The cold fact is that the composition, though superb as such, violates the accepted canons of ringing, and neither admiration for the illustrious composer—nor sycophancy—ought to override principle. It contains no quality not already obtained in the orthodox extents. Those who want to foist it on the Exercise have betrayed their ulterior motives. Last week at a meeting a supporter said, 'One bit at a time.' Another year it will be the Grandsire Doubles rammel, and once the keystone of an arch is down we know what follows. Holt's singles were invented to obtain what could not be got otherwise. Tom Lockwood's homing single in his 9,120 Treble Bob got every change tenors together, for the same reason, but for what purpose was the James 'symphony in C minor' produced? I note that the resolution is No. 13. Ominous, I hope. I just wonder if the agenda was deliberately framed, for the next item, 14, is another attempt to play 'ducks and drakes' with the new rules.

SIX-BELL REPRESENTATIVES.

Sir,—Mr. Whittington is giving a wrong impression to other Guilds and not playing the game to his own Guild by his remark, 'that no one from a six-bell tower is good enough for the Central Council.' He knows the Guildford Diocesan Guild had one representative who was elected when his tower had only six bells. When that member speaks at either the Central Council or his own Guild he is always listened to with respect. Since his election his tower has got two more bells, but I certainly have not noticed he wears a bigger hat for that reason.

A. H. PULLING.

THE TREBLE'S BACK STROKE LEAD.

Sir,—My words at last year's Central Council meeting and at our own Guild meeting were: 'On paper the composition is true, but in practice, as we ring, hand and back stroke, it is false.'

Will ordinary ringers look at the last five leads of the first 720, commencing at the plain lead before the bobbed 45623? In the first place, would any other peal of Cambridge Minor be allowed to have five bobbed leads? In all the thousands of compositions in the Exercise it will not be denied that the back stroke of the treble lead is the main change. In the Bankses James peal the poor treble has no back stroke lead at part ends, as we are told it belongs to the next. So it goes on right to the end of the peal; then, if he has it, he has had eight lots of rounds—if he doesn't, where does he finish? Being in the grip of pleurisy, it is difficult to write a letter, and I would suggest to the Rev. E. B. James that he writes to the two gentlemen who, some weeks ago, signed a letter saying the composition was false; also to the association which refuses to print the composition, if he wishes for further information.

A. H. PULLING.

'NEW MEANING' TO FAMILIAR TERM.

Dear Sir,—The Rev. E. Bankses James introduces a new meaning to the familiar term 'changes,' which I do not think will be generally accepted. He states that 164235, bobbed from 146253, is a different (Continued in next column.)

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF LIVERPOOL BRANCH.

One of the most successful meetings of recent times in the Liverpool Branch was held at St. Luke's, Great Crosby, on Saturday. Almost forty members were present. The bells, raised about 3.30 p.m., were kept going in various methods (including Double Court, which had been particularly specified for practice) up to Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

Service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a useful message to the ringers on 'Ascensiontide.' Afterwards the whole of the members present were entertained to tea by the Vicar in the Parish Hall.

The necessary formal business meeting was quickly despatched under the chairmanship of the Vicar. Five new members from the local tower were elected. Sincere thanks were expressed to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting. A return was then made to the tower.

OXFORD GUILD'S LOSS.

DEATH OF POPULAR BERKSHIRE RINGER.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild sustained a great loss on Thursday, May 4th, by the death of Mr. James Abery, of Englefield, Berks. 'Jimmie,' who was 66 years of age, was ringing on the Saturday previous in an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples at Aldermaston, so that his death came as a great shock to his many old friends. He was a born teacher and could get a young band along quicker than most men. A very steady ringer and a first-class striker, he was an asset to any band and had rung upwards of 70 peals, including Doubles, Minor, Triples and Major.

The funeral took place on Monday, May 7th, in the church, which stands in Englefield Park. Many were present, some from a considerable distance. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by Miss Robinson 1-2, A. Wiggins 3-4, R. T. Hibbert 5-6, J. Swain 7-8. The tower bells, which he had loved so well, were rung immediately after the service half-muffled to a good 560 Bob Minor: H. Tucker 1, W. Edwards 2, Miss V. Robinson 3, H. Smith 4, J. Swain 5, R. T. Hibbert 6. The bells were rung muffled in the evening by the local ringers.

So we left 'Jimmie' near the tower in which he had spent many happy hours, knowing full well that we shall miss him every time we journey Englefield way. May he rest in peace. R. T. H.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT WEST HARTLEPOOL.

The pre-Whitsun meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at West Hartlepool on Saturday last. The very fine peal of ten in the tower of St. Oswald's Church was kept going during the afternoon, and in the evening the eight at St. Aidan's, another good peal, were tried in addition.

A very pleasing innovation was a short service at St. Oswald's, the association form, hitherto used only at the annual festival, being used. The organist and members of the choir attended, and the Vicar, the Rev. T. H. Lilburn, in the course of a short address, welcomed the visitors. Referring to the modern neglect of public worship in our churches, he said that the command which Moses received from God to make two silver trumpets for the convocation of solemn assemblies showed that those who claimed to worship God in nature were ignoring God's plan revealed to the Israelites of old.

After an excellent tea in the Parish Hall, thanks were accorded, on the motion of Mr. W. Story, J.P., Newcastle, to the Vicar, organist and choir for the very inspiring service they had arranged; to the clergy of St. Oswald's, St. Aidan's and All Saints' for the use of the bells, and to the ladies who had attended to the material wants of those present.

Mr. F. Robson, West Hartlepool, welcomed the visitors, Mr. T. Metcalf, Middlesbrough, and Mr. Hudson, of Sharow, members of the Cleveland Association.

change to 164235, plained from 162453. Well, so it is, but not in the sense that the word 'change' is used by the Exercise. If this meaning to the word is accepted, applied to higher numbers a great deal of repetition would be admissible, and the Painswick 17,000 Grandsire Cinques would constitute a true peal!

No, sir, a change, as generally accepted, is a row different to the preceding row. Hence an extent of Minor must consist of 721 rows/720 changes, and, as stated by Mr. Stephen Wood, must come back to the point from which it started.

C. T. COLLES.

Other letters have been received from Mr. E. C. Goby and Mr. C. Severn disagreeing with the Rev. E. B. James' statements that his composition consists of seven true 720's and that there are 1,500 'changes' to be had on six bells.

A LEICESTERSHIRE RESTORATION.*BELLS OF SILEBY RETUNED AND AUGMENTED.

The bells of Sileby Church, Leicestershire, were dedicated on Saturday by the Bishop of Leicester. The old five, which had got into an unringable condition, the oak cage, which had done duty for 200 years, having got into a state of decay, have been retuned and rehung in an iron and steel frame by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., who have also added a new treble bell. In addition, two new floors have been provided, and the whole cost, nearly £800, was raised by the parish in about six months.

The new treble weighs 7½ cwt., and the tenor, cast in 1622, is 23 cwt.

There was a public procession before the dedication service, in which all classes and denominations of Sileby residents joined. The Parish Council, the Methodist and Baptist Churches were represented, and, in addition to the Sileby ringers, there were members of the Goswote and District Society and representatives of the Midland Counties Association. The clergy and Bishop brought up the rear.

The service itself was a stirring one, and as the procession left the church 'the bells of the Parish Church sounded down the ways the peal of jubilee.'

The inscription on the bells are as under:—

BELFRY GOSSIP.

'Many happy returns of the day' to Mr. E. Alex. Young, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and formerly hon. secretary of the Central Council, who will be 69 on Tuesday.

Mr. William Latter, who has been a ringer at Tunbridge Wells and a member of the Kent County Association for over 50 years, has intimated to the Tunbridge District his intention of relinquishing the office of district secretary next October. He has filled the post for 40 years.

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. A. H. Pulling, of Guildford, is suffering from an attack of pleurisy. We are pleased to say that he is making satisfactory progress, and, as will be seen in another column, has been able to write two letters.

When home on leave from Northern India last year, Mr. C. Norman Sharples, of Blackpool, took back with him a set of eight handbells. On Easter morning the guests staying with him were awakened in time for early Communion by Bob Major tapped on the bells. An unusual 'waking up' indeed for that part of the world.

A 'new' name appears among the peal reports this week. The ringer of the 6th in the peal at Old Windsor is usually known as 'Tony.'

The report of a peal of Doubles rung at Croft, Leicestershire, has been sent without the date.

The peal of New Cambridge rung at Welford, Northants, on Saturday, May 12th, is dedicated to the memory of the late Rev. G. A. Poole, who was Vicar of Welford for over 30 years (1844-1877), and the late W. H. Poole, who was a member of the Oxford University Society, and instructed one of the first bands of ringers at Welford over 60 years ago. They were grandfather and father respectively of the ringer of the 4th (Dr. F. Stedman Poole).

The peal at Hillfarnace, Somerset, was rung for the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and not the Midland Counties Association, as published.

Mr. Ted Jenkins has changed his address. We are informed that certain malicious persons have set it abroad that this is a retreat from 'Kate' or a prelude to an engagement to 'Sally.' This is utterly refuted, and any person or persons repeating this atrocious libel will, we understand, be communicated with by the solicitors concerned, viz., Messrs. Dodg-'em, Snap-'em and Catch-'em.

The band who rang the recent peal at Hillingdon are quite content to make their claim to the first peal on the ten bells over rung there by a local Sunday service band. The earlier peal of Triples had been lost sight of as a 'local peal.'

THE DAVIES MEMORIAL

RINGING ARRANGEMENTS AT TEWKESBURY.

A large gathering of ringers is expected at Tewkesbury on Saturday, when the Ringers' Chapel and the new bells at the Abbey are to be dedicated to the memory of the late Rev. O. D. P. Davies. The dedication will be performed by the Lord Bishop of Gloucester and the sermon preached by the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge.

The visitors are to be entertained to tea by Mrs. J. Davies.

Before the service ringing will be open to anyone, but only the back eight bells will be used. The twelve bells will be heard for the first time during the service, when they will be rung by No. 1 band, representing various associations and guilds.

After the service a touch will be rung by No. 2 band, consisting of officers of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. Other bands have been made up as follows:—

No. 3	Band	5.45	Stedman Cinques
No. 4	"	6.0	Stedman Cinques
No. 5	"	6.15	Rounds and Queens
No. 6	"	6.25	Stedman Cinques
No. 7	"	6.35	Rounds and Queens
No. 8	"	6.45	As arranged
No. 9	"	6.55	Rounds and Queens
No. 10	"	7.5	As arranged
No. 11	"	7.15	Rounds and Queens
No. 12	"	7.25	As arranged

The bells will be open to anyone at 7.35 p.m.

Photographs of No. 1 and No. 2 bands will be taken immediately after service.

Photographs of groups of all attending will also be taken. Orders for photos should be given to Mr. E. Guise, hon. secretary.

Anyone wishing to reach Warwick from Tewkesbury should catch the 7.8 p.m. train from Tewkesbury to Stratford-on-Avon, and then travel by bus to Warwick.

MUFFLED BELLS FOR DEAD ORGANIST.

At the Pro-Cathedral Church of St. Woolos, Newport, Mon, for evening service, April 29th, with bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a token of respect to the late Mr. J. A. Gacoon, organist for 40 years, who died suddenly on the previous day: F. Atwell 1, J. Bullen 2, T. Butler 3, C. Greedy (conductor) 4, F. Greedy 5, F. Crabb 6, W. Phillips 7, A. Thomas 8. On Tuesday, May 1st, the day of the funeral, several courses of Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung by All Saints' and St. Woolos' bands.

GENEROUS GIFTS TO TROWBRIDGE.

NEW PEAL OF BELLS, CLOCK AND CHIMES.

Trowbridge Parish Church, Wilts, which is of great beauty and historic interest, is, as we have already announced, to have a new peal of 12 bells. The present 10 have been silent for some time owing to bearing trouble, etc. The Church authorities not being in a financial position to carry out the recasting and rehangings of the bells, the ringers are to be allowed to take upon themselves the task of raising the money for the work. At a public meeting of the towns-

The work has been placed in the hands of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of the Loughborough Foundry, which is a sufficient guarantee as to the quality of the peal to be obtained.

The Salvation Army Band gave a concert in order to raise their 'target,' to recast a bell, and at this concert the Chairman, Mr. T. C. Usher, said he would like to make an offer to the town. If they would back up the peal by raising the total sum of £1,100 for the bells, he would give a new clock with chimes. The present clock, bearing the name of I. D. Harris, Southcote Street, Bath, 1847, has practically done its work, the striking gear having been out of action since 1912. The Loughborough Foundry referred Mr. Usher to Messrs.

TROWBRIDGE PARISH CHURCH people interested a Bell Fund Committee was formed, and all were soon putting a 'shoulder to the wheel.'

The bells were allotted for 'adoption,' and they were soon booked for recasting and making into one 'family.' The enthusiasm was so great that it was decided to add two more, which would make the first ring of twelve bells in the county of Wilts and the Diocese of Salisbury. The effort still 'going strong,' it was thought that a new peal was worthy of a new 'H' frame, with all the bells hung in the totally enclosed pattern of ball bearings.

J. Smith and Co., of Derby, who will supply the latest electrically-driven movement.

The directors, staff and employees of Messrs. Usher's Wiltshire Brewery, Ltd., are bearing the cost of recasting the tenor bell in Mr. Usher's honour, and without any assistance from him, thus leaving him free to provide the new clock and chimes.

Any Trowbridgians afar who would like to add their names to the list of subscribers may send to Messrs. Lloyds Bank, Ltd., Trowbridge, or Mr. C. Raison, 113, Newtown, Trowbridge, Wilts.

The new bells are to be dedicated on July 25th, and a Ringers' Day is to be held on August Bank Holiday.

REPORT OF THE METHODS COMMITTEE.

THE AUTHORSHIP OF PEALS.

The following report of the Methods Committee will be submitted to the Council:—

During the past year the MS. of the Collection of Triples Methods has been completed and the book (the publication of which has already been authorised by the Council) will shortly be on sale.

In accordance with a promise given at the meeting at Liverpool, the next task will be to prepare a book on Surprise Major Methods. We wish to point out that though it would be comparatively easy to issue a collection of 30 or 40 excellent methods complete with suitable compositions, yet the lines on which we have hitherto worked necessitate a complete survey of the whole ground as a preliminary. In the case of Doubles, Minor, Triples and Plain Major methods, we worked out every possible method before attempting any selection. Such a plan is hardly feasible with the Treble Bob Major methods, owing to their enormous number. But since the aim is to produce a definitive collection, other means must be sought of finding out what are actually the best and most characteristic Surprise methods possible. This will take a lot of work and time, although it may not appear obviously in the result. But if (as we imagine is the case) the Central Council thinks the job worth doing, we are prepared to put it in hand.

While presenting this report, we should like to call the attention of the Council and the Exercise to a question which has always been of considerable interest to ringers and which forced itself somewhat prominently on our notice when we were preparing the book on Triples, and is almost sure to arise in the case of Major methods. We mean the question of the authorship and ownership of methods and peal compositions.

The subject is a large one and we do not intend to deal with it fully. Still less do we intend to try and suggest any final solution of the problem. The question is one which must be settled (if it is settled at all) by the general consensus of the Exercise and not by any rule laid down by authority. We wish merely to give ringers and composers some direction on general principles.

Opinion on authorship of compositions has varied and developed considerably in the course of time. During the 19th century it was generally held that a composition was an independent thing and the composer (once he had satisfied people that he was the first to produce it) was considered to own it and to have exactly the same rights that a writer has in a poem or a musician in a song. In the circumstances, any question of legal copyright did not arise, although there was always a latent possibility of its doing so.

(NOTE.—The question of copyright in peal compositions did actually arise when I wanted to include a number of peals of Treble Bob collected by Jasper Snowdon and published by him in the early 'Bell News.' Mr. William Snowdon formally gave permission for them to be used and thus reserved his copyright.—J. A. T.)

So long as composition was done on entirely experimental lines (and all the older composers did work thus), this view of authorship was justified. Men like Holt and Reeves and Thurstans and Johnson could say that they had created something which did not exist before, and they could fairly claim ownership rights in their peals.

The first of the influences which ultimately were to undermine this opinion was the publication in 1878 of Jasper Snowdon's 'Treble Bob.' It was there shown that a peal composition is not an independent thing, but is closely and definitely related to other compositions. It can be reversed, and it can be begun at a different lead or course-end; and the resulting compositions will differ widely in appearance from and yet be essentially the same as the original. Composers accepted this; but for a while it did not affect their ideas of authorship. The composer still owned the peal, only he extended his bounds of ownership to include the variations—bounds which were clearly defined, or at least were assumed to be so.

These opinions are probably still held more or less by the great majority of ringers. But for some years past new ideas of composition have arisen (new for all practical purposes; actually Fabian Stedman treats of ringing as a mathematical science) which have made it impossible for our more advanced composers to accept these old ideas. The pioneer of the new style of composition was perhaps the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, while the man who first fully used it was Mr. W. H. Thompson. The difference between the old and the new is that while the old composers thought they were producing artistic creations analogous to the writing of music, the new considered that they were solving mathematical problems. And it depends entirely on which way a man looks at the question what his views about authorship and ownership will be. When composers and the Exercise are sufficiently educated on the subject (and that will be when a later generation has grown up), then people will recognise that a peal is an expression of mathematical law, and no question of authorship or ownership will arise.

Meanwhile, the old ideas prevail and are producing difficulties quite unknown in former times. The production of methods and peals has been so enormous and the range of mechanical variation has been so widely extended that, so far as most compositions are concerned, it is absolutely impossible to say whether they are original or not; and the suggested remedy—a register of peals—will not help us in the matter. In many methods it is impossible for a man to know with certainty what has already been composed and what variations of extant peals will apply; and it would be unreasonable to expect him to refrain from putting his name to a peal until he had found out. After all, if a man has by fair means and honest work composed a peal, he is entitled to credit, even though somebody previously had, unknown to him, done the same, although he could (but did not) have got it by variation from an older peal. In ringing we always trust the honesty of the ringer. Our committee could have (as, in fact, we did) produced a peal of St. Clement's Triples by hobbing the same Q sets as Holt's ten-part. We put Holt's name to it. But if a man had composed it independently and rung it, it is difficult to say that he would have had no justification for putting his own name to it.

So much for general practice. But for Central Council publications we suggest that a higher standard is necessary. We should recommend that in no instance should any author or composer's name be put to any method, and that in the case of peal compositions names should be omitted except to old and well-known productions or such modern ones in which the proofs of originality are unmistakable. We suggest that this recommendation shall apply to all future publications by the Central Council. In the case of the Triples book we felt that it would not be fair to adopt it in its logical completeness. Two gentlemen, who were not members of the committee, provided a number of peals for the book, and in every case we have attached their names to these compositions. On the other hand, all peals composed by any of us, whether obtained specially for the purposes of the book or got previously, are being published anonymously. Our proposal is that in later books of the Central Council of a similar character, anonymity should be the rule and not the exception.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

'BRIGHT YOUNG PEOPLE'S' BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild saw the usual large crowd of smiling faces gathered together at Boyne Hill, and it is worth recording that the secretary had so many notifications of attendance that some forgot to turn up after sending their names. The weather was of the usual kind, sunshine and showers, with the annual thunderstorm during the service.

The Rev. C. E. Wigg, Deputy Master of the Guild, again conducted the service, and continued his address from the previous year, with especial reference to the ringers' service and duties to religion, society and themselves.

Mrs. W. E. Taylor and helpers succeeded in putting up a wonderful tea despite some worries, the excellent fare receiving such attention that there was little left to be cleared away.

Letters were read from Canon Coleridge and Sir Charles Bennett expressing regret at their absence. Lord Meston was also unable to come, but the Mayor of Maidenhead, Councillor A. E. Norris, managed to turn up in spite of his busy civic life.

The accounts, showing the healthy financial condition of the branch, were passed. The secretary's report followed, and it was noticeable to some that he had 'the calling' (M.B.W.H.) on the back.

In making this brief report on the working of the branch, he said, 'I would remind you that it covers a period of practically ten years. As most of you know, the state of affairs in the area covered by this branch was not too good when, partly through a request from our late Master, I took over the duties of branch secretary and treasurer. The financial position should speak for itself. In June, 1924, there were no funds in hand and a debt of 10s. The balance in hand on December 31st, 1924, was £5 5s. 4½d. At the end of 1933 the amount was £31 4s. 2½d. Of course, our working expenses have risen, but this is natural as our branch increases in size. For six months' working in 1924 they were £4 1s. 10½d. For 1933 they were £7 12s. 6d. Subscriptions were received in 1924 from 181 members for the current year and arrears from 21 members. In 1933, 249 members paid for the current year, with arrears from some 41 members. These arrears are no pleasant thought to any secretary, although they may be worse in other parts of the country. Our branch now numbers about 320 members, of which some 295 ringing members are due to pay annual subscriptions, and you will notice from the financial statement that only 242 of these paid for 1933. However, 40 of these have since cleared up their debts. In 1924 our number of towers was 18; at the end of last year it was 29. Now it is 30, although we have members from 35 different towers in our area, and one may be pardoned, perhaps, for feeling just a little proud of our success, not a little of which is due to the kindness of our late Master and also to the publicity given to our doings by our friend, the Editor. In passing, I would commend his journal to your notice. Don't say that you don't like "The Ringing World" because there is nothing interesting in it. Write to the Editor, and when you have read your grouse in print, you may change your mind. (A better plan would be to edit "The Ringing World."—Ed., "R.W.") There are quite a number of ringers in various parts of the country (and some non-ringers, too) who look for the reports of our monthly meetings with interest. Some of them would like a contribution every week, but this is too much of a good thing for our scribe. In conclusion, we look forward to the time when the East Berks and South Bucks Branch represents one-quarter of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which state of affairs can be accomplished by the kind co-operation of all our members.'

This report was received with acclamation, as was also that of the Branch Ringing Master, who gave a brief summary of the meetings in the past year and peals rung by members of the branch, which included 12 Surprise methods. The attendance at the meetings, though good, can always be improved upon, as the meeting tries and caters for all with 'rounds' to Surprise.

A grant of two guineas was voted towards the new organ at Bray, which is to be a memorial to the late Rev. W. S. Riddelsdell, some time chairman of this branch. A hope was expressed that a move would be made to add two trebles to the existing six bells, which would receive sympathetic consideration by the Guild.

An honorarium of £2 was voted towards the Branch Ringing Master's expenses.

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, Sir Charles A. Bennett; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; Branch Ringing Master, Mr. T. J. Fowler; seven representatives on General Committee, Mrs. A. D. Barker and Messrs. F. D. Boreham, T. J. Fowler, J. L. Kirk, W. E. Redrup, W. E. Taylor and J. C. Truss.

A sum of ten guineas was voted from the funds towards the memorial to the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, which will be further augmented by towers in the branch area.

Mr. A. J. Wright said that the amount received to date was £29 18s. 6d., and any sum would be accepted with thanks and acknowledged in 'The Ringing World.' Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary) thanked the members for their handsome donation, and, in congratulating the branch on re-electing their officers, said that he was glad to see that they had not punished the chairman for playing truant, but hoped that they would not let it become a habit. As for the branch secretary, he said, 'Don't rub him up and don't try and smooth him down, but take him and keep him as secretary.'

An invitation to a joint meeting with the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association at Hillingdon was accepted, and a suggestion for something similar at Denham was left to the secretary to arrange.

One new member was elected, and it was decided to try and hold the next monthly meeting at Clewer. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Rev. C. E. Wigg for conducting the service, giving the address and acting as chairman for the business meeting, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Taylor and friends for arranging tea, and to the organist (Mr. Slater). In proposing this, Mr. T. J. Fowler remarked how grateful the members were for the presence of the Mayor of Maidenhead in spite of his busy life.—Mr. J. W. Wilkins, who seconded, remarked on the pleasure it gave him to be present at this prosperous branch meeting, particularly as it was in this tower where he first learned to ring nearly 60 years ago.

Mr. W. H. Fussell paid a compliment to the acting chairman, saying what a great debt they owed him for keeping the members of the branch interested during the day. He also mentioned that this was the branch of the 'Bright Young People.' In reading of their doings, he said, it made him feel about 16 himself. He hoped they would all turn out in their blazers and badges in the summer, but was one of the qualifications going to be a bright (and shiny) place on top?

The Mayor of Maidenhead remarked that when he came in he felt entirely out of his element, as he had no knowledge of bellringing. He expressed astonishment that there was such an organisation in that part of the country and wished them every success. He had enjoyed the whole of the proceedings.

Mr. A. J. Wright apologised for the lateness of the reports. It was hoped that they would be out shortly.

Ringling continued in a variety of methods until 21.00 hours (9 o'clock).

OLDEST RING OF SIX.

YARNTON BELLS TO BE RESTORED.

A grant of three guineas to the restoration of Yarnton bells, said to be the oldest ring of six in England and one of the heaviest, was made at the annual meeting of the Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, held at Wootton on May 5th. The total cost of the restoration will be about £80. Yarnton bells are all dated 1620, and the name of the donor, Sir Thomas William Spencer, a former lord of the manor, appears on all but one.

Ringers attended the meeting from Northmoor, Standlake, Stanton Harcourt, Woodstock, Yarnton, Ducklington, Eynsham, Cassington, Tackley and Wootton, and among those present was Mr. R. T. Hibbert, the Guild secretary.

Mr. W. Everts, jun., the branch secretary, in his annual report, stated that two more towers, Coombe and Brize Norton, had joined the Guild, and he was hoping that Northleigh would join shortly. He pointed out that the number of honorary members was beginning to dwindle, and said he thought that every churchwarden should be an honorary member. As regarded ringing members there were 111 this year, a slight decrease, owing to Clanfield having dropped out. Their total number was about 130.

The financial statement showed a balance in hand of £27 10s. 11½d., compared with £23 18s. 1½d. last year, and, in addition to the three guineas voted to Yarnton, it was decided to give a guinea towards the memorial tablet of the late Master of the Guild, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, which is to be placed in Christ Church Cathedral.

The Rural Dean, the Rev. G. H. Stuart Gmelin, who was in the chair, was re-elected chairman, with Mr. Everts as secretary and treasurer, and the following representatives on the General Committee of the Guild: Messrs. T. Bond, N. Spindlow and G. Clarke.

Before the meeting there was a service in Wootton Church, when the sermon was preached by Mr. Gmelin. The service was taken by the Rector of Wootton (the Rev. F. R. Marriott), and the lesson read by the branch secretary.

After the meeting peals were rung at several towers in the neighbourhood.

DEATH OF VETERAN RINGER.

On Wednesday, April 18th, at St. Mary Magdalene, Knighton, Leicester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung with the bells half-muffled by G. Clarke 1, H. Farmer 2, S. Shelton 3, H. Laker 4, W. H. Clarke (conductor) 5, as a token of respect to the late Mr. James Wilson, for many years a ringer at the above church, who was interred at Gilroes Cemetery, Leicester, on April 13th. Deceased, who had reached the advanced age of 84 years, was an honorary life member of the M.C.A.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At Dodleston, Cheshire, on Friday, April 6th, with clappers half-muffled, 720 Oxford Bob: J. Dryland 1, G. Case 2, J. Hughes 3, C. Dryland 4, J. W. Clarke 5, H. Roberts 6. Rung as a last token of respect, following the funeral of Mrs. C. S. Yarwood, wife of Mr. J. Yarwood, schoolmaster, organist and choirmaster for over 40 years.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT NORTHAW.

A perfect day brought quite a crowd to a North and East District meeting, held at Northaw on Saturday last. Still unspoiled by the builder, and not yet reached by the inevitable motor bus or coach, Northaw is one of the few remaining places near London where a real 'country' meeting may be held; and this, as well as the weather, was no doubt the cause of the attendance reaching the very satisfactory total of 36, a record for a meeting at this tower.

At the service, the Vicar (the Rev. L. Sparkes) took occasion to welcome the association to Northaw, and to remind ringers that this meeting coincided with the jubilee of the placing of the bells in the tower.

After a real country tea, the business meeting was held. In the reading of the minutes it was noticed that at the last meeting a vote of congratulation was passed to the band of youngsters that rang a peal at St. Olave's, Hart Street, in December last, the youngest band then to ring a peal of Major. The hon. secretary pointed out that this record had not lasted long, and had already been beaten by a band whose average age was about two years less. Further, the Hart Street band obviously had no chance of regaining the record, as, like the rest of us, they were getting older every day. Mr. Coles proposed a vote of congratulation to the Crayford peal band.

This was seconded by Mr. E. M. Atkins, who stated that he was glad to do so as the conductor of the previous youngest band to ring a peal (Minor at an average age under 17).

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Pinner on June 9th, and, in reply to a question, the hon. secretary stated that the usual joint meeting with the Hertford Association was arranged to be held at North Mimms on July 28th.

Mr. Coles welcomed to the meeting two district secretaries of the Herts Association, Mr. W. Nash and Mr. W. Ayre.—Mr. Nash said that they of the Herts Association were grateful to the Middlesex Association for looking after the tower of Northaw, which was actually in Hertfordshire, and added that there 'are no boundaries in these parts.'

Mr. Ayre said he was very happy to be present, and asked members to book November 3rd for the jubilee festival of the Hertford Association at St. Albans.

The Chairman (Mr. W. Pickworth) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, which was carried with acclamation, and to which the Vicar replied with thanks to the association for attending in such strength.

Some handbell ringing by Messrs. E. M. Atkins, W. Ayre, G. R. Pye, A. J. House, C. T. Coles, Miss Prockson and others was listened to with great interest by some liking visitors to Northaw, but an attempt for Stedman Triples came to an untimely end, it not harmonising with Bob Minor on the church bells. Needless to say, the Bob Minor won.

Ringling on the pretty peal of six, placed in the tower 50 years ago by Taylor and Co., consisted of rounds for some very promising youngsters of both sexes and all sorts of methods, from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge and Primrose Surprise, for the 'old 'uns,' the Master (Mr. A. W. Coles) having a pretty busy time in seeing that everybody had a pull. The Primrose Surprise convinced at least one ringer that he could not learn a method without knowing what to do at the back stroke lead of the treble, in spite of what experts in writing had to say about it.

A PLEASANT RIVERSIDE MEETING.

On Saturday last, about 35 persons wended their way to that pleasant spot on a bend of the Thames where stands Isleworth Parish Church. And a pretty picture it made, too. The water was high and the delightful weather had coaxed many of the younger generation to bathe, while the rowing fraternity were much in evidence. But those 35 did not visit Isleworth for that. The locals wondered what was on. The reason was a meeting of the South and West District of the association. Isleworth bells have a peculiar charm, and at times on Saturday they could be heard at their best. Numerous touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung, while Kent and Cambridge Royal were just as popular.

Evensong was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. W. Shepherd Smith), the lesson being read by the vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope). A very tasty and plentiful tea was partaken of in the Church Hall. Handbell ringing followed, some of the experts managing a touch of Bob Major after fearful effort!

The business, of a routine nature, was quickly over. The chief items were thanks to all kind friends in Isleworth who had helped in making the meeting so successful, and a decision to visit Sunbury for the next meeting, probably on June 2nd.

It was with regret that news of the illness of Mr. C. S. Bird was heard, and congratulations were extended to Mr. F. G. Baldwin on his recent marriage.

Further ringing in the tower followed, and all tastes catered for, under the guidance of Ringing Master Collins.

YOUTH AND ENTHUSIASM.

A GUILDFORD GUILD MEETING.

About 25 ringers gathered at Farnborough, Hants, on May 5th, for a meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. This old church is well worth a visit, and the wooden tower is particularly interesting to ringers. Its main structure is a series of massive timbers, which carry the bell frame and spire, the exterior being weather boarded. Despite the 'skeleton' nature of the building, however, the light peal of six bells run like 'tops' and ringing on them is a real pleasure, although in the ringing chamber they are rather noisy.

The main contingent of ringers (more than a dozen) came from Aldershot, where youth and enthusiasm go hand in hand, and other members were present from Ash, Bagshot, Farnham, Frensham and the local tower, with the hon. treasurer and general hon. secretary of the Guild. The ringing, with the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted) in charge, covered the usual ground, from rounds to Cambridge Surprise, and one band, including five of the Aldershot band (among them three ladies) rang a short 'touch' in six methods of Doubles and Minor alternately without interval.

Canon Challacombe, the Rector, visited the tower in the afternoon to welcome the ringers, and looked in again in the evening. He conducted the Guild's service, when, with Mr. T. A. Stroud (the Guild's 'own organist') at the organ, and the congregation including a number of choristers, the singing was a real delight. The Rector, in his address, referred to the sacramental aspects of the ringers' work.

At the subsequent tea and business meeting the Rector presided. Mrs. J. Corbett (wife of the hon. treasurer) was elected an hon. member, and the following new members were elected: E. H. Stradling (Aldershot), J. Henderson (Ash) and H. Hughes (Farnham).

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector and to the local band, especially Mr. Gasson, for the arrangements.

NORFOLK RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to record the death of Mr. John Moy, of Aylsham, Norfolk, who passed away on May 5th at the age of 65 years. Mr. Moy was elected a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association on May 6th, 1890, and was for a number of years Ringing Master of the Aylsham band. He was a keen ringer and took part in 48 association peals (46 on tower bells and two on handbells).

The funeral took place on May 9th and was attended by several members of the local band, the Norwich Diocesan Association being also represented by Mr. A. L. Coleman, the hon. secretary.

In the evening the bells of St. Michael's Church were rung muffled as a tribute to the deceased's memory.

THE DAVIES MEMORIAL.

Esteem and admiration for the life and work of the late Rev. Charles Douglas Percival Davies was manifest at Tewkesbury on Saturday, when the ringers' memorial, provided by national effort, was dedicated at an impressive service. To the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, of which Mr. Davies was a co-founder more than fifty years ago, was due the initiation of the scheme and with its officers rested the carrying out of the project, but the Exercise at large has joined readily in providing a suitable memorial to one of its greatest intellectual figures and one of its most valued members. Mr. Davies devoted a large part of his fairly long life to the furtherance of the art of ringing and the raising of ringers to an acknowledged place in the organisation of the Church. To him, indeed, was in no small measure due the idea of building up modern ringing associations on diocesan lines, and the Gloucester and Bristol Association was the first to be given a diocesan title. But this was only one of the directions in which he rendered service to the Exercise. By his investigations into many knotty problems, his writing and the diligent manner in which he served the Central Council for nearly twenty years as its Secretary, he left his mark upon our art, and there are few who have an equal claim upon the recognition of the ringers of this country.

Of the place and form of the memorial there could have been no happier choice. Tewkesbury Abbey was to him the dearest place on earth, and, as Canon Coleridge, speaking from personal knowledge, said in his address on Saturday, he loved every stone of it. The furnishing of the remaining deserted chapel of the old Abbey is an act in which Mr. Davies would have delighted and seems to complete the wonderful work of restoration which his father began more than half a century ago. The augmentation and improvement of the bells was a natural direction in which his memory should be perpetuated; for it was at Tewkesbury that he learned to ring. It is to the interest in the art which Tewkesbury bells gave him that the Exercise to-day owes much of its knowledge and was enriched by a personality so kindly, so lovable and so universally respected.

Those who seek to master some of the intricacies of the science of change ringing in these days have had their way made easier by the work done by Mr. Davies and some of his contemporaries, but the patience and meticulous care exercised in the work he did for the benefit of ringers are things which others might well endeavour to follow. Many of the problems of Mr. Davies' time have been settled, through his and others' investigations, but there are fields remaining to be explored in which men of knowledge and mathematical attainments can utilise their skill. But for all time the name of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies will stand out as one of the most conspicuous in the annals of ringing. St. Dunstan's Chapel in Tewkesbury Abbey will remain a hallowed spot to ringers, while the bells will be a constant reminder, that, in the words of their inscription, 'He being dead yet speaketh,' recalling the lines of Longfellow:—

Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints in the sands of time.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

TRURO BRANCH MEETING AT ST. NEWLYN EAST.

A meeting of the Truro Branch of the above Guild was held at St. Newlyn East on Whitsun Eve, by a coincidence the last meeting here being on the eve of the same festival three years ago. Those present included Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Diocesan Ringing Master), the Rev. W. H. R. Trewheila (general secretary), Mr. H. Dunstan (treasurer), and ringers from Truro Cathedral, Camborne, Tuckingmill, St. Gluvias, and the local band. During the afternoon and evening the splendid ring of six, which within recent years have been augmented from five and hung in a new frame with entirely new fittings by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., were rung in rounds, call changes, Grand-sire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. Montague May), who also gave a 'straight from the shoulder' talk on the words, 'Whatever you do, do it unto perfection.' Tea followed, after which Mr. A. S. Roberts proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and lady helpers, and also took the opportunity of extending the best wishes of the branch to the Rev. W. H. R. Trewheila, who would be representing the Guild at the Central Council meeting at Warwick on the following Tuesday. The Rev. W. H. R. Trewheila seconded the vote of thanks. Mr. W. H. Southard (vice-president) occupied the chair for the business meeting, and Gwennap was chosen for the next meeting, with Hlogan as an alternative. It was decided to restart the monthly combined practices, and arrangements were left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANOTHER TOWER FOR NEWBURY BRANCH.

A very successful meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Great Shefford on Saturday, May 12th. This was the first meeting at Shefford for nearly 30 years. The following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Beedon, Compton, Chieveley, East Ilsley, East Garston, Newbury, Peasemore, Thatcham and Great Shefford. Visitors were present from Abingdon, Bramley and Overton. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. T. Dewe), who gave a very helpful address, the lesson being read by the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford. Miss E. Brown was at the organ. Tea was served at the Swan Hotel by Capt. and Mrs. Pobgee, and 45 sat down.

The business meeting followed, the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (chairman of the branch) presiding.

The Rev. T. Dewe was elected an honorary member, and six new ringing members from Shefford tower were also elected.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. T. Dewe for his address and welcome to the ringers, to the organist, and to Capt. and Mrs. Pobgee for the tea, were proposed by the chairman, seconded by the secretary (Mr. H. W. Curtis), and carried with applause.

Mr. G. Caudwell and Mrs. A. E. Lock played tunes on the handbells, which were much appreciated. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening.

CHIPPING NORTON DEANERY BRANCH.

The spring meeting was held at Kingham on Saturday, May 12th.

There was ringing in the afternoon, followed by a service conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Hugh B. Richardson), Rev. E. C. Freeman being also present. The Guild's special form of service was used. The Rev. Wade gave a very interesting address to a large congregation. After tea, partaken of in the Village Hall, and to which upwards of 55 sat down, the annual business meeting was presided over by the chairman (Rev. C. Freeman). The Branch Secretary presented his report and balance sheet for the past year, which were passed and considered most satisfactory.

The Secretary said he was pleased to welcome Mr. Shute from the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, Alderman Hemming and Mr. George King (Badsey), of the Worcestershire Association, and visitors from other branches of the Oxfordshire Guild.

The officers were all re-elected, viz.: Rev. E. C. Freeman, chairman; J. Keyte, secretary; A. Miles and F. Green, Guild committee representatives.

It was proposed to hold the autumn meeting at Charlbury.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert, the Guild secretary, referred to the Jenkyn Memorial Fund, and stressed upon all to contribute a little and attend the dedication of the memorial in Christ Church cloisters on Saturday, July 21st.

Mr. Wright (Guild treasurer) spoke of the strong financial position of the branch, and asked for a grant towards the memorial fund. The sum of £3 3s. was then voted.

The Rev. Elliott Wigg (Deputy Master of the Guild) said how pleased he was to be there with the branch for the first time, and hoped he would be able to be with them again.

Special votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Kingham for welcoming the Guild that day, to the Rev. Wade for his address, and to the organist and blower. They all suitably replied, and this concluded the business.

The ringers then returned to the towers at Kingham, Shipton-under-Wychwood and Churchill, where some excellent practice was put in, and brought to a close a most successful day.

DEATH OF MR. A. W. CUTMORE.

A VETERAN LONDON RINGER.

Death has removed a veteran London ringer in the person of Mr. Arthur William Cutmore, who passed to his rest on May 14th. The deceased, who was 73 years of age and had been a cab driver, was a native of Stisted, Essex, but he learned to ring at Bow-in-the-Road, Stratford. Of late years he had been a member of the band at St. Mary Abbott's, Kensington. Mr. Cutmore had rung about 50 peals altogether, his last having been at St. Olave's, Hart Street, City, on December 10th, 1932, when a band of veterans, whose aggregate ages totalled 594 years, rang a peal of Stedman Triples. This record age was exceeded in another peal at the same church last October, but Mr. Cutmore was not in this. He was, however, ringing up to a short time before his death, his last quarter-peal being rung for service at Barnes at the end of April. He was a keen and devoted service ringer.

The funeral took place on May 17th at Fulham Cemetery, North Sheen, the mourners being his daughter and son-in-law, his brother and sister-in-law. He was buried in the same grave as his wife, who predeceased him some four or five years ago. After the committal, four College Youths, Messrs. W. Roughton, C. F. Winney, H. R. Pasmore and H. Langdon, rang on handbells over the open grave three whole pulls in rounds thrice, in slow time, and then a course of Stedman Triples. Other ringers who were present were Mr. A. B. Bennett, an hon. member, and Mr. Percy Miles, of the St. Mary Abbott's company.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD
BIG MEETING IN GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

Youth again gathered in force on Saturday week, when a meeting of the Guildford District was held at Pirbright. Several of the neighbouring towers in the district were represented, but there was a big contingent from places over the border in the Farnham District. Pirbright is on the extreme edge of the Guildford District and almost inaccessible by train, except by long detour, but the ubiquitous bus, motor-cycle and car and push bike brought an almost record gathering, which made an impressive congregation in church. The choir (Capt. H. J. Cann, nephew of Canon Coleridge, is choirmaster) was augmented by several of the ringers, and the musical portion of the service was really enjoyable. The Vicar's sermon emphasised the fact that the ringing was not just a preliminary to a service, but really an act in the service itself, and should be regarded as such by the ringers.

The choirboys joined the tea party at the Village Hall, where over 70 sat down. Afterwards the Vicar (who presided) welcomed the Guild and thanked them for the donation which the Guild had given towards the restoration of the bells. The cost had been something like £224, of which £118 had been raised. He also thanked the ringers of Aldershot, Ash, Seale and Worplesdon for allowing the Pirbright members to practice at those towers while their own bells were out of order, and the ringers of Aldershot and Worplesdon who had since given instruction to Pirbright beginners. There were, he said, many young people present at that gathering, some of them too young, perhaps, yet to begin ringing, but he hoped in time they would take up that branch of service to the Church and always remain faithful members of the Church of England.

Misses Winifred, Amy and Hazel Thompson, Miss Phyllis Sayers and L. Wiggins, of Pirbright, were elected members of the Guild.

A sum of two guineas was voted from the district funds towards Pirbright bells.

A vote of condolence was passed with Mr. G. Cole, a Woking ringer, who had recently suffered a double bereavement. One daughter, who was married and leaves a husband and four children, died and her sister expired suddenly on the day the other was buried.

On the motion of Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer), a vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist and choir and those who had made the arrangements was passed and acknowledged by Capt. Cann, while the Vicar expressed thanks on behalf of the guests.

The ringers then returned to the tower, but ringing had not been long in progress when, while a band of six ladies were ringing Treble Bob, the tenor clapper broke in the shaft. This effectually put an end to the ringing at Pirbright, but a telephone call to the Rev. G. J. Chitty in Worplesdon, three miles away, gained a ready consent to the use of the bells there for the rest of the evening, and motor-cycle and car quickly transferred a large party to the fresh tower, where a very nappy time was spent. Among the welcome visitors were the Misses P. and J. Kingdon, formerly attached to Worplesdon tower, but now living at Brede in Sussex, who made the long journey on purpose to be present at the meeting.

ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

NEW BELLS AT BECKENHAM TO CELEBRATE CENTENARY.

The members and friends of Court 'St. George' No. 5106, of Beckenham, Kent, are completing their scheme to perpetuate the centenary of the society, which was founded in 1834. Two treble bells are to be given to the Parish Church of St. George, Beckenham, and these will be dedicated by the Bishop of Rochester during the 'Forester's service' to be held on June 3rd. A suitable tablet is also being provided in the church to record the gift.

Another £50 is still required to complete the scheme in every detail, so that assistance from any 'ringing brother' will be very welcome. Subscriptions will be acknowledged direct by the secretary of the court, Bro. W. J. Rawlings, 41, Monivea Road, Beckenham, Kent.

A 'FAMILY' AFFAIR.

At Benhilton, Surrey, on Easter Sunday, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: P. Williams (first quarter-peal) 1, G. Reed 2, F. Randall 3, G. Rayner 4, E. Enticknap 5, H. Smerdon 6, W. O. Smith 7, R. Foreman 8. This quarter-peal was also rung to commemorate the birth of the undermentioned: To the ringer of the 2nd, a daughter; to the ringer of the 5th, a son; to the ringer of the 6th, a son; and to G. Chiverton (another member of the company), a daughter. Mrs. Enticknap, mother of one of the infants, is also a member of the local band.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.*THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild from all parts of Wiltshire and Dorset attended the annual festival at Bradford-on-Avon on Saturday week.

The Guild service was held in the Church of Holy Trinity at 12.30, conducted by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (Rector of Kington Magna and hon. general secretary of the Guild).

Canon Clark (Vicar), giving the address, based it upon an extract from the lesson (Ephesians iv. 1-17), 'Speaking the truth in love.'

Lunch was provided in the Town Hall, and was followed by the annual meeting, over which the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Guild) presided, supported by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Canon Clarke (Vicar of Bradford), and Mr. F. Green, Devizes (assistant hon. secretary). Amongst others present were the following: Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (Devizes), Mr. W. C. West and Mrs. West (Melksham), the Rev. C. F. H. Brewis and Miss Brewis (Holt), the Rev. H. V. White (Broad Hinton), Canon Peters (Bremhill), Mr. L. A. Willson (Wootton Bassett), Mr. C. H. Jennings (Wyke Regis), Rev. C. A. Phillips (Bournemouth), Mr. F. W. Townsend (Poole), Mr. H. J. Ralph (Kington Magna), Mrs. F. Green (Devizes), Messrs. W. Bolwell (Ealing), S. Hillier (Devizes), J. T. Dyke (Chilcompton), F. W. Romain (Salisbury), etc.

Apologies for absence were received from Lord Shaftesbury, the Rev. C. C. Cox (Vicar of Lyme Regis) and Mr. Scott. Before commencing the business the Master gave the toast of 'The King.'

The balance sheet was adopted. The retiring officers were re-elected en bloc, with thanks for past services, the hon. secretary being congratulated on completing 21 years in office. Amongst other matters discussed, mention was made of a huge ringers' rally which is being held at Milton Abbey in June.

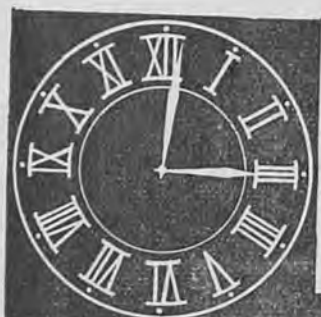

The secretary was asked to send a letter of congratulation to the Earl of Shaftesbury on the Masonic honour conferred upon him in recognition of his long and distinguished record of service as Provincial Grand Master of Dorset.

With the usual votes of thanks the meeting closed. The Vicar opened the Vicarage grounds and conducted members to the Saxon church, which was greatly appreciated.

The members subsequently dispersed to the various towers in the district for ringing. The towers available, besides the two Bradford churches, were those at Warminster, Melksham, Holt, Keovil, Steeple Ashton, Hilperton, Devizes St. John's, Longbridge Deverell and Heytesbury. The number of members attending during the day was between 150 and 160.

SHROPSHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to record the sudden death of Mr. George Williams, of Oswestry, Shropshire, who passed away on May 15th, at the age of 57 years. Deceased was a native of Montgomery, where he learned to ring a bell, and had been a ringer at Oswestry Parish Church for 30 years. He was a very safe and steady ringer of Grandsire and Stedman, and had rung several peals in those methods. He was a regular Sunday service ringer whenever his duties as railway engine driver allowed, and will be greatly missed in the tower. The funeral took place on May 18th, the bearers being two ringers and four G.W.R. footplate men. The bells were rung muffled before and after the funeral service, and as a last token of respect a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Whit Sunday by Miss A. Kynaston 1, R. Edwards 2, R. Kynaston 3, E. H. Kynaston 4, H. Jarman 5, R. T. Evans (conductor) 6, W. B. Kynaston 7, T. Marshall 8.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*WELL-ATTENDED MEETING AT OVER, CAMBS.

A joint meeting of the Hunts and Central Branches of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Over on Saturday, April 14th, about 35 ringers attending. The association service was held, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. G. Weston, M.A.), who based his address on Galatians v. 13, 'But by love serve one another.' All enjoyed the Vicar's words. He laid stress on the maintenance of a body, or band, of workers to a common cause, in this case to the cause of God. He welcomed the ringers to the meeting.

Among those present were Rev. E. B. Shepard, Messrs. W. H. J. Hooton, F. E. Haynes (Birmingham), Mr. H. Chapman (Kington), Mr. B. King (Royston), Mr. and Mrs. F. Hurry (Sawston), Mrs. F. W. Lack (Great Staughton). The methods rung included Bob Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

Tea was partaken of in the schoolroom, and no twelve baskets were left.

There was no business meeting, but votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and taking the service, to Mrs. Weston for kindly acting as organist, and to the ladies for looking after the needs of the company.

The secretary has been invited to hold the next meeting at Wilburton, and due notice will appear in the proper columns of this paper.

CYCLE TOUR IN NORTH BUCKS.

The Stagdsen bellringers and Mr. A. P. Cannon, of London, recently had a very successful cycle tour in North Bucks. A start was made at North Crawley, but, owing to illness, no ringing was done. Then over to Chicheley, where 720 Bob Minor was rung. These are an old-fashioned peal, with a timber 'diamond' frame (tenor 17½ cwt.). After 360 Bob Minor and tea at the local public-house, Sherington was visited. The church, dedicated to St. Laud, and one of the few so dedicated (presumably to Archbishop Laud, martyred in 1643, approx.), contains a pleasant peal of five bells (tenor 14 cwt.). Here touches of Bob and Grandsire Doubles were rung, after obtaining permission in about five minutes from the sexton, Mr. Watts, the Vicar being away.

Proceeding to Emberton, where the party were met by Mr. F. C. Mynard, the local captain, 720 Bob Minor was rung and touches of Oxford Treble Bob Minor. The last tower to be visited was Clifton Reynes at 8 p.m. The Vicar kindly led the way into the church and switched on the electric light. The 720 Bob Minor rung here enabled a young Stagdsen ringer, aged 14, to ring his first 720 on the treble, which he did without a trip. The ringers were: H. Clarke 1, F. C. Tysoe 2, H. Walsh 3, P. Bazley 4, P. C. Bonnett (conductor) 5, A. P. Cannon 6 (tenor 10½ cwt.). Mr. P. Beard took part in the previous 720's. Altogether a very pleasant afternoon was spent.

SHERWOOD YOUTHS.

The annual meeting of the Society of Sherwood Youths was held at the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Nottingham (the headquarters of the society) on Saturday, April 14th. The Master, Mr. Albert Coppock, presided at the business meeting, at which all the retiring officers were re-elected, with Mr. W. E. White as trustee. Several new members were also elected.

A suggestion was put forward that a visit, on similar lines to a very enjoyable one made a few years ago, might be made to Norton-by-Gabry, known locally as King's Norton, a village somewhat famous in the history of Mr. W. D. Crofts, Nottingham's celebrated ringer and composer of former days. The suggestion was favourably received by the members present, and it was decided to think the matter over and bring it forward again at a future meeting.

Mottesford was chosen for the next meeting to be held on May 26th, provided permission could be obtained.

Good use was made of the bells during the time available, but, owing to the heavy going, ringing was confined to the simpler methods.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells brought the meeting to a close.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Soberton on Saturday, April 21st, when members attended from Alton, Alverstoke, Bishopstoke, Bishop's Waltham, Fareham, Hambledon, North Stoneham, Petersfield, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Soberton, Swanmore and Wickham. The Guild's service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar (the Rev. J. Godefray) officiated. After tea in the Parish Hall the business meeting was held, the Vicar, who occupied the chair, being elected an honorary member of the Guild. A Steele (Bishop's Waltham) was elected a ringing member.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Titchfield on July 21st. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for officiating at the service, also for the use of the bells and Parish Hall. Members afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing, which consisted of rounds and methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major.

MORE NEW PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I sincerely congratulate Mr. Turner on having composed and conducted his peal of Spiced Surprise Major. His composition is a very good one.

I have a few compositions not yet published, and send below the figures of two, which may also be useful to conductors.

RINGING AT KENT SCHOOL, U.S.A.

PROGRESS BY THE STUDENTS.

The ringing at Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A., where Mr. I. J. Attwater is instructor, progressed slowly and steadily through the winter term, although the short periods available there for ringing during this term stopped the students from attempting long touches. Numerous shorter ones have, however, been rung at the regular times.

There are some promising ringers in the second band, but, being very young, it is rather difficult for them to strike their bells correctly and to acquire the necessary ropesight. For this reason Caters have not been attempted on the tower bells, but in the next school year, beginning in September, it is hoped to have all ten bells going in change ringing if present progress is maintained.

On Sunday morning, March 18th, 742 Grandsire Triples was rung, and on Tuesday, March 20th, for evensong, 840 Grandsire Triples by: A. H. Terry 1, I. J. Attwater (conductor) 2, W. Abbe 3, A. D. Bosson 4, R. Westlake 5, R. Abbe 6, S. M. Wheelock 7, R. Davies 8.

For practice on handbells on March 22nd, 532 Grandsire Triples: H. Van Rensselaer 1-2, I. J. Attwater (conductor) 3-4, A. D. Bosson 5-6, S. M. Wheelock 7-8. These three touches on the tower and handbells are the longest yet rung by the Kent School Guild.

PRESENTATION TO MR. H. A. HEYWOOD.

AN ORIGINAL MEMBER OF CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

An interesting ceremony took place at Christleton on Saturday, April 28th, when Mr. H. A. Heywood was presented with a silver bell-shaped inkstand by his fellow-members of the Chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild on the occasion of his retirement from the office of vice-chairman.

Mr. Heywood, who is a cousin of the late Sir Arthur Heywood, although not a ringer himself, has been keenly interested in all things appertaining to bells and ringers for many years, especially in the welfare of the Chester Guild. He is one of the few now with us who were present at Chester Cathedral in 1887 when the Guild first came into being, and he has held office in one way or another, including that of Master, ever since. Recently he reluctantly resigned from the office of vice-chairman of the Chester Branch, a position which he has occupied for over a quarter of a century.

The presentation was made by Mr. James Morgan, the only other member of the branch who was present at the inaugural meeting of the Chester Guild 47 years ago.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Members of the Essex Association, at their annual meeting on Monday, accepted with deep regret the resignation of the Master (Mr. C. H. Howard). Mr. Howard held the office for 25 years, and during that time did yeoman service for the association. Recently Mr. Howard has been incapacitated by illness. He is succeeded in the mastership by Mr. Edward P. Duffield.

'Twenty-stone Bell-ringing Canon wants a 7ft. Bed!' was the heading of an article on Canon G. F. Coleridge which appeared in the 'Sunday Pictorial' on Sunday. It was spoken of as 'a delicate problem' which had arisen at Warwick in connection with the Council meeting, as 'no one in Warwick seemed to have a 7ft. bed specially reinforced to hold a man weighing 20 stone.'

The article spoke of 'pulling a noise 5,000 times out of a Cathedral three-ton bell,' and was illustrated with an excellent photograph of the Canon holding a model of Exeter Cathedral tenor. Naturally Canon Coleridge had put in a good word for ringing, which he emphasised as 'the finest exercise out.'

In the peal at Gorton, on May 7th, the name of the ringer of the 3rd was Edward F. Mawby, and of the 4th Charles Ollier.

Is it true that the mysterious Kate has made a capture at last? The bachelors' band, who rang a peal on February 29th, 1932, agreed to meet again on the same date in 1936. We hear on good authority, however, that they will be 'let down.' One of them is shortly to be married!

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Soberton on May 12th, and recorded in your issue of the 18th, should have recorded for the ringer of the 4th his first peal of Stedman. Mr. Linter rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) on these bells 45 years ago.

TAUNTON RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

FORTY YEARS' SERVICE AS RINGER, STEEPLEKEEPER AND VERGER.

On Friday, April 13th, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, of Taunton, celebrated their golden wedding, and St. Mary's Guild of Change Ringers, of which Mr. Fowler is a member, presented him with a handsome chiming clock. On the eve of the wedding anniversary a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung on St. Mary's Church bells by: W. White 1, A. Wyatt 2, A. Reed 3, E. Wyatt 4, W. H. Tarr 5, F. J. Sudd 6, P. Merson (conductor) 7, J. Fowler 8. Mr. Fowler has put in 40 years' service at St. Mary's Church as ringer, steeplekeeper and vergier.

BEGINNERS NEED PROPER TEACHING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—The motion down for discussion at the Central Council meeting, and with which you dealt so ably in your leader of April 27th, as to how ringers may help and encourage beginners to progress and so reach the peal ringing stage, must be of interest to ringers everywhere. But does not the trouble lie long before the learner reaches the peal ringing stage? There must be hundreds of ringers who have learnt to handle a bell improperly and have found it impossible to progress in change ringing and have either lost interest or given up in despair, simply because when they need all their attention looking at the other ropes they are trying to handle their own. If every learner is taught to handle his bell PERFECTLY and is given more attention and help in ringing rounds and hunting, both in the home tower and at meetings, beginners will be encouraged by the progress they will easily make, and will not be afraid to enter fresh towers or attend meetings as they are at present. Then we shall get better ringing, more progress and enthusiasm which end in peal ringing.

NATIONAL MEMORIAL TO REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

DEDICATION OF BELLS AND CHAPEL AT TEWKESBURY ABBEY.

Ceremony Attended by Representative Gathering of Ringers.

The venerable Abbey of Tewkesbury was, on Saturday, the Mecca of ringers from all parts of the country, gathered there to do honour to the memory of one who, far above most others, did so much during a long life for the art of change ringing — Charles Douglas Percival Davies, Priest, who was born at Tewkesbury in 1857, whose last resting place is in the quiet cloister garth of the Abbey he knew so intimately and loved so well, and who through more than fifty years devoted his great talents to furthering the science of ringing and uplifting the status of the ringer. The occasion was the dedication of a national memorial, which consists of a ringers' chapel, the provision of two bells to increase the ring to twelve and the recasting of the two former trebles, as well as the tuning of the other eight.

There are in Tewkesbury Abbey fourteen chapels which, during the last fifty years or so, have gradually been refurnished until but one remained. In the lights of one of its windows is the stained-glass memorial to the Rev. C. G. Davies (father of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies), Vicar of Tewkesbury, under whose fostering care the great restoration of the Abbey was begun, and who died at the age of 73 years in 1877. What more fitting, then, than that, as part of the memorial to his son, this remaining chapel should be equipped, henceforth to be known as St. Dunstan's Chapel? And how better could his association with bells, and particularly with the bells of Tewkesbury Abbey, where he learned to ring, be commemorated than by raising them to the dignity of a twelve-bell peal?

The memorial scheme was promoted by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, of which the Rev. C. D. P. Davies was one of the founders, and, so greatly is the lifelong work of Mr. Davies valued throughout the Exercise, that the suggestion to make the appeal on a national basis met with a ready response, and the Central Council and associations and guilds throughout the country contributed. The total cost has been £328, of which £75 went to the refurnishing of the chapel, and when the dedication took place on Saturday, the whole of the necessary funds had been raised.

The furnishing of the chapel has included provision of an altar—a marble slab supported on stone corbels—upon the embroidered frontal cloth of which is a design emblematic of bells, while the adornments include a cross and candlesticks.

The work in the tower, whose massive proportions are the crowning glory of a wonderful pile begun in the days of the Normans, was carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. All the old bells were removed to the foundry, and a vast improvement has been effected in them by the retuning to which the back eight have been subjected, and the recasting of the trebles. With the two new bells, a very pleasant ring of twelve has been made, whose mellow tones fall in nicely modulated sound over the old town and in the ringing chamber are perfectly comfortable for the ringers.

On each of the memorial bells is the inscription:—

A.M.D.G.

IN PIAM MEMORIAM.

C. D. P. DAVIES, M.A.,

FEBRUARY 5th, 1931.

'HE BEING DEAD YET SPEAKETH.'

A tablet in bronze mounted on oak is to be erected in the ringing chamber. It is worded as follows:—

To the Glory of God and in thankful remembrance of the life and work of the REV. C. D. P. DAVIES, M.A.,

Co-founder of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and its Master, 1885, 1903, 1927,

The two treble bells were added and the whole peal retuned by ringers and friends at home and overseas.

For over 50 years he devoted his Great Talent to the furtherance of the Art and Science of Change Ringing.

May 19th, 1934.

Some idea of the huge size of the tower of Tewkesbury Abbey may be gained from the fact that it would hold four rings of twelve all on one level. The bells are in one corner of the tower, nearest the stairway, and the ringing chamber has been made into a comfortable apartment by a partition which encloses a portion of the available space, although in the days when there were only eight bells there the ringers were open to the great area of the chamber and stood in insignificant occupation of a fraction of a huge and gloomy hall. The climb to the ringing room is a fairly big one, which takes the ringers up two long spiral stone staircases, connected by a 'gangway' over the vaulted ceiling of the abbey and among the roof timbers.

The dedication was arranged to coincide with the meeting of the Central Council at Warwick, and consequently the large gathering of ringers that attended the ceremony of Saturday was representative of the whole Exercise—from Yorkshire to Somerset, from South Wales to Kent, with a large contingent of Midland ringers, and, of course, a big muster of members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. Before the service short touches were rung on the back eight bells, and when the service began the great nave of the Abbey was well filled with ringers and members of the public. The congregation included the Mayor of Tewkesbury, Mrs. J. Davies (widow of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies), and the following members of the family: Lt.-Comdr. John D. R. Davies, R.N. (younger son), Mrs. Cole (daughter), Mr. W. Cole (grandson), Miss P. Cole and Miss M. Davies (granddaughters), Mrs. Handcock (cousin), Mrs. John Davies (daughter-in-law), Major F. W. Cole (son-in-law), etc. The first portion of the service, which began with the processional hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell,' consisted of evening prayer. Then the Lord Bishop of Gloucester, attended by the clergy and choir, proceeded to the chapel, where the altar and its ornaments were dedicated. Next, from the central space in the chancel beneath the tower, the dedication of the bells took place.

The president of the Central Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis) and the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association (Mr. J. Gould) handed ropes to the Bishop, with the request that he would dedicate the bells 'to the Glory of God and the memory of the late Rev. Charles D. P. Davies, who devoted his life to our Art and Science of Church Bellringing.'

The Bishop, having received the ropes, offered suitable prayers and then performed the act of dedication in these words: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ we dedicate these bells to the Glory of God and in memory of Charles Douglas Percival Davies, priest and church bell-ringer.' Then, when the Bishop had committed the bells as a sacred trust to the Vicar, the sound of the augmented peal, faintly as from a distance, fell upon the ears of the hushed congregation. A representative band of visiting ringers, selected from twelve different ringing societies, was entrusted with this task, which consisted of two minutes of well-struck rounds. The ringers were: A. Walker (Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham) 1, Mrs. E. K. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Ladies' Guild) 2, C. T. Coles (hon. secretary, Middlesex County Association) 3, G. R. Pye (Central Council representative of Essex Association) 4, J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association) 5, F. Wilford (Master, Peterborough Diocesan Guild) 6, F. W. Perrens (Central Council representative of Warwickshire Guild) 7, W. H. Shaker (hon. secretary, Lancashire Association) 8, S. Holt (Worcestershire Association) 9, J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary, Guildford Diocesan Guild) 10, G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council) 11, R. Richardson (Master, Lincoln Diocesan Guild) 12.

The service was resumed with the anthem 'Ye watchers and ye holy ones,' the solo being magnificently sung by Lt.-Comdr. John Davies, and after some further special prayers the hymn, 'O Heavenly Jerusalem,' preceded the sermon.

It was more than appropriate that the address should be given by Canon G. F. Coleridge, Mr. Davies' closest friend for more than half a century. He took for his text, Ecclesiasticus xli. 19, 'In my doings I was correct.'

It is recorded, he said, that when Calais, the last English possession in France, was taken by the French, Mary, the Queen, was so overcome that she averred that the name 'Calais' would be found, at her death, engraven on her heart. If that were true, it would be equally true to say that the hallowed name 'Tewkesbury' was engraven on the heart of him who is foremost in our thoughts to-day. He loved this stately Abbey from boyhood to old age. His thoughts were ever reverting to it all through his life. I never knew him in boyhood days, when he lived here during the incumbency of his father. It was at Oxford, near 58 years ago, when I met him first, whether in belfry or at handbell practice I cannot remember, but I thank God for that meeting in that he then began to impart his knowledge of change ringing to me, teaching so painstaking and exact that I feel I should never have been asked to speak to you to-day had it not been for the thorough grounding I received from him during four years of undergraduate life, happy years to follow all through life, even to the end—a friendship I valued more than I can say.

Having given some brief, biographical details of Mr. Davies, Canon Coleridge proceeded: I like to think first and foremost of that pure, fragrant and high-souled life; of his very real and deep devotion to the things of God. His religion was a very real thing with him; it meant everything to him: so in the practice as well as in the knowledge of the Faith 'he was exact'; careful, too, in the ordering of the services in the churches in which he led his people; reverent in all things; careful of small things if only they would add dignity to the service. I do not now dwell on his life as a faithful parish priest, continued the preacher, nor his work in the realm of astronomy as a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society and president of the British Astronomical Society. Such offices are 'out of course' to-day. It is as a ringer, a leader of the Exercise, that we recall him to-day—the mathematician and scientist, the writer and speaker on all that pertains to our art. It was here in Tewkesbury that he began his ringing career as a boy, mainly with the aid of his old friend, Josiah Wathen, engineer at the waterworks. At Oxford, as Master of the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers, he had the happiness of bringing on several of us for a peal Grandsire Triples, he himself conducting—the first peal by the society, on June 9th, 1879. Never shall I forget his excitement as the last single came up, nor his ecstatic leap into the air as he called, 'That's all.' At Oxford, too, in the second year of his residence as scholar of Pembroke College, he, with his old friend, G. H. Phillott, three years our senior, and then in an architect's office at Cheltenham, founded the first purely diocesan association of ringers. What joy was his when he was elected as Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association—a still greater joy when he was re-elected as Master for the year of its jubilee; its anniversary festival kept at St. Mary Redcliffe, with a notable service, and much enthusiasm at the subsequent proceedings; verily, it was a great day in his life: verily has the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association good cause to be grateful to him for all he did for it.

But a larger interest among ringers claimed the exercise of his talents. The Central Council of Church Bellringers had lost its secretary, a man of outstanding personality, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer. Another well fitted to cope with the onerous task had to be found. No wonder the choice fell on our good and trusty friend. For 19 years he carried on the work so effectually and so well that I one day, after a Council meeting, heard our chief, Sir Arthur Heywood, say to a few of us gathered round, 'I have nothing to do except sit in the chair; Davies does it all.' It was true. Only those behind the scenes know with what care and labour and toil he prepared the work for each meeting of the Council, to the great satisfaction of its members. No wonder they presented him with a piece of plate in token of appreciation of the wisdom and skill, cheeriness and affability with which he carried out his duties—duties well performed, for 'In my doings I was exact,' an exactness greatly appreciated by all of us. And all through those years, as well as for years before, and even afterwards, when bodily health was declining and his office as secretary had perforce to be given up, his pen was ever busy, not merely in articles and letters in the Ringing Press but also in more solid literature, for example, his volumes on Grandsire and Stedman Triples, on Surprise Methods, and towards the end the composition of a peal of Grandsire Triples with properties never before attained by any composer. Truly his pen did much to further the art and science of change ringing. Truly 'his "works" do follow him.'

We meet to-day, continued Canon Coleridge, to render praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his life and work among us. We meet, moreover, to do honour to his memory here in the Abbey he loved so well. It is natural for us so to do; it is natural that the association which he founded should take the lead and inaugurate a scheme for commemorating him for all time; it is natural that those who honoured, revered and love him should meet here to-day to take their part in the dedication of his memorial, set up in the one place most fitting in the whole earth. Others there are, unable to be present, who are joining with us in spirit, notably at Deane, his last parish, where a memorial service is at this very hour being held, with ringing on the six bells, the treble added by our friend in memory of a deeply-loved grandson. On the day of its dedication he conducted a 720 of Bob Minor, ringing the new treble, hearing the voice of the little lad singing out clear and sweet above the rest in that country tower, set in the midst of most peaceable surroundings. Here to-day are two bells added in his memory, bearing the words, 'He being dead yet speaketh'—a voice among us clear and pure in tone, ever to remind us of him in the years to come. Here, too, is 'furnished and prepared' a ringers' chapel in which the holy sacrifice may be offered on an altar with frontal emblematical of the mystic voices of the bells. Little did he think that such a memorial would be set up here; yet I know well he would have desired nothing better. I can tell you why I can say that. Fifty years ago last December I paid him a short visit at Chaceley. One whole morning we spent in this sacred building. Then it was that I first learnt the secret of his love. Every stone almost, every bit of carving, every tomb and effigy, every window—he knew them all; he revelled in telling me the Abbey's history and all its former glories. But there was one thing which made him sad—sad beyond measure, and that was the neglected state of the chapels. Funds for their thorough restoration to their former glories were not, as I imagine, sufficient, and so far as I know chantry chapels were not, 50 years ago, deemed necessary. How different to-day. A deserted chapel becomes a ringers' memorial, a thing of beauty, a memorial after his own heart, a place where ringers may go and, remembering him and all that he did for the lasting benefit of the ringers of England, may offer an offering of praise and thanksgiving, coupled with the heartfelt, good old prayer, 'Grant him eternal rest, O Lord, and let light perpetual shine upon him.'

I began with a line from the prayer of Jesus, the son of Sirach, known among his fellows as Ben Sira, 'In all my doings I was exact.' Let me end with a few of the lines which follow. I don't think they are familiar to most of those present to-day. They speak of wisdom, but I should like to use them as an apt illustration of the love our revered friend had for this sacred building. 'I have had my heart joined with her from the beginning, therefore I shall not be forsaken. My heart was troubled in seeking her, therefore have I gotten a good possession.' Here is the story of his life as regards his well-loved Tewkesbury: 'My heart joined with her from the beginning,' 'My heart was troubled in seeking her.' Yes, indeed! No longer able to minister actively as a priest in the Church of God, he longed with a longing deep and yearning that his tired body might some day rest at least within sound of the Abbey bells. He had to resign his living; he came to end his days in the near neighbourhood, and there he had his desire fully satisfied. Appointed to an office pertaining to the belfry, he indeed got 'a good possession'—a little strip of hallowed ground in the cloister garth, a possession granted to but three or four since the Reformation. There we laid him in God's gracious keeping, the ardent desire of his heart abundantly satisfied, yet not before another lasting joy has come to him, the privilege of preaching from this pulpit on a Sunday morning in commemoration of the jubilee of the Abbey restoration begun by his father and carried on by his successor, Archdeacon Robeson, whose son in turn preached at the evening service. That was indeed a joy to him, the crowning joy of his life. A long letter told me all about it, how his enfeebled frame was assisted into the pulpit by his son and the vergers, and how, seated in a chair he preached his sermon—his last—and that in the place he loved best on earth.

The sound of that voice is still, concluded Canon Coleridge, but is ever eloquent. 'He being dead yet speaketh.' The message he would give to you and to me to-day, we may well believe, would be found in the last line of the prayer of Ben Sira, as he lifted up his voice to God, the Giver of Wisdom and of all good gifts, 'Work your work betimes, and in His time He will give you your reward.'

During the singing of the hymn 'For all the saints,' a collection for the memorial fund was made, and the impressive service came to a close with the Blessing, pronounced by the Bishop.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

TUESDAY'S MEETING AT WARWICK.

The Central Council held their 42nd annual meeting at Warwick on Tuesday, the attendance numbering exactly 100—88 representative and 12 honorary members. Warwick is a centre of great interest, and many of the members and their friends had spent an enjoyable week-end, visiting such places as Stratford-on-Avon, Kenilworth and Warwick Castles, and ringing at many of the churches in the district.

The business meeting began on Tuesday morning in the Court House, where the members were welcomed by Alderman Malins (Deputy Mayor), on behalf of the Mayor of Warwick, and the Bishop of Coventry. Mr. E. H. Lewis (president) presided over the meeting. The attendance was as follows:—

Ancient Society of College Youths: Mr. A. B. Peck.
Bath and Wells Diocesan Association: Messrs. H. W. Brown, J. T. Dyke and J. Hunt.
Bedfordshire Association: Messrs. A. King and A. E. Sharman.

Winchester and Portsmouth Guild: Messrs. G. Williams, H. Barton and G. Pullinger.
Worcester and Districts Association: Messrs. H. G. Bird, R. G. Knowles and J. D. Johnson.
Yorkshire Association: Messrs. J. Cotterell, P. J. Johnson and S. F. Palmer.
Honorary members: Messrs. W. A. Cave, C. Dean, J. S. Goldsmith, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. A. A. Hughes, C. F. Johnston, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, A. Walker, S. H. Wood and E. Alex. Young.
The Hon. Secretary reported that there had been no change in the membership of the Council since the last meeting, and the subscription of the Shropshire Association was the only one unpaid.

A NEW HONORARY MEMBER.
The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. S. H. Wood were re-elected hon. members of the Council, and on the recommendation of the Standing Committee a vacancy was filled by the election of Mr. E. C. S. Turner, of Ealing, who, later, was appointed a member of the Methods Committee for the purpose of assisting in the work of preparing a 'Collection of Surprise Major Methods.'

Members who had not previously attended a meeting of the Council were presented to the president, and the following apologies for absence were received: Archdeacon Parry (Lincoln Guild), Canon C. C. Marshall (Yorkshire Association), Messrs. W. T. Cockerill (Ancient Society of College Youths), J. W. Parker (Durham and Newcastle Association), T. Metcalfe and J. C. Pollard (Cleveland and North Yorks Association), W. J. Nevard (Essex Association), F. W. Rogers (Winchester and Portsmouth), J. Griffin (hon. member), F. N. Golden (Norwich Diocesan Guild), G. H. Cross (St. Clement's Youths), G. Chester (Lincoln Diocesan Guild), T. E. Sone (Kent County Association), C. W. Roberts (hon. member), A. Coppock (Sherwood Youths), C. E. Borrett (Norwich Diocesan Guild), J. H. Cheesman (Kent County Association), T. H. Taffender (London County Association), W. J. Davidson (Durham and Newcastle Association), A. H. Pulling (Guildford Diocesan Guild), E. Bishop (Gloucester and Bristol), C. Matthews (Royal Cumberland Youths), and Rev. J. B. Frith (North Staffs and District).

It was reported that one member (Mr. J. D. Matthews) and two former members (the Rev. A. T. Beeston and Mr. Joseph Waghorn, sen.) had died during the year, and the Council marked their regret by standing in silence.

After the minutes had been disposed of, the Hon. Librarian presented his report, which showed that the year had been one of great activity. The publication of 'Hints' provoked a large demand. Nearly 3,000 sales, the report said, must surely be a record for one year, but a vast quantity of books remained in stock and seemed to be wanted at a very slow rate. The sales had realised £35 12s. 10d., and a balance of £24 0s. 10d. had been handed over to the general fund.

GIFTS TO THE COUNCIL'S LIBRARY.

The Librarian added that Mrs. Jenkyn (widow of the late hon. librarian) had presented to the Library the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn's copies of 'The Ringing World' up to 1932, and Mr. Fletcher had kindly given the volume for 1933. A copy of a county bell history had been acquired, and the Standing Committee thought it desirable that other similar histories should be obtained as opportunity offered.

The Standing Committee recommended that the hon. librarian be given power to renew stocks of publications that were in demand, and that a sum of £5 be available in any one year for the purchase of books for the library; also that the officers may at their discretion reduce the price of surplus stocks.

The Librarian's report was adopted and the recommendation of the Standing Committee agreed to.

The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts showed a balance in hand of £64 11s. 9d., against £67 12s. 2d. last year, and investments of the present value of £143 14s. 7d. The accounts were adopted, and Messrs. A. A. Hughes and C. T. Coles elected auditors under the new rules until the end of the Council's term of office.

The trustees of the Carter Ringing Machine (Messrs. E. A. Young and A. A. Hughes) reported that it was in a satisfactory condition, and the Council gladly accepted an offer by Mr. G. F. Woodhouse (of Sedbergh), made through the Rev. Canon Elsee, to exhibit and operate his ringing machine at the next meeting of the Council.

The Standing Committee, in their report, stated that the MS. of the 'Collection of Triples' had been received from the Methods Committee, and that they had ordered 750 copies to be printed. They recommended that Mr. E. Denison Taylor should be elected to fill the vacancy on the committee caused by the death of Mr. J. D. Matthews.

Mr. G. Lindoff presented the report of the Peals Committee, which proposed the publication of a small collection of peals of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Double Norwich, Stedman, Treble Bob, Superlative, Cambridge, London, Bristol, Yorkshire, Pudsey, Rutland and Lincolnshire, and, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, it was resolved that the articles on 'Variation' by Mr. J. A. Trollope, published in 'The Ringing World' in 1930 and 1931, should be the basis of a pamphlet to be issued on this subject.

The Methods Committee's report, which has already appeared in 'The Ringing World,' came up for consideration, and the committee withdrew the references in it which appeared to commit the Council in future publications to the printing of peal compositions without the names of the composers. With this amendment the report was adopted.

The report of the Peals Analysis Committee, which has also appeared in these columns, was adopted.

The Towers and Belfries Committee report dealt with the dangers of Ellacombe chiming hammers if not properly attended to, and the Council decided to send a letter on the subject to all Archdeacons and secretaries of Diocesan Advisory Committees.—The President made an interesting statement on the effects of lengthening clapper fights; the frictional differences between plain and ball bearings on bells, and the action of some church authorities who, on the ground of 'danger' to towers, permit ringing only at intervals.

The Literature, Press and Broadcasting Committee presented a lengthy report dealing with the Press and bellringing and upon ringing broadcasts, which was adopted.

The committee business was completed before lunch, and in the afternoon there were animated discussions on the motions of which notice had been given.

Mr. J. A. Trollope proposed 'That no decision of the Council relating to the ringing of peals shall be binding unless passed by a two-third majority of the meeting.'—Mrs. E. K. Fletcher seconded.

An amendment was accepted altering the last words to 'two-third majority of the members present.'

Opposition was forthcoming on the ground that what applied to peals should apply to all resolutions of the Council, and also that such a provision was likely to be a bar to progress.

An amendment to apply the motion to all resolutions of the Council was defeated, and, on being put after further discussion, the motion itself was rejected by a considerable majority.

'BANKES JAMES ARRANGEMENT' ACCEPTED AS A PEAL.

The chief interest in the day's business centred in a motion relating to the 'Minor Controversy.' Mr. J. S. Goldsmith proposed 'That, notwithstanding any definition to the contrary, peals in any recognised Minor method or methods containing compositions in what is known as the "Bankes James Arrangement" are, in the opinion of this Council, permissible.'

Mr. J. A. Trollope seconded, and a rider was added, at the suggestion of the Standing Committee, defining as the Bankes James Arrangement the compositions of Minor in the Appendix of the 'Collection of Minor Methods,' with the exception of those known as the 'Law James London.'

Mr. W. Avre, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Mr. G. R. Newton, Mr. S. H. Wood, Mr. J. W. Jones, Mr. C. T. Coles and Mr. R. Richardson spoke in favour of the motion, and Mr. P. J. Johnson, Mr. J. Hunt, Mr. A. E. Sharman, Mr. T. Clarke, Mr. C. Mee and Mr. W. A. Cave against.

On being put it was adopted by a large majority, the President declaring that it was 'carried by a two-thirds majority.'

A motion proposed by Mr. E. M. Atkins, seconded by Mr. J. Parker, was agreed to, nem. con., in the following terms: 'That this Council views with concern the comparatively small number of ringers ringing their first peal, and suggests that all ringers, mindful of their high calling, should do all in their power to encourage their less proficient brethren.'

The Council accepted the Standing Committee's recommendation that the next meeting should be held at Shrewsbury.

On the suggestion of Mr. F. E. Dawe, a small committee was appointed to confer with the Editor on the best method of increasing the sale of 'The Ringing World.'

The President proposed that in view of the forthcoming centenary celebration in Melbourne the greetings of the Council be sent to the ringers of Australia, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith outlined a scheme, which the Council approved, to send a suitable collection of photographs of notable cathedrals and churches to the ringers at Melbourne and Hobart, Tasmania.

An omnibus vote of thanks to all who had organised the proceedings and helped to make them so enjoyable, particularly to Mr. Frank Perrens, who had been indefatigable in arranging and supervising the social programme, was accorded by acclamation.

A vote of thanks to the president terminated the meeting.

Afterwards the members and their friends were entertained to tea by the Warwickshire Guild, when the president of the Guild and the Mayor of Warwick expressed pleasure at the visit of the Council to Warwick.

Mr. E. H. Lewis replied and thanked the Warwickshire Guild for their hospitality and for the arrangements made for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. To this Mr. Perrens replied.

Ringling on the fine bells at St. Mary's Church was followed by a social at the Woolpack Hotel (which had been the headquarters during the visit), and in the course of the evening much interest and entertainment was got from Mr. R. Richardson's exhibition of his 'movies,' in which many well-known ringers figured.

DEVON GUILD.

ORIGINAL TITLE TO BE RETAINED.

The 60th annual general meeting of the Devon Guild was held at St. Marychurch, Torquay, on Whit Monday, and, the weather being fine, drew an attendance of 222 members from 30 towers in union with the Guild.

The Vicars of St. Marychurch, Babbacombe, Upton and Torre had kindly granted the use of their bells for ringing, and these were made good use of throughout the day.

Service in the Parish Church of St. Marychurch was conducted by the Rev. E. V. Cox (president of the Guild) and Rev. R. A. H. Bate, with an address by the Archdeacon of Totnes. The Archdeacon aptly pointed out how the good qualities of a bell in being in tune with itself as well as the other bells in the ring should be imitated by members in their upright conduct and harmony with their brethren.

Luncheon was served in the Parish Hall, followed by the meeting, with the president in the chair.

The Rev. E. V. Cox was re-elected president, and the general secretary, treasurer, auditor and vice-presidents, with three additions, all re-elected. Ilfracombe was selected by vote as the place for the annual meeting in 1935.

The revised 'Code of Rules,' as circulated among members, was adopted, and it was resolved to retain the original title of the society as the 'Guild of Devonshire Ringers.'

The report and financial statement as published, showing a balance in hand of £45, was adopted. The President mentioned that he had recently made an enjoyable visit to a meeting of the Tamar Valley Guild, and he hoped that a message of fellowship would promote a real friendly spirit between all engaged in the work of the Church.

A LEICESTERSHIRE RESTORATION. MEMORIAL TO FORMER VICAR.

At evensong, on Sunday, May 20th, the dedication took place at Rothley Parish Church, Leicestershire, of the Rev. L. H. Pearson memorial bell and five bells restored, by the Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Leicester, D.D.

After the third collect, Mrs. Pearson (who attended the service with her two daughters) accompanied the Bishop and Vicar to the tower for the dedication ceremony.

The Vicar, addressing the Bishop and handing him the ropes, asked him to dedicate the bells, 'one being in memory of Lewis Henry Pearson.'

The brass plate recording the memorial bell was then unveiled by Mrs. Pearson.

After the dedication the opening rounds were then rung by the local Sunday service band, while the Bishop and Vicar returned to their seats.

After the prayers, the hymn, 'Lifted safe within the tower' was sung, and the service proceeded. After the service the bells rang out again and were kept going till nine o'clock.

The old five bells have been retuned and rehung with the most up-to-date fittings, the ball bearings being totally enclosed, the carriages being fixed to strong bed-plates securely bolted to the old wood frame. The tone of the bells was very much admired by all who remembered them before the tuning. The new bell is in perfect accord with the old five, making an excellent ring of six, their 'go' being splendid.

Lewis Henry Pearson, in whose memory the new bell was dedicated, was Vicar of Rothley 1916-1926. Being a ringer himself, he did much for the Rothley band, and was greatly respected by them. His two daughters were also ringers.

The restoration work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, in their customary efficient manner.

Immediately afterwards the bells were heard again, rung this time by twelve officials of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, consisting of J. Gould (Master), S. Romans (Master elect) and A. Maggs (vice-presidents), P. C. Williams (hon. treasurer), A. Wright (hon. peals secretary), E. Bishop, J. Austin and W. Rose (Central Council representatives), F. G. Leaker and J. H. Shepherd (bell advisers), W. H. Fussell and J. Williams (branch officers).

In the adjoining Parish Hall a large party sat down to tea as the guests of Mrs. Davies, who unfortunately was unable to be present, as she has not yet fully recovered from her recent serious operation. She was, however, represented by her son and daughter, and among those present were the Vicar of Tewkesbury (Rev. E. P. Gough), Canon Coleridge, Mr. E. H. Lewis, Mr. J. Gould, Mr. E. Guise (hon. sec. of the Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mr. J. S. Pritchett (Master of St. Martin's Guild), Mr. H. Miles (representing Oxford University Society), and Mr. E. Denison Taylor (representing the bell founders).

Afterwards the Vicar thanked Mrs. Davies for her hospitality and the Gloucester and Bristol Association and the ringers of England for having provided for the Abbey so excellent a memorial.

Lt.-Comdr. Davies, on behalf of his mother, welcomed the ringers, and in expressing delight at the presence of the Vicar said it was a great happiness to his father to know, before he died, that the Abbey was in the safe keeping of the Rev. E. P. Gough. They were all delighted also to have Canon Coleridge with them. In a few jocular remarks Lt.-Comdr. Davies said in his childhood's days Canon Coleridge was known to him as 'Uncle Fred,' and he was taught to regard him as the final limit of human stature. He, however, always hoped that one day he would grow sufficiently tall to be able to look down on the top of uncle's head (laughter). But Nature ordained otherwise, and having grown to complete manhood he was only able to look into his ear (laughter). Comdr. Davies welcomed Mr. Lewis, the president of the Council, and congratulated Mr. Taylor on the excellent work which his firm had carried out. The speaker added that his mother and he had the privilege of seeing the new bells cast, and he felt that for many years to come they would ring out, and, as they had been reminded in the sermon, would say of his father, 'He being dead yet speaketh' (applause).

The bells were available to ringers throughout the evening, and various bands rang touches of Stedman Cinques, while others used them in rounds and queens.

There were many apologies for absence. Mrs. Laura Snowden and Miss Snowden, of Cartmel, Lancs., in expressing sorrow that they could not be present, added that 'the memory of a very gracious and dear friend will be in their minds as they rejoice with you in so befitting a memorial at Tewkesbury.'

A letter was also received on behalf of Mr. R. K. Knight, of Leytonstone, who, having been practically bedridden for the past eleven years, was quite unable to accept the invitation. His daughter wrote: 'He personally knew the Rev. C. D. P. Davies and was acquainted with many of the founders of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. Although he is now in his 80th year, he takes the keenest interest in bellringers and bellringing. He sends his kind regards and warm thanks, and wishes every success to the gathering; his thoughts will be very much with you all.'

A RECORD COUNCIL MEETING.

The Central Council meeting at Warwick last week revealed the continued interest which members take in the proceedings, and produced the best attendance recorded at a provincial meeting. Never before, outside London, had the number present touched three figures. Throughout a fairly long session interest was retained, fostered probably by the great variety of matters which came up for consideration. The first effects of the new rules also showed themselves in the saving of time over the committees' reports. Hitherto most of these have had to be read to the meeting, but the operation of the new code resulted in the members having printed or typed copies in their hands before the meeting began. The benefits, as the president pointed out, are twofold. Much time is saved and the members get a far greater grip of the matters dealt with.

Even a brief review of all the points of interest in the meeting is impossible in this one article, and we shall have opportunity of referring to some of them later, but if there are any who still doubt the use of the Central Council—the number must be extremely few in these days—we would direct their attention to the librarian's report alone. The number of publications sold during the year was nearly 3,000, and, but for the Council, it is safe to say little or none of this material, valuable to ringers from so many different aspects, but all directed to fostering the art, encouraging the study of it, and giving guidance on the care and use of church bells, would have been available. No individual, however interested, would undertake the risk of publishing these varied works, or, if they would, do it at the bare cost of printing. It is only through an official body like the Council that such work can be carried on, and the help of the best brains in the Exercise secured. And what does it cost the associations? In fees, from five shillings to a pound a year, according to the size of their membership. What more they spend in defraying the expenses of their representatives is for themselves to decide, but the work of the Council is done on the affiliation fees alone.

Moreover, this side of the Council's work is not standing still. Three new publications were authorised at Warwick. A 'Collection of Triples Methods' on the lines of those relating to Doubles and Minor, and Plain Major and Caters, is to appear at once. A collection of peal compositions in a number of methods—a companion which every conductor and would-be conductor will be glad to have—and a pamphlet dealing with the somewhat vexed question of peal variation are to be prepared and printed. These are some of the very practical outcomes of the Council's work. It is work which calls for a great expenditure of thought and time, given ungrudgingly by members who labour without recompense for the love of the art, but it is work which can only be brought within the reach of ringers through the agency of the Central Council. Except to the most prejudiced, this alone justifies the existence of the Council, but the days when it is necessary to justify the Council are rapidly passing. The Warwick meeting, at which forty-one associations and guilds were represented, is the best answer to what few scoffers remain.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*NEW MASTER APPOINTED.*Mr. C. H. Howard Retires After 25 Years in Office.

The 55th annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford on Whit Monday, and was largely attended by ringers from all parts of the diocese. The meeting had added interest by reason of the resignation of the former Master, Mr. C. H. Howard, who had held the post for 25 years. Mr. Howard was prevented by illness from being present, but a letter was read from him. By a vote Mr. E. P. Duffield, of Colchester, Master of the North-Eastern Division, was elected to succeed Mr. Howard as Master of the association.

Service was held at the Cathedral in the morning. Canon Morrow, the Provost, officiated, and read the lesson. The ringers' form of service was used, the hymns sung being 'The sacred bells of England' and 'Ring out, wild bells.' The address was given by Canon I. L. Seymour, Vicar of All Saints', Maldon, who spoke from the words, 'Here am I, send me.' He said it afforded him a real pleasure to accept the invitation of the Provost to take part in the service in the Cathedral, and he felt it an honour to be associated with the 55th annual meeting of the Essex ringers. For over half a century the association had rendered service, and no doubt some present had taken part in its inception. The preacher deeply regretted the absence of Mr. Howard. As a prominent layman in the diocese, the name of Mr. Howard would never be forgotten by Essex ringers, who had a great affection for him and the greatest confidence in his abilities as master of the craft. Peal ringing was a consecrated hobby; ringers were looked upon as engaged in Church work, in partnership in God's service. Team work and co-operation were essentially features of bellringing.

Luncheon was served at the Golden Fleece Hotel, there being a crowded attendance, and the annual business meeting followed. Mr. F. J. Pittsow, hon. secretary and treasurer to the association, reported that Mr. Howard was unavoidably absent, due to illness, and he proposed that the Provost of the Cathedral should preside till a new Master was appointed. This was carried.

Canon Morrow, in taking the chair, said he was very sorry for the circumstances which caused him to preside. He deeply regretted the absence of Mr. Howard, and referred to the great work Mr. Howard had done as Master of the Association. His influence in the Church had far-reaching effect throughout the diocese and county.

THE REPORT.

Mr. Pittsow presented the report for last year as follows: It is with the greatest regret I have to inform you that through a nervous breakdown the Master of the association (Mr. C. H. Howard) is unable to present the 55th annual report. For a great number of years Mr. Howard has sacrificed holidays, pleasure and even business for public service, taking the keenest interest in all his undertakings, and especially with regard to this association. His genial disposition, tact and pleasing personality in the belfry and at any gathering of ringers has undoubtedly been the means of promoting the welfare of the association, and in extending to him our grateful thanks we hope and trust that he may have a speedy recovery. That excellent motto, 'Proderse, Quim Conspica' (It is far better to be of service than merely to be seen) can be truly attributed to him.

The past year has again been successful, the membership being 1,188, a slight decrease on the previous year, accounted for by several names being struck out through non-payment of subscriptions. The towers in union with the association now number 110.

After referring to the meetings held during the year, the report added that the high standard of ringing by members of the association was well maintained, and exceeded all previous records. One hundred and thirty-one peals were rung, of which 116 were on tower bells, in the following methods: Cambridge Maximus and Cambridge Royal 1 each, Grandsire Caters and Stedman Caters 1 each, London Surprise Major 5, Spliced Major in four Surprise methods 1, Cambridge 21, Bristol 4, Superlative 12, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 3, Kent Treble Bob Major 15, Oxford 4, Bob Major 7, Stedman Triples 1, Grandsire Triples 4, Minor methods 26 and Doubles 3.

Miss Elsie Pettitt had the honour of being the first lady to take part in a peal of Bristol Surprise Major in the county, and for the association, and Miss Hilda Snowden rang two Surprise Major methods in one day. The conducting was shared by thirty-five members, Mr. W. Keeble again heading the list with fifty-five. During the year they had lost by death Mr. J. Wag-horn, sen., the oldest active ringer in the county, and for a great number of years a member of the association; also Mr. E. Scrivener, of Dunmow, an old and very loyal member.

In the belfry improvements, the peal of six at Dagenham was recast and rehung on ball bearings; and the peal at High Ongar was augmented to six and rehung in up-to-date fittings. A treble has been added to the peal at Danbury.

The financial statement was not quite so favourable as the one presented for the previous year. The total income was £62 15s. 8d., against £69 15s. 7d., the decrease being to a great extent due to the reductions in offertories for the Bell Restoration Fund £3 15s. 8d., compared with £6 11s. 7d. Expenses were £54 2s. 4d., as against £50 7s. 11d., the difference being accounted for by the additional cost of advertisements and extra necessary printing costs. Only one grant of £5 5s. was made from the Bell Restoration Fund to Wanstead. Such fund now amounts to £42 15s. 8d. The general fund, after meeting all liabilities, showed a credit balance of £27 15s. 5d. The total assets as shown in the statement of accounts amount to: Reserve fund £240 18s. 10d. and general account £27 15s. 5d., making a total of £268 14s. 3d., which is most satisfactory.

The report concluded by expressing indebtedness to the district Masters and secretaries for the keen interest they had taken during the past year, and extending thanks to the auditors, general committee and representatives on the Central Council and the tower correspondents.

REFERENDUM IN ABEYANCE.

Mr. L. Wiffen inquired what had happened with the referendum which was to have been taken of the members on the proposal to alter the name of the Essex Association of Change Ringers to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild of Ringers.

Mr. Pitstow replied that with the Master so ill it was decided to allow that matter to remain in abeyance for the present time.

Mr. E. P. Duffield moved an amendment of Rule IV. of the association in order to allow Mr. Howard to be elected a vice-president of the association, and also to include the Provost of Chelmsford Cathedral. He said the desire was to show appreciation of Mr. Howard's work as Master for 25 years and the splendid way he discharged the duties of that office.—Mr. E. J. Butler seconded, and the amendment was unanimously agreed to.

The Provost, in returning thanks, said the effect of his election was to link the Cathedral of Chelmsford with the ringers of Essex.

THE MASTERSHIP.

Mr. Pitstow read a letter from Mr. Howard stating that he very much appreciated the suggestion that he should continue as Master, with a deputy to carry on the duties, but he felt it would not be in the interests of the association to accept the honour. Although he was making progress, it was very slow, and it would be some time before he could resume normal habits. He thanked the members for the loyal support accorded him during the 25 years he had been Master. He would continue to take a keen interest in the association, and hoped to be able to attend some of the meetings.

Mr. G. Dent proposed, and Mr. G. Faulkner seconded, that Mr. E. P. Duffield be Master of the association.—Mr. G. Green proposed, and Mr. W. Keeble seconded, that Dr. Spencer Phillips be Master.—The vote was taken by a show of hands, and Mr. Duffield was elected by a majority.—The new Master then took the chair.

Mr. Alfred Pye said the members appreciated Dr. Spencer Phillips' action in standing for the Mastership, and they recognised his work for the association.

TALK OF 'CLEAVAGE' DEPRECATED.

The new Master said he realised the difficulty in following Mr. Howard and the tradition he had established. He appreciated the confidence shown by his election. He would not take any active part in the proposed referendum on the question whether the name of the association be changed to Chelmsford Diocesan Guild of Ringers, or whether it remain as at present. He had heard rumours that the question of changing the name was going to mean the breaking up of the association. It was distressing even to visualise such a state of affairs. To some the proposed change of name seemed vital, but to him it was not quite so vital. He asked those who thought it would possibly mean a cleavage in the association to consider if it would not be poor sport if they could not accept the decision of a majority in this matter. He hoped to hear no talk about leaving the association because members could not agree on the matter of the change of name. The committee did not want such a momentous decision to be taken at a time when Mr. Howard was compelled to withdraw his services from the association. The question would come up again when the decision was announced, and he hoped to hear no more of the talk he had alluded to (hear, hear).

The officers were then re-elected, including the Bishop of Chelmsford, president; Mr. F. J. Pitstow, hon. secretary and treasurer; Dr. Spencer Phillips, Messrs. W. Keeble, W. Lincoln, F. Dench, G. Green, the Master, secretary, District Masters, secretaries and auditors, general committee: Messrs. G. L. Joyce, G. R. Pye, W. Keeble, F. Dench, Peal Committee; Messrs. C. H. Howard, G. R. Pye, W. J. Nevard and E. J. Butler, representatives on Central Council; Messrs. W. H. Theobald and G. W. Faulkner, auditors.

The Master was elected trustee in succession to the late Mr. T. Faulkner. Mr. Stanley Hill (Feering) was elected a ringing member of the association.

Mr. Butler asked that conductors of peals in the various towers would see that full names and initials of ringers taking part in peals should be inserted in the reports sent to 'The Ringing World,' as those were the official reports for the association.

Mr. Caleb Fenn said of fourteen handbell peals last year only one had two umpires. Would it be possible to have umpires at all such peals?

The Master said the rules did not lay down anything definite about umpires. This would open a very wide field of discussion.

The Master proposed, and Mr. Dent seconded, thanks to those who took part in the service at the Cathedral, and all the incumbents of the various parishes for the use of bells.

During the day there was ringing on the bells at the Cathedral (12), Whittle, Widford, Galleywood, Boreham, Great Baddow, Great Waltham (all eight), Broomfield and Springfield (six).

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On Whit Monday six members of the Herts Association rang four peals of Minor in the day. In the twenty-eight 720's eleven methods were included, and there were four conductors.

On Easter Monday, 1913, a similar feat was accomplished by members of the Kent County Association, but in that case all the peals were conducted by Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins (now of St. Ebbe's, Oxford).

Four peals in different Surprise Major methods were rung by the Middlesex Association on Easter Monday, 1914, at Egham and Chertsey, Surrey; Staines, Middlesex; and Old Windsor, Berks. They were all conducted by Mr. William Pyc.

After the peal at King's Norton, rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. C. Howard Stanley, the band and other friends were kindly entertained to tea at the Bull's Head Hotel. A very pleasant evening was spent, and the musical items included 'The Diver,' by Mr. Harry Withers and company.

The band at Kelvedon, Essex, after the peal on Whit Monday, enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. W. Elliott; while the company who rang the peal at Danbury on the previous Saturday were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shadrack.

Major J. H. B. Hesse, of Haslemere, met with an accident in London on Wednesday week, after returning from the Central Council meetings. He was knocked down by a bus, and received an injury to his leg which is confining him to his room.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT AT WIMBLEDON.

A very pleasant meeting of the North-Western District was held at Wimbledon on Saturday, May 26th, about 30 ringers attending from Banstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Chelsea, Feltham, Hampstead, Holborn, Kingsbury, Leatherhead, Mitcham (SS. Peter and Paul and Christ Church), Merton, Putney, Reigate and Wimbledon. Ringing took place on the light ring of eight bells, and various methods were rung during the afternoon. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. H. Phelps), assisted by the curate (Rev. D. G. Smith). The Vicar gave a very inspiring address, in the course of which he warmly welcomed the association to Wimbledon, saying what a pleasure it always was to him whenever he heard the bells ringing.

Tea was served in the Welcome Hall, and was followed by the business meeting, at which the Rev. D. G. Smith presided. Three new ringing members were elected.

The meeting heartily congratulated Master Arthur Jones ('Tich'), of St. Peter's, Croydon, on the successful achievement of the 'Youngsters' peal at Crayford on April 21st, he being one of the youngest members of the band.

The meeting closed with a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service; to the curate for assisting and presiding at meeting; to the organist; and to Mr. Taylor, the local secretary, for making the arrangements.

Wimbledon tower was again open for ringing after tea for a short period. The five bells at St. Mary's, Merton, were also available until 9 p.m., and some of the expert and experienced ringers found a little difficulty in ringing Double on this light ring of five, especially at the end.

Will members please make a note that the next meeting is to be held jointly with the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Rammore Common, Dorking, on Saturday, July 28th.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The May meeting of the society was held at St. Oswald's Church, Guiseley. This is an ideal place for a summer meeting. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening.

The business meeting was held in the tower, the president being chairman. One new member was elected—Master Eddie Marsden, of Batley. Eddie is only 13 years old, the youngest member of the society, and shapes very well.

There was some discussion with regard to the place of the June meeting, and members are requested to watch the notice columns of this paper for the details of the next meeting.

Guiseley is at present without a Rector, and so the usual vote of thanks was proposed to the curate-in-charge, the churchwardens and to the local company by Mr. A. Armitage, and seconded by Mr. E. Hudson.—Mr. C. Walsh replied on behalf of the local ringers.

Members were present from Armley, Batley, Burley, Calverley, Earlsheaton, Felkirk, Holbeck, Idle, Ossett, Pudsey, Ripon, Rothwell, Shipley, Bradford Cathedral, Dowsbury and Guiseley.

When the tower would not accommodate all the visitors, Mr. C. Walsh, one of the local ringers and a member of the Parochial Council of St. Oswald's, escorted a number of visitors round the Rectory gardens.

MEMORIAL WINDOW DEDICATED

A stirring service was held at Holy Trinity Church, Llandudno, on Saturday afternoon, when Lt.-General Sir Charles Macpherson Dobell, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., unveiled and the Bishop of Bangor dedicated the 17th Batt. Royal Welch Fusiliers' memorial window. Touches of Grandioso Triples and Bob Major were rung before and after service by: Mrs. Owen, Mrs. Wolstencroft, Miss D. Brown, and Messrs. S. Brown, A. E. Pegler, sen., A. E. Pegler, jun., A. Fairlie, R. Fairlie, A. Hodgson, Hingley, A. Midwinter and W. W. Wolstencroft.

THE DAVIES MEMORIAL.

THE CHAPEL AND THE BELLS.

This photograph shows the furnishing of St. Dunstan's Chapel, Tewkesbury Abbey, which is part of the memorial to the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies. The tablet on the right is that which is to be fixed in the belfry. The stained-glass window is the memorial to Mr. Davies' father (Rev. C. G. Davies), a former Vicar of Tewkesbury.

THE MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

Copies of this and other photographs taken at the Tewkesbury gathering can be obtained from Mr. E. Guise, 46, St. Michael's Hill, Bristol, 2, price 6d. each, plus 1½d. each supply for postage.

HISTORY OF THE BELLS.

BY E. DENISON TAYLOR.

There must have been bells hanging in this Norman tower possibly from the period of its erection, but of these ancient ones—that is, before 1696—all trace is lost, unless indeed the Abbey registers contain records there ament.

However, in 1696, the protagonist of the long and honourable line of Rudhalls, the first Abraham Rudhall, cast the ring of eight for the Abbey, of which eight only three survive to-day, and whether or no into his eight bells the good Abraham recast any ancient ones I cannot say, for I fear 1696 was a period when people were not archaeologically minded, and simply they could not deem it of any interest to carry forward a record of ancient things previously existing. I don't think that it was any sense of disrespect, but they did not realise that the old 'stuff' could be of any concern to anyone.

Anyway I should say that when Abraham Rudhall cast and hung the peal here in 1696 that would probably be the inception of change ringing in Tewkesbury. As a matter of history that year was about

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

MARLBOROUGH BRANCH MISSIONARY MEETING.

With the object of endeavouring to persuade the local band of ringers to join the Guild, a well attended meeting of the Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Ramsbury on Saturday, May 26th. The towers represented included Marlborough St. Mary's, Chiseldon, Aldbourne, Ramsbury, Ogbourne St. George and Chilton Foliat, while visitors were present from Devizes and Newbury. Service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. Hackett, and tea was partaken of in the Parish Hall, about thirty sitting down.

The Vicar welcomed the ringers to his parish, and expressed the hope that they would pay another visit in the near future.

Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, chairman of the Devizes Branch, spoke of the friendly spirit which existed among all bands of ringers, and urged the Ramsbury men to join the Guild.

After tea the Devizes ringers rang touches of Triples and several tunes on their handbells, for which they were heartily applauded. Methods rung on the tower bells during the afternoon and evening included Cambridge, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor, Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles, with rounds and call changes for the less experienced members of the party.

MINOR RINGERS ON COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry Mr. Pulling thinks that I am giving a wrong impression to other Guilds, but I have, on more than one occasion in my life, found it impossible to give 'wrong impressions' to other folk when they have been equally aware of the facts of the case as myself, and I take it, Sir, that the 'other guilds' are all fully aware as to whether they have, or not, a Minor ringer as one of their representatives on the Central Council. Under such circumstances I fail to see how any 'wrong impression' can be given. As to 'not playing the game,' I must ask Mr. Pulling to apply that accusation to himself. People who read only his statement as to what I said will certainly be given a 'wrong impression.' I certainly did not say 'that no one from a six-bell tower is good enough for the Central Council.' Such a statement is altogether against my opinion. When we write to the Press we must be prepared for criticism, of course, but I ask Mr. Pulling to criticise what I did say, and not what I did not say.

Certainly I know that my own Guild has a six-bell man as one of its representatives. My contention is that Minor ringers are inadequately represented on the Central Council, and quoting isolated cases will not disprove that statement.

Cranleigh.

ROBERT WHITTINGTON.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

At Whitechurch, Canonicham, Dorset, on Saturday, May 26th, after an attempt for a peal had failed owing to a shift course, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes, from Holt's Original): C. H. Lathey 1, J. E. Philbrick 2, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 3, E. P. Bailey 4, C. W. H. Powell 5, G. H. Whitmore 6, F. Price 7, W. G. Sartin 8. First quarter-peal in the method on the bells and rung in honour of the birthday of Her Majesty the Queen.

On Saturday, May 26th, for the birthday of Queen Mary, at Stanton Drew, Somerset, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) was rung after a peal had been lost. It was the first quarter-peal on the bells: Cæsar Davis 1, Jeffrey Tossell 2, Ernest Tossell 3, Leonard Derrick 4, F. Cecil Mogford (conductor) 5.

TEWKESBURY ABBEY BELLS—continued from previous column. midway through the reign of William of Orange, otherwise William III., and shortly after the demise of his wife, Mary. You will recall that during her life they reigned as equal sovereigns, William and Mary.

But very soon trouble must have arisen in the belfry, otherwise why should the 7th of the eight, now the 11th of twelve, bear the date 1717—that was in the reign of George I.? Something must have gone wrong, and only 21 years after the installation of the peal; and again eight years later, in 1725, the 2nd of the eight, now the 6th of the twelve, was recast—in both instances by the original founder, the first Abraham Rudhall.

In 1743 the treble of the eight, now the 5th of the twelve, appears to have succumbed and, the good Abraham having passed away, this was recast by Abel Rudhall. This would be in the reign of George II., and the year is of interest as it is the date of the battle of Dettingen, wherein George II. showed great bravery and sagacity, and it was the last battle in which a King of England took a personal share.

There was no further calamity in the belfry for nearly a century, not until 1837, the year of the accession of good Queen Victoria, and then the 5th and tenor of eight were recast, the former suffering again as recently as 1914.

Your last issue gives details of the work done in the additions to and the restoration of the peal, in commemoration of one of the most esteemed members of the Exercise, and it is to be hoped that this work will carry his honoured name down through centuries to come.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL. CIVIC AND ECCLESIASTICAL WELCOME.

The Business Meeting at Warwick.

In our last issue we gave a summary of the proceedings of the Central Council at Warwick on Whitsun Tuesday. To-day we begin the more detailed report of the business meeting, held in the Court House, and which, with an interval for lunch, lasted from 11 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. Eighty-eight elected representatives were present from 41 out of 51 affiliated societies, and 12 out of 14 honorary members also attended.

When the Council assembled, Alderman Malins, Deputy Mayor, with whom was Alderman W. T. Collier, expressed regret at the absence of the Mayor of Warwick, who was detained by another engagement. On his behalf and on behalf of the inhabitants of Warwick, Alderman Malins extended a warm welcome to the Council. He hoped when they had finished the conference they would find much in Warwick that would still interest them, and that when they left they would carry away pleasant memories.

The Lord Bishop of Coventry offered the Council a similar welcome on behalf of the Church in the diocese of Coventry, in which they were met. Originally in the diocese of Lichfield, which was one of the oldest and largest dioceses in England, stretching from North Lancashire down to Oxford, with three centres—Coventry, Lichfield and Chester—Warwickshire, only a hundred years ago was placed in the diocese of Worcester, but in 1918 the diocese of Coventry was founded, so like the hymn book the diocese was both ancient and modern, and it was one of the happiest, most united and best dioceses in England (applause). Continuing, the Bishop said he did not know much about bells and the mysterious personalities of bellringers, but he was lent a little book of 'Rules and Decisions of the Council,' and he confessed that his brain was going round in circles after glancing through it. In that part of the country they knew something about what hunting meant, and even what coursing meant, and possibly some people knew a little about 'doubles' (laughter) and even surprises, but when those things were transferred to the church tower and became mixed up with leads, peals and Triples, some of them, he confessed, felt they had 'bats in the belfry' (laughter). The Bishop went on to say that they had some interesting old bells in their Warwickshire churches, two at least of the 13th century at Hasemere and Oldberrow, and added that, although he knew little about bells, his heart always went up when he heard a good peal rung.

BELLS AND THE PUBLIC.

Bellringers, said the Bishop, had the high vocation of linking the parson and church-going folk with the great multitudes of those who did not go to church—the world and the Church met in the oddest way in the church towers. It was true some people complained, and some even cursed and swore, when they heard church bells rung, but there were many whose thoughts were turned to higher things when they heard the sounds of the church bells. He welcomed the ringers to that diocese; he hoped their ministry would long flourish, and that there would never be wanting a due supply of those younger men to take their place. He hoped they would enjoy their stay in Warwick, and that their discussions would give them both pleasure and profit (applause).

The President thanked Alderman Malins and the Lord Bishop for their welcome and the civic authorities for placing that beautiful room at their disposal. The art of ringing went far back into history, and they liked to retain old traditions and to meet, if possible, in an old building with historic associations, which seemed to be a fitting setting for their gatherings. They regretted that the Mayor was not able to be with them, but they would not like to feel that if he had been present they would have missed the presence of Alderman Malins. The members of the Council very much appreciated the old town of Warwick. Many of them had already seen a good deal of the town and district, and found it a most enjoyable place; they had also been ringing on some of the historic bells in the district. Mr. Lewis added that they very much appreciated having the Lord Bishop to welcome them, because it was one of their main ideals to emphasise the official position of ringers in the Church, and they very much appreciated it when high authorities of the Church recognised that fact and came to welcome them. The Bishop had referred to the fact that some people were sometimes driven to cursing and swearing when they heard the sound of church bells. That was one of the problems with which the Council had been trying to deal, because they believed that most of that inappropriate language (laughter) was caused when the bells were not properly rung. There were very few of the public—a very small minority—who could not listen to bells with a certain amount of pleasure, provided the bells were rung properly, but ringers themselves could quite understand the objection some people had to bells when they were jangled. That was one of the ideals the Council set before themselves, and would have to do so more in the future. In these days of nerves, when the public could not stand noise, they had to set before them the ideal of having the bells rung in perfect rhythm and what ringers called 'good striking.' If they did that they would have accomplished a good deal to remove one of the great causes of annoyance to the public (applause).

At the request of the president, the Bishop then offered prayer, and he and the Deputy Mayor, with Alderman Collier, afterwards withdrew.

BUSINESS BEGINS.

The business opened with a report by the hon. secretary on the constitution of the Council. There was, he said, no alteration in the membership of the Council, which was composed of 51 associations, represented by 128 members. The honorary members numbered 14, making a total of 142. The only subscription unpaid was that of the Shropshire Association.

The President said three honorary members retired this year, viz., Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. S. H. Wood. There was one vacancy, left by resolution of the Council last year. The Standing Committee recommended that the three retiring honorary members should be re-elected, and they also recommended that Mr. E. C. S. Turner be elected to the vacant place, kept for an emergency.

Mr. F. M. Mitchell proposed, and Mr. W. A. Cave seconded, the adoption of the Standing Committee's recommendation.

Mr. P. J. Johnson asked for information about Mr. Turner, who was unknown to many of the Council.

The President said Mr. Turner was a member of the Middlesex Association and lived in Middlesex. His election was recommended by the Standing Committee in order that his services might be available on the Methods Committee. That committee would shortly be engaged on the preparation of a 'Collection of Surprise Major Methods,' and this was work which Mr. Turner was capable of doing.

The elections were agreed to nem. con.

The President next expressed regret that during the past year the Council had lost one member and two old members by death. The member was Mr. J. D. Matthews, Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths, who had been a member of the Council since 1912, and had been present at six meetings. He was, said the President, what one might call one of the 'silent' members, but he (the President) did not consider that because a man was silent at a meeting he was not doing good work for the Council in other ways. They were very sorry to hear of Mr. Matthews' death. The Council was represented at the funeral, and a letter was written by the hon. secretary to the relatives and a wreath was sent on behalf of the Council. They had also lost an old member in the Rev. A. T. Beeston, who represented the Chester Guild from 1911 to 1926, and was an honorary member from 1927 to 1929. During that time he was present at 14 meetings and only missed three. He was on the Analysis Committee, and was secretary of his own Guild from 1907 to 1926 and treasurer from 1908 to 1932. Mr. Beeston was also somewhat of a silent member, as far as speeches were concerned, but he did an extraordinary amount of work for the Exercise and the Council in his own quiet way. He (the president) knew him very well for eight years, while he was residing in Cheshire, and appreciated his friendship very much indeed. He was a delightful man in his quiet way. Before being ordained he had been in business and had a great capacity for figures, and his setting out of methods and his work in compiling the analysis and all his secretarial work was a model of what such things should be. He was so impressed by what Mr. Beeston did that he was partly responsible for getting him kept on the Council. In the old days the Chester Guild sent two members to the Council, and the various branches took it in turn to elect them, so that the Council representatives could never be more than semi-permanent. He (the president) got that changed by getting the Chester Guild to send three members, one of which should be the secretary, which meant that the Council was able to retain Mr. Beeston's services on the Council. In addition to serving on the Analysis Committee, Mr. Beeston was one of the first members of the Records Committee, on which he did a lot of work in compiling the old records. Unfortunately they did not know of his death until a little time afterwards, so no action was taken at the time, but he thought the Council would like to authorise the secretary to write a letter to the widow. They had also lost Mr. Joseph Waghorn, sen., who was a representative of the Royal Cumberland Youths from 1897 to 1908, and was present at 12 meetings, which was the highest possible. Mr. Waghorn was a very old ringer and one of the oldest members of his society. There again they did not know of his death in time to take official action, and they would, he was sure, like to send a letter to the relatives. The Council regretted the loss of these three gentlemen who had done so much for the Council in the past, and he asked the members to stand in the usual way.

The Council stood in silence for a few moments.

THE 'STEDMAN' BELLS.

Arising out of the minutes of the last meeting, which, having been circulated, were taken as read and confirmed, with the addition of the name of Mr. F. W. Rogers to the list of new members presented to the president, Mr. E. M. Atkins asked what action was taken on the resolution expressing the hope that the Stedman bells (at St. Bene't's, Cambridge) 'would be rung regularly to the glory of God by a local band of ringers.'

The Hon. Secretary said the matter was referred to the Ely Diocesan Association, as in the event of any restriction being placed on the ringing of the bells by the Church authorities, the matter could be more conveniently dealt with by the local association than by the Council.

The Rev. E. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, who is hon. secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association, said attention was drawn to the resolution at the annual meeting on Easter Monday. The meeting duly considered it and left it lying on the table.

Coming to the business of dealing with the committee's reports, the President reminded the members that under the new rules all reports of committees had to be sent in fourteen days before the meeting. Some of them had been, and had consequently been circulated to the members. Others which had come in since had been circulated that day. The whole idea was to save the time of the meeting, and secondly, which was more important, that by having them in the hands of the members beforehand they might come forward with, perhaps, more constructive criticism than was possible if they had only just heard the reports read a moment before.

