.

In connection with the Middlesex Association (South and West District) dinner on Saturday, January 14th, it is interesting to remember that the West Middlesex Association was founded in 1874, a few months after the Devon Guild, the first of our belfry reform societies.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, rang his 900th peal on Tuesday of last week. These peals have been rung in 63 counties and have taken him 50 years to accomplish.

Mr. G. R. Pye is easily 'top scorer' among the peal ringers for 1932. Here is his record for the year in brief: Ninety-seven peals, in 72 towers, situate in 23 counties! That is literally good going. Fancy ringing peals in half the counties of England in a single year! The vast majority of peal ringers do not do that in a lifetime.

The greatest number of peals rung by an individual in one year was 136 by the late Mr. Alfred Grimes in 1913, which, added to his 114 in 1912, brought his total to exactly 250 in two years. Many of these were rung on handbells.

Miss Amy Kynaston, of Oswestry, is believed to be the first Shropshire lady to ring a peal when she took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples last week, the other ringers including three of her brothers. Although the tenor is only 16 cwt., it was a 'two-man' job.

Filling a gap at the last minute, and never having rung a touch of Grandsire Caters before, Miss Annie Crook, of Bolton, daughter of Police-Sergeant Peter Crook, rang a peal in the method at Leyland and rang splendidly. She is to be congratulated on her performance.

We thought the opportunity was too good to be missed by those who are fond of midnight peals. At Burton-on-Stather, Lines, the handbell band saw the new year in with a peal of Grandsire Triples, so that the peal was rung in two days, two weeks, two months and two years. That, at any rate, is something which cannot be beaten.

Among the peal reports that reach us there are sometimes cryptic notes, and the record of a peal rung at Deeping St. James on Boxing Day contained a reference which at first caused us some thought. Among the 720's which made up the peal was one of College Single (Regular). It was the '(Regular)' that puzzled us, but we think we have found the explanation. Mr. Day will correct us if we are wrong.

Presumably it means that the method rung was that which appears in the Central Council's Collection, and not the one that, years ago, was published under the same name in the early editions of 'Standard Methods.' The method has had various names. The first edition of the collection termed it 'College Single,' a later edition of Standard Methods called it 'College Single Reverse'; in the last edition of the Collection it is 'College,' pure and simple.

The composition of the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Overseal on December 17th was E. Morris' transposition of Parker's 12-Part.

'STURDY ARMS OF THE LAW'

Even the lusty and capable policemen who regularly ring at Manchester Town Hall must have smiled at the comments of 'Mr. Manchester' in the 'Manchester Evening News' last Friday, in referring to the fact that the new year would be 'rung in' on the Town Hall bells by 'the sturdy arms of the law.'

'As a matter of fact,' he writes, 'I am told that only the police ringers can ring the Manchester Town Hall bells properly. They are reputed to be the heaviest set of chain bells in the country, and ordinary ringers cannot do much with them. The weight of the heaviest of them is 52 cwt., and I defy anybody but a lusty policeman to go on pulling a mass like that about for long.'

Shades of Harry Chapman—they ought to be sufficient for the purpose, but if they are not there are others who could be mentioned!

40-50-60-70 YEARS!

At Longbridge Deverill, a village in Wiltshire, lives Mr. Arthur Smith, who worked hard in the interests of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild in its early days, and was one of the first change ringers in that part of the country. For four years he was one of the Guild's representatives on the Central Council.

For forty years Mr. Smith was sexton at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, he has just completed fifty years as a service ringer and sixty years in the choir, while on December 17th he celebrated his 70th birthday. It is not surprising that members of the Salisbury Guild honoured him with a peal, which they scored on Boxing Day. Afterwards they were entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

YEOVIL'S FINE BELLS.HISTORY TOLD IN THEIR INSCRIPTIONS.

Yeovil bells, upon which a peal of Stedman Caters was rung on Boxing Day, are one of the heaviest rings of ten in the country, the tenor being nearly 41 cwt., while since their restoration and retuning carried out at the White-chapel Foundry in 1931, there are, despite the fact that they are a 'mixed' lot, few, if any, peals of ten superior to them in tonal quality. By recasting the two trebles and tuning the remainder Messrs. Mears and Stainbank worked a marvellous transformation.

At some time prior to 1561 there were six bells in the massive western tower, and these remained until 1760, at which time it is said that twenty-two to twenty-five men were required to ring them. The original tenors were the gift of Stephen Hooper and his wife, Joan, who, with

The inscriptions on the bells are interesting, as they form an historical record. The original eight bells were inscribed as follows:—
 Treble.—Mr. William Tanner and Mr. Samuel Garland, Ch Wardens. T. Bilbie F. 1768.
 2nd.—Same as treble.
 3rd.—Although I am the least of all I'll be heard above you all. I.C.E.H.C.W. Anno Dom. 1662. T.P.I.K.I.D.I.H.
 4th.—Thomas Lane, John Whedon, Churchwardens. T. P., Anno Domi 1626.
 5th.—Andrew Everton & Mr. George Butcher, Churchwardens, 1728. T. B. cast me.
 6th.—John Star and Mary his wife gave forty shillings to the casting of these bells. Giel's Innings and Joseph Star stode bound for the performance of the worke in 1626.
 7th.—In Multis Annis Resonet Campana Ioannis. T. P., Anno Domini 1728. In the name of the Trenite, Stephen Hooper paid for the tenor and me.
 8th.—Take me down and way me right for I am near five thousand weight. Sing praise to God, T. P. F., Mr. Andrew Everton and Mr. George Butcher was churchwardens when I was new cast september the 26 in the year 1728. Stephen Hooper and his wife Ioane was the downer of me alone. Come let us sound out. He keep my place no doubt. You wrath and others, were the founders of the Chantry of the Holy Cross in 1432. The tenor was recast by the younger Bilbie of Chewstoke in 1728, the fifth, fourth and second of that early period having been recast in 1525 by Thomas Pennington, of Exeter. The treble was recast by Thomas Purdue, of Closworth, in 1662, and the third by Bilbie at the same time as the tenor. In 1760 the six bells were rehung in the then modern method, so that, instead of more than a score of men being required to ring them, they could be rung by seven men only. Bilbie cast two additional bells at the expense of the townspeople in 1768, and two further trebles were added by Warner in 1891, when the rehanging of the other eight was carried out.

The building of the present church was begun about 1380, and is an imposing structure in local limestone. The tower rises in four stages to a height of ninety feet, and is surmounted by a rather uncommon parapet of narrow perforated panels with cusped heads.

wright pray speak the right, come see how I am run. Twa's young Bilbie that cast me. Such work you never done.

The two present trebles, added by Warner in 1891, and recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in the recent restoration, bear the following inscriptions:—

Treble.—Cast by J. Warner & Sons, 1891. Added to the ring by the parishioners Anno Domini 1891. We praise Thee O God. H. T. Beebe, B.D., Vicar. Edmund Damon, Thomas Denner, Churchwardens.

(On reverse, in waist): Recast 1931. J. E. S. Harrison, M.A., Vicar. H. H. Lock, W. Earle Tucker (Mayor of Yeovil), Churchwardens.

2nd.—Cast by J. Warner and Sons, 1891. Added to the ring by the parishioners. Anno Domini 1891. Day by day we magnify Thee.

The remainder of the inscription is the same as on the treble.

FRYERNING, ESSEX.—At St. Mary's the following 720's were rung on December 31st: Before 11.45 p.m. watchnight service, with bells half-muffled, 720 Oxford Treble Bob; after service, with bells open, 720 Cambridge Surprise.—On Sunday, January 1st, before 11 a.m. matins, 720 London Surprise and 720 London Scholars' Pleasure; before 6.30 p.m. evensong, 720 Norwich Surprise and 720 Kingston Treble Bob. The ringers were L. Camp, G. Camp, C. Harrington, H. Wright, E. Sitch and A. Bradley.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATIONMR. D. CLIFT ELECTED MASTER.

The annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at Cardiff on Boxing Day. The bells were available and rung during the afternoon in a variety of methods, including Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Lewis). In his address he extended a hearty welcome to the association to his parish, and then gave a most interesting history of the church and of the old bells and their inscriptions, prior to the augmentation to ten by John Taylor and Co. Following the service, tea, which had been very kindly arranged for by the Vicar, was partaken of at a cafe in Queen Street, after which a move was made to St. John's Schoolroom for the transaction of business. The Vicar took the chair. Instructors' reports were received and restoration and augmentation questions were discussed.

Mr. D. Clift, of Usk, was elected Master for the ensuing year, and the hon. secretary (Mr. J. J. Jones) and the auditors were re-elected. A discussion followed on the appointment of representatives to the Central Council. The hon. secretary and the Master, Mr. D. Clift, were elected.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at St. Woolos, Newport, and quarterly meetings at Aberavon and Caldicot.

The hon. secretary gave a short report of the work done during the year.

New members were elected, including the whole of the Redwick ringers, which adds another tower to those affiliated to the association.

Tribute was paid to the Pentre ringers who had recently rung their first peal of Superlative, the first peal in the method rung by an entirely local band for the association.

Mr. Perry, of Bridgend, raised the question of having an annual dinner. A committee was formed to arrange details and report at the next quarterly meeting.

The usual votes of thanks were passed and terminated the business.

There were several visitors from neighbouring associations, including Mr. J. Austin, Mr. T. Baldwin and Mr. J. Gillett, of Gloucester. There was a fairly representative gathering of members from both dioceses.

The bells were afterwards kept going in Triples, Major, Caters and Royal, which closed a very pleasant, genial and happy meeting.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD PEALS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The footnote to the peal of Stedman Triples, rung at Erdington on December 19th, 1932, and recorded in the last issue of 'The Ringing World' as the 1,000th peal for the Guild, though substantially correct is very misleading. Mr. Swann has based the total of 1,000 peals on the number rung from January, 1889, to December, 1932. The peal books in possession of the Guild record all peals rung from the year 1755 to 1931. (1932 peals will be entered in due course.) The peals rung 1755 to 1888 are St. Martin's Society, those rung from 1889 to 1905 are St. Martin's Guild, and those rung from 1906 to the present date are St. Martin's Guild for the diocese of Birmingham.

The very fact that St. Martin's Society extended its activities in 1889, also again in 1906, does not alter the fact that St. Martin's peal records date from the year 1755, and that we have a continuous existence to the present day, therefore the total number of peals rung date from the first peal of Bob Major in 1755, followed by many historic record peals rung at St. Martin's and elsewhere.

ALBERT WALKER.

THE LONG PEAL AT APPLETON.To the Editor.

Sir,—Will you kindly grant me space in 'The Ringing World' to congratulate the band who rang the record peal at Appleton on Tuesday, December 27th? It was good striking, and that is what we want to hear in long peals. I was sorry I could not stop to hear the finish of the peal.

A. E. PEGLER.

The ringer of the 5th in the peal was Walter F. Judge, not William as printed.

THE LATE MR. A. E. PARSONS.FUNERAL AT HALESOWEN.

The funeral of the late Mr. A. E. Parsons, of Old Hill, Staffs, whose death was recorded in our last issue, took place on Tuesday week, and was attended by a number of ringers representing the Worcestershire Association, of which he had been Master and was, at the time of his death, a vice-president. As the cortege proceeded from the house in Old Hill to Halesowen Church, two and a half miles away, the bells could be heard ringing with half-muffled clappers. The service was conducted by the Rector of Halesowen (Canon H. C. A. Colville) and the Vicar of Old Hill (Rev. A. L. Chapman). Among the ringers present were Mr. J. R. Newman (hon. secretary, Worcestershire Association), Alderman J. S. Pritchett (Master of St. Martin's Guild), Mr. A. Walker (Ringing Master), Mr. T. Reeves (hon. secretary), Messrs. A. Paddon Smith, G. F. Swann, J. Preston, F. E. Haynes, H. Mason, J. Jaggard, W. Short, R. Matthews, H. Bird, S. T. Holt, S. Grove, A. J. Skelding, C. Camm and ringers from the local towers.

A very impressive course of Triples was rung over the grave by Messrs. W. Short, A. Walker, R. Matthews and A. P. Smith, and afterwards muffled touches were rung on Halesowen bells by various hands.

Among the floral tributes were wreaths from the Worcestershire Association and St. Martin's Guild.

TRING BELLS RESTORED.NEW YEAR'S EVE REOPENING.

On Saturday afternoon a company of about 40 ringers and friends assembled in the belfry of Tring Parish Church to take part in the formal opening of the bells after their renovation by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The proceedings commenced with the singing of the hymn, 'O God our Help in ages past.' Prayers were then offered and an address given by the Vicar (the Rev. C. T. T. Wood, M.A., M.C.), who referred to the generosity of Miss M. Bright, who had offered to defray the whole of the cost of the bells.

The opening touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by the local band, after which the visitors took a hand at the ropes. Afterwards an adjournment was made for tea in the Vestry Hall, kindly provided by the Vicar and Miss Bright. It was presided over by Mrs. C. T. T. Wood, and served by the ringers' wives.

The Vicar gave the visitors a cordial welcome, and wished all a happy and prosperous new year.

After tea the belfry was again visited, and methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. The ringers were loud in their praise of the way the work had been carried out, and delighted at the 'go' of the bells, which are now a real pleasure to ring.

The towers represented were Dunstable, Totternhoe, Linslade, Berkhamstead, Ellesborough, King's Langley, London, Hinckley (Leicestershire) and the local band. Mr. A. A. Hughes, representing Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, was also present.

The work, which has been carried out to the entire satisfaction of the Vicar, churchwardens and ringers, includes the rehangings of the eight bells (tenor 24 cwt.) on ball bearings, tightening up the frame with vertical bolts, new clapper staples, new wheels, new iron headstocks on the three heaviest bells, new rope rollers and other fittings. A set of ropes has also been provided.

On Sunday evening, for service and also in honour of the birthday of Miss Bright, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung: H. Brackley 1, T. W. Wright 2, H. Bishop 3, H. Bull 4, F. C. Reeve 5, C. Badrick 6, E. J. Reeve (conductor) 7, N. Brackley 8. The ringer of the 2nd hails from Hinckley, and the rest belong to the local band.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

On the occasion of the golden wedding of Mr. W. Gillingham, for many years captain of the Portishead band, the ringers presented him with a very nice easy chair. Arrangements had been made by the regular Sunday ringers to attempt a peal, but owing to the illness of one of the band a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following: Miss H. Orchard 1, Miss B. Stadden 2, E. J. Goldstone 3, Miss V. Hyman 4, Miss G. Stadden 5, F. Smith 6, A. E. Colburn (conductor) 7, J. Thomas 8.

DAVENTRY SURPRISE.A FALSE PEAL.

Mr. George Marriner, of Leatherhead, points out that the composition of the peal of Daventry Surprise, published in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' is false in many places. The fact seems to have been overlooked, he says, that 32465 and 43265 are false course-ends, as well as 24365, 32546 and 46253. The consequence is that repetition occurs in several places with the treble in 7-8.

This is unfortunate for the Helmingham men, who recorded the first peal in the method with this composition.

FABIAN STEDMAN.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following is, I believe, the entry in Pepys's Diary referred to by Mr. Fussell: January 21st, 1660, '... into London to Mr. Vernon's, and I received my £25 due by bill for my troopers' pay. Then back again to Steadman's.'

Unless I have missed something in my search, there is no other notice of this Steadman, either earlier or later, and nothing to show who or what he was. I used the complete edition published in 1897 (twelve volumes). The usual editions, which give Lord Braybrooke's translation of Pepys's cipher, do not contain the entry. It is pretty certain that Mr. Fussell is mistaken in thinking this man to be 'a clerk of commissioners, resident in the district' of St. Olave's, Hart Street. His place was somewhere in the West End of the town, for Pepys was at the time living in Westminster, and did not move into Seething Lane and so begin his long connection with St. Olave's until June, 1660.

And it is quite certain that this Steadman was not our Fabian Steadman. The difference in the spelling is no great matter, but it is clear from the preface to the 'Campanologia' that if Fabian ever came to London he did not come until after 1677. I imagine that in 1660 he was still little more than a boy who had yet to learn anything about change ringing.

People who find it difficult to believe that Fabian Steadman, a printer, of Cambridge, should get a post on the Audit of the Excise should note how Pepys, without any previous qualification, was appointed Clerke to the Acts, that is, Secretary to the Navy, through the personal influence of a kinsman. And I have discovered that Steadman had friends with sufficient influence to do a similar kindness for him.

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

VARIATIONS OF THURSTANS' FOUR-PART.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you please grant me space to inform Mr. James Hunt that he is at least six years too late with his arrangement of the late James W. Washbrook's peal of Steadman Triples published in this week's 'Ringing World'? Apart from the transposition of the singles back to 14 and 2, instead of 9 and 11, the peal will be found in the Gloucester and Bristol report, issued 1932. By starting the calling at the 59th course the 6th is replaced by the treble; had Mr. Hunt started with the 60th course he would have the 5th there. With regard to the last paragraph, I make this 61 courses, starting with a 12-13 and concluding with 3-4-5-6. Is this correct?

The peal is in no sense a variation of 'Thurstans', and this description should cease. Either of the three-course blocks given on page 233 of Snowden's 'Stedman' can be used with equal facility. Also three 'B's' can be used at the start, 3-4, 7-8 & 14 being used in their place.

W. A. CAVE.

A FAMILY 720.

On Christmas Day, at Tunstall, Kent, a family 720 of Surprise Minor was rung by: Mrs. E. H. Spice 1, E. H. Spice 2, Percy J. Spice 3, J. W. Unwin 4, G. H. Spice 5, W. Spice, sen., 6. The band was made up of father, three sons, one son-in-law and one daughter-in-law.

BISHOPWEARMOUTH BELLS REHUNG.

The bells of Bishopwearmouth Parish Church, Sunderland, which have been recast and rehung on ball bearings, were rededicated on Thursday, December 22nd, by the Rector, Freh. A. B. Wynne Willson. Midway through the service the Rector and choir proceeded to the porch, which is underneath the tower, and there the dedicatory prayers were recited. Then the bells were raised singly. While the Rector and choir were returning to the chancel the bells were rung in rounds by the local band, which included Mr. R. Langton, who will be 80 years of age this month, and has been a member of the band for 50 years. After the service the local band were joined by the ringers of the other two towers in the town, when several touches were rung in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative. Mr. J. Thomas represented Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have had the work in hand. The 'go' and tone of the bells were highly appreciated.

PROTEST AGAINST CHURCH BELLS.SUNDAY SERVICE DISTURBED.

A childish and very discreditable form of protest against the ringing of church bells at Minety, near Swindon, Wilts, was perpetrated on Sunday. While the morning service was in progress, it was considerably interfered with by the din of motor horns, the shrieking of whistles and the blowing of tin trumpets outside the church.

Mrs. Atkinson, whose property is situated near the church, said she, her husband and some friends were responsible for the noise. She told a newspaper representative that it was done as a protest. 'Ever since October,' she said, 'the church bells have been a source of annoyance to us. On New Year's Eve the bells were ringing from just before midnight until 12.45 a.m. Last Wednesday night they were playing from 7.30 p.m. to 9 p.m., and on Christmas morning from 6 o'clock until 7.30.'

'Much the same thing has been happening every week since October. We have borne the din in silence for a long time, but, after all, we are only human, and we felt that it was time some protest was made.'

'We have complained to the Rector, and my husband has now written to the Bishop of Bristol.'

'I think if people want to ring the New Year in, five minutes is long enough.'

Whether or not the complaint about the bells is well founded—usually these things are grossly exaggerated—we do not know, but the method of protest adopted, by disturbing a congregation at worship, is singularly disgraceful. There is a clause in a recent Act of Parliament which makes the unnecessary blowing of motor horns an offence, even if there is no other Act which prohibits the disturbance of a church service.

The Vicar, in an interview, said: 'We have a right to ring our bells. There are five of them, seventeenth century bells, and they have the most mellow tone in this part of the country. Major Atkinson took this house six months ago, well knowing it was adjacent to the church. He made a protest some time ago about ringing them, and I cut down the practice hours, but it is a centuries old custom to ring out the old and ring in the new year here, and I cannot stop that. I have been Vicar of this parish for thirty-one years, and it is the first complaint that has come from that house. I do not wish anyone to be disturbed, but church bells in England have statutory rights, and I shall maintain them within reason.'

WEDDING BELLS.

On Wednesday, December 14th, the marriage took place at Eshowe, Zululand, South Africa, of Mr. Richard A. Chadwick and Miss Barbara V. Birt, of Merstham, Surrey, daughter of Mr. C. K. D. Birt, Master of the Surrey Association. In honour of the event a quarter-peal of Oxford Bob Minor (1,260 changes) was rung on the same day at Merstham, where Miss Birt was actively interested in the church. The ringers were: A. Wood 1, C. K. D. Birt (first quarter-peal in the method) 2, C. Killick 3, H. B. Wells 4, J. Butters (first quarter-peal in the method) 5, H. R. Thorpe (conductor) 6.

A MEMORIAL PEAL.

A muffled peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung at Friesland, Yorkshire, recently, prior to a memorial service for the late Captain G. A. Schofield that, after the tower was declared unsafe by dry rot, in 1924, the bells and tower were renovated at a cost of £500.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL.

The Bedfordshire Association invite subscriptions to enable them to place an iron staircase, to replace the old ladder in the tower of Dunstable Church, at the estimated cost of about £50.

CROYDON

A TECHNICAL ADVISER WANTED.

We have recently heard of more than one case of bells, which needed attention, being patched up by some local firm without any knowledge of bell engineering. We wonder when church authorities will learn that this is a policy that never pays in the long run. Bell hanging is a specialised job. A blacksmith, a carpenter or a plumber may be an excellent man at his own trade, but, because he can shoe a horse, make a door or mend a burst water pipe, it by no means follows that he can efficiently put a new clapper in a bell, repair a bell frame, or replace an old bearing with a new one. The parish coffin maker is not the man who would be called in to overhaul the organ, yet some church authorities have the idea that the local tradesman is qualified to put their bells into running order. Afterwards they learn to their cost that bell hanging is best and most cheaply done by firms with special qualifications for the work, and ringers should stand out firmly against anyone but those thus qualified being allowed to take bell work in hand.

A difficulty which sometimes presents itself to church authorities when repairs are contemplated is that of getting reliable independent advice. Most of the ringing associations have someone who will inspect a tower and make a report, but it must be admitted that the number of ringers who have sufficient technical knowledge to speak with real authority is very small. A man may be able to say from his general experience that there is too much movement in a frame to be good either for the tower or the ringers, or that this or that bell ought to be rehung, but when it comes down to such questions as the design of a frame, the stresses on the walls of the tower, or the roping of the bells there are few who can give expert advice. And it is not to be expected. It is a matter that calls for scientific training and technical knowledge.

At the moment this training and experience is almost entirely in the hands of the bell founders, although there are, as we have said, just a few men of sufficient knowledge outside whose judgment and advice are authoritative. What is needed in the Exercise is an independent professional adviser, whose services are at the command of all church authorities where bell restoration work is necessary; just in the same way that an architect is called in when building operations are contemplated. It would enable church authorities to obtain tenders for work on the basis of the same specification; or, where there were differences, they would have the advantage of expert opinion in deciding between the varying estimates. At present it is no unusual thing for three or four different schemes and tenders to be submitted for a restoration, and, we say it advisedly, church authorities frequently make a more or less blind selection or go for the lowest, which is by no means necessarily the best, estimate. If, in such cases, for a reasonable fee, there were available the services of an independent expert, the authorities could be sure of getting the best result for their money, but the primary benefit would be that they could, if they wished, start from the proper basis of a fixed scheme with a definite specification, which is a somewhat rare thing in these days. That this should be so is not the fault of the bell founders; it is due to the absence of a professional adviser whose services would be available to all who needed them.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION TITLE.NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT VOTES AGAINST CHANGE.

The annual meeting of the North-Western District of the Essex Association was held at Bishop's Stortford on Saturday. A large attendance of members assembled in the belfry of St. Michael's Church and rang a number of touches on the bells. This was followed by a special service in the church, which was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. W. McCarthy, who also gave an address. Tea was served to 36 ringers in the Parish Hall, after which the Master of the association (Mr. C. H. Howard) presided over the business meeting.

The Chairman took the opportunity of thanking the Vicar, who had to leave after the tea, for inviting them there, for his address and for the use of the bells. He also thanked the District Master, Mr. G. Dent, of Harlow Common, and the hon. secretary, Mr. Harry Wacey, for their services during the year and for arranging the annual meeting.—Each responded, and the election of officers was then proceeded with.

Mr. Dent was again nominated for District Master, and Mr. Wacey for hon. secretary. There were no other nominations, and they were declared elected.—The Chairman said it was a good sign as, at the other district meetings, the old officers were re-elected, showing that the association was well served by the officials.

It was proposed that the next meeting be held at Harlow Common (St. Mary Magdalen's) at a date to be fixed in February.

The chairman brought up for discussion the question of the proposed change of name from the Essex Association to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild. Views were expressed by Mr. Prior (Leytonstone) and Mr. Prior (Stansted) and the chairman, and in the first vote taken there were nine against the proposed change, the others not voting. Another resolution, that the name of the Essex Association be retained, was carried by 11 votes.

This closed the business of the meeting, but many members signed Mr. Joyce's communication affecting Minor peals.

The ringers then repaired to St. Michael's belfry and rang several touches under various conductors. Ringers were present at the meeting from Stansted, Harlow Common, Braintree, Wenden, Sawbridgeworth, Fulbourn, Nazeing, Leytonstone, Deptford, Stetchworth, Cambridge, Exning, Melbourn, Sawston and St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford.

GREAT CHEVERELL, DEVIZES.—At the Parish Church, on Dec. 27th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): D. E. Heginbotham 1, G. J. Winter 2, S. Hillier 3, C. D. Heginbotham 4, W. J. Whiting (conductor) 6.

VETERAN WENHASTON RINGER.DEATH OF MR. GEORGE EASTAUGH.

On Tuesday afternoon, January 3rd, there was laid to rest in the quiet churchyard of St. Peter's Church, Wenhaston, Suffolk, the mortal remains of the late Mr. George Eastaugh, for many years the respected verger, towerkeeper and sexton of the parish, who passed away in his 83rd year at the residence of his son, Mr. Wm. Eastaugh, of Plumstead.

'Old George,' as he was affectionately called by all who knew him, retired from the post of verger a few years ago, and since the death of his wife had resided with his son. He was a keen lover of the bells, and had rung 13 peals for the Norwich Association, mostly on the six bells at Wenhaston Church. He was also a member of the Suffolk Guild. Visiting companies or ringers from neighbouring towers were always sure of a hearty welcome from the towerkeeper, and he was always ready to take a rope to oblige.

The funeral service was performed by the Rev. G. Hardingham (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. W. N. Matthews (Vicar of Yoxford, and late Vicar of Wenhaston). In addition to the family mourners, many friends, ringers and other attended the funeral, immediately after which half-muffled touches of Bob Minor were rung on the bells by Messrs. W. Eastaugh (son) 1, S. Ellis 2, F. Walling (son-in-law) (conductor) 3, R. Pearce 4, G. Pearce 5, R. Roberts 6. In the evening further half-muffled touches, including 600 of Bob Minor, were rung by the local company, as a last token of respect to the memory of an old comrade.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A muffled peal was rung at Lydney, Gloucestershire, on New Year's Eve, in memory of the late Rev. J. C. E. Besant, Vicar of Lydney from 1893 to 1927. He was interred at Penny Stratford, Bucks, where he had resided since his retirement, on December 26th. He was a great lover of bells, and it was during his ministry at Lydney that in 1900 two bells were added to the ring.

Listeners who care to tune in to the Midland Regional programme on Tuesday, Jan. 17th, at 7.25 will hear a talk by Mr. A. Paddon Smith, of Birmingham. The talk will be a part of the 'Warwickshire County' broadcast, and the subject will be 'Motor-Car Electrical Equipment in the making.' Factory noises incidental to production and testing will be relayed. Mr. Paddon Smith is well known in ringing circles for his long connection with St. Martin's Guild, of which he was hon. secretary for twenty years. He is now its representative on the Central Council.

Several months ago the Cathedral Chapter at Truro adopted a scheme put forward by the ringers for the blocking up of the louvres of the bell tower with inch boarding and Cabot's quilt. The improvement has been appreciated in many quarters. The local paper even congratulated the Chapter and stated that many people at first thought it to be owing to 'atmospheric conditions.'

On New Year's Day, a prominent member of the Cathedral congregation, whose house is directly under the bell tower, wished one of the ringers a 'Happy New Year,' and remarked, 'I suppose you rang last night, we did not hear the bells.'

The Cathedral bells did ring—half-muffled before and open after midnight! Bells, at least when towers are properly treated, do not disturb the public so much after all. Some people even sleep under the ringing of a heavy peal!

Many friends will learn with regret of the illness of Mr. A. G. Rivers, the father of Surprise ringing in the Ely Diocese. All will wish him speedy recovery.

The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Birmingham on January 2nd consecrated a carillon of 23 bells in the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of the Rosary and the Little Flower of Jesus, at Saltley. The carillon was made by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, at the Croydon Foundry.

DEXTER'S VARIATION OF THURSTANS' PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Why didn't Mr. Cave attack Mr. F. H. Dexter instead of me? However, I accept the challenge on Mr. Dexter's behalf. Mr. Cave says Mr. Dexter is years behind. I beg to say it is Mr. Cave who claims publication in 1932. The peal in question was published in 'The Ringing World' in 1927. My friend, Mr. P. Merson, was the first to call it in the West in 1928. We have rung it about five times, including my two transpositions, and in each case the variation has been accredited to its rightful owner.

Mr. Cave kindly offers me advice as to the course in which to begin for this and that bell to be the observation. My peal with the second there has him beaten to a frazzle. Sixty-one courses—I don't think! I have not as yet sent a false peal for publication.

Heywood's, Washbrook's, Davies', Pitstow's and Dexter's—I have them all. If Mr. Cave does not give up the peal to Mr. Dexter, I have further conclusive evidence on how Mr. Cave obtained it.

WASHBROOK'S PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Cave's letter in your current issue re-opens a vexed question. However, he did not examine carefully the paragraph at the foot of Mr. Hunt's arrangement. There are not 61 courses, but 60.

The figures by Mr. Hunt are two of the possible 419 simple transpositions, all starting from the 4th blow of a quick six, of Washbrook's peal. I do not consider them to be, in any sense, transpositions of Thurstans', on the following grounds:—

i. The quarter-peal, based on the 3 course block, was material common to composers contemporary with Thurstans. This is a reasonable supposition.

ii. By means of extras and omits Thurstans joined them into two half-peals and linked the halves with singles.

iii. Washbrook spliced the whole together with singles only.

Hence it seems clear that any arrangement of the 3 course blocks, using extras and omits, is Thurstans', and one which uses singles only is Washbrook's.

A HALF-PEAL.

At the Church of St. Lawrence, Lechlade, on Saturday, Dec. 24th, a half-peal of Grandsire Doubles (2,520 changes): G. Milsom 1, J. Hope (conductor) 2, A. Law 3, S. Worsfold 4, E. Cooper 5, E. Tilling 6. Longest length for ringers of 1, 3 and 5.

APPLETON'S RECORDS.

SOME FAMOUS PEALS RECALLED.

Appleton, still an unspoiled Berkshire village, has played no unimportant part in the records of great ringing performances. The bells and the prevailing conditions have made it an attractive place for those seeking to ring new long lengths, the last of which, as already recorded, was the 16,271 of Grandsire Caters, successfully brought round on Dec. 27th. The bells are a light ring, with tenor of 14½ cwt., and the church is well away from the village street.

With most of the earlier records on the bells the Rev. F. E. Robinson was associated. He gave the two tenors and it was at this church that he learned to ring under Mr. F. White and scored his first peals. It was, however, in 1888 that the 'long peal' fever reached its height. On January 28th of that year a 10,080 Double Norwich Major was rung. On March 5th, 12,041 Stedman Caters was brought round in 7 hrs. and 26 mins., and on April 11th

ST. LAWRENCE'S CHURCH, APPLETON.

13,265 Grandsire Caters in 8 hrs. 5 mins. Both these were records, but the former was soon beaten at Cheltenham, where on May 21st a 13,954 was rung. Not to be outdone, however, the Appleton men, on the last day of the year, rang a longer length of 15,041. They met a man short for this attempt and sent to the next village for him. He happened to be engaged in threshing corn. He handed over his job to another and went along to Appleton, where he stood for 9 hrs. and 16 mins. With two exceptions the same men rang in all three of the peals of Caters. In the 12,041 Stedman Caters, G. H. Phillott rang instead of C. Hounslow, and in the 15,041 Rev. G. F. Coleridge rang in place of E. Holifield. The eight who shared in all the peals were the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Messrs. H. Baker, W. Bennett, F. White, J. Avery, G. Holifield, J. W. Washbrook and F. S. White, who rang the tenor each time.

The Whites and Holifields are still the mainstay of Appleton ringing, as they have been since the middle of last century.

The longest peal ever rung by one set of men was rung at Appleton, when, on April 22nd, 1922, a band, which again included two members of each of these families, rang 21,363 Stedman Caters in 12 hrs. 25 mins., the ninth and tenor being rung by Richard White and Fred White, who rang the same bells to the long peal on December 27th. Appleton can now claim the longest peals of Caters in both methods.

It is interesting to note that the Rev. W. J. Butler, whose name appears on some of the bells, was the father of Mrs. Robinson.

ONE HUNDRED TWIN-BOB COMPOSITIONS.

MR. MAURICE SWINFELD'S GREAT FEAT IN CONDUCTING.

A real genius in conducting Stedman Triples is Mr. Maurice Swinfield, of Burton-on-Trent, who has called far more compositions in this method than any other ringer. Mr. Swinfield makes a hobby of Stedman, and with the 'Wednesday' band which he has got round him—old stagers most of them, but as keen as any youngsters to get the peal—he has opened up a field in Stedman Triples so extensive that few others are likely to explore it to its limits.

The peal which he rang at Beeston, Notts, made the one hundredth different twin-bob composition which he has called—a record for any conductor. It has been accomplished in ten years, and when you ask Mr. Swinfield how he has done it he modestly puts it down to the loyal help of others—to Mr. James George, who, he says, rings the 7th so beautifully that it is easy to call from (Mr. Swinfield always rings a working bell); to his father, Mr. J. H. Swinfield, who arranges all the peals, and without whose efforts in this direction the number would have been considerably less; to Mr. Charles Draper, whose countenance, and—yes—whose chiding at times, could never be forgotten. 'Good old Charles,' says Maurice, 'ready at any time for a three-mile walk to the tower, and be hanged to the buses.'

MR. MAURICE SWINFELD.

Others to whom he is deeply indebted for co-operation and help are Mr. Joe Bailey, who finds the right seats and so forth in trains and buses for all the rest of the band; Mr. Charlie Dicken, one of their recent and best acquisitions; and Mr. John Curtis, who settles the question of who shall ring the tenor by ringing it himself.

The record that has been set up, says Mr. Swinfield, is a tribute to the patience of those who helped to score the peals, and it is upon them that congratulations should be bestowed, as he gives them his thanks.

Mr. Swinfield also offers his thanks to Mr. J. J. Parker, of Farnham Royal, Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, and other composers who have sent him peals, for their kindness and patience in explaining the composition of Stedman Triples, which has helped him so much in calling the peals.

But with all his desire to give credit to others, the part which Mr. Maurice Swinfield has played is, after all, the most important. Practically every week he calls a fresh composition—and Stedman Triples in such variety is no mean task. It is a great feat of memorisation, for some of the peals would be beyond the capacity of many a man to call correctly at the first attempt. Yet in 1932 thirty-five peals were rung, and there were only two failures!

Altogether Mr. Swinfield has called 108 twin-bob compositions, but he counts only 100 of them as being different, because four of them were the reverse of some other, and two were variations of the same peal, while the two remaining were Brook's variation and Mr. Swinfield's own variation of the famous four-part by Thurstans.

The one hundred twin-bob compositions are by no means the limit of what Mr. Swinfield has done in the calling of this method. In addition, he has conducted 34 different odd-bob compositions, as well as one by the Rev. E. Banks James, which is claimed to be a variation of one by John Carter.

We said at the beginning that Mr. Swinfield was a real genius in conducting Stedman Triples, but it is a genius born of patience, hard study and a faculty for taking pains. The band may be the best in the world, but all their talent would be of no avail if the bobs were not put in the right places. Maurice Swinfield's achievement stands in a class by itself.

In his calculation of the one hundred different compositions, however, Mr. Swinfield has, we think, carried punctiliousness to the utmost limit, for how many Stedman conductors would recognise the following as a variation of the four-part?

SUFFOLK GUILD.

BURES BELLS SELDOM RUNG.

A meeting of members of the Suffolk Guild was held at the Church of St. Mary, Bures, on Saturday, when 19 attended and rang touches on this fine peal of six bells, the tenor of which weighs about 21 cwt. The Vicar (Rev. J. W. Green) paid a visit to the tower and welcomed the ringers, and said it was a great pleasure to him to hear the bells rung again, as, not having a band in Bures, they seldom heard their bells rung. Seeing a lady ringer in the tower (Miss A. White, of Springfield, Essex), the Vicar said he wondered if there might not be some ladies in Bures who would like to learn bellringing.

A party of 17 sat down to tea, which was followed by a business meeting, over which the Vicar presided.

Mr. P. O. Bixby (Long Melford) said how pleased they all were to see Mr. Arthur Symonds, of Lavenham, among them again, after his illness. Mr. Symonds was one of the best-known ringers in West Suffolk, and had done much valuable work to further the art of ringing. Mr. Symonds, in reply, expressed his great pleasure in being able again to come to these meetings, and said he should continue to do so, as long as he had his health and strength.

The district secretary (Mr. Harold G. Herbert) gave a summary of the year's work in the districts of Sudbury and Clare. During the past year meetings had been held, he said, at Assington, Long Melford, Fostlingford and Glemsford. The total attendance at these meetings was 64, and 17 new members had been elected to the Guild during the year.

It was proposed, if permission could be obtained, to hold the next meeting at Haverhill.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. Green for his welcome and for presiding at the meeting was proposed by Mr. P. O. Bixby and seconded by Mr. W. Nevard, of Great Bentley.

Members were present from the towers of Sudbury, Great Cornard, Assington, Wormingford, Great Bentley, Long Melford, Stetchworth, Springfield, Little Walsingham and Lavenham, with two of the local ringers.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

Great admiration has been expressed for the recast peal of bells at Leeds Parish Church, which were dedicated at a memorable service on Saturday week. Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s work has given the greatest satisfaction to everyone concerned.

One of the churchwardens has written as follows to Messrs. Taylor and Co.: 'Many congratulations upon the success achieved in the tower of our Parish Church. It is a very fine peal of bells, and on all hands we are receiving words of praise and appreciation. It was a very memorable week-end and a fitting climax to the very enjoyable visit I paid to your works when the tenor bell was cast. Both events will be an abiding memory and very full of pleasure.'

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM. PROPOSED RECORD OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held on Saturday at the Woolpack Hotel, Moor Street, Birmingham. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the Master, Mr. Alderman J. S. Pritchett, and Mr. James George, the senior vice-president, present, not feeling well, Vice-President Mr. A. Paddon Smith took the chair.

The Chairman referred to the recent death of Mr. Albert E. Parsons, of Old Hill, a respected member of the Guild, and asked all present to stand for a moment as a mark of respect to his memory.

ALL OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The president and vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc on the proposition of Mr. H. Mason, seconded by Mr. H. Withers.

The Chairman, in proposing the re-election of Mr. Alderman J. S. Pritchett as Master, remarked how nice it was that they had come back to the dignified title of Master. Alderman Pritchett had served the Guild so long and so faithfully that they were all proud to have him as Master, and it gave him particular pleasure to propose his re-election.—This was seconded by Mr. Jas. George and carried unanimously.

Mr. Albert Walker was re-elected Ringing Master on the proposition of Mr. George, seconded by Mr. F. Price.—In acknowledging his re-election, he thanked them for their continued confidence. The number of peals rung during the past year and the quality of them had been up to the average of recent years. The weekly practices had been fairly well attended and progress made in the higher methods, but he would be glad if more would attend when possible.

The trustees, Messrs. T. Russam and A. P. Smith, were re-elected on the proposition of Mr. A. Walker, seconded by Mr. J. Preston. Sympathy was extended to Mr. Russam, who is at present confined to his bedroom, and best wishes were expressed for his speedy recovery.

The auditors (Messrs. J. Preston and E. T. Allaway), librarian (Mr. G. F. Swann), and hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. T. H. Reeves) were all unanimously re-elected.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith was re-elected Central Council representative for the new session, on the proposition of the secretary, seconded by Mr. G. F. Swann.

The balance sheet was presented by the treasurer, who remarked that in these difficult times they had done well to balance their budget.—Mr. J. Preston (auditor) moved the adoption of the balance sheet. This was seconded by Mr. H. Mason and carried unanimously.

It was decided to hold the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner on Saturday, February 25th, and that the Rector of St. Martin's be invited to preside. Some discussion took place regarding the time of the dinner, and the secretary promised to arrange for this to start punctually at 6 p.m. All other arrangements in connection with the dinner were left in the hands of the Guild's officers.

The first quarterly meeting was fixed to be held at Selly Oak on the first Saturday in April.

Messrs. A. F. Petrie, of Birmingham, and G. H. Williams, of Water Orton, were elected full ringing members, and Mrs. Robinson, of Solihull, as a life member.

A SUGGESTED MEMORIAL.

Mr. W. C. Dowding opened a discussion regarding the provision of a memorial to the late Mr. J. E. Groves, who was a vice-president, and for some years previously had rendered good service as Deputy Ringing Master. He suggested that a peal tablet recording the muffled peal rung to his memory be erected in St. Martin's tower.—Mr. Walker agreed that a memorial ought to be erected, and thought a peal tablet would be very suitable.

Mr. Paddon Smith said that the late Mr. Groves was a great friend of his for many years; he also fully appreciated the services he had rendered to the Guild. He would, however, remind them that St. Martin's belfry was even now nearly full of peal tablets, and he considered any remaining space should only be used for very special memorials, almost of a national character. There were many past officers of the Guild who had rendered yeoman service for many years, as, for instance, the late Mr. Godden, who had been hon. secretary for 20 years, and no memorials had been erected to their memory. The difficulty, therefore, was where to draw the line, whom to erect memorials to and who not.

Mr. F. E. Haynes suggested as a possible way out of the difficulty that a record be prepared of all the principal officers since the formation of the society in 1755, and entered in a suitable album which could be added to from time to time. This in due course would become a very interesting and valuable possession of the Guild.

The suggestion was favourably received, and Mr. Haynes then moved it as a resolution. It was seconded by Mr. George, and on being put to the meeting was carried unanimously.

Mr. Haynes proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman, and said that Mr. Smith had carried out his duties with tact, wit and dignity.

The remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse, when many old reminiscences of the past were revived and thoroughly enjoyed.

FRENSHAM, SURREY.—At the Church of St. Mary, on Christmas Day, for early service, 720 Grandsire Doubles: Miss D. Aslett (longest touch) 1, W. H. Chandler 2, E. J. Pepler 3, E. J. Heath 4, A. J. Butler (conductor) 5, E. A. Case 6.

A NORFOLK PEAL RESTORED.

KNAPTON BELLS' FIFTY YEARS' SILENCE.

The bells of the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Knapton, Norfolk, were rededicated on Friday last by the Ven. G. M. MacDermott, Archdeacon of Norwich and president of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers. Knapton bells were condemned as unsafe for ringing when Sir Gilbert Scott made his report on the church in 1831. The order was obeyed for a time—until disregarded by some keen ringers among men working on the new railway line passing through Knapton from North Walsham to Mundesley-on-Sea, but they had to be stopped. The last occasion on which the five bells were heard was many years ago, when a welcome home was given to a bridegroom and bride from Canada. They were not 'rung up' then, but string was tied to the clappers, and the five ringers sat on the bell frame and pulled the strings and made a cheerful noise. The bells have not been rung for regular Sunday services for at least 51 years.

The restoration work has cost over £256, and has been done under the supervision and advice of Sir Aston Webb and Son, the architects, by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, bell founders, of Croydon. The ring of five has been rehung in a steel frame for six bells, and the three trebles recast. The weights of the bells and the inscriptions on them are as follow, the recast bells now bearing also the inscription, 'Recast by Gillett & Johnston, Croydon, 1932.'

The work on the bells is part of the extensive restoration scheme carried on since 1922 made necessary by the ravages of the death-watch beetle. The previous restoration in 1882-3 cost £2,000, and about a similar amount has been expended under the present scheme.

A large congregation attended the service in the beautiful 14th century church, which has one of the most famous roofs in all Norfolk—double-hammer beam, with three rows of angels on each side.

The robed clergy were the Archdeacon of Norwich, the Rev. G. W. Kershaw, R.D., Vicar of Worstead, the Rev. R. E. V. Prichard, Rector of Knapton, the Rev. E. A. Chase, Vicar of North Walsham, the Rev. W. F. Sommerfeld, Vicar of Bacton, and the Rev. L. A. Gilbert, Rector of Gimmingham. Miss C. E. Robinson presided at the organ.

The Rector of Knapton conducted the service. After the prayer of St. Chrysostom and the Grace, the Archdeacon, Rector and visiting clergy, together with the churchwardens, sidesmen and clerk, proceeded to the tower to dedicate the bells, and then followed a short touch of Doubles rung by a band of Buxton ringers: William C. Duffield (captain) 1, Eric Durrant 2, Edward Howes 3, William R. Catchpole 4, Walter C. Medler 5.

The Archdeacon of Norwich, preaching from the text, 'In that day shall there be upon the bells of the horses holiness unto the Lord,' said that it was a glad day for the parishioners and for many outside who were interested in the parish, as it was the consummation of 50 years of effort and service. The parishioners worked together in a noble and glorious cause.

The concluding hymn was 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven,' and after the Blessing the bells were rung again until late in the evening.

Mr. Arthur L. Coleman, general secretary and treasurer of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, representing the bell founders and ringers from Buxton, Paston and Wrotham, were present, and took part in the ringing after the service.

The whole of the work is of the highest order, and the restored bells reflect very great credit on the Croydon firm.

OFF THE ACTIVE LIST.

Many members of the Exercise will learn with regret that the Gloucester and Bristol Association is to lose one of its old stalwarts, a past Master and vice-president, in the person of Mr. Frank K. Howell, of Thornbury.

Mr. Howell, who did so much spade work for the advancement of the Exercise in the early years of the Gloucester and Bristol Association when under the Mastership of Mr. John Drinkwater, and started the first change ringing at Thornbury in the seventies, has, owing to ill-health, been prevented from taking an active part in ringing for the past few years, but still maintained a keen interest in the affairs of the Gloucester and Bristol Association and the Exercise in general.

He has left Thornbury and is at present in Ashley Grange Nursing Home, Ashley Down, Bristol, where he is staying for a short time before going to Bockleton to reside with his daughter.

He would be wonderfully cheered to receive a visit from any of his old friends of the ringing fraternity of Bristol or elsewhere.

'BELL TOWERS'

A lecture on 'BELL TOWERS' will be given by

E. H. LEWIS, ESQ., M.A.,

President of the Central Council,

At S. Nicolas' Hall, Guildford, on Saturday, Jan. 28th, following the annual meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

THE SHERWOOD YOUTHS.
SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

The annual meeting of the Society of Sherwood Youths was held at St. Mary's Church, Nottingham, on Saturday, members being present from Beeston, Bottesford, Cotgrave, Long Eaton and Nottingham, together with the officers.

The Master, Mr. A. Coppock, presided at the business meeting, when the balance sheet was presented and adopted.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: Mr. A. Coppock, Master; Miss I. B. Thompson, hon. treasurer; Mr. A. R. Hickton, steward; on the proposition of Mr. W. E. White, seconded by Mr. J. W. Kirtton.

Unfortunately, owing to indifferent health and other circumstances, Mr. F. Blood did not wish to stand again for re-election as secretary. No appointment was made, the election to this office being held over to another meeting, the hon. treasurer being asked to 'carry on' until a successor is elected.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Blood for his work as secretary to the society for the past eight years was proposed by Mr. A. Ward, who expressed the sympathy of the members with Mr. Blood.—Mr. W. E. White seconded and endorsed Mr. Ward's remarks.—The motion, on being put to the meeting, was carried unanimously.

Mr. Blood, replying, expressed his regret at having to give up the work which, he said, had always been a pleasure to him.

One new member, Mr. Clark, of East Kirkby, was elected.

The society regretted to record the loss of two members by death—Mr. Alfred Archer, aged 85, and Mr. F. Johnson, both of Nottingham.

A vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells concluded the business.

Ringings continued until nine o'clock, the usual standard methods being rung, several members being initiated (or was it intimidated?) into—to them—new methods.

ESSENTIAL NEED FOR GOOD STRIKING

Emphasis was laid, in speeches made at the annual dinner of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday, on the essential need that exists for good striking whenever church bells are rung. This need is not only peculiar to the Guildford diocese, but to the country as a whole. Good striking is essential if public hostility to bells is to be avoided, for there could be nothing more calculated to bring support to the small minority of people who, on the least provocation, clamour for the silencing of bells, than bad ringing. Ringers—or the majority of them—find vastly more pleasure in good ringing than in bad; indeed, for the man with an 'ear,' bad ringing is purgatory. Yet there is a great deal too much of this bad ringing tolerated, even by ringers who might be expected to know better. Bad ringing, like other faults, can become a habit, and ringers who are content with anything less than the best are, in a sense, a menace to the cause of ringing, inasmuch as they provide the public with reasonable ground for objection to bells.

Everyone who takes up the art has got to learn, and allowance must be made for beginners, but there are ringers who never seem able to acquire just that touch which will make them tolerably well finished performers. Usually this may be traced to faults in tuition, but the President of the Central Council voiced another reason for much of the indifferent ringing which is heard, when he said that in some places 'the art of ringing methods has rather run away from the art of good striking.' That is an opinion with which many will agree. Before a man can handle his bell properly and ring rounds efficiently, he is pushed into change ringing, in which he has so to concentrate on the method that the accurate placing of his bell has to be ignored. The steps to change ringing are taken too rapidly. Ringers in the old days did not make this mistake with their pupils, who had long to practise rounds and call changes before they were initiated into the 'mysteries' of the art. To-day—frequently, we fancy, from fear of losing a recruit to the other attractions which call modern youth in his leisure—the chief anxiety of the teacher often is to push the learner as rapidly as possible into change ringing in order to retain his interest. It is a mistake. Until a beginner has perfect command of his bell and can handle it correctly, almost without conscious effort, he ought not to receive his practical initiation into change ringing. A few weeks' or even a few months' delay at this stage would produce, eventually, a much finer ringer, and it would be well worth while if the ultimate result is going to be a higher general standard of ringing. Ringers, it is well to remember, have not

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Barnsley on Saturday, January 14th. The towers represented were Badsworth, Barnsley, Cawthorne, Darfield, Darton, Felkirk, Hoylandswaine, Friezland, Penistone, Royston, Sandal, Sheffield, Shelley, Wath and Wortley. The bells were kept going during the afternoon, and a short service was held, at which the members were addressed by Canon Hone (Rector of Barnsley). Tea was served in the Parish Room by Mrs. Hone, a fairly numerous company sitting down.

At the business meeting which followed Canon Hone presided.

The Treasurer (Mr. H. Chant) read the accounts, which showed a profit of 7s. 1d. on the year, and the statement was accepted unanimously.

The officers were elected as follows:—Mr. C. D. Potter, president; Mr. R. Thickett, vice-president; Mr. H. Chant, treasurer; Mr. A. Panther, secretary. Two new members were elected, viz., Mr. A. Bailey and Mr. J. Fleetwood, of Darton.

After a discussion on the selection of towers for monthly meetings, it was finally agreed to leave the matter in the hands of a sub-committee to be formed of the officers, who are to report at the next meeting, which is to be held at Wath-on-Deerne on Saturday, February 11th.

It was also agreed that any member applying for tea, and not attending, shall be held responsible for the cost, if there is any deficiency.

Mr. Mellor moved, and Mr. Maren seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector (Canon Hone) for presiding, for his address and for the use of the bells; also to Mrs. Hone for providing tea, and the local company for the arrangements made.

Mr. C. D. Potter then sprang a surprise on Canon Hone by presenting him with a large, framed photograph of the group at the garden party, held in the Rectory grounds on Saturday, July 30th, 1932, under the patronage of the Yorkshire Association. This was given by the Barnsley and District Association.

The Rector suitably acknowledged the gift. He referred to the background of shrubs in the picture, which, in some future time, would have to be removed for street widening, and said how pleasing it would be to look back and show the younger generation what the place looked like before the alterations.

Afterwards some of the ringers made their way home, the weather being very cold, and others returned to the tower to take part in more ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We often hear of peals rung by 'local' bands, but there can have been few more truly local than that at Over, Cambridgeshire, on January 5th, when, after several attempts, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. All the band were once scholars in the National School attached to the church.

'Bell Towers' is to be the subject of a lecture to be given by the president of the Central Council at Guildford on Saturday week. This lecture will be open to all ringers and others interested, and visitors will be welcomed by the Guildford Diocesan Guild. The subject is an important one, and those who attend can rely upon an interesting and instructive evening.

A handsome challenge cup has been presented to the London County Association by Mr. F. E. Dawe to encourage change ringing on handbells. It will be competed for annually, and the first competition is to take place on February 11th at the annual meeting of the association.

ADVICE ON BELL RESTORATIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to your leading article in 'The Ringing World' of January 13th I must say I do not agree with several points.

For instance, a blacksmith or carpenter in some cases has been known to do a few repairs to church bells and proved himself very useful. I have also known blacksmiths and carpenters who have become very capable journeymen bell hangers, and several firms can prove this. Church authorities can always obtain the best and free advice from a practical bell hanger or bell founder. Ringing associations may give advice and speak with real authority, but, in my opinion, this should only be done by a practical man in the trade or an architect. If a blacksmith or carpenter should not be employed to carry out repairs to church bells, then why ask the advice of a clergyman, lawyer, doctor, bootmaker or baker, simply because they are ringers?

The usual way is probably the best—that is, through an architect and bell hanger who, after making an inspection, talk the matter over and then submit a plan of the work to the authorities.

I do sincerely hope a technical adviser will never be appointed from the ringing Exercise, as it would do away with competition and probably do much harm to the trade, especially to smaller firms. It seems a pity the ringing associations should ever be asked to give advice on such matters. We have architects who are quite good and capable of doing this and giving the most reliable independent advice, and free from ringing associations or trades unions. It should be understood there are several small firms in this country of bell hangers and bell founders, and may they continue to exist.

In conclusion I would suggest that the advice of an architect and the bell founder is quite sufficient for the carrying out of any work in connection with a peal of church bells, and I should strongly oppose, if possible, any other suggestion.

ROMSEY ABBEY BELLS RESTORED.

THREE BELLS RECAST.

The restoration of the bells at Romsey Abbey has been completed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and the work has been carried out in a most efficient manner. The third, fifth and seventh bells have been recast, and the remainder tuned. A great improvement has been effected, and the mellow tones that have always been associated with Romsey bells have been developed.

The work was made possible by the bequest of a local lady to Romsey Abbey.

The new bells were dedicated, and the peal reopened on December 23rd.

The Rector of Romsey held a short service in the tower, after which the bells were opened by the local band. Following this they were rung in various methods by ringers who were present from Bishopstoke, North Stoneham, King's Somborne and Winchester. A very welcome visitor was Miss P. Holloway, of Reading. Mr. Alan Macdonald and Mr. J. Tyler represented the bell hangers.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was somewhat surprised to read Mr. Albert Walker's letter in your issue of the 6th inst. regarding the footnote to the peal rung at Erdington on December 19th last. Whilst this peal was the 1,000th by the Guild, as a Guild, I am quite aware and in entire agreement that the Guild has had a continuous existence under its various titles since 1755, and, of course, as such, has rung considerably more than 1,000 peals.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE PUBLIC AND CHURCH BELLS.

Central Council's President's Advice.

The third annual dinner of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at the Lion Hotel, Guildford, on Saturday.

The dinner was presided over by the Bishop of Guildford (Dr. J. H. Greig), who was supported by the Very Rev. Provost E. C. Kirwan, Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council) and Mrs. Lewis, Mr. W. Harrison (vice-president), Major J. H. B. Hesso (Master), Canon G. F. Coleridge, Canon S. M. Jones (Vicar of Haslemere), Canon R. H. Stuart (Vicar of Bagshot), the Rev. E. G. Ireland (Vicar of Grayshott), Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mrs. C. E. O'Leary (Croydon), Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. A. W. Francis (Bagshot), Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer of the Guild) and Mrs. Corbett, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary) and Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. H. C. Renshaw (Woking) and Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker (Edmonton). Among the visitors were Mr. C. H. Kippin, Biddington (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association), Mr. F. W. Rogers, Portsmouth (hon. secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Mr. A. T. Greenwood (Portsmouth District secretary) and Miss Blencowe (Reading). The company of about 100 included members from Guildford, Dorking, Grayshott, Seale, Otter-shaw, Farnham, Shalford, Aldershot, Haslemere, Cranleigh, Farnham, Leatherhead, West Clendon, Bagshot, Puttenham and Witley. After dinner the loyal toast was first honoured.

In submitting the health of 'The President,' the Very Rev. the Provost expressed their great pleasure in the presence of the Bishop. They trusted he would be long spared to shepherd them in the diocese. It had been said that bellringers were a curious folk, and that they stood rather apart from the rest of the human race. Their language—'Single Bob,' 'Grandsire Triples,' 'Stedman,' 'Major Bob'—to the uninitiated sounded almost like the reveries of a gibbering idiot (laughter). But there was no more delightful body of churchworkers in the diocese than their ringers, and they valued exceedingly the presence of their Bishop.

BISHOP FINDS A CONTRAST.

Replying, the Bishop said he was sincerely glad to have that opportunity of meeting the bellringers of the diocese. There was no more ubiquitous body than the ringers; wherever he went—with certain obscure exceptions—there was a belfry and ringers. And there was not merely quantity but also quality. His mind went back to his experience of bellringers in the early days soon after his ordination and the contrast between the ringers of those days—there were many exceptions—and the present time was largely in favour of the present. Wherever he went he found the bellringers real adjuncts to the life of the parish and a very important part of it. He was enjoying his change of residence, and one of the things he enjoyed especially at Farnham was that every day the sound of the bells came floating up from the Parish Church below, while he never heard the sound of the bells in all the five years he was at Cobham, although that was his own fault for living so far outside the town. It was difficult to imagine what a difference that made, that wonderful sound. There was a quality in bellringing which seemed to belong to it more than to anything else. In that wonderful travel book of Kinglake's 'Eothen' he wrote how, in the middle of an Asian desert, he distinctly heard the bells of his parish belfry just at the time when they would be ringing in his home parish. There was, continued his Lordship, something about the music of the bells one could always hear if one wanted to. It came with its own beauty and melody, and was not tied down to time and space. It had some sort of mysterious spiritual or psychic force, and he thought it was really a great power, especially as in these days, as far as his experience and knowledge went, bellringers rang with a spiritual purpose. They did not ring—as some ringers used to do—as something which they had got to do; they did it to the greater glory of God and to set going in the parish a new idea and conception of a beauty which did not altogether belong to this world. That seemed to be the important and most characteristic side of the work of the belfry. It did touch upon something which, though it might start here, seemed to have its roots in something very deep, and to step upwards and onwards into the heavenly places. If they looked on their work as ringers from something of that angle they would understand why it was that the Bishop of the diocese felt he owed a great debt of gratitude to the ringers and was very glad to meet them. What they were doing was very worth while, and was part of the Divine influence which lifted a man from too great an imprisonment in mundane ideas and life here and gave him a foretaste of that which would be his hereafter.

FEWER PAID RINGERS.

The toast of 'The Guildford Diocesan Guild' was proposed by Canon G. F. Coleridge, who said the Guild was a young one as guilds went, but it had a life and vitality in it which was not possessed by some other guilds. There were three reasons for that. First, they were blessed with a most excellent Master (applause); then there was their excellent secretary, and an enthusiastic committee. No association or guild in England had a more energetic secretary, one who saw an ideal and put his back into accomplishing it for the good of ringing generally. Those three things together enabled them to accomplish great work, and they were there to say how pleased they were to know that things were progressing well. He did not know how the Guild was increasing in numbers, but so far as statistics went in England the number of ringers the year before last was 74 less than the year before. That was not very surprising, as an analysis showed the greatest loss was among ringers who were paid for their services; the number of voluntary ringers had gone up. That was another indication that they did not want to do things for mere pay, but for the greater glory of God. It was not surprising that the numbers were falling down because of the tremendous attractions there were all round for young men and women nowadays, greater attractions than the tower, perhaps, but if anyone once got well bitten and appreciated what ringing really was, nothing was likely to draw them away from it.

In conclusion, he referred to the death of Admiral Walker, late treasurer of the Guild, who they missed very much.

THE VALUE OF PEAL RINGING.

In replying, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith paid a tribute to the work of the district officers, and, speaking of the past year, he also referred to the death of Admiral Walker, which was a very great loss to them. There was going to be a memorial to him, and they were hoping the Guild would have a large hand in erecting it. The formation of a library during the year marked a distinct step forward in their work, and it formed a centre through which any member would be able to enlarge his knowledge of the art of ringing, and it would form a resting-place for a good many books and documents which might otherwise be lost. He could not say the exact number of peals rung during the year, but there was a distinct falling off. He congratulated the Shalford band on ringing the first local peal, while a peal of Ashted Surprise rung by the Leatherhead District was the first in the method. He also congratulated the Farnham band on ringing their first peal of Stedman Triples.

Speaking of the falling-off in the number of peals, Mr. Goldsmith said there was a definite reason for that, which was the growing difficulty they had in getting towers for peal ringing. There had been occasions when there had been local complaints with regard to the ringing of bells—one just recently. They had, of course, got to consider public opinion, and it was possible in practically every church to modulate the sound of the bells so that the public should not be unduly worried by it, but there were some people who, however little the bells sounded in the street or round about, would be sure to grumble. They were a small minority, but noisy and insistent. The majority of people did like to hear bells rung when rung well, and the bells had actually a legal place in the rites of the Church, and were established by old custom, and any incumbent was justified in permitting ringing and even peal ringing in moderation. There were many causes which objectors raised, but usually they were found to be people who came to the village hundreds of years after the bells were put there. If they liked to come and put themselves within sound of the bells that was their affair. Ringers rendered a great service to the Church, and if they were to give of their best, practice was essential, and there was none better than peal ringing, because it demanded a far higher standard of efficiency, generated greater keenness and created aspirations which were reflected in the service ringing. He urged incumbents wherever they got complaints not to be unduly disturbed at what was said and the bricks that were thrown, but to give the ringers opportunities of practice and allow peals within reason, because they were the highest form of practice.

Mr. Walter Harrison submitted the health of 'The Visitors,' and remarked on the spirit of good fellowship which existed between tower and tower in the Guild. He coupled with the toast the name of Mr. Lewis, and mentioned that he had promised to lecture to them on 'Bell Towers' at the annual meeting of the Guildford District on January 28th.

PUBLIC COMPLAINTS AND THE REMEDY.

Mr. Lewis, responding on behalf of the visitors, said he was not sure it was not the sound of Godalming bells 30 to 35 years ago which first gave him an interest in change ringing. Referring to the proposed Guildford Cathedral, Mr. Lewis said a few months ago the secretary of the Guild wrote to him drawing attention to the fact that there did not appear to be provision for bells. On looking closer into the plans one could see that in the central tower a peal of bells was provided for, and it was just possible to have ringers underneath them. He wanted to call attention to the fact that the bells would be hung so that they would be well above the bottom of the windows, out of which the sound was supposed to come. The question had been raised, and it was explained that it would be possible to close up the windows to a height above the bells behind the louvres. They, as ringers, were very insistent on what they called truth in their ringing, and he thought the architects should go in for architectural truth. It was entirely wrong, in his opinion, to make windows which looked as if they were supposed to let the sound out and have a built-up wall inside covered by louvres, which was a sham. He thought they should consult someone who knew something about bells in order to place the openings in the proper position in relation to the bells, so that the sound went upwards and spread over the country, and not downwards to annoy the public.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

THE DEDICATION.

Great interest was manifested in Leeds when the completed work of restoration of the bells was dedicated by the Bishop of Ripon. The service was held in the afternoon of New Year's Eve, and the bells were heard, for the first time, after the dedicatory prayers.

In the course of the ceremony the Bishop, accompanied by the Vicar of Leeds (Canon W. Thompson Elliott), the Precentor (the Rev. C. R. Hall), the president of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers (the Rev. C. C. Marshall) and seven of the churchwardens, ascended the bell tower, and after greeting the ringers the Bishop consecrated the bells and handed the ropes to the Vicar of Leeds, who accepted the bells as a sacred trust. As the procession left the belfry the twelve privileged ringers, who were assembled in readiness, carried out their part of the programme, when the bells were rung in rounds, and their glorious tones boomed out over the city, to the great delight of many ringers and citizens alike, who had gathered in the precincts of the church to hear them.

In his address the Bishop of Ripon made the first public announcement that he had appointed the Rev. C. C. Marshall, Vicar of St. Chad's, Far Headingley, Leeds, to an honorary canonry in Ripon Cathedral. Its peculiar happiness lay in the fact that the new Canon had just completed 21 years' tenure of the presidency of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH.

Further rounds were rung immediately after the ceremony, and then, by kind courtesy of the Vicar of Leeds, the churchwardens and local company, the bells were available for visiting ringers. As may be expected, the belfry was almost immediately inundated, but with Mr. L. W. G. Morris officiating as master of ceremonies, the needs of all were duly catered for. The first change ringing on the bells was three courses of Stedman Cinques rung by the following: Wm. Woodhead (Leeds) 1, J. A. Teale (Holbeck) 2, J. P. Fidler (Loughborough) 3, P. Johnson (Headingley) 4, W. Barton (Pudsey) 5, T. W. Strangeway (Rothwell) 6, E. Jenkins (Bradford) 7, S. Briggs (Rotherham) 8, L. W. G. Morris (Arncliffe) 9, H. Walker (Doncaster) 10, W. E. H. Ash (Leeds) (conductor) 11, H. Smith (Leeds) 12. Much ringing followed, and among the many visitors present during the afternoon and evening were Messrs. J. Oldham and J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), representing Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Messrs. J. Holman (Sheffield), J. H. Riding (Crewel), W. Horan (hon. treasurer of the Lancashire Association), W. H. Shuter (joint hon. secretary, Lancs Association), B. Budd (Grimsby), A. H. Ward (Derby), H. C. Walters (Pontefract), J. Marshall (Edinburgh), representing the Scottish Association, A. J. Hughes (Bradford), H. Dransfield (Earlshaton), W. E. Dransfield (Huddersfield), W. H. Senior and H. Marsden (Batley), and these much respected and indefatigable 'youngsters,' Arthur Knights (Chesterfield) and 'Uncle' Joe Broadley (Bradford).

News was received with much regret that Mr. C. E. Lawson, of Leeds, who had taken an active interest in the pre-arrangements, could not be present on account of illness.

More than 2,000 people filled the great church for the watchnight service, and thousands more listened for the bells to ring in the new year, the first time since the beginning of the century that it had been thus heralded from the tower of Leeds Parish Church.

A remarkable scene, said the 'Yorkshire Post,' was witnessed at the conclusion of the service. Despite the oncoming of rain hundreds of people, of all ages and classes, were assembled in the vicinity of the church, and people clustered at the open windows of neighbouring houses, listening to the bells which, it seemed, had been so long silent, and watching the windows of the bell chamber, where moving hands and ropes could be dimly seen.

PRESIDENT'S PRAISE OF THE BELLS.

The president of the Yorkshire Association (Canon C. C. Marshall) was the preacher at the morning service at Leeds Parish Church on New Year's Day, and spoke in warm admiration of the recast bells.

He could speak, he said, for the great majority of the bellringers in Yorkshire in saying how much they welcomed the completion of this great work. He wished to congratulate the Leeds Parish Church on the fine results achieved: the purity of tone, the way all the little bells could be distinctly heard, and the ease of manipulation. The ring of 12 bells in Leeds Parish Church was installed in 1841, he added, and it was a very wonderful fact that these bells remained untouched, so far as any repairs or improvements were concerned, for over 90 years. Before the end of that time it had become an act of real physical labour to ring them, and the greatest credit was due to the ringers who in later years had kept the bells going. Speaking of the value of the modern tuning, as exemplified in the bells, Canon Marshall said experiments had been tried at sea as to the distance which the sound of bells would carry, and it had been found that a bell tuned on the modern principle, in tune with itself, would carry considerably further than one not so tuned. Under the new system the different notes of the bells were all placed in tune, with the result that the vibrations of the bell were all reinforcing each other and sending out a pure and fuller tone.

As briefly recorded in 'The Ringing World' of December 30th, when the details of the new bells were published, it would appear from the history of the Parish Church by John Rusby and J. G. Simpson that in the early part of the eighteenth century the church had six bells. These were increased to eight in 1746, and to ten in 1738, and when the new church was built in 1841 a new ring of 13 bells was cast to the design of one 'William Gawkruger of Leeds,' 'being,' according to the inscription on the old sharp 2nd bell, 'the first peal of thirteen bells ever cast in this kingdom,' and according to information supplied by Lieut.-Col. E. Kitson Clark these bells, cast by Mears, arriving in Leeds from London, were the first to travel on a railway.

The whole thirteen bells have now been recast into a heavier and nobler ring, and hung with the most modern type of fittings in a massive iron and steel framework, which accommodates the thirteen bells on one level. The new twelve are built to a tenor bell of 42½ cwt. in C natural. A flat 6th has been provided, which gives a musical light ring of eight in the key of F, the tenor of this ring being No. 9 bell of the ring of 12, and weighing 17 cwt. 4 lb. A most delightful effect has been produced (when listening to the bells outside the tower) by treating the tracery immediately beneath the louvred window openings with sound deadening material. Provision has also been made on five of the bells for sounding the Westminster quarters and hours, and each bell has been fitted with two additional striking hammers, operated by a carillon playing machine (completely restored by Messrs. Potts, of Leeds). This is automatically set in operation at appointed hours by a connection with the clock movement. An Ellacombe chiming apparatus has also been installed, rendering it possible to operate the thirteen bells by one person.

The general consensus of opinion reveals nothing but praise and commendation for this latest Loughborough triumph, and it will be appreciated that to successfully hang a heavy ring of thirteen bells, all in one tier, in a tower of mediocre strength, and only 18ft. 6in. square, is a feat that could only be carried to a successful issue by a combination of expert technical knowledge, long experience, sound engineering principles, and skilled workmanship, and the new ring of bells at Leeds Parish Church are a standing testimony to the unparalleled and unique resources ever at the command of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who are to be heartily congratulated upon having produced a literal 'masterpiece.'

There still remain a few minor adjustments regarding the sound in the belfry, which, on account of the removal of the old wooden spiral staircase, communicating with the clock chamber, is slightly too powerful. When, in a few weeks' time, these adjustments have been made, conclusions already arrived at and views expressed point to an overwhelming unanimity of opinion that the bells of Leeds Parish Church—the twelfth entirely new ring of twelve to come from the world-famous Loughborough Foundry within the last sixty years—another unparalleled and unprecedented record that speaks for itself—will in every respect rank among the foremost rings of twelve in existence.

PEALS OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—My answer to Mr. Hunt's first question is, 'I did this six years ago,' and imagined that the question had been settled in the manner so concisely and correctly stated by Mr. Dyke in his letter. I did not say Mr. Dexter was years behind. I do not claim anything, beyond the fact that the original peal was obtained by Mr. Washbrook. I did say that Mr. Hunt was six years behind, because the peal was published in the form given by Mr. Hunt about that time. Will Mr. Hunt tell us why he persists in wrongly crediting the peal to Mr. Dexter?

I must admit I did not, as Mr. Dyke says, examine carefully the paragraph at the foot of the letter, and for this reason, the peal is set out in the old-fashioned way, and if called as set out the treble takes the place of the 6th, and I thought that was intended; I did not for one moment imagine that Mr. Hunt was taking us back to the days of 1847, when Thurstans transposed a peal for a Bristol light-bell ringer to call from the second. And from this arises another question. We usually place a man who conducts a peal of Stedman Triples from a non-observation bell on a higher plane than one who rings the 7th and calls. Should not the fact that the treble was the fixed bell and not the 7th be mentioned?

Is it too much to ask that, in future, Mr. Hunt adopts the proper heading for Stedman Triples, as approved by the Central Council, of which he is a member, viz., vi. SH L v. vi. Q v. P. In my ignorance I took 3 4 5 6 to be 3 4 5 6. I see now it is 5 6 7 8. And again, I took 12 13 to be 12 13, whereas it is, of course, 6 7.

If there are any other ringers who would like to take us back to 1847 and make the 3rd, 4th, 5th or 6th to take the place of the 7th, it is quite easily done with any composition. As easily, in fact, as it was to adopt the Rev. C. D. P. Davies' idea of singles at 9 and 11 instead of 14 and 2 to Mr. Washbrook's peal.

I have had a little conversation lately with a campanological educator on the subject of observation bells, and he was of the opinion that the old style of hunts was the best. So that in a peal like Thurstans' we should have the 7th as the whole-hunt, the 6th as the half-hunt, and the 5th as the quarter-hunt. But what will be done when one of the light bells takes the place of the 7th? I think we had better call it the 'Jim Hunt.'

Mr. Hunt says he has not as yet sent a false peal for publication. Is this a boast? Perhaps he has always submitted the false ones to a friend for his perusal first. I know this is true in at least one case. I don't think there is much danger of his submitting a false peal of Stedman Triples.

W. A. CAVE.

WHOSE VARIATION?

Dear Sir,—Please let me thank Mr. Dyke for his very lucid letter. I beg to say I am not qualified to discuss it. It is not the author of the original that concerns me, but whose variation—Dexter's or Cave's? That is my point.

CHARMINSTER'S ANCIENT BELLS.

A RESTORATION PROJECT.

An effort is being made to raise funds for the restoration of the bells at Charminster Church, Dorset. There are five bells, the treble, 2nd and 4th dating from 1663, 1631 and 1661 respectively. The 3rd was recast in 1867, but the tenor, which is undated, is believed to be pre-Reformation. The tenor, although cracked, is not to be recast, but is to be preserved as an object of historic value.

In aid of the restoration fund, the Rev. F. L. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, gave a lecture on bells and bell ringing to a crowded audience in Charminster Parish Hall, when a collection was taken on behalf of the bells fund.

The lecture was illustrated with photographs and handbell ringing in which six children took part. Handbells were also rung by a party of Peole ringers, under the direction of the Rev. C. A. Phillips, of Bournemouth. Carols were sung by the choir, and thanks were accorded to the Rev. F. L. Edwards, Rev. C. A. Phillips, the choir and the organiser of the event, the hon. secretary of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Guild.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

BIG MEETING AT PUDSEY.

Despite the cold and foggy weather experienced in and around Leeds on Saturday last a very good attendance was recorded at the Pudsey meeting of the Leeds and District Society. Pudsey stands on a hill, and the many members who were present were rewarded by the clearer atmosphere. The bells were rung up about 3 p.m., and kept going in many of the Major methods until tea-time, when, as is usual at Pudsey, the tea was a real ringers' tea, one to which words fail to do justice, although the ringers did not fail in this respect. Pudsey is always an attractive meeting and brings together ringers not often seen at other meetings throughout the year. The President (Mr. W. H. Senior) presided over the business meeting, which was attended by over 60 members from Almondbury, Armley, Batley, Bramley, Burley, Calverley, Dewsbury, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Holbeck, Idle, Leeds Parish Church, Northowram, Pudsey, Queensbury, Rothwell, Rotherham, Shipley, Earlsheaton and the local company.

Two new members were elected, viz., Messrs. E. Hurdus, of Armley, and Frank Scholefield, of Burley.

The Secretary, in proposing votes of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company, said he could not find words adequately to express the appreciation of the society to the Pudsey Company for their continued generosity in providing, year after year, the tea and other refreshments for all comers.—The vote of thanks was seconded by Mr. F. Renton.

Mr. W. Barton replied on behalf of the Pudsey company. Ringing, both on handbells and in tower, was afterwards continued until 8 p.m., when the tower bells were lowered owing to illness near the church.

The next meeting is due to be held at Liversedge on February 25th.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S RECORD MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild, which was held on Saturday, January 7th, was an extremely enjoyable and successful event. The bells of St. Dunstan-in-the-East were available during the afternoon, and various methods were rung. A move was then made to St. Mary Matfelon, Whitechapel, where the bells have a bad reputation, which is perhaps rather 'harsh.' However, touches in methods from Grandsire Triples to a very well-struck service touch of London Surprise Major were rung until 5.30 p.m., when a short service was held by the district's very good friend, the Rev. J. O. Mayo, Rector of Whitechapel.

Owing to the very large number that had unexpectedly arrived, tea, which as usual was generously provided by Mr. Mayo, had to be served in two relays, the waiting half beguiling the time with handbell ringing.

Mr. Mayo said later that he had a shock when he saw the large company, but it was fully agreed that he and his helpers successfully dealt with the situation.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mr. J. Waugh, Master; Mr. J. Prior, secretary; Mr. E. Holman, treasurer; Mr. R. Cousins, treasurer; and Messrs. E. Smith and C. Hughes, committee members.

Bethnal Green was chosen for the next meeting, with St. Magnus-the-Martyr as an alternative.

The Master then proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. J. O. Mayo for his splendid welcome, and to the ladies who waited at tea. In responding, Mr. Mayo said that he had looked forward to the meeting and was glad that such a large number was present. He spoke in very feeling terms of the late Mr. E. Wallage, who for a period of over fifty years was steepkeeper at Whitechapel. As a mark of respect the company stood in silence for a few moments.

The meeting then closed, and while some stayed in the Church Hall for handbell ringing, others, more energetically inclined, reascended the tower for further ringing until 9 p.m.

Over 50 members and friends were present during the day, this easily constituting a record for the district.

Spliced Surprise Major in four methods was rung for the first time at a London County Association meeting, and other methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

WEDDING BELLS IN NORFOLK.

On December 31st, at the Parish Church of Dersingham, the wedding of a ringer was celebrated. The bridegroom was Mr. Sidney Fenn and the bride Miss Lily Day. After the service the bells were rung. The reception was held at the Vicarage, where the bride had been a valued maid. Mr. Fenn was the recipient of a clock, suitably inscribed, from his fellow ringers.

'BELL TOWERS.'

A lecture on 'BELL TOWERS' will be given by

E. H. LEWIS, ESQ., M.A.,

President of the Central Council,

At S. Nicolas' Hall, Guildford, on Saturday, Jan. 28th, following the annual meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

All ringers are cordially invited. For other arrangements see Guildford Diocesan Guild notice.

Referring to the complaints against ringing, he mentioned two cases of which he had recently heard. In one, certain ringers had taken the 'huff' and said they would not ring at all, because residents near the church had asked them slightly to soften the sound of the bells. He thought the ringers were wrong to adopt that attitude. They should continue to ring, and through their Church Council ask for money to modify the sound of the bells. There was no question that the bells in a great many of our towers were too loud for the immediate neighbourhood, but they could be modified at comparatively small expense. In another case, residents blew motor horns outside a church, while service was in progress, as a protest against the ringing of the bells on New Year's Eve. So far as he understood, the ringing had not been excessive, but the point was that the residents had come to live within the sound of the bells six months before making complaints, and if they had any sense whatever they would know that the church would be likely to contain bells, which would be rung, and they had as much reason to complain as a person who bought a house on a railway embankment and complained of the noise of the trains.

'It seems to me,' said Mr. Lewis, 'that the public has reason to complain at times, and they have certainly reason to complain when there is bad striking, and I am sorry to say in many districts the art of ringing methods has rather run away from the art of good striking.' That was partly due to learners being pushed on too fast, and in many districts it was due to the fact that ringers did not know how to hold the ropes. They had to insist on a basis of good striking, and that was the only way to get right with the public.

The Master proposed a vote of thanks to the artistes, and took the opportunity of emphasising the need for good striking, which, he said, was the essence of change ringing. He asked the members of the Guild, particularly when they did not raise their bells in peal, to raise them singly, from treble to tenor, and not in discords, such as second and tenor together. If they must pull up more than one at a time let it be done in musical pairs. Speaking of complaints, he asked his Rector if he had had any complaints after the last peal rung at Haslemere, and was informed that there had been only one grouse, and that was from a man who was tuning up the engine of his motor-car, and because of the noise of the bells he could not hear if it was ticking over properly (laughter).

The Hon. Secretary stated that apologies had been received from, among others, Bishop Golding-Bird, Lord Daryngton, Rev. C. W. O. Jonkyn, Mr. W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary of the College Youths), Mr. A. A. Hughes, Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Central Council) and Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Fletcher being down with influenza. Greetings were also received from Mr. Albert Walker, Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham.

An excellent entertainment was provided by Miss Joan Moulding (elocutionist), Mrs. Frank Moulding and Master Leslie Kimbell (songs), and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, whose handbell solos were a feature of the evening. A course of Stedman Caters and a touch of Stedman Triples were rung by members of the Guild, and Mr. T. A. Stroud (organist of Frensham) was at the piano.

THE DAVIES MEMORIAL SCHEME.

A somewhat unexpected development was revealed by the hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association on Saturday with regard to the proposed memorial at Tewkesbury Abbey to the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies. This memorial is to be on national lines, for the Rev. C. D. P. Davies' work for the art of ringing was so wide that it embraced the interests of the whole Exercise, which, one way and another, he served for nearly two generations. The appeal for funds has been widely responded to, and it was hoped that the scheme, which includes the addition of two treble bells to make a ring of twelve and the provision of a ringers' chapel, would soon be put in hand. Since the promotion of the project, however, the question of tuning the original eight bells has been raised, it having been suggested that unless this were done the existing bells would hardly be worthy of the additional trebles. All those who know Tewkesbury bells appear to be unanimous that they could be considerably improved, but we understand that the statements made have resulted in the holding up of subscriptions which might otherwise have been given. If this is the case it is unfortunate, and some doubt seems to have been created as to whether the Gloucester and Bristol Association should proceed with the scheme as originally proposed.

We believe that the Gloucester and Bristol Association's committee would be well advised to adopt a bold policy in this matter. They ought to go on with their scheme as originally outlined—having received about eighty per cent. of the money asked for for specific purposes, it would be most difficult to go back on it—and at the same time make a further appeal for the money needed for the improvement of the other bells. This, we think, would solve the problem before the committee and induce those who may be holding back to give their support to the project, thus making the whole scheme a still more worthy memorial. But even if the additional undertaking of tuning the old bells were not found possible at the moment, it hardly seems necessary that this should lead to a breakdown of the plans to make the bells into a ring of twelve. It is only natural that ringers should desire a high standard of quality in any peal of bells which they are helping to augment, but where, as in this case, the demand for improvement in the existing ring is supplementary to the original scheme, it is not always possible to get exactly the whole of what might be wished for. After all, many good trebles have been added to indifferent rings, which have later on been improved, and the same thing might happen at Tewkesbury.

The whole project can be carried out at once if the Exercise will meet the bigger bill involved, but if it cannot all be done at once the committee, we believe, will feel they must keep faith with those who have already subscribed to the funds. Nothing, however, could be more desirable than to complete the more comprehensive scheme, and doubtless the committee will take an opportunity of giving the matter early consideration.

A PEAL OF BOB MAJOR, 5184 CHANGES;

Tenor size 14 in D.

W. ROUGHTON 1-2	W. H. J. HOOTON 5-6
E. H. LEWIS 3-4	H. LANGDON 7-8

Composed by JOHN CARTER. Conducted by W. H. J. HOOTON.

Umpire—A. A. Hughes.

A number of other peal reports are unavoidably held over.

MR. JOHN BASS' BEREAVEMENT.

Many members of the Exercise will hear with feelings of deep regret of the loss sustained by Mr. John Bass in the death of his wife, Mrs. Kate Bass, at the age of 45, the sad event taking place on Sunday, January 15th. Mrs. Bass was taken ill on Friday, December 30th, and the end came rather suddenly.

The deceased was interred in St. James' Churchyard, Wollaston, on Tuesday, January 17th, the Vicar (Rev. H. C. Wanstall) conducting the service, and four ringing friends (Messrs. F. W. Gibbs, A. Fryer, H. V. Cooper and C. W. Cooper) officiated as bearers.

In the evening a quarter-peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor, with the bells half-muffled, was rung as a last mark of respect by P. Richards, H. V. Cooper, Harry Perrins, Robert Matthews (conductor), Sam Thompson, and F. W. Gibbs.

'FIRST PEAL BY ALL.'

RUNG TO CELEBRATE GIFT OF A BELL.

There is nothing more gratifying than to record a 'first peal by all.' On January 14th, at St. Matthew's Church, Ipswich, a peal of Grandsire Doubles—with 42 callings at that!—was rung by the service band.

For fourteen years there has been a struggle at this five-bell tower to maintain a company, and it has been done, although it has meant the teaching of many new ringers.

A new treble to augment the ring has been talked of from time to time since the bells were rehung in a frame for six in 1903. Hopes are now to materialise, for Mr. G. Morley has promised to give the bell, and the peal was rung to commemorate the gift. Patience has been rewarded, and it is hoped that good use will be made of the enlarged ring, with a peal of Minor soon to follow.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Thursday, January 12th, at the Parish Church, Cirencester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. J. Lewis, sen., 1, J. E. Waters 2, W. G. Cook 3, H. S. Parsons 4, F. J. Lewis, jun., 5, H. C. Bond 6, W. H. Hayward (conductor) 7, W. Wrigley 8. Rung on the minor eight (tenor 21 cwt. in E minor), with the bells half-muffled as a tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. F. W. Bond, whose husband has been for a great many years a ringer at Cirencester.

On Sunday, January 15th, the ringers of Church Kirk rang 704 Oxford Treble Bob Major with bells muffled at backstroke as a mark of respect to the late Mr. Harry Hayes, who died on Saturday, January 7th, aged 78 years. Mr. Hayes was a member of the band who rang on the original peal of six at Church Kirk in 1878. Ringers taking part: A. Chadwick 1, J. Parr 2, J. Riley 3, F. Cockshott 4, A. Ingham 5, W. Aaron 6, A. Brunton 7, L. J. Williams (conductor) 8.

On Saturday, January 14th, at Crosthwaite Church, an attempt was made for a muffled peal of 5,040 Stedman Triples in memory of the late Dr. Stuart, Dean of Carlisle, who died on Thursday, January 12th. After ringing for 2½ hours two bells changed course and brought what might have been a perfect peal to an untimely end. The following ringers took part: James Tebay (Bowness) 1, Thomas Jefferson (Bowness) 2, Tyson Hogarth (Crosthwaite) 3, A. W. Brighton (London) 4, Fred Hewitson (Ambleside) 5, Thomas Newton (Ambleside) 6, William Robinson (Ambleside) (conductor) 7, Frank Barnes (Crosthwaite) 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The number of 720's rung at Little Munden, Herts, during 1932 was 120 in 17 methods. Again, as for many years, the bells were rung for the two services every Sunday throughout the year.

A peal of Grandsire Triples had to be substituted for an attempt for London Surprise Major at Lawton, Cheshire, on January 14th, owing to two members of the band going down under the prevalent epidemic of flu. The treble and tenor ringers were called on at the last moment to take a rope, and the tenorman thus scored his first peal.

Mr. J. W. Jones, the popular hon. secretary of Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, has changed his address, although he still lives in the same house. No, he didn't fold up his 'tent' like the Arabs and silently steal away. The Corporation altered the name of the road, and in future his address will be 'Cartref,' Allern View, Newport, Mon.

The order has now been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for the two new treble bells which are to be added to the octave at Newbury. It is hoped to hold the dedication service on Sunday, April 2nd. A sum of £28 is still required to complete the work, and contributions will be gratefully received by Mr. H. W. Curtis, hon. secretary, Church Road, Shaw, Newbury.

Mr. Uriah Braven, this year's chairman of Bristol United Guilds, has rung over a hundred peals, all of them on the tenor.

The peal rung at Caythorpe, Lincs., on Saturday, Dec. 31st, was Grandsire Triples, and not Stedman, as published in our last issue.

The annual meeting of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild which was to have been held on February 4th, has been postponed, and will probably be held at Ottershaw on Feb. 25th.

GOOD STRIKING.

COMPETITIONS WOULD RAISE THE STANDARD.

A ringer, brought up in Devon in a stronghold of 'stoneys,' writes: 'I think that your leader of last Friday should be printed on stiff cardboard and hung in every belfry in the country.' He adds that until he left Devon a few years ago he held change ringing in utter contempt, not because he was ignorant of the art (for he could write out a six-score and call it in single changes), but because the few touches of change ringing that he had heard rung had all been so very badly struck. Since living in other parts of the country, where ringing is typical of that which obtains in the provinces, he has progressed as far as Surprise ringing.

'Often have I heard the remark,' he says, 'after a touch has been brought round, "That was a bit of good striking," and equally as often have I thought to myself what a scathing judgment I should have passed on that same striking in the old call-change days. It is only when I go home to North Devon that I realise that my ears now accept without protest what would once have set my every nerve on edge, and my old ringing friends accept with sorrow my apologies for the way in which my own striking has deteriorated since I took to "scientific."

How can the very moderate standard which change ringers set themselves be more generally attained, and how can that standard be raised?

Firstly, as you so rightly point out in your article, by giving beginners a long apprenticeship in rounds and call changes. "Listen before you look," should be their motto, and when they do begin to hunt the treble they should be told to listen, listen, listen all the time. Then, when they begin to ring Grandsire on a working bell, they should be told to dodge when they hear the treble leave the lead. If, after a fair trial, any beginner states that he cannot hear the treble leading, he should be turned out of the belfry. A poor listener can never hope to become a good striker. In this way, once a man has acquired the listening habit, he will never lose it, and he will have an invaluable aid when he comes to learn on the higher methods.

Secondly, good striking can be encouraged in no better way than by holding competitions. I know that change ringers in general look down with disfavour on the idea of competitions, but they are frequently held at home, the reward merely taking the form of certificates, and I have never heard of any bad feeling being engendered.

If competitions became more general, "crack" bands would arise all over the country, a definite standard of striking would thus be set up, and the general public, instead of tolerating ringing as an unavoidable nuisance, would adopt a far more friendly and appreciative attitude.'

AN ESSEX RESTORATION.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

A scheme has been promoted for rehanging the six bells at Thorington, Essex, and it is hoped to increase the number to eight. The cost of the restoration of the existing bells, and putting them into an iron frame, will be £200, and £77 more is required for the two other bells.

An appeal is made for funds to enable the scheme to be carried out, and donations should be sent to Mr. G. A. Andrews, Thorington, near Colchester; or to Mr. W. J. Nevard, Myrtle Cottage, Great Bentley, near Colchester, Essex.

BRISTOL UNITED GUILDS.BISHOP OF MALMESBURY AND UNDUE INTERFERENCE WITH RINGING.POSITION OF DAVIES MEMORIAL SCHEME.

The twelfth annual dinner of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, held at Bristol on Saturday, was again a great attraction. Ringers gathered in large numbers, not only from the counties of Gloucester and Somerset, but from many other parts of England, and the weekend was made a thoroughly enjoyable one for all the visitors through the hospitality of the Guilds and the enthusiastic efforts of the officials, particularly of Mr. Edgar Guise, the hon. secretary, who laboured with characteristic energy to ensure the complete success of the whole proceedings. In the afternoon, not only were the bells of various Bristol churches open for ringing, but a motor coach excursion to Wotton-under-Edge was organised, in which many took part, and opportunity was taken to unveil a peal board, which had been erected to record a peal rung there during the August 'charabanc week' to celebrate the birth of a son and heir to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, who were now present to take part in the unveiling ceremony.

THE CHAIRMAN OF BRISTOL UNITED GUILDS.

At St. Thomas' Church Room, later in the afternoon, there were many meetings of old friends over a 'cup of tea and a bun,' and in the evening a company of about 180 assembled at the Grand Hotel for dinner. Over this function, the chairman of the United Guilds, Mr. Uriah W. Braven, one of Bristol's oldest and most respected ringers, presided, and was supported by, among others, the Bishop of Malmesbury (Dr. Ronald Ramsey), the Rector of St. Mary Redcliffe, the Rev. M. Paterson (Vicar of St. Thomas'), the Rev. E. J. Phillips (Coalpit Heath), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. J. Gould (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mr. Stephen H. Wood, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, etc. Among the visitors were Messrs. J. S. Hawkins and A. A. Hughes (representing the Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. A. King (Vice-president of the Bedfordshire Association), Mr. A. Walker (Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston, Miss M. Fearn, Miss O. M. Sanders, Messrs. G. F. Swann, G. E. Fearn, H. Fearn, C. H. Stanley, V. Heunis and R. Peel (Birmingham), S. F. Palmer and F. Ward (Sheffield Cathedral Society), Mr. W. H. Shaker (hon. sec. Lancashire Association) and Mrs. Shaker, Mr. J. W. Jones (hon. sec., Llandaff and Monmouth Association), Mr. J. T. Dyke (hon. sec., Bath and Wells Diocesan Association), Mr. E. Stitch (Swansea and Brecon Guild), Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), Mr. R. Post (Oxford), Mr. C. W. Heginbotham (chairman of Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Guild), Mr. J. Dart (London) and ringers from Bath, Weston-super-Mare, Cleve, Mere, Kingston Seymour, Wrington, Ubley, Gloucester, Bruton, Castle Cary, etc., as well as from all the towers associated with the United Guilds.

During dinner instrumental music was discoursed by Miss B. Plummer, Miss J. Brown and Miss E. Hawkins, and afterwards the loyal toast was honoured.

The Chairman, in submitting the toast of 'The Church,' said the whole world was suffering to-day from critical financial and economic depression, which was having its reaction on the physical, moral, and mental well-being of the people. In spite of the revived interest in religion and the renewed vitality of Church life, they who belonged to the Church felt supremely conscious of their own weakness and incapacity to deal with the situation, and there was at the moment, he ventured to say, something needful which was sorely lacking, that was the quality of joy, which was so characteristic of the early Christians. For several years past St. Mary Redcliffe tower had been in 'splints' undergoing restoration at the hands of the builders. As soon as the work was commenced the architect gave orders that the bells were not to be rung as the tower was not strong enough to stand the vibration. So one of the things which they had missed most, especially at festivals, was the merry and joyful pealing of the bells, the bells which were the symbols of Christian joy. Here, then, was the message he would have them take away with them. Bell ringers themselves needed continual mending, renovation and restoration; the will to build up and develop their own characters in the best and highest of schools, the Church; to gather strength for their real work, for without a strong foundation and basis their bell-ringing could have no spiritual or abiding value. Let them make their contribution to the life and witness for the Church for the betterment of the world by being men full of the spirit of joy—so might the message of the bells which they rang go forth from their very hearts to give a new hope, a new spirit of joy and peace to a depressed world.

The Rev. M. Paterson, Vicar of St. Thomas' Church, supplemented the toast, and paid a tribute to the energy and devotion with which the Bishop of Malmesbury served the Church in the Diocese. They were very much indebted to him for, and heartily appreciated, his presence there among them that evening.

ATTITUDE OF DIOCESAN AUTHORITIES.

The Bishop of Malmesbury, responding to the toast, had a cordial reception. He referred to the restoration work which has been carried out to St. Mary Redcliffe tower, and remarked that, viewed from the north court of the church, it was revealing itself, to his mind, as the most beautiful thing in Bristol. Proceeding, he said he had the greatest admiration for the work of the ringers in the belfry. He did not think the Church would ever give up the privilege and duty of having its bells rung. The Bishop of the Diocese would have liked to be present with them that night as one of his last few public functions before retiring, but it was not possible. He had, he said, heard him dictate recently some of the strongest letters he had ever heard dictated as a guidance to a certain parson when someone had objected to the bells being rung (hear, hear). He (the speaker) did want them to understand that so far as that diocese was concerned the full power, influence and authority of the Bishop and Diocesan Board of Finance would be behind the bellringers in preventing any undue or wrong interference with the rights and privileges which they have to ring the bells of the churches according to ancient custom (applause). They need have no fear that in any case where the bellringers were interrupted or objection taken the matter would be allowed to go by default so far as the diocesan authorities were concerned. It was definitely the duty of the parson that he should enuse the bell to be tolled or rung, and he had no doubt ringing was included in that. If they had any doubt as to what the attitude of the authorities in that diocese would be, he hoped that what he had said would assure them. They would not allow undue interference with the proper ringing of the bells, which he believed was appreciated by practically all people, whether they lived in the villages or the towns (applause).

Continuing, the Bishop said he appreciated tremendously what the ringers were doing, and he believed they were doing it because of the message which lay behind the bells. They were a call to the Church, they were a call to the clergy, and when the clergy heard them what was going to be their answer to the call? It should bring home to them that it was not right to call the people to church unless they had something very real and very true to give them. In these perplexing days he felt it was the duty of the Church to give the people a message of hope, and until Christ's teaching became the basis of all their actions there could be no hope for the world. There was only one standard of life for Christianity, and that was the life of faithful witness, and this standard the ringers should show in their own lives as well as in the devoted work they did for the church.

A UNITED FAMILY.

In submitting the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association,' Mr. E. H. Lewis referred with pleasure to the fact that the association had recently returned to the fold of the Central Council. He was very glad indeed that they did return; he thought it was a great pity that they ever went out, and he thought possibly they would not have gone out if there had not been some slight and, perhaps, unnecessary misunderstanding. They found ringers got very keen on their subject. He did not know why it was, but people who got very keen on their subject were sometimes apt to take rather a one-sided view of things, which caused a certain amount of misunderstanding. He could not help feeling sometimes that if they had a little bit more of the spirit of Christian fellowship in their more personal matters they might avoid some misunderstandings and a certain amount of personality. He was not referring to the Gloucester and Bristol Association in that respect, but to ringers generally. One could not help feeling, after reading recent issues of 'The Ringing World,' that it was a great pity that so much personality crept into ringing correspondence. No doubt some people got very keen on their own theories, but he did wish they would keep their personalities out of the ringing Press, and he wished they could get rid of the thoughts which were behind the personalities. After he had spoken at the ringers' gathering at Croydon last year, the Bishop of Norwich said he was very glad he had 'gone for' the ringers, because those functions sometimes became rather too much of a sort of mutual patting on the back. He hoped, therefore, they would forgive him if he had spoken rather plainly on the subject of ringers and their personal quarrels. He did feel, however, very happy that the Central Council was once more a united family, and that they had the Gloucester and Bristol Association back with them again (applause).

CENTRAL COUNCIL WHAT RINGERS MAKE IT.

