NAMING THE SURPRISE METHODS.

The announcement, made in 'The Ringing World' a fortnight ago, that in the book on Surprise Major Methods, which the Methods Committee of the Central Council has now got ready for the Press, names have already been given to all the methods that are to be printed, has disinterred an old bone of contention. The point at issue is, who shall name a method? It seems, in one sense, a small matter, and yet it involves one of those 'rights' to which ringers attach considerable importance and which they like to retain in their own hands.

There has been an unwritten law that those who ring the first peal in a new method should have the right to name it; on the other hand authors of new methods have also exercised the right of giving a name to these children of their brain, and these conflicting claims each have something to be said for them. Up to a few years ago each method was produced as an individual effort, and, as such, the author had an unquestioned right to give it a name if he so desired, although some of the most distinguished men left the naming of their products to the ringers. But even so there were exceptions.

With the advance in the science of method evolution and mass production, when—and the Methods Committee were the first to advance the idea—no individual can claim to be more than a producer, the position has altered and the rights as 'author' would seem to have largely disappeared. On the face of past practice, therefore, the rights remaining are the rights of those who first ring the methods. But it is not, we imagine, with the idea of usurping these rights that the Methods Committee proceeded to find names for all those methods not previously titled. The experience in the naming of the Minor methods, which got into a welter of confusion, led them to name the plain Major methods before they were published and, in giving names to the Surprise methods, they have only followed this precedent.

Whether, in view of the much wider practice of new Surprise methods, this is advisable is a question open to discussion, and the committee might well reconsider the position. There is unquestionably a desire among ringers of new methods to associate them, either with the place at which they are first rung, or with some other place which they wish, in a way, to honour, and the naming of all these new methods before they are rung may, as Mr. Gabriel Lindoff points out, cause trouble and heartburning. Indeed, until a method has been rung and given a name by those who ring it there is no guarantee that the name inserted in the Council's volume will be accepted or not. There is nothing to prevent ringers upsetting the well-intentioned aims of the committee. Mr. Lindoff's proposal to number those methods not already rung—as was done in the case of the first issue of the Minor Collection—is worth considering before publication has gone too far, but there should be some reservation with regard to a proper register of the names of those rung in future for the first time.

THE OPENING OF WIGAN BELLS.

POMP AND CEREMONY AT IMPRESSIVE DEDICATION.

A Memorable Service.

Seldom has a peal of bells been opened with more impressive ceremony than was witnessed at Wigan Parish Church on the Saturday before Christmas, when the recast ring of eight bells was rededicated and two new trebles, given in memory of Mrs. Mary Ellen Rigby, hallowed by the Lord Bishop of Warrington. Civic pomp accompanied the religious rites, and the event was one to be long remembered by those who shared in it.

A civic procession was formed at the Town Hall and, led by the mace bearer, proceeded to the church, where the Mayor, aldermen, councillors, magistrates and borough officials took their places in the Mayor's gallery. The Bishop's procession of clergy, bellringers and others with the choir made a circuit of the church, the crucifer leading the Decani file by the south aisle, and the banner bearer leading the Cantoris file by the nave, while the hymn, 'When morning gilds the skies,' was sung. The marshal directed the members of the procession to their allotted seats, but the president of the Lancashire Association (Canon H. J. Elsee) and the Archdeacon of Liverpool awaited the Bishop at the choir screen, the Bishop, in the meantime, having proceeded to the Mayor's gallery to greet the Mayor and his company.

Then, with the Bishop leading the way, the Mayor's procession went to the choir screen, where the opening prayer was said, and the large congregation joined in singing the hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell.'

THE BISHOP'S QUESTIONS.

Next followed an interesting ceremony, in which the Bishop was petitioned to re-dedicate the restored bells and to hallow the new ones. His Lordship thereupon demanded and received assurance from the representative of the Bell Founders that the work had been fitly done, and from the building contractor that the masonry and fitting had been 'well and truly done so that the bells, the tower and the fabric of the church are secured from damage.'

Then the Bishop asked: Will the congregation of this church and the citizens of this ancient and loyal borough have care of the tower, the belfry and the clock?

To which the people's warden replied: The wardens and Council of this parish will do their part.

The Bishop asked: Will the citizens of this town maintain the clock as heretofore?

The Mayor having intimated that the aldermen and councillors of the ancient and loyal borough of Wigan had subscribed to the work of repair, the Town Clerk added: The maintenance and repair of the Parish Church clock will be continued at the public charge, according to our agreement and custom.

The Bishop then intimated that he was ready to proceed with the hallowing of the bells, and while the hymn, 'Ye holy angels bright,' was sung, the Bishop and his attendants, followed by the Mayor's procession and the ringers, went to the north door, whence the Apparitor, with the Book of Record, the Bishop, the Archdeacon, Canon Elsee, the wardens, the representatives of the late Mrs. Rigby, the secretary of the Parochial Church Council, the Mayor, the town clerk, the borough engineer, the representatives of the bell founders and builders, together with the bellringers, went to the ringing chamber, while the rest of the procession returned to their seats.

IN THE RINGING CHAMBER.

In the ringing chamber the Bishop hallowed and dedicated the bells and then handed his rope to each of the ringers in turn, from treble to tenor, saying to each respectively:—

1. See that you ring these bells to the glory of God.
2. Call God's people to his house.
3. See that yourselves answer the call.
4. Bid the careless heed the summons of the Gospel.
5. Let the sick and infirm rejoice with the congregation.
6. Let the marriage peal invoke God's blessing on Christian homes.
7. Let the people's rejoicing be heard in your ringing.
8. Let the whole earth give thanks for the coming of the Incarnate Son of God.
9. Let the people's sorrows be tolled in your solemn peal.
10. Let the faithful be called to the rest of Paradise.

Each ringer, in response, answered 'Amen' and struck his bell three times. Meanwhile, in the church, while the Rector stood at the altar, the Rev. F. H. Gripper read from the lectern, between the hallowings, portions from King Solomon's prayer at the dedication of the Temple (1 Kings viii. 22-61). Then, at the sounding of each bell, a verse from Psalm 98 was recited, the first by a junior boy, the next by a junior girl, followed in turn by a senior boy, a senior girl, a chorister, a server, a member of the choir, the organist, a sidesman and the Rector.

When the ceremony in the ringing chamber was concluded, the Book of Record was signed by the Bishop, the Mayor and others, and the procession returned to the church, where, after the hymn, 'O praise ye the Lord,' the Bishop gave a stirring address, and in the course of his remarks spoke in terms of high praise of the work of the bell founders.

The anthem was from Psalm 96, 'Let all the world in every corner sing,' followed by special prayers, and the inspiring and impressive service ended with the hymn, 'O Worship the King,' the National Anthem and the Benediction pronounced by the Bishop.

MANY RINGERS PRESENT.

In the large congregation were many ringers, among them, in addition to Canon Elsee, being Messrs. W. H. Shuker (hon. secretary), C. I. Davies (hon. treasurer), G. R. Newton, T. Hammon, T. W. Gilmour, J. Martin and R. Edwards (Liverpool), P. Crook, J. Wright, J. Halsall, T. B. Worsley and W. Dickenson (Bolton), B. Knights, F. Rigby and F. Bradley (Preston), S. Holt, B. Thorp and C. Gudgeon (Manchester), A. Prince (Gresford), W. Bibby and Miss N. Bibby (Frodsham), Messrs. N. Brown, A. Parker, S. Forshaw, E. Birchall, J. Booth, J. W. Grounds, J. Taylor, J. Genks, J. W. Hall, W. O. Farrimond, A. Shaw, E. Shaw, J. C. Sharratt and J. Baxendale (Wigan), etc. In the regretted absence of Mr. E. Denison Taylor, through indisposition, the bell founders were represented by Mr. J. P. Fidler, through whom Messrs. Taylor and Co. received many congratulations upon the result of their work.

At the conclusion of the service three courses of Stedman Caters were rung by a representative company of ringers under the conductorship of Mr. G. R. Newton, and the bells were then at the disposal of visiting ringers.

ROTHERHAM RINGERS' DINNER.

The second annual dinner of the St. Stephen's Ringers' Guild, Rotherham, was held at Davy's Tudor Cafe on Friday evening, December 27th, when a party of over 30 in number sat down to dinner.

After dinner the Rev. W. Platt deputised for the Vicar of St. Stephen's, who was unfortunately indisposed and unable to attend, much to the disappointment of those present.

The company was ably entertained by Miss H. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. J. Hancock, the Rev. W. Platt, and the handbell ringers, until about 10.15 p.m., when some jolly community singing and 'Auld Lang Syne' concluded the proceedings.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A YEAR'S WORK IN SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

In spite of the thick fog prevailing, a very good number of ringers attended the annual meeting of the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association at Writtle. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Upton), who gave the association his usual very warm welcome and a very encouraging and interesting address. The lesson was read by the District Master, Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips.

The Vicar presided at tea, to which 34 sat down.

At the business the Hon. Secretary reported that eight new ringing members had been elected during the year, and they had lost by death Mr. W. Lincoln, of Chelmsford. The division had 134 paid-up ringing members. Nine peals had been rung, consisting of four of Minor, two of Triples and three of Major. The conductors were Mr. G. Green (3), Mr. L. W. Wiffen (2), and Messrs. A. Bradley, W. Burgess, H. Mansfield and T. Lufkin (1 each). Five members had rung their first peal. Five meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 33 against 28 for 1934.

Little Waltham bells had been rehung and a new treble added, making a ring of six, and Purleigh had had their old treble recast and a new treble added, making another ring of six. The district secretary concluded by thanking the District Master, the tower secretaries and all those who had helped to make the various meetings successful.

Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips was re-elected District Master, and Mr. H. W. Shadrack hon. secretary, and were thanked for their services.

Four new members were elected—Messrs. R. Gee, J. Gee, A. Watling and R. Grooves, all of Chelmsford Cathedral.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Little Waltham either in January or early February.

A letter was read asking for copies of old peal boards and tablets recording peals rung prior to 1826 for the Central Council's register, also a letter from the Rector of Purleigh asking for assistance in teaching his ringers.

A vote of thanks was proposed by the District Master to the Vicar, to the organist, and to Mr. T. Lincoln for making the arrangements, to which the Vicar replied.

Handbell ringing followed, after which a return was made to the tower for further ringing. The following towers were represented: Great Baddow, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Ford End, Danbury, Galleywood, Maldon, Springfield, Writtle, Little Waltham and a visitor from Sudbury.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Editor desires cordially to thank the host of friends who have sent him Christmas and New Year greetings. They have come not only from all parts of the British Isles, but from other parts of the world as well. They included a cable from Melbourne, a letter from Kashmir, in Northern India, and a message on California redwood from Los Angeles. From whoever and wherever they have come, all these tokens of greeting and goodwill have been warmly appreciated.

After a lapse of 30 years since his last peal, Mr. Harry Robbins, of the Hereford Guild, has taken part in another 5,040. Thirty years is a long time between two peals.

The annual meeting of the National Guild of Police Ringers will be held at Leicester on Saturday, February 8th, and on Monday, February 10th, a band of policemen will attempt a peal of Stedman Caters at Leicester to commemorate the centenary of the Leicester City Police Force. In connection with the celebration a church parade of the force to Leicester Cathedral will take place on the afternoon of Sunday, Feb. 9th. Quite a busy and interesting week-end for the police.

A peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Boxing Day at St. Thomas' Church, Eccleston, St. Helens, Lancs. The bells were originally a peal of six that were in another tower in St. Helens, which was burned down. After the fire the bells were buried in the cemetery, where they thus remained for 25 years, until this new church at Eccleston was built and opened last year, when the two trebles were recast, the others tuned and two bells added to make the octave. They are now a very musical peal.

The first peal of London Surprise on the bells at St. Mary's, Slough, was rung on Boxing Day. A peal of London, the first in the town, was rung on the old octave in the former tower of St. Mary's Church, conducted by Harry Passmore.

Bill Fussell, who spent last Christmas on the Pacific Ocean and thus missed his Christmas ringing, was at it again during the festive season last week. He 'rang in' Christmas morning for the first time exactly sixty years ago. He's done a bit of ringing since then, including more than a thousand peals! More power to your elbow, Bill.

In our issue of December 20th it was stated: 'St. Mary-le-Tower band have added to their laurels peals in other Surprise Maximus methods, some of them the "first ever."' We should have said all of them the 'first ever.'

The first peal of Cambridge Maximus was conducted by the late Mr. James Motts on August 15th, 1908; the first of Yorkshire Maximus by Charles J. Sedgley on November 30th, 1929. The first of the remaining four Surprise methods were conducted by G. E. Symonds.

Mr. W. P. Garrett, still going strong, has the unique distinction of having rung in all six 'firsts.'

Here is another interesting point. St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, is the only steeple in which 5,040 and 5,088 changes have been rung to Surprise Maximus.

The longest peal of Kent Treble Bob rung in Suffolk was accomplished on Boxing Day, when Thomas Day's 10,368 was rung at Horringer.

John Freeman, of Lincoln, son of Mr. J. A. Freeman, must surely be the youngest ringer to call a peal of Stedman Cinques as his first peal? This he did on Saturday. Few people of any age have done it, and he was only 16 years old on October 17th last. Well done, John!

In the list which we published last week of ringers who have rung one thousand peals no mention was made of that well-known ringer, Mr. Keith Hart, of Brighton. Although modesty has prevented him announcing the fact, we learn from another source that Mr. Hart is well past the one thousand mark. If that be so, there are now nine living ringers with a four figure peal total.

'Many congratulations to Edwin A. Barnett on composing and conducting a peal of Superlative Surprise Major,' writes Mr. W. P. ('Tich') Whitehead, who adds that he made an unsuccessful attempt to accomplish a similar peal before the age of 16. However, the peal was 'scored' six weeks after his attaining the age of 16 years.

ATTEMPTS ON RECORDS.

MISHAPS AT WARNHAM AND HOYLANDSWAINE.

Neither of the two attempts on peal records on Boxing Day was successful.

At Warnham, Sussex, where a band met for the 14,144 London Surprise Major, the attempt only lasted 50 minutes, when a 'change course' brought some perfect ringing to an end. Afterwards a peal of ordinary length was knocked off with excellent striking.

The attempt at Hoylandswaine, Yorks, for twenty-five 720's in Treble Bob methods came to grief through the breaking of a clapper. The ringers settled down to their task in confident style, and the bells went merrily for two hours when, nearing the end of the fifth 720, the fifth clapper broke.

After being entertained to a substantial meal by the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Brookes, the band, nothing daunted, proceeded to Penistone, where they rang a peal of 7,200 in ten methods, before returning again to Mr. and Mrs. Brookes', whose guests they were at supper.

It was thus a day of mixed luck, but it is hoped to make another attempt on the record at some early date.

THE PEAL AT QUEEN CAMEL.

AMONG THE GREATEST ACHIEVEMENTS OF ALL TIME.

In our last issue we gave the bare facts of a peal in seven Surprise Minor methods rung at Queen Camel, Somerset, on the heaviest ring of six in the country. That was possible by the use of the long distance telephone. We are now able to say something more about this wonderful achievement, which ranks with the finest heavy-bell performances of all time.

First of all, just contemplate the weights of the bells in this fine old Somerset tower:

	cwt.	qr.	lb.
Treble	8	2	27
2nd	10	0	9
Tenor	36	3	7

Here is the story of this great achievement. The bells were rehung in 1908 in a wooden frame, and were going extraordinarily well in 1925, when a peal of Bob Minor was rung on them. In 1934, ball bearings were fitted all round, and in the autumn of that year a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung. It was found on this occasion that the swing of the tenor affected at least one of the smaller bells. This effect was judged to be due to frame movement, as the tower movement is not particularly obtrusive.

QUEEN CAMEL CHURCH.

The idea was then conceived that seven Surprise Minor methods might be rung. The band, obviously, had to be chosen with care. It was not only necessary that they should ring seven methods without question of trip, but the ringers of the smaller bells had to be able to 'hold' them with precision and certainty. Let it be said at once that the smaller bells were rung magnificently, although it meant constant overpulling and the inevitable holding.

A preliminary canter in the shape of a peal in seven Surprise methods had been rung at Doulting on the previous Saturday. Here

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING CHANGED FROM CHRISTMAS TO EASTER.

The annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at All Saints', Newport, on Boxing Day, when a splendid muster gathered from both dioceses, and there were visitors from Bath, Bristol, Hereford, Ross, etc. The bells were off soon after two o'clock in various methods, and the new young band recently formed at Penarth tried their hands in round ringing.

Service took place at 4 o'clock, the Vicar, Canon S. G. Morgan, officiating. Tea followed in All Saints' Mission Rooms, where a large number sat down to an excellent meat tea hospitably provided by the Vicar and his wife, both of whom were busy carving and attending to the wants of the ringers.

The business meeting was presided over by the Canon. There were reports on restorations and augmentations, which included during the year the rehanging of Aberdare and Cowbridge rings of eight, the recasting of Penarth ring of six with the completion of the octave, and the overhauling, etc., of Aberavon bells. After discussion and various propositions with regard to the date of the annual meeting, it was decided to alter the date from Boxing Day to Eastern Monday. The next annual meeting will be held at Cardiff.

The next Glamorgan meeting is to be held at Bridgend, and the next Monmouth meeting at Usk, the Vicar of Usk having sent an invitation to the association to hold a meeting there.

Mr. G. Wines, of Pentre, was elected Master, and the hon. secretary (Mr. J. W. Jones) and auditors were re-elected. Mr. J. W. Jones and Mr. C. H. Perry were elected as representatives on the Central Council.

The whole of the Bonvilston, Penarth and Pontypridd ringers and various others were elected, and Miss Boon, of Bristol, elected a life member. Congratulations were extended to Mr. A. W. Heath, of Cardiff, on having been honoured by receiving the King's Jubilee medal. Expressions of regret to Mr. H. Page and Mr. F. Chamberlain in their extended illness were passed and shown in a tangible form to Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. John Clark, of Ross, proposed the best thanks to the Vicar for his kindness and hospitality, and this closed the meeting, which was a pleasant and happy one.

The bells of All Saints' and St. Woolos' were afterwards rung until late in the evening.

the tenor weighs some 24 cwt., and on the day the peal was rung went very heavily. When Saturday, the 21st, arrived, the chief means of transport was in Bristol, having been abandoned there owing to fog, the previous night. The train by which the owner went to retrieve the car next morning was hopelessly late, and came to what seemed to be a permanent standstill some two miles from Temple Meads station. Something had to be done about it speedily. With his collar turned up, the owner of the car left the train, walked along the line, down an embankment, climbed through a fence and found himself in a works yard. He walked through the office as to the manner born, and emerged from the front entrance. A brisk walk brought him to the car, with bare time to collect three of the band. Lunch was out of the question.

At two o'clock the conductor was picked up. His day had started at 4 a.m. A mile above ground to the pit, a mile underground in steamy heat, seven hours' hard labour dragging coal from an eighteen-inch seam, and into the sunlight again at 1.15 p.m. Home, a bath, a change and a meal—if he had time—and he was on parade at 2 p.m. Thence to Queen Camel, with sundry stops to clear ice from the windscreen and to purchase glycerine to rub on it. Five minutes late is an unusual thing with this band, but it happened on this occasion, to the annoyance of the driver.

As to the peal itself, it was rung with 'bold and regular striking.' The tenor man, with his usual lack of attention to details, merely ascertained that there was a rope on the tenor, and proceeded to ring it. Not until he had been to lead for the first time did he find out that the sally was so low that at times he had to use the bare rope, and that he had a single rope at backstroke whenever the bell had to be cut at backstroke. However, on the principle of never turning back, he carried on.

The methods had been chosen with care. It was anticipated that Lightfoot, with its seven-pull dodge twice in each course, would cause the greatest difficulty, but Durham, Wells and London proved to be the most difficult from the point of view of the tenors, Wells especially, with its treble work, 5-6-6, 3rd's, 6-5-6, 4th's, 3rd's, snap lead, 3rd's, dodge, 4th's, caused a lot of hard work. Cambridge was child's play to it. However, the job was done and done well, and no sooner was the car headed in the homeward direction than someone suggested that fourteen spliced Surprise methods would go well there. It might! The writer doesn't know, and he will require some pressing before he even thinks of it.

THE DEATH OF MR. R. A. DANIELL.

HIS SERVICES TO RINGING.

The passing of Mr. R. A. Daniell, whose death at the age of 79 we briefly announced last week, removes a distinguished personality from the Exercise, better known to the ringers of a generation ago than to-day, but one to whom we owe a great deal for his historical researches. Graduating at Cambridge, Mr. Daniell was a man of great intellectual attainments, and while his actual ringing achievements were only of limited distinction, his work in other directions was of great value.

He was a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and joined the Central Council in its early days. His love of historical research led him to undertake investigations among the documents in the British Museum, the London Museum, and at Oxford and Cambridge, his chief research at the last-named place being in connection with Fabian Stedman. On a will of a civil servant named Fabian Stedman, discovered in London, Mr. Daniell set great store as the will of the Fabian of campanological fame, although since he published it considerable doubt has been raised as to whether these two Fabian Stedmans were identical.

Mr. Daniell's services to the Bibliography Committee of the Central Council were very valuable, and although ill-health and his consequent resignation prevented him completing the work he had begun, there are numerous papers in the Central Council Library as his contribution to the historical records of the art, in addition to the many articles in the ringing Press from his able pen. There is a melancholy interest in the short contribution which appears in our issue to-day—the last which he wrote for publication on the subject of bellringers.

Of his activities among ringers in London we may recall that he was largely instrumental, with Mr. T. H. Taffender, in reconstituting the old St. James' Society as the London County Association, and that he was instigator of St. Mary Abbot's Guild, Kensington. In recent years, however, ill-health had robbed him of the pleasure of ringing in the tower, but he followed ringing affairs closely to the end.

He had a gift of language, and was a ready speaker, although from the point of view of the hearer his delivery was poor, for he spoke in a muffled voice. But of his readiness as a speaker none could doubt. The writer remembers him at the annual dinner of St. Mary Abbot's Guild last year. Called upon without warning to propose a toast, through the absence of the prearranged speaker, he made a speech of intense interest lasting something like a quarter of an hour, dealing with the historical relations between the Church and bellringers.

Had he lived another month Mr. Daniell would have been eighty years of age.

Mr. Daniell was the pioneer of St. Mary Abbot's Guild when the old round ringers were formed into a change ringing band and, with others, came under the instructorship of the late Mr. W. Garrard.

He served as Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and represented the Society on the Central Council from 1900 to 1911. The following year he was elected an honorary member of the Council, retiring in 1923.

'Robert Arthur Daniell,' writes his old friend, Mr. Challis Winney, 'was a diligent worker for the ringing Exercise, like others who were at Caius College, Cambridge. Among them Squire Proctor, the Rev. W. C. Pearson, the Rev. H. Law James and the Rev. E. Banks James. In addition to ringing he was passionately fond of music, and was taught singing by the late Dr. Hunter, of St. Peter's, Eaton Square. Mr. Daniell often attended Westminster Abbey evensong, and delighted to sit in the choir stalls. Mr. Daniell used to name Westminster Abbey, King's College, Cambridge, and St. Luke's, Chelsea, as three of the best buildings for acoustic properties. His cousin, the Rev. Daniell Bainbridge, was at one time on the staff of the Abbey.'

Mr. Daniell's end was somewhat sudden, and he was apparently in his customary health a day or two before his death.

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon at Fulham Cemetery, North Sheen. Owing to the fact that there was little opportunity of letting ringing friends know of the place of interment in time, only four ringers were present in addition to the mourners. The service was impressively read, and at the close rounds were rung in slow time on six handbells; the three whole pulls rung thrice, with a pause between, being followed by a course of Grandsire Doubles.

It is quite right to record the doings of ringers of the past, for, like those of other men, they are matter for history. But history should be fair, and unreasoning censure is not fair history, and is avoided by competent historians. Our present environment, whatever its real value may be, is not the standard by which to judge men who did not live in it, and if, when considering bygone ringers, we take the only right course and carry our minds back into their environment, we find nothing in their conduct calling more justly for censure than in that of other men in general, living under similar influences, in any period of their bygone world.

BYGONE RINGERS.

HABITS OF ENVIRONMENT.

Mr. R. A. Daniell on the Standards of the Past.

Among the customs that survived in not a few places even within living memory was that of drinking in the belfry at Christmas time and New Year, when beer, and sometimes more potent liquor, was dispensed in the tower to ringers, and, maybe, their friends. Drinking took place within the sacred precincts at other times, but particularly was it usual at this festive season.

With the realisation among all classes of churchpeople that the belfry is a part of the House of God, this custom has happily disappeared, although such reminders of it as Ringers Jugs and Flagons, preserved as 'heirlooms' in some places, serve to emphasise the fact that in the days when indulgence in this direction was common, there was in no quarter among Churchmen any thought that such practice was one to be reprobated. It was an accepted custom. In what follows Mr. R. A. Daniell, who formerly contributed so much to our knowledge of ringers and ringing in the past, explains the circumstances of those bygone days.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE TIMES.

It is, he wrote (for we have already recorded the melancholy fact of his death), impossible to form a just estimate of men unless we take full account of the influence on their conduct of the conditions in time and place when and where they live or have lived—that is, of their environment; and what that environment at any time was social history tells us. And if, when scrutinising what we may choose to think faults of bygone ringers, we attend to their environment, we find the same faults manifesting themselves in the same or varying ways among men in general of their contemporaries.

Ringers have never been a cloistered body, but like other men have been subject to the general influences of their time; and it is unscientific and foolish to isolate them into a separate class and then find fault with them; to censure their conduct about drink, or anything else, as though it had been peculiar to themselves alone, when we know perfectly well that it was not, or to blame them for irreverence in towers when Church authorities were setting them no standard of reverence to observe.

Ringers and Church authorities alike were men of their day, and so they got on well enough together. For instance, if there was drink in towers, where, in old times, was it not? I can say of my own knowledge that the practice of drinking in vestries was not extinct when I was a young man, and that men in good positions in life took part in it. One of the former clergy of a London church told me that formerly dinners had been sent in from a tavern and enjoyed in the vestry, and I have read of a church organist, reckoned a fine performer, who had beer in the organ gallery, and of a church where the Sunday School teachers used the altar table for having their tea. There is abundant evidence that, when our modern ideas of reverence for churches came to birth, Church authorities had first of all to reform themselves, and, when they began to do so, anything they found calling for reform in towers was only what their own predecessors had permitted, if not encouraged.

It is probably due to a want of understanding of environment that some last-century writers, when writing about ringers, adopted a harsh, narrow and abusive tone, which rightly disgusts us and which stands condemned by the tone now used by clergy and laity of all kinds who, in various ways of religious and social effort, are working to help the more backward of our population.

Of course, we cannot infer from these petulant outbursts that at the time they were written the conduct of ringers as a body was unsatisfactory, but when we remember that the abused ringers were born a century or more ago, and know the backward and neglected condition of large portions of the population, both in town and country, at the time when these men grew up, we can see that it is not surprising if there were some places where—if better informed or better placed men took no interest in ringing—there were ringers unsatisfactory to reformers. But in such cases this was not due to any particular wickedness of those ringers; it was due to the misfortune of their environment, wanting in elevating influences and in almost all now deemed necessary or desirable for the welfare of our people. Their faults were not peculiar to them as ringers; they were shared with their neighbours, and are no more than an insignificant incident in our general social history.

In proportion as men get to understand environment, their mental attitude towards others changes from fault finding to an understanding of and consequent sympathy with the human beings behind the faults.

1,000 PEALS.

MR. JOHN H. CHEESMAN, OF GREENHITHE,
who has just completed 1,000 peals.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.
VISIT TO CRADLEY.

The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at St. Peter's, Cradley, where the bells were made full use of in various methods.

The service was fairly well attended, the usual Guild form being used, the Vicar of Cradley (the Rev. E. A. Poulouse) officiating and giving a very interesting and inspiring address; indeed it was considered one of the best delivered at a Guild meeting for some considerable time. After an excellent tea in the Schoolroom, the business meeting was held. Before leaving to fulfil another engagement, the Vicar gave the members a hearty welcome to Cradley, and expressed a wish that they might come again on some future occasion.

The chair was taken by Mr. A. H. Meredith, one of the churchwardens. Before the commencement of the business, the secretary referred to the lamentable death of Mr. Harry Mason, a vice-president of the Guild, and one of its founders. The secretary also referred to the death of Mrs. B. Gough, wife of Mr. Ben Gough, of Coseley, an esteemed member of the Guild. He had, he said, sent letters of condolence to Mrs. Mason and Mr. Gough, asking them to accept on behalf of the members their respectful sympathy in their sad and irreparable loss.

The members supported the secretary and stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Several new members were added to the roll, and the Vicar of Cradley and the chairman were elected hon. members.

It was proposed to attempt the quarterly peal at Cradley.

The next meeting, which is the annual meeting, will be held at Dudley.

At the close of the business, Mr. C. Skidmore (Ringing Master) proposed, and Mr. F. Molineux seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Cradley; to Mr. Meredith for presiding at the meeting; to the donors of the tea and the ladies for preparing and serving it; to the organist for the musical part of the service; to the Cradley ringers for making the necessary arrangements; and to all who had in any way contributed to making the meeting a happy and successful one.

Further ringing afterwards took place.

FOR BEGINNERS.WORDS OF ADVICE.

There is no special season of the year when beginners are introduced to the belfry to start their career as ringers. Those who have a desire to learn are welcomed at any time—that is, in belfries where learners are welcomed. Unfortunately that is not the case everywhere, especially in some of those places where a small annual stipend is paid, and the 'old hands' want to keep the loaves and very small fishes to themselves. Generally speaking, however, a keen youngster is a great acquisition to any tower, and for the benefit of those who, just at this moment, may be taking up the art with the beginning of the year, we offer one or two words of advice.

First of all, do not take on ringing too lightly. Of course, you cannot tell whether it is a pursuit that will appeal to you until you have tried it, but, remember, the study of the art requires real application, and the office of ringer—an honourable position among active servants of the Church—demands that you should attend punctually and regularly to your duties.

Because it is 'only ringing for service' or 'only a ringing practice' do not imagine you are justified in lightly neglecting to be in your place. Do not continue with your ringing unless you intend to treat it seriously—in justice to yourself, to the other members of the band and to the Church.

When you are in the belfry on a general practice night, do not be disappointed if all the ringing that is done is not done for your special benefit. You must have patience. Patience is a virtue in all things, especially in ringing. Before you have been in the craft very long you will find you will need a deal of it. For one thing, even when you have learned to ring a bell, you may not be able easily to pick up change ringing, but, with patience, you will grasp it in time.

Most ringers, when they start, find themselves groping in the dark for a while, and then suddenly the light comes, and they wonder why they couldn't see it before. Do not, therefore, be discouraged if at first you find yourself unable to grasp the first thing in change ringing.

With patience you must have perseverance. Stick to it and do not give up because you feel you are a failure. And one other thing about your first experiences in the belfry. Do not take offence if your instructor or other senior members of the band seem to be a bit 'short' to you. First of all, remember they are not angels; then recollect that, when ringing is going on orders have to be short, sharp and decisive, and that what you are told is intended for your benefit and the benefit of the ringing that is in progress. After all, what you may be told and the manner of saying it will probably be nothing like as rough as the chiding which some young men in some other pursuits receive when beginning serious training.

If you are keen to learn and show yourself ready to take the advice given you, if you are regular and punctual and possess the virtue of patience, some day you will be as able and, perhaps, more able than the man who in your own belfry calls the bobs and tells others what to do.

RINGERS' WEDDING.HAWKINS—WOLSTENCROFT.

On Saturday, December 21st, the marriage of Mr. T. G. Hawkins and Miss Ida Wolstencroft took place at St. Peter's Church, Ashlon-under-Lyne.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wolstencroft, a name long familiar to readers of this journal. Miss Wolstencroft has been a ringer at St. Peter's Church since she was eight years old, and the bridegroom has also been a ringer for many years at his Parish Church at Stoke Poges, Bucks.

It is to be regretted that the wedding had to be performed without bells, St. Peter's peal having been dismantled for rehanging. However, regret is outweighed by the knowledge that at last the work of rehanging has been put in hand, and, anyway, we learn that lack of bells did not prevent the satisfactory 'ringing' of the most important item of the day.

The couple will live in London, where they hope to attend ringing meetings as often as their new circumstances will permit.

A peal in honour of the wedding was rung at Norbury, Cheshire.

BELL BROADCASTS.

THE B.B.C. 'STANDARD PRACTICE.'

The following further correspondence has taken place between the B.B.C. and Mr. T. Groombridge, jun., of Crayford, with regard to the broadcast of bells before Sunday evening services:—

Under date, December 24th, the representative of the Religion Executive of the B.B.C. wrote:—

We are sorry that it has not been possible to reply earlier to your letter of November 4th.

Our standard practice, when we broadcast bells, before a service, is now to begin with five minutes of ringing; about half-way through the bells are faded down, and an announcement of the service is superimposed; the bells are then faded up again until the service begins. We want to emphasize that the ringing should always be quite audible behind the announcement, and that the announcement is normally very brief. After careful consideration, we have decided that this is the most satisfactory arrangement; if an announcement were made before the bells began many listeners who tuned in only a minute or two before the service would not hear from where it came.

We are arranging to mention the bells before services in the 'Radio Times' whenever it is known in time that they will be broadcast, but the 'Radio Times' goes to press well in advance, and it cannot be guaranteed that the information will always be available.

We are grateful for your criticism, and hope that you will find this arrangement satisfactory in future.

RINGERS' POINT OF VIEW.

Mr. Groombridge replied on December 30th:—

Dear Sirs,—I beg to acknowledge yours of the 24th inst. with thanks, but am sorry to note that you appear determined to ignore the ringer's point of view—or should it be hearing—which I tried to explain in simple everyday language in my last letter.

I would like to point out that no amount of reiteration on your part of the statement that 'the ringing should always be quite audible behind the announcement' will obviate the fact that the keenest ear cannot detect anything beyond that somewhere in the dim distance bells are being rung, which is totally different from hearing what is being rung.

Furthermore, the brevity of your announcements may be a matter of opinion; doubtless, to those uninterested in ringing, it is brief, but I cannot concede that point as a ringer. To quote an instance, you broadcast a service, preceded by ringing, from Richmond Parish Church, in the North Regional programme on Sunday, the 22nd inst. Personally, I tried the London Regional first (this, of course, will be obviated when you put your arrangement for publication in the 'Radio Times' into effect, so I do not make any point in this), and finding the organ being broadcast from St. Margaret's Lee, I switched over the North Regional just in time to hear the bells going to Treble Bob Major with the 7th just leaving the slow, when your opposition began, and beyond a hum in the background, which might have come from any percussion instrument, I definitely claim that the bells were not audible. By the time the announcements were finished and the bells faded in again, they were 'in rounds.' I have purposely used technical terms here, and invite you to approach anyone with a knowledge of change ringing to bear out my statement that Treble Bob cannot come 'into rounds' from 'the 7th leaving the slow' in less than 64 changes. As the rate of striking would be about 25 changes per minute, I leave you to figure out how much of the five minutes' broadcast was available to interested listeners.

As a contrast, I would refer to your broadcast from Worsley the previous week, when the Vicar gave a five-minute talk, followed by five minutes' uninterrupted ringing, which could be followed and appreciated.

I do not propose to bother you further personally, as the position is either, as I stated in opening, that you appear determined to ignore the ringer's point, or alternatively, that I am unable to express myself clearly enough by this means to the uninitiated, and if this be so I shall be making myself a nuisance without serving any useful purpose, which is far from my desire.

If you should care to have other opinions on the statements I have made, doubtless the secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers (who has already been in touch with you), or any of the members of the Ancient Society of College Youths who have been in the studio would oblige.

Scores of my colleagues in this district share my views, except that they add that 'it is a waste of time to tackle the B.B.C.' You alone can disprove this latter statement, and, if you succeed, none will be more pleased than I.

In a letter to 'The Ringing World,' Mr. Groombridge comments:—

The only course now appears to me to be that all those interested should bombard Broadcasting House with a well-voiced protest the next time they follow 'their standard practice,' and for those ringers at churches where services are broadcast to show some self-respect and take 'J. D.'s' advice and 'pack up when the announcer barges in.'

I have taken the liberty of referring the B.B.C. to certain of our fraternity who have already been in touch with Broadcasting House without obtaining their consent. I have no doubt that these ringers will stand their ground if called upon, a happening which I cannot foresee. I wished, if possible, to convince the B.B.C. that the opinions expressed were not merely those of a few isolated individuals.

HIGHER METHOD PRACTICES.

Few 'good resolutions' that are specially made for the new year are kept for long and lots of good resolutions for 1936 have probably already been broken. It applies to ringers and their ringing, as much as to other persons and other things, and yet, if there is to be progress, good resolutions are necessary sometimes. It is better, however, not to make them all at once; otherwise they may be too heavy to be borne—that, perhaps, is why so many of them crack at the beginning of the year. It is well, however, that ringers should from time to time determine to do something better in the coming days than they have done in the past. It is interesting as well as pleasing, therefore, to note that in the Eastern Division of the Yorkshire Association an effort is to be made to hold special meetings for the practice of more advanced methods. This, if carried out, will be found an admirable way, for those desiring to make progress, to go a step onward.

Where a band at any one church cannot be persuaded to go forward with something new, they frequently hold back two or three who are anxious to get on, but cannot do so for want of opportunity. Unless there happens to be a nearby tower where practice is possible with others like minded, the only chances are those offered by occasional district meetings. But district meetings cannot be monopolised by those who want the higher methods. They have to serve the interests of all, down to the humblest beginner, and it is unfair to take up an undue proportion of time for advanced methods. Indeed, it is far more in the interests of ringing to devote the bulk of the available time to elementary work.

The happiest solution of the problem is unquestionably that of special meetings for the advanced methods, where there are sufficient ringers desirous of putting these into practice. If the beginners and those in the early stages of method ringing could go to a district meeting, knowing that most of the time would be devoted to advancing their special interests, they would probably attend in greater numbers, and, on the other hand, advanced ringers knowing that there would be a special practice to meet their particular ends, would be more content to forego their higher methods. Again, if the meetings were divided in this way, those on the lower rungs of the campanological ladder would have no grievance against the men of whom they sometimes complain, because they imagine their own claims do not secure sufficient attention.

The special practice for the more qualified ringers is thus an excellent way of meeting a situation which sometimes gives rise to a little discontent, if not to any deeper feeling. There is often a difficulty, at numerous attended meetings, in fitting in something for everybody so that all may get just one step further; special practices should at least halve the difficulty. But even here, some plan of procedure is necessary. Meetings of this kind can be largely wasted unless those who hope to profit by them know beforehand exactly what methods are to be practised. It is usually, also, a mistake to introduce too much variety. One method well practised is better than dabbling with half a dozen. Organised on right lines, these special practices can be of great value in raising the standard of method ringing without sacrificing the interests of the ringers of lower qualifications.

FOR BEGINNERS.

THE RIGHT AND WRONG WAYS TO HOLD A ROPE.

As one goes about the country one sees many 'awkward ringers'—ringers who do not know how to hold their rope correctly, and therefore have not proper control over their bells, with the result that they are indifferent strikers. Indeed, their bad handling may spoil what otherwise would be some perfectly good ringing.

There is a story told of one 'ringing parson,' a notoriously bad striker, who never could handle his bell properly. He once took part in a peal, and his striking, as a result of his bad handling and his lack of 'ear' for his bell, was atrocious. Afterwards, one of the other ringers was asked how the parson got on, and his reply was, 'Awful. He only made one good blow, and that was when he missed the sally.' That is an example of the way not to ring.

The first aim of a beginner should be to hold his rope properly. Both at rope-end (that is, backstroke) and sally (the handstroke), the hands should be raised as high above the head as possible. It gives the best control, and, of course, the longest and, therefore, the most effective pull. Many ringers at handstroke grasp the sally at a spot which does not permit their hands going much above their nose, or even their chin, and their hands go up very little higher at backstroke.

This photograph shows the proper way to hold the rope end and sally at handstroke.

You go into towers and find that all the ropes are low. You can be sure that, unless it happens to have been caused by a sudden spell of dry weather, which has resulted in the ropes stretching badly, it is because the ringers of that tower do not raise their hands high enough in grasping the ropes. The hands should go well above the head at both strokes, and steeplekeepers and those responsible for instructing beginners, should see that ropes are so adjusted that this is made more or less obligatory on the learner. A rope is not too high, if, when the bell is set at handstroke, the bottom of the sally reaches no lower than the ringer's eyes.

And then there is a right and a wrong way of grasping the rope. The hands should always be close together when holding either the rope end or sally. If they are wide apart it means not only an ungainly and slovenly style, but loss of power, because the lower hand cannot 'pull its weight,' or, ought we to say, its full distance. Those few extra inches with that one hand make all the difference to effective control.

Then there is the actual grip on the rope. Both the sally and the rope end should, in turn, be gripped with all the fingers of both hands. Often one sees at handstroke the rope grasped only by the thumb and two fingers of the hand holding the rope end, the other fingers being gripped round the tail of the rope, as if the ringer were afraid of dropping it. Do not get into that habit; or, if you have acquired it, get out of it at once.

The ideal way is to hold the end of the rope in the crutch between the thumb and forefinger and let it come on the side of the sally next to the ringer. In that way the fullest possible use can be made of the hand. Indeed, if you ring in many places in the North of England, where there is a tuft, like a short sally, on the end of the rope, you will find any other way both difficult and uncomfortable. Where, however, there is only a double rope at the end, some ringers—and many good ones among them—grasp both the rope end and sally together. But try, if you can, to get the rope end each time under the thumb only. The proper way to hold the rope and sally at handstroke is shown in the accompanying illustration, which we are permitted to use by the courtesy of the Central Council. And, by the way, if you have not got a copy of 'Hints for Instructors and Beginners,' published by the Council, from which this illustration is taken, send twopence to the Hon. Librarian, Walsoken Rectory, Wisbech. You will find in it some of the best advice it is possible to obtain on how to ring a bell, with a number of illustrations on the right and wrong ways of holding your rope.

When you start to ring, stand close under the rope, with heels almost together; pull the rope straight down, keeping your hands close to the body, and let them go as far down as possible. If you don't pull straight and don't pull all the way down you lose power.

Get a good start and a good style, and half the preliminary battle is over.

FIRST 1936 DATE TOUCH.

On Sunday, January 5th, for evening service at St. Helen's Church, Sandal, Wakefield, in 1 hour, 9 minutes, a date touch of Minor, 1936 changes, made up of 496 of Oxford Treble Bob and 720 each of Sandal Exercise and Kent Treble Bob: H. Spencer 1, J. W. Moxon 2, W. Robinson 3, H. Cutt 4, G. Cutt 5, E. Cutt (conductor) 6.

WEST CORNWALL RINGERS BUSY.

QUARTER-PEALS OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES, BUT NO PEALS.

During the past three weeks there has been great activity amongst the method ringers in West Cornwall. Commencing on St. Thomas' Day (December 21st), an attempt was made to score a peal of Grandsire Triples on the recently rehung and augmented eight at Redruth, but, unfortunately, this came to grief suddenly in the eleventh part of Parker's well-known peal, after nearly three hours' excellent ringing. The band was E. Sanders 1, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 2, P. J. Hitchens 3, C. E. Lanxon 4, W. H. Southard 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, A. S. Roberts (conductor) 7, S. Seymour 8. The ringing was long enough to test the work, which has been excellently done by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Redruth bells are now a musical octave. On December 31st special arrangements were made to ring a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples to enable Mr. E. C. Carvolth, the donor of the two new trebles, who was staying in the district, to hear the bells rung on his birthday. This was brought round by S. Seymour (first quarter on eight) 1, E. Sanders 2, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 3, C. E. Lanxon 4, H. Williams 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, A. S. Roberts (conductor) 7, P. R. C. Williams 8.

On Boxing Day a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted at Helston, on a splendid light ring, cast in 1807 by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. (tenor 12 cwt. 1 qr. 23 lb.), but the illness of one of the band compelled 'Stand' to be called half-way. A further attempt was made at the same tower on January 4th, but after 1 hour and 10 minutes the conductor missed a call. A quarter-peal was then rung by F. Harris 1, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 2, G. W. Tayson 3, C. E. Lanxon (conductor) 4, A. S. Roberts 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, P. J. Hitchens 7, J. Reed 8.

On December 30th a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Enoder (tenor 13 cwt.): F. Harris (first quarter-peal on eight) 1, A. S. Roberts 2, W. E. Minors 3, Miss E. J. C. Angwin (conductor) 4, H. Williams 5, E. Sanders (first quarter on eight) 6, C. E. Lanxon 7, P. R. C. Williams (first quarter on eight) 8.

Those who took part in the above, and in visits to other towers for practice, wish to thank Messrs. P. R. J. Williams and H. J. Morcom for the use of their cars.

If, in the future, any visitors to Cornwall wish to be accommodated with ringing in the Truro district, or in any part of Cornwall, a line to Mr. P. R. C. Williams, Fore Street, Redruth, or to Mr. C. E. Lanxon, 11, Ferris Town, Truro, will assure them of a hearty welcome.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Three generations of the Tillett family were represented in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Rushmere, Suffolk, on December 28th. Miss Phyllis Tillett, at the age of 16, has now rung peals of Cambridge on 6, 8, 10 and 12 bells!

Mr. Alfred Bowell has recently rehung the old five bells at Scottow, Norfolk, and added a treble to make a handy ring of six. Mr. W. C. Duffield, of Buxton, has given six local men their first lesson in ringing.

Two attempts were made by members of the Norwich Diocesan Association to celebrate the centenary of the first peal of London Surprise Major, rung at Norwich in 1835. A peal of London on December 28th came to grief on Boxing Day after 1 hour 55 minutes' ringing, and a second attempt two days later failed after about an hour and a half.

It is unusual for a man to score his first peal at 70 years of age, but on the last day of 1935 Mr. Wm. Digby, who has been sexton of St. Andrew's Church, Buxton, Norfolk, for 42 years, made his first peal attempt successfully. He rang the treble to 7 720's of Bob Minor.

The ring of six bells of Horncastle Parish Church, Lincs, has this week been removed to Loughborough to be tuned and refitted prior to being hung in a new framework.

In the course of the last 50 years many hundreds, if not thousands, of the peals that have been rung have been compositions by Mr. Arthur Knights, the celebrated composer, of Chesterfield. It is strange, therefore, to learn that his composition, No. 1, composed in September, 1883, has now been rung for the first time. It is a 5,152 of Kent Treble Bob Major, and was rung at Penwortham on Saturday.

Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, has got a new address. It is 1, Chestnut Avenue, Eastleigh, Hants. He hasn't moved. All that has happened is that the local authorities have changed the name of the Avenue.

The bells of St. Leonard's, Streatham, will be broadcast from the London stations on January 19th for the Sunday evening service.

Nine ringers at Bridlington Priory can boast an aggregate of approximately 200 years' service as ringers at their parish church. Mr. W. Robinson has been ringing for nearly 60 years, Mr. J. Welburn for 36, and Mr. M. Forbes for nearly 30 years. Four others started 16 years ago, and of the other two, one has put in five years and the second two years.

On Tuesday evening, December 24th, the bells of St. Mary's Church, Finchley, were rung for an hour, half-muffled, as a last token of respect to the late Mrs. Bernays, wife of the Rector of St. Mary's, who was interred during the afternoon.

THE NAMING OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Regarding your note re Surprise methods, you state 'Names have been given to all the methods.'

I, for one, strongly object to these 'ready made' names, and would ask, 'Has the authority of the Council been obtained for such a procedure?'

Up to the present, the band ringing the first peal has had the privilege of naming the method.

If names are provided as suggested, places will be saddled with methods they don't want, and methods they would wish to adopt would have already been allotted, say, to some place not interested in them.

Take, for example, a method the Chester men have been practising, as I presume, under the name of 'Chester Surprise.' Are they to be robbed of that name and some useless method labelled 'Chester'?

Another example. A short time ago I was asked for a method for a certain name. It was to be capable of extending to ten and twelve. I doubt whether the method that has been given to that name in this collection would suit them.

This naming in advance is causing trouble and heartburns, even before they are printed; it will cause more after. A certain number have already been named and rung. Let those who have adopted methods claim them now and so register their names, and let the remainder be numbered only. I am sure this would give greater satisfaction and less expense.

PEAL BOARD INSTALLED.

On Saturday, December 28th, the Kingsley ringers, together with Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, of Norton, paid a visit to St. Margaret's Church, Draycott, Staffs, where, by kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. C. Codling, they installed in the belfry a beautifully designed oak peal board recording the first peal rung on the bells, by the Kingsley band, a peal of Minor in seven methods conducted by Mr. H. Carnwell.

The dedication touch consisted of a 720 of Norwich Surprise Minor, rung by the band, who rang in a peal with the exception of Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, who deputised for Mr. F. Edwards, who has recently left the district: H. Carnwell 1, G. Hulme 2, E. Twigg 3, J. E. Wheeldon 4, W. Carnwell (conductor) 5, A. W. Hall 6.

LANCASHIRE STALWART PASSES ON.DEATH OF MR. J. H. COLLIER.

On Sunday, December 23th, the death occurred of Mr. James Henry Collier, of Flixton, Lancashire, after a very short illness. He had rung for service on Christmas morning, and was taken ill on his way home. After recovering slightly during the next day or two, he passed away peacefully early on Sunday morning.

Born in Flixton in 1869, he had spent the whole of his life there, and after serving as a boy chorister had been connected with the belfry for over 50 years, and had been the conductor for the past 34 years.

Of a quiet but genial disposition, he had an ever-ready welcome for visiting ringers to Flixton, where he took great pride in maintaining a band for service ringing. This he did with success, in preference to seeking ringing honours for himself, for seldom has it been that Flixton bells were not fully manned for service. The present band, which includes a son and daughter, was raised and trained entirely by his own efforts.

The upholding of old customs, such as the curfew, ringing for Guy Fawkes' night, and other events, in which old-world Flixton seems to delight, were to him another source of pleasure and pride.

He had rung several peals, his first being for Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1887, when the bells were reopened, and in December, 1933, he rang his last peal, one of Grandsire Caters, by five fathers and five daughters.

He retired from the service of the Manchester Collieries, Ltd., in January, 1935, after 43 years' service.

The funeral took place at Flixton on Thursday, January 2nd, and was attended by many relatives and upwards of 200 friends.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, including one from the local ringers.

The full local company of ringers was present, six of whom acted as bearers. Other ringers present were Messrs. W. H. Shaker (general secretary of the Lancashire Association), C. Gudgeon (Manchester Branch president), T. B. Worsley, D. Vincent, W. Moss, A. Barnes, B. Thorp, C. Ollier, A. H. Bond and D. Brown.

The bells were rung fully muffled as the cortege approached the church, and at the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells.

Immediately after the interment and as the mourners were leaving the churchyard the tower bells were again rung by deceased's tower associates. Later a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted, but unfortunately was lost near half-way.

Thus was laid to rest yet another of the stalwarts, and it will take local ringers and friends alike some time to get accustomed to the absence of Jim Collier from the belfry.

RICKMANSWORTH TO HAVE TEN BELLS.LOCAL RINGERS' SUCCESSFUL EFFORTS.

The second annual supper arranged by the local ringers at Rickmansworth, Herts, was held on New Year's Eve. A company of 18 sat down to an excellent repast, provided by Mr. Woolard, of the Red Spider. Mr. J. E. Jones presided, and the visitors included Rev. W. B. Belcher (Vicar), Mr. Clubbe (senior church warden), and Messrs. Oakley and Crowsley, ringing friends from Watford. After the toast of 'The King' had been loyally honoured, Mr. A. E. Millett proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' to which the Vicar responded. He thanked the ringers for their services during the past year, and congratulated the young ringers especially on reaching the Stedman stage.

The annual business meeting followed. An attendance book was kept during the past year, marks being given for attendance and punctuality, small money prizes being offered. The ringers with most marks not wishing to claim the prize, the 1st and 2nd prizes were won by J. Foster and T. Long, two young ringers, the prizes being given by Mr. J. E. Jones and Mr. A. E. Millett. Next on the list was Mr. C. Lord, who is nearing 80 years of age, and the Vicar kindly provided a 3rd prize and gave it to him.

One new rule was adopted, that of a voluntary levy of 3d. per week, per member, to provide a fund for belfry renovation, new ropes, etc.

The hon. secretary of the bells appeal fund, raised almost entirely by the efforts of the local ringers, announced that the order for the new trebles had been given to Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the bells would be installed about the middle of February. Some £20 was still required, and it was hoped this would be obtained by the time the bells were opened.

Gramophone records, and wireless, including the broadcast from the Loughborough Foundry, helped to pass a very pleasant and enjoyable evening.

At 11.30 the bells were rung half-muffled, and, after the 12 strokes of midnight, were rung open till about 12.15 a.m.

Ringers who took collecting cards for the bell fund are asked to be good enough to send in what they have collected, and any ringers who would like to contribute should send their donations to Mr. G. D. Tryer, Hon. Treasurer, National Provincial Bank, Rickmansworth, or to Mr. F. W. Elliott, 8, Bury Lane, Rickmansworth.

MARRIAGE OF MR. W. H. J. HOOTON & MISS D. M. LEWIS

Many well-known ringers attended the marriage ceremony at Brasted, Kent, on Saturday, of Mr. Wilfred H. J. Hooton, of Nuneaton, and Miss Dilys M. Lewis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lewis, of Moorcocks, Brasted. Like the bride's father, who is president of the Central Council, Mr. Hooton is a well-known member of the Cambridge University Guild, and after the ceremony six members of the Guild rang a peal of Minor at Brasted.

While this was in progress a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Westerham by Major J. H. B. Hesse 1, S. H. Green 2, A. A. Hughes 3, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher 4, T. Groombridge 5, E. H. Lewis (conductor) 6, J. O. Weller 7, G. W. Fletcher 8.

At St. Nicholas', Sevenoaks, the local band attempted a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in honour of the event, but lost it a few changes from the end.

At Guildford, a handbell peal was attempted, as no tower bells were available. This was lost after an hour, but amends were made the following day, when a peal of Grandsire Triples was scored.

AN INSTRUCTOR FOR TASMANIA?HOBART BEGINS TO RAISE MONEY

We hear that in Tasmania a fund has been opened, through 'The Mercury' newspaper, to enable a ringing instructor to be obtained from England in order to teach change ringing, and particularly to instruct a band for the new bells to be erected at St. David's Cathedral, Hobart. The fund has been opened with a donation of £5 from Mr. George Fitzpatrick, formerly of Parramatta.

This effort is part of the scheme put forward in 'The Ringing World' on October 11th, 1935, when a letter from the Rev. A. A. Bennett, Vicar of St. George's, Hobart, was published, pointing out the need of instructional help, and a hint was thrown out in our editorial that, if Tasmania itself was prepared to do its share, the Exercise in England might be prepared to help.

If the best is to be made in Tasmania of the seed sown by the English ringers who visited Australia, a competent instructor from this country is a necessity, and if the Tasmanians themselves rise to the occasion we feel sure there are many ringers in England who would be ready to give financial help to promote the art in that out-post of the Empire.

A little later we hope to be able to give further details of the proposals, and if they are called upon we believe the ringers in England will see the scheme through.

BELLS 14,000 FEET UP.AN ENGLISH RINGER AMONG THE HIMALAYAS.

Mr. L. H. Baybut, a well-known member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, formerly connected with St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, who now holds an important post in the State of Kashmir, Northern India, among the Himalayas, has sent us an interesting letter describing the country in which he is now living.

His 'home' is in the town of Srinagar, thousands of feet up in the mountains, where, he says, there is a very pretty English church. Canon Stokoe, the Vicar, started to learn ringing on handbells in England long ago, and, as may be imagined, was very interested when Mr. Baybut took along his peal of twelve to the Vicarage when going there to dinner.

These bells, says Mr. Baybut, have been a great source of interest to many Europeans, as well as to natives. He has had the twelve going once or twice with the natives, and thinks he must have made at least one record, for he doubts if any other ringer has rung changes at 14,000 feet above sea level. This he did with 'four in hand' at Pahalgam, Kashmir.

The district where Mr. Baybut lives is known as 'The Paradise of the Indies,' and is, he says, well worthy the name. It is a glorious valley in the heart of the Himalayas, with snow-capped mountain ranges all round. Some of the peaks rise to over 20,000 feet, and one is 26,000. The hills abound with black and red bear, leopards, panthers and other wild animals.

At the time of writing, Mr. Baybut had not seen a train for eight months, but was on the point of leaving for Bombay to meet his wife and two children, who have gone out to him.

As supervisor of furnishings in the palace and state houses at Srinagar and Jammu, Mr. Baybut has had the good fortune to see many native functions, including Durbars and religious festivals.

He asks us to convey his good wishes to all readers of 'The Ringing World.'

FOR THE GRUMBLERS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your leading article of December 20th is long overdue. May all grumblers thoroughly digest it. I, for one, would be very sorry to see a change in your weekly 'lay-out.' I suppose it is a member of the N.O.P.G. that would (if he had his way) dispense with the column for beginners. Congratulations, not brickbats, from

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PROPOSED PRACTICES OF ADVANCED METHODS.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Cottingham on Saturday, when there were 45 ringers present from Beverley, Cottingham, Headingley, Hemingbrough, Howden, Hull, Market Weighton, Middleton-on-the-Wolds, Nunburnholme, Selby, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Sutton-on-Hull, and also from Barton-on-Humber and Ulceby, Lincolnshire. The methods were Bob Minor and Major, Treble Bob Minor and Major, and Grand-sire and Stedman Triples. Evensong, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. W. French, M.A.), was followed by tea in the King Street Rooms.

The Vicar presided over the business meeting, and gave a very hearty welcome to the association to Cottingham.

Four new members were elected, viz., Messrs. Wilfred Lawson and Ernest Cuttill, of Cottingham, C. Robinson, of Sutton, and H. Kneeshaw, of Market Weighton.

Beverley Minster was selected as the place for the annual meeting in March, the meeting to be held previous to the departure of the Vicar, Rev. Canon Rigg, D.D., to a living in Cornwall in March.

The usual votes of thanks to the Vicar and local company were responded to by the Vicar and Mr. Lawson, and a hearty welcome was also extended to Rev. A. Ferguson, the Vicar of Market Weighton, who accompanied his ringers to the meeting, and who was formerly Vicar of Cottingham.

The secretary was instructed to write the B.B.C., protesting against the fading away of bells during broadcasting for church services.

Mr. Vigor, of Sherburn, raised the question of holding extra meetings for practice of more advanced methods, and after a discussion it was decided to try and arrange these at suitable dates. The secretary pointed out the expense incurred by these extra meetings could not be a charge on the association's funds.

A suggestion to hold a joint meeting with the Northern District was deferred until the next meeting.

WESTERN DIVISION'S NEW SECRETARY.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Bramley, and at St. Peter's Church service was held. In the absence of the Vicar, through illness, the president, Canon Marshall, officiated. Tea was served in the schools to 50 members, and a hearty welcome was extended to friends from Sutton-on-Hull. The business meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mr. P. J. Johnson.

Nine new members were elected, viz., seven from Oxenhope and two from Haworth. It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Liversedge or, failing that, Bingley.

As the secretary had previously intimated a desire to retire on account of work, Mr. H. Lofthouse proposed, and Mr. S. Helliwell seconded, that Mr. F. Rayment be elected to the position of secretary. This was carried, and, in welcoming Mr. Rayment to the position, Mr. Johnson hoped that he would be happy in his office. At the same time he regretted the retirement of Mr. Ambler from taking an active part in the association, but, in the light of his good work for ringing, sincerely hoped that work would soon permit him to return to office.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens, also to the Rev. G. Harper for presiding at the organ, was proposed by Mr. H. Lofthouse, and seconded by Mr. R. Bottomley. Hope was expressed for the Vicar's speedy recovery, and thanks were given to Canon Marshall for conducting the service, and for his helpful address. A vote of thanks was also passed to the local company for making the arrangements, and to the ladies for providing tea.

The Rev. G. Harper, Mr. A. S. Boyes and Mr. S. Helliwell replied on behalf of the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company respectively.

Canon Marshall proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, which was carried. Mr. Johnson replied in his own inimitable way.

The meeting was then entertained with some delightful handbell ringing, Mr. A. E. West and Mr. D. M. Sharp giving a course of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Mr. Sharp ringing 1.2.3.4 and Mr. West 5.6.7.8, a feat which the company thoroughly appreciated. This brought to a close a very pleasant and happy meeting.

Members are asked to note that the address of the new secretary, Mr. F. Rayment, is 235, Green Hill Road, Bramley, near Leeds.

NEW RING OF EIGHT AT CAMPSALL, YORKS.

A TRIUMPH OF MODERN BELL HANGING.

On Monday evening, December 23rd, the dedication by the Lord Bishop of Sheffield (the Right Rev. H. L. Burrows), of Campsall's recast and rehung bells was due to take place at 7 p.m. The county of wide acres, however, was, like other parts of the country, in the grip of a dense fog, and the congregation which filled the ancient church had a forty minutes' wait until His Lordship arrived.

For the actual ceremony the clergy and churchwardens proceeded to the foot of the tower, where Mr. Cyril Johnston, on behalf of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., the bellfounders, handed the ropes to Mr. J. Henry Smith, diocesan lay reader, and secretary and treasurer to the bell fund. The wardens then received the ropes and handed them to the Bishop for dedication. The local ringers chimed the bells as the procession returned to the chancel.

In his sermon the Bishop gave an interesting review of the origin and history of bells and bellringing, and spoke of the important part which bells had played in history. He said he did not believe in bells being rung for trivial things, but they should certainly be rung at times which were of national importance. The ringing of bells had now become a science, and one might almost call it a mathematical science. Apart from that, bells also had a very sweet musical sound; they had a great and beautiful harmony. Bellringers to-day had become as much a part of the church as the choir, and they were a very strong, vigorous and active set of churchworkers. He was very strongly of the opinion that the ringers should be recognised as churchworkers, and the same standard should apply to them as to other churchworkers.

The Bishop added that he thought it was right that bells in a church should be rededicated with a religious service. 'In a magnificent old church like Campsall,' he said, 'it is fitting that there should be a service to rededicate and hallow the bells that have been used for many a long year.' He thought the fact of there being such a good congregation on a bad night like that showed that the people thought it right that they should have a religious service to rededicate the bells.

After the service the bells were kept going till 10 p.m. with Stedman, Grandsire Triples, and other methods, by a company of the Yorkshire Association, and the Doncaster and District Association, under the direction of Mr. G. Halksworth, vice-president of the latter society, and drawn from the towers of Doncaster, Arkesey, Pontefract, Adwick, Burgwallis and Campsall.

The bells are a ring of eight, with a tenor weighing 11½ cwt. in A flat. They have all been recast and tuned perfectly on the five tone harmonic principle, and are a fine musical example of the Croydon Foundry's craft.

The bells have been fitted with cast-iron headstocks, ball bearings, and the latest fittings, and are hung in a new metal frame of H and A castings on heavy steel girders. They have been lowered in the tower, and as space is at a premium in the tower, the bells have been hung in two tiers of four each, but the care displayed in the general arrangement in the tower, and the attention to detail, have resulted in an ideally handy ring, of which it is impossible to tell in the ringing room or outside the tower which bells are mounted, or which are below. It is a triumph of modern bell hanging.

The bell foundry have also erected a ringers' gallery, in oak, to shorten the draught of rope, and have reorganised the clockwork in the tower.

Mr. H. Bradley, of the local company, has set himself the task of learning the art of change ringing and organising a band. In the furtherance of this task he asks for expert assistance, and hopes that an instructor may come forward to lend a helping hand in teaching a willing band of learners.

Among those at the service were the Vicar of Campsall (the Rev. W. Abel Turner), the Vicar of Woodlands (the Rev. L. L. Knightall), and the Vicar of Doncaster (Canon L. Davies).

MISS PHYLLIS E. TILLET'S DISTINCTION.

IPSWICH GIRL'S UNIQUE ACHIEVEMENTS.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung at St. Andrew's Church, Rushmere, on December 28th last, brings to the forefront Miss Phyllis Tillet, who, at 16, is the youngest person to accomplish peals in this method on all numbers, she having previously rung peals of Cambridge Major, Royal and Maximus.

Her first peal of Bob Minor was rung at Rushmere on November 11th, 1932, and during her fourteenth year she succeeded in scoring Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Cinques, Cambridge Royal and Oxford Treble Bob Maximus, thus completing peals on 6, 8, 10, 11 and 12 bells.

She also had the honour of taking part in the 'youths' peal of Bob Major at Crayford on April 21st, 1934, a performance of which she is, rightly, very proud, and since she has rung peals of Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge and Bristol Major and Cambridge, Superlative and Rochester Maximus. She has, however, yet to ring a peal of Caters.

DEATH OF OLD LEICESTER RINGER.

It is with deep regret we record the 'passing on' of an old Leicester ringer, Mr. Jeremiah Vernon. Deceased was never a prominent peal ringer, but over a long period of years was connected with St. Saviour's belfry, and during that time taught and interested many youngsters in the art. He had been in failing health for a long time, but a serious fall accelerated his death, which took place on December 24th at the age of 77 years.

He was a life ringing member of the Midland Counties Association, and to his memory a floral tribute was sent from Leicester ringers. The bells of St. Saviour's were rung half-muffled for the funeral, and over the grave a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells by Josiah Morris 1-2, Edward Whitehead 3-4, Ernest Morris 5-6, Ernest Bagworth 7-8.

OXFORD TREBLE BOB IN KENT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' for December 20th Mr. A. P. Cannon claims a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, rung at Mere-worth, Kent, on December 7th, 1935, as the first of its kind in Kent and for the Kent County Association. I beg to inform him that the Aldington, Kent, band rung a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, with seven different callings, at St. Martin's Church, Aldington, on January 5th, 1886, in 3 hours 17 mins., conducted by W. Hyder, and all members of the Kent County Association. I rang the 4th in this peal, and W. Post (Redhill, Surrey), F. Wanstall (Aldington), as well as myself, are still surviving. This peal is recorded on a tablet in Aldington Church tower.

'RING OUT THE OLD.'BROADCAST FROM LOUGHBOROUGH FOUNDRY.

Bells, as usual, played their part in the new year celebrations on Wednesday of last week, and ringers all over the country spent the last hours of the old year in peal and touch.

The B.B.C. programme gave listeners an opportunity of hearing many tower bells ringing the advent of the new year, visits being paid by the microphone to several towers between London and Berwick, and the snatches of the various methods proved an attraction which was well worth while.

The most instructive as well as entertaining feature, however, was the 15 minutes spent in the works of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., the well-known bell founders, of Loughborough. Here Mr. Denison Taylor, in a short talk, gave some interesting facts on bell work, and one of the firm's oldest employees gave an account of the work entailed in the moulding and casting of Great Paul, on which he was engaged as a young man, and which listeners were to hear later in the programme. The striking of several bells of varying sizes from a huge bourdon to some of the small bells of a carillon brought a most entertaining part of the programme to a close.

At the Parish Church, Bishop's Stortford, Herts, on New Year's Eve, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. T. Prior 1, Miss D. Wacey (first quarter 'inside') 2, F. Springham 3, H. M. White 4, H. A. Wacey 5, F. Bird (conductor) 6, E. Rochester 7, W. Wilkinson 8. Also rung as a farewell to the curate (Rev. A. D. R. Brooke).

Probably the oldest ringer to speed the parting year by taking part in the ringing was Mr. Coombes who, 93 next March, took part in a touch on New Year's Eve at All Saints' Church, Ryde, Isle of Wight. There were two others in the touch who might be regarded, under other circumstances, as veterans, but who are really only boys by comparison—Mr. George Williams, of North Stoneham, and Mr. Norris, vergers of All Saints', who had not rung together for nearly 50 years.

At St. Peter's Church, Colchester, previous to the watchnight service, after a peal of Superlative, a touch of Stedman Triples was rung, and to welcome the new year the bells were 'fired' and a touch of Superlative brought round. Those taking part were Messrs. F. L. Bumpstead, W. Chalk, W. Dent, E. P. Duffield, G. Boyden, G. N. Rashbrook, G. R. Toones, H. T. Pye, G. A. Wrightman and V. E. Kerridge.

At St. Giles' Parish Church, Pontefract, on New Year's Eve, 1,008 Stedman Triples: J. H. Lenton 1, H. Walker 2, H. Fox 3, A. Walker 4, W. Tate 5, F. Newton 6, H. C. Walters (conductor), A. Heckingbottom 8.

Barrett (first quarter-peal of Major 'inside') 4, E. B. Hartley 5, E. H. Kilby 6, F. Barrett 7, H. Kilby (conductor) 8. —For sung Mass on Christmas morning, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Miss M. T. Barrett 1, E. B. Hartley 2, G. M. Kilby (conductor) 3, R. G. Spears 4, F. Wilson 5, H. Kilby 6, E. H. Kilby 7, C. E. Lankester 8.

BURNHAM, RUCKS.—For 6 a.m. celebration, 924 Bob Triples by the local band: Miss S. M. S. Fleming 1, B. O'Neill (first 'inside') 2, R. G. Taylor 3, W. A. Cyster 4, G. W. Limmer (conductor) 5, J. D. Taylor 6, G. Gilbert 7, G. H. Limmer 8.

LINCOLN.—At the Cathedral, for matins on Christmas morning, John Freeman, the sixteen years' old son of Mr. J. A. Freeman, conducted his first quarter peal. It was Stedman Cinques. It was the first quarter-peal on 12 bells by ringers of 2 and 5. J. Freeman 1, G. M. Mayer 2, L. Snell 3, J. Walden 4, J. L. Millhouse 5, C. J. Mayer 6, D. R. White 7, C. Chester 8, J. A. Freeman 9, H. Marcon 10, H. Lowman 11, A. H. A. Marcon 12.

EARLY DISTINCTION.

Distinction has come to Miss Phyllis Tillett, of Ipswich, at an early age. There are many capable lady ringers up and down the land, but few have achieved so much so early in their ringing career. To have rung peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus, to have rung peals of Superlative and Rochester Surprise on twelve bells, to have rung Grandsire and Stedman Cinques and Oxford Treble Bob Maximus, to say nothing of peals in other methods, before the age of 17 years, is something which makes one pause and think. There is no limit to the triumphs of youth. It is true Miss Tillett has been happily placed and has had facilities which few other people, let alone young ladies, have had, but the fact remains that what she has done, especially in the realm of twelve bell ringing, remains unequalled. And now she has been honoured by her own society at St. Mary-le-Tower, by being elected, among a band of veterans, to fill the office of Deputy Master. It is not only a pretty compliment, but a recognition of skill and competence.

There is something in the theory of heredity, in ringing as in other paths of life. It is not always that the son, or daughter, will display the talents of a parent, but there have been notable instances of the family interest and ability in ringing descending from generation to generation. This handing on of talent in ringing finds no better example than in the Tillett family. There are three generations of the same name holding office to-day at St. Mary-le-Tower. But more than that, through the maternal side, there is a direct line back to John Naunton, of Ipswich, who was ringing peals a hundred and twenty-five years ago, so that Miss Phyllis Tillett is at least the sixth successive generation of the family to engage in our art.

Such things as this are of more than passing note. They are of the kind that has made ringing history full of interest. There is the same thread of tradition running through a family in this case, as is to be found in the 'pedigree' of a foundry like that at Whitechapel, which can be traced back to 1570; or like that of Loughborough, which, wandering over the country, carries us back two hundred years. In the case of the founders, the craft of bell casting, tuning and hanging has come down through the years bringing with it the accumulated knowledge of time, with its marked expansion in the methods applied in the last half century. So, too, in the art of ringing. The accumulated knowledge of the art has come down through six generations, at least, of the Tillett family; opportunities and facilities have increased with each succeeding generation until a girl of sixteen has surpassed in achievement even the wildest dreams of her distant ancestors; and, still on the threshold of what we may hope will be a long and active life in ringing, what advances may she not see in the art? Phyllis Tillet has already added to history; we hope that as the years pass she will continue to uphold the family tradition and add to the honourable achievements attached to the name.

FOR BEGINNERS.

MASTER YOUR BELL FIRST.

Not until a beginner has thoroughly mastered the handling of his bell, so that he has got complete control of it, that is, can put it in its proper place after the bell he is following, so that he keeps the rhythm, and is able to set it either at handstroke or backstroke immediately on command, should he attempt method ringing. Many a young ringer has been spoilt—as a striker—by being allowed to try change ringing before he could properly control his bell. If he cannot put it into its proper place in rounds, where he pulls after the same bell all the time, at exactly the same interval, he certainly cannot 'place' his bell when he is not only striking after a different bell each time, but has to vary his own stroke by holding up or cutting down.

Therefore, if your instructor does not put you on to change ringing as quickly as you think he ought to, it may be that you are not accurate enough in your round ringing. If, before you can strike properly in rounds, you try to take a bell in changes, you will probably get into a slovenly style, and almost certainly develop defects in handling which will grow into a bad habit.

Constant practice will give you confidence. When you begin ringing you cannot, with successful results, try to give your attention both to the bell and to the method. The handling of the bell must be automatic before you can hope to do any good with method ringing. You cannot very well concentrate on both at the same time.

But while you are learning to handle your bell, by actual practice, there is no reason why you should not begin to study change ringing in theory. Get one of the many elementary books advertised in 'The Ringing World' and study it. Merely reading it through will not help you much. You want pencil and paper by you when you start, to work out for yourself the examples or illustrations that may be given you.

But first of all it may be just as well to explain here how changes are produced, for this particular article is meant specially for those who are at quite the beginning of their interest in change ringing.

What is aimed at in producing changes is that in every change every bell shall speak once, and that the next time they speak, it is in a different order. Moreover, the order is changed to the greatest extent possible, within certain prescribed limits. No bell moves up or down more than one place at a time, and (except for a covering bell when changes are rung on odd numbers) no bell stops in one place for more than two changes. Subject to this, the object in producing changes is to change as many pairs of bells as possible. If there are five bells, to change two pairs; if there are six, alternately three pairs and two pairs; if seven bells, three pairs each time; and if eight bells, four pairs and three pairs alternately; and so on. Every pair of bells that is changed must be bells in adjoining places, that is 1 and 2, 3 and 4, 5 and 6; or 2 and 3, 4 and 5, etc.

In this article we are not going into the question of method ringing. We have only tried to explain how changes are formed. Would you like to try an experiment for yourselves? Write down the figures 1.2.3.4.5 to represent five bells, and draw a line under them. Underneath write out changes, by changing two pairs at a time in regular succession, first the two front pairs and then the two back pairs, varying it at the 6th, 16th and every succeeding tenth change by changing, instead of the two back pairs, the front pair and the back pair, leaving the bell in the middle where it is, the succeeding change being, of course, a change of the two front pairs. In addition, at the 14th, 34th and 54th change, make a similar variation—change the front pair and the back pair instead of the two back pairs. You should be able to produce 60 changes before you come back again to 1.2.3.4.5, and it will facilitate your work if you put a line under every tenth change. When you have done it, examine the path of the figure 1, which represents the treble, and see how regular it is.

In the meantime, get one or other of the following books for study:—

- 'Ropesight,' from the Jasper Snowdon Series.
- 'The Ringers' Handbook,' by E. S. and M. Powell.
- 'Village Bells,' by the Rev. R. Howes.
- 'Grandsire Doubles and Triples,' by I. Roe and M. Broome.
- 'Change Ringing,' by C. A. W. Troyte.

SEDBERGH'S PROUD RECORD

Sedbergh, in Yorkshire, can rival Bridlington Priory in the aggregate length of ringers' service. Bridlington's nine ringers can total approximately 200 years. Sedbergh's eight have an aggregate of 240 years, while with the addition of one other veteran, who gives assistance when required, the total is raised to 260 years!

The bells were put in in 1897, when Mr. G. F. Woodhouse got a band together, two of whom, Messrs. T. Sisson and E. Pennington, are still active members of the company. The 'extra' man referred to above, Mr. R. Atkinson, also joined at the same time. Messrs. J. W. Pennington and H. Haresnope began in 1900, J. Smith in 1906, H. Dawson in 1917, and Miss N. Harrison in 1932.

The average length of service is thus 30 years. Can any tower beat this?

SHEFFIELD LOSES A RINGER.DEATH OF MR. T. O'HARA.

The Sheffield ringers regret to record the loss, by death, of Mr. Tom O'Hara, for several years past a member of the St. Marie's Society. Mr. O'Hara commenced his ringing at St. Francis' Church, Holbeck, Leeds, under the tutelage of the late Mr. Robert Binns, and came to Sheffield about 1905, when he joined the St. Marie's Company, Norfolk Row.

On the break up of the company, owing to the Great War, he remained a free lance, visiting different towers and taking part in many peals round about Sheffield, on eight, ten and twelve bells, under the auspices of the Yorkshire Association. Possessed of a naive wit, his humour at the various district meetings was always a source of amusement, and he was particularly entertaining when he was exhibiting sleight of hand tricks.

For some time he was associated with the late Mr. Joe Sykes, of Huddersfield, in erecting gas works machinery in various parts of Great Britain, and wherever they were located the pair of them did what they could to further the cause of ringing in what spare time they had.

Mr. O'Hara lost his wife from bronchitis and heart trouble early last December, and probably this loss may have done something to hasten his demise.

He was ringing at St. Marie's on Friday evening, January 3rd, in connection with preliminary details for the broadcast, on Sunday, January 5th, of the service at that church. The following morning he was found unconscious in his home, evidently having had a seizure. He was conveyed to the Royal Hospital, but in spite of every skill and attention he never regained consciousness, and died on Sunday, January 5th, in his 70th year.

He was borne to his grave in Abbey Lane Cemetery on Thursday, January 9th, by workmates, and the family mourners were followed by a representative number of ringing friends. The customary honours of a course of Grandsire Triples were accorded at the graveside by four of his old colleagues, and the tower bells were also rung at night by various bands as a tribute of respect. A son remains to mourn his loss.

On Sunday, January 12th, before evening service, at St. Marie's Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung as a tribute of respect: M. E. Wilson (Cathedral) 1, G. Holmes (St. Marie's) 2, F. Ward (Cathedral) 3, H. Thorpe (Cathedral) 4, R. Harrison (St. Marie's) 5, G. Lewis, conductor (St. Marie's) 6, R. Harrison, jun. (St. Marie's) 7, H. Hurst (St. Marie's) 8.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DISTRICT MAKE A GOOD START IN NEW YEAR.

A most successful meeting of the Eastern District took place on Saturday, January 4th, at Houghton-le-Spring, ringers being present from Darlington, Middlesbrough, Whickham, Blaydon, Chester-le-Street, Sunderland, Jarrow, West Hartlepool and Durham. The Rector visited the belfry during the afternoon and gave the ringers a very hearty welcome.

A short meeting was held after tea, Mr. R. L. Patterson presiding.

After the loyal toast, the Chairman said he was very pleased to see such a representative gathering, and welcomed ringers from other districts. He hoped this, the first meeting of the year, was a good augury for the coming meetings—it was a pleasure to see such a good meeting—and he hoped that ringers would support the district meetings during the year.

Mr. Pickering proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for use of the bells, and this was carried with acclamation.

It was proposed that the next meeting be held at Gateshead in March. The date will be published in 'The Ringing World.'

Further ringing afterwards took place, the methods including Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Double Norwich, the bells being brought down in peal at 7.30 p.m. It was a very happy gathering, and the learners were quite enthusiastic at this, their first meeting, all getting a good share at the bells. All those present are looking forward to the next meeting; others are asked to remember Gateshead in March and to watch 'The Ringing World' for the date.

RINGING IN WEST CORNWALL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With regard to the paragraph in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' headed 'West Cornwall Ringers Busy,' and signed A. S. R., I write to inform you that until the annual meeting, when our term of office expires, the Master of the Truro Diocesan Guild is Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram, of Pengwedhen, Helford, and that I myself am the general secretary.

It would, perhaps, be wiser, therefore, for visitors to Cornwall to disregard, for the present, A. S. R.'s advice and communicate with one of us, as by reason of our official positions we are both well acquainted with the activities of ringing throughout the whole of the county.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A notice of the annual meeting of the Chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild says 'important business with regard to the Cathedral bells is on the agenda.' Is this the first 'whisper' of a coming augmentation? And will Chester have the next ring of twelve? At present there is a heavy ring of eight.

The parishioners of St. Clement's, Jersey, C.I., last week accepted the offer of Elizabeth, Lady Knott, to provide a carillon of 17 bells for the Parish Church tower, in memory of the late Sir James Knott. The specification provides for a bass bell of 7½ cwt. in A sharp.

Mr. George Grills, hon. secretary of the First Jersey Guild of Handbell Ringers, informs us that this will be the third chime in Jersey, the others being at St. Mark's, six bells, and St. Matthew's, eight bells. St. Thomas' Church (R.C.) has five bells hung for swinging in Continental style. 'We deplore the fact that we are still without a ringing peal of bells in Jersey,' he says, 'but while we live, we hope.'

In connection with the annual meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths on January 25th, Shoreditch bells (12) will be open for ringing at 2.30 p.m. It was hoped that St. Bride's, Fleet Street, would also be available, but, unfortunately, unforeseen circumstances prevent this.

A peal of Grandsire Doubles at Little Horkesley, on the last day of the year, was rung by a band, four of whom had not rung a peal before, while the other ringer rang his first as conductor. The peal was scored at the first attempt—a meritorious performance.

By the peal of Grandsire Caters, at Worsley, where recently the bells were augmented to ten, Messrs. William Jones and Joseph Ridyard celebrated 25 years as ringers, and Mr. P. H. Derbyshire 40 years as a ringer. It was also a birthday peal for the last-named, his 'brother strings' wishing him many happy returns. It was his first peal on the bells since the old ring of eight was recast and two trebles added by Taylor and Co. They were dedicated on Saturday, October 19th. Further interest is added to the performance by the fact that it was the first peal of Caters by all except the conductor.

Mr. Tom O'Hara, of Sheffield, whose death is recorded in another column, was proud of the fact that his was the first name printed in 'The Ringing World.' He was the ringer of the treble in the first peal that was recorded in the first issue.

Two items of news from New Zealand. At Christchurch Cathedral progress is held up for a time by the absence of three of the band—one gone to North Island, one to the extreme end of South Island and the other to Dunedin. It is not easy to replace ringers in this part of the world.

'It's an ill wind that blows nobody good,' and we hear that the visit of the Christchurch ringer to Dunedin has enabled the handbell practice of Bob Major to be taken up. Mr. J. S. Wilde and two others have for some time been meeting weekly, and can now ring 720's in six methods fairly well.

The ring of eight of Coscley Church, Staffs, is to be recast and rehanging in a new frame by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. At present the bells are a very poor toned peal, and it will be a great acquisition to the district for this to be transformed into a musical and pleasing ring.

The venue of the meeting of the Western District of the Hartford County Association, fixed for Apsley on January 25th, has had to be changed to Redbourn.

DEATH OF THE REV. C. A. CLEMENTS.

MASTER OF THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A brief intimation has just reached us of the death of the Rev. Charles A. Clements, Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild and one of its representatives on the Central Council since 1927.

He had been a member of Cambridge University Guild since 1887 and took part in many interesting performances with that society. He went to Cambridge in 1887, in the same year as the brothers E. B. and H. L. James and Herbert Drake, and rang the tenors to the Guild's first peal of Bob Major 'in hand' in November, 1890. In the following February, with the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey and E. B. and H. L. James, he took part in the first peal of Double Norwich Major ever rung on handbells.

Having entered Holy Orders, he rang in 1894 in the first peal of Grandsire Triples for the Guild, at Sawston, Cambs, and it is interesting to note that in that band were G. F. Woodhouse, the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (then an undergraduate) and W. J. Conybeare (now Archdeacon of Nottingham). This was also the first peal rung by the Guild on tower bells. He also took part at Darlington in 1908 in a peal of Kent Treble Bob rung by clerical members of the Guild, and the names of this band are worth recalling. They were the Revs. H. Law James, H. S. T. Richardson, A. H. F. Boughey, E. W. Carpenter, H. J. Elsee, C. A. Clements, W. W. C. Baker and C. W. O. Jenkyn, every one of whom has occupied some prominent position in the Exercise and all of whom have served or are serving on the Central Council. The same day, with the exception of the Rev. T. Lewis Jones in the place of the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, the same band rang a peal of Bob Major at Bishop Auckland.

In more recent times Mr. Clements has been unable to take much part in peal ringing, but he kept his connection with the art through his office in the Chester Diocesan Guild.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

BISHOP MEETS MEMBERS AT ANNUAL DINNER.

President of the Central Council and Peal Ringing.

One of the most enjoyable in the series of dinners which have been held by the Guildford Diocesan Guild took place at the Lion Hotel, Guildford, on Saturday. If the number attending was not quite so large as in the previous year—88 were present representative of all the four districts—the evening was an extremely pleasant one. The Bishop, who is president of the Guild, met the members for the first time, and, having greeted each one of the company as they entered the dining hall, presided over the proceedings. He was supported by the Provost (Very Rev. E. C. Kirwan) and Mr. Walter Harrison (vice-presidents), Canon G. F. Coleridge (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Canon E. M. Gilling (Farnham), the Rev. Bankes-Jones (Bagshot), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master of the Guild), Capt. H. J. Cann, and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes. Among those also present were Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer) and Mrs. Corbett, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary), Mr. F. W. Rogers (hon. secretary, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Messrs. A. T. Greenwood, T. E. Taylor and Robertson (Portsmouth), J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), H. E. Anderson (Croydon), M. R. Taylor (Hobart, Tasmania), etc. A telegram of good wishes was received from Mr. John Pelloe (son of the Rector of Chiddingfold), who is a member of the Guild.

After the repast, the loyal toast was honoured.

Our President was proposed by Mr. Walter Harrison, who reminded the assembly of the Bishop's record of achievement during his first year as diocesan of visiting 107 parishes in the diocese.

THE MINISTRY OF BELLRINGING.

Responding, the Bishop said he was reminded of a picture that appeared in 'Punch' at the end of the war of a Somerset lad who was in a French village which had recently been in the occupation of the Germans. He was mooning about the village and came across a notice in German, 'Zum understandeu,' which meant 'This way to the dug-out.' Not being a German scholar, the Somerset lad scratched his head and remarked, 'Zum understand and zum don't' (laughter). When it came to bellringing, he (the Bishop) was halfway between the position of 'Zum understand and zum don't.' He could not pretend he understood the mysteries and perplexities of change ringing. He had been talking with the Mayor and Provost about detective stories, and one of the most delightful he had read concerned bellringing—'The Nino Tailors.' In it there was a long column of figures which caused him to regard them with very great respect, for he must say, like the Somerset lad, 'Zum I don't understand.'

There was another side of ringing which he did claim to understand, and that was the very important character of the service which was rendered by bellringers. The sound of church bells was one of those things which touched a variety of simple human chords. That sentiment was embodied in Tennyson's famous quotation of the sound of the bells over the Lincolnshire wolds. 'You and I,' said Dr. Macmillan, 'have different kinds of ministries in the service of the Church. Yours is a ministry which may in some unconscious way mean a very great help to people when they need that help, and I think you can silently apply it to yourself.'

The Bishop expressed his pride at being president of the Guild, and appealed to the older and stronger branches in the diocese to make a great effort to hold out the great hand of fellowship to those who were doing the work in the smaller parishes and try and make the Guild cover the whole diocese. He was constantly grateful to the sound of the church bells, and he loved to come up their High Street in Guildford and hear the two peals ring (applause).

IMPORTANCE OF PEALS.

The toast of 'The Guildford Diocesan Guild' was submitted by Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council of Church Bellringers), who congratulated the Guildford Guild on its progress. They were one of the youngest of the diocesan guilds and a very fine child for their age (applause). He was told that the Guild covered 70 per cent. of the possible towers, which was very satisfactory. It was a much higher percentage than that covered by the Kent Association, although they were something like six times as old. At the same time he felt they should be 100 per cent. and rope in every tower in the diocese.

He understood there was one thing which was hindering their Guild and that was the difficulty of getting towers in which to ring peals. He did not want to advocate competition in the number of peals, but in the quality of peals. It was a little difficult to explain to incumbents why they wanted to ring peals. There was something about ringing a peal which taught a ringer to strike and handle his bell in a way which he did not think anything else could do. The ordinary short touch scarcely gave time to get used to the bell before it was all over. It was only after a quarter-peal that a ringer could settle down and polish up his ringing and the finer points of striking at which they all ought to aim.

Amid laughter, Mr. Lewis drew an analogy between ringing and rowing. He reminded the two Oxford men on his left (the Bishop and Canon Coleridge) that Cambridge's success was due to the fact that before they left Cambridge they had a ten mile pull every day for a fortnight. The long pull saturated the crew with the rhythm of rowing, and that was the same with peal ringing.

There were some people who objected to bells, but on the whole they were a very small minority. There were people to whom the sound of bells was a positive torture—about the same proportion of people who could not stay in a room with a cat or to whom strawberries were poison. He was sure the vast majority of people in this country loved bells, provided the striking was good.

There were circumstances where the sound of bells wanted to be kept out, and that could be done with little expense. The sound of bells, particularly the modern harmonic tuning, sometimes required some modification. The idea was that the sound should be thrown upwards and not downwards, so that it stretched around the town and not in the immediate vicinity of the tower. The most famous example was Lincoln Cathedral, where Mr. Law James arranged for the bells to be dropped 40ft. so that they could hardly be heard in the Close, but could be heard in the town. At the new church at Chislehurst, acting on the advice of Canon Coleridge, they arranged to have no opening in the side of the tower, but in the roof. He listened outside, and it was possible to carry on an ordinary conversation. One had to go a quarter or half a mile away to get the full beauty of the bells. Where bells were noisy outside some steps should be taken to modify the sound by blocking up with 4in. brickwork a part of the inside of the louvres. They wanted to experiment with the bells while bricking up the louvres to find the right height.

MANY RESTORATIONS.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who replied, said as far as the Guild was concerned they might say they had a successful year. He could say they were a happy family and got on remarkably well together. One of the things which pointed to the success of the Guild was the increasing number of bell restorations in the diocese. They had in their Master (Major Hesse) one of the most expert people in regard to bell engineering and bell hanging they could find in the country, and he only wished his services were more frequently called upon in the diocese. However, he had done some excellent work, and they hoped he would do more. During the past twelve months there had been six restorations. There was the recasting of Albury bells, restorations at Witley, Ewell and Dorking and the recasting of the bells at Ockham. He believed the bells at Shalford were to be recast from a peal of six to a peal of eight. That was an exceedingly good record for a diocese like theirs. Restorations were contemplated at Horsell, Ash and Croydon.

It was a pity that the number of peals they rang in the diocese last year was only 27, of which 25 were on tower bells. Of that number, 11 were rung during Jubilee week. Last year there were 27 peals rung without the incentive of the Jubilee. There had been a gradual drop in the number of peals since 1931, when they rang no fewer than 55 peals. Out of 26 eight-bell towers peals were rung in only eight towers, while out of 29 six-bell towers there was only seven where a peal was permitted. Peals were not the only thing that mattered, but it was no question that peal ringing meant good service ringing. Another thing the Guild had done was to start a benevolent fund for those members who might fall on evil times. That was a great step forward and showed an excellent spirit. They had still a number of towers outside the Guild, and they would welcome those ringers if they would come in. The only way was for the clergy and the Church authorities to take up the cudgels and induce the ringers to join, even if the Church authorities paid the subscription.

Major J. H. B. Hesse extended a cordial invitation to 'The Visitors,' especially the Mayor of Guildford, and expressed the hope that he would find time during his year of office to visit one or both of the Guildford towers (applause). He could not regard Canon Coleridge as a visitor. He had known him for 34 years and rung peals with him. Major Hesse also mentioned Mr. Lewis, Mr. F. W. Rogers and Mr. M. Taylor, from Tasmania.

The Mayor of Guildford, who replied, confessed to being one of those who did not understand the mysteries of bellringing. He was absolutely devoted to the sound of English church bells. Change ringing was a definitely English thing which only Englishmen had practised. The sound of English church bells was a sound which only the ears of an Englishman could appreciate. He always felt the B.B.C. did well to choose that beautiful gramophone record of Bow bells to signify the interval period in the programme. Most of them, although they started to criticise, had got to love that more than any other interval signal.

'ABSOLUTE PERFECTION.'

All of them in life found at one time or another some moments in their lives which reached absolute perfection. One such moment occurred to him in November, 1928, immediately after the death of Queen Alexandra, when he was walking along the North Downs to Shere. As he was descending in the half-misty dusk into Shere village the bells were ringing a half-muffled peal in honour of Queen Alexandra, and that cameo of life for those ten minutes he would never forget. It was one of the moments of absolute perfection that he had experienced (applause).

The entertainment was very happily chosen. There was community singing to accompaniments played by Mr. H. Cyphus, and handbell solos of great beauty and charm by Mrs. A. A. Hughes. Songs were sung by Mr. H. Platt and touches were rung on handbells. The surprise of the evening was the first public exhibition of a new 'ringing machine,' presented by the hon. secretary, which successfully rang a course of Grandsire Triples with no little merit. To the uninitiated the eight performers gave a very realistic demonstration of the art of change ringing.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held on Saturday, January 4th, at the Tamworth Arms, Moor Street, Mr. Vice-President J. H. Shepherd being in the chair, owing to the absence of the Master (Alderman J. S. Pritchett) through illness.

The Chairman referred to the loss the Guild had sustained by the death of Mr. Harry Mason. He had personally known him for 45 years, and could testify to his charming personality. He asked all to stand for a moment as a mark of respect.

An apology was read from the Ringing Master (Mr. F. E. Haynes), who was that day attending the wedding of Mr. W. H. J. Hooton and Miss Lewis.

Mr. W. C. Dowding referred to the William Pye Memorial, and proposed that one guinea be subscribed from the funds of the Guild.—This was seconded by Mr. J. George and carried.

It was decided to purchase a copy of Mr. Ernest Morris' latest book, 'Legends of the Bells,' for inclusion in the Guild's library.

The president and vice-presidents of the Guild were re-elected en bloc.

Mr. W. Davies proposed the election of the Rev. H. McGowan, Vicar of Aston, as a vice-president, and, in doing so, referred to the enthusiastic way the Vicar had worked, often against much opposition, in order to get the new peal of twelve at Aston.—The motion was seconded by Mr. G. Swann.—Mr. Councillor Paddon Smith, in supporting the resolution, said that now the Guild had two peals of twelve for headquarters it was only fitting that the Vicar of Aston should be a vice-president.—The resolution was unanimously adopted.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE MASTER.

The secretary read a letter he had received from the Master, in which he referred to his advancing years and ill-health, and for that reason placed his resignation in their hands. They all regretted the absence of the alderman from that meeting, and wished him a speedy recovery. He was also sure he was expressing their wishes when he said they desired him to again accept the office of Master of the Guild, and he, therefore, had much pleasure in proposing his re-election.—This was seconded by Councillor Paddon Smith and carried unanimously. The secretary was also instructed to convey the congratulations and best wishes of the meeting to the alderman on attaining his 81st anniversary.

The Ringing Master, Mr. F. E. Haynes, M.A.; the trustees, Messrs. Tom Russam and A. Paddon Smith; auditors, Messrs. Jonathan Preston and E. T. Allaway; librarian, Mr. G. F. Swann, were all unanimously re-elected on the proposition of Mr. H. Withers, seconded by Mr. J. George.

The hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. H. Reeves, was also re-elected on the proposition of Mr. W. C. Dowding, seconded by Mr. A. Walker.

The treasurer presented the annual balance sheet and reported an increased balance in hand of £3. The auditors having given their report, the balance sheet was unanimously adopted.

Two new members were elected—Messrs. J. Gibson, of Erdington, and P. C. Honeybourne, of Sutton Coldfield.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Edgbaston and the bi-quarterly at Perry Barr.

HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

The secretary reported that he had booked the Connaught Room at the Imperial Hotel for Saturday, February 29th, and it was unanimously agreed to invite the Rector of St. Martin's, Canon T. Guy Rogers, to preside.

This concluded the business, and the meeting then resolved itself into a very pleasant social gathering. This was the first meeting held at the Tamworth Arms since the Great War, and several of the older members of the Guild became very reminiscent of the former gatherings which had taken place in that room.

Several good touches were rung on the handbells as well as tunes, accompanied by Mr. Albert Walker at the piano. Mr. Harry Withers enlivened the evening with several songs, including the famous 'Bob Major.'

IPSWICH SOCIETY'S BUSY YEAR.

116,000 CHANGES RUNG AT ST. MARY-LE-TOWER CHURCH.

At the annual meeting of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, held on Tuesday, January 7th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Master, John F. Tillett; Deputy Master, Phyllis E. Tillett; steeplekeeper, Frederick J. Tillett; auditors, Robert H. Brundle and William F. Garrett; secretary, George E. Symonds. This is the first time a lady has been elected an officer of this society. The Tilletts represent three generations.

In his report for the year 1935, the secretary stated there was an increase in the number of changes rung, over those of 1934.

Six peals were rung, viz., two of Stedman Cinques and four of Maximus, viz., Cambridge (2), Superlative (1), Rochester (1). The conductors were G. E. Symonds (3), C. J. Sedgley (1), W. J. G. Brown (1) and W. H. Hewitt (1). These were the only Surprise Maximus peals rung during 1935.

The changes rung included:—

	Changes

DEVIZES BRANCH DOING WELL.

The annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held in Devizes on Saturday. The bells of all three churches were available, and ringing continued until 9 o'clock with the usual break for service and meeting.

Representatives attended from Devizes (St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James'), All Cannings, Bishop's Cannings, Bratton, Bromham, Bath, Chilton, Holt, Hindon, Keinton Mandeville, Longbridge Deverill, Melksham, Market Lavington, North Bradley, Nailsea, Bristol, Potterne, Rowde, Seend, Swindon, Trowbridge, Radbourne Cheney, Westbury and Warminster.

The service was held in St. John's Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. H. T. Clarke).

Tea was prepared in the Parish Room, to which 86 sat down.

The annual business meeting followed, Mr. E. F. White (branch chairman) presiding. Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. R. H. Gundry (Master of the Guild), the Rev. H. E. Tilney Bassett (Past Master), the Rev. C. R. Cottell, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (vice-president) and Mr. A. Taylor (hon. secretary, Marlborough Branch).

The Chairman gave a brief summary of the year's work and thanked those who had assisted him.

The Secretary reported an increase in the balance in hand, and in his report of the year stated all was satisfactory, the membership being just above that of the previous year. Sunday service ringing was good throughout the branch, and the standard of change ringing had slightly increased.

The officers for the year 1936 were elected as follows: Chairman, Mr. E. F. White (Warminster), vice-chairman, Mr. T. B. Holloway (Westbury); hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. C. West (Melksham); Ringing Masters, Mr. S. Hillier (Devizes) and Mr. J. Francis (Trowbridge); committee, Mr. C. F. Andrews and Mr. F. Green.

Six new ringing members were elected, and the Rev. A. Swann, Vicar of Potterne, as an hon. member.

The places suggested for the next three meetings were North Bradley, Potterne and Melksham.

The methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise.

THE NORTH WEALD APPEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to the appeal in your paper for assistance in rehanging the bells of St. Andrew's, North Weald, Essex and tower repair fund, I do earnestly solicit the help of friends in the Exercise on their behalf.

The parish is a small one, and £450 is a large amount to raise. They have a band, 20 strong—a large one for a six-bell tower—belonging to the Essex Association, so if any friends could help them in their time of need I am sure it will be greatly appreciated.

FUN AND FROLICS AT HESTON.

SUCCESSFUL MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION FUNCTION.

The fourth annual 'do' of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association was held on the first Saturday of the New Year—and a very good start for the year, too.

Ringing, naturally, commenced the proceedings. The six bells at Norwood Green, under the direction of Deputy Master W. H. Coles, and the octave at Heston, with Ringing Master G. M. Kilby in charge, had the full attention of many ringers during the afternoon. We hear 'surprising' things were done with some Minor—splicing and all that—now really, Bill, what would Jim Hunt say about it? It was a festive occasion and, shall we say, privileged?

