NOTES BY THE WAY.

A recent correspondence in our columns raises a question which most associations have at one time or another to answer. Should instructors be paid? It is common ground that if an association is to do its duty, if it is to live a healthy life, it must try to help struggling bands and endeavour to start new ones. And for that there must be instructors. But should they be paid and duly appointed officials or should the job be left to voluntary workers? Some men are dead against payment. Paid ringing, they say, has always been the curse of the Exercise. It attracts the wrong sort of man, who works only for what he can get, and gives his service grudgingly and inefficiently. If you want good results, depend on the man who works for the love of the thing. Look at So-and-So, who has been taking money for years, and his band is no better now than it was when he began. Whereas Such-a-One who takes no money has always got a belfry full of ringers. That is an argument common enough, but it is a very shallow one. The success of a band depends on so many more things than the instructor. It depends mostly on the learners. We frequently find people (usually young people) who are quite willing to become ringers but who are not prepared to give the time and trouble necessary to learn the art properly. They think that after three or four visits to a belfry they will be able to take their places among the regular ringers, and when they find it is not so, they stop away. For there are few things which require so much preliminary technical learning as ringing does. If a man has a good voice and ear and a natural aptitude for music he can at once take his place in a choir and learn the art as he goes on. Or if you compare ringing to sport, a few boys and a ball in a back street can make a game of football of sorts. There are no gradations of that kind in ringing. The learner must be prepared to be only a learner for many months before he begins to realise what the thing is about. And so many of them, just as they are beginning to get over that stage, lose heart and interest, and the belfry sees them no more. And it is a sad and pathetic thing to think of the great number of young fellows who might have become good ringers and just at the critical time have gone courting. These are the things that hamper an instructor when he has got a supply of recruits to teach, and often enough he has got no supply. His success or failure does not depend on whether he is paid or not; it does not depend, except in a lesser degree, on whether he is a good instructor or not. If So-and-So and Such-a-One changed towers it is not at all likely that where the first failed the other would succeed, or where the second succeeded the other would fail.

Of course, the voluntary system is the ideal. Work done for the love of the thing is better than work done for money. But, fortunately, it is true that men can work for the love of the thing and still receive money for their services. If it were not so there would not be very much good work done in the world. There are such things as expenses, and not everyone can afford to give money as well as time and skill. The number of real ringers who ring for what they can get out of it is small and decreasing, but most would welcome any little honorarium that happened to come along. Weddings, for instance. You and I would resent being included among those whom Thomas Hearne called 'poor mercenary ringers,' but we will take our seven-and-sixpence and be glad of it. If it means no more than a couple of extra drinks it does mean that.

RINGING TOUR IN CORNWALL.

GENEROUS HOSPITALITY AND SPLENDID EDUCATIONAL WORK.

The 'Delectable Duchy' was this year chosen for the annual ringing tour of Mr. Wm. Pye and his party. Several of the usual 'members were unable to take part in this year's 'week,' work keeping some away, wanderings to Australia and even more important matters being the causes of the absence of others. The newcomers, however, proved to be quite capable of keeping the ringing up to

Last week we recorded the unveiling ceremony in Exeter Cathedral of this beautiful peal board. Six surviving members of this famous peal are still alive in Messrs. J. Thomas, C. Mee, J. Austin, A. W. Brighton, Gabriel Lindoff and W. Pye.

its usual standard, and, as events proved, the tour became as much educational as otherwise. Not only were Cornish change ringers given as much help as was possible, but ringers in the 'prize ringing' and 'round ringing' districts were much impressed by the quality of the peals rung. Ringers in these districts excel in striking, and are exceedingly critical of anything that is badly done. The only criticism that one heard was during the ringing of a peal of Bristol Surprise. Said a Cornish call-change ringer, 'That was a nice change, but they can't hold it. We can!'

Saturday, September 15th.—The first peal was rung to-day at Yeovil, one of Cambridge Surprise Royal. The night was spent at Exeter.

Sunday, September 16th.—After a splendid run over Dartmoor, Ladock was reached at about 1.30 p.m. Here Messrs. A. S. Roberts and C. Sleeman (Truro), A. W. Brighton (London), E. W. Marsh and W. G. Hiscott (Plymouth) were met, as well as several local ringers. St. Ladock's Church contains a nice ring by Taylors, and the first peal of Bristol Surprise by the Truro Guild was rung. The village of Probus, on the way to Truro, was visited by the members of the band not in the peal, together with friends mentioned above, who rang on the six bells there. All met at the Cathedral, Truro, for evening service ringing.

Monday, September 17th.—In the morning, at St. Felicitas', Phil-lack, near St. Ives, a peal of Superlative was rung. These bells were augmented in 1928 by Taylors, when five were added. Only one peal had previously been rung here, viz., Grandsire Triples. St. Stephen-in-Branwell for the afternoon peal was 'off,' but the Rector had been kind enough to make alternative arrangements at Roche. The Church of St. Gomondas contains a good peal of eight by Mears and Stainbank, and London Surprise was the order. Supper was provided for the band by the Rector (Rev. J. Tarplee), who showed great interest in the peal which had been rung. The local ringers, not to be outdone insisted on ringing a peal for the entertainment of the visitors. A really excellent 'raise, rounds and fall' showed that they were masters of their job, but what was most interesting was the long loop of the rope which was fitted round the left elbow, evidently to get more power. It was apparent from some of these ringers that they never ring a great length of time, and they put a lot of energy into their ringing. They were astounded at peals of three hours' duration. A peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at St. Kea, near Truro, by three members of the party with five Truro ringers. To the great disappointment of all, this attempt was lost after two hours' ringing.

Tuesday, September 18th.—Mr. R. T. Hibbert, of Reading, joined the party. At St. Enoder's Church, St. Enoder, a peal of Cambridge Major was lost after nearly 1½ hours' good ringing. A sleepy head, a sudden jolt, and a shift course! An inquest might have been held, but, as friend Dexter says, this is fine fun until it is fastened on yourself. At this church there are three bands of ringers belonging to the Mid-Cornwall Association. This is not a prize-ringing Guild, but certificates are given at ringing festivals, which are held about twice a year. The St. Enoder bands hold first and second-class certificates, which are displayed in the belfry. After some ringing at St. Kenwyn's Church, Truro, in the afternoon, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at the Cathedral. A long draught and new ropes made ringing difficult, but the striking was even all through, and it was good to see Wm. Pye in fine form on the 34 cwt. tenor. The names and weights of the bells are given elsewhere.

Wednesday, September 19th.—St. Anthony-in-Meneage is situated only a few yards from the sea, in a delightfully pretty creek. The name is evidently derived from Lantinn, or place of Holy Fire, connected with lighting ships. Three of the bells were dated 1674, but these were recast and augmented to six in 1924 by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and hung in a frame for eight. The treble and second were added by Taylors only last year. The ringing chamber, on the ground floor, is very small, and the ringers stand close together. Nos. 2, 3 and 4 stand shoulder to shoulder, and the ringer of the third finds it difficult to move either way. The peal rung here was the first on the bells, it being London Surprise. Col. G. F. Jerram, who had met the party at Helston en route, invited the 'odd four' to Manaccan, where, with Mr. Ernest Cossentine, a six-score each of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles and 360 Bob Minor were rung. Mr. Cossentine, who is captain of the St. Anthony's band, was especially pleased, the Minor being his first in the method. Great interest was shown in the ringing of the peal at St. Anthony's by residents, including Lord and Lady Seaton. Lord Seaton was the donor of the 1924 addition and restoration.

At the invitation of Col. and Mrs. Jerram, the ringers partook of an excellent lunch, the Vicar of St. Anthony's (Rev. W. P. Gilpin) also being a guest. It fell to Mr. E. P. Duffield to thank Col. and Mrs. Jerram for their hospitality, and the Vicar for allowing the peal to be rung. He described the hospitality shown in Cornwall as amazing, and the tour as the most enjoyable they had ever had. The Rev. W. P. Gilpin said they were honoured by the visit to the county of such well-known ringers, and he wished them an enjoyable time for the rest of the tour. Col. Jerram also welcomed the ringers, and facetiously added that he differed from the Vicar on one matter. 'Cornwall,' he said, 'is not a county. It has never been conquered by the English, and it was not until County Councils were inflicted by an English Government that it could even be termed a county. It is a duchy.' The visit to this pleasant home, situated on a cliff overlooking a very fine creek, was all too short.

Helston was visited for the afternoon peal, when Superlative was rung. Here there is another ring by Taylors, dated 1904. One peal had previously been rung on these bells by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, but no record of this could be obtained.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. STOCKPORT BRANCH MEETING.

A meeting of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at St. Mary's Church, Disley, on Saturday, September 22nd, when in spite of the inclement weather a large number of members and friends attended. In addition to local towers, the following bands were represented: Stockport St. Mary's, Stockport St. George's, Norbury, Reddish, Ashton St. Peter's, Fairfield, Buxton, Taxal, Knutsford, New Mills and Marple.

A variety of methods were rung on the bells, a light peal of six, until service time. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Musgrave), who in his address stressed the importance of ringers' work to the Church, and deprecated the efforts that were made from time to time to silence the bells. The local ringers and their ladies provided an excellent tea. A short business meeting followed, and votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the wardens, the organist and the local ringers, after which a return was made to the tower for further ringing. Among the methods rung during the day were Plain Bob, Kent, Oxford, London Scholars' Pleasure, Kingston, Sandal, Capel, College Exercise, Duke of Norfolk, Ockley and Norbury Treble Bob, Wragby, Neasden, St. Albans and Charlewood Delight and Disley Delight. Several touches were achieved on the handbells, Boh Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples all being brought round.

HIGHAM-ON-THE-HILL RINGER MARRIED.

On Saturday, September 15th, at the Parish Church, Stoke Golding, the wedding took place of Mr. Samuel A. Martin and Miss Doris I. Clifford. The bridegroom has for a number of years been a member of the local ringers at Higham-on-the-Hill and also a sidesman and choir member at the Parish Church. He is the son of Mr. William Martin, a member of the band who introduced change ringing to this tower many years ago and is still a ringer in addition to being churchwarden. The bride was in the choir at Stoke Golding. The Rev. P. H. Unwin (Rector of Higham-on-the-Hill) and the Rev. S. D. Middleton (Vicar of Stoke Golding) took part in the service, which was choral.

As the couple left the church the bells pealed out, and, following the usual firing, a good quarter-peal of Oxford Bob Minor was rung, those taking part being F. Kelham 1, L. Woodburn 2, K. R. Killiver 3, F. Hill 4, C. R. Clifford (uncle of the bride) 5, A. E. Rowley (conductor) 6. The ringers of 1, 4 and 5 belong to Stoke Golding, and 2, 3 and 6 to Higham-on-the-Hill.

The reception was held in the Schoolroom, after which the happy couple left for Llandudno, where they spent their honeymoon.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. SUCCESSFUL GATHERING AT BAGSHOT.

The Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a successful meeting at Bagshot on Saturday, Sept. 15th. Punctually at 3 o'clock the ringing started, and standard methods were practised until 4.30 p.m. The church service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon R. W. H. Stuart), and the Rev. G. A. Ford, an honorary member from Yorktown, read the lesson and also gave an interesting address.

Following service, tea in St. Anne's Parish Room was enjoyed by a company of 36. At the conclusion Mr. P. L. Eldridge, on behalf of members, and Capt. H. J. Cann, on behalf of visitors, voiced hearty thanks to Mr. J. Corbett (Guild treasurer) and local ringers for providing such an excellent meal. Thanks were also expressed to the Vicar, the Rev. G. A. Ford, the organist, choir and tea helpers.

The business meeting was presided over by the Vicar. Messrs. J. Amos (Aldershot) and Hall (Bagshot) were elected ringing members. The Yorktown meeting, arranged for October 27th, was transferred to October 20th. The ladies' meeting at Pirbright on October 13th was announced, and a large gathering requested. A telegram sent by the Farnham District to their general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), wishing him a successful tour to Australia, was acknowledged for Mr. Goldsmith by Mr. Corbett, who saw the tourists off from London on September 15th. At the close of business the tower was revisited and more good practice put in despite the misfortune of a broken stay on the treble. The bells were lowered at 8.40 p.m.

Towers represented during the meeting were Aldershot, Bagshot, Farnham, Seale, Farnborough, Pirbright, Wokingham, Yorktown, Stoke Poges, Ashton-under-Lyne and Beddington.

SUFFOLK GUILD AT MONKS ELEIGH.

A meeting of the Lavenham District of the Suffolk Guild was held at Monks Eleigh on Saturday, September 1st, when ringers attended from Sudbury, Groton, Lavenham, Hitcham, Bildeston, Preston, Newton, Long Melford, Little Waldingfield, Bromley (Kent), Shipley (Yorks), London, Bentley and Chelmsford (Essex). Various touches were rung to Plain Bob, Double Court, Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor, including 720 of the latter conducted by D. Elliott.

Tea was provided at the Swan Inn, followed by a business meeting, presided over by the Rev. Jones, Rector. One new member was elected. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Acton on Saturday, October 6th. A hearty welcome was extended to the friends from afar, especially the Essex contingent. Votes of thanks were given the Rector for the use of the bells and presiding, and all others who helped to make this meeting a success. Before visiting the belfry again the handbells were rung to various courses.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

An interesting ceremony will shortly take place when the Church of St. Andrew, which has been removed from Wells Street, near Oxford Street, and rebuilt at Kingsbury, will be consecrated. The bells are a notable peal in the history of bell founding, and it will be remembered that the Central Council approached the Bishop of London to ensure that they should not be broken up or dispersed. They will be rung by a picked band of the Middlesex Association, and afterwards the tower will be open to all, but as the church stands in a residential neighbourhood, and it is most important that a good impression should be created at the start, care will be taken to pick bands and to see that there is no bad ringing.

An interesting point has been raised by the peal of Grandsire Caters at Southampton appearing in our last issue, which was rung on September 19th and not September 12th as stated. The peal of 10 bells was conducted by Mr. John W. Faithfull, a one-armed ringer. Is this new to the Exercise? Several peals have been conducted by one-armed ringers, but Mr. Faithfull cannot remember a peal of 10 so rung. Mr. Faithfull lost his left arm in the war and has on several occasions rung peals with Mr. George Pullinger, who has lost his right arm up to the shoulder.

A correspondent sends us a photograph of East Bergholt bells, and asks us how it is possible to ring them up, seeing there are no wheels or ropes. The frame stands on the ground, and therefore there can be no ringing chamber. The bells are swung by handling the stocks, the ringers standing beside the frame. It is on record that changes have been rung here, but we have no information of the present state of affairs. Perhaps some correspondent will enlighten us.

In celebration of the 21st birthday of Miss Bevy V. Dobson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Dobson, of Mears Ashby, Northants, a peal of Minor was rung on September 27th. Miss Dobson participated in the peal, and in so doing scored her first peal. Is there another similar record in the Exercise? The ringers were entertained to tea after the peal by the Rev. and Mrs. Dobson.

We notice a tendency among some ringers to pronounce the name of the well known method 'Grand-sire' as if it were the equivalent of grandfather. That is wrong. The traditional and correct pronunciation is 'Gransir,' the 'd' being silent and the 'i' short. The word was commonly spelt so in early days.

Mr. I. Emery, of 49, Wellington Road, Bromley, wishes to thank all ringing friends for their kind enquiries and good wishes during his recent illness and operation. He is now home, and trusts he is on the high road to complete recovery, and hopes to resume both work and ringing at an early date.

We are pleased to report a definite improvement in the condition of Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, the popular chairman of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, who has been lying critically ill for more than five weeks in Bristol Hospital.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have recently rehung the 150-year-old peal of bells at Egerton, Kent. The first peal on the bells was rung on September 25th by the St. James' Society of the Kent County Association.

In connection with the quarterly meeting of the Royal Cumberland Youths at Staines, on October 20th, it is hoped to unveil a peal board of a peal of Bob Major rung by members of the society. A big attendance is desired.

We have received a peal from Haresfield, Gloucestershire, without the name of the conductor. Will the conductor kindly communicate with us so that the peal can be published in the appropriate column?

Congratulations to Frank Armitage, aged 14, who rang his first peal at Burley, Leeds, on September 25th. This was his second attempt: the first was lost through a rope breaking in the last course.

RINGING MASTER'S SON MARRIED.

The peal of Stedman Cinques rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on September 25th, and recorded in our peal columns, was specially arranged and rung in honour of the wedding at St. Martin's of Mr. Frederick W. Walker, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, of 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, Birmingham, to Miss Marion Griffiths, of Hall Green, Birmingham. Canon T. Guy Rogers (Rector of Birmingham) officiated. Mr. Richard Wassell, director of the choir, presided at the organ, playing appropriate selections of wedding music, and the St. Martin's Guild rang the famous twelve bells as the happy couple left the church for the reception. Many friends of the bride and bridegroom attended the ceremony.

Referring to the wedding peal, the composition in the Tittums and handstroke home position in equal parts was known to the budding conductors in the band, thereby giving added interest and knowledge in the art of conducting. It is the fond hope of the Ringing Master that the day is not far distant when peals can be rung practically non-conducted.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD-BOY RINGS QUARTER-PEAL.

On Wednesday evening, September 19th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) at St. Giles', Exhall, Coventry: Richard Beesley (first quarter-peal, aged 14) 1, Percy Stone (aged 13) 2, Ernest Stone 3, William A. Stote (conductor) 4, Malcolm Melville 5, Norman Beesley (aged 11 and longest length) 6.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

The Editor's Impressions of Malta.

ENTHUSIASM OVER FIRST PEAL.

In the following letter are some further details of the first peal rung by the tourists now on their way to Australia. The first report of this performance was received by wireless and recorded in our last issue. The Editor now describes the difficult conditions under which it was rung.

ss. 'Barrabool',
Eastern Mediterranean,
Sunday, September 23rd.

We are approaching Port Said, and the next mail to England closes on board at midnight.

The most important piece of ringing news that I have to transmit is that we have 'broken the ice'—if such a metaphor can be used in a temperature now in the nineties in the daytime. This afternoon we scored the first peal of the tour, and it is a memorable performance. The original band sat down to the task on the forward deck, where they could get a little shade from the superstructure of the bridge. The attempt was made more or less on the spur of the moment, for the increasing hot weather is not conducive to the effort of peal ringing. The method was Bob Major, and the peal was rung amid the many distractions which we have found inseparable from our attempts. Members of the crew were playing deck quoits close by: at a critical point in the peal half a dozen burly seamen came round and began preparing the gangway for to-morrow morning's landing at Port Said. Passengers, amazed apparently at our long and persistent effort, became curious and gathered round, went away, came back again, and all around there was the confused murmur of voices, and on one occasion the crying

MR. RUPERT RICHARDSON,
who conducted the first peal of the tour—the first ever rung on the Mediterranean of a baby close to the conductor's ear. But we went on manfully and with some excellent ringing until after 2 hours 25 mins. the first peal of Bob Major outside the British Isles, and the first peal on the Mediterranean Sea, had been rung.

It was not, of course, the first peal ever rung on the water, for that was a peal of Stedman Caters rung between Dublin and Holyhead in the year 1901, conducted by Mr. William Short.

Nevertheless we are proud of our new record, which, as will already have been seen, was rung by Mrs. Richardson, Rupert Richardson, Rev. E. Banks James and J. S. Goldsmith. Rupert called a composition by the late Fred Holden, who, during his service with the Royal Marines, crossed these waters many times. The peal was actually rung while the 'Barrabool' travelled 36 miles, between 32.37 North Latitude, 28.28 East Longitude, and 32.28 North Latitude and 29.07 East Longitude. The bridge was open to passengers this afternoon, and when the bells ran round there came a cheer from those assembled there, led by our colleagues, who had taken up that vantage point to watch the finish of the peal.

Only three days have elapsed since I closed my last letter, but this intervening period has been full of interest to us and has included a visit to the island of Malta, where the ss. 'Barrabool' called on Friday (September 21st), and stayed sufficiently long to give us several hours ashore. Although only sixty square miles in extent, Malta has a civil population of nearly a quarter of a million, and a very large naval and military contingent. Its land-locked harbour is one of the largest in the world, and is divided into several arms, some of which are entirely monopolised by the navy, and can accommodate a vast fleet.

Our vessel got in at 6 a.m., and we were all up to witness the animated and colourful scene. By the time we were anchored we were surrounded by dices—small brightly painted boats rowed by two men, and each capable of carrying six passengers—which form the only means of reaching the shore from the ship.

We reached land after breakfast by this means, and set out in two cars to see the island. We were fortunate in our driver, who spoke English well, and took us to all the places of interest that it was possible to see in the time at our disposal. We learned that out of an apparently barren soil the inhabitants raise three crops a year; they live frugally and, crowded though they are, they look a hardy race.

Among the places we visited were the gardens of St. Antonio, sub-tropical in nature, where oranges and grape fruit were growing, and flowering shrubs were a riot of brilliant colour. We spent some time in the ancient Cathedral of St. Paul at the old capital of Rabato, a treasure house of frescoes and pictures, whose floor is paved with the tombs of Bishops and whose apse is supported on columns of marble, brought in the eleventh century from the ruins of ancient Carthage. Malta, in fact, can boast of a place in history at the very dawn of civilisation, and all down the centuries her fine anchorages and her position in the centre of the Mediterranean on the highway from East to West, have given her a position of unique importance. One can see to-day—and we passed it on our tour—a fort which the Turks besieged in 1585; its present importance is impressed on one by the naval and military activities of which it is the centre, and we had pointed out to us underground granaries in which, we were told, were corn stores sufficient to feed the whole population of the island for five years.

Ninety-nine per cent of the Maltese are Catholics, and extremely devout people. Their churches are numerous, and most of them have three, four or five bells, in odd notes, hung out in the louvres of the towers. In some cases there are twin towers with bells in each. At noon bells were clanging in all directions—reminiscent, someone said, of Oxford on the annual occasion of the Guild festival. But it was not quite like that, for the bells sounded as if they had been cast in an iron foundry, with here and there just one of some fair tonal quality. The majority of them, however, appear to be beyond even the possibility of tuning.

The only bells that had any interest to us on the island were at St. Paul's Church in Valletta—the modern port, in appearance half Moorish—for all the buildings are of sandstone with flat roofs—and half continental. Originally St. Paul's was built by the widowed Queen of William IV., nearly a hundred years ago, as a garrison church, but it is no longer used for that purpose, and at present has, we learned, a diminishing congregation.

Canon Vincent received us very kindly, but time was pressing and we could not make a long stay. The organising secretary ascended to the ringing chamber, in company with the verger and found that the bells were chimed by ropes tied to the clappers. He treated us to a course of Original Minor. He ascertained that there are no wheels to the bells, so that in any event ringing would be out of the question.

Malta is the Melita of the New Testament, and one spot we visited has a special interest for Mr. Linter, who is a keen student of Bible history. From a near-by vantage point we saw the island upon which St. Paul was wrecked on his voyage to Rome. The island is marked with a monument, and it is also to commemorate this event that St. Paul's Cathedral in Rabato came into existence.

Some of our party did some shopping. Four of them left the island with a topee apiece in anticipation of the sun we expect to get in the Red Sea in a few days' time. Rupert, as the most suitable person, was sent to the market to buy fruit. He walked in, but by the time he had made his purchases he was ready to run out. He says the next time he goes there he will wear a gas mask. But we have thoroughly enjoyed the water melons he brought.

We returned to the ship by the means by which we had come—the dices, and found considerable entertainment from the merchants who came out in small boats to dispose of their wares, consisting largely of 'Maltese' lace goods and shawls—much of it, we were warned, having probably been made in Manchester. The diving boys were also an entertainment in themselves. The water hereabouts was thirty or forty feet deep at least. When they could induce a passenger to throw a coin into the harbour, they dived off the side of their little boats and went down and down until they caught the coin—long before it reached the bottom—and came up with it between their toes.

It had been windy and dusty on the island. Once out of the harbour, heading eastward, we found the sea had got up to such an extent that many of the passengers went down, and there were significant gaps at the dining-room tables—ours amongst them. My cabin companions—Old Bill and George—however, have proved themselves able seamen in the manner in which they can sit up and take their nourishment.

On Saturday all trace of the bad weather had disappeared. We had a handbell practice in the morning, but when a band sat down for a peal in the evening the spot they chose—where Sunday's peal was eventually rung—was where a fire drill was to take place, and it (the peal, not the fire drill) had to be abandoned. But later a good touch of 1,008 Grandsire Triples was rung by Rev. E. B. James (conductor) 1-2, R. Richardson 3-4, G. Martin 5-6, Mrs. Richardson 7-8, the longest touch brought round since we started.

All our party are sharing in the life of the ship. There are competitions in numerous games, and you come on these fellows assiduously practising. Mr. Sharples promises to become adept at deck quoits. He throws a very pretty quoit. During the week we have had a picture show, concert, 'dog' races and whist drives. Our difficulty is to crowd it all in. Rupert fills the swimming tank in the morning, and Mr. James sports the brightest bathing costume on the boat.

LATE NEWS.

The men have still apparently failed to be as good as they ought to have been. They have had nothing from the chocolate box for a week. They are beginning to think there may now be none left. The Editor has spent a watch down in the engine room. He has decided not to be a marine engineer. The temperature was 135 degrees, and it cost him a lot to quench his thirst afterwards. Incidentally, Chief Engineer Archibald once started to learn to be a bellringer at Workington. He omitted to let go the sally. He prefers to be a marine engineer.

LATER NEWS.

A peal having been rung, the chocolate box has just been produced.

A NORTHAMPTON BI-CENTENARY.

To celebrate the bi-centenary of St. Peter's bells, Northampton, a meeting was held at the church on September 22nd. The weather, unfortunately, kept many ringers away, but 37 were present to join in the ringing. The usual Guild service was used, and the singing of the hymns was accompanied by handbells rung by the lady ringers from Moulton, assisted by the Rev. J. M. Turner and Mr. L. Curtis. The Rector of St. Peter's gave an inspiring address, which was greatly appreciated. The celebrations were carried on for the Sunday services, and in the evening a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung by the following: W. Atterbury 1, A. Slade 2, J. Dean 3, E. Sibley 4, W. Parker 5, W. Sturgess 6, W. Austin (conductor) 7, J. Wilkins 8. The Bishop of Peterborough took this service, and gave a very helpful address to a crowded congregation.

SOMERSHAM BELLS AGAIN IN ACTION.

The re-opening of the bells of Somersham, Hunts, after a silence of some months, coincided with the monthly meeting of the Hunts Branch of the Ely Association on Saturday, September 29th. It was a splendid meeting, over 40 ringers attending, and the presence of visitors from the Ely and Central Branches was greatly appreciated.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar, followed by tea and a short business meeting. Good use was made of the bells, everyone being looked after by the Ringing Master, rounds to Surprise methods being rung. The 'go' of the bells is perfect.

A NEW LINCOLN BAND.

Welcome to the new band of ringers formed on September 12th at St. Giles' Church, Lincoln. The inaugural meeting, which was presided over by the Rev. R. Olsen, priest in charge of the parish, was attended by 24 members, about 50 per cent. of whom, including a small percentage of ladies, can handle the bell in the approved manner.

From the members present the following were elected officers: President, the Rev. R. Olsen; hon. treasurer, Mr. S. G. Clarke (Vicar's warden); hon. secretary, Mr. B. G. Hooseman; Ringing Master, Mr. Harold Marion; conductor for tune ringing on handbells, Mr. A. Brawn.

As there is a strong blend of experience in this new band, practically all the members being well known in ringing circles in Lincolnshire, ringers will watch with interest the new band from St. Giles'. Before long the band hope to be ringing the old bells of St. Peter at Arches, Lincoln, in their new home at St. Giles'.

NEWS FROM HEREFORD GUILD.

SEVEN NEW MEMBERS ELECTED.

The Bridgnorth District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild held their quarterly meeting at Chelmarsh on September 22nd. Twenty-five members attended from the towers of Highley, Chelmarsh, Bridgnorth (St. Leonard and St. Mary Magdalene), Madeley and Coalbrookdale.

The bells of St. Peter's were raised in peal at 3.15 p.m., when instruction was given to young ringers in Doubles ringing until the service in church, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Newill). The Rev. E. G. Benson (Quatford) read the lesson, and Mr. H. Moore-Williams (Bridgnorth) presided at the organ.

After the service an excellent tea was provided in the schools, followed by the business meeting, at which the Rev. H. S. Newill presided. Seven new members were elected—five from Highley and two from Chelmarsh. The Rev. E. G. Benson was congratulated upon his recovery from illness, and the wish expressed that he would soon be ringing peals again. The secretary was instructed to write and welcome the Rev. Prebendary R. Gillenders to the Bridgnorth district.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, the service in church, and for the kind reception all visitors had received. The Rev. Newill, replying, said that he thought these meetings were what was wanted to improve the knowledge of the art of ringing. Small parishes, if left on their own, were not able to advance, and the interchange of ideas between members and also the instruction given was to everyone's advantage.

At the conclusion of the business an unusual item of interest was the playing on the piano by Mr. H. Moore-Williams of a plain course of Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Touches of Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples were also rung on handbells, and tunes rung by Mr. Brown (Highley) and Mr. Stanier (Madeley).

The tower was revisited for further ringing, methods rung including Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor. At 8 p.m. the bells were lowered in peal, this terminating a very enjoyable meeting.

'STEDMAN.'

UTTOXETER RINGERS' LOSS.

At the request of the Vicar (the Rev. W. A. Charlton), the silent sympathy of the North Staffordshire Association was extended, at their monthly meeting on September 22nd at Uttoxeter, to the local band in the death of their late leader, Mr. Charles Smith, who had been a ringer for over 50 years.

Over 50 ringers attended from the following towers: Stoke, Leek, Norton, Alsager, Kingsley, Cheadle, Burslem, Tutbury, Burton, Heanor, Birkenhead and Gloucester. The beautiful bells were put into action at 2.30 p.m., and kept going with only an interval for service and tea until 8.45 p.m.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, and tea was served in Elkes' Cafe. A vote of thanks to the Uttoxeter ringers was proposed by Mr. E. A. Ridgway (Leek), seconded by Mr. H. Carnwell (Kingsley).

An interesting feature in the afternoon was the unveiling of an illuminated scroll recording a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major which was rung here on July 28th. The scroll had been designed and executed by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, of Norton tower, and was much admired and appreciated.

Numerous methods were rung during the course of the meeting, and the writer noticed only one face which showed any anxiety—the Ringing Master (Mr. R. C. Lewis), whose job on these occasions is to please everybody. That many more similar meetings may be held in the future is the wish of

J. E. W.

STAFFORD SOCIETY'S AUTUMN MEETING.

There was a good muster of members and friends at the autumn meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford held at St. Michael's Collegiate Church, Tettenhall, on September 22nd. The musical ring of eight bells was raised at three o'clock, and was kept going in a variety of methods until 4.45, when a short service was held in church, conducted by the Rev. G. K. Walton (senior curate), who also gave a helpful address.

After a capital tea at the Rock Hotel, handbells were brought into use in the form of tune and change ringing. An apology for absence was received from the Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary and treasurer). Further ringing on the tower bells was indulged in, but had to be curtailed on account of illness nearby.

The next meeting is provisionally fixed for January 12th at Christ Church, West Bromwich.

MITCHAM, SURREY.—On Sunday, September 30th, for harvest festival evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): D. Wright 1, R. Hall (first quarter-peal) 2, L. Greenhow 3, H. Tourle 4, W. S. Smith 5, C. Potheary 6, C. W. R. Grimwood (conductor) 7, L. Briggs 8.

TWERTON-ON-AVON, BATH.—On Sunday, September 23rd, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: H. W. Brawn 1, G. Temple 2, Miss N. G. Williams 3, F. Corke (conductor) 4, J. H. Lucas 5, E. Hancox 6, W. J. Prescott 7, A. E. Baverstock 8. Ringers of 4, 5 and 6 hail from Uxbridge, Middlesex.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*A YEAR OF GREAT ACTIVITY.

The 57th annual meeting of this association was held at Newcastle-on-Tyne on September 29th. There was a large attendance at the festival service in the Cathedral, and the Rev. F. R. Hedley, Vicar of Gosforth, gave a very thoughtful and instructive address, in which he referred to the inscription on Great Paul, 'Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel.' Would it not be well if we made this the motto of our lives? he asked.

Ninety-one members and friends then gathered round the festive board at the County Hotel, the party including the president (Mr. J. Anderson, Newcastle), the Rev. F. R. Hedley, Canon Stephenson, Gateshead, the Rev. A. W. Lister, South Shields, Councillor Arthur Payne, J.P., and Mrs. Payne, and Messrs. C. L. Routledge, J. W. Parker and W. H. Barber.

The annual meeting followed, and after the chairman had welcomed the visitors, the secretary (Mr. G. S. Taylor) read his annual report, which showed that the year had been one of great activity. There had been three cases of bell restoration—at South Shields, Allendale, and Cranlington, and the bells of Bishopwearmouth, Sunderland, which had been silent owing to the re-building of the church, would be ringing again in a few weeks. A special meeting had also been held at Chester-le-Street on the occasion of the unveiling of a peal board to record a peal rung to commemorate the 1,050th anniversary of the dedication of the Church of SS. Mary and Cuthbert. The certificates for Sunday service ringing, 8-12 bell towers, had been won by Christ Church, North Shields, 1,812 points, and St. John's, Shildon, 1,557 points.

The certificates for six-bell towers were awarded to Holy Trinity, Darlington, 1,583 points, and St. Cuthbert's, Benfieldside, 341 points. Thirty-two peals had been rung during the year, an increase of four on last year, 20 of these being Minor.

Mr. W. J. Davidson, Newcastle, headed the list of conductors, with 12 peals, Mr. W. N. Park, of Darlington, coming second with four. The number of men taking part in the peals was 58, and seven men had rung their first 5,000. It is very rare for a member to ring his first peal and conduct another within a year, but this had been done by Mr. T. W. Dodd, of Benfieldside. Photographs of Durham and Newcastle Cathedrals and Hexham Abbey and the Church of SS. Mary and Cuthbert, Chester-le-Street, had been sent for inclusion in the albums to be presented to the Cathedrals of Melbourne and Hobart from the ringers of the homeland.

The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place. Councillor Arthur Payne, J.P., of Gateshead, was elected president, Mr. J. Anderson being heartily thanked for the hard work he has put in during his two years of office, and the treasurer, secretary, editorial secretary, auditor and four district vice-presidents were re-elected.

The association meetings for the year were arranged as follows: Pre-Lent, Shildon; pre-Whitsun, Allendale; summer meeting, Whitely Bay; and a special meeting at Bishop Auckland in May, on the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. Canon A. B. Parry-Evans.

The treasurer's statement showed a very satisfactory balance in hand, and Mr. W. Robson, of South Shields, was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks for writing up the peal book, which had been neglected for some years.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The September meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Tickhill on September 22nd, when the attendance was small, probably on account of the wretched weather. The bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and the ringing generally was good, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise.

A meeting of the general committee was held in the afternoon, when the passing of two old and valued colleagues—Mr. R. W. Jenkinson, of Keighley, and Mr. J. Lawson, of Lightcliffe—was reported. The members stood in silence as a tribute of respect. As the annual meeting is due to be held in the Southern Division, Doncaster was chosen as the venue. It was provisionally arranged to hold the annual committee meeting at Leeds on December 1st at 3 p.m.

Tea was served in Wombwell's Cafe, and the general meeting was held in the Parish Room with the president (Canon C. O. Marshall) in the chair, supported by the Vicar of Tickhill (the Rev. H. E. Booty). Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and to the local company for the arrangements they had made, and these were suitably acknowledged. Mrs. J. Bray, of Scunthorpe, was elected a non-resident life member of the association.

BANBURY 'PEAL' CHALLENGED.*To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal(?) of Grandsire rung at Banbury on September 9th, and published in 'The Ringing World,' I was close to the church when the peal ended, and the bells certainly did not come round, but were forced into rounds after the treble had lead full. Perhaps the conductor can explain?—Yours faithfully,
16, Church Lane, Banbury. MAURICE SMITH.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING.*A BIG DROP IN THE NUMBER OF PEALS.

After 16 years the annual meeting of the Lancashire Association was again held at Rochdale on Saturday, September 29th, about 60 being present, a fair attendance considering the wet day. The choir rendered the bell anthem, and the Vicar (Rev. S. Hutchinson) gave an appropriate address rather off the beaten track.

Tea, in the Schools, was nicely arranged and served by the ringers and lady friends. The business meeting followed. The committee in their report deplored the falling-off of peals for the year (154 to 98), and also the poor response at the monthly meetings, and suggested that each tower should have a fund to assist at least two members to attend meetings. Some towers already had such a fund. The financial statement was not quite ready, and two auditors were elected in the Liverpool area to audit the books and balance sheet for the annual report. The president and general secretary retired by rotation, and were asked to retain office for another two years.

After discussion the rules relating to the financial year were altered from August 31st to July 31st, and also the rule regarding the personnel of the committee, so as to allow a branch, however small, to have one member, and branches with over 80 members to have two members. Two towns were proposed for the next annual meeting—Bury and Preston—Bury getting the most votes. The meeting closed by the president voicing thanks to those who had helped to make the gathering a success.

Most of the branches were represented, and the standard methods were rung with Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. The secretary has still a few tickets left for the annual dinner, so hurry up with your P.O.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.*SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT DUFFIELD.

The grand ring of 10 bells, recently restored, at Duffield Parish Church were made good use of during the quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association on Saturday, September 29th. The heavy downpour did not damp the enthusiasm of some 40 members and friends, and methods were essayed for the benefit of everyone concerned.

At the committee meeting it was stated eight photos (in duplicate) of certain cathedrals and churches in the area were now on the way to Australia for presentation at the forthcoming centenary celebrations. The new rules would be distributed shortly to the members.

Tea served in the schools was followed by a general meeting, presided over by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, supported by Mr. Russell (churchwarden of Duffield and hon. member), Mr. Wm. E. White (hon. treasurer) and Mr. Ernest Morris (hon. secretary). The president gave a brief resume of the past quarter's work, commenting on the fact that only 17 peals had been rung, which was far below the average. One peal, however, was interesting from the fact of its having been the completion of 700 peals by the general hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Morris. No other member of the association had rung so many. He had conducted 350 (exactly half), and these peals were on all numbers from 5 to 12 bells in a huge variety of methods. The president also referred to the lamented death of Mr. C. Severn, of Killamarsh, a valued member and well-known authority on six-bell ringing. He also welcomed the Ladies' Guild at that meeting; their numbers, although few, were valued, and all were pleased with their presence.

Mr. Russell apologised for the absence of the Vicar of Duffield, and gave the assembled company a hearty welcome, trusting all would enjoy their bells, of which they were justly proud. Later on, however, the Vicar (Dr. W. M. Irwin) came into the belfry and spoke a few words of welcome to those who were present. New members proposed since the previous meeting, viz., nine ringing, one rejoin, one life and one honorary, were duly elected. After the meeting further ringing closed a very successful afternoon's entertainment. Thanks are due to the local society for their arrangements.

LEEDS SOCIETY AT ROTHWELL.

Only the staunchest of supporters braved the heavy rain on Saturday, September 29th, at Rothwell, the venue for the September meeting of the Leeds and District Society. The president presided at the business meeting, and one new member was elected, Mr. J. Wormald, of Rothwell.

Mr. J. Moorhouse brought from the Provost of Wakefield Cathedral an invitation to the society to hold a ringing meeting at the Cathedral. Thanking Mr. Moorhouse, the President promised that the invitation would be remembered.

Mr. F. Rayment proposed, and Miss O. Renton seconded, that the best thanks of the society be accorded the Rector and churchwardens of Rothwell for the use of the bells, and to the local company for the arrangements. Mr. T. Strangeway replied. A vote of thanks to Mr. C. Lawson for his services as secretary at the Calverley meeting was proposed by Mr. Lofthouse and seconded by Mr. W. H. Senior.

Further ringing followed, when the methods practised were Plain Bob Major, Spliced Kent and Oxford Major, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and Cambridge Surprise.

DEATH OF MR. LAZARUS PAYNE.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Lazarus Payne, an old member of the Henfield, Sussex, Parish Church ringers, at Southlands Hospital, on Monday, September 24th. He had been a member of the Sussex County Association for 40 years, and had rung about 60 peals in different methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Stedman Cinques.

Mr. Payne was ringing for the harvest festival service on September 20th. He was later taken seriously ill, and it was considered advisable to move him to Southlands Hospital, but he was beyond medical aid and passed away as stated above.

The Vicar (Canon R. J. Lea) officiated at the funeral on September 28th, when the ringers were represented by Messrs. W. J. Alliss and C. Tyler.

The bells were rung half-muffled on Sunday for all the services. By special request 504 Stedman Triples from Thurstans' were rung by: F. Brown 1, E. Morey 2, G. Payne 3, C. Barnes 4, F. E. Baker 5, W. J. Alliss 6, C. Tyler (conductor) 7, F. Cruttenden 8.

YORKSHIRE RINGERS VISIT LINCOLNSHIRE.

A party of ringers from Sutton-on-Hull, Hull (Holy Trinity), paid a visit to Thornton Curtis on Saturday, September 22nd. They were met by members of the local band, and after tea were joined by ringers from Ulceby, Killingholme and Barton-on-Umber. In spite of the inclement state of the weather, a very happy and interesting afternoon and evening was spent.

The ringing, which was of a very high standard, included touches of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, several six-scores of Stedman Doubles, and most of the party had a pull in Cambridge Minor. This combined meeting of ringers proved such a success, both socially and practically, that it was unanimously agreed to make similar arrangements in the future.

Thanks are due to the Vicar (the Rev. Park) for the use of the bells, to Mr. G. Atkinson for making such efficient arrangements, also to Mrs. G. Atkinson for entertaining the visitors.

A WELSH PEAL RE-OPENED.

The five bells at St. Mary's Church, Burry Port, Carmarthenshire, have been rehung with certain new fittings and ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon. The bells were re-opened on Saturday, September 22nd, when a special service was conducted by the Rev. Morgan, Vicar of Pembrey, who gave an address, and the Rev. M. R. Lewis, curate-in-charge, of Burry Port. Ringers were present from Llanelly, Morriston, and also the local band, the bell foundry being represented by Mr. Fred Collins. The bells were kept going during the afternoon to Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles.

HERTS AND ESSEX ASSOCIATIONS' JOINT MEETING.

A very successful joint meeting of the Herts and Essex Associations was held on Wednesday, Sept. 12th, at Hunsdon, when a good number of ringing friends attended from many places, enjoying the lovely summer weather amidst the quiet country surroundings. The towers represented were Bromham (Beds), Fakenham (Norfolk), Streatham, Enfield, Edmonton, Sawbridgeworth, Walthamstow, St. Giles-in-the-Fields, Harlow Common, Little Munden, St. Albans, Hatfield, Loughton, Melbourne, Royston, Much Hadham, beside the members of the Hunsdon band.

Tea was served at the Turkey Cock, all enjoying a real country spread. Ringing was kept up in various methods and all enjoyed the visit.

A good variety of methods was practised during the afternoon, and tea was served at the Victoria.

The business meeting, presided over by the District Master (Mr. E. G. Talbot) followed, at which six new members were elected, and the election of six members previous to peal attempts was ratified. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and to Mr. F. G. Woodiss for making all arrangements.

After some handbell ringing another move was made to the tower, and ringing continued until 9 p.m. Methods rung during the afternoon ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise Major, and it was very encouraging to see so many youngsters at this meeting.

'The learner must be prepared to be only a learner for many months before he begins to realise what the thing is about. And so many of them, just as they are beginning to get over that stage, lose heart and interest, and the belfry sees them no more.'—Ringing World, Oct. 6th, 1934.

'Village Bells' has been written to come in precisely at that stage which Mr. Trollope describes.

In the 'foreword' to the book, Canon Coleridge commends this little work to those who 'having no Instructor, find it difficult to make any headway.'

NOTES BY THE WAY.

There are people who tell us that all is not well with the Exercise. Some ringers, they say, care selfishly for peal ringing and nothing else. Many others are slack and indifferent. Service ringing is neglected. Beginners untaught. When a young man does try to make himself efficient he is discouraged and given no opportunities. While the few who do what they can to improve matters receive no assistance.

Most of the people who talk like this are born croakers, whose nature is to find fault with things they do nothing themselves to put right. But not all. There are men who have long been trying to get together and improve a band, who have given their time, and skill, and money, and who seem to find all their efforts wasted. They have worked, maybe for years, with hopes, and disappointments, and failures, and partial successes; and then perhaps, just as they seem to have achieved something really worth doing, the whole thing goes flop. A quarrel, a death, a departure, or many a lesser thing is often sufficient to undo the work of years. It is not to be wondered that sometimes people seem to lose heart and say they will try no more.

For these men the best tonic is to study the history of the Exercise. They will learn that such things always have happened and may always be expected to happen. But they will also learn that no effort to improve matters is wholly without its value. The story of the last sixty years is one of steady general improvement made up of numberless apparent failures. Sixty years ago the Exercise was at its lowest. Towers were falling into decay. Bells were out of order. Belfries filthy holes full of rubbish. Ringers as a body were a drunken and disorderly lot, men with whom no respectable person cared to associate. The whole condition of bells and ringing was a scandal and a disgrace both to the Exercise and to the Church. Had an impartial man been asked his opinion he must have said that things were too bad for improvement and that ringing was doomed.

And then there arose a few devoted men who set themselves the task of reformation. They were all good Churchmen, and (which for the purpose was equally important) they were all lovers of bells and ringing. They knew how bad things were, but they also knew the vitality of the art, and they knew the good that was in the ringers as well as the evil. Above all, they had patience. They were contented to work and hope, not looking for immediate results, but trusting for the future. Some of them died without seeing any fruits of their labours. Others were getting old before any decided improvement was seen. They laboured and it is we who have entered into their labour. Forty years ago the associations put belfry reform at the front of their objects. We do not hear anything nowadays about belfry reform. There is no need. But the work is not yet done or anything like it. The effort must still go on and in the same way. General improvement can only be had at the price of many individual failures and disappointments. The man who does his best and yet seems to fail, can have at least the satisfaction of knowing that his efforts are not wholly wasted. They all go to make up the sum of the force that is carrying forward our art.

For while the tired waves vainly breaking,

Seem here no painful inch to gain,

Far back through creeks and inlets making

PRESTON'S 400-YEAR-OLD BELLS.

The eight bells of St. John's Parish Church, Preston, have been augmented to ten by the addition of two trebles. These are the gift of the family of the late John and Elizabeth Sharp, who for many years worshipped at this church. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank were entrusted with the work, and the old eight have been cleaned by sandblasting and tuned. The whole will be hung in a new iron frame with ball bearings and new fittings. A legacy by the late Miss C. A. Gillet will defray the cost of rehanging, etc.

On October 6th the bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Blackburn (Dr. Herbert) on the floor of the baptistry. The other clergy present were the Vicar of Preston (Canon Wallis) and the Rev. F. S. Makinson (curate). Members of the Sharp family present were Dr. L. Sharp (son) and Mrs. Sharp (London), Mr. and Mrs. H. Parker (daughter, Keswick), and Miss Sharp (Preston). The Rev. H. B. Mack and Mrs. Mack (daughter) were unavoidably delayed on their journey from Leominster and were too late to take part in the service.

The large congregation included many ringers, with the full choir in attendance. The Vicar opened the service, and after the singing of the 150th Psalm a procession was formed to the west end of the church consisting of the donors, clergy and churchwardens. Mr. W. Smirk, the senior warden, then asked the Bishop to dedicate the old eight, and then Dr. Sharp asked the Bishop to dedicate and name the two new bells. In clear, ringing tones the Bishop pronounced the dedicatory prayers and named the new bells 'John' and 'Elizabeth.' The procession returned to their places during the singing of the hymn, 'We love the place O God.'

The Bishop, in his address, traced the uses of bells from ancient days, and said that among all the component parts and furnishings of a church, he doubted if there were any more full of romantic interest than the bells. Very often in times past the bells did not even belong to the church. They were the valued possession of the town, which gave them to the safe keeping of the Church because it was the centre of life. He added that the bells of Preston Parish Church had 400 years of continuous history.

The simple but impressive service concluded with the hymn, 'Abide with me,' and the Blessing by the Bishop. An open ringing day will be held as soon as the bells are ready, probably in early November.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ENJOYABLE MEETING AT GREAT GADDSDEN.

The Western District of the Hertford County Association had an enjoyable meeting at Great Gaddosden on September 29th. The bells were rung to rounds for beginners, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Double Oxford, Double and Single Court, St. Clement's, Thelwall, Childwall, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor. Everyone was given an opportunity according to ability or desire.

Tea was partaken of at the local hostelry, and Mr. H. Golding presided at the business meeting. Two probationers were elected from Hemel Hempstead, and this tower was chosen for the next meeting on November 10th. The members expressed their pleasure at having the secretary of the district among them once more. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to Mr. F. Rance for making the arrangements. Members and friends were present from Redbourn, Hemel Hempstead, Apsley, Berkhamstead, Northchurch, Tring, Linslade, Luton, Woburn, Bushey, St. Albans, and Willesden.

After further ringing at the tower, handbell ringing was indulged in, the methods being Cambridge Surprise Minor, St. Clement's, Double Bob, Bob Major and Grandsire Triples, one youthful member from Northchurch showing great promise in the latter methods.

ESSEX RINGERS AT ST. OSYTH.

Some 30 members representing 12 towers attended the meeting of the North-East District of the Essex Association at St. Osyth on October 6th. The visitors included representatives from Sudbury, Springfield and Broomfield.

An hour and a half of ringing preceded the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Mitchell). Mr. E. Duffield, Master of the association, read the lesson. The Vicar, in his address, thanked the association for what it had done in the way of bellfry reform, for, in his opinion, those responsible for the upkeep of the church usually forgot the bells.

Tea was served at the Institute, and Mr. Duffield thanked all who had helped to make this meeting a success, the Vicar for his helpful address, the organist and choir, and, above all, those who provided and helped with tea.

At the business meeting three new members were elected from the Harwich tower, and the election of a member of St. Peter's, Colchester, previous to a peal attempt, was ratified. It was decided that the annual meeting should be held at Colchester. Mr. Duffield reminded members that as Master of the Association he could not be again elected District Master. All members were asked to consider the selection of a suitable man to fill the vacancy at the annual meeting.

After the meeting, ringers returned to the tower and kept the bells going until 8 p.m. Methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Double Court, Oxford, Kent, Cambridge, York and London Minor.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT BIRSTALL.

PASSING OF MR. J. LAWSON.

At the quarterly meeting of the Western Division of the Yorkshire Association at Birstall, on September 29th, Canon C. C. Marshall, who presided, referred to the loss the association had sustained through the death of Mr. J. Lawson, a prominent member of the general committee. A minute was recorded expressing the district's appreciation of his life and service to the cause of change ringing. The members assented by standing in silence. Mr. J. Ambler, of Pudsey, has been elected to the vacancy on the general committee. Mr. E. Betts, of Liversedge, was elected a member of the association.

A vote of thanks to Vicar and churchwarden (it is well known that Birstall possesses a fine peal of bells, and must be unique in the fact that it only possesses one churchwarden) was proposed by the president, who referred to his own initiation to change ringing at this tower, Canon Robinson replying. A vote of thanks to the local company was proposed by Mr. W. Barton, seconded by Mr. J. Hogg. Mr. H. Peel responding on behalf of the local company.

About 20 members were present, and various methods were rung throughout the day. Owing to only four members applying for tea, the local company made no arrangements, but, thanks to the caterprise of the local secretary (Mr. H. Peel), accommodation was found in a nearby cafe. Brighouse was selected for the December meeting. The secretary expresses his apology to the members of the Leeds and District Society for the clash of meetings.

VALUE OF TOURS.

Dear Sir,—I should like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to congratulate Mr. Alfred T. Greenwood on ringing his 200th peal in the Somerset tour. I have noted that practically all these peals have been rung with his friend, Frederick W. Rogers. It would be of great interest to the members of the Exercise to know how many ringers these gentlemen have assisted to score their first peal. It is some 12 years since I scored my first peal, and I remember how much I appreciated the assistance and help given to me by those ringers who were far more experienced than I was.—Yours truly, St. Austell, Cornwall. ALFRED TAYLOR.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.*HALF-YEARLY MEETING AT LLANDUDNO.

The North Wales Association held their half-yearly meeting at Llandudno on Saturday, September 22nd. About thirty members attended, representing Bangor, Rhyl, Wrexham, Mold, Llangollen and Llandudno. A service was held at Holy Trinity Church, and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. T. J. Rowlands), who gave an interesting address and warmly welcomed the association to Llandudno.

At the business meeting which followed, the President referred to the terrible disaster that had occurred at Gresford Colliery, and as a token of sympathy the members stood in silence.

Reference was also made to the loss Llangollen ringers had sustained by the death of their captain, Mr. T. Davies. A vote of sympathy with his relatives was passed. An apology for absence was received from the Bishop of Swansea and Brecon, who also tendered his resignation as vice-president, and expressed his regret that his connection with the North Wales Association had been so brief.

The report for the year was submitted by the Hon. Secretary, who said that the monthly practice meetings had been very successful, and the attendances most satisfactory, especially in the Wrexham district, and had been much appreciated by the young ringers. The balance sheet showed an increase in subscriptions and was duly passed.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Bangor. A proposal was put forward and carried that at future meetings a charge of 1s. would be made for tea. Twenty new ringing members were elected to the association, also three new life members.

The members were afterwards entertained to tea by the Vicar and churchwardens at a local cafe. The President moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his helpful and practical address, for the use of the tower and his kind hospitality.

SURREY ASSOCIATION AT KINGSWOOD.

A successful meeting, attended by 30 members of the Southern District of the Surrey Association, was held at Kingswood on Saturday, September 29th. The Vicar (the Rev. W. A. Dunn) conducted the service, Mr. A. M. Hicks being the organist. Tea was served at the Blue Anchor, Tadworth. Ald. Temple Newell presided at the business meeting, when the next quarterly meeting was fixed for Merstham in December.

The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until 8.15 p.m. from London Surprise Minor to rounds. Votes of thanks were passed to all who contributed towards such a happy gathering.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.*A BIG GATHERING AT WOOL.

The quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at Wool, on September 29th, was largely attended, and good opportunity for practice was given for those not so advanced in the art.

The special preacher at the Guild service was the Rev. A. S. Bryant (Rector of Upwey), who gave one of his characteristic and original addresses. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar and chairman of the branch (Rev. E. S. Tarrant). Mrs. G. Hodges was at the organ.

Members and friends were entertained at tea at the Reading Room, the following towers being represented: Bere Regis, Bradford-Peverell, Dorchester, Fordington, Upwey, Wareham, Wyke Regis, and every member of the local company. A welcome visitor was Mr. N. I. Allnatt, of Swindon, who is at present residing in the district.

A short business meeting followed and was attended by 64 members and friends. The Chairman, who presided, welcomed the members and friends to Wool, and remarked on the bond of fellowship which existed between them, and thanked all responsible for such a happy gathering.

The following new members were elected: Life member, Mr. W. E. Troke (St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London); ringing members, Messrs. N. I. Allnatt (Swindon) and F. Stedman (Weymouth); associate members, Mesdames G. B. Runyard, M. H. Tarrant, H. M. Hodges, M. E. Williams, D. Hyde, M. Smith, H. Stephens (Wool), and A. E. Stedman (Weymouth). The annual meeting will be held at Dorchester after Christmas.

Votes of thanks were further extended to the Rev. A. S. Bryant for his excellent address, and also to the chairman and local band. The ringers afterwards returned to the belfry, where further practice was continued.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

Twenty-seven members attended the quarterly meeting of the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild at Benington on September 22nd, Canon W. F. Hodge (Rector) conducting the service. Tea was kindly provided by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Carby. Swineshead was selected for the annual meeting in January. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector, Mr. and Mrs. Carby, and the organist. The bells were kept going to various standard methods during the afternoon and evening.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Congratulations to Messrs. Walter and Andrew Marshall and Albert Relfe who have rung together at Lamberhurst, Kent, for 25 years.

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Taunton, on September 29th, and published last week, was Dexter's Variation of Thurstans' composition. The second bell was observation.

Good progress is being made by the local band on the 12 bells of the Priory Church, Christchurch, Hants. With the assistance of a visitor a plain course of Stedman Cinques was rung on October 1st.

The peal rung at Denver, Norfolk, on August 5th, was for the Ely Diocesan Association, and the ringer of the fourth was Victor Bowen and not A. Mason.

Mr. E. Bishop has been a ringer at St. Denis' Church, Rotherfield, for over 50 years. A quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung as a birthday greeting on September 30th, Mr. Bishop participating.

Much has been written about the absence of youth in the belfry. A peal of Bob Major rung at Crayford, Kent, on Saturday, was conducted by Edwin Barnett, aged 15. The peal was composed by Mr. G. Stedman Morris when he was 15 years of age.

Two of the band that rung the quarter-peal for the harvest festival at Sutton-on-Trent, on September 23rd, spent the remainder of the night and several hours of the next day walking home—a mere sixteen miles!

Ringings partnerships are always interesting. By a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, rung at Everecch, Somerset, on October 3rd, Messrs. Ronald G. Beck and Joseph T. Dyke have taken part in 90 peals together for the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

Christchurch Priory ringers had their outing on October 6th, when Wells and the Cheddar Gorge and caves were visited. At Yeovil, on the return journey, touches of Grandsire Caters and Stedman Caters were brought round at the Parish Church. The outing was very enjoyable.

The West Wickham, Kent, band are losing two of their members, who are leaving the district, in Miss I. Vaughan and Mr. C. A. Tammadge. A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung as a farewell compliment at the Parish Church on September 30th by the local band conducted by Mr. A. S. Richards.

Many old friends were welcomed when the Warwickshire Guild met at Hampton-in-Arden on September 15th. Among them was Mr. A. Wilkerson, a former hon. secretary, from Weston-super-Mare, and Messrs. Wheeler and Dean, of the Staffordshire Guild. Useful instruction to local ringers anxious to begin change ringing was a feature of the meeting.

The doyen of Taunton ringers is Mr. William Hayward, who celebrated his 80th birthday on September 7th. For nearly 40 years he was conductor of the Wilton Guild. Birthday compliments were paid him on September 23rd, when a quarter-peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung at St. George's Church. His son, Mr. A. W. Hayward, conducted, and his grandson, Mr. R. W. Hayward, also participated.

Miss Bevys V. Dobson is not alone in scoring her first peal in participating in one rung in celebration of her 21st birthday. A correspondent reminds us that Miss Betty Cox, a member of the Simpson, Bucks, band, was similarly honoured on March 10th, 1931, when she rang the third to a peal of Bob Minor, it being her first peal and first attempt. It was also the first peal of Minor on the bells in which a lady had taken part.

Omitted from the report of the North Staffordshire Association meeting at Uttoxeter was that Newcastle-under-Lyne were represented. Their three members cycled 18 miles to participate in the gathering. The Newcastle tower make a point of attending district meetings, and so far this year they had had an average of five members per meeting. Keenness for district meetings is a foundation stone of the Exercise.

THE INTEGRITY OF CONDUCTORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am quite in agreement with Mr. P. Laffin's views on the above subject. It appears to me that some people are always ready to try and remove a mote out of another folk's eye, forgetting the beam that is in theirs. This question was definitely settled by the Central Council some few years ago, and as all guilds and associations are now affiliated to what is in essence the ruling authority, the question, I submit, is 'non est.' Are not all such affiliated societies compelled to accept and abide by the decisions and rules of the Central Council? There is a rule to that effect in the last annual report of the Essex Association, and I commend that to the notice of one gentleman who raised the point at the last annual meeting of the above association.

RINGING TOUR IN CORNWALL.

The final instalment of the report of the tour of Mr. Wm. Pye and his party in the 'Delectable Duchy' is given in this issue.

Thursday, September 20th.—Another early start, this time towards where Col. Jerram would say that England lay. St. Nyvett's Church, Lanivet, has a fine, tall tower, with a very nice ring of bells, five of which are stated to have been bought from an old priory at Bodmin in 1538, the price paid being under £40. Two trebles were added and the peal restored by Taylors in 1924. The tenor is also from Loughborough. After a good peal of Bristol Surprise had been rung the whole party were entertained by the Rector, Canon S. Windsor, to a really delectable lunch. The amazing hospitality of Cornwall continued, and was again referred to when the thanks of the visitors were conveyed to Canon Windsor by Mr. C. T. Coles. The Rector of Lanivet mentioned that although this was the heart of the prize-ringing district of Cornwall, he did not allow it at his church. He would like his own ringers to learn change ringing, but the difficulties were great. There were no change ringers nearer than Truro. His own ringers were excellent at round ringing, but his greatest treat was to have listened to the music of the changes rung that day. Many parishioners had commented on the ringing, and he had had to explain, which reminded him of the story of the little boy, listening to the bells, who asked his father who were ringing them. The boy's father said, 'They are scientific ringers.' 'Oh,' said the boy, 'how far off is that?' Canon Windsor said he had no doubt that their visit would do a great deal of good in Lanivet, and, he added, 'I hope you will come again.'

The afternoon peal attempt was at St. Austell, where there is a ring of eight recast in 1902 by Taylors, tenor 19 cwt. London was attempted, but only an hour's ringing took place. As we said before, an inquest might have been held, but the easiest way out is to blame it on to the really nice lunch. A lost peal is just lost, after all.

A pleasant event of the day, however, was the ringing of a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Kea's Church, with four Truro ringers taking part. This peal commemorated the 25th year of the ministry of the Vicar, Rev. R. H. Sowell, who afterwards congratulated and thanked the ringers. Besides being the first peal in the method on the bells, this was the first of Stedman by three of the band.

Friday, September 21st.—Gulval, near Penzance, was the first place visited. Here there is a nice octave by Warners, and the tower records show two quarter-peals of Grandsire Triples by an entirely local band. London was again attempted, but only about half a peal was rung. Enough said! There was some recompense, however, for time allowed of a quick trip to Land's End, piloted by Col. Jerram. The Church of St. Sennan, the last in England, was passed on the way, but time did not permit of a ring on the bells, a peal of five by Mears and Stainbank, dated 1889, tenor 6 cwt.

Dr. J. Symons, of Penzance, president of the Truro Guild, was the host at a luncheon at Chirgwin's Restaurant, when the party were augmented by the Vicar of Gulval (Rev. C. H. S. Buckley), Mr. W. Wood (churchwarden), Col. C. F. Jerram, and Mr. A. W. Brighton. After another delightful meal, Mr. Duffield congratulated Dr. Symons on the Bardic honour recently conferred upon him, and said that in taking for his title that of 'Barth an Cleghtour' (Bard of the bell tower), Dr. Symons had done great honour to the art of ringing.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert voiced the thanks of the visitors to Dr. Symons for his hospitality. He said it was good to come down there and be treated so well. He referred to Col. Jerram's remarks two days previously, and said, 'We conquer you at ringing, but it was a proud moment for me when our conductor said "That's all," in the peal of Stedman Triples the previous evening, with four visitors and four Cornish men and women.'

Mr. Hibbert added, 'In these days youth does as it likes, so we cannot help the youngest member of our party, who looks quite likely to build for himself a Cornish bungalow, and take unto himself a Cornish wife.'

The Vicar, in welcoming the visitors, said he was not a ringer. The well-being of ringing in that town rested entirely with Dr. Symons. He had been perfectly charmed with the sound of the bells that day, although several people had said to him, 'They can't beat our boys when they get on top of it.'

Dr. Symons said that the visit of so many ringers was a great pleasure to him. 'You are all College Youths,' he said, 'and I am proud to be one.' He was disappointed at not hearing the ringing at Gulval, but was looking forward to hearing the peal that afternoon. He had been a reader of 'Church Bells' and 'Bell News,' and was now a reader of the last and best of all, 'The Ringing World.' They saw the name of William Pye therein, and he congratulated him on being in the last 100 of his 2,000 peals.

In the afternoon a peal of Cambridge Surprise was rung at St. Mary's Church, Penzance, on a fine octave by Taylors. During this peal, in which the Rev. E. V. Cox, president of the Devonshire Guild, took part, those 'resting' returned to Gulval, where several touches of Stedman Triples were rung. It was a privilege for the visitors to be able to ring with Dr. Symons, Miss Eileen Symons, Col. Jerram, and Mr. P. J. Hitchens, all of whom took part in the ringing. Before leaving, Col. Jerram thanked Mr. Wm. Pye and his friends for their assistance, saying that it entirely disposed of the charge that experts would not give help. Penzance was again reached in time to hear the conclusion of a very good peal, when leave-takings with many Cornish friends had to be made.