There were complaints from time to time about the Central Council, but it should be remembered that the Council was what the ringers made it. It could only be what the various associations made it by their choice of the members they sent to attend the Council, so that when anybody complained of the Central Council they were really complaining of themselves, and it was up to them to see that they sent the right people. If they did that they would get the right things done in the Council. He did not want to say anything about the Minor controversy except this, that he hoped a final decision would be made next Whitsuntide, and that they would know once for all what ringers wanted for a true peal of Minor. Continuing, Mr. Lewis said he wanted to thank them for that opportunity of visiting Bristol. It was the first time he had done any ringing in the City of Bristol, and he very much regretted his business engagements did not enable him to get there in time to join the tour, but he had had a very interesting afternoon. He had rung in three towers, one which resembled Pisa or Surfleet (where one of the ringers stood in the west doorway because the rope came down so close to the wall, although in the bell chamber the bell was between the rope and the wall). He had also rung in a tower where the bells seemed to go automatically to Stedman, but when they came to Major he heard some real West Country leads, although, unfortunately, some of them were at backstroke (laughter). Then he went to another tower where they evidently accompanied the bells on a harmonium (laughter). He had never before seen a belfry furnished with a harmonium to accompany the ringing (laughter). The Bishop of Malmesbury had made a reference in his speech to youngsters of 57. One thing that had struck him, said Mr. Lewis, was that he had seen a lot of youngsters, many of them were 57 or getting on that way, but he had not seen as many between 15 and 25 as he would have liked to see. He understood they had a great many bells in Bristol, but not all of them were rung. Might he make an appeal to them to try to put in more work on the very young lads so that Bristol might be a city of bells that are rung, and not a city of bells that are not rung.

THE DAVIES MEMORIAL SCHEME.

Mr. Edgar Guise responded to the toast instead of Mr. J. Gould, Master of the Association, who, although present, did not feel well enough to speak. Mr. Guise said he would like to take the opportunity of paying a tribute to Mr. Gould, who had been for fifty years a ringer at Henbury, chairman of the Bristol Branch of the Association, vice-president of the association, chairman of Bristol United Guilds, and now occupied the high position of Master of the Association. There was no ringer who had worked so hard in the cause of the association as Mr. Joe Gould (applause). Proceeding, Mr. Guise referred to the Davies Memorial Scheme. They had had, he said, a great and gratifying response from ringers all over the country, and the fund was nearing £200. That was a tremendous sum in these days of trade depression, and when there were two other important memorial schemes being run at the same time. With regard to the raising of the remaining £50, he did not think they would have much difficulty. There was a special sub-committee appointed to deal with the matter, which comprised some of the best-known men in Gloucester and Bristol area, but it came as a revelation to him when they were well launched into the scheme to be told that something should be done to the existing bells at Tewkesbury Abbey. He did not know the bells very well, but they had other members on the committee who might have made reference to it when they were considering what was the best form the memorial should take. There was one thing that there could be no doubt about, and that was that the memorial must be bells. They had had to promise £75 towards the Ringers' Chapel, but now it was suggested that before they added the new bells the old ones should be tuned. That had placed them in a difficulty which he hoped those present would appreciate. They could not go to the authorities at Tewkesbury and say, 'These bells will have to be tuned'—they might reply that they did not want to have them tuned. Were they to put the two bells in front of the ten, or must they hold on until they had further advice? It had been suggested that if there was any difficulty in raising the necessary additional money they might merely tune the bells, and with the balance put a sanctus bell in the chapel. He had raised the matter, said Mr. Guise, because it was of more than local importance. The special committee had already decided on their scheme, which had been approved by the association, and they had received very nearly £200 towards it. They were in a difficult position. They could not turn back very well, but at present they had not got enough money to have the bells tuned and add the new bells as well. If anyone had any other suggestion to make he would be pleased to receive it and place it before the special committee.

Referring to Mr. Lewis' remarks as to the absence of young ringers, Mr. Guise said in some measure their absence that night was due to the fact that young ringers could not afford to attend that gathering. During the last twelve months, however, they had done in Bristol what he thought was unique. On the occasion of the last dinner some of them visited Emmanuel Church to ring in the afternoon. They found the bells in a deplorable condition. The Vicar had just come there from Huddersfield, and he watched the bells being rung. The bells had now been put in order, and a band of 15 was made up from men engaged at the Zoological Gardens. They began to learn on May 14th, on July 1st they rang the whole eight bells for morning service. After that they were 'stuck up,' and they had never been lowered since, but had been rung regularly for morning and evening service every Sunday. If they could get one further peal a year rung in the same way they would be lucky, but they hoped to do more than that (applause).

Mr. F. Skidmore (vice-chairman) proposed 'Kindred Societies and our Visitors,' and extended a hearty welcome to all their visitors. It was very encouraging to the Bristol United Guilds to see so many kindred societies represented. There were, he said, eleven members of the Central Council present. He regretted that the Vicar of Emmanuel Church had been prevented by influenza from coming among them. It was the first time Emmanuel Church had been represented at that dinner, the Guild having only been formed in 1932. They welcomed the members of the Guild most heartily. Mr. Skidmore added the best thanks of those present were due to Mr. Edgar Guise, the hon. secretary. The success of the gathering, he said, was largely due to his untiring efforts and splendid organisation (applause).

Mr. J. P. Fidler, who first responded, reciprocated the greetings extended to the visitors, and remarked that the development of the social side of ringing gave a stimulus to the welfare of the art, because it gave them the opportunity to exchange views. Mr. Fidler, referring to the six-bell controversy, said Minor was the foundation of ringing, and he did not like to see it belittled as some people belittled it. He was sorry to see such a controversy going on about six-bell peals, and hoped the Central Council would tackle and settle the question. He deprecated every Tom, Dick and Harry trying to push their particular views down other people's throats.

Mr. Harry Ford, of Emmanuel Guild, who was called upon to respond in place of his absent Vicar, said he was almost the youngest member of Bristol United Guilds, but he had been a member long enough to see the marvellous fellow-feeling that existed in his own and other towers. He took the opportunity of thanking other Bristol ringers for the kindness they had shown in coming to Emmanuel tower to help the new band there, and especially Mr. Guise for the help he had given.

The Rev. E. J. Phillips, in a breezy speech about ringers and ringing, proposed 'The Ringing World,' to which Mr. J. S. Goldsmith responded. The latter said he did not think Mr. Fidler need be sorry over the Minor controversy, for it was out of the controversies of the past that the standards of the present had been set up.

Mr. W. Thomas thanked the artistes for their enjoyable entertainment, and especially Mr. Emery and Mr. Charles Read for all they had done in organising the programme.—Mr. Read responded.

The musical programme provided was up to the customary high standard of the United Guilds' gatherings. The handbell selections of the St. Thomas' ringers were encores, and some delightful songs were sung by Madam D. Curnock and Mr. Herbert Spikes, of Emmanuel Church Choir. Mr. W. B. Steele's sketches, including Dickens' studies, were very much appreciated, and Mr. H. Poole gave a clever conjuring exhibition. The accompanist was Mr. Charles Read. A course of Stedman Caters was rung by Messrs. E. H. Lewis, G. F. Swann, A. Walker, J. Burford and S. F. Palmer.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A REPORT FOR 1931 AND 1932 TO BE ISSUED.

There was a good muster of members at the Bedworth meeting of the Warwickshire Guild on Saturday, January 21st, Allesley, Arley, Chilvers Coton, Higham, Nuneaton, Rugby, Stoke, Warwick and Wolvey, together with the local band, being the towers represented. The eight bells were made good use of during the afternoon. Tea was served in the school adjoining. The cost of this was kindly defrayed by one of the local ringers, who wished to remain anonymous.

The business meeting followed, Mr. J. H. W. White (Ringing Master) taking the chair. The following meeting places were fixed: Shilton for February and Allesley for March. The election of three new members (two of them 15 years of age) prior to a peal was ratified.

The question arose as to whether a report for the years 1931-32 should be issued. The Hon. Secretary mentioned the financial position and two or three members voiced their opinions. On being put to the meeting, all were in favour of a report for the past two years being issued, and the hon. secretary was instructed to proceed with the same.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector, to those who had prepared the tea and to the generous donor.

The majority then returned to the tower, while a few handbell enthusiasts remained in the tea room, among them being: Messrs. J. H. White, F. W. Perrens, W. H. J. Hooton, D. H. Argyle, T. W. Chapman, W. Stoke and A. H. Beamish. Ringing on the tower bells continued until about 8 o'clock, when a broken rope put an end to any further ringing.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

FARNHAM DISTRICT'S ANNUAL MEETING.

There was only a fair attendance at the Farnham District's annual meeting held at Farnham on Saturday. Ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m., and at 4 o'clock the Rector of Farnham (Canon E. M. Girling) dedicated a board in the ringing chamber recording two peals—one of Kent Treble Bob and one of Stedman Triples—rung in the tower during the year by local ringers. Both peals were conducted by Mr. R. Hasted. Afterwards the service was conducted by the Rev. A. J. Dance, the Rector preaching. The singing was led by the choir boys, and Mr. G. C. Macklin was at the organ.

Canon Girling presided over the tea and business meeting at Messrs. Rogers' Cafe, The Borough, and was supported by Mr. R. Hasted (District Ringing Master), Mr. J. Corbett (Guild hon. treasurer), Mr. C. W. Doneyer (district hon. secretary), Mr. P. L. Eldridge (hon. auditor), Mr. G. L. Grover (Guildford District secretary), and Mr. A. J. Stedman (churchwarden). Towers represented were Seale, Aldershot, Farnham, Bagshot, Alton, Yorktown, Llanstephan (Wales), S. Nicolas, Guildford, and West Clandon, the number present being 42.

The Secretary said apologies for absence had been received from Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (general secretary of the Guild), who had to go to Bristol, Mr. G. Andrews, of Ash, and Canon W. H. Stuart, of Bagshot.

The district officers were re-elected, and Mr. F. Nye and Mr. T. Upshall were elected as ringing representatives on the executive committee. Mr. L. A. N. Muddell was elected honorary members' representative.

The Ringing Master reported progress in most towers, but he urged the members to encourage the younger ringers in their towers to take greater interest in change ringing. Six peals had been rung in the district—three at Farnham, one at Aldershot, one at Seale (fully muffled, in remembrance of the late Guild treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker), and one at Bagshot by members of the Surrey Association.

The Secretary reported an increase in the number of ringing members from 108 to 128, but a decrease of hon. members from 32 to 27. The average attendance at the six district meetings which had been held was 34. The district regretted the loss through death of one hon. member, Mr. A. Grange, of Farnham, and one ringing member, Mr. Mark Downes, of Aldershot. Mr. Downes, who was only 26 years of age, died as the result of a motor-cycling accident in December. The district had also lost by removal one of its officers Lieut.-Col. H. M. Gale, M.C., who was appointed to a post in Egypt. Col. Gale was a ringing representative on the executive committee. Thanks were accorded Mr. T. A. Stroud for his continued services as organist at the meetings. A feature of the year was the increased membership of the Bentley band, subscriptions having been received from ten ringing members (applause).

The balance sheet showed an increased balance in hand from £13 15s. 8d. to £15 9s. 2d. The Chairman congratulated the district on its financial position in these difficult times.

It was resolved to hold meetings during 1933 at Seale, Aldershot, Ash, Hawley and Crondall, the dates to be arranged, and the annual meeting at Farnham on January 20th, 1934. The general officers of the Guild were renominated en bloc, the members expressing satisfaction at the spirit in which the Guild officers carried out their work.

One new hon. member, Mrs. T. Upshall, Farnham, was elected.

Mr. G. L. Grover explained the proposal to erect a memorial to the late Admiral Walker. Support was needed, he said, from all parts of the diocese, and he hoped the Farnham District would make a grant of, say, £3 3s. from its balance in hand.—It was finally decided to subscribe not less than £3 3s., and not more than £5 5s. from the funds, the actual amount being left to the district committee to decide if the scheme for the improvement of Woking bells goes forward.

Mr. P. L. Edridge proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector, the organist and choir, Mr. Hasted and the local ringers, and also welcomed Mr. Stedman (hon. member) and Mr. Hardiman (of Alton).—Mr. Ewens seconded, and the motion was carried.

The tower was revisited at the close of the business, and good practice put in in the standard methods.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

SOUTHERN BRANCH AND BELFRY REPAIRS FUND.

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Grantham on Saturday, when ringers were present from Surfleet, including Mr. Rupert Richardson (Master of the Guild), Bourne, Rippingale, Hough-on-the-Hill, Barkston, Sutton-on-Trent, Orston, Bottesford, Folkingham and Grantham. The bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening, and a short service was held, at which the members were addressed by Canon Markham (Rector of Grantham). Tea was served in the Church House, 26 sitting down.

At the business meeting, which followed, the Rev. C. J. Sturton, Rector of Orston, presided.

Two new vice-presidents were elected, the Rev. C. D. Moore, Rector of Hough, and the Rev. C. Mahon, Rector of Colsterworth, and the officers (Ringing Master, Mr. H. M. Day, treasurer, Mr. A. I. Holmes, secretary, Mr. C. T. H. Bradley) were re-elected, together with the committee. Mr. J. Royce, of Grantham, was elected a performing member.

After a discussion Edenham was selected for the May meeting.

Mr. F. French proposed, and Mr. W. G. Thorpe seconded, that at all future meetings a collection be made in aid of Belfry Repairs Funds.—This proposal was unanimously accepted and will in future be adopted.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Canon Markham for the use of bells and the service. The meeting then concluded, and further ringing was indulged in.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT OFFICERS REAPPOINTED.

The annual district meeting was held at Leatherhead on Saturday, members attending from Ashted, Banstead, Beckenham, Beddington, Benhilton, Carshalton, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Epsom (Christ Church), Ewell, Guildford, Leatherhead and Mitcham (SS. Peter and Paul's and Christ Church).

Ringing commenced about four o'clock and continued until 5 p.m., when the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge, conducted a short service. Tea was arranged at the Institute, where 30 sat down to the usual substantial Leatherhead meal.

The business meeting followed immediately after tea, the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge presiding. Ten new members were elected, and it was a great pleasure to welcome Carshalton tower back to the association again.

The annual report and balance sheet were passed without comment.

Places for meetings for the coming year were decided on as follows: Easter Monday, St. Peter's, Croydon; May 27th, Egham; joint meeting with the Guildford Guild on July 29th at Ranmore Common; September 30th, Carshalton; November 25th, Ashted; and the annual district meeting on January 27th, 1934, at Clapham Park.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: District Master, Mr. A. W. Clark; treasurer, Mr. F. G. Woodiss; secretary, Mr. D. Cooper; and auditor, Mr. A. Gower. The three representatives on the committee were elected as follows: Mr. W. C. Smith, of Benhilton; Mr. J. Beams, of Ewell, and Mr. A. Dean, of Leatherhead.

The Secretary said he hoped to start the combined practices in February, and urged all members to attend as many as possible, and so ensure that they are a success. A full list of the practices will be sent to each tower in due course.

A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, conducting the services and presiding at the meeting, to the organist for playing at the service, and to Mr. A. Dean for making all necessary arrangements. A hearty vote of thanks was also accorded to the officers for their services during the past year. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued in a variety of methods.

DEATH OF SUFFOLK VETERAN.

An old Suffolk ringer has passed away, after a short illness, in the person of Mr. George W. Mee, of Sproughton, Ipswich. He was elected a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association in the year 1879, and took part in several of the early Surprise peals, including the first of Cambridge, New Cambridge and London in Suffolk and Norfolk. He had rung upwards of 80 peals for the association, and was also a member of the Suffolk Guild. He had conducted peals on five, six and eight bells, and took part in a peal at Helmingham rung by eight Georges. His brother is another well-known Sproughton ringer, Mr. Charles Mee.

The funeral took place on Jan. 17th, when he was laid to rest in the churchyard at All Saints', Sproughton, in the presence of a large congregation, including many of his fellow ringers. At the conclusion of the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by Percy May 1-2, Frank Rolfe 3-4, Edgar Rivers 5-6 and Robert H. Brundle (the Ipswich veteran) 7-8.

On Sunday the bells were rung half-muffled to touches of Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob by S. C. Moss 1, R. H. Brundle 2, F. Rolfe 3, H. J. Mee 4, E. Rivers 5, C. Mee (conductor) 6.

'BELL TOWERS.'

A lecture on 'BELL TOWERS' will be given by

E. H. LEWIS, ESQ., M.A.,

President of the Central Council,

At S. Nicolas' Hall, Guildford, on Saturday, Jan. 28th, following the annual meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

All ringers are cordially invited. For other arrangements see Guildford Diocesan Guild notice.

UNRUNG BELLS OF LLANSTEPHAN
RINGERS NOT ALLOWED TO RING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—A peal of eight bells was given to Llanstephan Parish Church and the donor desired them to be rung regularly every Sunday. He brought down from London a band of College Youths to open the bells. They rang the old year of 1870 out and the new year (1871) in, and then on New Year's Day rang a peal of 5,040 Grandsire Triples. Those were great days for this pretty little seaside village, they say. To ensure the bells being rung as they were in his lifetime, his sister left a sum of money for the payment of the ringers.

The terms of the will were carried out to the letter until the churchyard wall was taken down for some reason, which was considered a sacrilege at that time. The ringers went on strike over that, and the bells were idle for two years, when the trustee compelled them to ring the bells once more. The local band then took up change ringing and succeeded in ringing a peal of 5,040 changes which, of course, was published in your paper.

Now we have a Vicar who does not like bells rung, as he said they were 'nothing but rowdiness.' The local ringers rang for his induction, and that is the way he thanks them. We raised the eight bells in peal, then rang Grandsire, then lowered them in peal, and the raising and falling was done almost perfectly. It was a credit to the captain and the ringers.

It was the captain who coached the local band in the art of change ringing, and it is hard on us all that we are not allowed to ring these bells at all. The bells are now being only chimed for services.

Readers of 'The Ringing World' will sympathise with bellringers who are not allowed to ring. I hope that a few bands will come down and ring our beautiful bells.

EDMUND J. MORRIS.

Llanstephan.

THE BEQUEST.

The will of the late Anne Parnall, of Llanstephan, dated November 26th, 1891, contained the following:—

'I give and bequeath the sum of £400 to the Vicar and Churchwardens for the time being of the parish of Llanstephan aforesaid upon trust to invest the same upon Government securities of the United Kingdom, and apply the interest thereof at their discretion amongst such eight persons to be sober and respectable men as shall be employed by the said Vicar and Churchwardens as bellringers to ring the bells of the parish church of Llanstephan aforesaid, in such proportions and at such times as the Vicar and Churchwardens and their successors or the majority of them in case of difference may in their discretion think proper and expedient. And I declare that such last-mentioned bequest of £400 is made on condition that the aforesaid bells be rung in the usual course regularly on every Sunday, and in default thereof I give the said last-mentioned sum of £400 to the treasurer, for the time being, of the Carmarthen County Infirmary for the general purposes of the Infirmary.'

According to a letter which has appeared in a local newspaper it is stated that the bells have not been rung since September 2nd, 1928. Since that time the captain of the ringers has received £2 19s. 2d. for one year and 8s. 3d. for the following year, which he handed over to the Carmarthen Infirmary. As for the four years, £39 12s. has been received from the trust, the question is asked, What has become of the money every year, and, if the condition of the will is not fulfilled, why the money had not been handed over to the Infirmary?

IS IT WORTH IT?

Last year, according to the records published in 'The Ringing World,' 2,181 peals were rung. This is not a record number, but it is the highest total since the war. The peak year for peals was 1913, when 2,358 were rung, and we are creeping on again towards this stupendous level. Peals rung in such large numbers indicate, on the surface, a certain advance in the art of ringing, but examined more closely it may be—we cannot say definitely because comparative figures are not available—but it may be that actual progress has not been as real as the totals indicate. It is recognised that peal ringing is one of the best means of promoting efficiency in the art, but in these ever growing figures is there an equivalent increase in the number of ringers who take part in the peals, or is it that more men, already peal ringers, are ringing more peals? If in a ten per cent. increase in the total peals rung there has been a ten per cent. increase in the number of peal ringers we should at least be holding our own in seeking by this means to raise the efficiency of the Exercise in the mass, but unless this ratio is maintained we should fall short of that which, in the main, should be the object of peal ringing, and which is its chief justification.

Again, the increased amount of peal ringing demands an increased standard of striking as well as of method ringing, and in this connection it may once more be well to pause and ask, in the recent words of the President of the Central Council, whether, in many instances, in the desire to score peals, 'the art of ringing methods has rather run away from the art of good striking'? One good peal is worth twenty bad ones and we always admire the man who, when he finds bad ringing apparently incapable of improvement, has the courage to set up his bell. It ought not in these days to be peals at any price; there is little credit to the band who ring a bad peal and they can get little satisfaction from seeing their names attached to it.

It is quite certain that the majority of change-ringers are not as particular over their striking as are the men who, in the West Country, think so proudly—and justifiably, too—of their rising, falling, and round ringing. Some change ringers are wont to despise the doings of these men, but even allowing for the extra difficulty of accurately placing a bell in method ringing, we are convinced that the general standard of striking is well below that of these 'set-change' ringers—a point which, incidentally, was brought out in a communication which we printed last week. The number of peals rung may be an indication of increased or sustained interest in the higher form of the art of ringing, but quality is more essential than quantity. We know that as long as there is not a definite break-up in the ringing, there is a great temptation to keep going, despite indifferent striking. In the hope that the ringing may improve, but, when one considers it in cold blood, is it worth it when the ringing is poor, let alone bad? Unless peal ringing has the definite aim of improving the standard of striking it loses more than half its value.

The Rev. A. W. Markby said that all the credit was due to the ladies; the members of the branch were always welcome at St. Peter's.

The quarterly meetings were fixed to be held at Buckland Newton, Wyke Regis, and Frampton, and the annual meeting at Dorchester: by-meetings will be arranged at Bere Regis (by the kind invitation of Mr. W. Bedford) and Charminster. It was left to the secretary to fix suitable dates.

New members were elected as follows: Ringing members, Messrs. Groombridge and Lock (Dorchester St. Peter's), H. Runyard and A. Dorey (Wool), H. Townsend (Frampton), W. A. Smith and F. Ellory (Bradford Peverell); associate members, Mrs. D. Barrett and Mrs. A. Gifford (Sydling), Mr. and Mrs. Dawes (Wyke Regis).

The Rev. A. S. Bryant said there were four bells at Preston, and it was hoped to get a fifth, and the four members would like to join the branch; probably this number would be made up to eight.

It was unanimously resolved to admit them as members, and the Hon. Secretary said that Preston would be a new tower in the branch list.

HERVEY BEAMS MEMORIAL.

The Rev. E. S. Tarrant was re-elected chairman; Mr. G. T. White (Dorchester) and Mr. G. R. Runyard (Bradford Peverell) was re-elected as Ringing Master and Deputy Ringing Master respectively.

The members unanimously re-elected Mr. C. H. Jennings as hon. secretary.

The Chairman said that the branch owed more to Mr. Jennings than to anyone else. There were two words that summed up his work—enthusiasm and efficiency (applause).—Mr. Jennings made a suitable acknowledgment.

The Chairman tendered sincere thanks to the Rector of St. Peter's for taking the service and allowing the use of the bells, to the organist, choir boys, and organ blower, to the ladies of St. Peter's for their excellent arrangements for the tea, and to Messrs. J. T. Godwin and J. Smith for helping. He also welcomed visitors from North Dorset, Evershot, Bournemouth and Poole.

It was resolved to make a donation of 10s. towards the fund for repairing Charminster Church bells, for which the Rural Dean expressed grateful thanks; and an honorarium of £2 2s. was voted to Mr. Jennings in appreciation of his services.

The Rev. R. H. Gundry congratulated the branch on having the Rev. E. S. Tarrant as chairman, also on the progress that had been made, and on the fact that the finances were in a sound condition. They could look forward to the ensuing year with a great deal of confidence, and he wished them every success and happiness. The reverend gentleman also mentioned that the Hervey Beams memorial had taken the form of an oak choir stall in Bradpole Church, with a suitable inscription, and he had been asked to dedicate it on Saturday, February 25th.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DORCHESTER BRANCH COMES OF AGE.

This year sees the coming-of-age of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and a specially large gathering was present at the annual meeting on Saturday, Jan. 14th. In the afternoon good use was made of the bells of St. Peter's and Fordington St. George Churches prior to a service at the former church. It was conducted by the Rector (Rev. A. Wilkinson Markby), who preached an appropriate sermon.

After the service tea was partaken of at St. Peter's Institute, the arrangements being ably carried out by a band of ladies connected with that church.

The annual meeting followed under the chairmanship of the Rev. E. S. Tarrant (Rector of Wool and chairman of the branch), who was supported by Mr. R. N. Dawes (Mayor of Dorchester and a former chairman of the branch), Revs. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Salisbury Guild), D. F. Slembeck, R.D. (Charminster), A. Wilkinson Markby, A. S. Bryant (Upwey), J. Wynne Werninck (Sydling), and A. F. Godley (Bradford Peverell and Stratton), and Mr. C. H. Jennings (Wyke Regis, hon. secretary).

The Chairman said it was the 21st birthday of the Dorchester Branch, and it was keeping up its reputation, for the past year had been a record both as regards meetings and membership. The branch desired to convey sincere congratulations to the former chairman, Mr. R. N. Dawes, on the great honour that had been conferred upon him by his election as Mayor of Dorchester, and his presence at this annual meeting was very welcome (applause). On that the 21st anniversary of the branch he would ask them to stand in silence in memory of past members, especially those who died in the Great War.

Following an impressive silence, the Chairman said that on behalf of his brethren he took the opportunity of reminding themselves of the fact that bellringing was a very important bit of work to the service of God and His Holy Church upon earth, and on behalf of the clergy he wanted to express their deep and sincere appreciation for the regular ringing that went on in the parishes throughout the course of the year. Very often this bit of church work was taken for granted, but if the bells did not happen to ring on a particular Sunday he expected that a good many questions would be asked in our parishes. The work that was done by the ringers was very much valued.

One unfortunate thing, he continued, about which there had been a little bit of criticism was as to the ringing of bells. While it was all very sad, they did not want, of course, to cause any annoyance. Recently there had been two cases where people had objected to the ringing of the church bells. All things might be lawful, but they might not always be expedient, and so for their own sakes as well as for other people let them exercise consideration and moderation in that connection.

INCREASED MEMBERSHIP.

The Hon. Secretary, in his annual report, said: 'This year completes the coming of age of the branch. A review of the work during the past year shows that it is still progressing. The interest and attendance and good fellowship at the meetings have been well maintained. We have held the largest number of meetings in the history of the branch, and besides these meetings practically every tower was represented at the jubilee festival of the whole Guild at Salisbury. We also visited every tower in the branch. Our membership shows an increase of 18, with the record total of 144. We are pleased to say that at Charminster the bells are being overhauled, and hope that sufficient funds will be forthcoming to add another bell to this beautiful church. Change ringing is progressing slowly, but special mention must be made of the fine progress at Buckland Newton and Sydling. A new feature took place during the year. While the members were on their way to Buckland Newton a halt was made at Puddletrenthide, where the church was visited and the old bells inspected, and the Vicar (Rev. R. L. Beyer) kindly read a paper on the church and bells, which was greatly appreciated. The bells at almost every church in the branch were rung for the anniversary of the jubilee festival. We heartily congratulate our late chairman (Mr. R. N. Dawes) on being elected as Mayor of Dorchester, and we extend to him our best wishes for a happy year of office.' After referring with regret to the departure of the Rev. C. D. Job (Vicar of West Lulworth), an old member and also a ringer, who took the greatest interest in the Guild, and the death of Captain J. E. Acland, who was a keen student of change ringing, a past Master and a vice-president of the Guild, the Secretary thanked those who had hospitably entertained the branch, and the various incumbents for their readiness in granting permission for the use of their bells. He added his own thanks for the personal help given him by Mr. J. W. Smith (St. Peter's, Dorchester), Mr. W. Shute, who was greatly assisted in instructing some of the members in change ringing, and the Rev. A. S. Bryant for auditing the accounts.

The financial statement showed total receipts of £38 18s. 10d., including a balance brought forward from the previous year of £9 13s. 7d. The expenditure totalled £26 2s., so that the present balance in hand is £12 16s. 10d.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. A. W. Markby for the excellent arrangements for the service that afternoon, and also for welcoming the members again in the Institute.

THE DEVON GUILD. RINGERS WORK AT BRIXHAM.

The annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Churston and Brixham on Saturday week, when ringers were present from Exeter, Brampford Speke, Clyst St. George, Dean Prior, Buckfastleigh, Paignton, and Brixham, etc. The bells of both churches were well utilised during the afternoon, some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being rung.

A hearty service was held at Brixham Church, conducted by the Rev. F. J. S. Morris (Vicar). During the singing of the second hymn the choir proceeded to the tower, where the recent improvements to the belfry, etc., were dedicated by the Rev. E. S. Powell, president of the Guild, who assisted in the service. The rev. gentleman afterwards gave the address, basing his remarks on the parable of the changing of water into wine.—At the conclusion of the service a collection was taken for the Branch Instruction Fund.

After the service a bountiful tea was served in the schoolroom, and this was followed by the usual business meeting, presided over by Mr. F. J. Laxton, of Torquay (chairman). The annual report was presented and adopted. It showed that there had been a slight decrease in membership, and that they had lost by death a valued member in Mr. F. T. Gover, of Torquay. A tablet to his memory had been erected in Paignton Parish Church tower. Four members had taken part in a peal at Ashburton during the past year.

Messrs. F. J. Laxton and H. J. Hole were re-elected chairman and secretary respectively, many tributes being paid to their past services. It was pointed out that with one exception Mr. Hole had remained in office longer than any other branch official.

It was unanimously decided to hold the next meeting at Teignmouth on Saturday, May 13th, St. Michael's Church to be the headquarters.

Mr. A. L. Bennett (Buckfastleigh) reported that the South-West Branch had recommended that a joint meeting of the South-West and Mid-Devon Branches be held at Buckfastleigh and Buckfast Abbey on Saturday, March 18th, and he proposed that this be confirmed.—This was seconded by Mr. C. F. Austin, of Paignton, and carried.

The chairman extended a welcome to the visitors from other branches, to which the Rev. E. V. Cox (Brampford Speke) and Mr. W. Richardson (Exeter) suitably replied.

The Chairman also proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Higher Brixham for the use of the bells and for the service, and to the organist and choir boys for their attendance. He also thanked the ladies for the excellent tea, and tributes were paid to Mr. A. Taylor, of Brixham, and his energetic band of ringers.—Mr. Taylor

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Portsmouth on Saturday, January 21st, when members attended from Alverstoke, Fareham, Gosport, Hambledon, Isle of Wight, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Swanmore, Fitchfield, Winchester, Wickham, and a visitor from St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London. The Guild's service was held in the Cathedral, at which the Rev. A. F. Smethurst, officiating in the absence of the Provost, was supported by the Rev. E. B. James.

After tea in the Church Hall, the business meeting was held, the Rev. A. F. Smethurst taking the chair. The secretary's report and the balance sheet for the year were duly passed by the members. The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. E. B. James; secretary, Mr. A. T. Greenwood; Central Committee representatives, Messrs. R. J. Stone and F. S. Bayley; auditor, Mr. H. Reynolds.

The retiring chairman, Mr. R. J. Stone, and Central Committee representative, Mr. F. A. Burnett, were thanked for their past services.

Miss A. M. Eager (Cathedral) was elected a ringing member, and Mr. R. Rawlings (Beckenham) a compounding member.—Swanmore was selected as the next meeting place, the date to be April 22nd.

The Rev. E. B. James appealed to the members to support 'The Ringing World,' so that with an increased circulation the paper could be made larger and contain other items of interest.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Provost for the use of bells, Rev. A. F. Smethurst for his excellent address, the organist and the caterers.—The Rev. A. F. Smethurst suitably responded. The members afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing, which consisted of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major.

suitably responded, and gave a description of what had been carried out by the ringers at Brixham Church. He pointed out that they had been responsible for repainting the walls and ceiling in the belfry, and putting electric light in the steps as well as in the church. The lady ringers had also polished the floors and provided mats. It was also mentioned that they had erected an oak screen at the west end of the church, and had erected the altar steps. They had given their labour, and had also raised £40. The cost to the Church Council had only been £10. This was considered highly complimentary, and Brixham can now boast of one of the best belfries in the county.

Further ringing took place at Brixham in the evening, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being rung.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Woodbridge, Suffolk, have been removed from the tower after long service, and are now to be recast and rebung. The work is being carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

All eight were cast in 1779 by Thomas Osborne, of Downham, Norfolk, in place of a ring of six cast in the previous century, three by Miles Grey and three by John Darbie.

The bells will be rebung in a metal frame carried on steel girders, and will be 17ft. lower in the tower than previously.

In addition to the restoration of the bells, at the expense of a generous donor, the clock mechanism is to be put into order so that tunes will be played every three hours.

We are informed that all who see the photograph of the gathering at the Bristol United Guilds' dinner, published in the 'Bristol Evening World,' will be able to solve the problem as to why a noted West Country ringer has such a fine record for being first out of the tower after a peal.

Will all those attending the Henry Johnson Dinner at Birmingham on the 25th inst., who intend staying the night, kindly note that arrangements have been made with the management of the Woolpack Hotel, Moor Street, to provide bed and breakfast for 6s. 6d. each person? Early application should be made, as owing to the British Industries Fair being held at that time hotel accommodation is very limited.

Mr. William Keeble, the Essex enthusiast, has now rung each bell to a peal in eleven towers. He holds the record in this respect. During the Christmas and new year period he rang 16 peals in three weeks, with 51 ringers. Is this another record?

Mr. J. Phillips, of Butterwick (hon. secretary, Eastern Branch, Lincoln Diocesan Guild), desires to convey his great appreciation and heartfelt thanks to Messrs. Chester, Freeman and Walden, members of the Cathedral band, for frequent visits paid during his stay in the Bromhead Nursing Home at Lincoln.

Pressure on our space has compelled us to hold over several reports and letters to the Editor.

YORKSHIRE VILLAGE BELLS.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

The present eight bells at the Parish Church at Campsall, near Doncaster, have now been out of use for nearly three years, as a sum of £350 is required to put these in a safe and satisfactory condition. Campsall is only a small village in South Yorkshire, but the parishioners have been successful in raising £159 18s. 9d. to date with the object of restoring their bells. At present money is coming in very slowly, no doubt due to the prevailing economic conditions in agricultural districts, and therefore an effort is being made to solicit outside help. If there are any readers of this appeal who would like to help this ancient Parish Church (more than seven hundred years old) donations will be gratefully received by the treasurer, Mr. J. H. Smith, 71, Craithie Road, Town Moor, Doncaster, and will be personally acknowledged.

A VANCOUVER BROADCAST.

The bells of the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver, were broadcast at midnight on New Year's Eve through Station C.Y.O.R., Vancouver, B.C. It was practically the first meeting of the ringers for two years, and it was decided not to attempt too much. Before midnight they were content with a number of good rounds with the clappers half-muffled, those taking part being Arthur King 1, George W. Foster (conductor) 2, Andy Lomas 3, Fred W. Hird 4, George Roberts 5, Matthew Bennett 6, William Sampson 7, R. Tapper 8, whilst Mr. A. C. Limpus, discharging the duties of steepkeeper to cast off the muffles just before the hour of the new year struck, was up among the bells. To herald the new year, a perfect course of Grandsire Triples was rung, and it was thought best to do no other change ringing for the broadcast. Afterwards, however, some good touches were rung. Mr. Davis and Mr. Bailey were also in the tower.

GRANDSIRE OR ST. DUNSTAN'S?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the current issue of 'The Ringing World' is recorded a peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Ipswich, Suffolk, being 42 different callings, with extremes. Also a peal of Doubles rung at Whinney-on-Wye, which included 720 of St. Dunstan's.

As it is the practice in some parts of the country to describe 120's with extremes as St. Dunstan's Doubles, I shall be glad if, among the many readers of your valuable paper, an answer will be given to my query—Grandsire or St. Dunstan's?

A. LEARNER.

[While it is true that a plain lead of St. Dunstan's is an 'Extreme' in Grandsire, extents of the latter cannot be described as St. Dunstan's, if any bobs or plain leads are used. The ordinary Grandsire single is the bob in St. Dunstan's, so that it is possible to ring an extent of Grandsire, by using singles and extremes only, in which the changes would occur in the same order as in an extent of St. Dunstan's.—Ed. 'R.W.']

THE LAW JAMES MEMORIAL. BELLS TO BE DEDICATED AT SURFLEET TO-MORROW.

The two treble bells which have been placed in the tower at Surfleet Church, Lincs, as a memorial to the late Rev. H. Law James, are to be dedicated to-morrow afternoon, when a large gathering of ringers is expected. The ceremony will be performed by Canon G. W. Jeudwine, president of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The bells have been installed by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who cast the four trebles of the existing ten. The bells were in two tiers, the two trebles being in the upper framework. Additional framework in the upper tier has been installed, and in this section now hang the two trebles of the twelve and the 4th and 5th of the twelve.

Surfleet now possesses the lightest ringing twelve in the country, the tenor being only 12 cwt. 9 lb.

SURFLEET CHURCH AND ITS LEANING TOWER.

The new bells have been cast in the medieval style, in like manner to the four trebles of the ten installed in 1913, and the lettering is of the same kind. Each bears the inscription:—

TO THE GLORY OF GOD AND IN MEMORY OF HENRY LAW JAMES, M.A., 1932.

A memorial tablet, cast in bell metal by Messrs. Taylor and Co., has been placed in the belfry, and will be unveiled during the service. It bears the inscription:—

BRANCE OF THE REV. HENRY LAW JAMES, SOME-

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO MR. P. J. JOHNSON.

At the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association at Burley, on Saturday, when about one hundred members and friends were present, and the president, Canon C. C. Marshall, was re-elected for a further term of three years, Mr. P. J. Johnson, who has recently retired from the office of hon. secretary, was presented with a clock in recognition of his devoted services to the association for sixteen years.

A full report of the proceedings will appear in our next issue.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT'S HEALTHY FINANCIAL CONDITION.

The annual meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on Saturday last, was favoured with exceptionally fine weather, and in consequence was a very pleasant event. The bells were kept going from 2.30 onwards to the best advantage, and the District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles) took his usual great care that everybody had a 'pull,' whether they aspired to the dizzy heights of Spliced Surprise or were content with the more simple pleasures of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. Mr. William Pye took charge at St. Clement Danes in the afternoon, and Stedman and Grandsire Cateters were the favourite methods on this fine peal of ten.

The service was well attended, and the Rector (Rev. A. H. Lloyd), after welcoming the association to St. Giles', preached a very interesting sermon. An excellently served high tea was partaken of at the Express Dairy close by, and afterwards the business meeting was held. Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president) took the chair, and included in the large company were Mr. W. Pye (Association Master), Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president, South and West District), Mr. W. H. Oram (treasurer), Mr. A. W. Coles (District Master), Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council), and many well-known ringers.

The balance sheet was submitted by the treasurer, who drew attention to one or two special items, and congratulated the members that in a year of heavy expenditure there was a balance of £1 13s. 7d. on the right side on the year's working, whilst the total assets of the district amounted to £108 10s. 4d. The Hon. Secretary drew attention to the transfer of £3 to the Central Fund in connection with the association's donation to the Stedman memorial, and also the district's own contribution of £1 1s., these items being non-recurring, and stated that it showed a healthy state of affairs that the district could afford these sums without showing a loss. Members were, however, reminded that the War Stock would carry a lower rate of interest in future.—The balance sheet was adopted.

Eight new members were elected, and the whole of the retiring officers were re-elected, being proposed by Mrs. G. W. Fletcher and seconded by Mr. H. Kilby.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Hornsey in March, and the next annual meeting at Edmonton.

The Hon. Secretary stated that a special practice had been arranged at St. James', Clerkenwell, at 7.30 on Friday, February 10th, to which all members were invited. He also drew the attention of members to several interesting publications at present 'on the market.' There was 'The Ringer's Handbook,' by the Rev. E. S. and Mrs. Powell, in two editions; 'Cambridge Surprise,' by W. A. Cave; 'Cambridge Minor and Major,' by K. Quick; 'Grandsire Doubles and Triples' and 'Bob Minor and Major,' both by I. H. Roe and M. Broome. The Secretary recommended all these publications, and said he would be glad to obtain copies for any member requiring them. Mr. Coles also urged greater support for 'The Ringing World,' without which ringing generally would suffer, and the work of secretaries made much harder.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector of St. Giles' (Rev. A. H. Lloyd) for his address and for the use of the bells; to the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford (St. Clement Danes) for the bells at that church; to the towerkeepers and to others who had contributed to the success of the meeting. This was carried unanimously.

Upwards of 70 ringers attended this meeting, and, although not a record, this fine attendance is a great encouragement. It is hoped that it will be repeated at all district meetings. The ringing generally was very good, all the standard methods from Grandsire Triples to London and Bristol Surprise being rung, with a couple of well-struck touches of Spliced Surprise Major, which it is sincerely hoped will be an inspiration to many to persevere in.

A WEST DORSET ACHIEVEMENT.

At Lyme Regis, Dorset, on January 25th, at St. Michael's Church for the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstaun's) in 48 mins.: S. J. Philbrick 1, C. W. H. Powell 2, J. E. Philbrick 3, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 4, G. H. Whitmore 5, F. Price 6, F. E. Blackmore 7, W. G. Sartin 8. First quarter-peal in the method on the bells and by the ringers of 1, 3, 7 and 8. First quarter-peal of Stedman ever rung by a local band in West Dorset. Rung also as a birthday compliment to the conductor.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Goldhanger, Essex, in honour of the wedding of Mr. H. B. Gardner (son of the Rector) and Miss W. J. Nelson, on January 19th, a quarter-peal of Minor, being 720 Oxford Treble Bob, 360 Kent and 180 Plain Bob, was rung: W. J. White 1, A. Appleton 2, E. J. Shynn 3, F. W. Shynn 4, C. J. Mann 5, B. C. Mann (conductor) 6. The wedding took place at All Saints', Ennismore Gardens, London. The bridegroom has been ringing at Goldhanger for several years. As he is now removing from the village, he will be greatly missed in the tower, especially for service ringing.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SONNING DEANERY ACTIVITIES.

The annual meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Wokingham on Saturday, January 21st, and was, as usual, largely attended. During the afternoon and evening ringing took place at All Saints' and St. Paul's Churches, the service being held at St. Paul's, where the Rector delivered an appropriate address, based on the words, 'Hearing a voice but seeing no man' (Acts ix. 7). During the service, at which the Rector officiated, the three deceased members of the branch were remembered. These were Messrs. W. Elsley, Wargrave; H. Watts, Sandhurst; and S. C. Adams, Wokingham, St. Paul's.

A collection for the Branch Restoration Fund amounted to £1 2s. 8d. Tea was then partaken of in St. Paul's Parish Room, where an efficient staff of the parishioners had provided a substantial repast. The assembly was waited upon by an efficient body of helpers, which included the churchwardens, Mr. A. H. Newberry and Mr. A. E. Priest (the Mayor of Wokingham). Amongst those present were the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master), Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild treasurer), Canon G. F. Coleridge (branch chairman) the Revs. T. W. Sergeant, Canon B. Long (Rural Dean), A. P. Carr (St. Sebastian's), R. D. Weller (Finchampstead), L. R. Majendie (Sandhurst), K. St. C. Thomas, Messrs. F. Dentry, A. G. Wright, J. Moth, F. Nye and W. J. Paice (hon. secretary and treasurer of the branch), etc.

The meal over, the Chairman, Canon G. F. Coleridge, for 'one and all' thanked the helpers for their kindness, which he assured them the ringers fully appreciated.—Mr. W. J. Paice thanked the two local Rectors for the use of their bells, the Rev. T. W. Sergeant for his sermon, also Mr. A. Andrews, jun., the organist, and included the organ blower. He specially thanked the Rector of St. Paul's for so kindly continuing the tradition of that church to the ringers (applause). He further thanked Mr. Owen Goddard, the hon. auditor.

IMPROVED FINANCES.

Canon Coleridge then presided over the branch annual general meeting. Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. J. C. F. Wimberley, Canon and Miss Norris, Mr. Rance (illness) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (the Guild secretary), also laid aside by illness, who sent congratulations and best wishes, saying he would be with them 'in spirit.' A message of sympathy and cheer was sent to Mr. Hibbert and Mr. Rance.

Mr. Paice presented the balance sheet, which showed a balance in hand of £7 4s. 8d., an increase of £1 15s. 1d. upon last year. The expenditure included £8 9s. paid to the Guild general funds. The deposit account of the Branch Restoration Fund was stated to contain £3 9s. 4d.. The membership of the branch was three life members, 24 hon. members and 146 ringing members—total 173—a slight decrease. The branch regretted the loss by death of three of its members—Mr. W. Elsley (of Wargrave), Mr. H. Watts (Sandhurst) and Mr. S. C. Adams (St. Paul's, Wokingham). The chairman spoke with sympathy and feeling as to these, and noted also the loss by removal of the Rev. and Mrs. Acworth, of Sunningdale.

The Secretary reported that two peals had been rung. The Wednesday evening combined practices had been very encouraging, attended as they were by many young ringers. Hurst tenor bell had a slight fault attended to. He congratulated Waltham St. Lawrence band upon their improvement. He regretted that the custom of ringing at midnight on December 31st was not more kept up, as parishioners looked for it. He thanked all for their help and support (applause).

The report and balance sheet were adopted, the chairman voicing the gratitude of the branch to Mr. Paice.

On the proposition of the Rev. L. R. Majendie, seconded by Mr. Dentry, Canon Coleridge was re-elected chairman by acclamation.

Proposed by Mr. Dentry, and seconded by Mr. Moth, Mr. W. J. Paice was similarly re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer. He thanked the branch for their confidence.

The foremen of the towers were then elected to form the branch committee. Branch representatives to the Guild Committee were chosen as follow: Messrs. Dentry, Moth, Rance and White.

A recommendation from the Branch Committee that quarterly meetings be held one on Wednesday and two on Saturday, apart from the April meeting, was carried. A proposition that a combined practice committee be formed was left to the foremen of the towers, who would be allowed to send a deputy if unable to attend.

It was also decided to hold combined practices, six on Wednesdays and the remainder on Saturdays throughout the year.

It was agreed to send one guinea donation to the Stedman Memorial Fund from the branch.

DECREASE IN PAID RINGERS.

The Chairman said he had been interested in the branch ever since he had been in the deanery, 38 years, out of his 48 years in the diocese. He was still able to do a certain amount of work. He stated that there were 45,872 ringers in England. Although paid ringers had decreased by 298, voluntary ringers had increased, so that the deficiency was made up, all but 72. They must not be downhearted (applause).

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

BRISTOL BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held on Saturday, January 28th, at St. Nicholas', Bristol. The bells, a peal of ten, were only available for one hour owing to the proximity of the market and other business premises.

The usual ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. M. D. Stancomb), and Mr. Rowland Shiles presided at the organ. In his address, the Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the association, especially thanking those who have kept the bells ringing from time to time. He also referred to the ancient custom of ringing the curfew, which is carried on still at St. Nicholas' every night at 9 p.m., paying tribute to the steeplekeeper, Mr. James Richmond, who has rung the curfew there for 48 years, and hoped to be spared to complete the 50 years. This is a record to be proud of.

After the service a move was made to the Cadena Cafe for tea and meeting, 34 members being present. The chair was taken by Mr. W. H. Thomas (branch chairman), supported by Mr. J. Gould (Master of the association). The secretary presented his report and balance sheet, the latter showing a balance in hand of £8 9s. 4d., the receipts showing an increase of 15s., and the expenses a decrease of £2 3s. 9d. The report dealt with the year's work. There had been an increase in performing members owing to the fact that Stapleton, Emmanuel and Pucklechurch had joined as bands. There had been 12 meetings arranged, the average attendance being 31. Special mention was made to the lack of support given to the local officials by Bristol ringers, and he hoped there would be an improvement during the coming year.—Mr. F. Jewell moved the adoption of the report and balance sheet. This was seconded by Mr. H. Burt and carried with applause.

Mr. W. H. Thomas, chairman, in reviewing the year's work, corroborated what the secretary had said, and appealed to the members to give their best support to the officials.

Mr. Gould (Master) thanked the officers for their work during the past year, which had been very successful, as the balance sheet showed.—The officers then retired, leaving the Master in the chair.

Mr. W. H. Thomas was proposed and seconded for re-election to the chair, but would not allow his name to go to the meeting, explaining that business necessitated his being away from Bristol, and he was unable to give the support he would like. Mr. John G. Jeffries was thereupon proposed, and this popular choice, on being put to the meeting, was carried with applause.

Mr. F. Skidmore was re-elected hon. secretary, and Mr. F. Leaker was elected as representative on the Management Committee.

Four new members were elected, and the places for quarterly and annual meetings are as follows: Coalpit Heath, March; Thornbury (combined with Wotton-under-Edge Branch), June; Mangotsfield, September; St. Ambrose (annual), January, 1934.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist was proposed by Mr. W. H. Thomas, seconded by Mr. H. Burt, and carried with applause.

There being no further business, the Master declared the meeting closed, and a move was made to St. James', where ringing was indulged in until about 9 p.m.

A sum of two guineas was voted to Mr. W. J. Paice, hon. secretary and treasurer, as an honorarium.

The Master expressed his pleasure at being with them, and congratulated the branch upon its excellent chairman and hon. secretary. He referred to the ringers' paper, 'The Ringing World,' for which he asked a larger support. He hoped no tower in the Sonning Deanery would be without it, and he urged individual ringers to take it in. The Master also referred to the peal of 16,271 Grandsire Caters rung at Appletton on December 27th by a diocesan band, and praised the high standard of the ringing which he heard. The bells at Appletton, hung in 1818, were made of good stuff, the workmen had put in good work, and good care had been taken of the bells, which showed the value of the three points he had named (applause).

Mr. A. J. Wright, the Guild treasurer, congratulated the branch, which had the credit, through Mr. Paice, of sending him the first money he, as Guild treasurer, received this year, and which came very opportunely. Their deanery was one of the best branches in the whole Guild. He wished them continued prosperity.

The Chairman urged careful instruction of the young ringers in holding the rope so as to obtain correct striking, and intimated that the Central Council pamphlet, to come out soon, would include photographs in which their friend, Mr. Tom Hibbert (Guild secretary) would appear in the right and the wrong positions of the ringers' hands on the rope. After a feeling reference to the three departed members, Canon Coleridge mentioned Mrs. Houlton, of St. Paul's, who was critically ill. She had for a long time been present on these occasions, and done all she could for their comfort, and a message of sympathy was sent from the meeting to show they did not forget an old friend in time of adversity.

Mr. Dentry proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding, and this concluded the meeting.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT MELTON MOWBRAY.

Melton Mowbray is one of the few unspoiled villages of Leicestershire, and is a well-known centre of hunting circles frequently visited by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and other notabilities. The Parish Church of St. Mary is the most cathedral-like of any church in the diocese, and both within and without its glorious proportions cannot fail to arouse one's admiration. It is a delight to architects, archaeologists and historians alike, while its glorious central tower, with its fine old ring of ten bells, delight campanologists. A good muster of the latter met on Saturday, January 21st, on the occasion of the quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association, from Burton, Chesterfield, Derby, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough and Nottingham districts. The committee met in the ancient church vestry at 3.15 p.m., and carried out their routine and other duties. The latter included a grant to Billesdon Bell Augmentation Fund and launching an appeal for the recasting of a bell at Duffield to the memory of the late Sir A. P. Heywood, Bart., president of the M.C.A. for many years and founder of the Central Council.

The annual report is to be printed in due course, and special features included to commemorate the jubilee of the association's formation.

It was regrettable that the president, Mr. E. Denison Taylor, could not attend owing to illness, but the chair at both committee and general meetings was taken by Mr. W. E. White, the hon. treasurer, supported by Mr. Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S., the general hon. secretary. Tea was served at 5 p.m. in Warner's Cafe to a good company, and the general meeting followed. The Vicar of Melton, Rev. Canon P. Robson, M.A., was present at tea, but had to leave immediately after. He welcomed the visitors to Melton, and trusted all had enjoyed their bells. He spoke of the respect and admiration he held for their local team, especially the leader, Mr. R. H. Bartram, from whom he had learned many 'hidden facts' about bells, ringing and ringers.

The Chairman read the president's remarks on the past quarter's work, upon which he highly congratulated all concerned. He made special note of the peals rung—52 from Stedman Caters to Doubles—a very good record. The outstanding feature is the continued success of the 'Wednesday' band and their talented conductor, Maurice Swinfield, to whom all praise is due on completing 100 different Twin-bob compositions. There was also the specially arranged peal of 5,050 Stedman Caters at Derby, conducted by the gen. hon. secretary to commemorate the jubilee, and, later, the lantern lecture by the same gentleman. He remembered, too, the passing of an esteemed member, Mr. Henry W. Wilde.

The secretary read the names of new members submitted since the last meeting, viz., 17 ringing, six who rejoined, four life, and six honorary, and these were duly ratified.

Two auditors, Messrs. Colin Harrison and J. H. Dean, were elected to check the accounts.

A note from the president was read respecting the article of Mr. Reeve in 'The Ringing World' on 'Bells on the Wireless,' and stressed the need for educating the public by good striking. He also stated that there is to be a 'Leicestershire week' broadcast (February 27th to March 4th), and during that time probably on Wednesday evening, March 1st, from 6.30 to 7.15, the president will give a talk on bells, illustrated by bell sounds and noises incidental to the casting of bells.

Mr. J. H. Swinfield spoke on the ringers' only paper, 'The Ringing World,' and urged all present to take it regularly and to try and push the sales in their various belfries. Votes of thanks to the local committee for the splendid arrangements made were passed and concluded the meeting. Further ringing and 'convivings' completed a very successful afternoon. E. M.

LITTLE BOB MAJOR

The figures of the peal of Little Bob Major rung at Bispham and published in our last issue are a composition by Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), who informs us that it was first rung by the Chester Diocesan Guild at Runcorn on September 19th, 1911. Mr. Lewis points out that, by a printer's error, a bob at H is omitted in the first course in the peal as printed.

Mr. G. R. Newton, of Liverpool, sends similar information, and adds that it was the second peal rung in the method.

Mr. W. Barton, peal secretary of the Yorkshire Association, also writes that the peal is by Mr. Edwin H. Lewis. The composition was first rung by the Yorkshire Association at St. Stephen's, Eastwood, Rotherham, on Saturday, January 13th, 1912, conducted by Clement Glenn. Incidentally, he points out, the calling of the first course should be:—

23456 3rds. 5ths. II.

35642 S S —

Mr. Peter Crook, who called the peal at Bispham, says that Mr. Ernest Morris called the peal as his own composition at Earl Shilton on May 26th, 1928.

'STRIKING.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I was interested to read in your issue of January 13th of a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at Luton on December 31st, 1932. The 5,056 changes were rung in 2 hours 57 mins., with a tenor of 19½ cwt., and a footnote to the report stated, 'Quickest peal of Major on the bells.'

Now I hope the Luton men will not think that I am attacking their 'striking.' From the point of view taken by the average ringer, it was undoubtedly excellent, and, once the pace had been set, the rhythm maintained throughout; but I do suggest that the attempts that are made to ring peals in the quickest time is a retrograde step towards cultivating public sympathy in respect of bell-ringing.

When you come to think about it, quick striking means that the space of time allowed for each bell to 'speak' is reduced. I maintain that this is unnatural, for the time occupied by the voice of a bell after it is struck is fixed. In consequence of this any acceleration of the blows must of necessity mean that (in rounds) the second trespasses on that time that should be occupied by the treble's voice, the third on that of the second, and so on, so that by continually 'nibbling' off these allotted spaces of time we reduce the eight blows to a 'howl' devoid of any distinct notes. Further reduction still can take place until we land at 'firing.'

A little while ago there was a complaint in the local papers against a certain peal of bells. I defended the bells and ringers in the Press, at the same time enlightening the public on a little of our activities which are so obscure to them. The defence I put up was, I believe, in a measure successful, but when a little later I approached the tower in question whilst ringing was in progress I felt that there was some case against the bells. A friend, a non-ringer, remarked that they sounded like a lot of cats yowling, and, indeed, there was cause for the simile. They were being rung too 'close' altogether, the natural ring of the one blow completely drowning the following blow. This brings me to another point.

The howl of a bell can be very distressing to ringers as well as the listening public. Personally when ringing in some towers I always feel very self-conscious when an appeal to 'listen to 'em' comes from the conductor, for, you see, I am one of these 'unfortunate people' who can hear the 'harmonics' of a note very distinctly.

Whether the peal is a noted 'howler' or not, I am conscious of the presence of the harmonics, and after half an hour's ringing in some towers I find myself straining to hear my own bell amidst the din caused by this phenomenon in my ears. For a time I kept this to myself, but one day, after hearing the tenor pulled up by itself in my own tower, I could hear the note itself (E) the octave above it, the third above that—i.e., the sixth an octave higher, and also the tenor note again still an octave higher. Had anyone asked me to sound with my voice the tenor note I could not have done it. This led me to speak to the choir-master and organist on the matter, and to my delight I found him sympathetic.

A few experiments on the piano more or less solved the mystery of my hearing 'things' in the tower, and re-established my confidence in my hearing; further to this, I discovered that for this reason an organist has to be very careful in sounding a reciting note for his precentors, for although a perfectly good 'G' may be given to the officiating cleric it would be quite possible for him to start on, say, 'B' or some other relative note if he is sensitive to the harmonics.

Apparently this 'super sensitiveness' to sound is a mixed blessing, and I am wondering if the Exercise contains many such sufferers. Were they in the majority I am sure of one thing: quick peals would be 'taboo,' and one would be hearing of some 'slowest peal on the bells' performances.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE. FROM MINOR TO MAXIMUS.

The popularity of Cambridge Surprise on all even numbers from six to twelve bells has increased in a striking manner in recent years, and a pamphlet which explains the method from Minor to Maximus is a welcome addition to the instructional literature available to ringers. This little book has been written by Mr. W. A. Cave, of Bristol, and has behind it his great experience both as a ringer and conductor. The simple explanation of the construction of the method and the way in which to ring it should enable any ringer with a knowledge which extends to Treble Bob to master the Minor very quickly, and thereafter to pass on to Major, Royal and Maximus as quickly as his opportunities for the necessary progressive practice present themselves. We say 'progressive practice' because a ringer who has rung Minor and imagines he can go straight to Maximus would most likely find quick disillusionment. But Mr. Cave's book will help him to get there by the quickest route. The publication contains quite a comprehensive selection of compositions of Royal and Maximus, as well as several of New Cambridge Major, and others beside mere beginners at the method will find the supplement which contains the full figures of a course of Royal and Maximus very useful. The book can be obtained post free 1s. 3d. from the Rev. E. S. Powell, Clyst St. George Rectory, Exeter, or from Messrs. Came and Cave, 29, Victoria Street, Bristol.

BISHOPWEARMOUTH BELL RESTORATION. GREAT IMPROVEMENT EFFECTED.

On the invitation of the Rector, the Rev. Preb. A. B. Wynne Williams, a special meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Sunderland on Saturday, January 21st, to give the members an opportunity to try the recently recast peal of bells at St. Michael's, Bishopwearmouth.

The church is being rebuilt, and the ringers had to thread their way through a sad scene of desolation to the tower. Arriving there, however, they found all in order, and some excellent touches of Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Superlative Surprise were brought round, and it was agreed that Messrs. Mears and Stainbank had completed a first-class job and effected a great improvement.

An excellent tea had been provided at the North of England Cafe, and afterwards a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector and wardens for the use of the bells and their contribution to the expenses. This was proposed by Mr. J. W. Parker, Sunderland, and seconded by Mr. T. Metcalf, the secretary of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. These gentlemen both gave interesting reminiscences of the late Mr. Thomas Hudson, of St. Michael's, and secretary of the association between 30 and 40 years ago.

Mr. R. L. Patterson, vice-president for the Eastern District, pointed out that three of the members present, Messrs. J. W. Parker, G. S. Taylor and himself, first learnt to ring a bell in this belfry 35 years ago, Mr. Hudson and the late Major Hudson being their instructors.

Mr. J. Pickering and Mr. R. Langton replied on behalf of the Rector and wardens, and in the course of a few remarks the President, Mr. J. Anderson, urged the members to endeavour to improve their striking in Sunday service ringing especially, so that the outside public would have no grounds for complaint about 'noisy bells.'

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY. DIFFICULT TIMES AND DIMINISHING BALANCE.

The annual meeting of the Doncaster and District Society was held at headquarters, Doncaster, on Saturday, about twenty members being present, representing the towers of Arksey, Doncaster, Eastwood and Thorne. A short service was held, at which the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Brook, gave his usual helpful address.

At the business meeting after tea, the Rev. R. Machon presided. The officers elected were Mr. G. Clark, Ringing Master for three years, and Mr. E. Cooper, hon. secretary for two years, and two auditors, Messrs. H. Wagstaffe and W. Lloyd.

The balance sheet was read and accepted without comment. The result of the Walker Cup competition was Doncaster first with 571 attendances, and Arksey second with 534 attendances.

It was decided to ask the Vicar of Doncaster to present the cup at the annual parochial meeting on Thursday, March 16th, and the secretary was asked to represent the society at the presentation.

It was decided that the secretary be asked to write to all towers to be visited to ask them if they could provide a cheap plain tea at a cost of about 9d. per head, as it is feared the cost of tea on top of bus fares keeps many away who otherwise would be present, but through unemployment and trade depression can only afford a small expenditure.

The wish was expressed that all members will pay up their subscriptions and that secretaries of towers will collect and forward them to the secretary, as only about one-third of the total have paid during the last two years, and the balance of the society has been steadily diminishing in the effort to keep things going.

After the usual votes of thanks had been passed to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells, the members again ascended the tower and kept the bells going to various methods till half-past eight, when they were lowered in peal.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN BRANCH RECORD AT HALESOWEN.

A glorious day for the time of year brought together a record gathering of ringers for the quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association at Halesowen on Saturday, January 21st. Every tower in the division was represented, over 120 members being present.

As usual, the meeting began with a service in the beautiful old Parish Church, and was conducted by the Rector, Canon H. C. A. Colville, M.A., Rural Dean. The choir boys and the organist assisted in the singing. The Rector in his address referred to the loss the association had sustained by the death of Mr. A. E. Parsons. He said it was a remark made by Mr. Parsons that had been in his mind when thinking out his address. Mr. Parsons had said that the clergy would talk about bells and ringing, but most of them knew little about the subject. The Rector then took as the title of his subject, 'An outsider comments on the bells,' and right well he did it, giving an interesting address. Following the service the ringers gathered in the schoolroom for tea, admirably catered for by Mrs. A. E. Davis, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Hackett, Mrs. Forrest, Mrs. Greenhall, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Lloyd, who were assisted by other young lady helpers.

The business meeting followed. The Rector presided and was supported by Mr. A. J. Skelding (branch secretary), Mr. W. Short and Mr. W. B. Cartwright (representatives on the Central Committee), Mr. H. G. Bird (Central Council representative), Mr. W. Cooper (librarian), Mr. W. Webb (Ringing Master of Halesowen band). Apologies were received from Mr. H. T. Martin, Bromsgrove, Ringing Master of the branch, who was unwell, Mr. S. Hughes, Smethwick, and Mr. C. Skidmore.

The Secretary referred to the heavy losses to the association during the past year by the death of several of its oldest members. Mr. Salter, of Kidderminster, was a very prominent member; and then a greater shock came when the news of the death of Mr. A. E. Parsons was announced—a gentleman who gave of his best to the association and all that it stood for. Then, only that day, another very old member of the Bromsgrove company and the association was being buried, who made the fourth from Bromsgrove within a few months. The Secretary then read the following letter to the members which he had received from Mrs. Parsons: 'Dear Mr. Skelding,—Will you please convey to the meeting on Saturday next my sincere thanks for the many kind enquiries during my dear husband's illness and also for other expressions of sympathy since his death. The knowledge that he was held in such high esteem by the members of the different branches of the ringing association has been a great consolation to me, and has done much to lessen my grief at his loss.' The secretary also extended to Mr. J. Bass their sincere sympathy in the loss of his wife during the week. In conclusion he asked the members to stand for a moment in silence.

A letter was received was Mr. J. B. Newman, the general secretary of the association, with reference to having an annual dinner, and asking the meeting to elect a representative for the committee for that purpose.—After discussion, it was recommended that Messrs. W. Short and W. B. Cartwright be chosen to serve on that committee.

It was unanimously agreed to hold the next meeting at Kinver by the kind willingness of the Vicar and officials to welcome the branch. Mr. H. G. Bird proposed that the quarterly peal be rung at Halesowen, and that the arrangements be left in the hands of Mr. W. Webb, Ringing Master of Halesowen, the local company to ring the peal. This met with the general approval, and the Rector promised to fall in with any suggestions to assist in the arrangements.

Mr. H. Hart proposed ten young members of the Lye company, and Mr. W. B. Cartwright proposed seven new members from Selly Oak and other new members from Kinver and Smethwick.—Mr. H. Mason and the secretary gave them a most hearty welcome into the association.

Mr. W. B. Cartwright moved a very hearty vote of thanks be accorded to the Rector for his able address and also for arranging the service and the use of the bells, to the churchwardens, choir and organist, and all who had contributed towards making the association's visit to Halesowen so welcome.—Mr. H. G. Bird seconded, and the motion was carried with applause.

The Secretary stated that any who wished to go in for belfry reform should visit Halesowen, where they would find plenty worthy of emulation.

The Rector briefly thanked the meeting, and hoped they would make good use of the remaining time left to ring. Let them come when they would, they would never have a better meeting.

Mr. A. E. Davies moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the ladies who had laid such an acceptable tea before them so graciously.—A hearty round of applause was accorded the ladies, and closed a remarkable gathering of ringers in North Worcestershire.

A FITTING MEMORIAL.

There are some names which are imperishable in the history of ringing, names which have come down to us from the past and will be known for the future as long as the art survives. They are the names of men of vastly different types and position, but they have no distinction in the honourable place which they hold in the estimation of those who give thought to what the Exercise owes to them—the men who from the earliest beginnings have built up the art to what it is to-day. The name of Henry Law James has its place in this list, but unlike some of those whose services to ringing have only been fully appreciated long after they have gone from us, his work made a definite impression upon the science of ringing in his own lifetime, and it will not need the passage of years to reveal the value of his services. Already the Exercise knows something, at least, of what it owes to his brilliant genius and has been ready to join with the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, whose inception was largely due to his inspiration, in providing a lasting memorial to him.

The addition of two treble bells to the ring at Surfleet to make a ring of twelve was but the fulfilment of the designs of Mr. James, and the memorial could, therefore, hardly have taken a more fitting form. From the ringers' point of view it also holds a special interest, because the bells constitute the lightest ringing twelve in the country. There has been, and still is, a strong view held by many people that rings of twelve ought never to have a tenor of less than about twenty-five cwt., and that they should have as much more weight, within reason, as possible. One might almost call the Surfleet augmentation an experiment, it is at any rate an innovation, but Mr. Law James was never afraid of innovations; in fact, one of his chief claims to celebrity lay in his frequent introduction of new ideas. They have not always been readily accepted, but that does not alter the fact that Mr. James was a master of originality. His own assurance that a ring of twelve bells with so light a tenor as twelve cwt. would be a perfectly practicable proposition and a completely manageable ring is borne out by events. Those who like only heavy peals of twelve will be able to point with truth to a lack of that sonorousness and grandeur which they like to associate with these higher numbers, but modern casting and tuning has made it possible to turn out little bells exceedingly sweet in tone and modern hanging practice enables them to be controlled as easily as bells of double or treble the weight. We should not be surprised if, once again, Mr. James' ideas 'blaze the trail'; that others will now follow where he had no fear to tread, and will not hesitate to turn very light peals into rings of twelve.

A GLOUCESTERSHIRE PEAL TABLET.

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING AT WOTTON-UNDER-EDGE.

On Saturday, January 21st, on the occasion of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds' dinner, a party of about thirty hailing from various parts of England, together with local members, visited the tower at Wotton-under-Edge for the purpose of unveiling a peal tablet recording a peal of Stedman Triples, which was rung on August 13th, 1932. The Vicar, Rev. A. J. Hodson, conducted the service in the ringing chamber, and amongst those present were Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Johnston, of Croydon.

The inscription on the tablet was as follows:—

'LAUS DEO.

Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.
Bristol United Ringing Guilds' Tour, 1932.

'On Saturday, August 13th, 1932, was rung on the bells in this tower in 3 hrs. 12 mins., 'Thurstans' four-part Peal of Stedman Triples, 5,040 changes. Tenor 18½ cwt. Treble, Miss E. Jessie Augwin, Ladies' Guild; 2nd, John H. Swinfield, Midland Counties Association; 3rd, Francis Kirk, Hertford Association; 4th, Alfred King, Bedford Association; 5th, Daniel Cooper, Surrey Association; 6th, Ernest F. Poppy, Suffolk Guild; 7th, Richard A. Post, Oxford Diocesan Guild; 8th, Arthur S. Roberts, Truro Diocesan Guild. Conducted by Richard Post. Rung as a compliment from the Ringing Exercise to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, of Croydon, upon the birth of a son.'

This peal was unique from the fact that eight different guilds or associations from all parts of England were represented. With the exception of Mr. King, all the band were elected members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association the previous evening in Bristol.

Before the unveiling, Mr. Albert Walker, St. Martin's Guild, for the Diocese of Birmingham, kindly requested the Vicar to accept the tablet. He said he was pleased to be present with fellow-ringers on that occasion. They had made a special journey from Bristol for the service.

Afterwards at the Falcon Hotel Mr. and Mrs. Johnston entertained the party to tea. Mr. Johnston said it was quite a pleasant surprise to him and his wife. He was simply asked to join in the excursion, and had no idea of the pleasing ceremony. He thanked them all, and assured them that his son and heir was doing well.

Several touches of Stedman Triples were rung, and in the band were Mr. A. King (Beds) and Mr. Post (Oxford), who rang in the peal, which the latter conducted. The party then left for Bristol.

BELL TOWERS.

THEIR EFFECT UPON RINGING.

LECTURE BY CENTRAL COUNCIL PRESIDENT.

The important question of bell towers and bell hanging and their relation to ringing was the subject of an interesting and instructive lecture given at Guildford on Saturday week by Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council. Mr. Lewis gave his address at the invitation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild after the annual meeting of the Guildford District, about 80 being present and closely following his discourse, which was illustrated by blackboard sketches.

Mr. Lewis was briefly introduced by the hon. secretary of the Guild (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), and as the subject is of special interest to all ringers we commence below a detailed report of the lecture. Mr. Lewis said:—

I would like to say something about the present position of bell towers, as we know it. Very little has been published on this subject, at least, on the part of it which, to my mind, really matters. The only thing that has been published is the book by Sir Arthur Heywood. This was published before the war, and is now, unfortunately, out of print. It would be very expensive to reprint it or to print any authoritative book on the subject which necessitates going into calculations. I think, therefore, it is the better way that we as ringers should try and get some knowledge of how matters stand, so that we can bring influence to bear on architects, for some architects do not know very much about the subject.

I want to treat the question of towers in three ways: Firstly, as they affect the public. I did not originally mean to say much about that aspect. A fortnight ago I threw a stone into a pond, and I am not at all sure that certain ripples have not been caused. Therefore I want to say a little more in connection with your proposed new Cathedral, otherwise the effect on the public of the sound of the bells outside the belfry has been treated, and information is available in publications by the Central Council.

In the second place I want to deal with towers as they affect the ringers, and, thirdly, I want to deal with how the poor old tower is affected by the bells being rung.

NEW CATHEDRAL PLANS CRITICISED.

Going back to the first question, the public is interested in two ways. It is very much interested if the bells are hung in such a way that a great deal of noise drops on the immediate surroundings of the tower—houses, offices, banks and buildings close by—and is not carried to the proper distance. The public is also affected if the arrangements are such that it is difficult to ring the bells without bad striking. I want to take as an example of how bells should not be hung the method shown in the drawings of your new Cathedral, which appeared in the supplement to the 'Architect's Journal' for July 27th, 1932. These designs were printed as the successful designs for the new Guildford Cathedral. It may be that the architect has since altered his plans. I can only criticise the drawings as they appeared. The drawings show that the tower is vaulted over the crossing. Above the vault there is apparently a concrete floor. The tower is 35ft. square, so that there is room for twelve or any larger number of bells. Above the first floor over the vault is another concrete floor, the height to the underside being 10ft. 6in. As a concrete floor is very resonant it would be hopeless to think of ringing there with any accuracy or comfort without some other floor of insulating material between them. That would leave only about 9ft. of headroom in the ringing chamber, which would not be particularly comfortable. The bells are shown in a frame resting on this floor; the sallies would probably go on to the wheels, and you would have the sallies in the holes when the bells struck at handstroke, making them softer at handstroke than at backstroke, and giving the effect of ringing half-muffled. The point I complain of most is the tall windows which come down to within one foot of this concrete floor. In the drawings are shown some very steep louvres sloping towards the outside of the tower, with the result that the sound of the bells would come down into the Cathedral close in a deafening way. If one peal were rung on them I am quite sure there would never be another. Probably there would be no practices, and you might be allowed as a great favour to ring on the major festivals.

As a cure for that it is suggested that the windows might be built up inside the louvres. Of course that can be done. It has been done in old towers, and there is some justification for it in such cases, but in my humble opinion there is no justification in a new building for showing windows with louvres on the outside which are built up on the inside. That is an architectural sham of the worst order. It may be many years before you get your completed Cathedral, unless trade improves very much, and alterations may be made in the plans. At the same time there is something wrong if a well-known architect in the winning plans shows such a hopeless condition for ringing.

Now, as to how the tower affects the ringers. With regard to the provision for their comfort in the tower, the length of draft, the modification of the sound and things of that sort, I want to leave the subject as you find it in the Central Council publications. The point I want to take up with regard to ringers is this: It is possible by arranging the bells suitably in the tower, having in view the strength of the different walls, to make ringing very much easier or very much harder than it might otherwise be. If the bells are hard to ring you not only tend to get bad striking—though not necessarily, because there are some ringers who love to strike well on bad-going bells, in which, after all, is some satisfaction—but you get ringers into a state in which they are not fit to attend the service for which they ring, and that is quite unnecessary. In these days, with modern engineering tools and appliances available, bells ought to go so easily that ringers of either sex can ring them and, without discomfort to themselves, attend the service for which they ring.

HOW THE FORCES ARE EXERTED.

To find out really how a tower affects the ringers, and the tower is affected by the bells, you have to get down to fundamentals. This subject began to interest me twenty years ago, when a series of letters were published from the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings by my very good friend, Mr. Powys, for whom I have a tremendous admiration. He is one of the most honest men I have ever met. In what he now admits to be his ignorance, he wrote letters to various local papers about that time. There was one particularly in February, 1912, in the 'Cambridge Daily News.' In that letter the connection between the bells and the tower was described in order as a 'jar,' a 'thrust,' a 'vibration,' a 'blow' and a 'swing,' and that set me thinking. I made up my mind to find out exactly what does happen when you swing a bell; what are the resultant forces; what happens if the frame is not rigid; and what happens if the tower itself is not rigid. It is not a very difficult thing to work out mathematically, provided you assume that the point upon which the bell swings is rigidly fixed. Actually there is nothing rigid in nature, but it is not very far out. The movement of a frame is excessive if it is a quarter of an inch, and the movement of a tower becomes excessive if it is much more than an eighth of an inch. You can, therefore, assume for practical purposes that, when a bell swings, the revolving mass is revolving about a fixed point. When a bell swings round it sets up a centrifugal force, that is, it tends to fly away from the centre, and there has to be some force to keep it moving in a circle. The force that matters in a tower when a bell is rung is the horizontal component of the reaction at the gudgeons, and the maximum horizontal force is twice the weight of the bell. When I say the weight of the bell I do not mean twice the weight of the bell, plus the fittings, but, taking into account the whole of the weight that is turning, twice the weight of the bell itself approximately represents the maximum horizontal force. The greatest vertical force exerted by a bell occurs in the middle of its swing, and is four times the weight of the bell; that is, the weight of the bell plus three times its weight due to centrifugal forces. That has been known for about eighty years, but as far as I can gather nobody, until 1912, had tried to find out when the maximum horizontal force occurred. The maximum pull exerted by a bell in the horizontal direction is at a point approximately 124 degrees from the vertical position; the maximum vertical force is at the bottom, and as the bell rises on the other side it again reaches its maximum horizontal force at 124 degrees from the vertical. The time taken between these two points is approximately one quarter of a second, and, further, you have this fact that, in rings of bells of average size, the time between the swing of the individual bells is just about one-quarter of a second. If you are ringing eight bells at a normal speed, that is allowing for an open lead, you have seventeen beats to go into slightly over four seconds; in other words, the bells start off one after the other at approximately quarter-second intervals, and the time by which one bell lags after the one in front is almost exactly equal to the time between the two maximum horizontal forces. Take an example to show the importance of this fact. If the seventh and tenor hang in the same direction and are roped on opposite sides and are pulled off after each other, the seventh has got to its second maximum at the moment the tenor, starting in the other direction, has arrived at its first maximum, and both are then pulling in the same direction, with the result that you have the maximum possible force acting on the tower. The cure for that is, if possible, to rope the bells on the same side. It is not always possible, but when it is it has an extraordinary effect.

DAMAGING EFFECT OF 'SPRING' FRAMES.

It is only the horizontal forces that one need worry about; it would be a poor tower, indeed, that would not carry the extra weight of the vertical thrust. It is only equivalent to putting one or two feet on the top of the tower. There is a minor point with regard to the clapper. Some of the gentlemen who used to be keen on wooden frames were rather cornered over the results of the investigations. They first suggested that a 'spring' frame was a good thing, because they thought it would stop the vibration or impact of the bell upon the tower. When it was proved that the forces were finite, and that there was no 'impact,' they suggested that the tower got a kick from the clapper. Normally the clapper swings slower than the bell. During the first part of the swing the bell is pushing the clapper faster than it normally wants to go, until it has gone through something like 100 degrees. This has the effect of slowing down the bell and speeding up the clapper. Eventually the clapper gains on the bell, and when it overtakes it and hits the bell you get a distinct jar. This blow has to be taken up by the gudgeon. Actually at the gudgeon it becomes a vertically downward impact, and therefore does no damage to the walls of the tower.

When the investigation of spring frames was undertaken it was proved beyond question that the connection between the bell and the DEATH OF MR. W. H. MUNDY, LEICESTER.FORMER DEVON AND BIRMINGHAM RINGER.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. W. H. Mundy, of the St. Martin's Cathedral Society, Leicester, after a very brief illness. The deceased underwent an operation about four years ago, from which he apparently recovered, although it had prevented his presence in the belfry since. He was taken seriously ill on Tuesday, January 24th, and passed away the following morning.

From the scanty records he left, it would appear that he commenced his peal ringing at St. Sidwell's, Exeter, in 1886, or earlier. Thence he went to Birmingham, where he joined the St. Martin's Guild, with which society he rang six or eight peals of Stedman Cinques and Treble Twelve. Later he was at Weston-super-Mare, and in 1918 he moved to Leicester, where he joined the St. Martin's Society, and with this company rang his first peals of Double Norwich Major and Superlative. As far as it is possible to trace, he had rung at least 40 peals in all the standard methods from Major to Maximus.

The funeral service was held at St. Chad's Church, and the interment took place at Gilecross Cemetery, Leicester, on Saturday, January 28th. Messrs. Harrison, Morris, Poole and Wilson rang a course over the open grave, a wreath being placed afterwards upon it as a last token of respect for a departed 'brother string.'

On Monday, January 30th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters (1,261 changes) with the bells half-muffled was rung at the Cathedral: F. R. Dexter 1, S. Cotton 2, L. E. Allen 3, I. Morris 4, E. Morris 5, G. Straw 6, F. E. Wilson 7, A. I. Harris 8, P. E. Harrison 9, T. Taylor 10.

The passing of Mr. Mundy creates a great loss to those who knew him, and the deepest sympathy is extended to his widow and daughter, who are left in bereavement.

tower should be of the most rigid description it was possible to get. There was a great deal of argument in the years 1912, 1913 and 1914 about this question, and I tried to find by experiment what would happen if instead of hanging a bell in a frame that was rigid you hung it in a frame with a spring in it, and to measure the forces acting on the tower in the two cases. These experiments proved that the forces acting on the tower were much greater with a spring frame than in the case of a rigid frame. With a rigid frame the amount of the forces are known; with a spring frame the amount is not known. With a loose frame the amount of the forces are not known, but in this case they became impulsive forces, and sooner or later the tower will get damaged.

BELL HANGING BY LOCAL TRADESMEN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to your leading article in 'The Ringing World' of January 13th, on bell restoration—which I think is a thing we should properly look into—I do not agree with Mr. T. Bond's views, especially as a bell hanger. He is encouraging the Church authorities to call in the local carpenter or blacksmith which, I consider, is against himself. I am writing as a man who had 12 years' experience as a bell hanger with the late Mr. W. Greenleaf, one of the best men in the craft in his day, and have seen something of the local carpenter and blacksmith's rehanging of bells. I well remember a peal being rehung in Herefordshire some years ago. A wheelwright and blacksmith did it for £70 odd, and when the ringers went to the dedication they could not raise a single bell, and they were supposed to be ringers. The consequence was Mr. Greenleaf was called in, and I had them down in the churchyard on the following day week. The same thing applied here in South Wales, and that peal is lying idle to-day. Then, again, with regard to trusting an architect. I say 'No,' for some of them do a lot of harm. If it had not been for an architect we should have had our eight bells in at Penarth years ago, as a gentleman offered to do them, but an architect said, 'No, the tower would not stand the strain.' He was listened to, and the bells are unringable to-day. Of course, the old method of bell hanging, when the bells were sometimes hung to swing all one way, did strain the towers. But when, as they are to-day, cross-swung, even if they are hung in two tiers that risk is done away with. It is true that a smith can 'shut' a broken clapper, but there are few who know how to take the right length of a clapper to strike on the lip of the bell properly. I have seen scores of clappers in my travels either striking above or below the sound bow. Again, to replace an odd broken bearing—I have done it for a makeshift—is like putting a new patch on a pair of old worn-out trousers. It is only keeping the bell hanger outside the door. I could have plenty of jobs to-day, if I would only 'muck about with it,' and I am at present out of work, although I worked as a carpenter for 20 years on the railway. I am quite prepared to help any firm of bell hangers when I can get the right materials to do the job properly. Without them I would rather let it alone, because no man can patch up a bad-going bell without the proper experience and materials. You cannot hang a church bell with a cold chisel and a rasp.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Parish Church of Hagley, Worcestershire, is to be lighted by electricity, and a scheme is being prepared. Mr. Harry Mason, who is well known in West Midland ringing circles, and Mrs. Mason have generously offered to defray the whole cost.

The order for the rehanging of the bells at Thorington, Essex, has been placed with Mr. A. Howell, of Ipswich. It is hoped to increase the ring to eight, and donations are invited. They may be sent to Mr. G. A. Andrews, Thorington, near Colchester, or to Mr. W. J. Nevard, Myrtle Cottage, Great Bentley, near Colchester, Essex.

Mr. C. H. Kippin, the popular hon. secretary of the Surrey Association, had a fortunate escape from serious injury on Tuesday of last week. Cycling in Croydon he had a front-wheel skid on the slippery road in trying to avoid a van. He was thrown on his face and was conveyed to hospital in an ambulance, where he was treated for severe facial abrasions. He was then allowed to go home. Proof that he is improving will be found in our peal columns.

Mr. William Keeble was not the first, after all, to reach double figures in the 'circling' of towers. That distinction belongs to Mr. J. Bennett. Mr. Keeble, however, is probably the first to do it as conductor.

On Wednesday Mr. William J. Nevard, the Essex veteran, celebrated his 77th birthday, and on Saturday eight Williams, including Mr. Nevard, ate to attempt a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Witham in honour of the event.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Chapman, formerly of Manchester, and now of Keyston, Huntingdon, will learn with deep regret of the death of his devoted wife, Mrs. Mary Eliza Chapman, who passed away on Thursday, February 2nd, at the age of 74 years. The funeral took place on Saturday.

In addition to his numerous professional and other duties, such as solicitor, belfry correspondent, and branch secretary, Mr. J. I. Davis has been appointed clerk of St. James' Parish Church, Poole.

APPLETON BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reference to the words I am reported to have said by your correspondent from the Sonning Deanery, I did not say that the Appleton bells were made of good stuff, though assuredly they were, but I was drawing attention to the fact that the third, fifth, sixth and ninth bells are still running in the bearings put in in 1818, and the wheels of the front six bells date from the same year, which I think you will agree is a testimony to the excellence of the material supplied for bearings and wheels, as well as to the workmanship and subsequent care taken of the bells.

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN, Master, Oxford Diocesan Guild.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Would Mr. Hunt kindly let us know the date this particular variation of mine was published? I am sorry to ask, but unfortunately I never keep any records.

Would it not have been much easier if Mr. Cave had given us the date of publishing his variation? 'Six years ago' is very vague, especially as Mr. Hunt says mine was published in 1927. I won't be mean and say that there never was a Cave variation. No, I will not even say, 'pirate,' although a gentleman once made that remark in reference to myself, didn't he? Mr. Cave no doubt remembers the occasion. But, even so, that was excusable, wasn't it, for at the time the gentleman was bursting with the newly-acquired knowledge of some of the mysteries of Stedman composition, and it would have been a great pity for this information to be lost to us all.

As regards Mr. Cave's idea that Thurstans' four quarters, linked up by the six singles, constitutes an original composition, I will be guided by Mr. Washbrook himself, who called it 'Washbrook's Variation of Thurstans'.

[Mr. Dexter's figures were printed in 'The Ringing World' of February 4th, 1927. Mr. Cave's transpositions of Washbrook's peal, 'suggested by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies' transposition,' were published on cards bearing date February 8th, 1927.—Ed., 'R.W.']

ROMNEY MARSH AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The annual meeting was held at Appledore on Saturday, January 21st. Forty-five members attended, representing twelve towers. Various methods were practised during the afternoon, when the Guild service was conducted by the Rev. G. Wright (Vicar), who gave a short address. The lesson was read by Rev. G. S. Long, Rector of Aldington, a practising member of the Guild. Tea was served at the Swan Hotel, followed by the business meeting, Rev. G. Wright presiding. The accounts were passed, the officers elected being Rev. G. Wright, president, Rev. G. S. Long, vice-president; Mr. C. W. Everitt, Master; Mr. P. Page, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. C. W. Player representative to Central Council.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his address, and for presiding at the meeting.

During the evening Mr. A. Batten was presented with a case of pipes in appreciation of his services as secretary to the Guild.

The business concluded, members spent the remainder of the evening in social intercourse, songs and recitations, etc.

THE LAW JAMES MEMORIAL.

OPENING OF NEW BELLS AT SURFLEET.

RINGERS' TRIBUTE TO A GREAT LEADER.

There was a great gathering of ringers at Surfleet, Lincolnshire, on Saturday, when the memorial to the late Rev. Henry Law James, provided by the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and friends, was dedicated. This memorial completes a work in the Parish Church which Mr. James himself had contemplated, and therefore could have taken no more fitting form. Mr. James was proud of the ring of ten bells in the celebrated leaning tower, and it was his ambition to make them into a peal of twelve. This has now been done by the addition of two trebles, and a suitable memorial tablet in bell metal has been erected at the foot of the tower. The memorial scheme was initiated by the Rev. Law James' successor in the Mastership of the Guild, Mr. Rupert Richardson, who was so readily backed up by the Guild committee that, when they met last October to consider the proposal, it was decided to place the order the next day. The new bells have been cast in the same distinctive style as the four bells added in 1913 by Mr. James, and are of wonderful tonal quality for bells of such small size. When it is remembered that the tenor of the twelve is only 12 cwt., it will be realised how diminutive must be these new bells compared with the trebles of a ring of this number, even with a tenor of only 25 cwt. or 30 cwt., but they speak with tuneful voices, and when the work in the tower is completed will doubtless be heard by the ringers equally well with the rest. They are mounted with two other bells in an upper tier in the frames formerly occupied by the previous trebles, while new frames have been provided on the same level for the present fourth and fifth.

The ropes form an excellent circle, and this despite the difficulties which are caused by the tilt of the tower, which is 6ft. 4in. out of plumb, while there is a tilt of at least three feet from the bell level to the floor. The result is that the ropes drop towards the west wall, and three of the ringers have to stand in the western doorway, although these particular bells are roped on the side farthest from the wall. For such light bells, with a draught of sixty feet, the new trebles proved easy to handle. Surfleet now has the lightest ring of twelve bells in the country, and Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, are to be congratulated upon the success with which the scheme has been carried out. The 'splice' is perfect, and there is nothing freakish in the style necessary to ring the small bells; indeed, some experienced ringers professed to prefer them for handling to some of the other light bells in the tower.

THE DEDICATION SERVICE.

The proceedings on Saturday began with an early celebration of Holy Communion, in which Henry Law James was specially remembered in the prayers. A congregation which practically filled the ancient church, which owes so much to the efforts of its late Vicar who, during his ministry, turned a dilapidated building into a beautiful House of God, assembled for the dedication service in the afternoon. Ringers from all over Lincolnshire and places far beyond flocked to the village, not only to share in the ceremony but to pay respect to the memory of one who was not only the founder of the Guild, and had guided its destinies for more than thirty years with unerring hand, but had gained an almost unique place in the ringing Exercise. There were many non-ringing parishioners present, too, people who had known and honoured him as pastor and friend.

The Vicar, the Rev. G. H. Clark, officiated at the service, which was attended by a number of Lincolnshire clergy, including Canon G. W. Joudwine, Sub-Dean of Lincoln Cathedral, and president of the Lincoln Guild. The service took the form of shortened evensong. Psalm 23 was sung, and the hymns included, 'Let saints on earth in concert sing' and 'O Thou whose all-redeeming light.' The first lesson, from Ecclesiasticus xlv., commencing, 'Let us now praise famous men,' was read by the Rev. E. G. Gee (Vicar of Pinchbeck), and the second lesson, from 1 Thessalonians iv., by Canon B. G. Nicholas, R.D. (Vicar of Spalding).

After the collect the clergy proceeded to the foot of the tower, where Mr. Richardson, on behalf of the members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and friends throughout the British Isles and overseas, requested the Sub-Dean to dedicate the bells and the memorial tablet "to the glory of God and to the memory of our late Master and friend, Henry Law James."

THE LATE REV. HENRY LAW JAMES.

The Sub-Dean then unveiled the tablet and dedicated this and the bells in due form, afterwards offering other suitable prayers. While the procession returned to the chancel, twelve members of the Lincoln Guild rang the bells in rounds—the first occasion on which the whole twelve had been heard: F. W. Stokes (Blankney), 1, Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet) 2, J. Walden (Lincoln) 3, G. Ladd (Pinchbeck) 4, H. Morgan (Gainsborough) 5, C. McGuinness (Lincoln) 6, H. M. Day (Market Deeping) 7, F. S. W. Butler (Gainsborough) 8, J. Bray (Barton-on-Stather) 9, W. Wood (Great Hale) 10, J. Freeman (Lincoln) 11, R. Richardson (Surfleet) 12.

A FAITHFUL PARISH PRIEST.

The Sub-Dean, in his address, said that by the dedication of the two bells they had done what the late Vicar had had in his mind to do, and would have carried out had he lived. They were thus fulfilling his wishes and intention, and were making those two bells a memorial of his work there. They knew how proud Mr. James was of the church and of the tower, and how anxious he was to make everything in it as good and beautiful as possible. Yet perhaps one ought to think more of him as a faithful parish priest, a man who cared for the souls of the people committed to his charge, and those who knew him in that capacity would preserve a grateful memory of the spiritual work which he did in that place—and the lives of the people were the best and most satisfactory memorial to a parish priest. Mr. James was keen about his work, as he was keen about the bells. The new bells were a memorial to his care for bellringing. He was not only a bellringer at Surfleet, he was known all over the country, and his advice was constantly sought. Some of them knew him as a true and lovable friend, a man of true and deep convictions. May his soul rest in peace.

The Sub-Dean then went on to speak of beauty in worship and of the charm and beauty of bells when rung for the church services.

The service concluded with the hymn, 'Palms of glory, raiment bright,' and after the Benediction the congregation went into the churchyard where, over the grave of the departed priest and bellringer, and upon which earlier in the day a magnificent cross of flowers had been deposited by the Master of the Guild, a perfect course of Grandsire Triples was rung in slow time by Messrs. F. W. Perrens, E. H. Lewis, W. Ayre and Mrs. E. K. Fletcher. Immediately afterwards the first change ringing on the twelve bells took place, a course of Stedman Cinques, by a band representing twelve guilds and associations: E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council and Kent County Association) 1, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild) 2, R. Richardson (Lincoln Diocesan Guild) 3, C. T. Coles (Essex Association) 4, J. S. Goldsmith (Guildford Diocesan Guild) 5, J. Holman (Yorkshire Association) 6, F. W. Perrens (Warwickshire Guild) 7, F. W. Smallwood (Ely Diocesan Association) 8, F. Wilford (Peterborough Diocesan Guild) 9, G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Central Council, and Middlesex County Association) 10, W. Ayre (Hertford County Association) 11, J. Brothwell (North Notts Association) 12.

Afterwards the bells were open to visitors, and in the course of the afternoon and evening everyone had the opportunity of ringing on the augmented peal.

BIG TEA PARTY.

The whole of the visitors and local ringers, numbering altogether about 130, partook of tea in the large bulb shed on Mr. Rupert Richardson's farm, there being no other place in the village sufficiently spacious to accommodate the party. Mrs. Richardson and a staff of willing helpers had prepared the meal, and so sufficient had been their efforts that even the proverbially ample appetites of the ringers failed to exhaust the supplies. The tea was generously given by Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, and the whole of the charge made for it was given to the memorial fund. Mr. E. H. Lewis presided over the gathering, supported by the Vicar and Mr. Richardson, and among those present, in addition to those whose names have already been mentioned, were Messrs. F. W. Stokes (general secretary of the Lincoln Guild), F. S. W. Butler (Northern Branch secretary), C. T. H. Bradley (Southern Branch secretary), G. Ladd (Elloe Deaneries Branch secretary), J. Freeman (Ringing Master, Northern Branch), W. E. Clarke (Ringing Master, Eastern Branch), H. M. Day (Ringing Master, Southern Branch), J. Bray (Ringing Master, Grimsby District), Rev. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake (hon. secretary, Ely Diocesan Association), Rev. C. J. Sturton (Orston, Notts), J. Flint (Bolsover), A. Ward (Derby), etc. The Rev. E. Banks James was prevented from attending, as was also Mr. J. Phillips (Eastern Branch secretary), who was unable to be present through illness.

CAMBRIDGE DAYS.

The President of the Central Council said it was a wonderful thing to see such a gathering of ringers from all parts coming to do honour to the Vicar of that little village of Surfleet. Those who lived in Lincolnshire probably thought of Mr. James chiefly for his work in that parish and of his work for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, but some of those present who had not seen so much of his local activities had a very high opinion of him for the work he did nationally. Speaking as the representative of the ringers of the whole country, he could say that they held him in other parts of the country in very high esteem. He could think of no one who did more for the Exercise in producing musical compositions and in producing methods than Mr. James did. Mr. Lewis added that he first came to know Mr. James about thirty years ago, when some of them who were undergraduates at Cambridge were struggling to master the elements of change ringing. They did a lot of their practice on handbells, and when they got to a certain stage and wanted help in getting peals, they used to send an 'S.O.S.' to Mr. Law James, and he would come to Cambridge for two or three days. They then used to ring handbells from immediately after breakfast until after bedtime (laughter). Needless to say, they did not get many peals, for they got so stalo by the latter part of the evening that they could only ring for ten or fifteen minutes without breaking down (laughter). Later on he (the speaker) got to know Mr. James as a member of the Central Council, where he did a great work for the Exercise. He was always bringing up new ideas, and whenever he brought anything fresh before the Council they could always be sure of having an exciting time. If he took up a cause he would champion it violently, and very lively arguments would go on. There was one in particular which he remembered, when Mr. James wanted to have them believe that Stedman as we now rang it was not true Stedman, but that the method was the slow six and the quick six was the bob, so that 120 of Stedman Doubles was constructed of alternate plain sixes and bob sixes; in fact, that Stedman was what we know as Erin. There was a very fierce argument at Manchester about it, and it was only finally suppressed when the president, Sir Arthur Heywood, looked with a smile at Mr. Sam Woods, of Ashton-under-Lyne, and the latter proposed an amendment to the motion 'that Stedman be left as it was in Feythier's time' (laughter). That was ultimately carried, and the controversy did not get any further, but from a mathematical point of view there was a great deal in Mr. James' theory. After all, it did not matter much what they called it. What mattered was what they rang and how they rang it. He got to know Mr. James very well as a member of the Central Council, and he also spent some delightful weeks with him on the Cambridge Guild tours. There again he used to provide them with a great deal of interest and a great deal of amusement, especially if his talented brother, Mr. Bankes James, was with them. They were always producing new methods. They would produce one in a minute or two, and in another minute or two the Cambridge Guild members would be ringing it on handbells. He only saw Mr. James once in his own home, and that was last October twelve months, when he spent a week-end at the Vicarage after going with him to inspect the bells at Boston. They knew the result of that visit. Boston bells had been put into good order, and he was looking forward very much to seeing how the work had been carried out and what the bells sounded like. During the short time he spent with Mr. James in Surfleet he was tremendously impressed with the whole atmosphere of his work as a parish priest, and he was not sure that, while they outside looked upon him as one of the foremost method producers, composers and change ringers, the greatest work he did was his work in Surfleet as parish priest (applause).

The Vicar of Surfleet welcomed the visitors on that great occasion in the history of Surfleet. They had, he continued, heard something about Mr. James from Mr. Lewis. He (the Vicar) knew Mr. James for about 30 years, and the greatest work which he did at the beginning of that time was to turn a dilapidated barnlike church into the beautiful edifice it now was. As he (Mr. Clark) went about the parish he discovered that Mr. James was a wonderful parish priest. His name to-day was held in great veneration, and they were thankful to record the many good deeds which he did. Continuing, the Vicar said they could not have a day like that in Surfleet, or such a spread, without mentioning the name of Mr. Rupert Richardson (applause). No one knew the amount of work he had put in over this memorial, and he had done it with his whole heart and soul because he loved bellingring. They were grateful to him for his great services and his generosity—for the whole of the proceeds of the tea were to be given to the bell fund (applause). He also wanted to mention the name of Mr. John Richardson, who was Mr. James' churchwarden for 26 years, and who was very disappointed he could not be present that day, as he was confined to bed. On behalf of the parish of Surfleet he extended a hearty welcome to the visitors.

Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association) acknowledged the cordial welcome given to the visitors. They had heard a good deal about the late Mr. James that day, but he would like to add that Mr. James set an example of hospitality—such hospitality as ringers received in many parts of Lincolnshire, and upon which the spirit of Mr. Law James had descended. The visitors came there that day knowing they would be made welcome by one of Mr. James' pupils—Mr. Rupert Richardson—and they had been made welcome also by Mr. James' successor, the Rev. G. H. Clark. The visitors had a deep sense of gratitude for this welcome, and he would also like to thank the many kind ladies, who by an enormous amount of work had prepared the tea. Mrs. Richardson and her friends had been working early and late in preparation for that event. On behalf of all the visitors, he thanked Mr. and Mrs. Richardson for their great hospitality (applause).