Round about 6 o'clock the Village Hall became the scene of much activity. How nice it is to watch ringers meeting old friends, and—can ringers talk? There appeared to be the greatest reluctance to gather round the 'festive board' until the stentorian voice of the head waiter, an old friend, too, sent everyone scurrying to their seats!

The happy party of nearly eighty sat down to an enjoyable supper, under the chairmanship of the Vicar of Heston, the Rev. G. Craggs. He was supported by the vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope), the Ringing Master, Deputy Ringing Master, hon. treasurer and Mrs. Collins, and the hon. secretary and Mrs. Goodfellow. Many well-known ringers were present, including Messrs. E. C. S. Turner, J. Bennett, H. Kilby, W. Williams, J. H. Riding, F. Corke, J. Herbert and Mrs. Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Elson, etc. Ten lady ringers were present (without the harmony being disturbed!), and numerous wives and girl friends were there to see fair play. The president (the Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane) was delayed by car trouble, and was only able to pay a short, but none the less welcome, visit later in the evening. Apologies for absence were received from the Vicars of Brentford, Ealing and Isleworth, Messrs. C. T. Coles and W. H. Hollier.

At the conclusion of the supper, the loyal toast was duly honoured. The Vicar of Heston, whose presence was required at the old people's party, also being held that evening, gave the association a hearty welcome to Heston before leaving. Heston, he said, is now a very different place to what it was years ago. Then they had green fields, orchards and nurseries. Two of the things he liked best in Heston were the beautiful old church and the bells (applause). He thought the bells played a very large part in the life of Heston, and he heard very few complaints from people who objected to the ringing. Someone told him only the other day that he had had a letter from a friend in Canada, who would give anything to hear Heston bells again. Continuing, the Vicar said he was very grateful to the ringers for ringing the bells. It appeared to him that there was a very great problem confronting young people in these days of comparatively short hours of work, and that was what to do with their leisure. What better could they do than take up the fascinating art of change ringing? He was always pleased to do what he could for the ringers and their ringing.

The vice-president thanked the Supper Committee, Messrs. Chandler, Gladman and Goodfellow, for their labours, and was supported vociferously from all parts of the room.

The tables having been removed, the remainder of the evening was devoted to a social programme, which catered with apparent success for both young and old. Joe Herbert and Miss K. M. Bradford led the way with some rousing choruses to put everyone in good spirit. Double musical chairs followed with a prize for the winners. A very fine course of Grandsire Caters was rung by Miss F. Humphrey, Messrs. Kilby, Trollope, Turner and W. Williams, and received the applause it deserved.

Miss K. M. Bradford, who was frequently at the piano, was joined by her sister, and their duets on that instrument gave great delight to the many appreciative critics in the audience. Honorary members actively interested in the association are not often found figuring in a programme of this sort, and a genuine surprise item followed when Mr. F. Stamp, of Brentford, demonstrated some clever conjuring tricks. The Vicar, with his usual thoughtfulness, sent over two turns that appeared at the old people's party. Mr. S. Haywood, mouth organ soloist and champion of Great Britain, 1919-27, displayed his versatility over a range of nearly a dozen instruments of all shapes and sizes. 'Dr. Brown's' whirlwind entrance, performance and exit gave great amusement. His market place oratory—'since taking 987 boxes of your pills, I now have ball bearings in every joint'—threatened to have a serious effect on those whose laughter was becoming uncontrollable! As the two persistent amateurs sang later, 'You can't do that there 'ere!'

And so the evening passed. Games and dancing were very popular. Rugby enthusiasts had a treat when the male members played handball with a balloon (or balloons!). There were scrums, rushes, fouls and injuries as well! A real good 'rough house.' The ladies were more genteel, but not much! 'Auld Lang Syne,' with the company joining hands in the time-honoured fashion, concluded a most successful evening.

BRANSTON, Lincs.—At All Saints' Church, on November 1st, 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor: Moses B. Billings (first 720 as conductor) 1, Walter Tomlinson 2, Joseph Canham (first 720 of Cambridge) 3, Kenneth W. Mayer 4, Jack L. Millhouse 5, John Walden 6. Rung for the patronal festival.

PRETTY CEREMONY AT BRASTED.

There were picturesque and animated scenes at Brasted, Kent, on Saturday week, when, as already briefly reported in these columns, Miss Dilys Mary Lewis, daughter of the president of the Central Council, and Mrs. E. H. Lewis, was married to Mr. Wilfred Henry John Hooton, M.C., eldest son of the Rev. H. G. Hooton and Mrs. Hooton, of Cambridge, headmaster of Lindley College Preparatory School, Leicestershire, and non-resident secretary of the Cambridge University Guild.

The bride is keenly interested in horticulture, and passed through Swanley College, securing her B.Sc. London (Hort.). She also serves on the Community Council of Kent, and at one time was a follower of the Bolebroke Beagles.

A large congregation, including some 200 guests, filled St. Martin's Church, the company including many well-known ringers.

The service was conducted by the bride's uncle, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (Rector of St. Nicholas', Hereford), and the Rev. E. V. E. Bryan (Rector of Brasted). The bridegroom's father, who was to have officiated, was unable to be present owing to illness.

A large crowd gathered at the picturesque old church to witness the ceremony, and the bride, with her three attendants, made a charming picture in such delightful surroundings.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and she wore her great-grandmother's beautiful Irish lace wedding dress, set over a gown of pale, gold tissue. She wore a brooch set with sapphires and pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a sheaf of auratum lilies.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Agatha and Barbara Lewis (sisters of the bride) and Miss Margaret Hooton (sister of the bridegroom). They carried sheafs of mimosa and daffodils. Their silver hand-made brooches studded with jewels were the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Martin Hooton (bridegroom's brother) was best man.

The church was beautifully decorated with yellow flowers and evergreens, and the hymns, 'God be in my head,' 'All people that on earth do dwell' and St. Patrick's hymn were sung. Mr. Miller was at the organ.

The groomsmen were Mr. D. Thursfield and Mr. H. St. G. Hooton.

The reception was held at Moorcocks, when nearly 200 guests were present, and later the bride and bridegroom left for a motoring tour in Wales.

The bride and bridegroom are to reside at Lindley Lodge, Higham-on-the-Hill, Leicestershire.

A peal, recorded in another column, was rung at Brasted in the afternoon by members of the Cambridge University Guild, and the bells at Westerham and Sevenoaks Parish Churches were also rung in honour of the event.

RINGERS' WEDDINGS.
A FAMILY OF RINGERS.

At St. Peter's Church, Twineham, Sussex, on Boxing Day, the wedding took place of Mr. Ernest Frank Packham and Miss Muriel Maud Sayers. The bridegroom is a member of the local band of ringers, and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung in honour of the marriage: George Albert Packham, jun. (conductor) (brother of bridegroom) 1, Frederick Charles Packham (brother of bridegroom) 2, Charles Wickens 3, Ernest Willey 4, William Harry Packham (brother of bridegroom) 5. Mr. W. Packham, who resides at Twyford, near Forest Row, had done no ringing for several years, but had not forgotten it. Mr. George Packham, sen. (father of bridegroom and captain of ringers), is vergar at the church.

On Sunday, December 22nd, at St. Mary's Church, Kingswinford, Staffs, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: C. Skidmore (conductor) 1, J. Bass 2, J. Lloyd 3, W. Masters 4, J. Pagett 5, H. V. Cooper 7, E. Myles (first quarter-peal) 8. Rung immediately after the marriage at this church of Mr. Bernard Lawton, a member of the Brierley Hill band and a former member of the Kingswinford band.

THE RINGERS' DIRECTORY.

NEW EDITION PUBLISHED.

The fourth edition of the Directory of Church Bellringers, published by the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, is now on sale. It has outgrown its predecessors very considerably, and now mounts up to more than 170 pages of information. It contains the names and addresses of more than 1,600 ringers, and information in respect of approximately 3,750 towers, the particulars in respect to more than 750, including the number of bells, tenor weights, times of Sunday ringing and practice nights.

The officials of all the associations and guilds are given, and a valuable section is one containing hints for young conductors, written by Mr. J. T. Dyke.

The Directory is a most useful work of reference, which every ringer should possess. It increases in scope and value with every edition, and the Exercise owes a debt of gratitude to those hard-working members of the Directory Sub-Committee who have so painstakingly compiled the information.

The committee, in the preface, remark that 'the work already accomplished can be the sound basis of a yet more complete and accurate reference book,' and this is quite true. Its future depends on the support which the ringers themselves give it, but in the meantime the fourth edition is a wonderful shilling's worth. Before it is entirely sold out, those who have not already secured a copy should forward their shilling to the hon. secretary, Mr. Edgar Guise, 46a, Tankard's Close, St. Michael's, Bristol.

INJURED BY BELL CLAPPER.

£1,200 DAMAGES FOR BOY.

An action of some importance to Church authorities was decided in the King's Bench Division on Monday, when Mr. Justice Hilbery awarded £1,200 damages to a boy, Charles Edward King, of Broadstairs, now aged ten years, for injuries sustained when the clapper of a bell at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Broadstairs, fell and severely damaged his skull. The only question for the Court was the amount of damages, liability being admitted. The boy's father, Charles Edward King, was awarded £24 agreed special damages.

The defendants were Dr. P. E. Amigo, Bishop of Southwark, and other trustees of St. Peter's Church, the Rev. Martin de Vidts, priest-in-charge at the time, and Messrs. James Longley and Co., Ltd., of Crawley, who hung the bell in 1931.

Mr. Charles Doughty, K.C., for the plaintiffs, said that in July, 1934, the boy was ringing the bell at the church, of which his parents were members, when the clapper fell from the bell. It dropped a great height and struck the boy on the top of the head.

'It was remarkable that he was not killed,' said counsel, 'His skull was broken and crushed in.' He lay unconscious for a considerable time before he was missed. He was then found near the rope which he had been pulling. The damaged bone was removed and later the boy was fitted with a skull cap in which was an aluminium plate covering the injured place. He would have to wear something of the kind all his life. The accident had seriously affected the boy's health.

Giving judgment, Mr. Justice Hilbery said the boy, knowing that the top of his skull was not complete, would be apprehensive of injury for the rest of his life.

THE PASSING OF OUR KING.

To-day the whole Empire is mourning the death of its Sovereign, and sorrow at the passing of our King is profound throughout the civilised world. We, who are members of the British Commonwealth of nations, have lost not only the head of the State, but, so deeply had His Majesty endeared himself to the hearts of his people, there are few who do not also feel that we have lost the head of what His Majesty himself so aptly described as 'this great family.' There is among us to-day a sense almost of personal bereavement and those who on Christmas Day heard, perhaps, with a thrill, the King's voice in their own homes calling them his 'very dear friends,' experienced the pangs of deep sorrow when through the same medium of wireless on Monday night they learned the fateful tidings of the passing of a very human monarch, a great king and a great man. In all humility we add our contribution to the expressions of grief that have swelled over the world and our respectful condolence with Her Majesty the Queen and the members of the Royal Family.

Already throughout the country the bells in our church towers, which but a few short months ago were joyfully pealing for the King's Silver Jubilee, have been sounding in muffled notes for the passing of His Majesty. The tolling of the great bell of St. Paul's Cathedral on Tuesday morning, according to age-old custom, marked the beginning of the solemn tribute of the bells in every town and village, where once more they are the interpreters of the feelings of the people. There is, we venture to say, no greater national expression of sorrow than the sound of muffled bells, spreading out over the land from the churches—the spiritual home of the people—which at such a time as this has, to many, a deeper significance than usual. Ringers need no prompting on an occasion like the present. Far and wide throughout this country they have already begun their mournful task, which will be discharged in no perfunctory spirit, but with a sense of responsibility and in the knowledge that, although modern science brought the news of the King's death into the homes of the people within a few minutes of his passing, there still remains to them the duty, handed down through the centuries, of marking the passing of their Sovereign and of expressing, through the bells, the nation's grief.

This is one of the occasions, sad though it is, when the public themselves look for the sound of the bells and nowhere, we feel sure, will they be disappointed. The period for muffled ringing will extend to the day of the funeral, and, for that occasion, special ringing will, we hope, be arranged in every tower. In practically every church, we imagine, there will be a memorial service at the hour of the Royal funeral, and the ringers' tribute to the King should reach its climax at that time, when, as a prelude to those mourning services, muffled bells throughout the land should synchronise in their ringing.

PROTEST TO THE B.B.C.

On Saturday, January 11th, a meeting was held at Hadleigh, Suffolk, when owing to other attractions only 20 ringers, including two visitors from Essex, turned up. However, this number represented 14 different towers, and came from Sudbury, Long Melford, Grotton, Ufford, Little Waldingfield, Mendlesham, Sproughton, Woodbridge, Chelmsford, Springfield, Stoke Ash, and Ipswich (St. Clement's, St. Matthew's and St. Mary-le-Tower). Four lady ringers came from Springfield, St. Matthew's and St. Mary-le-Tower.

The ringing included Bob Major, Superlative, Cambridge, Double Norwich, Stedman, Grandsire Triples and Oxford Treble Bob. Tea was presided over by the Dean of Bocking.

At the subsequent meeting it was decided to write to the B.B.C. protesting against the treatment of ringing for broadcast services. It was suggested that the B.B.C. be asked to appoint a ringer to their staff, whom they could consult when broadcasting from churches where there are change ringers.

The secretary reported that it was hoped to get the reports in the printer's hands early next month.

Good use was made of the fine peal of eight (tenor 28 cwt.) until 7.30.

SHROPSHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

A well-known Shropshire ringer, who was formerly a member of the band at Farnham, Surrey, has passed away in the person of Mr. Frederick Alexander Barnett, of Wem. A native of Kent, Mr. Barnett was formerly head brewer of the Farnham United Breweries. His brother, the late Mr. G. A. Barnett, was captain of the Farnham band in the latter years of last century, and these two did much to lift the Farnham band out of the rut of Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Fred Barnett went to Wem over 20 years ago to take up another appointment, and became leader of the Wem Parish Church ringers and a member of the Parochial Church Council, of which he was secretary for a considerable period. He was also for many years Rector's warden. He was a member of the Shropshire Association and formerly a member of the old Winchester Diocesan Guild.

A SIXTEENTH CENTURY BELL FRAME.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the tower of St. George's Church, Saham Toney, Norfolk, may be seen a wonderful structure of oak beams of great size forming a cage or framework for hanging bells. This remarkable example of craftsmanship in wood was in all probability constructed to hold three heavy bells which are known to have been in existence in the time of Edward VI. (c. 1547). There is good reason to believe it was constructed at the end of the fifteenth century to contain these bells, for the stout and fine tower was built then. The cage has been altered from time to time to suit first five bells and later six. Through the centuries these have been rung to call the villagers to service and mark occasions of public rejoicings, victories, marriages, births and deaths.

The age of bell cages is still something of a mystery. There is reason to believe that others still remain which are as old, but precise evidence of this is not so good in any other case known to the writer. The cage is not now strong enough for its purpose and a new one is being made, and at the same time the parish is repairing the tower. Everyone knows that such works strain the resources of a country parish. The Rector is anxious to preserve the old cage in the tower, and those who have knowledge of bells and bellringing feel that this is very desirable.

In the circumstances the parish cannot raise money to do this. This society, therefore, appeals to your readers to send subscriptions to the Rector for this work. The cost is estimated at £50—a small sum when the importance of the 'cage' is considered. Contributions should be sent to the Rector, the Rev. M. H. Richmond, Saham Toney, Thetford, Norfolk, for this purpose, or to me.

DEATH OF PERRY BARR RINGER.

It is with great regret we have to announce the death of Mr. Charles H. Cook, a ringer at St. John's Church, Perry Barr, and member of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, who passed away on January 9th.

For over 30 years he was most devoted to his duty as a service ringer, regular and punctual in attendance and greatly respected by his fellow-ringers.

His remains were cremated at Perry Barr on Monday, January 13th, and in the evening the bells of St. John's Church were rung half-muffled as a last token of respect by the local ringers and other members of the St. Martin's Guild.

THE DEATH OF KING GEORGE V.

MEETINGS POSTPONED.

A number of meetings arranged for Saturday have been postponed. Those of which intimation was received before going to press are as follows:—

Guildford Diocesan Guild, at Farnham.
Sussex County Association, at Withyham.
Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, at Godshill, Isle of Wight.
Essex Association, at Coggeshall.
Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, at Warmley.
Chester Diocesan Guild, at Chester.
Ely Diocesan Association, at Stapleford.
Peterborough Diocesan Guild, at Woodston.

Other meetings may be postponed too late for notification in these columns, and ringers who propose to attend any meeting on Saturday should first ascertain if it is to be held.

THE MUFFLING OF BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—This week's sad event affords a supreme instance of the practical value of the Central Council's recommendation adopted at Liverpool and made known through your columns to the Exercise.

Naturally all ringing at meetings held on Saturday will be done with muffled bells.

It may also be suggested that, where a tower is without muffles, a set be obtained—or even extemporised—in time for His Late Majesty's funeral.

F. L. L. EDWARDS.

Kington Magna Rectory.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There were many visitors in Bristol for the B.U.R.G. dinner last Saturday, and, as usual, most of them made their headquarters at the Grosvenor Hotel. As, this year, no reports have reached us of furniture removals, we imagine they spent a quiet night—after they got to bed.

The London County Association is promoting a series of elementary twelve-bell ringing practices. The first took place at Bow, and the next is scheduled for Cripplegate. The sole object is to encourage twelve-bell ringing among those who at present have little or no opportunity for practice on this number, and the scheme deserves every support.

At the age of 73 years Mr. F. C. Cooke has just rung his first peal with a bob bell. In 1902 and, next, in 1934 he rang the treble to peals of Grandsire Triples. Now he has scored a peal of Kent Treble Bob on an 'inside' bell at Crayford.

The men of 1,000 peals hope to meet for a peal in the City of London in February, perhaps on the 15th. The 'Bills' hope to ring a peal at Ealing on February 22nd if all goes well, and the bachelors will make an attempt, somewhere in Middlesex, on Leap Year's Day, February 29th, when, we are informed, dear Kate will be asked to act as umpire.

The peal of Suffolk Surprise Major recorded in our last issue was rung at Helmingham, not Framsdon as stated.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, have received the order to rehang the ring of five bells of Longparish Church, Hants. The peal is to be tuned and rehanging with new fittings in new frame and a new treble added to complete the peal of six.

The bells of the Wigan Parish Church will be heard over the air on Sunday, February 9th, from 5.45 to 6 p.m.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH WELCOMED BY NEW RECTOR.

A most successful and enjoyable meeting of the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, on Saturday week. Members were present from Wigan, Rainford, Aughton, Southport, Bootle, Woolton (St. Luke's), Bredbury, Rock Ferry, Liscard, Wallasey, Birkenhead, Birmingham and Childwall, in addition to the local company. The service was conducted by the new Rector (the Rev. David Railton), who also gave an excellent address. The church organist, Mr. C. W. Bridson, accompanied with the organ the singing of the hymns.

Tea was provided in the Church Institute, after which the meeting was presided over by the Rector, who extended a hearty welcome to the visiting ringers and gave some interesting accounts of his experiences in former parishes.

A little formal business was transacted, at the close of which a vote of condolence was passed to Mrs. Clements and members of her family in the loss they have sustained in the passing of the late Rev. C. A. Clements.

The late Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild was well known in Liverpool and Lancashire and held in the highest esteem. The members stood in silence for a short time to mark their respect.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Rector, the organist and ladies who had assisted with the tea arrangements.

The next meeting is to be held at St. Mary's, Walton-on-the-Hill, on Saturday, February 8th.

BRISTOL UNITED RINGING GUILDS.

ANOTHER GREAT EVENING.

The fifteenth annual dinner of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds was held at the Cadena Cafe on Saturday. The proceedings commenced with ringing at Bristol's famous leaning tower (Temple Church). These bells have recently been rehung. They are a musical eight of about one ton tenor. There has always been some difficulty in ringing at this tower owing to the fact that it leans 7ft. out of upright, and it seems that, even now, the third and fourth bells require further adjustment or careful handling. The writer was pleased to note that the church authorities have had linoleum laid down and the ringing chamber cleaned up for the visitors. At 3 p.m. a motor-coach conveyed 33 of the visitors through the city and over the downs to a very charming spot, Henbury, and here the eight bells were soon set going. The visitors were invited to tea with the Vicar of Henbury, after which they were escorted back to the city by the Henbury captain, Mr. J. Gould.

Those not taking part in the tour found the beautiful ten bells of St. Nicholas' Church available from 3 p.m., and at 4 p.m. the twelve at St. Mary Redcliffe were ready, under the direction of Mr. H. Pring. St. Peter's bells (8) were also open, and over 30 ringers made use of this tower. St. Stephen's (10) were rung from 5 to 5.45 p.m., this being used as an overflow tower. Many visitors took full advantage of 'tea and bun' at St. Thomas' during the afternoon. At 6 p.m. all ringing had ceased, and the party, numbering close on 200, met at the Cadena Cafe.

The chairman (Mr. H. Knight, of Wrington) was supported by the Bishop of Malmesbury, the Rev. M. Paterson, the Rev. E. Beddoe, the Rev. Ensor Davies, Mr.

A. A. Hughes (College Youths), Mr. J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff Association), Mr. W. H. Shuker (hon. secretary, Lancashire Association) and Mrs. Shuker, Mr. A. Walker (vice-president, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. S. Romans (Master, Gloucester and Bristol Association) and Mrs. Romans, Mr. Caple, Mr. Romaine (Salisbury Guild), Mr. E. Stith (Swansea and Brecon Guild), Mr. S. Palmer and Mr. A. P. Knights (Sheffield) and many other visitors from Derby, Coventry, Erdington, King's Norton, Birmingham, London, Wells, Bath, Swindon, Chippenham, Cheltenham, Gloucester, Weston-super-Mare, Churchill and Kingston Seymour. Mr. John Austin was vice-chairman and Mr. Donald Marsh pro. vice-chairman. Mr. Edgar Guise again discharged the secretarial duties with his customary efficiency, and the stewards who rendered excellent services were Messrs. W. Knight, W. H. Thomas, F. G. Leaker, J. Gould, H. Way, J. Jeffries and S. Riches, whilst the ladies were 'stewarded' by Mrs. F. Leaker and Miss Scofield.

After an excellent dinner, the Chairman, in giving the toast to 'His Majesty,' expressed regret that the nation had cause for anxiety concerning his health.

The National Anthem was sung. Apologies for absence were received from Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough, Mr. Dennis, of London, and Mr. W. Stafford (a founder member of the B.U.R.G.).

RINGERS' DEBT TO CHURCH.

The Chairman proposed the toast of 'The Church.' He said they all greatly appreciated having the Lord Bishop of Malmesbury amongst them. They gave him a very hearty welcome and sincerely hoped that he would take away with him happy recollections of a pleasant evening spent among a society whose members are all doing their little bit in the interests of the Church, of which he was so distinguished a member. The Church, continued the Chairman, was the greatest institution in the world. Had it ever struck them what this country, and, indeed, the world, would be without our churches? They, as ringers, knew that they had something in addition to what others have to thank the Church for, as without their beautiful towers and peals they would be unable to exercise the noble art in which they were so deeply interested and from which they got so much pleasure and enjoyment, an art which they hoped gave pleasure to those who listened to their efforts.

The Chairman referred to the great support and co-operation which they as a body received from the clergy. It was a great satisfaction to know that they had this assistance, without which their efforts would be well nigh impossible. It had been his pleasure, and no doubt that of many others present, to instruct clergy in the art, and it could not be too widely known how pleased they were to see them in the tower (applause). Indeed, if they wanted more ringing, one of the best ways was to get the clergy to be ringers themselves. They had so many beautiful churches with splendid peals of bells in that part of the country that it was up to them to see that there was plenty of ringing, and not only ringing, but good ringing, and for his part he should always do his best to help to attain this end. The Chairman concluded that he appreciated the honour conferred upon him by the Guild in appointing him its chairman, and said he would do his very best in its interests, and for the success of ringers and ringing in general.

HELPING IN SUPREME TASK.

The Bishop of Malmesbury, who was cordially received, remarked that he was shortly going to a church near Swindon, where it would be difficult to get a band of ringers, as he had been told that young people would not interest themselves. That was, he felt, very contradictory to what he saw before him, for among that gathering were many young faces. It was always a great pleasure to him to see and be with ringers, and they should be proud of their noble calling and their wonderful art of ringing.

The Bishop added they were doing something worth doing in a deeper sense, for the sound of bells was associated with the thought of higher things. The bells were a call on sad and joyful occasions, and sent out a great challenge to the world to think of God. Ringers were doing something to help in the supreme task of every Christian, that of spreading the Gospel of Christ.

The toast to the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was proposed by Mr. J. W. Jones (Newport), who paid great tribute to its early prominent members—the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Mr. Phillott and Mr. F. E. Ward. He, the speaker, was indebted to the Gloucester and Bristol Association members for his first successes in peal ringing, and doubtless many more in the room that evening were similarly placed. He wished the association continued prosperity.

Mr. S. Romans, Master, responding, said that this year was his jubilee year as a peal ringer for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. It was 50 years ago when he rang his first peal in Gloucester. During the past year about 100 meetings had been held by the various branches, and it had been his privilege to get to some of them. There was every indication of the continued prosperity that Mr. Jones had so kindly wished them.

Mr. John Austin, in a toast to 'Kindred Societies and Visitors,' remarked upon the popularity of the Bristol dinner. He was impressed by the fact that ringers and their wives should travel so many miles year after year to visit Bristol for that gathering. It was the aim of the Guilds to give every welcome to their visitors. He mentioned the many associations represented in the gathering.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, responding, addressed the ringers as 'Your Excellencies.' He said he was quite justified in addressing them thus, as he knew most of them were excellent ringers. On behalf of the visitors he expressed thanks to the B.U.R.G. for all the arrangements made for the afternoon and evening. Mr. Hughes paid tribute to 'The Ringers' Directory,' and said how grateful the Exercise must be to the organisers for this excellent and handy book. The B.U.R.G. were to be congratulated upon its many improvements in size and quality of paper, etc. He could hardly conceive how it could be produced for a shilling. No ringer, he said, should be without a copy.

Mr. A. Walker, in proposing the toast of 'The Ringing World,' urged all members to take a weekly copy. It was obvious that the only way to get perfection in everything was to give it reasonable support.—The Chairman expressed regret that the Editor was unable to be with the company that evening. Earlier in the week Mr. Goldsmith had written to say Mrs. Goldsmith was ill and that it might be impossible for him to attend.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT.

Mr. Donald Marsh, pro. vice-chairman, proposed 'The Artistes,' and said how very grateful they were to those who had contributed to the successful evening.—Mr. G. Cooper (one of the artistes) replied. He was sure that his fellow-artistes, like himself, had enjoyed the evening as much as the rest of the company had.

The artistes contributing to the programme were Miss Ella Meadowcroft (songs and Lancashire dialect story), Miss Ann Kelly (elocutionist), Mr. E. Vaughan Coleman (mystery) and Mr. George Cooper (entertainer). Two surprise items were piano-accompaniment solos and a burlesque song upon Bristol ringers by Mr. A. Richards (St. Peter's Guild). Incidental music was supplied by Messrs. B. Guise (piano), R. Wiltshire (violin), I. Athersuch ('cello) and R. Amos (bass). The accompanist was Mr. Charles Read, I.S.M. It was with regret that the St. Thomas' handbell ringers, so popular at these annual dinners, had to withdraw at the last moment owing to the serious illness of one of their members. In order that the evening should not be without some tune ringing, however, Mr. J. Thomas, of London, and Mr. E. Guise met at 5 p.m. and learned a couple of tunes which they rendered later in the evening. A course of Stedman Cluques was rung by visitors from Birmingham, Sheffield and London.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DORCHESTER BRANCH CELEBRATES SILVER JUBILEE. Membership Reaches Record.

Special interest attached to the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild on Saturday week, when the silver jubilee of the branch was celebrated. During the quarter of a century of its existence the branch has been one of the most active areas in the Guild, and its growth is proof of the sustained energy with which the officials have conducted its affairs. Throughout the whole period Mr. C. H. Jennings has filled with enthusiasm the post of hon. secretary, and it is in no small measure due to his efforts that the work of the branch has been so successfully carried on.

The meeting in celebration of the silver jubilee was held in Dorchester, and no fewer than 22 towers were represented in the large gathering. The proceedings began with ringing at St. Peter's and St. George's churches, and a thanksgiving service was held at St. Peter's. The inspiring Guild office was used, the Rector (the Rev. A. Wilkinson Markby) and the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry) officiated.

In his address, the Rector extended a warm welcome to the members on that auspicious occasion. It spoke well for them all, he said, especially the older members, because by their zeal and loyalty they had kept together the different bands of ringers connected with the various parishes. They had also been an inspiration to the younger generation to become ringers. They were thankful to God not only for the silver jubilee, but for the spirit of perseverance, continuity and brotherhood which had been shown.

The Rector based his address on the text, 'Finally whatsoever things are true.' It applied specially, he said, to their work as bellringers. When they were in the belfry they must ring true; they must ring to time and regularly, make their bell as it were consistent, and pull their weight. In the same way, as citizens of this country, everyone was expected to ring true. Then if they were going to ring true they must speak what was true. There was no one present that afternoon who did not know that it was difficult at all times and in all places to speak that which was true; but as men and women of God they were expected by Him to speak what was true. Then another thought was they had to act what was true; to act a lie was greater than speaking a lie.

After the service the members and friends partook of a high tea in the Parish Institute, admirably served by lady workers of St. Peter's Church. The room presented a cheery scene with its Christmas decorations. The large gathering was presided over by the Rev. R. H. Gundry, and the company included Mr. R. N. Dawes (former chairman of the branch), the Revs. A. W. Markby, P. L. Edwards (Kington Magna, general secretary of the Diocesan Guild), D. F. Slembeck (Charmminster), A. S. Bryant (Upwey), C. A. Phillips (Wimborne), A. F. Godley (Stratton) and R. P. Farrow (East Lulworth), Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart (former Master of the Guild) and Mr. C. H. Jennings (branch secretary).

APPROPRIATELY DESIGNED BIRTHDAY CAKE.

A striking 'centrepiece' at the head table was a huge birthday cake, the gift of two honorary members, Commander and Mrs. Henderson. It was a fine specimen of the confectioner's art, and bore the inscription, 'Dorchester branch, Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers, 1911-1936. Greetings.' It was cleverly and appropriately designed, the ornamentation including church towers, bells, with wheels and ropes, the latter having sallies and tucked rope ends.

With due ceremonial the cake was cut by the chairman, and the toast of the donors was drunk with enthusiasm.

At the meeting which followed tea, Mr. C. H. Jennings presented a report, in which he said the past year had been one of exceptional progress. The membership showed a further increase and now stood at the record figure of 170. It was hoped that another bell—or possibly two—might be added to the existing peal of four at Preston as soon as funds would permit. Change ringing was progressing very steadily, although some towers were handicapped owing to members leaving the district. He appealed to those towers affected to fill the gaps as soon as possible. The great feature of the year as far as their own branch was concerned had been the eight peals of Doubles, seven conducted by Mr. P. Field (Buckland Newton) and one by Mr. D. Bishop (Evershot). The hon. secretary extended a warm welcome to Dorset to the Rev. R. P. Farrow (Vicar of East Lulworth), who was well known as a change ringer. They as a branch looked forward to his assistance.

'We regret to record the passing of our beloved Bishop, the patron of our Guild,' the report added. 'He took more than a passing interest in all our work. We are proud to pay tribute to the memory of one who had a wonderful knowledge of present-day problems.' As a token of respect, a half-muffled peal of Doubles had been rung at Buckland Newton, while every tower in the branch had rung half-muffled touches. The report also placed on record with regret the death of the Rev. P. W. Taylor (Bere Regis). The secretary acknowledged the help that he had received from Mr. J. W. Smith.

The Chairman congratulated the branch on celebrating its silver jubilee, and when he inquired how many members were present who joined when the branch was first formed, four stood up.

Mr. Dawes, who was the first chairman and held office for 21 years, also extended his congratulations, and said it was pleasing to know that from a small beginning the membership now stood at the record of 170. Particularly was he glad that younger members were coming on, for it showed keenness in the splendid work of advertising the church. No one in a parish or village could hear the bells ringing without knowing that there was a service and that they ought to attend it. As vice-chairman and vice-president of the Salisbury Guild, he thanked the ringers for the work they were doing for the Church.

REVIEW OF 25 YEARS' PROGRESS.

Mr. Jennings gave an interesting review of the 25 years' existence of the branch. He recalled that the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was founded in 1882 and that its second president, the late Capt. J. E. Acland, was a Dorchester citizen. By 1897 the membership had increased to 308 and the Guild was sub-divided into four branches, two for Dorset and two for Wiltshire. The Dorchester (West Dorset) branch extended from Lyme Regis and Chardstock in the West to beyond Sherborne and Stalbridge in the North, and including part of the deanery of Purbeck. By 1909, however, only 11 towers were affiliated to the branch—Dorchester, Puddletown, Bradpole, Beaminster, Bridport, Leigh, Maiden Newton, Sherborne, West Lulworth, Wool and Wyke Regis. The same year the new peal at Milton Abbey was dedicated, and at the Guild festival held in honour of this event intimation was received that the West Dorset branch would be divided into three—Dorchester, Bridport and Sherborne to be the respective centres. In 1911 the new Dorchester branch, comprising the towers at Dorchester St. Peter's, Puddletown, West Lulworth, Wool, Wyke Regis and Leigh, was formed. The membership was then 47. Mr. R. N. Dawes was appointed the first chairman (a position he held for 21 years), with Mr. G. T. White as Ringing Master and Mr. C. H. Jennings as hon. secretary and treasurer. By 1912 the branch had become firmly established; membership increased to 79 and the tower of Fordington St. George was added, while a new peal at Upwey was opened. Charmminster, Hilton and Milton Abbey towers were added, and after three years the position was stronger than even the most optimistic had anticipated. Then came the war years. Some 500 Guild members saw war service, and ringing was considerably curtailed. The war over, the branch went ahead once more, and in 1920 had the privilege of reopening a fine peal at Bere Regis. In the following year Frampton joined the branch, which then comprised 12 towers and 119 members. Two towers—Hilton and Milton Abbey—dropped out and membership fell below the 90 mark, until the affiliation of Abbotsbury and Bradford Peverell gave it the required impetus. The branch made steady progress until its coming of age in 1932. To-day, in contrast to their early years when there were six towers with 47 members, they had 15 towers with 170 members.

Various speakers paid tribute to the splendid work done by Mr. C. H. Jennings, the general hon. secretary of the Guild speaking in high terms of the successful labours of the branch secretary.

The balance sheet showed receipts of £37 18s. 7½d. and expenditure of £20 10s., leaving a balance of £17 8s. 7½d., as compared with £15 4s. 2½d. for the previous year.

Mrs. A. L. Mill (Buckland Newton) was elected an honorary member, and three new ringing members were enrolled, namely, the Rev. R. P. Farrow (East Lulworth), Mr. Douglas French (Wool) and Mr. F. W. Gill (Abbotsbury).

The officers were elected as follows: Chairman, the Rev. A. W. Markby; vice-chairman, the Rev. R. P. Farrow; Ringing Master, Mr. P. Field (Buckland Newton); Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. Smart (Upwey); hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. H. Jennings. A vote of thanks was accorded to the retiring officers.

ROMSEY RINGER'S DEATH.

LAST OF FORMER BAND.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Tom Cole, who had been a ringer at Romsey Abbey, Hants, for over 40 years.

Mr. Cole had been in poor health for several years, but the end came suddenly. He had decided to attend the annual district meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild at Southampton on Saturday, January 11th. His daughter went into the garden to call him to get ready and found him dead.

The funeral took place on January 14th, when the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild were represented by Messrs. G. Williams, A. Smith and G. Pullinger. Several members of the Romsey band were also present.

Mr. Cole had rung several peals for the old Winchester Guild and was well known and respected by a large number of Hampshire ringers. He was the last of the very efficient band that flourished at Romsey about 30 years ago.

This is the second member the Romsey band have recently lost. Mr. F. Raskins, for many years foreman of the tower, passed away about two months ago.

WRAXALL RINGER'S BEREAVEMENT.

On Monday, January 6th, after a short illness, the death took place of Prebendary Joseph William Firth, B.A., in his 72nd year. As a last token of respect and sympathy, a quarter-peal of Grandire Triples, with the bells half-muffled, was rung following the committal service by the Bishop of Bath and Wells, on Saturday, January 11th: Miss D. Waterman (first quarter-peal) 1, J. Gould 2, J. Bishop 3, S. Butchers 4, L. Derrick 5, E. Shearn 6, N. Coombs (conductor) 7, E. Davey 8.

FOR BEGINNERS.

A START WITH CHANGE RINGING.

Those who want to make a start in change ringing, which, as we pointed out last week, should not be attempted until complete mastery of the bell has been obtained, will probably be put first to hunt the treble in some plain method—perhaps Grandsire Doubles. If, last week, you worked out and examined the figures as we suggested, you will have noticed how regularly the treble moved up and down among the other bells. It went just one place at a time, from lead until it got behind all the rest; and then back again one place at a time, until it led once more. And throughout the sixty changes it did not deviate from this straight path.

That is what is called 'plain hunting,' and in the Grandsire method, whatever the number of bells, that is the path which the treble pursues. If you will look at those 60 changes again, you will notice that none of the other bells follow exactly a similar course, and in Grandsire, if the extent of 120 changes is rung, all the other bells have to follow a path in which there are deviations from this straight up and down track followed by the treble.

But because the treble has a simpler path, it does not mean that the treble is a less important bell than the others. Indeed, it may be said to be the most important of all the bells, for upon it the others base their work, and if the treble goes wrong it is much more likely to put the rest out than if one of the others makes a mistake.

The principle involved in hunting the treble is the basis of all the complicated as well as the simple work which is to be found in method ringing. It is the foundation upon which bells move from place to place among the rest. As we pointed out last week, no bell moves more than one place up or down at a time. It may remain for two blows (or a whole pull) in one position, but when it moves it is always into the adjoining place.

Thus, in plain hunting with the treble, when you start you can move only into 2nd's place; that is, only one other bell can pull in front of you. That bell must be the one that was previously pulling immediately after you, the reason being that he, too, can only move a place at a time, and, as he is hunting down, he must change places with the one in front of him. In fact, as far as the treble is concerned, that is what happens every time, while he is hunting up. At the next stroke he will strike after the bell now pulling after him, so that if while he is making one stroke he looks for the bell that is pulling after him, he will know exactly who to follow at the next pull. Again, when he strikes in 2nd's place he will have only one bell in front of him, when in 3rd's place there will be two bells, in 4th's three bells, in 5th's four bells. He will, in fact, then be behind them all.

In hunting down he will follow the reverse process, namely, pull next time in front of the one now in front of him. But that is not so easy, and the best thing to do at first may be to count the bells in front. When hunting up you continue to increase the number of the bells in front of you until, in Doubles, all four pull before you do. When you hunt down you begin by having all four in front of you, then you omit the one you are striking over and pull after the other three. Again, omit the two you have struck over, and pull after the other two. Once more, omit the three you have struck over, leaving only one for your attention, and then, having struck over him, lead with your own bell.

In order to do it accurately, you must have perfect command of your bell, and you will find that when hunting up you must hold your bell up a little, and when hunting down, pull it in a little, because in hunting up, the interval between your places is longer, and when hunting down it is shorter. Moreover, if you are ringing on a heavy peal of bells you will find you will have to allow just a little more time, that is you will have to hold your bell off a fraction of a second longer when pulling after the bigger bells. It is these little allowances which make all the difference between good and bad striking, and you cannot do it if you do not control your bell.

ANOTHER SPLICING RECORD.

FORTY-SIX METHODS IN SEVEN 720's.

The Chester Guild band, who have been doing some wonderful things in six-bell method splicing, have added yet another to their laurels, by extending the number of Minor methods rung in a peal to 46. Last February they crowned their previous achievements by a peal in 42 methods; last Saturday their peal in 46 methods included a 720 with no fewer than 13 Treble Bob and Third's-place Delight methods.

This 720 is given below. It was substituted for the first 720 in the earlier peal and followed by the other six 720's (published in 'The Ringing World' on March 22nd, 1935), except that the three-lead splices were omitted from the second, third and fourth 720's. This new 720 was composed by Mr. Kenneth Lewis, from tables supplied by Mr. A. G. Driver.

The thirteen methods consisted of Treble Bob and Third's-place Delight methods, viz.: Ockley, Capel, Duke of Norfolk, Sandal, College Exercise, London Scholars' Pleasure, Norbury, Kingston, Oxford Treble Bob, and Carisbrooke, Donottar, Wath and Pontefract Delight.

The other 720's were those rung in the 42-method peal, except that the three-lead splices were omitted from 720's 2, 3 and 4. There were 78 changes of method.

The band had not struck a blow in any of the Delight methods used in the first 720, nor practiced it, it being rung at the first attempt.

In connection with this interesting performance, it is worthy of mention that the conductor, Mr. John Worth, had just previously rung his 150th peal, and of this total he had conducted exactly 100. His performances make up a remarkable record. He rang his first peal on June 3rd, 1929, a peal of Grandsire Doubles, which he conducted at the age of 19, after having been a stoney ringer for seven years.

His list of peals is as follows: Oxford Treble Bob Maximus 1, Bob Maximus 1, Cambridge Surprise Royal 2, Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1 (conducted 1), Kent Treble Bob Royal 2 (1), Bob Royal 1 (1), Stedman Caters 1, Grandsire Caters 1 (1), London Surprise Major 6 (5), Bristol Surprise Major 7 (6), Superlative Surprise Major 3 (2), Cambridge Surprise Major 18 (13), Manchester Surprise Major 1 (1), Staffordshire Surprise Major 1 (1), Yorkshire Surprise Major 1 (1), Norfolk Surprise Major 1 (1), Spliced Cambridge and Rutland 1 (1), Spliced London, Cambridge, Bristol and Superlative 1 (1), Carisbrooke Treble Bob 1 (1), Oxford Treble Bob Major 3 (3), Kent Treble Bob Major 8 (3), Spliced Kent and Oxford 1, Double Norwich Major 6 (2), Bob Major 8 (6), Stedman Triples 2 (1), Grandsire Triples 10 (8), Cambridge Surprise Minor 1 (1), Minor in 42 methods 1 (1), in 40 methods 1 (1), in 39 methods 1 (1), in 38 methods 1, in 36 methods 1 (1), in 35 methods 1, in 30 methods 2 (1), in 26 methods 2 (2), in 25 methods 1, in 21 methods 3 (2), in 18 methods 1 (1), in 15 methods 1 (1), in 14 methods 2 (1), in 7 methods 8 (4), in 5 methods 2, in 4 methods 4 (2), in 3 methods 11 (8), in 2 methods 1 (1), in 1 method 12 (9), Grandsire Doubles 4 (3, including one on handbells), total 150 (conducted 100).

COMING-OF-AGE COMPLIMENT.

At Bangor, Caernarvonshire, on Saturday, January 11th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: A. E. Peglar, jun. 1, Miss D. Brown 2, J. H. Midwinter 3, A. E. Peglar, sen. (conductor) 4, R. Fairlie, jun. 5, S. Brown 6, T. Jones 7, J. H. Turnhill 8. Rung as a 21st birthday compliment to the ringer of the tenor.

WILLIAM PYE MEMORIAL.

WHITSUNTIDE OPENING DESIRED.

Those responsible for organising the memorial to the late Mr. William Pye are very anxious that the memorial shall be opened at Whitsun, when the Central Council meet in London. If this is to be done, the order will have to be placed almost immediately, and donations to the fund should, therefore, be sent at once. From the list of subscriptions given below it will be seen that the fund is steadily mounting, but £250 was asked for, and the balance must be forthcoming quickly if a Whitsuntide dedication is to be made possible.

A WELCOME.

As a welcome to the new Rector of Halewood, Liverpool (Rev. W. L. M. Prothero), the local ringers on Monday, December 16th, rang 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor: T. Robinson 1, J. Robinson 2, H. Ludkin (conductor) 3, J. Dunbavin 4, D. Robinson 5, J. W. Gardner 6, J. Barker covering. It was the first 720 of Surprise Minor by all except the conductor, and first by a Halewood band.

As all things do—they end—and so 'Auld Lang Syne' closed a memorable evening. On every hand praises were given for the best dinner and the best programme of entertainment in the series. With reference to the latter, it may be said that the way in which friends help is really wonderful—the organisers this year had never met any of the artistes previously (with one exception).

Sunday morning brought the usual free and easy gathering, and then the long trails home began.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

NEW MEMBER, AGED 10, RINGS GRANDSIRE CATERS.

In spite of travelling difficulties, the quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild, held at Warwick on Saturday, was very well attended. The attendance seems all the more creditable when it is pointed out that nearly half of those present live 15 or more miles away.

Ringling on the ten bells of St. Mary's Church was followed by a short service in the chancel. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. D. Henwood (Vicar), who also gave an interesting address.

Tea at the Porridge Pot was followed by a short business meeting, over which the Vicar presided, supported by Mr. J. H. White (Ringing Master), Mr. M. Melville (hon. secretary), Mr. F. W. Perrens, Mr. Adams and members from Allesley, Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Bulkington, Lillington, Bedworth, Stoke and Stratford-on-Avon, together with the local band.

It was decided to hold the monthly meetings at Shilton in February and at Tamworth in March, the latter to be a joint gathering with the Staffordshire Association.

The following new members were elected: Master W. H. Male, of Warwick (aged 10), George Knight, of Bedworth, H. Price, of Stratford-on-Avon, Walter Beebe, of Nuneaton, D. W. Hopkins, of Warwick, and J. L. Garner-Hayward. The election of K. A. Roe, of Wigston, Leicestershire, prior to a peal was also ratified.

Mr. A. J. Hinde, jun., gave notice that a Confirmation will be held at Bulkington on February 14th, at 8 p.m., and invited members to come and ring before and after the service, as their own ringers would be engaged in other capacities at the service.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the service, and for kindly taking the chair at the meeting, and also the organist.—This was proposed by the Ringing Master and replied to by the organist and the Vicar.

A return was then made to the belfry, where further ringing took place, and Master Billy Male, of Warwick, celebrated his election at the age of ten as a member of the Guild by very creditably hunting the treble to a course of Grandsire Caters. There certainly appears to be the making of an excellent ringer in Billy; but this is as it should be, since both his father and grandfather are ringers at Warwick.

LITTLE HORKESLEY RINGERS' PERFORMANCE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—My best regards to the band at Little Horkesley. Their first peal comes from the heart of a call-change district and is a great performance. I have rung with them many times and hope that this first peal will be the first of many. Good luck, Little Horkesley!

HIGHER METHOD PRACTICES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Whilst I agree in the main to the points you raise in your leading article on this subject, there is one point upon which I think many ringers will disagree with you, and that is your statement that it is far more in the interest of ringing to devote the bulk of the time available at district meetings to elementary work. My personal opinion is that it is just as unreasonable for the beginner to expect to have a monopoly of the available time as it is for experienced ringers to desire to practice higher methods all the time. District meetings are surely intended to cater for all comers, and if your suggestion to cater mainly for beginners were carried out there might be a tendency for the more advanced ringers to absent themselves from the meetings owing to their interests not being sufficiently recognised. As one who has attended meetings in many parts of the country, may I say that the impression I have formed is that the ringing arrangements might be better organised than they are in many cases, and that a properly authorised and capable officer should be in charge of the belfry, his duties being to see that everyone who attends has a fair chance.

When I was present at a meeting of the Sheffield District Society last year I heard the arguments for and against the appointment of a ringing master to take charge of the ringing at their meetings. The appointment was made and inquiries have shown that the results are highly satisfactory. Would it be too much to expect that ringing masters of other societies should carry out what are their obvious duties? By all means let us have additional meetings for advanced methods, but do not let us lose our sense of proportion. Important though the learner may be in the interest of the continuance of our art, he is not entitled to a monopoly of the belfry at meetings, and there is still something due to those enthusiasts who have by their sacrifices made such meetings even possible. Some ringers still hold the view that it is much better for a learner to try out his first touch in a new method with good experienced ringers rather than six or eight learners should all struggle together and succeed only in obtaining practice at 'firing.'

AN AMAZING ATTITUDE.

'The bells were of no interest to the Church as a Church. As a machine for spreading Christianity, which was its primary function, the Church had no interest in bells. . . . If he regarded himself as one whose business it was to assist Christianity in Kingston, then he took not the smallest interest in the bells.' This amazing statement was made last week by the Rev. T. B. Scrutton, Vicar of Kingston-on-Thames, Surrey, to a meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce, when the subject of the restoration of the bells was discussed. The bells have been allowed to get into a dilapidated condition, they have been silent for many months, and to put them into ringing order again the sum of £600 is said to be required. 'Quite honestly,' said the Vicar, 'if it is left to us, the bells will be left.'

It is difficult to write with restraint when one reads such words at this from the ecclesiastical head of an important parish. Kingston is a town with a long and honourable history; within its boundaries it preserves the stone on which Saxon kings were crowned, it is the administrative centre of an important county, and its church in the past has had no mean share in the life of this Thames-side community. For more than 200 years the bells in this old tower have served the church, and played their part on civic and national occasions. They have called generations of worshippers together, and he would be a bold man who would deny that their voices have failed to have any influence among the people.

The Rev. T. B. Scrutton's views seem to be on a par with that other clergyman who said he would prefer a steam siren to bells for his new church. We cannot believe that the Vicar of Kingston really represents the views of the townspeople. Indeed, the attitude of the meeting which he addressed pointed to the fact that something should be done to put the bells in order. But for a responsible Vicar to declare that the bells are of no interest to the church as a church is one of the most extraordinary declarations which we have ever heard. Let it be said the Vicar is quite ready to have the bells put in order if someone else raises the money, but it is not the question of who raises the money that concerns us so much as the amazing declaration that the bells are of no interest to the church as a church. To us it seems a marvellously distorted view to take of responsibilities which go with the office of head of a church, which has a valuable peal of bells in its care; bells which for centuries have fulfilled a purpose which has endeared them to thousands of Christian worshippers and which, happily, are a part of the local life of Kingston however lacking they may be in interest to the present Vicar. There is this to be said about it; men may come and men may go, but the bells remain, and it may be that some future Vicar of Kingston will view his bells in a different and truer light.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.PUDSEY'S EXAMPLE.

The society's first meeting in 1936 was held at Pudsey on Saturday week, instead of as usual on the last Saturday in the month, in order to avoid clashing with the Yorkshire Association's general meeting. The weather conditions were not of the best, as frost and snow made travelling very difficult. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and a variety of methods were rung until tea time. The meal was served in the usual generous Pudsey style in the Park Hotel.

At the business meeting the president occupied the chair, and members were present from Armley, Batley, Birstall, Burley, Bradford, Calverley, Drighlington, Elland, Halifax, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Holbeck, Leeds Parish Church, Rothwell, Shipley, Sherburn, Selby, Sutton-on-Hull, Tadcaster and the local company.

Three new members were elected, viz., Messrs. A. E. West and D. M. Sharpe, of Sutton-on-Hull, and E. S. Morley, of Selby.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by Mr. P. J. Johnson, who said he wondered how often these votes of thanks were passed on to the Vicar and churchwardens.

In thanking the local company for the splendid way in which they received the society, he reminded those present that the Pudsey headquarters had not always been as easy to find as they were to-day.—Mr. C. Pratt, in seconding the vote of thanks, referred to the new peal board in the Pudsey tower, which showed five different peals of Surprise, and he thought that other towers should attempt to emulate this feat by regular attendance and practice. He made a special appeal to the ringers who were in the habit of having five extra minutes in bed on a Sunday morning to think of their friends waiting for them in the tower.

The reply should have come from the chairman of the Entertainment Committee, but, unfortunately, he was indisposed and unable to be present; the deputy chairman was too busy entertaining; and after Sam had been asked 'to pick up his musket,' the reply came from Mr. W. Barton, who informed the company that the vote of thanks was always passed on to the proper quarter.

The date of the next meeting was discussed in view of the fact that the Ladies' Guild had taken the usual Saturday. One proposition was that the meeting be held as usual on the last Saturday in the month (which is leap year day) in order to keep the young members out of Aunt Kate's clutches in case that lady came to Ossett, but the proposition, which was accepted, was that the next meeting be held on February 22nd at St. Michael's, Headingley.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.LOSS OF MEMBERSHIP IN WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH.

The annual branch meeting of the Wellingborough District of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Irthlingborough on Saturday, January 18th, by kind permission of the Rector, the Rev. L. W. Wright. Despite the wintry conditions, ringers were present from Wellingborough, Northampton, Kettering, Warkton, Pytchley, Burton Latimer, Grendon, Earls Barton, Finedon, Higham Ferrers, Raunds, Stanwick and Addington, besides a full muster of local ringers.

Service was held in the church, conducted by the Rural Dean, the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw, Vicar of Finedon. The address, given by the Rector, was much appreciated. He took for his text, 'Make thee two trumpets of silver, of a whole piece shalt thou make them, that thou mayest use them for the calling of the assembly and for the journeying of the camps' (Numbers x., 2). Their ringing, said the Rector, was of little use or value unless it brought them nearer to God, and, as their Guild prayer reminded them, it should prepare them for the time when they, too, should depart from this life.

The singing of the three hymns, with the excellent accompaniment of Mr. Ross Hickling on the new organ, was most enjoyable.

A collection for the Belfry Repair Fund amounted to 11s. 6d.

Tea was served in the St. Peter's Rooms by the wives and friends of the Irthlingborough band, about 50 being present. At the business meeting which followed, 'Bozeat' was chosen for the next gathering.

Two honorary, five ringing and one out-county members were elected.

The secretary's report and balance sheet for 1935 were read and adopted, and although there was a disappointing loss in membership, through various causes, a satisfactory balance in hand was obtained. There are now on the books three honorary life, 17 honorary and 150 ringing members.

The officers for the year were all re-elected as follows: President, the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. Bigley; Central Committee, Messrs. G. Basford and A. Plowman; Branch Committee, Messrs. A. Y. Tyler, F. Jones and A. H. Martin; auditor, Mr. E. Johnson. Mr. W. Perkins, who was congratulated on ringing 400 peals, is to officiate as Branch Ringing Master.

Among those present were Mr. R. G. Black, of Geddingdon, Guild general secretary; Mr. H. Baxter, Kettering branch secretary; Mr. W. Whitmore, Thrapston branch secretary, and Mr. F. Wilford. Mr. F. Barber, the former branch secretary, was also a very welcome visitor. The handy ring of eight bells were rung during the afternoon and evening, practice extending from rounds to Surprise Major methods.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It would be very interesting to know which tower was first to toll out 70 in the early hours of January 21st. It was ascertained at the Cumberland Youths' meeting on Saturday that Guildford Cathedral commenced at about 12.20 a.m., and Burnham, Bucks, at 12.17. Was there anything earlier?

The same band that rang a peal at Aldershot for King George's Silver Jubilee on Saturday rang a muffled peal to his memory. It is a purely local band. Last May there were four 'first peals' and a 'first in the method.' On this occasion there were five who rang their first peal in the method.

Mr. A. J. Ginn, of the Over, Cambs, Society, has rung for two Jubilees, Diamond and Silver, for the deaths of two Queens and two Kings, for two coronations and four royal weddings, a record of distinction shared by a comparatively limited number of ringers.

The ring of six at Malborough, near Kingsbridge, Devon, is to be tuned and rehanging with new fittings in a new frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

Ringers requiring copies of any of the Central Council publications should apply to the hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Fletcher, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex, sending the necessary remittance with the order.

The Shropshire Association's meeting at Shrewsbury is postponed to February 22nd, and the Essex Association meeting at Little Waltham to February 29th.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, are rehanging three peals in Derbyshire, viz., the rings of eight at Matlock and Melbourne Churches and the ring of six at Spondon.

On Sunday, Mr. Edward Clapshaw, Farnham's oldest ringer, celebrated his 91st birthday. He continues to enjoy fairly good health, and in the congratulations conveyed to him by Mr. R. Hasted and Mr. T. Upshall, on behalf of the local band, all ringers will join.

The many ringing friends of Mr. Harold J. Poole, of Leicester, will congratulate him upon his promotion last week to the rank of Inspector in the Leicester City Police Force. Inspector Poole is hon. secretary of the National Guild of Police Ringers, whose annual meeting is to be held in Leicester on February 8th.

RINGING IN WEST CORNWALL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I was very surprised to read in 'The Ringing World' of the 17th inst. that Father Trehella has taken exception to what appeared over my initials. I do think he could have come and told me, as I was at home for a full week after the paragraph appeared.

Let me say, and both Lt.-Col. Jerram and Father Trehella know, that I have always respected the positions which they hold, and that I have always been willing to help them. The whole tone of the latter's letter savours more of 'glorious officialdom,' which I detest, than what one would expect of a priest.

I think a great reflection has been cast upon Mr. P. R. C. Williams, who, last September, succeeded me as Truro district secretary, and Mr. C. E. Lanxon, who, last February at the annual meeting of the Guild, was elected peal secretary for a special purpose, and who has put in a tremendous amount of work, collecting and typing all peals rung for the Truro Guild since its formation for a proposed peal book. These two have worked together splendidly, and practically every week visit one or more towers, with other ringers, to help local bands. It was owing to these practices that we scored several 'first' quarters and peals during the past month. Father Trehella knows well that in the past he has often received letters from visitors seeking information and has passed them on to me, as district secretary, for attention. Why not Messrs. Williams and Lanxon, who, with a few others, are the live wires of the district, and why have a district secretary or peal secretary?

If I had asked visitors not to write to the Diocesan Master or secretary, a complaint would have been legitimate.

Now, I will go on and point out a glaring mistake which has appeared in the new 'Ringers' Directory.' Wrong names appear as Truro Diocesan secretary and treasurer, Mr. Williams being stated as the former and not Father Trehella. The latter and Col. Jerram are not mentioned. Somebody should be ticked off—not me this time!

It is not my nature to take up matters like this, but I am afraid the two whom I mentioned may have their enthusiasm damped a little.

Several of my friends who have visited Cornwall know only too well how a few, who are really enthusiastic to advance, appreciate being able to take part in an occasional peal with their help. No, we are not 'peal mad,' because often we are rising, ringing rounds or call changes and falling, but we like to make such visits worth while both for visitor and visited.

Ringing in Cornwall will improve when young ringers are encouraged, like Miss Phyllis Tillett, to whom you referred (may I add my congratulations?). At present there are several who have to struggle hard to practise what they hold in theory, and who, in their own towers, are never asked to conduct.

I think this is my very first outburst. I hope it will be the last.

THE DEATH OF KING GEORGE. BELLS IN THE NATIONAL MOURNING.

A Background to the Funeral Procession.

The national mourning for King George V. has been expressed in no more fitting manner than by muffled bells sounding from the church towers of the land. Many peals have been rung, but in less pretentious forms, in a multitude of cases, perhaps, only in rounds and call changes, the ringers of England have endeavoured to interpret, by their ringing, the nation's grief at the passing of their King.

Those who stood in the neighbourhood of Westminster on Tuesday morning and watched the great funeral procession set out on its journey to Paddington Station, and those who listened in their homes to the impressive broadcast of this first stage of the solemn final obsequies of the dead monarch, heard as a background to this poignant scene, the half-muffled bells of Westminster Abbey. In slow and stately rhythm they sounded, above the tramp of martial feet and the distant strains of funeral music, with, intermittently, the booming note of Big Ben, tolling out the passing minutes and the roar of the guns in their last salute to the dead Sovereign. Few who witnessed, or even listened to the description of this historic event, could have failed to be impressed by the part which the bells played upon this mournful occasion.

Peals which have been rung with muffled bells as a tribute of loyal respect and sympathy with Queen Mary, King Edward VIII. and the Royal Family are printed in other columns. Below we give some of the lesser performances of the past days:—

On Tuesday, January 21st, at the Parish Church, Cirencester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): F. W. Bond 1, H. L. Cooke 2, A. Painter 3, F. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 4, J. C. Eden 5, W. G. Cook 6, S. Hicks 7, H. S. Parsons 8, W. H. Hayward 9, F. J. Lewis, jun. 10.

At Southwell Minster, on Tuesday, January 21st, 1,296 Stedman Triples with half-muffled bells: G. E. Foster 1, G. E. Padgett 2, F. G. Hooper 3, F. Pickard 4, E. Foster 5, J. F. Milner (conductor) 6, A. J. Chamberlain 7, W. D. Shorthose 8.

On Tuesday evening, January 21st, the bells of St. Peter's Collegiate Church, Wolverhampton, were rung, half-muffled. Two touches of Grandsire Caters (359 and 287) were rung by G. A. Baker, T. Smith, J. Williams, T. Roden, J. Whatmore, N. H. Smith, C. Griffiths, H. Knight (conductor), F. Brotherton, W. H. Lawley and R. Thompson.

On Tuesday, January 21st, the tenor bell of the Priory Church, Christchurch, Hants, was rung every half-minute from 8 to 9 a.m. and immediately after, with the bells deeply muffled, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: Miss C. Sparshott 1, E. Hinton 2, Mrs. Williams 3, K. Derham 4, G. Scragg 5, F. Sparshott 6, G. Preston (conductor) 7, J. Wakem 8. First quarter-peal in the method by ringers of 1, 3 and 8.

At St. Giles' Church, Reading, on Sunday, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with clappers half-muffled: A. Prentice (first quarter-peal) 1, A. E. Pound 2, W. Osborne 3, A. W. Osborne (conductor) 4, L. T. Osborne 5, H. Osborne 6, A. Jeffery 7, A. E. Payne (first quarter-peal) 8.

Before evening prayer at Rainham, Kent, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Strevens (first quarter 'inside') 1, F. Cheal 2, W. Walker 3, H. Barden 4, C. Belsey 5, W. A. Cooke (conductor) 6, W. Seager 7, F. Webb (first quarter) 8.

For a memorial service on Sunday, at Alsager, Cheshire, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Peake 1, B. Ferneynough 2, H. Dixon 3, G. Cartwright 4, G. Kennerley 5, F. E. Corfield 6, D. R. Whalley (conductor) 7, R. Moseley 8. All are local ringers.

On Sunday, January 26th, at Heston, Middlesex, with the bells half-muffled, for the memorial service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. F. Ellingham 1, F. J. Cattermoul 2, W. T. Godfrey 3, C. S. Bird 4, H. C. Chandler 5, E. R. Gladman 6, W. A. Lewis (conductor) 7, W. W. Webb 8.

For matins on Sunday, January 26th, at Overseal, Derbyshire, 720 Bob Minor with the bells half-muffled: H. Adams 1, L. Freeman 2, W. Brooker 3, W. E. Clayfield 4, J. W. Cotton (conductor) 5, G. W. Clayfield 6.

At St. John's, Bournemouth, on Sunday evening, with the bells muffled, but the tenor open at back stroke, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Miss F. Child 1, H. R. Bennett 2, W. Waylen 3, Miss M. White 4, A. G. Rose 5, E. T. Griffin 6, H. A. Mitchell (conductor) 7, F. Longman 8.

A VICAR'S STRANGE DECLARATION.

BELLS 'NO INTEREST TO THE CHURCH.'

Who Will Pay for Restoration?

An extraordinary attitude towards his church bells, which are now silent for want of repair, has been taken up by the Vicar of Kingston-on-Thames (the Rev. T. B. Scrutton).

Last week the Vicar attended, by invitation, a meeting of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who were anxious to learn what was going to be done about Kingston's silent bells, which have not been rung for King George's death, and may not, unless action is quickly taken, be rung for King Edward's coronation.

The cost of the restoration would be about £600, and the President of the Chamber explained that Kingston was now without its peal of bells because the structure upon which they were mounted was in such a perilous condition that to use the bells would be courting disaster. Did the town want the bells? He thought there could be only one answer to that question, but who was to pay for the necessary repair work?

The Rev. T. B. Scrutton said (we quote from the report of the 'Surrey Comet') he was not there to make any appeal; he was really representing the Mayor. The peal comprised ten bells, which had existed since 1748, when two were added to the peal of eight already existing. The question was, did the town want the bells rung? He said 'the town' because the bells were of no interest to the church, as a church. As a machine for spreading Christianity, which was its primary function, the church had no interest in bells. They might be of some slight interest to the church in awakening people's interest in it, but if he regarded himself as one whose business it was to assist Christianity in Kingston, then he took not the smallest interest in the bells.

'NOT A CHURCH OF ENGLAND INTEREST.'

The only interest he had in them, he added, was as a Kingstonian. The interest was municipal—civic. It was not a Church of England interest. Some people might be inclined to say 'It is the business of the parish church—let them get on with it,' but, said the Vicar, 'quite honestly, if it is left to us the bells will be left.' The Parochial Church Council was prepared to find half of the £600 needed, although they would prefer not to raise any of the money because they had plenty of other things they could spend £300 on. The sum of £600 was the minimum requirement, as advised by experts, and should result in the peal being all right for 50 or 60 years. The Mayor had in mind the issuing of an appeal to the town and surrounding district for half of the £600.

The Vicar said he did not regard the Parish Church as being the preserve of any one denomination. He regarded it as being held in trust for the whole of Christianity, and he asked people to rise to that conception of the church, and, in that conception, have the bells put in order.

Mr. H. S. Durbin asked whether it was intended, in the event of the bells being put into commission again, to have a lot of practice and competition ringing.

The Vicar said that so far as he knew there was no intention to intensify the ringing as compared with what used to be. The Kingston ringers did their practices at evening; and occasionally, because the peal was a good one, the Surrey Society of Change Ringers rang at Kingston. It was hoped to arrange the belfry so that the sound was thrown upwards, reducing the volume in the immediate vicinity and sending it further. As to the value of bellringing, that was a matter of individual opinion. One person would say that the bells were a nuisance; another would say that the town did not seem the same without them. It was a matter of taste upon which it was no use arguing.

Mr. C. W. Beckett and Mr. H. Funston Benson spoke in favour of the bells, from historic and sentimental points of view; and the matter was left for the Executive Committee to bring to notice again at a later date.

IN THE HANDS OF THE MAYOR.

At the annual church meeting at All Saints' Parish Hall on Thursday, at which the Rev. T. B. Scrutton presided, the Parochial Church Council reported that the bells had been declared unsafe and their use was suspended until the necessary work had been carried out.

Dr. W. E. St. L. Finny asked when people would be asked to subscribe to the repairs.

The Vicar said the matter was now in the hands of the Mayor, and he could not prejudice what he would do. The Mayor, however, was taking a great deal of interest, and steps were being taken towards something being done. His own hope was that they would have the bells in working order in time for the coronation of King Edward VIII. 'If that is to happen things have got to move,' he added.

DEATH OF REV. B. H. TYRWHITT-DRAKE HON. LIBRARIAN OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Killed by fall of a Tree.

In the midst of the national mourning, the Exercise has to lament the death, under tragic circumstances, of one of its leading members. On Saturday night the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, Rector of Walsoken, near Wisbech, was killed by a falling tree. He had been Honorary Librarian of the Central Council since 1933.

It appears that a man, Alfred Freeman, was engaged in felling a large tree which stood near a new house adjoining the Rectory grounds. The Rector went out, shortly after ten o'clock, to see how the work was progressing, and found that the man was about to drop the tree. The Rector, it is said, was advised to stand near a shed, which would be well clear of the tree when it fell. After it had been dropped, Freeman went in the darkness to the spot where he expected to find the Rector. Failing to see him, Freeman made a search, and the Rector was discovered lying with his face buried in the ground. He had been struck by an arm of the tree as it fell and his neck had been broken.

The whole Exercise will extend its heartfelt sympathy to the widow and family who have been thus tragically bereaved.

The Rev. Barnard Halsey Tyrwhitt-Drake, who was 53 years of age, was the youngest son of the late Rev. W. T. Tyrwhitt-Drake. After leaving Haileybury, he proceeded to Pembroke College, Cambridge, where he took his B.A. degree in 1904. He was then at Wells Theological College, before being ordained deacon in 1905 and priest in 1906. He became M.A. in 1908. His first curacy was at Almond-bury, Yorkshire (1905-9), and he then became chaplain to the South African Railway Mission, in the Diocese of Grahamstown, an office which he occupied 1909-10. Returning to England, he was successively curate at St. Mary's, Hitchin (1910-12) and of Sandy, Beds (1912-14). He was appointed to the living of Thundridge in 1914, and from 1916 to 1918 was Temporary Chaplain to the Forces, becoming Honorary Chaplain in the latter year. In 1925 he became Vicar of Wigginton and in 1928 Rector of Watlington, Norfolk. His appointment to the living of Walsoken took place in 1933.

WITH THE CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake was one of the clergy who got his interest in ringing stirred when he went to Pembroke College in 1901 and joined the Cambridge University Guild. Prominent among those who joined the Guild at the same time were Messrs. E. H. Lewis, H. S. T. Richardson and F. S. Poole. Under the tuition of the president, the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, rapid progress was made in handbell ringing, and among the peals that were subsequently rung was the first peal of Maximus (Plain Bob) 'in hand' by the Guild and, incidentally, by the College Youths, of which all six ringers were members. Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake rang the tenors to this peal. This was in November, 1903, and a month later he took part in the Guild's first peal of Royal 'in hand.'

His first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung on one of the Guild's tours, at Henley, Norfolk, in 1904, this being also the first in the method by the Guild. Then, having taken Holy Orders, he rang in the Guild's first peal of Stedman Triples (1906), and at Drayton, Berks, in 1909, he took part in the first clerical peal of Double Norwich Major, the other ringers being the Revs. H. S. T. Richardson, T. Lewis Jones, H. J. Elsee, A. H. F. Boughey, C. A. Clements, C. W. O. Jenkyn and H. L. James.

These, of course, are only some of the notable peals in which the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake took part, but they are sufficient to show that he played an interesting part in the earlier activities of the Cambridge University Guild. A little later he was associated with it in another notable performance, the first handbell peal rung by clergymen, a peal of Grandsire Caters, in which the Revs. A. H. F. Boughey, E. Banks James, H. S. T. Richardson and H. Law James also took part, Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake ringing 9-10. After the war he was one of the ten officers who rang a peal together at Croydon to celebrate peace.

SERVICES TO HERTS AND ELY ASSOCIATIONS.

Greater parochial responsibilities afterwards prevented him from taking an active part in peal ringing, although he has never ceased to render valuable service in other directions. While Vicar of Thundridge, Herts, he was in 1916 elected president of the Hertford County Association, a position which he also filled the following year. At his first election the late Canon Papillon humorously commented on the fact that Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake, unfortunately, had no ringing peal of bells at Thundridge, for of four bells in the steeple, two were cracked. A fifth was in the Vicar's pigsty. The bells were later restored and increased to six.

The Herts County Association elected Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake as a representative on the Central Council in 1919, and he continued to represent that body until 1928, when he removed to Watlington. The Ely Diocesan Association quickly took advantage of his willing services and elected him their hon. secretary, and in 1929 their representative on the Council. Last year he resigned the secretaryship (Continued at foot of next column.)

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

TRIBUTES TO HIS LATE MAJESTY.

Representatives from Kington Magna, Winterbourne Earls, Britford, Warminster, Wilton, Damerham, Dinton, Martin, the City Churches of St. Martin and St. Thomas and other neighbouring parishes attended the annual meeting of the Salisbury District of the Diocesan Guild, held at St. Martin's, Salisbury, on Saturday last.

Ringings commenced at 3 p.m., the bells at St. Edmund's also being available, both peals being half-muffled in recognition of the national mourning.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. K. N. Ross, the address being given by the Rev. E. A. Maycock, of Romsey Abbey. Mr. A. F. Brown was at the organ, and at the conclusion of the service played the 'Dead March' in 'Saul.'

Tea followed in the Parish Rooms, and later the branch chairman (Mr. E. G. Caple) presided at the general meeting, supported by the branch secretary (Mr. F. W. Romaine), the general secretary of the Guild (the Rev. F. L. Edwards), the Rev. R. S. Smith (Martin), the Rev. H. W. Moule (Damerham), the Rev. K. N. Ross (St. Martin's) and the Rev. E. A. Maycock (Romsey Abbey).

Opening the meeting, the Chairman said, 'Before commencing the business of this meeting, I would refer to the matter which is foremost in our minds at this time, the passing of our King. No Sovereign could have devoted a more active life to the good of his people, and we join in expressing our sympathy with the Queen and Royal Family.'

The company then stood in silence for a few moments.

The balance sheet was adopted, Mr. Caple re-elected chairman, and Mr. F. W. Romaine secretary and treasurer.

Other officers elected were: Ringing Masters, Messrs. L. Harris and F. O. Smith; committee, the Rev. R. S. Smith, Messrs. W. Wyatt, A. Southey, W. Roberts and W. Wright.

A ballot on the choice of towers for the quarterly meetings during the ensuing year resulted in Semley, Coombe Bissett, Wylie and Downton being chosen.

Mr. F. Wright, of Dinton, reported the satisfactory completion of the rehanging of Dinton bells, and extended a hearty invitation to the branch to attend the rededication and opening of the bells. It was resolved that notification should be made to the towers by the branch secretary, when the date of reopening was known.

Two new members were elected from Damerham.

The general secretary (the Rev. F. L. Edwards) addressed a few words to the meeting on the subject of arrangements during national, diocesan or local bereavements. He stated that the branch secretary had wired for his directions as to whether the meeting should be abandoned in view of the death of His late Majesty. He (Mr. Edwards) stated that he himself had been the proposer of a motion to the Central Council on this matter, and it was considered that it was quite in order to hold a meeting when arrangements had been made, provided the bells were rung half-muffled. He cited the instance of the recent death of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese. There were two branch meetings on the day following his death—these were held, and the bells muffled, in accordance with custom.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. K. N. Ross for conducting the service in the absence of the Rector of St. Martin's, and to the Rev. E. A. Maycock for coming from Romsey to give the address, also to Mr. A. F. Brown for his good offices at the organ. Mr. Brown had expressed his regret at being unable to attend the tea owing to another engagement during the afternoon.

FIRST QUARTER-PEAL.

STEPNEY.—At the Parish Church of St. Dunstan's on Sunday evening, January 19th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), six callings: H. Thompson (first quarter-peal) 1, G. W. Cecil (first quarter-peal as conductor) 2, L. J. Fox 3, T. G. Fox 4, H. Pinchbeck 5, A. A. Jarvis 6. Rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. T. Fox, the captain of the band.

of the association, but was a member of the Council up to the time of his death, holding the office of hon. librarian, to which he was elected after the death of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn in 1933.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake made one particularly valuable contribution to ringing literature. After the celebration of the jubilee of Cambridge University Guild in 1929 he wrote the Guild's history, which he himself produced in his own little private printing works, the printing art having been one of his hobbies.

In addition to the widow, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake leaves in bereavement two sons and a daughter. The eldest son has recently passed out of Woolwich to Cambridge, and Miss Tyrwhitt-Drake is in the nursing profession.

On Thursday last week, Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake took part in King George's funeral procession at Sandringham, and was to have been among the representatives of the British Legion at the King's funeral in London on Tuesday.

The funeral of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake took place at Walsoken on Wednesday afternoon.

Owing to this sad event, the commemoration luncheon of the Cambridge University Guild on February 4th has been postponed.

FOR BEGINNERS.

HOW 'IN COURSE' AND 'OUT OF COURSE' AFFECTS METHODS.

A short time ago a reader sent to the Editor, for publication, what he described as a new method of Minor. He had been experimenting and had found a method, with the treble making places in 3-4 instead of dodging, which produced the regular lead-ends which are found in recognised methods. On the face of it, it looked interesting and seemed to conform to requirements, but on examination it had a fatal blemish—it would not produce 720 true changes.

Actually it only needed the close examination of the first lead to prove its fault, which was that all the rows (that is the figures denoting the changes) with the treble in 3rd's and 4th's were 'of like nature'; that is to say, they were all 'in-course.'

To obtain the extent of the changes in any method, half the rows must be in-course and the other half out of course. In other words, the extent of a method is made up of half the changes 'in course' and half of them 'out of course,' and unless a method will produce this necessary condition, the extent of the changes on that number of bells is not possible.

It is conceivable, on eight or more bells, to have a method which will produce a peal of 5,000 changes, without having in the plain course an equal number of in course and out of course changes. As a simple example, there is Grandsire Caters (the Grandsire method rung on nine bells). In this you can have a peal of 5,000 without once having the bells out of course—but that is because you have such a vast number of changes to select from. As you may know, the extent of the changes on nine bells is 362,880, so that there are actually 181,440 changes 'in course' which can be utilised.

When, however, it comes to Minor, the extent of which is only 720 changes, it is a different matter. Not only must you have an equal number of in course and out of course changes before you can produce a true 720, but this half and half business must apply, if the treble has any form of regular hunt, to every position of the treble.

In a 720 the treble (and, indeed, every other bell) strikes 120 times in each place; that is 120 times at lead, 120 times in 2nd's and a similar number of times in each of the other places, 3rd's, 4th's, 5th's and 6th's. To obtain a true extent, therefore, 60 changes with the treble at lead must be in course, and 60 out of course, and so on with the changes in which the treble strikes in each of the other places. (This applies to all the bells, but we use the treble as the simplest guide.)

Whatever the nature of the rows may be in one lead, they will, in every regular method, be of the same nature in the corresponding place in every succeeding lead, unless a single is made, but as a single cannot be used in Treble Bob and kindred methods, it is not possible, if all the rows with the treble in any one place are of like nature, to produce a true 720.

In the first lead of the method sent to 'The Ringing World' there are these rows, as the treble makes places in 3-4:—

Treble going up	261435	Treble coming down	436125

An 'in course' row, or change, was explained in an earlier article in this series; but briefly it is this: It is a row which is obtained by changing an even number of pairs of bells from rounds. Thus, 213465 by changing two pairs is 'in course,' but 214365, having been obtained by changing an odd number of pairs, is out of course, and, as a matter of interest, you will find that if you have an out of course row, no transposition of an equal number of pairs will ever produce rounds. If you take, say, 214365, you can go on changing the row two pairs at a time, whether they are adjoining figures or not, until doomsday, but you will not produce 123456. It needs two 'odds' to make an 'even,' and once you have an 'out of course' or 'odd' row, you must have another before you can come back to rounds. But this is rather by the way.

The point which we want to emphasise for the benefit of beginners, who are searching for new methods, is that unless you have your hunt bell in an equal number of odd and even rows in each place, you cannot produce the extent of the method, and the first lead is the test of the whole method. If you take the eight rows given above, you will find they are all 'in course.' You can test it for yourself. Take the first row and transpose two pairs at a time, say from 261435, make 216453, by transposing 6 and 1 and 3 and 5. Then transpose two other pairs 2 and 1 and 6 and 3, and you have 123456. You have transposed four pairs—an even number, proving that 261435 is 'in course.' The next three rows are easily proved. Each is a two pair transposition from the one before it.

In the same way, test 436125. Transpose first 4 and 1, and 6 and 2, giving 132465; then transpose 3 and 2, and 6 and 5, and again, with four pairs changed, you have 123456. The other three rows are each a two-pair change from the one in front of it.

Now, in the method as it stands, it would be impossible, for instance, to produce 621435, or 261345, or 263154, or 623145, or any other one-pair variant of any of those eight rows; and as the method will not produce these rows, it is obvious a true 720 cannot be obtained.

Which all goes to show that the question of 'in course' and 'out of course' changes is important to those who want to become composers.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at the Cathedral, Portsmouth, on Saturday, January 18th, when members and friends were present from Alverstoke, Arundel, Brighton, Chiddingfold, Curdridge, Fareham, Gosport, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Petersfield, Southampton, Soberton, Swanmore and Wickham.

The Guild service was held in the Cathedral. The Rev. J. A. S. Rutherford officiated and addressed those present. An excellent tea was partaken of in the Green Row Rooms, after which the business meeting was held, the chair being taken by the Rev. J. A. S. Rutherford.

The Chairman first apologised for the absence of the Provost (Very Rev. T. H. Masters), who was unfortunately confined to his bed.

The balance sheet showed a slight increase in membership, and after the sum of £7 10s. 8d. had been forwarded to the general treasurer, the district balance was £15 4s. 1d.

All the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, and new ringing members were elected from the Cathedral, Curdridge and Gosport.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Fareham on Saturday, January 16th, 1937.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Provost for granting permission for the use of the bells and Green Row Rooms, to the Rev. J. A. S. Rutherford for officiating at the service and presiding at the business meeting, to the organist and caterers.

The members returned to the tower for further ringing, which ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to London and Bristol Surprise Major.

SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT'S EXCELLENT RECORD.

The annual meeting of the Southampton District was held recently at Southampton, when over 70 members were present from a large number of Hampshire towers. Mr. Taylor (Newbury) brought along a very welcome contingent from the Oxford Guild.

The towers of St. Mary, St. Michael and Holy Rood were at the disposal of the members during the afternoon and evening, and various performances, ranging from rounds and call changes to Cambridge Royal, were rung.

Service was held at Holy Rood Church, and the Rev. A. C. Hopkins gave an inspiring address.

At the business meeting the secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger) reported that 1935 had been a very successful year from the point of finance and number of members. Only two towers in the district were not affiliated to the Guild, and one of these was without a band. Sunday service ringing had been well maintained, with one or two exceptions, where bands were below strength and had difficulty in getting and retaining recruits. The district had lost by death three old and valued members—Mrs. G. Williams, the Rev. E. T. Butler and Mr. F. Raskins.

All the district officers were re-elected. Mr. W. T. Tucker was elected as an additional representative on the Executive Committee.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Southampton on January 9th, 1937. District meetings were arranged as follows: Romsey on February 22nd; Fawley, May 16th; Sherfield English, July 18th; and Upham, October 3rd.

Twenty-one new ringing members were elected at the meeting.

STANMORE RINGERS' DINNER.

MEN WITH LONG SERVICE.

The annual dinner of the St. John's, Stanmore, ringers took place on Saturday, January 4th, at the Crown Hotel, Stanmore. The Rector (the Rev. W. A. Hewett) presided. After a well-served meal the party drank the loyal toast, with musical honours.

The Rector then proposed the toast of 'The Hon. Secretary of the Middlesex Association (Mr. C. T. Coles),' and, in reply, the latter expressed his pleasure that he was once more able to attend this annual dinner, especially as the band at Stanmore was one of the oldest in the association. He referred to the long service of some of the local ringers, Mr. W. Cheshire, with 53 years, and Mr. G. Hughes and Mr. Moxon, with 43 years each. He also said he was very pleased to see Mr. F. Edwards present and hoped he would soon be restored to complete health again. Mr. Coles urged the Stanmore and Harrow Weald bands, so closely allied, to vie with each other in friendly rivalry now that Harrow Weald possessed eight bells.

The toast of 'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. E. Leversuch (hon. secretary), who referred to the presence of friends from Harrow Weald and Bushey.

Mr. G. R. Goodship responded, and referred to the good relations existing between the bands at Harrow Weald and Stanmore.

The Rector proposed the re-election of Mr. G. Hughes as Master, saying that Mr. Hughes had been a faithful servant to the Church for very many years, and they could not do better than re-elect him. —This was agreed to with acclamation.

Mr. Hughes accepted office, and asked the members for their continued loyal support. He proposed the health of the Rector and thanked him for the encouragement he always gave to the ringers.

A pleasant musical evening followed the dinner. During the afternoon a peal of Bob Major was attempted, but failed after two hours' good ringing.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.CHANGE OF OFFICERS IN NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the North-Western District was held at Mitcham on Saturday, and about 70 members and friends attended from Banstead, Beddington, Bonhillon, Bishopsgate, Brockley, Bushey, Epsom, Ewell, Edmonton, Camberwell, Croydon, Clapham Park, Finchley, Hampstead, Hillingdon, Kingston, Leatherhead, Merton, Mitcham, Reigate, Sunbury, Uxbridge, West Wickham and Hillingdon.

Both towers were available for ringing from 3 p.m., the Parish Church (eight bells) and Christ Church (six bells), and the bells were rung fully muffled for His late Majesty King George V.

Service was held at Christ Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Johnston), and the presence of the choir helped considerably in the singing. Tea followed the service at the Welfare Centre Hall, and 67 sat down to a splendid meal prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Miller and other members and wives of the Christ Church band.

The District Master (Mr. E. G. Talbot) presided over the business meeting, which was rather a lengthy and spirited one.

At the commencement the Chairman asked the company to stand for two minutes in silence as token of loyalty and respect to His late Majesty King George V.

The Vicar then spoke a few words of welcome and wished the association success.

The new year was started well by the election of twelve new district members and four compounding members.

The committee presented a very favourable report on last year's activities. This was adopted by the meeting, as also was the treasurer's report, which showed a good balance on the right side.

It was decided to hold the following meetings during the year if possible: Easter Monday, April 13th, Ewell; June 5th, Banstead; July 25th, a joint meeting with the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Guild at Rammore; September 26th, Beddington; November 28th, Wandsworth; and the annual district meeting on January 30th, 1937, at Streatham.

RESIGNATION OF DISTRICT MASTER.

The next item on the agenda, that of the election of district officers, caused a great deal of discussion, mainly through the resignation of the present District Master. The results were as follows: District Master, Mr. D. Cooper; district treasurer, Mr. F. G. Woodiss; district secretary, Mr. F. Housden; district auditor, Mr. C. Parks; and the three representatives on the committee were Mr. A. W. Clark, of Croydon, Mr. W. C. Smith, of Beddington, and Mr. H. O. Young, of Leatherhead.

Mr. Dan Cooper was, for several years, hon. district secretary.

The Honorary Secretary informed the meeting that Mr. John Lee, of Streatham, an old and well-known member of the district, was very seriously ill in Balham Hospital, and instructions were given to send him a letter and some flowers with an expression of sympathy in his illness.

The secretary also gave notice of a joint mid-week meeting with the Ladies' Guild, to be held at Beckenham on Wednesday, February 12th.

The following general officers were nominated for election at the annual meeting of the association, to be held at Southwark on March 21st: Master, Mr. D. K. C. Birt; general secretary, Mr. C. H. Kippin; assistant general secretary, Mr. F. E. Darby; treasurer, Mr. M. Northover; Central Council representatives, Messrs. C. H. Kippin and D. Cooper.

A discussion arose from the auditor's report, read earlier in the meeting, about the balance in the hands of the district treasurer, and as time was getting late it was decided to bring the matter up for discussion at the next meeting.

The officers were accorded a very hearty vote of thanks for their work during the past year, and the meeting closed with a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of the Parish Church for the use of the bells and the ringers for having everything in readiness, to the Vicar of Christ Church for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, to the organist and choir, and last, but by no means least, to Mr. and Mrs. A. Miller and members of the Christ Church band and their wives for their kind hospitality in providing such an excellent tea.

Will members please note that the new district secretary is Mr. F. W. Housden, 134, Park Lane, Carshalton, Surrey.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.ANNUAL MEETING OF GAINSBOROUGH DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Gainsborough District was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, January 18th, and, in spite of the wintry weather, a large number of ringers were present. Members attended from Lea, Gainsborough, Upton, Willingham and Stow, and visitors came from Treeton (Yorks), Surfleet, Lincoln and Blankney. The bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and some good ringing was done in the standard methods, all who wished having a turn at the ropes.

Services was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Round-Turner), and afterwards tea was partaken of at the Sun Hotel.

At the business meeting which followed the officers were re-elected en bloc with the exception of Mr. E. Dawber, who wished to be relieved of his duties as district committee representative. Mr. G. W. Creasey was elected to fill the vacancy. Two new members were elected from Lea, and the following six-bell towers were provisionally chosen for this year's meetings: Stow, May 8th; Broughton, June 10th; Epworth (Isle of Axholme, tenor 30 cwt.), August 22nd; and Brigg, October 17th.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his address, to the organist and to the caterers.

An added attraction to this meeting was the display of the film depicting scenes of the Australian tour by Mr. Rupert Richardson, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. Butler afterwards proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Guild Master for contributing such an interesting item to the meeting.

RINGERS WEDDED.

On Saturday, December 28th, the wedding took place of Mr. J. H. Crampion and Miss A. Petty. The bride is a ringer at Christ Church, Wansstead, where the marriage ceremony was performed, and the bridegroom is a member of the Woodford Parish Church company.

Mr. Crampion's ringing prowess is too well known to require description, suffice it to say that he achieved a remarkable degree of fame during the time when he was intimately connected with London ringing circles.

The happy couple were the recipients of many splendid gifts, including a chiming clock from their ringing colleagues. The best wishes of all those readers of 'The Ringing World' who know them will go with it. Mr. and Mrs. Crampion are now living at Chadwell Heath, and are, of course, still continuing their campanological activities.

ROMNEY MARSH AND DISTRICT GUILD.INCREASED MEMBERSHIP.

The annual meeting of the Romney Marsh and District Guild was held at Appledore on Saturday week. Ringing began at 3 o'clock, the bells being half-muffled owing to the death of a local resident. The Guild service followed and an address given by the president (the Rev. G. Wright).

Tea was served at the Swan Hotel, and at the business meeting all the officers were re-elected.

The hon. secretary (Mr. P. Page) reported an increase in members and in the balance in hand.

A vote of thanks was passed to the officers for their services.

This concluded the business, and the members were then entertained by the Willesborough Male Voice Choir, who rendered an excellent programme of songs and choruses, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. A successful meeting was concluded by all joining in 'Auld Lang Syne.'

BELFRY ACCIDENTS.

The recent case in the High Court, to which reference was made in 'The Ringing World,' raises important issues for Church Authorities. It will be remembered that the action was one in which substantial damages for personal injury were awarded to a boy, who, while ringing a bell at a Roman Catholic Church, was struck on the head by a clapper, which fell out of the bell. The defendants were the Roman Catholic Bishop of Southwark and other trustees of the church, the priest at the time in charge of the church, and the bellhangers, who were a firm of builders. The question before the Court was merely that of damages, liability having been admitted.

It would have been interesting to know something further of the case beyond the rather meagre details that have been published, but there are certainly some facts which are worth considering. Assuming that the boy, then only eight years of age, was ringing (or, more probably, chiming) the bell by authority, this case seems to show that in the event of any accident happening in the belfry, church authorities are liable in damages if the ringers are there for any authorised purpose. The reported case did not, as far as we have seen, reveal the grounds for admitting liability, and there is little use in speculating upon them, but one thing seems certain, that while, up to the present, church authorities may have merely regarded their responsibilities as limited to liability under the Workmen's Compensation Act, in respect of paid ringers, there is a further liability in regard to accidents to unpaid ringers. It may be that negligence by those in authority has first to be proved, but the case just decided seems to point to the fact that a clapper falling out of a bell, the dropping of a piece of plaster from a wall or ceiling, a defective belfry stair (and there are many such) and any similar type of accident, if it results in personal injury, may lead to the award of substantial damages, even if the sufferer is a voluntary worker.

In the pamphlet on 'The Law Affecting Church Bells,' published by the Central Council and drawn up for that body by a committee of legal members, it is stated: 'So far as all ringers are concerned it is the duty of the Church Authorities to see that the bells, bell chamber and fittings are reasonably safe and that there is nothing in the nature of a trap whereby an incautious person might meet with injury. It is possible that if an incumbent was aware that the bells could not with safety be rung and with that knowledge permitted ringing to take place, he might be civilly liable in damages for any injury sustained.' In the case of a paid ringer, the question of compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act would arise.Happily accidents in the belfry are few and far between, but the risk, however rare, is nevertheless existent and this recent case should at least give church authorities a deeper interest in the condition of things in the belfry and among the bells; to say nothing of the staircases, at those churches where worn or irregular steps in badly lighted stairways are a constant menace to the safety of those who ascend and descend them.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.NEW COMPOSITIONS TO BE PRINTED IN ANNUAL REPORT.

A quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held on Saturday, February 1st, at Wigston Magna, near Leicester. The fine ring of eight bells was made good use of during the afternoon and evening by members from Burton, Derby, Hinckley, Loughborough, Nottingham and Leicester branches, as well as several out-county members. It was unfortunate that South Wigston bells were unavailable for this meeting. The committee met in the afternoon, and arising out of their deliberations it was decided to grant £5 to the Bell Repairs Fund at Austey, Leicester, and also £2 2s. to the William Pye Memorial Fund. It was decided to print the annual report in the usual way, and, after a lengthy discussion, it was proposed to print figures of new compositions rung during 1935 and the new methods rung by the Wigston Magna band.

A short service followed, conducted by the Vicar, and a peal board dedicated recording the Jubilee peal of Buckingham Surprise Major.

Tea was served in the Church Rooms at 5 p.m. and over 30 ringers and friends sat down. Immediately afterwards the general business was proceeded with. The president (Mr. E. Denison Taylor) gave a review of the past quarter's work, but first voiced the feeling of all present at the great national loss of H.M. King George V., and asked all to stand a few moments to his beloved and respected memory.

Fewer peals had been rung during the quarter, but calling for special mention was the new method called Claybrook Surprise Major, rung by the Wigston Magna band, and 9,760 Bob Major, composed and called by the general hon. secretary, which never had a single bob, but 400 singles! He was pleased to have the Vicar of Wigston present at the meeting and thanked him for the inspiring service.—The Vicar, in reply, gave a welcome to all members present and trusted all had enjoyed the bells.

New members proposed since the last meeting, viz., 15 ordinary, two rejoining, two life, two honorary, were duly elected.

The hon. treasurer (Mr. W. E. White) explained that nominations for Central Council representatives and general officers, if duly proposed and seconded, could be received by the general hon. secretary up to one month before the annual meeting at Easter.

Two auditors to check accounts were duly chosen—Messrs. C. Harrison and J. H. Dean.

This concluded the business, and Mr. J. H. Swinfield proposed a vote of thanks to the local company for all arrangements made and to the ladies for catering. Further ringing on the bells and 'impromptu meetings' elsewhere brought a successful afternoon to a close.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.MEMORIAL TO LATE MASTER DEDICATED.

The annual general meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was held at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on January 25th. Despite the national mourning for the death of King George V., the attendance was considered very good, about 50 members and friends attending. Although there was no ringing on the tower bells, the time was well occupied in handbell ringing. At 5 o'clock the Vicar unveiled the memorial to the late respected Master of the society, Mr. J. D. Matthews. In a few well-chosen remarks, Canon McCormick spoke of the great work Mr. Matthews had done for the society.

Mr. G. Cross (Master) then asked the Vicar to accept and dedicate this memorial to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Matthews.

After a prayer, the Vicar pulled aside the curtain which covered the tablet.

The Lord's Prayer was repeated by all and the ceremony concluded with the Blessing.

The tablet is of black glass in the shape of a bell, with gold lettering, supplied by Messrs. Caspar and Co.

A sumptuous tea was provided by the Vicar and Church Council in the canteen, and afterwards a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells to the delight of the assistants.

A move was then made to the celebrated Vestry Hall, where the business meeting was held. The balance sheet was presented by the treasurer (Mr. G. W. Steere), and showed a very satisfactory balance on the right side—about double of the previous year.

The secretary (Mr. G. A. Card) gave his report, which was also considered very satisfactory, as progress had been maintained.

The following officers were then elected: Master, Mr. G. H. Cross; secretary, Mr. G. A. Card; treasurer, Mr. G. W. Steere; trustees, Mr. F. Smith and Mr. A. Hardy; senior steward, Mr. T. Bevan; junior steward, Mr. F. Arnold; auditors, Mr. T. Newman and Mr. F. Symonds.

It was decided to hold three quarterly meetings, as usual, the following places and dates being decided upon, providing permission be obtained: March 28th, Gravesend; July 18th, Beddington; October 10th, Walthamstow. Due notice of these meetings will be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

It was also decided to hold a practice meeting at Shoreditch on the last Thursday in the month, from 6 to 8.30, to help on the young members at this church.

Four representatives for the Central Council were elected, viz., Mr. G. H. Cross, Mr. G. W. Steere, Mr. J. Parker and Mr. G. Gilbert. This concluded the business, and the Vicar was thanked for presiding.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We regret that owing to the great pressure on our space, many peal reports and touches are unavoidably held over, as is also the report of the reopening of Marple bells, which have been restored by Messrs. Taylor and Co. A report of the annual meeting of the Truro Diocesan Guild will appear in our next issue.

During the peal at Finchampstead on January 28th it was noticed that all the ringers were wearing spectacles! This may not be a new record, but it is certainly a rare occurrence.

The ring of five of Thornford Church, Dorset, is to be rehung and a new treble added to make six. The work is in the capable hands of John Taylor and Co.

We are not surprised to learn that Mr. J. T. Dyke, the genial hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, has received many congratulations upon the performance at Chewton Mendip, recorded in our last issue. A † indicated that it was his first peal of Surprise Major. Even the printer's 'devil' should have known better than this, but there's many a slip—when one is handling type.

The ladies are to hold a meeting at Ossett, near Wakefield, on February 29th. As usual the presence of gentlemen will be welcome, but the secretary warns them, by asking them to note the date!

The two eight-bell towers in Taunton have four active ringing members, each of whom has called a peal on eight bells.

Frederick G. Smith, aged 16, the ringer of the treble in the peal at Beaconsfield, rang his first peal (Bob Major) without the least semblance of a trip. There are very few ringers, of any age, who ring their first peal without a slip of any kind, and Fred Smith's performance was a highly creditable one.

MUFFLED RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I notice by your peal reports that some muffled ringing was done at the usual ringing speed, and one footnote even adds, 'Quickest peal on the bells.'

I venture to suggest that muffled ringing loses its beauty if carried out at the usual speed and method, but is most impressive rung with half-muffled clappers in whole pulls, or, better still, call changes. At the tower where I ring we could not manage whole pull changes to a method, so arranged suitable call changes, the tenor making about 15 blows per minute.

It would be interesting to hear what is considered correct.

There is no time given for the quarter-peals.

HALF OR FULL MUFFLED?

Dear Sir,—In going through my 'Ringing World' of last week I was surprised to find that bells had been rung in peals or quarter-peals two ways, some half-muffled and some fully muffled for our beloved King. For my part, I think this was wrong to have had two kinds as stated above. Going back to the time of Queen Victoria's death, I have always understood that bells should be rung fully muffled for any member of the Royal Family, which I take it means King or Queen and sons and daughters of the Royal House.

As we ring bells half-muffled for, say, clergy, churchwardens and ringers or anyone else of importance, when it comes to such a sad loss as the nation has just sustained I think there should be a marked difference in the way in which the bells should be muffled.

We all know our King looked upon himself as just an ordinary man, but the whole nation looked upon him as something far beyond that. I certainly think that we ringers should be given to understand which is the right way to have them muffled, then whenever such a sad event falls upon the nation again—I trust this may be a long, long way off—all bells will be muffled in the same way throughout the country. At Broxbourne we had them fully muffled with the tenor open one side.

May I ask if the Central Council could discuss this matter at some convenient time and inform all ringers of their view on this important subject?

I trust no ringer or ringers will think I am making an attack on any ringing, whether half or fully muffled, because we all had the same sincerity at the end of the rope. All I am asking is for information as to which is the correct way to muffle bells on the death of a member of the Royal Family.

OAK PANEL PRESENTED AT BISHOP'S STORTFORD.

At the half-yearly meeting of St. Michael's bellringers on Thursday, January 30th, an oak panel recording two peals—a peal of Stedman Triples and a peal of Bob Major—was dedicated by the Vicar (the Rev. W. McCarthy). This oak panel was presented to the belfry by Mr. H. M. White, the secretary of the local band, the peal of Bob Major having been rung upon his silver wedding. Mr. H. J. Tucker, of Chichester, and formerly of Bishop's Stortford, who conducted the peal, was present, and the ringers gave him a hearty welcome.

The Vicar thanked Mr. White on behalf of the churchwarden and all present for this handsome gift.

During the evening touches were rung in various methods, including Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Grandsire Caters.