Later that evening, at Truro, a pleasant hour was spent with the handbells, and Mr. Duffield took occasion to thank Mr. A. S. Roberts, who, with Miss Angwin and Mr. C. Lanxon, were present, for his invaluable assistance in arranging this tour. The bells they had rung were all good peals, and not a badly going bell amongst them. Mr. Coles seconded, and added that he was most pleased with the peal of Stedman Triples with local ringers, although he regretted the failure of Monday, when Mr. Roberts himself was ringing. Mr. Roberts said he was very happy in arranging for the visitors, and hoped they would soon pay Truro another visit.

Saturday, September 22nd, saw the commencement of the long journey to London. A stop on the way to ring a peal of London Surprise at St. Stephen-in-Brannel, the tower which was not available on Monday, gave an opportunity of hearing a fine ring by Taylors. The Rector (Rev. F. E. Gilbert) and the churchwarden visited the belfry to congratulate the party, and the Rector was thanked for his kindness in obtaining an alternative tower for Monday's peal, and for the use of the bells that day. There are two bands of ringers at this church, and both hold first-class certificates for round ringing, earned at 1933 and 1934 festivals of the Mid-Cornwall Ringers' Association, of which the Rev. F. F. Gilbert is hon. secretary. Extracts from the competition rules may be of interest: 'Striking must not exceed 32 rounds per minute. Rise and fall in three minutes. Set bells eight minutes from start, immediately pull off for another three minutes and fall at leisure.'

Exeter was reached at three o'clock, and the Cathedral attended at four o'clock for the service of unveiling a peal tablet, already reported in 'The Ringing World,' and in the evening a peal of Cambridge Surprise was rung at Heavitree. London was reached next day.

This tour was generally considered as being one of great interest. Originally intended entirely for peal ringing, it undoubtedly provided opportunities for education in change ringing and the spreading of the art. There are still parts of Cornwall where change ringing is never heard; another such tour as this would do a great deal of good, and there is not the least doubt of the welcome that Cornish ringers of all kinds will give to any bands who like to make the journey to the 'Delectable Duchy.'

In conclusion, the tourists desire to thank all Cornish folk for their kindnesses throughout the tour, and sincerely hope that the assistance given will have real and lasting good results.

CALL CHANGES IN CORNWALL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is very amusing to read in 'The Ringing World' the account of the Cornish tour, that the ringers at Roche, Cornwall, were astounded at 'peals' of three hours' duration. The leader of that tower is a very competent change ringer, having rung peals in standard methods up to Stedman Caters, and he has also, to the writer's knowledge, rung in one peal in his own tower, so apparently the locals should know all about peals of three hours' duration. Unfortunately he cannot persuade the others to take up change ringing. I suppose they prefer to 'hold the change.' When one considers that call changes are broadcast by B.B.C. as their call sign from a record made, I am given to understand, by the College Youths, call change ringers must feel rather proud of the fact that the premier change ringing society of Great Britain should, by ringing call changes, infer that call changes are better music than scientific.

The visit of the band to Cornwall will undoubtedly do a lot to help change ringing. The beautiful rhythm of their ringing must have impressed the locals where the peals were rung, but, at the same time, whilst the locals may concede this point, there is 'no' ringing to the stoney ringers of the West Country like the ringing with the tenor behind.—Yours truly,

W. HISCOTT ('DUCHY').

11, Rosebery Avenue, Plymouth.

ALFORD BELLS DEDICATED.

The five bells at Alford, North Lincs, dating back nearly 240 years, have been recast and a new treble bell added, thus completing the ring of six. On the recast bells the old inscriptions and markings have been faithfully reproduced, the work being carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The tenor is 12 cwt. 1 qr. 24 lb. in F sharp, against the old tenor of 10 cwt. 1 qr. 5 lb. A new frame has been provided, together with a sound-proof floor and new belfry floor. The bulk of the money required has come from small contributions given through the weekly collection scheme.

The fine old Church of St. Wilfrid was packed to its utmost on October 5th for the dedication service. Members of the local Civic Council and representatives of the Nonconformist churches attended the service.

MR. ERNEST MORRIS' 700 PEALS.

He has rung in 197 towers (121 of which are in the Leicester Diocese), in 24 counties, for 22 societies. Mr. Morris' record is made up as follows:—

STEDMAN'S BELLS.

IN DEFENCE OF OLD PRINCIPLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—If I may I would like to make an answer to a letter which appeared in your issue of September 7th from 'Ringer,' headed 'Old Principles Questioned.' He writes to ask why many people, keenly interested in old bells and bellringing, desire the preservation of the canons and prefer that bells should be hung on elm headstocks than by other more recent methods.

In his last paragraph he refers to common sense, contrasting it with sentiment. It is perhaps in regard to this last sentence more than to any other that I would ask the patience of yourself and your readers. In my view sentiment is a part of common sense. I believe that common sense is the quality common to all the human sense-approaches, to such problems as bell hanging, architecture and even to life itself. Sentiment certainly is most important in life; to try and live without it would as surely result in failure as to try and live without knowledge (science).

The difficulty that confronts human beings is to apportion rightly the values that should be given to the various aspects of life, and, in your particular world, to bellringing and bell hanging. I will illustrate this point of view by a parallel example.

If efficiency were alone the thing desired by man, and if the only objects of a church tower were to be seen in the distance and to carry bells, and if in regard to that part of the church sentiment were neglected, it would be proper, as old towers fall into decay, to destroy them and frame steel or ferro-concrete structures much lighter than were the old ones and equally strong, or even stronger than they ever were. I would not say that such buildings would be without beauty or interest. But it would surely be against common sense to destroy the old church towers because they are clumsy, uneconomic, and unscientific as judged by present knowledge. It is because these old church towers and the buildings to which they are attached, and many others in England and the world, are valued by human beings that we preserve them, continuing them in use and respecting them. They are works of art because they are the proper resultants of the conditions of the day when they were built—of the then knowledge and ability of man, and of his then material power and wealth.

The answer, therefore, to your correspondent's letter is that there are a great number of people who, besides enjoying the sound of bells, enjoy also these other qualities which they share with the old towers, which qualities, I am quite certain, all your readers love well.

Further, in making additions or alterations to a valued ancient building, it is common sense to pay respect to all the qualities of the existing building, tempering our procedure with our own knowledge and way of doing things, neither stressing functionalism nor archaeology or art beyond the demands of common sense. It seems wise to apply the same reasoning to a bell cage and the fittings of bells, and out of respect for the old work of man (which, like other old works of art, was first rate in its day and which, since its creation, has given, and still continues to give, to man joy in its being), to treat them with a similar respect. This, I think, should be done in the case at issue, (1) by preserving the canons of the bells, and (2) by using elm head stocks, for this preservation and this use does not hinder the full pleasure of bellringing nor harm the sound of bells, and this, although they do entail more thought, more care, and sometimes more work if they are to be secured.

A. R. POWYS,
Secretary,

The Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings.

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION AT LEITH.

Rain fell heavily during the meeting of the Scottish Association at St. James' Episcopal Church, Leith, on October 6th, but it did not prevent the members from turning up at what was for most of them their first ring on the oldest ring in the association and the oldest ring in use in Scotland, being an eight by Mears and Stainbank, 1866.

At a short service in the church, the Rector, Rev. William Hall, said that many people thought that the service started when the bells had finished, but this was not so, as their devotion started whenever the bells begin calling the people to the House of God.

Tea was served at Crawford's, after which the president, Mr. W. B. Sampson, read a letter from Mr. Henry Sargent tendering his resignation as joint Master, owing to ill-health. Mr. Sargent was able, however, to be present at the meeting. Mr. W. C. S. Heathcote (ex-Master) was in charge of the ringing, as Mr. W. H. Pickett was unable to attend. The evening concluded with ringing at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh.

THE WORCESTERSHIRE DINNER.*THE STATUS OF RINGERS IN DIOCESAN MATTERS.

The second annual dinner of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held in the Public Hall, Worcester, on Saturday, September 29th, under the chairmanship of the Master, Mr. William Short, the guests of the evening being the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, secretary of the Hereford Guild, and Mr. Herbert Knight, secretary of the society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. Other well-known ringers present included Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough, Mr. J. R. Newman, general secretary of the Worcestershire Association, Mr. Harry Mason, Alderman James Hemming, of Evesham, and Mr. Sidney T. Holt. Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. T. C. de la Hay, of Bromsgrove, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, J.P., M.A., Mr. Frank Perrins and others.

The dinner was followed by a musical evening with not too much formal business, and interposed with the minimum number of speeches.

Mr. Harry Mason, in proposing the toast of 'Kindred Associations,' welcomed the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. Herbert Knight, whose presence was very much appreciated. The Worcestershire Association had always endeavoured to work hand in hand with its neighbours, and would, he hoped, continue to do so. Mr. Mason drew the attention of those present to the various ways one association could help another. He referred particularly to the appeal for funds in connection with the work on Kidderminster bells. Our kindred association, he said, had been doing their bit towards this good cause, and he, the speaker, hoped all members who had not done so would give the matter consideration.

Mr. Herbert Knight replied and said it gave him great pleasure to be present at that gathering, because, apart from anything else, he felt that such social intercourse as was obtained at gatherings of that sort did a great amount of good in the Exercise. The Worcestershire Association had always been to the fore, and so long as it had such men among its ranks as Mr. William Short, Sidney Holt and Robert Matthews, he felt the association would continue to be so. It was up to the younger generation to emulate the good examples of their leaders.

The toast of 'The Worcestershire and Districts Association' was ably proposed by the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson. He said that whether he went north, south, east or west, it seemed that one could never get out of Worcestershire; in fact, he felt, when travelling in this part of the world, that the only part of the country which was not in Worcestershire was Wales and Hereford! The Worcestershire Association loomed largely in the ringing world, and he hoped it would go on from strength to strength.

Mr. Newman, in reply, thanked the previous speaker for his kind remarks concerning the Worcestershire Association. Mr. Newman said he thought the association had justified itself in the way it had carried out its objects, but he would like to see the status and opinions of ringers and ringing associations appreciated more by the 'powers that be,' particularly by the Bishops' Advisory Boards. There was, said Mr. Newman, quite as reliable knowledge among ringers as among the archaeologists, especially on the question of re-hanging or recasting of bells, and it was the duty of all ringing associations and ringers to see that they received the recognition to which they were entitled.

The rest of the evening was given over to musical entertainment and having a good 'chin-vag' with friends one did not meet very often. The musical programme was an 'all ringer' affair, songs being sung by Mr. Geoffrey Hemming and Mr. George King, a monologue by Miss Amy Johnson, and an 'entertainment' by Mr. John Hall. There was also handbell ringing, including an effort by four novices, the latter (a plain course of Grandsire Triples), being appreciated very much, if the applause was anything to go by. It is left to the imagination as to what might have happened if someone had called a 'bob.'

NEW BELLS AT BISHOP'S LYDIARD.

Three recast bells of the peal of eight were dedicated by the Vicar at Bishop's Lydiard, Somersetshire, on Sunday, September 30th. The back bells have been going rather badly for several years, the tower not keeping steady. Bells 6, 7 and 8 have been put on ball bearings, and 2, 3 and 4 recast, and the remainder of the peal tuned. Bishop's Lydiard has now a melodious peal of bells, tenor 23 cwt. in E. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are to be congratulated on an excellent job.

LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT MEETING.

About 20 ringers attended the Leatherhead District meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on September 22nd at Christ Church, Epsom. Methods ranged from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise. Tea was served in the Parish Room, thanks being accorded the Vicar (the Rev. L. W. Mylrea) for the use of the bells and Mr. J. Crawford for making the arrangements. The next meeting will probably be held on December 8th to avoid clashing with the Surrey Association.

SUCCESSFUL RECRUITING MEETING.*NEWINGTON BAND JOIN COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A successful recruiting meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association was held at Newington (Folkestone) on October 6th, when the local band joined the county association. Ringers and their friends gathered from Ashford, Brabourne, Cheriton, Canterbury, Hythe, Sturry and Willesborough to elect the local ringers as members of the Kent County Association.

Some good touches were enjoyed until 4.15, when the ringers' service was conducted by Mr. C. R. Johnson, who gave a helpful address, in the absence of the Vicar. The service was made much more enjoyable by the addition of the organist, the choir and several members of the usual Sunday congregation. The church, too, was decorated for the harvest festival, which further added to the enjoyment.

After the service, an enjoyable tea was served at the Village Hall by ladies of the church. The tea was provided by the efforts of the local ringers in arranging a whist drive, an indication of their keenness.

Mr. Johnson presided at the business meeting, and the hon. secretary proposed that the Newington band, consisting of ten persons, be elected, collectively, members of the Kent County Association. This proposition, seconded by Mr. Ruck, was carried unanimously. The chairman was made an hon. member. Messrs. S. Finn and E. S. Ruck then in turn each thanked all who had in any way helped to make such an enjoyable afternoon. Although the weather was none too kind, nobody enjoyed themselves any the less because of that, except, maybe, those who allowed themselves forty minutes to walk two hundred yards! The help of any ringers who happen to be close to Newington Church on Wednesday evenings between seven and nine will be more than appreciated.

VALUE OF PROPAGANDA VISITS.

As the outcome of the visit of Essex ringers to Middleton Cheney, Essex, last June, a peal was rung on the local bells this week. Middleton has a grand ring of six bells, rehung by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough (and reflects great credit on the firm), about three years ago. Standing on the ground floor, ringers found 62ft. of rope without guides, and if the bells had not been hung perfect, the peal could never have been rung. The band wish to thank the Rector, the Rev. W. B. H. Canton, for granting the use of the bells and congratulating us on the good striking throughout, also the local ringers for having everything ready, and to Mr. J. Mardell, of Sulgrave, for his kind assistance.

SUSSEX RINGERS' LOSS.*SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT STEYNING.

The meeting of the Southern Division of the Sussex Association at Steyning, on September 27th, was overshadowed by the death a few days before of Mr. George Phillips, the steeplekeeper of Steyning. During his address the Vicar paid an impressive tribute to Mr. Phillips' loyal services over a period of many years, and to the kindness of his character. 'Many, besides the ringers,' said the Vicar, 'have lost a faithful friend.'

At the business meeting Mr. R. Congreve-Pridgeon presided, and the following new members were elected: R. F. Booker (St. Peter's, Brighton), F. E. Cole (non-resident member), L. G. Burnett (St. Nicholas', Brighton), J. Bussey, T. Shepard and J. Turner (Lewes). The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, his address, and to the organist.

Members attended from the three Brighton towers, Shoreham, Lewes, Ringmer, Heane and the local tower, and the bells were kept going until 8.30 p.m. Included in the methods rung was London Surprise.

DEVIZES RINGERS AT BISHOP'S CANNINGS.

The tuneful ring of eight (tenor 16 cwt.) at Bishop's Cannings seemed more beautiful than ever on October 6th, when the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild held their quarterly meeting. The rain swamping across the surrounding downs, making everything appear wet and miserable, contrasted with the message of joy the bells were sending out.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. L. R. Sharp), and after tea in the schoolroom Mr. E. F. White, vice-chairman, presided at the business meeting. The serious illness of Mr. Heginbottom, branch chairman, who is in hospital, was deeply regretted. Devizes was selected as the venue for the branch annual meeting, and the next district meeting will be held at Holt on November 3rd.

Mr. White proposed the usual vote of thanks to those who had made the meeting a success and to the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells and taking the service.—The Vicar responded.

The members then returned to the tower, where ringing continued until 8.30, and with a whip round on the 'buckets,' followed by a few 'rounds' on the 'jam jars,' the members dispersed to their respective homes. During the meeting methods were rung up to Kent Treble Bob, and members attended as follows: Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Holt, Westbury, Warmminster, Rowde, Longbridge Deverill, Melksham and Bishop's Cannings. Mr. A. Taylor, secretary of the Marlborough Branch, was also welcomed.

ONE-ARMED CONDUCTORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the query raised in Belfry Gossip column of 'The Ringing World' of October 5th, anent the peal of Grandsire Caters at Southampton on September 19th, the writer rang in a similar peal at Wednesbury on March 12th, 1912, conducted from the 8th by George Hughes, a resident of that town, who had lost his right arm up to the shoulder, and he has also rung peals from Minor to Maximus, but see 'The Ringing World' of March 30th, 1934, for a resume of his ringing career, page 203.

Bromsgrove.

HARRY PRICE.

Mr. Bert Horton, of Darlaston, writes: Mr. George Hughes, of Wednesbury, has conducted 20 ten-bell peals in the standard methods—Grandsire Caters 8, Stedman 9, Erin 1, and Bob Royal 2.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The inclement weather was the cause of the poor attendance at the annual meeting of the Wilney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Standlake on October 6th. After a short service in the church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. F. Pierce), several touches were rung on the bells. Tea was served in the comfortable Village Hall, and at the business meeting the branch secretary (Mr. W. Evotts, jun.) read two invitations to the East Berks and South Bucks Branch meeting at Haddenham on October 27th, and to attend Queen Anne's School Chapel, Caversham, on October 20th, to view the memorial aisle to the late Master. The next branch meeting will be at Yarnton. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector, organist and choir, and the ladies who provided an excellent tea.

RINGERS WHO ARE PAID.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read with great interest the views on ringers who are paid, I being the one responsible for the subject being brought to notice. I think both Mr. Amos and Mr. Warrington are wide in their remarks. The argument is, should not those ringers who are paid do their part in ringing for service both as part of their work and a duty to God, instead of chiming, as is at present done? Personally, I am not against paid ringing, but, apart from the money side, enthusiasm is sadly lacking. It is too lengthy to state here all the particulars of the tower in question, but I end with the trust that at some future date things will right themselves.

W. MASSEY.

INTER-GUILD FRATERNITY.

Fourteen members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild (Aldershot (9), Worplesdon (4), and Pirbright) had an enjoyable outing by motor coach to Brede on Saturday, September 29th, for the monthly meeting of the Hastings Guild.

At Brede the party were welcomed by Mr. C. A. Lovett (secretary of the Hastings Guild), and the Misses M. P. and J. E. Kingdon (late of the Worplesdon band, and now living at Chitcombe, Brede). Ringing on the six bells was enjoyed until 5 o'clock, when tea was served in St. George's Schoolroom. The Rector welcomed the ringers and expressed sincere thanks to Mrs. Kingdon for generously providing tea, and to the Misses Kingdon for the interest and enthusiasm they had shown towards bellringers and bellringing at Brede since their arrival. Thanks were also expressed by the visiting party for the splendid welcome they had received, promising a similar welcome to any Hastings Guild members should they at any time visit the Guildford Guild.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

A band rings a peal of (let us say) Grandsire Triples, and they are so pleased with themselves, and so proud of what they have done, that they not only enjoy the actual performance, but want other people to know about it too. So they get it published in 'The Ringing World' as a matter of course, and sometimes they record it on a tablet in the belfry. If, as does happen, the tablet is of stone or marble, there is no reason why, five hundred years hence, someone should not read about their peal and try and find out who and what manner of men they were. There is nothing like this among other people. Doubtless they are just as proud of what they do and just as anxious to let others know of it as we are; but they have not the opportunities we have of jogging the attention of posterity. Their records are writ in water. For of all buildings a church is the most permanent, and of all parts of the church, the belfry is one least liable to alteration and change. And though there are a few other people who might record their doings there, they do not. You will not find anything telling of the doings of the choir and organist or even of the parson. There is indeed in Woodbridge Church a tablet which tells how on such-and-such a date a man ran up and down the tower stairs so many times in a certain time for a wager; but that is an exception, and I imagine there might be some difficulty in erecting a similar record in this year of grace.

Now, having this unique possession, it is a duty laid on the Exercise to preserve it. If we want posterity to preserve our records and admire our performances we must set it a good example. We must preserve and care for the boards and tablets that have come down to us from the years that are gone. They form the basis of what we know about the ringers of old time, the men to whom we owe our art and science, and without whom there would have been no such thing as change-ringing. Not many of those tablets are of stone or marble; most of them are of wood, painted. Wood and paint will last with care for centuries, but time will gradually loosen joints, and fog and dirt will gradually hide the painted writing. A little care at wide intervals is sufficient to arrest this decay, and it should be exercised before anything like drastic treatment is necessary. Fortunately, many old and valuable boards have been restored and are likely to last quite as long again as they have already done.

The difficulty is that there are towers, once active centres of ringing, where, for one reason or another, no one now goes. Some of them have boards of great historical value which may be gradually falling into decay.

Mufflers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

There is no one there now to replace them if they should get loose on the wall, no one to see that they are not damaged or disfigured by ladders and clock cases and such things.

Here is a matter which well might engage the attention of the Central Council. A survey of these boards might be made, much in the same way as a Royal Commission is at present making a survey of all the old things throughout the country. It should be done through the territorial associations, each of which should be asked to make a return of the peal boards in its district earlier than a given date. A start might be made with those dating from the eighteenth century, which are comparatively few in number and of the greatest historical interest and value. Most of these, perhaps all, are known and have been copied and published in 'The Ringing World,' in the 'Bell News,' in 'Church Bells,' in Mr. Morris' book and elsewhere. But these copies are sometimes inaccurate and the information comes from times spread over a long stretch of years. It should be got up to date. The Council should possess a statement of all these boards, a correct copy of their wording and information as to their present condition. The making of such a survey would give a task in each district not particularly easy, but of extraordinary interest to the right man, and of its value only those who have tried to write on the history of change ringing can fully judge. We need to stimulate a greater interest in the doings of old time ringers. It has value, not only because history is always interesting for its own sake, but because of the light it throws on our present day problems.

DEATH OF MR. F. F. LINLEY.

FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

The members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild have sustained a very severe loss by the passing away of Mr. F. F. Linley (Northern Branch president) on October 10th, at the age of 74 years. The breaking-up of his health had been noticed for some considerable time. His last appearance amongst the members was at the branch annual meeting at Gainsborough on May 20th, 1933. It was on that occasion that the seriousness of his condition was realised. Since then he had been confined to his house for more than twelve months, and during the latter part of that time was practically semi-conscious.

His interest in bells and bellringing extended over a period of fifty years. He commenced his ringing career at St. Botolph's Church, Lincoln, under the tutorage of the late Mr. J. W. Watson, a former secretary of the old North Lincolnshire Association. He was transferred from the Midland Bank, Lincoln, to Gainsborough nearly fifty years ago. He held the position of manager for 24 years and relinquished that post in March, 1925.

On taking up residence in Gainsborough he became a member of the Parish Church company at a time, or thereabouts, when some of the Gainsborough Rowing Club members also practised bellringing, considering the required movements of the body an asset to them for attesting their skill at rowing.

In the eighties and early nineties he frequently joined the ringers and acted as pilot on the occasion of their annual Saturday afternoon outing to Corringham and Blyton. This was when Lady Beckett, who in her lifetime was a munificent benefactor to Corringham Church, resided at Somerby Hall, and annually invited the Gainsborough ringers to Corringham, at the same time providing them with a sumptuous tea at the Church Farm, which at that time was occupied by Mr. Ellis Smithson, captain of the Corringham ringers.

In addition to being a member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, Mr. Linley was also a member of the College Youths. He was a vice-president of the North Lincolnshire Association from its formation in 1884, then a vice-president of the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild from its amalgamation in 1899 to 1905, in the latter year being elected president of the Northern Branch, which office he held continuously to the time of his death.

No longer will the members of the Guild be able to seek his wise counsel and advice, but he has left behind him a pattern and an example worthy of imitation by those who mourn the loss of such a true friend. For fifty years he was a trustworthy guide and counsellor to the members, and had gained the highest admiration and respect of all those who came into close contact with him.

Previous to the interment a full choral service was held in the Parish Church, at which a large number of people were present, including representatives of various societies with which Mr. Linley was connected. Amongst those representing the ringing fraternity were the Ven. Archdeacon H. T. Parry (Grimsby District president), Mr. F. W. Stokes (Guild secretary and Lincoln District president), Mr. H. Marson (Lincoln District secretary), Mr. H. Morgan (Gainsborough District secretary), Mr. G. W. Creasey (Gainsborough District Ringing Master), Mr. F. S. W. Butler (Northern Branch secretary), Mr. R. Dawson (Gainsborough), Mr. E. Dawber (treasurer, Gainsborough), Miss Norton (Lincoln), Mr. J. T. Bartram (Misterton), Mr. G. L. A. Lunn (Lea), Miss P. G. Baker, Miss E. Marshall, Mr. C. A. Hewitt, Mr. J. Dixon, Mr. G. Dixon and Mr. H. Harper (Gainsborough).

In compliance with the wishes of Mrs. Linley and family the bells were rung open (unmuffled) before and after the service, also a peal of Bob Major in the evening.

At All Saints' Church, Elsham, on October 14th, 720 Bob Minor Thomas J. Scott 1, Gordon B. Wraith 2, George E. Feirn 3, William Middleton 4, Leslie D. J. Whitehead 5, George L. Hall (conductor) 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. F. F. Linley.

At Great Grimsby, Lincs, on October 13th, at the Parish Church of St. James, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): H. Hadwick 1, C. Kennington 2, G. Snell 3, A. Swain 4, W. Heyhoe 5, C. Taylor (conductor) 6, A. Pashley 7, A. Shepherd 8. Rung with bells muffled as a token of respect to the memory of Mr. F. F. Linley.

DEATH OF MR. ALBAN FATHERS.

The death took place on October 5th of Mr. Alban Fathers, aged 86 years. He was a ringer at St. Barnabas' Church, Linslade, Bucks, for 25 years, and for many years was foreman of the belfry. The funeral took place on October 10th, when the following old ringers were present: G. Bonfield, W. Felce and F. Vickers, besides a good number of his old workmates.

In the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled by: F. Vickers 1, F. Dedman 2, W. Insley 3, W. Brunsden (Burford, Oxfordshire) 4, J. Arnold (Leighton Buzzard, conductor) 5, F. Jeffs 6, E. Belson 7, C. Vincent (first quarter-peal) 8.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION'S RINGING CONTEST. WON BY LIVERSEDGE.

Nine sets entered for the Halifax and District Association six-bell contest held at St. Matthew's Church, Northowram, on October 6th. The judges were Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford) and Mr. W. Idle (Bately), with Mr. A. Hancock (Northowram) as marker. Some excellent ringing was heard, and the results were: 1 Liversedge 55 faults, 2 Holmfirth 77, 3 Shelley No. 1 79, 4 Meltham 121, 5 Friezland 141, 6 Calverley 154, 7 New Mills 162, 8 Halifax Parish 300, 9 Shelley No. 2 rang out.

The quarterly meeting followed, the president, Mr. E. Earnshaw (Meltham), occupying the chair. The meeting stood in silence as a taken of respect to the late Mr. John Lawson, Lightcliffe, one of the association's founders. Thanks were accorded Canon Watkinson, Vicar of Northowram, for use of the bells, also to the ladies for providing tea. Canon Watkinson had offered a set of medals to go to the winners along with the cup.

Canon Watkinson replying to the vote of thanks, said he did not envy the task of the judges who had been locked up for over six hours. He thanked the ringers on behalf of himself and friends at Northowram.

Canon Watkinson presented the cup to Mr. E. Betts, of the Liversedge band. The Liversedge company offered their tower for the next contest.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED AT NUNEATON.

To commemorate a peal of London Surprise Major rung by the Nuneaton Society of the Warwickshire Guild, on February 8th, a peal board was unveiled and dedicated in the belfry of Nuneaton Parish Church by the Vicar (Canon J. L. White) on October 11th.

In the absence of Mr. T. W. Chapman (Master of the tower) Mr. D. H. Argyle, who conducted the peal, invited the Vicar to perform the ceremony.

Canon White spoke of the great mission that the bells had to the people who could not get to the church, those who were sick; how the bells gladdened their hearts and formed a link between them and their church. If the bells ceased there would be an uproar until they were ringing again. They had a message to give, whether it be of gladness or of deepest sorrow. He congratulated the band who rang the peal, and duly unveiled the board. The tablet was dedicated to the House of God.

The band who rang the peal were as follows: Alfred King 1, Mrs. A. H. Beamish 2, Thomas W. Chapman 3, Edwin Martin 4, Arthur Beamish 5, John Thompson 6, Ernest Stone 7, D. Harold Argyle 8.

The band have once again to thank Mr. T. W. Chapman who so beautifully painted the board.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A meeting the South-Eastern Division was held at Pleshey on October 13th, when 28 members and friends were present. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. H. B. Woodd), who welcomed the ringers and gave an interesting address. Tea was served at the Mount Pleasant Tea Rooms, presided over by the Vicar. It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Widford on November 24th. The District Master, Mr. H. W. Kilton, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and taking the service, also to the organist and the local band.

A stop was made on the homeward journey by several members at Broomfield tower, where a number of touches were enjoyed.

The following towers were represented: Chelmsford, Great Baddow, Broomfield, Maldon, Springfield, Danbury, Ford End, and the local company.

LADIES' GUILD AT FIRBRIGHT.

The Southern District of the Ladies' Guild received a very warm welcome at Firbright on October 13th. Ringing took place in various methods during the afternoon, and the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Kelsey) conducted the Guild service, supported by the organ and choir. About 40 enjoyed a good tea in the Hall. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, organist, Capt. Cann, who was responsible for the choir, and to Mr. Cherryman for making the necessary arrangements.

Mr. Melville presided at the business meeting, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Yorktown in February. The members then returned to the tower and rang several methods without the assistance of 'Henry VIII.' Ringers were present from Aldershot, Ash, Guildford, Pirbright, Worplesdon, and two lady enthusiasts from Brede, Sussex.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT BRAMSHOTT.

The quarterly meeting of the Alton and Petersfield District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Bramshott on October 13th. Those present included the Rev. E. A. Berisford (Rector of Bramshott) and the Rev. F. G. Eyres (district chairman), and ringing members from Alton, Bramshott, Blackmoor, Petersfield and Steep. The bells were rung during the afternoon and evening to standard methods. The Guild's service was conducted by the Rector, who gave an interesting and unusual address on bellringing, with favourable observations on the B.B.C.'s interval signal of call changes on Bow bells.

Tea was partaken of in the Church Room, the catering being undertaken by Mrs. Berisford and Mrs. Titherington and helpers. A short business meeting followed. The Rector of Bramshott was elected an hon. member. Mr. G. Pounds (Hawkey) was elected a ringing member. The usual votes of thanks were accorded.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first touch of Stedman Triples rung by a local band at Truro Cathedral took place on October 7th, Mr. W. H. Southeard being the conductor.

Mr. Thomas Groombridge, sen., conducted the 100th peal he had rung, at Crayford, Kent, on his birthday. Could any ringer wish for a happier birthday?

The peal of Bob Royal at Boston on October 4th was rung in three hours and 27 minutes and not two hours and 27 minutes, as reported in our last issue.

Mr. W. S. B. Northover, captain of the ringers at Bridport, Dorset, has been unanimously elected Mayor of that ancient borough for the ensuing year.

In ringing the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Tilston, Cheshire, on September 29th, Mr. R. Sperring has now rung peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

Mr. Arthur Tilson, who rang tenor in the memorial peal at Gresford to the memory of the 263 miners who lost their lives in the recent pit disaster, was a member of the first rescue party to descend the pit.

Mr. E. Jones is still an active service ringer at Watford, despite his 84 years. The quarter-peal of Stedman Triples rung for harvest festival at the Parish Church on October 7th was also a birthday compliment.

In 1587 the town authorities of Preston gave orders that 'no peals of pleasure were to be used or had at the Parish Church except it be at the request of a worshipful man or gentleman of the parish.' The intention was to confine ringing as a sport to the gentry.

How many belfry romances are there in the Exercise? A congratulatory peal was rung at Northfleet, Kent, on October 13th, on the occasion of the wedding of two local ringers—Mr. E. Peartree and Miss V. Durling. We wish them a long and happy partnership.

Encouragement was given to the ringers of Great Hale, Sleaford, Lincolnshire, when three former members and a member from Heckington gave, at the conclusion of harvest festival on October 12th, some touches of Kent, Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Minor.

Forty years ago Mr. F. S. Wilson, of Wincanton, was taught to handle a bell at Swindon. A quarter-peal of Stedman Caters (1,263 changes) was arranged for him on October 14th at Christ Church, Swindon.

The weights of the bells at Queen Camel, Somerset, where a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung on October 13th, are: Treble 8 cwt. 2 qr. 27 lb., 2nd 10 cwt. 0 qr. 1 lb., 3rd 15 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb., 4th 20 cwt. 0 qr. 11 lb., 5th 26 cwt. 3 qr. 6 lb., tenor 36 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb.

The Lavenham District of the Suffolk Guild has lost a respected brother ringer by the death of Mr. Samuel Ford, of Long Melford. The district, at its meeting at Acton on October 6th, decided to discontinue meetings during the winter months. Great use was made of the bells. The Rector and Mrs. Harpur and Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilding entertained the ringers to tea.

Golden wedding congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. T. Heathcock, of Oldswinford, Worcestershire. In honour of the happy occasion a peal was rung at the church he has served so faithfully and well on October 13th. His life connection with the church reads: Born in the parish, baptised, confirmed and married at the Parish Church; ringer for 41 years, sidesman for 30 years, and member of the Church Council since its inception. Truly a splendid record of service. May Mr. and Mrs. Heathcock have many years spared to them to continue their good work.

AN INTERESTING ANNIVERSARY.

Two hundred years ago this month William Laughton and his Rambling Ringers Club were busy. On October 10th, 1734, they rang 1,008 on the three bells at Holy Trinity, The Minories. The bells, he says, were 'the hardest peal to raise that e'er I met with in my days,' and there were no sallies to the ropes. 'So with some Chock we made a mark, or else we-d all bin in the Dark; but that show-d us where abouts to Catch.'

Three days later they rang 5,040 Bob Major at St. Giles', Camberwell, on the old light octave, the tenor of which weighed about 7 cwt. They had had several attempts before without any luck. This time Tom Clark picked up a horseshoe on the way down. They nailed it up over the belfry door and all was well, 'for witch nor wizard cannot enter, nor o-er the threshold Dar-st they venter where-er that magic charm is nail'd.'

NEW COPYRIGHT HYMN TUNE.

We can thoroughly recommend the hymn tune, a notice of which will be found among the advertisements. It has a simple tuneful melody, and should appeal to those who, when there is no ringing, chime tunes on the bells. It fits the hymn, 'Jesus calls us o'er the tumult,' perfectly. It is published by Messrs. Novello in ordinary notation and tonic sol fa, and can be had from the composer, Mr. F. H. Marston, of Hucclecote, Glos.

Handbell Ringing in the Red Sea.

RUPERT WINS THE SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIP.

The story received from s.s. 'Barrabool' this week is a short one. The run from the Suez Canal to Aden is one of the hottest sea journeys in the world, and the tropical conditions have prevented any very great ringing efforts.

In the Red Sea,

Friday, September 28th.

The party spent an interesting morning in exploring Port Said on Monday (September 24th). The ship entered the port when the early morning sun threw up the light and shadow of the town in vivid contrasts. The approach had nothing of the attractiveness of the entrance of Malta, but the scene in the port was not a bit less colourful and noisy.

We found it best to enlist the services of a guide, and we tramped the streets for nearly three hours. There are a few buildings of outstanding note, but the native quarter was something both to see and smell. One of the drawbacks is that visitors are continually pestered by street vendors from the moment of landing until they once more step aboard. One gentleman, who came on to the ship when we arrived, induced us to buy picture postcards—he also had postage stamps to sell. That was before our guide had been engaged. He sold us stamps for 2d. each—their proper value was 1½d. So he sold us as well. But that is how you buy your experience in these places.

There are street performers who make their living by entertaining visitors. Wherever they see a small group they insinuate themselves and begin their show. While we sat at a cafe table a very clever child contortionist gave her show and collected our pence. Immediately she had gone a conjurer appeared, and with him apparently from nowhere appeared a small chicken, and out of the chicken's elbow he produced an egg, which, a moment after reappeared on my elbow. There are still magicians in Egypt, but they become something of a nuisance in their persistence, and it is just as well to guard your possessions when they are about. Indeed, I thought they had stolen our organising secretary's trousers from his legs when I saw him later in shorts. His lady friends in Slough would hardly know him now. He has joined the 'Topee' brigade (and so has George), and, with his shorts, looks as if he might be going on a big game hunting expedition. And I believe he would, if he could be sure he would remain the hunter and not become the hunted. There is just one difficulty about Bill's shorts. He has long since lost his youthful figure, and the pants are inclined to slip at the waist line, so that he had to tie them with the cord of his pyjamas. It would be safer if he wore the national 'nightshirt' of the Egyptians, which hangs safely from the shoulders.

Our passage through the Suez Canal was full of interest. It is, of course, one of the wonder waterways of the world. The surrounding country is uninviting, except through the lakes. Swamp and desert predominate in the first stage from Port Said, afterwards the canal passes between high sand banks which obscure the view. But the manægement of the ships through the waterway is a revelation. The canal is a hundred miles long, and the journey takes about 14 hours. Boats have to tie up to the side to let others pass, and we were moored for two hours at one spot for the purpose, and a similar time at another. It is 'one-way' traffic and dead slow. On the western side of the canal is a narrow belt of trees, along which runs a well-made road and the railway. Except for this and towns like Ismailia and El Kamara the scene in daylight is one of desolation. But we saw part of it under the glow of a full moon. The sand was turned to silver; the desert looked almost a fairy land.

The boat did not stay sufficiently long at Suez to allow us to land, but the journey of several hours down the Gulf of Suez, between Africa and Asia Minor, gave us a view of the forbidding coast on both sides. At one point through the heat haze we could see in the far distance the conical peak of Mount Sinai. The barren country in between would make anyone grumble if they had to traverse it, and perhaps there was some excuse for the murmurings of the Israelites of old as they wandered over the waterless tracks of desert land.

We reached the real tropical weather of the Red Sea on Wednesday, the 26th, and for the last three days we have been in a grilling heat, round about 100 degrees in the shade, relieved only occasionally by a welcome puff of air. We have had a following wind, so that even the ship's progress brings no help. We are, however, standing up—or rather sitting down—to the conditions, well; but handbell ringing is a trying job. The only opportunity for a peal attempt is immediately after breakfast, and a Grandsire Triples band have tried their hand on one or two occasions. They just ring on until they wilt. Evening peal attempts are out of the question. All the public rooms are in use, and the only outside spots at all suitable are, for navigational reasons, in darkness after the sun has set—and in these regions there is no twilight. There is no time for a peal after the heat 'danger' period is over before night comes down like a shutter drawn over a window.

A peal in the Red Sea has still to be rung, and must wait now until our return. We are hoping the conditions will be more suitable after we leave Aden, where this message will be posted. The best peal attempt in the Red Sea was on Thursday (September 27th), when just over three-parts of Davies' five-part peal of Grandsire were rung. Whether, had it gone to the end, there would have been anything left of George is somewhat uncertain. All the while the ringing was in progress he was fast melting away, and after another hour in the increasing heat there might have been nothing left but a few grease spots on the deck and a pair of handbells. But the trip which brought the peal to its end saved George to ring another day. The Rev. E. Bankes James has been the Grandsire conductor, and we hope he may yet succeed in calling the first peal of Grandsire on the sea.

We usually get in an hour's handbell practice before sunset, and all nine take their turn. While we were practising on Wednesday (September 26th) a small flock of migrating swallows and other birds, which, exhausted and thirsty, had alighted on the rigging earlier in the day, seemed attracted by the bells, and one swallow actually remained perched on the back of one of the ringer's chairs while a touch was in progress. They seemed so tamed, possibly from want, that they could easily be caught by hand. Food and water were put out for them, and the next day they had vanished.

Despite the great heat through which we have passed—cabin temperature of 98 degrees at night—all the party are well and enjoying to the full the wonderful experiences of the voyage. They have asked me to convey their greetings and good wishes to all their friends in England.

LADIES' COMING OF AGE PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—While congratulating Miss Bevys V. Dobson on her success in ringing her first peal in celebration of her 21st birthday, my sisters have asked me to reply to the relevant query contained in Belfry Gossip. Two of them both rang their first peals at first attempts for their respective 21st birthdays—Miss Florence A. Johnson rang Grandsire Doubles at Offenham, Worcs, in June, 1931 (incidentally a family peal rung by father, two sons and three daughters), and Miss Maggie Johnson rang Stedman Triples at Hinton in March of this year. It is more than probable, however, that Miss Dobson is the first Rector's daughter to ring such a peal. Anyone with a bevy of ringing sisters—and certainly anyone acquainted with mine—will probably say I am 'instructed' to write this letter, and, maybe, it would be the more correct.

J. D. JOHNSON.

Sodgeberrow, Evesham.

THE REV. E. BANKES JAMES.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.*SUPPORT FOR KIDDERMINSTER RESTORATION FUND.

The quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the diocese of Birmingham was held on October 6th at the Parish Church, Northfield. The church dates back to the Norman period, and is situated in most picturesque surroundings. Ringing in various methods and the Guild form of service, conducted by the Rector (Rev. R. A. Hayson), who gave a very helpful address, occupied the afternoon.

Thirty-six members sat down to tea served in the Church Hall. At the business meeting which followed, the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, presided. A letter was read from Mr. Harry Mason, expressing regret at his inability to attend. The meeting decided to hold the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner on Saturday, March 2nd.

The appeal in connection with the restoration of the bells of St. Mary's Parish Church, Kidderminster, was considered, and on the proposition of Mr. Paddon Smith, seconded by Mr. Albert Walker, it was unanimously decided to send a donation from the Guild's funds of £2 2s. Various suggestions were put forward to bring this appeal before individual members, and a collection made at the meeting amounted to £3 9s. The following new members were elected: As a full ringing member, Mr. Fred Aldnall (Handsworth); as a life member, Mr. John H. Swinfield (Burton-on-Trent). The next meeting being the annual, it was decided to hold this at headquarters on the first Saturday in January.

Under the item, 'Any other business,' the chairman caused some little amusement regarding the age of Mr. James George. He said Mr. George was troubled because doubt had been expressed in certain quarters as to his correct age, and so in order to settle the matter once and for all he had brought his birth certificate for his inspection, and he could assure them that it proved conclusively that on November 27th next Mr. George would be 81 years of age. A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and the Church Hall and for his address at the service, and to those who arranged and served tea was carried unanimously.

NORTH NOTTS RINGERS COMPETITION.*SHIREOAKS RETAIN CRAWFORD CUP.

Shireoaks churchringers retained the Crawford challenge cup at the annual competition of the North Notts Association held at Gamston Church, Retford, on September 29th. Each team was requested to ring 360 changes. There were five entries—Ordsall (two bands), East Markham, Shireoaks and Sutton-on-Trent. The judges were Mr. J. Flint, Bolsover, and Mr. J. Brothwell, Treeton, and their adjudications were: Winner of cup, Shireoaks (conductor, Mr. Hargreaves), 119 faults; 2 Ordsall 'A' team (conductor, Mr. R. Stokdale), 167 faults; 3 Sutton-on-Trent (conductor, Mr. L. Pierrepoint), 196 faults; 4 East Markham (conductor, Mr. W. Freeman), 375 faults; 5 Ordsall 'B' (conductor, Mr. O. Street), rung out.

After the contest the competitors and friends had tea in the school-room.

The Rector (Rev. C. W. Whitacre) extended a hearty welcome to the large gathering of ringers and friends. He remarked that the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson was not only popular in his own parish, but also among the ringing fraternity.

Mrs. Rowsell, who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Crawford, in handing the cup to Mr. H. Hall, congratulated Shireoaks on winning the cup for the second year in succession, and remarked that it was a joy to come and listen to the bells. Mrs. Rowsell observed that there was a movement on foot to restore the church bells at Laneham, and she hoped that in course of time something would be done to start the bells ringing again at Rampton.

Mr. Flint said that only two teams did credit to themselves, but both erred in the same way. The little bells struck too close to the large bells. This was noticeable in Shireoaks, but notably in Ordsall 'A' team. The ringing was fairly good.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson said that this was the seventh annual competition, and the judges had performed their duties to everybody's satisfaction. The challenge cup was a fine memorial to Charles Crawford, who was a distinguished ringer in North Notts. The success of the competition each year depended on the spirit in which it was taken up by the ringers, and it tended to improve the standard of ringing in church towers. He proposed a vote of thanks to the judges.

Mr. H. Stenton seconded, and it was unanimously carried.

The Rev. W. A. Loughborough, Vicar of Tuxford, was elected a vice-president of the association. The following from Tuxford tower were made members: Messrs. S. Brett, H. Smith, Harold Smith, W. Turner, W. O. Francis, and H. Gregory; and the following as beginners: Miss J. Sargent, Miss D. Brown, Mr. H. Turner and Mr. J. Martin.

Mr. Brett, who lives at 47, Ollerton Road, Tuxford, remarked that practice night was on Thursday, and he asked for the assistance of members in training beginners.

The next meeting of the association was fixed for Saturday, November 24th.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Rector for presiding and allowing the association the use of the bells, to the local ringers for the arrangements, and to the ladies for preparing tea was passed.

A LONDON CHURCH TRANSPORTED.*CONSECRATION OF THE CHURCH AND BELLS OF ST. ANDREW'S, KINGSBURY.

Thirty or forty years ago one of the most prominent of the West End churches was St. Andrew's, Wells Street, near Oxford Street. It had large and fashionable congregations, and it was specially noted for the excellence of its music. Then circumstances altered, the congregations dwindled and the usefulness of the church passed away. Meanwhile the fields and meadows of Middlesex were being covered by vast new towns, containing hundreds of thousands of inhabitants for whom church accommodation had to be found. The Bishop's policy was to pull down the redundant churches in the centre of the town and sell the sites, so as to find some of the money for building new churches in the suburbs, and St. Andrew's was one of those marked for destruction. There was much opposition, for it had many associations, and was a fine building, and the matter had to be taken into the Law Courts before it could be settled. A promise was given that the church should not be destroyed, but removed stone by stone, and re-erected at Kingsbury. Those who remembered it as it used to be, and last Saturday saw it in its new surroundings, were immensely struck with the contrast. It has a beauty and dignity that were quite unsuspected before. The Bishop consecrated the church in the presence of a packed congregation.

For ringers the main interest lay in the bells, for they are in some ways unique. They were cast (an octave with a tenor rather less than a ton) by C. T. Lewis, a member of a famous firm of organ builders. Lewis had very definite ideas about the qualities and tones of bells, and he had the courage of his opinions. His ideas were not those of modern founders, but he spoke on musical matters with authority. Among other things, he held that a bell should never be tuned, it should come out of the mould as it was finally intended to be; and the octave hum note, which all founders now aim at, he held to be not a virtue but a defect. To produce this ring he cast between twenty and thirty bells, breaking up those that did not come up to his very critical standard. As a business proposition, of course, that sort of thing did not pay, but the result is a set of bells all perfectly alike in quality, and to those people who do not care twopenne how bells are tuned provided they sound right, they are an exceedingly fine and satisfying peal.

When it was first suggested to pull the church down, and before it was announced that it would be rebuilt exactly as before, ringers were rather anxious as to what was going to happen to the bells. First the Middlesex Association and then the Central Council approached the Bishop, pleading that they should neither be broken up nor dispersed, nor hung in a tower where they could not be properly rung. It is satisfactory to know that these fears are at an end.

Immediately after the service the bells were rung to 504 Stedman Triples by a picked band of the Middlesex Association, consisting of G. Kilby 1, A. W. Coles (conductor) 2, G. R. Pye 3, F. Barrett 4, C. T. Coles 5, E. C. S. Turner 6, H. Kilby 7, F. Goodfellow 8. There was a large gathering of ringers afterwards, including Mr. Albert Hughes (whose firm carried out the rehanging) and Mr. E. A. Young, the Master of the College Youths. The ringing throughout was excellent, much better than the writer remembers to have heard at any similar open meeting. It would be well if ringers always tried on similar occasions to have good striking first and leave complex methods for other times.

A new band has been formed under the leadership of Mr. Frank Barrett, and we wish them every success. J. A. T.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY AT NORTON.*DEVON PRESIDENT CORDIALLY WELCOMED.

Over 50 members and friends of the Sheffield and District Society held their monthly meeting at the beautiful old Church at Norton on October 6th. Several good touches in various methods were brought round on the grand peal of eight bells. The visitors were kindly entertained to tea by the Rector (Rev. J. S. Pegge).

The Rector presided at the business meeting, when one new member was elected. Mr. C. Haynes (president), in proposing a vote of thanks to the Rector for his generosity and the use of the bells, also extended to the visitors a very hearty welcome. Mr. S. F. Palmer seconded the vote of thanks, adding that one of the visitors, Rev. E. V. Cox, was president of the Devon Guild. He extended to him a hearty welcome to the North, as he had not forgotten the welcome he received at Plymouth when attending the Central Council meeting.

The Rector, replying to the vote of thanks, spoke of the pleasure it gave him to entertain the ringers at Norton. He paid a splendid tribute to the leader of his ringers (Mr. Wm. Biggin), and mentioned the encouragement he gave to those wishing to learn the art of campanology. Rev. E. V. Cox thanked the assembly for the whole-hearted welcome he had received.

Further ringing took place until 8.30 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

RINGING CELEBRITIES AT HILLINGDON.

BRIGHT YOUNG PEOPLE AT HILLINGDON.

The joint meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Hillingdon on Oct. 6th was, as usual, an enjoyable occasion. A large number of ringers did full justice to the easy-going ring of ten bells and also appreciated a new kind of address for ringers from the Rev. G. C. Battiscombe, of Denham, who, although considerably over 70, came to their aid in the search for a preacher. Mrs. F. W. Goodfellow and helpers again served a tasty tea. The Vicar, who had been in residence less than a week, managed to look in for a few moments to add his welcome. After another visit to the tower, the ringing eventually concluded with a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal, with several 'firsts' in it.

The social started off with a vote of thanks to everyone concerned with the arrangements, and it was afterwards discovered that the artistes really deserved it. Community singing, led by Mr. J. Herbert, was followed by a fox trot to warm the cold ones, and then in quick succession a monologue by Mr. S. L. Posnett, songs by Miss K. M. Bradford, Mrs. Humphrey, Messrs. T. J. Fowler and J. Herbert, a duet by Messrs. W. H. Coles and F. W. Goodfellow, a violin selection by Mr. A. G. Bray (Miss G. Craven at the piano), a piano-forte duet by the Misses K. and J. Bradford, handbell ringing by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Fletcher, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, E. C. S. Turner and J. Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Barker, with an interval for refreshments and dancing. The wireless experts were much in evidence for the dancing. Towards the end, a game of musical arms turned into a competition, but, fortunately for the last one in, it was

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MINOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the current issue of 'The Ringing World' a peal appears as the composition of the Rev. E. Bankes James. This is the second occasion it has appeared in the peal columns. It has been stated in your paper that only three different 720's have ever been composed.

If I understand aright, the Rev. James arranged (not a 720) 4,321 rows of figures. Then to complete 5,040 changes and one row you have to ring any ordinary 720. In years that are gone no composer's name has been given to any Minor peal, no matter how clever the job. The 35 methods rung at Norbury in 1923 is an example. I have no desire to take away credit due to the Rev. James. One fact remains, his figures will not produce a peal. Therefore he is not the composer of the peal in question.

not leap year. The evening closed with an enthusiastic rendering of 'Auld Lang Syne' by all present.

It may be mentioned that besides the two societies concerned the following were represented: Ancient Society of College Youths (Master), Ladies' Guild (general secretary), London County Association (North and South District secretaries), Central Council (secretary and five members). A rival of Tom Webster was also present for a short while, and his artistic skill is reproduced in this issue.

JOINT MEETING AT THETFORD.

In spite of the mistake in publishing the date of the meeting and the bad 'go' of the bells at Thetford, 20 members were present at the joint meeting of the Norfolk and Suffolk Guilds at St. Peter's Church on October 6th. Representatives were present from the following towers: Sawston and Fulbourne (Cambs), Newmarket (Suffolk), Garboldisham, Wymondham, Saxlingham, Starston, Pulham, Redenhall, Shelfanger, Diss and Norwich (Norfolk). A variety of methods were rung, though the bad 'go' played havoc at times with the striking.

At the business meeting following tea, the South Norfolk Branch decided to hold its annual meeting at Saxlingham on January 19th. Speaking on behalf of his own district, Mr. R. C. Sharpe, of Newmarket, said he hoped a further joint meeting could be arranged with the Norwich Association at Elveden some time next year. Votes of thanks to the Rev. Webb and Mr. W. Goodman, who had made all the local arrangements, concluded the meeting.

EAST BERGHOLT BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the notes in Belfry Gossip on the above bells, they are quite accurate. I can, however, give you some further information. They are rung from the frame, and a piece is fixed on the stocks for a handgrip which, as the bell turns over, is grasped in alternate hands and then pulled back for the next stroke. The bells are five in number, and the tenor is approximately 28 cwt. Day and Son, of Eye, hung a new treble of 12 cwt. some years ago, which I believe was cast by Warner and Sons, London. The bells are rung in set changes twice every Sunday, and the practice night is usually on Thursday. There is also a small board fixed on one side of the cage in which the bells hang recording 120 of Doubles as having been rung in the early 19th century. The cage is surmounted by a thatched roof and stands in a corner of the churchyard by itself. I have no dates or names of founders, but am under the impression the back bells are by Miles Graye—some, at least, if not all.

YOUTHFUL BAND'S FURTHER PROGRESS.

The youthful band of St. Peter's Society, Burnham, Bucks, continue to make progress. On Sunday last, for harvest festival, a quarter-peal of Bob Triples was rung by the following: *Ronald Taylor (age 12) 1, *John E. Taylor (age 13) 2, Gordon Limmer 3, *William Oyster (age 14) 4, *James Taylor (age 14) 5, †Beverley T. Harrison 6, George Limmer (conductor) 7, Geo. Gilbert 8. * First quarter other than Doubles. † First quarter 'inside.' First attempt to call a quarter by the conductor. This is the first quarter-peal of Triples ever rung in Burnham by a local band. The striking throughout was good in spite of the fact that the bells are practically all odd-struck.

It will interest many of our readers to know that this band commenced change ringing by Plain Hunt on four bells, thence to Plain Bob on four, five, six and seven, and are now making good progress in Bob Major. Great credit is due to all for the way they have worked practically unaided, and for their service ringing. This band possess other members aged 12, 14, 15 and 16 years.

DARTFORD, KENT.—At the Church of Holy Trinity, on October 14th, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes): H. E. Audsley 1, J. E. Bailey 2, J. H. Cheesman 3, E. Brown 4, J. Wheaton 5, H. Simmons 6, G. H. Cross 7, H. Hoverd 8.

THE CORNISH TOUR.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Although much of what I meant to say has already been said by the writer of the report and by my old friend Mr. Hiscott, I feel that I cannot let an opportunity pass without at least saying, 'Thank you,' to Mr. Pye and his band of ringers, and apologising too, for I have a somewhat guilty feeling that we rather imposed on their kindness. Some while ago there was an embittered correspondence on the subject of touring ringers. I think I can see both points of view. But a ringing tour, like every other kind of tour, is probably undertaken mainly for pleasure and, in the case of expert ringers, to demonstrate perfect ringing, which, after all, most of us never hear. A certain standard is expected by listeners, and this standard is entirely marred by one poor ringer. Further it is a good deal to ask of men, coming to a strange and interesting country, to spend their spare time ringing Grandsire Doubles with a lot of us hobbledehoyes! One could enlarge on this over several pages, but I expect I have said enough to show how very deeply we in Cornwall appreciate the kindness of these visiting ringers in giving up their spare time to helping us through peals and touches in the elementary methods, and, further, for the great honour of being enabled to ring with men whose names are honoured throughout the ringing world.

As regards Cornwall itself, 90 per cent. of the Guild's members and all association members are round ringers. Now, where an active band exists, rise, rounds and fall and, in many cases, call changes are rung absolutely perfectly. A bell the least bit ragged is a horror. One can fully understand, therefore, the antagonism towards poor change ringing that is rife in the district. I myself have never until now heard even merely good 'even bell' ringing, much less perfect ringing. Very few indeed of us have ever heard really good change ringing at all, even with the tenor behind; and I am quite certain that much harm has been done in the past by:—

(i.) Pressing change ringing on men who have never heard a well-struck touch.

(ii.) Ridiculing round ringing.

(iii.) Attempting peals in round ringing districts in methods unlikely to be well struck.

Those of us who have been privileged to hear the recent peals have for the first time understood what first-class ringing is, and we have now something to which we can point and say, 'That is our ideal, but remember that we are only beginners.' In West Cornwall we have one or two change-ringing towers, and we are used to hearing 'a noise,' but in East Cornwall they are not, and I would therefore ask visiting ringers to remember the last paragraph of Mr. Hiscott's letter, and unless they can really strike even-bell methods perfectly, as in the case of the recent tour, to stick to 'tenor behind.'

The old prize ringing in Cornwall is dying hard, but it is definitely dying, and the Guild is closing in round its borders. But it requires a lot of tact and a good deal of give and take. One must have something to replace it, and there is a definite future for change ringing, but it will be very slow. To force it is fatal, and, as Master of the Guild, my advice has been, and is, 'As long as your round ringers will stick to the tower, carry on; if they have or definitely ask for something new, through boredom with rounds, then help them all you can, and even then gently.' The plain hunting course can be learnt and rung well by any call change band in one evening, and if they enthuse at all over that then one can go on.

By the way it must seem somewhat absurd to up-country ringers to find a 'Master' who cannot ring the simplest methods, but please remember that one is Master here of only four change ringing and some 60 round ringing towers, and, further, for this same reason, one's opportunities of learning are practically nil.

My advice above is open to criticism, of course, but I believe that I am right. After all the chief object of bells is to be rung, and there seems to be no point in breaking up a band by trying to force something on them they don't want.

Steady advance from the few centres and the encouragement of hearing as often as possible really good touring bands is our hope, and, therefore, once again to our late visitors, 'Thank you, and come again.'

C. F. JERRAM,

Master, T.D.G.R.

P.S.—Several names have been missing from their usual weekly peals. Is it crame, pilchers or saffron cake that's responsible?

THE SHROPSHIRE SOCIETY.

Despite a wet day, 28 ringers, including a representative from Crewe and one from Stoke, attended the meeting of the Shropshire Society at Market Drayton on October 6th. Some excellent striking of this very pleasant peal was heard. Learners were also given instruction on Grandsire Triples, etc. Methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Major and Cambridge Minor. An attempt for a course of Double Norwich just failed to come round.

At the tea table Mr. Clark welcomed the company on behalf of the local band, who had provided tea. Mr. W. Saunders expressed the thanks of the ringers for this very kind gesture. Mr. E. Barnett presided over the business meeting, following which there was a return to the well-kept belfry, which was occupied until a late hour.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

When we praise famous men and the fathers that begat us our thoughts turn naturally toward Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, for of all bygone ringers none has a greater claim on our gratitude than he, and the Yorkshire Association does well to honour his memory at their annual dinner. Snowdon died forty-nine years ago at the early age of 41 and after a brief and not particularly brilliant ringing career. He rang only 129 peals and none in a more complex method than Double Norwich. Yet he stamped his influence indelibly on the history of the Exercise; in his lifetime by his energetic personality, and for all time by his writing. He began to write for 'Church Bells' in 1872, and from then till his death his pen was busy and in articles in the 'Bell News' and 'Church Bells' he dealt with a great range of subjects relating to ringing. He lives for us and for posterity in the series of text books which began with Treble Bob published in 1878, and though I may not call him the greatest writer that the Exercise has produced, for that honour belongs to Fabian Stedman, he had no other superior. The Exercise has been well served by its writers. Beginning with the incomparable 'Tintinnalogia,' there is a series of books—the J.D. and C.M., the Clavis, Shipway, Hubbard and the rest—some of which are really good and none quite bad. Even Sottanstell's work has its merits. A book you cannot call it. It is a vast heap of undigested material which fills nearly a thousand closely printed pages, and from which a good book might be made.

All these were lineal descendants of Stedman's Campanalogia. Snowdon struck out a new line. He dealt with one method only at a time, giving its history and composition and doing what none since Stedman had been able to do, really explaining how to ring the method. As text books Snowdon's 'Rope-sight,' 'Double Norwich,' 'Standard Methods,' and the rest have never been surpassed. Sir Arthur Heywood's 'Duffield' is their equal, but consciously or unconsciously it was modelled on their plan. It deals with a method which has proved of little practical value, and consequently it has not had much influence.

Snowdon's plan was to publish his books first of all as articles in the 'Bell News,' and when he died a good deal of matter relating to Grandsire, Stedman and the Surprise Methods had appeared. His brother, William, carried on his work as editor with the help of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and together they, in 1888, issued 'Grandsire.' It was a happy combination, for William thoroughly understood and was loyal to Jasper's ideals; and Davies had a technical knowledge of composition such as neither of the brothers possessed. Equally good was 'Stedman,' which appeared in 1903. This is our most advanced book, for it includes the results of the investigations made by Earle Bulwer, Arthur Heywood, and Mr. W. H. Thompson into the very complex problems arising out of Stedman's Composition. There yet remained the 'Surprise Methods,' on which Jasper had been working at the time of his death. William published some preliminary articles in the 'Bell News,' but he died and the war came, and it was not until 1926 that the book appeared. Inevitably Davies was chosen to write it, but he had very little sympathy with his subject and the book did not reach the high standard of the earlier works. It is not fair to judge a man by his worst work, and as an authority on Triples composition Davies' position is secure.

Half a century has passed since Jasper Snowdon died, years which have seen greater advance than any other period in the history of the Exercise, and it is remarkable how very little his writings have become out of date. In ringing matters things change slowly, but they do change. These are not exactly the books that he would have written had he been alive to-day. Even his historical writing which might have seemed to be final needs some revision; where he deals with elementary matters he can hardly be bettered; but the more advanced chapters such as that on the In and Out of Course of the Changes could well be simplified. And that applies equally to the writings of all the other men included in this series. Is it too much to hope that some day another Jasper Snowdon will arise who with equal genius and success will rewrite these books from the present day standpoint and in the light of the greatly increased knowledge of recent years?

DEATH OF MR. JAMES FERNLEY.

Members of the Manchester District have lost a true ringer in every sense by the death of Mr. James Fernley, of 1, Grove Street, Hazel Grove, Manchester, who died on October 18th, aged 65. The interment was at Norbury Church on October 20th.

A hatter by trade, Mr. Fernley was a respected employe of Messrs. Christy's, and had been in their employ for years. For a month or two he had been 'off colour,' and had been taking things easy, but no one realised the seriousness of his illness until a few days before his death. He never seemed to recover from his wife's death last year. His grief at her loss was very marked. She was a true ringer's wife, ever ready to give encouragement when disappointments had shaken him, ready to praise when he had accomplished his heart's desire, and ever ready to entertain his friends. Many a good time has been spent round their table by visiting ringers.

His ringing career started with the installation of the bells of the Church of St. George, Heavily, the first band having been recruited from the employes of Christy's. Soon he threw in his lot with his brothers at Norbury, where a number of young fellows of a Sunday School class had replaced a band of 'the old school.' In course of time they joined the Chester Guild, where they mastered change ringing. Then Jim Wilde took them in hand; the material was there and the instructor made good use of it. The effects of that tuition are still bearing fruit, thanks to the good use Jim Fernley made of his knowledge. His conducting of the 'thirty-five method peal' at Norbury, the ringing of the 'thirty-eight method peal' at Knutsford by his pupils a year or so ago, convey more than an eloquent passage, and he was ever proud to say 'Norbury's a nursery for ringers.' Let us hope that will continue, for I know he will wish for no finer tribute.

THE FUNERAL.

With that simple yet impressive accompaniment of fully muffled bells and handbells, the remains of the late Mr. Fernley were laid to rest in Norbury Churchyard on October 20th. The funeral service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. J. Humphreys, assisted by the Rev. L. Wood (curate), with Mr. L. J. S. Lowe at the organ. In addition to the family mourners, many ringers, representing about eleven neighbouring towers, were present.