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SCHEME.

Mr. Rupert Richardson, who was received with applause, first mentioned that he had received apologies from, among others, Mr. Denison Taylor, Mr. Harry Chapman, who that day was burying his wife, Canon H. T. Parry (Bigby) and Mr. F. F. Linley, president of the Northern Branch. Continuing, Mr. Richardson reviewed the development of the memorial scheme. It was, he said, a year ago on the preceding day since the Lincoln Guild lost its founder and one of its greatest friends. That day they were met there to pay homage to one of the most unselfish workers the ringing Exercise ever had. A few days after Mr. James' death Mr. Bankes James told him that his brother's greatest wish was to put two trebles to the existing ten bells. He (the speaker) tested the feeling of the Guild, and everyone seemed to approve of it. It was put before district meetings, and promises of support were so unanimous that when the committee met early in October they felt justified in going forward with the scheme. The committee came to the conclusion that, as the memorial would be in a sense a national one, they would receive substantial help from outside the Guild, and that trust had not been misplaced. He had received subscriptions from England, Ireland, Wales and Scotland, and two from South Africa (applause), while the letters which he had received showed the esteem in which ringers held Mr. James. There were one or two who did not approve of such a daring scheme, and one of them was the first subscriber. But Mr. James was a daring man; he was always doing pioneer work, and they could have had no more fitting memorial to him. The result of the committee meeting was that the order for the bells was placed next day with Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and he would like to thank everyone who had helped in any way to make the scheme a success, especially the Editor of 'The Ringing World' for the great assistance he had given him, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. for the courteous and efficient way they had carried out the work. He also thanked all those who had sent subscriptions, and Mr. Lewis for coming from London to take the chair.

The total cost of the scheme would be about £170. That was a little more than was first estimated owing to the cost of the tablet, but the committee felt it was necessary that they should have a tablet to complete the scheme, and have something at the bottom of the tower recording what had been done. Up to the present they had passed the £100 mark (applause), but he wanted them to remember they had still a long way to go. When the committee discussed the matter they decided to make a general appeal to the ringers of the Guild; if that did not produce enough then to ask each branch to make a grant from the funds; and if they were still short to ask every meeting through the diocese to make a collection until the balance was paid off. The £120 which had to be provided by the Guild represented 4s. 6d. a rope. He did not think that was too much to ask for a memorial to a man who had worked like Mr. James for the benefit of the members. He appealed to every member of the Guild to help to raise the rest of the money and raise it quickly. He hoped they would not make the excuse of hard times. He knew times were hard, but Mr. James never thought about how hard times were if he was asked to do anything for the benefit of the Guild. He was at everyone's beck and call, and he would go from one end of the county to the other if he thought he could do any one of them any good (applause). The Elloe Deaneries Branch had raised much more than their quota, but some of the branches, he was sorry to say, were a long way off half of theirs. They did not expect 4s. 6d. a rope from every tower, because there were some with only one or two ringers, but he did not think it too much to ask for an average of 4s. 6d. throughout the Guild. No more unselfish man than Mr. James ever walked this earth, and he hoped the members of the Guild would put their backs into completing the fund, and that at the annual meeting in April he would be able to say they were out of debt (applause).

Afterwards the ringers returned to the belfry, and utilised the bells to the utmost, many ringing on twelve bells for the first time.

On Sunday morning the bells were rung for service to a good touch of Stedman Cinques.

MR. RUPERT RICHARDSON.

HUGHENDEN, BUCKS.—On Sunday, January 15th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: T. Auger (first quarter) 1, P. Newton (conductor) 2, R. Blaby 3, H. Stratford 4, A. G. Jones 5, F. G. Biggs 6, R. Biggs 7, Jos. Evans 8.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO MR. P. J. JOHNSON.

At the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association, on Saturday week, Mr. Percy J. Johnson, of Leeds, who has recently retired from the hon. secretaryship, was presented with a clock in recognition of his 16 years' devoted service. The meeting was held at Burley, by the kind invitation of the Vicar (Rev. H. W. Moore), churchwardens and local company, and the rings of eight at Burley and St. Michael's, Headingley, were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening.

A service was held in Burley Church at 4 p.m., the singing being led by the choir boys and accompanied by the organ. The Rev. H. W. Moore based his sermon on the words, 'Glory be to God,' from the latter portion of the communion service, and delivered an impressive sermon full of interest.

Tea was served in the schools, about a hundred members and friends sitting down to a tea which lacked nothing in quantity or quality.

The meeting was held immediately afterwards, the president (Canon C. C. Marshall) being in the chair, supported by the Vicar of Burley and the principal officers of the association.

The Chairman moved a very cordial vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to the organist and choir-boys for their services, and for the enthusiastic welcome accorded to the association at this, the first, general meeting to be held there.—In acknowledgment the Rev. H. W. Moore assured the members of the pleasure it had given him to welcome them, and hoped they had enjoyed ringing on what they in Burley regarded as the nicest light ring of eight in the district.

On the proposition of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. F. Clark, a very hearty vote of thanks was also accorded to the local company for the excellent arrangements they had so unsparingly made, and to the ladies for waiting at the tea tables. Mr. J. W. Slack left no doubt in the minds of those present that the local company had been pleased to do what they had done towards making the meeting a success.

An invitation having been received from the authorities and local company to hold the next meeting at Leeds Parish Church, it was unanimously accepted. This meeting will be held on Saturday, May 6th.

THREE PRESIDENTS IN 58 YEARS.

In moving the re-election of the president for another term of three years, Mr. P. J. Johnson coupled with the proposition the warmest congratulations of the association on his appointment as Hon. Canon of Ripon Cathedral. The association, continued Mr. Johnson, had been singularly fortunate in its choice of presidents, as since its inception in 1875 Canon Marshall was only the third to occupy that important office. Jasper W. Snowdon was president from 1875 to 1885, William Snowdon from 1885 to 1910, and Canon Marshall from 1910 to the present time. This was a record that must be unique in the annals of ringing associations, especially as each had proved himself so worthy a holder of the office. The proposition was seconded by Mr. Cotterell, another 'youngster' in association work, and carried with applause.

In thanking them for his re-election and for their congratulations, the President took the opportunity of thanking the general committee and members for their wholehearted assistance in helping him to carry out his duties, and said it was partly through his position as their president that he had been appointed a Canon of Ripon.

The balance sheet, audited earlier in the day by Messrs. R. Thomas and W. Slack, was passed as being very satisfactory, as, based on general expenditure, it showed a balance in hand of about £17 on the year's working.

MR. P. J. JOHNSON.

The 57th annual report of the association showed that 85 new ringing members, one patron and one hon. life member had been elected, whilst 14 members had been lost by death, and 54 had lapsed. The total membership of the association now stands at 1,251. The peals rung during the year numbered 139, which constitutes a record for post-war years. These come under 34 headings, and include eight different Surprise Major methods. The report was accepted, and Mr. W. Barton heartily thanked for all the work he so ably did for the association in his capacity as peal secretary.

Mr. Bernard Webb, of Pickering, was elected to the vice-presidency of the Northern Division in place of Mr. J. H. Blakiston, who felt obliged to resign for personal reasons. As Mr. Webb is also a vice-president of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, the hope is expressed that it will be a step towards bringing the two associations to a better and closer understanding of each other.

Messrs. Malcolm Robson (Guiseley), Frank Scholesfield (Burley), Alec Dransfield, and Norman Ling (Earlsheaton), Willis Haigh (Bolsterstone) and Roy Varley (Brainley) were elected members of the association.

RECOGNITION OF VALUABLE SERVICE

The last item on the agenda was the exceedingly pleasant one of making a presentation to Mr. P. J. Johnson, the former hon. general secretary. Canon Marshall, in making the presentation, said the association was losing a very valuable secretary who, for 16 years, had proved an extremely efficient and careful worker in looking after the affairs of the association. They all felt they could not let this resignation pass without some recognition, and he was pleased to say a very considerable response had been made to the circulars which had been issued to the towers. The gift, which consisted of a clock, was Mr. Johnson's own choice, which he had made in company with Mr. Barton. Continuing, Canon Marshall said he could assure Mr. Johnson that behind the gift was a fund of feeling and thankfulness which he could scarcely find words adequately to express. They were under a tremendous debt to him. He had helped them to weather some of the worst storms in the history of the association, and he was one to whose ability and character they could always look up, and whose kindness had never been found wanting. Personally he was very, very grateful to him for all the help he had given to him, and, speaking as their president, he was sure the members felt the same. They offered this gift to Mr. Johnson with their very grateful thanks, and with the earnest hope that he would be long spared to continue his interest in the association (applause).

Mr. Cotterell, hon. treasurer, added his testimony, and expressed his regret that Mr. Johnson had felt compelled to resign.

Mr. J. Lawson, one of the oldest members of the association, speaking in support, said he had never met anybody with greater enthusiasm, or one more ready to help and to do his very best for the association and change ringing as a whole. He wished Mr. and Mrs. Johnson long life and prosperity (applause).

Mr. Johnson, who was received with applause, said that in these difficult times it was hardly the time for giving and receiving presents, and he was sure that in making him this presentation it was out of some warm feeling of regard for him. He could assure them, on behalf of his wife and himself, that they were very grateful indeed to the members for their kindness, and the clock would always serve to remind him of some of the pleasant times he had had with them. He regretted that he had found it necessary to resign, but the work was getting more instead of less, and he had not the time to continue in the capacity of secretary. Nevertheless, his interest in the well-being of the association would not diminish, and he thanked them very sincerely.

The clock was inscribed: 'Presented to Percy J. Johnson by the members of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers with grateful thanks for his work as general secretary, 1917-32.'

This brought to a close a very pleasant and memorable meeting.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Martock on Jan. 21st. The bells were rung to various methods during the afternoon and service, held in the Parish Church, was conducted by the President, the Rev. G. Saunders (Vicar of Martock).

The annual meeting followed tea in the Church House, the President being supported by the Rev. C. C. Cox (Vicar of Lyme Regis), Mr. D. G. Taylor (secretary of the Crewkerne Deanery Branch) and over 30 ringers from Ilminster, Yeovil, Montacute, Martock, Langport, Curry Rivel, Evercreech, Somerton, etc.

The following officers were re-elected:—Rev. G. W. Saunders, president; Mr. F. Farrant, secretary; and Mr. J. E. Baker, Ringing Master. The secretary was chosen to represent the branch on the General Committee.

Three new members were elected, and the meetings for the year were arranged to take place at Hardington in April, Somerton in July, and West Coker in October; on the fourth Saturday in each case.

It was decided that the annual meeting be held alternately at Yeovil and Martock on the first Saturday in December, and that in the future four quarterly meetings be held.

After the meeting the bells were kept going until after 8 p.m.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO LATE HON. TREASURER.

There was a large attendance of members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at the annual meeting of the Guildford District on Jan. 28th. There was ringing during the afternoon at S. Nicolas' Church, where service was afterwards held.

Tea was served in S. Nicolas' Hall, about 70 being present. The Provost (Very Rev. E. C. Kirwan) presided, and among those who attended were the Rev. D. Raiton (Shalford), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. C. F. Johnston and Mrs. A. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. H. Miles (Oxford), Mr. S. R. Roper (Croydon), etc. The Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse) was unavoidably absent owing to being a victim of the prevailing epidemic.

The following district officers were re-elected for the year: Ringing Master, Mr. W. R. Melville; hon. secretary, Mr. G. L. Grover; hon. auditor, Mr. A. C. Hazelden; hon. members representative on executive committee, Mr. S. Marshall (Puttenham). A ballot for two ringing representatives on the executive committee resulted in the re-election of Messrs. S. Petter (Worcestershire) and R. Whittington (Gloucestershire).

The officers were thanked for their services in the past year.

A very satisfactory balance sheet was presented and adopted. The receipts amounted to £20 16s., and the expenditure to £15 9s. 8d., including £10 3s. remitted to the Guild treasurer. The balance in hand was increased from £17 6s. 2d. to £22 12s. 6d.

The Ringing Master (Mr. W. R. Melville) in his report said 19 peals had been rung in the district during last year (compared with 23 in the previous year), being one each of Guildford, London and Bristol Surprise Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Grandsire Doubles, three peals of Grandsire Triples and eight of Stedman Triples. There had been six conductors, viz., Messrs. A. H. Pulling 14, and L. Hunter, A. Harman, C. Kippin, A. J. Bartlett and S. Radford one each. He added that he would like to see more local companies attempt peals, as not only did peal ringing make ringers better strikers, but more positive in their ringing. There had been twelve combined practices during the year, all of them fairly successful. These practices not only enabled ringers to get touches in methods they could not get in any other way, but also kept alive the Guild spirit.

It would be idle to say that this district has done more during the last year than just drift along. The district meetings were held according to schedule, but at none of them was the attendance really startling—in fact, the average attendance at these meetings from members actually resident in the district was only 19—not a very large percentage of the total roll of 166 ringing members. In addition to the district meetings there was a gathering at Clendon at the dedication of the two new trebles. During the year the district and the Guild suffered a very severe blow, the loss by death of their esteemed treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O. He was resident within the Guildford District, and they all knew his value to the district and to the Guild. Since his death he had been very much missed, and none of their meetings had seemed quite the same without him. As they all knew, the people at Old Woking were endeavouring to raise a fund to set up a memorial to the Admiral. It had not yet been decided exactly what form this would take, but one of the proposals was that the bells at the Parish Church should be retuned. This suggestion came in the first place from the general secretary, who felt that the members of the Guild would like to be associated with any memorial erected to the Admiral. The executive committee of the Guild discussed the matter and came to the conclusion that the Guild might reasonably hope to be able out of its funds and subscriptions from members to recast the sixth bell, if the parish obtains enough money to retune the other five of the back six. If this scheme is carried out it should not be too much to hope that every member will give something, and that that something will be the maximum amount he can afford. In addition to individual subscriptions and a contribution from the general fund of the Guild, the district committee recommended that the district should contribute £5.

One hundred and sixty-six ringing members paid for 1932—an increase of 15 over 1931. The increase was largely due to members from the new band at Grayshott. Bramley had dropped right out again. Eight hon. members who paid in 1931 did not renew their subscriptions last year. Members should try to keep in touch with their local hon. members and endeavour to keep them interested in the Guild. Places for district meetings were chosen by the committee, and they recommended Puttenham, Old Woking, Ewhurst, Grayshott and Albury or Witley. The District Ringing Master had interviewed the Rector at Albury, who apparently did not want the Guild there; his ringers did not want them and the inhabitants were not keen, so Albury must be struck out.

The Secretary then proposed the following resolutions, which were carried:—

'That, subject to the consent of the annual general meeting of the Guild, this district contribute if and when required a sum not exceeding £5 towards Admiral Walker's memorial fund.'

DEATH OF LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION'S TREASURER.

TRAGIC END OF ACTIVE LIFE.

Deep regret is felt in Lancashire, and will be shared by ringers in many parts of the country, at the tragic death of Mr. William Horan, the hon. treasurer of the Lancashire Association. Mr. Horan, whose home was at Todmorden, had been missing for some days, and towards the end of last week his body was recovered from a lake.

Although comparatively a young man, Mr. Horan had accomplished more ringing in ten years than many men do in a lifetime. He had rung over 120 peals for the Lancashire Association alone. He had taken part in several ringing tours, and was among those who last year had a week in Yorkshire. Among his last peals were two of Cambridge Surprise Royal on Boxing Day at Stockport.

Before becoming treasurer of the Lancashire Association, he was secretary of the Rochdale Branch.

Mr. Horan was an accountant by profession, and led an extremely active life, being connected with many organisations. He will be much missed in Lancashire ringing circles, and sincere sympathy will go out to the bereaved relatives. Mr. Horan was unmarried.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION HANDBELL CONTEST.

Many competitors are expected to send in their names for this interesting contest, which is being organised by the London County Association. It is a challenge to all ringers who are members of the above association. Those who do not think they may have a chance against old or more experienced ringers should get to work at once and practise as much as possible. Any four L.C.A. 'ites' belonging to any one tower may compete by ringing a course of any method, but commencing and finishing with six whole pulls of rounds. The solid silver challenge cup, kindly given by Mr. F. E. Dave, is well worth a special effort to win. It will be held for twelve months. The contest will take place at the annual meeting of the association on February 11th.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

W. E. WHITE,

Ivy Cottage, Cotgrave, Nottingham.

All the Guild officers and the Central Council representatives were renominated, and the Provost was also nominated as a vice-president.

Two new members were elected, and the customary votes of thanks terminated the business.

Afterwards a most interesting lecture on 'Bell Towers' was given by Mr. E. H. Lewis, who dealt with some of the problems of bell hanging in weak towers and the best way of overcoming the stresses upon them; also of the effect of moving towers upon the efforts of the ringers. Mr. Lewis illustrated his lecture with blackboard drawings, and his talk proved a most instructive one.

At the close he was heartily thanked for his lecture, which we publish in greater detail elsewhere in this issue.

VILLAGE BELLS

(with Foreword by the Rev. Canon Coleridge).

A simple explanation of change-ringing with

Rules and Diagrams

for

Four Methods of Doubles

Six Methods of Minor.

This booklet is meant to help belfries which can get no efficient instructor, or which are content to ring 120 Grandsire Doubles and have no further ambition. It may also meet the case where there is one keen ringer who wants to get the other members interested. Advanced ringers are asked to buy a copy of 'Village Bells,' and put it in their pocket when they go to the village where they are (or should be) giving instruction.

A STRANGE DOCTRINE.

We imagine that most of our readers will get something of a shock when they peruse the letter of the Rev. Herbert Drake and read things like this: 'Ringers as a rule imagine that the general public prefers good striking to bad, and that by good striking one is likely to appease those who are opposed to ringing altogether. The opposite is nearer the fact.' Or again: 'A spell of bad striking every now and then is really a relief to the ordinary listener to a peal.' In these views Mr. Drake is preaching an entirely new doctrine to the majority of ringers—a doctrine which we believe very few members of the Exercise, with any respect for their art, will endorse, although it may meet with approval from some who would make it an excuse for indifferent ringing. Mr. Drake's experience may be different to our own, but we have never yet found any section of the public anywhere who welcomed a spell of bad striking as a relief to good ringing. The soul of our English form of change ringing from the listener's point of view is the rhythm of the bells, and we cannot imagine that for choice the lay listener would desire to hear the bells jangled at intervals in a peal, any more than lovers of music would like the introduction of splashes of jazz into such a masterpiece as the 'Messiah.' In another place in his letter Mr. Drake says, in effect, that bad methods of teaching should not be tolerated merely because they are easy or convenient. For the same reason bad striking should not be tolerated. We think Mr. Drake must have drawn a wrong conclusion from his own experiences, and that what the public really welcome is a spell of good striking as a relief to bad ringing.

With many of the things which Mr. Drake mentions in his letter we are in full agreement, but there is one other matter in which, at any rate, we would urge careful consideration before action is taken. The annoyance which the continued chiming of a single bell frequently causes to the public is unquestioned, but the regular bombardment of the Church Assembly with resolutions from the Central Council with a view to limiting the period of ringing a single bell might well prove a two-edged weapon. If the ringing of a single bell were to be limited to not more than two minutes consecutively, there are many people who would at once contend that, if that period is sufficient for one bell, it is enough for any number of bells. There are, we know, arguments against such a contention, but to forbid by Church law the single bell to be chimed for more than two minutes on end, would be to introduce the thin end of a wedge which might, conceivably, eventually be driven much further than we as ringers care to contemplate. We

WOLVERHAMPTON RINGERS' FAREWELL TRIBUTE.

We regret to record the death of Edward F. Mitchell, of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, which occurred on January 27th. Deceased was 70 years of age. His remains were laid to rest in St. Philip's Churchyard, Penn Fields, on January 30th, with those of his late wife, who predeceased him by nearly four years.

The first part of the service was taken at St. Peter's Church, conducted by the Rev. R. L. Hodson, M.A., Rector and Rural Dean, assisted by the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th., Vicar of Swindon (Dudley). The following friends acted as bearers: J. Perry (Brewood), R. Pickering (Tettenhall), H. Knight and W. H. Lawley (St. Peter's), T. Collinswood and I. Marsh (the last three being workmates). At the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by R. Pickering 1-2, H. Knight 3-4, J. Perry 5-6, and H. Boswell 7-8. The number of changes coincided with the age of the deceased.

Among those present at the funeral were the churchwardens (Messrs. C. H. Clapham and S. H. Tunks), Messrs. J. Williams, H. T. Piper, G. Langley, N. H. Smith and T. Roden (St. Peter's company), A. D. Collins (St. Luke's) and A. Smith.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, including one each from St. Peter's and St. Luke's companies, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pickering and Mr. and Mrs. J. Perry.

'Ted,' as he was familiarly known, learned to ring on the then five bells at Somerton, near Banbury. At the age of 18 he migrated to Wolverhampton and began work at Messrs. Mander Bros., where he remained for 47 years. He did not, however, do any ringing until Wolverhampton possessed a ring of twelve bells, when in 1912 he began his change ringing at St. Peter's, and remained a member for 20 years. During most of that period he acted as hon. secretary and treasurer to the company. The following is a list of peals in which he took part: Grandsire Doubles (1 on handbells) 2, Triples 37, Caters 9, Cinques 5, Stedman Doubles 1, Triples (1 unconduted) 39, Caters (1 on handbells) 11, Cinques 11, Bob Minor 1, Major 7, Royal 1, Maximus 1, Erin Triples 1; total 126.

The deceased leaves a son and two daughters to mourn their loss.

On Monday evening, January 30th, a course of Grandsire Cinques was rung at St. Peter's, half-muffled, and the whole pull and stand rung for 70 times, finishing up with the bells 'dying off' one by one.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.TRURO BRANCH MEETING AT PERRANZABULOE.

A meeting of the above was held at Perranzabuloe on Saturday, February 4th. Those present included Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Diocesan Ringing Master), the Rev. W. H. R. Trewheila (diocesan secretary) and about twenty members from Truro Cathedral, Illogan, Kenwyn, St. Newlyn East and the local band. The attendance was smaller than is usual, no doubt on account of Perranzabuloe being at the extreme north of the district and because of the prevalence of influenza.

Ringing commenced at 2.45 p.m., but ball bearings showed that the ropes needed careful handling, and the second stay was broken. Fortunately there were new stays 'in stock,' and Col. Jerram proved a worthy 'bellhanger,' and with the Rev. Trewheila (who was kept descending and ascending the tower for tools from his car) as an assistant, matters were soon put right.

The service was conducted and an address given by the Rev. Father Lyon (priest-in-charge).

Ten followed in the Schooboom, and a hearty vote of thanks was proposed to all the helpers by Mr. A. S. Roberts, who, in a brief speech, urged the ringers to claim their weekly practice night, as this alone would improve their handling and striking of the bells. 'We do not,' he said, 'wish to be as the idols, of which the Psalmist said, "Hands have they, yet they handle not; ears have they, yet they hear not."'—The vote of thanks was seconded by the Rev. Trewheila, who remarked that only a few years ago he was called upon to inspect the three old bells and frame. Two local ringers suddenly appeared during his inspection, and they rang the bells up and down in peal and also rang changes. He sincerely hoped that the metal from those old bells which came from the old church which was found buried in the sand was in the new peal.—Mr. W. Jervis Hodge, local captain and donor of the present tenor, replied.

Mr. T. Slee, branch chairman, presided over the business meeting. It was decided to arrange a meeting in the summer at Lanivet to encourage outlying towers. Gwennap was chosen for the September meeting.

Ringing of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, together with call changes, rising and falling, was indulged in during the evening. Good striking was a special feature of the meeting. The call-change ringers could find no fault with the method striking. Many 'half-pull' ringers enjoyed the opportunity of call-changes and rising and falling.

Such a meeting certainly awakens a real live interest in ringing, especially for those who live many miles from any neighbouring tower.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT WEST HARTLEPOOL.

A meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at West Hartlepool on Saturday.

Ringers began to gather about 3 p.m., and St. Oswald's bells were soon going to Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters, Kent Royal and Double Norwich.

A splendid tea at St. Oswald's Mission Hall was another delightful 'change,' and full justice was done to the good things provided.

After tea a short meeting was held, Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, being in the chair. After the loyal toast had been honoured, the chairman moved a vote of condolence with Mr. W. Storey, of Newcastle (who was present at the meeting) on the death of his wife.

Mr. Parker welcomed the Rev. T. H. Lilburn (Vicar of St. Oswald's) and the Rev. Maughan (curate of St. Aidan's), and hoped the incumbents of St. Aidan's would impress the ringers with the advantages to be gained by being members of the association. It would be an enormous help to them in furthering the art in their belfry and when they attended the meetings.

Mr. T. Metcalfe proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy of St. Oswald's and St. Aidan's for granting the use of the bells, and also gave some happy reminiscences of his previous visits to West Hartlepool before the war, and said it was always a pleasure to come.

The Rev. Lilburn replied, and said that it was almost unnecessary to thank them, as he was quite sure the Vicar of St. Aidan's, as well as himself, were very glad indeed to have the ringers there, and he appreciated most heartily the great work the ringers were doing.—Mr. Maughan also replied, and said it was the first meeting of ringers he had been to, and it was a great pleasure to see what a happy party they were. What he knew about bellringing 'would go on a halfpenny stamp,' but he knew it was a most fascinating art and useful and valuable work for the Church.

Mr. J. Titt moved a vote of thanks to the ladies for providing tea, and in a humorous vein said that even if he hadn't had a ring the tea was worth visiting West Hartlepool for.—Mrs. Robson suitably replied for the ladies.

Mr. J. A. Briggs, St. John's College, Durham, was proposed a member and Mr. G. P. Kimball a life member of the association.

It was proposed that a joint meeting with the Western District be held at Chester-le-Street on Saturday, April 29th.

Ringing was further indulged in until 8.30 p.m. Members were present from Saltburn, Middlesbrough, Sunderland, Newcastle, Chester-le-Street, Durham and the local tower.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Surfleet has become famous among ringers for many things—possession of the lightest ringing peal of twelve bells in the world is another claim which it can now make to celebrity.

The 'house party' at Glen Garth, when the opening took place, was another instance of the open-hearted hospitality of the present Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and his wife. Glen Garth has been described as a 'home of rest' for ringers, but during this particular week-end it belied its name, and for the host most of all, for while he and his guests spent long and hectic days, the claims of his dairy herd kept him busy all night.

A visit to Boston 'Stump,' a climb up the 185 steps to the eerie belfry and a ring on this glorious new peal of ten bells on Sunday afternoon was not the least among the series of interesting and enjoyable events of the week-end. Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s 'job,' in this famous tower, whose lantern rises to nearly 300ft. and stands watch over sea and fen, is a revelation in modern bell hanging.

By the way, we understand that several members of the Central Council have recently been qualifying as entering assistants. They gained a lot of experience at Surfleet in making sandwiches, although they sometimes missed a dodge and failed to put the meat between the bread and butter, while at others they got a whole pull out by putting in a double layer. Anyone organising a ringers' tea in future can apply for their services—if they are prepared to take the risks.

Forty years ago to-morrow the first Surprise peal in Birmingham, a 5,056 of Superlative at St. Chad's R.C. Cathedral by the Kidderminster band of the Worcestershire Association, conducted by Mr. R. E. Grove, was rung.

The attention of the Leeds and District Society members is drawn to the place of the next meeting, which is to be held at Birstall and not at Liversedge as printed in the lists circulated to towers.

Eight 'Olivers' are wanted for a peal. Can they be found? They should communicate with Mr. Oliver G. Barnard, Station Road, Puckeridge, Ware, Herts.

The meeting of the Southern Division of the Sussex County Association, which was to have been held at Ringmer on Saturday, Feb. 4th, had to be postponed at the last moment owing to illness near the church. The hon. divisional secretary (Mr. J. M. Cripps) wishes to express regret for any disappointment caused.

Here is an S.O.S.: LOST, between Mere and Zeals, Wilts, since December 27th last, a 'matchless' and very popular ringer answering to name of 'Cypri.' It is feared that his love for a bell has been transferred to a belle, and that Hareourt has proved more intriguing to him than Single Court. Information is urgently required by his many ringing friends throughout Somerset, Wilts and Dorset.

We regret that we are compelled to hold over a number of reports and letters to the Editor. The second portion of Mr. Lewis' lecture on Bell Towers will appear next week.

IS IT WORTH IT?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to trespass on your valuable space, but my answer to the above query in your recent leader is: in a large percentage of cases NO! Our beautiful hobby has too many jugglers of course-ends and part-ends, who are content with any din that is kept up for about three hours and then reported as a peal (see page 137, 'R.W.' for 1932).

This class are called the minority. Are they? Quite recently a conductor before commencing a peal ordered that no one was to set their bells until the conductor said 'Stand,' as they had lost a peal through this the previous week. I was accused of being premature in giving the word 'Stand' after what I considered was a glorious flounder on more than one occasion.

My candid opinion is that we are burdened with a great number who have been 'cluttered' through peals in the higher methods by the above so-called experts, who are absolutely incapable of ringing a peal of Bob Major, as they could not strike their bell in a plain method which would produce that rhythm which makes peal ringing so enjoyable. These peal-grabbers (yes, a peal at any price) are surely the cause of closing many towers for peal ringing, and creating just discontent amongst residents near many other towers, apart from causing the daily Press to publish articles which are not altogether in our favour.

In addition to your man having the courage to set up his bell when the ringing is so bad, I should like to see him have additional courage and send to 'The Ringing World' the name of the conductor who dared to wish the ringing to continue under such circumstances. This, I think is the only way to stamp out this scourge, and give the public what they are entitled to. We can afford to lose this type, as they are seldom found ringing for Sunday services, so it would be better for the Exercise even if there were only 1,000 peals rung, for your space could be much better utilised than by its being filled with reports of peals that are not worth the paper that they are printed on. Should anyone wish personally to abuse me re the above, and so save a little more space in 'The Ringing World,' my address is below.

STRIKING.

BY THE REV. HERBERT DRAKE.

Every ringer will agree with your article on striking. There exists, however, one fallacy which we should bear in mind. Ringers as a rule imagine that the general public prefers good striking to bad, and that by good striking one is likely to appease those who are opposed to ringing altogether. The opposite is nearer the fact. The ordinary man expects to hear what he, if he is poetical, terms wild jangling from the bells. And abroad the only ringing they know is actual jangling: the more noise and clashing there is, the better pleased everyone is. I have never heard that there was any objection to this on the Continent.

What is true is that there are quite a number of people who do not know much about ringing, but who do appreciate good striking when they hear it. Yet after all they are a very small minority of listeners, and most certainly none of them would ever try to stop bells being rung.

The greatest cause of offence to most people is the ringing of a single bell for five minutes or more at a time. This is really objectionable, and all change ringers hate it. What we ought to do is get the Central Council to send every year, until it is passed, a request to the Church Assembly to agree to a measure forbidding any single bell to be chimed for more than two minutes consecutively.

The next cause of offence is when a bell is out of tune or cracked. This also gets on people's nerves, and should be forbidden.

A third cause is when bells are badly hung. A bell is an instrument of sound, and the first thing to be striven for in hanging them is to get the sound right. Ringers are at fault here, for the only thing they require is that the bells should 'go' well. Of course, if they do not go well, they must be hung badly, but the go of the bell should in every case take second place to the sound. Not only should the sound be sent upwards instead of downwards, but it should be properly blended before it leaves the tower. Nothing gets on people's nerves so much as one bell being nearer the window and so sounding louder in every row than the rest.

A fourth cause is the ringing of call changes. And here again the better the striking, and the more clear cut the movement from one change to another, the greater the annoyance. I can speak feelingly on this point. I well remember what I have experienced when lying ill and listening to the bells here. Rounds, whether well or badly struck, had a soothing effect, and half-pull changes were interesting; but when it was call changes, one could only think, 'When will they stop?' The repetition of even the most musical yows very soon becomes wearisome, but in call-changes it seems as if the most unmusical changes are chosen, and in the most unmusical order. Rules could be drawn up forbidding all these causes of offence.

The last cause, however, we do not want any rules about. It is that of length. Ringers are alive to this trouble, if not to the others, and when ringing peals try to avoid being troublesome as far as possible. It has, however, probably never occurred to them that a spell of bad striking every now and then is really a relief to the ordinary listener to a peal. Of course, I do not mean that one should cultivate this as a new method of peal ringing, but it is worth while remembering it, as showing how differently ringing appeals to different people.

II.

As regards learning how to strike well, one may imagine that among the indifferent strikers will always be found those of us who had to learn on Seage's apparatus. I remember Mr. Law James telling me that this would be the case (when he was teaching me at St. Mary the Great, Cambridge) if I could not get sufficient practice with the bells open. The best strikers will probably be those who learnt on five heavy bells. If more ringers learnt on four bells, they would be the best strikers of all. The reason is that the fewer the bells the more slowly can they be rung, and the better can the learner appreciate the place he is putting his bell into.

The greater the distance between the strokes the better can the learner hear what is being done, and at the same time the harder it is to do it, and, therefore, the better the practice. Many ringers on higher numbers find it difficult to strike well on five, more so on four, and most of all on three. I do not advocate much ringing of the sixes on three bells, as they cannot be made very pleasant, especially if, as is usually the case, the three lowest bells are rung; but every ringer should be proficient in it.

The ringing of four bells is, however, a different matter. Their music is the most readily appreciated by the ordinary listener. I doubt whether there is anyone who could not follow the rhythm of the four and twenty changes when well struck if he tried to do so. They are a pleasing variety from the changes on the higher numbers and a splendid foil for setting them off, and should be rung once at least at every practice, out of consideration for the ordinary listener. Moreover, they are good practice, not only in striking, but in understanding the basis of method construction. If every ringer were often ringing these changes it would not mean time wasted. The striking would be so improved that fewer rounds would be required before each touch. Perhaps also we should not hear members of the Central Council say that matters of method construction were beyond them.

It is very unenterprising only to ring those bells which lie next to one another in the tower when other combinations are available. For three bells, 468, 146, 357, on eight; 246 or 135 on six; and 135 on five, make admirable music and excellent practice. While for four, 1468 or 1357 are delightful.

Just as ordinary listeners appreciate the lower numbers best, so do they least understand the highest. In fact, it is probably quite possible for even a change ringer to be a good striker on other numbers, and yet not to be able to tell good striking in Maximus when he hears it; while the ordinary listener would in many cases not know whether changes were being rung or the bells merely jangled when the twelve are ringing.

This does not mean that such changes ought not to be rung, but it does indicate that we might ring more than we do on three, four and five bells.

III.

In teaching striking, it should be remembered that call changes do more harm than anything else. It is quite true that a certain kind of striking is required to ring call changes well, but it is not the same kind of striking as is required in the half-pull changes. It is also true that to one who finds little difficulty in striking well it will probably be equally easy to acquire either. But this is certainly not the case with those who find a difficulty in learning striking, and it is these latter whom we have to consider.

For what is it we have to teach? As the Devonshire ringer in your issue of January 27th so well puts it, it is to listen, listen, listen all the time. Before he rings himself, the learner should be taught to listen for the treble. When he rings rounds he will still listen first for the treble, then for his own bell. Next, when others are ringing he can be taught to listen to the treble hunting up and down so as to tell when she is leading. All this before he attempts to ring changes himself, either on hand or tower bells.

If now this progress is to be interspersed with call changes, what chance of learning to listen do you give the beginner? Before he has rung rounds long enough to be able to identify the treble and his own bell with confidence, he is hurried off to a kind of ringing in which neither has any rational or recognisable course. All his landmarks are gone, and he is being taught to shuffle his bell along, instead of placing it with precision just where he wants, or ought to want, to.

Just as ropesight can best be learned by watching, when you are not ringing or doing anything to distract your attention, so striking can only be learned by listening when you are not ringing or doing anything to distract the attention from the one thing in hand. Now I defy anyone to learn or teach anything that is good, in ropesight or in striking, either by watching call changes or by listening to them. If you want to ruin your beginners in ropesight or striking, you will let them practice call changes. If you want to give them a fair chance, you will keep them away from it.

IV.

This is all very well, no doubt someone is saying, but often one has a whole band to instruct at once; in such a case one must use call changes. I admit that it is then easy to teach call changes, but neither here nor anywhere else may one do what is wrong simply because it is easy. The right thing to do when teaching a band is to let them get a hunting course by heart. Which hunting course depends on circumstances. But the best way with a band of eight beginners is to put half of them to ring the hunting course ('The Eight') on four bells, while the rest learn to watch and listen. They should not leave 'The Eight' until they begin to understand what good striking means. Probably by then the hunting course on Doubles and Triples will make the practice perfect.

They should not be allowed to ring a method until they can at least strike well, even if not yet perfectly. You can never teach a beginner properly if he is trying to do two things at once. Concentration is the only path to learning.

When the beginner can strike well in plain hunting, let him start learning how to ring a method on tower bells, having first grasped the idea on handbells. But he must always begin on four bells. On these he can both see and hear what happens when he dodges or makes a place far more readily than on five or more bells. Let him thoroughly get into his mind the 'Four and Twenty,' and understand why and wherefore he does it all, and he will have cause to bless his teacher all the rest of his ringing life. Remember that each ringer learns differently. It is folly to refuse to teach a ringer who cannot hear when the treble leads, considering that many good ringers cannot do this. Even on four bells it is not only the best possible music, but it is excellent practice in striking.

If, however, it is not a band of beginners, but one of regular ringers who want to learn how to strike better, let them keep on ringing a hunting course (say the last lead of the Grandsire plain course), and nothing else, till they are perfect. They will find it worth doing.

HERBERT DRAKE.

FIFTY YEARS ON.

On Sunday, February 12th, at the Church of St. Mary, Hornsey, for evensong, 720 Bob Minor: G. W. Blee 1, E. G. Hibble 2, G. B. Lucas 3, H. Blee 4, M. Fensom 5, J. G. Nash (conductor) 6. Arranged with very great pleasure for Mr. G. B. Lucas, who on February 11th, 1883, rang in a 720 of Bob Minor at this church—his first 720 in any method. Included in the band of those far off days were Messrs. Griffin, Nixon, Titchener, Hamington and Jacob. Many ringers have commenced their ringing career at Hornsey, and to-day the band has a 'red hot' enthusiast in its ranks.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS BLACKBOURN. A FORMER BELLHANGER.

A personality well known to a former generation of ringers has passed away at Luton. Mr. Thomas Blackburn died on January 24th at the age of 73 years, after an illness of six weeks' duration.

Born at Holbeach, Lines, Mr. Blackburn was for some time in business at Salisbury as a bellhanger, and carried out many bell restorations in the South and West of England, one of the jobs of which he was particularly proud being the re-hanging of the heavy ring of ten at Wells Cathedral. He was a sound craftsman and a good ringer.

After leaving Salisbury he went to live at Luton in 1918, and joined the band at the Parish Church, where he became steepkeeper and took great pride in the bells.

He was taught to ring 55 years ago by the late Mr. J. R. Jerram, of Salisbury, and had rung about 200 peals in various methods. While working in Brighton in 1892 he rang in the first handbell peal in which a lady ever rang a pair of bells, the band being Mrs. G. Williams 1-2, T. Blackburn 3-4, G. Williams (conductor) 5-6, A. P. Goddard 7-8.

Mr. Blackburn leaves a family of four sons and one daughter in herreavement, his wife having predeceased him in September, 1931.

The funeral took place on January 28th, the service being held in the Parish Church and conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. T. Howard). The interment took place in the church cemetery. The Luton band was represented by Messrs. A. King, L. A. Goodenough, H. Walker, F. Walker, A. Smith and E. Shann, and a wreath in the shape of a bell was sent. Mr. Blackburn will be much missed in Luton tower, where his cheery face and genial manner endeared him to all.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

RECORD YEAR OF THE WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH.

A well-attended quarterly meeting of the Wellingborough Branch was held at Higham Ferrers on Saturday, January 28th, when 18 towers were represented. The fine peal of eight bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening to various methods, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Superlative, Cambridge and a well-struck course of Yorkshire Surprise.

The Guild service was held in the beautiful Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. B. E. Owen), who also gave an address, in the course of which he offered a most hearty welcome to the members and went on to speak of the value of worship.—The hearty rendering of the hymns, with the help of Mr. L. Clippson at the organ, was a delight to hear. The members afterwards adjourned to the old Grammar School close by, where tea had been prepared by the local ringers, with their wives and lady friends, 63 being present.

Owing to the Rev. D. N. Dohson (president of the branch) being in bed with a severe cold, the Vicar presided at the business meeting which followed. Earls Barton was suggested as the place for the next quarterly meeting, and it was announced that a special meeting would be held at Wellingborough on Easter Tuesday for the joint purpose of celebrating the jubilee of the formation in 1893 of the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Society of Church Bell Ringers, which was the forerunner of the present Guild, and the hope was expressed that as many as possible would attend, so that as a body they could meet the present Vicar.

Dr. Crew, one of the churchwardens, and Mr. L. Clippson, organist, were elected honorary members, and 12 new ringing members were elected. A Guild certificate for the ringing of his first peal was presented to Mr. W. F. Nutt, of Stauwick, with congratulations.

The branch secretary (Mr. F. Barber) presented his report and balance sheet for the past year, and was proud to say it had been a record one, both financially and in point of view of new members. There was a gain of 27 members on the year. On the financial side the balance had increased from £22 1s. 2d. to £26 16s. 5d., which, he thought, was a very fine achievement, considering the difficult time it had been for many.

The Vicar said he was sure they would all wish him on their behalf to thank the secretary for his excellent report and congratulate him on the efficiency of his work.—Mr. R. G. Black, the general secretary of the Guild, added further testimony to the work that had been done, and hoped they would retain Mr. Barber's services for many years to come.

The Secretary said he was sure it would be of interest to those present and to ringers generally to know that the Rev. Dr. Robinson, Dean of Calgary, who had just been appointed to the Rectory of Wilby Church, was a son of the famous Rev. F. E. Robinson, one of the most noted ringers of his day, several in that room having had the privilege of ringing peals with him, and it was interesting to note that his name was on a tablet in Higham Ferrers belfry, as well as in many others in this district. He hoped they would all have the privilege of meeting him in the near future.

Apologies were received from the Rev. D. N. Dohson, the Rev. J. H. Marlow and Mr. F. Wilford (Master of the Guild), who had been ill for the past three weeks. Amongst those present were Miss E. Steele, of Bedford, who took part in the course of Yorkshire Surprise.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his address, to the organist and the local ringers and wives for preparing tea.

BELLS ON THE WIRELESS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read certain things recently published in 'The Ringing World' with wholehearted approval. One such is your leading article on 'The essential need for good striking,' together with the wise remarks on that subject by the president of the Central Council, which were the occasion of the article. All ringers will do well to mark that word 'essential' and take its vital significance to heart.

Another point is that raised in A. Reeves' letter on the subject of 'Bells on the "wireless."' I am bound emphatically to agree with his statement that anything beyond Triples or Major is unsuitable for broadcasting. Slow, steady ringing on six or eight bells is far the best thing for this purpose. Even the perfect examples of Stedman Cinques broadcast from St. Martin's, Birmingham, probably have far less meaning for the general public than would a touch of Stedman or Kent rung slowly on the back eight of that famous peal. One would like to hear that experiment tried. It is my belief, though I may be mistaken, that it would sound more musical and impressive over the ether than the twelve. The quick succession of tones in Cinques inevitably produces a confused jumble of harmonics. Heretical though it may be to say so, I hold that, when twelve bells are broadcast, they sound much better rung in a set change. About the best bell music that I have ever heard by wireless was Bow Bells rung in 'Whittingtons.' Nor are ten bells in changes often satisfactory. The troubles are frequently inaudible except to an acute ear. The rounds on the ten bells of Boston came over very clearly, and those responsible did well to keep them in rounds for the broadcast: that was intelligible to the public.

I would not for a moment appear to depreciate broadcasts of change ringing on a suitable number of bells, but it certainly seems to me that in most cases eight bells measure the limit of effective capacity for the microphone.

And whether bells are rung in rounds or changes, it is, to return to our first point, ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL that the striking should be perfect. If a local band cannot ring even a Plain Course with faultless precision, they should confine themselves to ringing rounds—and even practice doing that until they attain a perfect rhythm. Quite frequently one hears a touch fairly well rung and yet failing to come into rounds clean and in true time. At least as often as not even in rounds one bell spoils the whole effect by striking slightly too close or too wide at every other blow. In response to requests from the Central Council and the College Youths the B.B.C. are now 'featuring' bells more prominently in their programmes, and it is a matter of supreme importance that their listeners should hear nothing but the very best of its kind.

THE LATE MR. W. HORAN.

FUNERAL OF LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION TREASURER.

The funeral of the late Mr. William Horan, hon. treasurer of the Lancashire Association, whose death we recorded in our last issue, took place at Todmorden Parish Church on Tuesday afternoon of last week. The Vicar of Cross Stone (the Rev. R. Marie) officiated, assisted by the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, president of the Lancashire Association. In addition to the family mourners, there were among those present Miss H. Bell, Miss R. Bell and Mr. W. Brown (bell-ringers from Cross Stone Church), Messrs. W. Crabtree, H. Davenport and S. Hartley (Todmorden Parish Church), Mr. J. Milton (Todmorden Unitarian Church), Mr. T. B. Worsley (Deane, Bolton), and Mr. H. Hamer (Minrow). Glen View Lodge of Oddfellows was represented by Councillor P. Crowther and Messrs. C. Crowther and S. Prior.

Over the grave a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Miss R. Bell 1-2, Mr. Davenport 3-4, Mr. Crabtree 5-6, Mrs. Crabtree 7-8; while after the interment an adjournment was made to the belfry of the church to ring on muffled bells a touch of 504 Grandsire Triples: Mr. Crabtree (conductor) 1, Mr. Hamer 2, Miss H. Bell 3, Mrs. Crabtree 4, Miss R. Bell 5, Mr. Worsley 6, Mr. Davenport 7, Mr. Hartley 8.

There were a large number of wreaths, and among those who sent flowers were the Cross Stone Church Council and friends, Cross Stone Operative Society, Cross Stone ringers, Glen View Lodge of Oddfellows and the Manchester staff of W. Bolton and Co.

DEATH OF A LADY RINGER.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Miss Winifred Giles, of Beenham, Bucks, at the early age of 30 years.

She was a regular Sunday service ringer, and although not far advanced in method ringing, was a cheerful and willing learner, and could always be relied upon to be at practice.

She will be sadly missed by her ringing friends and others in the village. She was buried at Beenham on Thursday, February 9th, and as a token of respect the bells were rung half-muffled on Sunday. A 720 Grandsire Doubles was rung before service and a 360 after by B. Churchill 1, R. Abery 2, E. Richardson 3, A. Claydon 4, A. Arlott (conductor) 5, F. Wigmore 6.

AN IPSWICH RING AUGMENTED.ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH GETS ITS TREBLE BELL.

At last the peal of six bells at St. Matthew's Church, Ipswich, is complete, for at the morning service on Sunday, January 29th, the Rector (the Rev. Robert Sinker) dedicated the new treble bell which, as recently reported, was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Morfey (a former churchwarden). The bells were all rehung in a new oak frame for six by Mr. Alfred Howell, of the Ipswich Bell Foundry, in 1903. From time to time various efforts have been made to fill the gap, and about a year ago the present Rector made an appeal with the above good result.

The new bell has been cast by Mr. Alfred Howell, and bears the inscription, 'George Morfey gave me; Alfred Howell made me; One Nine Three Three'; 'And keep in tune with Heaven.'

At the evening service the first 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung by four of the service band who rang the peal of Doubles, assisted by Mr. Howell and his son: Fred Howell (St. Clement's), (conductor) 1, Reg Arbon 2, Gordon Leech 3, Cecil Aldous 4, Walter Holloway 5, Alfred Howell (St. Clement's) 6. First 720 by R. Arbon, and also on the bells. Also 216 Bob Minor, G. Mothersole and G. Biggs taking part.

St. Matthew's Church will be remembered as the garrison church by those stationed in Ipswich during the Great War.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.BRADFELD DEANERY'S NEW MOVE.

The Bradfield Deanery branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild is arranging a series of combined practices to enable ringers to meet and practice method ringing.

The first practice was held at Pangbourne recently, and was well attended. The Rural Dean (Rev. H. C. Wilder) was among those present, and joined in the ringing. Members also attended from the following towers: Beenham, Bradfield, Englefield, Goring, Pangbourne and Whitechurch, making a total of seventeen, including visitors from Chelsey and Tilehurst.

Some very good ringing took place, including touches of Grand-sire, Plain Bob and Stedman. The evening was enjoyed by all who were present.

Mr. T. W. Palmer, of Theale, has recently taken over the secretaryship of the branch.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.PROGRESS DURING THE YEAR.

The annual general meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was held on Saturday, January 21st. Proceedings opened at Shoreditch, where a large number of members gathered, the tower being opened at 2 p.m., and touches were rung in various methods until 3.30 p.m., when a move was made to headquarters at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, where a large number of members had already assembled and the belfry filled to overflowing. Touches were rung in various methods, including rounds for beginners, till 5.30. A sumptuous tea was provided in the crypt, about 50 sitting down, and being joined by the Vicar, the Rev. Pat McCormick.

The business meeting was held in the famous Vestry Hall, the Master, Mr. J. D. Matthews, presiding, supported by the Vicar, who gave the members a cordial welcome, and said it gave him great pleasure to attend such a splendid gathering.

The balance sheet was adopted as quite satisfactory, and the hon. secretary gave his report, which showed progress had been made during the year.

The following officers were re-elected: Master, Mr. J. D. Matthews; trustees, Mr. F. Smith and Mr. A. Hardy; stewards, Mr. C. J. Matthews and Mr. T. Bevan; auditors, Mr. R. Bevan and Mr. T. Newman; hon. secretary, Mr. G. A. Card. Fifteen new members were elected.

The usual votes of thanks to the officers for their services during the past year, and to the Vicar for his presence and cordial welcome, brought a most successful meeting to a close, after which further ringing took place, in which the ladies were to the fore, while a touch on the handbells concluded the programme.

TWO HUNDRED 720's IN A YEAR.FRYERNING RINGERS' ACHIEVEMENT.

During the year 1932 the St. Mary's company at Fryerning, Essex, rang no fewer than 201 720's. Of these 124 were rung for divine service and 77 for practice. These extents were rung chiefly under the conductorship of the company's leader, Mr. A. Bradley, who rang 190 and conducted 112. He was well supported by the other members of the company, all of whom had a high total of 720's to their credit for the year. They were Messrs. L. Camp, G. Camp, E. Sitch, C. Harrington, H. Wright and J. Sitch. Mr. J. Sitch earned the thanks of the company by regularly attending service ringing and practice, although he has a journey of four miles each way to the church.

In Minor there were 101 720's in 30 Surprise methods, 77 in 18 Treble Bob methods, and 18 in seven Plain methods. In addition there were five 720's of Doubles.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DISTRICT SECRETARY RETIRES.

The annual general meeting of the Southern District was held at Betchworth on Saturday, January 28th. There was a fair attendance, ringers putting in an appearance from Charlwood, Croydon, Beddington, Buckland, Godstone, Reigate, Kingswood, Mersham, Newdigate, Leigh and Horley. Owing to the sudden death of a Betchworth resident, ringing took place at Buckland, by kind permission of the Rev. H. W. Dunk, Rector of Buckland.

The business meeting was held at the Dolphin Inn, Betchworth, and Mr. D. K. C. Birt, Master of the Surrey Association, occupied the chair. Three new members were elected—Messrs. Stephen Martin (Mersham), Arthur Slaughter (Horley) and Philip Worsfold (Leigh). The towers to be visited for meetings during the year are: Charlwood, March 11th; Bletchingley, May 20th; Burstow, July 22nd; Limpsfield Chart, September 16th; and Redhill, November 18th. By the request of the Rev. H. W. Dunk a special meeting will be held at Buckland about midsummer.

The secretary, in his report, thanked all the officers, also the local secretaries, for their support in arranging the meetings, etc.

The following officers were elected: District Master, Mr. L. A. Tidy; treasurer, Mr. M. A. Northover; auditor, Mr. A. Gear; secretary, Mr. Geo. Hoad; committee, Messrs. Robert Hoare, J. Wallis, jun., and A. J. Bull.

The Chairman said how sorry they were to hear of Mr. Bull resigning the secretaryship. Mr. Bull, in replying, said he hoped to see the members give their new secretary the same support as he had received during his term of office.

The next annual meeting for the district is to be held at Godstone in January, 1934.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. H. W. Dunk and Mr. Frank Sanders for allowing the bells to be used at the last moment. Mr. T. Arrow was thanked for his assistance in arranging the tea, and the meeting then terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman. Most of the company returned again to Buckland, where the bells were kept going to methods from Bob Minor to London Surprise till nine o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.MR. W. KEEBLE'S ACHIEVEMENT.

A meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association was held at Halstead on Saturday, January 21st. The Vicar (Canon T. H. Curling, R.D.) visited the belfry and extended a hearty welcome to the visitors. Touches in various methods were rung until 4.30, when a service was held at which the Vicar officiated, Mr. Howard (Master of the association) read the lesson, and the service was choral. In his address the Vicar said how pleased he was that the association should pay another visit to Halstead. He was struck by the excellent comradeship which existed amongst the ringers, and hoped it would be extended to other branches of life. It was most appropriate, he said, to have a meeting there this year, as it was the thirtieth anniversary of the rehanging of the bells and the addition of two trebles to complete the octave.

Tea was afterwards provided at St. Andrew's Hall, where 35 sat down, fifteen towers being represented. The Vicar presided, supported by the Master, the District Master and district secretary.

At the business meeting the Rev. A. Chilton, M.V.O., D.D., Rector of Colne Engaine, was elected an hon. member, and Mr. E. Claydon, Halstead, a probationer.—It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Feering on April 29th.

Mr. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his excellent address, the use of the bells and the use of St. Andrew's Hall for tea. He extended thanks to the organist and choir for their services, also to Miss Thompson and the Young People's Fellowship for providing tea. He congratulated the Halstead ringers on ringing regularly for divine service, and complimented various companies in the division for the progress they had made. He added that he owed a debt of gratitude to all the old members. He referred to the veterans' peal recently rung at Hart Street, City, in which Mr. W. J. Nevard took part. Extracts were also read from a letter from Mr. W. Keeble (Feering), who was unable to be present, in which it was stated he had rung 16 peals in three weeks. These were rung with 51 ringers—32 rang one each, 8 two each, 3 three each, 1 four, 1 five and 1 seven. Eight rang their first peal, one rang his first peal in two methods. He had travelled a distance of 280 miles by walking, private car, bus and train.

The district secretary was instructed to write Mr. Keeble and compliment him on his excellent achievement, and to thank him for all he was doing for the association.

The Vicar, replying to the vote of thanks, said it was a real pleasure to meet members of the association again. He referred to the ringers 'jar' which was in a glass case in the belfry, and what puzzled him most was that it was given to the ringers at a time when it was illegal for the bells to be rung (laughter).

Handbell ringing was subsequently indulged in, whilst others returned to the tower. This brought a most successful and pleasant meeting to a close.

NATIONAL GUILD OF POLICE RINGERS.

AN ENJOYABLE DAY AT MANCHESTER.

The annual meeting of the National Police Guild was held at Manchester on Saturday, February 4th. Members attended from the following forces: Metropolitan, Leicester City, Birmingham City, Reigate Borough, Liverpool City, Bolton Borough, Leicester County and Nottingham County, and were met on arrival by the local members.

During the morning they visited the Town Hall belfry, where the famous 'Policemen's Peal' of ten bells were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Bob Royal. During the ringing the company was honoured by the presence of the Lady Mayoress of Manchester, Mrs. J. D. Peattie, who extended, on behalf of the city, a welcome to the visitors. Mrs. Peattie was keenly interested in the ringing and specially asked for the tower bells and handbells to be rung whilst she was present. After hearing the ringing, the Lady Mayoress thanked the ringers and said that she had no idea that bellringing was such an art, and thought it should be advertised more.

One of the most interested spectators was the sweet little baby of the Lady Mayoress, who was later given a small handbell to hold. When efforts were made to replace the handbell on the table, baby thought otherwise and clung on firmly to the bell strap. This caused no little amusement and surely indicates an inclination towards the art.

After leaving the Town Hall, the party adjourned to the Waldorf Hotel, near by, for luncheon, at which they were joined by one of Lancashire's notables, Mr. G. R. Newton, vice-president of the Lancashire Association. A company of about 50 sat down to an excellent repast.

The business meeting followed the luncheon, and at the commencement the party had to be 'cautioned' not to say too much, not because it would be 'taken down in writing and might be given in evidence against them,' but because time was limited.

Supt. F. R. Williams, Manchester City, was elected president, and the retiring president, Sub-Div.-Inspector W. Battrill, Metropolitan Police, was elected vice-president. Det.-Sergt. H. J. Poole was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and Sergt. H. G. Jenney Guild auditor. Both are members of the Leicester City Police Force.

The following members were elected to the committee: P.C.s F. Page and G. Pye, Manchester City; P.-Sergt. H. Jenney, Leicester City; P.C. W. Claydon, Reigate Borough; P.C. N. Bagworth, Metropolitan Police; ex-Sergt. W. Dowding, Birmingham City; and ex-Sergt. A. Lawrence, Herts County.

As the result of an invitation from Mr. Albert Walker, Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, conveyed by Sergt. Dowding, it was unanimously decided to hold the next annual meeting at Birmingham in January or February, 1934.

BIG INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP.

In his report, the secretary stated that there were now 70 ringing members and two hon. members. This showed an increase during the year of 24 members. Four peals had been rung during the year, namely, Grandsire Caters (2), Stedman Triples (1) and Kent Treble Bob Major (1).

The question of being affiliated to the Central Council of Ringers was discussed, but it was ultimately decided to leave this matter over until the next meeting. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the retiring president and the hon. secretary.

The next item was a visit to Ashton-under-Lyne Parish Church. Two magnificent motor-coaches were waiting outside the hotel to convey the party there. The passengers truly travelled in comfort, even to the extent of enjoying a wireless programme on the journey. On arrival at Ashton, they were welcomed by Mr. B. Thorpe and members of the local company. The ringing included Stedman and Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Bob Maximus. Many complimentary remarks were passed regarding this fine peal of twelve, upon which the record peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung.

A visit was then made to the Cathedral tower at Manchester, where a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal and Superlative Surprise Major were rung. Touches of Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples were also brought round.

The company then returned to the Waldorf Hotel, where a room had been reserved for a social evening, and where Mr. W. H. Shaker, secretary of the Lancashire Association, Mr. A. F. Bailey, Mr. P. Laffin, Mr. A. Barnes and many other Lancashire notables joined the party.

Several artistes rendered songs, and the proceedings were very much enlivened by tales from P.C.s J. Brooke, Robinson and Lines. Indeed, the surroundings were so much changed at times by these artistes in their mimicking of 'Scotchmen and Jews' that it was difficult to decide whether one was in Aberdeen or Jerusalem. Courses of Grandsire Cinques and Triples and Stedman Caters were rung on handbells, with the assistance of the Stockport company, and some tunes were rung by Leicester City Police time ringers.

Supt. Williams apologised for the unavoidable absence of the Chief Constable of Manchester, Mr. John Maxwell, who had promised to attend the social, and referred to a letter the secretary had received from the Chief Constable of Leicester City, who is an honorary member of the Guild, wishing the Guild success.—Mr. G. R. Newton, vice-president of the Lancashire Association, invited the Guild to Liverpool.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

HON. ORGANIST OF DEVIZES BRANCH.

A monthly meeting was held at Hilpert on Saturday, February 4th. The bells, a light peal of six (tenor 7½ cwt.) were set going at 3 p.m., and good use was made of them. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. S. B. Proby), Mr. Watts being at the organ, and Sir Edward Wallington, K.C.V.O., C.M.G., reading the lesson.

Tea was taken in the music room of Hilpert House, by kind invitation of Major E. A. Mackay, to which 47 sat down, including Sir Edward and Miss Wallington.

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (branch chairman), who voiced his regret that Major Mackay was unable to be present, being confined to his room through illness. Speaking on behalf of the members present, he hoped that he would be speedily restored to health. The chairman then welcomed the visitors, mentioning that distinguished gentleman, Sir Edward Wallington, and ringing visitors from the North Dorset Branch, Messrs. W. C. Shute and C. E. Roe.

Five new members were then elected and the places of the next two meetings were fixed provisionally, viz., Potterne for March and Warminster (quarterly) for April.

It was unanimously decided to ask Mr. C. F. Andrews to repeat his series of lectures, and an invitation from Westbury was accepted as the venue for the first, subject to Mr. Andrews' convenience.

An application was received from Holt for a course of change ringing instruction, and this was granted subject to the approval of the general secretary.

A letter was read inviting members to the dedication of the Langford-Beams memorial at Bradpole on February 25th.

The secretary brought forward the subject of organist, and the sometime difficulty in arranging with the local authorities. Miss E. M. Wright, being present, was unanimously elected hon. organist for branch meetings.

Sir Edward Wallington expressed his pleasure at being asked to be present, and offered to entertain the branch on their next visit to Hilpert.

Votes of thanks were then passed to the Rector for taking the service, and to the organist, and especially to Major Mackay for providing such an excellent tea.

The ringers then returned to the tower. Holt bells being available during the evening, by kind permission of Rev. C. F. H. Brewis, and this somewhat made things easier, the space for ringing being limited at Hilpert.

The following towers were represented: Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Urchfont, Holt, Warminster, Westbury, Bratton, Rowde, Chilton, North Bradley, Trowbridge, Melksham, Hilpert, Bishop's Caudle, and Kingston Magna, taking part in the following methods: London and Cambridge Surprise, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles. Rounds were also rung for those wishing for them.

CELEBRATING A CENTENARY.

On January 18th, at Christchurch Priory, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Cinques (1,320 changes): A. Bishop 1, Miss C. Sparshott 2, E. V. Hinton 3, Miss M. Rouse 4, Mrs. E. Williams 5, S. White 6, F. E. Pitman 7, K. Derham 8, F. Sparshott 9, W. Fowler 10, G. Preston (conductor) 11, H. Gillard 12. First quarter-peal on twelve by the local band. Rung to celebrate the centenary of the late Mrs. Druitt, of Christchurch, whose name appears on the 3rd, 4th and 8th bells. All are Sunday service ringers.

for a meeting when it was decided to go North.—The President of the Guild replied to this invitation.

Sub-Div.-Inspector Battrill, Metropolitan Police, and Sergt. Jenney, Leicester City, thanked Supt. Williams and the Manchester members for the very excellent arrangements which had contributed to such an enjoyable day.

By the time some of the members arrived home they would have travelled over 400 miles. The tiring journey, however, did not damp their enthusiasm and appreciation. In fact, they would be quite willing to travel further for another such day's enjoyment.

The end came all too soon, in spite of the extension which had been granted, and at 11 p.m. they dispersed.

The London and Leicester contingents arrived at the station (railway, of course) with about 20 minutes to spare. To the surprise of all, the evening's entertainment had not finished. Two vagrant-singers, with hats in hands and the hopeful—'we've got no lodgemony'—look, sang woefully on the platform. But, alas! no financial assistance was forthcoming from the party. As was only to be expected after such an anti-spendthrift entertainment of an hour before, hands went into pockets—and remained there in true miserly style.

The train steamed out at midnight. She made the journey to Leicester in real good time, in spite of the 'Pull to the shore' efforts to 'Turn(h)er', which were constantly made by the self-appointed waiter and his 'Porter.'

Members who were unable to attend the meeting are respectfully reminded that the subscriptions for the present year are now due.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

THE PUPIL AND THE TEACHER.

The young ringer of to-day cannot say he is not catered for. Works of instruction seem to be coming rapidly from the Press, and at least one more publication for his special benefit will shortly be issued by the Central Council. The beginner's difficulty now is, not where shall he look for a work that will help him to understand the initial steps in the art, but which shall he select? He has a wide choice, and each publication has its special merits to recommend it. He cannot go far wrong, whichever he chooses as his text book, but he will, of course, make faster progress if his book becomes an adjunct to personal tuition. Nearly every beginner in change ringing finds it necessary to have personal help at some point or other in his primary efforts, and a good deal of his progress depends upon what kind of 'tutor' he gets. Books will help the learner to grasp a whole lot of the subject, but there are difficulties which need explanation, and apparently awkward obstacles to be overcome.

The instructions of beginners is often a very haphazard business, and it is a pity that it cannot be more systematically organised, with some really definite course of teaching wherever it is possible to carry it out. There are some who will probably say such a thing is not practicable, but if there were some kind of text book available showing 'instructors' how to teach properly and intelligently, and setting out a synopsis, if not a series of lessons, of a progressive nature, we believe that it would greatly facilitate tuition. There are no two authors who agree as to the correct way of presenting their studies—it may be well that it is so—but it seems to us that it would be an advantage to the average teacher in a tower if he had some guide to the various stages by which he might best take his pupils from, say, rounds to London Surprise. What we need, now that the market is so well supplied with books for the beginner, is a publication to instruct the teacher. The vast majority of them are left entirely to their own devices; but if they had something to give them hints and guidance they would probably turn out more and better ringers from the pupils that come under their care. There are many men, of course, who have a natural gift for teaching, just as there are many ringers who have a natural gift for the art, but the people we have in mind who need help are the lone conductors, struggling with a company of novices. There are many such who do not know the best way to teach, and who would be grateful for a helping hand. The coming Council publication may prove to be a first step in this direction; perhaps it will be possible to amplify it afterwards, and so build up something which will become a text book for instructors.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

HANDBELL CONTEST WON BY ST. GILES', CAMBERWELL.

The annual general meeting of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, February 11th, at St. Clement Schools, Drury Lane, London. Ringing took place at St. Magnus' Church, London Bridge, from 2.30 till 3.45 p.m., and at St. Clement Danes, Strand, from 3.30 till 4.45, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Kent Treble Bob Royal and Cambridge Royal being rung. Service, which followed in the Church of 'Oranges and Lemons' fame, was attended by over forty members, and an interesting sermon, differing from the usual type given at ringers' services, was preached by the Rector of St. Giles-in-the-Fields. After tea at the Willow Restaurant in Essex Street, a hurried retreat was made to the schools in order to get on with the business of the evening, and, most important of all, the handbell competition. Prior to the business meeting, four entries were received by the secretary of hands competing, and these were accepted. The usual routine of ratification of new members, presentation of balance sheet, the secretary's report, acceptance of peals during the year, election of Central Council representatives and the election of officers for the ensuing year was got through. The following retained their office: Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender; secretary, Mr. C. O. Moore; assistant secretaries, Mr. T. W. Taffender and Mr. Hawthorne; senior steward, Mr. J. Wyatt; treasurer, Mr. E. A. Young; trustees, Messrs. F. E. Dawe and Keighley. The only office to change hands was that of junior steward, to which Mr. Harding was elected. A beautiful silver cup, given by Mr. F. E. Dawe for the handbell change ringing contest, was on view during the meeting. The secretary gave the details of the objects and ideas of the competition, which is for the encouragement of local handbell ringing among members of the association.

Amidst loud applause the donor of the cup, named the 'Dawe Cup,' presented it to the association in a characteristic speech. He said he was only too pleased to do whatever he could for ringing and for that association, and it was with great pleasure he presented the cup for competition.

The Master thanked Mr. Dawe for his generous gift to the association. After the necessary arrangements had been made for the umpires, presided over by the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford (Rector of St. Clement Danes and chaplain of the association) in an adjoining room, the actual competition commenced. The Leytonstone belfry were the first to ring, but, unfortunately, came to grief, and did not like taking another opportunity which was offered them. As two of the remaining three hands were incomplete, the 'Camberwellites' gave their 'show,' and succeeded in giving a very creditable exhibition. As there were no other hands to compete, the chaplain's wife (Mrs. Pennington Bickford) presented the cup to Mr. Taffender, representing St. Giles', Camberwell, Society, for their excellent ringing. The evening's business concluded with the vote of thanks to the chaplain for his services, to the organist and choirboys, also the Rectors of St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. Magnus', London Bridge.

LITTLE ALBION TREBLE BOB.

With reference to the peal of Little Albion Treble Bob Maximus rung at St. Mary-le-Tower Church, Ipswich, the report of which was published in the issue of 17th inst., in this method the treble hunts to 4th's place and down, double Kent Treble Bob places being made in 5th's and 6th's, 2nd's place at plain leads and 4th's place bob.

The St. Mary-le-Tower Society obtained it from the late Mr. Henry W. Wilde, and it would be interesting to know if he was the author.

There are 16 changes in a lead, and any peal of Bob Major without Before's and Singles will run to Little Albion Major.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The members who braved the elements on Saturday, February 18th, to attend the meeting at Shilton, near Coventry, found a very warm welcome awaiting them from the Vicar (the Rev. Harold Smith).

The light ring of six was made good use of during the afternoon until a halt was called for tea. Twenty-five sat down to a splendid meal, kindly arranged by ladies of the parish. A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his very kind welcome and interest was proposed by Mr. W. Stote (Coventry) and seconded by Mr. L. J. Hinde (Bulkington).

Handbell enthusiasts remained in the tea room for a time, while others returned to the belfry for further ringing. Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob Minor, Cambridge and London Surprise. Members attended from Allesley, Arley, Bulkington, Chilvers Coton, Lillington, Nuneaton, Stoke, Warwick, together with the local band.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS JOYCE.A RINGER AT ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN.

The death took place at Whipps Cross Hospital on Monday morning, February 13th, of Mr. Thomas Joyce after three weeks' illness, pneumonia supervening on an attack of influenza. His death came as a great shock to his many ringing friends. He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The funeral took place on Saturday, February 18th, at the City of London Cemetery, Ilford. St. Andrew's, Holborn, Guild were represented by Messrs. J. S. Hawkins and W. J. Norton, and St. Dunstan's, Stepney, band by Mr. E. J. Sampson.

Mr. Joyce was 42 years of age and leaves in bereavement a widow (who is seriously ill) and two sons, with whom much sympathy will be felt.

On Sunday evening, February 19th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled at St. Andrew's, Holborn, by the following members: J. S. Hawkins 1, H. C. Alford 2, W. J. Norton (conductor) 3, R. W. Green 4, C. J. Choct 5, W. S. Langdon 6, R. T. Newman 7, E. Brett 8.

LADIES' GUILD AND SHERWOOD YOUTHS.WARM WELCOME ON A COLD DAY.

A joint meeting of the Northern Branch of the Ladies' Guild and the Society of Sherwood Youths was held at the Church of St. Leodigarius, Basford, Nottingham, on Saturday, February 18th.

The attendance of the ladies was somewhat disappointing, but this was chiefly due to illness. To those who would like to have been present and were thus prevented, the members extend their sympathy and hope they will soon be restored to health. The gentlemen turned up in good numbers in spite of the inclement weather.

The bells, a splendid peal for the ladies, were kept going in good style, and touches of Stedman, Cambridge, Kent, Oxford, Forward, Duffield, Double Norwich, Little Bob and Plain Bob were successfully brought round.

Thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Barks, who, at very short notice, provided a very excellent tea for the visitors, which was partaken of at their home and added greatly to the comfort of those present. They also thank Mr. Harrison for making the arrangements and for the 'warm welcome' in the belfry, which was a happy contrast to the cold outside, and much appreciated by those who had of necessity to take turns at sitting out.

It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Long Eaton on Saturday, March 18th.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.READING BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Reading Branch was held at Reading on Saturday, February 11th. During the afternoon the towers of St. Laurence's, St. Mary's and St. Giles' were open for ringing, touches of Stedman Caters, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Cinques, Double Norwich, Cambridge Surprise, Bob Major, Oxford and Bob Minor being rung.

A well-attended service was held at St. Mary's Church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. Farham, M.A., who preached an appropriate sermon. Dr. Daughtry presided at the organ. Afterwards 67 members sat down to an excellent tea in St. Mary's Church House.

At the business meeting the chair was occupied by Mr. Leonard Joyce (chairman of the branch), supported by the chief officers of the Guild, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (hon. secretary) and Miss Hopgood (hon. branch secretary). Visitors attended from London, Oxford, Slough, Chertsey and Yateley.

The Chairman first referred to the great loss the branch had sustained in the death of Mr. Frank Hopgood, who had been the hon. branch secretary and treasurer for the past 14 years.

The balance sheet was read and adopted. The secretary's report showed another successful year, and mention was made of enjoyable and successful quarterly meetings at Checkendon and Henley.

The election of officers then followed. Mr. Leonard Joyce was unanimously re-elected to the chair. Miss Hopgood having decided not to carry on, Mr. E. G. Foster was elected hon. secretary and treasurer, Messrs. A. Wiggins and A. D. Cullum auditors, and Messrs. Swain, Rusham and Humphrey representatives to the General Committee.

Quarterly meetings for 1933 were arranged to take place at Ship-lake, Nettlebed and Tilehurst.

Satisfactory tower reports were given from most of the branch towers, good Sunday ringing having been maintained throughout the year.

The meeting was addressed by the chairman, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Mr. A. J. Wright and Mr. R. T. Hibbert. Mention was made of the very good work done by Mr. F. Hopgood and the very excellent way in which Miss Hopgood had helped the branch both during the time her father had been secretary and since his death, and it was decided to show in some tangible way appreciation of her good work.

A vote of thanks was expressed to the Vicar and organist of St. Mary's Church for the beautiful service which had been held.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Letters on the Rev. H. Drake's article on 'Striking,' with a commentary on English bellringing by a Frenchman, are held over until next week.

The peal at Eynsford on February 4th was the 700th rung by Mr. T. Groombridge, sen. We hope to publish his peal list at an early date.

The Loughborough Memorial Carillon will be broadcast on March 1st. Mr. Eric Jordan, the carillonneur, suggests that when listening the receiver should be tuned in to full volume and that listeners should be in some other part of the house or even outside with a window or door open. Then, he claims, with a little imagination, the effect of the bell music from the 162ft. high tower will be fully appreciated.

It says something for modern bell hanging that a boy of 14 can turn in a tenor of 12½ cwt. to a peal—it also says much for the ability of the boy. Young 'Teddy' Barnett rung Crayford tenor to a peal of Bob Major last week.

Members of the Middlesex Association should note that Clerkenwell has been chosen for this year's annual general meeting, the date, April 22nd.

The peal of Stedman Triples recorded in our issue of February 3rd as having been rung at Moorside, Oldham, was rung at Leesfield.

The peal at Egham, Surrey, on February 8th was not the first peal of Bristol on the bells as recorded in the footnote. This was discovered after the report was in print, and Mr. W. Pye now writes to say that a peal in this method was rung there on April 1st, 1914.

The Ladies' Guild, Southern District, who met at Ottershaw last Saturday, hope to hold their annual meeting at Seale in June and the next quarterly meeting at Aldershot in October.

UNMUSICAL CHANGES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There are many excellent points in the letters of the Rev. F. L. Edwards and the Rev. H. Drake in the current issue of 'The Ringing World'; and it is essential that we should ring changes that the average listener can understand and appreciate. How many ringers realise that, on any number of bells above six, unmusical changes are inevitably produced as the changes succeed one another in mechanical order?

With any number of bells up to six we are using what Sir Walford Davies calls 'a peaceful family of notes,' none of which are liable to 'high words' with each other; but, when we come to eight bells, we have two unmusical pairs of bells, viz., 1-7 and 2-8, which do indulge in 'high words' when they meet; and, for example, 2-8 come together 720 times in a peal of Triples.

In ten-bell ringing, there are only the fifth and sixth bells which cannot come to 'high words' with some of the others; and, with twelve bells, all are liable to 'high words' with their unmusical neighbours. The quickness of the striking on the higher numbers adds to the discord, and the tones of the bells are somewhat drowned by the incessant tintinnabulation.

It is doubtful if many laymen distinguish the sounds of twelve bells when rung in anything other than rounds or call changes. The Rev. H. Drake is quite right in saying that the ordinary listener appreciates the lower numbers best, although it is questionable if they like patches of bad striking!

Ringers in eight, ten and twelve bell towers would do well to ring short touches of Doubles and Minor occasionally if only for the sake of variety; and there is plenty of scope for our composers to produce touches on the higher numbers in which unmusical changes are reduced to a minimum.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PROPOSED NEW BRANCH.

A meeting to form a new district of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Haddenham, Cambs, on Saturday, February 18th, when members were present from Cambridge, Chatteris, Sutton, Wilburton, Great Staughton, Stretham, Over and the local band. The business meeting took place in the hall after tea, the Vicar being voted to the chair.

Mr. F. Warrington, in proposing the new district, outlined the territory, which would include the following places: Fenstanton, Swavesey, Over, Longstanton, Histon, Cottenham, Stretham, Wilburton, Haddenham, Willingham, Somersham, Ramsey, Warboys, Chatteris, March, Sutton, Holywell, Soham, Daddington and Ely.

It was intended to include St. Ives, but Mr. Lack opposed this suggestion, as this was the only light ring of eight in the Hunts district.

Subject to the approval of the annual meeting, it was decided that the new district be named the Haddenham and District Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association.

The officers elected were: Secretary, Mr. F. Warrington; committee, Mr. A. J. Ginn, Mr. F. Thurbon, Mr. S. G. Shipp, Mr. G. Few, Mr. W. Seekings and Mr. H. Collins.

The next meeting is fixed for Ely on March 25th if suitable.

Some good ringing took place, the methods rung including Plain Bob, Single and Double Oxford, Double Court, Woodbine, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, London and Norwich Surprise.

A CAMBRIDGESHIRE RESTORATION.

HISTON BELLS REOPENED.

The bells of Histon Parish Church of St. Andrew, which have been tuned and rehung in a new steel frame on ball bearings, were rededicated on Sunday, February 19th, by the Lord Bishop of Ely. The service opened with the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' followed by shortened evensong, and after the singing of the Cantate Domino, the Bishop and clergy proceeded to the tower, where the dedicatory prayers were recited.

The bells were then rung in rounds by the local band.

The Bishop based his address on I. Corinthians xiv., 10, making mention of the various uses of bells and their place in our daily life.

By the kindness of the local band, a 360 of Plain Bob was rung after the service by F. Camps (Cottenham) 1, C. F. Johnston (Croydon) 2, C. Robinson (Over) 3, T. R. Dennis (Cambridge) 4, F. Warrington (Over) 5, F. Collins (Croydon, conductor) 6. The work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the 'go' being perfect. Mr. C. F. Johnston represented the firm at the dedication of the work.

The restoration has been carried out largely as the result of the efforts of Mr. Kenneth Oates, who is head ringer at Histon, and one of the churchwardens. But for his energy the bells might still have been in their old and dilapidated condition.

In connection with the rededication an interesting pamphlet on the history of the church and parish was compiled. From this it appears that there were probably two earlier churches on the present site, the first a wooden building and the second a church built of stone which unquestionably existed in the 12th century. The church on its present plan is assigned to the 13th century, and some of the original features have come down to us unaltered.

The earliest mention of bells at Histon is contained in an inventory made in 1553.

HYSTON ANDREW

Belles—Itm in ye Steple there iii great belles and one Sanctus bell.

Two of the three mediæval bells were recast in the 17th century and two new bells added. The sanctus bell was recast in 1781 by Thomas Osborn, of Downham.

In 1866 the five old bells, three of which were cracked, were recast, and in 1873 a new bell was added, making a total of six.

The inscriptions on these are: 'Cast by John Warner and Sons, London.' They also bear the Royal Arms (Patent) with the date. These are the present bells.

The old bells had the following inscriptions:—

- 1.—Tho. Newman made me 1723.
- 2.—Cantabo Laudes Tuis Domine Per Atria.
- 3, 4.—x Ricardus Bowler me fecit 1604.
- 5.—William Peck and Robert Read Church Wardeps 1683, W.R.

The old 14th century frame for three bells, with additions of 17th and 19th centuries, making it a weird and wonderful arrangement for six bells, with one bell carried in a rider frame above the others, has now been removed and a modern cast-iron frame built on sound engineering lines and supported by rolled steel joists has taken its place.

The ringing room has also been much improved by moving the works of the clock, which formerly took up a large amount of the small space available. A double sound-deadening floor has taken the place of the old and decayed reed ceiling under the bells.

The following quaint lines, embodying the ringers' code, hung in the tower in 1860, but have been lost:—

'We ring the Quick to Church, the Dead to grave,
Good is our use, such usage let us have.
He who wears Spur, or Hat, or Cap, or breaks a stay,
Or from the floor does from a bell rope sway,
Or leaves his rope down careless on the floor,
Or nuisance makes within the Belfry Door,
Shall sixpence forfeit for each single crime,
'Twill make him careful at another time.'

The present Ringers' Guild was reorganised in 1922, with the Vicar as president.

A special meeting of the Ely Association is to be held at Histon on Saturday, March 4th.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of February 10th you published a peal of Superlative rung at Stansted on February 1st, the composition being a reduced three-part with bells reversed in 5-6, and the footnote says it was probably the first of its kind.

The following composition was rung at Ashby Folville on July 24th, 1920, and has the five pairs reversed: 5,120, B.3H.2W. five times. Also at Market Harborough on April 21st, 1932, 5,600 (the extent): i.e., W.2H.M.W.H.2W. five times. The latter was rung as a 5,152 by the omission of 3Ws. I presume Mr. Dench meant the first of its kind as a three-part. The above compositions were composed by—

Yours truly,

F. H. DEXTER.

PORTSMOUTH DIOCESE.

BISHOP FAVOURS SEPARATE GUILD.

The tower of the Parish Church at Alton has, unfortunately, been declared unsafe for ringing, and so it was thought inadvisable to hold the annual meeting of the Alton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild there, and arrangements were accordingly made to hold it at Liss. The attendance was not very large, partly on account of the prevalence of influenza. To the great regret of all, the Rector of Liss (the Rev. S. N. Sedgwick) was laid up with this complaint and unable to be present and give the address as he had promised. For this reason, and also through some delay being caused by the breaking of a slider, it was decided to cancel the service and continue ringing till tea-time. Tea was served in the Spread Eagle and there were present the Rev. F. G. Eyres (chairman), Messrs. G. Williams (Guild Master), F. W. Rogers (Guild hon. secretary), W. Andrews, G. Pullinger, Hardman, the Rev. B. C. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Read, and other ringers from Alton, Bishopstoke, Blackmoor, Liss, Steep and Portsmouth. 23 in all, and, in addition, two lady ringers from Alton arrived after tea.

At the meeting the hon. secretary's report for the year dealt with the revival of the Alton band and the disappointment at ringing being stopped there; the proposal for the transfer of certain towers to the district, and the meetings during the year. The membership now totals nine honorary, 32 ringing and one unattached.

Mr. F. W. Rogers read some correspondence between himself and the Bishop of Portsmouth on the transfer of these towers, and the Bishop seems rather against the proposal, as tending to destroy diocesan unity. He looks forward to a separate Guild for the Portsmouth Diocese.

After the balance sheet for the past year had been adopted, the officers were all re-elected, viz., the Rev. F. G. Eyres, chairman; the Rev. B. C. Taylor, hon. secretary; the Rev. T. N. R. Griffin, hon. auditor; and Mr. W. Read, representative on the Central Committee. Twelve new members were elected and the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman.

INSTRUCTION ON A DIFFERENT PLAN.

ANOTHER NEW ELEMENTARY BOOK.

Another helpful little book of instruction for beginners in ringing has made its appearance. It is entitled 'Village Bells,' and deals with four methods of Doubles and six methods of Minor. The author, the Rev. R. Howes, Rector of Cold Higham, Towcester, describes himself as 'a duffer who began to ring when he was 50 years of age.' His exposition of the elementary principles of applied change ringing, however, belie his self-applied title, for he has an apt and concise way of explaining how the methods dealt with should be rung, and, as the book deals with Plain Bob, St. Simon's, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, and Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Double Court, Double Oxford, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor, the beginner is able to break a good deal of ground in the art. But the book has a claim to a further mark of merit in its originality. For the first time, we believe, in any publication, the author has adopted the idea of a staircase for showing the movement of his bells, and the figures of the rows are printed vertically instead of in the customary horizontal lines. The figures begin at the bottom so that the idea of hunting up or down is clearly conveyed by the diagrams. In a foreword, Canon Coleridge says the work, 'starting on a different plan will be welcomed by many a beginner.' The book has the further advantage of being enclosed in stiff covers and within the reach of everyone at the post free price of 9d. from the author.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

CENTRAL DISTRICT MEET IN THE CITY.

On Saturday last a very enjoyable meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held at the interesting old Church of St. Olave, Hart Street, London, about 40 members and friends attending. The methods rung during the afternoon ranged from Grandsire Triples for the beginners to London Surprise. The service was kindly conducted by the Rev. Brewer, of St. Luke's Church, Old Street, in the absence of the Rector. After the service, the company adjourned to a nearby 'A.B.C.' where the wants of all were ably catered for. The ladies then held their business meeting in the church while the gentlemen returned to the belfry for further ringing.

Miss Radley, of Broxbourne, was elected a member, and it was proposed that the district annual meeting should be held at St. Clement Danes, providing permission was granted for the use of the bells.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Brewer, and to Mr. H. T. Wilson for his many kindnesses. This concluded the business.

At the suggestion of Mr. Wilson, the visitors were shown many objects of interest in the church, a very historical one, dedicated to Olaf, a Norwegian King of the 11th century, and associated with Samuel Pepys. Further ringing afterwards took place.

HOLBORN.—On Sunday, January 29th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes): H. C. Alford 1, J. S. Hawkins 2, W. J. Norton 3, R. W. Green 4, C. J. Choct 5, T. Langdon 6, R. T. Newman 7, E. Brett (conductor) 8.

BELL TOWERS.

Continuing his lecture, Mr. Lewis referred to the ordinary type of timber frame. In this shrinkage of the timber would change the angle of the bevel at the ends of the struts and might set up a rocking motion in the frame when the bells were rung. In such cases steeplekeepers used sometimes to put in a wedge between the frame and the wall. Unless such wedges were regularly attended to, they would always work loose, and the movement of the frame would set up a hammering effect on the stone. While the average tower could stand a large amount of finite force, if properly applied, it would not stand a hammering action. A force of two tons pushing horizontally was nothing—it was less than the wind pressure on the tower—but a hammering action of even a few foot-pounds would soon loosen the stone and start a crack which would begin to creep. A lot of these old timber frames have, through neglect, been responsible for a great deal of damage to towers. The remedy was simple. It was easy to insert steel, wrought iron, or preferably non-corrosive bolts vertically through the frame and screw the nuts up tight. By that means they could get the wooden frame to stand quite well, if the nuts were screwed up in periods of dry weather.

There was something to be said for the æsthetic argument put forward by Mr. Powys, who preferred to use a timber frame in an old church tower. For many reasons he (Mr. Lewis) rather agreed with him, especially as it was possible to remove one of the troubles, which concerned the ringers more than the tower, namely, the effect of twisting due to shrinkage of the upper members of the frame. The bad 'go' of bells due to this cause could now be overcome by the use of self-aligning bearings.

In illustrating the relative strains on a tower caused by wind pressure and by the ringing of bells, Mr. Lewis quoted as an example a tower like St. Benedict's, Cambridge, 70ft. high, 20ft. square and with the bells hung 50ft. from the ground. In bridge structures the Board of Trade called for a resistance of 56lb. to the square foot. This was excessive, but 14lb. wind pressure to the square foot was not at all unusual, so that even on this figure the pressure on the top 20ft. of the tower of St. Benedict's would be approximately 2½ tons above where the bells were hung. Even if they put the maximum force due to the bells at 1½ tons, it was much less than the wind pressure.

KNOWN AND UNKNOWN FORCES.

Sometimes, continued Mr. Lewis, they heard of people being frightened of a tower being rung over. The walls of St. Benedict's were 3ft. thick, and the tower would weigh something like 10 tons per foot of height. That meant that the tower weighed approximately 700 tons. Assuming that the tower had no foundations, it would require a force of 140 tons applied at a height of 50ft. to topple it over, or the ringing of a bell of 70 tons weight (if the bell were hung out from the headstock). If the tower were built of good masonry, without any reinforcement, it might require a force of 300 tons to break the walls. They need not, therefore, be worried about the actual amount of the forces set up in ringing. What might be worrying, however, was to have these forces in tune with the natural movement of the tower, when there was a danger of progressive increase of stress in the walls. It so happened that the period of half a second of the forces set up by bells of average weight coincided with the average period of the average church tower swinging by itself. Practically every tower could be regarded as an elastic structure, which moved in proportion to the amount of force applied. When the force was removed, it returned to its original position, and it was the coincidence between the maximum forces set up by the bells and the natural period of the tower that caused some towers to move rather more than was comfortable and some to be regarded as unsafe. Just as when a bell was mounted in a spring frame they did not know what forces were acting on the tower, in the same way, if the tower was acting as a spring and they got it in time with the oscillation of the forces acting upon it, they did not know what stresses they were getting in the structure. There are some towers in which the bells go well at certain speeds. If they had rung at St. Andrew's Church, Holborn, with an entirely strange band and had rung the sixth or seventh, they would probably have found a difficulty in striking either of these two bells. If, however, they had rung with the local ringers, who rang on Sundays, they would have wondered what on earth they had previously complained about, for they would have had no trouble in ringing either the sixth or seventh with the local ringers. The secret was that those who knew them rang the bells rather faster than the average stranger, and thus missed getting the forces set up by the bells in tune with the tower. The difference between a beat of 28 changes to the minute and 25½ was quite enough to get them out of tune with the tower. Holborn was a fairly tall tower, and he should imagine that the natural beat of it was rather more than half a second, and that was the reason why in that tower they had to ring the bells rather quickly. He had been to a tower that afternoon (Alton, Hants) where the natural beat of the tower was distinctly slow, and it so happened that they had some round ringing that was distinctly slow. The question raised was whether it was safe to go on ringing. In

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A SALFORD CHURCH REVISITED AFTER SEVEN YEARS.

The February quarterly meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Sacred Trinity Church, Salford, on Saturday, February 18th. The bells were set going prior to the service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. L. Hussy, M.A.).

The Rector, in his address, gave some very interesting facts concerning the church, the original of which was built in 1635 by Humphry Booth, founder of the now well-known Booth Charities.

After the service the Rector escorted the members through the church, pointing out things of interest, and exhibited the church's collection of silver, some of which dates from the early 18th century.

Tea was afterwards served in the Schoolroom, followed by the business meeting.

The chair was taken by the Rector, and the meeting was representative of 13 towers of the branch, and included the branch president (Mr. C. Ollier) and members from Bolton. The members stood in silence as a mark of respect to the late Mr. W. Hovan, treasurer of the association, Mr. D. Clarke, Swinton, and Alderman Lees, Salford, the last-named having been connected with the church for many years and father of the present chief ringer.

Five new members were elected, including the chairman.

A committee of six was formed to consider the best means of carrying out the proposed branch social, and the feature, adopted at the last meeting, of holding special practice nights for higher method ringing is to be continued.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the chairman, the organist (Mr. J. H. Latchwood, D.F.C.), the ladies and to Mr. Lees and the other local ringers.—The Chairman, in responding, said he hoped the branch would visit Salford more in the future than had been the case in the past.

A special feature of this meeting lies in the fact that it is seven years since the branch last visited this church for a meeting. It had been almost placed 'out of bounds' by previous incumbents owing to the close proximity of an open market. The special thanks of the branch are due to the Rector for 'running the gauntlet of possible complaints.'

A QUERY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Can any of your readers please give brief particulars of a first peal of Stedman Cinques rung by twelve parishioners in their own tower?

GEORGE TWITCHEN.

his opinion it was safe to give the ringers permission to ring, provided they would not ring slower than 28 changes per minute. Once they got the beat of the bells away from the beat of the tower, the actual single forces were nothing much to worry about, but they were something to worry about if the two got into tune.

EFFECT ON THE RINGER.

One interesting point was how these movements affected the ringers. If they got a frame or a tower that moved, the gudgeon of the bell moved. Such an amount of movement might be serious from the ringers' point of view. In one tower examined there was a bell of 30 cwt., and the force acting on the gudgeons was double that, i.e., 6,720lb. The gudgeon was certainly moving a quarter of an inch, and the work done in moving the gudgeons was $\frac{1}{4} \times 6,720 \times 1/48$ foot-pounds. This would occur twice in each revolution, so that the ringer had to provide an additional 140lb. pull on the rope through the distance of one foot of his pull at every stroke to keep the bell up. The tower might, if he were lucky, lurch back and help the bell in the second half of its swing—it might or it might not—but, judging from the perspiration that came out of the ringer at this particular tower, he did not think he was one of the lucky ones (laughter).

Mr. Lewis mentioned one case where the tower seemed to refuse to have anything to do with the church. A crack between the tower and the church developed, and as soon as it was pointed, the tower shook itself free again. He was asked if he could suggest a sufficiently elastic cement to fill the cracks and bind the church and the tower together again. He sent for a plan of the bell frame, and, on examining it, he was able to send, through Mr. Powys, a message to the incumbent and say that if he would spend a few shillings on roping the tenor on the other side of the wheel, he need not worry about elastic cement. The advice offered was taken, and there had been no more trouble. The tower and the church were reconciled.

In answering questions, Mr. Lewis showed how greatly the strength of tower walls was affected by the presence of doorways or windows, or the western tower arch of a church, the walls of a tower with both a western arch and a western window being approximately (in some cases) ten times as stiff from east to west as from north to south.

At the close the hon. secretary of the Guildford Guild, under whose auspices the lecture had been given, thanked Mr. Lewis for his interesting and instructive address, and mentioned the great work which Mr. Lewis was doing in many departments for the benefit of the art of ringing.

The motion was carried by acclamation and acknowledged by Mr. Lewis.

A VICAR'S REPLY TO AGITATORS. 'DO NOT APOLOGISE FOR RINGING.'

'Ring the bells more often and ring them louder,' was the reply of the Rev. H. B. Coleridge, Vicar of Leatherhead, to those who agitate for the silencing of church bells. He was addressing the ringers at the service held in connection with the annual meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. 'In an age when there is more hideous noise in the world than ever before,' he said, 'there has been criticism of your glorious music. Those who have been the mouthpieces of this agitation are partly the same as those underlying the agitation against all that is true and good, pure, holy and divine. Do not,' he added, 'ever for one moment be ashamed of your ringing or apologise for it. The ringing of the bells is part of the Voice of God calling those who hear them to a realisation of the fact that Jesus is our Saviour and our King.'

The business meeting followed tea at Leatherhead Institute, presided over by the Vicar, who was supported by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston and the district officers. Over thirty ringers were present, representing most of the towers in the district, and there were visitors from London, Croydon, Beddington and Guildford.

Those present stood for a few moments in silence as a mark of respect to the memory of Mr. William Cook, of Ashted, who had recently passed away.

The Chairman welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Johnston to the meeting, and the hon. secretary (Mr. A. H. Smith) then presented the accounts, which showed that 57 ringing members and three honorary members paid subscriptions during the year, and that the balance in hand had increased from £5 14s. to £6 10s.

The committee's report stated that the number of members who paid their subscriptions was below that of last year. The meetings had not been attended as well as might have been expected. The committee felt the members might do more in this respect to encourage the officers, and, while it was realised that some members could not afford to attend every meeting, they thought that every member might attend at least one meeting each year. The combined practices had been better attended, and it was hoped that this would continue. The Ashted practice on Thursdays attracted ringers from outside the district, and members were reminded that they were welcome every Tuesday evening at Leatherhead. The district was badly placed at present for extra ringing. Ewell and Dorking bells needed attention, and both Epsom towers were closed to outside ringers on account of objections raised to ringing by local householders. The number of peals had fallen off and only eight had been rung, as a consequence of the difficulty in getting towers and the removal of Mr. Alan Pink from the district.

The balance sheet and report were adopted.

Two new members attached to Cobham tower (Messrs. A. Holding and A. Moore) were elected, and the election of Messrs. N. Hobden, W. Hobden and A. Wooloff (Banstead) was confirmed.

Mr. A. Harman was elected District Ringing Master and Mr. A. H. Smith hon. secretary. Messrs. G. Marriner and A. Whiting were elected on the Executive Committee, and the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge was elected the hon. members' representative.

The retiring general officers of the Guild were again nominated, and four nominations for three Central Council representatives were put in, viz., Messrs. A. H. Pulling, A. C. Hazelden, G. Grover and R. Whittington.

The Walker Memorial Scheme was explained by the general hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), and the sum of £12 was voted from the district funds.

Newdigate was selected for a meeting in June, Rammore Common for a joint meeting with the Surrey Association in July, and Leatherhead for the annual meeting in 1934. Other meetings will be arranged as towers are available.

Thanks were accorded to the officers for their services, to the Vicar for the use of the bells and particularly for his encouraging address, and also to Mr. Arthur Dean and the local band for their welcome.

The ringing during the day covered the standard methods on eight and ten bells, and also included a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex Association was held at West Ham and Pevensy (two six-bell towers) on Saturday, January 28th, when about 20 members attended from Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Hastings (All Saints'), St. Leonards, Uckfield, Lewes and members of West Ham band. Mr. Piper, of Eastbourne, was also present. The Vicar of West Ham (the Rev. J. A. Davies) was waiting at the church to welcome the ringers as they arrived. He also conducted the service and gave a most interesting address. The Vicar of Pevensy was unable to be present owing to illness.

At the business meeting, which followed tea, the Rev. J. A. Davies occupied the chair. Two members were elected, Messrs. A. H. Funnell and W. Levett, both of All Saints', Hastings.

Mr. G. W. Stokes proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of West Ham for the use of the bells and also for presiding at the meeting. The Vicar, in responding, said how pleased he was to welcome the association to West Ham, and stated that he hoped to attend the next meeting, which will be held at Eastbourne. The ringers kept the bells of Pevensy going until about 8 o'clock.

'PEAL GRABBERS.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In Mr. Gilbert's interesting letter he mentions those ringers who come under the term, 'peal grabbers.' A ringer who comes under this heading is of little or no use to the fraternity at large.

In all parts of the country there can be found 'Surprise peal cliques.' Week after week they meet and ring peals in the higher methods. Sometimes these are well struck, but more often than not they are the opposite.

If asked to stand in a peal of Plain Bob, the majority of these ringers would, strange to say, be 'otherwise engaged.' Which is the greater performance, a peal of Doubles, including one or two 'first peals,' or a peal of Surprise Major which is rung by ringers whose names are familiar to all change ringers? Surely the former.

If some of the 'Great I Ains' would spend some of their time helping learners to ring their first peals, they would be making use of their time and not wasting it. Every ringer's motto should be 'Learners first.'

One's ability as a change ringer should not be judged by the number of peals rung in the higher methods, but by the number of times the words, 'First peal,' appear under performances in which they have taken part.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT MEETING AT CHILHAM.

A most successful meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was held at Chilham on Saturday, February 18th. Upwards of 40 members attended from Canterbury Cathedral and St. Alphege, St. Peter's, St. Lawrence, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, Wickhambreaux, Littlebourne, Dover, St. George's, Gravesend, Queenborough, Northfleet, Wye, Sturry, Home, Kennington and the local tower. The bells were ringing soon after 3 o'clock, and later a short service was held in the church, the Vicar of Chilham (the Rev. J. Hilton-Spratt) officiating.