DEATH OF REV. B. H. TYRWHITT-DRAKE

WALSOKEN MOURNS A BELOVED PRIEST.

Many tributes have been paid to the loss which the parish of Walsoken, the town of Wisbech and the Diocese of Ely have sustained by the tragic death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, who, as recorded last week, was killed by a falling tree in the Rectory grounds on January 25th.

Apart from his purely parochial duties, Mr. Drake had allied himself to many good causes, and took an active part in social as well as church life in the district.

He took great interest in the affairs of the British Legion, and was chaplain and vice-president of Walsoken branch. In Freemasonry he was Past Provincial Grand Chaplain of Hertfordshire.

The great grief felt in the district at his death was manifested at the funeral on Wednesday week, when, despite a rain that never ceased, such a large and representative congregation assembled that the church would not hold all who attended.

The Bishop of Ely (the Rt. Rev. B. O. F. Heywood) took part in the service, which was conducted by the Vicar of Wisbech (the Rev. H. K. Stallard). Prayers were recited by Archdeacon Ward, and the committal prayers were read by the late Rector's cousin, Canon F. Halsey, of Great Gaddesden, Herts, where Mr. Drake's father was formerly Vicar.

In addition to the family mourners were many clergy, most of whom were robed.

There was a parade of the British Legion, with their standard. The Women's Section, with their standard, was also represented, while the Wisbech Salvation Army was present with their band. Wisbech Brotherhood and Wisbech V.A.D. sent representatives, as did also the local lodges of Freemasons, the Walsoken Rectory Bowls Club, the Wisbech Women's Institute and the Wisbech Male Voice Choir.

Mr. E. H. Lewis (president) and Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary) represented the Central Council, and other ringers present were Mrs. E. K. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Ladies' Guild), Mr. R. Richardson (Master, Lincoln Diocesan Guild), Mrs. Richardson (hon. secretary, Lincoln District of the Ladies' Guild), Miss K. Willers (hon. secretary, Ely Diocesan Association), Mr. F. Warrington (hon. secretary, Ely Diocesan Association, Central District), Mr. A. N. P. Woodard (hon. secretary) and Mr. W. H. J. Hooton (representing Cambridge University Guild), Messrs. R. Crofts (Elm), A. Johnson and W. Mann (Hilgay), J. R. Smith (Wisbech), S. Ingle and E. Shinkins (Terrington), A. V. Bowen (Shouldham), O. Cousins and W. Cousins (Terrington St. John), A. G. Giddins (March), etc.

At the graveside rounds were rung on handbells by members of the Ely Association and the local service ringers.

Touces of Bob Minor were rung on the tower bells, with clappers deeply muffled, both before and after the service, and muffled ringing took place on the bells at several towers in the Wisbech Rural Deanery.

At Walsoken, on Sunday, February 2nd, the bells were rung with clappers deeply muffled. Touces of Bob Minor were rung before morning service, and in the evening a 720 of Bob Minor: W. Storey 1, W. Cousins 2, G. F. Mason 3, S. Stead 4, Lewis Bush 5, F. C. Wigmore (conductor) 6.

On Saturday, eight members of the Wisbech Branch of Ely Diocesan Association attempted a peal of St. Clement's Bob Major at All Saints' Church, Hilgay, with the bells half-muffled, but owing to a shift course the bells were called into rounds after 1 hour 15 minutes' good ringing.

At the inquest, which had been held on the preceding Monday, evidence was given that the tree felling was begun during the Saturday afternoon, but was held up for a time owing to rain. It was completed by lamp-light, and just before the tree was thrown, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake was warned by Alfred Freeman, who was doing the work, assisted by his son, to stand in a place of safety, which he pointed out to the Rector. Apparently the Rector did not stop in this spot, for after the tree was down Freeman failed

THE CHURCH AND ITS BELLS.

WHAT THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY HAS SAID.

Striking Contrast With Vicar of Kingston's Views.

The extraordinary attitude taken up by the Vicar of Kingston-on-Thames with regard to the relation of his bells to the Church has been the subject of much comment among ringers, and to many of those who love church bells, because of their association with centuries of Christian worship, it came as a painful surprise.

The Rev. T. B. Scrutton's views are, happily, shared by few of his fellow clergy, and we present below a striking contrast. One quotation is from the declaration of the Vicar of Kingston; the other is extracted from the address given by the Archbishop of Canterbury at the jubilee service of the Kent County Association in Canterbury Cathedral on Easter Monday, 1930.

The Vicar of Kingston:

The bells are of no interest to the Church as a Church. As a machine for spreading Christianity, which is its primary function, the Church has no interest in bells. They may be of some slight interest to the Church in awakening people's interest in it, but if I regard myself as one whose business it is to assist Christianity in Kingston, then I take not the smallest interest in the bells. The only interest I have in them is as a Kingstonian. The interest is municipal—civic. It is not a Church of England interest. Some people may be inclined to say: 'It is the business of the parish church—let them get on with it.' But, quite honestly, if it is left to us the bells will be left.'

The Archbishop of Canterbury:

The voice of the church bells is, among the many voices of the world, full of a very special significance and meaning. . . . Some of the deepest associations of human life, most of all, of course, the message of the Church, the bells speak out. There are other voices within the Church, of teaching, of worship and of praise, but the bells always seem to me to be the voice of the Church itself, when the buildings, so many of them old and venerable, try to speak for themselves. The bells, therefore, give their witness of what the churches themselves stand for throughout all the changes and chances of the generations that have passed, of things that are unseen and eternal. Sunday by Sunday the sounding of the bells reminds the people of God's claim upon their lives. . . . To me there is always something joyful and rather assuring in the sound of the bells. They speak of the faith that endures and of the everlasting gospel of the love of God.

DOES MUSIC OF BELLS MEAN NOTHING?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is, indeed, difficult to write with restraint of the remarks uttered by the Vicar of Kingston, and, although it may be impossible for a ringer to view the subject with the reverend gentleman's eyes, can it be really possible that the music of the bells means nothing to him?

I cannot bring myself to believe that if the Rev. T. B. Scrutton was at Westminster on Tuesday last, as I was, he could possibly have failed to be deeply moved, for of all the sounds I heard on that day none of them had the effect of stirring up the emotion as the wonderful mournful rhythm of the Abbey bells—and, my word, how they were rung!

Bells have always been regarded as the most appropriate way of expressing the nation's joys and sorrows, to say nothing of their regular Sunday ringing to remind us of our duty to God and His House.

Lastly, if the Vicar of Kingston was really in earnest, and no one will deny that he was very frank, it is time he moved to a church without a peal of bells and made room for someone a little more sympathetic towards our very ancient and noble art.

We should be very thankful that there are few clergymen who hold that view, and I trust that his convictions will be overruled.

WILLIAM T. GRICE.

Barming, Kent.

to find him there, and, on searching, discovered him crushed under a bough. Medical evidence showed that death was instantaneous, for the Rector sustained a broken neck, a broken back, a fractured skull and a broken nose.

The Coroner recorded a verdict of 'Death by misadventure,' and added that Freeman was in no way to blame for the occurrence. The Coroner expressed his profound sympathy with the family, and Police Supt. Green, associating himself with the expression of sympathy, said the Rector's death would be deplored by all who knew him. 'His death,' he added, 'has robbed us of a very beloved priest.'

MUFFLED RINGING FOR DEAD KING

The number of muffled or half-muffled peals and touches rung for the death of His Majesty King George V. was greater probably than for any previous monarch. Reports of about 150 peals have been sent to us, apart from the great number of shorter lengths which have been rung—evidence of the determination of ringers everywhere to ensure that the bells took their traditional place in the national mourning.

We referred last week to the wonderful effect of the beautiful ringing at Westminster Abbey, as the solemn funeral procession started out from Westminster Hall.

The cortege arrived at Windsor to the tolling of the 'Sebastopol' bell, hung in the Round Tower of the Castle, while during the procession the tenor at the Parish Church was tolled.

Some very fine half-muffled Stedman Cinques was heard at St. Paul's Cathedral before the great memorial service held on the afternoon of the funeral, and at Windsor in the evening half-muffled touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung at the Curfew Tower and the Parish Church.

At the Parish Church on Sunday, January 26th, a muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung for evensong: J. A. Glass 1, W. P. Cross 2, T. Smith 3, L. Stilwell 4, W. W. Phipps 5, A. R. Pink 6, E. S. T. Farr (conductor) 7, F. Simmonds 8.

PEAL ATTEMPT COMES ROUND TOO SOON.

A half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples at Lyme Regis on the day of the King's funeral came to an unexpected and disappointing end. Holt's Original was being attempted, but when 4,368 changes had been rung in 2 hours 45 minutes, the bells, owing to an unfortunate lapse on the part of the conductor, were allowed to run round at the end of the plain course, which comes up at this point of the peal: F. Hiscock 1, J. E. Philbrick 2, C. W. H. Powell 3, H. G. Keeley 4, G. H. Whitmore 5, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 6, F. Price 7, W. G. Sartin 8. On Tuesday, January 21st, with the bells half-muffled in memory of King George V., the whole pull and stand for the 70 years of his age was rung by Rev. C. C. Cox 1, F. Hiscock 2, C. W. Powell 3, J. E. Philbrick 4, H. G. Keeley 5, F. Price 6, F. E. Blackmore 7, W. G. Sartin 8.

At St. Mary's Church, Dunmow, Essex, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major with the bells half-muffled: G. Pitts 1, R. Roper 2, W. Richardson 3, A. Perry 4, A. Smith 5, G. Saunders 6, J. Jennings 7, W. Smith (conductor) 8.

At Sulgrave, after a memorial service on January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, the bells being fully muffled: T. Wilcox 1, J. Salisbury 2, W. Branson (conductor) 3, L. Wootton 4, J. Murrell 5, — Wilcox 6.

At the Parish Church, Luton, Beds, on the occasion of H.M. King George's funeral, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, half-muffled: H. Walker 1, A. King 2, B. Wilson 3, T. Kendall 4, A. J. Smith 5, H. Wood 6, L. A. Goodenough (conductor) 7, E. Shane 8.

A quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung with the bells fully muffled at the Ashford Parish Church, Kent, on Sunday evening, January 26th: Mrs. Everett 1, P. Page 2, J. Parsons 3, G. Swaffer 4, T. Cullingworth 5, T. Tabrett 6, C. W. Everett (conductor) 7, D. Godden 8. On Tuesday evening, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples with the bells half-muffled: Mrs. Everett 1, R. Edwards 2, F. Conley 3, G. Swaffer 4, T. Cullingworth 5, T. Tabrett 6, C. W. Everett (conductor) 7, R. Goldup 8.

At the Church of St. Mary, Hornsey, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, being 10½ different six-scores: Rev. D. A. Bailey (first quarter-peal) 1, J. G. Nash (conductor) 2, D. G. Hibble 3, F. Fensom 4, J. Clouston 5, G. W. Blee 6. Rung with the bells deeply muffled.

At St. Giles', Willenhall, on Tuesday evening, January 28th, with the bells muffled, 720 Bob Minor with 7-8 covering: A. Evans 1, J. Evans 2, J. Picken 3, J. Luck 4, C. Wallater (conductor) 5, W. Edge 6, A. E. Read 7, H. Ludford 8. First 720 in the method for all except the conductor.

At Oversal, Derbyshire, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,554 changes), with the bells half-muffled, at the Church of St. Matthew: H. Adams 1, W. Curson (conductor) 2, L. Freeman 3, W. Brooker 4, W. E. Clayfield 5, J. W. Cotton 6, G. W. Clayfield 7, H. Curson 8.

The bells of St. Peter's Collegiate Church, Wolverhampton, were rung half-muffled for the funeral of King George V., and in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): H. Griffiths 1, H. Knight (conductor) 2, T. Roden 3, G. A. Baker 4, N. H. Smith 5, K. Knowles 6, J. D. G. Harris 7, F. Brotherton 8, W. H. Lawley 9, G. Langley 10.

A fully muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Peter's Church, Croydon, for evensong on February 2nd: W. Witterick (first quarter-peal) 1, D. Wright (conductor) 2, H. Wills 3, A. Jones 4, F. Jones 5, W. Bulpitt 6, F. Lecks 7, R. Simmons 8, H. Simmons 9, E. Denham 10.

On Saturday, January 25th, at St. Peter's, Powick, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, with the bells half-muffled: T. W. Lewis (conductor) 1, F. Barnett 2, J. Woodyatt 3, H. Cole 4, F. Woodward 5, F. Yates 6.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF NORTH NORFOLK BRANCH.

Over thirty members, representing the four branches, from Buxton, Dersingham, Diss, Fakenham, Garboldisham, North Walsham, Norwich, Shelfanger, Winfarthing, Wroxham, Wymondham, Yarmouth and the local band, supported the annual meeting of the North Norfolk branch at Hethersett on Saturday last. A variety of methods from Grandsire to London Surprise were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The Rector of Hethersett (the Rev. J. M. McAnally) conducted a shortened form of evensong in the church, and, following this, most adjourned for tea in the Church Rooms.

At the business meeting which followed tea, the Rev. H. W. Benson was unanimously re-elected branch chairman, while Mr. N. Golden was asked to continue as hon. secretary. Messrs. G. Bailey (Wroxham), H. F. Carter (Aylsham), W. Clover (Wymondham), W. C. Duffield (Buxton) and G. Mayers (Norwich) were elected committee members, and Messrs. Bailey and Duffield were re-elected members of the Standing Committee of the Association.

Mr. J. R. Hindry was elected a performing member, the belfry elections of Messrs. W. Clarke and J. H. Arbon were ratified, while Mr. C. V. Blake was re-elected a member.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the North Norfolk Branch at Scetow on May 2nd. The South Norfolk Branch meets at Diss on May 16th.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. J. M. McAnally for conducting the service and for his hearty welcome to Hethersett concluded the business of the meeting.

SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH.

On Saturday, January 18th, the South Norfolk Branch held its annual meeting at Pulham Market. Members from Diss, Redenhall, Saxlingham, Starston, St. Margaret's, Garboldisham, Winfarthing, Shelfanger and the local band supported the meeting, while the usual group turned up from Norwich and Wymondham.

The Rector of St. Mary Magdalen, Pulham, conducted a short service with a congregation of 30 ringers, and then followed tea, the members, as usual, being the guests of the Rector.

At the business meeting the Rev. R. H. Stacey presided, supported by Mr. W. L. Duffield, branch chairman, and Messrs. H. G. Bennett, A. G. Harrison, R. Riches and E. Whiting, members of the committee.

A letter from the hon. branch secretary was read apologising for his absence, due to illness.

The branch chairman, hon. secretary and the committee were re-elected en bloc, and Messrs. W. E. Bason and E. G. Bennett were nominated as members of the General Committee of the association.

Mr. F. T. Bloomfield, of Garboldisham, was elected a performing member of the association.

The next meeting of the branch is to be held at Diss, on a date in May to be fixed by the secretary.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for his address, his hospitality and his services in the chair was carried enthusiastically, and the best wishes of the meeting for a speedy recovery were sent to Mr. Nolan Golden, the hon. secretary.

DEATH OF MR. ALPHÆUS BERRY.

SUFFOLK RINGER WHO DIED IN HOUSE WHERE HE WAS BORN.

It is with much regret that we record the death of Mr. Alphæus Berry, which occurred somewhat suddenly, on Wednesday, January 22nd, at Thornham, Suffolk, in the house in which he was born 52 years ago. For some years he had been district secretary of the Eye Branch of the Suffolk Guild. Till four years ago, when he was appointed sexton of Thornham Church, he had been an enthusiastic peal ringer, and had rung upwards of 330 peals, often cycling many miles after a day's work to make peal attempts in various methods. He took part in a peal of 10,080 changes in 14 Treble Bob methods in 1912, also, in more recent years, in most of the peals of Surprise Minor rung there.

The deceased was interred in the presence of a large congregation, which included Lord Henniker, the Hon. John Henniker, Rev. the Hon. Victor Henniker, who, with the branch chaplain of the British Legion, conducted the service. Deceased was a member of the Legion, and 30 members attended. All the workmen on the Thornham Hall Estate, where Mr. Berry was foreman, were present.

At the conclusion of the service the bells were rung with half-muffled clappers by ringers from Braisworth, Cotton, Diss, Eye, Fressingham, Gislegham, Garboldisham, Mendlesham, Redgrave, Shelfanger, Stoke Ash, Thornham, Thorndon, Walsham le Willows, Wickham Skeith, Wetheringsett, Wymondham and Yaxley. On the following evening an excellently struck half-muffled peal was rung.

NORTHFLEET, KENT.—At St. Botolph's Church, for morning service on Sunday, December 15th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: J. R. Dyke (first quarter-peal) 1, G. J. Butcher (conductor) 2, R. Smith 3, L. T. Stacey 4, T. Taylor 5, A. Durling 6, R. A. Constant 7, G. W. Hammond 8.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SONNING BRANCH.

The Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held its annual meeting, as usual, at Wokingham, Berks, when, despite the arctic weather, a considerable number of members (including several ladies) attended.

Ringling took place at All Saints' and St. Paul's Churches both before and after the meeting.

Service was held at All Saints' Church, the Rector (the Rev. G. Kenworthy) officiating, assisted by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (who read the lesson), the Deputy Master (the Rev. G. Elliot Wigg), and the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (curate of All Saints'), who preached a striking sermon from Revelations iii, 15: 'Neither cold nor hot.' He remarked that the text emphasised that our religion should be filled with fervour: strong words, almost as though it were better not to become Christians at all than be lukewarm Christians. Everything was to be keen. Our Lord's parables emphasised this. The people mentioned in the Acts of the Apostles were 'all out' for their Lord. It was the same now. They were told about the uselessness of the slacker; he was of no help to the Lord's work on earth, but directly hindering it. The history of the Church showed that, when from flourishing it 'slipped back,' slackness was the cause. When Christians were so keen that they feared not persecution or even death, the Church flourished.

We wanted not so much better Christians as more of them in these days if the Church was to go forward. It was up to each one to see if he were 'pulling his weight' or whether he was hindering the work of the Church, which had no use for slackers—those who came to see and then, censorious, went away saying, 'That was not very much help to me.' Those only of real help to our Lord were those who went out after Him in a spirit of absolute loyalty to Him. Slackness was the one great drawback in all their work for our Lord and His Church. The keen ones were a tremendous support to the Church, but there was room for improvement.

The preacher then indicated ways in which people might become even a little more helpful. These included for ringers—keenness in their work, shown in punctuality for ringing for church services on Sunday and for practice on weekdays—a help and not a hindrance to the band. There was a difference, he said, between choir and ringers. In the former, one voice out of a part, wrong or absent, might pass comparatively unnoticed, but the ringer absent or incorrect was bound to have an obvious effect. The preacher added that he had scarcely dared to say so much, but for an article he recently read in 'The Ringing World' on this subject, and went on to say: 'Ringers, on the whole, are the most splendid fellows I have ever met, and when the youngsters get heckled by the other ringers it is all to the good. Don't be offended when you are told of your mistakes. Ringing is a very difficult task, and surely that is what makes it so worth while. Always be trying to learn something new. You improve by practice.'

To take pride in one's work and to work together as a team were well worth while, he proceeded, and mentioned a tower, 'not far from here,' where in 1934, out of a possible 1,100 attendances only 25 were missed! Such could be done by keenness. It was well, sometimes, to think about all those little faults and failings, too, as well as to remind themselves what a tremendous privilege it was to be a ringer, even if people did discourage by criticism.

Among those present at the service and subsequent proceedings included the Revs. A. P. Carr, W. T. Stubbs and L. R. Majendie, Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild treasurer), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary), with foremen of the towers and ringers, a congregation of about 70.

A collection for the Branch Restoration Fund amounted to £12s. 6d. Mr. A. Yould, F.R.C.O., was at the organ and played 'Belfry Praise,' for 'Unchanging God Who livest' and 'Each Lord's Day morn,' sung during the service.

BUSINESS MEETING.

The usual meat tea followed, held in the All Saints' Church House, the fare including the much favoured Wokingham meat pies and also mince pies. Miss A. H. Walker and her helpers, the Misses Greany, Ward, Cox, Butler and Mesdames Rose, Henderson, Brooks, Lindsey and Willis, formed the efficient staff of waitresses, etc., while, under Mr. C. Goddard's able direction, the Rev. R. L. Majendie, Messrs. F. E. Chapman, A. E. Priest, W. Houlton and L. Russell acted as carvers.

The meal over, the Master thanked in happy terms the ladies and gentlemen who had carried out the tea arrangements, and this was emphasised by acclamation.

Mr. W. J. Paice (the hon. secretary) thanked the two Rectors for their kindness in allowing the use of their towers, not only on that day, but on many other occasions. He further thanked the Rector of All Saints' for the service, which they were always delighted to attend on those occasions. He further thanked the preacher (the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow), whose sermon, he said, had hit the nail right on the head, and he hoped it would go in deep. He also thanked Mr. Yould, the organist, for his beautiful music, and regretted that Mr. Yould was unable to be with them at the tea.

The Rev. G. Kenworthy, responding, paid a tribute to the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow's sermon, and remarked that since Mr. Thurlow's coming to All Saints' he himself had learnt quite a lot about bell-ringing and what a wonderful art it was. He felt they were a splendid lot of ringers (applause).

The Master of the Guild (Canon Coleridge) presided at the business meeting.

The hon. secretary referred to Mr. Darvill, of Waltham St. Lawrence, and Mr. A. H. Jones, of Wokingham (both members of long standing), who were ill and unable to attend the meeting. He congratulated Mr. W. Bagley, of Easthamstead, upon his partial recovery from eye trouble, expressing pleasure at seeing Mr. Bagley again with them (applause).

The balance sheet was then presented by Mr. Paice as hon. treasurer. The balance had increased from £5 12s. 1d. in 1934 to £11 7s. 3d. on December 31st, 1935. He thanked Miss Walker for her donation of £3 15s., and paid a warm tribute to Mr. Owen Goddard for his kind services as auditor. He also thanked the hon. members and foremen of towers for the prompt payment of subscriptions.

On the proposition of Mr. J. Moth, seconded by Mr. L. Russell, the report was adopted.

Mr. Moth then said Mr. Paice had not drawn his honorarium, voted some years back.—Mr. Paice said he did not take it, as the branch had not given instructions.—Mr. Moth then moved, and Mr. Rance seconded, 'That the sum of four guineas be awarded to Mr. Paice, as honorarium for two years.'—This was carried unanimously, and Mr. Paice expressed thanks.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr. Paice reported 27 honorary and 142 ringing members, against 25 and 153 the year before. During the year Dr. Atlee had left Burfield and the Rev. J. G. Elwood had succeeded him. Miss Renshaw, of Waltham St. Lawrence, had passed away, and her sister, Mrs. Robins, had expressed a wish to fill her place as an honorary member. Mr. F. Hanson, a Wargrave ringer, had also passed away. In many ways the past year had shown increased activity, and more keenness had been shown by many members. At a successful meeting at Waltham St. Lawrence in the summer, a variety of methods were rung in good style. The Rector and parishioners were thanked for their kind welcome and hospitality. Peals had been brought home by mixed bands from the Deanery towers, but none by individual branch towers. Good practice in Minor methods had been put in at several of the towers. Barkham tower and ringers had again withdrawn.—The report was adopted, with thanks to the secretary.

The Deputy Master presided pro tem. while the chairman was unanimously re-elected.—Canon Coleridge, thanking the branch for the honour, said he would do his best, but age and infirmity precluded his mounting tower steps. He would soon reach his 80th year.

Mr. W. J. Paice was re-elected on the proposition of Mr. J. Moth, seconded by Mr. F. Dentry, who both expressed cordial appreciation of the excellent work done by the hon. secretary.

Mr. Paice suitably responded, and referred to Mr. G. J. Wright, of Sonning, who was not present owing to illness. He was one of their oldest members, and he wished him many more happy years.

Messrs. F. Dentry, J. Moth, J. Rance and J. White were then re-elected branch representatives to the Guild Committee. The Branch Committee, consisting of foremen of the towers, was re-elected.

Recommendation from the Branch Committee for a half-yearly meeting to be held in June at Waltham St. Lawrence, and for monthly combined practices as before, were carried.

The Master regretted that, with so few of his Saturdays free and his not being able now to get about as he would have liked, he had very little to report. He proceeded humorously to make an encouraging speech (applause).

The Deputy Master, in similar vein, expressed his satisfaction at visiting the Sonning Branch, also his pleasure at the way in which Mr. Yould had so beautifully played the organ that day.

Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild treasurer) said the money for the Guild was coming in very satisfactorily. He hoped for a better balance than they had last year. Although past 'man's allotted span of life,' he would still do his little bit for the Guild. He wished everything good for the Sonning Branch, which always gave him a hearty welcome. They always did their best, and Mr. Paice was again first in getting in his figures. He congratulated him on his treasurership and for his Restoration Fund. He wished every tower and branch would do that, in which case they would be much better off. He wished them all a very happy New Year (applause).

Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary) congratulated Mr. Paice on being 'first in.' Mr. Hibbert said that he could himself still get up tower steps and crawl over the framework of bells. Easthamstead had invited help for reconditioning their bells, which request he recommended to Mr. Paice and to the Guild Restoration Fund Committee, who would themselves make a recommendation. The Guild was for mutual help, and he hoped somebody would bring the matter forward. 'Let all work together with loyal support,' he added.

The Rev. W. T. Stubbs, Rector of Easthamstead, said about £150 would be required for the restoration of bells and tower. He would ask the Guild to loan the amount, and hoped, in a year, to collect sufficient to repay it.

On the proposition of Mr. Paice, seconded by Mr. Rance, five guineas was voted unanimously to Easthamstead from the Branch Restoration Fund.

The Rev. A. P. Carr thanked the chairman for presiding, and Canon Coleridge, in reply, said he hoped for some time yet to be with them, either as a humble member or as their chairman (applause).

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

PRESTEIGN DISTRICT WANTS TO CHANGE ITS NAME.

The annual meeting of the Presteign District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild was held at Lyonshall on Saturday, January 25th. The towers represented were Kington, Eardisland, Dilwyn, Staunton-on-Arrow and Lyonshall. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. C. Ellison), who made special mention of the great national loss by the death of King George. Tea was afterwards provided at the Vicarage by the Vicar, and this was followed by the annual business meeting. The Vicar presided. Mr. T. Jones (Kington) was elected District Ringing Master for the ensuing year. The instructors, Mr. L. Evans (Eardisland) and Mr. W. Richards (Lyonshall), were re-elected, as also was the hon. secretary (Mr. Jahcz Preice).

In his report, the secretary paid high tribute to Lyonshall and Staunton-on-Arrow ringers for attendances at the combined practices and quarterly meetings, and said that, on the whole, members attended much better in 1935 than before.

There was a long discussion on changing the name of the district, and it was unanimously agreed that it should be called the 'Kington' District instead of the 'Presteign' District. The decision will be sent to the Hereford Guild for approval.

The next quarterly meeting is to be held at New Radnor in May. Four new members, three from Kington and one from Lyonshall, were elected, and five qualified for certificates, three from Staunton-on-Arrow and two from Lyonshall.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for taking the service and providing the tea, to the lady helpers, and also to Mr. Bowen (Lyonshall) for acting as organist. The bells were afterwards rung half-muffled till 9 p.m.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

BRANCH COMMITTEES THAT DO NOT MEET.

A meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association was held at Kidderminster on January 18th. Good use was made of the new ring of twelve bells, and the service, held in church, was conducted by the Vicar (Canon L. B. Sladen, M.A.), who also gave the address.

Tea, by invitation, was provided in the Parish Hall, at which about 50 members sat down. The Vicar presided at the subsequent business meeting, supported by Mr. J. Hemming, Mr. Charles Woodbury, Mr. J. Bass (Central Committee representative) and Mr. C. W. Cooper (librarian).

Reference was made to the loss to the association by death of Mr. Harry Mason, who had been an indefatigable worker for the association. His gifts were always of material value to the association. It was proposed that the secretary send a letter of condolence to Mrs. Mason, the members agreeing by standing in silence a few moments.

Another gentleman who had also passed on was remembered by a great many of the older members, the Rev. C. A. Clements.

Apologies were announced from Mr. W. B. Cartwright, the branch secretary; Mr. J. D. Johnson, general secretary of the association, and Mr. W. Short, Ringing Master of the association.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Chaddesley Corbett in June, and it was arranged that the quarterly peal should be attempted at Kidderminster, by the kind permission of the Vicar.

Five new performing members were elected.

Mr. R. Matthews raised an interesting point. Each branch, he said, had a committee consisting of the leader of each company, who should be responsible for all moneys due to the association and see that they were duly collected. He had no recollection of them ever being called together, and he thought it would be a good thing for them to meet and discuss matters concerning the towers in the branch.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, conducting the service, to the organist and to those who had kindly provided the tea and waited upon the members.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.

Although the weather was uninviting, a considerable number of members assembled at St. Mary's Church, Kingswinford, on the occasion of the quarterly meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.

The Rev. D. J. Wilson, Vicar, conducted the service, and gave an interesting address. In the course of his remarks, the Vicar said how pleased he was to see some of his old friends from St. Matthew's Church, Walsall, where at one time he was doing service as curate. Tea was served in the Parish Hall, at the conclusion of which the Rev. C. H. Barker proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist, towerkeeper and the caterers.

It was resolved to hold a special meeting for practice at Wombourne on Saturday, March 14th, of which due notice will be given.

On the proposition of Mr. K. Knowles, the clerical secretary was asked to send a letter of sympathy to Mr. George Hughes—who is at present in hospital—with best wishes for a speedy recovery.

The next quarterly meeting is provisionally arranged to take place at Walsall on Saturday, April 25th.

FOR BEGINNERS.

PITFALLS IN EARLY COMPOSING.

There are many young ringers who like trying their hand at composing. Last week we showed those who would like to find new methods one of the pitfalls which must be avoided if they try to construct a new method. Here are one or two points selected at random which they must bear in mind if they endeavour to compose touches or peals.

The indiscriminate stringing together of lead-ends (or 'lead-heads') and courses does not necessarily lead to a true touch or peal. You can, by experience and study, get to know that certain combinations produce certain true blocks of changes, either of leads or courses, but departure from what we may term these standardised callings requires the application of tests, to ensure truth, that cannot be ignored.

For instance, if you are trying to get a composition of Grandsire Triples, you cannot throw in the bobs anywhere until the bells are brought round, and depend upon it being a true touch. To give the simplest example: If you are pricking your touch by the lead-ends, you cannot have 325476 at a plain lead or a bob, because before that comes up in your ringing you will have had 'rounds' at hand-stroke.

But the liability of error goes much deeper than that. Every lead-end can be produced in two ways, by a plain lead or by a bob. As an example, 752634, produced by a bob at the first lead, could also occur at a plain lead after 723546; it, therefore, follows that if you begin a touch with a bob at the first lead, you must also have a bob at the lead following 723546.

The leads which have a relationship of this kind run in blocks of five, and there are 72 such blocks in the extent of Grandsire Triples. Each of these blocks is a cycle and they are known as Q-sets. It is impossible to set them all out here, but here is an example:—

346572	354267	253746
467523	456372	354267

Notice the relationship between the five rows in A. Column B is the plain lead which follows the corresponding row in A; column C shows what will be produced if a bob follows A instead of a plain lead. Notice also that the rows in C are the same as in A, except that the cycle is begun at a different place.

Thus it follows that if you have a plain lead after 234567, you cannot have a bob after 346572; or if 346572 is followed by a plain lead, you cannot have a bob after 467523. If you use all your Q-set, as you must in a peal, it means, therefore, that if a plain lead follows any row in column A, a plain lead must follow them all; or, if a bob follows one, a bob must follow all.

It may happen in a touch, however, that you will not use all the lead ends in column A, and then it is possible to use both plained and bobbed leads, but the utmost care is necessary. Before, therefore, wasting too much time on composing Grandsire, it would be well to study the subject more closely as it is set out in Snowden's book on the Grandsire method, for Grandsire composition is a somewhat precarious task.

There is a similar snare in methods like Bob Major, which can very easily be seen by setting out the handstroke and backstroke leads of the treble.

Plain Leads.
Backstroke ...	12345678	14235678	13425678
Bob Leads.
Backstroke ...	12345678	14235678	13425678

An examination of these figures will show that, while it is possible to use one lead plained and one lead bobbed, if all three are to be used, then (unless a single is used for one) all must be plain or all bobbed. This applies not only to those leads where the tenors (that is 7-8) are together at the lead-end, but to every lead of the course.

Not only have you to avoid the repetitions which may occur in this way, but there are other hidden sources of trouble which you need to know how to avoid, and we hope to be able to say more of them next week.

AN OLD STORY.

Often, as long as things appear, on the surface, to go smoothly, members of ringing associations are content to accept them as satisfactory, and it is just as well that occasionally they should be shaken out of their complacency. There is one place, at least, where ringers may be sure of being 'told the worst' when they hold their annual meeting, and that is in the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. There the members may be confident that they will get from their Hon. Secretary not platitudes and congratulations, but plain speaking on their shortcomings. It is given in the kindest spirit—and they appear to enjoy it. The trouble, however, according to Mr. Grover, is that they do not take it to heart, but we feel quite sure that it makes them think. Reports that are mere recitals of statistics and a means of handing out bouquets may be very charming, but it is a good thing that opportunity should sometimes be taken for plain speaking. This applies, not only to the Guildford Diocesan Guild, but to most other ringing associations. There would be less apathy and selfishness if, where it is needed, those concerned were given a few home truths to digest, by those in a position to express an opinion.

Speaking with a certain amount of inside knowledge, we can say that the state of affairs in the Guildford Diocesan Guild is no worse, even if it is no better, than in many other societies. Behind the scenes there is a good deal of hard work being put in, but, as everywhere, there are those who are content to let the willing horses work and to take all that is offered them without making any effort to reciprocate. There is a certain proportion of ringers who seem constitutionally apathetic where ringing affairs are concerned. It is an old story. To stir them into action and initiative is an almost impossible task, and there is, on the face of it, some justification in the argument of those who say that such ringers are not worth wasting time on or that if they have any desire to get on they will make their own opportunities. And yet even the most apathetic may have some point at which their interest might be touched. If they are left entirely alone, they will for ever remain outside the fold; but constant friendly contact may, and very likely will, have satisfactory results.

The real point, however, is that it should not be left to just a few enthusiasts to maintain touch with these lukewarm towers. It should be the business of all the members to share in the missionary work, to extend the hand of fellowship and keep the contact. It is not altogether a matter of instruction; it is, in the first stages at any rate, a question of seeking the confidence and interest of those who are loth to have anything to do with organised ringing. Once this is established, other steps to progress will probably follow, but the work at the outset is one in which all who have the interest of their association at heart should share. A solution offered by the secretary of the Guildford Guild, is that neighbouring towers should link up in pairs or threes and cultivate the spirit of fellowship upon which all progress must be based. It is a suggestion worth considering, but it would obviously be a mistake to carry the 'parochial spirit,' as a correspondent describes it, to the limit of excluding from peal ringing visitors from other areas in order to help the lame dogs and the stay-at-homes. Such a course would, in the long run, have disastrous effects.

MUFFLED RINGING.

MUFFLED PEALS FOR THREE SOVEREIGNS.

In connection with the peal of Stedman Triples rung in Leeds on January 28th, it is interesting to note that Mr. Francis Barker has now taken part in muffled peals on the death of three Sovereigns, viz., Grandsire Caters at Wakefield on February 4th, 1901, for the late Queen Victoria, Kent Treble Bob Major at Liversedge on May 14th, 1910, for the late King Edward VII., and Stedman Triples at Leeds on January 28th, 1936, for the late King George V.

FOR BEGINNERS.

SOMETHING ABOUT PROOF.

When you prick touches of Grandsire Triples you will find that it will perhaps be easier to check the truth of the touch if you write it out by the lead ends. Then, until you have called a single, if the lead ends are true, the touch will be true. If singles have been used, then make another column beside the first in which you write all the handstrokes and check these also against themselves and the backstrokes in the first column.

The composition of peals of Triples is a much more difficult matter than peals on higher numbers, the reason being, of course, that in Triples every change has to be used, whereas on higher numbers there is a very much larger scope.

For instance, in a peal of Major you have 40,320 changes from which to select your 5,000, and even if you do not 'part the tenors,' which means that both the 7th and 8th are left to follow the work of a plain course throughout the peal, you have as many as 13,440 to choose from in a plain method.

In composing Major it is usual to do it by course-ends (the change at which the tenors are in the corresponding position to that from which they started and which would be more correctly described as 'course-heads'). It is not sufficient, however, for the course-ends to be correct—there can easily be repetition elsewhere. A check on this would be by the lead ends, as in Grandsire, but there is a shorter way.

The method is made up of a series of plain courses, 120 of them, with the tenors together, and every bob you call shunts you from one course to another. Thus, if you start from 23456 (omitting treble and tenors) and call a bob Wrong, you are shunted into the course which starts 52436, or if you waited until you reach the Middle before you call a bob, you are then shunted into the course which starts 43652, while if you wait for the Home before a call is made, then you switch into the course 42356.

You are not likely to let the course-ends repeat, and what you have to be on guard against is repetition of pieces of other courses occurring in between internal bobs, such as between Wrong and Middle.

For instance, if you called this touch—

the course-ends are true, but the leads between the Wrong and Middle of the third course repeat with the corresponding leads in the first course. How can you prove it without writing out all your lead ends? Draw up a table of three columns. Over the first put 52436, which is the course-end produced by a bob Wrong from rounds. Over the second put the 43652, the course-end produced from rounds by a bob Middle, and over the third put 42356, produced by a bob Home, thus:—

Now, under each column write the figures which will be obtained by transposing by the figures over the top of the line, whenever a bob is called. Thus you start from 23456 and in the first column you write the row obtained by the 52436 transposition, which is, of course, 52436. In the second column, as there is a bob Middle, you write the result of transposing 52436 by 43652, which is 42635, and in the third column, as there is a bob Home, you write the result of the transposition of 42635 by 42356, which is 64235.

Let us set it out.

Calling	Transpositions
— — —	34256	34256	23456

You will notice that where no bob is called you make no transposition, but reproduce the figures from wherever the previous bob was made. You will see what we mean if you refer to the figures where the Wrong and Middle leads are plain.

To check the truth of the touch you examine each column separately. If there is no repetition in a column that much is true, but if there is a repetition in any one of the columns, then the touch or peal is false. In the courses given above there is repetition in the first column, and, therefore, the touch is false.

When you proceed to prove any touch or peal by this method you must have a column for each place in any course that a bob is called, so that if there are bobs 'Before' you must have a column for that. And here you must not only write down the rows produced by the bobs, but also the rows from which the bobs come, the reason being that if a bob Before is called in Bob Major, there are two leads in which 7-8 are on the front, and both must be taken into account. Here is a short touch which includes Betimes, the transposition for a Before being 35264:—

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

GRIMSBY DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Grimsby District was held at St. James', Grimsby. Owing to the death of His Majesty King George, the bells were fully muffled. Towers represented were Barrow-on-Humber, Barton-on-Humber, Burton-on-Stather, Bigby, Goxhill, Killingholme, Louth, Scunthorpe, Thornton Curtis, Uceleby, Waltham and the local members. The Guild Ringing Master (Mr. R. Richardson), Mrs. Richardson (secretary of the Lincoln District of the Ladies' Guild) and Mr. Bramwell, of Cleethorpes, were also present. The service was conducted by the Rev. Tallents (assistant priest), who gave an interesting address.

After service, members adjourned to the Church House, where tea was awaiting them.

At the business meeting which followed, the Guild Ringing Master kindly presided, through the unavoidable absence of the president of the district (the Ven. Archdeacon Parry). The Ringing Master and secretary's reports were read, and a vote of thanks passed to the officers for their reports.

Mr. Richardson proposed the re-election of the president. This was seconded by Mr. C. W. Taylor and carried with applause. The other officers were re-elected en bloc, and four new members were elected, viz., Miss Eayres (Barton-on-Humber), Miss K. M. Felle, Mrs. F. Cook and Mr. Renders (Barrow-on-Humber).

The District Bell Fund accounts were presented and accepted. Owing to the illness of his wife, Mr. W. H. Heyhoe asked to be relieved of the office of secretary of the Bell Fund. He had held office since its inception in 1923.—Mr. C. W. Taylor kindly accepted the office. It was decided to take a retiring collection for the District Bell Fund, and this amounted to 11s.

The following dates and places for meetings recommended by the District Committee were accepted, subject to alteration: Mablethorpe, May 23rd; Bigby, June 13th; Burton-on-Stather, July 18th; Elsham, September 19th; Scunthorpe, October 31st. As the combined practices had been a success, it was decided to have three practices, which will take place in February, March and April. Places and dates will be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

The secretary was asked to write a letter of sympathy to their old friend, the Rev. J. H. Park, of Thornton Curtis, in his illness.

A hearty vote of thanks were passed to the senior curate (the Rev. Wilson) for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Tallents for conducting the service and for his address, to Mr. H. Rushby for presiding at the organ, and to Mrs. Stow, the caterer, and her helpers and to those who had made arrangements. Also to Mr. Richardson for presiding over the meeting and for his kindness in coming to show his films of 'The Great Adventure' and other subjects. Mr. Richardson also gave a running commentary, which made the pictures all the more interesting. Great thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson for all the work they do for the Exercise. Nothing is too much trouble and distance no object to them, and ringers in the Grimsby District appreciate their kindness.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

MEETING AT A FARM HOUSE.

The annual meeting of the Towcester Branch was held on Saturday at Alderton, a small village of about 60 inhabitants and quite off the beaten track. The church has five bells, lately rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and credit is due to the ringers and villagers for the interest they have taken in raising close on £200 for the work. A broken stay rather marred the ringing before service, but with the assistance of Mr. H. Ridgeway a new one was fitted and ringing carried on.

In his address, the Rector (the Rev. Beasley) welcomed the Guild to Alderton and spoke of the good work ringers were doing. No village hall being available, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fountaine offered two rooms of their farm house to have tea in, 42 being present. After the meal had been disposed of, the business meeting followed. Capt. Grant-Ives was re-elected president. The Rev. E. V. Fenn was elected hon. secretary in place of the Rev. R. Howes (who now resides at Beenham, Berks). The Rev. E. V. Fenn said he was not a ringer, but would do what he could to carry on, and thanks were accorded him for taking the office.

Messrs. A. J. Green and E. C. Lambert were elected on the Central Committee, and the Branch Committee were elected en bloc.

Thanks were accorded to Mr. and Mrs. Fountaine and the helpers at the tea, and to local ringers. Ringing continued up to 8.30, when a very good meeting was brought to a close.

There is no need to have a column for the Middle in this case because there are no calls there.

Here is a calling which, twice repeated, will come round. Work it out and see whether or not it is true. The calls are W. B. H. H. W. M. H. (twice repeated).

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Two Worcestershire rings of six are to be rehung by John Taylor and Co., viz., Little Comberton, near Pershore, and Welland, near Upton-on-Severn.

Mr. Arthur Walker, who rang his one hundredth peal at Campsall, Yorks, on January 30th, made up his century by ringing peals in 18 towers and under 25 conductors.

The report of a peal rung at Stowmarket on January 28th has been sent without the time.

Congratulations and good wishes to Mr. W. J. Nevard, the Essex veteran, upon his 80th birthday anniversary. He celebrated it on Saturday by taking part in a peal of Bob Major at Holland, Essex, and afterwards entertained the company to high tea. By a coincidence, the peal was rung on the 50th anniversary of Mr. Nevard's first peal in the method.

The bells of St. Mary's, Nottingham, will be broadcast from the Midland Regional Station on Sunday evening, February 23rd, 7.55 to 8 p.m. Will any reader who heard the old peal over the air please write to the Ringing Master, Mr. A. Coppock, 33, Hazelwood Road, Nottingham, as to whether these tuned bells 'come over' as clearly and distinctly as the old type?

The 'Thousand Pealers' are to meet at St. Olave's, Hart Street, to-morrow for a peal. If experience counts for anything, they ought to ring it. We hope they will not suffer from 'nerves.'

A Suffolk newspaper has apparently found a new method. It records that 'A course of Bob Major and 168 of Grandsire Tripes were also rung with the bells half-muffled.'

BELLS FOR THE 'QUEEN MARY.'

HONOUR FOR THE LOUGHBOROUGH BELLFOUNDRY.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have been honoured with the order to cast the ship's bells for the world's largest vessel, the luxury liner 'Queen Mary.' The different watches will thus be sounded on the 'Queen Mary' upon a harmonically tuned bell, which means that instead of the displeasing 'clang' usually associated with ship's bells, the passengers aboard the 'Queen Mary' will hear the sweet and musical tones of a perfectly tuned church bell. There are to be three bells, and the largest bell, upon which 'Eight Bells' and the other watches are sounded, will be of enormous size for a ship's bell, as it will weigh 350 lb., as against the weight of the average ship's bell of about 30 or 40 lb. Thus the 'Queen Mary' will have a ship's bell worthy of her importance.

BELL BROADCASTS.

RINGERS' 'GHASTLY FAILURE' AT WIGAN.

The B.B.C. have begun to do something to make change ringing better known to the public, and in their Northern programmes have instituted a series of broadcasts entitled 'The Ringing Isle.' On Sunday evening the item came from Wigan, where there has recently been installed a new ring of ten bells. A short introduction was given by the Rector (Canon C. C. Thicknesse), but the ringing which followed was, to say the least, a disappointing exhibition. We have received the following protest with regard to it:—

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Cannot something be done to prevent a repetition of such a fiasco as that which occurred with the broadcasting of Wigan bells last Sunday evening. The bells themselves were fine, the microphone admirably placed, but the ringing after the bells left rounds (which themselves were only moderate) can only be described as disgraceful. There were no leads, at times four or five of the bells were striking together, and the whole feature was turned into a horrible and ghastly failure by this poor performance on the part of the ringers.

The B.B.C. has been subjected in your columns to a good deal of adverse criticism from ringers regarding the broadcasting of change ringing, and it is most deplorable that such a mess should have been made of what would have been otherwise a splendid opportunity to popularise ringing broadcasts. Surely the ringers of Wigan must have been aware of their limitations—what a pity it is they were too vainglorious to admit them and that they did not invite a band of ringers on such an occasion who would be capable of good striking. Nothing but perfect striking ought to be aimed for by the authorities on these occasions—no band is infallible, but it was not a case of an odd trip, there was not a clear row of changes from start to finish. I am a member of the Lancashire Association myself and regard such a performance, on such an important occasion, as a reflection against the association. I suggest that in future, when change ringing is to be broadcast, the Church authorities should go over the local ringers' heads and approach the president of the County or Diocesan Guild in whose area the tower is situated and get him to nominate a band most likely to achieve perfect striking.

'DISGUSTED.'

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. A. E. PARSONS.

The dedication of a memorial to the late Mr. Albert E. Parsons, of Old Hill, Staffs, is fixed for March 1st during the evening service, commencing at 6.30, in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Old Hill.

The form of the memorial is a reading desk, given by his wife, and the dedication will be performed by the Bishop of Worcester.

All ringing friends that can possibly attend are invited to be present. The bells will be available for ringing from 5.30 p.m.

CHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

GUILD JUBILEE SCHEME TO ADD TWO TREBLES.

For over half a century, among ringers of the Chester Diocesan Guild, it has been the hope that the Cathedral should one day possess a ring of ten or twelve bells. Yet for one reason or another this hope has never materialised; always there seems to have been some obstacle to bar progress in this direction. During the post-war period, when rings by the hundred have been installed or augmented, the long wished for augmentation at Chester remained a seemingly impracticable proposition. This does not mean, however, that the bells have been neglected. In spite of the fact that it has been necessary to raise and spend over £50,000 on the fabric of the Cathedral during the last 15 years, the bells were rehung in ball bearings and the frame strengthened about seven years ago by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. Previous to this some doubt had been felt about the safety of the tower, owing to the appearance of a crack, and ringing was discontinued for several months. Acting on expert advice, the Cathedral authorities had the walls braced with iron tie-rods and the structure was subsequently pronounced safe.

Up to 1867 the bells were a ring of five, probably cast (not all at the same time) by Henry Oldfield, of Nottingham, but of these only one remains, the present 6th. This bell bears the Oldfield trade mark and the Latin inscription states that it was made on the order of the Dean and Chapter in 1606. The original 2nd (now the 5th) was cast in 1604. A good deal of recasting seems to have been done between that time and 1827 by both Rudhall and Warner, and in 1867 the latter carried out a scheme which provided for three new trebles, recasting the old treble, and the construction of a massive oak frame. The Sanctus bell, cast in 1626 and weighing about 4½ cwt., was also hung in a separate frame with fittings for ringing. That the job was well done can be judged from the fact that it has lasted so long.

There is every indication now that Chester will presently be numbered among the ten-bell towers. A meeting of the Chester Branch held at the Cathedral last Saturday was attended by the Master and hon. secretary of the Guild as well as representatives of all the branches. The chair was taken by the Dean, the Very Rev. F. S. M. Bennett, and it was unanimously decided that, having regard to the fact that the Guild will next year celebrate its Jubilee, a scheme be launched for the addition of two trebles to the present ring of eight bells at the Cathedral.

The Master, hon. secretary, the Rev. F. J. Okell (vice-chairman, Chester Branch), Messrs. J. Morgan, J. Swindley, R. Sperring and the hon. secretary and hon. treasurer of the Chester Branch were elected as an Executive Committee, and plans for launching the appeal for funds will be considered almost immediately. The cost of the augmentation will be in the neighbourhood of £220.

CHESTER CATHEDRAL.

A BERKSHIRE STALWART

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM E. TAYLOR.

The death occurred early on Wednesday, February 5th, of Mr. William E. Taylor, of 8, St. Luke's Road North, Maidenhead, after a very painful illness borne with much fortitude. Mr. Taylor was the eldest son of the late Mr. William Taylor, formerly a builder, of Norfolk Park, and was a native of the town. He spent most of his 64 years in the building trade, being a partner of the firm of Taylor and Davis. In his work, as in his ringing, he was liked and respected by all. By a strange coincidence he was buried on the 40th anniversary of the first peal of London Surprise (in which he took part) to be rung in the county of Berkshire. He was a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths and Oxford Diocesan Guild from the date of ringing his first peal in 1892, also of the Hertford County, Middlesex County, Guildford and Winchester Diocesan Guilds and the old Waterloo Society, London. His last peal was rung at Old Windsor, Berks, on August 29th, 1934.

The funeral took place on Saturday, February 8th, the first part of the burial service being in St. Luke's Church, the Rev. Canon C. E. M. Fry, M.A., officiating, and afterwards at Maidenhead Cemetery. The mourners included the following ringers: The widow and son, J. E. Taylor (Burnham, Bucks), T. J. Fowler and A. D. Barker (District Ringing Master and secretary), W. Walker (foreman), E. Eldridge, A. Fawdry, A. Baldwin (Boyne Hill), L. Stilwell (Windsor), F. Russell (Bray) and George Gilbert (Burnham).

The flowers, which were very beautiful, included one wreath (in the shape of a trowel) from his workmates, a wreath from the Boyne

Hill ringers and one (in the shape of a bell) from the Burnham ringers. Individual wreaths were received from Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, of Thatcham, and one from Bertha and Hilda, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell.

Following the lowering of the coffin, handbells were rung over the grave by A. D. Barker (London County) 1-2, T. J. Fowler (A.S.O.Y.) 3-4, L. Stilwell (R.C.Y.) 5-6, and F. J. Russell (Oxford D.G.) 7-8.

The bells at Boyne Hill tower were rung half-muffled on Thursday evening and again after the funeral on Saturday. Burnham bells were also rung half-muffled during the period of the funeral.

Mr. Taylor leaves a widow and three young children to mourn their loss.

Mr. Taylor's peal list is as follows: Minor: One method 4, two methods 2, three methods 4, four methods 1, five methods 1, seven methods 12, nine methods 1. Triples: Plain Bob 2, Oxford Bob 2, Grandsire 16, Stedman 16. Major: Plain Bob 14, St. Clement's Bob 1, Double Norwich 9, Kent Treble Bob 8, Oxford Treble Bob 5, Spliced Oxford and Kent 1, Ashted Surprise 1, Berkshire 1, Cambridge 2, Ipswich 1, London 6, New Cambridge 2, Runnymede 1, Superlative 4, and Grandsire Caters 1, total 118. Of this total Mr. Taylor conducted two peals of Stedman Triples in October, 1895, and from February, 1895, until January, 1926 (a lapse of 30 years), he did not participate in any peals. A Cumberland to the backbone, one of the most cheering pieces of news he received just before his death was the fact that his only daughter had been (in addition to his wife and son) accepted a member of the society at the annual meeting recently held at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

MUFFLED TOUCHES.

Among the many touches rung for the death or funeral of His Late Majesty King George were the following:—

On Tuesday, January 21st, the bells at Portishead, Somerset, were rung half-muffled in memory of His late Majesty King George, and the whole pull and stand 70 times. Also on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Mrs. W. Edwards 1, Miss B. Stadden 2, Miss H. Orchard 3, Miss G. Stadden 4, R. G. Williams 5, J. Nisbet 6, N. Coombs (conductor) 7, J. Thomas 8.

At Farnham, Surrey, on Tuesday, January 28th, after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: J. Boagley 1, G. Upshall 2, C. Wells 3, S. Meadows 4, T. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8.

At St. Mary's, Walthamstow, Essex, on Tuesday, January 28th, 1,260 Stedman Caters with the bells half-muffled: F. W. Corney 1, C. T. Coles (conductor) 2, H. Rumens 3, J. H. Wilkins 4, R. J. Maynard 5, J. C. Adams 6, E. B. Holman 7, E. W. Pye 8, F. C. Maynard 9, F. Taylor (first quarter-peal) 10. Rung also as a mark of respect to the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, librarian to the Central Council.

At Northfleet, Kent, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells muffled on Sunday evening, January 26th: J. Dyke (first quarter-peal) 1, L. Stacey 2, E. Peartree 3, R. Smith 4, A. Durling 5, R. Constant 6, G. Butcher 7, C. Hammond 8.

At the Parish Church, Henfield, Sussex, with muffled clappers, 1,260 Stedman Triples: E. Brown 1, E. W. Morey 2, C. Tyler 3, C. A. Barnes 4, F. Parsons 5, W. J. Alliss 6, A. E. Baker (conductor) 7, G. Payne 8. Also 560 Bob Major.

SILENT 'JUBILEE' BELL.

At Cosgrave, Northants, on January 28th, 1,260 Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles, with bells fully muffled: E. R. Lambert 1, J. Higgins 2, F. J. Lambert 3, F. Tustain 4, E. C. Lambert (conductor) 5. A treble bell has been added to make a peal of six to commemorate the Royal Jubilee, but has not yet been dedicated.

The first peal on the bells at Staplegrave, Somerset, since they were augmented in honour of King George the Fifth's Silver Jubilee was rung with half-muffled bells on the day of his funeral.

At St. Peter's Church, Colchester, on Tuesday, January 28th, previous to the commemoration service held for His late Majesty King George V., the bells were rung deeply muffled, viz., Grandsire and Stedman Triples. After the service, the whole pull and stand was rung by H. T. Pye, G. Townes, G. M. Rashbrook, F. L. Bumpstead, W. Chalk, R. W. Stannard, V. Kerridge and E. P. Duffield. In the evening, with bells half-muffled, touches of Triples, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and London Surprise; in addition to above, Messrs. W. Dent, G. Boyden, G. Wightman, R. Cadamy (all of whom are local members), A. Andrews and H. Littlewood, from Thorington, also took part.

At Ewell, Surrey, on Sunday, January 26th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Jesse Beams 1, C. E. Read 2, H. Sycamore 3, J. E. Beams (first quarter-peal as conductor) 4, A. Hadley 5, J. Beams 6, M. T. Grove 7, W. Popplett 8.

At St. Barnabas' Church, Linslade, Bucks, on January 28th, with the bells half-muffled, for a memorial service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Miss Rose Prudent 1, F. Dedman 2, H. Whitney 3, W. Insley 4, W. Jeffs 5, F. Vickers 6, E. Belson 7, J. Arnold 8.

At All Saints' Church, Leighton Buzzard, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters were rung, and on Sunday, February 2nd, for a memorial service, 1,080 Grandsire Caters.

At St. Peter's Church, Pentre Rhondda, on Sunday, January 26th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples with the bells muffled: F. Lasbury 1, G. Poppell 2, G. Palmer 3, F. Page (conductor) 4, T. Hamlin 5, H. Davies 6, W. Page 7, J. Lovett 8. A peal in the same method was attempted on Tuesday, January 28th, with G. Wines and H. Crabh in place of G. Poppell and G. Palmer, but was lost after 2 hours and 45 minutes' good ringing.

BELLS THAT RANG FOR EVERY STATE VISIT TO WESTMINSTER.

At St. Margaret's, Westminster (Church of the House of Commons), after service attended by members of the House, the tenor was tolled 70 times muffled, and then a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples rung with the bells fully muffled: Miss N. Hardcastle 1, H. Hoskins 2, E. F. Pike 3, W. H. Hewett (conductor) 4, J. Euston 5, J. E. Davis 6, H. Belcher 7, R. Sanders 8. These bells have been rung for every State visit of His late Majesty King George V. to Westminster during his reign—the last time being his visit to Westminster Hall in Jubilee week, May 9th, 1935.

At Hughenden, Bucks, on Tuesday, January 21st, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: Miss O. Biggs 1, F. G. Biggs 2, J. W. Wilkins 3, P. Newton 4, R. Blaby 5, A. Newton 6, R. Biggs (conductor) 7, V. Evans 8. On Sunday morning, January 26th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: R. Blaby 1, R. Biggs 2, F. G. Biggs 3, H. Stratford 4, A. G. Jones 5, A. Newton 6, P. Newton (conductor) 7, V. Evans 8. On Sunday evening, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Jos. Evans 1, R. Biggs (conductor) 2, Miss O. Biggs 3, F. G. Biggs 4, R. Blaby 5, A. Newton 6, P. Newton 7, V. Evans 8.

At Haslemere, Surrey, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: E. Venton 1, R. D. Elliott 2, H. R. Moore 3, E. J. Ayliffe 4, R. Hayes 5, J. H. B. Hesse 6, F. Bowden (conductor) 7, F. W. Wicks 8. A ringers' tribute with muffled bells.

At St. Margaret's, Leicester, on Friday, January 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,273 changes): F. Mason 1, T. Bent 2, J. Morris 3, G. Humphreys 4, E. Cattell 5, E. Morris 6, G. S. Morris 7, H. Hammersley 8, contained all the possible 4-6's 'at hand.' On Sunday, January 26th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,241 changes): E. Tanser 1, E. Morris 2, F. Mason 3, T. Bent 4, G. Humphreys 5, W. Tanser 6, J. Morris 7, G. S. Morris 8, E. Cattell 9, J. Vernon, jun. 10. Both composed and conducted by Ernest Morris.

At Lewisham, Kent, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: W. Tyler 1, C. H. Walker 2, G. R. Simmonds 3, H. Warnett, jun. 4, H. Warnett, sen. (conductor) 5, A. P. Cannon 6, J. Dafters 7, H. G. Goodwin 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled.

A HALF-PEAL.

On Tuesday, January 28th, at St. Peter's Church, Tonbridge Wells, with the bells half-muffled, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples, rung after the failure of a peal attempt: A. J. Batton 1, A. Richardson 2, A. Worsfold 3, B. V. Collison 4, H. Markwell 5, S. Russell 6, E. J. Ladd (conductor) 7, A. Mayes 8. All the ringers are service ringers at St. Peter's.

At All Saints' Parish Church, Bedworth, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles with half-muffled clappers: J. Castle 1, R. Lydster 2, J. Taylor 3, C. Lawrence 4, P. Stone (conductor) 5, H. Dodd 6, L. Lawrence 7, W. Lowndes 8. First quarter-peal by 6th and tenor ringers.

At the Parish Church, Tring, Herts, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: D. Campbell (first quarter) 1, G. Celey (first with a bob bell) 2, R. Hearn 3, J. Puplett 4, F. J. Reeve (conductor) 5, H. Brackley 6, O. Badrick 7, N. Brackley 8. Rung with the bells deeply muffled. In addition to being a tribute of respect to His late Majesty, this was also rung as a mark of respect to the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, who, when he was Vicar of Wigginton, Herts, used to ring at Tring Church.

At St. Mary's, Southampton, on January 21st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,295 changes), with half-muffled clappers: N. Curtis 1, D. Cecil Williams, Mus.Bac. 2, H. Smith 3, R. Curtis 4, T. Thirkell 5, L. M. Squires 6, F. Mursell 7, H. Reeves 8, J. W. Faithfull (conductor) 9, R. Brown 10. Also on January 28th, a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Roy Faithfull (first quarter-peal) 1, N. Curtis 2, H. Payne 3, T. Thirkell 4, L. M. Squires 5, N. Curtis (conductor) 6, J. W. Faithfull 7, J. Elliott 8.

On Sunday, January 26th, for evensong, at Thorne, Yorks, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung with the bells fully muffled as a last mark of honour to His late Majesty King George V.: R. A. Andrews (first quarter-peal) 1, J. Thorley 2, A. Woods 3, T. H. Hepworth 4, C. H. Thorley 5, W. Hobson 6, C. Thorley (conductor) 7, R. Ward 8. On Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled: R. A. Andrews 1, J. Thorley 2, A. Woods 3, A. Ensor 4, C. H. Thorley 5, W. Hobson 6, C. Thorley (conductor) 7, T. H. Hepworth 8.

On Tuesday, January 28th, at St. Peter's Church, Croydon, a fully muffled quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: C. Dean 1, A. Jones 2, W. Bulpitt 3, F. Leeks 4, F. Jones 5, E. Denham 6, H. Simmons 7, G. Aides (conductor) 8.

On Tuesday, January 28th, at the Church of SS. Mary and Margaret, Castle Bromwich, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: George Crofts 1, John Wilkinson 2, J. Leonard Stokes 3, H. Herbert Brown 4, William Rhodes (conductor) 5, Charles Bolton 6. This ringing had special local interest, as Her Majesty the Queen attended matins at this church on Sunday, August 21st, 1927, at the time she spent a holiday at Castle Bromwich Hall with the Dowager Countess of Bradford.

RUNG FOR THREE BRITISH SOVEREIGNS.

Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins, of Oxford, who took part in a peal of Stedman Triples at All Saints' Church, Oxford, on the day of the funeral of King George, has rung memorial peals for the last three British Sovereigns.

At the Church of St. John the Baptist, Penhow, Monmouthshire, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, with half-muffled bells, on Monday, January 27th: A. R. Flook 1, the Rev. I. J. Richards 2, G. Day 3, F. Harris 4, J. A. Freebury (conductor) 5, S. Flook 6.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields Church, London, on Wednesday, January 29th, with half-muffled clappers, as a tribute to His late Majesty King George V.: E. S. Owen 1, G. A. Parsons 2, R. E. G. Geare 3, A. Howkins 4, W. F. Troke 5, F. Shorter (conductor) 6, E. Murrell 7, J. Clifford 8. This was followed by 630 of Grandsire Triples, in which the treble was rung by W. A. Hughes.

At Dover, Kent, on Tuesday, January 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells of St. Mary's Church fully muffled except the tenor: C. Hardeman 1, H. J. Saunders 2, O. R. Millway 3, H. Whitehead 4, R. T. Clark 5, L. Leach 6, C. Turner (conductor) 7, E. J. Walker 8.

At Monacran, Cornwall, on the occasion of the Royal Funeral, a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: O. Lovesey 1, R. Vague 2, H. Nunn 3, J. Nunn 4, C. F. Jerram 5, J. Vague 6.

At Sedburgh, with the bells deeply muffled, 448. 576 (Sunday), 384. 672 (Tuesday) changes of Superlative Surprise Major: H. Dawson 1, Miss N. Harrison 2, E. Pennington 3, J. Smith 4, T. Sisson 5, J. W. Pennington 6, H. Haresnape 7, G. F. Woodhouse (conductor) 8.

A HALF-PEAL.

At St. Nicholas', Wallasey, Cheshire, on Wednesday, January 22nd, a half-peal of Minor (2,520 changes), consisting of 720 each of London, Beverley and Cambridge Surprise, and 260 Single Oxford Bob: A. Howard 1, G. Ledsham 2, J. W. Collingwood 3, F. Varty 4, H. Rogers 5, T. Rogers (conductor) 6. This was rung with the bells fully muffled.

At Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham, the old custom was adopted on Tuesday, January 21st, of tolling 'the passing knell.' The tenor bell was tolled 'three times three' and was then rung 70 times by Mr. James George.

At the Church of All Saints', Newport, Monmouthshire, on Tuesday, January 28th, prior to the memorial service for the late King, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled: J. James 1, H. Forbes 2, L. Bainham 3, T. Ford 4, F. Millard 5, G. Day 6, J. W. Jones (conductor) 7, H. Bullock 8.

A quarter-peal of London Surprise Major, consisting of 1,344 changes, was rung, with the bells half-muffled, at St. Michael's Church, Braintree, Essex, on Sunday, January 26th, for morning service: S. Warne 1, B. Redgewell 2, H. E. Hammond 3, G. Wiffen 4, R. Martin 5, H. Felton 6, L. Wiffen (conductor) 7, A. Wiffen 8. All the above are regular Sunday service ringers, and it was the first quarter-peal of London Surprise Major for the ringers of the 2nd, 3rd, 5th and 6th. Mr. H. E. Hammond has just reached his 70th birthday.

At St. John's Church, Beeston, Notts, on Tuesday, January 28th, Thurstan's quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, with the bells muffled: H. Rogers 1, J. C. Dicken 2, H. Price 3, A. B. Moss 4, N. Kirk 5, A. Lowe 6, P. Price (conductor) 7, A. Walton 8.

On Tuesday, January 28th, at Wing, Rutland, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: G. Huckerby 1, F. Hubbard 2, W. J. Tugwood (conductor) 3, W. Sewell 4, H. Goodman 5. Rung with bells half-muffled after the memorial service.

Other touches will be published next week.

MEMORIAL RINGING.

At Cirencester, Glos, on January 22nd, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,277 changes): F. J. Lewis, jun. 1, H. L. Cooke 2, A. Painter 3, F. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 4, J. C. Eden 5, W. G. Cook 6, S. Hicks 7, H. S. Parsons 8, W. H. Hayward 9, F. F. Bloxham (first quarter-peal of Caters) 10. Rung with the clappers half-muffled as a token of respect and sympathy to the Earl and Countess Bathurst, Cirencester Park, whose only daughter, Lady Alastair Graham, was interred at Campsea Ash, Suffolk, on this date.

WHEN GEORGE IV. DIED.

PEAL OF 100 YEARS AGO RECALLED.

For the death of King George V., a peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Leeds Parish Church. It is worthy of note that a peal of New Treble Bob Royal (Kent) was rung with half-muffled bells as a tribute of respect to His late Majesty King George IV. at Leeds Parish Church on July 15th, 1830, by the following ringers, who ascended the steeple shortly after 9 p.m. and completed the peal at 43 minutes past midnight: Thomas Rafton, treble, John Hudson 2, John Thorp 3, William Groves 4, Christopher Isles 5, Joseph Moxon 6, John Mortimer 7, William Gawkröger 8, Samuel Smallpage 9, James Naylor, tenor. The peal was composed by Mr. Hugh Wright and conducted by Mr. Samuel Smallpage, both of Leeds.

The William Gawkröger referred to in this peal designed the ring of 13 bells which were installed in the new Leeds Parish Church in 1841, which, according to the 'History of the Parish Church,' by John Rusby and J. G. Simpson, was the first ring of 13 bells to be installed in the Kingdom.

MUFFLED RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Both your own columns and those of local newspapers testify to the wholehearted response of ringers to the call of loyalty and duty in paying the tribute of muffled bells to the memory of His late Majesty.

It would be interesting to have some information as to different local usages in this respect. Doubtless in most places the death of the King was first announced by tolling a single bell. In some towers a muffled peal followed within a short time. In others it is the practice not to ring muffled peals before the day of the funeral.

Here I tolled the tenor bell at midnight and a muffled peal was rung the next day. Thereafter the tenor was tolled every evening during the King's lying-in-state. The bells were rung muffled both for the Conversion of St. Paul and on the following Sunday, and then at intervals on the day of the funeral.

Some of your readers may like to send a brief report of their doings in this respect. F. LL. EDWARDS.

Kington Magna.

ANOTHER QUESTION.

Dear Sir,—Here is another question which has raised controversy in this parish respecting the death of the King, and the Vicar is asked to settle it.

Should the tenor bell be tolled as at an ordinary funeral, or as the usual passing bell, or should it be pulled one stroke per minute? J. M. TURNER.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT DISCUSSES PROPOSED NEW RULES.

Tower Representatives to Meet District Committee.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at Orayford on Saturday, February 1st. Ringing, which took place during the afternoon and evening, included rounds for beginners and touches in methods from Grandsire Triples to Spliced London, Cambridge, Superlative and Bristol.

Some forty members partook of tea, which had been prepared by the Social Committee of the Church Council. After the catering expenses had been defrayed, from the proceeds of a nominal charge for the tea, a sum of 8s. was left over and was added to the association's Benevolent Fund. A vote of thanks was passed to the ladies for their efforts in catering for and serving the tea.

Mr. F. M. Mitchell (general secretary) was voted to the chair for the business meeting which followed, and referred to the death of King George V. A minute's silence to His Majesty's memory was observed.

Ten ringers, including the band of the Church of the Annunciation, Chislehurst, were elected members of the association, and the election of one member previous to a peal was ratified.

Mr. E. Barnett (district representative) read a report of proceedings of the committee meeting held at Maidstone in November. This report was adopted, with a vote of thanks to Mr. Barnett for its preparation.

The most important subject discussed at this committee meeting was the draft of the revised rules as submitted by the sub-committee previously appointed. Mr. Barnett's report compared the existing rules with these in the sub-committee's suggestions and with the final draft to be placed before the annual meeting, as amended by the full committee. Mr. Barnett gave the reasons for the various alterations, with special reference to those rules and proposed rules governing the appointment of district ringing masters and the admittance of unattached members.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries read a considered statement of various objections to the adoption of these rules as at present drafted, and suggested that a plebiscite of the members be taken before further action was taken.

A vigorous discussion followed on the various points raised, as a result of which it was decided that the district secretary send a copy of the proposed rules to each tower in the district asking that the members discuss them and choose one from their number (in each tower) to meet the District Committee at some date to be fixed, the district representatives to be instructed by this special meeting in time to enable the wishes of the members to be authoritatively presented before the annual meeting on Easter Monday next.

In reference to other points raised by the report, Mr. Mitchell stated that various grants from the Belfry Repairs Fund and Benevolent Fund had been paid; that the balance in the Benevolent Fund now stood at £250, and that during 1935 the association scored 155 peals.

It was decided to visit St. Luke's, Bromley Common, if possible, for the next meeting, Beckenham being chosen as alternative. The suggested date is Saturday, May 2nd.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector and authorities for the use of the bells and schoolroom, and to the chairman.

GOOD STRIKING AT PENSURST MEETING.

The Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association held a quarterly meeting at Penshurst on Saturday, February 1st. Ringing consisted of short touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Double Norwich Major. The quality of the ringing was pronounced by many present as some of the finest ever heard at a district meeting. Fourteen towers were represented, twelve being in the Tonbridge District. The Rev. J. Cropper, Rector of Penshurst, conducted the association's special form of service.

Forty-one members sat down to tea in the Village Hall, after which the business meeting was held, presided over by the Rector, who was supported by the secretary (Mr. A. Richardson), the Rev. E. L. M. Allen (Vicar of Edenbridge) and the Rev. F. L. Schreiber (Vicar of Shipbourne). Mr. A. J. Battin appealed to the members to make a better effort than they had done in the past to attend the annual general meeting of the association, which was to be held this year at Westerham. He said it was not fair to the general secretary not to support him after all the work he had been called upon to do for them.

Mr. W. Latter supported Mr. Battin in his appeal.

A proposition was made and carried that the district invite the Romney Marsh and District Guild to co-operate with them at the July meeting which it is proposed to hold at Benenden.

An invitation by the Maidstone District to join them at Linton on March 14th was accepted.

After the usual votes of thanks, the meeting was closed, and members returned to the tower for more ringing.

LONG ASHTON, SOMERSET.—On December 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: E. R. Norton 1, Mrs. Knight 2, *N. Yeo 3, G. Yeo 4, P. Yeo (first quarter-peal in the method 'inside') 5, W. H. Knight 6, *H. A. Price (conductor) 7, *H. W. Price 8. * First quarter-peal in the method.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

When the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild holds its annual meeting, the district secretary (Mr. G. L. Grover) has a habit of calling a spade a spade and doing his best to dispel any sense of self-complacency that may have settled on the members. They had their customary 'shake up' on Saturday when they met at Guildford. Here are some of the points from Mr. Grover's report:—

The district has been carried on in accordance with the usual routine throughout the year, and I am able to report that it is still in being, but this does not mean that much progress has been made or that there are very pronounced signs of animation anywhere. It merely indicates that we are still doing little more than drifting apathetically along.

In no case was the attendance of district members at district meetings anything to shout about.

GOOD RINGERS' 'NERVES.'

Referring to the fact that interest was aroused at Shere in 1934 by Guild members endeavouring to score a peal with members of the local band, the hon. secretary said: Do not any of you think that what was done at Shere might with advantage be repeated there and also attempted at other places? It could not make things much worse. I found two years ago that our chief difficulty with regard to matters of this description is the tendency of really good ringers to get it into their heads that their nerves will suffer unduly if they have to struggle through peals with less able ringers. What, then, is their interpretation of the remarks made at the annual dinner by the president of the Central Council, who, in referring to our difficulty in obtaining towers for peal ringing, stressed the point that peal ringing teaches a ringer to strike and handle his bell in a way which nothing else can do? What interpretation can be placed on this other than we want towers for peals primarily for the purpose of polishing up the ringing of those whose opportunities for peal ringing are either very limited or non-existent and not solely for the convenience of experienced bands who desire to ring for mere pleasure? I do not mean by this that experts ought always to sacrifice their peal ringing pleasures and do spade work, but I do think that what little peal ringing we do in this district is not made to serve the best purposes from the point of view of district members.

INTERCHANGE OF VISITS SUGGESTED.

Analysing the 15 peals rung on tower bells in the district, the hon. secretary said that, excluding an 'officers' peal and two entirely local efforts, exactly 100 ropes were taken. One half of the total number were manned by ringers who did not live in the district and one-quarter of them by ringers who were not resident in the diocese. Apart from the two 'local' peals, in which there were six first peals, only two first peals were scored in the remainder, and, in addition, nearly all the other ringers taking part in the peals were ringers with long lists of peals to their credit.

Now although perhaps such a state of affairs does little to encourage local bands to welcome peal ringing at their towers, it can certainly be urged for those ringers who organise peals in our district that their activities are to a great extent restricted by the fact that in many places they find the attitude of local ringers to be modelled on the dog in the manger, and they can hardly be expected to encourage even district members who are not prepared to welcome them. The only way out of the difficulty seems to be to effect a compromise, and I suggest that during the coming year we should all try to meet each other a little more than half-way. However much the Church authorities may be blamed for prohibiting peal ringing, I personally think that in most cases it is the local ringers who hold the power of absolute veto. I do not suggest for one moment that many hands do not deserve to be neglected. Many of them do, but as I have stressed time after time it is useless for the enthusiastic and experienced ringers to sit still and wait until they are asked for assistance. If the activities of the Guild are to be carried on, it is the enthusiastic ringers who must provide the driving force.

A further suggestion made by the hon. secretary was that some of the towers in the district should be transferred to neighbouring districts. Guildford had 23 towers and none of the other districts more than 12. He summed up his report by suggesting that each tower should do something to interchange visits with its neighbours, by which, even if the standard of ringing was not improved all in a hurry, that friendly feeling which was absolutely vital to the carrying on of an organisation such as a ringing Guild would be fostered. He then put forward a scheme for this purpose and a proposal for the transfer of certain towers to other districts, subject to the consent of the members of the towers concerned.

DISTRICT COMMITTEE TO DISCUSS PLANS

An animated discussion followed the report, Mr. A. H. Pulling pointing out that it was no use going to other towers to help the ringers if the latter were not prepared to welcome the instruction given—and many of them were not. Again, those ringers who wanted help would be welcomed at the towers where they could obtain it, but they did not take advantage of the opportunities.

Mr. C. W. Denver (hon. secretary of the Aldershot District) said he had found in his district that the only way to get into touch with ringers at backward towers was by personal visits and encouragement.

Eventually it was resolved to convene a special meeting of the District Committee to discuss the whole question.

The Ringing Master's report, which had previously been received, said that Sunday service ringing was very regular and general in the district, and most bands practised regularly, but only the most enthusiastic keep practices going throughout the summer. At the district meetings everyone was given a chance, elementary, intermediate and advanced. A combined practice was held at Old Woking, and perhaps more could be done in this direction. However, he pointed out that certain bands in the district practised throughout the year on certain evenings, and if young and inexperienced ringers were keen to get on, they had the opportunity of attending these practices regularly. They would always be welcomed and receive their fair share of proper instruction. Sixteen peals had been rung in the district during the year.

The chair at the meeting was taken by Capt. H. J. Cann and the attendance numbered 48. The following officers were re-elected, with thanks for their services: Ringing Master, Mr. C. E. Smith; hon. secretary, Mr. G. L. Grover; hon. auditor, Mr. C. Hazelden. Mr. A. J. B. Green (headmaster of Guildford Grammar School) was elected as hon. members' representative on the Executive Committee, and, after a ballot, the following were elected to represent the ringing members: Messrs. S. J. Elton and W. R. Melville.

The balance sheet showed that £17 19s. 6d. had been received in subscriptions and that the expenses of the district had been £3 8s. 6d. The balance in hand had been reduced from £24 9s. 9d. to £20 12s., but that was more than accounted for by a donation of £3 3s. to the Library Fund, and contributions of £2 2s. to each of three bell restoration funds, viz., Albury, Witley and Shalford.—The balance sheet was adopted.

The places for the district meetings in the forthcoming year were left to the hon. secretary and the dates to the Secretaries' Committee. All the retiring Guild officers were renominated, and Mr. C. W. Denver was added to the candidates for the Central Council.

The Revs. R. H. Sandiford and H. M. Insley (Cathedral) were elected hon. members, and 13 ringing members were elected, including the band of ten at Ewhurst, to whom a special welcome was extended.

The usual votes of thanks were passed and a collection was taken for the William Pre Memorial Fund.

During the afternoon ringing took place both at the Cathedral and St. Nicolas', and the Guild's service was held at the latter church, where further ringing took place in the evening.

VISITORS: ARE THEY WELCOME?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is to be hoped that the parochial viewpoint expressed by Mr. G. Grover at the annual meeting of the Guildford District deprecating ringers from outside ringing peals on towers in the district is not the general attitude of the Exercise. While peals by local companies are to be commended, circumstances in ringing with the wide graduation of proficiency make it desirable that geographical boundaries should be swept away.

When I became enrolled as a ringer I was told that I had joined a Freemasonry that extended throughout the whole country, and that I would be welcomed in every tower that I visited. So far that friendly atmosphere has never been lacking wherever I have been.

As a Guildfordian, I should feel aggrieved if there should be an impression abroad that visitors are not welcomed in this district. Our visitors' book tells a different story, and is an example of that spirit of brotherliness that emanates from our tower. I should add that however anxious and distinguished our visitor might be, there has never been hesitancy to point out the error of his ways (if any) in handling or striking, in the fond hope that he might profit from his association with us!

Change ringing will be a dying art if this spirit of parochial isolation and dependence on purely local talent for peal ringing is generally adopted. Mr. Grover must remember that the strength of a chain is its weakest link, and so is the strength of those ringing together. Importations to local peals invariably strengthen the band and enable a group to accomplish what would at times be an impossibility.

'GUILDFORDIAN.'

OVERSEAL RINGER'S WEDDING.

At St. Matthew's Church, Overseal, Derbyshire, on February 8th, the wedding took place of Mr. Geoffrey William Clayfield and Miss Jane Statham.

The bridegroom is an esteemed member of the local band and has been a member of the Midland Counties Association during the past eight years.

A large crowd gathered at the church to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rector of Seale (the Rev. H. E. Fitzherbert, M.A.).

The bride was attended by two bridesmaids, sisters of the bridegroom, and the service was fully choral, the hymns, 'Lead us, Heavenly Father' and 'The Voice that breathed o'er Eden,' being sung.

The bride and bridegroom left the church to a touch of Grandsire Triples, rung by members of the St. Matthew's band, and to honour the event a peal of Stedman Triples was also rung.

THREE HUNDRED TWELVE-BELL PEALS

A NEW RECORD.

Mr. Albert Walker, who for so many years was the enthusiastic Ringing Master at St. Martin's, Birmingham, has just completed what is a remarkable record. In calling the first peal, rung half-muffled in memory of King George, on the newly-augmented peal at Aston, he brought his total of twelve-bell peals to 300, of which 195 have been on tower bells and 105 on handbells. Mr. Walker would be the last to claim any special merit in the distinction he has achieved; with him it has been, he says, largely a matter of circumstances and opportunity, but it is, nevertheless, a new record in peal ringing.

MR. ALBERT WALKER.

Bred to twelve-bell ringing in St. Martin's famous tower, and occupying the office there as conductor, he has been in the happy position of leader of a belfry where more twelve-bell peals have been rung than anywhere else in the country. In addition, the ability of the men he has had round him enabled handbell peal ringing to be brought to a fine art, and this helped considerably to swell his total.

Of the 300 peals which he has rung on twelve bells, Mr. Walker has conducted 126, an indication that, despite his opportunities, he has never sought to monopolise the calling, and many a man has to thank him for the opportunity of conducting a twelve-bell peal. Of the handbell peals of Stedman Cinques, one was non-conducted and one 'silent,' the latter being unique in that the band, when they met, 'drew' for the pair of bells they were to ring. Among the peals of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was one rung non-conducted at St. Martin's.

In addition to these performances it is to be remembered that Mr. Walker conducted the only peal yet rung on fourteen bells, a peal of Stedman Sextuples on handbells. Here is the list of twelve-bell peals.

	Tower bells.	Handbells.
Stedman Cinques	169	101
Grandsire Cinques	1	1
Erin Cinques	1	1
Kent Treble Bob Maximus	5	2
Bob Maximus	1
Forward Maximus	2
	195	105

Mr. Walker's twelve-bell peals on tower bells have been rung at 27 cathedrals and churches, and he has conducted peals in 19 of them. St. Martin's, Birmingham, of course, heads the list. Here he has rung no fewer than 140 peals of Cinques and Maximus. In addition to St. Martin's, he has conducted twelve-bell peals at Exeter, Worcester, Winchester, Canterbury, Sheffield and Southwark Cathedrals, Tewkesbury Abbey, Aston, Taunton, West Bromwich, Walsall, Cheltenham, Wolverhampton, Eainswick, Leicester, High Wycombe, Surfleet and Cornhill (London) churches. The other places at which he has rung a peal are St. Paul's, Lincoln and Oxford Cathedrals, Buckfast Abbey (the only peal rung on the bells), Reading, Bristol, Cirencester and Cripplegate (London).

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT MEETING AT BROXBOURNE.

A very enjoyable time was spent by those attending the meeting of the Eastern District at Broxbourne on Saturday week. Some thirty ringers assembled and the musical peal was kept busy. The Vicar welcomed the association to Broxbourne, and conducted the service, and gave a short but helpful address, basing his words upon 'Make a joyful noise unto the Lord.'

Friends and members were present from Chelmsford, Springfield, Sawbridgeworth, Waltham Abbey, Leytonstone, Hertford, London, Nazing, Cheshunt, Broxbourne and Little Mundon. Methods ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

MID-DEVON BRANCH TO CONTINUE.

The annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Paignton on Saturday, when ringers were present from Exeter, Sidmouth, Christow, Newton Abbot, Dean Prior, Cockington, Collaton and Plymouth, as well as the local ringers. Ringing took place during the afternoon, touches of Stedman Doubles and Grandsire Triples being rung, as well as rounds for the less experienced ringers. A service was later conducted by the Rev. W. V. Duke, who based an excellent address from the text, 'O come let us worship and fall down' (Psalms 95, v. 6).

The visitors afterwards adjourned to the Schoolroom for tea, and the general secretary (Mr. T. Laver) occupied the chair at the subsequent business meeting.

The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect to His late Majesty King George V.

A letter was read from Mr. F. J. Laxton, of Torquay, who wished to resign the chairmanship of the branch owing to continued illness in his household. The branch decided to place on record its appreciation of his valuable services with the hope that he would become chairman again at some future date. An apology for absence was also read from the president of the Guild (the Rev. E. V. Cox), who was attending a similar meeting at Pyworthy.

The secretary's report showed that three meetings had been held during the year and that there had been an improvement in the attendances. A few bell restorations had been carried out in the branch, and three peals of Grandsire Triples had been rung during the year by mixed bands. There was a slight decrease in the membership of the branch.—The report was adopted, as was also the treasurer's report.

Arising out of a decision at the spring meeting last year to continue the branch until the annual meeting, it was decided to carry on the branch as usual, and the Rev. W. R. D. Mills, of Collaton, was elected chairman. Mr. A. L. Bennett was elected secretary and treasurer, and Messrs. R. Whiting (Collaton), G. F. Austin (Paignton) and J. Olding (Cockington) were elected representatives of the branch to serve on the General Committee.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Dartmouth on Saturday, May 9th, subject to the usual permission being obtained.

Messrs. C. Medland and L. Wensley, of Cockington, were elected members of the branch.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Paignton for the use of the bells and Schoolroom, to the Rev. W. V. Duke (assistant priest) for conducting the service and for his address, to the organist for his help, and to the Ladies' Committee for carrying out the tea arrangements.

NEW CHAIRMAN OF AYLESBEARE DEANERY BRANCH.

A very successful meeting of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch was held at Woodbury on Saturday, February 1st, when 50 members and visitors were present. The following towers in the branch were represented, viz., Clyst St. George, Colaton Raleigh, East Budleigh, Lymington, Topsham, Whimble, Withycombe Raleigh and Woodbury, with visitors from Brampford Speke, Christow, Exeter, Kenn, Sidmouth and Silverton.

The service was conducted by the Rev. G. Bateman, and the Vicar (the Rev. R. H. Nealy) gave a most instructive address. Tea was held in the Public Hall and was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the new chairman, the Rev. G. Bateman, of Withycombe Raleigh. The president (the Rev. E. V. Cox) gave him a most hearty welcome.

Mr. E. Bone was unanimously elected Ringing Master for the ensuing year. Three associate members were elected, and Rockbeare was chosen for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, April 25th.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his able address, to the organist and choir, and to the caterer for providing the tea.

The methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Minor and Bob Major.

RINGER'S 55th ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING.

To celebrate the 55th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. G. Holmes, of Sheffield, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Sunday, February 9th, at St. Marie's Church: F. Gates (first quarter-peal) 1, J. Osguthorpe 2, W. Burgar 3, G. Holmes (conductor) 4, G. Lewis 5, R. Harrison 6, R. Harrison, jun. 7, H. Hurst 8.

Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft replied on behalf of the visitors and congratulated the bellhangers upon the remarkable improvement in the 'go' of the bells.—Mr. J. P. Fidler, representing Messrs. Taylor and Co., having also received nothing but praise upon the success of the work, suitably responded.

For some time Marple bells have had an unenviable reputation, and ringing them was a laborious task, due in the main to weak supporting beams and worn bearings. Now, new ball bearings have been fitted, the old timber frame strengthened and girders fixed under the beams carrying the frame. The result is gratifying to all concerned.

MARPLE BELLS.

TWO HUNDRED YEARS OLD PEAL RESTORED.

In 1731, Rudhall, of Gloucester, cast a new ring of six bells for the Parish Church of Stockport to replace five that had been taken out of the tower early in the 18th century. Some years later a portion of the tower gave way and some rude buttresses were erected. However, in 1805, after ringing for several days in succession for Nelson's great victory at Trafalgar, the old tower was so shaken that the bells were seldom rung again, and the last time they were heard from that tower was on October 13th, 1809, at the Jubilee when George III. was King.

In the following year the tower was pulled down and the bells stowed away, some in an old mill in Portwood and some in the hearse house. When the new, and present, tower was built, a new ring of eight bells was made for it whilst the old peal lay unheard and unring.

MARPLE BUYS THE BELLS.

Messrs. Rudhall, who had placed the new ring of eight in the new tower, offered the churchwardens and trustees £400 for the old six bells, but there was a very strong feeling against them leaving the parish on account of their sweet tone, and eventually at a large meeting held in March, 1816, the trustees unanimously resolved that the township of Marple should have the option to purchase at the price offered by Rudhalls. This resolution brought forth the following appeal, dated 28th March, 1816:—

To the inhabitants of Marple and its vicinity.

The trustees appointed by Act of Parliament for the taking down and rebuilding of the Parish Church of Stockport, having made the township of Marple an offer of the peal of bells belonging to the former edifice, it is earnestly hoped that a subscription may be raised equal to the purchase of them. The sum required is Four Hundred Pounds, being the price at which Mr. Rudhall, of Gloucester, a descendant of the original founder, has offered to take them from the trustees. Little, it is hoped, need be urged to prevail upon the inhabitants of Marple not to suffer these bells to be conveyed away from amongst them for ever. The real excellence of their tone must be well remembered by them, and scarcely an individual is there that has not listened to them with feelings such as few but would wish to experience again.

The site of the chapel is a consideration that ought to have its weight. On an eminence that commands an extensive view of the bold swelling hills of Derbyshire, as of the more fertile plains of Cheshire, no situation could be better adapted to give full effect to their uncommonly fine tone. From this hill the sound of them will go forth far and wide, and it cannot be doubted but that the inhabitants of the other townships, when they hear them, will rejoice that their neighbours did not suffer them to be removed for ever out of the parish, and will applaud both the spirit and the liberality of the township of Marple.

This appeal had such an effect that Samuel Oldknow, Esq., Nathaniel Wright, Esq., and the Rev. C. K. Prescott, curate of Marple, concluded the bargain and became personally responsible for the amount. On April 29th, Mr. Oldknow sent his dray for the treble and tenor, and Mr. Wright sent two carts for the remaining four.

June 30th, 1816, saw the opening of the peal; Miriam Isherwood, of Marple Hall, a descendant of Judge Bradshawe, who tried Charles I., was christened and the day kept as a gala day. Prizes were given and competed for by the ringers of the district; unfortunately, there is no record of what ringing took place nor details of the bands who competed, so our readers are left to imagine what took place.

In 1886, the bells were going badly, and the various fittings were suffering from a common complaint, old age. They were rehung by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, on the then modern principle, and again the parishioners liberally responded. The reopening took place on Easter Monday, 1886, by the Hayfield ringers, at that time one of the best companies in the district.

For some time past the 'go' of the bells has again slowly but firmly told the ringers that all was not well above, with the result the Church authorities wisely decided to make good the damage due to fair wear and tear. All the fittings have been thoroughly overhauled and new ball bearings of the latest type provided. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have again undertaken the work, which has been carried out with their usual efficiency. At the same time the opportunity was taken of having the old timber frame strengthened and the main carrying beams reinforced by heavy steel girders, and once more the parishioners have responded in their customary manner.

THE DEDICATION.

At a special service on a recent Saturday, the bells were formally reopened after rehanging; the service was fully choral and was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. S. Spackman. The Rev. A. J. Humphreys, R.D., Vicar of Norbury and Rural Dean, delivered a striking sermon in his usual inimitable manner.

In addition to the numerous parishioners, ringers from six different dioceses gave their support to the service. The usual welcome was extended to the ringers and a very substantial tea was provided in the Parish Hall at a most reasonable charge.

The Rev. F. S. Spackman greeted the visitors and briefly explained the various items of work that had been undertaken by the church authorities.

BELLS AND THE CHURCH.

Our article on the strange attitude of the Vicar of Kingston-on-Thames towards the bells of his church has brought from a correspondent a reply in which he not only supports the contention of the Rev. T. B. Scrutton that 'as a Church, the Church has no interest in the bells,' but also scathingly denounces the attitude of ringers as a body towards the Church, by lack of interest in its work and witness, and adding that ringers are too selfish and narrow minded in very many cases. The writer also goes on to accuse 'The Ringing World' of consistently failing to do anything to suggest that ringing is in any way allied to a spiritual cause or the extension of the Kingdom of God among men. In our issue of January 31st we expressed our views of the attitude taken up by the Vicar of Kingston. Our correspondent is equally entitled to his own opinions on the subject, but on one or two points we feel it is necessary to say a word in reply, lest silence should be taken as an admission of his indictment.

To deal first with the accusation against this paper, let us say at once that we have never pretended to be a religious journal, but to say that we have done nothing to suggest that the art of ringing is in any way allied to a spiritual cause, is to reveal ignorance of the policy and actions of this paper. When circumstances have demanded it, we have published leading articles dealing with the responsibilities of ringers in this direction; and always our columns are open and are frequently used for the publication of extracts from addresses delivered by those far more able than a layman to direct attention to the spiritual connection of the ringers' work.

As to the selfishness of which ringers are accused by our correspondent, it may be easy to pick out individual cases, but has he ever thought of those thousands of loyal Churchman—as loyal as he is himself—who Sunday by Sunday, year in, year out, give their services to the Church in the direction in which they are the best fitted. All cannot go into the pulpit, or into the highways and byways to preach repentance to sinners, but the ringers' vocation is no less worthy an offering, and, if we are Believers, we must believe that that offering is no less acceptable to the Master than other forms of service to the Church. Space forbids us traversing all the points raised in our correspondent's letter, but let us say this much about the value of the bells to the Church as a Church. The parson, from the pulpit, preaches to the converted, or at any rate to those whose sense of the importance of higher things takes them to the Church as a matter of course. But this is only a small proportion of the people. The sound of the bells reaches a far wider circle, and if their notes only stir a thought of the Church and all it stands for in the minds and hearts of just a few who otherwise would give it no thought at all—and to this fact there has often been testimony—surely the bells are not only worth while, but are an adjunct to the Church and its work? No one has ever claimed that the bells themselves can save souls, but they are a constant reminder to the world of the existence of the Church, which is out to point the way to salvation, and they are its best advertisement.

If, in some cases, belfries are mismanaged and the incumbent, who is the responsible person, is content to allow the bells to be manned by the wrong type of ringer, that is not the fault of the bells, or of the ringing Exercise. But ringers as a whole are rendering consistent service to the Church, and, as a body, are as good Churchmen and Christians as other Churchfolk. The bells which they ring are not nowadays a substitute for a clock, but a valuable adjunct to and a practical form of the call which the Church makes to the people to come and worship.

PEAL BOARD MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. W. PYE.

The annual business meeting of the Guild was held at Liskeard on February 1st. Canon Windsor took the chair and there were present Lt.-Col. Jerram (Ringing Master), Mr. W. H. Southard (vice-president), the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella (secretary), Mr. H. Dunstan (treasurer), Mr. C. Lanxon (peal secretary) and representatives from every branch of the Guild and the Mid-Cornwall Association.

Arising from the minutes, the secretary said he had received a letter from Bishop Frere, thanking the Guild for their sympathy in his illness and good wishes for the future. The secretary also said he regretted that Dr. Symons, their president, was unable to be with them.

The Ringing Master reported that he had attended most of the minor festivals and the diocesan festival, and expressed his regret that the autumn festival of the Launceston Branch had not taken place.

The secretary reported that two towers had joined the Guild (Advent and Lanivet), and that one (St. Dominic) had dropped out. The bells of Callington had been restored and those of Redruth augmented to eight.

The treasurer reported a balance of 19s. 1d., with £64 3s. 1d. on deposit.

The peal secretary reported that nine peals had been rung for the Guild during the last twelve months.

The secretary reported that the Bishop (Dr. J. Hunkin) had consented to become patron of the Guild.

All the officers were re-elected unanimously as follows: President, Dr. J. Symons; vice-presidents, the two Archdeacons, Canon H. Mills, Canon S. Windsor, the Rev. R. Hocking, Messrs. W. H. Southard, J. T. Treffry and W. Wood; Ringing Master, Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram; secretary, the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella; treasurer, Mr. H. Dunstan; peal secretary, Mr. C. Lanxon.

It was agreed to form a Standing Committee, consisting of the Ringing Master, secretary, treasurer (if money matters affected) and the secretaries of the branches and Mid-Cornwall Association.

A proposal to redraft the rules concerning the award of medals and certificates was referred to the Standing Committee.

It was agreed to place a board in the tower of St. Stephen-in-Brannel Church to commemorate the last peal called by the late William Pye, which was in that tower. The Rector of St. Stephen, who is secretary of the Mid-Cornwall Association, gladly agreed to accept this peal board for his church.

Mr. C. Lanxon was elected to represent the Guild on the Central Council for the next three years.

It was resolved to hold the annual festival at St. Stephen-in-Brannel, and the Rector gave his consent.

After the meeting members went to Liskeard tower, and rounds, call changes, Grandsire Doubles and Triples were rung.

A YORKSHIRE STALWARTDEATH OF MR. W. D. HILLARY, OF SKIPTON.

The death has occurred at Skipton, Yorks, of Mr. William Downham Hillary, at the age of 76 years. A native of Kettlewell, he had resided at Skipton since his marriage in 1880 to Miss Elizabeth Billows. They celebrated their golden wedding in July, 1930, but Mrs. Hillary predeceased her husband.

By his death, the Skipton Parish Church ringers have lost one of their most able and conscientious members. He was the second oldest member of the band, the oldest being his brother-in-law, Mr. William Billows, who has two years' longer service. Mr. Hillary joined the band in 1878, when there was only a peal of six bells, and the ringers were Mr. William Trees, Mr. Joseph Barrett, Mr. J. Ingham, Mr. W. Pate, Mr. Joseph Thompson, Mr. Tom Harry Trees, Mr. S. Watson, Mr. W. Holdsworth, Mr. William Billows and himself.

He served under three rectors—the Rev. P. C. Kidd, the Rev. H. L. Cook and the present holder of the living, Canon R. S. Stoney; he rang in honour of great events in the reigns of three monarchs, among them the Jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1887, the Diamond Jubilee in 1897, the coronations of King Edward and King George and the Jubilee of King George. Illness prevented him from taking his usual stand on the occasion of the funeral of King George V.

Mr. Hillary took part in 38 peals, including 6,048 of Oxford Treble Bob in 1889. Mr. Hillary joined the Yorkshire Association in 1887 and was at the time of his death an honorary life member.

During the war, when a number of ringers joined the fighting forces, their places were filled by four ladies, among them being Mr. Hillary's daughter, Miss Ada Hillary (now Mrs. George Bottomley), who rang until 1922.

In 1879 Mr. Hillary joined the old Skipton Volunteers and served until 1901, having attained the rank of sergeant. For 19 years Mr. Hillary was a member of the Skipton Fire Brigade, and he rose to the position of superintendent.

As a young man, Mr. Hillary was a prominent athlete, and at one time was regarded as the best exponent of the long jump in the district. He also acquitted himself well in the sprint events, and was no mean performer in events over long distances, as his success testified.

He had five sons and four daughters. One son, Thomas, who was a member of the Territorials, died before the war, while two of his brothers died during the war—Horace, in England, from wounds received at Gallipoli, and Harold, in France.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.INTERESTING CELEBRATION AT GUILDFORD.

An interesting peal is recorded in our columns this week. It was rung at S. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, on February 1st, in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Raddon, of Guildford. Mrs. Raddon was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Butler, of Woodbridge House, Potterne, Wilts, and the wedding was solemnised at Potterne Parish Church, on December 2nd, 1885, by the Ven. T. B. Buchanan, Archdeacon of Wilts. Mr. Raddon was at that time one of the ringers at Potterne.