As the cortege proceeded to the graveside, rounds were rung slowly on the muffled tower bells, and at the conclusion of the committal prayers, a well-struck course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells round the graveside by: A. Barnes 1-2, H. Jackson 3-4, A. Bailey 5-6, P. Lafin 7-8. This was followed by a few touches on the tower bells, and later a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major. During the course of his sermon, on Sunday, the Vicar made a simple but touching reference to the deceased ringer. JOHN P. FIDLER.

THE REV. A. T. BEESTON MEMORIAL.

The Chester Diocesan Guild has decided to erect a tablet in St. Thomas' Church, Norbury, to the memory of the late Rev. A. T. Beeston. A committee has been formed to carry out the scheme, and it has been decided to issue an appeal for subscriptions to all members of the Guild, and to the ringing fraternity in general.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston was a member of the Central Council from 1911 to 1926 and an hon. member from 1927 to 1929, and during that time did very valuable work for the ringing Exercise, being a member of the Records and Analysis Committees of the Council. For sixteen years he was general secretary and treasurer of the Guild, and remained a treasurer for a further nine years, when in 1932 failing health compelled him to relinquish the office. He was also secretary and treasurer of the Stockport Branch of the Guild from 1907 until 1924, when he resigned his office as secretary, but remained treasurer until 1928, in which year he became chairman of the branch, and this office he still held at the time of his death in June of last year.

All subscriptions and donations will be gratefully acknowledged on behalf of the Guild by the secretary to the Memorial Committee, Mr. Arthur Whiting, 26, Church Street, Marple, Cheshire.

A NEW BAND FOR WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Nine members of the Curdridge band were elected members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild at the quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District at Curdridge on October 20th. Members attended from Alverstoke, Bishopstoke, Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, Fareham, Havant, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Swanmore, Soberton and Mr. J. Thomas (Edmonton).

The Guild's service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Rev. A. H. Starey officiated. Tea was served in the Reading Room, and the Vicar presided at the business meeting. The next quarterly meeting was fixed for Havant on April 27th.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of Curdridge for officiating at the service, also to the organist, Mrs. Stone for catering, and the local ringers. The Vicar suitably responded.

After the meeting the members returned to the tower for further ringing, which consisted of rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

LEWISHAM RINGERS' ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual district meeting of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association was held at St. Mary's, Woolwich, on October 13th. Touches in all the standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening at the service. The Rector (Rev. W. F. Lead-bitter) gave an interesting address. The presence of the choir and organist was much appreciated.

Some forty members were entertained at the Rectory to tea. At the meeting one lady was elected a member, and the election of two members previous to peal attempts was ratified. A report of the year's activities was read by the secretary and adopted. The Rector, who presided, congratulated the association on earning such a list of achievements, qualifying his praise with regret for two blemishes mentioned in the paper, viz., the difficulty in collecting subscriptions and the evidence of incompatibility of temper engendered by that strange mixture of co-operation and competition necessary to keep bodies such as theirs alive. Mr. A. Hill was re-elected district secretary, and Messrs. E. Barnett and W. Smith on the general committee, and Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., ringing member.

Erith was chosen as the place for the next meeting. Mr. F. M. Mitchell, the hon. general secretary, a welcome visitor, reported the successful completion of the Barnett memorial scheme. Thanks were accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, conducting the service, his address and generous hospitality; to the organist and choir for their services; and to the ladies who had made tea such a pleasant meal.

After handbell ringing, the company returned to the tower, where further ringing (in which the Rector took a rope) until 9 p.m. brought the end of a very successful meeting.

ACTIVITIES OF THE LADIES' GUILD.

The Central District of the Ladies' Guild held a successful quarterly meeting at Beddington on October 13th. Sixteen members attended in addition to many other ringing friends. A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar, and then followed the tea and meeting. In the absence of the vice-president, Mrs. A. D. Barker presided. Two ringing members and one life member were elected. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Edmonton, and also to hold a joint meeting with the Surrey Association at St. Leonard's, Streatham, on Wednesday, November 7th. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and also to Mr. and Mrs. Kippin who had made all arrangements.

The ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Royal, and a course of Grandsire Caters was rung by ten members of the Guild.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*BANBURY BRANCH'S FINE NEIGHBOURLY SPIRIT.

Wardington, the most northerly tower in the branch, was the venue selected for the autumn meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild on October 20th. It was a pity that the date had been fixed before that of the ceremony at St. Anne's, Caversham, in memory of the late Master of the Guild.

The service was conducted by Rev. F. D. Briscoe, of Wardington, who also preached an inspiring sermon. The congregation had no organist, but all sang lustily, and although the official starter began the wrong hymn once, there was no opposition, and all followed eventually.

A company of 35 sat down to tea, and at the business meeting which followed, a second subscription of £2 2s. was voted to Rousham, whose bells have recently been rehung. Such good progress has been made with the ringing there that it was agreed to encourage them as far as possible. This place was chosen for the next meeting. A collection was made among those present towards the cost of the restoration of King's Sutton bells. This tower is in the Peterborough deanery and not attached to a diocesan guild. £340 is required towards restoring the ring of eight. The neighbourly spirit prevailing among those at the meeting produced £1 5s.

After the usual vote of thanks, this invigorating and inspiring afternoon closed with a further visit to the belfry, where one or two had their first touch of Minor, and other beginners were piloted through Grandsire.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION*PENDING RETIREMENT OF HON. SECRETARY.

Mr. J. W. Jones, hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, sprang a surprise at the quarterly meeting at Rumney, on October 20th, when he announced that at the annual meeting on Boxing Day he would not be available for re-election. He considered that after 31 years' service the time had arrived for the appointment of a younger man.

The meeting was exceedingly well attended, the bells a delightful ring of six by Taylor, being made good use of during the afternoon and evening. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. M. Davies), assisted by the Vicar and curate of Machen, both of whom are ringers. After a bountiful tea, kindly provided by the Church authorities, the business meeting was held. The Vicar presided and welcomed the members to Rumney. Among the various items dealt with were restorations and augmentations, instructors' reports and new members. Votes of thanks to all who contributed to such an enjoyable meeting concluded the business.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Ronald Bowness, who rang his first peal in three methods at Bigby, Lincs, on Saturday, is 14 years of age.

Mr. H. Hovard registered his 200th peal on October 13th at Northfleet. The peal was recorded in our last issue.

Whatever the state of ringing in other parts of the country enthusiasm runs high in North Kent as is shown by the fact that there were 25 at the practice at Dartford on October 18th.

Mr. G. A. Blaxcell cycled 35 miles each way to take part in a peal of Norwich Court Bob Major at Wymondham, Norfolk, on October 20th. The Exercise is proud of its cyclists.

With a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Henley, Suffolk, on October 20th, Mr. W. G. Rumsey completed the circle in the tower.

Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, of Kingston Magna Rectory, Dorset, has completed 21 years as hon. secretary and treasurer of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. The congratulatory peal of Grandsire Triples at Salisbury on Saturday was rung by officials of the Guild.

In another column we record the death and passing of Mr. James Fernley, whose pioneer ringing and work at Norbury for over 40 years has been of great value to the Chester Diocesan Guild. Mr. Fernley rang in all 123 peals, the last being on April 28th, on the occasion of the wedding of his youngest son, James.

Readers who desire more information about East Bergholt bells will find an interesting article in the September issue of the 'Diocesan Magazine' for the county of Suffolk, and also on page 578 of Mr. Ernest Morris' work, 'History and Art of Change Ringing.' Mr. Morris gives illustrations and also details of the 120 changes rung on the bells referred to by Mr. Keeble.

Mr. W. Latter has relinquished the hon. secretaryship of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association after 40 years' devoted service. His service is believed to constitute a record in the annals of the Exercise. We regret to learn that Mr. Latter has gone into hospital and will probably have to undergo an operation. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

More golden wedding happiness. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Monk, of 17, Cape Terrace, Witney, Oxon, who celebrated the happy event on Sunday, October 14th. Similar good wishes from the Editor to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warnett, whose anniversary was on October 9th. Mr. Warnett is captain of the St. Mary's, Lewisham band, and he conducted a complimentary peal on October 18th.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION AT LEWISHAM.

There are not many ringers who can claim to have called the Original to celebrate their own golden wedding, but such was the case at St. Mary's, Lewisham, on October 18th, when Mr. Harry Warnett, sen., the popular leader of the band, called John Holt's one-part peal of Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Warnett, who is well known in ringing, particularly in Kent and South London, was married at St. John's Church, Erith, on October 9th, 1884. He has been a ringer at St. Mary's, Lewisham, for 44 years, and the respected captain and leader of the local band for 38 years. The peal, recorded elsewhere, was specially arranged by the band as a fitting compliment to their leader, who was told that 'he must call the Original,' and right well he did it, in his usual masterly style. It was excellently rung and most ably conducted. Anyone who has called this composition knows full well that it is a fair test of the memory, even to a much younger person. Two of this particular band have done so, one of them on several occasions.

Included in the peal also were Mr. Harry Warnett, jun., his son, who has been a ringer at St. Mary's for 34 years, having joined the band at the age of 12, and Mr. C. H. Walker, a member of the band for 44 years and local secretary for 35 years. Another member of the S.S.D.S. also benefited on this occasion to the extent of one 'date.'

After the peal the band adjourned for a pleasant hour or so 'across the road,' where Mr. Warnett received both hearty and sincere congratulations from one and all, and it was requested that the same be conveyed to Mrs. Warnett, with best wishes for many happy (golden wedding) returns. J. B.

CENTENARY PEAL AT CHRISTLETON.

A peal board in the tower of Christleton Church, Cheshire; recording a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1834, regained some of its former interest when a centenary peal was rung in the same tower on October 1st. The Christleton band of 100 years ago were considerably advanced for the times, and the peal was by way of being a local record, as the wording of the board shows.

THE SNOWDON DINNER.

SEVEN ASSOCIATIONS JOIN IN A BIG TRIBUTE.

AUSTRALIAN TOURISTS' GREETINGS.

One of the great occasions in the calendar of the Exercise is the annual Snowdon dinner. This anniversary at Leeds on Saturday was largely attended. Seven associations were among the guests, and greetings and good wishes came from the Australian tourists.

The day's proceedings commenced with an attempt for a peal of Stedman Caters on the fine ten in the neighbouring tower of Bradford Cathedral, but this was lost after two hours' good ringing. In Leeds the hum of great bells filled the air, as a large gathering of ringers tried the magnificent new ring of twelve at the Parish Church in a variety of methods. The towers of Headingley and Far Hendingley were also made good use of.

Some 140 guests attended the dinner at the Victory Hotel, Briggate, at which the president of the Yorkshire Association presided. Prominent among the visitors were Canon H. J. Elsec, Canon Solloway, Mr. H. Bacon Smith, Dr. A. C. Tysoe, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, Mr. T. Maude, Mr. J. Austin, Mr. C. F. Johnston, the Rev. R. J. Wood and the Rev. P. Thorman.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, Canon H. J. Elsec proposed the toast of the evening, 'The memory of Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, and past officers of the Yorkshire Association.' He said it was a great honour for the president of the Lancashire Association to be invited by the Yorkshire Association to undertake the toast and called to mind again all the great work for ringing that was achieved by Jasper Whitfield Snowdon. He brought the greetings of all Lancashire to that gathering.

YORKSHIRE'S WEALTH OF CHURCHES.

Yorkshire, he continued, was fortunate in its wealth of great and fine churches, and the many magnificent rings of bells within its borders. Lancashire had little to commend it in that way, but as a county they were very proud of the 15,000 of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung at Ashton-under-Lyne, and for the will that had brought laurels to the Lancashire Association by its past and present composers. Incidentally, Yorkshire had to come to Lancashire for its new Archbishop. Jasper Snowdon began a great revival in change ringing by the publication of his books, and these were largely instrumental in bringing in a better class of man to the science, and in raising the status of ringers in the Church.

The toast was followed by a plain course of Grandsire Cinques, rung by six members of the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. H. B. Smith, in proposing the toast of 'The Church and State,' said the bells supplied the link of the Church with the outside world in proclaiming their message from various towers. The bells expressed the feelings of the nation in any great crisis, and the ringers had a high calling in the part they were privileged to play. He urged all to consider the inscription on Great Paul, 'Woe to me, if I preach not the Gospel.' Mr. Smith also paid a tribute to the self-denial of ringers, and mentioned that by the knowledge that they were calling others to devotion to God their lives should be made better and higher.

Canon Solloway, Vicar of Selby, responded, and expressed the hope that the high calling of ringers would have an ennobling influence on their lives.

Mr. C. F. Johnston proposed the toast of 'Continued prosperity to the Yorkshire Association,' and paid a warm tribute to the work of the association and its hospitality to visitors.

Mr. P. J. Johnson proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' pointing out that visitors from seven associations were present, and the Rev. R. J. Wood replied on behalf of the visitors.

During the evening a letter was read from Miss Snowdon, expressing the deep interest that she and her mother (Mrs. William Snowdon) took in the proceedings, and though increasing years prevented Mrs. Snowdon from being with them, their interest would always be with the Yorkshire Association. The president was requested, and agreed, to send the greetings of the assembled guests to Mrs. and Miss Snowdon.

A radio telegraphic message was also received from the Australian touring ringers on the ss. 'Barrabool,' and a reply was also sent to this cheery greeting.

Several visitors stayed overnight and rang in the various towers the following day, thus ending one of the most enjoyable of the Snowdon dinners.

DEATH OF MR. C. HILLS.

Sussex ringers have sustained another loss by the passing of Mr. C. Hills, of Angmering, on October 15th, at the age of 76. Since 1881 he had been ringing at Angmering, and he had been a member of the Sussex Association since it was established 50 years ago. Through failing health Mr. Hills was unable to take his place in the belfry last Christmas, thus robbing him of a record of 50 years' ringing without a break.

At the funeral on October 18th wreaths were sent from the Angmering band and another from his brother ringers of the Sussex Association.

THE REV. C. W. O. JENKYN'S MEMORIAL.

OXFORD GUILD AT QUEEN ANNE'S SCHOOL.

The service in the Chapel of Queen Anne's School, Caversham, on October 20th, will not readily be forgotten by those who were present, numbering upwards of 150 members and friends. The Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge officiated. After singing the hymns, 'The King of Love my Shepherd is' and 'The Church's one Foundation,' the Rev. Master said: I am giving you just a short talk, knowing that this is a service of thanksgiving. The Guild memorial tablet in the cloisters at Oxford is a very fitting thing, but this extension, making the chapel, where our late beloved Master worked so devotedly, a thing of beauty, makes us all feel proud to know that our little has been added to the sum needed to defray the cost of the new aisle, which the late chaplain had so hoped to get done in his lifetime.

The hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' followed. The visitors were then shown over the chapel, and all were very pleased with the tablet erected on the south-west wall, inscribed:—

'To the Glory of God and in Memory of Cyril Walford Osborn Jenkyn, Priest and Chaplain of this School, 1910-33. This chapel was enlarged by the staff and scholars of the school (past and present) and friends, and by members of "The Oxford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers," of which he was Master for 23 years.'

Tea was laid in the Palmer Hall, Reading, and 100 members sat down. Canon Coleridge proposed a vote of thanks to the Reading Branch for their hospitality and arrangements. The Chairman of the branch suitably replied, and in the evening the bells of St. Laurence's, Reading, and St. Peter's, Caversham, were kept going in various methods until train and bus time caused a parting of the ways.

A NEW BEDFORDSHIRE EIGHT.

The Bishop of St. Albans dedicated on Sunday evening two new treble bells at Bromham, Bedfordshire. The old peal of six have been overhauled, and the new peal of eight, the work of Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, are in first-class ringing order. The two new bells are the gift of Mr. and Mrs. R. Skinner, of Bromham Hall, and have been added as memorials. No. 1 is inscribed:—

'John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough.'

Robert Skinner, in Memoriam.

Matris Bessie Skinner,

D.D., 1934.

Domine, exaudi orationem meam.

'John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough.'

Stella Margaret Skinner, in Memoriam.

Matris Harriett Caroline Elizabeth Dillon,

D.D., 1934.

Clamor meus ad te veniat.

Immediately after the prayer of dedication, the bells were rung in rounds by the local band, and after the ceremony, while the congregation was dispersing, a touch of Kent Treble Bob Major was brought round as follows: H. L. Harlow 1, C. Mortimer 2, F. Mortimer 3, F. C. Tysoe (conductor) 4, L. Williams 5, S. Foskett 6, A. Everest 7, P. Inskip 8.

Among those present were Miss E. Steel, Mr. F. Wilford (Ringing Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild), Mr. Shepherd (Swin-don), Mr. Sharman (Cogenhoe), and Mr. C. W. Clarke. Expressions of admiration were heard on all sides respecting the peal, and the 'go' is perfect. A meeting has been arranged for Nov. 3rd, when all are invited to come over and try them. The weight of the tenor is 22 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb.

DEVON GUILD AT BRIXHAM.

There was a representative gathering of ringers present for the quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild at Brixham. Ringers were present from Exeter, Brampford Speke, Sidmouth, Kenn, Buckfastleigh, Plymouth, Cockington, Paignton, and Milverton, as well as the local ringers. The bells were well utilised during the afternoon, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples being rung.

A service in church was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. J. S. Morris), assisted by the president of the Guild (Rev. E. V. Cox). The Vicar gave an excellent address, basing his remarks on the text, 'For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.'

Tea was served in the schoolroom, followed by the business meeting presided over by Mr. F. J. Laxton (chairman). Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of Brixham for the use of his bells, for conducting the service, and for his address. Thanks were also passed to the organist, and to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Taylor, for carrying out the tea arrangements. Wolborough, Newton Abbot, was chosen for the annual meeting, which will take place in January.

The question of transferring Dawlish and Teignmouth to the Exeter Branch was discussed, and after various opinions had been expressed it was decided to adjourn the matter until the annual meeting. The election of seven new life members, who were proposed during a ringing tour in mid-Devon in August last, was confirmed. The visitors afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing.

BELLRINGERS OF 60 YEARS AGO.

TEWKESBURY ABBEY'S OUTSTANDING BEHAVIOUR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was surprised to read in your 'leader' in 'The Ringing World' such a virulent attack on bellringers of sixty years ago. In my opinion it is an unwarranted slander on good ringers who have passed on, and on some who are still living. If belfries were filthy holes, where were the church officials or the incumbents to allow such a state of affairs? and as for ringers being a drunken and disorderly lot, I do not believe it; such a slanderous statement should never have been made.

I am 56 years of age. My father, Josiah Wathen, was conductor at Tewkesbury Abbey for 50 years, and I never heard him say anything of the kind. He it was who formed a band of change ringers at Tewkesbury with the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies about 1868, and persevered through difficulties, eventually producing a good band, who rang Union, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and I understood from him that he called the first 1,008 of Double Norwich Major ever rung in the county of Gloucester. I well remember the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies visiting us at the water works at Tewkesbury when I was very small. He was heart and soul with my father in the art. I also remember Mr. Coleridge (now Canon) visiting us too. As I said before, it was with difficulty that my father succeeded as far as he did owing to departures and other reasons. I rang with the band at the Abbey from 1898 to 1912, at varying intervals, but during that time the band was depleted so that there was little chance of advancing. I now ring here with the Stowmarket band, and the oldest ringers here do not remember such bad times as you quote.

I have the minutes of Tewkesbury Abbey Society when first formed, and the rules then were much the same as are general now. I have also the handbells on which the Rev. C. D. P. Davies first practised ringing with my father. I might also say that my father spent a lot of time in coaching young beginners, but they would not give the time and patience necessary to become efficient. Please pardon me, but I felt quite hurt when I read the particular paragraph to which I have referred, as that was the period in which my father was giving his all to further the art of change ringing. In 1890 my father was presented with a clock by the ringers, Vicar and churchwardens of Bushley, as a small token of esteem for the pains he took to instruct a band of six-bell ringers there. I remember one of them was 70 at that time, and they could all ring several Minor methods.

60, Union Street, Stowmarket.

WM. E. WATHEN.

Of course, there were very many exceptions, and I fully believe all that Mr. Wathen says of his father; but it is true that as a class the old ringers were a drunken and disorderly lot. The evidence I have collected for the history of ringing I am trying to write leaves no doubt about it. Here are a few quotations from contemporary men who must be accepted as authorities. They were all lovers of bells and true friends of the Exercise.

S. Beaufray in 'The Ringers' True Guide,' published in 1804, and reprinted 1857: 'They generally go to the ale house and spend the money they receive in waste. Quarrelling frequently abounds among them and intoxication often ensues.'

A Cantab in 'The Ecclesiologist': 'It is hopeless to attempt to disassociate the two ideas of ringing and drunkenness—the church steeple and the tap room.'

Rev. Walter Blount in 'Use and Abuse of Church Bells,' 1846: 'Belfries are left in a state of filthy dilapidation, and very frequently the drinking places of the most profane and profligate persons in the parish, who ring the bells for their amusement amid oaths and obscenity.'

'Quarterly Review,' 1854: 'Bellringers as a class have always had the credit, or discredit, rather, of being a disorderly set.'

Rev. C. W. Lukis in 'An Account of Church Bells,' 1857: 'Why should [belfries] be left to the sole occupation of unclean birds and profane and irreverent ringers?' 'The ringers—generally the most unruly set of men in the parish.'

Rev. Robert Walker in a lecture delivered at a clerical meeting in 1859 (the MS. is in the British Museum): 'Most clergymen have been accustomed to regard ringing as the lowest and most debased and debasing form of amusement. They associate it with the idea of sottishness and uproarious revelry and ribald profaneness, and, finally, turnings-out of the public-house at the closing time to remain in the gutter perhaps half the night.'

'It is now an antiquated and generally received idea that sots, drunkards, rogues and ringers are mutually convertible expressions.' 'Ringers are generally from the very lowest orders. Generally speaking, they are very unsteady men in every way.'

Rev. H. T. Ellacombe in 'Practical Remarks,' 1859: 'The practice in a country belfry had better be passed over in silence, for such things as I remember would hardly be tolerated in a village ale-house.' 'It was a well-known fact that as a body a more drunken set of fellows could not be found.' 'Perhaps no one thing has been the source of such constant trouble and annoyance to the clergyman as the belfry and the ringers. I have heard of clergymen who even refused to accept a living where there was a peal of bells. And one

POLICE DEFY SUPERSTITION.

SUCCESSFUL PEAL AT LEICESTER.

As we recorded last week a band of police officers met at Leicester on October 13th and rang a peal of Stedman Cinques. No heed was paid on this occasion to the horrors and fears of the 'Unlucky Thirteen,' for it was arranged on the 13th day of the month, and, furthermore, thirteen members of the Guild met for the peal. Even on the way to the belfry two ladders were leaning against buildings (across the footway), but there was 'no dodging the column.' With heads erect and chests out in true pouter pigeon style, the straight course continued 'underneath the arches.'

It was truly a mixed band, and, seeing that seven of those who took part rang their first peal of Stedman Cinques, the band are to be congratulated on the achievement. On behalf of the remaining five members of the band it is requested that any bouquets from the 'Encourage the Learners' brigade should be addressed to 'Askem and Helpem,' Encouragement Purveyors, London, Birmingham, Manchester, High Wycombe and Leicester.

The thanks of the band are due to Sergeant Jenney, of Leicester, who very willingly offered to stand as reserve for any last-minute emergency and, incidentally, to allow a younger member at Leicester to ring. This indeed shows fine spirit and considerably helps to lessen the many difficulties of those responsible for the arrangements. Surely Sergeant Jenney's action reflects great credit on the drillings he has received from Leicester's famous 'Sergeant Major,' alias 'Freddie,' of Dextrous Variation fame, who will accept nothing false except from the dentist.

After the peal, a social evening was held, and the party was joined by some of Leicester's notables. The programme included tunes and change ringing on the handbells, and songs by ex-Sergt. Dowding, Mr. Josiah Morris, members of the Leicester C.I.D., and two unexpected but very welcome visitors from Grimsby, including our old friend, Mr. Harold Rushby. The night owls of the party made for the station just after midnight, and concluded the day with a course of Stedman Triples at 12.50 a.m. on the railway platform.

The band wish to take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the Rev. Parsons, Vicar of St. Margaret's for the use of the bells and for his interest and welcome, and also Mr. Josiah Morris for having everything ready at the church.

TREATMENT OF JUVENILE RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With your leading article in 'The Ringing World' of October 5th, dealing with paid instructors, I fully agree with your concluding paragraph. I personally disagree with your statement that the success of a band depends mostly on the learners who are willing to become ringers but are not prepared to give the time and trouble necessary to learn. If a young learner has the idea of taking a place among the regular ringers after three or four visits to the belfry, it is without a doubt the fault of the instructor.

In regard to beginners, I give them all to understand that before they can become proficient it means a lot of study and thinking out, as I tell them that even the best ringers have always to keep learning. But I find that the majority, once they can handle a bell, will progress and stick to it providing (this is where the snag comes which disheartens youngsters) that after being able to manage a bell they should be encouraged to ring rounds, call changes or hunting up and down at every opportunity.

In my own tower I have had many cross words with members who I considered did not give the youngsters a chance to get on, often refusing to ring if the boys rang. I remember well one Sunday, when our conductor was trying to make up a band for Grandsire Caters, and I asked that one of the young boys should ring the treble. One of the old members said at once if the boy was included he would refuse. So the conductor, very much to his regret, had to leave the boy out. That same night I took the boy up to a London church, where he rang the treble to Grandsire Caters, the quarter-peal just being missed two leads from home through no fault of the boy, all the band being surprised, I think, at the way he rang.

Now there are four of the boys full members of the tower, as well as members of the county association, and they are helping to bring along some more learners in the tower. No, sir, providing that youngsters are treated by methods of 1934, not methods of 1834, bellringing will appeal to them more than ever owing to the higher standing of our art.—Yours faithfully, of those who have, said, on learning the number of bells in the tower, 'Then certain it is that there are as many drunkards in the village.' 'That man is a ringer' is quite enough in some places to intimate that he is an idle sottish character.'

Need I quote any more? Surely here is enough to show the greatness of the reform movement of the last half-century or so, the work of a few devoted men who loved bells and ringing and, as I said, had patience and faith in the ringers, too, and saw the good that was there as well as the evil. For the above is not everything that can be said about the old ringers; and there are many things in this world much worse than taking too much to drink.—J. A. TROLLOPE.

TONBRIDGE DISTRICT'S PRESENTATION TO MR. W. LATTER.
The annual meeting of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association at Speldhurst on October 6th was an historic occasion, as it marked the conclusion of 40 years' service by Mr. W. Latter as hon. secretary of the district. A large number of ringers were present.

The service in the Parish Church was conducted by Canon H. Masters, and an original and interesting address was given by Rev. J. Smith, of Groombridge.

Tea was served at the George and Dragon Hotel, and the principal guests were Mr. E. H. Lewis (president, Central Council), Mr. F. M. Mitchell (general secretary of the association), Mr. F. White (Cranbrook), Canon H. Masters (Speldhurst), and Rev. F. L. Schreiber (Shipbourne). The oldest member present was Mr. W. Lambert, of Benenden, who at the age of 79 years is still an active ringer. Four lady ringers were also present—Mrs. Pankhurst (Leigh), Mrs. Richardson (Tonbridge Wells), Miss W. Turley (Speldhurst), and Miss G. Collison (Tonbridge Wells).

The business meeting followed, preceded by a well-struck course of Bob Major on handbells by Messrs. S. H. Green, T. Groombridge, E. H. Lewis and E. J. Beer. Canon Masters presided, and extended to the district a hearty welcome to Speldhurst.

The hon. secretary, in his report, stated that there were 19 bands in union in the district, with 167 practising members. During the year 24 new members were elected. There was a balance of £17

5s. 6d. Mr. W. Latter then announced his intention of relinquishing the post of hon. secretary after 40 years in office. There were many expressions of regret, and on the motion of Mr. G. Edwards, seconded by Mr. T. Saunders, Mr. Alec Richardson was appointed his successor. In expressing his thanks for his election, Mr. Richardson said it had always been his ambition to hold office in the association so that he could really do something, but he had a difficult task to follow Mr. Latter. Messrs. G. Edwards and E. Everest were elected district representatives on the Central Committee, Mr. Everest being elected in the place of Mr. H. Markwell.

At the close of the meeting Mr. E. H. Lewis, on behalf of the members of the district, presented Mr. Latter with a copy of 'The History and Art of Change Ringing' by E. Morris, and a cheque for £12. Mr. Lewis said they all appreciated the work done by Mr. Latter and such men as he, but he felt that there were not enough young people taking up ringing. So many drifted off to other attractions without realising what there was behind ringing. Mr. Latter thanked the members for their gift and appreciation, and recalled that 20 years ago he was presented with a clock in recognition of 20 years' service. He also congratulated the district on their choice of his successor, who is a good ringer and conductor, and a strong advocate of Sunday service ringing.

Mr. G. Edwards called on the company to rise and say 'Thank you, Mr. Latter,' in appreciation of his long and devoted service to the Exercise and the Tonbridge District in particular.

ALLIANCE MINOR.

There are very few novelties to be had in six-bell ringing nowadays, but the peal rung at Lamberhurst on October 6th breaks fresh ground. It was a further adaptation of the plan of splicing Alliance and Little Methods which is explained at length in the 'Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods.' The following are the methods that were rung:—

CAVERSHAM S VETERAN BAND.

For long partnerships, the record of six members of the Caversham band is outstanding in the Exercise.

In 1883 Ernest Menday and George Essex joined the band, followed in 1884 by Joseph Hands and Henry Simmonds. These four ringers completed 50 years together early this year. The other two members are E. W. Menday (1891) and A. D. Cullum (1895). All six are still members of the St. Peter's Society, Caversham, and ring regularly each Sunday together with the exception of the brothers Menday, who only resigned from the Sunday service band at Easter this year. Henry Simmonds was made steeplekeeper in September, 1883, and still holds that position, an entirely voluntary one, having now completed 51 years' service. The 'Bell News' of 1891 speaks of him as 'Prince of steeplekeepers.' The truth of that lies in the bells' condition today. They have not been in the bell hangers' hands since 1891, when they were rehung and the trebles added.

The following verse, from the pen of Canon Coleridge, himself an old member of the band, appeared in the Parish Magazine when Mr. Simmonds completed his jubilee as steeplekeeper:—

'For fifty years the faithful Henry trod
The parish highways to the House of God.
Both church and churchyard know the Verger's feet,
While hands are skilled on rope and organ seat.
Blacklead and grease make bells a joy to ring,
But elbow grease, broom, duster—'where they sing.'
Long life to Henry! May his praises sound
In grateful hearts to Heaven's remotest bound.'

As a young ringer I can only say, 'All honour the old brigade.
May their service be an inspiration to us younger ones for many a year to come.
G. W. S.

STEDMAN'S BELLS.*To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. Powys' argument in defence of old principles in bell hanging is hardly in keeping with the objects for which his society stands, namely, the protection of ancient buildings. Has Mr. Powys ever paused to realise the amount of strain which was placed upon many of our towers by the old methods of bell hanging, and how this has been reduced by the more modern ones? Boston Stump, for instance! For the sake of sentiment, is Mr. Powys still going to argue in favour of 'old principles'? I would like to refer him to the leading article in 'The Ringing World' of August 30th, 1930, headed 'Common sense before sentiment'—a good tonic for Mr. Powys! One can appreciate his society's efforts to preserve and protect our ancient buildings, but I fail to see how he can parallel an unmovable structure with a movable one! There is beauty in much of our church architecture, and I agree with him that this should be protected; but I am 'hanged' if I can see what there is beautiful in a wood headstock or the canons of a bell, and what there is to be gained in protecting them! When new fittings have to take the place of old ones, I see no sense in refitting on the old principle, while there are others more lasting, more economic, and place less strain on the walls of a tower.

ELY ASSOCIATION VISIT FIVE-BELL TOWER.

A meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Little Shelford on October 20th. Members came from Fen Ditton, Fulbourne, Ickleton, Melbourn, Newton, Over, Stapleford, Trumpington and a splendid muster of the local band, who displayed great keenness.

The Rev. E. H. Berwick, Rector, conducted service and gave an inspiring address. The singing at the service was very good, thanks to the kindness of the choir. Tea was served at the Prince Regent Inn. Mr. Cook, District Ringing Master, thanked the Rector, the choir, and the organist. This was seconded by Mr. Webb. NOTES BY THE WAY.

Fame after death is a curious thing. It seems to depend entirely on the caprice of fate, and no one can ensure that his memory will last. You may be (as I trust you are) a wealthy person, and spend your money for the good of your fellow men—posterity will take your gift and forget your name, while another, not so worthy as you, somehow sticks in the popular remembrance. Even if you resort to less laudable means you are no better off. Palmer, the Rugeley poisoner, is an immortal, but you or I could bump off our mothers-in-law or maiden aunts with every conceivable accompaniment of horror and brutality, and, save for a few lines in the Standard or the Evening News, be no nearer gaining lasting fame. It does not seem quite fair.

But so it is, and we are not surprised that the same thing happens in the history of the Exercise. Some ringers of old time have been remembered and they have deserved it; but others equally deserving have clean passed out of mind. Everyone knows of Fabian Stedman, not because he was our greatest writer, but because of the chance connection of his name with a popular method (with which, in its modern fully developed form, he had little to do), and because of a legend invented by later men that he was the Father of Change Ringing and the first person to arrange changes regular methods. But there were clever composers before Stedman's time, only they have been forgotten, and it seems worth while to try and rescue the name of the greatest of them from the oblivion under which it has lain hidden for nigh three centuries.

Robert Roane, as a young man, was attached to the household of King Charles the First. He was sworn Clerk of the Pantry under the Board of the Greencloth, which means that he held a responsible position in what is now the Lord Chamberlain's office. At the time, the College Youths consisted of a similar sort of men and of law students, and Roane joined the society in 1647. He became one of the leading members, being Steward in 1657 and Master in 1659. These were the days of the Commonwealth. Bob Doubles was the most advanced method then practised, and it was not thought possible that double changes on five bells could be made to extend further than ten, or triple and double changes on six further than sixty. Roane 'dissipated those mists of ignorance,' and composed first the six-score of Grandsire Doubles, and then, from it, the standard extent of Bob Minor. If popularity is any test, these are the two most important compositions in the whole of ringing. In 1660 came the Restoration and Charles the Second returned to Whitehall. In the changes that were made Roane lost his job. It was given to another man and he was granted £50 a year board wages as compensation. This, however, fell into arrears, and in 1662 Roane petitioned the king for its restoration. He had served, he says, under the Board of the Greencloth for 44 years, and last quarter he was reduced £25 per annum. Whether the petition was granted, or whether it was merely put among the state papers, where it now is, I cannot say. Roane also thought he was a poet and added his quota to that mass of doggerel wherewith ringers in all ages have grieved the hearts of the Muses. But he was one of the greatest of our composers and did not deserve to be utterly forgotten as he has been for over two and a half centuries.

MAMMOTH GATHERING AT ASSOCIATION'S DINNER.

PEALS NOT THE PRINCIPAL OBJECT OF RINGING.

The third annual dinner of the Lancashire Association was held last Saturday at the Victoria Hotel, Manchester, and proved a huge success. About 263 members and visitors attended, the party including many men whose names are familiar to readers of 'The Ringing World' as some of the most expert and energetic ringers in the country. Canon Elsee, the president of the association, was in the chair, supported by the Bishop of Hulme, the Archdeacon of Rochdale, Mr. W. M. Shuker (the hon. secretary), Mrs. Shuker, and Messrs. Claude Davies, J. A. Trollope, F. R. Williams, J. F. Smallwood, A. E. Wreakes, J. C. Fidler, A. E. Pegler, W. W. Wolstoncroft (with Mrs. and Miss Wolstoncroft), Ben Thorpe, W. C. Bridgford, P. O. Laffin, Alan Bailey, T. B. Worsley, J. White, Alfred Barnes, F. Page and others. One veteran was present in the person of Mr. Albert Adams, of Ashton-under-Lyne, whose brother rang in the 16,608 of Treble Bob at Mottram in 1884, and who himself took part in the 12,244 Treble Twelve, and the 14,000 Treble Ten at Ashton.

CANON H. J. ELSEE,
President of the Lancashire Association.

The visitors represented the North Wales, Yorkshire, Warwickshire, Chester, North Staffordshire, Middlesex and Midland Counties Associations, and there were others from Slough and Chelsea.

An excellent musical entertainment was provided. The Avon Singers gave some beautiful quartettes. Mr. Graham Watson and Mr. Reginald Redford sang some fine tenor and baritone duets, and Mr. Tom Proctor brought the house down with dry humorous sketches which are so dear to the hearts of North Countrymen. A perfect course of Grandsire Caters was rung by Alfred Barnes 1-2, Alan Bailey 3-4, Fred Page 5-6, J. F. Smallwood 7-8, and Peter O. Laffin 9-10.

UNRECORDED WORK MOST VALUABLE.

After the loyal toast, the toast of the evening was given by the Bishop of Hulme. He said that he had been most impressed by the mysteries of change ringing. He had been listening to two gentlemen on his right. He believed they were English, but they had been talking a foreign language about Grandsires and Bob Majors and Stedmans and other deep matters. It seemed to be the rule that 'once a ringer always a ringer'; the older they got the more they were absorbed in their art, and he had just heard of ringers of 80 and 82 still going strong. But he was also impressed by the ministerial part of their work. It was not what was in their annual report but what was not that most impressed him. It was recorded that one peal had been rung last year at his own church at Middleton, but nothing was said about the ringing that went on regularly for the church services during the 52 Sundays of the year. That was their chief work, and the work of which they could justly be proud.

'Bells have the extraordinary power of touching the emotions and of reviving the memories of people,' said the Bishop. It was so throughout the world. In Osaka, in Japan, he had seen a bell, claimed to be the biggest in the world, and cast from the votive offerings of the people, who brought their brass and copper and silver that they might all be founded into one mighty bell. And he told how in China the Emperor ordered the finest bell to be cast; how the bell founder tried and tried again without success, until the oracles declared that not till the blood of a pure virgin should be mingled with the metal would the task be accomplished; and how the daughter of the craftsman sacrificed her life for the sake of her father's art.

Canon Elsee, replying, congratulated the association on the largest meeting of the sort it had ever held, except, perhaps, that at Liverpool two years ago. He remarked on the great improvement that had taken place in the number and quality of the bells during the last 40 and especially the last 20 years. They had now a beautiful peal at Manchester Cathedral, and Preston ring, restored and augmented, was shortly to be rung again. As he had said at Leeds the week before, Lancashire could not equal Yorkshire in the number of its great churches and peals of bells, but they had ringers and composers second to none. There was that great composer and conductor, Mr. T. B. Worsley, and the ringing of the record peal of Cambridge Maximus at Ashton was an unsurpassed feat. Last year they had not rung so many peals. The number was about 100, as against 150 the year before. He did not regret that very much. Many peals were often rung by visiting bands, and did not represent the real work of the local bands. Simply to pile up peals was not the principal object of the association. The two great objects they should set before themselves were first to ring the bells for the Sunday services, and, second, to train up young ringers. It required patience, but it was worth while for their own sakes. As old men drop out a band can easily go to pieces unless there are new recruits. And by introducing young men to ringing they were giving them something which would be a joy for life and would add to their happiness as long as they lived. So he urged upon them to make the Sunday ringing as good as it could be and worthy of the service of God.

LANCASHIRE'S SOCIAL SPIRIT.

Mr. W. C. Bridgforth proposed the health of 'The Visitors,' and Mr. J. F. Fidler (in the absence of the Archdeacon of Manchester, who had had to leave the city earlier than he had expected) replied. Mr. Fidler said he did not quite know what sort of a visitor he really was, for although he lived outside the county he was born within a few miles of Manchester and was a member of the association. He said that visitors were always welcomed in Lancashire, which was noted for its kindly social spirit, and he said that nowhere was that spirit more reciprocated than in Devon, where the people (why he did not know) seemed to have an affection for Lancastrians.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood proposed 'The Press,' and especially 'The Ringing World.' The Editor, having made his fortune, had gone to Australia to spend it, and had left the charge in other hands. He congratulated those people that the quality of the paper had not fallen off. The Exercise got the paper it deserved, and if ringers wanted a bigger and a better paper they must first deserve it. He would like to see many other things in it, a page for beginners, for instance. To make room, why not cut down the size of the advertisements? He was sure the bell founders would agree if as compensation they were allowed to pay double fees.

Mr. J. A. Trollope thanked the president and others for the kind things they had said about him. It was not exactly for his own merits, but because he represented, however unworthily, 'The Ringing World.' He had now seen that paper from three different aspects, all of which were different. First as a general reader (which was the point of view of all those present), then as a contributor of articles, and now, lastly, from the editorial side. He mentioned the complaints that were so often made, and said that those things must happen (quarter-peals must sometimes be omitted), unless the paper could be made bigger; and as it must pay or it could not live, it was for ringers to give it greater support and to increase the circulation. He said that he had no financial interest in the matter, and so could speak freely. There was no body of men who were so dependent one on another as ringers. One man could not ring a peal by himself; there must be a band. One band, if they kept to themselves, never prospered; they needed the help of others, and they must have societies and associations. Even the big associations were dependent one on another in the long run. And so ringers had built up that big organisation that they called the Exercise, with the Central Council at its head. But all this could not exist without a paper. They were dependent at every turn on their weekly organ. Even a meeting like that night could not take place without 'The Ringing World'

FOBBING HAS NOW A PEAL OF SIX.*RECTOR'S GENEROUS GIFT.

The new treble bell, presented to Fobbing, Essex, Parish Church by the Rector (the Rev. E. A. Gardner), in memory of his mother, was dedicated recently by the Bishop of Barking. This makes the sixth bell on the peal, and it was cast by Messrs. J. W. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and installed following the re-roofing of the tower. During the service the Bishop went to the ringing floor of the tower, where the dedication took place.

In the course of a short address, the Bishop said Fobbing originally had four bells in its tower, now 500 years old, the fifth being added in 1726, and now the sixth had been added 210 years later. He thanked the Rector, on behalf of the parish, for his generous gift, and said it meant more to a parish than one realised to have a peal of bells like they had at Fobbing, and not the least thing about it was the toil and trouble of the bellringers. People took it for granted and forgot the difficulty of keeping a team of ringers together in present-day conditions. There was a great deal more science, skill and art in bellringing than most people supposed.

A collection was taken for the Gresford Colliery Disaster Relief Fund during the service, and at the conclusion of the service the bells were rung, the striking being particularly good.

or some equivalent. And so he urged them for their own good, and for the good of ringing and the Exercise to support the paper.

Mr. F. R. Williams proposed the health of 'The Artistes,' who had really earned the thanks of the gathering.

The organisation of the dinner was entrusted to Mr. D. Brown. The large gathering and the general spirit of happiness that prevailed testified to his efficient organisation.

A MATTER FOR MANCHESTER CORPORATION.

Ringling was provided during the day at Ashton-under-Lyne, Manchester Cathedral, the Sacred Trinity, Salford, and at the Town Hall. A good number turned up ultimately there, but there was no very great anxiety on their part to ring. A tenor of 52 cwt., a long draught of springy ropes, and bad going bells make it a man's job. One who did ring can testify that he pulled the treble rope down several inches and then found himself swinging clear of the ground and the bell refusing to budge a bit! Manchester Corporation is one of the wealthiest in England. They have the bells rung twice a week. Why don't they spend some money and by rehanging and retuning turn them into one of the finest rings in the country?

FARNHAM RINGERS AT CAMBERLEY.*DISCUSSION ON BENEVOLENT FUND.

The proposal to start a benevolent fund in the Guildford Diocesan Guild was discussed at length at a meeting of the Farnham District at Camberley on October 20th. The Vicar (the Rev. F. W. T. Waithman) presided at the meeting, and it was decided to send the following resolution to the executive committee: 'This meeting considers it advisable to make a collection at annual district meetings, and also at the annual general meeting of the Guild. It does not approve the suggestion to raise the subscriptions.' Each tower in the Guild has been asked to express an opinion on this matter. Congratulations were extended to the Yorktown ringers, who rang a peal of Grandsire Doubles recently.

The meeting was very successful. In the afternoon the bells of St. Michael's Parish Church were rung under the direction of Mr. R. Hasted, the District Ringing Master, and again in the evening, a very high standard being reached. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. G. A. Ford, and a company of 45 sat down to tea in the Church Room. Thanks were expressed to all who contributed to the success of the meeting.

Members were present from Aldershot, Bagshot, Farnham, Hawley and the local tower, and visitors from Beddington, Pirbright, South-wark, Southsea, Croydon, Feltham, Yateley and Farnham Royal.

DEATH OF MR. RICHARD HOLDER.

We regret to record the death of Mr. R. Holder, who passed away on October 14th after an illness of three months at the age of 63 years. He was a native of Cowfold, Sussex, and came to Haywards Heath about 30 years ago, when he joined the Lindfield company, and remained a member up to the time of his death. He was also an old member of the Sussex County Association.

The funeral took place at the Haywards Heath Cemetery on October 17th. Ringers were represented by Mr. A. Tomsett and Mr. H. Tomsett, of Lindfield, and Mr. Watts, of Lower Beeding.

Two touches of Grandsire Triples (504 changes) were rung muffled at the Parish Church, Lindfield, on October 20th, in memory of the late Mr. Holder.

On October 20th, at the Parish Church, Lindfield, the bells were rung muffled in memory of the late Mr. R. Holder (two touches of Grandsire Triples, 504 changes). The ringers were: Messrs. A. Tomsett, H. Tomsett, F. Willey, E. Patching, H. Fullock, and F. Howell (Lindfield), G. Apps and E. Quickenden (Cuckfield), and W. Watts (Lower Beeding). The touches were conducted by A. ## BELFRY GOSSIP.

The broadcast interval signal of Bow bells is recorded on Columbia 4082.

Five of the eight ringers at Banstead, on Saturday, rang their first peal of Stedman Triples, and are all members of the local band. Mr. D. D. Cooper has completed the circle in this tower.

This is the 'Jubilee issue' for the Hertford County Association. The thoughts of all ringers go to St. Albans on Saturday. The Abbey and St. Peter's bells will be available from 2 p.m.

Pressure on our space has necessitated the curtailment of many interesting reports. Will correspondents please accept the sub-Editor's apology in the best spirit of the Exercise?

By ringing a peal in the very difficult method, Silchester Surprise, the Helmingham band completed a peal in 26 Surprise methods. This is undoubtedly a record, and a few years ago would have been deemed an impossibility.

Boveney Surprise Major, rung for the first time at Old Windsor on October 25th, composed by J. Reeves (adapted), and conducted by Mr. Alan R. Pink, is Mr. George Baker's 'Ashted' with seventh place under the treble deleted and first's place substituted. It has a clean proof scale and a 4th place bob.

Sixteen towers were represented at a meeting of the Suffolk Guild at Sudbury on October 27th. The Rev. J. F. Hughes, who welcomed the visitors, was thanked for the use of the bells at St. Gregory's and St. Peter's. Among the 26 to tea at the Black Boy Hotel was Mr. Arthur Symonds, of Lavenham, who has done so much to further the art of change ringing in West Suffolk.

Congratulations to George E. Fearn, who has conducted his first peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's Birmingham, as recorded in our peal column. This was his first attempt at calling a peal. The ringer of the 3rd in this peal, Daniel T. Matkin, had the misfortune of a rope breaking in his first attempt as conductor of a peal of Stedman Caters at Wednesbury on the previous Saturday (20th inst.), after 2½ hours' ringing, and with only a few courses to go. Better luck next time.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS. PEAL BOARD DEDICATED AT STAINES.

A peal board commemorating a peal rung by the Royal Cumberland Youths at St. Mary's Church, Staines, 50 years ago, was dedicated in the belfry on October 20th by the Vicar (the Rev. Dr. Flecker). Mr. W. H. Fussell, who participated in this peal, was congratulated, although being on the tour to Australia he was not present in person.

A service in the church conducted by the Vicar followed the dedication. Tea was kindly provided in the Church Room by the Vicar and Church Council. At the business meeting five new members from Mr. G. Gilbert's youthful band, ages ranging from 12 to 14 years, were elected. At the ringing after the meeting the touch of Grand-sire Triples by this young band from Burnham was greatly admired. Other touches rung during the afternoon and evening were Bob Doubles, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Cambridge Surprise and Kent Treble Bob. Among the many whom the secretary (Mr. G. A. Card) desired to thank for such an enjoyable gathering were the Vicar and Church Council and Mr. E. Butler, who made the local arrangements.

HANDBELL RINGERS OF JERSEY.

The fourth annual meeting of the first Jersey Guild of Handbell Ringers was held on October 19th under the presidency of the Rev. C. C. C. Wilson. The retiring hon. secretary reported that the finances of the Guild were satisfactory; membership had increased and keenness had been shown by all in the art of handbell ringing. Members had assisted at over 50 concerts, bazaars and similar functions for various charitable causes and for different denominations. The Guild was grateful for donations received from Aquila Road Methodist Church, Cercle St. Thomas' Men's Club, and Jersey Mechanics' Institute.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Rev. C. C. C. Wilson; hon. secretary, Mr. C. Lovett; hon. treasurer, Mr. J. Holley; captain, Mr. R. Perchard; Ringing Masters, Mr. C. Lovett (change ringing) and Mr. G. Grills (tune ringing). Thanks were accorded the president and other officers for their work during the year.

The Guild will welcome any ringers visiting Jersey from the mainland on communication with the hon. secretary, C. E. Lovett, Bago-telle Lane, St. Saviour's, Jersey, O.I.

FROM FATHER TO SON.

The meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association at Hailsham, on October 20th, was a happy day for the hon. secretary (Mr. A. C. Pankhurst), when his son, Mr. R. W. J. Pankhurst, was one of the two new members elected, the other being Mr. W. Pickworth, of Hastings. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob and Cambridge preceded the service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. M. C. Chapman). Mr. W. D. Smith presided at the business meeting and thanked the Vicar, the organist, and Mr. Piper, of Eastbourne, for so kindly defraying the greater part of the expenses for the tea.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S JUBILEE.

A REVIEW OF FIFTY YEARS.

OFFICERS WITH LONG SERVICE.

Fifty years ago last Monday, that is to say on Oct. 29th, 1884, the Hertford County Association of Change Ringers was formed at a meeting held at St. Albans and became one of the fast increasing links in the network of ringing organisations throughout the country, established to promote belfry reform and the encouragement of the art of change ringing. The event will be commemorated at St. Albans on Nov. 3rd by a special service, dinner and other appropriate proceedings.

MR. E. P. DEBENHAM,

President and one of the founders of the Hertford County Association.

The association has been fortunate in the officers who have served it, men with the highest sense of the importance attached to the ringer's office and determined to uphold the status both of the ringers themselves and the art they practise. From the earliest days there have been two outstanding figures, Mr. Edward P. Debenham and Mr. George W. Cartmel. The latter has given unbroken service for 30 years as Honorary Secretary; the former has occupied various offices, including that of Hon. Treasurer since 1888, and in this jubilee year has been elected President, an honour previously accorded him in 1907 and 1915. Mr. Debenham, out of his unique knowledge of the Hertford County Association, contributes the following article dealing with its past history.

THE FOUNDING OF THE ASSOCIATION.

BY THE PRESIDENT.

I have been honoured by the Editor of 'The Ringing World' in being invited to pen an article for that excellent newspaper describing the formation of the Hertford County Association, and some tit-bits relating to its early days and its founders, having regard to the approaching celebration of its jubilee on November 3rd, and whilst I am conscious of my shortcomings for such a task, I have invoked the assistance of the hon. secretary, Mr. George W. Cartmel, and am responding to the call.

About the time of its formation a forward movement in change ringing was prevalent throughout England. Many counties and dioceses had their associations with marked success, and the ringers in those districts without one, in order to get their peals recorded, had perforce either to join a neighbouring association or to become members of a central organisation, such as the Ancient Society of College Youths or the Cumberlands.

The St. Albans Cathedral Society of Change Ringers, founded in January, 1884, held a special meeting of its members in September of that year, with the result that the secretary of the society convened a meeting of representatives of change ringing societies in Hertfordshire to be held at the Rectory on October 29th, 1884, with the view of a county association being established. This meeting was duly held under the chairmanship of the Venerable Archdeacon Lawrance, the Rector of the Abbey, and was attended by representatives from Hertford, St. Albans, Ware, Bishop's Stortford, Sawbridgeworth, Baldock and Great Hallingbury, and on the proposition of the Rev. W. Wigram (Hertford), seconded by Mr. N. N. Hills (St. Albans), the county association came into existence.

The Bishop of St. Albans was suggested as president, and Archdeacon Lawrance was elected a vice-president. Mr. H. L. Waddington was elected treasurer, and the Rev. W. Wigram secretary, with Mr. Herbert Baker (Hertford) as his assistant. The first quarterly meeting was held at Hertford early in 1885, when the proposed rules of the association were considered and adopted.

The first annual report stated that branches existed in seven different centres of the county, viz., St. Albans (three bands), Hertford, Baldock, Sawbridgeworth, Hitchin, Bishop's Stortford and Benington. The membership for the first year consisted of 92 ringing members and two honorary members, eight peals being rung in the year.

As regards the early days of the association, the Benington band, under the leadership of Squire Proctor, was still in the heyday of its success; the Hertford College Youths, under the guidance of Mr. Baker, was doing excellent work, and the other centres were maintaining their positions. The St. Albans Cathedral Society, thanks to the enthusiasm of Messrs. Cartmel, W. H. L. Buckingham and J. C. Mitchell, was forging ahead, and handbell peals, under the conductorship of one or other of them, with myself and Mr. T. Waller also taking part, were numerous, and Mr. Henry Lewis' shop was frequently called into requisition for practice. For some years Mr. Lewis was the only active change ringer in St. Albans, and his knowledge and assistance were greatly valued. Messrs. Buckingham and Mitchell, with Mr. C. F. Winney and the late Mr. McLaughlin, took part in a non-conducted peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original) and a non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples, both on handbells.

OFFICE BEARER SINCE 1888.

In 1888, on the resignation of the Rev. W. Wigram, I was elected secretary and treasurer of the association, and Mr. Proctor (Benington) was elected president, which office he held until his death in 1895. He was succeeded in that office by Canon Wigram, who also held office until his death in 1906. Since then it has been made, whenever practicable, an annual appointment of one of the members of the association.

In 1890 Mr. Cartmel was appointed assistant secretary, and in 1904 I resigned from the secretaryship, but retained the office of treasurer, which appointment I still hold. Mr. Cartmel, the assistant secretary, was elected hon. secretary, and has continued in that position ever since.

Up till 1900 it was the custom to hold quarterly meetings of the association at different centres, but in that year it was decided to divide the county into districts, each one having a district secretary. At the present time there are five districts, viz., St. Albans, Watford and the Northern, Eastern and Western, and this arrangement is working very well.

Amongst the noteworthy achievements of the association are the following:—

April 8th, 1912: Bristol Surprise Major (12,160 changes), in 7 hrs. 18 mins., conducted by G. N. Price.

June 5th, 1933; Bob Major (18,144 changes), in 10 hrs. 52 mins., conducted by S. Carter.

Also the first peal of Aldenham Surprise Major, of Bushey Surprise Major, and of Hertfordshire Surprise Major, each of them composed and conducted by H. G. Cashmore, the first rung at Aldenham on October 21st, 1933, and the second and third at Bushey on November 23rd, 1933, and August 11th, 1934, respectively. Both the former and latter peals were rung without previous practice. On handbells on July 27th, 1933, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major (5,056 changes) was rung, conducted by F. W. Brinklow.

MR. GEORGE W. CARTMEL.

30 years Hon. Secretary of Hertford County Association.

I may add that the last annual report shows a band membership of 468, attached to 55 towers, unattached members 21, non-resident, life and ordinary members 216, and hon. members 50, making a total of 753.

Before I call 'Stand' I should like to express my sincere thanks to the hon. secretary, the district secretaries, and the Sunday service bands for their enthusiasm, and to offer my congratulations to the conductors of the various peals rung by the associations, and to the members who took part in them. I am proud to think that the association is fulfilling so well the objects for which it was established.

E. P. DEBENHAM.

THE PRESIDENT.

The president of the Hertford County Association in this, its jubilee year, was, as recorded above, one of the foundation members, but he had been a ringer for many years before that, for he had his first practice in St. Peter's belfry on March 18th, 1875—almost sixty years ago.

Mr. Edward Percy Debenham, who will be 76 years of age on November 28th next, was born at Ivy House, St. Albans, adjacent to St. Peter's Church, with which he has been associated all his life. He was only 16 years of age when he took up ringing, and was identified first of all with the St. Albans Association of Change Ringers, which was formed in January, 1876, with James Haworth (a former well-known College Youth) as instructor. This band met twice a week and used to have the occasional assistance of John Cox and James Pettit, of London, but it was disbanded about the year 1881.

In 1878 Mr. Debenham took over the conductorship of St. Peter's Society and spent practically all his spare time in coaching young ringers. He scored his first peal in March, 1878, under the conductorship of Matt Wood, at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, where he also rang his first peals of Stedman Triples and Treble Bob Major. In April, 1883, he took part in the first recorded peal on the Abbey bells since the year 1765.

Mr. Debenham's professional duties prevented him from doing as much peal ringing as he would have desired, but he has rung between 70 and 80 peals, including a number on handbells. He was one of an enthusiastic party who, in the 'eighties, met for handbell practice at every available opportunity.

Mr. Debenham has filled all the important offices in the Hertford County Association. In 1888 he succeeded Canon Wigram as hon. secretary and treasurer, but resigned the former office in 1904 on account of the pressure of his professional affairs. He, however, continued as hon. treasurer of the association, and has retained that office without break ever since. For thirty years he and Mr. Cartmel (as hon. secretary) have run in double harness, with great benefit to the association. In 1907 Mr. Debenham served as president, and was again elected to that office in 1915. No happier choice could possibly have been made than his selection once more to occupy the office in the association's jubilee year.

Besides his ringing activities, Mr. Debenham has served the Church in several important capacities. He was for many years churchwarden of St. Peter's Church and a member of St. Albans Diocesan Conference and the Ruri-decanal Conference. He has occupied many important public positions in St. Albans, and succeeded his brother as town clerk of the city in 1909. He has held high rank in Freemasonry, to which he was admitted in 1882, and received honours in the Grand Lodge of England in 1914. He is a Past Provincial Grand Registrar of Hertfordshire.

If advancing years prevent Mr. Debenham taking as active a part in the belfry as formerly, his interest in ringing has in no way abated, and in Mr. George Debenham and Mr. Gilbert Debenham he has two enthusiastic sons who are following in his footsteps.

THE HONORARY SECRETARY.

Out of the fifty years during which the Hertford County Association has been in existence, Mr. George W. Cartmel has filled the office of honorary secretary for no less than 30 of them, and filled it with great ability and a full conception of the relations which should exist between ringers and the Church. Mr. Cartmel has always set a high standard on the duties of the church bellringer, and has always urged the importance of putting 'first things first.' He has throughout his long official career sought to elevate the ringer's office, and his annual report to the members of his association has never failed to direct attention to higher things.

Mr. Cartmel, whose father was a native of Carlisle, was born on September 29th, 1865. He began ringing in the autumn of 1883, and was admitted to the St. Albans Cathedral Society in January, 1884. In those days there was no change ringing at St. Albans. Bennington and Hertford were the only towers in the county where the art was regularly practised, but despite the drawback the St. Albans men set about change ringing in earnest. In August, 1885, Mr. Cartmel rang his first peal. This was Grandsire Triples at the Cathedral, conducted by Mr. H. J. Tucker, and then, in January, 1886, he rang on the same bells in the first peal at the Cathedral by an entirely local band for upwards of 120 years, and the first 'local' peal in St. Albans since 1810.

With other now well-known St. Albans ringers, Mr. Cartmel took up handbell ringing with great keenness, and in April, 1886, rang his first peal 'double handed,' a peal of Grandsire Triples, to which he rang 7-8, jointly for the College Youths and the Herts Association, it being the first handbell peal for the latter. It is interesting to recall that this peal was rung by Henry Lewis, Challis Winney (conductor), Newman N. Hill and George W. Cartmel. Handbell peals became fairly frequent after this, and at the old Goose and Gridiron, in St. Paul's Churchyard, a famous meeting house for ringers, which has now entirely disappeared, Mr. Cartmel called his first peal, Holt's Original, from 1-2. The other ringers were Messrs. E. P. Debenham, C. F. Winney and W. H. L. Buckingham. Afterwards Mr. Cartmel called Holt's Original from every pair of bells and was the first to do so.

Mr. Cartmel joined the College Youths in 1885, and in 1889 he was appointed conductor of St. Albans Cathedral Society, which office he held for five years, resigning after a prolonged illness. In consideration of these services he was elected a life member of the Cathedral Society. Under medical orders he abstained from ringing for some few years, during which he took up church work in other directions, and was for a long period a Sunday School teacher, and afterwards the leader of a Bible Class for men. He is a lay reader in the diocese, and a prominent temperance worker. He has never again taken up peal ringing seriously, but his interest in the work of the association is as keen as ever. He occupied the office of president (an honour which the association passes round to its members) in 1928-9.

Mr. Cartmel succeeded his friend, Mr. E. P. Debenham, as secretary of the Hertford County Association, in 1904. These two stalwarts have thus piloted the destinies of the association through all but four years of its existence, and at its jubilee they are found, full of years and honour, occupying its most important offices.

A Handbell Peal on the Arabian Sea.

COMPOSED AND RUNG ON THE SS. 'BARRABOOL.'

The most interesting event in the next stage of the journey to Australia, according to the report received by the last mail, was the ringing, while crossing the Arabian Sea, from Aden to Colombo, of a peal of Bob Major, composed by the Rev. E. Bankes James while the vessel was passing through the Mediterranean Sea.

ss. 'Barrabool,'

Approaching Colombo,
October 4th.

We have had almost a full week at sea since touching our last port. The days have passed very pleasantly for us, and we are enjoying comparatively calm seas. Only once during the past five days have there been absentees at meal times.

MR. C. SHARPLES.

Nearly all our party went ashore when we reached Aden on Saturday, September 29th. We got to this sun-blistered spot at dawn, and two hours later started on a motor tour. Joe Hardeastle left his shirt off. 'Ay, 'twere grand, wi'out shirt,' he said afterwards. Some of the rest of us wished we had followed his example. Much to the surprise of most of us, Aden (said to be the hottest town on earth) has a good deal to interest the visitor. There are mountains of volcanic origin, and we visited the village built in the old crater. There is a shipyard where Arab dhows are built, said to be the oldest shipyard in the world. But the 'show piece' is the ancient water tanks, seven in all, excavated in the mountain side probably 2,500 years ago. Their purpose is to collect the water from the hills when it rains. The last time it rained in Aden was in the year 1928! Although the English weather forecast may have said something about a depression over Iceland, we took the risk of going ashore without umbrellas.

The lowliest profession in the world is that of a hewer of wood and drawer of water. We saw members of this profession at their work in the gardens which have been developed along the side of the tanks. To encourage the shrubs they are watered with a brackish water got from a very deep well. It is hauled up in a skin bucket—probably of less than two gallons capacity, and leaking profusely, by four nearly naked Arabs, who chant some sort of song as they pull. They were glad to receive coppers to be photographed.

Our tour took us to the Sheikh Othman oasis, where there is a public garden, and here, doubtless for the first time in the history of Aden, handbells were heard, two parties each ringing a course of Grandsire Triples, while natives stood agog. While the ringing was in progress two British aeroplanes from the R.A.F. aerodrome flew low overhead, a reminder of the watchful eye and ever-ready arm that guards the Britisher all the world over.

The native homes are squalid hovels, mostly one-room affairs, without windows or furniture, sometimes shared by the proprietor's goats, but all so ramshackle that the inhabitants never want the rain to come for fear of washing their abodes away. In the last rains over 200 of these 'homes' disappeared, we were told. But for all their environment, the natives, with their deep copper-coloured skins, are a good-looking race, and lots of the children definitely pretty.

Ralph Maude replenished his wardrobe by one shirt, bought from the vendors who cluster round the ship here as at all Eastern ports, and Rupert restocked his larder with limes (which, after tasting, he was prepared to give to anyone for the asking) and water melons (for which he has developed a liking which threatens to outvie his taste for ice-cream). Then, soon after noon, we said 'Good-bye' to Aden and headed away into the blue and the breeze, the latter being greatly welcome after nearly a week of sweltering weather, for September is one of the hottest months of the year in these parts. We were in the Gulf of Aden on Sunday, and towards mid-day passed the easternmost point of Africa, Cape Guardafui. Like the rest of the African coast that we have seen it is barbarous and forbidding. A lighthouse stands on the farthest point. It has a history. The territory is Italian Somaliland, and for a long time the natives prevented the building of the lighthouse. When eventually it was completed they ate the lighthousekeepers! A nice place, Guardafui. The lighthouse is now protected by a military detachment.