THE COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS.

The following report was presented by the hon. librarian:—

'This has been a year of great activity in the library. Firstly, about 11 cwt. of books had to find a new home; then, secondly, the publication of "Hints" awoke a large demand. Nearly 3,000 sales must surely be a record for one year. A vast quantity of books remain in stock, and seems to be wanted at a very slow rate. Various smaller publications, such as "The Law of Church Bells," will probably want reprinting during the coming year. The Method Sheets of Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples became exhausted and had to be reprinted. I would suggest a smaller size of sheet which might be carried conveniently in a ringer's pocket, costing one penny.

'The most interesting series of letters were from an officer in the Indian Navy asking for help so that the bells at Colaba might be chimed in proper changes. Sales during 1933-34 included: Glossary 24 (left in stock 968), Rules and Decisions 8 (30), Collection of Peals No. 1 9 (199), ditto No. 2 7 (404), ditto No. 3 2 (601), Plain Major and Caters 8 (135), Doubles and Minor 44 (102), Corrigenda Leaflets 1, Model Rules for a Local Company 28 (92), Report of Conference, S.P.A.B. 3 (245), Card of Instructions 26 (374), On the Preservation of Bells (limp) 7 (97), ditto (stiff) 10 (29), The Law of Church Bells 39 (54), Method Sheets, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, 55 (475), ditto, Cambridge Surprise, 19 (140), ditto, Double Norwich and Cambridge Court, 26 (24), ditto, Bristol, 41 (126), Bell Towers and Hanging 2, (1), Hints for Instructors 2,562 (1,438). The total sales were 2,921, amounting to £35 12s. 10d., with 5,524 copies of publications, valued at £185 4s. 4d., left in stock.'

After deducting expenses and cost of advertising a balance of £24 0s. 10d. was available for the general fund.

WORKS FOR THE LIBRARY.

In moving the adoption of the report the Hon. Librarian said when he took over the publications they could imagine his consternation when he had 11 cwt. of literature dumped upon him. They had been able to reduce it considerably, but he hoped it would be possible to reduce it still more considerably. He omitted, in writing the report to mention that Mrs. Jenkyn had kindly presented to the Council's library copies of 'The Ringing World' up to 1932. They were deeply indebted to her for these copies. Mr. Fletcher had kindly given a copy for last year. They had acquired by purchase a copy of the County Bell History of Lincolnshire, and at the meeting of the Standing Committee on the previous evening they were offered copies of other county histories. He commended to anyone who had spare copies of any of the county volumes on bells that it was very desirable that the Central Council should possess such copies, so that information might be accessible to any who desired to ascertain the history of the bells of any particular tower. If there were any members of the Council who were also members of the Diocesan Advisory Committees they would know how valuable it was to be able to lay hands beforehand on information about the age of bells in order to know whether it was desirable or not to have them recast. Therefore the more county histories the Council could accumulate the better; the more by gift the better still. There was to be a recommendation put before them that they should be empowered to buy, where possible, County histories.

The adoption of the report was seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.

The President said the Standing Committee recommended that the hon. librarian should be given power to renew stocks of books in common demand, and that the sum of £5 be available in any one year for the purchase of books for the library; also that the officers might, at their discretion, reduce the price of surplus stocks. One or two of their publications were getting rather low, and the librarian would like to have their authority to reprint them as considered necessary. There were certain large stocks of old publications, and they would also like the Council's authority to open a 'bargain basement' (laughter).

Mr. E. W. Marsh said £5 would not go very far in the purchase of county histories.

The President: We must limit the amount; our funds are not inexhaustible.

The recommendations of the Standing Committee were agreed to and the librarian's report was adopted.

COUNCIL'S FINANCES

The Hon. Secretary and Treasurer presented the statement of the Council's accounts. The receipts were made up as follows: Balance, Whitsun, 1933, £67 12s. 2d.; subscriptions, arrears 1932-33, £1, 1933-34, £31 10s.; hon. members, £2 2s. 6d.; interest, £5; sale of publications, £24 0s. 10d.; total, £131 5s. 6d. Expenses: Publications, £23 15s.; Library, purchase of 'Church Bells of Lincolnshire,' 16s. 9d.; memorials voted at last meeting, Sir A. P. Heywood £10 10s., Rev. H. Law James £5 5s., Mr. Edwin Barnett £3 3s., Mr. Henry W. Wilde £3 5s., carriage, packing and insurance of library and publications £6 10s. 9d., advertising £1 18s. 6d.; stationery and printing, £6 8s.; other items, £5 3s. 8d.; balance, £34 11s. 9d. The Council's investments consist of £71 3/4 per cent. Conversion Stock and £63 0s. 9d. Consolidated Stock. The Treasurer stated that the income was short this year of the subscriptions of the Shropshire Association and the St. Clement Youths. The St. Clement Youths' subscription was paid on May 19th, but the Shropshire Association subscription was not paid.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, one of the auditors, proposed the adoption of the accounts, and congratulated the secretary upon the clear way in which they were set out, which made the audit an easy matter (applause).

Mr. J. H. Swinfield seconded, and the accounts were adopted.

The President said under the new rules the Council had, at each triennial meeting, to appoint two auditors, but as they had not come to their first London meeting under the new rules they had got to appoint auditors for the remaining period. The Standing Committee recommended that Messrs. A. A. Hughes and C. T. Coles be elected auditors to serve until the next London meeting.

The recommendation was agreed to.

RINGING MACHINES.

Mr. E. A. Young presented the report of the trustees of the Carter Ringing Machine, now in the Science Museum, South Kensington. It was demonstrated on April 28th, and found to be in working order. Mr. Young said he was quite satisfied with the way the machine worked. It worked quite as well as in the previous year, and rang a plain course of Grandsire Cinques. A few weeks later a visit was paid by employees of the Instrument Makers Company. They were men highly acquainted with mechanical and electrical mechanism, and made some shrewd comments with regard to the machine. He (Mr. Young) was very satisfied with the way in which the machine was being looked after, and he congratulated the Council on the fact that the machine had been placed in the safe custody of the Museum.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, Mr. Young's co-trustee, seconded the report, which was adopted, and the demonstrator's fee ordered to be paid.

Canon Elsee mentioned that there was another ringing machine already in working order, and now being put into an improved form. It was a machine invented by Mr. G. F. Woodhouse, of Sedburgh, Yorks. Some members of the Council, he believed, had seen it. Mr. Woodhouse was an ex-schoolmaster, who, with more leisure, was devoting himself to working in science. He had been for many years a keen ringer, and had invented this ringing machine, which had already rung 104 methods of Doubles, Minor, Triples and Major. If the Council would care to see it, Mr. Woodhouse would be ready to attend at the next Council meeting and bring the machine with him and give a demonstration (applause). He (Canon Elsee) believed that Mr. Woodhouse's machine was somewhat simpler in construction than the Carter machine, but the best proof would be if the members saw it for themselves. He was sure it would give the members much pleasure and interest.

The Rev. E. H. Tyrwhitt Drake said the machine not only rang the methods but printed a diagram at the same time.

The President moved that the Council accept Mr. Woodhouse's kind offer to exhibit the machine at the next meeting. He added that he did not know why Mr. Woodhouse had not been a member of the Council. He was a most capable man.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards: He has never been free at Whitsuntide.

The President's motion was agreed to, and the members inspected with interest a photograph of the machine and diagrams which it had produced, which were passed round by Canon Elsee.

STANDING COMMITTEE

It was reported that the Standing Committee, at their meetings on Monday evening and Tuesday morning, had considered the agenda and various recommendations had been or would be placed before the Council. The 'Collection of Triples Methods' had been received from the Methods Committee, and 750 copies had been ordered to be printed. With regard to the vacancy on the Standing Committee, caused by the death of Mr. J. D. Matthews, the committee recommended that Mr. E. Denison Taylor be asked to fill the vacancy.

The President moved the adoption of the report, which was agreed to, and Mr. Taylor, in expressing thanks for his election to the committee, said he would do all in his power to help the Central Council in its work.

A CORRECTION.

Through an error, Mr. C. Moe was stated in the summary of the meeting in our last issue to have opposed the recognition of the Bankes James Arrangement of peals of Minor. Actually he supported it on behalf of Suffolk ringers. Mr. W. A. Cave, also, did not oppose the motion.

DEATH OF MR. F. W. H. SERGISON.*SECRETARY OF ST. CLEMENT'S YOUTHS.

We announce with regret the death of Mr. Francis William Henry Sergison, secretary of St. Clement's Youths, London. He passed away at the age of 48 on May 23rd, after eight months' painful illness. The deceased was closely associated with the historic parish of St. Clement Danes, Strand, and, though it was only in later years that he had become one of its church bellringers, he had fulfilled many important parochial offices with ability since 1904. At the time of his death he was its representative on the Deanery of Westminster Committee of Finance. He was also a manager of St. Clement Danes' Parish Schools and secretary of St. Clement Danes' Social and Benevolent Society.

Some 12 years ago Mr. Sergison took up ringing, and helped to form the local St. Clement's Youths. He also became a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the London County Association and of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, with which he rang his first peal at Southampton in 1925.

The funeral took place at Wembley on Friday last, the service being at St. Clement's, and taken, in the absence abroad of the Rector (Rev. W. Pennington Bickford), by the Rev. W. Kingston, M.A., who gave a brief address.

Mr. Cotter (churchwarden) read the lesson, and Mr. Bulmer (organist) and a full choir were present. The hymns were 'Now the labourer's task is o'er,' 'Oh! when thy life is flushed with tender light,' and, as a Requiem, 'He giveth His beloved sleep' (written by Mrs. L. Pennington-Bickford). At the close of the service Chopin's 'Funeral March' was played. There were present, beside the mourners, a number of deceased's colleagues from the Railway Clearing House and many fellow-workers in the parish. Amongst ringers present were Messrs. W. T. Cockerill, E. A. Young, W. Roughton and G. R. Fardon.

The service concluded with Chopin's Funeral March, and, as the body was carried from the church, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung by the following: E. G. Fenn 1, Miss D. Bryant 2, T. Benney 3, R. W. Green 4, C. F. Winney 5, J. F. Hawkins 6, A. B. Peck 7, H. R. Passmore 8, H. Langdon 9, W. Prime 10, the bells being half-muffled.

Thus in farewell, and rising clear above the roar of London's traffic, came the sad music of the bells he had loved so well.

THE ESSEX MASTERSHIP.

The resignation of the Mastership of the Essex Association by Mr. C. H. Howard brings to a close a term of office, extending over no less than twenty-five years, filled with an activity in the cause of ringing which few men have equalled. The break is all the more deplored, because it is ill-health that has led Mr. Howard to take the step which he has felt compelled to take. The members would have preferred that he should retain office and that the duties should be discharged by a deputy, but Mr. Howard's sense of duty would not let him remain merely as a figurehead. Indeed, this has been his attitude throughout the long time—and twenty-five years is a good slice out of a man's life—he has been Master. Mr. Howard has been no figurehead. He has thrown himself into the work of the association with an energy and enthusiasm that has been an inspiration to others. To his efforts, largely, has been due the great growth of the association during the last quarter of a century, and particularly the extensive restoration of the church bells of the county, in which he has been intensely interested and in which his activity has been productive of great results.

Apart from his great work for ringing, Mr. Howard is one who, having realised his responsibilities as a Churchman and a citizen, has, in addition to carrying on an important business, devoted much of his time to public work, as Churchwarden, Urban District Councillor (he filled the onerous office of chairman for many years) and Magistrate, as well as in numerous other directions. He has served his Church and his town, as he has served the cause of ringing, with no niggardly hand. He has always thrown himself wholeheartedly into anything he has undertaken, and this is well illustrated by the fact that, despite the many calls upon his time, he seldom missed a meeting of the Essex Association, either district or general. His influence at these gatherings brought many towers and ringers into the association fold and led to numerous peals of bells being restored and augmented. He has the satisfaction of handing over the reins of office with the organisation at the peak of its strength and usefulness and the knowledge that his labours have been deeply appreciated by the whole of the members, whose only regret is that he cannot continue as their Master.

Mr. Howard, by his services to the association, has set such a high standard, that the task of his successor is no easy one. If energy and earnestness can succeed, Mr. E. P. Duffield should make an ideal Master, but no man can expect to step into the duties and fulfil them exactly as they are vacated by one who has discharged them with such conspicuous ability and vigour for a generation. It will require all the effort and all the loyal support of the members which he can command, to enable Mr. Duffield eventually to attain the prestige which the years bestowed upon Mr. Howard, but steadfast endeavour on the part of the new Master, backed by the confidence and help of rank and file, should make the Essex Association secure in its future and in its continued progress. Under Mr. Howard it has wielded a great influence in the furtherance of the art of ringing in the county; we hope and believe that that influence will continue to expand under Mr. Duffield, given the support of united effort on the part of the members.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AT SUNBURY.

CENTRAL COUNCIL TOPICS DISCUSSED.

The South and West District of the Middlesex County Association held a meeting at Sunbury-on-Thames on Saturday last. Glorious weather, pretty surroundings and excellent bells, and yet the attendance was only 25! It has been said that ringers have their peculiarities, and apparently this is true, for who can explain the fluctuations of meeting attendances?

Saturday's proceedings were informal and pleasant. At the usual service the Vicar gave a most interesting address on the social problems of the world to-day, remarking that it was better to think about these things than the well-worn subject of bells and their history.

Tea followed in the Church Hall, kindly served by wives of the local ringers. The subsequent business meeting dealt with various subjects, including some interesting references to the recent Central Council meeting.

The vice-president of the district (Mr. J. A. Trollope) referred to the recent death of Mr. Arthur Outmore, who used to ring at Kensington, Fulham, etc., and those present stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of respect.

Congratulations were accorded to Mr. E. C. S. Turner upon his election as an honorary member of the Central Council. As Mr. C. T. Coles pointed out, hon. members were elected, not for services rendered in the past, but for services to be given to the Council in the future, and Mr. Turner's election was therefore satisfactory.

Mr. J. Herbert expressed his pleasure in spite of what a certain gentleman from Yorkshire had said at Warwick! Mr. Trollope said that Mr. Turner was the youngest member to be elected on the Council, beating his (Mr. Trollope's) record by about three months.

Mr. C. T. Coles later gave a most interesting report on the proceedings at Warwick. He referred to each item of business, and in dealing with the report of the Peals Analysis Committee appealed to conductors not to tamper with compositions. He cited an instance when this occurred, and after the peal had been rung was found to be false.

Mr. Trollope also referred to the Central Council, and, in dealing with the various aspects of the Council's usefulness, described how the booklet on the Law of Church Bells came to be written following an attempt to stop the ringing of the bells in one of the towers at Ealing. He also referred to the new book of Triples methods which would widen the range of the simple methods.

The Vicar of Ealing was elected an honorary member, and Messrs. E. G. Bowman (Feltham) and E. J. Bragg (Windsor) were elected ringing members of the association.

A joint meeting with the Oxford Diocesan Guild was announced to be held at Denham (one of the prettiest villages in Bucks) on June 23rd. It was decided to hold a meeting at Harlington in July.

The meeting concluded with thanks to the Vicars of Sunbury and Shepperton for their welcome, and to the organist, caterers, Mr. A. F. Putland and the local ringers for their help in all that had been done for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors.

Sunbury bells, a very musical octave, were rung both before and after tea, while the five at Shepperton were at the mercy of the tower hunters in the afternoon. Methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Surprise Major.

A DAY IN ZUMMERZET AND DARSET.

Whit Monday, 1934, will long be remembered by the younger generation of ringers of St. Laurence's in Reading (and some of the elder ones) by reason of having a day amongst churches and bells, the like of which are found nowhere else in such close proximity to each other. Picked up at the bottom of their own tower, the party moved off a few minutes before 7 a.m., and after a three hours' ride through delightful country reached Shepton Mallett, where they were kindly met and welcomed. A look at the fine church, then Stedman Triples and Bob Major and the purchase of a few 'stamps,' brought the word 'All aboard.' Wells Cathedral, the next objective, charmed all who had never seen it before. Then in the tower and the glorious ten were soon rolling to Stedman Caters, and very good the ringing was. A substantial lunch was spread and demolished at the Mitre Hotel, and Glastonbury, of sacred memories, was on view. What a tower and church! Here Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise were essayed. Both methods were well struck, but the Cambridge 'fell to pieces' in the last lead! On to Yeovil, and again a beautiful church and a grand peal of ten. In fact, several of the company preferred them to Wells (especially the tenor men). Real good Stedman Caters were rung here, but 'Tempus Fugit' and the party were hurried off again to Sherborne, where a good tea was the first 'touch.' Then to the tower, where the bells had no terrors for the children. Stedman and Grandsire Triples and a fine course of Bob Major were rung, and the bells lowered in peal very well indeed. This finished the day's 'steeplechasing,' and sails were set and the helm lashed for 87 miles 'Eastward Ho!' A fine day, no friction, and a real West Country welcome everywhere, for which all tender their heartfelt thanks to everyone who met them, especially the friend who wrote in brackets '(The best beer is at the Star).'

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch was held at St. James', Grimsby, on May 26th. It was well attended by members of the Grimsby District, nearly every tower being represented. Unfortunately, in consequence of inconvenient travelling facilities, the number of members from the Gainsborough and Lincoln districts was only moderate, whilst for the same reason, and also owing to the fact that it is at the extreme end of the branch, the Sleaford district was unrepresented.

The towers represented, or who had given notification of intention to be present, were as follows: Barrow-on-Humber, Barton-on-Humber, Bigby, Burton-on-Stather, Elsham, Gainsborough, Grimsby (St. James' and unattached), Lea, Lincoln (Cathedral), Louth, Marsh Chapel, Scunthorpe, Thornton Curtis, Ulceby, Upton, Waltham and Willingham. There were also present the Rev. J. D. H. Patch (Ulceby), Mr. W. Bramwell (Cleethorpes), Mr. Edmund Dawber (Gainsborough), honorary members, and Mr. R. Richardson (Master of the Guild) and Mrs. Richardson.

The bells were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening.

Service was held in the Parish Church and consisted of the Guild Office, interspersed with suitable hymns for Trinity Sunday. Mr. H. Rushby, Grimsby District organist, accompanied the musical part of the service. Through the unavoidable absence of the Vicar (Canon H. R. Burrows), the Rev. C. H. Chappell, assistant priest, officiated and gave an interesting address, basing his subject on the recently published novel, 'The Nine Tailors.'

Afterwards 60 members and friends sat down to an excellent tea at the Church House.

Owing to the continued illness of the president (Mr. F. F. Linley), the Ven. Archdeacon H. T. Parry, president of the Grimsby District, acted as chairman at the business meeting.

The balance sheet and secretary's report for 1933 were passed. Arising out of these Mr. Richardson drew the attention of the members to an item in the balance sheet referring to the payment of one of the Guild's representative's expenses to the Central Council meeting at London. He stated that this should have been paid by the Guild and charged in proportion to the branch. After discussion it was agreed that the item should be allowed to remain as in the balance sheet and the proper mode of procedure be adhered to in the future.

THE OFFICERS.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Mr. F. F. Linley (Archdeacon Parry kindly promising to deputise at any time during his absence); hon. treasurer, Mr. E. Dawber; hon. secretary, Mr. F. S. W. Butler; hon. auditors, Messrs. F. W. Stokes and J. R. Sharpe; Ringing Master, Mr. J. A. Freeman; two representatives to serve on the Guild Committee, Messrs. George Chester and J. A. Freeman.

The arrangements for the 1935 annual meeting at Sleaford were left in the hands of the general secretary and the secretary of the Sleaford District.

Mr. M. Walker proposed and Mr. J. Bray seconded that the latter part of By-Law No. 3 should read as follows: 'Every tower which is in union with the branch shall elect one member, etc.,' deleting the words, 'Not being less than five in number.'—This was carried.

Mr. H. Marcon proposed and Mr. C. McGuinness seconded that a grant of ten guineas be made out of the branch funds toward the rehanging of St. Peter-at-Arches bells in the tower of the new Church of St. Giles, Lincoln. As an amendment, Mr. W. H. Heyhoe proposed and Mr. C. H. Baker seconded the sum of five pounds.—On being put to the meeting, Mr. Marcon's proposition was carried.

Mr. Baker then gave notice of his intention to propose at the next half-yearly meeting that the committee be asked to consider the fixing of a limited sum of five pounds to any application, each one to be considered on its merits, but not to exceed the amount mentioned.

The secretary was requested to communicate with Mr. Linley, informing him that he had been very much in the thoughts of the members during the day's proceedings, also that they were pleased to hear he had been able to get up, and conveying to him their best wishes for a safe recovery.

Mr. Chester made some interesting references to the formal meeting 50 years ago (1884) for the purpose of founding the North Lincolnshire Association, now the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He also made mention of the considerable number of years that Mr. Linley has held the offices of vice-president and president respectively.

Mr. Richardson gave a resume of the business transacted at the Central Council meeting at Warwick on Whit Tuesday. This and Mr. Chester's remarks were listened to with great interest.

Toward the last part of the meeting Canon Burrows entered the room and was given a hearty reception by those present, and later on responded to a vote of thanks in a very jovial and humorous manner.

In conclusion a comprehensive vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. C. H. Chappell, the organist, the caterers and all others who had helped to make the meeting such a success.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*MORE RINGERS WANTED AT SIX-BELL TOWERS.

The annual meeting of the Vale of White Horse Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Faringdon on Saturday, May 26th. A short service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. C. C. Lamb), who also gave the address. The Rev. A. J. de D. Denne read the lesson and Mr. Howard Mason was the organist.

A very enjoyable tea was served to 21 members at the Wheatheaf Club Room; this was followed by the annual business meeting, the Rev. Denne (chairman of the branch) presiding, supported by the Revs. P. C. C. Lamb, C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master of the Guild), C. G. Seymour Metford (Vicar of Shrivenham), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer) and Mr. R. Gilling (branch secretary), with members from Faringdon, Shellingford and Shrivenham towers, and visitors from Swindon, Witney and Standlake.

The accounts were passed and considered to be very satisfactory, the branch having £5 11s. 5d. in the general fund and £2 5s. 6d. in the Restoration Fund.

The chairman and secretary were both re-elected, and as the branch representative (Mr. P. Wheeler) resigned, the Rev. C. G. Seymour Metford was elected in his place.

It was proposed that a grant of £2 2s. be given to the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn's Memorial Fund.

The autumn meeting was fixed to be held at Shrivenham in October.

The Chairman thanked the Vicar for having the meeting at Faringdon and also for his address, and hoped he would become an honorary member of the Guild.

The Deputy Master asked all members to take in 'The Ringing World' if they possibly could or to have at least one copy to each tower. By it they get to know what ringers were doing in other parts of the country. He said he would like to see more ringers at the six-bell towers of the branch.

The general secretary and the treasurer both appealed to the members for more loyalty to the chairman and secretary of the branch and to get new towers and more honorary members to join.

The ringers then adjourned to the belfry, where ringing continued until 8 o'clock, and touches of various methods from Grandsire Triples to Bob Major were rung.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.*OVER 100 AT BRANCH MEETING.

The loyal support which the ringers of West Cornwall give to their branch meetings has now almost become a tradition, but the splendid number of over one hundred which attended the Penzance Branch meeting at Manaccan and St. Anthony on Saturday, May 26th, must have been particularly encouraging to the new branch secretary (Mr. R. Rule), it being the first meeting he has arranged since taking over the duties so nobly begun and carried on for many years by Mr. Vice-President and Churchwarden William Wood, of Gulval. Those present included Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram, C.M.G., D.S.O., the Rev. W. H. R. Trewheella (general secretary), Messrs. William Wood and W. H. Southard (vice-presidents), and ringers from Camborne, Crowan, Cury, Gulval, Helston, St. Hilary, Ludgvan, Phillack, Towednack, Tuckingmill, St. Gluvias, Truro Cathedral and the two local towers. The Vicars of Tuckingmill, Cury, Phillack and the Rev. E. Ormerod (late Vicar of Manaccan) were also present.

Ringing commenced at 2 p.m. and continued until about 8 p.m., and, with two rings of bells available, everyone had plenty of ringing. Manaccan possesses a ring of six and St. Anthony, a mile distant and at the water's edge of the Gillan Creek, a charming recently augmented ring of eight. Rounds, call changes, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples were the order of the day. It is most encouraging to notice an increase of individuals and bands ringing Grandsire Doubles, and any spirit of competition has now totally disappeared from the district. One feature of the afternoon was several well-struck plain courses of Grandsire Doubles by the local Manaccan band, who now have the leadership of Lt.-Col. Jerram, and great praise is due to him for breaking down the old order of call changes and instituting half-pull ringing.

The service was conducted and an appropriate address given by the Vicar, the Rev. W. P. Gilpin, M.A., who took as his text, 'O pray for the peace of Jerusalem.' He compared the individual life to a bell 'in tune with itself' and with all its fellows.

The lessons were read by Mr. V. Clarke (a theological student and lay reader attached to Truro Cathedral).

Tea was most generously provided for the large number present, and a vote of thanks was proposed by the Rev. W. V. Wagner (Vicar of Cury) to the Rev. W. P. Gilpin for his hospitality.

Everyone regretted the absence of Dr. J. Symons, the esteemed president of the Guild, who was prevented from attending owing to the indisposition of his son. Dr. Godfrey Symons, professional duties therefore demanding his attention.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal of Truro Surprise Major was rung last week, at Hillingdon, Middlesex. The band, who rang the peal without previous practice, started with the good wishes of the Truro Diocesan Guild.

The reopening of Marlow bells, advertised in a part of our issue last week, has been postponed. The work of re-erection has not yet been completed.

Following close upon the discussion at the Central Council meeting, a fresh record of Bow Bells was introduced as an interval signal by the B.B.C. on Sunday. It is, however, still 'call changes,' and probably few of the public will recognise the difference.

The bells at Bromham, Beds, are shortly to be increased to eight.

The restored ring of eight bells (three of which have been recast) at Ringwood, Hants, are to be dedicated on Sunday, July 1st.

The proposed visit to Australia next autumn of a band of English ringers recalls the fact that to-morrow is the anniversary of the first peal rung out of the United Kingdom. Some London ringers, including Henry Haley, were professionally engaged on a handbell ringing tour in America, and while in Philadelphia rang a peal of Grandfire Triples at Christ Church on Sunday, June 9th, 1850.

Two men rang the tenor. A one-legged man, R. Dodd, rang it for 2 hours 15 minutes, when he was relieved by J. Davey. The peal occupied 3 hours 15 minutes, and was conducted by Haley.

Mr. J. A. Trollope, the arch-advocate of anonymity in the authorship of peals and methods, conducted a peal of Double Norwich Major at Willesden last week. Is it by accident or design, or from modesty, that the report sent us contains no mention of the composer?

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A SUNDAY BAND FOR ST. BENEDICT'S, CAMBRIDGE.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Ickleton on Saturday. Members came from Barley, Cambridge, Eimdon, Fen Ditton, Fulbourne, Melbourn, Newmarket, Newton, Royston, Saffron Walden, Sawston, Trumpington and a splendid muster of the local band. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Penny), and Mr. L. Lilley kindly presided at the organ.

It was decided to go to Orwell on Saturday, July 14th.

The question of training a Sunday service band at St. Benedict's Church in Cambridge was discussed, and it is hoped something may be done in the near future.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist.

Various methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. The success of the meeting was largely due to Mr. P. Webb's kindness in making all the arrangements so satisfactorily.

CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

HON. SECRETARY RETIRES AFTER 25 YEARS' SERVICE.

The annual meeting of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association was held at Northallerton on Whit Monday, May 21st. There was only a very small attendance. At the service, held in the church at noon, the address was given by the curate in the absence of the Vicar. He extended a very hearty welcome to the association and members present. Dinner was provided at the Russell Cafe.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mr. J. Stott, who proposed the loyal toast.

The secretary (Mr. T. Metcalfe) presented the report and balance sheet. In the report he complained that few peals had been rung during the year and referred to the declining interest taken in peal ringing throughout the association. The Sunday service sheet did not seem to be the interest it was intended to be, as only six sheets had been returned out of upwards of 20 sent out. Middlesbrough were awarded the highest number of points, with 87 touches, totalling 1,083 points. This is the fifth year in succession that the chief award has gone to Middlesbrough, and the certificate for the best Sunday service ringing now becomes the property of the Middlesbrough tower. Whitby came second with 673 points. This tower has won the second certificate four times out of five, and it now becomes the property of Whitby tower.

Considerable discussion took place as to whether the Sunday service sheets should be continued, the outcome being a resolution that a reconsideration of points be recommended to the next annual meeting.

The president and vice-president were re-elected, with the addition of J. O. Pollard to the vice-presidents. The auditors and Points Committee were also re-elected.

The secretary, having held the office since 1909, wished to retire on medical advice, and his resignation was accepted with very great regret.

Mr. E. Brown, one of the Middlesbrough ringers, was elected to fill the vacant position.

A hearty vote of thanks to all the retiring officers for their work during the year was accorded, and the president was thanked for presiding at the meeting.—The president replied in happy terms. This concluded the proceedings.

The new hon. secretary's address is 12, Ingram Road, North Ormesby, Middlesbrough.

MR. C. H. HOWARD'S RETIREMENT.

LONG CONNECTION WITH ESSEX RINGING.

The retirement of Mr. Charles H. Howard, of Braintree, from the office of Master of the Essex Association, recalls that his connection with church work began when he was only nine years of age, when he joined the choir at the church of his native village, Great Baddow. It was there, too, he learned to pull a bell, but it was not until he went to Braintree that he had the opportunity to study change ringing. In 1899, when the 700th anniversary of St. Michael's Church was celebrated, the event was marked by adding two trebles to the existing peal of six. Mr. Howard took a hand in the work of raising the necessary funds and carried his task to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Howard, who joined the association nearly 50 years ago, was elected to the Mastership of the association on the retirement of the late Canon Papillan in 1909, and since that time has done a vast amount of work for the association and in the promotion of the art of ringing in Essex towers. When the association celebrated its jubilee in 1929 and Mr. Howard had completed just 20 years as Master, the members presented him with a silver tea and coffee set in recognition of his services to the association. In the course of his duties he has visited every church tower in Essex, and, until he was prevented this year by ill-health, had only missed one annual meeting of the association since he joined it. He is still one of the Essex Association's representatives on the Central Council.

One of the world's busy men who do not shirk their responsibilities to their neighbours, Mr. Howard has filled many public positions. Among other things, he has been a member of the Braintree Urban Council for 26 years without a break; for 20 years, till his retirement through indisposition some months ago, he held the position of hon. lay secretary to the Braintree Rural-decennial Conference; and altogether he is connected with 32 organisations of one kind or another.

He sang in Braintree choir for 17 years, rang regularly for both services, was a sidesman and afterwards churchwarden of the Parish Church. Truly his has been a life of service, and his many friends throughout the ringing Exercise will wish Mr. Howard a complete return to health.

BELLS FOR JOHANNESBURG.

CENTENARY COMMEMORATIVE PEAL.

The jubilee of the founding of Johannesburg will take place in two years' time, and, writes Canon G. H. Ridout, it is hoped to mark the occasion by completing the Cathedral tower, of which 40ft. has been built, leaving another 100ft. to be erected, and by installing a ring of bells.

What ringing is now done in Johannesburg is done on handbells by a band, chiefly of ladies, which Canon Ridout has trained.

In 1933 twelve 720's of Bob Minor were rung, and one quarter-peal on the occasion of the inauguration of the clock and chimes at St. John's College.

In 1934, up to May 3rd, seven 720's, and two quarter-peals, one being on the day of Prince George's arrival in Johannesburg and being also a welcome to the Mother Superior of East Grinstead, who was on a visit.

Sister Mildred, Sister Mabel and the conductor (Canon G. H. Ridout) took part in all the above (22), Sister Vivian (20), Sister Mary Beatrice (17), Mother Madeleine (6) and Mr. T. A. Nash, of Durban (1).

Further news from South Africa comes from Mr. Alfred Pye, of Iford, who has just returned from an extended tour. On his arrival at Capa Town at the end of January, he visited the suburb of Woodstock, where there is a peal of eight. There he met several old friends and rang some Grandsire Triples and spent a very pleasant evening with them. He left next day for Durban, but on his way back he met and rang with them again. The bells at Woodstock, says Mr. Pye, want rehanging very badly. The wonder is that they are ringable at all. When the bells were first bought they stood in the church for some time, as no arrangement was made to hang them. Mr. L. Green was then consulted and he got an architect and builder to hang them. That was about 40 years ago, and nothing has been done to them since.

Mr. L. Green, Mr. J. Priest and Mr. F. G. May, whom Mr. Pye met, wished to be remembered to all old friends at home.

On arriving at Durban, Mr. Pye was met by Mr. Simpson, one of the local ringers, who arranged a practice at Greyville, where there is a peal of ten, tenor 18 cwt. 25 lb., by Taylor and Co., in good ringing order. Some plain courses of Grandsire Doubles on the back six and call changes on the ten were rung.

There is a light peal of eight at St. Peter's, Durban, by Taylor and Co., in good ringing order, but the tower is very small and vibrates, causing the bells to drop sometimes. Only call changes are rung, but are well struck.

In the course of his tour Mr. Pye visited Ladysmith. The church has one bell hung for ringing in a small tower a little distance from the church. It does not appear, however, to be raised, as it has only a short rope. Inside the church are inscribed the names of all the men who lost their lives in the Relief and Defence of Ladysmith. Mr. Pye saw the names of six of his old comrades whom he had forgotten, and it brought them to his memory again. Mr. Pye afterwards went on to Johannesburg, and visited the Victoria Falls, Bulawayo and the Matopo Hills, where Cecil Rhodes is buried, before returning to Cape Town.

A TRANSFORMATION AT CRAMLINGTON.

BELLS RETUNED AND REHUNG.

The six bells (tenor 20 cwt.) of St. Nicholas' Church, Cramlington, have long been known to Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association ringers as heavy-going and very harsh in tone, but, thanks to the generosity of Miss M. I. Hornsby, of Cramlington, this reproach has now been rolled away.

A special meeting of the association was held on Saturday to try the bells, and, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for inviting the association, Mr. William Story, J.P., of Newcastle, said that Messrs. Taylor and Co. always turned out a good job, but in this case they had excelled themselves, and the peal was now one of the most musical in the district, if not in the country.

The Vicar (the Rev. T. W. Allen), in replying, said they were very glad to welcome the association, and were delighted that the members entered into their joy in having the bells retuned and rehung, and the organ completed and fitted with electric blower.

Miss Hornsby also expressed his satisfaction at the way the work had been carried out, and this was endorsed in a happy speech by one of the churchwardens.

The bells were kept going from about 3.30 until 8.30, touches of Bob Minor, Kent, Cambridge Surprise, etc., being rung, and Doubles and rounds for the learners.

PASSING OF A PADRE.

At Christ Church, North Shields, for evening service, on Sunday, May 27th, a half-muffled touch of 972 Stedman Caters was rung as a tribute to the memory of the late Canon Crawhall, who was for many years Vicar of the parish. He was senior padre to the 50th Division of the Northumberland Fusiliers during the war. The ringers were A. Tully 1, E. A. Hern (conductor) 2, M. B. Livesley 3, T. Burns 4, J. L. Gray 5, J. E. Scott 6, R. Gray 7, J. Scott 8, A. Cook 9, H. Wilson 10.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

PEALS IN POPULAR METHODS.

The adoption of the report of the Peal Collection Committee was moved by Mr. Gabriel Lindoff. It stated that, at a meeting of the committee held in London on September 25th, 1933, it was decided to collect peals in the following methods: Plain Bob, Grandsire, Double Norwich, Stedman, Treble Bob, Superlative, Cambridge, London, Bristol, Yorkshire, Pudsey, Rutland and Lincolnshire, a draft of about ten of each to be submitted to the Central Council for publication. With regard to 'Variation' it was decided that Mr. Trollope's articles upon that subject (which appeared in 'The Ringing World' in 1930 (pages 830-831) and 1931 (pages 10, 28, 42, 74, 90, 123, 138, 166 and 182) should be audited by Mr. Lewis and submitted to the Council. It was hoped to have the next draft of the Peals Collection ready to lay before the Council at the next meeting.

The President said the Standing Committee recommended that the articles on variation by Mr. Trollope be considered by the committee, and that they collaborate with Mr. Trollope as to the suitability of publishing them as a pamphlet, either in their present form or as may be decided by the committee.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith asked the committee to take into consideration the inclusion of a few peals of Spliced Surprise Major in the collection which it was proposed to publish, as this form of ringing was growing in popularity.

Mr. Lindoff agreed to do this.

The President moved that the committee be given power to print the pamphlet, and this and the report were agreed to.

A USEFUL BOOK.

The Council next considered the report of the Methods Committee, which was published in 'The Ringing World' on May 18th. In moving its adoption Mr. J. A. Trollope said the 'Collection of Triples Methods' would shortly be on sale. It had been drawn up with the special idea of catering for the less advanced ringers and, because the scope was less than in other methods, the committee had been able to put in one or two features which would be an improvement from the point of view of less experienced bands. In the methods of pure Triples they had printed the course in full, because they thought the average ringer, who wanted to learn a method, could do so easier if he was provided with the whole course than by working it out himself from a single lead. They had included a selection of touches and quarter-peals as well as peals, and he asked secretaries of associations and other responsible people to do what they could to get the books into the hands of the people for whom it was intended, because there must be quite a large number of bands who were not capable and not likely to be capable of ringing Surprise methods, but who ought to be able to ring methods like Double Court Triples or Double Oxford, but who now confined themselves largely to Grandsire. This was one of the directions in which they could cater for that class of people who had a tendency to think they were neglected by more advanced ringers.

ANONYMITY IN COMPOSITION.

Another point that arose in connection with the report, continued Mr. Trollope, was the question of the authorship of compositions and methods. It was not intended to aim at anything in the way of finality. The committee's suggestion that, in future, compositions given in the collections of methods should appear anonymously was only put forward as a basis of discussion so that people might understand the situation arising now and in the future. There were, however, two sentences in the committee's report which seemed to some extent to attempt to fetter the action of the Council in the future. They were not put in for that purpose, but since they did, to some extent, bear that construction, the committee would like to delete the sentences. The sentences were, 'We suggest that this recommendation' (regarding anonymity) 'shall apply to all future publications by the Central Council,' and 'Our proposal is that in later books of the Central Council of a similar character, anonymity should be the rule and not the exception.' The committee would like to delete those two sentences, but in doing so he called attention to the earlier sentence in which the committee stated, 'We should recommend that in no instance should any author or composer's name be put to any methods, and that in the case of peal compositions names should be omitted except to old and well-known productions or such modern ones in which the proofs of originality are unmistakable.' That, said Mr. Trollope, was what had actually been the custom of the Exercise from the beginning. It rather shifted the onus of proof of authorship. In olden times they assumed a man was the composer unless they proved otherwise. Now, they thought it better that they should have proof of originality and not assume it. He thought, however, that the old ideas were bound to come back sooner or later. Certain classes of peal composition would take the same place that quarter-peals now had. Of the ordinary touches that were rung no one could say who was the composer. There were a number of peals getting into the same category, but the committee had not the slightest intention of doing anything in any way to rob a man of his credit or to suggest that if a man produced things, like the compositions of Mr. Pitman, for instance, he was not entitled to full credit for it.

Mr. S. H. Wood seconded, and the report, with the sentences deleted, was adopted.

HOW ERRORS CREEPT INTO A 'COLLECTION.'

Mr. A. D. Barker asked for an assurance that the new book on Triples would contain no irregular methods, as in the Minor, and that there would be no mistakes in it which the Council would afterwards have to withdraw.

Mr. Trollope said there were no irregular methods in the book, but, as far as mistakes were concerned, he could give no undertaking. He had never yet come across a man who could give an assurance that a mistake would not happen.

The Rev. E. S. Powell said the best defence of the accuracy of the book which he could make was that it was being printed within a few months of completion. In the case of the book on Doubles and Minor, owing to unfortunate happenings, still in the memory of the Council, it was not published until something like four or five years after completion. The result was that when they came to the correction of the proofs members of the Methods Committee had absolutely forgotten about the subject, and he was personally responsible for getting several methods stuck in at the last minute which had been rejected years before. In the hurry at the finish they allowed them to slip in again. The other members of the committee were responsible, in that they accepted his word that the methods were all right. The same trouble was not likely to occur again. If they had made mistakes of that kind this time they would deserve a greater 'strafing' than they received last time.

The Rev. H. Drake said he thought the lines on which the committee wanted to proceed were the wrong ones. He thought it was quite wrong that there should be anonymity with regard to peals or compositions. They ought to go rather in the opposite direction and make somebody responsible for every peal; if the compositions were anonymous no one would be responsible. What Mr. Trollope said was quite right with regard to originality, but they should have some way in which responsibility for a peal composition could be nailed down. He was sorry that there would be peals inserted in the book of Triples methods that were anonymous, but at any rate there they had the responsibility of the committee. In other cases, however, peals would be published and no one would know anything about them or who was responsible for them. He thought it could be got over if it was said that a peal was 'arranged' by so-and-so. That would not mean that he was necessarily the original composer. Someone else might have arranged it before him, but he was responsible on that particular occasion when it was rung. He thought it was quite wrong that they should sanction peals or compositions going forward without a name or someone being responsible for them.

IDENTIFICATION OF PEALS.

Mr. S. H. Wood said one very simple way to get over the difficulty would be for conductors to record in their reports that the peal rung was 'number so and so' in the Central Council's Collection. That definitely told them what peal was rung, whereas if they simply said a peal was composed by, say, Mr. Trollope, it did not tell them what the figures were that were rung. It placed responsibility on him for a true peal, but if they put a peal number that was in the Collection they knew exactly what peal was rung, and those who compiled the book were responsible for the truth of the figures.

The Rev. E. S. Powell said he thought the general idea at the back of the minds of the Methods Committee could be expressed in this way: The time was coming, it was not yet and probably would not come for another ten or fifteen years, but it was coming when, instead of the proper designation of a peal being 'composed by so and so,' or, as had also been suggested, 'arranged by so and so,' they would meet the case by saying 'attested by so and so.' Incidentally it put the conductor in a stronger position than he was now. They were familiar with instances in the past where eminent composers had quarrelled whether certain figures had been obtained by one or the other, but there could have been no quarrel if the composition had been 'attested' and not 'composed.' The figures would be more valuable if 'attested' by two composers instead of 'composed' by them. The committee had not the least desire to detract from the credit due to a composer for any originality, yet in view of the fact that the scope for originality was getting smaller every year, in future the onus should rather lay on the composer to prove that there was something original in his figures than that the onus should be on the critic. Some means should be adopted by which figures rung could be guaranteed, so far as it was possible to guarantee anything human, before a conductor asked a hand to ring them with him, and he suggested that attestation was the best method of doing this.

Mr. S. H. Wood then proposed that Mr. E. S. C. Turner, of Ealing, be added to the Methods Committee. Those who knew Mr. Turner, he said, knew of his great ability as a composer, ringer and conductor, and he was particularly good at the kind of work which the Methods Committee had to do. Their next job was to be the Surprise Major methods, and Mr. Turner would be of great value in that work.

Mr. C. T. Coles seconded, and the motion was carried.

DANGER OF ALTERING COMPOSITIONS.

Mrs. Fletcher moved the adoption of the Peals Analysis Committee's report with one slight amendment to the statistics.—Mr. G. R. Pye seconded and it was agreed to.

The analysis and the report were published in 'The Ringing World' on April 6th.

Mr. C. T. Coles said at least one peal of Cambridge Royal included in the analysis had turned out to be false. It was rung by the Worcestershire Association, and he drew attention to it as a warning to conductors not to alter the figures of peal compositions. In this case it was a composition which had been rung a great many times. It was composed by Mr. William Pye, but in the case in question the last four courses were altered and three bobs Home shifted from one block to another to add to the music of the peal, but as it turned out it made the peal false. It was not only unfortunate for the men who rang the peal, but it was unfair to the man whose name was given to it as composer. It was a thing that might be avoided by people ringing compositions as they were originally given and not altering them because they think that they can be altered with advantage.

A representative of the Worcestershire Association said the peal had been withdrawn.

COMPARISON OF PLAIN AND BALL BEARINGS.

The President moved the adoption of the Towers and Belfries Committee's report. He said the committee had met the previous evening and considered the question of Ellacombe chiming hammers. They decided to compose a letter, which they would send to all Archdeacons, warning them of the dangers of Ellacombe hammers if they were not properly used and attended to. Possibly some of such letters would go into the waste paper basket, but if they could get through to only a few Archdeacons it would be worth while sending out. If it did nothing else it would let the Archdeacons know the Council existed and were willing to help them if they were willing to be helped (hear, hear). The question of ball bearings for bells had also arisen during the year. There were those who said they liked the old style of bearing best, because they liked a little bit of friction towards the end of the stroke, which gave a slight drag and made the bell easier to handle. Theoretically that would not stand. He worked out the amount of friction of a well-cared for bearing of the old-fashioned type, and came to the conclusion that the amount of energy lost in friction was so small that there was far less difference between a ball bearing and a well-cared for old-fashioned bearing than between a well-cared for and an ill-cared for old-fashioned bearing. There was practically no difference between the well-cared for old-fashioned bearing and the ball bearing, but if the old-fashioned bearing was neglected the amount of friction was increased enormously until the bell became almost unringable. They never knew how bells would go in a fixed bearing in a timber frame, because it depended largely on the weather and the amount of twist in the upper members of the frame. Therefore, ball bearings or at least self-aligning bearings seemed more suitable than the old bearings in such cases.

On the question of welding, said the President, he did not think the committee were prepared yet to give an opinion on the value of this process. They were watching the subject very carefully.

SAFETY OF TOWERS.

Proceeding, the President said it had come to their knowledge in quite a number of cases that church authorities were prepared to allow bells to be rung on a few occasions or for a short time and not on a larger number of occasions or for a long time. They were right in saying that if they wished to, but they were not right in giving as the reason that it was not safe to do otherwise. He thought they should make it quite clear, and the committee agreed with him in this, that as far as the safety of the tower was concerned, if it was safe to ring for ten minutes it was safe to ring a quarter-peal, and if it was safe to ring a quarter-peal it was safe to ring a peal; if it was safe to ring 12 times a year it was safe to ring 13 times a year (hear, hear). With certain kinds of machinery it was possible to calculate the life of the machine; they might do it in the case of bells. They might say that the remaining life of the bearings of a particular bell was only 24 hours and that at the end of that period of use they would have to be repaired. They might conceive that if certain church authorities did not want to spend any money for two years and knew they only had 24 hours' life left in the bearings they would limit the ringing to one hour once a month for the two years. But they could not do that with regard to a tower. He did not think any architect or engineer would be prepared to say, because a crack in a tower was gradually expanding, that that tower had 24 more hours of life, and that if the bells were rung for an hour once a month it would come down at the end of two years. If they could do it he was sure the ringers would not wish to ring at all (laughter). He thought they might put it on record that it was absolutely absurd for authorities, when they wished to curtail ringing or to limit the time, to make the excuse that it was not safe for the tower to ring the bells more often or longer. If they gave any other reason the ringers would accept it, if it was a sensible reason, because they knew the authorities had the ultimate say whether they wished the bells rung or not, but they only made themselves foolish when they gave foolish reasons for withholding permission to ring (hear, hear).

Major Hesse seconded the adoption of the report.

The Rev. F. Li. Edwards suggested that, in addition to sending the proposed letter to the Archdeacons, they should also send a copy to the secretary of each Diocesan Advisory Board, who would consider it his duty to lay it before the Board, and it would have the effect of still further whetting the memory of the Archdeacons.

CLAPPER FLIGHTS.

Mr. E. A. Young said the Rev. E. Bankes James recently referred in 'The Ringing World' to the fact that at one time the flights of clappers were made much longer than was the common practice to-day, and suggested that the reason might have been an endeavour on the part of the old bell founders to improve the tone of the bells, or some other abstruse idea. As far as he (Mr. Young) could recollect, no one stepped into the breach and ventured to discuss it. As they had among them that day several experts in that particular branch of the art, it would be interesting to know whether there was any point in the suggestion.

Major Hesse referred to the interesting fact that the bells of St. Andrew's, Wells Street, London, were soon to be restored to their place in the re-erected tower in the suburbs. Major Hesse referred to the inspections which he had made during the year, including Woking, where he was particularly interested in the memorial bell provided by his own Guild in memory of Admiral Walker, who was a ringer at that church, and Sherborne Abbey, where a big job had been carried out entirely satisfactorily as far as he was concerned. With regard to the question of clapper flights, he answered Mr. James' letter in 'The Ringing World'. His own idea was that the old founders used to put long flights to the clappers in order to make the bells clapper up right side and make the bell speak as loudly as possible. If it was a good bell, a big clapper was a detriment; if it was a bad bell a large clapper would not make it a good bell.

Mr. J. Hunt said he had made inspections in seven towers in his own diocese. In one case there were three bells. They had pushed heavy pieces of wood under the bells to keep them from moving and tied the ropes to the clappers. As a result the second bell had been cracked.

The President said he did not want to butt in on the province of the bell founders, but from the theoretical point of view a clapper with a long flight and of the same weight as one with a shorter flight would tend to give the bell a more definite blow. The reason was that the speed of the revolution of the bell and the speed of revolution of the clapper depended upon the distance of the centre of gravity from the gudgeons. Both the bell and the clapper acted as a pendulum, and the longer a pendulum the slower it went. If they transferred part of the weight from the ball of the clapper to the flight they increased the distance of the centre of gravity from the point of suspension and reduced its natural speed of revolution. During the first part of its revolution the bell was pushing the clapper and transferred some of its energy to the clapper. At a certain point it has given the clapper so much of its energy that the clapper really started to move faster than the bell and towards the end of the swing caught the bell and gave it a blow. If they transferred some of the weight from the ball to the flight, during the first part of the swing the bell was pushing the clapper more than it would if the centre of gravity of the clapper were nearer the gudgeons and therefore transferred more energy, and although the clapper was of the same weight as one with a shorter flight, it would give a blow of greater energy at the end of the swing. That was the theoretical side of it; as to the actual practice, the bell founders themselves were much more able to give them the facts than he could.

The committee's report was adopted.

SOME HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED WARWICKSHIRE HISTORY

Four of the bright(?) young people were looking for 'the Ope,' instead of 'the Oak,' at Leamington of all places, too.

Following the advice of the Mayor of Warwick, 14 well-known persons were seen drinking water at midnight on Whit Tuesday (President, please note).

One of the teetotalers fell down the stairs at Stratford-upon-Avon. Although his funny-bone was badly bruised, it is hoped that his contributions to 'The Ringing World' will not suffer.

Enormous numbers of cyclists were to be seen around Warwick, most of them were at the service at Meridon. One 'bright young thing,' after doing nearly 100 miles, is getting alarmed at his loss of weight, in case he 'can't pull the tenor off.'

Bachelors should be careful when staying in Warwick. The ghost of Fulke Greville, the celebrated bachelor of Warwick, 'who did as he liked,' apparently resented the visit of a well-known ringing bachelor, and recorded his displeasure by arranging an 'omnibus' bed, complete with bells, wife, child and apple pie. A brother representative has since adopted 'the infant,' presumably to train it as a ringer.

A well-known 'J.P.' also had a shock when he went to his room. The 'movie-man' missed a great picture when he saw the 'boots, boots, boots, marching up and down again.'

Incidentally, whilst the pictures were 'on,' one not unknown lady was told to go and hold her husband's hand!

Did Miss Plymouth see the 'film star' she was looking for, or did she leave too early?

KEIGHLEY RINGER'S DEATH.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION MEMBER FOR 40 YEARS.

The band at St. Andrew's Church, Keighley, Yorks, has suffered a severe loss by the death of the former local secretary, Mr. Robert W. Jennison, who had been a ringer for over 40 years, and was elected a member of the Yorkshire Association in 1894. Mr. Jennison was 63 years of age and passed away on Monday week.

'Bob' Jennison was a popular figure in Keighley, and in his younger days was one of the best known players in Yorkshire Rugby Union football circles. He took an active part in the game for about ten years, and to the end of his days he had a love of sport.

The story of how he took up ringing is an entertaining one. When asked not long ago what led him to become a ringer, he gave the following account of the incident: 'As a matter of fact,' he said, 'I took it up at first more as a joke. I was playing football in those days with the Keighley club—in the old Rugby Union days—and a friend said to me, "Nah, then, Bob, would tha like to come and learn to bell-ring?"

'Laughingly, I replied, "I don't know, but if tha can do it I think I can." Later I found myself in the Keighley Parish Church belfry, and my friend said, "Nah, Bob, just see if tha can tinkle in for t'parson."

'I tried, but I am afraid I made a poor attempt, and I there and then decided to take up bellringing and master it. When I first became a ringer there was a man in the team called John Normington. He was a ringer for about 50 years, and was ringing when he was 80 years of age.'

Mr. Jennison was not a very ardent peal ringer, but he had rung about 40. He was, however, a lover of good ringing and good striking. He served on the committee of the Yorkshire Association and was highly respected among the members. A typical Yorkshireman, he was of a very kindly nature, and was always anxious to help all with whom he came in contact in all spheres of life and work.

He was a member of the Grand United Order of Oddfellows for many years, and was secretary of the Worth Valley Lodge; he was also a trustee of the local branch of the A.E.U. A widow and seven children are left in bereavement. One son, Mr. R. W. Jennison, is also a ringer at Keighley.

The funeral took place on Wednesday week, the service being conducted by the Rev. E. B. Evans. The Keighley Parish Church ringers present were Messrs. R. Bottomley (secretary), J. Hall, H. Green, E. Green, H. Atkinson, J. Robertshaw, J. Edmondson and J. Coulton; while others who attended were Messrs. V. Bairstow (Denholme), J. Lawson (Lightcliffe), J. Broadley (Bradford), T. Kendall (Shipley) and J. Cooper (Silsden). Keighley Rugby League F.C., the Grand United Order of Oddfellows and the Associated Engineers Union were also represented.

FIRST QUARTER-PEALS.

PORTISHEAD, SOMERSET.—At the Parish Church for evening service on May 27th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Arthur Stadden 1, Miss B. Stadden (first quarter-peal as conductor) 2, Mrs. W. Edwards 3, Miss V. Hyman 4, Miss G. Stadden 5, F. Smith 6, A. E. Colbourn 7, J. Thomas 8.

OXTON, BIRKENHEAD.—At St. Saviour's Church on Thursday, May 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Thomas 1, H. S. Brocklebank 2, W. O. Wharton 3, J. L. Grant 4, A. A. K. Bolton 5, R. Edgar 6, H. Martin (conductor) 7, S. Moston 8. First quarter-peal and longest length in the method by the treble, fifth and sixth ringers. It is 15 years since the conductor called a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, the previous one being rung at Kidderminster on April 27th, 1919.—On Monday, May 28th, 910 Grandsire Triples: F. Thomas 1, H. S. Brocklebank 2, W. O. Wharton 3, J. L. Grant 4, A. A. K. Bolton 5, J. W. Evans 6, H. Martin (conductor) 7, S. Moston 8. Rung on the occasion of the dedication of gifts to the Church Schools of Birkenhead by the Bishop of Chester.

HORSMONDEN, KENT.—On Sunday, May 20th, for afternoon service, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: F. H. Hicks 1, R. T. Lambert 2, R. E. Lambert 3, F. J. Lambert 4, A. Bromley 5, A. W. Durham (conductor) 6. First 720 by the ringer of the treble, who hails from Rotherfield, and was specially arranged for him. Also rung on the 104th birthday of Mrs. Caroline Jones, of Gillingham, the oldest inhabitant of Kent!

KENT SCHOOL, CONNECTICUT, U.S.A.—On May 3rd, for practice, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: A. Terry 1, L. J. Attwater (conductor) 2, W. Abbe 3, A. D. Bosson 4, R. L. Westlake 5, R. B. Abbe 6, S. M. Wheelock 7, R. Davies 8. This is the longest length by the Kent Guild, and the first quarter-peal by six of the student ringers.

BELLS AND THEIR BEARINGS.

Since the President of the Central Council has been an active member of the Towers and Belfries Committee there has always been something of real value to learn from the report of the committee. The report usually consisted of verbal statements of the members upon belfry inspections which they had carried out, as a result of which church authorities received independent and gratuitous advice upon the condition of their bells and the most efficient means of restoring them. Interesting as these statements may have been, they did little by way of enlightening the Council, except as to the extent to which the services of the members of the committee had been called upon. But since Mr. Lewis returned from his 'exile' in Scotland and has been able to give more attention to this important side of the Council's work, the Towers and Belfries Committee's report, made through the President, has always contained a thoughtful exposition on some one or more questions connected with bells and towers. And it has always been given in a manner that the least technically minded ringer can understand. Those who have followed Mr. Lewis's expositions from year to year must have gained quite a lot of useful knowledge on subjects outside the actual art of ringing, but yet of paramount importance to the ringer and the continuance of his work.

At the Warwick meeting Mr. Lewis touched upon two or three matters of special interest, and his comparisons between plain and ball bearings for bells will, we think, be welcomed by those ringers—and there are still a considerable number about—who prefer the old fashioned method of bell hanging. It has been said that ball bearings on heavy bells are of no use and on little bells are not needed. Whatever truth there may be in this statement, there are quite a number of experienced ringers who, under certain circumstances—one being at the light end of a heavy peal—prefer plain bearings, which enable a bell to be 'held' with less physical strain. We now have the authority of Mr. Lewis that the amount of energy lost in friction in a well-cared for plain bearing is really very small, and that there is in reality practically no difference in the expenditure of effort necessary to ring a bell on well cared for old-fashioned bearings and a bell on ball bearings.

Where the snag of the plain bearings comes in, however, is in the fact that a great many of them are not well cared for. They need far more attention than bearings of the modern type. While for lack of suitable lubrication they will very quickly turn a good-going bell into a bad-going bell, ball bearings will go on for years, not only without attention from the steeple keeper, but providing compensation against any loss of alignment caused by atmospheric effects upon a timber frame. Ball bearings, undoubtedly, will keep indifferently cared for bells running far longer than they would on plain bearings, but opinion on the question of which are most suitable from the ringers' point of view, given proper care and attention, will, perhaps, always be divided. There is one tendency, however, which ball bearings have in many cases. The knowledge that the bearings do not need lubrication leads, sometimes, to neglect of other things. Not having to go up into the belfry to grease the bells, the lax steeple keeper fails to carry out other duties which devolve upon him. He does not, for example, trouble to go up so often to tighten, if necessary, the bolts on the stocks, or to put a spanner to the bolts of the frame, both of which ought to have regular attention. It is often said that ball bearings make lazy steeple keepers and we are afraid that in some instances this is true.

MOULTON'S HISTORIC DAY.

NEW BELLS DEDICATED TO MISSIONARY PIONEER.

Last Saturday (June 9th) was the greatest day in the history of the Northants village of Moulton. It was the centenary of the death of William Carey, the great pioneer of modern missions, who died June 9th, 1834. The parish joined in the world-wide celebrations by augmenting its church bells, for it was in Moulton that Carey thought out his schemes of the world's evangelisation.

Dr. Sidney Madge, F.S.A., an old Moultonian boy, gave the treble bell, and wished it to be dedicated to Carey, as he was the originator of the most remarkable phenomenon in the history of the Christian Church, viz., evangelisation by missionary societies and founder of the first missionary society. The second bell was provided by the generous subscriptions given by both church and chapel people. Carey was a Baptist minister. This, also, is the first time in history that a bell has been dedicated to a Nonconformist minister.

There was an influx of 3,000 people into the village, which rose to the occasion and catered for them all. The weather was ideal, and added to the success of the great day.

A grand procession, with band, started off from Carey's Chapel to the Parish Church, where it was met at the church gates by the Vicar, the Rev. J. M. Turner, wardens, sidesmen, the Rural Dean, the Rev. J. White, Rector of Pitsford, Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, several of the neighbouring clergy interested in ringing, Dr. Sidney Madge and his son, the Rev. S. Madge.

The augmented procession wended its way along the churchyard path to the belfry door, for the dedication was to take place in the open air. Between one and two thousand people squeezed into the churchyard, the adjacent streets and into the church itself. An admirable microphone and loud speaker, which had been set up, enabled every word to be heard half a mile away.

The service opened with the hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven,' led by a cornet. Psalm 122, the bellringers' psalm, 'I was glad when they said unto me,' was sung to the bellringers' chant, composed by the Vicar. The first lesson was read by the local Baptist minister, the second by the president of the Northants Baptist Association, and the address given by Carey's great-grandson, the Rev. Pearce Carey, M.A. The bellringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God,' was sung heartily by the hundreds of bellringers present, led by the Moulton ringers on their sweet-toned handbells.

The donors, Dr. S. Madge and the Vicar, took the rope ends of the two new bells, which came well out of the belfry door, and with suitable words handed them to the wardens. They in turn handed the ropes to the Rural Dean, who dedicated the bells. The ropes were next handed to the foreman ringer, Mr. E. Tebbutt, and the ringing instructor, Mr. Tom Tebbutt, who amidst intense silence proceeded to raise the two bells. The Rural Dean offered suitable prayers, and then for the first time in Moulton's history eight bells were heard. The octave was in perfect harmony, thanks to the skill of Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the music was lovely as the local band, including three girls, rang the plain course of Grandsire Triples. No sweeter ring of bells could be heard in the whole of England.

After the address the service closed with the hymn, 'Hark, hark, my soul.' Canon Jephson, an octogenarian ringer from Ecton, pressed forward to have the first ring. He was followed by a mass of ringers hankering to get hold of the ropes. Tea was then provided in two halls, and two sittings were required to cope with the huge crowds. The hearts of all who thought of what all this involved went out to the village ladies who had to cope with such an unusual state of affairs, and to the busy washers-up.

Then a rush for the belfry again, a packed mass inside, another round the open belfry door and another inside the church. There was some splendid 'tapping' when an expert band got hold of the ropes.

There will be some more on June 23rd, when a great ringers' festival will be held by the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, details of which may be seen in the advertisement columns.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

CHANGE OF TREASURER.

The annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held at Hastings on Saturday, June 2nd, when about sixty assembled at All Saints' Church for ringing, followed by a service at 4.30, conducted by the Rev. Walker, of Halton, Hastings, who delivered an eloquent address on 'Sanctification of Life.'

Afterwards those present proceeded to Corner House Restaurant, Fishmarket, where an excellent tea was provided.

The business meeting followed, the Master, Mr. J. Thornton Rickman, being in the chair. Arising out of the minutes of the last meeting was the question of the change in the treasurer'ship since the last annual meeting, which led to a somewhat animated discussion, followed by a unanimous welcome to the new treasurer, Mr. H. R. Butcher.

Mr. A. Huggett, of East Grinstead, was elected as a new member. The following officers were elected: President and vice-presidents; Master, Mr. J. T. Rickman; hon. treasurer, Mr. H. R. Butcher; hon. general secretary, Mr. A. D. Stone; hon. peal secretary, Mr. F. I. Hairs; auditors, Mr. W. Hart and Mr. N. Elliott; representative to

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CENTRAL COUNCIL BUSINESS REVIEWED.

Pinner was the venue of a successful meeting held by North and East District members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild on Saturday last, and, given the attraction of a musical peal of bells, it was not surprising that the attendance reached the satisfactory total of 50. The bells have recently been rendered less troublesome to the people living close to the tower by some very efficient shutters, and it is to be hoped that the complaints, which have been the cause of a serious curtailment of ringing at this church, will now cease.

The ringing, which took place during the afternoon and evening under the guidance of the District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles), was generally of a high standard—some good rounds for beginners and methods from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise to suit all tastes and abilities.

The service was conducted by the Rev. F. H. Hopkins, in the regretted absence of the Vicar, and a suitable sermon, with not too much about bells, was listened to attentively by a good congregation. After tea, a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by G. M. Kilby, G. R. Pye, Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, W. H. Hewett, G. W. Fletcher and C. W. Roberts.

Before any business was transacted, the Hon. Secretary explained that the Vicar (Rev. P. D. Ellis) was away on a much-needed holiday, following upon the death of his wife, who died recently after a very long illness. They were all exceedingly sorry for the cause of his absence. The Hon. Secretary also mentioned the death of Mr. F. W. H. Sergison (late secretary of the St. Clement's Youths), who had been a member of this association for some six years.

To show their sympathy with the Vicar of Pinner and with the widow of the late Mr. Sergison, members present stood for a few moments in silence.

After the adoption of the minutes of the last meeting, the Revs. P. D. Ellis and F. H. Hopkins were elected honorary members of the association.

Stanmore was chosen for the next meeting on July 14th, and it was announced that a joint meeting of the Herts and Middlesex Associations would be held at North Mimms on July 28th.

An interesting report on the meeting of the Central Council was given by the hon. secretary. Mr. Coles took each item on the agenda separately and explained what each of the several committees were doing. He drew attention to the forthcoming publication of a complete collection of 'Triples methods, at the price of about 1s. Regarding the motions discussed, whilst it was of great satisfaction to get the 'Bankes James' composition admitted as a true peal, it was a great surprise that a Council composed almost exactly as last year should accept those peals as true by a vote of 62 to 26, whereas last year it had rejected the same compositions by a pretty big majority. Mr. Coles facetiously suggested that the letters written by himself on the subject had had a good effect.

A discussion arose on the proposal made at the Council meeting to send photos of churches to ringing brethren in Melbourne and Hobart, and valuable suggestions were made for the guidance of the hon. secretary in dealing with the matter.

Mr. Coles concluded his report by mentioning the enormous amount of work put in by Mr. G. W. Fletcher (the hon. secretary of the Council) and his wife, which enabled the business of the Council to be got through in record time.

A supply of the latest publication, 'Hints to Instructors and Beginners,' was distributed by the hon. secretary to tower secretaries present.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells; to the Rev. F. H. Hopkins for his address; to the organist for adding to the harmony of the proceedings; and to Mr. K. J. Guyler for his very efficient arrangements. This was proposed by the chairman (Mr. W. Pickworth) and carried unanimously.

Ringing afterwards was continued until nearly nine o'clock, by which time most members had departed after a very enjoyable meeting.

Central Council, Mr. O. Sippetts: hon. trustees of funds, Mr. F. B. Tompkins, Mr. H. R. Butcher and Mr. G. H. Howse.

Brighton and Chichester were then proposed for the annual meeting in 1935, and the meeting decided in favour of Brighton, a special sub-committee to be appointed to make arrangements.

The Master closed the meeting with a vote of thanks to the authorities of the various churches for the use of the bells, and to the Rev. Walker for his helpful address.

Owing to the lengthy meeting it was too late to visit Christ Church, St. Leonards, to the great disappointment of many. St. Clement's, Hastings, being near, those remaining decided to conclude the ringing on this octave of steel bells, where, amongst other methods, a course of London Major was rung.

As usual, when held at this extreme end of the county, the meeting was not representative, only three members being present from the whole of the Western Division. The following towers were represented: Brighton (St. Peter's and the Good Shepherd), Eastbourne, Turner's Hill, Crawley, Battle, Ringmer, Lewes (Southover), Chichester, Lindfield, Cuckfield, Heathfield, Hartfield, East Grinstead, Mayfield, Rotherfield, Heene, Balcombe and Shoreham.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD SUCCESSFUL DISTRICT MEETINGS.

The Leatherhead District paid its usual biennial visit to Ockley on June 2nd. The Rector, the Rev. H. C. Martin, had forgone his afternoon's cricket to be there to welcome the members, and to conduct the Guild's form of service, and it was something unusual and encouraging to see several of the local band (although not members of the Guild and only capable of rounds and call changes) present all the afternoon.

The long draught and the heaviness going of the bells provided an experience for some of the youngsters, but they all had their try at rounds.

Twenty members and friends from Holmbury St. Mary, Scale, Leatherhead, Mickleham, Newdigate, Ockley and Warnham sat down to tea at the Red Lion, where they were joined later by the Rector, who had got too late for tea with the cricketers.

There was no business on the agenda to bring forward, but Mr. A. Rice was proposed a member of the Newdigate band and duly elected.

The Rector was thanked for his giving up his time to conduct the service, and for the use of the bells, and in reply he said he was only too pleased to have visitors ringing at the church. He deplored the fact that some ringers on their outing had passed through that morning without stopping for a ring. He was surprised that the charge for teas was so great, and expressed a hope to be able to invite the ringers to tea at the Rectory on the next visit.

A return was made to the tower, and the bells were kept going until nearly nine o'clock. A few 'Surprise' visitors putting in an appearance, methods up to Cambridge Surprise were rung, with plenty of 'rounds' interspersed, so that everyone present was catered for.

The Chertsey District had a successful meeting at Egham on May 26th. For the first time for a considerable period the district carried a meeting on its own shoulders, so to speak. There was an attendance of 17 from the various towers, and no one from outside the district, until the hon. general secretary put in an appearance late in the evening. The District Ringing Master (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) and the new district secretary (Mr. F. E. Hawthorne), backed by the Egham ringers, worked hard to make the meeting a success, and had the pleasure of electing one of the Egham churchwardens as an hon. member and two Weybridge ringers as active members.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION BRIDGEND BELLS FOR CHIMING ONLY.

A quarterly meeting was held at Llanfrechfa on Saturday last, when a splendid attendance, representative of a number of towers of the Monmouth diocese, was present. The bells, a ring of six by Blews, installed sixty years ago, were raised about three o'clock and rung in various methods until 4.30, when service was held, the Vicar, the Rev. Rhys Morris, officiating. His address, quite out of the ordinary, was most interesting. Following the service, tea was kindly provided in the schoolroom by the Church authorities.

At the subsequent business meeting, presided over by the Vicar, the representatives to the Central Council gave their reports, restorations and augmentations were dealt with, and it was regretted to learn that the new peal of bells to be installed at Bridgend were to be hung for chiming only, owing to the close proximity of the local hospital.

The hon. secretary read the circular letter he had received in regard to the proposed Australian tour, and it was decided to support the proposal to send photographs of noted towers as a gift to the ringers in the Commonwealth.

New members were elected, including the whole of the Llanfrechfa band, which is now a progressive change-ringing company, thanks to their leader, Mr. W. J. Powell.

Grosmont and Rumney were proposed as places to hold the next Monmouth meeting, and the voting went in favour of Rumney.

The visitors included the churchwardens and Mr. Addams Williams, a local gentleman who takes the keenest interest in the bells, the ringers and the parish in general.

The usual vote of thanks was passed to all who had helped to make the meeting such a huge success, and those who failed to put in an appearance missed a great treat.

The bells were kept going until late in the evening.

STILL RINGING AT 83.

At All Saints' Church, Newport, Mon., on June 4th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: T. J. Butler 1, F. Atwell 2, J. Butler 3, L. Bainham 4, Rev. I. Richards 5, F. Bullock 6, J. W. Jones (conductor) 7, H. Bullock 8.

Specially arranged for Mr. J. Butler, who is eighty-three years of age. He was a former Newport ringer, and is now resident at Bideford, Devon. He was visiting Newport for a holiday, when he took part in this quarter-peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Ernest Turner, of Ealing, is the youngest ringer to be elected an honorary member of the Central Council. In this respect he has beaten his friend, Mr. J. A. Trollope, by a few months, although the latter had served a term of three years as the representative of the Norwich Diocesan Association before being elected an honorary member.

Next Monday is the anniversary of the birth of Jasper Snowdon, who was born at Ilkley, Yorks (where he is buried), on June 18th, 1844.

The first peal on the bells at Hothfield, Kent, was rung last Sunday, on the occasion of a visit by the Lord Bishop of Dover. It was also the first peal in seven Treble Bob Minor methods by all the band, and was rung at the first attempt. The band received the Rector's congratulations after the peal, and enjoyed the kindly hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. A. Woolley in the evening.

Saffron Walden's 'Great Ringing Day' is to be held this year on Saturday, June 30th, instead of the proper day, June 27th. It is the 311th anniversary of the society.

The eleven peals of Surprise Major recorded this week were rung in no fewer than six methods. Surely a sign of the progress of the times.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

EIGHT RINGERS FOR COMMONWEALTH TRIP.

A band of eight ringers has now been completed for the proposed Australian tour, and the party will sail in the S.S. 'Barrabool' from London on September 14th.

The actual itinerary while in the Commonwealth has not yet been settled, but it will include visits to Melbourne, Sydney, Hobart and Ballarat, where peals will be attempted, and possibly to Perth, Adelaide, Geelong and Bendigo.

At Melbourne the ringers will be the guests of the Melbourne Centenary Committee, as it is in connection with these celebrations that the visit is being arranged, and the ringers from England will assist in the Armistice Day ceremony by ringing on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral. The central act of this commemoration is to be the dedication and opening by the Duke of Gloucester of a Hall of Remembrance, in which will be recorded the names of Australian men and women who gave their lives in the Great War.

In connection with the visit the associations and guilds in this country are being asked to contribute to a collection of photographs of the cathedrals and notable churches containing rings of bells in the homeland, to be presented to the ringing societies in Melbourne and Hobart. The Editor of 'The Ringing World' would remind Association and Guild secretaries that, as there are to be two collections of pictures, the photographs are required in duplicate, and the cost is 2s. for each of the two photographs, and not 2s. for the pair.

The tourists will take with them to their ringing brethren of Australia, the greetings of the ringers of the British Isles, expressed through a resolution of the Central Council.

'NOBODY'S' COMPOSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The reason why no composer's name was put to the peal of Double Norwich I called at Willesden was that it is just the sort of peal I have in mind when I say they cannot be said to be anybody's composition. There is a very simple dodge by which you can get a number of most excellent peals in many methods and many lengths. I think I was the first to work this dodge, at any rate, intentionally. That was many years ago, and I have used it when I have wanted to call peals in several methods—Double Oxford, Double Bob, Plain Bob Major, Bob Royal, Edmonton and Winchester, as well as Double Norwich. It gives you excellent peals that look to the uninitiated like irregular one-parts. I used it when I called a peal of Bob Royal at Isleworth the other day, and I dare say if I gave that composition and the 5,008 of Double Norwich to any one of your readers he would be rather puzzled if I told him they were the same composition. But my young friends now know the trick, and they smile in a superior way when I use it. It has served my purpose well enough in the past, but, really, I have not check enough to go on calling them original peals composed by me.

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

AMONG SUFFOLK BELLS.

On Whit Monday, May 21st, the Bishop's Stortford company, with friends, had their annual outing. Leaving by coach at 7.30 a.m., Sudbury was reached at 9 o'clock, and on the bells of St. Gregory's Church all had a pull. The next stop was Long Melford, where a pleasant time was spent in ringing and looking over the historic church. At Felixstowe they had lunch and tea and a few hours by the sea. On the return journey they stopped at Woodbridge, and all enjoyed ringing on the fine and much talked of peal of eight. The 'go' and lone are splendid and worthy of all the good things said about them. The last stop was St. Margaret's, Ipswich, also a good peal of eight, where short touches for an hour brought the ringing to a finish. Home was reached about 10.30 p.m. Thanks are extended to the Rectors, steeplekeepers and all who helped to make the day a great success.

SALISBURY GUILD'S FELLOWSHIP MEETING

A VISIT TO MILTON ABBEY.

Presentation to Rev. F. Ll. Edwards.

A memorable gathering took place at Milton Abbey, Dorset, on Saturday, when a 'fellowship' meeting, arranged primarily for Dorset ringers, but attended by many from outside the county, was held by the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. The project was initiated by Mr. C. H. Jennings, the enthusiastic hon. secretary of the Dorchester Branch, and eagerly supported by the members of the Guild, who were present with their friends in almost overwhelming force.

Milton Abbey is set in one of the most glorious bits of countryside to be found in all this wide realm. It is no exaggeration to say that, seen under the conditions which prevailed on Saturday, there is no more beautiful spot to be found in England. 'Far from the madding crowd,' it lies in the folds of the wooded hills, now in all the glory of 'leafy June,' and the summer sun smiled down when, from car and coach, some 600 people were decanted on to the spacious lawns where the abbey and the mansion, once a Benedictine monastery, rise in stately grandeur.

The monastery and collegiate church of Milton were founded by King Athelstan, grandson of Alfred the Great, and later it was converted into an abbey. The original minster was a noble stone building, rich in shrines and relics. It was restored and enlarged, if not rebuilt, in Norman times, and was then a building of considerable architectural pretensions. In 1309 the church was struck by lightning, and, except for two Norman arches, was burnt to the ground. Thirteen years later, as we learn from an interesting brochure by the Rev. Herbert Pentin, the present abbey church was commenced on the same site, but on a much larger and grander scale, and building operations went on from time to time until within a short period of the Dissolution in 1539.

In 1787 the Abbey underwent a 'restoration,' when the church was despoiled of its fittings and chantry chapels, and other valuable objects of interest went down under the hand of the 'restorer.' From the Dissolution onward the Abbey was in private ownership, and in 1865, at the expense of the late Baron Hambro, in whose possession it then was, it was restored by Sir Gilbert Scott and left in its present beautiful condition.

THE BELLS.

In 1933 the Abbey and adjoining property passed into the hands of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. The building consists of choir and chancel with side aisles, and north and south transepts, over which rises the tower, but the nave has never been built. The tower is spacious, as these abbey towers usually are, but the bells have little to commend them. They are a light ring, of poor musical quality, and distractingly noisy in the ringing room, which is practically open to the belfry above. But thereby hangs a tale.

About the year 1870 it was proposed to put a ring of eight bells in the tower, and these were cast by Warners. Then it was thought that the tower was too weak to take them all, and only the front five were hung, the three heaviest bells being disposed of to other churches. This was the position of affairs when Mr. J. Hack, an enthusiastic ringer, entered the employ of Sir Everard Hambro, who owned the Abbey and occupied the mansion, in 1900. Mr. Hack did his best to persuade Sir Everard to complete the octave, and he at last consented to give a tenor bell. Then a faculty was obtained to dispose of an old cracked bell in the Parish Church, and this was sent to the foundry and converted into two trebles for the Abbey. Thus the present ring was completed about the year 1909, the bells being cast by Messrs. Llewellyns and James. Mr. Hack taught a band of ringers, and arrangements had been made to put another ceiling into the ringing room when the war came, and nothing further was done. Eventually Mr. Hack moved away to Kent and now resides at Crowborough, Sussex, but he was among the ringers who visited the Abbey on Saturday.

AN INSPIRING SERVICE

The seating capacity of the Abbey could not accommodate all who attended the service, which was a very inspiring one. It was conducted by the Vicar of Milton Abbas (Rev. C. J. Ellwood), and among the other clergy present were the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Guild), Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Guild),

Rev. C. C. Cox (Master of the West Dorset Branch), and the Rev. C. J. Phillips (hon. secretary of the East Dorset Branch). It was a matter for regret that the Lord Bishop of Salisbury, who had promised to preach, was unwell and unable to be present. His place was taken by the Archdeacon of Dorset.

The opening hymn was 'All people that on earth do dwell,' and the other hymns used were 'Raised aloft within the steeple' and 'We love the place, O God,' while Psalms 122 and 150 were also sung. The lesson, from Kings viii., was read by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, and as a prelude to the 'Magnificat,' a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by four Poole ringers: Messrs. H. Mitchell, F. Townsend, W. Houlton and P. Davis. They were stationed on the stone screen at the entrance to the choir, and the sound of the bells floated down very effectively to the large congregation on the floor of the Abbey.

The Archdeacon, in the course of his address, expressed the regret of the Bishop that he was unable to fulfil his promise to preach. He went on to speak of the valuable work which was done by ringers, but reminded them that it was not enough for them to be interested in campanology merely for the exercise or pleasure they got out of it. They must love it for God's sake, and when they rang it should be for His honour and glory. Having briefly touched upon the evolution of the bell, the Archdeacon said it was the ringers who made these instruments speak, who called the people to worship, prayer and praise. Their lives should, therefore, harmonise with the message of the bells; they should be devout and reverent in God's House, and bear their witness in their lives outside.

The service concluded with the National Anthem.

A collection taken for the expenses of the service realised over £7. The caterers were faced with a big problem in providing tea. Arrangements had been made to deal with a party of 400, but half as many again were present. The difficulty was surmounted by a second sitting, albeit it was somewhat late before everyone had been provided for. That, however, was not the fault of the organisers. It was another instance of people turning up in large numbers without previously notifying their intention to do so. And Milton Abbey is seven miles from Blandford, the nearest town.

Between the sittings the whole party were gathered in the shadow of the east wall of the Abbey, where votes of thanks were passed to all who had shared in the day's arrangements, the Archdeacon, the Vicar, the organist and blower, the churchwardens, the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and, last but not least, to Mr. Jennings, to whose happy thought the gathering was due, and who had worked so unsparingly for its success. The vote was proposed by the Master and seconded by the Rev. C. C. Cox.

APPRECIATION OF HON. SECRETARY'S SERVICES.

The Master afterwards said that day would go down as a red-letter day in the history of the Salisbury Guild, not only because of that great meeting, but because it was a kind of commemoration of the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards' twenty-one years' work as hon. secretary of the Guild (applause). He looked upon that gathering as an expression of appreciation of the wonderful work which Mr. Edwards had done for the Guild for the last 21 years. He was going to ask the Archdeacon to present Mr. Edwards with a little memento of his work, in the shape of an illuminated address, and a cheque with their love and best wishes (applause). Might he long continue as secretary of the Guild (applause).

The Archdeacon said it was with very great pleasure on behalf of the Guild that he asked Mr. Edwards to accept the address and cheque.

The address, which was of magnificent workmanship and framed, had five hand-painted miniatures, Salisbury Cathedral at the top, on one side Winborne Minster and Sherborne Abbey, and on the other side Trowbridge Parish Church and Milton Abbey. It was worded as follows:—

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD OF RINGERS.

To the

REV. FRANK LLEWELLYN EDWARDS, M.A.

We, the members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers, ask you to accept the accompanying small gift as a mark of our affection and appreciation of your services as of our Guild for the past 21 years, and we also wish you may live many years to carry on in the secretarial office in the same able way as you have in the past.

(Signed) SHAFESBURY President.

Milton Abbey, June 9th, 1934.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said they had certainly prepared a surprise for him. He thanked them with all his heart for the appreciation they had shown of his 21 years' work as their secretary. These 21 years had been eventful years in the life of the Guild. The membership had nearly doubled, and the Guild had been divided into four branches, but it was the work of the branch secretaries and officers which was largely responsible for the increase in numbers and efficiency of the Guild. Milton Abbey would have wonder-

BELLS AND THE PRESS.

In their report, presented by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, the Literature, Press and Broadcasting Committee said:—

Seldom, if ever, before have bells and bellringing occupied so prominent a place in the Press as during the past twelve months. The great literary event of this period has been the appearance of Miss Dorothy Sayers' most original novel, 'The Nine Tailors,' wherein the story turns on a nine-hour peal, and a clever cypher is made out of a course of Kent Treble Bob. The solution of the mysterious death of a man, whose body had been found in the bellchamber—that he was killed by the noise of the bells—might indeed be regarded rather as a two-edged weapon, but there is no doubt that the book has had the effect of calling public attention to the scientific aspect of change ringing. Most significant of all is the fact that the 'Daily Express' thought it worth while to publish the novel as a serial story with copious illustrations of the belfry. Of the drawings it may be observed that one of the actual ringing was rather of the old Christmas card type, but those of the bells and their fittings presented a vivid and accurate picture.

The broadcast of the bells of Bethlehem to the world last Christmas Eve naturally claimed a place of honour in the printed page, and in many instances photographs of the Church of the Nativity were reproduced, showing one or more of the bells.

Bow Bells have become more famous than ever. The restoration and reopening of this historic peal commanded the general attention of journalists both in Britain and America, while the interesting experiment recently introduced by the B.B.C. of using a gramophone record of the old bells, as an interval signal, formed the subject of many a newspaper paragraph. A lively correspondence on this innovation in the 'Times' and other newspapers has afforded one more proof of the fact that it is no use trying to please everybody!

NEWSPAPERS REGARD CAMPANOLOGY AS 'GOOD COPY.'
The temporary silence of Big Ben has brought that world-famous bell into the news of the day. This again has given rise to an animated discussion in the 'Times' and other journals on the question whether Big Ben should be recast—and robbed of his individuality. There is adequate reason to believe that his friendly old jumble of tones will continue as heretofore to appeal to the sentiments of listeners throughout the King's Dominions. The substitution of St. Paul's clock chiming for those of Westminster has elicited a number of well-informed paragraphs on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral. The transfer of three bells from a disused village church to the tower of St. Andrew-by-the-Wardrobe, the recasting of Wolsey's great bell at Sherborne Abbey and the repair of ancient bells in two Suffolk churches by welding have featured prominently in the Press. In this last connection the fact that an article written by the Rev. H. Drake for a Suffolk weekly, the 'Woodbridge Reporter,' was reproduced in full in the 'Western Gazette,' published at Yeovil, suggests that editors regard campanology as 'good copy.' The memorable scene enacted at Sherborne, when boys of Sherborne School, under the direction of Major Hesse, pulled the recast tenor from the station to the Abbey, engaged the close attention of Press photographers, and claimed pride of place in the pictorial pages. Indeed, that popular journal, the 'Daily Mirror,' assigned to it the whole of its front page. The appearance of this picture gave occasion to a humorous incident, which gained currency in the local Press. A lady wrote to the headmaster stating that she had in her house a bust of Cardinal Wolsey, and offering to present it to the school in memory of the part taken by the boys in connection with Wolsey's Bell. The matter was referred to the Vicar and the bust was duly sent. It proved to be that of John Wesley! (laughter). In several of the instances enumerated the editors of the papers concerned have improved the occasion to publish leading articles on bells and bellringing in general, while the correspondence columns, especially of the 'Times,' have furnished striking evidence of widespread interest in these subjects, letters on which have ranged over an extensive field of bell lore.

A LAW CASE.

Recent records in peal ringing set up both by veterans and by youthful performers have found their due place in the news columns. The exploits of Edwin Barnett and Phyllis Tillett have obtained considerable publicity in East Anglian papers, and well-informed comments have appeared in print. The 'Daily Herald' has frequent references to the ringer's art, evidently from the pen of one with technical knowledge. One Mr. Peppercorn was recently represented as saying, 'Bellringing isn't as simple as you'd think. . . . Treble Bob Major sounds like an army man, and Grandsire Triple might be the oldest inhabitant.' The 'Daily Express' last month published a striking account of a visit to the belfry of Bow Church, with a vivid description of the ringing and interesting personal notes on well-known members of the Exercise. Erudite contributions from the pen of Mr. R. Richardson have been appearing in a Midland magazine. A pleasing incident has been reported of Sir G. Lowndes, of Indian fame, revisiting the Dorset home of his childhood on purpose to hear the bells ring in the new year.

One case of objection to church bells obtained general notice. An injunction was sought to restrain the Vicar of St. Alban's, Golders

Green, from causing annoyance by a chime of bells. Three members of the Central Council attended the Court during most of the hearing. Counsel for plaintiff gave a very thorough and interesting exposition of the provisions of Canon Law with respect to church bells. Mr. Justice Luxmoore showed himself well instructed in the proper uses of bells, and with commendable firmness upheld the statutory right and duty of the clergy to maintain such uses. The case was settled by agreement. The impression left was that a more satisfactory settlement might have been obtained and much time and money saved if the Vicar had in the first instance sought the advice of the Central Council.

A letter was sent to the B.B.C. thanking them for the broadcasts of ringing at Christmas and the New Year, and at the same time calling their attention to a most unfortunate use of a record of muffled bells illustrating Dickens' Christmas Carol. The secretary of the Council received an appreciative and courteous reply.

The report concluded with quotations from a magnificent article which appeared in the 'Times' on March 23rd, in the course of which it said: 'There are sweet bells in France, in Italy, in Belgium; but the English country is their true home. And it will never do for England to listen to the fretful fuss of those who would silence her church bells, whether over her fields or over the noisy towns in which they are the only music.'

BROADCASTING.

An additional report by Mr. Albert Walker, on the broadcasting side of the committee's work, was read as follows:—

During the year since Whitsuntide, 1933, there have been several broadcasts of bells in conjunction with the Sunday evening services from various churches and cathedrals. The most notable were the broadcast of Westminster Abbey and Canterbury Cathedral bells for the passing of the old year and ringing in the new year, and more recently the broadcast from Beverley Minster, Yorks, when the Bourdon bell, 'Great John,' in the south-west tower, was rung in conjunction with the noble peal of ten bells in the north-west tower of the Minster, with splendid effect.

It is to be regretted that there is a falling off in bell broadcasts previous to broadcast services from churches in the Midland Counties. Taking Birmingham as an example, St. Martin's Church, the Cathedral and St. Chad's R.C. Cathedral, whose bells have been generally broadcast, have been omitted, although Sunday evening services have on several occasions been broadcast since February 17th last, the date of the last broadcast from Birmingham Cathedral.

We have been in communication with the B.B.C. Midland Director, who assures us that these omissions are temporary and that they hope to include the bells again at an early date. The Rector of Birmingham, Canon T. Guy Rogers, who is a member of the Broadcast Services Advisory Committee of the B.B.C., has promised his support to have the bells included in future broadcasts.

Mr. W. A. Cave seconded the adoption of the report.

Mr. G. R. Newton referred to the absence of bells before many of the broadcast church services, and particularly to the absence of bells prior to the broadcast of a service from Ripon Cathedral, which was relayed to a large number of churches in the north. They had the organ before the service, said Mr. Newton, but he thought there were other times during the service when the organist got his chance to let the people hear the lovely organ music which was so much appreciated. It was a great disappointment that they could not hear the fine ring of bells at Ripon before that service. That service ought to have been preceded by the bells, and he suggested that the attention of the B.B.C. should be drawn to the omission.

B.B.C.'S MISTAKES.

Mr. C. T. Coles said he too wrote, in conjunction with Mr. Richardson, to the B.B.C. as to the misuse of a muffled bells record in the Christmas play. The B.B.C. replied, thanking them for pointing out the mistake, and remarking that 'unfortunately no Christmas bells had been recorded as yet.' Obviously, said Mr. Coles, there were plenty of records, and he sent the B.B.C. a list of the records which he knew existed. Mr. Coles also referred to the broadcast of a sketch in which a trick was supposed to be played, and a man, who was supposed to be secreted in a church, rang all the bells, the record being that of Grandsire Triples. That again was obviously silly. On writing to the B.B.C., Mr. Coles said he got a reply some time later saying that the matter was receiving attention in the proper quarter. Mr. Coles suggested that the Council might do something to stop the use of inappropriate broadcast records. There was, he said, another case, when there was a broadcast of a Russian opera of the period 1598-1605. In that they had the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral rung to Stedman Cinques (laughter). Apparently change ringing was much older than many of them thought and came from Moscow (laughter). The matter, of course, had its serious side, and he suggested that when members of the Council heard things of that sort on the wireless they should communicate with the secretary of the Council. With regard to the interlude of Bow Bells, although he for one appreciated bells, he thought the use of one particular record became rather monotonous, and he suggested that the Council should call attention to the fact that there might be a variation of the records used, there were plenty of them, including St. Paul's and St. Margaret's. With all respect to those who made the excellent record of Bow Bells, he thought they would admit that to have a variation from call change ringing would be appreciated.

The President said the most satisfactory part of Mr. Coles' statement was that letters to the B.B.C. did sometimes have some effect, and they had better go on writing (hear, hear).

The report was adopted, and the President added that when the correspondence in the 'Times' began about Great Tom and Great Paul a certain Capt. Cockayne wrote pointing out that the statement of the B.B.C. that they were going to broadcast Great Tom must be wrong, and that it was Great Paul and not Great Tom they were going to use, because bells were given the name of the Cathedral to which they belonged. When he (the president) saw that letter he wrote to the 'Times' pointing out that the B.B.C. were right, because it was Great Tom, which came from Westminster, upon which the clock struck. He got a courteous reply from the 'Times,' who said they would have published his letter if they had not already got set up in type a letter from Mr. Griggs, R.A., to the same effect. He (the president) took the opportunity of signing his letter officially and he was hoping that for once they might have got into the 'Times.' They nearly did it, but not quite (laughter).

This brought the Council to the end of the committee's reports, and an adjournment was then made for luncheon.

COUNCIL MAJORITIES.

When the Council resumed in the afternoon, the members came to the discussion of motions, the first being, 'That no decision of the Council relating to the ringing of peals shall be binding unless passed by a two-thirds majority of the meeting.' It was formally moved by Mr. J. A. Trollope and seconded by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, and then an amendment suggested by the Standing Committee was accepted, altering the last words, 'of the meeting,' to 'of the members present.'

Mr. W. E. White asked why the stipulation should apply to the ringing of peals only and not to the other business of the Council?

The President said the old rule was that all decisions of the Council on matters other than those of private business should be passed by two-thirds majority, but that was done away with under the new rules passed last year. It was felt that on this particular question of the recognition of peals, no decision should be taken, either by a snap vote or a small majority.

Mr. P. J. Johnson asked if it was suggested that some particular part of the business of the Council was to be subjected to a given majority, but not the other business? The new rules were only carried last year; were they going to start turning them upside down already? Any majority that was required to carry any other business of the Council ought to be used for the same purpose for defining peals or anything connected with the Council (hear, hear).

The Rev. H. Drake said the president had pointed out that the two-thirds majority proviso was done away with when they passed the new rules. It was a point that was never brought up for discussion, and it had never been agreed to after discussion that they should do away with a two-thirds majority on matters relating to peals.

The President stated that the reason for the Standing Committee's recommendation was that the meeting was constituted by those who signed the roll, and it might be awkward to insist on a two-thirds majority of the 'meeting,' because very often some members had to leave after lunch and before the business of the Council was completed.

PROTECTION OF MINORITIES.

Mr. Trollope then spoke to the motion as amended. He said when the Council was first constituted it was one of the rules that no resolution which affected the outside Exercise should be operative unless it were passed by two-thirds majority. He had been a member of the Council for 38 years, and he only remembered that rule being invoked once before last year, and that was at Worcester in 1902, so that to all intents and purposes it had become a dead letter until last year, and then it was brought into operation over the six-bell peal question. When the revision of rules was made last year the proviso was omitted. He had no means of knowing why, but he imagined that it was felt by those who were re-drafting the rules that it had not functioned. But he proposed now to ask the Council to revive it for one particular purpose only, and that was for the actual ringing of peals, the object being that they should not be at the mercy of a snap division, and that when the Council and the Exercise were sharply divided on any point the minority would be protected; in other words, that a large minority should not be at the mercy of a small majority, especially when the minority contained most of those people who were really interested in the question at issue. What the Council was now asked to agree to was that nothing went out as the authoritative ruling of the Council which had not behind it a large majority of the Council, so that they could say it was the considered opinion of the Council. It had been pointed out to him that the resolution might have the opposite effect to that intended, and he had been asked how they were to have any progress at all if they had to wait until they had a two-thirds majority? He held that this resolution, if carried, would be beneficial, provided they only looked upon their rules for peal ringing in the right way. A lot of people spoke of the rules as if they were restrictive rules, that they must do this or that they must not do the other. That, in his opinion, was not the object of the rules of the Council as far as peal ringing was concerned. Their object was to set up a standard below which they hoped and expected ringers would not fall. To some extent they had to say that they must not do certain things, but they must take the attitude that no rule could ever forbid anything being rung which was not in the mind of the Council at the time the rule was laid down. If any improvement should come up which was not known when the rule was laid down, that rule should not be construed as forbidding it, neither should it be construed as allowing it. These improvements were things which did not occur very often, perhaps once or twice in a generation. Supposing ten years ago a band made up their mind to ring a peal of Spliced Surprise and wanted to be loyal to the decisions of the Council. If they turned to the rules they would have found that a peal had to be rung in one method only. What should they do? Should they say that the rule as it stood forbade spliced ringing, and that they must get the rule altered before they rang the peal? Had they taken that attitude they would never have rung a spliced peal; long before the rule was altered all the enthusiasm would have evaporated, and the band, perhaps, broken up. But they said, in effect, when this rule was drawn up nobody dreamed about ringing this Spliced Surprise, therefore they considered the rule did not affect it one way or the other. When the peal had been rung and it came before the Council this suggested two-thirds majority, if carried, would operate. It would prevent anything being rushed on the Exercise if it was not desirable, and would give time for any improvement to prove whether it was right or wrong. Sometimes it took a long while, sometimes years, to get a considered opinion of the Exercise, and this rule would serve to keep a question open while they were deciding whether a thing was desirable or not. The object of the resolution was to protect minorities, but if he thought it would be used to stop improvement he would be inclined to vote against it himself.

AMENDMENT AND MOTION DEFEATED.

Mr. W. E. White asked why the motion should apply to peal ringing only? He saw no reason for that.

The President pointed out that under Rule 15 all alterations in the rules of the Council had to be passed by a two-thirds vote.

Mr. White moved that the resolution before the Council should apply to all motions put before the Council.

Mr. P. J. Johnson seconded.

Mr. Coles said if this amendment were passed they would, in his opinion, be going backward. He did not think they should require a two-thirds majority for merely pious expressions of opinion, such as, for instance, was contained in motion No. 14 on the agenda, and if that amendment were passed it certainly would apply to No. 14.

The President said the new rules passed last year were in the Press for nearly a year; people were asked for criticisms and to send in amendments. Ample opportunity was given for discussion, and if people did not take that opportunity it was their own fault.

The Rev. H. Drake said he did not mean that in what he had previously said. What he meant was that they did not actually discuss it.

The President: Presumably you did not discuss it because you didn't want to.

Mr. J. Hunt advised the Council to vote against Mr. Trollope's resolution. Had Mr. Trollope come there with the backing of an association, he (Mr. Hunt) would have considered supporting the motion, but he came there as an individual member. This two-thirds majority under the new rules was quashed, and they were now asked to reinstate it. His advice to them was to vote against the motion, and when they had anything to vote on let them vote on it and pass it like men.

Alderman Pritchett hoped the Council would not pass the resolution. His chief objection to it was that they might never be able to get enough people of one mind to carry a resolution by a two-thirds majority. A minor objection was they had just made new rules on the theory that they were competent to pass by a majority anything they thought fit. They ought not to depart from or make exceptions to it. The Council consisted of experienced ringers for the most part, capable of making up their minds and making them up in a sensible direction. They were naturally cautious, and it was not likely they would pass by a small majority an important resolution. Those who had fears of a considerable minority being overridden might rely on it that there was sufficient good sense among the members of the Council to prevent anything of that kind happening.

The Rev. E. S. Powell said he felt it incumbent to speak on behalf of the resolution, and particularly in regard to what they had heard from Mr. Pritchett. They had been told by the president, and surely that was an answer to Alderman Pritchett, that they already had in the rules that any alteration to the rules had got to have a two-thirds majority. Surely matters relating to peal ringing, things like Spliced Surprise and peals of Minor, were essential matters of some importance and equal in that respect to the rules of the Council. If that were so, and if it were wrong that there should be a two-thirds majority on matters dealing with peals, then they were wrong to insist on a two-thirds majority in the alteration of rules. He asked the Council to consider that before they voted against the resolution.

The amendment that all motions before the Council should require a two-thirds majority was then put to the meeting and defeated by a large majority, and Mr. Trollope's motion was next put and also defeated.

'CENTENARY' COMMEMORATION BELLS. FORESTERS' GIFT TO BECKENHAM CHURCH.

The centenary of the Ancient Order of Foresters Friendly Society has been appropriately perpetuated at Beckenham, Kent, by the dedication of two treble bells, by the Lord Bishop of Rochester, on Sunday, June 3rd. A tablet recording the gift of the bells by the local Court, 'St. George' No. 5106, of the Beckenham District, was also unveiled. The Parish Church of St. George now possesses a very comfortable peal of 10 with a tenor 14½ cwt.

A congregation of nearly 500, including Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. Cyril Johnston (Croydon), officers of the Kent County Association, and officers and members of kindred friendly societies, assembled for the Foresters' service that had been arranged, and it was during this service that the dedication and unveiling took place.

The bells by the Croydon Foundry have been erected independently of the old octave, and it is agreed that the combination has been very well made, whilst the rearrangement in the ringing chamber leaves nothing to be desired.

The inscriptions on the new bells are:—

Treble.—'Ancient Order of Foresters Friendly Society Centenary, 1934.'

Second.—'Court "St. George" No. 5106, Beckenham District.'

The tablet, affixed near to the entrance to the tower, has been completed in oak with synthetic ivory inlaid throughout. It is of very smart appearance, and is quite an improvement on the usual brass and enamel plate. Messrs. Daymond, of Edward Street, Victoria, S.W., were entrusted with this work.

After the dedication and up to evensong touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Treble Bob Royal were rung, whilst after evensong the tower was again visited, when several of the local band gathered to try out their newly-acquired gift.

An open ringing day is to be arranged during July, of which good notice will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Kingsley-Rutter, granddaughter of Mrs. Craggs (wife of the Vicar of Heston), which took place at Heston earlier in the day.

ful memories for him all his life, for it was there he first attended an annual meeting of the Salisbury Guild, and it was there he had received that splendid and generous recognition of his 21 years' service as secretary of the Guild. When he attended his first meeting of the Salisbury Guild there was no church in the diocese with more than eight bells, but shortly after the ring of eight at Wimborne was increased to ten. A little while after that they had a ten-bell tower provided for them at Trowbridge, and this year it was to become the first twelve-bell tower in the diocese. There had been immense progress in the matter of method ringing, and the Guild had celebrated its jubilee, so altogether during the 21 years he had held office they had seen a great deal of interest and advance in the Guild (applause). Everything he had done for the Guild, Mr. Edwards added, had given him the greatest pleasure. He thanked them for the confidence they had shown in him by re-electing him year after year, and for the generous way in which they had recognised his humble services (applause).

The ringing during the day consisted of short touches in standard methods, so that all could have a pull. The gathering was a most enjoyable one, and the visitors left the charming surroundings with the greatest reluctance.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT BARKSTON.

A quarterly meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild (Southern Branch) was held at Barkston on Saturday, May 26th. Perfect weather conditions prevailed and the picturesque surrounding countryside was looking at its very best. Thirty ringers and friends were present from Peterborough, Bourne, Market Deeping, Morton, Bottesford, Hough-on-the-Hill, Wymondham, Orston, Sandicars, Belton, Syston, Folkingham and the local band. The Rector (the Rev. Thorold Eller) kindly allowed the use of the bells during the afternoon and evening, and touches in a big variety of Minor methods were successfully brought round. Service was held in the ancient and well-preserved Church of St. Nicholas, and was conducted by the Rector, the lesson being read, and a very helpful and appropriate address given, by the Rev. A. L. Hopkins, Vicar of Edenham and president of the branch.

Tea was served at a local cafe, 22 sitting down. At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. A. L. Hopkins presided.

The Rev. Thorold Eller was unanimously elected a vice-president of the branch. Mr. G. Williamson and Mr. C. Woods, both of Peterborough, were received as performing members of the Southern Branch.

Edenham was selected for the summer meeting provisionally fixed for July 21st, when it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

The Rector extended a very hearty welcome to those present, and said he was very glad to see such a well-attended meeting and so many towers represented. He paid great tribute to his own ringers, who always set a good example in Sunday service ringing at his churches.

The Rev. A. L. Hopkins referred to an ancient record which he had discovered at the famous Boston Stump Church. It was over a century ago that a relation of his was married in Boston Church, and one item which he thought would be of interest to ringers was that the sum of over £4 was 'paid to ye ringers for drink.' He thought this was a very liberal amount, and particularly so in those days.

It certainly does make one wonder whether the 'course ends' came up in their proper order, after such a lavish sum had been devoted to the purpose for which it was given. Those who remember the old ring at Boston Stump, compared with the present day one, will make allowances for those gentlemen of a century ago.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, and the service, and to the Rev. A. L. Hopkins for his excellent address. Thanks also go to the organist and members of the choir who attended the service, and to all who helped to make the meeting a success.

The tower was visited again in the evening and ringing continued until 8.30.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD CEFN COED WIN COMPETITION.

The tenth annual bellringing competition in connection with the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild was held at St. Elli's Church, Llanelly (Carm), on May 26th. The following towers entered the competition: Cadoxton, Talgarth, Llanelly (Brecon), Cefn Coed, St. Mary's, Brecon, Gorseinon and Llanelly (Carm). Mr. W. H. Fussell (Slough), who once again gave his services, was the adjudicator, and he awarded the shield to Cefn Coed, Cadoxton took second place and Gorseinon and Llanelly (Carm) tied for the third position. The ringers were favoured with ideal weather and were royally catered for throughout the day by Canon D. M. Jones, Vicar of Llanelly, the churchwardens and a willing band of ladies.

The presentation of the shield took place in the Parish Hall after tea, and was presided over by the Rev. D. T. Price in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar.

Mrs. Gardner very kindly presented the shield to Mr. A. Hunt and medals to the members of the winning team. Certificates were also awarded to the captains of Cadoxton, Gorseinon and Llanelly (Carm) teams.

Votes of thanks were heartily accorded to the Vicar and the ladies for catering and to Mr. Fussell for adjudicating.

The secretary (Mr. L. Havard) gratefully acknowledges the kind assistance of Mr. S. V. Rees, captain of the home team, for the splendid arrangements he had made.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A small, but happy, ringing meeting of the Central Branch took place at Wilburton on Saturday, June 9th. The bells were set going about 3 p.m. to Bob Minor, while during the day methods ranged up to and including London Surprise. The Guild service was held in the church at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the former general secretary of the association, the Rev. R. Copeman, who is doing duty at Wilburton for two weeks. He gave a splendid address from 1 Timothy iv. 8. He recalled the recent letters in 'The Ringing World' of dull sermons by different clergy. Well, this was a different sermon or address, and good it was. Tea was served at the Royal Oak, and at the business meeting afterwards Willingham was selected for the next meeting.

WELL-KNOWN WALTHAMSTOW RINGER'S DEATH.

One of the oldest and most respected members of the St. Mary's Society, Walthamstow, Mr. William B. Manning, died on Saturday, June 9th, on his 75th birthday.

He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Essex, Herts and Middlesex Associations. At one time he was a ringer at St. John's at Hackney, and later at Royston, Herts.

Last year he suffered a severe shock when struck by lightning at Snarbrook, his companion, and also a dog he was holding, being killed. This undoubtedly affected his health, and he has never since been the 'same old Bill.'

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*WEST TYNE DISTRICT SECRETARY.

A very enjoyable meeting of the West Tyne District was held at Newton Hall on Saturday. There was a good attendance, and the bells were kept going merrily until 8 p.m., except for a break for tea, which was held in the inn in the village.

At the meeting afterwards Mr. H. P. Cliff was elected district secretary.

The president, Mr. J. Anderson, was again in attendance; indeed, he has never missed a meeting since this district resumed its activities, and the retiring secretary took the opportunity to thank him, Mr. Storey and others of the Cathedral Guild for the support given him during his term of office.

FIRST QUARTER-PEALS.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.

There were few members of the Central Council who anticipated the carrying, by such a large majority, of the motion making definitely permissible as a peal compositions on the Bankes James Cambridge Minor plan. Apparently 88 of the one hundred members who signed the attendance roll took part in the division, and, of these, no fewer than 62 voted for the resolution. It was seemingly a complete volte face compared with the attitude taken last year, when, under an old rule a two-thirds majority was required, and a resolution, although carried, failed to get sufficient votes to make it effective. But on that occasion the position was obscured by two motions and an amendment all being debated together, so that the issue was by no means a simple one. In the light of this year's voting, if the majority of the members of the Council have not entirely changed their view, it looks as if last year's result was a 'safety first' action, because many members had, at that time, no definite ideas on the subject.

Since the London meeting the position has been made clearer by articles and letters in our columns, and at the Warwick meeting the members had one plain issue before them, untrammelled by exceptions and qualifications. They were simply asked to say that peals of Minor containing compositions in the Bankes James Arrangement were permissible, and there was a convincing array of argument in favour of it. The theoretical truth of the peal was argued; the claims of the composition as a natural development of the science was advanced; the desire of practical ringers from many quarters to ring it was declared, and, coupled with this, the Council were reminded that if they refused to accept it they would be going back upon their own actions, and were warned that they might make themselves in the future appear to be very foolish. The main arguments against the motion were that the peal was false or that no one ought to want to ring seven 720's in one method. The latter objection carried little weight, and those who urged the falseness of the peal found the facts and the earlier considered opinions of the Council against them. The result of the debate was conclusive; it might almost be said to be overwhelming.

The discussion was carried on in a splendid spirit, and it was noticeable, despite all that has been heard from time to time that the Exercise is 'sick' of the Minor question, that not only was the debate followed with intense interest by everyone, but that during the week-end the subject formed the pivot of innumerable informal discussions and arguments. It is true that it is quite time the subject was settled. It has been occupying the attention of the Council almost regularly for five or six years. Well, the Bankes James Arrangement, at any rate, is now accepted as a peal and as a true peal, be it remembered. The main argument of the mover and seconder was that it complies with the requirements of truth, and those who now seek to prove it otherwise must show that the Council's considered definitions of a method and a lead—accepted by everyone for years without demur—are all wrong.

Other issues on the Minor and Doubles question, such as the truth of the Law James Arrangement of London, the Turner Treble Bob and the Morris and Pitman Arrangements of Doubles, are, however, still unsettled. They involve other principles and other considerations, and it still remains for the Council to express an opinion upon them. They are not, at any rate in the view of many people, on all fours with the Bankes James Arrangement, and for that reason were expressly omitted from the debate at the Council meeting. But these other issues will have to be dealt with, if not immediately, then in a few years' time. Meanwhile, those who ring these peals are faced with the same doubts as beset those who rang the Bankes James Cambridge. Are they ringing something which the future may say is false?

CORDIAL WELCOME AT WOMBOURNE.

A quarterly meeting was held at Wombourne on Saturday, June 2nd, in glorious summer weather. The bells were placed at the disposal of the members, and service was conducted by the esteemed Vicar of Wombourne (the Rev. H. L. Langly), who gave a very interesting and instructive address. He gave the members a very hearty welcome to Wombourne, and hoped they would all enjoy their visit.

After service an adjournment was made to the Church Institute, where an excellent tea was in readiness, to which upwards of fifty sat down. During tea a happy event took place. The Vicar took the opportunity of making a presentation, in the form of a wrist watch, from the Wombourne ringers, to Mr. H. Sadler, in appreciation of his services to the band as captain and leader during the past 19 years. The Vicar expressed his own regret and that of the ringers at Mr. Sadler having to give up ringing owing to his doctor's advice and for his health's sake.—Mr. Sadler thanked the Vicar for his kind remarks, and the ringers for their gift. He said that if at any time he could be of assistance to any one of them he would only be too glad.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar presided, and again said he was pleased to meet the Guild members once more. He also invited them to visit his beautiful garden, an invitation which was greatly appreciated.

Several new members were added to the roll. The Vicar and his churchwarden, Mr. John Aspe, were elected honorary members.

It was arranged that the quarterly peal be attempted at Wombourne, the necessary arrangements being left with the Ringing Master (Mr. John Goodman, jun.). It was also proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at the Old Church, Smethwick, the date to be fixed by the secretary.

At the close of the meeting Mr. S. J. Hughes proposed that the best thanks of the meeting be given to the Vicar of Wombourne for his kindness and welcome, to the organist for the musical part of the service, the donors of the tea, and those ladies who so kindly prepared and served it, and to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting a happy and successful one, especially Mr. P. Thorpe, the local secretary, for making the necessary arrangements.—The Vicar replied on behalf of himself and all those concerned, and closed the meeting with prayer.

Several members then adjourned to the belfry and indulged in further ringing, whilst others rambled round the Vicar's beautiful garden until the time came only too soon for all to take their several ways home.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

ELEVEN TOWERS REPRESENTED AT VILLAGE MEETING.

A meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at the little village of Bentley, on Saturday, June 9th, and the event proved a successful one in every way. It was a gloriously sunny day, and the church, peacefully situated on the crest of a slope north of the village, commands a beautiful view of the surrounding country. The tower contains a musical peal of six bells (tenor 12½ cwt.), certain of these having been recast, and the whole peal rebung in an iron frame in 1912. In the churchyard there are some wonderful yew trees, believed to be a thousand years old.

Service was conducted by the Rector of Bentley (the Rt. Rev. Bishop Chandler), who had listened to the ringing for half an hour.

The Rector, in a short, but inspiring address, welcomed the ringers and their friends to Bentley once more, saying that both he and his ringers were always pleased to have the Guild meetings from time to time. The guilds connected with church work did a tremendous amount to help forward the work of Christ. In these difficult Christian times, with so much sneering and jeering at religion, and anti-God campaigns being started, the Church needed more guild and society work to fight in its cause. 'May God bless you in your efforts for His Church,' concluded Bishop Chandler, 'and whatsoever you do, do all to His glory.'

Following the service, tea was served on the lawn at Linden Cottage, and a company of 36 did justice to a splendid repast prepared for them. The Bishop, who was unable to stay for tea, hoped that all present were enjoying themselves and had found the bells and ringing at Bentley satisfactory. He said he had been asked to become a Guild honorary member, and nothing would please him more. He would do all he could to further the work of the Guild (applause).

Mr. P. L. Eldridge, on behalf of the gathering, thanked the Rector for allowing the use of the bells, for conducting the service and giving such an interesting address. He welcomed him as an honorary member, and spoke of the real welcome and friendly spirit always extended to the Guild by the Rector and his ringers. He also thanked the organist, the blower, the local ringers and the caterers for helping to make the event successful.

A short business meeting after tea was presided over by the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted). New members elected were: Honorary members, the Rector of Bentley and the Rev. G. A. Ford (Yorktown); ringing members, the Misses A. Cawk and H. Thompson (Seale), and Messrs. H. Noakes, A. Holden and J. E. Atkin (Yorktown).

It was announced by Mr. Hasted that the Guild Summer Festival would be held at Farnham on Saturday, July 14th. The Bishop of Guildford would be the preacher, and arrangements had been made for ringers and their friends to visit the Castle Grounds after 6 p.m. on that day. He hoped the Farnham District would support the festival in every possible way.

Ringing in a number of methods took place during the afternoon and evening. Eleven towers were represented at the meeting, viz., Aldershot, Alton, Ash, Basingstoke, Bentley, Farnham, Frensham, Pirbright, Seale, Worplesdon and Yorktown.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

The fine weather was, no doubt, responsible for the influx of between 60 and 70 members to the ancient parish of High Ongar on Saturday, June 2nd, to enjoy a pull on the recently restored ring at the Parish Church, when a meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association was held. Some early arrivals had the bells going long before three o'clock, thus enabling those whose way led across the fields to enjoy the beauty of these bells, a fine-toned peal of six, originally five, with a new treble by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The bells were kept going to various methods till 4.30 p.m., when those present attended the association service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. G. R. Nesbitt), the address, a splendid one, being given by the Rev. F. J. Allen, Rector of Doddinghurst.

After service an invitation by the Rector and Mrs. Nesbitt to take tea in the Rectory was greatly appreciated and enjoyed. After tea the Rectory gardens were placed at the disposal of the members, who, taking advantage of this kind offer, arranged to hold the business meeting under the trees.

The chair was taken by the Rector, supported by the District Master (Mr. A. Prior) and Messrs. G. Dent and H. Kirton (District Masters of the North-Western and South-Eastern Divisions). One life non-resident and one new ringing member were elected, and Rayleigh was chosen as the place for the next meeting, to be held if possible on August 25th.

The District Secretary (Mr. E. J. Butler) extended a word of welcome to the High Ongar band on becoming members of the association, and gave them a few words of advice for their future guidance. He also proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for allowing the use of tower and bells and for conducting the service; to the Rev. F. J. Allen for his address; also to the Rector and Mrs. Nesbitt for their kind invitation to the members to take tea with them at the Rectory and for the use of their gardens afterwards; the organist for kindly giving up his time to accompany the hymns, etc., the choirboys, the organ blower, the Rectory maids for their help, Mr. Ordish and the members of the High Ongar band for having everything in readiness.

This was responded to by the Rector, who said it had been a great delight to all to have had the association meeting at High Ongar, and hoped they had all thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and that they would pay another visit at some future time.

Tracks were again made for the tower, where the bells were kept going till 8.45 p.m. with rounds and Grandsire Doubles for the beginners to Surprise Minor methods for the more advanced, the Master making sure everyone had a pull.

BRIDGNORTH DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Bridgnorth District was held at St. Michael's Church, Madeley, on Saturday, May 26th, ringers from Bridgnorth, Highley, Chelmarsh, Hadley, Broseley, Coalbrookdale and Madeley being present. A service was conducted by the Rev. J. A. Sime (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. Charles Fletcher (curate), with Mr. W. F. G. Youden at the organ. The lesson was read by Mr. J. L. Stanier, local secretary, and a very appropriate address was delivered by the Vicar. After the service the ringers adjourned to the infants' school, where a splendid tea was provided by the Ladies' Sewing Guild and the local ringers' wives.

A business meeting followed, with the Vicar in the chair, supported by Rev. T. Eland, Vicar of Coalbrookdale, Rev. C. Fletcher, and Mr. Geo. Case (district secretary).

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Ladies' Sewing Guild, the Vicar and all who had helped to make the meeting such a success.