In 1898 Mr. and Mrs. Raddon moved to Guildford, and Mr. Raddon joined the old Winchester Diocesan Guild. For some years, before the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, Mr. Raddon very efficiently discharged the duties of hon. secretary of the Guildford District, and he became one of the foundation members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

The peal in honour of the golden wedding was arranged for December 7th, but the funeral of King George's sister on that day caused its postponement. It was eventually rung on February 1st at S. Nicolas' Church, where Mr. Raddon for nearly 40 years has been a member of the band, and one of the ringers was Mr. C. S. Burden, of the St. Paul's Cathedral Company, who rang at Potterne 50 years ago for Mr. and Mrs. Raddon's wedding. He was one of Mr. Raddon's ringing pupils.

Mr. Raddon was unable to take part in the peal, but he met the band and wished them 'good luck' before they started, and was at the bottom of the belfry steps to greet and congratulate them when they finished. Afterwards, 'continued health and happiness' to Mr. and Mrs. Raddon was appropriately honoured.

WIGAN BROADCAST.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was disgusted to read the scathing letter in the issue of February 14th with regard to the performance of the Wigan band on the occasion of their broadcast.

It was not good, but the band would probably have appreciated a little healthy criticism from one who had the courage to sign his name.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is interesting to note that the number of reports which have reached us of peals rung either muffled or half-muffled for His Majesty King George is 174. This is only about 15 less than those rung in celebration of His Majesty's Silver Jubilee. When King Edward VII. died, 103 memorial peals were rung.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. are carrying out two rehanging jobs in the county of Stafford, viz., the ring of eight at Stone and the ring of five at Seighford.

The Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner at Birmingham on February 29th once more promises to bring together a 'national' gathering of ringers. Visitors on that occasion will have the opportunity of ringing on the new peal of twelve at Aston Parish Church, where the bells will be available from 3 o'clock until 5 p.m.

The talented handbell band at Oxhey, Herts, last Friday rang a peal of Spliced London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, with 106 changes of method! It was composed and conducted by Mr. Harold Cashmore. The other ringers were Messrs. H. Hodgetts, C. W. Woolley and F. W. Brinklow. This must surely be the finest ringing performance ever accomplished. Last November the same band rang on handbells a peal of Spliced London and Cambridge, and, great as is their latest achievement, we have no doubt their ambition soars higher yet!

After a good many years' service as hon. secretary of the Bristol Branch and subsequently of the Bristol Rural Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, Mr. Frank Skidmore has given up the office. His successor is Mr. C. Gifford, Gifford House, Frampton Cottrell, near Bristol, Glos.

An acre of grass land at Eltham, Kent, the revenue from which, for 400 years, has been used to provide bell ropes for the Parish Church, and as an ancient charity yielded about 20s. a year, is now covered by Council houses, and the Woolwich Borough Council has decided to redeem the charity.

THOUSAND PEALERS' PEAL.

A UNIQUE PERFORMANCE.

The 'thousand pealers' were successful in their effort at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, on Saturday. They rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, but, we are told, with all their experience the importance of the occasion weighed so heavily upon them that they started 'as nervous as kittens'.

We have not yet received the official account of the peal, or accurate details of the colossal peal aggregate of these eight ringers, who, in addition to their outstanding individual achievements, now have the distinction of being the first peal band whose members have each rung over a thousand peals.

Our readers will be interested to know the names of the ringers. They were James George 1, George R. Pye 2, William H. Fussell 3, John H. Cheesman 4, Frank Bennett 5, James E. Davis 6, George Williams 7, Alfred H. Pulling 8. It was called by the doyen of conductors, George Williams, and rung in 3 hours 16 minutes for the Middlesex Association.

There are other particulars which we hope to publish about this unique performance when the 'official' report comes to hand.

PEALS IN 1935.

SEVENTY-NINE MORE THAN IN THE PREVIOUS YEAR.

The total number of peals rung in the year 1935, according to the records published in 'The Ringing World,' was 1,863, an increase of 84 tower-bell peals, and a decrease of five handbell peals in 1934, when the total was 1,784. The increase in peals on tower bells was due, of course, to the large number rung for King George's Silver Jubilee. Here is a summary of the peals rung last year and in the previous year:—

Tower bells	9	35	46	82	670	376	381	182	1,781
Handbells	1	5	8	7	41	12	5	3	82
	10	40	54	89	711	388	386	185	1,863
Tower bells	12	23	61	68	724	324	355	130	1,697
Handbells	—	6	5	9	47	7	7	6	87
	12	29	66	77	771	331	362	136	1,784

In 1933, 1,734 tower-bell peals and 99 handbell peals were rung, and in 1932 the numbers were 2,111 and 91 respectively.

At All Saints' Church, Waltham-on-Avon, on Saturday, February 1st, in 1 hour 12 minutes, a date touch of 1,936 changes, consisting of 16 Original, 720 each of London Scholars' Pleasure and College Pleasure, and 240 each of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob: W. Bramham 1, A. Gill 2, C. D. Potter 3, G. Lord 4, A. Panther (conductor) 5, W. Green 6. Specially arranged for Mr. C. D. Potter, of Barnsley, who afterwards entertained the company to supper.

MUFFLED RINGING.WHAT IS THE RIGHT PROCEDURE?

Questions as to proper practice in regard to muffled ringing have been raised by the variety of procedure in connection with the death of King George V. In most cases the local ringers acted on their own initiative, and sometimes in consultation with the incumbent, and the natural result has been that there was no uniform procedure.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Having read the correspondence on muffled ringing in the 'Ringing World' of last week, and also having noted the numerous peals published during the last few weeks in connection with the passing of His late Majesty, I think there are several points that need discussion.

Firstly, are we quite correct in ringing half-muffled for the passing of a monarch or any member of the royal family, and especially for the memorial service? Surely the ringing ought to be fully muffled!

Secondly, should the 'passing bell' be tolled, or rung up, and should this be done between sunset and sunrise? I think it would be to good advantage if some definite rule could be referred to on these occasions, drawn up by the Central Council and supported by the Church authorities. At present the method adopted is more or less left for each individual to act on his own initiative.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards suggests readers should send a brief report of their doings in this respect. Here the tenor was tolled one stroke per minute for an hour on Tuesday, January 21st, at sunrise, and in conclusion 70 strokes were chimed, representing the age of the dead monarch. The bells were chimed (singly) for the services on Sunday, January 26th. On Monday, January 27th, a peal was rung half-muffled. On Tuesday, 28th, the bells were rung fully muffled for an hour prior to the memorial service at 7 p.m.

AT DEVIZES.

Sir,—When we, at St. James', Southbroom, Devizes, heard of the sad news, my father, captain of the tower, tolled the tenor bell half-muffled for one hour, viz., from 8 to 9 a.m. Then, in the evening of the same day (Tuesday, January 21st), we rang half-muffled, some of the time ringing 'the whole pull and stand.' On the following Sunday as well as on the day of the funeral the bells were rung fully muffled.

A. T. WEEKS.

AN ISLE OF WIGHT 'UNWRITTEN LAW.'

The unwritten law at Newport, Isle of Wight, which has been respected with regard to muffled ringing is as follows: Fully muffled for a member of the royal family, a bishop and a ranger; half-muffled for any other church dignitary or churchworker. For the death of King George the knell was tolled four times daily for a quarter of an hour at one minute intervals, at 9 a.m. and 12 noon, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., until the morning of His late Majesty's funeral. The bells were rung fully muffled for the memorial service on Tuesday, January 28th, and also at the Sunday services on January 25th.

For the proclamation of H.M. King Edward VIII., on Wednesday, January 22nd, they were rung open at the request of the Mayor of the borough.

HALF OR FULLY MUFFLED?

Dear Sir,—The question of the correct procedure in regard to muffled and half-muffled ringing is, I consider, a very important one, and should be not only discussed by the Central Council, but a definite decision passed—since there appears to be a varied opinion among ringers.

In expressing a nation's sorrow in the passing of a King so beloved through the message of the bells, surely 'fully muffled' would have been the most appropriate.

If otherwise—the question for the Central Council's consideration appears to be 'For whom should bells be fully muffled?'

LINCOLNSHIRE RINGER'S DEATH.

At Kirton, near Boston, on February 1st, a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Triples: L. Lyon 1, J. W. Lakin, jun. 2, D. Flatters 3, J. Kemp 4, Dr. P. V. Hardwicke 5, G. Coleman, sen. 6, A. E. Flatters (conductor) 7, W. Boothby 8. Rung with clappers half-muffled as a token of respect to W. T. Bishop, sen., for many years a ringer at the above church, who was interred during the afternoon.

RINGERS' PLACE IN THE CHURCH.AN INDICTMENT.*To the Editor.

Sir,—In your issue of the 31st ult. you admit to some annoyance at the remarks of the Vicar of Kingston. Less haste and more careful reading of what he said (as reported in that same issue) would have prevented your woeful misconstruction of his viewpoint. Your report makes it clear he wants to see the bells repaired; that it is the concern of all Kingston and he hopes all Kingston will help, and that his church will find £300 of the cost, though they could do with the money for more important things.

Merely 'as a church the church has no interest in the bells'; you dislike this, but it is true. The Church's job is to save souls; bells are of very little use in that job. They used to call out to the clock-less countryside that it was time for worship; in these modern days that is not needed. They have an aural appeal up to a point, and few Englishmen would like church bells to become silent. But you cannot honestly maintain that they play much part in helping to convert souls to Christ, or in bringing people to church. Probably 70 per cent. of the ringers themselves very rarely, if ever, attend the worship to which their ringing is supposed to have called others. This has much to do with the declining interest of the Church in its bells and ringers.

Quite frankly, the majority of the ringers ring as a hobby; they have no other interest in the work or witness of a church. Ringers are too selfish and narrow-minded in very many cases. They want people to erect and maintain belfries—what for? So that ringers may pursue their hobby, ring hours of peals of mathematical marvels of no interest to anyone but themselves, and if the overburdened churchfolk or parsons murmur, the ringers' journal finds it 'difficult to write with restraint.'

I want to see ringers come into the full stream Christian service and their work recognised, but ringers will have to consecrate their work and their outlook far more than they do, and be found among the worshippers whom the Church has to seek and save.

Ringers must get out of the narrowness of the belfry and look on the Kingdom of God from the cross and the altar.

I note that you state that Kingston's bells have failed to have any influence on the people; you assert that 'only a bold man would deny it!' 'The Ringing World' has never a line or a word, from cover to cover, week by week, that would even remotely suggest that ringers regard the Exercise as anything more than an art or a pastime; nothing to suggest that it is in any way allied to a spiritual cause or the extension of the Kingdom of God among men. Ringers have no interest in the church 'as a church,' but they dislike the inevitable consequence that the 'church as a church' has little interest in them.

Ringers need to broaden their outlook and your journal should help them; not attempt to stir them up to resentment of a courageous and very proper point of view.

'SINCERE WELLWISHER.'

A DERBYSHIRE RE-OPENING.PREACHER FINDS HIS TEXT IN 'A GREAT ADVENTURE.'

Wednesday evening, February 12th, saw the culmination of a spirited effort by the authorities of Spondon Parish Church, Derbyshire, in getting their bells placed in first-class order, when the work of rehanging was rededicated at a special service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. C. Brocklehurst. The preacher for the occasion was the Rev. A. B. Roberts, Rector of Stanton-by-Dale, who said that when he was asked to preach this special sermon he did a lot of wondering as to what his text should be until he read a copy of 'A Great Adventure.' In that book he saw that the inscription on the tenor bell of Holy Trinity Church, Hobart, Tasmania, was 'Their sound has gone out to all lands and their words unto the end of the world,' and this gave him that which he sought.

The result was a fine sermon, in the course of which he explained in a very lucid manner what the 'Great Adventure' was. We do not know whether the reverend gentleman is a ringer, but he certainly seems to be a ringers' parson.

The bells at Spondon consist of a very handy ring of six, with a tenor weighing 8 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb., easy to handle, and the sound in the ringing room is 'just nice.' The bells can be 'tapped' with that degree of nicety so beloved by devotees of good striking. If a hand cannot strike these bells they cannot ring any peal as they should be rung.

The Vicar and his people are to be congratulated on the manner in which they have tackled the job. In spite of the vast amount of money they have raised during the past years for other purposes, they faced the issue boldly and without undue delay, setting an example to many a more wealthy place. Immediately they knew that work had to be done to the bells there was no dilly-dallying, but a concerted effort to put things right. Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were entrusted with the work, and one cannot speak too highly of the manner in which they have carried out the contract. The result speaks for itself. At the opening service they were represented by Mr. John P. Fidler.

RINGERS' TWO MINUTES' SILENCE.

Doncaster Parish Church ringers rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples half-muffled on Sunday, January 26th: G. Halksworth (conductor) 1, E. Baldwin 2, J. Holmes 3, E. Stacey 4, A. Stavely 5, W. E. Lloyd 6, H. Wagsstaff 7, P. Daw 8. For the funeral on January 28th, at the Priory Church, 1,008 Stedman Triples was rung, after which the ringers stood by their ropes for the two minutes' silence, following which a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung for the memorial service at the Parish Church. The following took part: G. Halksworth (conductor) 1, E. Stacey 2, J. Holmes 3, W. E. Lloyd 4, R. Thompson 5, A. Stavely 6, H. Wagsstaff 7, P. Daw 8.

At Great Baddow, Essex, on Sunday, January 26th, with fully muffled clappers, for the memorial service, 1,280 Kent Treble Bob Major: H. Carter (first quarter-peal of Major) 1, Dr. Spencer Phillips 2, J. W. Cornford 3, A. Bartholomew 4, P. Felton 5, C. Pennack (first quarter-peal of Major) 6, P. Green 7, G. Green (conductor) 8. Also 630 Grandsire Triples, conducted by P. Green.

At the Parish Church, Bishop's Stortford, for morning service, on Sunday, January 26th, with the bells fully muffled, 1,050 Oxford Bob Triples: E. Ansell 1, H. M. White 2, F. Springham 3, F. Bird (conductor) 4, H. Bull 5, H. A. Wacey 6, W. T. Prior 7, W. Wilkinson 8. On Tuesday afternoon, January 28th, for the memorial service, 504 in the same method was rung before and after the service.

At Kirby-le-Soken, Essex, on Sunday morning, January 26th, before service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells fully muffled: W. Southgate 1, E. Smith 2, W. Rouse 3, H. Cuthbert 4, M. Ling 5, E. Davey (conductor) 6, H. A. Wright 7, A. J. Clark 8. All are Sunday service ringers.

On Tuesday, January 28th, the bells of St. Martin-in-the-Fields and St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, were rung with the bells half-muffled. Touches of Stedman Cinques, Caters, Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, in which the following members took part: F. Arnold, J. E. Bailey, W. Berry, T. Bevan, Mrs. G. H. Cross, G. H. Cross, Mrs. C. J. Matthews, C. J. Matthews, Thomas Newman, Alfred Pye, S. Shellock, J. Sparrow, G. W. Steere, F. G. Symonds and Miss J. Thomson.

At St. Mary's-without-the-Walls, Chester, for the King's funeral, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells muffled, but the tenor open at backstroke: G. Lee 1, J. Best 2, M. Harris 3, R. Huxley 4, W. Hopwood 5, J. Hayes (conductor) 6, J. Mather 7, T. Price 8.

The bells of the Parish Church, Ickleton, Cambs, were rung deeply muffled for both morning and evening services on Sunday, January 26th. For morning service, five courses of Double Norwich were rung. On Tuesday, January 28th, after the memorial service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: W. Smooty 1, P. Webb (conductor) 2, L. Lilley 3, R. Clements 4, L. Plitton 5, G. Lilley 6, W. Plitton 7, A. G. Lilley 8. This ringing was also a token of respect for the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, formerly secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association.

At the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Newport Pagnell, Bucks, 504 Grandsire Triples with the bells fully muffled before the memorial service, and 504 Grandsire Triples half-muffled after the service: C. F. Cheekley 1, H. C. Beard (conductor) 2, J. Mapley 3, R. G. Abraham 4, R. H. Howson 5, E. G. Lathall 6, R. A. Hall 7, D. J. Clare 8.

At St. James' Church, Whitfield, Glossop, there are no fewer than three ringers who have rung for the death of three Sovereigns. They are T. Jackson, J. Marsden, and E. Garside, who all completed 50 years of continuous service this month. They rang to celebrate Queen Victoria's Jubilee (1887) and Diamond Jubilee (1888) and for her death, the death of King Edward VII. and King George V. They now look forward to taking part in celebrating the crowning of King Edward VIII. On January 26th, with the bells deeply muffled, 1,728 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung by J. Buckley (conductor) 1, F. Johnston 2, T. Jackson 3, J. Marsden 4, D. Cuthbert 5, H. Woodhead 6, E. Garside 7, F. Marsden 8.

A quarter-peal of Bob Minor with the bells half-muffled was rung on Tuesday, January 21st, at Holy Trinity Church, Queenborough: C. Hobbs (first quarter-peal) 1, W. J. Wood 2, S. Wood 3, F. Pankhurst 4, G. Wood 5, W. A. Wood (conductor) 6.

At the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Little Horkesley, Essex, on Monday, January 27th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (ten callings) with the bells half-muffled: E. Leggett (conductor) 1, J. H. Edwards 2, B. F. Leggett 3, Corpl. V. B. Leggett, R.A.F., 4, W. G. Gusterson 5.

For morning service, at Shipley, Yorks, on January 26th, 720 Oxford Bob Minor: E. H. Simpson (conductor) 1, Miss W. Foster 2, Miss M. White 3, T. B. Kendall 4, K. Simpson 4, H. Stott 6. For evening service, touches of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, with T. A. King and F. Seager taking part. On January 28th, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,344 changes): G. Titterton 1, Miss M. White 2, W. Newman 3, K. Simpson 4, E. H. Simpson (conductor) 5, H. Stott 6, W. Helliwell 7, T. B. Kendall 8. Longest length of Bob Major for ringers of 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

FIRST PEAL ON MEMORIAL BELLS.

The half-muffled peal, rung for the death of His Majesty, at Penarth, Glamorganshire, took place on the anniversary of the death of the late Mr. E. Hodges, one time a churchwarden at this church, to whose memory the six bells were recently recast and augmented to eight by his daughter, Mrs. Wilkinson. It was the first peal on this beautiful ring, installed by Taylor and Co.

A half-muffled peal of Bob Major was attempted at St. David's Church, Bangor, North Wales, on Saturday, January 25th, but came to grief after ringing 2,528 changes in 1 hour and 40 minutes through a change course: A. E. Pegler, jun. 1, J. H. Midwinter 2, E. Atkinson 3, T. Turner 4, R. Fairlie, jun. 5, J. H. Fuller 6, J. Evans 7, A. E. Pegler, sen. (conductor) 8. On Tuesday, January 28th, with the bells half-muffled, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung for 70 years of the late King's age.

On Tuesday, January 28th, at St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, an attempt was made for a peal of Stedman Caters with the bells half-muffled as a tribute of respect to the late King George. The peal was, unfortunately, unsuccessful after nearly three hours' ringing owing to a change course. The band were: L. L. Gray 1, A. Linbatt 2, G. R. Newton (conductor) 3, F. Varty 4, J. Brown 5, R. G. Edwards 6, J. Ridyard 7, E. C. Birkett 8, E. Counce 9, H. Roberts 10.

At Accrington, on Sunday, January 26th, 720 St. Clement's College Bob: F. Platt 1, S. Brown 2, J. Beattie 3, C. Blakey 4, A. Stanton 5, W. Aaron (conductor) 6. First 720 of St. Clement's ever rung at Accrington, and first for all the band except W. Aaron. For evening service, 720 of Minor (240 each of Oxford Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob): W. Ashworth 1, S. Brown 2, J. Beattie 3, C. Blakey 4, A. Stanton 5, W. Aaron (conductor) 6. Both 720's were rung with bells half-muffled.

At Wendover, Bucks, on Sunday, January 26th, with fully muffled bells, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: G. Simmons 1, A. Buggy 2, W. A. Lee 3, A. Bird 4, H. C. Jones (conductor) 5, J. Hopcraft 6.

Other touches will be published next week.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT'S ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held at St. John's Church, Redhill, on Saturday, February 1st. The Rev. J. H. Ifor Jones (curate) conducted the service in the absence of the Vicar, who was indisposed. The Vicar sent a message saying how sorry he was not to be present and extending a welcome to the Surrey Association once more to St. John's. Tea followed in the Parochial Hall, where 43 were present from the following towers: Reigate, Horley, Limpsfield Chart, Burstow, Buckland, Marham, Bletchingley and Lingfield, and visitors from Crawley, Beddington, Turner's Hill, Croydon, Dorking and the local band, with Mr. Alderman Temple Newell, J.P., and Mr. J. Gear, churchwarden.

Tea was followed by the business meeting, Mr. Temple Newell presiding. The chairman referred to the passing of His Majesty King George V., and asked the company to stand in silence for a few moments.

The treasurer's report and balance sheet were adopted.

The secretary's report showed that four district meetings were held during the year with an average attendance of 30 members. Twenty new members were elected during the year, and one tower, Lingfield, was affiliated to the association. Eleven peals were rung.

It was decided to hold the following meetings during the year if possible: Nutfield in March; Buckland in June; Burstow in September; Horley in December; Reigate in January, 1937, for the annual meeting; with two joint meetings, viz., with the Sussex Association at Crawley, and East Grinstead Guild at Lingfield.

The following officers were elected: Master, Mr. A. J. Bull (Horley); treasurer, Mr. M. Northover (Reigate); hon. secretary, Mr. W. Claydon (Reigate); auditor, Mr. A. Gear (Redhill); committee, Mr. A. Willett (Redhill), Mr. Sheldon (Reigate) and Mr. H. Wallis (Lingfield). Mr. W. Claydon was nominated for election to the Central Council.

After change ringing on the handbells, a vote of thanks was passed to the curate for taking the service and Mr. West for presiding at the organ, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gear and friends for arrangements and helping at the tea, and Mr. Temple Newell for presiding at the meeting.

The bells were in use both in the afternoon and evening, and ringing extended from rounds to London Surprise Major.

SCOTTOW'S 'JUBILEE' BELL. AUGMENTED PEAL DEDICATED.

The new peal at Scottow, Norfolk, was dedicated on Tuesday, February 4th, by the Ingworth Rural Dean, the Rev. Harvard Watts, Rector of Blickling, assisted by the Vicar (the Rev. Newton Kent) and the Rev. R. Jenkyn Owen (Rector of Swanton Abbott). A shortened form of evensong preceded the usual prayers, etc., used for the benediction of bells, wherein was heard three strokes on the new treble, which is an addition to the old peal of five, and then a course of Bob Minor by the following: W. C. Duffield (Buxton) 1, B. Rout (Aylsham) 2, C. E. Barrett (Norwich) 3, E. J. Barton (Buxton) 4, W. C. Medler (Hovingham) 5, G. W. Bailey (Wroxham) 6. Good striking enabled all to enjoy the clear musical tones of a very handy peal, the tenor being about 10½ cwt.

Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, has put in a new iron frame and rehung the old five in all new fittings, the whole job having been completed in a most satisfactory manner.

The tower had also needed certain repairs, and the funds were largely provided by a generous donor, who prefers to remain anonymous, augmented by the surplus from the Parish Jubilee Fund. The work was undertaken as a memorial of King George V.'s Jubilee, the new treble bearing the inscription, 'Jubilee,' followed by portraits of the late King and Queen Mary.

About 20 ringers, some from remote parts of Norfolk, greatly enjoyed the ringing, which continued until late in the evening, and the very adequate tea so kindly provided by Miss Durrant at Scottow Hall.

DEATH OF A LONDON RINGER.

FIFTY YEARS A CUMBERLAND YOUTH.

The death occurred on February 10th of Mr. John Lee, of Edgley Road, Clapham, S.W., at the age of 71 years. He had been in failing health for a few months, had a heart attack in December and passed away peacefully on Monday of last week.

Mr. Lee was for 50 years a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and also a member of the London County, Surrey and Middlesex Associations and a member of the St. Leonard's, Streatham, band. He kept no count of the number of the peals he rang, but it is assumed to be about a hundred. The most noteworthy in which he took part were the peal, in six hours, of 10,072 changes Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Foxearth, Essex, in 1888, and the Surrey Association peal 10,400 changes of Double Norwich Major on Easter Monday, 1924, at Christ Church, Epsom.

The funeral took place at Norwood Cemetery on Friday, February 14th. In addition to the family mourners there were present Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master of the London County Association), Mr. H. Mance (Southern District Master of the London County Association), Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (secretary of the South and West District, Middlesex County Association), Mr. J. W. Euston, of Balham, also officials of the London Parks Committee (L.C.C.), by which deceased was employed.

Touches were rung on Saturday, February 15th, half-muffled during the evening at St. Leonard's Church, Streatham, by local and visiting ringers as a mark of respect.

As a ringer, deceased was a perfect striker, and will be greatly missed. He frequently attended practices and district meetings in London and suburbs.

THE MANCHESTER BRANCH SECRETARYSHIP.

A meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Birch-in-Rusholme on Saturday, February 15th. Ringers attended from Bowden, Bredbury, Gorton, Prestwich, Pendleton, Radcliffe, West Didsbury and Worsley, together with a few unattached members of the branch. The meeting had the pleasure, also of the presence of Mr. J. H. Sheppard, of Swindon.

The business meeting was held in the tower, with the branch president, Mr. C. Gudgeon, in the chair.

At the outset the chairman requested the members to stand in silence as a tribute to the memory of His late Majesty King George V. Associated also with the tribute was the late Mr. James H. Collier, of Flixton. The chairman spoke also of Mr. R. H. Bent, of Prestwich, who has been ill for a considerable period.

Places chosen for next quarter's meetings were: March 21st, Prestwich; April 18th, Gorton; and May 16th, Worsley.

The following were elected members of the association: Messrs. Charles Ridyard and R. Jones, of Worsley; Alan Mosley, John Huxstep, Harry Ogden, John and Alan Wrigley, of Birch; Ewart Mungatroyd, of West Didsbury; Alan Brown, of Bowden, Cheshire; and H. Charles Bond, of Cirencester.

The secretary (Mr. D. Brown) intimated his desire to resign from the position owing to his difficulty in attending the meetings and keeping in close touch with the branch, and requested the meeting to consider the desirability of electing a successor at the next quarterly meeting in May.

After the usual votes of thanks had been passed, several of the new members were given some very useful practice, which at the moment is very welcome at Birch, where a young band is endeavouring not only to raise their status as ringers, but also to raise funds for a bell restoration scheme. We wish them success in every way.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

STOCKPORT BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Norbury (Hazel Grove) on Saturday, January 25th. The bells were rung fully muffled from 3.30 p.m. to 4.30 p.m., when the service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. J. Humphreys), who gave a very inspiring address, basing his remarks on the text, 'Unto you I call.' He observed how the bells reflected the different feelings of the populace. At that time they showed our sorrow at the death of our beloved King, and last May they sounded forth their note of joy on his completion of 25 years' reign. Still, under all circumstances, their call was to the people to join the church in its sorrow or joy, as it had been all down the ages.

After service tea was served in the school by the local ringers and their good ladies, and some 35 members and friends partook of an excellent repast.

After tea the business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Vicar, and at the commencement the members stood for a moment in silence as a mark of respect and affection for His late Majesty.

The Chairman expressed regret at the death of the ex-Master of the Guild, the Rev. C. A. Clements, who had passed away about a fortnight before. He said he felt sure the members would wish to send a message of condolence to Mrs. Clements, and he moved that the secretary be instructed to do so. This suggestion was unanimously adopted by the meeting, and the members stood silently for a minute as a tribute to his memory. The report and statement of accounts were approved and adopted by the meeting. The officers for the ensuing year were elected, and thanks were extended to the retiring officers for their services.

Six new members were elected.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his fine address, to the local ringers for having everything ready, to the ladies who so ably catered for the requirements of the inner man, and to the organist for his assistance in church.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CENTRAL BRANCH.

A good muster of members braved the foggy weather for the annual meeting of the Central Branch, held at Sutton-in-the-Isle on Saturday last. The Rev. Canon Woodard conducted the Guild service and gave the members a warm welcome to Sutton. The hymns were 'We love the place, O God' and 'There is a blessed home.' Mrs. Woodard was at the organ. Tea was taken in the Schoolroom, the hostesses being Mrs. G. Few and Mrs. C. Gimbert, both ringers' wives.

Before the business meeting, at which Canon Woodard presided, the company stood for a minute's silence as a token of respect to the late general secretary, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, and Mr. A. T. Faux, vergier and ringer at Sutton Church.

The following officers were elected: President, the Rev. A. E. Kirkland (Vicar of Haddenham); vice-president, the Rev. Canon Woodard (Sutton); Ringing Master, Mr. G. Few; secretary, Mr. F. Warrington.

After discussion, and on the proposition of Mr. B. Wayman, of Over, seconded by Mr. W. Seekings, of Chatteris, Mr. F. Warrington was nominated as a representative to the Central Council.

The next annual meeting is to take place at Ely and the next ringing meeting at Longstanton.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Canon Woodard for his kindness and warm welcome. During the afternoon and after the business meeting some good ringing took place, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise. Among those present was Mr. Smith (Master, Cambridge University Guild), Mr. A. H. Peter Woodard (hon. secretary) and Mr. P. Tyrwhitt-Drake, of Cambridge University.

A 720 IN 12 PLAIN METHODS.

At Bigby, Lincs, on Thursday, February 13th, a 720 of Minor in 12 Plain methods was rung. The 720 is the composition of Mr. A. G. Driver, and the methods were Double Bob, Reverse Bob, Fulbeck Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, Double Oxford, London Bob, Thelwall, Lytham Bob, St. Clement's, College, Childwall and Wavertree; E. Britain 1, G. W. Moody 2, F. Lord 3, Mrs. Bray 4, J. Bray 5, G. E. Feirn (conductor) 6. There were 53 changes of method and 18 singles. It is believed to be the first time this 12-method 720 has been rung.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

Address to the King.

The annual meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at St. Mary's, Twickenham, on Saturday week, when the best attendance for some years, over 60, was recorded. Nearly all the affiliated towers were represented. Ringing took place at Hampton during the afternoon under the direction of the Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. W. H. Coles, while the Master, Mr. George Kilby, was in charge at Twickenham, where ringing was to be had both in the afternoon and evening. A feature was the variety of methods rung, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods, the latter the best struck touch of the day.

Shortened evensong was conducted by the president of the association, the Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane, who is Vicar of Twickenham. The National Anthem prefaced the service.

The President, in a brief address, referred to the life and death of His late Majesty King George V. He hoped that the wonderful example of a Christian life, as lived by him, would be a strength and comfort to all.

The vice-president read the lesson, specially selected as a tribute to the King and also to the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake. The hymns were well sung, as usual.

Tea, held in the Church Hall, taxed the resources of the caterers to the utmost (they did forget their postcards, after all). Eventually all were supplied, although some were seated rather unconventionally! Immediately after tea, a touch was rung on Mr. George Kilby's fine handbells.

The President, referring to the events of the past fortnight, moved the following address to King Edward:—

'The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild respectfully tender to Your Majesty an expression of their deep sorrow at the grievous loss which the nation has sustained in the death of Your Majesty's illustrious father, and an expression of their respectful sympathy with Your Majesty in these the dark days of your grief.

'They tender to Your Majesty a spontaneous and dutiful expression of their loyalty, and they pray that your reign may be blessed by peace for your people and comfort for Your Majesty's own self.'

The members stood to receive the motion and signified their assent in silence.

Mr. J. A. Trollope spoke in feeling terms of the tragic death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake.—After a tribute to his work for and his value to the Exorcise, it was agreed that a message of sympathy be sent to the widow and family.

The hon. secretary (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow), in his report, commenced by referring to the passing of the greatest ringer of all time on March 8th, Mr. William Pye. He had been Master of the association since 1910 and he had raised the standard of ringing enormously since then. His great ringing feats at Exeter, Loughborough and Ashton-under-Lyne, to mention but a few, will long be remembered. He was the first man to call a thousand peals. He rang 1,969 peals in all, of which he called 1,427. He was a man of great modesty and greatly loved by those who really knew him. Details of the proposed memorial to his memory were given and an earnest appeal for further donations made.

THE ORGANISATION OF LOCAL GUILDS.

Continuing, the hon. secretary gave details of meetings held during the year, the average attendance of 31 being an increase on the previous year. Sunday service ringing had been maintained, although several bands were finding it difficult to keep up to full strength. While the problem of new ringers is one of some perplexity, it is not without solution. A closer co-operation with the incumbent is desirable on this point, and while there are choirboys and youth organisations in the parish, one source, at least, of possible recruits should remain. Teaching should not be the somewhat haphazard performance it sometimes is, but should be carefully planned, with maintenance of interest an important feature. Handbells can be used in this respect with advantage, ringing both tunes and changes. The active interest of church officials should be stimulated on all possible occasions. All bands should be formed into a Guild to rank as a parochial organisation, holding a meeting at least once a year, and, if possible, an annual outing.

Heston ringers headed the quarter-peal list with ten in five different methods. Only twelve peals were rung during the year, a big decrease. The best performance was the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods. This was conducted by E. C. S. Turner from an 'inside' bell, and was his own composition. Congratulations were extended to both the Heston and Sunbury bands on ringing peals with an entirely local band. Thirteen members were elected during the year, but there was a dismal story of over 20 outstanding subscriptions. (Pay up and play the game!)

The report concluded with thanks and congratulations to Mr. C. T. Coles, who had recently completed 25 years as hon. secretary of the North and East District.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

COMPETITION FOR OFFICES.

The annual general meeting was held on Saturday at St. Clement Danes, Strand. Ringing took place at St. Giles', Cripplegate; St. Margaret's, Westminster; St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, and St. Clement Danes, where many methods were indulged in. Service in St. Clement Danes Church was attended by a large number of members and friends. Led by the organist and choristers, the service was conducted, in the absence of the honorary chaplain (the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford), by the Rev. W. Kingston, who gave a short address, in which he pointed out the importance of bells in calling the people to worship.

Tea was partaken of in Perdy's Restaurant, where a company of 97 sat down. Afterwards some returned for further ringing at St. Clement's till 7 p.m., others made their way to the meeting hall and a few left rang handbells, a course of Kent Treble Bob Major being among the items: E. J. King 1-2, T. W. Taffender 3-4, A. D. Barker 5-6, J. G. A. Prior 7-8.

Business in the Parish Hall was presided over by the Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. C. O. Moore) and assistant secretaries, stewards, etc. The presentation of the balance sheet by one of the auditors (Mr. A. D. Barker) revealed that the association had a balance in hand on the year's working, thus increasing the society's assets.

The annual report showed that during the year 1935, 13 peals had been rung, being two more than in 1934. They were conducted by nine different ringers as follows: The Master 4, Mr. T. W. Taffender 2, and the following one each: Messrs. J. Bennett, J. W. Chapman, W. Hewitt, E. J. King, F. Skevington, E. D. Smith and W. Williams. The outstanding peals were the peal of Stedman Triples at St. Olave's, Hart Street, City, by a band of Freemasons on October 28th, the first peal of Major and Surprise on the bells at Woodford on November 16th, and the peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, on December 7th, rung muffled for an esteemed member, Mr. R. Bevan. The association had elected 37 members during the year, and, with regret, had lost by death, in addition to Mr. R. Bevan, Mr. R. A. Daniell, who was a past secretary and did so much in formulating the London County Association in 1903 from the old St. James' Society, founded 1824. He was also the compiler and donor of the association's service books. The report also noted the practices adopted by the Northern District for mid-week, and, with regret, the inability of Mr. J. Herbert to carry on the secretaryship of the Southern District. It was hoped to produce an annual report this year for sale at a small cost giving very useful information.

A HANDBELL COMPETITION.

Interest next centred on the election of officers who had been nominated at the previous quarterly meeting. There were two nominations for the Mastership, Mr. T. H. Taffender and Mr. A. D. Barker. The result of the election revealed an overwhelming majority in favour of Mr. T. H. Taffender, who was declared elected amid applause. For the office of general secretary there were also two nominations, Mr. C. O. Moore and Mr. T. W. Taffender. Mr. C. O. Moore withdrew and Mr. T. W. Taffender was, therefore, duly elected. The following were elected to the other offices: Messrs. A. J. Harding and F. E. Hawthorne, assistant secretaries; Mr. E. A. Young, treasurer; Messrs. T. Wyatt and P. Carter, stewards; Mr. A. H. Keighley and Mr. F. E. Dawe, trustees; Central Council representatives, the Master (Mr. T. H. Taffender), Mr. F. E. Dawe and Mr. J. Waugh. A vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the clergy for the use of their bells during the afternoon, to the honorary chaplain for the attendance of the organist and choristers, and leaving him to dispose as he wished of the collection made at the service.

The meeting then expressed its opinion in connection with the proposed removal of All Hallows, Lombard Street, and the secretary was requested to write the appropriate authorities that the church should be preserved and allowed to remain if at all possible.

The concluding item of the evening was the handbell contest. There were four entrants, but one band had to withdraw, as one of its members was unavoidably absent. This left the representatives of St. Mary's, Woodford, to compete first, followed by St. Dunstan's, Stepney, and St. Stephen's, Rochester Row. Each band rang a course of Grandsire Triples. The decision of the three umpires resulted in the cup being retained by the band of St. Stephen's, Rochester Row. The meeting then came to a close with another course of Treble Bob Major on handbells.

It was agreed to hold the fifth annual supper next year, and the next district annual meeting at Isleworth.

F. D. Bishop and V. A. Rawlings, of Chiswick, and the Rev. J. W. Ainger, of Twickenham, were elected members.

W. H. Coles was elected Master and E. C. S. Turner his deputy. The hon. secretary (F. W. Goodfellow), assistant hon. secretary (W. G. Wilson) and hon. treasurer (T. Collins) were all re-elected. Thanks were accorded to all who contributed to the success of the meeting and to the retiring officers.

FOR BEGINNERS.A STEP IN CHANGE RINGING.

Let us hark back this week, for the sake of the 'very beginners' who are just making a start with change ringing. In the first issues of 'The Ringing World' this year we tried to show the correct way to ring a bell and went on to explain how to hunt the treble in Doubles. We want to go a step further this week in this direction and give young ringers a little direction in ringing some other bell than the treble to Doubles.

It is as well, perhaps, to explain that there is a variety of ways in which Doubles (that is ringing five bells and changing two pairs at a time) can be produced. One of the oldest methods is Grandsire, and this is frequently the method in which beginners are started. On five bells and upwards no method will produce all the possible changes; Grandsire Doubles produces only 30 out of the possible 120, which is the number that can be got with five bells.

The reason is this: In this method there are two bells which follow only a plain hunting course, that is moving one place at a time from front to back and back to front without any deviation, and as a consequence they return to their relative starting positions every ten changes. There are, therefore, three bells left to do the 'work' of the method, and as they complete the cycle by the time the hunt bells have been up and down three times, the bells come round at the end of 30 changes.

The working bells, as they are called, all follow the same cycle, but each begins it at a different place. In the plain course, the never leaves it, whatever happens. The working bells in the plain treble and 2nd are the bells doing the plain hunting, and the treble course are, therefore, 3, 4 and 5. And they hunt, for the most part, like the other two, moving one place up or down as the case may be. But if they did nothing more than this, the bells would be back in rounds at the end of ten changes.

Some variation in the work has consequently to be made, and it is done in this way: The bell which the treble takes off at lead, instead of hunting right up to the back, only goes as far as 3rd's place. Here he has a whole pull (it happens to come at backstroke and hand-stroke, just as the whole pull behind does when you make it) and hunts down again to lead.

PLACE MAKING AND DODGING.

That really should be quite easy to do, for, having led and struck over the treble and one other bell, you strike over the treble and the other bell again in the same order, and lead once more.

This making of 3rd's place checks the hunting of the other two behind, and they each have to take one step back, which is called a dodge, before going on again. One bell dodges after lying its whole-pull behind, and this is called 5-4 down, and the other dodges before it lies its whole-pull, which is called 4-5 up.

We shall probably be taken to task for using the term '5-4 down.' For one thing, most people call it '4-5 down,' and for another the word 'down' is superfluous if you say '5-4,' which should indicate that the dodge is made on the way down. We have, however, made use of both expressions so that you may have no doubt about them.

Now, in between the dodges and the 3rd's place, all the bells plain hunt, and there are various ways in which you may know when the dodges occur.

You should count your way as well as hunt it, by knowing at each pull exactly what place you are in, whether it is 2nd's, or 3rd's, or 4th's, or 5th's. Then you will know when you come to your dodging places.

The Grandsire method actually begins with the 3rd's place and the accompanying dodge, so let us imagine you are ringing the 3rd. While you are ringing rounds you are making one of the blows which constitutes the 3rd's place. When you start into changes, therefore, you must have one more blow in 3rd's before hunting down to lead. This will be over the treble. Next you strike over the other bell that is in the hunt, and then lead. Now you hunt up and lie a whole pull behind. When you have started to hunt down and have struck in 4th's place, you will find that the bell you struck over is not coming up over you. He is the one that is making 3rd's, and you must go back a step over the bell you had previously struck over. When that has been done you will be able to continue your forward march to lead. By the time you get behind again another bell will be making 3rd's, and on account of the ground you lost in the previous dodge you will find that this time you must dodge before you lie your whole pull. When you do this whole pull, the second blow will be over the treble, which, as we say, 'turns you from behind,' and consequently will take you off at lead.

This, as has already been pointed out, means that you have this time got to make 3rd's place. This, then, is the cycle of the work: Make 3rd's place, lead, hunt up, lie a whole pull behind, dodge 5-4 down, hunt down, lead, hunt up, dodge 4-5 up, lie a whole pull behind, hunt down, lead, make 3rd's place.

If you count your places and notice where you pass the treble, you have a guide as to what to do, by the following table:—

Pass treble in 3-4 going up, dodge 5-4 down.

Pass treble in 2-3 going up, dodge 4-5 up.

Pass treble in 1-2 going up, make 3rd's and lead again.

BROADCASTING.

The broadcasting of bell ringing has claimed a good deal of attention lately among ringers, and there have been two points that have excited most discussion. One is the action of the B.B.C. in superimposing announcements on the ringing prior to services and the other is on the character of the ringing itself. On the first question the B.B.C. seem to have taken a definite stand, and, unless other influences can be brought to bear, it would seem that the ringing on these occasions will have to suffer temporary eclipse while the announcer goes through the items of the service. To ringers, of course, this fading down is annoying, but it is not a matter in which the public are likely to concern themselves. They get the effect of the bells, and the 'atmosphere' associated with a church service is not, with them, we imagine, broken when the bells become for a short time, merely a background. They have not the same appreciation of the technicalities as ringers have, and until the B.B.C. look at the ringing that is done as a part of the service itself, instead of a prelude; until, in fact, they are prepared to accept it, as they do a hymn sung by the choir, broadcast service ringing is likely to continue to suffer from the voice of the announcer.

The other question is one which, in our opinion, affects ringers even more intimately. The quality of the ringing should always be the ringers' first consideration, and those who are responsible for broadcasting should take every possible step to see that nothing but the best striking is produced on such occasions. The prestige of the art is much more at stake when the sound of the bells goes out over the ether. Bad striking is to be deprecated at any time, but usually when it is heard by the public the public, as a whole, are not particularly careful in their listening and may or may not notice specially that the ringing is poor. But when the bells are broadcast, there is definitely concentrated listening in the homes of thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands of people, and bad ringing under such circumstances is bound to create a much worse impression than bad ringing heard in the street. We would appeal, therefore, to all bands of ringers entrusted with broadcast ringing to use every effort to secure striking as perfect as possible, and to attempt nothing which they cannot do well. We realise that where broadcast ringing is to be done it is difficult to ask the indifferent ringer or ringers belonging to the band to stand aside, for fear of giving offence, but the importance of a broadcast is such that, although some may disagree with us, we think that even this step should be taken, if necessary, to secure the best performance. Many a man is left out of a peal because he is not considered good enough; a broadcast is infinitely more important. It is better not to broadcast the bells at all, than to do it badly—but the trouble sometimes is that there are ringers who do not know that they are bad strikers.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.NORTH-WEST DIVISION ANNUAL MEETING.

A meeting of the North-West Branch was held at Pyworthy. The Rev. Ravenhill, of Sutcombe, the chairman of the branch, and Mr. J. W. Sangwin, the hon. secretary, were supported by a muster of about 40 ringers from Bridgerule, Exeter, Bramford Speke, Holsworthy, Plymouth, Petersmarland and the home tower. The president of the Devon Guild, the Rev. E. V. Cox, also attended.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Herbert, who gave an interesting and helpful address. The Rev. Ravenhill read the lesson.

Tea was served by the church helpers in the Vicarage Hall, after which the annual business meeting was carried through. Mr. Sangwin read his report, and Mr. W. Shears submitted the balance sheet, which showed an increased balance in hand.

The Rev. Ravenhill was re-elected chairman, Mr. J. W. Sangwin secretary, Mr. W. Shears treasurer, and Messrs. F. Sangwin, A. J. Motters and the Rev. W. H. Smale as representatives to the General Committee.

The Vicar of Pyworthy was elected as an honorary member of the branch. It was decided to hold the summer meeting at North Lew (where, according to local tradition, the Devil died with the cold), and the next annual meeting at Torrington.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of Pyworthy, the organist and choir and all the ladies who had helped in the provision of tea and the comfort of those present.

DEATH OF MR. G. F. PICKLES.AN OLD HORBURY RINGER.

The death took place on Tuesday, February 13th, of Mr. George Frederick Pickles, at the age of 72 years. He was a change ringer at St. Peter's Church, Horbury, for 46 years, and an old member of the Yorkshire Association, which he joined in 1891. There are now only two members left of that old team at Horbury, namely, Mr. Robert Thicket and Mr. Herbert Rowley. Mr. Pickles, in addition to his interest in ringing, was also a prominent supporter of the church throughout his life, and at one time acted as sidesman.

The interment took place on Saturday, February 15th, at Horbury Cemetery. A large number of ringing friends attended, and touches were rung on the muffled bells throughout the afternoon, and at the graveside a touch of Grandsire was rung on handbells. On Sunday the local ringers rang with bells half-muffled to 720 Kent and 600 Oxford Treble Bob as a token of respect and esteem.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT'S 'SURPRISE' MEETING.

A good deal is heard about Surprise in ringing in these days, but a great surprise was in store at Leatherhead on Saturday week, when 50 ringers representing 19 towers assembled there, in spite of the thick fog, for the annual meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the quarterly meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild. The Ringing Master had a busy afternoon, trying to suit everybody's tastes and capabilities. The Guild's service was conducted by the Rev. P. V. Bruckin, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, and several choirboys assisted in the singing.

Tea was served, as usual, in the Institute, and was presided over by the Rev. P. V. Bruckin, who was voted to the chair for the business meeting which followed. The balance sheet and committee's report were read and adopted. The balance showed a decrease of £1 10s., but part of that had been replaced by stock, several badges being still for sale.

The report was not altogether satisfactory, as a few ringing subscriptions had not been paid and two honorary members had been lost, the Rev. A. E. Robins having moved from Dorking and Mr. W. T. Waller having died. Attendances at the meetings had increased slightly, but still only about half the members had attended a meeting. Four peals had been rung in the district, one of Grandsire Triples and three of Double Norwich. These included two 'first peals' and one 'first in the method.' These ringers were all members of the Banstead band. Other gratifying features were the restorations at Ewell and Dorking, and the interest shown in ringing by the new Vicar of Ewell at the reopening of the bells.

Two new members were elected, and after a ballot for two members for the Guild Executive Committee, all the retiring district officers were re-elected, and all the retiring general officers renominated, with the addition of Messrs. A. Harman and G. Marriner to the names of those nominated for the election of Central Council representatives.

The committee's recommendations as to places for meetings during the year were accepted without comment.

Mr. A. Harman's scheme for combined practices, that two adjoining towers work together and visit each other on alternate weeks, was next discussed and finally agreed to.

Miss H. F. Mills thanked the district for the welcome given to the Ladies' Guild.—The secretary replied that visitors were always welcome to the district meetings.

After the usual votes of thanks to all who had helped to make a good meeting, the men went back to the tower, the ladies rejoining them after their short business meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ring of six bells of Bitton Church, near Bristol, is to be rehung in new framework and two trebles added to complete the peal. The work will be carried out by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

A visitor to this country from Tasmania, Mr. Malcolm R. Taylor, a member of the band at Holy Trinity Church, Hobart, has scored a peal at Crayford, where he has had the opportunity of learning change ringing with that enthusiastic company. Mr. Taylor is the first Tasmanian born ringer to score a peal, and the knowledge which he is gaining in the art in England should be invaluable when he returns home.

There was another interesting thing about the peal at Crayford. The tenor was rung by Miss Mollie Redpath, who thus completed the 'circle' in this tower. Few other ladies have, up to the present, rung a peal on all the bells in any one tower. The peal was originally arranged as a purely local one, and the band extend their thanks to Mr. H. E. Audsley in filling up, at a moment's notice, the gap caused by the temporary indisposition of Mr. Edwin Barnett.

The composition of the peal of Spliced London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major rung on handbells at Oxhey on Feb. 14th was the same as that published in 'The Ringing World' on Nov. 15th for the Spliced London and Cambridge, except that Superlative was rung for Cambridge in courses 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 13, 14 and 15 in each part.

Mr. T. E. Sone, of Paddock Wood, Kent, has called 50 compositions, by Mr. Arthur Knights, of Chesterfield, when rung for the first time. They include four peals of Kent Treble Bob Royal, 36 of Kent Treble Bob Major, three of Oxford Treble Bob Major, six of Double Norwich Major and one of Grandsire Caters.

Among the notable performances recorded in our peal columns this week is a peal of seven different 720's of Bob Minor rung by the local ringers at Barnby-in-Willows, Notts. It was the first peal by all the band, who deserve congratulations upon their achievement.

Mr. James George, at 83, is the oldest member of the 'Thousand Pealers' band, and Mr. Alfred Pulling, at 57, is the youngest.

All the ringers are in the habit of climbing belfry steps, but one of them exhibited such an intense dislike of the escalator that he chose to walk up the steps rather than ride on the moving stairs at Waterloo Station after the peal.

The 'Apollo Magazine' for February contains a finely illustrated article on ringers' jugs, pitchers and gotchers. This is the second article and the two together embrace all the known examples of these curios. It has been written by J. R. Nichols, author of 'Bells Thro' the Ages,' and Ernest Morris, author of 'History and Art of Change Ringing' and the recently published volume 'Legends of the Bells.'

On Sunday evening a dedication at Rickmansworth will give Hertfordshire another ring of ten bells.

It has taken 37 years for false rows in a peal of London Surprise Major, composed by Mr. Frank Bennett, to come to light. The peal was published in 1899, but the repetition escaped the notice of the critics of those days, and now, after all this time, the error has been discovered by Mr. C. W. Roberts. In another column the composer withdraws the peal. It is bad luck for all concerned—but accidents of this kind will happen.

A number of letters received on the methods adopted in muffled ringing have been received and will appear in our next issue. Numerous other reports are also unavoidably held over.

SILVER JUBILEE OF 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

With our issue of March 13th 'The Ringing World' will celebrate its silver jubilee. The number will be of special interest to readers.

BROKEN CLAPPERS.

At the usual practice at Yeovil last week three courses of Grandsire were attempted, but after the first course the bells were 'falling about' so badly that the conductor called 'rounds' and 'stand.'

As usual, the tenor man had a solo, and before he got his 'footing,' the clapper of the bell snapped off and collapsed. This is not a new thing at Yeovil. The same thing happened only a month ago, and last week's happening was the fourth time in all.

Can anyone, we are asked, recommend something for sticking them together?

KINGSTON TRADERS SUPPORT APPEAL.

A meeting of the Kingston-on-Thames Chamber of Commerce last week decided to support an appeal for £300 towards the cost of the restoration of the Parish Church bells, on condition that the Church authorities raised the other £300 that would be necessary. It was decided to urge the Mayor to issue the appeal, and the decision of the meeting has been communicated to the Vicar.

Several speakers, while expressing support of the proposal, took exception to the Vicar's attitude that the bells were of no interest to the church as a church.

MEN OF ONE THOUSAND PEALS.

'I looked far back into other years, and lo! in bright array,
I saw as in a dream the forms of ringers passed away.'

The dear little Church of St. Olave, Hart Street, in the City of London, is destined to make history, like the team of church bell-ringers who assembled there on Saturday, February 15th, 1936.

Previous gatherings of visiting clans have included the Sep-tuagenarians, the Bankers and the Masonic Brotherhood, and it would appear that St. Olave's Church was spared from the Great Fire of London in 1666 to secure for herself these 20th century records.

If you approach the church from the Old Jewry, there can be seen to-day a house built A.D. 1650, or again from the Tower of London you traverse Seething Lane, a thoroughfare which Fabian Stedman and Samuel Pepys frequently travelled—the former to ring, the latter to sing at St. Olave's.

uncertain, and, for better or for worse, 'Go, Cambridge,' sounded soon after three o'clock.

As to the actual ringing, it was real good, a little on the slow side due to the muffled clappers used 'in memoriam' for H.M. the late King George V. There was scarcely a hitch throughout, excepting about the second hour, when the bells in 5-6 failed to clear each other for a couple of blows. It was only natural that the band should be anxious to ring a perfect peal, but no human machine has yet done so, and it is doubtful if the same team could achieve a better. The formal record will be found in another column.

Thanks to the Rector, Prebendary Wellard, the ringers were made welcome to the bells, and to the steeplekeeper (Mr. H. Willson), who received them with right goodwill. The little Olive branches who met at the church the day after St. Valentine's appreciated the kindness granted them.

Near Mark Lane Station tea was enjoyed at a Lyons Cafe by the team and their friends just as the place was closing at 7 p.m., and was short of rations. The staff cut short the animated conversation.

THE BAND WHO RANG THE PEAL AT ST. OLAVE'S, HART STREET, LONDON,
Photographed from an exceptional angle. Left to right: W. H. Fussell, A. H. Pulling, J. H. Cheesman, J. E. Davis, F. Bennett, G. R. Pye, J. George, G. Williams.

The preservation of this building is mostly due to its position at the junction of two roadways—Hart Street and Seething Lane, with the burial ground on the other sides. Its old ring of six bells, tenor dated 1662, were cast a mile east of Aldgate at the old Whitechapel Bellfoundry, a couple of good trebles to complete the octave having been added in recent years.

A peculiarly dense fog prevailed all over London on the day that the 'thousand pealers' met, and main line trains were delayed, but the team duly arrived safely in time for the photographer to take a flashlight before attempting the peal; and to receive encouraging words from a few friends—Mr. C. T. Coles, the Kilby brothers, Messrs. R. Saunders, W. R. Madgwick, E. Brett, J. H. Riding, E. F. Pike and others among them.

Assembled in the belfry, several questions arose as to which society should the attempt be credited, each man having at one time or another joined most of those in England. Who would like to conduct? and who would ring the tenor? At last pressmen, photographers, friends and the steeplekeeper retired and left the team to their fate, ever Expressions of regret were heard at the absence of Mr. Keith Hart, the only other living ringer who has rung one thousand peals. Memories of the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the first man to ring 1,000, were recalled, and the early loss of the late William Pye, in 1935, after compiling the highest total ever rung, was deplored.

One could add much to the history of the respective members who took part in this peal, and I fully realise that all of them were born years too soon, because their total combined age amounts to 565 years, or an average of over 70 years per man. Again their total peals number 9,978, or nearly 1,250 per member. Mr. Williams has now conducted 998 peals, and should make it 1,000 by the time he rings 1,400. Mr. James George, our 'nipper,' cannot exist without some climax to his performance, in this case he celebrates his 'first' peal, rung at St. George's, Camberwell, February 16th, 1889, and is the only survivor of the team of 47 years ago. We said 'Goodnight' to each other in semi-darkness, muffled forms disappearing in dense fog in various directions like the ghosts of departed Annable and Holt.

PEAL RINGING AT RHYL.

STEPS TAKEN TO AVOID ANNOYANCE TO PUBLIC.

The annual meeting of St. Thomas' Society, Rhyl, was held on February 11th, the Vicar (the Rev. R. H. Roberts) presiding. A discussion with regard to peal ringing took place, and the president said he had received complaints from one or two people living in the vicinity of the church to the effect that peal ringing caused an annoyance. However, steps have been taken to remedy this by boarding up the louvres of the belfry to direct the sound upwards.

Another item of interest was the retirement of the secretary, Mr. B. R. Collis, after 27 years in this office. He was congratulated upon his long service by the Vicar and his fellow-ringers.

The new secretary is J. Dean, Broxton, Brighton Road, Rhyl.

A FALSE PEAL OF LONDON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—My attention has been called by Mr. C. W. Roberts to a 5,056 London Surprise Major in two equal parts with an In and 5th course in each part, which I published in 'The Bell News' of August 19th, 1899, and in the Sussex Report of 1901. Unfortunately, I find there is a repetition in 3-4 in the 6th lead of the 10th course with the 3rd lead of the 23rd, and again in the 11th and 22nd courses. The peal was rung at St. Peter's, Brighton, on January 14th, 1901, conducted by G. Williams, and again at Lindfield, November 20th, 1935, conducted by O. Sippetts. I sincerely apologise to all those who took part in these two peals for such an error on my part.

RINGERS' PLACE IN THE CHURCH.

We have received many letters on the issues raised last week by 'Sincere Wellwisher.' The following is a selection from them.

A COUNTRY VICAR'S EXPERIENCES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I, as a ringing Vicar and lover of bells, write some thoughts which came to me as the result of reading the last two numbers of 'The Ringing World'?

I have not seen a full account of what the Vicar of Kingston-on-Thames said, and so do not care to give an opinion on it. The letter of 'Sincere Wellwisher' contains some truth, but is it the whole truth? Of course it is the business of the Church to save souls and of all her members to do all that lies in their power to help in this work. But it is also the work of the Church to offer worship. I regard the service as a great offering of worship, in which music has an important place, and the ringing as making up part of the whole contributed also by the organist, choir and congregation, each doing its own part in the producing of one act of worship. An old Yorkshire ringer once said to me, 'It is not decent to offer to God anything but the best. You must not ring Grandsire if you can ring Stedman. The people don't know, but it is for God.'

My experience of ringers does not agree with the writer of the letter. From the days when I was privileged to ring with great Yorkshire ringers like William Snowden and Charles Hattersley to the present time, I have met a good many. Ringing twice on Sunday with my own men and at the association meetings, I have come to believe that the ringers are usually earnest churchmen. I can only speak from my own experience, but I have always had from ringers unflinching help both in the belfry and in other work for the church.

No doubt there are clergy who do not realise that bell music is worship, and ringers, often 'unattached,' who ring a bell, dedicated to God, for their own amusement. In both cases it is regrettable, but no good is done by abuse. Let the people who care work on quietly to make things better. Certainly I value the men who ring with me and worship with me, and when I get too old to ring with them I hope those I have taught will carry on their work for God.

A COUNTRY VICAR.

RINGING IS A PART OF THE SERVICE.

Sir,—'Sincere Wellwisher's' letter in your issue of February 21st contains some very plain speaking and much matter for thought. It is well that any reply should be equally plain.

'Sincere Wellwisher' does not seem to grasp the fact that in all church work there are activities that do not directly save souls. Some of these activities are administrative, as, for instance, the work of parochial church councils, and some are contributory or supplementary. Among the latter are organ, choir and bellringers.

It is obvious that organists are not chosen primarily for their piety. They are chosen because they are experts very much in love with their art and ready to devote their talents to the service of God. Choristers, too, are usually enthusiastic amateurs, with a love of music, anxious to give what service they can to their Maker. No church would say 'The church has no interest in organ or choir.'

Bellringers certainly ring for the love of their art, as organists play and choristers sing for the love of their art. Nevertheless, it should not be overlooked that ringers are conscious of their responsibilities, anxious to present the best in their ringing, and perhaps even more unvarying in their attendance for duty twice on Sunday than many so-called churchgoers.

Is the service to God a sham because it arises in the first place from a love of the art itself? It cannot be, until the art fails to contribute to the glory of God. Love of art produced J. S. Bach, and a divinely inspired determination produced the 'St. Matthew Passion.' Love of the art has provided for us great physicians, and divine inspiration has led them to confer great benefits on mankind.

If 'Sincere Wellwisher' will broaden his outlook, he may come to perceive ringers as important office bearers in the church. The time when bells were rung to call people to service is past. The ringing is a part of the service, and the bellringers have the privilege of sounding forth the mighty prelude to the service, proud and glad to do so on one of the noblest musical instruments God has given.

MISREPRESENTED.

Sir,—After reading the letter in 'The Ringing World' of last week's issue, headed 'Ringers' Place in the Church,' I think we, as a body of ringers, have been grossly misrepresented by 'Sincere Wellwisher.' He has certainly not minced matters, and has given us a full share of the deepest dye. He asserts that the bells play little or no part in the life of the Church. Whether this be so or not, at the present time our bells and belfries have never had more attention, nor have restorations been more extensively carried out, which goes to prove that the average clergy and laymen have as deep a love as ever for the sound of English church bells. Judging from other remarks made by 'Sincere Wellwisher,' he is not a ringer, nor has he much conception of what a regular Sunday service ringer is willing to sacrifice, week by week, both in time and distance, for the good of his church.

We are accused of being narrow-minded, selfish and nonentities in the general welfare of the Church. I would point out that in many cases a ringer is found to take more interest in general church work than the rest of his fellow-workers. If he is not already aware, it may interest 'Sincere Wellwisher' to know that in our ranks we have clergy, lay readers, churchwardens, church councillors, choir members, sidesmen, servers, etc., so I fail to see that the ringing fraternity does not take an active part in church work as a whole.

True, there are black sheep in every flock, and we are no exception, and if we do not attend service as often as is desired, to my mind this question must be left to each individual to regulate, and the ringer stands on his own merit, just as any other laymen or churchworker.

C. T. H. BRADLEY.

Hon. Secretary, Lincoln Diocesan Guild, South Lines.

AN ILLUSTRATION FROM OVER.

Dear Sir,—I am afraid all will not agree with 'Sincere Wellwisher.' By the sound of London's bells 'Whittington' turned back, so the story goes, to become Lord Mayor of London. Who knows, at the present time, a soul, perhaps on a journey to hell, is turned back by the sound of bells. On page 127 of your issue No. 1,300 you give an account of a ringers' guild service at Sutton. Perhaps it will delight 'Wellwisher' to know that at that service it was noticed several were singing without aid of hymn books. Where did they learn it? In church, of course! One Christmas morning not far distant we ringers at Over rang at 6.15 a.m. Fourteen were present and twelve stayed and took part in the celebration. Our bells are rung in peal for morning and evening services throughout the winter and often in summer, and most of the ringers stay for morning and all for evening services. Four ringers are sidesmen, three on Parochial Church Council and three in the choir. These are all members of Over Society of Ringers.

One Sunday evening, not long since, 29 past and present ringers were counted at evensong, and this in a small parish of about 850 population. If church bells bring back one soul to repentance, they are not rung in vain. There is more joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth than over ninety and nine that need no repentance.

F. WARRINGTON, Vice-Capt., Over Society of Ringers.

ACCUSATIONS UNJUST AND UNTRUE.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent 'Wellwisher,' by his attack on 'The Ringing World,' proves that he is not conversant with his subject, but as you have dealt so effectively with him I need say no more on this point.

To 'Wellwisher' I would say his accusations against ringers are both unjust and untrue: ringers as a body are neither selfish nor narrow, but, on the contrary, I find the great majority with whom I come into contact really broadminded people.

'Wellwisher' says that probably 70 per cent. of ringers rarely if ever attend service. I say that 80 per cent. are regular churchgoers, and, furthermore, a great majority of these are regular communicants. The reason for this is not far to seek. Ringers to-day are recruited from among churchpeople. In our own band, for instance, we have a churchwarden, a sidesman, a Sunday School teacher, two choristers and an organ blower, whilst three of these and still one other are members of the Church Council, and I know that our band is typical of many another band to-day. 'Wellwisher' says that the interest of the church in its bells is declining. Once again he is wrong. If he read 'The Ringing World' he should know that during the last few years more bell restorations have been undertaken than ever before, and he will also find that ringers are doing their bit, financially and otherwise, to help in the work of the Church at home and overseas.

THE PHARISEE AND THE RINGER—A PARABLE.

Two men went up into the temple to pray—the one a Pharisee and the other a Ringer. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself: 'God, I thank Thee that I am not as other men are; extortioners, unjust . . . or even as this ringer, selfish, narrow-minded, never looking on Thy Kingdom from cross or altar; caring for nothing but his hobby: annoying greatly we righteous Pharisees with hours of peals; and, above all, reading a journal whose editor acknowledges Thee not. O God, turn these perverse ringers (particularly the 70 per cent. who rarely, if ever, attend the worship to which their ringing is supposed to call others) into the full stream of Christian service. May Thy Church seek and save them, perfecting them, as I am perfect and scorn all sinners.'

The Ringer, standing afar off . . . prayed—'God be merciful to me, a sinner, and help me to improve my art to Thy honour and glory.'

The Ringer returns to his beloved bells—the Pharisee takes pen and paper and writes behind the obscurity of a non-de-plume.

Verily a parable for certain who trust in themselves that they are righteous, and despise others.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. THE PROPOSED NEW RULES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the account, in your issue of February 14th, of the meeting of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association, particular reference is made to that part of the district representatives' report of last November's Central Committee meeting which concerns the proposed revision of the association rules.

The following is a summary of the present position:—

It was felt at the annual committee meeting, held in November, 1934, that the present rules, having been in existence since the association was formed, were now of little value and needed revising.

A sub-committee, formed to consider the matter, met on October 5th, 1935, and proposed several alterations and new rules.

The district representatives received the proposals on October 26th. The last Lewisham District meeting, before the Central Committee meeting on November 23rd, had been held on October 12th, and, as it was impossible for them to be guided by the wishes of the district, the representatives had to act as they thought fit. Part of the sub-committee's proposed Rule 8 was as follows:—

'A Ringing Master may also be elected, whose duty will be to take charge of the ringing when meetings are held, provided that no responsible member of the tower is present.'

(The italics are mine.)

For this clause in italics Mr. W. J. Jeffries was responsible. When it was discussed by the sub-committee of five on October 5th, three opposed it, but by a misunderstanding the secretary included it in the proposals. Unaware of Mr. Jeffries' connection with this clause, I, in writing to him on October 27th, said: 'I received the draft of the proposed rules last evening, and was pleased to see the Ringing Master mentioned, but concerning the clause, 'provided that no responsible member of the tower is present,' I shall consult my colleague (Mr. W. Smith) with a view to opposing it, as to give power with one hand and take it away with the other is absurd.'

This I did at Maidstone on November 23rd, on the ground that a man either held an office, or he did not; there could be no 'ifs,' 'buts' and 'provided,' and that if such a clause were to remain, it would make the office a farce, and the holder an object of ridicule. The other members apparently thought the same, for, of the 28 present, 26 voted against the motion.

This I reported to the Lewisham District, at Crayford, on February 1st. Thereupon Mr. Jeffries, who seems to be representing a perpetually disgruntled section of the district, read what might be termed more accurately a 'considerable' than 'considered' statement (see 'Ringing World' of Feb. 14th), which charged the representatives with being 'Mussolinis,' and acting without any authority from their district.

As has been said, the sub-committee met on October 5th, but their recommendations were not known until October 26th. Neither representative was a member of the sub-committee, so that if Mr. Jeffries was so anxious that they should act in accordance with the district's wishes, why did not he, at the district meeting at Bromley on October 12th, inform both the members and the representatives of the proposed alterations, instead of abusing the representatives for not seeking the members' views on matters which neither knew anything about?

Rule 4(a) in the sub-committee's recommendations is:—

'They may join singly or in bands, and in the latter case the subscription may be paid in one sum by any parish or ringers' fund, but no ringer shall be admitted as an unattached member in the county where there is a band in his parish or near neighbourhood which he may join.'

Both Mr. Smith and I considered that this should end at the words 'ringers' fund,' as the rest could not be enforced; and again the majority of members supported our contention.

To this also Mr. Jeffries took exception. But why? There are in the Lewisham District eight unattached members, of whom seven are regular Sunday service ringers. For personal reasons, however, they do not wish officially to join any band. Surely such members' wishes should be respected. They should not be made to feel that the association does not want them.

Lastly it was decided by a majority of the members present at Crayford, at the instigation of Mr. Jeffries, to hold a meeting of the Lewisham District Committee in order to discuss the proposed new rules, and presumably to order the representatives how to vote. But if such a meeting takes place, it can have no effect—and certainly the representatives will not be bound by its decisions—as the rules are for all members, and will be discussed, not at a committee meeting, but at the annual meeting of the association, when each member will have the opportunity of voicing his own opinions.

I write this in the hope that it will interest others outside the Lewisham District, and I sincerely hope that they, in the five other districts, will not have such obsequy to overcome.

E. BARNETT.

FOR BEGINNERS.

ANOTHER STEP IN CHANGE RINGING.

It was explained last week that the Grandsire method, which we were endeavouring to show you how to ring, would produce, in itself, only 30 changes when applied to five bells. There are, however, 120 possible changes on five bells, and, therefore, to ring them all it is necessary to have 'bobs' and 'singles.' These are variations in the work, which take one bell out of the hunt (the one which is not the treble) and puts another in its place. The bell that comes out of the hunt joins the other two in the cycle of work—that is, the dodging and place-making.

Here let us interrupt a moment to point out something which appeared in the article last week, and which, as it stood, was apparently rubbish. It was merely a transposition of two lines, the third and fourth in the fourth paragraph. The material part of it should have read as follows: 'In the plain course the treble and 2nd are the bells doing the plain hunting, and the treble never leaves it, whatever happens. The working bells in the plain course are, therefore, 3, 4 and 5. . .'

But to resume. From this it is obvious that the first bell to come out of the hunt when a bob or single has to be made must be the 2nd, which is in the hunt when you begin, and some other bell has to take its place. It has already been explained that the Grandsire method is formed from the plain hunting course by the insertion of a 3rd's place immediately after the treble leads. A bob is effected by an additional 3rd's place immediately in front of the 3rd's place common to every lead. This causes the bell that had been in the hunt to have two dodges (or a double dodge, as it is called) in 5-4 (down), which is after turning the treble from behind and lying a whole pull. The effect of this is to stop the bell, which would otherwise come to dodge in 5-4 (down), before it lies its whole pull behind, and cause it to dodge twice in 4-5 (up) with the bell that is coming out of the hunt.

The additional 3rd's place is made by the bell that passed the treble in 2-3 going up. Instead of hunting on up to 4-5 for a dodge, it stays a whole pull in 3rd's and then hunts down again and leads after the treble. It is then in the hunt, and follows the treble from front to back and back to front until another bob or single is called.

A bob makes no difference to two of the bells—the treble and the bell that the treble takes from lead; the one, that is, that makes the ordinary 3rd's place.

If the bob is called by the conductor at the right time you should have no difficulty in knowing what to do.

If you have got to make 3rd's and go into the hunt, the treble will be the next bell you strike over. If you have to double dodge behind, you will actually be in the dodging place, that is in 4th's on the way up, or in 5th's on the way down.

But as another check, do not forget that you should be counting your places, and you will know what to do by the position in which you pass the treble. We can formulate a little table for the purpose, as we did for the plain course, thus:—

Pass treble in 4-5 going up, dodge twice in 5-4 (down) out of the hunt.
Pass treble in 3-4 going up, dodge twice in 4-5 (up).
Pass treble in 2-3 going up, make 3rd's and lead again, in the hunt.
Pass treble in 1-2 going up, make 3rd's and lead again.

Perhaps it ought to be explained that a double dodge, that is dodging twice, means taking a step back, going forward one place, and stepping back a second time before going on with the hunting.

One other thing needs explanation before you attempt to ring 120 on a working bell, and that is, how to make a 'single.' The actual work differs in two particulars from a bob. The treble is still unaffected, and the bells double dodge behind exactly as at a bob, but the bell that made 3rd's place, after passing the treble in 2-3 going up, makes the other 3rd's place as well; that is, it stops two whole pulls in 3rd's place before going back to lead again. It is not then in the hunt.

The effect of this double 3rd's place is that the bell which ordinarily would have made 3rd's cannot reach that position, and it has to have a whole pull in 2nd's place over the treble, and lead after the treble, which puts it into the hunt. The figures which follow show the difference between a plain, a bob and a single lead.

THREE CONDUCTORS.

A quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, in which the conducting was shared by three of the ringers, was rung for evening service at St. Giles', Camberwell, on February 23rd: Miss B. Mills 1, Miss M. Ashbrook 2, T. H. Taffender 3, R. Mowforth 4, E. J. King 5, F. E. Hawthorne 6, T. W. Taffender 7, A. Harris 8. The conducting was shared in turns by ringers of 3rd, 5th and 7th.

NATIONAL GUILD OF POLICE RINGERS.

A BUSY DAY AT LEICESTER.

The annual meeting of the National Guild of Police Ringers was held at Leicester on Saturday, February 8th, the following forces being represented: Metropolitan, Manchester City, Birmingham City, Leicester City, Liverpool City, Cardiff City, Reigate Borough, Bolton Borough, Grantham Borough, Lancashire County, Leicestershire County and Nottingham County.

The visitors began to arrive in the city about 11 a.m., and visited St. Peter's Church, Belgrave, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and a course of Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. The ringing here concluded about 12.30 p.m., and a move was then made to the George Hotel, Haymarket, for luncheon. The company, which numbered over 50, were honoured at the luncheon by the presence of Mr. O. J. B. Cole, Chief Constable of Leicester, and the Rev. K. F. Parsons, Vicar of St. Margaret's, Leicester.

After an excellent repast, the Guild president, Supt. F. R. Williams, Manchester City, extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the Guild to these two guests. In replying, the Chief Constable said he knew nothing about bellringing, but intended visiting St. Margaret's Church during the afternoon, whilst ringing was in progress, to see how it was done. The Rev. K. F. Parsons also replied, and congratulated the Guild on the progress made since its formation.

St. Margaret's Church was then visited, and the peal tablet in the belfry, to record the first peal of Stedman Cinques by a band of police officers, was dedicated by the Vicar and unveiled by the Guild president.

Ringling then followed on the twelve bells at St. Margaret's, after which a move was made to St. John the Divine's Church. Here touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung and also a course of Cambridge Surprise Royal. A return was then made to the George Hotel for tea, after which the business meeting was held.

NEXT MEETING TO BE AT LIVERPOOL.

A hearty invitation to hold the next annual meeting at Liverpool was extended by P.C. Birkett on behalf of the Liverpool members, and it was unanimously decided to hold the next meeting there.

The officers were re-elected as follows: President, Supt. F. R. Williams (Manchester City); vice-president, Chief Inspector W. Bottrill (Metropolitan); hon. secretary and treasurer, Inspector H. J. Poole (Leicester City); auditor, Sergt. H. G. Jenny (Leicester City); committee, Sergt. P. C. Crook (Bolton Borough), Sergt. H. G. Jenney (Leicester City), P.C. N. Bagworth (Metropolitan), ex-Sergt. W. Dowding (Birmingham City), ex-Sergt. A. Lawrence (Herts County), ex-P.C. Page (Manchester City), ex-P.C. Claydon (Reigate Borough) and P.C. Brown (Manchester City).

Congratulations were extended to Inspector Poole on his recent promotion, and were duly acknowledged by him.

A very welcome visitor was Mr. J. W. Jones, the secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouthshire Association.

In the evening a social was held at the Police Headquarters Clubroom, and a splendid entertainment was provided by the following: Det. Sergts. Billson and Pym, P.C.s Mowl, Whightman, Briars and Sampson. Mr. Harry Smith rendered some songs, and the Friends Adult School Handbell Ringers gave selections on the handbells. A touch of Stedman Caters and a course of Stedman Cinques were also rung on the handbells.

The close came all too soon with everyone well satisfied. This was, indeed, another very fine meeting and day's enjoyment to be added to the annals of the Guild.

CARDIFF'S OLDEST BELLRINGER.

DEATH OF MR. J. CLUTTERBUCK.

Cardiff's oldest bellringer, Mr. John Clutterbuck, died on Saturday, February 15th, at the age of 88 at the home of his son, Mr. George Clutterbuck, Kyle Avenue, Whitechurch, Cardiff. He had been a ringer at St. John's, Cardiff, and at Llandaff Cathedral, and for several years was leader at the latter tower. He was one of the first members of the Llandaff Diocesan Association, founded in 1893, and was Master in 1904. He rang 35 peals, which included Grandsire Triples and Caters, Bob Major, Bob Minor and Kent Minor. He conducted one peal of Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Clutterbuck had not been able to take any active part in ringing for several years, but retained his interest in the art right up to the last.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, February 18th, the Diocesan Association being represented by the Master (Mr. G. Wines), the hon. secretary (Mr. J. W. Jones), Mr. A. W. Heath (St. John's, Cardiff), Mr. H. Grabbie (Pentre), Mr. A. Weaver (Penarth) and Mr. E. Coles (Whitechurch). He is laid to rest in Cardiff Cemetery close to his old workmate and ringing colleague, the late Mr. W. Coombes. In the past these two old friends had rung several peals together. In the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted, but lost owing to a shift course towards the end, on the bells of Llandaff Cathedral, which were half-muffled as a last tribute of respect. Floral tributes were sent by the ringers of both St. John's, Cardiff, and Llandaff Cathedral.

The late Mr. Clutterbuck was a native of Tidenham, Gloucestershire, and, by a coincidence, the writer was born in the same house 70 years ago.

J. W. J.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NEW NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT RINGING MASTER.

The annual meeting of the North and East District was held at Christ Church, Southgate, on Saturday, February 8th, and was attended by upwards of 60 members. The beautiful peal of ten bells, one of the finest in the country, and always a credit to the founders, was rung to many methods between three and five o'clock, when the usual short service was held. In the absence of the Vicar, through illness, the sermon was preached by the Rev. H. Edwards.

Tea was served at the Cherry Tree Hotel, after which the business meeting took place. The chair was taken by Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president), who was supported by Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president, South and West District), Mr. W. H. Hollier (association treasurer), Mr. W. H. Oram (district treasurer), Mr. A. W. Coles (Master), Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), Mr. G. R. Goodship (assistant hon. secretary), etc.

A resolution expressing sympathy with His Majesty the King in the loss of his illustrious father, and wishing him a successful reign, was carried. A resolution of sympathy with Mrs. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, and with the Ely Diocesan Guild, in their serious loss, was also carried.

The formal business of the meeting was then proceeded with. The balance sheet, submitted by the treasurer, which showed a loss on the year's working of £10 9s. 2d., was carried. It was noted, however, that a sum of £15 had been voted to the William Pye Memorial Fund, so that the year actually showed a considerable credit balance. The assets showed £29 9s. 7d. in the hands of the treasurer and stock to the face value of £73 13s. 8d.

Twelve new members were elected, and two elections made prior to peals were confirmed.

The election of officers then took place. The District Master, Mr. A. W. Coles, felt it was desirable that he should make way for another ringer on his election to the position of Ringing Master of the association. Mr. Thomas J. Lock, of Willesden, was, therefore, elected to the District Mastership, amidst loud applause. Mr. Lock, in returning thanks, said he would do his best for the members and hoped always to have their support. The other officers were re-elected as follows: Hon. treasurer, Mr. W. H. Oram; hon. secretary, Mr. C. T. Coles; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. G. R. Goodship; Central Committee, Messrs. R. E. Geare, H. Kilby and G. B. Lucas; auditor, Mr. G. W. Fletcher; trustees, Messrs. W. H. Oram, C. T. Coles and W. Pickworth.

A vote of thanks to the retiring Master was proposed by the chairman.—Mr. A. W. Coles, in reply, said he hoped to be able to carry on at those towers where he had been giving help, and would do anything he could to help the association.

The hon. secretary was requested to send the good wishes of the meeting to Mr. R. K. Knight, of Leytonstone, who had recently reached his 91st birthday. It was mentioned that Mr. Knight had been a member of the Royal Cumberlands since 1866, surely a record!

THE PYE MEMORIAL.

The present position of the William Pye Memorial Fund was explained by the hon. secretary, who said that the fund now amounted to about £156, and that the money was still coming in slowly. Estimates were being invited from the leading bellfounders, so that the committee hoped to be in a position to place the order very shortly. It was sincerely hoped that the bells would be ready to have the opening when the Council met in London at Whitsun, so that this truly national memorial would have a truly national opening.

St. Mary's, Finchley, was chosen for the next district meeting on March 14th, and St. Augustine's, Kilburn, for the next annual meeting.

The Chairman, after welcoming the several members of the South and West District who were present, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. C. F. Peplow) for the use of the bells; to the preacher (the Rev. H. Edwards); to Mr. J. E. Miller and the local ringers, and to the organist, to which Mr. Edwards very suitably replied.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman for the able way he had conducted the meeting.

Handbell ringing followed, Stedman Caters, Treble Ten and Double Norwich Major being rung; whilst many visited the tower, where anything from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung. The new Master, Mr. T. J. Lock, was anxious to see that everybody had an opportunity to ring, and made quite a good impression in this his first effort at looking after the ringing requirements of a big meeting.

MUFFLED TOUCHES.

Among the many touches rung for the death or funeral of His Late Majesty King George were the following:—

On Tuesday, January 21st, at St. Mary's Church, Ilminster, before a memorial service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, double muffled, with tenor open at backstroke: D. G. Taylor 1, G. Sibley 2, B. Sibley 3, A. J. Sibley 4, V. Crabb 5, A. Sibley 6, E. White 7, G. Novell 8.

THE SPIRIT OF HENRY JOHNSON.

Since the days when Henry Johnson was at the summit of his intellectual powers and influence, the art of change ringing has made vast strides in the scope of its opportunities and the widening of its practice. Other men in other ages left an equal mark upon the Exercise, and men who have followed him have carried the science far beyond the limits which Henry Johnson knew. To all but a handful of ringers to-day, Henry Johnson is but a name and yet there remains attached to it a vague indefinable something which stamps this Birmingham worthy, not only as an outstanding figure of bygone days, but as an example of the highest type of church bell ringer, not only in the practical exposition of the art, and in patient and painstaking explorations of the problems of his day, but also in selflessness, modesty and courage.

His attributes were not an after death discovery; they were appreciated by his contemporaries. He was honoured in life, which is more than happens to many men of genius, and is the best proof of his outstanding character. In a centre where change ringing has had a firm foothold for nearly two hundred years, and which has produced many men of note, Johnson's services to the art were pre-eminent, and it is for no insignificant reason that for nearly fifty years men have gathered annually in Birmingham from all over the country to show their respect to this great but humble man and all that he stood for.

It is more than likely that with the passing of time Johnson's place in the history of ringing would have been far less appreciated than it is but for the yearly commemorations. Those who knew Henry Johnson in the flesh are, in the natural course of events, rapidly thinning out. Not many more years can elapse before they will all be gone. It may well be, therefore, that Henry Johnson will become, even at these annual dinners, a still more vague though still honoured figure. We shall no longer have with us men who can give us that personal touch, which, fortunately, at the moment, we still can keep through description and anecdote which these survivors of a past generation can pass on to us first hand. But when they all have gone, Henry Johnson's memory will be well worth while preserving by a gathering such as that which has taken place for so many years somewhere near the anniversary of his birth, if only that it may help to keep alive the spirit which dominated the man throughout his life and particularly in his association with our art. The Exercise to-day needs more than ever the maintenance of the Johnson spirit, which gained for him the love and respect of his contemporaries and a niche in ringing history from which he can never be displaced. YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

GROUPING OF EASTERN DISTRICT TOWERS.

The annual meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Beverley Minster on Saturday, February 29th, and was attended by over 40 ringers, representing Cottingham, Hemmingbrough, Howden, Hull, Market Weighton, Ripon, Selby, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Sutton-on-Hull, York and the local company—an excellent gathering considering the shocking state of the weather.

Service was held in the Minster, and an address was given by the Vicar, Canon W. H. Riggs, D.D.

Tea was followed by the business meeting in the Parish Room, over which the Vicar presided. Four new members were elected, viz., Miss Marion Henry, of Cottingham, Mrs. Searth, of Pickering, Mr. Leslie Barrow, of Hedon, and Mr. John Knox, of Hull.

Bridlington was selected as the place of the June meeting, or, failing Bridlington, Hatfield.

It was decided to support the Northern District by holding a joint meeting at Helmsley in April, Mr. E. Hudson, the Northern District secretary, having asked the Eastern District members to combine with the Northern in holding the meeting.

All the retiring officers were re-elected for a further period of three years.

After discussion it was decided to leave in the hands of the vice-president and district secretary arrangements for the grouping of towers for special practices and meetings, it being hoped by these means to improve the standard of ringing and give more encouragement to towers in isolated districts.

Mr. Cryer moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar, and said how sorry he was that the Vicar was leaving Beverley. He wished him 'God-speed' on his departure to a living in Cornwall.—The motion was seconded by Mr. Howell, who remarked on Canon Riggs's kindness at all times to the ringers of the Yorkshire Association.

Canon Riggs, in replying, said how happy he had been to welcome the association to Beverley, and added that he would look back on his 15 years at Beverley with pleasure. That was his last public function before leaving Beverley. He hoped the ringers would give his successor a good welcome.

Mr. West proposed and Mr. Hull seconded a vote of thanks to the local company, which was responded to by Mr. Middleton.

Further ringing concluded a very good meeting.

DEATH OF A MILNROW VETERAN.

The death took place on Wednesday, February 19th, of Mr. John Fitton, of Milnrow, at the age of 81 years. The late Mr. Fitton had been a ringer at Milnrow for 64 years and was a life member of the Lancashire Association. He had taken part in 61 peals and was a very keen and devoted ringer, regularly attending both at Sunday service and practice ringing.

The funeral took place on Saturday, February 22nd, in the Milnrow Churchyard in the presence of a large gathering of ringers and friends. As the cortege arrived at the church the bells were ringing fully muffled. Messrs. J. C. Bennett, W. Staff, H. Hamar, S. Parry, A. Buckley and J. H. C. Massey, six of his brother ringers, acted as bearers, and ringers were present from Newhey, Rochdale (Parish Church and St. Alban's), East Orompton, Hamer, Middleton, Bacup (St. Saviour's), with Messrs. T. Isherwood, S. W. Dunn, A. Sidebottom and J. Shaw (unattached). After the coffin had been lowered to its last resting place a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the handbells over the grave by Mrs. W. Crabtree, Miss R. Bell, Mr. W. Crabtree and Mr. H. Devonport.

In the evening a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung on the tower bells by Mrs. W. Crabtree 1, H. Hamar 2, Miss R. Bell 3, S. W. Parry 4, G. Staff 5, H. Devonport 6, W. Crabtree (conductor) 7, J. H. C. Massey 8.

DEDICATION OF NEW TREBLES AT RICKMANSWORTH.A JUBILEE COMMEMORATION BELL.

The two new trebles, to complete the ring of ten, at St. Mary's Parish Church, Rickmansworth, Herts, were dedicated and rung at a service held on Sunday evening last. Pre-service ringing was performed on the existing eight bells, the actual dedication of the two new bells taking place after the first hymn.

The Vicar (the Rev. Canon W. B. Belcher) preceded the choir to the western porch, where hung extension ropes from the new bells, the whole congregation facing westwards. After short prayers, the Vicar swung each bell in turn, dedicating the first treble in memory of Harriet Alice Millett, the mother of one of the local band, and the second in memory of the Jubilee year of our late revered Sovereign King George V. Following two collects, the new trebles were raised and for the first time the pealing of the ring of ten was heard by the congregation and neighbourhood.

Subsequently, in a simple, stirring sermon based on the scriptural verse, 'The sound has gone out to all lands,' the Vicar spoke of the primary purpose of the bells being to summon people to the House of God. The sound of the bells, he said, was a challenge to unbelievers and to those that needed encouragement in the Christian life besides giving a welcome to those who come to worship God. These two bells, he continued, stand for all that is noble and fine, the one to a devoted mother, the other to a devoted King, both servants of the same God. The Vicar concluded by quoting the inscriptions from the old bells, mentioning that the first historical reference to the original bells hung in the steeple was in 1552.

A company of upwards of 35 ringers from various towers as far apart as Lincolnshire and Sussex gathered in the ringing chamber after the service, and various touches of Caters and Royal were indulged in.

Mr. J. P. Fidler, from Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who carried out the work, was present, and received many congratulations, not only on the excellent tone of the new bells, but also on the amazing improvement of the ring as a whole as a consequence of the additions.

The dedication ringing of the ten was performed by the local band: A. E. Millett 1, J. E. Jones 2, W. Crowsley 3, C. Lord 4, J. Foster 5, A. W. Howlett 6, A. Jones 7, T. Long 8, F. W. Elliott 9, E. Hookham 10.

The Vicar visited the ringing chamber and extended a welcome to all the visiting ringers.

The inscription on the Jubilee bell reads:—

'The people of Rickmansworth placed me here,
To ring out their thanks in Jubilee year.'

LEICESTER AND DISTRICTS' ANNUAL DINNER.THE BEST YET!

In spite of dreadful weather—snow and sleet galore—the Leicester and Districts' annual dinner this year proved to be the best yet! The bells of St. John the Divine (10) and St. Margaret's (12), 5 to 6 p.m., were made good use of during the afternoon, in various methods from Grandsire Triples to Stedman Cinques. At 6.30 a company of well over 100 assembled at the George Hotel, and it is rumoured that if the members go on increasing at these annual 'do's,' the management contemplate enlarging the dining room. Those present came from Anstey, Aylestone, Belgrave, Billesdon, Burbage, Ratley, Sileby, Syston, Loughborough and other places, and friends from Kettering, Rugby, Southwell, Oakham and elsewhere.

The social which followed was quite an impromptu affair, there being no 'set' programme and no speeches of any kind. It opened with a perfect course of Stedman Caters on handbells by C. Harrison, G. S. Morris, E. Morris, H. J. Poole and J. Morris. Then followed violin solos by a gifted member of the Police Force, and humorous ditties from a like source were very much enjoyed. Handbell tunes by C. H. Webb, F. E. Wilson, E. Morris and H. J. Poole were appreciated, but the tit-bit was the monologue by 'Dirty Daniel,' whose discourse on 'peas' brought down the house! His identity was discovered, however, when he gave the evergreen 'Ilkka' moor bart hat,' and we knew the 'Fidler,' who for his efforts was awarded a rubber duck! Later on, 'A flat,' not to be outdone, contributed his famous 'Farm-yard,' and he too received a duck. To see these ducks hobnobbing made one wonder if this is an omen for further 'duck suppers'!

The Sergeant-Major may be Dexter-ous at froth blowing, but at balloon blowing he is nowhere. This competition was won by the two Harrisons—Colin and Sidney. Anstey Bell Fund came in for a small donation when the chairman announced a penny raffle for a 'prize worth having—an ornament to any home.' Rathy won this and we trust good use will be made of it!

Miss Haigh sang dainty Scotch songs, and Mr. Joe Morris gave his old favourite 'Johnny.' Further courses on handbells of Stedman Cinques and Triples, Rugby Major (?) and Musical Minor all helped to make up an enjoyable evening. The phrase 'all that could be desired' aptly applies to this social gathering, and any present who did not enjoy themselves would be well advised to see a doctor at once!

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal of Triples on the bells at Norton, Glos.—a peal of Stedman on Saturday, February 15th—was rung on the 16th anniversary of the peal of 13,001 Grandsire Cinques at Painswick. This peal occupied 8 hours 45 minutes, and three of the band took part in the peal at Norton, Messrs. A. G. Hannis, T. Baldwin and J. F. Ballinger.

Mr. M. F. R. Hibbert asks us to state that the long course composition of Erin Triples, rung at Denham, for what was believed to be the first time, had been rung at Wednesbury on February 3rd, 1912, conducted by A. G. Wallater.

The peal at St. David's, Exeter, recorded in this issue, was rung as a jubilee peal for Mr. A. W. Searle, in the belfry where he learned to handle a rope. It was also a diamond jubilee celebration for Mr. E. Shepherd and Mr. W. Richardson. In addition, it was a golden wedding peal for Mr. E. Shepherd.

Mr. Harry Mason, of Goodrest, Hagley, chairman of the Birmingham Gun Barrel Co., Ltd., of Haysech, Old Hill, who died December 7th last, aged 72 years, has left estate of the value of £15,588 11s. 6d., with net personalty £15,509 15s. Mr. Mason was long connected with Midland ringing circles, and a well-known member of the Worcestershire Association, St. Martin's Guild and Dudley and District Guild.

The ring of five bells of Bulwick Church, Northants, is being rehung with new fittings in new frame by John Taylor and Co.

Two veteran ringers who attended the Henry Johnson commemoration on Saturday were present at the first dinner 48 years ago. They were Mr. F. E. Dawe and Mr. Tom Miller. Incidentally it is interesting to know that the latter rang his first peal of Stedman Cinques as long ago as 1880!

One of the Birmingham veterans whom ill-health compelled to miss Saturday's dinner was Mr. Tom Russam. He is 81 and has played an active part in ringing in Birmingham for two generations.

Mr. Harry Withers, who has just retired from the service of Messrs. Cadbury, of Bournville, where he was the firm's first carillonneur, still holds the record for the longest unbroken attendance at the Johnson dinner. He was present on Saturday for the—well, we don't quite know how many times, but it is about 40 in succession.

The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild has lost another old and esteemed member in the person of Mr. George Passingham, of Fareham, who has died at the age of 77 years. He rang the tenor to a peal of Grandsire Triples at Fareham as long ago as 1887. He was buried at Fareham on Monday.

Mr. Joseph J. Parker, of Farnham Royal, known best, perhaps, for his famous twelve-part peal of Grandsire Triples, will celebrate his 83rd birthday to-morrow, and friends are meeting at his village tower that afternoon to celebrate the event. Ringers everywhere will join in congratulations to the veteran.

BELL BROADCASTS.

PRAISE FOR CROYDON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It was a real pleasure to listen to the splendid performance by the Croydon Parish Church band when they broadcast on Sunday morning last, and anyone who has rung on these bells in recent years will, I think, agree that the ringers deserve the highest praise for their excellent striking.

The performance was not unduly marred by the announcer, who was mercifully short—an example which might well be emulated by the Sunday evening announcers.

Should this happen to be the 'swan song' of these bells 'over the air' before they are broken up, those who listened-in will at least have a memory of a grand peal beautifully rung. R. H. DOVE.

'HATS OFF TO THE B.B.C.'

Dear Sir,—Might I suggest that all interested ringers who are listeners on the radio make an opportunity to thank the B.B.C. for all they do for our art. To-day, Sunday, March 1st, with your article in the last issue of 'The Ringing World' still fresh in mind, I sat down to listen to the broadcast of His Majesty the King. Five minutes before this was timed to begin all programmes were stopped and millions of people all over the world were prepared for His Majesty's message with four minutes of that wonderful recording of the bells of Bow. Surely bellringing at its best never received such publicity. Also I would point out that the B.B.C. seem to like to put bell music in the programmes. I can recall many times, in plays and local features, when the sound of bells has been put in, which indicates, I think, that the B.B.C. like bells to be heard.

To-night, I listened in to the broadcast from Derby on Midland Regional, and here again the B.B.C. are to be congratulated. On this occasion the bells were faded in and allowed almost four minutes without interruption. Then the bells were faded down behind the announcer's voice until they almost blended with the organ, which was faded in towards the end of his remarks. I should imagine that to a non-ringer this would appear to have a good effect. Might I add that the Derby band struck well and gave us something worth listening to. So away with grumbling. I say, 'Hats off to the B.B.C.'

HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

Representative Gathering at Birmingham

St. Martin's Guild Prosperity.

There was once again a large and representative gathering of ringers at Birmingham, when, on Saturday, the 'Henry Johnson' dinner was held for the 48th time. This occasion is always one of the most attractive social events of the year in the Exercise, and visitors were present from many distant places. In the afternoon there was the opportunity of ringing at the famous Church of St. Martin and at Bishop Ryder's, and for the first time for many years Aston Parish Church bells were available. Here there is a fine new ring of twelve, opened last year, and naturally attracted the attention of all who could get to the tower. There is, of course, an intimate association between Henry Johnson and Aston, for it was here that he did much of his ringing and in the churchyard he lies buried.

An excellent dinner was served in the Connaught Room at the Imperial Hotel, to which nearly 140 sat down. Canon T. Guy Rogers (Rector of Birmingham) presided with his customary geniality, supported by the Rev. H. McGowan (Vicar of Aston) and Mrs. McGowan, the Rev. H. Sproule (curate), the Rev. Canon Blofeld (Vicar of Edgbaston), the Rev. C. H. Williams (Vicar of Bishop Ryder's), the Rev. A. E. Fraser (Vicar of Solihull) and Mrs. Fraser, Mr. F. W. Stevens (churchwarden of St. Martin's), Mr. W. R. Heaton (Solihull), Mr. E. P. Duffield (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths), Mr. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. T. H. Reeves (hon. secretary of St. Martin's Guild) and Mrs. Reeves, Mr. F. E. Haynes (Ringing Master), Messrs. A. Paddon Smith, J. H. Shepherd, J. George (the oldest ringer present) and A. Walker (vice-presidents), Mrs. A. Walker, Mr. Rupert Richardson (Master, Lincoln Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. Richardson. Ringers were present from many of the towers in the diocese and there were visitors from London, York, Sheffield, Bristol, Gloucester, Derby, Liverpool, Bath, Oxford, Coventry, Wolverhampton, Walsall, Loughborough, Croydon, Appleton, Rotherham, Davenham, etc.

THE MASTER'S GREETINGS.

The Hon. Secretary said letters of apology for absence had been received from, among others, the Lord Mayor of Birmingham, the Lord Bishop of Birmingham, Mrs. Guy Rogers, Mr. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), etc. Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Master of the Guild, wrote thanking the members for re-electing him and expressing regret that he would be unable to be present at the dinner. 'As the members of the Guild insist upon re-electing me Master, notwithstanding my age (81) and infirmities,' he wrote, 'I cannot refuse an honour that is so kindly meant, and if my ringing friends are content with a Master who can only be so in name, there is nothing more to be said. I need hardly say,' he continued, 'that I deeply regret my enforced absence from the dinner after so many years, and that I shall be thinking of you all the time and wishing I could be there to propose "Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild," but there comes an end to all things, and I am happy to think I have been spared to be with you for so many years. Please give my kindest regards to all my old friends. Every good wish for the welfare of the Guild and each and every one of its members.'

After the toast of the King had been enthusiastically honoured, Mr. Frank Smallwood proposed 'Church and the State.' He said they, as ringers would yield to none in their loyalty to the Church. They were good churchmen; they knew what the Church stood for and they tried to live up to it (applause). They watched with pride the efforts which the Rector of Birmingham was making towards that most desired end, Church unity, and they admired the way he took his stand in the Dissenters' pulpits (applause). Fifty years ago that would have been such a shock to the parishioners of St. Martin's that they would have felt themselves justified in predicting the end of the world (laughter). Proceeding, Mr. Smallwood deprecated treating the toast as so much for the Church and so much for the State. They should be taken together and indivisible. They did not want to see the State controlled by the Church, nor the Church controlled by the State. They had followed with interest and sympathy, he said, the recent deliberations of the Church Assembly, and whatever was the outcome, as ringers they would be prepared to abide by it. They had recently got a new head of the State, and ringers would concede to him full loyalty and support. They had already shown their loyalty in many ways, by ringing peals for his accession, and they had shown their loyalty also by the muffled ringing which took place on the occasion of the lamented death of King George. In coupling with the toast the names of the chairman and the Rev. H. McGowan, Mr. Smallwood referred to the work which the latter had done in securing the recasting, augmentation and rehanging of Aston bells, and said St. Martin's Guild was glad to be able to return to its other headquarters and to know that at Aston ringing was going 'great guns' again.

SERVICES RENDERED BY RINGERS.