The comparatively cooler weather has enabled a little more energy to be put into handbell practice. Since leaving Aden two or three peal attempts have been made by different combinations, and a Bob Major company got a peal home in the Arabian Sea. They attempted it on Tuesday, October 2nd, but it went overboard through a trip after 1 hr. 56 mins., much to everyone's disappointment. This attempt was made on the foredeck, where the first peal had been rung. This site, which is really in the crew's 'preserves,' is only possible for ringing on in the late afternoon, when the superstructure of the ship gives welcome shade. On this occasion the party missed both the peal and their tea. But that is just the luck of the game.

The morning ringing is done in the greater seclusion of the Isolation Hospital reserve, where protection from the sun is afforded by an awning. Beneath this shelter, which is right in the stern of the ship, where the endless thrashing of the propellers creates a continuous roar, another effort to ring the peal was made immediately after breakfast on Wednesday, October 3rd, and it ran home in 2 hrs. 35 mins., after only one hitch that seriously threatened success. That was in the last course but one, but it was skilfully saved by the conductor, who never let the trip get out of hand.

The peal was rung between latitude 8.49 degrees north, longitude 68.48 east: and latitude 8.42 north, longitude 69.27 east, the ship's run, while the ringing was in progress, being 58 miles.

The composition was a 'twelve part' specially composed by the Rev. E. Bankes James, who figured it out while the 'Barrabool' was in the Mediterranean Sea. To the tourists it will always remain known as the 'Barrabool peal.' It is on a new plan, as far as I know, and shows that even now Bob Major is not completely worked out. Here are the figures and the peal, which will be found well worth ringing:—

The last three courses are repeated ten times, omitting the single in the fifth repetition.

The peal was rung for the Middlesex Association, as that was found to be the only one of which all the ringers were members. It was Mr. Sharples' first handbell peal on eight bells, his only previous peal 'in hand' having been in seven Minor methods and rung 37 years ago. Incidentally that peal was the first ever rung on handbells in seven methods.

In the evening the peal was celebrated with a gala dinner and fancy dress dance. At any rate, if the festivities were not exactly put on to commemorate the performance, they served the purpose. Most of our party apparently came to the conclusion that their nor-

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.*YOUNG RINGERS AND PEALS.

A representative gathering of ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild at Bedworth on October 20th. Ringing ranged from rounds to London and Bristol Major, a special feature of this meeting being numerous touches of Grandsire Triples for the younger members, especially the local young men, who displayed great keenness.

Tea was served in the Schoolroom, and was followed by the business meeting presided over by Mr. J. H. W. White (Master of the Guild). Leamington was chosen for the next quarterly meeting in January, 1935, and Exhall and Shilton for November and December respectively. The election of three life members proposed prior to peal attempts was confirmed at the meeting, viz., Dr. F. S. Poole (Wigston Magna), Mr. F. E. Dawe (Woking), and Mr. R. H. Dove (Croydon).

A discussion arose regarding peal attempts. Mr. L. J. Hinde (Bulkington) urged that the younger members should be given a chance occasionally. Several members aired their views on the matter, including the chairman, who said he was sure that if any member felt that he was proficient enough to ring a peal in any particular method he should ask the band, or the conductor, where he obtained his practice, and a peal could be arranged for him. He was confident the older and more experienced men would willingly help.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and schoolroom, and a return to the tower for further ringing concluded a successful meeting.

HAPPY MEETING AT CANTERBURY.

The annual meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was a typically happy affair. Rounds for beginners preceded the Guild service at St. Stephen's Church, at which the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Watkins) officiated and gave the address. After tea at the Parish Room, attended by 53 members and friends, Canon F. J. O. Helmore presided at the business meeting. Mr. Percy W. Smith was re-elected district secretary, and Messrs. H. Smith and F. Brett, district representatives. Mr. E. Spice thanked them for their services during the past year. Whitstable and St. Peter's, Broadstairs, were chosen for quarterly meetings for 1935, and Selling for the next by-meeting. Thanks were expressed to all who made the meeting so enjoyable, and musical honours were accorded the chairman. The bells of St. Alphege and the Cathedral were also available during the afternoon and evening.

mal dress was already 'fancy' enough, without bedecking themselves further. For instance, Mr. James in his old school blazer, Joe Hardcastle in his shirt sleeves without collar or tie, George in a bath (as he has been ever since we touched hot weather—a bath of perspiration, of course, I mean), Bill in his big game hunting rig-out, and most of the rest of us dressed nearer native than we are ever seen at home, make us already a sufficiently fancy party to satisfy our modest aspirations. Ralph cut a merry figure. He appeared as the 'absent-minded professor' in evening dress, without his trousers. No, nobody was shocked; in fact, his legs were greatly admired, especially by the ladies. Some of the costumes adopted by the passengers were very amusing, and not a little originality had been displayed in their design. Many of them were made from materials collected on the boat. And after the 'parade' there were high jinks until a late hour.

The Grandsire Triples party have been badly out of luck. There has been some topping ringing on several occasions, but the stars in their courses seem always to frown on the efforts to score a peal.

We are nearing Colombo, where we hope to have a day ashore. We feel we need it, for we have been more than five days without sight of land, and we have ten more days ahead of us, during which our horizon will be bounded entirely by the sea. We have seen among other things shoals of flying fish and the wonderful phosphorescence of the tropical seas by night. It is fascinating to stand in the stern of the ship and watch the strange and ever-changing luminosity of the water. It is just three weeks since we left England, but, while the days pass quickly, so much that is novel and interesting has been crowded into them that it seems an age since we said 'Good-bye' to our friends at home.

I am happy to say that all our party is keeping in excellent health.

THE EDITOR.

Late News.

There was another concert to-night, at which Bill and George again excelled themselves with handbell tunes before an admiring audience.

The first serious catastrophe has just befallen us. Bottled grape fruit juice has been our principal liquid refreshment at the bar. News has just gone round that we have cleaned out the store, and there will be no new supplies this side of Australia.

There is, however, one consolation. There is still some good beer to be had.

BESMIRCHING THEIR MEMORY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very glad to see Mr. W. E. Wathen's letter in your last issue protesting against Mr. Trollope's remarks in 'The Ringing World' dated October 12th.

What conceivable interest is served by the latter's unwarrantable repetition of this old calumny?

Notwithstanding the quotations Mr. Trollope now gives, there is not the slightest reason to suppose that the ringers of 60 or 100 years ago were any better or worse than their contemporaries. Why should they have been?

If they had beer in the belfry, it is doubtless equally true that the parsons had gin in the vestry and that the 'Squire' had his bottle of port, as well as a stove, in his family pew. It was the custom of the times. Also it is known that at one church in the Midlands the adult members of the choir used to leave their places and adjourn to a nearby pub during the sermon!

It is common knowledge that many parsons have been deprived of their livings for drunkenness and/or immorality—one notorious case received much publicity only a short time ago—yet no one but a fool would on that account, assert that parsons as a class were a 'drunken and disorderly lot.'

Why, of all men, a ringer should so unnecessarily and gratuitously besmirch the memory of the old ones who have passed on is beyond my comprehension, and it is devoutly to be hoped that Mr. Trollope will not give still further publicity to such nonsense when he writes the history of ringing to which he refers.—Yours truly,

A. PADDON SMITH.

Handsworth Wood, Birmingham.

Dear Sir,—I was exceedingly pleased to see the letter from Mr. W. E. Wathen in your last issue of 'The Ringing World.' Every word in his opening paragraph I wholeheartedly endorse, as the words in your leader in the previous issue, 'that the old ringers as a class were a drunken and disorderly lot,' was a slanderous statement.

I was introduced into a belfry well over 60 years ago, amongst all sorts and conditions of men, but I can truthfully say not once can I remember any who deserved such a character, although we used to visit each other's towers for nearly 20 miles around.

At that time in the early seventies and on I was learning and ringing Doubles off by heart (figures), and we used to be going from tower to tower frequently throughout the year for ringing and mutual friendship. This was years before the Winchester Guild was established.

I think it a great pity these old tales are trotted out from time to time, as they do more harm than good, and history contradicts them by showing that ringers as a body were only on a par with others of their day.

I would like to refer brother ringers to the splendid articles in the old 'Bell News' by Mr. R. A. Daniel in 1899-90, volume 18, Nos. 919 to 935, to confirm my statements in backing up Mr. Wathen's letters of the 26th.

GEORGE WILLIAMS,

Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

1, Stoncham Avenue, Eastleigh.

Dear Sir,—Page 582 of current issue contains both tragic and humorous comment on our art. Our friend W. E. Wathen is full of righteous indignation (in which I share) of the status of character meted out to our forebears, and likewise our friend J. A. Trollope proceeds in the opposite pole to lay on cement and mortar in thick layers of the folly as diagnosed by the ancients, mostly clergy, of the ringers of bygone days. Well, there are and always will be black sheep in every fold, but when one pauses to think of what that most versatile of writers, Charles Dickens, had to say in his various volumes of the spirit of the age covered by the contemporary men quoted, is it to be wondered at? What idea or chance was given at that time, either educationally or socially? It would, however, be interesting to know who provided and fixed in our belfries the peal boards recording past feats covered by the dates under review. I should say the ringers. So much for column one.

Column two describes in a perfect blend how a peal should be rounded off; and, incidentally, I have heard the rendezvous called the Glue Pot, and seen it advertised in our 'Chronicle' as the Coffee Pot, so the choice is there, ladies and gentlemen, of what will you have.

Bromsgrove.

HARRY PRICE.

SUCCESSFUL BEGINNERS' MEETING.

Specially arranged for simpler methods, the meeting of the Southern Division of the Sussex Association at Hursdpierpoint, on October 27th, was a great success. The attendance, which was greater than that at some of the quarterly meetings, was particularly encouraging, taking into consideration the fact that no rail allowance was made. It was resolved to repeat the experiment in January, Uckfield being suggested, with Upper Beeding as a second choice.

MIDDLESEX AND THE TOURISTS.

The news of the ringing of a peal of Bob Major on handbells in the Arabian Sea on Oct. 3rd by the Australian tourists and credited to the Middlesex Association, was received with acclamation at the meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at Enfield on October 27th. The hon. secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles), who made the announcement, said he had received a letter from Mr. Rupert Richardson, posted at Colombo. 'I am sure the members will appreciate the honour done the association,' added Mr. Coles. He promised to convey to Mr. Richardson and the rest of the tourists their thanks and good wishes.

Mr. A. W. Coles (District Master) presided. Three new members were elected, and Kilburn was chosen for the next meeting. Good ringing was obtained at St. Andrew's and St. Mary's Churches and at All Saints', Edmonton. Appropriate votes of thanks were accorded all responsible for the success of the meeting, especially the ladies for preparing tea.

RINGERS' PEAL BOOK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Some years ago I saw a ringers' peal book made up in coloured country views of various designs for inscriptions and names to be filled on them. Do you happen to know of a publisher of this make of a book, say, for eight bells?—Yours truly,
85, Station Road, Hadfield. FRANK HALL.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Last Saturday was the jubilee of the Hertford County Association, the latest of the many societies which, beginning with the Devonshire Guild, were founded fifty or sixty years ago. It was at the close of a critical time in the history of the Exercise, probably the most critical it has ever passed through, for though the ringers of the time did not know it, the very existence of the Art trembled in the balance. In the middle of the last century the state of bells, belfries and ringing generally was deplorable, a scandal and a disgrace both to the Church and to the Exercise, and as the Church is much the greater, so was her responsibility that much the more. It was not the fault of individuals; it was the result of causes which had come down through centuries. The social and religious influences which had created and controlled change ringing in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries had worked themselves out and were bankrupt. Change ringing had never, from the beginning, been connected with the service of the Church. It was partly a secular sport, and partly done to celebrate national, civic, or private events. The Exercise in its organisation did not acknowledge the Church, and the Church shamefully neglected her duties to the ringers.

Then came changes in social and religious opinion which widened the breach, so that conditions, which were tolerable in the eighteenth century, were rapidly becoming intolerable in the nineteenth. The Exercise was faced with the alternatives of reform or destruction. The clergy and Church authorities, as a body, though they were quite aware of the scandal, shut their eyes and did nothing. Well for us they did not. For had a real attempt at reform come from that quarter, there can be no doubt that ringing would have shared the fate of the village choirs and orchestras of a generation or two earlier, and been swept into oblivion. As it was, ringing practically died out in some parts, the Norfolk villages for instance. Fortunately the Exercise was able to start the reform movement from within itself. The men who so strongly denounced the faults of ringers and the state of the belfries were the men who cared most for the real interests of the ringers and who loved bells and ringing. Those quotations from Ellacombe and others which were printed the other week in 'The Ringing World' are not slanderous attacks on the old ringers. They were frank recognition of evils which those men had made up their minds to end if it could be done; for they knew that if they were not ended, ringing itself would be ended.

The formation of the territorial associations was one of the great instruments of reform. They gave a real corporate life to the Exercise which was entirely outside the range of the older societies. They set a new standard for ringers, and they gave the Church an opportunity of recognising that she has a duty towards her ringers which must be discharged before she can expect them to do their duty properly towards her. Changes take place slowly in ringing matters, but they do take place. In fifty years the Exercise has been entirely altered in character. Such a gathering as took place last Saturday at St. Albans would once have been quite impossible. The individual men who compose the Exercise are to-day pretty much the same sort of men as were the ringers in the old days. It is the Exercise as a whole that has changed, and we have a right to be proud of the fact that so great a problem was faced and slowly but effectually solved. The art of change ringing stands to-day far more securely than it has ever done.

Steel, Mr. A. King, and Mr. J. Nicholls (vice-presidents), Mr. A. Sharman (general secretary), and ringers of the local tower, Luton, etc.

THE PRIORY CHURCH, DUNSTABLE.

The staircase, made of wood, and erected by Mr. Watson, builder, Dunstable, and the tablet, cast in bell metal by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, with the inscription in relief, were much admired by the congregation and ringers. The tablet was inscribed as follows:—

'In memory of Canon W. W. C. Baker, M.A., president of the Bedfordshire Association of Bellringers, the belfry staircase of this church was erected by his brother-ringers, July 1934.'

The bells were rung before and after the service. The balance sheet of the memorial fund states that the receipts totalled £25 4s. 10d., the following subscriptions being received: F. Bailey 2s. 6d., Rev. R. Copeman 5s., G. W. Cartmel 5s., Central Council £3 3s., W. P. Duffield 5s., W. H. Fussell 2s. 6d., Dr. H. Goldsmith 2s. 6d., Rev. C. Jenkin 10s., H. Knight 2s. 6d., R. The expenses came to £25 4s. 10d.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. ARTHUR HEAD. COLLAPSED AFTER RINGING AT CHELMSFORD.

A very sad fatality occurred in the belfry at Chelmsford Cathedral on October 30th at the conclusion of the usual practice. Mr. Arthur Head, who had been ringing all the evening on the front eight to assist less experienced members, later rang the tenor for three leads of Kent Maximus. He then sat down, saying that he did not feel well. The bells were rung again, and practice concluded at the usual time. Mr. Head then put on his coat and, reaching for his cap, collapsed. He was placed on a handbell box, but had passed away. A doctor was fetched at once. The police and ambulance arrived, but owing to the circular stairway he had to be lowered to the Cathedral floor through the trapdoor with new ropes.

Mr. A. Head, who was 55 years of age, was the fourth of five brothers. All the brothers were taught to ring at Writtle under W. Lincoln, and all rang peals. He had rung just about 200 peals and was always at the heavy end. The majority of his peals were rung with the writer. An excellent ringer and striker, very seldom making a trip, as a heavy bell ringer his place cannot easily be replaced.

The funeral was on November 3rd. The service at the Cathedral was attended by a very representative company of ringers, and was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. Canon Morrow. The interment followed at the Writtle Road Cemetery, where many people, including members of the Chelmsford Corporation to which deceased belonged, were waiting to pay their last respects. The Provost took the committal service, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by: G. Green (Great Baddow) 1-2, W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley) 3-4, W. Keeble (Feering) 5-6, W. Lincoln (Chelmsford) 7-8.

At the morning service, on Sunday, the Provost preceded his sermon by paying a tribute to his memory, his devotion to his beloved art, and his duty to the church, and expressed sympathy to his widow. During the evening the Cathedral bells were rung half-muffled by the local and other ringers who had come to pay their last respect.

A VALUABLE BOOKLET.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have just been reading the Central Council's excellent little booklet, 'Hints to Instructors and beginners,' a copy of which should be in every tower. As I go about from place to place I cannot help thinking what a long-felt want this little work has filled.

It is disgraceful the way some ringers handle their ropes. Is it to be wondered there are so many bad strikers when they stand as they do and have one hand about a foot above the other on the eally or catch it so low they cannot possibly have good control?

Bad habits in ringing are, as in everything else, easy to acquire but very difficult to get rid of.

Now a suggestion for another 'Hints for the would-be conductor.' I would suggest this because I know it is wanted. I remember some few years ago standing in a touch of Stedman at Tring, and not one of the band could call a couple of courses, so Mr. Walter Ayre called it from his chair. I felt this so much that I was determined not to be caught napping again. I mentioned the matter to G.G. (H. VIII.), and he very lucidly explained some standard callings to me, for which I was very grateful. Then my old friend, George Martin, gave me some valuable hints on ringing and calling which I shall always remember. But it is not everyone who can call on the assistance of such experts and know they will be helped, as I have been, in such language as can be readily understood by 'the would-be conductor.'

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A well-attended meeting of the Eastern District of this association was held at Gateshead on November 3rd. The district-vice-president, Mr. R. L. Patterson, of Sunderland, presided at a short meeting after an excellent tea at the old Anchorage. A vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for providing the tea, was proposed by the new president, Councillor Arthur Payne, J.P. Councillor Payne congratulated the Rector (Canon Stephenson) on the completion of 20 years as Rector, and also commented on the very great improvement in the surroundings of the church since the opening of the new Tyne Bridge.

The venue of the next meeting on January 5th was left in the hands of the vice-president and secretary. Two new members of St. John's, Newcastle, were elected, and on the proposition of Mr. Stuart, seconded by Mr. C. L. Routledge, the president was heartily congratulated on his re-election to the Gateshead Town Council.

The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Congratulations to Mr. William Ranford, who rang his 400th peal at Badsey, Worcestershire, on Saturday.

Congratulations to Mr. Wilfrid Wilson, the assistant secretary of the Middlesex Association, on the birth of a son and heir.

Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, chairman of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, who is still in the Bristol Royal Infirmary, is making slow but satisfactory progress towards recovery.

We regret that the peal at Epsom on October 27th was stated to have been rung under the auspices of the Surrey Association. It should have been credited to the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

The peal rung at Dudley, Worcestershire, on October 20th, should read 5,057 changes. It was Mr. W. C. Rhodes' first peal of Grand-sire Caters. Mr. W. C. Cooper has rung each bell in the tower to a peal.

Mr. H. O. Over, of Hugglescote, Leicester, writes suggesting that those contemplating ringing peals in honour of the forthcoming Royal wedding of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina, might as an appropriate method for the occasion select 'Kent.'

Ald. J. S. Pritchett, the Recorder of Lincoln, was elected a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths on November 10th, 1874. His 60th anniversary will doubtless be remembered by those assembling at the festival dinner on Saturday.

The weight of the tenor at Middleton Cheney, Northants, where a peal of Surprise Minor was rung on October 6th, was 22 cwt. 2 qr. 13 lb., and not 26 cwt. approximately as stated. Mr. G. Dawson asks whether a peal in seven different Surprise methods has been rung on heavier bells.

The old and the young were in happy company at Ipswich on Saturday, when a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung. The ringers included Miss Tillet, aged 15, and Mr. R. H. Brundle, aged 83, the youngest and oldest persons to ring a peal of Cambridge Maximus.

Other Parochial Church Councils must follow the example of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, where all iron parts of the frame, wheels, stocks, stays, sliders, etc., have been painted with two coats of paint and the beams and other woodwork inspected for death-watch beetle. This was done without any pressure from the ringers!

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Ilkeston, on October 31st, for the dedication of the entrance doors and screen to the memory of the late Mrs. Muirhead Evans, was the 200th different composition called by the conductor, Mr. Maurice Swinfield. The band who rang the peal desire to express their thanks to Mr. E. C. Goby for having everything in readiness for them.

The many friends of Mr. F. W. Goodfellow will learn with regret that he has been compelled to enter the Middlesex Hospital for an operation which will put him out of active ringing for many weeks. He expects to be at the hospital for three weeks, and then at home until Christmas. Everyone will echo our sincere hope that he may have a speedy recovery.

Norwich ringers regret the departure of Mr. W. E. Bason to take up duties as stationmaster at Thetford. A farewell peal of Double Norwich Court Bob was rung on October 30th at St. Peter Mancroft, where Mr. Bason was a member of the Guild, a former Ringing Master, and chairman of the North Norfolk Branch. The peal was the 100th occasion on which Messrs. W. E. Bason and G. Mayer have taken part in peals together. The Exercise will wish Mr. Bason every happiness in his new appointment.

Last October 23rd was the 50th anniversary of a performance which is a landmark in the history of the art. It was the first time that Holt's Original was rung entirely non-conducted, and was rung on the anniversary of what was supposed to be the first time it was called by a man who took part in the ringing. The idea originated with the Rev. C. W. P. Davies, who induced James Pettit, then the leading conductor of the College Youths, to make up the band. Mr. Challis Winney, who is still going strong, is the only survivor. We hope he may live to call the Original many times more.

Mr. Henry James Tucker, of 2, Gordon Villas, The Broadway, Chichester, writes that he attended the first meeting of the Hertford County Association and is still a member of the association, although not able to be present at the jubilee. He corrects the statement that Bennington and Hertford were the only towers in the county where the art was regularly practised, as change ringing took place at Bishop's Stortford and Sawbridgeworth. Peals were rung at the former place as far back as 1827 by a local band, and one at Sawbridgeworth about 1881, conducted by the late Mr. G. Rochester.

MISCELLANEOUS PERFORMANCES.

PEASEMORE, BERKS.—On October 20th, 720 of Bob Minor: Miss J. Mullins (first 720) 1, Miss M. Field (first 720 on 'inside' bell) 2, M. Rosier 3, R. Rex 4, G. Townsend 5, J. Berry (conductor) 6. The ringers of the treble and second become the first ladies to ring a 720 on the bells.

FARNDON, CHESHIRE.—On October 29th, an extent of Coventry Delight Minor (720 changes). W. Thomas 1, A. E. Richards 2, J. W. Clarke 3, P. Swindley 4, J. Swindley 5, J. Morgan 6. Also a quarter-peal of Bob Major: Geo. Simon 1, T. Simon 2, W. Thomas 3, A. E. Richards 4, J. Swindley 5, J. W. Clarke 6, P. Swindley 7, J. Morgan 8. Both touches were conducted by J. Morgan.

JUBILEE OF THE HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A PEAL OF TWELVE FOR ST. ALBANS ABBEY.

BISHOP'S GIFT TO COMMEMORATION FUND.

On October 29th, 1884, the Hertford County Association was founded at a meeting held in Archdeacon Lawrence's study at St. Albans Abbey, and last Saturday the jubilee was celebrated by a service at the Cathedral and a dinner at the County Hall.

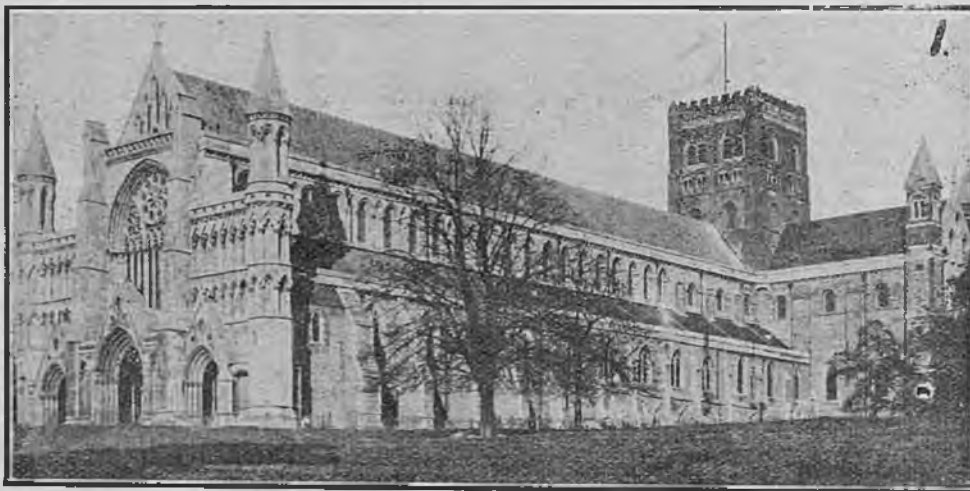

At the Abbey the Dean preached an eloquent sermon, expressing thankfulness for what the association had been able to do. The president (Mr. E. P. Debenham) read the first lesson, and the Bishop gave an impressive Blessing. At the close of the service a perfect course of tittum Grandsire Caters was rung by H. Hodgetts 1-2, C. W. Woolley 3-4, W. Ayre 5-6, H. G. Cashmore 7-8, F. W. Brinklow 9-10. In the evening the same men (except Mr. Ayre) rang a course of London Surprise without the least faltering from start to finish, proving that they are at present the premier handbell band of England.

At the dinner the president (Mr. E. P. Debenham) took the chair. He was supported by the Bishop, the Dean and the Mayor of St. Albans, Mr. G. W. Cartmel (the hon. sec.), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council) and Mrs. Lewis, Mr. Alexander Young (Master of the College Youths), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary of the Middlesex Association) and Mrs. Coles, Mr. G. W. Fletcher (secretary of the Central Council), Mrs. Fletcher (Ladies' Guild) and Mr. Challis Winney. Among the well-known ringers at the large gather-not yet one nation. The main clauses in Magna Charta said that the Church should be free, and they must look to it that there should never be in England what they were seeing on the Continent, where men were trying to make religion and God himself the servants of some theory of State rule.

The Dean, in proposing the toast of 'The Hertford County Association,' said how glad Dean Lawrence would have been to see the result of the work begun in his study fifty years ago, and how the ideas he had set his heart on had flourished. Their beloved and revered president had assisted throughout its history, and Mr. Cartmel had held office nearly as long.

He had been informed by Mr. Goodenough, the captain of the Abbey band, that restoration would have to be done there, and he had come to the conclusion that it would be an excellent thing to mark the jubilee of the association by increasing the peal to twelve. The Parochial Church Council and the Advisory Committee of the diocese had approved, Mr. Lewis had given a favourable report, and Mr. Alexander Young had inspected the tower and said it was strong enough to carry the extra weight. All that was wanted was to find the money. The restoration of the present eight was, of course, a charge which would be undertaken by the Cathedral authorities. For the extra four bells a sum of £383 was wanted. There were some of St. Albans' merchant princes present. He hoped that they would ing were the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, Messrs. W. H. Buckingham, Maurice Hibbert, A. A. Hughes, Jas. Parker, L. Goodenough, F. W. Elliott, G. W. Debenham, G. Kilby, A. W. Coles and others. Mr. J. A. Trollope represented 'The Ringing World.'

St. Albans Abbey, the peal of which is to be augmented to 12 bells.

A most generous programme, musical and oratorical, had been provided, and what with encores and the clerical speakers taking their usual generous allowance, not much more than half the items had been reached before the guests had to leave to catch trains. There was, however, no cause for complaint, for the standard both of the speeches and the music was high. Mrs. A. A. Hughes' tunes on the handbells and the course of London Surprise already mentioned were perhaps the most appreciated.

After the toast of 'The King,' the President proposed 'The Church and State.' He pointed out that the bells are the property of the Church, and the ringers are the officers of the Church, and it was meet and right that they should ring on Sundays to mark that it was not an ordinary day. On the 29th the bells would be ringing for the wedding of the Duke of Kent, and on May 6th for the silver jubilee of King George.

THE FREEDOM OF THE CHURCH.

The Bishop of St. Albans, responding, said he was very grateful for the honour done him in allowing him to be present on so great an occasion. When he was a boy he began to learn to ring a bell, but he did not persevere, otherwise he might know the difference between an original and a royal triplet, or between a Cambridge Surprise and a Cambridge sausage. The nearest he had got was to find out that a Cambridge sausage was sometimes a Cambridge Surprise. He congratulated the association on including the old toast of 'Church and State.' The Church came first; and it must be free. At the Synod of Hertford held under Archbishop Theodore, which they had lately commemorated, there was only one Church, but there was give liberally, and he hoped for small amounts from every part of the diocese. His ambition was to have the 12 bells rung for the first time on the silver jubilee of the King next May. It would take a bit of doing, but he was going to try.

ASSISTANCE OF COLLEGE YOUTHS IN EARLY DAYS.

The President said that a peal of twelve at the Abbey had always been a dream of his, and now it was going to be realised. The Bishop had just promised £25 towards the fund. He went on to express his deep sense of gratitude for all those who had helped him during the past 50 years. First of all was Mr. Cartmel, who for 43 years had held office and given invaluable service. It was nearly 60 years since he first began to ring, and he was not finished yet. He called to mind the old College Youths who used to come down and assist them, and with whom they used to ring handbells—Bob Haworth, Matt Wood, James Pettitt and, above all, his dear friend Challis Winney, who was present that day. He remembered once that the College Youths started for Holt's Original at the Abbey. They rang past the first single and then lost the peal!

Mr. W. Ayre proposed 'The Central Council of Church Bellringers.' Mr. Lewis, in reply, said that his position enabled him to give to them the congratulations of all the other societies in the land. He called to mind that the previous representatives of the Hertford Association had been that fine old ringer, Squire Proctor, their present president, Herbert Baker, and Bertram Prewett. They were now entitled to four members, and he asked them to send men who could give constructive help in debate. There was a lot of work to be done. The Council must watch the anti-noise campaign very closely. They ought to form themselves into an anti-noise commission. For while well-struck bells were very fine music, badly-struck bells were definitely a noise, to which people could legitimately object.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS OF PAST CENTURIES.

SOME INTERESTING PERSONALITIES.

CAVALIERS, LAWYERS ACTORS AND MUSICIANS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Who and what were the men who first invented and developed our art? For the most part they belonged, as ringers generally have belonged, to the lower orders. They were artisans and farm labourers and small tradesmen, with a sprinkling of farmers and members of the lesser professions. But there was always in the Exercise a tradition of a time when ringing was a fashionable sport, when you might find gentlemen at the rope's end in the belfry; yes, and even knights and real lords.

There was some foundation for this tradition in the early seventeenth century. We come across indications that there were two sorts of ringers—'gentlemen' and 'others'—who moved on separate planes, and if they mixed as ringers, which was seldom, never mixed socially. The gentlemen enjoyed privileges at the hands of the churchwardens for 'peals of pleasure,' which were denied to the commoner sort, but the others did the paid ringing, which at least in the towns was not inconsiderable. No doubt the gentlemen supplied most of the brains, and to them we owe early method ringing—Plain Bob and Treble Bob, and certainly Grandsire. I imagine, too, that those early societies of which we get occasional glimpses were composed entirely of the better-class ringers—such societies as the Scholars of Cheapside, the Loyal Youths of Litchfield, the Esquire Youths, and the rest—and that ordinary ringers had about as much chance of being included in them as a modern race-going man has of being elected to the Jockey Club, or you and I have of being elected to the Athenæum.

Then, in course of years, as the century waned, this was all gradually altered. Soon after 1700 ringing had practically ceased to be one of the recognised sports at the Universities. Most of the old societies lapsed, the others changed their character, and in the eighteenth century, though here and there a few gentlemen were ringers, they were exceptions and were looked upon as rather eccentric persons. Of the old state of affairs the Society of College Youths is the only relic that remains, and its history socially is the story of the changes that took place in the Exercise. It started at a very high level, so high that it could not be maintained, and gradually it got lower and lower until, in two hundred years, it had gone from the top to the bottom. From the King's Court at Whitehall to a low pot-house in the purlieus of Southwark—that is the measure of the social decline of the society during two centuries. I do not doubt that the later College Youths were just as worthy men as their predecessors, as they certainly were better ringers; but that is another thing.

Founded by a nobleman, the son-in-law of one of the most influential courtiers of Charles I., and composed of young country gentlemen who were up in town to play their part or seek their fortune in the royal circle or the Law Courts, for the first five years of its existence the society lived almost in the shadow of the King's palace. But times were changing—1637 is a year notable for more things than the founding of the Society of College Youths. It was the year when events first came to a head which were to change the whole character of England, and therefore of the modern world. It was the first year of the revolutionary epoch. Five years later the Civil War began. The Royal Court left Whitehall for many years, and henceforth the College Youths found their centre in the Inns of Court among the lawyers.

PROSPERITY IN THE COMMONWEALTH

During the war and the Commonwealth that followed, the society prospered exceedingly. I do not imagine that its members were ever strong supporters of Cromwell, and when the Restoration came they were glad enough, as many as could, to push their claims for advancement in Charles II.'s service; but while the republicans were in power the College Youths, like sensible men, accepted things as they were, and made the best of both worlds.

One thing is certain; they were not Puritans. They could hardly have been that in any case, since their founder was the son-in-law of George Goring, who was the typical, hard-drinking, hard-swearing, roistering Cavalier, and though there is no evidence that Lord Breton himself was that sort of man, he certainly was under the influence of his father-in-law. When the Restoration of Charles II. came in 1660, the College Youths, like all the other lawyers, welcomed the change and quickly took advantage of the altered political and especially of the altered social conditions. By this time the doors of the society had been widened, and they were no longer quite so exclusive as they had been. They by no means admitted just anybody. Common ringers were as far outside as they ever had been. The new recruit belonged to what we should now call West End Bohemian society, writers, members of the Civil Service, and actors, with lawyers still the majority. If we may judge the bulk from the samples we know of, they were a jovial, dissolute, drunken lot, though that is only part of the tale. There were many clever hard-headed men among them, men who could sit up half the night over the bottle, and turn up next day at Westminster Hall or at their offices and play their part worthily. Some of them were magistrates, and there were still country gentlemen among them. I may, perhaps, one day be able to give a more detailed sketch of some of these men, show how very wide of the mark is almost everything which is usually written about the early days of this society.

One interesting fact is the presence among them of a distinct theatrical element which lasted for many years, because, knowing what sort of men the actors were in those days, it helps us to judge the characters of the others. The earliest actor, who was a College Youth, was Cave Underhill. He was the leading low comedian of the time and a prominent member of the company at Drury Lane and Covent Garden. By birth and education he was very different from the original College Youths, and no doubt owed his election to his jolly, companionable, sociable nature. He 'divided his gay hours between Bacchus and Venus with no little ardour,' and paid the penalty, for he was so afflicted with gout that 'he prayed one moment and cursed the next.' He lived at Salisbury Court under the shadow of St. Bride's Church in Fleet Street, where there was (and still is) a tavern called the Barley Mow. It was a noted place for holding clubs; in later years we know definitely that it was the headquarters of the College Youths, and it is reasonable to suppose that as early as the last quarter of the seventeenth century this was the place where the society usually held its meetings.

A LINK WITH SHAKESPEARE?

Two other actor College Youths were sufficiently prominent in their profession to be included in the 'Dictionary of National Biography,' and later on in the next century John Rich, who is well known as the man who first produced Gay's 'Beggar's Opera,' was a member of the society and held office. But the most interesting link between the theatre and the society is supplied by John Hardham and John Cundell, neither of whom was actually an actor, though both were intimately connected with the stage. Both of these men, and especially Cundell, were keen, capable ringers. Hardham was a remarkable man and deserves an article all to himself; Cundell's ringing career is part of the story of the great Benjamin Annable, of whom he was a life-long rival. I have only space here and now to mention a theory I have formed which, if true, shows a link (though a slight one) between William Shakespeare and the Society of College Youths.

One of Shakespeare's friends and fellow-actors was a man named Henry Condell. He, Burbage, Shakespeare and Heming were among the Lord Chamberlain's men at the end of Queen Elizabeth's reign, and the great poet in his will left legacies 'to my fellows John Hemynges, Richard Burbage, and Henry Condell to buy them rhynges.' In 1623 Condell and Heming put the whole of humanity in their debt by collecting Shakespeare's plays and publishing the first folio. Condell, who was a prosperous actor and lived in his own house, retired from the stage in 1623 and died in 1627. He was a married man and had begotten sons and daughters, some of whom survived him.

The man who founded Drury Lane Theatre was a bookseller called Rhodes, and H. Rhodes (probably not the same, but a son) published 'The School of Recreation,' which has a chapter on ringing. A copy of one of the editions of this now in the British Museum belonged to a William Cundell, of whom I know nothing. A generation or two later we have John Cundell, the College Youth, who, in his later years, had charge of the box office at Covent Garden. Further on still there was a Henry Condell. He was not an actor, but a musician, a violinist and composer, whose whole life was spent in the service of Covent Garden, Drury Lane, and the King's Theatre. He could very well have been John Cundell's son or grandson. John Cundell and Shakespeare's Condell both spell their name both ways—a not unusual thing in early days. Now, seeing that the name (Cundell, though not exactly rare, is not a very common one, and remembering how the tradition of a trade or a profession lasted in families in old time, I think it a reasonable supposition that all these Cundells were in the same lineal descent, and that in John Cundell the College Youths have a link with William Shakespeare. The connection of the society with another supreme poet was much closer, for both John Milton's brother and son-in-law were College Youths.

UNIQUE MEMORIAL TO NOTED BELLFOUNDER.

TWO EARLY 18th CENTURY BRACKETS.

BIG GATHERING OF RINGERS AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

A unique memorial consisting of two wrought-iron brackets of early 18th century work, from which are hung copper bronzed lamps, were dedicated in Loughborough Parish Church on October 13th to the memory of the late John William Taylor, sen. They were the gift of his son, Mr. E. Denison Taylor. Over 100 ringers from a wide area attended the service, and among those present were Mr. E. Denison Taylor, the Rev. W. Scott (curate), Mr. Eric Jordan (borough carillonneur), and ringers from Loughborough, Melton, Burton, Derby, Nottingham, Leicester and other towers.

During the service an address was given by Canon Briggs, who explained that the customary service in June had been postponed owing to the decision to wait for the brackets to be installed. The tower was one of the most beautiful parts of the church, and was a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mr. J. W. Taylor and his forefathers. Canon Briggs then dedicated the lamps and brackets, and the service concluded with the singing of the hymn, 'Sing all the people gathered,' and the Benediction.

Further ringing took place on the Parish Church bells until tea, which was served in the Fearon Hall. The thanks of the assembly were voiced by Canon Briggs to Mr. Denison Taylor for his hospitality.

WORK OF MASTER CRAFTSMAN.

Explaining the genesis of the gift, Mr. Taylor said that when the Canon first came across these two extremely graceful pieces of iron-work, with his critical and appreciative eye for anything truly artistic and worth while, he saw at once that they had been forged by a master craftsman. When Canon Briggs suggested putting them in the 'Ringers' Corner' as a memorial to Mr. J. W. Taylor, he was struck at once with the idea, as, above all things, his father delighted in a bit of clever smithwork, and at one time ran a smithy in addition to the Bell Foundry. The beauty of the brackets had been enhanced and embellished under the expert guidance of Mr. Albert Herbert, of Leicester, the well-known architect, whom he was so pleased to see with them that afternoon.

In conclusion, Mr. Taylor expressed regret at the impending departure of Canon Briggs, and wished him health and strength to carry out his work in the shadow of that ancient cathedral.—Canon Briggs assured the assembly that he would do his best to be present at the service next year.

A hearty vote of thanks was recorded the ladies who had prepared tea, and Mr. W. Manning (Vicar's warden) also expressed the indebtedness of the company to Mr. Denison Taylor for his hospitality. 'I am proud of the Loughborough ringers in their service to the Church,' he added, 'and I hope they will always ring on.' A tribute to Mr. Denison Taylor's work was also paid by Mr. W. W. Lax (people's warden).

A plain course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by Messrs. Ernest Morris, Colin Harrison, J. Paget, Jim Fenton and Redvers Elkington.

The ringers afterwards adjourned to the belfries of the Parish Church and the Bell Foundry. Admiration was expressed at these two fine peals, the very 'tricky' ring at the Bell Foundry having special appeal, as these are the lightest ring of ten bells in the world. Many well-known ringers were present including Ernest Morris and Frederick Dexter. All methods, from Cambridge Surprise and Kent Treble Bob Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, to Plain Bob Minor were rung, continuing at the Foundry until 9 p.m. An interesting feature of the evening was an inspection of the Bell Foundry, conducted by Mr. C. Harrison. Great interest was evidenced in the peals of bells that had been cast and retuned.

NEW ALTAR AT BENHILTON, SURREY.

A beautiful new altar has been fitted at All Saints' Church, Benhilton, to replace the original one, which has been presented to West Wickham. The new altar was dedicated by the Bishop of Woolwich on All Saints' Eve. To commemorate the dedication a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung for the service by the following members of the local band: Sid Rayner 1, E. Enticknap 2, F. Randall 3, G. Rayner 4, G. Reed 5, H. Smerdon 6, W. C. Smith 7, R. Foreman 8. This is the first quarter-peal by the treble ringer, who is thirteen years of age, and son of the ringer of the 4th. The same band (except that H. E. Good stood in place of H. Smerdon) rang a quarter-peal for service the following evening.

LOSS TO KINGSTON SEYMOUR, BRISTOL.

The death of the Rev. Major Revel R. Green, of Kingston Seymour, near Bristol, is deeply regretted by his parishioners and many friends. He had ministered in the parish for 30 years, and to commemorate his 25 years as curate-in-charge the ringers and friends added the treble bell to the peal. On October 29th the local ringers met to attempt a peal with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect, but owing to a late start it was decided to ring a touch exceeding a quarter-peal; 1,800 Grandsire Double (10 callings) were brought round in 75 minutes by: E. S. O. Baker 1, *Mrs. E. R. Norton 2, E. R. Norton 3, H. A. Price (conductor) 4, *A. E. Harris 5, H. W. Price 6. * Longest touch yet rung.

REMINISCENCES OF BYGONE RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In common with many other readers of 'The Ringing World' I am very interested in the correspondence now appearing on the question of temperance or otherwise amongst ringers in days long gone by, and, speaking generally from an experience extending well over 56 years, I am of opinion that their misdeeds in those far-off times may be somewhat exaggerated.

Over half a century ago I used to visit the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe in his delightful residence at Clyst St. George, Devon, and he distinctly told me that in his first book, 'Book on Ringing,' he strongly denounced ringers as disorderly persons, but that when he became a ringer himself and mixed more freely with them he flatly contradicted his former statements! He also made this remark to many of my old College Youth friends, with whom he became acquainted!

In my early ringing career, over 50 years ago, I paid several visits to Tewkesbury and became very friendly with the then leader, Mr. Josiah Watthen, who kindly arranged for me to call one of the first peals by the newly-formed 'Gloucester and Bristol Association,' and which was successful at the first attempt in December, 1884.

I can state with the greatest confidence that Mr. Jos. Watthen was a perfect model of what a man should be, in the position he held there for so many years. He was indefatigable in his earnest work of teaching young ringers, for he was a skilled conductor and also a composer, and a great deal of 'spade work' fell to his share. He was a quiet, inoffensive man, always ready to do a 'good turn' for anyone, and on some occasions I have stayed at the waterworks, where he was the resident engineer in charge. He it was who taught the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies to ring, and actually called his first peal, also at the Abbey. Mr. Davies' father was formerly Rector there, and I wish Mr. Davies had lived long enough to have spoken more openly on this matter.

During these visits I became acquainted with all the ringers in the neighbourhood, and can assure your readers that they were one of the most respectable and trustworthy set of fellows anyone could wish to meet, not only as regards temperance, but most respectful and obliging to all visitors, and also mindful of the real reasons why bells are rung at all.

It is true that after ringing we used to adjourn to the Hop Pole Hotel, one of the most delightful, comfortable and well-conducted of the old country inn class, for there was nowhere else to go, but anything bordering on excess in any way was quite foreign to their nature. Therefore I can quite understand the letter from Mr. Wm. E. Watthen, whom I now remember as a very small boy. He was little Willie then, and used to tap tunes on his father's handbells.

Now, having visited over 1,000 bellfries in the United Kingdom and met the best and worst, I am of opinion they were not all so bad as painted. True, I have been warned on a few occasions that such and such a band 'was a wet lot,' and once the leader of a call change party was very careful to point out to me 'the house they used'!

I have no doubt there have been excesses in olden times, such as Mr. Trollope mentions, but I honestly believe them to have been in the minority.

BELLS AND ANTI-NOISE.

He hoped when the new bells were put in the Abbey tower the old ones would be tuned, because, although they are at present a very good peal, the new bells would show up their defects. He also hoped that the addition of four bells would not lower the standard of ringing. It did often happen that a really good eight bell band was changed into a poor or indifferent twelve-bell band. They should ring such methods as Duffield, Forward, or Little Bob on twelve bells, not Cambridge Maximus, the music of which the public did not appreciate.

Mr. Cartmel proposed 'The Kindred Societies,' and contrasted the state of bells and bellfries 50 years ago and their present state. Then they were filthy places, hardly fit to go into. It was due to the work and influence of the kindred societies.

Mr. Alexander Young, the Master of the College Youths, assured the Hertford Association that his society wished them every success. In three years' time the College Youths would celebrate their tercentenary, and he hoped that Hertford men would come and take a part in it.

Mr. C. T. Coles pointed out how much the Middlesex Association owed to Hertford men. It was actually founded at Barnet, which is in Hertfordshire. Mr. A. T. King, their first secretary and afterwards their president, lived in Hertfordshire. So did Mr. Milne, also their president, and now the Ringing Master had followed their example. The Middlesex and Hertford Associations always worked together in the greatest harmony.

Other speeches followed.

MARLBOROUGH BRANCH AT EVERLEIGH.

Much useful practice in the more simple Doubles methods was obtained by the members of the Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at the monthly meeting of the Branch held at Everleigh on November 3rd. Members were present from Aldbourne, Ogbourne St. George, Pewsey, Collingbourne Kingston, Marlborough and Everleigh, while a welcome visitor was Mr. W. B. Kynaston, secretary of the Swindon Branch of the Bristol and Gloucester Association.

The Rector, the Rev. J. S. Macnutt, conducted the Guild service and afterwards entertained the ringers to tea at the Rectory. He was thanked on the proposition of the secretary (Mr. A. Taylor). Handbells were rung at the Rectory, and a return was then made to the tower. After leaving Everleigh several of the company visited Collingbourne Ducis, where members of the local band were persuaded to keep their eyes from the boards they were accustomed to ring by, and with the help of the visitors were steered through their first touch of Grandsire Doubles.

SHORTAGE OF RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On going through my 'Express' paper last Sunday I came across the following paragraph:—

'A shortage of bellringers has resulted in the 900-year-old bells of Southwark Cathedral, London, being fixed with chiming apparatus. It was not possible to ring the bells at a number of weddings recently.'

I understand that at the Parish Church, Cheshunt, Hertfordshire, where there is a ring of eight, and at one time a good band to ring them, the Vicar and the majority of the local band prefer the chiming apparatus for weddings in preference to ringing. I noticed in 'Belfry Gossip' a few weeks back that the Vicar had closed the tower owing to a disagreement between himself and the ringers. This caused some of the band to resign, as they would not agree to use the chiming apparatus.

I gather the tower is now open again, and the so-called ringers have gone back to Doubles and call changes. I also understand they are members of the Hertfordshire Association of Change Ringers. I think, sir, all towers where the band prefers the chiming apparatus to change ringing they should be barred from joining any association of change ringers.

HONOUR WHERE HONOUR IS DUE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I—the son of a change ringer and the grandson of a bell-ringer of the old school—be allowed to support the indignant protest of Mr. Wathen, also to add I agree with Mr. Paddon-Smith and Mr. G. Williams that no good can possibly come of reiterating these isolated condemnations of old-time ringers. It is the easiest thing in the world to decry a man's faults and bad habits, and to so dwell on them that his good qualities and abilities are lost sight of. Throw enough mud and some is bound to stick!

It is disgusting to hear so often clergy (from Bishops down to curates) telling us what good lads we are to-day as compared with the ringers of years ago. They delight to pick out from old church-warden's accounts the references to so much 'ale' or 'beero' given to ringers on some festive or other occasions, and most conveniently leave out the fact that everyone received a like payment 'in kind.' I would ask Mr. Trollope and others interested to turn to page 572 in my 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' where I give just a few of these extracts, also to a recent issue of 'Apollo,' where, in an article on ringers' jugs, pitchers, etc., I try to show that ringers, as a whole, were not so black as sometimes painted.

When the recent Oxford Movement centenary was celebrated, I sat under several clergy who very forcibly told us what a bad lot their forerunners were, neglecting services, church and parishioners alike, and generally behaving themselves in anything but a Christian-like manner as befitted their calling. But we to-day (oh, yes), we are so different! It is a fact that a certain parson in a Dorset village kept a barrel of cider in the vestry, and that during Queen Victoria's reign a bottle of sherry used to be provided in the vestry of the Chapel Royal for distinguished preachers' refreshment. Many such cases could be quoted. And these clergy to-day complacently tell us the ringers were a bad lot! They do not mention the famous church ales, and the fact that many of the public-houses which the ringers supported by their custom were owned by the Church. (Belgrave St. Peter's owned the Talbot till quite recently.)

The old-time ringers must be revered for keeping the art going under difficult circumstances, and those who rang long peals on bells in conditions vastly inferior from those prevailing to-day must be praised for their sheer dogged perseverance, and, to use a very old English phrase (often used by our dexterous Leicester sergeant-major), 'they did have guts,' which I am afraid a great many ringers of to-day have not!

In those early days such beverages as tea, coffee, cocoa, etc., were unknown, and within living memory things which only rich folk could afford. Home-brewed ale, cider, and the like, were the common beverages, and children were brought up on them! Mr. E. Denison Taylor tells us that as a boy of nine or ten years of age he went to a boarding school, and every day the boys had a mug of ale to their meals!

The improvements in bells and belfries of recent times are not due to either the ringers or clergy individually, but to a general amalgamation of each and better understanding prevailing all round.

Mr. Trollope very conveniently adds after his reiterations the paragraph, 'There are worse things than drunkenness,' and that, I presume, will be the line on which he will wriggle free from his adverse critics.

ERNEST MORRIS.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AT ACTON.

REFERENCE TO ANCIENT PEAL BOARDS.

The November meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association was held at Acton on November 3rd. As usual, a happy gathering resulted, about 30 ringers and friends being present. During the afternoon various methods were practised; the beginners had plenty of rounds, while several courses of various Surprise Major methods were rung. Tea, provided by the churchwardens, was served in St. Mary's Hall.

At the business meeting Mr. F. G. Cole (unattached) and Mr. G. Nicholls (St. John's, Hillingdon) were elected ringing members. St. Stephen's, Ealing, was selected for the place of the next meeting, provisionally arranged for December 8th. The hon. secretary gave notice of the third annual supper, which was to be held on January 12th at Heston. The annual district meeting would take place at Hillingdon on February 2nd. Members were requested to support all of these events.

A final report on the condition of Hayes (Middlesex) bells was presented. The six bells are not in a fit condition for ringing. A restoration would have to include the recasting of two bells, a new frame and foundations, besides extensive repairs to the tower. From conversations with the Rector, little hope exists of launching a restoration scheme for the present. Mr. W. H. Coles was heartily thanked for his activities in this connection.

Mr. Coles also referred to an article which appeared recently in 'The Ringing World,' dealing with the conditions and restoration of ancient peal boards. He stressed the importance of maintaining these relics of the past in good condition. He thought that where action appeared desirable the Church Council should be approached in the first instance. Messrs. Hillier and Chandler also contributed to the discussion, and the debate was adjourned until the next meeting. Thanks were accorded to all who had contributed towards the success of the meeting.

DEVIZES BRANCH WELCOMED AT HOLT.

With a practical ringer in the Vicar (the Rev. C. F. H. Brewis) to welcome them, the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild spent a most enjoyable time at Holt on November 3rd. After the Guild service, conducted by the Vicar, tea was served in the school-room arranged by local ringers, with the assistance of their ladies. Mr. E. F. White (vice-chairman) presided at the business meeting, and a letter was read from the branch chairman, Mr. C. D. Eeginbotham, thanking all for their kind inquiries and condolences. The secretary was asked to convey the meeting's best wishes and their sincere sympathy to him on such a painful and prolonged illness. To the appropriate votes of thanks the Vicar replied. The members then returned to the tower, where methods up to London were rung on this excellent ring of six.

SUPPORT FOR FIVE-BELL TOWER.

A well-attended meeting of the Towcester Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Cosgrove, Northants (five bells), on November 3rd. The visitors included the Rev. E. S. and Mrs. Powell, of Staverton, Mr. F. Wilford, Guild Master, and ringing friends from North Bucks, one of them playing the organ at the service, at which the Rev. E. S. Powell preached. Tea was provided at the Barley Mow Inn, following which the Master voiced the thanks of the company to the Rector and all who helped to make the meeting such a success. In the evening parties visited Stony Stratford for eight-bell ringing.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

In his speech at the Hertford County Association jubilee and again at the College Youths' dinner the President of the Central Council stressed the importance of good striking. While, he said, well struck bells are very fine music, badly struck bells are definitely a noise to which outside people can legitimately object. To this every ringer will assent, but the difficulty is that, though we all agree that striking in general needs improving, we are slow to apply the lesson to ourselves. We know that other people's striking can be bettered, but usually we are quite content with our own. For this there are several very natural reasons. Some people do not possess a really sensitive ear or sense of rhythm. To some the interest of method ringing is so great that it dwarfs all other interests; they would much rather ring indifferently struck Surprise than first class Treble Bob, when the poor striking is the price that must be paid for practising a new or difficult method. Some people have never heard really good striking and do not realise what its charm is. And others, who in happier circumstances would have been good strikers, have to do all their ringing with beginners and indifferent bands and gradually get to tolerate a low standard.

Change ringing has progressed enormously during the last thirty or forty years, there are many more change ringers, there are many more methods and much more difficult methods practised than formerly, but it is doubtful, generally speaking, whether the standard of striking is not rather lower than it used to be. The Grandsire and Stedman that used to be rung in London and the Treble Bob that used to be rung in the Eastern Counties and in Yorkshire were struck better than the average Surprise methods of to-day; while the less advanced bands then were content with stoney, which, of course, can be struck fairly well by any reasonably intelligent band. On the other hand, it is true that there are parts of England where there never was a tradition of good striking, and there the standard is generally higher than it was. What people do not realise is the enormous difference between striking which is good and that which is really good. So long as the bells are rung fairly evenly without any actual clashes, that is all that they expect or hope for. But first class striking is very much more than that. It has character. It is not like clockwork, for the good striker does not strike his bell equally over all the other bells. Consciously or unconsciously he will be just a shade wider over a heavy tenor than over a small bell, and in Major he will make the last blow at backstroke distinct.

Two things to-day rather militate against the best of striking. One is the modern tuned bells, for with them the finer points of striking are not so apparent as with the old peals with their staccato notes. The other is the Surprise methods, for whatever their good qualities may be, they do not give the regular beat of the bells which you get in Treble Bob. No one should ever be satisfied with his own striking. The best is always capable of improvement and the best is rare indeed. And at practices and meetings we should try and set a higher standard. It is a good thing to devote much time to encouraging beginners, but if you always have some novice in a touch you will never have really good ringing. For the sake of example and for the sake of the outside public a fair proportion of ringing should be done entirely by experienced men, and especially should this be so when visits are paid to towers in populous districts where there is normally not much ringing. The public do, as a whole, like to hear the bells, but if you are going to devote a whole Saturday afternoon and evening to giving beginners an opportunity, the result may easily be torture to people near the church. And especially when a new ring of bells is opened or an old one restored nothing but the very best should be good enough.

YARNTON BELLS REHUNG.

OXFORDSHIRE PEAL NOW IN ORDER.

About two years ago the late Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) inspected the tower at Yarnnton (Oxon) and urged the secretary of the Witney and Woodstock Branch (Mr. W. Evetts, jun.) to press for the necessary repairs. Thanks to the untiring efforts of the Vicar (the Rev. E. N. Aston) this has been completed. There was a large congregation, including ringers from Eynsham, Woodstock and Cassington, present at the dedication service on November 9th. The service was conducted by the Vicar, and the dedication performed by Bishop Shaw, of Oxford, who gave an instructive address on bells and bellringing.

Formerly these bells, which are heavy (tenor 27½ cwt.) went very badly, headstocks and bearings having become rotten and worn through weather and age. For some unaccountable reason the bell ropes in the tower were never in a circle, the treble and second ropes fell in the centre of the tower, the fourth rope fell between the 5th and tenor, the latter bell not being in the centre of the tower but in one corner. With the movement of the two bells from their respective pits an excellent circle has now been obtained, but it is left-handed. All bells are on roller bearings, and the 'go' of them is all that can be desired. The work has been admirably carried out by Mr. R. White, of Applton, to whom great credit is due.

After the service a social gathering was held in the school, where songs and recitations were carried on till late in the evening.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Nolan Golden, of the Norwich Diocesan Association, has rung in 50 peals this year.

Will correspondents kindly note that news items and peals should be sent to 'The Ringing World,' c/o Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Onslow Street, Guildford.

Mr. Roger W. Daniels, who participated in a peal of Bob Major at Bloxwich, Staffordshire, on November 8th, has been elected a life member of the Archdeaconry of Stafford Society.

Mr. Malcolm Melville, of The Cottage, Anstey, Coventry, is anxious to collect information about young ringers and their individual performances, and also performances of young bands.

The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major on November 10th, at Sutton-on-Trent, was the first peal in this method for the North Notts Association. Mr. G. Lewis, who conducted, was proposed a member previous to starting.

It is believed that the peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal rung at Rotherham on October 30th was the first in Yorkshire to be rung by an entirely local band, every member being a regular Sunday service ringer at Rotherham Parish Church.

Mr. James C. Cooke, who participated in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Erith, on Saturday, rang his last peal over 30 years ago. He was elected a member of the association previous to starting for the peal.

On November 7th Norman Beesley, aged 11, rang the tenor at Exhall, near Coventry, for 1 hour and 45 minutes in an attempt for a peal of Doubles when the rope of the treble slipped wheel and put an end to the peal.

Mr. Wm. H. Judd, who rang his first peal with the College Youths at St. Clement Danes 50 years ago, on Saturday celebrated the golden anniversary in a right royal fashion. He conducted a peal at Rayleigh, Essex.

Mr. W. Latter, until recently secretary of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association, has undergone an operation, which is stated to be satisfactory. He is cheerful, and thanks all friends for kind inquiries and sympathy.

In regard to the peal rung at Morecambe on November 3rd, and published in our last issue, the peal was Oxford Treble Bob, consisting of the following methods: One 720 each of Woodbine, Treble Bob, Double Bob and Flain Bob, and two 720's each of Kent Treble Bob and Oxford Treble Bob.

Although known to his intimate friends as 'Joe,' the name of the ringer of the sixth in the peal of Cambridge Major at Broxbourne on November 3rd should have been Harry Miller and not Joseph C. Miller, as published, and the name of the ringer of the tenor should have been John G. Nash and not John G. Mash as stated.

Three generations of the same family rang 720 Bob Major at the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, Staveley, Derbyshire, on October 28th. They were Dennis Parsons (aged 14) treble, F. E. Parsons 4, and A. E. Parsons (conductor) 6. Is this a first occasion in the Exercise? Other ringers participating were W. T. Palmer 2, L. G. Palmer 3, H. Stow 5, and J. Knott tenor.

The peal rung at Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, and recorded in our peal columns, had several interesting features. It was rung as a birthday compliment to one of the members of the tower and commemorated 25 years' service together by three of the members at the tower. The ringer of the treble rang his first peal in seven Minor methods on these bells over 21 years ago. The ringer of the fourth, Mr. R. A. Munn, rang his first peal there 43 years ago, which was also conducted by Mr. J. H. Cheesman, the conductor of the present peal. Mr. Munn retired from ringing upon entering business 36 years ago, and this was his first attempt for a peal after his long absence from the belfry. We hope to hear more of him now.

TERCENTENARY INVITE TO COLLEGE YOUTHS.

CANON COLERIDGE'S ANNIVERSARY.

Five Ringers who Rang 50 years Ago Still Alive.

CORNISH ROUND RINGERS ASKED TO TOUR.

Time-honoured ritual is invariably associated with functions of the Ancient Society of College Youths. The impressive entry of the Master, Mr. E. Alexander Young, to the 297th anniversary dinner at the London Tavern on Saturday to the accompaniment of Dean Aldrich's round, 'Hark, the bonny Christ Church bells,' sung by the choristers of St. Clement Danes, will be remembered by all who for the first time witnessed the scene. Then came the ceremonial lighting of the candles in candlesticks which were in the Duke of Wellington's tent on the eve of Waterloo. Whenever the Master is present these two candles burn brightly in front of him.

The College Youths' dinner is a great reunion of ringers. From Yorkshire and Lancashire, the West Country and the Midlands, leaders of the Exercise foregather in London. Visitors of honour included the Ven. Archdeacon Sharpe, the Rev. Preb. Ellison, the Rev. E. C. Bedford, the Rev. R. French, the Rev. Canon Douglas, who conducted the annual service at St. Michael's, College Hill, and the Rev. J. Fynes-Clinton, who gave the address.

Noted ringers present included that doyen of English ringers, Canon G. F. Coleridge, who was celebrating his 77th birthday, and had to acknowledge countless good wishes, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Major F. A. Yorke, Messrs. E. H. Lewis, J. A. Trollope, G. Strickland, E. P. Duffield (senior steward), W. Nevard, C. Winney, C. Roberts (junior steward), F. Rogers, O. Sippatts, C. Kippen, T. Fowler, J. Thomas, J. Hawkins, C. Choct, W. Hooton, W. T. Cockerill (the veteran secretary), F. Mitchell (vice-chairman), A. Hughes, W. D. Smith, J. T. Dyke, W. E. Judd, A. Pulling, T. Groombridge, A. P. Smith, F. Smallwood, P. Clark, G. N. Price, H. R. Newton, C. Horton, Macdonald, H. R. Pasmore, P. C. Williams, E. Guise, S. Riches, H. Knight, J. C. Mitchell, F. E. Dawe and H. Langdon.

After the toast of 'The King' had been honoured on the call of the Master, Mr. Alexander Young submitted the toast of 'The Church.' Since earliest days, he said, scientists and psychologists told them that man had always turned towards his equivalent of a church. Their Church to-day was part of their ingrained character. The Church formed the background of their lives—it was with them at birth and marriage, and their comfort at death. They were proud to be associated with the Church of England. There were many Christian churches in their land, and to them they held out the hand of brotherhood, but to the Church of England they were her sons, and they were always happy with the music of the bells (applause).

THE ARCHDEACON'S PUN.

The Archdeacon of London, who responded, delighted the assembly with a delicious pun. 'We work together in that great Church—the Church of England,' he said. 'You, my friends, ring the bell in the tower; we put the ring on the bells inside the church.' Archdeacon Sharpe said his connection with bells dated from his undergraduate days. He went to call on a friend, who was out. He looked around his room, which was full of numbers and hieroglyphics. Later he found that he was an enthusiastic bellringer. He was the Rev. Henry Law James (applause). When he was ordained he had the good fortune to serve in a beautiful church with a lovely peal of bells—the Abbey Church of Bath. He did not know whether any friends present remembered Brother Wake who used to live in Orange Grove. Now he had the good fortune to belong to the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, and he supposed there were no bells in England like the bells of St. Paul.

'When I come in contact with bellringers,' added the Archdeacon, 'I come in contact with wonderful enthusiasm, and that is the great thing needed in work for our Church. It is not merely the ringing of bells; it is that behind it. Those bells are ringing messages to countless people. We are glad of this opportunity in the name of the Church in thanking you for what you do.' I see that this is the 297th anniversary dinner. That means that in three years' time you will keep your 300th anniversary. I hope you will keep your 300th anniversary at St. Paul's Cathedral. Will you allow us the privilege of welcoming you to St. Paul's Cathedral for a united anniversary service? (applause).

The toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths' was submitted in his inimitable style by the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, who received a most enthusiastic welcome. In thanking the Archdeacon for his invitation, Canon Coleridge suggested that Mr. Cockerill should book the Archdeacon to preach. 'I know he is a busy man,' said Canon Coleridge with a twinkle in his eye, 'but he cannot plead a previous engagement' (laughter).

In reminiscent vein, Canon Coleridge said he had had a letter concerning their oldest member—Tom Benney—who was 83, and joined the society in 1873. He did not go back as long as that, and he found that in 1871 the Rev. Arthur de B. Hill became a member. He was alive and well, and wrote to him recently with reference to a scheme for bells at Northchurch (Herts). He wrote and encouraged him in his project. In the year 1873 beside Tom Benney there was John Martin Routh, who lives at Tilehurst, and then in 1874 they had Ald. Pritchett. He (Canon Coleridge) was a junior of 55 years' standing.

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.

Canon Coleridge said he received a letter about Tom Benney the other day giving the following ages of the family of 11 to which he belonged. His father died young through an accident at 65; his mother was 85. He had six sisters, of the following ages: 88, 83, 90, 79, 53 and 83; and also four brothers: 86, 90, 74 and 86. Tom at the present time was 83. The total number of years of that one family was 1,046. 'I think it is a wonderful record of good old English stock,' added the Canon amid the applause of the company.

Fifty years ago that day he rang a peal at St. Clement Danes, and he had given to him the following copy of the peal:—

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

BIRTHDAY PEAL.

from Hertford, W. H. Judd from Sittingbourne, Kent, and the Rev. G. F. Coleridge (Caversham), whose birthday the above peal celebrates.

Of those ringers there were alive Messrs. Rowbotham, Dawe, Winney, Smith and Judd, besides himself. When the peal was over, Mr. Dawe sat down and wrote down a series of figures and took them to Mr. Robinson. He said, 'Is this the peal?' Mr. Robinson confirmed the figures. 'I considered him the smartest young man I have seen,' commented the Canon.

'We must not forget,' continued the Canon, 'that wonderful party of 10 or 11 who at their own expense have gone out to Australia to take part in the centenary celebrations at Melbourne. They had some hot times starting with Cambridge Surprise in the Red Sea. I know the visit will be deeply valued, and I am glad to know there are College Youths in that party' (applause).

Calling upon the hon. secretary (Mr. W. T. Cockerill) to respond, the Master added:—

'Masters may come, and Masters may go,
But Mr. Cockerill goes on for ever.'

THE SECRETARY'S REVIEW.

In reply, Mr. Cockerill said he had received apologies from the Bishop of Kensington, Canon Alexander, Canon Haldane, the Revs. S. Gordon Ponsonby and W. P. Besley, Ald. J. S. Pritchett, Messrs. W. H. Judd, Albert Walker, A. J. Wright, R. T. Hibbert, A. Wilson and J. W. Rowbotham.

The company stood in silence while the secretary read the names of the members who had died during the past year: Herbert P. Harman, Titus Barlow, Edward J. Sampson, Edwin Gibbs, Arthur W. Cutmore, Francis W. H. Sergison, William B. Manning, Walter Prime, George R. Fardon, F. F. Linley and Philip A. Cord. He had heard that day of the tragic death of Albert E. Wright, of Painswick, who was buried on Friday. Mr. J. W. Jones attended the funeral.

During the year nine tower peals had been rung: Grandsire Caters 1, Stedman Triples 5, Stedman Caters 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, and Cambridge Major 1; and two handbells: Grandsire Triples 1 and Stedman Triples 1. 'We all join,' concluded Mr. Cockerill, 'in congratulating Canon Coleridge on his recovery from his accident. I am sure you will all join with me in wishing him many happy returns of the day' (applause).

In felicitous terms the visitors were toasted on the call of Mr. W. Roughton. The Rev. R. French, M.C., Rector of Stepney, replied, and said at Stepney they had the finest tenor bell in the country, and the other bells were very close to the first rank. They had a junior team who were tremendously keen.

'Kindred Societies' were honoured on the call of Mr. F. M. Mitchell, vice-chairman, who welcomed in particular Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, and Mr. F. W. Rogers, secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. Among the societies represented there were the Middlesex, Midland Counties, Cambridge, Bedfordshire, Gloucestershire, Suffolk, Guildford, Devon, Warwickshire, Yorkshire, Somerset, Dorset, Lancashire, Oxfordshire, Hertfordshire, Essex, Hants, Surrey, Sussex, Wales, Kent, and the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham.

A DEVON RING OF SIX.

BRIXTON BELLS REHUNG AND ADDED TO.

Brixton, Devon, has now a delightful ring of six. As far back as 1737 the five bells in the belfry were restored, but the sixth bell was never provided. An expert examination of the bells recently revealed that the bells had worn so thin that there was a great danger of their cracking. The ladies of the parish collected a large sum of money for the purpose of their restoration. Then Mrs. Stooke offered to give a sixth bell, a treble weighing 6 cwt., in memory of her late husband, who was a churchwarden at Brixton Church from 1903 to 1920. The work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who cast and repaired the bells.

The dedication ceremony was performed on October 29th by the Bishop of Exeter in the presence of a large congregation. After the service the parishioners were invited by Comdr. and Mrs. Penrice Lyons to Elbridge to meet the Bishop and Lady Florence Cecil. At the request of the Vicar the Bishop presented a framed photograph of the new bell to Mrs. Stooke as a memento of the occasion. The Vicar complimented Messrs. Gillett and Johnston on the excellence of their work.

On behalf of the firm Mr. Roper, their representative, presented the Vicar with a framed record of the history of the bells, which the Rev. Vadden, in accepting, said would be placed in the church.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD STRIKING

Mr. Lewis, in reply, said they of the kindred societies valued that opportunity of meeting the College Youths at their annual function, and valued the great help the College Youths had been, particularly in the neighbourhood of London. In many of the country districts the peals of bells put in and the growth of change ringing had grown too fast for the art of striking. There were some districts where the ringers had not heard good striking. He thought it would be a good thing for the College Youths to make a tour and show what good striking was. He was very interested in Col. Jerram's letter to 'The Ringing World.' It would be a good thing if Col. Jerram would bring a party of Cornish ringers and show them what ringing was and how bells should be raised. If such a band of Cornish ringers came round they would welcome them very much. There was nothing in the rules of the Central Council which would exclude round ringers. The Central Council was of church bell-ringers and said nothing about change ringers. They concerned themselves with change ringing, but good round ringing was better than bad change ringing, and good change ringing was better than good round ringing.

Mr. Frederick W. Rogers, who also responded, said good striking should be one of the foremost aims of each association. The trouble was that if one criticised individual striking one was unpopular, so instead of singling out the individual one had to say, 'Mind your striking, gentlemen.'

The concluding toast, 'The Press,' was honoured on the call of Mr. Edward P. Duffield, who complimented Mr. Goldsmith on his leading articles, and expressed the hope that he would come back from Australia fully restored in health. He thanked Mr. Trollope for his delightful provocative articles. 'I had the pleasure,' continued Mr. Duffield, 'of partaking of Cornish hospitality a couple of months ago, and heard some of Col. Jerram's band raise bells in a manner I have never heard before. I should like to see the suggestion of Mr. Lewis carried out. I think it might demonstrate that we might turn our attention from pursuing intricate methods to getting a perfect command of our bells' (hear, hear).

Mr. T. W. White, sub-editor of 'The Ringing World,' replied.

The speeches were interspersed with songs by Mr. Reginald Johnson, handbell solos by Mrs. A. A. Hughes that were enthusiastically encored, and some Stedman Cinques on handbells by A. B. Peck, H. R. Pasmore, H. Langdon (conductor), C. W. Roberts, J. Thomas and W. T. Cockerill, that met with the approval of the many practised ears in the company. Miss Olive Peake accompanied Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Hughes. The Master voiced the thanks of the company to the artistes, and particularly to Mrs. Hughes, to whom he presented a bouquet of red carnations. A memorable evening closed with the singing of 'Auld Lang Syne.'

TRAGIC DEATH OF MR. A. WRIGHT.

RECORD FEATS OF PAINSWICK YOUTHS.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Albert Wright, of Painswick, who died at Stroud General Hospital on November 6th, following injuries received on November 3rd from a road accident. The sympathy of the Exercise is extended to the widow and family in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Wright had attended a ringers' meeting at Hardwicke. He had alighted from a bus at Pitchcombe and was walking along the road when he was struck by a motor-cycle travelling in the same direction. A verdict of 'Accidental death' was returned at the inquest. The foreman of the jury stated that they were of the opinion that the motor-cyclist did everything in his power to avoid an accident, and that it was probably due to Mr. Wright's hesitancy.

Mr. Wright, who was 66 years of age, was one of the best-known boltingers in the Exercise. He was a member of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths, established as far back as 1686. His heart and soul were in campanology, and he had the distinction of conducting peals in many parts of the country. The record-making feats of the endurance of the Painswick ringers are familiar to readers of 'The Ringing World.' It was on February 14th, 1920, that the Youths set up a record of ringing a peal of Grandsire Cinques (13,001 changes) in 8 hours 45 minutes. This peal, which was composed and conducted by Mr. Wright, withstood all challenges until August Bank Holiday, 1929, when it was beaten at Ashton-under-Lyne, with 15,312 changes in 11 hours 33 minutes.

The Youths made several attempts to regain their lost record, and came very near their goal on November 8th, 1930, when 17,686 changes were completed in 11 hours 35 minutes. It was, in fact, thought at the time that the attempt had succeeded, and the great reception which awaited the ringers as they emerged from the belfry is still fresh in the minds of Painswick people, but subsequently, to the disappointment of everyone, and to none more than Mr. Wright, an unfortunate repetition was discovered in the composition of the changes after the 16,000 mark had been passed. Thus the achievement was not regarded as a peal, but the ringers could at least boast of having established a record for the greatest number of changes on 12 bells, having, in two minutes' longer time, exceeded by 2,575 the number of changes rung at Ashton-under-Lyne. In September, 1931, a tablet recording this achievement was unveiled and dedicated in the belfry of Painswick Church.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral took place at Pitchcombe Church on Friday afternoon and was largely attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. P. A. Hippersley Smith (Vicar of Pitchcombe and Edger), who was assisted by the Rev. C. H. Versey (formerly Vicar of Painswick), Rev. W. J. Clay, R.D. (Vicar of Bisley) and the Rev. F. V. Paton (curate at Painswick). During the service the hymns, 'On the Resurrection Morning' and 'Abide with me,' were sung, and the Psalm, 'The Lord is my Shepherd,' chanted.

The principal mourners were Mrs. Wright (widow), Mr. E. J. Wright (son), Mr. and Mrs. E. Oake (son-in-law and daughter), Mr. and Mrs. J. Holder (son-in-law and daughter), Mrs. B. Wright (daughter-in-law), Mr. C. Wright (brother), Mr. and Mrs. C. Winfield (brother-in-law and sister), Mrs. T. Cailles (sister-in-law), Mr. G. Taylor, Messrs. D. and W. Reynolds (brothers-in-law), Mr. W. Weare (nephew), Major R. J. Caruthers-Little and Miss M. E. Little.

Others present included Mr. S. Romans (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association of Change Ringers) and ringers from Painswick, Gloucester, Leckhampton, Elkstone, Hardwicke, Frocester, Coaley, Minchinhampton, Newport (Mon.), Dursley, Avening, Stroud, Chalford, Swindon, Bisley and Stonehouse and many other parts.

The coffin, upon which was placed a bell rope, was lowered into a floral lined grave by Messrs. R. Griffiths, E. Phipps, F. Bateman and C. Mills, old inhabitants of Pitchcombe. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave on handbells by T. Wright 1-2, W. Ryland 3-4, H. Newman 5-6, F. Cole 7-8, members of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths.

There were many floral tributes, including one from the Stroud Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, of which Mr. Wright was hon. secretary.

After the funeral Major Caruthers-Little invited the ringers to Pitchcombe House to partake of tea before returning to their home. During tea, several ringers spoke very highly of Mr. A. Wright and his work as a ringer. It was said he was a most loyal friend, especially to young ringers, and was never more pleased than when he was getting a ringer through his first peal. Most ringers present declared that Mr. Wright got them their first peal.

Eight members of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths returned to Painswick, rang the whole pull and stand, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, and finished by tolling the tenor bell 68 times. During the evening muffled touches were rung on the bells of Bisley and Stroud by the local and other ringers who had been to Pitchcombe to pay their last respect to a most loyal friend.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

Across the Indian Ocean.

FIRST PEAL OF MAJOR SOUTH OF THE EQUATOR.

During the voyage through the Indian Ocean a handbell party among the Australian tourists rang the first peal of Major in the Southern Hemisphere. It was rung on the day the Equator was crossed.

ss. 'Barrabool,'

October 14th, 1934.

To-morrow we touch Australian soil for the first time, and the real business of our tour begins, and in beginning it we meet the first of the 'uncertainties' that face us. We reach Fremantle about

MR. GEORGE MARTIN.

6 a.m., and as soon as we are permitted to land, which will probably be three hours later, for there are quarantine, passport, customs, breakfast and other important matters to be attended to before we can step ashore, we intend to make our way to Perth, the capital of Western Australia, which is about twelve miles away.

Before we left England a cordial welcome had been received from the Very Rev. the Dean (Dr. P. H. Moore) to visit the Cathedral, where there is a peal of eight bells, with tenor about 20 or 22 cwt., cast by Warner in 1901. For some time past they have only been chimed, and the report is that the ropes are in a poor way. Happily we have come prepared for emergencies, and this morning, after a council of war to discuss plans and allocate duties, we got ready eight of the Birmingham ropes we have brought with us: the monkey wrench came out of its hiding place; the grease and the overalls appeared; and the ship's engineer supplied us with a small can of lubricating oil for pulleys, etc. All that remains before we can attempt the peal is to find out if the bells have any wheels (!), attach the ropes to them if they have, do the necessary bell hanging, and get the bells up—where probably they have not been for a quarter of a century (!).

From the start, Perth has been one of the 'speculative' towers. We hope we shall find matters better than we anticipate. Our difficulties are rather accentuated by the short stay which the vessel will make in port. Until we get alongside the quay we shall not know the actual hour of departure, and anything less than about seven hours to spare from ship to ship will make a peal attempt out of the question.

However, we are looking forward with lively anticipation to this 'rush and grab' expedition. As far as we are able we are leaving nothing to chance, but, although we shall be disappointed, we shall not be surprised if there is no peal here.

Happily, as far as we know, this is the only tower where these rush tactics will be necessary. No peal at Perth will be possible on the way home (when there would be more time), because at the finish of our tour at Sydney, our party will be broken up. Bill Fussell and George Martin have decided to visit New Zealand and return to England via the Panama Canal, and it is not unlikely that some of the others may, under the circumstances, do likewise. Those who go that way home will arrive on January 23rd, but the rest will travel, as previously arranged, by the ss. 'Bendigo,' which is due in London on January 5th.

This, however, is of the future. Readers of 'The Ringing World' will probably be interested in some of our activities since last I wrote, just before we reached Ceylon.

Our 'fame' had preceded us even to this island. Hardly had the 'Barrabool' tied up to a buoy in the harbour of Colombo, which was reached at dawn on Friday, Oct. 5th, when a Press representative walked up to Rupert, addressed him as 'Mr. Richardson' as if he had known him all his life, and—well, just asked to be told all about it. Then, as soon as we landed, we were lined up in front of a Press camera and photographed. The newspaper story we were able to read in the afternoon, but we did not see the photograph—which, perhaps, was not surprising.

Our party divided for the day. Three of them saw the sights of Colombo, under the kindly guidance of a policeman, who, they said, was ever watchful on their behalf, but maybe he escorted them under the impression that they might be suspicious characters. In any case the day was spent to their mutual satisfaction, and we hope that P.C. No. 16 will be available when we revisit Colombo in December.

The other members of our party made the journey to Kandy, the ancient capital of the island. It was an excursion full of wonder and delight, albeit it proved a tiring day. It comprised 150 miles of sightseeing through native Ceylon. A good tarred-macadam road now runs all the way, and the conveyances are modern six-cylinder cars, but for the rest the sights one sees are largely primitive and purely Eastern. The population is made up of native Cingalese and Indians, the chief religion is Buddhism, and the people live very simple lives. The 74 miles from Colombo to Kandy lies the whole way through a riot of tropical vegetation, where palms, exotic flowers, coconuts and bananas grow in luxuriant profusion by the roadside. Nearing Kandy the route climbs through a range of mountains, up which the road zigzags mile after mile, sometimes on almost overhanging precipices, in one place cut through the solid rock itself, and always opening up new vistas of rugged mountain and palm clothed valley. Rice fields, tea and rubber plantations revealed the chief industries of Ceylon, where carts drawn by buffaloes carry the produce and frequently block the roads, and where elephants are employed to do some of the heavy work. Passing over a bridge we had a glimpse of an elephant's toilet. Two of the animals were lying on their side in a stream sousing themselves with water from their trunks, while the mahouts were scrubbing the elephants' hides with scrubbing brushes, much, apparently, to the animals' satisfaction.

At Kandy the party visited one of the most famous temples of Buddhism. It is a shrine which holds the Buddha's tooth, the most sacred relic of the faith. The present temple is said to be about 400 years old, and by its side is rising a new structure, towards which we were asked to contribute before we passed in to see the ancient temple. We were not allowed to gaze upon the interior of this 'holy of holies,' but our guide gave us a graphic story of the symbols and features of the exterior, while at every turn we were invited to buy this, that or the other souvenir. Outside appear to be all the halt, the lame and the blind of Kandy, each of whom, according to his own story, has a special claim upon one's generosity, and one has to be almost brutish in manner to shake off this miserable but persistent little crowd of mendicants.

On the outward journey a visit was paid to a menagerie and the wonderful botanical garden at Peradeniya; and on the return there was the opportunity of inspecting a tea factory. It was dark when we reached Colombo again, and we enjoyed the best cup of tea we have tasted since leaving England.

After the exertions of the previous day, Saturday (October 6th) was passed lazily; it was the first day at sea that the handbells were entirely neglected. It was the first day, too, of the long stage to Fremantle; and the first day in the Indian Ocean, which has offered us surprises of sorts. We were due to 'cross the line' on Sunday, and one usually associates with that part of the world blue skies, a blazing sun overhead, and a blue sea beneath. For three days after leaving Colombo we hardly saw the sun. There were grey skies and seas and frequent heavy rains. Compared with the experience of the Red Sea, the weather was chilly, and some of the ladies actually wore woollen coats on the day the Equator was passed. That is not to say that the change was not a welcome relief. It was; but the Equator did not come up to our expectations. The conditions were such that we might just as well have been in the English Channel.

On the Sunday we had a special interest in the church services. The Rev. E. B. James preached in the morning and Mr. W. Linter gave the address in the evening.

In the afternoon the third handbell peal of the trip was rung. This was again Bob Major, with George Martin on the tenors, and it ran home in 2 hrs. 35 mins., the first peal of Major in the southern hemisphere—but only just in. The vessel crossed the line—which was said to be visible to anyone who looked through Mr. Linter's field glasses—about 10.30 a.m., and the peal was started at 2 p.m. Actually it was rung between 1.3 degrees south latitude, 86.26 degrees east longitude, and 1.32 degrees south latitude, 86.17 degrees east longitude, the 'Barrabool' having covered 39 miles in the meantime. Rupert called J. R. Pritchard's well-known peal, and George scored his first peal of Major 'in hand.' It was the first double-handed peal south of the line, and, moreover, a good performance in a rising wind and sea. It was rung on the same spot on the forward deck where the first peal was got home a fortnight before.

The early days of the week after passing the Equator were windy, with a fair amount of sea running, and this made handbell ringing a difficult matter on the open deck. Nevertheless the enthusiasts got to work, and on Monday (October 8th) were baulked of success by the rough weather when almost in sight of the goal. They had rung four out of five parts of a peal of Grandsire Triples before it went into the Indian Ocean, and the wind nearly carried the ringers themselves away with it. The next day was altogether too rough for a peal attempt, although when the wind moderated towards evening a couple of courses of Treble Bob Major were rung for practice.

I told you in an earlier report that Mr. Sharples could throw a very pretty quoit. With a partner he nearly carried off the ship's doubles championship, being beaten by a narrow margin in the final.

Wednesday was 'At home' day in the engine room, and some of the party ventured into the hot and oily depths, where the 8,000 h.p. engines, which drive us at from 14 to 15 knots hour after hour, day after day, without pause, and the subsidiary plants for electrical power, refrigerating and pumping, as well as the great oil burning furnaces, which consume over 80 tons of oil a day, were inspected with interest, especially by Joe Hardcastle. Joe has spent his working life making brass fittings for ships, including the great bushes which carry the propeller shafts through the stern of a boat, but he had never before seen them as a working part of a great whole. Having seen, Joe was delighted.

This is, of course, the most tedious stage of the journey—it is just one day after another—and yet the time does not drag unduly. There is always something to do, if only to sleep. For six days after leaving Colombo we saw nothing but sea and sky, and ourselves. Cocos Island, off which the famous fight took place between the Australian cruiser 'Sydney' and the German raider 'Emden,' to the final undoing of the latter, was passed in the night. It is the only landmark in all this 3,200 miles; but we did not see it. Probably the only person who saw its light was our navigator.

We got just a little excitement after six days, when out of the night there came up a string of brilliant lights. It passed, went on into the blackness and disappeared. It was one of our sister ships, the 'Baradine,' going home, and not a few who a month ago had said 'Good-bye' to England, perhaps for years, perhaps for ever, gazed wistfully after her. It is strange what effect a homegoing ship, met in the middle of a trackless ocean, can have on the emotions of a traveller, when it is the only sign of human life that has been seen for days on end.

On Friday, October 12th, we were far enough south to get the benefit of the cooler weather, and warmer clothes were necessary. On the previous Wednesday a handbell peal of Grandsire Triples found a watery grave through an uncertain bob, but the wind on both the succeeding days led to the abandonment of peal attempts, which started in hope and ended in discomfort.

The ship's sports provided a diversion on Saturday, and we got the greatest laughs of the whole voyage. In fact some of us have hardly recovered yet, but this is scarcely the place to describe events which had little to do with the ringers and nothing whatever to do with ringing. After dinner in the evening the prize-giving and some speech making took place, amidst a constant ripple of applause, and the sports committee, on which Ralph Maude served, was wound up. This committee has kept the organised entertainment on shipboard going, including a daily 'tote' on the ship's run, frequent whist and bridge drives, concerts, dog racing (yes, even dog racing, with a tote, finds its place in our little self-contained world) and cinema shows. We have kept in touch with the major happenings of the world and the weather in London through a daily wireless news service, but what we have missed most is the weekly issue of 'The Ringing World.' We know nothing of what has happened in the Exercise at home since the day we left, more than a month ago, and when we got our news (five weeks' late) a day or two after we reach Melbourne, we shall devour every line with avidity.

Late News.

The Rev. E. B. James has proved himself undisputed chess champion of the ship. But he nearly lost his lunch to-day in his chivalry towards a lady opponent. He had her pinned down (metaphorically, of course), but like the rest of her sex she fought to the last gasp. She did not want a mate, badly as Mr. James wanted his lunch. He reached the table, after three courses had gone, amid general applause. He seemed a little doubtful whether it was accorded him for his victory or his escape.

THE BOURNVILLE CARILLON.

The Bournville Carillon has recently been enlarged and rehung, and many of the bells have been recast. It now has the largest compass of any carillon in this country and, with its delicate response to the player's touch, is probably the most up-to-date instrument of its kind in the world.

It was originally installed in the tower of the Bournville village schools by the late George Cadbury, in 1906, when it consisted of twenty-two bells. It has been enlarged at various times by gifts of bells by Mrs. George Cadbury (Dame Elizabeth Cadbury) and by Mr. George Cadbury, his son, the additional bells now given bringing up the total to 48. The largest and smallest bells weigh respectively 3½ tons and 12lb., and the total weight of the carillon is 17½ tons. A new belfry has been erected on the school tower.

The Bournville carillonneur is Mr. Clifford Ball, Mus.Bac., who was the first man not a native of the 'carillon countries'—Holland and Belgium—to take his diploma, which he did at the famous carillon school at Malines. It may be remembered that among other recitals given by Mr. Ball on the famous bells at home and abroad he inaugurated the Wellington (N.Z.) War Memorial Carillon in 1932. This was built in this country, and before the bells left England Mr. Ball gave several hundred recitals on them, both in Hyde Park and at the North-East Coast Exhibition at Newcastle-on-Tyne. Many of his recitals have been broadcast.

THE HERTFORD COUNTY JUBILEE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I think it is true to say that our jubilee celebrations were a great success, everybody spending a most enjoyable time up to the last moment, and 170 sat down to a most excellent dinner. But my committee would not like the occasion to pass without expressing through the columns of 'The Ringing World' their grateful appreciation to the members, artists and friends who supported them so magnificently. The course of London on the handbells was really wonderful. A photograph was taken at the dinner, which has come out very well, and if anyone requires a copy they should write to the Editor, 'Herts Advertiser,' St. Albans. Prices as follows: 6 x 4, 1/- a copy, 2/9 for three; 8 x 6, 1/9 and 4/6; 12 x 10, 3/- and 8/-. Deductions for larger quantities of each. Terms, cash. The picture is well worth buying as a memento of a memorable occasion in the history of change ringing. G. W. CARIMEL,

Hon. Secretary,

Duffield, St. Albans.

BYGONE RINGERS AND THEIR HABITS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the recent letters and your article on 'Bygone ringers and their habits,' perhaps a few remarks of mine on things as I knew them might be of interest.

My first recollections of ringing are when nearly 60 years ago I used to hear, some time before Christmas, the bells of two five-bell towers about three miles away ring on alternate Sunday afternoons after the service. I heard afterwards that permission was given on condition that the ringers attended the service, which some did, but others did not. The only objection my parents had to my learning to ring was that ringers were such a low and disreputable lot.

About eight years after, however, the four bells in our Parish Church were 'restored,' and four or five boys of my own age started to learn, and with a good deal of attention by the blacksmith and hard work on our part, we learned to ring by heart the 24 changes which we found written on a board in the tower. We had no outside tuition beyond seeing the ringers at the opening who rang set changes.

After ringing the date of the year, and wishing to learn more, two of us approached a well-known ringer at the nearest six-bell tower about seven miles away, who told us that it would cost us a lot to learn, as we should have to find plenty of beer. In no case that I know of did the ringers ring for the services, the bells being chimed by the clerk or youths of the village.

I should like to add that Mr. Trollope's description of the state of affairs at that time is, in my opinion, quite correct. The associations and the clergy who founded them have had a large share in the work of bringing about the great improvement.

It was in most cases the better type of ringer who joined the associations at that time; the others died out.

W. L. DUFFIELD.

Saxlingham Thorpe, Norwich.

Dear Sir,—I, like many others in the country, have read with interest the notes of Mr. Trollope on the history of ringers and ringing in the past, and have enjoyed reading his account of these performances. I have also been very interested in the letters that have been published in 'The Ringing World' on this subject.

There is not the slightest doubt that all that Mr. Trollope has mentioned in these articles is perfectly true and has taken place at one time or another, and only goes to show the great improvement that has taken place in both belfries and bellringers since the diocesan associations have been formed, between 50 and 60 years ago.

I first learned to handle a bell in a country village where there were six bells, and often paid a visit to the belfry on practice nights but got very little encouragement to ring, but have taken more than one gallon of beer up in the belfry, where the ringers used to sit and smoke, and for so doing was allowed to have a pull of a few rounds with the old ringers, who were never very enthusiastic, nor did they encourage a beginner, as they were a paid band.

I am pleased to say all this is changed, and had I had the encouragement that beginners have now in most towers when I was young I might have been a better ringer than I am.

C. EDWARDS.

PONTEFRAC T RINGER HONOURED.

Mr. Arthur Walker, of Friarwood, Pontefract, was honoured by his colleagues on attaining his 65th birthday and having completed 45 years as a ringer at the Parish Church and All Saints' by a peal of Grandsire Caters on November 5th, in which he participated.

On the following evening a supper was given in his honour, attended by a company of 32, including the Vicar (the Rev. C. C. T. Naters) and Mrs. Naters. Mr. J. H. Lenton presided, and the health of Mr. Walker was proposed by Mr. Holder, who commented upon his long association with Mr. Walker in the belfries of the Parish Church and All Saints', and trusted that Mr. Walker would for many years have health and strength to continue in the hobby he had so ably served (applause). On behalf of the Parish Church ringers the Vicar presented Mr. Walker with a fountain pen in appreciation of his services. The Vicar's good wishes were endorsed by Mr. J. Clayton.

A whist drive followed. Opportunity was found during the evening for a touch of Grandsire Triples and a course of Stedman Triples on handbells by J. H. Lenton, W. Applegate, V. Applegate and H. C. Walters. A course of Grandsire Caters was also rung with Mr. A. Walker.

Mr. A. Walker has rung over 80 peals and is a member of the general committee of the Yorkshire Association.

SELLY OAK, BIRMINGHAM.—At St. Mary's Church, on November 4th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): E. Holt 1, N. J. Goodman 2, H. G. Atkins 3, J. L. Boylin 4, Wm. B. Cartwright 5, C. H. Stanley 6, V. G. H. Hemus (first quarter-peal as conductor) 7, K. J. Davis 8. All are service ringers at this church.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Mr. E. H. Lewis suggests that Col. Jerram should bring to England a team of Cornish ringers to show us change ringers how bells should be raised and ceased and rung in rounds. If the band does come they can be assured of a hearty welcome. The West Country round ringing is a direct survival of the very oldest form of ringing in this country, the first kind that distinguished English ringing from the merely promiscuous clashing of bells. It goes back at least to the time of Henry VIII., probably much earlier. In those days bells were hung with a stock and lever, or sometimes a half wheel. The sport consisted in raising the bells frame high, and then lowering them again. That was the sort of ringing done by the early societies and they had definite rules as to how it should be done. At the first pull the bells were 'swayed' but not struck, at the second pull all of them, from treble to tenor, had to strike. Failure to do this was reckoned a great fault and sometimes punished with a fine. On a light ring at the third pull all the bells had to strike both at hand and back. With heavier rings, the bells might be 'swayed' for two pulls without striking, and it was usual to strike them double at the fourth pull, but the rule that 'all the notes should strike round at one pull' still held whatever the weight of the tenor. If a bell was too heavy, or went too badly for one man to manage, as many more were put to it as the case required. The aim was to raise the bells as quickly as possible. Ringing was a sport for strong and lusty men, and was classed with 'manlie sports' like football and wrestling.

Shortly after 1600 changes were introduced, and in London and Oxford and Cambridge the intellectual appeal of change ringing quickly eclipsed the athletic appeal of raising and falling, and soon after 1660 the Londoners had forgotten how to raise and cease properly. Round about 1620 bells were being fitted with three-quarter wheels instead of half wheels, so that they could be rung higher, or as the phrase went, at a greater compass, and as soon as it was possible to ring them at a sett-pull (i.e., high enough to be held on the balance at hand) it was possible to develop changes. As yet there were no sallies, all the pulling was done from back, there was little control from handstroke, and the bells could not be rung high enough at back stroke to change there. It was not until after 1660 that whole wheels were fitted and then half pull ringing became possible. Stay and slider were not known until after Stedman wrote. Throughout all these years the round ringing of the West remained exactly the same thing. Though gradually improvements in bell hanging were introduced there, as elsewhere, there was no difference in the ringing. Unless I am much mistaken the genuine old West County ringer never rang Call Changes. Stoney had an entirely different genesis from round ringing. It is a degenerate survival of the old Plain Changes, the earliest form of 'scientific' ringing. Plain Changes were mathematically constructed and by no means easy to ring, but they were monotonous and were quickly abandoned in favour of Cross Peals, as our present form of change ringing was first called. I think I am right in saying that Stoney is a comparatively recent importation into Devon and Cornwall.

Among change ringers there is very little raising in peal, the first comers get the bells up so they may be ready as soon as a full band turns up. But it would be a mistake to suppose that there is no ceasing in peal. I know at least one tower where the bells are dropped every Sunday in a way which would not disgrace the Cornish men. Now service ringing has become the regular thing a good cease should be done by every band, for it is by no means a difficult art to acquire.

BYGONE RINGERS AND THEIR HABITS.

Dear Sir,—The correspondence on the habits of ringers in bygone days is very interesting. No doubt there have been dark spots in the Exercise in days past, but I would like to illustrate to the readers of 'The Ringing World' a somewhat different picture.

Over 50 years back there lived in the small village of Wilberton, Cambridgeshire, three brothers, James, Joseph and Henry Markwell, who rang for Sunday services at the village church for 50 years without a break. When they commenced ringing there were five bells, the treble being badly cracked, and the remaining four badly needed the bell hanger. These three men, with the help of two others, learned to ring by memory Bob and Stedman Doubles. Nearly 40 years ago another bell cracked while ringing out the old year, caused, it was said, by the severe frost during that season.

Change ringing, therefore, was at a standstill for a period of two years, awaiting the collection of funds for their restoration. In due course the two cracked bells were recast and a treble added to make a peal of six. Meanwhile, four sons of the three brothers (all quite young) were drafted into the company and began in real earnest to learn change ringing by the aid of Ropsight, by Mr. W. Snowden. These four sons brought up the number to seven, all the same name and related. With the help of Mr. A. Hazel and Mr. H. Sharp they could be seen in the belfry twice on Sunday calling the people to worship, and they were never known to have stayed away from a church service to which they had called others.

In about five years the whole band by constant practice had made rapid progress, and in the year 1896 rang 64 complete 720's in 12 methods, besides one 5,040 in six different methods.

PAINSWICK VETERANS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As a veteran ringer who joined the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths in 1880, I have been interested in the correspondence in 'The Ringing World' re bygone ringers. Living close to Painswick Church as a boy, I knew well the Painswick veterans, viz., Estcourt, Morris, Savory, Birts and others, who made Painswick and its bells famous by their great prowess in campanology. I was always allowed to be present at practices and Sunday ringing, and dressed in their long black coats, cravats and top hats (they were a very highly respectable body of men who attended the church, and I was allowed to sit with them. Through the deaths of the veterans ringing fell to a low ebb. Several others started ringing in 1880, and we mastered Stedman Doubles. It was then and in the following years to gain experience that I visited many of the towers, viz., Gloucester Cathedral, Cirencester, Tewkesbury Abbey, St. Mary's, Cheltenham, Upton, St. Leonards, Bisley, Prestbury, Charlton Kings, Stroud, etc., and found at all the towers visited highly respectable bands of ringers who were always willing to do everything they could to help me forward. I am sure that all of them realised the dignity of their office. In looking back I recall the names of the grand old veteran ringers not only in Gloucestershire but all over the country, who stuck to their task manfully and set such an excellent example for us to live up to.

GOOD STRIKING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Trollope leads one to think that striking is generally lower than what it used to be, and I am going to offer a suggestion to him and everyone who is as keen as he towards its betterment. I see that he mentions Yorkshire. (Thank you, Mr. Trollope, for Yorkshire.) You may ask why am I for Yorkshire? It is because I am a member of that part of the country where a pride is taken in good striking, and could Mr. Trollope or anyone else who is interested attend a contest at Holmfirth, near Huddersfield, of the Halifax and District Association about midsummer (an advertisement will appear in the paper), they would appreciate every moment of listening.

May I suggest that ringers, whether in a strange tower or at home, open every obstacle between them and the bells and then listen. And when you have got the distinct changes off, be it Minor or Major, forget it, but keep it and listen again.

JOSEPH BURGESS.

Friezland,

Greenfield, near Oldham.

A START WITH MONTHLY MEETINGS

The first monthly meeting in connection with the Axbridge Deanery Branch of Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held in the Parish Church, Bleadon, on Saturday. The following towers were represented: Worle, Weston-super-Mare, Congresbury, East Brent, Chilcompton, Chewton Mendip, Bath, Ilminster and Churchill.

ALL OPEN DAY AT PRESTON.

BIG COMPANY ENJOY THE AUGMENTED TEN.

The augmented ring at Preston Parish Church was rung for the first time on the evening of November 1st by the local band. The Vicar was present in the ringing chamber accompanied by two of the wardens, together with Mr. A. A. Hughes, representing the firm of Mears and Stainbank, and Mr. W. Ratcliffe, the bell hanger who has carried out the work. After the ringing the Vicar congratulated the firm on the great improvement in tone, and Mr. Hughes briefly replied for Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

On November 10th an open day was held for visitors. The response was very gratifying, some 60 ringers turning up, and had a red-letter day. The Lanes Association was represented by the president (Canon H. J. Elsee) and the ringing secretary (Mr. A. Tomlinson). Also present were Mr. A. Knights (Chesterfield), Mr. B. Thorp (Ashton-under-Lyne), Mr. T. B. Worsley (Bolton), along with a good contingent from the Blackburn Branch, and practically most of the Preston Branch. The Vicar and curate, along with the local captain, appeared in the ringing chamber punctually at 2.30. Canon Wallis read the ringers' office and formally opened the proceedings. Three M.C.'s were appointed to take charge of the ringing, viz., Messrs. B. A. Knights, W. Sharples and E. R. Martin. This plan worked very well, and plenty of rounds and queens for beginners were mixed in with Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Ten, Double Norwich and London Surprise Minor.

A short service was held at 5 p.m., at which Canon Elsee gave an address. After outlining the history of Preston bells, Canon Elsee urged all ringers to uphold the highest ideals in the performance of their sacred duties.

Tea was served in St. John's Mission Room close to the church. Accompanying the Vicar were three wardens, and after tea the Vicar gave the visitors a cordial welcome to Preston, and hoped their opinion of the bells would be favourable. Tracing the inception of the restoration scheme, the Vicar revealed his expert knowledge on tuning, and offered to talk or correspond with anyone present on the subject. Mr. W. Smirk (senior warden) also welcomed the visitors, and mentioned that he had been reading an old book which contained an account of prize ringing at Preston in 1815. (J. A. T. please note.) Mr. E. R. Martin (captain) also supplemented the welcome given, and contrasted the old lumpy-going eight with the augmented and beautiful ten.

Opportunity was taken to thank the Vicar and wardens for putting the restoration scheme into operation. Canon Elsee on behalf of the visitors thanked the Vicar and wardens for the splendid tea and welcome which had been accorded to everyone, and Mr. C. W. Eccles, J.P., supported Canon Elsee and expressed thanks to him for his splendid address. The tower was visited again and the bells rung until 8.15.

AN EXAMPLE FROM YORKSHIRE.

VISITING DAY AT THE BELFRY.

A fine spirit exists among the ringers of Ulverston, Yorks. When the bells were rebung they determined to attend to the steps which had been worn so badly through the ages as to be almost too difficult to climb. They chipped every one of them and concreted them to their original shape. They provided new linoleum for the belfry, creosoted the belfry frames and painted the belfry fittings. So much improved is the belfry that it can claim to be one of the best in the district.

When their task was completed they held a congregation's visiting night with a twofold purpose. Firstly, to do their bit towards the great effort for clearing the church's debt, and secondly to interest the people in their bells and change ringing.

Although only about 20 people could be accommodated in the ringing chamber at once, the full programme was carried out. The captain welcomed the visitors and then one of the ringers who had made a full model of a bell demonstrated this and also explained the church's history and ringing. The bells were raised in peal, a plain course rung, and then lowered, and so interesting was this that without exception everyone climbed the rickety wooden ladder to the bell chamber where the inscriptions on the bells were explained. This programme was carried out three times during the evening, and the collection towards the great effort realised £1 7s. 6d.

For years the bells in this quaint little town were rung only for services, and then the limit was the first dozen in Minor. In latter years a younger band have had the ropes and are making gradual but certain progress in spite of the difficulty that members are constantly leaving the town to take up work in other parts of the country.

Such is the enthusiasm of this young band, writes 'Interested,' that all will agree they deserve every encouragement in their effort to master Treble Bob, which they are just commencing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Congratulations to Mrs. J. Bray, of Lincoln, who has rung 100 peals, 50 being on handbells.

Mr. G. Lewis was the composer of the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Sutton-on-Trent on November 10th; the conductor was Mr. A. Nash.

Next Tuesday Mr. James George, of 44, Cuckoo Road, Nechells, Birmingham, will be 81 years of age. Since his 80th birthday Mr. George has taken part in 23 peals. Has any other veteran such a distinguished record between the ages of 80 and 81?

For bellringers' Sunday at Birstall, Leicestershire, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung by F. Graham 1, F. Sharm 2, G. Tillson 3, G. Walker 4, J. Udale 5, L. Whitehead 6, R. Barrow 7, A. Skinner 8.

Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft conducted five Stalybridge (Cheshire) ringers through their first 720—Plain Bob Minor—on November 15th. The ringers were: R. Rees 1, J. Parks 2, G. H. Shaw 3, S. Hodgson 4, W. W. Wolstencroft (conductor) 5, A. Roberts 6.

Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, joint hon. secretary of the Middlesex Association, who has been in the Middlesex Hospital, was removed to the Schiff Home of Recovery, Knowle Hill, Cobham, Surrey, last week. He will be convalescing there for a fortnight. We all wish Mr. Goodfellow a speedy recovery.

Another band that have surmounted their first obstacles is at North Mimms, Herts. On November 6th, six of the company rang their first quarter of Stedman Triples, viz., G. R. Spencer, B. Spencer, F. Currell, F. Nash, G. Nash and W. Tyler. The conductor was W. Nash, and A. W. Coles made up the eight.

Good progress is being made by the ringers at Yardley Parish Church, Birmingham. During October five of the band rang their first quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, viz., John N. Lindon, William H. Cox, J. W. Mulcock, George H. Taylor and James Bacon. We await their first peal with interest.

Mr. F. S. Wilson, of Lloyds Bank House, Wincanton, will be extremely obliged to the ringer who borrowed a year or two ago two volumes, bound in green cloth, entitled, 'Ringers of the Ringing World,' if he will kindly return same as soon as possible. These books were made up with single pages taken from 'The Bellringer,' 'The Bell News' and 'The Ringing World.'

Will the conductor of the peal at Grundisburgh, Suffolk, on November 17th, kindly forward his name so that the peal may be inserted? This peal was rung with bells half-muffled, in memory of Francis George Drake, member and son of the secretary of the Suffolk Guild, and also in memory of Mrs. Clark, the mother of Mr. C. Clark, a member of the band.

Mention was made in this column recently about the enthusiasm of ringers in North Kent at local practices. The finest practice outside London is that at Crayford, where Spliced Surprise in four methods is a regular feature, and it is very gratifying to see how happy those 'princes of the art' are in helping the young ones along all the evening, being more than content themselves with one touch of 'applied' to finish up with.

In the East Berks and South Bucks young conductors seem to be fairly abundant, as six very junior Cumberlands from the St. Peter's Society, Burnham, Bucks, were successful on Saturday last in ringing a peal of Doubles at Hitchin, Bucks, Parish Church, the conducting being shared by the ringers of 2, 3, 4 and 5, none of whom are yet 15 years of age. The youngest has not even attained the age of 13. Average age of band is 14 years and seven months. Further particulars will be found next week of this performance.

Among our promising young ringers is Cyril E. Lanxon (aged 16), of Truro Cathedral, who, despite very limited opportunities which are to be had in Cornwall, has rung this year his first three eight-bell peals, viz., Grandsire Triples, Bob Major (first touch in the method) and Stedman Triples. In addition he has conducted a peal of Grandsire Doubles (10 callings) and has composed two quarter-peals of Stedman Triples. His enthusiasm should lead to more change ringing in 'the Delectable Duchy.'

Canon C. C. Marshall, president of the Yorkshire Association, participated in a peal rung at Far Headingley, Leeds, as a compliment to his daughter, Miss I. H. Marshall, who is to be married at Calcutta on November 26th. The ringers tender their best wishes, and, in the words of our correspondent, 'hope the new venture will be as harmonious and successful as the ringing of this peal.' Would the conductor of this peal kindly forward his name and also the date of the peal so that the compliment might be published in the appropriate column?

Through a motor-cycling accident, North Dorset's popular Ringing Master, Mr. W. G. Shute, is at present lying in the Yeatman Hospital, Sherborne. His many friends will be pleased to hear that he is making good progress, and hopes to be ringing again before Christmas. Mr. Shute is the ideal voluntary instructor. He has travelled thousands of miles—four or five nights a week, summer and winter—to teach and help young and struggling bands of ringers. It is fairly safe to say that no man has done so much for change ringing in Dorset as Bill Shute.

MR. E. P. DUFFIELD'S UNIQUE DISTINCTION.

MASTER OF TWO SOCIETIES.

By his election as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths Mr. Edward P. Duffield has achieved a unique distinction. He holds the Mastership of two important societies at the same time. He was elected Master of the Essex Association, on the retirement of Mr. Charles H. Howard, last Whitsun, and his elevation to the chief office of the College Youths gives him a dual role never previously, we believe, held by one man.

Mr. E. P. Duffield was born at Tasburgh, Norfolk, on December 21st, 1898, and started learning to ring on the peal of five bells when about 10 years of age, under the tuition of Mr. Albert G. Warnes, and, later, under the late Mr. Philip Sadler, both of Norwich. His father, Mr. William L. Duffield, now of Saxlingham Nethergate, Norfolk, and an uncle, the late Mr. Arthur E. Fuller, were both enthusiastic ringers. Four brothers—Messrs. William C. (Buxton, Norfolk), James F. (Norwich), Harry T. S. (Tharston, Norfolk) and Dr. John R. (South Africa)—all took up ringing, with the result that father and five sons completed the band for a peal of Minor at Long Stratton, Norfolk, rung on December 27th, 1927.

Mr. 'Ted' Duffield's first eight-bell practice was obtained by visiting Pulham Market, some eight miles from Tasburgh, where, eventually, at the age of 13 years, his first peal was rung, viz., Bob Major, conducted by the well-known ringer, Mr. Fredk. R. Borrett, to whose perseverance Mr. Duffield owes a great deal for his early ringing progress.

He went in 1915 to reside at Sharnbrook, Beds, and eventually succeeded the Rev. A. Rust as hon. general secretary and treasurer of the Bedfordshire Association, which office he retained until just prior to taking up residence at Alton, Hants, in 1922. During his stay at Sharnbrook both the standard and the variety of the ringing advanced, and seven Surprise Minor methods were regularly rung by the local band, whose first peal on the bells he conducted. Mr. Duffield married in 1920 Miss M. A. Willoughby, of Sharnbrook, herself something of a ringer, although she did not continue seriously with the art.

At Alton, Hants, Mr. Duffield had the privilege of conducting the first peal of Stedman Triples on St. Lawrence's bells to be rung by a resident band. He removed to Colchester in 1925, and, becoming associated with the band at St. Peter's Church, eventually conducted the first peal of Surprise Major (Superlative) ever rung by a resident Colchester company.

He was elected Divisional Master of the North-Eastern Division of the Essex Association in 1931 on the retirement from office of Mr. William J. Nevard, the well-known ringer of Great Beniley. On Whit Monday last Mr. Duffield was elected Master of the Essex Association in succession to Mr. Chas. H. Howard, who had held the post for as long as 25 years.

Shortly after the termination of the war, and, although having had no practice in Surprise methods, Mr. Duffield was invited in September, 1919, by Mr. William Pye to join a ringing week in Cheshire. This resulted, on the Monday, in ringing two first Surprise peals, both in the one day, viz., Bristol Surprise Major at Bunbury in the morning, followed by Superlative Surprise Major at Middlewich in the evening. On the day following he rang a peal of London Surprise Major at Tarporley and Cambridge Surprise Major two days later at Frodsham. Thus he had the unique experience of ringing his first four peals of Surprise in four different Major methods within the space of four days with scarcely any previous practice.

Mr. Duffield has many interesting peal performances to his credit. He rang Southwark Cathedral tenor to Stedman Cinques at the age of 20. He rang 11th in the 15,312 Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne, a peal which occupied 1½ hours. He helped Mr. Wm. Pye to ring the Exeter Cathedral tenor to the only peal (Cambridge Maximus) in which she has been rung in changes. He also rang in the first and only peal at Buckfast Abbey. On three occasions he has rung in two peals of Cambridge Surprise Maximus in one day, and on three occasions has taken part in three peals of Surprise Major in one day. He rang in three peals (one false) rung by officers after the Great War (in which he served for a short time in the Royal Air Force during the latter part of the war). In 1913 he was a member of bands which at that time were the youngest to have rung a peal both of Minor and Major. He conducted the first peal of Surprise Maximus rung in Ireland at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, a peal which was preceded by an all-night journey from London to Dublin, and followed by an all-night return journey to London.

Mr. Duffield has rung just over 300 peals in about 220 different towers, including nearly 90 peals on 12 bells, about 60 of which were in Surprise Maximus methods, including every Surprise Maximus method in which a peal has yet been rung. He has also rung peals of Spliced Superlative and Cambridge Maximus and Spliced Surprise Major in four methods. His peals have been rung in every English county except Notts and Derbyshire, and included in the list of towers are more than 40 twelve-bell towers. In spite of his rather large proportion of 12-bell peals, Mr. Duffield has never lived within 18 miles of a 12-bell tower. The peals have been rung under the auspices of more than 30 different ringing societies.

In business life, Mr. Duffield, in common with several others of his family, is engaged in the flour milling industry. He is well known in many parts of the country by reason of his activities in connection with the sale of Vitbe flour, as used in the manufacture of the now well-known Vitbe bread.

THE BRIGHT FEATURE OF MANCHESTER MEETING.

TWO LEARNERS SCORE THEIR FIRST 720.

The quarterly meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association at St. Elisabeth's Church, Reddish, on Saturday was one of the poorest from point of view of numbers that the branch has held for some time. A service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. R. W. Watson, who also gave an address, the music being provided by the deputy organist, Mr. English.

One bright feature of the day was the fact that two learners were enabled to score their first 720 of Plain Bob Minor, so let it not be said that nothing was accomplished. The remainder of the ringing time was spent with touches of Stedman and Double Norwich.

At the business meeting, which was presided over by Mr. C. Ollier, it was decided to hold the next quarter's meetings as follows: December 15th, Manchester Town Hall; January 19th, 1935, Manchester Cathedral; and February 16th, quarterly meeting at Stretford. Votes of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, conducting the service, and for his address; to the organist, and the local ringers for their services closed the meeting.

It is to be sincerely hoped that meetings of the branch, and especially services, will in future be much better attended.

REV. ROBERT HERRICK'S CHURCH.

RESTORATION OF THE BELLS.

For several years the tower and bells at the church where Herrick the poet used to be Vicar, Dean Prior, Buckfastleigh, Devon, have been in a state of dilapidation. The bells were five in number, the treble having been recast by Warners, of London, in 1886, the second recast by Hamblyn, of Blackawton, in 1836, whilst the remaining three were cast in 1734, the tenor by Mudge and the other two by Pennington. Incidentally this year is the bicentenary of these three back bells.

In June, 1929, it was deemed advisable to discontinue all ringing, as it was considered too dangerous, and a fund was opened for their restoration, whilst Lady Yarde-Buller promised to give a new treble bell to increase them to six in memory of her husband, Sir Henry Yarde-Buller, who was buried in Dean Prior Churchyard in 1928. Thanks to the interest and energy of the present Vicar and other friends, the fund has grown, and among the generous contributors were Miss Violet E. Willis who gave £130, Lord Churston £100, and the Vicar, Rev. Canon the Hon. R. J. Yarde-Buller £25. Mr. J. H. Thorpe's recent appeal also brought many contributions from abroad.

This summer it was found that enough funds were available to put the work in hand, and the Parochial Church Council decided to place the work of the restoration of the bells in the hands of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. It was afterwards found with dismay that the roof on the top of the tower was in a state of decay, and after a further appeal by the Vicar and Churchwardens sufficient money was obtained to renovate the tower. Messrs. Jackson and Son, of Buckfastleigh, were responsible for carrying out this work, which consisted of a new roof for the tower covered with lead on the top, a new floor under the bells, a new second floor, and the ringers' gallery. Whilst the bells were at the Foundry the old second was recast and the remainder retuned, and the whole peal, with the addition of the new treble bell, has been rehung on heavy rolled steel girders with all the latest modern fittings, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. have carried out the work in their customary efficient manner.

The dedication service took place on Saturday, when there was a very large and representative congregation present, and about 80 ringers came from Swindon, Exeter, Sidmouth, Buckfastleigh, Ashburton, Dartington, Staverton, Holne, Rattery, Plymouth, and Lanhedroch, Bodmin, and Brixham. The Bishop of Exeter performed the dedication ceremony. The Vicar of Dean Prior (Rev. Canon the Hon. R. J. Yarde-Buller) intoned the service. During the singing of the first hymn the Bishop and his chaplain and the Vicar and Churchwardens proceeded to the tower, where the Bishop dedicated the bells and afterwards set the tenor bell in motion. Immediately following this, rounds were rung by Messrs. A. L. Bennett, E. Hoare, G. E. Stone, W. J. R. Boyer, F. J. Emmett and B. Hest. After further prayers and a hymn, the Bishop addressed the congregation, and congratulated the parish on rehanging their bells in that ancient tower. During the last hymn a collection was taken for the tower and bell fund, there being £67 left to raise, and the collection amounted to just over £70, so that the scheme is free of debt.

After the service the bells were utilised by the Devon Guild of Ringers, and the following members rang a well-struck touch of Kent Treble Bob Minor: Messrs. W. G. Hiscott 1, W. J. Rundle 2, S. O'Shaughnessy 3, T. G. Myers 4, E. W. Marsh 5, G. H. Myers 6. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor were also rung, whilst call changes were rung by the less experienced visitors. Everyone was highly delighted with the tone and 'go' of the bells, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. are to be heartily congratulated on doing an excellent job. It was a red-letter day in the history of Dean Prior, and thanks are due to those who were responsible for carrying out the arrangements for the day.

RIPPINGALE BELLS FUND COMPETITION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—We are sure that many of your readers will be interested to know how we progressed with our effort for the restoration of our bells. About 25 per cent. of those appealed to answered, and in addition to a number of small but generous contributions we received most kind and encouraging letters. May we thank those who helped us in such a brotherly spirit, and so encouraged us to go forward. We are more than grateful to the winner, the Rev. E. V. Cox, of Bramford Speke Vicarage, Exeter, for most generously returning the prize to our fund. His kindness is very greatly appreciated. Whilst we did not receive nearly enough to carry on with the work, yet the amount received is most helpful. We would also thank the Editor of 'The Ringing World' for his helpfulness.

With fraternal greetings to all our ringing brethren.

PRESERVATION OF PEAL BOARDS.

GUILDFORD DISTRICT'S RESOLUTION.

The suggestion of Mr. R. Whittington at the meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Womersley, on November 17th, although raised under the heading of 'Any other business,' is one that should figure prominently on the agenda of all ringing meetings in the near future (verb sap). Evidently inspired by a recent article in 'The Ringing World,' it was to the effect that the Guild should prepare a schedule of all peal boards and other boards containing matters of interest to ringers in its area, and that it should take such steps as may be necessary to preserve these boards. Mr. Whittington expressed the hope that, not only would such a record be kept by the Guild, but that it would be required very soon as part of a national collection. The members present pledged themselves to support a resolution to deal with the matter at the annual meeting of the Guild.

The Guild's proposed Benevolent Fund and the badge for members were also informally discussed at this meeting, over which the District Ringing Master presided, and, although the Executive Committee's proposal to raise a benevolent fund without increasing the annual subscription seemed to find general favour, its efforts to provide a cheap membership badge did not. Most of the members present were of opinion that if a badge were adopted it should be of a better quality than the specimens which had been considered by the committee. From the point of view of attendance the meeting was a little more heartening to the district officers than some have been in the past.

The following officers were duly nominated for office in 1935: District Ringing Master, Mr. C. E. Smith; secretary, Mr. G. Grover; auditor, Mr. C. Hazelden; hon. member on executive committee, Mr. S. Marshall, of Puttenham; and for two ringing members on that committee, Capt. H. J. Cann and Messrs. S. Elton, S. Petter, R. Whittington and W. R. Melville. The last-mentioned nominations will necessitate a ballot at the annual meeting.

The usual form of service was conducted by the Rev. A. L. Brown at Womersley, and the bells at that church (tenor 18 cwt.) and at the neighbouring church at Bramley (tenor 8 cwt.)—both peals of six within hearing of each other and forming a striking contrast in tone and weight—were in demand during the afternoon and evening. Some good touches were rung at both churches, but some of the striking it must be admitted was like the attendance of district members, distinctly patchy.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE RINGING.

The bells of St. Michael, Bishop's Cleeve, Glos, have been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and are now in excellent going order. On November 15th 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, the first on the bells, was rung by: Thomas Dyer 1, Fredk. Townsend 2, Walter Yeend 3, Harold Holford 4, William Dyer 5, John F. Ballinger (conductor) 6.

On Saturday, by the kind invitation of the Rev. N. E. Hope, Vicar of Shedworth, Glos, who is a very keen ringer, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung at the Church of St. Andrew: William Townsend 1, Rev. N. E. Hope 2, Walter Yeend 3, Walter Rose 4, George Kilminster 5, John F. Ballinger (conductor) 6. The Vicar kindly entertained the ringers to tea.

THE LATE MR. ALBERT WRIGHT.

To the memory of the late Mr. Albert Wright, a muffled touch of 504 Grandsire Caters was rung at the Parish Church, Stroud, on November 9th, by: C. Gardiner (conductor) 1, J. W. Jones 2, A. Hannis 3, P. Ponting 4, F. Ponting 5, H. Fussell 6, H. Newman 7, C. Dyson 8, W. Dean 9, A. Hanks 10.

FIRST PEAL OF CINQUES AT FAMOUS ABBEY.

By the ringing of a peal of Stedman Cinques at the Abbey Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Tewkesbury, on Saturday, the first peal on 12 bells was rung in this ancient Abbey. Mr. John Austin conducted the peal.

A DORSET RESTORATION.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR A YOUNG BAND.

During the past two or three years a really praiseworthy effort has been made by the people of Corscombe, Dorset, led by their Rector, the Rev. A. N. C. Storrs, to raise some £300 for the restoration of their beautiful bells, and November 9th was a proud day for the village when the Lord Bishop of Salisbury came down to dedicate the work. Notwithstanding the awkward hour of 5 p.m., a large congregation assembled, including ringers and clergy from Buckland Newton, Evershot, South Perrott, Halstock, Kington Magna, Beaminster and Lyme Regis. The Bishop, in his sermon, warmly congratulated the Rector and his people on their zeal and its fine reward, and had a special word of encouragement for the local ringers, who are a young band of the keenest type, anxious for instruction in method ringing. He visited the belfry himself after the service and watched the locals at the ropes.

The bells are a fine six, with a 17 cwt. tenor. They have been entirely rehung on ball bearings and retuned by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., the firm being represented at the opening by Mr. Fidler. All who rang them were delighted in the excellent running and tone of the bells, the visitors contributing touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor in the way of demonstration. The West Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Guild look to this tower and its enthusiastic band in the hope that they will soon be affiliated and eventually become a useful ally to the progress of change ringing.

Last Saturday the first peal was attempted on the bells by a West Dorset band from Evershot and Lyme Regis, but unfortunately it failed after two hours' excellent ringing. However, three 720's of Kent Treble Bob Minor were brought round, these being the first on the bells, by the following: H. D. W. Bishop 1, H. Smith 2, H. G. Keeley 3, C. W. H. Powell 4, F. Price 5, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 6. The band, together with the local ringers, were afterwards most kindly entertained to tea by the Rector and Mrs. Storrs.

THREE GENERATIONS RINGING TOGETHER.

Suffolk seems to be a favoured county for three generations ringing together. In response to the question asked last week, Mr. E. F. Poppy, of Stoke Ash, Eye, Suffolk, writes: 'There was rung at Grundisburgh a peal of Bob Major by three generations of Tilletts (Ipswich), three generations of Clarks (Grundisburgh) and two generations of Symonds. In addition the Suffolk Guild boasts of three generations of Symonds (Lavenham) and three generations of Filbys (Wingfield) as members, so there is a possibility of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Ipswich by the four three generations.'

Mr. G. E. Symonds, Ipswich, writes: On November 16th, 1932, Miss Phyllis Tillet, aged 13, with her father and grandfather, rang a peal of seven 720's of Bob Minor at Rushmere, near Ipswich, also these same three rang a peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, on March 4th, 1933, Miss Tillet (aged 14) ringing the treble.

A SUFFOLK VETERAN LAID TO REST.

On Saturday evening a muffled peal was rung on the bells of St. Andrew's Church, Bramfield, as a last token of respect to the memory of Mr. John Punchard, who was laid to rest that afternoon, in the presence of many ringing friends and others. The handbells were rung over his grave with rounds on eight, and a course of Grandsire Doubles, by four members of the Suffolk Guild, Halesworth District: W. Kemp (Wissett) 1-2, H. Jillings (Heveningham) 3-4, F. C. Lambert (district secretary) 5-6, R. Gardiner 7-8.

Mr. Punchard was 86 years of age, and had been connected with Bramfield tower for over 70 years. He was also a life member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and had rung numerous peals on five and six bells, his last being in 1926, when he rang Bramfield tenor bell for upwards of three hours in his usual vigorous style to a well-struck peal of Doubles. Mr. Punchard was well known in East Suffolk, and had walked hundreds of miles in the pursuit of his favourite art.

TRAINING OF YOUNG RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read from time to time in 'The Ringing World' how many ringers, having made a beginning eventually fall away, and are not seen in the tower any more.

In my opinion one of the first things a would-be 'change ringer' is daunted by is that he is not taught to count his place. Week after week he is told to 'follow' such and such a man, thus making it very difficult to learn how to ring. If someone stood by him and counted his place for him he would soon start to count his own. This was so in my case till a kind friend told me how to count my place. He said, 'It is like going up and down a staircase.' This helped me considerably.

Secondly, good men are often lost through poor attendance at practices. Many ringers come late, and the beginner has to 'hang about' doing nothing because only the 'faithful few' are there, and not sufficient ringers to do anything till time has passed, and only a very hurried practice ensues with no satisfaction and no joy. Therefore the 'would-be' makes up his mind it is not worth the effort and gives ringing the 'go by'.

I have been ringing for three years, and can manage about six methods. To attain this I have had to leave my books till next day, and I know there are others in the same boat. We all, more or less, leave something undone. Well then, let's 'get down to it'; have a good start, a full-time practice, a full-time ringing Sunday; in fact, a 'long pull and a good pull.' Just to close, may I tender my undying gratitude to those who have and do help me in my sometimes patience-trying efforts to become 'a change ringer'?

Buntingford, Herts.

PRESENTATION TO NORTHFLEET SECRETARY.

Mr. Carrott who, in July, resigned the secretaryship of St. Botolph's, Northfleet, on leaving the district, after 15 years' service in this position, was recently presented with a silver bell inkstand, suitably engraved. Mr. G. Lingham, one of the oldest members of the band, made the presentation, and spoke of the amount of work done by Mr. Carrott, especially during the raising of funds for the renovation of the old six bells and the addition of two new bells as a war memorial in 1920.

Mr. Carrott, in thanking the ringers for their token of appreciation, said all he had done for the belfry in the past he had done because his whole interest was in the Northfleet bells, and he hoped the present band would 'pull' together and 'always keep the bells going.'

TRAGIC DEATH OF DERBY RINGER.*ELECTROCUTED WHILE AT WORK.

The ringers of the Cathedral Church of All Saints, Derby, are mourning the tragic death of Mr. William Samuel Horace Hall, who was electrocuted on November 13th while following his employment in the winding department at Messrs. Haslem and Newton, Ltd. First aid was immediately applied, and for a few minutes there were hopes that Mr. Hall would be restored to consciousness, as his pulse began to beat, but afterwards it stopped.

Mr. Hall, who was 34 years of age, was a keen and respected member of the Cathedral Church Sunday service bellringers, and will be greatly missed by his many ringing friends. Although a member of the Midland Counties Association, he had not rung a full peal, which was his great ambition, as his heart and soul were in campanology. He was also a sidesman at the Cathedral Church.