The bells were then kept going until 8.30 p.m., the methods rung including Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

KING'S BIRTHDAY RINGING IN OXFORD.

On Sunday, June 3rd, in honour of the King's birthday, at St. Ebbe's Church, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major: R. Cattle 1, W. H. B. Wilkins 2, F. Taylor (conductor) 3, G. Denyer 4, W. Collett 5, C. W. Denyer 6, G. Horwood 7, F. May 8. Also for evening service a quarter-peal of Oxford Treble Bob: W. H. B. Wilkins 1, G. Horwood 2, H. Wooding 3, F. May 4, F. Taylor 5, W. Collett 6, J. Harris 7, A. P. Cannon (first in the method as conductor) 8. These quarter-peals were arranged for Messrs. Denyer, from Aldershot, A. P. Cannon, from Forest Hill, and H. Wooding, who were in Oxford for the royal birthday ringing at the various colleges, at the kind invitation of the Oxford Society.

During the afternoon and evening members were present from Greenwich, St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, South Weald, Romford, Gillingham (Kent), Hornchurch, Bentley, Leytonstone, Epping, Broomfield, All Saints', Maldon, Harlow Common, Chelmsford, North Weald, St. Mary's and St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, Prittlewell, Sible Hedingham, Springfield, Barking, Fyfield, Fryerning, Woodford, High Ongar, and all agreed that the association's first visit to High Ongar had been one of absolute delight.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. A. R. Powys has been made a Companion of the Order of the British Empire, in recognition of his work in connection with the Society for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings, of which he has been secretary for many years. His name appeared in the King's Birthday Honours list.

Mr. John Hindle, who was formerly a ringer at St. James' Church, Accrington, Lancs, for fifty years, has recently passed away, and on Sunday evening, June 10th, the bells were rung half-muffled as a token of respect.

It is twelve years ago on Sunday that the first peal on fourteen bells was rung—Stedman Sextuples at Birmingham. And no other peal on this number has been rung since.

Mr. Frank Banks, the steeplekeeper of St. Martin's, Birmingham, was knocked down by a motor lorry in Corporation Street, while on his way to the church on Sunday morning, June 10th. He is now in B.3 Ward of Dudley Road Hospital, suffering from injuries to his head and ankle and bruises about the body and arms. He is reported to be going on fairly well.

Frank Banks is well known to visitors to Birmingham, and especially to the Johnson dinner. Diminutive in stature and in his 87th year, Frank is a popular figure at St. Martin's, where he has held office for many years. Up to the present his only infirmity has been deafness.

Another Birmingham invalid is reported to be progressing, although only slowly. Mr. Morris J. Morris, who met with an accident at Plymouth, and was in hospital there for some weeks, is home again and able to walk with the aid of sticks. Mr. Morris, by the way, was one of the band who rang the peal of Stedman Sextuples.

The peals at Eastwood, Headingley and Queensbury, Yorks, were arranged for Mr. G. W. Debenham, of St. Albans. Two other attempts came to grief, a broken rope putting 'finis' to a peal of Treble Bob Royal at Bradford, after three hours' ringing, and a 'wanderer' making short work of a peal of Grandsire at Birstwith.

The peal of Doubles at Measham, Leicestershire, reported in last week's issue, should be credited to the Midland Counties Association.

In the peals of London rung at Bocking on June 7th and Earls Colne on June 9th the name of the ringers of 3rd and 5th is Ridgwell, not Redgwell as printed. The tenor at Kelvedon, where a peal of Minor was rung on Whit Monday, is 21 cwt. in E, not 12 cwt. as published.

CLAPPER FLIGHTS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In view of the statements which have been made on the length of clapper flights, may I point out that, in work of this type, it is a common practice for a smith to reduce the end of the work to a size which is suitable for his tongs, and then proceed to draw out the other end to form the shank. Hence in this way it is possible that the length of the flight of old clappers, before these days of steam hammers and stamps, depended upon the skill or otherwise of the smith, and had no intended relation whatever to the tone.

Mr. Lewis has suggested that the effect of increasing the flight at the expense of the ball of the clapper will tend to make the blow more definite, as it (the clapper) would acquire more energy at the beginning of the swing owing to its greater moment of inertia decreasing its natural period of oscillation.

It must, however, be pointed out that, as a consequence of this, the bell will be slightly further in its swing when the long-flighted clapper (L.F.C.) leaves the side of the bell at the beginning than a similar weighted short-flighted clapper (S.F.C.). That is, the angular velocity of the clapper is less with the L.F.C. than with the S.F.C. when the clapper is at an angle in both cases equal to that made by the L.F.C. at the moment it leaves the bell. But it has already been shown that the angular acceleration is less for the L.F.C. than the S.F.C. Therefore, the L.F.C. travels slower throughout its whole revolution than the S.F.C., and so the energy it acquires is diminished by its decreased velocity and increased by its greater moment of inertia. Without a complex calculation and individual data it would appear to be impossible to state which effect would be preponderant.

The only other factor which enters into the note produced by the bell (apart from the structure of the bell itself) is the coefficient of restitution of the material of the clapper and the bell. This factor is, of course, especially noticeable when the bell is muffled, but it would be interesting to know if any of your readers have noticed an increase in the higher harmonics produced when a mild steel clapper has replaced a wrought-iron one.

With regard to the differences of plain and ball bearings and work done in overcoming friction, Mr. Lewis appears to have based his calculation upon the same assumptions as he used in his calculation of the vertical stress upon a tower whilst a bell is swinging, and, as in this he has made simplifying assumptions, the results appear to be useless as there is a possible error of the order of 400 per cent. in the calculation; also he appears to assume that the coefficient of friction is a constant for all velocities, whilst it actually increases rapidly as the velocity becomes less.

THE BANKES JAMES ARRANGEMENT.

The next motion on the agenda was that relating to peals of Minor. It was as follows: 'That, notwithstanding any definition to the contrary, peals in any recognised Minor method or methods containing compositions in what is known as the "Bankes James Arrangement" are, in the opinion of this Council, permissible.'

The President said in order to avoid useless discussion he had better explain that the motion was put down in order that the Council might consider whether compositions known as the Bankes James Arrangement should be permitted in peals of Minor. He did not want the discussion to wander off into the question of the difference between rows and changes; nor did he want the discussion to wander off into whether these 720's were true or not. They were not 'true and complete,' but, according to what might be called the new standards, they were true without being complete. They were not individually complete, although they might possibly look upon the whole 2,160 as being complete.

The motion was first formally moved by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and seconded by Mr. J. A. Trollope in order that a rider, defining the Bankes James Arrangement, might be moved at the suggestion of the Standing Committee.

The rider was proposed by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake as follows: 'That the Bankes James Arrangement be as defined in the Central Council's publication, "The Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods," on pages 120 to 132, with the exception of the compositions on page 127, numbered 149, 150 and 151, which are known as the Law James Arrangement of London.'

Mr. J. Hunt said these compositions had never been passed by the Council, and he challenged the Council to say that they had ever been passed. He emphatically protested against the rider including all the compositions that had been referred to.

The President: They have been printed by authority of the Council.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake: I am not speaking of the truth or otherwise of these things. I am simply proposing this rider so that the Council may have a definition in front of them as to what is meant by the Bankes James Arrangement.

Mr. Hunt said they had this all over at Gbelsford, and when the book was published they found that the Methods Committee had considerably exceeded their instructions from the Council. He made his protest at Plymouth and he made it again that day.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake said what they were doing was purely to define what the Bankes James Arrangement was, and they defined it as certain figures published in that book. Whether they were rightly or wrongly published did not concern them at that moment.

Mr. C. T. Coles seconded the rider, which was accepted by the proposer and seconder of the motion.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said in the motion it said 'notwithstanding any definition to the contrary,' and he asked what were the definitions to the contrary?

The President: Perhaps Mr. Goldsmith will deal with that in proposing the motion.

THE TRUTH OF THE PEAL.

Mr. Goldsmith said the suggestion of the president that they should not enter into a discussion as to whether the 720's in this form of composition were true or not rather cut the ground from under his feet, because he was going to submit to the Council that these 720's were individually true, although they were not in conventional form. He would not ask the Council to accept anything as a peal which he did not believe to be true. Therefore, while he would do his best, as far as he could, to keep outside the bar set up by the president, he must deal with the truth of the 720's, as it was the whole basis of his case. Turning to the question raised by Mr. Johnson, Mr. Goldsmith said of the 'definitions to the contrary' the first was to be found in the Council's handbook, that 'on all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds.' The other was to be found in the resolution passed at Hereford, in 1928, 'That peals of Minor consist of at least seven true and complete 720's rung without interval and without rounds or any other row being included or rung more than once in any 720.' The manner in which the Bankes James Arrangement differed from these definitions was that it commenced not from but with rounds and, although individually true, the 720's were not complete. When the Hereford resolution was drawn up, he said, those who were responsible for it believed that it covered the Bankes James Arrangement, as it was purposely designed to do. It was accepted at that meeting practically without dissent, but since then there had been other developments, with the result that doubt had been cast upon the truth of the peal. It was true, continued Mr. Goldsmith, that the Bankes James Arrangement did not conform to the conventional standard of 720's. Its truth, however, did not depend upon convention but upon mathematical fact. In the construction of a Minor method with one hunt the first row of the method was rounds. That was a mathematical fact, and no amount of argument or convention could alter it. They could argue, if they liked, that the sun went round the earth, but it didn't, and no argument would alter it. In the same way the argument that the initial rounds had nothing to do with the method did not alter the fact that it was an essential part of the first lead of the method, and that the end of the lead was the row at the handstroke lead of the treble. The Council itself had affirmed this fact, and laid it down in their definitions years ago. In 'Rules and Decisions' it was laid down that 'The division between the leads is, in methods with one hunt, between the first and second blows of the whole pull of the hunt,' therefore the initial rounds must be part of the first lead. Again, the Council, in defining a regular method, had stated, 'Each lead shall reverse true to itself and together with the hunting and place-making that connect it with the next lead, shall contain the whole working of the method,' proving that the place-making at the treble lead was a connecting link and not part of the lead itself. Moreover, without any equivocation, it put the backstroke lead of the treble into the next lead of the method. On six bells there were only 720 rows. In a six-bell method the first of those rows was rounds. In the Bankes James Arrangement, beginning with rounds, there were all the 720 possible rows, no more and no less, in the first 720, and in each and every succeeding 720 there were all the possible rows, although they did not all begin with rounds. Further, every 720 of Treble Bob was divided into 30 leads, the division between which was between the first and second rows of the whole pull of the hunt. Each 720 of the Bankes James peal contained every one of these 30 leads. No peal of Treble Bob Minor could contain more; this one contained nothing less. The other point of importance to justify the Bankes James Arrangement was whether each 720 must begin with rounds. He contended that it need not. A 720 could be just as true if it began with 142356 or 134256 as if it began with 123456. It did not affect the truth of the 720 or the ringing of the method which of these three rows they started with in the Bankes James Arrangement, but they did begin and end the peal with rounds, as they did every other peal, because it was the most natural and convenient starting and finishing point. In the body of the peal rounds had no special significance. In any peal of Minor it had to occur six times as well as at the beginning and end, and as long as it occurred only once in each 720 it was of no more value or importance than any other row. These were the grounds on which he asked the Council to accept the Bankes James Arrangement as a true peal.

THE LOGICAL CONSEQUENCES OF REFUSAL.

If they refused to accept it, Mr. Goldsmith continued, they must face the logical consequences of their action. If they defeated the motion because the peal did not conform to long-established convention, they would tie ringers down to the limits of 20 years ago and say they refused to make allowance for expanding thought and practice, even within the limits of truth; they would be going back upon their own resolution passed at Hereford, which must be entirely scrapped; they would be going back upon their own considered pronouncements as to the construction of regular methods, and they would be saying that certain mathematical facts were wrong. Moreover, if they turned down this motion they must in future refuse to recognise any peals of this kind—anything which did not consist of seven 720's each beginning with rounds—and they must exclude them from the peals analysis. Whatever might be said to the contrary, these peals had, in the past, been tacitly recognised by the Council, and if they were now to say they were not to be permissible in the future, they must shoulder the responsibility and exclude them from the analysis. If they didn't, they would be the laughing stock of the Exercise. If, however, they passed the resolution, as he hoped they would, then they would acknowledge that the old conventions in Minor could no longer be retained as hard and fast rules, and, in doing that, it was better that the Council should apply safeguards and only admit as peals those performances which, after due consideration, they held to be both in accordance with progressive practice and the requirements of truth. They could not throw the responsibility upon the affiliated societies to decide for themselves. In that way they would have chaos. They could not put back the clock, but they could exert a restraining influence on those who would like to ride roughshod over everything and set their own standards. Mr. Goldsmith concluded by saying that in this matter he had no axe to grind. He had never rung Mr. Bankes James' peal, neither had the Guild of which he had the honour of being the hon. secretary. He asked the Council to accept the motion and to say that it was permissible to ring this arrangement on its merits (applause).

PRINCIPLES OF A PEAL.

Mr. J. A. Trollope, in seconding the motion, said no two people had been more in active and verbal opposition than Mr. Goldsmith and himself, so when they saw the lion and the lamb lying down together the Council might feel that they had before them the minimum to which they could be asked to agree. Mr. Goldsmith had given them his reasons for asking them to accept the Bankes James style of composition as peals. His own reasons were different, although they amounted to the same thing in the long run. He took his stand on the general principles of the art and science of change ringing and also the good of the Exercise. He uttered a warning to the Council at the last meeting in London about the extreme danger they ran if they took the attitude of rigidly expecting people to obey their rules and if they did anything which had a tendency to discourage experiments and improvements and the natural development of ringing which was solely for the health of the art. It was better that those with no experience of six-bell ringing should tolerate a form of ringing of which they know very little rather than run the risk of doing something which would discourage the natural development of ringing which had been taking place since it started 300 years ago. That was one reason; the other had been touched upon by Mr. Goldsmith, but in a different way to what he would do it. He took his stand entirely on the ground of the truth of the peal. The science and art of change ringing were based on certain broad principles, which were so strong that they had controlled the whole thing and made it what it was. They must be loyal to those principles, and as far as peal ringing was concerned one main essential was that the peal should be true and that it should be complete. If it were not true and not complete then it ought to be condemned. That, he thought, they were all agreed upon. But here came the difficulty which most of them were in. What was true in actual peal ringing was a thing which they could recognise by instinct, but which was extraordinarily difficult to define accurately. They might give a ready answer, but when they put it into practice there would be serious discrepancies. Truth in peal ringing was not exactly the same thing as the non-repetition of rows. For instance, they would not recognise 5,000 changes which had any repetition as a true peal; on the other hand, they did almost every time they rang a peal recognise times when the bells actually struck in the same order twice. He wanted to impress on the Council that there was a general principle, which the instinct, rather than the reason, of the Exercise had recognised as a true peal. Did these compositions come within the scope of that; were they legitimate developments? Having considered other people's opinions and looked at it from a purely impartial point of view, he was convinced they were a legitimate development of the spirit and ideals which produced change ringing. They were, in fact, true and complete peals. They sometimes heard talk about the 'old standards.' The Exercise had never, as far as he knew, been very long in one mind as to what actually was a six-bell peal. The first record they had was a peal of fourteen 360's. What the methods were they did not know. It showed, however, that the idea that a six-bell peal must consist of seven extents was not one of the things that had come down to them through the ages. Only quite recently there had slipped into their definition of a six-bell peal an alteration that they might extend the length by a touch of less than 720. That would not have been tolerated at one time. There was a time when they were expected to ring seven methods and not all the peal in one method. There was another time when they could ring a peal in 360's, which not allowed now. His point was that if they admitted the Bankes James Arrangement they were not doing something that was entirely revolutionary; they were only carrying on one step that evolution in the idea of what a six-bell peal was. They had to face the fact that repetition of changes must occur in a peal of Minor. They had got an extent of 720 changes only to deal with, and if they wanted to ring a 5,040 they must repeat them. How they repeated them was a question which the Council could decide. It would be perfectly logical to say that each constituent extent must be true and complete, but there was no reason why they should adopt that rule more than any other. It was not a thing which had come down from heaven; there were other things which they could hold as being true peals, and he suggested, speaking from experience, that they could treat peals on the Bankes James Arrangement as being true and complete peals. On that ground, and that ground alone, he volunteered to second the motion (applause).

The President said he hoped members would make up their minds to give full weight to any remarks made by practical six-bell ringers, rather than depend too much on what was said by eight, ten and twelve bell ringers.

Mr. Walter Ayre, in supporting the motion, said if these peals were to be ruled out as false now, they must be ruled out as true peals in the past. They could not be true in the past and false now. If they were to be ruled out he would have to rule out the whole of his peals of Cambridge Minor, for if this composition were false he had not rung a peal of Cambridge Minor yet. But as long as the composition was held to be true he should continue to ring it. With regard to the president's request, he would point out that there were eight-bell men there who were also six-bell ringers. They could be both.

The President said he did not think that any decision arrived at that day would affect the peals that had already been rung. If they decided not to accept the Bankes James Arrangement as a true peal in future, anything that had been rung in the past would stand as a true peal.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said the fact that no one had any specific purpose behind this particular proposal was no reason why members of the Council should allow their reason to be swayed in favour of something they did not believe in. They were asked to define the basis on which they were going to arrange their peals of Minor in future. Those who did not remain last year to hear the discussion on this subject had something on their conscience (hear, hear). Then, they had arguments rained on them and reiterated again and again, and now they had the same arguments once more reiterated, and he hoped the Council would now make up their minds as to what it was they did want. The mover of the motion had touched upon what he (Mr. Johnson) thought was a very concrete and salient difficulty upon which the Council had to decide. He had told them that, in his view, and as mover of the resolution, they must attach some weight to it, that they started with rounds and that therefore rounds was the initial change ('No.'). That was what Mr. Goldsmith said ('No.').

Mr. Goldsmith, interposing, said he had never stated that rounds was the first 'change.' What he had said was that rounds was the first 'row' of the method, which was a very different thing.

Mr. Johnson said at any rate it was indicated that the initial rounds was part of the first lead, and Mr. Goldsmith had also read to them what the Council's definition of a lead was. He had also pointed out that the first necessity and essential of any method was that they must have bells hunting. They did not begin that hunt, said Mr. Johnson, until they began to ring the method (hear, hear). No one could logically contradict that. They did not ring Cambridge until they went off into changes, and if the initial rounds was not Cambridge they were not ringing the method they set out to ring if they had to count it as part of the peal. If they were going to admit peals of this kind they were going to open the flood gates to all kinds of tinkering (hear, hear, and 'No, no.'), and they would have it going on in the name of 'progress.' This would not be the first thing they had seen and turned down. He knew for a fact that at a county association meeting a member of that Council was asked if they were going to include the consideration of Doubles with the Minor, and he replied, 'Let us get this through first and we will have the other after.' That, said Mr. Johnson, was the sort of thing they were going to get. He concluded by reasserting that they did not begin to ring Cambridge until they broke away from rounds, and rounds was no part of what they set out to ring as a method. They did not begin to ring the method until they set the bells hunting, and if they didn't start they rang no method. He hoped the Council would reject the motion.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson said there was a risk that the Council might be persuaded into doing something to make it look, in the future, exceedingly foolish. They must all agree that a method or peal must be composed before it could be rung. That was very obvious, and every composer knew that he must start with his lead heads. Rounds was a lead head in a peal; every composer knew that perfectly well. The lead of a method for the purposes of composition began with rounds and, in Bob Major, went on to 13254768, the first blow of the treble's lead. That constituted the lead of a method, and the Council would be very unwise to be swayed by arguments of members who were not composers and did not know these things, without considering these fundamental matters. They might look very foolish in years to come. He cordially supported the motion.

Mr. G. R. Newton said the question was one which wanted disposing of that day, and they were in a position to dispose of it. It was a plain and simple matter they had to decide: Were they going to accept the Bankes James composition? He had no hesitation in asking the Council to accept it. He was not going into the merits or demerits of the composition. In his opinion it held a high place. He had called it several times and, provided the Council did not reject it that day, he hoped to call it again. He was a six-bell ringer, although he did a little on the higher numbers sometimes (laughter). He loved ringing Minor, and this composition was an excellent composition. It was voted an ingenious arrangement when it was first introduced in 1923. In his opinion it was a true composition, based on its particular plan, and, in saying that, he believed he stood in good company. He hoped they would accept the composition and let it stand as a peal, never mind whether anything else crept in or not. This one would not let them down.

Mr. J. Hunt, in opposing the resolution, said the mover of it told them one thing in 'The Ringing World' and came there that day and told them another story altogether ('Oh!'). Mr. Goldsmith published in 'The Ringing World' the figures of the Bankes James Minor, which consisted of six 720's so-called, beginning with rounds and finishing with rounds. Their peals usually started at handstroke and ended at backstroke, although he rang in a long handbell peal of Stedman Caters which started at backstroke ('Oh!'). It came home at handstroke and was composed by Mr. Gabriel Lindoff. Mr. Goldsmith had told them that there was no repetition in the 720's. He did not know if members of the Council had pricked out the whole of them. The figures were printed very artfully (laughter) and were very deceiving. In the first block, from rounds to rounds, there were 1,321 rows, counting rounds at the start, in the next there were 336, in the next 504, in the next 1,320 and in the next 384. In the last 720 rounds came up twice. The Council would be wise to reject the peal altogether. The Council years ago, when some six-bell ringers were enterprising enough to ring fourteen 360's, barred that type of peal, yet in the Bankes James Arrangement they had rounds coming up with only 336 rows between. If they opened the door to this they would get some more of the same kind of stuff, 'and,' concluded Mr. Hunt, 'with these remarks I warn you.'

Mr. A. E. Sharman said they had heard a lot about progress, but he wondered if the mover of the resolution considered that this was progress? 'I don't,' said Mr. Sharman, 'and I don't know any six-bell ringer who does.' If a ringer had got to the stage where he could ring Surprise Minor he did not want to ring 5,000 of Cambridge. He came from a county where they had some of the leading Minor ringers of the country, and they would not ring it. They preferred to learn other Surprise methods. By accepting this they were opening the door to other things.

ANONYMITY IN RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Whilst reading the discussions of the Central Council one is led to wonder what the average ringer thinks of it all. I mean the ringer who rings for service and what pleasure he can get out of that, and is occasionally gratified by seeing his name in print. Take, for instance, the Methods Committee's suggestion that compositions should appear anonymously, which suggestion was described by Mr. Trollope as a basis of discussion. Driven to its logical conclusion, the Methods Committee would have to change its title to Mechanisation Committee, as, of course, methods themselves would have to have numbers, and their quaint old names be discarded. Ringers, in their turn, could have numbers assigned to them in their association, and peals could be recorded as rung by Numbers 9, 12, 248, etc. Even the conductor, who possibly surpassed himself getting 'lame numbers' along, would have to be content with anonymity, and it would not be necessary to state who rang the treble or the tenor; it would savour too much of individuality for our 'mechanised' art.

No, Sir, it won't do. It will kill ringing quicker than anything, and here let me say that there is a great debt due to the Methods Committee for their painstaking labour in the 'Collection of Methods' during thirty years past. The time involved must have been enormous, but let the composers and authors' names see the light. Bell-ringing is about the only pastime left that the sporting public can make neither head nor tail of, and therefore leave it alone, but it would be a good thing if the general public appreciated it more. To rob it of individuality would be to shroud it more completely.

Speaking of methods, can anyone inform me of any method whose name commences with the letter T, excluding Treble Bob, which is a description? I ask because in entering up Truro Surprise Major in the late Rev. Beeston's card index system of peals in new methods I found the T section empty except for 'Tittum Bob Royal,' rung in 1780 at Coventry, and even that does not seem to be in its proper section. This card index system runs from Triples to Maximus, and does not include peals of Minor or Doubles. I would be glad to know if there has been any peal rung, name commencing with T, by chance not recorded.

P. LAFLIN.

THE LATE MR. W. B. MANNING.

LINK WITH A BYGONE GENERATION.

As briefly recorded in our last issue, Mr. William Butterfield Manning, a well-known Walthamstow ringer, died on Saturday week, on his 75th birthday.

Mr. Manning was one of three people who were struck by lightning while walking in Epping Forest in June of last year, and his health had been gradually failing since.

He was born in Wood Street, when that locality was merely a village end, and lived in and around Walthamstow all his life with the exception of a period of fourteen years or so when his business took him to Royston, Hertfordshire.

He was for over 50 years a ringer at Walthamstow, and before he went to Royston in 1911 he was for many years Master at St. Mary's. Year in and year out he had attended the belfry, and though in the last two or three years the disability of age had prevented some of his activity, yet all his enthusiasm had remained. In the earlier days he was with such locally famed ringers as the Maynards, the Wilkins, F. Rumens, T. Watson, H. Grimwade, Coakham, Crockford, Pinsent, Hopkins, Scarlett, Nunn, Harvey Reeves and many others, mostly College Youths, few of whom are now living.

He was known and respected as a ringer of wide knowledge, keen in the art and enthusiastic in coaching and encouraging the youngsters who came up for tuition. Indeed, it was in helping others in the art that he will be mostly remembered, although in many belfries, chiefly, of course, St. Mary's, numerous tablets record peals including his name as one of the band. Noteworthy among them was the 'William' peal rung at St. Mary's in 1898, wherein the conductor, composer, Vicar, churchwardens and all the ringers had the Christian name of William. This was a peal of Grandsire Caters, conducted by Wm. Pye.

Mr. Manning was married 54 years ago at St. Jude's, Bethnal Green, and his widow, a daughter and five sons survive him.

The funeral took place on Thursday, June 14th, at St. Mary's Church, Canon G. D. Oakley, M.A., R.D., officiating. The interment was in the churchyard.

The family mourners were Mrs. W. B. Manning (widow), Mr. and Mrs. W. Manning (son and daughter-in-law), Mr. E. Manning (son), Mr. and Mrs. S. Manning (son and daughter-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Manning (son and daughter-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Manning (son and daughter-in-law).

Among those present were Mr. Wm. Pye (Master), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), representing Middlesex Association, Mr. G. B. Lucas, Mr. A. Pye, Mr. R. Maynard, Mr. H. Rumens and other ringers. The bells were rung half-muffled the same evening by St. Mary's Society and Mr. A. A. Hughes to Stedman Caters.

St. Mary's Society of Change Ringers, Walthamstow, and St. Mary's company of change ringers, Woodford, were among those who sent wreaths.

JOINT MEETING OF YORKSHIRE SOCIETIES.

The annual joint meeting of the societies in the southern area of Yorkshire was held at Rawmarsh on Saturday, June 16th, and being favoured with a sunny day and there being a good peal of bells in the tower, a good meeting resulted, about 40 members and friends being present from Ranmoor, Rotherham, Sheffield Cathedral, Ecclesfield, Darfield, Doncaster, Arksey, Wath, Eastwood, Handsworth, Bolsover and Nottingham, and the local company. The bells were kept very busy during the afternoon under the direction of the new Ringing Master, Mr. S. F. Palmer, the methods rung including Stedman Triples, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

Tea was served on the Vicarage lawn under ideal conditions, and a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells was very much appreciated. Although unable to join the members at tea, the Rector (Canon Scovell) presided at the meeting and extended his usual hearty welcome. The members were glad to see him out again after having been laid up three months with a broken leg caused by being run into by a motor-car whilst on parochial duties.

Apologising for not having the usual service, he remarked that during his enforced idleness he had been learning a lot about bells, and promised to tell them all about it the next time a meeting was held at Rawmarsh.

The next meeting of the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association is to be held at Handsworth on September 15th.

Votes of thanks to the Rector, churchwardens, the ladies for services at tea, and the local company were heartily carried and concluded the meeting.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

COMBINED MEETING WITH LADIES' GUILD.

A combined meeting of the Grimsby District and the Lincoln Branch of the Ladies' Guild was held at Bigby on Saturday, June 9th. It was a glorious day, and drew a large gathering to a delightful meeting place, where many a district meeting has been held, and enjoyed the hospitality of the district president, Archdeacon Parry, and Mrs. Parry. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening. The following towers were represented: Barton-on-Humber, Barrow-on-Humber, Burton-on-Stather, Grimsby, Scunthorpe, Thornton Curtis, Ulceby, Waltham, Elsham, and the local members. Dr. F. P. H. Birtwhistle, of Barton-on-Humber, the Guild Ringing Master (Mr. R. Richardson), Mrs. Richardson (secretary of the Lincoln Branch of the Ladies' Guild, lady ringers from Pinchbeck, Mr. and Mrs. C. McGuinness (Lincoln), Mr. and Mrs. Bramwell (Cleethorpes), Mrs. Rushby, the Rev. W. H. J. Allin (Elsham), and Mr. Baker, of Gainsborough, were also present. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Ven. Archdeacon Parry, who gave a very instructive address. Mr. H. Rushby presided at the organ.

After the service a procession made the way to the schools, where a delightful tea was waiting. Nearly 50 sat down, at the kind invitation of Archdeacon and Mrs. Parry. The president afterwards presided over the district meeting, at which the Rev. W. H. J. Allin (Vicar of Elsham) was elected as an honorary member. The collection for the district bell fund amounted to £1 0s. 4d.

Mr. C. McGuinness proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Archdeacon Parry for conducting the service and for his excellent address, and for the use of the bells, and also to Archdeacon and Mrs. Parry for their kindness in entertaining the visitors to tea. —Mrs. Richardson seconded the motion on behalf of the Ladies' Guild. Mr. Rushby proposed a hearty vote of thanks to all those who had made arrangements. —The President, in reply, said it was a great pleasure to Mrs. Parry and him to have them at Bigby. The ladies afterwards held their meeting; handbells and tower bells were rung, and the Rectory grounds visited.

A pleasing feature of the day's ringing was the handling of her bell by Miss Enid Richardson, of Surfleet. Standing on two hassocks, she mastered her bell in fine style in rounds.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

SWINDON BRANCH HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

The half-yearly meeting of the Swindon Branch took place at Bishopstone on June 16th with a fairly good attendance, members and visitors being present from Swindon, Rodbourne Cheney, Stratton St. Margaret, Blunsdon, Marlborough, Aldbourne, Faringdon, London, Burford and Wootton Bassett. Good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening, methods rung ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major. No meeting was fixed for July owing to the G.W.R. holidays. The venues for the August and September meetings are Lydiard Millicent and Stratton St. Margaret respectively.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*NORTH FOREST BRANCH REOPENED.*Interesting Presentation to Association.

On Saturday, June 9th, a meeting was held at Newent, Glos, to reopen the North Forest Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

The General Secretary (Mr. E. Guise) asked Mr. Gould, the retiring Master, to hand his office to the Master elected for the ensuing year.

Mr. Gould then asked Mr. S. Romans to succeed him, and in doing so thanked the officers for the splendid support they had given him during his two years as Master. He wanted to mark the occasion and honour by presenting to the association a medallion bell, suspended on a black silk neckband. Mr. Gould handed this to the executive for their care, asking that in the event of the Gloucester and Bristol Association dividing into two associations that the medallion should be handed to the Bristol organisation.

Mr. Romans thereupon opened the meeting, calling on the branch to elect their officials. Rev. C. Burnell was elected as chairman, and immediately took the chair.

Mr. W. J. Roberts was elected branch secretary, and Mr. Chew was elected representative upon the management committee.

Many new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Dymock.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for his hospitality was proposed by Mr. S. Romans and carried with acclamation.

Handbell ringing and further tower bellringing concluded a very happy meeting.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On May 31st at St. Mary's Church, Redenhall, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes): G. Howlett (conductor) 1, G. Curson 2, G. Walpole 3, S. Copling 4, G. Gower 5, C. Loom 6, E. Ritches 7, W. Barrett 8. Rung with half-muffled clappers in memory of the late Dr. Inskip, Rector of Redenhall, and former headmaster of Framlingham College, who was interred at Redenhall the same afternoon.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*OXFORD BRANCH'S RECORD MEETING.

The Oxford City and District Branch of the Oxford Guild were favoured with glorious weather for the half-yearly meeting, which took place at Crendon on Saturday, June 9th. Early in the afternoon the usually quiet country village was besieged by a large charabanc party of Oxford ringers, young and old, and they were augmented by visitors from Abingdon (Berks), Swindon (Wilts), Ellesborough (Bucks), Tring (Herts), and Henley (Oxford), and met by a strong muster of the local band.

The bells were then set going to satisfy everyone from beginners to 'brass hats.' A short service was held in the Parish Church by the Vicar (Rev. D. R. A. Williams), after which an excellent tea was served in the Parish Hall, at which 44 sat down. This was a record gathering for the branch.

During the interval some of the handbell ringers entertained the company with a course of Grandsire Triples, after which the business meeting was held. Mr. W. G. E. Collett, admirably carried out his duties as branch chairman, supported by the Vicar, Rev. D. R. A. Williams, and the hon. secretary (Mr. R. A. Post). The secretary raised the question of the Jenkyn Memorial Fund, to which the members voted the sum of two guineas.

Two new members were elected, and certificates presented to others already elected.

The secretary then proposed a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the afternoon, and the Vicar replied, welcoming the branch to Crendon on behalf of himself and the local band.

The members afterwards dispersed, some to the tower for further ringing, others on a 'hiking tour' of the village. The bells were kept going until 8 p.m. in methods ranging from rounds to Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise, after which the whole party held another 'unofficial' meeting in the usual ringers' rendezvous, where the handbells were rung and singing participated in. The charabanc party left at 9 p.m., after the would-be darts champion had nearly 'missed the boat' (after paying his fare, too).

NEWBURY BRANCH AT BUCKLEBURY.

The summer meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Bucklebury on Saturday, when the following towers were represented: Beedon, Bucklebury, Compton, East Isley, Newbury, Peasemore, Thatcham and Wootton Hill. Visitors were present from Basingstoke, Bramley, Englefield, Henley-on-Thames, Overton and Oxford. A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. M. Thorp), who gave a very helpful address. Tea was served in the Victory Hall by Mrs. N. J. Blunden, and 33 sat down to an excellent meal.

The chairman of the branch (Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford) presided over the business meeting.

The next meeting was fixed for Thatcham on Saturday, September 1st. Three guineas were voted to the late Master's memorial fund.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. E. M. Thorp for his address and welcome to the ringers, to Miss Mathews for playing the organ, and to Mrs. Blunden for providing the tea, was proposed by the chairman and carried with applause.

The tower was again visited, and the following methods rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major.

EAST BERKS AND SOUTH BUCKS.

A meeting was recently held at Clewer, whose local band joined the Guild earlier in the year, and ringers from numerous towers helped to make it a successful gathering. The man from—(where does he belong—Kent, Berks or Bucks?) was there with his bag of 'beech (k)nuts,' who all show great promise.

The curate and one of the churchwardens (Mr. C. Borlase) turned up to welcome the visitors and stayed to tea. Incidentally, the kindly helpers who laid the table would like another visit (so should we).

About 8 p.m. the Rector (the Rev. G. G. Payne-Cook, sometime of Northam, N. Devon) arrived, having that day returned from a holiday, and added his cheerful welcome to those the ringers had already received.

Ringings continued until a late hour, the visitors 'homeward plodding their weary way' to the sound of the bells of the curfew tower ringing for the royal occasion (and 'tolling the knell of parting day').

A GREAT ADVENTURE.

The proposed tour of a team of English ringers to Australia next autumn has now become a definite undertaking, and, all being well, the party will sail on September 14th. Their headquarters, while in the Commonwealth, will be at Melbourne, to which city they have been invited in order to take part in the Centenary celebrations which will reach their climax on Armistice Day, November 11th. In the face of this great 'adventure' all other ringing tours pale into insignificance. A week of peal ringing in some distant part of the country or even to Ireland or Scotland will seem but a tiny expedition in comparison with what lays before those who are going to the other side of the world. There may be ringers who have dreamed of such a tour, but few could have imagined that it would ever materialise. Distance and time, to say nothing of expense, are factors which have made a journey to this most distant part of the Empire appear absolutely out of the question, and yet, when a real opportunity occurs, with the incentive of taking part in a great event, a full complement of ringers has been found to make the long journey.

This tour, of course, will be different from the ordinary ringing tour in ways other than those already mentioned. Not only will it be far and away the greatest in point of period and distance, but peal ringing will not be the only object of the expedition. It is hoped that, while there will be opportunities to ring at a number of places—some of them where peals will, perhaps, be a physical impossibility on account of the condition of the bells—something may be done to stir up an interest so that the art of ringing in those places where it has decayed may be revived, and to bring about, if possible, a reconditioning of bells where it is needed, in order that the churches concerned may have the full use and advantage of the costly instruments now so sadly neglected. Above all, there is the cementing of the tie between ringers in Australia and those in the homeland, the bringing of new encouragement and, maybe, the stimulation of an enthusiasm which may have great results in time to come.

Hitherto there has been no organised 'invasion' of ringers in any country outside the British Isles, and any pioneer work that has been done has been by individual effort, at only rare intervals. The brief visit which the tour next autumn will make possible cannot be expected to work miracles, but the mere fact that a company is making a 25,000 miles' journey, merely because of their enthusiasm for the art of ringing, must surely show those connected with the churches in the Commonwealth that there is, after all, something well worth while in the propagation of this art. Australia is a continent nearly as big as the whole of the United States. It is a country of vast spaces. Perth and Melbourne, two of the places to be visited by the ringers, are nearly 2,000 miles apart. From Melbourne to Sydney the journey takes eighteen hours by express train—and there are no peals of bells between. If in the course of their stay of a month or so in Australia the tourists can make ten peal attempts they will be lucky. Except in about three instances—Melbourne, Hobart and Sydney, where bells are known to be in good order—they have no notion what they will be 'up against' in the material sense, but they do know they will receive the warmest of welcomes from the clergy and ringing brethren in the Commonwealth, and we feel sure they will take with them the good wishes of all the ringers in this country, not a few of whom, did circumstances permit, would give much to be able to join in the great adventure.

ST. MARY-LE-TOWER SOCIETY'S TOUR.

Favoured with ideal weather for ringing, St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, held their annual outing by motor coach on Saturday, June 23rd. The route took them to Saxlingham Nethergate, where Mr. W. L. Duffield, sen., met the party, Hethersett, East Dereham (where there are eight bells in a campanile detached from the church), North Elmham (noted for ruins of a minster dating from A.D. 900), Aylsham (ten bells), St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, where the first course of Superlative Maximus on this fine peal of twelve bells was rung, and Eye, which was reached shortly after 8 p.m. Handbell ringing at the White Horse, Stoke Ash, kept by Mine Host Aldous, ended another enjoyable outing. A touch was rung in many methods from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major.

The society wish to thank all incumbents and steeplekeepers for their co-operation and assistance towards making the outing so successful.

OXFORD SOCIETY'S ANNUAL OUTING.

EXPEDITION TO SURREY.

Punctually at eight o'clock on the morning of Whitsun Monday 25 members of the Oxford Society left Oxford for their annual outing. The district chosen was Surrey, and the route had been selected not only for the beauty of the bells at the towers at which it was proposed to ring, but also on account of the magnificent scenery. The charabanc was comfortably full, and it was not found necessary to take advantage of Mr. R. A. (Tubby) Post's kind offer to sit on somebody's lap. The way led through Reading and Farnham, and via Hindhead, to Haslemere. A short halt was made at Hindhead for the purpose of admiring the Devil's Punchbowl (exterior) and the famous Huts Hotel (interior). Haslemere was reached at 11 a.m., where Mr. B. Hayes and Mr. F. Bowden, of the local band, were waiting to welcome the visitors.

On arrival, says our correspondent, several were heard to wonder that the tower could really contain ten bells, but there were no complaints as soon as the bells themselves were heard. The hour passed all too quickly with touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters, and a plain course of Cambridge, and then the party had to be off again to Petworth. On our way we passed through Cowdray Park, and arrived at Petworth at 12.45. The next call was 'Middle' (anatomically speaking), and all managed to get through three courses without difficulty. In spite of a good lunch, everybody was ready to ring by two o'clock, and enjoyed the fine peal of eight (tenor 18 cwt.). Mr. P. Vincent, the local captain, was there to greet us.

Leaving Petworth at 3 p.m., we made for Chiddingfold, an old-world village with a picturesque green nothing like our Gloucester Green at Oxford. We were welcomed by Mr. A. J. Bartlett, the local captain, and by Messrs. M. Smither and G. Luff, who gave us the pleasure of their assistance in the tower. It was now found that the three courses at Petworth, previously mentioned, had not been without result, and proof was given that discretion is the better part of valour, even in making a choice of sweet! However, the indisposition was only temporary, and by 4.30 p.m. we were all ready for tea, which was waiting for us at the Swan Hotel. Mr. R. A. (Leave-it-to-me) Post produced a brand new set of eight handbells, and with the aid of Messrs. Bartlett and Smither a touch of about three or four hundred Grandsire Triples was successfully accomplished. After tea Mr. W. G. (Didn't-I-tell-you-so?) Collett, late Master of the society, made a short and apt speech, saying how much all the members had enjoyed the expedition so far, and thanking all those who had had a hand in making the arrangements, especially mentioning Mr. J. P. (We-don't-do-it-like-that-at-Guildford) Pelloe, who had been instrumental in selecting the route and the towers for ringing.

Mr. Pelloe replied, expressing, on behalf of the other members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild present, the pleasure it gave them to welcome the Oxford Society to the Guildford district.

At 5.45 p.m. a move was made for Guildford, where we found Mr. W. R. Melville, the District Ringing Master, Mrs. Melville, their daughter, Mrs. C. H. Kippin, and Mr. W. J. Robinson, waiting for us at Holy Trinity, the Pro-Cathedral. These were undoubtedly the finest bells we had so far visited, and we deemed it a compliment to be told that we had got the compass of them. The enjoyment of our visit could only have been heightened had Mr. A. H. (Who-taught-you-to-handle-a-bell?) Pulling, who was unfortunately laid up with pleurisy, been able to be present, but we were pleased to hear from authoritative sources that he was on the road to recovery.

At 8 p.m. tracks were made for home, but the day's entertainment was not yet over. During the return journey we were enlivened by songs from our secretary, Mr. V. J. (Now-then-mind-you're-in-time) Bennett, and from Mr. G. Cooke, whose repertoire was seemingly inexhaustible; and by tunes on the handbells from Mr. R. A. (see-above) Post and Mr. J. Harris. It was a tired and happy band of ringers who reached Oxford that night at 11.45.

SOMERSET RECTOR'S DEPARTURE.

The ringers of North Cadbury, Somerset, made a presentation to their Rector, the Rev. R. Moline, on Sunday, May 27th, in the ringing chamber. The Rev. R. Moline, who has been appointed to All Saints, Poplar, London, E., came to North Cadbury from Australia five years ago, and immediately became interested in the activities of his ringers. He visited them most Sundays and managed to handle a bell enough to ring rounds. He was always present on New Year's Eve and read Tennyson's 'Ring out, wild bells,' and gave a word of encouragement, while the Rectory was open afterwards for refreshments.

He had not time to proceed much with change ringing, but understood the principles of the art, and was president of the Castle Cary Branch of the Bath and Wells Association.

The ringers of North Cadbury feel that they have lost a friend and a man, besides a parson, and his wholehearted joining in happy co-operation will not be easily forgotten among the ringers he has left behind.

ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, BURNHAM. PROGRESS OF A YOUTHFUL BAND.

With the title of St. Peter's Society, a voluntary band was formed at Burnham, Bucks, in April, 1932. Previously this was a 'stone' tower. By recruiting from the choirboys a company has been steadily built up to ring and strike rounds properly for services. They have now arrived at the stage where they can ring a good course of Triples in more than one method in spite of the fact that there are only five members of the band over fourteen years of age, and there are only three members who have not taken part in a 5,000. Sunday morning and evening usually sees the whole band present; in fact, recruiting has had to stop temporarily. Little wonder that they are proud of their effort at Hitcham last week, when a peal of Doubles in three methods was rung with two conductors, the captain and deputy captain.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. A FRESH SIX-BELL TOWER.

A very enjoyable meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Danbury on Saturday, June 16th, when over 50 members and friends were present from Great Baddow, Broomfield, Burnham, Chelmsford, Fryerning, Ford End, Galleywood, Maldon, Prittlewell, Rettendon, Springfield, Great Totham and the local company. They were pleased to welcome Mr. E. J. Butler, the secretary of the South-Western Division, and Mrs. Butler.

Ringling commenced just before 3 p.m., the bells having been augmented to six recently by the addition of a new treble by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A little difficulty was found by the ropes hanging in awkward positions, but these are being improved by bringing them through to the gallery.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. R. E. Fanshawe, who gave a very interesting address and welcomed the association to Danbury. Mrs. Fanshawe was at the organ. It was gratifying to see several of the parishioners at this service.

Tea was partaken of at the Village Hall, presided over by the Rector, accompanied by Mrs. Fanshawe. The Rector again extended a hearty welcome to the ringers, and hoped it was the first of many visits.

At the business meeting which followed, the District Master (Mr. H. W. Kinton) presided. The members stood in silence in memory of Mr. Harry Dawson, of Great Baddow, who recently passed away after a long illness.

The Rector was elected an honorary member of the association, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Rettendon on September 1st.

A vote of thanks was proposed to the Rector for the use of the bells, taking the service and presiding at tea, also to Mrs. Fanshawe for playing the organ and the local ringers and friends for providing and serving the tea, by the District Master, and carried unanimously.

Handbell ringing followed, after which a return was made to the tower, where ringing continued until 9 p.m. The opportunity was taken by several to walk round the Rectory gardens.

RINGERS' CRICKET MATCH.

ALDERSHOT BAND PROVIDE LADIES' AND GENTS' TEAMS.

There can be few bands of ringers that can put two teams into the cricket field, but the Aldershot company did so last week—and twelve aside at that! It was almost a ladies v. gents match, a side of ten ladies being augmented by two of the other sex. The game was played in Aldershot Park, and the gentlemen won what proved an exciting match by 17 runs. The gentlemen were handicapped by having to bowl underarm or overarm as desired by their opponents, and they also had to bat 'wrong-handed.' A 'feature' of the game was the deplorable fielding of the men! Betty Stewart, in addition to making top score in the match, took three wickets for 30; Doris Viggers landed four for 28, and Marjory Smith two for 22. There was great excitement over the game.

These mostly young people are just as keen over their ringing. Their average attendance on practice night is about 22, and most of the men and boys perform other duties in connection with the church besides ringing for service. Nearly all of them have graduated from the choir to the belfry when their voices 'broke,' and several have returned later to the choir stalls. Recently they provided and 'ran' a stall at the church bazaar.

The scores in the cricket match were:—

Ladies.—Miss A. Fisher b A. Cole 1; Miss N. Denyer b P. Connor 0; Miss G. Denyer b P. Connor 2; Miss D. Viggers b R. Whitford 13; Miss E. Southby b G. Challen 1; Miss B. Stewart b C. ### BELLRINGERS' JUGS AND PITCHERS (PAST & PRESENT)

BY ERNEST MORRIS, F.R.HIST.S.

It will be remembered that some time ago I issued an appeal through these columns for information, photos, etc., respecting ancient ringers' jugs, pitchers, gitchers, and the like. The result was most satisfactory and enlightening. I was able to get details of many of these quaint curiosities from the following places: Beccles, Braintree, Bungay, Cirencester, Clare, Crewe, Church Lawton, Crowle, Great Yarmouth, Grimley, Worcs, Garboldisham, Hadleigh, Hinderclay, Hornchurch, Ixworth, Kendall, Lincoln, Marlesfield, Norwich, Oxford, Salisbury, Stafford, Stowmarket, Swansea, Tamworth, Tawstock and Witcheampton.

I also obtained many fine photos and views of these relics. An article on the subject appeared in 'Apollo' (see issue June, 1933), where are some very fine illustrations, and in the same journal for March, 1933, a very good illustrated article on the Dorchester (Dorset) ringer's pewter flagon appears from the pen of Mr. H. H. Cotterell, F.R.Hist.S. If any of your readers can tell me of other specimens I shall be grateful.

NOW THE SEQUEL!

I have just received from an anonymous friend (whom here, now and forthwith I wish to thank sincerely) the gift of a unique ringer's jug, the like of which I have never seen before (and never shall again). It is of small dimensions, which leads me to think it must be a miniature copy of some older jug, for it most certainly could never quench the thirst of some of my Leicester friends, even if filled to overflowing many times over! It is elaborately inscribed and designed in colours on a background of gold, and a real work of art, for it has designs on its interior as well as exterior. The pottery is of 'Crown Derby' (at least it says so on its base), while above is the word 'Ebor,' and below the date 1641. Now, although I was for over two years in York during the war, and attached myself to the Minster Society, I never heard of nor saw a replica of this jug, even though I gathered much other historic stuff during my sojourn in that ancient city. On one side of the jug is a good view of St. Paul's Cathedral, and it may be possible (but highly improbable) that this 'object' once belonged to the ancient College Youths. However, nearby is the signature of Oliver Cromwell and date 1659, so perhaps he—in his despoliation of churches—collared this relic? Beneath the lip is 'Fab Sted—Patron.' On the reverse is a ringer ringing a bell 'set up.' On its interior is a bell at the base, within which is the initial E, and on the side a church tower and some hieroglyphs which at the moment I cannot decipher. On the lip is a (public?) house and the initials 'G.W.F.' The latter I cannot pretend to know, but doubtless they are those of the 'potty pottor.'

I thank my dear anonymous friend once more for this relic, which will be preserved along with the 'golden-wooden' bell I received last August.

BEDDINGTON RINGERS MARRIED.

The wedding took place on Saturday last at St. Mary's, Beddington, of Mr. Frederick Walter Housden, son of Mr. W. Housden (Saffron Walden) and Miss Ivy Rhoda Kippin, daughter of Mr. Chas. Kippin, sen. (Beddington).

The bride was given in marriage by her father. There were six bridesmaids, and Mr. Leonard E. Pitstow, of Saffron Walden, was best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. G. Witcomb.

Bride and bridegroom were presented with an oval mirror in chromium frame from the Beddington Society—of which they are both members—and were the recipients of many other presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Housden are spending their honeymoon at St. Ives.

LAVENHAM BENEDICTS LOSE THEIR CONDUCTOR.

The wedding was solemnised at St. Giles' Church, Camberwell, London, on June 2nd, between Mr. Maurice T. Symonds, of Lavenham, Suffolk, and Miss Margaret Harris, of Camberwell. This happy event robs the Lavenham 'single' band of their conductor, who is one of the well-known ringing family of Symonds.

The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. F. L. Leeks, late member of the Lavenham company.

The happy couple were the recipients of many presents, including on oak framed photograph of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham, from the Lavenham ringers. A touch of Stedman Triples was rung in the evening at Lavenham to mark the event.

CHILVERS COTON RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Whit Monday, at All Saints' Church, Chilvers Coton, Mr. Charles E. Reyson, of the local band, was married to Miss Marjorie Craddock. As the couple left the church the bells rang out in rounds, interspersed with 'Queens' and 'Firing.' The local ringers were assisted by Mr. F. E. Dawe, and touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were also rung.

All the ringers attended the reception at the Newdegate Arms Hotel, and after the lunch a short musical programme followed, in which bells played a prominent part. Tunes were rung by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish and Miss M. V. Godderidge, the 'Rise and Fall' by Messrs. E. Stone, J. Moreton, J. Draycott, A. H. Beamish, Mrs. A. H. Beamish and Miss Godderidge, and a course of Grandsire Triples by Mrs. Beamish, F. E. Dawe, A. H. Beamish and E. Stone. Amongst the numerous presents was a set of carvers presented to the bridegroom by his fellow-ringers, with every good wish for the future.

BELLS HUNG FOR CHIMING.*YORKSHIRE RINGERS DEPLORE SKIPWORTH SCHEME.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Eserick on Saturday, June 16th, and was attended by 45 ringers from Beverley Minster and St. Mary's, Easingwold, Goole, Hemingbrough, Hull, Kirk Ella, Patrington, Pontefract, St. Giles' and All Saints', Selby, Sutton-on-Hull, Thorne, Withernsea, and York.

The Rector, Rev. C. H. B. Trollope, M.A., gave the address at the service in St. Helen's Church. Tea in the Black Bull Inn was followed by the business meeting on the Rectory lawn, presided over by the Rector.

Four new members were elected, viz., Messrs. H. Mellor, of Pontefract, G. Pearcey, of Patrington, and G. Gardner and J. Johnson, of Goole. Several places were suggested for the September meeting, and, on a vote being taken, Hedon was selected by a large majority.

The Secretary mentioned that the neighbouring parish of Skipworth were to have their bells increased from three to six, but regretted to report the three new bells were only being put in for chiming. As this was the second instance of bells being put in in this manner in the past few years in the neighbourhood, he proposed writing the Vicar of Skipworth deploring the action, and asking if something could be done to have them hung for ringing.—A resolution was unanimously passed, endorsing the secretary's suggestion to write the Vicar on the matter.

This letter has since been written.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector was proposed by Mr. F. Cryer, seconded by Mr. Abraham Haigh, the veteran York Minster ringer, to which the Rector replied welcoming the association to Eserick, and hoping they would come again soon. He also promised to convey the company's thanks to the organist who played at the service.

A vote of thanks was passed to the secretary for all the arrangements he had made for the meeting. Unfortunately, only one of the local company was present. He was a learner. The remainder were away playing cricket.

Further ringing concluded a most enjoyable meeting on a glorious June day. The methods rung included Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford and Spliced Treble Bob, Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and rounds for some other ringers.

Further ringing books have been received from Mr. A. N. Wood, of Northampton, and the secretary has written to thank him for his extreme kindness to the members of the Eastern District.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Who has been the youngest conductor to call a peal for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild? John A. Hill has just called a peal of Bob Minor at the age of 19.

Lavenham will celebrate its 123rd ringing anniversary to-morrow in conjunction with the meeting of the Suffolk Guild.

In the report of the annual meeting of the Sussex Association at Hastings, the name of Mr. G. H. Howse appeared as one of the trustees. It should have read Mr. G. W. Stokes.

The peal of Treble Bob at West Hallam, reported in last week's issue, should be credited to the Midland Counties Association.

By the peal at Sileby, Leicestershire, Mr. Ernest Morris completes 121 towers in the Leicester Diocese, 120 of which are actually in the county. This includes 'turning in' the tenors of heaviest rings of five (Broughton Ashley, 19 cwt.), 6 (Sileby, 23 cwt.), 8 (St. Saviour's, Leicester, 25½ cwt.), 10 (Loughborough, 30½ cwt.), and 12 (St. Margaret's, Leicester, 33 cwt.).

Mr. Maurice Smith, of Banbury, is now in Bed 2, Ewing Ward, St. George's Hospital, London, whither he was hurriedly removed from his home last week. He has suffered intensely, and has been operated on. His many friends will wish him speedy and complete recovery.

Last Saturday a peal of Stedman Cinques was lost at Southwark Cathedral through the breaking of a rope, after 3½ hours' ringing and with only eight sixes to go!

BROADCASTING FROM RIPON. CONGRATULATIONS FROM AMERICA.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to correct a statement made by Mr. G. R. Newton and reported in the proceedings of the Central Council under the heading 'Broadcasting' in your issue of June 15th. He refers to the absence of the bells from the service broadcast from Ripon Cathedral on Whit Sunday. The bells were heard for a few minutes before the service, although this fact was not advertised in 'The Radio Times,' and would therefore probably be missed by many ringers.

It may be of interest to your readers to know that the bells were also broadcast to America later on the same evening, in connection with a relay broadcast from here, in which the Dean of Ripon, the Mayor, the hornblower, the Cathedral choir, and the bells all took part. I have just received two postcards of congratulation on our efforts. These are extracts from them:—

'Many thanks for the pleasure of hearing the sweet sound of the bells you rang far away in Yorkshire. It was a hot day when your concert was broadcast, and the time was ten minutes before noon on Sunday. We hope sometime again to hear the bells and the singers in Ripon. Greetings from Sunny California.—W. E. Hall.'

'My sister and I greatly enjoyed your part in the Ripon broadcast. Some months ago we heard "Big Ben" by radio broadcast, and the one from Ripon came in equally clear.—From Avalon, Catalina Island.'

May I add that the North Regional engineers were quite satisfied with the broadcast to English stations, and also the one to America.

FREDERICK TINGLE.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH GRANTS.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent at Newport Pagnell, on the occasion of the annual festival of North Bucks Branch. The fine weather and a good attendance made the meeting quite a success. The following towers were represented: Bletchley, Bradwell, Chicheley, Fenny Stratford, Great Linford, Newton Longville, Olney, Stony Stratford, Simpson, Stoke Goldington, Whaddon, Milton Keynes and the local ringers, with visitors from Bucklebury, Abingdon, Oxford and Leighton. The bells were going in good time in various methods, and service was conducted by the Rev. H. Adam Byard, Vicar of Newport Pagnell and chairman of the branch. A very interesting address was given by the Rev. Fulmer, Rector of Clifton Keynes. Tea was served in the schoolroom, where nearly 70 partook of the good things provided.

The business of the branch was afterwards transacted. The secretary gave a report on the financial position of the branch, which showed that it was in a sound condition, with £10 invested and a balance of £13 19s. in hand. There is a membership of 195, and 27 towers belong to the Guild. The secretary spoke on matters of grants which had come before him, and after discussion the following were made: Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn memorial fund £5 5s., Milton Keynes bell fund £3 3s., Stoke Goldington bell fund £2.

Both the Rev. H. Adam Byard (chairman) and Mr. W. Fear (secretary and treasurer) were re-elected.

The Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary) expressed their appreciation of the good meeting and congratulated the branch upon its healthy condition generally.—A letter of apology was read by the secretary from Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild treasurer), who was not able to attend.

Votes of thanks were proposed by the chairman to the preacher and to the ladies for providing tea. The methods rung during the day ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Major.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

FURTHER DISCUSSION ON PEALS OF MINOR.

Mr. S. H. Wood, continuing the debate on the motion regarding peals on the Bankes James plan, said he had intended to support the motion, but after hearing some of the speeches he began to have doubts. According to Mr. Hunt the mover of the resolution was very artful and said one thing in his paper and something else at the Council meeting (laughter). He also understood from Mr. Hunt that they ought not to listen to Mr. Trollope because he was only an honorary member and did not represent an association (laughter), but he (Mr. Wood) hoped they would not take any notice of that. Look at the people who had spoken against the motion! Mr. Hunt said he did not mind whether he started a peal at handstroke or backstroke; if so, why worry about a little thing like the Cambridge Minor (laughter). Mr. Wood said he could not answer Mr. Johnson, because the president had asked them not to talk about rounds being the first or the last row, but as regards opening the 'flood gates,' there had been proposals put forward that a peal should be considered true as long as every change occurred only seven times. Such a proposal as that did not figure in the motion that day, and it showed they were not trying to open the flood gates, but to stick to the Bankes James Arrangement. They need not take it for granted that the Council would pass anything that was proposed. If somebody proposed to let in something that was not acceptable he was sure Mr. Johnson would try and step into the breach and stop the flood. With regard to the Bankes James Arrangement, they might not want to ring it themselves. He did not know that he wanted to ring it, but he did not want to say that nobody else might. In ten years' time the people who voted against the motion that day would be a little bit sorry—the laugh would be on the other side. Mr. Sharman, continued Mr. Wood, had talked about progress and said he did not consider the Bankes James Arrangement was progress. He (Mr. Wood) could assure him that it was. Mr. Sharman had also said that other Minor ringers did not want to ring the Bankes James Minor. In 'The Ringing World' some weeks ago Mr. Joyce said he had heard from 60 or 70 Minor ringers in all parts of the country who did want to ring it. Mr. Wood asked the Council to support the motion.

Mr. J. W. Jones supported the motion for the reason that his friend Mr. A. J. Pitman assured him that it was perfectly true. They were not being asked to vote for anything that was false but to vote for a composition that was perfectly true.

Mr. T. Clarke said, although the Bankes James Arrangement as a whole might be a true peal, it would not stand the tests they could apply to other peals. If, for instance, they took a piece out of Thurstans' peal they would find it was true, but they could not take a 720 out of the Bankes James Arrangement and say it was true. They had rounds occurring at irregular intervals.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson said that point had been raised before. There was a danger of attaching too much importance to the row 123456. It had no more importance than any other. If they took the row 654321, for instance, what was true of rounds was true of that, or of any other row that they liked to take. If they fixed rounds to come at every 720 changes, then every other row that there was would occur at varying intervals, some of them much closer than 336 changes apart, unless they rang the same 720 over and over again. When they talked of change ringing they must not attach undue importance to one particular row; all rows were of equal importance (applause).

Mr. Clarke said he did not quite agree with the last speaker. His reason for objecting to this composition was that the Council's definition was that a 720 must start from and end with rounds.

Mr. W. A. Cave asked if it was a fact that the difference between an ordinary peal of seven 720's of Minor and the Bankes James Arrangement was that the one contained 123456 seven times, but in the Bankes James Arrangement they had rounds eight times, because they had to have it once at the start and once at the finish? If so the peal was false, although it might be theoretically true in 720's.

COUNCIL MIGHT LOOK FOOLISH.

Mr. C. T. Coles said it was fitting that they should be discussing that resolution in Warwickshire, because it was at Grendon in that county in 1923 that the composition was first rung. He reminded them of that fact mainly because it was eleven years since this peal was first before the Exercise, and every year there had been one or more performances of it published in the Analysis, yet there was no one there that day who had ever voted against the adoption of the table because it included peals on the Bankes James plan. The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson had suggested that the Council might make itself look exceedingly foolish in the future if it did not adopt that motion. He made the same remark last year, and he could not help saying that if they objected to the motion they would make themselves look exceedingly foolish that day by having omitted to move the reference back to the Analysis Committee of their report, which contained performances of that peal. He would remind the Council that it was the Council's own fault at Hereford that the peal became exceedingly popular, for it there passed a definition of a peal of Minor—and incidentally also of Doubles—which purported to bring this peal in. If it didn't, it was the fault of the framers of the resolution, but the fact remained that that resolution was passed by an overwhelming majority. Then in the following year at Chelmsford it was said that the peal was hopelessly false, and the Council had suffered for it ever since. Mr. Cave, continued Mr. Coles, had referred to the occurrence of rounds at the beginning and end. If they rang a peal of Stedman Triples they had rounds at the beginning and the end. Which one they counted was a matter some of them 'stuck' on, but it made no difference to the peal. The truth of the peal was in the peal itself and not necessarily in the 720's. There was too much importance attached to having rounds 720 changes apart. People who talked about the truth of a peal of Minor did not mind ringing a certain change in the last lead of one 720 and in the first lead of the next. They called that true. If they were wrong in saying that rounds need not be 720 changes apart then they must of necessity ring every other row at intervals of exactly 720 changes and go back to ringing every 720 in a peal in the same method and calling the same composition, which all of them would agree would be a retrograde step. He would remind Mr. Hunt that a peal of Stedman Triples must contain 5,041 rows, with rounds at the beginning and the end, and however much he liked to try he could not dodge the fact that there were 5,041 rows in that peal. If they applied the same rule to the Bankes James Arrangement they must admit that the peal was true.

A BIG MAJORITY.

The Rev. H. Drake suggested that in deciding this matter only those who were six-bell ringers should vote ('Oh!').

Several Members: What is a six-bell ringer?

The Rev. H. Drake: One who rings on six bells and is not a regular ringer on eight or more bells. We should then see whether the six-bell ringers, who are chiefly concerned, are in favour of it or not.

Mr. Rupert Richardson said he supported the resolution and was certain he was speaking for practically every six-bell ringer in Lincolnshire (applause). At present he was not a six-bell ringer, but he had rung over a hundred peals of Minor. He was one of those to whom Mr. James introduced spliced Minor ringing, and they had some very fine Minor ringers in Lincolnshire.

Mr. C. Mee, speaking for the six-bell ringers of Suffolk, said they were in favour of admitting the Bankes James peal.

Mr. Goldsmith briefly replied to some of the points raised in the discussion. He said that whether they started at handstroke or backstroke made no difference to the truth of a peal; neither did it affect the truth of a 720 whether they began it with rounds or any other row. There were no more rows of rounds in the Bankes James Arrangement than in any other peal of Minor. In every peal on six bells they had eight rows of rounds, but only seven of them counted; and it was exactly the same in the Bankes James Cambridge. It had been said that they could not take a true touch out of this peal as they could out of Thurstans' peal of Stedman. The two things were different. There was no repetition from beginning to end of a peal of Triples, but in a peal of Minor there must of necessity be repetitions of each row. With regard to the constitution of a lead, which involved the inclusion of the initial rounds as the first row, that applied to all Minor methods and not merely to Cambridge, and was not an argument introduced to make this particular peal true. It was true of all even-bell methods with only one hunt. He asked the Council to accept the motion on the ground that the peal was true.

A vote was then taken, and the President declared the motion carried, adding that there was more than a two-thirds majority.

SMALL NUMBER OF 'FIRST PEALERS.'

The remaining motion on the agenda was moved by Mr. E. M. Atkins in the following terms: 'That this Council views with concern the comparatively small number of ringers ringing their first peal, and suggests that all ringers, mindful of their high calling, should do all in their power to encourage their less proficient brethren.' He said the impression was growing that things were not too satisfactory in the ringing world as a whole; that, in fact, they were not going uphill, but downhill. The number of towers one heard of where there was no band of ringers ringing for Sunday, and places one came across where one band supplied the ringing for two or three towers, were numerous. He had also noticed that there was often very little encouragement at meetings for those who could only ring rounds or were endeavouring to learn to hunt the treble. That came to a head this year when he realised that a certain well-known Diocesan Guild, with between 700 and 800 members, had only succeeded in getting three people through their first peal last year. When this happened there was something wrong, and he felt it was up to somebody to bring the matter before the Council. That was why he put the first part of the motion on the agenda with reference to people ringing their first peal. If they referred to the analysis things did not look quite so bad last year as the year before. They would find that last year 523 ringers rang their first peal, against 430 the year before, an increase of 93, but, on the other hand, if they went back another year they would find there were 612 who rang their first peal in 1931, so that in 1933 there was a decrease of 89 compared with two years ago. If they went back ten years they would find the number was 687, which showed a decrease of 164. Unfortunately they had no means of estimating the number of change ringers, but in the 'Church of England Year Book' it was stated that there were 46,321 bellringers, which meant that about one per cent. rang their first peal in the course of the year. He had analysed a number of Guild reports and had come to the conclusion that the number of ringers attached to guilds and associations was now about 25,000, and that meant that only about two in each hundred were being got through their first peal every year. That meant that if they were to progress in numbers a ringer had to have about fifty years of ringing life after ringing his first peal. They knew that ringing was a healthy exercise, but it meant that a ringer, if he rang his first peal at 20, had to live until he was 70 if they were to keep their numbers up—and that did not allow for wastage. He could not say how it was, but they seemed to be losing ground. If they took the analysis of peals for last year they would find it contained a total drop of 369 in the year, but the drop in the simpler methods was 338, which was 90 per cent. of the whole. It looked rather as if the experienced ringers were not doing their part in getting the less efficient people through the simpler methods.

BEGINNERS' POINTS OF VIEW.

With regard to the second part of his motion, Mr. Atkins said he put in the reference to their high calling, because he felt their work was one of the higher callings in the Church; he felt it was almost next to the priesthood itself, from the fact that it was a tremendous privilege to them to proclaim the Gospel Sunday by Sunday. It was a great thing to take a share in the first part of the chief services every Sunday, not simply from the point of view of calling people to church, but as an offering which nobody else could make. It was for their Guild officials to see that the bells were rung regularly and efficiently. Were they doing all in their power to help beginners? Mr. Atkins asked. He quoted from points of view which beginners had given him. Most of them complained that not sufficient opportunity was given them at meetings, and one wrote that 'the atmosphere puts one off.' After beginners had been given a short spell of rounds the more advanced ringers seemed to be saying to themselves, 'Thank goodness that's over, now we shall be able to do something!' Mr. Atkins added that the Council and ringers generally ought really to try and do something in this matter; they must try and cultivate a brotherly spirit and give youngsters every opportunity. He urged the more general use of the Council's 'Handbook for Instructors and Beginners.' It ought to be studied, he said, by everybody concerned with the teaching of beginners. He wished very much that they had statistics which would enable them to say definitely whether they were progressing or not and, if he might, he would like to propose some amended resolution that the secretary be empowered to collect statistics from the affiliated associations. It was, he concluded, most important that they should aim at getting all the bells rung on Sundays regularly. At present only a small proportion were rung. He might be pessimistic, and he hoped he might be proved wrong, but he hoped that some day they might be able to say with even more justice that this was truly the 'Ringing Isle.'

Mr. J. Parker, who seconded, remarked that he would not say much, as Mr. Atkins had said enough for three or four (laughter).

Mr. Groombridge said they could not put any more on their association secretaries than they already put on them.

OLD RINGERS' VIEWS.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert said he did not think there was any need for Mr. Atkins to get pessimistic. If youngsters got where there was no good ringing they quickly tired of it, but if they went to a tower where there was good ringing they very soon got on. They did not then lose them unless they started 'taking on one of the opposite sex' (laughter). He had three or four in his band who were going to ring quite as well as ever he had, 'if I don't drive them away,' he added, 'and I will if they don't ring and strike' (applause).

Mr. George Williams said Mr. Atkins had asked, 'What are we going to do about it?' If he would come to the south he would see what they were doing about it there. They had a meeting every month and two or three practices besides, and they rang twice on Sundays, and it would do Mr. Atkins good to see it. They rang methods for all the young ones, from Grandsire and Bob Doubles, and even rounds, from January 1st to December 31st, and every now and then they had a chance to put in something above the ordinary. In his Guild they always seemed to be teaching young ringers at the district meetings; that was their first object, together with ringing for Sunday services, if it was only ringing rounds.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said in Yorkshire, not merely in ringing but in other things as well, there was an increasing difficulty in getting people to undertake work that had to be done regularly and also meant sacrifice of their own convenience. Another difficulty in the big towns was that owing to the increasing facilities of motor transit there was a tendency for the people to migrate miles out, and the churches in the cities were left with very few people round them, and it meant something of an effort for a young man, even if he had the courage of his convictions, to be prepared to go some miles for his ringing. He himself had half an hour's walk to ring, and if they imagined they were going to get that from the younger generation he was inclined to think they were expecting something they would not get.

Mr. J. W. Jones said at Newport he found no difficulty in obtaining ringers. He believed in many cases ringers looked in the wrong places for beginners. He had looked after the bells of his church for 32 years, and in all that time they had never missed ringing twice on a Sunday, unless illness happened close to the church. All the band were either sidemen or in the choir or connected with the Church Council. He got his young ringers from among the choir-boys. When their voices cracked he did not let them slip away from the church but got them into the belfry, and he could get six new ringers on the next Monday evening if he desired to do so. One of the troubles experienced in many places was, he believed, that many men who understood ringing would not give their time to teaching. What they wanted was Cambridge or London, but they would not teach a boy to ring. His advice was, 'Start them young and start with choirboys and others connected with their own church' (applause).

Mr. S. F. Palmer said if beginners were encouraged the great majority of them would make ringers, but there were a certain number of men who had not the patience to teach young ringers. As Ringing Master of a Yorkshire society he made it his duty to see that every member who attended a meeting got a ring; also that every youngster got a ring. A certain portion of the ringing was always devoted to rounds for the beginners. He also saw that all the rest got their due proportion of the advanced methods or whatever they liked to ask for. If all Ringing Masters followed the same plan he did not think there would be much need for Mr. Atkins' proposition.

RESULTS DEPEND ON TEACHERS.

Mr. A. Walker said he was not one of the pessimists. The way in which youngsters got on depended on the teachers, and results rested largely upon them. In Birmingham there had not been many peals rung lately, but he could give an optimistic report as to what they were doing. They were having to start their practices half an hour earlier than they used to in order to give all the ringers their opportunity to ring, and on most Tuesday evenings the ringing comprised anything from Grandsire Triples to Stedman on 8, 10 and 12, and Cambridge, London and Bristol. It was the teacher who had got to do the pushing; if he did not encourage the youngsters they would slip away. They must also get the youngsters to move about to other towers. They would then get experience and enthusiasm with it (hear, hear). If existing ringers would not be satisfied with merely ringing themselves, but would bring others into their band and teach them, there was nothing to be pessimistic about for the future (hear, hear).

Mr. C. T. Coles said as secretary of the association in whose area Mr. Atkins lived, he did not think there was anything to be pessimistic about. The difficulties in big places like London, which embraced miles and miles of suburbs in every direction, were growing, and it was more difficult to do the Sunday ringing and more and more difficult to find time for practice than it used to be; and in these areas it was difficult to find youngsters to take up ringing. It made the work of the associations in such areas much harder, but the fact remained that, in spite of the difficulties, they were slowly improving. There were places where matters had gone backward, but in their districts as a whole they could show progress. There could not be much to be pessimistic about when they had such performances as the young people's peal at Crayford. One of the young ladies who rang in that peal and was only 17 had rung a peal in four spliced Surprise methods. There was every opportunity for young ringers to learn if they wanted to learn, and had the ability. In the area to which Mr. Atkins referred there were four or five associations functioning with meetings almost every week. If in London there was the possibility of ringing closing down here and there, that was counterbalanced by the increased facilities for travel which enabled the young ringers to get further afield. It might be that in these days of facilities for pleasure the youngsters found that learning to ring was hard work, and some dropped away before they really got into it, but in his opinion the districts of his association showed a great improvement compared with 25 years ago.

Mr. J. Parker said one of the greatest mistakes was to get young ringers through their first peal of 'Spliced.' They suffered from it in his association in Middlesex more than anybody. There were ringers who saw a promising young ringer, and said, 'We will put him through a peal of spliced.' The others got jealous and stopped away. What they wanted was to encourage the Sunday ringing; that was the way to get young ringers.

The motion was then put and carried nem con.

Mr. Atkins asked if he could put a supplementary resolution that the secretary of the Council should be empowered to obtain statistics as to the number of ringers in the country?

The President said he thought they could leave this matter to the secretary, who had had it in mind for a long time. The only difficulty was devising a suitable method and finding time to do it.

The matter then dropped.

WARWICKSHIRE SECRETARY'S BEREAVEMENT.

On Thursday, June 7th, at Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) was rung with half-muffled clappers: P. Stone 1, E. Stone 2, J. E. Moreton 3, A. H. Beamish (conductor) 4, J. Draycott 5, A. Haswell 6, C. E. Rayson 7, H. Harris 8. This was a last token of respect for Mr. George J. Lewis (father of Mrs. D. E. Beamish, hon. secretary of the Warwickshire Guild), for over 30 years actively connected with church work at Chilvers Coton. He was an indefatigable worker for the recasting and augmentation of the bells in 1908.

The interment took place the previous day with full Masonic honours, Mr. Lewis having held office in the Grand Lodge of Warwickshire.

TEWKESBURY BELLS THROUGH SEVEN CENTURIES.

BY REV. E. G. BENSON.

In a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' Mr. E. D. Taylor gave a short history of the Abbey bells from 1696. The following fuller account from the earliest days may therefore be of interest:—

The earliest existing record of bells at Tewkesbury Abbey is the plain statement in the Tewkesbury Annals that in the year 1224 the Bishop of Killaloe dedicated two large bells (majora signa) in the tower. Seventeen years later another Bishop consecrated two new large bells (magna signa) in the choir.

There was a campanile which stood at the north side of the Abbey church (cf. Chichester), but it is not known how long it was used for bells. In 1582 this campanile was converted into a house of correction, and in 1817 it was pulled down. The first of the above records seems clearly to refer to bells for the great Norman tower of the church (in turri). In the vaulting of the church above the choir, constructed about 1350, there is a large round hole for raising bells into the church tower, so that we can say that certainly from that period there have been large bells in the great tower of Tewkesbury Abbey.

THE TOWER OF TEWKESBURY ABBEY FROM N.E.

At the time of the dissolution of the monastery in 1539 there were eight bells, weighing altogether 14,200 lb. (over six tons). These bells were bought by the townspeople from the King's Commissioners, who had confiscated them, but three or four of them must have been sold again, for from that date until 1612 there were only four large bells and a sanctus in Tewkesbury tower.

In 1612 it appears that the churchwardens had a fifth bell cast in the churchyard by a travelling founder named William Ward (we know of no other record of this founder), but they sold it in the following year. There is no record of this transaction in the churchwarden's accounts, but the following rhymes were written on the cover of the baptismal register (1607-29):—

'William Dixon and Thomas Hoare
Made us that Bell which we ring before
Which men for that good deede; praie we they maie thrive
For we haveinge but foure Bells: they made them five.
And out of the grounde this Bell they did delve,
The 24th of Julie Anno Dom, 1612.'

Then below a little shield with the bell bearing the founder's name is added:—

'The Bell speaks

William Dixon and Thomas Hoare
Did sell me away though I rang before,
Which men afterwards did never thrive
For making us four, being once made five.
And could me to Wales, as I do ween,
About Anno Dom. 1613.'

Clearly some of the parishioners were aggrieved with the churchwardens for selling the bell, for someone also scribbled on the cover of their accounts:—

'William Dixon: Thomas Hoare
Caused him to ringe no more.'

Thus there remained four bells in the peal until 1632, when they were 'new caste into sixe.'

Mr. E. D. Taylor, however, is incorrect in assuming that there was no change ringing until the peal was increased to eight. On the walls of the tower where the old ringing chamber used to be there are incised sets of changes for four and five bells. There are two methods for the four bells. In one, the treble alone hunts right up to the back and returns, the other bells only moving to let the treble by. The other method is 'Grandsire singles' with the fourth covering. The method for five bells is 'Bob Minimus' with the fifth covering.

We wish we could date these early records of change ringing exactly. As 1612-3 is the only time there has been a peal of five bells in the tower, we are tempted to put this as the date of the five-bell method. The other two may be rather earlier. They all certainly date from the early part of the seventeenth century.

In 1632 the four pre-Reformation bells were recast into six, but there is no record of the name of the founder, though it is probable that it was John Palmer, sen., of Gloucester.

This increase in the number of the bells is clearly an indication of the growth of interest in ringing, and the ringing of the bells on special occasions (local and national) becomes a more regular feature of the life of the parish. Indeed, it is remarkable what large sums the parishioners spent on their church bells during the seventeenth century, and how constantly they were striving to improve their peal.

Thus in 1647 the tenor was recast at Gloucester, probably by John Palmer, jun.; in 1670 one of the bells was recast by John Martin, of Worcester; then in 1679 the fifth and tenor (again) were both recast at Bishop's Cleeve.

Hitherto the bells had been sent away to Gloucester or Worcester, and thus the carriage was by river. Bishop's Cleeve, however, necessitated a journey of some six or seven miles by road—no easy journey for those days. We have no record as to who this bell founder was at Bishop's Cleeve at this date, but the real interest of this temporary foundry lies in the fact that Abraham Rudhall was working for it. Besides paying the founder, the Tewkesbury churchwardens paid:—

for work ... .. 01:10:6

The earliest known bell cast by Rudhall himself is dated 1684, five years later.

In 1696 the bells of Tewkesbury Abbey again come in for attention. In this year the parishioners decided on 'recastin the six belles into eaight,' and Mr. Abraham Rudhall was engaged to do the work at his now well-established foundry in Gloucester. A subscription list was opened, and the Bishop of the diocese contributed. Mr. Rudhall's first peal of eight did not satisfy the parishioners, who seemed to have been determined to have a really good peal of bells. He had therefore to recast the treble and seventh in 1697, and tune them and retune the fourth. Even this was not satisfactory, and so he recast the fourth as well, it appears, in 1699 or 1700.

The present seventh and tenth remain of Rudhall's 1696 peal. The present eighth is the old fourth that was recast a year or two later. The present eleventh was recast in 1717, and the present sixth in 1725 by Abraham Rudhall, and the present fifth in 1743 by his son, Abel, because it was 'newly crackt.' Then for very nearly a hundred years this Rudhall peal remained unaltered. Throughout this period there was ringing on all the usual occasions, but there is no record to show how far change ringing was practised.

In 1837 the old sixth (recast in 1914), the tenor and the pre-Reformation sanctus bell were recast by Thomas Mears at Gloucester. Thomas Mears had recently bought up Rudhall's foundry, but for a short time he continued to cast bells there. Thus the present tenor is a Gloucester bell, and was no doubt cast on the old Rudhall stacks.

The opening of the bells in 1837, after the restoration, was the occasion of the ringing of the first peal at Tewkesbury. Several bands came over to attempt a peal, but only the Cheltenham men succeeded in bringing one round. The method they rang was Kent Treble Bob. It was an exceedingly cold day, and these ringers walked over from Cheltenham bringing their ropes with them.

After 1837 change ringing made little headway until C. D. P. Davies, the son of the Vicar, while quite a lad, interested himself in ringing, got together a local band and rang with them the first

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.*NORTHERN BRANCH AT BELBROUGHTON.

One of the prettiest villages in Worcestershire was wrapped in sunshine, and the gardens one mass of colour, in spite of the drought, when 80 odd representatives of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association attended a meeting at Belbroughton. The bells were rung in various methods during the afternoon. Service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. de V. Watson). The choir was in attendance, and Mr. Moore presided at the organ. Tea was afterwards provided in the Church Hall by the local ringers ably directed by their leader, Mr. E. Calcutt.

The business meeting was held on the Church Hall lawn, and was presided over by the Rector, supported by Mr. W. Short (Ringing Master of the association), Mr. H. F. Martin (Ringing Master of the Northern Branch), Mr. H. G. Bird (Central Council representative), Mr. W. H. Webb (Central committee representative), Mr. C. W. Cooper (librarian), and Mr. A. J. Skelding (branch secretary).

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Bewdley.

Several new members were elected to the association, and the Rector was made an honorary member.

Mr. H. G. Bird gave his report of the Central Council meeting, and mentioned that the peal of Cambridge rung at Coalbrookdale had come under discussion. Mr. Bird said that it had been found to be false.—Mr. R. Matthews, the conductor, said that the peal had been withdrawn with the usual apologies, and warned anyone else against calling it in the form in which it appeared in the association report.

Mr. W. Short proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for arranging the service and the use of the bells. He coupled with that the ringers' best thanks to the organist and choir under Mr. Moore, to Mr. E. Calcutt and Mr. R. Parton for interesting themselves in providing the bountiful tea for the visitors, and to the ladies who had so kindly helped at the tables.

The vote was carried unanimously, and the Rector, in reply, said it gave him great pleasure to have the association at Belbroughton. He mentioned that his father-in-law was one of the chief founders of the Kent County Association.—Mr. E. Calcutt responded on behalf of the local ringers, Mr. R. Parton for the ladies, and Mr. Moore on behalf of the choir and organist.

A very fine meeting closed with further ringing.

ESSEX RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of St. Barnabas' Church, Great Tey, had their annual outing on Wednesday, June 13th, in beautiful weather.

The first call was St. Margaret's (Ipswich), where they enjoyed some very nice ringing, and then went on to Helmingham and Debenham (where Mr. Rumsey had kindly arranged for lunch). Afterwards they made for Beccles, where they found a bit of weight to swing. Mr. Goate and another of the Beccles band met the visitors, which gave them a chance to ring rounds on the ten. The band then made for Lowestoft, where tea was enjoyed and two hours spent by the sea. Home was eventually reached at 10.30, after a tour of 160 miles. The Vicar, warden and friends joined the party, which numbered 27 in all. The ringers would like, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank the steepkeepers and clergy for the use of the bells and for having everything in readiness, which helped so much to benefit the outing.

Touces of Bob Major and Oxford and Kent Treble Boh were rung during the day.

WIGSTON RINGERS VISIT NORTHANTS.

On Saturday, June 23rd, Wigston Magna (Leicestershire) ringers set forth on their outing first to Hazelbeach, where, for an hour or so, the peal of eight were kept going to London, Cambridge and Stedman. From Hazelbeach the journey was continued through the picturesque countryside and a succession of pretty old-world villages, typical of Northamptonshire, to a fine peal of eight at Wicken, where Superlative, Bristol and Stedman were rung before partaking of an excellent tea. On returning to the belfry, Wicken, Leicestershire, Wigston, London and Bristol Surprise Major and Stedman and Grand-sire Triples were successfully brought into rounds. After 'falling' the bells a convivial evening was spent with members of the local band, during which tunes on the handbells and a course of Grandsire Triples by two of the Wicken ringers were much appreciated. A most enjoyable day was spent. The thanks of the Wigston Society are due to the local band and Mr. A. J. Green for the arrangements made.

local peal (of Grandsire Triples) in 1877. For the next thirty years this band kept together and maintained a high standard of striking, but unfortunately it failed to train up a young band to succeed it, and so, although two trebles were added in 1914 to make a peal of ten, by then there was no local band to keep up the tradition.

Now, with a fine peal of twelve bells, and a keen band of young ringers, we look forward full of hope for the future of ringing at Tewkesbury. The magnificent Norman tower, the long history of the Tewkesbury bells, the memory of C.D.P., all need to find their fulfilment in the living tradition of good ringing by a local band.

E. G. BENSON.

FOXEARH. ESSEX, BELLS REHUNG.

The bells of the Parish Church have been thoroughly overhauled and rehung by Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich. They were tried for the first time on Sunday, June 17th, for the morning service, ringers being present from Sudbury, Long Melford, Glomsford, and the local company. Some excellently struck touches were rung, and the bells were found to go splendidly. All the ringers agreed that Mr. Bowell had made a capital job of them.

EFFORT TO INTEREST PUBLIC.

In order to interest members of the public in bells and ringing, the tower at Southover Church, Lewes, Sussex, which contains a ring of ten, will be open to all who care to visit it on Saturday, July 14th, and Wednesday, July 18th, during the afternoon and evening. Members of the local bellringers' Guild will be in attendance to explain how the bells are rung and other interesting facts about them.

The Guild had their annual outing last week when, accompanied by the Rector (Rev. D. G. Matthews), they visited Salehurst, Rye and Pevensey.

THE 22-METHOD PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the 22-method peal rung at Deeping St. James on June 16th, I omitted to mention in the footnote the name of Mr. A. G. Driver, the composer of the six-method 720's, and offer my apology for the omission. Also, I am indebted to Mr. G. L. Joyce for the figures

THE PROBLEM OF MAN POWER.

The proposal put before the Central Council, viewing with concern the comparatively small number of ringers ringing their first peal, and suggesting that all ringers, mindful of their high calling, should do all in their power to encourage their less proficient brethren, failed to elicit anything that was new in this oft-discussed matter, and it is, indeed, difficult to see what action could be taken by the Council to produce results. The discussion brought out once more the difficulties with which those who endeavour to keep a band together are faced in days when recreation and amusement in so many directions are made so striking a feature of modern life. It also resulted in the expression of other more encouraging views, from men with long experience who have learnt the secret of keeping the belfry fully manned.

Calm reflection leads to the re-emergence of one or two plain facts. In places where there is definite and active church life, the enthusiastic leader ought to have no difficulty in getting ringers and keeping up the supply to fill the gaps as they occur. The place to look for the recruits—as we have often pointed out—is in the Church and not outside it, and the material ought to be ‘caught young.’ Moreover, there must be sufficient young life to provide beginners with a fraternal interest. One youngster among a crowd of middle-aged or old men is not likely to stop long, when he finds that it will take him months, if not years, to reach the standard of the rest. Youth will only consort with youth; but where youth is, whether it be in the belfry or elsewhere, youth can be attracted. The secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association made this plain from his own personal experience, and there is a wonderful example at Aldershot, where there are to-day 25 ringers, mostly young people, from ten years of age upward, in various stages of ringing development, from pulling a rope to ringing Cambridge Surprise. It is because they have the comradeship of others of their own age that these boys and girls remain loyal to the belfry, and are not bored—as many beginners find themselves—with having to sit in the tower while the older men, with whom they have, perhaps, nothing in common either in age or outlook, monopolise the ringing.

The difficulties which present themselves in the large cities form a problem of their own. Gradually the belfries are becoming denuded of ringers, just as the churches are losing their congregations by the migration of the population. Such towers can only be manned by bands of real enthusiasts, who are ready to take their office as a ringer seriously, and who are prepared to make some sacrifice of time and convenience in discharge of it. When such ringers are not to be found, it is obvious that the bells, as far as regular ringing is concerned, must become silent. It is regrettable, but unavoidable, and a fact that must be faced. There are many other towers, however, outside the big cities where it seems equally difficult to maintain a band of ringers. This may be due to any one of half a dozen causes, and it is here that the influence of an association can sometimes be made to bear fruit. It is, however, seldom that failure in this direction can be laid at the door of association officials. They are only too keen to give any possible help, and the fault, if fault there be, usually lies nearer at home.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

WOMEN 'MAN THE ROPES.'

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch of the Ladies' Guild was held at Stapleford, Notts, on Saturday, June 23rd, members being present from Duffield, Handsworth, Long Eaton, North Collingham and Nottingham, who were well supported by gentlemen ringers from many districts.

The absence of Mrs. Wolstencroft, of Ashton-under-Lyne, owing to a recent bereavement, was very much regretted, and at the meeting the ladies passed a vote of sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Wolstencroft.

The ancient Parish Church of Stapleford, typical of many to be found in our English villages, has an excellent ring of six bells, recently augmented from three by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The weight and 'go' suited the ladies admirably and were declared by them to be 'fine.' Touches of Plain Bob, Little Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Grandsire and Stedman, Double Oxford, Cambridge and London Surprise were rung during the afternoon and evening.

Choral evensong was sung in the beautiful memorial chapel, the Vicar, the Rev. C. J. A. Burden, officiating, the Guild service being used and much enjoyed by all.

Tea was served in the schoolroom. And such a TEA ('caps,' Mr. Editor, please), even the men were heard to say they had never seen such a tea. They certainly know the way to a man's heart, and a woman's, too, at Stapleford!

Full justice having been done to the good things provided Miss Varley, in a pleasing speech, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, the organist, the ladies for preparing tea, and to Mr. Fisher for making the arrangements for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors.—This was seconded by Miss Foulk.

It was decided to hold the next three quarterly meetings at Duffield, Leeds, and North Collingham, and the annual meeting at Manchester.

Returning to the tower, the Vicar spoke a few words of welcome and remained to see the ladies 'man the ropes.'

Trains and buses, like the tide, wait for no man, or woman either, so all too soon came the time to call 'Stand,' and the visitors went their various ways after a very happy afternoon of practice, praise and fellowship, which everyone thoroughly enjoyed. The ladies thank most heartily all those who contributed to their pleasure.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The 15th annual meeting of the Southern District was held at St. Nicolas', Guildford, on Saturday, June 23rd, Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock and continued till 4.30, when the Guild service was conducted by the Rev. A. B. Thompson, assisted by the organist and choir.

Adjourning to Ayers' Hall, the ringers found a good tea awaiting them, and thoroughly appreciated the strawberries and cream sent by the 'Fairy Godmother' of the Southern District, who wished to remain anonymous.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of the vice-president (Mrs. Bruce), the chair at the business meeting, which was held in St. Nicolas' commodious ringing room, was taken by Mrs. Hazelden.

The officers were elected as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Bruce; hon. secretary, Miss H. Mills; committee, Mrs. Whittington, Mrs. Melville, Mrs. Hazelden and Miss Fisher; Central Committee, Mrs. Bruce and Miss Mills.

It was proposed to hold the next annual meeting in conjunction with the most convenient district meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, owing to the difficulty of getting a Saturday that did not clash with the Aldershot Tattoo.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Thompson, to the organist, to Mrs. Hazelden, and all who had helped with arrangements.

Ringing continued until eight o'clock. The bells have a tenor of 21 cwt., and were rung in rounds by ten ladies. In the touches they had the assistance of members of the other sex.

TILEHURST RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On Saturday, June 23rd, the St. Michael's, Tilehurst, ringers held their annual outing, when a party of 25 ringers and friends, accompanied by the Rev. H. Fletcher, proceeded by motor coach to Fairford, Glos. The drive over the Berkshire Downs and Vale of the White Horse was much enjoyed. They were met by Mr. J. Hopa at Fairford, and touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, with rounds for the beginners. The next tower was Faringdon. Here again was an easy-going peal, and Grandsire Triples and rounds were rung, but Stedman was unsuccessful.

Tea was partaken of at Ardington, kindly provided by the Rev. F. R. Standfast and Mrs. Standfast, to whom a hearty vote of thanks was accorded. The party then attended a short evensong, after which Doubles were rung on the light peal of six, while the remainder of the party enjoyed looking round the beautiful Vicarage garden.

East Hagbourne was the last stop on the way home. Several touches were rung here, and with the help of some of the local band a well-struck touch of Stedman. Tilehurst was reached at 10 p.m. after a most successful time, and, for a change, the weather was fine. The ringers wish to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells and steeplekeepers for meeting them and having all in readiness.

A WEEK-END IN NORTHANTS.

LEYTONSTONE SOCIETY FIND 'HEAVY METAL.'

St. John Baptist Society, Leytonstone, always turn their annual outing into a 'week-end,' and this year they made Sulgrave, Northants, their headquarters, at the invitation of Mr. J. Mardell (a former member of the company). They reached this destination on Friday evening, and on Saturday, at 8.15 a.m., set out for Wicken, where 720 Beverley Surprise Minor was booked, but on arriving in the belfry eight ropes were found attached to a nice peal, recently rehung and augmented by Taylor and Co. The method was soon changed, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples and a course of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. Going on to Helmdon, the visitors rang 720 Southwell Surprise and a touch of Cambridge to give all the company a pull. Next, at Lois Weedon, 720 York Surprise was rung before returning to Sulgrave for lunch. In the afternoon a visit was paid to Cold Higham, where a light musical ring of six was soon going to Norwich Surprise, a good 720 being the result. At Kingsthorpe, they found a heavy ring of six, on which 720 Ipswich Surprise was rung.

The next move was to St. Peter's, Northampton, where, on the fine ring of eight, more Stedman and Grandsire were brought round and a well-struck course of London Major. After tea a long drive brought them to Braunston, where, on a heavy peal of six, 720 London Surprise was rung non-conducted. The last place for the day was Badby, where 720 York failed, but touches, in which some of the local ringers took part, were brought round.

On Sunday the ringers were early astir, and at 7 a.m. the light ring of six at Sulgrave were going, and a good 720 in six Surprise methods was well rung, followed by 720 Cambridge for eight o'clock service. After breakfast, a visit was paid to Wardington. Here is another heavy musical peal of six, and 720 each of Wells and York Surprise were rung on them. After lunch some ambitious ones rang another 720 Cambridge at Sulgrave before going to Middleton Cheney. Here at the grand old Parish Church hangs a peal of six, all cast round about 1640, with tenor about 26 cwt., and upon which, the local men said, a 720 had never been rung. Nothing daunted, the visitors decided to try 720 Ipswich Surprise, and were successful, a good 720 being rung. It was a good performance, considering the long draught of rope and weight of metal. Ringing is done on the ground floor with about 60ft. of rope and no guides. Banbury Parish Church was the last place of call. A look round the beautiful interior, which was well worth while, preceded a visit to the belfry,

'THE WORST RING OF BELLS IN ENGLAND.'

GUILDFORD GUILD RINGERS IN RURAL SURREY.

The Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a meeting on Saturday and embraced two towers in their proceedings. In the afternoon they met at Dunsfold, where the church nestles on the side of the hills nearly a mile from the village, but is well worth a visit. It is late fourteenth century, and one of the finest specimens of its architectural type in the county. It consists of nave, chancel and transepts, but its bells are in a loft over the west end of the church. They are a light peal of six, with a tenor of about ten cwt. and a long draft of rope, which proves disconcerting to those not used to this kind of thing. Among the features which make the building interesting are the 'squint hole,' through which, in days gone by, lepers were able to get a view of the altar, and three dram holes, each with its wooden plug, which were used when it was the practice to swill down the church floor.

The Rector (the Rev. A. E. Hollins) welcomed the ringers, and pointed out with pride the features of his beautiful church. He conducted the Guild's service and, in an unconventional address, talked in homely fashion to the congregation. He pointed out an unusual item of interest in the adornments of the church. On an oak panel on the west wall, behind where the ringers stand, is a small cross. It was cast from the metal of the old bells of Dunsfold, and until recently was in possession of the lady who had the restoration carried out. On her death it was presented to the church.

Tea was served on the Rectory lawn, under the supervision of Mrs. Hollins. There was no business to transact, and the district secretary confessed he had left his minute book at home, but a cordial vote of thanks was proposed to the Rev. A. E. and Mrs. Hollins by the Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse).

Afterwards there was some further ringing at Dunsfold, and the ringers went on to Hascombe, another little backwater among the Surrey hills. Here in a modern church, standing on the site of a much older building, is a ring of five bells (with tenor about 4 cwt.) mounted, like those at Dunsfold, in a loft over the west end, but rung from a little 'rabbit hutch,' reached by a rather fearsome staircase, down which a local ringer once fell to his death. The bells sound like a bad ring of six with the second left out, and were described by one of the visitors as about the worst peal of bells in England, with which statement the landlord of the solitary village inn appeared to agree—not that he had had much experience, perhaps. One bell rope falls in each corner of the little ringing box—it cannot be called a room—and the treble rope comes down in the middle, the bell itself being hung in the peak of the turret above the rest. A few six-scores of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, with some Bob Singles, were rung, but the visitors were quickly satisfied. They are still wondering how any self-respecting body of churchpeople can be content with such a ring of bells.

DEPTFORD.—At St. John's Church, on Sunday, June 3rd, for evensong, and for the birthday of H.M. King George V., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Crowder 1, J. J. Lamb 2, P.C. C. Elliott 3, A. Crowder 4, W. J. Jeffries 5, A. F. Bennington 6, P.C. C. Davis (conductor) 7, R. Fosdike 8.

which contains a handy ring of ten. Stedman and Grandsire Caters and three courses of Treble Ten were rung, but the striking was anything but good.

Sulgrave is the ancient home of the Washington family, of which the first American President was a scion, and is the Mecca of many American visitors to this country. The tomb of Laurence Washington, who died in 1585, his wife Amee, who died in 1564, and their eldest son Robert, is among the objects of great interest in the church.

In 1928 an old ring of five was recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the cost of the restoration of the tower and bells being largely contributed by Americans. In 1932 Messrs. Taylor and Co. added a new treble, the gift of Mr. C. E. Walton, in memory of his wife, who was organist at the church for a number of years.

The Leytonstone company were all very much impressed by the welcome received from the local ringers and the clergy who met them, especially the Rev. —. Briscoe, of Wardington. To all they express their thanks, and especially to Mr. Mardell for the successful arrangements made.

AMONG WORCESTERSHIRE BELLS.

CHESHIRE RINGERS' PLEASANT WEEK-END.

Despite the fact that it was Friday, nine members of the Chester Diocesan Guild recently set out for a short tour in the Worcester district. The party, which consisted of Messrs. J. Morgan, R. Sperring, W. Thomas, J. Swindley, W. Bibby, G. Jones, A. E. Richards, P. Swindley and J. W. Clarke, arrived at Worcester in the early evening, and the programme was opened with a visit to Claines, two miles away. It was a point of interest that these bells were at the foundry when some members of the party visited Loughborough in 1927. At this date three trebles were added to the old ring of five and the present fourth (Huntbach, 1686) recast. The back three were cast by Oldfield in 1623, and the fifth was added by Warner in 1886. Two of the local ringers, Messrs. E. Wilson and G. E. Large, were in waiting, and touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Cambridge and Little Albion were much enjoyed. Claines recently achieved popularity from a newspaper account headed, 'An Inn in a Churchyard,' a statement which needed verification before beginning the return journey to headquarters in Worcester.

On Saturday the visitors were joined by Mr. R. G. Knowles, of Madresfield, in whose hands the arrangements for the day rested. An early start was made, and a leisurely run through blossomed lanes brought the party to the old-world town of Evesham, famous for its bell tower. This detached campanile, which was originally built for Evesham Abbey by its last abbot, Clement of Lichfield, is a magnificent specimen of late Perpendicular architecture. It is beautifully decorated, and serves somewhat in the nature of a memorial to the glories of the great abbey church so ruthlessly destroyed at the Reformation. No other part of the abbey remains. Mr. J. Hemming met the visitors, and the fine ring of ten (tenor 3½ cwt. in C sharp) were soon going to Kent Royal, and a course of Cambridge on the back eight followed before lowering the bells in peal. The bells were originally eight by Rudhall, cast in 1741, but the tenor was cracked in 1800, according to tradition, by a blacksmith living near, whose sleep was disturbed by the striking of the hours. He rose from his bed, hurriedly grabbed the largest sledge hammer from his smithy, and ascended the tower with grim determination! The unlucky tenor was recast in 1801 by Mears, and in 1910 the whole ring was rehung and two trebles added by Barwell.

After a stroll round the picturesque old town, and an internal contemplation of at least one of its beautiful half-timbered buildings, the journey was continued to Hampton. The Parish Church of St. Andrew, which was endowed earlier than 1282, is a fine example of ancient craftsmanship. Its central tower formerly contained a ring of four by Bagley, cast in 1702. A restoration scheme was carried out in 1902 by Carr, of Smethwick, when the old four were recast into six (tenor 9 cwt.). Ringing here included London, Cambridge and Oxford Treble Bob, and Mr. Hemming was left behind while the visitors proceeded to Pershore for lunch.

Although the tower of Pershore Abbey was originally included, it was found later that ringing was not possible, but nevertheless a visit to the coolness of the lofty pile was well repaid by its display of architectural beauty. The tower contains a ring of eight by Rudhall in 1729 (tenor 26 cwt.), and both Mears and Barwell have done some recasting and rehanging at various times. The ringing chamber is of peculiar interest. It is a cage-like structure held under the floor of the bell chamber, and access to it is provided by a small iron staircase of spidery appearance, which springs out from the triforium and bridges the space to the platform. Rumour has it that on more than one occasion visiting ringers have failed to sum up enough courage to climb that staircase!

Upton-on-Severn was reached in the early afternoon, and Mr. C. Camm and Mr. S. Holt received the visitors. The church is a modern structure replacing the old building, the ruins of which can be seen near by. The bells, moved from the old church to the new, were originally five by Rudhall, cast in 1705. Mears added a treble in 1837, and these six are contained in the present eight (tenor 17½), hung by Bond in 1902. A pleasant-toned and easy-running ring, they were soon set going to Stedman, followed by Little Bob Major, and an interesting half-hour was thus spent before moving on.

The tower of the Priory at Malvern was included before tea, and a short touch of Grandsire and 504 Stedman were brought round before lowering the bells in time for a special festival service at 5.30. Historically these bells are of some interest, as the fourth of the old ring of six is dated 1350, and, although not included in the present ring, is properly hung in the frame. The 6th and 7th are by Henshaw, 1611; the 3rd 1706, and the 2nd and 4th 1707 by Rudhall; the treble, 5th and tenor by Taylor in 1837, in which year the restoration scheme was carried out. Conditions in the ringing chamber are not exactly ideal, the floor having three or four levels and forming something in the nature of a 'man trap' for the unwary! The view from the summit of the tower, however, is worthy of comment, giving, as it does, a panorama of the English countryside at its best.

During the evening the bells of Malvern Link—a comparatively new eight from the Loughborough Foundry—were available, and Bristol, London, Superlative, Double Norwich and Bob Major were rung in turn, bringing a pleasant day's ringing programme to an end.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN LANCASHIRE RINGER.

MR. SAM GREENHALGH, OF PENDLETON.

His many friends will regret to learn of the death of Mr. Samuel Greenhalgh, which occurred at his home, 16, Egmont Street, Pendleton, Manchester, on Friday, June 22nd, after a rather long and trying illness.

Mr. Greenhalgh had been a ringer at St. Thomas' Church, Pendleton, for upwards of 45 years, and rang most regularly up to the commencement of his illness nine months ago.

Always of a cheerful disposition and ever willing to lend a hand in peal or practice, he set an example in service and a standard in striking which many might follow with beneficial results to the Exercise.

He started his ringing career at St. Thomas', and a little later joined the Lancashire Association in 1892. He rang his first peal there on February 3rd, 1893, after which he became one of the noted Pendleton band of 30-40 years ago.

Amongst his collection of over 100 peals can be mentioned the first peals of Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, and Oxford Treble Bob Major rung for the Lancashire Association.

At the annual meeting of the association on September 26th, 1903, Mr. Greenhalgh and the late James Barratt, Eccles, were elected auditors of the association, and this office Mr. Greenhalgh retained until the day of his death.

Many are the tales he could relate of peals and attempts, meetings and ringers' outings, for few knew better than Sam the ways to and from the towers of Lancashire.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, June 26th, at St. Thomas' Church, the Rev. E. Fletcher, B.A., officiating, assisted by the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, M.A., president of the association.

The bells were rung half-muffled as the cortege approached and entered the church, and also later in the afternoon. The interment was at St. John's, Pendlebury, where a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by Messrs. H. Jones, H. Hollingworth, A. Barnes and C. Ollier. Others present at the funeral included Messrs. W. H. Shuker (general secretary of the Lancashire Association), S. Holt, Wm. Clark, W. J. Howard and G. Norrey.

In the evening a half-muffled quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung on Pendleton bells by Messrs. H. Jones, A. Frost, Thomas Jones, Wm. Clark, S. Holt, R. Davies, D. Brown and W. H. Shuker. Later, a second quarter was attempted by the local band.

Between the quarter-peals and afterwards, rounds and short touches were rung to enable all present to pay their last tribute to one who was well known and much respected, and who will be long remembered by all who knew him.

Thus the Exercise loses a member who, in his activities as a ringer, placed service ringing first, and good striking above all.

'UNPUBLISHED WARWICKSHIRE HISTORY.'

ANOTHER STORY.

Apropos of 'Some hitherto unpublished Warwickshire history,' writes a correspondent, members of one group of visitors will not soon forget their experience.

Preliminary.—A local House quoted them inclusive terms.

Finally.—Rendered 'bills' for 2s. 6d. per day extra, which some refused to pay, others paid, growled and grumbled, and determined to seek a rectification, which up to this moment has not been answered.

Sunday morning—Mr. J. Swindley's birthday, as well as that of His Majesty the King!—an early start was made for the Cathedral, and it was with no little pleasure that the visitors took advantage of the opportunity to join in a touch of Grandsire Cinques on this magnificent modern ring of twelve. In addition to the twelve with a tenor of 49½ cwt. in B, the tower contains three half-tone bells and a 90 cwt. hour bell. Made at Loughborough in 1928, they are a worthy example of the modern bell founder's art.

Some of the party were also able to visit All Saints' Church after leaving the Cathedral, and enjoyed a nice touch of 507 Stedman Caters on the old Rudhall ring there.

Leaving Worcester immediately after lunch, a halt was made at Hallow, where a musical eight (Taylor, 1900) were soon striking out Kent Major, followed by Oxford Treble Bob and a course of Cambridge. Arriving at Shrewsbury at 5.30, it was possible to join in the service ringing at the Parish Church, a Georgian structure whose tower holds a fine ring of twelve. Grandsire Cinques and Caters were rung before the remaining part of the journey was begun.

Chester was reached about 9 p.m., and so a pleasant ringing week-end came to a close. Thanks are due to the incumbents of the various churches, who were good enough to allow the use of the bells, and to the many ringers who helped to make the venture the success it was—especially to Mr. R. J. Knowles, who spared no effort in making arrangements and personally conducting the visitors to the delightful churches and bells in that equally delightful county of Worcestershire.

HERTFORDSHIRE RINGERS VISIT LOUGHBOROUGH.

The Apsley and Hemel Hempstead ringers, with friends from Rickmansworth, Berkhamstead, Northchurch and Leverstock Green, Herts, visited Loughborough for their annual outing. A 6 a.m. start, and a very enjoyable run via Dunstable, Weedon, Rugby wireless station, and Leicester, brought them to the Bell Foundry by 9.45, where Mr. C. Harrison gave the party a cordial welcome, and proved a splendid guide and mentor.

After a fascinating and educational tour of the Foundry, the campanile was visited, and rounds on the ten, Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major and Cambridge, were attempted. ('What a test for a ringer!')

Lunch was then taken at the King's Head Hotel, the company next being granted permission to ring on the grand 10 at the Parish Church, where the difference in weight upset things for a bit.

After a stroll round the park and viewing the carillon tower, tea was taken at the Empire Cafe.

Homeward bound again, but with a call at Monks Kirby (found after some searching), with its magnificent church and fine peal of eight, where the visitors were met by Mr. Harrison (secretary of the Parochial Church Council), Mr. J. H. White (Coventry) and other members of the local company. Rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Major and Cambridge Minor, were managed here, until the company adjourned for refreshments.

The journey was resumed at 9.45, and Apsley safely reached soon after midnight. Thanks are especially due to the two Mr. Harrisons for their kindness, Mr. White for meeting the company, Messrs. John Taylor and Co., for granting facilities for the visit, and the Rectors of the two churches for permission to ring. Everyone voted this a very successful outing.

A meeting was held at Elveden on Saturday, June 16th, when about 20 ringers attended and had a very pleasant time. Mr. Bowers, the local captain, had obtained permission for the visitors to look round the beautiful gardens and grounds of the Hall, which was very much enjoyed. The members were very pleased to welcome Messrs. G. Lucas, A. Pye, E. Pye, J. Davis and Easton from London, and Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of Central Council, who looked in in the evening and had a pull. Ringers also attended from Swaston, Fulbourne, Newmarket, Mildenhall, Eye and Garboldisham, and there was a good muster of the local band. The methods rung included Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, Kent and Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and a touch of Minor. Tea was served in the Village Hall and was much enjoyed. One new member was elected, and the next meeting was fixed for July 28th, at Brandon, or, failing that, at Mildenhall.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. T. E. Sone, an extremely active member of the Kent County Association, recently met with a serious motor accident, in which his wife and son were also involved. We are glad to say that Mr. Sone has sufficiently recovered to ring again, and was welcomed back to the belfry with a peal at Marden last week. His wife and son are also making satisfactory progress.

Another victim of a motor accident, Mr. Frank Bates, the veteran steeplekeeper of St. Martin's, Birmingham, is also on the road to recovery. He has left hospital and is at home at 62, Lozells Street, Aston.

Mr. W. J. Nudds who, until a few years ago did a great deal of ringing with the Middlesex Association, and was one of the band who rang the 18,027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough in 1909, has recently undergone a serious operation. He had been in indifferent health for some time.

Ten years ago yesterday the first peal on the twelve bells at Exeter Cathedral was rung. It was a peal of Stedman Cinques by members of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham.

Exactly two hundred years ago on Sunday a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Laurence's, Reading—the tower where Mr. Tom Hibbert would have you believe he now rules with a rod of iron but where he is actually a soft-hearted 'father' to all the 'children.'

We understand there is no truth in the rumour that a muffled peal—with one bell of the eight omitted—is to be rung by the 'surviving' seven bachelors who celebrated their 'freedom' at St. Giles-in-the-Field on February 29th, 1932.

The eighth member of that band is about to enter, or may by this time actually have entered—there has been much secrecy about the date—the bonds of matrimony. While the other bachelors may lament his 'lapse,' they wish their 'erring' brother every joy.

We referred last week to one of the youngest peal conductors in the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, Mr. J. A. Hill, who has recently called a peal at the age of 19. Mr. C. E. Bassett, of Petersfield, called a peal of Grandsire Doubles for the Guild at the age of 18, and Mr. R. O. Street, in the days of the old Winchester Diocesan Guild, a peal of Grandsire Caters at Christchurch Priory at the age of 18.

A peal was rung at Wissett, Suffolk, on Saturday, in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kemp. Mr. Kemp has been a ringer at Wissett for over 50 years and parish clerk and towerkeeper for 34 years.

ADDITIONS TO CENTRAL COUNCIL LIBRARY.

The hon. librarian of the Central Council acknowledges the gift of 'The Church Bells of Buckinghamshire' and 'The Church Bells of Suffolk' from Mrs. Jenkyn. These books were the property of Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. 'The Church Bells of Essex' has been acquired for the library by purchase. Will those who promised other books please forward?

CLAPPER FLIGHTS.

Dear Sir,—The letter of Mr. G. Wilfred Slack in your issue of June 22nd seems to require a reply. Just as I should not dream of publishing a composition without satisfying myself as to its truth, so I trust that I should not be tempted to make a statement depending upon mathematical laws before testing its accuracy. The complex calculations to which he refers were made twenty years ago, and were applied to individual data. I have checked them again and give the following example:—

Take a bell of 1,378 pounds with a clapper of 35 pounds and other fittings of 239 pounds, hung so that the centre of gravity of bell and fittings without the clapper is  $15\frac{1}{2}$  inches from the axis of revolution.

First suppose the clapper to be of normal shape with its centre of gravity 19.9-16 inches from the centre of the clapper pin and a 'throw' of 4.13-16 inches. If the bell starts from equilibrium the clapper will leave the bell when they have travelled through 98 degrees 6 minutes 21 seconds. At this point the kinetic energy of the clapper will be 75.32 foot pounds, of which gravity accounts for 39.12 foot pounds, and the balance of 36.20 foot pounds is the amount of energy given to it by the bell.

Now suppose that  $3\frac{1}{2}$  pounds weight be transferred from the ball to the flight six inches further away from the clapper pin, the result is that the clapper will leave the bell when they have travelled through 102 degrees 30 minutes 47 seconds from the position of equilibrium. At this point the kinetic energy of the clapper will be 85.39 foot pounds, of which gravity accounts for 45.08 foot pounds, the balance of 40.31 foot pounds having been given to the clapper by the bell. These calculations were made without allowance for friction, air resistance or any pull on the rope, which do not appreciably affect the comparative results.

I do not quite understand the reference to possible errors of 400 per cent. in the last paragraph of Mr. Slack's letter, although I admit that nothing very definite is known about friction on shafts which revolve with varying velocity. As I hope some day to make some practical investigations into this point I will defer my reply to this part of the letter until then.

THE NEXT MEETING.

The President said the Standing Committee had considered the place for the next meeting of the Council and recommended Shrewsbury. The cycle on which they had gone in the past, apart from the London meetings, was north and south, Midlands, east and west. They were, therefore, due to go to another place in the Midlands, if they kept to the routine. They might think that Shropshire had not taken much notice of the Council this year, as no one was present to represent the association, and that they did not therefore deserve to have them; on the other hand they might go there and tell them what they thought about it (laughter). Shrewsbury was a very delightful place, and there were plenty of bells there.

The proposal was agreed to.

CIRCULATION OF 'THE RINGING WORLD'

Mr. F. E. Dawe, with the consent of the Council, introduced the following motion: 'That in view of the meagre response made in answer to the resolution passed at Plymouth two years ago, a small committee of the Council be appointed to collaborate with the Editor of 'The Ringing World' with a view to increasing the circulation of this paper among members of the Exercise.' Mr. Dawe said the increased circulation since two years ago was not only meagre, it was totally inadequate. There were many towers where there were a dozen or so ringers who took only three or four copies of the paper between them, and there were a great many cases where only one copy went into a tower. He suggested that a small committee be appointed, presumably to meet in London, to discuss the matter with the Editor and see what could be done. He had taken in all the ringing papers for the last 58 years. One after the other they had fallen by the way, simply because they had not been properly supported by the majority of the ringers. Ringers generally were nice fellows, but there were three things they were singularly gifted in: apathy, procrastination and indifference (laughter). They could never be got to do things. Fifty years ago he was one of the best ambassadors of the old 'Bell News,' and pushed the paper all he could. But he found time after time that one copy was taken for a tower and was passed around. The same thing applied in these days to 'The Ringing World.' He had wondered whether they might not raise a fund to pay for a supply of copies of the paper to be sent weekly to different secretaries of associations for distribution among towers where the paper was not already circulating, so as to induce the ringers eventually to support the paper. He would be prepared to contribute £5 a year for a year or two to such a fund, and he thought there were others in the Exercise who would also be prepared to contribute towards such an object. If there was anything they could do to stir up enthusiasm they ought to do it, and he proposed the appointment of this small committee to go into the subject.

Mr. Cave seconded.

Mr. Hunt said it was a difficult job to get ringers to take the paper, but something could be done by personal effort. There were 15 ringers in the band he belonged to, but there was not one of them who took the paper until he got them to do so; but even now two-thirds of the band did not look at the paper; they had not got time.

Mr. G. Pullinger said there was one plan that was quite easy, and that was for every member to take two copies. He had taken two for several years, and his spare copy he gave to someone whom he thought might become interested. He let them have it for two or three weeks, and in many cases it 'came off' and the individual became a new subscriber to the paper. If 500 people took two copies for a year and utilised the spare one in that way it would doubtless make a difference.

The President: That is a detail which could come before the committee if it is appointed.

The motion was put and carried, and the officers of the Council and Mr. Dawe were appointed as the committee.

GREETINGS TO AUSTRALIA.