The Chairman first responded, and remarked upon the present happy partnership which existed between Church and State, compared with the condition of things in some other countries. He hoped the outstanding title problem was going at last to be settled in that spirit so characteristic of this country, which some called the spirit of compromise, but which he would rather call the spirit of mutual consideration. Canon Rogers expressed pride in the services rendered by ringers, and said he was exceedingly proud of the ringers of St. Martin's and the happy relationship which existed between him and them (applause). It had been a great happiness to him that evening to meet and shake hands with ringers from all parts of England and to know that they appreciated that gathering and the hospitality and kindness, which led to a mutual increase of friendship (applause).

The Rev. H. McGowan also replied in a humorous speech. He said one of the most encouraging things about the reinstatement of Aston bells had been the marvellous spirit in which the old ringers had rallied round and the help they had received from St. Martin's in getting the twelve bells rung. Taylors had distinguished themselves by the bells they had provided, and he felt that all who visited the tower would feel the same about them. The speaker reminded the company that Henry Johnson was buried at Aston and that over his grave was a very distinguished monument provided by the ringers of England. Ringers deserved well of the Church, and in his experience he had found that they were often a great help in many ways besides in the belfry (applause).

Mr. F. E. Dawe, in proposing the toast to 'The Memory of the late Henry Johnson,' said Johnson was born at Lichfield 127 years ago and very soon came to Birmingham. He was, as they all knew, a striking example of what a man should be. He (the speaker) made Henry Johnson's acquaintance immediately after his 72nd birthday, when he rang in the then longest peal of 9,328 Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's. He rang one peal with Johnson, one of the finest five thousands of Stedman Cinques that could ever be rung, and when Hullsworth, the conductor, who had the deepest voice he had ever heard in a belfry, growled 'This is all,' Henry Johnson, jun., who was also in the peal, turned round and said, 'Beat that in London if you can.' He (Mr. Dawe) rang with Johnson on many occasions, and they were the greatest friends. He had profound respect for the old gentleman, who was of a most lovable character and had a delightful personality. He could picture him in a slate-coloured suit of clothes, a hard felt black hat, with his silvery hair, a fresh complexion with the bloom of health, and a clear grey eye even at his great age. To Henry Johnson and the late John Cox, of the Royal Cumberland Society, he owed a debt of gratitude for all he ever knew of composition. He had still got the proof scales which Johnson gave him, and now he had a little more time at home he would look out these old papers and letters which he had from Johnson and take an early opportunity of handing them to the Guild. They would be worth having (applause). Mr. Dawe continued that he remembered going to the first Johnson dinner on the day that Johnson was 80 years old. On that occasion the old man was at his best. It was marvellous for an old man of 80 to get up and talk to them as he did. On that occasion he represented the Ancient Society of College Youths, of which he was then the Master. It was a national gathering, and he wondered if there was anyone else present that evening who attended that first gathering. He had been present at many similar gatherings since and had always been received with the utmost kindness and courtesy and had enjoyed the ringing he had had in Birmingham, where the Sunday ringing was as good as could be heard anywhere in the country. The spirit which obtained in Johnson's day obtained now, and would, he felt sure, continue into the future in a manner that time would never crack or sever.

EIGHT WHO RANG WITH JOHNSON.

Mr. Dawe asked those present who rang with Henry Johnson to stand, and this revealed that there were eight present. Mr. Dawe added that he hoped they would long be spared to meet again and enjoy one another's company as much as they were doing that evening.

The toast was drunk in silence.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, who, in the absence of the Master, proposed the toast of 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' said they would all be sorry at the absence of Alderman Pritchett. Of course, he was in his 82nd year and had lately been suffering from a bad chill, and they could well understand why he was not with them that evening. Mr. Reeves would convey to the Alderman the kindest regards and best wishes from all in that room (applause). It was difficult, continued Mr. Smith, to be called upon to follow a man, a silver-tongued orator, such as Alderman Pritchett was, for it was difficult to imagine a more pleasant speaker, particularly when he was proposing that toast, as he had done year after year. He could not attempt to copy his methods, but he could in some degree keep to the order of his speech. He used to lead off by mentioning those members whom they lost during the twelve months by death, and it was his (the speaker's) sad duty to mention the names of four who had passed away since the last Johnson dinner was held. Their old friend Harry Mason was a regular attendant at those gatherings. He was 72 years of age, and although he was never a twelve-bell ringer, he was a most excellent man and a loyal churchman, and a regular ringer on eight bells. On ten he was not so happy and on twelve he practically confessed he was positively miserable (laughter). The Rev. C. A. Clements was a Cambridge man and at one time curate at Oldswinford. In those days he always postponed everything that might turn up on a

GUILD'S EXCELLENT OFFICERS.

Tuesday evening to come in to the practice in the Bull Ring, and he always caught a very late train home. Those were in the pre-war days (laughter). There were many others in that gathering who had enjoyed the hours in his company after the practices at St. Martin's. He was later preferred to Grappenhall. They very much regretted to know he had passed on. Another who had gone from them was Mr. George Pigott, of Smethwick, who died just twelve months ago. It was nice to know they still had with them and in that room that night one of his brothers. The last he had to mention was Mr. Charles Cook, of Perry Barr, not known, perhaps, to many of those present, but one who was just a regular ringer at his own church. He never travelled very much, but had been a member of the Guild for many years. In a sense, said Mr. Smith, he thought they were fortunate, they had only lost four members in the last twelve months, and they must be thankful that death had dealt lightly with them.

A PROSPEROUS GUILD.

With regard to the prosperity of the Guild, he thought he could say they were prosperous. Their bank balance grew from year to year. One of these days, perhaps, the members would get a dividend or a bonus distribution on their shares (laughter). Considering their activities, it was good to know that they were on the right side as far as money was concerned. The chief event within the last twelve months was, of course, the opening of that magnificent ring of twelve bells at Aston. They were all very delighted to have with them that night the Vicar of that famous old church. It had already been referred to as their 'other headquarters.' The Guild comprised the ancient St. Martin's Youlds, which was later the St. Martin's Society, and the Holt Society of Aston. They were amalgamated and the two churches were always regarded as headquarters. Unfortunately for the Guild, Aston bells got out of order and became impossible to ring. Now, under the Rev. H. McGowan, they had not only been restored, but they were fortunate in having a new peal of twelve. They could once more claim to be double-headed, and in that way, perhaps, they were a little remarkable.

Proceeding, Mr. Paddon Smith referred to the recent expression of national mourning in the ringing of the bells of this country. It was, he said, time that ringers gave up the mode of describing muffled ringing as 'muffled clappers.' The clappers were only part of the machine used to ring the bell, like the wheel, the stock and the slider. It had nothing to do with the tone, and yet they read of bells being rung with half-muffled clappers. Imagine, he said, a writer on the day of the King's funeral, standing in the country describing the effect as he stood on the top of a hill overlooking a valley on a typical winter afternoon and saying from the grey tower below came the mournful sound of the muffled clappers. 'Well, I ask you?' said Mr. Smith. 'It seems to me perfectly stupid.'

It would be impossible, continued Mr. Smith, to have prosperity in their Guild unless they had really good officers, and they were very fortunate in this respect in Birmingham. They had a good Ringing Master in Frank Haynes, a 'youngster' who was bringing new ideas to the job. Everyone was perfectly loyal to him, with the result that ringing at St. Martin's and in other belfries was successfully carried out, but sometimes the practices were rather thinly attended. He would ask those members who could possibly manage it to be a little more regular in attendance on Tuesdays at St. Martin's. Some of them could not get there, but there were plenty who could. Mr. Reeves was the best secretary the Guild ever had, but he had a long way to go before he had finished his sentence (laughter). His three immediate predecessors each occupied the office for 20 years. Mr. Reeves had only done seven years yet, and they would not remit any of the remainder (laughter and hear, hear). Mr. Reeves was an excellent secretary, and it was nice to know they could almost see in him his father, Mr. Sam Reeves, who, in his day, was Master of St. Martin's Guild. If he were alive to-day he would be very proud of Mr. Thomas Reeves, as they all were. Long night he remain in office (applause).

RIDDLES OF THE PROPOSED NEW RULES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to endorse the reasoned statement by Mr. E. Barnett, which appeared in your last issue, and commend to other members, that Rule 8 must terminate at 'held' and Rule 4(a) at 'ringers' fund,' as obviously rules(?) such as those proposed by our esteemed friend Mr. W. J. Jeffries are utter nonsense. Will Mr. Jeffries answer the following:—

Rule (riddle) 8: When is the Ringing Master not the Ringing Master?

Rule (riddle) 4(a): If one of his service ringers left and failed to join another band, would he remain a member of the K.C.A.?

Rule 8: If his object is a tilt at the present R.M., surely the proper course is to nominate another at the next annual district meeting.

Rule 4(a): This apparently is a gibe at the unattached 'peal grabbers,' but, even so, he must admit that for practices and peal attempts he has found them very useful.

No, no more leg pulling, please, is the earnest desire of

'ONE OF THE SEVEN.'

PROPOSED REVISION OF RULES.

Dear Sir,—It is regrettable that the personal differences of opinions between responsible officers of the association should be allowed to be placed before your readers. In regard to Mr. E. Barnett's letter to you, published in last week's issue, it is purely a case of six of one to half a dozen of the other. Mr. Barnett accuses Mr. Jeffries of obstinacy, but he was just as obstinate over Rule 4(a) ending at funds (see last week's issue) as Mr. Jeffries was over Rule 8.

I am as deeply interested in this proposed revision as either of these two men, but I shall express my views in the right place, and, I hope, the right manner. If my propositions are not acceptable to the majority, then majority rule wins, and I stand by it. This is part of the constitution of any association, and must be adhered to. I trust we shall read no more about this matter, at least until after the annual meeting of the association, when all the members will have a chance to pass opinion.

ALEC E. RICHARDSON.

MR. HERBERT KNIGHT'S 38th ELECTION.

WOLVERHAMPTON LEADER'S LONG SERVICE.

For the 38th time Mr. Herbert Knight has been elected captain of St. Peter's Society, Wolverhampton. Other officers re-elected were Messrs. G. A. Baker (secretary and treasurer), Mr. F. Brotherton (librarian) and Mr. T. Smith (representative to the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford).

The elections took place at the annual meeting which followed the annual supper of the society, over which the Rector (the Rev. Canon J. Brierley) presided. He expressed thanks to the ringers for their services, and described their activities as a valuable piece of work done in the best spirit of the church.

The secretary, in his report, referred to the peal of Stedman Cinques rung at St. Peter's on August 24th last year, in which Mrs. R. Richardson took part. It is believed to be the only peal in St. Peter's in which a lady has rung. Appreciation was expressed at the efforts of the former Rector (Archdeacon Hodson), the wardens and the Church Council in having had the bells overhauled at a cost of £122, towards which the ringers had made a donation of £5. Mention was made of touches of Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters at 6 a.m. last Easter Day—a record for so early in the morning—and the receipt of a Christmas greeting from the ringers at Holy Trinity Church, Hobart, Tasmania.

Thanks were accorded the wardens—Messrs. S. H. Tonks and W. M. Pinson—and Mr. C. H. Clapham for continued interest in the society and its annual gathering.

A musical programme, including selections on handbells, followed.

WELL-KNOWN HAMPSHIRE RINGER DEAD.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Arthur E. Smith, which took place suddenly at King's Somborne, on February 17th. The funeral took place on February 21st, and the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild were represented by the Master, Mr. G. Williams (North Stoneham), Mr. W. Andrews (Winchester), Mr. E. J. Harding (Portsmouth), Mr. W. Linter (Fareham), Mr. J. Smith (Wickham) and Mr. G. Pullinger (Bishopstoke).

Following the lowering of the coffin, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the handbells over the grave by E. J. Harding 1-2, W. Andrews 3-4, G. Williams 5-6, W. Linter 7-8.

Mr. Smith was of a very jolly nature, and well known to Hampshire ringers. His car was often at the disposal of members for getting to out-of-the-way towers. He had taken part in three peals for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, and was very interested in all matters connected with ringing. He was largely instrumental in getting the old five bells at King's Somborne rehung and increased to six a few years ago.

As senior member of a firm of agricultural engineers, he was well known to farmers in the counties of Hampshire, Wiltshire and Dorset.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.A CONTRAST WITH 50 YEARS AGO IN READING BRANCH.

Canon G. F. Coleridge, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, speaking at the annual meeting of the Reading Branch, at Reading on Feb. 22nd, contrasted the position of the branch to-day with what it was 50 years ago, when he was hon. secretary. In those now rather distant days the district consisted of only the three Reading towers, Caversham and Tilehurst, and they used to hold committee meetings seated on barrels in a room in Mr. William Newell's brewhouse. They transacted their business all right, but, said the Canon, amid laughter, the smell of the malt and hops and other things in the brewery drove out any desire to drink the finished product. He could not call to mind a single instance when any member of the committee ever had anything to drink after the meeting. In those days the branch had only about a third of its present membership, but they were a very happy party. It was about 52 years since he took over the secretaryship, which he had to relinquish on going to Crowtherne ten years later, but his interest in the branch would remain as long as he had breath in his body. He hoped it would continue to flourish and increase. Commenting on the presence of a number of youthful ringers from Checkenden, Canon Coleridge said this was a happy augury for the future. He urged these youths to continue their interest in this branch of church work, and in their pursuit of knowledge of the art, he told them they would find great help from the articles for beginners appearing in 'The Ringing World.'

The meeting was held in St. Mary's Church House, under the chairmanship of Dr. J. L. Joyce (chairman of the branch), who was supported by the branch hon. secretary (Mr. E. G. Foster), and, in addition to Canon Coleridge, the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master of the Guild), Mr. A. H. Wright (Guild treasurer) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary).

The balance sheet, which was adopted, showed that the balance in hand had been raised from £3 16s. 10d. to £9 9s. 4d., largely owing to the fact that last year the branch did not pay for teas at the annual meeting. £8 had been remitted to general treasurer.

In his report, the hon. secretary stated that there were 21 honorary members and 151 ringing members, a reduction of eight in the latter. Three satisfactory quarterly meetings were held, and it had been decided by the committee to establish a bell restoration fund in the branch.

All the officers were re-elected, and Mortimer (in the spring), Nettlebed (in the summer) and Henley (in the autumn) were selected for the quarterly meetings.

TILEHURST BELLS NEED REHANGING.

Representatives of towers gave their reports on their respective bellfries, the Chairman commenting that, on the whole, they seemed satisfactory.

Among the reports was one in respect of Tilehurst, where the bells badly need rehanging. In this connection Mr. Hibbert, who had made an inspection, said the fact that six of the bells swung the weakest way of the tower had a great deal to do with the trouble.

The Vicar of Tilehurst said a sum of £260 was needed to carry out the necessary work, and he was prepared to put the matter before his Church Council. It would be a thousand pities to allow the bells to go all to pieces, and, while they were at present able to do a little ringing, there was no reason why they should not do more ringing if the bells were in a better state. The parish was already committed to repaying £600 for a new hall, and, in addition to what they at present received, they had to raise £330 a year for the church to pay their way. If they undertook the bell restoration scheme and raised a fund by a special effort, he hoped the ringers of the district would rally to their support.

Mr. Hibbert said now was the time for the Vicar to make an application to the Guild for help. He hoped he (Mr. Hibbert) would live to see the bells at Tilehurst, Sheffeld and Swallowfield all made to 'go.'

At the outset of the meeting the Chairman had welcomed visitors from other branches of the Oxford Guild and from the Herts Association, Guildford Diocesan Guild and Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.—Mr. J. S. Goldsmith acknowledged the welcome given and congratulated the branch upon the able officers it had at the head of its affairs.

The meeting concluded with the usual votes of thanks.

In the afternoon there had been ringing on the twelve bells at St. Laurence's Church, and the rings of eight at St. Mary's and St. Giles'. Service was held in St. Mary's Church, conducted by Canon Parham, who, in an interesting address, said the craft of the ringers was exercised primarily for the glory of God, and it was this which gave dignity and importance to the office of church bellringer. Ringers were regarded, for the most part, as important workers in the parish in which they served, and for that reason he always liked, when speaking to a company of ringers, to express on behalf of the clergy and congregation their thanks and gratitude to the ringers. In the exercise of the craft in which they found so much pleasure and interest the ringers themselves should recognise they had a vocation which was an act of service to God, and that in it they should give of their best. Their service should not begin and end in the belfry; it should be a prelude to the offering of worship in the fellowship of the Church and of the life of service rendered in the performance of the duties of every day. Service rendered in that way, in praise and adoration, and with humble love and gratitude in their hearts, would not fail to meet with love's reward.

A collection, amounting to 21s. 6d., was made for the purpose of establishing a bell restoration fund in the branch.

NEWBURY BRANCH AT SHAW.

A meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Shaw on Saturday, February 15th, when upwards of 30 ringers attended during the afternoon and evening. The following towers were represented: Beedon, Brightwalton, East Ilsley, Newbury, Peasemore, Shaw and Thatcham. Visitors attended from Abingdon, Beenham, Burghclere, Highclere and North Stoneham. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford), who gave a very inspiring address. Mr. W. A. D. Morris was at the organ. Tea, to which 27 sat down, was served in the Parish Hall.

The Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (chairman of the branch) presided over the business meeting, supported by the Rev. R. Howes (Vicar of Beenham).

The next meeting was fixed for Peasemore on April 25th.

The Rev. R. Howes thanked the Rector of Shaw for his address and welcome.

Votes of thanks were also accorded to Mr. Morris for playing the organ, and to Mrs. Owen and other ringers' wives who helped in providing the tea.

The tower was again visited, and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor rung.

V.W.H. BRANCH MEETING.

The spring meeting of the Vale of White Horse Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Longcot.

Touchees of various methods were rung during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Rev. B. M. Hawes (Vicar of Longcot), who also gave an interesting address. Mr. K. Edwards was at the organ.

Tea was served to 26 ringers and visitors in the Schoolroom, and was followed by a short business meeting, at which the Rev. A. J. de D. Denne (chairman of the branch) presided, supported by the Rev. B. M. Hawes, the Rev. C. G. Seymour Metford (Vicar of Shrivenham), the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master of the Guild), Mr. R. Gilling (branch secretary), and members from Longcot, Faringdon, Buckland, Shellingford and Shrivenham, with visitors from High Wycombe, Abingdon, Bicester and Swindon.

It was proposed to hold the annual meeting at Faringdon and the next by-meeting at Shrivenham.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of Longcot for allowing the meeting to be held there and for his impressive address, to the organist for giving his services and to the ladies who did the catering. The Chairman said he was very pleased to see such a good attendance and thanked the visitors for coming.

The Rev. C. E. Wigg replied and gave a few words of encouragement to the members of the branch.

The ringers then returned to the tower and ringing continued during the evening.

The Deputy Master and a few others paid a visit to the Uffington and Great Coxwell towers.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN DIVISION AT COGGESHALL.

A meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association was held at Coggeshall, and, despite adverse weather conditions, 40 ringers were present from Chelmsford, Earls Colne, Springfield, Braintree, Kelvedon, Witham, Great Tey, Feering, Dunmow, Halstead, Pebmarsh, Great Bardfield, Sudbury, Greenstead Green, Coggeshall, Bocking and Colchester.

Service was conducted by the Rev. A. Gordon Wright (Vicar of Pattiswick). The Rev. F. Pickford and Mrs. Pickford (of Coggeshall) were also present. The Vicar, in his address, said if the bells remained silent in this country, it would be a tragedy. The service was choral, Mr. G. E. Hearn being at the organ.

The company was afterwards kindly entertained to tea at the Woolpack Hotel by the Rev. and Mrs. Pickford, after which the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders) presided at the business meeting. The next place of meeting was fixed for Felsted on April 25th.

Mr. L. W. Wiffen proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. Pickford for the use of the bells, also to him and Mrs. Pickford for kindly entertaining them to tea.

The Vicar said he very much appreciated their thanks. He thanked Mr. Beckwith and the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell); also the ringers from other towers who had done so much to help the local ringers. He urged them to stick to it after so much had been done for the bells by the late Miss Gardner. The effect of the bells, he said, was incalculable.

Mrs. Pickford also returned thanks.

Mr. F. Claydon proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. Gordon Wright, who suitably replied.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Touchees in various methods from Bob Minor to London Surprise Major were rung during the afternoon and evening.

MUFFLED BELLS.

ONE WAY AS CORRECT AS ANOTHER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Some of your correspondents are asking which is the correct way to ring muffled for royalty. The answer is that no way is more correct than another; the only question is which sounds the best. Probably the most effective is to ring the 'whole pull and stand' half-muffled very slowly, with a whole pull on the tenor alone between each change and varying the order in which the bells are rung. To do this properly you would want a good band. Seventy rounds 'whole pull and stand' is monotonous. When changes are rung, either in touches or peals, half-muffled is infinitely superior to fully muffled, but quick ringing ruins the effect, and Major is preferable to Triples.

We took three hours and three quarters to ring a peal of Bob Major at St. Mary's, Ealing, with a tenor of 19 cwt., and the ringing was by no means too slow. With short touches even slower ringing sounds better.

A very interesting article can be written on the use of bells at funerals, and perhaps one day you may like to publish it. Meanwhile I may point out that muffled ringing was introduced by ringers to commemorate ringers. The tolled bell is the only official way of commemorating royalty. Fully muffled ringing is not much more than 200 years old and half-muffled considerably less.

CENTRAL COUNCIL GUIDANCE WANTED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the letters which appeared in 'The Ringing World' concerning how bells should be muffled, I take it that uniformity is aimed at. I feel sure that as practically all associations and guilds are affiliated to the Central Council, and have agreed to abide by the Council's decisions, the onus for a ruling on the matter falls on the Council.

However, in order to avoid unnecessary delay, I would suggest to those members of the Council, who will meet at Whitsun, to give some thought to this matter before the Council meeting and submit suggestions or opinions in writing to the secretary, who could tabulate the same in readiness for the Whitsun meeting.

It would not then take long for the Council to come to some definite instruction on the matter, and I feel sure that this could be included in the Rules and Decisions of the Council for the guidance of everyone.

CLAUDE I. DAVIES.

IMPRESSIVE PRACTICE AT SEDBERGH.

Dear Sir,—Our custom here, at Sedburgh, is to ring a touch, about 600, with the bells muffled, then slow up. After a few rounds the treble sets, after a few more the 2nd sets and so on, increasing the interval as each bell sets, until the tenor remains by itself. It then rings the age of the deceased. I do not know where the custom comes from, Cambridge possibly, but we have always done it, and it is most impressive.

Sedburgh, Yorks.

G. F. WOODHOUSE.

DIFFERENT VIEWS OF CLERGY.

Sir,—The bells at St. Mary's, Dover, were fully muffled with the exception of tenor at backstroke on January 21st. The Vicar chimed the tenor at midday 70 strokes to correspond with the years of the King's age. In the evening the bells were rung, also on the following Sunday. On the Sunday evening the Vicar asked if the bells could be half-muffled, but I told him that I couldn't do that, as it was the general practice all through the country for the bells to be fully muffled for the passing of the reigning King. This, I believe, was the opinion of most ringers, but now times have altered and we have to acquaint ourselves with modern opinion. The leading tower, Westminster Abbey, has settled this, as they rang the bells half-muffled at the commencement of the last journey of the body. Probably the wireless has caused this change, for on this occasion the half-muffled ringing was very impressive.

There are many different opinions. Some think that all should be treated alike at death. The Rector of St. James', Dover, took a different view, and said no bells were to be rung from the time of the death to the day of the funeral, so that the bells were not rung for either service on the Sunday.

It appears, therefore, that if the Central Council discuss the subject and decide on any set rules about it, the clergy, who are in charge of the bells of a church, may still hold different ideas about muffling the bells. What the ringers have done on this occasion they have done with a real good spirit to do the best they could.

C. TURNER, Captain, St. Mary's, Dover.

EX-CHOIRBOYS CELEBRATE CHOIRMASTER'S JUBILEE.

Mr. Courtenay Woods has just completed 50 years' service as organist and choirmaster at Solihull Church. To celebrate this, on February 22nd, the band rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): W. Leeson 1, H. Bragg 2, J. N. Jukes 3, T. Warner 4, H. Shepherd 5, E. C. Shepherd (composer and conductor) 6, J. Bragg 7, S. Bragg 8, E. Bragg 9, V. W. Rigg 10. Each member of the band is an ex-choirboy who served under Mr. Woods. The ringers at Solihull wonder if this is unique.

FOR BEGINNERS.

CALLING PEALS OF BOB MINOR.

In the old days of Minor peal ringing it was held that a 5,040 should be made up of at least seven different methods, and when a peal was rung in less methods it was hardly thought 'proper' by many ringers. Ideas have developed since those days, and just as, in one direction, ringing has extended to the introduction of many methods in one 720—a thing which our forefathers would probably have denounced if they had thought it possible—so in the other direction we have come to admit that a peal has equal claim to recognition if the seven 720's are made up of one and the same method.

There are often reasons why, if a peal is to be rung, it must be limited to one method, but where this is necessary the conductor can, and should, if possible, ring seven different 720's. Here, however, he sometimes comes up against a 'snag,' for he may find it difficult to learn, especially if time is limited, seven totally different callings.

It is, however, possible to get seven different 720's without having to memorise seven different callings. (Parenthetically we shall not be surprised if we do not hear something about this from someone—but never mind, we will deal with him when the brick comes through the office window.)

Conductors, we take it for granted, know all about the two old 720's, in one of which the tenor is called Wrong, Right and Wrong, and the other in which the 5th is called Right, Wrong and Right.

Unless you care to do so, you need not memorise the calling of five other 720's to complete the peal. Take, for example, a two-part 720, obtained with bobs and the use of two singles only. The bobs produce a true 360. In that 360 there is included not only the 23456 at the start, but also the lead heads 34256 and 42356, which really divide the 360 into three parts, although they are not called alike, nor are they necessarily of the same length.

You learn the calling from 23456, and also where the 34256 and the 42356 occur. To get three different 720's 'within the meaning of the Act,' all you have to do is to use the same calling, beginning it in the three different places—much in the same way as you ring the same method, although you start in a different place when you ring a different bell.

Let us illustrate what we mean:—

— 23564	56423	56234
— 23645	62534	63542
	— 25346	54326
	54263	42563
	— 46325	23456
	34562

The figures are a 360 divided into the three parts, with part ends when 5-6 are at home. It is equally true whether you begin with the calling of A, B or C, and your singles to complete the 720 are inserted 360 changes apart. Whichever section you begin with will produce the 'part ends' in the same order, because, for example, 42356 from 34256 is the same transposition as 34256 from 23456.

In the Central Council's Collection of Minor Methods you will find a number of compositions given which can be treated in this way, and while if you use this method of calling your peal you cannot, perhaps, be said to have used seven different compositions, you have certainly rung seven different 720's, because the leads do not come up in the same order.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

VISIT TO ST. MICHAEL'S, HEADINGLEY.

The February meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held one week earlier than the fixed day in order to avoid clashing with the Ladies' Guild, who were invading this area on the following Saturday. The bells were rung up at 3.15 p.m., and ringing continued until 9 p.m. except for a break for tea and the business meeting.

The latter was held in the tower, the chair being taken by the president. Members were present from Armley, Batley, Bradford Cathedral, Bramley, Burley, Calverley, Drighlington, Headingley St. Chad's, Holbeck, Leeds Parish Church, Pudsey, Rothwell, Shipley, Sherburn, Sutton-on-Hull, Tadcaster and the local company.

Three new members were elected, viz., the Rev. P. Thorman and Messrs. A. Smith and L. Stokoe.

The usual vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was accorded on the motion of Mr. J. Ewbank, seconded by Mr. A. E. West. Mr. P. J. Johnson replied for the local ringers.

The next meeting is to be held at Bramley on Saturday, March 28th. This meeting will be the annual nomination meeting, and members are asked to give serious consideration to the nomination of officers for the coming financial year.

OUR THANKS.

This number celebrates the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World,' and it is an occasion when we may be forgiven if we say a personal word to our readers. Twenty-five years is quite a long time for one man to remain in control of a weekly journal, however humble the publication may be, and our first thought is to express our thanks to all those ringers who have given their support to 'The Ringing World' week by week, and especially to those stalwarts who have been loyal to us from the very first number. The passing of the years makes them a diminishing band, and we appreciate, more than we can find words to express, their constant and unflinching assistance. It is a combination of factors which makes the publication of a journal possible, and first and supreme is the confidence of its readers. No one realises our shortcomings more than we do ourselves, but we are happy in the realisation that in our efforts to raise the standard of ringing and the status of ringers we have held the confidence of the vast majority of our readers. If we may paraphrase the words of a great American, 'You may please all your readers some of the time, you may please some of your readers all the time, but you cannot please all your readers all the time.' And, realising that from the first, we have never tried to please everybody all the time, but have done the best according to our lights to promote the interests of ringing and ringers as a whole. Our readers must be left to judge how far we have been successful.

The task of running 'The Ringing World' has never been an easy one. The reasons are known to many, but up to the present the paper has never failed the Exercise. Let it not be forgotten, however, that the sands are running out. The hand that at the moment guides the plough and has endeavoured to direct it all through these twenty-five years cannot go on indefinitely. When it fails, we sometimes wonder who will be prepared to undertake not only the work but the financial responsibility. If the future is to be made secure, ringers must do their share to make it so. At present the Exercise as a whole cannot be said to play the part it ought in maintaining a weekly journal. We ask ringers, therefore, for a more general support, not for our personal ends, but to secure to the Exercise a journal of its own which will continue to serve it when its present Editor is no longer able to fulfil the task.

To those who have given and to those who still give us their loyal support we return a heartfelt 'Thank you.' To those who from time to time have contributed to our columns articles of interest and instruction we also express our sincere acknowledgments. One whose pen lightened our very first issue and many succeeding numbers, and has since returned again and again in trenchant attack upon those things from which he has strongly dissented, as well as penning his more sombre thoughts, both in prose and poetry—Mr. William Willson—writes specially for this number, and so, too, does Mr. J. Armiger Trollope, whose instructional and historical articles have, almost from the first, brought knowledge and interest to readers of this journal. Indeed, Mr. Trollope has had an even more intimate association than that with 'The Ringing World,' for he shared in its production during those many weeks of 1934 when the Editor was privileged to join the Australian tour. This issue also contains an article which, in the midst of his busy life, the president of the Central Council has kindly consented to write. To these three gentlemen especially we extend our thanks. And one other sincere acknowledgment we must give on this occasion. It is to the printers and publishers of this paper—The Woodbridge Press, Ltd., and the Rolls House Publishing Co., Ltd.—whose never-failing co-operation in the production and distribution of the paper has made its prompt and unfailing appearance possible every week for twenty-five years.

FOR BEGINNERS.

SOME ELEMENTARY TRANSPOSITION.

In the article last week we illustrated how three different 720's of Bob Minor can be got by using the same calling, but by beginning at a different place. This principle is not limited to Bob Minor; it has a much wider scope. Actually it applies to all compositions which make up what is termed a 'round block.'

A 'round block,' for the benefit of those who do not know, is any block of changes in which all the bells come back together to the point from which they started. Usually it is from rounds to rounds; it can be from and back to any other row. There are many obvious reasons for starting and finishing with rounds; but the theoretical truth of a touch or peal would not be affected if you started and finished with any of the rows in between the rounds—it would still be a 'round block.'

But here is a further interesting thing about a 'round block.' If you start with rounds it does not matter at what point you begin calling your composition, as long as you return to the starting point; that is to say if you begin in the middle, and call the first half after you have called the second half, you will produce the final rounds just as surely as if you began at the beginning.

You will not get your changes in the same order; you may not (and probably will not) get the same part-ends, if it is a composition which is divided into parts, but the whole will be complete just as our composition of Bob Minor was complete in the illustration last week.

That composition would have produced the 360 changes whether we began at the 2nd, the 15th, the 23rd or any other lead, but we showed the suitable starting places as we did, in order that 5.6 should not be brought up the wrong way behind.

From a 'musical' point of view, it is better to have 5.6 than 6.5 at backstroke, and if you are thinking of trying an experiment with any 720 of Minor on the lines we are endeavouring to explain, just bear this in mind. You want to arrange your transposition so that the positions in which 5 and 6 fall in the original composition are not affected.

As a simple example of how easily a transposition may bring the tenors up the wrong way, take the 'original' composition of Bob Minor, in which the tenor is called W.R.W. It would be equally true if you called it W.W.R., but, while the first calling keeps 5.6 the right way whenever they come behind together, the second would bring them up together the wrong way sometimes. For this reason, if you want to transpose a composition, and you want to ring it on orthodox lines, just watch your step.

The same thing applies to compositions in other methods. Transpositions are very useful for a young conductor if he has not the physical strength to ring a heavy bell to a peal. If he is not competent to call it from a 'non-observation' bell (that is, to ring one of the bells that are moved about at the course or part ends), he can still try his hand at calling from another bell if he finds a suitable transposition.

In making these transpositions it should be remembered that the thing that matters is that the number of leads between the bobs remains the same. In this way, for instance, several transpositions of Parker's famous twelve-part peal have been made. The way in which Mr. Parker originally gave it to the world was like this (by the bobbed and singled leads):—

Now, as long as you keep the bobs and singles at the same relative distances apart, you can begin by calling this peal at any point. You will not, of course, get the same part ends. Moreover, it probably will not look as symmetrical, and the 'music' may not come up at the same regular intervals, but it will be a true peal. There are 30 places at which you can begin your peal; figure out some of them and see what they are like.

If you want to make a fresh 'observation' bell, and use the same calling as for the 6th, you can do so if you pick out as a starting point a place in which your own bell is in its natural position (as at rounds) and then apply the calling of the 6th, beginning it at a point at which the 6th comes into the position occupied in rounds by the bell you choose. You will have a 'part-end' in 420 changes, just as Mr. Parker has, although, as we have said, you may not produce such an easily-remembered series as Mr. Parker's is.

REFLECTIONS IN LIGHT AND SHADE COMMENTS OF AN OLD WARRIOR.

'W.W.' Takes Down His Battleaxe.

Hi! boy, hand me down that battleaxe off the wall yonder. Wipe off the vaseline, and, while about it, give me that crash helmet. Why? Because there are likely to be ructions. Thanks. The edge is not so sharp as it was when this journal started on its career. The hand that wielded it is growing gnarled and weary—and might hurt friend as well as foe. When you grow older, boy, you will realise that the man who calls a spade a spade, and not an agricultural implement, often finds himself in a hornet's nest. But don't be afraid. If you think you are on the right track, wade in. Remember Wellington's cry at Waterloo: 'Up and at 'em.' You will be looked down upon, especially if you don't wear the old school tie; but never fear, sooner or later it will dawn into their addled pates that no man has all of it in his noddle. And now, boy, sit still while your uncle does a spot of work. Get me?

This is the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World,' and many events have taken place since it first saw the light. Time has gone quickly, for I remember fifty years ago as easy as twenty-five. In the Exercise many things have happened, good, bad and indifferent—according to how you view them. We have seen old traditions of ringing violated, ridiculed and revoked under the flimsy plea of Expediency and Progress. We have seen a multitude of methods rung in one peal, and it has come to such a pitch that to ring a 'straight' peal in one method looks very poor stuff indeed. What I don't like is the attitude of certain 'N.C.O.'s of the Central Council. They assume the role of Dictator, and wish to pillory all peals that do not conform to their silly idea of 'Splicing.'

If I interpret it aright, that idea is that only peals that change the method a given number of times should be allowed to be called 'spliced.' Do they really think that they can twist the English language to suit their own twisted ideas? What is the meaning of the word 'Spliced'? The dictionary tells us 'To join by interweaving.' Just so. Nothing is said about un-joining it by going back to the original a dozen times or more. To ring a spliced peal on any number requires a great ability, but, in my opinion, the Minor peals are more entitled to the definition than the Major. In fact—this is a stone-cold fact, and not an opinion—any peal in which more than one method is rung is 'spliced,' whether you join up at any lead-end, part-end or at rounds. And I challenge any argument to the contrary. (Steady, there, steady, or there may be a deep depression extending over Ealing.)

That brings me to broadcasting.

Several enthusiastic writers have criticised the B.B.C. for cutting out the bells before a religious service. Of course, we should like to have more ringing, but those who assert that the ringing is part of the service had better think again, for their contention is not justified. The ringing before a service is like the overture to a play, or the preface to a book. If it were otherwise, what about the thousands of one-bell churches? Should the B.B.C. broadcast a clanging single bell for ten minutes before a service? It is the service that counts, and, although I love ringing, we should be grateful for what has already been done. You need not take my word for it, but turn to the Book of Common Prayer, which states 'the minister shall cause a bell to be tolled—before he begin.' Our work is done before the service begins.

I reckon that the B.B.C. has done more to popularise ringing than all other efforts put together, by adopting Bow Bells as an interval signal. We must be careful that we do not give the public a surfeit of it, and thereby raise a real outcry against us. Personally, I could do with more bell-music on the 'wireless' for some of the turns are maddening to me. I don't mind the Fat Stock Prices; I only grumble a bit at Chamber Music; the Foundations of Music are well concreted in my system, and I can put up with a Symphony concert, but what gets my goat are the Lunchtime Warbler and the Crooner. The former—apparently bred and fed on jelly—rouses me to fury. His 'Tra-la-la' makes my nostrils quiver. At 'Hey, Noni Noni' my eyes bulge out, and those around me quickly remove glass and cutlery out of reach, while another switches off the radio. For the lunch crooner who is usually 'dancing with his shadow' I would like to get behind him with my trusty weapon, when I think he would go on a tour.

Yes, I prefer Bow Bells to these every time.

This last quarter of a century has seen some changes in ringing. The year after this journal started, the first ladies' peal was rung.

This was at Cubitt Town in 1912, and I was there to listen to it. Many thought it was only a passing phase, but they were wrong, and the girls have gone from strength to strength. Surprise peals have been added to their victories, and he would be a bold man who would decry the lady ringers of to-day. A letter has just been received, 'Dear Sir,—As I know you to be a family man, I feel I can ask your help. It is very annoying to me that ever since some silly ass put into print that I was after the bachelors—which is not true—I am sniggered at when I go into a belfry. It happened like this. I heard one of them sing a song called "The Ringers," and the lines ran, "Now if any young lady who wants to be married without any fuss. She should climb up the belfry some fine Sunday morning and take a look at us." Well, I did, but one look was enough. I wouldn't touch them with a long pole. The bachelor band is safe from me. Most of them are fossils and ought to be in a museum. I have seen better faces on church spouts. (You mean gargoyles, Kate.) So I thought I would let you know the truth. Only last week on Leap Year Day I went up a tower, when they began to whisper, and soon every man began to pack up and slink away. What would you do?—Yours sincerely, Kate.'

By publishing your letter, Kate, I think I will help to allay the bogey, and it is very probable that they will leave off letting you alone.

I wonder sometimes what sort of mentality possesses the ringers who are always out for the 'quickest peal on the bells'? In my opinion, they must be dead to all sense of music. Do they realise that bells are cast in different tones so that they shall be heard distinctly? How can they be heard distinctly if they are raced along until all tones are jumbled together in pandemonium? Do we consider how such a noise falls on the public ear? The time will come when we will have to consider it. It is doubly offensive when rung muffled at racing speed. What would we think of an orchestral conductor who boasted of having rendered Handel's 'Largo' at jazz speed? Whenever a peal is rung with a 20 cwt. tenor in or about 2 hours 45 minutes. I assert that it errs on the wrong side. There is something grand in the rhythm of stately-rung bells, but I feel only pity when I hear a good band spoiling their work by racing bells along outside of their proper gait.

It is strange how apparently innocent resolutions can have far-reaching consequences. Take, for instance, the one passed by the Central Council, calling upon affiliated societies to abide 'by the rules and decisions of the Council.' It was introduced at Salisbury by some prehistoric cave-man from Bristol, who no doubt meant well, but it means that members of associations lose their freedom to make their own rules. Those rules are worthless, since every time the Council changes its mind your rules must change also. The rank and file of the Council are willing to be led by the nose and to revoke one year the previous year's work. They did it on the six-bell question in order to admit the Cambridge Minor, which, being false on the last row of each 720, was absolved on the ground that 'the last row of a peal doesn't belong to that peal, but is the first row of the next' (which you or some other fellows may or may not ring this week, next week, some time, or never). Thereby hangs a tale: Four men stood on the corner of the street waiting for 'opening time.' It was after a C.C. meeting and their throats were dry. Said C. T. C., 'Let's go and have a quick one, but wait a moment, I am cashing a cheque at this bank.' After a long wait, Tom came out looking like a beetroot. 'What's up?' we asked. 'What's up?' 'Why, the blighter—I mean the cashier—has given me one short. The cheque is for £720 and he has only paid me £719. He says that the last one is the first of the next one I may cash. I've been had.'

J. A. T. stood trying to look unconcerned, and sidged with his tie.

'What about it?' I asked.

'I didn't speak,' he replied.

I turned to the 'padre,' 'What do you say, Mr. E. B.?'

He smiled and said, 'It's a fine day.'

Well, we were moving off to get that quick one, when—I awoke!

No man is indispensable in this world, but the death of William Pyc is the greatest shock the Exercise has received during the last two decades. In our younger days, we read with a thrill of Annable, Holt and Reeves, of Gross, Hurry, Shipway and Hubbard, the names of men who in their day and generation were heroes in the world of bells. All of these, however, fade before the brilliance of William Pyc. In the early nineties, it was apparent that a new luminary had come up on the horizon. After his first 10,000 of Treble Bob came the then record of 15,072 Double Norwich, and it was clear that while there were fresh fields to conquer, this ringing Napoleon would not rest. Only those who have rung with him can know his temperament. As I write there comes before me the mental picture of the Loughborough long peal. W. J. Nudds was not a strong man, and sandwiched between Lindoff and myself Nudds rang the eighth with his back to the belfry clock. When we had rung eleven hours he said, 'I can't go on,' and his face as white as chalk told of his predicament. I said a few words of encouragement, but the conductor just looked on and nodded, all the while sending the tenor along like a piece of human machinery. At twelve hours came another spasm. Nudds was about all in. Then a cry from the tenor box, 'Stick it, do you hear? Stick it!' The ringer of the 8th did stick it. He put his last few ounces of strength into it and the peal was won: 18,027.

William Pyc goes down in history as a giant among ringers. In the annals of ringing his name will for ever stand in bold relief. He has trodden the stage for the last time, and passed to scenes unknown, but his name will live. As was said of Cæsar, 'This was a man.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Questions have been asked through your valuable paper as to how bells should be rung for any great personage at their death. In my opinion, no difference should be made. The custom is to ring bells open, just as they are, for all occasions such as Sunday services, King's birthday and at any time of rejoicing, national and other. Why, then, make any difference when ringing for anyone called to their last rest, King or commoner? Ring the bells half-muffled, well struck—there is nothing more impressive, provided the tenor is behind. Half-muffled ringing of Major and Royal sounds, to my ear, a great disrespect to the departed. I have had just over 40 years' experience. Taunton.

J. HUNT.

UNIFORMITY DESIRABLE.

Dear Sir,—Since my letter in 'The Ringing World' of February 7th, letters that have appeared on this subject seem to indicate that the writers were under the same impression as myself, but Mr. Trollope now tells us that no way is more correct than another. That answer, in my opinion, does not land those of us who are asking which of the two should be deemed correct anywhere. It seems to me only to let us down a little deeper into the mire.

If one way is as correct as the other, I, for one, to whose lot it generally falls to do the muffling, would certainly only half-muffle the bells, as it is much easier to do that than fully muffle them. If I may be allowed to use Mr. Davies' phrase, 'what is needed on such occasions is uniformity throughout the country.' The only way to get this in the future seems to me to get the Central Council to take the matter up.

If they should think this necessary, may I, for one, ask them to give it very careful consideration, for, if half-muffling is decided upon, that's the end of fully muffling, because if it is not done for royalty, for whom else are we to do it?

When we close our eyes in eternal rest,

Will the watchers around the bed

Say, 'This was a man who stood the test,

Who played his part, who gave his best,'

When they look on the face of the dead?

Let history render its verdict true,

That 'all through a hard won fight,

This valiant figure nobler grew,

His good right hand found work to do,

And he did it with all his might.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Our peal columns reveal to-day the names of eight bachelors, described as 'free and untrammelled' of the average age of 22 years. They celebrated their freedom with a peal at Horbury on Leap Year Day.

John Taylor and Co. are rehangings the heavy ring of six bells at Newland Church, Glos., and the peal is being removed to Loughborough for tuning and refitting. The bells are to be hung in a new frame. Newland Church, situated in the Forest of Dean, is a beautiful structure with a grand tower, and is known as 'The Cathedral of the Forest.' The tower has been badly cracked by the action of the bells in the old timber frame and is undergoing extensive renovation.

Last Friday, Mr. Albert Walker gave a lecture on bells and bellringing to the Birmingham Engineers and Surveyors Association. There was a large and appreciative audience, who followed the lecture with keen interest. The talk was illustrated with about 50 lantern slides and change ringing on handbells.

We understand that Mr. Filson Young, whose striking articles on bells and bellringing appeared in 'The Radio Times' a while ago, has been commissioned by the B.B.C. to build a 'feature' programme about bells.

The Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association is appealing for help on behalf of Mr. C. H. Briggs, of Stoney Stanton, who has been ill for a considerable time. If any friends of his, who are residing out of the district, would care to send any amount, however small, it will be gratefully received. Donations should be sent to Mr. A. E. Rowley, hon. secretary, Station Road, Higham-on-the-Hill, Nuneaton.

The University of London Union has now granted permission for the use of the title 'The London University Society of Change Ringers.' Any past or present members of London University are invited to communicate with Mr. C. Dodd, Royal College of Science, London, S.W.7, with a view to joining the society.

Is it correct that two of the leading exponents of the art of ringing in the Guildford Guild failed to pull up their bells 'right way' before starting for a peal at Witley (Surrey) on Saturday?

Our inquirer says: Perhaps an explanation might be given at an early date in the Beginners' column of 'The Ringing World.' At any rate, the lesser fry in the Guild feel that they can indulge in a chortle in secret.

Without waiting for an explanation in the Beginners' column, our readers may be informed that No. 1 pulled the treble up the wrong way, to the great amusement of No. 2. But No. 2 then proceeded to pull the 4th up with the clapper the wrong side. 'He that laughs last laughs longest,' is an adage that once more proved true.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM DAVIES.

A WELL-KNOWN LIVERPOOL RINGER.

We regret to record the death of Mr. William Davies, of Liverpool. He passed away at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Claude I. Davies, on February 27th, after suffering more or less for the past two years. The late Mr. Davies was born in South Wales in the year 1861. He went to Liverpool when a young man, and pursued the career of telegraphist until his retirement a few years ago.

His first peal was rung at Liverpool in 1884, and his last, a peal of Stedman Triples at Rotherhithe, about nine years ago. Deceased had rung in upwards of a hundred peals, chiefly in the standard methods, many being with the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Sheffield and Ashton-under-Lyne Societies.

Mr. Davies was a ringer at St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, for a period of 40 years. He held the office of steeplekeeper for many years, and it was mainly due to his efforts the peal of twelve was restored in 1911. Many of the bells for years before that had been unringable. He was an excellent ringer and striker on all numbers of bells, and he was always a welcome visitor to London, particularly in the days of the late Mr. James Pettit.

The late Mr. William Davies' peals were as follow: Grandsire Triples 13, Grandsire Caters 5, Grandsire Cinques 1, Stedman Triples 20, Stedman Caters 9, Stedman Cinques 4, Bob Major 16, Bob Royal 1, Bob Triples 1, Oxford Bob Triples 1, Minor in seven methods 2, Kent Treble Bob Major 20, Royal 6, Maximus 4, Caters 1, Oxford Treble Bob Major 4, Double Norwich Major 7, Superlative Surprise Major 2, total 117. One of Grandsire Triples and two of Bob Major were rung on handbells.

The peals were rung for the Lancashire Association, Chester Diocesan Guild, Yorkshire Association, Llandaff Association, Gloucester and Bristol Association, St. James' Society and the Ancient Society of College Youths. Mr. Davies took part in two of the three peals rung in the Isle of Man, a peal each of Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major at Peel on July 4th, 1883, both being College Youths' peals.

The funeral took place at Childwall on Saturday, February 29th. The service was read by the Rev. R. B. Parker, who also delivered a very appropriate address, in the course of which he touched on the late Mr. Davies' calling as a ringer and his loyalty as a churchman. Among the mourners at the graveside were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Davies (son-in-law and daughter), Mrs. Gladys Davies, Messrs. William Harold and Harry Davies (sons), Capt. Pope and several ringers, including Messrs. E. C. Burkitt, A. Lintott, G. Sergeant, E. Gittens, J. Bowstead, G. Lyddieth, J. Martin, G. R. Newton, etc. There were many floral tributes, among them one from St. Nicholas' tower.

CENTRAL COUNCIL PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

TWO INFLUENCES WHICH BENEFIT RINGERS OF TO-DAY.

'The Ringing World' and the Central Council.

The president of the Central Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis) has written the following special article for the Silver Jubilee number of 'The Ringing World.' In it he points out the importance to the Exercise of the Council and this journal.

Ringers of to-day are far more in touch with one another than they were a generation ago. Two influences have been mainly responsible. One of them is 'The Ringing World,' to whose Editor we owe a great deal. Week by week for twenty-five years he has kept up the high standard of the paper and let us know what other ringers in all parts of the country were doing. Not only that, in his excellent Editorials he has given us good advice and fair comments on passing events.

So accustomed are we to the weekly issue that perhaps we do not quite value as we should the continuous effort that must be required to maintain the standard of the paper. Congratulations to him on the completion of twenty-five years' service to the Exercise. May 'The Ringing World' long continue.

The other means of communication between different districts is the Central Council. The meetings of the Council give the Exercise its only chance of discussing, as a body, subjects of common interest. Sometimes, it is true, the matters under consideration interest only a section, perhaps a small section, of the ringers of the country. Such a section, however, is not restricted by locality, but by interest in some particular branch of the art we practise. Mathematical intricacies of method construction do not appeal to every ringer, but they are of intense interest to others, and undoubtedly, from such discussions, new methods and more musical compositions ultimately arise.

From the spread of knowledge which we owe to 'The Ringing World' and to the work of the Council there is a danger that the theoretical side of ringing is made too easy, and that some young ringers try to run before they can walk. The result is that the old standards of striking are not maintained. That the danger is real is shown by some recent broadcasts. It is to be hoped that it is only a passing phase, and it is up to 'The Ringing World' and the Council to hold up an ideal of good striking as the necessary foundation of all ringing. Without it the whole edifice of method ringing which has been built up is useless.

There are a few ringers who grumble at 'The Ringing World.' There are some who think the Central Council is of little use. Let them remember that if they want a bigger and better journal they must support it with a bigger circulation. If they want a better Council they must elect better members, if they can.

EDWIN H. LEWIS.

AUTHOR OF THE 'TWELVE-PART.'

MR. J. J. PARKER'S 83rd BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED.

A representative gathering of ringers from Berks, Bucks, Middlesex and Surrey assembled at Farnham Royal on Saturday to ring 'many happy returns' to Mr. J. J. Parker on the 83rd anniversary of his birthday. About a score were privileged to come early and take tea with their old friend, who looked remarkably well, although he has to obey certain doctor's restrictions.

Mr. W. H. Russell voiced the sentiments of the party in a short speech, mentioning, among other things, that Mr. Parker had seen six vicars at Farnham Royal, and giving still another instance of our old friend's versatility, Mr. Parker was a first-class shoemaker.

The Branch Ringing Master (Mr. T. J. Fowler) also said a few words on the world-wide fame of 'the twelve-part.'

Mr. J. J. Parker replied, saying what great pleasure it gave him to meet his friends again and hear their efforts in the tower. Amongst the methods tried may be mentioned Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent, Superlative, Cambridge and London, but not quite all were successful. A 'fall in peal' (not too easy on Farnham eight) brought the celebrations to a close.

PASSING OF 'A GREAT ADMIRER' OF BELLS.

Two years ago the bells at Walmer Church, Kent, were restored after being in rather a bad going condition. The work was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and the expense was borne by an anonymous admirer of the church bells. Since then it has been revealed that the 'great admirer' was Mr. A. J. Matthews, J.P., who has just passed away. The interment took place on Thursday, March 5th, when the bells were rung half-muffled in the evening, a peal being successful as a tribute from Kentish bellringers.

RINGER FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS.

DEATH OF MR. G. CRAMP, OF TENTERDEN.

The death occurred on March 5th of Mr. George Cramp, of Tenterden, at the age of 87 years. The deceased had been a ringer for over 60 years, and was one of the pioneers of change ringing at Tenterden. He was a regular attendant up to the end of November last.

He rang his first peal in 1888, the first peal by a resident band. He had rung several peals since, but kept no record of them.

The funeral took place at Tenterden Cemetery on Monday, March 9th. Ringers were present from Frittenden, Hawkhurst and Tunbridge Wells as well as Tenterden. Touches of Stedman Triples were rung with the bells half-muffled during the evening at the Parish Church by local and visiting ringers as a mark of respect. Mr. Cramp will be greatly missed.

A BIRMINGHAM VETERAN.

MARRIED 62 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coley, of Sheepcote Street, Ladywood, Birmingham, celebrated the 62nd anniversary of their wedding on March 2nd, having been married at Stourbridge in 1874. Mr. Coley is 83 and his wife is 82.

Mr. Coley was a chainmaker by trade, and began work at the age of 12, being paid 4d. for a 14-hour day. He retired at the age of 72.

He was for many years a ringer at Bishop Rydor's Church, and he still delights each Sunday morning to listen to the service ringing at St. Martin's and have a word with the ringers afterwards. He is a link with many of Birmingham's former ringing celebrities, for he knew all the 'old school' of Johnson's days.

A RETROSPECT.

HOW 'THE RINGING WORLD' HAS SERVED THE EXERCISE.

By the Editor.

In March, 1911, the first issue of 'The Ringing World' appeared. It was the fourth journal published entirely for the benefit of church bellringers and devoted exclusively to the interests of the art of change ringing. Before the advent of 'Bell News' in 1881, 'Church Bells' had devoted a section of its pages to matters affecting bellringing, but these were only a small portion of the publication, and when 'Bell News' arrived on the scene it quickly supplanted the earlier paper in its usefulness to the ringers of that period. Many years later came in turn 'Campanology' and 'Bell Ringer,' both short lived.

'The Ringing World' made its appearance at a time when the rapid expansion of the Exercise made a new journal desirable, it might almost be said absolutely essential, if the requirements of ringers were to be met. It was a time when a kind of atrophy seemed to have struck the old weekly, whose services to the Exercise in its earlier days deserve to be acknowledged. But the passing of the years weighed heavily on that publication, and, as it gradually drooped and faded, it was inevitable that, if bellringing was not to receive a serious blow, other efforts were required to save the situation.

Thus it came about that a somewhat daring young man ventured to take the plunge and offer the Exercise an alternative ringing paper. There were plenty to remind him of the old adage that fools rush in where angels fear to tread, but while in some respects there have been disappointments, he can to-day say he has no serious regrets. The action taken at that time probably saved the Exercise from being stranded, at any rate for a period, without a journal of its own, for it was not very long afterwards that 'Bell News' languished into death. It may be that the younger and more enterprising paper hastened the end, but there is little doubt that it must have come sooner or later from financial anæmia.

But the path of the new journal was far from smooth. It was scarcely out of its swaddling clothes, so to speak, when came the war and the disintegration of many cherished schemes. 'The Ringing World' was fortunate to survive that cataclysm, which carried away in its devastating grip many hundreds of small publications. Once more the Exercise was saved from a break in the continuity of its newspaper records, for had this paper disappeared under the strain, no new enterprise of that kind—even if anyone could have been found ready to launch it—would have been permitted owing to the paper shortage. And so, through the years, 'The Ringing World' has proceeded to its silver jubilee, giving ringers week by week a faithful record of the events of greatest interest in the Exercise, keeping its readers in touch with the steady development of the art, expressing its own views on subjects of importance, with, we hope, fair and impartial criticism, and with a desire to give its readers food for thought.

These twenty-five years have carried us into an entirely new generation of ringers. Men who, when 'The Ringing World' started, were the pillars of the Exercise, are many of them to-day but a memory. It is impossible to recall here all those giants of the past who, in this quarter of a century, have been taken from us, but there is satisfaction in the memory that they were, we believe we can say without exception, friends of 'The Ringing World.' These were the men whose labours materially helped to build up the fortunes of the Exercise. They recognised that the most serious thing that could befall the art of ringing would be the absence of a publication devoted to its interests.

A journal to unite the forces of the Exercise, to encourage and stimulate progress, as well as to perform the common task of circulating information, is absolutely essential to the well-being of the art. This has all along been appreciated by those who give any thought to the subject, and the efforts of 'The Ringing World' in this direction not only were recognised by those who, when the paper came into existence, were becoming gravely concerned as to the future, but by all who have since come into positions of responsibility and leadership in the Exercise.

But 'The Ringing World,' having so long served the Exercise, has, as the president of the Central Council points out in his message, largely come to be 'taken for granted.' Its regular appearance every Friday morning has become so much a matter of course that there are few who stop to think what would happen if 'The Ringing World' failed them. Half the interest in ringing is in knowing what other people are doing, and what progress the art is making in other parts of the country. There would be little known of that without a ringing paper. In conjunction with the work done by the Central Council, it is the ringing Press which has made possible the rapid advance of the art, by the spread of knowledge and the encouragement which it has given to progress. Indeed, it is not too much to say that most of the usefulness of the Council itself is made possible by the publication of a ringers' paper.

'The Ringing World' has not always seen eye to eye with the Council or its committees, and its criticisms in the past have, we believe, led to improvements and to a more active service, but this journal, which is really the mouthpiece of the Exercise, firmly believes in the importance, indeed the necessity, for a Central Council, and has always given its wholehearted support to those decisions which appear to be in the best interests of the art of ringing.

Ringers of the new generation have had their path made so easy for them by the work of those who have gone, or who, remaining, are now in the 'sere and yellow leaf,' that they are likely to overlook all the time and labour which these men have in the past devoted to the task of, if we may use the simile, clearing the jungle. In this work they have been facilitated by the journals which for more than fifty years have been published for the advancement of the art. 'The Ringing World' has taken its full share in this work, and if the labours of individuals, without its aid, had not been in vain, the dissemination of the results of that labour would, at any rate, have been much more limited.

Of the value of 'The Ringing World' in publishing the reports of current events, we need not speak here, except, perhaps, to say this: Different people have different ideas of news values, and when space is strictly limited and there is room for 'so much and no more,' there is bound to be sometimes a little heart-burning in those who are disappointed. It is hardly necessary, perhaps, to repeat what we have often said, that no one re-

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' PROGRESS. HOW METHOD RINGING HAS DEVELOPED.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

One of the most notable things about change ringing is that, though it has been practised for centuries, and though it never had any fixed rules, nor, until the time of the Central Council, any authority which could make rules, yet it has been at all times and in all places essentially the same thing.

The 'sixes' were invented somewhere about 1610, and it was sixty or seventy years before there was a sufficient number of bells in a tower and before there was enough improvement in the hanging of these bells for them to be rung in the modern fashion. But as soon as method ringing became really possible, which was, roughly speaking, at the beginning of the eighteenth century, all the essentials of the art were fixed, and they have not altered since.

MR. J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

If Benjamin Annable and his band could revisit the scenes of their many exploits they would come back to a London which they would not recognise. Not only would they find miles of streets where in their time were remote country villages surrounded by fields and lanes, but the City itself would be so altered that they would not know it. The streets, the houses, the people—all are changed, but directly they had climbed the winding stairs to St. Bride's belfry, or St. Michael's or St. Martin's, they would once more be on familiar ground, and should a modern band be there they could mix with them and take part in the ringing, just as they used to do two hundred years ago. Stedman Cinques, no doubt, would be strange to them, but they knew Stedman Doubles, and it would be no trouble to them to apply it to the greater number of ropes. As for Grandsire Cinques, Bob Maximus, and Treble Twelve, they could ring them as well as any modern band and better than most.

But though change ringing is thus fixed in its essentials, it is absolutely necessary that it must grow and develop, or else it will die. Growth is necessarily slow, but there must be growth. Things change in the ringing Exercise very slowly, but they do change. Sometimes when we look back over the years that we ourselves have known, we wonder what improvement there has been; whether all the trouble and time and patience that many men have expended has not been wasted; and whether things are any better than they were.

How much better are we than we were twenty-five years ago in the year that saw the birth of 'The Ringing World'? Are we are better off at all? If we go by the number of peals that are rung I should imagine, though I have not checked the figures, that the number is about the same now as in 1911. Peal ringing is not everything, but it is a very good indicator of progress, though a rough one; for the men who ring peals are usually the best service ringers. But though there has not been any remarkable increase in the number of peals or of peal ringers, when we look more closely at what peals were rung we have very considerable grounds for congratulation.

The best bands of to-day are probably no better than the best bands of five-and-twenty years ago, but there has been a very great levelling up. Far more men ring Surprise peals than in 1911, and among the more advanced there is a greater readiness to practise new methods; in fact, it is in method ringing that the greatest development has been made. That is due to the war; for the war, which radically altered practically every man's ideas and thoughts, had this effect on ringing, that men were more ready to welcome new ideas and less inclined to stand in the old paths just because they are the old paths.

We must expect that now and always the greater part of the changes rung on bells will be in the standard methods, Grandsire and Plain Bob, Stedman and Treble Bob; and all these were rung two hundred and fifty years ago; but, fortunately, the number of men is increasing who are not content to stay there.

Some indication of progress is given by the number of peals in Surprise Major methods. When the present century opened peals had been rung in only five methods, which now rank as Surprise—Cambridge, Superlative, London, Gloucester and Norfolk—and in six which were then called Surprise, but are now relegated to other classes—Albion, Liversedge, New Cumberland, Oxford, Westminster, and St. Stephen's. Before 1911 four more Surprise Major methods were rung—Bristol, Yorkshire, Peterborough, and the Rochester variation of Superlative. Two others—Brighton and Guildford—were rung before the war, and since that time peals in no fewer than seventy-four new methods have been accomplished.

That is where the greatest development has taken place, and the next greatest has been in 'spliced' ringing. It began in six-bell ringing, and the six-bell ringers are the ones who have most profited by the development; but spliced ringing on eight bells is now getting a fairly common thing. When Mr. Alfred Pulling called Law James' peal in the four standard Surprise methods most people imagined that it was a performance which was not likely to be excelled for many a long year; but I suppose there must be now nearly a hundred ringers who have rung a peal of Spliced Surprise. For the present the series by the Middlesex Association, which included all numbers of methods from three to twelve, and which was conducted by William Pye, stands by itself; but it is probably only a question of time before another band will be found to beat that record. In method ringing, therefore, we have legitimate cause for congratulation.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' PROGRESS.

Perhaps the best sign of all that the Exercise is alive and progressing is the fact that we are getting an increasing number of the right sort of young men, who are ready to go forward and explore new ground in ringing. We must not expect to find many bands like that at Helmingham, who have rung peals in thirty Surprise methods, but twenty-five years ago such a thing would have been looked on as impossible. Quite as impossible, too, would the wonderful record of twelve-bell peals by the Ipswich band have seemed; and there are other companies who have done almost as notable performances.

On the whole we may be satisfied with the progress change ringing has made during this last quarter of a century. Twenty-five years is not a long time in the history of the Exercise, though it is a long time in the life of an individual ringer. Perhaps I may be allowed to offer to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' congratulations and thanks for his share in development and in keeping the art alive and flourishing. There have been very difficult and critical times during these five-and-twenty years, when the problem of keeping a ringing paper going has been acute. Ringers do not often realise how essential it is to have a regular journal, and they do not support it as they should. They would quickly find out its value if they were to lose it.

A RETROSPECT.

grets more than we do that some of the lesser important items have to be sacrificed to the exigencies of space, but readers can rest assured that, whatever the reasons, everything is carefully weighed, and the discrimination used is always on the side of the greatest interest to the greatest number.

And that leads us to the one solution of the difficulty concerning limited space. It is all wrapped up in circulation. If ringers would give the paper adequate support, the provision of a journal increased in size, either frequently or permanently, would be a financial possibility, and so also would be a reduction in price. Is it too much to ask ringers themselves—as a silver jubilee contribution to 'The Ringing World'—to make an effort to this desirable end in their own interests?

This article, however, is more concerned with the past than with the future. Let us conclude, therefore, by saying that twenty-five years as Editor of 'The Ringing World,' while not being without its anxieties, has been a period which has provided us with a great deal of pleasure. Its greatest recompense has been the host of friends which we have made from end to end of the country and overseas. Such friendships are beyond price.

APPLETON CELEBRATES MARCH THE 4th

BERKSHIRE VILLAGE FESTIVITIES.

Well over one hundred years ago, in a quiet little Berkshire village, a wicked squire purloined certain lands (authenticated by records) belonging to the poorer inhabitants. 'Landgrabbing' it was called in those days, and the quiet little Berkshire village was not the only one in England which suffered from the depredations of the squires of bygone days. The Berkshire villagers, however, raised their voices loud in protestation, but their protestations did not result in the return of their lost land. The squire, however, could not be convinced that he had no right to the lands he had seized; but to assuage the anger of the inhabitants, and possibly to bring consolation to his own soul for his own misdeeds, he entertained the villagers to a gigantic feast on the village green and placed in the tower of the Parish Church a peal of six bells.

Everybody may not know the origin of the peal of bells at Appleton, the little Berkshire village referred to. Should anyone feel that the story now told does not ring true, let them ask George Holifield, an Appleton veteran ringer, and if he cannot bring conviction to the doubting, then no printed record will ever convince.

Further conviction, however, should not be necessary, for on Saturday Appleton celebrated the 118th anniversary of that gigantic feast on the village green (which took place on March 4th, 1818) and the placing of the bells in the tower. Another remarkable fact in connection with this particular anniversary is that George Holifield has attended more than half of the number, for he has never missed in joining in the celebrations for 64 years. Surely a remarkable record, and one hopes that many more such occasions may be added to his already long list.

It was a busy day in Appleton on Saturday. From an early hour that famous peal of bells, augmented first to eight and now to ten, and which have contributed largely to the campanological records of this country, were ringing merrily, and it was in the early hours of the afternoon when the bells ran into rounds and a successful peal of Stedman Caters had been accomplished by a mixed band of villagers and visitors from London. Then came the turn of visitors from many other parts of the country, and representatives from Oxford, High Wycombe, Swindon, Newbury, East Hagbourne, Bucklebury, Reading, Wokingham and many other places indulged in methods from Minor to Caters. Among those who foregathered to help the valiant villagers were the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), Mr. R. T. Hibbert, the secretary, accompanied by 'Bill,' the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Mr. George Williams (Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Messrs. Clark, J. S. Hawkins, J. Thomas, Wilfred Williams (London), Mrs. A. E. Lock, the Misses Stella Davis, Marie R. Cross, etc.

At The Thatched Tavern (in these days divested of its 'thatch'), the ringers assembled to celebrate the feast. The occasion was a festive one, and although the viands may not have assumed the gigantic proportions of those of 118 years ago, yet they were heartily enjoyed by the fifty folk who partook of them.

The National Anthem was enthusiastically sung following the loyal toast, given by the Rev. C. E. Wigg, and the rest of the day was given over to merrymaking. And what a time was spent; what a feast of talent among those congregated! The famous brothers White were well to the fore as entertainers. There were six of them, Cuthbert, John, Henry, Richard, Fred and Stedman, whose ages range from 73 years to 50. They delighted the assembled gathering by their tune ringing, and also their exhibition of the 'lapping' of a course of Grandsire Caters. What a history lay behind the bells they used. They were part of a peal of 50 cast by the father of the six brothers over 70 years ago, and, what is more, the grandsire of the six brothers rang in the first 720 Bob Minor ever recorded on the bells. Should anyone like to see the record, ask George Holifield for a glimpse of that wonderful book, which is one of his most cherished possessions.

What a pity there are not more places in England which could celebrate the history of their bells in the same way as Appleton does.

DEATH OF MR. E. C. MERRITT.BRIGHTON RINGER WHO HELPED TO MAKE HISTORY.

We much regret having to record the death of Mr. Edward C. Merritt, of Brighton, which took place suddenly on March 4th. On the previous Saturday he had attended the meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association at Heene, and was then apparently in the best of health and looking forward to joining his friends at the next divisional meeting in a fortnight's time.

Always a consistent churchman, with a considerable knowledge of church affairs, he completed some years ago his ambition of visiting every cathedral in England and Wales, the last being St. David's, which he described as being 'fifteen miles from nowhere.'

Mr. Merritt's first ringing of importance took place when he joined the St. Peter's, Brighton, tower in 1888. There he helped to make history with the 'old band,' the pioneers of Surprise ringing in Sussex.

Coming from Bournemouth, Mr. Merritt remained a member of St. Peter's until the end, and the tablets in the tower record his taking part in most of the first peals in the higher methods. Despite his unquestioned superiority as a Surprise ringer, Mr. Merritt was not blind to his duty as a member of the association, serving on the committee at various times, and was never happier than when giving a helping hand to a beginner.

Of late years he had done very little peal ringing, one of the last, if not the very last, which he rang being in 1933, when, after a long absence from peals, to gratify the earnest desire of an old friend, he took part in the peal of Stedman Caters at Southover, Lewes, to celebrate the 40th anniversary of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith's first peal, in which he had also taken part.

The first part of the funeral service took place at his favourite Church of St. Bartholomew, Brighton, from whence he was borne to the Brighton Cemetery for cremation. Besides Messrs. J. T. Rickman (a former Master of the association) and S. E. Armstrong (assistant hon. general secretary), there were present at the service representatives from the three Brighton towers, St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd, and from Southover, Lewes.

In Mr. Merritt the Exercise has lost a great ringer and a good friend.

A half-muffled peal was rung on Saturday at Southover, where Mr. Merritt had rung many peals.

DEATH OF FORMER LITTLE MUNDEN RINGER.

We regret to record the sudden death of Mr. G. H. Carter, of Little Munden, Herts, at the age of 55 years. He was found dead sitting on his bicycle by the roadside bank on February 23rd, death having been due to hemorrhage of the brain.

The deceased had given up ringing for about six years, but had previously been a ringer at Little Munden for a long period, and was one of the band when change ringing was first started at that place. He had taken part in 36 peals in Little Munden tower, besides many others in other towers. He was a very safe ringer and good striker.

The Carter family have been connected with Little Munden belfry for many years, deceased's father and three brothers all having been ringers there, while one brother, Mr. Sidney Carter, is still a member.

Deceased had been a soldier in the Regular Army and had served in India.

The funeral took place on Saturday, February 29th, at Little Munden Churchyard. The coffin was covered by the Union Jack and a contingent of the British Legion attended and laid wreaths on the grave. After the funeral 360 Oxford Treble Bob was rung with the bells half-muffled by W. Williams 1, A. Woolston 2, S. Head 3, A. Phillips 4, W. H. Lawrence 5, A. Lawrence (conductor) 6.

DEATH OF A NORTH STONEHAM RINGER.

We regret to record the passing of Mr. W. G. Edwards at Bishopstoke on February 25th after a long and painful illness at the age of 47 years.

Mr. Edwards was born at Calverton, Bucks, and was taught to ring on the bells at the Parish Church. There and at the neighbouring tower of Stoney Stratford he did all his early ringing.

In 1910 his work took him to Eastleigh, where he joined the North Stoneham band, and remained attached to that tower until his death, although he had resided for some years at Bishopstoke. He formed one of the Surprise band that was built up at North Stoneham by Mr. G. Williams.

Mr. Edwards did not keep a record of his peals, but they number about 80, ranging from Doubles to London Surprise Major. With one or two exceptions they were rung for the Oxford and Winchester Guilds.

The funeral took place at Bishopstoke on February 29th. Mr. G. Williams (Master) represented the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, and members were present from Bishopstoke, North Stoneham, Southampton and Portsmouth.

Following the lowering of the coffin, a plain course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells over the grave by N. Curtis 1-2, J. Faithful 3-4, G. Williams 5-6, F. Bayley 7-8, D. C. Williams 9-10. The church bells were also rung half-muffled immediately after the service.

During the evening a peal of Grandsire Caters, with the clappers half-muffled, was rung at North Stoneham as a last token of respect.

WORK GOES BRAVELY ON.

Mr. T. H. Reeves, who responded to the toast of 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' proposed by Mr. A. Paddon Smith, first thanked the artistes who had made the musical programme so enjoyable. The work of the Guild goes bravely on, continued Mr. Reeves, and the Guild continues to prosper. He emphasised what Mr. Smith had said with regard to the Tuesday night practices in the Bull Ring. He knew it was not always convenient for ringers to assemble there, but he hoped that all who could would make a point of attending to give their assistance and encouragement to the Ringing Master. Since Mr. Haynes had been Ringing Master they had introduced an innovation by holding bi-quarterly meetings. These meetings had been very enjoyable and enthusiastically attended. Their main object was to encourage the art of change ringing, and they did that both for the younger ringers and with practice in the higher methods. He gave a pressing invitation, especially to young ringers, to attend these meetings. They had some very happy gatherings, and he believed they were doing a lot of good. With regard to the Guild generally, they were a particularly happy band, everything ran smoothly, and, as far as he personally was concerned, he had nothing to complain of in regard to the support the members always gave him. He was very happy to be their secretary, and as long as he could usefully hold the position he would be happy to serve them (applause).

Mr. F. E. Haynes proposed 'The Visitors,' remarking that the Guild was very happy to see so many old and new friends among them. It would be almost invidious to mention individual names when they had visitors from so many distant places. He would, however, like to mention one who was not a visitor, but an old member of St. Martin's Guild, Mr. Tom Miller. He would like to assure him on behalf of the company that they were all very pleased to see him again, sufficiently recovered from his recent serious illness to be able to be with them. Mr. Haynes coupled with the toast the name of Mr. E. P. Duffield, Master of the College Youths. Mr. Duffield occupied an exalted position, and had been mistaken by the chairman for the Lord Mayor of London (laughter). That mistake, of course, was a reasonable one when they saw the handsome badge of office with which his manly breast was adorned (laughter).

Mr. E. P. Duffield said he was very proud to be the first Master of the society to wear that badge of office, which, as they knew, was presented to commemorate the forthcoming tercentenary of the society. He hoped it would be worn at Birmingham on many future occasions (hear, hear). There was an added pleasure, he proceeded, in coming to Birmingham this year in that, instead of having one modern peal of twelve bells upon which to ring, they had two such excellent peals, the best possible examples of modern bellfounding (applause). Continuing, Mr. Duffield said he thought he was speaking what was in the mind of everyone when he said how much they missed the face of one who more, perhaps, than any other they were sorry to miss. Twelve months ago he could not help wondering how many more times they might see that gathering graced by the presence and wonderful personality of their Master. They of the College Youths were proud of the fact that, with two exceptions, Alderman Pritchett was the senior surviving member of the society. He hoped he might still be spared to them, although it might be in a more restricted measure of activity. His great personality had undoubtedly been of immeasurable benefit to St. Martin's Guild over a great number of years (hear, hear), and one of the things which they looked upon as a real privilege was to meet and listen to Alderman Pritchett (applause). Mr. Duffield went on to mention the William Pyc memorial. Judged by his performances William Pyc was, he said, without equal in the realms of ringing at any time, and he ventured to say that it would be a long time before they saw his equal. Of all the memorials that had been erected to the great figures of the Exercise, none, he thought, would commend itself more readily to them than the memorial to William Pyc. The committee felt it would be nice to have the memorial completed before the assembly of the Central Council in London at Whitsun, and it would, therefore, be appreciated that the committee were anxious to get the subscriptions in as soon as possible. Mr. Duffield concluded by thanking St. Martin's Guild for the hospitality extended to the visitors.

Mr. G. E. Fearn proposed 'The Ringing World,' and enumerated the many benefits which ringing and ringers obtained from the publication of the paper. He referred to the fact that the silver jubilee of the paper would shortly occur, and said the best way in which that long service to the Exercise could be celebrated would be by every ringer becoming a regular subscriber and by encouraging new supporters. He was sure that the increased circulation which would thus be provided would be reflected by the provision of an even more useful paper for the Exercise.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith responded.

The remaining toast was that to 'The Chairman,' proposed by Mr. F. W. Stevens and acknowledged by Canon Guy Rogers.

A lengthy musical programme was greatly enjoyed. Glees were sung by the Lyric Male Quartette, songs by Mrs. G. T. Matkin, Mr. W. O. Dowding, Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. A. Dealey, while members of St. Martin's Guild rang a short touch of Kent Treble Bob Maximus. The evening was one of the most successful in the long series, and in no small measure due to the organising energy and ability of the hon. secretary, Mr. Reeves.

WILLIAM PYE MEMORIAL.TENDER FOR BELLS ACCEPTED.

As is generally known, the proposed memorial to the late William Pye is to take the form of two bells added to the existing six at St. John the Baptist's Church, Leytonstone, and a suitable tablet to be placed in the church porch, close to the belfry door. The committee recently considered estimates for the bells, submitted by the three leading bellfounders, and accepted that of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

Steps are being taken to obtain the necessary faculty, and it is confidently hoped that the opening of the memorial bells will take place on Saturday, May 30th, which day will give many ringers visiting London for the Central Council meeting an opportunity to be present.

In the meantime, to enable the memorial to be opened free from debt, approximately £45 is required. The committee urgently request all associations holding annual meetings during the next few weeks to contribute generously to this worthy object, and individual ringers, especially those who had the privilege of ringing with the late William Pye, and who have not yet subscribed, are asked to do so.

The sixth list of donations is appended. These amounts are gratefully acknowledged by the undersigned, to either of whom further donations should be sent.

NORTH HERTS' SUCCESSFUL MEETING.A SCHEME FOR COMBINED PRACTICES.

On Saturday, February 29th, a very successful meeting of the Northern District of the Herts County Association was held at Royston. The attendance was higher than usual for this tower. The bells were raised at 3 p.m. and kept going until 5 p.m., when the Vicar (the Rev. F. F. Graig) conducted a short service, and in his address offered a very warm welcome to the ringers. The company adjourned to the Church Room, where they were the guests of the Vicar to an excellent tea.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar was elected to the chair.

The secretary put forward a scheme which he hoped would meet with members' approval to arrange combined practices at various towers in the district. The object, he said, was to encourage and assist towers where young or 'stagnant' bands exist. He proposed selecting some six towers, and (subject to the consent of the various clergy and ringers) arrange the practice on their respective practice nights. It was a thing which, if well supported, would benefit all concerned. The idea was met with unanimous approval, and arrangements will be published in 'The Ringing World.'

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.EXTENSION OF SHIELD CONTEST.

The annual meeting was held at Sandal on February 15th, when the towers represented were Ackworth, Adwick-le-Street, Barnsley, Dewsbury, Earlsheaton, Felkirk, Rothwell, Sheffield, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Wath and the local company. The bells were kept going during the afternoon, and at the service a short address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Walls). Tea was served in the Parochial Hall, a good company being present. The Rev. Canon Hone, Rector of Barnsley, presided at the business meeting, at which a vote of condolence was passed with the relatives of Mr. George Pickles, of Horbury, who was a ringer for 45 years, and was buried there on that day. The motion was carried by the company standing in silence. The auditor's report showed an increase of 15s. 6d. on the year's working, and the balance sheet proved satisfactory to all.

All the officers were re-elected.

Messrs. R. H. Dove and T. W. Strangeways were elected members of the association, and South Kirby was chosen for next place of meeting.

A discussion arose re the extension of the radius for the Shield Contest, and it was finally agreed that it be open to all who are members of the association one calendar month before the contest.

After the usual vote of thanks, further ringing took place both on handbells and in the tower in various methods.

THE LADIES' GUILD.CENTRAL DISTRICT AT EDMONTON.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held at All Saints', Edmonton, on Saturday, February 22nd, and was very well attended. Methods were rung to suit the needs of all.

A very short service was held, at which the Vicar officiated, following which the company sat down to an enjoyable tea.

The meeting was even shorter than the service. Mrs. Deal presided, and it was proposed by Mrs. Fletcher that the next meeting should be held at Lambeth. The date was left in abeyance to suit the Vicar.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. Fletcher for making all the necessary arrangements for such a successful meeting.

The members adjourned to the tower to join the menfolk in further ringing.

TWO QUESTIONS FOR KENT.

The question of appointing District Ringing Masters in the Kent County Association seems to have given rise to a considerable division of opinion in the county, and there promises to be lively debate at the forthcoming annual meeting both on this and on the other proposal not to admit to unattached membership a ringer living in a parish or neighbourhood where there is a band he may join. As far as Kent is concerned these are both matters of domestic policy, which the members themselves must settle, and despite all that has been said there is no reason why such questions should not be settled with perfect good feeling. But there are points in both which will interest other similar ringing organisations.

In many other associations and guilds District Ringing Masters have been appointed with excellent results. Where there is no such official, the ringing at meetings is often badly organised, and the old adage that 'what is anybody's business is nobody's business' comes into play. Where the ringing is in the hands of a properly responsible official, whose duty it is to see that all capabilities are met and ambitions satisfied, ringers are usually properly catered for. Of course, not every Ringing Master is always successful, but without such an official in charge there is obviously less chance of this end being served. Whether the proposal before the Kent Association to make a proviso that the Ringing Master shall function only when no responsible member of the tower is present is wise, is another matter. It appears to be the crux of the situation as far as the association is concerned, and it is an issue of importance which the members must carefully consider. The point, as it strikes us, is, will competent men be found to act purely as a makeshift? Would a self-respecting ringer accept office knowing that he would have no authority, if he attended a meeting and found a local ringer in the tower? Usually an office holder makes it a point of honour to be present to discharge his duties, but would a Ringing Master, who did not know until he reached the meeting whether or not he would be entitled to function, be prepared to make a sacrifice to be present every time?

The other matter is one which is equally of interest to others besides members of the Kent Association. It seeks to drive into affiliated companies any ringer who may be residing in the neighbourhood, if he would retain his membership. We presume the words 'which he may join' are intended as a safeguard in case a ringer might not be acceptable to the nearest company. But even if that contingency is provided for it seems to us to create a rather dangerous situation. While it is recognised that every ringer should be definitely attached to a tower, circumstances can quite conceivably exist which, in the individual's opinion, make it desirable that he should remain independent of his local band. For instance, unless a man can be regular in his attendance for service ringing and practice he may feel that he could not in fairness to others attach himself to a band, although he is prepared to give his services when they are available. But because for that or other reasons, he prefers to remain unattached to a particular tower, it seems to us that the association is hardly serving its own best ends by denying him membership. Even the proviso referred to, if proviso it be, is one-sided. No company, we imagine, would admit the right of an association to compel them to accept into their band a ringer whom they preferred not to have. For that reason the proviso is necessary. But if that is admitted, it cannot be fair to put coercion on a member to join a company he prefers to keep out of. The proposal before the Kent Association may have been drafted with the best of motives, but it seems to us of very dubious value. It might weaken rather than strengthen the organisation.

FOR BEGINNERS.

CALLING FROM A NON-OBSERVATION BELL.

From previous articles, readers will have been able to gather that it is possible for conductors to vary a composition to suit their own convenience. It is just as well, however, that young conductors should as soon as possible learn to call original compositions from a non-observation bell.

It is difficult to lay down any hard and fast rules for this; different ringers have different ways of doing it. Some are competent enough to know where all the bells should be at any time, others where they should be at the next bob—they do it by transposition—and they can work out as they go along what they themselves will be doing in relation to the observation bell.

Others can do it merely from an excellent 'ropesight,' which enables them to see where their observation bell is without making transpositions. But in the earlier stages those who wish to call from non-observation bells have to learn some of the effects of the bob-making process.

Let us look for a bit at Plain Bob. There are certain things which act as a definite guide. For instance, it is a frequent thing to have bobs the full length of a course apart, such as a series of three Home calls. If at the first of these calls you dodge either in 5.6 (up) or 6.5 (down), then you will be in the corresponding place at each of the next two calls, because in either of these places is the bell unaffected by the bobs.

The three 'bob-making' bells, also, are not difficult to follow. The positions 'In,' when the bell runs in to take the treble off lead: 'Out,' when the bell runs straight out from leading and 'make the bob' when the bell makes 4th's place follow a cycle. Let us for brevity indicate them as I. O. 4 respectively. If a bell is I at the first bob, it will be at O and 4 at the two succeeding bobs, provided, of course, the bobs are a full course apart with no other calls between. If a bell is at O at the first bob, it will be at 4 and I at the succeeding bobs; and if it is called 4 at the first it will be at I and O at the succeeding bobs. This applies whether the calls are three 'Homes,' three 'Wrongs' or three 'Middles.'

If a Wrong follows a Home, the call, in Bob Major, is at the next lead; and so is a bob at Home following a Middle. There are plain methods with Bob Major bobs in which the lead ends do not follow in the same order, but there is always this similarity between them. Whether the W follows the H, or the H follows the M, either at the next lead or after more than one lead, the same bell that runs Out at the first call, will also run Out at the next, so you will know when to call the bob by the fact that the treble is to take this bell off at lead.

The transpositions in other cases you can work out for yourselves and make your own table. For instance, the bell that will run Out at the Home after a call Wrong is the one that made the bob at the Wrong. If the call after the Wrong is a Middle, then the bell that made the bob at W will also make the Bob at M. If you investigate these things for yourself, you are more likely to remember them than if you just read them in this article.

If you have any pretension to be a conductor, you must, of course, be able to follow the coursing order of the bells, and one of the most helpful guides to calling is to be able to discern when a bob is approaching, by the relationship of other bells to the treble.

A bob Middle changes the 6th's place bell; a bob Wrong changes the 5th's place bell. The 6th's place bell is the bell coursing in front of the tenor. If you call a bob Middle, that bell, which at that place is coursing down after the treble, will be called In. If you are not quite sure when the Middle is coming, therefore, watch for your 6th's place bell to make 2nd's, and hunt up after the treble; the next lead is the place at which to call the bob.

When you call a bob Wrong, your new 5th's place bell will run Out. The time to call the bob is when this bell leads in front of the treble. If you want a bob Before, you watch for the tenor to hunt down in front of the treble. That is the lead at which to make the call, because the tenor will then run out. There are many other points which you can pick out for yourself if you look for them, and, carefully stored up in your memory, they subconsciously come into operation when you are ringing.

Do not forget that you can learn a tremendous lot about conducting by the use of pencil and paper, and to get used to calling touches and peals from non-observation bells you need to study and practise. But there is this consolation, a great deal that you learn to-day in plain methods like Bob Major will apply equally when you come to more complicated things like the Surprise methods. For instance, much of what we have said about Bob Major could be said also of Superlative or Cambridge or London. So that in studying Bob Major you are laying a foundation for many other things.

WELSH RINGERS HONOUR ST. DAVID'S DAY.

In honour of St. David's Day, a Welsh-speaking band rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles at St. John's Church, Mornston, on Sunday, March 1st: H. Charles 1, G. N. Williams 2, J. T. Williams (conductor) 3, L. Pelzer 4, G. Lewis 5, D. G. Williams 6. The quarter-peal was also rung as a farewell to Mr. W. C. C. Williams, also a ringer, who was to be ordained in Brecon Cathedral on March 7th for service in the parish of Clydach.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.ANNUAL MEETING AT SHREWSBURY.

The Shropshire Association held its annual general meeting in Shrewsbury.

The bells of St. Chad's Church were in use shortly after 3 p.m., and despite the weather a large company assembled.

A short service was conducted in St. Aidan's Chapel, after which tea was taken in the St. Chad's Parish Room, there being 45 members present.

At the business meeting an apology was received from the Ringing Master, Major Trevor Corbett, who is abroad, and Canon G. M. Bell was elected to the chair.

A vote of condolence to Mrs. Barnett was moved by the Rev. E. C. Pigot, and a moment's silence was observed as a mark of sympathy for the death of Mr. E. Barnett, late conductor at Wem.

The meeting was unanimously in favour of all officers being re-elected, the opinion being expressed that a very satisfactory year's progress had been made.

The balance sheet, presented by the treasurer, the Rev. E. C. Pigot, showed that without allowance for Central Council tea expenses and the Pye Memorial, expenditure and income were approximately equal, the substantial balance of nearly £30 being in hand.

It was decided to continue the practice of paying half tea expenses.

A lengthy discussion on meeting places resulted in a vote being taken, the following towers being selected: Condover, Whitchurch, Market Drayton, Moreton Corbet and Malins Lee.

A number of new members were elected as well as one confirmation of election before a peal.

The secretary (Mr. R. R. Pole) proposed the election of Mr. J. Griffiths as instructor, with authority in arranging touches at meetings.—This was carried.

Mr. W. A. Farmer (Shrewsbury) spoke of the excellent results produced by the committee elected to arrange the reception for the Central Council, and proposed the election of a committee to deal with matters left from the annual meeting, Messrs. W. Saunders, A. Pritchard, J. Griffiths and W. A. Farmer being appointed, together with the secretary and treasurer.

The business meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman, Canon Bell, after which a return was made to the tower.

The standard of ringing during the day was very good, Cambridge, Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Kent and Plain Bob Royal being rung, as well as a course of Grandsire Cinques. Many ringers enjoyed their first ring on twelve bells.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.WESTERN BRANCH AT DODDERHILL.

A successful meeting of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association was held at Dodderhill, adjoining Droitwich, on Saturday, March 14th, and was attended by about fifty members. Welcome visitors came from Hinton, Stourbridge, Bromsgrove, Oldbury and King's Norton, among whom were Mr. J. D. Johnson (general hon. secretary) and Mr. C. W. Cooper (librarian). The bells were set going at 3 p.m. to Grandsire, Oxford Bob and Stedman Triples, Mr. C. Camm (Ringing Master) seeing that everyone had a pull.

At the service which followed, the Rev. A. G. Pettigrew delivered an interesting address, and remarked upon the importance of ringers in the life of the Church. After tea, which was generously provided by the Vicar, came the business meeting, and the first important item was the announcement of the intended resignation of Mr. R. G. Knowles as Central Council representative for the branch.

Mr. Knowles has been a member of the Council for nine years, and only came to his decision to resign after careful consideration. He was asked to reconsider his decision, but said he was unable to do so, one reason being that he felt he could not undertake the long journeys the coming three years would entail, and the absence from home.

The meeting then regretfully accepted his resignation and thanked him for the able manner he had carried out his duties. Mr. G. Hinton proposed that Mr. S. T. Holt be nominated as successor to Mr. Knowles, whereupon Mr. Holt proposed the new branch secretary (Mr. G. E. Large), who, however, declined the office. Mr. Holt was, therefore, nominated.

Mr. W. H. Raxter was chosen to conduct the quarterly peal at Dodderhill, with as many of the local band in it as was possible. It was proposed that Welland be the place for the next meeting, with Hanbury as the alternative.

The meeting unanimously agreed to send Mr. J. S. Goldsmith heartiest congratulations upon the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World' and sincere wishes for its long and continued existence in his hands.

The Vicar gave a very appropriate speech, in which he said the paper deserved better of the Exercise than at present, and made the suggestion that if individual ringers could not take it, perhaps every tower in the branch would take a copy, which would be better than at present, and might lead to more individuals taking it when they realised its worth. He himself would certainly become a subscriber.

After the vote of thanks to the chairman, members again made use of the bells until 6.30 p.m. Touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and a course each of Cambridge and London Surprise was rung. It is very gratifying to the secretary that this, his first meeting in that capacity, should have been such a success.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A peal at Glossop, recorded this week, was rung in honour of what is rare in church work. Three of the band were celebrating the completion by each of them of 50 years' continuous service as ringers at St. James' Church, Whitfield. Their names deserve to be printed in capitals: JOSEPH MARSDEN; THOMAS JACKSON; ELI GARSIDE. It is a magnificent record!

Mr. Philip Hardy, who has been a ringer for 52 years, has just completed 50 years as captain of the ringers at Thruxington, Leicestershire. Mr. Hardy, who is a retired schoolmaster, is 76 years of age.

Mr. John Castle, of Bedworth, at the age of 61 years has just rung his first peal. He took the treble to 5,040 Grandsire Doubles at Bulkington, Warwickshire. After the peal, which was specially arranged for Mr. Castle, the ringers were hospitably entertained by Mrs. J. L. Hinde. The ringers of 1 and 2 were from Bedworth, 3 and 6 from Bulkington, 4 from Nuneaton and 5 from Chilvers Coton.

Cranleigh has truly the 'drawing room' of the belfries of the Guildford Diocese. The large carpet which adorned the centre of the ringing chamber was greatly admired by more than one lady member at the meeting on Saturday.

These new improvements were noted by the visitors, who were accustomed to the somewhat uneven floor that used to be very much in evidence.

Congratulations to Mr. R. Whittington on these improvements. He was a genial host to the visitors on Saturday. A trenchant critic, perhaps, when away from home, but a helpful counsellor in his own tower.

The 'East Anglian Magazine' for March, an artistic production sold at 1s., contains an interesting article by M. C. G. Hooton on 'Bells and Belling in East Anglia,' with a number of appropriate illustrations, including the inscription on the tenor bell at St. Bene't's Church, Cambridge, and the famous tenor at Lavenham, cast in 1625.

'Master' Maurice Hibbert can, we think, justify the claim made on his behalf to be the 'youngest' ringer to ring a peal of Spliced Surprise. He rang a peal in four methods on February 29th on the occasion of his eleventh birthday! The only snag to the record is that he was born in 1883.

The ring of five bells at Exning, near Newmarket, is being rehung with new fittings in new frame by John Taylor and Co. The work is being carried out under the direction of Mr. Weir, architect to the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, who is also restoring the tower.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Portsea, are to be broadcast on the National wavelength on Sunday at 7.55 p.m.

A number of reports and letters to the Editor are unavoidably held over.

AN APPEAL FOR UNITY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Revised rules, a copy of which has been sent to all bands in union with the Kent County Association, are to be discussed and approved, or disapproved, at the annual meeting on Easter Monday.

Judging by the tone of recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World' and discussions in some districts, I am inclined to think we are 'in for a lively time at that meeting,' and I sympathise already with the chairman, whoever he may be, and also with our worthy general secretary.

Personally, I think a large majority of our members are taking very little interest in this matter of rules, and would prefer not to listen to all this argument and personal feeling which I fear exists amongst members in more districts than one. This is very regrettable and ought not to be.

I sincerely trust that when we meet at Westerham on Easter Monday all those who intend to speak will do so in the right spirit and cut out all personal feeling. In this season of Lent let us sink all our differences one with the other privately, and then on Easter Monday go to the meeting in full force, prepared to shake hands and enjoy the meeting, and ringing at all the various towers open to us.

If this feeling were strengthened amongst us, I venture to say there would be little need to revise some of our existing rules, as many of the now unattached members would join a band in union, as they should do.

Incidentally, I think, if Rule 4a ends at 'Fund,' we shall soon have a large list of unattached members. Again I say, regrettable also, if the right spirit prevailed at all these ringing meetings, there would be little need of a Ringing Master, which is another sore point. Finally, I again plead for more unity and brotherly feeling in our dear old K.C.A.C.R.

'NAME' PEALS OF CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the footnote to the 'William' peal rung at St. Mary's, Ealing, on Saturday, February 22nd, 1936, and published in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' may I state that a 'Thomas' band rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, on Saturday, December 15th, 1934, composed by T. B. Worsley, conducted by T. Groombridge, jun.

THOMAS J. LOCK.

OUR SILVER JUBILEE. CONGRATULATIONS TO 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor desires heartily to thank the many correspondents who have sent their congratulations to 'The Ringing World' and personally to him, upon the Silver Jubilee of the paper. These messages have been further proof of the appreciation which ringers have of the work which is done in the interests of the art.

At the meeting of the Worcestershire Association at Dodderhill and of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Cranleigh on Saturday resolutions of congratulation were passed, and at Burnham, Bucks, and at Guildford, Surrey, complimentary peals were rung.

It is impossible to quote the many congratulatory messages that have been received, but here are a few typical examples of the kindly nature of the letters that have reached us:—

'On behalf of our local ringers and myself I should like to offer you the heartiest of congratulations upon "The Ringing World's" silver jubilee. What you have done for the Exercise in maintaining the paper during these many and difficult years is appreciated more than, perhaps, you can ever know. We should like you to have, also, this expression of our gratitude for a very noble work. May the day be far distant when you will cease to guide the helm and inspire—as you have been doing—the minds of ringers all over the world! With the very best of wishes for future prosperity. C. CAREW COX.'

The Vicarage, Lyme Regis.

'It is a wonderful achievement to have kept the paper going all this time. As I have said before, what should we do without it? I do not think I have missed one number in all the 25 years. Ringers ought to support it in greater numbers. I hope they will more and more realise its value and increase their support. W. H. LAWRENCE.'

W. H. LAWRENCE.'

Little Munden, Herts.

'Congratulations on the 25 years' circulation of your valuable "Ringing World." May it for ever continue. I have its first issue.

'Congratulations on your silver jubilee, and may you be spared long to continue with the activities of "The Ringing World." As one who has taken the journal for about 20 years, it has always been the greatest pleasure to me to read its contents.'

DEATH OF MR. J. PREWETT. FORMER HERTS ASSOCIATION AUDITOR.

The death has occurred at Bushey, Herts, at the advanced age of 93 years, of Mr. Jacob Prewett, father of the late Mr. Bertram Prewett, who, before he was killed in France in 1918, had established himself as one of the most prominent and able ringers in the country.

Mr. Jacob Prewett was one of a family of 15 and was born at Aldebury, Wilts. He went to London when he was thirty, but all his life retained his love of the country and was never happier than when in his garden. He went to live in Bushey in 1879, and was a sidesman at St. Paul's Church for 25 years.

Although not a ringer, he was greatly interested in ringing, and for many years was hon. auditor of the Herts Association. Deceased, who is survived by a daughter, was buried on Tuesday week in the grave where his wife was interred, the Rev. J. R. Parkyn officiating at the service.

THE NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION. AN APOLOGY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should esteem it a favour if you will cause to be published in your next issue the following:—

I very much regret having made reference to Mr. W. P. Deane in such a manner as in my letter published in your issue dated December 20th, 1935, relating to the annual meeting of the North Staffs and District Association at Stoke on December 7th, and I wish to extend to him an apology for having done so.

J. F. WHEELDON,
Ringing Master, North Staffs Association.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at St. Mark's, Swindon, on Saturday, March 14th, with a fairly good attendance of members and visitors. Some very good practice was obtained, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire Triples to Double Norwich and Cambridge Major. The places for the next three meetings were fixed as follows: Brinkworth, Purton and Bishopstone, of which due notice will appear.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

MEETING OF THE SOUTHERN DIVISION AT BARCOMBE.

On Saturday, the annual meeting of the Southern Division was held at Barcombe. The tower was open from 2.30 to 8.30, and the 40 ringers present kept the bells well employed in methods ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

The Rector (the Rev. F. W. Farrar) conducted the service, and preached an unusual sermon, which was greatly appreciated for its eloquence and sincerity.

After service the ringers were entertained to tea at the Rectory, where the business meeting took place. The secretary (Mr. S. E. Armstrong) was re-elected for a further year, as were the committee and the Committee of Advice.

Mention was made of the great loss the division had suffered in the passing on of two of its oldest members, Mr. G. Bleach, of St. Nicholas', Brighton, and Mr. E. C. Merritt, of St. Peter's, Brighton. The members stood as a mark of respect, and the secretary was asked to send a letter of condolence to Mrs. Merritt.

Twelve towers were represented at the meeting, and it was particularly gratifying to have present the Master (Mr. H. R. Butcher), the hon. general secretary (Mr. A. D. Stone) and the secretary of the Eastern Division, who was accompanied by the hon. treasurer.

DIVISIONAL SECRETARY RETIRES.

Mr. A. W. Groves' Twenty-One Years' Service.

After serving the Western Division of the Sussex County Association faithfully and well for 21 years, Mr. Alfred W. Groves has retired from the office of hon. secretary. He relinquished his duties at the annual meeting of the division, held at his own tower at Heene, and received the warm thanks of the association, expressed through the Master, Mr. H. R. Butcher.