Subsequently the ringers adjourned to the Vicarage, where the Vicar entertained them to tea. In replying to a speech of thanks, made on behalf of the company by Mr. E. Spice, the Vicar said he hoped the association would soon come to Chilham again and ring the bells as merrily as they had done that afternoon. Chilham, he said, was an hospitable place, a sentiment with which the entire company heartily concurred.

After a short touch on handbells, 'Auld Lang Syne' was sung, and the ringers returned to the church vestibule for the business meeting.

Mr. Spice was voted to the chair. Two new members were elected, namely, Miss L. Wickens, St. Lawrence, and Rupert Barden, St. Alphege, Canterbury.

Hernhill was chosen for the next by-meeting, and an intimation was given by Mr. French, of Sturry, that it was probable the Romney Marsh Guild would hold a meeting at Sturry in the near future. Ringing continued in the usual methods until 8.30 p.m.

DEVON GUILD. EXETER BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Exeter Branch was held at Ide on Saturday, February 11th, and was well attended, about 50 being present. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. W. Millett), who in course of his address welcomed the members. Tea followed in the Church Institute, arranged by the ladies of the parish. The chairman (Mr. C. G. Glass) presided at the business meeting, when Upton Pyne was chosen for the next meeting, on April 29th, subject to the Rector's approval.

Mrs. Powell (wife of the president of the Guild) presented certificates to three members.—Mr. Ridler, of Thorverton, suggested that the branch ought to have a Ringing Master to take charge of the ringing at the meetings, and proposed that Mr. W. Richardson be elected.—This was seconded by Mr. J. Sandover and agreed to.

One new member was elected from the Heavitree band, and hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for his excellent address and the use of the bells, to the organist, to the ladies for providing such an excellent tea, and also to the Rev. H. C. Bennett (Rector of Alplington) for granting the use of Alplington bells. The meeting was a very enjoyable one.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. LIVERPOOL BRANCH AT BENEDICTION SERVICE.

On Saturday, February 11th, the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association held a very successful meeting at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis Xavier, which possesses a very fine ring of eight bells by Taylor and Co. The ringers received a wonderful welcome, and everything was done for their comfort.

Ringling commenced at 3 p.m. under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. H. Ludkin, and various touches were brought round. At 4 p.m. the ringers attended Benediction for the first time in the history of the association.

Benediction was imparted by the Rev. Father Minister J. Noon, S.J., assisted by Father W. O'Kelly, S.J., after which Father C. Cooksey, S.J., addressed the congregation in the Sodality Chapel.

In the course of his sermon (for the report of which we are indebted to the courtesy of the 'Catholic Times'), Father Cooksey said that church bells were among the oldest relics we possessed, and made special mention of St. Patrick's bell in Dublin. The most venerable and precious bell we had, he said, was a church bell. That was the bell of St. Patrick in Kildare Street Museum, Dublin. The bell was quite a little thing, made of beaten iron riveted together and dipped into brass. Its history was vouched for because it had been in the same family for centuries, handed down from father to son. St. Patrick had used the bell to call the people together for instruction, to call order in the church and to call attention to what he had to say. There were many ancient bells in Dublin, but none had the antiquity of that.

The beauty and symbolism of a bell, he continued, had always been linked to Christianity. If a man objected to the ringing of a bell, it was because he wished to stop in bed when other people were serving God. The friends of God were always associated with the ringing of bells, the enemies of God were always against them. It was the custom of those who lay in bed on Sundays to decry them, but a bell meant prayer and was intended to be a prayer. We ought to follow the idea of the bellringers of olden times, of those in Italy, who, when tempest or thunder came, rushed to the bells and rang and rang.

'In the same way,' he added, 'you ought to make the bells a prayer to God. You are giving the best you have got to Almighty God, and He will bless you for it. The language of the bells is your language, and God will surely hear the prayer of the bells as readily as He hears them in any other tongue.'

After the service the ringers returned to the tower for further ringing until 6.30 p.m., when an adjournment was made to the Refectory, where a sumptuous tea was both welcomed and appreciated.

At the meeting which followed, the Rev. Fr. Cooksey, S.J., presided. The usual business was disposed of, and three new members (including the Rev. D. P. Roberts, curate at St. Clement's, Toxteth) were elected.

The branch secretary (Mr. C. I. Davies) was instructed to write to Mr. William G. Mann congratulating him on attaining his 80th birthday. Mr. Mann is one of the founders of the association.

A vote of condolence was passed with the relatives of Mr. W. Horan, the late treasurer, the members standing in silence.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector, the Very Rev. Fr. I. Ireland, S.J., for granting facilities for the meeting and for providing such a beautiful tea, and to the Rev. Fr. Cooksey, S.J., for his inspiring address and for so ably presiding at the meeting.

In his reply, the Chairman expressed his pleasure in having been asked by the Rector to welcome the ringers to St. Francis', and hoped that he would have a similar privilege at a future date.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN DERBYSHIRE RINGER.

It is with deep regret we record the death of Mr. E. Robbins, of Palterton, near Bolsover, Derbyshire, after only eight days' illness. Mr. Robbins, who passed away on February 15th, succumbed to double pneumonia. The deceased was a regular Sunday service ringer and at Bolsover will be sadly missed.

The local ringers acted as bearers at the funeral, which took place on Saturday, February 18th, and as a last token of respect a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by John Flint, George Lewis, Sydney P. Palmer and Jesse Moss. Many of Mr. Robbins' ringing friends attended at the funeral, and afterwards joined in ringing the bells of the Parish Church in muffled touches of Treble Bob, Little Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative as a last tribute to one whom all loved and admired.

Deceased came to Palterton about 28 years ago, and joined the Bolsover band as a regular member. Although he had to walk two miles to the church and back twice each Sunday, he never was a slacker. He had rung well over 100 peals in all the standard methods and a few in Surprise methods. Previous to coming to Bolsover he took part in the record peal of Bob Major (10.464) on tower bells for the Yorkshire Association at St. Leonard's, Wortley. Mr. Robbins was 56 years of age and leave a widow, three sons and two daughters in bereavement.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING AT ISLEWORTH.

The annual meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild took place last Saturday week at Isleworth. Although the weather was kind, the attendance was somewhat disappointing, and it is hoped that it was due to reasons other than lack of enthusiasm. Many members, it is to be regretted, have been affected by the industrial depression, and its repercussions have been observed in the general attendance at meetings during the past year. Some 40 members and friends were present, and the ten bells were rung in a variety of methods, including Cambridge Royal, under the superintendence of Mr. H. C. Chandler, the Ringing Master. A shortened evensong was held, when the district vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope) read the lesson, and the Vicar (the Rev. P. W. Shepherd-Smith) preached an eloquent sermon. It was gathered from this discourse that ringers seldom attend the church service, a view which, of course, is erroneous and was later pointed out to the Vicar.

Tea followed in the Mission Hall, and a very enjoyable meal it was, too. The subsequent business proved rather lengthy, and the Vicar had to hand over his duties as chairman to the vice-president before the conclusion. Reference was made to the loss of Henry Edgeley by death. He had been churchwarden at Isleworth for many years, and he had always supported the association in its work during this period.

The secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow), in his report, said that the average attendance at the monthly meetings had been 30, which was slightly lower than last year. The total number of new members elected was 33. So far as finance was concerned, the receipts had been lower and extra expenses incurred, with the result that the total balance, some £14, was lower than the previous year. The question of the Heston Bell Augmentation Fund was brought forward, the scheme providing for the installation of two new trebles to make a ring of ten. It was agreed that a sum of £5 5s. be subscribed when required. Seventeen peals were rung in the year and two others were rung on handbells.

As is the usual custom, the offices of Ringing Master and Deputy Ringing Master changed hands, Messrs. E. C. S. Turner and I. Collins being elected respectively. The other principal officers were re-elected.

It was agreed that the supper, which was successfully introduced this year, be held in January, 1934, with the addition of a social and dance. It was also agreed that the Oxford Diocesan Guild (East Berks and South Bucks Branch) be invited to hold a joint meeting at Hillingdon in October.

The hon. secretary said he would be glad if members could attend the practices at Harlington on Fridays. The church authorities were anxious that change ringing should be taught to the young band that had been formed there.

Thanks were accorded to all the officers for their services in the past year, and to the Vicar of Isleworth for allowing the meeting to be held, etc. Mr. Liddetter was also thanked for having the bells ready. An enjoyable meeting concluded with a lengthy touch of Stedman Caters (it is thought the conductor was dreaming he was at Appleton!).

Will members please note that the next district meeting is at Chiswick on March 11th?

RINGERS BEAT POLICE.

AND ENJOY THEIR HOSPITALITY.

On Saturday week the 'half-yearly' feud between bellringers and Bolton Police was carried on at the latter's club in Old Hall Street, Bolton. The police had again invited the ringers to a billiards match and 'free and easy' social, and a large number, along with their wives and friends, accepted the invitation, filling the club to its utmost capacity. It had been hoped that this year the event would have been held in the new police quarters, but they are not quite ready.

When these functions were first inaugurated the police were invariably the victors, but this year the tables have been turned, the ringers taking the honours.

Following the games was a most enjoyable social. Eleven artistes sang solos and duets and gave recitations. These were inter-mixed with community singing (everybody being supplied with a song sheet) and touches on handbells.

P.C. Hayhurst extended a hearty welcome and another invitation to the bowling green in the summer. He said they all looked forward to the ringers coming, as they were then assured of a good night's entertainment.—Mr. Cutsforth moved a vote of thanks to the police for their invitation to the club. It gave them, he said, an opportunity of meeting together under pleasant conditions for a 'chin wag,' and allowed the womenfolk to know more of each other. He thanked Sergt. Crook for the trouble he had taken in making the evening successful.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

THE SPIRIT OF HENRY JOHNSON.

Another Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner has come and gone, and it serves as a reminder of the rapid passing of the years. It is just about half a century ago that admirers of the old Birmingham worthy began a series of annual gatherings to celebrate Johnson's birthday, and out of these grew the "commemoration" after the passing in 1888 of one of the greatest and most lovable figures that ever adorned the Exercise. There have been other men, more brilliant in scholarship and more prominent in ringing affairs, perhaps, who have served their day and generation well, but there does not seem to have been anyone among them as gifted as was Henry Johnson in the great art of making and keeping friends. In matters appertaining to ringing Henry Johnson had a master mind, but he did not talk about it; he just used it in a humble way for the benefit of those who needed his help and of the art which he loved so well. All who knew him—and they are now growing rapidly less in numbers; there were only ten present at the gathering on Saturday—speak first and foremost of his geniality and humility; it comes even before the genius which won for him a lasting place among the pioneers of the science. Henry Johnson will always have his place in the history of ringing, and as long as men who knew him remain he will have a cherished spot in their hearts.

The annual gathering, which serves to keep green the memory of such a man, is an institution which the Exercise does well to maintain, but we sometimes wonder whether it will have quite the same meaning a few years hence, when time, as inevitably it must, takes toll of the remaining handful of men who were the youth of Johnson's declining days. Those who have from year to year listened to the eulogies of this grand old man of change ringing paid by those who knew him in the flesh, have imbibed some of the sentiment which his contemporaries have endeavoured to hand on to us, but it will be difficult, if not impossible, for future generations, without any living link between them and Johnson, to retain the same spirit of esteem and appreciation which up to the present has existed in Birmingham. But Henry Johnson left a legacy to the Exercise which cannot be measured. His example in genius, in patience and in humility is a part of it which in these days it is well sometimes to think of and strive to emulate. A little more of the spirit of Henry Johnson would do no harm to-day, and if in the future it can be kept alive by an annual reminder, it will be all to the good of the art of ringing, whatever other reasons may be found—and there are many—for drawing together such a gathering as that in Birmingham on Saturday.

V.W.H. BRANCH PROGRESS.

A meeting of the Vale of White Horse Branch was held at Stanford-in-the-Vale on Saturday, February 11th. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock and was followed by a short service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon E. Farmer), who also gave the address. The Rev. A. J. de D. Denne (Rector of Shellingford) read the lesson, and Miss Whitfield was at the organ.

Tea was served at the Institute to 33 ringers and was followed by a business meeting, the Rev. A. J. de D. Denne (chairman of the branch) presiding, supported by the branch secretary (Mr. R. Gilling) and members from Faringdon, Stanford, Shrivenham, Uffington, Shellingford, Buckland and Great Conwell, with visitors from Childrey, Swindon and Southwark.

The Chairman said he was very pleased to see so large a gathering and welcomed everyone, especially the visitors and ringers from local towers not represented before. As it was the largest meeting held for several years, he was sorry the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) and the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) were not able to be present, as he was sure it would have been a great encouragement to them to see so many present. He felt that some credit was due to the local secretary.

Five new members were elected, viz., four from Uffington and one from Shrivenham.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Faringdon on June 3rd. The Chairman referred to the death of the late foreman of Stanford tower (Mr. C. Robinson), who had held that post for a number of years and took a keen interest in it.

The Rev. A. J. de D. Denne thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, also the organist, and the ladies for providing the tea.

The ringers then made a move to the belfry, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob were rung, and the bells were lowered in peal about 8 o'clock, bringing a very successful meeting to an end.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Would you please inform Mr. Dexter that, if he will 'beg, borrow or steal' the copies of 'The Ringing World' issued between November 26th, 1923, and March 25th, 1927, and read, as I have just done, all the correspondence on the subject of 'Washbrook's Six-Single' peal of Stedman Triples, he will understand why I consider it unnecessary to go all over the ground afresh. Particularly would I ask him to study the letters of Mr. W. H. Barber and Mr. James Hunt.

There is only one new feature come to light recently, viz., that Washbrook himself called it a variation of Thurstans'. All the evidence I have seen in print, direct from himself, has been (when he has called the peal) that he has put at the foot 'Composed and conducted by J. W. Washbrook.' What evidence has Mr. Dexter for his assertion?

Mr. Dexter's sneer about newly-acquired knowledge is unwarranted. There was at least one band of ringers of a 'peal' of Stedman Triples in the M.C.A. who knew more about it after I had written than they did before, as he will see if he refers to the letter of Mr. W. P. Whitehead in the issue of March 25th, 1927.—Yours truly,
W. A. CAVE.

VARIATIONS RUNG YEARS AGO.

Dear Sir,—After my name had been freely used recently by Mr. Hunt and Mr. Cave in reference to a variation of mine, I asked for dates of publication of both. You, sir, kindly supplied the information, that mine was published in 'The Ringing World' on February 4th, 1927, and that Mr. Cave's was printed on postcards bearing the date February 8th, 1927. The above needed no comment from me; in fact, comment from anyone would have been superfluous.

But recently someone kindly sent me two of these cards, bearing the Bristol postmark. My thanks to the unknown sender. Surely it was not Mr. Cave himself? Anyway, I would like to inform Mr. Cave that these variations had been rung years ago. Any 'mutt' with a very elementary knowledge of the subject, ay, even as big a 'mutt' as myself, knew that by using singles 9 and 11 for 14 and 2 you get the same result. But in these days this does not justify any claim to originality. So the peal rung last year by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was a variation of mine, as stated by Mr. Hunt. Now, as there are no royalties to collect, I will be really very generous, and Mr. Cave can have the whole caboodle, original and variations thrown in.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Another one-armed ringer has rung a peal. Mr. Horace E. Plowman, who is thus handicapped, rung in a peal of Stedman Triples at Irthlingborough, Northants, on Saturday.

Mr. Harry Withers has an unbroken record of 36 consecutive Johnson dinners to his credit—and he is looking forward to many more.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, who began his dinner career at the same time as Mr. Withers, has missed only one—when business took him to India.

A feature of the Birmingham gatherings is the large number of ladies who grace the proceedings. Last Saturday Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild, was among them. She was, some years ago, the first lady to attend a Johnson dinner, and thus set an example which to-day is widely followed.

Mrs. Cyril Johnston, of Creydon, is the first lady to respond to a toast at the Johnson dinner. Hitherto the speaking has been confined to gentlemen, but the departure was so successful that the innovation of to-day may be the commonplace of future similar events.

The wintry conditions of last week-end failed to keep the enthusiasm from the gathering, but probably the most courageous was a lady who induced her husband to drive her by car 110 miles over arctic roads in order that she might be present. To the 'chanceur' the ride conjured up visions of much warmer regions.

Several letters on the subject of 'Peal Grabbing' are held over.

MR. WILLIAM NEVARD'S BIRTHDAY.

After a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung by eight Williams, at Witham, Essex, to celebrate the 77th birthday of Mr. William Nevard, of Great Bentley, the Essex veteran entertained the rest of the company. He received hearty congratulations and good wishes upon his birthday, and was cordially thanked for his hospitality. Many peals, past, present and future, were discussed during the happy social hour which was spent after the peal.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The compositions which Mr. Dexter quotes in referring to my peal and rung at different dates belong to Mr. Sottanstill, and were published in his work about 1865. He was the first to publish a peal of Superlative with reversed course-ends and in five parts. The late Mr. Henry Datus produced the first two part with course-ends reversed about the year 1885, and I believe it has been left to me to produce the first three part. Some may say there is no advantage in reversing course-ends, but if there is anything in composing at all, it is in peals of this description that art lies.

THE PUPIL AND THE TEACHER.

SOME HINTS TO INSTRUCTORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your excellent leader, 'The pupil and the teacher,' interests me immensely. There is no doubt a little booklet as a guide to the instructor would be most welcome.

Many who try to get youngsters to take up ringing have no idea how to start. Pending the arrival of a book such as you suggest, might I trespass on your space to offer a few hints?

(1) Start at the beginning, show the pupil how the rope is handled, then take him to the belfry and whilst a colleague is swinging the bell from below explain handstroke and backstroke, the use of the slider and stay, how a bell is held up just over the balance and how necessary it is to cultivate the right amount of weight to take the bell up without breaking the stay.

(2) Put on a silencer and let the pupil have rope's end. See that he stands comfortably. I prefer the right foot slightly in front of the left. The rope should be adjusted to such a length that he must reach up well. Let the pupil pull at rope's end whilst the teacher looks after the sally.

(3) When he can control the bell at backstroke, let him have the sally, but be sure and 'see he reaches up well'—cramped arm ringing is not only ugly, but prevents good vision.

(4) When he has advanced sufficiently to try the bell entirely by himself, impress upon him the advantage of (as soon as he pulls off) putting his right hand immediately to the rope's end just above the left hand.

(5) As soon as he is master of the bell, but not before, let him try some rounds. Teach him to use his ears as well as his eyes; make him a good striker in rounds and he will always abhor bad ringing at any price.

(6) Do not attempt to let him try to ring changes until he can ring rounds really well.

(7) Do all you can to encourage your pupil. Do not let him sit in the tower all the evening doing nothing; give him a fair chance. If he is an apt pupil, do all you can to keep him. If after some time you have come to the conclusion that he will never make a good ringer because he will not try to learn, you are better off without him. BUT GIVE HIM A FAIR CHANCE.

THE HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION.

45th ANNUAL DINNER AT BIRMINGHAM.

Although the company was not quite so large as in some previous years, the gathering which assembled in Birmingham on Saturday for the 45th annual dinner in commemoration of Henry Johnson was as happy and enthusiastic as any of its predecessors. The arctic conditions of the week-end and the prevalence of illness kept away a number who would otherwise have been present, but the company numbered about 130. There was ringing during the afternoon at St. Martin's Parish Church and at other towers in the city, and in the evening the company assembled at the Imperial Hotel. The Rector of Birmingham (Canon T. Guy Rogers, B.D., M.C.) presided, but, unfortunately, Mrs. Rogers, who had intended to be present, was unable to attend owing to illness among her family. The Rector was supported by Mrs. Paddon Smith, Alderman J. S. Pritchett (Master of St. Martin's Guild), Mr. T. H. Reeves (hon. secretary), Mr. Albert Walker (Ringing Master) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. A. Paddon Smith (vice-president), Canon Blofield, Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Central Council), Mrs. E. K. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild), Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnson (Croydon), Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. Harry Mason (Bagley), Mr. W. G. Robinson (churchwarden of St. Martin's), Mr. F. E. Dawo (London), Mr. J. George and Mr. J. H. Shepherd (vice-presidents of the Guild), Mr. A. J. Hughes (Bradford), Mr. S. F. Palmer (Sheffield), Mr. G. Horner (York), Mr. E. Guise (hon. secretary, Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mrs. Wilkins, Mr. W. Knight, Mr. W. Birt, Mr. P. C. Williams, Mr. F. Skidmore (Bristol), Mr. J. Austin (Gloucester), Mr. T. F. King (Bath), Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood (Wisbech), Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), Mr. H. Knight (hon. secretary, Archdeaconry of Staffs Society), and members and friends of St. Martin's Guild from a wide area, including Wolverhampton, Coventry, Walsall, etc.

An excellent dinner was served, and at the close the Chairman submitted the loyal toast, which was enthusiastically honoured.

THE CHURCH'S OPPORTUNITY.

Mr. F. E. Haynes proposed 'Church and State,' and in the course of a thoughtful speech remarked upon the closer contact which now existed between the bellringers and the Church, in which they were being more and more recognised as essential servants. The clergy also were taking a far keener interest in their activities than before. At St. Martin's the ringers were singularly happy in their relations with the Church as personified by the Rector, who frequently came up into the ringing chamber himself and brought visiting clergymen from all over the world with him, while on one evening a considerable portion of the congregation visited the belfry at his invitation. It was not perhaps out of place to say that in return for this increasing interest which was being shown by the clergy in the ringers it was fitting that an increased interest in the Church should be shown by certain sections of the ringing community. It was not fair of ringers to expect the clergy to take them to their bosoms, as it were, if they did not support the Church adequately. Continuing, Mr. Haynes said the fact that they coupled Church and State in their toast showed that they considered there was a close relationship between the two. It was more and more becoming realised that the application of Christian principles was necessary to successful government, not only in affairs of State, but even in world affairs. Surely now was the Church's opportunity to go forward and make itself definitely the head in the relationship between Church and State? In the last 20 years there had been extraordinarily few fine statesmen, but there had been a number of fine churchmen, and it would be a good thing if, by some means, they could get more power for the Church in the councils of the nation through the Bishops and higher clergy. He did not mean that they should have a power behind the throne as in the days of Cardinal Wolsey, but if the Bishops and higher clergy could play a more important part in the governing of the State, he believed it would be for the good of the country. The Rector of Birmingham often put before them in his sermons current events all over the world, and showed them how the Church could play its part in them and how its influence was increasing. They saw portrayed in their Rector not only the characteristics which they accepted as churchmen, but also the qualities of higher statesmanship which they would welcome in their politicians (applause). He hoped the association between Church and State in this country would long continue to flourish and that the power of the Church within the State would increase. It was because of such men as their Rector that they saw the power of the Church actually increasing in the State, and it was peculiarly apt that his name should be coupled with the toast (applause).

RELATIONS BETWEEN CLERGY AND RINGERS

The Rector, in replying, congratulated Mr. Haynes upon his very able speech. Apart from the kind words he had used about himself, which he appreciated very much, he admired the way in which he had dealt with the toast. The Rector added that he thought it was a delightful thing to see the happy relationship growing up between clergy and ringers. It was quite true that the relationship at St. Martin's was of the very happiest kind. Whenever he went into the belfry he received a hearty welcome, and the smiles on the faces of the men sent him down to take the service in the church encouraged with a sense of fuller friendship, and he believed that out of that friendship on the part of the ringers grew a greater desire to support the Rector in the services. He remembered Mr. Paddon Smith saying on one occasion that they ought not to think of the bells as being simply intended to ring to bring the people to the church, but that they had a message of their own. In that way they formed part of public worship and thus had a far larger symbolism and spiritual purpose than some people seemed to understand. The more both clergy and ringers realised that, the closer would be their relation in that worship for which they were mutually responsible. The Rector went on to thank Mr. Walker for his co-operation in the plan of getting members of the congregation up into the belfry to see the ringing room and the work of the ringers. At least 80 people visited the belfry that evening, and he hoped that at least as many more might be able to visit it on another occasion. He believed in creating a real spirit of friendship in the church and its worship, and he thought it would be quite possible for the clergy and bellringers to co-operate in bringing the whole congregation together in a larger social life.

With regard to the relations between Church and State, the day had long since passed when the Church attempted to govern the State, and he hoped they would never arrive at the time when the State tried to govern the Church. They should run like husband and wife in double harness, and although that was sometimes a little difficult (laughter) and required a considerable amount of tact and discretion, of mutual sympathy and understanding, that was precisely what they wanted to see in the relations of Church and State (applause). He was glad that the relations at the present time were happy. The separatist movement seemed to have died away; there was no demand that he knew of for disestablishment. The old social prestige of the Church was being more and more shared with the Free Churches, the old education controversy which used to divide them was a thing of the past, and there was a new feeling of fellowship between all the churches. The whole situation was different, and he did not think they would find any demand outside the Church for disestablishment. The more the Church witnessed to the true Christian faith the more did the citizens generally respect it, and he was glad to see the Church continually taking the lead in social questions. Church and State were working together in Birmingham for the welfare and uplift of the citizens, and although they lived in dark and difficult days, and the economic situation was so strained, the relations between Church and State were of quite a happy character, far different to what they were in Spain or Russia. They thanked God they had been allowed to take a share in what was being done and that there had been no forfeiture of the confidence of the people among whom they lived (applause).

THE MEMORY OF HENRY JOHNSON.

Mr. Harry Mason was entrusted with the toast of 'The Memory of the late Henry Johnson.' The quotation appended to the toast, 'His life was gentle,' was a very apt one, the speaker said. That was the essence of Henry Johnson. If ever there was a man who was humble, that man was Henry Johnson. Humility was a grace with him. A tremendous amount of ringing talent was brought together on the occasion of his 80th birthday festival, which he (the speaker) well remembered, and which was really the origination of that gathering. The festival lasted three days in Birmingham, from Thursday to Saturday night. The arrangements were made by Sir Arthur Heywood, together with Mr. Harvey Reeves, of 'The Bell News.' It resulted in bringing together one of the biggest companies of ringers ever seen in Birmingham. He was almost a stranger among the party at that time, and it was a great pleasure to him—a pleasure which he had never forgotten—to be introduced by such friends as Mr. Samuel Reeves, Mr. Rock Small, Mr. Russam and others. It was an honour to be there, where all, with one accord, did honour to the great talent and genius which Mr. Johnson had displayed in the art of ringing. Mr. Mason recalled his introduction to Johnson on that occasion and the old man's interest in what was being done in connection with a new peal of bells which had at that time been put in not many miles from Birmingham. Before his birthday came round again Henry Johnson had passed from them, and it was a sad gathering that met for the first commemoration dinner in the following year. Mr. Mason added that a dinner on Johnson's birthday had been originated first about 1862, when he reached his 73rd year. That gathering was held at the Dog and Partridge, and was continued until the 'Johnson Dinner' was inaugurated on his 80th birthday. Every year since then they had met to do honour to his memory. In his lifetime Johnson was at everyone's beck and call, to help in composition and assist in peal ringing, but the characteristic which struck him (the speaker) most was the great humility of the man. He was always ready to sink self in order to help others; and it did them good to think of the lives of such men as Henry Johnson. Mr. Mason went on to pay a tribute to Johnson's personality and genius, the results of which remained with us until to-day. Among all the famous men who had gone from them Johnson occupied a unique position, and they did well on those occasions to remind themselves of all that he did for them and the stimulus which he gave to the art of ringing. Johnson was tremendously keen on good striking, and he wondered what he would have said of the practice advocated in a recent letter in 'The Ringing World.' If there was one thing more than another on which Mr. Johnson insisted it was on good striking, and if they could pay no other tribute to his memory they would do well to keep up his tradition for good ringing. If bad striking were to be allowed or recognised in any form or way, the art of ringing would be lost altogether. If, concluded Mr. Mason, to live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die, then Henry Johnson lives to-day.

The toast was honoured in silence.

Afterwards three leads of Kent Treble Bob on 14 bells was faultlessly rung by A. E. Norman 1-2, A. Walker 3-4, G. F. Swann 5-6, F. E. Pervin 7-8, F. W. Bailey 9-10, F. E. Haynes 11-12, M. J. Morris 13-14.

PROSPERITY TO ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett, who again proposed 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' said one evidence of its continued prosperity was to be found in the handbell ringing they had just heard. The fact that the Guild had produced seven men who could ring changes on 14 bells, and that most efficiently, was evidence of continued prosperity. He congratulated the Guild on that most excellent gathering of old friends, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Many had come from long distances to show their appreciation of the memory of the late Henry Johnson. The past year, he continued, had been an entirely satisfactory one for the Guild. The practices and Sunday service ringing had gone on as usual, and he did not think the clergy had any cause to complain at any of the churches. Many young ringers were coming forward, which was another sign of the continued prosperity of the Guild. There were those in every society, he said, who distinguished themselves as pioneers, and among those in St. Martin's Guild he would mention one or two. They were indebted to Mr. George Swann for his services as librarian, and also for his good work at Ewington, where they had a distinguished lady ringer, who was with them that night, Miss Sanders, who during the past year had rung peals of London and Superlative Surprise (applause). He would also like to mention two ringers at King's Norton, Mr. Webb and Mr. Fearn, who had kept the art going there. Mr. J. Neal had rendered valuable service in Sunday ringing at St. Martin's and also as a ringer at St. John's, Deritend, while Mr. James George had again taken up the superintendence of the ringing at Bishop Ryder's Church. He congratulated him on attaining his 79th birthday, and hoped he would live long and ring many more peals. The Guild rang 21 peals in 1932. The number might not be considered large, but the quality had been excellent. He would mention more especially the peals of Cambridge Surprise Royal and Maximus. The peals had been in a great variety of methods, 66 ringers had taken part in them and there had been nine conductors. Among noteworthy events had been the restoration and reopening of the peal of ten bells at Solihull, which were recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.; and the recasting and relanging of the eight bells at Selly Oak by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. During the forthcoming year they were looking forward with eager anticipation to the recasting and reopening of the bells at Aston Church (applause). Those bells were associated with his early ringing days, before he ventured to St. Martin's. He used to go there for practice under the able tuition of Mr. Russam, who they all regretted was unable to be present that night. He hoped before they met for a similar gathering next year peals would have been rung on the recast bells at Aston.

Continuing, Alderman Pritchett said they would all wish him to express their deep sense of the loss which the Guild had sustained by the death of Mr. Walter Bryant and Mr. Albert Parsons. Mr. Bryant was one of the old school of ringers, always willing to take part in a peal or make up a band. He was an excellent handbell ringer, although he never went as far as ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques in hand. Mr. Albert Parsons' death caused a great loss to the Exercise. He more than once proposed at those gatherings the toast to the immortal memory of Henry Johnson, and also proposed toasts on many other occasions, his usual theme being 'Church and State.' He held distinct and emphatic views on church discipline, and never hesitated to ventilate those views. They were all sorry to have lost such a colleague. In conclusion, Alderman Pritchett paid a tribute to the services rendered to the Guild by Mr. Albert Walker as Ringing Master, and Mr. Thomas Reeves, as hon. secretary. Mr. Walker ably represented the Guild, not only in Birmingham, but all over the country. There was no ringers' gathering of importance that he did not attend to represent the Guild, and last Whitsuntide he was elected an honorary member of the Central Council. He offered Mr. Walker their congratulations upon having attained that distinction. The Guild was prospering, he concluded, and he was certain it would continue to prosper. They were grateful to the clergy for the growing interest which they took in the work of the Guild, and they looked forward with confidence to the future (applause).

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The society's February meeting was held at Birstall on Saturday, February 25th. Owing to weather conditions (in the shape of a continuous downfall of snow, which has been slowing down the train services and in some cases stopping bus services altogether), the attendance was rather thin, only eight towers being represented.

The bells were pulled up about 3.30 p.m., and touches were rung in various methods. After an interval for tea, more ringing took place.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company, especially Mr. Herbert Peel, for his endeavours to make the visitors comfortable.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEMBERS SHOULD SET EXAMPLE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—What is our Central Council coming to? We have seen one member give notice to attempt an unorthodox peal, another says we must adopt a doubtful practical peal, but now the limit is surely reached when we are told by a clergyman to have had striking as a relief! Would he stand in the pulpit and advise his congregation to break some of the commandments in order to get the beauty of others? It is time some of the Council realised they are there to lead and set an example to the Exercise, not to push them back. In these days it is hard enough to stand up for good striking, without a member in the Rev. Herbert Drake's position advising bad ringing.

I am pleased to add that my experience of Suffolk ringers is that they do not follow Mr. Drake's advice. You can get striking there. A. H. PULING.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

In spite of the wintry weather, an enjoyable meeting was held at Ickleton on Saturday. Ringers came from Exning, Fulbourne, Harlow Common, Melbourn, Sawbridgeworth, Sawston, Trumpington, Woodford, and there was a splendid muster of the local band. Service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a helpful address. Mr. L. Lilley very kindly presided at the organ.

Tea and business followed. It was decided to visit the five-bell towers of Stetchworth, Wood Ditton and Dullingham on March 25th.

The proposed division of the district was discussed, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and organist.

Standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. Grateful thanks are due to Mr. Webb for making all arrangements. It is always a very real pleasure to visit Ickleton, and this occasion was no exception.

DEATH OF AN ESSEX FOUNDER MEMBER.

MR. THOMAS WATSON, OF BRAINTREE.

The founder members of the Essex Association are reduced to one by the death of Thomas Watson, which occurred, at the age of 84 years, on Saturday, February 11th, at Braintree. The sole remaining member is Mr. Thomas Edwards, of the same parish.

Mr. Watson, who had not rung for some years owing to his age, was a member of the old Braintree company, before the bells were augmented to eight. He was a remarkably good treble ringer and striker, and took part in many peals, including one in 14 methods. He was also a member of the College Youths.

At the funeral on Saturday, February 18th, the body was taken into the church, where the Vicar (the Rev. R. S. Eddeson) officiated. At the burial afterwards the assistant curate read the committal prayers.

Among those in church were Messrs. C. H. Howard (Master), H. E. Hammond and Thomas Edwards, representing the Essex Association. The floral tributes included one from the association which Mr. Watson helped to form. Immediately after the funeral, with the clappers half-muffled, 1,248 Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung: S. Warne 1, C. H. Howard (conductor) 2, W. G. Melbourn 3, H. E. Hammond 4, B. Redgweli 5, F. T. Eley 6, G. Wiffen 7, W. H. Hammond 8.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association, which was held at Galleywood on Saturday, February 18th. Ringing, which commenced at 3 o'clock, was followed by a service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. A. Roughton). The lesson was read by Mr. Howard (Master of the association), and an excellent address given by the Rev. T. Lancaster (Vicar of Little Leigh). Tea was afterwards provided at the school, when a company of 40 sat down, twelve towers being represented. The Rev. T. Lancaster presided, supported by the Vicar, the Master, District Master and District Secretary.

At the business meeting Mr. Sydney Easter, of Maldon (All Saints'), and Mr. Harold Moss, of Galleywood, were elected ringing members. It was arranged to hold the next meeting at Springfield on April 8th.

Mr. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the services, and to the Rev. T. Lancaster for his helpful address. He also extended thanks to the organist for his service and the ladies for providing the tea.

The Vicar and the Rev. T. Lancaster, replying to the vote of thanks, said it was a real pleasure to meet the members of the association again. The Vicar said he was always willing to let the members have the use of the bells.

Handbell ringing was subsequently indulged in, whilst others returned to the tower, where further ringing brought a most successful meeting to a close.

BRIDGNORTH'S VETERAN STEEPLEKEEPER.

Mr. John Overton, the veteran steeplekeeper of Bridgnorth, Salop, reached his 82nd birthday on February 15th, and in honour of the event a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Leonard's Church: H. G. Thomas 1, B. H. Head 2, J. Elcock 3, B. Head 4, Rev. G. Benson 5, W. Overton (conductor) 6, H. W. Overton 7, E. Foxall 8.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS FAULKNER.A PROMINENT LONDON RINGER.

It is with deep regret that we record the death, at the age of 57 years, of Mr. Thomas Faulkner, of Barking, who passed away on Wednesday of last week. Mr. Faulkner underwent a serious operation about a year ago, from which he made a good recovery, but a recurrence of the trouble had, unfortunately, confined him to bed since Christmas. He leaves a widow and two sons in bereavement.

Mr. Faulkner was held in high respect in London ringing circles, as well as in Essex, where he resided. He was elected Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1912 and 1913, and had represented the society for many years on the Central Council. He was also for a long period a member of the committee of the Essex Association, which he had further served in other capacities.

Mr. Faulkner's ringing career began in 1893 at Barking, when the late Mr. E. A. Davis established a new band at St. Margaret's Church, but out of the first dozen who joined, only Mr. Faulkner and Mr. A. C. Hardy stuck to the art. But the foundation of the present company was laid, and ever since there has been a good band at this church, where change ringing was taught by two old College Youths, Messrs. Samuel Hayes and York Green. Mr. Faulkner rang his first peal in 1895, and afterwards rapidly added others in company with many well-known London ringers. He also took up double-handed change ringing and scored peals of Triples, Major and Caters. He called Holt's Original on handbells in 1897—the hallmark in those days of a conductor's ability—and Harrison's 8,895 Kent Treble Bob Major in April, 1899. He could also ring Surprise methods 'in hand.' He was a very safe conductor, and, brought up in such a school, was an excellent striker. A staunch churchman, Mr. Faulkner held strongly to the view that a ringer's first obligation was to the church, and that the highest type of ringer desired no other reward than a good conscience and the satisfaction which comes from duty well performed. Mr. Faulkner was a member of many diocesan and county organisations and had rung a large number of peals, including Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

Mr. Faulkner was one of the best known inhabitants of Barking, where he had lived from the age of six. All his business life had been spent with the firm of Messrs. Randall (Maltsters), Ltd., in which he had risen to the position of manager. He took an active interest in local affairs at Barking and was particularly proud of the fact that he was recently elected a manager of the Church of England School, at which he was formerly a scholar. He was a keen Freemason and at the time of his death was Reigning Master of St. Erkenwald Lodge, No. 2,808. He was also a member of St. Erkenwald's Chapter and of various other chapters and lodges.

The funeral took place on Tuesday at St. Margaret's Parish Church.

DEATH OF MR. W. WALMSLEY.A FIRST MEMBER OF THE CHESTER GUILD.

The passing of Mr. W. Walmsley deprives Macclesfield Parish Church of its oldest member. Mr. Walmsley, who was in business as a jeweller, was 66 years of age, and was recovering from an operation some weeks ago when he had a relapse and died on Friday, February 14th. He was the oldest member of the Parish Church company in point of service, and only last June completed his jubilee as a ringer.

He was only 16 years of age when he joined the St. James', Sutton, band, in 1882, for a period of three years, part of which time he was conductor. In 1885 Mr. Walmsley joined the old church company at Macclesfield, where he taught quite a number of young ringers, and was conductor for many years.

He had been a member of the Chester Diocesan Guild since it was founded in 1887, and was secretary and treasurer of the Macclesfield branch for the first seven years. For a similar period he represented the Guild on the Central Council.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, February 21st, the first part of the service being taken in the house, the Rev. N. A. Vesey, Vicar of Macclesfield, officiating. The ringers were represented by Messrs. J. Norbury and F. Yates, of the Parish Church, and W. Gayes, of Christ Church. Among the floral tributes was one in the shape of a bell from the ringers of the Macclesfield branch.

After the committal, the handbells were tapped over the grave by Mr. J. Norbury as a last token of respect.

At the Parish Church a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 55 minutes with the bells half-muffled: H. Lomas 1, W. Gayes 2, J. Worth 3, S. Dean 4, H. Dean 5, J. Westwood 6, A. Burgess (conductor) 7, F. Yates 8.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.CHERTSEY DISTRICT LIVES UP TO ITS REPUTATION.

Members of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild lived up to their reputation on Feb. 18th, when they failed, except in small numbers, to attend the annual district meeting at Ottershaw. This area has always been a difficult one to 'work,' and it is not being made easier by the attitude of some of the clergy. Despite the fact, however, that only eight members of the district were present, the meeting from other points of view was a success. Combined with it was a meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild, and this, with visitors from other Guildford Guild districts, notably Aldershot, helped to swell the attendance to slightly over 30.

The service was conducted by the Rev. F. T. Robinson (Vicar of Chobham), who made a feeling reference to the death of the Guild's first treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker.

After tea in the Parish Hall, the general secretary of the Guild (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) presided over the business meeting, and Mr. G. L. Grover (Guildford District secretary) discharged the secretarial duties. Miss Eastes was elected district secretary in place of Mr. H. Hancock, who retired, and Mr. H. J. Chaffey was appointed Ringing Master in place of Mr. F. E. Hawthorne. Messrs. J. Hessey (Chertsey) and W. Massey (Esher) were elected to the Executive Committee of the Guild, and Mr. Sayle (churchwarden of Ottershaw) was elected an honorary members' representative.

The general officers of the Guild were renominated, and for the three representatives to be elected to the Central Council at the annual meeting of the Guild, the following were nominated: Messrs. A. H. Pulling, A. C. Hazelden, G. L. Grover and R. Whittington.

Thames Ditton, Horsell, Chobham and Egham (joint with the Surrey Association) were selected as meeting places for the year, with the annual meeting of the district at Chertsey, if it can be arranged.

The district voted the sum of £2 to the Guild's scheme for providing a memorial to the late Admiral T. P. Walker, and the meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, to the Vicars of Ottershaw and Chobham, to the organist and to the chairman.

The ringing on the six bells included a variety of methods up to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

RESIGNATION OF STEEPLEKEEPER.

The congregation of St. John's Church, Bournemouth, have presented Mr. Frederick Frampton with a beautiful chiming clock, with a suitable inscription, in appreciation of his faithful service during 45 years at St. John's.

Mr. Frampton started in 1889 as organ blower, and continued in that capacity until 1900. At Easter, 1900, he was nominated a sidesman, which office he still holds. In 1907, after the tower and spire, had been built and the bells and chimes put in by the generous gift of two ladies, who have since been laid to rest, Mr. Frampton was asked to take charge of the bells and clock as a steeplekeeper, and to deputise for the verger in his absence. The time has now come when he must give way to a younger man. Although nearing 70, he hopes to carry on his ringing.

BECKENHAM, KENT—On Sunday, February 12th, a quarter-peal of Oxford Bob Triples for evening service: P. Meek 1, W. Rawling 2, A. Richards (first in the method) 3, W. Martin 4, G. Wickens 5, S. Humphrey 6, W. Smith (conductor) 7, C. Tammadge (first quarter-peal) 8. The ringers of the 3rd and tenor come from West Wickham.

MR. H. KNIGHT'S LONG SERVICE.35 YEARS CAPTAIN AT WOLVERHAMPTON.

In appreciation of his long and loyal service to St. Peter's Society, Wolverhampton, a presentation of Treasury notes was made to Mr. Herbert Knight, for 35 years captain of the company, at the annual supper of the society. Mr. Knight began his ringing at Highbridge, Somerset, 44 years ago, and for the last 39 years has been associated with Wolverhampton's Collegiate Church. During that time he has rung 436 peals, his longest being 11,563 of Grandsire Caters at Wolverhampton. The Rector (the Rev. R. L. Hodson), in making the presentation, congratulated Mr. Knight on his long period of 'really fine service' in the belfry of St. Peter's Church, and expressed the hope that his captaincy of the band would long continue.

Mr. Knight having acknowledged the gift, the Rector spoke in praise of the ringers' work and referred sympathetically to the recent death of Mr. E. F. Mitchell, a ringer for 20 years, following which the company stood in silence for a moment.

Mr. C. H. Clapham (Rector's warden) welcomed the visitors, including the Rev. C. H. Barker (Vicar of Swindon and hon. secretary of the Stafford Archdeaconry), Messrs. R. Pickering (Tettenhall), J. Perry (Brewwood) and F. W. Perrens (Coventry), and announced greetings from Canon Penny and Canon Stockley, the Revs. Frederic Willett and C. P. Way, Alderman Johnson, Mrs. Shaw (Aberystwyth), Messrs. Alfred Hall, W. H. Hinde and E. H. Bull.

The Rev. C. H. Barker responded, and Mr. W. M. Pinson (people's warden) also spoke.

Mr. H. Knight was re-elected captain, Mr. A. Baker secretary and treasurer, Mr. F. Brotherton librarian, and Mr. T. Smith representative to the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. Messrs. H. Griffiths and A. Smith were admitted probationer members.

The annual report, which was adopted, stated that the five peals rung on St. Peter's bells were outstanding, including two each of Cambridge Maximus and Stedman Cinques, and one of Grandsire Caters. In each St. Peter's band were well represented.

MR. H. KNIGHT*MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.*AYLESTONE VISITED AFTER 17 YEARS.

The mid-quarterly meeting of the Leicester District was held at Aylestone, on Saturday, February 18th. The six bells were raised in peal at 3 p.m. and kept going in various methods during the afternoon. A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Percy Lidster, B.A.), the M.C.A. form of service being used. The collection realised 8s.

Tea was partaken of in the Church Rooms, a company of 27 ringers sitting down. There was no formal business meeting, but the vice-president suggested that the collection be given, in the name of the Leicester District, to the memorial to Sir Arthur P. Heywood, once president of the M.C.A. This was agreed to. One honorary and one ringing member were elected, viz., the Rev. Percy Lidster, B.A., Rector, and Miss Kitty Gee, of St. Margaret's, Leicester.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for providing an excellent tea.—The Rector suitably replied, saying that he was informed that it was 17 years ago since the M.C.A. last visited Aylestone. He hoped it would not be so long before the next visit. The local ringers had been only too pleased to provide the tea.

Further ringing on the bells till 8 o'clock concluded a very pleasant and enjoyable meeting.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association took place at Storrington on Saturday, February 18th. Owing to illness, the meeting was not so well attended as usual; the following towers, however, were represented: Billingshurst, Henfield, Heene, Kirdford, Warnham, West Grinstead, Washington and Storrington.

Ringing commenced soon after 3 o'clock, and later the members attended a short service, conducted, in the absence through illness of the Vicar of Storrington, by the Rev. G. Hall, Rector of West Chiltington. A substantial tea was partaken at the Old Forge, after which the Rev. G. Hall presided at the short business meeting. One new member (Mr. H. Markwell, of Storrington) was elected.

All the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, with the exception of Mr. W. Charman, whose place on the committee was taken by Mr. W. Denman.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman for his address and for presiding, also to the organist. The Chairman offered to convey the thanks of the members to the Vicar of Storrington for granting the use of the bells, etc. Another visit was afterwards paid to the tower for further ringing.

A FRENCH VIEW OF ENGLISH STRIKING*To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—I do not wish to join in any argument on the various phases of the Rev. H. Drake's letter in your recent issue, but there are one or two points he raises on which the following extracts might enlighten him somewhat. Thus in the first paragraph he states that abroad 'the only ringing they do is actual jangling—the more noise and clashing there is, the better pleased everyone is.' Now I have recently been in correspondence with a French gentleman, who is a professor at an English college, and he tells me in one letter that the majority of churches in France have one, two or three bells, and they are 'in accord,' i.e., a third below, or an octave, or lower third below. Thus if they happen to clash together there is not a discord like bells 'in sequence' would give. Your warning, too, about the single bell is timely, for if this is set up as an example to bombard the Church Assembly, it may be—even as your leader states—the thin edge of the wedge to banning ringing on larger numbers. It might be interesting to many ringers to quote from my French friend's letters on these subjects:

'The majority of our churches have only one, two or three bells (generally two). They may be played by the same man; such bells as we have in our villages or small towns being not too heavy, and the man teaches himself how to peal them in varied rhythms. For instance, in my village, where we have two bells only, they are played thus—only, of course, on big occasions—marriage, processions, baptism, feast days, etc. (then he gives a little tune of two notes with long and short duration—the first "sprightly," then "a little slower"), or according to the man's fancy—a blend of rhythm following each other after two bars and a pause, or after any number of bars. Ringing before any service is only pealed on one bell, the deeper note generally, and often the ringer just sets the bell into motion enough to have repeated strokes of the hammer on the same side of the bell (chiming) he does not set in full swing. The bells are never pealed more than one or two minutes—except on special occasion, WHEN THE LAW AUTHORISES A FIVE MINUTES' PEAL. As far as I know, churches must not peal their bells all at the same time in big towns (even and perhaps more so on special occasions, such as all the eves of holy days), BUT VICARS COPE WITH THE LAW in starting a minute before the other bell stops, and people who do enjoy bellringing may have a good ten or fifteen minutes' treat!!

'The majority of churches have a lighter and bigger bell—generally IN ACCORD—a third below or an octave, or a lower third below. Some towns even have arranged to have all their church bells in tune, so that when the Angelus is rung on the 'Bourdon' these show harmony and harmonics from their ringing all at the same time.

'I cannot remember when THE LAW FORBIDDING LONG PEALING OF BELLS was passed—somewhere round 1905 I should say—but since then, bells being rung one at a time, and for a short time, the sexton is now the bellringer. When the "bourdon" is a really big bell, there may be two men to pull the rope, but that is all.

Regarding our English ringing, my French friend asked:—

'Is it traditional in England to play all the bells some time all together—just as if it were a great harmonious crash! or make them run down the scale at a bright tempo, and keep on doing this for hours? Are there specially trained ringers, or does each parish use men of goodwill? Is variety of play allowed? Could bells be rung according to fancy, in true popular measure; a naive tune, a few variations and da capo? I ask all this because I really know VERY LITTLE about English ringing, the only contrast I am aware of being—if I may be bold enough to say so—the happy silence of our French Sunday evenings. Being, I think, a great lover of bells, the dismal and hectic and monotonous ringing I hear on English Sunday evenings leads me to think that OUR LAW, although very narrow and in its way rather intolerant, taught us at least that enough is as good as a feast. This is a challenge which asks for a vindication of English custom. I shall be only too glad to read you, and lose some of my prejudices.'

I wrote in answer to above, trying to explain, as far as my poor knowledge allowed, the English systems, etc., and received the following answer:—

'I had no idea change ringing was such a carefully devised science and art. It is, on the whole, very simple—hence its appeal; but very elaborate and requires well-trained ringers. We have nothing like it in France, nothing that comes anywhere near it. All I can see is that, contrary to our so-called national habits, you have turned bellringing into a most logical affair, while we stick to fancy and popular inspiration.'

Reverting to the matter of the public appreciating good or bad striking, there is one practice which cannot be too strongly condemned. That is the raising or falling of two or three bells anyhow—in a glorified jangle. I have often heard (and taken part in) a beautifully struck peal which has been spoilt at its conclusion by this practice. Surely if the hand is incapable or undesirous of raising or falling IN PEAL, the bells could be pulled up or silenced either singly or, as our French friends have it, 'in accord,' i.e., two or three which would 'blend' if struck together accidentally.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

W. E. WHITE,

Ivy Cottage, Cotgrave, Nottingham.

APPLETON.

Ringling history has been made in English villages as well as in the cities and towns, but among the places where "records" have been achieved none is more famous than Appleton, in Berkshire, a delightful little spot 'far from the madding crowd,' where for exactly a hundred and fifteen years the bells have been an 'institution' and become, as it were, part of the village life. They began as a peal of six, were enlarged by a bell at each end to eight, and afterwards by the addition of tenors to ten, and it is the achievements upon this latter number that have made the fame of Appleton bells. The record length of Stedman Caters has been rung upon them twice, and of Grandsire Caters at least four times, the former culminating in the 21,363 in 1922, and the latter in the 16,271 at the end of last year. But more remarkable still, perhaps, is the personal element in the long story of the bells. Alfred White was one of the first band of ringers in 1818; his grandsons help to ring the bells to-day. Appleton society has never been without members of this family for 115 years! George Holifield rang peals with Alfred White, and is still ringing peals with his grandsons. They live long in Appleton, and it may be that bellringing has something to do with it.

There is another thing about Appleton that deserves mention. In the whole of the 115 years it has never failed to observe 'the 4th of March.' Every year since 1818 a dinner, organised by the bellringers, has been held and, although on one occasion, owing to a disagreement, only two people sat down to eat it, it has never been allowed to lapse. Such continuity makes for great traditions. It is a pity that more of the same spirit does not pervade the Exercise. The men who set up the keeping of this annual festival enjoyed their ringing and enjoyed the social intercourse which always followed it. They did not put on their coats and disappear as soon as they had finished their peal. They may have belonged to the 'bad old days,' of which ringers are still often reminded from the pulpit—days which, in some respects, no one wishes to see back again—but they knew the real spirit of comradeship; they knew how to make their own opportunities for ringing and not wait for someone else to bring them to their door. Some of them may have been made of rough stuff, but they were also made of tough stuff, and when one hears of the adventures of these men of a past generation, as one can at first hand at Appleton, one cannot but admire their courage and perseverance and wish that there was more of their spirit abroad to-day. The opportunities for record making in ringing are growing fewer and further between, as the Master of the Oxford Guild pointed out on Saturday. In fairness to the public it cannot be expected that such long lengths as are now necessary to create new records can be permitted in populous areas. It is only to the Appletons and the Painswicks of rural England that we can look for such facilities, and it is important that the spirit and tradition of the past should be maintained in these places. In Appleton they are being worthily upheld.

WILLIAM T. PATES.

CHELTHENHAM VETERAN CELEBRATES HIS 80th BIRTHDAY.

'Age shall not weary him.'

The hoary traditions of ages of worshippers which brood beneficently over the magnificently hewn walls of the Parish Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Cheltenham—thickly studded as they are with memorial tablets—have inspired several living persons to pass their working lives in its shadow and in its service. Such a one is William Thomas Pates, who for the past 60 years has given of his best in loyal and faithful service in the belfry, and who on Saturday last celebrated his 80th birthday in true ringer's style by taking part in a peal of Stedman Cinques.

Born at Charlton Kings on February 28th, 1853, Mr. Pates remembers being carried on his father's shoulders to the Charlton belfry when peace with Russia was proclaimed. Inspired by his father—whose name was also William Thomas—he started ringing at the age of 15, and rang his first peal of Grandsire Triples with the Cheltenham Society in 1876. He joined the Prestbury Society for a short time, but returned in 1883 to the Parish Church, with which he has been actively associated ever since. Of his 200 peals, he is particularly proud—and justly so—of having called Holt's Original from the tenor, but his two outstanding achievements are the then record lengths of Stedman and Grandsire Caters. With the aid of such famous contemporaries as G. H. Phillott, F. E. Ward, C. H. Hattersley, T. Reynolds, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Canon (then Rev.) G. F. Coleridge and others, the 13,054 Stedman Caters was rung in 1888, and the 15,227 Grandsire in 1889. Both of these Mr. Pates conducted from the 9th, calling the Grandsire and the first attempt for the Stedman—which failed—without previously having called a bob in either method.

Elected captain of the parish ringers in 1891, the bells, tower and belfry testify in no uncertain manner to the loving care and attention since bestowed on them. A composer of no mean ability, he concerned himself chiefly with his favourite method, Stedman, and this survey could not be complete without a reference to his exceedingly clever productions of one-course touches of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques. To the best of the writer's knowledge, these have never been published, but are neatly tabulated and framed, and adorn the walls of St. Mary's belfry.

So much for the ringer, what of the man! Known best to ringers of a past generation, it were perhaps fitting that this tribute should come from one who has only known him a comparatively short time. Enjoying robust health, it would be more correct to describe him as '80 years young,' for his invariable reply to inquiries is 'I'm very well, thank you.' His cheery greeting and hearty welcome, together with his good companionship, stamp him indelibly with the hall mark of the English gentleman. With the tyros of the art, he is the last word in patience. His remarks when ringing, 'Nicely now, gentlemen, nicely,' or again, 'Strike me next time, please—thank you,' are only a proof of the natural courtesy meted out to all, and many a present-day conductor could well profit by his example. The writer well remembers an occasion several years ago when a band met at Cheltenham for a peal of Stedman Cinques—six of the band never having previously rung a peal of Stedman Cinques—and after four unsuccessful attempts to negotiate a pretty hefty starting course, the usual inquest was about to be held; all peal ringers know of that tense atmosphere which is apt to exist when things simply will not go right, and all hopes of a peal that day had been given up—when Mr. Pates spoke up, 'Come along, gentlemen, please; we've met here for Stedman, we can ring it and we're going to ring it if we're here all night.' The bells were sent away for the fifth time, and with the personality of William Pates dominating the ringing, a good peal was rung.

For his birthday peal Stedman Cinques was, of course, selected and a mixed band arranged. With a lusty youth of 79 summers striking his customary regular beat from the tenor box, the peal was duly brought home as reported elsewhere. For 3 hours 26 minutes 'my little treble' was rung without a single misblow, or deviating by a hair's breadth from the twelve-bell rhythm.

For the next celebration the aforesaid youngster of 79 is to ring the treble, while the grand young man of Cheltenham rings the tenor. One sad fact emerges. Mr. Pates' son—also William Thomas—was a keen ringer, but died a few years ago, and it is unlikely that there will be anyone of the name to carry on the fine traditions created by three generations of William Thomas Pates. A STEDMAN CENTENARY.

According to a peal board which hangs in Eccles (Lancs) tower and which was removed from St. John's, Deansgate, Manchester, on the demolition of the latter church, it is recorded that 'Eight members of St. John's Society of Change Ringers ascended this tower on February 27th, 1833, and in 3 hours 2 minutes rung 5,040 "Tripples" on the "Stedman's Principle," composed by ————, Leeds. This is the first peal in the method in the North of England.'

This centenary was duly observed by a band of Manchester, Eccles and District ringers on the 100th anniversary. Strange to say, although one of the band was in a hurry to catch his train, the peal refused to come round in less than 3 hours and 2 minutes. The brothers Richard and Harold Longden, who took part, were both members of the last band to ring at St. John's, Deansgate.

A BELL FOUNDRY BROADCAST. ENGINEERS' RACE AGAINST TIME.

A feature of last week's Midland Regional broadcast programmes was one from Loughborough on Wednesday, which included a talk on bells and bell founding by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, from the Loughborough Foundry, with accompanying effects, and a recital on the Loughborough carillon by Mr. W. E. Jordan.

Mr. Taylor spoke of the history of bell founding, and referred to the old bells in some Leicestershire churches.

He described Great Paul, which was cast at Loughborough in 1881. This bell, the largest in the Empire, weighs over 16 tons, is 9ft. 6in. in diameter, and is now hung in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Talking of change ringing, he mentioned the great Loughborough record of 18,027 changes, made on the ten bells of the Parish Church in 12 hours 18 minutes.

The B.R.C. engineers had a race against time to complete the arrangements at the carillon tower, and only finished a few minutes before the end of Mr. Denison Taylor's talk. The microphone was tried out in numerous positions in and outside the tower, and its final position was in the loft above the bell-chamber, with the trap-door closed to get a balance of sound.

In his enthusiasm to get the best noise effects at the bell foundry by holding the microphone in gloved hands a few inches from the molten metal, one of the engineers was slightly burned above the eye by a splash of metal.

CLEVELAND ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT ORMESBY.

The attendance at the meetings of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association does not compare in size with several of the larger associations, but what they lack in size they make up for in enthusiasm.

An example of this was afforded in the pre-Lent meeting held at Ormesby on Saturday, March 4th, when some 25 members attended from Ripon, Sharrow, Kirby Wiske, Darlington, Hartlepool, Saltburn, Skelton and Middlesbrough. The local band was, of course, in full attendance.

Ringing in the various standard methods (including Superlative, Double Norwich and Stedman) was indulged in on the beautiful peal of eight (tenor 18 cwt.) from about 3 o'clock to 8 p.m., and several of the members present had their first ring in methods new to them, under the supervision of the more expert ringers. All present were unanimous in expressing their appreciation of still another successful and happy Cleveland meeting.

The next meeting of the association is fixed for Whitby on Easter Monday, and it is mooted that this is to be the venue for several tower 'outings,' so a 'bumper' meeting is expected. All who wish to have a good ring on the wonderful ten at Whitby are advised to book that date.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Another attempt for the peal of 14,144 London Surprise Major is to be made on Saturday at Warnham by a band of the Sussex County Association. On Boxing Day they rang about four hours.

Another great feat in Spliced Minor ringing has been accomplished in Cheshire, where at Sutton last Saturday 30 methods were included in seven spliced extents. Six-hall ringers who want to learn how this sort of thing is done and to do it for themselves should purchase 'Method Splicing,' obtainable from 'The Ringing World' Office, 1s. 3d. post free.

Our readers will learn with regret that Mr. Uriah Braven, chairman of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, underwent a serious abdominal operation on February 21st in the Bristol General Hospital. The latest information which we have received is that he is going on as well as can be expected.

NEW CHURCH TOWER.

RING OF EIGHT TO BE INSTALLED.

Work on the erection of the tower of St. Thomas' Church, Westfield Street, St. Helens, Lancs, has begun.

The tower will cost £3,750, and will probably be completed by the end of the year. The scheme includes the addition of two bells to the six that were in the old St. Thomas' tower. The Rev. J. W. Glendenning, Vicar, states that of the cost £2,685 has been raised.

MEMORIAL TO RINGING ADMIRAL.

BELL TO BE RECAST AND OTHERS TUNED AT WOKING.

A memorial to the late Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., is to be provided in Woking Parish Church, where he was churchwarden for 25 years. A bronze memorial tablet, mounted on marble, is to be placed in the church itself, and the bells are to be tuned and the sixth recast. The scheme is to be carried out in conjunction with the Guildford Diocesan Guild, of which the Admiral was hon. treasurer.

In the later years of his life church bell ringing was one of Admiral Walker's greatest personal interests, and it was due largely to his efforts that the ring of bells was increased from six to eight in 1929. It was his desire that the six old bells should be tuned, and the carrying out of this work, which would doubtless have been done in his lifetime had funds permitted, is a very fitting memorial.

THREE GENERATIONS IN PEALS.

FAMILY ACHIEVEMENTS AT CRAYFORD AND IPSWICH.

Two families well known in the Exercise have scored a three-generations peal. Last Friday, Frederick T. Groombridge, of Crayford, rang his first peal, three days prior to his 15th birthday. He is the son of Mr. T. Groombridge, jun., and grandson of Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., who proudly shared in the boy's success. The peal was called by 'Grandad.' The remainder of the band consisted of a father—Mr. Robert Brett-Smith—and his two sons, Thomas and Cyril; and Mr. Edwin Barnett and his son, Edwin A. The band would like to couple with the peal the name of the late Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen. It was one of his cherished ambitions to see 'young Fred' through his first peal, which was to have included three generations of the two families.

Edwin A. Barnett, who is still only 14, rang in three peals last week, topping all his previous performances on Saturday by taking part in a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods.

The other three-generation performance was at Ipswich, where a peal of Grandsire Cinques was rung, in which Phyllis E. Tillet, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. John F. Tillet and granddaughter of Mr. Frederick J. Tillet, rang the treble to a peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Mary-le-Tower. Father and grandfather took part in the peal, and it is also interesting to record that while this young lady is only 14 years 2 months old, Mr. Robert H. Brundle, who rang the fifth, has reached the advanced age of 81. In his young days he rang peals with earlier generations of the Tillet family. Phyllis Tillet is the youngest girl to ring a peal on twelve bells; it would be interesting to learn the age of the youngest boy to do this.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. F. H. Dexter's 5,600 Superlative Surprise, quoted in your issue of 24th February, is the composition of H. Hales, who conducted it at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, on February 9th, 1850.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have no wish to enter into any argument concerning the above, but the following may be of interest to some of your correspondents:—

The first time the late J. W. Washbrook called this peal no composer's name was given to the peal, and the footnote read as follows: 'The above is Thurstans' composition, coupled together with six singles instead of extras and omits.'

MARCH THE 4th AT APPLETON.

A VILLAGE CELEBRATION.

March 4th is Appleton's 'great day.' Ever since the year 1818 it has been annually celebrated, and, although the original object of the festivities has been largely forgotten, the event has lost nothing of its interest to ringers with the passing of the years.

Appleton is still an unspoiled, old-world village—well, almost unspoiled. The finger of modernity is beginning to lay hold upon its ancient character. An ugly bungalow or two have made recent appearance; untidy electric wires thread their way overhead, portent of the advance of 'civilisation.' But it still has its old half-timbered, thatched cottages, its carefully clipped yews, which stand sentinel over the village street. Its moated Manor House remains cheek by jowl with the ancient Parish Church, and the village clings to its ancient traditions and its old love of its bells. No little ringing history has been made at Appleton, and great names have been associated with some of the performances. The famous peals which have been rung there have been recalled in these columns only recently, and two names that have been associated with all these great events are White and Holifield.

The story of 'March the 4th' is interesting. It is said that in the land enclosure of 1815 the then Lord of the Manor took more than he was entitled to. There was an outcry against his action, and to appease the village he gave a ring of six bells to the Parish Church, and, when they were opened on March 4th, 1818, he gave a feast to all the parishioners. That was the beginning of the celebration of March the 4th in Appleton, and it has never been allowed by the ringers to drop. March the 4th has sometimes been a 'moveable feast'—moved to the nearest Saturday—but it has always been observed.

There is in Appleton to-day a living link with the events of 1818. Mr. George Holifield, sen., who was born in 1858, knew and talked with villagers who were present at that first feast, and he has a still closer connection with the first Appleton ringers. The first recorded change ringing on the bells was a 720 of Bob Minor rung in 1821 by Joseph Trewell 1, Edwin Selwood 2, Alfred White 3, James Newman 4, James Maslin 5, Richard King 6. It was conducted by James Newman. Mr. Holifield rang his first peal on June 5th, 1875, and in that peal were Alfred White and James Newman. Alfred White died in the following year at the age of 73 and James Newman was 80 when he died in 1880. It is a wonderful record that these two generations of Appleton ringers, linked by a peal, should cover more than 110 years of ringing at one church.

So, too, with the Whites, successive generations have spanned the whole ringing history of Appleton, and worthy representatives of the family form the bulk of the present Appleton Society, as well as carrying on the well-known bellhanger's business established in the village two generations ago. Six brothers shared last Saturday in the celebrations, which were given an added interest by the unveiling of a tablet commemorating the record peal of 16,271 changes of Grandsire Caters rung in December last. This ceremony was performed in the afternoon by the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn). On account of the limited capacity of the ringing chamber, the ringers assembled in the church.

The unveiling of the peal tablet in a church, said Mr. Jenkyn, was something quite unique in that it was not like a memorial tablet to a great life that had been lived, or like a window or anything of that kind. A peal tablet was something different; it commemorated something that had been done by men who took a pride in doing it and were proud of the fact that they were able to do it through the various gifts which God had given them—gifts of strength and physical powers. The record was something which was going down to succeeding generations as a memorial of what had been done. The tablet to be unveiled that day was to record a peal of 16,271 Grandsire Caters, the previous record having been held by Cheltenham. The attempt started in very favourable conditions, because the composer and conductor received an exceedingly warm letter expressing warm wishes shortly before the peal. He (the speaker) heard the peal in the morning and was much struck by the excellence of the ringing. He was told that the ringing in the afternoon and evening was even better than in the morning, and, putting those two things together, he could only say it was a very fine peal. That was the sort of ringing they wanted in all peals. A peal was not worth very much if it had to be continually saved from one end to the other. They talked a good deal about the accuracy of striking and the accuracy of composition, but he did not think some people thought seriously enough about the accuracy of the actual ringing. That was a thing they might well take to heart. Continuing, Mr. Jenkyn said he thought it would be some time before either of the two records recently established in Appleton tower was surpassed, not because there were not people who would like to start, but because there were very few places in the country where it was possible to do so. Towers where such peals were possible were getting fewer and further between. Appleton had been very favourably situated in that respect, and they had been fortunate in having been able to start for record peals which had been safely accomplished. There was something peculiar about Appleton bells. Although anyone listening to the ringing of that last peal would have said that the bells seemed to go as easily as it was possible for bells to go, yet he knew perfectly well that they might have ten other men, all good ringers, who, if they did not know anything about Appleton bells, would have found considerable difficulty in ringing them as they were rung in the long peal. They might do it exceedingly well on other bells of similar weight, but on Appleton bells they would not find it so easy. The reason was there were certain men in that village who had acquired the peculiar 'quiff,' as it was sometimes called, of ringing the specially difficult bells in that tower, and there were very few other people who could ring them as well. When he spoke of the Appleton ringers he included, of course, not only those born and bred in the village of Appleton, but also those who, through friendship and fellowship with the Appleton men, had had considerable experience in the tower. In the name of the Oxford Guild he congratulated all those who took part in the peal, and expressed the hope that all the ringing done in the future by those who rang in that famous peal would be as carefully and as well done as it was when they made this record.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, accompanied by the new Rector (the Rev. S. H. Rendall), the churchwardens (Messrs. H. C. White and B. H. Blackwell) and the long peal band, then went to the ringing chamber, where Mr. Jenkyn unveiled the tablet and dedicated it with suitable prayers. A perfectly struck touch of Grandsire Caters was next rung by the long peal band, the striking, it was said, being typical of the ringing that went on throughout the day on December 27th.

The tablet has been placed on the wall in the ringing chamber window, where it faces one of similar design recording the record peal of Stedman Caters. It is of slate, with silvered incised lettering, and has been admirably executed by Mr. A. E. Lock, a member of the Abingdon band. The wording is as follows:—

The Oxford Diocesan Guild.

On Tuesday, December 27th, 1932, in 9 hours and 20 minutes, a peal of

GRANDSIRE CATERS. 16,271 CHANGES:

Cuthbert G. White treble, William Simmonds ii., Francis E. Taylor iii., Richard A. Post iv., Walter F. Judge v., R. Thomas Newman vi., F. Donald Boreham vii., George Holifield, jun., viii., Richard White ix., Fred White tenor. Composed by G. Holifield, sen. Conducted by G. Holifield, jun. G. E. B. Scanlan, Rector; B. H. Blackwell, H. C. White, churchwardens; C. G. White, Parish Clerk. Longest peal yet rung in this method.

Much of the afternoon was spent in ringing, and then an adjournment was made to the Thatched Tavern (now, incidentally, roofed with tiles), where at 4.30 dinner was served to a company numbering 42. The traditional 'spar-rib' of pork was the outstanding dish, and plum pudding and other substantial fare figured in the menu. There was no question as to the 'ample justice done to the good things provided.' The company included the Master of the Oxford Guild, the Rector (the Rev. S. H. Rendall), Miss Vera Robinson (daughter of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, whose early ringing days were so intimately associated with Appleton), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (secretary) and Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer of the Oxford Guild), Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), the Rev. Elliott Wigg (High Wycombe), Miss Stella Davis (Buckleybury), Miss P. Holloway (Reading), Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock (Abingdon), Messrs. H. Miles, J. P. Fellow, H. T. Wisdom, G. Caldwell, G. Cook (Oxford), A. A. G. Thurlow (Cuddesdon), W. Hibbert (Reading), F. Pritchard (Heyford), F. Sharpe (Launton), E. Holifield (Cumnor), E. Pearson and Mallings (Deddington), T. Bond (Eynsham), all the band who took part in the long peal and who had been photographed earlier in the day, and a full muster of the Appleton Society. The whole proceedings were marked by informality and good fellowship, and were never lacking in mirth and entertainment. Song and story and handbell ringing were kept up against an all too quickly moving clock until the visitors had to disperse, and the enjoyable evening came to an end.

The Rector complimented the ringers upon their great achievement in ringing the record peal of Grandsire Caters, and spoke of the fine traditions that lay behind the ringing done in Appleton tower. Although he had only recently come to the parish, he was proud to be Rector of a church where such a wonderful record had been made, and he thanked the Appleton ringers for their services to the church throughout the year.

Mr. George Holifield, sen., replied in a reminiscent speech. He referred to his first introduction to ringing in the early '70's through the Whites and to the fact that this was the 61st year he had attended the 'March 4th' celebration. He spoke of the days of James Washbrook, when many record peals were rung, and said the people of Appleton liked the bells, but all they wanted was Grandsire Caters. Any other method was 'all rubbish' in their opinion. He referred to the record peal on December 27th (of which he was the composer), and said he waited ten years for a suitable opportunity to get it rung. The ringing, he said, was excellent all day, but once there was a bit of a break in it, and when he went to the church he found that someone had 'hallooed up the hole on the other side of the tower and upset the ringers a bit. I didn't get far away from the tower after that,' he added, 'but it was the longest day I ever lived, because there they were ringing and if they had made a bit of a jumble I know I should have heard of it, for they always go for me if there's anything to grumble about (laughter). There is no one in Appleton that finds fault with good ringing, but to be "extra" it must be Grandsire Caters. The man that lives nearest to the church is the gardener at the Manor House, and I went to him in the afternoon to tell him I hoped he was not finding the bells a nuisance. He said, "No, they're no nuisance, but I've got their bent in my head so that I could not stop indoors to have my dinner because I couldn't hear them properly" (laughter). There was half the village round the church when they stopped, but they had been chattering and making such a noise that I didn't hear the last course as I wanted to, but when the bells came round they stopped talking and sent up a cheer and went home contented (applause). I have never heard a complaint since,' concluded Mr. Holifield, 'and Appleton ringers can reckon they are nearly at the top of the tree for striking their bells' (applause).

A letter was read from Mr. John Monk regretting that he was prevented from being at Appleton, because 'illness kept the aged Monk in the monastery.'

Mr. Tom Hibbert proposed 'Success to the Appleton Society,' which, he said, had practically done all that was left to do in 'the little pigeon box.' They had 'brought home the bacon' (laughter). They rang 10,080 Double Norwich, 12,000 of Stedman Caters and 13,000 and 15,000 of Grandsire Caters in one year, and had now once more rung the longest length of Grandsire Caters. He thought it was 50 years ago that day that he first came to Appleton and heard a beautiful peal of Stedman Caters. He was so young that he held his father's hand. He had been there a great many times since, and he asked them to drink to the Appleton ringers. 'May there be a band here as long as the tower and church stand,' said Mr. Hibbert. 'May they be able to do as their ancestors have done and ring Appleton bells as well as they have ever been rung with the Whites and the Holifields at the ropes' end as long as man can twist hemp into a rope' (applause).

Mr. Richard White replied, and said that in Appleton they had got a band living in the village that could ring Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples. During the last year they had been very successful, having rung seven peals, including the 16,371 (applause). He hoped the new Rector would be as kind to them as the old one had been and that they would have pleasure in ringing as many peals this year as last (applause).

Mr. George Holifield, sen., proposed 'The Visitors' in felicitous terms, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, in reply, joined in the congratulations to the long peal band and thanked the Appleton ringers for the cordial welcome extended to all who had been present at that day's festivities.

The handbell ringing of the brothers White—six of them manipulating the 20 bells—was a feature of the programme, while the old songs sung by members of the company were worth going a long way to hear.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At the Parish Church, Loughborough, on Wednesday, February 22nd, was rung a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,313 changes) in 1 hour 10 minutes, with half-muffled clappers, as a tribute of respect to Mr. F. G. Webber, churchwarden, who was interred the same day: Wm. Smith 1, J. Towell 2, G. Ballard 3, E. Cartwright 4, C. Allsop 5, J. Grundy 6, J. Saddington 7, C. Harrison (conductor) 8, E. Reader 9, F. Stubbs 10.

On Monday, February 13th, at Holy Trinity Church, Watermoor, Cirencester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (composed by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter): F. W. Bond 1, F. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 2, J. C. Eden 3, J. E. Waters 4, H. C. Bond 5, H. S. Parsons 6, W. H. Hayward 7, F. J. Lewis, jun., 8. Rung with the clappers half-muffled as a tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Jobbins, a generous benefactor to this church and the town.

At Tipton, Staffs, on Sunday, February 5th, for evening service, at St. Martin's Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: A. Rowley (conductor) 1, J. Griffin (first quarter-peal of Stedman) 2, B. Windsor 3, G. Hughes 4, T. W. Cattell 5, H. N. Williams 6, C. N. Winwood 7, W. Williams 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute of respect to the late Mr. M. W. Tossal, for many years an ardent supporter and worker for St. Martin's Parish Church. All the above ringers are members of the local band.

THE LATE MR. T. FAULKNER.

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING AT BARKING FUNERAL.

Public bodies, bellringers and Freemasons were largely represented at the funeral on February 28th of Mr. Thomas Faulkner, of Barking, whose death at the age of 57 years we recorded last week. Mr. Faulkner had actively identified himself with local life in Barking, and the last sad rites were performed amid many manifestations of sympathy and esteem.

A service was held in St. Margaret's Parish Church, which was conducted by the Vicar, Canon H. C. Robins, and the Rev. J. W. Eisdell, a former Vicar and personal friend of Mr. Faulkner's, who is also a Past Master and Chaplain of St. Erkenwald Lodge of Freemasons, of which the deceased was Reigning Master. Despite the nature of the service, its note was one of joy and thanksgiving, this being, it was announced by the Vicar, the wish of their brother. The hymns sung during the service were 'Praise my soul the King of Heaven,' 'Light's abode celestial Salem' and 'Jesus lives.' Mr. F. J. Tarris presided at the organ and at the close of the service played 'O rest in the Lord.'

The interment took place in the Borough Cemetery in the presence of a large assembly.

The mourners were the widow, Mr. Charles Faulkner (son), Messrs. Fred and George Faulkner (brothers), Mrs. Smith (sister), Mrs. F. Faulkner and Miss Basey (sisters-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. J. Pyner (uncle and aunt), Miss Lewis, Mr. A. Thatcher (cousins), Mr. J. R. Leffley, Mr. F. Leffley, Mr. J. Garbett, Dr. G. O. Pierce, Mr. Alfred Carter and Mr. Arthur Taylor (friends).

Among those also present were the following, who, in many cases, were representative of a number of organisations with which deceased had been associated:—

The Deputy Mayor, Alderman J. W. Garland, O.B.E., J.P., Alderman S. B. Hearn, Councillors A. Blake (who is also president of Barking Ratepayers' Association and represented Warrant Officers Chapter of Freemasons), A. G. D. Glennie (also founder and Past Master of St. Erkenwald Lodge of Freemasons, of which deceased was Reigning Master), W. J. Parker and A. Whiting, J.P., with Mr. H. R. Hoad, representing the town clerk.

Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association), Mr. W. T. Cockerill (secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. E. J. Butler (secretary of the South-Western Division of Essex Association), Mr. E. A. Young (formerly secretary of the Central Council), Mr. C. S. Burden and Mr. Fenn (members of the Ancient Society of College Youths).

There was a large attendance of Freemasons and residents of Barking. The Barking Ratepayers' Association and the Barking Town Club were officially represented, and the firm of Messrs. Randall (Maltsters), Ltd., of which Mr. Faulkner was manager, was represented by Messrs. Sherwood and A. P. W. Bowley (directors), members of the staff and workmen.

There were many floral tributes.

In the evening, as recorded elsewhere, members of St. Margaret's Society, Barking, rang a half-muffled peal of Bob Major.

THE SEPTUAGENARIANS' PEAL.

TABLET UNVEILED AT ST. OLAVE'S CHURCH.

On Sunday, February 26th, an interesting gathering took place in the belfry of St. Olave's Church, Hart Street, London, when a handsome tablet was unveiled and dedicated by the Rev. Prebendary Wellard, B.A., immediately before the evening service. It records the names and year of birth of the eight veterans who rang a peal of Stedman Triples there last December, whose ages totalled up to more than 594 years. Fortunately, all the team were able to be present and took part in various 'touches' of Stedman before and after the dedication ceremony, thankful to survive the recent influenza epidemic and the arctic weather conditions, and happy to join in the evensong, with an address by the Rector from St. Luke x., 36 and 37. Mr. E. Alexander Young (Bromley) and Mr. F. W. Romaine (Salisbury) were also present and shared in the ringing, whilst Mr. H. Willson, vergier and towerkeeper, was most helpful in attendance upon the Rector and the visitors. He it was who provided the 'veil' to cover the well-written peal board, a Union Jack—its tricolor representing the Trinity, its name the fellowship of the art.

Two front pews were kindly reserved for the septuagenarians, and, gazing upon the quaintly handsome walls of the interior of this church, crowded thoughts of London's past history overmastered one's present circumstances. Eight men who have attained the allotted span of life had rung upon bells cast nearly three centuries ago and taken service together in a building which survived the great fire of London in 1666. The marble bust of Samuel Pepys seemed to bid them a smiling welcome to the dear old Parish Church, which his remarkable diary has made world famous. Twice during the week his the Lord Mayor of London showed the City's appreciation of St. Olave's by personal attendance in connection with the observance of the tercentenary of the birth of Pepys, who with his wife is buried here. The five old bells of 1662 still peal out from the tower as in Pepys' day, and who shall say they were not rung on by Fabian Stedman on his visits to London?

The veteran team parted after service with brief farewell—there were no tears—just a hearty handshake; it may be, perhaps, for the last time. Who knows?

HISTON'S RESTORED BELLS.

ELY ASSOCIATION'S FIRST OFFICIAL VISIT.

A very successful meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association was held on Saturday at Histon, Cambs, when the restored and rededicated bells were made full use of by nearly 40 ringers, who were present from Cambridge, Chatteris, Croydon, Dry Drayton, Easing, Fen Ditton, Great Staughton, Hemmingford Abbots, Ickleton, Melbourn, Over, St. Neots, Sawston, Sutton, Trumpington, Willingham and the local band. The 'go' of the bells is excellent and Histon is to be congratulated.

HISTON CHURCH A CENTURY AGO, FROM AN OLD ENGRAVING.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. O. Olston), who gave an inspiring address on the use of the gifts God has given us.

The Vicar and the Parochial Church Council very generously provided tea for the visitors, during the course of which the Rev. Alston spoke words of welcome, and this was followed by a few very informal speeches from several of those present.

Mr. T. R. Dennis, replying to an inquiry from the Vicar, stated he was very satisfied with the work, but there was too much noise in the ringing chamber. He hoped they would cover the floor of the bell chamber with thick felt to reduce that noise.

Reference was made of the formation of the new Haddenham District.

Mr. F. Hurry, Sawston, pointed out that it looked as if a cycling club was also being formed.—Mr. F. Warrington, in answer, pointed out the mistakes which Mr. Hurry had (incidentally) made in a hurry (laughter), and, after explaining the position, all is left in order for the time being.—Mr. Dennis supported the idea of a new district

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at St. Mary's, Potterne, on Saturday, March 4th, by kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. Canon W. H. Kewley). Some good practice was put in in various methods.

The Vicar conducted the Guild Office, Mrs. W. H. Kewley presiding at the organ and Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (branch chairman) reading the lesson. The Vicar, in a brief address, touched on the following points in connection with bellringing: The object, concentration and persevering energy.

Tea was prepared in the Parish Room and 34 sat down, including the Vicar and Mrs. Kewley. Special mention must be made of the way in which this was arranged, and Mr. J. Wells and helpers are to be heartily congratulated. All present obviously enjoyed themselves.

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding and extending his usual welcome to the visitors. The arrangements for the proposed lectures by Mr. C. F. Andrews were left in the hands of the secretary. Mr. F. Green, assistant secretary of the Guild, presented a complete list of peals rung by the Guild for 1932. These numbered 36, of which 18 had been rung by the Devizes Branch. Several of the performances deserve special merit, one by the Holt band, which was first by a local band and first as conductor; also one at Southbroom, which included four 'first pealers', the conductor having the honour to conduct his first peal. By a coincidence both peals were rung as a welcome to their respective Vicars.

The usual votes of thanks were then passed, and the ringers returned to the tower, where ringing was continued until 8 p.m. The towers represented were Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Rowde, Trowbridge, Warminster, Longbridge, Deverell, Urchfort, Market Lavington, Bradford-on-Avon, Holt, Melksham and Potterne, and visitors from Buckland Newton, the following methods being rung: Cambridge Surprise, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor, Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Doubles.

very strongly, with Ely as a centre, but the matter is left for the annual general meeting to decide.

Everyone spent a very happy afternoon and evening. Grateful thanks are due to Mr. Oates for having given so much careful thought to all the necessary arrangements.

Histon bells have been retuned and rehung in a new steel frame on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A somewhat ambitious programme was recently tried by East Berks and South Bucks Branch when both an eight and twelve-bell tower were advertised as being available for practice. Although the weather was particularly severe, a little band of enthusiasts climbed the snowy heights of West Wycombe and announced their arrival with Stedman, Cambridge and London. The return journey was not without excitement, one of the party having to console himself (and his feet) with the saying that 'snow is good for chilblains.'

Tea at Mrs. Martin's was quite an event, with a large fire to add to the cheer. The weather then made a special effort to depress the party by 'sending it down in buckets.' However, 'the twelve' was eventually reached, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Kent Royal, Double Norwich and Cambridge Major being successfully brought round. All too soon came 8.30 p.m., when the spartan representatives of some eight different towers departed to 'dry their clothes,' at the same time recording a not unsuccessful meeting.

SOUTHOVER (LEWES) GUILD.

The annual dinner of the Southover Bellringers' Guild, Lewes, was held on February 22nd, when the Rector (the Rev. D. G. Matthews), president of the Guild, presided over a company of about 25. Among the company were the Master of the Sussex Association (Mr. J. T. Rickman) and other former members of the Guild.

The toast of 'Success to the Guild' was proposed by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who expressed the hope the members would rally to the support of their new captain (Mr. A. J. Turner) and maintain the Sunday service ringing and also score further local peals.

Mr. G. P. Elphick (hon. secretary) replied. The other toasts were 'The Sussex County Association,' proposed by Mr. W. Ward and responded to by Mr. Rickman; 'The President and Vice-Presidents,' submitted by Mr. C. J. Rugg, who has just retired from the secretaryship, and acknowledged by Mr. E. W. Townsend; and 'The Guests,' given by Mr. C. T. Lloyd and replied to by Mr. G. Richardson.

There was an enjoyable programme of songs and handbell ringing.

THE HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD ROOTED IN 1755.

Responding to the toast of 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' at the Johnson dinner at Birmingham, Mr. T. H. Reeves first announced apologies from the Bishop of Birmingham, Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Birmingham, Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of Central Council), Sir Walter Butler, the Vicar of Aston, Mr. G. R. Newton (Liverpool), Mr. R. Richardson (Surfleet), the Rector of Solihull, Mr. and Mrs. Martineau (Solihull), etc. He also thanked the artistes and accompanist for the delightful musical programme, and, in congratulating the band who rang the Treble Bob 14, which many had heard for the first time, recalled the fact that it was at Johnson's 80th birthday celebration that Stedman Cinques on handbells was heard for the first time in Birmingham. Continuing, Mr. Reeves referred to the fact that at the annual meeting of the Guild it was decided to write up an album of all the notable ringers connected with the Guild. Up to the present he had not been able to do much in the matter, but he had been able to find out how glorious was the inheritance which had come down to them. The Guild was founded in 1755, when it was known as St. Martin's Youths. Later on the title was changed to St. Martin's Society, afterwards it became St. Martin's Guild, and then, when the diocese was formed, St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham. They were, however, only one society, founded, in 1755, and they should not forget that fact. Some time ago a peal was rung and was described as the one thousandth peal rung by the Guild. That was quite right as far as the 'Guild' was concerned, but if that went down to history as the one thousandth peal rung by the Guild, what became of all the other peals rung before the change of name? He would, therefore, ask everyone to be very careful when making statements, to remember that the Guild was established in 1755, and that they were one society right the way through. Mr. Reeves went on to say that in looking through some papers recently he came across one which began with this preamble: 'The Company of St. Martin's Parish Church, Birmingham, being desirous of bequeathing some memento of their labours which may excite posterity to emulate them in the noble science of change ringing, caused this circular to be printed recording four scientific peals rung by them in 1848.' That went to show, he added, that even the ringers of that day wanted ringers of the future to realise what they were inheriting. The circular recorded four peals, two rung at Aston and two at St. Martin's. The Guild, he continued, was prospering; there was no doubt about that. They were going from strength to strength and they need have no fears whatever regarding the future of the Guild (applause).

Mrs. Boyce (daughter of the late Mr. Bryant), in a graceful speech, thanked the members of the Guild for the respect which they had shown to her father. Ringing, she said, was his one hobby in life, and his happiest days were spent among the ringers. If he could have known the honour paid to him, she was sure he would have been very proud (applause).

'BALDERDASH AND BUNKUM.'

Mr. A. Paddon Smith proposed 'The Visitors,' and expressed the pleasure which St. Martin's Guild had in welcoming them to Birmingham. He said he used to wonder, when, as a boy, he first used to attend those gatherings, what exactly all the visitors came to Birmingham for. He thought then, of course, that it was, as doubtless it was and still is, to do honour to the memory of that grand old man of change ringing, Henry Johnson. But as the years wore on he thought there might be other reasons as well, such as the excellent ringing which they could get in the Bull Ring, and which, perhaps, they could not get anywhere else; but he had heard that day the real reason. It was because at no other ringers' gathering in this country did they see such a handsome lot of ladies present (laughter and applause). In any case, there they were, and, in the words of the apt quotation on the toast list, 'Our true intent is—all for your delight.' He hoped and believed all the visitors were enjoying their trip to Birmingham, and St. Martin's Guild looked to them to make their gathering a success. Mr. Smith went on to refer to the representatives of other guilds and associations present, and mentioned Mr. P. E. Dawe, who presided over the gathering 21 years ago. He said there was one absent who he wished could have been there, and that was their friend the Rev. Herbert Drake. Mr. Drake had been trying to teach them how to strike—from his angle. Whoever heard, said the speaker, of such a 'balm' suggestion as putting patches of bad striking into good ringing, because the public would like it better? It was as absurd as suggesting that the organist at Birmingham Town Hall should put a few bars of jazz into a great oratorio like the 'Messiah.' If a man thought such things, they could not stop him, but he did not know why it should be printed. He had heard it suggested that it was because bad striking was Mr. Drake's great delight (laughter). The suggestion of Mr. Drake was what Tom Walls would call 'all balderdash and bunkum' (laughter), and in the recent words of Mr. Churchill, spoken in the House of Commons the other day, it was time to put an end to 'the copious stream of pontifical mugwumpery with which we have been dosed so long' (loud laughter). In conclusion, Mr. Smith expressed the hope that the MEMORIAL TO MR. T. HERVEY BEAMS.

CHOIR STALL DEDICATED AT BRADPOLE CHURCH.

The memorial of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild to the late Mr. T. Hervey Beams, of Bradpole, was dedicated on Saturday, February 25th, by the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry). The memorial, a new choir stall, is of native grown English oak, and was made and designed in conformity with the style of the existing choir stalls of the church. Assisting the Rev. R. H. Gundry in the service of dedication were the Rev. C. W. d'Ombrain (Vicar of Bradpole) and the president of the West Dorset Branch (the Rev. C. Carew-Cox).

The Master performed the actual ceremony with the words: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ we dedicate this choir stall to the glory of God and to the memory of His servant, Thomas Hervey Beams.' Afterwards he delivered a dedication prayer, and the Nunc Dimittis was sung. The choir stall has a silver plate, on which the following is inscribed: 'To the glory of God and in memory of T. Hervey Beams, for 20 years, 1910-1930, pioneer and faithful servant among ringers, this choir stall is placed here by the Salisbury D.G. Ringers.' The sermon was to have been preached by the Rev. F. J. Edwards, general secretary of the Guild, but, in the unavoidable absence of that gentleman, the Rev. R. H. Gundry delivered an extempore address from 2 Samuel xii, 19: 'Is there not a cause?'

Following the service a meeting was held in the Forster Institute, when members were present from Bournemouth, Bradpole, Bridport, Beaminster, Bishop's Cleeve, Poole, Wimborne, Upwey, Lyme Regis, Wyke Regis, Linton Cheney and various other towers. Members of the West Dorset Branch present included the Rev. C. C. Cox (chairman), Mr. F. Bugler (Ringing Master), Messrs. W. S. B. Northover and A. Winter (Deputy Ringing Masters) and C. H. Lathey (secretary). Others present included the Rev. C. A. Phillips, C. H. Jennings, the Rev. A. B. Hutton, Dr. Watts and Capt. Pester (churchwardens of Bradpole Church). Subsequently the Chairman voiced a welcome to the visitors. He thanked the Rev. R. H. Gundry for performing the dedication, and, proceeding, referred to the life of Mr. T. H. Beams, whose name had now been added to the Langford Memorial. He added that it was gratifying to know that the Guild had been able to raise the necessary money for the purchase of a memorial to one who was a change ringing pioneer.

Mr. R. H. Beams expressed the gratitude of Mrs. Beams and family for the memorial to his father. 'I should also like to say,' he added, 'how we appreciate the form the memorial has taken, because I know full well that my father liked things that were useful as well as ornamental.'

Mr. Bugler spoke of the effort being made at Corscombe with regard to the bells there being rehung, and the sum of £2 2s. was voted towards the fund.

The Rev. C. C. Cox tendered the thanks of the meeting to the Vicar and churchwardens of Bradpole for the welcome extended to the visitors, also for the use of the bells, to Mr. B. Elsworth, who presided at the organ, and to the ladies who waited at tea.

During the afternoon various methods were rung, including Kent Treble Bob and Stedman.

visitors would find that occasion no less enjoyable than those which had gone before it. He reminded them that the gathering did not end with that day, and hoped to see them on the morrow (applause).

Mrs. C. F. Johnston, the first lady to respond to a toast at a Johnson commemoration dinner, first replied, and on behalf of the ladies thanked the Guild for including them in the invitation. Mrs. Johnston said it was her first attempt at speech-making and the first time she had raised her voice in the ringing world. It was a world of such clever men and women—for such all ringers must be—that she was proud of being connected with it, if only by marriage (applause).

Mr. A. J. Hughes (Bradford) also responded, and thanked St. Martin's Guild for the excellent dinner and wonderful entertainment. He looked upon that, he said, as the greatest social gathering of ringers in the year.

Mr. J. Jagger submitted 'The Ringing World,' and quoted from letters which he had received to show how much it was appreciated by ringers overseas.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, in responding to the toast, said there were two sides to every question. In regard to striking, there was Mr. Drake's side and Mr. Smith's side (laughter), and if for no other reason Mr. Drake's article was worth while for the entertaining speech it had produced from Mr. Smith (laughter).

The concluding toast was that of 'The Health of the Chairman,' proposed in felicitous terms by Mr. W. G. Robinson, and acknowledged by the Rector.

The musical programme was again a very delightful one. The part songs of the St. Martin's Quartette, which have for many years been a feature of the entertainment, were again greatly enjoyed. Songs were sung by Mrs. D. Smith and Mr. A. S. Downes and received with warm applause, while the handbell solos of Mrs. Hughes, played with characteristic charm, once more gave great pleasure and were encored.

STRIKING.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In what I wrote on striking, I thought I had guarded against the interpretation you have put on my words. I said nothing about 'welcoming' bad striking. On the contrary, I said: 'Of course, I do not mean that one should cultivate this as a new method of peal ringing.' Ringing is not the only art in which a trace of what is bad is a relief and a foil to what is good. That does not mean that we must welcome the bad, or 'do evil that good may come.'

Nor did I suggest that 'the lay listener would desire to hear bells jangled at intervals in a peal.' I maintain most emphatically that bad striking should never be tolerated: in fact, I agree entirely with all the rest of both your articles.

You do not say what is wrong in your first quotation. It is certainly true, as I said, that those who are opposed to ringing altogether would not be appeased by good striking: as it is true that some people love to hear bells jangled, though no change ringer does.

I understand your point to be that good striking increases the enthusiasm of those who, not being ringers themselves, yet appreciate good ringing; and that such enthusiasm outweighs the influence of those who want to stop ringing. My points were not contradictory, but complementary to this.

There are two words that are wrong in my article, owing, I fear, to my bad writing. 'Only' should be 'first', so as to read: 'Striking can first be taught by listening when you are not ringing.'

In the last paragraph but one, 'even' should be 'Erin.' What I meant was that Erin on four bells is excellent both for music and for striking.

HERBERT DRAKE.

If Mr. Harry Mason, Mr. A. H. Pulling and the others who have misquoted my words do not strike more accurately than they read the articles in 'The Ringing World,' we shall begin to think that there must be something wrong with their hearing! What I said was that bad striking might be 'a relief to the ordinary listener,' who, I had said, often did not appreciate good striking. Which position are these gentlemen taking up? Do they claim to be ordinary listeners—i.e., non-ringers? Or are they pretending not to appreciate good striking? I immediately afterwards pointed out that we must not give that relief. Thus the 'advocacy' and the 'advice' which they have discovered must reside in their own imaginations. It does not appear in mine.

'PEAL GRABBERS.SURPRISE RINGERS ANXIOUS TO HELP.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—From reading the letter of Mr. N. G. Leech appearing in your issue of February 24th, one might gather the opinion that large numbers of ringing novices found great difficulty in finding a competent band willing to help them through their first peals in the elementary methods. We have had this kind of suggestion made before, but most of us will agree it is, in these days, as distinct from years ago, far from being the case.

I do not know Mr. Leech, so shall not be considered personal if I ask what these complaints amount to, for I know, and have rung with, quite a few different 'cliques' who ring Surprise peals, but I cannot call to mind one 'clique' who would not gladly invite any young ringer, who showed the least aptitude, to join in their ringing. I strongly suspect that some of these disgruntled correspondents are people who have ambitions to ring advanced methods, but who have not even succeeded in becoming reasonably proficient in simple methods. I have come across a number of such instances.

It must be apparent to Mr. Leech that there are 'cliques' who take pleasure in ringing advanced methods, whilst there are other 'cliques' who take equal pleasure in ringing peals in the simpler methods. I cannot imagine why he should wish those whom he describes as 'Great I Ams' to take part in peals which no longer afford them pleasure, when there are other ringers who are both capable and desirous of taking part in such peals.

I do not know of any district where there is an expert Surprise 'clique' which has not also a complement of capable ringers who would gladly help the novice through peals in the elementary methods. If there are any such areas, then I believe the 'Great I Ams' would invariably be found willing and anxious to arrange peals designed to help forward anyone who showed even a minimum of promise.

It is ridiculous for Mr. Leech to suggest that peals in the higher methods are 'more often than not' badly struck. Experience teaches that the reverse has to be the case if advanced method ringing is to be successful. Further, it should be realised that the footnote, 'First peal in the method,' is nearly as commendable as that of 'First peal.' Far too many promising young ringers ring their first peal and shortly afterwards drop ringing altogether because no fresh method was learned and practised to sustain their interest.

NOTICES.PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

A CAMBRIDGE ATTACK.

An attack has just been levelled against the ringing of the celebrated bells of the Church of St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge, and it has originated in the Town Council. One of the members, who dislikes the bells on practice nights, found that the Corporation was paying five pounds a year for bellringing purposes, and this apparently set him thinking. His idea is, presumably, that this payment gives the Council the right to say when and how the bells shall be rung, but the ultimate length to which the General Purposes Committee was prepared to go was to recommend that representations should be made that the bells on practice evenings should be muffled. The Council appears to have been nearly evenly divided on the subject, and eventually the matter was referred back for further consideration.