The President said there was a scheme afoot for a band of ringers to go to Australia. It was not quite certain yet whether they would be able to go, but whether they could or not there were to be centenary celebrations in Melbourne in the autumn, and ringing would be going on there. It would be very nice, therefore, if the Council sent their greetings to the ringers of Australia, and if a band went out from England they could personally take the message from the Council (applause).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith said that recently he had received a letter from the secretary of the Holy Trinity Society, Hobart, Tasmania, who had said that the society would be very pleased to receive photographs of English church towers to add to their collection, if anyone would like to send them. It had occurred to him, therefore, that it would be very appropriate and a very nice gesture if, in connection with this proposed visit, a gift of a collection of photographs of the cathedrals and notable churches containing rings of bells could be taken out, not only to Hobart but also to the society at the Cathedral at Melbourne, which was to be the central point of the tour. He suggested that all the associations in the country should provide pictures of the most important towers in their area, and that they should be mounted in presentation albums. He had ascertained that many such pictures could be obtained from one source, and that the cost of each, including the album and mounting, would be about 2s. per copy. Each picture would have to be provided in duplicate. He was prepared to organise these albums, but to give the gifts a national character he asked the Council to support the scheme.

On being put to the meeting this was at once agreed to, and the resolution of greeting carried.

MEMORIALS.

The President said the question of contributions to memorials had been before the Standing Committee. The Oxford Diocesan Guild had a scheme in hand for a memorial to the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who was the hon. librarian of the Council. It was to consist of a tablet in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, and any further money was to be given to the trustees of Queen Anne's School, Caversham, where Mr. Jenkyn was chaplain, for an extension of the chapel, which was to be enlarged as a memorial to Mr. Jenkyn. The Standing Committee recommended the Council to subscribe a sum of ten guineas to that memorial. They had also had an appeal with regard to the memorial to the late Canon Baker. When the proposal first came before them the Council were not in favour of it because they did not approve the form of the memorial, but that had been changed, and it was now one of which they could approve. The Standing Committee therefore recommended that three guineas should be given to the fund.

These proposals were agreed to.

CONGRATULATIONS.

The President offered the congratulations of the Council to Archdeacon Parry, one of the representatives of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, who, he said, was the first member of the Council to be elevated to the rank of Archdeacon (applause).

IRREGULAR METHODS.

Mr. A. D. Barker said in the past the Council had ruled out certain minor methods which, they said, ought not to be rung in peals, because of the irregular lead-ends in the plain course. One of these methods was Woodbine. It had been rung in peals this year, and he had no doubt it was rung in peals last year. What was to be the attitude of the Council to these irregular methods?

The President said it was up to the associations to deal with it. They agreed to abide by the rules of the Council. If a peal was published it was taken out by the Analysis Committee and included in the peals accepted by that Council.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said as far as he knew the Council had never condemned any method at all. There was a standard of what a method should be, but the Council had never taken the attitude that nobody should ring a method that did not come up to that standard. If some people like to ring a method which did not come up to that standard that was their own responsibility; it was no business of the Council.

GREAT PAUL.

The Rev. F. Li. Edwards said at that time the B.B.C. were broadcasting the chimes of St. Paul's Cathedral clock instead of Westminster. In the same tower with the clock at St. Paul's was the biggest bell in England. That bell was rung up every week-day at one o'clock by four men, and he thought the B.B.C. were missing a great opportunity by not broadcasting that bell to the world. It would be heard over the wireless with far finer effect than it was ever heard in St. Paul's Churchyard. He thought every member of the Council as a member of the public should write a brief note to the B.B.C. asking them to broadcast the great bell as well as the clock of St. Paul's.

VOTES OF THANKS.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Mayor and Corporation of Warwick for the use of the Court House, which had been a very nice place to meet in. He also thanked Alderman Dr. Malins, Deputy Mayor, who received them, and the Bishop of Coventry for his presence and welcome. They also had to thank the incumbents of the various churches for placing their bells at the disposal of the members of the Council, the Warwickshire Guild for their kind invitation to tea. They also had to thank very heartily indeed Mr. F. W. Perrens for making such excellent arrangements. The President also thanked Mr. Adams, of St. Mary's, for his assistance, and all tower and steeplekeepers who had had the bells ready for them.

The motion having been carried, Mr. Perrens briefly replied, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the president, proposed by Canon G. F. Coleridge, who said they could not be too grateful to Mr. Lewis for the admirable way in which he had conducted the business that day. They highly appreciated his services, not only in the chair, but throughout the year, for the great deal of work he did unseen for the good of the Council (applause).

GUESTS OF THE WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

Members of the Council and their friends were entertained to high tea at the headquarters, the Woolpack Hotel. The chair was taken by the president of the Warwickshire Guild, who heartily welcomed the Council into the territory of the Guild. It was, he said, a matter of very real satisfaction to those who had made the arrangements to see such a representative gathering from all parts of the country. The clergy appreciated tremendously the work done by the whole of the ringers. They did a great service to the Church, and the clergy were grateful for it. The presence of the Council at Warwick was a cause for real satisfaction to the Warwickshire Guild, and he thanked all those who had worked so hard to make preparations for the gathering (applause).

BRISTOL SURPRISE ROYAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. Baker is quite safe in saying that 'at that time I did not realise that a method when extended to the higher numbers does not necessarily have the same lead head.' Neither do I realise it now.

What I do realise is that the method rung at Beddington is not Bristol.

I challenged it in 1922, and, at Mr. Baker's pressing invitation, I journeyed to Brighton on purpose to talk the matter over with him.

Mr. Baker produced his books, and for more than an hour he laid his views before me. Then, thinking it time I said something, I tried to take my turn, but was unable to do so, as Mr. Baker always broke in with something quite irrelevant to what I was trying to say before I got more than half a dozen words out of my mouth. So, as I quite saw that he did not want to talk the matter over, but only to talk me over, I said 'Good-bye,' and left.

Mr. George Williams was sitting with us during the whole of the interview.

But, as other people might care to hear my views (as the author of Bristol) on the subject, may I trespass on your space to say a few words?

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies, in his work on the Surprise methods, points out that the half-lead can be divided into four symmetrical sections by drawing a vertical and a horizontal line as in example 1. Now, if we examine this example we find that when the treble passes the middle position the 5th bell makes 5th's and 4th's the wrong way round in passing her. Now these places only occur when the treble passes from the first quarter into the second quarter of the lead. Mr. Craven introduced the same work in his method as the treble went through 4-5 and 6-7, and in the Maximus 8-9 also.

Now Bristol work is four-bell work, as in example 2. Mr. Craven has extended this to six bells in his Royal method.

In example 3 I give a lead of Bristol Surprise Maximus. Examining the method we see that the four-bell work commences in 5-6-7-8, while 9-10-11-12 do a double dodge. Then they begin Bristol four-bell work, and when that is finished the seventh makes 7th's and 6th's as the treble passes the middle places, as the 5th did in Major.

Such is Bristol Surprise Maximus. Now if Mr. Craven's Royal is Bristol, his Maximus is Bristol also. But we cannot have two methods on twelve bells each called by the same name; and I confidently leave it to the Exercise to judge which of these twain is more worthy of the title.

While congratulating the Beddington men on ringing a peal of the beautiful method that they have rung, I would humbly suggest that they choose for it some other name to which it may have a legal title.

The Mayor of Warwick apologised for not having been present to welcome the Council in the morning, but he took that opportunity of welcoming them to the historic town. He thought that was the first visit the Council had paid to Warwick, and he hoped, now that their business was concluded, they would make themselves acquainted with the many places of beauty and interest in the town and neighbourhood. He hoped they would make up their minds to come again, and asked them not to think, because it was quiet, that there was nothing they could do. Warwick had the best in England to offer them (applause).

The President (Mr. E. H. Lewis) thanked the Mayor for the welcome he had just given them, and through the president of the Warwickshire Guild he also thanked those who had made the arrangements for the Council's visit. Mr. Perrens had borne a good deal of the brunt of the work, and Mrs. Perrens and the Guild committee had done much to assist him. He offered their hearty thanks to all of them (applause). Many of the Council had had the opportunity of seeing some of the beautiful things in Warwick and the neighbourhood. 'Some members,' added Mr. Lewis in regard to a remark made by the Mayor about the water supply of Warwick, 'may have tasted the water, but it is not the custom of ringers to drink very much water (laughter). I have not tasted the Warwick water yet' (laughter).

Mr. F. W. Perrens, replying to the appreciation expressed, said they of the Warwickshire Guild had been only too pleased to do what they had to make the visit successful, and he hoped they had to a certain extent succeeded. They were only a small Guild of a little over a hundred ringing members and not a very wealthy one, but what their hospitality lacked in substance they made up for in the spirit (applause). During the last few days he had been rather in the limelight, but he did not want them to think he had done all the work. Their hon. secretary (Mrs. Beamish), Mr. Adams, Mr. White, Mr. Burt and others had given every assistance, and had done a large amount of work. They hoped the members of the Council had enjoyed their visit; the committee had been very pleased to do what they could to help them (applause).

In the evening ringing took place at St. Mary's Church, and a social gathering followed at the Woolpack, in the course of which Mr. Rupert Richardson showed films of particular interest to ringers.

There is not any ten-bell method that may lay claim to the name of 'Bristol.'

Double Norwich is another example of a method that goes equally well on eight or 12 by making the places in 5-6-7-8 on twelve bells. But on ten bells, as a double method it is impossible to reproduce the beautiful double dodging.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Billingshurst on Saturday, June 23rd, 22 members being present from Billingshurst, Heone, Lower Beeding, Lindfield, Rudgwick, Turner's Hill, Washington, Warnham and West Grinstead.

The bells were kept going in the standard methods during the afternoon, and tea was partaken of at the Guest House, where the Rev. J. E. Gardiner, Vicar of Billingshurst, met and welcomed the company, but owing to an engagement was only able to stay to have tea with them.

Mr. Walter Charman kindly presided at the business meeting, when the following new members were elected: Messrs. G. Allen, J. Lee, R. Anker, E. Laurence, B. Baker, W. Torry, R. Buckman, J. Spring, A. Flux and A. Wornham, of Midhurst.

After votes of thanks to the chairman for presiding, and to the Vicar for granting the use of the bells, the company again paid another visit to the belfry for further ringing.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SUMMER FESTIVAL AT HUSBORNE CRAWLEY.

The annual summer festival was held at Husbome Crawley on Saturday, and proved a great success. Members and friends numbering about 50 were present from Bedford (St. Paul's and St. Peter's), Bromham, Dunstable, Luton, Linslade, Hitchin, Tring, Woburn, Wicken, Southill and Bletchley. The bells, a fine ring, set in delightful surroundings, were at the disposal of the members from an early hour, and most of the popular methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. Owing to illness, Bishop Lander was unable to officiate at the service, and his place was taken by the Rev. S. E. Swann, Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. The short service and address were a model of what a ringers' service should be.

Afterwards the ringers were the guests of the president (Rev. A. Rust) and Mrs. Rust. Tea was served on the lawn.

No business is done at this meeting, but the usual votes of thanks to the host and hostess, to the preacher, and to the ladies for their help at the tea tables were passed.

Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells and nearly Bob Royal, but the tower bells striking up in the middle of the latter it soon 'went west.'

In the evening quite a number of ringers went over to Aspley Guise to ring on the six bells there, one well-known Hertfordshire man to begin another century of towers. Altogether an ideal afternoon and evening was spent.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Sunday, July 1st, after evensong, at Pinner, Middlesex, 630 Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect and esteem to the late Bishop Perrin, formerly Bishop of Willesden: F. Leek (longest touch) 1, J. E. Rootes 2, K. J. Guyler 3, W. Bunce, sen., 4, E. P. Ashby 5, T. Collins (conductor) 6, J. Dolamore 7, T. Humphreys 8.

For morning service, at Llandaff Cathedral, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled for the late Dean of Llandaff: E. Coles 1, T. F. Bailey 2, A. Rowley 3, L. Wright 4, T. Carter 5, H. Thomas 6, E. Coombes (conductor) 7, J. Phillips 8.

ORIGIN OF A KENTISH MEETING.

ASHFORD DISTRICT RINGERS CELEBRATE SIGNING OF PEACE TREATY.

A meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association was held at Brabourne on Saturday, June 30th, in ideal summer weather. About 40 members and their friends were present from Aldington, Ashford, Brabourne, Canterbury, Egerton, Hythe, Horsmonden, Kennington, Lyminge, Little Chart, Sturry, Tunstall, Willesborough and Wye. Ringing was carried on during the afternoon in various methods, including Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise and rounds for the beginners.

The association service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. C. R. L. McDowall), and an interesting address was given by Rev. Coverdale, of Hastingsleigh. After the service a splendid tea, kindly given by the Rector, was served on the Rectory lawn by ladies of the church. Mr. E. S. Ruck, on behalf of those present, thanked all who had helped to make such an enjoyable meeting. He also mentioned that the inauguration of that annual visit to Brabourne was probably unique. In June, 1919, as a number of ringers such as this were sitting at tea on the same lawn, the guns were heard which proclaimed the signing of the Treaty of Versailles. The Rector at that time, the Rev. S. K. Lockyear, then invited the ringers to Brabourne annually on the Saturday nearest to that date, in order to celebrate the signing of that Treaty which meant peace.

The Rev. C. R. L. McDowall, in reply, renewed that invitation of 1919, and said he hoped the ringers would meet there annually for the same purpose for many years to come.

The bells were made good use of during the evening, and were lowered in peal at 8.30 p.m., thus ending a most enjoyable meeting.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The June meeting was held at Burley (St. Matthias' Church) on Saturday, June 30th. The bells were rung up at three o'clock, and ringing continued until 8.30 p.m. The weather was almost too hot for travelling, and with a county cricket match in the next parish numbers were on the small side. The business meeting was held in the tower, with the president in the chair. Members were present from Armley, Batley, Bradford Cathedral, Drighlington, Earlsheaton, Guiseley, Headingley St. Michael's, Shipley, Tadcaster and the local company. One new member was elected, Mr. W. Hick, of Tadcaster. A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company for the arrangements, was proposed by Mr. P. J. Johnson and seconded by Mr. E. Simpson. —Mr. Armitage replied for the local company.

The Secretary read the letter from Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, of 'The Ringing World,' in regard to supplying photographs from the society to form part of the albums to be presented to ringing brethren in Australia during the tour which is to take place later on this year. The secretary, in conjunction with the president, had already agreed that the Leeds Society should join in with this scheme, and now sanction of the members was sought. —Mr. P. J. Johnson proposed, and Mr. S. Barron seconded, that the action of the committee be supported and permission granted for the payment to be made from the society's funds. —The meeting then closed.

DEATH OF CROFT RINGER.

We regret to report the death of Mr. E. Matthew Watson, of Croft, Leicestershire, who passed away on June 16th, after a long and patient illness, at the early age of 25 years. The deceased was a very enthusiastic ringer, although he had not been able to take any part in ringing for the last year or so owing to his failing health.

Mr. Watson had been a member of the M.C.A. since 1923, and during that time had rung 12 peals. He was a regular Sunday service ringer and was sadly missed from the belfry when he had to give up.

Three of the local ringers acted as bearers at the funeral, which took place at the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Croft, on Wednesday, June 20th. The Rev. T. E. Blackmore, of Leicester, formerly Vicar of Croft, officiated. There were a few ringing friends present, but the day was rather inconvenient. Among those who attended were Mr. E. A. Marsh, of Husbands Bosworth, who takes a very great interest in the work done by the Croft ringers. There were also many floral tributes sent, including one from deceased's fellow-ringers. In the evening, as a last tribute to one loved and admired by all, a peal of Bob Minor was rung half-muffled.

The deepest sympathy and condolence goes out to the mother of the deceased and other members of the family in their bereavement.

OLD GLOSSOP RINGER'S DEATH.

CONDUCTOR OF RECORD PEAL 50 YEARS AGO.

Mr. Samuel Knott, who conducted a peal of 10,000 odd of Kent Treble Bob Major at Old Glossop in 1885 (the longest peal rung in that district), died on June 18th, and at All Saints' Church, on June 27th, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes) was rung with the bells muffled as a token of respect: H. Cooper 1, E. Maitkin 2, T. Jackson 3, E. Garside 4, F. Marsden 5, T. Potts 6, J. Bentley 7, H. Pemberton 8.

A DAY AMONG THE DALES.*ANNUAL OUTING OF ST. IGNATIUS, SUNDERLAND, RINGERS.

Patterdale, at the head of Lake Ullswater, was chosen for this year's outing of the ringers of St. Ignatius, and favoured with fine weather, it proved to be 'the best ever.' The party numbered 22, including six ladies, and the journey was made in a comfortable 'Northern' saloon bus, via Durham, Stanhope, Wearhead, Alston and Penrith, short stops being made at Stanhope and Alston. Rain had fallen in the early morning, and Weardale looked its very best, but the scenery around Ullswater surpassed anything that most of the party had ever seen.

After an excellent dinner at the Glenridding Hotel, Patterdale was visited. The Rector here, who was formerly Vicar of St. Ignatius, was away on holiday, unfortunately, but his son, Mr. Roger Baily, kindly showed the visitors round the church and Rectory, the latter being beautifully situated at the base of Place Fell, which is 2,154ft. above sea level.

Much as they felt inclined, the ringers were unable to linger here, or to visit Aira Force, but again skirting the lake, and with stops at Pooley Bridge and at Penrith, at five o'clock they arrived at the beautiful little market town of Appleby, where a hearty welcome and a bountiful tea was awaiting them at the Red House Hotel. The inner man completely satisfied, Mr. J. W. Parker thanked the Vicar and churchwardens for their presence and their kind contribution towards the expenses, the Vicar in his reply causing great amusement with a production of the 'A stands for —' type, pointing out the foibles of the various members of the party.

Mr. R. L. Patterson proposed the health of 'The Visitors,' the Rev. Canon Sykes (another former Vicar of St. Ignatius) and Mr. George Atley replying in humorous vein.

Arrangements had been made for a ring on the six bells of St. Lawrence's, but owing to lack of time it was decided to cut this out. On hearing that the townspeople had been looking forward to hearing the bells, however, a visit was paid to the ringing chamber, which is on the ground floor of the church, and a touch of Cambridge Minor was rung.

Leaving Appleby with great reluctance, the party had a glorious ride over the moors to Barnard Castle, where touches of Stedman were rung on the fine peal of eight at St. Mary's. The 'home course' was then entered, a stop being made at Raby Castle to allow Mr. Frank Ainsley to 'shoot,' not the deer, but the party, and Sunderland was reached shortly after 10.30 p.m.

ST. ALBANS RINGERS' WEEK-END.

The St. Albans Cathedral ringers had their outing during the week-end commencing June 22nd. On that day they were accompanied to Herne Bay by the Dean of St. Albans (the Very Rev. E. L. Henderson). On the Saturday afternoon a trip was made by road to Chilham, near Canterbury. After being conducted round the grounds, etc., of Chilham Castle, and the old-world village, the bells of the Parish Church were rung to touches of Stedman Triples and a plain course of both Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. The local ringers' secretary (Mrs. Hay) then entertained a large company to tea at her house, and the visitors expressed their thanks for a most enjoyable afternoon. On Sunday morning the St. Albans party (numbering 14) journeyed to Canterbury in time to ring at the Cathedral for morning service, when plain courses of Stedman Caters and Superlative Surprise Major were rung. Some of the party afterwards rang at St. Alphege, Canterbury, when Cambridge Minor and Stedman Doubles were accomplished. Returning again to Herne Bay, the attractions here occupied the party until Monday afternoon, when all returned home after a pleasant outing.

PEAL FOOTNOTES.

There are considerable differences of opinion as to the interest and value attaching to the footnotes which are appended to the reports of peals which appear in our columns. It is true that some conductors are inclined to over-elaborate details when sending their reports for publication, and it is not always easy to discriminate between that which is essential to the completeness of the record and that which is merely superfluous. But that there is a value to some footnotes is beyond question. They mark, for instance, the progress of the ringers, either individually or collectively; they distinguish those performances which are new to the Exercise; they indicate the special occasions for which peals are rung and in all these respects they are of general interest and of value in the compiling of those statistics which appear every year in the report of the Analysis Committee of the Central Council. The majority of ringers, we believe, desire to see these footnotes added to peal reports in the briefest form, but there appear to be just a few ringers who, from one cause or another, prefer to omit them entirely. This latter attitude led to a resolution being passed at the annual meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild on Saturday that conductors when sending peals to the ringing press should indicate such performances as first peals or first peals in a new method. To what extent this information has been omitted from the reports of peals rung in the past for this particular Guild we do not, of course, know, but it is a matter of general interest, as well as of interest, if not of encouragement, to the individual ringer, that progress should be marked in what may be termed the official records. Moreover, in the essential details, a good deal of trouble is taken to compile accurate statistics which will record the advance and development of the art and the way in which ringers, in the mass, are progressing, but these statistics lose their value when it is known that in some cases the details are omitted from the published reports. Indeed, we have heard the argument advanced that it does not matter about adding these particulars for the benefit of the Analysis, because in any case it cannot be accurate. This, of course, is a fallacy; if everyone was careful always to add the essential particulars, the statistics compiled on behalf of the Council would be complete and accurate to the last detail. What might be more generally avoided, however, is the addition of lengthy footnotes having little bearing on the peal itself, such, for instance, as the fact that after the ringing the ringers were 'entertained to tea' and that 'thanks are due' to those who have given hospitality. Such things have no real connection with the peal and thanks could be more politely and appropriately given at the time; while similar acknowledgment to the incumbent for the use of the bells is equally best conveyed privately. A good guide to what should be included in the footnotes of peals is that they should contain nothing that would not be put on a peal board in the tower. Anything beyond this, if of interest, should be the subject of a separate paragraph. Whether some of the occasions recorded as being the reason for ringing the peals are worthy of the honour is another question, but whatever the occasion, if the peal has been definitely arranged for it, it is a detail which is entitled to be recorded. Probably now that the subject has been ventilated, those responsible for peal reports will fall in with the suggestions and, on the one hand, add the essential particulars of first peals, etc., while on the other hand, refrain from giving as part of the peal record, details of matters which have no real relation to the performance.

N.U.T.G. ON THE WAR PATH.

A WEEK-END IN SOUTH BUCKS.

Seeking new towers and heavy tenors, six members of the N.U.T.G. Association journeyed into South Bucks on bicycles the other day. The first call was Little Missenden. They were welcomed by the Vicar and local foreman, the Vicar kindly showing them round the church and explaining the wonderful collection of mural paintings, the finest the writer has seen. Then into the tower to ring Grandsire Doubles and Stedman on the good going peal of five (tenor 11 cwt.). After one of the band had mended a puncture and another had collected some postcards, a move was made to the chief attraction of the day, Great Missenden, with the second heaviest peal of six in the county (tenor 26½ cwt.). The bells being up, 720 Kent Treble Bob was rung in 28 minutes: W. H. Gutteridge 1, R. Darville 2, F. J. Bolton, jun., 3, F. G. Baldwin 4, F. Corke 5, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 6. All admired the fine tone of the bells, which go remarkably well for their weight. Afterwards a course of Cambridge, with Mr. Higgin, the only change ringer in the parish, taking part. Tea time had arrived, and a good spread awaited the party in the village, and was soon demolished! Then a move was made to Chesham. A good-going peal of six (tenor 17½ cwt.) was soon going to 720 of Bob Minor, but after 10 minutes' ringing the second rope broke. A new one was put in, but there was only time for 108 Bob Minor before lowering the bells for eight o'clock service. The homeward journey was begun, and to fill up time a 'short notice' call was made at Amersham, but several of the band feeling a bit tired the 720 did not go down well and 'went up' after about 15 minutes. The ringing finished with a course of Cambridge Minor, with Mr. Ayres, a local man, taking part. And so to bed!

Sunday morning was the beginning of a nice day, and the writer had the pleasure of ringing at Farnham Royal and of meeting Mr. J. J. Parker, of '12 part' fame. On Sunday afternoon 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor at Chalfont St. Peter (tenor 11½ cwt.) was rung, and in the evening touches of Kent and Oxford at Chalfont St. Giles (tenor 11 cwt.). The last ringing of the day was 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor at Fulmer (tenor 7½ cwt.) after the evening service by *A. P. Cannon 1, G. H. Gutteridge 2, *R. J. Darville 3, F. J. Bolton, jun., 4, *C. Nicholls 5, F. Corke (conductor) 6. * First 720 of Surprise Minor. A touch of Kent Treble Bob closed the ringing, and the end of a very pleasant week-end was reached. Mr. A. P. Cannon would like to thank all those who rang in the touches with him and the local captains for granting permission for the bells.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. ALFRED WAITES.

A WELL-KNOWN OLDHAM RINGER.

The death took place on Monday, July 2nd, of Mr. Alfred Waites, of Oldham, under tragic circumstances; he was found dead at his place of employment.

Mr. Alfred Waites had been a ringer at Oldham Parish Church for over 30 years, and was a regular service ringer up to the last, having rung for service on the day previous to his death. Never a keen peal ringer, he was, nevertheless, justly proud of the peals in which he had taken part at the Parish Church. He is the only ringer who has rung the Oldham tenor through the peal of Triples, Caters and Cinques. Of a quiet disposition, but of rather a forceful nature, his absence will be keenly felt by his brother ringers.

The funeral took place on Saturday at Hollingwood cemetery, the Vicar (Canon Mackintosh) officiating. The bells were rung fully muffled as the cortege approached the church and after the funeral service. After the interment a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by Messrs. J. Lees, H. Barlow, V. Sykes and C. H. Marsland. In the afternoon a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Oldham bells by: A. Waites (son of deceased) 1, B. Thorpe (Ashton) 2, J. Ogden 3, S. Holt (Middletown) 4, J. Lees 5, V. Sykes (conductor) 6, H. Barlow (Glodwick) 7, F. Buckley 8.

SUDBURY BELLS DIAMOND JUBILEE.

The diamond jubilee of the opening of the bells at St. Peter's Church, Sudbury, Suffolk, as a ring of eight, was celebrated on July 1st with a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,230 changes) rung for evening service by W. Lee 1, H. Herbert 2, C. W. F. Clarke 3, D. Felton 4, A. Fitch 5, L. Johnson 6, D. Elliott (conductor) 7, T. E. Slater 8. Mr. Slater's father rang at the opening of the bells on June 25th, 1874. After evensong a touch of Bob Major was rung in which Mr. M. Silvester took part. He was present at the opening in 1874.

BRISTOL SURPRISE ROYAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is strange the tricks that one's memory plays. If Mr. James had not written to the contrary I should have said that he paid me a visit after some peal ringing in Brighton or neighbourhood.

It is quite certain I have no recollection of pressing him to visit me, and further, 'a man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still.'

I had, previous to his call on me, been convinced by his letters that nothing would make him agree to the fact, accepted by sixteen other composers, that a method does not necessarily have the same lead-head when extended to the higher numbers. Mr. James' description, in 1922, was 'they are Oxford extensions,' an old, old cry that had long before been applied to the proper extension of Double Norwich Major to Royal and Maximus.

It is true that when he did call on me I tried to show him my reasons for saying that Arthur Craven's extension of Bristol Major to Royal and Maximus were correct extensions, and with your kind permission I will once more try to show him and the Exercise my reasons for saying so.

Mr. James and everyone who knows Bristol Major will agree that the following ten changes of Major are the first ten changes of that method:—

21436587	2143658790
12346857	1234685079
21438675	2143860597

24136857	2413685079
42316587	4231658709
24135678	2413567890
42315768	4231576980

24351786	2435179608
23457168	2345716980

There is no getting away from the fact that the interior place-making is the same in both Major and Royal, and if the Royal is to be a double method without any padding or alteration all one has to do is to reverse the previous place-making.

I was one of the band who rang the first peal of Bristol Major, and from what Mr. James writes in the last issue of 'The Ringing World' one is led to suppose that the method has double dodging at the beginning and ending of a lead, hence the figures that he supplies us with as Bristol Maximus. Any Maximus that does not conform to the characteristics of the Major and Royal is no true extension.

Mr. Craven's extension of Bristol Major to Royal and Maximus are perfect extensions.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION WELCOMES NEW MASTER.

The Northern Division of the Essex Association held a meeting at Colne Engaine on Saturday week, 33 ringers being present from the following towers: Earls Colne, Greenstead Green, Halstead, Colne Engaine, Colchester, Braintree, Bocking, Sible Hedingham, Great Bentley, Brentwood, Springfield, Dunmow, Gestingthorpe and Broomfield. Ringing commenced shortly after 2.30, and later a service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. Chilton, M.V.O., D.D.). The lesson was read by the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell).

The Rector, in his address, gave the ringers a hearty welcome, and said he was pleased to see what splendid work the association was doing for the Church in having these meetings and services in the church.

An excellent tea was arranged at the Village Hall by Mrs. Hines. Miss Courtland and the Rector both visited the Hall to welcome the ringers, but regretted they were unable to stay to tea.

The business meeting was presided over by the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders), supported by the Master of the association (Mr. E. P. Duffield).

Mr. F. Townes and Mr. S. Genery, of Colne Engaine, were elected ringing members, and Great Easton was selected for the next place of meeting on September 15th.

The District Master gave a hearty welcome to the new Master (Mr. Duffield), and proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and his excellent address; also to Mr. Pudney, who kindly presided at the organ; and the ladies who prepared the tea.—Mr. L. W. Wiffen associated himself with these remarks, and complimented Colne Engaine ringers on the great strides and success they had achieved.

Mr. Duffield, in reply, said he was very pleased to visit this division; he felt sure there was not quite that vitality and enthusiasm in any other division, and he was pleased to see such a happy gathering (applause).

Touques were then rung on handbells, and afterwards some returned to the tower, whilst others proceeded to Earls Colne, where the Vicar (the Rev. O. L. Martin) was pleased to allow them the use of the bells for the evening.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

STOCKPORT BRANCH VISIT BUXTON.

Glorious weather greeted members of the Stockport Branch and their friends, representing Denton, Disley, Fairfield, Hyde, Knutsford, Macclesfield, Marple, New Mills, Reddish and Taxal, at the quarterly meeting held at Fairfield, Buxton, on Saturday last. Although the attendance was not so large as might have been expected, a rumour has reached us that there was a cricket match at Old Trafford, so mayhap some members followed the wrong crowd accidentally and arrived at the match in error.

The bells, which were set in motion promptly at three o'clock, were rung half-muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. Jack Barton, who had been leader of the local band for over 20 years, and had passed away during that week.

The Vicar, the Rev. H. Saunders Williams, conducted the service, and in his very interesting address used as his text 'Jesu be our speed,' which was the inscription on two of the bells at the old 'plague' village of Eyam, where he had been Vicar previously.

An excellent tea was served in the new Parish Hall.

The Vicar presided over a short business meeting, and said how pleased he was to be able to welcome the Guild to Buxton. After a hearty vote of thanks had been accorded to all those who had helped to make the meeting a success, a return was made to the tower for further ringing.

Although there are only six bells at Fairfield at present, they are hung with room for eight, and it is hoped that the time is not far distant when the octave will be completed.

A FAREWELL TO MANCHESTER.

MR. DAVID VINCENT'S DEPARTURE.

On Sunday, July 8th, Mr. David Vincent bade farewell to Manchester ringers, preparatory to taking up residence at Haxby, York.

Mr. Vincent, who is well known in many associations both for his capabilities as ringer and his ever genial nature, went to Manchester about two years ago, since when he has endeared himself to all with whom he has come in contact, and his departure will be a loss to the branch and the association.

For evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (the first quarter of Holt's Original) was rung at Flixton Parish Church (where Mr. Vincent has been a regular Sunday service ringer during his stay in Manchester), as a farewell touch, and also for the church anniversary: Miss E. Collier 1, D. Vincent (conductor) 2, L. Rickard 3, D. Brown (branch secretary) 4, G. Mason 5, J. H. Collier 6, J. Baguley 7, R. Thomas 8.

After service Mr. Vincent was the recipient of the good wishes of the Rector of the parish and the local ringers, and later of members of the branch at a ringers' gathering in the city.

In a few well-chosen words, Mr. Vincent thanked the ringers of Flixton and the branch for the warm welcome extended to him on his arrival in the city and for the many pleasant little events in connection with ringing, which he had stored in his memory, during his stay in Manchester. He was sorry to have to leave, but hoped he would some day meet them all again.

Farewells and handshakes were exchanged as 'the last bus left for home.'

HILLINGDON RINGERS GO WEST.

The Hillingdon Branch of the 'Tower Snatchers' Union' held a most successful expedition on Saturday, July 7th. What a day it was—glorious weather, excellent food, and seven 'captures'!

A start was made soon after 7.30 a.m., and after picking up 'Corkie', the R.M., and some lads and lassies in Uxbridge, the Bath Road was quickly reached. A diversion was created by the radiator of the coach giving forth beautiful fountains of boiling water. No casualties, however.

Messrs. Curtis and Barber welcomed the party at Newbury, and the ringing was much enjoyed. Bishop's Cannings came next, the Vicar waiting for the visitors and expressing his pleasure at their visit. A first-class lunch was disposed of (should it be 'devoured'?) at the Elm Tree, Devizes, a place to be highly recommended. Mr. Hillier took the ringers to St. John's, where a half hour's ringing was enjoyed. Melksham, with a long draught of rope, proved a handful to some, but the 'secretary bloke' kindly saved their reputations by breaking a rope! At Calne, the high spot of the day's ringing was achieved when some 'spliced' Grandsire and Stedman was rung with the tenor ringing Bristol! The conductor's fault (of course!) and 'Corkie' was requested in the future to announce the method as well as 'Go!' Father Time robbed the party of some good ringing at Swindon, where the visit to the Parish Church was short and sweet. Tea was served in the cool shelter of the King's Arms, where the only complaint registered was that the drink was too hot!

Last on the list came Abingdon, where the ten were rung to three or four methods. A brief halt in Wycombe, to wet the proverbial whistles (and a good tune they played afterwards, too!), and home was reached soon after ten o'clock.

Through the medium of this paper, the sincere thanks of the visitors are extended to Messrs. West (Melksham), Weston (Calne), Bishop (Swindon), and Lock (Abingdon), as well as to those mentioned previously, for their valuable assistance in the arranging and completion of the day's programme.

TRANSPPOSITION OF TREBLE BOB.

WHY TRANSPOSED PEALS ARE TRUE.

A correspondent recently put to us the question, 'If I take the composition of a peal of Treble Bob—a method in which there can be internal falseness—and start the calling at some point other than that put down by the composer, thus producing different lead ends, will the variation necessarily be true?'—

Instead of dismissing the inquiry with a brief affirmative reply, we submitted the question to one of the greatest authorities on Treble Bob composition and intended to give the answer over his name. However, he prefers, as will be seen from the concluding 'dedication' of his article, to remain anonymous.

First, says our authority, imagine a circle, round the circumference of which, standing out like the spokes of a wheel from a hub, are the nine lead-heads of the familiar bobbed course of Treble Bob:—

C 6423857 —
D 2684735
8276543
7826543 —
2758364
5237486

A 2345678

On our circle, 2345678, of course, appears only once.

Now, from A (rounds) through B, C, etc., back to A, there is no repetition of rows.

Similarly from B (4263857) through C, D, etc., back to B, there is no repetition.

And so on.

If instead of Rounds at A you place there any other row that you choose—say, 18765432, and from it write out a touch with the same calling, then you have:—

at C 14687253 —
at D 18426375, and so on.

The actual rows, all 288 of them, will be different; but the composition of the touch being the same there can be no repetition of rows from A round the circle to A again, or from B to B, etc.

RULE.—Whatever row you place at A, the same calling gives a true touch, which remains true, and the same if you make B or C or any other lead your starting point.

Now place at A the row 13527486, and write out the same touch from that row. At B, a plain lead, you get rounds; at C, with a bob, you get 14235678; at D, a plain lead, you get 3462857; and so on.

Obeys the rule above, make B your starting point, and the result, written out in the ordinary way, is:—

3462857
6384725
8634725 —
3876542
7358264
5738264 —

This is the original touch (or familiar bobbed course) begun at the second lead.

Similarly, you may put Rounds at C with 14537286 at A, which is the same touch begun at the third lead, as follows:—

8482735
8642735 —
4876523
7458382
5748382 —
4537286

We can now put the rule already reached into another form, thus:—

RULE.—In any true composition, Rounds may be placed at any point, and the result will remain true.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH VISIT WARMINSTER.

The quarterly meeting of Devizes Branch was held at Warminster on Saturday, July 7th. The bells at the Minster Church of St. Denys were set going at three o'clock. The hot weather seemed to have an effect upon the attendance, which was not so good as usual, about 26 being present.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. A. R. Bellars (Vicar), with Mr. Siminon at the organ, after which all adjourned to the Magnet Cafe, where a good tea was provided.

A short business meeting followed. Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (branch chairman) presided, and extended a welcome to the visiting ringers.

It was decided to hold the next monthly meeting at Bratton on July 28th, at the invitation of the Vicar, for the opening of the restored peal of six bells and the September meeting at Upavon.

The Vicar having to leave early expressed his pleasure in having the meeting of the branch at Warminster, and assured members of a welcome at any time.

An apology was received from Rev. F. Li. Edwards (general secretary).

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks, proposed by the chairman, to the Vicar for taking the service and for use of the bells; also to the organist and the caterers.

The towers represented were Bratton, St. John's, Devizes, St. James', Southbroom, Trowbridge, Melksham, Rowde, Warminster, Westbury, Longbridge Deverell, and visitors from Mere, Kingston Magna, Buckland Newton, Radstock, Chewton Mendip and Bath. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent, Single Court, Plain Bob, Cambridge Minor, and Grandsire Doubles. The bells at Sutton Veny and Horningsham were open in the evening and were visited by most of the ringers, both peals of six being in good order and the ringing on them enjoyed by all.

LAVENHAM ANNIVERSARY.

An enjoyable gathering was held at Lavenham on Saturday, June 30th, two ringing events being combined, namely, the 123rd 'Ring-ing Day' at Lavenham, and a district meeting of the Suffolk Guild. Upwards of 40 ringers were present from Assington, Bildeston, Buxhall, Finborough, Groton, Long Melford, Little Walsingham, Monks Eleigh, Newton, Rattlesden, Sudbury, Shipley (Yorks), Thorington (Essex), and Trumpington (Cambs).

Tea was partaken of at the Old Ten Shop, followed by a short business meeting, the Rev. Preb. M. Fountain Page (Rector) presiding, supported by the district secretary (Mr. S. H. Symonds) and Mr. H. Herbert, secretary for the Sudbury district. The Rector was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Guild, and Mr. T. A. King, of Shipley, Yorks, was elected a life member.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for presiding, and for the use of the bells.

In reply the Chairman said it gave him much pleasure to have the Guild at Lavenham, especially on the anniversary of Lavenham's augmented peal. He fully recognised the spirit of enthusiasm that existed amongst ringers, and also the great service they rendered to the church. He hoped the Guild would visit Lavenham many times.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Preston in July, to be followed by another at Monks Eleigh in September.

The Secretary asked for good support at these two meetings.

The methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain, Double Norwich Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

Or:—

RULE.—The truth of a composition is never affected by beginning the calling at a different place.

I cannot refrain from a short dissertation on 'the importance of rounds.' Of course, all practical change ringing in the tower begins and ends with rounds, as a matter of convenience to the ringers, and for the sake of musical effect. But it need not be so. The bells might be pulled off in 'Queen's' or 'Tittums,' and go off from 'Queen's' or 'Tittums' into changes, coming back to 'Queen's' or 'Tittums' at the end. Or even the bells might be so hung that when the ropes were pulled off in consecutive order the bells sounded in 'Queen's' or 'Tittums.' Then 'rounds' would occur somewhere in the middle of a peal of Triples, and would never occur at all in an ordinary composition of Major. But this would not affect the truth of what was rung. For the composer rounds is of no more importance than any other row—654321 or ZYXWVU will do just as well for him. He takes rounds as his starting point as a mere matter of convenience, like the ringer in the tower. But his block of changes, be it 720 or 5,040 or 7,777, is true if it contains no repetitions, and that though rounds occur in the middle, or even not at all. One consideration, however, does bind him. If he wishes his peals to be rung he must arrange his 'true and complete' 5,000's so that the practical ringer can go off into them from rounds and find himself ringing rounds again when his job is finished.

This little essay is dedicated to some stalwarts of the Central Council by

RINGWOOD BELLS RESTORED.*ANOTHER MAGNIFICENT GIFT OF THE BARRON BELL TRUST.

In the presence of a large congregation, including 30 to 40 visiting ringers, the restored ring of eight bells at Ringwood, Hants, was rededicated by the Vicar, the Very Rev. R. O. P. Taylor, on Sunday, July 1st. The service opened with the hymn, 'The sacred bells of England.'

Following the singing of the Magnificat, the service of dedication took place in the nave beneath the tower. Mr. F. Hopkins, senior trustee of the Barron Bell Trust, handed a bell rope (which was attached to the tenor bell) to the Vicar, saying: 'In the name of the Barron Bell Trust I convey this restored peal of bells and their appurtenances to the custody of the Vicar and churchwardens of Ringwood.' The prayers of dedication then followed, and as the last 'Amen' was uttered, the bells pealed out, rung by members of the local band.

In his address the Vicar spoke of the beauty of bells, and explained how, through the hearing of Shannon bells, a lady, Miss E. Barron, founded the trust to which Ringwood owed its thanks for the restoration of its bells.

At the conclusion of the service the bells took the place of the organ by ringing while the choir and clergy left the church, this being carried out by six officers of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, and two officers of the Salisbury Guild, who rang a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples.

At the tea which followed, the Vicar expressed his gratitude to the Barron Bell trustees, and also spoke a word of welcome to the visiting ringers.

Mr. Hopkins said that he was glad to see that the gifts of the trust gave so much delight among ringers.

A move was afterwards made to the belfry, and the bells were rung by visiting ringers from Christchurch, Portsmouth, Fareham, North Stoneham, Crawley, Winchester, Bishopstoke, Southampton, Botley, Poole, Salisbury, Wareham, by members of the local band, and by Mr. Martin Stewart, Ferndown, and Mr. W. Shute, from somewhere in North Dorset, to methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major.

The bells, three of which, the 2nd, 3rd and 4th, have been recast and the rest retuned, now make a very fine ring of eight. They have been rehung in new fittings and ball bearings on the existing frame, and everyone present agreed that Messrs. Taylor and Co. had again left their mark in the form of a first-class job.

SAFFRON WALDEN RINGERS' OUTING.

Members of the Saffron Walden Society held their annual outing on Monday, July 2nd, the weather being ideal. Travelling by motor coach via Newmarket and Bury St. Edmunds, the first call was made at Stowmarket, where touches of Stedman Triples, London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major were rung. The party then proceeded to Woodbridge, where hot lunch was served at the Sun Hotel. Afterwards the party went to the fine Parish Church, where they were met by Mr. J. Trotman. The bells were soon set going, the methods rung being Stedman Triples, London, Cambridge and Superlative. The journey was then continued to Felixstowe, where a few enjoyable hours were spent beside the sea.

On the return journey a call was made at Ipswich, where the party was met by Messrs. G. Symonds, C. J. Sedgely and several other ringing friends of the St. Mary-le-Tower band. Touches of Stedman Cinques and a course of Cambridge Maximus were rung on this fine peal.

The homeward journey was continued at 8.45, and Saffron Walden was reached at 11.30 p.m., after a most delightful outing.

The society would like to thank the various incumbents for the use of the bells, the steeplekeepers for having everything ready, and also those members of the Ipswich band who so kindly met them and helped to make the ringing so enjoyable.

CALL IT A DAY.

On Saturday, June 30th, the Helmingham band held their annual outing. They left St. Mary's Church at 6.30 a.m. for a day among Essex towers. Witham was the first call, and then they went on to Brentwood, where they were joined by Mr. E. J. Butler, who kindly acted as guide for the day. At The Retreat, Chigwell Row, Mrs. Richardson had an excellent hot lunch prepared, and after this had been disposed of a move was made to the tower, where a few courses were rung before going on to Woodford, Romford and Hornchurch. Tea at the King's Head Hotel was greatly appreciated, after which a pleasant hour was spent in ringing St. Andrew's bells. On the return journey the guide was left at Romford, and home reached about midnight. The methods rung ranged from Bob Major to London and Bristol Surprise, and a course of an unnamed method at Hornchurch. The band wish to thank, through 'The Ringing World,' all towerkeepers for having everything in readiness and the clergy for giving permission to ring, and, last but not least, Mr. E. J. Butler for his great help in arranging the route and making this one of the best outings the band has ever had.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The meeting which was to have been held at Everleigh to-morrow, by the Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Guild, has been postponed.

Mr. Maurice Smith, of Banbury, thanks all ringers for their kind inquiries and messages of sympathy in his illness. He is now discharged from St. George's Hospital.

The prize-winning numbers in the draw in connection with the Newington Church Tower Restoration Fund are 259, 545 and 614. Holders should forward their tickets with full postal address to Mr. T. Jull, 14, Station Road, Newington, Sittingbourne, Kent.

The Winchester District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild has no fewer than 78 honorary members, whose subscriptions last year amounted to £16 15s.—£6 14s. more than the contributions of the ringing members!

The Portsmouth District spent £5 and the Winchester District £4 4s. on assistance to towers.

At the opening of the bells at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, on July 18th, 1798, the College Youths rang a peal of 5,184 Grandsire Cinques.

THE MOST TRAVELLED BELL IN HISTORY.

NOW IN INCHCAPE MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

A bell with a history has been hung in the bell turret of the Inchcape Memorial Chapel, at the Royal Merchant Seaman's Orphanage, Bear-Wood, Wokingham, Berks.

The bell, dedicated by the Right Rev. the Bishop of Buckingham on Wednesday, July 4th, was formerly on the R.M.S. 'Britannic,' which steamed between 1874 and 1903 2,232,989 miles, and carried 416,124 passengers and troops. The bell will be used for all divine services.

There is also a magnificent organ installed in the chapel.

'GREAT RINGING DAY' AT SAFFRON WALDEN.

VICAR'S INSTRUCTIONS ON ANCIENT BELLS.

The 311th anniversary of Saffron Walden's 'Great Ringing Day' was, by the kind permission of the Vicar, held on Saturday, June 30th. Visitors came from all parts and included Mr. E. P. Duffield (Colchester), Master of the Essex Association, Mr. G. Dent, Master of North-Western District, Essex Association, Messrs. A. Pye, E. W. Pye (Leytontone), G. Lucas (Tottenham), T. Jordan (Stansted), J. Ward (Melbourn), T. Chinery (Cambridge), B. Buttress (Fulbourne), F. Hurry (Sawston), P. Webb (Icklestone), R. King (Royston), — Barnard (Braughing), and others.

The bells were kept going most of the morning till 12.30, when the usual festival service was held. The Vicar (Rev. L. Hughes, M.A., D.D.) conducted the service and preached a most interesting sermon on the life of St. Dunstan, the patron saint of bellringers.

Hot lunch was served at the King's Arms, the chair being taken by Mr. A. E. Pitstow (Master). In a short speech the Chairman welcomed the visitors and thanked the Vicar for his very interesting sermon.

In his reply the Vicar said he had received instructions that in future no ancient bell was to be recast, but instead was to be welded. If it was not welded it was to be preserved and a new one cast in its place.

In replying for the visitors, Mr. E. P. Duffield said how pleased he and all visitors were to be at Saffron Walden, and thought that the festival should have further advertisement and, in his opinion, a lot could be done at the annual meeting of the Essex Association. He was very impressed by the Vicar's sermon, and thought that a full report should be sent to 'The Ringing World,' as it would be of the greatest interest to every ringer in the country.

The toast of 'The Saffron Walden Society' was proposed by Mr. G. Dent, seconded by Mr. A. Pye.

The bells were afterwards kept going during the afternoon and evening until 8.30 p.m., when most of the company retired to the Cross Keys Hotel, where the day ended with a social gathering.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH MEETING.

Over thirty members and visitors turned up at Redenhall on Saturday on the occasion of the general meeting of the South Norfolk Branch. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Cross (Barnehurst) and representatives from Diss, Garboldisham, Pulham, Bungay, Winfarthing, Shelfanger, Loddon, Stoke Ash, Hethersett, Wymondham, St. Margaret's, Norwich, and the local band took part in ringing a variety of methods from Stedman Triples and Bob Major to Cambridge, Superlative, Norfolk and London Surprise.

In the unavoidable absence of Mr. W. L. Duffield, the branch chairman, Mr. George H. Cross, was elected to the chair. The routine business was soon disposed of; the date of the next meeting fixed on September 29th—a joint meeting with the Suffolk Guild, if possible, at Thetford—and votes of thanks to Mr. Churchwarden Davey for his welcome, and the Rev. R. H. Tippon for the use of the bells.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING DISCUSSES DISTRICT FUNDS.

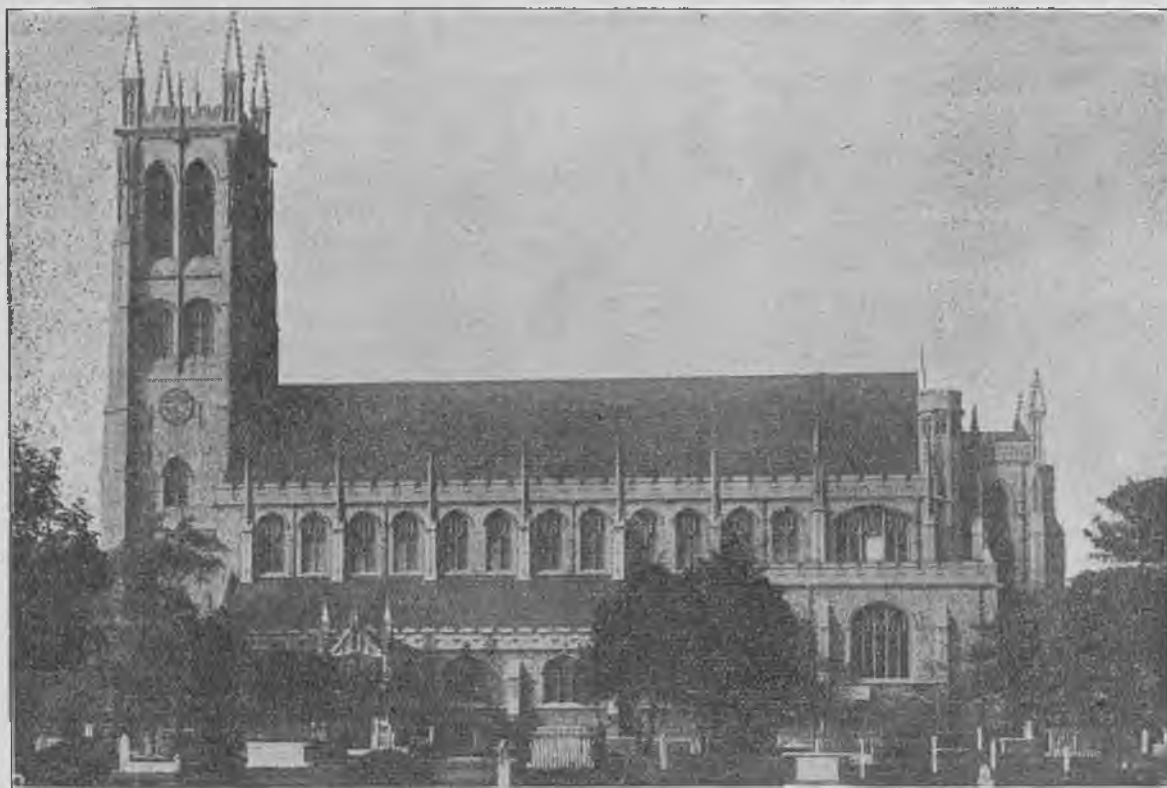

The annual meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at St. Mary's, Portsea, on Saturday. There was brilliant weather, which might have offered a strong inducement to visiting members to tarry by the sea, but they turned up in considerable numbers for the business meeting held in the afternoon in the Parish Institute. The Master (Mr. G. Williams) presided, supported by the hon. treasurer (Rev. Evan Jones) and the hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Rogers). Members were present from Bishop's Waltham, Basingstoke, Bishopstoke, Blackmoor, Dibden, Fareham, Godshill (Isle of Wight), Highclere, North Stoneham, Overton, Portsea, Portsmouth, Petersfield, Ryde and Sandown (Isle of Wight), Southampton, Swanmore, Titchfield, Twyford, Ventnor (Isle of Wight), and Wickham, with visitors from Brighton and Woking.

The meeting was to have been held at Petersfield, but the hon. secretary explained that the Vicar of Petersfield was sorry it was not

The hon. treasurer submitted the accounts, which had been printed. In the treasurer's account there was a balance of £59 15s. 9d. from 1932 and £72 12s. 9d. received from the eight districts; £30 10s. was transferred to the general purposes fund, £7 to the general secretary's account, and £31 16s. 5d. disbursed in the general expenses, leaving a balance of £62 2s. 9d. in the bank and 19s. 4d. in hand. The general purposes fund, which forms a deposit account, began the year with a balance of £35 4s. 10d. It had been added to by the transfer of £30 10s. from the general account and 7s. 3d. interest. £2 2s. had been given to a restoration scheme at Ryde and £2 2s. to Leckford, leaving £62 8s. 1d. in the bank. The hon. secretary's fund had a balance of £3 16s. 7½d. in hand.

Mr. G. Pullinger suggested they were not getting sufficient interest on their deposit account, and thought they should transfer some of the money to the Post Office Savings Bank, where they would get 2½ per cent. and the money would be on easy call if wanted.

The Treasurer said they might have less money at their disposal later on if the motion on the agenda was carried. It had also been suggested in committee that they might spend more in propaganda.

convenient to go there that day as he would be away on his holidays and the curate had left the parish. The alternate vote at the last meeting had been for Portsmouth, but the arrangements in connection with the Cathedral Pilgrimage had made it impossible to go there. The Vicar of St. Mary's, however, readily granted them permission to hold the meeting at Portsea. The secretary also mentioned that apologies for absence had been received from a number who were unable to attend.

SATISFACTORY FINANCIAL POSITION.

The Master in his report said the Guild might well congratulate the district officers on the financial position. The 50 per cent. paid over to the hon. treasurer for the year must be a record one, viz., £72 12s. 9d. Although the number of active members was slightly down, this was made up for by additional life and honorary members. The increase in finance seemed to imply that the smaller districts worked more efficiently. Bell augmentation and restoration went on steadily. The addition of two trebles to the fine ring of eight at St. Mary's, Southampton (given by the Barron Bell Trust) had made a magnificent ring of ten, and other jobs were in progress. The Guild's thanks were again due to the trust for the kind consideration of the applications made to them. Thanks were also due to the various incumbents for readily placing their bells at the disposal of the Guild during a week's ringing tour in September last; to the whole of the officers for a successful year's work; and to the life and hon. members for their support.

It was decided to place £30 of the balance in the Post Office Savings Bank in the names of the Master and hon. treasurer of the Guild as trustees.

The whole of the officers were re-elected en bloc, Mr. Pullinger, who proposed this, remarking that they had a good lot, and it would be a mistake to change them.—Mr. Tucker seconded, and added the thanks of the Guild to the officers for their services.—The Master and hon. secretary briefly replied. The latter said he did not try to please everybody, but if he had displeased anyone he hoped he had not hurt them too much.

The executive officers are: Master, Mr. G. Williams; hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; hon. treasurer, Rev. Evan Jones; recorder of peals, Mr. C. E. Bassett; auditor, Mr. G. Smith.

DISTRICT CONTRIBUTIONS TO BE LESS.

Mr. Pullinger proposed that rule 8 be altered to reduced the contribution of the districts to the general fund from 50 per cent. to 40 per cent. of the contributions of honorary and ringing members. He said when the Guildford people broke away from the old Guild and formed a Guild of their own, and the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild decided to form smaller districts, the 50 per cent. contribution to the general fund was looked upon as an experimental figure. He considered the time had now arrived when they could reduce the amount of that contribution and so keep more money in the districts, where it could be spent with advantage to the Guild, by enabling the districts to do more work. They would be able to do more in making grants for restoration work and show those whom they were trying to interest that they were not out to take all the time, but that they were willing and ready to give. He did not think the reduction of ten per cent. would, in the long run, make much difference to the central fund, for he believed it would be made up by an increased membership. The money retained by the districts would be spent in the districts, and he thought the Guild as a whole would benefit by it.—Mr. Stone seconded.

Mr. W. T. Tucker said this proposal would make the rich districts richer, but would not do much to help the small districts. He would like to see their funds centralised, and in any case he did not think a district should retain a balance of more than £3 at the end of any year. The district balances ought to be paid over to the treasurer and invested.

Mr. W. Linter supported this view.

Mr. Pullinger said the districts used to pay over their balances under the old rule, but while some sent in 67 or 70 per cent. others spent far more and contributed much less to the central fund. Under the present rules they all contributed the same percentage, and that must be fair. It was up to every district to make itself solvent. He was against centralising the funds. They wanted 'home rule' for the districts, and if they centralised the money they took away the power of the districts, and the districts would lose interest.

The Hon. Treasurer thought they ought to give more instead of less power to the districts. He thought it would be a tremendous help. He believed the work of the Guild was greatly stimulated where they were able to make small grants for restoration work, and some districts could do a lot because they had a good deal of money. He thought those districts that had the money ought to spend more in advancing the work of the Guild, and he supported the resolution.

The Master said the executive committee at their meeting that morning unanimously supported the resolution.

The Treasurer thought their rules might be amended so that small districts in need of money might be able to get help from the general fund.

The motion was carried nem con.

Mr. L. Duda, St. Mary's, Portsea, and Mr. A. A. Walsgrove, North Stoneham, were elected members of the Guild.

Basingstoke was selected for the next annual meeting, with Southampton as the alternative place.

The Hon. Secretary read the letter received from the Editor of 'The Ringing World' with reference to the scheme for sending to Australia albums of photographs of the cathedrals and notable churches. He said the Guild would be honoured by having two of its members in the party who were going to Melbourne, the Rev. E. Bankes James and Mr. W. Linter, and the scheme should therefore specially appeal to the Guild. It had been discussed by the committee, who thought they ought to give it hearty support, but, in order that no unpleasantness should arise as to the towers selected, they suggested it should be restricted to the two cathedrals.

At the request of the hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith gave further details of the scheme, and on the motion of Mr. G. Pullinger the committee's recommendation to present photographs of Winchester and Portsmouth Cathedrals was agreed to.

A GIFT TO THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The Master, as one of the Guild's representatives on the Central Council, briefly reported on the meeting at Warwick and, referring to the motion with regard to the falling-off in 'first peelers,' said Mr. Atkins, the mover, told a very doleful tale and seemed to have been canvassing the grumblers in his district. He (Mr. Williams) was able to tell the Council what was happening in their own Guild.

Mr. W. Barton, another representative, in a written report said to his mind the most useful feature of the Council's work was the opportunities which the meetings afforded of informal discussions between representatives of the different guilds and associations upon matters affecting the Exercise as a whole, and upon methods relative to the organisation and management of ringing bodies both diocesan and parochial. He did not think the time spent in discussing Mr. Atkins' motion was wasted. It brought out many interesting expressions of opinions, and Mr. Williams' remarks at the meeting adequately expressed the point of view of their own Guild.

Mr. G. Pullinger, who also attended the meeting, called attention to the fact that the Council desired to collect the county bell histories for the library. He thought it would be nice if that Guild would present to the Council a copy of the history of the bells of Hampshire, written by the late Rev. W. E. Colchester. It was not complete, but it was the only book there was.—Major Stilwell seconded, and this was agreed to.

Mr. W. Noice (secretary of the Winchester District) wrote pointing out that it was proposed to erect a memorial in the Cathedral to Canon Madge, who was one of the founders of the Winchester Guild, and suggesting that the Guild should give a donation. It was resolved that a sum of one guinea be contributed.

The Master said it would be open to the Guild to do something independently. He would like to see some memorial to Canon Madge worthy of the Guild in the tower.

Mr. B. J. Snow (hon. secretary, Isle of Wight District) proposed that a grant of five guineas be given to the bell restoration at Godshill, Isle of Wight. They had there a very keen band of twelve ringers, and it was hoped that while the old six bells were being restored two additional pits would be provided in the new iron frame, so that trebles could be added in the future.

The Master said the committee recommended this grant, and the meeting agreed to it.

A recommendation was carried that first peals, first peals in a new method, etc., should be shown by conductors when sending reports of peals to the ringing Press.

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' was welcomed by the Master, and he was thanked for his attendance, on the motion of Mr. W. J. Tucker, who took the opportunity of urging all ringers to become subscribers to the paper.

BISHOP'S ADDRESS TO RINGERS.

This terminated the business, and the members then attended service in St. Mary's Church, the Guild Office being conducted by the Vicar (Canon G. C. L. Lunt).

The preacher was the Lord Bishop of Portsmouth (Dr. E. N. Lovett), who, speaking from the floor of the church, said he was very pleased to see such a large gathering in view of the other events taking place in the adjoining diocese. He was quite certain, he said, that the work the ringers were doing for God's glory on earth was part of the glory in which they would stand over yonder.

Basing his address on the words, 'A bell and a pomegranate' (Deut. xxxviii, 24), he pointed out that this text was evidence that the bell had been used in connection with worship from the days of the children of Israel, and from the third century of the Christian era bells had been used to call people to worship and to mark Sunday. It had been the custom in many parishes for hundreds of years to ring the bells at eight o'clock on Sunday morning, whether there was a celebration of Holy Communion or not, to tell the people that it was Sunday. The tongues of the bells were intended to proclaim holy things, said the Bishop, but they could not do so without the help of the ringers. God worked through them. There were probably several answers to the question why they liked ringing. They enjoyed it, and they might do much worse things for enjoyment than that. They might also say it was an art. An art was something which came out of their life, and those who listened were appealed to in proportion to the skill which the ringers put into it. All art was precious to mankind, because art came from what was best in the mind of man. But ringing was not only a pleasure and an art, it was also a privilege. God had given them the art and skill, and it was a privilege to be one of those who summoned the Christian Church to worship. There were some people who grumbled about bells, but all the same, if an attempt was made to silence the bells of England, they would get an enormous majority who would say, 'By no means. We should be sorry indeed to be without our bells and without our ringers.' They played a part in English life and did it for the glory of God. While churchpeople were exceedingly grateful to those who rang the bells, the ringers ought to be grateful that there was something so definite and clear that they could do to witness to the importance of church worship. He did not think ringers would differ from him when he said they should live up to their high office. He had had splendid teams of ringers at four different churches, where there had been peals of bells, and he always liked to think of ringers as men against whom nobody in the parish had anything to say. Ringers should bear in mind that they were witnesses of God, and had to try to live up to a high standard. They should go on ringing, he said, as much as they could—it was worth it in the very perplexed world in which they lived. They had the art; they had the opportunity; they had trained themselves in skill; it was real good work for a good purpose. It was also something to help them to remember that men's lives must be like a bell all the time—they had to be hung level and had to swing level, and if they did this all through life they would be doing the will of God.

At the close of the service, the Bishop shook hands with all the ringers as they left the church, and enquired where they came from.

Tea was served on the lawn of the Vicarage, the company being joined by Canon Lunt, to whom a vote of thanks was proposed by the Rev. Evan Jones.

During the evening there was ringing on the bells of St. Mary's Church, which last year were recast and rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co. at the expense of the Barron Bell Trust.

MARTOCK RINGERS' EXCURSION.

For their annual outing the Martock, Somerset, ringers, with their friends, made a journey into Dorset and Hampshire on Saturday, June 30th. Making an early start, Wimborne was reached at 9 a.m. After a brief halt the journey was resumed to Lyndhurst for the first ringing of the day, but the 'go' of the peal of six here was not all that could be desired. Stops were also made for ringing at Brockenhurst, Lymington and Milford-on-Sea. The last ringing of the day took place at Christchurch. On arrival the visitors found Mr. G. Preston waiting, and the majority of the band had their first experience of 12-bell ringing on this fine peal.

Before the return a couple of hours were spent at Bournemouth. The band are indebted to all the incumbents who so willingly opened their towers to the, and also those who met them with such friendly welcome. They are especially grateful to Mr. Martin Stewart and Mr. G. Preston for their help in making arrangements.

TWO LONDON RINGERS DEAD.

Mr. Walter Prime Dies After Ringing.

FATALITY TO MR. GEORGE R. FARDON.

London ringing circles lost two well known figures under tragically sudden circumstances last week-end.

On Friday, after ringing at the Imperial Institute in celebration of the wedding anniversary of their Majesties the King and Queen, Mr. Walter Prime, one of the oldest members of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, collapsed and died in the ringing chamber.

On Saturday, while motor-cycling to a meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Banbury, Mr. George R. Fardon, also a member of the College Youths, met with an accident at Stoke Mandeville. He was taken to hospital and succumbed to his injuries on Sunday.

Mr. Walter Prime had been associated with ringing in London for between fifty and sixty years, and in the circle of his intimate friends he was dearly loved for his sterling qualities. Retiring in disposition, Mr. Prime was one of the quiet workers behind the scenes. While he was able to ring the standard methods inside, his great forte was ringing the tenor behind. In this task he probably had no superior, and for years he could be found twice every Sunday 'on the box' at St. Paul's Cathedral covering the customary three courses of Stedman Cinques, which always form the service touch.

THE LATE MR. PRIME.

Most, if not all, of his peal ringing was done on the tenor, and he has shared in some notable performances. His first peal was rung on the tenor at St. Peter's, Walworth, on February 2nd, 1882, a peal of Grand-sire Triples, conducted by F. E. Dawe. On December 8th, 1883, he rang the tenor at All Saints', Fulham, to the then record length of 11,111 Stedman Cateters in 7 hrs. 12 mins., conducted by the late James Pettit. A little later Mr. Prime was on the tenor at Cornhill when an attempt was made to set up a new Stedman Cinques record. The length intended was 10,032, but it came to grief after 7 hrs. 35 mins., with only two bobs to call in the homing course.

Mr. Prime was the first man to ring Bow tenor single-handed to a peal of Stedman Cinques, and in 1894, with Mr. W. T. Cockerill, he rang St. Paul's Cathedral tenor to the first peal of Treble Bob Maximus on the bells. He also rang the tenor to the first peal on the bells at the Imperial Institute on August 9th, 1902, in honour of the coronation of King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra. Mr. Prime's last peal was with the veterans at Hart Street, City, when a new peal ringing age record was set up. It was a remarkable performance, the eight ringers being between 70 and 82 years of age, and their average 76½ years. What made the achievement the more notable was that the peal, which occupied 2 hrs. 59 mins., was rung after an abortive attempt which lasted 1 hr. 21 mins., and came to grief through a broken rope. In this peal Mr. Prime, as usual, rang the tenor.

Throughout his long connection with London ringing Mr. Prime was actively identified with the Ancient Society of College Youths and, after serving in various offices, became Master for one year in 1897. At the time of his death he was one of the trustees—the other being his very old friend, Mr. C. F. Winney—an office he had discharged for many years.

Mr. Prime was 79 years of age.

Mr. Prime's sudden death in their midst was naturally a great shock to his colleagues. He had just rung the tenor to a touch of Stedman Cateters, and was sitting on one of the belfry seats, when he collapsed. There are nearly 250 steps up to the ringing chamber at the Imperial Institute, and it took some few minutes to summon medical aid. A doctor was found on the premises, but all he could do, when he reached the belfry, was to pronounce life extinct. It was not until the next day that the body could be removed from the chamber.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, the first part of the service being at St. Michael's, London Fields, and the interment at Abney Park Cemetery, Stoke Newington.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S MINOR DECISION EMBODIED IN RULES.

An ideal spot, situated amid gorgeous scenery, beautiful summer weather, two rings of eight bells, and a party of some 40 odd ringers! Can anything further be said than to add that a very successful meeting was held at Matlock and Darley Dale on Saturday afternoon, June 30th?

The committee met in the schools at 3.30 p.m., and carried out their routine and other duties. Among the latter, the new rules passed at the annual meeting, which were held over pending the Central Council's decision on the Bankes James' Minor peal, were authorised to be printed, inserting under the clause of what constitutes a peal the Central Council minute on the above Minor composition.

Further it was decided to contribute to the cost of photos about to be taken to Australia in the forthcoming tour. These are to include the Cathedrals of Derby, Leicester and Southwell; Leicester (St. Margaret's), Tideswell, Chesterfield, Loughborough (All Saints') and Burton (St. Paul's) churches.

Tea was served in the Duke William Hotel, and some 40 members and friends (including a number of ladies) enjoyed the good fare. The meeting followed, Mr. E. Denison Taylor, the president, being in the chair, supported by Mr. Wm. E. White (hon. treasurer) and Mr. Ernest Morris (secretary). The president gave a resume of the past quarter's work, the peals rung, etc.

The Vicar of Matlock came in and gave the visitors a hearty welcome in a brief but witty speech.

New members proposed since the previous meeting, viz., one life, two rejoins, 14 ringing, were duly elected.

Messrs. W. E. White, J. H. Swinfield and E. C. Gobey, the association's representatives on the Central Council, each spoke at some length on the meeting of that body at Warwick at Whitsuntide.

Hearty votes of thanks to the local society for the excellent arrangements made concluded the meeting. Further ringing, both at Matlock and Darley Dale, terminated an enjoyable gathering.

The next meeting will be held at the end of September at Duffield, when it is hoped to have a joint gathering with the Ladies' Guild.

CAMBRIDGE VISITED.

Leaving Kettering by motor coach on Saturday afternoon, June 30th, a party of ringers from Kettering and Thrapston districts set out for Cambridge. Eaton Socon was the first stop, where the party was met by Mr. H. Fields, of St. Neots, and St. Neots bells not being available owing to funerals, time allowed for extra ringing on this new peal installed in the rebuilt church, the original ring having been destroyed in the fire which reduced the whole building to a ruin. Some good ringing was enjoyed, touches of Stedman and Double Norwich, and a course of Kent Treble Bob Major being brought round. Tea was served at St. Neots, after which the journey was continued to Cambridge, where the Catholic Church was first visited, and the ringers were met by Mr. R. Lathbury and Miss V. Shorter, who had the bells 'up' in readiness. Some well-struck touches of Stedman, Bob Major and Double Norwich were brought round on this magnificent peal. St. Benedict's was the last call, and the bells were soon going to Cambridge Surprise, Minor and Stedman Doubles, and it was found that they are badly in need of a spanner round them. Home was reached about eleven o'clock, after a most enjoyable outing. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World' thanks are expressed to the clergy for the use of the bells, to Mr. Fields and Mr. Lathbury for having everything in readiness, and, last but not least, to Mr. Frank Warrington and Miss Kitty Willers for their assistance.

The memorial 'whole pull and stand' will be rung at St. Paul's Cathedral this evening.

The accident which cost Mr. George Fardon his life happened while he was motor-cycling to Banbury.

Mr. Fardon was a Gloucestershire man, having been born at Bourton-on-the-Hill on September 30th, 1873, and was thus 60 years of age. He was only eight years old when he first learned to ring a bell at the church in his native village, and he rang with the local ringers for the jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1887. In the following year he came to London as an apprentice in electrical engineering, and did nothing in the belfry until 1905, when he once more took up ringing and joined St. Luke's Society, Chelsea. Here he learned the greater part of his change ringing. He was Master of the society in 1897 and 1898, and in the former year formed the then St. James' Society, of which he was Master in 1907 and 1908. He was one of the younger spirits who turned the St. James' Society into the London County Association, to give it greater scope, and he became Master in 1911, and represented the association on the Central Council. He was a member of numerous other ringing organisations, among them the Ancient Society of College Youths, of which he was elected Master in 1921 and served for one year.

In recent years Mr. Fardon had not done as much ringing as formerly, but he regularly attended the meetings of the College Youths, and both he and the late Mr. Prime were present at the fortnightly meeting at headquarters the week before last.

SWINDON RINGERS VISIT HAMPSHIRE.

ROMSEY ABBEY AND CHRISTCHURCH PRIORY INCLUDED IN LONG TOUR.

Swindon Parish Church ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, June 23rd, and were favoured with fine though rather dull weather. A start was made at 8 a.m. with Romsey as the objective. On arrival at the Abbey, Mr. Paskins was found in attendance, and the excellent peal of eight was fully employed for the time allowed. The next port of call was North Stoneham, where that genial veteran, Mr. George Williams, welcomed the party. Ringing on this bright little ten was much enjoyed, the proceedings terminating with a course of Cambridge Royal. Mr. Williams was appointed pilot, and successfully steered the party to Christchurch, where lunch was taken at the King's Arms Hotel. After an excellent repast some difficulty was experienced in negotiating the 100 steps to the Priory Church ringing chamber, a general shortness of breath being noticeable. Despite his 79 years Mr. Alfred Lawrence, Swindon's veteran ringer, made the long climb with ease. Mr. George Preston had made the arrangements at the church, and the ringing ranged from 'rounds' to Stedman Cinques. Downton was the next stop, where the local men had kindly raised the heavy peal of six. A halt was made at Salisbury for tea, and here Mr. Williams left the party. The last call was Amesbury, where the Vicar and Mr. Miles met the visitors. The six bells were up in readiness, and were fully employed for half an hour, after which the chariot was headed for home, Swindon being reached at 9.45 p.m. Very nice timing!

Thanks are extended to all who contributed towards the success of the outing.

WINCHESTER GUILD'S YOUNGEST CONDUCTOR ?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reference to the youngest ringer to conduct a peal for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, I should like to point out that Mr. Leonard Stone, of Christchurch, who was at that time a member of the Priory band, called Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples at Ringwood on January 29th, 1921, for the Winchester Diocesan Guild. He was then 16 years of age, and the peal was my first.

WM. E. CHEATER.

THE TEAM SPIRIT.

Team work was in substance the subject of the address given by the Bishop of Guildford to the members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at their summer festival on Saturday. It was a thoughtful discourse, which applied to all walks of life where co-operation is essential, and it is peculiarly fitting in regard to the efforts of bell ringers. There is possibly no pursuit in which men engage for pleasure requiring greater team work than ringing. On the cricket and football field every man must play for his side if success is to be assured; in rowing, as the Bishop pointed out, the subservience of self is essential; but failure is probably more certain in ringing than in either of these pastimes unless the ringers are imbued with the real team spirit. Not only can peals be lost through carelessness which, after all, is only one form of breach of team work, but selfishness and indifference can break up a band. The man who is consistently late for service ringing; the man who attends practice only when it suits him; the man who will not trouble to learn a method at home and thus keeps the whole of the rest of the band back, shows a sad lack of appreciation of the team spirit, and is guilty of disloyalty to his colleagues and bad manners.

Team spirit is not only necessary when touch or peal is being rung—failure of the individual means failure for the whole band in such cases. It is necessary to make a successful company in other respects, and a great deal in this direction depends upon the leader. His tact and encouragement will make all the difference between success and failure. The maintaining of a full company depends upon how he handles his crew, and, while he leads, he need not necessarily monopolise all that is going in the shape of conducting. He will not remain for ever, and while providing for future emergencies, it is as well he should bear in mind that getting others to carry some of the responsibilities is one way of making sure of capable successors by increasing their knowledge and interest. The best leader is the man who gets the best out of his team and builds them up not only numerically but also in enthusiasm and all round ability. In doing this he shows the true team spirit.

On the other hand, there is no place in a successful band for the man who is not prepared to pull his full weight. There are many companies who would quickly rise to high efficiency as ringers but for, perhaps, one or two men who cannot be depended upon for punctuality or regularity; who may like ringing but never seem able to find time for study of the art outside the belfry, with resulting reaction on general progress. Nor should there be room for men of the sulky type; who will not respond to the discipline which good ringing demands, who have to be coaxed and wheedled into falling in with the wishes of the leader or the rest of the band, or who resent being told when they make a mistake. All those failings make team work impossible and yet the first essential to a successful band is the manifestation of this team spirit in the fullest degree. The remarks of the Bishop of Guildford to his own Diocesan Guild have a general application which may be read with profit.

NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT MASTER'S MARRIAGE.

The attendance at the Stanmore meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild on Saturday was undoubtedly affected by other attractions, but the three dozen members who were present had a very enjoyable time. Soon after three o'clock the bells were raised and were kept going in rounds and various methods until service time.

The service, which was taken by the Rector (Rev. W. A. Hewett), was brightened by some solos, well rendered by Miss K. Betts, and accompanied by the organist, Mr. Springett.

After tea, the usual business meeting was held. The vice-president being on holiday, the District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles) took the chair.

Before the minutes of the last meeting the Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) moved a vote of sympathy with the relatives of the late Mr. William B. Manning, of St. Mary's, Walthamstow. Mr. Coles said that he had known Mr. Manning for over 25 years, and had always found him kindly and courteous to others. He had never heard him speak an unkind word to or about anybody. He was most considerate in his dealings with his fellow-ringers, and always anxious to help. He had been a member of the Middlesex Association since its formation.—The vote of sympathy was carried by members standing in silence for a few moments.

Barnet was chosen for the next meeting, if possible, on August 18th.

Mr. Goodship proposed a vote of congratulation to their Master on the occasion of his recent marriage. 'Much mystery was attached to this event,' said Mr. Goodship, and he did not know if the lady's name really was Kate. However, they all wished Mr. Coles every happiness.—Mr. J. Bennett, in seconding, said that he thought it should be a vote of censure. On Leap Year Day of 1932 eight bachelors had rung a peal to celebrate their freedom, and made a vow that on Leap Year Day in 1936 they would meet again to ring another peal. There had been rumours for some time past that one of the band was going to 'let the others down.' This was so hard to believe that another of the band had actually lost money on it! However, said Mr. Bennett, he was pleased to second the vote of congratulation, which was carried amidst laughter and applause.

Mr. A. W. Coles, in returning thanks, reminded members that 'Kate' was always after the only handsome bachelor of the band, so that there was a good chance of Mr. Bennett being next.

The Hon. Secretary proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and for his very nice address; to the vocalist (Miss Betts) for the solos which they had so much enjoyed; to the organist; the ladies who had prepared tea; and to Mr. Hughes for arranging the meeting.—This was seconded by Mr. G. E. Pye and carried, and Mr. Hughes suitably replied.

The Rectory grounds were afterwards open for the use of members, whilst others paid another visit to the belfry for further ringing, with methods to suit everybody.

A LANCASHIRE MEETING.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED AT HALSALL.

As one rambles around the well-trodden lanes of old historical Ormskirk, across the meadows comes stealing the beautiful music of the bells, urging the keen ringer on to the lovely old Church of St. Cuthbert, Halsall. A lovely ring of six, east by Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry, hang in this tower. It was in such beautiful surroundings that the Wigan Branch of the Lancashire Association held their July meeting, and a good muster of members from the different towers in the branch helped to make the meeting a huge success.

Methods ranging from Bob Minor to London Surprise were indulged in. Tea was served in the school, and the thanks of the branch were accorded the Rector (Rev. E. L. Mather) for his never-failing generosity in this respect.

At the business meeting it was arranged to hold a joint meeting with the Liverpool Branch on Saturday, August 18th. The ordinary monthly meeting of the branch will be held at Rainford on Saturday, September 1st.

After the meeting a move was made to the tower for the unveiling of the peal board, which records the fact that 'Six Youths of this Parish did on the 23rd day of January, 1934, ring a complete peal in seven methods, in 2 hours 25 minutes. The names of the ringers who took part are here appended: Treble James Longton, 2 Thomas Prescott, 3 Henry Fyles, 4 Wilfred Core, 5 Henry Serjeant, Tenor Arthur Mawdsley, conductor.'

The Rector read the dedication prayers, and the ringers were then addressed by Mr. James Marsh, of Aughton. The meeting closed at 8 p.m., when another happy day, which left one with very pleasant memories of things well done, came to an end.

PRESTON BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Preston Branch was held at Chorley Parish Church on Saturday. The bells, a handy ring of eight, were raised about three o'clock and kept going until about 8.30 in methods from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise.

The meeting, held in the Church Institute, was presided over by the curate (the Rev. C. A. Parkinson).

The Secretary gave a report of the year's work, and said that branch meetings had been held at eight towers as well as a joint meeting with other branches at Penwortham. The attendance had, on the whole, been very good. Combined Surprise practices had been tried during the year, but had hardly been the success anticipated. Only two branch peals had been rung, one being a peal of Kent Treble Bob by a band of Oddfellows at Whittle-le-Woods, and the other a peal of Plain Bob at Hoghton, although seven peals had been rung at towers in the branch. Nineteen members rang in one or more peals, but only three rang their first peal, while four rang their first in a method.

Mr. W. Sharples gave a report of the committee meeting held at Ormskirk in June, and after some discussion on it Mr. Sharples was thanked for it.

The branch secretary was re-elected for two years and thanked for his report and services.

Mr. W. Taylor, speaking in a discussion on the Bankes James peal of Minor, said that, while he had no objection to it, it might lead to further things, and the danger lay in how much latitude would be allowed.

The Rev. C. A. Parkinson was thanked for presiding at the meeting, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to those responsible for the use of the room.—The Rev. C. A. Parkinson, replying, said that he was afraid he could not tell a Bob Minor from a Morris Minor, but at the same time he was glad to have been with them, and what he had noticed most was the spirit of friendship that was shown among ringers.

'MAN POWER.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am writing you to say how much I admire your article in 'The Ringing World' on the 'Problem of Man Power.' My opinion, formed after over thirty years' experience of helping learners, is that the second paragraph sums up the position exactly. In too many cases young bands can only be formed after the old members are gone, and they should be recruited from the choir and Sunday School when possible.

Norwich.

W. L. DUFFIELD.

ANOTHER RING OF TWELVE.

We learn that four new trebles are to be added to the present peal of eight bells at the Parish Church of St. Mary and All Saints, Kidderminster, and that the work is to be commenced almost at once. The only peal of 12 in Worcestershire at present is at Worcester Cathedral.

REV. C. W. O. JENKYN MEMORIAL FUND.

This fund will be closed on July 21st, and any amounts received after that date will be handed over to the Oxford Diocesan Guild Restoration Fund. The memorial fund now amounts to £124.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL RINGERS AT LINCOLN.*A ROADSIDE SURPRISE ITEM.

On Saturday, July 7th, the ringers of Leicester Cathedral and friends held their annual outing, and on this occasion the venue was Lincoln. A call was made on the outward journey at Southwell, and a ring on the Minster bells was enjoyed by those who took part. The 'head-up and eyes front' gesture by some of the band was very noticeable whilst they were ringing. It was obvious they were not of the steeplejack breed, and a 'single bob' over the balcony, with the long drop to the floor below, might have had distressing effects or even fatal results.

On leaving Southwell a look-out was placed on the running board, as it was said by one famous 'Fred' that another famous 'Fred' might be seen in action. However, there was nothing to be seen of the famous Mill (nor) Fred of that country, and it had to be admitted by the instigator that the farm in question was nowhere near the route.

The first item on the programme upon arrival at Lincoln was tea, and an excellent repast was thoroughly enjoyed at the Hotel Central. The party was here joined by Mr. Harold Marcon, and later by Mr. J. Freeman and Mr. J. Waldron, of the local ringers. After tea a visit was made to the famous Cathedral belfry, which was reached with a fair amount of puffing and panting, and touches of Stedman Cinques and courses of Cambridge Surprise Royal and London Surprise Major were rung on the very excellent peal of bells. A return was paid, after the ringing, to the Hotel Central, where a convivial evening was spent. The items included tunes and change ringing on handbells, and, last but not least, songs by the 'Wee Bonnie lassie fra' Aberdeen,' to the accompaniment of the handbells.

The end came all too soon, and then began the homeward journey. The surprise item of the day was the roadside concert on the return journey, which included the inimitable rendering of the 'Holy Friar' by Mr. Alfred Martin, one of the old originals of the Cathedral band.

The Cathedral ringers desire to thank all those who helped in any way to make this outing such an enjoyable and successful day.

THROUGH THREE COUNTIES.*ST. MARGARET'S, WESTMINSTER, RINGERS' OUTING.

The annual outing of the ringers at St. Margaret's, Westminster, was resumed this year after a break of three summers. The counties selected were Surrey, Kent and Sussex. A start was made from Kennington Church at 8.30 on Saturday, July 7th, in ideal weather. A very comfortable coach was soon speeding the party of 14, including four ladies, through the busy thoroughfare of Streatham, Croydon, Purley, etc., to the first call, the Church of St. Nicholas, Godstone. Here, upon a fine, handy little eight, the programme for the day was opened with an almost perfect course of Superlative, followed by a course of Cambridge, finishing with a touch of Grandsire Triples by special request. A short ride along beautiful lanes and Edenbridge was reached, where the visitors were welcomed by Mr. J. Steddy. The tower possesses an excellent octave upon which it is a real delight to ring. A touch of Stedman, a course of Bristol and a touch of Double Norwich were the methods rung here, and after a few words of welcome by the Vicar the company adjourned to the King and Queen for dinner. Afterwards, the journey was resumed with a delightful run to Coleman's Hatch. In spite of the long and serious drought the country looked beautiful, especially in this neighbourhood, which is still undisturbed by the vandal hand of the bricks and mortar merchants. The company were most fortunate in all the towers selected, nice and good going peals being at their disposal. A touch of Spliced Surprise Major opened the proceedings at Coleman's Hatch, followed by a course of Yorkshire and an extra fine touch of Stedman Triples under the vocal guidance of C. W. R. The next place of call was Southover, Lewes, where Mr. Bob Dawe met the company. After an abortive attempt for Superlative Royal, a 'ripping' course of Cambridge Royal was successful to the satisfaction of all. A most interesting touch of Stedman Caters was next rung with Mr. Dawe standing in, after which he joined the visitors at tea in the hostelry close by, well known to many visiting ringers. After taking farewell of Lewes, the last call of the day from the ringing point of view was made at Burgess Hill. A couple of very old friends of the party were here to meet them in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, who now have their home amidst the soothing sylvan scenery of Sussex. A course of London Surprise, the first of the day, began the ringing, then another touch of Spliced Surprise, and the last and final touch of the day's ringing, Stedman Triples, which completed a most interesting and varied list of methods rung. Upon descending, one member was found hunting for what he described as a postcard shop, but some time later he was successful in purchasing what he required at an establishment which had outside the sign of the Watermill. A splendid ride home via Keymer, Turners Hill, etc., and Kennington was reached about 10.30, after a most happy and delightful outing. The best thanks of all are tendered to the incumbents of the churches and the towerkeepers, and all those who made the outing the huge success it undoubtedly was; and, last but not least, Mr. W. H. Hewett, whose assiduous labour was primarily responsible for the success of the day. It is hoped the Osterleyites arrived home sooner than the Ruislipians, which was just upon midnight.

SEVENTY-THREE YEARS A BELLRINGER.*DEATH OF A HORWICH VETERAN.

On Tuesday, July 10th, there passed away one of the oldest ringers in Lancashire. Daniel Brownlow was 85 years of age, and had been interested in ringing from early youth, so that his ringing career extended over something like 73 years. His father before him was an old ringer who rang the curfew at Horwich, and, when so doing, taught his son to ring. Moving from Horwich to Leyland when he was 12, and a vacancy having occurred at Moss Side Church, Leyland, he accepted a bell at that church, where he remained for eight years before going back to Horwich.

At Horwich he again took up ringing, and had been a regular ringer at the Parish Church up to about five weeks ago, when illness put an end to his activities in the belfry. Mr. Brownlow never rang a peal of 5,000, but took part in many 720's when there were only six bells in the tower. He was largely instrumental in getting the ring augmented to eight about 1911. He rang the treble to touches of Grandsire and Bob Major at a meeting held there in May this year.

The funeral took place at the church he loved. He was buried by the Vicar, Rev. T. Backhouse, M.A., assisted by the president of the Lancashire Association, Rev. Canon Elsee, M.A., Rural Dean. The bearers were members of the local branch and local company. Ringers also attended from Bolton Parish, the Saviour's, St. George's and All Souls' Churches. The bells were rung with muffled clappers as a parting tribute to his memory.

RINGING MACHINES INTEREST PRESTON RINGERS.

On Saturday, July 7th, the Preston Parish Church Society had their annual outing. The party of 26 ringers and wives journeyed to Lancaster, where Mr. Jennings, of Kendal, was picked up and kindly acted as pilot. The route lay along the beautiful Lune Valley, and a halt was made at Melling (six bells). Here Plain and Treble Bob Minor were rung. Hornby bells were not available, so the next stop was at Sedburgh for tea. After tea Mr. Woodhouse met the party and took them to his house to demonstrate his ringing machines. Everyone was deeply interested, even the non-ringers. A course of Double Norwich and Double Oxford, followed by a course of Stedman, were performed on the machine, while the skeleton course was accurately printed. The latter was promptly seized as a souvenir. A few leads of Superlative were tapped on the newest machine, but the bells are not yet fitted to this model. No doubt the Exercise will hear more of these machines and their creator. A visit to his workshop cannot fail to impress as to the master mind behind the making and working of these highly complicated instruments.

After returning thanks to Mr. Woodhouse, a move was made to Sedburgh Church, where Grandsire Triples and Cambridge were rung. Grandsire and Bob Minor on the handbells in the churchyard finished the ringing here before a pleasant run to Kendal, where the fine old ten were up ready, thanks to the foresight of Mr. Jennings. A course of Grandsire Caters, followed by a touch of Stedman Caters, ended the ringing for the day. Preston was reached by 11 p.m., everyone having fully enjoyed the delightful scenery en route, and being well satisfied with the excellence of the bells at Sedburgh and Kendal.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.*BEGINNERS GET FIRST EXPERIENCE ON EIGHT BELLS.

A very successful quarterly meeting of the Southampton District was held at Dibden on Saturday, when a good number turned up from the following towers: Bishopstoke, Dibden, Eling, Lockerley, King's Somborne, North Stoneham, Ringwood, Southampton and Winchester.

Service was held in Dibden Church, and tea followed at the Old School House.

At the business meeting the Rev. G. T. Tritton presided, supported by Comdr. Hamilton, R.N. Several new members were elected, and it was announced that the next meeting would be held at Netley on October 13th, 1934.

Mr. G. Williams (Master) was unable to be present as he was indisposed.

After tea, the bells at Fawley and Eling were also available, and various bands made good use of them. Grandsire and Plain Bob were the methods concentrated upon in order to give the big number of learners present as much practice as possible. Several had their first experience of ringing upon eight bells.

TEN-BELL TOWER TRIP.

On Tuesday, July 10th, in glorious weather, Banbury ringers had their annual outing, the following towers being visited and short touches rung at each, viz., Swindon, Newbury, Abingdon and Appleton. Their thanks are due to those who made them so welcome at each place. The party consisted of 29, including friends of ringers. Lunch was provided at the George and Dragon, Newbury, with a meat tea at the Thatched Tavern, Appleton. On the journey home, Mr. Pearson expressed the thanks of the ringers to those officers who organised the outing, and also to the Parochial Church Council for their grant towards expenses. Banbury was reached at 9.45 p.m., after a most enjoyable, if hot, day.

PHOTOGRAPHS FOR AUSTRALIA.

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad if those Secretaries of Associations and Guilds, who have not yet replied to his circular letter with regard to contributing photographs to the Albums which are to be sent to Australia, will kindly do so at once.

The party who are going on the visit to the Commonwealth will leave on September 14th, so that there is no time to be lost in completing the albums which they are to take with them as gifts from the ringers of Great Britain.

THE LATE MR. WALTER PRIME.

FUNERAL OF VETERAN COLLEGE YOUTH.

The funeral of the late Mr. Walter Prime, the veteran member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who, as recorded in our last issue, suddenly expired in the ringing room of the Imperial Institute, took place at Abney Park Cemetery, Stoke Newington, on Wednesday of last week. Mr. Prime had been a member of the society since the year 1881, and for a long period was one of the St. Paul's Cathedral band. He was one of the very few ringers who have rung the 62 cwt. tenor at the Cathedral to a peal single-handed.

The first part of the funeral service took place at St. Michael's Church, London Fields, and when the cemetery was reached the cortege was met by many of the deceased's ringing friends. The service both in church and at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. E. W. Wildbore (Vicar of St. Michael's). The family mourners were Mr. E. Prime (son), Mrs. Girling (daughter), Mrs. E. Prime (daughter-in-law), Mr. Smith (brother-in-law), Mr. G. Prime (nephew), Mrs. Massey and Mrs. Jordan. Among the ringers present were Messrs. E. A. Young (Master of the College Youths), W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary), C. F. Winney (trustee), E. P. Duffield (senior steward and Master of the Essex Association, which he also represented), T. Benney, F. J. Butler, J. W. Rowbotham, F. E. Dawe, C. S. Burden, H. Langdon, H. R. Pasmore, H. Hoskins and J. S. Goldsmith. Among other old friends of the deceased who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Marsham, Messrs. Hammerton, L. Solomon, C. Daiber and E. T. Stanton.

After the committal the handbells were rung over the open grave in slow time. Three whole pulls in rounds were rung three times, with an interval between, and then a course of Stedman Triples, the ringers being: H. Langdon 1-2, C. F. Winney 3-4, H. R. Pasmore 5-6, W. T. Cockerill 7-8. There were a large number of floral tributes.

By the kind permission of the Dean and Chapter, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung at St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday to the memory of Messrs. Walter Prime and George R. Fardon by: C. F. Winney (conductor) 1, F. M. Butler 2, C. W. Horton 3, W. Roughton 4, H. R. Pasmore 5, C. W. Roberts 6, W. T. Cockerill 7, W. Rushton 8, C. S. Burden 9, T. H. Taffender 10, H. Langdon 11, W. H. Pasmore and T. Langdon 12, followed by two courses of Stedman Cinques conducted by H. Langdon.

At the annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association the members stood in silence as a token of respect to the late Mr. Prime.

GLORIOUS DENHAM.

The recent joint gathering of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild and the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association, although not exactly a new idea, was an experiment in some ways. The weather was extremely warm, and some of those who had visited the tower on a certain Boxing Day had some misgivings. However, quite a crowd turned up, 'In, Out and Home,' by various mechanical contraptions, and although one could not describe any of them as ringing machines, they were the means thereto. One of the brightest of the 'B.Y.P.' was missing, and in answer to kindly inquiries we may say she is slowly recovering.

A composition by the secretary got slightly transposed in the calling (why will ringers not bear in mind that a departure from the truth is often the result?); what would have been an excellent sermon by the Rev. G. C. Battiscombe was cut down to a short but interesting five minutes, whilst the hymn, 'Ring forth, Holy Bells,' was pitched up (instead of down). So it proved, in more ways than one, that 'a little child shall lead them.'

A real good tea followed, the two (thinner than ever) secretaries just being able to fit in.

After a few words of welcome, replies, and a few notices, the party returned to the tower, the numbers at one time being over 50, but owing to the fact that good friend Childs had to return to his visitors the bells became rather obstinate, until, 'as lumpy as a lump of lead,' went the tenor and the seven, and an attempt for a course of Bristol went west. But Cambridge was rung before the service.

The evening closed with a 'run down,' some of the ringers calling on the invalid on the way home.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. E. BARNETT.

FUND TO PROVIDE BELL ROPES AT CRAYFORD.

It is proposed that the memorial to the late Mr. Edwin Barnett, at Crayford, shall consist of a tablet in the belfry of the Church of St. Paulinus, with which he was so long and intimately associated, and a fund to provide bell ropes in perpetuity.

The Late Mr. E. Barnett.

The sub-committee of the Kent County Association, appointed to deal with the memorial, recently met the Rector (the Rev. W. H. Andrews, M.A.) and Mr. P. C. Russell (Rector's warden) to decide what form it should take. It had been hoped that the memorial fund would have been sufficient for the erection of an oak screen to replace the curtains which at present screen the belfry from the church.

As the scheme could not be carried out in its entirety, a suggestion was made to screen the belfry arch, but as this did not find acceptance as a worthy memorial, it was ultimately agreed that a portion of the fund be invested to produce £1 per annum, to be used to provide ropes for Crayford bells for ever, and to erect a small tablet in the belfry with the balance to record what had been done.

This proposal of the sub-committee met with unanimous approval, and it was felt that there could be no better scheme to perpetuate Mr. Barnett's name and his long association with the bells at Crayford Parish Church.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

GIFT IN MEMORY OF THE LATE MASTER.

A quarterly meeting of this society was held at Erith on Saturday, July 7th, and was well attended. The tower of the Parish Church was opened at 3 p.m., and a good muster was waiting to begin ringing. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, and also Cambridge Surprise. A ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. D. Thornhill), who extended a very hearty welcome to all.

The hymns included the well-known ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God,' and the Vicar gave a very interesting address. He spoke of his first impressions of going into a belfry, and said that what puzzled him was how they knew his name was Bob.

The curate kindly presided at the organ and the singing was very hearty.

After the service a move was made to the new Parish Hall, where a bountiful tea was partaken of, kindly provided by the Church Council, churchwardens and Vicar. About 40 sat down, including the Vicar, curate and churchwardens. The churchwardens extended a welcome to the visitors, and said how very pleased they were to meet so large a company. They hoped the members would enjoy their visit.

Although they were not ringers, one of the churchwardens had learned to ring a bell.

Mr. Hardy replied and thanked the churchwardens for their great welcome.

As the Vicar had another engagement to preside over, the curate (the Rev. Martin) was voted to the chair for the business meeting.

The secretary (Mr. G. A. Card) gave a resume of the West Ham meeting held in April. He also announced that the new peal book was now ready, and that Mrs. Matthews, widow of the late Master, had promised a most generous donation towards this as a means of perpetuating the memory and work of her husband, who had done so much to bring the society up to its present level.

Two new members were elected.

The Secretary announced that the next quarterly meeting would be held at Staines on Saturday, October 13th, due notice of which would appear in 'The Ringing World.'

The visitors inspected with interest the new parish hall, with its up-to-date accommodation, and then went back to the Parish Church for further ringing, which included Grandsire, Stedman and a course of Bristol Surprise. A move was then made to Christ Church for more ringing. The ringers received a warm welcome from the Vicar and a pressing invitation to hold a meeting there at any suitable time, which no doubt will be accepted later on. The bells here were kept going in Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge, Double Norwich and London, until about 9 p.m. Thus ended a most successful and cordial meeting, everyone being satisfied with the results.

The thanks of the officers and members are extended to Mr. F. J. Cullum, who worked hard to make the meeting so successful.

GRAMOPHONE AS SUBSTITUTE FOR BELLS.

'A dream of thirty years,' says the 'Morecambe Guardian,' materialised on Thursday of last week, when the Bishop of Blackburn consecrated the new Church of St. Christopher at Bare, Morecambe, which has been built to replace the corrugated iron structure which has served as a church there for more than three decades. The tower of the new church is small and will never house a ring of bells, but the sound of a peal came from the building when the consecration took place and greatly mystified the hearers. The explanation was that amplifiers had been installed and connected to a gramophone on which bell records were played. Bow bells and those of St. Margaret's, Westminster, are among those which will be heard.

Until the dedication, St. Christopher's was under the mother church of Morecambe, and on the eve of the ceremony a 720 of Double Bob was rung by the local men at the Parish Church, assisted by Mr. E. Jennings, of Kendal: P. Rogerson 1, S. Clifford 2, W. Pickles 3, E. Swain 4, E. Jennings (conductor) 5, H. Palmer 6. This was the first 720 by all the band.

DISS RINGERS' HUNDRED MILES TRIP.

The St. Mary's company of ringers set out from Diss shortly after 7 a.m. on Saturday, July 14th, for a day among Suffolk towers. At Stoke Ash three well-known Suffolk ringers joined the party—Messrs. E. F. Poppy, A. J. Berry and Harry Moss ('the comedian'). Debenham, the first call, was reached at 7.55 a.m., and the fine new peal of bells were heard to advantage in Stedman, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise. The party then went on to Framdsen, Helmingham and Woodbridge, and after ringing on the fine peal at the last-named place lunch was served at the Angel Hotel, followed by Grandsire Caters on handbells. The next move was to Henley, where the Rev. Wm. Pearson welcomed the ringers, and then to the grand old peal at Hadleigh, and to Sudbury, where tea was served at the West Suffolk tea rooms. At St. Gregory's Church more ringing was done before going on to Long Melford, and, finally, to Lavenham, which was reached at 7.35 p.m. This fine peal was much enjoyed by all. A puncture was found in the back tyre of the coach on arrival at Stowmarket on the return journey, but luckily closing time is not until 10.30 p.m. in this part of Suffolk, so the party kept quite cheery with 'George' from Diss and his concertina. Home was finally reached at 11.35 p.m. after 105 miles' journey and a visit to nine towers. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World' thanks are expressed to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to the ringers who had everything ready at the various churches.

First rung at All Saints', Hertford, on June 2nd, 1934, conducted by the composer. Contains ten courses in the Tittums and ten in the home position, also three in-course courses each of '658790 and '463079. By this means the bells can be brought from the Tittums to the home position without either six bobs 'before' or a '908 course end.

A SUFFOLK TOUR.

The ringers of St. Nicolas' Church Witham, Essex, accompanied by some friends, had their annual outing on Saturday, July 7th, and made a tour into Suffolk. During the morning they rang at St. Peter's Church, Sudbury, Long Melford and Lavenham, where the Church of SS. Peter and Paul and its bells were very much admired. While ringing was taking place here, the younger of the band made their way to the top of the tower, which is 140 feet high. The party then left for Bury St. Edmunds, where dinner was partaken of and the Norman tower was visited, where several of the band had an opportunity of ringing on ten bells for the first time. A visit to Stowmarket and St. Margaret's, Ipswich, concluded the day's programme. Home was reached about 10.45, after spending a most enjoyable day. The band would like to thank through 'The Ringing World' all those who helped to make the day such an enjoyable one.

During the day touches of Bob Major, Treble Bob, Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise were rung.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Seventeen years ago, on the 10th of this month, Carter's Odd-Bob peal of Stedman Triples was rung 'silent' on handbells by four members of the College Youths. By a coincidence the same four ringers were called upon to ring a course of Stedman Triples over the grave of their old friend, Walter Prime, on the day following the anniversary of the peal.

Mr. Stephen H. Wood, of Bristol, is the proud father of a son and heir, born on Sunday.

Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, is, unhappily, on the sick list. He is suffering from a rather severe attack of shingles in the face. His many friends all over the country will wish this veteran a speedy recovery. Only on Saturday week Mr. Williams presided at the annual meeting of the Guild at Portsea.

The meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild is to be held at Woodford to-morrow. The wrong date appeared in the notice printed last week, and the hon. secretary hopes that no ringers were inconvenienced thereby.

CLAPPER FLIGHTS.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Lewis' communication published in your issue of July 6th seems to require a reply from me. If Mr. Lewis would condescend to read my letter he would see that at no place is the fact that the long-flighted clapper requires more energy from the bell denied, but the point I endeavoured to make was that the short-flighted clapper would have a greater velocity throughout its swing than the long-flighted clapper. Then, as the amount of sound produced is dependent upon the loss of kinetic energy upon the impact of the clapper and the bell (and not upon the total energy of the clapper), the short-flighted clapper will give up a larger proportion of its total energy and this may be a larger amount of energy than that of the long-flighted clapper.

The relative velocity of the clapper and bell at the time of impact involves the solution of a simultaneous equation involving two incomplete elliptic integrals, so I think I am correct in referring to it as a complex calculation which is certainly more than anyone can call the first part of the problem.

I shall be only too pleased to attempt the solution in the special case quoted by Mr. Lewis if he will furnish me with the following values which are necessary for a complete solution, and without which Mr. Lewis' calculation cannot be checked:—

(1) The moments of inertia of the bell and of the two clappers about their centres of gravity.

(2) The distance of the centre of gravity of the long-flighted clapper from the clapper pin.

(3) The angle made by the lines joining the centre of gravity of the clapper to the clapper when held touching one side of the bell and when it is hanging free (bell down).

The last paragraph of my letter of June 22nd, which Mr. Lewis says he cannot understand, is the result of an investigation of the equation given by Mr. Lewis for the work to be done to overcome friction, and also of a statement appearing in a report of a lecture given by him, in which he is stated to have said that the maximum vertical force exerted by a bell is equal to four times its weight. On investigating these statements it soon appeared that the equation for the frictional loss was in agreement with the second statement, but that this second statement was incorrect as a general case, and that the maximum vertical force could vary from one to almost five times the weight of the bell and fittings according to how it was hung, with a corresponding variation in the frictional loss.

Another point which arises out of the report of the Central Council meeting is the statement that those who preferred plain bearings because of the slight frictional drag at the end of the stroke had no theoretical justification will also not stand detailed examination.

Examination of curves relating the coefficient of friction and the rubbing speed of lubricated bearings by Heiman (Zeitschrift des Vereines Deutscher Ingenieure, Bd. 49, p. 1,161), Stribeck (Ibid. September 6th, 1902), Goodman (Proc. Inst. C. Eng., vol. clxxxix.), Wilson and Barnard (J. Ind. and Eng. Chem., 14, 682-3, 1922), etc., reveals the fact that at low velocities fluid friction breaks down and solid friction takes its place with a corresponding increase in the resisting force.

This is due to the fact that for fairly high velocities the bearing and shaft are separated by a thin layer of oil which the speed of rotation helps to renew (Osborne Reynolds, Phil. Mag., 1886; Beauchamp Towers, Proc. Inst. Mech. Eng., 1885). When, however, the velocity is low the weight on the shaft causes it to come into contact with the bearing, and this film of oil is broken and the resistance increased as metal rubs on metal. With ball bearings, however, this does not take place; indeed, if anything the friction tends to decrease with the velocity, and is also less when not lubricated. (Lubrication is, however, essential in a ball bearing, but only to prevent rusting of the balls and races.)

I might add that the calculations on the stresses due to the motion of the bell and on the frictional forces brought into play were performed immediately after Mr. Lewis' communication and checked at that time by Mr. E. Stead, B.Sc., at my request.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION. FORTHCOMING JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS.

The Hertford County Association, founded at St. Albans on October 29th, 1884, will celebrate its jubilee at St. Albans on Saturday, November 3rd next. The jubilee committee are now able to report the main outline of the proceedings. Members are asked to attend the four o'clock choral evensong at the Cathedral, when the Dean of St. Albans, who is taking a great interest in the celebration, has consented to preach. He has also given permission for a touch of Stedman Cinques to be rung upon the handbells as a concluding voluntary. This is being organised by Mr. H. G. Cashmore.

The towers of the city will be open during the day for ringing, and the Cathedral and St. Peter's bells will be again available immediately after the service until 8 p.m. At 6.15 members and friends will assemble at the County Hall, St. Peter's Street, for dinner and a social evening. Ringers' wives are also invited, and it is hoped many will avail themselves of the opportunity of being present. Dinner tickets, which will be 5s. 6d. each, can be obtained from the district secretaries, or from the ticket secretary, Mr. H. E. C. Goodenough, 31, Oster Street, St. Albans.

The president (Mr. E. P. Debenham) will preside, supported by the Lord Bishop of St. Albans, the Dean of St. Albans, and other county officials representative of the Church and the bellringers of England. A musical programme and toast list is being arranged, which will include, it is hoped, some community singing.

As there are many ringers who joined the association in the early days of its existence, and played their part in stabilising its objects, but who have now ceased to be actively engaged in ringing, the committee want to extend to them a hearty invitation to be present. They also trust that non-resident members will be amply represented. Members are asked to purchase tickets early, to talk about it, and generally to look forward to having a good time of real fellowship with past and present members. The committee look to members to make the jubilee a success in every way, and the occasion a good fillip to the association. There is an excellent rail and bus service to and from St. Albans, radiating to all points of the compass. The early purchase of tickets will be of great assistance to the committee, and any inquiry will be gladly answered by Mr. G. W. Cartmel, hon. secretary, Duffield, St. Albans.

THE 'DANGER' OF NOISE.

EMINENT DOCTOR'S MISTAKEN IMPRESSION.

At the Anti-Noise League Conference, at Oxford on Sunday, Dr. D. McKenzie said sound might be definitely dangerous to life. It was said, he is reported to have remarked, that it was impossible to enter the bell chamber of St. Paul's Cathedral during the ringing of peals.

There are hundreds of ringers still alive who have entered St. Paul's bell chamber while ringing is in progress, and we have never heard of anyone suffering any ill-effects. Admittedly the volume of sound, when the twelve bells are going, is enormous, but no one has yet succumbed to it.

Dr. McKenzie must have been reading 'The Nine Tailors.'

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.

PRESENTATION TO THE HON. LAY SECRETARY.

The annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at Lichfield on Saturday, July 7th. The bells of St. Mary's and St. Michael's Churches were at the disposal of the members and were made use of in a variety of methods during the afternoon and evening. A very nice tea was laid in St. Mary's Parish Hall, and was followed by the general meeting, the Right Rev. Hugh Bright (Archdeacon) presiding.

The report and balance sheet were read, and the chairman congratulated the members upon the society being, as he considered, in a very satisfactory position. The report was ordered to be printed.

The officers were re-elected en bloc, with the exception of the Ringing Master, Mr. Bert Horton (retired), who is succeeded by Mr. Cyril Winwood, of Tipton.

When the routine business had been disposed of, a pleasing little ceremony took place. Mr. Herbert Knight was presented with a gold bell-shaped pendant, together with a cheque, to mark the completion of 26 years' service as hon. lay secretary to the society.

The chairman, in making the presentation, made some very kind remarks as to the service Mr. Knight had rendered, as did also the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th. (hon. clerical secretary and treasurer to the society) and several other members.

Mr. Knight (who was taken completely by surprise) thanked all the speakers for their kind remarks and the subscribers for the handsome gift. He said he hoped he might be spared many more years to do what he could to push forward the art of change ringing in the archdeaconry.

The Rev. C. H. Barker moved a vote of thanks to the Rev. J. H. Cresswell and the Rev. P. Howard for the use of the bells at their respective churches; to Mrs. Cresswell and her willing band of helpers for arranging and serving tea. This was received with applause. A vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the meeting.

After referring to the meetings held during the year and to the society's jubilee, the report stated that the William Rock Small collection of books had been placed in St. Peter's belfry, Wolverhampton, and may be had on loan.

The peals rung during the year comprised Doubles (two methods) 1, Doubles (three methods) 1, Grandsire Doubles 1, Grandsire Triples 7, Stedman Triples 4, Stedman Caters 1, Stedman Cinques 3, Little Bob Major 1, Bob Major 3, Bob Royal 1, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Cambridge Surprise Major 2, London Surprise Major 1; total 28. Although the number was five less than last year, at least three of the peals were worthy of note, viz., one of Cambridge Surprise Major at Tetterhall, rung by past and present officers of the society to commemorate the jubilee, one of Little Bob Major at Tipton, the first in the method rung for the society, also one of Stedman Triples at Tipton rung by the local band. It was with regret that the following deaths were recorded: Arthur Bennett, of the Tetterhall company; Richard Grove, of Kidderminster; Alfred Hackett, of Halesowen; Herbert P. Harman, of Bromley, Kent; and A. Moore, of Hanbury.

At the invitation of the chairman, many paid a visit to his beautiful garden, while others returned to the belfries.

SHERWOOD YOUTHS.

On Saturday last the rendezvous of the Sherwood Youths was Bottesford, in the lovely vale of Belvoir. The beautiful Church of St. Mary, so full of the history and romance of Rutland, is always an attraction, and the fine ring of eight bells add greatly to the charm for ringers. Visitors from Burton-on-Trent, Hinckley and even Ireland were welcomed, and did much to further the pleasure of the meeting.

During the afternoon and evening touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent, Little Bob, Cambridge, etc., were rung.

Thanks were accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. F. Walford) for the use of the bells, also to Mr. A. Ward and the local ringers for their kindly welcome.

MR. HERBERT KNIGHT.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUMMER FESTIVAL.

The Bishop of Guildford, probably on the last occasion as president, preached to the members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at their annual summer festival held on Saturday at Farnham. On the very day of this event it was announced in the Press that the Bishop had resigned his office on account of ill-health and, while there was no note of farewell in his address, the members present felt they might be listening to their first president for the last time as head of the Guild.

Farnham is always an attractive place to the members of the Guild. There is always a warm welcome, and, while the absence of the Vicar (Canon Girling), who is keenly interested in the work of the Guild and in his own band, which musters nearly twenty members, was much regretted, the customary cordial welcome was there, and was extended both by the curate (Rev. A. J. Dance) and the Farnham ringers.

The festival service was conducted by the Rev. A. J. Dance, and the singing led by the choirboys.

The Bishop of Guildford in his address considered why people were so keen on a particular pastime or work that it became very important in their lives. When he heard the church bells ringing, knowing the amount of care and zeal and discipline and thought and obedience involved in ringing the bells as they should be rung, and as he was glad to say they nearly always were rung, he sometimes wondered whether they had grasped why thoughtful men and thoughtful women gave up their time to bellringing. One of the greatest traits in human character was the desire to be one of a fellowship. That was one of the greatest attractions of rowing in one's college eight; it required very sharp discipline—the individual must sink his will into the wills of others with whom he was associated; it required great self-sacrifice, a close study of the brethren with whom they were cast, and that they should grasp their part, locking on the figures as a whole so that the comparative insignificance of what we do becomes clearly seen while the glory of our united effort becomes also clearly revealed.

GREAT MORAL QUALITIES.

The united care and personal effort and skill which were involved in bellringing, continued the Bishop, was a grand thing, because these things developed great moral qualities and taught lessons which uplifted our characters, and increased our dignity and insisted on our accommodating ourselves to the brethren in their needs and to their wills. Then there was the beauty of the bells. There were few more beautiful things in the world than a good bell rightly touched and rightly moved to be eloquent. There were, of course, a great number of musical instruments of all kinds, string, wood and brass, but there was no instrument of music which could produce tones so powerful and yet so sweet, so full of something which appealed to our hearts, and yet was so dignified. If they wanted to get what he might call the acme of sound in itself, in its beauty of sonority and wonderful appeal, he should say, 'Give me a bell.' And that was a great thing, that sense of the beauty of sound rightly used; that counted for a great deal, did it not?

You can, the Bishop said, for practical purposes, for the deepening of your own satisfaction, and to assure yourselves that you have got the mastery of your art, isolate the sound your particular bell is making, and you know what your contribution to the great whole is, how without co-operation those cadences would be spoilt, and the beauty of the whole would be let down. It is when you realise what failure means that you begin to see what greatness means, and how important it is not to fail.

That brings us to the depths of Christian morals. We give our best, why? Because we don't want to upset the team to which we belong. He who learns to do that in one sphere finds it much more easy to do it in other spheres. It is difficult to imagine that a man who rings in a great peal and is really keen over and understands the work he has in hand would be a disturbing influence in the life of the family to which he belongs, or would sacrifice the friends and colleagues with whom he has served in other matters. Bellringing makes for that combination of the greatness of our possibility of improvement, and our subordinating ourselves to the good work and the right conduct and high standard of others.

HANDBELLS IN CHURCH MUSIC.

So it comes when you think it out that without the ethics and without the different beauty of bellringing there comes to us understanding of how in the Church of God that music is to be valued and used in every part of the Christian world. Not only in England, but everywhere in all the various places where the Church of God exists, the bells play their part very wonderfully, often with a different ideal of beauty we in England have, but it is there. Sometimes I think it might be good if we used the bells in our services, not the great bells of the belfry but the beautiful handbells which in the eastern branch of the Christian Church play such a part in the music. There they have no organ, no instrument except the bell, which is used sparingly from time to time to emphasise the beauty or dignity or the solemnity of this or that passage in the unaccompanied music, as if, when you come to the climax of thought which you are going to express in music, you want not only the human voice with its transcendently beautiful sound but the more beautiful sound of the bells.

So this is not an unimportant matter, this bellringing in the Church of God. It wants to be developed, perhaps, a little more understandingly. Our instinct is right when we set ourselves to work in the belfry and do our part, but we want something more than instinct; we want to serve God and honour Him with understanding.

I am sure if we were to consider the spiritual aspects of bellringing to see the part of the bells in the life of the Church of God, the dignity, the sense of something more sublime than one's voice or any human instrument can achieve, a spiritual interpretation of life, we shall regard ourselves as bellringers as being indeed workers together with God—workers whose minds are being influenced by the mind of Christ. Then our bellringing becomes a great means of grace.

BELLS A PRELUDE TO SERVICE.

The Bishop recalled that when he was Archdeacon of a large rural archdeaconry which covered nearly the whole of two great counties he used very often, when paying visits, to ask how many of those who rang the bells remained to take part in the service. He found—he was talking of some years ago—that it was quite common for the men in the belfry, when they had done their ringing, to come down by their little staircase and go out, having nothing whatever to do with the worship to which they had called the congregation. He thought that was a rare proceeding now, but he did not think it was altogether extinct. Then, with bellringing as with other things, it was easy to do the external physical part, to enjoy the mere rhythm of bellringing and the cadences of music and to miss the Voice of God and the echo of the heavenly voice which our bells were meant to remind us of. He should like to ask them to make it a matter of prayer that they might ring their bells for the greater glory of God, to be a prelude to the services which were to come to put men's minds in the right frame to think of things beautiful, things holy, things pure as a prelude to praising God in the beauty and purity of worship. If the bells rang out not as mere vibration of the air but with the prayer and the spiritual support of the bellringers they would become an even greater means of grace than he believed them to be at present.

The Bishop said he thanked the bellringers of the diocese for their work; he acknowledged its importance, and he wanted them to realise in turn that God had called them to serve Him in this way. He hoped that, as they called others to prayer, they would themselves be worshippers, and that their handling of the bells would be a sacrifice of joy and thanksgiving to Almighty God. Then indeed it would be a noble and helpful piece of work for God and His Kingdom, full of power and uplift, and infinitely well worth doing with their best and their highest effort.