Ringing, which commenced at 3 o'clock, was followed by a short service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. A. Haviland). Thirty members, including Mr. H. R. Butcher, Master of the Association, were present at tea in the Church Room, representing the following towers: Arundel, Billingshurst, Brighton, Chichester, Goring, Heene, Lyminster, Shoreham and Warnham.

At the business meeting the Rector presided, supported by the Master and Mr. S. E. Armstrong (assistant general secretary).

Twelve new members were elected, viz., Messrs. Leslie Smith, Leslie Green, Hilton Ungless, Waldegrange Ungless, Stanley Cheesman, Frank Bentick, Frank Alfrey, Anthony Cowd, Jeffrey Cowd, Raymond Read, Mervyn Attwater and Clifford Wareham.

The following officers were elected: Mr. F. Meetens, district secretary; Messrs. T. Adams, G. Norris and J. Farmer, on the Association Committee; Messrs. E. Lindup, E. Greenfield and R. Wood, jun., as Advisory Committee.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman for presiding, for providing the tea and for his excellent address.—The Rector suitably responded and gave the members a welcome to Heene.

The vote of thanks, proposed on behalf of the association by the Master, seconded by Mr. Walter Charman, to the retiring secretary, was received with acclamation.

Mr. Groves, replying, thanked Mr. Butcher and Mr. Charman for their kind words, also the members who had so readily supported him during his 21 years of office. The members then returned to the belfry for further practice.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

LARGE GATHERING AT RANMOOR.

The annual meeting of the Sheffield and District Society was held at St. John's Church, Ranmoor, Sheffield, on Saturday, March 7th. It was attended by 75 members and friends.

The nice light peal of ten bells was available quite early, and touches in various methods were rung during the afternoon, to suit all who cared to have a pull, Mr. George Lewis, Ringing Master, carrying out his duties in a most admirable manner despite the large number desirous of having a ring.

The Rev. G. K. Dixon (curate) conducted the service at short notice owing to the Vicar (the Rev. H. C. Foster) having been taken ill. The Rev. G. K. Dixon's address was eloquently given and appreciated by all who were fortunate to be present.

Tea, provided in the Church Hall, was followed by a course of Grandsire Caters. The president (Mr. C. Haynes) occupied the chair at the business meeting, at which the adoption of the balance sheet was moved by Mr. W. Wooler and accepted.

The hon. secretary (Mr. M. E. Wilson) gave his report on the past year's activities. Eleven peals had been rung, subscriptions were well paid up to date, and attendances at meetings were excellent. Twenty new members, including hon. members, had been elected.

Mr. Norman Chaddock was elected Ringing Master, Mr. George Lewis resigning, owing to business reasons. The remaining officers were re-elected en bloc.

It was decided to hold the ringing competition for the society's silver cup at Clowne on Saturday, July 25th.

Mr. Potter (Barnsley) tendered a hearty vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting a most enjoyable gathering.—Mr. William Bilson (Ranmoor company) suitably replied.

Several visitors were present in the tower after the meeting from outside the district, having taken advantage of the popular evening trips. The bells were kept going until 9.15 p.m.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Wisbech Branch was held at Denver on Saturday, March 14th, when, in spite of a cold day, ten towers were represented. The bells, a musical little ring of six, were kept going throughout the afternoon and evening, in methods ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise.

The Guild's service was conducted by the Rector, whose address took the form of a chat, as he said, 'from man to man,' during the course of which he referred to the great loss to the association by the death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, who was a familiar figure at the meetings of this branch.

At the business meeting the Rector of Denver occupied the chair. Four new members were elected, and various matters connected with the annual general meeting were discussed.

The bells were lowered in peal at 9 p.m.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the North Rucks Branch (Newport Pagnell Deanery) of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Sherington on Saturday must have been encouraging to the Rev. J. F. Amies, organising secretary, who is keen on fostering the art in outlying towers of this district. Ringers were present from Olney, Stoke Goldington, Weston Underwood, Clifton Reynes, Milton Keynes, Chicheley, Newport Pagnell, Sherington, Harrold and Turvey (Beds), Cosgrove (Northants) and Coventry (Warwickshire).

A short service at 4 p.m. was followed by tea, after which the Rev. J. F. Amies said the Editor of 'The Ringing World' had sent copies of the paper to be distributed, and appealed for more support. His appeal was backed up by members who had taken the paper since the first issue.

Ringing was kept up on the five bells until 8.30 p.m. Several ringers rang their first 120 in the following methods: Grandsire, Plain Bob, St. Simon's, New Grandsire, Stedman and April Day.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and his presence at tea.

THE BELLS OF TONG, SALOP.

FIRST PEAL ON AN ANCIENT RING.

On Saturday, March 7th, six members of the Shropshire Association visited the very ancient and historic church at Tong, and were successful in ringing the first peal on the bells.

Tong is a difficult place to ring at, as the bells are rung from the ground floor in the centre of the church, there is a long draught of rope and no guides. The tower contains six bells, the founders' names and dates as follow: Treble, Abraham Rudhall, 1719; 2nd, William Clibury, 1636; 3rd, Robert Newcombe, 1593; 4th, Henry Oldfield, 1605; 5th, William Clibury, 1623; tenor, Thomas Mears, 1810. There is also a large bell known as 'The Great Bell of Tong.' Its diameter is 5ft. 2½in. and it weighs close on 50 cwt. It was first cast in 1518, recast in 1720 and again in 1892. It is only rung on special occasions. The small 'sanctus' bell (diameter 14in.) has no inscription, but is believed to be by Newcombe, of Leicester, about 1600.

The ringers on their visit were met by Mr. G. H. Boden (verger), who will be 80 next July. He has been a chorister for 72 years and a ringer for 64. He afterwards congratulated the band on their excellent striking throughout the whole peal.

STAFFORD RINGER'S DIAMOND WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Zadok Baker, of Stafford, celebrated their diamond wedding on February 24th. Mr. Baker has been a ringer at St. Mary's Church since 1908, and in honour of the event a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,385 changes) was rung by H. Chesters 1, F. R. Wiggin 2, H. E. Evans 3, R. J. Warrilow 4, F. T. Hayle 5, G. Booth 6, A. E. Garbett 7, F. Ryell 8, J. Farrilow (conductor) 9, E. Vaughan 10. Before going to Stafford Mr. Baker was a ringer at Over, Cheshire. He still takes an interest in ringing, and when able to be present he takes his place for a touch. In conveying their congratulations, the ringers of St. Mary's made a presentation to Mr. Baker in the form of cash, as a token of their esteem and appreciation of his many years of service. Both Mr. and Mrs. Baker continue to enjoy good health.

WEDDING OF A WOODBRIDGE RINGER.

A very pretty wedding was solemnised at St. Mary's Church, Woodbridge, on Saturday, February 29th, between Miss E. Woods, second daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. Woods, of Seckford Street, Woodbridge, and Mr. W. J. Woodruffe, of St. John's Street, Woodbridge. The Rector (the Rev. R. B. Dand) officiated at the choral service, Mr. F. W. Trotman, one of the local ringers, being at the organ.

All the available ringers attended the service, and at the conclusion set the bells going to Grandsire as the bride and bridegroom left the vestry.

A reception was held in the Masonic Hall, before which Mrs. Dand presented the bridegroom with a Westminster chiming clock from the clergy, churchwardens, vergers and ringers of St. Mary's.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING AT DUDLEY.

The annual meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at Dudley on Saturday, March 7th, and, in spite of the inclement weather, was well attended. The bells were placed at the disposal of the members and were kept merrily going in various methods prior to the Guild service, which was conducted by the Archdeacon of Dudley (the Ven. Dr. A. P. Shepherd, D.D.). The Rev. E. L. Warren, Vicar of Netherton, gave a very interesting address.

At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the Parish Hall, where a substantial tea was in readiness, provided out of funds collected by the secretary (Mr. Herbert Sheppard) from prominent members of St. Thomas' congregation and others. The following ladies presided at the tables: Mrs. J. McDougal Tait, Mrs. A. H. Cutler, Mrs. John Goodman, sen., Mrs. John Goodman, jun., and Miss Bessie Sheppard, the tea being prepared and served by ringers' wives, daughters and other friends. Upwards of 80 members sat down.

The Archdeacon presided over the business meeting, and was supported by Mr. J. McDougal Tait (Vicar's warden), the Rev. E. L. Warren, Messrs. H. Sheppard (secretary), S. J. Hughes (treasurer) and the Rev. W. H. Waring (curate of the Parish Church).

The balance sheet, which was submitted, showed total receipts of £12 14s. 10d., including the balance from the previous year of £7 18s. 4d. Honorary members' subscriptions amounted to £1 17s. 6d., performing members' £2 19s. The expenses were £3 2s. 11½d., leaving a balance in the treasurer's hands of £9 11s. 10½d., which was considered satisfactory. The Archdeacon of Dudley was re-elected president and was heartily thanked for his services during the past year.—Dr. Shepherd, in returning thanks, gave the members a hearty welcome to Dudley and his parish, and assured them that he would do all he could for the welfare of the Guild.

The following gentlemen were again re-elected: Honorary vice-presidents, the Vicar of Netherton, Dr. P. S. Blaker, Councillor W. Shuttleworth, Messrs. J. W. Naylor, C. E. Lloyd, A. E. Meredith, A. Spittle, A. Winbow, W. E. Barry and J. McDougal Tait.

Mr. Clifford Skidmore was again unanimously elected Ringing Master and Mr. Herbert Sheppard secretary. Mr. S. J. Hughes expressed a wish to resign from the position of hon. treasurer, owing to ill-health and other matters. This decision was received with regret and the best wishes of the Guild were given to Mr. Hughes in appreciation of his valuable services to the Guild during the past twelve years.—Mr. John Goodman, jun., was elected hon. treasurer in succession to Mr. Hughes.

Messrs. G. P. Guest and T. H. Justice were elected auditors, and Mr. F. Colclough was again elected representative to the Central Council. Several new members were added to the roll.

The Vicar of Netherton very kindly invited the members to hold their next meeting at Netherton, which was gratefully accepted.

Mr. S. J. Hughes proposed and Mr. Albert Prestidge, sen., seconded that the best thanks of the Guild be given to the Archdeacon for granting permission to hold the meeting at Dudley, for conducting the service, for the use of the tower and bells, and for presiding at the meeting. Special thanks were also given to the Vicar of Netherton for his address, to the donors of the tea fund, to the ladies for presiding at the tables and those who prepared and served the tea; to the organist, and to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting a happy and successful one.

At the request of the Archdeacon, the secretary thanked all for the votes of thanks and assistance rendered.

DEATH OF AN OLD TODMORDEN RINGER.

VISITED AMERICA WITH HANDBELLS.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mr. John Mitton, of Todmorden, Lancs, which occurred at the Manchester Royal Infirmary on Wednesday, February 12th. The funeral took place at the Unitarian Church on Saturday, February 15th, his birthday, when, had he lived, he would have been 83. He is survived by a daughter and three sons. Mr. Mitton had led an exceedingly active life, and was one of the town's most familiar figures. He started work at the age of eight years and retired on attaining the age of 70.

In local ringing circles he was well known and was the oldest ringer in the district. He had been a steeple ringer at the Unitarian Church for nearly 50 years, but it was as a handbell ringer that he gained most distinction. He was a member of the old Todmorden Handbell Ringers, who, in their prime, performed in the principal halls in England, and in 1889 fulfilled an engagement at the Maritime Exhibition at Boston and gave performances at other principal cities and towns in the United States and Canada.

Mr. Mitton never lost his interest in handbell ringing, and gave selections at parties when called upon. All his life he had been associated with the Unitarian Church and School, and since youth had been a member of the Humility Lodge of Oddfellows, M.U.

The following ringers acted as bearers at the funeral: Messrs. H. Davenport, W. Crabtree, F. Fielden, J. Nash, G. Sutcliffe and H. Sutcliffe. As the funeral was arriving at the church the 'whole pull and stand' was rung. Over the grave a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung by Mr. and Mrs. W. Crabtree, Mr. H. Davenport and Miss Rose Bell, and afterwards mixed bands of local ringers rang touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob with the tower bells fully muffled.

VETERANS STILL ACTIVE.

BIRTHDAYS OF THREE.

This picture which we reproduce to-day has a fresh 'news interest.' It is, as many of our readers will recognise, a photograph of the band of veterans who in October, 1933, rang a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, at the time their combined ages amounted to the record total of 612 years.

Since that time two of them have passed away, Mr. Walter Prime and Mr. Ernest Bishop. The rest are still 'going strong.'

We record in another column a peal to celebrate the 83rd birthday of Mr. William T. Pates, of Cheltenham. Mr. Pates was among the men who, at the latter end of last century, made ringing history.

Last Monday, Mr. F. E. Dawe celebrated his 74th birthday, and on Tuesday Mr. Challis Winney completed his 78th year. We regret very much to say that Mr. Winney was last week admitted to St. Dunstan's Hospital for treatment for trouble in one of his legs. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. James George, another of the veterans' band, and, now 82, third only in seniority of age, has just rung his 1,250th peal. It was Mr. Pates' birthday commemoration peal, to which Mr. George rang the 11th.

Mr. James George, who rang the 9th to a half-muffled peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's for the death of Queen Victoria in

In the late '80's two records were set up at Cheltenham, and in both peals Mr. Pates was the conductor. In 1888 a peal of 13,054 Stedman Caters was rung in 8 hours 16 minutes, and when, on the last day of the same year, this Caters record was beaten at Appleton with a 15,041. Mr. Pates organised a band who rang in April, 1889, a 15,227 Graudsire Caters at Cheltenham in 9 hours 43 minutes.

Mr. Pates' 83rd birthday was celebrated first of all with touches rung on the Parish Church bells, followed by a jolly little supper party at his home, Tudor House. Selections on handbells and songs afterwards passed a happy hour or two, and the 'health of Mr. Pates' was honoured on the call of Mr. Yeend, sen.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH AT POTTERNE.

The Devizes Branch held their March meeting at Potterne on Saturday, when 39 members attended from Bishop's Cannings, Bristol (St. Peter's), Bratton, Devizes (St. John's), Hindon, Holt, Keinton Mandeville, Market Lavington, Melksham, North Bradley, Nailsea, Potterne, Rowde, Southbroom, Seend, Tisbury, Westbury and Warminster. The Rev. J. A. Sturton, Vicar of Market Lavington, and Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (vice-president) were also present. The Vicar of Potterne (the Rev. A. Swann) conducted the Guild service, in the course of which he gave a short address. He said that the ringers holding their meetings every month in a different parish was a good and right thing to do, to help in the cheerful worship of God. Men of ability and character were needed to help in the work of the Church.

At the close of the service all adjourned for tea in the Church Hall, and Messrs. Wells are to be congratulated on the arrangements made.

The business meeting followed, Mr. E. F. White (branch chairman) presiding. The usual routine having been disposed of, Mr. White voiced thanks to those concerned in the arrangements, stating how pleased everyone was to see Mr. Heginbotham at the meeting. In reply, Mr. Heginbotham said he was thankful to be well enough to attend. He went on to refer to the loss the Dorchester Branch had sustained by the death of the Rev. E. S. Field, Vicar of Buckland Newton. The secretary was asked to send a letter to Mr. P. Field, Ringing Master of that branch, conveying the sympathy of the members in his bereavement.

The secretary also reported the passing of Mrs. Cook, of Bratton, widow of the late Mr. Ben Cook (vice-chairman of the branch for a number of years). The meeting stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of respect.

The members afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing, with the exception of a handbell party, who remained under the conductorship of Mr. S. Hillier. During the evening Devizes (St. John's) and Southbroom bells were available. The methods rung covered a wide range, some excellent practice being obtained by the younger members.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

FARNHAM DISTRICT SECRETARY CRITICISES SLACKERS.

The annual meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Farnham on Saturday, February 29th. Ringing started at 3 p.m. under the conductorship of the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted).

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector of Farnham (Canon E. M. Girling). Choirboys led the singing, and Mr. G. C. Macklin was at the organ.

In the course of his address Canon Girling said the subject of changes ought to be familiar to bellringers, and he wanted them to think of some useful changes which they could make in their own lives.

EIGHT CHANGES.

Canon Girling went on to describe eight changes, which was the number of bells in Farnham Church tower, which they might make. He first suggested a change in temper. St. John, who once had a very obvious temper indeed, later became known as the Apostle of Love. He had been able to change his temper. A change in their reading was, he thought, indicated. He suggested a change from the lighter forms of literature to something that was really good and worth while reading; to the great novels that would become classics and, of course, that greatest of all books, the great library they called the Bible.

Speaking of a change of habits, Canon Girling said it was so easy to get into a habit, say, of not attending church. Perhaps some of them, after they had rung the bells for other people to go to church, did not themselves go. Perhaps a change in that direction would be helpful. Then they would be a great deal better for a change of language. He did not mean to infer that they were all hard swearers; but the belfry was part of God's house and consecrated like the rest of the building. Their language should be beyond reproach.

Then how about a change of morals? He did not mean that they were bad in that way, yet would it not be possible to make a change and set up a standard of what was really good and pure, and make a real stand for God and purity?

Canon Girling went on to speak of a change in prayers—a development and real effort on their part to hold a conversation with God and to listen to what He said. Referring to a change of heart, he suggested that instead of having their affections set on the things of the earth they should have their real affection entwined around the things of the heart. If all of them went through these changes what a difference it would make. Not only would their technique be improved, but they would know they were ringing because they wanted others to share in something they had already known for themselves.

Tea was served at Rogers' Cafe, to which 45 sat down. Afterwards the business meeting was presided over by Canon Girling.

A cheque for 10s. 6d. towards the Guild Benevolent Fund was received from an hon. member, Mr. W. A. Dollimore, who was heartily thanked for his generosity at all times.

As no other nominations had been received, the district officers were re-elected, viz.: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Hasted; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. W. Denyer; hon. auditor, Mr. P. Eldridge. Executive Committee representatives: Ringing, Messrs. T. Upshall (Farnham) and F. Nye (Bagshot), and honorary, Mr. W. A. Dollimore (Aldershot). On the motion of the Rector, the officers were thanked for their services in the past.

The balance sheet showed a slight increase of the balance in hand, £15 17s. 11d., as compared with £15 15s. 1d. last year.

It was explained that the cost of the valuable library books bought by the Guild had been shared by the four districts, the amount from each being based on the percentage of members in each district. The Farnham District paid 35 per cent. of the total cost, viz., £2 12s. 6d.

The accounts were adopted.

CRITICISMS.

The district secretary, in his report, recorded that the ringing membership had decreased from 132 to 121. Honorary membership had remained at 30 as in 1934. Four belfries were endeavouring to raise funds for restoration purposes. At Crondall ringing had stopped owing to the very bad condition of the bell frame and the bells; at Ash the bells and frame desperately needed overhauling by bell-hangers; at Yorktown a fund had been open for a considerable time for the rehanging of the bells, and at Farnham the fund for tower wall repairs and refacing was still in need of support.

The report proceeded: "Every ringer should be punctual and regular at practice and each should be there with a will to learn. Some there are who 'know all there is to know' about ringing and they refuse to be told anything. The result is that they not only spoil their own chances, but they prevent progress being made in the tower."

"A ringer who attends practice and who fails to show up on Sunday is utterly failing in his (or her) duty, as also is the ringer who never attends a practice or meeting, but who arrives and expects to ring on Sunday. Sunday service ringing should not be turned into an ordinary practice."

"Any ringer who waits to hear the bells before going along to ring is not playing the game; nor is a ringer who does not appear on practice night until after the 'beginners' have finished. The most experienced ringer can learn something, even from rounds or plain courses of Doubles."

"Worse still is an experienced ringer who does not attend a belfry because 'they are only a crowd of beginners and can't handle or strike the bells.'"

"Certain belfries in this district boast more ringers than bells, but through the slackness of certain members all the ropes are not manned on Sundays. Where these circumstances prevail, it is the duty of local captains to get recruits so that these unreliable people may not disorganise the service ringing. Recruits should be obtained, if necessary, assistance being sought from the incumbent."

Most of them know that ringers in all these classes were to be found all over the country. He regretted that they had a few in their own district. He appealed to all ringers, particularly those in the branch who felt, perhaps, that they had not been pulling their weight, to make a real effort and endeavour to do their full share in the church work which they had, or should have, so much at heart.

It was thought that the drop in the ringing membership was not as serious as it appeared. The Crondall membership had almost ceased, but it was hoped this would be rectified as soon as the bells and frame at Crondall were restored.

THE TEAM SPIRIT.

The Chairman commented upon the excellence of the report, and paid tribute to the team spirit of the ringers generally upon the way the criticisms were received. He hoped all would attend to the urgent matters contained in the report, particularly where bells or bell frames needed attention.

It was decided to hold meetings during 1936 at Hawley (8), Farnborough (6), Frensham (6), Yorktown (8) and Bentley (6), with an additional meeting at Seale (6) if it were possible to arrange one. The dates of these meetings were left to the secretary to fix. The annual district meeting was agreed upon for January 23rd, 1937.

The Guild officers were renominated, with the addition of Mr. C. W. Denyer for the Central Council.

The following new ringing members were elected: Messrs. K. and D. Dalton (Frensham), V. Wilkinson (Yorktown) and S. Butler (Aldershot). Mrs. F. J. Ewens (Yorktown) was elected as an honorary member.

It was decided to restart the District Committee, which will consist of the district officers and two members from each of the eleven towers in the district. As the Guild rules at present only permits one member from each tower, it was agreed to give notice of motion to the Executive Committee for the necessary amendment of this rule. It was considered that two members would attend a committee meeting, whereas one might not.

Mr. J. W. Carter (Seale) sincerely thanked Canon Girling for his welcome and his address. Mr. Carter also thanked the organist, choir and local ringers for their share in the success of the meeting (applause). Canon Girling briefly replied.

A collection for the William Pye Memorial Fund amounted to 11s.

At the close of business the ringers returned to the belfry to indulge in further ringing. Towers represented during the meeting included Aldershot, Ash, Seale, Bagshot, Alton, Guildford (St. Nicolas), Farnham, Farnborough, Worplesdon, Brookwood, Haslemere, Clondon, Yorktown, Frensham and Bentley.

CONGRATULATIONS AT A MEETING.

THE EDITOR TELLS OF HIS DIFFICULTIES.

The thoughts uppermost in the minds of many ringers last week-end was the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World,' not forgetting the journal's founder, editor and proprietor, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who throughout the past 25 years has contributed in no small measure towards the advancement of the Exercise.

When the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild met at Cranleigh on Saturday—and there was a gallant muster of 43 ringers present—many personal congratulations were extended to the Editor, who, being general secretary of the Guild, was among those who attended.

To put the matter strictly in order and to see that the efficient secretary of the Guildford District (Mr. George Grover) duly recorded the memorable occasion in the minute book of the district, an appropriate resolution of congratulation and best wishes to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' was proposed by Mr. T. W. White, who mentioned the enormous value to the Exercise of 'The Ringing World,' not only from the point of view of the advancement of ringing, but particularly in cementing together ringers in all parts of the country into one great fellowship. The ambassador of this friendship had been Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, whose happy personality as he travelled over the country to attend ringing meetings and functions was a great factor in establishing a spirit of unity throughout the ringing fraternity.

The resolution was seconded by the chairman (Major J. H. B. Hesse), who spoke of the self-sacrifice of Mr. Goldsmith, whose work as Editor he was sure was largely a labour of love. He appealed to ringers present for a stronger support of 'The Ringing World,' and urged those present to do their utmost to increase its circulation.

Mr. R. Whittington, Cranleigh's veteran ringer, endorsed the resolution, which was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Goldsmith, in acknowledging the meeting's good wishes, expressed the hope that he might be spared to carry on for a few more years to come. As to the future, he was afraid it would be very difficult to find anyone interested in ringing who was prepared to takes on 'The Ringing World' for the very small remuneration offered. It would be a catastrophe to ringing not to have a journal, whether it was called 'The Ringing World' or went under some other name. If any of them could do anything to increase the circulation, the extra revenue would be returned to the ringers, either in a better or cheaper paper. People did not realise that the cost of distribution was more than the cost of the production of the paper. The cost of distribution through the newsagent was more than 1½d. a copy.

COMBINED PRACTICES.

Mr. C. E. Smith raised the question of combined practices, and inquired whether any reports had been received following the decision of the district annual meeting.

The Chairman replied that Haslemere had had a visit from Gray-shott, and Mr. Whittington spoke of the happy relationship existing between Ewhurst and Cranleigh. He had received an inquiry from Dunsfold, and was willing to visit that tower as soon as they were ready for him.

It was also reported that Worplesdon and Pirbright arranged combined practices, and Mr. W. R. Melville stated that Holy Trinity, Guildford, was receiving visitors from Old Woking.

Three new members—Messrs. C. Barker (Pirbright), F. T. Hoad (Godalming) and J. Woodford (Cranleigh) were elected. A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector of Cranleigh (the Rev. H. L. Johnston) for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, to the organist and to the Cranleigh ringers for making the arrangements.

Plenty of variety was introduced into the ringing—Superlative, Cambridge, London, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman, Bob Major and Grandsire all being tried with varying success.

THE COUNCIL AND ITS BUSINESS.

Very soon, now, thoughts will be turned once again to the activities of the Central Council, which will meet in London at Whitsun. It will be the first meeting held under the complete operation of the new rules, and for this reason there will be some change in the representation of the affiliated societies. There may be a few who will not be entitled to as many representatives as in the past, but where there are changes they will, for the most part, be in the direction of increased representation. Membership goes in the following proportion for territorial societies: One representative for a recognised society with over 75 and less than 150 members; two representatives for a membership between 150 and 300; three for a membership between 300 and 450; and four (the maximum number) for a membership of over 450. Membership for the purposes of representation is based upon resident ringing and hon. members; non-resident ringing members do not count for this purpose. Certain non-territorial organisations, like the College Youths and Cumberlands, are not affected by this "residential" qualification.

This new rule does not necessarily mean that societies will elect the full number of representatives to which they are entitled, although most of them will probably do so, but it does mean that they will be called upon to pay affiliation fees to the Council in proportion to their membership. Hitherto it has been possible for even a large society to have full advantage of the Council's activities, while electing only one member and paying accordingly. As the Council's resources are devoted to furthering the art in a number of practical ways—notably the publishing at cost price of numerous works connected with ringing—it is only fair that societies should furnish financial support to some extent commensurate with their strength.

In recent years the work of the Council has been growing, and every meeting has provided almost more business than can be compressed into the hour available. From past experience, and from what we have heard, it would seem that the next meeting, which, of course, brings with it the triennial appointment of officers, is likely to be a very lengthy one. It would seem as if the time is approaching when the Council will have to start its meeting at an earlier hour than eleven o'clock. On one or two occasions in recent years the final stages of the business have been completed with a thinning attendance, owing to the early departure that some members from long distances have to make. It would be better to begin a little earlier and have any time there might be to spare at the end of the business, if it could be arranged. One of the difficulties in the way is the present practice of holding a meeting of the Standing Committee before the Council meeting; but, seeing that this committee has, for the past few years, begun its meeting the previous evening, there would seem to be no insuperable difficulty in an alteration of the Council's meeting time, so that the business on the agenda can be got through in a full assembly. At any rate, if the congestion of the agenda increases, some change will be necessary if the business is to be adequately dealt with.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

AN APPEAL FOR PUNCTUAL SERVICE RINGING.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Eastern and Western Districts of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Gateshead on Saturday, March 14th, many bellfries being represented from north of the Tyne to south of the Wear. Two ringers were also present from far off Kirkby Stephen. The bells were kept going during the afternoon, and tea was partaken of at the Anchorage. A short meeting was held, over which Mr. F. Sheraton presided, supported by the Rev. Canon Stephenson.

After the loyal toast, the chairman welcomed the 'strangers,' and also the visitors, and hoped they would have a happy time.

Mr. J. Anderson proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Stephenson for the use of the bells. He went on to say that he always appreciated the way in which the Canon turned up at ringers' meetings, and particularly the annual meeting, and Canon Stephenson always gave them a hearty welcome. Mr. Anderson also reminded ringers that, being church bellringers, it was their duty to ring for Sunday services, and that it was really church law that bells should be rung before services. It was sad to think of some bellfries where ringers had often to wait for just one or two and then probably not get the bells going. It was up to each ringer to do his utmost to further the art.

Canon Stephenson, in reply, said it was always a pleasure for his bells to be rung, and he wished the meetings were more frequent. He appreciated the services of the ringers and hoped they would go away feeling that they had had a happy time at the meeting.

Mr. Pickering proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for the bounteous tea, which he was sure that everyone present had enjoyed. —The verger replied on behalf of the ladies.

Mr. G. S. Taylor read a letter he had received from the Rector of Bishop Auckland asking the association to hold a meeting there. A special meeting was arranged for April 25th.

It was proposed that the next meeting be a joint one between the Eastern and Western Districts, and be held at Chester-le-Street on Saturday, June 13th.

Further ringing afterwards took place, and everyone was quite satisfied with the amount of ringing they obtained.

STILL RINGING AT 93.

RYDE VETERAN THE OLDEST ACTIVE RINGER.

To-morrow Mr. George Henry Coombes, of 25, Swanmore Road, Ryde, Isle of Wight, will celebrate his 93rd birthday, and ringers everywhere will join in congratulating him.

Mr. Coombes has been a ringer at All Saints' Church, Ryde, since the bells were installed in 1886. He continues, despite his great age, to ring regularly for divine service on Sundays, and seldom misses the weekly ringing practice. Not only is Mr. Coombes the oldest active ringing member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, but is believed to be the oldest active service ringer in the British Isles.

FOR BEGINNERS.

MAKING THE MOST OF DOUBLES.

Those ringers who confine their attention to ringing Doubles—and there are many—have a very limited scope for variety. Whereas on six bells the number of 'regular' methods available runs to over 200, if we include those which can be 'spliced' together to make up a true extent, the methods of pure Doubles can be counted on the fingers, while if we include all the methods which in these days would pass muster, it is only just over a score. But even with this limitation, the scope is not fully exploited by those who are compelled, or for other reasons are content, to confine their attention to five-bell methods.

We often wonder why this should be. It is a very monotonous thing always to ring just one method, especially when its extent can be disposed of in five minutes or less. It may be that many ringers have not the figures of the methods from which to learn. Let us, if we can, help you to something fresh.

To begin with, we will assume you can ring Grandsire Doubles, in which there is another bell besides the treble doing a plain hunt, and a third's place made (causing the two bells behind to dodge) when the treble has led.

Now, try and ring this method 'reversed' as it is called. You still have a bell in the hunt, but the 3rd's place is made when the treble has laid its whole pull behind. That causes the dodge to be made by the two bells in front—one dodging 1-2 (up) and the other 2-1 (down). In Grandsire 3rd's place is made by the bell that the treble takes off lead; in Reverse Grandsire it is made by the bell that the treble turns from behind.

The bell that dodges in 5-4 (down) in Grandsire passes the treble in 3-4 on its way up. In Reverse Grandsire the corresponding dodge is in 1-2 (up) and the treble is passed in 3-2 on the way down. In each case you strike over two other bells before meeting the treble. The other dodge, of course, is made after meeting the treble one place earlier; in Grandsire you pass the treble in 2-3 before dodging in 4-5 (up), and in Reverse Grandsire you pass the treble in 4-3 as you go down.

The bobs in Reverse Grandsire are made when the treble is behind. The bell that passed the treble in 4-3, instead of going down to the front to dodge, makes 3rd's and goes up again, turning the treble from behind and becoming the bell in the hunt. The bell coming out of the hunt double dodges in 1-2 (up), and the bell that would have dodged in 1-2 (up) double dodges in 2-1 (down).

When a Single is made the bell the treble turns from behind (corresponding to the one the treble turns from the front in Grandsire) makes 4th's place and turns the treble from behind, being then in the hunt. The bell that would have gone into the hunt, had the call been a bob, makes an additional 3rd's place before going up behind again.

The conductor's task is quite a simple one. Reverse Grandsire is called exactly as Grandsire, except that the bobs and singles are called when the treble is in 3rd's place going up, instead of when it is in 3rd's place, going down. If you must have an observation bell, then for the calling that in Grandsire brings the 3rd or 5th each time into 4-5 up, call either the 4th or the 3rd into 2-1 (down).

Now from Reverse Grandsire to Reading Doubles is an easy step. A plain lead of Reading is bobbed lead of Reverse Grandsire, and a plain course consists of only two leads. In Reading, however, the bob is made when the treble is in front. The bell that, on the way up, passes the treble in 2-3, makes 3rd's (as if it were a bob in Grandsire) and goes down to take the treble off. This causes the two bells behind to have a single dodge—there is no other 3rd's place made from the front as in Grandsire, and there is no bell in the hunt.

A single in Reading is made by the two bells behind 'lying still' instead of dodging. That is to say, the bell that would have dodged down makes 4th's place and lies another whole pull behind; while the bell which, had it been a bob, would have dodged in 4-5 (up), lies a whole pull behind; actually carrying on as if it were a plain lead.

A 120 can be got by calling Bob, Bob, Single at alternate leads and repeating. So that you may compare the methods, here are the figures. Note that in starting there is no 3rd's place made. The 3rd goes straight up and the 4th straight down:—

WHITFIELD VETERANS HONOURED.FIFTY YEARS' SERVICE AT ONE CHURCH.

The three veterans at St. James' Church, Whitfield, Glossop, who, as already reported in 'The Ringing World,' have completed 50 years' service as ringers at the church, have been honoured by their friends. They are Mr. T. Jackson, Mr. J. Marsden and Mr. E. Garside, and a tablet has now been erected in the belfry recording their long and loyal attachment.

The trio and their wives were entertained at a social gathering, at which, among the many ringers and friends present, was Mr. J. Lawton, who started ringing with the other three, but who spent eight years as a member of the band at the nearby tower of Holy Trinity, Dinting.

After tea, a silence was observed in memory of the Whitfield ringers—twelve of them—who had passed away in the last 50 years, and then congratulatory speeches were made by the churchwardens and others and by the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Cooke). The latter said the record of the ringers would be very hard to beat, and he had not heard of a better. He handed to the ringers the tablet worded as follows:—

St. James' Church, Whitfield.

To commemorate with gratitude and thankfulness their completion of 50 years' individual service as ringers in this belfry and church, February, 1886-February, 1936: Thomas Jackson, Joseph Marsden, Eli Garside.

The Vicar said the tablet was to be placed in the belfry, amongst other memorial tablets, and he did not think there could be a more fitting or hallowed place for it. He expressed deepest appreciation and thanks to the three ringers and hoped they would be spared to ring for many more years at Whitfield.

The veterans were reminiscent in their replies and had some interesting and amusing stories to tell of ringing and ringers in their early days. Speaking of the time before they took up change ringing, Mr. T. Jackson said that, when he and his colleagues started ringing in 1886, there were no cinema shows and very few other attractions, and they used to go practically every night and do a bit of ringing. Eventually, he said, they got to ringing 'single thirds,' and on one occasion rang 'single thirds' for three hours. An admiring friend treated them to half a gallon of small beer and cigars as a reward for their achievement (laughter). When they started change ringing on eight bells some of the old ringers left and the younger ones had to take their places. Mr. Jackson, in conclusion, said that during the 50 years he had been connected with ringing, of all the ringers they had had, he had never known one of them get into trouble (applause).

LADY RINGER MARRIED.

Miss E. Dorice Turner, hon. secretary to the Northern Branch of the Ladies' Guild, was married on Saturday, March 14th, to Mr. H. Kelly at St. Mary's Church, Handsworth, Sheffield. Miss L. N. Cawthorne, late secretary of the Northern District, was bridesmaid, and Mr. H. Swallow was best man.

The bridegroom is a sergeant in the local section of the Church Lads' Brigade. The bride's capabilities as a ringer are well known.

After the ceremony, as the bridal couple left the church, the local company rang one or two touches of Kent and Plain Bob. The Church Lads' Brigade also formed a guard of honour outside the church.

The reception afterwards was attended by the Rector (Canon W. A. Baker), the local ringers and numerous other guests. Touches of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples 'in hand' after the reception brought great applause from the guests.

The Handsworth ringers presented a Westminster chiming clock to the bride and bridegroom, whose future residence will be 171, Richmond Road, Handsworth.

Mr. J. Marsden said he was glad to know there were young ringers to follow them. He did not think there were many places which, during the last 50 years, had had less trouble with the Vicars than had been the case at Whitfield (laughter). They had had no trouble with any of them during the whole of that time (laughter and applause). Ringing, he concluded, had been part of their lives and, he could certainly say, a very happy part.

Mr. Garside spoke of the very happy 50 years which he and his colleagues had spent, as far as ringing was concerned. They had grown up together and had stuck together, and during all those years he could safely say they had never had a wrong word with each other (applause). He hoped they would live for many years to continue service ringing. He did not think there was a finer set of ringers in England than at Whitfield, so far as their close association with the church and school was concerned. He hoped the young ringers they had now got would continue for the sake of the church, because he should never like the bells at Whitfield to be stopped.

Mr. J. Lawton made a few racy remarks, and the Vicar added appreciation of the wives of the three veterans. They must have had a certain amount of encouragement from their wives, he said, and thanks were due to the ladies in this respect (laughter and applause).

'Auld Lang Syne' brought a memorable and enjoyable gathering to a close.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

John Taylor and Co.'s bellhangers are now busy hoisting the bells of Buckfast Abbey. It is expected that the peal of twelve, with the 2 ton tenor and the 7 ton Bourdon, will be rung for the first time on Easter Day.

The ring of eight bells of Staveley Parish Church, Derbyshire, are to be rehung by John Taylor and Co.

The Middlesex Association and Oxford Guild joint meeting and social will be held at Hillingdon on October 10th.

A quarter-peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Beenham, Berks, on March 14th, by the following members of the local band: E. Wallace, E. Richardson, F. Churchill, the Rev. R. Howes, G. Fowler, E. Tigwell (conductor). This was the first quarter of Minor by all except the conductor. As four of the band are gardeners by occupation, it helps to prove the contention which one of the ringers makes, that you cannot enter a belfry without finding at least one gardener there; and the recommendation which the same ringer gives to the clergy and others, that if they want to engage a gardener, always engage a ringer.

A first peal by all the band is always a noteworthy performance, and the ringers of the peal at Bathampton on March 14th are, therefore, heartily to be congratulated upon their achievement.

A peal tablet is to be unveiled to-morrow at St. George's Church, Bolton. One of the peals which it records is a peal of Stedman Triples rung in 1909 in which Canon Elsee, president of the Lancashire Association, took part. Three of the band who rang in the peal are dead, but it is hoped that some of the others remaining will join Canon Elsee at the ceremony.

BUCKFAST ABBEY BELLS.

WORK NEARING COMPLETION.

In addition to the new ring of twelve bells, with a 40 cwt. tenor in G, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. are making a notable addition to the bells of Buckfast Abbey. This is to be a bourdon of $7\frac{1}{2}$ tons, and is being given to the Abbey by Miss de Trafford, in memory of her sister, Lady Bellew. The name 'Hosanna' will be given to the bell and there will be cast on it a dedicatory inscription in Latin.

The new peal, which will consist of 14 bells, is to be hung some 20ft. higher than the old ring, in the now nearly completed tower, and will be carried on a massive iron and steel frame designed by Messrs. Taylor and Co. to strengthen the structure.

The work of hoisting them into the tower is now in progress.

The old peal had a 28 cwt. tenor and was hung in a wood frame. The ringing was done from a stone gallery in the centre of the transepts, with an awesome drop of something like 60ft. to the floor of the church below. Only one peal was rung under these conditions—a peal of Stedman Cinques, conducted by William Pye.

In future the ringing chamber will be on the floor where the old bells stood.

We understand it is hoped to have the bells erected about Easter, but the tower itself, which will complete the final stage of the great building, the whole of which has been carried out by the monks themselves, will not be finished until towards the end of the year.

DEATH OF MR. R. K. KNIGHT.

A VETERAN CUMBERLAND YOUTH.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Robert K. Knight, late of Gloucester and Walthamstow, which occurred on Saturday last at his residence, 105, Hainault Road, Leytonstone, at the age of 91 years.

Mr. Knight, who was born at Gloucester, learned to ring in that town. He came to London in 1866, to take up a position in H.M. Customs at the docks. One of his first actions was to join the Royal Cumberland Society, which he did in August, 1866. He became a member of the St. James' Society in February, 1867. Later he joined the Essex Association, when he became a member of the St. Mary's, Walthamstow, band, in 1892. He joined the Middlesex Association in 1897.

At St. Mary's, Walthamstow, he rang the tenor to a peal of Grand-sire Caters on the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and nearly four years later he rang in a muffled peal at the same church to record the passing of that Sovereign. This peal was called by the late William Pye, whom Mr. Knight always greatly admired.

In 1892, on one of his annual visits to his birthplace, he joined the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and well remembered ringing with the late Rev. H. Law James and his brother, the Rev. E. Bankes James, when they were very young men; and also with many other well-known Gloucester ringers, all of whose names he recollected.

For the last 15 years Mr. Knight had been confined to his bed with an incurable leg trouble, but his interest in ringing never waned. He was gifted with a wonderful memory, and, with a wide store of reminiscences, was most entertaining to listen to. He was keenly interested in the William Pye memorial, and up to the time of his death had collected quite a considerable sum of money for that object. He was never so happy as when a ringing friend went to see him, and one of his greatest days was when he received a visit from Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson on the day after their return from Australia, which gave him something to talk about for months afterwards.

The funeral took place on Wednesday at Ilford Cemetery.

REORGANISATION OF FINANCE.

Seventy-Five Per Cent. for Central Fund.

At the annual meeting of the Surrey Association at Southwark on Saturday, a change was made in the rules, by which 75 per cent. of the district receipts will be contributed to the central fund, instead of sixpence per member and a levy to meet the cost of the annual report.

The meeting was attended by nearly 100 ringers, representative of a large number of towers in the county, and many visitors. After enjoying ringing on the noble peal of twelve bells at the Cathedral, where on the first Sunday in every month the association supplies a hand to ring for the morning service, the members attended the beautifully sung evensong. Afterwards an address was given by the Rev. J. C. Kinnear, of St. John's, Croydon, where he is learning to ring. His subject was the brotherhood of service, and he spoke of the place of the ringer in the service of the Church. There were many people, he said, who remained outside the walls of the Church, and it was a wonderful privilege which bellringers had of sending out to them the message of the Gospel. It was more than just sentiment which touched people when they heard the sound of the bells. It was something of the appeal of that voice which had gone out into all lands and its sound unto the ends of the earth. They could not dissociate the bells of the Church and the message of the Church. They were one and the same thing. The bells rang out the message of the love of God. If that was true, it was important that those who rang the bells should keep that message before them. There had been correspondence lately in the ringers' paper about the worthiness, or unworthiness, of bellringers. He remembered when he was first ordained and went to a London parish, he went into the belfry and found that one of the great secrets of that place was its friendliness.

'When I told the Vicar what a nice lot of ringers he had got,' said the preacher, 'he replied, "They are no good at all. They ring the bells and that is all you see of them." I said, "Are you sure that is all you see of them?" I had to point out to him that two of them were members of the choir, three others were members of the C.E.M.S., ready to do anything they could, irrespective of their ringing, and that I had often seen one or two others of them with their wives at the Sunday evening services. You see,' added the preacher, 'he didn't know. It may not be always the case, but I believe that often those men who Sunday by Sunday go into the belfries and perform that extraordinary magic of the bells have been looked upon as just outside the Church. There may be a fear that ringers may think only of their ringing, as some organists and choirs may think only of their music and singing, and I want to appeal to you to-day to bring to your bell-ringing not only the skill God has given you, but all the Christian forces of your life.'

Tea in the Chapter House was followed by the business meeting, over which the Rev. J. C. Kinnear presided.

The treasurer's balance sheet, which was adopted, showed that the balance in the general fund had increased from £5 18s. 11d. to £12 3s. 4d.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The committee's report, presented by the hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Kippin) stated that the year had been a very successful one. In the North-Western District twelve meetings were held. Five were district meetings, which had an average attendance of 37, two were joint meetings with the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Rammore and East Molesey, and five were mid-week meetings with the Ladies' Guild. All the joint meetings were well supported by members of the district. The Southern District reported a new tower to be affiliated to the association, viz., Lingfield, the bells of which had been restored and augmented to a peal of eight. Four district meetings were held with an average attendance of 30. Membership in both districts had increased, and the total number of annual subscribing members was 297 (North-Western District 198 and Southern District 99), an increase of 23 on the previous year. Ringing had taken place at Southwark Cathedral on the first Sunday morning in each month by members of the association, and excepting during the holiday months the twelve bells were rung for service. A rota system had been established and 23 members at present were responsible for the ringing. The committee tendered its thanks to those members, and would welcome any further volunteers to assist in ringing the bells of the Cathedral Church of the diocese.

The association still flourished financially. The balance in hand in the general and district funds at 31st December, 1935, was £39 8s. 1d., as against £34 5s. 5d. at the beginning of the year, being an increase of £4 17s. 4d. upon the year's working.

The committee regretted to report the death of Mr. H. Goodwin, of St. John's, Redhill, and Mr. A. J. Trappitt, of St. Mary's, Beddington. Both were regular service ringers at their respective towers. Mr. Trappitt had been a member for 42 years and had rung 168 peals for the association. He was district secretary for nine years. His death was a great loss to Beddington tower and to the association as a whole. During the year 21 peals were rung, 89 members taking part in the following methods: Superlative Surprise Royal 1, Stedman Caters 1, Grandsire Caters 2, Cambridge Surprise Major 1, Double Norwich Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Bob Major 2, Stedman Triples 4, Grandsire Triples 3, London Surprise Minor 1, Bob Minor 1, and Minor in four methods 3. The conductors were as follows: C. H. Kippin, 7; O. Sippetts, E. Hancox and L. A. Tidy, 2 each; W. Claydon, R. V. Fuller, C. W. R. Grimwood, A. Harman, E. Morris, C. Potchecary, W. C. Smith and H. R. Thorpe, 1 each. Ten members rang their first peal, four their first on a working bell, 17 their first in the method and five their first on different numbers. Statistics for the past five years showed that although peal ringing was gradually decreasing, through the difficulty of obtaining towers for peal attempts, individual interest was still being maintained. In 1932 51 peals were rung by 100 members. In 1935 the 21 peals were rung by 89 members.

INCREASED CENTRAL COUNCIL REPRESENTATION.

The following officers were re-elected: President, the Bishop of Croydon; Master, Mr. D. K. C. Birt; hon. treasurer, Mr. C. Dean; hon. secretary, Mr. C. H. Kippin; hon. auditor, Mr. G. W. Steere. Mr. E. G. Talbot was elected assistant hon. secretary, Mr. F. E. Darby retiring. Mr. Kippin thanked Mr. Darby for his valued services. His work, he said, had been carried on behind the scenes and the hon. secretary got the credit for it.

As the membership was now 313, under the rules of the Central Council the association was entitled to elect three representatives; and the following who had been nominated were elected: Messrs. D. Cooper, W. Claydon and C. H. Kippin.

Leatherhead, Croydon and Kingston were proposed for the next annual meeting. Croydon was withdrawn, and, on a vote being taken, Leatherhead was selected by a large majority.

On the recommendation of the committee, a grant of £1 ls. was voted to the William Pye Memorial Fund, an amendment to increase the amount to £2 2s. being defeated.

The committee recommended an alteration to rule 17, increasing the district contribution to the general fund from sixpence to 1s. 6d. in respect of each member whose subscription shall have been paid.

The hon. secretary explained that the districts had hitherto contributed 6d. per member, and had paid, in proportion to their membership, for the cost of printing the annual report.

After discussion on points raised as to the amount to be contributed from 'shilling' members (those who join at the end of a year) and hon. members, the motion was adopted with the substitution of '75 per cent.' for '1s. 6d.'

The following alterations to rules, also recommended by the committee, were also adopted:—

Rule 4, paragraph 1, substitute the following: 'All nominations for general officers and representatives upon the Central Council should be made either at the previous annual district meetings, or in writing to the general secretary, providing such nominations are in his hands at least 14 days before the annual general meeting.'

Addition to rule 16: 'All nominations for district officers and committee representatives should be made either at the previous district meeting or in writing to the district secretary, providing such nominations are in his hands at least 14 days before the annual district meeting. Any contested election must take place by ballot.'

The hon. secretary explained that hitherto the nominations had to be made in writing, but during the ten years he had been in office, no nominations had ever been received, and the committee had had to make the nominations. Under the proposed amendments they would ensure that nominations were made at district meetings, when the business would be on the agenda. At the same time, there would be nothing to prevent nominations being sent in in writing.

It was resolved that the annual dinner should be held again this year, the place being left to the committee to decide.

THE FORTHCOMING CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

On behalf of the committee the hon. secretary moved that the expenses of the Central Council representatives should be divided between the general fund and the districts.

After some discussion, it was decided to allow the question to stand over until the next annual meeting, as on this occasion, with the meeting held in London, the expense would be comparatively small.

Mr. M. Northover said he thought the members were entitled to a written report on the Council meeting, which could be read at the district meetings.

The hon. secretary said he made a verbal report last year at a meeting of the Southern District, but Mr. Northover was not present.

Mr. Northover said a written report would be available to those members who were unable to attend the meeting.

Mr. F. W. Housden said the difficulty raised by Mr. Northover would be removed if everybody supported 'The Ringing World' (hear, hear).

The Chairman said he would recommend that, too. He found a great deal of interest in the paper and he hoped there would be a good response to the appeal made recently by the Editor for a larger circulation.

The hon. secretary said when the Central Council met in London three years ago, the Surrey Association was invited to join with other associations in arranging the social side of the proceedings. The association then guaranteed two guineas towards the expenses, but were only called upon for £1 7s. 4d. He believed the association would be invited to join in a similar arrangement this year, and proposed that, if that be so, the association should contribute a sum up to two guineas.—This was agreed to.

DEATH OF AN OLD ASTON RINGER.MR. JAMES HOPKIN'S WORK IN THE BELFRY.

We regret to record the death of Mr. James Hopkin, an old Aston ringer, who passed away on March 5th at his residence in Church Lane, only a few yards from the church he loved so well. He was 76 years of age.

He went to Aston about 35 years ago and soon joined the Sunday band of ringers.

He learned to ring at Ashby-de-la-Zouch and was at one time a pupil of Mr. J. Jaggard. He had rung several peals of Grandsire Triples and Caters and Bob Major.

Mr. Hopkin was a delightful man and his presence in the belfry was always for the good of the company. He was regular service ringer and church attendant.

His memory will always be retained in Aston belfry on account of the beautiful illuminated tablets of peal records that hang on the walls. His writing of these is admired by all who see them.

He waited a long time for Aston bells to be restored and was very delighted when he heard them again last summer. But the years had left their mark on 'Old Jim,' and he found the climb up the steps too much for him. He had a few rounds on the new bells on two occasions, but that was all he could manage. He had nothing but praise for the new peal.

He was buried at Aston on Monday, March 9th. The Vicar (the Rev. H. McGowan) officiated, and in his remarks paid tribute to the deceased as a man who did things quietly and effectively. Deceased leaves a widow and son and daughter to mourn their loss.

A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by D. Matkin, J. Jaggard, A. Walker and H. Withers. Several Aston ringers and other ringers took part in half-muffled ringing on the tower bells immediately after the burial service.

The service was attended by about a hundred members of the 'Sons of Rest' from Aston Park, of which section the late Mr. Hopkin was secretary.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. A. WRIGHT.TABLET DEDICATED AT PAINSWICK.

A tablet to the memory of the late Mr. Albert Wright, of Pitchcombe, was dedicated at St. Mary's Church, Painswick, on Saturday afternoon, February 29th. The tablet, which is on an oak base, is in the belfry of the church, and has been erected by the ringers of Painswick as a mark of appreciation of the late Mr. Wright's service to them in the promotion of ringing. From 1912 until 1930 Mr. Wright was Master of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths and was always interested in bellringing anywhere. He had also composed and conducted a good number of peals at Painswick, including the 13,001 Grandsire Cinques, which took 8 hours and 45 minutes to ring.

The memorial service was conducted by the Rev. Hiram Craven (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. H. T. Paton (curate), whilst others at the service were Mrs. Wright and members of the family, Mr. J. Russell and Mr. G. A. Carse (churchwardens) and members of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths.

The Vicar paid a very warm tribute to Mr. Wright's devoted work for his church. The tablet is inscribed as follows:—

'Ancient Society of Painswick Youths. To the memory of the late Mr. Albert E. Wright, Master from 1912-30, from his fellow ringers.'

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

About 40 members, representing 14 towers, attended the quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch at Hazelbury Bryan on March 14th. The Guild office was conducted by the Rev. William Uphill (Rector of Stour Provost), assisted by the Rev. F. L. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Guild) and the Rev. J. L. Rhys (Rector of Hazelbury), who welcomed the members, and in a short, homely address described interesting features of the history of his church and parish. Tea was served in the Rectory, followed by a short business meeting, the Rev. F. L. Edwards presiding.

Douglas Woolridge and Sidney Hunt (both of Fontwell Magna) were elected ringing members.

It was agreed to hold an evening practice at Silton on May 9th, and a joint practice with the Wimborne Branch at Blanford on May 23rd. The chairman pleaded for a greater support for 'The Ringing World,' which journal was that week celebrating its silver jubilee—25 years' work of inestimable value to the Exercise. Complimentary copies of the jubilee number were distributed in the hope of increasing the circulation.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the chairman, the Rector of Southwark, and to Mr. Mash who had arranged the tea; also to the general officers for their work during the year.

Ringers were present from many towers in the county, including Reddington, Carshalton, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Mitcham (Christ Church and Parish Church), Reigate, Lingfield, Limpsfield, Chart, Wimbledon, Woking, Leatherhead, Ewell, Epsom, Benlinton, Putney, Banstead, Camberwell, Merton, Streatham, Southwark (St. George's), Redhill, Ashted and visitors from Little Mundon, Chislehurst, Dartford, Chelsea, Westminster (St. Margaret's), Bishopsgate, Beckenham, Swanscombe, Westerham, Northfleet, Hampstead, Hillingdon, Coventry, Kingsbury, Highgate, Holloway, etc.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DIVISION CONGRATULATES 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The annual meeting of the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Handsworth, Sheffield, on Saturday, and was attended by a representative gathering, upwards of 40 members being present from Barnsley, Doncaster, Wath, Arksey, Sheffield Cathedral, St. Marie's, Rammoor, Wortley, Rotherham, Eastwood, Rawmarsh, Norton, Bolsover, Chesterfield, Treeton and the local company. A good variety of methods, ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise, were sampled, and there was some excellent striking, especially in the higher methods.

The usual first-class tea provided by the local company was very much appreciated.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rector of Handsworth (the Rev. Canon W. A. Baker) presided. Previous to the business, the secretary referred to the loss they had sustained by the death of Mr. T. O'Hara, of St. Marie's Company, Sheffield, and the members stood in silence as a last mark of respect to an old and valued member of the association.

Two new members were elected, viz., T. Nicholls, of Wath, and F. Gates, of St. Marie's.

For the annual joint meeting, to be held in June, it was decided that if the bells at Barnsley, which are at present at the Croydon Foundry, are available, to hold the annual joint meeting there in June, failing which, Penistone was selected.

The retiring officers, Messrs. G. Lewis (vice-president) and G. Clark, F. C. Wilson and W. Wooler (committee), were re-elected and thanked for their services during the past three years.

The hearty congratulations of the members were extended to Mr. Panther, of Wath, on reaching the total of 100 peals for the association.

The secretary was instructed to convey to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' the very best wishes of the members on the occasion of the journal's jubilee, and the meeting agreed to do whatever was possible to increase the circulation of the paper, for it was felt that if ringers had no paper it would be a calamity and almost impossible for the various associations to carry on.

The Chairman, having to leave, was heartily thanked for his presence and services and for the welcome which he always extends when Handsworth is visited, and which makes such a difference to a meeting, however small it may be.

Votes of thanks to the local company and to the ladies were accorded and replied to by Mr. F. Watkinson on their behalf.

WESTERN DIVISION AT LIVERSEDEGE.

The Western Division of the Yorkshire Association held their annual meeting on Saturday, March 14th, at Liversedge, when that delightful peal of bells was kept going throughout the afternoon and evening. Upwards of fifty members were present and a large variety of methods was rung. Tea was served in the schools followed by the business meeting, over which Mr. P. J. Johnson presided, supported by the association's president (the Rev. Canon Marshall) and the Rev. E. H. Fernie.

The Chairman, in a characteristic speech, appealed to all members to give their fullest support to 'The Ringing World,' which that week was celebrating its silver jubilee. He said this paper was not receiving the support which it merited, and he urged all present to do whatever they could to increase its circulation.

Five new members were admitted to the association, viz., Messrs. N. Greaves (Bramley), W. E. Ramsden (Drighlington), William Hargreaves and John Turner (Lindley) and George Ward (Rothwell).

The members showed their confidence in the retiring officers by re-electing their vice-president and the three committee members for a further period of three years.

In proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for so kindly placing their bells at the disposal of the association, Canon Marshall said how pleased he was to see his old friend, the Rev. E. H. Fernie, who had recently returned from Australia.—This motion was seconded by Mr. W. S. Green.

The Rev. E. H. Fernie, in replying, assured the members that the welcome was indeed sincere, and he hoped he would have the pleasure of receiving the association again in the near future. He also referred humorously to the time when he tried very hard to learn ringing, but his efforts nearly ended in disaster.

The Chairman, in voicing the association's gratitude to the local company for their splendid arrangements, reminded the members of that wonderful band of ringers whose peal boards and records in the belfry pay tribute to their skill. He also congratulated the ladies for the very efficient way in which they had served the tea, mentioning that although some of them had very little experience of catering, they certainly knew how to look after ringers. Their arrangements were a credit to them.—Mr. W. Idle seconded this proposition, and Mr. Fred Hodgson replied for the local company.

The members then made their way to the tower, where the bells were kept going until 9 p.m.

The June meeting of the Western Division will be held at Bingley, by the kind permission of the Rev. A. C. Vadden. Full particulars will be advertised later.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.MEETING DISCUSSES MUFFLING.

The North and East District meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, which was held at Finchley on Saturday week, was attended by some 36 ringers, giving a denial to the oft repeated assertion that the six-bell meetings are not well supported. Amongst those present were many well-known 'Surprise' ringers, who were not backward in ringing Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor for the benefit of several youngsters.

A bright service was held at 5 o'clock, with a helpful sermon by the Rector (the Rev. S. F. L. Bernays), who afterwards joined the party at tea.

At the subsequent business meeting four new members were admitted, and the election of Mr. George Williams, provisionally made on February 15th prior to the '1,000 pealers' peal, was confirmed.

It was announced that the annual general meeting of the association was arranged to be held at Ealing on April 25th, and Pinner was chosen for the next district meeting on May 2nd or 16th.

Specimen copies of 'The Ringing World' silver jubilee number were distributed, and the hon. secretary strongly urged any members not already subscribers to become regular readers. The Exercise in general, and associations in particular, owed a lot to 'The Ringing World,' said Mr. Coles, and without that journal the lot of secretaries would be much worsened.

BELLS OR CLAPPERS?

Comment was made on recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World' on the subject of the muffling of bells, and the chairman (Mr. G. W. Fletcher), who is hon. secretary of the Central Council, said that the matter would come up for discussion at the next meeting.

The hon. secretary referred to the remarks made at the Birmingham dinner by a speaker who said he thought it silly to say the clappers were muffled. Mr. Coles said it appeared to him just as silly to say that the bells were muffled, and in any case the muffle was put round the clapper and not round the bell. Actually it was the note of the bell that was muffled, and it would seem to be quite in order for a footnote to read 'Rung half-muffled (or muffled), etc.' without any reference to the clapper or bell.

Mr. Fred A. Barker welcomed the members present to Finchley, and expressed the pleasure of the local ringers at seeing so many at a six-bell meeting.

Mr. G. W. Fletcher proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his address at the service, and for allowing the meeting to take place; to Mr. F. Cherrett for arranging the meeting; to the organist; and to Mrs. Barker and friends for preparing tea. He also acknowledged Mr. Barker's words of welcome.—The vote of thanks was carried with applause.

Whilst some members amused themselves with the handbells, others returned to the tower, where the new District Master, Mr. T. J. Lock, looked after the requirements of all, with Grandsire Doubles up to London Surprise Minor.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.AN EXPERIMENT IN WEST DORSET.

The first of a series of combined practices for the West Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Guild was held at Bradpole tower on Saturday week. Members attended from Beaminster, Bradpole, Chideock, Ever-shot and Lyme Regis with the intention of gaining some insight into Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob. Every opportunity was given to those who had not taken a working bell in these methods before, and encouraging results were obtained as the fruit of keen paper study in preparation for this meeting. Ere the afternoon was over some quite good touches of Grandsire Triples were rung as well as courses of Stedman Triples and touches of Bob Major, all of which undoubtedly stirred the interest of those who had never taken a rope in these methods before, or had never had the chance to get beyond Doubles—besides helping to instil the hope among the others that the practice of fresh methods will be introduced into a wider range of towers in the branch.

The Rector, the Rev. C. W. d'Ombain, most kindly provided tea for all, and was warmly thanked for his welcome and encouragement.

This was felt to be a really useful gathering, during which every moment of the time was well employed, everyone being most sympathetic to instruction; and it is hoped that such practices may become a regular quarterly feature in the future programme of the branch.

FATHER AND SON.ANOTHER RECORD.

The association of a father and son in the art of change ringing at the same parish church may be held to constitute a record. The father was Mr. Thomas Roberts, who began on the 'dinner bell' at Ringstead, Northamptonshire, at the early age of 14, and, from that time, continued as a change ringer until his death just before the beginning of the Great War, accomplishing a service of over 60 years.

His son, George Henry, was initiated into the art at about the age of 20, and has now completed a service of 51 years in Ringstead and the neighbourhood. Father and son have thus accomplished in length of service an aggregate of 111 years, and they rang together for a period of 30 years, as one might say, side by side.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.EASTERN DIVISION AT LITTLE WALTHAM.

A very successful and enjoyable meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Little Waltham on February 28th, and, in spite of the inclement weather, 46 members and friends attended during the afternoon and evening to try the bells, which were rehung and a new treble added to make six last year after being out of ringing order for about 40 years.

A very pleasing feature of the gathering was the number of young ringers who attended, especially those who belong to the local band. They are very keen and visit other towers in the neighbourhood for additional practice.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. S. C. Gayford, who gave a very interesting address. The lesson was read by the District Master (Dr. Spencer Phillips) and the singing accompanied by the organist.

Tea was partaken of in the Memorial Hall, served by Mrs. Gayford and several lady helpers, and presided over by the Rector.

At the business meeting, presided over by the District Master, seven new ringing members were elected, viz., A. Boyce, J. M. Gayford, L. M. Hedges and T. J. Matthams, Great Waltham; A. Everett and A. M. Joslin, Boreham; and F. P. Lewis, Maldon.—It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Galleywood on May 2nd.

The District Master, on behalf of the members, thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and taking the service, and congratulated him on the success of the restoration of the bells. He also thanked the organist and Mrs. Gayford and her helpers.

The Rector, in reply, gave the association a hearty welcome and hoped that they would come again as soon as they could. He thanked the association for their help in the restoration of the bells.

Handbell ringing followed, after which a return was made to the tower and at 9.15 the bells were lowered, thus bringing another enjoyable meeting to a close.

The following towers were represented: Great Bardfield, Dunmow, Great Baddow, Boreham, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Ford End, Danbury, Galleywood, Goldhanger, Maldon, Springfield, Great Totham and Little Waltham.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.EASTERN BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Branch was held at St. Margaret's Church, Lowestoft, on Saturday, February 29th. Ringing took place in the afternoon, and tea was held at St. Nicholas' Home.

Rev. Canon H. J. Enraght, Rector of Lowestoft, who is also vice-president of the association, presided at the business meeting.

Mr. W. J. Lee was re-elected president and Mr. J. G. W. Harwood was re-elected secretary.

The committee elected was Messrs. R. W. Barber, J. Taylor, R. T. Woodley, C. Parnell and A. J. Moy.

Messrs. R. J. Davey and A. G. King were nominated for the General Committee of the association.

Three new members were elected, and the following dates were arranged for meetings: June 13th, Ade; September 6th, Great Yarmouth.

Twenty-two members attended from Norwich, Yarmouth, Lowestoft, Wymondham, Gorleston and Kessingland. Ringing took place in the evening, the methods rung being Cambridge, Double Norwich, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire.

A fine meeting was brought to a close with a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, also for arranging with the matron of the Home for a fine tea, which was much appreciated.

FIRST QUARTER-PEALS.

THEDDINGWORTH, LEICESTERSHIRE.—On Thursday, March 19th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): C. Wright 1, D. Allsopp 2, T. Miller 3, G. Hollick (conductor) 4, A. Millward 5. First quarter by ringers of 1 and 3. Ringers of treble and tenor are of the local band, and this is believed to be the longest length on the bells in which any local member has taken part.

MELKSHAM, WILTS.—On Sunday, March 22nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. F. Cockell 1, W. C. West 2, J. Jefferson 3, R. H. Legg 4, S. R. Cockell (first attempt as conductor) 5, A. J. West 6, W. S. Burbridge 7, J. J. Cockell 8.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.ELLOE DEANERIES SECRETARY'S FORTHCOMING JUBILEE.

At the annual meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild held recently at Spalding, the Rev. E. C. Gee, Vicar of Pinchbeck, was elected president of the branch, to succeed the Rev. G. H. Clark, of Surfleet, who resigned after occupying the office for twelve years. The meeting followed service in the Parish Church, at which Canon G. B. Nicholas (Vicar) officiated, and the address was given by Canon W. F. Hodge (Vicar of Bennington).

The retiring president presided over the annual meeting, when the following clergy were present: Canon Nicholas, Canon Walter Hicks (Metheringham), the Rev. E. C. Gee, the Rev. G. A. Elson (Donington) and the Rev. J. E. Callister (St. Paul's, Spalding), and ringers from Bicker, Donington, Surfleet, Pinchbeck, Spalding, Deeping St. Nicholas, Moulton, Whaplode, Holbeach, Long Sutton, Tydd St. Mary, Gedney Hill, Market Deeping, Cambridge and Peterborough, in all over 60.

Before the business a vote of condolence was passed with Mrs. Tyrwhitt-Drake, of Walsoken, wife of the late Rector, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, who was to have addressed the meeting that afternoon.

At the last annual meeting the secretary (Mr. George Ladd, Pinchbeck) gave notice of his intention to resign this year, but, on being pressed to continue in this capacity, he consented, tribute being paid to his past work.

The Rev. G. H. Clark was also warmly thanked for his work on behalf of the Guild.

The vice-presidents, Canon Nicholas, the Rev. T. G. Devitt (Fleet) and the Rev. Callister, were re-elected, with the addition of the Rev. G. H. Clark.

Other officers re-elected were Mr. R. Smith (treasurer), Messrs. J. T. Brown and R. Richardson, Surfleet (auditors), Mr. J. T. Brown (branch representative on the Diocesan Guild Committee).

The treasurer presented his balance sheet, which was considered satisfactory and adopted. It showed a balance of £27 in hand.

The following were elected as ringing members: Messrs. H. Smith (Moulton), J. W. Everitt, J. W. Gray, J. R. Gray, G. W. Johnson and E. N. Sellars (all of Fulney), J. R. Holmes (Spalding), S. C. Lawes and D. Lawes (Gedney Hill), A. W. Townsend (Long Sutton), and H. Taylor (Deeping St. Nicholas).

Meetings were arranged for the coming year at Gadney Hill (May 9th), Pinchbeck (June 13th), Moulton (September 12th) and Fulney (November 28th).

The meeting at Pinchbeck will coincide with the completion of 50 years' membership of the branch by the hon. secretary.

Votes of thanks were passed to Canon Nicholas, Mr. Chester and Canon Hodge, and the remainder of the evening was spent in ringing in various methods.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

A good gathering of ladies attended the North District meeting at Ossett, although the weather was terrible. At the business meeting, held in the church, four new members were elected.

After joining the gentlemen in the belfry, several mixed touches were rung on the fine peal of ten bells. Later a service was enjoyed by all, and several remarked on the brilliant sermon.

Good use was made of a lady's car to take ringers to the tearoom. After the tea Miss Thompson thanked the Mayor for his kindness and generosity, and Mr. Bennett and others who had made the meeting such a success.

The Mayor replied that although he was a very busy man—he had travelled half-way across England and through snowdrifts and floods to get to this meeting—when they woke him up at 4.30 to say it was time to be getting along, he didn't mind! He had heard from somewhere that a certain band of young men had shut themselves safely up (away from 'Kate') in a tower nearby and were ringing a bachelors' peal. He thought that the fearless gentlemen who had attended the meeting were having the best time of it.

Canon C. C. Marshall (president of the Yorkshire Association) gave a few words of welcome, and remarked that he was real glad to see again the old-fashioned ringers' spread (a knife and fork tea) that he had seen this afternoon. He was pleased that he was one of the fearless ones, as he was very much enjoying himself.

PARISHIONERS IN THE BELFRY.
RECRUITS AFTER VISIT TO RINGERS.

Parishioners of St. John's Church, Hillingdon, were invited by the local Guild of ringers to an interesting evening in the belfry on Monday of last week. A good number attended. Mr. F. W. Goodfellow gave an historical review of change ringing and of the bells in the tower. Six bells were placed in the tower when it was rebuilt in 1629. In 1731 they were recast into eight, and it is interesting to note that one of the earliest recorded peals of Grandsire Triples was rung there in 1733. In 1911 the bells were increased to ten, various recastings having taken place in the intervening years.

Practical demonstrations of ringing were given to the visitors, who also inspected the bells and found much to interest them. The Vicar (the Rev. A. M. Bashford) thanked the ringers and explained that the object of the demonstration was to attract recruits to the Guild.

As a result of the interest created, half a dozen parishioners have volunteered for belfry work.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS.

Attention is drawn to Rules 7 and 10, i.e., "All nominations (president, hon. secretary and treasurer, hon. librarian and hon. auditors), and all resolutions to be proposed, shall be sent to the hon. secretary in writing signed by two members of the Council not less than two calendar months previous to the meeting."

Will all persons holding a stock of publications on "sale or return" kindly send me particulars, and return any unsold "Laws affecting Church Bells"?—G. W. Fletcher, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex.

THE NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

WELCOMED BY THE MAYOR OF NEWCASTLE-UNDER-LYME.

A meeting of the North Staffs Association was held at Newcastle-under-Lyme on Saturday, March 7th, when 38 ringers were present from Alsager, Burslem, Brown Edge, Biddulph, Cheadle, Draycott, Kingsley, Leek, Lawton, Longton, Norton, Newcastle, Stone, Stoke-on-Trent, Tunstall, Uttoxeter and Wistaston.

Service was conducted by the Rev. C. J. Watkins (Rector of Newcastle), who gave a very interesting address. The choir were also in attendance, with Mr. C. Pomfret at the organ, and were afterwards entertained to tea by the Newcastle ringers.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, and the usual votes of thanks were passed.

Immediately after tea the company were honoured by the presence of Alderman S. Myott (Mayor of Newcastle-under-Lyme), who was afterwards elected an honorary member of the association.

A roll of the company present was called over by the Mayor, who, in turn, welcomed representatives of each tower to the ancient borough.

GOLDEN WEDDING AT YATELEY.

RINGERS SHARE IN FESTIVITIES.

On Thursday, February 27th, in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Butler, of Manor House Farm, Yateley, Hants, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung. Their grandson, C. Butler, rang the treble, this being his first quarter-peal. Their son, G. Butler, was conductor and their son-in-law, F. Watts, rang the third, this being his first quarter-peal of Grandsire 'inside.'

After the ringing the ringers were asked to sit down, and more of the band rang a 504 as a further compliment. Mr. G. Butler then led the party to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. Watts, son-in-law and daughter.

Here the band were warmly welcomed by Farmer Butler and his good wife, together with his daughters and grandchildren, and invited to take part then in a real golden wedding feast. The bridegroom cut the splendid three-tier cake, with bells all round; wine was brought and the president of the band proposed the health of the farmer and wife. Bells were rung in changes and tunes. Songs were sung by the son and daughter, and a real good evening passed quickly away. Such is the spirit of comradeship in the Yateley band of ringers, who considered themselves highly honoured, as a band, to have an invitation and to be the chief guests on this great occasion for the family.

S. J. R.

AFTER 22 YEARS.

A band that met for the first time since August, 1914, on Sunday evening rang a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Holloway, London. This company of old friends stood as follows: H. Franks 1, R. Charge 2, R. Newman (first quarter-peal in the method) 3, A. Hart 4, R. W. Green 5, J. W. Cornford 6, G. Charge 7, A. Turner (conductor) 8.

LOYAL SUPPORTERS.

The celebration of the Silver Jubilee of 'The Ringing World' has brought us, in addition to many congratulations, intimations of the loyal and unbroken support of numerous readers from the first number to the current issue. When reflecting on the twenty-five years of the paper's existence, we said that the thing we valued most of all was the many friendships we had made from end to end of the country. Among those whom we call friends, surely none are more deserving of the name than those who have stuck to us through thick and thin from the very beginning. Of those who gave 'The Ringing World' support from the first number, all too many have passed on. Many of them there were who never failed us while they lived. Others there are who have only come into the art in later years. They in their turn have shown the same loyalty and will, we hope, continue to do so.

But those who have subscribed to all the thirteen hundred and more issues of 'The Ringing World' must be a comparatively small circle, and we have received from several of them a suggestion that we should endeavour to find out how many there are. We are very pleased to fall in with the proposal, and we invite all those who have been subscribers to this journal without a break from the first number up to now to send us their names and addresses. It will form an interesting 'Roll of Honour,' which we shall be delighted to publish. Not only are we indebted to their constancy, but it is such as they who have made the continuation of a ringers' journal possible.

It has been a source of gratification to us to know that the interest which the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World' created has led to a renewed realisation in many places of what a ringing paper means to the Exercise. We hope this realisation will be translated into action by a more widespread endeavour to increase the circulation of the paper. It is our present readers who can best bring new supporters. They are the people who are in touch with the non-readers, and it is their steady persuasion which, almost alone, can spread the circle of subscribers. May we once more ask our friends, therefore, to stress among their fellow-ringers the importance of maintaining a paper devoted to the interests of the art, which deserves the best that can be given it. That best, however, is limited by the amount of support that is forthcoming among the ringers themselves. But for all that has been done by our friends during the last twenty-five years, we once more express our deep thanks, especially to those who through the whole of this quarter of a century have so staunchly and unfailingly supported what many correspondents like to describe as 'Our journal.'

FOR BEGINNERS.

ANOTHER METHOD OF DOUBLES.

The construction of regular methods of Doubles very severely limits the number available, and Grandsire, Reverse Grandsire and Double Grandsire are the only methods with two bells in the hunt. Of other 'regular' methods there are only five with one bell in the hunt. We dealt with one of them, Reading, in conjunction with Reverse Grandsire last week. None of the other four are pure Doubles from end to end of the plain course. Either when the treble is leading or lying behind, two other bells have to lie still, leaving only one pair, instead of two pairs, to change. Whereas in the three varieties of Grandsire and in Reading all the changes in the plain course are pure Doubles, and the full extent of 120 can be obtained by the use of two singles, substituted for bobs, in these other four methods the place-making referred to has the effect of a single in every lead and consequently the actual calls employed are bobs only.

One of the methods of this type is called Union and is really like Grandsire with a bob instead of a plain lead, coupled with a 'single' when the treble is behind. This 'single' is made by the bell that takes the treble off lead, making 3rd's and going back to lead again, while the bell that the treble turns from behind makes 4th's and turns the treble.

You can set out the work in a convenient table thus:—

Pass treble in 3-4, double dodge in 4-5 (up), lie whole pull behind, make 4th's (under the treble), lie whole pull behind, double dodge 5-4 (down).

Pass treble in 2-3, make 3rd's and lead, 3rd's and lead, 3rd's and lead.

You can summarise it thus:—

Double dodge up, make 4th's, double dodge down; after leading make 3rd's and lead, three times.

In other words, you make 3rd's after turning the treble from lead and passing it in 2-3 and 1-2. After the third time you will find the treble, coming down through 4-3, will prevent you making 3rd's again.

The plain course runs to four leads. A bob causes the bell that would have double dodged in 5-4 (down) to run straight in; the bell that would have dodged 4-5 (up) to lie a whole pull behind and have a single dodge in 5-4 (down), and the bell that passed the treble in 2-3 and should have made 3rd's, to run out and dodge in 4-5 (up).

The extent of 120 can be obtained by calling a bob at any one of the four leads in the first course, and at the corresponding lead in the two succeeding courses. The best place actually to call the bobs is when the treble is in 3rd's place on the way down. Below are the figures of a plain lead and bob lead of Union, and we recommend beginners to write out the figures of the full course, draw a continuous line over one of the figures, other than or in addition to the treble, and study the diagram which is thus produced.

A diagram is a great aid to ringing a method. Advanced ringers nearly always learn their methods in this way, and if you begin now, ringing by diagram will become a habit with you. Learn the outline of the diagram by noting, when you hunt up or down, where the place making and dodging occur, and noting, too, where you pass the treble. When you can do this it is astonishing how easily you can learn new methods, one reason being because in all regular methods one-half reverses on the other, and you find similarity and symmetry in the work.

Well, here are the figures of Union Doubles:—

AN OPEN LETTER.

TO AN OLD FRIEND.

Dear Tom,—I must say that I enjoyed the jubilee issue of our paper more than usual, especially the articles. 'J. A. Trollope' is always worth reading; and so is 'W. W.' in his way—even to that little dig at you! It was the latter, coupled with the fact of the jubilee, that reminded me. It must be getting on for five-and-twenty years since Reuben and you engineered my first peal, and I suppose this is why I resent others 'giving you one,' while I am perfectly prepared to 'have a go' at you myself! However!

You know, if I were one of the 'leading lights'—a master or secretary of a large association, on the C.O., and all that, one whose opinion carried weight—I'd put up a scheme! I'd suggest a 'tax' on associations, or something, toward the production of a larger paper—a sort of insurance against its lapse in, I hope, the far distant future. I think something like it could be done, if everybody got together, because the associations would be lost without some means of broadcasting; and, I believe, with the Editor, that a great part of our ringing life lies in the reading of what others do and say. I do know that much of my own interest would wane without this privilege.

Oh, by the way! That £720 cheque of yours in 'W. W.'s' dream! As usual, he's got it all wrong, hasn't he? You see, that cashier paid you from a bundle of notes which were numbered XYZ 0-999. I feel sure that he gave you the first note. Of course, No. 720 was left on his own pile, and you must have had your eye on that one. You got the lot, old man; the trouble is that you didn't count 'em. Of course, if he kept back No. 0, and spoilt the sequence, you've been diddled; but, take it from me, no self-respecting cashier would be such a fool!

Well—here's to increased circulation; or, that scheme!

GEORGE.

THAT ELUSIVE POUND.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I cashed a cheque for £x the other day, and the cashier insisted on paying me £x+1, explaining that in that particular bank it had always been the custom not to count the first pound at all.

I had already sent in my resignation to my employers and was in the act of drawing a few small cheques to 'Self' when, like Mr. Willson, I awoke.

Oxford.

W. COLLETT.

MR. WILLSON'S DREAM.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Willson's memory has played him false. What happened at that street corner was this: We had decided on good and sufficient grounds that a drink was necessary, but could not find between us the price of one round. Tom, however, had his watch left and so he went round to the pawnbroker's to raise something on it. He came back counting a handful of silver, and as he drew nigh he said, 'Dash it all! He has given me one bob short!' But Mr. Willson, overjoyed at the sight of so much wealth, grabbed the money out of Tom's hand, and, bursting into the Latin tongue, as is his wont when even poetry cannot express his feelings, called out, 'Ad infernos unum! Ecce pubbum! Quod habes amico? Mildum et bitterum? Pintum?' But it was Tom's money. And Mr. Willson is not awake yet. J.A.T.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION ELECTS 22 MEMBERS.

The Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association held its annual meeting at St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on Saturday, March 21st. The Vicar (the Rev. F. P. Hughes) conducted the service and gave a very appreciative and manly address regarding the use of church bells and ringers' duties relating thereto.

Tea was partaken of at the Pitman Institute, and 41 members sat down to an excellent repast, the Vicar presiding.

At the business meeting which followed, the Master, Mr. H. R. Butcher, occupying the chair, the whole of the outgoing executive were re-elected, and 22 new members were elected—a very creditable addition to the division. The election of Mr. J. P. Polloe, of Oxford, as a non-resident member was confirmed.

The secretary (Mr. A. O. Pankhurst) again called attention of members to the necessity of those desirous of attending these meetings sending a postcard intimating that fact. At that meeting he had only made arrangements for 30 teas.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicars of St. Mary's and St. Saviour's for the use of the bells at those towers; to Mr. A. Piper for his generosity regarding the cost of the tea, which he partly defrayed, and to Mr. Butcher for presiding at the business meeting.

The members then went on to St. Saviour's tower, where the bells were kept going until 8 o'clock. During the day touches in Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Surprise methods were rung.

BIRTHDAY COMPLIMENT.

On Sunday, March 8th, at St. George's Church, Stockport, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes) was rung as a compliment to the conductor on his 69th birthday: R. B. Tapp 1, C. E. Tompkinson 2, P. Laflin 3, G. L. Burgess 4, F. Twigg 5, A. E. Jones 6, H. Meakin (conductor) 7, H. Ashton 8, A. F. Bailey 9, O. Bell 10.

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S RECORD GATHERING AT STEPNEY.

The Northern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild held a very successful meeting at the ancient and historic Church of St. Dunstan, Stepney.

Stepney bells have the reputation of being one of the finest rings of ten in the country, a reputation with which most of the 50 or more people present at the meeting fully agreed, after having heard and rung them.

The newly-formed local band, known as the Guild of Stepney Scholars, set the bells going to Grandsire Triples shortly before the advertised starting time, and subsequently some of them rang in touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters in a manner which promises great things for Stepney ringing in the future. The band is a very young one and it is very gratifying to see change ringing firmly established in what has for many years been a stronghold of 'stone' ringers. It is to be hoped that they will very soon achieve their ambition of ringing an entirely local peal.

Various methods were rung by the visitors until 5 p.m., when tea, which the local band very generously provided, was served in the Parish Hall.

Following this, a short business meeting was held, at which the usual routine matters were speedily dealt with.

St. John at Hackney was chosen for the next meeting, to be held in May. St. Matthew, Upper Clapton, being adopted as an alternative.

The secretary pointed out that the district would be celebrating its 25th anniversary later in the year, and it was decided to leave the matter for the committee to settle in what way this event should be commemorated.

The District Master proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. R. French, M.A., M.C., for the use of the bells, to the local band for the arrangements made and for the splendid welcome extended, and to the ladies who prepared and waited at tea. In responding, the Rector assured the society that the visit of the association to his church had given him and his ringers a great deal of pleasure, and he assured them that so long as he was Rector of St. Dunstan's they would always be welcome.

A return was then made to the tower, and, except for a break between 7.30 and 8 p.m. for a short service, ringing was carried on until about 9.15 p.m.

Methods rung during the afternoon and evening ranged from Grandsire Triples and rounds to London Surprise Major and Cambridge Surprise Royal.

Visitors were present from many towers, and the District Master extended a special welcome to Messrs. F. Warrington and B. Wayman, of Over, Cambridgeshire.

This was the association's first visit to St. Dunstan's, and that the opportunity was appreciated was demonstrated by the fact that the attendance was a record for a meeting of the district.

A LONDON RINGING SOCIETY.

HAPPY GATHERING OF ST. MARY ABBOT'S GUILD.

The ringers of St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington, held their annual dinner at Slaters' Restaurant, Knightsbridge, on March 21st, when the Vicar (the Rev. E. Brooks Johnson, M.A.) presided, supported by the Rev. G. A. Jackson (curate), the Rev. Colin P. Cowley (formerly of St. Mary Abbot's, now Rector of Shenley, Essex), Mr. H. V. Kenyon and some thirty members and friends. The loyal toasts were duly honoured, and that of 'St. Mary Abbot's Guild' was proposed in felicitous terms by Mr. Kenyon, who is churchwarden and an old friend of the Guild. It was responded to by the Master (Mr. W. E. Judd), who gave a short account of the year's work and peals rung, and mentioned the increase both in methods and standard of practice which had marked the year.

The toast of 'The Church' was given by Mr. G. J. Strickland, who recounted briefly the historical aspects of the Church, its numerous beneficent activities and its close association with ringers, which he trusted would have a long and happy continuance.

After dinner, Mr. J. A. Dart and Mr. D. A. Roberts Thomas at the piano conducted an excellent programme of music and song, in which all present joined. Handbells were also being rung, and there was tune ringing by Messrs. J. R. and H. Mackman, whilst a song by Mr. Roberts Thomas in his native language brought a very successful evening to a close.

HALF PEALS.

At Kirkby-in-Furness, Lancs, on March 24th, a half-peal of Bob Minor (2,520 changes) in 1 hour 18 minutes: D. Waterworth 1, C. L. Sykes 2, G. Elwell 3, H. Casson 4, L. Rawlinson 5, N. M. Newby (conductor) 6. Longest length by all except ringers of 4th and 6th. All are local ringers except the conductor.

At St. Mary's Parish Church, Ashford, Kent, on Monday, March 16th, as a birthday compliment to Mr. Robert Goldup, who was 77 years old on that day, and who rang his first peal on the previous Saturday at Rolvenden, a half-peal of Stedman Triples (2,520 changes) was rung, there not being time for a peal: Mrs. C. W. Everett 1, H. O. Castle 2, J. Parsons 3, F. Conley 4, P. Page 5, T. Tabrett 6, C. W. E. Everett (conductor) 7, R. Goldup 8.

OVER RINGERS' RECORD.

Ringling at Over, Cambs, on Monday, March 23rd, for the customary weekly practice was just a little out of the ordinary. Cambridge Surprise, Superlative Surprise and three separate courses of London Surprise Major were rung as well as Double Norwich Major. Those taking part were J. Parish, M. Ginn, R. Smith, C. Robinson, F. C. Ginn, A. W. T. Ginn, W. I. Ginn, A. J. Ginn, F. G. Gleaves, B. Wayman and F. Warrington. It is believed that this constitutes a record for any one local company, both in the Ely Diocesan Association and in Cambridgeshire.

BACHELORS.

SUCCESSFUL ESCAPE.

The bachelors in several places celebrated their freedom on Leap Year Day in peal attempts. Some were rung, as our peal columns testify. Some were not, and the party who defied Kate four years ago (and only one of whose number has seen the error of his ways in the meantime) were among the unsuccessful.

Their meeting place was kept a close secret. They arrived at the church, so we are told, in various disguises, but, with anxiety weighing heavily upon them lest they should be discovered by one or more eligible females, they were unable to concentrate sufficiently, and the peal 'went west' after about two hours.

One at a time they slipped out of the belfry door into the night, and separated as quickly as they could, in the hope that, at any rate, some would escape. Their plans were successful. 'Not one of them was considered worth capture,' a lady correspondent tells us.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The new bells for Hobart Cathedral are now packed and ready for shipping from the Loughborough Bellfoundry. It is not expected, however, that the tower will be ready to receive the bells until the summer.

With a 5,040 of Minor in 14 methods, spliced into seven 720's, Mr. Walter Ayre, president of the Herts County Association, rang his 400th peal on Monday week. Of these peals, 247 have been rung on tower bells, of which 194 have been conducted, and 153 have been rung on handbells, of which 81 have been conducted.

On March 22nd, 1886, the Hereford Diocesan Guild was founded, and on Saturday week six members, belonging to the Presteigne District, celebrated the jubilee by ringing a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Lyonshall. The ringers represented six towers, and after the peal were entertained to tea by the Rev. Ellison.

A peal of Doubles, rung at Mursley, Bucks, last week deserves special notice. The Rector (the Rev. J. M. Tredennick), who is 70 years of age, and his son, Mr. J. E. F. Tredennick, rang their first peal together. In addition, it was the first peal on the bells of their own parish and was conducted by Mr. J. E. F. Tredennick. It was the first peal by three others of the band. The bells have recently been rehung and two recast by Messrs. Bowell, of Ipswich.

We understand that a new 'Bow Bells' interval signal is shortly to be put into use by the B.B.C. The one which has done duty up to now is a record made some years ago of the old bells. A record has now been made by the Columbia Graphophone Company of the recast bells, and this will be substituted for the earlier record. Ringers will be interested to contrast the effect of the old and the new rings broadcast in this way.

The meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex Association, which was to have been held at Feltham to-morrow, has been cancelled, as has also the meeting of the Sheffield District Society.

The ring of eight bells of Alresford Church, Hants, is to be rehung with new fittings in new frame by John Taylor and Co.

Mr. K. W. Mayer, of Lincoln, who was to have taken part in a peal at Welton, Lincs, on Saturday, met with a serious accident while at work. The gap in the peal band was filled at the last moment by Mr. Jack Pearson. Everyone will wish Mr. Mayer a speedy recovery.

WILLENHALL BELLS.

COMPLETE RESTORATION PROPOSED.

For some time past, the condition of the ring of eight bells in St. Giles' Parish Church at Willenhall, Staffs, has been causing anxiety to the Parochial Church Council, and, after taking the opinion of leading bellfounders, the Council has decided that the time has now arrived when the rehanging, recasting and repairing of the bells cannot with safety be any longer delayed. The approximate cost will be £750.

The parish is already faced with heavy expenditure for other purposes, including schools, organ and church fabric, and it is hoped that ringers generally will support the fund for the restoration of the bells, which have been frequently used in past years for practice and peal attempts, while many learners have rung their first touch or peal at this church.

The Council, therefore, appeals for generous support to enable this work to be proceeded with. Contributions will be gratefully received by the Vicar, the churchwardens, or Mr. Chris. Wallater, 1, Marston Street, Willenhall, captain of bellringers.

BELL ROPES' LONG LIFE.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Henley, Suffolk, last Saturday, and it is interesting to note that it was the 177th peal on the bells, with the original ropes made by John Pritchard and supplied through John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough, 34 years ago, when the bells were augmented to eight.

Although the bells are a light peal, the longevity of these ropes is a remarkable tribute to John Pritchard's product and the attention bestowed upon them by those responsible for their care at Henley.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A very successful and enjoyable joint meeting of the Warwickshire and Staffordshire Societies was held at Tamworth, Staffs, on March 21st, and, in spite of the fact that the tower is on the boundary of both societies, about 35 members attended during the afternoon and evening.

The very fine ring of eight bells was made good use of during the afternoon, after which a move was made to the schools for tea. Among those present were the Vicar and churchwarden of Tamworth. The welcome the Vicar gave to the ringers was replied to by the Rev. G. H. Barker and Mr. F. W. Perrens, on behalf of the Staffordshire and Warwickshire Societies respectively.

Before returning to the tower for further ringing, change ringing and tunes on handbells were given by Messrs. J. B. Fenton, H. Knight, F. W. Perrens, G. F. Swann, C. H. Webb and J. H. W. White.

The best thanks of the ringers are due to Mr. S. G. Chaplin, of the local company, for his valued assistance in both making the meeting possible and a success.

A 'ROLL OF HONOUR.'

OF SUPPORTERS OF 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Silver Jubilee of 'The Ringing World' has prompted several original supporters of the paper to suggest that we should publish a list of present readers who have been subscribers without interruption from the first number.

This suggestion we gladly accept, and we invite all those ringers who have so loyally supported 'The Ringing World' throughout these 25 years to send us an intimation on a postcard, with their names and addresses.

Do it to-day!

RINGING AT GLOUCESTER.

A REVIVAL AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

It is gratifying to learn from statements made at the seventh annual dinner of the Gloucester Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association that there is promise of a real ringing revival at St. Michael's Church, Gloucester, with which years ago the Rev. H. L. and E. B. James were actively associated, and at which the St. Michael's Juniors Society flourished.

The dinner, which was held at the Spread Eagle Hotel, Gloucester, was presided over by Councillor W. R. Eggleton, who was supported by Mr. S. E. Romans (Master of the association and chairman of the branch), Mrs. Romans, Mr. W. H. Harris (branch secretary), Mrs. Harris, the Rev. E. C. Prichard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams, Mr. E. Guise (hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association), Mrs. Guise and visitors from Bristol, Mangotsfield, Cheltenham, Ruardean, Newent, Westbury-on-Severn, Stonehouse, Minchampton, Swindon, Ross, Lydney, etc.

After the loyal toast, Mr. Eggleton proposed 'Church and State,' to which the Rev. E. C. Prichard responded. He said he was greatly impressed by the fact that the ringers at St. Michael's Church always prefaced their ringing with a prayer. In regard to the bells at St. Michael's, he said it was his intention that the belfry of his church should speak. The ringing of bells, he said, recalled the real joy and happiness of religion.

The toast of 'Kindred Societies' was proposed by Mr. H. Knight, who said he was grateful for the support which the Gloucester ringers gave to the Bristol ringers. Gloucester, he added, was known all over England for its history in ringing.

Mr. Jack Clarke, giving the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association,' said he had never mixed with an association that was better or more true. Some years ago he thought that ringing in Gloucester was nearly doomed, because apparently the clergy were not in sympathy with it. Ringing in Gloucester at one time, he said, used to be second to none in the kingdom. It was a great pleasure to him to hear now that the Rector of St. Michael's would do his utmost to forward bellringing. If bellringing were carried on as it used to be in Gloucester, no one could grumble about it.

Mr. S. E. Romans, responding, said there was a shortage of young ringers in the city, and he appealed for new members. The clergy, he thought, might help them in that way and encourage young men to take an interest in bellringing. His ideal was to get a separate band of ringers for each tower in the city. At present they had to divide up to make a band for each church. He was glad that they had the use of the bells at St. Michael's Church, and they had been able to ring for Sunday services at least twice a month. Eight bells had been used, and they hoped in the future to be able to use ten. It had been found unsafe to ring the ten bells until some structural alterations had been made. Unfortunately, funds were not forthcoming for that at present, but the association might be able to contribute a donation towards the fund.

Mr. Romans proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' to which Mr. Eggleton and Mrs. Eggleton, Mr. Prichard and representatives of the various districts responded.

Mr. G. Pinnell said there were some boys in the Bible Class at St. Michael's Church who were prepared to learn bellringing.

Entertainment was provided by Messrs. F. T. Harris, L. David, J. Austin, J. Williams, R. Benfield and G. H. Pinnell.

During the afternoon ringing took place at St. Michael's, St. Mary de Crypt and St. Mary de Lode Churches.

COMPLIMENT TO NONOGENARIAN.

At Rotherfield, Sussex, on Sunday, March 15th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: J. Lovell (first quarter-peal and first attempt) 1, F. Hammond 2, R. Mitchell 3, A. Lewry 4, F. H. Hicks 5, E. Bishop, sen. 6, C. Brasier (conductor) 7, H. Hinson 8. This quarter-peal was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. Rochester, of Court Farm, for his 90th birthday.

GOOD FRIDAY.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

As Good Friday falls in next week, 'The Ringing World' will go to press a day earlier than usual.

All notices and other communications for that issue must reach us not later than Monday next.

REOPENING OF TAMERTON FOLIOT BELLS.

BISHOP WELCOMED WITH HANDBELLS.

The six bells at Tamerton Foliot, near Plymouth, were rededicated by the Bishop of Exeter at a special service on Saturday afternoon, March 21st, and the old Devon village church was filled to capacity by a congregation numbering about 450, of whom 100 were visiting ringers. They came from belfries far and near—from St. Budeaux, Cornwood, Brampford Speke, Plymstock, Plymouth (St. Andrew's and Emmanuel), Plympton St. Mary, Buckfastleigh, Wembury, Ermington, Bickleigh, Botus Fleming, Egg Buckland and Bere Ferrers.

The visiting clergy included the Rev. R. H. Lucas, R.D., of Plympton and Vicar of Yealmpton, who acted as Bishop's chaplain; Prebendary S. R. Carden, Vicar of Egg Buckland; and the Revs. T. A. Hancock, Vicar of St. Budeaux; C. E. T. Wills, Vicar of Plympton St. Maurice; E. V. Cox, Vicar of Brampford Speke (president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers); A. Calder, Vicar of Modbury; Leigh Murray, Vicar of Bickleigh; H. Leigh-Lye, Vicar of Maristow; S. M. Campbell, Vicar of Ivybridge; E. J. Burt, Vicar of Crown Hill; E. J. Davies, Vicar of Ilburton; B. Bonskin, Vicar of Maryfield, Torpoint; and R. C. Alexander, Vicar of Shaugh Prior.

Prior to the service the Bishop was met at the church door by a band of handbell ringers, who rang a well-struck course of Grandsire Triples as he entered the church, the band being S. R. Roper (Croydon) 1-2, T. G. Myers (Plymouth) 3-4, G. H. Myers (Plymouth) 5-6, L. E. Collins (Croydon) 7-8. The Bishop expressed his appreciation of the handbell ringing, and said it was the first time that he had been welcomed to a church in this way.

During the service his Lordship, preceded by the choir, churchwardens and clergy, proceeded to the west end of the church at the base of the tower, and performed the dedication ceremony in full view of the congregation. As the procession returned to the chancel, some well-struck rounds were rung on the tower bells by the local band.

NEW RINGING GALLERY.

Immediately after the service rounds and call changes were rung, in the real Devonshire style, by the St. Budeaux band of ringers, and then followed two perfectly struck touches by a mixed band, one of Kent Treble Bob Minor and one of Bob Minor, the ringers being S. R. Roper (Croydon) 1, G. H. Myers (Plymouth) 2, T. G. Myers (Plymouth) 3, E. W. Marsh (Plymouth) 4, Rev. E. V. Cox (Brampford Speke) 5, L. E. Collins (Croydon) 6.

The bells were subsequently kept going to call changes and the four standard methods until 9 p.m.

The bells have been retuned and rehung with up-to-date fittings, with all the latest improvements, in a massive new iron frame, by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have also erected an oak ringing gallery about 12ft. above the ground floor. The new position of the ringers, with the consequent shortening of draught of the ropes, has brought about a great improvement in ringing conditions in the tower. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have also overhauled the clock and added to it a Westminster quarter chime section.

Mr. S. R. Roper, who represented the firm, received congratulations from all sides on the excellent work throughout of the Croydon Foundry.

It is interesting to note that during the four years of his incumbency at Tamerton Foliot, the Rev. F. B. Soady has successfully completed the restoration of the tower, the installation of a modern heating apparatus and electric lighting, and the restoration of the bells and clock.

During the afternoon some 300 visitors and parishioners attended a public tea.

UNITY IN THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir:—It was not my intention to enter into this correspondence at all, as in my opinion the position was capably stated by Mr. W. Spice, sen., in the first paragraph of his letter. Unfortunately, he then proceeded to discuss the subject right away, and I must take exception to his last remark about the need of a Ringing Master. As one who helped to start this question in the Lewisham District, I must say that the idea of appointing a Ringing Master to quell 'that undesirable spirit' never entered into my calculations. I would remind Mr. Spice that the greater the unity and brotherly feeling, the greater the attendance at meetings, the more ringers to be accommodated, and, therefore, the greater need of a competent Ringing Master to keep things on the move. T. GROOMBRIDGE, jun.

LANCASHIRE OCTOGENARIANS HONOURED.

James Arrowsmith, retired 52

John Hollows, not out 60

This is the excellent record of years of service put in by two veteran Lancashire ringers at St. Leonard's Church, Milnrow. Both have recently reached the age of 80, Mr. Hollows' birthday being on February 24th and Mr. Arrowsmith's on March 24th. In honour of the double event, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Milnrow last Saturday, in which Mr. Hollows took part.

For upwards of 60 years John Hollows has stood in the band at the treble bell for service ringing, and has taken part in a number of peals rung on historic occasions. He also rang in the first local peals of Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob Major and Grandsire Triples, and in the only peal of Minor on the bells at Milnrow.