The reasons given for the proposed 'representation' are that the bells cause annoyance to the neighbours and disturb the studies of the University students who have rooms nearby. It is probably just one more of the sporadic outbreaks against bells, which burst into flame from time to time, but which is here given prominence because it emanates through the Town Council. While the feeling at the moment is against the weekly practice, nothing is said against the nightly ringing of the curfew for which, actually, the five pounds is paid by the Corporation, and which, we believe, plays an official part in connection with College regulations in Cambridge. For two hundred years the bells of Great St. Mary's have been rung; generations of townsmen and students have come and gone, but it is left to the people of an age turned hideous with other noises to try and muffle the voices of these bells for the one hour a week during which, apart from Sundays, they are usually rung.

We are glad to hear that the Vicar of Great St. Mary's does not view these 'representations' with favour. To suggest the regular ringing of muffled bells is in itself ludicrous, and reveals the customary ignorance of matters relating to bells which frequently characterises these protests. The Vicar appears to have gone a long way towards meeting any genuine cause for complaint, but, like Oliver Twist, the Council are asking for more. We hope the Vicar and the Church authorities will take a firm stand on the matter. Every concession leads to further demands; but usually behind the air of injured innocence assumed in these cases are personal feelings of no great importance. Presently, however, the storm in the teacup will doubtless blow itself out, and the bells of Great St. Mary's will go on ringing as they have done since Stedman's days. At the same time it might be well if the Church authorities and the ringers assured themselves that all that is prudent has been done in blocking up the louvres that overlook the houses. If there is room for improvement they should not hesitate to make it, and it might conceivably allay some of the hostility. No one wants to provoke complaints and opposition, and from all points of view, the public as well as the ringers', properly stopped louvres are an infinitely better solution than muffled bells, if there is any ground whatever for the 'representations.'

'PEAL GRABBERS.' DAYS OF 'OPPORTUNITY.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was delighted to see Mr. E. P. Duffield's excellent reply to Mr. N. G. Leech's letter in your issue of February 24th. I support the whole of his remarks. There is not an atom of justification for the statements made by Mr. Leech, and if he attended meetings, as I have done for a number of years, he would see for himself who gets the greatest part of the ringing, the learner or the 'Great I Ams,' as he terms them.

If he has ambition and mental ability, he would find no trouble to advance to any method in these days of 'opportunity.' Had he lived over 50 years ago he might have found difficulty in getting practice with a change ringing band at all, as it was only by cycling 15 miles each way that I was able to get my first plain course of Grandsire Triples. Now it is only to learn to handle your bell first, learn up the method you want to ring, go to district meetings and take the opportunity offered you.

PROMINENT RINGER'S VIEW.

Dear Sir,—There appears in your Feb. 24th issue a letter from Mr. N. G. Leech, of Dudley, to which I, for one, take strong objection. Evidently his views of what constitutes progress are of a very one-sided nature. I have no wish to blow my own trumpet; results will always speak for themselves. There may be some talented ringers who refuse or neglect to give a helping hand to beginners, or, shall I say, less apt pupils than they may have been themselves, but they are few and far between. Each case must be judged on its merits. May I point out to Mr. Leech that there are many factors to be taken into consideration, to few if any of which he has given a thought. In one case to my knowledge a Surprise band who were continually ringing peals have been very hard hit by the depression, and at one time 15 of them were unemployed. Yet they have managed to keep the band together, and, besides ringing Surprise peals, have taught several young ringers in their own tower. Now I come to my own district and what is being done there. Having rung nearly into the seventh century, including nearly 100 peals of London Surprise Major and five rung double-handed, I suppose Mr. Leech will term me a 'peal grabber.' He is quite at liberty to enjoy his point of view, but I would like to ask him whether we were not making greater progress by keeping our band select, if you so like to term it, practising London double-handed and ringing peals of the same. I submit that if we had devoted our time to teaching others instead of ringing London double-handed, the first peal might have yet had to be rung. One more point for Mr. Leech's information. Quite recently I rang 16 peals in three weeks, including two Surprise, two Treble Bob, three Double Norwich and two of Bob Major on tower bells besides handbell peals. These were rung with 51 ringers, 11 of whom scored their first in the method, one first in two methods and five first peals. I ask Mr. Leech to draw his own conclusion, as doubtless many of your readers will do.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL.

Dear Sir,—Correspondence on the subject of 'Peal grabbers' has before appeared in 'The Ringing World,' and I trust you may find space in your valuable paper to insert my humble reply. With reference, first of all, to Mr. G. Gilbert's letter in the issue of the 17th February, I must quote the old saying 'Those in glass houses should not throw stones.' With reference to the remarks in the issue of Feb. 24th, I would like to know what business Mr. Leech has to criticise the creditable performances of other ringers and openly accuse them of bad striking? He writes rubbish. In the first place, he cannot know the men he describes as 'Great I Ams.' If he is an 'all round' man, he will understand why Surprise peals are rung. He has no right to judge what men should or should not ring, for, so far, 'our beautiful hobby' is not limited to anything where the range of methods is concerned, and ringers are free to go for whatever method they desire.

Why does not Mr. Leech state who he considers are the 'Great I Ams'? Naturally we have an idea who he means, but I am confident of one thing when I state that peals rung by men like the Pyes, Coles, Roberts, Hewitt, Kippen, Pink, Sippells, Keeble, Pulling and the Ipswich, Helmingham and Leiston towers leave nothing to be desired where good ringing is concerned. I feel sure that if any ringer expressed a wish to stand in a peal, Plain or otherwise, with any of these bands, it would be arranged and they would be met with a welcome.

I risk stating that if Mr. Leech has at any time heard a second-class peal by the 'Surprise cliques,' it was quite probably when he himself has been pulling with them, or else when his complaining friends, afraid of putting their backs into a method by learning it thoroughly at home first, have to be driven through the peal after previously explaining to the conductor that it was most important the peal be rung for some particular reason.

These are the people who voice their complaints against their more brilliant friends, especially when the conductor brings the attempt to a finish through lack of knowledge of the method of one or two men who expect good ringers to waste their time and money over them.

I am of the opinion that if Mr. Leech and his colleagues care to go to the trouble of thoroughly learning a method on PAPER FIRST and then travel a few miles to practise it, they would find out if they have the ability to ring it. If they can absolutely master the method and strike it, they can be fairly certain of finding favour with our Surprise bands, who have had to tread the elementary stages of practice solely by determination, self-will and study.

On the other hand, if Mr. Leech wants a peal of Plain Bob he can easily follow the example of the 'Great I Ams' by getting the tower, choosing his ringers and going ahead. He has the liberty, and the credit would be his.

PEAL RINGERS AND BEGINNERS.

Dear Sir,—The letter of Mr. Norman Leech is most opportune. Surprise peal ringing, like everything else, is all right in its place. No one minds it being rung if those who take part in these peals would be a little more public spirited and help the learner with a peal in a simpler method, too. The majority of the men when they have reached that stage usually, however, want the whole thing to themselves. Whenever anything turns up which is likely to affect the lesser ringer, these Surprise eight, ten and twelve-bell men are generally the first to criticise and say what ought or ought not to be. I am reminded of that by the recent Doubles and Minor controversy. For a considerable time past I have been keen to try to score my first peal of Grandsire Triples 'inside,' having rung a number of peals of Doubles and the treble to some 30 of Triples, Major and Caters. Until a fortnight ago I had still to ring my first of Minor 'inside.' This I have now done, thanks to the assistance of Leicestershire friends, and to get this I had to do a return journey of 78 miles.

I suppose there are some who will say I need not go far to find all I want. I once put this question of a peal of Grandsire Triples 'inside' to a well-known Surprise conductor. His reply was, 'If I could ring Grandsire, why not Double Norwich or Treble Bob?'

Is it not asking a bit too much of a learner to jump from Doubles to these methods? Others have been asked, too, but, as Mr. Leech puts it, the reply is generally 'otherwise engaged.' If the learner happens to be one GIVEN to the art and who within a few months could ring his first peal in some Treble Bob method, these men are usually eager to help, but in most cases only for the notoriety they are going to get in turning out such a ringer. WHAT A CHRISTIAN SPIRIT!

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON AT CHISWICK.

The South and West District of the Middlesex County Association visited Chiswick on Saturday last, some 30 members and friends attending. The weather was springlike and the old Chiswick Mall and river were looking their best. Naturally, however, the bells of St. Nicholas' Church claimed most attention, and many methods were rung, including some 'Chiswick Surprise' by the locals! A very enjoyable service was held, in the course of which the Vicar (the Rev. C. Mayne) delivered a very fine address. He mentioned the wonderful change that had been effected in helphies all over the country during the last 50 years. He congratulated members on the excellent reputation that bellringers now had, and asked them to do all in their power to keep it.

A very nice tea was served in the old National Schools. The Vicar, who was unable to stop for this part of the proceedings, said a few kind words before his departure, and was heartily thanked by the vice-president, Mr. J. A. Trollope.

During tea music was provided by 'our 'Enery and his boys' over the radio. It would have gladdened the heart of the famous 'Kate' to have seen association stalwarts listening to 'Darling, I love you,' and the like! It was decided to postpone the commencement of the business meeting until football fans had heard the results. It was hoped the delay was justified!

Miss F. Humphrey (Kensington) and Messrs. J. E. Lewis Cockey (Wealdstone) and C. G. Lovegrove (Ruislip) were elected ringing members. Members were reminded that the association annual meeting was to be held on April 29th at Clerkenwell. It was decided, therefore, that the next district meeting should be held in May at Feltham.

The hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow) announced that he had copies of 'The Ringers' Handbook' and Mr. Cave's 'Cambridge' for sale. Several sales were effected. The meeting concluded with expressions of appreciation of the warm welcome extended to the association by the Vicar and his ringers. Members were particularly grateful to Mr. T. Thurley and his sister for preparing the tea—and the radio!

Further ringing on the tower bells ended an excellent meeting, and a happy commencement of Mr. E. C. S. Turner's term of office as Master.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Eastbourne on Saturday, March 11th. The gathering was a very representative one. The bells of St. Mary's, the mother church of Eastbourne, were kept going to various touches in the standard methods, and service was conducted by the Vicar of Eastbourne (the Rev. R. P. Hughes), assisted by the organist and choir. The Vicar gave an interesting and inspiring address, eulogising the efforts of church bellringers, with special reference to their team work, and emphasising the fact that through the endeavours of the ringers the voices of the bells reached those who never heard another preacher, thus bearing a message to those who may have wandered from the fold to return. Tea was served at the Pitman Institute, and between 30 and 40 sat down. In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, Mr. W. D. Smith presided at the business meeting which followed. Three new members were elected—Messrs. A. Coggan, H. Webb and J. Marshall, of St. Mary's, Eastbourne.

The whole of the executive officers were re-elected. A cordial vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for his interesting address, also to the organist and choir for their very kind assistance at the service. Thanks were also given to the Vicar of St. Saviour's (8) and All Saints' (8) for so readily placing their bells at the disposal of the members of the association.

SPICED MINOR.

The enterprising band at Lamberhurst, Kent, have rung a 720 Spiced Cambridge and Primrose Surprise: E. Woodage 1, T. Fuller 2, J. Bassett 3, J. Waghorn, jun. (first 720 of Surprise) 4, A. Relfe (conductor) 5, W. Durham 6.

This 720 was rung to a five-part composition, given below, from which it will be seen that one of Mr. J. W. Parker's 2nds-6ths courses are rung between each lead of the plain course. It will serve for both groups that splice by this plan.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTH BUCKS BRANCH CHAIRMAN RETIRING.

A very pleasant meeting of North Bucks Branch was held at Old Bradwell on Saturday, March 4th, and was well attended by about 40 members from Bletchley, Fenny Stratford, Hanslope, Newport Pagnell, Stony Stratford, Whaddon, Weston-under-Wood and the local ringers, with several visitors, including Mr. Shepherd, of Swindon. It had been many years since a meeting had been held at Old Bradwell, and a very hearty welcome was given to the branch on this occasion. Ringing took place both in the afternoon and evening, and service was conducted by the Rev. Conway Davies (Vicar).

After tea the business meeting was held, the Rev. L. Moxon presiding—The secretary (Mr. W. Sear) said how pleased he was to see the chairman of the branch, who had come from Weston Turville on purpose to preside at the meeting. He felt sure all the members would appreciate the action. He added that as the usual Saturday for the annual festival fell on Whit Saturday, it would be inconvenient to hold the meeting that day. He had, therefore, arranged for it to take place on June 17th.—This was agreed to. The secretary also said that they had to find another chairman by the annual festival to succeed the Rev. L. Moxon, who was then retiring owing to having left the district.

The Chairman proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Old Bradwell and to the ladies responsible for providing tea.—The resolution was passed and suitably responded to.

Good practice was given to all those who were willing to ring and learn, the methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to London Minor.

A CENTENARIAN'S BIRTHDAY.

On Saturday, March 4th, when Mrs. Horwood, of Goring, Oxon, mother of General Sir W. Horwood, celebrated her 100th birthday, the congratulations which she received from a large number of friends, both in the village and out, included a telegram from His Majesty the King. Flowers filled her room and a basket of South African fruit came from her son, arriving in splendid condition. A good many friends visited the house and admired the lovely flowers and presents.

The ringers did their part to celebrate the interesting event by ringing two good touches of Grandsire Triples. Several of the ringers rang on the occasion of her 90th birthday. Those who took part were J. Bower, G. Wilson, L. Haynes, R. Barkas, sen., R. Barkas, jun., H. Tull, W. Napper, J. Napper and W. Perry.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The attempt on the record peal of London Surprise Major at Warnham, Sussex, on Saturday, was short-lived. The ringers did not settle down, and, a trip causing a shift course at the end of an hour, the bells were stopped. Later in the day the band rang a peal of Bristol Surprise.

The new treble bells at Newbury are to be dedicated on Sunday afternoon, April 2nd. About £25 is still needed to meet the cost of the work, and donations should be sent to Mr. H. W. Curtis, captain of the tower, Church Road, Shaw, Newbury.

The Johns, who have previously provided bands for London and Superlative Surprise Major and Stedman Cinques, made a modest effort on Saturday, when they rang a peal of Bob Major. In this instance, however, they were all resident members of one Guild.

The bells of St. John's Church, Hoylandswaine, Yorks, have been rehung in ball bearings by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., and will be reopened on April 1st.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, of Eastleigh, will learn with regret that Mrs. Williams had to undergo an operation in a Southampton nursing home last week. The latest report is that she is going on as well as can be expected, and we hope she will have a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Williams was the first lady to ring a pair of bells to a handbell peal. This was at Brighton on March 24th, 1892, and was conducted by Mr. Williams. Mrs. Williams rang two other peals on handbells in 1897.

The conductor of the peal of Rutland Surprise Major, rung at Bushey Heath, Herts, on March 4th, asks us to say it was not the first peal in the method by the association, as claimed, a peal in the same method having been rung at Edmonton some years ago.

The peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Dore, Sheffield, was rung on Saturday, March 4th, not Sunday, the 5th.

The Chester Guild meeting at Daresbury has been postponed to March 25th.

AMERICA'S 'YOUNG IDEA.'

PROSPECTS AT KENT SCHOOL.

When Mr. I. J. Attwater, the ringing instructor at Kent School, Connecticut, returned to the U.S.A. last autumn, he had to make what was virtually a fresh start with his students, as six of the best ringers had graduated at the end of the school year. He now has two bands going, numbering 15 in all. The seniors are at present ringing short touches of Grandsire Triples, the longest length having been 336, which has been rung several times.

Some very promising students have started this year, and as they will be at the school from three to four years before they graduate—if their interest can only be held while they are being got through the initial stages—they should have the making of a Caters band for the school year beginning next September, as all but one of the present first band will be at the school next year.

Hymn tunes and set changes are played regularly twice on Sundays, after the ringing for the morning service, and, while the school students naturally prefer to hear the tunes, the change ringing, on the whole, is appreciated, especially in the town of Kent, half a mile away. The chairman, L. Roche, a '6th former,' helps Mr. Attwater to control the ringing practices etc., while R. Abbe, a '5th former,' is his first student conductor. Several of the youngest ringers have to stand on boxes to reach the sallies, and all the ringers are between 13 to 18 years of age. They ring regularly four times a week.

THE BELLS OF GREAT ST. MARY'S, CAMBRIDGE.

TOWN COUNCIL WANTS THEM MUFFLED.

The Town Council of Cambridge entered upon a solemn discussion with regard to the ringing of the bells of Great St. Mary's Church at their meeting on Thursday in last week. It arose on the minutes of the General Purposes Committee, which stated: 'The town clerk submitted a suggestion of the Finance Committee that representations should be made that the bells of St. Mary's Church on practice evenings be muffled. It was resolved that the committee approve of such representations being made.'

The Mayor explained that representations had been made, and the Vicar had pointed out that practice had been reduced by half an hour, from 7.30 to 8.30, instead of going on to 9 o'clock. The muffling would prove a laborious business. The early morning 'peal' had been stopped.

Alderman Franklin thought everything had been asked for that could reasonably be asked of Great St. Mary's, and Alderman Pollock moved that the Council proceed to the next business.

Councillor Freyer, who had raised the matter in committee, on finding that the Council 'paid £5 out of the rates for ringing the bells,' did not want 'to proceed to the next business.' He wanted the bells muffled, as he had had, he said, a good many complaints about them. He demanded to know how much justification there was for the suggestion that it would be difficult to muffle the bells.

Councillor Cameron, who is master of Caius College, testified 'willingly and gratefully' that a great deal had been done, the time had been shortened and the half-hour knocked off was a very important half-hour for many of those living in the neighbourhood.

'By what they have already done,' he remarked, 'they have done more to encourage Christian feeling than might be accomplished by many sermons' (laughter). More might well be done, however, and he was very anxious they should not be weary in well-doing (laughter).

Capt. Longley pointed out the £5 was for ringing the curfew, and he thought it was an asset to the town. It might annoy those who had no ear for music, but he thought there was nothing more beautiful than to hear that peal of bells a little way out in the outskirts. Muffled bells would sound most mournful.

After other members had talked on the subject, the motion to proceed to the next business was three times voted on before it was formally lost, the second voting being 25 for and 26 against, and the third, when the names were taken, being 27 for and 29 against.

Alderman Raynes then formally moved that the matter be referred back, and there was then an opportunity for further misstatements, such as made by one Alderman, who said that 'three times a year they had a kind of competition of bellringers which lasted all day long.'

Councillor Wing said there were people who never got used to the bells or enjoyed them. He hoped something definite would be done to abate the nuisance. 'There was all the difference in the world between a dumb peal and muffled bells.'

Alderman Brown said it was not everybody who understood the difference. People coming into Cambridge would ask at once, 'Who's dead?' (laughter).

The motion to refer the matter back to the committee was carried unanimously.

VICAR'S ATTITUDE.

And now, what next! The Town Council cannot dictate, and without the acquiescence of the Vicar the bells cannot be silenced. We understand that the attitude of the Vicar is that every concession that can reasonably be asked has been made, and he does not concur with the view either that the bells should be muffled or that ringing should be suspended. In spite of the hostility abroad, the Cambridge Youths will endeavour to keep the bells going and concentrate as far as possible on ringing for the Sunday evening services, which they do, wherever a hand is available, on the first and third Sundays in the month. At the same time, it may be well for outside ringers to realise that there may be difficulties in the way of obtaining the use of the bells either by those visiting Cambridge during the forthcoming outing season or for peals.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Bourton on Saturday. The peal of six was raised at 3 p.m. and kept going in various methods up to Cambridge and London during the afternoon. The Guild office was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. B. Roden), who also gave a short address and extended to the members a hearty welcome to Bourton. Tea and meeting followed in the Vicarage Hut, nearly 70 being present, including visitors from Bruton, Buckland Newton, Chilcompton, Cucklington, Evershot, North Cadbury and Warminster.

New members were elected from Longburton and Siltton, the latter adding another five-bell tower to the Guild.

It was decided to make a collection at the next quarterly meeting towards the Sherborne Abbey Bell Restoration Fund.

Ringing was afterwards continued till 9 p.m., Zeals and Siltton bells also being available.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.

WASHBROOK'S OWN DESCRIPTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following is the footnote to a peal of Stedman Triples rung at All Saints', Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, February 15th, 1890, conducted by J. W. Washbrook (see 'Bell News'):

'This peal is produced by Thurstans' four quarter-peals and is the first peal of Stedman Triples rung without the use of "extras," and all the four bob sets being while the 6th is behind. The four quarter-peals are united by the use of common singles at 2 and 14 only, only six of which are used.'

Also for the same peal in J.W. Washbrook's MSS.: '5,040 Stedman Triples. A variation of the late Thomas Thurstans' four-part. Footnote: In this variation the sixth dodges 6-7 up whenever four consecutive calls are made. (Date and place same as above.) Conducted by the Arranger.'

Another variation of Thurstans', conducted by the arranger, J.W.W., using Brooks' three-course blocks and six singles, thus giving quadruple calls throughout. First rung on January 23rd, 1904, at St. Saviour's, Arklow, by the Irish Association (J.W.W.'s MSS.).

TWO VARIATIONS.

Dear Sir,—Appended are two variations of Thurstans' Four-part, which I think you will agree makes it into a 20-part. I have made inquiries, but it does not seem to be known. The 'T' is an ordinary part of the peal; the 'T(E)' is an ordinary part with extras; the 'T(O)' is an ordinary part with omits; the parts marked 'A', 'B', 'C', 'D' are as set out herewith:—

W. A. CAVE.

A VETERAN PASSES.

Another stalwart of a past generation of pioneers has passed away in the person of Edwin Jordan. He was the last of the brothers who, with the band in the little village of Capel, on the Surrey and Sussex border, made ringing history in the early 'nineties. One of their achievements was a peal of 14 extents in different Surprise and Treble Bob Minor methods. The late Mr. Jordan also took part in the long length of 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Warnham in 1891, and in the then record length of Superlative Surprise Major (9,312), rung at Crawley in 1894. He was a member in those days of the Sussex and Surrey Associations, the Winchester Diocesan Guild and the Royal Cumberland Youths.

EDINBURGH RINGERS' ANNUAL DINNER.

A GENEROUS BENEFACTRESS.

A company of 90 people spent a delightful evening on Shrove Tuesday on the occasion of the annual dinner of the St. Cuthbert's Parish Church Society, Edinburgh. The gathering took place at the Caledonian Hotel, and was presided over by the Very Rev. Dr. Norman Maclean. The dinner is given every year out of funds provided by the late Mrs. Anderson, the donor of St. Cuthbert's bells. Her portrait during the proceedings hung on the wall, and she benignly looked down on the diners.

The Chairman proposed the principal toast, 'The Memory of the Donor of the Bells.' He assumed that the kindly lady was really looking with approval on that gathering. Mrs. Anderson, he said, was one of the most generous benefactors of St. Cuthbert's, having given them the great peal of bells and provided the endowment so that every Shrove Tuesday they should fortify themselves for the six weeks of Lent with this banquet (laughter). They were greatly indebted to Mrs. Anderson for the enrichment she had given to St. Cuthbert's.

She had provided a wonderful discipline for the change ringers. He did not know whether there was any discipline better than that of being a change ringer. A change ringer, unlike a child, was heard, but not seen (laughter). It was a great thing to serve without having the inspiration of being seen—except once a year, on Shrove Tuesday (laughter). She had ensured that the whole of the West End of Edinburgh should be made musical by this calling to worship. Mrs. Anderson would be a firm believer in what the Americans called a wet climate (laughter). She would have felt sympathy with that dear old lady who said to him twelve years ago, 'I do dislike teetotallers; they are all hypocrites' (laughter). Looking round the table, she would realise how few hypocrites there were that evening (laughter). Mrs. Anderson was one of those splendid Scotswomen of whom the generation had never passed away, who kept their feet firmly upon the earth, but whose heads soared up into the realm that was unseen. As they looked on her portrait, they realised she was not far away from any of them. He asked them to stand up and, turning their faces towards her, express their deepest gratitude and devotion to her memory.

The toast was honoured in silence.

Dr. Fergus Hewat proposed 'St. Cuthbert's Society of Change Ringers'. In the bellry of the church, he said, a great deal of hard, arduous labour was done. They had with them bellringers who had been ringing St. Cuthbert's bells since their initiation in 1902—thirty-one years of bellringing. They were unique in Scotland, because they had five ladies amongst them (applause). These ladies had been there since 1916, ardently pulling these bells.

Mr. James Ballantine, who replied, said the gathering that evening recalled many happy reunions. Two ladies came up in 1914 and offered their services, and since then the society had been always supported by the ladies. But for them he did not think the society would have been able to continue (applause).

Mr. T. Muirhead Jenkins proposed 'Kindred Societies,' and Mr. W. B. Sampson replied. The toast of the guests was proposed by the Rev. W. White Anderson, and the Very Rev. Dr. Harry Miller replied. Dr. James Robb proposed the health of the chairman.

A feature of the programme was the ringing of Grandsire Caters on the handbells which quite captured the imagination of the visitors.

BAND MEETS AFTER TEN YEARS.

Just over ten years ago the first peal was rung at Earl Shilton on the new eight, installed by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1921. This peal (Grandsire Triples) was rung by the then local band, who, fortunately, are not scattered very far apart, P.C. F. E. Wilson, of the Leicester City Police, being the farthest away. Father Time has been very kind, as the band is still in good preservation, and, by kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. E. Pillifant), they met and rung together, standing in the same order as in the peal, a touch of 336 Grandsire Triples, conducted by the same conductor who called the peal ten years ago. There is also a very strong band of young ringers under the excellent leader Mr. George Newton, and many of these met the old band and rang with them. A touch was also rung by the youngsters, who have nearly all rung their first peal. It is worthy of note that Mr. Newton and his young band have rung three quarter-peals of Grandsire Triples on three consecutive Sunday evenings for service with three different conductors. A coincidence is that three of the old band called quarter-peals on the bells.

Several ringing friends were invited to be present, including Mr. A. Callard, of Stoney Stanton, who conducted a very nice touch of Stedman Triples. Three leads of Kent Treble Bob Major concluded the ringing. As soon as the bells were lowered in peal, Mr. Cecil Nixon, the newly-appointed organist, gave a short recital on the new organ, this being quite enjoyed by the ringers who stayed to listen. After this, a convivial hour was spent with the handbells, young and old ringers taking part in tunes and courses of Grandsire Triples. The band take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Arthur Waters, of the original band, for his kind hospitality during the evening. A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells.

C. H. W.

JOSEPH J. PARKER, 1853—1933.

A large number of ringing friends met at Farnham Royal on Tuesday, March 7th, to do honour to Mr. Joseph J. Parker on the 80th anniversary of his birthday.

A retrospect of his activities would fill many columns, suffice it to say that as beekeeper, chorister, composer, entertainer, musician and ringer, he has made a wide-spreading circle of friends, and although the 'twelve-part' will live for ever, there are some who will agree that the qualities of his honey and mead are in every way as excellent.

MR. JOSEPH J. PARKER.

Various methods were rung, and mention should be made of a touch of Stedman Triples by T. S. Smith 1, J. J. Parker 2, R. Buckland 3, G. H. Gutteridge 4, W. H. Fussell 5, J. Blackmore 6, F. Boreham (conductor) 7, Mrs. A. D. Barker 8; also a course each of Cambridge and London Surprise, Mrs. A. D. Barker ringing the tenor to the London.

Nine o'clock came all too soon, the evening being brought to a close with a few words from the secretary and Mr. Fussell, Mr. J. J. Parker responding.

The bells having been lowered in peal, the party dispersed by hike, bike and mike (in a bus), some having time for a 'cup o' kindness' with their old friend.

A peal of London Surprise Minor was rung at Stoke Poges to commemorate the occasion, and will be recorded in the proper column.

Mr. Parker has been associated with ringing at Farnham Royal since 1877, when the six bells were opened in a rebuilt tower, and he collected the funds in 1897 to add two trebles to commemorate Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee. He was tower keeper as well as captain for many years. Altogether Mr. Parker has rung 131 peals, of which he has conducted 56. Of these no fewer than 101 have been rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of which Mr. Parker was one of the first members.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Southern District was held at Charlwood on Saturday, when ringers were present from Aldershot, Beddington, Buckland, Croydon, Hillingdon, Horley, Merstham, Reigate and the local band. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 o'clock, but owing to the unavoidable absence of the Rector, the usual service did not take place.

At the meeting which followed, with Mr. C. H. Kippin in the chair, it was proposed that the next quarterly peal be attempted at Leigh, and Mr. J. Wallis, jun., of Buckland, to be the conductor.

Combined practice is to be held at Kingswood in April.

Thanks were tendered to Mr. A. Kuapp for making all arrangements. Afterwards the tower was again visited and ringing enjoyed until nearly 9 p.m. Touches in various methods were rung from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD. ANNUAL MEETING AT DUDLEY.

The annual meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at Dudley on Saturday, March 4th, in splendid spring weather. The bells were kept merrily going from three o'clock until 4.30, when the beautiful form of service used by the Guild at its meetings was conducted by the Rev. A. P. Shepherd, M.A., D.D., Vicar of Dudley, who also gave a very interesting address. A substantial tea was served in the Parish Hall, provided by funds collected by the secretary (Mr. Herbert Sheppard) from prominent ladies and gentlemen of St. Thomas' congregation and other friends, and was admirably served by a contingent of ladies, from among whom the following presided at the tables: Mrs. Shepherd, Mrs. P. S. Blaker, Mrs. T. W. Watson, Miss Bessie Sheppard, Miss M. Dovey and Miss Rees. Upwards of 50 members and friends sat down to tea, and it was regretted that not more members availed themselves of the glorious afternoon to be present to partake of the good things that were provided.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar occupied the chair, supported by the Rev. K. F. Morris (assistant priest), Mr. Harry Mason (vice-president), Mr. S. J. Hughes (treasurer) and the secretary. Apologies were announced from Councillor and Mrs. Shuttleworth, Mr. and Mrs. Winbow, Mr. Arthur Spittle and Mr. C. W. Cooper.

After Mr. Mason had briefly introduced the new Vicar of Dudley to the members, the Vicar said how pleased he was to be among them and gave them a hearty welcome to his church and to Dudley.

The balance sheet for the past year, as presented by the secretary, was passed, and, having regard to the strenuous times in which we are living, it was considered favourable. It was stated that the membership, both honorary and performing, had increased, and, financially, the Guild was still in a prosperous condition.

Mr. Mason, in a happy speech, proposed that the new Vicar of Dudley be elected president. This was seconded by Mr. T. A. Townsend (Netherton) and carried with acclamation.

The following gentlemen were again unanimously elected vice-presidents: Messrs. J. W. Naylor, Arthur Spittle, Dr. P. S. Blaker, Mr. Harry Mason, Councillor Shuttleworth, Mr. A. Winbow and the Rev. K. F. Morris (assistant priest at Dudley Parish Church). The following were added to the list: The Rev. E. L. Warren (Vicar of Netherton), Messrs. T. W. Watson and A. E. Meredith.

Mr. John Goodman, jun., was again elected Ringing Master, and Mr. Herbert Sheppard hon. secretary.—The latter was accorded a special vote of thanks for his valuable services to the Guild during the past year.

Mr. S. J. Hughes was re-elected treasurer, and Messrs. P. Justice and T. A. Townsend (the auditors) were also re-elected and thanked for their services.

Mr. Fred Colclough (Bilston) was elected the Guild's representative to the Central Council in the room of Mr. S. J. Hughes, who wished to resign for various personal reasons, his resignation being accepted with regret. He was thanked for his services as their representative for upwards of ten years.

It was proposed that the arrangements for the next quarterly meeting be left with the secretary, and it was also proposed to attempt the annual peal for the Guild at Dudley, the necessary arrangements as to date and the band being left with the Ringing Master.

Several new performing members were added to the roll.

At the close of the business, on the proposition of Mr. Mason, a hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for conducting the service in church, also for the address, for presiding at the meeting, also for the use of the tower and bells. Special thanks were also given to the donors to the tea fund, to the ladies who presided at the tables and those who prepared the tea and kindly looked after the comfort of those present. Thanks were also given to the organist. At the close of the meeting further ringing took place in various methods, and this brought another happy and enjoyable afternoon at Dudley to a close.

THE LAST OF HIS RACE.

DESCENDANT OF KENTISH BELLFOUNDERS.

There has just passed away at Lenham, Kent, Mr. James Troup Hatch, a descendant of the great Kent bellfounding family, and one who loved his county and especially the village in which he passed so many years of his life. Deservedly, remarks the 'Kentish Express,' he was known as 'The Squire,' and there was nothing of a public character beneficial to the place in which he did not take the keenest interest, and, all the time, with hand unseen, he was helping the poor with lavish generosity.

He was stricken with illness in the last few years of his life and lived in complete retirement.

The actual founder of the family was Thomas Hatch, of Ulecombe, who died in 1599, but the foundry became more famous under Joseph Hatch, who died in 1639, leaving behind him for evidence of his great industry over a hundred and fifty bells that were placed in Kent church towers by him. All over the county you can see bells inscribed 'Joseph Hatch me fecit.'

Nothing is now left of the old foundry, and Mr. James Troup Hatch was the last of his race. The bellfounding had ceased to exist at the time of the Stuart Civil War.

LEICESTER AND DISTRICTS ANNUAL DINNER. RECORD GATHERING SPENDS HAPPY EVENING.

On Saturday, March 4th, there gathered together a good company of ringers of the local towers and surrounding country churches for the Leicester and Districts annual dinner, there being present members from Burbage, Croft, Loughborough, Melton, Husbands Bosworth, Theddington, Lutterworth, Syston, Stoke Golding, Great Glen, Wigston Magna and South Saddington, etc. Among the welcome visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson (Surfleet), Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Coles (London), Mr. and Mrs. F. Perrens, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. W. White (Coventry), Mr. A. H. Ward (Derby), Mr. P. Amos (Wellingborough). Ringing was indulged in at All Saints' (5), the Cathedral (10), St. John's (10) and St. Margaret's (12). At the latter at one period there were some 40 members in the belfry at once! The ringing included rounds for those who could not join in the higher methods, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, Kent Minor and Maximus, Cambridge Royal and Maximus.

At 6.30 p.m. the company proceeded to the George Hotel, and on being counted up numbered 78, which just beat the previous record by about four. A very good dinner was served, to which full justice was done. Later a 'free and easy' convivial was held, the local president (Mr. A. James Harris) announcing that it had been decided to cut out the usual set programme, also speeches, the latter being restricted to one only and its reply. During the very pleasant time which followed the company were entertained by an impromptu turn or two, songs being given by Messrs. T. Vallance, J. Morris, H. J. Poole and J. P. Fidler, and Mr. Colin Harrison on the piano led some community singing. St. Martin's Quartette sang tunes on handbells, and a course of Stedman Caters was also rung. The Chairman gave the toast of 'The Visitors,' welcoming all those who had supported this venture by their presence, and especially those from a distance.—The Rev. W. Groome-Merrilees responded and thanked the Leicester ringers for such a splendid entertainment. 'Rupert the Great' (in more ways than one), when called upon, said he was no public speaker, but, after Mr. Coles had said a few words, would give a recitation, which he did in his inimitable style.

Mr. Coles said he had not—as someone had facetiously suggested—come to Leicester specially to get a good feed! He had come to visit old friends, and in reminiscent mood recalled his first visit a number of years ago when H. J. Poole astonished him by ringing double-handed London Surprise, he then being little more than a boy! He had seen more of his great achievements since then. He recalled, too, when on a visit to Derby to win the chess championship, Mr. Ernest Morris meeting the party and conducting them to a 'pub'! and another occasion when peal ringing (a voice interjected 'grabbing') they had made Mr. E. Morris' sides ache by the tales told, especially of the man who wanted land. It was all very pleasant to recall, and, on behalf of all the visitors, he thanked the Leicester Society for providing such a good afternoon and evening's entertainment.

Detective-Sergeant Turner kept the company rocking with laughter by his 'stories,' which reached a climax when the colonel told the tramp to 'go and get a hot one.' A very fine musical interlude was provided by Mr. C. Grimes, who on various 'gadgets' not only made farmyard noises, but 'rendered sweet music' in most unexpected ways. A great tribute must be paid to Messrs. J. Harris and E. H. Bagworth for their work in arranging such a treat, and all hope they will repeat it again for many years to come.

BOURNEMOUTH RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

MR. C. FORFITT'S SERVICES AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

It must fall to the lot of very few change ringers to ring in celebration of their own golden wedding anniversary, yet to judge by the manner in which Mr. C. Forfitt, of St. Peter's band, Bournemouth, turns up to service ringing and also by the excellent quarter-peal that was rung in honour of the occasion, he must have many years' useful ringing yet in front of him. The ringers of St. Peter's trust so, for no band in the country can possess a better example of unflinching devotion to service ringing. If 'Charlie' shows half a dozen 'absences' at the end of the year it is a lot and due to unusual circumstances. Over 70 years of age, he is a reliable 'rope' in all the standard methods, and is always prepared to assist anyone in difficulties. One must of necessity number him amongst the 'grand old men' of the Exercise, but we must warn the reader only to whisper the 'old' when 'Charlie' is within earshot.

A member of St. Peter's band for upwards of 30 years, Mr. Forfitt has taken part in several peals, and has hopes of adding yet one more to the list shortly in celebration of the happy anniversary. Service ringing, however, is his 'forte,' and both he and his wife are justly proud of his record in this direction. The anniversary fell on Sunday, February 26th, and the quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples attempted on that day unfortunately went to pieces within six leads of home. Success attended the attempt made on the following Tuesday, however, the ringers being H. Osborne 1, L. V. Davis 2, C. Lovell 3, R. Dear 4, C. Forfitt 5, E. Waters 6, A. V. Davis (conductor) 7, C. Chandler 8.

THE SINGLE BELL NUISANCE. RESTRICTION NEEDED NOW.

To the Editor.

Sir,—What Mr. Ernest Morris writes about French bells is very interesting, but it hardly bears on what I wrote. I was not referring especially to French ringing, but to that abroad generally; nor did I refer to the ringing of two bells, which is what his French correspondent writes about.

Many years ago someone who evidently knew what he was talking about (it may have been Mr. Dennison Taylor's father) told me that they had rings of bells in some towers on the Continent which were not unlike our rings; but that they never rang them or chimed them as we do, but only jangled them all together, the object being to make as much noise as they could.

The only place where I heard this done was in the Roman Catholic Cathedral in St. John's, Newfoundland. There they had six or eight bells which may have been English ones. I heard them every Sunday for a year, but never saw them. From the sound, I should say that they got a number of men to pull them half up, and keep them there, without any attempt at a succession of sounds, but merely clashing as much as possible. It may be that there were only one or two men, who rang each bell half up in turn, leaving it to fall, and sound with the others while so doing. I was told again that this was the way bells were rung on the Continent.

In France I have not myself noticed any church where there were more than the usual two bells, but I believe there are a few. In Dinard in Brittany I saw through the open west door the sexton come and pull the bell more than half way up, and then leave it to fall unattended, while he went away, presumably to attend to other matters, afterwards coming back and repeating his efforts.

In Provence, the church bell is usually on the top of the tower giving a curious effect on the skyline. At Antibes in the ancient Roman tower there are two bells, more than an octave apart I think. Usually only one was rung, but for special services both were rung together, one being chimed and the other rung up, quite correctly, and with a regular stroke. My recollection is that this was done for an hour, or at least for half an hour. I certainly did not notice here or in Brittany any restriction to five minutes. But this may be either that those two provinces are the most Catholic in France and the law is not strictly enforced there. Or it may be that the ringing was broken off at five minute intervals without my noticing it.

The fact that the ringing of church bells is restricted by law in France adds point to what I wrote about the Church Assembly. There is no doubt whatever that the ringing of a single bell, when prolonged, causes much irritation and leads many people to dislike ringing altogether.

When this is pointed out, three forms of excuse are made: (a) The custom is a legal one. (b) Those who complain knew when they came to live where they are now that they would be near church bells. (c) If anything is done about it, it will be the thin end of the wedge to have bells stopped altogether.

I cannot say that I think these reasons either fair or adequate; and if ringers persist in them, they will only have themselves to blame if unreasonable laws are passed later on. If there is a genuine cause of complaint, and if ringers are wrongly connected in most men's minds with it, it is surely up to them at least to do what they can (and they can do a lot), both to remove the cause of complaint and to dissociate themselves from it.

The Enabling Act was passed to enable the Church, through its Assembly, to formulate laws which could be sanctioned by Parliament, in cases where legislation of a hostile character was threatened, if the grievances were not attended to by the Church itself in time. There cannot be a case to which this applies more exactly than in that which we are now considering. It is true that the threat at present is not very serious, but if we wait until it is, it will clearly be too late for us to act. Our opportunity will be gone, and the State will insist on a law on the lines of the French one, allowing us to ring bells for five minutes at a time. If we act at once, while we have the chance, we shall show the electorate that we wish to be considerate and reasonable; and if a Measure is now passed such as is generally acceptable, we shall be safe from further legislation for at least a generation. We cannot hope to do more than this, but we ought not to do less.

HERBERT DRAKE.

DAVENTRY SURPRISE MAJOR.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. SUGGESTED CHANGE OF PLANS FOR ANNUAL MEETING.

The pre-Lent meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Darlington on Saturday, February 25th, and although one of the worst snowstorms for many years had been raging for some days, 23 members, from Saltburn in the south to Newcastle in the north, gathered together in the 'Quaker Town' and had a good time. The fine peal at St. Cuthbert's (tenor 17 cwt.) was found to be in good order, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Superlative and Cambridge were rung during the afternoon. After an excellent tea at the Cameron Hotel, a short meeting was held, the president (Mr. J. Anderson) being in the chair.

Thanks were accorded to the Vicars of St. Cuthbert's, St. John's and Holy Trinity Churches for the use of the bells, on the motion of Mr. W. Storey, and visitors from the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association were welcomed, on the motion of Mr. G. W. Park, Mr. T. Metcalf replying. Thanks were also accorded to Mr. G. W. Park, on the motion of Mr. W. J. Davidson, for the excellent arrangements he had made for the meeting.

This being the first meeting of the association since the death of the late president, Mr. E. E. Ferry, it was decided to send a letter to his relatives expressing sympathy with them in their loss, and the members stood in silence for a short period. Sympathy was also expressed with Mr. William Storey in the recent death of his wife, and, in replying, Mr. Storey said that among the many condolences he had received, he valued that of his ringing friends very highly.

The annual meetings of the association are, according to rule, held alternately at Newcastle and Durham, but as the ringing facilities in Durham are very poor, the Chairman suggested that in future the meetings be held at Newcastle, Durham, Sunderland, Darlington, or West Hartlepool; that the afternoon be devoted to ringing, and the festival service be held at, say, 5 o'clock, the dinner at 6, followed by the annual meeting, and the remainder of the time be devoted to a social evening. The scheme met with the approval of those present, and they were asked to get the feelings of the other members on the matter, and let the president have any further suggestions.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO SIR A. P. HEYWOOD, BART.

As the 10 bells at Duffield, which was the home of Sir Arthur Heywood, and where he was a Sunday service ringer for many years, are about to be recast, the committee of the Midland Counties Association invite subscriptions from all ringers towards the expenses of recasting one of the bells and adding a suitable inscription.

Sir Arthur was, as is well known, the founder of the Central Council, and its president for a quarter of a century. He was also president of the M.C.A. for 29 years, and the committee feel that there are many, particularly those who knew him personally, who will welcome this opportunity of being associated with the scheme, and it is with confidence that they appeal for generous support from one and all.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the hon. treasurer of the M.C.A.,

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

A WEEK OF SPADE-WORK.

The western portion of the Cornish Guild was fortunate in having the president of the Devon Guild and Mrs. Powell staying in the neighbourhood recently. This event was made the occasion of a week of much needed practice amongst the scattered bands struggling with the rudiments of the art.

The comparatively new band of St. Gluvias (new to half-pull ringing, that is, for the grandfather of the tower is 76 and a keen learner at that) were the first to give a welcome, and made a most favourable impression by their striking of Grandsire, whilst one of their members was enabled to get his first 120 of Stedman, without a correction, in a method he had merely studied on paper.

At Truro Cathedral on Tuesday (February 14th) an excellent practice was unfortunately stopped somewhat early by sickness in the vicinity.

At Camborne a very favourable impression was made by the round ringers being in force to give a welcome; and the new band at Tuckingwill were given some Grandsire.

Penzance and Gtval enabled the presidents of the two Western Guilds to meet for the first time: whilst Kenwyn gave opportunity for a quarter-peat of Grandsire by the following: W. H. Southeard, A. S. Roberts, Miss J. Angwin, C. M. Thomas, Rev. E. S. Powell, W. Sleeman, Mrs. Powell and C. Nicholls (first attempt on eight).

On Saturday a most useful week was brought to a close by a peal attempt at Lanivet, which failed after some 2½ hours' excellent ringing. We hope the visitors came safely through the snow which descended that night on the Western moors.

On Saturday, February 18th, for the wedding of the sister of one of the local band, a quarter-peat of Grandsire Doubles in 45 mins.: C. Nicholls 1, Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram 2, W. Sleeman 3, A. L. Nicholls 4, W. Wallace (first quarter and first attempt as conductor) 5, C. Bone 6.

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART.

In another column the Rev. E. S. Powell makes a suggestion which, could it be carried out, would, as he says, be a very graceful gesture to one of the greatest among living composers. Mr. Joseph J. Parker, of Farnham Royal, who recently celebrated his eightieth birthday, has earned a great place among the men from whose work the Exercise is profiting to-day. A generation or more ago, when the scope of compositions of Triples was exceedingly limited, Mr. Parker was one of those who devoted their attention to producing peals in methods such as Stedman, Oxford Bob and Grandsire, and with men like the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Dr. Carpenter, Sir Arthur Heywood and the Rev. H. Earl Bulwer, explored much new ground and opened up new avenues. Some of the work done by these men was the result of years of application, constant disappointment, and only occasional success. They provided the foundations upon which composers of to-day are able to build, but which they constructed, as it were, stone by stone, laid only by laborious effort. The composition of a peal of Triples is by no means an easy matter in any event; every row has to be used; there can be no omissions or substitutions, as is possible on higher numbers—just the employment of every row once. Let those who think it is a simple thing try it for themselves; they will soon realise with what painstaking zeal these masters must have applied themselves to the task, and will appreciate in fuller measure what we owe to them.

Among the many compositions which Mr. Joseph J. Parker gave us is one particularly which has achieved universal use and everlasting fame. It is his twelve-part peal of Grandsire Triples, which in its various forms is perhaps rung for that method more often than all the other compositions of Grandsire Triples put together. It has long ousted Holt's celebrated ten-part from pride of place, and its construction is such that it has lent itself to a number of transpositions, most of which are known by the name of the transposer. The most popular is that by the late Mr. James E. Groves, and so established has this particular form become that reports constantly reach us in which the peal is merely described as 'Groves' variation,' without any reference whatever to its being Parker's peal. The Rev. E. S. Powell's suggestion is that in future the peal, in whatever form it is rung, should be known simply as 'Parker's Twelve-Part.' He points out, what has been known for years to some people, that 'Groves' transposition' was the form in which Mr. Parker originally composed the peal, and the author transposed it himself to make the sixth the observation bell before publishing it for the first time. any event the transposition of the peal into any of the many possible forms requires no exceptional skill—the calling is merely begun in a different place and the peal, however it is rung, is 'Parker's twelve-part.' There is much to be said, therefore, for Mr. Powell's suggestion; although, on the other hand, 'Groves' or some other transposition does identify the form of the peal and to some extent indicates the merit of the conductor's performance, that is, whether he calls it from an observation or a non-observation bell. Apart from this there is no value in any other description than that of 'Parker's twelve-part,' and even the claim for maintaining the present custom could be overcome by a parenthetical note such as '7th observation.'

SOUTHERN DIVISION OFFICIALS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting of the Southern Division was held at Doncaster on Saturday, and a very representative gathering of the towers in the area was present to try their skill on this grand peal of eight, the tenor of which is 30 cwt. The following towers were represented: Sheffield Cathedral and All Saints', Ecclesfield, Eastwood, Rotherham, Holsterstone, Wortley, Arksey, Wall, Conisborough, Rawmarsh, Tickhill. The number of members present was about 40, and a variety of methods, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major, was rung during the afternoon and evening. Tea at the Co-operative Cafe was a very enjoyable affair.

The business meeting was held in the Clergy House and was presided over by the curate (the Rev. R. Machon). The secretary read a letter he had received from the president of the Yorkshire Association in reply to one he had sent to him, conveying the congratulations and good wishes of the division on his appointment as Hon. Canon of Ripon Cathedral.

Three new members were elected, viz., G. Lord (Wath), H. Chaddock (Eastwood) and J. S. Smith (Conisborough).

For the annual joint meeting of the societies in the Southern Division Area, a very hearty invitation was received from the Conisborough Branch to hold the meeting at that place, and this was gratefully accepted, the meeting to be held on June 17th next.

The retiring vice-president, Mr. G. Lewis, of Ecclesfield, was re-elected for another term of three years, and, in returning thanks to the members for their confidence, assured them of his hearty co-operation in anything he could do for the advancement of the work of the association.

The three retiring members of the committee, Mr. G. Clark (Arksey), Mr. F. C. Wilson (Rawmarsh) and Mr. W. A. Wooler (Wortley), were re-elected and heartily thanked for their services. Mr. G. Clark was further elected to the General Committee for three years.

It was decided that the hearty congratulations of the members be offered to Mr. J. Thorpe, of Sheffield Cathedral, on having rung his 200th peal for the association.

The secretary reported that during the past year the division had elected 29 new members, which is a record for any one year, and he thanked most heartily the members and the secretaries of the local branches for their efforts and co-operation, which had made such a success possible. There were now upwards of 150 members in the Southern Division.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman and to the local company for the arrangements made. The Ringing Master, Mr. G. Halksworth, of Doncaster, paid a great tribute to the chairman, and said how deeply they regretted his departure in the near future, as he has accepted a living at Halifax.

In replying, the Chairman spoke of his very great esteem for the ringers, and hoped that any of them who visited Halifax would look him up. They were assured of a very hearty welcome.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT HORNSEY.

A very happy meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Hornsey on Saturday, when about 40 ringers attended, including quite a fair number of real, expert, 'Great I Am' peal-grabbers. The ancient tower of the old Church of St. Mary was filled to overflowing very early in the afternoon, and it was soon noticed that some of the aforementioned great ones were actually assisting learners through Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise! To be quite fair to the learners, they repaid the expert ones by helping them through a touch or two of Bob Minor and some Grandsire Doubles, so, on the whole, honours were pretty even. After a short, albeit bright, service had been held in the new church, some 100 yards distant from the old tower, the members adjourned to the Church Hall near by, where a good tea was greatly enjoyed, especially by the youngest member of the party.

At the subsequent business meeting two new members were elected, viz., Albert Edge, of the Hadley band, and Albert F. Coles, youngest son of the hon. secretary.

The arrangements for the next meeting were left in the hands of the hon. secretary, with a preference for Pinner.

The hon. secretary welcomed Mr. Rupert Richardson, Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, who was present, saying he hoped they would see 'more of him' at their meetings.

The Chairman, Mr. W. Pickworth, proposed a vote of thanks to the incumbents of Hornsey and Wood Green, the preacher, organist, etc., which was duly carried.

Some handbell ringing afterwards consisted of Stedman Caters and Bob Major, whilst a party were soon back in the old tower, where the bells were kept going for some considerable time. The ringing at Wood Green unfortunately had to be curtailed, owing to illness, but the visit to that place gave Mr. Joseph Waghorn, sen., an opportunity of meeting many old ringing friends once again. Quite a variety of methods were rung during the day, including Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent, Double Court, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor, and rounds for the 'some day' will be experts.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.TOWCESTER BRANCH'S BIG MEETING.

A record number of ringers turned up for a quarterly meeting of the Towcester Branch at Gayton on Saturday. In addition to members of other branches, there were ringing friends from North Bucks and Banbury Branches of the Oxford Guild, Bedford Association, etc. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. F. Stokes, of Gayton. Other clergy present included Vicars of Moulton, Blakesley, Cosgrove, and the Rev. R. Howes (Cold Higham), hon. secretary. Tea was partaken in the Schoolroom, and the efforts of the Mothers' Union were taxed to the utmost to provide for the large number present. Thanks were accorded to them and all who helped to make the meeting a success on the call of the Master of the Guild, Mr. F. Wilford.

The hon. secretary, in his report, stated he had sold several hundreds of his book, 'Village Bells,' but only three in his own district—a number which was considerably augmented before the meeting closed.

The Guild Master congratulated Mr. Howes, and said he was not such a 'duffer' now as he had termed himself, the improvement in his striking being due, perhaps, to following the rules in his own book.

Thanks to the preacher (the Rev. W. F. Stokes) concluded the meeting.

MUFFLED BELLS.

The death occurred on March 14th of Mr. Harcourt Palmer Landon, Rector's warden, of Shenfield, Essex, and an honorary member of the Essex Association.

The late Mr. Landon was keenly interested in bells and ringers, and the present tenor at Shenfield was given by him in memory of a member of his family.

The interment took place on Saturday, March 18th, in the parish churchyard. The service was fully choral, and at the conclusion a 720 Bob Minor was rung half-muffled by W. H. Poole 1, E. Sitch 2, R. Plummer 3, T. Street 4, B. Hines 5, H. Turner (conductor) 6. As another funeral was to take place during the afternoon, further ringing was impossible.

On Sunday, March 5th, at St. Peter's Church, Horbury, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung with bells half-muffled as a mark of respect to the late Mr. W. H. Mitchell, one of the Horbury band: W. Taftersall (Ossett) 1, G. W. Pickles 2, H. Dransfield (Earlsheaton) 3, E. Pickles 4, J. Milner 5, H. Rowley (conductor) 6, R. Thickett 7, G. Goldsdraw 8.

CONTINENTAL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your correspondents' remarks on continental ringing are interesting, but not very accurate. It is probable that in the French village mentioned there are only two bells, but in this case, as in many others, it will be owing to lack of funds that more are not installed.

In the village church of Les Houches, in the Arve valley, there are four bells, and at the richer market town of Sallanches, a little lower down, there are nine. Some of them are hung practically in the English fashion, with wheels and ropes, although the latter have no sallies and look rather like old cart ropes.

As regards bells clashed or jangled, the weights and notes are very different from those of an English peal. Generally three or four bells, forming a chord, are swung up to about the horizontal, and no attempt is made to strike them in sequence. The trebles are very light in proportion to the tenors, and may be as much as two octaves higher. For instance, at the Cathedral at Grenoble there are five heavy bells rung mechanically by the Angelus Electro-Automatique apparatus, the weights and notes of which are as follows:—

Treble: 7 cwt. in G.

2nd: 1 ton 2 cwt. in E.

3rd: 1 ton 12 cwt. in D.

4th: 2 tons 2 cwt. in C.

Tenor: 4 tons 7 cwt. in A flat.

Another arrangement for four light bells is: Treble, 2 cwt. in F; 2nd, 5 cwt. in C; 3rd, 9 cwt. in A; tenor, 16 cwt. in F.

Bells of such weights and tuning allowed to clash are not at all disagreeable, but naturally a similar effect would not be possible on an English peal owing to the lack of compass and the amount of metal put into the treble end.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The meeting at Allesley on Saturday was well attended. There were members from Chilvers Coton, Higham, Knowle, Lilington, Nuneaton, Rugby and Warwick, together with the local band. The bells were raised soon after 3.30, and various touches of Doubles and Minor were rung before tea. This was served at the Rainbow Inn and was a very enjoyable meal.

In the absence of the Vicar, the two churchwardens welcomed the Guild members. Ringing was resumed after tea until about 8 o'clock. Cambridge and London Surprise Minor and Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were among the methods rung.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Last Saturday a peal of Bob Minor was rung at Bassaleg, Monmouthshire, the first peal on the bells, which are of cast steel, and were placed in the tower some 60 years ago by Vickers, of Sheffield. 'It is hoped,' says the sender of the report, 'that before another 60 years are past the bells will be consigned to the scrap heap.'

Mr. George Henry Coombes, of 25, Swannmore Road, Ryde, Isle of Wight, the oldest member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, will celebrate his 90th birthday next Tuesday.

The Exercise will extend its heartiest greetings and congratulations to this grand old veteran, who is still an active ringer and declares he feels 'game' for another ten years yet.

Mr. Walter G. Forward, of Cucklington, Somerset, who made his first attempt for a peal on Saturday, has been a regular ringer at this church for 40 years, and previously attended for four years without being allowed to touch a rope! What would some of the present-day ringers, who complain of lack of opportunity, say to treatment of this kind? And how many of them would have 'stuck it'? Congratulations to Mr. Forward upon his perseverance and success.

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Would it not be a graceful birthday compliment to Mr. J. J. Parker if the Exercise were to agree henceforth to drop all such designations as Mr. BLANK'S TRANSPOSITION of the twelve-part? As an actual matter of history this composition was originally produced in the form generally known as 'Groves' transposition,' and was transposed by Mr. Parker himself before publication to the form with the sixth as the half-hunt. That Mr. Parker has never taken the trouble himself to assert his rights surely makes it the more incumbent on us to give honour where honour is due.

Obviously Mr. Groves and the rest acted in perfect good faith, but this does not affect the fact that Mr. Parker was aware of all the 30 transpositions (or 60 if those in which the single in the sixth part is moved two calls further on be included) before anyone else in the Exercise knew that there was any such composition as the twelve-part.

'PEAL GRABBERS'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As one who has been a member of the Peterborough Guild since I started ringing some four years ago, and until a few months ago lived in the Wellingborough area of that Guild, I should like to clear up one or two points in Mr. Amos' letter in your issue dated March 17th.

The reason Mr. Amos has to go outside the Peterborough Diocese for his peals is this: he is not a member of the Diocesan Guild, and indeed takes no part in any ringing in or near Wellingborough. All my early ringing has been done with the Peterborough Guild, and I have received nothing but help and encouragement.

During the last year or two there have been a number of letters in 'The Ringing World' from Mr. Amos all more or less in the same strain. May I point out that, human nature being what it is, he is not likely to find the Surprise conductors very ready to oblige him when he spends his time criticising them in your excellent columns.

One other point re 'peal grabbers'—I don't think it is correct to call the Surprise bands 'peal grabbers,' as it is only by hard practice and study that they have attained their proficiency. The people who are really 'peal grabbers' are those who are content to keep ringing peals in one or two simple methods, usually Doubles, instead of devoting their time to the study and practice of higher methods; also those who persuade a good conductor, who thinks he is encouraging beginners, to 'push' them through peals.

ROGER D. St. J. SMITH.

Heanor, Nottingham.

WHAT IS THE GRIEVANCE?

Dear Sir,—Referring to the letter in your issue of February 24th and the very able replies which have since appeared, I cannot refrain from voicing my own and the opinions of many ringers adjacent to this district, as it would appear to those not conversant with same, that Mr. Leech has had no encouragement whatsoever.

I think I can claim to have spent as much time, in a ringing capacity, with Mr. Leech as anyone, and can testify to the opportunities he has had of practising Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise Major with some of the leading men of the Exercise, who also have stood in several peal attempts for him, but, unfortunately, owing to his business, he is otherwise engaged at week-ends.

In conclusion, I would ask Mr. Leech what his grievance is, and to define his remarks, 'The Great I Am' and 'Surprise Peal Cliques,' on whom a stigma has been placed, for which an early apology is awaited by the ringing fraternity.

APPLETON RECORD PEAL BAND.

MEN WHO MADE HISTORY IN GRANDSIRE CATERS.

When Appleton celebrated March the 4th this year, the band, who, on December 27th last, rang the record peal of Grandsire Caters, consisting of 16,271 changes, in 9 hours 20 minutes, met again for the unveiling of a tablet recording the performance. The occasion was also made the opportunity for a photograph of the company, which we reproduce herewith.

AN OLD APPLETON NOTE BOOK.

From time to time there comes to light some old note book of a ringer long since passed to his rest, and how interesting it is to look through the entries, and gain some inkling of the activities of the ringers of a bygone generation. Too many of these old tomes have been lost to the Exercise—thrown away as rubbish as soon as the owner has departed. What a lot more knowledge we might have had of the early events of ringing history could all these old note books have been preserved to us! Here and there, however, there inscriptions that has a local relation and is worth mentioning. In 1856. Hamney, Berks, had a peal of six cast by Abraham Rudhall, of Gloucester, in 1702, but the second had to be recast. And this is what was put on it:—

C. and G. Mears of London they made me
The second of this peal to be.
I was plac'd here by Alfred White,
Who in change ringing took great delight.

Then followed the names of the Vicar and churchwardens. We wonder what Diocesan Chancellors and Advisory Boards would say to such an inscription to-day?

There is, however, no question as to the delight which Alfred White took in ringing. Alfred White was but a lad when he began his connection with church bells in 1818, the year in which Appleton first had a ring of six, given by the squire. He was in the first recorded 720 on the bells, rung in 1821, and his ringing connection with Appleton was kept up until his death in 1876, in which year he rang his last peal. Much of his ringing was done with three of his sons, Fred, Henry and Noble, the first named also succeeding his are extant the carefully recorded notes of some old ringer, and an exceedingly interesting book which we have recently seen is now the cherished possession of the White family of Appleton. It bears on the fly-leaf the inscription, 'Alfred White, His Book. May 21st, 1842,' and appears to have been originally intended as a receptacle for recording the inscriptions on bells, probably of those which passed through the owner's hands as a bellhanger.

Alfred White founded the firm which is still carrying on its industry in the old Berkshire village, having set up about the year 1822. His reputation spread from the surrounding parishes to neighbouring counties, and then still further afield, and this old book seems faithfully to record the particulars of the bells that came under his notice. It also contains a large number of old woodcuts of churches he had visited, collected from a variety of sources, and adding a special interest to the book. Interspersed, and many obviously inserted at a later date than the original writing, for they do not appear in chronological order, are newspaper cuttings recording peals and other ringing performances, many of them relating to various 'March the fourth' celebrations.

There is no need to quote at any length from the many bell inscriptions among the notes, but they form the usual quaint collection of historical records and doggerel verse which in the 18th and 19th centuries used to decorate(?) church bells. Here, however, is one father in the business. Alfred White's ringing, a good deal of it in conjunction with his work, took him to many parts of England, and his book contains a list of 203 churches in which he had rung, spreading from his own tower of Appleton, south to Portsmouth, north as far as Yorkshire, west to Herefordshire and east to London.

His first peal was rung on the day that Appleton bells were increased to eight. In that year (1855), March 4th, being Sunday, was celebrated the following day, and we read from a carefully preserved newspaper cutting, 'On Monday last this village (Appleton) was a scene of mirth and gaiety, in consequence of the opening of the peal of eight bells. At five o'clock in the morning the Appleton ringers entered the tower, and rang a complete peal of Grandsire Triples, containing 5,040 changes, with 154 bobs and 85 singles, in 3 hours and 30 minutes, viz.: John Sparrow, treble; James Newman, 2nd; Benjamin Barrett, 3rd; William White, 4th; Alfred White, 5th; Henry White, 6th; Fred White, 7th; William Woodward, tenor; they were conducted by Henry White. The Oxford change ringers afterwards entered the tower and rang several touches, and then proceeded to the Greyhound, at Besselsleigh, where they partook of an excellent dinner, provided by the landlady, Mrs. White; the band played several airs, and the evening was spent very harmoniously.'

SOME 17th CENTURY RINGERS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Some months ago, searching through old books and records in the British Museum, I came across a reference to a man who was described as 'the very best ringer that ever was or ever will be in England or in the whole world.' And who do you suppose he was? Not Stedman, nor Annable, nor Doleman, nor any of the other men whose names have come down to us, and about whose doings we know a little, at any rate. But a certain Thomas Wells, whose memory, except for this one scanty reference, is entirely forgotten. All we know of him was that he was the son of the parish clerk at Bray, that he went up to Oxford to Exeter College, that he took Orders in the Church, and died in 1731 of small-pox at the age of twenty-five or twenty-six. Thomas Hearne, the diarist, who went to school with him, says he was a strong, lusty young fellow, with a wonderfully good nature, and was much beloved. We should like to know more about Mr. Thomas Wells.

Another forgotten worthy was John Sacheverell, whose name appears in the list of members of the Society of College Youths for the year 1696, and who held the office of steward in 1702. When I came across his name, I naturally wondered whether he had anything to do with the Doctor Sacheverell, who at that time was making his name famous (or, at any rate, notorious) both in Church and State. I could, however, find no connection. John Sacheverell was an Oxford gentleman who lived at Cumnor, where he died in 1725. He was a very fine ringer, and had the reputation of being an extraordinary judge of ringing. When Dr. Shippen was Vice-Chancellor of Oxford he proposed to have the six bells at St. Mary's (the university church) made into eight or ten, and was desirous that Sacheverell should manage the job. He sent as messenger to him, one Brookland, a printer and one of the local ringers, to ask him to come and see him. Sacheverell reported that if they were made eight or ten, provided the fifth were recast, they would be the best peal in England, but he neglected to go and see the Vice-Chancellor, and the whole scheme fell to the ground.

Two names in the College Youths' list for the year 1687 raise an interesting speculation. They are Gilbert Sheldon and John Dolbin. About that time, Dr. Gilbert Sheldon was Archbishop of Canterbury, and Dr. John Dolben was Archbishop of York. Now it is hardly likely that the Primate of England and the Primate of All England would at the same time be members of such a body as the College Youths; or, if they were, would be entered by their bare Christian and surnames. But that this is not merely a curious coincidence, is shown by a third name which appears between the other two—that of Gilbert Dolbin. Gilbert Dolbin was the eldest son of the Archbishop. He was a Westminster School boy, and was perhaps one of the links by which tradition has connected that school with the Society of College Youths. He became a lawyer, was raised to an Irish judgeship and received a baronetcy. He was also for a time Member of Parliament for Yarmouth, Isle of Wight.

John Dolben, his brother, was also a lawyer, but he fell into bad company, took to gaming, squandered the fortune his father left him, went abroad, married a rich widow, came home and went into Parliament. His reputation was none of the best. Thomas Herne calls him 'that vile Dolben.'

Who Gilbert Sheldon was I do not know. He was not the Archbishop, of course, but obviously a relative both of his and of the Dolbens; for Dr. John Dolben had married Dr. Sheldon's niece. Dr. Sheldon was unmarried, and this Gilbert Sheldon was probably a nephew.

The only record the College Youths possess of their early days is the list of members and officers. It is not a contemporary list, the names for the first hundred years being all written out at the same time. It is not complete, and in several cases members are given titles which they did not possess till years later, when, like as not, they had long since ceased to have anything to do with the society.

This bare list of names, however, is the key by which we can unlock a very great deal of information about some of the men who were ringers in the seventeenth century. Let me give an example.

In the parish accounts of St. Sepulchre's, Holborn, for the year 1699, it is recorded that three men, Richard Castleman, Peter Bradshaw and Elisha Mason had offered to take down and recast the ninth bell and replace it at their own charges. The vestry accepted the offer and referred it to the churchwardens

'to see the bell taken down and delivered to the said persons, weighing the same out and in; they, the churchwardens, taking security from the said persons for the performance of the matter proposed, and that they be obliged to return the said bell of the same weight and goodness as it is now or better. If any of its weight should be wanting, they should pay to the Churchwardens the value thereof, and take care that they do no damage to the other bells.'

On the face of it this entry is rather curious. It is not usual, nor was it then, when a man has offered to recast any cracked bell at his own expense for the benefit of the parish, to make him give security, lest during the process he or the bell founder should steal a few pounds of bell metal. Such a condition would be looked on as an insult, and be an effective deterrent against any generosity.

But the mystery is solved when we realise who these three generous persons were. Castleman and Mason were the two College Youths' stewards for that year. Peter Bradshaw was one of the leading members of the society. He joined in 1682, was steward in 1688, and Master in 1694. I think we shall not be far wrong if we reconstruct the event as follows:—

At that time the only ring of ten bells in London (and, I think, the only one in England that could be rung) was at St. Sepulchre's. The College Youths and the London Scholars had begun to practise Grandsire Caters, and so, though they rang at many other towers, St. Sepulchre's was especially valuable to them. But St. Sepulchre's were a poor mixed lot. Some of them had escaped the Great Fire, others had been added to replace those the fire had destroyed. Edward Webster and Christopher Hodson had both been employed to supply bells, and neither had done much good. And then the notorious Michael Darbie had a hand. His work was so bad that the vestry refused to pay him any more money until he had put right the work he had already done, and, later on, when they let him have some money for work done, his 'recompense for new casting one of the bells was suspended till the same bell be better approved.'

PRESENTATION TO STAFFORD VETERAN.MR. ZADOK BAKER'S 60 YEARS AS A RINGER.

On Sunday, March 12th, for morning service, and as a birthday compliment to Mr. Zadok Baker, who on that day attained his 80th birthday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church, Stafford, by the following Sunday service ringers: H. Bayley 1, W. Cowan 2, H. F. Evans 3, G. Booth 4, R. J. Warrilow 5, A. E. Garbett 6, W. H. Jones (conductor) 7, J. Warrilow 8. It was hoped that Mr. Baker would ring the tenor, but owing to his having been accidentally knocked down by a motor van on the previous Tuesday, when on his way to practice, it was thought advisable for him not to do so. Fortunately, he was not seriously injured, and was able to attend the bellry on Tuesday evening, the 14th, when the Rector (the Rev. Lionel Lambert, M.A.), on behalf of the clergy, churchwardens and bellringers, presented him with a gift in the form of Treasury notes. The Rector congratulated Mr. Baker very heartily on attaining so great an age and still being an active ringer, paying him a well-deserved tribute for the splendid service he had given in the ringing of St. Mary's bells for some 25 years. The presentation made to him that evening was, said the Rector, a token of esteem and appreciation for all he had done.

On behalf of the ringers, the hon. secretary congratulated Mr. Baker, thanked him for the help he had given them and for the splendid example he had set to the band, for, despite his years, he had until recently been one of the most regular and punctual members. They, as a band, hoped he would find much happiness in the evening of his days, and that there were still many more 'part ends' to come up in his peal of life, ere the Great Conductor called the last bob to bring it into the honing course with the subsequent 'That's all; stand.'

Mr. Baker, responding, thanked them all very much for their gift. He had been a bellringer altogether for some 60 years, 25 having been spent in the ringing of St. Mary's bells, and he hoped that he would have health given to him to enable him to ring for a few more years. A vote of thanks to the Rector for making the presentation, proposed by Mr. Warrilow (head ringer) and seconded by Mr. Jones (deputy head ringer), concluded what is probably the first event of its kind in the long history of St. Mary's Church, Stafford.

A DATE TOUCH.

On Tuesday, Feb. 21st, at St. John's Church, Silverdale, a date touch of Treble Bob Minor (1933 changes), being 1,080 of Kent, 733 Oxford, 120 Duke of York: W. Howsley 1, T. Dobson 2, J. Holme 3, W. Bolton (conductor) 4, J. W. Hayton 5, T. F. Taylor 6.

In 1695 the tenor cracked and had to be recast, and then on the top of all these troubles the ninth was broken. You cannot ring Grandsire Caters without a ninth, and so the College Youths brought the matter before the church authorities. But by this time the vestry were pretty well sick of the whole thing. They had been continually spending money for the last twenty years and more, and the bells were no better. They would spend no more. The problem that then faced the College Youths was either to go without their Grandsire Caters or else to try and recast the bell at their own expense. They did not lack moneyed people in those days, and offered to do it. But the parish was under no illusion as to their motives. What generosity there was was not for the sake of the church. 'Yes, you can recast the bell,' so in effect the vestry told the College Youths, 'but we fully realise that you are doing it for your own sakes and not for ours, and we propose to take all precautions that in no case can the parish be any worse off by what you do.'

Eighteen years later in a similar spirit the two societies of London Scholars and College Youths gave the two trebles to St. Bride's, in Fleet Street. They wanted them for their use, so that they could ring Grandsire Cinques, and for a time they took care that they should be used for no other purpose, by keeping them chain and locked. Change ringing in those days was a purely secular sport. It was never used for the service of the Church.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—At long last, and that 'straight from the horse's mouth,' i.e., James Washbrook's own MSS.

So Mr. Washbrook did call the six single variation his variation of Thurstans', as stated by me, and he did not call it an original composition as claimed by Mr. Cave, in spite of his evidence to the contrary. The above is the new evidence asked for by Mr. Cave, although rather ancient, is it not? Well, sir, here I rest my case, but it was most inexcusable of Mr. Bailey to keep the court waiting for so long.

HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED VARIATIONS BY N. J. PITSTOW.

One of the best variations of Thurstans' four-part is that popular one by the late Mr. N. J. Pitstow. It is not generally known, however, that Mr. Pitstow had other variations, and here are three hitherto, we believe, unpublished, which Mr. Frederick Dench, of Saffron Walden, has forwarded to us from among Mr. Pitstow's notes. The singles are described as Mr. Pitstow describes them.

The first he calls 'a peal of Stedman Triples, arranged by N. J. P.'

'MAIDENS AND YOUTHS' COMBINE.

On Saturday, March 18th, a meeting of the Ladies' Guild (Northern Branch) and the Society of Sherwood Youths was held at the Church of St. Lawrence, Long Eaton.

A goodly number of members and friends arrived, and shortly after 3 o'clock a band of 'Maidens and Youths' opened the meeting with a touch of Stedman Triples, which was followed by touches in most of the usual methods.

By the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Hickton, a hearty tea was served at their home and was much appreciated.

Returning to the belfry, further ringing was indulged in until train and bus time compelled the visitors to disperse. Thanks are given to the local band and Mr. and Mrs. Hickton for their assistance in making a very enjoyable meeting.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. ANDOVER DISTRICT.

A very successful evening combined practice was held at St. Mary Bourne on Saturday, March 18th, when about 40 members attended from various local towers, also several visitors from Devizes, whose presence was appreciated and who were made welcome. Some good practice was put in a variety of methods, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge and London Surprise Minor. It was interesting to note the number of boys who were present and taking part in rounds, Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor, some having to stand on mats, etc., to reach the ropes. However, they got their share of ringing at this meeting.

During the afternoon several members visited Long Parish, a neighbouring village, with a peal of five bells. The object in view was to try to get the local band to join the Guild. To the surprise of the visitors they found a band who could ring Bob Singles very well, so it is hoped that this visit will encourage the company to join the Guild and make further progress. Thus a little more spade work was attempted which is badly needed in all districts.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION. NEW GUILD AT 'ROCHESTER ROW.'

A successful meeting of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday at St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, Westminster. There was a good band in attendance before the appointed time, and just before 3 p.m. the District Master (Mr. Mance) set the proceedings in motion with a touch of Stedman Triples. These splendid bells were heard to advantage in several methods before the tea break, and it might be well here to remind readers of the marvellous performances which were consummated here some 30 or 40 years ago, evidence of which appear in profusion in the steeple. Some of these stalwarts have unfortunately passed on, but one, Mr. Harry Ellis, climbed to the belfry to renew acquaintance with old friends. Tea was partaken of at the Napier Hall, Vincent Square, and 26 sat down to a splendid meal.

Mr. Mance presided over the usual business, at which 14 new members were elected, including the whole of the newly-formed St. Stephen's Guild, which it is hoped will in time assume the mantle of the one time 'Rochester Row' men, famed up and down the country.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar (the Rev. S. Shepley-Smith), to Mr. Carter (local secretary), Messrs. P. Carter and Kemp and to Mr. A. D. Barker for help given.—This was responded to by Mr. Carter. A return was then made to the steeple, where touches in various methods were more or less successfully rung until about 8.30.

It should be noted that the new Guild have done wonders in cleaning, installing electric light, etc., and the work is still going forward.

Altogether Mr. Alfred White rang just over 40 peals, and his last, or nearly his last, was rung at Appleton on February 29th, 1876, to celebrate the 73rd anniversary of the birthday of the veteran. 'This was a more than usually interesting peal,' says the newspaper cutting, '—it was a veritable peal of Grandsire, "Grandsire" White ringing the second bell, his grandson, a lad of 15 years old, the treble, and his son the third bell, the latter being the composer of the peal, and it was the first time that this (or it is believed any other peal) was conducted by a clergyman. The performers were as follows: Stedman White, treble; Alfred White ("Grandsire"), 2; F. White, 3; G. Holfield, 4; J. Avery, 5; Rev. F. E. Robinson, 6; J. S. Pritchett, Esq. (Balliol College), 7; T. Bennett, tenor; composed by F. White and conducted by the Rev. F. E. Robinson.' Three of this band still survive—Stedman White, J. S. Pritchett and G. Holfield.

Another cutting, stuck into the book by some other hand, records the death of Alfred White, by which 'the whole fraternity of bell-ringers have lost one of their most assiduous devotees.' But the family of White is a sturdy plant. There are still six of Alfred's grandsons interested in Appleton ringing, including Stedman White, who rang his first peal in 1876; and yet another generation is coming along.

'THE TAYLOR FAMILY.'

A HISTORY OF THE LOUGHBOROUGH FOUNDERS.

An interesting brochure has just been produced for private circulation on 'The Taylor Family,' in which the history of this well-known Loughborough family is traced through two centuries, beginning with the first authentic member, William Taylor, of Riseley, Bedfordshire. The defective parish registers of that period make it impossible to trace the family tree with certainty beyond that generation, but it is sufficiently far back to encompass all the bellfounding history of the Taylors, which began when Robert Taylor, the son of William, was apprenticed to Edward Arnold, of St. Neots, who had succeeded to the business of bellfounding and clockmaking carried on by the Eayre family. It was not long before Robert Taylor in turn took sole command of the St. Neots foundry, afterwards removing to Oxford, where he died and was buried in 1830 in St. Ebbe's Churchyard.

His son John carried on the Oxford foundry, before removing to Buckland Brewer, Devon, and later to Loughborough, where in 1839 he laid the foundation of the present great business. His sons, John William, Robert Edward and Pryce Jemson Jones Taylor, subsequently shared in the business, which, on the death of the two latter, came solely into the hands of John William, who was succeeded by the late Mr. John William Taylor and Mr. Edmund Denison Taylor, the present proprietor of the firm.

The book deals with all the many members of the family from William downward, and must have involved great research. It is illustrated by numerous interesting photographs.

DEVON GUILD.

JOINT MEETING AT BUCKFASTLEIGH.

A very successful joint meeting of the Mid-Devon and South-West Branches of the Devonshire Guild was held at Buckfastleigh on Saturday last, when there was a large attendance of ringers from Plymouth, Plympton, Kelly, Lifton, Pyworthy, Paignton, Christow, Clyst St. George, Exeter, Milverton (Somerset), Ashburton and some of the local ringers. The bells were raised at about 2 o'clock, and some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung. After spending an hour here, a move was made to Buckfast Abbey, where the bells had been placed at the disposal of the visitors for an hour and a half. Rounds were rung on the twelve bells in order that everyone should have a pull, and a course each of Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples was afterwards rung. A move was then made to the National Schoolroom, where 85 sat down to a bountiful tea, prepared by an energetic band of ladies under Mrs. Bennett. Following this, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. A. T. Truman 1-2, H. Pawke 3-4, T. G. Myers 5-6, A. W. Myers 7-8.

The Rev. F. W. Moore, Rector of Kelly (chairman of the South-West Branch) proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Buckfastleigh for the use of his bells and the National Schoolroom. He mentioned that the Vicar was an old friend of his, and he regretted that the Vicar was unable to spend the afternoon with them through being very unwell. He also proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast for the use of his bells, to the Ladies' Committee, under Mrs. Bennett, for carrying out the tea arrangements, and to Mr. A. L. Bennett, of Buckfastleigh, for making all the arrangements. This was carried with acclamation.

Further handbell ringing was indulged in, and the visitors afterwards returned to the Parish Church, where some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung. The less experienced ones were also given an opportunity to ring. Everyone agreed that the meeting had been highly successful.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Aylesbeare Deanery was held at Withycombe Raleigh on Saturday, February 25th, when, despite the inclement weather, a large number of ringers were present. At the service held in the Parish Church an address was given by the Rector, the Rev. G. Bateman. The tea and business meeting were held in the adjoining hall and presided over by the Rev. E. A. Jullian, chairman of the branch.

The next meeting was arranged for May 6th at Honiton Clyst.

Mr. J. Mellish, of Lymington, was presented with the Guild certificate, while two new towers were reported as having come into contact with the Guild, and 15 new members were elected.

The Chairman expressed his pleasure at the presence of the Acting Rural Dean and of the Rector of Honiton Clyst, and also welcomed the visiting ringers.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector, to the organist, to the wives of the local ringers who had prepared an excellent tea, and to the local ringers themselves for defraying the cost of hiring the hall from their own funds.

The bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening, and some good touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob brought round.

BURNHAM, BUCKS.—On March 11th, after lost attempt for a peal, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: W. E. Taylor 1, George Limmer 2, G. Limmer 3, J. Jones 4, G. Gilbert (conductor) 5, T. J. Fowler 6, F. J. Russell 7, J. H. Cropley 8. A birthday compliment to the conductor.

GREETINGS FROM NEW ZEALAND.

VISIT OF PRESIDENT OF CHESTER GUILD.

The Christchurch Cathedral Society, New Zealand, take this belated opportunity of wishing all fellow-ringers a happy and successful 1933.

In a letter dated February 11th, the hon. secretary, Mr. John R. de Lambert, of 69, Reccarton Road, Christchurch, writes: 'Since the jubilee of our Cathedral in October, 1931, ringing here has become very enthusiastic, and we can report having rung several 720's of Plain Bob Minor and touches of Grandsire Doubles, Minor, Triples and Caters, Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Doubles, Minor and Major.'

'We were pleasantly surprised and honoured when, on the Sunday before Christmas, a visitor walked into the ringing room and proved to be none other than the Rev. C. A. Clements, president of the CHRISTCHURCH CATHEDRAL, NEW ZEALAND.

Chester Diocesan Guild. It was a great help to our small band to have him with us, enabling us to ring methods we otherwise could not have attempted. In the week after Christmas Mr. J. S. Wildo arrived from Dunedin, and we indulged in extensive handbell and tower bell ringing. Visits such as these of experienced ringers are of inestimable value to us, who are keen to learn and also to hear of ringing conditions in the home country, and we extend a hearty invitation to any ringer who may find himself in this Dominion to visit our tower and have a pull on the ropes.

On Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve the bell music was broadcast very successfully, and on the latter occasion we were visited by our president, the Very Rev. Dean J. A. Julius, and his wife, ringers' friends also being present in the ringing chamber.

Attendances have been a bit slack during the summer months, but not enough to hinder good ringing. We are plodding steadily ahead and finding the art more and more fascinating as we progress in it, and only wish it were more extensively practised in this corner of the Empire.'

LADIES ATTEMPT LONDON SURPRISE.

Eight members of the Ladies' Guild made their first attempt for a peal of London Surprise Major on Saturday, when they made a splendid effort which lasted 2 hours 10 minutes. The ringing took place at Crayford, and the band was Mrs. G. Cross (London) 1, Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet) 2, Miss K. Fletcher (Beaconsfield) 3, Mrs. D. E. Beemish (Nuneaton) 4, Miss S. Davis (Bucklebury) 5, Mrs. R. Deal (East Ham) 6, Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, conductor (Enfield) 7, Mrs. A. D. Barker (Slough) 8.

THE ASSOCIATIONS & THE COUNCIL

Many of the most important ringing associations are now preparing for their annual meetings. There are quite a number of such gatherings between Easter and Whitsun, leading up to the meeting of the Central Council, which is held on Whitsun Tuesday. This year there is a closer relationship between the meetings of the associations and that of the Council, as the triennial election of Council representatives has to be held. For some time past there has, happily, been a growing recognition of the importance of these elections. At one period there were associations who regarded this item of business as quite a casual part of the agenda and often chose their representatives with little regard to their knowledge of ringing and ringing affairs. The whole outlook with regard to the Council meetings has, however, gradually changed. The associations realise that the central body plays an important part in the organisation of the 'universe' in which they revolve, and have chosen their representatives accordingly. While each has its own work to do in its own sphere, it is recognised that there must be some kind of authority to weld the Exercise together, to guide the development of the art, to represent the united voice of the ringing fraternity; and the Central Council is filling this role. With the passage of years, and the growth of the recognition of its representative position, the Council has been able to speak with increasing weight for the Exercise, its expanding prestige being due to the greater importance with which it is regarded by the associations. The value of the Council, as has so often been said, is exactly what the societies make it, and the increasing care with which representatives are now selected is giving the Council an added authority, felt even outside the ranks of ringers.

The time has now arrived when the internal organisation of the Council should be tightened up, and at the next meeting it is proposed so to amend the rules that the constitution of the Council will be based upon affiliated societies instead of upon merely a body of elected members. The members will still represent their societies; but the Council will be the kernel, as it were, of the societies themselves. This, it is believed, will bring the associations into closer relationship with the Council, because the Council will really be a part of themselves; they will have a more direct interest in the Council's proceedings and a positive responsibility for the Council's work. This alteration in the constitution, and other changes that follow in its train, will be worked out in the next session of the Council. It will be well, therefore, if the associations study the situation with a view to discussing it, if necessary, at their forthcoming meetings and electing members of the Council who can adequately represent their views. The proposed new rules were published a year ago and have been held up during this last twelve months to give everyone concerned ample time to consider them. There is unlikely to be any material alteration in the draft rules between last year's report to the Council and this year's recommendations of the committee, but it is hoped that the proposals will be published in detail in time for consideration at the meetings held at Easter.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A LANCASHIRE RINGER.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. James T. Potter, the chief ringer at Eccles Parish Church, Lancashire, and formerly one of the band at Walkden, who passed away suddenly on March 13th. He was buried at Peel Green Cemetery on March 17th.

On Monday, March 20th, at St. Paul's Church, Walkden, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells fully muffled as a last token of respect: Miss A. Potter 1, M. Berry 2, A. Potter 3, James Denner 4, John Denner 5, A. Burton 6, John Potter (conductor) 7, R. Denner 8.

'PEAL GRABBERS.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read with interest the letter of Mr. Roger Smith in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' and must again ask you to excuse me for trespassing on your valuable columns. It is quite an easy matter, as the saying goes, if you have no case, to abuse the other side; and I read of nothing but abuse from start to finish of Mr. Smith's letter. I would first of all ask what he can know of either me or my affairs with the Peterborough Guild, seeing that it is six years since I ceased having anything to do with that body, and, until January of this year, only four years since Mr. Smith came to Northants, during which time he and I have met only once. Previous to this I believe I am right in saying that he was not a ringer. Is not his knowledge of my affairs simply hearsay? Another point where Mr. Smith, like many others around Wellingborough, seems to be mistaken is in thinking that, by my address at the foot of letters being given as Wellingborough, I am referring simply and solely to the ringers of that district, a point which ought to be cleared up. Those who do really know the true facts know that the origin of the grievance between the Peterborough Guild and me was in another part of Northants altogether, where I lived long before I set foot in Wellingborough, and that, like poison, it has spread. Many in the district were prejudiced before they had ever seen me, as, I think I am correct in saying, was the case with Mr. Smith.

Yes, Mr. Smith is quite right in saying that I am not a member of the Peterborough Guild and that I take no part in ringing in or near Wellingborough. Where I get civility I go; hence the reason of my ringing interests being taken to Leicester, Stamford and elsewhere. In quoting Leicester I have in mind a ringer, well known to the Exercise, from whom it might be well if some of these 'Surprise peal grabbers' took a pattern. It matters not whether it is Cambridge Maximus or Grandsire Doubles, anyone wanting help through a peal will find it always forthcoming where this gentleman is concerned. This I say, is the type of ringer that is needed; not the grabbing sort who thinks of no one's pleasure but his own.

Wellingborough.

P. AMOS.

If 'Interested' will send his name and address (not for publication), we will print his letter.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

WATH WANTS TWO MORE BELLS.

The monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Wath-on-Dearne on Saturday, March 11th. Ringers were present from Darfield, Dewsbury, Felkirk, Hoylandswaine, Rawmarsh, Royston Sandal and the local company. Ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m. and continued in various methods until 5 p.m., when an adjournment was made to Warburton's Cafe for tea. Afterwards the business meeting was held in the Church House, the Vicar (the Rev. L. E. Meredith) presiding.

Mr. F. C. Wilson, of Rawmarsh, was elected a member, and Ackworth was accepted as next place for meeting on Saturday, April 8th.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar for presiding and the use of the bells. In replying, he said he would be pleased to welcome the ringers to Wath at any time it was convenient for them to come.

Mr. Moxon moved that best thanks be extended to Mr. Ricketts for his generosity in defraying the cost of the tea. This was carried vociferously, and Mr. Ricketts replied. He hoped it would not be long before the bells were recast and two more added, thus encouraging more to be present.

A collection was then made towards the Hoylandswaine bell fund, which resulted in £1 being handed over to Mr. E. Brookes, who was taken rather by surprise and expressed his thanks for the donation.

Further ringing on handbells and tower bells followed.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A pleasant meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at the village of Puttenham on March 18th, when over 30 ringers were present from a dozen towers, and some good practice in Minor and Doubles was put in on the light ring of six bells. The Rector (the Rev. S. Power) conducted the service, and in his address welcomed the Guild. He presided afterwards at the tea and meeting, and was cordially thanked for granting the use of the bells and for holding the service. The organist was also thanked.

A collection for the Admiral Walker Memorial Fund amounted to 14s.

A temporary stop was put to the evening ringing by a broken rope, but there were handy men present, and the proceedings were not long delayed.

A DATE TOUCH.

A date touch of Grandsire Triples (1,933 changes) was rung at All Saints', Hastings, on Tuesday, March 21st, in 1 hour 15 mins.: J. White 1, A. Easton 2, W. Bradfield 3, R. Wise 4, S. Driver 5, G. Piper 6, A. Levett (conductor) 7, W. Levett 8. Longest length by ringers of treble, 4th and tenor.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Sheffield and District Society took place at St. Marie's Church, Sheffield, on Saturday, March 11th. Ringing at the Cathedral of St. Marie took place during the afternoon, several members having their first pull on 10 and 12 bells.

At the business meeting Canon Dolan, who occupied the chair, asked those present to stand in silence as a mark of respect to the late Mr. E. Robbins, of Bolsover.

The balance sheet was presented and accepted, the auditors' report stating that the accounts were quite in order.

The secretary (Mr. W. E. Wilson) gave his report, stating, on the whole, the society was in a sound position, turning the year with a balance in hand. From a ringing standpoint, progress was being made. A good number of peals had been rung, which included first peals for many.

All the officers were re-elected unanimously.

It was decided not to hold the cup contest for 1933.

The monthly meeting fixtures for the ensuing two years were discussed and accepted.

The President (Mr. C. Haynes) thanked Canon Dolan for coming to the meeting and taking the chair, also for placing the room at their disposal.—Canon Dolan, replying, said the society were always welcome at St. Marie's.

Further ringing took place at St. Marie's and brought to a close a very successful gathering.

PROGRESS AT PERRANARWORTHAL.

The peal rung at Perranarworthal on March 18th, although only Grandire Doubles, is pleasing from the fact that the three who rang their first peal were, up to two years ago, rooted and grounded in 'rounds and call changes.' After a little persuasion on the part of Mr. C. Nicholls, who rang the treble, the local band at St. Gluvias, to which tower they all belong, managed Bob Minimus on the middle four bells with treble leading and tenor covering, and it certainly laid a foundation for further progress.

Although the honour of assisting in their first peal fell to three members of Truro Cathedral Company, the names of Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram and Mr. G. W. Taysom (late of Hereford) should be mentioned, as they have for several months been instructing and assisting the local band at St. Gluvias. Already one of the band has rung his first 120 of Stedman Doubles. It is good to find method ringing rooted in one more tower in Cornwall. May the infection spread!

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.WESTERN DIVISION VICE-PRESIDENT RETIRES.

The annual meeting of the Western Division was held at Horbury (near Wakefield) on Saturday, March 18th. The bells were kept going in various methods during the afternoon, and divine service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon J. B. Hill), who based his address on the words from Psalm cl., 'Praise Him on the well tuned cymbals.' In the course of a very interesting address the preacher referred to the ancient customs connected with bells and the manner in which they had played their part in the life of the country.

Tea was served in the Vicarage Classroom, and the business meeting followed, with Mr. J. Cotterell (vice-president) in the chair. A letter of apology was received from Mr. J. Broadley, who was unable to be present owing to the illness of Mrs. Broadley.

A vote of condolence was accorded to Mr. J. Hardcastle, who had recently lost his wife, also to the local company, who had sustained the loss of two of their members in Mr. Hunt and Mr. Mitchell. The motion was passed by the members standing in silence.

Mr. Cotterell having expressed a wish to retire from the vice-presidency and only one nomination having been sent in, Mr. P. J. Johnson, of Headingley, was elected on the motion of Mr. T. G. Sherwood, seconded by Mr. J. W. Moorhouse.—Mr. W. H. Senior voiced the thanks of the meeting to Mr. Cotterell for his services during his term of office, and Mr. Cotterell suitably replied.

No new nominations were forthcoming for the committee, the retiring officers were re-elected, viz., Messrs. R. W. Jennison, T. W. Strangeways and W. E. H. Ash. It was resolved to hold the June meeting at Heptonstall.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and for his splendid address, also to the organist, was proposed by Mr. J. Cotterell and seconded by Mr. H. Lofthouse.—The Vicar, in replying, extended a hearty welcome to the ringers and expressed his pleasure at being present.

A vote of thanks to the local company for the arrangements made and to the ladies for providing tea was accorded on the motion of Mr. J. Lawson, seconded by Mr. C. D. Potter.

This concluded the business and the tower was visited for further ringing.

The following towers were represented: Armley, Batley, Birstall, Bradford Cathedral, Barnsley, Drighlington, Dewsbury, Earlsheaton, Headingley (St. Michael's and St. Chad's), Holbeck, Leeds Parish, Lindley, Lightcliffe, Mirfield, Ossett, Queensbury, Keighley, Pudsey, Sandal, Wakefield and the local company.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There has been very little Surprise peal ringing on handbells in recent years, and the performance of the band at Oxley last week in ringing the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major 'in hand' is not only interesting, but one on which they are to be congratulated. Previously only New Cambridge had been rung on handbells.

The name of the ringer of the 2nd in the peal of Double Norwich at Witham on March 18th was Redgwell, not Ridgwell as printed, and the weight of the tenor should be 18 cwt. and not 15 as stated.

The annual meeting of the Middlesex County Association is to be held at St. James', Clerkenwell, on Saturday, April 22nd, not the 29th as printed in the report of the South and West District meeting.

We are asked to say that the half-muffled peal rung at Eltham, Kent, on July 21st, 1932, should have been credited to the Kent County Association.

The peal of Doubles rung at Grafton Underwood and published last week should be credited to the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. We would again ask correspondents to take care that all essential details are included in their reports.

The new Southern Division of the Sussex County Association has been unfortunate in its experience. The first meeting was arranged for Ringmer and had to be abandoned at the last minute on account of illness near the church. An exactly similar experience befel the district last Saturday, when a meeting should have been held at Uckfield. The district hon. secretary wishes to express his regret to any who had a lost journey on Saturday.

THE DAVIES MEMORIAL.

As our readers know, the scheme for the memorial to the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies at Tewkesbury Abbey is in two parts, the addition of trebles to make a ring of twelve bells and the furnishing of a ringers' chapel.

Out of the amount which has already been subscribed, the Management Committee of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association have authorised a cheque for £75 to be sent to Tewkesbury in order that the chapel portion of the memorial may be proceeded with.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am most grateful to Mr. Pye and Mr. Bayley for their letters re the above, although they put me (especially Mr. Bayley's, with its reference to a 'variation,' etc.) in, apparently, rather a difficult position; but I assure you it is more apparent than real, and it has led me to query whether they both refer to a different composition to the one in question. Neither writer gives nor refers to the figures, except to say that the three-course block in one case was Thurstans' and the other Brook's.

Last May I wrote to Mr. Trollope (in view of some work his committee has in hand for the Central Council) telling him, in all good faith, that this particular composition was first rung at Kidlington on August 8th, 1904, and, as I said in my letter of March 3rd, it was 'composed and conducted by James W. Washbrook.' The composition followed the peal report. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn would probably be able to verify this, as he rang the 7th to the peal, a copy of which, taken from the Oxford Diocesan Guild report, I enclosed in my letter to Mr. Trollope.

Now a few words in reply to the letters published on February 10th and March 3rd. As to the first, I do not, and have not, claimed any variation of Washbrook's peal as mine. Then as to the date on the cards I printed and circulated: in view of the publication of the transposition of the peal (for that is all it is) on February 4th, 1927, I decided to put on them the date of printing and not the date of writing the copy out, which was some two months before. Partial proof of this will be found in 'The Ringing World' of February 18th, 1927, where, in a footnote, the Editor says, 'Some variations and transpositions by Mr. Cave will be published at a later date.'

Since January, 1900, when I printed the plain course of Bristol Surprise Major for free distribution, I have printed many odds and ends of touches and methods with the same object. It might interest the band who recently rang the peal of London Surprise Royal at Beddington, for instance, that the method was printed and circulated among the ringers at St. Stephen's, Bristol, some ten or eleven years ago as the production of the Rev. E. Bankes James.

W. A. CAVE.

P.S.—Would Mr. Bayley (or anyone interested) kindly tell us when and where the peal was first called with the singles at 9 and 11, instead of 2 and 14.—W. A. C.

APPLETON RECORD PEAL BAND.

By a misprint, the names beneath the photograph of the Appleton Record Peal Band, which appeared in our last issue, were given in the wrong order. Those sitting down were (from right to left) C. G. White, W. Simmonds, G. Holfield, sen., F. E. Taylor, R. A. Post and W. F. Judge. Those standing were (from left to right) R. T. Newman, F. D. Boreham, G. Holfield, jun., R. White and F. White.

DEATH OF MR. J. A. GOFTON.

A TALENTED WHITLEY BAY RINGER.

One of the most popular and brilliant ringers and conductors in the North, if not in the whole country, has passed away in the person of Mr. Joseph Albany Gofton, known to his friends and relations as 'Jack.' A younger brother of the late Mr. Tom Gofton, he was equally clever in the science; one of those who never lost sight of a bell throughout a peal, especially when conducting, and the more intricate the method, London or Bristol Surprise, for instance, the more he was in touch with every bell, and spotted a fault almost before it was made. This kind of ringer is a heavy loss to the Exercise, as such talents are rare, but when they are found combined with a kindly nature and lovable disposition, it makes the parting doubly felt.

Mr. Gofton was only 50 years of age, but he had put in an enormous amount of belfry work, as his list of 222 peals will show. His health was badly undermined by his war experiences. He had been badly gassed and also suffered the rigours of a German prisoner-of-war camp, so much so that in 1925 he had to forego ringing, his last peal being one of Superlative Major in June of that year. His health improved, but his medical man would not allow him to resume his beloved hobby; even the lesser strain of a handbell peal was vetoed as well. He kept in touch, however, with ringing by attending many of the association meetings in Northumberland and Durham, kindly placing his ear at the service of others when the gathering was some distance away.