After the service a company of 83 ringers and friends sat down to tea at Rogers' Cafe. The Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse) presided, supported by the Rev. A. J. Dance, Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary), Mr. R. Hasted (Ringing Master of Farnham District), Mr. C. W. Denyer (hon. secretary, Farnham District), Mr. W. R. Melville (Ringing Master, Guildford District), Mr. G. L. Grover (hon. secretary, Guildford District), and Mr. A. Harman (Ringing Master, Leatherhead District). Among those present were Mr. F. W. Rogers (hon. secretary, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Mr. A. T. Greenwood and Mr. F. S. Bayley (Portsmouth), Mr. A. A. Hughes (London), and ringers from Alton, Aldershot, Ashted, Bagshot, Banstead, Chiddingfold, Cobham, Farnham, Ewell, Guildford (Cathedral and S. Nicolas'), Grayshot, Haslemere, Leatherhead, Scale, West Clondan, Worplesdon, etc.

The Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Bishop for giving the address, remarking that they were specially indebted to his lordship in view of the fact that he was unwell. They had regretted to hear that day that he had resigned the Sec. and hoped that he would be restored to health. The Bishop's address contained many points for them to think over. Major Hesse also thanked the Rector of Farnham for allowing the Guild the use of the bells and the church for the festival, the Rev. A. J. Dance for conducting the service, the organist for his help, and Mr. Hasted and the local ringers.

Replying, the Rev. A. J. Dance said the Bishop had given them some little 'knocks.' Even in the parish magazine they sometimes gave their ringers a gentle knock. They always liked to say something nice about the ringers, even though two of the eight bells were sometimes silent (laughter). He did not know whether the cap fitted; if it did it was not his fault (laughter). The Farnham clergy appreciated the efforts of the ringers, especially the efforts of the captain. Their bells were not often silent, but there was some excuse on a Sunday like the previous Sunday, when they remembered the ringers had something like 70 steps to climb before they began to ring. He believed that in Farnham those who lived far enough away were always pleased to hear the bells rung, but some of those who lived in the vicinity of the Rectory were not so pleased always (laughter).

During the afternoon and evening the ringers enjoyed ringing on the bells of the Parish Church, and a large party were specially privileged to visit the Castle and grounds, handbell ringing taking place on the top of the historic 'keep.'

It was one of the most successful festivals which the Guild has held.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. DIMINUTION IN RECEIPTS FROM BRANCHES.

The annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Taunton on Saturday, July 7th. Prior to a short service at St. Mary's Church touches of Stedman Caters and Stedman Triples were rung.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. E. G. Sweetman) conducted the service, at which a brief address was given by the Rev. Edwin Ogden, Vicar of St. James'. It was a great credit to the bellringers of England, said Mr. Ogden, that they kept the church bells ringing. To-day fashions and customs were changing, but, thank God, there were a set of men who had courage enough to keep the church bells ringing. Some of them could remember the time when the ringing of church bells was the only thing that disturbed the quiet of the Sabbath. Now one heard on Sundays the blast of motor horns and the ringing of ice-cream vendors' bells. What this age wanted more than anything else were the spiritual issues of life and the realisation that man did not live by bread alone.

The business meeting followed at St. James' Schools, presided over by the Master, the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, Rural Dean and Vicar of West Pennard, near Glastonbury, who was supported by the Rev. E. Ogden and Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Chilcompton, Bath, hon. secretary and treasurer.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASED.

The report of the Master stated that it was pleasing to record that the membership of the association had increased by 15, and the number of affiliated towers by three. This was an improvement upon last year, when a loss in membership was returned, though the number of affiliated towers was the same as the year before. The particulars of towers and membership were as follows: Towers 154, members honorary life 7, honorary 54, performing 1,276, life 238, non-resident 8, unattached 52; total 1,635.

The number of peals rung during the year was less than last year; 42 this year against 55 last year. It appeared that throughout the country fewer peals had been rung during the past year. In their case, though the number of peals rung was less, the quality of the peals was better. This was all to the good, and showed a desire to make progress in the art, and not to be content with ringing the same peal over and over again.

The accounts of the association were satisfactory, though the balance in the belfry repair fund had decreased. There was a diminution in receipts from the branches, and the affiliation fees did not bring in the revenue it was hoped they would.

MEMORIAL TO LATE PRESIDENT.

The action of the committee was endorsed with regard to a grant of £3 3s. towards the memorial to the late Preb. C. C. Parker, Rector of Corston, near Bristol, and a former Master of the association for 19 years. A grant of £2 2s. to the Martock tower was also confirmed.

Further it was resolved that the association participate in the gifts of tower photographs in connection with the forthcoming ringers' visit to Australia.

Mr. J. Hunt gave an account of the proceedings at the Central Council meeting at Warwick, and pleaded for greater support for 'The Ringing World.'

The Master, the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, was again re-elected to that office and heartily thanked for his valued services. Mr. J. T. Dyke was reappointed hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. D. G. Taylor hon. auditor.

The Bishop of Taunton was elected a vice-president, and the names of Mr. H. W. Brown, of Bath, and Mr. J. Burge, of St. Mary's, Taunton, were added to the list of honorary life members.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the clergy and ringers who had endeavoured to make the meeting a success. Further ringing at St. Mary's, St. James' and Wilton then took place. Among the methods rung were London, Bristol, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise.

THAT VISIT TO BRIGHTON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to hear that Mr. Baker's memory is playing him tricks. If he will refer to the files of 'The Ringing World,' just previous to the date of my visit (May 3rd, 1922) he will find his first invitation in print. It was after further private correspondence that I arranged to go down to Brighton. Then Mr. Rickman fixed up a peal for me, which was rung in the afternoon after my visit to Mr. Baker.

RINGING CONTEST AT KIRKBURTON.

MELTHAM RINGERS WIN HALIFAX ASSOCIATION CUP.

A change ringing contest was held at Kirkburton on Saturday, July 7th, in connection with the Halifax and District Association. Six teams had entered for the contest, which consisted of 600 changes, any method. The draw was made as follows: 1 Liversedge (Oxford Treble Bob), 2 Shelley No. 1 (Oxford), 3 Shelley No. 2 (Oxford), 4 Holmfirth (Violet), 5 Friezland (Oxford), 6 Meltham (Oxford).

Good ringing was heard during the afternoon under very trying conditions.

The annual meeting followed the contest. The president, treasurer and secretary were re-elected for another year.

The balance sheet was adopted unanimously.

The judges, Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford) and Mr. F. Townend (Kirkburton), gave the result of ringing as follows:—

No. 1.—131 faults, 20 penalty, 151 total.

No. 2.—166 faults, 20 penalty, 186 total.

No. 3.—193 faults, 30 penalty, 223 total.

No. 4.—136 faults, 40 penalty, rung out.

No. 5.—145 faults, 30 penalty, 175 total.

No. 6.—106 faults, 30 penalty, 136 total.

No. 6, Meltham, won the cup and first prizes; No. 1, Liversedge, second prizes, which were presented by Mr. G. R. Geissler, churchwarden. He said he always had a great love for bellringing. In his view, as an amateur, he thought a better tone came from the bells rope-pulled than by the mechanised method. He knew the hours of drudgery that were spent in the tower to make efficient ringers. He could not ring himself, but appreciated all the ringers did in their church work. They were always ready to ring, either for a message of joy or as a token of respect to someone who had left this world.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR. G. R. FARDON.

Following the tragic death at Aylesbury on Sunday week of Mr. G. R. Fardon (a short notice of which appeared in our last issue), an inquest was held there on the following Tuesday, and the funeral took place on Friday last in Aylesbury Cemetery.

The inquest was held by Mr. Stanley E. Wilkins (District Coroner), and the jury returned a verdict of 'Death by misadventure.' The evidence, as reported, seemed to show that the accident was due to the deceased making a sudden swerve to the offside of the road in order to avoid one car which was turning into a nearside road, and so coming into violent contact with another directly approaching him. Mr. Fardon was thrown some 40 feet, and on his removal to the Royal Bucks Hospital, Aylesbury, it was found that he had a fractured skull and other injuries. He succumbed on Sunday afternoon, but despite his injuries was conscious at times and able to talk to his wife and children who had hastened to his bedside.

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon. It was attended by the widow, children and two brothers of the deceased and by many friends associated with him in his activities and work, amongst others, Mr. W. Hollier and Mr. W. Sharman (fellow-demonstrator of the Carter Ringing Machine), some colleagues from the Office of Works, and several other ringing and masonic friends. After a simple and impressive rendering of the service, a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by Messrs. E. Alexr. Young 1-2, W. Roughton 3-4, C. F. Winney 5-6, Rev. C. E. Wigg 7-8. There were many floral tributes, one a large bell in blue, and amongst the wreaths one from the Rev. and Mrs. Pennington Bickford and the 'St. Clement's Youths,' and another from the Royal Arch Chapter of the Warrant Officers' Lodge, in which latter the deceased had held the highest offices possible and won, as in ringing, universal esteem.

On Friday evening the 'whole pull and stand' was rung at St. Paul's Cathedral.

The deceased leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters to mourn their loss.

Mr. George Fardon, as outlined last week, had been an enthusiastic ringer for a great many years, and had held several important official positions. He was one of those few who are not reluctant to express their opinions, but he was always impartial. He always championed the cause of good striking. 'Quality before all else,' he used to say. He was, however, not an ardent peal ringer, having rung about 130, of which he had conducted a goodly number in all parts of the country, and for many associations.

Mr. Fardon was a man with varied interests, and of these the one that claimed his especial attention in recent years was Freemasonry. In this he reached the limits of achievement in both his Lodge and Chapter.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. PROGRESS OF THE JENKYN MEMORIAL FUND.

The annual meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Banbury on Saturday week in glorious weather. The following towers of the branch were represented: Great Tew, Cropredy, Adderbury, South Newington, Sandford-St. Martin, Rousham, Heyford, Deddington, Swacliffe and the local ringers. Visitors were present from Abingdon, Oxford, Standlake, London, Beaconsfield, Reading and Coventry.

Short touches were rung on the bells of the Parish Church in the afternoon. Service was held at four o'clock, and Rev. A. L. E. Williams, Vicar of Banbury and vice-chairman of the branch, preached. Some 60 ringers sat down to tea, and at the business meeting which followed Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley was in the chair, supported by Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master of the Guild), Mr. R. T. Hibbert and Mr. A. J. Wright. Rev. Ward Jackson, Vicar of Rousham, Mrs. Cholmondeley and Mrs. Wright, of Banbury, were also present.

Among the apologies for absence was one from the Master of the Guild (Canon G. F. Coleridge).

The report and balance sheet were adopted. The latter showed a balance of £19 in hand, while the former showed the progress in the quality of the ringing, and the efforts which had been made to secure young ringers.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley; vice-chairman, Rev. A. L. E. Williams; secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. Pearson; auditor, Mr. T. Miller; representatives on general committee, Mr. H. Impey, Mr. L. J. Malings and Mr. F. Pritchett, the last-named taking the place of Rev. A. Foreman Cox, who had left the district.

Two new ringing members were elected.

Rev. C. E. Wigg, Mr. R. T. Hibbert and Mr. A. J. Wright all congratulated the branch, and Mr. Wright mentioned that nearly £100 was in hand for the Jenkyn Memorial Fund.

Wardington was chosen as the place of the next meeting, the date being left to the secretary.

Mr. Ward Jackson proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks, to which Mr. Williams replied.

More ringing on the peal of ten at Banbury followed the meeting, while others, who dared to face such a heated encounter, tackled the fine eight at Adderbury. One wishes there were more ventilation in this tower. Deddington (six) was also visited by a homing car load. Earlier in the afternoon the recently rehung peal of six at Rousham had been visited for inspection by Mr. R. T. Hibbert, supported by a few more 'hardy annuals,' and all was pronounced in line order.

Some of the visitors thus had the chance of 'grabbing' four towers, an opportunity which they took despite the heat. Methods rung during the day included Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters, Cambridge Surprise Major, Grandsire Triples, Bob Minor, Cambridge Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, and rounds for beginners.

HOT WEATHER MEETING AT STREATLEY.

LEARNERS HAVE GOOD TIME AT OXFORD GUILD MEETING.

Fine, perhaps rather too warm, weather was experienced at Streatley on July 7th, when the Bradfield Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held the summer meeting. What a day the learners had, and many thanks to the experienced ringers present! Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. Service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Rev. H. C. Wilder, R.D., assisted by the Rector (the Rev. J. Hughes), who gave a very interesting address.

Tea was provided in the Parish Hall, where nearly 30 members and visitors sat down. The towers represented were Aldermaston, Banham, Bradfield, Bramley (Hants), Cholsey, Englefield, Goring, Newbury, Reading (St. Laurence's), Streatley, Swindon, Sulham and Theale. Handbells are always very much appreciated by members of the branch, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by: Miss P. Holloway 1-2, W. P. Kynaston 3-4, C. Gardener 5-6, J. Berry 7-8.

Rev. H. C. Wilder, chairman of the branch, proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for entertaining the branch at Streatley and for his interesting address. A vote of thanks was also proposed for Mrs. Hughes, who so kindly played the organ for the service.

After tea ringing took place at Streatley and Goring towers, where several good touches were brought round. The next meeting is arranged to take place at Burghfield on Saturday, October 13th. Further notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

CARRYING ON.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild is one of those fortunate organisations in which time, a large membership and careful administration have enabled substantial financial reserves to be built up. The balances in the general guild funds amount to over £240. This is a very comfortable state of affairs and one upon which all those responsible are to be congratulated. The Guild and branch officers have been most successful in retaining the active interest of the members, and while the Secretary laments that the Guild does not grow to the full extent of the new members elected—and what ringing organisation does, even allowing for removals and deaths?—it certainly maintains a steady increase in numbers and there is ample evidence that its activities are well supported. The blow which fell upon the Guild last year by the sudden loss of its beloved Master, has proved a means of strengthening the determination to continue with renewed vigour the good work of which he was the inspiration, and the official reports presented to the annual meeting on Saturday emphasise this increased spirit of endeavour, so generally apparent throughout the Guild, and the intention to 'carry on' as he would have wished.

This determination is the most practical demonstration of appreciation of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn's labours that could be given by the members and the best memorial to him would be to maintain this spirit of high endeavour. The Guild, however, has provided a tangible memorial to the late Master in a tablet erected in what may be regarded as a 'ringers' corner' in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral. Mr. Jenkyn's services and the Guild's appreciation of them are recorded for all time upon a simple memorial stone, which for the future will keep company with similar memorials to the first Master of the Guild (the Rev. F. E. Robinson) and to the members who gave their lives for King and country in the Great War. And it is fitting that Mr. Jenkyn's memorial should stand in close propinquity to both of these, for in his office of Guild-Master he succeeded the Rev. F. E. Robinson, and his death was the penalty he paid for his service with those other departed heroes who wore the King's uniform from 1914 to 1918. He did not fall on the battlefield, but his bravery there earned him the Military Cross, and his death was the direct outcome of being gassed in Flanders.

Cyril Jenkyn has gone, but the work he cherished and gave so much to forward goes on, and nothing, we imagine, would be more after his own heart, than the decision taken on Saturday to devote a considerable portion of the surplus funds of the Guild to the work of bell restoration in the diocese. This side of the Guild's activities, which have been increasing year by year, was one which had both his sympathy and encouragement. It not only demonstrates the Guild's eagerness to promote the improvement of bells in the diocese, but its readiness to come forward with practical aid for the purpose, and it shows that it is ready to give as well as to receive; to practise as well as preach.

FIRST VISIT TO A TWELVE-BELL TOWER.

BEDFORDSHIRE RINGERS IN NORFOLK.

On Tuesday, July 17th, St. Leonard's Guild, Stagsden, Beds, held an outing to Great Yarmouth. An early start was made, and the party, numbering 10, including the Vicar (Rev. W. A. Limbrick, F.R.Hist.S.) left Stagsden behind at 6 a.m. in two comfortable cars. Passing through Cambridge, Newmarket was reached, and the party were interested in budding winners being put through their paces. Between Newmarket and Thetford a short stop was made for a welcome cup of tea at a wayside cafe. Continuing the journey, Thetford and Norwich were passed through, and Acle, the first scheduled stop, was reached at 9.40. Here the party found the genial Rector (Rev. J. E. N. Williams) in the church. He gave the visitors a most cordial welcome, and explained the various architectural and historical features of his church, which proved most interesting and were greatly appreciated by the ringers. The musical ring of six bells were raised and some enjoyable touches of Plain Bob and Oxford Bob Minor were well struck. The bells are hung in rather a unique way. Owing to the round tower not being of sufficient strength to carry a ringing peal, a steel structure was erected inside the tower, and this carries the bells in a two-tiered frame quite independently of the outside walls. The bells 'go' delightfully, having only been rehung last year by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who tuned the old peal of five and added a new treble, making a new musical ring. The only drawback is the noise in the ringing room, apparently caused by the steel structure acting as a kind of slute when the bells are ringing, and making the bells themselves rather difficult to hear.

After bidding farewell and thanking the Rev. Williams and his son, who also met the party, the Stagsden men were soon speeding on towards Yarmouth, which was reached just before 11 a.m. The various attractions of the seaside were all sampled during the day. At noon an excellent lunch was served at the Jetty Restaurant, and the Guild were guests of their Vicar. The party then broke up, some enjoying bathing, others took a trip to Gorleston on the steamer, and, of course, the Amusement Park came in for a full share of patronage. The ringers met again for tea at the Jetty Restaurant, and Yarmouth was left behind at 6.45, with Wroxham Parish Church as the next place of call. Here Mr. George Bailey and other members of the band were waiting and had the bells ready for them. Some well-struck touches of Plain Bob and a course of Oxford Treble Bob were rung. It was a great pleasure to ring on this excellent peal, the 'go' of which is all that could be desired. Mr. Bailey intimated to the party that the St. Peter Mancroft ringers had kindly postponed a peal attempt and were expecting the visitors to call there. Mr. Bailey and his fellow-ringers were therefore squeezed into the cars and piloted the party to St. Peter Mancroft, where the local ringers, including Mr. Nolan Golden, who had so very kindly helped with the ringing arrangements, were waiting. The twelve bells were already raised, and it was the first time that any of the ringers had ever entered a twelve-bell tower. However, they were kindly given the opportunity to ring 'rounds,' and this was more or less successfully accomplished with the help of the Norwich ringers on the heavy end. After this a course of Bob Major was rung on the back eight, in which three of the visitors took part. After hurried farewells and thanks had been said, Norwich was left behind at 9.15, an uneventful journey home bringing the party to Stagsden at midnight after a glorious run, a delightfully sunny day and good ringing.

The best thanks of the Guild are due to Mr. Nolan Golden for his great kindness in helping with the arrangements, the Rev. J. E. N. Williams, and the incumbent at Wroxham, together with Mr. George Bailey and his companion, all of whom were most kind and helpful, and, lastly, to the Rev. W. A. Limbrick, for his hospitality at lunch and tea.

BURNHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

The members of the St. Mary's Guild, Burnham-on-Crouch, Essex, held their outing on Wednesday, July 18th, in splendid weather. Travelling by motor coach, the first stop was made at Danbury Church, where the ringers soon had the bells going. After looking round the building and admiring the beautiful carvings on the pews, the party proceeded to Shenfield Church with its peculiar tower but good-going bells. Another short but very pleasant run then brought them to South Weald, where touches were rung on the heavy and deep-toned peal of bells. After lunch the party proceeded to the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, Leytonstone, where the bells were soon running to London Surprise. After a stay, which seemed all too short, the ringers made tracks for their last tower of the day, St. Mary's, Leyton, where they rang on the light peal of eight. They then went on to London for tea, and the evening was spent at the Palace Theatre. The party were met at all the churches by ringers or church officials, who took great pains to show them everything of interest. The ringers arrived home at 2.20 a.m., and all agreed that the outing had been a huge success. They would like, through the kindness of 'The Ringing World,' to tender their heartiest thanks to the incumbents of the churches for the use of the bells, and to the ringers and church officials who met them, and so contributed to the pleasures of the day.

OUR CHURCH BELLS AND THEIR HISTORIANS.

The Central Council, at their last meeting, decided to acquire for the library, by gift or otherwise, as and when opportunity occurs, copies of the various county bell histories. In the following article Mr. H. B. Walters, the well-known antiquarian, describes what has been done, up to the present, to compile details of the ancient bells to be found in the church towers of England.

Before the middle of the nineteenth century the antiquarian interest of our church bells and their founders was almost entirely ignored. The most that had been done was a praiseworthy attempt by some of the early county historians, such as Lipscombe of Bucks, Hutchins of Dorset, and Brydges of Northants, to record the inscriptions on the more interesting bells they came across in their investigations. Dr. Prattinton of Bewdley, who made an exhaustive survey of the Worcestershire churches at the beginning of the 19th century, gives in his manuscript collections a remarkably complete and accurate record of the contents of their belfries at that time, which has preserved some interesting notes of bells now recast.

But it was not until the year 1854, when the Rev. W. C. Lukis, Rector of Collingbourne Ducis, Wilts, and an enthusiastic antiquary, read a paper before the local archæological society, afterwards published in their Magazine, that the study of the subject was seriously taken up. Lukis not only attempted to give a complete survey of the inscriptions on Wiltshire bells and the founders who produced them, but also did much to champion the cause of the many neglected belfries in the county. There are still places where his censures would be justified at the present day, but fortunately very few. He afterwards published his paper in the form of a book On Church Bells (1857), in which he gives the inscriptions on about half the bells in Wiltshire and many in other counties. Though the standard of accuracy is not high, he deserves every credit for a very difficult piece of pioneering work, and the amount of information he collected about the various foundries is remarkable.

A few years later, Mr. J. R. Daniel Tyssen, of Brighton, conceived the project of making rubbings of church bells all over England, and to this end employed a Mr. Wilson, a well-known ringer of the time, and other competent persons to perform the somewhat ambitious feat. They appear to have explored most of the home counties and others further afield, and the information they collected has been invaluable to later investigators. The results are now preserved in a number of volumes presented by his son, Dr. A. D. Tyssen, to the Society of Antiquaries.

The latter gentleman, when an Oxford undergraduate, was also fired by his father's ambition, and at the early age of twenty produced an admirable book on The Church Bells of Sussex (1864), a model of accuracy and indefatigable research. Dr. Tyssen never lost his enthusiasm for the subject, and was always most ready to place at the disposal of other workers the immense amount of material collected by his father and himself. Not only so, but in 1914 he actually produced a jubilee edition of his Sussex book, bringing it up to date as far as possible, with an introduction which has probably settled finally many vexed questions about the work of the mediæval London bell-founders. He died in 1930, at the age of eighty-six, and preserved his interest in the subject to the end, his last appearance in print being a paper in 1925 on the history of the Whitechapel Foundry.

But the 'grand old man' of campanology was of course the Rev. Canon H. T. Ellacombe, who was born in 1790, Vicar of Bitton, in Gloucestershire, 1835-1850, and died in 1885, being Vicar of Clyst St. George, near Exeter, for many years before his death. He was not only an antiquary, but a keen bellringer, and as long ago as 1850 published an admirable pamphlet On Belfries and Ringers, which went through several editions. He is also well known as the inventor of the Ellacombe chiming apparatus, which has been a godsend to so many village churches, where ringers have been hard to find. In 1867 he brought out his great work on The Church Bells of Devonshire, in the preface to which he tells us he visited every belfry in the county except two where the discourtesy of the authorities was too much for him.

To this he appended a supplement, The Bells of the Church, a miscellany treating of bells in every conceivable aspect, both historical and practical. In his later years he attempted to do for the neighbouring counties of Somerset and Gloucester what he had done for Devon, but as old age necessitated his doing all the work by correspondence, these two books show a sad falling-off in accuracy. Yet as the work of a man of over eighty they are really a wonderful performance. Ellacombe was indeed one of the most remarkable men the last century produced, and in addition to his other gifts, he was a truly Christian man, always at the service of others.

Another remarkable combination of priest of the Church and antiquary was Canon J. J. Raven, who did for East Anglia what Ellacombe did for Western England. In his undergraduate days at Cambridge (about the early fifties) he took up 'bell hunting,' aided by his friend, L. B. (afterwards Mr. Justice) Clarence, with great vigour, and as he says, 'perhaps with excessive zeal.' His excuse was that 'the very discomforts, hardships, and dangers of the work proved its strong attraction; once taken up, a man could not drop it.' Certainly, before even the bicycle had been invented, the exploration of a county, mostly on foot, must have been a great undertaking. Raven brought out The Church Bells of Cambridgeshire in 1869, and a new and improved edition in 1881, and subsequently in 1890 The Church Bells of Suffolk, which, as he tells us, had taken forty years to complete. Two achievements of his latter years were The Bells of England (1906), a delightfully-written though rather superficial production, and The Church Bells of Dorset (issued in parts, 1902-1906). Raven was a charming personality, and his letters were always a joy to the present writer, but though a man of wide reading and many interests, his work is marred by frequent inaccuracies. He was an excellent judge of the tone of a bell, but so far as I am aware did not do much in the way of ringing.

A fourth notable writer of the latter half of the 19th century was Thomas North, of Leicester, a man of indefatigable industry, much interfered with by ill-health. Though incapable of personally visiting belfries, he produced a series of volumes on the counties of Leicester, Northants, Lincoln, Rutland, and Bedford between 1876 and 1882, with the aid of competent and energetic explorers; a remarkable record when one considers, for instance, the size of Lincolnshire. Each book is a model of its kind, and surprisingly accurate. He also wrote a useful little monograph on English Bells and Bell-Lore, and at his death in 1884 left much material for Hertfordshire and other counties for his successors to work on.

I must now mention a group of men who were perhaps not primarily campanologists, but who nevertheless did much to advance the study of the subject. In 1874 Mr. L'Estrange, of Hunstanton, produced an excellent and accurate book on The Church Bells of Norfolk, and he was followed by Mr. E. H. W. Dunkin, a well-known antiquary in his day, who in 1878 did the same for Cornwall. Another well-known antiquary and engraver, Llewellyn Jewitt, of Derby, published in the Reliquary an almost complete description of Derbyshire church bells in the 'eighties. The Rev. H. Whitehead published some valuable articles on Cumberland bells between 1883 and 1892, unfortunately brought to a close by his death in the latter year; and Mr. Robert Blair performed a similar service for Northumberland and Durham in the pages of the Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Newcastle (1883-1890). It is a pity that none of these undertakings have ever been completed.

J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, a member of the London Founders' Company, in 1884 inherited North's collections, and completed his work on Hertfordshire. At the same time he brought out independently a most important work on Surrey Bells, which included a valuable record of the early London bell-founders and their work. In 1887 he produced The Church Bells of Kent, but his ambition of following up that with a book on Essex was frustrated by a break-down in health, resulting in his death in 1889. A man of exceptional gifts and great charm, he was an irreparable loss to friends and fellow-workers. After various vicissitudes the Essex book was finally brought out in 1909 by the Rev. Cecil Deedes and the present writer.

Since Stahlschmidt's day the study of the subject has somewhat hung fire, but a notable exception was A. H. Cocks' Church Bells of Buckinghamshire, produced in 1897, and certainly the best book of the kind that has ever appeared. Cocks (who died in 1928) was not only a most painstaking and accurate writer on the history of bells, but was also an enthusiastic ringer at his parish church of Great Marlow, and had a thorough knowledge of the technical side of the subject. Nor must we omit to mention Lynam's Staffordshire (1889), a book rendered somewhat unwieldy by the size which the elaborate reproduction of the inscriptions necessitated, and the Rev. T. M. N. Owen's excellent monograph on Huntingdonshire (1899).

Two indefatigable workers of this period, though they have left little or no printed record of their activities, were the Rev. T. A. Turner, of Ickford, Bucks, a somewhat eccentric personality, who claimed to have ascended more towers than any man of his day, and the Rev. H. T. Tilley, of Birmingham. The latter's work in Warwickshire was completed (after his death in 1905) by the present writer in 1910, but Turner's achievements were practically limited to forming a vast collection of bell-rubbings, now at the Society of Antiquaries. He had a curious dislike of sharing his results with others; but he was a most industrious and careful bell-hunter, and would often spend a whole day in a belfry, noting down every possible matter of interest both in the bells and in the church itself. It is fortunate that his work has been rescued from oblivion; it covers the period from 1870 to his death in 1905.

I now come to the work that has been done during the present century, which in bulk, if not in quality, contrasts sadly with that of the previous fifty years. But it must be remembered that the completing of each county meant so much less for future explorers to accomplish. Mr. J. E. Poppleton, in the early years of the century, explored the vast area of the West Riding of Yorkshire; his work was continued in the North Riding by Dr. Pauli, of Middleham, but was cut short by the premature death of the latter. Mr. F. C. Eeles broke new ground in Scotland, and produced excellent monographs on the counties of Kincardine and Linlithgow.

The Rev. W. E. Colchester, of Winchester, a keen ringer, brought out a preliminary account of Hampshire Bells in 1920, but his death in 1924 put a stop to a really complete publication of this important county. The only other county to be achieved up to 1929 was Lancashire, a somewhat heroic performance by Mr. F. H. Cheetham, considering the lack of interest in its bells from an antiquarian point of view. Shropshire, Wiltshire and Worcestershire have now been completed by the present writer, and the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson is occupied with the exploration and publication of Notts. I may also add that Mr. Arthur Wright has investigated nearly the whole of Monmouth and Glamorgan; that well-known ringer, Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, whose great book on Change Ringing one cannot praise too highly, has collected material for a new edition of Leicestershire Bells, if circumstances ever admit of its publication; and another enthusiastic ringer, Mr. F. Sharpe, of Launton, has produced an excellent little monograph on the Deanery of Bicester in Oxfordshire.

The writer would like to add to those already mentioned one name which has been in the past very familiar in the ringing world. J. R. Jerram, who died at his home in Salisbury in 1932 at an advanced age, was at all events exempt from any criticism that bell-ringing and archæology have been too much dissociated. He was one of the best known ringers of his day, and had an intimate knowledge of technical detail; in fact for a time he was associated with the working of a bell foundry in Salisbury. But his knowledge of the antiquarian side of the subject was also very wide, and he had collected almost enough information about Wiltshire bells to write their history himself. He was a skilful draughtsman, and never tired of making beautiful drawings of lettering and ornaments on bells. In his old age, with his flowing white beard, he was a striking personality, who must have been much missed in Salisbury since the regrettable accident which eventually brought about his lamented death.

This is for the most part a dry record of facts and dates, but it seemed to the present writer worthy of committing to paper, if for no other reason, because it has never been attempted before in any detail. It brings to light one rather curious fact, at which I have already hinted, that very few of the writers mentioned seem to have been practical ringers; but after all, church bells have an importance, not only as musical instruments, but also as a field for antiquarian study. It must, therefore, be a matter for some satisfaction that published records now exist for nearly three-quarters of the English counties, and that if either the clergy or the ringing fraternity have any desire to acquaint themselves with the history of the bells with which they are concerned, the information is

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*HISTORIC EVENT COMMEMORATED AT CHESTER-LE-STREET.

'From Duresme (Durham) came over Framigate Bridge to Chester-in-the-Street. Or I came to Chester. I saw scant half-mile of it. Lomeley Castle having praty woode about it. The Church Collegiate hath a Deane and 7 Prebendaries. In the body of the Church is a tombe with the image of a byshop in token that St. Cuthbertus was buried in his feretre (portable bier) there.'

The above is an extract from Leland's 'The laboryeuse Journey and serche for England's Antiquities,' written in 1540, and it was at this ancient Collegiate Church that a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung on December 2nd last year to celebrate the 1,050th anniversary of the dedication of the church and the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the bells.

The ringers were C. L. Routledge (conductor), W. J. Davidson and J. E. R. Keen, of Newcastle Cathedral, J. A. Brown and F. Sheraton, of the local band, W. Sheraton, Houghton-le-Spring, S. Thompson, of Whickham, and R. L. Patterson, of Sunderland.

A handsome board to record this historic peal has been provided for the belfry, and was unveiled on Saturday last in the presence of a large company by Mr. John Anderson, the president of the association, and dedicated by the Rector (Rev. Canon F. H. Jackson).

The Rector in the course of his remarks, referred to the wonderful bond of fellowship between ringers as evidenced in the various associations and in other ways, and said he often wished that the members of his choir had something of the same kind to draw them together and encourage them in their work. He also thanked the older members for their valuable services in training young men in the art of ringing.

The peal band was then photographed at the door of the church, and an excellent tea and good ringing in various methods combined to make it one of the happiest meetings the association has held for a long time.

easily available. If, however, there is not the same enthusiasm among the younger generation for 'bell-hunting' which obtained in the last century, it is perhaps due to this very cause, that the pursuit of the unknown, with the chance of discovering an exceptional prize, has become a more or less remote possibility.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.*MEETING AT SUTTON COLDFIELD.

A very pleasant quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held on Saturday, July 14th, in the ancient and royal borough of Sutton Coldfield. Situated in lovely country about eight miles from the centre of the city, and easily accessible by bus or train, its great natural park is a popular resort of the city dweller and the rendezvous of many Sunday School outings during the summer months.

The Parish Church of the Holy Trinity is also very interesting, dating back to the 13th century. It contains several fine stained-glass windows, an excellent specimen of Norman Font, carved oak screen, and the Vesey Chapel, in which is the tomb of Bishop Vesey.

The massive tower contains a peal of eight bells, and these were kept going in various methods ranging from Grandsire to Bristol Surprise Major during the afternoon and evening.

Tea was served in the Church House, and this was followed by a short business meeting. Owing to the absence of the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., the chair was occupied by Mr. Vice-President James George. An apology was also read from Mr. Paddon Smith, who was unable to attend.

The Chairman expressed the pleasure of the meeting at seeing Mr. Morris J. Morris amongst them again after his accident, and hoped he would soon make a complete recovery. He also referred to the accident sustained by the towerkeeper at St. Martin's, Mr. Frank Banks, and was pleased to report he was making good progress.—Mr. Morris expressed thanks, and said he was now feeling quite strong again. Reference was also made to the loss the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Exercise in general had sustained by the sudden death of two such well-known ringers as Walter Prime and George R. Fardon, and it was resolved that a letter of sympathy be sent to the society.

The Secretary referred to the proposed Australian tour and to a request received from the Editor of 'The Ringing World' for photos in duplicate of St. Martin's Church and St. Philip's Cathedral for inclusion in the albums to be sent out as gifts from the ringers of Great Britain. It was decided to support the scheme.—The Chairman said he should be pleased to defray the cost, and this was agreed to.

Mr. John Linden, of Bishop Ryders tower, was made a member of the Guild.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Northfield, near Birmingham, on Saturday, October 6th.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and Church House, and to Mr. B. Leedham for making the local arrangements, concluded the meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The collection for the Oxford Diocesan Guild's Restoration Fund, at the festival service on Saturday, amounted to £3 7s. 9d.

New Surprise methods continue to be rung. This week two are recorded, Deben and Oxhey. When are we going to read of some of the Plain Major methods being rung for the first time? There are many interesting ones in the Central Council's collection.

If towers were promoted to twelve-bell rank on the merit of their past record, Kidderminster, which we announced last week is now to have four trebles added, has not come into the distinction before its turn was due.

Kidderminster ringers, thirty-five or forty years ago, helped to lay the foundations of the present popularity of Surprise ringing by the achievements of its band of those days, when peals were really peals and the Surprise ringer had to work for his reward.

July 29th is an anniversary of some significance in the history of ringing, for it was on that day in 1785 that William Shipway arrived in London from Bath to seek his fortune and expand his knowledge of ringing. It was while he was in London that he wrote his famous treatise on the art.

CLAPPER FLIGHTS.

Mr. G. Wilfred Slack asks us to say that the last of the three values for which he asked Mr. Lewis in his letter last week should have read: 'The angle . . . of the clapper to the clapper pin when held . . . , etc.'

NEW PEAL DEDICATED AT WANSTEAD.

STEEL BELLS CONSIGNED TO THE SCRAP HEAP.

In 1867 a ring of six cast-steel bells was installed in the tower of Christ Church, Wanstead, Essex, by Vickers, of Sheffield, but about two years ago the 'go' became unsatisfactory, and, as it was felt that money spent on repairs to such displeasing bells would be wasted, an effort was made to replace them by a more worthy peal.

Last Saturday saw the conclusion of that effort, when a musical ring of six, the best product of the Loughborough Foundry, was dedicated by the Bishop of Chelmsford, and all who had heard the old peal would endorse his Lordship's remarks when, in the course of his sermon, he said that they need have no regrets at parting with their old bells.

The service on Saturday held a note of brightness, and there was a large and enthusiastic congregation, while, despite other attractions and the lateness of the service (eight o'clock), many visiting ringers attended.

The customary dedicatory rounds were rung by the local band, and at the end of the service visitors had a chance to try the new peal, while the congregation listened to the bells under unusual but nevertheless pleasing conditions, namely, partaking of a fresco refreshments under the trees, with the aid of arc lamps.

The bellfounders, Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were represented by Mr. R. H. Dove, and among the visitors were the Master of the Essex Association (Mr. E. P. Duffield), the hon. secretary of the Middlesex Association (Mr. C. T. Coles), and ringers from Chelmsford, Witham, Woodford, Maldon, Leytonstone, etc.

The new bells hang in the old bell frame (which, owing to the limited span of the tower, had to be constructed in three tiers with the tenor above), and the fittings are of the latest pattern, including iron headstocks and ball bearings, which, with the installation of a new ceiling for the ringing chamber and improvements in the rope circle, have added greatly to the comfort of the ringers.

The old bells have reached their rightful home—the scrap heap.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD'S FESTIVAL

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MASTER.

The dedication of the Oxford Diocesan Guild's memorial to the late Master, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, was the central feature in the gathering of the members at Oxford on Saturday for their annual festival. The memorial has been erected in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, in a niche which has become a hallowed spot for diocesan ringers, for the tablet which has now been placed there keeps company with the memorial erected by the Guild to those colleagues of the belfry who fell in the war, and with the tablet commemorating the first Master of the Guild, the Rev. F. E. Robinson.

The festival brought together ringers from all the branches of the Guild, which covers the counties of Oxford, Berks and Bucks, and they first gathered in the Cathedral for a service. This was conducted by the Master (Rev. Canon Coleridge), and began with the hymn, 'Unchanging God,' followed by the 84th Psalm. The singing of these and the other hymns, 'Angel voices ever singing' and 'Ring forth, holy bells,' was a stirring feature of the service.

To whose memory a tablet was unveiled in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, on Saturday.

The preacher was the Rev. R. H. A. Bullock, of St. Laurence's, Reading, who took for a text the words, 'Be ye thankful' (Col. iii. 15). Thankfulness, he said, was a feeling of the heart, and thanksgiving was the outward expression thereof, which should occupy a foremost place amongst the duties and privileges of a Christian people. They who were members of that Guild had every reason to thank God for their association in that specialised part of the Church's work. They had an organisation which was one of the first in this country with regard to members and efficiency. Thankfulness would allow no spirit of discontent to remain, but would afford inspiration to go from strength to strength in loyalty to their local branch, to the Guild as a whole and, most of all, to the Church they served, and would liberate the necessary power in the individual to do all those good works which God provided for them to do.

Their thankfulness, continued the preacher, must also take a more particular form of gratitude to God for the life and example of the late Master of the Guild, the Rev. Cyril Walford Oswald Jenkyn, priest. In God's good way and by His Will, and not by chance, he held the position of chaplain of Queen Anne's School, Caversham, to enable him to give more time and energy to the ringers of that diocese than he could have done had he been incumbent of a parish in town or country. For 23 years he faithfully served the Guild and was universally loved and respected in that diocese, and not only there, but outside; whether in Newcastle or Durham, in Kent, or in connection with the College Youths in London, he always received heartfelt welcome and was on terms of real friendship while showing active good will with all with whom he came in contact. He was just as ready to go on a journey of 20 or 30 miles to help a young band as to take part in a peal. His presence at the branch meetings and in the various towers up and down the country always brought intelligent and real help and fostered loyalty to the Church and the highest aims of Christian life. At times he would speak in no uncertain tones of things to be set right. He was a sincere priest first of all, and he had every confidence in the Guild's branch of Church activity. He (the preacher) was thankful to think that Mr. Jenkyn at Easter last year rang in a touch that was most pleasing to him at St. Laurence's Church, and afterwards entered into the sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving. In the evening he rang at Caversham. The next day was one of greatest happiness to him, spent with his nearest and dearest in the surroundings connected with his early days. And then, in the full light of Eastertide, he was called to higher service, doing his duty and in the sound of the bells. Let them therefore thank God not only with their lips but in their lives for his life, working in their own tower and branch and in perfect loyalty to the Guild to gain and retain for all time the first place in every way possible. That they would do if, and only if, they were churchmen first and ringers second, seeking first God's kingdom and his righteousness. Surely thankfulness and the expression thereof was the true note for their festival for the past work of the Guild and for the life, work and example of him in whose memory a cloister memorial would shortly be dedicated.

The service concluded with the Te Deum and Blessing, and then, led by the clergy, the ringers filed out to the cloister, where they assembled round the memorial, among those also present being Mrs. Jenkyn and Miss Mason.

THE MEMORIAL.

Canon Coleridge, who was visibly touched by the occasion, began the brief ceremony by saying: We are here assembled to-day to dedicate this memorial in grateful remembrance of Cyril Walford Oswald Jenkyn, for 23 years the beloved Master of our Guild, whose name holds an abiding place in our affections. Taught by his example we have learned that it is better to give than to receive, better to forget ourselves than to put ourselves forward, better to minister than to be ministered to. With this thought in our mind I bid you join with me in dedicating this memorial with prayer and thanksgiving.

Canon Coleridge then unveiled the tablet and dedicated it with suitable prayers.

The memorial is of Derbyshire stone and is surmounted by two carved bells. It bears the inscription:—

A.M.D.G. and in memory of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.A., M.C.,
Master of the Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, 1910-1933.

This tablet is placed by his fellow-members,
A.D. 1934.

The memorial, which is bordered by various carved decorations so that in design it is similar to that of the first Master (Rev. F. E. Robinson) above it, has been beautifully executed by Mr. A. E. Lock, of Abingdon, a member of the Guild.

The Chapter House was filled to seating capacity for the annual meeting which was next held. Canon Coleridge presided, supported by Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (hon. secretary), Rev. C. Elliott Wigg (Deputy Master).

Among those who sent apologies for absence were Bishop Shaw, Ald. J. S. Pritchett (Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), Canon and Miss Norris and Mr. H. W. Curtis (Newbury).

The reports of the Master, hon. treasurer and hon. secretary were taken as read and adopted.

THE GUILD'S DETERMINATION.

The Master, in his report, said that, following the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, he undertook the office, well knowing his limitations, as it was obviously the wish of the members of the Guild. Since then, in the early new year, he had met with a serious accident which was likely to prevent him from ever ringing a peal again and from climbing towers for bell and frame inspections for the rest of his life. His report covered less than six months, but during that time he was asked to examine and give advice in the case of four towers—three of these had called in the services of a qualified bell hanger with, he understood, thoroughly satisfactory results. The remaining case was simply a matter of sound from the louvres—the mitigating of a great nuisance. He was only able to attend two meetings, viz., at Waltham St. Lawrence and Newbury annual meeting, at both of which he was privileged to speak. He regretted that circumstances prevented him from attending other branch meetings to which he was invited. On one point only would he lay stress, and that with no ordinary satisfaction. It was to be found in the determination of the Guild, its branches and its individual members, to hold together and to do their utmost in keeping up and improving the ringing in the diocese, though deprived of the frequent visits of a Master who was able to devote much time in visiting and attending meetings where his genial presence was ever eagerly welcomed.

The Secretary, in his report, said that notwithstanding the great blow which they, as a diocesan guild, had by the death of their Master early in the year 1933, his influence and example seemed to permeate the whole diocese and to make all members realise that the greatest tribute to his beloved memory would be to keep things up to his high ideals of what a Church organisation should be. Therefore, one found at all branch annual meetings the same keen sense and wish for progress as in the past.

As appointed by the Guild, he had made inspections of finished restoration work at Brill, Bucks; Swadcliffe, Oxon; and St. Nicholas, Abingdon, Drayton, and Shriveham, Berks. In each case the work of the various firms had been well carried out. The peals rung in 1933 were fewer in number, the record being 121, but this was well countered by the recording of several new Surprise Major methods, and among other interesting items a peal of Stedman Cinques at High Wycombe and a peal of Grandsire Cinques at Reading, both by their own Sunday service ringers.

Membership increased gradually. They unfortunately had lost three towers but had gained sixteen new ones. The hon. members had increased by 20. These two facts proved that the branches were being looked after by officers worthy of all honour.

Taking the year as a whole, they might well be thankful for their position among ringing guilds, and by keen and brotherly co-operation he could see nothing to be afraid of in the future.

INCREASING BALANCE.

The Hon. Treasurer reported that the statement of accounts showed a balance of £134 11s. 7d. as compared with £132 18s. 3d. the previous year. The amount received from the branches was £93 1s. 10d., an increase of 5s. 6d. There was a considerable increase in the number of applications for grants towards restorations, six as compared with three last year. The amount given was £18 18s. This left a balance of £13 13s. 5d. Included in this amount were donations from the Banbury Branch and Newport Pagnell. It was hoped that other branches having large balances in hand might do likewise. The number of annual reports sold was 114, and it would appear that there is very little demand as the number decreases each year.

In thanking all the branch secretaries for all the work they had done during the past years, the Treasurer said he felt sure that there was not another ringing society which had a more efficient band of workers than that Guild.

The total of the Guild's funds was £240 1s. 4d.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

Mr. A. J. Wright proposed the re-election of Canon Coleridge as Master. Last year, he said, Canon Coleridge came to their rescue at a critical time. He had performed all the duties he could in the best possible way and to the satisfaction of the Guild. They could think of having no one else in the chair while Canon Coleridge would take it (applause).—Mr. W. J. Paice seconded, and the motion was carried by acclamation.

Canon Coleridge, who was received with applause, said he warned them last time that he could not get about the diocese as he would like to to their meetings, owing to the fact that all his Saturdays were taken up with other business. But he had always tried to do his best by the Guild, of which he had been a member for 53 years. Although he was getting oldish, his enthusiasm and desire to do what he could for the Guild was still with him as strong as ever. His accident had handicapped him, but he was glad to say he was making progress, and although he was warned that he might never walk again without artificial support, he could now walk a hundred yards on the level without aid and, with only one stick, for nearly two miles (applause). Canon Coleridge then went on to propose the re-election of the Rev. C. Elliott Wigg as Deputy Master, and said he was very grateful to him for all the assistance he had given.—The motion having been seconded by Mr. A. D. Barker and carried, the Rev. C. E. Wigg said he would try to do all he could to help on the work of the Guild and get about as much as he could to the various branches during the year.

Mr. Wright, who was re-elected hon. treasurer on the motion of Mr. A. D. Cullum, seconded by Mr. W. Evetts, said fortunately for him he was shortly retiring from his ordinary work, and hoped then to be able to devote more time to the Guild and attend more of the meetings of the branches, which he found so very pleasant (applause).

Mr. R. T. Hibbert was re-elected secretary on the motion of the Master, seconded by Mr. T. Fowler, who said the Guild were satisfied with the excellent work he did. They could not have a more conscientious worker. He was not only an expert ringer, but when he inspected the work carried out in a tower he did it as an expert. Mr. Hibbert, too, had now more time on his hands, and he would find in these belfry inspections a job after his own heart.

Mr. Hibbert said he would continue to do his best, but sometimes he knew it was a poor best; but he did not worry much about that, because the members would have a chance to elect someone else a year from now (laughter). It was funny they could not always agree. Mr. Wright had said that fortunately shortly he would not have anything to do. Three months ago, unfortunately, he (Mr. Hibbert) was told that he was too old to be anything else but secretary of that Guild. If you want my company, concluded Mr. Hibbert, I shall be pleased to go anywhere in the three counties and do the best I can for you (applause).

The Secretary then proposed the re-election of the twelve elected members of the committee, and that they be asked to do their work in a proper manner (laughter).—The motion was agreed to, the following being re-elected: Miss V. Robinson, Miss S. Davis, Messrs. J. Evans, G. Cauldwell, G. Holfield, W. Hibbert, sen., G. Martin, R. White, A. D. Cullum, H. Sear, J. W. Wilkins and W. F. Judge.

Mr. W. Evetts, jun., was elected a trustee, in the place of the late Sir George Dashwood, and the election of 193 new members since the last annual meeting was confirmed. In asking the meeting to agree to this latter proposition, the Secretary said he had never been able to explain why, when they elected 190 members in a year, they had not got 190 members more at the end of the year. They were making members, but they did not hold them all. He thought the only thing to do was to tie them up when once they had got them (laughter).

THE NEXT MEETING—OPPOSITION TO OXFORD.

The committee recommended that the next festival be held in Oxford. The President, in putting this forward, said Oxford was the most central place, and there was nowhere else where they could get the accommodation afforded to them at Christ Church. He did not know a single Guild which had such delightful quarters to go to—the Cathedral to worship in, the Chapter House to meet in, and the finest hall in England to eat in.

Rev. St. G. Edwards said he thought there was a certain amount of feeling in the eastern part of the diocese that the Guild did not go to that area sometimes for their annual meeting. He suggested they might consider the possibility of holding a Guild meeting there occasionally; if not the annual meeting, then a united meeting perhaps, in the winter.

Mr. A. D. Barker proposed that the next annual meeting be held at Reading. He asked the members to consider whether in voting for Oxford every year they were voting in the larger interests of the whole Guild. Their personal opinion should not count for everything when they voted on a subject of this kind. They were supposed to be there for the good of the Guild as a whole, and he thought it would be in the interests of the Guild sometimes to visit other places. They might not get so large a meeting, but it was possible they might get even a larger one.

Mr. F. D. Boreham, who seconded, said if they only went to the eastern part of the diocese once in three or four years it would give the members of that end, who could not afford to come to Oxford, the opportunity of attending an annual meeting. He believed that would be for the good of the Guild as a whole.

On being put to the vote, Oxford was selected for the 1935 meeting by a large majority.

THE RESTORATION FUND.

A recommendation of the committee stood on the agenda in the following terms: That the Subscription account £65 0s. 3d. be merged with and made 'The Restoration Fund.' The Hon. Treasurer, in moving its adoption, asked to amend the amount to £15, as the other £50 was invested in War Stock, and was entirely in the hands of the trustees. Mr. Wright said they now had £32 in the Restoration Fund, and with this addition of £15 he thought they would be able to meet all the grants this year. Next year they would have to go into the question of increasing the income of the Restoration Fund. Some of the branches had sent him donations towards the fund, and he commended this action to those other branches which had large sums of money they did not know what to do with. He assured them that any donations would be thankfully received and faithfully applied. When the time came he did not think he would appeal in vain for support (hear, hear). They did not want to see the fund go down; it had done a tremendous lot of good work.

Replying to questions, Mr. Wright said the 'Subscription Fund' was opened some years ago at the P.O. Savings Bank for the purpose of paying in postal orders received for subscriptions, which at one time came in in this form in large numbers, and the ordinary bank did not care to take them. In recent years the number of subscriptions paid by postal order had dwindled, and the account, which had accumulated to £65 0s. 3d., might very well be closed.

A good deal of discussion followed upon the question of the disposal of the balance, now invested in the names of the trustees, and eventually it was agreed that the subscription account be closed and the whole amount transferred to the Restoration Fund.

On the recommendation of the committee grants of five guineas were voted for bell restoration at Little Horwood (a ring of five bells being restored), Milton Keynes (five bells being rehung and provision made for a sixth), and Rousham (bells rehung).

An application from Yarnton, received since the committee meeting, was also favourably considered and a grant of £5 5s. voted.

Mr. A. D. Cullum, while not objecting to the grant, urged that all these applications should be sent in in time for consideration by the committee.

GOOD WISHES TO AUSTRALIAN TOURISTS.

The president briefly reported on the meeting of the Central Council at Warwick, which was attended by all the four representatives of the Guild. The full report of the proceedings, he said, had been given in the column of 'The Ringing World,' and should have been read by every ringer. Unless ringers read 'The Ringing World' it was impossible for them to keep up to date with knowledge of ringing matters—the paper was of inestimable value to all ringers.

The President mentioned the proposed Australian tour and the collections of photographs of cathedrals and notable churches which were to be taken out to Melbourne and Hobart as gifts from the ringers of England.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, who is organising the tour, said it arose from a simple thing, a friendly letter from the secretary of the Melbourne Cathedral company and the Precentor of the Cathedral. The thing had grown and a party of nine ringers would sail from London on September 14th. Mr. Savage, who was secretary of the Melbourne society, was, he understood, an old Berkshire man, who was at Reading 20 years ago, and rang his first peal of Stedman Triples at Sonning. In addition to Melbourne, it was proposed to visit Tasmania, Ballarat, Bendigo, Geelong, and, afterwards, Sydney. He was sorry Canon Coleridge could not go with them, and he was more than sorry to come there and not see a face they all knew and loved so well—their late Master. He believed that, had he been alive, Mr. Jenkyn would have arranged to be spared from his other duties and to go with them as chaplain. Unfortunately, he had taken another voyage, much to their loss. In addition to the photographic albums, they were taking out other gifts and literature which he was sure would be welcomed by the Australian ringers.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith also spoke on the tour and the photographic albums which it is proposed to send out.

The Secretary said as two of the old members of the Guild, Mr. Fussell and Mr. George Martin, were going out on this trip, he would like to be empowered to put on the minutes of the meeting that they wished them 'God-speed and a safe return' (applause). Personally he wished them a very happy time in the Antipodes (applause).

The motion was at once agreed to.

£126 FOR JENKYN MEMORIAL FUND.

The Hon. Treasurer announced that the sum of £126 0s. 6d. had been received for the Jenkyn Memorial Fund. The cost of the memorial opened that day would be £31, leaving £95 to hand over to the fund for enlarging the chapel at Queen Anne's School, Caversham, which was to be carried out by the school governors as a memorial to Mr. Jenkyn.

A member suggested that the committee should consider the regular contribution of Guild news to the public Press. The 'Oxford Times' was prepared to give them a quarter of a column each week, and he had no doubt similar arrangements could be made with papers in other parts of the diocese.

There was some criticism of the late appearance of the annual report, but it was pointed out that the delay was in part due to the sudden illness of one of the district secretaries. Part of the delay was also attributed to the auditors, a firm of accountants, who have done the work gratuitously for many years, and Mr. A. D. Barker proposed that in future the audit be carried out by two members of the Guild.

This, however, found no seconder, and eventually the matter dropped.

At the conclusion of the business meeting about 140 sat down to lunch in the magnificent dining hall of Christ Church.

The toast of 'Church and King' was honoured on the call of the president.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith submitted 'The Oxford Diocesan Guild,' congratulating the Guild upon its continued success and particularly upon the valuable work it was doing by giving practical encouragement to bell restoration throughout the diocese.

The President replied and then thanked the Chapter of Christ Church for the use of the Cathedral and Chapter House. Unfortunately they had to lament the death of the Dean, who had always been ready to assist the Guild and do anything he could to promote its interests. Canon Coleridge welcomed Bishop Shaw, who had been able to join them at luncheon, and asked him to convey the thanks of the Guild to the governors of Christ Church for the use of the hall. He also thanked the organist, the steward (Sir Harold Percival) and those incumbents who had placed their bells at the disposal of the members.

Bishop Shaw replied, remarking that he hoped they would have the pleasure of welcoming the Guild at Oxford for their annual meeting for many years to come.

Afterwards the members dispersed to the many city towers for ringing.

MR. BAKER'S REPLY TO MR. JAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I accept Mr. James' statement (that he called on me previous to ringing a peal at St. Peter's, Brighton, on May 3rd, 1922, but the fact remains that the late Mr. A. Craven started the controversy by publishing a lead of 'Bristol Royal' in 'The Ringing World' on March 3rd, 1922.

It was after that date that I began canvassing the opinion of the well-known composers (including Mr. James) as to whether a certain plain method was one and the same from Minor to Maximus.

I have carefully scanned the columns of 'The Ringing World' between March 3rd, 1922, and May 3rd, 1922, the date of the peal at Brighton, and I have failed to trace any invitation in print from myself to Mr. James, nor have I any recollection of issuing such an invitation in any shape or form.

GEORGE BAKER.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD WELCOME TO NEW BISHOP.

The eleventh annual festival of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild was held at Brecon on Saturday, July 14th. The attendance did not come up to the usual number. The festival service was held at the Cathedral, the Rev. J. C. Hill officiating, and Mr. J. Humphrey Carden presided at the organ. The address was given by the Lord Bishop.

After service, tea was partaken of on the lawns of Ely Tower by kind invitation of the Bishop.

Before the business of the meeting, the Secretary referred to the lamented death of the late Bishop, whose name would for many years be associated with the diocese by reason of the great work he did in the formation of it and the beautifying of the Cathedral Church, and none the less in the minds of the ringers who had for some years been privileged to gather at Ely Tower as his guests.

The meeting rose to pay a silent tribute to the memory of the late Bishop Bevan.

Mr. Havard also asked the Guild to join with him in offering a very warm welcome to Bishop Morgan. The new Bishop had come from the other end of the principality, having served the Church in the north as a faithful parish priest, and one of the qualities ascribed to him on his appointment was his keen interest in music and church bells. Mr. Havard expressed the hope that the new Bishop would be long with them to guide the destiny of the diocese and to foster the interests of the belringers of the Guild.—The Lord Bishop thanked the ringers for their warm welcome.

The accounts were presented and passed. The Lord Bishop was elected president, and the vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc. The following officers were also re-elected: Master of the Guild, Mr. S. T. Rackham; hon. treasurer, Mr. C. Powell; hon. secretary, Mr. L. T. Havard; hon. auditor, Mr. E. I. Rowlands; Central Council representative, Mr. Gwynne Lewis.

It was decided to leave the arrangements for the 1935 festival in the hands of the Lord Bishop and the hon. secretary. With regard to the ringing competition, Mr. I. Reed, on behalf of the Cefn Coed band, extended a hearty invitation to the Guild to hold the next competition at Cefn.—Mr. Reed's invitation was gratefully accepted.

Mr. Gwynne Lewis (Cadoston) presented his report on the Central Council meeting held at Warwick. He said he had been requested to make an earnest appeal to all the ringers of the Guild to subscribe to 'The Ringing World,' which was the only paper devoted to the art.—Mr. Lewis was supported in his appeal by Mr. J. P. Hyett and Mr. D. J. Lewis.

SCHEME FOR MEMORIAL BELLS WITHDRAWN.

The next item on the agenda was to consider the following recommendation of the Northern District: 'That as our beloved late Bishop was very kindly disposed to the placing of a peal of bells in the Brecon Cathedral, we feel it would be a lasting monument to his memory to issue an appeal for the carrying out of this project, and to pledge ourselves to support and obtain all financial assistance in our power.'

Arising from this the Lord Bishop stated he wished to congratulate the ringers on the fine thought which had prompted such a proposal, but wished to draw their attention to the fact that the Memorial Committee set up by the Diocesan Conference had considered the question of a peal of bells for the Cathedral together with several other suggestions, and they had decided upon the improvement of the east of the Cathedral, knowing that the late Bishop was about to issue an appeal to carry out this work. His Lordship said he was afraid that the suggested appeal would cut across the main memorial appeal.—It was then decided to withdraw the proposal.

It was unanimously decided to place the name of Mr. W. R. Howells (Swansea) upon the list of honorary life members of the Guild in recognition of his services as secretary from 1923-32.

Canon John Simon proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Lord Bishop for his kindness and hospitality, the proposition being carried with acclamation.

DEATH OF A SHEFFIELD RINGER.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Wm. Goodwin, who passed away at his residence, 126, High Storrs Road, Sheffield, on Sunday, July 15th, at the age of 71 years.

Mr. Goodwin was a member of the company at St. John-the-Evangelist's, Ranmoor, for many years. He was not a great peal ringer, having only rung three with the late Mr. Sam Thomas. When the two trebles were added to the existing eight as a memorial to Mr. Thomas, he contributed to them very generously.

He joined the Ranmoor company in 1888, and was also a life member of the Yorkshire Association.

He leaves a widow, son and daughter to mourn their loss.

On Tuesday evening, July 17th, the following ten members of the Sheffield District Society rang a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grand-sire Caters (1,260 changes) as a mark of respect and as an acknowledgment of the good work he had done: W. H. Thomas (Bristol) 1, M. E. Wilson (Sheffield) 2, J. Osgathorpe (Ranmoor) 3, W. Bugar (Ranmoor) 4, H. Naylor (Sheffield) 5, G. Haynes (Ranmoor) 6, R. Long (Sheffield) 7, J. Thorpe, conductor (Sheffield) 8, F. Moya (Ranmoor) 9, H. Hurst (Ranmoor) 10.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

STRONG CRITICISM OF MEMBERS' INDIFFERENCE.

There was some outspoken criticism in the report for the year 1933-34 presented by the hon. secretary (Mrs. E. K. Fletcher) to the annual general meeting of the Ladies' Guild, held at Surfleet on Saturday, July 14th. The meeting was one of the largest and most successful held by the Guild, 30 members being present.

Ringling commenced at 12 o'clock, and continued at intervals throughout the day. A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar. About 90 ringers and friends sat down to tea in Mr. Richardson's spacious hulk shed, and before the business meeting Miss E. Steel, president of the Guild, expressed the sincere thanks of the members and friends to the Vicar for allowing the Guild to hold the meeting at Surfleet and conducting the service, and to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, who had made such excellent arrangements and extended such a cordial welcome.

At the business meeting, with the president in the chair, four new ringing members and two life members were elected.

The accounts showed a total income of £10 3s. 4d., and an excess of income over expenditure of 3s. 8d. The total funds in hand amount to £17 6s. 8d.

'ALL IS NOT WELL WITH THE GUILD.'

The Hon. Secretary, in her report, said: In the last report we were able to show an increased membership, and this has been maintained. In every district in the past year quarterly meetings have been held, and while two secretaries report fairly successful meetings the others are rather disappointed at the lack of interest. It would seem that all is not well with the Guild. There is room for improvement, and we will endeavour to show in what ways.

In the first place, the members of the Guild fall in several classes.

The first class consists of the members who, often at personal inconvenience, make a habit of attending all the district meetings possible, and give their wholehearted support to the district secretaries. These are termed the 'faithful few,' and are the backbone of the Guild. They also pay their subscriptions regularly, and never have to be reminded. This class also includes the other bit of the backbone, the members who live off the beaten track and cannot get to meetings, but still interest themselves in the Guild's work and regularly forward their subscriptions.

The second class consists of members who promise to come to a meeting and then at the last minute stay away because they are attempting a peal. Probably the date has been fixed partly for their convenience. In this class is the member who would not attend a meeting in her district unless she could be assured that she could have some Cambridge Surprise. She was not going to waste her time ringing rounds and Grandsire Triples.

The third class consists of members who only attend when a meeting is held at their own tower. On that occasion they are full of enthusiasm, but it lasts no longer than the meeting. Nothing is seen or heard of them after, and repeated reminders of subscriptions owing fail to wake them. After an interval of two or three years the Guild again pays a visit to their tower, and they cheerfully tender 1s. as their subscription, forgetting the intervening years which still remain unpaid.

The fourth class is the member who joins and then withdraws because she gets nothing out of the Guild.

To which of these classes do you belong?

ONE HUNDRED UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.

We know it is impossible to attend all meetings, but don't you think you might make an effort to attend more than you do? Apart from meetings, if you are really interested in the Guild, and cannot get to the meetings, why not send your subscription more regularly? If you are not interested in the Guild, why belong at all?

The objects of the Guild are set out in Rule 3, and the meetings are the means of bringing members into closer touch one with another. They are often difficult to arrange to avoid clashing with other association meetings, and it is very disappointing to the secretary to find a poor attendance, when she knows perfectly well that a larger number could have attended had they made just a little effort.

Coming to the financial side, there are far too many outstanding subscriptions. Out of 273 ringing members, only 173 have paid for the year ending June, 1934. What has happened to the remaining 100? In one district, the amount of outstanding subscriptions is £3 15s. We know that times are difficult, but 1s. per year is not a large amount.

We much regret the loss of one of our members by death, viz., Mrs. John Thomas, of Enfield, who had been a member of the Guild for about 14 years. A letter of sympathy was sent to Mr. Thomas, and several members were present at the funeral.

Both representatives on the Central Council were able to attend the meeting at Warwick.

We are very gratified that one of our members, Mrs. Richardson, is one of the party visiting Australia during the coming autumn, and we wish her an enjoyable voyage and a safe return.

In conclusion, said the report, at our meeting in 1935 may we be able to say that all outstanding subscriptions have been paid, and that every meeting held has been a great success.

RINGERS' EXPERIMENT TO INTEREST PUBLIC.

A novel experiment to interest the public in bells has been made at Southover, Lewes, Sussex. The tower was open to the public on Saturday, July 14th, and Wednesday, July 18th, and the visitors were received by the ringers and the mechanism of the bells and other matters pertaining to them were explained. In the ringing chamber were drawings showing the comparative sizes of the Great Bell of Moscow, Great Paul and the tenor (17½ cwt.) and treble in Southover tower. Other drawings showed the parts of a bell and where the harmonics come from. There were also models relating to the casting of a bell, showing how the core is built up, a finished core, the mould with the strickle, a tuning machine and a model of a bell hung for ringing. Other exhibits included a Swiss sheep bell, two Sussex sheep bells, a duck and canister. The Rector of Buxted lent a Burmese gong, a wooden cowbell from Ceylon, and a Sussex 'rumbler'.

On the first day there were five visitors in the afternoon and 32 in the evening, and on the second 16 in the afternoon and 22 in the evening. They were taken up among the bells, where they were able to see a bell in motion, and everyone was surprised to find that the bells when rung made a complete revolution. It is hoped that a greater interest in bells and ringing will be created by the exhibition.

FARNHAM DISTRICT MEETING AT FRENESHAM.

A meeting of the Farnham District was held at Frensham last Saturday, but the attendance was not large. Perhaps this was due to the holiday season and the stormy aspect of the weather. However, the ringing was good, and splendid practice was put in. The Vicar of Frensham (the Rev. M. C. H. Collet, R.D.) conducted the Guild service, and gave a short but exceedingly interesting address. Mr. T. A. Stroud presided at the organ. Following service tea was served in the Marindin Institute, a company numbering 23 sitting down to an excellent meal.

Mr. A. J. Chuter, who is the local captain and a churchwarden, was in the chair for the short business meeting after tea, when two new members were elected. These were Mrs. A. J. Chuter, hon. member, and Master John Chuter, ringing member, both of Frensham.

Apologies were received from Mr. R. Hasted, the District Ringing Master, who was on holiday, and from Messrs. E. W. Langham, L. Muddell and H. Rothwell, hon. members.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. P. Eldridge to the Vicar, the organist, the local ringers, caterers and chairman. Ringing continued in the evening, and the bells were rung down at 8.30 p.m. Six towers were represented at the meeting, viz., Aldershot (in force), Farnham, Frensham, Haslemere, Pirbright and Yorktown.

GREAT YARMOUTH RINGERS' OUTING.

The annual outing of St. Nicholas' company, Great Yarmouth, was held on June 30th. A start was made at 8 a.m. sharp, the full company being present, including Mr. Denison Hayward, who is tower master, and has rung at St. Nicholas for 57 years. A good run was made to Bury St. Edmunds, where a stop was made for about 20 minutes before going to Great Melford for the first ringing, which included touches of Stedman, Kent and Grandsire, on a fine peal, some of the local ringers having a pull with the visitors. Going on to Sudbury, the party rang at St. Peter's before dinner, and at St. Gregory's Church afterwards. At Hadleigh several touches were rung on a peal of eight, of which the 'going' is as good as the tone. After tea at Stowmarket the finishing touches of the day were rung. Yarmouth was reached at 11 p.m. The St. Nicholas' company wish to thank the clergy of the churches visited for the permission to ring, also the local ringers and steeplekeepers for everything they did to make the tour the success it was.

DEATH OF A DEAN.

The death has occurred of the Very Rev. Henry Julian White, D.D., Dean of Christ Church, Oxford, who was a good friend to Oxford City and diocesan ringers. At the Cathedral on July 19th, with the bells half-muffled as a last mark of respect, 1,311 Stedman Cinques was rung by: H. Miles 1, W. F. Judge (conductor) 2, Miss M. E. Reynolds 3, S. Hounslow 4, W. G. Brigham 5, W. G. E. Collett 6, F. E. Taylor 7, W. H. B. Wilkins 8, F. A. H. Wilkins 9, V. J. F. Bennett 10, R. A. Post 11, R. F. Deal 12.

The president (Miss E. Steel) and the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mrs. E. K. Fletcher) were unanimously re-elected.

As the stock of badges was exhausted, it was decided to obtain designs and estimates for a new supply.

A suggestion by the Northants District was considered, and it was resolved that a Sunday be fixed for a Corporate Communion of the Guild. The fourth Sunday in October was decided on, this being the nearest date to the anniversary of the formation of the Guild in 1912.

The annual meeting in 1935 will be held in London

A JOINT MEETING AT TENTERDEN.*A HAPPY KENTISH GATHERING.

A meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association was held at Tenterden on Saturday in conjunction with the monthly meeting of the Romney Marsh and District Guild. The combination resulted in a most enjoyable afternoon, the pleasure of which was further enhanced by a break in the annual outing of the Sittingbourne and district ringers for tea at Tenterden. Many of each party were known to members of the other, and some pleasant intercourse resulted.

The bells were made almost unbroken use of from 3 p.m., for when the Ashford District stopped for tea and business the Sittingbourne 'fellows' carried on the good work.

Tea was served at Cramp's Hotel to about 40 members and friends from Ashford, Cranbrook, Kennington, Willersborough, Sturry, Tunbridge Wells, Frittenden, Chart, Sandhurst, Benenden, New Romney, Stone, Rye and the local tower. These forty people were lucky to get anything, as those from Sittingbourne had been having tea there for nearly an hour before.

The business of the two societies was dealt with during the evening. An invitation from the Maidstone District to hold a combined meeting one Saturday in August had to be refused very reluctantly, but it is hoped it will be held later on in the year.

A discussion was started by Mr. A. J. Battin concerning the reports of meetings being (or not being) sent to 'The Ringing World,' and if they were, why weren't they published? Various people were blamed, including the Editor of the paper. However, the discussion, which, perhaps, was more amusing than serious, ended somewhat abruptly by a suggestion from Mr. Ryck to 'get on with something else.'

Most of the company then returned to the tower, having received half their travelling expenses at the hands of the district secretary.

STALYBRIDGE TRAGEDIES.*BEREAVEMENTS OF VICAR AND RINGERS' SECRETARY.

Canon B. B. Slater, Vicar of St. Paul's, Stalybridge, Cheshire, who is keenly interested in his ringers, has sustained a severe bereavement by the death of his wife, Mrs. Frances Mary Slater, who died from septicaemia. How the poisoning was set up remains a mystery, but Mrs. Slater passed away a few days after the first appearance of a spot on one of her hands. Canon Slater was away on a holiday in the Black Forest at the time, and did not reach England until the day after his wife's death.

The funeral took place on Saturday week, and prior to a memorial service on Sunday morning a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Paul's Church with the bells fully muffled.

In the evening another quarter-peal in the same method was rung with the bells muffled as a token of respect to the late Mrs. Annie Hinchcliffe, wife of Mr. H. O. Hinchcliffe, the respected secretary of the St. Paul's company. Mrs. Hinchcliffe, who was also buried on Saturday, died on Thursday week from injuries received when the motor-cycle and sidecar, in which she was riding with her husband, came into collision with a motor-car on the previous Saturday.

The ringers who took part in one or both of the quarter-peals were Mrs. Wolstencroft, Messrs. J. Simister, J. Parks, A. Hodgson, S. Fielding, S. Hodgson, G. Gill (longest length), A. Roberts, W. Fielding, G. Shaw and W. W. Wolstencroft (conductor).

A TOUR IN CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

The ringers of St. Peter's Guild, Sible Hedingham, had their annual outing on Saturday, July 21st, and made a tour in Cambridgeshire. During the morning they rang at Fulbourne, Histon, Long Stanton and Swavesey, where dinner was partaken of. Afterwards they journeyed to Over and were met by Mr. F. Warrington, whom they have to thank for arranging the dinner and getting the use of the bells at some of the other towers as well as Over. Later the party went on to Willingham and Cottenham, where they had tea in the schoolroom, arranged by the Rector and churchwarden, assisted by his wife and lady friends, to whom thanks are extended for the trouble. A visit to St. Benedict's, Cambridge, concluded the day's programme. There was some disappointment at the 'go' of St. Benedict's bells. Home was reached about 11, after spending a most enjoyable day. Touches of Bob Major, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung during the outing.

TEN TOWERS IN A DAY.*ST. CLEMENT'S, IPSWICH, MEN ON CAMBRIDGESHIRE BORDER.

On July 7th the St. Clement's company, Ipswich, had their ninth annual outing, which this year took the form of a tour of the Cambridgeshire borderland towers. Leaving at 8 a.m., the first stop for ringing was at Rattlesden (six). Next a move was made to Folsham (six), where, owing to neglect, the 'go' was not excellent. After a 24-mile run Chippenham (six), the first tower in Cambs, was reached, and the bells soon going to Cambridge Surprise in honour of the occasion. On the way a short stop was made in Bury St. Edmunds for the benefit of those who had never visited this grand old town before. A short run soon brought them to Fordham (six) for a ring on a heavy peal (tenor 17 cwt.). The church was also worth the visit. The next item of interest was dinner, which was well served under ideal conditions at the White Horse Hotel, Burwell. After dinner the tower was visited, where hang a fair peal of five which require some skill and strength to ring. After several attempts a course of Plain Doubles was managed. For the rest a few rounds was more than enough, although the tenor was helped by one at the wheel up top. Without regrets a quick run was made to Swaffham Prior (six), where were found two churches in one ground, the bells being rung at St. Mary's, and the services held at St. Cyriac and Julitta's, the latter having a tower in ruins, the other a church in ruin. The bells required some ringing, but Ipswich Surprise was tried. Bottisham (five) was the next stop, and here was found a peal recently rehung in new wood frame with ball bearings. The 'going' of the back bells was far from excellent, perhaps from some neglect. After a good run beside the celebrated racecourse, a stop was made for tea at Newmarket, and later a visit was paid to St. Mary's for a ring on the fine peal of six (tenor 21 cwt.). The ringing here was much enjoyed, but soon a move had to be made to Horringer for a ring on the peal of eight. After this a group photograph was taken as a record, and proved a success. After many twists and turns through narrow lanes, Preston was reached at nine o'clock, but not too late for a good ring on these good 'going' but unmusical peal of six. Leaving at 9.45, home via Hadleigh was reached at 10.45, after a good day. They wish to thank all who met them or helped to make it a success.

ROTHERHAM RINGERS' LINCOLNSHIRE TRIP.

On Saturday, July 14th, the Rotherham Parish Church company, accompanied by ringing friends from Bolsover, Handsworth and Wath-on-Dearne and a number of non-ringing friends, which latter included the popular and genial Vicar of Rotherham (Canon Morgan), set off at 6.30 a.m. in a slight drizzle, for a tour of South Lincolnshire. The first stop was for a real old coaching breakfast at the Rutland, Great Goverby, where a solid, substantial meal was enjoyed. The course was then set for Edenham (Bourne), where this nice peal of eight was used for Double Norwich, London and Yorkshire Surprise. After a short chat with the Vicar, sail was set for Spalding, taking an Edenham ringer along. Here on the eight were rung Cambridge, Little Bob, and London. From here the route lay to Surfleet, and on this lively little peal was rung Treble Bob Royal, Little Bob Maximus (in a style), Cambridge Royal and Double Norwich Major, several having their first ring on twelve bells. Before leaving Surfleet, the tavern across the road was inspected, and, after a jar of nut-brown, the party headed for Boston. Here, after a look round the massive church, legs were called upon to do a little extra before arriving at the ringing chamber, but before long these fine bells gave forth Cambridge Royal, Little Bob Royal and Superlative Major. After this a splendid meat tea was partaken of at the Scala Cafe, and thence to Heckington, the last call for ringing. There on this fine peal of eight Spiced Treble Bob, Bristol, London, Grandsire Triples, Bob Minor and Stedman Doubles were rung. The return journey was commenced at about 8.30 p.m., the party landing back safely about 11 p.m. The weather was most kind after the initial drizzle, for no more rain was seen after 7.30 a.m. Everyone had an enjoyable day, and the thanks of all are due to the various incumbents for their permission to ring, and particularly to the local ringers who looked after the requirements of the visitors so well, and were kindness itself. The Rotherham company will be very pleased to welcome ringers from these or any other towers whenever they decide to tour South Yorkshire.

NEW BELLS FOR EAST LONDON.

On Friday, July 13th, the ancient custom of blessing and anointing the bells prior to their being hoisted into the tower, was performed by Bishop Butt, V.G., at the new R.C. Church of Our Lady Immaculate, Limehouse, East London.

As the design of the campanile is unsuited for a ringing peal, the bells (nine in number, tenor weighing 21 cwt.) will only be chimed.

A powerful electrically-wound clock will chime the quarters and strike the hours, and at certain times of the day will release a chime barrel playing several verses of the Latin hymn, 'Ave Maris Stella.' The quarter chimes, the first of their kind, are based on the same hymn.

The bells have been cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the clock mechanism is by Messrs. John Smith and Sons, of Derby.

FIE! LADIES.

The candid criticism which characterised the annual report presented to the Ladies' Guild will probably come as something of a 'jolt' to all but the 'faithful few,' who doubtless have been for some time feeling what the Honorary Secretary has had the courage to say. Honeyed words and over-optimism are definitely detrimental to any organisation when the facts point in the other direction and yet one often sees them employed when there is no justification. It is refreshing, therefore, to find a secretary who is prepared to call a spade a spade and when it concerns the ladies it is enough to make people, and particularly those who come under the lash, 'sit up and take notice.' In sum, the report just shows that in the discharge of their responsibilities to their Guild, the ladies are no whit better, if they are no worse, than the men, and that, in a way, has probably come as something of a shock to many of the male element of the Exercise.

Far be it from us to attempt to justify the 'delinquents.' There is little if any excuse for those who do not pay their small annual subscription, and the only thing that we can find to say in mitigation of those who do not attend the meetings is that the Guild's members are a fairly widely scattered community and the expense of getting to meetings would often be considerable. It is only in areas where members are fairly numerous that even moderately attended meetings of the Guild can be expected. It is one of the difficulties facing the ladies' organisation that their members are to be found only in ones and twos, and then only in a minority of towers. The districts are large and it is almost impossible for the members to keep that personal touch, which does so much to retain interest in the activities of any ringers' Guild. But this much having been admitted, the 'defaulters' doubtless deserve all that the Secretary has said about them. The ladies apparently suffer from just the same faults as the men—although no man would have had the courage to tell them so quite as frankly as their Secretary has done.

There appear to be among the members of the Ladies' Guild peal grabbers and high-brows who do not like to come down to the humbler stuff which is usually the fare at meetings. There are those whose enthusiasm bubbles over when the meeting is brought to their own door, but goes to ditch-water as soon as the bells have been rung down for the evening. Then there are those who join and quickly withdraw when they find they get out of the Guild only what they themselves put into it—which, in their case, is nothing. We sympathise with the officials of the Guild in the discouragement which these disappointments must bring. Perhaps the Honorary Secretary's chastisement will bring about a change among the delinquents, for there is little remedy except the awakening of their own conscience. If, however, the punishment could be made to fit the crime, the backsliders over the meetings should be made to arrange them and compelled to attend them to find only a handful of others present. The non-payers should be given the task of collecting the subscriptions—and what a time that one hundred would have extracting shillings from one another? Fie! ladies. You owe it to your officials to reform and that quickly. You are setting a bad example to the men. But we are not sure that they are not already worse than you are.

A VANCOUVER QUARTER-PEAL.

On Wednesday, June 27th, at the Cathedral of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver, Canada, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (by Henry Johnson) was rung in 46 minutes for practice: A. C. Lunnus 1, A. Lomas 2, A. King 3, F. Hird 4, G. Roberts 5, E. Vickers 6, W. Sampson 7, T. Greenaway 8, conducted by A. B. Lomas.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual festival of Truro Diocesan Guild was held at Gulval on Saturday, July 21st. About 100 ringers were present, including Dr. J. Symons (president of the Guild), Miss Symons, Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Ringing Master), Rev. W. H. R. Trowhella (secretary), Mr. H. Dunstan (treasurer), and ringers from Callington, Gulval, Illogan, Ludgvan, Manaccan, Mawnan, Phillack, Plymouth, Redruth, St. Anthony-in-Meneage, St. Hilary, Towednack, Truro Cathedral, Tuckingmill and Zennor.

The bells of Gulval and the neighbouring churches of Ludgvan, Madron, St. Mary's, Penzance, and Zennor were made use of, and the following methods were rung: Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Doubles and Triples, Bob Major and Minor, call changes and rounds.

A service for ringers was conducted in Gulval Church by the Vicar (Rev. C. H. S. Buckley), assisted by Gulval Church choir, and tea was provided in Lausley Hall.

LYME REGIS RINGERS' EXCURSION

The ringers of St. Michael's, Lyme Regis, spent an enjoyable day on Saturday week, making Bristol the centre of a circular trip. Wells was the first stop for light refreshment, and Yatten the first objective for ringing. The latter place was reached somewhat late owing to a detour via Cheddar Gorge, and then a refractory slider curtailed the programme. A pull at Clevedon was abandoned on arrival there, as time was short, and there was illness nearby. Portishead, however, provided a pleasant welcome, Grandsire and Stedman Triples being enjoyed, with Mrs. Edwards standing in the latter. Mr. Gillingham's absence through illness was much regretted. The Vicar's bad leadership into Bristol delayed luncheon further than need have been the case, and all were glad when the table was reached. A splendid welcome was awaiting the party at St. Stephen's tower in the afternoon, and many of the Dorset men experienced their first touch of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and made a very creditable performance. Kent Major was also rung. The attraction of Bristol, besides tea, occupied the rest of the day until 7 o'clock, when the cars were boarded again for the Church of the Holy Nativity, Knowle. Here Mr. W. A. Cave was waiting, and two good touches were rung as the most that could be allowed before evening. A good run in the cool of a day which had provided thunder and rain intermittently brought everyone home at a reasonable hour.

The Lyme Regis ringers wish to thank the incumbents of the various towers for their kind permission to ring, also Mr. Gillingham, whom they would have like to have met, Mr. W. Knight and members of St. Stephen's Guild, Mr. W. A. Cave and others, who all had such a friendly welcome for them, and added much to the interest and success of their outing.

HALF-DAY TRIP OF 120 MILES.

The annual outing of the members of St. Margaret's Society, Lowestoft, took place on July 13th inst. Owing to business exigencies it has to be a half-day excursion, but, notwithstanding that, it amounted to nearly a 120-mile motor trip. A visit to Debenham was the first item, and at 2 p.m. 17 members and friends left by saloon coach for their destination, travelling via Krentham, Wangford, Henbourn Park, Yoxford (the garden of Suffolk), Peasenhall and Earl Soham to Debenham. The church bells being in readiness, two touches of Bob Major were rung, conducted by Mr. Rumsey and Mr. A. E. Coleman, also a short touch of Minor for the younger members. The company, with Mr. Rumsey, then sat down to a good old-fashioned Suffolk tea. The Master (Mr. A. E. Coleman) occupied the chair, and the vice-chair was allotted to the patriarch of the company ('Young Woodley').

Travelling via Helmingham and Westerfield, the company next journeyed to Felixstowe, and most of the time there was spent in the Amusement Park. Sad to relate, some of the party came away sadder and wiser men, as the 8,000 'touch' with 10 'calls' was a little longer than they could manage. One member did call a 7,500, but unfortunately there was no return for hard luck.

Departing from Felixstowe at 9 p.m., the 'going home course' was via Martlesham Heath and the Woodbridge by-pass to Pettistree. Light refreshments were served at the Tuns Hotel, aided by a piano, and at 10.30 p.m. a few bars from the 'Hebe's Anthem' announced time, and the final stretch for home was made via Wickham Market and Saxmundham. The clock on the swing bridge at Lowestoft showed 23.45 as the saloon swung into the town, and as the weather was perfect it truly was the end of 'a perfect half-day'.

The ringers express their thanks to the Rector (Canon H. J. Enraght, M.A.), Mr. J. Woodger, and Mr. Allan Watson, for their kindness, and their thanks are also expressed to the Rector of Debenham for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Rumsey for kindly having them ready.

THE BOURNVILLE CARILLON.

MESSRS. GILLETT AND JOHNSTON'S LATEST PRODUCTION.

A private demonstration of one of the finest carillons in the world was given at Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Foundry at Croydon on Monday, when the instrument which they have completed for Bournville was on view and recitals were given.

The Bournville carillon, consisting originally of 22 bells, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. George Cadbury, was installed in 1906 in the belfry of the school in the centre of this garden village. It was the first carillon made for use in England by an English bell firm. Since that time the art of the founder has advanced a long way, particularly in regard to tuning, and the bells of to-day are of greatly improved tonal quality. Additions to the Bournville carillon were made in 1923 and 1925, the gifts of Mrs. George Cadbury and Mr. George Cadbury, jun., and brought the number of bells up to 42, the largest (note C) weighing two tons.

The carillon has now been reconstructed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Thirty-eight of the former 42 bells have been recast to improve their tone and tune, and three high trebles, two bass semi-tones, and a new bourdon bell weighing  $3\frac{1}{2}$  tons have been added. There are, therefore, 48 bells covering four complete octaves. Although not quite the heaviest carillon installed so far in the British Isles, its compass of 48 notes is the most extensive, and provides an unlimited range of music for the carillonneur.

A new frame of massive girders has been constructed, and entirely new fittings, based upon recent developments in improvement and design, have been provided, while the bells have been arranged to secure an even distribution of the sound. All the bearings which carry the connecting wires from the clavier to the hammers are mounted on ball bearings, and the general arrangement of the mechanism is such that the carillonneur can exercise the utmost delicacy of touch and that perfect control of light and shade that is essential to the artistic expression of carillon music. The total weight of the bells is 17½ tons, and that of the frame is 8½ tons.

Previously the main part of the carillon was housed in a turret placed on one corner of the Bournville School tower, and the four largest bells were fixed in the open on the flat roof of the main tower. The turret has now been removed and a campanile of original design, planned by the architect, Mr. W. Alexander Harvey, F.R.I.B.A., is being placed centrally on the tower roof.

Visitors to the Croydon Foundry on Monday found the carillon standing in completed form in the large erecting shop. Among those who inspected it and listened to the recital given at noon was Mr. George Cadbury and Mr. W. A. Harvey. Mr. Clifford Ball, the Bournville carillonneur, gave the recital, and his programme revealed all the wonderful possibilities of the bells. It was at once obvious that the tuning of bells for this purpose has reached perfection point. The harshness that sometimes seemed too predominant among the upper notes in older carillons is gone entirely, and, while the new bourdon bell is a really glorious production, so all the way up the scale the bells are a delight to the ear. Mr. Ball was enthusiastic over the new carillon—a vast improvement in tone and in case of operating, was his comment.

A second recital was given in the afternoon, when one of the most impressive items was a magnificent performance of Chopin's 'Funeral March,' which, perhaps, more than anything else gave the talented carillonneur the opportunity of showing both his skill and the capacity of the carillon. Miss Nora Johnston and Mr. Sidney Potter also contributed to the programmes.

In addition to the carillon, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are erecting a powerful electric clock to chime the Westminster quarters and strike the hours on the great bell.

The special inscriptions on the bells are as follow:—

Nos. 4-41 recast. On the recast bells additional words, 'Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon,' appear. Nos. 1, 2, 3, 44, 46 and 48 are new bells.

As usual there were many things of interest to the visitors to the foundry in addition to the carillon. Many of them saw for the first time the casting of bells. They watched with something approaching wonderment the tapping of a furnace which released a golden stream of over four tons of molten bell metal, which they then saw poured into four moulds, one for a two-ton bell for Holton Church, Bridgend, Glam, which, however, unfortunately are not to be hung for ringing.

In the factory they saw a clock and chimes, which are being made for H.H. the Maharajah of Kholapur, and a clock and chimes for St. Paul's Church, Wigan; a great synchronous clock, with neon lit hands, for Messrs. W. H. Smith and Sons' new building at Lambeth; and a bronze projecting clock for Messrs. Harvey Nichols' Store, at Knightsbridge.

Among the ringing peals to be seen in process of restoration were those from Bedford, Middlesex; Bishop's Lydeard, Somerset; Colyton, Devon—the bells dating from 1611 to 1775; and Looe, Cornwall.

An important bell restoration which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are shortly to carry out is the rehanging in a new frame of the ring of ten at St. Mary's, Nottingham. They are also to provide the four new bells to increase the peal at Kidderminster to twelve.

GREENS NORTON BELLS RESTORED.

BISHOP OF PETERBOROUGH ON THE DISCIPLINE OF RINGING.

At Greens Norton Parish Church, on Sunday afternoon, July 22nd, the Bishop of Peterborough, in the presence of a crowded congregation, dedicated two bells, the fifth and tenor, which have just been recast and, with the other bells, hung on ball bearings. The work has been done by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The tenor bears its original inscription, 'When I ring or tole, my voice is spent that men may come and hear God's Word and so repent.' On the fifth bell are the names of the present Rector and churchwardens (the Rev. H. S. Vinning, Messrs. A. E. S. Guinness, and W. H. Hefford).

The service was conducted by the Rector and the Rev. Canon Haynes, of Blakesley. In his sermon, Dr. Blagden said that in bell-ringing there was a certain monotony which had a lesson for us. That monotony depended on discipline and strict observance of the rules of the art of bell-ringing. It was so easy, when young, to feel, 'Oh, if we were only free to do as we liked to avoid monotonous restraints, what a good time we could have.' Only as we grew to be older did we begin to learn this message of the bells, that to achieve anything and discover happiness in our lives, discipline, however monotonous it sometimes seemed, was indispensable.

After service, the local ringers who belong to the Towcester Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, were, with the Bishop, kindly entertained to tea by the Rector.

The Bishop heartily congratulated the ringers upon being such a young band. He also spoke of the splendid tone of the fifth and tenor, which have been recast. The ringers (the band numbers eleven) themselves heartily congratulated Mr. S. R. Roper, representing Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, upon the way the work had been carried out, the 'go' of the bells now being excellent. Many ringers from neighbouring villages turned up for service, and the methods rung were Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

MIDDLESEX AND HERTFORD ASSOCIATIONS.

JOINT MEETING AT NORTH MIMMS.

Very fine weather favoured the joint meeting of the Herts and Middlesex Associations on Saturday, and, but for the bus service from St. Albans being disorganised, the attendance might have been a record for North Mimms. As it was, about 38 ringers visited this pretty village church in a part of Hertfordshire not yet altogether spoiled by the builder.

Mr. A. W. Coles took charge of the ringing, and, as usual, saw that all were provided for, including the youngest member of the party, Miss Enid Richardson, who had some good 'rounds' practice in anticipation of her forthcoming visit to Australia.

At the service the Vicar (Rev. L. Buxton) welcomed the two associations, and preached a sermon on unity and the team spirit necessary for success, calling attention to the remarks on this subject made recently by the Bishop of Guildford at a meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and reported in 'The Ringing World.'

After tea, Mr. W. Nash (district secretary, Herts Association) introduced the chairman of the meeting (Mr. E. P. Debenham), who, he said, had been connected with the Herts Association since its formation—and this was the jubilee year. Mr. Nash also stated that he had had apologies for absence from Mr. W. Ayre, who was just recovering from an operation, Mr. W. Cartmell (general secretary of the Herts Association), and Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham.

Mr. Debenham gave a warm welcome to the visitors, especially to Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson, of Surfleet, who, he hoped, would have a safe journey to Australia and back, and an enjoyable time. He requested Mr. Richardson to convey to their brother ringers in Australia greetings from the Hertford Association. Mr. Debenham also welcomed to the meeting members of the Middlesex Association, and said that he understood that Mr. A. W. Coles had now come to reside at North Mimms. He hoped he would be a magnet to draw the best ringers to that district.

Mr. Richardson said it gave him and his wife great pleasure to meet members of the Herts and Middlesex Association, and he promised to convey Mr. Debenham's message to Australian ringers.

Mr. C. T. Coles, speaking on behalf of Middlesex members, thanked Mr. Debenham for his warm welcome; and also asked Mr. R. Richardson to include them of Middlesex in his greetings to their southern friends. Mr. Coles spoke of the present-day opportunities of ringing, and said it was a good thing to see expert peal ringers present at meetings, such as they had that day, to assist learners to master their art. It was not the fault of the experts if the young ringers failed to take full advantage of the opportunities given to them, and the opportunities were to-day much greater than they were, say, 30 years or so ago. Mr. Coles also stated that he was pleased to see his friend, Mr. W. H. Hewett, present, as it was Mr. Hewett who first put into his mind the idea of holding these joint meetings, which had proved so successful and so enjoyable.

Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president, Middlesex Association) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. L. Buxton) for the use of the bells and for his address, and to Miss Nash, the organist.—This was seconded by Mr. H. E. Goodenough, and carried unanimously.—In the absence of the Vicar, who had had to leave during tea, Mr. Nash replied, and the meeting terminated.

Grandsire Caters and Double Norwich Major followed on handbells, whilst a further visit was paid to the old tower for touches of 'rounds,' Grandsire, Stedman and several other methods up to Bristol Surprise Major.

Bachelor members of the Exercise were present in good numbers, evidently to see how their late, and now lost, brother was getting on as a newly-married man. It is confidently expected that at least two more of them will shortly take the plunge. Kate had better hurry up or she will miss her chance.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The July meeting was held at Drighlington on Saturday week. Drighlington is an ideal place for a summer meeting, and ringing, which commenced soon after 3 p.m., was continued, except for the usual rests, until 9 p.m.

Tea was provided in a nearby cafe, and the business meeting was held in the tower. Mr. S. Barron (vice-president) presided, and members were present from Armley, Batley, Birstall, Burley, Earlsbeaton, Felkirk, Guiseley, Holbeck, Leeds Parish Church, Ossett, Rothwell, Shipley, and the local company.

One new member was elected, viz., Mr. W. E. Ramsden, of Drighlington.

The best thanks of the society were accorded the Vicar and churchwardens of Drighlington for the use of the bells and to the local company for the other arrangements.

The local ringers are to be congratulated upon the furnishings of the ringing room.

Mr. S. Barron replied on behalf of the local company.

The date of the next meeting is August 25th, and is due to be held at Calverley.

THE INGREDIENTS OF AN OUTING PARTY.

A facetious correspondent sends us the following account of a very successful outing:—

On Saturday, July 21st, a party made up of eight or nine pieces of well-seasoned 'Wood' from Queenborough, half a dozen Dobbs of Steel from Sittingbourne, a few other ingredients from Borden, Milsted and Gillingham, well mixed and flavoured with 'a strong dose of Spice' from Tunstall, made a suitable company to raid the following churches and their bells, viz.: Chilham, Wye, Folkestone, Tenterden, Leeds and Hollingbourne, the ringing including Grandsire, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Treble Bob, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise.

TENTERDEN'S FINE TOWER.

The journey provided lovely scenery the whole of the way round. A beautiful new set of handbells from Queenborough was made good use of at intervals, especially in the old village square at Chilham, and on the green at Wye. A basket of cherries from the Tunstall orchards did a good turn, as also did some of 'Kent's best' at Wye and Folkestone, with the home-made sandwiches.

The sport began on reaching Tenterden. There we found we were forestalled in the tower by a party of Ashfordians and Romney-marshers, so we promptly made up our minds to forestall them in the tearoom close by and brace ourselves up for some more Cambridge and Stedman, when the others had finished and invited us to make room for them in the tearoom, to criticise, etc. Any old how, we very much enjoyed meeting these old friends, and they enjoyed it, too.

Stedman Caters at Leeds and Cambridge Minor at Hollingbourne, and then a strenuous climb up Hollingbourne Hill to 'Home, sweet home' by 10 p.m.

CORNISH PROGRESS.

At Manaccan, Cornwall, for matins on Sunday, 120 Grandsire Doubles: E. Cossentine 1, H. Ninnies 2, Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram, C.M.G., D.S.O., 3, R. Tripconey 4, J. Ninnies (conductor) 5, J. Vague 6. The first 120 ever rung by a local band for service in this church. The band only commenced change ringing this year, with the assistance of Col. Jerram.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I was pleased to see Item two in Belfry Gossip regarding the above. Why is it more of the Plain Major methods are not rung? My answer is, firstly, the word 'Surprise' does not follow the name of the method, and the few Surprise (mutilated Cambridge, etc.) ringers would consider it beneath their dignity to ring such common stuff, even if they were capable of ringing the most simple ones in the collection. Such a thing as beautiful music in plain methods does not enter their satiated Surprise mind.

It seems a great pity that methods could not be renamed, or, I should say, the word 'Surprise' deleted when publishing accounts of peals.

One is almost looked upon as a lunatic for suggesting a peal in a musical plain method. This is the experience of

LEYTON 'JUNIORS' IN HERTFORDSHIRE.

On Saturday, July 21st, Leyton ringers held their sixth annual outing. Soon after mid-day the party, including the assistant clergyman (Rev. J. Bromley) and the two churchwardens (Messrs. H. Colbeck and J. McCambie), left by road for Cheshunt, where on arrival Mr. Pickett and Mr. Newnham had the bells in readiness. Grandsire and Stedman were rung with Mr. A. J. House and one or two visiting ringers joining in. The next 'hop' was to Ware, where Mr. Greenaway met the party at the church. After a moment's hesitation at the very steep steps leading to the belfry, the oldest member of the party was soon climbing aloft. Two or three of the stalwarts then proceeded to raise the tenor, which required quite an effort, but the bells were soon going to Grandsire, etc., all having a pull on this fine old peal. The party (numbering 25) sat down to a splendidly served tea at 1, Baldock Street. Afterwards a few remarks were made by the Rev. J. Bromley and others, and then the company set off to Broxbourne, where on this very fine peal. Grandsire and call changes for some of the younger members were rung. The remainder of the time was spent in this very picturesque village, and Mr. Frank Hull having brought his handbells, good use was made of them. Although the ringing during the day was not of a high standard, it gave the members some useful experience of much heavier bells than they have been accustomed to. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World' thanks are extended to the clergy of the respective churches for the use of the bells and to those who kindly met the visitors at the towers and had the bells ready for them.

DEATH OF HELMINGHAM RINGER.

MR. TED LANHAM PASSES ON.

We are sorry to have to record the loss by death from the Helmingham company of ringers of Mr. Ernest Edward (Ted) Lanham, who was buried in Helmingham Churchyard during the afternoon of July 28th. The Rev. J. A. Burness conducted the funeral service, and the body was borne to the grave by four brother ringers, Messrs. G. Pryke, G. Bennett, L. C. Wightman and T. W. Last.

After the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave on the handbells he always loved so well. In the evening a half-muffled peal was rung by the local company as a token of deep respect.

The deceased had been a member of the Helmingham company for 35 years, and was a good ringer in all methods. He had rung 111 peals altogether for the Norfolk and Suffolk Guilds, his last peal having been one of Bosmere Surprise Major on September 14th, 1933. He had continued ringing practice until a few weeks ago, when failing health and eyesight prevented him from continuing any longer. He died in the East Suffolk and Ipswich Hospital on July 25th in his 59th year. He will be missed greatly by all, and especially by his brother ringers, and his place will be hard to fill.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Alfriston on Saturday, July 21st, when about 30 members attended from Eastbourne (St. Saviour's and St. Mary's), Hastings (All Saints'), Mayfield, Rotherfield, Lindfield, Seaford, Battle, and members of the local band. Mr. Piper, of Eastbourne, was also present. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. G. Rudd), who gave a most interesting address.

A splendid tea was provided at the historical Star Inn. At the short business meeting which followed, the Vicar occupied the chair, and referred to the death of Mr. A. E. Amies, who had been the secretary of St. Leonard's band for a good many years. As a mark of respect the whole company stood in silence for a few moments.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for presiding at the tea and meeting, and also to Mr. Piper, of Eastbourne, for bearing the cost of the tea.—This concluded the meeting, and the ringers returned to the tower and kept the bells going till eight o'clock.

Alfriston has a ring of six bells in a central tower, the ringing being done from the floor of the church.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. J. H. Haydock, late secretary of the Rossendale Branch of the Lancashire Association, wishes to thank all his ringing friends for their kindness and the sum of £11 16s. 6d. which was collected on his behalf. Mr. Haydock is, unfortunately, now almost blind.

Will any ringer who has been appointed as a delegate to the Triennial Conference of the United Patriots' National Benefit Society, to be held at Weston-super-Mare the first week in September, please communicate with Mr. W. Keeble, Adsum Cottage, Rye Lane, Feering, Kelvedon, Essex?

Among the peal records this week are two in which a number of Minor methods have been spliced into seven extents. One is a peal in 18 methods rung at Burbage, Buxton, Derbyshire, and the other in 20 methods at Felkirk.

This form of peal ringing is slowly growing in popularity. It can hardly be expected, perhaps, that it will be taken up generally, because so many ringers seem to have an objection to the mental energy necessary for the purpose. But they would find it very interesting—and not insuperably difficult if they would practise it.

The way in which it can be done is shown in 'Method Splicing', which can be obtained from 'The Ringing World' Office, for 1s. 3d. post free.

A special meeting of ringers is to be held at Southwell Minster on August 11th in connection with the celebrations of the jubilee of the diocese. All ringers in the diocese are specially invited. Details of the arrangements will be found in our notice columns.

The bells at Quex Park, Kent, a peal of twelve, were opened on August 5th, 1819. Shipway went there as instructor.

A peal of Surprise Minor was rung at Witham-on-the-Hill, Lincs, on Saturday. The previous and only known peal on these bells was rung 44 years ago—a peal of Bob Minor. We are informed that the bell hanger is sadly needed at this tower, as the bells have to be forced at every blow.

'Is there a record of Kent Treble Bob Major?' asks Mr. Robert Sperring. Yes, of course there is, and surely Mr. Sperring knows all about it, seeing that he was the conductor of it, and that only a fortnight ago there was a reminder of it in our columns in a footnote to a peal at Christleton rung to commemorate it, in which Mr. Sperring took part.

The peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Peter's Church, Pontre Rhudda, on July 14th, was rung for the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association.

Miss Phyllis Tillett, of Ipswich, has sprung into fame at her place of employment. Her bellringing achievements, and particularly the fact that she took part in the youngsters' record peal at Crayford, are the subject of an article in the 'Orwell Works Magazine', a particularly interesting publication of varied contents, issued for the propagation of a feeling of goodwill and friendliness amongst the employees of the Orwell Works.

The article is illustrated by the photograph of the youthful band, taken at Crayford by Mr. F. E. Dawe, and published in 'The Ringing World.' It also reminds readers that Miss Tillett is the sixth generation of her family to take up the art of ringing, and that both her father and grandfather are employed at the Orwell Works.

Last Saturday a band of Ernests rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Galleywood, Essex, and we are asked to thank those who helped to arrange the peal.

The peal at Milford-on-Sea on July 18th, and recorded in our last issue, was the first peal in the method on the bells.

We are pleased to say that Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, who is suffering from shingles in the face, is making steady, if slow, progress towards recovery.

OAK BELL FRAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having noted comments in 'The Ringing World' lately regarding the 'go' of certain peals recently rehung in wooden frames, we would like to emphasize that during the first year or two of the life of an oak frame the bells must be regularly gone over and properly tightened up, to take up the shrinkage which inevitably occurs, and which is naturally greater after a dry spell of weather such as has been experienced this summer. The same thing applies to bells rehung with wooden headstocks. The bellhanger is in no way to blame when this screwing up is neglected.

COLLECTION OF SURPRISE METHODS.

PARTICULARS WANTED OF METHODS RUNG.

Will those who have taken part in the first peal of any Surprise Major method kindly forward full particulars of the performance, including the composition, if known, and a lead of the method, to Mr. Ernest O. S. Turner, 65, Kingsley Avenue, West Ealing, W.13? The particulars are required by the Methods Committee of the Central Council for the collection of Surprise Major methods, which is now in course of preparation.

TROWBRIDGE'S RING OF TWELVE. DEDICATION OF THE NEW PEAL.

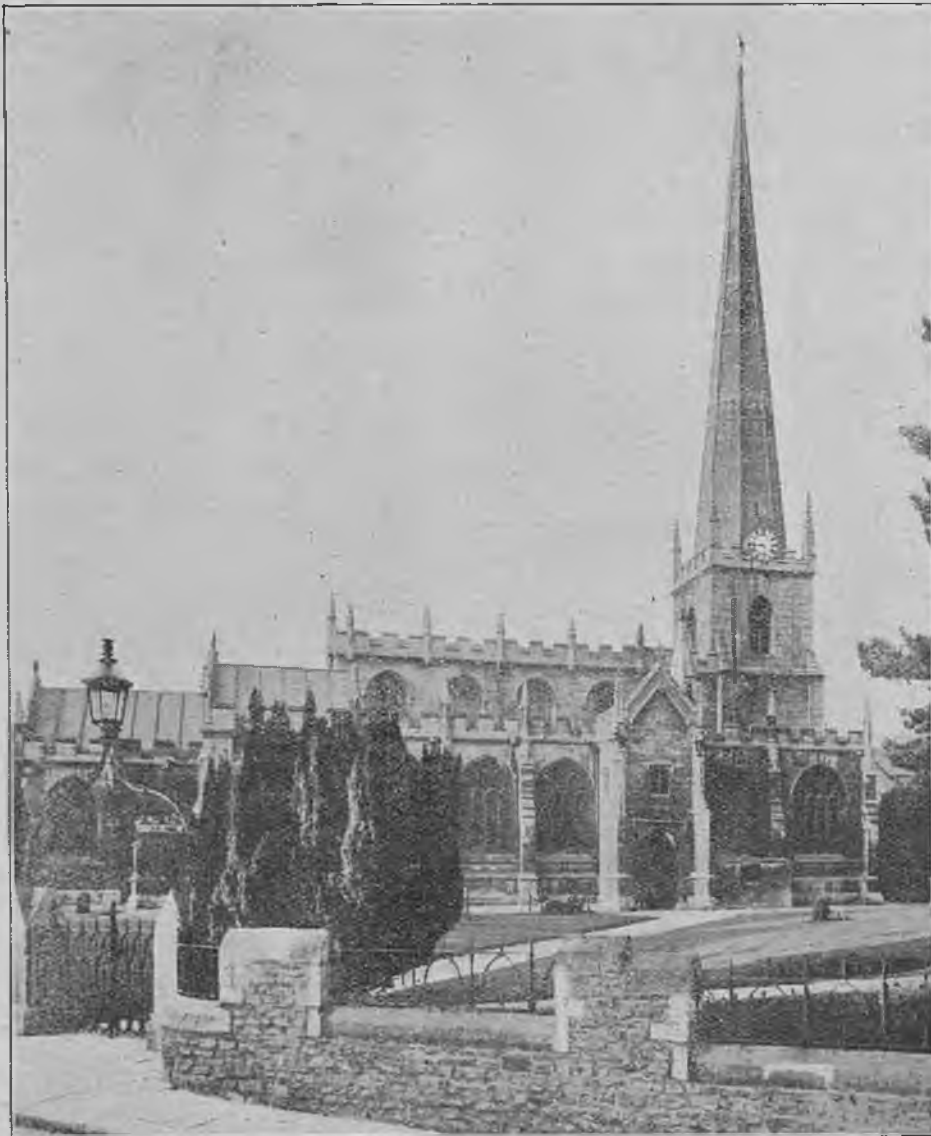

By a wonderful demonstration of civic and religious unity the bells of Trowbridge Parish Church have been recast, augmented and rehung to become the first ring of twelve in Wiltshire. In their love of the church, which represents the centre of religious life in the town, all classes and creeds have joined in this great work, and Trowbridge now boasts of a very fine ring of bells.

Originally there was a peal of eight bells in the tower, cast in 1800 by James Wells, of Aldbourn, Wilts. In 1912, Llewellyns and James, of Bristol, recast the two trebles and tenor and rehung the peal, and, in 1923, added two more bells to make a ring of ten.

no time was lost in placing the order. In addition, Mr. T. C. Usher, chairman of Usher's Wiltshire Brewery, Ltd., generously offered to defray the cost of a new clock and chimes.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. have provided Trowbridge with a very fine peal of bells, and Messrs. Smith and Co., of Derby, have installed one of their latest clock mechanisms.

The completed work was dedicated on Wednesday of last week by the Lord Bishop of Salisbury at a memorable service attended by so large a congregation that it had to be relayed to large numbers in the churchyard who were unable to gain admission to the church. Among the congregation were the Marquis of Bath, K.G. (chairman of the Wiltshire County Council), Brigadier-General Harding-Newman, C.M.G., D.S.O. (the High Sheriff), Mr. R. V. Grimston, Mem-

ST. JAMES' CHURCH, TROWBRIDGE,

These bells have now been recast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, with sufficient new bell metal added to make a ring of twelve bells, the tenor of which weighs 24 cwt. 2 qr. 18 lb. An entirely new framework has been erected, and provision made in the framework for the priest's bell.

The work has been made possible by generous gifts of private individuals and business firms. When the scheme of restoration of the bells, which had been silent for some time owing to trouble with the bearings, was launched at a town's meeting, great enthusiasm was aroused, the various bells were allotted for adoption and the money required for the complete scheme was so quickly within reach that ber of Parliament for the Westbury Division of Wiltshire, Sir Walter Alcock, organist of Salisbury Cathedral and composer of the Trowbridge Chimes, Sir Reginald Blake, the Rev. R. H. Gundry, Master of the Diocesan Guild of Ringers, Mr. Denison Taylor, of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, the Trowbridge magistrates, with Mr. W. N. Haden, their chairman; the Trowbridge Urban District Council, with Mr. H. H. Dyer, their chairman; Mr. T. C. Usher, who gave to the church its new clock and chimes; the Town Bells Committee; representatives of the firms who had adopted bells; those families and individuals who had adopted bells (all Friends of the Bells), and with them hundreds of other friends of the bells.

The service opened with the hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell' as a processional. Among the clergy who took part were the Rev. Percy Nash, a former Rector, during whose incumbency the bells were increased to a ring of ten, and the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Guild.

BISHOP AND WORLD'S NEED.

The Bishop, taking as his text the 96th Psalm, verse 2, 'Be telling of His salvation from day to day,' said that was a great civic, social and religious function for Trowbridge. 'Never in our lifetime have we felt the need of deliverance and salvation more than we do in the world to-day,' he said. Much of the trouble they were suffering in the world to-day was due to themselves. Christian people believed, however, that there was a salvation for man.

'What the world wants to-day is not a scheme of disarmament, not more education and enlightenment in many of the things that have gone wrong, such as monetary and commercial troubles—all those things might be necessary—but deliverance from sin. Sin seems to be a word not fit for publication to-day, but until we face that fact we shall not appreciate there is salvation ready for us. This salvation is for all families and households, the nation and the world, if only it can be applied. The mandate which I want to impress upon your minds is to tell out His salvation from day to day, not only clergy and officials, but every single man. It is our human duty to let everyone know, to spread the news to the rising generations, and to realise that we must bear our witness.'

'This is a great occasion for Trowbridge,' continued the Bishop. 'If we look through history I think we shall find that bells always have been an important feature in the towns where they are heard.' He well remembered that almost the first deputation he received in Australia many years ago was from five Englishmen in Queensland, who asked him to see that a peal of bells in a certain town was rung. The men said they hungered for the cheery sound of the bells because they reminded them of home. 'Those bells were rung eventually,' said the Bishop.

The Bishop said there were three reasons why bells held such a great importance. One was that bells formed a bond of unity: secondly, they represented the various occasions which came in the changes and events of life—joy-bells on great occasions, wedding bells, and bells of sorrow; and they formed one of the instruments for fulfilling the mandate given in the words of his text. The Bishop reminded the congregation that that was St. James' Day, and bell-ringing, if they looked upon it rightly, was a definite piece of Church and spiritual work. To all bellringers, whether they were of that church or any other, he would say 'sanctify your office by your own regular worship and taking care that you are definitely on that side.'

TROWBRIDGE BELLS A BOND OF UNITY.

'I think in Trowbridge these bells, and this service,' he said, 'form a special bond of unity, because the firms and commercial houses of the town have contributed towards these bells. In this work by the whole town, irrespective of denomination but simply as citizens, the people are combining to do something towards a definite spiritual end.' Referring to the division among churches and the effect it was having upon religious life, he added, 'We are beginning to feel such pressure from outside that it is time that we who follow in Christ should stand together, when the opposing forces of secularism and violation are so strong that we cannot afford to stand alone. And so I welcome this great occasion, where there is a definite demonstration to unite, which may lead to something better—a spiritual unity. With God's grace we can come together.' That occasion provided great encouragement to the regular workers in that church, which had been standing for centuries and was now coming into its own. 'It has a long and fine tradition of love and worship and teaching and good Christian work, and it is a great encouragement to feel you have all the neighbours in the town joining together with you, and I thank God. It means that you must be all the more ready to follow St. James and to take care that this church is telling out God's salvation from day to day.'

The dedication ceremony took place while the Bishop and clergy stood beneath the tower at the west end, the formal act being performed by the Bishop in the following words:—

'In the Name of God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit.' Amen.

'May He, Who, by His incarnation gathered into one things earthly and heavenly, gather the work of the bell founders and clock makers, and offering of His people into the consecrated building of St. James, Trowbridge, and may He, by this dedication, fill the souls of the faithful with His immortal spirit, that the sweetness of inward peace and goodwill may here abound to the glory of the Father.' Amen.

'In the faith of Christ we dedicate these Bells and Clock in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.' Amen.

The twelve bells were then heard for the first time, rung out in rounds by members of the local band.

The dedication concluded with the usual special prayers and the hymn, 'We praise Thy Name with one accord.'

Then, as the congregation left the church, three courses of Stedman Cinques were rung by ringers from Reading, Swindon, Bath, Bristol, St. Albans and the local band. In addition to the places mentioned ringers were present from Devizes, Melksham, Westbury and Bradford-on-Avon.

Our report of the Bishop of Salisbury's address is by courtesy of 'The Wiltshire Times.'

On Monday, there is to be a 'Ringers' Day' with ringing from 10.30 a.m. There will be a service at 4.30, at which Canon Coleridge will be the preacher.

INSCRIPTIONS ON BELLS.

The bells are perfect in tone and 'go,' the work having been carried out with the customary Taylor precision and care. The following inscriptions are on the bells, and they tell their own story:—

A WILTSHIRE RESTORATION.

BELLS REDEDICATED AT BRATTON.

On Saturday, July 28th, the ring of six bells (tenor 12 cwt.) at the Church of St. James-the-Great, Bratton, was rededicated, after having been to the foundry of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., to be cleaned, retuned and fitted with new bearings and iron headstocks. The bells have been rehung in the existing frame, which has been tightened and considerably strengthened with angle plates.

The ceremony was performed before a full congregation by the Ven. the Archdeacon of Dorset, assisted by the Vicar, the Rev. Seymour Collett. The Archdeacon gave the address, taking for his text St. Mark xi. 22, 'Have faith in God.' He said the great difficulties of life could only be overcome by faith, that mountains of trouble could be removed if people had more faith. He thanked the Vicar for allowing him to perform the ceremony, and congratulated the parishioners on providing the money, in a little under two months, to allow the work to be completed.

The Salisbury Diocesan Guild (Devizes Branch), at the invitation of the Vicar, held their monthly meeting in conjunction with the reopening, and were the guests of the Church Council at tea, which was held in the Institute. Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (branch chairman) presided. He paid a tribute to all those who laboured and worked to such an extent that this restoration had been made possible, the whole thing having been completed in less than two months, and he offered heartiest congratulations to all concerned.

There being little business to transact, the Chairman next proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for inviting the members to Bratton, to the Archdeacon for his most inspiring address, and to the Church authorities for providing such an excellent tea.

The Vicar, in response, said it was always a pleasure to have the Guild in his parish. He then went on to speak of the work which had been done in the tower by the bell founders, stating that Messrs. Gillett and Johnston had every reason to be proud of such an excellent job. He congratulated them most heartily, and thanked them for the courtesy he had received from all connected with the firm.

Mr. S. R. Roper, in reply, thanked the Vicar, and mentioned the help he had received from Mr. S. Hillier, the branch adviser, and Mr. Chapman, of the local ringers.

The ringers then returned to the tower, where ringing continued until nearly 9 p.m., all being loud in their praise and fully endorsing the Vicar's remarks both regarding the sound and 'go' of the bells.

The following towers were represented at the meeting: St. John's and St. Mary's, Devizes, Melksham, Trowbridge, Holt, Westbury, Rowde, Warminster, Kingston Magna, Wootton Bassett, Southbroom, Stourton, Croydon, Hampstead Norris and Stalbridge. The following methods were rung: London, Cambridge and York Surprise Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Plain Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandshire Doubles. A band of ladies of the branch, with the 'light weight' on the tenor, rang some excellent rounds.