Another interest of Mr. Hall was the Scout movement, he being scoutmaster of the St. Alkmund's Troop, Derby. He was also a member of the Derbyshire Conservative Club, a former chairman of the Castle Ward branch of the Junior Imperial League, a student at the Derby Technical College, and an associate member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The funeral service took place at the Cathedral on Saturday afternoon, and was largely attended. The officiating clergy at the service were the Provost, the Very Rev. H. Ham, the Rev. J. S. Wilding (Vicar of St. Alkmund's), and the Rev. Desmond R. Pocock (chaplain at the Cathedral). During the service the hymns, 'For ever with the Lord' and 'Abide with me,' were sung. The interment took place at the Nottingham Road Cemetery. There were many floral tributes, including one from the Cathedral Sunday service ringers, and in the evening, with the bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was attempted with 9.8.10 covering by local and other ringers who had come to pay their last respect to a most loyal friend, but was unfortunately lost in the last two courses.

The sympathy of many ringers is extended to his mother, Mrs. Hall.

HERTFORD ASSOCIATION AT APSLEY.

A very interesting meeting was held at Hemel Hempstead on November 10th, members and friends attending from Apsley, Berkhamstead, Northchurch, Tring, King's Langley, Redbourn, Harpenden, St. Albans, Watford, Linslade and the local tower. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, the ringing consisting of rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent, St. Clement's, Gainsborough, Little Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Woods (curate), and the Vicar gave a very able and appropriate address for Armistice Day. Tea, very kindly provided by the Vicar, was served in the St. Mary's Hall. At the business meeting, presided over by the Vicar, one new probationer, from St. Albans, was elected, and Apsley was selected for the next meeting. A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kindness, etc., the curate and the organist was accorded with acclamation. Handbell ringing followed, after which the company adjourned to the tower for ringing until 8.30 p.m., the last touch being half-muffled.

INFORMATION WANTED!

I shall be glad if anyone can give me particulars of the performance of the first peal of Double Court Bob Triples.—J. Armiger Trollope (for Methods Committee), 52, Lammas Park Road, Ealing, W.5.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The Archdeacon's invitation to the College Youths to hold a service at St. Paul's on the occasion of their tercentenary is a big step towards the realisation of an idea which has been for some time in the minds of leaders of the Exercise. A great national service for ringers in London's Cathedral would be an impressive event, but hitherto the obstacles have seemed insurmountable. It would have to be a very great success or else it would be a very great failure, for a congregation of less than a thousand is lost in the vast expanse of the dome. Of its value there can be no doubt, and not least in that it would show to the clergy (and some of them need it) that ringers are a force to be reckoned with in the Church. To ringers themselves it would emphasise the fact (and it needs emphasising) that the future of our art depends on the co-operation of the Church and the Exercise. It was not always so. In its beginnings and for most of its history change ringing was a purely secular sport; as secular as cricket or football, though its venue was the church tower. There was nothing strange or wrong in that. Churches were at one time very much more the property of the laity and were very much more the centre of the parish and village life than they are now. Sport in the Middle Ages was intimately connected with the Church and her festivals and continued to be so, though with different circumstances, for long after change-ringing was born. Things have altered now, but change ringing remains in a very great deal of its aspects a secular sport. When we go ringing on a bank holiday we do so in just the same spirit as we should go to play tennis or cricket. When we ring a handbell peal in our own sitting rooms or a tower bell peal at Quex Park or the Loughborough bell tower we do so in just the same spirit as we should ring a peal in the tower of our parish church. And there is nothing in that which is improper, or of which we need be ashamed, or that should be altered. Only there is one thing we must remember. The bells are put up and maintained for other reasons besides giving us an opportunity of enjoying our favourite pastime. Since we have the privilege of practising our art in church belfries we must be prepared to pay the price for the privilege, and the price is that we must give the very best of our art to the service of the Church. And, on the other hand, if the Church is to have her bells rung as they should be for her services she, too, must pay the price, and the price is not to be paid in money, but in giving reasonable facilities for practising the art of change ringing.

The future of the Exercise and the art of ringing depends entirely upon how far we can combine ringing as a pastime and ringing as a Church duty. If we neglect the second, if we do not do our utmost for Sunday service ringing we can hardly expect Church authorities to provide and maintain bells for our use. But that in itself is not enough. It is a condition under which a gift is given to a man, that he must love the gift for its own sake before he can make it worthy to be used in the service of religion. Those bands (and there are some such) which are run purely as part of the parochial church organisation, who think of ringing solely as a part of the Church ritual, and who keep themselves apart from the life of the Exercise, never do any good. Their intentions may be excellent, but their performances are poor. The best service ringing is done by the best peal ringers, and the charge which is so often made against those men that they are selfish, falls to the ground when we consider that the skill they gain in peal ringing results in very much better Sunday ringing.

SUCCESSFUL JUVENILE BAND.

The six members of the St. Peter's Society, Burnham, Bucks, who were successful in ringing a peal of Doubles (reported elsewhere) at Hitcham, Bucks, the average age of the band being 14 years and 7 months. The peal had four conductors, and in order that there should be no mistake in the number of six-scores rung they were called thus: 2nd called four, then 3rd four, 4th four, 5th four, then three each, two each, one each, and the odd two six-scores were called by the 3rd and 4th. The band from left to right are Patrick N. Cashman (age 14 years 11 months) 1, Ronald G. Taylor (age 12 years 11 months) 2, John E. Taylor (age 13 years 7 months) 3, James D. Taylor (age 14 years 7 months) 4, William A. Cyster (age 14 years 7 months) 5, and Norman G. Bristow (age 17 years 5 days) 6. Not content with this success, the four above conductors plus four other members went to Goring a week later and rang the first peal on eight bells for the society. Major was started on, but would not shake into good enough compass, so a halt was called, and a very good peal of Triples rung instead.

WHERE YOUTH PREDOMINATES.

The average age of the company of over 40 that attended the East Berks and South Bucks meeting at Cookham was well under 20, and 'G. Gulliver G.' will have to look to his recently won laurels when these midgets get going. Tea was provided through the kindness of the Vicar.

Methods and rounds were rung to suit all, and during the evening Lord Meston paid a visit to the belfry. Another visitor towards the end of the evening was 'The Belle of New York' but all the gay Lotharios had gone, leaving the poor old married men and women to let the bells down in peal. (It was nearly good enough for A.D.B.)

The handbells were also much in evidence. Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples and 'some' tunes were rung after tea, and more Stedman Triples in the tower, including a 'married couples' course.

WEDDING CONGRATULATIONS.

Known to a large number of ringers as a capable conductor in advanced methods, Mr. Charles F. Andrews, the captain of the St. James' Society, Trowbridge, received many congratulations on his wedding on November 24th to Miss Hilda M. Gaisford. At the close of practice on November 21st, Mr. Andrews, who is leaving Trowbridge, was presented with a cut-glass salad bowl with silver fittings, the presentation being made by Mr. S. J. Hector. Mr. Andrews was assured of a hearty welcome whenever he could come. Thanking the band for their gift, Mr. Andrews hoped that his departure to his new home would not have any deterrent effect on the local band's enthusiasm. He thanked them for their loyal support and regular attendance at Sunday and practice ringing.

RISE AND FALL OF BELLS. COL. JERRAM AND CORNISH RINGING. To the Editor.

Sir,—On reading the Editor's 'Notes by the Way' of your issue of the 23rd, I seem to have missed something, or was a letter from Mr. E. H. Lewis inadvertently left out? I do not know why, when, where or in what connection he made his suggestion, but I most sincerely hope that no one imagines for one moment that I or any other Cornish ringer could demonstrate anything which English ringers could not do equally well, or learn to do if they wanted to.

The point is, they don't want to 'rise' and 'lower' any more than the average Cornish ringer wants to learn change ringing. I have frequently heard change ringers state that it is waste of valuable practice time, and, on Sundays, waste of ringing time. So, of course, it is from their point of view.

In actual fact a good rise and fall is rapidly becoming more rare in Cornwall, more's the pity, the two main reasons being (1) the invention of the stay. Before this invention you had to rise and fall. I learnt to ring in a four-bell stayless tower, and we never did anything else. (2) Some more or less modern bell-hanging. Whatever the reason may be, there is no doubt whatever of the fact that it is impossible to get many tenors to double clapper properly or even to go up right way. In my parish we have two rings, one of eight and the other of six. Both are light rings, yet neither tenor will double clapper going up, and the eight-bell one always goes up wrong and the six-bell usually does.

There was some correspondence a while back on this subject, when short clapper-flights were blamed. Not being a mechanic, I can give no reason, but I suggest that consideration might be given to the combined possibilities of short flights plus no cannons, thereby making the bell too short for its size. Anyhow, the fact remains that, whereas old bells were perfect for rise and fall if for nothing else, many new ones are not. A rise and fall to be anything at all must be perfect, and where perfection is a matter of impossibility men will not attempt it. So in a large percentage of Cornish towers to-day bells are either left up or raised singly. For rise and fall and evenness of striking I suppose Pennington's bells are as near perfection as can be obtained, and one finds in consequence the best round ringing in the eastern part of Cornwall and West Devon. However, I mustn't let myself be drawn into my usual bugbear, 'modern gadgets,' so to return to Mr. Lewis' suggestion, I fear that someone will have to finance for a long period the mines, fisheries and farms of Cornwall before we can raise the necessary cash to tour England.

A FLOURISHING DIVISION.

NORTH ESSEX RINGS 54 PEALS IN PAST YEAR.

A year of good progress was reported at the annual meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association held at Braintree on November 17th. The youngest members were the earliest arrivals, and had an opportunity of trying their hands at a few rounds and some of the simplest methods. As the members increased, the methods advanced until a touch of London Surprise was rung. The service was conducted by the Rev. S. Billingham, the lesson being read by the district secretary, and the collection for the bell restoration fund amounted to £1 6s. 6d.

After tea, served in the Church Hall, the meeting took place. The District Master (Mr. A. Saunders) presided, and there were 62 ringers present, representing 22 towers. Before the business, the District Master made reference to the recent sudden death of Mr. A. H. Head, of Chelmsford, and as a mark of respect the company stood in silence for a few moments.

The district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell) read a short report of the work in the division during the past year. Five meetings had been held with an average attendance of 44. Eleven members had been elected and 54 peals had been rung on tower and handbells, viz.: Bob Doubles 1, Minor methods 12, Grandsire Triples 1, Stedman Triples 2, Bob Major 5, Double Norwich 4, Oxford Treble Bob 4, Kent Treble Bob 4, Superlative Surprise 7, Cambridge Surprise 4, Yorkshire Surprise 2, Bristol 1, London 7. Eighteen persons conducted the peals, Mr. W. Keeble heading the list with 26.

The district secretary read a letter from the Master (Mr. E. P. Duffield) regretting his inability to attend. The District Master was re-elected. After returning thanks for the honour conferred on him, he hoped he would be able to give the same satisfaction in the future as he had done in the past. The district secretary was also re-elected.

One ringing member was elected, and Finchfield was selected for the next place of meeting on February 9th, 1935. It was also unanimously agreed to hold the annual meeting for the division at Braintree and Booking alternately.

Mr. F. J. Pitstow (general secretary) explained the forthcoming referendum on the proposal to change the name of the Essex Association. He hoped that when the time came every member would vote and carry out the instructions promptly. Mr. W. Keeble suggested that where a grant was made for restoration work from the Bell Restoration Fund someone should be placed in charge of the bells and see that they were not neglected. This should be brought to the notice of the churchwardens.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Who were the B.Y.P. who 'divided a plate' between them?

The peal at Midsomer Norton, Somerset, reported in our last issue, was the first peal of Major on the bells and not the first on the bells.

A stay tried conclusively with one of the midgets at Cookham and lost, but no one noticed him pull the bell more than was necessary.

Another Cornish congratulation. This time to Mr. Silas C. Bone, who rang his first peal on Saturday at Perranwell. He is 67 years of age.

We apologise to our Lancashire friends in describing Ulverston as in Yorkshire in our last issue. Ulverston is affiliated to the Furness Branch of the Lancashire Association.

The peal at Woburn was an 'omnibus' one for birthday celebrations. Mrs. Frank Boreham, Mrs. M. Birmingham and Betty, Mary and James E. Hinton all being included in the compliments.

By conducting a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major last Saturday, at Hungerford, Berks, Mr. J. T. Dyke has conducted peals in 200 different towers. Mr. Dyke should be able to tell an interesting story of the belfries of England.

Mr. R. Pickering, of Wolverhampton, informs us that 'Holt's Original' was rung 'silent' 25 years ago—on November 20th, 1909—at Christ Church, West Bromwich. Seven of the ringers and one of the umpires are still living. He believes this was the last time it was rung non-conducted.

Two new members were elected to the Herts County Association at the meeting of the Eastern District at Sawbridgeworth on November 17th. There was some good ringing on the fine old ring of bells. Hopes are entertained that this band, once very prominent, may again come to the front.

After an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples, at Swansea, Glamorganshire, on November 24th, a quarter-peal was rung by the following: R. Dobbins 1, W. Dobbins 2, D. J. Williams 3, G. Popnell 4, W. J. Cross 5, G. I. Lewis 6, A. J. Pitman (conductor) 7, E. Stinch 8. A birthday compliment to the ringer of the 3rd.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

The tourists have completed their Australian tour, and, according to a radio message received this week, all are well and are now homeward bound.

The record of the tour is:—

Melbourne two peals.

Hobart two peals.

Ballarat one peal.

Sydney two peals.

On Nov. 25th the first peal on handbells in the Pacific Ocean was rung.

In addition there were peals on handbells rung in the Eastern Mediterranean and the Arabian Sea.

By the ringing of 720 Hull Surprise on November 22nd, at St. Peter's Church, Rock Ferry, Cheshire, the 41 Surprise methods have been rung this year by the Sunday service band. The band consisted of F. T. Parry 1, Miss D. I. Leatham 2, Miss M. Cooke 3, J. Leslie 4, A. K. Leatham 5, W. Dean (conductor) 6. This is the first time all these methods have been rung in the Wirral Branch, and is believed to be the first time they have been rung in the same year by a Sunday service band of the Chester Diocesan Guild. Congratulations!

On November 25th, at Grundisburgh, Suffolk, an attempt for a peal of Bob Major, conducted by Mr. Wm. Dye, was unfortunately lost after an hour's ringing. The attempt was to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dye. Mr. Dye did a lot of ringing and conducting in the early days of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and was the first man in the association to call Holt's Original, at Holmingsham, on May 10th, 1881. He also called W. Harrison's 10,176 of Treble Bob at Goddenham in 1888 in 5 hours 55 minutes. After the attempt, the band and friends were very hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Dye, and many wishes were expressed for their continued long life, health and happiness.

The whole Exercise will congratulate the very clever band who last rang a peal of London Surprise on handbells. It was a triumph of skill, practice and perseverance. They are, of course, not the first to accomplish the feat, though that does not lessen their merit. The first peal in the method in hand was rung at Romford in 1904 by three brothers Pye, with Mr. William Keeble, and in 1920 the four brothers Goffton rang a similar peal at Monkseaton, Northumberland.

A Great Reception at Perth.

FIRST EXPERIENCE OF COMMONWEALTH HOSPITALITY.

The ringing tourists travelling by the 'Barrabool' touched Australian soil for the first time on Oct. 15th, when they landed at Fremantle and visited Perth, where they rang at St. George's Cathedral and were entertained to lunch. The whole visit revealed the cordial hospitality of the churchpeople of Perth.

ss. 'Barrabool,'

October 18th, 1934.

We have had our first experience of Australian hospitality—and it knocked our pre-arranged programme sideways. Our plan, in the absence of any definite information from Perth, was to get ashore from the ship at Fremantle as early as possible, make for Perth by taxi, do what we could to the bells in the time available, and start for a peal of Bob Major. There are lots of formalities before one can enter Australia, including a medical examination, for which everyone was fetched out of bed at six o'clock in the morning to await the pleasure of the port medical officer, who arrived on board about 7.30. We were through with this and breakfast by nine o'clock, and then a young gentleman in clerical garb came on the ship, requesting us to wait the arrival of the Dean and a small fleet of cars to fetch us up to Perth. The young clergyman was the Rev. Clift, of the Seamen's Mission, whose special business it is to meet the ships in, and he received us with great cordiality. Soon followed the Dean (Canon C. H. Moore), Archdeacon Parry (no relation to the Archdeacon who presides over the destinies of the Diocesan Guild in North Lincolnshire) and another Church dignitary.

The twelve of us in our party were packed into three cars, with our paraphernalia of ropes, spanner, overalls and oil can (borrowed from the ship's engineer), to say nothing of the castor oil and lard brought from England. We were driven to various points of interest along the route, and to the war memorial in King's Park, which overlooks the broad Swan river, with the panorama of Perth laid out on the opposite bank. It was a pleasing picture. The majority of people live in red-roofed bungalows, which spread almost everywhere over the country side between Fremantle and Perth, but with roads well planned, and open spaces, which were once part of the original 'bush.' We took a peep into the grounds of the Church of England College, a new building, whose gardens were aglow with stocks, delphiniums and other flowers which are the delight of gardens at home in early summer.

Then to the Deanery at Perth, where light refreshments were served, but long before this it was obvious that a peal attempt was out of the question. We had been let into the secret of the programme that had been arranged for our benefit, and in addition to a more or less formal lunch in our honour we were to meet at mid-day the local youths who are forming a band of ringers at the Cathedral. As we had to be back on the 'Barrabool,' twelve miles away, by 3.30 p.m., we quickly realised that the courtesies of the occasion demanded at least the abandonment of the peal.

Someone has previously made the remark that the world is small. Mr. and Mr. Richardson had no sooner alighted from the car at Perth than they were approached by old friends who used to visit Rupert's home a quarter of a century ago, but of whom he had heard nothing since. A former ringer of Shere, Surrey, George Dartnall, came to greet me, with, for identification purposes, a photograph cut from a Surrey county newspaper. He had rung with me thirty years ago. Lancashire people came to search out Mr. and Mrs. Sharples, someone from Fareham sought Mr. Linter, and Joe Hardcastle found natives of his country of broad acres waiting for him. We found, too, that, although we did not see him, a brother of Mr. Percy Johnson, of Leeds, is employed with the same firm as the youthful leader of the Perth ringers. George Martin was greeted by an old Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, resident. As soon as we could with decency tear ourselves away from all who desired to welcome us, we investigated the belfry. When it is remembered that Perth is an isolated ring of bells—there are probably no others within a thousand miles—the condition of things was much better than one might have expected. The Cathedral and tower are brick built, about fifty years old, while the bells were added in 1901 as a memorial to Queen Victoria. Once there was a band that could ring Grandsire Doubles, but they faded out years ago, and no change ringing had been done on the bells for something like fifteen years when we arrived.

At present a young band, recruited from the Scout Movement, is being built up, and their ringing chamber was certainly a credit to them. It was also gratifying to find eight ropes in excellent condition. The bells had been greased, and it only remained to get them up. When the tenor was raised, however, there was an ominous bumping overhead. Investigation showed that the clapper was striking the frame, but Rupert cured this by tightening the nuts on the stock and screwing up the crown staple bolt by quite half an inch. As a peal was out of the question, we wasted no further time in 'bell hanging,' although an hour spent among the bells would doubtless have effected considerable improvement. In the presence of a belfry full of people, the Dean offered short prayers, and we rang the first touch—Grandsire Triples—which revealed a propensity to slip wheel on the part of the third. Then followed Treble Bob Major, which emphasised the fact that in ringing the bells we also had to 'ring' the tower, which, being of brick, displayed a considerable movement, and had we been going for a peal the 'backenders' would have had something of a twisting unless we could have hit a pace that did not synchronise with the oscillation of the building. A touch of Stedman Triples followed, and then a touch of Bob Major was brought home.

And that was the end of the change ringing, for on going to set the bells the tenor, which set abnormally deep, went completely over owing to a new but inefficient slider giving way. It had only been put in on the previous Saturday, and it went like a carrot with the mere weight of the bell. As it happened, not more than one other short touch would have been possible on account of lunch. The front six were therefore lowered in peal.

The square outside the Cathedral had been full of people listening, many of them for the first time, to bells rung in English fashion, and others, with recollections of 'home'—the old country is still 'home' to all her sons and daughters—hearing after long years something which brought back what is probably the most vivid of all their memories of the old country—church bells ringing. Many of them expressed regret that they could not hear more, but with the curtailed time available this was not possible.

At lunch we were entertained by the Cathedral authorities, several members of the Chapter being present, as well as all the local ringers. The Dean presided, and among those present were Mrs. Moore, Archdeacon Huddleston, Archdeacon Parry, Canon L. Marshall, Canon Armstrong, and Mr. J. O. Fisher (diocesan secretary).

The Dean, in a speech of whole-hearted welcome, expressed the great pleasure that he and the members of the Chapter had in entertaining their friends from overseas. They felt, he said, they were more than amply repaid, first by the 'peals' that had been rung, and, secondly, by the inspiration which would be given to the lads who were forming the new team at the Cathedral.

Mr. Fussell, on behalf of the visitors, said that was a unique gathering. That was a gathering for the first time in history of Anglo-Australian ringers. It was a wonderful thing, when they thought of it, that men should travel so many thousands of miles to practise the old English art. As soon as they set foot for the first time in Australia they received a warm welcome from the Dean and Chapter, and he hoped the generous impulse which prompted this welcome and started them on their way, would forward the missionary task which they had undertaken among the belfries of the Commonwealth (applause).

With the few minutes left after lunch, the visitors were to take a look at Perth's fine main shopping thoroughfare, and then they had to be hurried back to Fremantle. On reaching the ship they had something of a shock when they found that Mr. and Mrs. Sharples were missing. They had visited friends in Perth and were expected to find their own way back to the ship. Sailing time drew near, and it was not until a minute or two before the 'Barrabool' cast off that the missing couple were observed running along the quay side—faster, probably, than they have sprinted for many a long day. They had mistaken the time of our departure from Perth. They were greeted with cheers as they came last aboard, and Mrs. Sharples blushed with the warmth of her reception. They were more fortunate, however, than another pair of fellow voyagers who reached the quay after the ship had pulled out into midstream, and were left behind. With luck, they may overtake us at Adelaide.

We were surprised, and, naturally, delighted with the kindness shown to us at Perth, and we came away with the feeling that our visit had been well worth while. The time we were able to spend with the Dean, the church authorities and the young ringers is likely to have much more valuable results than the ringing of a peal. Although our stay was, perforce, limited, the cordiality of our reception was beyond question, and it is hoped that those who make the return journey via Fremantle will have the opportunity of putting in a few hours of practical work with the Perth band at a later date, as the boat on the homeward journey usually makes a much longer stay at the port.

To-day we have played off the Bellringers' Deck Quoit Championship. It was organised by Jovial Joe, who since he left England has become a boy in spirits. He induced us all to put up our three-pences for prize money; we had a proper draw for order of playing, and then set about the job in real tournament fashion. There were three matches in the preliminary round, the rest having byes. Mr. Sharples, on ship's form, started favourite, but play revealed one or two dark horses, including Old Bill, who was not beaten until the semi-final. Parson James, because he had never played quoits, wanted to scratch after receiving a bye in the first round, but thought better of it, and gave the favourite a nasty shock in the early stages of their second round match. However, he was eventually beaten by 15-11.

In the semi-finals Sharples beat Martin 15-7, and Linter beat Fussell 15-9. The final was over 21 points, and there was a ding-dong struggle (as one would expect from ringers) most of the way. The score was eleven all, and then fifteen-fourteen in favour of Mr. Sharples, who, however, eventually ran out a fairly easy winner at 21-16. We had the true championship climax, when the victor's wife dashed into the ring and embraced her husband, while he was smilingly receiving the plaudits of the assembled company.

But there's a snag for the winner. He takes the entrance fees as a prize, but he has got to stand drinks all round! And lemonade and port in Australian waters is 1s. 7d.! Most of us drink lemonade and port when we want to celebrate an occasion.

The following is the champion's estimated balance sheet over the event:—

Expenditure: Entrance fee 3d., ten lemon and ports 15s. 10d., total 16s. 1d.

Receipts: Prize money 2s. 9d., victory honours, known as deficit, 13s. 4d., total 16s. 1d.

This does not include the cost of his own refreshment (if any). We anticipate that he will go without.

Late News.

Mr. Sharples is sorry Mr. Linter did not win the Deck Quoits Championship. Mr. Linter is glad he didn't. Rupert was cute. He led his opponent up the garden in the first round to 14 all, and then quietly slipped out. He had already realised that to win through would be expensive.

VISITORS REACH MELBOURNE.

The First Peal Success.

The Australian tourists reached Melbourne on October 22nd, and on the 24th scored their first peal in the Commonwealth, all nine of the ringers, with one of the members of the St. Paul's Cathedral band, taking part. The peal (Bob Royal) was rung under the auspices of St. Paul's Cathedral Society, of which all the visitors had been elected honorary members before their arrival.

ss. 'Barrabool,'

Sunday, October 21st.

Our call at Adelaide on Friday, October 19th, provided us with a second illustration of Australian hospitality. The only bells available for ringing in the city are a ring of six at St. Andrew's Church in the suburb of Walkerville, but what our programme was to be was unknown to us until we landed. The 'Barrabool' berthed in the Outer Harbour, about fifteen miles from the city, at 11 a.m., and she was making a stay of 24 hours, giving us ample time for anything we might wish to do. As soon as the ship was alongside the quay, there were the inevitable pressmen anxious to interview and photograph us, and before we left Adelaide we found ourselves pictured and paragraphed in the city's two principal daily newspapers.

Canon Hewgill, the Rector of St. Andrew's, had kindly arranged for four cars to meet us at the ship's side, and came personally with Mrs. Hewgill to greet us. They were accompanied by the Rev. T. G. Ledlow, the curate. When we reached Adelaide the Canon entertained us to lunch, before taking us on to St. Andrew's, where a number of people were awaiting our arrival, including Mr. William Knight, who has been a ringer at the church for 46 years and captain of the band for nearly the whole of that time. Mr. Knight has taught scores of young men to ring, but his experience has been no different to the general state of affairs at home. Very few beginners remain to make proficient ringers, but Mr. Knight has usually been able to muster a band, and at present the bells are rung for services twice every Sunday—an encouraging thing to find at a tower with no other band of ringers within 500 miles.

Another who was there to meet us was Mr. Tom Waterman, who left England in 1895, and who, before that, used to ring at Christ Church, Ealing. Mr. Waterman was accompanied by his son, Mr. A. Waterman, and his daughter. At one time Mr. Waterman and three or four of his sons rang at Walkerville, but the war broke their connection with the church. Another gentleman, not a ringer, produced a photograph of a peal band and peal board at Isleworth. He was a cousin of that well-known old Middlesex ringer, Mr. Tom Beadle, who was one of the peal band. We also found a link with Painswick. Mr. George Powell, now very advanced in years, had expressed a wish to meet the visitors and hear them ring. He was the son of the late Mr. Jas. Powell, a ringer of Painswick for 50 years, who took part in one of the long peals there. For his benefit a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells in the street, around the car in which he was seated. 'It is more than 50 years since I heard anything like that,' he said as the bells finished amid the plaudits of a large and interested audience.

MELBOURNE CATHEDRAL,

where the first tower bell peal of the tour was rung on October 24th.

The flag of St. Andrew was flying over the church, one of the oldest in Adelaide's suburbs. It was built about 50 years ago, and the six bells, which came from the Whitechapel Foundry in 1886, have a tenor of 12 cwt. 3 qr. 17 lb., and a total weight of 50 cwt. 1 qr. 10 lb. They are hung in a wooden frame and have a rather long draught of rope. The tower is stone and brick built, and the whole church is of a pleasing appearance. The ringing chamber, approached from the vestry by long, straight, open steps, was not sufficiently commodious to contain all who sought to see us ring, but it has only one real drawback, and that is lack of efficient ventilation.

When we reached the church the information was sprung upon us that we had got to broadcast, and the engineers were already busy fixing up the apparatus in the churchyard. We had only sufficient time to try out the bells with 120 of Grandsire Doubles before the ten minutes' broadcast had to begin. This consisted of two six-scores of Doubles, and was sent out from a regional station. Twenty minutes later we had to go 'on the air' nationally, and in order that Australia might hear some good striking we were not ashamed to ring two more six-scores of Grandsire. This was transmitted to Melbourne over 500 miles of land line, before being sent out. After other ringing had been done, the visiting ringers and others were entertained to tea at the Rectory, where various publications of the Central Council were handed to the Rector for the use of the ringers, by Mr. Goldsmith, who conveyed the Council's greetings to the Walkerville ringers. Mr. Fussell, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Rector for his great hospitality, and hoped the visit would encourage the local ringers to take up change ringing.

The Rector expressed thanks for the gifts and the pleasure which was felt at the visit of the English ringers. He asked them to convey fraternal greetings from the band at Walkerville to the ringers of the old country, through the Council.

Six of the company then returned to the tower and rang what is probably the first 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor ever rung out of the British Isles. It was very well struck, and afterwards for the first time the people of Walkerville heard bells lowered in peal. The ringers of the Cambridge were: C. Sharples 1, Mrs. R. Richardson 2, W. Linter 3, J. S. Goldsmith 4, G. Martin 5, R. Richardson (conductor) 6.

Afterwards the party went on to St. Augustine's, Unley, a magnificent modern church, built in stone. The tower contains a very fine chime of 13 bells by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. A brass plate records that they were presented by Frederick Hugh and Nellie Lindow, April 25th, 1933. We heard these bells delightfully played by the organist, and they are a crowning glory of a very fine building.

After dinner in Adelaide we were carried off by car to the home of Mr. A. Waterman, at Woodville, where a very enjoyable evening was spent, enlivened by a programme of music, interspersed with handbell ringing. There were violin and pianoforte duets, songs and recitations, and the handbells were rung out of doors for the benefit of the nursing staff of an adjoining hospital. It was with difficulty that we could drag ourselves away to catch the last train to the harbour, and it was past midnight when we rejoined the 'Barrabool' after a strenuous day.

Our thanks are due to many people for the enjoyable time we spent, but particularly to the Rector of St. Andrew's and Mrs. Hewgill, Mr. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Waterman, and to Mr. F. W. J. Staude, one of the ringers, whose car was at our disposal throughout the day, and who gave some of us an opportunity of seeing Adelaide both by daylight and lamplight.

To-day has been chiefly occupied in repacking in preparation for leaving the 'Barrabool,' which has been our floating home for more than five weeks. We have travelled in complete comfort. The Australian Bight, which has a more evil reputation than the Bay of Biscay, smiled upon us, and our trip from the day we left the Thames has been almost perfect. The decks have sometimes heaved under us; winds have blown both hot and cold, and we have sweltered under the damp heat of the Red Sea, but, taken all in all, it would be difficult to get a better voyage—and we are duly thankful. The officers and those members of the crew with whom we have come in contact have been courteous itself and ever ready to assist us, not only in the ordinary affairs which concern the passengers, but in giving us facilities for our handbell ringing; and to them all we are grateful.

There was an incident as pleasing as it was unexpected to-night when we assembled for dinner. A small handbell with ornamental brass handle stood on the table in Mr. Fussell's place, and on a card attached by red ribbon was 'Barrabool. With the compliments of the ship's company. Speech!'

Accordingly, while dinner was in progress, the dinner bell was rung to gain silence for Mr. Fussell, who acknowledged the gift, spoke of the satisfaction of our party with the comfort of the boat and our gratification at the homely and fraternal friendship received from all on board. We had come a long way, he said, to ring the bells of Australia, and our experience was that as long as there were ships like the 'Barrabool' Britannia would rule the waves. The British Colonies had carried on in a small way the traditional bellringing of old England, and the English ringers had come to Australia to encourage it further. On behalf of all the party he thanked the passengers of the 'Barrabool' for their comradeship, and the captain, officers and crew for the manner in which they had carried them safely on the high seas.

The speech was warmly applauded and on behalf of the commander and the ship's personnel, the Ship's Surgeon, who was presiding at dinner, thanked Mr. Fussell for his remarks.

Since our arrival in Melbourne on Monday (October 22nd) all has been rush and bustle. First of all we had to satisfy the inquisition of half a dozen newspaper reporters, who wanted to know all about our trip, our intentions and our art. Meanwhile the Precentor of the Cathedral (Rev. R. Sherwood), with Mr. J. L. Murray (president of the Cathedral Ringers' Society), Mr. Spencer (vice-captain), Mr. A. A. Savage (the hon. secretary), Mrs. Savage, Miss Shimmins (a member of the Cathedral band), Mr. A. Behan (a former English ringer), Mr. J. C. Nolan (of St. Patrick's Society), and others, came aboard to greet us and offer us a warm welcome to Melbourne.

The next business was the negotiation of the Customs. The Australian Customs do not miss much. Some of the gifts we brought out had to pay for admission to the country. They were 'duty free,' but all the same we had to pay 'primage'—I don't know quite what it is, but it seemed to me it was part of the scheme to get back some of the adverse rate of exchange. On top of this we had also to pay

'sales tax,' although nothing we brought was intended for sale, and the queer thing was that it was not on the ringing text books we have brought, but, of all things, on the albums of photographs! The officials were all very pleasant about it, and we paid up as if we were pleased too. But our looks belied our thoughts.

Rupert was in trouble also. He had taken several reels of films on the voyage. But undeveloped films are not admitted to Australia, and he was kept busy all the morning taxi-ing about Melbourne—at a shilling a mile—to get his films released, which eventually, by the goodness of Providence and the kindness of a Government official, he succeeded in doing.

Meanwhile the rest of us had been taken to our Melbourne 'homes.' Most of the menfolk are staying with the headmaster of Trinity Grammar School. The rest are quartered elsewhere.

In the afternoon we paid a visit to St. James' Old Cathedral, which now fulfils the position of a parish church. Piloted by Mr. Murray, we were met by the Vicar (Rev. R. M. Hudson), who gave us the interesting history of the church, and told us a rather lamentable story about the bells. Originally the Cathedral, built nearly a century ago, stood in Little Collins Street. When the requirements of the religious life of the city demanded a bigger building, and at a time when St. James' had grown into a state of considerable disrepair, the present magnificent Cathedral of St. Paul was built nearer to the centre of the city and St. James' Cathedral was taken down and rebuilt elsewhere to serve a growing industrial area. Since then, however, the demands of industry are making inroads upon the district, the workers are being pushed further out, the houses giving way to factories and warehouses, and the population of St. James is gradually but surely diminishing.

The story of the bells is a sadder one. When they hung in the tower originally they were frequently rung. When the church was moved and the bells were reinstated ringing upon them was again begun, but the re-erected tower showed signs of shakiness and soon developed such serious cracks that ringing has been entirely stopped since 1913. The bells are now 'clocked,' and two or three quite keen young men chime tunes on them for Sunday services. The prospect of seeing ringing re-established at St. James' seems rather remote. We did our best to advocate a restoration, and we hope that the subject may be considered, but lack of funds—as in so many other parishes—is the great and immediate stumbling block.

Nevertheless, our reception at St. James' was very cordial, and after we had rung handbells in the ringing chamber and endeavoured to chime Grandsire Triples, we were entertained to tea by ladies of the parish, who in turn were greatly interested in the handbell ringing which was done. Mr. Fussell expressed the visitors' thanks for the hospitality shown them, and the Rev. R. M. Hudson assured the visitors of the great pleasure their visit had given, and expressed good wishes for the success of the tour.

In the evening the party were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Murray at dinner before visiting the Cathedral to make their first acquaintance with St. Paul's ringers. First, however, they were shown round the Cathedral itself by Mr. Riddle, one of the lay members of the Chapter. It is a noble building of fine proportions, in two colours of sandstone. One of its most striking features is its reredos, in Venetian inlaid marble, the upper panels depicting the Last Supper and the Crucifixion. The Cathedral was built 50 years ago, but the central and 'western' spires were completed only last year.

It is a steep climb up to the ringing chamber, and there we were enthusiastically greeted by a full muster of Cathedral ringers and other brethren of the craft from St. Patrick's. It was half an hour before we got to the ropes, and when we pulled off the back ten we heard a magnificent ring of bells. They are a peal by Mears and Stainbank, with a tenor of 31½ cwt., and 'go' in a manner that betokens careful attention. A course of Grandsire Caters was rung as a 'feeler,' and thereafter short touches were brought round, in which the visitors were joined by the local ringers. The greatest enthusiasm, however, was shown when a course of Bob Royal was brought round to a great volume of hand clapping and 'bravo's.'

According to our information it was the first course of Bob Royal brought round on the bells. Councillor A. Kane, who has been our link with the Melbourne Centenary Celebration Committee, took the tenor for a course of Grandsire Caters, and afterwards a course of Grandsire Cinques was rung. It was a great day for Melbourne ringing, and we, too, were content to 'call it a day' when we reached our temporary home at midnight. We had had 18 hours of strenuous going.

The day after our arrival we had to meet two social engagements. In the morning we were received at the Town Hall by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, and in the afternoon we had tea with the Archbishop of Melbourne and Mrs. Head. But more of this anon.

Late News. October 24th.

We have just rung the first ten-bell peal in Australia and the first peal of Bob Royal out of the British Isles. It was our first attempt for a peal on church bells during the tour, and the band was made up by Mr. J. W. Spencer, a former ringer at Groby, Leicestershire, who has been in Australia for 22 years, and took part in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Melbourne in 1925. It was not all easy going, but there was great satisfaction in scoring at our first attempt.

COMBINED MEETING AT LEEDS.*PASSING OF MR. R. C. SQUIRES.

Previous to attending the joint meeting at St. Chad's, Headingley, of the Ladies' Guild (Northern Section) and the Leeds and District Society, a large company of ringers attended the funeral service of the late Mr. R. C. Squires, one of the Leeds Society's bank account trustees and a ringer at St. Chad's Church. Handbells were rung in the church by Messrs. P. J. Johnson, J. W. Moorhouse, J. Thackeray and G. W. Slack, jun. When the cortege left the church for the Lawnswood Cemetery, the bells were rung half-muffled by Mr. Squire's own colleagues of St. Chad's.

The ringers' service was held later in the afternoon, being conducted by Rev. C. C. Marshall, M.A., Vicar of St. Chad's and president of the Yorkshire Association.

Tea followed in the Schoolroom. Immediately after, the meeting ceased to be a joint one for a short time, as the ladies retired to an adjoining room for their business meeting. At the Leeds Society's meeting the ringers stood for one minute in silent remembrance of their late colleague. One new member was elected, Rev. C. C. Marshall, of St. Chad's. The following nominations were received too late for confirmation at this meeting: Miss L. K. Bowling, of St. Chad's, Messrs. J. Ward and T. Duffin, of Ossett, J. Broadley and B. Raynor, of Bradford Cathedral. The President proposed the usual votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Chad's for the use of the bells, Miss Bowling for the tea arrangements, the organist and choirboys for their services, and to the local company for the other arrangements. Rev. C. C. Marshall replied.

In order to avoid clashing with the Yorkshire Association's general meeting, the next meeting will be held at Pudsey on January 12th.

Appropriate votes of thanks were also passed at the ladies' meeting to all who had helped towards the day's arrangements. An outstanding feature of the meeting was the splendid result of an appeal for subscriptions.

'MEN'S BELLS' AT OLD HACKNEY.*A REGISTER DATING FROM 1635.

The ring of eight with a tenor of about 24 cwt. at St. John's Church, Old Hackney, go just badly enough, states a correspondent, to deserve the appellation 'men's bells.' Despite this criticism the meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild on November 17th was very enjoyable, and various methods from call changes to Surprise Major were rung.

The service was conducted by the curate, and in his address he made a very interesting disclosure. He said that a short while ago he was examining the oldest existing register in the parish and had found the rules for the first Hackney Society of Bellringers founded in 1635, two years before the Ancient Society of College Youths! The bells, of course, did not hang in the present tower, which was comparatively modern, but in the old tower still standing in another part of the vast churchyard.

At the business meeting the Master extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, particularly those who had come from some distance—the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, of Kingston Magna, Dorset, Mr. E. H. Bagworth, of Leicester, and Mr. F. J. Reeve, of Tring, Herts. Mr. Edwards briefly replied. A vote of thanks to all those responsible for the arrangements brought the business to a close.

20 YEARS' SILENCE ENDS.*BOSLEY (CHESHIRE) BELLS RING AGAIN.

After being silent for 20 years, the bells of Bosley, Cheshire, are ringing again. The Norman tower had fallen under the ravages of time and the death watch beetle, and its condition had given rise to danger. The only course open was to restore the tower and rehang the bells in a steel framework, supported by steel girders. This has been done, and the peal of four bells rehung, together with two new ones given in memory of Hannah Maria Goodfellow and Emma Bullock. Through the energy of the Vicar (the Rev. R. W. Lloyd-Jones) the sum of £350 was raised for this extensive restoration scheme.

The bells were dedicated on November 5th by the Bishop of Chester, who in the course of his address said nothing moved one to exhilaration so much as the sound of a loud and glorious peal of bells, and nothing so deeply touched one with profound melancholy as a muffled peal. The Bishop urged young people to become ringers, for they in a real sense were churchworkers. In travelling through his diocese, he was sometimes a little saddened to find the ringers men over 50 and 60 years of age, and no young ringers amongst them. There should be two sets of ringers, the young and the old, the latter to teach the former so that they could take their place in time.

The service was conducted by the Vicar. Ringers were present from Sutton (St. James'), Macclesfield (St. Michael's) and Christ Church, Old Alderley, Chelford and Gawsorth.

The restoration work and the provision of the new bells were carried out in a satisfactory manner by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon.

DEATH OF MR. G. HOOTON.

We regret to record the death of Mr. George Hooton, of Old Basford, Notts, who passed away on November 3rd. Until recently he was a service ringer of Old Basford. His record of service to Old Basford Church was unique. He had been a chorister for 60 years, choirmaster 20 years, and many years Sunday School superintendent. Mr. Hooton was largely instrumental in getting the bells as a war memorial in the tower. His public service included parish clerk for 40 years, a member of the Board of Guardians and later of the County Council.

The funeral was on November 7th, and was conducted by the Rev. J. Lowndes (Vicar) and the Rev. H. Walton. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave on handbells by F. Salter 1-2, A. Coppock 3-4, A. Barratt 5-6, H. R. Cobbin 7-8.

DEATH OF MR. G. T. PEARCE.

The death took place at Milford Sanatorium on November 21st of Mr. George Thomas Pearce, a member of the Chiddingfold band and the Guildford Diocesan Guild, at the age of 56. He was a most enthusiastic ringer, although ringing but two peals, his knowledge, especially of Minor methods, being extraordinary. He served in the Surrey police for 26 years.

The funeral took place at Busbridge on November 24th, members of the Guild being present from Chiddingfold, Dunsfold, Godalming, Witley and Hascombe, together with past and present members of the County Constabulary. The service was conducted by Rev. A. E. Hollins, Rector of Dunsfold, who gave an appreciative address. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by R. J. C. Hagley 1-2, A. J. Bartlett 3-4, M. Smither 5-6, G. Luff 7-8. A wreath for the ringers was in the shape of a bell.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN MARK.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. John Mark, of Darlaston, Staffs, aged 85. Mr. Mark was a member of the Parish Church band, when the late John Carter joined the band in 1871. He had been connected with the belfry for over 63 years, and attended the usual weekly practice on November 8th. Mr. Mark was present at Wednesbury Town Hall to see his son, Alderman J. Mark, installed as Mayor the following day. He had a seizure on November 12th, and passed away peacefully on November 18th. 720 Plain Bob Minor, with muffled clappers, was rung by the following prior to the funeral: William Parker 1, George Butler 2, George Meath 3, Howard Howell 4, David Hingley 5, Bert Horton (conductor) 6.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Very frequently I have compositions sent me with a request that I should tell the sender whether or no they are original, and almost always I do not know what to say. My correspondents assume that you can sharply divide all compositions into two groups, those that are original and those that are not, and they flatter me by assuming that I know all about the test by which you can divide them. But there is no such test. Whether you consider a composition original or not, depends entirely on what you mean by originality. On the one hand there are, and always have been, very few peals which are not mainly made up of something that went before them, and, on the other, there must still be many hundreds even of Bob Major, which have never as yet been written down in a particular way. But I suspect what my correspondents really mean, though they do not say so, is do I think they are justified in saying that such-and-such a composition was composed by them? That is not quite so difficult to answer, but again not easy. It, too, depends on circumstances. First of all we must remember that if a man has really worked out a peal and not merely copied it from an older one, he has composed it; and the fact is not altered if one (or for that matter a dozen other people) before him have done the same. Some credit at least is justly due to him. If a man knowing nothing of Middleton's composition sets himself to compose a peal of Cambridge, and if, as would be likely, he worked out that peal, he would actually have done a more meritorious thing than Middleton did, who merely, so far as I can see, blundered on it by chance. He could say, and say with truth, that he had composed it. But the snag in that case would be that many people would only think him a fool for his pains since he could so much more easily have got it by turning to any standard book on ringing.

That is an extreme case, but there must be many hundreds of good peals already composed which are not available to any average person without undue trouble. Such peals are bound to be reproduced, and it is difficult to see why the man who reproduces them should not be said to have composed them except for one thing. When a man puts his name to a peal as composer he virtually claims not only that he has composed it, but that he was the first person who did so, and that it is not obtainable from any other extant composition by any recognised rules of variation. And that is a claim which nowadays can be made of very few peals.

The old ideas of the authorship and ownership of compositions which were (and largely are) current in the Exercise have worked themselves out and are obsolete. The expansion of knowledge has shown that peals are not isolated things, but are connected one with another by a graduated scheme of variation, and we must adapt ourselves to a new order of things. The old ideas of authorship must be both narrowed and widened. Narrowed because we must recognise that only here and there and now and then is a peal really original. Widened because we must allow and encourage people to compose peals for particular purposes without any particular regard to what has gone before. If a man wants a particular sort of peal to call there is no reason why he should not put it together and ring it without going to the infinite bother of finding out whether another has done the same before him. Whether he puts his name to it or not must depend on circumstances, but with the simpler and more obvious compositions it would be well if we began to do the same thing that we do in the case of quarter peals and put no name at all. There are many peals to which we cannot with any real justice put any one man's name. If you want a good example you will find one in this week's issue. There is a peal, the best I think for the particular purpose, but if you ask me who was the composer I tell you frankly I do not know.. Like Topsy it 'grewed.'

The peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Perranwell on November 24th was for the Truro Diocesan Guild.

Herbert Knight and Robert Pickering, of Wolverhampton, have rung 180 peals together.

'Princess Marina Surprise Major' is the latest addition to the Surprise school. It was composed by Mr. G. Lindoff and rung at Helmingham, Suffolk, on November 29th.

Mr. Thomas Bolton, the Master of the St. Mary's, Putney, Association, has completed 50 years as a ringer at St. Mary's Church. Congratulations and good wishes!

In the peal rung at Hitcham, Bucks, and published last week, there should be no mark against J. E. Taylor, as he had previously rung a peal of Doubles 'inside' in three methods.

In reply to Mr. R. Pickering, of Wolverhampton, Holt's Original was rung non-conducted at Tonbridge, Kent, on July 16th, 1930. Why not another attempt?—T. S.

Five Pentre ringers with one from Bedwelly, Cardiff, and Newport respectively, were disappointed in losing a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Pentre on Saturday, after ringing 3 hours 5 minutes.

The first peal by a local band since February 24th, 1799, was rung at St. John-the-Baptist Church, Windsor, on November 29th. We trust that there will not be another gap of 135 years before another peal is accomplished.

Mr. James George has received so many letters of congratulation upon his 81st birthday that he finds it impossible to reply to them individually. He desires to thank sincerely all those who have sent him such kindly messages.

Owing to a miscall made after 1½ hours' ringing, an attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples at Woodbridge, Suffolk, on November 29th, failed. This was the longest length for about 22 years, and the best-struck touch Woodbridge has heard for a long while. The conductor offers his apologies to the band.

Mr. George Williams' friends (and they are many in all parts of England) will note with pleasure that he has rung his first peal since his recent illness. Mr. Williams is one of the select few who have scored over a thousand peals, and we hope there may be many more of them to come.

The duties of the late Mr. Albert Wright, of Painswick, have been undertaken by the following: Peal secretary to Gloucester and Bristol Association, Mr. A. E. Reeves, 95, Bloomfield Road, Brislington, Bristol; hon. secretary to Stroud Branch, Mr. T. Price, 1, Bridge Buildings, Stonehouse, near Stroud.

Fifty years ago Mr. P. O. Bixby, formerly hon. secretary to the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, rang his first peal at Long Melford. To commemorate this, eight members of the Suffolk Guild, from Lavenham, Foxcarth, and Long Melford, attempted a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major which unfortunately came to grief after ringing two hours and 25 minutes.

The towers of Worcestershire and others are reminded that there is only one more week to send their contributions towards the appeal for £100 made by the St. Mary's Society, Kidderminster, in connection with the augmenting of the bells of the Parish Church to 12. So far only £42 15s. 6d. has been received. Will those who intend to support this deserving appeal kindly send their donation to Mr. K. Salter, The Berwyns, Marlpool Lane, Kidderminster.

On the eve of his 81st birthday Mr. James George rang the seventh to a peal of Stedman Triples at Bishop Ryder's Church, where he is Ringing Master. It was his 24th peal since his 80th birthday, and to celebrate the event he kindly entertained the band to refreshments after the peal.—In this peal rang Mr. John Marshall, of Edinburgh, whose business has brought him to Birmingham for a few months. Prior to the peal (which was his first of Stedman), Mr. Marshall was elected a life member of the St. Martin's Guild.

CONTINUITY OF SERVICE IN DORSETSHIRE.

BAND OF SIX STILL RING TOGETHER AFTER 38 YEARS.

Among the thousands of ringers who rang last Thursday in honour of the royal wedding probably the most outstanding band was that at the little Dorset village of Marnhull. The band of six was formed on October 16th, 1896, and have a continuous record of service since that date. The anniversary date of the formation of the band has always been steadfastly observed by the members meeting and ringing.

The members of the band are Mr. Tom Foote, the captain and founder of the band, Messrs. Harry Haskett, Mark Dean, Alfred Drew, Jack Crew and Walter Drew. The team pride themselves on rising and falling in peal.

Mr. Foote informs us that when he came to live in Marnhull in 1895 he found that the old ringers were disbanded owing to the death of the Rector. He was asked to form a team in the following year. When the band completed 35 years of unbroken and continuous service ringing a framed souvenir in the form of photographs of the ringers and particulars of the bells was presented by a grateful parish to each member.

Of the bells, the third dates from 1655, and the fourth from 1595, being recast in 1926. The oak frame was constructed in 1887, when Nos. 2 and 6 were recast and the bells rehung. The treble was added in 1904, and the bells again overhauled in 1926 by Messrs Mears and Stainbank.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

A Busy Week in Melbourne.

PRESENTATIONS TO ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.

The ringers touring in Australia had a very busy week following their arrival in Melbourne, but after ringing their first peal at the Cathedral, were unfortunate in losing two attempts for Grandsire Cinques with six of the St. Paul's men. The first was lost really as the result of visitors getting into the ringing room and on the second occasion the eleventh clapper broke. The many gifts taken out to St. Paul's Society were presented at a joint gathering two nights before the party left for Tasmania.

Melbourne,

October 31st, 1934.

The first days of our stay in Melbourne were one long hectic rush. We landed on Monday morning (October 22nd). It was not until Thursday that, during the waking hours, and they were long hours, too, we had time to sit down, except for meals. Our hosts had arranged such a full programme that we were kept busily engaged.

I have already said something about our activities on the day of our arrival and our first meeting with the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, of which we were elected honorary members and were presented with certificates of our membership.

On the following day we had to attend two receptions. In the morning at the Town Hall the Lord Mayor (Sir L. Gengolt Smith) and the Lady Mayoress received us. We were introduced by the Sub-Dean of the Cathedral (Canon Sutton), who, it is interesting to note, has been connected with the Cathedral from the time it was opened 50 years ago.

The Lord Mayor, in a speech of greeting, gave us a cordial welcome to the city, which was honoured, he said, by having a party of ringers visit it from the homeland. There were, he added, two things which never failed to touch his emotions—they were the National Anthem and the sound of church bells. Nothing could be more fitting than the association of the bells at the Cathedral with the dedication of the Shrine of Remembrance on Armistice Day, and he was delighted to know that in the ringing of the bells ringers from the Mother Country would be associated with the ringers of Melbourne. He wished the visitors a very pleasant stay in Australia and a safe journey home.

Mr. Fussell thanked the Lord Mayor for his reception.

Afterwards Councillor Kane conducted the party over the Town Hall, which is one of the finest buildings of its kind in Australia. In the grand hall, which will seat 2,500 people, there is the finest organ in the Commonwealth. In the robing room, Councillor Kane placed his official cocked hat on the head of Mr. Richardson, and we had a view of the future Mayor and Corporation of Surfleet rolled into one.

Having disposed of a hurried lunch, most of the visitors spent the early afternoon in inspecting the Deaf and Dumb Institution, with its chapel, which is doing a fine social work among the afflicted of the city. They then visited the home of the first Governor of Victoria, Charles Joseph Latrobe, whose modest residence was a wooden bungalow, with its kitchen department in an outside building. From this survival of the early days of Melbourne, they went on to one of the most modern establishments, a great shoe factory, where they saw the processes of manufacture from beginning to end. On this expedition they were conducted by Mr. F. Boughton, of the Cathedral band.

There was just time then to reach Bishopscourt to keep the appointment with the Archbishop of Melbourne. There they were joined by Councillor Kane, Mr. Murray, Mr. Savage and other ringers, with their wives.

Again there was the warmest of greetings. The Archbishop and Mrs. Head received each one personally and made special inquiries of the English visitors as to their association with the towers at home. Just at this time everyone in Melbourne was being thrilled by the arrival of Scott and Black, at the end of their marvellous air race from England. On the loud speaker we heard the eye-witness' account of his finish. The visitors to Bishopscourt took tea with the Archbishop and Mrs. Head, and Caters and Bob Major were rung on handbells.

The Archbishop, in a speech of welcome, said he loved to hear the sound of the bells, and when he was at the Cathedral he sometimes crept up into the belfry to see the ringers at their work. The bells of the Cathedral were something they were really proud of. They were also proud of their bellringers, and it was a great joy to welcome them and the English visitors to Bishopscourt. They were delighted to have the ringers from England, who had come to give them a lead, encourage them and back them up. They were, in Australia, part of the old British stock, and he hoped the visitors would feel they were among their own cousins and that they were getting a real British welcome.

Councillor Kane thanked the Archbishop and Mrs. Head for their kind hospitality, remarking that the setting of Bishopscourt, was a very fitting one for the handbells, as it carried back their memories to the old country. The bells to them were a touch of home. Amid laughter, Mr. Kane said he was in the belfry on the previous evening when the visitors were ringing. The 'sergeant-major' gave orders and talked in a tone of voice which he did not understand. If he had been on the barrack square he would immediately have 'formed fours.' He added that they felt the presence of the English ringers amongst them would increase interest in the whole of Australia, and that the ringers in the Commonwealth would grow more enthusiastic in the art. It should do an enormous amount of good for change ringing, which was one of the things that should be cultivated in Australia; it invoked a love of the old country.

Mr. Fussell also added thanks to the Archbishop and Mrs. Head.

After leaving Bishopscourt, the party attended evensong at the Cathedral, where there is a magnificent choir, and where, to his surprise and pleasure, the Rev. E. B. James met an old colleague, when at Oswestry School, in Dr. Floyd, the organist.

The next day was 'earmarked' for the first peal attempt in Australia, and to our great satisfaction this was safely accomplished. It was a peal of Bob Royal, in which all nine of the touring ringers took part, and in which they were joined by Mr. John W. Spencer, vice-captain of the Cathedral ringers. Mr. Spencer, before migrating to Australia in August, 1912, was a ringer at Groby, in Leicestershire, where he rang a few peals of Minor. Two days before he left England he rang in a farewell peal of seven methods of Minor, in which his father rang the treble, and which was conducted by Mr. Ernest Morris. In recent years Mr. Spencer has been ringing with St. Paul's Society, but he had never rung a course of Bob Royal until the arrival of the English visitors. It was curious that four other members of the band should have travelled over 11,000 miles to ring their first peal of Bob Royal, and that Mr. James should also come to Australia to ring his first peal of Bob Royal on tower bells.

There was great enthusiasm among the Melbourne ringers at the success achieved, but as the peal was rung through the middle of the day the employees in the Melbourne Gas Company's offices in an adjoining building were not, we were told, quite so enthusiastic about it. However, it was not necessary to escape by the back door; the vengeance, if any, will fall upon the head of the Precentor.

The bells at Melbourne Cathedral are a really fine peal, and a delight to ring. They were the gift of Mr. J. Dyer Edwards, a generous donor to the Cathedral, and the tenor bears the inscription, 'Gloria in Excelsis Deo. Donator J. Dyer Edwards.' The bells were opened on November 15th, 1889, and our peal was the first on ten church bells ever rung out of the British Isles. It may not be uninteresting to recall that the only previous ten-bell peal rung outside the British Isles was the handbell peal of Stedman Caters in Ostend during the ringers' pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, and by a coincidence I have had the honour of ringing in both.

In the afternoon, after the peal, a visit was paid to the Centenary Horticultural Show in Fitzroy Gardens, where Mr. Savage, the secretary of the Melbourne Society and the organiser of our tour at this end, has his home in a delightful setting. We were much interested in Captain Cook's cottage, which has been brought from England and re-erected in the gardens. It is the cottage in which Cook's parents lived, and some of us sat in the chimney corner seats, where Cook himself probably sat and told his parents of his wonderful discoveries.

While we were in Cook's cottage it began to rain, and it continued in torrents for the next 18 hours. Rivers of water ran down the roadside gulleys; in the country round about rivers overflowed and serious floods caused hundreds of people to leave their homes.

On Thursday, which was a public holiday, there was to have been a great 'floral float' procession—a parade of decorated cars—but it was completely washed out and postponed to the next day.

In one sense, however, the rain brought us welcome relief. We had had a hectic time, and the downpour of the morning, coming when we had no immediate 'official' engagement, gave us the opportunity of some much-needed rest. But in the afternoon we were off again to try the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, a ring of eight by Murphy, of Dublin, which were exhibited in the Dublin Exhibition of 1851, were brought out to Melbourne, where they remained at the old Church of St. Patrick unhung for some years, and were then transferred to the new Cathedral of St. Patrick. Unfortunately we found the bells in a sorry state. Apart from the fact that they are a poor lot, they are 'odd struck,' hung the reverse way round, and 'go' very badly indeed. They are rung more or less regularly by a local band, whose heavy labours seem to be wasted. Mr. J. C. Nolan, the tower leader, told us that the Roman Catholic Church in Melbourne was devoting all its resources to the establishment and maintenance of schools, and there was no money available for bell restoration. Indeed, the completion of the Cathedral itself, which is minus its projected spires and other features, is held up for the same purpose. This is a great pity from the ringing point of view, for it was at this church that the first change ringing in Melbourne was done.

We soon realised that a peal was out of the question—we are not out for three hours of hard work and misery. A band of peal grabbers and bell maulers might have got some satisfaction out of it, but we were unanimous that a peal attempt was not worth while. We rang some Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and finished with a course of Cambridge Surprise Major, the first in Australia.

The next day (Friday, October 26th) the postponed carnival took place, and the main streets of Melbourne were packed with tens of thousands of people. The decorated cars made a really brilliant show. Nearly all the designs—which for the most part illustrated the progress and industries of the various cities of the State of Victoria—were executed in flowers, with, of course, living characters among them. There were vivid colour schemes, extremely original tableaux and many bands, including that of the Grenadier Guards, who are present in Melbourne for the centenary proceedings.

We lunched as the guests of the Melbourne Cathedral Society, and in the afternoon visited the Shrine of Remembrance, Victoria's tribute to the men and women of the State who served in the war, and particularly to the 18,000 who gave up their lives. It stands in a commanding position in St. Kilda Park, near the Governor-General's residence, and can be seen from many parts of the city. It is an imposing building of granite, approached by a long flight of steps and surrounded by carefully laid-out lawns. There are symbolic groups of statuary on two sides of the building and allegorical groups fill the front and back gables. Round the walls of the inner chamber are some wonderful carved stone friezes, commemorating the work of every branch of the Services, and it is interesting to note that these were designed by a young Sydney man only 22 years of age.

The name of every man and woman of the State of Victoria who served in the war will find a place in the Books of Honour which will be placed in the shrine, but the heart of the memorial is a stone in the centre of the inner chamber. This marble slab is sunk below the floor level so that all who would read its simple inscription, 'Lest we forget,' must bow the head. And at exactly the eleventh hour, of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, in every year a ray of sunshine will penetrate the chamber through a specially designed orifice and fall upon this spot. The shrine is nobly designed and carried out, and its purpose is aptly carved on one of the exterior walls:—

Let all men know that this is holy ground. This Shrine, established in the hearts of men as on the solid earth, commemorates a people's fortitude and sacrifice. Ye therefore that come after, give remembrance.

Those of our party who were not too leg-weary went on to Melbourne's famous Botanical Gardens, where they spent nearly a couple of hours wandering through pleasant walks and inspecting the marvellous display of plants and flowers, and later on we were all the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Savage at dinner at the Victoria Hotel.

In the evening we met for a Grandsire Cinques practice with the Melbourne ringers and with a band drawn half from St. Paul's Society and half from the visitors a quarter-peal (1,276 changes) was rung in very creditable style. Indeed it was a great achievement for the Melbourne ringers, for not one of them had previously rung more than a plain course. It was memorable, too, as being the first quarter-peal of Cinques ever rung in Australia. The band was: Mrs. R. Richardson (England) 1, W. H. Fussell (England) 2, C. Sharples (England) 3, Miss Frey Shimmin (Melbourne) 4, J. L. Murray (Melbourne) 5, A. A. Savage (Melbourne) 6, J. S. Goldsmith (England) (conductor) 7, J. W. Spencer (Melbourne) 8, G. Martin (England) 9, A. Boughton (Melbourne) 10, R. Richardson (England) 11, E. Knott (Melbourne) 12. This quarter-peal was a 'try out' with a view to attempting a joint peal on the following day, and the attempt was duly made on Saturday afternoon. Unfortunately it came to grief after an hour and a quarter's ringing through a shift course, which was the outcome of being disturbed by a number of visitors to the Cathedral who, for some unexplained reason, were admitted to the tower. It was a great disappointment, as the ringing went well up to this stage.

On Sunday morning the tourists' forces were divided, some going to St. Patrick's and other to St. Paul's to share in the service ringing. The Rev. E. B. James also took part in the service at St. Paul's Cathedral, reading the Epistle and assisting at the subsequent celebration of Holy Communion. Ringers gathered in force for ringing for evening service, when all the members of St. Paul's Society had the opportunity of ringing with the visitors.

On Monday (October 29th) most of the party spent the day in a motor tour through the picturesque bush and mountain country behind Melbourne, and paid a visit to the Mackenzie Sanctuary at Badger Creek, where some of the gradually disappearing animals and birds of Australia are being preserved under natural conditions. Here we saw kangaroos, wallabies, koalas (which are like brown teddy bears, and live in trees), opossums, flying squirrels, and other quaint creatures. The drive took us through 120 miles of typical Australian scenery, and the day favoured us with the best weather since our arrival.

In the evening there was a gathering of the English ringers with the Melbourne Society and their friends in the Cathedral Buildings, the chief object of which was to hand over the gifts which had been brought out from England. The Precentor (Rev. R. Sherwood), vice-president of the society, presided, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith stated that the presents had been brought as a token of goodwill from the ringers of the British Isles, who had shown the greatest interest in the tour to Australia from the outset of the project. They not only sent their greetings to their brethren overseas, but had desired to send, also, some tangible link of their affection and regard. The Council had sent an address of greeting, illuminated on vellum. Mr. Goldsmith then read the address, which was worded as follows:—

TO THE CHURCH BELLRINGERS OF AUSTRALASIA.

The Central Council of Church Bellringers, at their 42nd annual meeting, held at Warwick on Whitsun Tuesday, 22nd May, 1934, resolved that the ringers visiting Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania on the occasion of the Melbourne centenary, be asked to convey to their brother ringers in Australasia (the greetings of the ringers of Great Britain and Ireland).

The Council therefore ask them to convey these greetings and to express the hope that the sound of church bells rung in changes may become endeared to the people of Australasia as it is to those in the Mother Country.

(Signed) EDWIN H. LEWIS,
President.

Mr. Goldsmith added the interesting information that the address was the work of Miss Kathleen Hughes, whose father was the present head of the firm that cast the bells of Melbourne Cathedral. He asked Mrs. Richardson, one of the two lady members of the Council, to make the presentation, which she did.