He was laid to rest in the family burial place on Saturday, March 18th, in Whitley Churchyard, a large concourse of relatives, friends, ringers and Masonic brethren attending. The choral service in St. Paul's Church, conducted by the Rev. F. L. Dowland, was most impressive, and after the committal prayers at the graveside, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by C. L. Routledge 1-2, J. Anderson (president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association) 3-4, W. H. Barber 5-6, J. E. R. Keen 7-8. This was followed by the usual Masonic anthem.

For the service itself the bells were rung muffled in a touch of Stedman and then the 'whole pull and stand' by A. Tully (North Shields) 1, G. R. Holmes (Tynemouth) 2, J. Anderson 3, J. L. Gray (North Shields) 4, J. Davidson (Newcastle Cathedral) 5, J. E. Scott (North Shields) 6, J. E. Keen (Newcastle) 7, A. Deas (Gosforth) 8. Afterwards a peal of Kent Major was attempted, in which W. H. Barber (Newcastle), W. Brown (Chester-le-Street) and J. Richardson (Gosforth) took part. This, unfortunately, collapsed through the breaking of a stay after half an hour's ringing. And so we bade farewell to one whom we all loved well, a man of principle and infinite talents, a good husband and father, and everything good to his fellow-men. R.I.P.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL VISIT TO FIVE-BELL TOWERS.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Dullingham on Saturday, when members attended from Cambridge, Epping, Fen Ditton, Fulbourne, Newmarket, Sawston, Stetchworth and Trumpington, and there was a splendid muster of the local band.

Service was conducted by the Vicar, who, in the course of his address, advised ringers to study the wonderful old churches they visited and not to confine their interest to the tower.

It was a great pleasure to elect the local band en bloc. During the evening several visitors had a 'pull' at Stetchworth. Grateful thanks are due to Mr. Twitchett for having made all arrangements.

Members are asked to note that a meeting has been arranged at Guilden Morden on April 8th (see notice in advertisement columns). Bourn bells are not available, so the quarterly meeting on May 20th will, all being well, be held at Sawston. A good muster is much desired. If possible, Sawston Imperial will be one of the methods practised. A diagram of this method can be had on application to the district secretary.

PRESENTATION TO A NORTH STAFFS RINGER.

A meeting of the Crewe Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, March 18th, at Lawton, Cheshire, and was splendidly attended, about 50 ringers being present. A very hearty welcome was extended to the Guild by the new Rector (the Rev. W. England), who said it was the first time he had had the pleasure of meeting the members. He was most agreeably surprised to find what a lot of splendid fellows they were, and he sincerely hoped to have the honour of meeting them again. Proceeding, he said he had a very pleasant duty to perform, and that was to hand over to Mr. W. Righy a complete list of peals which he had rung for the North Staffordshire Association. The list had been compiled and written by and was the gift of Mr. J. E. Wheeldon to Mr. Righy, who had completed 50 years as a ringer. He thanked Mr. Wheeldon for the great trouble he had gone to in tabulating these peals, and he would that it was surrounded by a suitable frame.

The Rector moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Hollinshead for generously providing the tea, which was heartily accorded.

After tea the Lawton ringers regaled the company with tunes on handbells, which were manipulated in a wonderful manner under the baton of their leader, Mr. W. Righy. The tower bells were afterwards set going until 8.30, the ringing terminating one of the most successful meetings ever held in the beautiful village of Lawton, which is one of the very fine jewels to be found on the Cheshire plain.

J. E. W.

40 YEARS AGO: A MIDDLESBROUGH ANNIVERSARY.

Forty years ago the first peal of Major was rung on the bells of the Middlesbrough Parish Church, and the following record of that peal can be seen on a board hung in the belfry:—

Durham and Newcastle Association.

On Monday, March 20th, 1895, in 2 hours and 48 minutes, a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, 5,088 changes: M. Bradley treble, J. J. Nicholson 2, J. H. Jones 3, R. Alcock 4, C. L. Routledge 5, J. W. Passman 6, A. McFarlane 7, J. H. Blakiston tenor. Composed by W. Royle and conducted by J. H. Blakiston. This is the first peal of Major rung on the bells.

The present ringers of the Middlesbrough Parish Church decided that an attempt should be made to ring the same peal on the 40th anniversary of the original, and our peal columns show that this has been accomplished.

It is interesting to note that, as far as can be ascertained, of the original band only Mr. C. L. Routledge, of Newcastle, and Mr. J. H. Blakiston, of Middlesbrough, are still living.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

EAST BERKS AND SOUTH BUCKS MEETING.

In striking contrast to the previous monthly practice, the weather for the Winkfield meeting was glorious. Ringers from all four quarters of the branch turned up, as well as some visitors from 'over the border.' Numerous methods were rung, but the London did not go kindly until late in the evening, when 'Grandpa' rang his first course 'inside.'

A 'reportress' from the local paper turned up and was supplied with information by the Branch Ringing Master to such purpose that after tea she was keen enough to have her first lesson at handling a bell, as was also another young lady, both of them showing great promise.

It is rumoured that the secretary is expecting to be appointed as instructor to the Ladies' Guild, in which case the 'Merry Monarch' must look to his laurels.

Some of the other young men present were rather backward. Attention was drawn to the annual meeting of the branch at Slough on April 29th, and grateful thanks were expressed to Mr. Head for his efforts to make all welcome, with a hope that there will not be another interval of five years before the next visit of the branch.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Prior to the meeting the Mayor of Plymouth, in the chair, supported by the Lord Bishop of Plymouth, extended a cordial welcome to the Council. The President tendered thanks.

The Lord Bishop of Exeter visited the Council during the afternoon session.

SOCIETIES AFFILIATED DURING THE YEAR.

The secretary reported the affiliation of the North Staffs and District Association (one representative) and the Scottish Association (one representative), and the re-affiliation of the Gloucester and Bristol Association (four representatives).

The Truro Diocesan Guild had increased their representation from one member to four members. The Ladies' Guild had increased from one to two members.

UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.

It was reported that the subscriptions of the following societies were still unpaid: Durham and Newcastle Association, Irish Association, London County Association, North Notts Association, North Wales Association, Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

The President called attention to Rule 5, and intimated that the Standing Committee recommended that the rule be enforced so far as voting was concerned. The rule also implied that members representing societies whose subscriptions were unpaid should not be allowed to take part in the meeting, but the Standing Committee did not wish to insist on this.

Mr. E. A. Young (hon. member) inquired whether, if subscriptions were now tendered, the rule would be satisfied, and the President's ruling was that subscriptions could only be accepted from duly authorised officers of associations.

Mr. Young tendered the subscription of the London County Association, in his capacity of treasurer of this association, and this was accepted.

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS.

The following members retired according to rule: The Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Messrs. W. A. Cave, J. George, H. W. Wilde.

The resignation of the Rev. E. W. Carpenter was before the Council last year, and the Standing Committee recommended that Messrs. W. A. Cave and H. W. Wilde be re-elected, that Mr. A. Walker, of Birmingham, be elected a member, and that one place be left vacant. On the President's motion, seconded by Mr. J. Parker (Royal Cumberland Youths), the Standing Committee's recommendation was adopted.

PRESENTATION OF NEW MEMBERS TO PRESIDENT.

The following members were presented: Messrs. John Austin, Edgar Guise and Walter Rose, of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association; Mrs. R. Richardson, Ladies' Guild; Mr. John Phillips, Lincoln Diocesan Guild; Mr. F. Nolan Golden, Norwich Diocesan Guild; the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella, LL-Col. C. F. Jerram and Mr. H. J. Clark, of the Truro Diocesan Guild; Mr. J. H. W. White, Warwickshire Guild.

Apologies for absence were received from Mr. W. T. Cockerill, Mr. A. King, Mr. A. E. Sharman, the Rev. C. A. Clements, Mr. T. Metcalfe, Mr. J. C. Pollard, Mr. S. J. Hughes, Mr. J. W. England, Mr. T. R. Dennis, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, Mr. C. H. Howard, Mr. W. J. Nevard, Mr. E. Bishop, Mr. A. C. Hazelden, Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, Mr. W. Willson, Mr. A. L. Coleman, the Rev. J. B. Frith, Mr. F. W. Hopgood, Mr. W. Collett, Mr. G. Cross, Mr. J. D. Matthews, Mr. H. Knight, Mr. C. Dean, Mr. H. Barton, the Rev. C. C. Marshall, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Mr. H. W. Wilde, Mr. S. H. Wood, Mr. J. Griffin.

LOSS OF MEMBERS THROUGH DEATH.

The death of the following members and past members was reported: The Rev. H. Law James, Lincoln Diocesan Guild; Mr. T. T. Gofton, Durham and Newcastle Association; Mr. H. Argyle, Warwickshire Guild; Mr. S. Wood, past member; Mr. T. Salter, past member.

Canon Coleridge voiced the deep regret of the Council and Exercise at the loss of the Rev. H. Law James, and paid tribute to his work. A letter of condolence had already been sent, and the Council was represented by the hon. secretary at the funeral.

On the motion of the President, a formal resolution of sympathy was passed by the members standing in silence, and the secretary was instructed to write to the relatives of Messrs. T. T. Gofton, H. Argyle, S. Wood and T. Salter.

MINUTES OF LAST MEETING.

The minutes of the last meeting were published in 'The Ringing World' dated March 18th, 1932, and copies had been circulated to affiliated societies.

Mr. G. R. Newton (Lancashire Association) drew attention to the omission of a vote of thanks to Mr. W. A. Cave for acting as honorary secretary during Mr. E. A. Young's absence, and it was agreed that this should be inserted.

On the motion of Mr. C. T. Coles (Middlesex Association), seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes (hon. member), it was resolved that the minutes be taken as read and be approved.

REPORT OF HONORARY LIBRARIAN.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Oxford Diocesan Guild) reported the presentation of the following books:—

History of the College Youths, 1755-1788, by J. A. Trollope, presented by the author.

History and Rule Book and Service Book of the Ancient Society of College Youths, presented by the society.

Twelve copies of 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging,' by Sir Arthur Heywood and others, presented by Mr. E. A. Young.

'First Five Hundred Peals of the Oxford Guild,' presented by Mr. Young.

The Council was asked for instructions regarding the twelve copies of 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging,' one of which had been sold by special request.

SALES OF PUBLICATIONS.

Sales were the best since the present librarian was appointed, and showed a balance of £42 9s. 5d. after paying ordinary advertisement account of £9 2s. and special advertising of £3. Sales by 'sale and return' agents showed £10 18s. 11d., but all returns had not been received. The Lincoln Diocesan Guild had purchased a complete stock of publications. Others had purchased larger quantities and thus availed themselves of the discount allowance. Further method sheets of Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise had been purchased.

The report was adopted on the motion of the honorary librarian, seconded by Mrs. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild).

The Standing Committee recommended that the honorary librarian be allowed to dispose of all except three copies of 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging' to representatives of affiliated societies only, at the price of 5s. each. Agreed.

The president, in answer to an inquiry by Mr. J. A. Trollope, suggested that members could watch for old and valuable ringing books with a view to their being secured for the Council's library.

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

The hon. treasurer presented the accounts for the year, which had been duly audited. Income, including interest on investments £25, affiliation fees £28 5s., subscriptions (honorary members) £2 7s. 6d. and sale of publications less expenses £42 9s. 5d., amounted to £78 1s. 11d.

Expenses, including cost of publications £35 15s. 2d. and grant to Stedman Tercentenary Fund £10 10s., amounted to £64 4s. 9d., leaving a balance to carry forward of £61 11s. 11d.

Investments remained unaltered, with a market value of £125 5s. 6d.

On the motion of Mr. A. A. Hughes (hon. member), seconded by Mr. W. A. Cave (hon. member), the accounts were adopted.

CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

Mr. E. A. Young (hon. member) reported on behalf of the trustees. The machine was still at the Victoria and Albert Science Museum and had recently been inspected. Although it would still work, the time was not far distant when the machine would require a complete overhaul. The machine had been demonstrated by official request to an officer of H.M. Office of Works. The treasurer was requested to arrange payment of the demonstrator's fee.

The report was adopted on the proposal of Mr. E. A. Young (hon. member), seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes (hon. member).

REPORTS.

STANDING COMMITTEE.

The hon. secretary reported that the only meeting for the year had been held prior to this meeting. The agenda had been considered in detail and recommendations would be placed before the Council during the day.

On the President's motion, the report was adopted.

The Rev. F. S. Powell (Devon Guild) proposed, as a recommendation to the Standing Committee, that the constitution of this committee be examined to see whether they were truly representative of the Council, and that the constitution of the other committees be examined and a report made at the next meeting. Mr. J. Hunt (Bath and Wells Association) seconded. The recommendation was adopted, the Rev. F. M. Edwards (Salisbury Guild) suggesting that the Council should appoint the conveners of committees.

PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson reported the receipt of fresh material, mainly Royal and Maximus, and this was being examined.

The report was adopted on the motion of Mrs. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild), seconded by Mr. J. A. Trollope (hon. member).

Later it was proposed by Mr. G. R. Newton, seconded by Mr. E. A. Young, and carried, that the committee be asked to prepare a collection of compositions in the better known methods.

METHODS COMMITTEE.

The report of this committee was published in 'The Ringing World' of April 29th.

Mr. J. A. Trollope (hon. member) spoke of the loss sustained by the committee by the death of the Rev. H. Law James. The great advance in knowledge of methods was largely due to him. With regard to the work in hand, the book on Triples had been left with

Mr. James, but apparently he had been unable to do anything towards completing it. The book was, however, now being completed, and it was proposed to include Stedman and Erin as methods of pure Triples and about eight other methods which had a treble and six working bells, like New Bob, together with a big selection of touches of Stedman and Grandsire, full courses of certain of the methods and a selection of touches and peals.

Permission to publish the book was asked by the committee.

The committee also asked that the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. James be left open until the London meeting.

The Rev. E. S. Powell referred to the question of rules and decisions governing methods which the committee was requested to consider at the last meeting.

The committee had included this matter in their report, but since publication it had been pointed out that it would require amendment, as the definition given of a plain lead did not cover Little and Alliance methods. The committee had reconsidered the matter, and their proposals were to leave the present definition unaltered and make what adjustment was necessary by adding to the existing notes on definitions. Reference was made to the note on page 24 of Rules and Decisions, which read: 'Methods are formed from principles in two ways,' and the committee suggested the addition of: 'An illustration of this statement is to be found in the Little and Alliance methods which have come into prominence of late years. In appearance their form places them outside the definition of Plain and Bob leads given above, but, properly speaking, they are in logical succession of such methods as Bob Major.'

'Thus a Little method is one which follows the rule, except in so far as this is qualified by the restriction of the hunt to fewer places than the number of bells employed.'

'An Alliance method is one in which the hunt has a composite path comprising portions of more than one principle.'

The Council was asked to consider this and vote on it at the next meeting.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. member), as mover of the resolution referring the matter to the committee, intimated that he supported the committee in considering the question in this form, but with regard to the actual report of the committee, he requested the Council to receive it only and not adopt it.

Mr. J. A. Trollope, on behalf of the committee, agreed with this suggestion. The Rev. E. S. Powell concurred.

The report was, therefore, received, and the committee agreed that the printing of the book on Triples methods be left over until a later item on the agenda (No. 12) had been discussed, when it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. J. A. Trollope, seconded by the Rev. H. Drake, that the committee should complete the book and hand the manuscripts to the Standing Committee for publication.

The Standing Committee recommended the appointment of Mr. S. H. Wood (hon. member) to this committee. On the motion of the President, seconded by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Oxford Guild), this was carried.

VARIATIONS COMMITTEE.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (hon. member) reported that he had been unable to do anything in this matter, and asked permission to retire.

The Standing Committee recommended that the committee be asked to elect Mr. H. W. Wilde as convener, whilst retaining Mr. Richardson's services as a member.

Mr. G. R. Newton (Lancashire Association) urged the need for a collection of best compositions, but this was considered a matter for the Peals Collection Committee.

The report was adopted on the motion of Mrs. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild), seconded by Mr. W. A. Cave (hon. member).

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild) moved, and Mr. J. H. Swinfield (Midland Counties Association) seconded, that the report of this committee, published in 'The Ringing World' on May 6th, be adopted. Carried.

The Standing Committee recommended that Mr. G. L. Grover (Guildford Diocesan Guild) be elected a member of this committee, and that Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary) be allowed to retire. The recommendation was adopted on the motion of Mrs. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

TOWER AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE.

The members of the committee reported individually. See 'The Ringing World,' June 10th, 1932, page 390.

The reports were adopted on the motion of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, seconded by Major J. H. B. Hesse.

Mr. J. A. Trollope reported that under the scheme to build 45 churches in the Diocese of London, it had been decided to pull down St. Andrew's, Wells Street, and move it to the suburbs. In a letter to the 'Times,' the Bishop of London had said that everything would be moved to the new church, but although the peal of eight might be moved to the new church, it was almost impossible to expect that a tower would be built strong enough to ring them. The Middlesex County Association had passed a resolution and forwarded it to the Bishop of London, asking that these bells should be retained as a peal, and that if the tower of the new church was not strong enough to permit them to be rung, then they should be given to a church in the diocese with a tower strong enough to permit ringing.

It was proposed by Mr. Trollope, seconded by Mr. E. A. Young, and carried, that the Council endorse the action of the Middlesex Association, and the Tower and Belfries Committee was asked to deal with the matter.

The meeting adjourned to receive the Bishop of Exeter.

STEDMAN COMMEMORATION COMMITTEE.

The President reported that the committee had carried through the restoration of the bells at St. Benedict, Cambridge, which were reopened on December 5th, 1931. See 'The Ringing World,' June 17th, 1932, page 405.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (treasurer of the fund) presented the accounts of the fund, which showed total receipts of £502 1s. 5d. Expenses totalled £482 13s. 5d., which figures include Messrs. Taylor and Co. £289, Sindall £132, architect's fees £21 18s. 3d., cost of tablet £22 3s., faculty £5 5s. The amount owing to the builder was £50 13s. 6d., and certain other incidental expenses had to be met. The balance as per the accounts was £19 8s., and moneys received since had increased it to £24 4s. About £30 was required to cover all expenses.

The Standing Committee recommended that the Council should advance the money required to pay the accounts outstanding.

On the motion of the President, seconded by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, the committee's report was adopted, together with the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

It was proposed by Mr. W. Ayre (Hertford County Association), seconded by the Rev. P. Ll. Edwards (Salisbury Diocesan Guild), and carried, that a vote of thanks be accorded to all the members of the committee.

No action was taken in respect of the statement made by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, that these bells should only be rung by experts.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (Salisbury Diocesan Guild) reported for the committee. See 'The Ringing World,' June 24th, 1932, page 421. The report was seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and carried.

RULES COMMITTEE.

The report of the committee was published in 'The Ringing World' of May 13th, and was presented by Mr. E. W. Elwell (hon. member), who asked the Council to receive it with the view to its adoption at the next meeting. This course was suggested to enable members to consider the revised rules. Members were asked to give previous notice of their objections and criticisms, and were invited to suggest improvements. The various alterations were pointed out.

On the motion of Mr. E. W. Elwell, seconded by Mr. C. T. Coles (Middlesex County Association), the report was accepted.

RECORDS COMMITTEE.

Mr. G. L. Grover (Guildford Diocesan Guild), as the only surviving member of this committee, presented a report for the years 1930 and 1931 (since published in 'The Ringing World' dated July 1st, 1932). The report suggested that the Council should give a ruling as to the method to be adopted to record spliced peals, in view of the increasing number of methods used.

In view of the fact that the records for 1927, 1928 and 1929 had been mislaid, the present report may require amendment.

The report was seconded by the Rev. E. S. Powell and adopted.

Mr. Grover suggested that the Records Committee be dissolved and its work incorporated with that of the Peals Analysis Committee.

The President stated that the Standing Committee recommended this course, and he, therefore, proposed that the Records Committee be dissolved and thanked for their services, and the work be taken over by the Peals Analysis Committee, of which Mr. Grover was now a member. This was carried.

MOTIONS.

It was proposed by the President, seconded by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn:—

'That this Council strongly deprecates the recording as a peal on a commemorative tablet any performance which does not conform to the accepted standard of a true and complete peal, and calls upon all affiliated societies to support the Council in this matter.'

Mr. E. W. Elwell made a very eloquent appeal for the preservation of truth and accuracy in the recording of peal performances.

The resolution was carried nem. con.

Letters supporting the resolution had been received from Alderman J. S. Pritchett and Canon Elsee, and the Standing Committee heartily endorsed it.

It was proposed by Canon G. F. Coleridge and seconded by Mr. J. T. Dyke:—

'That in view of the great need for attention to good striking, the Council appoint a small committee to draw up a pamphlet on the proper handling of a bell.'

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn proposed, as an amendment, that the pamphlet also contain information on how to ring and call Grandire Doubles and Bob Minor for the benefit of young hands. He was, as librarian, being constantly asked for some such book. The Rev. E. S. Powell seconded and offered the use of a small pamphlet issued by the Devon Guild.

Mr. P. J. Johnson (Yorkshire Association), while in sympathy with the objects of the resolution, opposed the issuing of a pamphlet by the Council, as he was of opinion that 'Ropesight' already gave the information. Mr. Woodley (Devon Guild) urged that Troyte's book supplied the needs of beginners.

It was pointed out by several speakers that the pamphlet required was one that would only cost a few pence, whereas 'Ropesight' and Troyte's book cost very much more.

Warm support was given by Mr. F. W. Elwell, Major Hesse, Mr. G. R. Newton, Mr. C. T. Coles and the Rev. H. Drake, the latter urging that the word 'card' be substituted for 'pamphlet.'

The amendment was accepted as a rider to the original proposal, which was carried.

On the motion of the President, a sub-committee was appointed, consisting of Canon G. F. Coleridge and Mr. J. T. Dyke, with power to add to their number, it being also agreed that the leading part be left to Mr. Dyke.

It was proposed by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and seconded by Mr. F. W. Perrins (Warwickshire Guild):—

'That in order to further the best interests of the Exercise, and to give all ringing matters the maximum publicity, all affiliated societies be requested to use their best endeavours to increase the circulation of the only ringing paper.'

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (editor of 'The Ringing World') gave various facts and figures relating to the paper. It had served the Exercise for 21 years, but, owing to the small circulation, it was not a satisfactory commercial proposition, and under the existing circumstances it was impossible to enlarge it to a size sufficient to cope with the great amount of ringing matter being received. To increase the size of the paper by four pages per week, an increase of 3,500 copies was necessary, and if this was forthcoming, immediate steps would be taken to give a larger and more attractive paper.

The motion was endorsed by the Standing Committee and warmly supported by several speakers.

The motion was carried unanimously.

PLACE OF NEXT MEETING.

The President intimated that in accordance with the rules the next meeting would be held in London and that representative members must be re-elected by their associations before that meeting.

It was reported that an invitation to tea had been received from the Middlesex County Association, which had been provisionally accepted by the hon. secretary. The Council's endorsement of that acceptance was given.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

The President reported that the Council had received an appeal from the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

The Standing Committee recommended that in view of the valuable work done by Mr. Davies, a sum of £10 10s. be voted to the memorial. This was seconded by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and carried.

VOTE OF SYMPATHY.

On the suggestion of Mr. C. H. Jennings, a vote of sympathy was passed with the Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, who had met with a serious accident, and the hon. secretary was instructed to forward it to the Rev. R. H. Gundry with good wishes for his speedy recovery.

VOTES OF THANKS.

The thanks of the Council were accorded to the Mayor for the use of the Council Chamber and for his welcome; the Bishop of Exeter and Bishop of Plymouth for their presence and words of encouragement; the Devon Guild for their hospitality and for making the various arrangements, with particular reference to Mr. E. W. Marsh, and to all incumbents for the use of their bells and towerkeepers for their services; to the Truro Diocesan Guild for their kind invitation to Truro on Whit Monday and entertainment of some of the members to lunch, with particular reference to Mr. A. S. Roberts, Dr. Symons, Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram and the Truro Cathedral band.

The meeting terminated at 5.30, after which the members were the guests of the Devon Guild at tea.

MOULTON BELLS.

£70 REQUIRED FOR A NEW BELL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have just received the offer from a London gentleman of a treble if I will provide another and so complete the ring of eight.

We have had the six rehung, retuned and fitted in a steel frame with ball bearings and latest improvements. A ring of eight would make it the finest in the county for a village church, as the bells are most melodious.

Will some ringer or ringers lend a hand? The parish is exhausted with the recent restoration of the bells, and I do not want the offer to lapse through default on my part, as I am keen on getting the eight. The frame will take eight and the faculty is ready. £70 is all I require.

REV. J. MAURICE TURNER.

Leeks (Croydon) 4, W. R. J. Poulson 5, L. Pryke 6, F. A. Turner 7, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 8. This quarter-peal, arranged for the conductor, who hails from Forest Hill, was rung with deeply muffled clappers as a last token of respect to the Rev. G. Lennox Conyngham, M.A., late Rector of Lavenham, who was interred the day previous. This is the 243rd tower in which Mr. A. P. Cannon has rung. During the afternoon he had taken part in 720 of Plain Bob Minor at Monks Eleigh and a few 120's of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles at Little Waldingfield, all of which he conducted. Mr. Cannon wishes to thank all those who helped to make his visit to Suffolk a pleasant one.

HOW NEW RULES AFFECT ASSOCIATIONS

We referred last week to the proposed alteration in the rules of the Central Council by which it is hoped to bring the Council into closer relationship with the associations. This week the detailed proposals are published, and as the county and diocesan organisations are directly affected it is well that they should be studied by them. The three principal changes are set out in the report of the committee, and with the first, we think, few will be inclined to quarrel. Hitherto the Council has been a loosely woven fabric consisting of individuals; the intention of the new rules is to make it in fact the central and representative organisation of all the ringing associations.

The second of the important alterations lays down for the first time the basis upon which representatives shall be elected. Numerical strength has always governed the proportion of representation up to certain limits, but there has been no definition as to what is implied by 'membership' for this purpose. The result has been a certain amount of dual representation, where non-resident members have been included for the purpose of counting heads. The rule as now proposed defines the members to be included for the purpose of representation, and while it does not entirely eliminate overlapping, because to do so is a practical impossibility, it goes a long way towards securing equal representation, within the limits of a four-member maximum.

It is on the third of the proposed changes that there may at first be some division of opinion, although we believe there will be found no association which, on serious thought, will offer opposition. This alteration has to do with the payment of affiliation fees. Up to the present associations have paid a fee for each representative elected. That is right while the Council is constituted of individuals, but the financial question will be on a different footing if the status of the Council is changed to a Council of affiliated societies. We believe that the vast majority of ringers will agree with the committee that the payment of fees should then be on the basis of the representation to which an association is entitled, even if, for any reason, the full number of representatives is not elected. As a matter of fact, there are very few instances indeed where this is not already done, and if it is made a rule it is but a trifling step towards ensuring that associations shall pay proportionately for the unquestioned advantages which the existence of a Central Council brings to the Exercise. After all, the cost of the affiliation fee to an association is only a halfpenny per member per annum, while to those societies whose membership is greatly in excess of the number entitled to four representatives the amount is very much less. This is a small sum to pay for the advantages which the Council provides in return, and without which the associations would largely lose the services of many of the best brains of the Exercise, and would operate as so many isolated units with no organisation to co-ordinate their work or voice with the authority of unified purpose, their objects or their rights. There is, in fact, every reason why the proposals to make the Council a stronger and more integral part of the ringing organisation should receive the full support of all the associations.

CENTRAL COUNCIL RULES.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

The report of the sub-committee appointed to consider the Rules of the Council has been presented in the following terms:—

The sub-committee has again met during the course of the year to consider the re-drafted rules submitted to the Council at the last meeting and the suggested amendments thereto, and recommends the Council to adopt the rules as set out in the following schedule.

The sub-committee would specially call attention to the fact that the rules as re-drafted make (inter alia) the following alterations:—

- (1) The constitution is changed in principle from a Council of individuals to a Council of affiliated societies;
- (2) Representation of territorial and diocesan societies will be in future on a definite limited numerical basis of membership; and
- (3) Societies' affiliation fees will be based on membership and not upon the number of representatives elected to the Council.

SCHEDULE.

1. The Council shall be known as the 'Central Council of Church Bellringers.'

2. The Council shall consist:—

- (1) Of Representative Members elected by affiliated societies.
- (2) Of Honorary Members, not exceeding fifteen in number, elected by the Council.

Any recognised Society, Association or Guild of Church Bellringers (hereinafter referred to under the general term 'Society'), numbering not less than seventy-five members, shall, upon application, if eligible, be affiliated to the Council, and shall subscribe to an undertaking loyally to abide by the rules and decisions of the Council.

Affiliated Societies shall be entitled to elect representatives in the following proportion:—

A Society, the number of whose members is 75 or over, but does not exceed 150, one Representative; exceeds 150 but does not exceed 300, two Representatives; exceeds 300 but does not exceed 450, three Representatives; exceeds 450, four Representatives.

Four Representatives shall be the limit of representation allowed any one Society.

For the purpose of this rule the basis of the calculation of membership for territorial and diocesan societies shall be the number of annual subscribing honorary and ringing members, and resident life members.

No representative member shall be eligible as an honorary member. The voting powers of honorary members shall be equal with those of representative members.

(Note.—Here and elsewhere in these Rules the word 'member' shall be taken as meaning 'member of the Council'.)

3. The election of representative members shall take place triennially, at least four weeks before the commencement of each triennial session, and the names and addresses of those elected shall forthwith be forwarded to the Secretary of the Council. In the event of a vacancy the new member shall be elected only for the unexpired period of the triennium.

4. Honorary members shall be elected for three years and, on retiring, shall be eligible for re-election (retirement and election taking effect as from the end of the annual meeting), provided that any honorary member who during his term of office may be elected a representative member shall, ipso facto, vacate his honorary membership. The Council may fill a vacancy among the honorary members at any annual meeting of the Council.

5. All societies returning representative members to the Council shall contribute annually, in January, 5s. on behalf of each representative member to which they are entitled, to meet the expenses of conducting the business of the Council, and no representative member shall be entitled to speak or vote at an annual meeting of the Council until the subscription of the Society he represents be paid.

6. The Council shall meet once annually, about Whitsuntide, in some convenient centre, as agreed upon at the previous meeting, but the Meeting following the Triennial Election shall always be in London. Any meeting of the Council may be extended to additional meetings on the same or the following day on a motion for adjournment being put and carried. The President shall have power, in case of emergency, to call special meetings of the Council, and he shall at any time summon such a special meeting on receipt of a requisition signed by twelve members.

7. At the Annual Meeting next after each Triennial Election a President, an Honorary Secretary, who shall also act as Treasurer, and an Honorary Librarian shall be chosen from among the members to serve for three years. In the event of the President, Honorary Secretary or Honorary Librarian vacating office before the expiration of the three years, the ensuing meeting shall elect a member to fill the vacancy during the remainder of the period. The retiring President, Honorary Secretary and Honorary Librarian shall be eligible for re-election at the expiration of their term of office. The President shall retire from the chair immediately his successor in office is elected, but the Honorary Secretary shall continue in office till the business of the meeting is concluded. All nominations for these offices shall be sent to the Honorary Secretary, signed by two members of the Council, not less than two calendar months previous to the meeting, and such nominations shall appear on the agenda paper. The next business after the election of the President and Honorary Secretary shall be the election of honorary members.

8. The Council shall triennially appoint at its London Meeting two Auditors who shall audit the Annual Accounts of the Council and report to each Annual Meeting.

9. The Council shall appoint a Standing Committee and shall have power to appoint Committees for any purpose for which it may appear desirable; and also, if the state of the funds permit, to allow the necessary expenses of holding the Committee Meetings. Each Committee shall appoint a convener and shall report annually to the Council. All reports, except that of the Standing Committee, shall be made in writing to the Honorary Secretary at least 14 days before the meeting. Such reports as have not previously been published or circulated shall be read at the meeting.

10. All resolutions to be proposed shall be sent to the Honorary Secretary in writing, signed by two members of the Council, not less than two calendar months previous to the meeting, and shall be placed by him on the agenda, together with the names of the proposer and seconder of the resolution. But it shall be competent, on a vote of the majority of the meeting, for the Council to discuss a subject not upon the agenda paper, providing such subject does not affect the Rules or Constitution of the Council.

11. At the meetings of the Council the President shall take the chair, and in the event of his absence the members present shall elect a Chairman for that meeting. The Chairman shall have a casting vote. Twenty members shall form a quorum. Every new member, whether representative or honorary, shall, before taking his seat, be introduced by a member to the President, or, in the absence of the President, to the Chairman of the meeting.

12. Each member shall have one vote.

13. Full notice of the date, arrangements, and agenda for each meeting shall be advertised in the ringing papers approximately seven weeks previous to such meeting; but it shall not be incumbent on the Honorary Secretary to send notice to each member. The names of the members present and the business transacted at each meeting shall be entered in the minute book and reported to the ringing papers. Copies of the resolutions passed by the Council shall be forwarded to the affiliated societies as soon as is convenient after the meeting.

14. At each Annual Meeting the Honorary Secretary and Treasurer shall submit the audited statement of accounts for the previous year for adoption by the meeting.

15. Alterations in the Rules of the Council shall be made only at the Annual Meetings, and every notice of a proposed alteration shall be sent to the Honorary Secretary, as laid down in Rule 10. All alterations in the Rules of the Council shall be passed by a majority of two-thirds of those present and voting.

AN INTERESTING REPORT.

This year's report of the Midland Counties Association, which has just been published, is of more than usual interest, for, covering as it does the jubilee year of the association, it contains much material of an historic character, which recalls some of the great performances of the past. There are photographs of all the five presidents of the association, a review of the early days of the organisation, a retrospect of 50 years' peal ringing and a record of the jubilee celebrations.

In addition, of course, there is the usual full information on the past year's work, and the report is also specially valuable for the large number of compositions which it gives, particularly those of Stedman Triples called during the year by that enterprising conductor, Mr. Maurice Swinfield, who called over 30 different compositions in this method.

DUDLEY, WORCESTERSHIRE.—At the Parish Church of St. Thomas on Wednesday, March 22nd, on the occasion of the visit of the Bishop of Worcester for the Confirmation service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Brooks') in 47 mins. SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH MEETING AT WARMINSTER.

The quarterly meeting of Devizes Branch was held at the Minster Church of St. Denys, Warminster, on Saturday. There was a splendid attendance, and the bells, a fine ring of eight, tenor 28 cwt., were made good use of.

During the afternoon the Vicar (the Rev. A. R. Bellars) conducted the Guild office, Mr. Johns, from St. Boniface College, being at the organ. Tea was partaken of at the Magnet Restaurant, to which 40 sat down.

A short business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. The Chairman voiced a welcome to the visitors, and then asked the Vicar to address the members.

The Vicar said he was indeed pleased to see such a large gathering of ringers, and the Guild would always receive a welcome whenever Warminster was visited. He thanked the members for attending.

It was suggested that a joint meeting with the Salisbury Branch be arranged, Heytesbury being the venue, and the date provisionally April 22nd. Steeple Ashton was decided upon for May, Bromham for June and Trowbridge, as usual, for the half-yearly meeting, July 1st.

This closed the meeting; the tower was again visited and ringing continued until 9 p.m. During the evening Longbridge Deverill bells were available, and several parties were arranged to visit this tower, and some good practice was put in.

The following towers were represented at the meeting: Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Westbury, Urchfont, Rowde, Trowbridge, Corsley, North Bradley, Bratton, Melksham, Longbridge Deverill and Warminster, methods being rung up to London Surprise. The branch were pleased to welcome visitors from Buckland Newton, Bath, Kingston Magna, Swindon and Stourton. One of the visitors, a well-known figure in the West Country, was missed during the service. Afterwards a search was made and he was eventually found locked in the belfry. The question arose, did he arrange this to 'dodge' the service, or was he 'in the hunt' after 'Copper'?

A lecture was given by Mr. C. F. Andrews in the belfry of All Saints', Westbury, on Tuesday evening, March 21st. This was well attended and evidently much appreciated. Mr. Andrews emphasised the need of good striking, the proper handling of the rope being necessary to attain this. It is good to know that these lectures are to continue, and Westbury tower has again been offered, subject to the convenience of Mr. Andrews. It is hoped that all interested will make an effort to attend. Notices will be sent in due course.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION 'AT HOME.'

A very enjoyable practice meeting took place at St. Mary's in the Cathedral City of Ely on Saturday last. The Vicar (the Rev. Elliott-Simpson, M.A.) welcomed the members there by meeting them in the tower on the stroke of 3 p.m. Nearly 30 members were present, the towers represented being Cambridge, Chatteris, Great Staughton, Littleport, Exning, Fenditton, Sutton, Strelham, Wilburton, Over and members of the local band. The bells were kept going well, the first seven touches coming home, which speaks for itself. The methods rung included Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Kent and Oxford Spliced, Oxford Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major. A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, who is not a ringer, but showed his interest by being in the belfry during the several periods of ringing and at the finish. The Vicar, in acknowledging the thanks, welcomed the members, but was sorry to have to ask them to leave the ringing at 7.30 p.m. He wanted, as far as possible, he said, to stop any complaint that might be made, as the church is surrounded by schools and houses.

A JUBILEE PEAL.

At Raunds, Northants, where the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Society (the forerunner of the Central Northants Association, which has since developed into the Peterborough Diocesan Guild) was formed in 1883 by the Rev. H. Bryant, a peal was rung on Saturday week to celebrate the jubilee of Mr. Alfred H. Martin, who was admitted a member of the first society in the year of its foundation. Mr. Martin took part in the peal, with which the band wish also to associate Mr. F. Gilbert, of Kalamazoo, Mich., U.S.A., who was made a member of the society at its formation in 1883, and was a ringer and, part of the time, conductor at Raunds Church from 1880 to 1911.

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like heartily to endorse the Rev. E. S. Powell's suggestion re Parker's Twelve-Part.

It seems ridiculous to credit anyone with a simple transposition of any composition, as a child could easily produce all of them if shown the way to write out the lead ends of any peal of Grandsire. We frequently rang the peal in question at Dorchester Abbey over 25 years ago, having produced it ourselves, and always published it as 'A transposition of Parker's Twelve-Part.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Correspondents are reminded that as Good Friday falls in next week, 'The Ringing World' will go to press a day earlier, and all reports, notices, etc., intended for insertion must be received by Monday. It is particularly requested that reports of peals rung up to Saturday will be sent in time for next week's issue.

Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, has sustained a severe loss by the death of his mother, which took place at Seven-oaks on Wednesday week. Mrs. Lewis had a seizure about fifteen months ago and had been a complete invalid ever since. She had reached the advanced age of 77 years. The sympathy of the Exercise will go out to Mr. Lewis in his bereavement.

The ring of ten bells at Ripon Cathedral, which have been recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, will be dedicated on Saturday at 4 p.m. The preacher at the service will be the Rev. Canon Marshall, Vicar of St. Chad's, Far Headingley, Honorary Canon of Ripon Cathedral, and president of the Yorkshire Association. Following the dedication, there will be ringing from 5.15 to 5.55 p.m., and from 6.45 to 9 p.m. It is hoped, however, to arrange a date later on for ringing for the benefit of those ringers who are unable to stay for the evening.

Another dedication which takes place to-morrow is that of the bells at Westbourne, near Emsworth, on the Sussex western border. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have recast two of the old six and added two trebles, making an octave, which have been hung in new frame and fittings. The service is at 2 p.m.

Not far away yet another new ring is to be opened. At the famous Church of St. Mary, Portsea, the recast peal of eight will be dedicated. Additional metal has been added to increase the weight, the tenor being now 17½ cwt. The bells have been lowered about 30ft. in the tower, making for much easier handling. Previously the draft was over 70ft. The work has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

Mr. E. Scrivener, of Dunmow, Essex, has just completed 50 years as a Sunday service ringer at Dunmow Parish Church, having joined in the year 1883. He was also a member of the choir of St. Mary's for 56 years, retiring two years ago, when he reached the age of 70 years.

The report of a peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Oldham has been sent without the date or the name of the sender.

Mr. G. H. Combes, of Ryde, Isle of Wight, who celebrated his 90th birthday on March 28th, is not, after all, quite the oldest member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, for Mr. Joseph Waghorn, son, of New Southgate, who is a member of the Guild, reached the age of 90 last January, and is still on the active list. Mr. Waghorn sends his greetings to his 'old rival' and wishes him 'all the best.'

Will any ringers who wish to ring an 'Ernest' peal please forward their names to Ernest E. Holman, 61, Ruby Road, Walthamstow, E.17, stating method required. The tower will be within the London area.

THE LAW JAMES MEMORIAL.

OPPORTUNITY FOR ASSOCIATIONS TO CONTRIBUTE

There must be many ringing associations which would like to share in the memorial to the late Rev. Henry Law James, which has been provided by the addition of two bells at Surfleet Church. About £55 is still required to pay for the scheme, and the numerous associations which hold their annual meetings at Easter and in the following weeks will have the opportunity of helping the fund. Mr. James' services were rendered to the whole Exercise, and the Exercise, through the associations, will, we feel sure, desire to join with the Lincoln Guild in making the memorial a national one. Donations should be sent to Mr. Rupert Richardson, Master of the Lincoln Guild, Surfleet, Spalding.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE LORD HARRIS.

As a memorial to the late Lord Harris, the famous cricketer, the bells of Throwley Church, near Faversham, Kent, are to be completely restored, and two trebles added to complete the octave; the whole to be hung with completely new fittings in new framework.

The work is to be carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry.

LITTLE ALBION TREBLE BOB.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the question of the authorship of Little Albion Treble Bob, raised after the peal of Maximus in that method at Ipswich, there is no doubt that the late Mr. H. W. Wilde was one of the discoverers, if not the first. I believe he found it about the year 1909.

During a conversation with him some years ago on Little methods, he told me that Mr. Edwin H. Lewis had evolved a system which enabled him to compose all the possible Little methods. Perhaps Mr. Lewis could confirm this?

NEWBURY'S NEW BELLS.

BERKSHIRE GETS ANOTHER RING OF TEN.

There was a large gathering of ringers at Newbury, Berks, on Sunday afternoon, when two new treble bells, augmenting the ring of ten, were dedicated and opened. Newbury got its eight bells when rings of eight were rare. It has been in possession of an octave for over 250 years. The massive tower was completed in 1532, and from the earliest date has contained bells. There were five bells and a sanctus bell in 1552, and in 1602 the records show that there were six bells. In the Civil War the Parliamentarians occupied Newbury, but those who had authority over the bells were not only royalist at heart, but defiant in spirit. During the Civil War and even while the Cromwellian forces occupied the town and the church was served by Presbyterian ministers, the bells were rung on the anniversary of the accession of King Charles I., and this continued up to the time of his execution. In 1646 the bells, together with the lead on the roofs of the church and the weathercock on the tower, were redeemed by the inhabitants from the hands of the Parliamentary soldiery. In 1680 the six bells were recast into eight by Henry Knight, of Reading, and in 1803—the tenor having broken and been recast in 1724—the bells were recast by James Wells, of Aldbourne.

upon the parishioners for a sum of something like £5,000 for the repair of the church roof, for which purpose £1,400 is still required. The offertories throughout last Sunday were devoted to the bell fund and at the close of the day the collections amounted to £19, leaving £10 still to be raised to clear the fund of debt. Contributions towards this will be gratefully received by Mr. H. W. Curtis, of Church Road, Shaw, Newbury.

BIG GATHERING OF RINGERS

Considerably over a hundred ringers were present at the dedication service, coming from London, Oxford, Winchester, Reading, Caversham, Croydon, Portsmouth, Swindon, Abingdon, Appleton, High Wycombe, Andover, Wootton and other towers in the nearer neighbourhood. Mr. A. A. Hughes represented the founders. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. L. Cooper, R.D.), and took the form of evensong. The lessons were read by the Rev. Kingsley Kefford, of Shaw, who is chairman of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. At the end of the service Bishop Shaw, Archdeacon of Oxford, accompanied by the clergy and churchwardens, followed the local ringers up into the spacious ringing chamber, where the actual dedication was performed, while the large congregation waited expectantly below to hear the ten bells for the first time.

THE PARISH CHURCH OF ST. NICHOLAS, NEWBURY.

THE AUGMENTATION.

This octave is still doing duty, having in 1929 been greatly improved by tuning. The addition of two treble bells has made them into a fine ring of ten (the tenor is 21½ cwt.), which should serve a very useful purpose, not only by adding to the dignity of the peal, but by encouraging the practice of change ringing on ten bells in this district, as there is no other peal of this number within a radius of about 20 miles. Before the restoration of four years ago the eight bells were in a timber frame which filled the bellry, and one bell had to be carried in a cage above the rest. An iron frame was installed with the bells all on one level, and this frame has now been so rearranged that not only are the new bells 'on the floor' with the rest, but an excellent circle has been obtained—and there is still room for more. Such is one of the advantages of modern bell hanging. The admirably tuned trebles blend perfectly with the other bells, and Newbury has a ring of ten to be proud of. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, with the characteristic efficiency of the Whitechapel foundry.

The augmentation was made possible by a bequest of the late Mrs. Peerless, who left the sum of £100 to the Newbury ringers to do what they liked with. They generously resolved to utilise it for the provision of the two bells and appealed to ringers in the Oxford Diocese and elsewhere to make up the balance of the cost involved, a local appeal for funds being out of the question, in view of the demand

The new bells bear, in addition to the record of the gift, the names of the ringers as follows:—

In addition to dedicating the bells, the Bishop unveiled an oak tablet recording the augmentation. This tablet was the work and gift of Mr. Alfred J. Whittle, one of the local ringers, and is worthily executed. The oak itself is of a striking grain, and two bells are carved below the quotation, 'Praise Him upon the loud cymbals.' Then follows the inscription: 'St. Nicholas', Newbury. The two trebles to complete the peal of ten were given by Newbury Ringers and installed with the help of friends in the year 1933 A.D. Rev. W. L. Cooper, Rector; C. A. Hawker, R. Martin, Churchwardens; H. W. Curtis, Captain of the Tower.

When the ceremony in the tower had been completed and while the Bishop and others were returning to the chancel, the ten bells were rung in rounds by the local ringers.

A REMINDER OF RELIGIOUS FREEDOM.

Bishop Shaw, in his address, said they had in Newbury a long and splendid tradition of churchmanship. The spirit of the church, the beauty of its equipment and its adornments spoke of the love which the people of Newbury had had for several generations for their church, and an addition such as had just been made strengthened still further the love and affection they had for it. The Bishop went on to point out that the highest form of love was shown in service, and there were many who ministered in the church in addition to those who were ordained. Among them were the choir, the clerk, the sexton and the bellringers. All ought to have a high ideal before them; they were servants of the sanctuary, and were privileged to take a special part in the worship of the King of Kings. The dominating thought in connection with church bells was joy and praise. They who listened might well think at times how much they owed to those who added to the joy of life in these days, when there was so much that was dull and gray, so much that was grave and sad in life. They might be quite sure that the Will of God was that they should be cheerful and that their religion should be a religion of praise and thanksgiving, bringing them comfort and consolation and lifting them out of depressing surroundings. Above all, the note of the bells was the note of gladness, and the bells also reminded them of their freedom. In the early days religion had to be carried on in secret, for fear of persecution. Bells could not be rung because it was desirable to avoid publicity. The people were true to their faith, but they held their services in seclusion, and they suffered that we might enjoy freedom. As they heard the bells, therefore, they might thank God that they had freedom to worship according to their conscience. This did not mean freedom to do as they liked; it did not mean freedom from offering praise and thanksgiving; but freedom to do what was right and freedom to offer praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God. The bells were a perpetual warning to be free indeed and not to neglect God's call to worship. Thus were ringers ministers and servants. There were, proceeded the Bishop, other things in ringing. It was an interesting art which might also, to some extent, be regarded as a pleasant exercise. The ringer had to be alert of eye and ear, and he ought also to be a man of Christian character. When a bell was cast, if a flaw was found in it, it was melted down again and put into a new mould. When they found a flaw in their own character it was well that they should melt it down. A cracked bell spoils the tune of the whole ring; a ringer insincere in his Christianity spoils the harmony of the belfry. They might indeed be thankful that the ringers' guild in these days held such high ideals before them. No longer were the bells rung by careless and indifferent ringers, but by those who were striving according to their ability and opportunity to contribute something to the worship of God and to help to add to the joy and praise of life and to stir up something of that emotion which brings to our minds thoughts of the holiest kind.

After the service an opening touch of 395 Grandsire Caters was rung, conducted by Mr. G. Holfield, jun., of Appleton. Thereafter touches in various methods were rung by visiting ringers up to the time of evening service. Meanwhile tea was served in relays in an adjoining hall, the Bishop and the Rector being among the first party. There was further ringing after the service.

This report would not be complete without an acknowledgment of the welcome given to visitors by the local ringers and the kindness of Mr. H. W. Curtis, captain of the tower and hon. secretary of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in his successful efforts to accommodate everyone, not only in regard to opportunities for ringing, but also in the provision of tea, for more than twice as many attended as notified their intention of being present.

GLOUCESTER RINGERS AT DINNER.

CITY'S CONNECTION WITH BELL FOUNDING.

The fifth annual dinner of the Gloucester Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at the Spread Eagle Hotel, Gloucester, on Saturday week, when a company of about sixty was presided over by the Mayor of Gloucester (Mr. W. L. Edwards). He was supported by the Rev. E. C. Prichard (Rector of St. Stephen's and Mayor's chaplain), the Rev. E. D. S. Camus (Rector of St. Mary-de-Crypt), the Rev. F. E. Walters (Rector of Minsterworth), Councillor W. R. Eggleton, Mr. Edgar Guise (hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mr. S. Romans (chairman of the Gloucester Branch) and Mr. W. H. Harris (branch secretary). Ringing visitors were present from Croydon, Swindon, Newport, Bedwelly, Mangotsfield, Bristol, Ross and Newent.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, the Mayor submitted 'The Church and State,' and said that all through the ages Gloucester had been closely associated with bellringing. The city had been definitely connected with bell-making, and the firm of Rudhall in the 17th century was quite a famous one. When the firm ceased, books were found containing entries for 4,521 bells which had been made. A bellringing society which was named the Ancient Society of Crypt Youths was founded in Gloucester in 1710. There were 31 members, and in 1749 they subscribed for two new treble bells for St. Mary-de-Crypt Church, making eight in all. Churches that had been built in recent years, added the Mayor, lacked a peal of bells, and he, for his part, thought they were no better for it. In the olden days churches were never complete without their peal, and he knew nothing better than to hear them.

The Mayor also emphasised the importance of the State being linked closely with the Church. There was a time, he said, when there was some disturbance in this country between the State and the Church, and there were many people who thought it would be better if there were a separation between the two. That, he was pleased to say, had now 'blown over,' and everyone realised that the Church played a very important and very necessary part in the life of the State (applause).

The Rev. E. C. Prichard, in response, said it would be a very sad occurrence if the Church should be disestablished. Of course, the Church would be free to do as it liked, but to the State he thought would come very considerable harm. It would no longer be definitely connected with religion, and that would be disastrous, as nothing in life could go on successfully without the help of God. That movement had fortunately died down now, and he wished to stress the fact that the link between the Church and State should never be lost (applause).

The Rev. F. E. Walters also responded. Councillor Eggleton, in proposing the toast of 'The Chairman,' paid a warm tribute to the work that the Mayor was doing for the welfare of the city. He referred specially to three things: his Worship's efforts for the unemployed, the war memorial, and, lastly, to his success in obtaining from the National Gallery the loan of a priceless collection of pictures, which would shortly be brought to the city.

An appeal to young people to take up the art of ringing was made by Mr. John Austin in proposing the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Association.' He said that there were many peals of bells in the country, but frequently they were unable to get anybody to ring them. Young people were very badly needed, as the present ringers could not carry on for ever.

Mr. E. Guise responded, and said that Gloucester was one of the mainstays of the association.

A hearty welcome to the visitors, which included friends from many parts of the county and from Newport and Monmouth, was made by the Rev. E. D. S. Camus, and Mr. J. Jefferies (chairman of the Bristol Branch) responded.

The toast of 'The Ringing World' was entrusted to Mr. J. Williams, and a vote of thanks to the chairman, secretary, committee and artistes was proposed by Mr. Camus.—Mr. S. Romans replied.

Musical items were given by the Tuffley Revellers, Mr. J. Clark, Mrs. Cobb, Mr. H. Newman, Miss Baldwin, Miss Merriman, Mr. Cobb, Mr. J. Gillett, Miss D. Harris and Mr. Hayward.

WEDNESDAY GUILD'S SECRETARY'S DEATH.

Members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association and of the Wednesday Guild in particular will learn with regret of the sudden death of Mr. George Siddle, of Chester-le-Street. Mr. Siddle joined the association in 1884 and rejoined in 1900, and it was largely owing to his initiative that the Wednesday Guild was formed in December, 1929.

A regular ringer at SS. Mary and Cuthbert's, Chester-le-Street, he was also a member of the choir. The funeral service on March 28th was fully choral, and several of his fellow-ringers and the secretary of the association (Mr. G. S. Taylor) attended. Of a quiet and happy disposition, Mr. Siddle will be much missed, and there were many expressions of sympathy with his two daughters in their bereavement.

On March 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Chester-le-Street with the bells half-muffled in memory of the deceased: Miss M. J. Crawford 1, J. A. Brown 2, W. F. Pattison 3, F. Sheraton 4, W. Brown 5, R. W. Parkinson (conductor) 6, W. Sheraton 7, T. C. Robson 8.

WHERE TO SPEND EASTER MONDAY.

A VISIT TO ST. ALBANS IS WORTH WHILE.

Bellringers who wish to spend a pleasant Easter Monday, or a weekend, could not do better than attend the annual meeting of the Hertford County Association on Bank Holiday, April 17th, at St. Albans. There are four bell towers in the city, which will be open at noon for practice, and onwards up to 4 o'clock. At 4.30 there is to be a ringers' service in the choir of the Cathedral, where the Vicar of St. Stephen's, St. Albans, will be the preacher. Immediately following this service, tea will be served and the business meeting will follow. All ringers are welcomed to this gathering, provided they have previously notified their intention to be present. Those ringers who would like to diversify their holiday will find much to interest them in the antiquities of the ancient city.

St. Albans has been much in the public notice recently, through the discoveries of the Verulamium Excavation Committee. Verulamium was the ancient Roman name for St. Albans. Unlike other cities, notably York and Colchester, the site of the Roman city has not been built over; it lies about a quarter of a mile away from the Cathedral, on the other side of the River Ver. The Excavation Committee is entering the third year of its activities, and much of general and scientific interest has been discovered. Last year three magnificent mosaic pavements, some of the finest of the kind ever found, and easily the finest in England, were laid bare. Two of these have been lifted intact, and may be seen in the museum on the site, together with many other deeply interesting objects.

built by Wulsin, Abbot of St. Albans, in the 10th century; it was altered and enlarged in the 15th century, and the earliest remaining parts, the arcades of the nave and the south aisle, are of that date. The central tower was built 1801-3. St. Peter's is interesting as being the burial place of many gentlemen slain in the battles of the Wars of the Roses.

St. Michael's, just across the ancient ford on the River Ver to the west, is noteworthy for its monument to Sir Francis Bacon, Lord Verulam, the celebrated Chancellor and national philosopher of King James' reign. The original church, like St. Peter's and St. Stephen's, was founded by Wulsin, in the middle of the 10th century. The chancel and nave both contain detail which is evidently of pre-Conquest date. The north and south aisles were added towards the end of the 12th century, and the south chapel and nave clear-story early in the 13th century. The whole building is of intense interest, and the tower contains a peal of six, recently put into ball bearings by John Taylor & Co.

St. Stephen's, to the south, on the ancient Watling Street, is a quaint old church. Its early history is in many respects the same as that of St. Michael's Church, but the building has been less restored. Among the fittings, the 15th century font and the 16th century lectern are especially noticeable. The lectern has been the subject of much controversy between English and Scots. It was part of the loot from Melrose Abbey brought back by a local magnate after Flodden Field. The tower contains an excellent peal of six.

With the exception of the Abbey Church, the clock tower is the most prominent architectural relic of antiquity in St. Albans. His-

THE HISTORIC ABBEY AT ST. ALBANS.

Besides the remains, many other antiquities await the observant visitor. The town wall, dating A.D. 102, has been cleared of debris, and the removal of some 30,000 tons of soil from the south corner has revealed a feature of architectural interest and importance, which, in detail, it is difficult to parallel. At this south corner will be seen the remains of a tower with solid rounded front and a square internal chamber. After the Romans left England in 410 A.D., the city languished until with the foundation of the great Abbey of St. Albans on the hill opposite Verulamium, it grew again in importance.

St. Albans was one of the richest and most powerful ecclesiastical foundations. Its abbots vied with those of Westminster in their magnificence. After the dissolution of the monasteries in 1539, the monastic buildings (unfortunately for the antiquary) were demolished and the materials helped to build many of the citizens' private houses. There is a sort of poetic justice in this, since the Abbey itself was largely built with ransacked Roman bricks from Verulamium.

The Cathedral has survived a restoration by the late Lord Granthorpe in the 80's of last century, and remains one of the most interesting edifices in the country. It has an immense nave, the longest in England, and a magnificent massive central tower. Inside the student of architecture will find examples of all the periods of mediæval architecture, from Saxon to Tudor. There are two celebrated Chantry tombs of former abbots. They are usually considered the finest examples of their kind.

The Chantry of Abbot Rawryge, 16th century, calls for special mention. In the south aisle of presbytery will be seen the 13th century iron grates and tomb of Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester, 15th century. The Chamber of the Feretrar, 15th century, a wooden structure of two stages, contains the watching chamber, and is also of considerable interest.

There are also three other ancient churches in the city. St. Peter's, on the east side of St. Peter's Street. No traces remain of the church torians and antiquaries have been puzzled, not only as to the actual date of the clock tower, but also the object of its erection, but it is generally considered to be late 13th or early 14th century. The first battle of the Wars of the Roses was fought at St. Albans on 22nd May, 1455, and the alarm for it was rung from the clock tower there, which, with its original bell, still exists. But come and see the building.

There is much else of interest that may be discovered by the lover of antiquity, which space forbids to mention, so to save the editor's blue pencil I will conclude by saying, 'Come and see.' G. W. C.

A LANCASHIRE VETERAN'S BIRTHDAY.

At Flixton, Lancs, on Thursday, March 23rd, the local band rang 1,204 Grandsire Triples: Miss E. Collier 1, D. Vincent (conductor) 2, S. Rickard 3, P. Williams 4, G. Mason 5, J. H. Collier 6, H. Collier 7, R. Thomas 8. Rung, after an attempt for a peal had failed, on the eve of the 81st birthday of Lt.-Col. S. Stott, V.D., J.P., who has been a member of this tower since 1888, and up till about four years ago took an active part in the ringing.

SOUTHGATE.—On March 23rd, for Confirmation service, 1,321 Grandsire Caters in 52 mins.: A. G. Crane 1, A. R. Glasscock 2, J. Armstrong (conductor) 3, S. Wade 4, W. Pickworth 5, W. Bowden 6, J. E. YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Goole on Saturday, March 25th, and was attended by about 40 ringers from Beverley Minster, Hull, Howden, Eastrington, Hemingbrough, Kirk Ella, Pontefract (St. Giles' and All Saints'), Selby, Thorne, Withernsea and the local company. Ringing in the standard methods took place on the peal of eight during the afternoon and evening. The Vicar gave a most interesting address at the service in church, which was followed by tea in the Schoolroom and the meeting, over which the Vicar presided.

Three new members were elected, viz., Messrs. E. Newham, C. Sherburn and K. R. Smith, of St. Peter's, Howden.

An invitation to hold the next meeting at Eastrington was accepted, the Vicar of Eastrington being anxious that the meeting should be held there to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the opening of the bells.

Mr. F. Cryer was re-elected vice-president for another period of three years, and Messrs. A. Walker and J. Drake were re-elected to the committee, Mr. A. E. Sellers being elected in place of Mr. W. Gibson, resigned. Mr. A. Walker was further elected to serve on the General Committee for three years.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and to the Vicar for his address in church and for presiding at the meeting. In his reply, the Vicar said how very pleased he was to have the association at Goole, and said they would be welcome there at any time they cared to go. The local company were also thanked for the arrangements made.

Further ringing concluded a very good meeting, held on a perfect springlike day.

DEATH OF MR. SAMUEL STOTT.AN OLD OLDHAM RINGER.

One of Oldham's oldest ringers, Mr. Samuel Stott, passed away at his residence, 16, Kersley Street, Oldham, on March 24th. He was 76 years of age and had continued ringing up to last Christmas, when failing eyesight caused him to retire. He was always regular at Sunday service ringing.

Mr. Stott learned to ring at St. Mark's, Oldham, at which church he rang his first peal on May 18th, 1878. He has rung a considerable number of peals, and was one of the band who rang the then record peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (16,800 changes) at Mottram in 1906. Mr. Stott afterwards joined the band at St. Mary's Parish Church, Oldham, and held the office as conductor and master for over 50 years.

The interment took place on Tuesday, March 28th. His brother ringers acted as bearers and rang a plain course of Triples over the grave.

PEAL GRABBERS v. PEAL GROUSERS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was rather amused to read Mr. Amos' letter in your issue of March 31st, and can only come to one conclusion: a dog in the manger sort of business. If he chooses to remain outside his own local Guild, that is his business and does not concern the Exercise as a whole, and my advice to him is, after a very varied experience, not to wash dirty linen in public. It does no good and often creates false impressions. As Mr. Leech has not condescended either to apologise or withdraw, we must assume he has withdrawn from the contest, possibly a sadder but a wiser man. In conclusion, I would like to thank several ringing friends who have either written me on the above subject or have thanked me personally, and shall not trouble you further on this correspondence.

W. KEEBLE.

Feering.

Sir,—What an amount of interest is caused by the letters headed 'Peal Grabbers,' but what a lot of linen can be washed in public! As one who knows Mr. Amos, I am disappointed, for whenever I have been in the Wellingborough district I have always come back with more knowledge than when I went. Moreover, the very best ringers in this district like peals; I do, and, to be quite candid, it is my second love, but (without bragging) I ring for service twice on Sundays, and so do nearly all the 'peal grabbers.' Without being personal, I think Mr. Amos can learn and ring all he requires if he will accept the teaching, 'Except ye become as little children,' etc. I know, and can see by my own experience, that somebody put up with a lot to help me on, and I thank them.

F. WARRINGTON.

Over, Cambs.

SOUTHWELL.—At the Minster, on Tuesday, February 21st, 1,264 Little Bob Major: E. H. Clulow 1, G. E. Foster 2, F. G. Hooper 3, F. Pickard 4, E. Foster 5, E. H. Clulow 6, A. J. Chamberlain (composer) 7, J. F. Milner (conductor) 8. First quarter-peal in the method on the bells and first by all except the conductor. Rung on the occasion of the christening of the son of the ringer of the second bell.

HOYLANDSWAINE BELLS REOPENED.A BIG TEA PARTY.

The bells of St. John's Church, Hoylandswaine, which have been rehanging, were rededicated and reopened on Saturday last by the Bishop of Pontefract in the presence of a large assembly of ringers and parishioners, together with clergy from other parishes. Nineteen towers were represented, drawn from five counties, which shows the spirit of comradeship that exists among ringers, who are out to encourage good ringing and striking. It was noteworthy that while only nine sent orders for tea, 150 sat down. The ladies who catered for tea are worthy of great praise for the way in which they coped with the demands of such an unexpectedly large party. The towers represented were Shelley, Wath, Sandal, Darfield, Royston, Cawthorne, Norbury, Norton, Rotherham, Meltham, Horbury, Stockport, Ashton-under-Lyne, Treton, Handsworth, Sheffield Cathedral, Leek and Peristone. Mr. Fidler represented Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., who have been responsible for the work of rehanging and overhauling of the bells, and have carried out their work splendidly. The local company wish to thank all ringers and friends who helped and supported them at the opening, for there were many who came from a great distance.

The bells were deeply muffled for Sunday morning service, and six members of the local company rang a 720 Oxford Treble Bob, conducted by R. Crossland, as a token of respect for an old church member who was laid to rest whilst the bells were dismantled. The ringers themselves have undertaken to raise the money for the work which has been done, and funds are still required, so that any donation, however small, will be thankfully received by the hon. secretary, Mr. E. Brookes, Hall Lane, Hoylandswaine, Sheffield.

BELL RESTORATION AT THORNABY-ON-SEA.

For some considerable time the peal of eight bells at Thornaby-on-Tees have been almost unringable. The bearings were completely worn out and some of the gudgeons broken. The Vicar, with the assistance of the ringers and the Church Council, set to work to raise sufficient funds for the rehanging of the whole peal, and, in spite of the serious trade depression, which has hit Thornaby very hard, energetic action to raise the money necessary to carry out the work soon had the desired result. Tenders were received from three different bell firms, and the contract was entrusted to the well-known firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon. The work has included the strengthening of the wood frame, which is in two tiers, by angle plates and bolts, taking off the canons and reboring the bells for the reception of new iron headstocks, quarter turning and hanging the bells on the latest principle with ball bearings and with entirely new fittings. The work has been carried out with the celerity and excellence of workmanship always associated with the Croydon firm.

The rededication took place on Sunday, March 12th, and all the ringers who were present were unanimous in their praise of the great improvement that had been made, and congratulated Messrs. Gillett and Johnston upon a fine job and the easy 'go' of the bells.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.'NAVY' WORK AT REDBOURN.

The Western District had a very successful meeting at Redbourn on Saturday last, district members and others from St. Albans, Watford, Springfield, Bushey and Harpenden accomplishing 'steam-navy' work in Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Plain, Oxford, Double Oxford, Hereford, St. Clement's Bob, Double Court, Cambridge and even London Surprise.

The Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Berry) held the service and gave a very interesting address, the hearty singing being accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Berry. Tea, kindly provided by the Vicar, was swiftly put 'out of course,' after which the brief business meeting was kept in order by the same kind friend.

Hemel Hempstead was chosen for the next meeting, to be held early in May.

The usual hearty votes of thanks were accorded to friends and helpers. A vote of condolence was passed expressing sympathy with Mrs. Hollis (Great Gaddesden) in her sad loss. This concluded the meeting, the members adjourning for more 'navy' work (in methods, not hard work).

BOLTON RINGER'S DEATH.

On Sunday, April 2nd, for evening service at Bolton Parish Church, 1,260 Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. Frank Morris, a ringer at this church, who was interred at St. Mary's, Deane, on March 28th.

For 20 years he was a chorister and ringer at Deane, and when he left the district he joined the Parish Church band.

The following took part in the quarter-peal: F. Morris 1, E. Webster 2, W. Newman 3, E. Cutsforth 4, P. Nuttall 5, P. Crook, sen., 6, J. Nuttall (conductor) 7, J. Leather 8.

COUNCIL AND MINOR CONTROVERSY.

The agenda of the Central Council meeting, which is published to-day for the benefit of associations and their representatives, reveals a very considerable programme for the meeting in London at Whitsuntide. Two of the most important things in the business are the revision of the Council's rules, with which we dealt last week, and another attempt to settle the controversy on the subject of peals of Minor and Doubles. There are two motions relating to this latter subject, which to some extent overlap, but that in the name of Mr. C. T. Coles goes further than the proposal by Mr. Stephen Wood. What the Council will have to decide is how far they are prepared to go in encouraging peals which do not conform to the old standard of seven separate and complete 720's. Both the resolutions now put forward make this long recognised rule the chief rock upon which to build, but they differ in the extent to which departure from it should be allowed. The Bankes James' Cambridge composition, which first established a new principle in Minor extents, has been widely accepted as conforming to the requirements of a peal, but it led to other divergencies from the old rule which, in the opinion of large numbers of ringers, were neither so good in theory nor so commendable in practice. The fact, however, remains that they have been rung, have been recognised by the Central Council by inclusion in the analysis, and accepted by associations who have included them in their records. Little can be done with regard to what is past, unless the associations are prepared to expunge all these peals from the records, but agreement in the Council would very considerably guide opinion and practice in the future, although we may always expect to find someone ready to kick over the traces, whatever restrictions may be laid down.

The fundamental principle lying behind Mr. Coles' motion is whether a peal of Minor is really one peal or seven peals, and it is this aspect which ringers will do well to consider carefully in trying to arrive at a conclusion. In the old days Minor 'performances' were almost invariably described as 'seven peals,' or 'fourteen peals,' when the length, as it was on a few occasions, was 10,080. On five, six and seven bells, unquestionably, our forefathers looked upon a peal as the extent of the changes upon these numbers. If that view is still accepted, then we moderns are wrong in describing seven 720's of Minor or 42 six-scores of Doubles as 'a peal.' But the Central Council themselves have laid it down that such a performance is 'a peal,' and they can hardly go back upon that definition. They can, however, say what in their opinion shall be the qualities that go to make up 'a peal,' whether it shall be seven separate 720's or, under certain safeguards, the 720 rows or changes rung seven times in any order. This, of course, opens up the wide question of 'truth' in certain forms of composition, but it may be that the long disputed question will be easier of solution—or, shall we say, there is better chance of agreement at this stage—if the Council will express an opinion as to whether they are prepared to accept the view that seven 720's are one peal or seven peals. If the latter then the composite parts must be seven separate extents, but if the former there seems to be no escape from accepting the whole of Mr. Coles' proposals. The subject is not merely one of interest to the pundits, but of practical importance to the associations, for it will affect the future of their records, and it will rest with them to encourage the acceptance of the Council's decision.

ANOTHER RING OF EIGHT FOR SUSSEX. INTERESTING AUGMENTATION AT WESTBOURNE.

In the south-west corner of Sussex, near Emsworth and Hayling Island, lies the picturesque village of Westbourne with its mediæval church and fine tower and spire.

The outer walls of the aisles date from 1380 to 1430, and extensive rebuilding and the reconstruction of the tower were carried out in 1545 to 1548 by the last Earl of Arundel, Henry Fitzalan.

In 1770 the lord of the manor, the Earl of Halifax, defrayed the cost of adding the present spire of pleasing proportions, and in consequence the tower at the belfry level has a massive structure of oak which rises inside the walls to support the tower.

Until recently an indifferent peal of six hung aloft in an old oak frame which had seen better days, and the parishioners decided to put their tower in order.

Under the supervision of the well-known architect, Mr. Philip Johnston, reinforced with the skilled advice of the president of the Central Council of Bellringers, Mr. E. H. Lewis, a complete transformation in the tower has been effected as a memorial to the late Prebendary Lloyd Batley Birkett, the much-loved Rector of Westbourne for over 50 years.

The tenor weighs 10½ cwt., and the six bells have been increased to eight, old numbers 1 and 5 have been recast and the ring rehung with modern fittings in a new cast-iron 'A' frame.

Owing to the structural design of the tower and spire the ringers are in the stage immediately beneath the bells, and the height of the ringing room is restricted. A special floor and packing, however, have reduced the sound to normal proportions, and visiting ringers at the opening found manipulation of the peal an easy matter.

The dedication service took place on Saturday at 2 p.m., when the Ven. B. G. Hoskyns, Archdeacon of Chichester, officiated, assisted by the Rector (the Rev. C. E. V. Hodge) and clergy from neighbouring parishes. The hymns used were 'O praise ye the Lord' and the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God.' The lessons were read by Gen. J. R. H. Oldfield (churchwarden), and others present were Vice-Admiral Gordon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Johnston, Mr. James Parker, of Edmonton, and Mr. F. B. Tompkins (Past Master of the Sussex Association). The ringing for the day was organised by Mr. A. D. Stone, the energetic hon. secretary of the Sussex Association, and amongst towers represented were those of St. Peter's, Brighton, Shoreham, Chichester Cathedral, Bosham, Heene, Worthing, Portsmouth, Edmonton, Crawley, etc. Tea was kindly provided by the Rector for all visiting ringers, and methods ranging from Grandsire to London and Bristol Surprise kept the bells going merrily for many hours after the service.

The whole of the work, including repairs and alterations to the clock, has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who were congratulated on all sides for the successful completion of a first-class job.

The metal frame is as rigid as a rock, the new trebles sing out clearly and sweetly and the bells now form a musical ring of eight, ready for the veteran Mr. H. J. Tucker, of Chichester, to initiate a band of young ringers in the art of change ringing.

The original six bells at Westbourne were cast by Pack and Chapman in 1770.

OLD CRANLEIGH RINGER'S DEATH.

The death has occurred at Cranleigh, Surrey, of an early member of the old Winchester Diocesan Guild in the person of Mr. John Knight, who passed away at the age of 75 years. He and his father before him carried on the business of carriers between Cranleigh and Horsham and Guildford. The Knight family had had this business for 90 years, until it passed into the hands of a motor firm a few years ago.

Mr. John Knight joined the Winchester Guild in 1882 and was one of the band who started to practise Treble Bob at Cranleigh in 1890.

The funeral took place on April 3rd.

THE LATE MR. EDWIN BARNETT.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL AT CRAYFORD.

The committee of the Kent County Association has decided to open a fund for the purpose of erecting a memorial to the late Mr. E. Barnett, of Crayford, who died in August last.

Mr. Barnett was a member of the association for 44 years, served on the Central Committee for nearly 40 years and represented the association on the Central Council from 1902. He was a member of many other associations and societies and well known generally throughout the Exercise. At his death he was one of the oldest members of the Royal Cumberland Youths, to which he was elected more than 50 years ago.

THE LATE MR. E. BARNETT.

Mr. Barnett, during his long ringing career, had done an immense amount of spade work, having taught no end of beginners and piloted scores of them through their first peals. He was one of the type of retiring men of whom little was heard but whose services to ringing had been invaluable in a quiet and devoted manner, and a fitting memorial will be a well-deserved tribute to the lifelong work he did in furthering the art of ringing.

It is proposed that the memorial shall take the form of an oak screen in the belfry of Crayford Church, where the late Mr. Barnett served so faithfully as parish clerk and leader of the ringers for many years.

Donations to the fund will be gratefully received by Mr. F. M. Mitchell, hon. secretary, 114, Sun Lane, Gravesend, and cheques and postal orders should be made payable to 'Barnett Memorial,' and crossed 'Lloyds Bank, Gravesend.'

A SOUTH AFRICAN RINGER.

REV. H. F. DE LISLE LOSES HIS LIFE.

One of the few ringers in South Africa, the Rev. H. F. de Lisle, has recently lost his life. He was Rector of Paarl, in the diocese of Capetown. While camping with his family on the coast near Cape Point, he went out to fish from the rocks and did not return. A protracted search of the sea and coast yielded no result, and it is beyond doubt that he was washed off the rocks and drowned.

Mr. de Lisle was a graduate of Lincoln College, Oxford, and was ordained in 1896 to the curacy of Whitwell. He came to the Cape in 1905, and in addition to varied parish work had served with distinction as chaplain to the Forces, and as a reformatory and gaol chaplain. For ten years he was in charge of St. Mark's, in the worst of Cape Town's slums, and had for the last year been Rector of Paarl. His ringing in South Africa was done at St. Mary's, Woodstock, Capetown. He was in England on a visit a few years ago and took part in ringing in a number of towers.

Mr. de Lisle was a skilled and courageous mountaineer, and, soon after his coming to Paarl, twice led a party to the rescue of a coloured boy who had fallen on to an all but inaccessible ledge, in face of cruel weather conditions, and at the hazard of the rescuers' lives; ascending the mountain a third time to read the burial office over the boy's companion, who had been lost in a deep ravine.

The Coadjutor-Bishop wrote of him in the 'Cape Times': 'From the battlefield, where he served with devotion, from the gaol where as chaplain he proved a true friend and comforter, from his city parish where he laboured with utmost patience among the poorest, will come countless testimonies to this large-minded, generous-hearted priest. Fearless, intrepid and utterly self-denying, Frederick de Lisle, not merely once or twice, but in many emergencies, proved himself of that calibre which renders a man able, as occasion demands, willingly and gladly to lay down his life for his friend. Among the poor there will be great mourning and deep sorrow for one who really loved them.'

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—If we adopt the very old suggestion once again revived by the Rev. E. S. Powell, are we not on dangerous ground once more? Why stop at Grandsire Triples? How many variations are rung week after week under other people's names, which, after all, are only original compositions slightly varied. Surely the recent Stedman variation correspondence is quite enough to resolve that this old worn subject should remain buried for all time.

MOTIONS.

11. That this Council deprecates the breaking up of church bells renowned for their tonal qualities and historic interest, urges Church authorities not to assent to their destruction except for the gravest reasons, and furthermore recommends that independent expert advice be obtained in all such cases before action is taken.

Proposed by Mr. F. E. Dawe, seconded by Mr. E. A. Young.

12. That this Council uses its influence to encourage five and six bell companies to ring their peals in more than one method. It also urges them to include, whenever possible, at least seven methods in their peals.

Proposed by Mr. G. R. Newton, seconded by Mr. A. Tomlinson.

13. That peals of Minor shall in general consist of seven or more separate extents rung consecutively and without interval. That compositions arranged on what is known as the 'Baukes James principle,' notwithstanding that they do not conform to the above definition, shall be recognised as peals.

Proposed by Mr. Stephen H. Wood, seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

14. That a peal of Minor should consist of seven true and complete round blocks of 720 changes each, in a recognised method or methods, rung consecutively and without interval, rounds thus occurring at the beginning and end of and at regular intervals throughout the peal.

That a peal of Doubles should consist of 42 true and complete round blocks of 120 changes each, in a recognised method or methods, rung consecutively and without interval, rounds thus occurring at the beginning and end of and at regular intervals throughout the peal.

That peals as above may be lengthened by the addition of one or more true and complete round blocks of 720 (or of 120) changes each fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one true round block having less changes.

That any departure from the above standards is not encouraged; notwithstanding this, however, a peal of Minor or of Doubles may consist of any arrangement of 5,040 changes in a recognised method or methods, provided that no change is rung more (or less) than seven times in a peal of Minor, or 42 times in a peal of Doubles, and that the whole starts from and ends with rounds. Such a peal may be lengthened, provided that no change is rung more than once for each additional 720 (or 120) changes, and that the whole ends with rounds.

Proposed by Mr. C. T. Coles, seconded by Mr. E. M. Atkins.

15. To fix the place of next year's meeting.

16. Other business, if any.

ENGLISH BELLS IN JERUSALEM.

MISS NORA JOHNSTON OPENS NEW CARILLON.

The inauguration of a carillon of bells in Jerusalem in 1933 has a religious and historical significance.

Thousands of people from all parts of the world are voyaging this year on a pilgrimage to Palestine, in commemoration of the nineteenth hundredth anniversary of our Lord's death, and no more fitting season than this Easter could have been chosen for the opening in the Holy City of the new Y.M.C.A. building with its belfry. A contingent from New York includes Mr. E. W. Ramsey, international general secretary of the American Y.M.C.A., Miss Jarvie and other distinguished visitors.

The great edifice, an American gift, is a noble example of modern architecture, situated on a hill overlooking the plains of Lebanon and the River Jordan. Its unique and lofty tower rises in graceful lines to a height of 185ft., and is surmounted with a cupola in truly oriental manner.

In the tower now hangs a splendid carillon of 35 bells, the product of the Gillett and Johnston foundry at Croydon, and the first notes of the bells were sounded at dawn on Palm Sunday, when Miss Nora Johnston, who has travelled to Jerusalem to give a series of recitals, gave the inaugural concert—the occasion on which a carillon of bells has been heard in the Near East.

At the same time, a service was planned and a pilgrimage took place to Bethany and the Mount of Olives. Two more carillon concerts and a recital on the great organ in the new building—all on Palm Sunday—brought to a close the preliminary services.

All through Easter week, carillon recitals by Miss Johnston and Capt. van Geyseghem, lectures, sports events and receptions, form the ambitious programme of the organisers, whilst the actual dedication of the building takes place on April 18th, the Tuesday in Easter week, when Field-Marshal Viscount Allenby will be the chief speaker.

The American Y.M.C.A. authorities have paid a graceful tribute to their English friends, in arranging that Lord Allenby, who led the British troops into Jerusalem in the Great War, should be the central figure in the coming celebrations, and a miniature bell is to be presented to the Field-Marshal on the important day.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At Newport Pagnell, on Saturday, April 1st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. Rung with the bells half-muffled for the late Mr. James Harris, a former ringer of the tower: R. H. Hall 1, E. Witlock 2, J. Mapley 3, H. C. Beard (conductor) 4, R. Abrams 5, E. Lathall 6, W. F. Smith 7, R. Howson (first quarter-peal) 8.

THE LAW JAMES MEMORIAL.

About £55 is still required to complete the memorial to the late Rev. H. Law James. There are probably associations and guilds in the country, several of which are meeting in the course of the next few weeks, who would like to be associated with this national scheme, promoted by the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. Contributions should be sent to Mr. Rupert Richardson, Master of the Guild, Glyn Garth, Surfleet, Spalding.

CLOCKS.

Messrs. John Smith and Sons, Ltd., of the Midland Clock Works, Derby, have just completed the erection of a new Westminster chiming clock at the Parish Church of St. Editha, Tamworth, Staffs. This clock shows time on the existing 6ft. diam. dial and chimes the hours and quarters on the ringing bells, which have a tenor of approximately 22½ cwt.

Other work on hand includes a large automatically wound striking clock with four 6ft. diam. illuminating dials for the Memorial Tower, Kingston Parish Church, Jamaica, and provision is to be made for the addition of quarter chimes at a later date. An eight-bell chiming clock with one specially designed skeleton dial for Denstone College, Staffs, a large hour striking clock for Long Whaddon Church, Loughborough, and many others are in course of manufacture by this well-known firm.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY, CLUN, SHROPSHIRE.FUTURE ELECTIONS TO BE APPROVED BY VICAR.

The annual meeting was held on March 23rd, when the Vicar, who is president, presided. There was a good attendance of members. The treasurer presented the balance sheet, which showed a substantial balance in hand. The president appointed the Rev. P. Jenkins chaplain, and Mr. F. A. Watkins was re-elected captain.

Mr. W. Mead, who was founder of the society, and has been hon. secretary and treasurer since its institution, said that owing to infirmity he was reluctantly compelled to resign the hon. secretaryship. The meeting, in recognition of the tremendous amount of work he had done for the church and ringing at Clun, unanimously decided he should be a vice-president.

Mr. F. Wolley was elected hon. secretary, and Mr. W. Mead was re-elected hon. treasurer. Probationers elected were the Rev. P. Jenkins, Messrs. E. Richards, V. Griffiths, J. Turner and S. Morris.

The election in the tower prior to a peal of Messrs. G. Martin, G. Lindoff, W. Henley, E. Barnett and J. H. Riding as life ringing members was ratified, but the President said that in future any names must be submitted to him before election.

Mr. Mead asked the society to accept an old bell from Bettws-y-Crwyn Church, which had been given to him.—The President, on behalf of the society, thanked Mr. Mead, but pointed out to him that such gifts should be made to the Church Council, and Mr. Mead agreed to do this.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. and Mrs. Mead for their kindness in allowing the meeting to be held at Warner Cottage.

A SUGGESTION FOR 'FIRST PEALERS.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have read with interest the various letters which have appeared in the recent issues of 'The Ringing World' relating to 'Peal Grabbers,' etc., and whilst not attempting to express any opinion on these matters, I venture to suggest that out of this controversy there arises a unique opportunity for our associations to lead the way and at the same time reap some of the benefits. After all, it has many times been stated in 'The Ringing World' that a 'first peal' in a method is recognised as an achievement and a mark of progress, so why not encourage the ringing of 'first peals'? It is an old saying 'Take care of the pence and the pounds will look after themselves,' so why not 'Take care of the first peals and the hundreds will look after themselves'?

Briefly, my suggestion is as follows: Let the associations set aside, say, 10 minutes at every meeting for the acceptance of applications from their members who desire to have an opportunity of ringing first peals. A committee could be formed to deal with these and arrange the various attempts. It would, of course, be necessary to set a certain standard which must be reached before an application may be made, and as the committee will be fairly well acquainted with their own members, they will know, to a certain extent, each one's capabilities. Numerous other ways of dealing with these are apparent, but perhaps someone with more knowledge of these matters can improve on this rough idea. Every ringer who is a ringer at all is a member of one or more associations, and, as such, will have the future of ringing at heart. It is this fact which prompts me to send the above suggestion, in the hope that someone more gifted than I in these matters will enlarge upon the idea for the benefit of ringing generally.

'INTERESTED.'

MUFFLED BELLS.

At St. Matthew's Church, Bristol, on Sunday, March 26th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with bells half-muffled at backstroke as a mark of sympathy with Mr. J. V. Parker, Vicar's churchwarden, whose only daughter passed away earlier in the day: Lionel Burt (first quarter-peal) 1, T. Harris 2, W. Brown 3, G. F. Hill 4, G. S. Radnedge 5, W. H. Parker 6, H. B. Burt (conductor) 7, C. E. Day 8. The ringer of the treble is aged 13 years, and was congratulated by the other ringers on the manner in which he handled his bell.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Will those who ring peals on Easter Monday kindly post off their reports to 'The Ringing World' the same night—it will help to save congestion in our peal columns in the following weeks and disappointment at delayed publication.

There was to have been another endeavour at Painswick on Easter Monday for a record peal of Grandsire Cinques, but illness near the church has rendered it necessary to postpone the attempt. The contemplated length was 17,195 changes.

Owing to ill-health, Mr. William Willson, vice-president of the Midland Counties Association, has decided not to stand for re-election to that office, nor as a representative on the Central Council.

Bell founders do not always live a placid life. For example, between noon on Thursday and Saturday evening in last week, Mr. Cyril Johnston travelled 500 miles and attended three bell dedications—on Thursday in Somerset, on Friday in Kent and on Saturday in the south-west corner of Sussex.

We regret to announce the death, after a very brief illness from pneumonia, of Mr. E. E. Burgess, of Taunton, who for 19 years was general secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. Mr. Burgess was laid to rest at his birthplace, Selworthy, near Minehead, on Monday.

The annual meeting of the Worcestershire Association is to be held at Worcester on Easter Monday, and during the proceedings a handsome tablet, recording a peal of Stedman Cinques rung at the Cathedral on May 16th, 1931, conducted by Mr. Francis E. Dawe, will be unveiled in the ringing chamber. The tablet is the gift of Mr. Dawe, and it is hoped that as many as possible of the band who took part in the peal will be present.

WRINGTON CHURCH TOWER.

Those who know this glorious tower set among the Somerset hills will appreciate this poem, written on Sunday, April 2nd, by an author who prefers to remain anonymous:—

The quiet grey tower
Standing below the hills,
The cottages and farms and mills
Scattered all around,
How many centuries thus
Have you surveyed
The lives of those who live
Within the shadow of your walls.

The bells which cast their voices mellow
Across the valley
Ring out with joy,
Or may be the muffled tone
Of them is heard,
Then on the clustering houses
A quietness falls.

At night the darkening sky
Becomes a background
For the lonely, slender outline
Of the tower.
Those whose toil is done
Lie peacefully at rest
Below;
The pinnacles above,
The way to Heaven show.

THE LATE MR. A. E. PARSONS.

OLD HILL RINGER LEAVES £17,000.

The late Mr. Albert E. Parsons, of Old Hill, Staffs, a prominent member of the Worcestershire Association, left estate valued at £17,353 (net £16,532).

He left £100 to William Priest (chauffeur) in recognition of his services, and the residue on trust for his wife for life, and then £250 to augment the income of the curate of Holy Trinity Church, Old Hill; £250 to the dilapidations fund of that church; £500 each to the Scripture Gift Mission and the Church Pastoral Aid Society, and the remainder as to 30 per cent. on trust for his sister, Kate Parsons, for life, then to Holy Trinity, Old Hill, for the dilapidations fund, 30 per cent. upon trust for Charlotte Boliver if still in the service of his wife at her death for life, and then to the Royal Orphanage, Wolverhampton; 15 per cent. on trust for his niece, Enid K. Parsons, for life, with remainder to augment the stipend of the curate of Holy Trinity, Old Hill; 15 per cent. on trust for his niece, Leonora R. Parsons, for life, with remainder to the Church Pastoral Aid Society, and the remaining 10 per cent. on trust for his sister, Miriam Parsons, for life, with remainder to the Scripture Gift Mission.

He directed that on the death of the survivor of his wife and sister Kate his residence and the bulk of his furniture be used as a residence for the curate of Holy Trinity, Old Hill, and that certain furniture be given to Charlotte Boliver.

PORTSEA'S NEW BELLS.

MUNIFICENT GIFT OF BARRON BELL FUND TRUST.

On Saturday, an ideal spring day, a large gathering of ringers was attracted to the dedication and opening of the recast and rehung ring of eight bells at St. Mary's Parish Church, Portsea. The church is one of the largest and most beautiful parish churches in England and has always been considered the 'nursery of future bishops.' The present Archbishop of Canterbury (Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, D.D.) was its former Vicar (1896-1901), and he was preceded by the Rev. Canon Edgar Jacob, who was afterwards Bishop of Newcastle and then Bishop of St. Albans. It was whilst he was Vicar of Portsea that the present magnificent structure was erected, the present Archbishop of Canterbury being a curate under him. Yet still another bishop comes from this huge parish; he is the present Bishop of Winchester (Rt. Rev. C. F. Garbett), who was Vicar of Portsea from other trustees to help to restore the bells. The result was astounding and the offer to completely recast and rehang the bells as a gift was accepted with complete gratitude. The work was entrusted to Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and has been carried out with their usual complete thoroughness. The new bells have been hung in a new iron frame some 25ft. lower in the tower than the old ring, and are surrounded by a complete soundproof arrangement in the windows. All the sound of the bells has now to go up some 30ft. before reaching the louvres, and the bells thus make less noise in the immediate neighbourhood. All those present at the opening were unanimous in the opinion that the 'go' and tone of the new bells (tenor 17 cwt. 0 qr. 7 lb. in F) is nothing short of excellent.

The inscriptions on the new bells are as follows:—

Treble, 5th, 7th and tenor: 1889. Recast 1933.

2nd, 3rd, 4th and 6th: 1764. Recast 1933.

PARISH CHURCH OF

ST. MARY, PORTSEA.

1909-1919). He was first appointed to the Bishopric of Southwark in 1919 and succeeded to the See of Winchester in 1932. The church was always considered to be the future Cathedral of the Diocese of Portsmouth, but it fell to the lot of the ancient Parish Church of St. Thomas-a-Becket to fill this role when the diocese was formed in 1926.

The former ring of eight bells, which did duty from 1889 till 1932, were of a mixed variety. They were taken from the old church and were cast by the Whitechapel Foundry in 1764 as a peal of six. When the present building was completed, a new treble and tenor were added and the old 4th and tenor were recast to complete the octave. So that of the ring of eight the 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 6th were 1764 bells and the remainder 1889. It was during the early summer of last year that it became evident that these bells, which were hung in an oak frame some 70ft. above the ringing chamber, would be unsafe to carry out the duties required of them. The tower was consequently closed for further ringing until such times as financial opportunities presented themselves to restore them. The parish is a very large one, comprising 40,000 souls, and also a very poor one, and it was reluctantly felt that the bells, owing to this, must perforce remain silent for, perhaps, some considerable time. As this tower was considered the home of Surprise ringing in that area of Hampshire (the first peals of Yorkshire, Lincolnshire and Pudsey Surprise Major by the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild having been rung here), this was a severe blow to the ringers concerned.

However, things did not work out as expected, and when it was brought to the notice of Mr. F. Hopkins (senior trustee of the Barron Bell Fund Trust), he promised to do his best towards getting the

In addition on the tenor is the inscription:—

DEDICATION.

The dedication was performed on Saturday by the Archdeacon of Portsmouth (the Ven. H. N. Rodgers), and was attended by ringers from Christchurch, North Stoneham, Bishopstoke, Brighton, Hughton, Crawley, Worthing, Ryde, Ventnor, Godshill, Fareham, Hambledon, Godalming, Guildford, Haslemere, Petersfield, etc. Mr. F. Hopkins (senior trustee of the Barron Bell Fund Trust) was present with his wife, and Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough) represented the bellfounders. A large congregation attended the service, and, following the hymn, 'Jesus, where'er Thy people meet,' the Archdeacon addressed the gathering.

He spoke of the uplifting power of church bells upon the inhabitants of city, towns and villages, their sound being used as a universal expression both of joy and sorrow, as well as many other national feelings. They also played a tremendous part in church life as a reminder, and sometimes as a reproach, to worshippers. St. Mary's was a great church situated in a great city, and its tower, dominating the homes of the city, was, he thought, symbolical in a way of the Church's position. They had assembled that day to dedicate to the

JOY BELLS AT ELKSTONE.

RESTORATION OF AN ANCIENT RING.

Sunday, April 2nd, was a happy day at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, Elkstone, when Bishop Palmer came to dedicate the recast third bell, and gave an inspiring address from the words of the inscription, "All hail."

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. T. S. Tonkinson), assisted by the Rev. W. C. Curtis, who acted as Bishop's chaplain, and the Rev. H. H. Twcedy, Rector of Miserden.

The large congregation included a representative gathering of ringers from Painswick, Prestbury, Swindon, Minchinhampton, Leckhampton, Badgeworth and Charlton Kings, who were afterwards entertained to tea by Mr. F. Blowing and the local band of ringers.

The original appeal was for £103, to thoroughly strengthen the frame and rehanging the bells on ball bearings, but when they came to take down the bells, one of them, which had been recast by Rudhall in 1719, was found to be cracked in the crown. This necessitated recasting.

Elkstone, though, is fortunate in possessing a church of exceptional archaeological interest, being the finest specimen of Norman architecture on the Cotswolds, with a tower built in the 14th century and, moreover, two ancient bells of special interest, they having been originally cast by Rudhall in 1657, during the time of the Interregnum.

This being so, generous support was elicited from many members of the Bristol and Gloucestershire Archaeological Society.

The work of restoration has been carried out with characteristic thoroughness and to entire satisfaction by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the well-known Whitechapel firm.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

SEELY OAK REVISITED AFTER 20 YEARS.

After a lapse of more than 20 years, St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham visited St. Mary's Church, Seely Oak, Birmingham, on Saturday, April 1st, for their quarterly meeting. The cause of the long absence was that the bells were not ringable. This reproach has now been removed, for last year the bells were recast and rehanged. The church and ringers are to be congratulated on now possessing a nice musical peal of eight. The ringers, too, are to be commended for the improvements they themselves have made in the ringing chamber. Everything is now nice and clean, and it was particularly pleasing to the older members of the Guild to again visit the tower and note the improvements.

The bells were raised at 3 o'clock and kept going in various methods, ranging from Grandshire Triples to London Surprise Major, until 5 o'clock, when an adjournment was made for tea, at which the curate (the Rev. R. Cooling) presided in the absence of the Vicar, who had another engagement.

A short business meeting followed, the Master (Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A.) in the chair. He thanked the members for again electing him Master, and said he would continue to do all he could in the interests of the Guild. He was unable to attend the last annual meeting owing to his engagements at Lincoln.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Castle Bromwich on Saturday, July 1st.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to Mr. W. B. Cartwright for making the local arrangements and to the ladies who served tea. Mr. Cartwright, in responding, said it was a real pleasure to do what he could to make the visit enjoyable.

Owing to a special service in the church, ringing had to cease at 7 p.m., so the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse. One party of four joined in a game of snooker, the Ringing Master and secretary being on opposite sides. The game was a fairly even one, the result depending on potting the black.

glory of God a gift of great treasure and responsibility, and he hoped that the bells would, as he was sure would be the case, be rung with skill and devotion to God's praise and service. Their own Diocesan Guild of Bellringers was a part of the Church's strength, and he wished it all prosperity in its unique and highly skilful work.

The lesson, taken from Ephesians, was read by the Rev. T. B. Randolph, M.A., and, following the hymn, 'Christ is made the sure Foundation,' the dedication ceremony took place. It was conducted by the Archdeacon, accompanied by the Vicar (Canon G. C. L. Lunt, M.A., M.C.), the churchwardens, clergy, choir and bellringers. Immediately after the ceremony the ringers ascended to the ringing chamber and rang a short touch. The service concluded with the singing of the hymn, 'Unchanging God, Who livest.'

After the service the visiting ringers adjourned to the Church Hall for tea, being the guests of the St. Mary's ringers. At the conclusion the Vicar welcomed the visitors and invited them to try the new bells. He asked them to regard Portsea bellry as being always available to ringers to further strengthen and foster the comradeship of the art. The ringers then visited the tower and rang touches in all the standard methods as well as Superlative, London and Bristol and Spiced Surprise in four methods.

Will all ringers make a note that the tower will be open again for general ringing on Saturday, May 13th,

RINGING BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY.

ADVANTAGES ENJOYED IN MANCHESTER.

Few public libraries have anything like an extensive collection of books concerning church bells and bellringing, but Manchester is fortunate in the possession of quite a large number of works on the subject. They are housed in the Henry Watson Music Library, but can be borrowed through any branch of the Manchester Public Libraries. Readers not resident in Manchester or Salford can make use of the books by providing a guarantor who is on the register of local government electors of Manchester or Salford or whose name appears in the current Manchester Directory.

THE STANDARD OF MINOR RINGING.

While with some bands the standard of peals of Minor has reached a high level, as witness the frequent ringing of seven Surprise methods or the splicing of anything up to thirty or more methods into seven 720's, there has been evidence for some years that too many ringers have been content to rest satisfied with a considerably lower standard of performances. The motion which is to come before the Central Council at their next meeting inviting the Council to use its influence to encourage five and six bell companies to ring peals in more than one method, and, wherever possible, to include at least seven methods, is, therefore, a timely one. In these days, when method ringing has reached a stage far in advance of anything contemplated at the beginning of this century, it seems strange that there should be rung such a large number of peals of a standard which would have been looked upon almost with disdain fifty years ago. When Jasper Snowden was alive and Yorkshire was a great centre of six-bell ringing, anything less than seven methods for a peal of Minor was practically unheard of. In this respect, therefore, we have gone backward, and it is time something was done to try to reduce the number of peals on five and six bells rung in only one method.

We know that it will be argued that the capacity of beginners is often limited to one method and that they ought to be encouraged to ring peals even if their ability is confined to this minimum. Also, we shall be asked whether it is any worse for a five or six bell band to restrict their peals to one method than it is, say, for an eight bell band to do so. By all means let young ringers be encouraged to ring a peal in their one method, if that is the limit of their initial capacity; the objection is to their resting satisfied with one method and never doing anything beyond it. That is pure stagnation, and it should be the endeavour of every band to get away from that condition, which eventually leads to decay. Bands whose opportunities of ringing are limited almost wholly to five and six bell methods ought continually to be striving to add to their 'repertory'; indeed, every company, no matter how many bells they have at their disposal, ought to be imbued with this spirit, but there is a difference between the six-bell bands and those who ring on higher numbers. The more bells there are the more difficult, generally speaking, the ringing becomes, method for method. There is, for instance, far more in ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples than in ringing a peal of Grandsire Doubles. And if there is little excuse for the company who have rung a peal of Grandsire Triples advancing no further than that method, there is still less for the band that has rung a peal of Grandsire Doubles or Bob Minor to practise nothing else.