Before leaving the precincts of the church, the following rang a course of Grandshire Caters over the resting place of the late Mr. B. Cook, a vice-chairman of the branch for many years: G. Winter 1-2, C. D. Heginbotham 3-4, S. Roper 5-6, S. Hillier 7-8, F. Green 9-10.

Thus closed an eventful day, which will be long remembered by all who were present.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DORCHESTER BRANCH ACTIVITIES.

There was a very happy gathering of about 50 present at the quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch held at Bradford Peverell on Thursday of last week. The ringers obtained some useful practice, and special attention was given to the local men to enable them to obtain some half-pull ringing.

The service was very bright. It was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. F. Godley), the singing being led by the organist and choir. No formal address was given, but the Vicar from the chancel steps extended a very warm welcome to all, and pointed out the advantages of the Guild and the good work it was doing.

After the service all adjourned to The Cottage—the home of Miss L. R. Clapcott, a staunch supporter of the Guild, where tea was served on the lawn.

A short business meeting followed. In the absence of the chairman (Rev. E. S. Tarrant), Miss Clapcott was voted to the chair. The towers represented were Bradford Peverell, Charminster, Dorchester, Frampton, Sydling, Stratton, Upwey, Wool and Wyke Regis, and welcome visitors were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish, of Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire.

Mrs. Bacon, Miss Lock, and Miss E. Hussey were elected hon. members. Messrs. H. R. Butcher and W. J. Hack, of Crowbrough, Sussex, were elected life members.

The Secretary reported that the date of the next meeting, to be held in September at Wool, had not yet been fixed, but it would be announced in due course.

The Chairman gave a very hearty welcome to the visitors, and hoped they would enjoy their holiday in Dorset.

The Rev. A. S. Bryant (Upwey) proposed the usual vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist and choir, also the blower, and to Miss Clapcott and Mrs. Middleton, and friends for their hospitality in providing such a bountiful tea in such ideal surroundings.—This was seconded by the Rev. G. Wynne (Frampton) and carried by acclamation.

The Rev. A. S. Bryant also spoke on the great success that attended the Guild's fellowship gathering at Milton Abbey. The Chairman said she wished to associate herself with the remarks of the Rev. A. S. Bryant. It was a happy gathering they would all remember.

The Secretary, in proposing a vote of thanks to the chairman, said it was the first time they had a lady to take the chair, and she had conducted the meeting in an excellent manner.

The members again visited the tower and gave the local ringers further instruction. By special request, a party went on to Stratton to ring the bells there, and afterwards to Dorchester to spend the rest of the evening in ringing some nice touches on the eight bells of St. Peter's Church.

On Saturday, July 21st, a combined practice with the Wimborne Branch was held at Wyke Regis. The bells were raised in peal just after three, and touches were practised up to evensong, when the members adjourned for tea. Returning again to the tower, they continued the good work. The bells were lowered in peal after all had had a good practice and a very happy afternoon.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

GOOD WISHES TO AUSTRALIAN TOURISTS.

A quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Titchfield on Saturday, July 21st, when members attended from Alverstoke, Fareham, Gosport, Havant, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Soberton, Swanmore, Titchfield and Wickham. The Guild's service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar (Rev. G. S. Morley) officiated and addressed those present. Tea was partaken of in the Parish Hall, after which the business meeting was held, the Vicar being voted to the chair.

The Vicar was elected an honorary member of the Guild, and the following were elected ringing members: G. Barton, E. Irish (Havant), L. Pearson (Portsea), and E. Linter (Soberton).

Cardridge was selected for the next quarterly meeting to be held on Saturday, October 20th.

Mr. F. W. Rogers (general secretary) referred to the forthcoming tour in Australia, and on behalf of the Portsmouth District wished the two members representing the Guild (Rev. E. B. James and Mr. W. Linter) an enjoyable trip and a speedy and safe return.

Mr. W. Linter gave a brief outline of the proposed tour, and thanked the members for their good wishes.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and the Parish Hall, and for officiating at the service and business meeting.—The Vicar suitably responded, and invited the Guild to Titchfield at any time they liked to come.

The meeting then closed, and members returned to the tower for further ringing, which ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

DOVER, KENT.—On Sunday, July 8th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: Miss K. M. Bradford (Twickenham) 1, C. R. Millway 2, H. J. Saunders 3, R. T. Clark 4, E. J. Walker 5, H. Whitehead 6, C. Turner (conductor) 7, E. T. Ellender 8.

FIFTY PEALS IN 46 TOWERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is no uncommon thing in these days to read of a ringer 'completing the circle' or ringing most of his peals in the same few towers. On Saturday, July 21st, I completed my first 50 peals which, with the exception of three rung at Claybrook, Leics, two at Monks Kirby, Warwicks, and two at Harrington, Northants, have all been rung in different towers—46 in all. I imagine this to be something of a 'record,' and would like to enquire, through your columns, if there is any other ringer who has rung his first 50 peals in a greater number of towers.

Wellingborough.

P. AMOS.

A VISIT TO THE COTSWOLDS.

The Wicken and Stony Stratford ringers and friends this year visited the Cotswolds for their outing. Arriving at Fairford about 10 a.m., Mr. L. Smith joined the party and conducted the tour, having previously made the arrangements at the various towers. Fairford Church was visited, but the party were unable to ring here owing to the town having gone 'all carnival.' The first ringing was done at Watermoor, Cirencester, and after lunch at the Crown Hotel the party went on to Stroud, where they rung Stedman and Grandsire Caters. The famous peal of twelve at Painswick was the next objective, and here several of the visitors had their first ring on twelve bells. A course of Grandsire Cinques was rung, and a course of Stedman Cinques nearly came round. Afterwards some Caters, and the ringing finished with a good course of Cambridge Surprise Major. The journey was continued through Northleach, through very pleasant scenery. After tea a move was made to the tower, where on the good peal of eight Stedman, Double Norwich and London Surprise Major were rung. Returning to Fairford, a call was made en route to see a few old friends. The thanks of the ringers are due to the local people who met them at the various places visited.

WEDDING BELLS

At the Church of St. Giles, Willenhall, Staffordshire, on Sunday, July 29th, after morning service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: A. Evans 1, E. Hortin 2, I. Evans 3, R. Sidebotham (first quarter-peal 'inside') 4, W. T. Edge 5, L. G. Trubshaw 6, C. Wallater (conductor) 7, A. E. Reed 8. Arranged to celebrate the wedding of Miss Nellie Davies, the eldest daughter of Mr. John T. Davies, a member of the local band, to Mr. Frederick Fellows, of Willenhall. Also as a birthday compliment to Master Robert Giles Harrison, son of the Vicar, Rev. E. Harrison, M.C., M.A.

SPliced GRANDSIRE AND STEDMAN DOUBLES.

The following will probably be a change for those with only five bells. It consists of 120 Spliced Grandsire and Stedman. Start with Grandsire.

23456 Grandsire

Then a course of Stedman with a S at the end, making:—

S 4523
— 5243

41523
14532
14523

There are seven different 120's with the treble plain hunt in Grandsire, as you can turn to Stedman the first, second, third, fourth, fifth or sixth lead, or have Stedman first.

The first 120 was rung at Middleton Stoney recently, at a service for the Jersey Lodge of Freemasons by: V. Bennett 1, Miss M. Reynolds 2, W. Brigham 3, E. Hims 4, W. Judge 5, P. Walker 6.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Saturday, July 14th, at Great Linford, North Bucks, the bells were rung half-muffled, as a token of respect to the late Major C. W. Mead, who was churchwarden and a keen supporter of all organisations in the district. The ringing included 720 Grandsire Doubles: B. Abrahams 1, C. Sapwell (first 720) 2, H. Sear (conductor) 3, E. Whitlock 4, R. Howson 5, J. Mapley 6, and 720 Stedman Doubles: B. Abrahams 1, H. Lear 2, E. Whitlock (conductor) 3, E. Lathall 4, R. Howson 5, J. Mapley 6. First 720 of Stedman by ringers of treble, 4th, 5th and tenor.

THROUGH HERTFORDSHIRE LANES.

When the Heston, Middlesex, ringers, accompanied by their wives, families, and the Vicar, had their annual outing, illness and accident sadly depleted their ranks, but two members of the Ladies' Guild gallantly came to the rescue and made ringing possible. A start was made at 9 a.m. by motor coach, and after picking up a Royal Cumberland, his spouse and handbells, a course was set for Aldenham. The bells here were soon in action, while the children disported themselves on a playground nearby until turned off by an irate gentleman, as it was 'for parishioners only.' After an hour, a move was made to Bengeo, passing Lord Salisbury's beautiful estate at Hatfield en route. Half an hour's ringing sufficed at Bengeo, after which a hasty lunch was partaken of at what the Vicar described as a 'delightful place' about a mile further on. The inner man having been satisfied, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells on the very small green outside, followed by a few tunes.

The chauffeur then headed the coach for Baldock, and here the ringers found 'the goods.' Two striplings raised the 28 cwt. tenor, and among other methods a splendid touch of Bob Major on this deep and sonorous ring was successful. Time passed all too quickly. Bennington had to be found and ringing done there before tea, so with the help of much map and signpost reading the home of the Bob Major record came upon the travellers suddenly. Fortunately, no vehicle was met in a reputed 2½ miles of very narrow and tortuous lanes. The good-going eight were soon raised and in changes for about an hour, and after some members of the party had visited Squire Leonard Proctor's grave all made tracks for the old-world Bell inn, where tea was awaiting them.

This over, a refresher was taken in the garden, the handbells were brought out once again, and Grandsire Caters with more tunes were the order. Mine host, sensing good business, raided his hen roosts and secured a pail full of eggs, the greater part of which were soon sold. The photographer then got busy, and his tripod in the centre of the road outside the inn was a new kind of traffic signal to 'Stop.' With handbells and children in the front rank of the group, a charming picture should result.

Yet another tower remained on our programme, Knebworth, which is situated in Lord Lytton's park, and which is but a short ride from Bennington. The stately mansion and beautiful views were much admired, and while the ringers were handling the ropes the remainder of the visitors explored the church with its exquisite statuary to the Lytton family. About 8.30 a non-ringer (naturally) suggested there was a place called home. All then reluctantly left this ideal spot for a long (and almost dry) ride home.

The methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, Bob Major and (let it be whispered) Double Norwich. Heston ringers wish to thank most heartily all those who contributed to a successful outing.

HAPPY GATHERING AT RANMORE COMMON.

A very enjoyable meeting was held at Ranmore Common (one of Surrey's beauty spots) on Saturday, when the Leatherhead District of Guildford Diocesan Guild and the North-Western District of the Surrey Association held their annual combined meeting in ideal surroundings. A very good company gathered during the afternoon representative of both districts, with a number of visitors, and enjoyed the ringing on this lovely peal of bells. Ringing commenced about 3.30, and continued in various methods until five o'clock, when a party of 33 sat down to a welcome cup of tea. There being no business to transact, a move was again made to the tower, and the bells were kept going in various methods until 8.30, ranging from call changes to Bristol Surprise Major. Thanks are due for a very happy afternoon and evening to the Rector for the use of the bells; Mr. Dobbison, the local representative, for having everything in readiness; and to Mr. A. H. Smith, the Leatherhead district secretary of the Guildford Guild, for making all the arrangements for the comfort of the visitors.

WEDDING BELLS AT UTTOXETER, STAFFORD.

There was a quiet wedding at the Parish Church, St. Mary's, Uttoxeter, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. E. Charlton) recently, the bride being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Geo. Burrows, and the bridegroom the youngest son of the late Mr. W. Harvey and Mrs. Harvey. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. F. Harvey, brother of the bridegroom, being best man. The bride was unattended. A peal was rung in the afternoon, which was also a 21st birthday compliment to Miss Phyllis A. Burrows, sister of the bride, who is a member of St. Mary's band. The ringers very much appreciated the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Burrows after the peal.

ST. PETER MANCROFT GUILD.

On Saturday, July 21st, the members of St. Peter Mancroft Guild, Norwich, spent a very enjoyable half-day together on the occasion of their annual outing. Accompanied by the Vicar (Rev. H. McMullan) and friends, they journeyed to Woodbridge, Suffolk, via Fressingfield and Framlingham, where a short stay in each place enabled the party to have a touch on the bells. At the Bull Hotel, Woodbridge, an enjoyable tea was served, after which the ringers made their way to the belfry, and found a very beautiful peal of eight awaiting them. Two further calls were made at Leiston and Kelsale, the homeward route being via Halesworth, where a very pleasant hour was spent. Arrangements for the outing were made by Miss M. Robertson (hon. secretary) and Mr. B. Thompson (Ringing Master).

THE PLAIN-METHOD RINGER.

Few things have been more striking in the last few years of ringing than the expansion in the number of Surprise Major methods in which peals have been rung. It is all to the good that bands of ringers should break new ground. This variety in the methods rung in some quarters adds spice to the practice of those who take part, but why is it that this desire to ring new methods is almost entirely confined to Surprise ringers? There is a gap which could be filled between those who are capable of ringing these Surprise methods and those who are, and who seem content to remain, ringers of what we may term the Standard methods. The word 'Surprise' seems to frighten them, because they imagine it implies something beyond their reach. In two ways this is a mistaken attitude. There is no reason, first of all, why any average ringer of the so-called 'Standard' methods should not quickly reach the Surprise stage, if he will give the necessary time to the study of the methods and seek the opportunities of practice. There are few centres now where Surprise practice cannot be obtained at district meetings, even if there is no neighbouring tower which can boast of a Surprise ringing band.

But the second point is the primary object of this article. We want to emphasise what we have said many times before and was referred to by a correspondent last week. There is no need, and, in fact, no excuse for stagnation in any stage of change ringing. For those who cannot get Surprise ringing or who feel it beyond their capacity, there are infinite possibilities. For the plain method eight bell ringer there is the Council's 'Collection' which offers an enormous variety of Major methods, simple and not so simple. For instance, there is a range of fifteen between Plain Bob and Double Oxford, all of them more or less musical, all of them interesting, and leading by easy stages up to the point where the step to Surprise ringing is quite a natural one. Moreover, those methods are published not merely for peal ringers. They are equally intended for the use of those whose activities are confined to service ringing. These ringers would find as much interest in ringing service touches in these many different methods, as others would in ringing peals of them.

And apart from the increased interest which the practice of a variety of methods would give, the study of them would be likely to add vastly to their knowledge of the theoretical side of the art. Almost imperceptibly they would acquire a knowledge of method construction, which, as it grows, would enable them to pass on to ring more difficult things without undue effort. A band that can ring Bob Major tolerably well ought, with a winter's practice, to be able to ring several other plain methods equally well in touches if not in peals, and if they would make the effort they would find their interest growing apace. There is, however, one essential to progress. It is that these methods should be learned outside the belfry for application in the ringing chamber. It is because many ringers do not take this trouble that stagnation remains in innumerable towers. Progress in method ringing is possible not for peal ringers only, but for all who are interested in the art, however limited their opportunities.

RINGING IN NEW ZEALAND.

CHRISTCHURCH CATHEDRAL SOCIETY'S ACTIVITIES.

The annual meeting of the Christchurch Society, New Zealand, was held on Wednesday, June 13th.

The secretary's report for the year dealt with items of special interest to the ringing fraternity.

On July 8th, 1933, Sister K. A. Jutson, of the Church Army, was welcomed by the society and rang later in an excellent 720 Plain Bob Major.

On September 7th a half-muffled peal was rung as a mark of respect to the late Mr. T. Strange, a member of the Cathedral Chapter. During October and November regular practices were interrupted by a series of organ recitals.

Two prominent members of the society, Mr. J. R. de Lambert (secretary) and Mr. G. A. Lightband, were moved to other parts of New Zealand just after Christmas, and a new membership campaign was started. For this reason change ringing has not been possible for some months. But now the new men are being initiated into its intricacies.

The usual Christmas cake was donated to the St. Saviour's Orphanage, and a band of 10 handbell ringers spent a happy hour with the kiddies.

The ringing room was renovated before Christmas, but the question of new ropes is still held over owing to lack of funds.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Master, Mr. S. H. Barnett; Deputy Master, Mr. G. N. Sloan; secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. K. E. Witte.

The Chairman (the Very Rev. Dean Julius) congratulated the society upon weathering the severe strain of the loss of some of its members, and voiced his appreciation of the enthusiasm shown by the retiring Master (Mr. G. H. Claydon) and the rest of the band.

A very kind invitation was extended by his Lordship, Bishop West Watson, to a social gathering at Bishopscourt, and gratefully accepted. After the meeting Mrs. Julius kindly entertained the ringers to supper.

CUMBERLAND ASSOCIATION.

IMPROVED OUTLOOK.

The Cumberland Association is one of the ringing organisations faced with the difficulties of scattered towers, poor means of inter-communication and small membership, but good work is being done quietly, as will be seen from the following report of the hon. secretary (Mr. W. T. Holmes):—

In making my report of the past year's work, I am glad to say I can find a little more improvement in the association in many ways. There is a slight improvement in paid-up members, viz., 49 performing members, six life members and one hon. member, making in all 56 against 52 last year. Cash in hand also shows a slight improvement from £5 4s. 11d. to £5 16s. 5d. This was largely due to the making of six life members, who were touring the county and were made members previous to ringing peals for the association.

Meetings have been held at Crosthwaite, Egremont, Workington and Arlecdon. I should very much like to see a greater number at these quarterly meetings, as it is often the only means we have of ringing together and practising different methods than those we ring at home.

The annual ringing contest was held at Egremont, when Mr. Adam Deas acted as judge and gave the results as follows: No. 1, Egremont, rang 560 Grandsire Triples with 64 faults, and being the home team had 20 more added, making 84 in all; No. 2, Cockermouth, rang 720 Kent Minor with 42 faults; No. 3, Workington, rang 720 New London Pleasure with 100 faults; No. 4, Hensingham, rang 720 Plain Bob with 58 faults. No. 2 band, therefore, were judged the winners and entitled to hold the shield for the next 12 months, and also medals.

The feature of the year was the visit of some touring ringers who visited Westmorland and Cumberland and rang peals, eight of which were credited to the Cumberland Association.

It is to be hoped that this will be an incentive to more peal ringing in the county, and that the coming year will show a few peals of our own without any outside help.

We are looking with confidence to great improvement in trade, which will mean that ringers will have a better opportunity of pursuing their favourite pastime, as most are of the artisan class and have been very hard hit by the recent depression in trade.

I should like to mention, before I close, the octocentenary of the Carlisle Diocese, which was celebrated last year. We had hoped to mark it by a peal board recording the ringing of a peal in its honour. Two attempts were made, one of Grandsire Triples at Cleator Moor, which came to an end by a change course, and one of Kent Major at Cockermouth, when a rope slipped the wheel and brought it to an untimely end. Both were very good attempts and very unfortunate not to be successful.

In conclusion I wish to thank all those who have helped the association in any way, either financially or otherwise, and hope the coming year will find us in a stronger position than we have been for these past few years.

WITHAM BELLS, Lincs.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read in 'The Ringing World' of August 3rd that the peal of Surprise Minor rung at Witham-on-the-Hill, Lincs, was supposed to be the only peal on the bells for 44 years. There was a peal of Bob Minor on them in January, 1905, and one on September 12th, 1908, and a peal in seven methods in February, 1909. I took part in all three peals.

It is quite right that the Witham bells want the bell hanger. They are a fine peal of six, the product of the Downham Market Foundry, supposed to be cast from metal taken from the front five bells of Peterborough Cathedral at the time Dobson recast the 9th, which now, alas, is the 4th. They sold the front five of the peal of 10, cast by Henry Penn, Edenham, out of the four back bells of the old ten at Peterborough.

Edenham.

ARTHUR I. HOLMES.

A HALF-DAY IN MID-KENT.

The fourth annual half-day 'run round' of the Wellesborough and District Youths took place on Saturday, July 28th. Starting at one o'clock in splendid weather, the four took the ringers through 60 miles of delightful scenery, with five hours' ringing spread over five towers. Six methods were rung, including rounds for the beginners. The places of call were Chart Sutton, Boughton Monchelsea, Hunton, Yalding (where tea was partaken of), and Frittenden. The Youths desire to thank the respective incumbents and Messrs. Potter (Boughton Monchelsea), Brooker (Yalding) and Baker (Frittenden) for their assistance in making this excursion so enjoyable.

FIRST ON THE BELLS

The first quarter-peal on the bells at Rousham, Oxon, was rung on Saturday, June 30th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles, by: Harry Adams 1, W. Baggett 2, Herbert Adams 3, F. W. Pritchett (conductor) 4, G. Cuss 5, E. Sherwood (first quarter-peal) 6. The bells have recently been rehung on ball bearings by T. Bond, of Burford, the 'go' of them being excellent.

'BOW BELLS' THE 'MOUTHPIECE OF LONDON.'

HOW THE B.B.C. ADOPTED THE INTERVAL SIGNAL.

An interesting article in the 'Radio Times' tells how the B.B.C. came to adopt the record of Bow Bells—now intimately known to listeners the world over—as an interval signal. Says 'O. J. W.' the writer:—

Turn again, Whittington,
Lord Mayor of London.

Thus did Bob Bells solve the problem which was troubling young Richard Whittington; and now they have come to the rescue of the B.B.C.

The ticking of the Metronome was a dreary sound. A Metronome, as the remedy for musicians with a defective sense of time, could hardly be regarded as a noble instrument. While if it resembled any other sound it was the noise of the Death-Watch Beetle, an insect which no one wants to commemorate.

But a substitute was not easy to find. It must, so it was said, typify in some way the Life of England. It must not be so tuneless as not to bear constant repetition, nor so tuneless as to offend at a single hearing.

What, then, are the emblems of English Life? The Lion? Plainly impossible, being a spasmodic sound, in itself not unlike an atmospheric, and unsuitable for tuning. Besides, it might not be appreciated by listeners in Africa.

The Unicorn having unfortunately become extinct before the invention of gramophone records, there remain only the Rose and the Roast Beef. But the Rose obstinately refused to make any noise at all, even when coaxed with the 'cello, and it was thought that the intermittent sizzling of a Baron of Beef might create unseasonable appetites.

Even the crash of the waves and the wail of the seagulls were tried, but without success.

Then someone suggested Bow Bells.

Scientifically, a peal of bells is the compromise between a tune and a mere rhythm, and so avoids the disadvantages of both. And if it is a monotonous sound, it is a form of monotony which people have chosen to endure for the best part of a thousand years.

The sentimental qualifications of Bow Bells are even greater. Far more venerable than Big Ben, the peal is second only to the Westminster chimes in fame. For thousands of people have heard of Bow Bells who are doubtful whether Great Tom is at Oxford or Cambridge, and are ignorant even of the existence of Great Paul.

As Richard Whittington sat by the roadside at Holloway, tired and dejected, his conscience and his courage told him to go back. They spoke through the voice of London, and the voice of London was Bow Bells. All the way from Cheapside, across the fields of Islington, they carried.

'Turn again, Whittington,' they said; and he did.

The story is a legend. True, Richard Whittington was thrice Lord Mayor of London about the year 1400. But that is all. He was no orphan from the West Country seeking wealth in the city whose streets he had heard were paved with gold. He was never a scullion in a rich merchant's kitchen. He was never knighted. He hadn't even a cat.

But nobody minds about the accuracy of the tale—any more than they mind seeing the pantomime Dick mincing on to the stage in high-heeled, silk shoes, which couldn't last out the length of Leadenhall Street, much less all the way to Holloway. Indeed, its aptitude, at any rate as the reason for the Interval Signal, lies in the very fact that it is a legend.

It first appeared in the year 1605, and shows at an early date that very English approval of a man who rises from nothing to greatness, from a penniless orphan to the first citizen of London. It shows also the need for tenacity of purpose, which the Elizabethans were the first to demonstrate, and which has been the pride of Englishmen ever since.

The men who elaborated the legend in the seventeenth century choose Bow Bells to be the mouthpiece of London. What could be more suitable, therefore, than that they should speak for London again? That legendary day, about 1380, was really the first S O S broadcast from London. Poor dispirited Dick heard a voice saying that there had been 'missing from his home in Leadenhall Street, a young man, Richard Whittington; fair hair, blue eyes, medium height, with a large red handkerchief and a black cat; he had lately been suffering from depression.'

So to-day London calls to the provinces and to the Dominions through the voice of Bow Bells, now louder, now softer, just as it came to Richard Whittington over the fields of Islington.

A BROTHERLY QUARTER-PEAL.

At St. Mary's Church, Southampton, on August 5th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,296 changes): Raymond Curtis (first quarter-peal on 10 bells) 1, H. Payne 2, A. E. Newman 3, Roland Curtis (first quarter 'inside') 4, O. Neville Curtis 5, A. Butler 6, F. Mursell 7, H. Reeves 8, J. Faithfull (conductor) 9, P.C. Reginald Curtis (first quarter-peal on ten) 10. Arranged for the four Curtis brothers, who learnt their ringing at St. Mary's, but have never had an opportunity until now of ringing together.

FROM BEDFORDSHIRE TO GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

DUNSTABLE PRIORY CHURCH RINGERS' OUTING.

The Dunstable Priory Church ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, July 28th. A party of 23, including the Rector, the Rev. H. A. Griffith, and curate, Rev. H. G. R. Hill, Miss Evelyn Steel and several ringing friends, set off at 7 a.m. for Cirencester, with ringing at two towers on the way. Abingdon, 47 miles distant, was reached at 9.20. Here the ten bells at St. Helen's were rung to a good touch of Grandsire Caters, followed by Stedman Triples, Cambridge Surprise Major, and Treble Ten. Everything attempted here was well rung, and was a good start for the day. After thanks to Mr. A. E. Lock, another stage of the journey was begun, and Fairford, Glos, 25 miles distant, was reached after a lovely run via Faringdon. The glorious church was inspected with keen interest. The bells are a very nice ring, rung from the centre of the chancel, with a very long draught. However, a good course of Superlative Surprise, Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung. The party were met by Canon Jones and Mr. J. Hope, to whom thanks were given. Dinner at Cirencester was the next objective, and after a welcome repast the Parish Church was invaded, the bells here being available from 1.45 to 2.30, and this was the first visit to a 12-bell tower. And what a tower! Opinion among the visitors seemed to be divided as to the merits of this and Warwick. However, the back eight bells were raised in peal and the 12 rung to some very creditable rounds, followed by some well-struck Stedman Caters. A course of Grandsire Cinques was attempted, and all went well until the last lead, when it 'went west.' But the attempt was worth it. Time was strictly limited, and the bells were rung down. It was pleasing to the party to receive the congratulations of Mr. F. J. Lewis on their ringing. The church was then inspected with great interest, the Rector being a good guide. A photograph of the party was taken. Watermoor bells were available for the rest of the afternoon, and most of the party availed themselves of ringing on this nice, easy going eight. Rumour had it that some of the party had been found asleep in the park, but the energetic members enjoyed ringing Double Norwich, Stedman Triples, and Little Bob Major.

Tea (at which the Vicar of Cirencester joined the party) was next disposed of, and, after thanking the Vicar and Mr. F. J. Lewis for their welcome, the coach was boarded for the homeward run, via Bibury and Burford, with a call at Witney, where permission for ringing from 7 to 8 p.m. had been readily given. Here the party were met by Mr. J. Monk, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Little Bob Major, and Cambridge Surprise were rung. At 8.15 the last lap was begun, and Dunstable reached at 10.45, after a most enjoyable day, thanks to everybody, clergy and friends, who met the party at every tower.

EXETER RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On Saturday, July 28th, the ringers of St. Thomas, Exeter, held their annual outing. They were accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. G. B. Nicholls) and some of the ringers' wives, together with at least one ringer's sweetheart and other ringing friends. They left St. Thomas' Church at 1.35 p.m. for Combe Martin, passing en route through South Molton and the lovely Bray valley, the scenery being much admired. A little breeze was experienced when passing over the moorlands, hats being discarded or firmly held. Passing on via Blackmoor Gate, a glorious view of the noted Hangman Hills, together with miles of the surrounding country, could be obtained. Gradually descending, the party duly arrived at their first place of call, Combe Martin, where they were met by Messrs. J. Saunders and A. Haywards. The bells were soon set going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and rounds for the learners, while the ladies paid a visit to some friends. The next call was Ilfracombe (Parish Church), where they were met by Mr. Sprague, also Mr. Truman and his son. Here, again, in the short time allowed, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and rounds were rung. Owing to a service, the ringing had to be cut short. A splendid meat tea was afterwards much enjoyed by all, and a vote of thanks was accorded to those concerned in making the outing arrangements. The Vicar said it was most encouraging to see how the older members were helping on the younger ones, and it was a credit to St. Thomas' to have such young men as they had in their band. He expressed his thanks for the work which they were doing. The party then broke up for an hour to visit the seaside and other places of interest. At 7.30 the journey was resumed to Braunton, where the Rev. — Prince (at one time Vicar of St. Thomas') was waiting to welcome the party. He afterwards explained the chief points of interest in this wonderful old church. Eventually steps were made to the belfry, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, also rounds, were rung. The journey was then resumed to Umberleigh, where a halt was made for refreshments, and the secretary opened his secret parcel. The company did full justice to the good things it contained. The homeward journey was continued to the accompaniment of songs, etc., and the Ever Faithful city was safely reached at 11.15 p.m., after another successful outing, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The writer would like to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents of the churches, and also those who met the visitors and had everything in readiness.

MR. 'Q'—THE MYSTERY MAN. WHO HE IS AND WHAT HE DOES.

By QUICK SIX.

Among many ringers 'Mr. Q' is looked upon as a mystery man. Who he is and what he does is completely unknown to them. They hear about him occasionally, but dismiss him with a shrug of the shoulders as being no concern of theirs. They don't know him; they are not sure that he is nice to know, and yet 'Mr. Q' controls the truth of most of the peals they ring. He is the amateur composer's bugbear and until they know where to look for the pitfalls he sets them they traverse a laborious and unprofitable road.

'Mr. Q' is only a soubriquet. No one, I think, knows his real name. He is an elderly gentleman who was certainly known to William Shipway, and even John Holt must have had some acquaintance with him. But they never called him by name. When Holt and Shipway were composing peals, 'Mr. Q' would bob up unexpectedly at awkward moments and throw some of their best laid plans out of gear. Eventually, however, they learned how to counteract the tricks he had in his basket, so to speak, and actually to turn them to their advantage. And that is what every composer has to learn to do, if he wants to get true peals and save himself much useless labour.

It was Mr. W. H. Thompson, a former scholar of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, who dubbed the mystery man, by the initial, Q—I have only prefixed the 'Mr.' to show him that respect which, awkward as he may be at times, seems to be his due. Mr. Thompson, who was a mathematician and not a ringer, was, in the early eighties of last century, investigating, from a purely scientific standpoint, the possibility of producing a peal of Grandsire Triples with common bobs only and one of the things which Mr. Thompson found himself up against was the limitation imposed by certain conditions, which compelled certain sets of figures being produced either entirely by plained leads or entirely by bobbed leads; that is to say if one row in a particular set of five was produced by a plain lead, then all the other rows of the set had to be produced by plain leads; or, if one row in the set was produced by a bob lead, then all the other rows had to be produced by bob leads.

To these interlocked blocks of rows Mr. Thompson applied the designation 'Q sets,' not because the letter Q has any special virtue or application to the point in question, but because, to the scientific mind, it served the purpose as well as any other.

Two things Mr. Thompson definitely did for composers of Grandsire Triples as a result of the discovery of the Q set principle. He showed them what to do and how to do it, and he showed them what they could not do. And one of the things he showed them they could not do was to knit the 360 blocks—each consisting of a lead—into one true and complete peal by joining them together with plain leads and bobs only. But that is a part of the story which is beyond the intention of this article.

All that we are immediately concerned with is the influence of 'Mr. Q.' Shipway knew the application of Q sets, for he wrote: 'It is in this method (Grandsire) necessary to call or omit five; for if 234567 is called so must 346572, and then 467523 which causes 672534 to be called; and this requires 723546. In like manner, if one be omitted so must the five.' In this connection Shipway means by 'called' a bobbed lead and by 'omitted' a plain lead.

The explanation briefly is this: 1234567 can come from two lead ends, viz., 1246375 by a plain lead, or from 1467352 by a bob. Similarly 1346572 can come from 1367425 by a plain lead or from 1672453 by a bob; and so on for the rest of the set. In the same way one of two lead ends can follow 1234567, viz., 1246375 by a plain lead and 1752634 by a bob, and so on with the other members of the set, thus:

Q set	Plained	Bobbed
234567	253746	752634
346572	354267	253746
467523	456372	354267

Now from this table it will be seen that if, for example, 346572 is followed by a plain lead, producing 354267; 467523 cannot be followed by a bob, otherwise 354267 will occur again, and, it must be remembered, every 'lead end' carries with it 13 other rows with which it forms an integral block and from which it cannot be separated.

Again if one of this Q set be followed by a bob, say 672534, giving 456372; 467523 must also be followed by a bob, otherwise 456372 will appear a second time, and 467523 having been followed by a bobbed lead, so must 346572, otherwise 354267 will occur twice.

Further, we get this, that if 354267 is produced by a bob, 456372 as a plain lead is cut out, as in that form they both come from 467523 and the rows between and including 1645732 (the handstroke before 1467523) and 5134267 (the backstroke before the treble gets back to lead) are repeated.

Thus we see that 'Mr. Q' has a considerable finger in the pie when it comes to the composition of peals. If in composing a touch the lead end 467523 does not occur, there is no reason why 346572 should not be followed by a plain lead or 672534 by a bob. But in a peal 467523 must be included and if 346572 has been followed by a plain lead (354267) and 672534 by a bob (456372), it is impossible to introduce 467523 without repetition, because both the alternatives open to the composer have been used.

The interactions of members of a Q set have a similar effect in other methods where like conditions prevail, such, for instance, as extents of a bell in sixth's place in Major with the tenors together or with some given bell 'behind the 9th' in Caters. The effect is easily seen in the example of Bob Major, where, with one exception, the leads in any one Q set must be either all bobbed or all plained.

Plained	Bobbed
14326587	12436587
14235678	14235678
13246587	14326587
13425678	13425678
12345678	12345678

An examination of these rows will at once prove that if three pairs of them are used it is impossible to take two out of one set and one out of the other and avoid repetition. And this rule applies not merely to this particular Q set but to every other set of rows having a similar relationship.

The one exception referred to above is that, in methods in which singles are used the odd and even rows can be so shuffled up that one pair can be bobbed together, one pair plained and one pair singled, in this way :—

B 142356	B 124356
132465	134265
P 134256	P 132456
143265	123465

But this escape from the net of 'Mr. Q' is more apparent than real.

Who, then, is 'Mr. Q?' We do not know him by any other name, but he is a definite personality. He will not be ignored by composers, some of whom, in the beginning, have been known to think he comes from the nether regions on purpose to thwart them. He had some kind of mathematical parentage and we must leave it at that.

What he does is of much more importance, and enough has been said to show that the composer who fails to comply with the restrictions which he lays down is not only wasting his labour but courting disaster in his compositions.

SUNDRIDGE, KENT.—On Friday evening, July 13th, 720 Bob Minor at the Parish Church: H. Blackett 1, R. H. Vigor 2, I. Emery 3, J. Lyddiard 4, E. H. Lewis (Brasted) 5, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 6. Believed to be the first 720 on the bells for 38 years. After the ringing the Vicar (the Rev. C. C. Gosselin) kindly entertained the ringers at the Vicarage.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The fine ring of eight at St. Marie's, Sheffield (tenor 25½ cwt.), is to be rehung in a new steel and iron frame, and mounted on ball bearings, with all the latest fittings, by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, who cast them in 1874. The work is to be put in hand immediately.

Owing to a disagreement between some members of the band and himself, arising from their opposition to the practice of chiming for weddings, which is carried on at this church, the Vicar of St. Mary's, Cheshunt, has, we are informed, closed the bellry.

St. Andrew's, Kingsbury—the reconstructed church removed from Wells Street, London—is to be dedicated and opened early in November. The bells are the celebrated maiden octave, cast by Lewis, the organ maker. They are being re-erected by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

After more than thirty years a celebrated peal is to be permanently recorded in the belfry where it was rung. In 1903 Mr. William Pye rang Exeter Cathedral tenor single-handed to a peal of Stedman Caters, the only time this 72 cwt. bell has been rung to a peal by one man.

Every other peal on the bells has a tablet in the ringing chamber. At long last this, in one respect most wonderful of all, is to be placed on permanent record.

The peal board, we understand, will be unveiled in September during a tour, in which Mr. Pye hopes to take part, extending from Sherborne in Dorset to Truro in Cornwall.

Lads and lassies from in and around London went in successful search of peals in Lincolnshire during the holidays.

A family celebration of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dobbie, of Milton Regis, took place on Saturday, when a peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Ospringe, Kent, in which three sons and three grandchildren took part.

A ringing tour in South Devon starts on Saturday week. Mr. W. H. Fussell is making it a preliminary to his Australian trip.

THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF BEGINNERS.

REWARDS SUGGESTED FOR PROGRESS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A suggestion for the encouragement of beginners which might, with advantage, be tried by a good many local bands, is the offering yearly, or at intervals, of a small reward or token for the most meritorious performance by a learner, or for the attainment of proficiency in various steps in the art, such as ringing good rounds, his first course in a method, first 720, or calling his first touch.

At present there is usually no visible goal for the learner to aim at, except his first peal, and that is often too far distant for the purpose. I feel sure that if, say, a medal, or certificate, or one of the ringing text books (anything to induce him to strive), were offered for reaching successive stages, many would be kept who are now lost.

Here I would remark that many beginners are at first keen enough to come for two or more nights a week, and if one or two competent members of the band would take them in turn, so that every opportunity of practice in bell handling was taken, this first keenness would still be in operation when the change ringing stage is reached.

I know that schemes for the Central Council or the Guilds to issue certificates have been broached before, but the essence of this suggestion is that it is purely a matter for the individual tower; and that is the point where the problem must be attacked, for many bands languish for lack of incentive to their recruits to persevere. Action on these lines would keep them often at full strength.

With regard to funds, there are plenty of cases where ringers receive a sum of money at Christmas, perhaps only small, but if instead of dividing it amongst themselves they used it for this purpose of encouraging beginners they would derive more lasting satisfaction from it.

In other cases the Parochial Church Council might consider giving the rewards, and, surely, here is a method of usefully employing some of the surplus funds in the hands of many Guilds, which they are somewhat at a loss to know how to use to the best advantage. It may be objected that this would destroy the local character of the effort, but it need not, for the Guild, or its branches, could set aside a sum of money for the purpose, and leave it to the tower concerned to make application for a grant, only making sure that the conditions had been complied with.

The main point of the suggestion is to do something, suiting it to local circumstances, as long as the principle is observed of placing before the learners a definite set of objectives and a visible and tangible reward for reaching them; and while they are 'striving for the mastery' teach them, by precept and example, to ring to the glory of God.

RINGS OF TWELVE BELLS.

KIDDERMINSTER WILL BE THE 51st IN ENGLAND.

The number of rings of twelve bells grows apace; nearly a dozen towers have had their peals raised to this number since the war. Tewkesbury and Trowbridge have scarcely been completed when comes news that Kidderminster is to have a ring of twelve, which will raise the total peals of this number in England to 51, and, in addition, there are similar peals in Dublin and in Melbourne, Australia.

York Minster was the first church in which a peal of twelve was installed. These were set up in 1681, but were recast in 1765, and there were not twelve bells in the tower again until 1844. St. Bride's, Fleet Street, London, has been longest in continuous possession of a peal of twelve. They were made into this number in 1719, and it was on them that the first twelve-bell peal was rung in 1724. Cirencester were made twelve in 1722, and then followed St. Martin's-in-the-Fields (1726), S. Michael's, Cornhill (1728), and S. Saviour's, Southwark (1735). After this there was a long break before another ring of twelve was completed, and that was at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, in 1770, but in the meantime, as mentioned above, the twelve at York has been reduced to ten. Two famous peals followed soon after—Birmingham in 1772 and Norwich in 1775.

When Shipway compiled his 'list of peals of twelve and ten bells in United Kingdom,' which appeared in his 'Campanalogia,' published in 1816, there were seven rings of twelve in London and six in the provinces, so that between 1775 and 1815—a period of forty years—only four more towers grew to the dignity of having twelve bells, Spitalfields and Cripplegate in London and Liverpool and Shrewsbury in the provinces.

Spitalfields, whose tenor was 44 cwt., were destroyed by fire in 1836, and were replaced by a ring of eight. There is one other church which once had a ring of twelve, and has now only ten—St. Peter's, St. Albans.

Here is a complete list of the existing rings of twelve, with the approximate weights of the respective tenors:—

A CHANGE RINGING MACHINE.

Mr. G. F. WOODHOUSE'S WONDERFUL INVENTION.

At the last meeting of the Central Council, Canon H. J. Elsee spoke of the 'change ringing' machine invented by Mr. G. F. Woodhouse, of Sedbergh, Yorks, who is to be invited to exhibit it at the next meeting.

The machine differs in construction from that invented by the late Mr. John Carter and now on exhibition at the Science Museum, South Kensington.

Mr. Woodhouse supplies us with the following description of his machine:—

Before going into the detail of the machine it is best to mention the principles on which the machine is built.

A. Bells move or change in pairs. Thus, if 3 moves, either 2 or 4 must also move. There are, then, seven pairs, 12, 23, 34, 45, 56, 67 and 78 on eight bells. Only seven 'movers' are necessary.

B. Some means must be found to pick out the bell that has to move. Thus, if 8 is at the lead it must be actuated by the mover that causes 1 and 2 to change. This is the most difficult part of the machine to design.

C. The places made and, therefore, the pairs that move are symmetrical about the treble behind. Thus, for brevity take Double Bob Minimum:—

	Moving bells.
2143	12 34
2413	23
4231	12 34
2431	12
4213	12 34
4123	23
1432	12 34

So, starting with lead-end they go—34—12, 34—23—12, 34—12, and then the same, but backwards.

This is done by a revolving band, which goes so far and then reverses. For Plain Minor its reverses after 6, for Plain Major it reverses after 8, and so on. This is accomplished by changing one wheel in the gear train that drives the barrel.

Adjustable pegs in the barrel cause the 'movers' mentioned under A to rise. Any method can be rung by simply altering the pegs and gearing.

D. The actual ringing is done electrically. There are eight contacts at right angles to the 'bells,' which consist of strips 1 in. wide, with rollers at each end, and eight slots cut across them. These contacts are connected to eight studs, over which a contact arm rotates. If a 'bell' rests on the 3rd one, it will ring 3rd, hence good striking is assured. Now as to how A and B are accomplished.

Two rods with hooks go to each bell, and are held off by catches which are fixed to the 'bell.' One rod moves to the right and the other to the left. Beneath the bells are seven flat rods at right angles. These are raised by the studs on the barrel. On rising they release the catches, and a rod drops into a slot and drives the bell. Thus, if the first rod rises it releases a catch on each of whatever bells are in 1st's and 2nd's place, so that one moves right and the other left.

An arrangement is added so that a pen attached to the 7th moves across on moving paper, and so draws a diagram.

The above description will give the main ideas without going into minute detail of mechanisms involved. It has already rung and drawn diagrams in no fewer than 412 methods, ranging from changes on two to eight bells; in fact, all the methods on these numbers that the inventor can lay hands on, including all published by the Central Council, and a fair number of Surprise Major methods. It has also rung touches in many, the longest being a 400 of Double Norwich. Bobs and singles are made by pressing buttons at the correct moment.

Diagrams have been made by the machine in all the methods. This has involved some 65,000 changes, and is no mean feat.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

PROPOSED ADDITION TO CHALE BELLS.

A quarterly meeting of the Isle of Wight District was held at Chale on Saturday, July 28th, when there was a representative attendance, including ringers from London. Good use was made of the bells from 3 p.m. to 5 o'clock, after which the party was entertained to tea at the Clarendon Hotel by the district president, Dr. J. B. Williamson.

At the business meeting the Hon. Secretary, Mr. B. J. Snow, spoke feelingly of the death of the Rev. H. E. H. Coombes, of Didsbury, Manchester, a past district president and ringing member of the Guild, and the meeting endorsed his action in sending a letter of condolence to the widow.

Mr. F. Mew spoke of the loss the local ringers had sustained by the death of their colleague, Mr. Walter Woodford, and on his proposition, seconded by Mr. H. Barton, it was agreed to send a message of sympathy to his widow.—Both propositions were carried in the usual way.

It was resolved to hold the next quarterly meeting at Arreton, with by-practices at Godshill, Shorwell and Brighthorne.

The meeting expressed satisfaction in the progress made at the re-hanging of Godshill bells and the secretary's successful efforts to get a grant towards the costs from the funds of the Guild.

A vote of thanks was passed with acclamation to the president for his hospitality, and in reply Dr. Williamson said how happy he was to be at Chale and the Clarendon, where his early days were spent. He suggested that in view of the centenary of the wreck of the ship 'Clarendon' in Chale Bay in October, 1836, it would be an opportune time to consider bringing the peal of bells in the tower up to six by the addition of a treble in memory of those who had lost their lives in that and other wrecks. This the meeting agreed to, and the president and Mr. F. Mew were asked to see what could be done.

At the conclusion of the meeting the party proceeded to the churchyard, where Messrs. H. Barton, H. Jennings, Dr. Williamson and B. J. Snow rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells over the grave of Walter Woodford, as a token of respect, the other members, including the six local ringers, standing round.

stands upon what is believed to be the site of an ancient monastery, for the founding of which Ethelbald, King of the Mercians, granted ten cassats of land (about 120 acres) to Earl Cynebert in the year 736 A.D. The present church is a massive and imposing building. The tower dates from the middle of the 15th century and was originally detached from the rest of the building. Whether it was ever surmounted by a spire is not known, but the beginnings of a spire exist on the top at the back of the weather-beaten battlements.

The bells are at present a ring of eight, with tenor of 25 cwt. in D. The first six are by Rudhall, 1754, the 7th by Taylor 1867 and the tenor by Mears 1857. The augmentation to twelve is to be carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

SURFLEET AND BOSTON STUMP.

ANOTHER PLEASANT LINCOLNSHIRE WEEK-END.

Surfleet, the little Lincolnshire village where they grow bulbs and potatoes, which is without a policeman or a telegraph office, may not be the centre of the universe, but it is known to most ringers by repute, and to quite a large number by personal acquaintance. For 30 years it was the home of the late Rev. H. Law James, and a great many things connected with the science of ringing had their origin in the village.

Surfleet is also the home of another celebrity in ringing—another Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, like his Vicar before him, and other things now emanate from Surfleet, which give it some claim to fame. For instance, there are the movies, which depict ringers in real life. These have brought another risk into the lives of those who go up into the towers for ringing. They say that photographs cannot lie. That being the case, there must be many ringers who, having seen themselves on the Surfleet films, have realised they are not all they had previously thought of themselves.

'THE CATHEDRAL OF THE FENS.'

There was another of the enjoyable 'house parties' at Glyn Garth last week-end, and it is quite certain that some of those present will feel a loss of dignity when they see the results of the movie man's efforts. For instance, Mr. Bob Pye playing tennis is nothing like the serious-minded Mr. Bob Pye ringing in a 15,000 of Cambridge Maximus; Mr. Albert Walker teaching a lady to ride a bicycle is quite unlike the decorous Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild conducting a peal in the Bull Ring; and what the two well-known ladies will say when they see themselves on the screen after having been literally caught napping in the summer house, heaven alone knows! But there it is—it is just one of the risks one takes when one is with the Master of the Lincoln Guild either at home or abroad.

The object of the gathering last week-end was a peal on the miniature ring of twelve—the lightest in the country—in Surfleet Parish Church, with its quaint leaning tower, nearly seven feet out of perpendicular, and another in the famous Boston Stump, in which one has to climb nearly 200 steps to reach the ringing floor. The Saturday afternoon peal at Surfleet was safely accomplished, although the band had an uncomfortable last hour, while a splice in the tenor rope gradually knocked itself to pieces on the floor.

Daylight could be seen between the strands when the bells came round just in time to save the towerkeeper's hitherto unblemished reputation. The band in this peal came from eleven different places, and two more celebrities were added to the Lincoln Guild's life membership roll—the Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild and the ex-honorary secretary of the Yorkshire Association.

The peal at Boston Stump—one of the architectural wonders of the English Church—was also safely brought round, though not without Surprise in a double sense for the gentleman from Birmingham. He thought he was on a soft thing when he took hold of the tenor rope, for when the conductor said 'Go,' he thought it was for Stedman Caters. The others, however, started for Cambridge Surprise. Surprise and disillusionment No. 1. He had another and worse surprise half-way through the peal when, without warning, the tenor rope slipped wheel and repeated the performance not long after. But each time the bell came back again, and all's well that end's well.

Although the restoration of the bells at Boston Stump has made a vast difference to the ringing in this eerie belfry, 150 feet above the town, it is by no means an easy place in which to ring. The tower is of huge dimensions, and in the centre of the floor of the ringing room rises the dome of the groined ceiling of the tower. The ringers stand close to the walls, and there are few places with a larger 'circle' or, as in this case, 'square.'

Boston Church, known as 'the Cathedral of the Fens,' is one of the finest parish churches in England. The interior gives an unusual sense of vastness and elegant proportion. The tower, completed about the year 1460, rises to a height of 272 feet, and stands in the front rank of Gothic art. It is divided into four storeys, the uppermost consisting of the lantern, which makes a most elegant termination of this grand and majestic campanile.

The stone groined ceiling of the tower, which was only completed in 1850, is situated 156 feet above the floor, and is reputed to be the highest stone groining in the world. The great height of this portion of the building and the magnitude of the west window with its beautiful tracery give a most wonderful effect.

For some years the condition of the tower caused considerable anxiety, but the interest of the people of Boston, U.S.A., was aroused, and a great scheme of restoration was carried out largely at their expense. The bells themselves were recast into a magnificent peal of ten by Messrs. Taylor and Co. and rehung, and although they are now some feet higher than they were before, the stress on the tower has been reduced by supporting them on concrete walls carried up from the floor of the ringing chamber, which was also raised nearly two feet, so that the ringers can get a better sight of each other than was possible before, when the groined ceiling rose to within a couple of feet of the ceiling of the ringing room.

Incidentally, the defacing of old buildings by cutting initials in the stones is obviously no modern form of vandalism. High up on the staircase leading to the top of the tower I. S. cut his initials and the date 1675. Since then hundreds have done the same thing, but with less skill.

The completion of the restoration has been marked within the last few weeks by the dedication of an iron screen at the base of the tower, bearing a suitable inscription. An American Bishop came over specially for the ceremony.

Before separating at Boston the ringers duly celebrated the 44th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Holman, of Sheffield. The peal at Surfleet had been rung on the actual date, but the commemoration had to be postponed, because of the licensing laws and the train service. Good wishes were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Holman for many more years of happiness. Mrs. Holman, by the way, is the perfect ringer's wife—glad to see her husband gone on his ringing expeditions; glad to see him home again.

'Thou'st lost peal,' she says, when he gets home early. 'Where'st been to this time o' night?' is the greeting when he comes home late.

Isn't that just like a woman? The Surfleet party began to break up on Monday evening, but some of them (goodness knows how their jobs get on without them) stayed until Tuesday, and all left with the most grateful thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson for their kindness and generous hospitality.

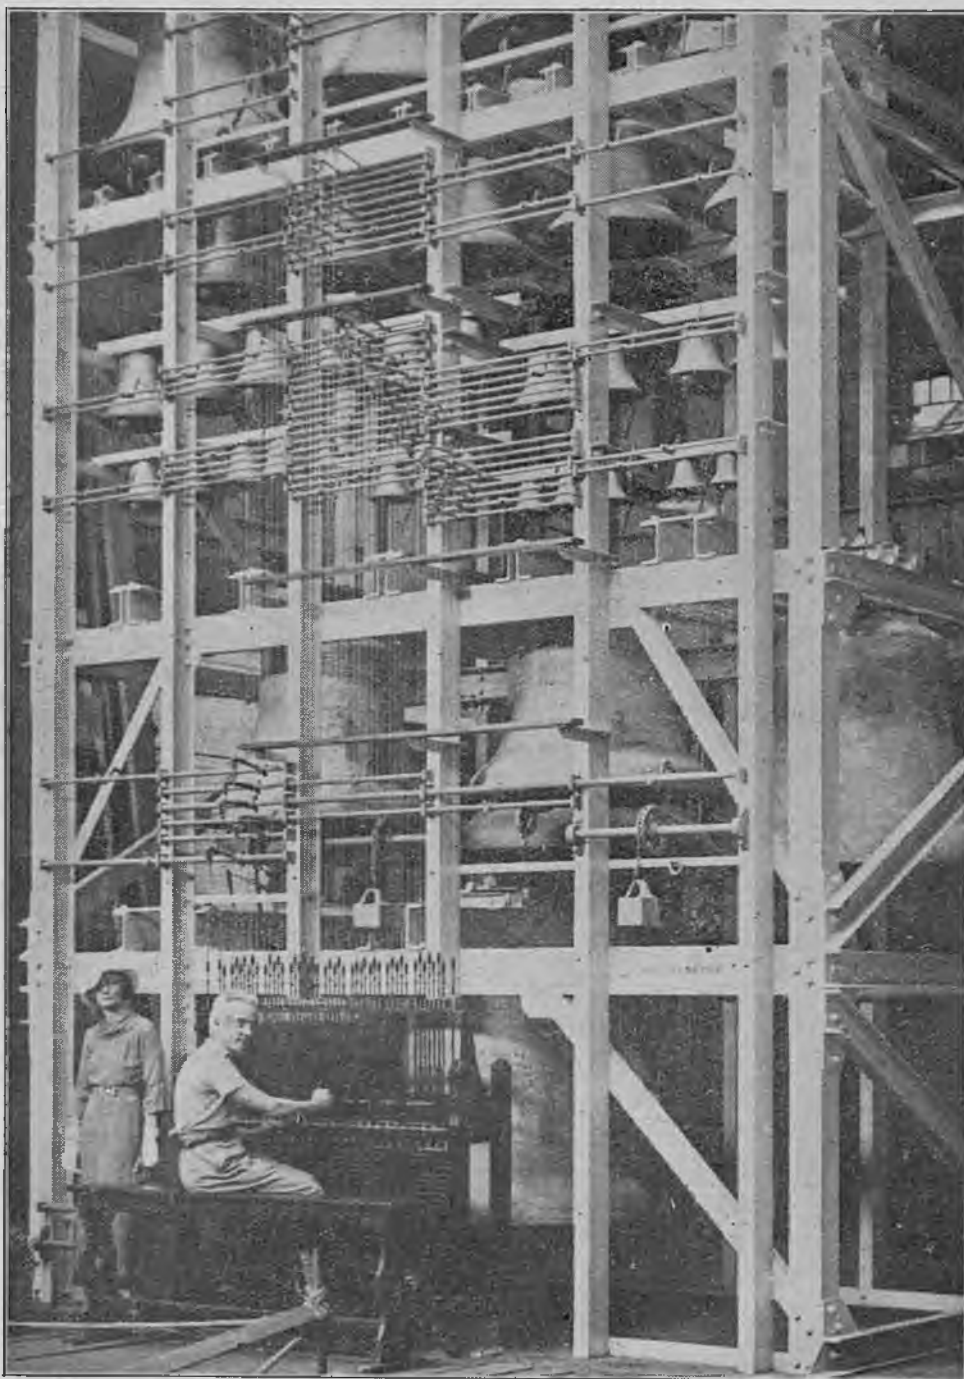

The next house party takes place early in September, after which Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and their daughter sail for Australia.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

DOVER, KENT.—On Sunday, August 5th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: R. T. Clark 1, J. H. Cheeseman (Greenhithe) 2, H. J. Saunders 3, B. Jarman (Harpden, Hert.) 4, A. W. Durlam (Lamberhurst) 5, C. R. Millway 6, C. Turner (conductor) 7, E. T. Ellender 8.

MOLD, NORTH WALES.—At St. Mary's Church, on Sunday, August 5th, for Choral Communion, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes, ten variations): E. Evans 1, G. Williams 2, J. Roberts 3, J. H. Jones 4, W. Price 5, F. Hartman (conductor) 6. All are regular Sunday service ringers at the church.

This striking picture shows the Bournville carillon in Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Foundry at Croydon, where it was inspected with great interest by many visitors last week.

The carillon consists of 48 bells, varying in weight from about 12lb. to  $3\frac{1}{4}$  tons, and covers four complete octaves. The original carillon consisted of 22 bells, and it was enlarged in 1923 and 1925 to 42.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have now reconstructed the instrument by recasting 38 of the former bells, tuning the remaining four and adding three high trebles, two bass semitones and the bourdon bell. The bells are hung in a massive new frame weighing about  $8\frac{1}{2}$  tons, while the new fittings which have been installed enable the carillonneur to operate the carillon with the utmost ease and delicacy of sound control. The total weight of the bells is about  $17\frac{1}{4}$  tons, and the carillon has the biggest compass of any instrument of the kind in the British Isles.

Our photograph shows Mr. Clifford Ball, the talented Bournville carillonneur, seated at the clavier, and standing beside the carillon is Mrs. C. F. Johnston.

LAVENHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

The SS. Peter and Paul's Society, Lavenham, held their annual outing on Saturday, July 21st. Leaving by motor coach at 8 a.m., a run of 26 miles brought the party to Worlingworth, where they were met by Mr. David Collins, a survivor of the band that rang the historical 16,000 Treble Bob many years since. The breaking of a rope put 'paid' to the first touch of the day (Grandsire Triples), but this was followed by a course of Bob Minor to oblige others of the party. Wilby was visited next, and then a run was made to Stradbroke. At Fressingfield 'Angel' the party enjoyed a splendid lunch, after which the tower was visited, and the brothers Riches and Mr. Etheridge met the visitors. After ringing, the ropes were given up to the Norwich men, who were touring the district. Halesworth was the next stop, where that 'ever-pleasant brother-string,' Mr. Fred Lambert, welcomed the visitors, at the same time cautioning them 'not to pull more than one bell at a time before ringing,' explaining that two or three bells pulled together would soon bring the fire engine in sight! Mr. Lambert took part in some of the touches. After inspecting the church and some very old and interesting ringing documents, tracks were made for Woodbridge, where, after ringing on these grand old bells, the Norwich 'crowd' once more put in an appearance and took over the ropes. Monks Eleigh was the last call, but only handbells were used here. Home was reached at 10 p.m. The ringing during the day included touches and courses of Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, and Superlative Surprise.

The Lavenham ringers wish herewith to thank the incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells, also those friends who met them, and all others who helped towards this most enjoyable day.

BIRTHDAY QUARTER-PEALS.

At Swindon, on Thursday, July 12th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peat of Stedman Caters (1,257 changes): A. Lawrence 1, R. W. Hyner 2, R. G. Townsend 3, H. W. Bishop 4, G. Townsend 5, S. Palmer 6, C. J. Gardiner (conductor) 7, E. Bishop 8, Tom Townsend 9, A. E. W. Smith 10. Rung on the 79th birthday of the treble man.

At Devizes, Wilts, on Friday, July 13th, at St. John's Church, a quarter-peat of Grandsire Triples was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. S. Hillier: E. Stevens (first quarter-peat) 1, G. W. England 2, C. D. Heginbottom 3, S. Smith 4, S. Hillier (conductor) 5, G. Winter 6, F. Green 7, F. Edwards 8.

At Marbury, Cheshire, 720 Conway Delight and 720 Ludlow Delight by: W. Thomas 1, A. E. Richards 2, J. W. Clarke 3, R. Sperling 4, J. Swindley 5, J. Morgan (conductor) 6. Rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. A. E. Richards.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.*MEETING AT SOUTHAM.

A quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Southam on Saturday, July 21st. It was not very well attended, due, no doubt, to a number of members being away on holiday, including the hon. secretary. The towers represented were Allesley, Chilvers Coton, Exhall, Erdington, Nuneaton, Rugby and Southam. Visitors were welcomed from Banbury, Husbands Bosworth, Mickleton and Welford.

The eight bells of the church were kept going during the afternoon until 5.15, when a halt was called for tea, which was partaken of at the Craven Arms Hotel.

The business meeting followed, Mr. J. H. W. White (Ringing Master) taking the chair. Seven members sent apologies.

Bedworth and Coleshill were nominated for the quarterly meeting in October. On being put to the meeting, Bedworth was carried by the chairman giving the casting vote. Monthly meetings at Dunchurch for August and Hampton in Arden for September were decided upon.

The members of the committee appointed in connection with the Central Council meeting at Warwick were thanked for their services.

Mr. Watson, of Banbury, thanked the members of the Guild for the welcome extended to him as a visitor, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells.

Further ringing then took place, and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Major, until 7.30, when the bells were lowered in peal, bringing an enjoyable day to a close.

'REWARDS' FOR BEGINNERS.

From time to time suggestions are put forward for the encouragement of beginners by the offering of 'rewards' for progress. In our last issue 'Reflex' returned to the subject. His proposals, however, differ only in their details from other schemes which have been urged, but have never been generally adopted. There are just a few associations where there is recognition given to the beginner when he reaches some definite stage in his progress. In one case, for instance, a badge is awarded; in another a certificate; but there has been no general acceptance of the principle of recognition of progress. A few years ago an effort was made in the Central Council to do something in this direction. This proposal was to issue certificates to those qualified to receive them at various stages of their advancement, but it did not find favour, and there seemed at the time as strong a dislike to issuing certificates of progress as there previously was to the adoption of a universal badge for ringers.

One preliminary point upon which there is not as yet general agreement is whether the 'awards' would really have the effect anticipated of keeping beginners interested and urging them to progress. There would be some ringers, without doubt, who would value a recognition by their association of their definite steps forward in the art, in the same way that many music students like to receive certificates upon passing examinations. On the other hand, ringers as a class do not seem anxious to parade their progress. They may personally be proud of their attainments, but they are seldom keen about displaying tokens of their achievements. Even if they were, there is the difficulty of setting and maintaining standards. Individual associations could set a local standard, but to be of value it would have to be applied impartially throughout the area and not left to the opinion of the tower conductor, otherwise those who had been 'carried' through the 'examination' piece would be placed on the same level as those who had genuinely earned the reward.

The local award of 'prizes,' as suggested by 'Reflex,' might create a local interest especially among a very youthful band, but to increase the general interest and establish a recognised standard, any scheme to be of value must, as we have said, have a wider basis and have at least an association or guild foundation. What is needed at first, however, is the inculcation of the spirit among beginners that the attainment of a high standard in ringing is really worth while; to make them realise the higher aims of a ringer's duties and the importance of his office, which carries with it the necessity for giving only his best in the service of the Church. If local schemes were formulated it might offer encouragement in individual cases, and it would be interesting to see an experiment carried out, to learn if these awards would really prove the incentive which some people believe they would be. But only time could show the result, for ringers are not made in a day, and it might even eventually be difficult to say whether any progress made was due to the incentive of the material rather than the intangible reward.

RINGERS' DAY AT TROWBRIDGE.

BELFRY GIFTS DEDICATED.

Visitors Take Part in a Broadcast Programme.

August Bank Holiday was 'Ringers' Day' at Trowbridge, and proved a great success, a large gathering of ringers attending from all parts of the country to hear and try the new ring of twelve bells cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., which were opened less than a fortnight previously. Ringing commenced at 10.30 a.m., the bells being raised in peal and kept going in various methods until noon. The Rector (the Rev. Nisbet Wallace), together with the churchwardens and members of the Town Bells Committee, then visited the ringing chamber.

The Vicar extended a welcome to all the visitors, and proceeded to dedicate various gifts which had been presented to the tower, which included an oak table, ringing mats, and a framed photograph of the late Wm. McGaffrey, for many years captain of the tower, who conducted most of the early peals for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

Mr. F. White, late churchwarden, then unveiled a peal tablet recording two peals, one of Cambridge Surprise Royal, and the other a peal of Stedman Caters. This peal was the last rung on the old ten, and the first on ten bells by the regular Sunday service band. It was also the first peal of Caters rung by resident members of the Salisbury Guild. Mr. White spoke of the good work done by the local ringers for Sunday service ringing, and also of their enthusiasm in taking over the responsibility of raising the money for the new peal of bells and the frame.

The Vicar dedicated the tablet, suitable prayers being offered, and the ceremony closed with the singing of the Doxology in the packed belfry.

Ringling then proceeded until 3 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal in preparation for a rehearsal of a broadcast programme which was to follow at 8 p.m. Many then heard the new Trowbridge chimes for the first time. After the clock had struck the hour the bells were again raised and kept going until 4.30, when a short service was held.

The service was conducted by the Rector, and attended by a congregation of about 200. The lesson was read by Canon G. F. Coleridge (whom all present were very pleased to welcome and to see sufficiently recovered from his recent accident to be able to attend). He also gave a short address from the words, 'Twelve princes shall he beget' (Genesis xvii. 20), in which he alluded to the twelve princely bells placed in the tower by the united efforts of the townspeople of Trowbridge. He also reminded the ringers of their duty as churchmen first, and ringers after.

FROM NORTH, SOUTH, EAST AND WEST.

Tea followed in St. James' Hall, about 150 sitting down to a substantial repast, presided over by the Rector. Amongst those present were Canon G. F. Coleridge, Mr. S. L. Harding (churchwarden), Mr. C. Lansdown (chairman of the Town Bells Committee), Mr. F. White, Mr. Ledbury, Ensign Tensom, Salvation Army (Town Bells Committee), Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council), Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Ladies' Guild), Mr. J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff and Monmouth Association), Mr. E. W. Marsh (Plymouth), Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bayley (Portsea), etc.

After tea, the Rector asked the visitors present to stand as he called out the different parts of the country from whence they came, namely, North, Midlands, East, West, South, and, as there was response from each part, the Rector said he could truly welcome ringers from the four corners of the country. He also invited all those present to pay a visit to the beautiful Rectory gardens after tea, and many took advantage of looking round the old Rectory and beautiful grounds.

Mr. F. White also welcomed the visitors, and spoke of the good work done by the local band.

Mr. S. L. Harding (churchwarden) said the church was very proud to possess a peal of twelve bells, and an efficient band of ringers. He also pointed out that the church possessed this ring through the endeavours of the local ringers. When the ringers first brought the matter of the bells needing attention before the Rector and churchwardens, they were told that funds would not permit of money being spent upon the bells, although they were very anxious that the bells should not stop ringing. The ringers then asked if the authorities would give them the power to take the job in hand, and so great was their enthusiasm that in less than twelve months the work which they were that day celebrating was accomplished. The addition of two more bells and the new frame was more than even the ringers dreamt about.

Mr. Sam Hector, on behalf of the local band, also welcomed the visitors, and moved a vote of thanks to the ladies, who had worked hard to provide tea and make it a success. Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Messrs. Taylor and Co., seconded, and also spoke of the difficulties which the tower presented for installing a peal of twelve bells. It was gratifying to his firm to hear nothing but praise of the bells.

Ensign Fensom, of the Salvation Army, who has done a great deal of work in connection with the scheme, spoke of the pleasure it had given him to become acquainted with the bells and ringers, and referred to the good fellowship which existed amongst ringers.

The ringers then again adjourned to the tower, and the bells were rung in Stedman and Grandsire Cinques, with rounds for the beginners. Many had their first pull, and many their first touch on 12.

At 8 p.m. the bells were lowered, and the chimes struck the hour, which was broadcast on the West Regional programme. Listeners then heard the bells raised in peal and rung in rounds, and later in the programme a touch of Grandsire Cinques. The special band for this broadcast, to whom great credit is due for the excellent striking, was: W. J. Prescott (Bath) 1, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (conductor) (Enfield) 2, J. S. Roberts (Swindon) 3, J. Austen (Gloucester) 4, C. W. Woolley (Bath) 5, A. K. Harrison (Hursley) 6, S. H. Wood (Bristol) 7, C. Gardiner (Swindon) 8, W. B. Kynaston (Swindon) 9, G. H. Harding (Bath) 10, G. W. Fletcher (Enfield) 11, N. V. Andrews (Trowbridge) 12. Amongst those taking part in the broadcast programme, from 8 till 8.30 p.m., under the heading of 'Ringers' Day at Trowbridge in the company of A. G. Street,' were Mr. C. Lansdowne (chairman, Town Bells Committee), Mr. F. C. Pitt, secretary, A. G. Street, and Messrs. C. F. Andrews, C. Raison and S. J. Hector, of the local band.

During the day ringers were present from Bath (Abbey, St. Saviour's, Weston), Bristol (St. Stephen's, St. Peter's, St. Philip's), Birmingham (King's Norton, Smethwick, Selly Oak), Bournemouth, Bilton, Bushey, Chippenham (St. Andrew's and St. Paul's), Chilton, Cheltenham, Devizes (St. John's, St. Mary's, St. James'), Enfield, North Cadbury, Pirbright, Plymouth, Swindon, St. Albans, Thatcham, Westbury, Poole, Keevil, Milverton, Frome, Radstock, Nailsea, Oxford, Southwark and Nottingham.

SAM HECTOR IN A BROADCAST.

The broadcast part of the proceedings on the West Regional was a huge success. As mentioned above, it was announced in the B.B.C. programme as 'Ringers' Day at Trowbridge in the company of A. G. Street.' 'It might,' says the 'Wiltshire Times,' 'well have had a second caption, "Arthur in Wonderland." For A. G. Street, the famous author of "Farmer's Glory" and other books, a regular broadcaster, yet still a farmer down Wilton way, and a great-hearted "Moon-raker," during the arrangement in the broadcast was quite candid in saying, "I know practically nothing about bells," and was somewhat amazed when, as a preliminary, he was taken up to the ringing chamber and then up to the bell chamber and saw what he did see and was surprised when the quarter-jacks disturbed his inspection. Now A. G. Street and Charles Lansdown have known each other for many years, so the plot of the broadcast took quite a natural and "lifelike" course. Street, in Trowbridge on Ringers' Day, meets Lansdown and wants to know why the bells are ringing. The chimes have just sounded as they meet, and as they talk along comes the Rector, and, being introduced, tells Street much about the beautiful church which Street has been admiring. Then Lansdown, being a Friend of the Bells, has the temerity to take Street up to the ringing chamber. Here Sam Hector (the hero of 200 peals) admits them; there is a little chat; and then Charles Andrews (captain of the ringers) and Charles Raison (steeplekeeper) take Street up to the bells, answer all sorts of questions he puts to them, explain things generally, and when they return to the ringing chamber, where the conversation continues, Sam Hector discourses awhile on some of his experiences as a ringer over a period of 40 years—how when he was a boy the first thing he had to do was to take two jars which were kept in a chest in the ringing chamber down at North Curry in Zummerzet across the fields for zyder; and how he rang for the Queen down Canford way, and so on. Then, what Sam calls the HRingers give a demonstration of change ringing by a touch of Grandsire Cinques, showing how the treble bell (No. 1) goes coursing in until she meets the tenor (No. 12), and how all the other bells continually change place. Thus Street becomes a convert to the love of the bells.'

'The Wiltshire Times' explained how the broadcast was arranged. It all took place within the bounds of the parish churchyard of Trowbridge. The speaking was done from the Upper Vestry Room, and those whose names went forth into the air actually took part. They were, 'in order of appearance,' A. G. Street, Charles Lansdown, the Rector, Sam Hector, Charles Andrews and Charles Raison, while the 'voices' discussing the bells and so on were those of Frederick Pitt, Reginald Elloway and Colin Lawson. Three microphones were in operation. The principal one was in the Church Vestry Room, the second in the ringing chamber, and the third in the churchyard. Control was situated in the clergy vestry, and here the microphones were faded in or out as required, so that three contact points were in operation—sometimes simultaneously. The party sat near the microphones in the Upper Vestry Room, and, as they received their cues, stood directly in front of the microphone and spoke rather more slowly than when in actual conversation. The ringers in the tower knew by electric light signals when to ring or otherwise, and the climbing of the turret stairs was done by walking down and up the Vestry Room steps. But, for the realism of the broadcast as it was listened to, the public have to thank Mr. Francis Worsley, of the West Regional B.B.C., who produced the broadcast.

THE 'STAR TURN.'

Without doubt, said 'The Wiltshire Times,' Sam Hector was the 'star turn.' That was evident to all who listened. As Sam's time came for his 'cider story' to be told, he cast aside his typescript, and plunged straightway into his tale. It was too well told to repeat here—we might spoil the effect, but Sam never hesitated for a moment. It was not as a broadcasting 'star' that he told his tale of having rung for the Queen, but in a natural way, with the pardonable pride of a ringer who 'has stood in 200 successful peals.' The experts, Worsley and Street, were in high humour with Sam, and declared him to be the hero of the evening. Indeed, Street said to him later, 'You and I ought to broadcast once a week from London, Sam,' to which Sam replied, 'Ah, Mr. Street, we'd show 'em!' And we fully believe that they would.

Quite a number of people listened in only a few yards from the room where the party were doing their talking, for the Rector had very kindly set up a loud-speaker on the Rectory lawn, which was free to all. The broadcast went from Trowbridge to Washford, in Somerset, on a land wire, and then back to the Rectory.

One of the new bells was given to the church by the Salvation Army, and the following is from the 'War Cry':—

'Trowbridge is no doubt the first town in the world to possess a Salvation Army church bell. Ten of the parish bells have been recast and two extra bells added to the peal, one of these bearing the name of the Salvation Army. There will, we trust, be no spirit of rivalry between the Army drum booming "Fetch 'em! Fetch 'em!" at the street corner and the Army bell pealing "Come! Come" from the church tower. It matters little which invitation the people heed so long as they find Christ.'

The Bells Fund still needs money. Here is an opportunity for ringers generally to support the great effort made by their Trowbridge brethren. Donations can be sent to the treasurer of the Bells Fund, care of the Savings Bank, Trowbridge, or to the Editor of the 'Wiltshire Times.' The amount received up to last week was £1,040.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch was held at Peterborough on August 6th, ringers and friends attending from Northampton, Peterborough (St. John's and St. Mary's), Yardley Hastings, Great Haughton, Somersham, Stamford, Ringstead, Raunds, Irthlingborough, Grantham, Birmingham, Chatteris, etc. The company was honoured by the presence of Mr. James George.

The bells of St. John's and St. Mary's were kept going to various methods during the afternoon and evening. Service was held in St. Mary's Church, the Rev. Thompson officiating and giving a very able address.

Tea was provided at the Dujon Cafe, at which 29 were present. The business meeting was presided over by the Master of the Guild (Mr. F. Wilford), who thanked the officers for their past services.

The towers were visited again afterwards, and some good ringing done.

LANCASHIRE RINGERS IN LINCOLN.

On Saturday, August 4th, the ringers of St. Mark's, Worsley, Lancs, with their wives and friends, held their annual outing, the venue on this occasion being Lincoln. The party started at 7 a.m. from the Court House in high glee, with the weather in their favour. On they sped, through town and villages, until they came to climb the beautiful Snake Pass, on the top of which a little halt was made to take in the views. Then they went on until they reached the Snake Inn, where breakfast was taken. Little more than half an hour later the party were away again, through Sheffield and on to Worksop, all enjoying the beautiful country as they travelled through East Retford, East Markham, Darlton, Newton Trent and Saxilby. Lincoln was reached at 12.15 in glorious weather. An excellent hot luncheon was served at Boots' Cafe, and then the party made their way to the beautiful Cathedral with its fine towers and west front. After inspecting the interior, the visitors were met by local ringers, who escorted them up the tower, to try a fine peal of twelve bells by Taylor and Co. After some puffing and panting they set the bells going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, also Bob Royal and rounds on the twelve. Then they climbed higher to look out over the city for the noted Boston Stump. On descending, their hosts took them to the places of interest in Lincoln, the new Art Gallery, the old Roman arches, roads, etc., until tea was calling, which all thoroughly enjoyed. A start for home was made at 6.30 p.m. The return journey was made through Chesterfield, Stockport, etc., and Worsley was reached at 11.30 p.m. The ringers desire to thank all those who helped to make this outing an enjoyable and successful day, Mr. J. A. Freeman for arranging for the bells, the local ringers, and Mr. G. Chester for kindly taking the party round the town.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. G. F. Woodhouse has just rung a perfect half-peal of Double Norwich Major and a perfect quarter-peal of London Surprise Major on his ringing machine, described in 'The Ringing World' last week.

But even a ringing machine can 'change course'! Mr. Woodhouse attempted a peal of Superlative Surprise, but after 4,600 changes one key missed functioning, and a 'change course' resulted. This was a bit of real bad luck.

The umpire of the handbell peal of Stedman Triples by the College Youths, reported on page 468 of our issue of July 27th, was Mr. George Willmott Debenham.

We referred last week to the fact that York Minster was the first church in which a ring of twelve bells was placed, but that they were reduced to ten in a recasting that subsequently took place. Next Sunday is the anniversary of the opening of the ring of ten, which took place on August 19th, 1765.

The 'N.U.T.S.' Warwickshire Branch, had a couple of field days during the holidays and took twelve 'scalps.' There are several ringing organisations who go by their initials. The N.U.T.S. are the well-known National Union of Tower Snatchers.

Can you guess the full titles of the following?—

A. O. P. G.
I. O. T. M.
S. S. D. S.

There are no entrance fees for this competition—and no prizes.

There was an extraordinary shrinkage in the number of peals rung during the month of July. The number was only 71, compared with 115 in the same month in 1933, and 131 in July, 1932.

Up to the end of July this year 922 peals had been rung. In the same period last year the number was 1,008.

Mr. E. C. S. Turner, of Ealing, has just been elected an Associate of the Incorporated Society of Accountants. Mr. Turner was elected an honorary member of the Central Council at the last meeting in order that his services might be utilised on the Methods Committee.

A car conveying some well-known ringers, who had been on tour in Somerset, to Trowbridge for the Ringers' Day, on August Bank Holiday, left the Lion Hotel, Wroughton, with an unusual kind of 'trailer' attached. The occupants of the car, as well as the jokers, had to laugh at the joke, but wild horses will not drag from us a description of the attachment, except to say it would have provided an uncomfortable seat for a long journey.

The trailer may have been affixed, partly in retaliation upon the other practical joker who, the night before, sowed up the gentlemen's pyjamas and put pieces of 'monkey puzzle' inside their pillows. Or, again, it may not.

OAK BELL FRAMES.

THE CONDITION OF ST. BENEDICT'S, CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I agree with Messrs. John Taylor and Co.'s letter in your issue of August 3rd regarding recent comments in 'The Ringing World' of bands visiting St. Benedict's, Cambridge, and the necessary spanner.

Last Saturday I was invited to stand in a peal at this tower, and proceeded with caution, spanner in hand. I found, as Messrs. Taylor had said, that the dry weather had caused the wood to shrink very much. Of all the bells I have inspected, this is the only bell chamber where I have found the nuts could first be moved by hand. It seemed as if old Stedman had been in front with a spanner.

We rang 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor (A. Wilson 1, Miss K. Willers 2, C. W. Cook 3, R. Smith 4, R. Howard 5, F. Warrington 6) as a first 720 in a peal, but owing to the bells then needing a further tightening it was thought advisable to stop.

In fairness to Messrs. Taylor and Co. it can be noted Bourn (8), 1923, and Willingham (6), 1925, have not given the slightest sign of trouble.

F. WARRINGTON.

Over, Cambs.

A DEVONSHIRE RINGING TOUR.

A peal-ringing tour in South Devon begins to-morrow. The headquarters of the party will be at the Pendragon Hotel, Paignton, and the following towers are to be visited:—

Saturday, August 18th: Dawlish and Kingsteignton.

Sunday, August 19th: Buckfast Abbey.

Monday, August 20th: East and West Teignmouth.

Tuesday, August 21st: Ipplepen and Plympton.

Wednesday, August 22nd: Bovey Tracey and Woborough.

Thursday, August 23rd: Paignton and Marychurch.

Friday, August 24th: Ugborough and Brixham.

Saturday, August 25th: Moreton Hampstead.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

SOME OF THE BELLS ON WHICH VISITORS HOPE TO RING.

The forthcoming visit of a party of English ringers to Australia—by the way, they will sail, all being well, from London exactly four weeks from to-day—has aroused interest in the bells which will be available for their operations. Their visit centres on Melbourne, in the State of Victoria, where this year the centenary of the city is being celebrated, and it is here at the Cathedral that the principal peal attempts will be made.

St. Paul's Cathedral has 13 bells, there being, in addition to the peal of 12 with a 31 cwt. tenor, an additional second bell, which provides a light eight. These bells, with a total weight of 148 cwt., were cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1889. It is from the Whitechapel Foundry, in fact, that most of the Australian ringing peals have come.

St. James' Church, Melbourne, has a ring of eight, tenor 13 cwt., six of which were cast in 1852, and two trebles added in 1885. At St. Patrick's Church is another octave, with 19½ cwt. tenor, cast by Murphy, of Dublin, in 1853, and in the suburb of Toorah St. John's Church has eight bells, tenor 12 cwt.

There are two rings of eight in Ballarat, one, with a tenor of 23 cwt., in the Alfred Memorial tower, at the City Hall, which is under control of the municipality and cast in 1869, and another, cast in 1892, with a tenor of 12 cwt., at St. Peter's Church. Here, however, only the back six are ringable. Geelong has an 1867 peal (tenor 14 cwt.) at St. Paul's Church, and at Sandhurst, near Bendigo, a church, also dedicated to St. Paul, has a peal of eight, tenor 21 cwt., cast in 1872. All these are in the State of Victoria, and the visitors hope to try them, but in regard to one or two rings it is doubtful if they are pealable.

PASSING CALLS

Before reaching Melbourne, the visitors will touch at two other points on the Australian continent. Exactly a month after leaving England, the ship is due to call at Fremantle, the port for Perth, the capital of Western Australia. A visit will be made to Perth, where, at the Cathedral, there are eight bells (cast in 1901 by Warner and Sons), and to a neighbouring suburb, where there is a ring of six. At both these places they are already assured of a cordial welcome from the authorities, but the amount of ringing that will be possible depends upon the length of the ship's stay in port. If a peal attempt at the Cathedral is not possible on the outward journey, it is hoped that arrangements can be made to attempt it on the return voyage.

Three days after leaving Fremantle the ship calls at Adelaide, South Australia, and here there is a ring of six, at St. Andrew's Church, Walkerville, with 13 cwt. tenor, and a ring of eight at Darling Point, not far away as distances go in Australia. These bells, formerly six, cast in 1861, were augmented to an octave a few years ago. The tenor is 9 cwt., and the church is dedicated to St. Mark. Here again, the opportunities for ringing will be limited by the length of the ship's stay in port.

TASMANIA AND SYDNEY.

Before the stay at Melbourne ends, the party intend to visit Hobart, Tasmania. This is reached by an 18 hours' sea journey across Bass Strait, and a seven hours' train ride. The authorities and ringers at Hobart are looking forward to this visit with eager anticipation.

The Church of Holy Trinity has a peal of eight bells with tenor of 9½ cwt., cast at Whitechapel in 1846. These are regularly rung by an enthusiastic band, and on the King's birthday in June they rang in the presence of the Governor of the Island.

The farthest point of the tour will be reached at Sydney, where the visitors have been invited to ring at the Roman Catholic Cathedral. The bells are a ring of eight, with a tenor 26 cwt., cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1882, and are now on ball bearings.

The first church bells in Australia were put up in St. Philip's Church, Sydney. They were cast by Thomas Mears in 1794, but were eventually disposed of. The old church was demolished in 1856 and a new church was consecrated in 1858. A new peal of eight was installed with tenor 20 cwt., and rung for the first time at day-break on July 25th, 1859. They have not been rung for 25 years, and the possibility of peal ringing on them is not at present known in England, but they are interesting from the fact that the first peal in Australia was rung on them in 1890.

St. John's Church, Camden, a suburb of Sydney, also has a Whitechapel ring of eight (tenor 14 cwt.), and in the neighbourhood of the city are three churches with rings of six, which it is hoped to visit, as well as two others (St. Mark's and St. Jude's), with light rings of eight.

The touring ringers will find their time pretty fully occupied if they visit all these towers, even if no others are included in the itinerary, especially when the distances to be travelled and the incidental sight-seeing are taken into account. From the time the visitors first touch Australian soil to the time they leave Fremantle again about seven weeks later they will travel in and around the Commonwealth alone about 6,500 miles. The rest of the journey involves something like another 20,000 miles, so that on their return to England they will have covered a distance equal to more than once round the world!

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. GROWING FUNDS.

The annual festival of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Frodsham on August Bank Holiday. There was only a moderate attendance owing, it was presumed, to the adverse weather conditions in the district and the circumstances of the majority of the members of two large branches, whose work in these hard times prevents them from attending. The proceedings commenced at 11 a.m. with a service in the Parish Church, and a most impressive address by Rev. M. W. Myers, D.D., Vicar of Frodsham.

The business meeting was held in the Overton Schools, Rev. C. A. Clements, the Master, being in the chair, supported by Rev. W. R. Ingham, hon. secretary and treasurer of the Guild.

The annual report was adopted, and the passing of the statement of accounts was confirmed.

The balance sheet showed a balance on the income and expenditure account of £133 13s. 9d., carried forward at the end of 1933, compared with £104 16s. 3d. at the end of 1932.

The report indicated that every branch showed an increase of funds and that the total membership increased from 598 to 622. The peals rung were 63, against 71 in the year before.

All the officers were re-elected.

Mr. J. Norbury (Macclesfield) gave a report on the meeting of the Central Council, held at Warwick, at Whitsuntide.

The approval of the Guild was obtained for a proposed memorial to the late Rev. A. T. Beeston, the memorial to consist of a bell metal tablet, to be placed in Norbury Church, where the late Rev. A. T. Beeston first learnt to ring.

It was agreed to hold the next annual festival at Norbury on Saturday, July 27th, 1935.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the incumbents at Runcorn, Grappenhall, Daresbury and Handbridge, and to the Dean and Chapter of Chester Cathedral for permission to ring, and to the Rev. Dr. Myers for his address at the service.

BELLS OF ST. MARY'S, NOTTINGHAM

INTERESTING RING TO BE RESTORED.

The news, recently made known in these columns, that the bells of St. Mary's, Nottingham, are to be rehung, will be welcomed by those who know the condition of the old frame. It is of patchwork construction, and has long outlived its really effective state. The work of installing the new frame and rehanging the bells in modern fittings is to be carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The church is a glorious old pile, and the bells themselves cover centuries of history. The oldest of them is the 9th, and it is a very fine piece of workmanship, with three rows of decoration and with lettering finely stamped. There are upon it four impressions of the Royal Arms, alternating with four founder's marks. The circular mark found on the bell was reserved for Henry Oldfield's more important work, among which was Great Tom of Lincoln, cast 1610. The eighth and sixth bells were also from the Oldfield Foundry, which was carried on in Nottingham for two hundred years, and the seventh and fifth, added after the Restoration, have borders and lettering which suggest Oldfield workmanship.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, NOTTINGHAM.

At least half the present peal replace earlier bells. As early as the end of the fourteenth century, William Brayer de Nottingham was a prominent bell founder, and there is a record that in 1394 the clerk was sued for selling a clapper.

The inscription on the bells are as follow:—

Treble.—C. and G. Mears, Founders, London. Recast in 1856. J. W. Brooks, Vicar; W. Dearden, J. Coops, Churchwardens.

(The original inscription would probably have been the same as that on the second bell; and both seem to have been given at the time of the coronation of King George III.)

(Inscription is in small Roman capitals, curiously arranged.)

3rd.—Rev. Scrope Beardmore, D.D., Vicar. G. Brown, H. Ward, J. Burgess, Churchwardens, 1765. By subscription. Sodales Musici Nottinghamienses Restauraverunt. Lester & Pack, of London, fecit. Translation: 'Nottingham friends of music restored me' (supposed to be the Sherwood Youths).

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN DERBYSHIRE RINGER.

MR. CHARLES SEVERN, OF KILLAMARSH.

His many friends will regret to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Charles Severn, which occurred at his home, Bridge Street, Killamarsh, on Thursday, August 2nd, from heart failure.

Mr. Severn had been a ringer and captain at St. Giles' Church, Killamarsh, for upwards of 46 years, and rang most regularly for service up to the commencement of his illness nine months ago.

Always of a cheerful disposition and ever willing to lend a hand in peal or practice, he set an example in service which many might follow with beneficial results to the Exercise.

He started his ringing career at the Church of St. Giles in the year 1887, and later joined the Yorkshire Association, the old East Derbyshire Association, now the Sheffield and District Society. He also was a member of the Midland Counties and North Notts Associations.

Among his collection of 86 peals can be mentioned his first peal of Treble Bob Major, which he composed and conducted at the first attempt in the year 1898. He was also one of the band who rang in the first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major, conducted by the late Sam Thomas. Of that band only one remains in the person of Mr. Thomas Bettison, of Mansfield. Mr. Severn also composed and conducted the first peal of Spliced Treble Bob Major for the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. Severn was an authority on Minor methods, and arranged and conducted the first peal of London Surprise Minor in seven different extents ever rung. He also arranged and called the first peal of Cambridge Minor, the first for his association. His greatest ambition was to arrange and conduct the first peal of Double Surprise Minor ever rung, namely, Biddulph Double Surprise Minor, of which he was the author, upwards of 30 years ago. He was never so happy as when composing, transposing or proving methods, in which sphere his advice has been sought from far and near.

The funeral took place on Saturday, August 4th, at the Church of St. Giles, the Rector (the Rev. J. Milner) officiating. Others who attended besides the family mourners were the churchwardens members of the Church Council, of which Mr. Severn was a member, Mr. M. E. Wilson (secretary of the Sheffield and District Society), Mr. S. F. Palmer (representing the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association), Mr. Arthur Knights and Mr. W. Allwood (Chesterfield District of the Midland Counties Association), Mr. Palmer (Staveley), Mr. Howes Smith (Eckington), Messrs. Reece and Morris (Barlborough), Mr. Thomas Bettison (of Mansfield Woodhouse), and the local company. There were also many floral tributes sent, including one in the shape of a bell from deceased's fellow-ringers.

The deepest sympathy and condolence goes out to the widow and members of the family in their sad bereavement.

4th.—As the 3rd, except for Latin pentameter: 'Untouched, I silent am; strike, and I sweetly sing.'

5th.—Inscription translated from Latin: 'When my voice is lifted up, do Thou, O Jesu, direct pious souls. O come, let us sing.' I. Edwardes, I. Sweetapple, Churchwardens.

6th.—Ralphs Shawe and Henry Alvie, Wardens, 1613; Robert Aldred, Vicar.

(This bell bears two founder's marks of Henry Oldfield, jun., the Calvary cross, crescent and star, and H.O., and a fleur-de-lis between the two letters H.O.)

7th.—Translated: 'May this bell be consecrated by the Blessed Trinity.' W. Slurup, T. Graze, Wardens, 1690.

8th.—Translated: 'In the name of Jesus Christ let every knee bow, of things in Heaven, of things in earth and of things just.' R.A.V., M.G., 1605, W.L.

9th.—Translated: 'Thus, O Bell, with thy sound, do thou summon the hosts of the Lord.'

(The names of the Mayor, Wardens and Alderman appear on this bell, which is dated 1595.)

Tenor.—Rev. Scrope Beardmore, D.D., Vicar; G. Browne, H. Ward, J. Burgess, Wardens, 1765.

'I will sound and resound unto thy people, O Lord, With my sweet voice, and call them to thy word. I tole the tune that doubtful is to such as live amiss, But sweet my sound unto them who hope for joyful bliss.' Lester & Pack, of London, fecit. (Weight 34½ cwt., dia. 57½ in.)

This bell seems to be, at least, the fifth of its line. There was, presumably, its predecessor in pre-Reformation times; then, in 1590, the 'greate bell' was set up, which was perhaps the one 'brought from Mr. Quernbe's.' This must have been recast about 50 years later, for Blackner gives the date of the tenor bell as 1637, and states that it was broken in 1757 and recast by Heddorley. Finally, the present tenor bell was cast in 1765.

There is also a priest's bell. It has no inscription, date or decoration.

The great interest of St. Mary's, Nottingham, to ringers is the fact that this was the church where William Doubleday Crofts, the Nottingham solicitor, who was a pioneer of change ringing in the Sherwood Forest district, did most of his ringing.

BEETLE UPSETS A MEETING.*RINGERS' CELEBRATION OF SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN JUBILEE POSTPONED.

As long ago as 1785 Bobbie Burns wrote 'the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley.' Nearly 150 years afterwards we realised the truth of his words when, with a deep disappointment, it was learned last Thursday that the meeting of the Nottinghamshire ringing organisation in connection with the Southwell Diocesan jubilee could not be held.

All the careful preparations were brought to naught by a beetle! Unfortunately this beastie has attacked the beautiful Cathedral. The work of eradicating the pest has been proceeding for some time, and has necessitated the erection of scaffolding up to and around the precarious balcony from which the bells are rung, and the taking up of most of the floor boards, so that it is impossible to ring the bells.

Hoping against hope that the work would be completed in time, the authorities held out until Thursday, when notice was sent out reluctantly cancelling the meeting.

All who notified their intention to be present were immediately informed of the state of affairs, but to those who may have journeyed to Southwell in vain, apologies and sincere regrets are tendered, and it is hoped that 'tis but a pleasure deferred. I. T.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AT RUISLIP.*VICAR DISPARAGES THE CRITICS.

The meeting at Ruislip on Saturday of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was marked by a striking address of the Vicar, Rev. Canon E. Cornwall Jones. Basing his remarks on three messages given by the bells, summoning, sympathy and solace, he stressed the importance of the ringer's duties. Every Sunday the message of the bells went forth and was interpreted by those who heard it in many ways. People became accustomed to the bells, and, like so many things, took them for granted until they were stopped. There were some 'mean and fractious' people, he said, who disliked the bells, but he was sure that if all the bells of England ceased to ring there would first be surprise and then protests from tens of thousands of the people. As fellow-workers of the sanctuary, he urged members to perform their duties to the best of their abilities.

The shortened evensong was conducted by the Vicar with the assistance of his curate and the organist, Mr. Owen.

Tea followed in Fabb's Restaurant, with the vice-president, Mr. J. A. Trollope, in his usual role, supported by the Vicar, curate, organist and nearly thirty members and friends. Association officials were to the fore with Mr. E. Morris (Midland Counties Association), Mr. J. G. A. Prior (London County), and Mr. T. J. Fowler (Oxford Diocesan Guild), while Mr. W. Pickworth, vice-president of the North and East District, was present with Mrs. Pickworth. A very frequent and forceful 'ta' left no doubt of the presence of the younger generation, too!

At the subsequent business meeting topics of interest discussed included references to the supposed derelict six at Hayes, and to the need for efficient blocking of the louvres at the new Church of St. Andrew, Kingsbury.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Staines on September 8th, if possible, going to St. Mary's instead of St. Peter's as hitherto. Heartly thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting concluded the business.

The tower bells were rung during the afternoon and evening under the direction of the District Ringing Master, Mr. Tom Collins, and methods from Grandsire to a 'nibble' at Spliced Surprise were rung.

SUFFOLK GUILD.*THREE GENERATIONS AT A MEETING.

A meeting of the Lavenham District of the Suffolk Guild was held at Preston on Saturday week. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., the methods rung being Plain Bob, Single and Double Oxford Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise. Tea was provided in the Village Hall. In the absence of the Rector (the Rev. J. Bernard Hall) the chair was taken by his son Mr. J. Bellamy Hall, leader of the Preston company. Special mention was made of the progress of the young band of Preston and the help given them by Messrs. A., S. H. and D. A. S. Symonds. These three generations were present at the meeting.

Mr. A. Symonds informed the assembly that it was at Preston Church, 71 years ago, that he first tolled a bell, this being one that hung in a tree, the tower having fallen down. Six years later he started to learn change ringing.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, Mr. J. B. Hall for presiding, the ladies for providing tea, and Mr. H. Herbert, district secretary, for the interest he has taken in his district.

The places represented at the meeting were Bildeston, Chelmsford (Essex), Lavenham, Lyme Regis (Dorset), Preston, Stowupland and Sudbury. Amongst the visitors were Mr. E. Runtter and Miss A. White, Chelmsford, and the Rev. C. Carew Cox, of Lyme Regis.

The next meeting is to be held at Monks Eleigh on Saturday, September 8th.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION*SUGGESTED ANNUAL DINNER—DECISION POSTPONED.

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held on Saturday at Penmark, one of the most isolated parishes in the association's area, situated in the agricultural vale of Glamorgan, 'far from the madding crowd.' The attendance, though not large, was quite good, and the visit much enjoyed. The Vicar, the Rev. T. F. Price, was at the church to welcome everyone on arrival. The bells are a ring of six, and prior to the induction of the present Vicar had been idle for a few years, but through his influence they are now again rung by a local band.

A short service was held, and afterwards all were kindly invited to the Vicarage, where, in the large dining room, a bountiful tea was enjoyed.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar taking the chair. Among the items dealt with were instructors' reports, proposed restorations and augmentations and the election of new members. The last-named embraced the local band. Change ringing is not at present done at Penmark, and the leader asked if the association could assist them by sending an instructor. This request was acceded to, Mr. F. Hannington, of Cardiff, undertaking the task.

The report of the committee appointed to deal with a proposed annual dinner was read by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. W. Jones), and it was unanimously decided that it should stand over until the annual meeting, which is to be held in December.

At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was given the Vicar and his wife for their great kindness and hospitality. Those who failed to attend missed a most pleasurable Saturday afternoon, during which various methods were rung on the bells.

The next meeting will be held at Rumney.

THE N.U.T.S.*WARWICKSHIRE BRANCH.

Enthusiastic tower snatchers from Nuneaton and Coventry were on the warpath for new towers on Monday and Tuesday of holiday week, when twelve towers were visited in South Warwickshire and Leicestershire. On Monday seven towers had been selected in the south of Warwickshire, and the first of these, Kineton, was reached about 10.30. In this famous and ancient tower, the second, third and fourth bells are all lighter than the treble. After a short ring at Oxhill, the 'Snatchers' went on to Brailes, and had a look at the bells there. A look was quite sufficient, for, with a 31 cwt. tenor, they are the heaviest ring of six in Warwickshire. The double tag end on the tenor rope didn't look at all inviting. They were unable to ring there, however, as the bells have been condemned as unsafe. They then went on to Sutton-under-Brailes, where they had the unique experience of ringing the five bells from the porch. This tower was an 'extra' to the arranged programme, so they were unable to stop long at Cherington. Another ringer joined them, so they had more than enough to ring the five bells. Whichford and Great Wolford completed the programme for the afternoon, and at Whichford the visitors had the help of an old man, who, having rung the treble, and only the treble, for 'nigh on fifty years,' was very proud with himself when he rang the tenor behind to some Doubles. In the evening there remained only Shipston-on-Stour and Honington to complete the programme.

The next day, the majority of the original party, together with three others, made a tour of four towers in Leicestershire, namely, Fenny Drayton, where 16 candle stumps came in very useful to light the ringing chamber; Appleby Magna, where the youngest in the party, Norman Beesley, aged eleven, did some good work on the 12 cwt. tenor; Congerstone, where the treble was a bit of a brute; and Stoke Golding. At the last-named tower the two days' tour was finished with a 720 of Bob Minor by: R. Beesley (aged 14, and first 720 away from cover bell) 1, Percy Stone (aged 13) 2, William A. Stote (conductor) 3, Harry Hill 4, Ernest Yorke 5, Malcolm Melville 6. Thus ended a very enjoyable two days' outing, and best thanks are due to the incumbents of the various towers and to those who made the arrangements. M. M.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association took place at Burbage on Saturday, when there was a good attendance. Good use was made of the bells (a fine peal of eight by Taylor and Co.) from 3.30 p.m. to 5 o'clock, after which the party sat down to a splendid tea in the Co-operative Hall.

At the business meeting which followed, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Broughton Astley on September 1st.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, and also to those who had prepared the tea.

Further ringing took place until eight o'clock, when the bells were lowered and a successful meeting brought to a close. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

CUMBERLAND RINGERS EXCURSION.

On Saturday, August 11th, a party of seven ringers from St. Mary's, Egremont, held their annual outing. Leaving Egremont at 1.30 p.m. by motor, they arrived at Millow, where Mr. Slater met the party. The bells, a very nice ring of six, were soon going, and a 720 of London Surprise and 360 Stedman Doubles were successfully brought round, the first in the method on the bells. A run of seven miles through some lovely scenery brought the party to Broughton-in-Furness. Here Mr. Clark, the worthy secretary of the Furness Branch, met the party. The bells are a ring of eight and 'go' beautifully. What struck the ringers was the care with which the belfry and the bells are kept. Not a bit of grease or dirt to be seen on the bells or frame. This is as things should be, and it is a pity that the example is not copied more extensively. With the help of Messrs. Clarke and Barker, touches of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were rung and also a 360 Cambridge Surprise. A splendid tea was partaken of and thoroughly enjoyed. A move was then made for Dalton, 15½ miles away, through more beautiful scenery. Here Messrs. Metcalf and Newby met the ringers. Mr. Metcalf very kindly pointed out to the visitors various interesting things, the most notable being the grave of the famous artist, Geo. Rowney. The ringing chamber here, as at Broughton, is kept beautifully. Whether the Parochial Church Council or the ringers themselves are responsible, the writer did not learn, but whoever are they deserve every praise. The bells are a ring of ten, tenor about 22 cwt. in E flat, and are all that can be desired. With the help of the local ringers, some of the visitors had their first ring on ten bells, and a plain course of Bob Royal was rung. Afterwards Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were brought round. It was now after 9 p.m. The party were loathe to leave, but a start was made for home, which was safely reached at 11.15 p.m.

The writer would like to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents of the churches and also those who met the visitors and had everything in readiness. Their best thanks are also due to their energetic secretary, Mr. W. H. Cooke, for making all the necessary arrangements, which went to make these outings such a success.

RINGER'S SILVER WEDDING.

The peal of Spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major at Shepton Beauchamp, on Saturday, was arranged and rung to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Wyatt. It gave the ringers much pleasure to be able to pay this tribute to them. The peal was duly 'toasted' by setting a few things 'up at back stroke' and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt 'all the best.'

The peal was the first of 'Spliced' Major by the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association and in Somerset.

A peal of Double Norwich was also rung at Bridgwater.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL COMPANY IN LINCOLNSHIRE

A PLEASANT TOUR.

The Sheffield Cathedral ringers had their annual outing on a recent Saturday by taking a trip to Lincolnshire.

Starting at 8 a.m., a very pleasant journey was made by coach through the Dukeries, a call being made at Grantham soon after 10 a.m. Here the bells were raised, and the fine old peal of ten put into changes first with the tenor 'in' and then with the tenor 'out' in order that the good qualities could be heard from both aspects.

After a chat with a few of the local company, who were good enough at this early hour to give the visitors a friendly welcome, the journey was continued by way of Sleaford and on to Boston, where at the Scala Cafe and Restaurant full justice was done to an excellent dinner.

The famous 'Stump' was the next objective, and a steady climb made to the ringing chamber, where the party found Mr. F. Dewey and others of the local company ready to receive them.

Having already heard the praises of this new peal of ten by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., all were anxious to hear for themselves and judge accordingly. Consequently, the bells were immediately set to changes with touches in various Caters and Royal methods. With the help of friends, a full hour was devoted to both ringing and listening outside, with the result that all were unanimous in voting the peal an excellent one, whilst the 'go' was everything that could be desired.

As the writer had the honour of taking part of the last peal rung on the old bells under the extremely difficult conditions which prevailed at that time, he cannot speak too highly of the improvements made in the ringing chamber itself, and for the comfort of the present ringers in the performance of their duty, without any interference with the fabric. Although by no means ideal, it is now a pleasure to ring at Boston, and the bell hangers are to be congratulated on their work in this direction alone.

Reluctantly the bells were lowered and a descent made of the long pile of steps, the general expression being that it was a good thing these were not at Sheffield, or that ringers were not compelled to do the double journey more than twice each Sunday. Compensation, however, was derived from the magnificent views of the surrounding country obtained from the top of the tower.

A start was eventually made to the last rendezvous, by name of Surfleet, a place now come to be known as the Mecca of most travelling ringers in the east. Here again they found Mr. Rupert Richardson anxiously on the lookout and the bells all ready. This tower, as is well known, boasts of a very light peal of twelve, and at first touch rather difficult of handling, but having once raised them, all difficulties were soon overcome, and some good touches of Cinques and Maximus indulged in, with a course of London Surprise on the back eight as a variation.

Mrs. Richardson very kindly invited the party to, and bade them welcome at, Glyn Garth, where, with the usual good-natured hospitality, an excellent tea was awaiting them, the full courses being reeled off with enjoyment. Due thanks having been given, further ringing on the tower bells was done to satisfy the pleasure of all concerned, after which, at the express invitation of 'Rupert,' a return was made to Glyn Garth for a demonstration of his now famous cinematograph exhibition. With his boundless enthusiasm and earnest desire to please others, reel after reel was thrown on the screen in a darkened room to the delight of all, the bit-bit, however, being the pictures taken on the Sheffield ringers' visit two years ago, when they all, for the first time, saw themselves in action, much to the amusement of everyone. Other pictures of ringing celebrities were greatly enjoyed, including the latest taken at the Central Council meeting at Warwick. The whole performance lasted well over an hour, and Mr. Richardson was heartily thanked for his trouble in putting up the 'show' for the visitors' special benefit.

As all good things must come to an end, a return was commenced after bidding Mr. and Mrs. Richardson 'Good-bye' and 'God-speed' on their forthcoming visit to Australia. Sheffield was eventually reached soon after 11 p.m., with another of those pleasurable and never-to-be-forgotten days added to memory. Sincere thanks are offered to the incumbents of the towers visited, and to all friends who so kindly gave their assistance in an endeavour to make the outing as enjoyable as possible.

A WEEK-END IN ESSEX.

The St. Mary's, Putney, Association, spent a very pleasant, if rather hot, week-end, touring Northern Essex recently. Saturday, at seven 'ack umma,' a dozen locals stowed themselves aboard a very roomy coach, having their curate-in-charge (Rev. Peter Wansley) to see them off and to wish them a good time. The route took the party through London, and, on the other side, Epping Forest was crossed. Nothing very exciting occurred except taking a wrong road, and nearly missing breakfast. However, the White Horse, Harlow Common, and breakfast were eventually found. The first ringing was done at Harlow Common, and a sweet modern peal of about 11 cwt. was tried out in various methods. The outing secretary (hereinafter called the 'O.S.') would brook no delay, and the party were soon again speeding to the next objective, namely, Sawbridgeworth. Here is a hefty peal of about 25 cwt., which gave the heavy men an opportunity to loosen out their muscles. The bells go fairly well and are noted more or less as being a good old peal, although the ringing circle is anything but one. 'Behind schedule,' said the nuisance (O.S.), so off again, after wishing farewell to Mr. G. Dent, of Harlow, who was responsible for the arrangements hereabouts, to Stanstead, where, after wangling the coach into a queer place with some difficulty, the party found themselves at the wrong church. A kind lady held up traffic while the coach was got on to the road again and supplied the driver with explicit instructions as to the whereabouts of the proper edifice, which was found in due course. Here the Vicar welcomed the party, hoping to receive the latest test match figures. He could have been supplied with figures all right, but not the sort he wanted.

Stanstead has a beautiful church with some Norman doorways, etc., surrounded by roses which smelt divinely, pleased all, while in the tower a handy peal of some 13 cwt., hung back-handed, kept the ringers busy for 40 minutes or so. The Vicar extended the party an invitation to ring 'out' on the next evening, the O.S. booking it like a shot. Time does not stand still, however, and the party were bundled off to Thaxted, where it was said lunch would be taken. Someone else must have done this, however, but eventually the matter was remedied, and a visit was paid to the Parish Church, reputed to be the finest in Europe. Opinion was very much divided on this point, although there is certainly a fine hammer beam roof, which no one seems to have noticed. There is a long draught of rope, and ringing is done from the ground floor. The ropes could do with some attention, but in spite of them a couple of touches were rung, and the visitors had perforce to 'get on' to Pinchingfield, where a good old style eight were soon going to standard methods. Being, according to the O.S., now up to schedule, a few extra minutes were spent here, what time 'Bill' took a snapshot. This should be good if he had it the right way round. At the time he really couldn't say.

Off next to Braintree, where the company were to be quartered for the night. Here Mr. Wiffen and another of the Putney band were picked up, and the ringers climbed a steep ladder to ring on a musical modern eight, whose founder nobody asked. No ringing was being done here on Sundays until some repair had been carried out, so other arrangements were made for that day. After tea, the party moved on to Dunmow, taking Mr. Wiffen with them, and were met by Mr. Smith and the Vicar. A good look round a splendid church, a good pull on the splendid peal of eight here hung, and the party were ready for H.Q., supper and bed, but not before Mr. and Mrs. O.S. had looked for and found a late corner.

On Sunday, early celebration for some, and after breakfast a run again to Dunmow, picking up Mr. Wiffen and an old friend, Ron Bullen, some time of Hampstead, etc., to ring for divine service, Double Norwich being rung amongst other things. Service for some, and back to Braintree. After tea they went over to Bocking to a splendid eight and rang for service. Then came the problem how to get back to Stanstead at 7.20 as appointed. It was done to 30 seconds, and a splendid touch of Stedman saw the congregation out. Two courses of Bob Major completed the ringing. The Vicar came up with thanks, and the ringers departed for home with bundles of roses from Mr. Watts. A short halt was called at Sawbridgeworth to replenish the radiator, and away for London and Putney, the latter being reached about 11 o'clock. There was a fitch, but it somehow got mislaid. We understand Mr. O.S. has now found it at home. Question, Has he won it? Time will tell. The party would like to thank all the gentlemen who helped to make this a very successful event, especially Messrs. Dent, Wiffen and Smith, of Harlow, Braintree and Dunmow respectively, whose efforts were much appreciated by

AN OPPORTUNITY.

A very valuable suggestion has been made by Mr. Stephen Wood which might serve a double purpose. It is that, in the larger areas, at any rate, ringers might, with advantage, give some help to unemployment centres by running short courses of lectures. These centres are only too grateful for help, and lectures of an interesting and educational character are particularly welcomed. Mr. Wood ventilated his proposal at Warwick, and his idea is that in populous areas a few ringers should get together and work up a 'show.' Its form must necessarily depend upon the individuals concerned and the amount of local talent available, but even if it is only of a simple kind it would, without doubt, be greatly appreciated, for anything that will help to wile away the tedium of idle hours and create a new interest is a boon.

There are various things which ringers could do to make up an interesting evening. A lecture on bells, bell founding and bell history can be made instructive as well as interesting. With Nicholl's 'Bells through the Ages' and Morris' 'History and Art of Ringing' at hand, there is plenty of material obtainable for the purpose, which, supplemented by lantern slides, which all the leading bell founders are always ready to loan, can be worked up into a really good 'talk.' Another subject which would be likely to take on would be a lecture, given in a simple style, on the rudiments of change ringing, illustrated with demonstrations on handbells, and for this purpose it is not essential that a band of ringers, each capable of ringing a pair of bells, shall be available. It is more showy, of course, to do the thing 'double handed,' but it would probably give the uninitiated audience a better idea of the art if the handbell performers rang only one bell apiece. We mention this detail in order to show that the subject need not be beyond the capacity of even moderate ringers, given the will to attempt something on behalf of their less fortunate brethren. Another thing which also goes down well and can be incorporated in any lecture connected with bells is tune ringing, which is a never-failing source of delight to an audience.

Here, then, is a useful piece of work which ringers could do in many places to help lighten the weary hours which thousands of unemployed have to pass. Nor is it likely to be without good result in other directions. Seed sown in this way may produce a harvest by bringing recruits to the belfry, for it would be a poor lecturer who did not improve upon his opportunity to enlist the practical interest of members of his audience. If people can be shown that there is really something in the ringers' pursuit, some fascinating interest far beyond anything they had imagined, it would be strange if some tangible result in the shape of men ready to learn was not achieved. And what better than offering a new sphere of activity to men tired of wasting their time in idleness? There would be many hours in which they could practise on bells with clappers lashed as a means of making themselves proficient in ringing with the bells open. We are quite sure there must be many ringers up and down the land who will be willing to act upon Mr. Stephen Wood's suggestion, for anything that will give a little pleasure or a new interest to the unemployed is surely worth the doing—even if not one single new ringer is got as a result.

OAK FRAMES AND THEIR CARE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should be glad if you can find space for a few remarks on this subject and a few other points connected with bells. While admitting that we have had two exceptionally dry summers—and winters as well—the weather has proved the quality of workmanship. In my own tower the bells were increased to six in 1894 and to eight in 1900 in oak and iron frame, and only one bell, the 5th, has had screwing up since, and the bells go as well as on the day the bell-hangers finished. This kind of workmanship speaks for itself and needs no further comment from me.

Take the other side. A nearby tower has a peal of eight rehung some few years since. The frame has to be screwed up, and, worse still, three clappers have parted company. What have the bell-hangers to say to this? Screwing up will not remedy this fault or defect, whichever name you call it by.

I might add that in the former case the rehanging in 1894 was in a new frame, but in the latter case the old frame was only tightened up. My conclusion is, therefore, that many old frames are not worth the time and money spent on them. It would be interesting to hear other readers' views on this important subject.

MACHINE 'RINGS' PEAL.

5,024 DOUBLE NORWICH ON MR. G. WOODHOUSE'S INVENTION.

The first true peal on a ringing machine has been accomplished. Mr. G. F. Woodhouse's invention (which was described in these columns a fortnight ago) has performed a perfect peal of Double Norwich Major, a 5,024 which the inventor composed himself. It occupied 2 hours 52 minutes.

It followed another attempt for a peal of Superlative Surprise, but in this, after about 600 changes, a key, as on a former occasion, failed to function, and a change course took place. Mr. Woodhouse, however, went on and completed a round block of 5,088, but the peal, of course, did not 'come round.'

Ringling long lengths, Mr. Woodhouse tells us, has a curious mesmeric effect on the human performer. During the Double Norwich he went clean asleep on one occasion and woke up just in time to 'call' a bob at 6.

He hopes soon to try a peal of Stedman, which will be a great test for the bob keys, but such a performance will be rather a strain on the mind of the operator, who has to actuate the bob-making key.

PORTSMOUTH.—On Sunday, August 19th, for matins at the Cathedral, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes): C. H. Shephard 1, F. W. Stemp (first quarter 'inside') 2, J. H. Cassidy 3, P. Giles 4, L. P. Cook 5, E. G. Williams 6, F. W. Burnett (conductor) 7, W. Tate 8.

JOHN BUNYAN.

HIS LOVE OF BELLS AND RINGING.

By R. A. DANIELL.

John Bunyan, the 246th anniversary of whose death occurs on Aug. 31st, was a member of the Exercise in its early days, and his name is more widely known than that of anyone else who has ever been connected with it. He was one of the most remarkable Englishmen of his day, and much has been written about him. Bodily, he was tall and athletic, and mentally he was gifted with keen observation, a retentive memory and vivid imagination; and though his education was of the scantiest, and he never had any appreciation of literature and never even knew anything about it, he became a master of English prose writing. He wrote about sixty books and pamphlets, and one of them, 'The Pilgrim's Progress,' ranks among the greatest imaginative productions of any age or country.

WHERE BUNYAN RANG.

Elstow Church, Beds. The tower is detached from the Church.

It is not, however, with his life at large that we are now concerned, but with his connection with bells and ringing.

Bunyan was born at Elstow, a village near Bedford, in 1628. His father was a brazier, or tinker, and Bunyan was brought up to the same trade. When he was sixteen he was drafted into the Parliamentary Army at Newport Pagnell. In 1647 he returned to Elstow, where he took an active part in the village sports and dancing, and, as he tells us, took much delight in ringing. A year or two later he married a young woman who came of a Puritan family and brought with her two Puritan books, which Bunyan began to read. Puritan theology is somewhat gloomy, and after a time he became morbidly introspective and suffered from a sort of religious mania.

This disturbed state of mind led Bunyan to abandon ringing, and there is no doubt about the attendant circumstances, because he has recorded them in his 'Grace Abounding.' Dr. John Brown, in his 'Life of Bunyan,' has this comment:—

'When a man comes under the dominion of conscience and is a stranger to love, conscience is apt to become somewhat of a tyrant; a false standard is set up, and things right enough in themselves seem to become wrong to the man.'

'Bunyan had hitherto taken pleasure in the somewhat arduous diversion of ringing the bells in the tower of Elstow Church. He began to think this was wrong, one does not quite see why; still having this misgiving about it, he gave up his bellringing but not the love of it.'

Dr. Brown did not quite see why—nor did Bunyan; he had no intelligible reason to give to himself. His reading had left him a stranger to love and had infected him with fear; and there ensued in his mind a struggle between fear and reason. He had to 'force' himself to give up ringing, and then it was only half-heartedly, for he continued to go into the belfry till he became frightened lest a bell should fall and kill him, and then he watched the ringing through the open doorway till he was afraid the tower itself might fall on him. This was final; fear had conquered reason, and he turned away to come back no more.