James Arrowsmith had upwards of 52 years' continuous service ringing to his credit up to his retirement 10 years ago. He, too, rang in the first peals of Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob Major and Grandsire Triples. Both veterans are life members of the Lancashire Association.

On February 28th the ringers of Middleton Parish Church with their wives and friends met at Miss Nall's Cafe to celebrate Mr. Arrowsmith's 80th birthday. Tea was served and afterwards whist was indulged in.

During the evening Lancashire dialect recitals and songs were rendered, and Mr. Arrowsmith's health was honoured with the singing of 'For he's a jolly good fellow.'

During the evening Mr. John Hollows was presented with a pipe in appreciation of his long and faithful services. He acknowledged the gift in a very humorous speech, in the course of which he thanked his friends and said how glad he was the band was again showing sign of a happy future.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

NOMINATION MEETING.

The society's annual nomination meeting was held at Bramley on Saturday, March 28th. The bells were rung up about 3.30 p.m., and ringing continued until 5 p.m., when tea was served in a nearby cafe. Further ringing took place after tea until 7 p.m., when owing to the smallness of the tower the business meeting was held in the choir vestry. The chair was taken by Mr. J. Hey (vice-president), the president being unavoidably absent owing to business.

The following were elected new members: The Rev. A. G. Harper, Messrs. P. Cole and J. Marsh, of Bramley, F. Davison, of Idle, J. J. L. Gilbert, of Handsworth, and N. Chaddock, of Eastwood.

Nominations for officers for the coming financial year were received as follows: President, Mr. W. H. Senior; vice-presidents, Messrs. J. Hey, S. Barron and H. Davison; Ringing Master, Mr. L. Drake; auditors, Messrs. F. Raymond and F. Hutchinson; secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Lofthouse.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by Mr. F. Raymond and seconded by Mr. A. E. West.—The Rev. A. G. Harper (curate of Bramley) replied for the Vicar and churchwardens, and Mr. S. Helliwell for the local ringers.

Members were present from Armley, Burley, Calverley, Drighlington, Elland, Headingley St. Chad's, Holbeck, Idle, Leeds Parish Church, Rothwell, Sherburn, Shipley, Sutton and the local company.

The next meeting is the annual general meeting, and is to be held at Leeds Parish Church on April 25th.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR.

NEW PEAL IN SEVEN METHODS BY E. C. S. TURNER.

The following is the composition of the peal of 5,088 Spliced Bristol, Cambridge, Ealing, London, Rutland, Superlative and Wembley Surprise Major by E. C. S. Turner, which was rung for the first time on March 28th at Staines, conducted by the composer:—

The same figures can be used for four methods by ringing London instead of Ealing, Rutland and Wembley. The peal as rung contained 960 changes of Ealing, 768 of Bristol, 768 of London, 736 of Cambridge, 704 of Superlative, 576 of Rutland and 576 of Wembley.

IRISH ASSOCIATION.

CHRIST CHURCH, DUBLIN, WIN SUNDAY ATTENDANCE SHIELD.

The annual meeting of the Irish Association was held at Limerick on St. Patrick's Day. Considering the great distances travelled by those present, 72 must be considered a good muster. The following towers were represented: Dublin (three towers), Bray, Arklow, Waterford, Cork and the two local towers, St. Mary's Cathedral (eight bells, tenor 24 cwt.) and Mount St. Alphonsus' (eight bells, tenor 27 cwt.). The majority made the journey by car, and the weather, proving all that could be wished for, made travelling pleasant.

Luncheon was served in the Stella Restaurant, and was followed by the business meeting. The president, the Very Rev. Dean Mayers (Waterford), occupied the chair, and the Dean of Limerick gave a cordial welcome to the members to that old city.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. D. McNeice, Mount St. Alphonsus', Limerick; hon. treasurer, Mr. D. Gibson; hon. secretary, Mr. G. Lindoff; Ringing Master, Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C. Messrs. G. Lindoff and R. S. F. Murphy were elected representatives on the Central Council.

Dublin was selected as the place of meeting next year, and about 40 new members were elected.

The Sunday Ringing Attendance Shield was carried off by Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, with 100 per cent.

The Murphy Cup, presented by Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C., for a contest in striking at the annual meeting, was won by Waterford Cathedral, St. Finbarr's Cathedral, Cork, putting up fine opposition. The sum of one guinea was voted to the William Pyc Memorial Fund. Both rings of eight were made good use of during the day.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

PROPOSAL TO REVIVE ANNUAL DINNER.

A quarterly meeting of the Royal Cumberland Youths was held on Saturday at Gravesend, when about forty members were present. Ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m., and Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge and Superlative were rung.

The service was a shortened form of evensong, and the address was given by the Rector (the Rev. H. T. Southgate), who took as his text, 'Have faith in God.'

Tea, which was provided through the generosity of Mr. W. J. Beer, was partaken of at the Co-operative Cafe, and was followed by the business meeting, which was presided over by the curate (the Rev. H. W. Dunn).

Six new members were elected, viz., Miss E. E. Hardcastle, Miss B. M. Mills, Messrs. W. J. Eric Peartree, A. Durling, J. R. Dyke and George Naylor.

It was decided that the society should contribute £1 ls. towards the William Pyc Memorial.

Mr. J. E. Bailey proposed that the annual dinner be revived, and, after some discussion, it was agreed that a small committee, consisting of the Master, treasurer and secretary, should look into the matter, and that this committee should have power to co-opt members.

Mr. A. Hardy referred to the loss that the society had sustained by the death of Mr. R. K. Knight, who was for nearly 70 years a member. All present stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Mr. S. J. T. Shellock proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and taking the service, to the organist, to the Rev. H. W. Dunn for presiding at the meeting, and to Mr. W. J. Beer for so generously providing the tea.

Handbell ringing followed, and a passable course of Stedman Cinques was rung. The members then adjourned to the tower, where further ringing took place until nine o'clock. The methods rung included Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge, Bristol, London, Double Norwich and Duffield.

WELL-ATTENDED MEETING AT STURRY.

A highly successful and enjoyable meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was held at Sturry on Saturday. Ringing commenced at 2.30 and continued until 4.30, when the members attended service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. Lambert). An interesting address was given by the Rev. Father Reeves, of Westbere. Over 70 members, representing 17 towers, sat down in the Parish Hall to an excellent tea, provided through the generosity of the local ringers and their friends. The Vicar, the Rev. Father Reeves and Mr. W. Prosser (churchwarden) were present.

At a short business meeting which followed, with the Vicar in the chair, five new members were elected, and, amid much applause, the Rev. Father Reeves was elected an honorary member. The applause was renewed when Mr. Prosser said that he would also like to become an honorary member.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service; the Rev. Father Reeves for his address; to the Sturry ringers and friends for their welcome and hospitality; also to Mr. Pitman for presiding at the organ.—The Vicar and Mr. Slingsby replied.

A return was made to the tower, where ringing continued until late in the evening, everyone being catered for, from rounds for the beginners up to London Surprise Minor for the more advanced.

STONHAM ASPAL TOWER.

The peal of Double Norwich Royal rung at Stonham Aspal, Suffolk, recently, recalls that the top of the tower was removed so that the bells might be installed. Most of them hang above the tops of the walls and, as our picture shows, they are covered by boarded timber framing which supports the roof.

The masonry taken from the top of the tower was used, it is said, to make up the path to the church, and ringers who do not know this are sometimes mystified when they are told that at Stonham Aspal one has to walk a hundred yards over the top of the tower to reach the ringing chamber.

THE LONDON UNIVERSITY SOCIETY.

POINTS FROM NEW ORGANISATION'S RULES.

The new London University Society of Change Ringers, which has received permission from the university authorities to use this title, will, it is hoped, take its place in the Exercise with those other University Guilds associated with Cambridge and Oxford.

The rules provide that the officers of the society shall consist of a president, vice-presidents, chaplain, secretary and treasurer, who with three other members will constitute the committee. The annual subscription is to be 2s. 6d. for ordinary members in residence, and a life membership subscription of 5s. for those who have completed their term. Members of the society are to become members of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild, if qualified in accordance with the rules of the Guild. The 5s. life membership subscription of this Guild is payable through the treasurer of the University Society and is due on election.

The annual meeting is to be held in May.

The rules also provide for a fortnightly practice at All Hallows', Lombard Street, alternating with the London County Association practice at St. Clement Danes.

At the moment, however, the tower of All Hallows' is closed, owing to the condition of the fabric, and it is unlikely that any further ringing will be possible on the bells for a long time to come.

SURPRISE RINGING IN DEVON.

FIRST MAJOR BY RESIDENT BAND.

The first course of Surprise Major ever rung in Devon by a resident band was rung at St. Andrew's Church, Plymouth, on Tuesday, February 25th. Cambridge Surprise was the method, rung by eight of the regular Sunday service ringers: A. Weatherley 1, W. F. Oatway 2, S. O'Shaughnessy 3, A. Mitchellmore 4, A. W. Myers 5, R. Overy 6, G. H. Myers 7, T. G. Myers 8. On Tuesday, March 3rd, two courses of Cambridge Surprise were rung, with Messrs. W. Hiscott and J. Lukins ringing their first course of Surprise Major.

NEW TREBLE BELL AT HAMPSHIRE CHURCH.

A 'COMING OF AGE' GIFT.

An event of rare interest to the parish of Wootton St. Lawrence, Hants, took place on Sunday, March 15th, when the Bishop of Southampton (the Rt. Rev. A. B. L. Karney, D.D.) dedicated the new treble bell which has been added to the existing five, and given by Col. A. S. Bates and Mrs. Bates, of Marydown Park, to commemorate their daughter's 21st birthday.

During the service and afterwards the local ringers rang a few rounds on the new six under the guidance of Mr. H. Balaam, who is tower captain and has a good hand in the making.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank carried out the work and a very good peal has resulted. With the younger ringers, who are very keen to learn the art of change ringing, much good work should be done.

On Tuesday, March 24th, the actual birthday anniversary of Miss Anne Bates, the first 720 on the bells, an extent of Bob Minor, was rung by W. J. Marlow (first 720) 1, R. Hickman 2, B. Hunt 3, C. Ostler 4, H. Balaam (conductor) 5, J. Chesterman 6. Touches of various other methods were also rung. Everyone was very pleased with the 'go' of the bells, and a very useful six has been added to the Basingstoke District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

EFFECTIVE MUFFLING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We have had many diverse opinions expressed on the subject of muffled ringing. Perhaps I may be permitted to suggest a procedure which would satisfactorily solve all problems. In a certain country tower of my acquaintance, not far from a noted Bucks village where they thatch the pond to keep the ducks dry, the worthy steeple-keeper muffled his bells with sections of car tyres. Result, the bells were completely inaudible and no one's susceptibilities were affronted.

JUBILEE PEAL BOARD AT WALSALL.

On Thursday evening, March 5th, a peal board commemorating the ringing of a peal of 5,005 Stedman Cinques for the Silver Jubilee of the late King George V. and a peal of 5,017 Stedman Caters by John Carter for his 70th birthday was very kindly unveiled by Miss A. Windle, J.P., in the ringing chamber at St. Matthew's Church, Walsall, in the presence of the Vicar (the Rev. H. J. Carpenter, M.A., R.D.), the ringers and friends. The board is polished black and lettered in gold.

Miss Windle gave a very interesting short early history of the bells at the church, the earliest known being in the year 1540. At one time the largest bell was taken away and used for the repairing of bridges.

Mr. T. J. Elton remarked that he hoped that would never be the fate of the present tenor of their now excellent ring of twelve.

Both the peals recorded on the board were rung by service ringers of St. Matthew's.

THE BROADCAST FROM PORTSEA.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I would like to say how much I appreciated the broadcast ringing from St. Mary's, Portsea, on Sunday week. The bells came through excellently and the striking was of a high order.

As there has been so much recent correspondence on the subject of the broadcasting of bells, I certainly think that bands who are entrusted with the opportunity to broadcast should place striking above everything. Rounds well struck is infinitely better than indifferent change ringing. I was one of the band who broadcast the opening of the bells at Boston Stump a few years ago, and it was decided to ring rounds only in an effort to get the best striking, rather than attempt any sort of change ringing, although every member of the band was a change ringer of some experience and had rung peals.

R. W. DANIELS.

Leekhampton.

'YOUNGER THAN HE THINKS.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Re footnote to peal of Minor at Hoc, Kent, recorded in your issue of March 20th, the treble ringer took part in no less than four peals with me in 1927, the last being a peal of St. Clement's Triples at Sittingbourne, Kent, on September 27th.

'Laurie' is apparently three years younger than he thought.

THE COUNCIL AND ITS BUSINESS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the leading article in your last issue, the new rules of the Council, which, so far as they relate to representation, come into operation this year, contain the following: 'For the purpose of this rule the basis of the calculation of membership for territorial and diocesan societies shall be the number of annual subscribing honorary and ringing members, and resident life members.'

Your article does not make this clear. It states that non-resident ringing members do not count for purposes of representation. This is obviously incorrect. The rules admit for representation all members of territorial and diocesan societies who pay an annual subscription, whether they reside within the territory of the society or not. Only non-resident life members are excluded.

C. T. COLES.

21, Vincent Road, E.4.

[Our correspondent has quoted the rule correctly. Our reference to non-resident ringing members was intended to apply to those who, living outside a society's area, pay one sum for life membership, but that, as Mr. Coles points out, does not exactly cover the position.—Editor, 'Ringing World'.]

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

BELLS SILENT AT DISTRICT MEETING.

The third annual meeting of the Alton and Petersfield District was held at Alton. Those present included the Rev. F. G. Eyres (district chairman), the Rev. T. N. R. Griffin (district auditor), and ringing members from Alton, Blackmoor, Hawkey, Petersfield, Privett, Steep and one unattached. On account of the death of His late Majesty King George V., the bells were kept silent as a token of respect, with the exception of a short service touch with clappers fully muffled. The Guild's service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. T. N. R. Griffin), who also said a few words of welcome to those present, and spoke of the loss the country had sustained by the death of King George. Tea was served in the Parish Room, to which 26 sat down.

Before proceeding to the business meeting, the chairman called for a short silence as a mark of respect to the late King, and spoke of his appreciation of the action of the members in letting the arrangements stand under the circumstances and yet giving up a certain amount of pleasure by keeping the bells silent.

The annual report and balance sheet for 1935 were read. The latter showed a balance in hand of £6.

The district officers for 1936 and the committee were re-elected. Five new ringing members were elected from Bramshott.

The next annual meeting was fixed for January 23rd, 1937, at Petersfield. The next quarterly meeting will be held on April 25th.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS.

Attention is drawn to Rules 7 and 10, i.e., "All nominations (president, hon. secretary and treasurer, hon. librarian and hon. auditors), and all resolutions to be proposed, shall be sent to the hon. secretary in writing signed by two members of the Council not less than two calendar months previous to the meeting."

Will all persons holding a stock of publications on "sale or return" kindly send me particulars, and return any unsold "Laws affecting Church Bells"?—G. W. Fletcher, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex.

NOTICES.

GREAT RECORD PROVED FALSE.

Occasionally the ringing Exercise gets a nasty shock, when some treasured and worthy record is brought crashing to the ground by the discovery that what was believed to be a good and true performance was in fact false. To-day the peal at Southwark Cathedral on May 21st, 1923, when the Ancient Society of College Youths rang 12,675 Stedman Cinquses in 9 hours 47 minutes, and thus created a new Stedman Cinquses record, has been found to be false. Such happenings are always a minor tragedy. That nearly thirteen years should have elapsed before the discovery was made makes it doubly disappointing. There have been instances of "record" peals being found to be false after the publication of the figures, but we do not recall any case in which the discovery has been made so many years after the public appearance of the composition. The figures of this peal were set out in 'The Ringing World' a few weeks after it had been rung, and one imagines it was subjected to the scrutiny of the 'experts' of the day. It has, however, been left to the present time for the error to be brought to light.

There will be every sympathy with the band who thus unavailingly put up what was, despite this present discovery, a great performance. There have been a number of memorable achievements on twelve bells, both before and since, in which the number of changes has been exceeded, but there has been no other peal of such length rung on bells of this weight. The tenor at Southwark weighs 50 cwt. It is regrettable and, indeed, sad, that this great effort has now turned out to be abortive, but it is just one of the things which, however careful men may be, are liable to happen in ringing. Sometimes peals have turned out to be false through carelessness and even ignorance on the part of composers, but even if every apparent care is exercised, as we imagine was the case in regard to this peal, it would appear that the risk of error can never be entirely eliminated where new long lengths in such methods are produced. The unfortunate happening at Painswick in 1930 is still fresh in the minds of many people, but that 'tragedy' was quickly discovered. In the case of the Southwark peal, however, the composition has been open for inspection for more than twelve years, but no one has detected the fault until now.

Some day, perhaps, another band will put up an equal performance to that at Southwark—that remains to be seen—but the men whose record has now got to be expunged from ringing annals will probably never be able, as a band, to attempt again what they did thirteen years ago. But though their 'record' as a true peal has gone, their performance will ever remain as one of the greatest in ringing history.

FOR BEGINNERS.MORE DOUBLES.

There is a method very little rung, called New Bob. It is closely allied to Double Grandsire, if bobs were possible both behind and in front at every lead, the likeness coming from the fact that 3rd's place is made both before and after the treble's lead, and before and after its whole pull behind. But, in addition, New Bob has a 2nd's place made when the treble is leading, which causes the bell behind to lie a whole pull.

This is necessary, otherwise the bells would come round at the first lead end, as, in fact, they do if you ring Double Grandsire and call a bob both back and front. Perhaps the man who designed New Bob conceived this way of ringing Double Grandsire. But however that may be, New Bob will make a change for those who want something fresh on five bells.

The method starts off as does Grandsire, but 2 and 3 continue to dodge together on the front; that is the 2nd in 1-2 (up) and the 3rd in 2-1 (down) until the treble comes back to lead again. This is actually a double dodge.

While this is going on, the other bells coming from behind, being unable to get down to lead, have to make 3rd's place and go up again, but, except for the bell that turns the treble from behind, these bells have only one blow behind (made at hand-stroke).

There are two of them in each lead which make this odd blow behind, and this causes one other bell to do a curious piece of work. This bell is the one that turns the treble from behind. It lies a whole pull, makes one blow in 4th's, lies another whole pull, makes a second blow in 4th's and then lies yet another whole pull, the last blow of all being over the treble. This piece of work may well be described as 'full work behind.'

The result of this double dodging on the front and the full work behind is that every bell (except the treble) reaching 3rd's has a whole pull in that position. Remember, therefore, in ringing the method you cannot go into and out of 3rd's without a whole pull in that place—it helps you when you are in doubt. If the second of the two blows in 3rd's is over the treble you go down (and double dodge on the front). If it is not over the treble you have to go up; then, unless you turn the treble from behind, you have only one blow in 5th's.

The only other thing to remember, unless a bob is called, is that when the treble leads, the bell that has dodged in 2-1 (down) makes 2nd's and dodges in 1-2 (up).

This may seem a rather long explanation of a Doubles method, but we have tried to show something of its construction. If you understand the construction of simple things like this, you accumulate knowledge which helps you to understand other more difficult things later on. But you can summarise the work in New Bob quite easily thus, beginning with the 3rd:—

- (1) Make 3rd's, double dodge in 2-1 (down).
- (2) Make 2nd's, double dodge in 1-2 (up)
- (3) Make 3rd's, one blow behind.
- (4) Make 3rd's, full work behind.
- (5) Make 3rd's, one blow behind.

Make 3rd's (which is once more the starting point).

Although the calls in New Bob are designated bobs, they are, in effect, singles, for only two of the working bells change; the other two 'lie still.' The bell doing the 'long work behind' is not affected, but the bell that comes from behind to make 3rd's and double dodge on the front, marked (1) above, makes 4th's instead and after one blow behind becomes (4) above. The bell that had dodged 1-2 (up) and made 3rd's, instead of going up behind, returns to the front, and, after leading, double dodges in 1-2 (up) as (2) above. The bell that would have made 2nd's makes 3rd's and goes back to the dodging on the front, as (1).

To produce 120, call a bob at any one lead in the first course, and at the corresponding place in each of the two succeeding courses. Below are the figures of a plain lead and a bobbed lead. Write out the full course, based on the first column, draw a diagram as explained last week and study it.

THE BANKES JAMES CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am writing this on the evening of the publication of my dream, in anticipation of a possible reply in next week's issue of 'The Ringing World.' In my opinion, the only possible objection to the Bankes James composition of Cambridge Minor is the one voiced by Mr. P. J. Johnson at a Central Council meeting, viz., that the first row (rounds) is not Cambridge, and that the method does not commence till the conductor says, 'Go, Cambridge.'

However, in deference to you, sir, and to your readers, I appeal to you to discourage any further controversy in your columns on this worn-out subject, but I should be quite prepared to debate the question by post with any one correspondent, and to notify you of the final result if it is of any interest.

W. COLLETT.

45, Latimer Road, Headington, Oxford.

[It may save space, and perhaps postage for someone, if we say at once that those who take the opposite line of thought to Mr. Johnson and Mr. Collett hold that the first row (rounds) is as much a part of the method as 156342 and corresponding rows, that you cannot get the first change without it, and that the conductor has already said, 'Go, Cambridge,' when the essential row of rounds is rung. The overwhelming force of this theory will be realised by anyone who tries to construct a symmetrical even-bell method without including in it the initial row of rounds or an equivalent.—EDITOR, 'Ringing World'.]

LINCOLN GUILD.

The Grimsby District of the Northern Branch held a combined practice meeting at Barton-on-Humber on Saturday. A fairly large gathering, representing most of the towers in the district, was present. Visitors from Hull (Holy Trinity), Lea (Gainsborough District), Leverstock Green (Herts) and Sutton-on-Hull were heartily welcomed. The methods for practice were Double Norwich Court and Cambridge Major, which were well exploited during the evening, several having their first course in these methods. Everyone present appeared to have enjoyed this very instructive practice when the bells were lowered at 9 p.m.

Thanks are due to Canon W. E. Varah for the use of the bells, and to Mr. A. Hoodless for making arrangements. A.B.C.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MIDDLESEX RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Middlesex County Association accepted me as a member in 1899. Since then I have taken a very keen interest in all its doings, especially of the peals. Their members have accomplished some outstanding performances. The seven-method Surprise Major peal rung at Staines, and published in the current issue of 'The Ringing World,' in my opinion is the best ever. Seeing that it was rung by members residing in the county, I sincerely congratulate them. It shows progress on the right lines. J. HUNT.

Taunton.

BROKEN CLAPPER ENDS PEAL ATTEMPT.

A peal of Doubles at Slaughtam, Sussex, on Saturday week, came to an end in the 22nd six-score when the clapper of the tenor broke and fell out. The ringers were George A. Packham (conductor) 1, Fred Packham 2, Frederick Godsmark 3, Charles Wickens 4, Ernest Packham 5, Joseph Mansbridge 6. The peal was being rung on the back six.

Trouble, through clappers breaking, has been experienced at many places since the war. It is not the fault of the makers, but arises, we understand, from the quality of the iron that is now produced. It is extremely difficult to get a product that will stand up in all cases to the constant shock imposed upon the shank of a bell clapper.

construction for yourself. New Bob is one method; Reverse New Bob is another. Until the treble gets to 5th's, the changes are the same, but while the treble lies its whole pull behind in Reverse New Bob, 4th's is made instead of, as in New Bob, 2nd's when the treble leads; then, working backwards, make corresponding places. This gives you a method in which the double dodging appears in 4-5 and the 'full work' is done on the front. Next week we will give you the figures in order that you may check your own.

'THE RINGING WORLD' SILVER JUBILEE.

At a meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths, held last week, a resolution was adopted congratulating the Editor of 'The Ringing World' upon the silver jubilee of the paper, offering the society's best thanks for the great service he is rendering for the welfare of the Ringing Exercise, and wishing him every success in the future.

Congratulations have also come to us from the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association.

INTERESTING EVENT AT BOLTON.

On Saturday week there was a large attendance of ringers at the monthly meeting of the Bolton Branch of the Lancashire Association, held at St. George's Church, Bolton.

At 3 p.m. the bells were going, and ringing continued until about 8.45 p.m., except for tea and service. The Vicar, the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, M.A., who is also president of the association, very kindly provided tea and conducted a short service.

Immediately after the service, the Vicar dedicated two peal tablets, one recording a peal of Stedman rung in October, 1900. This is the only peal of Stedman rung on the bells, which were installed in 1806. Four of the band were at the meeting, Mr. Albert E. Wreaks having travelled from Paisley in Scotland, and Mr. Thomas Peers from Heysham, the Rev. Canon Elsee and Mr. Henry Moss. The only other survivor is Mr. Joseph Potter, now in U.S.A. The late Rev. F. E. Robinson conducted the peal, and the late Mr. Titus Barlow and the late Mr. John Makin completed the band. The other tablet records a peal of Grandsire Triples rung on May 10th last year to celebrate the Royal Silver Jubilee of the late King. The band consisted of six local members, assisted by two from Holy Trinity, Bolton.

The tablets are of oak lettered in gold leaf and are the very kind gift of Mr. Richard W. Mosley, a ringer of the district.

Canon Elsee gave a brief history of the bells, cast by Rudhall. He said not many peals had been rung on the bells. They were in a part of the town in which peal ringing could be a nuisance.

Mr. Claude I. Davies, of Liverpool, moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for providing the tea, for the service and for granting the use of the bells; also to the organist and ladies who helped.

The meeting passed a resolution congratulating the Editor of 'The Ringing World' upon celebrating his silver jubilee as Editor, and conveying many kind wishes. Speakers pressed for more members to take the paper, the value of which was pointed out.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.WHEN PEALS AND MEETINGS CLASH.

The annual meeting of the association is, as usual, to be held at Norwich on Easter Monday. In the fifty-eighth report, which is then to be presented to the meeting, it is stated that the year had no remarkable events to record. The balance sheet shows a balance of £10 12s. 2d. in hand, against £9 3s. 10d. the previous year, with invested reserve funds of the present value of £142 5s. 6d.

During the year 12 members were lost by death, 10 members resigned and there was the usual deletion of members for non-payment of subscriptions. The election of 44 new members leaves the total membership of 867, against 868 for the previous year. The peal performances for 1935 total 80 peals, rung in 19 different methods, at 32 towers, conducted by 26 members, 168 members taking part in the peals. The peals included the first peal by the association of Chesterfield Bob Major, rung at St. Mary Magdalene's, Pulham.

Regular Sunday service ringing by many companies is maintained. The report stresses the important duty of making every effort for the maintenance of regular ringing of the bells for the main services on Sundays. The clergy and parishioners like to hear their bells on Sundays calling the people to worship. 'We ringers,' says the report, 'owe a debt of gratitude to the incumbents who always so generously grant us their kind permission for peals. As office holders in the Church, it becomes our duty to be in our place in the belfry on Sundays.'

In quoting from branch secretaries' reports, it is stated in the North and South Norfolk branches more and more ringers are getting the habit of attending every meeting they can, with most pleasant results. The standard of ringing throughout the branches has been well maintained and advanced methods have gained ground.

On the other hand, West Norfolk Branch reported that the number attending the meetings was not altogether encouraging, and showed a drop on the average attendance of the previous year. Reference is made to the eleventh-hour cancellation of a meeting at Wells-on-the-Sea, on account of a peal having been rung there a fortnight before and nearby residents strongly objecting to a further long spell of ringing. The incumbent had been on holiday and did not know the feelings of his parishioners until the last minute; on the other hand, the peal ringers most probably never thought for one moment that any objection would be raised, but it does seem to raise the question as to whether it is in the best interests of the association and of ringing generally to run these events too closely together, particularly in those places where the inhabitants have not been schooled to hearing the bells so regularly as we ringers think they should have been.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Reports of peals rung on Monday should be posted to 'The Ringing World' the same day.

Those who desired to hear the fine peal of bells at Ripon Cathedral over the air on Sunday evening were disappointed at the brevity of the broadcast. The pianoforte recital which preceded it extended beyond its time and the bells were heard for barely two minutes!

The Rev. R. Sherwood, who was precentor of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, and with whom the tourists to Australia in 1934 were closely in touch during their stay in that city, is on his way with his family to England, where he is taking up parochial work. At a farewell gathering Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood received a cheque for £100 subscribed by friends of the Cathedral, and the Cathedral choir presented him with an illuminated address.

Had it not been for the false peal of London rung in 1901 and just recently discovered, Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, would last Saturday have scored his 1,000th peal as conductor. As it is, his recognised total is now 999! We imagine it will not be long before that extra one is made up.

The handbell peal of Doubles rung at Hinton-on-the-Green last Saturday is another 'milestone.' It is 'believed to be the first handbell peal rung by ladies.' Coupled with this is the fact that they are all members of the same family—a family well-known in Worcestershire ringing.

The peal at Titchmarsh on March 21st was rung in 3 hours 23 minutes. The ringer of the 4th in the peal at Gorseinon on March 28th was John H. Hanson, not Harrison as printed.

Mr. J. Corbett, hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, has been elected hon. secretary of the Forest Artisans' Golf Club, attached to the Royal Berkshire Club. He will now dream of 'birdies' and 'eagles' as well as 'bats.'

The historic slave bell, which is used by St. Michael's, Fort Wellington, British Guiana, and the broken clapper of which nearly killed the verger recently, has been repaired and replaced in the church. The inscription on the bell can still be plainly read, 'Thomas Mears and Son, Fecit,' with the date 'London, 1805.'

BELLS OF CROYDON PARISH CHURCH.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As no reader appears to have commented upon Mr. R. H. Dove's letter with regard to Croydon Parish Church bells, perhaps you will allow me that privilege.

A few years ago I was called in to inspect the tower and bells of that church, which I did and reported generally. The bells are a sound ring of eight by Taylor's, and, it is said, initiated by Grimthorpe. They are on the heavy side and of 'old standard' tuning, but when going in peal have a bold, round tone of good carrying power.

If the anonymous lady who desires to defray the cost of their recasting were to confine her generosity to rehanging the bells and to the rearranging and strengthening of the oak cage, etc., it would, I am sure, be Croydon's gain. Incidentally the town has already a fine 'Simpson' peal at South Croydon, and it might be, too, a matter of interest to retain this sister ring, tuned upon the other system. I believe that they are within hearing distance of each other.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION MEETING AT HORSHAM.

The annual meeting of the Northern Division was held at Horsham on Saturday. Members totalling 45 were present from Arundel, Bolney, Balcombe, Billingshurst, Brighton (St. Peter's and Good Shepherd), Crawley, Cuckfield, Capel, Godalming, Horley, Lingfield, Lindfield, Lower Beeding, Maresfield, Merstham, Rotherfield, Shoreham, Turners Hill, Uckfield, Warnham and West Grinstead.

Ringings commenced at 3 p.m., and a short service was held at 4.30. The address being given by the Vicar (the Rev. R. W. O. Lea, M.A.). Tea was partaken of at the Queen's Head, and at the meeting which followed the chair was taken, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, by Mr. W. Charman.

The officers for the ensuing year were re-elected and are as follows: Divisional secretary, Mr. O. Sippetts; committee, Mr. G. Apps, Mr. W. Charman, Mr. G. Olliver; Committee of Advice, Mr. G. Apps, Mr. W. Charman, Mr. O. Sippetts.

Two new members were elected, viz., Mr. J. Lovell, of Rotherfield, and Mr. F. Roberts, of West Grinstead.

After the meeting the tower was again visited, and ringing continued till 8.45. The methods ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise Major.

FAMOUS PEAL WITHDRAWN.

12,675 STEDMAN CINQUES RUNG IN 1923.

Composition Now Proved False.

Fate has dealt a cruel blow at what, for nearly 13 years, has been looked upon as a great record and certainly one of the finest performances in ringing history. On May 21st, 1923, a record peal of Stedman Cinques, consisting of 12,675 changes, composed by Mr. H. G. Miles, of London, was rung at St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, in 9 hrs. 47 mins., by 12 members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and it has stood since then as one of the greatest achievements in the annals of the art, not only for the powers of endurance exhibited by the ringers, but also for the excellence of the ringing throughout the peal.

Now, after all this lapse of time, a further examination of the composition, which was published a few weeks after the peal was rung, has revealed that it was false. The announcement is made in the following communication, which we have been asked to publish:—

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

Sir,—After a period of nearly 13 years since its performance, it has been discovered that the composition of the long peal of Stedman Cinques rung at Southwark Cathedral on Whit Monday, 1923, by members of this society, is false.

WILLIAM T. COCKERILL, Hon. Secretary.

March 31st, 1936.

The ringers who took part in the peal were Messrs. C. F. Winney 1, C. W. Roberts 2, W. S. Langdon 3, W. Rushton 4, H. Langdon (conductor) 5, W. Hibbert 6, R. F. Deal 7, T. Langdon 8, T. Groombridge 9, R. T. Hibbert 10, H. R. Newton 11, A. B. Peck 12.

We understand that the falseness of the peal was discovered by Mr. C. W. Roberts, who, recently looking over the figures, found that just one six, in the last turning course, four courses from the end, repeated with an earlier part of the peal. He communicated his discovery to the composer, who reported it at the meeting of the College Youths last week. Naturally the announcement was heard with great regret and no little consternation.

The society, while recording the facts in the minutes and acknowledging Mr. Roberts' part in the discovery, decided to seek permission to have a small brass plate attached to the peal board in Southwark tower to record the fact of the falseness.

To all concerned, we feel sure, ringers everywhere will extend their sympathy, on being robbed of the full reward of a great achievement, which was thus described in 'The Ringing World' at the time:—

'The intention was to ring a peal of 15,051, if possible, and although this length was not accomplished, a peal of 12,675 changes was brought round in 9 hours 47 minutes. The task was a stupendous one, and one which deserves the admiration of all ringers. For more than nine and three-quarter hours those twelve men rang some of the finest Stedman Cinques that ever were heard, for all listeners agree that from first to last the ringing was magnificent. The bells went off into changes at two minutes past nine in the morning, and so even was the ringing that the first ten courses came up in 62 minutes, the next ten in the same time, and each of the two succeeding ten courses in only one-half-minute more. Hour after hour the ringing went on with clocklike regularity, but after the record had been broken it was deemed wise to bring the bells round, for Mr. Alfred Peck, on the tenor, was feeling the strain of the long sustained effort. No one wonders at that. To ring a 50 cwt. bell for that length is a tremendous triumph, and everyone must agree that a 12,675 in hand is worth a good deal more than 15,051 in the bush, so to speak. Great credit is due to everyone of the band, and it should not be forgotten that there were, in addition to men of tried merit and long experience, two youths in the peal, one of whom, Wilson Rushton, is only 17½ years of age. One of the things which enabled the peal to be rung was the attention given to the bells by Mr. Albert Hughes, who four or five times during the peal went up among the bells, and with great coolness and dexterity oiled the bearings.'

BIRTHDAY COMPLIMENT TO VICAR.

At Thorne, Yorks, on Tuesday, March 31st, 1,260 changes Grandsire Triples were rung as an 82nd birthday compliment to the Vicar, Canon J. J. Littlewood. For several years this annual compliment has been paid the Vicar: R. A. Andrews 1, J. Thorley 2, A. Woods 3, T. A. Hepworth 4, C. H. Thorley 5, W. Hobson 6, C. Thorley (conductor) 7, R. Ward 8.

TWELVE BELLS FOR LEICESTER CATHEDRALNEW RING TO BE CAST AT LOUGHBOROUGH.*King's Special Consent to Name the Tenor 'The Coronation Bell.'

The ten bells at the Cathedral Church of St. Martin, Leicester, are to be recast and made into a ring of twelve, which are to be ready for the Coronation.

The Provost (the Ven. F. B. Macnutt) summoned the Cathedral ringers to meet him in the Church House last Thursday night, when he announced the splendid news that work was to be put in hand at once to recast, rehang and augment to twelve the Cathedral peal.

This came as a complete surprise to the ringers, as, owing to other financial schemes in the diocese, it had been thought that it would be a long time yet before the renovation of the bells could be tackled. However, things have evidently been moving quietly but rapidly behind the scenes during the past week or two, and various generous donors have promised to see the whole thing through with regard to the cost of the scheme. It is confidently expected that the Cathedral will now possess a fine ring of 12, and various improvements are to be effected in the belfry which will make it an ideal tower from the ringers' point of view.

His Majesty the King has graciously given his special consent for the tenor bell to be named 'The Coronation Bell of King Edward VIII.' His Majesty has made this conditional upon the bell being used for the first time on Coronation Day. It is also interesting to note that one of the new trebles is to be named 'The Bell Founder's Bell.'

All those who have rung at Leicester Cathedral, or St. Martin's as it was formerly known, are only too familiar with the present poor peal and the unsatisfactory ringing order. Congratulations will therefore be extended to Mr. Fred Dexter by his many ringing friends throughout the length and breadth of the country that he is now to have a peal worthy of the band which he has brought to such a high standard.

The Cathedral authorities, who are proud of the fact that the Loughborough Foundry is in their Diocese, have, of course, placed the work in the hands of John Taylor and Co.

The completion of this new scheme will give the city of Leicester two rings of twelve, the other being at St. Martin's Church.

DEATH OF AN OLD WALKDEN RINGER.

On Saturday, March 28th, there passed away one of the old Walkden ringers, Mr. Samuel Oakes, who had reached the age of 72 years. He had been a member of the Walkden company since 1884, but had not rung during the last three years owing to ill-health. He had taken part in 41 peals for the Lancashire Association.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, April 1st, at St. Paul's Church. He was carried to his last resting place by his brother ringers. The floral tributes, which were very beautiful, included one in the form of a bell from the ringers.

After the committal a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by Miss A. Potter 1-2, A. Potter, jun. 3-4, John Potter 5-6, A. Potter, sen. 7-8. While the mourners were leaving a short touch of Stedman Triples was rung. A muffled peal was rung on Saturday.

BARWELL.—At the Parish Church on February 5th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in honour of Mr. Charles Belton's 73rd birthday: *Miss D. Belton 1, William White 2, A. Lucas 3, F. Deacon 4, *Charles Belton 5, *Richard Belton 6, Kelham Deacon (conductor) 7, Harry England 8. * Three generations.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE SHREWSBURY MEETING.

Minutes of the Third Session of the fifteenth Council (43rd annual meeting), held in the Council Chamber, Shrewsbury Castle, Shrewsbury, on Whitsun Tuesday, 11th June, 1935, at 11 o'clock.

The Lord Bishop of Lichfield extended a cordial welcome on behalf of the Church and also on behalf of the Mayor, who was prevented from being present.

The President, in his reply, congratulated the Lord Bishop of Lichfield on the completion of 25 years as Bishop of the Diocese.

HIS MAJESTY'S SILVER JUBILEE.

On the President's motion the following telegram was despatched to H.M. the King:—

'The Central Council of Church Bellringers, assembled for its annual meeting in Shrewsbury Castle, respectfully offers its congratulations on the attainment of your Majesty's Silver Jubilee, in the happy celebration of which the ringers of Great Britain and Ireland have taken their part, and on their behalf the Council expresses the earnest hope that for many years to come your Majesty's reign over a loyal and united people may be prolonged.'

—Edwin H. Lewis, President.

Later in the day the following reply was received:—

'The message of good wishes contained on your telegram was much appreciated by the King, whose sincere thanks I am commanded to convey to you and all who joined in these congratulations.—Private Secretary.'

MEMBERSHIP AND REPRESENTATION.

The Hon. Secretary reported that no subscription had been received from the Cleveland and North Yorks Association, and the North Staffs and District Association. Including these societies the membership was:—

Affiliated Societies, 51, represented by 128 members.

Honorary Members, 15.

(Note.—The North Staffs and District Association subscription was received on August 2nd.)

HONORARY MEMBERS.

On the President's motion, the retiring members, Messrs. W. A. Cave and A. Walker, were re-elected.

PRESENTATION OF NEW MEMBERS TO THE PRESIDENT.

In accordance with Rule 11, the following were presented: The Rev. C. E. Wigg (Oxford University), Messrs. W. Saunders (Shropshire), G. H. Cross (Royal Cumberland Youths), J. Hardcastle (Yorkshire) and E. C. S. Turner (Honorary).

APOLOGIES FOR ABSENCE.

Apologies were received from Alderman J. S. Pritchett, the Rev. E. F. Wilkinson, Messrs. H. Baxter, H. G. Bird, R. G. Black, C. E. Borrett, J. H. Cheeseman, J. Clark, D. G. Clift, W. T. Cockerill, A. Coppock, W. J. Davidson, F. Nolan Golden, E. Guise, R. T. Hibbert, J. D. Johnson, Gwyn Lewis, W. J. Nevard, J. W. Parker, F. W. Perrens, J. Phillips, W. Pickworth, S. H. Symonds, T. H. Taffender, and Honorary Members, Messrs. C. Dean, J. Griffith, C. F. Johnston, C. W. Roberts.

LOSS OF MEMBERS THROUGH DEATH.

The death of the following members and past members was reported and the members stood in silence as a tribute to their memory: Mr. E. Bishop (1922-28, 1932-34), Mr. J. Cotterell (1918-1934), Mr. E. P. Debenham (1894-1902), Mr. G. R. Fardon (1908-1911), Mr. F. F. Linley (1891-1897), Mr. W. Pye (1912-1923).

MINUTES OF LAST MEETING.

On the motion of Canon G. F. Coleridge, seconded by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, the minutes published in 'The Ringing World' on April 12th, 1935, were approved and taken as read.

Arising out of the minutes, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith reported that the letter of greetings, illuminated on vellum by Miss Kathleen Hughes, was duly presented to the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, Melbourne. The presentation was made by Mrs. R. Richardson (Ladies' Guild), and the Australian tourists were asked to convey to the Council the grateful thanks of the society.

Mr. Goldsmith also reported that the stock of publications was distributed among the various towers visited.

In answer to a question by Mr. E. M. Atkins, the hon. secretary stated that no steps had yet been taken to prepare a census of ringers.

REPORTS.

The following reports, etc., were circulated to all members and associations and have been published in 'The Ringing World.' They are preserved in the Council's records and are available for inspection.

REPORT OF THE HONORARY LIBRARIAN.

The report by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, hon. librarian, was published in 'The Ringing World' on June 21st, 1935, page 398.

The report was adopted on the motion of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, seconded by Canon Elsee.

The Standing Committee recommended: 'That the booklet, "Law Affecting Church Bells," be reprinted after reference to Alderman Pritchett with regard to revision, and with particular reference to the question of insurance of ringers who are purely voluntary.'

'That the "Collection of Doubles and Minor" be reprinted after revision by the Methods Committee.'

'That a copy of the Library Catalogue, when ready, be sent to all members of the Council and all secretaries of associations.'

On the President's motion, the recommendations were adopted, and it was also agreed to ask Alderman Pritchett to agree to the inclusion of the Rev. H. Drake's pamphlet on 'Faculties' in the reprinted 'Laws Affecting Church Bells.'

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

The hon. treasurer presented the annual accounts (see 'The Ringing World, June 21st, 1935, page 398), which had been audited by Messrs. C. T. Coles and A. A. Hughes.

On the motion of Mr. A. A. Hughes, seconded by Mr. W. A. Cave, the accounts were adopted.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

Mr. E. A. Young reported for the trustees (see 'The Ringing World,' June 21st, 1935), and referred to the death of Mr. G. R. Fardon (demonstrator).

The Standing Committee recommended that a fee of 10s. 6d. be paid to Mr. Sharman, and that the trustees endeavour to find a suitable successor to Mr. Fardon.

The report and recommendations were adopted on the motion of Mr. E. A. Young, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes.

DEMONSTRATION BY MR. G. F. WOODHOUSE.

Canon Elsee reported that Mr. Woodhouse would not be able to give the proposed demonstration of his ringing machine, owing to an accident which occurred when leaving home for Shrewsbury, and, on the president's suggestion, it was agreed that Canon Elsee be asked to convey the Council's great regret and sympathy.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

(The formal report was published in 'The Ringing World' on June 21st, 1935, page 398.)

The committee recommended that the 'Pamphlet on Variations' by Mr. Trollope which had now been received be printed and the price be fixed at 1s. per copy.

On the President's motion, the report and recommendations were adopted.

REPORT OF THE PEAL COLLECTION COMMITTEE.

The report (see 'The Ringing World,' 21st June, 1935, page 398) was presented by Mr. G. Lindoff.

The Standing Committee recommended that in the Collection of Peals now being prepared the committee be given power to increase the number of compositions in any one method, but endeavour to keep within the limit proposed by the committee in their 1934 report.

On the motion of Mr. G. Lindoff, seconded by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, the report and recommendation were adopted.

REPORTS OF THE METHODS COMMITTEE.

The hon. secretary reported that a letter, dated May 21st, 1935, had been received from the Rev. E. S. Powell tendering his resignation from the committee.

The report (see 'The Ringing World,' 7th June, 1935) was presented by Mr. J. A. Trollope, who moved the adoption. Mr. S. H. Wood seconded.

An amendment, proposed by the Rev. H. Drake, seconded by Mr. P. J. Johnson and accepted by the committee, that the report be received, but not adopted, was carried.

Mr. J. A. Trollope stated that the result of the committee's investigation of Surprise methods had been included in two volumes of a book, and these he now presented to the Council Library.

Mr. E. C. S. Turner proposed and Mr. S. H. Wood seconded on behalf of the committee that the Methods Committee be authorised to prepare a book on the Surprise Major methods and to hand the same to the hon. secretary, and that the hon. secretary be authorised to take the necessary steps for publishing the same.

An amendment was proposed by the Rev. E. S. Powell and seconded by Mr. G. Lindoff: 'That it be an instruction to the Methods Committee to prepare a MS. collection of 500-600 Surprise Major methods, which shall include an adequate proportion of methods representing the most recent research, and that this collection be made available to members of the Council through the library for their suggestions and criticism, with a view to the ultimate publication of a book containing 100-200 representative Surprise Major methods.'

The amendment was lost and the committee's recommendation was adopted.

REPORT OF THE PEAL ANALYSIS AND RECORDS COMMITTEE.

The report (see 'The Ringing World,' May 17th, 1935, page 319) was adopted on the motion of Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. G. R. Pye.

REPORT OF THE TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE.

The report published in 'The Ringing World' on July 5th, page 431, was presented by the president, who moved the adoption.

The committee, on the suggestion of the Rev. H. Drake, agreed to consider the question of silencers in connection with sound modification.

REPORT OF THE LITERATURE, PRESS AND BROADCASTING COMMITTEE.

The committee's report (see 'The Ringing World,' July 12th, 1935, page 445) was presented by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, who also moved the adoption.

The committee, in their report, recommended that a letter be written to the British Broadcasting Corporation congratulating them on the broadcasts given at Christmas and at royal functions, and on the interval signal, but expressing regret at the omission of bells at Easter and at the discontinuance of the transmissions from the Midlands and chiefly from Birmingham.

The motion was seconded by Mr. A. Paddon Smith and carried.

TO ALL COMMITTEES.

On the President's motion, a vote of thanks was passed to members of all committees for their work during the year.

RECEPTION OF AUSTRALIAN TOURISTS.

Prior to the luncheon adjournment, the business of the Council was adjourned to receive the members of the party which had recently visited Australia and New Zealand. The President congratulated them on the success of the tour, and a short account of the visit was given by Mr. W. H. Fussell. The tourists were afterwards the guests of the Council at lunch.

ALTERATION OF RULES.

It was proposed by the President (Mr. E. H. Lewis), seconded by Mr. G. W. Fletcher, that the following alteration be made in the rules:—

To amend Section 2 of Rule 2 by deleting the word 'fifteen' and substituting the word 'twenty.'

The rule to read 'Of honorary members not exceeding twenty in number elected by the Council.'

The motion was carried nem con.

MOTIONS.

It was proposed by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, and seconded by Mr. C. H. Jennings:—

'That an address be presented by the Council to the Diocesan Bishops, requesting them to take measures to ensure that the designs prepared for churches to serve new centres of population shall include due provision for the ultimate erection of substantial towers to accommodate peals of bells properly hung for ringing, at such points as to place every group of houses within hearing of a peal of bells; at the same time directing their lordships' attention to the fact that all cause of annoyance from the sound of bells can be effectually eliminated, if architects' designs conform to the recommendations of the Towers and Belfries Committee.'

On the understanding that the wording of the actual address be modified, the resolution was carried.

It was proposed by Mr. C. T. Coles, and seconded by Mr. E. C. S. Turner:—

'That in view of the extension of the practice of splicing methods this Council resolves that the term "Spliced" shall be applied only to those peals in which there are at least as many changes of method as there are courses in the peal, subject to the following stipulations:—

(a) In peals in even-bell methods in which singles are used, the number of changes of method before a single shall be at least equal to the number of courses preceding the single, and, similarly, after a single, equal to the number of courses which follow it.

(b) In peals in odd-bell methods, the number of changes of method shall be at least equal to the number of changes of the bell in the hunt, or of the courses in the peal. Subject only, in peals in which less than six methods of Triples are rung, to any reduction of the number necessitated by two or more hunt bells, relating to the same method, being consecutively called into the hunt.

(c) The conditions relating to even-bell methods shall apply in peals of Minor to each 720 individually, and for the purposes of this rule each 720 with a Treble Bob hunt shall be considered to have six courses, and each 720 with a Plain hunt or with an Alliance and Little hunt, twelve courses.

(d) Peals of Doubles shall be deemed to comply with this rule if there is at least one change of method within a 120 and not more than half a six-score is rung without changing into a different method.

'Peals which contain more than one method, but which do not conform to the foregoing, shall be called "Combined" peals.

'That as splicing involves changes of methods at plained, bobbed and singled leads alike, it is further resolved that peals in which the change of method is not made at the lead-end, such as certain peals of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, shall not be termed "spliced peals."

'These decisions shall apply to peals on all number of bells.'

Note.—The above motion is given in its amended form, permission having been given to amend paragraph 2, and an amendment proposed by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. G. L. Grover, in respect of paragraph 1 having been accepted by the proposer and seconded of the motion.

The following amendment was proposed by Mr. J. Hunt, seconded by Mr. J. Parker:—

'That a spliced or laminated peal shall contain a full course of each method rung.'

On the suggestion of Mr. S. H. Wood, it was agreed that the discussion on the motion be postponed until the next meeting, and the following amendment, proposed by Mr. S. H. Wood, seconded by Mr. T. Clarke, was carried:—

'That all peals which contain more than one method shall be called "Spliced Peals." That reports of all Spliced Peals shall include a reference to the number of methods rung and the number of changes from one method to another during the peal.'

It was proposed by Mr. W. H. Hollier, seconded by Mr. C. T. Coles, and carried:—

'That in the opinion of the Council it is desirable that a record should be made of old and valuable peal boards, and that a committee be appointed to prepare this record.'

The Standing Committee recommended that the committee consist of Mr. W. H. Hollier, the Rev. C. E. Wigg and Mr. W. Ayre, and that all members of the Council be asked to co-operate. On the motion of Mr. Hollier, seconded by Mr. A. D. Barker, the recommendation was adopted.

It was proposed by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. A. C. Hazelden, and carried:—

'That to ensure the accuracy of the Council's Peals Analysis and as a matter of general interest, those responsible for sending the reports of peals for publication in the ringing Press be urged to denote all 'first peals' and 'first peals in the method' both by any of the ringers and 'as conductor.'

It was proposed by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. G. R. Pye, and carried:—

'That a record be prepared of past members of the Council, giving a short account of their work, and where possible a photograph, and that a committee be appointed to undertake this work.'

The Standing Committee recommended that the committee be Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, Mr. W. A. Cave and Mrs. Fletcher, and that these consult with Canon Coleridge in the case of earlier members.

On the President's motion, the recommendation was adopted.

PLACE OF NEXT MEETING.

The President formally stated that the next meeting was, by rule, to be held in London, when the new rules would be operative and all affiliated societies must pay affiliation fees based upon the number of members to which they were entitled.

OTHER BUSINESS.

As to New Rules.—The Rev. W. H. Trehwella stated that the membership of the Truro Diocesan Guild was not individual, but by towers, and out of 800 members of towers, only 55 were change ringers. If, for the purposes of the new rules, their membership was taken as 800, financial difficulties might render it impossible for his Guild to remain affiliated.

The President asked Mr. Trehwella to report to the Council if these difficulties arose, in order that these special circumstances could be considered.

As to proposed memorial to Mr. W. Pye.—On the President's motion, the Council endorsed the scheme which was being launched by the Middlesex County Association, supported by the Essex Association.

As to reports of Affiliated Societies.—The President invited all societies to send copies of their annual reports to the hon. secretary.

As to 'The Ringing World'.—In reply to an inquiry by Mr. C. H. Kippin, it was stated by the President that the committee appointed to consider the question of advancing the circulation was still giving its attention to this matter.

VOTES OF THANKS.

On the President's motion, the thanks of the Council were accorded to the Mayor and Corporation for the use of the Council Chamber, the Bishop of Lichfield for his presence, the Shropshire Association for their hospitality, and Major Trevor Corbett, Mr. R. R. Pole and committee for the excellent arrangements, the incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells and to all towerkeepers.

A vote of thanks to the president was carried with acclamation, on the motion of Canon Coleridge.

On the motion of Mr. W. Ayre, a special vote of thanks was given to the Methods Committee for the enormous amount of time spent in the interest of the Council.

On the motion of Mr. W. H. Shaker, thanks were accorded to the hon. secretary and Mrs. Fletcher for secretarial work.

The meeting concluded at about 6 o'clock, after which members and friends were entertained to tea by the Shropshire Association.

THE ENTHUSIASTS.

Few things in all the twenty-five years' existence of 'The Ringing World' have given us greater pleasure than the messages that have been reaching us from those readers who have supported the paper since its first number and whose names we are delighted to include in the 'Roll of Honour.' These letters have, in scores of cases, brought congratulations and compliments, which are most encouraging, but what has impressed us most of all has been the sense of loyalty revealed and the appreciation of the fact that the prosperity of the art of ringing depends very largely upon the maintenance of a journal devoted to its varied interests. These writers are, of course, all of them growing old in the art, for even a quarter of a century is a good spell in a man's life, but the loyalty of many of them goes back a good deal further than the first days of 'The Ringing World,' and a few even to the era before the 'Bell News.' They have always realised that the future success of change ringing has depended to a great degree upon the interchange of ideas, the extension of knowledge to the widest possible degree, and the co-ordination of the efforts of ringers in the main essentials. Without the medium of a journal this would be nearly, if not quite, impossible.

It is this realisation which we wish could be impressed to a greater degree upon those who think that a ringing paper is an unnecessary luxury and those who prefer to leave its support to others. One stumbling block to this is, of course, the fact that many ringers, indeed, from the number who actually support 'The Ringing World,' we can say the majority, have but a poor conception of the ideals of ringing. They have no ambition to make progress in the art, are content with what instruction they can get from their colleagues in the belfry, and, for the most part, only indifferently fill the office which they hold in the church. The ringer who fully appreciates the responsibilities of his office is the ringer who is also loyal to his colleagues and eager to advance in the art. He is not the man who thinks only of his paltry share in the loaves and fishes, or wonders what he can get out of it. He is the man who puts his best into it for the sake of the art and of the office that he holds. It is to the men of this type that ringing newspapers have always had to look for support in the past, and with them largely lies the difficult task of securing that support which will make the maintenance of their journal possible in the future. There are, we know, hundreds of ringers who have come into the Exercise since the first number of 'The Ringing World' was published, who are as keen

REVERSING A METHOD.

In the last article we suggested that those who are interested in these elementary studies should endeavour to do a little 'method construction' on their own account, by writing out a course of Reverse New Bob from the lead of New Bob which we then printed. In reversing any method in which the treble conforms to a plain or treble bob hunt, the essential thing is to insert the places made by the working bells in the same relation to the treble going from back to front and front to back, as in the original method are inserted as the treble goes from front to back and back to front—reversed, as it were, in a looking glass.

For instance, in Grandsire Doubles you make 3rd's place as the treble leaves the lead going up. In Reverse Grandsire the place is made in 3rd's as the treble leaves the back on its way down. It happens that in Grandsire Doubles the place is 3rds, whether it be in the original or the reverse method. But if it were Grandsire Triples, the 3rd's place in the original, would actually be 5th's in the reverse, because 3rd's from behind, when you count the places, takes you actually into 5th's. In the same way in Minor, to reverse a 4th's place when the treble is hunting up, you must have a 3rd's place when the treble is hunting down.

Briefly, then, to reverse a method, use the same places, counted from the back and corresponding with the reversed position of the treble, as you used in the original counted from the front.

In New Bob, as it happens, the 3rd's places remain the same both in the original and the reverse, because 3rd's place is made on every possible occasion. The difference between the two methods is only in the transfer of the 2nd's place made when the treble leads to 4th's place when the treble has its whole pull behind.

Here is another way of getting it. Having written out one lead of the original version, write out each row of figures backwards. You will not be reversing the same lead, but you do reverse the method, and a complete course can be made up from any lead. Indeed, it may be an advantage to break away from the plain course. Below we put side by side a lead of the original and a reversed lead by writing the figures of the rows backward:—

23145	54132
23451	15432
32541
23514	14523
32154	41532
31245	45123
13254	54213
	45231
13524	42531
31542	24513
35124	42153

While, however, the work is changed in the method from front to back, or vice versa, the bobs are still made when the treble is at the front, and consequently the calls affect the work in a different way. In the original version a bob does away with 2nd's place, when the treble leads, but in the reverse method it does away with the 3rd's place before the treble leads. Here is the difference in the bobs, as shown by the figures; try out for yourself its effect upon the sequence of the work of the method.

New Bob.	Reverse New Bob.
24351	32541
42315	23514
24135	32154
call bob 21453	31245
12435	13425
14235	14352
41253	41325
24315	34512

In each case, without the bob, the bells would have come round.

A six-score in either method can be obtained by a bob at any one lead in the first course, followed by bobs at the corresponding leads of the two succeeding courses.

Now try another bit of method construction. St. Dunstan's is a method built up like New Bob but without any 3rd's place made when the treble is above 3rd's. Can you write it out?

DINGLEY, NORTHANTS.—On Saturday, April 4th, at All Saints' Church, a quarter-peal of Doubles in 45 minutes, consisting of 240 changes each of Old Doubles, Plain Bob, Grandsire and London Doubles, and 300 changes of St. Simon's: P. Amos 1, E. Morris 2, J. Davey 3, R. Russell 4, P. Jones (conductor) 5. Rung after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal in seven methods. This is the greatest number of changes rung on the bells since 1929.

BELLS DEDICATED AT CODSALL, STAFFS. MEMORIAL TO FORMER RINGER.

It is not an easy task to describe the beauty and exquisite richness of the new ring of eight bells at Codsall, Staffs. From a ringer's point of view, the peal is perfect. They can be heard level and to nicety in the ringing room—there is no excuse for bad striking in this tower. From the non-ringer's point of view the bells have added to the amenity of the village, for in spite of the lightness of the peal it possesses a rich and pleasing quality with a depth of tone which causes 'weight judges' to be out in their calculations or guesses.

The dedication service on Sunday evening, April 5th, was an unforgettable occasion and one which made a very big impression upon the inhabitants of the village. In addition to the bells, there was the dedication of a credence table, churchwardens' staves and a churchyard gate, all of which was done by the Ven. Archdeacon of Stafford—perhaps, better known formerly as Canon Hodson—who later preached a very impressive sermon. It is, indeed, interesting to note that the Nonconformist friends shared in this enrichment of the church, and at this special service the lessons were read by the Rev. McMillan, of the Free Church in the village.

The ringing arrangements were in the hands of Messrs. Perry and Knight, and they are to be congratulated upon their selection of the opening band. There was no fault to find with the striking, and the touch of Grandsire Triples at the conclusion of the service demonstrated in no small way what can be done with these bells.

It seemed to surprise the inhabitants that so many visiting ringers should turn up and make so good use of the bells, ringing being kept up until a somewhat late hour.

We have it on good authority that an amusing incident occurred prior to the service. A cyclist was seen to arrive and approach the church in a somewhat furtive manner. After looking round, as though to see if the coast were clear, he disappeared through the door of the turret stairs. He was quickly followed by several people, who had heard someone remark, 'That chap's gone to take the tenor.' As could be expected, they were naturally perturbed for the safety of the bells and, thinking they were going to be robbed of a bell, chased up the stairs and caught him in the act of measuring the tenor! Happily he had some friends amongst the visiting ringers who could vouch for his integrity, otherwise Swindon might have been a ringer short for a few Sundays.

Mr. Charles Horrell, who had been mainly responsible for the restoration of the bells, was the most disappointed man of the day, as, owing to a riding accident, he was confined to his bed. We wish him a speedy recovery, and trust he will live long to hear and enjoy this fine peal of bells.

For many years Codsall has possessed a very mediocre peal of six with a tenor of about 9 cwt., whose ringing order caused ringers to give the tower a very wide berth, while, in addition to the poor running order, the ringing arrangements were far from pleasant, as one had to stand on boards that were laid on the backs of the pews. That has now been done away with, and a fine ringers' gallery has been erected. As for the bells themselves, they have been recast at the expense of the people of Codsall, and two treble bells given in pious memory of Edwin Moreton, an old ringer of Codsall. They are the gift of his daughters, the Misses Moreton, who have also given a memorial tablet. The augmented ring of eight is hung in a fine new framework. Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who were entrusted with the work, left no stone unturned to ensure a perfectly satisfactory job from every point of view, and they have provided a peal of fine musical tone which has even exceeded the most optimistic expectations of the Church authorities, whose joy and thankfulness were expressed to the firm's representative, Mr. John P. Fidler, time and time again. From the peal ringer's point of view here is a peal ideal in every way.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Archdeaconry of Ely Branch was held at Ickleton on Saturday, April 4th. With quite a representative gathering from the district, members from the Central Branch and visitors from Essex and Hertfordshire, the reputation of the Ickleton meetings was well maintained. Ringing commenced with rounds (perhaps some clever person will say it always does) at about 3 p.m., and finished with a course of London Surprise Major at about 8.30.

The Vicar, who conducted the service, in the course of his address referred to the great loss the association has sustained in the tragic death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake.

All are grateful to Mr. P. Webb, of the local band, for making the arrangements for the meeting.

THE MASONIC PEAL BOOK.

VOLUME DEPOSITED IN GRAND LODGE.

For the information of ringing brethren, Mr. F. White asks us to publish the following with regard to the Masonic Peal Book:—

The book is deposited in, and is the sole property of, the Grand Lodge of England.

The Grand Librarian will issue sheets for the writing of peals to a recognised writer on application, and has agreed to insert the sheets in the book. The address is 'The Grand Librarian, Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, London, W.C.'

Mr. J. Holland, of 9, Rolis Passage, Chancery Lane, E.C.4, has written the last few peals, and is agreeable to do them in future at the same rate as originally arranged with the late Mr. Scarborough, viz., 8s. per peal. (It is, of course, not intended that Mr. Holland should have the monopoly, but he is on the spot and his terms are moderate.)

Details of the ringers are restricted to the title (Bro. or W.Bro.), and the number and name of one Lodge. Other titles, such as Provincial or Grand rank or other degrees are omitted. Footnotes are also restricted to matters of purely Masonic interest. The details of the book, as shown in the bill, are: 'The leaves are of Jap vellum, gilt edges, book sewn in sutured silk, silk ends, sewn blue silk, and the book is bound in Sumach tanned morocco of a Masonic blue, and the lettering of embellishments are of pure gold.' The cost was £7 7s., exclusive of the illuminating of the front page, which cost a further 18s. Every care has been taken to ensure that all peals rung by Freemasons have been written in the book, but if any have been inadvertently missed, will the conductor kindly inform Mr. F. White, Westfield, Cranbrook, to whom no further reports should be sent. The peals recorded are as follow:—

- 4/12/1919.—St. Clement's, Strand. Grandsire Caters.
- 29/3/1924.—Garston, Lancs. Kent Major.
- 14/2/1925.—Bushey, Herts. Stedman Triples.
- 27/2/1926.—St. Barnabas', Erdington. Stedman Triples.
- 24/4/1926.—St. Alphage, Solihull. Stedman Caters.
- 17/7/1926.—Cheimsford Cathedral. Stedman Triples.
- 9/4/1927.—Crayford. Cambridge Major.
- 31/10/1927.—Chester-le-Street. Stedman Triples.
- 19/11/1927.—St. Alphage, Solihull. Kent Royal.
- 4/1/1930.—St. Mary's, Liverpool. Minor in seven methods.
- 4/4/1930.—Colerne, Wilts. Grandsire Triples.
- 18/10/1930.—Halewood, Lancs. Double Norwich.
- 15/11/1930.—Melksham, Wilts. Grandsire Triples.
- 7/3/1931.—Stepney. Kent Royal.
- 21/3/1931.—St. Albans (Abbey). Superlative.
- 25/7/1931.—Shoreditch. Kent Maximus.
- 3/5/1932.—St. John's, Newcastle-on-Tyne. Stedman Triples.
- 3/2/1934.—St. Barnabas', Erdington. Grandsire Triples.
- 22/9/1934.—Crayford. Bob Major.
- 26/1/1935.—Edgbaston, Birmingham. Stedman Triples.
- 28/10/1935.—St. Olave's, Hart Street, London. Stedman Triples.

NUTFIELD REVISITED AFTER 16 YEARS.

A quarterly meeting of the Surrey Association (Southern District) was held at Nutfield, which was visited on Saturday, March 28th, after an absence of 16 years. Thirty-four members attended from Reigate, Redhill, Merstham, Buckland, Horley, Dorking, Capel, Croydon, Beddington, Swindon, Godstone, Burstow and Lingfield, Ringing was followed by a service, conducted by the Rev. Hartwell Jones, who gave an inspiring address. The lesson was read by Alderman Temple Newell, J.P. Tea was served in the Club Room, and the Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which it was reported that five peals were rung during the last quarter.

It was proposed to attempt the next quarterly peal at Betchworth, the method to be Cambridge Surprise Major, and the conductor Mr. R. V. Fuller.

The election of five new members previous to peals was ratified.

Notice was given that a joint meeting with the Sussex Association would be held at Crawley in May, and the next quarterly meeting at Buckland on June 27th.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and to Mr. and Mrs. Moon and the ladies for the excellent arrangements at the tea.

The Secretary recalled the fact that it was 16 years since a meeting was held at Nutfield. The Vicar, in reply, gave the association a welcome to Nutfield.

ANNUAL MEETING AT ST. ALBANS.

Rev. R. F. R. Routh elected President.

After ringing on the bells of the Abbey, St. Peter's, St. Stephen's and St. Michael's Churches, St. Albans, and at Sandridge, on Easter Monday, members of the Hertford County Association attended evening song at St. Albans Abbey, at which a special address was given by the Rev. E. H. Evans, of Hertford.

They afterwards assembled for tea and the annual meeting of the association at the Abbey Institute. The Archdeacon (the Ven. H. A. Skelton) presided, and extended a cordial welcome to the company, which represented over 30 parishes and included ringers from outside the county.

The annual report, presented by the hon. secretary (Mr. G. W. Cartmel), and the statement of accounts, submitted by the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. E. Debenham), were adopted. The general fund showed a balance in hand of £7 10s. 9d., as against £8 11s. 5d. at the beginning of the year. The credit balance of the Benevolent Fund had been increased by £3 6s. 8d., bringing the total to £16 8s. 2d., and a Voluntary Bell Fund had been opened.

THE HON. SECRETARY'S REPORT.

In his survey of the past year's work, the Hon. Secretary said: Whilst the world has been unsettled in political and economic conditions, and in a position of not knowing what a day may bring forth, bellringing has been carried on in our villages, hamlets, cities and towns as usual, the bells sounding out their warnings and also their jubilant notes of praise and thanksgiving to the world at large. As to the work of the association, I can confidently say that it has fully maintained its traditions both in the variety and standard of methods practised, and peals rung. Whilst numerically a small association, our ringing achievements are without rival. Five peals of London Surprise Major, and a peal of Spliced London and Cambridge Surprise Major rung double-handed on handbells by Messrs. H. G. Cashmore, C. W. Woolley, H. Hodgetts and F. W. Brinklow stands pre-eminent as the highest accomplishment in change ringing. Then there is the first peal of Eryri Major rung at Bushey (an enlargement of Bristol Surprise Major). It is interesting to recall that the method was practised by Mr. G. N. Price and his band at Oxhey 25 years ago, but was abandoned because no true composition could be found of peal length. Also a peal of Wembley Surprise Major rung without previous practice by any member of the band, being the first ever rung. At Bushey Heath a peal of Spliced Surprise Major, the first in the county by a resident band, has also been rung.

The peal list comprises 49 on tower bells and 22 on handbells, rung in nearly all the standard methods. The first peal of Stedman Cinques at the Cathedral is also another worthy record for the association, in which seven scored their first peal of Cinques. It was an excellent peal throughout, and has been fittingly commemorated by the erection of a peal board.

Progress has been made in higher methods by several bands. Congratulations are given to the Abbots Langley band on their success in ringing their first local peal, of which they are justly proud. It is noticeable that, whilst a great number have rung their first in different methods, only four have rung their first peal, three of whom were in the Abbots Langley peal. There have been 26 conductors, Mr. H. G. Cashmore heading the list with nineteen.

At the last annual meeting a voluntary bell restoration fund was brought into being at the suggestion of the president. I have received several applications from parishes in the county asking whether we had a fund to help bell restoration, but have always had to give a negative reply. I trust a liberal response will soon enable our treasurer to add more to the account he has already opened at the Westminster Bank.

FOUR MEMBERS FOR CENTRAL COUNCIL.

In drawing attention to the report by Mr. W. Ayre, on the last Central Council meeting, the Hon. Secretary pointed out that under the new rule regarding representation which comes into force at the Whitsun meeting, Hertfordshire is entitled to four representatives, and the committee decided to be fully represented on the Council, and names would be submitted to that meeting. The report continued:—

Bellfounders have been busy in the county in adding to and reconditioning existing peals, notably the augmentation of the Cathedral bells to a ring of twelve on Jubilee Day, Monday, May 6th.

The Dean of St. Albans (E. H. L. Henderson) has left us, but I would place on record our appreciation of the many services he has rendered to our association, and we owe to him the idea of a ring of twelve. As soon as the appeal was issued, success seemed assured, for very quickly Dr. and Mrs. Madge promised the treble and Mr. W. W. Worthington, of Lichfield (one of our members), the third. The second was given by members in memory of Mr. Edward P. Debenham, our president, and the fourth was by public subscription.

'The Ringing World' has recently completed its Silver Jubilee, and I would offer to Mr. Goldsmith thanks for the services he has rendered by the publication of his weekly journal. The writing of a weekly article and the sub-editing of a miscellaneous collection of reports needs a well-balanced judgment if it is to meet the wishes of its supporters. These conditions have been fulfilled. In the Jubilee number Mr. Goldsmith made an appeal for more generous support. He reminded us that the hand that has guided the paper for 25 years cannot go on indefinitely, and expresses fear for the future of the journal when his life's work is done. It would mean disaster to ringing generally if the publication stopped. I am confident that a five per cent. increase in sales would go a long way to stabilise future publishing. The Herts County Association has been to the fore on many occasions, so let us see to it that the future of 'The Ringing World' (as far as we are concerned) is removed from the danger zone, and is assured to at least the present generation.

It has been decided to commemorate the life-work of William Pye by raising a fund to augment the ring of six at Leytonstone to a peal of eight, and we have been asked to join the scheme. No words of mine are needed to extol his wonderful achievements and the impetus his life must have given to the advancement of change ringing.

CHANGES IN DISTRICT MANAGEMENT.

The excellent work of our district secretaries is appreciated by every member, and we thank them. It is a most important work, upon which our progress in change ringing chiefly depends. Your committee have recently revised the general rules which will be submitted to you to-day, the general principles of which I trust will meet with your approval. It is suggested that each district has its own committee of management, the size of that committee being left to the discretion of the members. The government of the association will be vested in the president, treasurer, general secretary, assistant secretary (if any), the five district secretaries, and two elected representatives from each district committee. Only members in their respective districts will be allowed to vote at district meetings, although other members may speak at the chairman's invitation. This will form a thoroughly representative committee, and should lead to increased interest and advancement in each district.

It is satisfactory to notice that many services have been arranged at district meetings. This is a welcome asset, and I feel sure meets with the approval of ringers generally.

The Benevolent Fund has now a useful balance at the bank. Thanks to the general good health and prosperity of our members, no demands have been made upon the funds, and we are in the happy position, should occasion arise, with the approval of the general committee, to help any contributory member needing assistance. May the day be not far distant when every band will consider it a privilege to send its yearly contribution.

We are again indebted to the clergy for granting permission to hold the various quarterly meetings, for the services they have arranged and general interest taken in our work; also to those who have granted their towers for peals and afterwards, perhaps, borne the brunt of complaints, when the ringers have gone. It has been a successful year, and I venture to predict further advance if the revised rules are accepted, for they will diffuse a greater share of responsibility to the committee in each district, and a backing to the district secretaries which has hitherto been lacking.

It was decided to contribute £1 1s. to the William Pye Memorial Fund.

Mr. E. Jennings (Preston) was elected a non-resident member of the association, and Messrs. L. Hansell (St. Albans), J. White (St. Albans) and the Rev. W. T. Rickett (Tring) were elected ringing members.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Rev. R. F. R. Routh, of Hitchin, was unanimously elected president, and in returning thanks he expressed regret that the retiring president (Mr. W. Ayre) was unable to be present, owing to a family bereavement. Other officers elected were: Hon. treasurer, Mr. G. E. Debenham; hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Cartmel; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. George Debenham; hon. librarian, Mr. H. P. Frost; hon. auditor, Mr. W. Mercer; Central Council representatives, the Rev. R. F. R. Routh, Messrs. W. Ayre, H. E. C. Goodenough and C. W. Woolley; district secretaries, Messrs. D. C. Mears (Northern), W. H. Lawrence (Eastern), W. Nash (St. Albans), C. H. Horton (Watford) and W. Ayre (Western).

The revised rules, as submitted to the bands, with the exception of Rule 3, which was amended to include members of Luton, Stammore and Edmonton towers, were approved.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. E. H. Evans for his address.

It was decided to send a letter of condolence to the family of the late Mr. J. Frewett, one-time hon. auditor of the association.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. BIG DISTRICT MEETING AT HEADCORN.

The meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association, in conjunction with the Romney Marsh Guild, held at Headcorn on Saturday, April 4th (having been postponed from March 21st), was attended by over 60 ringers and their friends from Ashford, Canterbury Cathedral, Gravesend, Hawkhurst, Hythe, Linton, Little Chart, Newington, Sturry, St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Tenterden, Throwley and the local tower.

The bells were raised about 3 p.m., and kept busy until 4.30, when the usual service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. G. Pope). Mrs. Pope presided at the organ.

Tea proved quite a problem, for although all were under one roof they were in three rooms, and some time elapsed before all were accommodated. As any kind of business meeting was out of the question under such conditions, the party afterwards returned to the tower, and the business of both societies was transacted there, the Vicar being in the chair.

Minutes of three previous meetings were read and passed.

A short discussion of the proposed new rules of the Kent Association took place, but it was pointed out that nothing could be done at that meeting except explain, if necessary, any point that was not clear. All hands had been sent a copy of the proposals to compare with the existing rules, and their job was to vote for or against the alterations at the annual meeting on Easter Monday.

Eleven new members were elected, viz., three from New Romney, one from Headcorn, two from Newington, two from Stowting, one from Hythe, and two from Tenterden.

The Guild had, among other things, one peal to report, and it was decided to accept an invitation to hold the next meeting at Newington, Folkestone, on Saturday, May 2nd.

The Vicar was thanked for all he had done in connection with the meeting, also Mrs. Pope for her valuable assistance at the organ.—In replying, the Vicar said he was always pleased to have the ringers at Headcorn, and especially in this case, as he had met once more a number of his friends from his last parish of Hythe.

The bells were then brought into use again, everyone being catered for from rounds for the beginners to Cambridge for the more advanced. A most enjoyable afternoon came to an end by lowering the bells in peal.

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, WARWICKSHIRE.—On Sunday, March 29th, for Confirmation service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Kinchin 1, W. Rawlings 2, H. Price 3, C. R. Steed 4, W. Cockings 5, H. Brookes 6, V. B. Hunt (conductor) 7, H. Preedy 8.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

CONGRATULATIONS TO 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

A quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Edgbaston Parish Church on Saturday, April 4th. About 40 members attended, and the bells, a nice ring of eight, tenor about 10 cwt., were kept going in various methods from Grand-sire Triples to London Surprise Major.

The Vicar of Edgbaston, Canon Stuart Blofeld, who is also an hon. member of the Guild, conducted the Guild's service and gave a very interesting and helpful address on the dignity of the office of bell-ringers and the necessity of ringing to the best of one's ability.

Tea was partaken of in the schoolroom, and this was followed by the business meeting, at which Mr. Councillor Paddon Smith presided, in the absence of the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, who was unavoidably absent at Lincoln.

Mr. Paddon Smith was again unanimously re-elected the Guild's representative on the Central Council for the ensuing session.

Mr. Frederick V. Nicholls, of Stourbridge, was elected a life member, and Messrs. W. L. Whiston, of Handsworth, and J. W. Pettigrew, of Aston, were elected full ringing members.

It was decided to hold the bi-quarterly meeting at Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham, on Saturday, May 9th, and the quarterly meeting at the Parish Church, Knowle, on Saturday, July 4th.

On the proposition of Mr. A. Walker, seconded by Mr. J. H. Shepherd, it was unanimously agreed that a letter of congratulation and thanks be sent to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' on its attaining its Silver Jubilee.

The Secretary suggested that the best way to show appreciation was to become regular subscribers to the paper, and urged anyone present who was not already a subscriber to send his order along without delay.

On a show of hands it was found that seven members present had been regular subscribers since the first issue.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address at the service, to the churchwardens who had kindly provided the tea, to Mr. Freemantle for making the local arrangements, and to the ladies who had so efficiently served the tea. It had been a happy gathering, and everyone had enjoyed it.

The Vicar, responding, said it was always a pleasure to entertain the Guild at Edgbaston. He particularly missed the Master that afternoon, but was pleased to know that he was recovering from his prolonged illness.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Will Mr. A. J. Harding, late of Webb's Road, Clapham Junction, S.W., please get into communication at once with Mr. T. W. Taffender, hon. secretary, London County Association, 26, Southway, Raynes Park, S.W.20?

Owing to the illness of the Bishop of Peterborough the dedication of the bells at Paulerspury and Cosgrove has been postponed. A notice will appear in due course when another date has been decided upon.

The ring of eight bells of St. Michael's Church, Yorktown, Camberley, Surrey, is to be rehung with new fittings in a new frame by John Taylor and Co.

After a lapse of 24 years another peal has been rung on the ring of steel bells at St. Clement's Church, Hastings. They were cast about 70 or 80 years ago by Vickers, of Sheffield. There are happily only one or two other such peals about, one being at Randwick, Sydney, on which the tourists to Australia had the pleasure(?) of ringing during their stay in that city.

Mr. James George has been appointed Vicar's warden at Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham.

By the way, Mr. George—he is 82—rang the ninth to a peal of Stedman Cinques at Wolverhampton on Monday, and when it was finished offered to ring the tenor (33 cwt.) to a peal of Bob Major! He could probably have done it, but the public had to be thought of.

Lavenham bells will be heard on the Regional wavelength on Sunday evening in a 'half-hour programme' from that village at 10.15 p.m. Handbell ringing will also be heard.

A clerical ringing week, with headquarters at Hereford, will begin next Monday.

THE SOUTHWARK CINQUES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was very sorry indeed to read in 'The Ringing World' that the composition of the long peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark, in 1923, was false, and I extend my sympathy to those who took part in it.

That it was magnificent ringing, I can testify from the account given to me by my father.

He set out that morning intending to catch a train about 11 a.m. to Salisbury, where the Central Council were meeting. Having previously looked out his trains, I was surprised when he came in to say good-bye an hour or so earlier than I expected. On inquiring the reason for such an early start, he said, 'I want to listen to some of that peal at Southwark.'

When he returned home on the Wednesday, I asked him if he had had a good time. He replied, 'Yes, I didn't get down to Salisbury until after 7 o'clock on Monday. I simply could not come away from Southwark. Never, in my life, have I heard such beautiful ringing. Periodically I would take off course-ends as they came up, and Mr. Cockerill would check them with his figures. If only I could have been certain of getting a bed at Salisbury, I would not have come away until the end.'

If my father were alive to-day, I am sure that his disappointment would be almost as great as that of the band.

SPLICED SURPRISE IN MIDDLESEX AND ELSEWHERE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Congratulations to Mr. James Hunt on his belated conversion. From being a decided objector to splicing on the 'lead' plan he has become such an admirer that he describes a recent peal on this plan as 'the best ever.'

I would remind him that the peal rung at Staines was real Spliced—it was not laminated, it does not contain full courses of any method rung, but it is a typical example of the class of peal that the resolution so strenuously opposed by him at the last meeting of the Council was designed to protect.

Mr. Hunt, like most of us, lives and learns, but he still has a long way to go.

C. T. COLES.

PEALS OVERLOOKED.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the band which rang the seven-method Surprise Major peal at St. Mary's, Staines, I would like to thank Mr. Hunt for his letter published in the last issue of 'The Ringing World.' Whilst congratulating him in so changing his opinions as to express his approval of spliced peals which do not contain a full course of each method rung, I feel that in describing our performance as 'the best ever' he has overlooked the series of peals composed by A. J. Pitman and conducted by the late William Fye, culminating in the peal in twelve methods rung at St. Mary's, Ealing, in 1931.

DEATH OF CANON H. J. ELSEE. LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION'S PRESIDENT FOR 45 YEARS.

An Original Member of the Central Council.

It is with profound regret that we have to announce the sudden death on Good Friday of the Rev. Canon Henry John Elsee, M.A., for almost 40 years Vicar of St. George's, Bolton, and President of the Lancashire Association for more than 45 years. His passing removes a revered and much loved figure from the Church in Lancashire and creates a void in the Exercise which it will be difficult to fill.

THE LATE REV. CANON H. J. ELSEE.

Canon Elsee died with tragic suddenness, yet probably in a manner and at a time that he would, if he could, himself have chosen. He had gone straight from a service at the Parish Church in the afternoon to visit a sick person, and while at the bedside he collapsed and was dead before he could be conveyed to hospital.

He had preached in his own church in the morning, and his text was almost prophetic, Christ's last words on the Cross: 'It is finished.' Canon Elsee that day finished his course, after a life devoted to the good of his fellow-men.

During 40 years at St. George's Church, Bolton, his vicariate was notable in many ways. Not only did he establish himself in the affection of his parishioners, but he was a leader of religious life and social work in this busy industrial town. Some 25 years ago he undertook a scheme of reconstruction of the old church, which was reopened in 1911 after an expenditure of about £10,000, and it was characteristic of him that in the very last issue of his parish magazine he should offer £100, towards a sum of £500 required to clear the debt on the Church House and redecorate the church, 'in token of my gratitude for the years which I have spent at St. George's.'

Canon Elsee was appointed an honorary canon of Manchester Cathedral in 1918, and in 1927-28 spent nearly a year visiting S.P.G. missions in Southern Rhodesia. In 1930 he was appointed Rural Dean of Bolton, and in 1931 a proctor in Convocation.

HIS INTEREST IN RINGING.

Outside his work, Canon Elsee's only hobby was bellringing. Born at Rugby in 1863, he learned to ring a bell when he was but nine or ten years of age. It was Benjamin Voos, the old sexton of the Parish Church, who taught him, the ancient custom of ringing the Curfew providing him with the opportunity. Afterwards the youthful pupil learned to ring Grandsire Doubles on the old five bells, which still hang in the western tower of the church. Rugby is one of the very few churches that possess two towers and two rings of bells. The one at the eastern end now has a peal of eight.

Canon Elsee was at Rugby School from 1876 to 1882, when he went up to St. John's College, Cambridge. There he became a member of the University Guild, which had been established in 1879, and here he learned more of the science of ringing, which up to that time had been limited to five bells. In those days the members included some who afterwards occupied a noteworthy place in the Exercise, among them, of course, the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, the president, to whom every ringer who has graduated at Cambridge owes a great debt. Among the undergraduates who were then practising were those who afterwards became Canon W. W. C. Baker, Rev. R. Copeman, Rev. W. C. Pearson and Professor M. C. Potter. In 1882 the young Guild was strengthened by the advent of the late Rev. H. B. Woolley and Mr. J. T. Rickman, in addition to Canon Elsee. In 1883 and 1884, Canon Elsee was secretary and treasurer of the Guild, and in 1885 and 1886 conductor, an office which later was merged into that of Master. He became a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1884.

Canon Elsee was ordained in 1886 at Ely, and for a year was curate of Horningssea, four miles out of Cambridge, where there were five bells. In 1887 he went to Manchester, and for nearly nine years was curate of St. Andrew's, Ancoats. Here there was only one bell, but Canon Elsee used frequently to get practice at the Cathedral, where he rang his first peal—Grandsire Caters—in 1888.

In 1896 he was appointed to the care of St. George's, Bolton. The church has a ring of eight bells by Rudhall, but owing to its situation in the middle of a populous area, peal ringing has had to be considerably limited.

PRESIDENT OF THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

From the time Mr. Elsee went to Manchester he actively interested himself in the affairs of the Lancashire Association. In 1889 he was elected vice-president and was made president in the following year, so that he has occupied this office for nearly 46 years, amid the growing respect and esteem of the members.

He has represented the Lancashire Association on the Central Council since it was founded in 1891, and his opinions always carried the greatest weight on this body. There are, we believe, only two other members remaining who were elected to the first Council, viz., Canon G. F. Coleridge and Mr. George Williams.

Canon Elsee's parochial duties prevented him from any very extensive peal ringing, and he did not keep any record of these performances. He had, however, rung peals of Grandsire Triples, Caters and Cinques, Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, Plain Bob Major and Royal, Treble Bob Major, Royal and Maximus, and Double Norwich Major.

It is a sad reflection that only three weeks ago Canon Elsee unveiled in his own tower two peal boards, one recording the only peal of Stedman rung on the bells, a performance which took place in October, 1900. For the unveiling, recorded in our last issue, four of the band were present—Mr. A. E. Wreaks, now of Paisley, Mr. Thomas Peers, of Heysham, and Mr. Henry Moss, with Canon Elsee.

Canon Elsee was a bachelor, and is survived by a brother, Canon Charles Elsee, Vicar of St. Guthbert's, Hunslet, Leeds, and two sisters, who reside in North Wales.

The funeral service took place at St. George's, Bolton, on Wednesday, prior to interment at Clynog, Caernarvon.

THE NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

NORTON RINGERS' SERVICES.

A meeting of the North Staffs and District Association was held at Norton on Saturday, April 4th. Fifty-two were present from Brown Edge, Bucknall, Burslem, Biddulph, Cheddle, Crewe, Draycott, Kingley, Lawton, Longton, Newcastle, Norton, Uttoxeter and Wistaston. Tea was provided by the Norton ringers in the Church Institute.

The Rector (Rev. J. G. Hamlet) was present; he should be an ideal ringers' parson, by the way he praises his ringers. He is proud of the fact that the services of his nine ringers total 189 years.

The usual vote of thanks was passed, and nine new members elected. Everyone had a very enjoyable time, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Woodbine, Cambridge, Wells, Norwich Surprise, York and London Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Eastern District of the Herts County Association was held at Sawbridgeworth on March 28th, when about 30 members and friends attended from Broxbourne, Harlow, Stansted, Waltham Abbey, London, Chelmsford, Springfield, Nazeing, Sawbridgeworth and Little Munden. A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Goudge).

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. W. Morris, of Sawbridgeworth. Sawbridgeworth is situated upon the extreme eastern edge of Herts, and still retains much of its old-world appearance around the church. The bells are still ringable, although beginning to need the attention of a bellhanger, and hopes are entertained that they may be overhauled. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise.

INTERESTING POINTS FROM READERS' LETTERS.

The names of those readers who have supported 'The Ringing World' from the first number up to the present time continue to flow in and with them interesting and encouraging messages. It is impossible for us to quote from even a tithe of the letters we have received, but we hope that all who have written to us will accept our thanks.

Many who have subscribed to 'The Ringing World' from its beginning had previously subscribed to other ringing papers for a number of years. For instance, there is Mr. John Jaggard, who has purchased all the ringing papers since 1876. Then Mr. William Story and Mr. C. L. Routledge, of Newcastle, Mr. W. T. Pates, of Cheltenham, Mr. G. Condick, of Gloucester, Rev. W. Pearson, of Henley, Suffolk, tell us that they have not only taken every copy of 'The Ringing World,' but were subscribers to 'The Bell News' from its foundation. Numerous other ringers gave their support to the old papers from the early eighties onward, among them Mr. C. Draper, of Duffield, Mr. W. Bellows, of Skipton, Yorks, who began ringing in 1876, and is now 78 years of age, Mr. E. A. Bacon, of Loughton, Essex, Mr. W. G. Easter, of Gillingham, Kent, Mr. W. Haigh, of Etchingham, Sussex, Mr. W. J. Nevard, of Great Bentley, Essex, and Mr. F. E. Dawe, of Woking.

Mr. J. Puleet, of Tring, who is now 65, has been reading the ringing papers ever since he was twelve years of age, while the number who have supported a ringing paper for over 40 years would make a long list.

Some of our readers indicate the value 'The Ringing World' has been to them in various ways. Here are a few taken at random: Mr. Percy Webb, of Ickleton, Cambs, says: 'I have been to many meetings, have rung on many bells and made many friends, which would not have been possible had it not been for 'The Ringing World.' Mr. R. Whittington, of Cranleigh, says that, 'Looking over the interesting happenings that have been recorded, many containing references to old friends who have now passed away, brings back very happy memories to me and my wife of our peregrinations all over England on our tandem.'

Mr. C. H. Howard, formerly Master of the Essex Association, says, 'Although I am not now able to take an active part in ringing, or attend association meetings, it still gives me great pleasure to read of the activities of my old ringing friends.'

'It would not be Friday without 'The Ringing World,' writes Mr. Warren S. Hornbrook, of Plymouth. 'I invariably read each issue from date to imprint, and enjoy every "stickful." 'May I,' he adds, 'congratulate the Printer's Reader on its accuracy. It is a very rare event for an error to get past him.'

That is a tribute which we should like to endorse.

We know of many readers who on Friday morning look first to 'The Ringing World' before their daily paper. Mr. F. L. Wilson, of Wincanton, says he 'would rather go without lunch any Friday than miss "The Ringing World."' WAR MADE NO BREAK.

A number of readers kept up their contact with ringing through the Great War by means of 'The Ringing World.' Mr. Pearl Inskip, of Kempston, Beds, for instance, received it week by week for the whole four years in France, and the paper followed others to nearly every area of the campaign.

Another correspondent emphasises the point that his interest does not finish when he has purchased his weekly copy. Mr. O. T. Coles, hon. secretary of the Middlesex Association, says, 'I have taken (AND READ) "The Ringing World" from No. 1 to date, and have the complete set.'

Mr. J. P. Hyett, J.P., tells us that he is in some doubt as to whose name should be entered in the 'Roll of Honour,' as his wife has very cheerfully paid for each copy. He adds that he must be among the very small band of J.P. subscribers.

Mr. J. T. Dyke, hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Association, in informing us that he bought the first number and all subsequent ones, adds, 'I well remember sneaking out of college during the Friday mornings to get to the newsagent at the corner.'

The 'first and last reader' in the British Isles is Dr. J. Symons, of Penzance, the octogenarian president of the Truro Diocesan Guild, who was an original subscriber and continues 'an eager reader of our journal.'

Mr. George Lewis, of Sheffield, another of those who have taken every number, says it was his privilege to take part in the first peal published in 'The Ringing World,' viz., a peal of Maximus at Sheffield, nine of the band being still alive.

Mr. F. E. Dawe reminds us that the first letter that appeared in 'The Ringing World' was from his pen. No one has been a warmer advocate of this journal than he has.

And here is a hint that we pass on to others. Mr. Storer W. West, churchwarden of Whitwick, Leicestershire, referring to the fact that he has taken all the ringing papers since 1891, says, 'I have also not forgotten the firms and business men who have advertised in the ringing papers.'

When 'The Ringing World' first appeared, and was ordered by Mr. R. T. Holding, jun., his father, who was a staunch supporter of 'Bell News,' thought it was 'another flash in the pan,' and chipped him good and hard when the newsagent delivered 'The Ringing World.' 'Needless to say,' adds Mr. Holding, 'the mistake was soon remedied, and I always look forward to your next issue.'

Mr. W. Shepherd recalls 'Ringers' Day' at the Crystal Palace in 1911, 'one of your best ventures.' 'Since then,' he adds, 'you have kept on and on with an uphill task always in front of you, for it is not appreciated even now that one copy per band is not enough, and that one copy per ringer is surely the duty. I was always taught as a boy to buy my own copy, and not lend it to others for a cheap read.'

A MEMENTO FROM GLOUCESTER.

A gift which we shall cherish very much has come to us from Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester. In his letter, informing us that he has taken the ringing papers from 1885, when he rang his first peal, he says, 'I am sending you a small memento of your 25 years' service to the art, a bell out of the canons of Thornbury bells, which was presented to me when we rang our first peal of Cambridge Royal.' The record is inscribed on the bell, and that peal was the commencement of Surprise Royal and Maximus as we know it to-day. As a matter of fact, Mr. Austin was the first man to call a bob in Cambridge Maximus, but singularly he has never yet rung a peal of it.

'I wonder how many on the 'Roll of Honour' possess a first copy?' asks the Rev. E. V. Cox, president of the Devonshire Guild, who makes a practical suggestion, 'Let all on the "Roll" get a new subscriber,' he says. 'Mine is Mr. H. J. Rowe, Home Living, Brampford Speke.'

'I have had the pleasure of purchasing "The Ringing World" and the enjoyment of reading its various topics, discussions and explanation,' writes Mr. F. Watkinson, of Handsworth, Sheffield. 'How you manage to select them from the mass you must have received with the fair judgment you do, is almost past comprehension. Although seven copies are taken every week by members of my band, we still endeavour to increase the number, but it is really only those who remember the days of the lingering death of "The Bell News" and the birth and short life of those other papers before "The Ringing World" appeared, who really understand what the paper means to the Exercise. So few realise that without it now our art could not make the progress it is doing.'

B.B.C. APOLOGY.

'A TRAVESTY' OF RINGING.

An apology from the B.B.C. was read at the meeting of the Norwich Diocesan Association at Norwich on Monday. The B.B.C. had broadcast a gramophone record of the bells of St. Peter Mancroft during a talk on East Anglia, by Mr. R. H. Mottram, the Norwich novelist. The record was made by the B.B.C. van outside the church, unknown to the Vicar or ringers.

The Vicar (Rev. Hugh McMullan) described it as 'a travesty—an extraordinarily poor idea of what the bells are capable.'

The reply of the Recording Programme Executive, after offering apologies for the apparent discourtesy, explained that the B.B.C. representative took the record just before morning service, when he was pressed for time.

THE INFLUENCE OF CLERICAL RINGERS

By the passing of Canon H. J. Elsee, the revered president of the Lancashire Association, the ringing Exercise has suffered a severe blow, which, coming so soon upon the tragic death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, is a painful reminder that within the last few years the ranks of clerical ringers have been sadly depleted by the loss of men who, in their respective spheres, stood out as leaders among their fellows. The passing of the years is bound to take its toll, but we are not sure that the losses have been fully made up by the influx of new members of the cloth. It may be that this feeling arises from the fact that the names of most of those who have been taken from us in recent years had been 'household words' among ringers for a generation or more, and that the majority of the young clergy who have been recruited to our ranks have yet to make their name, but certain it is that among the older ringers there seem to be growing gaps which there is no one ready to fill. In due time, perhaps, we shall have among the clerical leaders of the Exercise more men like Henry Law James, Charles D. P. Davies, Cyril Jenkyn, Henry J. Elsee, and others who are happily still occupying honoured and responsible places among us. But we must look to the Universities to keep up the supply, and we hope that the good work being done at Cuddesdon, in interesting students in the art of ringing, will extend to other theological colleges.

The clergy whom we have mentioned spent almost a lifetime in the furtherance of the art and the uplifting of the status of ringers. They realised not only the dignity and importance of the ringers' office, but the value which attached to close co-operation between ringers and the Church. We need in the Exercise to-day more clergy who will not only make themselves good ringers but who will take a hand in maintaining and increasing this co-operation. In these days ringers welcome the clergy in the belfries; it is one of the surest ways of maintaining a company. Too often the ringers are left to their own devices to keep up the personnel of the band. The task would be simplified if the clergy were more actively identified with the work carried on in the tower, and if the incumbent is himself a ringer so much the better. But the influence of a clerical ringer extends far outside his own tower. It goes out into the diocese, and where a guild or association is fortunate enough to have, as Lancashire had, at its head, a cleric occupying so honoured a place among his fellows as Canon Elsee, the organisation must be immensely the gainer. Canon Elsee has gone to his rest full of years, and beloved by all who knew him. His influence in the Lancashire Association, so gently yet so certainly exercised for the long period of 45 years, will live on.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

NEW MILL WIN CONTEST AT BATLEY.

The quarterly meeting and six-bell contest of the Halifax and District Association was held at Batley on Saturday, April 4th. Six sets had entered to ring 600 changes, with a plain course for practice. The following companies entered: Sandal, Liversedge, Holmfirth, Meltham, New Mill and Freizeland. All the teams rang Oxford, except Liversedge, who rang Cambridge Surprise.

Tea was served in the school and about 50 sat down. After ringing had ceased, the meeting was held in the school, the president (Mr. E. Earnshaw) being in the chair.

It was proposed by Mr. Burgess, seconded by Mr. H. Nutt, that the next contest be held at Saddleworth on July 18th, providing the necessary arrangements could be made.

The Rev. E. A. Winter, curate of Batley, in reply to the vote of thanks to the local clergy, ringers, etc., said that as he came into the Schoolroom he was met by one of the local ringers, who told him that he was not to get up and start to talk about ringers leaving the belfry and going for a drink, but whether they did or not he noticed they never invited him to go with them (laughter).

The judges, Mr. W. Idle and Mr. C. Hardy, gave their decision as follows:—

- No. 1 Company, Sandal, 84 faults.
- No. 2 Company, Liversedge, 96 faults.
- No. 3 Company, Holmfirth, 88 faults.
- No. 4 Company, Meltham, 44 faults.
- No. 5 Company, New Mill, 38 faults.
- No. 6 Company, Freizeland, 79 faults.

New Mill were, therefore, declared winners.

The Rev. E. W. Winter presented the cup to Mr. Biltcliffe, conductor of New Mill.

A vote of thanks to the judges brought the meeting to a close.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

STRONG FINANCIAL POSITION.
Adoption of Amended Rules Deferred.

The 56th annual general meeting of the Kent County Association was held at Westerham on Easter Monday, when over 180 attended, 51 of the towers in union being represented. Various towers in the neighbourhood were open for ringing before the association service, which was held in St. Mary's Church, Westerham, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. Castle, the address being given by the Very Rev. the Dean of Rochester (Dr. Underhill), who spoke of the beauty of the bells of England compared with those of France, Belgium and Italy.

A collection at the close for the Association's Benevolent Fund realised £3.

Luncheon followed in St. Mary's Hall, Mr. F. White (Cranbrook) being in the chair, owing to the unavoidable absence of Mr. E. H. Lewis. He was supported by the Dean of Rochester, the Rev. J. A. Castle, the Rev. E. L. Allen (Vicar of Edenbridge), the Rev. F. L. Schrieber (Vicar of Shipbourne) and the principal officers of the association.

After the loyal toast had been duly honoured, the Chairman proposed the toast of 'The Archbishop and Clergy of the County.' He said the association was greatly indebted to the clergy for the encouragement and hospitality which had been extended to it during the past year.