As to question whether it is any worse for a five or six bell band to ring only one method in a peal than for an eight bell band to do so, the two performances are not quite on the same footing. On seven or eight bells or more the inclusion of more than one method introduces a different and more advanced factor; it involves 'splicing,' which is a totally different thing to starting each fresh method from rounds, as can be done in a seven method peal of Minor. There is nothing to be said against those more advanced ringers who, having mastered a number of methods, make a departure by ringing a 5040 in one method, such as a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor; what is to be discouraged is the frequent ringing of peals in one method by companies who are content to remain on the lower rungs of the ladder and seem disinclined to try to mount higher. The motion before the Council should ventilate the views of all classes of ringers, but we feel there will be general agreement on it in principle. If it is passed, however, the influence of the Council must be exercised through the associations, who could doubtless do a great deal were they to apply themselves to the task.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DORCHESTER BRANCH'S GREAT MEETING.

In glorious spring weather the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild held their quarterly meeting at Buckland Newton on Saturday week. A motor-coach left Weymouth and picked up ringers at Upwey and Dorchester. The journey was made via Pyddletown, where they viewed Waterston House (of Thomas Hardy's novel, 'Far from the madding crowd'), and Pyddlehinton, where they were met and welcomed by the Rector (the Rev. W. G. Newman), who conducted the party over his Parish Church, and where the tower and five old bells were inspected. The journey was continued to Buckland Newton, where several members had met early, for the purpose of obtaining good practice, with the renowned North Dorset 'fans.'

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. S. Field), and the address given by the Rev. A. S. Bryant (Rector of Upwey). The church was almost filled, the choir was in attendance, with Mrs. Field at the organ. Tea was partaken of on the Vicarage lawns, and the quarterly meeting followed, a great feature of it being the large representation present. The Devon Guild was represented by Mr. G. C. Woodley (Sidmouth), Bath and Wells by Messrs. L. Davis, W. Laver and W. Osborn (North Cadbury, Somerset). Among those also present were Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (chairman of the Devizes Branch), Mrs. Heginbotham and E. Heginbotham (Devizes), and ringers of North Dorset Branch from Bishop's Caudle, Kingston Magna, Hazel Bryan and Long Burton, of Wimborne Branch from Bournemouth, St. John's and St. Peter's, of West Dorset Branch from Bridport, Bradpole and Evershot, and of the local branch from Bradford-Peverell, Buckland-Newton, Dorchester, Sydling, Stratton, Upwey and Wyke Regis. A good number of clergy came with their ringers, and, with honorary members, brought the total up to about 70.

In the absence of the chairman (the Rev. E. S. Tarrant) through indisposition, the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry) took the chair. Apologies for absence were received from the Revs. F. L. Edwards and C. A. Phillips, and Messrs. W. Bedford, E. Hutchings, W. Hewlett, F. J. Howard, J. Orchard, R. J. Tompkins and H. A. Runyard.

Messrs. V. E. Hussey, Hastings, Middleton and J. W. Taylor were elected hon. members.

Reporting on future meetings, the hon. secretary said an invitation had been received from the Wimborne Branch to attend their quarterly meeting at Wimborne St. Giles', the seat of their president (the Earl of Shaftesbury), on April 22nd. The annual festival would be held at Dorchester St. Peter's on Tuesday, May 16th, a bye meeting, by kind invitation, would be held at Bere Regis, and the next quarterly meeting at Wyke Regis in July, notice of which would appear in due course in 'The Ringing World.'

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

WREXHAM, NORTH WALES.—At St. Giles' Parish Church on Sunday, April 9th, for afternoon Confirmation service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: A. Lea, sen., 1, F. Mitchell 2, P. Cross 3, F. Evans (conductor) 4, J. Capper 5, A. Lea, jun., 6, W. Cathrall 7, A. Hodges 8.

This is the first quarter-peal of Cambridge for Sunday service at this church.—On Sunday, April 2nd, for evensong, the local band rang a course of London Surprise Major: H. Ridgway 1, J. A. Green 2, T. Roberts 3, F. Case 4, L. Smith 5, G. Cooper 6, R. Foddy 7, A. J. Green 8. The first course of London by all.

SHEFFIELD.—On Sunday, April 9th, for evening service at St. Marie's, Norfolk Row, Sheffield, 1,329 Grandsire Triples in 55 mins.: C. H. Lake 1, J. Osguthorpe 2, G. Lewis 3, T. O'Hara 4, G. Holmes 5, R. Harrison 6, R. Harrison, jun., 7, H. Hurst 8. Composed and conducted by Mr. George Lewis, and rung to celebrate the marriage of his daughter Elsie on the Saturday previous. It contains the 24 6-7's in the handstroke position.

The secretary commented upon the fact that the chairman had been in the Dorset County Hospital, and they would be pleased to know he was enjoying improved health. Mr. W. Williams (captain of the West Lulworth band) was, he regretted, still in hospital after seven weeks, as the result of serious injuries received when he fell down the belfry steps, after ringing for evensong. The secretary also made feeling reference to the passing of an old member, Mr. T. Page, of Brondwey. He added that he hoped Charnminster bells would be ready by the festival.

The Chairman moved a comprehensive vote of thanks, and especially referred to the kindness of the Vicar and Mrs. Field for providing the tea and the warm welcome they always received at Buckland Newton.

The Vicar, replying, said it was a pleasure, and they always looked forward to a visit from the Guild.

The Chairman, on behalf of the branch, gave the visitors a hearty welcome.—Mr. G. C. Woodley (Devon Guild) and Mr. C. D. Heginbotham responded. The latter told one of his amusing good stories in dialect. The meeting ended, the members again repaired to the belfry, where excellent practice was obtained until late in the evening. The following methods were rung: Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent, Double Court and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

RIPON CATHEDRAL BELLS.

GIFT OF A NEW RING OF TEN.

Ripon Cathedral and its bells will no doubt bring back war memories to a large number of ringers, for during 1914-1918 a large training centre for soldiers was established between Ripon town and Studley Royal, and the Cathedral, or Minster as it is known locally, was the venue of many 'church' parades. To the ringing of the bells, playing of bands and skirling of the bagpipes, troops used to parade in the square adjoining the Cathedral before entering for divine service.

The sound of that clanging peal will be heard no more, but in its stead a musical ring of ten bells will ripple forth its melodious tones over the market place and the extensive parish of nearly 50,000 acres.

The former ring was of very mediocre tone and comprised six bells by Lester and Pack, 1761, two by Warner's, 1866, and two by Shaw, of Bradford, dated 1891. The Dean of Ripon, the Very Rev. Charles Mansfield Owen, was desirous of having the peal made more worthy of the fine old Cathedral, and the work was entrusted to Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who have been associated with so many of the fine peals in the towers of the Cathedrals and other important churches throughout the country. The entire peal has been recast, and in the south-west tower of Ripon Cathedral there is now a grand ring of ten bells, tenor weighing 23 cwt. 0 qr. 24 lb. in E flat, hung with modern fittings in a strong and massive cast iron frame.

THE BELL TOWER AT RIPON CATHEDRAL.

This unusual glimpse of the south-west tower of Ripon Cathedral, containing the new peal of ten bells, reveals some of the beautiful architecture of the exterior of the nave. The photograph is by Mr. F. E. Dawe.

The dedication service took place on Saturday, April 8th, by the Dean of Ripon, who was assisted by Canon Tuckey and Canon Garrod, both Canons Residentiary, and also by Canon Marshall (president of the Yorkshire Association and Vicar of St. Chad's, Far Headingley), who preached the sermon. Canon Marshall first voiced his appreciation of the opportunity given to him of speaking on the occasion of the dedication of the bells as they came back to the Cathedral tower, and to their ministry in that tower after being recast and rehung in an entirely new frame. He appreciated the opportunity, because it came to him, not merely as an individual, but rather by virtue of his position as president of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers. He referred to the founding of the Yorkshire Association 58 years ago by Jasper Whitfield Snowden, who did so much not only in fostering bell ringing—a peculiarly English Church art—but in advancing the status of change ringers and bringing about much needed bell reform. Canon Marshall said he was particularly grateful that the Dean had not only asked him to preach at that service, as representing the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers, but had asked his advice and help in the work undertaken and now accomplished. He went on to speak a word of gratitude to the benefactress of the Cathedral who had made the work possible by her generosity. Any gift which concerned the bells of the churches was a singularly appropriate one, because the bells were so closely connected with the work of the Church and because they sounded forth Sunday by Sunday their message of joy and praise and their witness to the eternal things of life. He said that in the recast bells they had an example of the best that modern bellfounders could give in the accomplishment of their art.

At the conclusion of the service, by kind invitation of the Dean, the visitors were entertained to tea, when speeches were made, Mr. E. Denison Taylor responding to the toast of 'The Bellfounder.'

In addition to the Ripon and local ringers from Sharow, representatives were present from Sheffield Cathedral; St. Michael's, Headingley; St. John's, Darlington; Bradford Cathedral; Selby Abbey; St. Hilda's, Middlesbrough; Kirby Stephen; Saltburn and other towers. The visitors will no doubt treasure the photograph, nicely mounted, of the Dean and Canons with the newly recast bells, which was thoughtfully placed upon each plate at the tea table.

Each of the bells bears the stamp and name of John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, and in addition the following inscription appears upon the tenor bell:—

TO THE GLORY OF GOD

AND

IN MEMORY OF HER PARENTS, BROTHERS AND SISTERS,

THE BELLS

OF THIS CATHEDRAL WERE RECAST AND THE

BELFRY RESTORED

BY

JULIA WHITE, OF HUGHFIELD, RIPON,
1932-1933.

CHARLES MANSFIELD OWEN, DEAN.

GEO. WATTS GARROD, JOHN BATTERSBY HARFORD, ARTHUR
HERBERT WATSON, JAMES GROVE WHITE TUCKEY, CANONS RESIDENTIARY.

EDWARD WALLACE WINNER, SECRETARY TO THE CHAPTER.

The handling of the ropes is excellent, and the sound of the bells both inside and outside the tower reveals the wonderful transformation which has been effected in the process of recasting, and the Loughborough firm is to be congratulated in completing the work in a manner so eminently successful.

And thus is added in the County of Broad Acres another glorious peal of ten, other peals from the same foundry being those at Bradford Cathedral; Beverley Minster; St. Mary's, Beverley; Holy Trinity, Hull; St. Giles, Pontefract; Selby Abbey; Rotherham Parish Church; Huddersfield Parish Church; and the noble rings of twelve at York Minster and Leeds Parish Church.

Whilst the restoration of the bells has been taken in hand the clock work has been thoroughly reconstructed, the dial repainted and regilded. This work has been carried out by Mr. Charles Potts, of Marshall Mills, Leeds.

THE LATE MR. EDGAR ERNEST BURGESS.

As already briefly recorded, the death occurred on the 6th inst. at Greenway Avenue, Taunton, of Mr. Edgar Ernest Burgess, at the age of 62 years. The deceased was hon. general secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for 19 years, retiring in 1925, when members of the association presented him with a watch and also made him a life member in recognition of his valuable services.

The funeral service was held at St. Andrew's Church, Taunton, when a large congregation assembled to show their respect. He was laid to rest in that lovely village churchyard at Selworthy, West Somerset, 28 miles west of Taunton, Selworthy having been his birthplace and where also he learnt to handle a bell. A large number of floral tributes were sent from various organisations to which he had belonged and others he still actively supported, including one from the Diocesan Guild, St. James' Guild, Taunton, and from the Dunster Deanery.

After the interment, Selworthy bells rang out half-muffled, as did the bells of St. James', Taunton, to his favourite method, Stedman. Mr. Burgess, never a great believer in peals, rang altogether 55, conducting one each of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. The other methods in which he rang peals were Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich. He joined the St. James' band, Taunton, in 1894, and rang there regularly up to 1925. He was also a member of St. Andrew's, Rowbarton, Church choir for well over 20 years, and was very seldom absent from his duties.

Mr. Burgess was a bachelor and leaves in bereavement three brothers and two sisters, who have received numerous expressions of sympathy.

DEATH OF VETERAN DORSET RINGER, AN OLD COLLEGE YOUTH.

Mr. Thomas Page, formerly a well-known London ringer, who was elected a member of the Society of College Youths on January 28th, 1868, has just passed peacefully to his rest at the age of 84. Mr. Page was a well-known and highly respected resident of Broadwey, Dorset, where he lived at Summer Close after his retirement from the Railway Clearing House, London.

As an enthusiastic bellringer, he was naturally attracted to Upwey Church, where he was the means of reviving interest in the art of bellringing. He was elected a member of the first Church Council in 1920, and served until failing health prevented him from undertaking the journey. He belonged to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. His name figures on the peal boards in many of the church belfries in London and Dorset.

At the funeral service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. Walder), at Broadwey on Tuesday week, the tower of St. Peter's, Dorchester, was represented by Messrs. J. T. Godwin, G. T. White, W. J. Simons and R. Hayward. Mr. C. H. Jennings, the hon. secretary of the Dorchester Branch, was prevented from attending by illness, and sent a message 'Saluting the memory of a true and loyal servant of the Church and a good bellringer.' The bells of Upwey Church were rung half-muffled on the previous Sunday.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

A very enjoyable meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Springfield on Saturday, April 8th, when 20 members were present from eight towers. A service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. Colwyn Hargreaves), who gave a helpful address.

At the business meeting it was arranged to hold the next meeting at Maldon (All Saints') on Saturday, June 10th. The Master of the association referred to the death of the Rev. H. F. de Lisle in Cape Town, and said what a great help he had been to the association in years gone by.—The members stood in silence as a token of respect.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and his warm welcome, and also to the organist for his services and the local band for having everything ready, was passed, and members returned to the tower for further ringing.

STAGSDEN, BEDS.—At St. Leonard's Church on April 4th, 720 Bob Minor: T. Welch 1, S. Clark 2, H. Welch 3, P. C. Bonnett 4, P. L. Bazley 5, R. West (conductor) 6. First 720 in the method by ringers of 1, 2, 3 and 5. First 720 Bob Minor on the bells. All are members of the Staggsden company with the exception of the conductor.

MUFFLED BELLS AT ALSAGER.

On the evening of Monday, April 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells deeply muffled at Christ Church, Alsager, as a token of respect to the late Sir Ernest Craig, Bart., who passed away the previous day.

Sir Ernest was at one time an honorary member of the Crewe Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild and took a great interest in the Alsager bells.

The quarter-peal was rung by R. Hodgkinson 1, E. Moseley 2, E. Harper 3, B. Fernyhough 4, J. Brassington 5, E. Peake 6, F. E. Corfield (conductor) 7, R. Moseley 8. First quarter-peal for the ringers of the treble and 2nd, first quarter-peal away from the treble for the ringer of the 6th, and first quarter-peal for the ringer of the 7th as conductor. With the exception of the ringers of the 3rd and 5th, the band consisted of the usual Sunday service ringers.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

One of Yorkshire's stalwarts, Mr. Sam Thomas, who was cut off in his prime some years ago, is to be commemorated by the restoration and augmentation of the bells at Rammoor Church, Sheffield, where he did much valuable work in the cause of ringing.

Twenty-two years ago last Monday, the record peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus (12,240 changes) was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne in 8 hours 39 minutes. The tenor was turned in by Mr. James George.

THE BELLS OF MERTON COLLEGE.

FAMOUS PEAL TO BE OF HOURLY USE.

The fine peal of bells in Merton College Chapel, Oxford, which hitherto has been heard only five times a year, has been linked up in an original way with a new time-keeping installation, and will now be heard every hour.

Although a bell is, of course, rung for chapel, the full peal has only been rung on the anniversaries of the King's accession, the King's birthday, the King's coronation, the Queen's birthday and the Prince of Wales' birthday, all of which occur in the summer term.

The bringing into constant use of the bells has been made possible by the installation of 'Synchronome' electric clocks, the first installation of the kind to be made in any Oxford University building.

There was an old clock in the Quadrangle erected by Thwaites, of Clerkenwell, in 1813, sounding ting-tang quarters on bells which were quite unworthy of this, the oldest college in Oxford. After a century of service, it has been scrapped, and the hands of the 5ft. dial are now driven by an electrical impulse dial movement from a Synchronome Master Clock in the Porter's Lodge.

In this system there is no necessary association between the clock and the bells except the electric wire connecting them, and, therefore, Mr. Hope-Jones, M.I.E.E., F.R.A.S., suggested that the fine old bells should be used for quarter chiming and striking, although the chapel tower is some distance away from the clock in the Quadrangle. He recommended the adoption of the Canterbury quarters, partly on account of the close historical association between Merton and Canterbury, but mainly because of their suitability for the bells themselves, which constitute a perfect E flat octave.

The origin of the bells is lost in the mists of antiquity. They are first mentioned in the college accounts of 1238, and Henry de Abyndon, who was Warden of Merton from 1421 to 1437, gave £20 towards a new peal of bells.

In 1657, the existing peal of five ancient bells was melted down and cast into eight bells. These, however, did not prove satisfactory, and were again recast by Christopher Hodson and rehung in 1681, and have remained to this day.

The Westminster quarters are not heard in Oxford. One suspects that this is due to their Cambridge origin, but, whatever the reason, it is a pleasant change to get away from that somewhat hackneyed tune. Undoubtedly the Canterbury chimings are more devotional. They are based upon the eighth Gregorian tone and were composed by the Rev. Canon Holmore, the Precentor of Canterbury, at the request of Dean Farrer in 1897, on the occasion of the celebration of the 13th centenary of the landing of St. Augustine, A.D. 597.

Life has always moved slowly in this seat of learning, and whilst there may be neither the wish nor the need to speed it up, there is no merit in unpunctuality. The clocks' chorus from Oxford towers at each hour is a long drawn out performance, lasting several minutes. It is fitting that the oldest college should provide the solo in this chorus, and impose, in commanding tones, true time measured by a Synchronome pendulum.

A SOMERSET RESTORATION.

TICKENHAM CHURCH BELLS REHUNG.

Tickenham is a little village near Nailsea on the Bristol side of Clevedon, and on Thursday, April 6th, an evening service was held for the rededication of the ring of six bells by the Ven. the Archdeacon of Bath and Wells.

Tickenham has an interesting history with its 13th century church and the remains of a cloister which ran to the ancient monastery. The upper story of this ancient building has a magnificent oak roof and has been converted for the use of a sketch club under the leadership of the Rector, the Rev. G. P. Packer, himself a skilful and enthusiastic artist.

After proceeding to the tower for the dedication ceremony, the Archdeacon delivered a striking address, his text being 'I am a man under authority.'

After the service some excellent ringing was shared by Messrs. Bye, Morgan and the Tickenham band, Mr. T. Wyatt (Clapton), representatives from Portishead, Nailsea, Long Ashton, Clapton and Mr. Cyril Johnston, of Croydon.

A pleasant and successful evening was brought to a close with handbell ringing of sundry varieties in another building in the village.

The bells are a ring of six, with a tenor weighing 15 cwt. They have been rehung on ball bearings, the frame has been strengthened and general repairs undertaken by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have carried out most successfully a restoration requiring considerable skill and care.

THE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN.SUDDEN DEATH AT NEWBURY.*COLLAPSE IN THE STREET WHILE LISTENING TO BELLS.

It is with the very deepest regret that we record the death, under tragically sudden circumstances, on Monday, of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, of Broadlands, Caversham, Reading, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. His passing removes from our midst another prominent figure whose labours for something like forty years have been devoted to raising the standard of ringing and elevating, in the opinion of both ringers and clergy, the position occupied by the former in their relation with the Church.

In many directions the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn exerted his influence to further the art of ringing, not only in his own diocese of Oxford, where his advice was constantly sought by the clergy and diocesan authorities, but outside, where his counsel was welcomed and valued.

His unexpected death will be a great blow to the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of which he had been Master for nearly 24 years, and to the Central Council, of which he was the Honorary Librarian; but he died in harness and while listening with critical ear to the last peal of bells augmented in his diocese.

On Sunday fortnight two new treble bells added to the old octave had been opened and dedicated at Newbury Parish Church. His clerical duties had prevented Mr. Jenkyn attending the service, but on Monday he availed himself of the first opportunity that presented itself of visiting Newbury to hear the new ring of ten. It was the occasion of an 'open' ringing meeting, and a considerable number of ringers availed themselves of the opportunity. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn joined them in the afternoon and appeared to be quite all right. He took part in a touch of Grandsire Caters, in which he rang the second, and when the bells stopped he remarked, 'What a lovely peal; I must go outside and listen to them.' He got about a hundred yards away from the tower when he collapsed in the street and died in a few moments. Mr. H. W. Curtis, who is hon. secretary of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Guild, and who had conducted the last touch, is also an ambulance man, saw a crowd collecting, and, on running to the spot, unaware until he arrived who it was that had fallen, was horrified to find that it was Mr. Jenkyn, who had left him at the bottom of the tower only a few moments before.

The tragic event was a great shock to all the ringers assembled at Newbury, and the belfry was, of course, immediately closed.

The Rev. Cyril Walford Osborn Jenkyn was born at East Garston, a Berkshire village, where his father was Rector for a great many years, in 1874, and he had celebrated his 59th birthday on the 8th of this month. He was educated at Marlborough.

Mr. Jenkyn had not been in really good health for some time. During the war he was badly gassed, and during the last two years this experience revealed its unhappy effects. For some time during last winter he suffered from laryngitis, and as a result was unable to attend various functions, but the real trouble lay in a weakened heart. On Good Friday he conducted the three hours' service at one of the Reading churches. On Easter Day he assisted at a very early celebration and was also the celebrant at 8 a.m. service. He rang in the morning at St. Laurence's Church, and with Mrs. Jenkyn attended the service, and in the evening he rang and worshipped at Caversham.

On Monday, up to the time of his fatal seizure, he spent an active day. In the morning, accompanied by Mrs. Jenkyn and his sister, he went by car to the woods near East Garston, which he loved so well, enjoyed their spring beauty in the sunshine and gathered primroses. He returned to Reading, which is more than 20 miles distant, to lunch; listened for a couple of hours to a peal of Stedman Cinques which was in progress at St. Laurence's Church, and then returned to Newbury to hear and try the new bells. He was welcomed to the tower by the assembled ringers, and, in response to inquiries as to his health, said he was feeling better. Having taken part in a three-course touch, he went down to hear the bells from outside, and, as mentioned above, collapsed and died almost at once.

He graduated B.A. at Trinity College, Cambridge, in 1895, and was a student at Wells Theological College in 1896. In 1897 he was ordained deacon and became curate of Waltham St. Lawrence, Berks. In the following year he was ordained priest, in 1899 became curate of Witney, and took his degree of M.A. in 1900. He remained at Witney until 1910, when he was appointed chaplain of Queen Anne's School, Caversham, which office he filled up to the time of his death, but from 1915 to 1919 he served as a chaplain of the Forces, reaching the rank of Major. His gallantry in bringing in wounded under fire in the Ypres Salient gained for him the award of the Military Cross in 1916.

In his younger days Mr. Jenkyn was a fine oarsman, and he retained his interest in this sport to the last. For many years he was one of the officials at Henley Regatta, at which he frequently served as a timekeeper. When at Trinity he rowed in his college eight and was awarded his Blue, but did not row in the inter-varsity race, being the reserve man. He remained for the rest of his days a member of the Leander Club and took a keen interest in the Reading Rowing Club, of which he was at one time president.

He took an active interest in Freemasonry and was chaplain of the Caversham Lodge. He had also been Provincial Grand Chaplain of Oxfordshire. Among the public services which he rendered was that of chairman of the Reading Tuberculosis After-Care Committee.

CAMBRIDGE DAYS.

He first learned to handle a bell while quite a boy at East Garston, where there is a little peal of six, and afterwards he got further practice at Lambourne on the ring of eight, but his experience at that time did not extend beyond call changes.

His real interest in ringing began in his Cambridge days, and while at Trinity College he became a member of the Cambridge University Guild, with whom he rang his first peal on April 17th, 1894. It is a sad coincidence that his death took place on the 39th anniversary of this performance. The peal was the first rung by the University Guild on tower bells and took place at Sawston. It was Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by the Rev. H. Law James, the others taking part in addition to Mr. Jenkyn being the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, the Rev. C. A. Clements, Messrs. G. F. Woodhouse, E. B. James, C. E. Earle Bulwer and W. J. Conybeare. In 1893 Mr. Jenkyn was secretary of the Guild, and in 1894 and again in 1896 was elected Master. Nearly every year from the time of its inception Mr. Jenkyn took part in the annual tour of the University Guild.

In most of his peal ringing Mr. Jenkyn was to be found at the heavy end, and he had rung the tenors at Bow and Southwark to peals, as well as the tenth at St. Paul's Cathedral. He took part in several clerical peals, including one at Darlington and another at Bishop Auckland by eight members of Cambridge University Guild, and the 'first peal on ten bells by ten priests of the Church,'—a peal of Stedman Caters at Warwick in 1910. His last peal, we believe, was rung at Kingston, Dorset, during the Somerset and Dorset tour last year.

The interest in ringing which his Cambridge experiences inspired laid the foundation of the wonderful work which he afterwards did in the diocese of Oxford, and when, in 1909, the Rev. F. E. Robinson passed to his rest, Mr. Jenkyn was elected Master of the Guild, having for two years previously filled the office of Deputy Master. How well he has for the last 24 years discharged those duties is too well known to need any lengthy comment at this moment. From the first Mr. Jenkyn threw himself with wholehearted enthusiasm into the task. He visited every part of the wide scattered diocese, he spent his energies in furthering the objects of the Guild and the interests of the ringers, and as the years went by so the love of the members for their Master grew. His passing will sever a link of friendship which has been strengthened by time, and there will be a deep sense of loss in many a tower to-day.

Apart from the influence which he exerted and the encouragement which he gave throughout the diocese, Mr. Jenkyn was an able administrator, and it was largely through his clear-sighted guidance, which, incidentally, he was only too ready to attribute to others, that the Oxford Guild has reached its present flourishing condition. He was a model chairman and presided over the annual meetings of the Guild with an ability that few could surpass. He had the gift of expressing himself in terse but pointed phrases, and he never wasted words. He was as fond as most ringers of a good peal, but he did not put peal ringing first. He was able to conduct peals, but he was always ready to leave that department of ringing to others. He did far more than this. In his own words at the jubilee gathering of the Guild, he had endeavoured to offer to the Guild and diocese just those gifts which he felt he had and which he wanted to use in the right way.

WORK FOR THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

And it was by the exercise of these gifts that he did so much valuable work in his own diocese and for the Central Council, upon which he served for so many years, having been elected as a representative of the Guild in 1905. While he was Master of the Oxford Guild he lost no opportunity of urging upon church authorities the importance of putting and keeping their bells in order, and, as a result, the number of rings in the diocese which were unringable had been reduced to a very small proportion. Few men, outside those professionally engaged in the bellhanging craft, had more knowledge of the technical side of this work than Mr. Jenkyn, and his advice was sought and accepted by the Oxford Diocesan Advisory Board on all matters relating to church bells.

It was in this capacity as an adviser also that he gave valuable assistance to the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council. For years he had been the hon. librarian, and in this role not only stored the valuable library of the Council in his own house at Caversham, but had acted as its publisher. The office was created in 1913, and Mr. Jenkyn has been the only occupant. It was he who compiled the memorial book containing the names of all the ringers who, as far as could be ascertained, made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. This beautiful volume is now deposited in the library of St. Paul's Cathedral. Mr. Jenkyn also acted as hon. treasurer of the Stedman Tercentenary Commemoration Fund, a position which he undertook at the request of the Editor of this journal, before the scheme had been placed before the Council. His help in this capacity was one of the factors which led to the great success of the undertaking.

In August, 1931, Mr. Jenkyn acted as 'padre' of the pilgrimage made by ringers to the Merin Gate, where he conducted the impressive service that will long remain engraved on the memories of those who were privileged to take part in it.

There is no one who has come in contact with the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn who will not mourn his death. He was a man of competence, of tolerance and broadminded views, of courage and of affability.

His life was gentle; and the elements

So mix'd in him, that Nature might stand up

And say to all the world,

'This was a man!'

To the widow, who has been so suddenly bereaved, the whole Exercise will extend its heartfelt sympathy.

The funeral is to take place to-day at the little village of East Garston, near Newbury, at 12.30 o'clock. The Rev. Canon Coleridge will officiate. At the same hour the 'Caversham' Lodge of Freemasons will hold a memorial service at St. Peter's Church, Caversham.

It is requested that all communications in respect of the Central Council's publications and library be, for the present, addressed to the honorary secretary, Mr. G. W. Fletcher, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex.

DOVER BELLS TO BE BROADCAST.

The bells of St. Mary's Church and also the Zeebrugge bell, which was presented to Dover by the King of the Belgians, are included in the broadcast which is to take place on St. George's Day (April 23rd) and the anniversary of the Zeebrugge raid in memory of the famous Dover Patrol.

It is understood that the B.B.C. are relaying the broadcast to various parts of the Empire, including Australia.

GLoucester AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION THE DAVIES' MEMORIAL SCHEME.

At the annual general meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association held at Gloucester on Easter Monday, when over 70 members attended, it was resolved to proceed forthwith with the scheme for the memorial at Tewkesbury Abbey to the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies. In addition to providing £75 towards a Ringers' Chapel, and adding two trebles to complete the ring of twelve bells, it is proposed to tune the existing ten, provided that the Parochial Church Council will be responsible for half the additional cost.

Use was made during Monday of the several peals of bells in Gloucester placed at the disposal of the members, and although it was regrettable that the Cathedral bells were not available, much good has been done by the help of the Mayor of Gloucester, who has obtained the promise that the Dean and Chapter will carefully reconsider a previous ruling and allow more ringing upon the bells. A Ringers' service was held in St. Mary de Crypt Church at 2.30 p.m., conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. M. Camus.

At the business meeting, held in the Spread Eagle Hotel, the Master (Mr. J. Gould) presided, supported by Mr. S. Romans (vice-president) and the Rev. Noel Hope.

The Master, in his report, stated that 47 peals had been rung and that a pleasing feature was that 21 conductors had taken part. He congratulated the Minchinhampton Guild upon having rung London Surprise and York Surprise Minor during 1932. He was grateful to the hon. secretary (Mr. E. Guise) for having secured, with the help of other Bristol ringers, a band of Sunday service ringers at Emmanuel Church, Clifton. He also thanked all those who had contributed to the Davies Memorial.

The hon. secretary reported that an objection to ringing had been laid before the Lord Bishop of Bristol, and that his lordship had supported the association in the matter. The hon. secretary urged that all precautions should be taken to avoid any complaint. He also emphasised strongly the need of support to 'The Ringing World.' An appeal on behalf of the journal had been sent to every Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association tower, and he hoped that many members had become new subscribers. The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts showed a successful financial year.

The Central Council representatives gave an interesting report of the meeting at Plymouth last year, Mr. Rose and Mr. Austin giving lengthy reports. Mr. E. Guise, endorsing the reports, stated that the Rules Revision Committee's suggestions were gratifying, as that was the point upon which the association succeeded in 1929. There had been severe criticism through 'The Ringing World' upon the action of the association, but it was somewhat assuring that the critics had, too, realised that revision was necessary.

PROPOSED RETUNING OF TEWKESBURY BELLS.

The report of the Davies Memorial Committee stated that £75 had been handed to the Vicar of Tewkesbury to proceed with the chapel portion of the memorial, and they recommended proceeding with the bells forthwith. They further recommended that the existing ten bells should be tuned and that the association should keep the subscription list open for half the amount of extra money required if Tewkesbury Parochial Church Council provide the other half. The hon. secretary stated that the Memorial Fund had reached £220.

It was unanimously agreed that the whole scheme be proceeded with. A sum of £15 was voted from the association funds towards the £250 and its additional sum for tuning the existing ten bells as a first donation.

Regarding the question of the border lines between the branches, this will be further considered to the best advantage of the association by the branches.

All the officers were re-elected, as were also the Central Council representatives—Messrs. J. Austin, W. Rose, E. Guise and E. Bishop.

For the next annual meeting (in 1934), Cirencester was chosen on Easter Monday, 1934.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. J. M. Camus, Mr. Harris and all those who had helped to make the meeting a success was unanimously passed. Tea and further ringing brought the day to a successful end.

During the meeting the Mayor of Gloucester attended and welcomed the association to Gloucester. He assured the members that all his efforts would be made for the continuance of the old English art of bellringing.

A SCOTTISH QUARTER-PEAL.

On April 4th, at the Cathedral Church of St. Mary, Edinburgh, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples on the back eight (tenor 42½ cwt.): A. Mauran 1, H. Russam 2, W. Heathcote (conductor) 3, M. A. Simpson 4, A. G. Collinson 5, J. Irwin 6, C. R. Raine 7, A. Burman 8. Longest touch by all the ringers except the conductor and A. G. Collinson.

TERCENTENARY OF THOMAS TOMPION.

BELLRINGERS ASSIST IN HONOURING CLOCKMAKER.

There was a distinguished gathering at St. Mary's Church, Northill, Bedfordshire, on Saturday, April 1st, when a memorial plaque was unveiled to Thomas Tompion, 'the father of English watchmaking.' The plaque is the gift of the Clockmakers' Company, and is of marble. It bears beneath the armorial bearings of the Clockmakers the inscription: 'The Worshipful Company of Clockmakers, in the year of their tercentenary, 1931, commemorate their Master of 1704, Thomas Tompion, the Father of English Watchmaking, who was born in this parish and died in 1713, aged 74 years, and was buried in Westminster Abbey. One of those who were honoured in their generation and were glorified in their times.' Under, in Latin, is 'Tempus Rerum Imperator,' or 'Time the ruler of all things.'

The plaque was unveiled by the Master of the Company (Mr. Bernard Kettle) at a special service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. Curling Dunn), and an address was given by the Archdeacon of St. Albans, after the Master had delivered an eulogy of the work of Tompion.

Ringing was a feature of the day at Northill. The five bells rang the congregation into church, and, after the service, ringing was continued well into the evening. Ringers were present from Bedford, Biggleswade, Clifton, Everton, Sandy Roxton and Henlow, together with the Northill band Mr. C. J. Hall, district secretary, and Mr. C. F. Johnston, of Croydon, who also attended as a member of the Worshipful Company of Clockmakers.

In Westminster Abbey on the same afternoon Sir Francis Newbolt, Deputy Master of the Clockmakers' Company, laid a wreath on Thomas Tompion's tomb. Tompion was born in Northill in 1649, and began life as a blacksmith, but afterwards became the foremost clock and watchmaker in the country, being appointed Clockmaker to the Royal Observatory when it was founded in 1676.

He would appear also to have done some bellfounding, for it is said that he cast a bell for Northill, while he is also reputed to have made the clock which still marks the hours in Northill Church.

In 1751 George Graham, Tompion's former apprentice and partner, was buried in the same grave in the Abbey.

SPELDHURST BELLS RESTORED.

A DOUBLE SERVICE BY THE BISHOP OF ROCHESTER.

On Friday evening, April 7th, the ring of eight bells at St. Mary's Parish Church, Speldhurst, was rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Rochester.

The fine old church appears to be in perfect condition, and it is interesting to note that one of the churchwardens, Mr. C. W. Powell, J.P., D.L., who is a cousin of the Chief Scout, has been responsible in a great measure for the restorations of the church from time to time, and that his family has had a long association with the church and the bells, the treble bearing the names of two past members of the family some 50 years ago.

For the joint service a full congregation was in attendance, including some 70 candidates for Confirmation. Immediately at the close of the dedication of the bells, the Bishop addressed the candidates and proceeded to their Confirmation. The procession of 40 girls, all dressed in white, headed by the Rector, the Rev. J. H. Masters, as they filed into the church, gave a picturesque touch to a ceremony intimately connected with the bells.

The usual dedication rounds were rung by the local band, and the first touch after the service was a 504 of Grandsire Triples by Messrs. Moon, A. Maynard, Still, Turley, Denton, V. Maynard, Collins (of Croydon) and E. Turley, sen. Mr. Cyril Johnston also took part in subsequent ringing, which continued till 9 p.m.

The bells are a peal of eight, with a 13½ cwt. tenor in F sharp. No. 7 has been recast and the whole peal tuned by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and the marked improvement in the tone and effect of the peal was the subject of much comment and satisfaction to the village of Speldhurst.

The Sheffield and District Society wish to make an appeal for funds to place in Ranmoor Church, Sheffield, a fitting memorial to the late Mr. Sam Thomas. Ranmoor Church authorities have decided to have their bells recast and also to add two trebles, thus making a ring of ten bells. The two new trebles are to be dedicated as a memorial to the late Mr. Thomas for the good work he did in advancing the art of campanology.

The society have promised to assist in getting funds for the scheme, and would be very grateful for any donations, however small, which will be thankfully received and duly acknowledged by the Hon. Sec.:—M. E. Wilson, Hon. Sec., 221, Hanover Street, Sheffield (3).

A GREAT EXAMPLE.

There have been few men in the Exercise who have filled a more useful place in it than he whom we have just lost. The death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn removes a commanding figure from the ranks of ringers, one whose passing will leave a gap not easily to be filled. It is not only in the Oxford diocese, where his work and his personality have been the mainspring of ringing activity, that the loss will be felt, but in a wider sphere. As Librarian of the Central Council he filled an office of considerable importance, but the value of his services was not so much in what he actually did—although that was no mean contribution to the welfare of the Exercise—but in the influence which he wielded and which he exercised in the highest interests of the art. Mr. Jenkyn believed in nothing but the best, in ringing as in every other thing, and he never ceased to preach that only the best ringing should be given in the service of the Church. And with him the best ringing for this purpose did not necessarily mean method ringing. 'Better to have good rounds than bad changes when ringing for service' was one of the maxims which he unceasingly urged—it is one which all ringers would do well to adopt.

In the Oxford Diocesan Guild Mr. Jenkyn will be sorely missed. He had built up, upon the love and esteem of the members, a position unique in the Guild. He had no easy task before him when in 1909 he succeeded the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, who, master from the foundation of the Guild, had done so much by ringing performances to build up the fame of the society. Mr. Jenkyn made no attempt to copy the ways of his predecessor. He had the courage to set his course in other directions, in which, as he himself said, he could offer to the Guild and diocese just those gifts which he felt he had and which he wanted to use in the right way. It was not a simple matter, but how well he succeeded the wonderful progress of the Oxford Diocesan Guild has shown. Mr. Jenkyn never spared himself and he kindled an enthusiasm in others which was infectious. His services were ever at the call of the branches, and, if need be, of the individual towers, and only those in close contact with him know the time, the patience and the skill he devoted to furthering the art in that great diocese of Oxford which covers three counties.

It is for others to speak of him as a priest of the Church, but his devotion to his work is well known to all those most nearly associated with him. In addition to filling his appointment as Chaplain of St. Anne's College, he gave his help in many churches in the diocese, and his Sundays were as full as those of any parish clergyman. As a Chaplain of the Forces in the war he was loved by the men, and on the field of battle he showed himself equally ready with them to make the sacrifice if need be. For his bravery under fire he wore the Military Cross; his death is directly traceable to his war time experiences. Gassed in the war, his heart was affected, and to-day we mourn the loss of one who in the truest sense was a priest and a man. He has left us a great example. If every ringer could be imbued with something of his keenness and enthusiasm to give of his best in the interests of the art, ringing would reach a far higher standard, and ringers themselves become a more earnest body than they are at present; apathy and indifference would disappear, and the Exercise would take a new lease of life.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT NORWICH.

The annual festival of the Norwich Diocesan Association was held at Norwich on Easter Monday. The ring of bells at St. Peter Mancroft, St. Giles', St. Michael-at-Coslany and All Saints' were, by the kind permission of the incumbents, placed at the disposal of the members from 10 a.m. The association recorded with regret that permission had again been refused for the use of the bells at St. John de Sepulchre. Special service was held in the Church of St. Peter Mancroft at 12.30 p.m., and was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Hugh McMullan, M.A.). The lesson was read by the president (Ven. G. M. MacDermott, M.A.), and the address was given by the Rev. Richard E. V. Prichard, M.A., Rector of Knapton-with-Paston, who gave an impressive and inspiring discourse on the text taken from Isaiah xlviii. 6, 'Thou hast heard, see all this: and will not ye declare it?'

After the service the members assembled for luncheon at the Bell Hotel, Orford Hill, the president (the Archdeacon of Norwich) presiding, supported by the Rev. Hugh McMullan (Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft), the Rev. Richard E. V. Prichard (Rector of Knapton), Mr. Charles E. Borrett (vice-president), Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (general secretary and treasurer), Messrs. W. L. and W. C. Duffield, and ringers from Aylsham, Attleborough, Buxton, Diss, Fakenham, Great Bentley (Essex), Hethersett, Ipswich, Knapton, Lowestoft, Norwich, Palgrave, Paston, Saxlingham, Wroxham, Wymondham, Great Yarmouth, etc.

The President proposed the toast of 'The King.'

Mr. William C. Duffield, proposing 'The Bishop and Clergy,' said the association owed them a great debt. The association had had a large amount of help from them, and now had some of the very best officers they ever had. It was a great privilege to ring at St. Peter Mancroft, and they thanked the Vicar (Rev. Hugh McMullan) for allowing them year after year the use of his bells on Easter Monday. It was a privilege to ring the bells for service, which was the primary use of the bells, and while the bells were rung regularly for church services he thought the present happy relations of the ringers with the clergy would continue.

Rev. Hugh McMullan, responding, said thanks were not due to him. The boot was on the other foot altogether. It was always a great privilege and pleasure to him to welcome the diocesan ringers there on Easter Monday, and let them have the use of the bells of St. Peter Mancroft as far as ever they wished (applause). Sometimes, however, it did begin to get just a little bit wearisome in his study, and really the noise was that morning so much that he thought it would be better to go to the service than stick in his study (laughter). It was always a pleasure to do anything he could for bellringing in Norwich. There was nothing he appreciated more in their church life and in the great Church of St. Peter Mancroft than those bells, when there was music coming from them and not noise. It was a marvellous inspiration, one he held in the highest regard, and one he should foster with all his power while he was incumbent of that church (applause).

On the motion of the president, a vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. R. E. V. Prichard for his address at the service, and also to the incumbents of St. Peter Mancroft, St. Giles', St. Michael-at-Coslany and All Saints' for the use of their bells.

The meeting then proceeded to transact general business. The general secretary and treasurer presented the annual report and balance sheet for the year 1932, which was adopted on the motion of the Rev. H. McMullan, seconded by Mr. W. L. Duffield.

When the next item on the agenda, that of electing the president, was reached, the Archdeacon said: 'It need not be a parson, need it?'

Rev. Hugh McMullan: I am going to stop the Archdeacon talking (laughter). He is all right at times, and all wrong at others (laughter). There is only one person for the office of president, and I propose his re-election.—Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (general secretary and treasurer) seconded the proposition, which was carried unanimously and with enthusiasm.

The Archdeacon of Norwich, in acknowledgment, said that anything he could possibly do to further the interests of the association he would be only too glad to accomplish.

The vice-presidents were re-elected on the motion of Mr. A. L. Coleman, seconded by Mr. W. C. Duffield. Mr. Arthur L. Coleman was re-elected general secretary and treasurer, on the motion of Mr. C. E. Borrett (vice-president), who declared that there was only one possible person for that office, and they thanked Mr. Coleman for all he had done for them in the past.—Mr. J. G. W. Harwood (hon. secretary of the East Norfolk Branch) seconded the motion, which was carried. Mr. G. P. Burton was re-elected hon. auditor, and Messrs. C. E. Borrett, A. L. Coleman and F. Nolan Golden representatives on the Central Council.

Miss Helen W. Bill, Messrs. George Bailey, James Taylor, Arthur G. Bason, Albert G. Harrison, Robert W. Cooke and George Love were elected members of the standing committee.

Mr. Richard T. Woodley moved, and Mr. George A. Cooke seconded, a notice of amendment to association Rule III., 'so as to have two elected members from each branch of the association on the elected members of the standing committee.'

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING APPROVES CENTRAL COUNCIL RULES.

Mr. Robert Howard presided at the annual meeting of the Hertford County Association at the Abbey Institute, St. Albans, on April 17th. Prior to the meeting, members attended evensong at St. Albans Abbey, at which an address was given by the Vicar of St. Stephen's, St. Albans (the Rev. H. O. Cavalier).

The following hon. members were elected: Mr. R. G. Cousins (Woodford) and Miss L. M. Wheeler (Enfield Park). Messrs. J. Harrison (Little Mundon), A. E. Rushton (Luton), J. E. Lewis Cockey (Harrow), G. Radford (Kenton) and W. A. Scarratt, F. Steward and R. French (Oxhey) were elected ringing members.

The report of the hon. treasurer (Mr. E. P. Debenham) was received and adopted, and showed a balance in hand of £15 10s. 4d., as compared with £18 3s. 8d. last year. The Benevolent Fund has £8 6s. 6d. to its credit—an increase of £1 18s. on last year's figure.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

The Hon. Secretary, in his interesting report, said: We are forty-eight to-day. So let us wish ourselves 'Many happy returns.' According to ringing achievements, each year seems to be progressive. Although our number of peals rung is lower, we have to our credit fifty-three upon tower bells, the methods rung being of infinite variety and compositions of high standard. Most noticeable is the number of members who have rung their first in a new method, and others their first peal. Two peals in new methods for the association have been rung at Bushey, viz., Lincolnshire Surprise Major, conducted by Mr. H. G. Cashmore, and Original Major, consisting of 5,760 changes, conducted by Mr. Maurice Hibbert. It is claimed that this peal is the second in the method yet rung, and a footnote to the peal adds that it contains the maximum number of calls yet rung in a peal, viz., 825. We congratulate both conductors and the bands upon this achievement, especially Mr. Hibbert, who has added further proof of his skill as a conductor. A peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major was also rung at Aldenham, and a peal of Rutland Surprise Major at Bushey Heath, both being the first in the method by the entire band, and rung at the first attempt. The Freemasons' peal of Stedman Caters at St. Peter's, St. Albans, is worthy of mention, because it commemorated the fiftieth anniversary of the initiation of Worshipful Brother E. P. Debenham, P.G.D., P.P.G.W., in the Halsey Lodge, and also as a birthday compliment. I feel sure you will join in congratulating the Braubling Society on their first peal of Grandsire Doubles, conducted by Mr. Oliver Barnard, and Mr. W. K. North and his band for the peal of Grandsire and Bob Doubles, conducted by him at Westmill. Six peals have been rung upon handbells, four peals of Bob Major, three conducted by Mr. Ayre, and one by Mr. Rupert Richardson: a peal of Stedman Caters and a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major both conducted by Mr. H. G. Cashmore. The latter peal is the outstanding feature of the year. It is the first for the association, and the first ever rung. The long peal of Bob Major, the attempt for which has been notified by our East Herts friends, has not yet been rung; but if optimism is a factor towards success, we shall yet have the pleasure of congratulating our friends in due course. It does not fall to the lot of many to have rung in one tower for fifty years, and for thirty years as leader, but this distinction has fallen to Mr. H. Golding, of the Hemel Hempstead tower. It is a record of which he may worthily be proud, and we offer congratulations to him upon his unique and worthy accomplishment. The report went on to record the loss of several members by death.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Referring to the Central Council, the report stated: It is generally agreed that the Central Council is an important and necessary part of our ringing organisation to-day. It has produced an excellent list of publications, dealing with method construction, collection of peals, bellfy rules, preservation of bells. It has ten committees working in various ways, and one of the most important of these is the Towers and Belfries Committee. The technical and expert knowledge of this committee is at the command of clergy and ringers, and it is ready to give advice on the strains and stresses of moving bells, strength of towers and frames. Those of you who read 'The Ringing World' have been interested in the articles by Mr. E. H. Lewis, the president of the Central Council, much of which was a revelation to many. The Council is also observant in answering the outbursts against ringing which is occasionally reported in the Press, and this and many other activities, some of which I have mentioned, (Continued on page 263.)

This concluded the general business of the meeting, and the members then adjourned to the various belfries.

An interesting 'touch' at St. Peter Mancroft was rung before the service in the morning. This consisted of 264 changes of Grandsire Cinques, and among those taking part were Frederick and William Tillet and Miss Phyllis Tillet—three generations of a celebrated Ipswich family of ringers. Another ringer in this 'touch' was Mr. Robert H. Brundie, also of Ipswich, and an original member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, who has rung at St. Mary-le-Tower with five generations of the Tillet family.

is work that should be gratefully acknowledged by all affiliated associations. The sub-committee appointed by the Central Council to consider the new schedule of rules has now reported, and these have been published in 'The Ringing World.' As they will come up for discussion at the Central Council's annual general meeting at Whitsun, it may be well to mention the three main changes suggested:—

- (1) The constitution is changed in principle from a Council of individuals to a Council of affiliated societies;
- (2) Representation of territorial and diocesan societies will be in future on a definite limited numerical basis of membership; and
- (3) Societies' affiliation fees will be based on membership and not upon the number of representatives elected to the Council.

The first alteration will place the Central Council in the position of being the central and representative organisation of all ringing associations, a change which will strengthen the whole body of ringing associations.

The second deals with the basis of membership in connection with representation. This rule presents difficulties which are not, however, insurmountable, and can be adjusted in course of time if necessary. The difficulty is in dual membership, but this can be overcome, probably, if the membership is based upon county or diocesan residential qualification.

The third point is in connection with representatives. Hitherto an association, although entitled to send more than one representative, need only send one, and pay for that one only. It is now proposed that whether you send your full quota of representatives to the annual general meeting or not, the fee for each will have to be paid. The incentive of every association will be, I trust, to send its full complement of representatives, but although this may be an impossibility to some by reason of expense, probably representatives may be found willing to go at their own charges.

Continuing the report referred to 'The Ringing World': At the meeting of the Central Council at Plymouth last year, a resolution was passed calling upon all affiliated associations to use their best endeavours to increase the circulation of our journal. In endeavouring to carry out this suggestion, a circular was sent to all towers in the county, signed by our president and myself, urging definite action in carrying out the resolution. If the appeal meets with the desired success, the Editor has promised not only a better, but a larger journal. May I appeal for your support of our journal, for a larger circulation would mean greater interest aroused and definite progress in our art. Personally, I think the chief difficulty for many years has been in the price of the paper. Under present circumstances it cannot be lowered in fairness to the proprietor. Might I suggest, however, that each leader of a tower personally approaches his band upon the question, and forward the result of his enquiries to the Editor. If concerted action could be taken, and the leader became the distributing agent for his tower, I believe the circulation could be increased and also maintained if a reduction in price could be made possible.

THE BENEVOLENT FUND.

Bellfounders have been busy during the past year in rehanging and renovating various peals. At Tring, Miss Bright, in memory of her parents, has caused the peal to be rehung in ball bearings, and the frame and other appurtenances thoroughly overhauled. This generous act of Miss Bright is greatly appreciated by the parishioners, especially the ringers.

After referring to the work of the districts the report went on to say: Interest in our benevolent fund is gathering, and this is due to our district secretaries having discussed the question at their meetings. Although every tower was circularised when the scheme was launched, in some places its existence appeared to be unknown. The horizon is certainly clearer, for which we are thankful, and we look forward to the future without misgivings. The report concluded with thanks to the clergy, the hon. members and districts.

The report was read by the hon. secretary (Mr. G. W. Cartmel) and adopted.

On the proposition of Mr. C. H. Horton, it was decided 'that the financial year of the association end at 31st December instead of at Easter.'

The new draft rules of the Central Council were unanimously approved.

Mr. A. Shepherd (Hatfield) was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, and thanks were expressed to the retiring president (Mr. R. Howard) for his services.

Other officers were elected as follows. Hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Cartmel; hon. treasurer, Mr. E. P. Debenham; hon. librarian, Mr. G. Debenham; hon. auditor, Mr. W. Mercer; district secretaries for Northern, Eastern, St. Albans, Watford and Western Divisions, Messrs. D. C. Mears, W. H. Lawrence, W. Nash, C. H. Horton and W. Ayre, the latter being also elected representative on the Central Council.

The meeting concluded with votes of thanks to the Rev. H. O. Cavalier for his address, and to the Vicars of St. Peter's, St. Albans, and St. Michael's, St. Albans, and the Dean of St. Albans for the use of the bells, and the steeplekeepers for their services.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We regret that pressure on our space compels us to hold over a number of reports. They will appear in due course.

The new tenor bell for the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, London, was recast at the Croydon Bell Foundry on Wednesday in the presence of a distinguished gathering.

The marriage will take place at Holy Trinity Church, Cold-Ash-ton, to-morrow, of Mr. Stephen H. Wood (son of Canon and Mrs. G. R. Wood) and Miss Margaret Mary Lennon.

For the second time in history 35 Minor methods have been spliced into one peal of seven true extents. This was rung on Saturday at Chelford, Cheshire, and the band are to be congratulated upon a wonderful performance. For five of the band it was the first peal in 35 methods, and for the other it was the first peal in this number of methods away from the treble. The first peal in 35 methods was rung at Norbury, Cheshire, in 1923.

Mr. William Pye has now rung peals in 500 different towers, completing this number at Leeds on Easter Monday. With his brother, Mr. G. R. Pye, he has rung twelve-bell peals in 41 towers, whilst Mr. C. T. Coles has rung peals in 40 twelve-bell towers.

A new ringing society has been formed—the N.O.P.G. If readers cannot guess what these initials stand for, there is a report in another column which will enlighten them.

Mr. J. Hemming, secretary of the Southern Branch of the Worcestershire Association, has been elected an alderman on the Borough Council of Evesham.

Mr. William Bishop, who joined the Parish Church choir at Little Milton, Oxfordshire, in 1857, and became one of the bellringers ten years later, is still an active member of both organisations. He has thus been a chorister for 75 years, and a ringer for 65.

Congratulations from a large circle of friends will be extended to-morrow to Mr. William Arthur (affectionately known as 'Billy') Hughes, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry, on his coming of age.

At the annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association on Easter Monday Mr. William Short, who for a great number of years has rendered immense service to ringing in the West Midlands, was elected Ringing Master and vice-president.

We regret to state that Mrs. Wilford, wife of Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, is seriously ill, and has had to undergo a severe operation. Mr. and Mrs. Wilford's many friends will wish her a speedy recovery.

The peal at Dartford on Saturday was originally arranged to commemorate the centenary of Richard Trevethick, the great engineer and inventor, who is buried in Dartford Churchyard. William Souter was to have taken part in the peal, but died suddenly on Easter Monday, and was buried at Stowmarket on Saturday, so that the peal was rung muffled to his and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn's memory. Mr. William Souter was a nephew of the late Mr. John Souter, of Diss.

CLOCK CHIMES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I was very glad to read in your issue of last week that the bells of Merton College, Oxford, are to be used for the clock chimes, and hope that this is the precursor of more ringing of these bells.

The chimes of the Oxford clocks are many and varied, the most remarkable being those of Magdalen and the old St. Martin's tower at Carfax, the latter being a very clever adaptation of the first five bells of a ring of six, the tenor being used for striking the hour only.

But the Westminster chimes are heard in Oxford in the old Saxon tower of St. Michael's, where there is an unringable peal of six, and are also attempted on a set of tubes hung in the campanile of another church.

I quite agree that it is a pity that the Westminster or Cambridge chimes (beautiful as they are) are so frequently used. In Truro, for instance, the Cathedral and the town clocks, situated quite close to each other, each strike the Westminster chimes in a different key. The Cathedral lost an opportunity, I think, when its clock was installed, not to have found someone to have composed special chimes for it. I rather welcome the old 'ting tang,' or as it strikes on the clock of the Community of the Epiphany in my parish on three little bells. Or again, what could be finer than those two glorious notes which sound each quarter from the south-west tower of St. Paul's?

W. H. R. TREWHELLA.

St. Paul's Vicarage, Truro.

FIFTY PEALS AT 14.

Master Edwin A. Barnett, of Crayford, Kent, although only 14 years of age, has now rung fifty peals, including 20 in Surprise methods, one of which was in four methods spliced. Here is the list: Grandsire Triples 5, Union Triples 1, Stedman Triples 8, Bob Major 6 (conducted 1), Double Norwich Major 6, Double Oxford Major 1, Northfleet Little Bob Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 2 (conducted 1), Cambridge Surprise Major 7 (conducted 1), New Cambridge Surprise 2 (conducted 1), Superlative Surprise 6 (conducted 1), London Surprise 3, Bristol Surprise 1, four Spliced Surprise 1; total 50 (conducted 5).

FUNERAL OF THE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN IMPRESSIVE SERVICE AT VILLAGE CHURCH.

The funeral of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, at East Garston, on Friday, was a remarkable demonstration of the love and esteem in which the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held. Ringers came from many parts of England, and in such numbers that the little church could not seat all the congregation.

The tiny village of East Garston lies amid the Berkshire Downs, and the central tower of its ancient church rises like a protecting bulwark over the little cluster of cottages. It was here that the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was born, and in this church he was baptised. Here he first learned to ring a bell and, remarkable coincidence, it was to this church he came on the very day of his death. On the morning after Easter Day he visited the place of his childhood and the spot which held for him so many hallowed memories. It was here that his body was laid to rest, here in the peace of the countryside that many of his friends took farewell of him for a time, and here, too, we think, many of those who are left to carry on the work which he had so long and so ably guided must have determined that for his sake there must be no slackening of effort and no dimming of enthusiasm.

Those who came to pay their last tribute of respect assembled to the sound of muffled bells, the little peal of six having only the tenor open at back stroke. The church rapidly filled by the constant stream of arrivals, who took their seats while soft music from the organ stole through the building, which still bore its Easter decorations. Then the choir and clergy, Canon G. F. Coleridge and Bishop Shaw, of Oxford, in the rear of the procession, passed from the vestry to the entrance to meet the funeral cortege. They re-entered the church while the opening sentences of the burial office were recited, and then the first hymn, 'Jesus lives!' struck the keynote of the service. It was a reminder of life and not of death. Bishop Shaw read the lesson from Corinthians xx., and the 23rd Psalm was sung. The other hymns were 'Alleluia! Alleluia! Hearts to Heav'n and voices raise,' and 'Praise to the Holiest in the height.' Prayers were offered by the Rector, and before the cortege left the church the 'Nunc Dimittis' was chanted.

Then from the dim interior to the spring sunshine slowly the procession made its way to the grave, lined with primroses and banked with most beautiful flowers, placed there as tokens of love and sympathy. Amid a silence, unbroken by any sound except the lowing of cattle, Canon Coleridge recited the committal prayers and Bishop Shaw pronounced the Benediction. A course of Grandsire Caters was then rung over the open grave by a representative company: W. Hibbert (Oxford Diocesan Guild and Ancient Society of College Youths) 1-2, W. Pye (Middlesex County Association) 3-4, E. H. Lewis (Central Council and Cambridge University Guild) 5-6, A. H. Pulling (Guildford Diocesan Guild and Royal Cumberland Youths) 7-8, W. A. Cave (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association) 9-10. Thus ended a most impressive service. The setting of this last scene was one of peace, amid the promise of life, for spring was in the sunshine, in the bursting trees and hedgerows and in the flowers. And there we left, enfolded in the bosom of the Downs which knew him as a boy and which he loved so well, all that was mortal of Cyril Walford Osborn Jenkyn, priest. To him, at any rate, has the Master said, 'Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord.'

REV. CYRIL W. O. JENKYN, PRIEST AND RINGER.

Obit April 17th, 1933.

Cold is the hand, so honest and so true.
Frozen the heart that now had beat so warm.
Done! all the good that one good man can do
Come shine or storm.

To hold the torch aloft from year to year,
Like Mercury—spread knowledge as he ran,
In peal or pulpit to inspire and cheer
His fellow-man.

No need to mourn in deep Cimmerian gloom,
Nor let oblivion change our Day to Night.
Such souls as his are not within the tomb,
They walk in Light.

CARRYING ON.

At the annual committee meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which was held at Reading on Saturday last, and which was attended by 61 representatives of the fifteen branches, Canon G. F. Coleridge was asked to take the chair.

In a few sad sentences he referred to the irreparable loss the Guild had sustained. He said if the late Master could speak to the meeting he would say, 'Carry on,' and he personally was prepared and determined to do all he could to further the progress of the Guild as Mr. Jenkyn would have wished.

Canon Coleridge was asked, and consented, to act as Master until the annual festival, 1933, which (D.V.) will be held at Oxford on Saturday, July 15th.

The usual routine of business was carried through, but it was a very sad committee meeting compared with those of the past few years.

At meetings of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the Sussex County Association, on Saturday, votes of sympathy were passed with the widow and relatives of the late Mr. Jenkyn.

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex County Association reference to his death was made by the Bishop of Kensington in his sermon, and the hymn, 'On the Resurrection Morning,' was sung in the course of the service. At the business meeting a vote of condolence with Mrs. Jenkyn and the Oxford Diocesan Guild was passed in silence.

The bells at many churches in the diocese of Oxford were rung muffled as a mark of respect. In addition to the ringing at East Garston, the bells of Newbury Parish Church, which Mr. Jenkyn was visiting when he died, were rung muffled immediately after the funeral and again in the evening.

At St. Mary's Church, Reading, with the bells muffled as a token of deep respect, after the funeral, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by Reading and Tilehurst members of the Oxford Guild: H. Goodger 1, Miss Pat Holloway 2, H. W. Smith 3, C. Pullen 4, R. N. Runham 5, J. Swain 6, E. Humphrey (conductor) 7, W. Evans 8.

At Newport Pagnell, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, with the bells half-muffled: R. Abrahams 1, F. C. Tompkins 2, G. Boon 3, H. C. Beard (conductor) 4, J. Mapley 5, E. Lathall 6, W. F. Smith 7, C. Checkley (first quarter) 8.

At St. Mary's Church, Beaconsfield, Bucks, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes), with muffled clappers: W. H. Fletcher 1, E. G. Smith 2, J. Harrison 3, Frank Buckland 4, W. Edwards 5, James Blackmore 6, Richard Buckland 7, H. Wingrove (conductor) 8.

In memory of their beloved Master, on Friday evening, at St. Mary's, Banbury, with the bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: R. Higham 1, W. Watson 2, E. Pearson 3, J. Simons 4, T. Impey 5, W. Tandy 6, H. Impey (conductor) 7, W. Aston 8.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION CONTEST,

ONLY TWO TEAMS ENTER.

A quarterly meeting and eight-bell contest of the Halifax and District Association were held at St. Matthew's Church, Northowram, on Saturday. It is a pity more interest is not taken in the eight-bell contests. Northowram possesses one of the best peals in the country, installed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1913, with tenor just short of 16 cwt., but only two sets entered the contest. The entrants were Earlsheaton and Liversedge, and 704 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung with three leads practice.

An excellent tea was provided, and was followed by the meeting, Mr. E. Earnshaw (Meltham) president, occupied the chair.

The Chairman moved a hearty vote of thanks to Canon G. Watkinson, M.A., the Vicar, for use of the bells, and Mr. J. Lawson (Lightcliffe), seconded.

It was through Canon Watkinson's generosity that the bells were installed, and the ringers would appreciate many more of the Vicars if they took as much interest in them as Canon Watkinson does. He was amongst the ringers all the afternoon.

In reply to the vote of thanks, the Vicar thanked the association for their kind words. He said he could see several old gentlemen amongst them. Ministers, he added, lived long because they lived well. He thought the same applied to ringers, as they did a good church work. Canon Watkinson said he hoped to see them at Northowram again before long, and he would offer a set of medals to be rung for at the next contest to be held there.

Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford), who acted as judge for the sixtieth time, gave the result of the ringing: Earlsheaton 263 faults, penalty nil; Liversedge 250 faults, penalty nil.

The Vicar then presented the cup to Mr. F. Hodgson, the Liversedge conductor, and congratulated the band on their ringing.—Mr. Hodgson replied.

A vote of thanks to judge and chairman closed a very good meeting.

On Thursday, April 20th, by kind permission of the Very Rev. H. J. White, M.A., Dean of Christ Church, the Oxford Society met at the Cathedral to pay homage to a fellow-member and beloved friend in the person of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. The bells were rung with half-muffled clappers to Stedman Cinques for an hour, the following members being present: Miss M. E. Reynolds, Messrs. S. Haunslew, W. Stone, V. J. Bennett, W. H. B. Wilkins, W. Simmonds, W. F. Judge, G. Horwood, E. A. Post, W. G. Brigham, W. Blake, S. Taylor, F. A. Wilkins, F. E. Taylor, F. E. May and A. Gammon.

C. W. O. Jenkyn): H. Edwards 1, T. Tomkins 2, E. Yates 3, W. Clarke 4, W. Neale 5, E. C. Lambert (conductor) 6, H. Tompkins 7, T. Trasler 8.

The last touch of Stedman, the method which he most enjoyed, rung by Mr. Jenkyn, was for evening service on Easter Day for evensong at Caversham. It was a 504, the ringers being: Rev. G. W. O. Jenkyn 1, E. Essex 2, J. Hands 3, W. Lewington 4, F. Pounds 5, G. Essex 6, A. D. Cullum (conductor) 7, C. J. D. Cullum 8.

Muffled peals were rung, as recorded elsewhere, at Oxford, Dartford, West Wycombe, Ambrosden and Hitcham.

FIFTY YEARS AFTER.

A JUBILEE CELEBRATED AT PENZANCE.

Those who took part in the peal at St. Mary's, Penzance, on Easter Monday could but feel that in that very tower Cornish ringing history was made fifty years ago. At that time there was no Truro Diocesan Guild, and St. Mary's was affiliated to the Devon Guild. The band at St. Mary's came under the guidance and tuition of Dr. J. Symons, and on June 4th, 1883, a peal of Grandsire Triples was scored under his conductorship. About thirty years ago the bells were declared unsafe for ringing, and so they remained until three years ago, when Dr. Symons again got to work, enlisted the sympathies of the Vicar, Canon F. R. Carr, and the Mayor of Penzance (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow), and got the peal entirely recast and rehung. It was a splendid piece of work on the part of a physician to get the dumb to speak once more.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, PENZANCE.

As soon as St. Mary's bells became silent, Dr. Symons transferred his attention to Gulval, and there, where he still rings for two Sunday services, the band has benefited by his help ever since.

It was a great link to have in the band Miss Symons, who has certainly inherited her father's ringing talents, and also Messrs. H. Williams (now of Truro) and P. J. Hitchens (Gulval), who both learned to ring with the old company at St. Mary's. The former afterwards spent 25 years in Canada, and since returning to Cornwall some four years ago has taken to the art as fresh as ever with the Truro Cathedral band.

There was just one other commemoration in mind—the centenary year of the Oxford Movement. There was reason for it, as John Keble, the early pioneer of this Movement, preached at St. Mary's on Easter Sunday, 1863—70 years ago. 'The Ringing World' has shown in some splendid articles, which appeared some three years ago, what this Movement eventually did for the improvement of ringing conditions. It was splendid to have this connection

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

FUND STARTED FOR NEW CATHEDRAL BELLS.

At the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Guildford on Saturday, and attended by nearly 80 members, it was decided to start a fund for the provision of a ringing peal of bells at the projected Guildford Cathedral, on the site of which last week the Bishop unveiled a cross of oak, thirty-five feet high. In the afternoon there was ringing at the Cathedral and at St. Nicolas' Church, and the Guild service was held at the former, the address being given by Canon S. M. Jones, Vicar of Haslemere, to whom, subsequently, a vote of thanks was passed.

The business meeting was held after tea in Holy Trinity Parish Hall, Mr. Walter Harrison (vice-president) being in the chair, supported by the Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse), the hon. treasurer (Mr. J. Corbett) and the hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith). There were ringers present from Aldershot, Bagshot, Beddington, Crauligh, Croydon, Chiddingfold, Cobham, Dorking, Esher, Farnham, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Godalming, Haslemere, London, Leatherhead, Oxford, Ottershaw, Pirbright, Seale, Shalford, Windsor, Witley, West Clandon, Womersley, Woking, Worplesdon, etc.

Previous to considering the agenda the Chairman expressed the regret of the Guild at the death of Admiral T. P. Walker, the late hon. treasurer. 'We looked on him,' said Mr. Harrison, 'as the father of the Guild. The meetings did not seem the same without him. He was one of the most perfect examples of a good old English gentleman.' The meeting stood in silence in his memory.

Major Hesse referred to the loss to the Exercise by the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. As a ringer, as an example of all a ringer should be, he would be hard to replace; in fact, he did not think they were going to get anyone to fill his place in the Oxford Guild as he filled it. He was a most valued member of the Central Council, and particularly on the Towers and Belfries Committee. For a parson, his practical knowledge was really exceptional.—The meeting stood in silence, and approved the messages of condolence sent to Mrs. Jenkyn and to the Oxford Guild.

FALLING-OFF IN PEALS.

The annual report referred to the opening of the Guild library in the belfry of St. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, and stated that chief among the improvements effected in the belfries in the diocese during the year was the completion of the scheme to add two treble bells to complete the octave at West Clandon. Egham and Ottershaw bells were rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and similar work was carried out at Ashted by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A programme of 23 district meetings was carried out. It was a matter of regret that conditions in the Leatherhead District were hampering the work of the Guild in that area. The closing of the two towers in Epsom to any ringing by organisations outside the local bands, and the fact that Ewell and Dorking bells were now in a condition which rendered ringing on them difficult, was restricting not only peal ringing activities in that district but also making it difficult to find towers at which to hold meetings of the Guild. There was a falling-off in the number of peals rung in 1932, compared with the previous year, the total being 42 against 55. This was partly accounted for by the closing of towers for peal ringing purposes in the Leatherhead District. The peals were rung in 19 towers in the diocese (eight in the Guildford District, seven in the Leatherhead District, three in the Farnham District and one in the Chertsey District), and three outside the diocese. The conductors were Mr. A. H. Pulling 22, Mr. A. Harman seven, Mr. C. H. Kippin three, Mr. A. Pink and Mr. R. Hasled two each, and Messrs. H. Pitstow, L. C. W. Hunter, G. Gilbert, W. J. White, C. W. Denyer and S. Radford one each.—The report was adopted on the proposition of the chairman.

Mr. Corbett moved the statement of accounts, which showed a balance of £31 14s. 10d., against £44 3s. 8d., brought forward from 1931. Mr. Corbett paid a tribute to the services of Mr. C. N. Burdock, who audited the accounts on a bed of sickness.—The accounts were approved.

The following officers were elected: President, the Bishop of Guildford; vice-presidents, Provost E. C. Kirwan and Mr. Walter Harrison; Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse; hon. treasurer, Mr. J. Corbett; hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; hon. auditor, Mr. C. N. Burdock; Central Council representatives, Mr. A. H. Pulling, Mr. A. C. Hazelden and Mr. G. L. Grover; Library Committee, Messrs. A. C. Hazelden, W. Harrison, S. Radford and S. Petter. The following new members were elected: Messrs. C. Bailey, D. Gain and A. Nash (Shalford), J. W. Wells (Farnham) and E. Mullahd (Witley).

The Secretary stated that it was proposed to erect in Woking Parish Church a memorial to the late Admiral Walker consisting of a bronze tablet mounted on marble, and that the bells should be improved by the recasting of the sixth, which was cracked, and tuning the others. The executive committee of the Guild considered that a contribution of five guineas should be voted to the fund. If the meeting approved of this sum, then, out of the £60 he had undertaken to raise to complete the bells portion of the scheme, there would only remain £6 15s. to be met. He moved that the Guild contribute five guineas.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden seconded, and the resolution was carried.—The raising of the balance was left in the hands of Mr. Goldsmith and the executive committee.

RINGERS MARRIED AT GREAT BARR.

A wedding of considerable interest took place at St. Margaret's Church, Great Barr, Staffordshire, on Saturday, April 22nd, the bride being Miss Elsie May Ludlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow, of Old Walsall Road, Great Barr, and the bridegroom Mr. Richard Charles Ingram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingram, of Aston Lane, Perry Barr. The church was beautifully decorated, and the Vicar of Great Barr officiated in the presence of a large congregation. The organist played suitable music for the occasion. The bride, who was given away by her father, carried a bouquet, and was charmingly attired in white satin and wore a veil. At the conclusion of the service the bells pealed forth as the bridal pair left the church. The reception was held in the Memorial Hall close to the church, where a large gathering of friends, including a number of ringers, assembled to extend their good wishes to the happy pair. The newly-wedded couple received a large number of useful presents.

During the afternoon a peal of Cambridge Minor, which is recorded elsewhere, was rung upon the bells of St. Margaret's, Great Barr, as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ingram, both of whom are ringers and held in high esteem by members of the district. After the peal they were entertained to tea, and expressed their good wishes to the bride and bridegroom. J. P.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SWINDON BRANCH AT HIGHWORTH.

A quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Highworth on Saturday, April 22nd, members being present from the two Swindon towers, Rodbourne Cheney, Blunsdon, Stratton St. Margaret, and visitors from Faringdon and Wootton Bassett. Good use was made of the bells from about three o'clock. A short service was held, which was followed by tea at the West Hill Cafe. Mr. C. J. Gardiner presided at the business meeting, Rodbourne Cheney and Bishopstone being chosen for the May and June meetings.

A return was made to the tower and the bells kept fully employed until about 7.45, when an excellent 'lower' closed the proceedings. Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, several ringing their longest touch on eight bells, while the standard of ringing was very good.

An amendment of the rules, recommended by the executive committee, that compounding members outside the diocese should have no vote at meetings of the Guild, neither should they have the right to propose or second any motion, was defeated.

NEW CATHEDRAL BELLS FUND SCHEME.

The Hon. Secretary said, as the members all knew, it was proposed to provide at some date a new Cathedral for the diocese. The architect's plans had been prepared, and in them was provision for a peal of bells. When the building of the Cathedral would begin was problematical, and when it would be finished was more so, and the tower and bells might never be finished in their lifetime. The executive committee suggested that the Guild should help to provide the bells. In the course of the years that must necessarily elapse they could raise a considerable sum by putting away an annual amount, and if they did something towards meeting the cost of the bells it might encourage other diocesan organisations to do something of the same kind for the new Cathedral. The proposal was that they should set aside a sum of money each year, so that when the time came for the provision of the bells they could say, 'Here is a sum of money for one or two bells.' In addition it would, he hoped, enable them to be consulted when the time came to provide the bells. An appropriate resolution had been prepared by Mr. Grover, which he asked the members to adopt. This provided that the Guild should deposit annually one guinea towards such a trust fund, kept under the control of the Guild, and permitted the annual contribution to be varied according to circumstances.

The Chairman, in commending the scheme to the members, said it was not so much the amount of money, but the thought behind such an action. As time went on they might be able to provide one, two or three bells. They would have sufficient funds at their command to say to the authorities, 'We want to see that it is done properly.'

Mr. Melville seconded the resolution, which he described as a first-rate scheme, and the proposal was carried unanimously.

The agenda of the Central Council was discussed, and it was decided to offer no objection to the proposed new rules.

There was diversity of opinion on the Minor question, but eventually a resolution was passed by a majority that the Guild's representatives should oppose both the motions except the portion which provided that a peal should consist of seven true and complete 720's.

The meeting expressed a desire to continue the annual dinners. Major Hesse proposed a vote of thanks to the Provost for the use of the Cathedral and the bells, and to the Rector of St. Nicolas' for the use of his bells. A vote of thanks was also accorded Mr. Harrison for presiding.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. SAM THOMAS

The Sheffield and District Society wish to make an appeal for funds to place in Ranmoor Church, Sheffield, a fitting memorial to the late Mr. Sam Thomas. Ranmoor Church authorities have decided to have their bells recast and also to add two trebles, thus making a ring of ten bells. The two new trebles are to be dedicated as a memorial to the late Mr. Thomas for the good work he did in advancing the art of campanology.

The society have promised to assist in getting funds for the scheme, and would be very grateful for any donations, however small, which will be thankfully received and duly acknowledged by the Hon. Sec.:—M. E. Wilson, Hon. Sec., 221, Hanover Street, Sheffield (3).

CO-ORDINATED INSTRUCTION.

It is refreshing sometimes to have in the pulpit at a ringers' meeting a parson who is himself a ringer and understands the difficulties of ringers and their failings as well. Most of the reproaches which the clergy in general were, and some of them still are, wont to level at ringers have been removed. There is now no need to urge reverent behaviour in the belfry. The conduct of ringers in the tower is as seemly as that of the choir in the vestry. Neither is there the same ground that there used to be for chiding ringers upon their lack of church-going; although there are some preachers who have not yet realised that the old order of things has been greatly changed, and it is still common to hear this made the chief if not the whole point of the address at ringers' meetings. But if the causes for reproach have gone, there are still certain failings among ringers and certain directions in which they could do more than is sometimes done to foster the art and improve the standard of ringing, of which it is as well they should be reminded.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, a vice-president of the North Notts Association and its representative on the Central Council, did not hesitate to offer some frank but kindly criticism when preaching the other day at the association's annual meeting. He was referring more particularly to the position of affairs in his own association, but his words are true of many other parts of the country. The need of to-day is men who can teach others the art of ringing. He urged special meetings for the benefit of those who were willing to become instructors, and said there were many glorious peals of bells in England which were not rung or in danger of not being rung because there were not the men to ring the bells. What was needed was more enthusiasm for teaching among those who had the qualifications.

The Rector of Ordsall has good ground for all that he said, and he touched a further truth when he said that officials worked hard in carrying on the association, but they could not go into the towers and make good bands of ringers. This subject of instructors is no new one, but it is more pressing than ever. It seems to us that there is real need almost everywhere for new plans for extending the art. Tuition of ringers in the past has been much too casual to do any lasting good in other than exceptional cases. The system of instruction requires overhauling; it needs to be put on fresh footing; to every tower in which the ringers are unable to make progress on their own account, whether it is to break from rounds into change ringing or to advance from plain to higher methods, qualified instructors ought to be available so that proper tuition can be given. It needs organising and it might mean expense to the associations, but it would be money well spent. Essentially it demands that the instructors should be efficiently trained and the lines upon which this could best be done might well be a matter for consideration by the Central Council. At present there is no co-ordinated scheme in existence that we have heard of for training instructors. EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION. UNEMPLOYMENT AND SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The attractiveness of Crich was again in evidence on Easter Monday, when approximately 60 ringers attended the annual meeting of the East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association. The ring of eight bells (tenor 12 cwt.), recast and augmented by Taylor and Co. in 1927, were busily engaged during the afternoon and evening in various methods, and many of the visitors ascended the famous 'Crich Stand' to admire and enjoy the wonderful view, not only of Derbyshire, but also of the adjoining counties. A well-attended service was conducted in church by the Vicar, the Rev. H. E. Jones, whose address was enjoyed by the ringers, and a fair number of other visitors to this old village. It was pleasing to see both churchwardens (Dr. Rankin and Mr. J. B. Humphrey) present, and also to hear the Vicar's remarks on the spirit of brotherhood existing amongst ringers.

After service, the visitors were the guests of Dr. Rankin to a substantial tea, provided in the Church Schools.

At the business meeting the towers represented were Crich, Heath, Mansfield, Mansfield Woodhouse, Morton, Ripley, Selston, Sutton-in-Ashfield, South Normanton, Melbourne and Heanor. After the balance sheet had been adopted, some discussion took place on the question of subscriptions, the view being expressed that many of the members were unable to pay their annual subscriptions owing to unemployment, which is very prevalent in the district, on account of the slackness and short time being worked in the coal mining industry.

Confidence in the officers was expressed by the re-election of the president, Mr. W. Dobbs; vice-president, Mr. W. Allin; treasurer, Mr. T. Stimpson; secretary, Mr. J. W. England; Ringing Master, Mr. T. Clark; auditors, Messrs. J. Machin and G. H. Jolland; and three members of the executive committee, Messrs. C. Rogers, E. Ashman and C. J. Partridge, a vacancy on the executive committee being filled by the election of Mr. A. Elliott.

Mr. T. Clark, in a report of the activities of the association, stressed the importance of the only ringing journal, 'The Ringing World,' and urged the members to give their unstinted support.

Eight new members were elected, and it was arranged to hold meetings during the coming year at Ault Hucknall, Morton, Alfreton, Swanwick, Pentrick, South Wingfield, Shirland and South Normanton.

Mr. Hobbs complimented the officers on the manner in which the business of the association had been carried on, and votes of thanks to the Vicar, Doctor, organist and ladies then concluded the meeting.

The bells were lowered in peal in 8.45, and brought to a close a gathering enjoyed by everyone.

FUNERAL OF SUFFOLK RINGER.

FORTY YEARS TOWERKEEPER AT STOWMARKET.

On Saturday, April 22nd, the funeral took place at Stowmarket of the late Mr. William Souter, who passed away after a very short illness at Swanley Junction, Kent, at the age of 86 years. Deceased left Stowmarket for Kent only about 12 months ago. He had been towerkeeper for upwards of 40 years at Stowmarket. He was a much respected member of the Norwich Diocesan Association and the Suffolk Guild, and had rung about 30 peals.

Although not a great peal ringer, he was a regular Sunday service ringer, and always insisted on good striking.

After the choral funeral service at the Church of SS. Peter and Mary half-muffled touches of Grandsire Triples were rung by H. Copeland 1, W. Tydeman (conductor) 2, H. D. Lister 3, S. Sparrow 4, W. Wathen 5, J. Wade 6, G. A. Blaxcell 7, J. Dale 8. Later in the day a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung.

DEVON GUILD.

EAST DEVON BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the East Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Ottery St. Mary on Easter Monday in splendid spring weather. The bells were kept going during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Rev. L. Stallard, who gave an excellent address on bells and how they were rung in the historical 13th century church of Ottery St. Mary about 400 years ago.

Upwards of 80 members and friends sat down to tea, which was served in the Church Institute. Ringers were present from Plymouth, Paignton, Exeter, Buckfastleigh, Bramford Speke, Kenn, Buckwell, Honiton, Luppitt, Taletton, Sidmouth, and the local band, also from Ilminster, Yeovil, Martock and Milverton, Somerset, and Lyme Regis, Dorset, etc.

At the business meeting which followed, the chairman of the branch (Rev. J. F. Prowse) presided, supported by the Rev. L. Stallard and the Rev. E. V. Cox.

The officers were re-elected, and it was decided to have the next annual meeting at Axminster on Easter Monday, 1934, and the autumn meeting at Taletton next September. Six certificates were presented by Mr. John H. Godfrey to Messrs. V. Pyne, H. Dyer, J. Hill, H. Butt, T. Ealton, and A. Wright. A hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for conducting the service and for the use of the bells and Institute, also to the organist and to the ladies, the wives and daughters of the band of ringers, who attended so well to the tea arrangements. Afterwards ringing continued in Grandsire, Stedman Triples and Bob Major, bringing to a close a most enjoyable meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A representative committee has been set up among the London ringing societies and those which border the Metropolis to arrange the social side of the Central Council gathering this year. The committee consists of Messrs. A. A. Hughes (College Youths), J. D. Matthews (Royal Cumberlands), T. H. Taffender (London County), E. A. Young (St. Clement's Youths), C. T. Coles (Middlesex), E. J. Butler (Essex), F. Mitchell (Kent) and C. H. Kippen (Surrey).

It is interesting to note in connection with the peal of Cambridge Royal at Beverley Minster recorded this week, that the only previous occasion on which Beverley Minster tenor has been turned in to a peal was in 1904, when Mr. W. Pye rang it to Kent Treble Boh Royal. Incidentally that was the first peal on the new ring of ten. Mr. Ted Jenkins volunteered to ring it at the last minute last Saturday after it had been expected that the method would be Stedman Caters, and at the conclusion of the peal he received the hearty congratulations of the band on the magnificent way he accomplished his self-imposed task. Truly a great little man!

Two interesting commemorative peals are recorded this week. At Warnham, Sussex, a peal of 10,432 Kent Treble Boh Major was rung on Saturday to commemorate the 42nd anniversary of a 10,178 of the same method rung on February 2nd, 1891. Mr. Walter Charman, now a veteran among Sussex ringers, took part in both peals.

At Redenhall, Norfolk, a peal of Treble Boh was rung to commemorate a peal in this method rung in the same church in 1820. Between this peal and the one recorded this week, conducted by Mr. Ernest Whiting, is an interesting link. Mr. Whiting's great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather both took part in the peal of 1820.

As the result of a fall in High Street, Irthlingborough, Mrs. Annie Perkins, wife of the well-known Northamptonshire ringer, Mr. Walter Perkins, is now in hospital, suffering from a broken leg.

THE MEMORIAL TO THE LATE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES. EXTENSION OF THE TEWKESBURY BELL SCHEME.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The special committee desire to thank the Central Council, all associations, guilds, ringers and friends for the generous response to the appeal for £250.

We also thank members of the Exercise for their suggestions and recommendations, that we should retune the existing peal of ten. We have adopted this scheme and propose recasting the present two trebles and retuning the back eight. With the two new trebles making twelve, this should be a peal worthy of the Abbey and a fitting memorial to Rev. C. D. P. Davies.

We need an additional £40 to £50, to carry out the complete memorial, and we appeal in confidence to members of the Exercise to help us. We believe that many friends of the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies will now subscribe, knowing that the existing ten is to be retuned.

As soon as the faculty is granted, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who have been entrusted with the work, will commence retuning, recasting and augmentation.

Collecting cards for small donations may be obtained from any official of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association or

CUMBERLAND ASSOCIATION. RINGING CONTEST.

The annual ringing contest of the Cumberland Association was held at Egremont Parish Church on Easter Monday, when four bands representing Cockermouth, Egremont, Hensingham and Workington competed for the 'Rawnsley' shield and medals. The judge was Mr. A. Deas, of Gosforth-on-Tyne, who at a subsequent meeting gave his decision as follows: No. 1, Egremont, rang 560 Grandsire Triples with 64 faults, and being the home team had 20 more added, making 84 in all; No. 2, Cockermouth, rang 720 Kent Minor with 42 faults; No. 3, Workington, rang 720 New London Pleasure with 100 faults. Hensingham rang 720 Boh Minor with 53 faults. Cockermouth were therefore winners of the contest and entitled to hold the shield for the next twelve months and also medals.

The next quarterly meeting will be held at Workington about the end of June.

Votes of thanks were given to the Rector of Egremont (Rev. J. Earnshaw) for presiding and for the use of room and bells, also to Mr. A. Deas for acting as judge. The tower of St. Mary's was afterwards visited, and various touches rung in the standard methods.

BOW TENOR RECAST.

FIFTH OF A FAMOUS LINE.

Acknowledged to be the most famous peals of bells in the world, the bells of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, London, associated by tradition with Dick Whittington, are nearing complete restoration at the Croydon Bell Foundry, and on Wednesday of last week the tenor was recast in the presence of a distinguished company. For some years Bow Bells had been left unring, owing to the dilapidated condition of their fittings, and, while money was coming in for the restoration of the church and steeple, the repair of the bells themselves seemed to be doomed to long delay, until Mr. Gordon Selfridge made his generous offer to have the work done.

At the Consistory Court, when the application was made for the faculty, before the dismantling of the bells had taken place, the recasting of two, or possibly three bells, was all that was thought necessary. After the bells reached the foundry, however, other bells, including the tenor, were found to be cracked, and five of them have now been recast for this reason. The three trebles have also been recast, and the whole peal corrected in tune. The old bells remaining are the 4th, 5th, 9th and 11th.

All the bells are being fitted with iron headstocks, ball bearings, specially designed clappers, etc., and while the old oak frame has been retained it has been immensely strengthened. A massive 'grillage' of girders and bracing, weighing 3½ tons, has been fixed immediately beneath the wood frame and securely anchored to the tower. The frame itself has been strengthened with corner brackets in all directions, and has been altered on one side so as to improve the circle of ropes.

The tenor bell, the last to go through the furnace, is the fifth in line of succession of 'great' bells of Bow. John Doune, a citizen, left two houses in 1472 for the maintenance of the great bell. William Copland, one of the churchwardens in 1515-16, presented a great bell to complete a ring of five. Dame Dyonis Williamson, of Norfolk, gave £2,000 towards rebuilding the church and furnishing it with bells after its destruction in the Great Fire of 1666. Eight bells were placed in the tower in 1667, and were cast by John and Christopher Hodson, of St. Mary Cray, Kent. In 1738 the tenor was found to be cracked, and was recast by Phelps and Leicester, and this is the bell that has now been replaced as part of the gift of Mr. Selfridge.

A large company gathered at the invitation of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston to witness the historic casting. Among those who were present were his Worship the Mayor (Ald. Wm. Peet, J.P.) and the Mayoress of Croydon, Rev. S. G. Ponsonby, M.A. (Rector of St. Mary-

Humphreys (organist at Bow Church) and Mrs. Humphreys, Mr. H. A. F. Crowdsom (clerk to the Musicians' Company) and Mrs. Crowdsom, Mr. Roger North, Mr. H. B. Walters, Mr. Martin Stewart (Wimborne) and the Misses Stewart, Mrs. A. A. Johnston, Mrs. Cyril Johnston, Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, the Central Council) and Mrs. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild).

The guests were received by Mr. Cyril Johnston and were shown round the works, where they found a great deal of activity in progress, both in bell and clock work. There were several ringing peals in process of restoration, and new carillons for Secin Abbey, France (42 bells), St. Paul's School, Concord, U.S.A. (23 bells), the Church of our Lady of the Rosary, Saltley, Birmingham (23 bells), and chimes for Southampton Civic Centre (with 3 ton hour bell), Freemantle Park and East Ham. The clock department was particularly busy, and special interest was manifested in the electric clock installations and the Neon lighted dials.

Eventually the tour of the works brought the visitors to one of the tuning rooms, where eleven of the bells of Bow were standing. These were tapped round, and, although the crowning note was absent—its source was at that moment still in the furnace—the tonal quality of the new bells was strikingly apparent. The fact that four of the old bells have been retained has limited the scope of the bell foundry, but these eleven gave promise that Bow bells will be better than ever before.

Passing to the foundry for the event of the afternoon, the visitors watched with quite a thrill the tapping of the furnace and the flow of the golden metal into the gigantic ladle. Then, at the invitation

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING HONOURS OLD MEMBERS.

The annual meeting of the Worcester and Districts Association was held on Easter Monday at Worcester.

In the Cathedral Chapter House, the Dean of Worcester welcomed about 150 members who were present, and then spoke of the death of two most enthusiastic and respected members, Messrs. T. J. Salter and A. E. Parsons, whose presence would be sadly missed, and the meeting stood in silence in respect to their memory.

The Dean was unanimously re-elected president, and it should be noted that this is his 25th year as such. Mr. Knowles wishing to resign his position of Master, Mr. W. Short was elected to this office and also as a vice-president, all the other officers being re-elected, the work of the clerical and lay secretaries being spoken of with warm appreciation.

It was decided to give a donation of £5 from the Belfry Repairs Fund towards the cost of rehanging the bells at Dodderhill, where, although it is only a small parish, a great effort has been made, and the original peal of six have been rehung and augmented to eight.

The representatives on the Central Council were re-elected, and the secretary pointed out that under the suggested new rules the association would be entitled to four members.

A new class of membership of the association was decided on last year, which the president most aptly named 'freemen of the association.' Messrs. W. Short and J. H. Hemming, who has been the secretary of the Southern Branch since its formation, and who has recently been made an alderman of Evesham, were the first to be elected.

As the jubilee dinner was so much enjoyed, a sub-committee was appointed to make arrangements for a similar one at Worcester in the autumn.

At the service in the Cathedral it was a very great pleasure to listen to an address by the Bishop of the diocese, for it is many years since any of his predecessors had been able to come to any of these meetings. The Bishop also came to tea afterwards.

The various rings of bells in the city were available with one exception, that of the eight at St. Helen's, and at the meeting a hope was expressed that these would be put in order by next year, for it is a great pity that the oldest ring of eight in the city, and such a good one, should be silent.

Worcester has seen many of these meetings on Easter Mondays, but with good weather and a good attendance this was quite as successful and enjoyable as any of the previous ones.

A CATHEDRAL PEAL TABLET.

A very handsome tablet has been placed in the ringing chamber at Worcester Cathedral, recording the peal of Stedman Cinques rung there on May 16th, 1931. The lettering is in gold, relieved with cardinal red and emerald green, on a black glass background, hermetically sealed with glass front and mounted in an oak frame. It is the gift of Mr. F. E. Dawe, of London, the composer and conductor of the peal. Mr. Dawe has rung peals in nearly all the cathedrals in England which contain a ring of bells, and the peal at Worcester was one which he specially appreciates, as it was something like 40 years between his first attempt and his final success. The tablet was dedicated on Easter Monday in the presence of a large gathering of Worcestershire ringers, assembled for their annual meeting, by Bishop Duppy, one of the Canons Residentiary, and immediately afterwards a touch of Stedman Cinques was rung, in which several members of the peal band took part.

of Mr. Johnston, a number of representative people threw silver coins into the molten mass. Those who shared in this little ceremony were the Rector and churchwardens of Bow, the chairman of the Appeal Committee, Mr. Gordon Selfridge, the Masters of the City Livery Companies, the Mayor of Croydon and Mr. A. B. Peck, representing the Ancient Society of College Youths.

At this stage the Bishop of Croydon offered a prayer of dedication: 'Accept this offering, bless and hallow this bell that through this generation and through the generations to come it may continually call together Thy faithful people to praise and worship Thy holy Name.'

Then came the climax of the day—the pouring of the metal into the mould, which was half sunk into the earth. This took some minutes, and was watched with eager interest, which held to the end, when Mr. Johnston smilingly announced, 'Ladies and gentlemen, Bow bell is cast.' Afterwards the visitors were entertained to tea.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. THE HEYWOOD MEMORIAL.

The annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held on Easter Monday at Nottingham, and from an early hour visitors began to arrive from all centres of the association's area, as well as from neighbouring associations. The bells of St. Peter's (10) and St. Mary's (10) were set going to various standard and Surprise methods with varying degrees of 'striking,' and some of the visitors went to Daybrook (8) to try their hand there. The committee met in the afternoon in the Co-operative Hall, and carried through their usual routine business.

The Hon. Treasurer reported a very poor response indeed from his recent appeal in 'The Ringing World' for subscriptions towards erecting a bell at Duffield to the memory of the late Sir A. P. Heywood, founder and first president of the Central Council, and suggested that a collection might be taken at the general meeting following. This was subsequently done and yielded £2 0s. 3d.

It was agreed that the local district secretaries appeal to the various towers in their districts to subscribe to this fund.

A small committee was formed to revise and bring up to date the rules of the association.

At the tea which followed some 107 ringers and friends sat down, and the association was well represented by members from each of the eight districts: Burton, Derby, Chesterfield, Leicester, Loughborough, Nottingham, Peak and Hincley, and friends from as far afield as Bushey, Herts, London, Sheffield, Northampton, Coventry and Devon were also welcomed.

The general meeting was presided over by Mr. E. Denison Taylor (president), supported by Mr. William Willson (vice-president), Mr. Wm. E. White (hon. treasurer), Mr. Ernest Morris (general hon. secretary), Rev. Alan Chaplin (Rector of Colgrave, Notts), and Rev. R. P. Farrow (Rector of Stoney Stanton).

The President said how pleased he was to see such a good company present, and trusted all had enjoyed their visit to Nottingham. He reviewed the work of the past quarter, and noted that 24 peals had been rung, which, although less than usual in number, covered a variety of methods from Doubles to Royal. They had lost four members by death—W. H. Mundy, of Leicester, and E. Robbins, of Bolsover, both resident members, and W. Walsley, of Macclesfield, and J. A. Gorton, of Whitley Bay, life members. He referred to the recent articles in the ringing Press on 'Striking,' and suggested that the public would appreciate their efforts more if this branch of the art was thoroughly attended to.

Mr. Colin Harrison proposed that the balance sheet, as appearing in the jubilee report, be passed, and stated that, in auditing, he had found all correct and the books kept in an excellent condition and style by the hon. treasurer.—Mr. J. H. Dean, the joint auditor, supported these remarks, and the accounts were passed 'nem con.'

The hon. secretary read over the list of new members nominated since the last meeting, viz., two rejoining, 22 ringing, four honorary, and one life.—Their election was duly ratified.

At this juncture the company were honoured by the arrival of the Right Rev. Bishop Talbot (late of Pretoria), who has recently been inducted Vicar of St. Mary's, Nottingham. The president welcomed him on behalf of all members present, and the Bishop suitably replied, apologising for his late arrival. Although he had missed the tea, he was very glad, he said, he had not missed the opportunity of meeting the assembled company of ringers. He had only been inducted to Nottingham, St. Mary's, on Palm Sunday, but had made a point of ascending the tower and seeing his ringers (applause). He found everything here in England so very different from South Africa. Here, all around, things spoke of antiquity and tradition; there, all was new, and nothing akin to the surroundings one found in the old country. There were no peals of bells out in the Transvaal, and in all his old diocese (a district as big as Great Britain) they had very few bells to give the countryside a 'tone.' He had, however, learned something of bells and bellringers from his colleague, Rev. Canon Riddout, who was a very keen 'campanologist.' The Bishop added that he hoped to come into contact with the Midlands organisations now, and to see more of the ringers of the churches around. He wished the association 'all good things in the Name of the Lord.'

The general officers were proposed as before, viz.: President, Mr. E. Denison Taylor; vice-president, Mr. Wm. Willson; hon. treasurer, Mr. Wm. E. White; hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S.; and these were duly elected. Five names were submitted for Central Council representatives, and as four only were required, a ballot was taken, resulting in the election of Mr. E. D. Taylor, Mr. W. E. White, Mr. J. H. Swinfield and Mr. E. C. Gobey.

After discussion and voting, the three following places were selected for next quarterly meetings: Creswell (June), Quorn (September), and Earl Shilton (January).

Regarding the Minor and Doubles controversy, the representatives to the Central Council were instructed to vote only for 'truth and correctness,' and an amendment to the proposals appearing in 'The Ringing World' of April 14th will be submitted in due course to the proper quarter.

This concluded the business, when the members dispersed to the four towers open for ringing, and to spend the evening in 'convivings' till train time called 'That's all!'

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SUGGESTED ALTERATION OF NAME.

The 36th annual meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, April 22nd, at St. James' Church, Clerkenwell. The proceedings started punctually at 3 p.m., from which hour until the time of the service the bells were heard to great advantage. A large number of ringers attended at St. Giles', Cripplegate, where from 3 to 4.30 some very creditable Stedman and Grandsire Cinques, as well as some rounds, were rung. The service at Clerkenwell was attended by about 100 ringers. It was jointly conducted by the Revs. Thear and Royds, assisted by the Rev. W. P. Cole-Sheane (president of the association). The lesson was read by Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president) and the Bishop of Kensington (formerly the Rector of Stepney) was the preacher.