Mr. Goldsmith then referred to the albums of photographs which had been sent out by the ringing associations. These volumes, he explained, contained pictures of cathedrals and churches containing notable rings of bells in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, and they had been subscribed by over fifty associations, guilds and societies, all of whom had been delighted to contribute to the collection. They were sent with the good wishes of the ringers of the British Isles in the hope that they would be of interest to ringers in Australia. He asked the Precentor to accept them on behalf of St. Paul's Society.

The Precentor, in acknowledging the gifts, said this visit to Australia was the first of its kind, but he hoped it might be the forerunner of many such visits in the future. He would like to think that some day members of St. Paul's Society might visit the old country. It was a most sporting spirit that prompted the English ringers to come out to Australia. The moment he clapped eyes on them he took a fancy to them, and the more he saw of them the more he loved them (applause). It was a very great joy to the Melbourne ringers to welcome them. He suggested to the St. Paul's Society that they make application to the Chapter to have the address framed and hung in the tower. It was a valuable document, to be kept there for ever (applause).

Mr. Goldsmith then handed over a collection of the publications sent out by the Central Council. Mrs. Richardson presented a book on Tewkesbury Abbey, with photographs of the Davies Memorial Chapel, sent by Mrs. Davies, and Mr. Fussell presented to the society a copy of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson's book, 'Among the bells,' sent by Miss Vera Robinson. It contained the late Rev. F. E. Robinson's signature and also that of the present Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild (Rev. Canon Coleridge). Mr. Fussell also handed to the society a copy of 'Bells Through the Ages,' sent by the author, Mr. Nicholls; 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' sent by the author, Mr. Ernest Morris; a complete collection of the books in the Snowden series, sent by Mrs. Snowden, and a book presented by himself, on the baronial halls and castles of the Motherland.

Mr. J. L. Murray, captain of the society, expressed thanks to the English ringers for their generous gifts. They were delighted to receive them, and would always cherish them as a link between Australia and England. He also thanked them for the brotherly feeling they had created in St. Paul's belfry and amongst St. Paul's ringers (applause). He hoped they would be successful in their peal ringing, and he hoped their visit would be an incentive to the members of St. Paul's Society to raise the art of change ringing to the standard it should have in Australia.

PRESERVATION OF ANCIENT RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was extremely interested in your article in the issue for October 17th last, in which you expressed the need for some organised action to be taken in preparing a schedule of all records of interest to ringers that exist in our belfries all over the country. I have had the opportunity and pleasure of visiting between 400 and 500 belfries in all parts of the country, and have always made a point, when time permitted, of a close examination of all the boards, records, etc., that happened to exist on the walls. I have sometimes found it difficult to read them, and have also found some in bad repair, and others very loosely attached to the wall, and in danger of falling. Many a time I have thought exactly what you have now so lucidly put into words and print.

I brought the matter up for discussion at our Guildford Guild meeting at Wonerh on November 17th, and the members of the committee promised to get it on the agenda for our annual meeting. I hope we shall get a complete register of all records that exist in our belfries, not only of recognised peals, as such, but a register of anything and all that exists in the belfries appertaining to ringers and ringing. I have come across many ancient and quaint rules and regulations as to how, and when, the bells shall be rung, etc., and boards such as this: 'On December 26th, 1799, for the first time, a Complete Peal of 720 changes of — was rung on these bells by —. The Bobs called by Tom Dale.' To-day that record would not, of course, be put up in the belfry, but it is at least an accurate indication of the status of ringing in that tower at that date. Such records certainly ought not to be lost sight of, and there are many such up and down the country, equally historic and interesting.

With special reference to rules, etc., found in belfries, here is one which I find in my notebook, and which, perhaps, sheds some further light on (some) bygone ringers and their habits. Opinions will, I imagine, differ as to the desirability of preserving this kind of record. This one is (or was, when I last saw it) painted on a board and attached to the belfry wall, and is in a belfry in our own Guildford Guild: 'If any ringers are found at any time drunk or otherwise disorderly, that one that is so is to be discharged and another put in his place.' By order —. 'If any persons are found in the tower drunk or disorderly they are to be turned out by the ringers.' This does not, of course, prove that ringers were a worse lot than others at that jovial period, but it looks as if they were certainly as bad, or the authorities would not have found it necessary to have such notices as that erected.

I hope, sir, that all our Guild officials will read your article on this subject again, and decide to find out what old and interesting records they have stowed away in their belfries. I think I shall be safe in saying that they will get some surprise packets.

Mr. Fussell then asked the chairman to present a silver bell inkstand to Mr. Savage, the secretary of St. Paul's Society, from the English ringers, as a mark of their appreciation and gratitude for all he had done in connection with the tour.

This had been brought from England, and was suitably engraved.

The Precentor handed the gift to Mr. Savage, and, at Mr. Fussell's request, presented an engraved brass handbell to Miss Enid Richardson, the youngest ringer at present in Australia.

Mr. Savage, in acknowledging the gift, said that anything he had done in organising the tour had given him the greatest pleasure. He had really done nothing to deserve such a handsome gift, but he would prize it very highly.

The Rev. E. B. James said the Australian ringers had already given them such a hearty welcome and shown them so much hospitality that he should not think they had anything left (laughter). The English ringers appreciated it to the utmost. Later, Mr. James proposed a vote of thanks to the Precentor and the Melbourne ringers for the hospitality extended that night and on the other occasions during the visit. They could not have done more for their entertainment (applause).

On the following morning the Rev. E. B. James gave a short talk on change ringing to the boys of the Grammar School, and this was illustrated by courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters on handbells, much to the apparent delight of the boys. Mr. Fussell gave a talk on English church bells and ringing.

The ringers met again last night for a peal attempt at St. Paul's Cathedral—six of the Melbourne company and six from England. The bells soon got into their stride for Grandsire Cinques, and everything was going in most promising fashion when, at the end of exactly an hour, a heavy thud overhead proclaimed that something had happened, and the voice of the eleventh was heard no more. The clapper had snapped like a carrot just under the ball as the result of crystallisation. It was a great disappointment, for the ringing had settled down to a gould compass, and everything was sailing gaily.

To-day we have packed our bags and leave for Tasmania.

THE ROUND RINGERS.

LACK OF SCIENTIFIC KNOWLEDGE.

BY A. S. ROBERTS.

Any ringer in Cornwall who has read the recent issues of 'The Ringing World' must have felt slightly embarrassed and also have a feeling of superiority and importance by knowing there is just a possibility that an invitation may come to join a very select and chosen few to go somewhere in England (London presumably) to exhibit and show many so-called 'experts' how to raise bells in peal, ring them in rounds, and fall in a manner which appears to be peculiar only to that remote part of England, 'Cornwall.'

I do not think there is one sensible ringer of any kind in Cornwall who would belittle the art with which certain bands perform their 'rising, rounds and falling' almost as perfectly as can be expected of human beings. But, on the other hand, no sane ringer would allow them to go on without trying at the first opportunity to use tactful persuasion that there is something infinitely more interesting, fascinating and thought provoking than the continual performance of the same thing. There are plenty of round ringing bands in Cornwall which strike indifferently, just as there are many change ringing bands throughout England that are void of any sense of rhythm. We have to admit that the art of striking is one thing, and the science of ringing is another.

The most perfect round ringers in Cornwall are outside the auspices of the Diocesan Guild because they still have the ambition to compete in competitions. The interest of method ringing is not given a thought because there is no knowledge of the science. Again, the art of handling a rope correctly is unknown, for when the sally rises the rope is allowed to slip through the right hand, and this often means lubrication. If there is one notice I would put in some of our ringing chambers it would be 'Spitting prohibited.'

Further, Mr. J. A. Trollope's historical reference is quite correct, for the bells are rung at a quick pace and are often only half up, which causes a groove in the gudgeons. Specially adjusted ropes and single or knotted rope ends are also the outcome of round ringing, and are an abomination.

But, you will say, it is the striking that matters, and how splendid it is! How well they do it! Yes, but what about the method ringers? It was only last week that I received an unsolicited testimonial for the September tourists from a Vicar whose church they visited. He wrote, 'It was the best ringing I have ever heard.' I fully believe that these tourists, and many others, could do equally as well as the Cornish round ringers if they definitely and deliberately gave it a trial for a week or so, but oh, the monotony!

Furthermore, the bells in Cornwall are very suitable for such a practice, for of the 31 octaves the majority of tenors are under 15 cwt., and of the roughly 90 rings of six, many tenors are under 10 cwt., and very few are over 13 cwt. Now compare these to the bells in our large towns and cathedral cities, and the difference is tremendous; it is possible to ring them down in peal, but try ringing them up in peal; it is not worth the labour, and would be well nigh impossible without an army of strappers.

The Cornish method of striking, however, has evidently made an appeal, but is it to be fostered and encouraged as something perfect and fulfilling all the bounds of possibility? Should we not say, 'Yes, it is very good, but there is something better'?

The Truro Diocesan Guild has a tremendous task to teach and spread the art of method ringing. Whatever be the procedure, give the knowledge and describe the science first with lucid explanations of how it should be struck, and cut out the haphazard, tiresome and useless way of making some person, ignorant of any method, take hold the rope and depend upon continual prompting. I know ringers who go on for months and years dependent upon being prompted to the annoyance of their fellow-ringers and the public.

I wonder if the forthcoming tour will materialise, and who will be the fortunate people to constitute the band? Method ringers must not expect to be asked; the honour is for those who have been tried, tested and proved worthy of such an undertaking.

DEATH OF REV. M. E. THOROLD.

The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has lost another stalwart by the passing on December 3rd of the Rev. Michael Edward Thorold, Vicar of SS. Philip and Jacob Church, Bristol, aged 79. When over 60 years of age he learnt to ring, and in 1918 he became Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, a critical period in its history. His wise counsel at this period was invaluable. He was the senior vice-president of the association. In November, 1933, he bought a new motor-cycle for use in his parish work. He then said that he had been riding a cycle for 60 years, and claimed to be the last man who regularly used one of the old penny-farthing bicycles in Birmingham.

A QUIET TIME FOR RINGERS.

Under the auspices of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association a 'Quiet Time' for bellringers was held at Stoney Stanton on November 3rd. Ringers attended from Croft, Burbage, Broughton Astley, Earl Shilton, Higham-on-the-Hill, Peckleton, Kirkby Mallory, Sapcote and Stoney Stanton, Exhall, Countesthorpe, Husbands Bosworth, Theddingworth, Kilworth and other towers.

The conductor was Rev. W. Grome-Merrilees, of Theddingworth, who gave two addresses, in which he emphasised the important part that ringers had to play both in the services of the church and as examples of Christian men in all their various walks in life. He referred to the need of overcoming fear, a factor which had been detrimental to the peace of the world. If only they could substitute a policy of trust throughout the world how different things might soon become.

A discussion was also held as to the best ways of bringing about a better understanding of this great responsibility. Suggestions put forward included the holding of an annual meeting at the Cathedral (with service); clergy to be encouraged to visit the belfries more often; a quiet time for the district to be held annually; a short service to be held at each district meeting. It is hoped to put some of these suggestions into practice in the near future.

After a service in the church the bells were available and made good use of. We are much indebted to the Rev. Grome-Merrilees for his work, and also Rev. Farrow for allowing this 'Quiet Time' to be held at his church.

A. E. R.

A LIGHT RING TESTS LONDON RINGERS.

The choice of St. Augustine's, Kilburn, proved popular to members of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild for their meeting on November 24th. The bells, a light ring of eight, tenor 8½ cwt., required expert handling to get really good ringing. It was therefore gratifying to all concerned when touch after touch was brought round in fine style. Rounds for beginners were not forgotten, nor were Cambridge and London for the experts. A bright service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Father Atkinson).

Mr. E. M. Atkins presided at the business meeting, when Miss B. Hart was elected a member of the association. Sympathy and good wishes for his speedy recovery were passed to Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, hon. secretary of the South and West District, who had recently undergone an operation.

Mr. G. R. Goodship brought welcome news that the bells at Harrow Weald were to be rehung and two trebles added. The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) reminded members that the district had already voted the sum of £5 towards these bells, which would now be paid with much pleasure. The annual meeting of the district will be held at St. Giles-in-the-Field on January 26th.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Not many weeks go by nowadays without some new Surprise Major method being rung, and if things go on at this rate, the time will come when there will be no more new methods to ring, and bands, perforce, will have to ring those that have already been practised. Fortunately that will not occur in our days, for the supply is enormous. And yet there is one group which is much smaller than might have been supposed. I mean the really good Surprise methods which have backstroke work only. There are still some of them which have not yet been rung, though I believe they have all been worked out. It is among them we must look for the methods which are likely to take their places alongside Cambridge and Superlative as standard methods. One or two already, such as Rutland and Yorkshire, are beginning to make good their claim. Norfolk has been tried, and if not exactly found wanting, at least not quite of the real quality. It is not easy to say exactly what are the qualities which make up a really good and popular method, but one at least (though not among the most important) is that it should have a good name. As a general rule, the Exercise leaves the naming of new methods to the bands that first ring them, and that lays on those bands the duty of seeing that they have good and suitable names. For more than three hundred years ringers have been producing and naming methods, and on the whole the job has been well done. All our standard methods have good names. London, Norwich, Cambridge, Bristol, Oxford—these are not only important towns, but places intimately connected with the history of the art. Grandsire and Superlative—these we feel to be excellent, why we can hardly say.

But it might not have been so. The earliest ringers of all used names that we should now call ridiculous. Merry Andrew, Wild Goose Chase, My Honey, Non Such, Jack on both Sides, and others like mannered, are samples of seventeenth-century naming. Stedman's Principle was for long known in London as Crambo, and is so styled in one of the standard books. And suppose that the two writers of the two best early books had transposed their names, and that Fabian Stedman had written the Clavis, and William Jones the Campanologia. Should we care about ringing a peal of Jones' Triples? The Exercise seems all along to have had a good instinct in this matter, and all along has refused to adopt names that somehow or other it felt to be unsuitable. We all remember the outcry when it was proposed to give floral names to some six-bell methods, yet even there no general rule was possible, for some, if not many, floral names are good and have survived.

Perhaps the safest plan is to call the method after the town or village where it was first rung. And that, too, has historical value, but it is not always possible, for more than one new method may have been rung in the same tower. Nor are the names of places of equal value. Generally speaking, place names are the best, but bands should remember that if their new method is likely to be rung by other people, it should have a name which will appeal to others beside themselves. Eastcote and Boveney, for instance, are no doubt very desirable places in themselves, but what have they to do with bells or ringing, or what do ringers as a whole know or care about them? Most of the names of counties have already been taken; those that are left should be reserved for what are likely to become standard methods.

Two ways of naming methods are detestable. One is the made-up or imitative name. To call a method Camdon because part of it resembles Cambridge and part London—that is the sort of thing which may well be left to people who name patent medicines. Or to call a method Londonderry or Londonthorpe because, like many scores of others, it has some features in common with London Surprise—that sort of thing should not be done. And the topical name is just as bad. There was a method rung in 1919 and called Victory Major. The idea in the minds of the ringers was no doubt excellent, but cannot we see now that it was not the right thing? And similarly why call a method Princess Marina? Drop the Princess and call it Marina Surprise and you have a quite good name, but the other won't do.

BOW BELLS RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The record of Bow Bells that the B.B.C. turns on to us every little while we all of us know is stoney, and, in my opinion, not too good. Would it not be possible for the Ancient Society of College Youths to ring a touch of Stedman CATERS on these bells for a record and present it to the B.B.C.? It would be much more pleasant to hear from a ringer's point of view, and also give the public some idea of change ringing. R. E. Tenterden.

JUBILEE PRESENTATION AT PUTNEY.

MR. THOMAS BOLTON HONOURED.

On Wednesday, November 28th, during a 'break' in the ordinary practice, at which about 20 members and friends of the St. Mary's, Putney, Association were present, Mr. C. Moody called the attention of the company to the fact that they were there assembled to honour their Master, Mr. Thomas Bolton, on his completion of 50 years' service as a ringer at St. Mary's, 27 of which he has held the office of Master. Mr. Moody called on Mr. J. Herbert (treasurer) to make the presentation.

Mr. Herbert, in a short and happy speech, presented the Master with a fitted smoking cabinet, which will be suitably inscribed. He voiced the hope of all present that Mr. Bolton would be spared many years to enjoy it, and conveying to him best wishes for his future health and happiness.

Mr. Bolton briefly thanked the company for their kindness, remarking that he would treasure the gift, and the spirit of goodwill which prompted it.

During the 50 years many changes (not Stedman) had taken place at Putney, once quite a rural suburb. The Parish Church, formerly a 'stoney' tower, had from the commencement of Mr. Bolton's mastership been pushing onwards with change ringing, till about three years ago a local band rang a peal of Double Norwich. It is not in the peal ringing firmament that the local star is prominent, but in service ringing. Led by the Master, who has generally averaged 97 attendances for Sunday ringing per annum, the other members respond gallantly to the call, some even sometimes surpassing him. Mr. Bolton has rung several peals in standard methods, 'just to show 'em,' but is more happy in the more humdrum weekly round of service ringing and practice, and the pleasure of welcoming visitors and doing his best to provide for their comfort and enjoyment. A peal was rung the next day in honour of Mr. Bolton, which has been recorded in the proper place.

LECKHAMPTON BELLS TESTED.

Leckhampton bells, which have recently been placed on hall bearings, were well tested on December 1st, when, by invitation of the Archdeacon of Cheltenham, the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association held their annual meeting there. The service was conducted by Archdeacon Sears, who, with Mrs. Sears, kindly entertained the company to tea. At the business meeting all the officers were re-elected, and votes of thanks accorded to all concerned. The tower was again visited, and, with the aid of Mr. S. Romans, Master of the association, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock, of Abingdon, many methods were practised.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ringer of the third in the peal of Surprise Minor at Leytonstone on November 12th was P. H. Avey.

Mr. J. Pugsley, Minehead, has recently had a peal board put in Milverton tower recording a peal rung 41 years ago. This was the first peal on the bells after being augmented to eight.

In reply to Mr. E. Corner, of Hanley, as to the lowering of bells in peal, this can only be achieved by practice. The main principle is to put a very good man on the treble and for the other ringers to use their ears.

There is a promising young band of ringers at Bognor Regis, who desire the master hand to help them forward. Mr. C. Andrews, of Upwell, Clyde Road, Felpham, would be pleased to hear from Sussex County officials.

In connection with the peal of Stedman Triples at Woburn on November 17th, we are informed that it was the first peal of Stedman Triples rung by Mr. William E. Redrup. The peal was a birthday compliment to Mrs. W. L. Gutteridge.

Will correspondents sending in reports of meetings and peals kindly note that these should be addressed to 'The Ringing World,' c/o Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Onslow Street, Guildford. The prompt submission of reports will facilitate the production of Christmas issues of 'The Ringing World.'

Through the breaking of the treble rope, an attempt for a peal of Grandsire Caters was unfortunately lost at the Priory Church, Leominster, on December 1st. A quarter-peal of Caters was afterwards rung by C. Edwards (conductor) 1, W. Downes 2, F. Downes 3, A. Gwynne 4, G. Giblin 5, W. Taylor 6, H. Symonds 7, A. Hurcombe 8, H. Taylor 9, E. Salmons 10.

From a newspaper cutting in the British Museum: 'January 18th, 1852. The Wiltshire Youths ascended the tower of Layton Under-shaft Church, Wiltshire, and succeeded in accomplishing a true and complete peal of Stedman Cinques consisting of 5,280 changes in 3 hours and 58 minutes (names follow). Weight of tenor 49 cwt. in the key of C flat. Conducted by J. Davis.' The curious thing is that there never was a society called the Wiltshire Youths, and never a peal of twelve in Wiltshire. If this was somebody's joke, the reason for it is not apparent.

'Ealing' Surprise has brought us many letters from old friends. Mr. E. Jenkins (Bradford, Yorks) reminds us that this peal was composed by the late Mr. Arthur Craven in 1901 and is No. 21 in his collection; Mr. George Williams (Eastleigh) submits that the peal composition 'grewed' from what the late Nathan J. Pitstow used to call 'Washbrook's' 27 courses of Superlative, and that the figures may be found in 'Bell News,' Vol. 5, page 226, July 30th, 1887, '6,048 in three parts,' and also on page 293 in one part of the same volume; Mr. George Baker (Brighton), Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft (Ashton-under-Lyne) and Mr. G. Marriner (Leatherhead) state that the method is identical with 'Horsham' Surprise, discovered June 15th, 1912, by Mr. G. Baker, of Brighton. The same formed part, writes Mr. Marriner, of the combination method 'Leatherhead' Surprise rung in the early part of this year at Leatherhead. Mr. Trollope will deal with this interesting theme next week.

PRESENTATION TO ARCHDEACON HOWSON

The Ven. Archdeacon Howson, who now resides at Putney, visited Liverpool on December 8th to fulfil two or three week-end engagements. The opportunity was taken of presenting him with an illuminated address. The address was beautifully worded and written on vellum, which was on leather and folded like a book. It contained an expression of the appreciation of the members of the Lancashire Association, particularly the Liverpool Diocesan Guild, to the Archdeacon for his many kindnesses to them throughout the past years. The address was handed to the Archdeacon by Canon Elsee, president of the Lancashire Association. Archdeacon Howson was greatly pleased with the address and its beautiful wording.

The members of the association are very grateful to Canon Elsee for his work in connection with the address and his kindness in travelling to Liverpool to make the presentation.

RISE AND FALL OF BELLS.

CORNWALL DENIES THAT IT IS A DYING ART.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Being a regular ringer of St. Austell, I cannot refrain from taking Col. Jerram to task when he says that rising and falling is a dying art in Cornwall. I can assure him that it is not so. If he will take a line from Ladoek across Cornwall to Newlyn East, along the north coast to Kilhampton, then by the Tamar to Malher and on the South Coast as far as Fowey and St. Austell, he will enclose the largest half of Cornwall. I believe I am right when I say that every tower band in this circle can rise and fall, and the majority can do it very creditably, especially in East Cornwall, where a ringing festival is occasionally held. This alone makes different bands practise rising and falling, also round ringing and call changes.

I have heard bells rung in the following manner: Rise and get into key of 30 rounds per minute for eight bells, or 32 rounds for six bells, in three minutes; ring rounds for ten minutes; then fall at your leisure. I've heard this done with less than six mistakes. There are invariably three judges. If Col. Jerram desires, I will get a band together all from one tower. I wonder if the Colonel has ever heard the father and five sons by the name of Libby, of Talland, near Looe, ring a peal. If not, I would advise him to try and get in touch with them.

One thing more: Col. Jerram says that if you rise in peal the tenor will not double all the way up; if it does, it gets on the wrong side of the bells. That is wrong. I have rung the tenor in almost every tower in Cornwall and a good many in Devon, and the only one I remember getting on the wrong side in rising is the tenor, Charles Church, Plymouth. At St. Austell, where the tenor is 18½ cwt., we usually have two to rise the bell, and I have never known the clapper to get on the wrong side. I have pulled it up myself with a strapper and not once did it get wrong. I might also say it doubles all the way after the third round. I was captain of a nearby tower of six bells hung by Gillett and Johnston. This tenor I will guarantee will double up and down with Gillett and Johnston patent clapper spring attached. If Col. Jerram would care to come in this district, I can assure him I will get a band together that will convince him that Cornish ringing is not yet dead.

A WEST COUNTRY EXPERIENCE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very interested in the leading article in your paper of November 23rd, and would be very interested if Col. Jerram could arrange to bring a band of ringers from the West Country, not particularly Cornwall, to give demonstrations of rising and falling in peal as it should be done.

I remember about the year 1891 I visited Clossworth to ring. The bells were a peal of five, and still are, and, as far as my memory serves me I should think the tenor would be approximately 12 cwt. They were hung in a very ancient oak frame, extremely high off the foundation, and the bells themselves in those days had very long canons, and they were hung right out of their stocks, and I very much regret these canons have been removed, but, since then, they have been rehung, and, in my opinion, the canons could have been very well left on as they were of a particularly ornamented type. The bells were hung right out of their stocks, so that they had a very long swing.

They were fitted with full wheels of very large diameter and hung, as the local ringers called it, 'dead rope,' that means there was no sally pull whatever. The occasion when I visited the tower we raised the bells in peal to about three-quarters way up, and then let them down again, raised them a second time and rang a few call changes. This took some doing, and I can quite well remember I did not make much of a job of it. One of the old local ringers said to me, 'If you want to get over a bell you just have to pull her harder and get over that bell, and if you want to ring closer and cut in a place you just hold her down on the tail end.' The open lead was very noticeable, as naturally the bells swung considerably higher from the one pull on the tail end of the rope. Needless to say, there were no stays or sliders.

These old ringers used to ring these call changes remarkably well, and the way they did it without any handstroke pull was very remarkable.

A ROYAL TIME AT SWINDON.

The fine peal of ten at Christ Church, Swindon, rang out merrily on December 8th on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal, and there was a good attendance, the majority of the towers being represented.

A short service was held, conducted by the Rev. F. W. Thomas. After tea the business meeting was held and all the officers re-elected. No meeting was arranged for January, and Blunsdon and St. Mark's, Swindon, were chosen for the February and March meetings.

FROM THE HEART OF WESSEX.

WIMBORNE BRANCH RINGERS AT WIMBORNE.

The venerable Minster Church of Wimborne, with its towers, constructed of a reddish-brown sandstone and partly of a drab coloured stone, was the venue for the Wimborne branch annual meeting on December 1st. The 15th century western tower in its tapering appearance contains a peal of ten bells, the tenor weighing 36 cwt. and bearing a Latin inscription recording the fact that it was made originally by Mr. William Loringe and recast in 1629. The music of these bells went, clear and distinct, soft and muffled, across the stately town. At the customary service the Vicar (Canon A. L. Keith) gave an appropriate address, and the lesson was read by the chairman of the branch (Canon E. Clement Eddrup). A member of the local band played the organ.

At the business meeting, those present, on the initiative of the chairman (Canon Eddrup), stood in silent tribute to the memory of the late Rev. Bernard Herklots (Rector of Poole). Giving the financial statement, the Rev. C. A. Phillips (secretary and treasurer) mentioned there was a balance in hand of £7 3s. 5d., compared to £7 14s. 7d. brought forward. Of the total receipts of £18 8s. 5d., £8 17s. represented 115 ringing members' subscriptions at 1s. 6d. each, 12s. from six associates and £1 from four honorary members. Mr. Phillips commented on the small number of honorary members, and appealed for greater support in this direction. The statement was adopted on the proposition of Mr. J. Ivor Davis, seconded by Mr. W. A. Houlton.

The secretary's report gave an interesting resume of the activities of the branch, and towers in particular, during the past year. He pointed out the outstanding events belonged to the county and guild as a whole rather than to the branch, and reference was made to the part taken in the dedication of Sherborne Abbey bells and the great rally at Milton Abbey in June. The branch, as a whole, and the Poole tower in particular, had lost a good friend in the passing of the Rev. Herklots, Mr. Phillips observed. The officers were elected en bloc, Mr. Phillips paying tribute to the constant help of Mr. J. I. Davis, his assistant.

Sympathetic reference was made to the very serious accident which had befallen Mr. W. C. Shute. It was agreed that a message of sympathy, coupled with best wishes for a speedy recovery, should be sent to him.

The meeting agreed to convey to Mr. Williams, of Okeford Fitzpaine, hearty congratulations on the celebration that day of the diamond jubilee of his wedding. Mr. Davis, calling attention to the 25th anniversary of the King's reign next May, expressed the hope that the event would be marked by the ringing of all church bells in the various towers.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

TRURO BRANCH MEETING AT DETACHED TOWER.

A meeting of the Truro Branch of the above Guild was held at Illogan on December 1st. The Church of St. Illogan was rebuilt in the year 1848 in another position in the extensive churchyard, but the ancient embattled granite tower, with pinnacles, was left standing north-west of the present church, and contains a clock and six bells, which were recast in 1889 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank from an earlier peal. In 1930 the bells were rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

During the afternoon and evening, rounds, Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung by those present, who included Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram, C.M.G., D.S.O. (Diocesan Ringing Master), the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella (general secretary). At the service the singing was led by the choir, and the address given by the Rector (the Rev. G. E. Renner). A bountiful tea was generously provided in the Harris Memorial Hall, and the Rector, Mr. T. Slee (local captain) and all the lady helpers were heartily thanked by Col. Jerram. This was seconded by the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella.

As this was the annual district meeting, the officers were elected as follows: Branch chairman, Mr. T. Slee (Illogan); branch secretary, Mr. A. S. Roberts (Truro). St. Agnes' was selected for the next meeting. Ringing continued until 9 p.m.

MISSIONARY WORK IN NORTH BUCKS.

Some 40 members attended the quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Woughton on December 1st, when it was reported that various meetings had been arranged in some parts of the branch's area to promote the interests of those towers not affiliated to the Guild.

Owing to the illness of the Rector of Woughton, the service was conducted by the Rev. H. Partridge, R.D., Rector of Blethley, and a Woughton ringer presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Schoolroom, and the Rev. H. Adcane Byard presided at the business meeting, supported by Mr. W. Sear (hon. secretary). The maintenance of the number of honorary members was a matter discussed, and the encouragement and assistance of young bands.

Some good ringing was done after the meeting, Sampson tower being available, and the methods rung ranged from Grandsire and Steelman Doubles to Cambridge Minor.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*NEWBURY BRANCH'S GOOD YEAR.

Thirteen towers were represented at the annual meeting of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild on November 17th. The service in the church was conducted by the Rector (Canon W. L. Cooper, R.D.), and the address was given by the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (chairman of the branch).

A company of 65 sat down to tea in the Parish Room served by Mrs. H. W. Curtis, assisted by other ringers' wives. At the business meeting the chairman of the branch presided, and an apology was read from the Master (Canon G. F. Coleridge).

Mr. H. W. Curtis (secretary) reported a very successful year. Eight peals had been rung in the branch during the year, and six meetings held. The balance sheet showed a balance in hand of £15 16s. 10d.—The report and accounts were adopted.

The following officers were re-elected: The Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford, chairman; Mr. H. W. Curtis, hon. secretary and treasurer; Messrs. S. Quintin, T. Curtis, F. Owen and A. Smith, general committee.

Good reports were heard from nearly every tower in the branch, and the Deputy Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg) congratulated the towers upon their excellent reports, and wished them the best of success in the future. Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary) congratulated the branch on its successful year.

Mr. A. J. Wright (general treasurer) reported that the Jenkyn memorial had been dedicated by their present Master, Canon Coleridge, and the total cost of £131 had been met. Mr. C. A. Hawker, J.P., churchwarden, also addressed the meeting. One new hon. member and eight new ringing members were elected. The next meeting was fixed for Shaw in February, and the spring meeting for Yattendon in April. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector of Newbury, Canon W. L. Cooper, the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford, Mr. Sellick, and to Mrs. Curtis and her helpers, which was carried with applause. The tower was again visited. The following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain Bob and Cambridge Surprise Royal.

ESSEX RINGERS PLEASED WITH NEW WANSTEAD BELLS

ANNUAL MEETING OF SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association at Wanstead on November 17th was fairly well attended in spite of the inclement weather, 40 members being present from Leytonstone, Romford, Walthamstow, Gillingham (Kent), Hornchurch, Colchester, Cumberwell, Bishopsgate, Leyton and Fobbing.

The new peal by Messrs. Taylor's was made good use of previous to the service conducted by the Rector (Rev. G. Birchrough). The was served in the schoolroom, the members being kindly entertained by the Wanstead band.

The business meeting was held under the presidency of the District Master, supported by the Association Master (Mr. E. P. Duffield) and the churchwardens. Two new ringing members were elected, and Messrs. Prior and Butler were re-elected District Master and hon. secretary respectively. Hornchurch was the place selected for the next meeting, to be held on January 12th. The business concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for kindly allowing use of tower and bells and for conducting the service, to the Wanstead band for entertaining the members to tea, and also having everything in readiness.

The tower was again visited and the bells kept going till 8.15 p.m., when a move was made for home. During the afternoon touches in various Minor methods ranging from Plain Bob to Spliced Surprise were rung, everybody having a chance to try their favourite method on this splendid light peal of six, which has now taken the place of the old steel bells formerly installed in this tower. Messrs. Taylor and the Church authorities are to be congratulated on the excellence of the new ring.

A LOSS TO THE DEVIZES BRANCH.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild took place at Rowde on December 1st, when the Rector (the Rev. P. H. Opperman) made the members very welcome. Tea was served in the Institute by Mrs. Watts. Mr. E. F. White presided at the business meeting in the continued absence of the branch chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham). The members were pleased to hear that Mr. Heginbotham was progressing towards recovery, he having now returned from hospital to his home. The secretary reported that Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chapman, who had put in such a large amount of work at Bretton, were leaving the district and taking up their residence at Keinton Mandeville. The meeting decided that a letter of good wishes should be sent to them from the branch, thanking them for what they had done and wishing them God-speed. A touch of Triples were rung on handbells, and Messrs. Hillier and Winter obliged with a course of Major (four-handed). Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and to Miss Wright, organist, also the choirboys. The ringers then returned to the tower, where methods up to Oxford and Kent Treble Bob were rung.

MORE PROGRESS IN ESSEX.*SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION ANNUAL MEETING.

Enthusiasm is unabated in Essex, and a particularly encouraging report comes from the annual meeting of the South-Eastern Division at Widford on November 24th, when 50 members were present. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. F. R. Thurlow), the address being given by Mr. Hussey.

The business meeting followed tea, and was presided over by the retiring District Master (Mr. H. W. Kirtton), supported by the Master of the association (Mr. E. P. Duffield). The members stood in silence in memory of Mr. A. Head, of Chelmsford.

The hon. secretary, in his report of the year's working, said five meetings had been held with an average attendance of 28. One honorary member and nine ringing members had been elected, and the division had lost by death two ringing members, Mr. H. Dawson, of Great Baddow, and Mr. A. Head, of Chelmsford. There were now 136 ringing members.

The District Master welcomed the Master of the association (Mr. E. P. Duffield), and congratulated him upon his election as Master of the College Youths, to which Mr. Duffield replied. Dr. Spencer-Phillips was elected District Master, Mr. Kirtton wishing to retire, and Mr. H. W. Shadrack was re-elected as hon. secretary. Eight ringing members were elected, viz.: H. Carter and D. Green, of Great Baddow; C. Smith, Ford End; D. Roast, E. Roast, F. Galley, W. Spokes and G. Coppin, of Danbury; also two probationers—T. Abbott and F. Wincott, Danbury.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Springfield on January 26th.

The Master explained the procedure proposed for the referendum on the proposed change of title for the association, which will be taken in February.

The District Master proposed votes of thanks to the Rector, to Mr. Hussey and to the ladies who prepared and served the tea.

THE REV. A. T. BEESTON MEMORIAL.*ENCOURAGING MEETING AT HYDE.

Fourteen towers were represented apart from local ringers at the meeting of the Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild at Hyde on November 24th. The Vicar (the Rev. E. Victor Dawson) officiated at the service, and tea was provided by the local ringers in the Parish Room.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, and the chairman of the branch (Mr. Hough) and Mr. Tom Wilde both spoke very feelingly of the loss sustained by the death of Mr. James Fernley. The meeting stood for a few moments in silence as a token of respect. The Secretary (Mr. A. Whiting) announced that he had received £6 8s. towards the Rev. A. T. Beeston memorial, and that subscriptions continued to arrive at an encouraging speed. He also read several extracts from letters wishing the appeal success. The meetings for next year were arranged provisionally as follows: The annual meeting at Stockport, St. Mary's, on January 26th, and the quarterly meetings at New Mills on March 30th, Mobberley on June 29th, Bowdon on September 21st, and Stalybridge, Holy Trinity, on November 16th. It was also decided that practice meetings might be arranged during the summer months at a later date. Votes of thanks were passed to all who helped to make the meeting so enjoyable. During the afternoon and evening ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise methods.

NORWICH ASSOCIATION AT BUXTON.

The North Norfolk Branch held a successful meeting at Buxton on November 24th. The bells of Stratton Strawless were also available, and numerous touches in a variety of methods, including London and Cambridge Surprise, were rung on both peals in the afternoon and evening.

At the business meeting which followed the tea, kindly provided by the Church authorities in the Village Hall, the Vicar of Buxton, the Rev. H. W. Benson, presided, supported by Mr. A. L. Coleman (general secretary and treasurer) and Mr. N. Golden (hon. secretary, South Norfolk Branch and hon. secretary pro tem.). Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. C. E. Bishop, Rector of Stratton Strawless, and Mr. P. E. Sewell, of Buxton.

The belfry elections of Miss P. E. Tillet (Ipswich) and Messrs. F. J. Tillet, jun. (Ipswich), C. Clarke (Grundsburgh) and C. T. H. Bradley (Folkington) were ratified, and Mr. P. W. J. Fryer, of Wymondham, was unanimously elected a life member of the association.

The annual meeting was fixed for February 2nd at Aylsham with Marsham. The South Norfolk Branch meeting is at Saxlingham on January 19th, while the East Norfolk Branch goes to Lowestoft on February 23rd.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the donors of the tea, the Rev. H. W. Benson for presiding, and the Rev. C. E. Bishop for the use of his bells.

NINETEEN TOWERS REPRESENTED.*NORTH DORSET BRANCH'S ENCOURAGING MEETING.

The annual meeting of the North Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Mere, Wilts, on December 8th, when about 50 members and visitors were present. Service was held in the Parish Church of St. Michael, the Rev. I. G. Cameron (Vicar) and the Rev. E. O. Laidlay (curate) officiated, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. J. H. A. Charles (curate of Gillingham). Following the service tea was partaken of in the Grove Buildings at the invitation of the clergy and Parochial Church Council, and was admirably served by lady members of the Council and choir.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards (hon. secretary and treasurer of the Guild) presided at the business meeting, and he was supported by the Rev. I. G. Cameron, the Rev. E. O. Laidlay, Mr. J. H. Allen (churchwarden), the Rev. J. H. A. Charles, the Rev. Deaconess Belfield, Mr. H. J. Ralph (branch hon. secretary), the Rev. C. A. Phillips (hon. secretary, Wimborne Branch). Nineteen towers were represented.

The following officers for 1935 were elected: Chairman, E. W. J. Hellins; vice-chairman, the Rev. F. L. Edwards; Ringing Masters, Mr. W. O. Shute and Mr. E. G. Coward; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. J. Ralph; on the Branch Committee, Mr. W. Brown and Mr. Ridout. The quarterly meetings for next year were decided, viz.: Durweston, March; Shaftesbury, June; Child Okeford, September; and Sherborne in December for the annual meeting. Mr. A. H. Chant (Templecombe) and Mr. Coward (Gillingham) were elected members.

The Rev. C. A. Phillips proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy and officers of the church, and quoted the words of the Lord Mayor of Melbourne, viz., that there were two things which never failed to touch his emotions, and they were the National Anthem and the sound of church bells. On the motion of the chairman, a vote of sympathy was carried and the secretary requested to convey same to Mr. W. C. Shute ('Good old Bill') with the hope of a speedy recovery from his accident. Thanks were given to the visitors and to the officers of the branch. Letters of regret for absence were read from the Masters (the Rev. R. H. Gundry and Mr. W. C. West).

The meeting concluded with a touch of Triples on the handbells by Mere, Poole and Lyme Regis members. During the afternoon and evening touches were rung on the tower bells in the following methods: Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Bob Doubles and Major, Stedman Triples, Cambridge and London Minor.

AYLESBEARE ANNUAL MEETING.

Between 50 and 60 members and friends attended the annual meeting of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch of the Devonshire Guild on Dec. 1st at Topsham. The bells were kept going before and after tea, and the methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Minor. The service in St. Margaret's Church was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Guy Unliday), and an impressive address was given by the president (the Rev. E. V. Cox), who based his remarks on the inscription on the second bell at the Priory, Christ Church. The wives and friends of the local band kindly entertained the company to tea.

In the absence through indisposition of the chairman (the Rev. E. A. Jullian), the Rev. E. V. Cox presided. The secretary's report and balance sheet were adopted. The Rev. E. A. Jullian and Mr. R. Brook were re-elected, respectively, as chairman and hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. Skinner was unanimously elected as Ringing Master for the coming year. Owing to the revision of the rules, three members were elected as representatives to the General Committee, Miss Goodman, Miss Lomas and Mr. John Hayman. The Rev. W. N. Mitchell, Rector of Clyst St. George, was elected an honorary member, and four associate members were elected. The next meeting was fixed for Whimble on Saturday, February 23rd. The president proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for conducting the service and use of the bells, the organist and choir for their attendance, and the ladies who presided over the tea tables. The secretary thanked the president for presiding over the meeting and for his address in the church.

EXETER'S ENCOURAGING YEAR.*SCARCITY OF PEALS THROUGH BELLS NOT AVAILABLE.

The art of change ringing is progressing in the Exeter District of the Devon Guild. The annual meeting at St. David's, Exeter, on December 8th, was very encouraging. The service in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Esdaile Burkill), was followed by tea in the Institute, where 70 were present.

Mr. C. G. Glass (chairman) presided at the business meeting. The secretary's report showed progress. Several hands had learnt to ring something different from Grandsire and Stedman, but peals were scarce through members not being able to get permission to ring the bells. The membership of the branch was well maintained, the youngest member to gain his certificate being just 12 years of age. The officers were re-elected, viz.: Mr. Glass, chairman; W. H. Howe, secretary and treasurer; W. A. Wills, assistant secretary. The following were elected to the General Committee of the Guild: Mr. E. W. Biffin (St. Thomas'), Mr. J. Ridler (Thorverton) and Mr. E. J. Ryall (Christow). Votes of thanks to all those who had helped to make the meeting a success concluded the meeting.

The bells of the various towers in the city, including the Cathedral, were kept busy during the evening.—W. H. H.

SURREY ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES.

The meeting of the North-Western District of the Surrey Association at St. Mary's, Lambeth, on December 1st, was a very enjoyable affair, some 40 ringers attending. The bells were kept going in a good variety of methods. At the business meeting, which followed tea, Mr. C. H. Kippin presided, in the unavoidable absence of the District Master. The secretary announced that it was hoped to arrange a mid-week meeting at Mitcham on Wednesday, January 9th, and also that the annual district meeting would be held at Croydon on Saturday, January 26th. The general secretary stated that the augmented peal of eight bells at Lingfield was being dedicated on Saturday, December 15th, and appealed for a good attendance. A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the ladies who prepared such an excellent tea, and to Mr. Hardy for making local arrangements and giving the association such a warm welcome to Lambeth. The tower was again visited for some more ringing until 9 o'clock, with a short break at 7.30, when most ringers present attended evensong, the Vicar giving a very appropriate address.

SURREY MEMBERS AT MERSTHAM.

The famous old peal at Merstham was visited by the Southern District of the Surrey Association on December 8th, when about 30 members were present. Those who were not inclined to climb the steep stairs to the belfry spent an interesting afternoon with Major Williams, who gave an account of the history of the church and pointed out the chief features.

Tea was served in the Church Hall, and the Master (Mr. D. K. C. Birt) presided at the business meeting, when three new members were elected. Two peals were reported, both being first peals as conductor. The next quarterly peal is to be attempted at St. John's, Redhill, with Mr. W. Claydon as conductor. Notice was given that the next district meeting would be held at Horley in January, if tower available, or as an alternative Betchingley. Members were reminded of the rededication service of Lingfield bells next Saturday.

Mrs. Birt then gave an account of how she spent last Christmas Day in South Africa and the homely feeling produced when the sound of a single bell was heard coming from a mission church about twelve miles away. At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector (the Rev. A. E. Wilkinson) for the use of the bells, to Major Williams and to Mr. and Mrs. Birt for their kindness in inviting the members and their wives to tea.

After some change ringing on the handbells, a short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector. Ringing then continued in various methods until 8 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM WISKENS.

We regret to record the death of Mr. W. Wiskens, who passed away on December 4th at the age of 66, after a long illness borne with much fortitude. He was a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers, and was for 41 years a member of the Diss Company. His death took place on the 40th anniversary of his first peal.

The funeral was at Diss Cemetery on December 8th, and a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by the following: C. J. More 1-2, E. F. Poppy 3-4, G. Archer 5-6, D. Whiting 7-8. Among the floral tributes was a beautiful wreath from his ringing colleagues.

On Sunday afternoon eight members of the Diss Company rang with the bells half-muffled a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples as follows: G. Archer 1, F. Roper 2, E. Bennett 3, C. J. More (conductor) 4, A. G. Harrison 5, D. Whiting 6, W. Chenery 7, W. Musk 8.

GOOLE WELCOMES YORKSHIRE RINGERS.

Goole gave a very cordial welcome to the 30 members who attended the quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association on December 8th. Ten towers, apart from the local company, and visitors from Barton-on-Humber and Gainsborough, were present. The service held in church was conducted by the Rev. F. W. H. Jessop, Vicar of Wressle, a former curate of Goole, who gave a very interesting address, telling how he was thrilled by the sound of bells during his ministry in Canada, which reminded him of home. Tea was partaken of at the Sydney Hotel, followed by the business meeting, which was presided over by the Rev. F. W. H. Jessop. One new member was elected, Bernard Hartley, of Easington. On the motion of Mr. F. Dale, seconded by Mr. F. Cryer, York was selected as the place for the annual district meeting, subject to the necessary permission being granted by the Dean and Chapter.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells was proposed by Mr. F. Cryer and seconded by Mr. F. Dale, and responded to by the Rev. F. W. H. Jessop, and a vote of thanks to the local company was proposed by the secretary (Mr. W. S. Morley), seconded by Mr. A. E. West. Mr. Drake, in his reply, said how pleased he was to welcome the association to Goole. The methods rung during the meeting were Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major and Minor, Plain Bob Major and Minor, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

BROUGHTON BELLS REHUNG.

December 4th was a red letter day for the people of Broughton, Hampshire, as it saw the completion of the restoration of the church bells, for which the church authorities and villagers have been working to raise funds for some time. The old ring of five have been restored and rehung in modern fittings and a new treble added, making a handy ring of six with a tenor of 12 cwt.

The bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Southampton, and the church was crowded; the opening touch was rung by the King's Somborne ringers, by special request of the Rector of Broughton. Ringers were present from Bishopstoke, King's Somborne, Lockerley, Nether Wallop, Romsey, Stockbridge and Winchester. The bells were available for ringing after the dedication service.

The work was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. in their usual efficient style.

FARNHAM DISTRICT AT ALDERSHOT.

The light peal of eight (tenor 8½ cwt.) at Aldershot was well employed at the meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Aldershot on December 1st. The service, fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar (Canon H. Le Fleming, R.D.). Tea, prepared by the local lady ringers, was very well served in the Parish Hall. At the business meeting, two new members were elected, viz., Messrs. P. Connor and E. Symonds, of Aldershot. The gathering stood in silence to the memory of Canon R. W. H. Stuart, an honorary member, of Bagshot, and Mr. G. T. Pearce (Hascombe). The district's retiring officers were renominated for 1935. Votes of thanks were passed to all responsible for the meeting arrangements. Owing to a church service, the tower was not available until 7 p.m., but handbell ringing, dancing and musical games were enjoyed for about an hour. The bells were rung down, after a good practice of standard methods, at 9 p.m.

A RINGER'S WEDDING.

From 'down Somerset way' comes the news this week of the wedding at Winsford Parish Church of Mr. William G. Newberry, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Newberry, of Dulverton, and Miss Dora Frances Veysey, fifth daughter of the late Mr. G. Veysey and Mrs. Veysey, of the Post Office, Winsford. The bride's father was a keen member of the local band of ringers, and Mr. Tom Newberry is one of the old-timers in the Dunster Deanery Association. His son, who lives at Ashted, Surrey, shares his father's enthusiasm. Throughout the afternoon and evening the bells rang out their message of good wishes and happiness. The wedding presents included a mirror from the Leatherhead ringers and a case of spoons and forks from the ringers at Ewell.

BELLS FOR CHURCH.

'Treble's going . . . gone!' The sally leaps from my hand, And full five hundredweight of metal Curtseys at my command. The mighty motion rocks and sways The tower of the church, But the gliding ropes are quiet and straight As a group of sapling birch, While the tireless sallies soar aloft, Pause, and come down again, And over the city chimneys drifts A rhythmical refrain. O where is born the music That arises when we ring? Not in the ghostly belfry Where the great bells crash and swing, Not in the grey begrim'd tower Where the starlings wheeze and croak, Not in the silent team of men With their eye on each other's stroke, But the angels of God that wait behind The altar at evening prayer Spread their pinions and mount above The steeple and hover there, And knowing our wish they chant a Heavenly Summons far and wide To come and worship the living God In His house at eventide.

SUSSEX MEETING AT WISBOROUGH GREEN.

As the outcome of a meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association at Wisborough Green, on November 17th, the association is to be asked to provide a printed form of service similar to those in use by other associations. The suggestion was made by Mr. Walter Charman, who presided.

Thirty-seven members attended, and good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening, the following towers being represented: Arundel, Billingshurst, Heene, Kirdford, Lower Beeding, Rudgwick, Shoreham, Turners Hill, Warnham, West Grinstead and the local band.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. A. Edwards), who was thanked for the use of the bells.

STRIKING IN SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest Mr. Trollope's article re striking of bells, and agree with most of it, but not with the part which seems to suggest that Surprise ringing is conducive to bad striking. I have always found the reverse of that in our own tower, and that ringing the more difficult methods keeps the ringers more alert and better striking results than in the simple methods. Especially is this the case in peal ringing, because in many Surprise methods a little error soon puts a stop to the peal, whereas in Kent Treble Bob or Bob Major, after having a very bad time (even to the extent of a salvo of fring), the bells can be brought into coursing order. The bells then come home in fine style, and the anguish is forgotten in the joy of another peal coming into the (ringing) world. In proof of this some of the best-struck peals in which I have had the pleasure of taking part have been in some of the new Surprise methods rung by our band, while two of the very worst were in the good old Bob Major methods. In my opinion a bad striker in Surprise ringing is a bad striker in any other method, and vice versa. If there is bad striking the fault lies with the individual ringer and not with the method rung.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A representative gathering of ringers attended the annual district meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry at Fulbourn on December 1st. The Rev. T. H. Hennessey (Rector) conducted the service and afterwards generously entertained the company to tea.

At the business meeting, Mr. C. W. Cook was re-elected District Ringing Master, Miss K. Willers district secretary, and Messrs. T. R. Dennis, E. G. Hibbins, F. Hurry, H. L. Martin and P. Webb to the District Committee. Mr. R. D. St. J. Smith, of the Cambridge University Guild, was elected a member of the association. It was decided to hold a meeting at Old Chesterton on January 12th. Mr. Cook stated that St. Benedict's bells were being rung for morning prayer on alternate Sundays. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector, organist (Mr. R. D. St. J. Smith) and to Mr. Martin for blowing the organ. Ringing followed the meeting.

NORTHAMPTON RINGERS ENTERTAINED.

By kind invitation of the Rev. R. Howes, a party of ringers from Northampton visited the charming village of Cold Higham on December 1st. On arrival, the Rector conducted the party over the ancient church, describing features of historical interest. During the afternoon and evening the sweet-toned ring of six were kept going to Grandsire, Bob Doubles, Stedman, Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob by the following members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild: Rev. R. Howes, W. Rogers, H. Key, J. Burston, W. Atterbury, G. Bannard, W. H. Ashby and Miss Howes. The party was entertained to tea by the Rev. R. and Mrs. Howes at the Rectory, who were heartily thanked for their kind hospitality by Mr. W. Rogers. Replying, Mr. Howes said he felt indebted to the Northampton ringers for the help given in his effort to master the intricacies of change ringing.

A MYSTERIOUS SOCIETY.

Dear Sir,—Can you or any one of your readers inform me about a society whose headquarters appear to be either in Loughborough or Leicester? They meet once a year about this time at a feed, either dinner or supper—it might be supper, bed and breakfast. Once it was named the Syston Turkey Do, another time the Loughborough Cock Supper, now it has changed to the Leicester Duck Dinner.

The number of birds for this feed appears to be out of all proportion to the number of members present. How can I join the society? Who are its officers? Invitations are issued, but no price for a ticket is required and no one is allowed in without one. I hear on one occasion a non-member was present, a roll call was made, the non-member ran to earth and most unceremoniously ejected. It certainly is one of the most secret and exclusive societies I have come across.

'PUZZLED.'

RENEWED CONFIDENCE IN WEST WORCESTERSHIRE.

All the officers were re-elected at the annual meeting of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association at Malvern Link on December 8th. Ringing took place during the afternoon, tea follow at 'The Link' Dining Rooms, by kind invitation of the Vicar, Miss Osborne and other friends, and at the meeting Upton-on-Severn was selected for the spring meeting.

Evensong was attended by the ringers, at which the Vicar (the Rev. H. W. Hill) gave a very inspiring address. Afterwards the ringers again visited the tower. Methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

I wonder whether people appreciate the historical articles which appear from time to time. Many, I fear, do not. I know one man, young, well educated, and not without brains, who would liefer read about the Middlesex Association of to-day than the College Youths of by-gone years, and would rather possess a cheque with my signature than a genuine letter signed by John Holt. But I hope there are others. To me the history of the Exercise is most fascinating. Not merely peal records, for they can be dreadfully monotonous, but the story of the ringers themselves, who they were and what they did. Partly, no doubt, the reason is that we know so little about them, and that little has to be won by sweat and labour. I have spent (shall I say wasted?) hours and hours in the British Museum trying to find out some few details, and I have read many a rare and strange book, not altogether without results. There was one of our earliest composers a man named Samuel Scattergood, the friend and contemporary of Fabian Stedman. He was a parson, and some of his sermons were printed in a book. I do not altogether recommend seventeenth-century sermons as exactly light reading, but I went through these—two volumes of them—and I had my reward, for I formed a clear and very favourable impression of the man. I was not always so lucky. Samuel Roe, who just two hundred years ago rang the tenor to a peal of Grand-sire Triples, was also a parson. He wrote a book in controversy with, or in opposition to, the great John Wesley. I attempted to read it, but I could not; it was worse than trying to eat sawdust. Nor could I read the "Miscellanea Critica," by Richard Dawes, one of the Cambridge Youths, who was fond of nut brown ale, went mad, and died. It is written in Latin, but it would have been all the same if it had been written in English, for it is a very learned book on the Greek language.

These are not the only ringers who have been authors. John Harrison, Master of the College Youths in 1644, wrote an account of Muley Abdala Melek, Sultan of Morocco, and very entertaining it is. He also published a book with the idea of converting the Jews to Christianity. Whether it had any success I do not know. I am not a Jew, but I imagine not.

A century later John Hardham was also Master of the College Youths. He rang in the first peals of Royal and Maximus ever accomplished. He was a tobacconist with a shop in Fleet Street near Ludgate Circus. He was also greatly interested in the theatre, wrote a play, and was a friend of David Garrick, the famous actor. Garrick made his fortune by advertising his snuff by interpolating references to it on the stage when he was acting, but he would have nothing to do with the play. He knew what was good snuff, and he knew what was a good play; and Hardham's is sorry stuff—mere rant and fustian. But his snuff was good. It was the most famous snuff that has ever been made, and I believe to this day "Hardham's 37" is still sold. Hardham was a generous and lovable man who gained the esteem and affection of many of the notable men of the time, and his shop at the sign of the Red Lion was the rendezvous of fashionable people. He was very charitable to people who had fallen into adverse circumstances. He had his ups and downs, and once he went bankrupt, but he ended as a wealthy man. When he died he left all, or nearly all, his fortune to his native city of Chichester, which still benefits by his will. In 1930 the capital sum was £22,735 13s. 9d., which realised £568 per annum for the relief of rates.

CORNISH TOURS RECALLED.*DEATH OF THE REV. R. H. SOWELL, OF ST. KEA.

The death took place suddenly at St. Kea Vicarage, near Truro, on December 13th, of the Rev. R. H. Sowell, M.A., at the age of 73, but, although having passed the psalmist's allotted span, he was extremely active.

Mr. Sowell was a practical ringer, although he had done very little since the close of the Great War, when in September, 1918, his only son, Arthur D. Sowell, a very active young ringer, who had rung several peals in the standard methods, was killed in action. There is a stained glass window in St. Kea Church in his memory, and a brass tablet in the belfry records his work as a ringer.

In August last Mr. Sowell completed 25 years' ministry in the parish, and in September a peal of Stedman Triples was rung in honour of this by four tourists and Miss E. J. C. Angwin and Messrs. W. H. Southard, W. H. Sleeman and C. E. Lanxon, of Truro. The four latter, with Messrs. A. S. Roberts and W. E. Minors, assisted the local ringers when the bells were rung half-muffled after the funeral on Saturday afternoon last.

Mr. Sowell took special interest when a peal was attempted on his bells, and, if the peal was successful, would come to the tower and would state the exact time the peal had taken and pass his comments on the striking. He knew if a peal failed and would seldom be seen on such an occasion. In 1913 a touring band rang at St. Kea a peal of London Surprise Major, and the following morning one of Superlative, commencing at 6 a.m., conducted by Mr. William Pye and Mr. T. T. Gifton respectively, and the same week one of Grandsire Triples was conducted by Mr. John Thomas (Edmonton), when several local ringers, including the late A. D. Sowell, took part. This is the only time three peals have been rung within five days at a tower in Cornwall. After the peal last September, Mr. Sowell and Mr. Pye renewed acquaintance after a space of 21 years. The late Vicar was particularly pleased that the ringing was in honour of his 25 years' ministry, and entertained the band at the Vicarage afterwards.

Great sympathy is felt for Mrs. Sowell in her loss, and the passing of such an incumbent removes one who would always grant the use of his bells at a moment's notice, simply because he understood the fascination of the art and the enthusiasm of ringers, whether it be for rounds or a peal attempt.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Alfred T. Poulton rang his 100th peal at Bridstow, Ross, Herefordshire, this week.

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. William Pye has had a breakdown in health, necessitating hospital treatment.

A letter sent to Mr. J. E. Bailey, of Dartford, has been returned to us through the Dead Letter Office. Will Mr. Bailey forward his correct address?

Mr. Norman Summerhayes, of Dartford, Kent, rang his first quarter-peal within four months of his first lesson in handling a bell. A very promising start.

Mr. G. Lindoff informs us that a composition of 5,056 Runnymede Surprise was credited to him. It had previously been published by Stephen H. Wood and should be so recorded.

Mr. John Dale, steeplekeeper of Hornchurch, Essex, has completed 50 years' service as a ringer. A congratulatory peal was rung on December 8th.

A band of railwaymen employed by the L.N.E.R. brought off a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at the Church of St. Giles-in-the-Fields on December 15th.

Among the failures of the month to be recorded is the attempt at Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, for a peal of Stedman Triples. Although the peal was lost, the usual shrimps were provided for the visitors, writes our correspondent.

Mr. J. L. Murray, captain of St. Paul's Cathedral Society, Melbourne, who rang his first peal of Cinques on Armistice Day, is 73 years of age. In 1890 he rang in the first peal in Australia—Grandshire Triples at Sydney.

The new chairman of the North Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild is Canon E. W. J. Hellins and not Mr. E. W. J. Hellins as reported in our last issue. Canon Hellins is the Vicar of Marnhull, whose band of ringers have recently completed 38 years together.

The Editor and Staff of "The Ringing World" extend hearty Christmas Greetings to all ringers
both near and far.

May the message of the bells be one of happiness throughout 1935.

The Rev. A. A. Bennett, now Rector of St. George's, Hobart, who rang in the peal of Bob Major at Holy Trinity Church, was formerly a Church Army Captain at Gloucester, where for a time he was hon. secretary of the Gloucester Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. It is 12 years since he rang his previous peal.

The peal at Beddington, Surrey, by five married couples rung on December 8th is of interest to the Exercise. It is the first peal on ten bells by five married couples, and the selection of the method, Cambridge Surprise Royal, indicates the standing of those who participated. A special congratulation to Mrs. F. W. Housden, who registered her first peal under such happy circumstances.

BOW BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having read R. E.'s contribution re the record made of Bow Bells, I should like to ask, 'Has R. E., either before or since the restoration, had any personal experience on these bells?'

Having rung there occasionally since about 1909, I feel sure that his answer must be in the negative for both periods, otherwise he would neither have expressed his opinion on a past performance nor have made the suggestion he did for a future one.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

English Ringers' Magnificent Reception in Tasmania.

A GREAT AND MEMORABLE WEEK.

The English ringers, touring in Australia, spent a truly great week in Tasmania, where they were royally treated as guests of distinction and filled such a programme of engagements which nearly overwhelmed them. In addition to much sight-seeing and numerous social events, two peals were rung at Holy Trinity Church, Hobart.

visitors were greeted by the Acting Lord Mayor (the Lord Mayor himself being absent in Melbourne), and at which the Bishop and Dean were again present.

In the afternoon the Governor of Tasmania (Sir Ernest Clark) and Lady Clark received us very graciously at Government House, and thereafter there was a succession of entertainments that almost threatened to cut out ringing from the programme. In this most typically English of all the States of the Commonwealth we have felt

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, HOBART, TASMANIA.

The Centenary of this church was celebrated last year. The tower contains a peal of eight bells, tenor 9 cwt. 3 qr., cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1847. Two peals of Grandsire Triples have been rung on them, both in December, 1890.

Their return to Melbourne was signalled by the first twelve-bell peal rung out of the British Isles—a peal of Grandsire Cinques on Armistice Day rung by six Australian and six English ringers.

Hobart.

November 8th, 1934.

The warmth of our reception and the cordiality of our treatment in Hobart will remain a lasting memory with those who have been privileged to enjoy it. Almost immediately after our arrival, we were given a parochial reception in Holy Trinity Church Hall, attended by about a hundred parishioners and residents in other parts of Hobart, at which, in addition to Archdeacon Blackwood, who is Rector and president of the Bellingers' Society, there were also present the Bishop of Tasmania (Dr. Hay), the Dean of Hobart (Dr. Rivers) and the Rev. A. A. Bennett (formerly of Gloucester and now Rector of the parish of St. George, Hobart). The following morning there was a civic reception at the Town Hall, when the ourselves to be thoroughly at home; we have received great, open-hearted hospitality, and we leave the island with many lasting friendships cemented, and, we hope, some encouragement to the art of ringing in Hobart.

For the elaborate arrangements made for our entertainment we have specially to thank Mr. A. R. Wilson, the enthusiastic hon. secretary of the Holy Trinity Society, who was backed up cordially by Archdeacon Blackwood, the ringers and a host of friends, and to all these we express our deep indebtedness, although words are quite inadequate to convey our appreciation of the many kindnesses extended to us.

We left Melbourne on Wednesday afternoon (October 31st) and reached the Tasmanian port of Launceston, which lies 40 miles up the River Tamar, at 8 a.m. We were told that our passage across Bass Strait, a much dreaded piece of water, had been a 'fairly good one.' If it could be called a fairly good trip when a ship rolls until her cabin portholes are under water, we wondered what a bad one might be like. Some of the party found out on the return journey. From Launceston to Hobart is 120 miles, a normal five hours' journey by the 'boat express.' We travelled by the 'boat express,' but what with the engine wilting on the steep inclines (probably under Rupert's weight), and having to get a fresh engine to complete the journey, we were 6½ hours getting to Hobart. But it is a very charming train ride; the first part being a gradual climb to about 1,250ft. through English-like pastoral country, gay with hawthorn and gorse. The second part of the trip, down the steeper side of the mountain, is through bush land, on a winding track that follows the curves of the hills and often almost folds back upon itself. The railway has a gauge of only 3ft. 6in., but the carriages are of normal width.

When eventually we reached Hobart, there were many new friends on the platform to meet us, with cars ready to take us to the home of our appointed hosts. Members of the congregation accommodated us and were lavish in their hospitality. We were provided with free passes on the city trams, by the courtesy of the City Council, and this incidentally enabled the visitors during the week to take opportunities of seeing some of the beauty spots in the suburbs. Even printed programmes, with full information for the forthcoming days, were handed round—so complete were the arrangements for our convenience and comfort.

The bells of Holy Trinity, Hobart, were sent out from the White-chapel Foundry in 1847, and they were transported from the wharf to the church, which stands in a high and dominating position, by a team of six bullocks. The tenor is 9 cwt. 3 gr. 1 lb., and bears the inscription, 'Their sound has gone out into all lands and their words unto the end of the world.' For a peal cast at that period they are quite a good little ring in tone, but they lack breath. They have been rung from the earliest days, but change ringing found no home in Hobart until towards the end of the century.