From this unhappy condition of mind he became delivered through a friendship he made with some good and kind women at Bedford. They were members of a Baptist community, and with them and their circle he was calmed; love came to him and cast out fear, and his mind was again normal. But he did not resume ringing; the scheme of his life was altered, and he eventually became a Baptist minister.

But notwithstanding this great change in the setting of Bunyan's life, the love of ringing remained with him. He heard plenty of it, and he understood and appreciated it; he had had much delight in it, and he was permanently recovered from the mental illness which had severed him from the practice of it. And so, in 1678, when writing his 'Pilgrim's Progress,' having brought his pilgrims into sight of the heavenly city, he wrote 'they thought they heard all the bells therein to ring to welcome them thereto,' and after they had entered, 'then I heard in my dream that all the bells in the City rang again for joy.' Bunyan had risen to the conception of an everlasting home of love, and in seeking for imagery to express the joy of it his mind went back to his happy ringing hours at Elstow, and he hung bells in the towers of the City of God and gave ringing a part in the life of Heaven.

In 1682 Bunyan wrote another religious fiction, 'The Holy War.' This contains a description of a siege of a town which was in the hands of rebels, and was captured by an army under the command of Prince Emanuel. The inhabitants expected to receive severe punishment, and when they found that they were to be pardoned the young men were ordered to ring the bells for joy. Later he wrote 'A Book for Boys and Girls,' a small volume of songs in which familiar things are treated as emblems, one of which is headed, 'On a Ring of Bells.' The bells, he says, are like the powers of the soul, and the body is the steeple, where they hang. The ringers are graces who are good strikers, and

If these ringers do the changes ring,
Upon my bells they do such music make,
My soul then, Lord, cannot but bounce and sing,
So greatly her they with their music take.
But unskilled boys who grasp the ropes produce only disorder, and these boys are lusts.

Then, Lord, I pray thee keep my belfry key,
Let none but Graces meddle with these ropes.

HILLINGDON RINGERS' OUTING.

St. Andrew's ringers, Hillingdon, held their annual half-day outing on Saturday, August 11th, when, accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. R. Home), they left at 2 p.m. and travelled via the Chalfonts and Amersham to Stoke Mandeville, where a musical light peal of eight were rung to touches of Grandsire, Oxford Bob, Stedman Triples and a course of Double Norwich. Resuming the journey via Aylesbury, they reached Buckingham for tea. The Parish Church was afterwards invaded and the grand peal of eight was soon going to Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob. The beautiful church was then inspected and greatly admired.

The journey was continued through the beautiful countryside via Bicester and Thame to Haddenham, where, again, ringing took place. On the homeward journey a halt was made at Princes Risborough for refreshments. Uxbridge was reached all too soon, after another successful outing, which was thoroughly enjoyed. The writer would like to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents of the churches, and also those who met the visitors and had everything in readiness.

A FAREWELL.

At Chatham, on Sunday evening, August 12th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: V. Jarrett 1, J. Kidd 2, H. Hogarth 3, A. Fisher 4, S. Shellock 5, C. Norris 6, F. Beisey (conductor) 7, G. Lawrence 8. First quarter-peal of Stedman by Arthur Fisher, and rung as a farewell to him on his joining H.M.S. 'Valiant.' The Chatham ringers wish to thank him for the interest he has taken in ringing during his short stay, and also congratulate him on the progress he has made.

And the last stanza runs:—

O Lord, if Thy poor child might have his will,

And might his meaning freely to Thee tell,

He never of this music has his fill;

There's nothing to him like Thy ding, dong Bell.

Surely, no one has appreciated ringing more highly than John Bunyan appreciated it, and it supplied him with happy thoughts throughout his career; for his children's song appeared in 1686, and he died on the 31st of August, 1688.

RIPPINGALE NEEDS HELP.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wonder if I may through your columns commend the little competitive scheme which we have forwarded to a number of towers throughout the country and ask the very kind and brotherly co-operation of my fellow ringers.

We have to raise a large sum for the very urgent restoration of our bells. We have under 500 parishioners, and no monied ones, and after raising over £100 we find we must appeal for outside help. We have launched our appeal in faith, trusting to the comradeship of our fellow ringers to aid those in difficulty. I trust, therefore, they will not leave our appeal unanswered, but will do their utmost to help us. We shall be so grateful for their assistance.

S. LAXTON, Bells Secretary,
Rippingale Parish Church, Lincs.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*THREE DISTRICTS MEET AT SWAVESEY.

A very happy gathering of Ely, Hunts and Central District members of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Swavesey, Cambs, on Saturday. The bells being in good ringing order, good use was made of them, many visitors getting something fresh. One achieved a first 360 of Plain Bob. Both Hunts and Central Branch Masters were present (Mr. H. Fields, St. Neots, and Mr. A. J. Ginn, Over), but Mr. C. W. Cook, Ely Branch Master, was unavoidably absent. Also present were Miss K. Willers, Mr. J. W. Ward and Mrs. E. Wakeing, of Somersham.

The feature of the meeting, so rare and notable in the Ely Association, was the presence of the local company, who are only at the Plain Bob stage. Mr. B. Hodson, the local captain, hopes, however, to get Treble Bob rung during the coming winter.

Methods rung at the meeting included Stedman, Plain Bob and Double Court, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise.

FIRST BY A LOCAL BAND.

At SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Wing, Rutland, on Monday, August 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): W. Sewell 1, W. J. Tugwood (conductor) 2, F. Sewell 3, F. Hubbard 4, H. Goodman 5. First quarter-peal by ringers of treble, 3rd and 4th; first quarter-peal with inside bell by ringer of tenor, and believed to be the first quarter-peal ever rung on the bells by a local band.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

After being parish clerk for over forty years at Nash, Monmouthshire, Mr. Cornelius Cox has just rung his first peal at the age of 57. Canon C. C. Marshall, the genial president of the Yorkshire Association, was the preacher in the service broadcast from his church, St. Chad's, Far Headingley, on the North Regional on Sunday evening.

As the outcome of a collision between his car and a motor-cyclist at a road junction in Northampton on Friday week, which resulted in the death of a motor-cyclist, Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Chilcompton, near Bath, the popular hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, has been charged with manslaughter. The case has been adjourned, and was to come on for hearing again last Wednesday.

Comdr. John D. R. Davies, son of the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, whom many will remember as the soloist at the Tewkesbury Abbey service, when the new bells and chapel were dedicated in memory of his father, has recently accomplished an extraordinary feat. He has climbed the four highest peaks in the four countries of the British Isles in four days, covering the road journey between each on a lightweight motor-cycle.

On Wednesday, August 1st, he climbed Carnlough, in Ireland (3,414ft.), and travelled 308 miles to Snowdon, in North Wales. On August 2nd he climbed Snowdon (3,560ft.) and rode 174 miles to Scafell. On August 3rd he climbed Scafell Pike (3,210ft.) and travelled 210 miles to Ben Nevis (Scotland), which he climbed on August 4th.

Those who spend a hectic 'holiday' in peal ringing for a week will have to look to their laurels. Two peals a day on consecutive days in Ireland, Wales, England and Scotland has not been done yet! And that, coupled with doing the intervening distance by steamer and motor-cycle, is about the equivalent of Capt. Davies' feat.

For the benefit of those who, owing to the holiday season, did not care to exercise their mental faculties in guessing the titles which appeared in abbreviated form in this column last week, here are the solutions:—

A.O.P.G.—Ancient Order of Peal Grabbers.

I.O.T.M.—Independent Order of Tenor Measurers.

S.S.D.S.—Select Society of Date Snappers.

We hear that one of the N.U.T.S. failed to keep an appointment at Cambridge on Sunday, and that, failing satisfactory explanation, he has, consequently, been fined 2s. 6d. for non-attendance.

Messrs. Stephen Long and Frank Price rang in a peal together at Symondsburry, Dorset, on Saturday. The last peal in which they rang together was in 1906. After the Symondsburry peal the ringers were entertained by Mr. Long, and they wish to thank him for his hospitality.

Mr. John W. Jones, hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, whose genial personality is known to ringers in nearly every corner of England and Wales, rang his 400th peal last week. It has taken him more than 45 years to do it, but in the interval he has done a vast amount of spade-work, and is never without learners in his own tower. Incidentally it is interesting to read that his 400th peal was rung on the same bell as his first.

The time record for a peal at South Wigston, Leicestershire, has been lowered from 2 hours 44 minutes to 2 hours 43 minutes, so a footnote to a peal rung last week tells us. What we should like to know is, which is the best peal on the bells! That is the more important thing.

Although all veterans' records were easily surpassed by the performance at Hart Street, London, at the end of last year, an interesting peal was rung on August 24th, 1868, when a band whose united ages amounted to 553 years rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major 'in masterly style' at Guiseley, Yorks.

The ringers were J. Hanson (Huddersfield), aged 78; J. Kendal (Otley), 73; C. Iles (Leeds), 74; W. Senior (Earlsheaton), 68; H. Hubbard (Leeds, formerly of Norwich), 64; T. Dawson (Bradford), 62; I. Illingworth (Bradford), 62; W. Dumbleton (Pudsey), 68. H. Hubbard was the conductor.

Sunday is the anniversary of a very famous peal of Grandsire Triples. It is thus recorded on a tablet still to be seen in the belfry of St. Peter Mancroft Church, Norwich:—

'On the 26th of August, 1718, was rung that Harmonious Peal called Grandsire Triples, which have been ye study of ye most ingenious men of this Age, who delight in ye art of Variations, but all their projections have proved errors until it was undertaken by JOHN GARTHON, who with long Study and Practice have perfectly discovered those Intricate methods which were hidden from the eyes of all the ringers in England; the extent of this peal being 5,040 changes have oftentimes been rung with changes alike, but the first time that ever it was rung true was in three hours and a half, without any changes alike or a bell out of course by these men whose names are underwritten against their Bells as they rung: James Brook, treble; John Briggs, 2nd; William Palmer, 3rd; Robert Crane, 4th; Henry Howard, 5th; Wm. Callow, 6th; Tho. Melchior, 7th; Tho. Barrett, tenor.'

One hundred and twenty years ago next Monday eight Yorkshiremen rang a peal of 12,320 Treble Bob Major at Otley, in 7 hours 15 minutes. The method was 'Yorkshire Glory' even in those days.

PREVIOUS PEALS IN THE COMMONWEALTH.

We referred last week to some of the bells which it is hoped will be available, either for touches or peals, for the English tourists who, on September 14th, leave this country upon a ringing visit to Australia. Some account of the peals that have been rung there and of the pioneers who made them possible, will doubtless be of further interest to our readers.

MELBOURNE ANGLICAN CATHEDRAL.

There are 13 bells, forming a ring of 12 and a light 8.

The first peal rung in the Commonwealth was Holt's Ten Part peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Philip's, Sydney, on April 9th, 1890, conducted by James L. Murray. On December 29th and December 31st of the same year, two peals of Grandsire Triples were rung at Holy Trinity Church, Hobart, Tasmania, the only two peals that have been rung in that island. They were both Grandsire Triples and are recorded on a bell-shaped tablet in the tower. The ringers in these two peals were William Shenton, Henry Adams, John Beechy, Joseph Clarke, Thomas B. Hall, William Atkinson, James C. Murray and S. Wilkinson. The only difference between this band and that which rang the first peal at Sydney was that F. M. Guest and F. H. Joyner, who rang at Sydney, were replaced at Hobart by H. Adams and S. Wilkinson.

THE SEVENTEENTH ATTEMPT.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, in his article below, gives particulars of some of the other peals rung in the Dominions, but, as showing the difficulties met with by ringers in those expansive and distant parts, we quote from a letter written in 1898 and published in 'The Bell News.' It is dated from Melbourne:—

'On Saturday evening, September 10th, 1898, a band of the Victorian Association of Change Ringers met and rang at St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral a true and complete peal of Grandsire Triples, 5,040 changes, in 3 hours 18 minutes. Tenor 31 cwt. 1 qr. in C sharp. *Sylvester J. Hallissey (Victoria) treble, *Matthew M. O'Shea (Victoria) 2, *James P. Nolan (Victoria) 3, *John C. Nolan (Victoria) 4, James L. Murray (Victoria) 5, †Arthur E. Barnes (England) 6, *Joseph Freeman (England) 7, *Walter Woollard (England) and *Isaac Davis (England) tenor. Composed and conducted by A. Barnes. Referees: Messrs. E. O'Shea and W. Shenton, who ticked off every lead as the peal was rung. * First peal. † First peal as conductor. First peal by the association.

'Nearly eight years have passed since a peal was rung in Australia, and this is the first peal that has been checked while being rung and it is also the first time a purely local band have rung a peal on the bells of their own city in this country. The composition was by a local ringer.

'We have been two years trying to get this peal; the difficulties of getting a band to practise together has greatly retarded us, and we often had intervals of from two to six months between the attempts. Seventeen attempts in all have been made, in which we have rung over 42,000 changes. Time for all attempts: 27 hours. On three occasions we have had to stand owing to men becoming exhausted on account of the excessive heat of our summer months. We owe our present success to the fact that we have had four good practices in a month. The striking throughout was good, and Mr. Shenton and myself, as referees, who watched the coursing order, declare that not one bell was wrong in taking the lead right through the peal. The peal was transposed to make the 3rd the observation. Mr. Woollard took the tenor for the first hour and a quarter, then Mr. Davis relieved him for the next hour and a quarter, when Mr. Woollard again took her till the bells ran into rounds. As you will see, Messrs. Barnes, Woollard, Freeman and Davis are Englishmen, the rest Australians.

EDWARD W. O'SHEA.

Hon. Sec., Victorian Association.'

The six-bell peal at Ballarat, on February 1st, 1897, consisted of 720 each of Oxford Treble Bob, Oxford Delight, Violet, Plain Bob, New London Pleasure, Oxford Bob and Kent Treble Bob. It was rung by: James Thomsett, Charles Fleay, William Strick, John Pattison, Harold Sandberg and Thomas Biddle (conductor). It is the only peal rung of Minor outside the British Isles, and it is noteworthy that the ages of the ringers (except the 5th) ranged only from 17 to 20 years.

Altogether five peals of Grandsire Triples and one in seven Minor methods have been rung in Australia; two of Grandsire Triples in Tasmania; one of Grandsire Triples, one of Bob Triples and one of Grandsire Triples (all conducted by T. W. Biddle) at Christchurch, New Zealand. In addition there has been one of Grandsire Triples at Woodstock, South Africa (1904) and one of Grandsire Triples at Vancouver, Canada (1914). This is the sum total of peals rung in the British Empire outside the British Isles.

AUSTRALIAN CONDUCTORS.

The name of James L. Murray, of Melbourne, writes Mr. W. H. Fussell, is destined to live long in the annals of Australian change ringing, not only as a conductor of the first peal in all Australasia, but the first throughout the whole of the Colonies of the British Empire. He was ably assisted by Mr. Harry Adams, of Kidderminster, with whom I had the pleasure of ringing at St. Mary's Church just prior to his going abroad.

In this first peal the band consisted of Sydney and Melbourne men, and the bells were not going any too well at St. Philip's Church under tropical conditions. Adams rang the 7th, whilst two men tackled the tenor of 20 cwt. to the Whitechapel octave erected in 1858.

James Murray followed up this success by taking part in most of the performances that followed in Melbourne, including peals in Tasmania and South Africa (rung at Woodstock in 1909), a unique record worthy of Empire recognition.

Naturally the honours of the first peal were amicably reversed when, as the 'Victorian Society,' the ringers spent a Christmas holiday at Hobart, Tasmania, in December, 1890; Murray rang the 7th at Holy Trinity Church to Adams as conductor on December 29th. New blood was brought out in Mr. J. B. Clarke, who called the second peal on December 31st on the same bells.

To carry on the good work next appears Mr. J. M. Guest—a Staffordshire man—who does not seem to have had the energy and perseverance of his fellow Victorians. His share of the honours consisted of calling 'Holt's Ten part' at Melbourne Cathedral, January 1st, 1891, and taking part in 'Reeves' Variation' on the same bells, when he was over 80 years of age, in 1925, which was the last peal rung 'down under,' and was conducted by a New Zealander, Mr. A. C. Fitzgerald.

Mr. Guest's peal brought forth a treble man in Mr. A. E. Barnes, who emigrated from Devonshire, and was afterwards to become the 'star of the South' in ringing. He did much to keep it shining in a country where ringers were few and far apart. Mr. Barnes' leadership led to the first peal on the heavy eight bells at the Cathedral, Melbourne, in September, 1898, which was also first by the Victorian Association. To him belongs the honour of composing the peal

(No. 33 in the Central Council Collection), with the 'tag of 350' rung at the end of Part V. instead of at the start. Baines did most of his ringing in Melbourne and also conducted the 'Original' when the heavy tenor was rung single-handed for the first time in July, 1904.

Whilst the Victorian Society were slowly progressing in the art, their neighbours in New Zealand were also keenly following the long long trail under the able conductorship of Thomas W. Biddle, who called the first peals in the Colony at Christchurch Cathedral and who introduced Plain Bob in January, 1903. All the previous peals in the far South had been performed in the Grandsire method. It is of interest to note the epidemic of peals that occurred in 1890, when 'firsts' were rung in all three colonies—Sydney in April, New Zealand in July, and Tasmania in December of that year. It was a valuable effort to spread the art in the Commonwealth, broken for about 20 years, until the peal in Melbourne in 1925. Australia has been passing through a very serious depression, financially and industrially; good ringers have had to wander from their towers and good bells have been neglected or only sounded by makeshift appliances in too many instances.

Perhaps the Anglo-Australian gathering of church bell ringers in Melbourne in 1934 to celebrate the centenary may lead to a fuller appreciation of the English practice of bellringing proper such as the men of the Motherland have followed for three centuries.

RINGING CONDITIONS IN AUSTRALIA.

Mr. R. F. Deal, who lived in Australia for some time, writes:—
I read with interest your article on the forthcoming Australian tour, and as I have some experience of Australian towers and ringing conditions, I hope your correspondent will pardon me if I correct him in one or two statements. Perhaps, also, you will allow me to supplement his information somewhat. I admit that my acquaintance with affairs 'down under' is not up to date—I left Sydney early in 1915—and while there may be improvement in some respects, probably no startling changes have occurred since that time.

Regarding St. Paul's, Melbourne, your information is correct. This is a fine tower, and when I was in the city a peal could have been rung without difficulty. My own experience in this tower was not, however, a happy one, but at the present time visitors will no doubt receive fair play, and the support of the local company.

Your correspondent, perhaps, is not aware that St. James' Church was moved some years ago to a fresh site. The bells went with the church, but through incompetent advice were left in an unringable condition, and probably no improvement has been made. The bells at St. Patrick's (R.C.) did not go at all well, and were quite devoid of music. I do not think the eight at Toorak are hung for ringing, which perhaps would not be appreciated in that aristocratic suburb.

Information relating to Ballarat is correct—I was not fortunate in getting any ringing at the City Hall, but believe the bells were in fair order. This is considered a fine eight. At Bendigo and Geelong the bells were quite unringable, and will still be so unless substantial repairs have been carried out in the towers.

I have no knowledge of Perth, but once rang at Walkerville, South Australia, and found the bells going very badly. Darling Point is not near Adelaide as stated, but is a district of Sydney. This mistake probably originated in the founders' list.

St. Philip's, Sydney, has a handsome tower, and is situated in a quiet square in the centre of the city. It is surrounded by business premises and hotels, hence the difficulty in getting permission for ringing. Possibly the tower would be reopened as a concession to visitors, but arrangements should be made well in advance. I cannot say if ropes are still in existence, and I assume that some overhaul would be necessary.

I am not aware that the bells at Camden are hung for ringing. This place is, I believe, some distance from Sydney. The St. Mark's referred to is Darling Point, where the bells should be in good order. St. Jude's, Randwick, cannot be recommended for peals, being a steel ring, heavy going and musical qualities nil. The late A. E. Baines referred to these bells as the 'Camp Ovens.'

There is a nice light six at Parramatta (15 miles from Sydney). At the time I rang there the treble had a nasty slip-wheel habit, and 720's were impossible. There is another light six at Christ Church (City), a poor lot, but in good order.

The six at St. Benedict's, which is given in the Whitechapel list, disappeared years ago.

I hesitate to tender opinions or advice for which I have not been asked, but I respectfully suggest to the tourists that it is unwise to expect great success in peals. Their best chances are, I should say, Melbourne (St. Paul's), Sydney (St. Mary's R.C., a fine eight) and Hobart. It is advisable to give personal attention to lubrication and ropes; these details should not be left to local ringers, who, in some places at least, will not realise their importance.

Were I personally able to take part in such an undertaking, I should want to go out with a 'cast-iron' band, preferably with a bellhanger or two in the party! However, I wish all success to the tour.

RICHARD F. DEAL.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WEDDING GIFTS TO DISTRICT RINGING MASTER.

The North and East District meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at Barnet on Saturday last, was undoubtedly a popular fixture, some 50 ringers attending during the afternoon. The ringing was varied to suit all tastes and abilities, with rounds for those just beginning. The usual service was very well attended, after which a good tea was 'put away.'

At the business meeting two new members were elected, including Mr. Frank Barratt, an old member of the association, who is to be Ringing Master of the band which it is hoped will soon be ringing the bells at St. Andrew's, Kingsbury (formerly St. Andrew's, Wells Street, London).

Items of business were the choosing of St. Mary's, Enfield, for the next meeting on October 27th; the announcement of a four-association joint meeting arranged to be held at Waltham Abbey on September 29th; and a statement on the position at Kingsbury, where the church is to be consecrated and the bells opened on October 13th.

Attention was drawn by the hon. secretary to a recent article in 'The Ringing World' on the large variety of plain methods which ringers, who had not reached the Surprise stage, might practise, and suggested that at least one of these methods might be chosen as a special method for district meetings, a new method for each meeting. As a preliminary, he announced that a special practice meeting had been arranged at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on Monday, September 10th, the special method being 'Double Bob Major,' with Plain Bob and Double Norwich as 'variations.'

The next item of business was one of great interest. The Chairman (Mr. W. Pickworth) called on Mr. J. Bennett to make a statement.

FUTURE FIXTURE 'RIGHT OFF.'

Mr. Bennett referred to an important event which had recently taken place, namely, the wedding of their District Master (Mr. A. W. Coles). It was not everybody's job to be District Master, said Mr. Bennett, but they were all agreed that Mr. Coles carried out his duties efficiently and well, and to the satisfaction of most. On such an auspicious occasion it was thought that they should give Mr. Coles something to show their appreciation of his work. He (Mr. Bennett) had endeavoured to approach everybody who might be interested, and Mr. Reuben Sanders had consented to act as treasurer. Mr. Sanders was at present away on holiday, and until he returned it would be impossible to say if the fund was complete. They were, however, able to purchase for Mr. Coles a handsome clock (which he had himself chosen), and hand to him with the clock the balance of about £5 up to date, to enable him to purchase anything else he desired. Mr. Bennett also referred to a certain bachelors' peal rung two years or so ago, and a fixture which was arranged for 1936 which was now 'right off.' He wished Mr. Coles and his wife a long and happy life.

The Chairman, on behalf of members of the association, asked Mr. A. W. Coles to accept the clock and purse as a token of their goodwill, and wished him and his wife every happiness.

Mr. Tom Collins (Master of the South and West District) said that the members of his district had requested him to convey to Mr. Coles good wishes for his future happiness, and hoped that he would still spare some time to visit them now and again.

Mr. A. W. Coles thanked the chairman and the members for their handsome present. He said that when he was in a certain peal he never thought he would be in this position (loud laughter). He said that it had been stated that seven old crusty bachelors and one handsome one were in that peal, and, as one of the seven, he had not thought he even had a chance. He was, therefore, in hopes of seeing the only handsome bachelor in a similar role very soon. He thanked members very much for their kindness, and added that as regards the peal in 1936 he believed there was a candidate for the vacant place in the room (laughter).

The Chairman proposed an omnibus vote of thanks to the Rev. P. C. Dean (Barnet) and the Rev. G. Richardson (Hadley) for the use of their bells; to the Rev. Young for taking the service; to Mr. H. W. Strickland (one of their own members) for officiating at the organ; and to Mrs. Wicks (widow of one of their late members) for arranging tea.—This was carried unanimously.

Afterwards ringing took place at Hadley as well as at Barnet, and it was noticed that Double Bob had its tricky points, and even surprised Surprise ringers.

PEALS AT HOLLINGBOURNE, KENT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With all due compliments to my friend, Mr. A. Waddington, may I say that the last peal rung at Hollingbourne, Kent, was a seven-method one, rung in either 1923 or 1924, and conducted by William Nye, of Teynham. Also although the tenor is reputed 21 cwt., she only measures 45 inches in diameter, and that would make her about 15½ cwt. I have rung her, and do not think she goes any more than this. The quick time of the peal—2 hours 48 minutes—should bear this out.

Forest Hill.

A. P. CANNON.

STEDMAN'S BELLS.A CALL TO CAMBRIDGE RINGERS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It must be a source of great regret to many ringers to read that the bells of St. Benedict's Church, Cambridge, have already suffered so much from neglect that they have become loose on the stocks, and that even after some preliminary attention it was not thought safe to continue a peal on them.

The Central Council and all the leading bell founders do their best, by the issue of printed instructions, to inform ringers of the necessity of constant attention to wooden frames, and it can only be assumed that in the case of St. Benedict's there can be no regular ringers there to watch over these historic bells, which more than any others ought to be carefully tended.

What has become of the young band that was started at Stedman's Church, after the ringers of England had restored the bells in memory of this father of our art? If my information is correct, they were frightened off by the speeches of Mr. E. D. Taylor, who, as a bell founder, we must admit, spoke with knowledge, but whose warning has had the result of leaving the bells without regular ringers, and, therefore, without anyone in a position to report upon their condition.

A thoroughly good job was made of the restoration, and a thoroughly good band ought to have been trained to ring there. Had there been only a young band with a competent instructor ringing regularly at the church, there would have been someone to put the necessary spanner on the nuts, or at all events to tell the authorities that the bells needed this little attention.

The ringers of England not only restored the bells, but relieved the authorities of St. Benedict's Church of the cost of restoring the tower. If I remember aright, as much or more was spent on the tower as on the bells. Surely we may expect that the church authorities will keep the bells in order, and if they have been unaware up to now that they needed attention, will forthwith call on the bell founders to put them right, before more serious dilapidation occurs. Perhaps an official communication from the Central Council might lead to something being done.

But not only do we want to see the bells put in order again and maintained in good ringing condition; there ought to be a band to ring them. I have heard it said that Cambridge is not an altogether happy place in the promotion of change ringing—exactly how far this is so I have no personal knowledge—but there ought to be ringers in and around Cambridge with sufficient real interest in the art to render whatever voluntary service is necessary to get a band started at this church. The ringers of England honoured the memory of Stedman by making it possible to hear again the bells he rang on, and upon which, in all probability, his famous method was first heard. But no memorial to him could equal the regular ringing of St. Benedict's bells for the services of the church and instructing 'the young idea' in the art he did so much to improve and foster. Cambridge ringers—go to it!

MICKLETON, GLOS.—On Sunday, August 19th, for morning service, 714 Grandsire Triples: L. Kinchen 1, S. Loynes 2, W. Large (conductor) 3, F. Kinchen 4, F. Tuffley 5, J. Keyte 6, H. L. Terry 7, J. P. Keyte 8.

REOPENING OF STONE-IN-OXNEY BELLS.*MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. CHARLES PLAYER.

A by-meeting of the Kent County Association and the monthly meeting of the Romney Marsh and District Guild were held at Stone-in-Oxney in connection with the reopening of the bells after restoration as a memorial to the late Charles W. Player, and the unveiling of a tablet recording this fact, on Saturday, August 18th.

About a hundred ringers and friends attended the service in the very old church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. C. J. White. The service opened with the hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell,' followed by suitable prayers and the lesson, taken from Ecclesiasticus 44, beginning 'Let us now praise famous men.' After this the Vicar spoke a few words of welcome, and explained the purpose of the service. Then followed the hymn, 'O God, our help in ages past,' during which the Vicar, accompanied by Mr. C. Tribe, of Tenterden, and Mr. Smith, and followed by the congregation, proceeded to the tower, where Mr. Tribe unveiled the memorial tablet.

The Vicar then performed the dedication and offered suitable prayers. Mr. Tribe and Mr. Smith then, in a few well-chosen words, each paid tribute to the life and work of he whom this work of restoration commemorates.

The tablet bears the words, 'These bells were restored in A.D. 1934 by the parishioners, ringing friends and others in memory of Charles W. Player, for many years a member of the local company, the K.C.A. and the R.M. and D.G.' It is the work of Mr. Charles Mee, of Ipswich.

During the singing of the hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' the congregation made their way back to their seats, and the very impressive service closed with the Blessing.

Touches were then rung on the bells until 5 p.m., when a splendid tea was served in the Memorial Hall. On the way from the church to the hall, four members of the two societies rang touches on the handbells, which were very effective.

After tea the business of the Romney Marsh Guild was dealt with. The usual votes of thanks were passed, and Mrs. Player personally thanked all who had helped with the memorial to her late husband.

The ringers then returned to the tower and made good use of the bells until 9 p.m.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.*GROWTH IN MEMBERSHIP.

The annual report of the Chester Diocesan Guild, briefly referred to in our last issue, expressed the deep sense of loss sustained by the Guild through the death of the Rev. A. T. Beeson.

The ringing activities generally, says the report, have been well maintained as far as Sunday service ringing and branch meetings are concerned, but we feel there is much room for improvement as regards practices, and we take the opportunity of reminding members that in every branch there are competent instructors who would only be too pleased to give every assistance in their power.

It is a matter of congratulation to all concerned that every branch shows an increase of funds. This is also true of the Guild itself, due mainly, in the case of the Guild, to saving on the cost of the report, including the receipt of substantial fees, partly arrears, for advertisements, and no grants to towers.

The total number of honorary members shows a decrease of three, nine having resigned or lapsed, as against six new members. Ringing membership has increased from 598 to 622, due largely to the re-entry of West Kirby with nine members, and the inclusion of Fairfield (Buxton) with seven members.

For the third successive year we regret to report a decrease in the number of peals rung—63 as against 71 in 1932. This does not necessarily mean that interest in peal ringing is diminishing, for, on the contrary, by the peals record and the number (namely 31) of first peals in the method, we think there must have been a large number of attempts in the advanced methods, with, however, ultimate success. One outstanding success which deserves special notice and congratulations is the peal of Minor in 38 methods rung at Knutsford. This constitutes a record of which the band concerned and the Guild may well be proud. The Editor of 'The Ringing World' has classed it as the most outstanding performance in the country during 1933. There have been fewer conductors—15 as against 23 in 1932, three conducting for the first time. The peals were rung by 162 members, 21 ringing their first peal, as against 26 in 1932.

A comparative summary in the report gives statistics for 1932 and 1933. The 1932 figures are here given in parentheses: Resident members' subscriptions, £45 3s. 9d. (£45 4s. 6d.); hon. members, 55 (58); ringing members, 622 (598); life members, 2 (2); members in arrears, honorary 2 (5), ringing 39 (32); peals rung, 63 (71); members taking part, 162 (182).

The bells of the diocese are reported to be in good condition. There has been only one restoration, the six bells of Davenham having been rehung on ball bearings. There is, however, room for improvement in some towers as regards the go of the bells, adds the report. Unnecessarily arduous ringing conditions mean that young ringers, who should be encouraged, are being discouraged and are turning away, and we venture to draw the attention of the Church authorities to this matter.

ASSOCIATION GUIDE.

SECRETARIES' NAMES AND ADDRESSES.

The following are the names and addresses of the secretaries of the principal associations of ringers. The list will be useful in many ways, but its publication is chiefly in order to facilitate the scheme for keeping ringers, who remove from one area to another, in touch with ringing and bringing them into contact with the tower nearest to their new place of residence. When a ringer goes to live in the area of another association, the local secretary should forward his new address to his general secretary, who will pass it on to the secretary of the association to which the member has gone, and, through him, the ringers in the town to which the member has removed will be able to hunt up the newcomer—if he needs it—and give him a welcome and an invitation to the local tower.

Any corrections to the subjoined list should be forwarded for publication:—

RINGERS FAREWELL GIFT.

PRESENTATION TO A BRANCH PRESIDENT.

Members of the Thrapston branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild met at Twywell on Saturday week to bid farewell to their president, the Rev. F. H. Lang.

The members assembled on the Rectory lawn, where refreshments were served by the Rector and Mrs. Lang, after which the secretary (Mr. J. Nickerson) spoke of the good work their president had done during the 11 years he had been with them, and hoped he would 'carry on the good work' where he was going.

The secretary asked Mr. Lang, on behalf of the members, to accept a case of pipes, and also handed to him tobacco, cigarettes and matches.

The Rector said he would always remember the happy times he had spent with the bellringers. He hoped they would continue the good work, and thanked them all for their splendid gift.

Mr. H. Short endorsed all their secretary had said and wished Mr. Lang the best of luck in his new sphere of work.

Mr. Cyril Wilson thanked the Rector and Mrs. Lang for entertaining them.

The members, after hearty handshakes with the Rector and Mrs. Lang, returned to the church tower and rang several more touches, ending a pleasant evening.

PRITTLEWELL PIONEER.

DEATH OF MR. W. BEDWELL.

Prittlewell, Essex, has lost a pioneer of change ringing by the death of Mr. W. Bedwell, who passed away on August 9th at the age of 74 years. Fifty years ago Mr. Bedwell taught himself and five others to ring on the old six bells at Prittlewell, and finally got his first 720 of Minor in the year 1887, a performance of which he was very proud. Prittlewell now has a ring of ten bells, and Mr. Bedwell continued to ring regularly every Sunday for service. He had rung between 30 and 40 peals.

After evening service on Sunday, August 12th, a half-muffled quarter-peat of Bob Major (1,260 changes) was rung by N. Townsend (first quarter-peat) 1, W. Dudley 2, W. Perry 3, J. Fowler 4, A. North 5, F. Lufkin (conductor) 6, G. Welson 7, G. Bacon 8. On the following evening, with the bells again half-muffled, 1,248 Kent Trouble Bob Major was rung by W. Perry 1, J. Fowler 2, G. Wilson 3, H. Wilson (conductor) 4, A. North 5, S. Baybutt 6, F. Lufkin 7, G. Bacon 8.

STEDMAN'S BELLS.

There is a good deal of truth in the remarks made in the letter which appeared in our last issue with regard to the bells at St. Benedict's Church, Cambridge, restored about three years ago by the ringers of this country in memory of Fabian Stedman. It has been disappointing to hear, through visiting ringers, that the bells have already suffered to some degree from neglect and our correspondent is probably correct when he attributes it mainly to the fact that there is no regular band at the church. It is true that a company of beginners started to learn ringing, but the warning of Mr. Denison Taylor, given first at a meeting of the Midland Counties Association and afterwards in the Central Council, ended in the practices being dropped. If beginners ought not to be taught on the bells for fear of damage, the only alternative, if they are to be rung, is to get together a more or less experienced band, but that, in Cambridge, is not apparently an easy matter. We would, however, endorse our correspondent's call to the ringers of Cambridge to make an endeavour to ring these historic bells regularly. It should be counted a privilege to do so, and it should be looked upon as a duty to keep them in proper trim.

The case of St. Benedict's is, of course, not singular. The same kind of trouble arises in other towers where wooden frames and fittings are installed, and no one is made responsible for keeping the many nuts tightened up. In every tower there should be a properly appointed steeplekeeper. If he be a man with a sense of responsibility he could be trusted to look after the bells, and report anything which is beyond his capacity to rectify. If he failed he should be 'sacked.' It is in the tower where there are the most enthusiastic ringers that the bells receive the greatest care and attention, and the best safeguard that the bells will be kept in efficient running order is the maintenance of a keen band. For their own sake, as well as from an appreciation of the importance of the charge entrusted to them, they keep the bells in order. And in the long run it pays a church to encourage their ringers, for bells well rung and cared for go much longer without serious overhaul than bells which hang unring in the tower for long periods. In the case of St. Benedict's we feel sure the best remedy would be the establishment of a local band, and we believe this could be set up without serious risk to the bells if the matter were approached in the right way. Three or four ringers of experience with a similar number of beginners could soon be made into a band competent to ring the bells, and with careful tuition there ought to be no risk to the bells themselves. It is only when beginners are

SERVICES AT RINGING MEETINGS.

PROS AND CONS DISCUSSED BY MANCHESTER DISTRICT RINGERS.

A quarterly meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at St. Mary's, Prestwich, on Saturday, August 18th. Though not overflowing in numbers, the ringers present represented most of the towers in the branch, and also included visitors from West Houghton, Warrington and the Bolton Branch.

A service was conducted by the Rector (Canon F. W. Cooper, M.A.), who also gave an address. Tea was afterwards taken in a nearby cafe. The business of the meeting was held in the tower, with the branch president, Mr. C. Ollier, presiding.

At the request of the chairman, the meeting stood in silence as a mark of respect to the late Mr. Sam Greenhalgh, Pendleton.

The following places were chosen for forthcoming meetings: September 15th, practice meeting at Miles Plating; November 17th, quarterly meeting at Reddish. The October meeting is left out on account of the annual dinner of the association, which is being held in Manchester on October 27th.

Mr. Christopher Gudgeon, Worsley, was elected branch president for the next two years, the retiring president (the chairman) being given a vote of thanks for his services during his term of office.

A rather interesting discussion followed on the question of services at ringing meetings other than annual meetings. It was said that some ringers might prefer to spend more time ringing instead of attending a service which was much shortened and often without music, and that the majority of ringers had opportunity to attend service at their own particular church on the recognised days. It was pointed out, too, that it might be at great inconvenience to himself that a clergyman consented to conduct a service on a Saturday afternoon when he might be taking advantage of a few hours' rest before the start of a day upon which he might have to attend two or three services. To find only a very small congregation at such a service, for which he might also have gone to the trouble of preparing an address, must be very discouraging indeed to any cleric. This point of view was agreed and disagreed with.

At the close of the meeting votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector and the local ringers.

JOHN BUNYAN AND BELLRINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Dr. Brown may not have known why Bunyan gave up ringing, but surely Mr. Daniell is wrong when he says that Bunyan did not know himself. He knew very well. It was because such secular things as dancing and ringing did not accord with the ideals of the religious life held by the stricter sort of the Puritans. Such ideals are not popular nor understood nowadays. We do not agree with them; but they are neither unintelligible nor unreasonable; and they were held by thousands of people for many years. I, myself, who came of an East Anglian Puritan family, was quite familiar with them as a child.

Bunyan says that his conscience told him that bellringing was wrong. He tried to compromise. He 'forced himself' to leave it; yet his mind hankored. Though he dare not ring, yet he would go and look on. His conscience still told him he was doing wrong; but he defied his conscience and 'forced himself' still to go to the belfry. Until at last the fear of God's anger finally drove him out of the Exercise.

Here are quotations from two books written by prominent Puritans, one just before Bunyan's time, the other in the middle of the 19th century:—

'Not long since in Bedfordshire whilst two were in the belfry tolling of a bell there was suddenly heard a clap of thunder and a flash of lightning was seen by some of them that sat in the church porch coming through a dark lane and flashing in their faces which much terrified them and passing through the porch into the belfry it tripped up his heels that was tolling the bell and struck him stark dead.' That is given as an example of God's anger against Sunday bellringing.

The other author is writing of Bunyan. He says: 'A new source of uneasiness now presented itself in his practice of bellringing an occupation requiring severe labour usually performed on the Lord's Day; and judging from the general character of bellringers it has a most injurious effect both as regards morals and religion. We are not to conclude from the example of a man who in after years proved so great and excellent a character that under all circumstances bellringing and dancing are immoral. In those days such sports and pastimes usually took place on the Lord's Day and however the Church of England might sanction it yet it is now universally admitted that it was commanding a desecration of the Sabbath and letting loose a flood of vice and profaneness. In themselves on proper days for recreation such sports may be innocent, but if they engender an unholy thought or occupy time needed for self examination and devotion they ought to be avoided as sinful hindrances to a spiritual life.'

That was the general Puritan attitude towards bellringing, and it was so strong that even men like Ellaconbe, who was not a Puritan, wrote and spoke against Sunday bellringing.

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION AT RAYLEIGH.

A fine afternoon favoured the gathering at Rayleigh on Saturday, and this no doubt brought many from distant parts, who on arrival were cordially greeted by the Rector, this being the first meeting since his induction to the living. The bells were soon going, various touches being rung till 4.30, when the service, conducted by the Rector, was held, after which a move was made to the Church Hall for tea.

The Rector presided at the business meeting. Four new members were elected, and Wanstead was chosen as the place for the next meeting, the district annual, the tentative date being November 17th. The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. A. C. Sowter for allowing the use of the tower and bells, conducting the service and presiding at the tea and meeting; to Mrs. Sowter for kindly, at a moment's notice, accompanying the hymns, etc., at the service; and to Mr. Stewart, hon. secretary of the local band, for making all arrangements, etc. The Rector and Mr. Stewart responded.

The tower was again visited and opportunity given to all present to have a pull in their favourite method, of which full advantage was taken. The hon. secretary announced that the annual joint meeting of the Essex, Hertford and Middlesex Associations with the Ladies' Guild would be held at Waltham Abbey on Saturday, September 29th, and extended a hearty welcome to all to attend.

During the afternoon and evening upwards of 40 members were present from Prittlewell, Broomfield, Rayleigh, Great Baddow, Woodford, Bentley, Corringham, Fobbing, Springfield, Hornchurch, Leytonstone, Romford, Danbury, Wanstead, South Weald and Leigh-on-Sea, and touches in various methods, ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise, were rung.

BURBAGE RINGERS VISIT DUKERIES.

The St. Catherine's ringers and friends had their first outing on Saturday to the Dukeries. Starting at 1.30 p.m., a very pleasant journey was made by bus through Leicester, Loughborough and Nottingham, and then on to Mansfield Woodhouse, where the ringers rang on the peal of six. Tea was served at the Institute.

Afterwards the journey was resumed with a delightful run through Sherwood Forest and the Dukeries, where the famous Lime Tree Avenue and other places of interest were greatly admired. The return journey was via Six Hills and Leicester, home being reached about 11.30 p.m. after a most happy and delightful outing.

TWO SATURDAYS IN KENT.

A 'TOWER-GRABBER' IS CONVERTED TO A NEW METHOD.

'The Garden of England' was at its best on Saturdays, July 28th and August 25th, when six youthful members of the N.U.T.S. paid visits to six towers on these respective dates. The first run was to Cowden, Haver and Chiddingstone. Leaving Bromley Common at 2.45 p.m., Cowden was reached at 3.45 p.m. The church is pretty, but the bells might go a bit better for their weight (tenor 8½ cwt.). A 720 Oxford Treble Bob was rung in 25 minutes by *F. C. Shorter 1, R. H. Vigor 2, H. Blackett 3, E. Barrett 4, *J. G. A. Prior 5, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 6. * First 720 of Oxford. Tea was taken, but first an exciting game of clock golf was played by the London County secretary and the Forest Hillite, the former winning by one stroke! A move was then made to Haver, and another 720 Oxford Treble Bob was rung by A. P. Cannon 1, H. Blackett 2, F. C. Shorter 3, R. H. Vigor (conductor) 4, E. Barrett 5, J. G. A. Prior 6. Afterwards a course of Cambridge Surprise. The last tower for the day was Chiddingstone, and the lovely old-world village was much enjoyed, as also were the touches on the fine peal of eight (tenor 19½ cwt.). Mr. E. H. Everest and his son, Mr. L. Everest, kindly met the visitors and rang Stedman and Kent Major. Mr. Cooke, who had kindly come from Haver, also took part. A little refreshment and then home to bed (but only for four). The golfers spent the night in Epping Forest prior to a trip into Suffolk on the following Sunday.

The next trip was to West Malling, Snodland and Birling. The same band, excepting Messrs. A. W. Durham and J. Roberts, of Lamberhurst, came instead of Mr. F. C. Shorter. West Malling was reached at 4 o'clock, and the party were kindly met by Messrs. Slowman and Tucker. Grandsire Triples and Oxford Treble Bob were rung.

After tea came the 'tit-bit' of the day. Snodland are a splendid peal of six, with tenor 12 cwt., and a capital 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung: *H. Blackett 1, A. W. Durham 2, J. G. A. Prior 3, *R. H. Vigor 4, *E. Barrett (conductor) 5, *A. P. Cannon 6. * First 720 of Surprise. It was also the first 720 of Surprise on the bells. This was a great pleasure to all concerned, especially the tenor-man, who now thinks Surprise 'great stuff'! The average age of the band was 19 years and all were under 22. They would be interested to know if they are the youngest band to ring a 720 Surprise in Kent.

The last tower was Birling, and on a left-handed peal of eight (tenor 12½ cwt.) call changes and Oxford and Kent Minor were rung, but the ropes were rather on the thick side. The tenor rope would do credit to Southwark tenor (50 cwt.). And so to bed, with happy thoughts for past and future trips.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Ten peals were rung on the Devon tour, which concluded last week. There were only three failures. At West Teignmouth the fifth rope slipped wheel five times in a quarter of an hour; at Ipplepen the tenor was quite unpealable; at Ugborough the 7th clapper broke after 35 minutes.

After being a ringer at Disley, Cheshire, for 45 years, Mr. William Atkinson scored his first peal last Saturday at the age of 61. He rang the treble to seven 720's of Treble Bob Minor, in which 21 methods were spliced. In contrast, the peal celebrated the 21st birthday of another of the ringers, Mr. Stanley Arden.

Believed to be the youngest resident Dorset ringer to score a peal, Frank Hiscock, of Lyme Regis, took part in a peal of Doubles at Uplyme last week at the age of 14.

Archdeacon Howson, who has been such a good friend to the Lancashire Association, is leaving Liverpool, and a 'farewell' meeting is to be held at St. Luke's, Liverpool, on September 8th, when the Archdeacon hopes to meet as many members as possible.

With reference to the remarks respecting 'quick' peals at South Wigston in this column last week, 'E. M.' writes: 'As the ringer of the treble in the 2 hours 44 minutes' peal (which is commemorated by a tablet), I can only say it was 'perfect' and ably conducted by H. Broughton. Further, I am assured by the conductor of the 2 hours 43 minutes' peal recorded last week that that also was a good peal . . . nuff said!'

One hundred and fourteen years ago on Sept. 2nd next, the first peal was rung upon the bells of St. Michael's Church, Bishop's Stortford. It was a peal of Grandsire Caters, 5,039 changes, by the Junior Society of College Youths, and conducted by Henry Symondson, sen. It is recorded on a tablet in the belfry.

MR. J. T. DYKE'S MOTORING ACCIDENT.

POLICE WITHDRAW MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE.

The charge of manslaughter which was brought against Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Chilcompton, the hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, as the result of a motoring accident in which he was involved in Northampton, when a motor-cyclist was fatally injured, was reduced to one of driving without due care and attention and passing traffic lights at red, when the case came on for hearing at Northampton Borough Police Court on Wednesday week.

The police withdrew the more serious charge, the prosecuting solicitor stating that no evidence could be produced to show that Mr. Dyke deliberately and wantonly passed the traffic signals at red.

The evidence was that on a night of drizzling rain, Mr. Dyke approached the traffic signals, which turned to red just one or two seconds before he reached them. He collided with the motor-cyclist on the other side of the cross-roads. On behalf of Mr. Dyke, it was stated that he did not see the traffic lights at all. The drizzling rain obscured his windscreen and he was undoubtedly confused by the street lamps. He was horrified when he found he had passed the red light and hit a motor-cycle.

The magistrates, while agreeing that the police had done the right thing in not proceeding with the case of manslaughter, imposed the maximum penalty of £20 and costs.

REWARDS FOR BEGINNERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I quite agree with 'Reflex.' There is, very often, no incentive to beginners to continue ringing after they have mastered 'rounds.' If certificates were issued for the first plain course, with spaces for the foreman to sign when the pupil has rung some other method or methods, this would lead up to a medal for the first peal and bars for each successive peal in other methods. I am sure this would put more heart into a learner and encourage him to continue ringing. The Central Council could issue the certificates to the foreman and charge a small sum for them—say 1d. for certificates and 6d. for medals.

Byways, Hurst.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

A meeting was held at South Shields on Saturday, August 18th, when there was a fair attendance, members being present from Newcastle, Whickham, Chester-le-Street, Gateshead, Sunderland, Kirkby Stephen and West Hartlepool. The bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening, the methods rung being Grandsire and Shedman Triples, Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.

Tea was held in the Institute, and after enjoying the good things provided, the Rev. Hudson Barker heartily welcomed the ringers to South Shields. He said it was always a pleasure to him to be at ringers' gatherings. He was shortly moving to another living near Berwick, but he hoped always to be able to attend the association's annual meetings, as he had done for many years.

It was decided to hold the next district meeting at Gateshead on Saturday, November 3rd.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and to the ladies for providing tea concluded the meeting, after which the ringers made their way back to the belfry.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

UNIQUE GIFTS FOR AUSTRALIAN RINGERS.

When the band of English ringers who are to tour Australia leave these shores in a fortnight's time they will take with them among other things gift albums for Melbourne and Hobart. The albums contain photographs of Cathedrals and notable churches which, we feel sure, will be greatly appreciated by the ringers in the Commonwealth. The gifts have been organised by 'The Ringing World,' and will be taken out to Australia as a token of goodwill from the ringers of this country. Practically every ringing organisation has joined the scheme, so that it is completely representative, and the collection of pictures is not only valuable, but vividly illustrates all that is typical in English ecclesiastical architecture and historically important in the story of ringing in these islands, as far as photographs are available. The albums, indeed, are unique.

The ringing guilds and associations throughout the British Isles readily co-operated with the Editor of 'The Ringing World' in making up this very fine collection of pictures, and to those secretaries who have given their willing assistance and often gone to much trouble he expresses his sincere thanks.

FAMOUS CATHEDRALS AND CHURCHES.

The collection has been made up in duplicate. One copy will be presented to the Melbourne Cathedral Society, at whose invitation the trip is being made, and the other to the Hobart Society in Tasmania. All the pictures are of whole plate size (about 8 inches by 6 inches), and they are mounted in loose leaf albums. They include all the famous cathedrals with rings of bells, from ancient Canterbury, York and Durham, to modern Truro, from St. Paul's Cathedral in London to St. Patrick's in Dublin, from St. Mary's in Edinburgh to Winchester in Hampshire. The beautiful spires of Lichfield, the mellow richness of Exeter, the massiveness of Hereford and Wells, and all the other glorious possessions which we own in our Cathedrals are mirrored in these albums. St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, where the first peal was rung in England; Christ Church, Waterford, where the first peal was rung in Ireland; St. Bene't's in Cambridge, where Fabian Stedman rang; St. Bride's in London which knew Annable; St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, where Shipway was a ringer; Ilkley in Yorkshire, where Jasper Snowdon rests; Appleton, Painswick, Ashton-under-Lyne, Southwark, Loughborough, and St. Martin's, Birmingham, where many historic records have been made; these and others from 38 English counties, and from Wales, Scotland and Ireland form the collection of pictures—about 125 in each—which will be taken to our ringing brethren in Australia with the fraternal greetings of the whole of the Exercise in these islands.

In each of the albums will be a title page and a specially written introduction. The pictures have been arranged with the London Cathedrals and churches first, followed by those of the counties in alphabetical order, with the Cathedral (where there is one) coming first and the churches in alphabetical order of their place names. The albums are of the loose leaf variety, and the black and white prints are on black mounts, which show up the photographs to splendid advantage, while the captions are printed in white ink.

The following list of the organisations which have contributed to the albums shows how representative is the gift to our ringing brethren in Melbourne and Tasmania.

THE PRESS TAKES NOTICE.

The coming tour is receiving notice far outside ringing circles, and the Press is devoting attention to it, both in this country and the Commonwealth.

Last Saturday the 'Times' had an article upon the subject, in which was quoted many of the facts about Australian bells which have appeared in 'The Ringing World.'

The Press Bureau of the Church of England, in the weekly issue of 'Church Notes' to the Press, has included a paragraph which is prefaced with the remark that 'No visitors from the Motherland to Melbourne, Victoria, where the centenary of that city is being celebrated this year, are likely to have a warmer welcome than the party of English bellringers which leaves the Thames on Friday, September 14th.'

A 720 IN NEW ZEALAND.

On Thursday, July 19th, at the Cathedral, Christchurch, New Zealand, 720 Bob Minor was rung on the front six bells by G. N. Sloan 1, G. A. Lighthurn 2, S. H. Barnett 3, G. H. Claydon 4, C. Wright 5, F. H. Crawley (conductor) 6. Specially arranged for Mr. F. H. Crawley, of Crewe, who was visiting New Zealand.

Christchurch Cathedral has a peal of ten by Taylor and Co., opened in 1881. The tenor is 32 cwt. and the 'go' is fair, considering the length of time the bells have been in.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY COMMEMORATED.

At St. Thomas' Parish Church, Newport, Isle of Wight, on August 24th, on the 80th anniversary of the laying of the foundation stone of this church by the Prince Consort, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Walter Scott 1, Edward Drake 2, William Chambers 3, Arthur Drake 4, Walter Scott, jun., 5, Frank Taylor 6, William Upton (conductor) 7, William G. Scott 8.

THE FIRST PEAL OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES GARTHON'S EARLY COMPOSITION.

The 'Belfry Gossip' note last week recording the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Norwich in 1718 is worth amplifying, for it is probable that few ringers of to-day have any real knowledge of that performance. It was the first peal of Grandsire Triples ever rung; indeed, as far as is known, only one true peal of any kind had been rung before it and that was the peal of Bob Triples at Norwich in 1715.

The production of a true peal of Grandsire Triples had long eluded all the best brains among the early composers. The peal board at St. Peter Mancroft belfry itself records that 'that Harmonious Peal called Grandsire Triples have been ye study of ye most ingenious men of this Age, who delight in ye art of Variations, but all their projections have proved errors until it was undertook by JOHN GARTHON, who with long Study and Practice have perfectly discovered those Intricate methods which were hidden from the eyes of all ringers in England.'

Whatever John Garthon's composition was, it was long lost sight of, and after a time its authenticity was doubted. Shipway in his 'Art of Ringing' (1816) remarked that the honour of having produced the first true peal was claimed by London and Norwich, and quotes the record produced above, but throws doubt upon it by the comment:—

'Without pretending to decide, I shall briefly remark that if the peal had been rung in Norwich in 1718, it appears unaccountably strange that information on so important a discovery had not reached London in 1751 and that the composition of the same peal should then have been considered original and generally attributed to Mr. Holt. It is also further remarkable that of the three peals, viz., Bob Triples in 1715, Grandsire Triples in 1718 and Stedman Triples in 1731, said to have been rung at St. Peter's Mancroft, not one can be found to ascertain the truth, whereas Mr. Holt's peals are universally rung and indisputably correct.'

At that time it was generally accepted in London that the first true peal of Grandsire Triples was Holt's Original, called from manuscript by the author himself, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, in 1751.

'Clavis Campanalogia,' published in 1788, in which Holt's peals were printed, said:—

'Ever since Grandsire Triples hath been discovered or practised, 5,040 changes manifestly appeared to view; but to reach the lofty summit of this great climax was a difficulty many had encountered, though none succeeded, and those great names, viz., Hardham, Condell, Anable, etc., who are now recorded on the ancient rolls of fame, had each exhausted their skill and patience in this grand pursuit to no other purpose than that of being convinced that either the task itself was an utter impossibility or (otherwise) that all their united efforts were unequal to it; and it is possible that had it not been for the author of whom we are now about to speak (Holt), this valuable piece of treasure would at this day be fast locked up in the barren womb of sterile obscurity.'

Incidentally it may be mentioned that the probable reason why Annable had not produced a peal of Grandsire Triples was because he declined to accept the use of singles in the method. He had applied himself to obtaining a peal by bobs and plain leads only, and it was nearly a hundred and fifty years later that this was proved to be an impossibility. Had Annable chosen to use singles it is not unlikely he would have been as successful as Holt, for his general knowledge of the science appears to have been much more extensive than Holt's.

But to return to Garthon. His composition, as we have said, was completely lost sight of, but in the middle of last century came to light from two different sources, which give it an authenticity which can hardly be disputed.

Henry Hubbard, at one time a member of the Norwich Scholars, and author of a work on Change Ringing, went to live at Leeds about the year 1845, and the then conductor of the Leeds society showed him a copy of a peal of Grandsire Triples, composed by Garthon, of Norwich, which peal was said to be false. The figures had come into the hands of the Leeds ringer through William Doubleday Crofts, the Nottingham solicitor and celebrated leader of the Sherwood Youths, who had it from his ancestors, who were said to be in some way related to Garthon. Hubbard carefully went through the peal, but failed to find it false. This information was published in the sporting paper 'Bell's Life,' which, in the days before 'Church Bells' made its appearance, was the only medium of general ringing information.

But confirmation of the facts came to light very soon after when, in an examination of the Bowtell Collection of Manuscripts in Downing College Library, three volumes on bellringing were found among them. They were the work of Dr. Charles Mason, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and Woodwardian Professor of Fossils, who died on December 18th, 1770, at the age of 72 years. The name book of the College Youths shows that he was admitted a member of that society in 1727. He was also a member of the Cambridge Youths and rang at least one peal at Great St. Mary's. Among the mass of ringing material in Dr. Mason's MS. are the figures of Garthon's peal, and here they are:—

THE ORIGINAL PEAL OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

BY JOHN GARTHON.

234567	1	2	3	435267	1	2	3
247563	—	*	—	357462	—	—	—
273564	—	*	—	372465	—	*	—

The above twice repeated would come round at the quarter-peal, but by the substitution of a fifth place bob for the common one at the 30th course-end, the course-end 1435267 is produced.

The mark * represents a fifth place bob.

The above ten courses twice repeated, with the substitution of a bob-single at the 60th course-end, produces 1432567, the end of the first half-peal. Both halves are called alike.

The bob single is made thus:— 3145267

It will be seen that the peal was on the three-lead course plan and it may be that the reason why it was ignored in certain quarters was that it contained calls not recognised in the Grandsire method. When the composition reappeared in the '70's of last century considerable controversy raged round it, and there were many who held that, while the Norwich peal was the first true peal of 'Triples,' to Holt must go the credit of the first true peal of Grandsire Triples.

CENTENARIAN'S DEATH.

At St. Margaret's Church, Horsmonden, on Sunday, August 26th, a quarter-peal of Cambridge Minor was rung with muffled clappers as a token of respect to Mrs. Briscoe, aged 102 years, who died recently in Ireland. She was the elder daughter of the Rev. Sir William Smith Marriott, a former Rector, and aunt of the present Rector of Horsmonden. The ringers were Thomas Hoadley 1, Ernest C. Lambert (conductor) 2, Robert T. Lambert 3, Fredk. J. Lambert 4, Edwin Bromley 5. A. W. Durham 6.

A TRIP IN SOMERSET.

EXTRACTS FROM THE DIARY OF G. W. F.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3rd.—Leaving London at about 3 o'clock, and travelling by road with S. H. G., my wife and I reached Wrington (after a few stops) at about 8.30. At the Golden Lion we found Canon Coleridge, Bert and his pipe, J. H. B., now of Haslemere, and the ever-smiling Joe. These had just returned from Chew Magna, where a peal of Bob Major had been rung, the band being Bert, J. H. B. and a Bristol friend, assisted by Stephen, Wilfred, Chris and Brian (bright young people, late of Cambridge) and a doctor by the name of Poole, who after many years has seen the error of his ways and has now returned to the ringing fold.

We also found out from a member of the peal band that some cider is brewed and some just made. The 'just made' variety did not seem to suit all tastes.

Of the party, Stephen, Wilfred, Chris and Brian and the worthy Doctor are staying at Cold Ashton; under the watchful eye of the Rector, Canon Wood, and, we understand, some of them are camping on the lawn (presumably to give the worms and mosquitoes a treat).

WRINGTON'S SPLENDID TOWER, WHICH CONTAINS A GLORIOUS RING OF TEN BELLS.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 4th.—Was awakened by a mighty splashing and took my place in the queue. Judging from the various shapes and sizes of people, cannot understand how the water companies arrived at a depth of 5in. of water as being sufficient for a bath. Was greeted at breakfast by J. H. B., who had taken Canon Coleridge to Bristol, and S. H. G., who had taken the morning air (he complained of being disturbed by the heavy traffic).

To Chewton Mendip, where we awaited the arrival of the camping party, who were long delayed. Started for Stedman Triples, but these musical bells were not attuned to this method. Shame on me for not doing as my better half told me. Attempted a course of Stedman Caters in hand—minus handbells—to the great amusement of the party. In the afternoon to Ditchat, where, after a false alarm as to sickness hard by the church, the good Vicar gave us permission to start, and we rang a good peal of Cambridge with Wilfred in charge. After tea we enjoyed a most excellent tour of Shepton Mallet, Wells, Cheddar Gorge and Burrington Combe—a stately procession of four cars for the most part, although one took the wrong turning, whilst another, the second in order, stopped on the steepest part of Cheddar to the amusement(?) of those following. Stopped in Wells to let the engines cool down, and arrived back at Wrington to find the Canon back from his parish, where he had been to conduct a funeral. The camping party stayed to supper and the conversation was for the most part on ringing. Strange!

SUNDAY, AUGUST 5th.—All to church, where the Canon celebrated at 8 o'clock. After breakfast rang for morning service, the first touch sounding very fine, and being at the Canon's request two courses of Bob Minor on the back six, with Joe on the tenor giving a fine exhibition of how a bell of 37 cwt. should be turned in. J. H. B. set off to pay a sick visit some 40 miles away, and S. H. G. went much the same distance to visit the land of his youth. The Canon went to church to hear somebody else preach for a change.

Only four to lunch, after which three slept whilst awaiting the return of the pilgrim, who was to convey us all to Cold Ashton. On reaching this rightly named place, were entertained by Canon and Mrs. Wood, to whom many thanks, inspected the small son and heir of our worthy Stephen, the Doctor settling the question as to whether he should be awakened. Rang handbells in honour of the occasion. After, to St. Mary Redcliffe in great haste and rain to ring for evensong. Attended service, but could not hear the sermon, being too far away. Rumour has it that some of the party slept. Afterwards rang Cambridge Royal. Were very grateful to our Bristol friends for making arrangements, and also meeting us. Back to Wrington by a different route in very wet conditions (raining), with some discussion as to whether we were going the right way.

After supper and talk (again mostly on ringing) to bed, when it was found that somebody had been busy plying needle and thread sewing up holes in legs and arms of sleeping garments. Some branches of a nearby monkey tree had also found their way into our beds (points for ringers). One member received scratches—commotion, hot water and iodine. Flour covered our pillows, whilst one of our number had no sleeping garments at all. Our good hostess came to the rescue in this case with a silk nightie, but the unfortunate one, although managing to get it mostly on, required the assistance of J. H. B. to get it off again. (A shoe horn is being taken on the next trip.)

MONDAY, AUGUST 6th.—Early astir and in the belfry at 9.30, where we rang an excellent peal of Stedman Caters with my better half conducting. Lunch, after which left for Trowbridge in S. H. G.'s car, with the strangest trailer ever. Terrific excitement caused in Wrington. Trailer detached and carried inside for the rest of the journey—very useful, and would form a useful addition to any household. Arrived at Trowbridge about 4 o'clock. A very pleasing twelve, but something must be done to control the sound. Service with address by Canon Coleridge. Tea with Salvation Army in charge. Overs at 4d. per lb. Trowbridge a place for all to imitate, all creeds and people help each other. Warned to stand in broadcasting touch—very nervous about it. Met lots of people. Met Sam for the first time. Hope listeners were not too critical. We were only a scratch band, as the Trowbridge men were 'starring' on the air. A wonderful afternoon. Chris and Brian very sportingly took us back to Wrington and afterwards returned to Cold Ashton (worms had a late supper). Party now one short, as S. H. G. has gone home.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 7th.—To Wraxall, and again Stedman Triples was apparently unknown to many of us. Am giving my wife instruction in this method on my return home. The listeners were mystified. In and out of course—'nuf sed. Joe converts Stephen's three-cylinder car into one of four cylinders—brakes inspected. Bert's gone and Miss Williams has joined us. Lunch at Battleaxes. The Canon's gone—oh these partings! To Barrow Gurney. Bells neglected. All hands on deck (or bell frame). Spanners, oil, splicing, etc. (bell-founders' inquiries invited). Tenor rope very short. Search for suitable box to perch Joe on. This very weak, but hassocks inside prevented collapse. Only a single rope end for Joe, a petrol wash and a good peal of Double Norwich. Tea for the ladies. More good-byes. Nearly the end of the trip. Back to Wrington.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8th.—J. H. B. left this morning and we are the remnants.

We are all grateful for the many kindnesses of clergy and local ringers, who gave us such pleasure, and we must not forget Stephen, who planned the trip. We are looking forward to another visit to 'Ciderland' next year.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT MORETON CORBET.

The most successful meeting of recent years was held on Saturday, August 11th, when over 70 ringers turned up at the six-bell tower of Moreton Corbet. Only half had notified the secretary, but the Rev. E. C. Pigot and his staff were equal to the occasion, and two relays enjoyed a most satisfactory tea.

While some were enjoying the pleasures of the Vicarage garden and bowling green, others were ringing on the delightful peal.

At the business meeting the Rev. T. Ealand, Coalbrookdale, presided. Very hearty thanks were accorded the Rev. E. C. Pigot for his hospitality, which made the meeting so very pleasant.

A letter from the Rev. F. Tennison thanking the society for the cheque received was read. The proposed visit of the Central Council to Shrewsbury next year was discussed.

Methods rung during the day included Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise Minor. The next meeting is to be held at Market Drayton on October 6th.

THE BATTLE OF HASTINGS—1934.

'CONQUERORS' FROM KENT.

Thanks to the untiring energy and enthusiasm of Dick Jenkins, the Dartford secretary, a party of ringers and friends from Dartford and district repeated ancient history by making a successful attack upon Hastings on Saturday, August 25th.

An early start was made, and after collecting the would-be 'conquerors' at various points between Erith and Gravesend, the war chariot sped on its way. The first call was made at Brenchley, where the good old peal of eight were soon set going. Touches were brought round in various methods, but Cambridge came to grief after some quite good striking. The next stage of the journey carried the party to Horsmonden, and during the run an unusual kind of tobacco was brought into action, and rumour has it that a bit of the tail end of the massive tenor rope at Brenchley had found its way into a certain person's tobacco pouch.

At Horsmonden some of the inexperienced ringers found the slow time of the heavy six rather strange, and consequently the ringing was not too good. Once more the 'conquerors' came to grief at Cambridge Minor, but Stedman and Grandsire provided some good ringing. Saleshurst was the next stop, and here an amusing incident occurred. The bell ropes were lowered from the ceiling, and, after carefully trying one or two, it was found that the bells had been raised, so it was decided to get going to Grandsire. As the treble struck up, the 'big shot' on the tenor jokingly remarked that all the bells might not be up, and sure enough the front seven went off into perfect rounds, leaving the aforementioned 'big shot' frantically lugging at the tenor in hopes of getting it off, when it was actually 'down.' After some good ringing and another failure at Cambridge, another 'Eight Bells' were visited, where courses of meat pies were run through, and, as far as can be ascertained, there were no break-downs. The handbells were set going to finish off the ringing there.

The next stage brought the company's advance right on to the battlefield, where they dismissed for the afternoon. Some of the more venturesome, assisted by a certain bathing belle, decided to try the bathing pool, while others tried a trip on the briny.

After tea the massive tower of All Saints was visited and a fine ring of eight found there. Here, among touches in various methods, the elusive course of Cambridge was finally rung. The only stop on the homeward journey was made at Battle, where the ringing of the day was concluded on the peal of eight. The last touch rung was a fine one of Double Norwich, in which the heavy bells were heard to advantage. The rest of the journey home was by no means a dull affair, as 'well-oiled' throats, ably led by an 'old salt,' gave vent to some of the old favourites. Home was reached at about midnight, after what all voted had been yet another grand outing.

Thanks are due to all who had the bells ready at the various towers and to all who helped to make the day a wonderful success.

ON THE BANKS OF THE THAMES.

SONNING DEANERY RINGERS VISIT THREE TOWERS.

Some 15 members of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild participated in an afternoon outing on Saturday, three towers being visited. South Stoke was reached at 3 p.m., when the party was welcomed by the veteran, Mr. J. Carter, and some of the local band. Various methods, including Cambridge Minor, were rung, after which the Vicar, who, by the way, is 89 years of age, and his son-in-law served the party with light refreshments, which kindness was much appreciated.

At Whitchurch the party was welcomed by an old friend, Canon Long, late of Wokingham. A bountiful tea was partaken of as guests of the Rector, who was heartily thanked by the branch secretary. Good use was made of the easy-going ring of six in its peculiar wooden tower.

The next tower visited was Goring-on-Thames, where three old friends were waiting to receive the party, viz., Messrs. J. Bower, A. Wiggins and E. Langley. After a photograph of the party, an hour and a half was spent in touches in the standard methods on this delightful ring of eight recently restored and augmented by Mears and Stainbank.

On the way home a call was made at the residence of Mr. Langley, in a bell-less parish, who kindly provided refreshments. A chat over old times and experiences was greatly enjoyed. The outing was a memorable one; kindness and a cordial welcome was received from all concerned. As one ringer expressed it, 'A lot of pleasure in a short space of time.'

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex Association was held at Washington on Saturday, August 18th, when 26 members were present, including two lady ringers, one from Capel, Surrey, and one from Wansstead, Essex. The following towers were represented: Arundel, Billingshurst, Hoene, Lindfield, Shoreham, Warnham, West Grinstead and Rudgwick. A very good practice was had, ranging from Grandsire to London Surprise Minor. An excellent tea was partaken of at Mr. Settatree's tea rooms, and Mr. Walter Charman presided at the subsequent business meeting.

After votes of thanks to the chairman and the Rev. Patrick for the use of the bells, another visit was paid to the belfry for further ringing.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

HESTON, MIDDLESEX.—On Sunday evening, August 26th, at the Parish Church, 1,280 Bob Major: W. W. Webb (first quarter-peal of Major) 1, W. F. Ellingham 2, C. S. Bird 3, W. H. Stevens 4, H. C. Chandler 5, A. Jones 6, F. C. Shorter 7, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 8. Kindly arranged, at very short notice, for the 7th ringer and the conductor.

TOTTENHAM.—At All Hallows' Church on Sunday, August 26th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Mrs. E. H. King 1, H. Ellis 2, W. J. Ellis (conductor) 3, C. W. Smith 4, E. H. King 5, M. Fonsom 6, J. G. Nash 7, H. W. H. Strickland 8. A birthday quarter for the ringers of 1 and 8.

CAMBRIDGE.—On Sunday, August 19th, for 11 a.m. service at the R.C. Church of St. Mary and the English Martyrs, a quarter-peal of Bob Major: Miss V. Shorter 1, T. E. Dennis 2, J. W. Ward 3, F. G. Gleaves 4, F. Corney (London) 5, F. Warrington (conductor) 6, J. W. Quinney 7, E. G. Hibbins 8. Arranged for Mr. Corney, of London.

TRURO, CORNWALL.—For evensong on Sunday, August 19th, at the Cathedral Church of St. Mary, on the front six, 720 Bob Minor: H. Williams 1, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 2, A. W. Brighton (London) (conductor) 3, W. H. Sleeman 4, C. E. Laxon 5, A. S. Roberts 6. The first 720 of Minor rung on the bells.

LAVENHAM, SUFFOLK.—On Sunday, August 19th, for evensong at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, a quarter-peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes): A. F. Turner 1, F. F. Mortlock 2, A. Symonds 3, D. A. S. Symonds 4, S. H. Symonds (conductor) 5, M. T. Symonds 6, L. Pryke 7, T. E. Slater (Glensford) 8.

A RINGER'S WEDDING AT THAMES DITTON.

ARCHWAY OF HANDBELLS FOR BRIDAL COUPLE.

Members of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild residing in the immediate neighbourhood rallied in force at the Church of St. Nicholas, Thames Ditton, Surrey, on Saturday afternoon, August 25th, for the wedding of Mr. Frank E. Hawthorne to Miss H. A. Clarke. The bride was given away by Mr. M. Halsey, and was attended by her sister, Miss M. R. Clarke. The bridegroom's brother (Mr. H. W. Hawthorne) acted as best man.

The bridegroom, as assistant secretary of the London County Association and secretary of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, is an ardent ringer.

As the happy couple left the church under an archway of handbells, a touch of Grandsire Doubles was rung on the tower bells followed by a well-struck 720 of Bob Minor: G. Higgs 1, J. Howes (conductor) 2, C. J. Tricker 3, W. Massey 4, W. F. Ellingham 5, T. W. Taffender 6. This was followed by Stedman Doubles and more Grandsire Doubles. The Vicar looked in the belfry and thanked the ringers for sending their 'brother-string' on his way in proper bellringers' style.

The reception was held at the bridegroom's home in Queen's Road, and after the ringers had partaken of refreshment, Messrs. F. G. Goddard, J. Milner, Tricker and Ellingham settled down to entertain the guests for about an hour with tune playing on handbells in the garden, interspersed with courses of Grandsire Caters and Triples, Messrs. Hawthorne and Taffender taking part in the change ringing. One of the courses of Triples would certainly have won the F. E. Dawe Cup had it been rung at another place and the rules allowed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne received a rousing send-off, and the handbells were 'fired' as they left for their brief honeymoon.

RINGERS WHO PUT MONEY FIRST.

There are some things in connection with church bell ringing which definitely ought not to be done. It ought not to be possible for a band of ringers to make themselves a closed society; still less ought paid ringers to stoop to the practice brought to the notice of a Guildford Diocesan Guild meeting on Saturday. There is one church in the area where there are six bells and six ringers. The ringers are paid a quarterly sum for ringing for service and the amount is divided between them, but instead of all the band turning up Sunday by Sunday and discharging the duty for which they are paid, the bells are only chimed by three of the members, who take alternate turns with the other three. We cannot imagine any grounds upon which such a course can be justified. It is argued, we believe, that the public do not know the difference between ringing and chiming; that as long as the bells are sounded they answer the same purpose whether chimed or rung, and that there is no purpose served in having six ringers present to perform what half that number can do.

The whole conception of this argument is wrong, and, what is more, it appears, if the facts are as related, that the ringers are taking money to which they are not entitled. To begin with, if the remuneration is given for the ringing of six bells, that condition is not complied with when they are only chimed and if the chiming is done because the appointed people are able to attend only on alternate Sundays then the obvious duty is either that the band should themselves recruit their strength or that the authorities should take such steps as will provide the necessary ringers. We say nothing here as to advantage claimed by having a paid band, but this case provides an excellent example of what can happen when a company is kept together by remuneration. They apparently only retain office for what they get out of it and they give in return as little as is possible. It is not surprising to know that on special days, such as Royal celebrations and weddings, for which there is additional payment, there is always a full muster and the bells are properly rung.

It is possible that the state of affairs mentioned is not peculiar to this tower—we wish it was. It is seldom that paid bands are of any benefit to the cause of change ringing. The trifling sum which they usually earn in return for ringing for Sunday service seems to be a bar to all progress. For fear of having to share the money with someone else, ringers of this type form themselves into a closed circle to which they take care no one else is admitted, and it is only when circumstances over which they have no control removes one of their number that they grudgingly teach another, purely out of self protection. And it is a curious thing that in many of these cases the ringers, and particularly the foreman, exercise such a strange influence over the incumbent that he seems afraid to move in the matter. New parsons are loath to interfere with traditional usages; old ones have either grown into the tradition themselves or are past caring. There is usually only one effective remedy, and that is to make a clean sweep. But, as we have said, the paid band is usually so well 'dug in' that the authorities have not the courage to dislodge them, even if they appreciate the error of their ways. We wish there was some method, first of making ringers, of the type referred to, realise their responsibilities, or, failing that, getting the church authorities to realise the duty which rests upon them.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.
NORTHERN BRANCH AT LACEBY.

A meeting of the Grimsby District was held at Laceby on Saturday, August 25th. There was a poor attendance, just a few 'regulars' being present. Towers represented were Bigby, Burton-on-Sather, Scunthorpe, Grimsby, Barrow, Barton-on-Humber, Thornton Curtis, Ulceby and the locals, also Mr. J. Flint, of Bolsover. The bells were kept going during the afternoon till service time. Owing to the Rector, Canon Knight, being on holiday, the Rev. J. Barber, Rector of Great Coates, who is a great friend of ringers, kindly conducted the service and gave an interesting address. Mr. H. Rushby presided at the organ. After the service members adjourned to the Village Hall, where an excellent tea was served, 16 sitting down.

In the absence of the president, who was on holiday, Mr. C. W. Taylor was voted to the chair. It was decided to cancel the Barrow-on-Humber meeting till next year. A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. G. Atkinson to the Rector for the use of the bells and for arranging with the Rev. J. Barber to take the service, to the Rev. J. Barber for taking the service, to Mr. H. Rushby for presiding at the organ, to Messrs. Graham Bros. for catering, to the chairman and also those who had made the arrangements. On behalf of the members, Mr. Bray welcomed Mr. J. Flint. After the meeting the hand-bells were made good use of, while some adjourned to the tower. The bells were lowered earlier than usual, in order to avoid undue annoyance to the Post Office.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*'QUARTERLY' MEETINGS REARRANGED.

The annual meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association was held at Ashford on Saturday, September 1st, when members attended from Ashford, Aldington, Bromley, Headcorn, Hythe, Newington, New Romney, Sevenoaks, Tenterden, Tonbridge, Willersborough and Wye. Some splendid ringing of the standard methods was much enjoyed, interspersed with rounds for the beginners.

The association service was conducted by the Rev. A. H. Lance, assisted by the Rev. G. S. Long, of Aldington, Mrs. Spencer presiding at the organ. After the service an excellent tea was provided by the association in the Parish Room. A collection was taken for the Benevolent Fund and amounted to one guinea.

At the business meeting Mr. P. Page was elected to fill the post of Ringing Master, Mr. E. S. Ruck having resigned after several years of useful work. Messrs. C. Tribe and E. S. Ruck were re-elected to serve on the Central Committee, and F. Conley was re-appointed as hon. secretary.

Owing to the quarterly meetings at present being far from what is usually meant by 'quarterly,' it was decided to hold them in future in March, June, September and December, instead of February, May, July and September, as this gives five months between September and February, and then three meetings in little over six months.

A by-meeting is to be held at Newington, Folkestone, on October 6th, with the object of bringing the band into the association. They are extremely keen, and it is, therefore, hoped that as many as possible will be present to give them a real welcome and to show them what the association stands for. Due notice of this meeting will appear later.

Votes of thanks were passed to all who did and some who did not deserve them, and were responded to by those concerned. After the business, a return was made to the tower, there to enjoy some more good ringing.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT ENTERTAINED AT WICKHAMBREAU.

A most enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent at Wickhambreau by members of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association on Saturday, August 25th. The occasion was a by-meeting by the invitation of the Rector (the Rev. Abbey Tindall), who is a life member of the association.

Members attended from Broadstairs (St. Peter's), St. Lawrence, Littlebourne, Eythorne, Slurry, Ashford, Canterbury (Cathedral and St. Alphege), Brabourne, Goodnestone, Wickhambreau and one member from Huntingdonshire.

The bells were started at 3 o'clock in rounds by some of the younger probationer members, of which the Canterbury District boasts a good complement. Later the association service was held in the church, at which the Rector officiated, assisted by Canon F. J. O. Helmore.

The Rector gave an appropriate address and afterwards welcomed the ringers to Wickhambreau. Mr. W. E. Pittman, Mus.Bac., presided at the organ. During the service a collection was taken for the association's benevolent fund.

Subsequently the ringers adjourned to the Rectory, where the Rector had provided a splendid tea on the lawn and 40 members sat down.

At the conclusion of the tea Canon F. J. O. Helmore, on behalf of the members, thanked the Rev. Abbey Tindall for his very generous hospitality.—The Rector suitably replied.

Before adjourning again to the belfry, various touches were rung on handbells, and most the visitors took advantage of the Rector's invitation to walk round the beautiful Rectory grounds.

The next meeting is to be held at Throwley on Saturday, September 22nd.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

DOVER.—On Sunday, September 2nd, for evensong at St. Mary's, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: C. R. Millway 1, J. Eagles 2, R. T. Clark 3, H. Whitehead 4, E. J. Walker 5, F. Pervin, Coventry (conductor) 6, C. Turner 7, E. T. Ellender 8.

LYME REGIS.—On Sunday, September 2nd, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (from Holt's Original): F. Hiscock (first quarter-peal of Triples) 1, C. W. H. Powell 2, J. E. Philbrick 3, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 4, W. Tyler 5, F. Price 6, F. E. Blackmore 7, W. G. Sartin 8. The Vicar called this quarter-peal as a farewell to the Rev. R. L. Higham on the eve of his departure and in honour of his preferment to the benefice of St. Aldhelm's, Franksome, after nearly 12 years' ministry as assistant priest at Lyme Regis.

DAGENHAM, ESSEX.—At the Parish Church for evening service, 1,300 Kent Treble Bob Minor: F. Chaplin 1, G. Playle 2, T. Sparrow 3, F. Berry 4, J. Bullock 5, A. Chaplin (conductor) 6.

LONDON.—At St. Olave's, Hart Street, for Sunday service, 1,344 Bob Major: F. Chaplin (first quarter-peal) 1, L. Porter 2, T. Sparrow 3, F. Berry 4, A. Chaplin 5, G. Playle 6, J. Trimmer 7, J. Bullock (conductor) 8. Rung for the reopening of the church after repairs to the roof.

RINGERS ENTERTAINED IN STAFFORDSHIRE.*GUESTS OF MR. W. W. WORTHINGTON.

On Saturday, August 25th, by the invitation of Mr. W. W. Worthington, of Maple Hayes, Lichfield, a band of ringers met at the grand Norman Church of St. Mary, Tutbury. By the generosity of Mr. Worthington, who gave a treble bell, and of Mr. Newton (Tutbury), who gave the remainder of the money, the peal has been increased to six. Messrs. Taylor and Co. have retuned the old bells and rehung them in ball bearings, etc., and have made a splendid job.

The bells were raised in peal, and Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor were rung. The bells were then lowered in peal. Some visitors remarked upon the remarkable change effected in the bells since they first remembered them about 50 years ago.

A quick run was next made to St. Mary's, Utoxeter. Mr. George Burrows, the towerkeeper, met the visitors and had kindly raised the bells for them. Touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were rung, and, as time was limited, Mr. Burrows kindly 'dropped' the bells again. Then, travelling via Stone and Eccleshall, a visit was paid to Broughton, Staffs. Here is a fine peal of eight (tenor 16 cwt. approx.) hung in ball bearings and with all the latest improvements, acknowledged by the visitors as one of the finest products of the Loughborough Foundry. Mr. William Wetherby (Market Drayton), who had kindly raised the bells, met the visitors, and touches of Stedman Triples were rung, in which Mr. Wetherby took part. The party then reluctantly left Broughton and proceeded to St. Mary's, Stafford. After inspecting the beautiful interior of the church and the 'leather bottle' at the side of the organ, on which are inscribed the names of the Stafford ringers 1750-1786, the visitors made for the ringing room. Mr. J. Warrilow and his son had raised the bells in readiness, and a touch of Stedman Caters and three leads of Treble Ten, in which Messrs. Warrilow took part, were rung before the bells were lowered in peal. Then a quick run was made to the charming residence of their host. A visit was paid to the gardens, which are a beautiful sight at the present time. A sumptuous repast followed, after which Mr. J. Jaggar proposed the health of Mr. Worthington and added the thanks of the company for the splendid outing. Mr. J. Austin seconded and Mr. Worthington briefly replied.

During the evening Mr. Jaggar said he had a pleasing duty to perform, viz., to ask Mr. J. George to accept a present from a lady who had heard of the performances of this 'young' gentleman.—Mr. J. Oldham stated the lady wished to remain anonymous, but that she was dressed in blue.—Mr. George gratefully accepted the present, which he acknowledged in a vigorous speech.

A move was then made to another room, where tunes and touches on the handbells were rung. Mr. M. Swinfield tapped a touch of Stedman Triples on the piano, conducted by Mr. George, and also two courses of Duffield Major.

The best thanks of the ringers are due to Messrs. Burrows, W. Wetherby and Warrilow for their efforts to make the outing a success.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

USEFUL CHERTSEY DISTRICT MEETING.

The Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a meeting at Chobham on Saturday. During the afternoon and evening some 18 or 20 ringers put in an appearance from various towers—mostly outside the district. The district hon. secretary (Mr. F. E. Hawthorne) and the Ringing Master (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) attended, and some really useful practice was put in in the simpler methods. The local foreman came to open the tower, but nothing was seen of any of the other Chobham ringers, following their usual practice of studiously keeping away from any meeting held at their church. The Vicar (the Rev. F. T. Robinson), however, gave the visitors a cordial welcome and conducted the Guild's service, filling, in addition, the post of organist. He presided at the tea which followed at the White Hart Hotel, when 14 sat down. At one time it seemed as if the company would number only 13—much to the perturbation of the general secretary, who said this would be so unlucky that he would feel compelled to cancel his passage to Australia. But the fourteenth individual having been 'dug up' by the district secretary, all was well.

There was little business to do at the subsequent meeting, but the general hon. secretary took the opportunity of congratulating Mr. Hawthorne upon his recent marriage, and, on behalf of the Guild, wished him and his bride 'long life, health and happiness.' Mr. Goldsmith also offered similar congratulations to the late district secretary (Mr. H. Hancock), who was recently married to Miss M. Thompson, also a member of the Guild.

The Vicar referred to the forthcoming visit of English ringers to Australia, and extended to the hon. general secretary of the Guild, who is one of the party, the good wishes of the members for an enjoyable tour and a safe return.

A discussion took place with regard to one of the towers in the district, where the bells are chimed instead of being rung on Sundays, although there is a full band sharing a quarterly payment. The hope was expressed that the new Vicar, who had shown some interest in the bells, would take steps to have the bells rung on Sundays.

The business concluded with a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. F. Nye, to the Vicar of Chobham for permission to ring, for conducting the service and for presiding at the tea and meeting.

Afterwards the ringers returned to the belfry and the Vicar was taken up the tower and shown the movement in the bell frame, which badly needs screwing up—if nothing else. The Vicar welcomed the information and advice offered.

THE FIRST PEAL OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Having read the history of the first peal of Grandsire Triples in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' I take the pleasure of sending the account I received and also the figures I had sent to me some years ago from my friend, the late Mr. N. J. Pitstow, and trust it will be of some interest to ringers. Here are the figures of two peals and footnotes:—

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Queen Camel bells, Somerset, the heaviest ring of six in the country—the tenor is 36 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb.—have been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

Mr. Percy Amos is, we regret to say, lying in the accident ward of Northampton General Hospital as the result of a fall while working on his allotment on August 21st. He has a fractured leg and injured ankle, but the injury is progressing favourably.

Mr. Philip Hodgkin, the Kent veteran, although 71 years of age, rang the 24 cwt. tenor at Headcorn to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on Saturday week, and rang her well throughout. The ringers congratulate him on his performance.

Any youthful ringer capable of ringing a peal of Stedman Triples and whose age will be less than 16 years on December 31st next should communicate at once with Mr. F. E. Dawe, Allandale, Rosebery Crescent, Woking, Surrey.

Mr. Richard Woodley, of Lowestoft, who will be congratulated by everyone upon having attained his 75th birthday, has had the distinction of ringing a peal on his own Parish Church bells for each of his last four birthdays. We hope the sequence will not be broken for some time to come.

The peal at Bangor, North Wales, on Saturday, marked the birthday of Mr. James Midwinter, an old ringer at St. David's Church, and his retirement from service on the L.M.S. Railway. The band expressed their good wishes to him for better health and their hope that he would soon be able to stand in a peal again.

The district secretary has persuaded the Vicar of Milton Regis to rearrange the service of dedication on Saturday, September 15th, for 4 p.m., an hour later than previously advertised, to enable as many ringers as possible to attend.

This very fine tower, dating back to 1320, now contains a fine peal of six, and all members of the I.O.T.M. and kindred orders are specially invited. There is plenty of room for at least a hundred people in the ringing chamber, which is of massive proportions, and reputed to be one of the largest in England. Bus or train to Sittingbourne.

TWO PEALS ON RINGING MACHINE.

STEDMAN TRIPLES AND CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE.

Mr. G. F. Woodhouse, of Sedburgh, Yorks, has subjected his ringing machine to another searching test. He has performed on it a peal of Stedman Triples (Brooks' Variation of Thurstans'), which definitely demonstrated that the bob making mechanism is entirely satisfactory, and on Wednesday of last week he got a 5,024 of Cambridge Surprise Major (one of Mr. J. W. Parker's compositions).

Mr. Woodhouse missed a peal of London Surprise after 4,000 changes through going to sleep and running past a bob.

It is really all very wonderful, but even with this marvellous machine the human element must not fail if perfection is to be achieved.

OXFORD TREBLE BOB AT FINCHINGFIELD.

HOW AN OLD RECORD DISAPPEARED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the last issue of 'The Ringing World' a peal of Oxford Treble Bob rung at Finchingfield in Essex was recorded, and the report stated that it was believed to be the first peal of Oxford on the bells.

About 23 years ago we made up a band and went one Sunday from Coggeshall and rang at Wethersfield in the morning and Finchingfield in the afternoon and evening. We had dinner at the Green Man in Finchingfield, and in the room where we had dinner there was a splendid old peal board recording a peal of Oxford Treble Bob, 5,280 changes, rung by the Saffron Walden Company on Finchingfield bells. I cannot remember in what year it was rung, but the same men took part in it who rang the Double Norwich at Saffron Walden in 1817, conducted by E. Miller. How that board came to be in that public-house I could never understand. After a while the Green Man was burnt down and the peal board was burnt with it. Perhaps someone else may throw some light on it, but it was a shame that such a peal board was ever taken out of the church. I doubt if there are any ringers in that district who remember anything about it.

D. H. ELIJOTT.

A KENT RING AUGMENTED.

Mr. Alfred Howell, of Ipswich, has recently rehung the five ancient bells and added a new treble to make a ring of six at the very historic and interesting old Parish Church of Milton Regis, near Sittingbourne, Kent. On Friday, August 24th, at the invitation of Mr. Howell, there was a 'try out' when 720 Bob Minor was rung: A. T. Boar 1, E. J. Dobbie 2, A. Howell 3, A. N. Olier 4, G. Kenward 5, W. Spice, sen. (conductor) 6. The go of the bells was found to be excellent.

Particulars of the dedication of the bells and of a ringers' meeting at this church appears in our notice columns.

RINGERS' DEPARTURE NEXT FRIDAY.

Next Friday afternoon the P. and O. liner 'Barrabool' leaves King George V. Dock, London, for Australia, taking with her the ringers who are to visit the Commonwealth in connection with the Melbourne Centenary Celebrations. The boat train leaves Liverpool Street Station at 1.50 p.m.

Those who constitute the party are the following, and they will meet at Liverpool Street Station at 1.15 p.m.:

Rev. E. BANKES JAMES, of Seafeld Park, Hants (Cambridge University Guild).

Mr. W. H. FUSSELL, of Slough, Bucks (Royal Cumberland Youths), (organising secretary).

Mr. J. S. GOLDSMITH, of Woking, Surrey (Guildford Diocesan Guild).

Mr. J. HARDCASTLE, of Bradford, Yorks (Yorkshire Association).

Mr. W. LINTER, of Fareham, Hants (Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild).

Mr. G. MARTIN, of Maidenhead, Berks (Oxford Diocesan Guild).

Mr. R. RICHARDSON, of Surfleet, Lincs (Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild).

Mrs. R. RICHARDSON (Ladies' Guild).

Mr. C. SHARPLES, of Blackpool, Lancs (Lancashire Association).

Mrs. Sharples is accompanying her husband, and they intend to visit their son in India on the return journey, detaching themselves from the main party at Colombo.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are taking their daughter Enid, who, although only ten years of age, is already able to handle a bell.

The party will also be accompanied by Mr. Maude, a son of Mr. Tom Maude, of Pudsey, Yorks. Mr. Maude, sen., is well known to ringers not only in Yorkshire, but also in many other parts of the country, for he is the organiser of the Yorkshiremen's party which usually spends the Whitsuntide week-end with the Central Council representatives wherever they meet. His son, mayhap, will be a ringer by the time he returns from Australia.

THE ROUTE.

The route which the tourists will take is one which should be full of interest. After leaving London, the 'Barrabool' calls at Plymouth on the following afternoon, and then crossing the Bay of Biscay and passing through the Straits of Gibraltar, enters the Mediterranean Sea. There is a brief call at the island of Malta (2,300 miles from London) on September 21st before going on to Port Said, in Egypt, a distance of about 900 miles, where the vessel is due on September 24th. After passing through the 90 miles or so of the Suez Canal, the journey is continued through the Red Sea, reaching the sun-baked port of Aden on September 29th and going on across the Arabian Gulf to Colombo, in Ceylon. From Port Said to Aden is 1,400 miles, and from Aden to Colombo, where the boat is due to October 5th, 2,100 miles. There will be an opportunity to go ashore at Colombo and see something of the city and probably the spice gardens for which Ceylon is famous.

After this comes the longest 'leg' of the journey, for the next call is Freemantle, in Western Australia, 3,120 miles away without sight of land between. It is farther than from Southampton to New York and this section occupies ten days. It is on this stretch that the equator will be crossed.

The stay in Freemantle, which should be reached on October 15th will, it is hoped, be long enough to permit a preliminary visit to Perth, the capital of Western Australia, to try the eight bells at the Cathedral. The next stage of the journey lands the party in Adelaide in South Australia, a sea trip of 1,350 miles. A short stay here and then the 'last lap' of 500 miles to Melbourne, where the vessel is due on October 22nd and the party disembark.

There the serious business of the expedition will begin. The first week will be spent in and around Melbourne; the next ten days in visiting Tasmania (Hobart, their headquarters on this picturesque island, is more than 400 miles by sea and rail from Melbourne), returning to Melbourne in time for Armistice Day and the ceremonies in connection with it. Afterwards they will visit the cities of Geelong, Ballarat and Bendigo in the State of Victoria.

On November 16th the tourists join the ss. 'Esperance Bay,' of the Aberdeen and Commonwealth line, and complete the journey to Sydney, which will be reached on November 19th. There will be the best part of five days to spend in and around this city, with a number of towers to visit, and then, on November 24th, the party sail for home on the P. and O. liner 'Bendigo,' which will give them opportunity of renewing acquaintance with Melbourne, Adelaide, Perth, and Colombo, perhaps making an excursion to the Egyptian Pyramids, while the vessel passes through the Suez Canal, and reaching London, if all's well, on January 5th. From Sydney to London by this route is 12,270 miles.

It is almost a staggering programme for a band of ringers, and naturally every one in the party is looking forward with the keenest anticipation to a delightful and interesting time, full of new experiences.

Not only will readers of 'The Ringing World' be able to follow the doings of the tourists through the reports which will appear in these columns, but many ringers, it is hoped, may, after the return of the party, be able to see something of the tour, for some of the incidents will also be recorded on films, and Mr. Richardson's 'movies' will doubtless prove a source of great interest.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NEXT MEETING SUGGESTED AT NON-AFFILIATED TOWER.

A very enjoyable meeting of the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association was held at Rettendon on Saturday, 30 members being present. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued until 4.30, when the Guild service was conducted by the Rev. H. Woodfield, of St. George's, Manchester, in the absence of the Rector (the Rev. W. Norman). A splendid tea was served in the Parish Room, at which the Rev. Woodfield presided.

As there is a long interval to the annual meeting in late November or early December, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Pleshey on October 13th if permission could be obtained. Although this tower is not affiliated to the association, it was thought a meeting might be an encouragement to local ringers. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, the Rev. H. Woodfield for conducting the service and presiding at tea and business meeting, the organist for accompanying the service, the ladies for serving the tea and the local band for having everything in readiness.

The following towers were represented: Ipswich, Great Baddow, Chelmsford, Springfield, Maldon, Great Totham, Broomfield, Fryerning, Corringham, Rettendon, Danbury and Ford End. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Plain Bob Minor, Double Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, New London, London Surprise, Cambridge Surprise and College Exercise.

STEDMAN'S BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have been deeply interested in the correspondence that has appeared in 'The Ringing World' regarding the condition of the bells of St. Benedict's, Cambridge.

Our bells at Stagsden, Beds, underwent a similar scheme of rehangng two years ago, the oak frame was dismantled and new struts inserted throughout; a reinforced concrete corbel course was constructed to carry the reconstructed frame, and the bells rehung in completely new modern fittings.

Since that time the frame tie bolts and the main beam bolts have been regularly inspected and tightened when necessary once a month and the bells 'go' delightfully, while the frame is now perfectly rigid.

This proves that had the bells at St. Benedict's had the same attention there is no reason apparently why they should not 'go' as well to-day as they did when the work of rehangng was completed, and that the bellhangers are in no way to blame for what is after all due to neglect of maintenance.

It is to be hoped the authorities will see that the bells get the attention they need, after the ready response to the appeal to restore this famous ring.

OLD PRINCIPLES QUESTIONED.

Sir,—The case of St. Benedict's, Cambridge, leads one to ask:—

1. Is there any need in these days of scientific bellhanging to hang bells on the old principle with straps and wood headstocks?
2. Why was so much importance attached to the cannons of St. Benedict's bells, while there are hundreds of others up and down the country that have had them taken off and seem none the worse for it?

3. Had the cannons anything more than a sentimental value, and did Stedman himself attach any importance to them?

Some time ago we heard something about commonsense before sentiment, but this does not seem to have been the principle in the case of St. Benedict's.

'RINGER.'

RINGERS VISIT TO SAPCOTE.

FIRST 720 OF SURPRISE ON THE BELLS?

On Saturday, August 25th, several of the Rugby ringers paid a welcome visit to Sapcote for an afternoon's ringing on the fine peal of six bells. They were met by the local captain (Mr. C. Brown) and other members of the band, which includes four lady ringers, all of whom were present, and rang a touch of Bob Minor with but two men to make up the band.

Mr. L. Woodburn and Mr. A. E. Rowley, of Higham-on-the-Hill, joined the party, as did Mr. H. Briggs, of Stoney Stanton.

Included in the ringing was what is thought to be the first 720 of Surprise ever rung on these bells. This was the extent of Cambridge Minor by C. Underwood 1, L. Woodburn 2, C. H. Webb 3, J. Fenton 4, A. E. Rowley (conductor) 5, L. G. Watkins 6. It was the first 720 in the method by the ringers of 1, 2, 4 and 6.

So successful was this venture that a return fixture was soon suggested and just as readily accepted.

SHIPLEY AND IDLE RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, August 25th, the ringers of Shipley and Idle with wives and friends joined in a half-day run into the country by the way of Culverley and Headingley to Wetherby, where the bells were rung to touches of Minor and Major. The party went on to Knaresborough for tea and afterwards the grand peal of bells at the Parish Church was placed at their disposal. Double Norwich, Superlative and Plain Bob were rung before setting out for Birstwith, where some of the local company gave the visitors a hearty welcome. The ringing on this fine peal made the visitors wish these bells were 'a bit nearer home.' Touches were rung in various methods, in which some of the local company took part. This opportunity is taken to thank the incumbents of the churches and also those who met the visitors and had everything in readiness.

KIDDERMINSTER BELLS.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS FOR SUPPLEMENTARY WORK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—An appeal is being made by the St. Mary's Society, Kidderminster, with the support of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, in connection with the proposed peal of 12 bells at Kidderminster.

There are, no doubt, many ringers in various parts of the country, members of the association and otherwise, who would like to be associated with this effort, particularly those who have pleasant recollections of this tower and the men who made it historical some 30-40 years ago—to whose deeds 'The Ringing World' referred a week or two ago.

Donations should be sent to me as soon as possible.

K. SALTER.

The Berwyns, Marlpool Lane, Kidderminster.

The appeal, which is signed by Messrs. C. H. Woodberry (Ringing Master, St. Mary's Society), K. Salter (secretary, St. Mary's Society), W. Short (Ringing Master, Worcs. Association) and J. R. Newman (lay hon. secretary, Worcs. Association), states that the present peal of eight is to be rehung in self-aligning ball bearings in the existing frame, and four new trebles, hung in a new wood frame above the present one, added to make a peal of twelve.

The sum of £500 has already been raised in Kidderminster for this tower and a contract placed with Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon; the work to be commenced almost at once.

Certain items (e.g., new iron headstocks and fittings on the existing eight bells) are not included in this contract, and it is felt that if this work can be carried out it will make a thorough and lasting job. The amount required for these additional improvements is approximately £100, and a donation towards this amount from all interested is earnestly solicited.

The opportunities of members of the association to ring on twelve bells are extremely limited, and it is suggested this augmentation will fill a long-felt want and be an advantage to ringers in general and the association in particular.

An early response will be appreciated, as it will be necessary to decide in the very near future how much of this work can be carried out, and this can only be done in the light of promises or donations received.

The Worcestershire and Districts Association, through the Central Committee, strongly support this appeal, and have donated a sum of £5 towards these improvements.

HINCKLEY DISTRICT RINGERS.

TO HOLD A 'QUIET AFTERNOON.'

At the monthly meeting of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association at Broughton Astley on Saturday, the question of holding a 'quiet afternoon' for ringers (as distinct from a ringing meeting) was discussed. The Rev. William Grome-Merrilees, of Theddingworth, spoke of one held at his church, and said he thought, if one could be arranged, he was sure that it would do a considerable amount of good in bringing ringers to realise the important part they played in the work of the Church.

It was decided to hold such a meeting at Stoney Stanton on Saturday, November 3rd, the Rev. R. P. Farrow kindly giving his consent. This will be conducted by the Rev. Grome-Merrilees, and further details will be announced later. It is hoped that the clergy will make an effort to encourage their members to attend.

The routine business of the district having been completed, Cosby bells were available, and many members made the short journey necessary.

IPSWICH RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On Saturday, August 25th, the members of the Rushmere, St. Andrew (Ipswich) band of ringers and friends had their first outing. The party included members of St. Clement's, St. Matthew's, St. Mary-le-Tower and Sproughton companies, who had assisted them at various times. The party left Rushmere by motor-coach for a tour of the Essex towers. After picking up the Ipswich party they proceeded via Holbrook and Stutton to Great Bromley (Essex) for a first ring on this good old peal of six (15 cwt.). After a short stay and look round from the top of the tower, a move was made to Thorington (six), where the ringing was much enjoyed on this good 'going' peal. The next stop was at St. Osyth (six), where the bells were soon in use. After a look round the fine old Priory Church and the village and partaking of tea at the nearby cafe, a move was made, via Great Clacton and Holland-on-Sea, to Great Holland to ring on the eight bells there. The return journey was made to Tendring (six), where the party were met by the local men. The noise in this tower is rather great. The last stop was at Mistley (six), where again the local men greeted the visitors. The 11 mile run home was made in good time. It had been a most enjoyable trip of 66 miles, and it is hoped it will be possible to continue these excursions annually. The ringers would like to thank all who met them and had the bells ready. They also thank their secretary (Mr. F. E. Wiseman) for the able way he had arranged the programme.

GLORIOUS DEVON.

NOTES ON A RINGING TOUR.

Poets, artists and tour guides all speak in glowing terms of this favourite English county, but none refer to the glorious bells stored in the old church towers scattered throughout its broad acres. During the week ending August 25th a team of church bellringers gathered together to enjoy its scenery, its harmony and its edible produce, by kind arrangements made by Mr. C. J. Pulett, of Paignton, where headquarters were ably provided for the week at the Pendragon Hotel.

The long journey down by car was made on Friday, some 230 miles being covered in 8 hours, and relieved by a 'hectic' half-hour at the White Swan at Trowbridge, where 'Wilshire Sam' drew attention to his new tenor bell striking 4 p.m. at the Parish Church.

The local Press described the visitors as Middlesex men, but later they became known as Jesse's 'Puplets,' and they are all duly recorded by name in the peal column. With three private motor-cars available, there was no difficulty in carrying out the full programme provided, in safety and with punctuality, and, thanks to the care and caution of the drivers, without a hitch all round to and from London. Readers will easily imagine, by reference to the list of towns visited, that the country lanes were not easy to negotiate in many places. Up over and down under are all very well, I prefer the former, but when you find 'in and out' tacked on to a section of 'round about,' it makes one wish to be seated in an aeroplane.

The majority of the men—having been 'past masters' on tour—soon settled down to the daily round. There were no 'beavers' with us, so the time table was as follows: Shaving water 7, breakfast 8, garage 9 a.m. Dinner at 8 p.m., clapping at 9, a moonlight walk on the sea front until 10 o'clock brought bedtime, or a half-hour's 'whist' before 'turning in.' Peal operations began on Saturday, August 18th, at Dawlish Church in the morning, where a stone in the belfry on the ground floor records: 'This church was enlarged and beautified in the year of our Lord 1825. John Davis Perkins, D.D., Vicar; Samuel Hill and John Tuckett, Churchwardens.' The present Vicar, the Rev. F. Simmonds, M.A., met us with good wishes, and the foreman (Mr. George Marchant) believed that our peal was the first on the bells. The dedication of this church, formerly St. Michael's, has recently been changed to St. Gregory. From 1729 the Rev. T. Prowse held the living for 60 years. The old ring of six bells was cast in 1784 by the Penningtons and rehung later by Aggett, of Chagford, and the parishioners got into trouble for sending their old ring of five bells away without a faculty. Trebles were added by Stokes, of Exeter, in 1912 for the Coronation of King George V., the cost being raised by public subscription.

Before ringing began here business had to be attended to, and on the proposition of Mr. F. Bennett, seconded by Mr. J. H. Shepherd, the following were elected life members of the Devon Guild: Messrs. G. R. Newton (Liverpool), S. E. Armstrong (Brighton), A. E. E. (Seven Kings), W. Henley (Farnham Royal), H. Wingrove (Beaconsfield) and G. Lindoff (Dublin).

'CATCH AS CATCH CAN.'

In most undertakings a good send-off is everything; 'good wishes' for a successful week were personally given to the team by Miss Norah Bibby, of Frodsham, on her way home after holidays; by the Misses Fletcher, of Beaconsfield, staying at Minehead; and by a letter of welcome from the president of the Devon Guild, the Rev. E. V. Cox, of Bramford.

Our meals at midday were generally taken in 'catch-as-catch can' style. At Dawlish the hunt of our appetites were softened by a caterer of the name of Brunt at about 2 o'clock, and the journey resumed to Kingsteignton, where we arrived at 3.30. This church is dedicated to St. Michael, like a good many others in Devon. It stands upon a prominent bank, has a tall grey stone tower of modern restoration, but the church retains its warm red sandstone masonry, reputed to be 600 years old. The south porch has rare features in the shape, its rich carvings of the jambs and its iron studded door.

The bells are all new, with frame and fittings, by Gillett and Johnston, and were dedicated April 20th, 1929, the old six bells by Mears, 1746, with a 10 cwt. tenor, being absorbed by the new octave. The total cost was £580, including muffles and ropes complete. Mr. Richard Cornell is steeplekeeper, and started chiming here at the age of 11 years. He is now over 70, and having, with the help of the local ringers, collected all the money for the job, it was his privilege to hand the cheque to the firm. The Rev. H. R. Cooke is Vicar and gladly consented to our visit. We found a well-kept ringing room, with boarded walls, matted floor and a false ceiling to soften the sound of the bells. It was an enjoyable peal—the first of Major on the bells—although our Devon warrior, on the tenor, had the bother of his rope-end becoming untucked early in the peal. Mr. Pulett broke a long rest in his peal performances and thus brought back memories of ringing in the London area 40 years ago.

Not a cloud all day, a very high temperature, and outside the tower a beautiful clear spring of water constantly flowing, reminding us of Tennyson's lines: 'For men may come and men may go, but I flow on for ever.'

THE DAY OF REST.

Sunday was devoted to service ringing at Paignton in the morning, Buckfast Abbey in the afternoon and Babbacombe in the evening, in the area of the Mid-Devon Branch, which we visited under the guidance of Mr. H. J. Hole, the hon. secretary. My notes of the respective towers are as follows:—

Paignton.—Vicar, the Rev. H. Mackworth Drake, M.A. In the Parish Magazine appeared a friendly announcement of our visit, a coming event which cast its shadows 'behind.' In any case, it gave the heads of the hospital adjoining the church due notice to make allowances for the peal attempt on Thursday. Steeple foreman, Mr. Charles F. Austin, met us with the local men and Mr. F. Reeves, of Tring, and we raised the bells in peal, but not by any means with true Devonian efficiency. A good course of Yorkshire and of London Major were rung and the fine ringing room admired. Here is the only method ringing band in the district, due to the work of a Londoner with whom I frequently rang nearly 50 years ago, and whose work is commemorated on a brass plate as follows: 'In memory of A. M. Gover, and in recognition of the great services he rendered to the Mid-Devon Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.'

Of the local band we learn that Mr. A. L. Pope's family can be traced back to 1440, and Mr. Austin's as far as Domesday Book. One of the veterans, Mr. C. Drew, celebrated his 85th birthday on July 7th, 1923, by ringing to complete 60 years' service with Mr. E. W. Marsh, of Plymouth, as conductor.

Adjoining the churchyard is the ancient palace yard. A fine red stone tower is still left of the old ecclesiastical buildings. The tenor bell of Paignton was cast in the yard 300 years ago, and in the tower, some antiquarians state, Coverdale translated part of the Bible. The old ring of six were cast by T. Bilbie, at Collumpton, the treble being inscribed:—

'When I begin, then all strike in.'

Buckfast is reached by a delightful riverside drive amidst well-wooded hill country. We were shown over the Abbey by one of the monks and met by Mr. A. L. Bennett. The central tower is enclosed with scaffolding above the roof level, as this part of the building is being raised another 40ft. This will allow of a new ringing room and a better outlet for the sound of the bells. Several of our own cameras were busy, and nearly every visitor of the many coming and going took a snap of the west door. The whole building is a valuable record of steady perseverance from the date it was begun in 1882, yet on leaving the precincts I saw on the opposite side of the road a plain small Devon cubicle, having a stone in its gable bearing the words, 'Wesleyan Methodist Church. Erected A.D. 1881.'

As there could be no ringing until 5 p.m., we did not stay at Buckfast, having made other fixtures, and went on to Babbacombe, the drive taking us through Ashburton. All Saints' Church was built in 1867 to meet the needs of a growing population, and was consecrated by the Bishop of Oxford. It is of handsome, uncommon design, various marbles having been employed in the font, pulpit and columns. James Hewett was its first Vicar, 1865 to 1910. To him is due the building of it, and his is the only tomb in the small tree-lined churchyard that surrounds the church. The bells are a good ring of eight by Warner and Sons, London, tenor 15 cwt. 3 qr. They were rung for the first time in 1874. Mr. W. H. Weeks (foreman) met us at the church. He has been here for 48 years. Touches of Major and Stedman were rung for another diamond jubilee. A well-kept and furnished ringing room, with good light, good circle of ropes and draught. The four large windows of the bell chamber have the lower half filled with stone panels instead of the familiar louvre. This barrier prevents the metallic clash of the clappers on the bells being deflected below. Some of the party viewed Babbacombe Bay from the cliffs, and the three cars came home after a round of some 40 miles by 8 o'clock, but I will not let my 'pen-dragon' by saying where they were lost in Paignton.

RINGERS MEET AT LEA.

A LINCOLNSHIRE GATHERING.

A very successful meeting of the Gainsborough District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at St. Helen's, Lea, on Saturday, August 25th. Ringers were present from Branton, Gainsborough, Misterion, Upton, Willingham and the local tower, and the visitors included lady ringers from Gainsborough and Sutton-on-Trent. Some good practice was had by all, and the methods rung included Grand-sire, Stedman and St. Clement's Doubles, Plain Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Primrose and London Surprise Minor, and rounds for the less advanced.

The Rev. Nugent-Wilson, of Upton, gave a very interesting address at the service. He reminded ringers that, although they often work out of sight, they are not out of mind, and, realising the high calling of their work, should not make this an excuse for not attending the services.

Canon Fookes (Rector of Lea) and Mrs. Fookes kindly entertained the ringers to tea and invited them to stroll around their charming old-world garden.

At the business meeting hopes were expressed that the condition of the bells might be improved in the near future as a result of the recent visit of Messrs. Taylor's representative.

AN ESSEX TOUR.

LOUGHTON AND WOODFORD RINGERS' ANNUAL OUTING.

Glorious weather favoured the Loughton and Woodford ringers on Saturday, August 25th, when a party of nearly fifty, including Mr. W. H. Theobald and Mr. J. Moule, of the Leytonstone band, toured the Eastern and North-Eastern parts of Essex.

Danbury was chosen as the first halting place, and was reached via Brentwood and Chelmsford. As the coaches purred up the winding hill a noble prospect met the eye and the flatness of Essex began to be questioned. It would be hard to find a lovelier and more interesting situation. Danish raiders hailed this position for one of their strongholds and utilised and enlarged this prehistoric camp. The older part of the village clusters round the Church of St. John the Baptist with its tower and lofty spire, together 120ft. high, a landmark which has guided tired pedestrians as well as storm-tossed sailors.

Mr. W. Spokes, the vergor, welcomed the ringers, and in quick time the bells were going to touches of Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob. The new treble by Mears and Stainbank has made the original five (cast by Miles Gray in 1622) into a tuneful six, tenor 11 cwt. The church is famous for its archaeological associations, and an interesting history of it has recently been written by J. M. Bull. The unique features are the three well-carved oak effigies, of the thirteenth century, which lie under recesses, two in the north wall and the third in the south. The effigies, all clad in ringed mail covered with a surcoat, are said to represent members of the St. Clare family who flourished in the reign of Henry III. Also the late sixteenth century Mildmay funeral helm, with its rampant lion crest; the carved images fixed to the pews, many of them representing badges of the British regiments quartered in the neighbourhood during the late war; and the fourteenth century hagioscope through the east wall of the north aisle.

On leaving the church, the Rector (the Rev. R. E. Fanshawe) gladly welcomed the party to the Rectory grounds, where the distant view embraced the valley of the Crouch and Langdon Hills to the silver streak of the Thames and the far shores of Kent.

Great Holland was the next objective, via Maldon, Totham, Tiptree, Colchester and Thorpe-le-Soken. Winding roads, country gardens, fruit farms and quaint old farm buildings, with freshly gathered corn stacked close by, provided passing thrills that are not experienced in crowded streets.

Mr. T. Bareham welcomed the party at All Saints', Great Holland, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung on a new peal of eight by John Taylor and Co., given by the Barron Bell Trust in memory of the founder of the trust, Miss Emma Barron, of Great Holland, who died in 1930. The ringing floor, open to view, is reached by a perpendicular ladder and trap door, a novel if somewhat awkward arrangement. The stately early fifteenth century brick tower, the spacious chancel, the single row of well-proportioned pillars separating the nave from the north aisle, and the south porch are features that make the building interesting.

After dinner at Corby's Restaurant, Clacton, and a general survey of the sea front and its amusements, including the Martello Tower, no longer used by coastguards, the 'right away' was sounded for Coggeshall, via St. Osyth, Thorington and the new 'Avenue of Remembrance,' Lexden. On approaching Coggeshall, 'Dick Turpin,' out for quick business, proclaimed that the local carnival was being held, and the one-time famous place for cloth was rising to the occasion in good style. Thanks to Mr. E. Beckwith's assistance, the bells of St. Peter's ad Vincula, one of the outstanding churches in Essex, were soon going to Grandsire Triples, followed by Stedman, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major—a musical eight, 20 cwt.

The outstanding features of this well-proportioned edifice of flint and large pebbles, dating back to the 13th century, with fine Early English and Perpendicular workmanship, are the great number of stained glass windows, rich in design and colouring, dedicated to members of well-known local families; the alabaster reredos and the wonderful wood carving that adorns the beautiful chancel. Four brass figures are set into the north wall in memory of John Oldam, of East Tilbury, who died in 1599, and members of his family. Above these is a marble monument to Robert Townsend, who took part in Marlborough's campaigns and who was highly esteemed.

Tea was served at the famous 15th century Woolpack Inn, and at the conclusion Mr. W. Rule and Mr. J. Chalk voiced the thanks of the visitors and ringers respectively to Mr. J. Rann (Loughton) and to Mr. C. Morss (Woodford), the organisers of the very successful outing, and to Sgt. Thorpe (Loughton), who so energetically co-operated with the drivers throughout the day.—Mr. C. Morss suitably replied, and said that both he and Mr. Rann would be pleased to offer their services again, and invited those present to join in next year's excursion.

After a short interval the coaches sped along to High Ongar, via Wilham, reaching St. Mary's as the sun was setting. The bells are hung in a fairly modern brick tower, solid in design, erected on the south side of the ancient flint church renowned for its Norman arch and 13th century lancet windows. After another trap door experience, with Mr. H. Ordish as the local guide, touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman were rung on a well-sounding six, tenor 11 cwt., the

A TOWERKEEPERS' PEAL.