The Bishop preached from the text, 'They were of the same craft.' He referred to the association of Aboliah and Bezaleel in the construction of the tabernacle—men of outstanding ability at their craft, whose names in the Old Testament never occurred separately. Of all the links in life that of sharing the same job was, said the Bishop, one of the oldest. In modern life brotherhoods of the same occupation were created through the trade unions. They had precisely the same thing within the Church. The Church was one great brotherhood, which had certain craft brotherhoods as well. The ringers were a brotherhood within this bigger brotherhood, brothers of the same craft within the Church itself. There was a religious comradeship; they were brothers of the same craft. He wondered how many of their finest friendships had been made within the circle of that craft? He would like them to pay tribute to it that afternoon, as to the friendships it had given them in the course of their life. The Bishop went on to refer to the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, whom he had known as chaplain of his daughter's school, and had met at ringers' gatherings in London. He spoke of his admiration of the skill which ringers exercised in their craft, in which every person contributed his proper share. There were certain jobs, he said, where it did not matter if people asserted themselves, but there were certain things in which any self-assertion just ruined the whole job. It was true more or less of a choir; it was truer still in the case of ringing. Was that not what life absolutely called for? Everyone paying his proper contribution to the best of his ability? Would it not be marvellous if the whole world became nationally and internationally a sort of ringing team? The world cried aloud for team spirit. Let them always, as ringers, remember their main objective. They were a brotherhood of advertisers of the Church. Let them try to do it in simple sound from the tower, but there was nothing like influence and personality and character and help to bring the people back.

After the sermon the hymn, 'On the Resurrection morning,' was sung, having been specially chosen in remembrance of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. The service concluded with an organ recital given by Mr. Basil Rideaux, which was much appreciated.

Tea was served in the Church Hall, under the church, and an excellent meal, which had been prepared by Miss G. Bailey and friends, was enjoyed. The Bishop, who was unable to stay after the service, had previously addressed a few words of good wishes to the ringers present.

After tea, the business meeting was held. The president took the chair, being supported by Messrs. W. Pickworth and J. A. Trollope (vice-presidents), Mr. W. H. Hollier (hon. treasurer), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), Mr. W. Pye (Master), Messrs. A. W. Coles and E. C. S. Turner (District Masters), Mr. W. H. Oram (district treasurer), and other association officers, whilst among those present were Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council) and Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, Mr. G. R. Pye, Mr. R. Sanders, etc. The president referred to the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who, he said, had died whilst actually at his work as Ringing Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He had been a member of the Middlesex Association for some twelve years. He was an outstanding figure in the Exercise, and they would all regret his death. The president asked members to show their sympathy with Mrs. Jenkyn in the loss of her husband, and with the Oxford Diocesan Guild in the loss of their Master, by standing in silence for a few moments. This was accordingly done.

THE REPORT.

The annual report referred to the district meetings, and said that in these days of depression, when money was scarce, it was not to be wondered at that attendances were below the usual standard, but members were urged to do their utmost to be present at meetings, to give encouragement to the few who habitually attend, and to the secretaries and Masters who arrange them. The ringers of St. Augustine's, Kilburn, were welcomed to membership, as well as those at Norwood Green, who had rejoined after a short period outside the association.

Including the ringers at these towers, two honorary and fifty-nine ringing members were elected, of which number the South and West District can claim a slight majority, and the total membership of 868 shows a small increase on last year. The number of lapses owing to non-payment of subscriptions was again to be regretted, and in addition to drawing the attention of members to the suggestions made last year, it was also suggested that only by continuous recruiting could local Guilds be kept up to full strength. At least one new ringer annually should be the aim of each band; it would be found much easier to keep the strength up by this means than by waiting for the time to come when it would be necessary to recruit in a wholesale fashion.

Compared with 1931 there was an increase of seven in the number of peals rung. Out of a total of 83, four were rung on handbells, and the churches at which peals were rung numbered 33. Twelve members rang their first peals. Members who took part in the peals numbered 168, an increase of 23 over the previous year. The increasing popularity of Spliced Surprise ringing was shown by nine members ringing their first peals in four methods. Members who rang their first peals in the more advanced methods included two London, two Bristol, and six Cambridge Royal. One member rang his first peal of Stedman Cinques, and one Maximus. 'In all,' added the report, 'some 126 members rang their first peals in something new, which, we venture to say, is a sure sign of progress. There were 24 conductors, and Mr. R. T. Newman is to be congratulated on conducting a peal for the first time. Amongst the seven peals of Spliced Surprise Major was one in four methods at Bishopsgate on February 22nd, which Mr. C. W. Roberts conducted from a non-observation bell! The first peals ever rung in seven and eight Surprise methods were accomplished at Willesden on April 19th and June 21st respectively, both conducted by Mr. W. Pye, and the first peal of Belgrave Surprise Major by the association was rung at Bishopsgate on October 3rd, conducted by Mr. C. W. Roberts.'

After referring to the various bell restorations in the association's area, the report went on to say that the venture of the South and West District in holding a supper and social at Heston on January 14th of the present year met with success, some 75 members and friends attending. It was confidently hoped that this function would be the first of many such gatherings.

Mr. W. Webb, of the St. Mary's, Finchley, band, had completed 57 years as a ringer at that church, and Mr. F. Pratt had been a ringer at St. Mary's, Hendon, for 54 years. Both these gentlemen appeared in the first report of the old Middlesex Association, dated 1890, and had had an unbroken line of membership. Mr. Pratt had recently had to give up ringing owing to ill-health, but it was hoped this would be of a temporary nature, and that both he and Mr. Webb would enjoy their bellringing for many years to come. The Central Council at its last meeting passed a resolution urging greater support for 'The Ringing World.' The Editor of that journal promised a larger paper if sufficient new readers were forthcoming, but apart from that, it was thought that ringers should, in their own interests and those of the association, support it to the limit of their ability to do so. The difficulties of running an association without a convenient means of communication with members would be so great as to be almost insuperable. It would be a bad day for the Exercise if 'The Ringing World' ceased to appear, and members generally were urged to support it.

THE ASSOCIATION'S TITLE.

The balance sheet, submitted by the treasurer, and showing a credit balance of £33 5s., was adopted. Five new members were elected, including the Misses G. and M. Pack, Mrs. P. Humphrey, of St. Mary Abbots', Kensington, Mr. W. T. Elson, and Miss M. Albon, of Clerkenwell.

The whole of the retiring officers were re-elected as follows: President, Rev. W. P. Cole-Sheane, who nominated Messrs. W. Pickworth and J. A. Trollope as vice-presidents; Master, Mr. W. Pye; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. H. Hollier; joint hon. secretaries, Messrs. C. T. Coles and F. W. Goodfellow; auditors, Messrs. J. E. Miller and W. Pickworth.

Messrs. C. T. Coles, G. W. Fletcher, W. H. Hollier and W. Pickworth were appointed Central Council representatives for the next triennial session.

A suggestion that an alteration be made in the name of the association, so as to bring the diocesan part of the title into greater prominence, was referred to by Mr. Trollope, who asked members seriously to consider the advisability of making some change. The president referred to the advantages of using the term 'Diocesan,' whilst Mr. C. T. Coles urged caution in view of a future breaking-up of the diocese. The matter was left over for discussion by the districts.

A recommendation from the Central Committee that the sum of £2 2s. be given to the Rev. H. Law James Memorial Fund was endorsed.

Ealing was chosen for the next annual meeting.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Bishop of Kensington for his excellent sermon, which they had all so much enjoyed; to the incumbents of Clerkenwell, Cripplegate and St. Giles-in-the-Fields, for the use of the bells at their respective churches; to the clergy who had conducted the service; to Mr. Rideaux, the organist, who had added considerably to the harmony of the proceedings; and to Miss Bailey and friends for an excellently served tea. This was carried with acclamation.

Subsequently some good practice was obtained in most of the standard methods, both at St. James', Clerkenwell, where Mr. Pye catered for all ringing tastes, and at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, where Mr. A. W. Coles was in charge. Thus ended a meeting which for enthusiasm and good-fellowship will long be remembered.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. GROWTH IN MEMBERSHIP AND FUNDS.

The annual meeting of the Kent County Association was held at Chislehurst on Easter Monday, when about 120 members attended. The committee met earlier in the day, and, among other business transacted, five guineas was voted from the Belfry Repairs Fund to Thowley Church, where the present peal of six are to be rehung and two trebles added as a memorial to the late Lord Harris, who was a foundation member of this association.

The service of the association was held in the Church of St. Nicholas at noon, and was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Dr. O. Hardman, who in his address said that every time they heard the bells, whether mournful or joyful, they were ringing out the Christian message. A collection in aid of the Benevolent Fund amounted to £14s. 1d.

The luncheon followed in the Village Hall, presided over by Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, supported by the Rector and the Rev. F. W. Hassard-Short, Vicar of St. Luke's, Bromley, and the officers of the association. Among the many apologies for absence was one from the late hon. secretary, Canon F. J. O. Helmore, and the secretary was asked to convey the best wishes and kindly affection of the members to Canon Helmore.

After the loyal toast had been duly honoured, Mr. F. White submitted 'The Archbishop and Clergy.' He said it was one which it was always a delight to honour as churchmen and women and as bellringers, because from the clergy they did get such wonderful help, both from the way in which they were allowed the use of the bells for their meetings and practices and from the services when visiting the churches. He thanked the incumbents of the various towers who had allowed their towers to be opened that day, and coupled with the toast the name of the Rev. Dr. O. Hardman.

Dr. Hardman, in replying, welcomed the association to Chislehurst, and assured them that the clergy in the county were not only glad to welcome them to the towers for ringing the bells, but looked upon them as most valuable assistants in the ministry of the Church by the service which they rendered. Bells were a part of the whole tradition of Church life in the Church of England.

Mr. F. Mitchell, hon. secretary and treasurer, presented the annual report and balance sheet, which showed the association to be in a distinctly flourishing condition.

OVER £900 IN HAND.

The report showed that in spite of the conditions prevailing in the country the association was steadily carrying on its work and maintaining its efficiency, as was evidenced by its growth of members and financial resources. The meetings, 32 of which had been held in various parts of the county during the past year, were well attended, and it was distinctly encouraging to see that younger members were taking up the art, and a keener interest in the affairs of the association. They had 112 towers in union, an increase of two over the previous year, and the membership had increased from 1,371 to 1,411. Peals of 5,040 and over had totalled 147, and had been rung in 61 towers. Grants from the Belfry Fund had been made to the extent of £11 to Sandhurst, Little Chart and Woolwich. Three grants of £5 each had been voted from the Benevolent Funds to aged and deserving members during the year. Losses by death had robbed them of two valuable members, Messrs. E. Barnett and E. Buesden, among many others. Mr. Barnett had been a member for 44 years, a member of the committee for 40 years, and represented the association on the Central Council since 1902. The vacancy on the Benevolent Committee caused by his death had been filled by the election to the committee of Mr. W. J. Jeffries. Mr. Buesden was at one time secretary of the Canterbury District and leader of the ringers at Canterbury Cathedral. To the bereaved of all who had been called to higher service they offered their sympathy.

The financial report and balance sheets were submitted. The balance in the General Fund was £39 13s. 7d., a slight decrease on the previous year. The balance in the Belfry Repair Fund was £129 16s. 11d., an increase of £9 11s. 6d., and the Benevolent Fund showed an increased balance of £23 8s. 11d., being £195 15s. 11d. With the invested funds the total in hand now amounted to £912 12s. 1d., an increase of £30 over the previous year.

Mr. E. H. Lewis (chairman) said the report and balances were distinctly satisfactory, and congratulated Mr. Mitchell on the result of the year's work. He also took the opportunity of congratulating him on his election as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

On the proposition of Mr. Steddy (Edenbridge) the report and balance sheets were unanimously adopted.

THE EDWIN BARNETT MEMORIAL SCHEME.

Mr. Lewis, referring to the memorial to the late Mr. Edwin Barnett, said the matter was discussed at a meeting of the sub-committee at Crayford Church, and it was decided to collect funds for a memorial to take the form of a screen to replace the curtain between the tower and the church in the tower arch. The screen would cost about £80, but if it was not possible to raise that amount they might get the design modified to meet the amount collected. He appealed to all to support the fund.

DEATH OF MR. C. W. PLAYER. LOSS TO KENT RINGING.

The Kent County Association and the Romney Marsh Guild has lost a stalwart by the death of Mr. Charles William Player, of Stone-in-Oxney, who died on April 22nd, at the age of 55 after only four days' illness from pneumonia. He was a member of the Central Council and one of the pioneers of the Romney Marsh Guild, which does so much good work in a scattered district in Kent. He carried on business as a builder, the firm having been established by his great-grandfather. A widow, three sons and a daughter are left in bereavement.

Mr. Player began his ringing career at Margate, but moved to Stone about 30 years ago. His first peal (Grandsire Triples) was rung at Faversham on December 23rd, 1901, and his last attempt was at the same tower on April 1st, when a peal of Superlative Surprise unfortunately came to grief about half-way. Altogether Mr. Player had rung 293 peals, of which he had conducted 37.

There was a large gathering at the funeral which took place at Stone on Wednesday week, among those assembled to pay a last tribute of respect being no fewer than 63 ringers from 22 towers.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. Newman, assisted by Canon F. J. O. Helmore, of Canterbury Cathedral, formerly hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, Rev. G. Wright (Appledore), Rev. W. E. Watson (Wittersham), and the Vicar of Lympne (Rev. A. L. Brine). The family mourners were Mr. P. Player (brother), Messrs. George, Harold and Thomas Player (sons), and Miss Margaret Player (daughter).

The bellringers present included Mr. C. W. Everett (Master) and Mr. P. Page (secretary), Romney Marsh Guild; Mr. A. C. Kay, district secretary of the Guild; Messrs. S. Finn (Brabourne), C. Tribe and R. Edwards (Tenterden), A. Battin (late of Tenterden), Slingsby (Sturry), Saxby (Margate), Harrison-Smith (Wickhambreau), E. S. Ruck (Willesborough), C. Franklin (Kingsnorth), Parkes (Canterbury), Bignall (Hythe), F. Bennett (Brighton) and others.

The coffin was of polished oak with brass furniture made in the workshops of his firm, and the bearers were selected from the oldest employes.

After the committal, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by Messrs. C. Tribe, H. S. Humphrey, F. Bennett and H. Parkes.

The family wreaths were inscribed: 'In loving memory of my dear Charlie and our dear Dad, Clara, the boys and Margaret; 'In loving memory of my dear brother,' from Henry and his family.

There were over 50 wreaths, among them being flowers from the Romney Marsh and District Guild; the Stone ringers; Tenterden ringers; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Sone (Paddock Wood); F. White (Crabrook); W. Wenban (Staplehurst); 'His Margate ringing pals, 1900-1933'; Mr. and Mrs. R. Edwards and family (Tenterden); E. H. Stuteley (Rye); Mr. and Mrs. Pitman; Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey and Bert (New Romney); Mr. and Mrs. G. Harvey and family (Wittersham); etc.

Seven candidates had been nominated for representatives on the Central Council, and the voting resulted in the election of Messrs. F. M. Mitchell, T. Groombridge, sen., J. H. Cheesman and T. E. Sone.

All the officers were re-elected, and Mr. F. White proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the hon. secretary. He said no one realised the amount of work the position entailed. In Mr. Mitchell they had one who was adequately carrying on the work of Canon Helmore, and he wished him good health and long life to carry out the duties as their hon. secretary.

In replying, Mr. Mitchell said when elected he would do his best, and so long as his best was appreciated by the members he would be happy to carry on as their hon. secretary. He had excellent district secretaries, and thanked them for their work during the past year. He thanked Mr. Lewis for his kind remarks on his election as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, a position of which he was justly proud.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting. In addition to St. Nicholas' tower, other towers open during the day were SS. Peter and Paul's, Bromley, St. Luke's, Bromley, St. George's, Beckenham, St. John's, Eltham, and St. Mary Cray.

THE CASE FOR JUDGMENT.

There is a remarkable divergence of opinion among ringers on the topic which has become known as 'the Minor controversy' and to which the Central Council will be called upon to devote some of its time at the meeting on Whitsun Tuesday. The divergence is two-fold. First, there is the difference of view on the technical side. There are those, on the one hand, who hold strongly that nothing but the pure, unadulterated, conventional 'true and complete 720 changes' shall be admitted in the constitution of a peal of Minor and those who, on the other, contend that a peal of Minor can be equally true and complete if, in practice, far wider limits are given to its conditions. That is the case upon which judgment has to be given. If the Council find in favour of those who ask that the old conventions shall be broken down and fresh standards erected, then they have to decide further how far beyond the old barriers they recommend ringers to draw the new line.

The points at issue are not easy to settle, but that would be no reason for dismissing the question by blindly refusing to admit anything except the ancient definition merely because it may appear to be the simplest way out. The issue has now resolved itself into this: The Council is asked to decide whether a peal of 5040 of Minor shall consist of

- (1) Seven true and complete round blocks of 720 changes and that alone; or
- (2) These same 720's; or, as a special exception, compositions on the Bankes' James Cambridge Minor plan, because of their unusual merits and qualities; or
- (3) These same 720's, or, for exceptional reasons, any compositions which produces the 720 changes not more or less than seven times.

There is a fourth alternative, viz., to leave the definition of a peal of Minor in the terms in which it now stands on the Council's minute book at this moment: 'That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's rung without interval and without "rounds" or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 720.' This, in our opinion, is in substance, if not in theory, what is asked for by (2) above.

The second divergence of view among ringers, to which we referred, is not a technical one, but as to whether the Minor controversy is worth the time and ink spent upon it. Those who think the discussion of the question is just a waste of effort, are, we are afraid, mostly those who have no interest in Minor ringing. They seldom, if ever, ring a six-bell peal, and therefore do not fully realise that the men who rarely ring on any higher number are just as anxious to have their peals defined as eight-bell ringers would be, if, for instance, there was any question as to what should constitute a peal of Major. The practice of a couple of hundred years has settled this for the eight-bell ringers, but what is now proposed with regard to a six-bell peal is an upheaval of the conceptions of generations. To the six-bell ringers, therefore, it is a matter of importance, and while the old argument still stands that you cannot compel anyone to obey a ruling on this or any other subject connected with ringing, it is nevertheless a fact that the decisions of the Council do permeate among the rank and file, who look to the Council for a lead and who more and more in the future may be expected to accept these rulings, which their own associations, in the majority of cases, have undertaken loyally to recognise.

SPLICED GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

HUNDREDS OF CALLINGS.

BY GABRIEL LINDOFF.

As the Central Council at their next meeting are going into the question of what shall constitute a peal of Minor and Doubles, I have been investigating, with the idea of seeing if any advantage is to be gained from splicing the various callings of Doubles. I place the results, so far as I have gone, before the Exercise so that they may judge for themselves.

I may say I was surprised that such a mass of material was opened up, and if I was able to be present at the meeting should wholeheartedly support the resolution.

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

Prick out the old ten extents with 3rd and 5th half-hunt bells. Then prick out the same in the reverse, i.e., starting from 13254. These latter have the 2nd and 4th as half-hunt bells.

Upon examination it will be found that four leads in each of the forward extents are similar to four in each of the reverse. These mark A, B, C and D, thus:—

Forward.	Reverse.
2345	3254
A 2534	B 3425
B 3425 —	5234 S
3542	3452 —
4235 —	A 2534 S
4523	2453
3245 S	C 3524 S
C 3524	D 2435 —
D 2435 —	5324 S
2543	5432
4325 —	2354 S
2345 S	3254 S

Start the forward extent, and when we come to A cross over to the reverse extent at A, ring the whole of that extent, and when we return to A switch over to A in the forward extent and complete that extent.

Next treat B, C and D in like manner. We have the following results:—

A	B	C	D
240	240	240	240
2345	2345	2345	2345
A 2534	2534	2534	2534
2453	B 3425 B	3425 B	3425 B
3524 S	5234 S	3542	3542
2435 B	3452 B	4235 B	4235 B
5324 S	2534 S	4523	4523
5432	2453	3245 S	3245 S
2354 S	3524 S	C 3524	3524
5423 B	2435 B	2435 B	D 2435 B
3254 S	5324 S	5324 S	5324 S
3425	5432	5432	5432
5234 S	2354 S	2354 S	2354 S
3452 B	5423 B	5423 B	5423 B
A 2534 S	3254 S	3254 S	3254 S
3425 B	B 3425	3425	3425
3542	3542	5235 S	5234 S
4235 B	4235 B	3452 B	3452 B
4523	4523	2534 S	2534 S
3245 S	3245 S	2453	2453
3524	3524	C 3524 S	3524 S
2435 B	2435 B	2435 B	D 2435 B
2543	2543	2543	2543
4325 B	4325 B	4325 B	4325 B
4532	4532	4532	4532
2345 S	2345 S	2345 S	2345 S

Each of the ten forward extents, if spliced in like manner to each of the ten reverse, gives us three hundred and sixty-eight 240's, equalling 88,320 changes without a repetition of calling.

I might add that in the majority of cases four double extents will be obtained.

DEVON GUILD.

The Aylesbeare Deanery Branch held a very pleasant meeting at Honiton Clyst on Saturday, May 6th, when there was an attendance of about 45. A service was held in the church, at which the Rector (the Rev. Dr. Keane) gave a most helpful address and offered a warm welcome to the branch. An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, and the subsequent business meeting was presided over by the chairman of the branch, the Rev. E. A. Jullian, Rector of Whimpe. Guild certificates were presented to Messrs. D. and B. Fidgeon, of East Bridleigh, and the next meeting arranged for September 9th at Colaton Raleigh. Some good ringing took place on the very nice ring of eight bells during the afternoon and evening.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DIVISION'S FIRST MEETING.

Splendid weather favoured the twice postponed meeting of the newly-formed Southern Division on Saturday, April 22nd, at Southover, Lewes, about 30 members attending. Ringing commenced soon after 2.30 p.m., and continued until 5.15 p.m., when an excellent tea was served in the Church Hall. Owing to the Rector being called away, no service was held.

At the business meeting the Master, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman, referred to the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, whom he had known for nearly 40 years, and the members stood in silence as a token of respect.

Four new members were elected, viz., W. Murrell and F. Hicks (Rotherfield), F. Shepherd (Shoreham), and G. Berkshire (of the Good Shepherd, Brighton). Messrs. S. E. Armstrong, F. W. Cripps and K. Hart were elected on the Association Committee and the Committee of Advice.

The Hon. General Secretary, Mr. A. D. Sione, reminded members that the annual meeting would be held on Whit Monday, June 5th, at Brighton.

The towers represented were St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd, Brighton; Crawley, Cuckfield, Hurstpierpoint, Lindfield, Ringmer, Rotherfield, Seaford, Shoreham, Southover, Lewes, Turner's Hill and Uckfield. After the meeting a further visit was made to the tower, touches in methods being successfully rung.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Alton District was held at Froyle on April 22nd. This annual fixture was favoured with beautiful weather, and a large number of ringers attended to accept the hospitality of Sir Hubert Miller. Ringing began in good time and continued till 4.30, when the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. H. Sangster), with Mr. Stroud (Frensham) at the organ. Tea was served at the Shrubbery House, when Sir Hubert personally entertained the ringers, and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many present. The party numbered 33, representing, in addition to the local band, the towers of Alton, Blackmoor, Bramshott, Frensham, Liss, Privett, Steep and Winchester Cathedral.

In the regrettable absence of Rev. F. G. Eyres (chairman of the district), Mr. Wilfred Andrews proposed a vote of thanks to Sir Hubert Miller, which was seconded by Mr. Read, and carried with applause.

A stroll round the grounds, in the full perfection of their spring beauty, was much enjoyed by all before ringing was resumed.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.SECRETARY COMPLETES TEN YEARS IN OFFICE.

On Saturday week the Leeds and District Society's annual general meeting was held at Batley Church. The president for the past three years is a service ringer here. At this quaint old church the belfry is down stairs from the outside level of the churchyard, and in the belfry is an ancient ringers' notice board which is printed in very old English style.

The bells were rung up at 3.15 p.m., and ringing continued until 9 o'clock. Close on 40 members were present during the day from Almondbury, Armley, Bramley, Burley, Calverley, Drighlington, Headingley St. Michael's, Earlsheaton, Elland, Dewsbury, Birstall, Liversedge, Pudsey, Northowram, Queensbury, Wakefield and the local company.

The business meeting was held in the tower. The president took the chair, and one new member, Mr. J. Moorhouse, of Wakefield, was elected.

The balance sheet for the past year was adopted, on the motion of the president.

The secretary read his report, which showed the total membership of the society to be 178. One outside appeal had been supported—the Davies Memorial Fund—and the financial side again showed an increase.

The retiring officials were re-elected for the coming year.

The best thanks of the society were accorded the Vicar of Batley and the local company. A special vote of thanks was passed to the secretary on the completion of 10 years of office.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.NEW CENTRAL DISTRICT APPROVED.

The annual meeting was held at Cambridge on Easter Monday and attracted a fair number of ringers. The towers of St. Mary, St. Andrew, St. Bene't and the R.C. Church were open for ringing at intervals during the day and were made good use of. The business meeting was held in the vestry of St. Mary's Church at 4 p.m. under the Rev. R. Copeman as chairman.

The report and balance sheet were not of any sensational character. Officers were almost all re-elected, but Mr. T. R. Dennis retired from being representative on the Central Council in favour of Miss K. Willers.

The next annual meeting was arranged to be held at St. Neots.

The formation of a Central District, around Ely, provoked an animated discussion, but was approved by the meeting, with the necessary change in the rules.

Votes of thanks terminated the proceedings. A short service in St. Mary's Church followed the meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Rupert Richardson has lost no time in 'completing the circle' at Surfleet. By ringing the second to a peal of Cambridge Maximus he has now rung a peal on every bell in the tower.

We are very pleased to state that after eight weeks in a nursing home at Southampton Mrs. George Williams is home again at Eastleigh and is making improvement. Mr. and Mrs. Williams wish to thank the many ringing friends who have written to them during Mrs. Williams' illness. They hope to reply to each individually as soon as possible.

Bands who desire to compete in the open six-bell ringing contest at Hoylandswaine, Yorks, on June 24th, should write for copy of rules to Mr. E. Brookes, Hall Lane, Hoylandswaine.

A few seats at 11s. are available in a private motor coach to Christchurch on Saturday, July 8th, in connection with the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild. It is rumoured that Kate may be present, so roll up, bachelors! Any ringer wishing to join the party should send to Mrs. Fletcher, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield.

Short notice of a meeting of the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association appears to-day. The meeting is at Hale to-morrow afternoon.

It had been hoped to attempt an 'Empire' peal at St. Clement Danes', London, on May 24th (Empire Day), but we are informed that it has had to be postponed. The band was to have consisted of ringers who have sojourned at some time or other in distant parts of the Empire.

The band who rang the peal of Double Oxford Bob Triples at Upton-on-Severn, April 22nd, would like to know if a peal in that method had been rung before.

The peal rung at Bocking on April 29th was the first of Bristol by all resident members of that division of the Essex Association. The correct time for the peal of Treble Bob at Feering on April 22nd was 3 hours 9 mins.

The report of a peal of Minor, rung at Upchurch, Kent, on April 1st, has been sent without the name of the conductor.

The peal of Superlative at Handbridge, Cheshire, on April 1st, contained 5,083 changes, and not 5,184 as reported.

Fifty peals of Stedman Triples, forty peals of Stedman Caters and twenty peals of Stedman Cinques are the totals which J. S. Goldsmith can now claim after a peal of Triples at Godalming, Surrey, on Saturday.

Pressure on our space compels us to hold over a number of reports of meetings and peals and an article on the Minor controversy by Mr. Stephen H. Wood.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Nineteen societies have so far failed to pay the subscription, which became due on January 1st.

Members of the Council are requested to advise me as soon as possible if they are coming to the meeting, in order that adequate arrangements can be made at the Skinners Hall.

The members of the Council and their friends are invited to tea by the members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, at Slater's Restaurant, 50, Cannon Street, E.C., after the Council meeting. To enable a correct estimate to be arrived at, tickets will be issued, and applications for these should be made to Mr. C. T. Coles, 21, Vincent Road, Highams Park, London, E.4.

Any member desiring to take part in peals on Saturday, June 3rd, or Whit Monday in West Middlesex should write without delay to Mr. W. H. Hollier, 29, Duke Road, Chiswick, W.4.

GEORGE W. FLETCHER,

Hon. Secretary.

METHODS AND PROGRESS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is the ambition of every tower leader worthy of the name to see his ringers make progress. He knows the weak points which may retard progress, but as long as his band improves on the 1½ hours' practice a week (which, incidentally, is not enough to learn to play a tin whistle), he is a happy man. I can hardly see how one can say whether ringing generally is improving or not by how many methods are rung in a peal of Minor. You may have six men from as many towers who can ring almost any method, all anxious to add to their peal number. Let them enjoy themselves by all means, but the words 'Rung by the local band' after the peal carries a great deal more in some cases than 'Seven Surprise methods' in others.

There are hundreds of towers where change ringing proper is done to-day, where it was not even heard of in Jasper Snowden's time. Galhampton.

P.S.—When are we to get the pamphlet on 'How to hold the rope'? I saw a man nearly hanged last week.

W. A. OSBORN.

COMING-OF-AGE CELEBRATION.

To celebrate the 'coming of age' of Mr. W. A. (Billy) Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Lawrence Jewry on Sunday week. Father and grandfather (Mr. W. D. Smith) rang in the touch: W. D. Smith 1, A. A. Hughes 2, E. Murrell 3, A. Bacchus 4, S. Stonad 5, F. Shorter (conductor) 6, G. Moody 7, E. Owen 8.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

MARKED ADVANCEMENT IN HIGHER METHODS.

One of the most successful meetings ever held by the Surrey Association took place last Saturday, when over a hundred members and friends attended the annual general meeting at Southwark Cathedral. The Cathedral bells were kept going from three o'clock, and at five o'clock choral evensong was held. A most interesting address was given by the Rev. Canon A. H. Phelps, Vicar of Wimbledon, who spoke of his long connection with bellringing at Worcester, Pershore and Dudley. He appreciated the good work of the various associations to further the art of bellringing, and emphasised the need of towers being affiliated to the county or diocesan associations.

Tea was served in the Chapter House (the overflow had tea in a neighbouring cafe), and was followed by the business meeting. Mr. D. K. C. Birt (Master) presided, supported by Mr. C. Dean (hon. treasurer), Mr. C. H. Kippin (hon. secretary), Mr. F. E. Darby (assistant secretary), etc. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. A. A. Hughes, C. F. Johnston, R. White and H. E. Wills. The association expressed the hope of a speedy recovery to Mr. Wills, who is at present in hospital.

NINE SURPRISE METHODS BUT ONLY ONE OF GRANDSIRE

The committee's report was as follows:

The year 1932 shows a marked advancement in the ringing of higher methods, peals of no less than nine different Surprise Major methods having been rung during the year, and a peal of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major. At the same time only one peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, and the committee hope that this does not show a lack of enthusiasm upon the part of fresh ringers but is due to progression towards more advanced methods. Fifty peals have been rung, 26 in the North-Western District and 24 in the Southern District, being an increase of 15 upon the previous years. This is probably due to the remission of the peal booking fee. Set against this, however, is the increase in number of towers where peal ringing has been stopped or severely curtailed through complaints by parishioners, and it is hoped that, in these cases, the work of boarding up the louvres, thus modifying the sound in the near vicinity of the towers, will be carried out, thus enabling the association to have the same facilities for ringing as in the past. The conductors of the peals numbered 16. Mr. C. H. Kippin conducted 21 peals, Mr. L. A. Tidy 10, Messrs. A. R. Pink and G. F. Hoad three each, Mr. H. R. Thorpe two, Messrs. F. E. Collins, A. H. Winch, T. Price, H. B. Wells, W. S. Smith, W. Claydon, W. H. Hewett, W. Williams, O. Sippetts, A. Harman and F. E. Darby one each.

The peals were rung in 28 towers, four of which were outside the county. Four peals of Cambridge Royal were rung, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Royal one each, Stedman Caters two, Grandsire Caters two, London Surprise Major three, Bristol, Londonthorpe, New Cambridge two each, Superlative Surprise Major six, Cambridge, Ashtead, Beddington, Cambridge and Superlative (Spliced), Ipswich Surprise Major one each, Plain Bob Major two, Stedman Triples one, Grandsire Triples one, London Surprise Minor two, Cambridge Surprise Minor 3, Minor in seven methods three, in six methods two, in five methods two, in four methods three, Plain Bob Minor one, and Doubles in three methods one. The peals of Beddington and Londonthorpe were the first ever rung, and Ashtead and Ipswich first peals in the method for the association. The peal of Doubles was rung at Coulsdon Old Church, and although the bells represent the oldest complete peal in the county this was the first peal rung upon them.

FINANCIAL PROGRESS.

In accordance with the resolution passed at the last annual general meeting, another peal book has been purchased at a cost of £6 15s., and next year the committee hope to report that the number of peals that require writing up will be considerably reduced. The association still progresses financially. The balance in hand on December 31st, 1932, was £41 13s. 3d., compared with £46 8s. 8d. at the beginning of the year. There would have been a substantial increase in the balance upon the year's working, but, in addition to the usual expenses, arrangements for the special meeting at Croydon entailed an expenditure of £7 5s. 2d. It should be remembered that there will be a loss in revenue to the association caused by the remission of the peal booking fee. The committee regret to report that three members have passed away during the year. Mr. John Wyatt (Ashtead), who had been a member of the association for the greatest consecutive number of years, Mr. H. J. Rumble, who had been also a member for many years, and Admiral T. P. Walker, who was hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Our neighbours sustained a great loss by his death, and have the association's sympathy. The North-Western District has had a most successful year from all standpoints, meetings have been well attended, progress has been made in most towers in the district, new and higher methods have been practised to a greater extent, more peals have been rung than in 1931, and also the membership has slightly increased. In conclusion the officers and committee thank all members for their support during the past year.

Six new members were elected to the association—Messrs. G. Briggs and L. Greenbow (SS. Peter and Paul's, Mitcham), C. S. Broadbridge (Christ Church, Mitcham), Messrs. G. Welch and R. Pocock (Merstham) and A. J. Harding (Clapham Common).

Seven towers were proposed for the next annual meeting, including Southwark Cathedral again. After a vote, Beddington was chosen, with Leatherhead as second choice.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A most successful joint meeting of the Eastern and Western Districts of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Chester-le-Street on Saturday week. Ringers were present from Blaydon, Consett, Whickham, Tamfield, Willington, Houghton-le-Spring, Durham, Kirkby Stephen, Sunderland, Newcastle, West Hartlepool, Gateshead, and the local men.

The beautiful bells of St. Mary's and St. Cuthbert's were kept going during the afternoon, and afterwards a happy party sat down to a bountiful tea. A short meeting took place immediately after, Mr. R. L. Patterson, vice-president of the Eastern District, being in the chair.

After the loyal toast, the chairman welcomed the Rector, Canon F. H. Jackson, to the meeting, and made sympathetic reference to the deaths of Mr. Gofton and Mr. Siddle. The members present stood in silence as a token of respect.

Canon Jackson, in replying to the welcome extended to him, said that while he had not often attended ringers' meetings they could be assured that his thoughts were always with them, and although he could not ring a bell he had tried once, when there was no ringer present to toll for an evening service. His wife was present, and as he pulled the rope it went flying all over the belfry, and he said to his wife, 'Run, run for your life.' Of course he had never touched them since (laughter). However, his interest was with the bells. It was, he added, a great pleasure to see a good number of ringers present, and he thanked them for their work for the church. Bellringing was a noble art and science, and he hoped they would all be spared many years to give their services. The Canon went on to refer to the fact that King Athelstan gave the sanctus bell in the year A.D. 900, and in doing so had said, 'If any person take any article away that I have given to this church, let him be condemned in the Day of Judgment with Judas the traitor.'

Mr. Anderson, president of the association, proposed a vote of thanks to the Canon for the use of the bells, and the Rector suitably replied.

Mr. W. Storey proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for providing such a splendid tea, and said the ringers were grateful to them in that, by the kindly spirit which they showed, they helped the district meetings to be a success. Mr. Storey also gave some happy reminiscences of his part in bellringing during the last 50 years. The vice-president also remarked on the good comradeship of the ringers, and mentioned the fact that one of the ringers had made the long journey from Kirkby Stephen to ring with his old friends again. That, said Mr. Storey, was the spirit that helped the fine art of ringing.

Mr. J. W. Parker proposed that a joint meeting be held at Gateshead on Saturday, June 10th, and this was carried.

The meeting then closed, and the ringers went back to the belfry, where ringing took place until 8.30 p.m. All the ringers had their turn on the bells, and the methods rung were Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. It was a pleasing feature to see some young ringers have their first touch at a meeting. It was one of the most successful district meetings held in Durham for a long while.

CHURCH'S 873rd ANNIVERSARY.

At Waltham Abbey, for matins on May 7th, to celebrate the 873rd anniversary of the consecration of the church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Mrs. Berry 1, C. House (first quarter 'inside') 2, Miss G. Church 3, G. Thurgood 4, W. Newnham 5, F. Perrin 6, A. House (conductor) 7, W. Perry 8.

As no other nominations were received, all the retiring officers were declared elected for the ensuing 12 months. Three nominations were received for Central Council representatives, but as the membership of the association was six short of the number required for three representatives, Mr. C. Dean withdrew his nomination, and Mr. C. H. Kippin and Mr. D. Cooper were elected.

The Secretary reported upon the Davies Memorial scheme, details of which have appeared in 'The Ringing World.' In accordance with the committee's recommendation, the association voted a sum of £2 2s. to the fund.

It was reported that one of the old members of the association had been very ill for a long time, and sympathy was shown in a practical way by a whip round at the meeting, which brought a generous response.

A vote of thanks to the chairman, and to all those who had contributed in making the meeting such a success, concluded the business.

Good use was made of the Cathedral bells during the afternoon and evening. Rounds on twelve to Treble Twelve and also a course of London Royal were rung.

At the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, good use of the bells was made in Triples and Major during the afternoon and evening. Members attended from Ashtead, Beddington, Benilton, Buckland, Croydon, Camberwell, Esher, Ewell, Guildford, Kingswood, Leatherhead, Mitcham, Reigate and Streatham, with visitors from London, Loughton (Essex), Tiverton (Devon), Dartford and Rochester (Kent), Feltham (Middlesex), Henfield (Sussex) and Sheffield.

It was the first time the association had met at Southwark Cathedral, and in view of its great success, it is hoped that this will not be the last to be held at this historic place.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.TRIBUTES TO THE LATE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN.

The second meeting of the year of the Stockport and Bowdon Branch was held at Reddish on Saturday, April 29th. Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock, and the service which followed at 4.30 was conducted by the Rector. The organist and choirboys were present. The organ here is a very fine one, and in the hands of such a splendid organist was heard to great advantage, especially in the voluntary at the conclusion of the service. The church, a brick structure, was built and endowed by the late Sir William Houldsworth in the latter part of the last century, and the tower contains a merry ring of eight bells with a tenor of 12½ cwt. from the famous Loughborough Foundry. Needless to say, these were made full use of during the afternoon and evening. After full justice had been done to a bountiful tea provided in the schools by the local ringers' wives, the business meeting followed. In the absence of the branch chairman, Mr. W. Gordon presided. Three new members were elected, viz., Albert Andrew Fildes, of Hyde, Edward Jackson, of Stockport St. Mary, and Horace Whittaker, of Disley.

The Chairman stated that the suggestion made by the hon. secretary at the last meeting, that members should make the annual Guild Festival at Chester the occasion of their annual outing, had been acted upon, four bands having so far notified their intention of doing so. He also appealed to others to do likewise, and the hon. secretary promised to give full particulars of the arrangements at the next meeting.

Mr. Wolstencroft congratulated the band who had rung the peal of Treble Bob Minor in 35 methods on the previous Saturday, and hoped they would go on and ring a peal in 42 methods, which he believed was possible.—Mr. Barnes and the chairman also voiced their congratulations, and the members present gave audible acknowledgment. Mr. Ernest Bennett, the conductor of the peal, returned the thanks of the band, and said they would attempt a peal in 42 methods when they could get an arrangement of the methods to comprise the peal in seven true 720's.

The Chairman moved a vote of condolence on the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and that copies be sent to his widow and to the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He said that not only the Oxford Guild, but the whole ringing Exercise had lost a good ringer and a true friend. He also read the appreciation by 'W. W.' from 'The Ringing World'.—Mr. Wolstencroft also spoke of the good work that the deceased had done to uplift ringers and ringing, and said that the tower at Caversham reflected his work.—Mr. Barnes also spoke of the thoroughness of Mr. Jenkyn's labours, and the members stood for some moments in silence.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector, the organist and choirboys, and also to the local ringers and tea servers for all they had done to make the day so enjoyable.

This concluding the business, a return was made to the tower, where methods ranging from Bob Minor to London and Bristol Surprise Major were rung to give all present—over fifty ringers—an opportunity of having a pull, the bells being finally lowered about 9.20 p.m.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.
SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF FYLDE BRANCH.

A meeting of the Fylde Branch was held at Kirkham on Saturday, May 6th, and, with the kindly help of several members of the Preston Branch, was a great success. Shortly after 3 p.m. the bells were rolling along in Grandsire Triples and, despite the very long draught of rope, the striking was good. Bob Major and Double Norwich followed, and some of the local team were steered through 120 Bob Doubles and 180 Bob Minor. Tea was provided at short notice in the school nearby, and was much appreciated by all. After tea the secretary, in a slightly reminiscent mood, referred to the fact that the Fylde Branch was formed after a meeting held at Lytham in June, 1891, and the Preston Branch in February, 1892.

It was decided to hold the June meeting at Singleton.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the local team for having everything ready, and to the lady for arranging the tea, also to Mr. R. Taylor for his services as chairman. Previous to going back to the tower for more ringing, a member of the branch, who has been instructing the local team, tapped a course of Bob Minor and Bob Major on handbells he had bought at a nominal price through one of the local ringers, the member remarking that he got the instructions from 'The Ringing World' of September 3rd, 1926, written by Mr. J. A. Trollope.

Touches of Stedman, Kent and Little Bob brought the meeting to a close.

FATHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

Five fathers and their five daughters attempted a peal at Manchester Cathedral on Saturday, but were unfortunate in losing it through a broken rope. The attempt was made to celebrate the anniversary of the accession of H.M. the King and the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Crook. Afterwards a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung in 53 mins.: Miss Ethel Collier 1, Miss Norah M. Bibby 2, Miss G. Annie Crook 3, Miss Annie Potter 4, Mrs. Mary A. Tonge 5, James H. Hollier 6, William Bibby 7, Donald Brown 8, Peter Crook, sen. (conductor) 9, John Potter 10. D. Brown substituted for William H. Shaker after the peal failure.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.GREATER ENTHUSIASM FOR TEACHING NEEDED.

Preaching at the annual meeting of the North Notts Association at East Retford Church on April 22nd, the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall, and the representative of the association on the Central Council, asked, 'What is it that the North Notts Association needs so much to-day?' He thought the answer was that men who could teach should be willing to teach others this particular form of art. The preacher's text was taken from 2 Timothy ii. 2, 'And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.'

Mr. Wilkinson went on to suggest that a series of meetings should be arranged to be held in this part of Notts for the benefit of those who were willing to become instructors. The officials worked hard in carrying on the association, but they could not go into towers and make good bands of ringers. Such ringers needed an instructor to give them proper training.

There were glorious peals of bells in England which were practically not rung because there did not appear to be men who were apt to teach. He feared that the day would come when there would not be the men to ring the bells. It was marvellous to think of the many restorations which had been carried out in church belfries since 1919 and the amazing amount of money which had been raised, but what was needed was enthusiasm among men in the towers who were able to teach the art of change ringing.

Mr. Wilkinson urged upon his hearers not to be content with anything but the best in bell ringing.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Parkinson), and Mr. H. Blagg was at the harmonium.

Tea was partaken of in the Ebsworth Hall, and the Vicar presided over the business meeting. He was supported by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, the hon. treasurer and hon. secretary (Mr. R. W. Stockdale), hon. assistant secretary (Mr. H. Revill), and the auditor (Mr. D. A. Piety).

Among others present were Mrs. A. E. Rowsell, Lancham (hon. life member), Mr. J. H. Brothwell (Treeton), Mr. J. Flint (Bolsover), Mr. C. Harrison and Mr. J. P. Fidler (Taylor and Co., Loughborough), and Mr. F. E. Collins (Gillett and Johnston, Croydon).

The Vicar extended a welcome to the association, and said he was always pleased for the members to meet at East Retford for the annual meeting. They had a responsibility to every tower in the area of the association inasmuch as Retford was a great centre for bell-ringers, and he expressed his high appreciation of the work that was being done by all the ringers.

BELL RESTORATION.

The following are extracts from the report of the secretary:—The past year has again been a success in the matter of finance; peal ringing has been an even greater success; the membership has increased by 20; but Sunday service ringing, I doubt, is not so good as it might be in many parts. Ten peals on tower bells were rung and one on handbells. The meeting at Newark was successful as regards attendance, but the 'go' of the bells was not so good as was expected. I was very sorry about this, because ringing in Newark is at a very low ebb, and I thought if we could get a successful day there we should get the art extended in this district. Bell restoration seems to be out of the question in North Notts. We have had a disappointment at Barnby, near Newark, where £300 was left to restore a peal of four bells, and a fifth was given. The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson has tried to persuade them to get a sixth, but the answer was always 'No, we cannot raise the money.' Friends in North Notts should remember that six bells are more musical than five, and eight more than six. When ringing bells we are calling people together to worship in the church, and I think the more music we can produce from the tower the more effect it will have outside.

The association, I think, is not making progress, but we are not declining. May I ask young ringers, and persons willing to ring, what is more pleasant and enjoyable than to be ringing bells for Sunday service, and at the same time having an interesting pastime? A good Sunday service band are mostly good change ringers, and good change ringers are generally good churchmen. So please try to improve both in the service to God and in the art of change ringing.

The membership roll up to the end of the year contains four hon. life members, 20 vice-presidents, 75 non-resident life members, 121 performing members, and three unattached members—223 in all.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson said he should like to add to the report that the Vicar of Barnby was trying to get a sixth bell, and there was a very good chance of him succeeding.

The report was adopted, and thanks were expressed to Mr. Stockdale for his excellent services during the past year.

The officers and committee were re-elected.

The Rev. B. Hughes (Ordsall) was elected a vice-president.

Messrs. O. Streets (Retford), A. Nash (Rotherham), L. Rollinson, B. Parsons and F. Priesley (Sutton-on-Trent) were elected unattached members.

It was decided to hold the annual contest for the Crawford Challenge Cup at Shireoaks on Saturday, September 30th.

The next meeting of the association was fixed to be held on Saturday, May 27th, at Edwinstowe and Perlethorpe.

MARRIAGE OF MR. STEPHEN WOOD. HANDBELLS AT THE WEDDING SERVICE.

The pretty little Church of Holy Trinity, Cold Ashton, was filled to overflowing on Saturday, April 29th, for the marriage of Mr. Stephen Henry Wood and Miss Margaret Mary Lennon, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Lennon, of Kilkenny, Ireland. Mr. Wood is the second son of Canon G. R. Wood, Rector of Cold Ashton, and Mrs. Wood, and is actively interested in ringing. While at Cambridge he practised with the University Guild, and rang many peals with them. Afterwards, while resident in Scotland, he got together a band in Glasgow and was largely instrumental in founding the Scottish Association. He has been elected an honorary member of the Central Council.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Canon Wood, who was assisted by Canon W. A. Robins, Vicar of St. Paul's, Bedford, who was a fellow-curate of the bridegroom's father at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol. The bridal party made a charming group in the flower-decked chancel. The bride, who was given in marriage by Dr. Basil Price, wore a dress of soft cream satin cut on Empire lines, and an old lace train, lent by the bridegroom's mother. The veil of old Honiton lace was held in place by orange blossom. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and pink carnations, and she wore a string of pearls and a diamond brooch, the gift of the bridegroom's parents. The bridesmaids were Miss Rosemary Harris, Miss Margaret Wood (sister of the bridegroom) and Miss Hilary Webb (cousin of the bride), who were attired in dresses of rose pink chiffon, with wreaths to match. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and vanity bags, the gifts of the bridegroom. The best man was Mr. C. F. Bull, and the ushers Mr. R. W. Wood and Mr. J. P. Wood.

The hymns sung were 'Lead us, Heavenly Father, lead us,' 'O Perfect Love,' and 'May the Grace of Christ our Saviour,' and a feature of the service was the introduction of handbells, there being no ringable tower bells at Cold Ashton. Before the Psalm a course of Stedman Triples was rung in the church by Messrs. F. H. Haynes, E. H. Lewis, W. H. J. Hooton (members of Cambridge University Guild), and G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary of the Central Council).

The organist was Mr. R. T. Morgan, of St. Mary Redcliffe, who amongst other music played an improvisation on the theme of Mr. Stephen Wood's hymn tune, 'Hogmanay,' while the bridal party were in the vestry. 'Hogmanay' is a new setting for the words of 'Tennyson's poem, 'Ring out the old, ring in the new.'

After the service the bridal party and the guests walked to the Rectory grounds, where photographs were taken while the sun shone brightly upon an animated scene. As the bride and bridegroom passed into the Rectory house the handbells were rung on the lawn, Mrs. Fletcher joining the other ringers in a course of Grandsire Caters, which much interested the uninitiated.

In the evening a peal of Stedman Caters, in honour of the event, was rung by members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association at St. Stephen's Church, Bristol, the composition being one by the bridegroom, which is on new lines and introduces a much greater variety of music than the customary tittums and handstroke positions.

The bride and bridegroom heard part of the peal on their way to Devonshire for their honeymoon.

SUFFOLK GUILD. SUBSCRIPTION RAISED.

The annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild, held on April 22nd, was probably the largest yet arranged, for while there were 60 who sat down to tea in St. Andrew's Hall (as against 64, the largest previous record, at Bury) there were a number who had to leave for distant parts of the county before then, while others, from nearer towers, did not arrive till later. St. Matthew's was chosen for the service and meeting this year with some hesitation, as, although the ring there has just been augmented, it was feared that the distance from the Tower Church and St. Margaret's would reduce the attendance. These fears, however, proved to be groundless, and a good congregation attended to hear the Rector, Rev. R. Sinker, give a most interesting and instructive sermon.

At the meeting afterwards, it was reported that the Guild had during the past year for the first time rung over 100 peals in the twelve months. The secretary said that they might well be proud of the fact that they had over 1,000 members on their books, and had got into three figures with their peals. They were, therefore, among the select band of Guilds who had done this—a small number almost to be counted on the fingers of one hand. Moreover, the others covered either more than one diocese or more than one county, while they in Suffolk were confined to one diocese and part only of one county.

The officers and committee were all re-elected with the addition of Rev. R. Sinker as vice-president and Mr. Laurence Poulson, of Lavenham, on the committee.

The accounts showed that the receipts each year were five pounds less than was needed to carry on the work of the Guild, and that the balance in hand was now down to five pounds. The Ringing Master, Mr. Ch. Sedgley, therefore proposed that the subscription be raised from 1s. to 1s. 6d. This was strongly opposed, especially by the secretary, but after a number of amendments had been lost, it was carried by a very large majority.

The chairman was heartily congratulated on the success of the appeal for the additional bell in St. Matthew's tower, and a hope was expressed, and much applauded, that he would not cease his efforts until the octave was complete.

The Secretary said that this was the second tower in Ipswich which the Guild had helped to improve, and he hoped they would not rest until all the towers were in proper order. He detailed the efforts he had made to get three other rings of bells in the town put into proper repair, but in each case it was in vain, owing to the un-instructed prejudices of some laymen in the respective parishes. All present agreed that it was a disgraceful thing that bells should be allowed to hang in a church tower and not be kept in order. It was clear that the members of the Guild intended to make the laymen connected with such churches feel ashamed of such a condition of things, so unfitting to a house of God.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.ALTERATIONS TO RULES.

The 26th annual meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Rugby on Saturday, April 22nd. There was a splendid attendance of members and friends from Allesley, Chilvers Coton, Clifton, Husband's Bosworth, King's Norton, Lillington, Nuneaton, South Kilworth, Stanford-on-Avon, Stoke-in-Coventry, Warwick, Welford and Wolvey, together with the local band. St. Andrew's Church, Rugby, is the proud possessor of two peals of bells, a ring of eight (tenor 25 cwt.) in the new tower, and a light ring of five in the old tower. The two peals were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, being rung alternately.

A committee meeting was held in the vestry, followed by service in the choir of the church, conducted by the Archdeacon of Coventry (Rev. J. W. Hunkin, M.A.), who is also Rector of Rugby. The hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' was sung, and the Guild's form of service was followed.

The address by the Archdeacon was based on the words, 'Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.' He stressed the point that ringing was a service to the community, and therefore a service to God. He read a poem by Rev. Hawker, 'Come to thy God in time,' which related the story of the loss of a peal of bells cast abroad and intended for Roscastle, Cornwall. The ship, with the bells on board, sank when in sight of the Cornish coast, 'owing to the impiety of the captain, who, taking upon himself all credit for a prosperous voyage, reviled the pilot for giving thanks to God.'

Tea at the White Heather Cafe followed the service, and then the members adjourned to the larger helfry, where the business meeting was held. Mr. J. H. W. White taking the chair. Apologies were read from Canon J. L. White (Vicar of Nuneaton), Rev. J. A. B. Davies (Vicar of Chilvers Coton), Mr. G. E. Over (Rugby), Mr. W. C. Rhodes (Birmingham) and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hinde and son (Bulkington).

At the commencement of the meeting those present stood for a short time in silence as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

Arising out of the minutes, the alteration of certain rules was again brought up. It was decided to alter them as follows: Rule 6: Delete the words 'hon. district secretaries.' Rule 7: That the annual meeting shall be held on the third Saturday in April at the following places in rotation, viz.: Warwick, Coventry, Nuneaton and Rugby. Rule 14 to be deleted.

The balance sheet for 1932 was read and passed, a balance of £25 19s. 8d. being shown.

The report of the general hon. secretary was adopted. It gave the membership as 257, made up of seven hon. life members, four hon. members, 137 non-resident members, and 119 ringing members. Thirty-two new members joined. Peals rung during 1932 numbered 14, Warwickshire Surprise Major on March 5th, at Nuneaton, and Spliced Treble Bob Major at Stoke, on December 31st, being the first rung in those methods by the Guild.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Rev. J. A. B. Davies; vice-presidents re-elected en bloc; Master of the Guild, Mr. J. H. W. White; hon. general secretary and treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Beamish; hon. auditor, Mr. A. H. Beamish; Central Council representatives, Messrs. F. W. Perrens and J. H. W. White.

The selected meeting places were: May, Grendon; June, Solihull; and July, Monk's Kirby.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector and the organist, and ringing continued in both towers until about 8.30, the majority of the standard methods being rung. D. E. B.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.CENTRAL DISTRICT'S FIRST OFFICIAL MEETING.

A good practice meeting, the first 'official' gathering of the new Central District, took place at Willingham, Cambs, on Saturday, April 29th. Very stormy weather kept several away, but about 25 were present during the evening. Service was held in the south chapel of the Parish Church, and the Rector, Canon A. C. Hair, M.A., gave a very interesting address, his theme being the brotherly feeling between ringers. Tea was taken at the Three Tuns, among the visitors being Mr. and Mrs. Percy Webb, of Ickleton. Methods rung included Plain Bob and Treble Bob and Spliced Treble Bob, with several Surprise methods, including London. It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Littleport on about May 27th.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION

A letter from the Vicar of Harworth, asking for the appointment of an instructor, to enable young men to ring at the Church of All Saints, was referred to the committee.

Mr. Collins, referring to the remarks of Mr. Wilkinson on the training of instructors, suggested that a syllabus should be prepared, and said it would be found very useful in imparting knowledge to learners of ringing.

Afterwards various touches were rung in the towers of East and West Retford and Ordsall Churches.

TWO SIMPLE FACTS.

From time to time it has been explained in this column why it is not possible to publish, much as we should like to do so, everything that is sent for insertion in 'The Ringing World.' It seems necessary that we should do so again, for there still seem to be some people who do not realise two simple facts; first, that you cannot squeeze a quart into a pint pot, and second, that no undertaking like 'The Ringing World' can be run privately at a continual loss. The activity in the ringing Exercise to-day is greater than ever it was. There are more meetings; more peals and touches rung; more events of interest happening than at any previous time, and most of them worthy of finding a place of record in the ringing paper. But it happens that 'The Ringing World' is limited to size, not for mechanical reasons, but by the cost of production and the revenue that the Exercise provides. There being, therefore, more material than the columns of the paper can accommodate, some kind of selection has to be made as to what can be used and what must, of necessity, be discarded. No one expects one of the great national newspapers to report all the events that happen in a day. They use what they think will be of the greatest interest to the greatest number. In a more modest way, the same policy has, under the circumstances, to be pursued by 'The Ringing World.'

This article is particularly prompted by a discussion which took place at a ringing meeting last Saturday, and in the course of which the old criticism was offered, that there would be more readers among young ringers if more touches were published. None would be better pleased than we should if the report of every quarter-peal that is rung could be published, but we are tempted to ask the question: Should ringers only buy the paper in order to see their names in print, or to keep themselves informed of what is going on in the art generally, and of the doings of the ringing organisations throughout the country? While we do not for a moment belittle the local importance of touches to the ringers concerned, a paper devoted to the ringing affairs of the whole country has to take the broader view and publish for preference those things which have the widest interest and importance. As was pointed out to the meeting in question by an honorary secretary, who obviously realises the difficulties of the editorial task, it is not merely the reports of touches which suffer from the restricted space; other matter has constantly to be sacrificed on the same altar. Frankly, however, we admit that the publication of touches is a matter of great perplexity, and of one thing we are convinced: That, whatever steps were taken, it would be almost impossible to satisfy the demands which would be made. We no sooner publish, when space permits, a column or so of these performances than for the next week or two we are inundated with similar reports, and the more that appear the greater the deluge. Experience has shown, therefore, that we should never be able fully to satisfy the demand for space for these reports, and there would still be a number of dissatisfied contributors. We ask our readers, therefore, to accept our assurance that, so far as space is available, we will do our best to meet the need, but we must continue to exercise the editorial discretion in regard to what should take precedence—although we are the first to admit that there are others who believe they could do it far better.

DEATH OF MR. SAMUEL E. TAYLOR.

The Kent County Association has lost another much respected member by the death of Mr. Sam Taylor, of Lynsted, Kent, who passed away on Wednesday, April 26th.

The funeral took place at Lynsted on Monday, May 1st. Among the many wreaths was a very nice one from his brother-ringers in the Rochester and Sittingbourne districts. The following ringers were present at the interment: Messrs. W. Spice, sen., W. Wood, W. Easter, T. Dennis, W. Cook, W. Walker, J. Exell, H. E. Simpson, E. J. Dobbie, S. B. Dobbie and E. H. Spice (Canterbury).

An impressive feature at the funeral was the ringing of a course of Grandsire Triples at the graveside on the late Mr. Taylor's own handbells by E. H. Spice 1-2, S. B. Dobbie 3-4, W. Easter 5-6, and W. Wood 7-8.

A muffled peal was attempted at Sittingbourne the same evening, but was unfortunately lost after 2½ hours' splendid ringing.

RINGER'S SILVER WEDDING.

On Sunday, April 23rd (St. George's Day), at St. Mary's Church, Twyford, near Winchester, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the local band in honour of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lampard, who celebrated their silver wedding on Thursday of last week: T. Mansell 1, L. Lampard 2, S. J. Sanders 3, S. Mansell 4, H. Mansell 5, W. Young 6, H. J. Wilkinson (conductor) 7, G. Allen 8.

The Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Morris), on behalf of the ringers, then presented a silver-mounted walking stick suitably engraved to Mr. Lampard.

OXFORD SOCIETY. BICENTENARY YEAR.

A quarterly meeting of the Oxford Society, which this year celebrates its bicentenary, was held at headquarters, the Wheatsheaf, Oxford, on Friday, April 28th, and was attended by a large number of members.

The president (Ald. C. H. Brown, Mayor of Oxford) was in the chair, and was supported by the Ringing Master (Mr. W. Collett) and the secretary (Mr. V. Bennett). In welcoming the Mayor as president, the Ringing Master said it was most fitting that a member of the society should be elected Mayor of Oxford in that bicentenary year.—The President suitably responded.

The President referred to the great loss which had been sustained by the society and by the whole Exercise in the sad death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and the meeting stood in silence as a mark of respect.

At the invitation of the president, Mr. H. Miles gave an interesting account of the career of the late Master of the Diocesan Guild, going back to the time when, as curate of Witney, he helped the local band to learn Stedman. In those days he used to cycle enormous distances over bad roads in order to be present at small gatherings of young ringers and to encourage them by his strong personal influence. In this way he came to be known as the Rev. 'Cycle' Jenkyn. The late Master was always content to strive with the humblest beginners, who were the ones most in need of his assistance. When in 1909 Mr. Jenkyn succeeded the Rev. F. E. Robinson as Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild he proved in every way a worthy successor of the Guild's first Master. It would be well nigh impossible to find another man to take his place.

Mr. W. Collett endorsed all that Mr. Miles had said, and wished to emphasise one important point, viz., that the late Master made it a rule—and kept it—to visit every branch in the diocese at least once a year, and always contrived to be present at every annual branch meeting.

The question of the annual outing on Whit Monday was discussed, and it was decided to go to Frome and Westbury, returning via Savernake and Newbury, stopping at East Garston to pay a tribute of respect at the grave of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

The sum of £5 was voted from the funds towards the expense of the outing.

The position of the society as regards affiliation to the Central Council was next discussed. A doubt was expressed whether the society would be allowed to remain affiliated under the proposed new rules, and the secretary was asked to write to the secretary of the Central Council on the matter.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD. BRANCH MEETING AT STRATTON.

A meeting of the Launceston Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild was held at Stratton, in the extreme north-east of Cornwall, on Saturday, May 6th. A splendid number of about fifty attended, including the Rev. J. H. Moysey (branch chairman), Rev. W. H. R. Trehella (general secretary), Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Diocesan Ringing Master), Rev. W. W. Bickford (St. Stephen-by-Launceston), and ringers from Truro Cathedral, St. Gluvias, St. Stephen's and St. Mary's, Launceston, Werrington, Launceston and Lewannick.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Arthur Williams, who also gave the address. Rev. W. W. Bickford presided at the organ. Tea was partaken in the Sunday School, after which the usual votes of thanks were passed.

The bells, a beautiful ring of eight (tenor 22 cwt. 3 qr. 16 lb., cast and hung in 1911 by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.), were kept going during the afternoon and evening. Mr. J. Jordan, of the local band, was delighted to be able to take part in some touches of Grandsire Triples after several years of no practice. His name appears on a board in the belfry, which records the only peal rung in this tower, namely, Grandsire Triples, by the Devon Guild in 1908.

OLD DUFFIELD RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to record the death of Mr. John Thomas Flower, of Duffield, one of the faithful band of Sir Arthur Percival Heywood's Duffield ringers.

He came to Duffield from Ripon Cathedral to be on the staff of Sir Arthur, to help him in forwarding the art of change ringing in the Midlands, and rang with Sir Arthur in most of the peals conducted by him. He retired from active work a few years ago, and his old age was generously looked after by his last employer, Mr. S. H. Titley, of Derwent Bank House.

Mr. Flower passed to his rest full of honours on May 2nd, aged 74 years, and leaves a sorrowing widow, aged 75—a devoted couple throughout their long wedded life. Mr. Flower had been a change ringer for upwards of 40 years.

The Secretary referred to the new chiming apparatus which had been installed in Merton College tower, and expressed doubt as to whether the college authorities wished the bells still to be rung by the society.—The President offered to interview the warden on the subject.

The question of inviting wives and lady friends to the outing was raised by Mr. W. F. Judge, and it was agreed that the presence of the ladies would be most desirable.

Songs and handbell ringing brought a successful evening to a close.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise for the Hereford Guild by resident members was rung after a few preliminary practices, and at the fourth attempt for the peal at Bridstow. The unsuccessful attempts lasted respectively 2 hours 45 mins., 1 hour, and 2 hours 23 mins., and at the 4th attempt a good peal resulted.

In the 35 methods peal at Chelford, Cheshire, Grove Delight should have been given as Charlwood Delight, which is the name under which the method is published in the second edition of the Central Council's Collection.

Among the many Surprise methods which have been produced, Painswick, published in 1899, has just been rung to a peal for the first time. It was rung by the enterprising band now operating on the borders of four counties, with Windsor as the centre.

It is no unusual thing to have two men to ring one bell in a peal when the bell is an 'outsized' or goes badly. It is distinctly novel, however, to find a change over in the middle of the ringing owing to business reasons, and this change arranged beforehand. But it happened at Over last Saturday week.

In connection with the Masonic Grand Lodge Festival at Margate on June 21st, service is to be held at St. John's Parish Church at 11.30 a.m. The captain of the ringers is desirous that the peal of eight should be rung by brethren. Will they communicate with him? His address is Bro. Arthur H. Saxby, 83, All Saints' Avenue, Margate. A peal attempt could be arranged in the evening if desired.

A peal was rung at Diss on May 8th to celebrate the 81st birthday (on May 6th) of the Norfolk veteran, Mr. William Ireland. He was one of the original members of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and for a long period was hon. secretary of the Diss District. Mr. Ireland has been a ringer at Diss for 60 years. After the peal he entertained the ringers, who thank him for his kind hospitality.

The marriage arranged between Mr. Francis S. Wilson, widower, of Wincanton, son of the late Mr. John S. Wilson, of Southsea, Hants, and Miss Aileen M. Burns, of Stockwell, eldest daughter of Mr. James Burns, will take place very quietly on Saturday, June 10th. No reception.

Mr. J. C. E. Simpson, B.Sc., Ph.D., of Wallasey, Cheshire, is one of three Liverpool University men who have secured Commonwealth Fund Fellowships, which enable British graduates to spend two years in American Universities. His fellowship is to the Rockefeller Institute in chemistry.

Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. F. Wilford, of 31, Wood Street, Northampton, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, in the bereavement he has sustained by the death of his wife, who succumbed rather suddenly from heart failure on Thursday of last week. Mrs. Wilford had previously undergone a serious operation in Northampton Hospital.

Mrs. Wilford was well known to a large circle of ringers, for she frequently accompanied her husband to ringers' gatherings.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I call the attention of peal enthusiasts to the fact that the King's birthday, June 3rd, falls this year on a Saturday? That gives a great opportunity of arranging peal attempts with a purpose, and one that the general audience can readily appreciate.

LITTLE ALBION TREBLE BOB.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There have been some enquiries about the origin of Little Albion Treble Bob. Whether the late Mr. Wilde or I first suggested it, I cannot remember. It followed as a natural corollary after we had rung in Cheshire peals of Little Bob and Albion Treble Bob. If there is any credit in putting down the figures, it must be due to Mr. Banks James for proposing the 'Little' methods in general.

It is true that I worked out all the possible regular Plain Little methods during a day's journey from Glasgow to London, but I have not attempted to do the same for Little Treble Bob. Nor did I consider plain methods which were not symmetrical, such as that recently rung in Kent.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S 'MODEL CODE OF RULES.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I hope when these rules are revised the words 'without assigning any reason' will be deleted from Rule 19 on 'Dismissal,' or the words added 'unless the dismissed or suspended member ask for a reason.'

By English common law everyone has a right to know the reason why he is dismissed from any office, and a great deal of injustice may be perpetrated by the adoption of these words in any belfry rules.

I don't know what our thousands of ringers think about this, but there seems to me something wrong somewhere.

THE MINOR CONTROVERSY

BY STEPHEN H. WOOD.

Since my last article appeared in 'The Ringing World' I have taken every opportunity, both by correspondence and personal discussion with ringers in many parts of the country, of finding out as much as possible of the general feeling of the Exercise on this much debated question.

While what follows can claim to be no more than my own estimation of the general feeling of the majority of the Exercise, it may, I think, be of some use to give it at this stage; its accuracy (or otherwise) can, of course, only be tested by the votes of the association representatives at the Central Council's meeting at Whitsun. Of one thing, however, there is no doubt whatever, and that is that the vast majority of those who have the interests of ringing (and six-bell ringing in particular) at heart, are earnestly desirous that the Central Council shall at long last reach a definite and practical agreement on this question when it meets in London in June.

In trying to arrive at an idea of how the Exercise feels on the whole question of what shall constitute a peal of Minor (and Doubles) I have divided the issue up into three main headings:—

- (1) General principle of a peal of Minor.
- (2) The Bankes James' arrangement.
- (3) Other compositions which do not conform to the old definition.

With regard to (1), there is no longer any doubt in my mind that the vast majority are of the opinion that a peal of 5,040 Minor should in general consist of seven separate 'extents,' rung consecutively and without interval. In case there is anyone who is still not clear as to the actual meaning of an 'extent,' it means the full number of changes possible on a number of bells (in the case of Minor 720) linked together to form a true and complete round block; it may be assumed theoretically to start from any of its 720 rows (although the conventional 'rounds' is always used for practical ringing), but the important point is that it must come back at the end to the place it started from.

I have said 'in general' purposely. I mean by this that having fixed the general principle it should still be possible for the Council to make special arrangements for recognising compositions which do not conform to it, if they consider that the circumstances justify it, but that such compositions must be treated and recognised as exceptions to the general principle.

Now I have expressed the opinion that the 'vast majority' incline to this view, and it follows that those who do not are in a small minority. But it must be clearly recognised—and I myself am the first to do so—that this small group contains some of the best brains of the Exercise, men who have done and are doing an enormous amount of valuable work on the theoretical side of ringing, and whose opinions must necessarily carry considerable weight. It would be no less than sheer insolence on the part of myself or anyone else to ignore the opinions of such men as Messrs. J. A. Trollope, E. S. Powell, E. M. Atkins, C. T. Coles and E. C. S. Turner, just because one does not happen to agree with them on this point. Rather let us make a sincere attempt to understand their point of view and to give some sound reasons for disagreeing with it.

As far as I can gather these gentlemen feel (they will, I'm sure, forgive me if I am wrong, but they have as yet said very little about it) that peals of Minor should be as nearly as possible on the same lines as peals on the higher numbers, and that, therefore, any one-part composition which contains each of the 720 possible changes seven times should be accepted as a peal of Minor. They say that you can splice together several true round blocks of a Major method—or even several courses of different methods—into a single composition of more than 5,000 changes and call it a peal of Major, therefore why not splice together several round blocks of Minor in the same way and call it a peal of Minor? My answer to that is simply this: you cannot put peals of Minor and Major on a common basis, because they are fundamentally different things. In dealing with a 'peal' on eight or more bells you are dealing with a selection of 5,000 or more of the much larger number of possible changes. On seven bells there are just 5,040 possible changes, and this number (and not '5,000 or more') has always been accepted as the criterion of a peal of Triples. But on six bells there are not 5,000 different changes, there are only 720. We say, therefore, join up your courses and your round blocks just as you would on any other number of bells, splice away to your heart's content and get in as many methods as you like, until you've got your 720. But when you have got there you have reached the extent of the possible changes and you cannot get any further—not, mark you, because of any man-made or arbitrary rule, but because in the fundamental nature of things you have come to the end, and no power on earth can get you any further. Therefore, if you want to ring 5,040 of Minor you must ring each change seven times, and the most logical way of doing it is to ring seven separate extents. This is the view of the majority, and if those who disagree with it can show how any possible gain can be achieved by mixing up the extents into a one-part composition I do most earnestly beg of them to put their case before the Exercise, through the medium of this paper, at the earliest opportunity, so that those who have to vote on the issue at the Central Council meeting may have plenty of time to consider both sides of the question.

We will now leave the general principle and discuss compositions which do not consist of seven separate extents of Minor (or 42 of Doubles), dealing first with the one which started this whole controversy:—

(2) The Bankes James' arrangement. This consists of joining together blocks which contain all the 720 rows without repetition, but which do not come back at the end to the point from which they started, and are therefore not round blocks and cannot be classed as 'extents.'

Everyone, I think, now recognises this as a masterpiece of composition, but that in itself is not sufficient to justify its being accepted as a peal. The question is, does the Exercise as a whole feel that the need for it and the desire of ringers to go on ringing it justify its being officially recognised in future as a 'peal' performance? There is still a good deal of mixed feeling on this point, especially amongst the six-bell ringers themselves, but I think that on the whole the majority are in favour of accepting it; but if so it must be accepted definitely as an exceptional case, justified by the exceptional circumstances. It must be borne in mind that in spite of its being at the moment rather under a cloud it is still being rung fairly regularly, and this must be taken as an indication that there is in some quarters a strong desire to ring it in preference to what we may call 'straight' peals of Cambridge Minor. It is also worth while asking ourselves why and how this peal ever came to be composed. I think the answer probably is that it was composed simply and solely because it was felt then that there was a definite need for something more than could be produced for Cambridge Minor by the ordinary means. If we feel that that need still exists, let us continue to ring it, but let us first ask the Central Council to recognise its performance as an official peal.

(3) Other compositions which do not consist of consecutive extents. The chief of these, which have been brought to general notice by being rung and published as peals, are one-part peals of Minor and the Pitman and Morris' arrangements for Doubles. These again are clever compositions, but I have found very few ringers who advocate ringing them in preference to 'straight' peals. The two main features which make the Cambridge Minor case so exceptional are the small scope of composition on the ordinary principle and the unmusical effect of bringing up 65's at backstroke, and neither of these apply in these cases, except, perhaps, that there are not seven different extents of Oxford Treble Bob without 65's at backstroke.

I am convinced that the general feeling of the Exercise is that the only exception which should be made to the general principle of consecutive extents at the present time is the Bankes James' arrangement for methods like Cambridge Minor.

I have given notice, therefore, that it is my intention to lay the following proposals before the next meeting of the Central Council:—

(i.) That peals of Minor shall in general consist of seven or more separate extents, rung consecutively and without interval.

(ii.) That compositions arranged on what is known as the Bankes James' principle, notwithstanding that they do not conform to the above definition, shall be recognised as peals.

(N.B.—This arrangement consists of a number of successive blocks of 720 true rows, not necessarily round blocks themselves but which, when joined together consecutively, form a round block, starting from and ending with rounds. It is recommended that such compositions should only be used when there is considered to be some definite gain from the point of view of variety or music.)

I should like, before I conclude this article, just to touch on one or two other points in connection with this Minor controversy. From what I have read from time to time in 'The Ringing World' it appears that there is an idea in some quarters that ringers who usually do their ringing on the higher numbers are apt to look upon Minor ringing as something slightly inferior, and to belittle the performances of the six-bell ringers. If this were indeed so, the six-bell men would have every cause to feel a very natural resentment, but from my experience of eight and ten-bell ringers there is no foundation at all for such an idea. Speaking for myself, I must confess that, although I have rung peals in 8, 10 and 12 bells, I have yet to score my first of Minor; but in my opinion a peal of Minor or Doubles is often a far finer performance, both mentally and physically, than a peal on eight or ten bells. There can be no comparison, for instance, between a peal of Minor in seven methods and one of Bob Major or Kent Royal as far as the brainwork is concerned, and I imagine that a spliced peal of Surprise Minor in a large number of methods involves a great deal more mental exercise than one of Surprise Royal in only one, both for the conductor and the other ringers. Physically, too, it must be remembered that, although tenors of rings of eight and ten are in general heavier than those of six, this is by no means always the case, and it is obviously harder work to ring a tenor of Minor than to turn in the same bell to Major or Royal. There is, of course, less peal ringing done on six bells than on eight, but it must be borne in mind that our most important ringing is done on Sundays, and on Sundays there is more five and six-bell ringing than anything else. It is the duty of every one of us to make the Sunday service ringing as perfect as possible, and this is just as important on six bells as on 12. The work of the six-bell ringers is therefore from every point of view as worthy and important as any other branch of ringing, and I can assure them that their 10 and 12-bell friends are the first to recognise it.

There is, however, the other side of the case. From time to time we hear suggestions that those who do not consider themselves first

THE LADIES' GUILD.NORTHERN DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild was held in conjunction with the Sheffield and District Society at Handsworth on May 6th. Members from Ashton-under-Lyne, Dore, Rotherham, Norton, Nottingham and Handsworth were present at the business meeting, Mrs. Baker, the wife of the Rector, presiding. Two ringing members were elected, viz., Miss Annie Crook, of Bolton, and Miss Hazel Holmes, of Dewsbury.

The statement of accounts and secretary's report were passed. The report expressed the hope that all members would try their best to attend the meetings arranged in their districts, and also to remember the financial side. The following officers were elected: Vice-president, Miss M. Benton, of Dore; joint secretaries, Miss I. Thompson (Nottingham) and Miss L. Noel Cawthorne (Handsworth); general committee, Miss B. A. Varley (Nottingham); committee, Mrs. W. Wolstencroft (Ashton-under-Lyne), Mrs. Ryder (Rotherham), Miss G. Burchmell (Sutton-on-Trent), and Mrs. J. Berridge (Norton).

Meetings are to be held as follows: July 22nd, Sutton-on-Trent; October 28th, Miles Platting, Manchester; February, at Rotherham; and the next annual meeting in May at Nottingham. A vote of thanks to Mrs. Baker concluded the meeting.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DIVISION.

A meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Rye on Saturday, May 6th, when about 30 members attended from Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Hastings (All Saints'), St. Leonards, Lewes, Tenterden, Ashford and Stone-in-Oxney, and Mr. Piper (Eastbourne) and members of the local band. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Fowler, who gave a most interesting address.

A splendid tea was provided at the Railway Hotel, and at the short business meeting which followed Mr. G. W. Stokes occupied the chair. The Chairman referred to the death of Mr. C. W. Player, of Stone-in-Oxney, Kent, who had been a non-resident life member of the Sussex Association for a good many years, and as a mark of respect the whole company stood in silence for a few moments.

The Secretary (Mr. A. C. Pankhurst) announced that he hoped to arrange the next meeting at Mayfield in July.

Mr. Piper proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, conducting the service, and for presiding at the tea. The members afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing.

A WIDE GAP TO BE FILLED.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your leading articles on 'Silent Bells' and on 'Instruction' are very interesting. To my mind there is a wide gap to be filled. In my own case it is a question of being in the wrong place. Here I am living and working (and very thankful) in a place where the nearest peal is miles away. I pay visits when I can, and I am made very welcome wherever I go. It is not the same as being one of a regular band. Therefore I would welcome any scheme that would join isolated ringers and broken bands together.

HARRY PROUT.

Langwith, Notts.

and foremost six-bell ringers should refrain from expressing their views on a subject which does not concern them, and let the Minor men settle their own problems. This is a terribly short-sighted and dangerous idea, because anything that concerns Minor ringing concerns the Exercise as a whole, and everyone has an equal right to express his opinion about it. Consider for a moment the case of the late Mr. W. H. Thompson, who did such brilliant work on the possibilities of composition in Triples methods. I do not know whether he eventually learnt to handle a bell himself, but I believe I am right in saying that he had hardly ever been inside a belfry when he produced his now famous proofs of the impossibility of obtaining extents of Grandsire and Stedman Triples without the use of Singles. This was an exceptional case, of course, but it emphasises my point that one's authority to speak on a question such as this must be judged on one's knowledge of the theoretical as well as the practical side of campanology, and has nothing whatever to do with one's prowess in the belfry or on any particular number of bells.

And, finally, a few words as to the position of the Central Council in this matter. We talk rather glibly about the rules of the Central Council, but they are not really rules in the ordinary sense. The Council cannot say, 'You are not to ring such and such a method; if you do you will be brought up before a magistrate and fined or locked up.' Its position is rather that of a guide and adviser. Its job is more to encourage anything which it considers is in the interests of the advance of the art, and to discourage anything that is not. Its 'rules' are therefore more in the nature of recommendations as to what shall be rung. Of course there is absolutely nothing to prevent six or eight men going into a tower and ringing anything they like, for their own entertainment and amusement, but I do not see why, if it is something which the Central Council has decided it will not accept as a peal, the band should still expect its performance to be included in the official list of 'peals' rung.

THE LATE MR. THOMAS SALTER.MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED AT KIDDERMINSTER.

A remarkable tribute was paid on Saturday, April 29th, to the late Mr. J. T. Salter, of Kidderminster, when members of the Worcestershire and Districts Association met at St. Mary's Church to witness the unveiling of a memorial tablet, the gift of St. Mary's Society.

The late Mr. Salter, who was a prominent figure in campanology in the county, had spent 46 years as a bellringer at the Parish Church. He held the unique record of having rung a century of peals in one tower, a feat which no other ringer in Worcestershire had accomplished.

He learnt the art of bellringing at Wolverley in 1881, and in 1886 he joined the Kidderminster company. At the same time he became a member of the Worcestershire Association, and he served on the committee from 1897 until the time of his death. For six years he was Ringing Master, and for 25 years he was the association's representative on the Council.

In 50 years he had rung in 197 towers in 22 counties in England, Ireland and Wales. He had taken part in 370 peals in 88 different towers, and 114 of these were at St. Mary's, Kidderminster.

The gathering, which included many officers of the association and representatives from the various towers in the county, numbered about 70, among them being Mr. Keith Salter, son of the late Mr. Salter. The tablet bears the inscription:—

This tablet was erected by the St. Mary's Society of Change Ringers to the memory of James Thomas Salter, for 46 years a ringer at this church. Departed this life May 2nd, 1932.

The tablet was unveiled by Canon L. B. Sladen, who afterwards conducted a service in the Whittall Chapel.

The Rev. J. F. Hastings, the clerical secretary of the association, gave a short address.

He took from the epistle for the following day the words: 'leaving us an example,' and said they were all well aware how much they were helped by those who, in various directions, tried to set them an example to inspire them. These examples were met with in every department of life, and such a one was their late friend Tom Salter. He was pre-eminent in the art of bellringing, and for many years helped them in the association to carry bellringing to the wonderful standard of perfection that it had now reached. It was very gratifying that that band of ringers had erected a tablet to the memory of one who for 46 years—practically the whole of a man's working life—had rung in that old Parish Church. A man of keen intelligence, with unusual powers for teaching the art of bellringing, he had left them an example worthy to follow.

MR. RICHARD GROVE'S TRIBUTE.

After the service Canon Sladen entertained the bellringers to tea, and before the company rose Mr. R. E. Grove said a few words at special request, because he could claim to have had the longest knowledge of the late Mr. Salter.

Mr. Grove mentioned that after the bells were rehung in 1883 the ringers at the Parish Church were assisted by others who came from Chaddesley Corbett and Bromsgrove, and it was about this time that the late Mr. Salter began his connection with St. Mary's band of bellringers. Until 1883 there seemed to have been a lapse, for the last occasion on record of any change ringing before then was in 1765, as stated on a tablet in the ringing room. Although a start was made again in 1883 the first really serious attempt at change ringing after the lapse was on October 10th, 1888.

Mr. Grove said that it was between 1870 and 1880 that he first began ringing, but he ceased active interest in it in 1901, when he took up rifle shooting and cricket. Since that date he had not rung in more than five peals, but he did lay claim to have taken some part, with the rest of the St. Mary's band, in making bellringing history with the Worcestershire Association.

In conclusion, Mr. Grove paid a fine tribute to the late Mr. Salter, to whom he said they should give credit for a good deal of the work which had been done to improve the standard of ringing. He was a man of merit, and his presence gave ringers extraordinary confidence. Consequently he was a great leader.

Mr. A. J. Skelding (Stourbridge) and Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough) also voiced an appreciation of the late Mr. Salter.

Mr. J. Hemming (Evesham) expressed thanks to Canon Sladen for providing tea, and the Vicar, in reply, said he hoped the new frame for the bells at St. Mary's Church tower, which was urgently required, would soon be provided. He had already received £1,000 of the £3,000 needed for church restoration purposes.

Several carpet firms—Messrs. Tomkinson's, Ltd., £300, Victoria Carpet Co., £100, and Carpet Manufacturing Co., Ltd., £150—had responded to the appeal, and he hoped the association would be able to pay a visit when the bells were rehung.

NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL RE-OPENED.

On Wednesday, May 3rd, in one hour and eight minutes, 1,440 Cambridge Surprise Royal, at the Cathedral Church of St. Nicholas, Newcastle-on-Tyne: R. Thompson 1, C. L. Routledge 2, E. A. Hern 3, J. Anderson 4, R. A. Gofton, jun., 5, A. Deas 6, W. J. Davidson 7, R. S. Anderson 8, J. E. R. Keen 9, W. H. Barber (conductor) 10. Rung after the service of thanksgiving on the reopening of the Cathedral.

THE SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION.

ALL TOWERS PRACTISING CHANGE RINGING.

Dundee was the Mecca of Scottish bellringers on May 6th, when the first annual meeting of the Scottish Association was held at St. Paul's Cathedral in the afternoon. After some photographs had been taken both in the belfry and on the Cathedral steps ringing was indulged in for an hour on the bells—a heavy-going eight (23½ cwt. tenor). The service was held in the Cathedral and was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. K. N. Sutherland Graeme, who welcomed the association to Dundee and apologised for the absence of Bishop Robberds, who was unable to be with them that day. The Provost's address was based on the text from Psalm xix. 4, 'Their sound is gone out into all lands.' So far as he knew, he said, bells were peculiar to the Christian Church, and were the only really sacred musical instrument. The organ and the orchestra were used in the concert hall as well as the church, but bells were never heard apart from the church.

Tennyson's well-known words, 'Ring out, wild bells,' were sung to the tune 'Hogmanay,' which was composed by the first Master of the association, Mr. Stephen H. Wood, in honour of the founding of the Scottish Association.

Tea in the Church House, by invitation of the vestry committee of the Cathedral, was served by several ladies of the congregation.

The business meeting followed, with Mr. W. B. Sampson, the president, in the chair.

The Master (Mr. W. C. S. Heathcote) in his report regretted that Mr. Wood, the first elected Master, had had to leave Scotland before the association was properly started. Owing to the scattered position of the towers it was hardly possible to keep in touch except by letter with all the societies. However, as far as he could see and hear change ringing was being practised or learned in all the towers. The office bearers were re-elected for the ensuing year.

A motion regarding unemployed members and their subscriptions was put to the meeting, but it was left to the individual towers to make their own arrangements.

The election of 18 ringing, one non-resident and 1 hon. member was confirmed.

The President then moved a vote of thanks to the Provost for taking the service, to the organist, to the vestry committee for supplying the tea, and to the ladies for serving it.

This closed the meeting, and a move was made to the old steeple for further ringing on the bells there, an octave with a tenor of 20 cwt. The bells were lowered about 8.30, and a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells finished the day. The methods rung were Plain Bob Doubles, Minor and Major, Grandsire and Steedman Doubles and Triples.

In addition to the association towers, three ringers from the old steeple, who are not yet in the association, were present at the meeting.

St. Paul's Cathedral belfry has undergone some slight alterations since 'W.H.F.' visited it in 1927, and commented on it after his ringing tour in Ireland three years ago, when he compared Hillborough Parish Church in Co. Down with this belfry. Having rung in both towers, the writer does not think the circle of ropes at St. Paul's was just as bad as Hillborough, the Irish tenor rope falling exactly in the centre of the other seven. At the instigation of the steeple-keeper of St. Paul's a ceiling was put in 5ft. below the bell floor, and the ropes guided into a very good circle; the lourses were also blocked up and a ceiling immediately above the bells taken out, thus vastly improving the sound in the ringing chamber and also on the steps and in the vicinity of the Cathedral.

DEATH OF A CHESTER CATHEDRAL RINGER.

We regret to report the death, on May 7th, of Mr. Ernest Channell, for many years a loyal member of the Chester Cathedral company and of the tower of St. Mary-without-the-Walls. Owing to indifferent health he had not been able to take an active part in ringing for some time, and his absence had been keenly felt, especially by the older members of the company. He was in his sixty-eighth year, and will be long remembered for his keenness, ability and regular attendance at both service and practice. Mr. Channell had rung thirty peals.

The funeral service was held at St. Mary's Church on Wednesday, May 10th, and in the evening, with the bells half-muffled, 1,280 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung as a last token of respect: R. Sperring 1, H. Lewis 2, J. Griffiths 3, W. Fletcher 4, J. Swindley 5, J. Morgan 6, W. Hopwood 7, S. Jones (conductor) 8.

DOUBLE OXFORD BOB TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Replying to the query by the Upton-on-Severn band in 'Belfry Gossip' last week, at least two peals have been rung in the above method. The first was at St. Mary's, Chester, on November 20th, 1908, conducted by Mr. E. H. Lewis, and the other at Eccleston on April 23rd, 1909, conducted by the late Mr. H. W. Wilde, who took part in the first peal also.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE LAW JAMES MEMORIAL.

Another successful and very enjoyable annual meeting was held at Lincoln on April 29th. Ringing commenced in the early afternoon at the Cathedral (12), and the two six-bell towers of St. Peter-at-Gowts and St. Botolph's. The special service in the Morning Chapel of the Cathedral was conducted by the Sub-Dean of Lincoln (Canon Jeudwine), president of the Guild, the address being given by Canon Townrow, Vicar of St. Peter-at-Gowts. After service an adjournment was made to the Co-operative Hall, Silver Street, where an excellent meat tea was served. It was good to see the meetings of old acquaintances, who gather here year after year from all parts of Lincolnshire and from neighbouring counties, and it was also good to see so many young ringers, who are enthusiastically taking up the art, and in many cases are reviving it in places where ringing has in late years nearly died out.

At the business meeting Canon G. W. Jeudwine was unanimously re-elected president, and took the chair, being supported by the officers of the Guild and the Dean of Lincoln (Dr. R. A. Mitchell). All the other officers were re-elected en bloc, namely, Mr. Rupert Richardson, Master; Mr. F. W. Stokes, hon. secretary; Mr. F. F. Linley, hon. treasurer.

The Rev. Canon H. T. Parry, Mr. R. Richardson, Mr. G. Chester and Mr. J. Phillips were re-elected representatives on the Central Council.

The report and balance sheet were adopted.

The Master, referring to the Rev. H. Law James Memorial Fund, said that, although the response to the appeal for support had been very gratifying, the total amount required (about £175) had not yet been realised, and he appealed to those towers which had not sent in their contributions to do so with the least possible delay. He also suggested that each of the four branches of the Guild should make a contribution from their own funds, and then, if this was not sufficient, that a collection should be made at all meetings until the total was reached.

The President (Canon Jeudwine) said he had hoped the newly-appointed Bishop of Lincoln would have been with them at the meeting, but he was, at the moment, away from home. He strongly supported the Master's appeal for further contributions to Memorial Fund.

The meeting greatly appreciated a short speech from the Dean of Lincoln, who incidentally paid a warm personal tribute to the president of the Guild for the way in which he discharged the various and manifold duties which fell to the lot of a Sub-Dean.

A hearty vote of thanks to the president, to the Dean of Lincoln and to the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and the incumbents of St. Peter-at-Gowts and St. Botolph's for the use of the bells concluded the meeting. Good use was made of the bells until about nine o'clock in the evening. At the Cathedral many young ringers had their first pull on twelve bells, and, besides touches in various 12 and 10-bell methods, courses of London and Bristol Surprise Major were rung.

BRANCHES' UNITED MEETING AT BIGBY.

A combined meeting of the Grimsby and Gainsborough Districts of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Bigby on Saturday, May 6th. The weather was ideal, and brought a large gathering to that delightful village, where ringers are always welcome and well looked after, as was the case on this occasion by the kind hospitality of Canon and Mrs. Parry. The lovely peal of six bells were kept going in various methods before the service, at which Canon Parry, who is president of the Grimsby District, officiated and addressed the members on the centenary of the Oxford Movement. Mr. H. Rushby presided at the organ.

A splendid tea was kindly provided by Canon and Mrs. Parry in the schoolroom, over sixty sitting down. The towers represented from the Grimsby District were Barrow-on-Humber, Barton-on-Humber, Burton-on-Stather, Scunthorpe, Ulceby, Elsham, Killingholme, Thornton Curtis, and the local band, and unattached members from Grimsby. The Rev. J. H. Pack, of Thornton Curtis, and the Rev. Patch, of Ulceby, Mr. and Mrs. C. McGuinness, of Lincoln, and Messrs. Howell and Hobson, of Hull, were also present, together with fourteen members from the Gainsborough District, including Mr. F. S. W. Butler, hon. general secretary of the Northern Branch. Rev. Canon H. T. Parry presided over both meetings. The usual votes of thanks were extended and responded to, which brought the Gainsborough meeting to a close.

Three new members were elected and one member re-elected for the Grimsby District, for which the usual collection for the district bell fund was taken, and amounted to £1 3s. 6d. This was given to the Rev. Law James Memorial Fund.

The date of the Thornton Curtis meeting was altered from July 8th to the 15th, and the Gainsborough District kindly decided to alter the date of the Haxey meeting. The Rev. J. H. Pack proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to Canon and Mrs. Parry, to Mr. Rushby, and to the lady helpers at the tea. This was seconded by Mr. C. McGuinness, and supported by Mr. Baker, of Gainsborough, who hoped that peals would be rung in honour of the centenary year of the Oxford Movement, as Canon Parry had suggested during his discourse in church.—In reply, Canon Parry gave everybody a hearty welcome to Bigby. He was glad to say that they had now such a splendid band of young ringers at Bigby, and he thanked them all for what they were doing for the church.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. EAST BERKS AND SOUTH BUCKS.

The annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild is always an attraction, the attendance not being confined entirely to its own members, and this year the counties of Berks, Bucks and Oxon were well represented, and ringers were also present from Surrey, Lancashire and London. A variety of methods was rung at Farnham Royal, Stoke Poges and Slough, and all the ringers assembled at the last-named church for the Guild service. Someone had evidently warned the organist of a 60 cwt. tenor, as it might have gone a bit faster at backstroke.

A real ringers' instructive address was given by the Rev. C. Elliott Wigg, who has recently come to reside in the branch area, his theme being 'efficiency and whole-heartedness,' with especial reference to the work and teaching of the late Master of the Guild. A thunder-storm kindly expended its fury while service was in progress, enabling the congregation to discover the excellent qualities of the organ, Handel's Largo being the 'voluntary.'

Numbers had slightly increased by the time tea was ready, some having to be seated in another room, but, as is usual on these occasions, they fared better than the majority, the 'hungry hounds' of four counties nearly devouring the secretary in their clamour for 'bones.' When all appetites had been more or less appeased, a course of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells, which ought to have been perfect, but was disturbed at once place by some not harmonious 'whisperings.'

Before commencing the business, the Chairman, Mr. Justice Bennett, addressed the members on the untimely death of the Master of the Guild, saying that he had little doubt that it was caused by the part taken by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn in the Great War. In the many years he had acted as Master he had gained the respect, admiration and affection of every member, his advice being freely and generously given, and it would not be right to begin the business without paying a tribute to his memory.—The whole company stood in silence for half a minute.

Continuing, Sir Charles said he was glad to see so many present, and that the branch had been steadily growing ever since he first made acquaintance with it.

One honorary, one life and three ringing members were elected, the ratifications having been dealt with at the committee meeting to save time.

The statement of accounts was passed unanimously.

MR. JUSTICE BENNETT RE-ELECTED BRANCH CHAIRMAN.

The secretary's 'invisible report' was received with open arms, adopted, and ordered to be entered on the minutes.

The Branch Ringing Master made a few remarks on the work of the past twelve months, with the hint to those who don't come that 'they don't know what they're missing.'

The officers were all re-elected unanimously and with acclamation, viz., chairman, Mr. Justice Bennett; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; Branch Ringing Master, Mr. T. J. Fowler.

Sir Charles said that he felt extremely honoured on his re-election, and it was a great privilege to take the chair. Assuring the members that these were not idle words, he said, 'I value the office you have given me, and am glad to attend the annual meeting and see so many friendly faces each year.'

The Secretary, replying, quoted his slogan, 'Get on or get out.' The following were re-elected as branch representatives to serve on the general committee: Mrs. A. D. Barker, Messrs. F. D. Boreham, T. J. Fowler, J. L. Kirk, W. E. Redrup, W. E. Taylor and J. C. Truss.

The general secretary, Mr. R. T. Hibbert, said fewer words than usual, but congratulated the branch on their officers.

The general treasurer, Mr. A. J. Wright, had his usual grumble about subscriptions not being sent in early enough by branch secretaries, at the same time stating that this branch was not included in these remarks, as it was a record year for subscriptions received.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks, which was unanimously accorded to the Rev. C. Elliott Wigg for conducting the service and giving a most excellent address.

In his reply, this young cleric, who is a ringer of no mean standard, said that he was extremely pleased to make the acquaintance of this branch annual meeting.

Votes of thanks were also accorded to the clergy of the three churches for the use of the bells, the foreman for having everything ready, and to the organist, Miss I. Wolstencroft, for her services. It was decided to visit Great Kimble, if possible, for the next monthly practice.

Mrs. Barker suggested that a map would be useful, if anyone had a spare one, for the wanderers, who were not lost for excuses, one blaming the other for 'bobbing in and out.'

The chairman and secretary were also thanked by the members, the former for his excellent conduct of the meeting, and the latter for making the arrangements.

The bells at Slough and Stoke Poges were made good use of again until a late hour, although the light was unfortunately 'off' at the last-named.

The branch secretary is obtaining further copies of the report for those members who were not able to secure one.

SERIOUS DECLINE IN 'FIRST PEALERS.'

A striking and somewhat disturbing feature of the peals analysis for 1932 is the serious falling off in the number of ringers who, in that year, scored their first peal. In other respects it can be said that progress is generally revealed, but a falling off of something like one-third in the number of first peal ringers when the aggregate number of peals has been substantially increased is something that should give cause not only for thought, but for action. The actual number of first peal ringers in 1932 was 430 in 2,202 peals, against 612 in 2,082 peals in 1931. Does it mean that less encouragement has been given to young ringers to take part in peals or that they have shown less desire to do so? Perhaps it is both. It is no excuse to say that other statistics indicate improvement, such as that the numbers who rang peals in a fresh method or on a different number of bells have considerably increased. That may indicate advance in one direction, but without the advent of new blood to the ranks of peal ringers it means that the supply is drying up at the source. Even the number who rang their first peal 'inside' shows a decline, and we commend these facts not only to the consideration of the associations, but also to the habitual peal ringers themselves.

There may be some of our readers who will want to dash in and tell us again that this state of affairs is due to the ringers whom they class as 'peal grabbers,' but let them not be too hasty in their allocation of blame. To many of those who are so glibly described as 'peal grabbers' we owe a great deal for the raising of the standard of peal ringing. If they ring a good many peals, it is only because by constant practice they have raised themselves to a high state of efficiency, and their enterprise and initiative are worthy of emulation. At the same time there is obvious room for extending the usefulness of peal ringing. If it were to become an entirely selfish occupation it would lose a great deal of its value. Peal ringing, like practice meetings, should be used as often as possible for the encouragement of beginners and others on the lower rungs of the ladder. We would deny to none the joy of the perfect peal with the perfect band, but on the face of last year's records it does seem as if the Exercise needs to offer a little more encouragement to the novices. Without the influx of sufficient new blood there must come a time when the higher flights of ringing must suffer — if not in this decade, then in the next. The influence of associations ought to be used to counter the effect of this serious decline of 'first pealers.' They might seek out the most promising material and arrange peals with bands sufficiently strong to give these novices, one or two at a time, a reasonable chance of achieving what ought to be the early ambition of every ringer, their first peal. While many beginners who are really keen to make progress will seek out their own opportunities for practice, the case for peal ringing is not quite on the same footing. Peals require a certain amount of organising, and, while it is easy to say, 'If a man wants a peal let him arrange it,' it is by no means simple for a beginner to do this. It is here where the associations could step in and lend a valuable helping hand.