Then in 1890 there was a visit of Melbourne ringers, of which visiting band Mr. J. L. Murray is still in active connection with ringing as captain of St. Paul's Society. They rang two peals of Grandsire Triples (Davies' Five-Part and Holt's Ten-Part) during a four days' stay. Only one peal had been rung before that in Australia, and that by the Melbourne ringers on a visit to Sydney earlier in the same year.

In the preceding year Hobart ringers had been invited to Melbourne to assist in the opening of St. Paul's Cathedral bells, their photographs hang in Holy Trinity tower to-day, and they are curious as revealing the fact that they rang in a kind of loose uniform coat. It was of striped black and white material, and made the ringers look like a team of footballers. Four of that company are alive to-day—45 years after—and were among those who gave us a great welcome at Holy Trinity Parish Hall on the night of our arrival.

Archdeacon Blackwood presided over this gathering, at which a number of speeches of welcome were made: Archdeacon Blackwood for the parish, the Rev. A. A. Bennett for the other churches in Hobart, Messrs. E. A. Rogers and H. L. D'Emden (former ringers, who were in the band that visited Melbourne in 1889), Mr. A. Jerrim (churchwarden) and Mr. M. Crawford for the Church of England Men's Society.

Mr. W. H. Fussell acknowledged the greetings, and said the party would carry away happy memories of their welcome to Tasmania.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith presented to Holy Trinity Society the two albums of photographs of English cathedrals and churches brought as a gift from the ringers of the old country to the ringers of Hobart as a tangible expression of their affection and goodwill. This gift was suitably acknowledged by Archdeacon Blackwood, and the Rev. W. Walters then handed to Holy Trinity Society a framed photograph of the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies. He said he knew nothing of Mr. Davies as a ringer, but he knew of him as an astronomer and as president of the British Astronomical Association from 1923-1925. Learning that Mr. Davies was the composer of the first peal rung in Hobart, he thought the most fitting place for it would be in Holy Trinity ringing chamber.

Mr. Goldsmith said it was a strange coincidence that that portrait should have been presented that night, for among the gifts which the English ringers had brought out was one from Mrs. Davies (the Rev. C. D. P. Davies' widow), which was an album of views of Tewkesbury Abbey, where Mr. Davies learned to ring and where he was buried, supplemented by photographs of the ringers' memorial chapel and the memorial tablet.

Other gifts in the shape of books on bells and ringing were presented to the society, and Mr. W. H. Fussell, on behalf of the visiting ringers, handed to Mr. A. R. Wilson a suitably engraved silver bell inkstand, to mark their gratitude for all he had done to make the visit an enjoyable one.

Mr. Wilson, who was taken by surprise, thanked the visitors for their very handsome gift.

During the evening a programme of music was carried out and a number of views of Tasmania screened by Mr. E. T. Emmett, Director of the Tasmanian Government Tourist Bureau.

On the morning after our arrival we were accorded a civic welcome at the Town Hall. The Lord Mayor was in Melbourne for the centenary proceedings, but supporting the Deputy Lord Mayor were a number of the civic dignitaries, the Lord Bishop of Tasmania, Archdeacon Blackwood and the Dean of Hobart. The Deputy Lord Mayor gave the visitors a cordial welcome to Tasmania, and hoped they would be able to see a good deal of the island during their stay. Tasmanians were proud of the fact that the country was more like England than any other State in the Commonwealth. He hoped the visit would provide many pleasant and happy memories.

The Bishop, in the name of the diocese, extended a cordial welcome to the visitors. He said they would find Tasmania a replica of England, for many English trees flourished here, and even the weather at times resembled that of England. Also there were some very old churches—old as they counted things in Australia. There was one difference, however, they had not the peals of bells in Tasmania. The glorious sound of the traditional bells of England was never to be forgotten, but here the only peal was at Holy Trinity, although there was a move well under way for the extension of the tower and provision of bells at St. David's. It was a special privilege to welcome the visitors, because it was the first time they had had a visit of bellringers from England.

Archdeacon Blackwood, as Rector of Holy Trinity, and president of the Bellringers' Association, supported the previous speakers, and said they were looking forward very much to the visit, and the attempts to ring peals at Holy Trinity.

The Dean of Hobart said he had a special personal interest in the visit of the bellringers, because they contemplated procuring a peal of bells for St. David's Cathedral. It was expected to commence the tower of the Cathedral in a few weeks, and to have the bells about 18 months later. It was very difficult to get expert advice in this regard, and, therefore, it was a delight to have some of the best English ringers visiting the city.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, on behalf of the party, said they deeply appreciated the kind expressions and warm welcome, and the generous efforts made to ensure the success of their tour. Mentally and physically, bellringing was a beautiful exercise, but there was a far deeper meaning. It was a part of the church work and closely connected with the spiritual welfare of any parish. In England bells had been associated with the life of the nation for centuries, and no other country had been able to emulate the English art. Her ringers were loyal to the Church and the State, and they marked all the important dates by giving a peal on the bells.

He deplored the use of machine-worked bells, and said there was hardly a cathedral in England which would tolerate a carillon. They all had the fine deep and sonorous bells rung by hand. He hoped that they would ensure the installation of a proper peal of bells at St. David's Cathedral to enhance its dignity and character, and that they would be rung in the same manner in which their forefathers had carried on the work. He suggested that ten bells, with 1½ tons tenor, should be procured.

Members of the party rang a course of Grandsire Caters on hand-bells at the close of the function, which was much appreciated. The Deputy Lord Mayor then conducted the visitors on a motor drive around the Queen's Domain, a great hilly space which by admirable foresight has been preserved to the public for ever.

In the afternoon a visit was paid to the Beaumaris Zoo, round which a tour was specially conducted by Mr. Reid, the curator, who explained the habits and characteristics of many of the denizens.

From here the party went on to Government House, where they were graciously received by His Excellency the Governor (Sir Ernest Clark) and Lady Clark. Capt. I. Matheson, A.D.C. and private secretary, and Commander Beatty, hon. A.D.C., were in attendance, and others present were the Lord Bishop and Mrs. Snowden Hay, the Ven. Archdeacon Blackwood and the Rev. A. A. Bennett. His Excellency was very interested in the ringers' visit, and was photographed with the party, who were entertained to tea in the luxurious drawing room.

It had been determined to make the first attempt for a peal at Holy Trinity Church in the evening, and a start was made for Kent Treble Bob Major. It was found that all the bells had a very short pull at hand, which did not make ringing an easy task, despite the light weight of the bells, but the peal seemed well within reach when, after 2 hours 50 minutes, with only another course to go, the treble rope unexpectedly slipped wheel and the bell set up! The ringers were: W. Linter 1, Mrs. R. Richardson 2, Rev. E. B. James 3, C. Sharples 4, W. H. Fussell 5, J. S. Goldsmith 6, G. Martin (conductor) 7, R. Richardson 8. It was a great disappointment to everyone, but it proved a greater disappointment to me afterwards, for as it turned out afterwards it robbed me of my only opportunity of scoring a peal in Tasmania.

Next day, to my chagrin, I was stricken down with a heavy attack of influenza, which kept me in bed for five days, caused me to miss all the delightful programme arranged for our interest and pleasure, and detained me on the island two days after the departure of the rest of the party. But it had its compensations, for it revealed how very kind good friends can be. Everyone was solicitous for my well-being, and I have specially to thank Miss Wilson (sister of the Holy Trinity Society's hon. secretary) and Mr. and Mrs. J. Gould, who were constant in their ministrations.

Rupert, armed with brace and bit and screwdriver, spent the next morning among the bells, cutting new garter holes and readjusting the ropes. He effected a marvellous improvement.

On Saturday afternoon there was a visit to The Springs, a wonderful vantage point 2,500ft. up the side of Mount Wellington, from which a wonderful panorama of mountain and river scenery can be obtained, with Hobart spread out at one's feet.

It was decided to try for the peal again in the evening, Joe Hardecastle coming in to fill the vacancy, and this time it was successful in 3 hours 1 minute. It was, of course, the first time a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major had been rung outside the British Isles, and the ringers received the congratulations of the Archdeacon and members of the local society on its completion.

On Sunday there was a crowded day, beginning at 8 a.m. with Corporate Communion and breakfast in the Parish Hall, presided over by Archdeacon Blackwood. There were about 40 present and the visitors were welcomed by Mr. E. McLagan, president of the C.E.M.S., the welcome being acknowledged by Mr. Fussell.

The visitors attended morning service at the Cathedral; specially broadcast Holy Trinity bells in the afternoon, Mr. Fussell giving a short talk prior to the performance. In the evening there was a special bellringers' service, which brought together a crowded congregation. Some special music was introduced and the sermon was delivered by the Rev. E. Banks James, who gave a most interesting address upon the science of bellringing and the message of the bells. He brought home with special emphasis the real use of church bells, which, he said, not merely called people to church, but proclaimed, in the loudest tones, praise of the Master. They were angels and messengers to people who listened; they conveyed messages of thanksgiving to God and of peace and goodwill on earth.

At the close of the sermon a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells in the chancel with fine effect, and was watched with great interest.

On Monday, which was a public holiday in the island, the party made a trip to Tasmania's wonderful National Park, as guests of the Government. It is reached by a unique train journey, probably unsurpassed by its scenic beauty, and the visitors were provided with a special observation car at the end of the train. The National Park covers many square miles and contains, among other natural attractions, the Great Russell Falls, famed throughout Australia. For the facilities granted the party are much indebted to the Premier (the Hon. O. G. Ogilvie, K.C.) and his private secretary (Mr. E. H. Parkes).

Monday evening was spent as the guests of Hobart's Ringing Master (Mr. J. W. Quarmbay), and on Tuesday morning the second peal of Major in Tasmania was rung, when with the Rev. A. A. Bennett, formerly of Gloucester and now Rector of St. George's, Hobart, taking part, a 5,056 of Bob Major was successfully rung.

Those who were not too leg weary visited the chocolate factory of Messrs. Cadbury, Fry and Pascall in the afternoon, and all the ringers spent Tuesday evening in the belfry assisting the local men in change ringing. At present their limit is a plain course of Grandsire Doubles, but there is promising material in the band, and, with the help given and the aid of the books left with them, it is hoped soon to hear of further progress.

There was just one other fly in the ointment. On Wednesday morning, with the Rev. A. A. Bennett standing in and Mr. Quarmbay ringing the tenor, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples was made. Much of it was very passable stuff, with just a few irregular blows here and there by the tenor, but after 1 hour 54 minutes the 'drum' got down to lead and there was nothing left but to stop, to everyone's keen disappointment, and not least the veteran tenorman's.

In the afternoon, on the Master Warden's beautifully appointed launch, a trip round the wonderful natural harbour formed by the River Derwent, and capable of accommodating at one time all the navies of the world, was a treat greatly enjoyed, the party having tea on board. In the evening they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Peddar.

The next morning the main body took a much regretted departure. The stay on the island had produced a marvellous display of hospitality, and it was with genuine reluctance that both hosts and visitors took leave of each other. Nothing had been spared to make the stay interesting, entertaining and happy, and the English party carry away with them the most delightful memories. Mere words cannot express their gratification for the kindnesses showered upon them.

But Bass Strait was not so kind in the blessing bestowed. The crossing on Thursday night found it in one of its foulest moods. The 'Nanana' rolled until her sides were under water; dived in head first till there seemed little left above water but her stern, and then sat up on her tail as if she were going to beg like a good doggy. The worst of it was she did nothing for long, and the travellers were bumped about in their bunks and so shaken up that at first some of them were afraid they were going to die. Afterwards they hoped they would.

They were two hours late in reaching Melbourne on Friday morning, missed their scheduled train to Geelong, and so upset the programme in that city; but about their visit there I must tell you later. Suffice it to say they did not find the bells pealable.

I rejoined them on the morning of Armistice Day in Melbourne, and had at any rate the compensation of a much smoother crossing of the Strait than they had experienced. Melbourne was crowded with Service men and civilians for the dedication of the Shrine of Remembrance—our task lay at St. Paul's Cathedral, where we rang the twelve bells half-muffled up to a quarter to eleven, and the tenor then tolled the hour for the two minutes silence. It must have been a poignant moment, for thousands assembled round that wonderful tribute to Victoria's men and women, 18,000 of whom went forth in the Great War and came not back.

But the tribute having been paid, a virile nation does not look back and continue to weep. It rejoices in victory and looks to the future; therefore, the rest of the ringing was done with bells open, and it is with the greatest gratification that I record the achievement of our greatest ambition on this tour. On the afternoon of Armistice Day six Australian ringers (who before this visit had never rung but a plain course) and six English rang the first peal of Cinques outside the British Isles. The original plan had been to ring it on this day, if possible, but as the time had drawn near it seemed doubtful if there would be sufficient interval between the services, and consequently the two abortive attempts, already reported, were made.

But it was kept to Armistice Day itself to achieve success, and it was a triumph which, with one accord it was agreed, was worth coming all the way to Australia to attain. The previous practices had shaped the band up, but at the last minute everything was in the balance, for the conductor was the sick man. He got up from his bed on Thursday; he had travelled 500 miles by train and sea during Saturday and Sunday morning; could he stand it? With a reshuffling of some of the positions to enable him to ring in front, he was willing to make the attempt in view of the importance of the occasion, but when he called 'This is all,' both his voice and his knees had almost gone. The success achieved, however, made all else matter nothing. The Australian ringers, and particularly Miss Frey Shimmin, whose first peal of any kind it was, deserve the utmost congratulation. It was a great feat for them, and the hope was expressed that this peal would be an inspiration to St. Paul's Society to go on and ring an 'All Australian' peal of Cinques in the near future.

ROYAL WEDDING BELLS IN CANADA.

The Canadian mail this week has brought us an interesting letter from Mr. A. G. Limpus, of 208, Union Street, Vancouver, B.C., informing the Exercise that the bells of the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver, were rung in Queens, rounds, Grandsire and fired to celebrate the wedding of Prince George and Princess Marina on November 29th. Those taking part were A. B. Lomas, T. Greenaway, R. H. Tapper, W. Sampson, G. Roberts, W. D. Bond, Mr. Bailey, Miss May Leech and A. O. Limpus.

Mr. Bond, an old ringer from Cheltenham, helped to instal the original French bells in 1900, and has been absent from the ringing chamber for 20 years, but at 73 he is still able to ring the tenor.

The wedding service in Westminster Abbey was heard clearly over the radio and repeated again at 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. Pacific time. 'The bells at the Abbey,' writes Mr. Limpus, 'I heard very clearly ringing rounds after the wedding and going off into changes as we were cut off. They seemed to be ringing very wide. I believe they are heavy bells, as we are told it would take three hours and twenty minutes to complete the peal of 5,040.'

DUDLEY GUILD AT BRIERLEY HILL.

DEATH OF MR. H. JOHNSON.

The inclement weather on December 8th was responsible for a smaller attendance than anticipated at the quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild at St. Michael's Church, Brierley Hill. There was 1½ hours' ringing previous to the service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. H. Herbert), who gave an eloquent address.

A company of 40 assembled for tea in the Schoolroom. At the business meeting the Rector presided, supported by Mr. H. Mason (vice-president), Mr. S. J. Hughes (hon. treasurer) and Mr. H. Sheppard (hon. secretary). A cordial welcome to Brierley Hill was extended by the Rector. Mr. Mason made feeling reference to the sudden death of Mr. H. Johnson, of Old Hill, which occurred early in the week, and was laid to rest that day. The secretary was requested to send a letter of condolence to the family, and, on the suggestion of Mr. Mason, the members stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of their respect.

The Rector of Brierley Hill was elected a honorary member, and the following belfry elections were ratified: Mr. W. Goodman (Dudley) and Mr. P. G. Martin (Blakenhall). It was decided that the quarterly peal should be attempted at Brierley Hill, the necessary arrangements as to method, time and date being left in the hands of Mr. John Lloyd (Brierley Hill). The next meeting, the annual, will be held at Dudley. Appropriate votes of thanks to the Rector, the Parochial Church Council for kindly providing the tea, the ladies, the organist and local ringers concluded the meeting. An adjournment was again made to the tower.

ENGLISH MEDIEVAL BELL-FOUNDERS.

BY H. B. WALTERS, M.A., F.S.A.

In a previous article which I had the privilege of contributing to 'The Ringing World' I gave some account of the writers to whom we are indebted for our knowledge of the history of English church bells. Their books have done much to throw light on the various bell-founders and their productions, especially in medieval times, and readers of this paper may find interest in a short sketch of that subject.

The earliest records of bell-founding in this country go back to the latter part of the thirteenth century. It is true that there are not a few bells still hanging in our church steeples which are of an earlier date; but it is not until the end of this century that we hear of regularly polish, where the names of founders first appear about 1280-1300.

Towards the end of the thirteenth century we find frequent mention in records (1297-1312) of a family of the name of Wymbish, who hailed from Essex and had their quarters in Aldgate, under the aegis of the Priory of the Holy Trinity. Three founders of the name cast bells which still exist and bear their names. Richard, who appears to have been the eldest, cast a bell for Goring in Oxfordshire which bears a prayer for Peter Quivil, Bishop of Exeter, and cannot be later than 1290. Five of his bells exist in other counties. Buckinghamshire contains five bells by Michael, who died about 1310, and there is one in Sussex by Walter de Wymbish, whose name is not otherwise recorded. Contemporary with them were organised foundries in some of the principal towns. Records imply that hitherto a certain amount of bell-founding has been done in monastic centres such as Bury St. Edmunds, St. Albans, and Worcester; but apparently the earliest name of an actual bell-founder is that of Johannes le Bellyetere, who was praepositus (provost) of Bristol in 1236. His position shows that he must have been a man of some importance. At Gloucester the name of Hugh le Bellyetere occurs in 1275, and that of his daughter Christina some years later. There is a bell still existing at Besford in Worcestershire, which may be still work of the latter. Other thirteenth-century founders can be traced at Bridport and at Paignton in Devon.

The name bellyetere, or bell-caster, seems to have been the one in regular use for a bell-founder down to about the middle of the fourteenth century, though sometimes we find 'potter' or its Latin equivalent ollarius. Subsequently 'brasyer' became common, as at Norwich. In Billiter Street in the City of London we have a reminder that Aldgate was the centre of the industry in the Metro-

Geoffrey of Edmonton, who placed his name on a bell at Billericay, Essex, unfortunately recast in 1890; and Paul le Potter, who occurs at West Challow in Berks. The latter's name is known from records between 1283 and 1312, but no bell by him was known until 1926, when the turret of that church was with difficulty reached by an intrepid young bell-hunter. A specimen of his lettering is here given.

The late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt disinterred a long list of founders' names of the fourteenth century from the London City records, but only a few of them are known from existing bells. These are Peter de Weston (1336-1347), William Revel (1357), William Schep (1347-1349), Simon de Hazfelde (1353-1373) and Robert Rider (1351-1386). There are, however, other bells of the early fourteenth century in the Home Counties and even further afield which bear close relationship to the work of the founders already named. A notable example is the old treble of Westminster Abbey, formerly on floor of the N.W. tower which dates from about 1320, and another, formerly at Thurning, Hunts, is illustrated on next page.

Towards the end of the 14th century a distinct change in London-made bells may be observed. In the first place the practice of giving the founder's name entirely ceases, and there is not a single example of this among London-cast bells later than Robert Rider, though some founders give a clue to their identity by means of initials or punning trade marks. Secondly, the practice, hitherto invariable, of using Gothic capitals for the inscriptions gives way about 1400 to that of using black-letter smalls, with capitals for the initial letters only.

In the fifteenth century there appear to have been two distinct lines of founders in London, most of the representatives of which have now been identified with certain groups of bells, and a chronological sequence established.

Bell formerly at Thurning, Hunts, cast in London about 1320.

This achievement has been due chiefly to the researches of Stahlschmidt and Tyssen, as noted in my previous article.

The London founders of the fifteenth century probably cast as fine bells as have ever been turned out from an English foundry, and their reputation spread all over England. Even at the present day there is hardly a county, from Durham to Cornwall, in which specimens of their work do not exist, and of one founder's bells there are over a hundred remaining. Each founder has his special trade mark, though many of the stamps and letters are handed down from one to another. In the sixteenth century bell-founding in London seems to have somewhat declined, and by the time of the Reformation had died out almost entirely. The last London founder was Thomas Lawrence (about 1520-1540), a man of original ideas, and he eventually migrated to Norwich. There is a bell of his dated 1515 at Minchinhampton, Gloucestershire.

'EALING' SURPRISE.

INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE ON THE COMPOSITION

The peal of 'Ealing' Surprise rung at Ealing on December 1st has given rise to some interesting correspondence. We refrained from publishing the correspondence last week in order to give Mr. J. A. Trollope, who conducted the peal, an opportunity of replying.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The method rung at Ealing on December 1st as Ealing Surprise was composed by the late Arthur Craven in 1901, and is No. 21 in his collection unnamed therein.—Sincerely yours,
Bradford. E. JENKINS.

COMPOSITIONS.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Trollope's weekly articles in 'The Ringing World' are most interesting reading, but I am doubtful if composers will agree with his idea of omitting a composer's name from peal records.

With regard to his (Mr. Trollope's) figures in last week's issue (Ealing Surprise), I should think he could have quite modestly claimed that they, like Topsy, 'grewed' from what the late Nathan J. Pitstow used to call 'Washbrook's' 27 courses of Superlative. These figures may be found in the 'Bell News,' Vol. 5, page 226, July 30th, 1887—6,048 in three parts—another, page 293, in one part, same volume. By the diagram I should think Ealing Surprise is a most interesting and musical method to ring.

Eastleigh, Hants.

GEORGE WILLIAMS, W. and P.D.G.R.

Dear Sir,—The method published as 'Ealing' Surprise in your last issue was discovered and named 'Horsham' Surprise on June 15th, 1912, by yours truly, Brighton. GEORGE BAKER.

Dear Sir,—May I congratulate you and the band who rang the peal of 'Ealing Surprise' Major on December 1st, but would like to point out the method is an old one, produced (or shall I say discovered) by George Baker, of Brighton, in June, 1912, and named 'Horsham Surprise.'—Yours truly,

Ashton-under-Lyne.

WALTER W. WOLSTENCROFT.

Dear Sir,—Whilst congratulating the band on ringing the peal at Ealing, it may interest some to know that I have the same method in my collection as 'Horsham' Surprise, discovered June 15th, 1912, by Mr. G. Baker, of Brighton, and, as such, formed part of the combination method 'Leatherhead' Surprise, rung the early part of this year at Leatherhead, and later published in 'The Ringing World.'—Yours, etc.,
Leatherhead, Surrey. G. MARRINER.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the peal of Ealing Surprise rung on the 1st December at Ealing, I have this method as 'Horsham,' composed by George Baker on the 15th June, 1912.—Yours faithfully,
Watford. S. HOARE.

MR. TROLLOPE'S REPLY.

Dear Sir,—I have to thank these gentlemen for their letters. I do not suggest that, as a general rule, the names of composers should be omitted from peals. What I do say is that there are many peals to which you cannot with justice put any one man's name, and in those cases it is better not to put anything. I gave as an instance the peal I called at Ealing. Mr. Williams is quite correct in saying that it 'grewed' from what Nathan Pitstow used to call Washbrook's 27 courses of Superlative. But are they Washbrook's? My recollection is that it was objected at the time he published them that they are only a simple (if much improved) arrangement of Cox's peal. Which is quite true. But are they Cox's? Benjamin Thackrah wrote a book on ringing, and in it he gave a composition of Superlative which, through an obvious blunder, is short of a peal (he had omitted two courses and three bobs at Home in each part). Cox owned a copy of this book, and in it he made a marginal note of the mistake. He then added the missing courses (which anyone with a little knowledge could have done), and put the peal out as his own. It seems that the standards of the time allowed such things, for I never heard that Cox was a man to do a deliberately dishonest thing. But is the peal Thackrah's? It is the old familiar nine courses of Bob Major turned into a three-part by adding a bob at M in each part; perhaps the simplest and most obvious composition in the whole of ringing. And now I ask who composed the peal I called? merely adding that it will not run either to Superlative or Bob Major. Ealing Surprise is one of those methods which any competent man, who tries to work out methods, is likely to come across, and I should have been very much surprised if it had not been composed long ago by several people. I have had it for many years, but not from so long time past as 1901.

Also I am not surprised that one gentleman has given it a name. There is no harm in that. Anybody may, if he is so minded, sit down quietly and name methods to his heart's content. But he must not expect that his action will bind anybody else. We who rang the method at Ealing called it Ealing Surprise. And that's that.

J. A. TROLLOPE.

DEATH OF MR. F. L. CHAPMAN.

The death took place suddenly on December 10th at Rushden, Northants, of Mr. Francis Lewis Chapman, aged 59, who was a member of the Higham Ferrers belfry for about 40 years. He placed his wide knowledge of ringing at the disposal of many a young band. In the belfry and in Guild circles he will be greatly missed.

The funeral took place on December 12th at Rushden Cemetery, being preceded by a service at St. Peter's Church. Besides the family mourners, which included his brother, Mr. E. Chapman (Keyston, late of Manchester), were Messrs. G. Randall, A. E. Martin, G. Dennis Deighton (Higham Ferrers), Oscar Payne (Irechester), H. Chambers (Irthlingborough) and Frank Kirk (Raunds). The floral tributes included a wreath from Higham Ferrers ringers and from the Vicar and ringers of Irechester, where he helped to teach the local band.

With the bells half-muffled, touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich were rung in the evening. The ringers taking part were from Irthlingborough, Raunds and the local band.

On December 15th a peal of Grandsire Triples half-muffled was attempted in his memory, but came to grief after one hour's good ringing by members of the Peterborough Guild.

DEATH OF MR. J. GRANGER.

Chatteris ringing has suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Joseph Granger, one of its oldest ringers, who died on December 1st at the age of 60 after a short illness. He had been a regular ringer at Chatteris for 30 years and organ blower for 20 years.

The funeral took place at Chatteris on December 5th. After the service the bells were rung half-muffled, and a 720 of Oxford Treble Job was rung by P. Smith 1, A. Abrams 2, S. Murphy 3, A. Mattock 4, W. Young 5, W. Seekings (conductor) 6.

CHESHUNT RINGERS' POSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In respect to the reference in 'The Ringing World' of November 9th by 'Observer' regarding Cheshunt ringers, I am informed that the chiming of the bells for weddings has been started by the Vicar for the purpose of giving the poorer classes the chance of having the bells chimed if they wish for 10s. 6d. Where people are in a position to pay the usual fee the rule still stands the same. The present band of ringers agree with the Vicar on this point. They are making very good progress with Doubles and Grandsire Triples. I understand they are not concerned over the few shillings received from weddings, as their main object is to have a band for Sunday service ringing.

I think it is very bad policy on the part of 'Observer' to suggest that the Herts Association should bar such ringers from joining or turning them out. The one great aim of associations is to raise the standard of ringers and ringing for Sunday service, and as long as the so-called Cheshunt ringers make this their chief object, I think I am pretty safe in telling them that they will have the full support of the Hertfordshire Association.

'FAIR PLAY.'

A HAPPY COINCIDENCE.*SOUTH YORKS SECRETARY'S SILVER WEDDING.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Arksey, near Doncaster, on December 8th. The day coincided with Mr. F. Clark, the genial hon. secretary, having completed 15 years as secretary of the district and the attainment of his silver wedding. Mr. Clark kindly entertained the members to tea, and Mr. S. F. Palmer (the Ringing Master) offered the felicitations and hearty congratulations of the members to Mr. Clark on the happy occasion. The secretary sincerely thanked the members for their good wishes to his wife and himself, and also thanked those who kindly wrote to him tendering their congratulations.

Despite the rather poor attendance, good practice was enjoyed, methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise. The Vicar (the Rev. Pierce Price) presided at the business meeting and gave the members a hearty welcome to his church. Mr. E. Lee, of Arksey, was elected a member.

An invitation from the Rawmarsh tower to hold the annual meeting at their tower on March 16th was accepted.

TWO MORE SUSSEX MEMBERS.

Christ Church, Blacklands, Hastings, was the venue for the meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association on December 8th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Morgan), and tea was provided in the Parish Room. Mr. W. Franks presided at the business meeting, when two new members—Miss G. Knight and Mr. C. M. Elliott—both of Christ Church, Blacklands, were elected. Mr. A. C. Pankhurst proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service. The members then went on to Christ Church, St. Leonards, where the bells were kept going until 8 p.m.

NOTICES.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Undoubtedly the most remarkable development in practical ringing of late years has been the introduction of spliced peals. It is quite a modern idea, and twenty-five years ago would have been considered illegitimate. The early ringers did indeed make a few attempts in that direction, but they came to nothing; and the few peals in more than one method rung in the nineteenth century consisted of complete touches, each method beginning and ending with rounds. The aim of the crack six-bell bands was to ring fourteen 360's in different methods, but the Exercise as a whole did not approve, and the Central Council condemned the idea. Then Law James, who at the time had a peal of six and a good band at Surfleet, hit on the idea of joining two 360's of plain method, like Bob Minor and Double Oxford, together by means of singles, and so was born spliced ringing for six bells.

Once the idea was started for Minor, it was pretty sure to come sooner or later for Major. How it did come was in this wise. Maurice Hibbert had it in his mind to call a seven-part composition of Stedman Triples, and he went to Willesden for the peal. I was asked to make one and said I would, provided I was allowed to ring the tenor, which, of course, is the only bell worth ringing to that method. We did not get the peal, and Maurice and I walked to Willesden Junction. On the way, as was meet and proper, we had a drink. We went into the most dreary public-house I think I have ever entered. It was quite empty and the saloon bar reminded one of the waiting room at a railway station. We sat down and talked by and large. The four Surprise Methods had just been rung in one day and we agreed that it was a very fine performance. But, said I, it would be a finer thing still to ring the four without setting the bells. It will be done some day, and I can tell you one who won't be in the band. But, I added (the thought and words being born at the same instant, though it was but the second glass of beer), I would not mind starting for four quarter peals.

Maurice was greatly taken with the idea. If he got a band together would I make one? Of course I would. But would it be allowed? Why not? Anyhow, it would be worth doing. We did meet and made a very poor attempt. But Maurice has a conscience, and that conscience made a coward of him. He was afraid he was breaking some rules and might fall under a præmunire or some such other dreadful thing. So he wrote to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies. (He intended to ring the peal but he wanted to shift the guilt on to another man's shoulders.) Davies, as might have been expected, was somewhat scandalised. He referred the matter to the Central Council at the meeting at Salisbury, and the Council promptly vetoed the whole thing. But that part of the story you may read for yourself in the published reports.

The debate at the Council meeting was not without effect. Law James set his active brains to work and in due time produced that very fine composition of his, which has been the parent of other peals by Mr. Pitman and Ernest Turner. It was rung at Warnham in 1927 by a mixed band, which included the editor of 'The Ringing World,' and was conducted by Mr. A. H. Pulling. Meanwhile, in the north, the Gofton brothers had rung spliced Cambridge and Superlative, and presently people were splicing all manner of methods together. Now, you must know that there are two sorts of splicing. There is one where you ring a quarter peal or some other long length of one method and then go on and do the like with the next. The other is where you change the method at very nearly every lead-end. Both sorts are worth doing, but there is no comparison between them. The first is no more than what you do when you ring two or more methods in a six-bell peal. The other does require an alert brain. It does not seem quite right to use the same term for both. I suggest it would be well to keep the word 'spliced' for the peals where the method is frequently altered and find another ('combined' if you like) for the other sort. But we shall want a proper definition and a Central Council resolution.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Nolan Golden, of Norwich, has rung 60 peals this year—a fine achievement. His latest successes were peals of London Surprise Minor at Wroxham and a peal of Minor (seven methods) at Hethersett.

Miss May Leech, who participated in the ringing of touches in honour of the royal wedding at Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver, is, states a Canadian correspondent, the only woman change ringer in Canada. Miss Leech learnt to ring at Vancouver.

The Australian tourists, who are travelling on the P. and O. liner, 'Bendigo,' will reach London on Saturday, January 5th. The liner will put in at Plymouth, and it is possible that some of the party will leave the vessel there.

Miss McAuliffe, who rang her first quarter-peal at Carrickfergus, Co. Antrim, on December 13th, is over 70 years of age. She is an ardent ringer and a regular member of the band. In congratulating Miss McAuliffe on her performance, we believe she holds the pride of place of being the oldest lady ringer in the Exercise.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Grundisburgh on December 15th, in honour of Mr. O. W. Parker's 70th birthday, is of more than ordinary interest. Mr. Parker took part in the first peal, Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung on these bells after they had been augmented to eight, on December 11th, 1897, ringing the seventh on that occasion. After the peal, Mr. Parker kindly entertained the band and some friends to supper, and his health and that of his wife, family and grandchildren, was proposed in felicitous terms by the conductor of the peal. Among those present were Mr. Wm. Dye, the first Suffolk man to call Holt's Original in the county.

Mr. Henry Beauchamp Walters, O.B.E., M.A., F.S.A., whose interesting article on ancient bells is appearing in this issue, is one of the most distinguished of living archaeologists. From 1925 to 1932 he was keeper of the Greek and Roman antiquities in the British Museum. He is the author of many books on Greek art and kindred subjects. He has also written two books on church bells, one in the Arts of the Church series and the other (and larger), entitled, 'The Bells of England.' Several of the county books on bells are by him, either solely or in collaboration, including those on Wiltshire, Worcestershire and Essex. He is a Chevalier of the Crown of Italy.

BOW BELLS RECORD.

Dear Sir,—It would be much more pleasant from a ringer's point of view as 'R. E.' suggests. The B.B.C. have undoubtedly other records, and I myself as a keen change ringer am forced to say that the present record is definitely good; it is clean and clear. If 'R. E.' would think for a moment of the regularities of vibrations, harmonics, recording, reproducing, etc., he would realise the importance of this regularity of notes or stoney ringing.

Listen for the change-over even in 'stoney recording' or a 'bicycle bell' dashing by.

A VARIED HUNDRED.

Mr. S. H. Hoare, of Watford, who recently completed his first hundred peals, has a varied list which might serve as a spur to young ringers. The list is as follows:—

Doubles: Four methods 1.

Minor: Plain Bob 2, four methods 1, five methods 1, six methods 1, seven methods 5, ten methods 1, Cambridge 4.

Triples: Grandsire 1, Stedman 21, Original 1.

Major: Plain Bob 3, Little Bob 1, Double Norwich 9, Original 1, Kent 1, Oxford 1, Superlative 10 (conducted 1), Cambridge 11, New Cambridge 1, London 3, Bristol 6, Yorkshire 1, Lincolnshire 1, Rutland 1, Aldenham 1, Bushey 1. Spliced Superlative and Cambridge 1, Spliced London, Bristol, Superlative and Cambridge 1, Duffield 1, St. Albans 1, Ashted 1, Pudsey 1, Oxhey 1, Hertfordshire 1, Elstree 1.

ENGLISH MEDIEVAL BELL-FOUNDERS

Of the provincial foundries, none had a greater reputation than Norwich, although there was little doing there before the fifteenth century. Probably the foundry must be regarded as the successor of one which flourished at King's Lynn between 1300 and 1350; but at all events in the latter years of that century the Norwich foundry was firmly established by Thomas Potter. He was succeeded by Richard Baxter, and then by the well-known family of the Brasyers, who flourished down to about 1520. The beautiful bells cast by the latter, with their fine lettering and interesting inscriptions, are still found in large numbers in Norfolk and Suffolk (there are about 150 in the former county), and are among the finest products of the medieval craft.

During the fifteenth century and down to the time of the Reformation there was another active foundry at Bury St. Edmunds. Most of the bells cast there bear a foundry shield with a representation of a bell and a cannon, which indicates that the founder (whose name is unfortunately unknown) combined two industries. A later successor is also known to have been a clothier, just as John Danyell of London (about 1460) is described as a vintner.

In the North of England we can only trace one medieval foundry, that at York. The records show a long list of founders there between 1300 and 1550, but only one or two can be identified as the makers of existing bells. One of the most notable names is that of Richard Tunnoc, Member of Parliament for York in 1327, who is commemorated in the well-known bell-founder's window in the Minster, showing the founder actually at work.

Hardly less important were the foundries at Nottingham and Leicester, though both actually reached the height of their fame in post-Reformation times, and Nottingham at any rate appears to have done little work before the fifteenth century. In the Western Midlands the chief centres were at Worcester, Gloucester, and Bristol, and in the south Exeter, Salisbury, and Wokingham in Berks.

The history of most of these foundries is fully recorded in the various books on the bells of the counties, and space, unfortunately, forbids entering into more detail. Smaller foundries existed in other towns, such as Canterbury, and even at an insignificant place like Toddington in Bedfordshire, where in the fourteenth century John Rufford was given the privilege of styling himself the royal bell-founder. As evidence of this, his bells bear the heads of the contemporary King Edward III. and his Queen Philippa, stamps which have a very interesting history, as they were afterwards used at Worcester and Nottingham, and even by post-Reformation founders, even as late as 1806 at Waltham Abbey. Other 'Royal Heads,' those of Henry VI., Queen Margaret, and Prince Edward, appear on bells cast at Worcester about 1480, which seems to have close connection with the monastery there. Two still exist, at Worcester and Grimley, dated respectively 1480 and 1482.

That bells were sometimes cast, if not in monasteries, at any rate under their supervision, is also shown by a group in Berkshire and neighbouring counties which bear the arms of the Abbey of Chertsey, a stamp which became the property of founders at Reading shortly before the Reformation.

I can only refer briefly here to a remarkable group of bells cast in Lincolnshire by an unknown local man about 1420-1430, the lettering on which is the most beautiful known on any medieval bells. There are examples at South Somercotes and Somerby in that county, dated respectively 1423 and 1431. Copies of these were made by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, and reproduced on their well-known bells at Worcester Cathedral. Other bells with remarkable ornamentation, found in Sussex, Essex, and neighbouring counties, are the work of one John Tonne, who being of French ancestry, adopted a Continental style of decoration, and used a large assortment of crosses, stops, and ornamental medallions. He was apparently an itinerant founder, with no settled home, and his bells between 1520 and 1540 are often dated, another Continental feature. One from Tangley, Hants, dated 1522, is here shown.

Bell at Tangley, Hants, cast by John Tonne, 1522.

The absence of dates on medieval bells is a feature which has never been and probably never will be explained, especially as they are the rule on other classes of monuments, such as brasses. Apart from foreign importations, on which dating is the rule, there are only about thirty known instances, of which the majority are later than 1480, the earliest being 1296 at Claughton, Lancashire. Arabic numerals are not found before 1495. Another notable feature is the rarity of founders' names. The majority of medieval founders seem to have considered that a trade mark or badge of some kind was sufficient for identification, such as the ship (from the city arms) used by a Bristol founder. We have already seen that in the fourteenth century London founders frequently put their name on bells, but from 1380 onwards substituted trade marks or other devices. About forty names of founders in all are known from their bells; the rest have been as far as possible elucidated from records.

A few words in conclusion on the methods employed in medieval bell-founding may be of interest. It is remarkable how little, allowing for modern scientific knowledge and equipment, they differ from those in use at the present day, though to a great extent, as for instance in tuning, the bell-founders only worked by rule-of-thumb. But they were justified by results, and I have been told by a modern bell-founder that generally speaking the more ancient bells are superior in tone and workmanship to those of the eighteenth century, when the introduction of change-ringing might have been expected to produce a great improvement.

An old MS. of the time of Henry III contains a treatise by a monk named Walter de Odyngton, in which elaborate instructions for casting bells are given. A wax model is to be made on a core of clay, the tone being regulated by the thickness of the wax. The use of crooks to obtain the exact shape of the bell is also regulated in another early treatise, of the eleventh century. The bell-founder's window at York, already mentioned, represents the forming of the core and the running of the molten metal with careful detail.

One point which arises in investigating the history of medieval bells is the way in which the difficulties of transport in those days seem to have been got over. When Alan de Walsingham decided to place a ring of bells in his new octagon at Ely Cathedral in 1354, he had recourse to a founder as far away as Gloucester, named John of Gloucester, and the latter conveyed his materials by water to King's Lynn and up the Ouse, and cast the bells on the spot. The Bristol and Gloucester foundries also made great use of the Bristol Channel and the river Severn, and thus we find their work not only in North Devon, but up the Severn as far as Shropshire and Montgomeryshire. I have also noted that the London founders' works are to be found in all parts of England.

Much might also be said on the ringing methods of the period, but this article has of necessity been confined to the actual work of the founders themselves, and if other aspects of the subject were included it would have run to an inordinate length.

TEN NEW MEMBERS JOIN SUSSEX ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT BURGESS HILL.

A meeting of the Southern Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Burgess Hill on Saturday, December 15th. Thirty members were present, including the hon. general secretary (Mr. A. D. Stone) and the secretary of the Northern Division (Mr. R. Swift). At the service the Vicar (Canon H. D. Burton) gave an interesting address on the subject of service, with special reference to the various bodies of churchworkers and their service to the church.

Tea, generously provided by the Vicar and churchwardens, followed. New members elected at the business meeting were: Seaford, Miss D. Woolston; Burgess Hill, W. Mayne; Henfield, P. Freeman, V. Freeman, R. Francis, M. Hellier, K. Rann and Ernest Morey; The Good Shepherd, Brighton, S. Ridge and E. Simister. At the request of Mr. T. H. Walder, an arrangement was arrived at by which the Burgess Hill band could receive instruction in change ringing from the divisional secretary and several other members who volunteered to help. The business meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for taking the service, his hospitality at tea, presiding at the meeting and for the use of the bells.

During the afternoon and evening the bells were kept going in a variety of methods, ranging from rounds to Superlative Surprise and London, while several members rang their first course in the higher methods. S. E. A.

COL. JERRAM AND THE LIBBYS, OF TALLAND.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I have a few lines to reply to Mr. G. R. Stephens' very interesting letter? With his first paragraph I absolutely agree, and said so in my previous letter that the best rising and falling was in East Cornwall and West Devon.

His second paragraph; do I not know the Libbys? I was bred at Talland, learned to ring there on the old four bells, was responsible for the present six and gave the treble. The two older Libbys and Mr. Stephens' namesake, Tom Stephens, taught me to ring and were my great friends. What I know about rise and fall and round ringing is entirely due to them.

As regards the last paragraph, Mr. G. R. Stephens is a very fine tenor ringer and obviously knows a good deal more about the subject than I do; but I have had several experiences lately of towers having given up rise and fall for the reason stated, that it is quite possible that I exaggerated the number of cases; but never in my wildest dreams did I think or say that 'Cornish ringing was dead' or anything like it. I hope very soon to meet Mr. Stephens and have a friendly talk over old times.—Yours, etc.,

L. F. JERRAM.

AN APPEAL FOR CORNISH UNITY

Dear Sir,—I was particularly pleased to read Mr. Stephens' letter, because it does show that 'The Ringing World' finds its way into the hands of some 'rise, fall and call-change ringers,' if I may put it in this way. I think generally those who boast of their method ringing in Cornwall are on friendly terms with those who equally, and quite permissibly and rightly, boast of their round ringing. However, I do feel that Col. Jerram's knowledge, wisdom and great understanding of the whole position should be made known.

Mr. Stephens mentions Talland and the local band, but does he know that Talland treble bell was given by Col. and Mrs. Jerram when the bells were augmented some years ago in memory of their eldest child and bears the inscription, 'Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus, in memoriam Loveday'? Could anyone with any human conscience agree to such bells being rung with the possibility of each man winning the sum of ten shillings? I wholeheartedly support the Colonel's righteous indignation, and I am sure he will not mind me quoting from a letter, dated October 17th last, which I had from him in the course of some correspondence relating to the incorporation into the Diocesan Guild of a Round Ringing Deanery Guild and re-approaching a Prize Ringing Association:—

'... I do not think I need say more to show how anxious I am to raise that band above the prize ringing tradition. I am so anxious that I am wilfully doing nothing in order to avoid any antagonism. Some day they will give it up...'

At a recent committee meeting of our Guild, Col. Jerram stated, 'We have to admit that 90 per cent. of our members are round ringers.'

As it is at present, a great many round ringers seem to fear and be suspicious of the word 'Guild.' In one diocese we can only have one society of ringers, with the Lord Bishop as patron, such an esteemed person as Dr. Symons president, and the Archdeacons vice-presidents, and if all round ringers would join us they could come to our meetings and set a standard of striking which is the aim of all method ringers.

I am sorry that a firm of bellfounders have been mentioned in this correspondence, because it may cast some reflection, but whatever reflection is cast must fall upon the ringers who fail to clapper the bells correctly; it is either lack of strength or knack. A great many ringers swing a bell without pulling it at back stroke; this is where the failure lies.

In conclusion, I will say that the round ringers of Cornwall have the champion of their cause in Col. Jerram if they would only realise it, but, of course, they must further realise that he must lead the method ringers as well.—Yours faithfully,

A. S. ROBERTS.

Truro.

A LINCOLNSHIRE RING AUGMENTED.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Pinchbeck, Lincs, have been rehung in a new cast-iron frame on rolled steel girders and cast-iron headstocks and ball bearings. The old six bells have been retuned and two new trebles have been added in memory of the late Mr. W. S. Royce, M.P., and Mrs. E. L. Royce, J.P., making a ring of eight, with tenor 18 cwt.

The bells were dedicated by Canon Morris (Rector of Skegness) on Thursday evening, December 13th, in the presence of a large congregation. The Deputy Lieutenant of the County (Ald. J. W. Glead) performed the opening ceremony, and the bells were rung in rounds by the local ringers.

After the service the bells were rung in various methods by the local ringers and a number of visiting ringers. The work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, in a most satisfactory manner.

A meeting will be held on January 12th, 1935.

DEVON'S HEAVIEST SIX.

REOPENING OF COLYTON BELLS.

A fire on October 2nd, 1933, did many thousands of pounds worth of damage to the nave, south aisle and transept of Colyton Church, East Devon. A few weeks ago the church was reopened after restoration, which has cost about £7,000. During the restoration it was considered necessary to strengthen the tower, which is central and distinguished from all other towers in Devon by having an octagonal lantern. Part of a Celtic cross, dating back to about 800, was found built into the west face of the tower, and another part, the base, was discovered in use as a corbel between the belfry and bell chamber, and a third portion came to light elsewhere.

The bells were not hurt by the fire, but it was deemed advisable to have them overhauled. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston were entrusted with the work of strengthening the frame, recasting the second, tuning, turning and sandblasting the others, and supplying new fittings for the whole ring. The particulars of the bells, whose total weight is 84 cwt. 3 qr. 27 lb., are:—

1.—8 cwt. 2 qr. 12 lb. This bell was put up at the expence of the parish. Anno Domini 1772. William Hatherley, Vicar. Thomas Bilbie fecit.

2.—9 cwt. 1 qr. 1 lb. I.P. 1667. When I call follow mee all. John Abbet. H. S. Wyatt. H. J. Barnes. S. Long. 1934. Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.

3.—10 cwt. 2 qr. 7 lb. O Lord how glorious ar Thy works. Ao. Di. 1611.

4.—12 cwt. 1 qr. 27 lb. William Drake, gentleman. Church Warden. I.P. 1667.

5th.—19 cwt. 20 lb. Mr. William U. I. Carey and Mr. James West. Church Wardens. Thomas Bilbie fecit 1775.

6.—24 cwt. 3 qr. 16 lb. Recast A.D. 1837. F. Barnes, D.D., Vicar. Charles Northam, James Loveridge, Church Wardens. Thomas Mears, Whitechapel Foundry, London. Sum Vitae Mortis Temporis Atque Tuba. A.D. 1711.

Much interest was evinced in the formal reopening of the bells on December 1st, when a large gathering of ringers were present. The Rev. J. D. Barry took the service and the Rev. the Hon. F. L. Courtenay (of Honiton) performed the rededication and preached. Mr. Cyril Johnston was present on behalf of the contractors. All the ringers were enthusiastic about the 'go' of the bells, which form the heaviest six in Devon, the ease with which they could be rung up and down, and the readiness with which they clattered. Colyton folk have been quite enthusiastic about the bells, and a party motored to Croydon to see the second recast. Up and back the journey meant 332 miles! Messrs. Gillett and Johnston provided the visitors with tea.

ASHFORD DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

About 30 members from ten towers attended the Ashford District of the Kent County Association and the Romney Marsh and District Guild meeting at Cheriton, Folkestone, on December 15th. Good use was made of the bells until the service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Pickard). Another short touch was rung before adjourning to the Schoolroom for what proved to be a most excellent tea, provided by the Parochial Church Council and served by lady workers of the parish.

The Rector presided at the business meeting. The hon. secretary (Mr. F. Conley) presented the balance sheet and report of the year's work. The former showed receipts as £16 15s., expenditure as £5 0s. 8d., and balance, which has been paid to the general secretary, of £11 14s. 4d. Of this £1 1s. was the result of a collection for the Benevolent Fund. The report stressed the need for the more prompt payment of subscriptions. Both report and balance sheet were adopted. Mr. E. S. Ruck, as representative, presented an interesting report of the committee meeting at Maidstone. One new member was elected, and the election of four non-resident life members who had been elected previous to peal attempts was confirmed.

Appledore was chosen for the annual meeting and social, to be held on January 19th. Some discussion arose as to whether the social should continue or not. It was decided that it should, and the chairman appealed to those who would attend to make the occasion worth while. All who had helped to make such an enjoyable meeting were then warmly thanked for their help, and the company returned to the tower for more good ringing practice.

LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT'S SMALL MEETING.

In spite of the business being important, only 15 members attended the meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Leatherhead on December 8th. The towers represented were Ashted, Banstead, Cobham and Leatherhead. A shortened form of service was conducted by the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge (Vicar of Leatherhead), who presided at the tea and business meeting in the Institute. The retiring officers were renominated, with the addition of Mr. F. G. Woods to the Executive Committee.

The meeting expressed itself in favour of the Guild's membership badge, but hoped that the question of durability would not be overlooked. The secretary gave an outline of the proposed Benevolent Fund, and reminded members of the Guild's dinner on January 12th. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and to Mr. Dean for making local arrangements.

Owing to the small attendance, ringing was confined to Minor, Triples and Major and a course of Double Norwich.

NEW RING OF EIGHT FOR SURREY.

BIG ASSEMBLY OF RINGERS AT LINGFIELD.

December 15th was a red-letter day at Lingfield, Surrey, when the bells of the Parish Church, which have been augmented and restored by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, were re-dedicated by the Bishop of Woolwich.

Lingfield has been more widely known for its racecourse than its ancient peal of five bells, and is a country village situated in an inaccessible corner of Surrey not far from East Grinstead. There has been a church on the present site of SS. Peter and Paul's since Saxon times, and it is assumed that the first and early church was a wattle structure. The present edifice has a varied range of architectural beauty, Saxon, Norman and Early English masons adding their respective styles. The interior of the church—sometimes referred to as the Westminster Abbey of Surrey—holds the tombs of the House of Cobham of Starborough, together with 11 complete Miserere stalls, and these, together with some very fine brasses, add greatly to its interest.

Despite the pouring rain, there was a good attendance of visiting ringers at the opening ceremony. Some of the motorists had a scare when they found an approaching road to Lingfield flooded and the water practically up to the running boards of their cars. About 50 ringers, however, were present, coming from Reigate, Limpsfield, Chart, Horley, Turner's Hill, Crawley, Brasted, Leatherhead, Edenbridge, Ashted, Uckfield, Croydon, Beddington and London.

The high-backed pews of the ancient church were filled with the large congregation of parishioners and friends for the three o'clock service. At the appointed time the Bishop, with the Vicar (the Rev. J. A. Owen, B.A.), the Rev. E. V. E. Bryan, M.A. (Brasted), attendant clergy and those intimately connected with the ceremony, proceeded to the ringing room, which is on the ground floor, for the actual ceremony of dedicating the new bells and re-dedicating the restored old ones.

The Bishop gave an inspiring address, referring especially to the romantic story of how the idea of the new peal for Lingfield had first arisen, and of the part that had been played by a parishioner and her associates in the church to bring the idea to fulfilment that day.

At the close of the service a well-struck 504 Grandsire Triples was rung by W. Claydon 1, D. Cooper 2, A. J. Bull 3, E. H. Lewis 4, L. A. Tidy 5, R. V. Fuller 6, C. H. Kippin (conductor) 7, E. G. Talbot 8. After further ringing an adjournment was made for tea, kindly provided by the Vicar and churchwardens.

The Vicar and people of Lingfield were heartily thanked for their hospitality to the visiting ringers by Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council. Mr. Lewis expressed a hope that Lingfield would soon possess a skilled change-ringing band, and he begged the learners to stick to rounds and call changes until they were thoroughly proficient at good and even striking, before endeavouring to progress to the higher art of change ringing. Mr. C. H. Kippin, hon. secretary of the Surrey Association, seconded the vote of thanks. He congratulated Lingfield on the acquisition of a peal of eight bells, and mentioned the gratitude of the association in having had the opportunity of assisting in the opening of the bells. He promised that they would do all in their power to help the local band.

During the evening good use was made of the bells, and methods from Grandsire Triples to Spliced Surprise Major were rung.

The old bells were a ring of five by Bryan Eldridge, dated 1649. The tenor, which was badly cracked, has been recast, and three new trebles added. The ring of eight, with a 16½ cwt. tenor in F sharp, has been hung in a new metal two-tier frame, and fitted with iron headstocks, ball bearings, and all the most modern equipment. The four old bells were above the average in tone, and have been carefully tuned. They are of special interest owing to their unusual height.

The inscription on No. 1 gives a general summary of the restoration, and on No. 2 is inscribed:—

'The fund for Restoration and Augmentation of these bells was originated by Emily M. Chapman. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1934.'

No. 3 is named 'The Children's Bell.'

Miss Chapman, who is approaching 90, attended the service and was given a rousing reception at the tea.

It is interesting to note that the only churchwarden in office is Mr. H. D. E. Owen, who is the son of the Vicar, and that one of the first weddings for which the new peal will ring will be that of the churchwarden's shortly after the New Year.

Everybody expressed satisfaction at the tone and 'go' of the bells and the successful splicing of the new bells with the old. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are to be congratulated upon the efficient manner in which the work has been carried out.

A MESSAGE FROM THE 'BARRABOOL.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As a cadet on this ship and also a bellringer, I have naturally been in close company with the band of ringers who went out with us to tour Australia. I therefore take this opportunity of writing to you and giving my observations of them and their conduct during the voyage.

I first came into contact with the ringers soon after they embarked at London. At the time I was about to go on watch, and the fact that I had to walk all round Mr. Richardson before being able to ascend a ladder unfortunately made me late for my duty.

The next time I stumbled across them was at lifebelt practice. They had by this time learned how to get inside one of these contraptions, probably due to extensive study of the notices in passengers' cabins; getting out, however, was found a slightly more complicated matter. In desperation, Rupert was cut out of his just before going ashore at Malta.

For the greater part of the voyage the usual stand taken for ringing 'touches' or peals was on No. 2 hatch-top, which is situated just forward of the bridge. From this point of vantage I watched the proceedings. All the band were complete with sun helmets, which were worn in all weathers—tropical sun, rain or snow.

Excepting Sundays, the Padre discarded his clerical garb, and donned the most fascinating and brilliant sports blazer imaginable. In my opinion all were lucky in having almost a flat cabin during the whole voyage, and what short sea legs were needed were acquired almost at once, leaving them all fearless of mal-de-mer.

Considering the numerous distractions the ringers had to put up with, I really think that the three or four peals which were completed were remarkable feats of concentration. One could easily see the agony through which the conductor and the rest of the band were passing; the padre seemed always to be murmuring to himself, but as these whispers were hardly audible it only remains for us to guess what he was saying.

At the ship's concert great credit must be given to the ringers, who performed with amazing success, playing 'The Blue Bells of Scotland' and 'Washing Day.' Although I was not present myself, I am told that it was the most favoured act of the evening.

Gradually the voyage drew to a close, but the curiosity of the rest of the passengers towards the ringers never waned. One wag had a notice printed, 'Not to be touched—rare,' all ready to place by the band during a peal attempt, but apparently courage failed him at the critical moment.

At one place en route in Australia they left the ship early to ring ashore on tower bells. Spare parts to cope with any emergency was the order of the day, and every man, woman and child had their shares to carry. Rupert took the spare ropes, and when finally wound up in them looked rather like the famous Michelin advertisement. Sliders and stays and a huge tin of oil were also amongst the accessories.

We were all terribly sorry to see them finally disembarking at Melbourne, and it was obvious that during the rest of the voyage from Melbourne to Brisbane 'something was missing.' I sincerely hope that their visit to Australia was a great success, and I feel sure that at least they 'showed the Aussies how to do it.'—Yours,

GORDON MELVILLE.

RE-OPENING OF EAST BEDFONT BELLS.

Following a silence of several months, Bedfont bells rang out merrily again on the occasion of their re-opening on December 16th, after being rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon. Previously they had been going very badly, and it had been practically impossible to ring them.

They are hung in a wooden turret, built in 1864, on the site of the first tower, which was added to the church in 1500, and it was now found necessary to rebuild the woodwork of the spire. The church is very prettily situated, and is noted for its two yew trees, which were cut in 1704 to the shape of peacocks, and the date was also cut on one of them.

Previous to the service the bells were rung by the local call-change band, under the captaincy of Mr. T. Rylett.

The church was packed by parishioners eager to hear the bells again, and amongst visiting change ringers were Mr. C. F. Johnston, of the Foundry, Mr. A. P. Cannon, and ringers from Feltham, Sunbury and Hillingdon. The sermon was preached by the Archdeacon of Middlesex (the Ven. the Hon. S. H. Phillimore), and immediately at the conclusion of the service the bells were rung to one six-score of Grandsire Doubles, the first change ringing on them since their restoration. The ringers were: T. Bowman (Feltham) 1, A. P. Cannon (Forest Hill) 2, D. Brock (Sunbury) 3, C. F. Johnston (Croydon) 4, F. Corke (Hillingdon) (conductor) 5, G. Penfold (Bedfont) 6.

The bells are a ring of six with a 7½ cwt. tenor in A. The existing frame has been strengthened considerably, and all the bells have been tuned and fitted with iron headstocks, ball bearings and the latest fittings throughout. The ringers present expressed great appreciation of the bellhangers' skilful work.

METHOD SPLICING ITS INFLUENCE ON SIX-BELL COMPOSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—An extent has been rung recently which sheds new light upon a subject discussed in your columns from time to time. Various writers have stated that of Treble Bob Minor there are three, five or eight different compositions producing the full extent and returning to rounds. Whatever may be the right view on this question, doubtless all that has been written was intended to refer to compositions for producing the extent in one method.

When we come to splice more methods than one into a true 720, much can still be done with the well-known compositions, which explains why it may happen that the arranger of a peal in 35 methods or more does not claim to have composed the peal; he has merely fitted so many methods to existing compositions.

But it may be worth while to notice that the splicing of different methods sometimes makes possible compositions for two methods or more, which cannot be applied to one method alone. Indeed, some combinations of methods can be spliced only by means of new compositions, and it is for this reason that nine further Alliance methods have become available since the last Collection of Minor Methods was published. Some of these methods have been rung at Lamberhurst, Kent, both in a peal and in isolated 720's. Their existence was known to the Methods Committee, but they had to be omitted from the collection because compositions which enable them to be spliced to their appropriate Little Methods had not then been produced. We had all accepted too readily the statement that it could not be done, whereas it is extremely easy when we try.

Probably the earliest example of a composition specially for spliced methods is that found on page 11 of 'Method Splicing' by Mr. J. W. Parker. There is also an extremely neat five-part composition for the same methods by Mr. A. Relfe, which, although it bears some resemblance to Mr. Parker's, is certainly not a mere variation of it.

Despite the statements which are sometimes made that there is nothing new in Minor, and that no man can claim to have composed a 720, it seems indisputable that the spliced-method extents exemplified above are new, and that their authors are entitled to foot the figures with their names.

No matter how we may compute the number of the older extents, it is undeniable that they have 9, 12, 15, 18 or 21 bobs. It follows that an extent having more bobs than 21 must be new. That given below has no less than 27 bobs, and consequently only three plain leads.

A YORKSHIRE TEN REHUNG.

A large congregation and many visiting ringers were present on December 15th, when the heavy ring of ten at Mirfield Parish Church was rededicated by the Archdeacon of Halifax (the Ven. R. C. M. Harvey) after having been rehung by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, who cast the bells 63 years ago. The Archdeacon also rededicated the clock, which has been thoroughly overhauled by Messrs. William Potts and Sons, of Leeds, the original makers of the installation.

Himself a ringer, the Archdeacon made a stirring appeal to the younger generation to take up ringing, and he was able to describe from personal experience its fascination and the concentration and patience entailed as well as its disappointments.

The local ringers rang the opening touch immediately after the service, after which the bells were open to visitors until a late hour, and all had an opportunity to testify as to the excellent workmanship of the founders, who were represented by Mr. R. H. Dove.

The total weight of the bells is 6 tons 11 cwt. 2 qr. 7 lb. The individual weights of the bells are: Treble, 6 cwt. 1 qr. 2nd, 7 cwt. 6 lb.; 3rd, 7 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb.; 4th, 8 cwt. 1 qr. 11 lb.; 5th, 9 cwt. 1 qr. 2 lb.; 6th, 11 cwt. 16 lb.; 7th, 14 cwt. 1 qr.; 8th, 16 cwt. 1 qr. 6 lb.; 9th, 20 cwt. 2 qr. 10 lb.; 10th, 30 cwt. 1 qr. 22 lb.

PLACE NAMES IN METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the Notes by the Way in a recent issue, in one sentence you suggest that county and place names are the most suitable names for methods!

In another sentence you condemn 'Londonderry' and 'Londonthorpe' as names of methods!

My gazetteer tells me that 'Londonderry' is a county in Northern Ireland, it is also a seaport in that county; furthermore, it is also the name of a village in Yorkshire. 'Londonthorpe' is the name of a village in Lincolnshire. What possible objection can there be to these names as names of methods, seeing that you yourself suggest such names as most suitable for names of methods? Why not try to be consistent.—Yours truly,

GEORGE BAKER.

THE RINGERS' GIFT.

WHAT THE CHURCH OWES TO THE PIONEERS.

By R. A. DANIELL.

Stow, in his survey of London, writing of the Church of St. Michael, Cornhill, as he knew it before its destruction by the Great Fire of London in 1666, tells us that its steeple held a greatly admired ring of six bells, and that on one occasion while ringing was in progress the tower was struck by lightning. The ringers were so frightened that they threw themselves on the floor and let the bells swing down of their own accord. This was, of course, a summary of his account, but it is evidence of real ringing at a time which seems to have been in or slightly before the reign of Henry VII.

There are differences and similarities between the thought then and now of the English Church, and one of the similarities is that the Church did then, and does now, foster Art. Of architecture, painting, sculpture, glass and metal work, bell founding and, in fact, of all forms of art, it was and now is a patron and inspirer, and when these men were ringing at St. Michael's the church buildings were continuously being developed artistically and adorned with artistic treasures. And to-day we are proud of our church buildings, and seek to make them and their accessories as beautiful as we can. But the sixteenth century was a time of change. The modern world was growing. The recovery of Greek and Roman literature, the discovery of new lands beyond the known seas, and the invention of printing had turned men's minds in new directions.

The Reformation not only stopped the building of churches, but also involved widespread destruction and mutilation of ecclesiastical fabrics, and by the beginning of the seventeenth century the desire for beautiful churches had well nigh perished, although there were isolated efforts for what we now call restoration. The Puritan period wrought further havoc. When Church order was re-established, classical forms of architecture were adopted, and during the eighteenth century the application of art in churches became well nigh extinct.

Now it was during this decadent period in Church art that change ringing originated and developed. The bells were in the towers because people liked to hear them, but the Church as a religious body took no interest in ringing. The ringers who made the art of change ringing, though they did not know it, were making a present to the Church of our day. All the other arts, of which the Church will make use in celebrating Christmas, it has fostered from the start, but change ringing is a gift to it by men whose genius and exertions it took no trouble about. So when we offer change ringing at the great festival of peace and goodwill, grateful for the cordiality the Church now extends to us, let us also thankfully remember and praise our famous men of old and our fathers that begat us.