Eight towerkeepers of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Bromley Common.

THE EIGHT STEEPLE KEEPERS.

They are Messrs. T. Groombridge, St. Nicholas', Chislehurst; B. W. Aldridge, St. Mary's, Woolwich; A. S. Richards, St. John's, West Wickham; H. Warnett, St. Mary's, Lewisham; J. Hurrell, St. John's, Eltham; W. J. Jefferies, St. John's, Deptford; J. E. Lyddiard, St. Luke's, Bromley, and W. Smith, St. George's, Beckenham.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT BARNES.

A meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday, August 25th, at Barnes, when, in very fine weather, members and friends to the number of about 40 attended during the time at the disposal of the association. A little known tower, ancient, of old red brick (1212), subsequently restored at some time in the Tudor style, there were till 1897 three bells, which were augmented to eight in commemoration of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. In 1933 these eight, tenor about 12½ cwt., were rehung and tuned by Mears and Stainbank, with most pleasing results. The 7th bell was cast in 1575 by Robert Mot.

The proceedings commenced with a touch of Stedman Triples under the conductorship of the District Master, Mr. H. Mance. Other touches in various methods were rung until 5 p.m., when the Rector (the Rev. W. Patrick Bott) held a short service and in an address briefly sketched the history of the church and bells. He pointed out that the south aisle is the remaining portion of the original church built in the 12th century. This has been restored to be as near as possible to the original work, although two tie beams have been preserved intact. These, in fact, are oak trees squared by adze.

Tea was partaken of at a local restaurant, and at the meeting which followed the Rector was elected a member.

The secretary was requested to write a congratulatory letter to Mr. F. Hawthorn, of Thames Ditton, assistant secretary of the association, who had been married that afternoon.

A movement was afterwards made to the tower for further ringing, and during the evening among the touches was a course of London, which was stated on almost indisputable authority to be the first ever rung on the bells.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for his kindness in allowing the bells to be used for this occasion, and for his nice address at the service. Thanks also were expressed to Mr. Charles Hunt, steeplekeeper for many years, who welcomed the company in his usual breezy and pleasant way. Visitors came from Bletchley, Hillingdon, Ruislip, Enfield, Croydon, etc. At 8.30 the bells were lowered and a very pleasant function came to an end, the hope being expressed that acquaintance with such a 'topping little lot' might be renewed next year.

treble having been recently added and the 5th recast, another testimony to Taylor's good workmanship.

By nine o'clock the day's ringing had ceased and the run home via Abridge soon followed. A happy day had been spent, the spirit of comradeship had been strengthened, and confidence gained by those who were setting out to master the art of change ringing. All offer their sincere thanks to the incumbents of the parishes for the use of the bells, and to the ringers who greeted the party at the towers visited.

BELLS AND ANTI-NOISE CAMPAIGN.

The new Anti-Noise League, which has been established to wage war on the noises arising from the turmoil of modern life, is doubtless intended to serve a good and useful purpose. The imposition of 'silence zones' for cars in cities and great towns is a first step towards the suppression of some of the din which exacts its toll from the nerves of the public. The League is now turning its attention to other disturbing noises of everyday life, and it does not lack prompters. Every crank with a grievance or fad is urging the League to press for the suppression of his or her pet objection, and it is not at all surprising to learn that church bells are coming in for their attention. At present the agitation against bells is not very vociferous, but it may rise in a crescendo at any time. In some respects, of course, bellringing is protected against attacks, but it is well that ringers should not bury their heads, ostrich-like, in the sand. They should be prepared to resist any attempt to rush ill-considered legislation that might menace the very existence of the art itself. As far as service ringing is concerned, the Exercise would have the whole Church at its back; the danger in this matter is that some kind of departmental action might be hurriedly taken before the public had realised what had happened. We cannot imagine that church bells can be silenced by any action on the part of the Minister of Transport, who has imposed the silencing of motor horns, but in these days of bureaucratic government all sorts of things are done, and the man in the street knows nothing about them until he finds himself up against some new regulation further restricting his liberty. Ringers should watch carefully for any indication of the curtailing of ringing and should at once bring the matter to the notice of the Central Council.

At the same time, it is wise not to be blind to the fact that there are instances where the public may have a legitimate grievance against noisy bells. Ringers should never be so perverse as to ignore complaints where they are well grounded, for there is a remedy which can be adopted to allay the trouble. In fact, we would recommend ringers to take the initiative and not wait until there is a public clamour for stopping bellringing. There are now on the market various sound-absorbing materials which, at comparatively small expense, can be employed for stopping the louvres in the bell chamber. Ringers, in their own interests, ought to do it, particularly in populous districts, and no reasonable Church Council is likely to refuse. There is a further remedy which can be adopted to reduce any outside annoyance. There is a tower in the centre of London where last year over thirty peals were rung, and the number this year is likely to be equally as large. Yet there is no annoyance to the neighbours; indeed, the bells are hardly to be heard in the street. The secret is that the louvres are bricked up, and when a peal is attempted a special kind of 'muffle' is used, which consists of a thin plate of metal, lined with leather. It is tied to the clapper and has proved most effective in use. Early prevention will be better than eventual suppression, and we urge ringers at noisy towers to take time by the forelock and apply the remedies open to them.

THE FINCHINGFIELD PEAL BOARD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A party of ringers visited Finchingfield in 1890 and attempted to ring a peal of Bob Major, but the conductor, Mr. C. Sillitoe, of Sudbury, let the bells run home at the half way owing to their bad go. The late Samuel Slater was one of these, and he saw the peal board mentioned in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' by Mr. D. H. Elliott, and made a copy of it, and, of course, made enquiries concerning it. The landlord of the inn told him that at the restoration of the church, which took place after the peal was rung, the board recording it was taken down and put with a lot of old wood, which the landlord bought for firewood, but thinking it was too good to chop up, he hung it in the parlour at the inn. I cannot give you a copy of it, as the MSS. recording the incident are not at home at present.

When Samuel Slater went to Saffron Walden again he made enquiries concerning the peal which had been forgotten, and from the old ringers he gained this information. When the band met to start for the peal only seven men were there, and Matthew Adecock Ward, a young ringer, who had come to hear the peal, was asked to ring the treble and did so. He was so pleased with it that he wrote the board to record the peal and gave it to the church. When the inn was destroyed by fire the board perished with it. I am glad to find that other persons have seen the board.

I might also say that Samuel Slater did not find any peals rung on the bells by local men, so I do not think any peals were rung on them by a Finchingfield band.

Hunts Hill, Glemsford.

T. E. SLATER.

A NEW SUSSEX PEAL OF EIGHT.

GIFT OF THREE BELLS TO SLAUGHAM PARISH CHURCH.

In memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Secretan, formerly of Slaugham Park, Sussex, and of their grandson (the late Mr. Tim Stevens), the Secretan family and Captain and Mrs. Stevens are presenting three new bells and a new steel girder bell frame to the fine old Parish Church at Slaugham.

There is to be a new treble bell and also two heavier ones—a seventh and a tenor. This valuable addition will make a peal of eight bells in the tower—something which has been desired for a long time. The present five bells and the oak bell frame appear to have been erected 161 years ago, there being on them an inscription, 'Thomas Janaway, Fecit 1773.'

The bells will be rung as they were formerly, from the floor of the tower, and the match-boarded cupboards and deal staircase are to be removed. The present ringing floor is to be raised above the levels of the three lancet windows of the tower, thus making the west end of the church much lighter. The scheme of improvement has been carefully considered and approved by the Advisory Board responsible for the fabric and structure of ancient Sussex churches, and the necessary faculty has been applied for. The work is to be undertaken by the well-known Croydon bell founders—Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

To the Secretan family, and to Captain and Mrs. Stevens, all who love the old Parish Church are grateful beyond words.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

GOOD WISHES TO GENERAL SECRETARY.

About thirty members of the Guildford district met at Godalming on Saturday, and spent a pleasant time in spite of the fact that the belfry in the old central tower is without windows and efficient ventilation, and that the back bells, with a tenor of 24 cwt., despite rehanging a couple of years ago, need a lot of pulling. It was not the bell-hanger's fault; he was hampered in his task by the restrictions of the architect.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening was directed by the Ringing Master (Mr. W. R. Melville), and consisted of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, with useful practice for many of the lesser advanced ringers.

Tea was served at the Church Hall, and the company was swelled by more than a dozen choirboys, who, on promise of tea if they came to the service, turned up in force.

At the subsequent business meeting, at which the Ringing Master took the chair, several new members were elected, the General Hon. Secretary proposing Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson in the hope, he said, that at least one of the handbell peals, if any, rung on the sea during the Australian tour, might be credited to the Guildford Guild.

Mr. C. Childs, captain of the Godalming ringers, and Mr. G. Grover, District Secretary, offered to Mr. Goldsmith good wishes for a successful and happy tour and a safe return from Australia. This was endorsed by the members.

In reply, Mr. Goldsmith said the party had the good wishes of many people up and down the country. Although they did not know what sort of bells they would meet in Australia, they were assured of a very warm welcome. As showing the spirit existing, Mr. Goldsmith mentioned that he had received a letter from the secretary of the society at Holy Trinity, Hobart, Tasmania, stating that among other forms of entertainment arrangements had been made with the Mayor to allow the visitors to ride free on the tramways during their time there.

Remarking that some difficult work was expected, Mr. Goldsmith said the party were taking with them 10 good bell ropes, a large tin of castor oil and lard mixed, and a 2ft. adjustable spanner, and if they could not make the bells in Australia go on that they would leave them alone (laughter). Incidentally, he was taking with him a set of mechanic's overalls, to be prepared for any job.

Thanks for the use of the bells were expressed by Mr. Melville to the Vicar of Godalming (Canon G. S. Richards), who, in reply, welcomed members of the Guild to Godalming, and said since their last visit the Parish Church bells had been recast, and he hoped were now in good order.

Before the meeting concluded some of the members took part in handbell ringing. In the evening a service was held in the Parish Church, the address being given by the Vicar. The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (Wokingham) read the lesson, and Mr. G. E. Wyeth was at the organ.

ANOTHER WEEK-END IN LINCOLNSHIRE.

THREE SURPRISE PEALS.

One more pleasant week-end has been spent at Surfleet, that home of peal-grabbers, bulb growers, picture makers, and globe trotters, where is a place known to quite a number of ringers as the 'Lincolnshire rest house.' Whoever gave it that name must have done so before Rupert took up picture making as a hobby. Fortunately for his guests, on this last visit, the 'infernal machine,' otherwise known as a movie camera, was packed away in readiness for the globe trotting to Australia and other parts of the southern hemisphere, so that it was quite safe to sleep in a comfortable chair on the lawn without fear of being 'snapped' and shown to posterity, looking like anything but what you imagine yourself to be. Of course, if somebody else is a victim it is quite another matter—but we will return to that later.

The real business of the week-end was to ring peals at Sleaford, Harmston and Washingborough, and, as will be seen by reference to the peal columns, all were rung. At Sleaford, on Saturday, the method was London Surprise, and it was a real treat to see Bill Pye turning in the tenor in his own style. Long may he be spared to show us how to do it!

Sunday ringing, both morning and evening, was done at Surfleet, and the rest of the day was spent in 'resting,' except when the return match was on. The return match, it may be explained, was played on a tennis court, and it will no doubt be of interest to those ringers who were at Surfleet during the first week-end in August to hear that the 'victim' in a game of tennis on that occasion had an ample revenge. No 5-0 lead turned into a 7-5 defeat this time, but just a real, slap-up, win by six clear points. It matters not if the winner was down and out for the rest of the day; he won! The deciding game is, we understand, to take place after the visit to Australia.

The peal on Monday morning at Harmston was one of Superlative, with Tom Coles 'calling ye bobs.' It was the 100th peal rung by the hostess, a feat which has taken many years to accomplish. It is expected, however, that so many handbell peals will be rung on the 'Barrabool' on the way to Australia, and on the 'Bendigo' coming home, that the 200th will soon be on record. Whenever that peal is rung, the conductor of the 100th hopes to have the pleasure of acting in a similar capacity again.

Cambridge Surprise was rung at Washingborough to get the first in the method on the bells. Another Lincolnshire hostess, Mrs. Jack Bray, took part in this peal, and showed herself to be a very capable and safe ringer. Her husband, by the way, rang two tower bell peals in one day for the first time, although he once started for three.

Peals over, some sight-seeing took place. The Manor House of Washingborough, now the Rectory, contains hundreds of art treasures, many of which were inspected. The beautiful grounds were also visited, a pleasant hour being spent. After this interlude an important function took place—the 100th peal was celebrated. Rupert had his favourite drink (no prizes are offered for correct guesses), and the conductor had the best bitter he has ever tasted, at any rate, so he said. The toast to the hostess was 'Success in Australia, a safe return home, and the 200th peal.' We must not forget the 150th peal by George Ladd was also toasted, with good wishes for another hundred or so.

After supper a few pictures were shown on the screen, and some who had spent a sleepy Sunday afternoon were very thankful that the camera had not been in action that day. A certain well-known conductor from Birmingham was seen playing (?) tennis in 'plus-twins,' doing trick riding on a diminutive cycle, and acting as 'instructor' to a lady anxious to learn to ride. But the show piece was a close-up of a lady taking a siesta in a deck chair, oh, so comfy. We are quite sure that this picture would draw a record crowd if shown in any Birmingham cinema. Three grandmas and three grandpas (one grandpa rather over at the knees) made a very interesting picture, whilst more serious, but not less interesting, were many movies of celebrities of the Exercise snapped at Tewkesbury and Warwick.

Farewells had to be made on Tuesday morning with the knowledge of the long journey in front of the host and hostess and their little daughter. Once more we wish them a successful tour and a safe return.

Mrs. Richardson's peals are made up as follows: Bob Minor 4, St. Clement's Minor 1, Cambridge Minor 1, Minor in 2 methods 1, Minor in 3 methods 5 (conducted 1), Minor in 4 methods 1, Minor in 5 methods 1, Minor in 7 methods 4 (conducted 1), Stedman Triples 2 (on handbells 1), Bob Major 11 (on handbells 15), Double Norwich Major 5, Kent Treble Bob Major 2, Superlative Surprise Major 4, Cambridge Surprise Major 3, London Surprise Major 7, Bristol Surprise Major (treble) 4, Grandsire Caters 1, Stedman Caters 3, Bob Royal 1, Kent Treble Bob Royal 1, Cambridge Royal 3, Stedman Cinques 8, Bob Maximus 2, Cambridge Surprise Maximus 3, total, on tower bells 84, on handbells 16.

BORDEN, KENT.—On Tuesday, August 28th, for a wedding, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Boorman 1, W. A. Cook 2, G. Kenward 3, E. J. Debbie 4, W. J. Walker 5, J. T. Webb 6, W. Spice, sen. (conductor) 7, W. Gorman 8.

A CORNISH TOUR.

RECORD OF NOTABLE PEAL TO BE UNVEILED AT EXETER.

A peal ringing tour, by Mr. William Pye's party, chiefly in Cornwall, but also embracing Yeovil, in Somerset, and perhaps a tower or towers in Exeter, begins to-morrow.

The visit to Exeter, at the end of the tour, is in connection with the unveiling of a board recording the peal of Stedman Caters rung on the Cathedral bells on September 14th, 1903. At that time there were only ten bells in the tower, and Mr. William Pye rang the 72½ cwt. tenor single-handed—the only time it has ever been done for a peal. It was the first peal of Stedman on the bells, and was rung under the auspices of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. The ringers were: John Thomas (Bristol) 1, Charles Mee (Ipswich) 2, Isaac G. Shade (Greenwich) 3, John Austin (Gloucester) conductor 4, Alfred W. Brighton (London) 5, Gabriel Lindoff (Dublin) 6, Charles Jackson (Hull) 7, William W. Gifford (Salisbury) 8, Ernest Pye (London) 9, William Pye (London) 10. Every other peal rung on the bells has a board in the tower, but this, the greatest performance of all, has waited more than 30 years to be fittingly recorded in the place where it was rung.

The following is the programme for the week's tour:—

Saturday, September 15th, Yeovil (Somerset), 3 p.m.
 Sunday, September 16th, Looe, 12.30 p.m.
 Monday, September 17th, Phillack, 9.30 a.m.
 Monday, September 17th, St. Stephen-in-Brannel, 5 p.m.
 Tuesday, September 18th, St. Enocher, 9.30 a.m.
 Tuesday, September 18th, Kenwyn (not for peal), 2.30 p.m.
 Tuesday, September 18th, Truro Cathedral, 5.30 p.m.
 Wednesday, September 19th, St. Anthony-in-Meneage, 9.30 a.m.
 Wednesday, September 19th, Helston, 3.30 p.m.
 Thursday, September 20th, Lanivet, 9.30 a.m.
 Thursday, September 20th, St. Austell, 2.30 p.m.
 Friday, September 21st, Gulval, 9.30 a.m.
 Friday, September 21st, Penzance (St. Mary's), 2.30 p.m.
 Saturday, September 22nd, Roche, 9 a.m.
 Saturday, September 22nd, Exeter, for unveiling of peal board, at 4 p.m. Possibly a peal or peals may be attempted at churches in Exeter should time and circumstances permit.

'UNOFFICIAL RANDOM REFLECTIONS.'

BY A CANTANKEROUS CRITIC.

In what he terms 'Unofficial Random Reflections,' a cantankerous critic writes on a number of topics. Apparently having mislaid his sense of humour, he takes exception to the publication of part of the diary of 'G. W. F.' which alludes to the humorous side of the Somerset trip. He does not like references to such things as 'Bert's pipe, camping on the lawn, sewing up sleeping garments, and such doings, which are quite outside ringing.' Well, never mind, it takes all sorts to make a world. Then he goes on:—

Nothing seems to be doing in the Bankes James line lately. We were told that it was the desire of practical ringers from many quarters to ring this for peals, but where are the peals? Weeks and months go by, but still no records, not even by those Council members who spoke so much in its favour. What are they afraid of? Have they since discovered that a TRUE peal on ALL numbers shall in ALL cases start FROM and end with rounds. I wonder who named it Bankes James? Starting with rounds was known and rung in the days of Queen Victoria, and we used to try out all these freak arrangements, new and old, when we had an hour to spare, with the handbells, but for peals no, we always complied with the rules.

[By way of answer, the Bankes James Arrangement was rung at Market Deeping on September 1st. We do not think we are wrong in saying that our correspondent, whatever else he rang, never rang the Bankes James Arrangement or any part of it or anything like it on handbells.—Ed., 'R.W.']

Lately we have seen handbell peals published without the name of the umpire. Is this a sign of the times again? It is essential that a qualified person be given this important duty.

Much has been said and written on the question of beginners, but, like the six-bell question, it is a long way from a settlement. The fault is not with the beginner, it is with the instructor. The percentage of really qualified instructors is very small, and what is wanted is a series of lectures and practical exhibitions on 'How to instruct correctly.'

There is no doubt that many who try to instruct need lessons themselves in various parts of the instructing art, while some of them will never make instructors. Ringing peals in various methods does not qualify anyone for the task, neither does conductorship count. Too much 'push' is made use of, which is fatal; for learners should be treated, not as part of a system, but in many ways known only to the really gifted tutor.

The Australian tour is certainly being 'boomed' as much as possible, but there is one big difficulty regarding its outcome. Like all tours, they are interesting while they last, especially to those taking part in them; but Australia is so far away, and the ringers there so few, that close touch will never be possible. Anyhow, I wish those taking part in it a real enjoyable holiday.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.
NEWBURY BRANCH.

A meeting of the Newbury branch was held at Thatcham on Saturday, September 1st, when the following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Newbury, Peasemore, Thatcham and Overton. Visitors were present from Reading, Swindon and Wokingham. The Deputy Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) also attended.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. O. Daniel), who gave a very interesting address. Miss E. Mathews, of Bucklebury, presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Parish Hall by Mrs. A. Smith, and 22 sat down to an excellent meal.

The Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (chairman of the branch) presided over the business meeting.

The annual meeting was fixed for Newbury on Saturday, November 17th.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. A. O. Daniel for his address and welcome to the ringers, to Miss Mathews for playing at the service, and to Mrs. Smith for providing the tea.

The tower was again visited, and the following methods rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Major.

FAIRFORD RINGERS' LONG DAY OUT.

The Fairford ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, August 25th. A start was made at 7 a.m., via Gloucester to Lydney, and on this route they were just in time to see the Severn bore. Lydney was reached at 9 a.m., and ringing on the peal of eight in the Parish Church was very much enjoyed. The party were met by two old ringers, viz., Messrs. J. W. Davis and O. Thomas.

Chepstow was the next stop. Here there is a much heavier peal of eight of lovely tone. These bells go the 'wrong' way round, but the party soon got used to that, and were able to ring for a wedding. Arriving at Monmouth at 12.30, the ringers enjoyed a hot lunch at Partridge's cafe before going to the church. Here there is another heavy peal of eight, which were going well. Goodrich was the next place on the programme, and the party were met by the Vicar (the Rev. H. L. Bickley), who gave them a hearty welcome. They rang on the light peal of six before going on to Bridgwater, where a light peal of eight just suited them. They were met there by Mr. Poston, sen., and Mr. Poston, jun. These bells were obtained in place of those at Ross, which were unringable. After tea at Hoskins' cafe, Ross, the party returned to Gloucester, where ringing was very much enjoyed on the six bells at St. Mary-de-Lode Church, where the visitors were met by Mr. J. Stephens and Mr. J. Gillett. The former congratulating the ringers on their good striking. After this 'do as you please' was the order, some going to 'pictures,' others to a bread and cheese supper at the Lamb, where they met several old Gloucester and district ringers, and the handbells were well in use during the evening, with tunes and change ringing. Mr. E. Davis, from Gloucester, kindly piloted the party round, and his help was very much appreciated.

A start was made for home at 10.20, and the party arrived at Fairford at 11.30, having had a very enjoyable outing through lovely scenery. The ringers wish to thank Mr. John Austin for his kindness, also the ringers who met them at the various towers, which helped to make the outing such a success. The methods rung on the trip were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Kent Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Plain Bob Major.

A HALF-PEAL.

At Bishopstoke, Hants, on August 27th, at St. Mary's Church, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples (2,520 changes): R. Clark 1, G. Hutchinson 2, S. Winkworth 3, G. Pullinger 4, G. Grant 5, E. Wheeler 6, J. Hill (conductor) 7, C. Ayliffe 8.

Rung to celebrate the 70th birthday of C. Ayliffe. It was intended to attempt a peal, but owing to the late start time did not permit. Longest length by a local band.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

An important notice to correspondents appears in another column. Please read, and act upon it.

There is a small deficit on the Oxford Diocesan Guild Memorial to the late Master, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, as it has been decided to make the donation to the Queen Anne's Chapel Enlargement Fund up to £100. We understand the deficit has been guaranteed.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was chaplain of Queen Anne's School, Caversham, and the enlargement of the chapel was a project which he had hoped to see carried out. It is now to be undertaken, at the initiative of the Governors, as a memorial to their deeply beloved chaplain.

We are pleased to record that Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, is making a good although slow recovery from his illness, but has not yet been able to leave the house.

Mr. Percy Amos, who has been in Northampton General Hospital suffering from a broken leg and other injuries, the result of an accident, is making satisfactory progress, and hopes shortly to be transferred to a convalescent home.

To-morrow, Mr. Fred. Walker, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, of 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, Birmingham, is to be married at St. Martin's Church to Miss Marion Griffiths. Mr. Albert Walker is well known to the Exercise, and needs no further introduction. The bridegroom-elect has also done a little ringing.

The peal of Stedman Caters at Solihull, recorded in our issue of August 31st, was rung on August 20th, not the 13th as reported.

On Sunday next, at 7.55 p.m., the bells of St. Margaret's, Barking, will be broadcast on the National wavelength.

If 'Ajax' will forward his name and address, his letter will be inserted. Letters cannot appear in our columns unless they are accompanied by the sender's name and address, which need not necessarily be for publication.

A new treble bell, added to the existing five, through the generosity of Mr. J. Dixon, was dedicated at Milton Regis, Kent, on Sunday during evening service. To-morrow the bells will be open to ringers, and the proceedings will begin with a special service at 4 p.m.

LADIES' GUILD PRESIDENT.

MISS E. STEEL SCORES HER 200th PEAL.

The congratulations of the Exercise will be extended to the president of the Ladies' Guild, Miss Evelyn Steel, upon ringing her 200th peal on Saturday, with a fine peal of Double Norwich at Dunstable, rung without a trip throughout.

Although a complete list of Miss Steel's peals are not at the moment available, it is safe to say they include more 7-method Minor peals than have been rung by any other member of the Ladies' Guild. They are considerably over 100, including over 30 peals of Surprise Minor.

RETIREMENT OF MR. W. PICKWORTH.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION LEAVES SOUTHGATE.

On Sunday, September 2nd, for evening service, at Christ Church, Southgate, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,296 changes): A. R. Glasscock 1, D. Pink 2, G. Plater 3, J. Armstrong (conductor) 4, N. A. Tomlinson 5, H. Miller 6, J. E. Miller 7, W. Pickworth 8.

Rung as a farewell to Mr. W. Pickworth, who, on retirement, is removing to Hastings, after being a ringer at Christ Church, Southgate, for 38 years. It was also a compliment to Mr. J. E. Miller on the 42nd anniversary of his being elected a full member of the Southgate Society.

Before his departure from Southgate, Mr. Pickworth entertained the local ringers to an excellent supper on August 30th at the Cherry Tree. The Captain of the ringers, Mr. Miller, on behalf of the Society, presented to Mr. Pickworth a copy of 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' by Ernest Morris, as a token of their regard and in recognition of his long membership of the Society, for 12 years of which he has acted as secretary and treasurer. Whilst expressing the regret of the Society at losing such an excellent member, they wished him and Mrs. Pickworth a happy and long retirement in their flat at the seaside, and hoped that whenever they were 'in town' he would not fail to renew his acquaintance with the bells of Southgate.

Mr. Pickworth, in returning thanks for the kind observations made in respect to his stay at Southgate, said he hoped to take part in further ringing on the melodious bells of Southgate when in future visiting the town and county. He also asserted that he should never forget the happy ringing time he had spent at Southgate.

During the evening tunes on the handbells were rendered by Messrs. Armstrong and Plater.

For many years Mr. Pickworth has been vice-president of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild in the North and East District.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

TO-DAY'S DEPARTURE.

The Great Adventure Starts.

To-day the great adventure begins. The P. and O. ss. 'Barrabool' leaves King George V. dock, London, this afternoon, and with her go the ringers who are taking part in the tour of Australia.

The names of the company who are thus making ringing history were given in our last issue. They assemble at Liverpool Street Station at 1.15 p.m., and the special train leaves at 1.50. It is expected that a number of ringers will be present to see them off, and handbells will be rung to speed them on the way.

The past week has been a busy one for the tourists, packing and dispatching baggage. They have not overlooked the difficulties they may find in some of the Australian towers, and are going prepared. They are taking with them ten ready-stretched bell ropes, kindly lent by the ringers of St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, which will be long enough for any draught which they expect to find. A big tin of lard and castor oil and a 2ft. adjustable spanner (weighing about 12lb.—it will probably weigh much more than that if it has to be carried far) are being taken, and one member at least has had the forethought to equip himself with a set of overalls.

MRS. R. RICHARDSON,

The only lady ringer in the Australian Tourists' band. She has just rung her one hundredth peal.

In addition to this the party are taking out with them many gifts to Australian ringers. Illuminated on parchment is the message of greeting from the Central Council, representing the ringers of England, to the ringers of all Australasia, and this will be presented at Melbourne Cathedral.

Then there are the very fine albums, containing photographs of the cathedrals and notable churches of the British Isles (collections organised by 'The Ringing World' and given by all the leading associations, guilds and societies). One of these collections will find a home at Melbourne and the other at Hobart. Other individual gifts are being taken to various churches, and collections of the Central Council publications will be presented to every tower visited.

IN TASMANIA.

The details of the programme for the week which will be spent in Tasmania from November 1st to 8th, reached England on Monday. Throughout their stay in Hobart the visitors will be the guests of members of the congregation of Holy Trinity Church. They are to be received by the Governor-General (Sir Ernest Clarke) at Government House, who will entertain them to tea, and by the Bishop of Tasmania, at Bishops Court. His Lordship will also entertain the party. One day will be spent in visiting the National Park as guests of the Tasmanian Government, and another in visiting Mount Wellington, the island's tallest mountain. There will be gatherings and ringing with the local ringers, of whose society Mr. A. R. Wilson is the hon. secretary, and the visitors have been informed that the bells of Holy Trinity Church will be at their disposal whenever and for as long as they please.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

During the absence of the Editor on the Australian tour, correspondents are particularly requested to

Post all reports of peals and meetings and other items of news to

'The Ringing World,'

c/o The Woodbridge Press, Ltd.,

Guildford, Surrey,

and to continue to send all NOTICES of meetings and remittances to

'The Ringing World,'

Woking, Surrey.

Compliance with this request will save delay in publication.

It is important that notices should reach 'The Ringing World' Office not later than Tuesday.

What more could one ask?

The stay in Melbourne will be divided. The party arrive there on October 22nd, and ringing, entertainment and sightseeing will fill the programme until October 31st, when they leave for Hobart. On returning to the mainland they go to Geelong, Ballarat and Bendigo, and return to Melbourne in time for the commemoration on Sunday, November 11th. They stay in Melbourne until the 16th, when they leave by sea for Sydney, where approximately five days will be spent before embarking on ss. 'Bendigo' for home.

Perth and Adelaide will be visited both on the outward and homeward journeys, and the travellers will also be able to visit, when passing in each direction, Malta and Ceylon, and, on the return they hope to go to Cairo and the Pyramids.

They are due in London on January 5th, but Mr. and Mrs. Sharples will be left at Colombo to continue their journey to India, where they are to visit their son.

STEDMAN'S BELLS.

ST. BENEDICT'S, CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There are a number of your readers who are interested in the correspondence referring to Stedman's bells, but nobody has yet given us a clear account of what actually is the trouble. Can someone enlighten us as to what has happened that after a restoration in 1931 it has been necessary to warn learners that there is a danger of breaking something more than a stay? After all, if one is to have ringers one must have learners. What is really wrong if, after a general tightening up by an experienced ringer, something wants further attention after a 720 has been rung? Remember that three years have not elapsed since the restoration. Why class all oak frames alike as requiring someone continually in attendance with a spanner? (Shrinkage, humbug!)

Neglect causes trouble whatever the method of hanging, and I have seen splendid jobs of modern iron and steel frames, not yet 30 years old, rapidly on their way to the scrap heap through neglect.

There is, in my opinion, no reason to expect trouble because the bells are hung on the old principle, to wooden headstocks by the canons. There must be many rings of bells so hung. I learnt to ring, with many more, on a ring (tenor one ton) so hung, and not a bell became loose, and nothing happened beyond a broken stay. This was in 1906. The bells were still tight in 1929, and never to my knowledge required tightening.

Now, will someone tell us what is it that gets loose?—the frame bolts or the headstock bolts? Is there no methods of locking the nuts so that they will not work loose after being tightened? Are learners warned off because the bells are apt to get loose on the stocks?

DEATH OF VETERAN CHORLEY RINGER.

A FOUNDER OF THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

Many ringers in Lancashire, especially in the Preston branch and district, will learn with regret of the death of Mr. John Marsden, of Chorley, which took place at his son's home, 145, Bolton Road, Chorley, on Friday, August 31st. Mr. Marsden was in his 82nd year. He had been connected with bellringing for 64 years, and was one of those who met in the National Schools, Chorley, on June 10th, 1876, in response to a circular sent out by Messrs. J. R. Pritchard, W. G. Mann and J. Aspinwall, to consider the forming of an Association of Change Ringers for Lancashire.

The result of that meeting is the present Lancashire Association. Of those present at that meeting we believe Mr. W. G. Mann is the only survivor. Mr. Marsden was also treasurer of the now defunct Lancashire Six-Bell Association up to the time it was disbanded.

The deceased had rung five peals of 5,000 changes, the first of which he rang when over 60 years of age. He had also been connected with other departments of Church work, particularly the Sunday School, and was the proud possessor of the bronze medal given to teachers for 25 years' honourable service. This was presented to him as far back as 1898.

The deceased had been associated with Chorley Parish Church all his life, having been baptised, confirmed and married there, whilst the first part of his funeral service was held there on Wednesday, September 5th. Four of his fellow ringers, including one of the churchwardens, Mr. F. Lofthouse, assisted as bearers, and another ringer, Mr. A. T. Parker, presided at the organ.

Among the many floral tributes was one in the form of a bell from the Chorley Parish Church ringers.

With the passing of John Marsden ringing has lost one of its warmest adherents and the church one of its most ardent sons.

The Parish Church bells were rung half-muffled as a last token of respect to the deceased for both services on the Sunday prior to the funeral, and also before and after the funeral service.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The recent meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild at Marlow was a great success. The bells have been overhauled by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and over fifty ringers put in an appearance. Methods were rung to suit everyone, and after an enjoyable tea at the Two Brewers, the handbells appeared and were made full use of. Some of the visitors from long distances had to leave early, but the majority stayed until a late hour. That well-known Marlow veteran, Mr. J. C. Truss, was his usual cheery self, and was extremely glad to get his bells in order once more.

The next practices are at Stoke Poges, Horton, Hillingdon and Haddenham.

NORTH STAFFS RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of St. Bartholomew's Church, Norton-in-the-Moors, held their second annual outing on Saturday, September 1st, when they visited the churches of Hodnet and Calverhall in the Shropshire district. Included in the party were representatives of the Kingsley and Brown Edge towers, the company, numbering 34, leaving Norton at 2 p.m. On the arrival at Hodnet, the bells were soon 'going,' and touches of Biddulph, London and York Surprise were rung by the various bands, while the non-ringers enjoyed a game of bowls on the Bear Hotel green. At 5 p.m. the journey was continued to Calverhall, where an excellent tea was waiting at the Old Jack Inn. Afterwards the ringers made their way to the tower, and were joined by Market Drayton friends and also by Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst, of Hodnet. Relays of ringers kept the bells going, and some splendid striking was heard. Before leaving Calverhall, votes of thanks were proposed to the Vicars of Hodnet and Calverhall (the Rev. T. H. Parsons and the Rev. C. E. Wilson), and also to Messrs. Berry and Franco for getting the bells in readiness. Further thanks were offered to the promoters of the outing for such excellent arrangements. Leaving Calverhall at 8.15, Norton was reached at 9.50, and every one voted the outing a great success.

THE SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS ITS ORIGIN.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

In the early days of the eighteenth century there existed a company of ringers who called themselves the London Scholars. They were a distinguished society, almost the most important in the land, the rivals and equals of the College Youths, both socially and as practical ringers. Their peal book has long since disappeared, and so, with one exception, have all their peal boards; but, from the scanty contemporary notices of them which we still have, it is clear that they rang several very meritorious and outstanding peals. The last we hear of them is in 1730. Then they drop out of history and, to all appearances, came to an end. And that was the usual fate of all the old societies. They were very small bodies, consisting of one band held together by the closest personal ties of mutual interest, and it required only a very small thing—a quarrel, the death of a leading member, lack of interest—to break the whole thing in pieces.

But a hundred years later it was generally believed and stated that the London Scholars had not lapsed. They were said to have merely changed their name, and as the Society of Cumberland Youths to be flourishing and active. And how it all happened was as follows:—

In 1745 there occurred the Jacobite Rebellion. Charles Edward Stuart landed in Scotland, raised an army, fought some victorious battles, and was finally defeated at Culloden Moor by an English army commanded by William Ernest, Duke of Cumberland, the second son of George II., the reigning king. After his victory the Duke returned to London, where he was received with acclamations. As he approached the town by the old North Road the first houses he came to were at the hamlet of Shoreditch, where, just before, a handsome new church had been built (1736), and a fine new ring of bells installed by Thomas Lester, of Whitechapel (1739). Here he was greeted by the London Scholars with a merry peal, and the ringing so pleased the Duke that he sent and thanked the ringers. They, on their part, were so touched by his mark of royal condescension that they took the Duke as their patron and altered their name to that of the Society of Cumberland Youths, and so have continued ever since, except that, at a later period, they added the word 'royal' and got their present title.

That is the account which is now generally accepted as sober history. But when we come to examine it at all critically, we are compelled to the conclusion that, though there is a germ of truth, as the account stands it cannot be true. Like so many of the traditions of the Exercise it started with a fact, but the fact has been so overlaid with guesses and glosses that it has become a mere unsubstantial legend.

That the society got its name from the Duke of Cumberland is quite certain. In itself there is nothing impossible or even improbable in the tale of his personally thanking the ringers. But unfortunately not only is there no contemporary corroboration, but such evidence as there is contradicts it. The Duke returned to London in August, 1746, but the society was not founded until September 6th, 1747. If the ringers had been so impressed with the royal favour that they were impelled to alter their old and historical name they would not have delayed doing so for more than twelve months.

Again, the original books of the Cumberland Society are extant, and they have been very carefully kept from the earliest days till now. They simply say that the society 'began September ye 6th, 1747.' There is no hint that it had already had a long and distinguished career of, at, least, more than half a century, nor would the change of name have necessitated an utter destruction of all the records of the old society, peal books, name books, and the other property, which the ringing societies of the time usually possessed.

And when we search for any contemporary links between the two societies we find that they are entirely missing. No two companies at the time could have been much more unlike than the London Scholars and the Cumberlands. The London Scholars were a London society, who held their meetings and practised at towers in the City and West End. The Cumberlands were at first and for many years a local and suburban company. Their headquarters were at the Gun, in Shoreditch; they practised at St. Leonard's, and though, like all the rest, they went about peal ringing, they went to places out east like West Ham, and Hackney and Spitalfields. They, too, were a different and lower class of people to what the London Scholars had been—tradesmen and artisans who lived in the Shoreditch district. At no time were they socially quite the equals of the College Youths, at least not until the nineteenth century, when the older society fell on evil days.

To my mind there is not much doubt that the Society of London Scholars became extinct soon after 1740. At any rate, more than one member joined the College Youths about that time. The Cumberland Society was a new company, formed from local men to practise on the new bells of St. Leonard's. For the most part they were young men. The leader was George Partrick, who for many years was the chief conductor to the society. Quite likely he may have been a son of John Partrick, a member of the College Youths, and a noted composer in the last days of the seventeenth century. The difference in the spelling of the names is easily accounted for if Partrick spelt his phonetically.

Of the original members of the society only two names can be traced back to earlier times—Jeremiah Gilbert and John Harrington—both of whom had been friends of William Laughton and the Rambling Ringers. Gilbert for a time was a member of the Eastern Scholars.

Why the society called themselves after the Duke of Cumberland is easily explained. The Duke was, at the time, by far the most popular man in England, and there was quite a rage to call things by his name. The Cumberland Gates, Cumberland Terraces, Cumberland Lodges, and suchlike in the West End and Windsor and elsewhere are examples. And the scores of Duke's Heads that you find all over the country are reminiscences of the Duke's popularity. The Shoreditch ringers wanted a name for their new society; they were only following the general custom of the time when they called it the Society of Cumberland Youths.

But if there is no truth in the popular legend, why, we may ask, was it ever started or believed? That we cannot say. We know that such things do happen, and there is another legend connected with this rebellion of 1745 which I may mention. I quote from a letter written in 1861 by John Hopkins, a Birmingham ringer, a very worthy man and an early collector of historical informa-

JOHN BUNYAN.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have read with interest what Mr. Trollope has said in your issue of August 31st, but in this matter I have not been much concerned with Puritan or any other opinions, but with the question: What was the state of Bunyan's own mind when he abandoned ringing? To answer this, it is necessary to turn to his own account of himself in his 'Grace Abounding.' Anyone who does this will form his own opinion, and I have stated mine. I think that for a time Bunyan suffered such mental distress that his reasoning faculty became obscured. Anyhow, in the end, his separation from Elstow steeple was caused by a fear of getting killed, which was irrational.

I quoted from Dr. Brown because I consider his words contain a correct summary of what we learn from Bunyan's statements. Mr. Trollope's reference to Dr. Brown seems to me to be—in form, doubtless not in intention—rather slighting. I therefore wish to say that Dr. Brown was a writer who is entitled to be mentioned with respect. There could hardly have been anything available about Bunyan or Puritanism which he did not know. He was minister at the Baptist Church at Bedford, and when publishing his 'Life of Bunyan' he stated in the preface that he had then been studying Bunyan for twenty years, and he must have thoroughly digested the 'Grace Abounding.' Of his scholarship, it is sufficient to say that he edited several of Bunyan's books for the Cambridge University Press and was chosen to contribute the chapter on Bunyan to that University's 'History of English Literature.'

I am not affected by the quotations Mr. Trollope gives. They only illustrate the Puritan narrowness, which is a matter of common knowledge. They do not touch my point. Any of your readers who choose to do so can refer to the 'Grace Abounding.' I do not dispute about it, but from what Bunyan has there left on record I feel no doubt that at the time of his ringing crisis his Puritan reading had so obsessed his mind with death and hell and damnation that he could not think clearly, and did not really know why he should not ring. But this trouble passed later on. I have no sympathy with Puritan theology, but I have great admiration for Bunyan as a man.

tion relating to bells and ringing. 'At the time of the Scotch Rebellion the bells of Carlisle Cathedral were rung. It so offended the Bishop, he ordered the bells not to be rung for one hundred years. At the Expiration of that time on the very day they rang Merrily' (B.M., add. MSS. 33206).

On the face of it the thing is absurd. Bishops of the Church of England have no power by their own dictum to punish bells for ringing contrary to the episcopal wishes. And if they had the power, such things are not done. Yet the legend was widely believed locally. Whatever the reason, the bells were actually silent for many years, and when 1845 drew near a band of ringers was got together to go and practise at Cockermouth, so as to be ready to ring them when the ban lifted. When the day did come they found (what they might have expected) that after so long a silence the bells had no wheels and were unringable. One wonders why they did not notice

THE MYSTERY OF A CHANGE COURSE.

AN INQUEST REOPENED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you please grant me space to reply to the sarcasm contained in the extracts from the diary of G. W. F. on the Somerset Trip, following the sub-heading, 'Tuesday, August 7th.' I am certain that the wife of G. W. F. does not need any instruction in Stedman, but to infer that she, or, indeed, anyone, is incapable of making a mistake in the method is simply ridiculous. As to the listeners being mystified, I am not surprised. I happened to be the conductor, and I am still mystified, not about what happened, but how it happened. I know what happened, and wrote to three people concerned telling them what happened within about 24 hours of it happening, and not one of them has had the courtesy to reply or acknowledge the receipt. For the benefit of those listeners perhaps you will allow me to set out the calling in full.

The peal starts with a single at 2; then call five courses 5-6-7-8 with a single at 14 which brings the bells back into the plain course.

Then:—
231456 S H L Q My diary of the peal so far as it went reads like this:—

(1) In the sixth six following this course-end the 6th tried to come in slow instead of quick.—Corrected at once. (J. H. B. smiling.—Why?) The row 1342567 came up at the fourth change of a slow six three sixes later, and 653214 came at the course-end.

(2) Nothing occurred in the course following this until the bob at 12 was called and the 7th went in quick, the 6th tried to lead a whole-pull wrong and was promptly told to make thirds and come back and do last whole-turn. The bob at 13 was called, and when the 7th got to 4-5 up he found the 4th dodging 6-7 down instead of up. Sent the other bell down first, in order to keep the

4th in sixth's place. Explained at once the 4th was a sixth's place bell last course-end and was kept there with 3-4-12-13.

(3) In the ninth six of the following course 1432567 came up, and this was the first intimation I had that two bells were over, and as I knew that the 4th was not one of them (and the ringing being good), I decided to go on to the part end. Several minor trips occurred—nothing to speak of—and were corrected almost before they were made. At the bobs at 3-4 in the last course 4-6 were behind, and 2175346 came up (as it should do, with 2-5 over). Without another call, and without, I believe, another word spoken, the part-end 453216 came up, and I called 'Stand.'

How 2-5 got over happened in this wise: The bob at 12 (which the 2nd should have made) was not made. The 2nd went on up into 6-7 and drove the 5th (who should have dodged 6-7 down with the 4th) down into 4-5. I, not being aware that the first of the two bobs had not been made (I have already explained that I was busy with the 6th at the time), forced the 4th to wait for me in 6-7. That part is simple. Now comes the baffling part. As I have explained, all went well until the last call had been made, but between the 5th six and the part-end another shift occurred (not in the slow), and instead of 423156 (as it should have been with 2-5 over), 453216 came up; the bells out of place being 1-2-5. Now 1-2-5 occupied the places of 5-6-7 in the sixth six. What happened I can only surmise. I can only say I was surprised to find the treble out of place, as she is one of the observation bells in the first part and was in her right place when she left the slow in the last course. I was so surprised to see the treble out of place that I could only point to 1-2 as the bells that were over. I expected to find the 2nd wrong, but not the treble. No sooner had I pointed at these bells than I was 'set upon' (there is no other word), literally set upon by the three 'experts.' I had dared to tell the 6th to do work that he ought not to have done (which was entirely false). I had to tell him that he knew nothing about it. The other two said so much, and said it in such a bad temper, that I have forgotten most of what they did say. But I do know they did not accuse me of calling a singleton bob. I do not think I replied to the two.

At the subsequent inquest (at which I was not present) I understood that a verdict was returned that 1-6 changed course. Absolute rot. Mrs. Murgatroyd!

that before. John Hopkins, by saying the bells rang merrily on the very day, was rounding off the legend and adding just his little bit. And he was writing only a few years after the event.

The most curious fact connected with these bells (it is an actual fact and not legend), is that when the Duke of Cumberland and his victorious army entered the city he sent a certain Major Balfour to the Dean to demand the bells as a perquisite of the train of artillery and was with difficulty dissuaded from treating them as loot.

BREAK IN A LONG CHAIN.

This "leader" is one into which we feel compelled to introduce a personal note, for, following upon it, will come a gap in a hitherto unbroken series of articles which have run for one thousand two hundred and twenty-six weeks—in fact, from the very first number of 'The Ringing World,' which was published exactly twenty-three and a half years ago. Throughout this period the duty and the pleasure of filling this space has fallen to the lot of one man. One pen alone has been responsible, and the Editor has never failed to realise the opportunity and the responsibility, as well as the privilege offered to him. Few people connected with the art of ringing have had such an opportunity of directing thought and moulding opinion in the Exercise as the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' and the responsibility has not been lost upon him. Without egotism it may be said that the object always kept in view has been the elevation of the art and practice of change ringing, as well as of the status of the ringers themselves. It may have been—perhaps often—that many readers have disagreed with the views propounded; but we hope and believe that the Art and the Exercise have, on the whole, benefited as a result of what, since the year 1911, has appeared in print in this column. Our main purpose has been to provoke thought and, if necessary, action. If we have succeeded even to a small degree in this, the weekly privilege exercised for more than twenty-three years will not have been exercised in vain.

Now, however, comes a time when this long chain of weekly articles will be broken, although only temporarily, we hope. The Editor is one of those privileged to make the ringing tour to Australia, and when these lines appear in print the voyagers will be somewhere in the Mediterranean Sea. With the ever-increasing distances which the travellers are daily putting between themselves and the homeland it would, of course, be impossible for one of them to fill this column with contributions on current topics. It has, therefore, been thought best, even after such long-established custom, to make a definite break in the series. In the interval this column will be filled with notes from another pen, which we have no doubt will prove completely acceptable to our readers. For the succeeding weeks, until the return of the travellers from the other side of the world, we leave this column with confidence to other hands. The material with which it will be filled will be diversified and interesting; it may even be provocative—we don't know—but we are sure the readers of 'The Ringing World' will find in it new matter for thought. Indeed, it is perhaps just as well that, after all these years, some other mind

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

More than two hundred years ago Benjamin Annable and a party of College Youths landed at Calais and rang a course of Cinques on the handbells. Since that time several bands of ringers have gone abroad and done some ringing or other; but never has there been a tour so far-flung and so ambitious as that which started from the London Docks last Friday in such fine weather and with such a hearty farewell. The party take with them the affection and the good wishes of the whole Exercise. They go to take our age-old art to a country that was not heard of till long after ringing was a well established English institution. They are assured of a cordial welcome and the success of the tour is almost certain from the first. What they will be able to do in the way of peal ringing remains to be seen. The conditions are totally unlike a peal ringing tour in England, the proportion of lost peals through bad going bells is sure to be very much higher, and there are not many towers to pick and choose from. But to ring peals is not the main object of the journey. Whether few or many are rung is a minor thing. What we are hoping for is a big advance in the practice of change-ringing in the towers of Australia.

RINGERS WHO ARE PAID.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your excellent leading article on 'Ringers who put money first' is most opportune; but there are other aspects to the subject. In addition to paid Sunday service bands, is it not time the practise of giving honorariums to or paying instructors was also discouraged? To receive payment of this kind, to my mind, shows a grabbing spirit. For instance, I know of two ringers who unhesitatingly hold out an open hand for an annual sum for teaching a band change ringing. One evening a week a car is sent to fetch these two ringers to the tower in question, where a short practice takes place, and provision made for their return journey. This part of the business is all right; but what these men are paid to do has been going on now for well over four years, and still the tower is with only four ringers to ring its eight bells! In contrast to this, there is another tower in the same neighbourhood which had two voluntary instructors to teach a band a little over two years ago, and in this case ten ringers take part each Sunday in the ringing of its five bells.

A short time ago I heard of another case where a tower foreman formerly paid for every member of his band to go to an annual commemoration dinner. Two years ago he decided to test their spirit, and dropped his practise. Each year since only one of the band has put in an appearance at this dinner. Are such men any good to the cause of change ringing?

PRAYERS FOR AUSTRALIAN TOURISTS.

The thoughts of many ringers are extended to the Australian tourists. At the half-yearly meeting of the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild at Brigg on Saturday, a prayer was included at the service on behalf of those who had started on the Australian tour.

The attendance was disappointing, but there was no lack of enthusiasm among the 29 members present. The following towers were represented: Bigby, Burton-on-Stather, Elsham, Gainsborough, Grimsby, Lincoln, Scotton and Scunthorpe, in addition to the local company. The bells, a nice light ring of six, were available, but, owing to illness near the church, ringing during the evening was cancelled.

Owing to the temporary closing of the church for the installation of a new heating apparatus, the service was held in the Parish Hall, at which the Ven. Archdeacon H. T. Parry (Grimsby District president) officiated in the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. F. Burgess), who was away on holiday. Mr. G. H. Moody presided over the musical part of the service. The Archdeacon gave a very homely address.

An excellent tea at the Central Cafe was followed by the business meeting, at which Archdeacon Parry presided. Apologies of absence were received from the following: Canon H. R. Burrows (Grimsby), Messrs. George Chester, J. A. Freeman, J. Walden (Lincoln), E. Dawber (Gainsborough) and R. Richardson, Surfleet (Guild Ringing Master). Mr. J. Bray proposed that the next half-yearly meeting be held at Louth, with Scunthorpe as an alternative. Mr. C. McGuinness seconded and this was agreed to.

At the previous (annual) meeting Mr. C. H. Baker gave notice of his intention to propose at the next half-yearly meeting a resolution re grants to various towers from the branch. Not having done so, this did not appear on the agenda, but the members agreed that he should be allowed to submit his motion. The resolution was: 'That the committee be asked to consider ways and means of fixing a limited sum of £5 to any application, each one to be considered on its own merits, and the mentioned sum to be the maximum.' Mr. H. Morgan seconded. As an amendment Mr. F. W. Atkinson, jun., proposed: 'That when the balance of the branch's funds is below £50, no grant should be made, and that when a grant is made it should not exceed £5.' With the consent of the members, Mr. Baker then withdrew his resolution and seconded Mr. Atkinson's amendment. As a further amendment Mr. Bray proposed and Mr. McGuinness seconded: 'That a definite reserve fund of £50 be fixed, and when near the margin of that amount no grants be made, and when above cases should be dealt with on their merits.' After a considerable amount of discussion, Mr. Bray's amendment was carried.

A letter was then read from Mr. Richardson in regard to the branch's proportion toward the cost of the photos for the Australian tour. These consisted of two photos each of the Cathedral and Louth Parish Church. This was agreed to by the members and unanimously carried. The business meeting concluded with the usual vote of thanks, after which, through the kindness of Archdeacon Parry, the members were able to proceed to Bigby, where touches in various methods were rung during the evening. The methods during the proceedings varied from Bob Doubles to London Surprise Minor, also rounds for the less advanced.

BENHILTON RINGERS' OUTING.

Benhilton ringers had an enjoyable outing on September 8th, when ringing took place at the following towers: St. Mary's, Staines; St. Paul's, Slough; All Saints', Maidenhead; and the Parish Church at Windsor. Everyone was puzzled over the stained glass window at Slough with its problem picture, and wished that Mr. Fussell was there, as no doubt he could have explained it. All were struck with the magnificence of Windsor Parish Church, which is said to hold 1,300 people. Some of the patriots of the party thought that they would like to sit in the King's pew, and accordingly sat in the large pew with the coat of arms. Imagine their disappointment when told that they had merely occupied the Corporation seat! Home was reached soon after 11 p.m., everyone being pleased with the outing. The opportunity is taken here of thanking all the incumbents for the use of the bells, and the local men met on the tour for their cordial hospitality.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A by-meeting of the Alton and Petersfield District was held at Froyle on Saturday, August 25th, when members were present from Alton, Blackmoor, Bishopstoke, Froyle, Farnham, North Stoneham, Portsea, Petersfield, Steep, Soberton, Wickham and visitors from Ash, Farnham and Godalming, 32 in all. The bells were rung from 2.30 until 4.30, when the Guild's office was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. H. Sangster.

The members were kindly entertained to tea by Sir Hubert Miller at the Shrubbery House, after which a short business meeting was held. This over, Sir Hubert personally showed the party round his beautiful grounds, which were greatly enjoyed and admired.

Ringing was resumed afterwards, the methods ranging from Bob Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

BURNHAM RINGERS' OUTING.*FOUR THAMES-SIDE TOWERS VISITED.

The 'very first' of the St. Peter's Society, Burnham, Bucks, took place on Saturday, September 8th. Leaving the tower at 1.30 p.m., the 'Beech-nuts' travelled by coach via Wargrave to Henley, and were met by Mr. Appleby at 2.30 p.m. Ringing until 3.15. Everyone aboard and away across country to Goring, Mr. Bower to meet us. Ringing 4.15 till 5 p.m. Across the river again, the coach sped us on to Stone's Cafe for 5.30 tea at Pangbourne. Ringing at Pangbourne, being met by Mr. Webb, from 6.15 until 7 p.m. Away again to Sonning, where Mr. Wright was awaiting us for ringing from 8 until 8.45.

This young society (formed April, 1932) did remarkably well on these four fine rings of bells—Henley with its 22 cwt. and Goring 8 cwt. tenors. Not once during the day did any touch come to grief, and although the party was only eleven strong, one member is 12, one 13, two 14 and one 16 years of age. Triples only were rung at Henley and Sonning. At Goring a course of Bob Major was aspired to and rung. On the Pangbourne six, Kent and Plain Bob Minor and one 120 of Bob Doubles, treble 16, second 12, third (conductor) 14, fourth 14, fifth 13 and tenor 62 years of age. (Look out, F. E. D.)

Favoured by glorious weather, beautiful scenery, splendid bells, a cordial welcome at all towers, a time table kept with military precision and a coach that seemed to have an unending supply of fruit, crisps, biscuits, ginger-pop for the younger element (and, of course, the older members were also catered for), two mandolines, a concertina and banjo and some lusty voices, there was never one sagging moment. When Burnham was again reached just before 10 p.m. there was a chorus of 'When do we have our second outing?' Our thanks to all incumbents and steeplekeepers for giving us a day that will always be fresh in our memory.

DEATH OF A RINGER'S WIFE.*MRS. A. T. BAKER, OF ILKESTON.

After a long and painful illness, patiently borne, Mrs. Annie Baker, wife of Mr. A. T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor'), of Ilkeston, Derbyshire, passed to her rest on September 4th, by a strange coincidence the birthday of her husband. Mr. Baker, as many of our readers know, is afflicted with blindness, and the death of his wife is a double blow. Mr. Baker has left to him his daughter Muriel, who has courageously borne the heavy task of watching over and nursing both her parents.

Mrs. Baker, who had a great love of bells, was laid to rest last Saturday close to the tower of All Saints' Church, Kirk Allum, where she was married.

WEDDING BELLS.

The bells of Holy Trinity Church, Barrow-on-Humber, were rung on Saturday last for the wedding of Mr. James Wright and Miss Ethel Crowder, second daughter of Mr. W. Crowder, who has been nearly 40 years a ringer. The weather was glorious and the following ringers took part: Ed. Stainton 1, Frank Elliot 2, Ed. Fowler 3, Thomas Johnson 4, J. Barrick 5, H. E. Dannatt 6. Afterwards the ringers were entertained at the bride's home, and at 5 p.m. the bells were lowered in peal as the bride and bridegroom left Coxhill Station en route for Scotland, where the honeymoon is being spent.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Owing to the oppressive heat and visitors gaining access to the ringing chamber, the band of ringers from London and Newcastle were not successful with the peal of Stedman Triples at Durham Cathedral on Saturday. The band, unfortunately, came to grief after 1 hour and 30 minutes of good ringing.

This week we record two ringers who have rung their 200th peal—Mr. Nelson Elliott, a member of the Somerset tourists' party, and Mr. Daniel D. Cooper, a member of the Surrey Association.

We understand that the trouble at St. Benet's, Cambridge, will shortly be put right.

There are now living eight men who have rung one thousand peals. They are W. Pye (now in the last hundred of his 2,000), G. Williams, F. Bennett, G. R. Pye, J. George, A. H. Pulling, J. E. Davis and W. H. Fussell. We shall expect to hear that they intend to attempt a peal together, though that will have to wait until the party returns from Australia. Three other men, now dead, also reached the 1,000 mark—the Rev. F. E. Robinson, E. Pye and A. R. Shade.

The band that rang the peal of Cambridge at Washingborough wish to withdraw the note stating that it was the first peal in the method on the bells.

THE EXERCISE AT BRISTOL.

DOUBLE NORWICH COURT BOB CATERS ANNIVERSARY.

To-morrow (Saturday), September 22nd, is the 40th anniversary of the first peal of Double Norwich Caters. The peal was rung by members of the St. Michael's Juniors Society of Gloucester, at the Church of St. Stephen, Bristol; it was conducted by John Austin, who had in the previous year (on March 11th, 1893) conducted the first peal of Major on the bells, also Double Norwich.

If the history of ringing in Bristol be carefully examined, there can be no doubt whatever that the ringing of these peals had a great beneficial effect. Ringing had reached a low ebb, what peal-ringing there was done was chiefly in the Grandsire method, an exception being the peal of Treble Bob Major at All Saints' in 1890, which was conducted by G. T. Daltrey, now the worthy churchwarden there.

The formation of the St. Stephen's Guild soon after the St. Michael's Juniors had rung their peal of Caters was the first step in the upward movement. There were other good ringers in Bristol who were outside the association, and the progress that was being made at St. Stephen's roused their mettle. While the St. Stephen's Guild failed time after time to ring a peal of Stedman Triples, the non-association men met at All Saints' and rang several peals, generally on Tuesday evenings, the St. Stephen's practice night. The writer listened to the last hour or so of several of the peals, and can vouch for the accuracy of the striking. The same may be said of the ringing at St. Stephen's, neither band could or did criticise their rival's striking.

The first local peal of Double Norwich Major was rung by the same band in 1898, and then came the struggle for the first peal of Superlative. Time after time both towers attempted peals on the same night, and after one band had broken down, the first thing they did was to listen if the others were still ringing. After a long time it was rung at St. Stephen's on January 16th, 1899. The other band did not try again.

The outcome of this struggle was excellent in every way. The two bands united for practice of Stedman Cinques at St. Mary Redcliffe, and the first peal was completed on the last day of 1899, or very early in the morning of the next day.

Cambridge Major at St. Stephen's in 1900, London at All Saints' in 1903 and Bristol at St. Stephen's in 1912 are further steps in the advance of ringing in Bristol.

THE FINCHINGFIELD PEAL BOARD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—I am much obliged to Messrs. D. H. Elliott and T. E. Slater for their letters which have appeared in 'The Ringing World' with regard to the above. I may say that I had not seen the board and was under the impression by remarks made by Mr. W. Smith, of Dunmow, who rang the 7th in the peal on August 25th last and who had seen the board, that it recorded a peal of Kent, but this is not so. By the courtesy of Mr. C. H. Howard, who has supplied me with the information, I am now able to give full particulars. On the 30th May, 1925, was rung at St. John's Church, Finchingfield, Essex, a peal of 5,120 changes of Oxford Treble Bob Major in 3 hours and 17 minutes: Matthew Ward 1, James Bennett, jun., 2, James Bennett, sen., 3, Thomas Rannow 4, David Smart 5, Samuel Francis 6, Richard Miller 7, William Spicer 8. Called by Mr. Miller.

This will, I think, set all doubts at rest about a previous peal of Oxford on the bells, and, I may add, Mr. Slater's letter gives us the information as to how the board came to be removed out of the belfry. I am informed by Mr. Howard that an offer was made to the landlord of the inn to replace the board in the belfry, but, alas, before this good intention could be carried out, it was destroyed by fire. I think that the Essex Association might with advantage give the matter their attention, viz., the care of old peal boards so as to prevent any destruction of any in the future.—Yours truly,

Rye Lane, Peering.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

THE VOYAGERS SET SAIL.

SS. BARRABOOL: Saturday.

'The great adventure' has begun. We are in the English Channel, making for Plymouth, which will be our last contact with the homeland before we head south. Whatever lies before us, yesterday will be a day of great recollections. What excitement; what a send off!

An unexpectedly large gathering of ringers assembled at Liverpool Street Station to bid the tourists farewell, showing the extraordinary interest which this epoch making trip to Australia has evoked. Each of the travellers received a more than cordial greeting on arriving at the departure platform entrance, where the sound of the handbells soon attracted a large crowd. Newspaper reporters were active with their interrogations, and Enid Richardson was to them the heroine of the hour. We left amid rousing cheers.

A number of those who had come to see the departure travelled with the tourists to King George V. Dock, and boarded the liner, which towered above the quayside. All the bustle associated with the departure of a big steamer was a source of great interest and intermittently the handbells were to be heard. They created a great deal of interest among the passengers and the visitors, many of whom had been able to come aboard the ship.

At length the warning bell sounded and the visitors left the vessel to assemble on the dockside, where patiently they waited in the hot afternoon sunshine till at length, something like an hour later, the 'Barrabool' was pulled away from her berth by tugs, and cheers from the watchers on shore and the din of handbells clanged over the vessel's rails.

But it was not the last we saw of many friends. The vessel had to pass through the lock into the Thames, and while this operation was in progress familiar figures were to be seen among the waiting crowd until at last, with a whoop from her siren, the good ship was hauled into the river and turned her nose towards the sea. And as she did so, and London slid by on either side, and Greenwich and Gravesend were passed, it was inevitable that thoughts should turn to loved ones left at home.

Our send-off had been truly great. Mr. and Mrs. J. Cotterell and Mr. Tom Maude came from Yorkshire to see us depart; Mr. James George travelled specially from Birmingham to represent St. Martin's Guild; Mr. J. Corbett made a journey to London to bid farewell to a co-officer of the Guildford Guild; ringers from all corners of London turned up in force; the Secretary of the Central Council (in the absence of the President, who was in Belgium but sent a letter of good wishes) was present to wish us 'God speed' on behalf of that body. And so we feel that we have started under the happiest auspices.

As the glorious September day drew to its close, with the sun sinking, a golden orb, through the haze that marked where London lay, we slipped past Tilbury and away into the night.

We have a full ship and among the passengers are thirty boys and thirty girls from Dr. Barnardo's Homes going to a new land to begin a new life. They are bound for Australia.

MISSING THE FIRST MEAL.

Almost before we left the dockside we knocked up against a rule of the ship which has, I think, made a lasting impression. At any rate, I shall not forget it. Anxious to see the last of the many friends who came to the docks to see us off, we stayed on deck to ensure seeing the last of them—and lost our tea. Afternoon tea 'comes off' at 4.45, and no amount of cajoling would induce the stewards to produce at 5 o'clock even so much as a cupful for the, by this time, very thirsty travellers. But, of course, there is always the bar. Some of us had made up our minds—subject to what Father Neptune has to say about the matter—not to miss a meal, and here we are, everyone of us having missed the very first meal of the cruise! It won't happen again from the same cause!

We had one pleasant surprise before we left the dock. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Johnston, of Croydon, and Miss Nora Johnston came on board in the final minutes to wish the travellers 'bon voyage' and brought with them a truly magnificent box of chocolates for the ladies of the party and the gentlemen 'if they are good.' Up to the present the gentlemen do not seem to have been good enough.

THE TOURISTS ON THE SS. 'BARRABOOL.'

At dinner we all turned up wearing the sprigs of white heather 'for luck,' very kindly distributed to the travellers by Miss Hilda Mills before we left London. Prior to the evening meal, however, we had been assembled at boat stations for lifebelt instruction. Rupert now knows that you do not climb into one of these contraptions feet first. He could not by any possible means pull it up over his waistline.

ORGANISING SECRETARY'S HECTIC DAY.

Last Thursday Mr. W. H. Fussell, the organising secretary of the tour, rang his one thousandth peal. It was a peal of Superlative Surprise at Slough, conducted by George Martin, and was rung as a farewell to these two ringers before their departure. To-morrow is 'Old Bill's' birthday, and the double event is going to cost him something. He found his bed well timbered last night, and to-day the ship's mail has taken back a consignment of wood to a certain Cookham builder, who left a message on the miniature plank, 'I wood do something silly.' He'll think so when he has to pay the excess postage.

We have had an official meeting this morning, when the O.S. presented the many telegrams and letters of good wishes he has received. To all those who have sent these messages to the tourists, either individually or collectively (they are too many to acknowledge separately), the travellers tender their sincere thanks. By the way, the steward awoke 'Old Bill' from his beauty sleep last night to give him the last batch of telegrams. But he didn't mind. The doings of the great day had left him entirely happy.

After our official meeting this morning four of us started for a handbell peal of Bob Major on the upper deck in the sunshine. It was not long, however, before a fog came down and the bells went on to the intermittent accompaniment of the ship's foghorn. Presently the hooter called one hob too many for us, and a 'wrong' came up where a 'home' ought to have been. And that was that. By the way, we have bought this little corner of the upper deck from the shipping company—at least, we have got it on approval.

LATEST NEWS.

Since the peal attempt the O.S. has been teaching Barnardo's boys to ring handbells.

MYSTERY OF A CHANGE COURSE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Re Mr. Cave's explanation of how a peal of Stedman Triples went out at the top (it makes very interesting, or is it amusing, reading), anyway we know now what happened, 'or don't we'? Will some of the other merchants in the attempt say something about it. Please do. It will be a lot more interesting than seeing records of peals rung. Personally, I am rather fond of inquests. It was good fun the last time I was on the jury, until they fastened it on to me. Even so, why worry. Someone has to be the culprit if a peal does go up in the attempt. Further, who will worry about it in 50 years' time. Smile, Mr. Cave, smile!

FIRST 720 IN ARGYLLSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 11th, at Dun a Bhuilg, Achnamara, on handbells, 720 Bob Minor: Dilys M. Lewis 1-2, W. H. J. Hooton (conductor) 3-4, E. H. Lewis 5-6. Believed to be the first 720 in the County of Argyll.

A GREAT SEND OFF.

SHOWERS OF COPPERS FROM BYSTANDERS AS HANDBELLS SOUND ON PLATFORM.

It is not easy to say how many ringers were present at Liverpool Street last Friday to bid farewell to the band starting for Australia, but there were certainly more than fifty. They came from many parts and represented many associations. Among them were Messrs. George W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council), A. A. Hughes (Whitechapel Foundry, treasurer, Ancient Society of College Youths), E. P. Duffield (Master of Essex Association), Mrs. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Ladies' Guild), Messrs. G. Steere (treasurer Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), C. T. Coles (hon. secretary, Middlesex Association), A. W. Coles and J. A. Trollope (vice-president of Middlesex Association), J. Corbett (hon. treasurer, Guildford Diocesan Guild), J. Parker (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths) and the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master, Oxford Diocesan Guild. Mr. James George came up specially from Birmingham to represent the St. Martin's Guild. Other ringers present included Mrs. Deal, Mrs. Barker, Messrs. E. J. Butler (district secretary, Essex Association), J. E. Davis, W. T. Elson, H. Kilby, C. C. Mayne, R. Saunders, E. C. S. Turner, C. W. Pipe, J. Bennett, F. W. Thornton, W. J. Nevard, T. Fowler, J. Cornford, H. Hodgetts, A. J. House, A. P. Cannon, A. McCombie, G. B. Lucas, G. R. Simmonds, F. W. Housden, G. Dawson, A. Prior, L. A. Jones, E. O. Goldsmith and C. S. Burden, Mrs. C. T. Coles, Mrs. Deal, Mrs. G. E. Barker, Miss B. M. Mills, Mrs. Goldsmith, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Renshaw and others.

'ALL THINGS BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL.'

Mr. Rupert Richardson produced his handbells, and a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on the platform by Mrs. R. R. Richardson 1-2, J. A. Trollope 3-4, R. R. Richardson 5-6, Mrs. Fletcher 7-8, G. W. Fletcher 9-10. Considering the excitement and the circumstances, it was quite a good course and drew a shower of coppers from bystanders, which, sad to say, disappeared before the band had finished and could collect them. Inside the barrier there was a small army of Press photographers waiting, and then Mr. Fussell, mounting on a luggage truck, proceeded to sing. We thought it was going to be 'Auld Lang Syne,' but it turned out to be 'All things bright and beautiful.' Whether Liverpool Street Station, the Great Eastern Railway and London by the Docks are to be included in the things bright and beautiful is a point open for discussion.

Quite a number of friends went on further to the Docks and saw the party safe aboard. Here they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Cotterell, of Leeds, Mr. and Mrs. T. Maude, of Pudsey, and Mr. F. J. Cullum, of Erith. The cabins were inspected, and cameras and Rupert's 'movie' were busy, and the handbells brought into use. A course of Bob Royal was started, but the ship's people dropped what seemed like several tons of coal into the hold just behind the tenor man, and whether the treble kept right and all the others went wrong, or whether the treble was wrong and all the rest kept right, or even if all were wrong and none were right, no one knew or ever will know. So a course of Stedman Triples was rung instead.

THE FINAL SCENE.

After about an hour and a half the bell sounded for visitors to leave the ship, and we waited on the quay for the final scene. Further along another party was seeing friends off, singing what we took to be hymns, while one gentleman with a mighty voice and a megaphone at intervals inquired of some other person or persons in the far distance if he were saved. Then the moorings were cast off, and with hats waving and handkerchiefs fluttering the great ship slowly moved away from the quay while the music of Grandsire Triples reached us, fading away as the 'Barrabool' passed down the dock.

We had one further glimpse of the party. Going through one or two streets we met the boat again as she passed out of the dock into the river. More waving of hats and handkerchiefs, and then the ship slowly swung round and headed for the open sea and the uttermost parts of the earth.

SUTTON CHARTER DAY RINGING.

Sutton (Surrey) received its Charter as a borough on Wednesday of last week, and to celebrate this the bells of All Saints', Benhilton, were rung a lot during the day. In the morning the locals attempted a peal of Grandsire Triples, but a halt was called after nearly an hour's ringing, due to a shift course. After some Stedman, a good quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following: G. Rayner 1, G. Reed 2, F. Randall 3, H. Good 4, G. Chiverton 5, E. Enticnap 6, W. C. Smith 7, R. Foreman 8. In the evening Mr. O. H. Kippen conducted a peal of London Surprise Major, this being the first in the method on the bells.

RINGER'S SILVER WEDDING

On Saturday afternoon, September 8th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Catherine's, Pontypriid, to commemorate the silver wedding of the leader of St. Catherine's bellringers: John Hallett (conductor) 1, Fred J. Thyer 2, George Kerney 3, Edward Ern 4, John Darch 5, George Mead 6, William Lambert 7, Bert Sheldon 8. First quarter for ringers of 6 and 7.

MISS EVELYN STEEL'S 200 PEALS.

As stated in our last issue, Miss Evelyn Steel has completed her 200 peals. They include the first peal rung by ladies only, which, although it was 'only' Grandsire Triples, was an outstanding landmark in the history of the Exercise. Miss Steel has been President

MISCELLANEOUS PERFORMANCES.

WEST WICKHAM, KENT.—On Wednesday, August 29th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes, 10½ different callings): M. F. Oakshett 1, H. Mackinder 2, Mrs. H. Oakshett 3, A. S. Richards 4, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 5. Great credit is due to the treble-man, as, with the exception of two 120's of Bob Doubles, it was his first touch away from the tenor.

LLANGOLLEN.—On August 27th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. C. Ellis 1, J. Bailey 2, E. Wyse 3, N. Horspool 4, J. Jones 5, R. G. Park 6, A. Bailey (conductor) 7, O. Downham 8. This was the first quarter-peal by the band.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT BEWDLEY.

A CHANGE OF OFFICERS.

A new Ringing Master and a change in the secretaryship was the principal business at a meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association meeting at Bewdley on Saturday. The bells were available to the members until the service in church, conducted by the curate (the Rev. D. W. Rowe), in the unavoidable absence of the Rector (the Rev. C. Raymond Hollis).

At the business meeting the Rev. D. W. Rowe presided and gave the association a most cordial welcome to Bewdley. Mr. H. F. Martin (Bromsgrove) said he wished to relinquish the office of Branch Ringing Master, and Mr. T. Hemming, of Brierley Hill, was elected to the vacancy. Mr. W. B. Cartwright (Selly Oak) was unanimously elected branch secretary in place of Mr. A. J. Skelding, who also wished a change. Mr. W. H. Webb, of Halesowen, was re-elected branch representative on the Central Committee. It was recommended that Canon M. S. Newland, of Stourbridge, and the Rev. T. C. De la Hay, Vicar of Bromsgrove, be considered for election by the Central Committee to be clerical vice-presidents.

The secretary referred to the death of the Rev. T. A. Cooper-Slipper, Vicar of Kinver, honorary member of the association, and it was proposed that the secretary write a letter of sympathy to the family. The members also stood in silence for a brief period. He also mentioned the serious illness of the Vicar of Kidderminster, Canon Sladen, and it was agreed that the secretary send him a letter with the best wishes of the members for a speedy recovery. Several new members were elected. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the retiring officers for their good work on behalf of the branch.

A special appeal was made by Mr. H. G. Bird asking members and outside friends to do all they possibly could to help the Kidderminster band to raise the £100 needed to make the bell restoration a complete success.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the Rev. D. W. Rowe for presiding and taking the service, and also to the organist (Mr. H. Cullam) for his services. Thanks were also expressed to the Rector for the use of the bells and allowing the meeting to be held at Bewdley. The Chairman, replying thanked the members sincerely for their very kind vote of thanks.

STEDMAN'S BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—By his remark (shrinkage humbug!) is Mr. Osborn going to ignore the laws of nature and tell us that wood is not subject to shrinkage? In quoting his case of a restoration in 1906 where the bells were hung on wood headstocks, he seems to overlook the fact that timber put into buildings 30 years ago was far different to what is used to-day. The bellfounders themselves have more than once been heard to admit that to get well seasoned wood is now almost a thing of the past. True enough there must be hundreds of rings hung on the old principle, but how many in recent years? If the old principle is satisfactory, why is it that the foundries nearly always take the cannons off and relang in iron headstocks nowadays? Like many others, I am of opinion that had this been done at St. Benedict's, the bells would have gone many more years without complaint.

'RINGER.'

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AT STAINES.

RETIREMENT OF MR. W. PICKWORTH.

The delightful weather of the present Indian summer prevailed on Saturday, when a meeting of the South and West District was held at Staines. The river was indeed an attraction, and the non-ringing visitors spent several happy hours on its banks.

The tower of St. Mary's has for many years been of secondary importance on these ringing occasions at Staines, but this year the whole of the proceedings took place there. The bells were rung from 3.30 until after 8, with an interval for service and tea, etc. Methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Spliced Surprise Major were rung under the direction of the R.M., Mr. Tom Collins. Shortened evening and an address took place at 5 o'clock, conducted by the Vicar's deputy, the former being on the sick list. Tea was served in the Church Hall and the business meeting followed. The Rev. H. E. McLeod, of Shepperton, was elected an hon. member, and Mrs. C. J. Matthews became a ringing member. Details of the next meeting at Hillingdon on October 6th were given, and it was decided to hold a meeting at Acton in November, probably on the 3rd.

Mixed feelings of regret and good wishes were expressed about the news of the retirement and removal to Hastings of Mr. W. Pickworth, vice-president of the North and East District. His value to the association both officially and unofficially has been immense, and would be realised more and more as his absence became felt. All wished Mrs. Pickworth and he a happy retirement. Thanks to the local authorities and ringers concluded the meeting.

Upon learning that the wife of Mr. W. Parker, a veteran member of St. Peter's band, had been interred that day, the evening visit to that tower was cancelled and St. Mary's revisited.

'DOWN SOMERSET WAY.'*TWELVE PEALS IN A SUCCESSFUL WEEK.

Following the successful tours of the past two years by the young band, it was decided that the venue this year should be Somerset, with the Golden Lion Hotel, Wrington, as headquarters. Arrangements were duly made by Mr. F. W. Rogers, under the guidance of Mr. J. T. Dyke, and by train and motor-cycle the tourists, seven of whom were bachelors, duly met on Saturday, September 8th, at Barrow Gurney. There proved, however, to be an early disappointment, as the peal could not be attempted owing to the non-arrival of Mr. G. Williams, who, at the last moment, had to absent himself from the tour owing to a family bereavement.

There being no bells available for a peal attempt on the Sunday, after ringing for morning service at Wrington, the opportunity was taken of accepting the very kind invitation of the Rector of Blagdon to ring on the bells there during the afternoon and for evening service and to partake of an excellent tea at the Rectory, and the tourists attended evening service. The tourists very much appreciated the very pleasant afternoon and evening at Blagdon and wish to thank the Rector for the invitation.

The two Monday towers originally selected, Chew Magna and Chewton Mendip, were cancelled at practically the last moment owing to illness near the church in each case, much to the regret of the party, as both these peals have a fine reputation. Arrangements were quickly made, however, for Barrow Gurney and Blagdon as substitutes, and the peals were duly rung.

Details of the week's performances will be found elsewhere, and 12 peals, all in a Surprise method, were rung with no failures. The striking during the week was splendid and a good standard was kept up throughout in spite of numerous blisters which had to receive nightly attention. The conducting was very ably shared by Messrs. Roberts and Rogers, no one else being keen on calling. During the week quite a number of local ringers turned up at the various towers to wish us success, a few of them taking part in the peals, and the tourists very much appreciated the kind thoughts.

PRaise FOR LOCAL BELFRIES.

Long draught of rope and heavy weight predominated, but the tourists' general impression was of the grand impressive peals and the usually good state of the bells, ropes and belfry. Only in a few cases was it found necessary to do any splicing or oiling.

Our local guide and friend was Mr. J. T. Dyke, who helped us with suggestions owing to his knowledge of local conditions. Transport facilities were awkward, as there was no cars in the party until Mr. Bayley turned up on Wednesday, and Mr. Rogers and his bus time table were inseparable, he generally finding a bus for the occasion.

The ringers were very sociable and there was plenty of fun between peals. Mention might be made of a plant of the 'cactus' variety which a certain member found in his bed one night, and the Saturday midnight walk to the Harvest Home at Redhill by all the party under local guidance. Just up the road in Somerset seems to indicate about three miles, but it was very pleasant, although one of the party lost his prize on the Bridgwater Road.

The Golden Lion fully lived up to its reputation as a home from home for ringers, everything was good, especially the food, and this means a lot to hungry ringers. Sunday service ringing during the week was performed at Wrington, Blagdon and St. Stephen's, Bristol.

In conclusion, the party wish to record their great appreciation of Mr. Rogers' untiring efforts in all the organising and arranging. He always had things planned out, and to show their appreciation he was presented with a fountain pen. The party eventually broke up with the knowledge of something attempted something done, and wended their various ways homeward with the happy thoughts of a pleasant week spent 'down Somerset way.'

NOTES BY THE WAY.

One of the most encouraging signs of progress in the Exercise is the number of new methods that are rung. Not many weeks go by nowadays before another peal in a fresh method is recorded, and in this respect the last four years have seen as much advance as did fifty years in the middle of the nineteenth century. But it is noteworthy that all this progress is in one direction only. All the new methods, or very nearly all the new methods, are Surprise methods.

That we can understand. In ringers' estimation the Surprise methods are the aristocracy of methods; for two hundred years or more the term was applied to any complex method; and men think much more of ringing a peal in one of them than in any other system. Unfortunately, however, in the general tidying up of things which the Central Council undertook in its early days, it was thought necessary to define the word, and to lay down a strict rule as to what is and what is not a Surprise method. It was a very clever definition, and at the time a very effective one. But since then knowledge of methods has enormously increased, and we can see now that there are many methods outside the Surprise class, which are equal to any inside it. Indeed, apart from a very few of the simplest, most of the methods that rank as Treble Bob are more complex than those that rank as Surprise. But they stand no chance of being rung, just because they cannot be called Surprise. Very many Plain methods, too, are just as good and just as interesting as the Surprise methods. They, too, are neglected because the name of their class is against them.

Now, since there are so many methods to choose from, all this, so far as eight bells are concerned, does not matter so very much. But with ten and twelve bells there is a very real danger of loss. For the very definition of a Surprise method is such as must exclude the best Royal and Maximus methods. To say that there are no really good ten and twelve bell Surprise methods would seem, in the face of Cambridge, an absurdity. But Cambridge (with its variations Yorkshire and Pudsey) is really an exception to a general rule, and even it is not ideal. After all, one of the objects of peal ringing is to produce something for outsiders to listen to, and for that you should preserve the regular beat of the big bells. That is a thing which Surprise methods can do but imperfectly. Plain methods are the best for ten bells and still more so for twelve bells, and they will give you all the interest and all the complexity your heart can desire. There have been many warm arguments as to what is really Superla-

GREAT PERFORMANCE OF 31 YEARS AGO RECORDED.

A tablet to record the peal of Stedman Caters rung at Exeter Cathedral on September 14th, 1903, was unveiled and dedicated on Saturday last, just over 31 years after the event. The dedication was performed by the Dean of Exeter (Dr. W. R. Matthews) in the presence of a large company, which included the six surviving members of the peal band, Messrs. J. Austin (conductor), William Pye (who rang the 72½ cwt. tenor), A. W. Brighton, J. Thomas, C. Mee and G. Lindoff. Amongst the many others present were Messrs. T. Laver (hon. secretary, Devon Guild), T. G. Bartlett (hon. treasurer, Devon Guild), C. G. Glass (chairman, Exeter Branch), J. Sandover, A. Mitchell and other Cathedral ringers; also G. R. Pye, C. T. Coles, R. T. Hibbert, L. C. Wightman, E. P. Duffield, L. W. G. Morris, C. Lawson, W. J. G. Brown, G. M. Rashbrook and A. J. House, members of the party ringing in Cornwall during the week; J. T. Dyke, A. E. Reeves, J. Waugh, R. Cousins and W. C. Wakley.

The proceedings were opened by Mr. T. Laver, who spoke of the occasion as a unique one, seeing that they were met to honour a performance of over 31 years ago. He was glad to welcome the six survivors of the band, and they would remember the four departed members, the late W. W. Gifford, E. Pye, C. Jackson and I. G. Shade, in their prayers. As regards the peal which they were now permanently recording, he could not do better than quote the following, which was taken from the 'Bell News' of September 18th, 1903:

'A peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Exeter Cathedral on Monday, September 14th, 1903, when William Pye accomplished the great and unprecedented feat of ringing the large tenor bell (72½ cwt.) single-handed throughout. The performance was remarkable for its evenness and excellent striking. The time hardly varied from 21 changes per minute from start to finish, the homecoming courses being especially good. It is also worthy of note that the ringer of the treble cycled from Bristol, a distance of 75 miles, on the morning of the same day. The way in which the smaller bells held up over the big ones was really grand, and produced such music that made it a pleasure to listen to.'

It is hoped that a durable tablet recording the performance will be provided, to be placed in the tower, with the permission of the Dean and Chapter. Such a peal as this was not an ordinary performance, and, being in a certain sense historical, ought not to go without a permanent local record.'

Mr. Laver concluded by asking Mr. Austin, the conductor of the peal, to unveil the tablet.

Mr. Austin then unveiled the record, and in the following words presented it to the Dean and Chapter: 'Rev. Sir, we are met here to-day to commemorate the unveiling of a peal tablet recording a peal of Stedman Caters on these bells 31 years ago, which was undoubtedly a grand performance; and as the authorities will not allow the tenor to be rung single-handed in future, it will stand as a unique performance. I am pleased six of the band are still with us, and, on their behalf and also those who have departed, I pray you to accept and take into the safe keeping of this Cathedral Church this tablet.'

The Dean then accepted the tablet with the following words:—

'We do now accept for safe keeping in the belfry of this Cathedral Church of St. Peter this tablet, placed here to record the peal of Stedman Caters rung on these bells by members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association to the Glory of God.'

'Ye shall take heed that these bells have been solemnly set apart from all profane and unhallowed uses, that they may ever and only be used in God's service and for His Glory.'

The Lord's Prayer and other appropriate prayers then followed, and the service was concluded by the Dean pronouncing the Blessing.

Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, on behalf of the company, thanked the Dean for his kindness, and Dr. Matthews said it was a pleasure to him to come amongst them on this great occasion. He added that he was going to London shortly to take up duties at St. Paul's Cathedral, where he understood there was also a fine peal of bells, but, he added, 'not so good as at Exeter.'

The tablet is of lightly stained oak, with black enamelled lettering, and is surmounted with the arms of the Dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol.

After the ceremony the bells were rung for the purpose of giving the many visitors an opportunity of a touch at the Cathedral, after which peals were attempted at Heavitree and St. Thomas', Exeter. That at Heavitree was completed, but the attempt at St. Thomas' failed in the fourth part of Middleton's peal of Cambridge Surprise Major.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT HANDSWORTH.

Handsworth, Sheffield, was the venue selected for the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association for their quarterly meeting on Saturday, September 15th. The visit was memorable—glorious weather, an excellent peal of bells, a hearty welcome, a splendid tea, a good variety of methods and excellent striking.

Members were present from Sheffield Cathedral and St. Marie's, Rannmoor, Ecclesfield, Norton, Bolsover, Rotherham, Eastwood, Rawmarsh, Doncaster, Arksey, Nottingham and the local company, and the methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Treble Bob, Double Norwich, London, Bristol and Superlative Surprise.

At the short business meeting which followed tea, Mr. G. R. W. Hooton, of Willingham-by-Stow, Gainsborough, was elected a life member of the association.

The meeting accepted the hearty invitation of the secretary to hold the next meeting at Arksey, near Doncaster. He gave two reasons for the invitation—the completion of 15 years' service as secretary and also that December would mark his silver wedding. The invitation was coupled with a desire expressed by Mr. F. Clark to entertain the members to tea. The secretary was heartily thanked for his kind offer. Will all members who were not present please take this as an invitation and so provide a record attendance?

Votes of thanks to the Rector, the ladies for their services at tea and to the local company concluded a very happy and enjoyable meeting.

RINGERS WHO ARE PAID.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Very reluctantly, but duty bound, I must disagree with my friend Mr. Amos. Being only a working man, does Mr. Amos expect me (or any other gentleman) to run all over one's district to teach or instruct without payment? I suppose my expenses these last 10 years engaged in ringing amount to £200—some for pleasure, but not always. My receipts are nil. Does our friend expect one always to carry on? No, I hope not, and we are not expected to, but who is going to pay? Will Mr. Amos give three nights per week on an average and travel 10, 15 or even 20 miles at his own expense? In my humble opinion, there is nothing wrong with paid ringing; it is greed or selfishness with a small percentage which by slow degree the associations and guilds will wipe out.—Yours,

F. WARRINGTON.

LINCOLNSHIRE RINGERS VISIT CELEBRATED FOUNDRY

Ringers and friends from Lea and neighbouring towers visited Messrs. Taylor's Bell Foundry, Loughborough, and South Notts on Thursday, September 13th. Mr. Lindoff and his son and Mr. C. V. Cade, of Scothern, Lincoln, also accompanied the party. On arrival at the foundry the party was conducted round, and the complicated art of bell casting and tuning was explained. The retuned and augmented peal for Alford, Lincs, was seen nearing completion. The ringers were then conducted to the foundry's light ring of ten, and a very enjoyable hour was spent ringing, or, rather, trying to ring, these little bells. After dinner some visited the war memorial carillon and others the Parish Church.

Long Eaton was the next call, where the party was joined by Miss Thompson and Mr. Bailey. The bells were up ready and Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung on this light octave. The next call was Beeston, a ring of eight, tenor 19½ cwt., providing a change after the previous light rings. With touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob, time passed all too quickly, and Beeston was left reluctantly for Nottingham, where arrangements had been made to join the St. Peter's company in their practice. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters were rung on this good-going ten, tenor 21 cwt. This was the last call of the day, and home was reached at 11.30 p.m., everybody voting the outing a huge success.

The party wishes to thank Messrs. Taylors and the tower secretaries for obtaining permission to ring, etc., Miss Thompson, and all who contributed to the success of the trip.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Heathfield on Saturday, September 8th, 36 members and friends attending from the following towers: Mayfield, Ringmer, Hastings (All Saints'), St. Leonards, Eastbourne (St. Mary's and St. Saviour's), Lewes, Mr. Piper, of Eastbourne, Mr. Haig, of Itchingham, and Mr. Preston, of Christchurch, Hants, together with members of the local band. The bells were kept going until late in the evening.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Grahame Clarke), who gave a most interesting address. He also presided at the tea and meeting at the Star Inn. At the short business meeting which followed, the secretary (Mr. A. G. Pankhurst) announced that the next meeting would be held at Hailsham. Mr. A. R. Miles proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and also to Mr. Piper for bearing part cost of the tea. The members then returned to the tower for further ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Within a week two Surrey boroughs have received their Charters of Incorporation. Last week we recorded the great day of ringing the band at All Saints', Benthilton, had, which included a peal of London Surprise Major; doubtless London Surprise was selected as a compliment to the Acting Lord Mayor of London (Lord Ebbisham), who presented the Charter to Sutton and Cheam. At Mitcham, on Wednesday, September 19th, the ringers' activities were confined to a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples. The Mitcham band will probably provide the celebration peal at an early date.

In regard to the Finchamfield peal board, Mr. W. Keeble informs us that the date of the peal should read May 30th, 1825, not 1925 as published in our last issue. We hope the Essex Association will note Mr. Keeble's suggestion as to the care of old peal boards.

The bells of St. Bene't's, Cambridge, have now been put in proper order, and, in answer to numerous inquiries, no blame can be put on the bellfounders.

The Rev. E. Bankes James, who composed Bristol Surprise Major as far back as 1897, has now rung his first peal in the method. Bristol is the one modern method which up to now has made good its claim to rank as a standard method.

With the peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at St. Margaret's Church, Warnham, Sussex, on Saturday, Mr. John H. B. Hesse has completed the circle in this tower. Reminding the Editor of this achievement, our correspondent adds: 'And he never smiled once!'

Mr. A. Patrick Cannon, of Forest Hill, London, spent last week-end with Peterborough Diocesan Guild ringers. He conducted quarter-peals of Oxford Treble Bob at Raunds and Kent Treble Bob at Finedon, and thus completed 50 quarter-peals as conductor in 50 different towers and with 348 different ringers in 21 counties. Mr. Cannon thanks all those who have made this possible. During the week-end he also conducted a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Thrapston.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

UNEXPECTED BRIDAL COMPLIMENT.

The quarterly meeting of the Salisbury Branch was held at Broadchalke on Saturday, September 22nd. Ringers from Salisbury, Wilton, Britford, Berwick St. John and other neighbouring towers arrived shortly after 3 p.m., to find a wedding in process. Nobly rising to the occasion, they rang the bridal pair out, after the ceremony.

In spite of the inclement weather, there was quite a good attendance, and the bells were kept going until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Fuller).

Tea followed in the school, after which the branch chairman (Mr. E. G. Caple) presided at a short business meeting, supported by the branch secretary (Mr. F. W. Romaine). One new member (F. Shergold, Wilton tower) was elected. It was resolved that the extra meeting, decided upon at the last annual general meeting, should take the form of a practice meeting only, and be held at Tisbury on November 24th. It was proposed that the annual general meeting be held at St. Paul's, Salisbury. The branch secretary mentioned that the Devizes Branch had proposed another joint practice meeting, this time at Heytesbury. The matter was referred to the annual meeting at Salisbury.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for conducting the Guild service, and to Mr. Barter for his services at the organ, also the organ blower. The members returned to the tower, where ringing was resumed.

ENTHUSIASM IN KENT.

LARGE GATHERING OF RINGERS AT THROWLEY.

In spite of the very inclement weather, a large number of ringers attended the meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association, held at Throwley on Saturday, September 22nd, by the kind invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. C. D. B. Somerville). Towers represented were Canterbury Cathedral, St. Alphego, Dover, Sturry, Wickhambreau, St. Lawrence, Ramsgate, Littlebourne, Ashford, Whitstable, Teynham, Queenborough, Tunstall, Frittenden, Gravesend, Egerton, Northfleet, Smarden and the local tower.

Ringing commenced about 3 o'clock and continued until 4.15 p.m., when the association form of service was held in the church, at which the Vicar officiated and gave the address. Mr. E. Spice read the lesson, and Mr. Masters presided at the organ, while the singing was led by a small choir of local ladies.

After the service the ringers and their friends, numbering over 50, adjourned to the Vicarage, where a splendid tea had been provided. Before leaving the Vicarage, Mr. Spice, on behalf of the ringers, thanked the Rev. Somerville for his kind hospitality and also Mr. Masters for his help at the organ. Mr. Spice also made reference to the probability of an instructor going to Throwley soon, to teach the local company the art of change ringing. Several touches were rung on handbells before an adjournment was made to the tower.

Ringing continued until late evening, the following methods being rung: Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob Major, Grand-sire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major. The annual meeting will probably be held on October 27th at Canterbury.

THE AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

The Voyagers at Sea.

NEWS FROM THE MEDITERRANEAN.

Some of the incidents on the first stage of the voyage to Australia are recorded below. The dispatch was sent off from Malta, where the s.s. 'Barrabool' arrived on Friday morning.

S.S. 'Barrabool,'

Mediterranean Sea.

This part of our story begins at Plymouth. To be nautical, we slipped our moorings in the Sound, where we had remained all the afternoon, about 6.30 p.m. on Saturday (September 15th), and headed for the open sea. I have got Old Bill and George as cabin companions. You will hear more of these two as we go along. It is astonishing how intimate you get when you are cabin companions. You may know quite a lot about a man, but you can never realise all his good—and bad—points until you have sailed with him, occupied the same cabin with him and seen him asleep.

Our first Sunday at sea was a day of very varied interest. We steamed all day across the Bay of Biscay into the teeth of a stiff, cool breeze. There was no sea to speak of, but it took its toll among the passengers, and our party did not escape. There were vacant places at the meal tables, and at dinner time both married couples were missing. But let us draw a veil over that.

We have a Colonial parson aboard, and to him has been allocated the conduct of the Sunday services. There was an early celebration of Holy Communion, morning service at 10.30 and a children's service in the afternoon, with an undenominational service after dinner in the evening. The padre, who declared himself a parson from conviction and not by profession, is on his way back to his Australian parish, and in his sermon he made an appeal to all on board to unite in a great effort of uplift while they were together and throughout life to work for the ideals of the Christian faith.

Some of the ringers had their first experience of a service at sea, and, although it is but a simple affair, devoid of all ceremonial, it does not fail to impress. The table, which serves for reading desk, lectern and pulpit, is covered with the Union Jack. The usual form of morning prayer is abbreviated, but its essential features are retained. The hymns, led by a piano, are general favourites, and the whole service, including the address, is over in less than three-quarters of an hour. I have never seen a more earnest congregation, and the special prayer for the safety of the ship and those sailing in her brings home to everyone the fact that wherever they may be, on land or sea, they are in God's hands.

The people are summoned to the service by the ringing of the ship's bell, but as a preliminary and for the first time, probably, in history, a 'service touch' was rung on handbells on the ocean. It was two well-struck courses of Stedman Triples. After the service, on another deck, the first course of Treble Bob and the first course of Grandsire Caters on the Atlantic Ocean were rung.

As I told you in my last dispatch, this was Old Bill's birthday. He completed his 73rd year, and the event, together with the completion of his one thousandth peal a few days before, were duly celebrated by all those capable of sitting up and sharing in the festivity. And Bill went to bed that night supremely happy. 'This has been the happiest day of my life,' he told me, as he crawled into his bunk. 'I never dreamed I should spend a birthday on the ocean on my way to Australia, but I've done it and I'm going to bed to dream about it now.'

And, my word, he kept his promise. The snores that came from that lower bunk must have disturbed even the occupants of Davy Jones' locker.

It took Old Bill 52½ years to ring his thousand peals, but he was 73 years reaching Sunday's anniversary. He is a good old war horse is Bill, and a few facts about his peal ringing will not be amiss. He is a life member of all the Diocesan Guilds and County Associations, and has rung peals for 44 societies in Great Britain. He was one of the first men to ring a peal in the four countries of the British Isles. He was the first to ring a peal in every county in England and in Wales (except Anglesey). Altogether he has rung peals in 65 counties and has scored peals on three 'royal' rings of bells—the Curfew Tower, Windsor; the Chapel Royal, Devonport Dockyard; and the Alexandra Bells of the Imperial Institute, London.

He has himself conducted Holt's Original 20 times, and among the many conductors who have kindly enabled him to complete his four figure list he specially has to thank George I. (Newson), George II. (Williams), George III. (Martin) and George IV. (Pye).

He has never broken a stay or a slider; never been run in by the Police Guild or 'sent down' by the College Youths. He never wants to ring a peal with a band of 'Pussyfoots,' but he just completes an octave of ringers alive who have all rung a thousand peals. When he comes up from 'down under' perhaps it will be possible for them to ring a peal together.

Something of a catastrophe threatened our own parson, the Rev. E. Bankes James. We left London on Friday. On Sunday he had not yet found his baggage! It is a somewhat awkward predicament for a parson to be in, and he was still hoping against hope that it might be in one of the holds. He took it very philosophically, however, but it will be a bit awkward if the baggage fails to turn up. He has brought an altimeter with him (one wag has suggested that that is to enable him to know when he is 'up the pole'), but what is the use of an altimeter if you have not got a clean shirt!

We have spent a lot of our time since Saturday in altering our watches. In one fell swoop on Saturday night they put the clocks back an hour and 23 minutes—the summer time hour and the 23 minutes for longitudinal correction. That would probably have been a matter of indifference to most of us had it not been that it put breakfast back an hour and 23 minutes as well! Then on Monday we put the clocks on ten minutes; on Tuesday we put them back a quarter of an hour; on Wednesday we put them back 30 minutes, and so we shall go on monkeying with our timepieces every day until, when we reach Melbourne, we shall be ten hours in front of English time. Old Bill says it is no use messing about with his watch; he will only have to alter it back again when he comes home.

It is astonishing how small the world is. An old Essex ringer, Mr. Samuel Ward, and his wife (who is a member of the well-known Essex ringing family of Prior) are travelling back to Australia in the 'Barrabool' to settle down near Sydney, where they formerly lived for many years. Mr. Ward used to ring at Stansted and Bishop's Stortford.

Another passenger who made himself known to us is Mr. Lawrence, a cousin of Mr. Stephen H. Wood, who is travelling to Malta, and who introduced himself by saying, 'This change ringing is a fascinating game, isn't it?' Donald Melville, son of the late Vicar of Exhall, Warwickshire, brother of Malcolm Melville, and himself a young ringer, is making his first voyage in this ship as a cadet in the P. and O. Company.

The passengers and members of the crew have shown themselves intensely interested in the ringing which we have done. They have, indeed, been too pressing in their attentions, and we have not yet found that secluded spot we so much desire. We have decided not to take the freehold of the corner on the upper deck, which we had secured on appro. It is close to the swimming tank, and, as nearly as much water comes over the sides of the tank as remain in it when bathing is in progress, we have found it desirable to give it a wide berth.

Sunday was dies non for peal ringing. We could not have started if we had wished, for some of the experts were hors de combat. They were out of mess during the day, but on Monday when this part of the Atlantic was on its very best behaviour—sunshine and the blue vault of heaven above; blue seas, as smooth as the proverbial mill-pond, beneath us—they came up for their meals at the double.

Two attempts were made for peals on Monday, the first in the morning, carried on under the eyes of a constantly changing crowd of spectators and to the accompaniment of a gramophone and singing and all the life of a happy company at sea. This 'went west' at the end of twelve courses. The second attempt, sandwiched in the evening between tea and dinner, lasted 15 courses, before going the way of the first. But this time the crowd could not be blamed. Numbers came to look on, it is true, but the breakdown was a real crash on the part of the ringers. Some good practice, however, has been put in, and every one of the party will be able to say that they have rung touches on the Atlantic Ocean.

Tuesday was another most interesting day, for we got our first sight of the African Coast and passed through the Straits of Gibraltar. We passed the frowning Rock about lunch time, and soon after all that could be seen of the coast line was the high mountains of Spain, whose peaks remained above the horizon until they faded into the mists of night.

A last effort was made in the morning to ring an Atlantic peal. A new situation in the forward part of the ship was found and nearly a new band, but again it slipped from the grasp, principally owing to a well-meaning chief officer inquiring for Mr. Fussell to give him a message. A particularly interesting point about this ringing was that it took place in Trafalgar Bay. But it was no victory to record—England expected, that day, but it didn't come off.

While the attempt was being made some of us rummaged in the baggage room for our ringing padre's missing luggage. We found it at last, much to his joy, and, soon after, he reappeared on deck, easy in mind, his body refreshed and reappareled, and, as he said himself, 'a different man.' Incidentally, in the baggage room we found that

PEAL RUNG ON THE MEDITERRANEAN.

The Australian tourists have now found their sea legs. On Monday morning we received a radio telegram from the s.s. Barrabool announcing the successful accomplishment of a peal of Bob Major, 5040 changes. According to records only one handbell peal has been rung previously at sea—a peal of Stedman Caters on the Irish Sea in 1901. This is therefore the first peal in the method on the sea.

The peal goes to the credit of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. The ringers hope to ring under the auspices of other guilds during their tour. The honour of the first peal on the tour goes to Mrs. R. Richardson, Mr. Rupert Richardson, the Rev. E. Banks James and Mr. John S. Goldsmith.

our spare ropes were safely aboard, as also are the publications sent by the Central Council for distribution among the towers of the Commonwealth.

The people in the ship are beginning to take a more than passing interest in us. Many quiet inquiries have been made, and our party have not been slow to take the opportunity of explaining some of the rudiments of the art, how deep in interest it is and the meaning of the long journey we have undertaken.

We have now, we hope, secured a better spot for our ringing. Capt. Sheepwash, the Commander of the 'Barrabool,' has given us permission to use the space reserved in connection with the isolation hospital in the stern of the ship on the upper deck, where we may hope to be free from interruption, and we have released our rights to all other claims pegged out.

There must be a Jonah amongst us. That first handbell peal will not come. With all the determination possible, one hand or another sets about the task, but so far it has eluded our efforts. The most promising attempt yet made was on Wednesday, September 19th, in the new quarters which we have found. The attempt was made in really businesslike fashion, and, according to the umpire, produced the best ringing yet. But, alas, after 48 minutes 2 and 3 inexplicably turned over.

I am not sure that, even if the slip had not occurred, the peal would have been successful. The ringers took advantage of what shade was available from a deck house, but as the sun got higher in the heavens, they began to get a grilling, and when they stopped the tenor man was gradually melting in his seat, and he stood the risk of disappearing, like a tallow candle in the sun, and dissolving into a pool of grease. So perhaps it is just as well the ringing stopped when it did.

The self-styled 'second eleven' with the 'first eleven' conductor made an effort to break the evil spell in the evening, but it soon came to grief. Unless the luck changes soon someone will have to be thrown overboard as a sacrifice. But we are getting a lot of fun out of this handbell ringing. It is giving us an 'object in life,' when we might otherwise succumb entirely to the bewitching spell of the life of ease amidst which we are travelling, and in which the less one does the less one wants to do.

For instance, during most of Wednesday we travelled along the shore of Algeria, with towering mountains as a background and wild and inhospitable looking scenery. To lol in a deck chair, with the sun turning the sea into molten gold and flickering blue; a noble prospect of mountain and gully, low scrub and rugged cliffs, with an occasional tiny habitation, or scattered village, to indicate where men dwell, passing as a panorama before one's eyes—well, why worry about ringing? Presently, perhaps, in the great open spaces of the ocean we may be more successful with our ringing, for there may be nothing better to do; although, if one chooses, there is even now an activity aboard that threatens to become hectic. Most of us have already entered for games competitions—games about which we do not, at the moment, know the most elementary rules.

Old Bill and George began rehearsals on Wednesday for a forthcoming concert, in which they are billed to appear. At dinner that evening they heard that the show was to come on the same evening, so there was another hasty rehearsal in the cabin, and Bill carefully arranged the collar of George's cricket shirt so as to show it off to the best advantage.

The tune playing was one of the 'star' turns of the programme. Bill produced some laughter by his explanation in humorous vein of what it was proposed to do. He first assumed the role of town crier and, hastily seizing the dinner bell which stood by, rang it in the orthodox fashion of town criers and began his announcement with an 'Oyez, oyez, oyez!' I am beginning to think that this must have been one of his past professions. Then wedding bells were rung in the shape of rounds, queen's and titmums, followed by 'Washing Day' and 'The Blue Bells of Scotland.' Bill was a good showman, and the unsuspected talent brought forth rapturous applause. Indeed, when the chairman, later on, said the end of the programme had been reached, there were loud demands for the bells, and Bill and George duly obliged again, this time with 'The Vicar of Bray,' in which the audience joined—the best proof that they had enjoyed the turn. So Bill and George went to bed happy in the knowledge that they had done at least one good deed for the day.

Yet another handbell peal was lost on Thursday morning, after nearly an hour, but here again it was just as well, for, soon after, rain, the first we have seen since leaving England, came down heavily and would have necessitated the abandonment of the attempt. Luck is against us, but, in view of the rain, we have not yet cast lots to see who is to be sacrificed.

LATE NEWS.

The Editor has been taking navigation lessons on the bridge. He hopes when he returns to England to know sufficient to sail a toy boat on Clapham Park Pond.

The chocolate box has been only sparingly passed round among the gentlemen, so, I presume, they have not behaved themselves too well.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION AT GREAT EASTON.

RECTOR'S APPRECIATION OF RINGERS' SERVICES.

A kindly compliment was paid to the North District of the Essex Association at their meeting at Great Easton on Saturday, Sept. 15th, by the Rector (the Rev. P. E. T. Widdrington, R.D.). 'It was the best thing done for generations,' he said, 'the putting of the bells in the best possible repair, and I am most grateful to our ringers. They are important and very necessary in the parish.'

Although a thunderstorm broke over the district during the afternoon, it was not sufficient to damp the spirits of 30 ringers who attended from the following parishes: Earls Colne, Greenstead Green, Halstead, Broomfield, Braintree, Great Bardfield, Great Easton, Sible Hedingham, Springfield, Ohelmsford, Dunmow, Ford End and Brentwood. Some very good ringing was enjoyed on this beautiful peal of six, and methods from Grandire Doubles to London Surprise were rung during the afternoon and evening.

At the service an excellent address was given by the Rector, and the lesson was read by the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell). Tea followed at the Village Hall, the Rector presiding, for which the thanks of all present was accorded the ladies who prepared the meal.

The District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders) presided at the business meeting. Braintree was agreed upon for the annual district meeting on November 10th.

The District Master's suggestion for the annual meeting being held at Braintree each year, in view of its central position, was approved, and it was decided to bring the matter forward at the annual meeting. The District Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and his excellent address, and also to the ladies who prepared tea. The Rector suitably replied.

MITCHAM, SURREY.—On Wednesday, September 19th, at the Parish Church for the Charter Day celebrations, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): D. Wright 1, C. Potchecary 2, L. Greenhow 3, H. Tourle 4, W. H. Joiner 5, C. W. R. Grimwood 6, W. S. Smith (conductor) 7, W. Sparkes 8.

BEACONSFIELD'S JUBILEE.

REMINISCENCES OF 50 YEARS AGO.

Four members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild who were privileged to be present at the dedication of the bells at Beaconsfield in 1884 were present on Saturday, September 8th, when the jubilee was observed. They were Canon Coleridge (Master of the Guild), Mr. J. J. Parker (Farnham Royal), Mr. W. H. Fussell (Slough) and Mr. A. S. Bagley, who has been a member of the local band.

About 60 ringers attended from Surrey, Middlesex, Beds, Herts and Essex, as well as members from various branches of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The bells were raised at 3 p.m. and were kept busy with rounds and various touches, concluding with a course of Bristol before the service.

The service was conducted by the Rev. A. F. Osborne. Mr. O. H. Hickman (organist and choirmaster) was assisted by a small orchestra brought from High Wycombe by the Rev. C. E. Wigg. The hymns included the one dedicated to ringers, 'Unchanging God Who liveth,' 'We love the place, O God' and 'Now thank we all our God.' The Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master, Oxford Diocesan Guild) gave a practical address. He said they were met there that afternoon on the occasion of the jubilee of the opening of the bells at the Parish Church of Beaconsfield as a peal of eight. But the history of those bells extended much further back than 1884. They knew that there were five bells at least as long ago as the beginning of the 18th century, and in 1772 they were recast by Henry Bagley, of Reading. At least four different firms of bellfounders have had a hand in bringing their fine peal to its present condition. The 4th of the old peal was recast by Lester and Pack in 1760, and 54 years later a treble was added by Thomas Mears. That bell was the second of the present ring. Finally, in 1884, the firm of Mears and Stainbank were entrusted with the work of recasting four of the old bells, adding a treble and tenor, and rehanging the whole peal in a new frame. The whole of the necessary money for the work was contributed by the inhabitants of Beaconsfield.

The treble bell in the peal, he said, was dedicated to the memory of that great statesman, Edmund Burke, who had his country estate at Beaconsfield, and bearing the motto of his family, 'One King, one Faith, one Law.' That inscription was a simple reminder that in spite of inevitable dangers of thought and custom, certain trusts must always remain for us important and fundamental.

What of the ringers of the future? he asked. The men and women who would carry on the work of God in reminding people of their religious faith and duties—through the voices of the bells? They heard much nowadays of the difficulty of maintaining a band of ringers for service ringing in many towers. It was true that the sort of training received by young people to ring did not seem to produce in them that spirit of dogged perseverance which refused to be beaten, and which alone enabled a beginner to get over the difficult and early stages of his ringing career. The lack of enthusiasm among young ringers to-day, which was more evident in some parts of the country than others, was a challenge to both the young people themselves and to their elders who instructed them. To them he commended the motto which was placed upon the tenor bell when half a century ago it was hung in the tower and dedicated to the memory of Benjamin Disraeli. It was his family motto, 'Forti nihil diffido'—To the stout-hearted man nothing is too difficult.

TOLD BY 'THE VETERANS.'

After the service tea was served in the Old Rectory, and the company settled down to listen to the reminiscences of the 'veterans.' The Rev. Canon Coleridge spoke of the beautiful service and complimented the orchestra. It was the first time, he said, he had heard one at a service of bellringers. He referred to the time when he and others had to walk anything from three to ten miles to ring at Beaconsfield in the early days, and recalled many names of ringers who he had met there. He thanked the members of the local band, on behalf of the assembly, for inviting them to such a meeting.

Mr. J. J. Parker gave some of his interesting experiences, and Mr. W. H. Fussell recalled how Mr. Parker and himself had to walk from Farnham in a snowstorm to assist in ringing at Beaconsfield.

Mr. A. S. Bagley gave many historical details concerning the church and bells. For many years previous to 1884, he said, the peal of six had been in need of attention, both as regards the tone of the bells as well as the bearings and fittings. The ringers, under the presidency of Mr. H. L. W. Lawson (the late Lord Burnham), formed a committee for the purpose of raising a sufficient sum to renovate the bells. The Lord of the Manor gave £100 and promised another when the second £100 was raised. The money was soon raised, and the work was entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the contract price being £508 12s. The belfry was repaired and four of the old bells recast and the whole framework renewed. The speaker recalled a remark made to him by the foreman on the job, who, when he had tied the last rope, said, 'There, my boy, these bells will go for about 35 years, with little attention; a few ropes, a bit of grease and a little screwing up now and again is all they will need.' The truth of that remark had been realised, for, as many ringers would agree, the peal had stood well. After 38 years' service the bells were hung in ball bearings, mainly through the kindly interest taken in the bells by Sir Charles Bennett, K.C., who is an honorary member of the local band.

THE INTEGRITY OF CONDUCTORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent, 'A cantankerous critic,' asks when handbell peals will be umpired again. Please allow me to ask him a question or two.

Why does a handbell peal need umpiring any more than a tower-bell peal? If ringers are enterprising enough to learn to ring two bells to a peal, is their integrity any the less than that of a band who travel miles to a tower to get a peal? Where are these 'qualified' umpires to be found that he asks for? It is generally hard enough to man the bells, either tower or hand, without wasting a man of such powers standing by. I know a handbell conductor who will allow anyone who cares to 'witness' a peal on handbells, but would not tolerate him or her as an 'umpire' unless the said umpire had the ability to spot a mistake as soon as he (the conductor) could, and throw the paper into the ring and stop the peal.

This same conductor, who would not thank me for disclosing his name, has been known to stop a peal for a few 'clips' that would be ignored in a tower bell peal. Is the integrity of such a man to be doubted for a moment as to the correctness of a peal, whether or not it was umpired?

We hear of loutres so blocked that tower bells cannot be heard outside. Would 'Cantankerous Critic' like to provide an umpire there in case the band feel like 'putting one over'? It is all nonsense, sir. Most conductors that I ever knew in 30 years' ringing stopped the bells when anything went wrong, either in tower or house, when it was necessary. Let 'Cantankerous Critic' get on to something else, and, above all, put his name to his insinuations.

PETER LAFLIN.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION AT PETWORTH.

The Western Division of the Sussex County Association held their quarterly meeting at Petworth on Saturday, September 15th, when members and friends attended from Arundel, Billingshurst, Bognor, Chichester, Heene, Pulborough, Petworth, Shoreham and West Grinstead.

The afternoon was devoted to ringing, methods ranging from Grand-sire to Cambridge Major, everyone being well satisfied. An excellent tea was served at Mr. Knight's tea rooms, Lombard Street. At the short business meeting which followed, Mr. H. Tucker presided. Votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman and to the Rector of Petworth for the use of the bells.

HEDON WELCOMES YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION'S VISIT

The September meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at St. Augustine's Church, Hedon, on Saturday, September 15th, when there were about 30 ringers present from Beverley, Goole, Hull, Kirk Ella, Market Weighton, Selby, Sutton-on-Hull, Withernsea and the local company. A welcome visitor was Mr. Dent, of Harlow, Essex.

The service, fully choral, was held in church, the address being given by Col. Hall. During the singing of the hymn, 'Ring out the grief the saps the mind,' from Tennyson's famous poem, the tower bells were rung in rounds by some of the ringers, between the verses, the effect of which was much appreciated by the large congregation.

Tea was served in the Schoolroom, followed by the business meeting, presided over by Col. Hall. Replying to the vote of thanks on behalf of the Vicar, who was away on holiday, Col. Hall gave a very hearty welcome to the association to the ancient borough of Hedon, and expressed the hope that they would visit Hedon again in the near future. The churchwardens and local company were heartily thanked for making the arrangements for such a successful meeting. Goole was selected for the December meeting.

Further ringing concluded a happy day. The methods rung were Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Bob Minor.

On the day of the dedication, 'open house' was observed at the Rectory, and the locals made the day an excuse for a holiday. Races were run on the village green for the children. A fatted calf was tied to a lamp post, and, as it did not succeed in pulling the post down, it was killed, quartered and divided among the poor. Mr. Bagley went on to say that, apart from the ringing, the ringers fully enjoyed their day. During a break in the ringing, one of the locals 'pinched' a box of bloaters from the fishmongers, and adjourned with his mates to the Old Rectory, where they had a good feed of bread and fish, liberally washed down with beer. It may be of interest to note that a few of the ringers here to-day found a place where beer was provided.

After the meeting the bells were again brought into use until 8.45 p.m. The methods rung during the day were London, Bristol, Yorkshire, Cambridge, Superlative, Kent, Double Norwich, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Triples. The local band, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' wish to thank all the visitors for making their meeting so successful.