The Dean of Rochester, in responding, said the members showed their enthusiasm by their attendance, considering the meeting was held in the farthest corner of the county. He said he never remembered such hearty singing at a service before, and congratulated them on their vocal powers. He thanked them all for their great assistance to the Church by ringing the bells for the Sunday services.

The Vicar of Westerham also replied, and said how pleased he was to welcome them to Westerham after a lapse of 24 years.

Apologies for absence were read from the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, Mr. E. H. Lewis, Canon G. C. E. Ryley, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and others.

At the business meeting which followed, the hon. secretary (Mr. F. M. Mitchell) read the annual report and balance sheets.

CONTINUED PROGRESS.

In the annual report reference was made to the part the members took in celebrating the Silver Jubilee of King George V. on May 6th, when 12 peals were rung in the county and a message of congratulation sent to His Majesty and duly acknowledged. It seemed safe to say that where bells were ringable, every tower in the county rang out its joyful message, which, alas, was to be saddened before many months had passed by the death of His Majesty.

The association continued to show progress in the quality of peals rung, and the hope was expressed that none of the peal ringers were absent from duty on Sundays. 'We must realise,' said the report, 'that the primary object of the bells is that they are to be rung for Sunday service, and we do appeal to all ringers in the county to attach themselves to some tower for Sunday ringing and to be punctual in their attendance. Unanimity among members cannot always be expected, but we do appeal to all to realise that our efforts are for the same goal. Let us have more "give and take" in our midst, and then we shall have a happier and even more prosperous association of which we shall continue to be proud.'

The report continued that there were 116 towers in union, comprising one of 12 bells, five of 10 bells, 62 of eight bells, 44 of six bells, and four of five bells. Life members total 31, hon. members 71, adult practising members 916 and 45 juniors (an increase of 23 practising members over the previous year). Seventeen non-resident life members joined to make a total of over 350, and giving a grand total membership of approximately 1,410.

The report regretted the resignation, through business reasons, of Mr. P. W. Smith as hon. secretary of the Canterbury District, a post he had held with distinction for eleven years. The committee recorded their appreciation of his services, and offered a hearty welcome to his successor, Mr. B. J. Luck. Since the last annual meeting a new peal of eight had been installed at the Church of the Annunciation, Chislehurst, by Messrs. Taylor and Co., the peal of eight at Boughton-under-Blean had been rehung and the tower restored, and the peal of five at Chelsfield had been rehung, both by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The peals rung during 1935 numbered 155, three less than in the previous year. Of these 149 had been on tower bells in 77 towers (four outside the county). Thirty-eight members rang their first peal (one at the early age of 13). The number of conductors was 64, four conducted their first peal and 12 first as conductor in the method. Three members rang their first peal on handbells. Congratulations were offered to Mr. F. H. Cheesman on completing his 1,000 peals.

FLOURISHING FINANCES.

The financial position of the association continued to be satisfactory, the balance in hand on the general account being £45 18s. 1½d. The Benevolent Fund again showed an increase, the total of £253 5s. 2d. being £10 18s. 4d. over last year. During the year grants were made in five instances totalling £20 5s. 9d. The support given by members at district meetings was again encouraging, £7 0s. 4d. having been collected. The Belfry Repair Fund also showed an increased balance of £2 13s. 9d., the amount in hand being £121 7s. 10d., £8 3s. having been paid out to Stouting and Bobbing for additions and restoration work during the year. The total funds of the association in investments (at cost) and the balances in the accounts amount to £966 14s. 3½d., an increase on the past year of £6 14s. 1½d.

The report and balance sheets were unanimously adopted. Arising out of the report, Mr. W. Spice (Tunstall) said it was only fitting that they should offer their hearty congratulations to Mr. J. H. Cheesman, who had completed his 1,000th peal. By his quiet and unassuming manner he had endeared himself to them all, and had done much to promote the art in the county. To commemorate this event Mr. Spice proposed that Mr. Cheesman be elected a life member. —This was seconded by Mr. Barnett (Crayford) and carried with loud applause and musical honours. Unfortunately, Mr. Cheesman was not present.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: Messrs. F. White and W. J. Jeffries (trustees), G. H. Cross (hon. auditor) and F. M. Mitchell (hon. secretary and treasurer), the last named being accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his services.

Mr. Mitchell, in returning thanks, said he had now served them for seven years, and, as an appreciation of his services, the committee had that morning elected him a life member. During the seven years he had tried to serve them to the best of his ability, and had avoided, or tried to avoid, 'taking sides.'

PROTEST AGAINST PRESS CRITICISM.

He was sorry, he continued, that their association's affairs had been dragged through the Press recently, and he was also sorry that Mr. Goldsmith, the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' was unfortunately absent through illness. In the issue of 'The Ringing World' of February 28th a letter appeared over the signature of one of their members in which was a sentence to which he took exception, and as that was the proper place to discuss the association's affairs, he publicly challenged the accuracy of the statement which referred to the secretary, and which, to his mind, inferred that he was either 'taking sides' or was incapable. He said, in his own mind, the statement was incorrect, and that it was proved to be so, a show of hands of the sub-committee revealed. He was sure the writer would withdraw the sentence in fairness to himself.

Mr. Mitchell next proceeded to deal with the editorial in the issue of March 20th under the heading of 'Two questions for Kent.' He had carefully gone through the amended rules, a copy of which had been sent to every tower in union, and he could find no mention in the amended rules of the suggestions which prompted such a criticism. There was no mention of 'unattached members,' nor the proviso mentioned re the Ringing Master. Where the Editor got his information from he was at a loss to understand; and, as their hon. secretary, he must protest against the association's affairs being publicly criticised and wrongly expressed.

Many members spoke in support of Mr. Mitchell's remarks, and, after lengthy arguments, it was eventually decided to defer the confirmation of the amended rules until the next annual general meeting, to enable each district to call a special meeting of representatives of each tower to discuss them.

Five candidates were nominated as representatives on the Central Council, the result of the ballot revealing 'no change,' Messrs. Mitchell, Sone, Groombridge and Cheesman being re-elected.

Hearty thanks were accorded to the various incumbents of the towers placed at their disposal for ringing during the day, and to Mr. White for his able and tactful conduct in the chair.

MOTIONS.

14. The following motion and amendment were adjourned from the last meeting:—

Motion: 'That in view of the extension of the practice of splicing methods this Council resolves that the term "Spliced" shall be applied only to those peals in which there are at least as many changes of method as there are courses in the peal, subject to the following stipulations:—

(a) In peals in even-bell methods in which singles are used, the number of changes of method before a single shall be at least equal to the number of courses preceding the single, and, similarly, after a single, equal to the number of courses which follow it.

(b) In peals in odd-bell methods, the number of changes of method shall be at least equal to the number of changes of the bell in the hunt, or of the courses in the peal. Subject only, in peals in which less than six methods of Triples are rung, to any reduction of the number necessitated by two or more hunt bells, relating to the same method, being consecutively called into the hunt.

(c) The conditions relating to even-bell methods shall apply in peals of Minor to each 720 individually, and for the purposes of this rule each 720 with a Treble Bob hunt shall be considered to have six courses, and each 720 with a Plain hunt or with an Alliance and Little hunt, twelve courses.

(d) Peals of Doubles shall be deemed to comply with this rule if there is at least one change of method within a 120 and not more than half a six-score is rung without changing into a different method.

'Peals which contain more than one method, but which do not conform to the foregoing, shall be called "Combined" peals.

'That as splicing involves changes of methods at plained, bobbed and singled leads alike, it is further resolved that peals in which the change of method is not made at the lead-end, such as certain peals of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, shall not be termed "spliced peals."

'These decisions shall apply to peals on all numbers of bells.'

Proposed by Mr. C. T. Coles; seconded by Mr. E. C. S. Turner.

Amendment: 'That a spliced or laminated peal shall contain a full course of each method rung.'

Proposed by Mr. J. Hunt; seconded by Mr. J. Parker.

15. That all peals which contain more than one method shall be called 'Spliced Peals.' That reports of all Spliced Peals shall include a reference to the number of methods rung, and the number of changes from one method to another during the peal.

Proposed by Mr. S. H. Wood; seconded by Mr. J. T. Dyke.

(The above was passed as an amendment last year to motion 14 above.)

16. To call attention to the present very inadequate support given to 'The Ringing World,' and to consider what steps (if any) can be taken to increase the circulation.

Proposed by Mr. F. E. Dawe; seconded by Mr. E. Alex. Young.

17. That, with a view to providing future guidance, the officers of this Council be requested to consider the question of the correct method of muffling and ringing church bells on occasions of national and local mourning, and, after consulting at discretion those who may be able to give information, draw up a recommendation on the subject, which, if possible, shall be submitted to the Archbishop of Canterbury for his approval, and laid before the Council at the next meeting.

Proposed by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; seconded by Mr. G. W. Fletcher.

18. In the opinion of this Council, the morning session of Council meetings should, where possible, commence at 10 a.m.

Proposed by Mr. G. Pullinger; seconded by Mr. F. W. Rogers.

19. That all persons having collections of books on ringing matters be invited to supply particulars to the hon. librarian and to indicate whether they are willing to give access to their collections.

Proposed by Mr. E. H. Lewis; seconded by Mr. G. W. Fletcher.

20. To fix the place of next meeting.

21. Other business, if any.

GEORGE W. FLETCHER,

Hon. Secretary.

45, Walsingham Road,
Enfield, Middlesex.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

A very happy annual meeting was held at Wisbech on Easter Monday. 'It is the effort of every blade of grass that keeps the meadow green,' and it was quite obvious that everyone was filled with a determination to make the meeting a success.

Service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. K. Stallard, at 3.30 p.m. Mr. Covey-Crump kindly presided at the organ.

Business followed tea. The Vicar apologised for his unavoidable absence. It was a great joy to have Canon Covey-Crump, a former general secretary, in the chair. At the beginning of the meeting the Chairman voiced the feelings of the members in his reference to the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, a much loved officer of the association, and the company stood in silence.

Miss K. Willers was re-elected general secretary and treasurer. Mr. T. R. Dennis was reappointed auditor. The committee were elected as follows: Messrs. A. J. Abrams, R. W. Croft, H. Fields, F. Gleaves, E. G. Hibbins, P. Hurry, F. W. Lack and F. Wigmore. Messrs. C. W. Cook, F. Warrington and Miss K. Willers were elected representatives on the Central Council.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at St. Neots. The sum of £22s. each was voted towards the restoration work at Horningsey and at Winwick, and £1 ls. towards the William Pye Memorial Fund.

Members expressed sympathy with the Rev. R. Copeman on the death of Mrs. Copeman.

The meeting concluded with hearty votes of thanks to the clergy for the use of their bells and to Canon Crump for taking the chair.

During the day ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major and Stedman Caters.

FOR BEGINNERS.CALLING STEDMAN TRIPLES.

We have been asked to give a few hints on calling Stedman Triples. Usually when a ringer begins to take up the calling of Stedman Triples he has got past the stage when he comes into the category of a 'Beginner,' but as there may be some towers where there is a desire to take up the method where there is, however, no one to call the hobs, we hope a little help in this direction may be of service.

The Stedman method is divided into 'sixes,' in which the three bells in front ring the 'extent' of their changes. A course of Triples consists of fourteen sixes, but the first change 2135476 is not the first change of the first six. Actually it is the fifth change of the 14th six, but it would make no difference to the truth of the method if you began anywhere else. In practice, however, we always begin Stedman Triples with 2135476, followed by 2314567, and from this we start the first complete 'six.' A bob, if there is one, is made at the first row of a six, and can be made in any six. These sixes are numbered, for identification, consecutively 1 to 14, and when a bob at, say, 3 occurs it has to be made at the first change of the third six. Similarly a bob at 12 is made at the first change of the twelfth six.

Usually one bell is retained as the 'observation' bell, and in Stedman it is generally the seventh, a choice which has certain advantages. Usually, too, the hobs are inserted at those sixes in which they will not disturb the observation bell. Actually you can use any bell as the 'observation' and your touch can be equally as true (or as false) as if you called it from the seventh, but for the purpose of these notes we propose to use the 7th.

As the hobs affect only the back bells, that is those which are dodging in 6-7 and continue dodging for another six in the same direction (up or down), and the bell dodging in 4-5 (up), any bob called when the observation bell is in either of these positions would disturb its regular progress. The only sixes at which calls can be made without 'upsetting' the observation bell are the 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th (during which it is doing its 'slow' work), and 12th and 13th (when it is a 'quick' bell).

Another thing about Stedman composition is that hobs generally go in pairs, so that if you have a bob at 3 it is usually followed by one at 4, if you have a bob at 5 it is followed by one at 6; a bob at 7 is followed by one at 8, and a bob at 12 by one at 13. Bobs at 3, 4 are when the observation bell is going in Slow, 5-6 when it is doing its Half-turns, 7-8 when it is doing its Last whole-turn and coming out, and 12, 13 when it is going in and out Quick. The pairs of hobs are, therefore, sometimes indicated by the letters S. H. L. or Q. Bobs should be called at the handstroke before they are to be made, and the would-be conductor should write out a plain course of the method.

MORE BELLS FOR SOUTH WALES.MAESTEG TOWER TO BE COMPLETED.

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at Bridgend on Saturday, April 18th. A good muster was present, and the bells, a beautiful ring of eight by Taylor and Co., were kept going in various methods.

The Vicar (Canon D. Phillips) conducted the service and gave a typical ringers' address. Tea was partaken of in the Church Room and had been very kindly provided by the Canon's wife and daughter.

The business meeting followed, presided over by the Vicar. Augmentations and restorations were dealt with, it being reported that it was decided to complete the octave at Llanfrehfa by adding two more bells, the work to be done in time for the Coronation. There is also a proposal to complete the tower at Maesteg, which is now built up to the eaves and instal a ring of bells. The hon. secretary was instructed to write the Vicar congratulating him on his effort and wishing him every success.

The visitors included Mr. Claude I. Davies, of Liverpool, and Mr. S. Roper, of Croydon, and both were elected life members.

The whole of the ringers of Llangynwyd Church and of Newton Nottage, Porthcawl, were elected, and also Mr. J. C. Howell, of Huil.

It was decided to hold the next Glamorgan meeting at Newton Nottage, Porthcawl, and the Monmouth meeting at Usk.

Votes of thanks were accorded Mrs. Phillips and her daughter for their hospitality and to the Canon for his kindness in granting the use of the bells, the service and for presiding at the meeting.

The Vicar, responding, said it was his delight to welcome the association to Bridgend, and was mindful of and grateful for the work done by the ringers. It would be always his pleasure to give his permission for a peal by any visiting ringers.

The bells were afterwards rung in various methods, and this concluded a pleasant, enjoyable and successful meeting.

dividing the sixes by a line for convenience and examine carefully the exact position where he has to make his calls.

Many simple touches can be got for practice, because any of the pairs of hobs, repeated, will produce two courses (168 changes), and you can increase your length by adding to one duplicated pair, two other pairs. A simple thing to begin with is to call S. twice, H. twice, L. twice, Q. twice. The first H. immediately follows the second S., the first L. the second H., and so on. In full, it is 420, but the bells will come round at the end of the course after any of the pairs, if you do not begin to call the succeeding pair.

All of the following produce two courses, if repeated, and there are many ways in which they can be intermingled to lengthen your touch:

BELFRY GOSSIP.

In our reference last week to Canon Elsee's connection with the Central Council we said that the only two other members remaining who were elected to the first Council were Canon Coleridge and Mr. George Williams. There are others living who were members of the first Council, but these two are the only survivors who have been members without a break throughout the life of the Council. Canon Coleridge, we believe, has attended every meeting.

Mr. J. Gould, a well-known member of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, has completed 54 years as a ringer and 50 years leader and conductor at Henbury tower, near Bristol. May he carry on the good work for many years to come. A peal in his honour was rung there on Easter Monday by a band from South Wales, who were afterwards hospitably entertained by Mr. Gould. The ringers desire to thank him for his kindness.

A peal of Stedman Triples was rung on Easter Day at Malvern Link to celebrate the birthdays of Messrs. W. Short, R. G. Knowles and G. Popnell, April 12th being the anniversary of the natal day of them all. Easter Day was Mr. Knowles' 70th birthday. Mr. W. Short, who is Master of the Worcestershire Association, was born on Easter Sunday, and this was the third time the anniversary has fallen on this festival. Mr. G. Popnell was born on Good Friday, and the anniversary has never fallen on that day since.

We are asked to state that the composition of peal No. 3,864, in the current Yorkshire Association report, was composed by Arthur Knights and not Amburn Wilson, as stated.

Mr. T. E. Sone withdraws the claim to the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on the bells at Birling, Kent, rung on April 11th. He has been informed by Mr. C. B. Lucas, of Walthamstow, that he conducted a peal there in this method on May 19th, 1891, for the Middlesex Association and the All Hallows (Tottenham) Society.

In the peal of Minor at Freiston, Lincs, on Easter Monday, there were 38 methods and 147 changes from one to another. No fewer than twelve methods were incorporated in the first 720, and on Saturday at Wainfleet the same band rang a peal in 42 methods with 167 changes of method.

The ring of eight bells, tenor 1 ton, of Lindley Parish Church, near Huddersfield, is to be rehung with new fittings in new framework by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

A clock has been placed in the ringing chamber at the Church of St. John the Divine, Leicester, to commemorate the completion of 34 years as Master and steeplekeeper by Mr. William Willson. It was presented by the St. John the Divine Society of Ringers.

One of the largest number of ringers' meetings ever held on one day will take place to-morrow. No fewer than 44 have been advertised in our columns.

It was stated at the annual meeting of the Herts County Association that Mr. Walter Ayre, the retiring president, was absent on account of a family bereavement. Happily he had not suffered a bereavement, but was visiting his mother who was seriously ill. We are pleased to say she has now rallied considerably.

Mr. Harry Chapman, so well known formerly as one of the leading spirits for many years in Lancashire ringing, has been elected for the fourth time people's churchwarden at Keyston, Huntingdonshire, where he is now living in retirement.

In the very interesting broadcast from Lavenham on Sunday evening, the church and its bells found an important place. Many ringers all over the country heard for the first time the voice of the famous tenor, and they must all have appreciated the brief talk on Lavenham bells and ringers by a member of the Symonds family, three generations of which ring regularly in this old Suffolk village.

Ringers who have copies of old peal records to send to the Central Council should forward them without delay to the Convenor of the 'Peal Boards' Committee, Mr. W. Ayre, Leverstock Green, Hemel Hempstead.

BELLS FOR VICTORIA, B.C.

A NAMING CEREMONY AT WHITECHAPEL FOUNDRY.

A ring of eight bells, with tenor 29½ cwt. in C sharp, has been cast at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry for Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, British Columbia.

A naming ceremony is to be performed on Monday week by the Lord Bishop of London. The tenor will be named 'King George V.,' the seventh 'Queen Mary,' and the others after various people.

THE STEDMAN CINQUES RECORD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wish to apologise for the false long peal of Stedman Cinques, to the Exercise generally, to your readers for depriving them of one of your entertaining and instructive articles, but most of all to the unfortunate band which put up such a magnificent performance at Southwark 13 years ago. I can only say how very much I regret not having taken that extra care which would have made so much difference.

ST. MARTIN'S CATHEDRAL, LEICESTER

THE SCHEME FOR THE NEW BELLS.

The recent announcement in our columns that the Cathedral of St. Martin, Leicester, is to have a new peal of twelve bells has aroused a great deal of interest, partly because of an unexpectedly early development of the scheme. The cost of the recasting of the old peal of ten and the addition of the new bells, as we have already recorded, has been assured by generous donors, but the incidental belfry improvements which complete the scheme have yet to be provided for. A letter from Mr. Ernest Morris, printed below, gives information upon this matter.

ST. MARTIN'S CATHEDRAL, LEICESTER.

The old peal of ten are based upon bells cast by Edwin Arnold, of Leicester, in 1781, which have been added to at various times since. North's 'Church Bells of Leicestershire,' published in 1876, gives the tenor as 52½ inches diameter, the four back bells each bearing the inscription:—

'A. Watchorne, Esq., Mayor; J. Nichols and W. Capp, Churchwardens; Edwin Arnold. Fecit. 1781.

Of the other bells, the treble, 2nd and 4th bear the inscription, 'J. Taylor and Son, Founders. Oxford and Loughborough, 1854.'

The 3rd records: 'J. Taylor and Son, Bellfounders, Loughborough, late of Oxford, Buckland Brewer, Devon, and St. Neots, Hunts. Successors to the old and celebrated founders, Newcombe, Watts, Eyre and Arnold, of Leicester, names of high repute dating as early as 1560.'

The 5th is inscribed: 'Let everything that hath breath, Praise the Lord,' and the 6th: 'Praise Him upon the well-tuned cymbals; Praise Him upon the loud cymbals.'

Now the Loughborough foundry is to put the seal on its ancestral connection with these bells, by recasting them and making them into twelve

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

WEATHER AFFECTS ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Newnham-on-Severn on Easter Monday. Weather conditions were against the interests of the meeting, and only about 40 braved the snow, hail and wind, mixed with continuous rain and sleet. The proceedings commenced with a service, at which the Rev. Dodds gave an inspiring address. Mrs. Dodds officiated at the organ.

At the business meeting, held in the Club Room, reports from the officials were unanimously adopted and the financial statements approved. There was an increased balance of about £10 on the year's work.

All the officers were re-elected, and Mr. J. Austin (Gloucester), Mr. E. Guise (Bristol), Mr. W. B. Kyaston (Swindon) and Mr. J. K. Armstrong (Cheltenham) were elected representatives to the Central Council.

It was decided to ask the Rules Revision Committee to prepare a recommendation that nominations for Central Council representatives shall be made beforehand.

Rule 8 was altered, as from January 1st, 1936, to the effect that members may be readmitted by paying one year's arrears and the current subscription then due.

After the meeting an excellent tea was partaken of, and then further ringing took place on the Parish Church bells, a ring of eight with tenor 21 cwt. Among those present was a much welcomed visitor, Mr. Arthur Pegler, of Bangor. It is many years since Mr. Pegler left the district, but he still has many friends to recall old times.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

STOCKPORT BRANCH MEETING AT TAXAL.

On Saturday, April 18th, a meeting of the Stockport Branch was held at the ancient church of Taxal, situated at the commencement of the beautiful Goyt Valley now in process of being turned into a reservoir for the town of Stockport. The six bells were requisitioned early in the afternoon and a variety of methods were rung until the short service, held in church at 4.15. This was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. N. C. Renner, who gave a forceful address on the responsibilities of ringers and their ministry. He observed that the bells hung in Taxal tower contained metal from two of a ring of three bells which were listed in Thomas Cromwell's inventory of Reformation times, and there still hangs in the tower one of the three, although it is now no longer hung for ringing. Thus they had in these bells a link with the church of over three centuries ago.

After service some 30 members and friends enjoyed an excellent tea, following which a short business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Rector, who extended a very warm welcome to Taxal.

It was decided to send a letter of congratulation to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' on his attainment of 25 years' service to the Exercise, and a request was made that this should be backed up in practical manner by all endeavouring to increase the circulation of the paper.

The Rev. F. Bonner, of St. Mary's, Stockport, was elected a ringing member of the Guild.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for his services in church and the use of the bells, to the local ringers, to the organist and the caterers, and to all who in any way had assisted to make the meeting a success.

The bells were rung until a late hour, the ringing ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Spliced Treble Bob Minor.

AN APPEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The restoration and augmentation of Leicester (St. Martin's) Cathedral bells, as announced in last week's issue, will be welcomed by all ringers, especially members of the Midland Counties Association, and in particular those of the Leicester Diocese. I am now in a position to state definitely that the ring of 12 bells suggested is assured by the generosity of a number of donors, but there will be much work in the belfry and ringers' chamber needed, entailing considerable expense.

It is desired that all ringers of the diocese should contribute in making its Cathedral Church belfry a worthy one, and to this end Mr. Wm. Willson (vice-president, M.C.A.), 3, Winchester Avenue, Leicester, and myself, as consultant to the Diocesan Advisory Committee, have been asked by the Provost and Cathedral authorities to undertake this part of the scheme.

All ringers who have had the pleasure(?) of ringing at St. Martin's, Leicester, will know this work has been sadly needed for many years, and it is hoped that everyone—outside the diocese as well as within—will contribute to this worthy cause. We, therefore, appeal to all friends to send contributions, however small, either to Mr. Willson, Mr. Fred Dexter, or any of the Cathedral ringers, or to me. After the dedication there will be a 'Ringers' Day,' when all contributors will be invited to a service of thanksgiving and to have a ring on the new twelve bells.

Thanking all friends in anticipation,

ERNEST MORRIS.

NEW BELLS AT STAFFORDSHIRE CHURCH. MEMORIAL TO FORMER CODSALL RINGER.

Probably the largest congregation which for some time has attended the Parish Church at Codsall was present at the evening service on Sunday, April 5th, when the Venerable R. L. Hodson, Archdeacon of Stafford, dedicated various gifts to the church, which included a credence table, in memory of Helen Walker; churchwardens' staves, in memory of Thomas Harley and Thomas Harley, jun.; churchyard gates, in memory of Harry Wilkes; and, last but not least, the new peal of eight bells and a memorial tablet.

The six old bells have been recast and two trebles added to make a ring of eight, given by the Misses Moreton in memory of their father, Edwin Moreton, who for over 50 years was a ringer at this church. The cost of the memorial tablet was also defrayed by the Misses Moreton.

After the dedication the bells were rung in rounds for a few minutes by a representative band belonging to the Archdeaconry.

The Archdeacon delivered a stirring and outspoken address which will be remembered by many for a long time.

After service, a short touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by the band who rang at the dedication ceremony.

Ringing continued until 9 p.m., touches in all the standard methods being rung, also a course of Cambridge Surprise Major and some rounds for the local ringers.

There were upwards of 50 ringers present, who came from Coventry, Swindon, Claverly, Stockton, Wolverhampton, Tettenhall, Blakenhall, Willenhall, Walsall, Darlaston, Coseley, Brewood, etc.

Previously the church had six bells, a very mixed lot—treble by Blews, 1867, second by Mears, 1875, third, fourth and fifth dated 1637, and tenor 1638. The last four do not appear to have had the maker's name on them.

The ringers had to stand in a somewhat awkward position to ring, and as far as the writer knows no peal had been rung on the bells, and no wonder either.

The death watch beetle is very much abused, but it is owing to its ravages that a clean sweep has been made in Codsall tower.

The work was entrusted to Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the work they have done is work they can be proud of. The firm was represented at the dedication by Mr. J. P. Fidler, and he was the recipient of many congratulations.

Codsall now possesses a splendid peal of bells, tenor a few pounds under ten cwt., hung on ball bearings in a steel frame. The tone and go are all that can be desired.

Further, the ringers have now a splendid little ringing chamber to ring in, open to the church, in place of the old awkward position among pews on the ground floor. This handy ring should also prove very valuable to the society for propaganda work.

WORCESTER AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL MEETING.

Presentation to Late Hon. Secretary.

The annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Worcester on Easter Monday, when, in spite of the inclement weather, 130 members and friends were present. Among the visitors were the Rev. C. Holroyd Barker, L.Th., secretary of the North Staffordshire Association, and others from Oxford and Sheffield.

Through the kindness of the headmaster of the King's School, the business meeting was held in the College Hall, the president, the Very Rev. Arthur Davies, D.Litt., Dean of Worcester, being in the chair, supported by Mr. W. Short (Master), the Rev. J. F. Hastings (clerical secretary), the Rev. G. W. Webb (vice-president), and Mr. J. D. Johnson (lay secretary).

The Chairman reminded the members that it was the first meeting since the death of their late president, Dr. W. Moore Ede, and the members thereupon stood in silence for a few moments. The president, on behalf of the Dean and Chapter, extended a hearty welcome to the association to Worcester.

The secretary reported that the Central Committee had met in the morning and had considered applications for grants from the Belfry Repairs Fund. The committee had decided to make grants of £5 each towards the rehanging of the bells of Upton-on-Severn and Norton.

As recommended by the committee, it was decided to give donations of a guinea each to the Dean Moore Ede and William Pye Memorial Funds.

It was also decided to hold the annual dinner again in Worcester on the last Saturday in September.

The 51st annual report called attention to the loss which the association had sustained in the death of the late Dean of Worcester, to the number of changes in the officers, and to the activity in bell restorations in the northern part of the county, the local church authorities being congratulated on the completion of these schemes. The balance sheet showed a credit balance for the year in the general fund of just over £4 and also recorded a welcome increase of 27 in the number of performing members.—Both report and balance sheet were considered satisfactory and were adopted.

The following officers for 1936 were elected: President, Very Rev. Arthur Davies; Master, Mr. W. Short; clerical secretary, the Rev. J. F. Hastings; lay secretary, Mr. J. D. Johnson; treasurer, Mr. W. H. Johnson; auditors, Messrs. E. E. Barber and S. T. Holt; Central Council representatives, Messrs. C. H. Woodberry, S. T. Holt and J. D. Johnson; whilst the clerical and lay vice-presidents were all re-elected.

It was decided to leave the arrangements for the annual peal to the Master, and to hold the next annual meeting at Worcester.

One life member, one honorary member and 21 performing members were elected.

The Rev. J. F. Hastings and Mr. S. T. Holt spoke of the bells of St. Helen's Church, Worcester. These bells were of historic interest, as they all bore inscriptions commemorative of Marlborough and his victories. They were not rung at the moment owing to the tenor being cracked, but there is a possibility of the church being closed or even pulled down at some time in the future. In such an event every effort should be made to preserve the peal intact.—The Dean said he thought it very wise of the association to be alive to this question, and to record the facts on the minutes, especially as it had been brought forward in the presence of the Press.

MR. J. R. NEWMAN'S 30 YEARS' WORK.

A presentation was then made from the members to the late general secretary, Mr. J. R. Newman, of Severn Stoke, who had been in office for a period of 30 years, 1905-35. The Rev. J. F. Hastings, in making the presentation, said they felt they could not let the occasion pass without some practical recognition of that wonderful secretaryship which had now come to an end. Under Mr. Newman's wise guidance the membership had more than doubled, their funds had grown from practically nothing to over £80, and it was all done with a modesty which held their admiration.

Similar tributes to the tact and consistent courtesy of Mr. Newman were paid by Messrs. R. G. Knowles, W. Short, J. Hemming, E. E. Barber and J. D. Johnson.

The presentation took the form of a wireless receiving set, suitably inscribed, and a cheque, whilst for their sympathetic help Mrs. Newman was presented with a silver tea tray.

In thanking the members, Mr. Newman said they had given him the most difficult job of all in 30 years. The work was a pleasure, he enjoyed it and did it very willingly, but he could do nothing alone, and all that had been done was due to the co-operation of other officers and members. The hall brought back memories; his earliest were of sitting on his hands to stop the tingling (laughter and applause). Then, 22 years ago, the association had presented him with a clock on the occasion of his marriage. It also brought back other memories—memories of other officers who had helped in the early days. Some of them had passed on, but he was glad to say that many were still with them, and were present that day.—Mrs. Newman also suitably replied.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter, to the headmaster of the King's School, and to the incumbents of the various churches where bells were used that day.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT DERBY.

In spite of the inclement weather, cold, rain, sleet and hail-storms, a good muster of members attended the annual meeting at Derby, and good practice was done at St. Alkmund's (8), St. Peter's (8) and St. Andrew's (10) during the day, when all the standard and several Surprise methods were brought round. In the evening the Cathedral bells (10) were available. The committee met in St. Andrew's Schools in the afternoon, and, arising out of their deliberations, grants were made from the Bell Repair Fund to Staveley, Derbyshire, where the eight bells are being rehung; and to Cotgrave, Notts, where the six bells are undergoing repair. St. Martin's Cathedral, Leicester, appeal was left for the time being, it being understood that the committee will give every consideration to this at a later date.

A letter from the president of the Central Council was read in connection with the suggested reopening of Chesterfield tower, and it is sincerely hoped that the Council's Advisory Committee will continue to press the matter, and that their efforts will have the desired effect.

Suggestions for the next three quarterly meetings were put forward to lay before the general meeting.

Tea was served at the Pierpont Restaurant at 5 p.m., and just over 60 members and friends sat down. This is one of the smallest numbers for an annual meeting, but the weather doubtless accounted for the absence of many who would otherwise have come. All districts of the association were represented, viz., Burton, Chesterfield, Derby, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough, Nottingham, and visitors were welcomed from as far afield as London, Leeds, Nuneaton, Norbury (Cheshire) and other places. At the meeting which followed tea, Mr. E. Denison Taylor occupied the chair and gave a review of the past quarter's work. He stated that 25 peals had been rung. It was with the deepest regret that he had to record the deaths of two eminent members of the Exercise, both of whom were life members of the association—the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake and the Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee. He called upon the members to stand in silence for a few moments to their respected memory. The president also noted the recent activities of bellringing in B.B.C. programmes, and stressed that it should be of the very best to be appreciated by all. He also referred to the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World,' and congratulated its talented editor, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, for the excellent way he had served the Exercise during this period of 25 years, expressing also the appreciation of all members of the Midland Counties Association.

The report and balance sheet were formally adopted on the proposition of Mr. Colin Harrison (auditor), seconded by Mr. J. H. Swinfield.

Election of general officers followed, and as there were no other nominations, the following were re-elected en bloc: President, Mr. E. Denison Taylor; vice-president, Mr. William Willson; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. E. White; general hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Morris. These officers thanked the members for their confidence in them, and promised to serve the interests of the association to the best of their abilities.

New members proposed since the last meeting were eight honorary, 11 ringing, one rejoined, one life, and these were duly elected. The association was also pleased to have as patron the new Lord Bishop of Derby, the Right Rev. A. E. J. Rawlinson, D.D.

Voting for four members to serve as representatives on the Central Council took place. Six names were put forward, and the following were duly elected, viz., Messrs. E. D. Taylor, J. H. Swinfield, A. J. Harris and W. H. J. Hooton.

The places chosen for the next three quarterly meetings were Norton, near Chesterfield, June; Ashby-de-la-Zouch, September; and Loughborough, January, 1937.

The members attended service in the Cathedral, the special preacher being the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Rector of St. Nicholas', Hereford, and hon. secretary of the Hereford Guild. Taking for his text the last verse of I. Corinthians xv., 'Always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord,' the preacher said it was a happy thing for any body of churchworkers to meet on the day following Easter, for this festival set God's approval on the life of Jesus. In international affairs the Church had a vital part to play, and any nation remaining loyal to Christian principles was sure of its ultimate triumph. Ringers had a share in advancing the Kingdom of God—they had one definite branch of church work. The guilds and associations enabled services to be rendered which otherwise would be lost. They had a double function—first to promote and cultivate the art of change ringing to the attractiveness of perfection, and by raising the standard of service ringing. The country would be much poorer for the lack of the witness of the bells. Secondly, to promote the recognition of ringers as church officers and workers. If this meant recognition by the Church, then in that alone had the guilds or associations justified their existence. If it meant recognition by themselves, the same again most emphatically was true. He personally valued the work of the guilds, and repeated that he felt quite sure that they were the means of encouraging and rendering service to the Church which otherwise would be lost.

During the day good use was made of the magnificent peal of twelve at the Cathedral, and the bells of All Saints', St. John-in-Bedwardine, St. Swithin and St. Nicholas'.

A BROADCAST TRAVESTY.

Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft Criticises B.B.C. Action.

The Norwich Diocesan Association held its annual general meeting at Norwich on Easter Monday. By kind permission of the incumbents, the bells of St. Peter Mancroft, St. Michael-at-Coslany, St. Giles' and All Saints' were at the disposal of the members from 10.30 in the morning until the evening, and the ringing included touches in many of the standard methods. Service was held at 12.30 p.m. in St. Peter Mancroft, conducted by the Rev. Hugh McMullan (Vicar). The Rev. T. B. Singleton, Rector of Swaffeld, gave an impressive address, based on the text, 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might,' which was listened to by a congregation of about 70 members and friends.

Luncheon followed at the Bell Hotel, at which 40 were present. The president, the Archdeacon of Norwich (the Ven. J. M. MacDermott), was in the chair. Supporting him were the Rev. H. McMullan, the Rev. T. B. Singleton, Mr. P. W. J. Fryer, J.P., Mr. C. E. Borrett (vice-president), Mr. A. L. Coleman (general secretary and treasurer), Messrs. W. L. Duffield and W. J. Lee (chairmen of the East and South Norfolk Branches), J. G. W. Harwood and W. J. Eldred (branch secretaries for East and West Norfolk), G. Bailey, E. G. Bennett, R. W. Cooke, R. J. Davey, A. G. Harrison, A. G. King (members of the committee), and members from all parts of the diocese and from the county of Suffolk.

The President proposed the toast of 'The King,' which was duly honoured.

GRATITUDE EXPRESSED TO HON. SECRETARY.

The business agenda was transacted under the chairmanship of the Rev. H. McMullan, who was supported by the president and officers of the association. Letters of apology for absence were received from the Rev. W. C. Pearson, the Rev. J. M. McNally, Messrs. G. P. Burton, H. F. Carter, W. C. Duffield, F. Nolan Golden and R. T. Woodley. The hon. secretary presented the annual report and balance sheet for the year ended December 31st, 1935, which were adopted on a motion moved by Mr. B. S. Thompson, seconded by Mr. J. G. W. Harwood.

A donation of £2 from the association was voted to the Scham Toney Bell Fund.

The Archdeacon of Norwich was unanimously re-elected president. The vice-presidents were also re-elected. Mr. B. S. Thompson proposed and Mr. W. J. Eldred seconded the re-election of Mr. A. L. Coleman as general secretary and treasurer and the motion was carried unanimously.

The Chairman moved: 'That this association wishes to record on the minutes its gratitude and thanks to Mr. Coleman for the many years of active service rendered towards the welfare of the association.'

The motion of thanks was heartily accorded. Mr. G. P. Burton was re-elected hon. auditor, and, on the motion of the general secretary and treasurer, the nominations received from the branches for election on the elected committee were accepted, viz.: Messrs. George Bailey and William C. Duffield, North Norfolk Branch; Arthur G. King and Reginald J. Davey, East Norfolk Branch; William E. Bason and Eric G. Bennett, South Norfolk Branch; Robert W. Cooke and John A. Godfrey, West Norfolk Branch. Messrs. Charles E. Borrett, Arthur L. Coleman and F. Nolan Golden were elected representatives on the Central Council.

The general secretary proposed the election of the following new members: Messrs. Eric S. Gooch, William H. French, Arthur Howes, Frederick W. Lawson, Henry E. Woodhouse and the ratification of the belfry election prior to a peal of Mr. Frederick C. Gunton.

BROADCAST OF ST. PETER MANCROFT BELLS.

The Rev. Hugh McMullan (Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft), on behalf of the members of the Norwich Diocesan Association, protested (as briefly recorded in our last issue) against a recent broadcast by the B.B.C. of the ringing of the bells of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. The broadcast was linked up with Mr. R. H. Mottram's talks on East Anglia. Mr. McMullan referred to it as 'a travesty—an extraordinarily poor idea of what the bells are capable.'

'I heard the broadcast,' said Mr. McMullan, 'and was as nearly disgusted as I could be. It was, of course, a record of the bells, and I wondered how it was taken. From inquiries I made I found that some months before the B.B.C. van had appeared outside St. Peter Mancroft Church, and that it was on this occasion that the record was taken. No intimation had been sent to me, as Vicar, or to our Ringing Master, Mr. B. S. Thompson, that it was intended to take a record of the bell ringing, and it so happened that on that occasion we had a very weak team in the belfry. If we had known what was intended by the B.B.C. we could have had our best ringers and the full number of bells rung.'

The speaker went on to say that a very interesting correspondence on the matter had followed with the B.B.C. It started with a letter written by Mr. Thompson to the Broadcasting Corporation. He described the record broadcast as 'a terrible thing,' a record taken without the knowledge of the Vicar or the ringers, 'which in itself was not exactly courteous.' The letter added: 'The full peal was not being rung and the band ringing them was not a strong one. The best position for taking the record could not possibly have been made use of; in fact, the record is a travesty of St. Peter's bells, which are

DEATH OF MR. J. W. ROWBOTHAM.

SENIOR PAST MASTER OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

One of the oldest members of the Ancient Society of College Youths passed away at Upper Norwood, London, S.E., on Sunday week, in the person of Mr. John W. Rowbotham. He was 77 years of age, had been a member of the society for 60 years and twice Master.

Mr. Rowbotham had been a sufferer from bronchitis and asthma for a good many years, and his death occurred from heart trouble brought on from this cause.

Born in Sheffield on July 12th, 1858, Mr. Rowbotham began ringing at Sheffield Parish Church (now the Cathedral) in 1874, and rang his first peal there in 1876. This was a 5,021 Grandsire Caters.

Shortly afterwards he came to London to follow his trade of cabinet maker, woodcarver, modeller and architectural period joiner, in which he was highly skilled. On arriving in the Metropolis, he at once associated himself with the Ancient Society of College Youths, and although not a member of St. Paul's Cathedral Society, rang there with a fair amount of regularity from 1881 to 1886. He was first elected Master of the Ancient Society in 1884, and was thus at the time of his death the oldest surviving ex-Master. He was again elected to the office in 1908. The senior past Master is now Mr. F. E. Dawe, who was elected in 1888, and, in all, served five times.

Mr. Rowbotham was one of the representatives of the College Youths on the Central Council during the periods 1903-5 and 1909-11.

Mr. Rowbotham had kept no accurate record of his peals, but they totalled about 100 and included the 11,111 Stedman Caters, rung at All Saints', Fulham, in December, 1882 (then the longest length in the method), and the 'John' peal of London Surprise Major at Rochester Row, London, in 1904.

In addition to his membership of the College Youths, Mr. Rowbotham was one of the oldest members of the Yorkshire Association, and he frequently attended the Snowden Memorial Dinner. He was also a member of the Devon Guild, and of the old St. James' Society, now the London County Association.

The funeral took place in Sheffield last Friday.

PAID RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Payment for ringing is a sore point—especially with ringing bands whose services are given voluntarily.

They aver that neighbouring churches which are able to pay their own ringing bands a fee are thus able to attract the non-paid members of the poorer towers.

The faithful servitors of these poorer churches take the trouble to teach ringing to beginners, only to find that as soon as the beginner has become proficient, he is lured away to the wealthier tower.

Naturally, the faithful ones object to their tower being made a training school for the benefit of the more affluent towers.

I should very much like to see readers' letters on this subject, which, I am sure, is of no little importance to the tranquillity, as well as the efficiency, of neighbouring towers where such a thing exists.

one of the glories of Norwich, and of world-wide reputation. The commonsense thing to do would have been to get in touch with the Vicar and have arrangements made for the record to have been one worth taking. If this had been done every assistance would have been given, not by the actual ringing alone, but with advice as to the best place for the actual recording and so on.'

B.B.C.'s EXPLANATION.

To this letter a B.B.C. official (for the Recorded Programmes Executive) replied: 'I am afraid that, as you say, the course that was adopted was certainly calculated to appear discourteous, and we hope you will accept our apologies on this account. It appears that our representative did make some attempt to get in touch with the Vicar, and I understand that he spoke to one of the clergy. But as it was just before the morning service he felt some diffidence in making any further approach and came to the conclusion that as he had to choose between recording the bells then rung and going away without recording at all (he had another appointment elsewhere), he thought it best to make a recording and write subsequently to the Vicar for permission to use it. I do not put this forward as excusing the procedure adopted, but had subsequent application been made to the Vicar all might have been well, as it would then have been pointed out that the recording was not such as to do credit to the bells. Unfortunately, however, owing to a mistake here, no letter was sent to the Vicar, with the results described in your letter. In the circumstances we can only express our regret for what has occurred.'

The President moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft and to the incumbents of St. Michael-at-Coslany, St. Giles' and All Saints' for the use of their bells.

The Rev. H. McMullan moved a vote of thanks to the Rev. T. B. Singleton for his address to the members.

The Archdeacon of Norwich expressed appreciation of his re-election as president, and appealed for younger men to give their services to the church as bellringers. Their number, he said, should be two or three times the total it was at present in the county. The meeting then closed, and the members adjourned to the various belfries for further ringing until the evening.

THE LATE CANON H. J. ELSEE.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL.

Large Mourning Crowds at Bolton and Clynnog.

All classes in Bolton united to pay tribute to the late Canon H. J. Elsee, Vicar of St. George's and president of the Lancashire Association, on the occasion of the funeral on Wednesday week. Hundreds failed to gain admission to the church, and a supplementary service was held in St. George's Road Congregational Church.

The body had been placed in St. George's Church on the preceding evening and the funeral service was deeply impressive in its simple dignity. Many clergy of the Manchester Diocese were present, and representatives of the very many organisations of Bolton attended. Mr. E. H. Lewis (president) represented the Central Council and also the Ancient Society of College Youths, and other ringers present were the Rev. Canon C. C. Marshall, president of the Yorkshire Association; Messrs. W. H. Shaker, hon. secretary, Lancashire Association; W. J. Moss, Stretford; J. Blackburn, Coppull; F. Bradley, Whittle; William Sharples, Brindle; E. Jennings, Broughton; J. T. Bimson, Preston; J. Charnock, Chorley; J. R. Taylor, Penwortham; B. Thorpe, Ashton-under-Lyne; A. Barnes, Reddish; Sergt. Peter Crook and P.C. Donald Brown, of the National Guild of Police Ringers; and members from the local towers.

The opening sentences of the service were read by the Rev. J. F. Southworth, B.D., the present curate, and the Archdeacon of Manchester (Ven. A. Selwyn Bean, M.A.) read the lesson (Rev. 21, v. 1-7). The prayers were said by the Vicar of Bolton (the Rev. W. J. Havlock Davidson, M.A.).

A short appreciation of Canon Elsee was given by the Bishop of Hullme (Dr. Sherwood Jones), who spoke from the chancel step. That was not an occasion for eulogy, he said, and the presence of so many at the service spoke more loudly than any words of the place the Canon held in their hearts.

'At whatever point he touched our lives, and whatever his relationship to us, he was always our friend,' said the Bishop.

Mr. Thomas Booth, Mus.Bac., and Mr. Frank Rushton were at the organ, and they played 'O rest in the Lord' (Mendelssohn's 'Elijah'), 'I know that my Redeemer liveth' (Handel's 'Messiah'), Prelude in E Minor (Chopin), 'Canto Funebre' (J. L. Roedel), 'Then shall the righteous shine' (Mendelssohn), Prelude—Requiescat (West) and 'Blest are the departed' (Spohr).

The principal mourners were Canon Charles Elsee (brother), Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Elsee (brother and sister-in-law), Misses G. Elsee and E. Elsee (sisters), Miss M. Smith (housekeeper), Miss M. Hetherington (maid), Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Boud, and the Rev. J. F. Southworth.

Great crowds of sympathisers lined the streets as the cortege left the church to the sound of muffled bells, which had also been rung before the service. The interment took place later in the day at the little village of Clynnog in North Wales.

THE SCENE AT OLYNNOG.

In this little Welsh hamlet, half-way between Caernarvon and Pwllheli, a little crowd of people gathered at the old Church of St. Beuno to pay their last respects to Canon H. J. Elsee. 'Whilst we waited at the gates,' writes a correspondent, 'the bell which the Canon gave to the church in 1924 "in remembrance of Charles and Mary Anne Elsee" was tolled every minute. About 6.45 p.m. the cortege arrived and went straight to the graveside, the coffin borne by relays of parishioners. A short service was held, the Rev. W. G. Jones, Rector of Llanaelhaearn, and the Rev. J. Davies, Rector of Clynnog, officiating. A hymn was sung in Welsh by the congregation, which numbered upwards of 200. After the Blessing, two courses of Grandsire Doubles were rung with 6-7-8 covering by J. H. Midwinter 1-2, C. Gudgeon 3-4, A. E. Pegler, sen. 5-6, A. E. Pegler, jun. 7-8.

'While the mourners were still lingering at the graveside the three bells in the tower were rung by the same ringers. Strange as the music sounded, to us it seemed to fit in with the simplicity of the whole ceremony.

'During the interment the sun, just about to set below the sea, was shining brilliantly, and turning the waves, not 100 yards away, into shimmering gold, whilst behind us were the Welsh mountains with the sharp peaks of Bwlch Mawr and the Rivals capped with snow. Surely nowhere could there be a more lovely resting place for such a man.

'The esteem in which Canon Elsee was held by the people of Clynnog was only too clearly shown. Men and women alike wept unrestrainedly during the service. Their hearts had been won by the kindly acts and the friendliness of this saintly man. C. G.'

TRIBUTE OF THE BELLS.

After Canon Elsee's death on Good Friday, St. George's bells were fully muffled, with exception of the tenor, which was open at the back stroke, for Sunday services, and again Monday and Tuesday evenings. They were rung for the funeral service on Wednesday by mixed bands of visitors, and as the cortege was leaving the church the 'whole pull and staud' was rung by the local company. A few more touches by the visitors followed and then a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by six of the local band, assisted by one from Holy Trinity, Bolton, and another from the Saviour's Church, Bolton.

RECOGNITION OF RINGER'S LONG SERVICE.

PRESENTATION AT TALGARTH.

Dr. J. Gwyn Davies, M.A., J.L.D. (Vicar), recently presented Mr. W. D. Griffiths, captain of the Talgarth, Breconshire, ringers, with a gold watch and chain, subscribed for by members of the church, in recognition of the services he has rendered to the church. Mr. Griffiths has been captain of the ringers for over 30 years and a chorister for about 40 years. He has also been responsible for the upkeep and the repairs of the ropes, bells, etc., and also teaching scores of ringers from time to time.

Mr. Griffiths was the means of getting the bells recast and rehung in 1904. He has not been a great peal ringer, having rung about 50 peals, but he has been a regular Sunday service ringer, attending twice every Sunday, and always taking his place on a practice night for over 40 years.

A STAFFORDSHIRE RESTORATION.

STONE BELLS PUT IN ORDER.

Palm Sunday saw the culmination of a very spirited effort by the Stone Church authorities to 'put their house in order.' For a year or two minor defects have made themselves known amongst the bells and, as it was over 40 years since they were last rehung, it was decided to make good the ravages of time and wear and place the matter in the hands of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who have fully justified the confidence placed in them.

A short service was held in the ringing chamber at 10 a.m. on Sunday, April 5th, to hallow the completed work. The Vicar, the Rev. H. Lee, officiated, and was supported by the Rev. J. B. Frith, Rector of Swynnerton. A distinguished gathering, headed by the chairman of the Stone Urban District Council, wearing his chain of office, was present. The service was short but impressive, and on its conclusion the bells were rung for 10.45 matins, those taking part in addition to the local company being the Rev. J. B. Frith, Mr. Thompson (hon. secretary of the North Staffs Association) and Mr. J. P. Fidler (representative of the bellhangers).

It was a happy thought which prompted the authorities to invite Mr. Frith to deliver the sermon on this special occasion. He is a typical 'Ringers' Parson,' and it was gratifying to note that he appears to have recovered from his long and painful illness.

The bells at Stone are a handy ring, even though they run the wrong way round. The tenor is about 12 cwt., and was cast, with five of its companions, by Rudhall in 1710. The peal remained a ring of six until 1890, when Messrs. Taylor and Co. added two trebles to complete the octave.

SPLICED SURPRISE IN MIDDLESEX.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. C. T. Coles, in his letter of thanks and sarcasm, says we live and learn. I agree. He, for one, would be better if he didn't propose such ridiculous notions. He has condemned all Spliced peals of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob except two, and he will have a long way to go to carry his motion if I know anything of the Central Council. In answer to Mr. E. C. S. Turner, I would say, 'Please read my first letter again and digest it.'

CRITICISM.

The leading article which appeared in our issue of March 20th seems to have created some feeling of resentment among members of the Kent County Association, according to the report of the annual meeting which appeared in our last issue. When the article was written it was farthest from our desire to say anything to which exception could be taken, but that it should have resulted otherwise is just one of the risks which writers run if they are ever to express opinions. But from the report of the meeting, 'The Ringing World' was somewhat severely taken to task; not only for the opinions it expressed, but also for having even publicly 'criticised' the affairs of the Kent Association. Our readers will probably recollect that the points raised in our article were, first, the proposal to appoint a ringing master in each district, and questioning the advisability of making the operation of his office conditional upon there being no competent member of the local band present, and secondly, the suggestion that no ringer should be allowed to be an unattached member of the association if he resided in a parish where there is a band which he could join.

The Honorary Secretary of the association told the meeting he could not understand where the Editor got his information. These matters were openly discussed by members of the association in the Lewisham District, therefore they became of public interest both to other members of the Kent Association, and, from the principles involved, to ringers generally. And being matters of public interest, they were open to criticism in the press, although, in our view, our comments were extremely mild criticism, and were directed to questions of principle more than anything else. There was no attack on the association, but we were justified in commenting upon the suggestions if only in order that all the members of the association might know that such proposals had been under discussion. We did not say that the committee had approved of them. We were not concerned with who made them; only with the fact that they had been made, and that it was open to those to whom the proposals appealed to bring them up at the annual meeting. Therefore, there was no breach of etiquette in commenting on the matter.

We were accused of misrepresenting the facts, but it cannot be denied that the proposals were made—although turned down by the committee—and despite the fact that what we said appears to be resented in some quarters, the truth remains that the rules in the final form submitted to the members support our contentions. castigation of 'The Ringing World' therefore seems hardly to have been called for, but we cannot pass over the suggestion that the affairs of the Kent Association should not be publicly criticised. The affairs of a ringing association having been discussed in public are no more exempt from fair comment than the affairs of any other organisation.

EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

PREPARING FOR JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

The annual meeting of East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association was held at Sutton-in-Ashfield on Easter Monday and was attended by 50 members from Ault Hucknall, Orich, Heath, Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Mansfield, Mansfield Woodhouse, Morton, Pleasley, Ripley, Selston, Sutton-in-Ashfield, South Normanton, Tibshelf and Langwith.

The bells were rung from 2.30 to 4.15, when a service was held in church, an address being given by the Vicar (the Rev. R. P. Tinsley). After tea in the Parish Room, Mr. Wilson Dobb presided over the business meeting.

The officers were re-elected as follows: President, Mr. W. Dobb (Selston); vice-president, Mr. W. Allin (Sutton-in-Ashfield); Ringing Master, Mr. T. Clarke (East Kirkby); hon. treasurer, Mr. T. Stimpson (Swanwick); hon. secretary, Mr. J. W. England (South Normanton); auditors, Messrs. J. Machin and T. Hand; Executive Committee, Messrs. E. Ashman, C. Rogers, C. J. Partridge and A. Elliott.

In addition to the routine business, it was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Heanor, and also meetings during the year at Clay Cross, Heath, Horsley, Selston, Ripley and Mansfield Woodhouse.

Seven new members were elected.

The association will celebrate its jubilee next year, and the committee were instructed to prepare a programme for the occasion.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and helpers concluded the meeting, and further ringing took place until 9 p.m., the methods rung varying from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise.

FOR BEGINNERS.

STEDMAN TRIPLES FOR THE YOUNG CONDUCTOR.

Stedman Triples, from the conductor's point of view, is in a category of its own. The principal reason for this is that the coursing order of the bells is being constantly split up by the alternate quick and slow work. This makes it difficult for the beginner to keep track of what all the bells should be doing.

Unless he is specially gifted, he will only be able to acquire the necessary knowledge by practice and observation, and he must not expect to be able to see everything all at once.

If you are ringing a method like Grandsire, you can memorise the coursing orders and transpose them as they change. In Stedman the coursing order only remains among the dodging bells while they are dodging; but one of the first steps you can take towards knowing what others are doing is to follow, in addition to your own bell, the work of what, for want of a better term, we will call your 'opposite number' both in front and behind you. By 'opposite number' we mean not your 'course bell' or 'after bell' as you come through the dodging, but the bells that are going in and out, the same way that you are going. These are the bells that you do not dodge with, except in 4-5 when one is coming out quick and the other going in quick.

The chief advantage of knowing which bells are your 'opposite numbers' comes when you are in 'slow.' If you are going in slow, there is a 'quick' bell between you. The opposite number in front of you, when you get into the slow, does the last half turn with your first whole turn, and you do your first half turn with his last whole turn. Then the 'opposite number' after you takes him out of the slow; that is, begins his first whole turn at back stroke from the other's last whole turn, and you do your last half turn with him, followed by your own last whole turn for which he provides the first half turn.

Thus you have the 'slow' work covered by definite knowledge all the while you are there; the other bells coming in while you are in front, being, of course, always 'quick.' When you dodge in 4-5 (up) the opposite number in front of you is in 7-6 (down); when you are in 6-7 (up) he is in 5-4 (down). Then you change to 7-6 (down) and the opposite number after you appears in 4-5 (up), and you cross him to 5-4 (down) when he goes to 6-7 (up). One further advantage of knowing your 'opposite numbers' is that they do not change their relation with you until they are disturbed by a bob.

Here is another 'tip' which may help you. Every bell you dodge with on your way up—and this applies to all numbers of bells—will go in the same way that you came out, whether it was quick or slow. It, therefore, follows that the bells you pass and do not dodge with will go in the opposite way to which you came out, or, put in another form, will go in the same way that you will go in next time you reach the front.

When bobs are called in pairs in Stedman Triples, such as in the short touches which we gave last week, it should be remembered that if the bobs are at 3-4, 5-6 or 7-8, the bell which has to continue dodging down will go in quick and the bell dodging up will go in slow. That means, too, that the bell that makes the first bob of the pair has to go in quick and the one that makes the second bob has to go in slow. At bobs at 12-13 exactly the reverse is the case. If you have a four-bob set, that is 3-4-5-6 or 5-6-7-8, the bell that makes the first bob also makes the last, having been a 'quick' bell in between.

The beginner may usefully spend time with pencil and paper studying the details of the front work, which, although in 'sixes,' really consists of blocks of twelve changes. By following this suggestion he can, for instance, learn exactly which bell, in relation to the work, should lead at each of the twelve changes, and, as failure to lead is the most prolific cause of trips in Stedman, such knowledge will be of the utmost use when the conductor can speak with certainty.

There are other little points which experience will teach, but we have said enough to show that there are guides which help a bob caller to become a useful if not a brilliant conductor.

All bob callers cannot rise to the same level, but study and industry will do a lot. Stedman, despite what some people may say, is an interesting method, especially for the conductor, and our contention has always been that a well-struck peal of Stedman Triples is worth three hours of anybody's time.

CLEVELAND ASSOCIATION REAWAKENING.MEETING AT THORNABY.

The Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association has not had a meeting for a long time, but that held at Thornaby on Easter Monday proved that the association was not dead, but only sleeping. It awoke fresh and with new vigour when members gathered together from Middlesbrough, Ripon, Ormesby, Richmond, Guisborough, Darlington and Thirsk to enjoy the nice peal of eight at Thornaby. The ringing was good, ranging from Grandsire to Superlative, and several members rang touches in methods new to them.

The meeting which followed dinner was a long and useful one, and showed that all the members present were anxious that the association should resume its good work amongst the towers of the district. A large amount of business was transacted, and from the number of recommendations sent forward for discussion it would appear that the annual meeting to be held at Thirsk on Whit Monday will be a very important one. It is hoped that every tower will send its representative to that meeting.

The bells (kindly placed at the disposal of the association by the Vicar and churchwardens of Thornaby) were kept going throughout the day, and when the members parted to wend their several ways home, they all felt that the Cleveland was once more well in its stride to useful and happy meetings.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

On the invitation of the Vicar of South Church (the Rev. Canon A. B. Parry-Evans), a special meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Bishop Auckland on Saturday last.

During the afternoon a peal board, recording a memorial peal to the late King George, which was rung on February 1st, was unveiled by the vice-president of the Eastern District, Mr. R. L. Patterson.

The Vicar welcomed the members to South Church, and, on behalf of the association, Mr. G. S. Taylor and Mr. W. N. Park congratulated the band on their performance, and hoped that the peal would inspire the local men to take more interest in ringing, with a view to ringing a peal without outside assistance, 'First peal by service ringers of this church.'

The company then attended shortened evensong, in this beautiful old church, conducted by the Vicar, and, after an excellent tea in the Parish Rooms, several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major were brought round, and a very pleasant meeting came to a close.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.PRESENTATION TO FORMER SOUTHERN BRANCH SECRETARY.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern Branch was held on Saturday at Pershore, when about 60 members were present, including visitors from the Western and Northern Branches. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. at the Abbey and St. Andrew's Church, and a short service was held in the Abbey at 5 o'clock, at which the address was given by the Rev. Canon Murray.

Tea, provided by Mrs. Murray, was partaken of at the Women's Institute Hall, and was followed by the business meeting, the Rev. Canon Murray presiding. It was decided that the next quarterly meeting should be held at Bretforton, subject to the approval of the Vicar.

Messrs. J. Hall and G. King were elected members of the Annual Dinner Committee. Several performing members were elected to the association.

At the conclusion of the meeting a presentation was made to Mr. J. Hemming, late secretary of the Southern Branch, who had held that office for 25 years. The presentation, which took the form of a grandmother clock with Westminster chimes, was made by the late general secretary, Mr. J. R. Newman, who referred to the good work which Mr. Hemming had done for the branch.

Mr. Binyon also said a few words in praise of the late secretary's work.

In replying, Mr. Hemming thanked the members and said what a lot of friends he had made while he had been in office.

After the meeting the members returned to the towers, and ringing continued until 9 p.m., the methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Major.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Elkstone on Saturday, April 25th. The bad weather did not deter a fair number from turning up at this five-fell tower on the top of the Cotswolds.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. T. S. Tonkinson), and the Vicar of Chedworth (the Rev. Noel Hope) gave a very fine address. Tea was partaken of at the Rectory, after which the business meeting was presided over by the Rev. N. Hope, supported by some 20 members.

Several items of interest were discussed, notably the annual outing of the branch to the Cheddar Valley on June 13th.—Ringing was indulged in till about 8 o'clock.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The two treble bells which will form the principal part of the William Pye Memorial are to be cast at Croydon this afternoon. Will Mr. O. H. Saul, last heard of in Sheffield in August, 1926, or anyone knowing his whereabouts, kindly communicate with Mr. Sidney F. Palmer, Hazelwood, 4, Quarry Road, Totley, near Sheffield.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co. will shortly be removing to their foundry at Loughborough the ring of eight from the very fine tower of Holbeach Parish Church, Lincs. One of the bells is cracked and this is to be recast; the others are to be tuned and the whole peal rehung with new fittings in new frame.

The performance of the local band at Cottesmore, Rutland, in ringing a peal of Grandsire Doubles, the first peal by all, at the first attempt, is a meritorious achievement, especially as they are self-taught. They gained their knowledge from books and the Beginners' Column of 'The Ringing World,' and we are very pleased to learn that the latter has been of such practical use to them. Mr. H. Walker, who rang the treble to the peal, is 64 years of age. The whole performance is an example to many other bands up and down the country.

The many friends of Mr. E. J. Rowe ('Uncle'), of Stourton, Wilts, will be very sorry to learn that he is laid up with a broken leg, the result of a motor accident which occurred just as he was leaving home on Saturday night. We are told that he looked quite comfortable on Sunday and his smile was reminiscent of the completion of a well-struck touch.

Councillor Arthur Payne, M.B.E., J.P., president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, was elected a member of the Ancient Four-and-Twenty of the parish of St. Mary's Church, Gateshead, at the vestry meeting held on April 21st, in place of the late Sir John Maccay.

BELL CLAPPERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The recent statement in your columns that the iron supplied in these days is unequal to the strain imposed on clappers of bells suggests to my mind a great opportunity for a progressive and important step on the part of the bellfounding industry.

I have for a long time held the view that the real solution of the problem of objection to bells on the part of residents in the neighbourhood of churches lies in the discovery of a more elastic and less aggressive material than iron for the clappers. It is a matter of common knowledge that the blow struck by the iron clapper on bell metal always produces a comparatively harsh sound close at hand, and that to hear bell music at its best one has to listen at some distance from the tower.

It seems to me that what is wanted in order to do full justice to the musical tone of a bell is an amalgam of metals that will strike a modified and more resilient blow on the bell, which will produce a note both of agreeable quality in the immediate vicinity and of at least equal carrying power at a distance.

With all the resources of modern chemistry at their disposal, I suggest that our worthy bellfounders devote their attention seriously to the solution of this problem.

F. LL. EDWARDS.

ACCIDENT TO MR. JAMES GEORGE.

On Thursday of last week, Mr. James George met with an unfortunate accident in his home at 44, Cuckoo Road, Nechells, Birmingham. When coming downstairs in the morning, Mr. George, who is 82 years of age and lives alone, slipped from the middle to the bottom of the staircase, and badly injured the bottom of his back on the lowest step. It was some time before he could summon help, as he was at first unconscious. He was badly bruised and shaken, and it will probably be some time before he will be able to ring again. His friends throughout the country will wish him a speedy recovery.

BELL BROADCASTS.

On Sunday next, May 3rd, the bells of St. Ambrose's Church, Bristol, will be heard on the air at 7.55 p.m. The band taking part in the broadcast are all regular Sunday service ringers at this church.

The bells (eight) are a modern peal, by Mears and Stainbank in 1928. The tenor is 11½ cwt. in F sharp.

The ringers will be pleased to hear what the reception is like and any other criticism, which should be sent to Mr. F. Skidmore, 80, Carlyle Road, Greenbank, Bristol, 5.

Last Sunday evening, listeners on the Regional wave-length heard the bells of St. Laurence's Church, Reading, in Stedman Cinques. There was a commendably brief introduction overlaid by the Announcer.

PILGRIMAGE OF REMEMBRANCE.

Members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild made their annual pilgrimage of remembrance to the little village of East Garston, Berks, where the late Master, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, lies buried, on Wednesday evening, April 22nd. On the Parish Church bells 720 of Bob Minor was rung by R. T. Hibbert 1, Miss S. Davis 2, R. Warwick 3, O. J. Hibbert 4, E. J. Taylor 5, W. Hibbert (conductor) 6. Afterwards 360 of Stedman Doubles, with Miss M. Field and G. Woodley taking part.

VICTORIA'S GRAND PEAL.

NEW BELLS RECEIVE THEIR NAMES.

Unique Ceremony at Whitechapel Foundry.

A ceremony, unique in bell founding history, took place at Whitechapel on Monday, when a ring of eight bells, modelled upon the peal of Westminster Abbey and destined for Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, British with the most modern type of fittings. They are a peal which will add lustre to the name of Mears and Stainbank.

There was a distinguished gathering for the ceremony, which had been arranged by the British Columbia and Yukon Church Aid Society, of which the Bishop of London is president and Dr. Perkins, of Westminster Abbey, the secretary. The service took place in the erecting shop of the foundry, where the bells hung in their massive frame, complete from braced foundation girders to their stays. A temporary platform had been erected and seats provided on the floor of the shop to accommodate the many visitors who came at the invitation of the society. While the guests were assembling there came from the distance and above the noise of London traffic, the sound of the bells at Whitechapel Parish Church, well rung by a band of employees of the foundry.

SCENE IN THE FOUNDRY.

The clergy and others officially associated with the ceremony assembled at the Parish Church of St. Mary Matfelon, and passed in procession along the Whitechapel Road to the foundry. Headed by the vergier and cross-bearer, there came the choir of St. Margaret's, Westminster, followed by the Master Bell Founder (Mr. A. A. Hughes), the chairman of the Executive Committee of the British Columbia and Yukon Church Aid Society, acting as Commissary of the Bishop of Columbia, Canon Perkins, general secretary of the society, the Rev. E. P. Laycock, formerly Archdeacon of Columbia, and the Rector of Whitechapel. The Bishop of Colchester followed next, and then came the Bishop of London, preceded by his chaplain bearing the crozier, walking in front of those who were to name the bells. The little procession was watched with curious interest as it moved along the busy street to the foundry.

In the erecting shop the principal clergy took their places on the platform, and the ceremony opened with the invocation of the Holy Spirit, pronounced by the chairman of the committee.

Then the sweet voices of the choir were heard in Webb's setting of the hymn, 'Come, thou Holy Spirit, come.' Followed intercessions, recited by Canon Perkins, for worshippers, for the ringers, for those who shall be married, for the sick, for the dying, and for the donors and artificers. Next the 150th Psalm was sung.

A formal statement as to the provision of the bells for the Cathedral was made by the chairman of the committee in the following terms:— 'These bells for which we have now sought the Divine blessing will hang in the north-west tower of the Cathedral Church of Christ in Victoria, British Columbia, which tower will bear in perpetuity the honoured name of the president of our society. The six larger bells, offered in the year of the Silver Jubilee of their Majesties King George V. and Queen Mary, are the gift of Mary Geraldine Mozley, in loving memory of her brother, Charles Raymond Nutt, late Captain in the Royal Field Artillery, whose body lies at Somenos, in the Diocese of Columbia. The two smaller bells record the life and work of two honoured inhabitants in the City of Victoria. Before we proceed to the ceremony of naming the bells, let us remember before God those whose names they will bear, and with them our late beloved Sovereign, King George V., and three Bishops of Columbia now at rest, by whose devoted labours the foundations of the Church's work in this distant western land have been well and truly laid.'

There followed then a prayer for the departed who are commemorated by the bells, including George V., King and Emperor, George Hills, William Willcox Perrin and Augustine Scriven, Bishop of Columbia, Charles Raymond Nutt, John Samuel Henry Matson and John Robert Merideth Matson, and a few moments of silence were then observed.

THE NAMING CEREMONY.

The chairman of the committee afterwards called in turn upon those who were to name the bells, and each, as they stepped forward, received a rope from the Master Bell Founder. First of all the tenor was named, by the High Commissioner:—

'I, Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada, give to this, the tenor bell, by gracious permission of Her Majesty Queen Mary, the name of "King George V." Christ, Heaven's King, be pleased with this ring.'

The High Commissioner then struck three blows on the bell by pulling on the rope of the chiming hammer.

The seventh bell, by the same permission, was given the name of 'Queen Mary,' by Mr. W. A. McAdam; the sixth was named 'Charles Raymond,' by Mrs. Mary Geraldine Mozley; the fifth, 'Edward of Westminster,' by Archdeacon Storr; the fourth, 'Paul, of London, England,' by Canon Mozley; the third, 'Our Lady, St. Mary,' by Mrs. N. K. Woods, Central President of the Mothers' Union; the second, 'John Samuel Henry Matson,' by Mrs. I. H. Perrin; and the treble,

WEST FRONT OF VICTORIA CATHEDRAL.
As it will appear when completed.

The bells will hang in the north-west tower, which bears the name of the president of the British Columbia and Yukon Church Aid Society. The funds for the building of the tower, which is not quite finished, have been entirely raised by the society's friends in England. The south-west tower (that on the right of the picture) is not yet built.

Columbia, were named in the course of a religious service held in the famous old foundry, and attended by the Lord Bishop of London and other Church dignitaries, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, the High Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada, and Mr. W. A. McAdam, Acting Agent General for the Province of British Columbia.

The history of the Cathedral of the Far West was told by the Bishop of London in his address. His Lordship laid the foundation stone on a visit some years ago, and the building is still in progress. The tower in which the bells are to hang is the most recently completed portion of the building and is named after him, while the bells are the gift of generous donors. The bells are a magnificent ring, worthy of the noble building which they are to adorn, and are hung for ringing

'John Robert Merideth Matson,' by Miss E. M. Tien. Each struck three blows upon the bell named.

The Rev. E. P. Laycock then requested the Bishop of London to bestow his blessing on the bells, and his lordship, having offered prayer, placed his crozier upon one of the bells and recited this benediction: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ, amen. I, Arthur Foley, by Divine permission Bishop of London, and President of the British Columbia and Yukon Church Aid Society, hereby bless these bells and this work to the glory of God and to the honour of His Holy Name.'

Then the beautiful tones of the new bells were heard chimed, in rounds and queens, by Mr. J. Thomas.

The hymn, 'Ring forth, holy bells,' preceded a short and homely address by the Bishop, who recalled the occasion when he laid the foundation stone of the Cathedral in Victoria, and again when he visited it five years ago and found it a living centre of church activity. Up to that time, he said, £80,000 had been spent on the building, and then came a little misunderstanding. He was asked if he would like to have the tower built in his name, and he said, 'Yes,' but when he found they imagined he was going to build it himself, that was quite another story, especially as he had 45 churches to build in London. But, as usual, added the Bishop, it was a woman who found the way out, and Miss Tien and her friends set out to raise the money. Thanks to their efforts the tower was built, and then came the question, where were the bells to come from? Again it was a woman who came to their aid. Mrs. Mozley, with wonderful generosity, had given the six biggest bells, and other donors had completed the peal.

What is the object of this tremendous trouble and expense? asked the Bishop. As he said on that very hot day when he laid the foundation stone, this Cathedral in Victoria was calling back to Liverpool, six thousand miles away. It called back, 'We, too, believe in God, we, too, believe in Christ, we, too, love the Church.' And now that Cathedral would have a tongue with which to say it, the beautiful tongue of the bells which they had just heard; their sound was going out into all lands and the words unto the ends of the world. There was no more beautiful message than that of the bells. The bells they had named that day came from one of the most historic foundries in England, a foundry in which bells now over three hundred years old had been cast. What he loved to think of was that long after we had passed away, these bells they had now heard would still be sending out the message of the Gospel on the shore of the Pacific, across the Continent and the Atlantic to Liverpool Cathedral on the one hand, uniting them in the faith of Jesus Christ, and to Japan, six thousand miles away, in the other direction, telling out to the heathen of that land that the Lord is King. The spot where this Cathedral stood was one of the pivots of the world; they could not place a peal of bells in a more beautiful position. The message that would go out to Japan would say, 'Here is the Christian faith; this is what you want in order to be happy.' And to this country would come the message, 'Here is the Christian faith, we hold it here as you do in the old country.' My prayer to-day, concluded the Bishop, is that the countries on both sides of the Pacific and Atlantic may hear and believe the message of the bells.

The hymn, 'Set them nobly in the steeple,' was then sung, and the impressive little service, in unusual surroundings, with the age-blackened beams of the building above and all around the implements of the bell founder's craft, came to a close with the Bishop's Blessing and the National Anthem.

THE BELLS.

The bells themselves form a glorious peal, well balanced and perfectly tuned. In size and weight they are a reproduction of the bells of Westminster Abbey, which it was intended they should, as far as possible, copy.

The following is the specification of the bells and the inscriptions:—

- Tenor: H.M. KING GEORGE V.
GOD SAVE THE KING.
Christ, Heaven's King, be pleased with this ring.
Diameter: 4ft. 7in. Weight: 29 cwt. 1 qr. 19 lb. Note: D flat.
- Seventh: H.M. QUEEN MARY.
GOD BLESS QUEEN MARY.
I hail the festal day.
Diameter: 4ft. 1in. Weight: 20 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb. Note: E flat.
- Sixth: CHARLES RAYMOND.
To the Glory of God and in loving remembrance of Charles Raymond Nutt, late Captain, R.F.A., died June 12th, 1914; buried at Somonos, Vancouver Island, these six larger bells were given by his sister, Mary Geraldine Mozley, in the Silver Jubilee year of H.M. King George V., 1935.

- I summon all to pray.
Diameter: 3ft. 8in. Weight: 15 cwt. 2 qr. 9 lb. Note: F.
- Fifth: EDWARD OF WESTMINSTER.
Praise the Almighty Father with the sounding bells.
Diameter: 3ft. 5in. Weight: 12 cwt. 1 qr. 11 lb. Note: G flat.
- Fourth: PAUL, OF LONDON, ENGLAND.
Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel.
Diameter: 3ft. 1in. Weight: 9 cwt. 1 qr. 20 lb. Note: A flat.
- Third: OUR LADY, ST. MARY.
(Beneath this bell is depicted the figure of the Sistine Madonna.)
Glory to God in the Highest.

- M.U.
Diameter: 2ft. 10in. Weight: 7 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb. Note: B flat.
- Second: IN MEMORIAM, JOHN SAMUEL HENRY MATSON.
Jubilate Deo.
Diameter: 2ft. 8in. Weight: 6 cwt. 1 qr. 13 lb. Note: C.
- Treble: IN MEMORIAM, JOHN ROBERT MERIDETH MATSON.
Cantate Domino.

Diameter: 2ft. 7in. Weight: 6 cwt. 1 qr. 5 lb. Note: D flat.

The inscription on 'Paul of London' is a translation of that on 'Great Paul of London,' which was cast for St. Paul's Cathedral on November 23rd, 1881. The words were chosen by the Rev. Dr. Liddon. The inscription on 'Edward of Westminster' is a translation of that which appears in Latin on the two Elizabethan bells in Westminster Abbey.

The Abbey bells, as most of our readers are aware, have all of them been founded and maintained by the same firm, though the latter did not always bear the well-known title of 'Mears and Stainbank.' Thus the connection between the Abbey and the great Whitechapel Foundry covers not far short of four centuries, if not longer.

As the company left the shop, Mr. J. Thomas chimed a course of Grandsire Triples on the bells, and this provided for critical ears some idea of the beauty of the tones that the ring possessors. But to everyone their sounds were a source of delight.

After the ceremony the visitors were entertained to tea in St. Mary's Parish Hall, and during the proceedings the Bishop of London, on behalf of the founders, presented to Mrs. Mozley a model of the sixth bell, cast by herself from the same metal as that from which the original was cast. It was suitably mounted and made a very happy memento of the occasion.

The bells will be despatched to Victoria in about three weeks' time. The north-western tower of the Cathedral, in which they will hang, will eventually be about 120ft. high, and there will be a long draught of rope between the bells and the ringers. In Victoria there are two or three ringers eagerly anticipating the arrival of the bells, and it is hoped they will at once be able to form a company to ring them and eventually to practise change ringing. They could not have better bells for the purpose.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

WEST DORSET BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held last Saturday at Evershot, and, notwithstanding most unpleasant weather conditions, was quite well attended. Members were present from Beaminster, Rampisham, Lyme Regis, Bradpole, Poole, Wimborne and Evershot.

The Rector, the Rev. W. Gulliford, conducted the service, and in his address emphasised the message of the bells as one of 'Peace, goodwill toward men.' Afterwards he very kindly entertained all to tea in the Village Hall.

The chairman of the branch (the Rev. C. C. Cox) presided over the business meeting. Saturday, July 18th, was selected as the date for the next meeting, at Netherbury. It was also agreed that in the meantime one combined practice should be held at an eight-bell tower and one at a six-bell tower. Mr. S. J. Philbrick was elected as a non-resident life ringing member.

Mention was made that the order had been given for the restoration of the ring of five at Thorncombe, and it was hoped that the ringers there would come back to the Guild after the work was completed.

The Chairman moved a vote of thanks to the Rector for his kind welcome and interest, to the organist, and the ladies who were responsible for the catering. He also congratulated the youthful Evershot band on their progress.

Good practice was obtained on the bells during the afternoon and evening, and the variety of methods was noteworthy: Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor being rung very creditably.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

GREATER ENCOURAGEMENT BY CHURCH AUTHORITIES
WANTED.

Beginning of a Benevolent Fund.

About 90 members attended the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday at Guildford. It had been hoped that the Bishop of the Diocese would attend, but owing to his illness his place was taken by the Ven. Archdeacon Blackburne, who thus made his last public appearance in the diocese as Archdeacon of Surrey. This week he has left to be installed as Dean of Ely.

The Guild service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost (the Very Rev. E. C. Kirwan), and the Archdeacon, in his address, said that such a service as that ought to serve two purposes—separate consecration and encouragement. It was so easy to become engrossed in a piece of church work and do it quite well, and yet to forget what was the real end and purpose of that enterprise. And there was a particular danger in any form of artistic work in the Church. He thought he would not be far wrong when he said that the more one was awake and alive and appreciative of the beautiful in church work, the greater was the danger that one's whole self would end with that particular form of work. It was because the art they practised was so beautiful that he ventured to call their attention to that particular danger.

A GREAT TRADITION.

There was no need for him to remind them of the history of the art they practised. It was one of the very few surviving typically English village arts. In Surrey they were seeing their beautiful villages more or less scrapped by newcomers who were not of the ordinary village type. He was going to a part of East Anglia where he hoped he would find the typically old English village with its craftsmen who work in iron and wood. Their art was among those surviving craftsmen, and it was in a very honourable company. He hoped they would do all in their power to see that their art was continued. 'You have received the great tradition of change ringing from the past,' added the Archdeacon, 'and I am glad to see in your ranks many young men who are capable of handing that tradition on, and it is good.'

There were many disappointments—of keeping a company together and getting recruits. They might meet with discouragement from people who did not like the sound of bells, and they were not backward in complaining. Don't be disappointed; let this service be a service of encouragement. They had inherited a great past and would carry on.

He thanked the ringers, on behalf of the Church and the diocese, for the work they were doing. Some of them came from villages where it was not possible to ring a peal. To those ringers he would say, 'Take heart.' They were members of a very large and important company and throughout the length and breadth of England there were 34,000 men and women engaged in similar work.

The collection, amounting to £1 12s., was for the Guild Benevolent Fund.

At the business meeting, Mr. Walter Harrison (vice-president) was in the chair, supported by the Provost (the Very Rev. E. C. Kirwan), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master), Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer) and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary). Welcome visitors included the hon. secretaries of the adjoining associations, Mr. F. W. Rogers (Winchester and Portsmouth) and Mr. C. H. Kippin (Surrey).

THE REPORT.

In their annual report the committee said the Guild had steadily maintained its work during the past year, but while in its main objects it had shown no falling-off in carrying out the purposes for which it was founded, the committee could not refrain from once more urging upon Church authorities the diocesan character of the Guild and asking that it shall receive from them the backing which that status demands. There were still a number of towers which remained outside the Guild; the committee felt that a warmer encouragement of its objects by incumbents and parochial church councils would lead to a strengthening of the membership. It was hoped that in future this support might be given to the Guild.

The membership of the Guild showed a slight decline on the year, accounted for by a number of minor causes. The ringing members numbered 396, compared with 413 at the end of 1934; and the honorary members 81, compared with 82 in the preceding year. Unlike a number of other ringing associations, which allow their members to be one and, in some cases, two years in arrears before their membership lapses, this Guild adheres strictly to the rule that only those who have paid their subscription by the end of the year under review shall be counted on the roll. The figures which the committee presented were, therefore, an accurate record of the members whose subscriptions were actually paid for last year. The balance in the central fund had been reduced by £8 12s. 9d. owing to special calls upon it. The cash balances in the district funds amount to £42 11s. 8d., compared with £48 2s. 2d. at the end of 1934. The reduction was due principally to the grants made to the Library Fund and to grants made for bell and tower restorations.

A Benevolent Fund was set up during the year, and, thanks to generous donations, stood, at the end of the year, at £10 0s. 9d., which is on deposit at the bank. It is hoped that during the year this amount may be considerably added to by contributions from ringers themselves. There was now a sum of £4 0s. 6d. in the New Cathedral Bells Fund.

The committee were again glad to report the carrying out of bell restorations at various churches in the diocese. The bells at Ewell, Dorking, Witley and Ockham had been put in order, while at Shalford a scheme is being carried out to recast the existing ring of bells from six to eight. Chiddingfold bells were also to be recast, and restoration was contemplated at Ash. In the carrying out of most of this work the services of the Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse) had been invaluable to the Church authorities, who had consulted him, and the diocese is fortunate in having at its disposal such independent expert and practical advice as Major Hesse was able to offer.

TWENTY-TWO 'FIRST PEALS.'

During the year, 29 peals were rung, 27 of them on tower bells and two on handbells. The number of tower bell peals was the same as in the previous year, and the number of handbell peals one more than in 1934. A gratifying feature of the tower bell peals is that they were distributed over 18 towers in the diocese, whereas in the previous year the peals were rung in only 11 towers in the diocese and three outside. No fewer than twelve of the peals were rung in celebration of the Silver Jubilee of H.M. King George V. The committee hope that this extension of occasional peals to other towers may be maintained, so that, at least, one peal, with as many local ringers in it as possible, may be rung in each tower in the Guild every year.

Another very satisfactory feature of the performances was the number of ringers who rang their first peal. No fewer than 22 members took part in a peal for the first time. This again was largely the result of the Silver Jubilee enthusiasm, for 19 first peals were rung in connection with that occasion. Congratulation must be extended to all these ringers and to Mr. C. W. Denyer for the part he played in assisting eleven ringers through their first peals in the Farnham District, and also the Womersley band, who rang a peal entirely with their own members, which provided five first peals and a first as conductor. Another peal of note was a peal of Stedman Triples rung at the Cathedral by officers of the Guild, which has been duly recorded by a tablet in the ringing chamber.

The committee again placed on record their appreciation of the work of the officers, and especially of the district officials, upon whom so much of the success of the Guild depends.

In moving the adoption of the annual report, the Chairman referred to the deaths of Mr. W. J. Viggers (Aldershot), Mr. W. T. Waller (Dorking), who were hon. members, and Mr. P. J. Percy (Chertsey) and Mr. J. Spooner (Shere), ringing members, and the meeting stood in silence for a few moments. He was requested by the Archdeacon to say how extremely sorry their diocesan was that he was unable to be with them; they shared that regret and hoped that he would be speedily restored to health. The Chairman did not regard the support to the Benevolent Fund as satisfactory. They had only four individual donations and two collections were taken at district meetings. He hoped they would work the fund up a little more.

The hon. secretary explained that collecting boxes were being distributed that day to the towers, and he hoped that when the members saw the boxes in the towers they would contribute. The sum of one penny a month from each member would amount to about £20 a year.

The report was adopted, as was also the treasurer's balance sheet, which showed a balance in hand of £23 12s. 9d., compared with £32 1s. 6d. at the beginning of the year.

FOUR REPRESENTATIVES FOR CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The following officers were elected: Vice-presidents, Mr. Walter Harrison and the Provost; Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse; hon. treasurer, Mr. J. Corbett; hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; hon. auditor, Mr. R. Hasted. Mr. C. Hazelden was re-elected hon. librarian, the Library Committee was also re-elected, and the following were elected after a ballot as representatives on the Central Council: Messrs. A. H. Pulling, A. C. Hazelden, G. L. Grover and A. Harman.

The meeting decided to hold the summer festival at Weybridge, and that the next annual meeting should be held at Guildford.

A motion, proposed by Mr. C. Denyer (Farnham District secretary), that members of the district committees may apply for their expenses when attending committee meetings was carried.

The hon. secretary said he had received a letter from the Vicar of Camberley asking the Guild to give a grant towards the cost of the restoration of the Yorktown bells. The cost of the restoration would be not less than £360.

The Master reported that the bells were being rehung in a new iron frame, and the work was being undertaken by Messrs. Taylors, of Loughborough. The bells at Shalford were also to be recast, augmented to eight and hung on an iron frame by Messrs. Taylors, the work having been started. The work of recasting Chiddingfold bells by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank would begin in the middle of next month.

On the proposition of Mr. A. H. Pulling, it was decided to send a subscription of two guineas to Yorktown.

Mr. G. Grover asked what the Guild had contributed to the Pye Memorial.—The hon. secretary replied that so far £1 12s. had been collected. It was decided to make the amount up to £2 2s.

OLDEST COLLEGE YOUTH PASSES ON.

DEATH OF MR. TOM BENNEY.

The Ancient Society of College Youths have lost another of their old members. On Thursday of last week Mr. Tom Benney died at the age of 84 years.

Mr. Benney was elected to the society on January 21st, 1875, and was thus the senior member, a title which now descends to Mr. J. Martin Routh, of Reading, who was elected on April 1st in the same year.

All through his ringing career Mr. Benney had been connected with St. Dunstan's, Stepney, but for a time, up to about 15 years ago when he returned, he practically dropped out of ringing. In his younger days he rang many peals, including one, the anniversary of which occurred this week, at Edmonton as long ago as the year 1875. Mr. Benney rang a peal to celebrate his 80th birthday. In addition to his long connection with Stepney, Mr. Benney was also an old member of St. Andrew's Guild, Holborn.

The funeral took place at Nunhead Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

FIRST QUARTER-PEALS.

HEAVITREE, DEVON.—On Sunday, April 24th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: T. Lavers 1, R. Roberts (first quarter in the method) 2, J. E. Lilley 3, C. R. Walker 4, C. G. Glass 5, A. Mitchell 6, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 7, W. Bedford 8.

WATFORD, HERTS.—For evening service at the Parish Church on Easter Day, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: A. Dawes (first quarter of Stedman) 1, A. W. Dix 2, H. L. Long 3, A. Brunton 4, H. G. Oashmore 5, F. H. Crook 6, R. G. Bell (conductor) 7, J. Horton 8.

ST. ALBANS.—On Easter Sunday, for evening service at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,280 changes): C. Doherty (first quarter in method) 1, G. W. Debenham 2, H. Goodyear 3, H. Mason 4, F. Spicer 5, R. Kerr 6, G. E. Debenham 7, H. V. Frost (composer and conductor) 8.

A vote of thanks to the Archdeacon for his address, and to the Provost, the organist and choir of Holy Trinity Cathedral Church, and to the Rector of St. Nicolas' for the use of his bells, was proposed by the chairman.

The Provost thanked Mr. Harrison for presiding, and this concluded the business.

During the afternoon there had been ringing on the eight bells of the Cathedral and on the ten at St. Nicolas' Church.

A LITTLE-KNOWN BELL FOUNDRY.

THE CHANDLERS OF DRAYTON PARSLOW.

On Saturday, April 4th, a meeting of 25 ringers in the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild celebrated an occasion which was worthy of greater attention than is sometimes given to men of the past, who practised a trade of art and skill under many difficulties. There seem also at different times to have been some very hard circumstances which had to be overcome, and we in our time are benefited by the determination and skill of a family whose name is not publicly recorded. Except for one gravestone in the churchyard of their native village, and for the notes of careful research made by historians of campanology, and the name embossed on many bells, 'Chandler,' of Drayton Parslow, is mentioned with small measure of praise which the family deserved. Many of its bells are 'richly sounding of music.'

In 1634 Richard Chandler, who had acquired the trade of bell-founding with the firm of Atton in Buckingham Town, returned to his native village of Drayton Parslow, where he began bell-founding in connection with the smithy which he had inherited from his father. He cast six bells in the four years before his death at the age of 37 years; his son, Anthony, took up his father's trade in 1650, and in 12 years cast 29 bells; his second son, Richard, followed and cast 40 bells in 10 years. Richard, the son of Anthony, cast 21 bells in six years; and after him his brother, George, with others of the family cast 80 bells in 59 years. Another brother, Thomas, succeeded George as head of the 'firm' for three years. The last bell bearing the name Chandler is dated 1726, in which year Edward Hall, who had married a granddaughter of the first founder in this family and had already for some years been one of the firm, took it over in his own name. Between 1726-1755 he cast 13 bells, but for two periods, of three and five years respectively, he cast no bells; from a note of the Rector in the register it may be judged that he met with hard times. His son, William Hall, cast the last bell of this foundry in 1756, after which this business was 'doubtless killed by the competition of the great London foundries.'

Until November, 1935, there were three bells only in Drayton Parslow tower. The Saunce, in addition, was the single one from the local foundry. Now Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have made up an excellent light ring of six. At the dedication a touch of Stedman Doubles was rung, such as the Chandler's would have often heard at the first ringing of their own bells.

The company on April 4th, most of whom came from bellfries in the district, were pleased at hearing some of this history recounted. Even some of the local ringers were surprised to hear that Drayton Parslow had taken such a great part in the ringing world. The bells were hung in six counties, Bucks, Herts, Beds, Northants, Oxford, Cambridge; and two bells in Gloucestershire were no doubt cast by this family.

The village consists of little more than two streets, built on the slope of a hill, running down from the church and rectory, which stand on the edge of the higher ground at the south-western extremity. About the middle of the village is a small smithy, having for its next neighbour the Three Horse Shoes, a hostelry of the humblest description, built soon after 1850. At the back of these tenements is a bit of garden ground and a paddock, the surface much broken by old foundations, which mark the site of the former foundry, worked, together with the smithy, by several generations of the Chandler family. (A. H. Cox: 'The Church Bells of Buckinghamshire'.)

Quoted also by A. H. Cox: 'Rev. T. A. Turner, in a paper published in the Records of Bucks, 1872, page 125, "Bellfoundries in the County of Buckingham," says: "One, John Baldwin, a bedridden village worthy, tells me that he, in early life, succeeded one William Hall, probably a grandson of Edward Hall, above, in the village smithy business, which at that time was, and still is, carried on on the site of the old bell foundry. Baldwin bears testimony, moreover, to having found, whilst digging clay, etc., in the paddock and garden, sundry bits of bell-metal (not preserved); also to having taken over with the business sundry metal castings, also small metal and other moulds (not preserved), and a quantity of sand, all of which William Hall said his grandfather used in the bell foundry business.'"

The site of the foundry is now a green bank, at the end of a garden. A private house and shop stand on the site of the smithy. One visitor, on asking, was kindly allowed by the present owner to stand on the site of the foundry.

And so April 4th, 1936, was the date of the first meeting of ringers in Drayton Parslow, a village which gave much in the history of bells for 220 years, 1635-1756.

At the instigation of the present Rector, the rehanging and addition of four bells was undertaken, and under his encouragement the local company is learning the art of change ringing, assisted with instruction from the Oxford Diocesan Guild in the North Bucks Branch. Here it should be said that among the ringers of this district are several whose ancestors' names are recorded in their church registers as ringers during all the time that the 'Chandler' family were founding bells in Drayton Parslow.

The ringers received hospitality in the Rectory, and many scenes of the past were conjured up in imagination—the Parson teaching the Chandler children their Catechism in the very room where we were, for that part of the Rectory was built about 1680.

John Lord, D.D., the Rector in 1755, regretted that the local foundry had decayed. The present Rector holds a lively interest in the bellfry, and in the future we shall hope to hear of Drayton Parslow change ringers as famous as their foundry of the past.

THE COMING COUNCIL MEETING.

The Central Council is accorded a distinct honour in being allowed to use the Council Chamber of the historic Guildhall for its meeting on Whitsun Tuesday. Very few outside bodies, whose affairs have no official connection with the City of London, are given this privilege, which follows meetings at other such historic places as the Jerusalem Chamber at Westminster Abbey, Lambeth Palace, the Mansion House and Skinners' Hall.

The first meeting of a newly constituted Council always produces a long agenda, and this is again the case for the forthcoming meeting in London. The routine work at this first meeting of the triennial period is added to by the election of officials and committees, and although the present secretary has done much to save the time of the Council by circulating reports beforehand, it is seldom now that the reports and the accompanying elections are all disposed of until well after lunch. The result is that the subsequent general business has sometimes to be concluded hurriedly and in a dwindling assembly. The Council should welcome, therefore, the proposal that in future the meetings should, where possible, begin earlier in the morning. As we pointed out not long ago, the main obstacle to this change is not so serious as it would have been a few years ago, when the Standing Committee did not meet until little more than an hour before the Council. Now that practice has shown that it is possible for the committee to meet and conduct its business with less hurry on the previous evening, an earlier meeting of the full body ought to be possible, with the consequent relaxation of the pressure at the end of a long day.

The Council is fortunate in its president and hon. secretary, and they will be re-elected for another term of office on Whitsun Tuesday, but the Council have to find a new librarian to fill the vacancy caused by the tragic death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake. Probably the Standing Committee will have a name to put forward, for this is a post that cannot very well be filled on the spur of the moment. There are men well fitted for the position who would be prepared to give the necessary time, but the number of these who have the storage accommodation available for the library and stock of publications is probably very few. Whoever fills the office of librarian renders a valuable service to the Council and the Exercise, but the filling of the vacancy on this occasion will be accompanied by a sense of sorrow.

There are no fewer than eight committees to be elected, but with one exception, there is unlikely to be any desire for change. The committees are selected for the special aptitude or liking which their members have for the kind of work undertaken, and as there is no limit to the membership, of competition for places on these committees there is, of course, none. The one exception to which we have referred is the Standing Committee, which under the rules is limited to twelve elected members with the officials and the conveners of committees ex-officio. Here the constitution of the committee may be called into question. We know in some quarters there is a feeling that there should be a greater proportion of representative members, that is, those elected by the affiliated societies. At present about half the number are hon. members of the Council. It should, however, be pointed out that the members of this committee are not elected because they represent this or that section of the Council. They are elected from the Council as a whole for their capacity to manage its general affairs and to act for it in between meetings. The members of the committee not only include some of the 'elder statesmen' of the Council, but men of considerable business capacity and knowledge of ringing affairs, but it is, of course, open to the Council to elect whom they please. Hitherto the Council can be presumed to have elected the men considered best fitted for the job.

ANOTHER DEVON RING RESTORED.

MALBOROUGH BELLS TUNED AND REHUNG.

On Thursday evening, April 30th, a well-attended service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Arrowsmith), at the interesting and picturesque Church of All Saints', Malborough, near Kingsbridge, in South Devon, marked the consummation of the parishioners' efforts to restore the six bells.

The Vicar has had previous experience in the matter of restoring bells elsewhere, and the response to his appeal resulted in the necessary funds being forthcoming within two months from the time of his laying the matter before the Parochial Church Council.

The Rev. E. V. Cox, president of the Devonshire Guild of Ringers, was due to rededicate the bells and to preach, and it was, therefore, a cause of considerable disappointment to all concerned that Mr. Cox was prevented by illness from attending.

The Rural Dean, the Rev. G. Porter, Vicar of Kingsbridge, had kindly undertaken to take over the president's duties, and was specially fitted to perform the ceremony, for his own bells at Kingsbridge were restored some twelve months ago. In his sermon the Rural Dean spoke of the monks who were reputed to have cast the first bells in this country and to have taught the craft to laymen more than 1,200 years ago.

The dedicatory rounds were rung by the local band, composed of Messrs. E. Jarvis, jun. 1, A. Yeoman 2, E. Jarvis, sen. 3, R. Stone 4, J. Edmunds 5, and F. Prowse 6; and after the service the bells were kept going till 9.30 p.m. by visiting bands from East Portlemouth, Aveton Gifford, Galmpton, Buckfastleigh and Newton Abbot.

The bells are a ring of six with an 11 cwt. tenor. They have been rehung with new fittings in a massive two-tier frame of iron castings on steel girders, and No. 2 bell has been recast.

The bells have been accurately tuned, and the improvement brought about called forth many complimentary comments amongst parishioners and visitors.

The work has been ably carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, and now another ring of bells in South Devon is in first-class ringing order.

Mr. Cyril Johnston was present to represent the bellfounders, and the bellhanger responsible for the erection of the bells, Mr. F. Collins, took part in the ringing.

SUFFOLK GUILD.AN ASSISTANT SECRETARY APPOINTED.

At the annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild, held at the Co-operative Hall, Ipswich, on April 18th, over 70 members sat down to tea. After tea the president, the Bishop of Dunwich, welcomed the largest meeting of Suffolk ringers that had ever been held.

The accounts showed a balance in hand of £33, out of which a double report would have to be paid for, as it had been found better to issue the report in the first half of the year, instead of the latter part as heretofore.

The officers were all re-elected, but Mr. M. Making, of Sproughton, was elected as assistant secretary in order that he might take over the duties, as the Rev. H. Drake gave them up.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Paigrove, and the next annual meeting at Bury St. Edmunds, if it could be arranged.

The committee was asked to choose a deputation to see what could be done to abate the nuisance of noisy towers. It was pointed out that this could be done nowadays much more cheaply and effectively than in the past, owing to the researches of the B.B.C.

It was agreed that the B.B.C. be thanked for the better broadcasts of change ringing that have lately taken place.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.CHERTSEY DISTRICT TO HAVE A SUMMER OUTING.

A meeting of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday at Ottershaw, a six-bell tower, beautifully situated, attracted nearly 30 ringers, and some excellent practice was put in. The Vicar conducted the service and gave an inspiring address. He also presided at the tea and meeting which followed, when two new members from Ottershaw (Messrs. T. Hawkins and W. Horn) were elected, and it was decided to appoint an assistant ringing master for the district, as the present Master (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) finds it difficult to attend some of the meetings, owing to business ties. Mr. W. Simmonds, of Hersham, undertook the duties.

It was decided to institute combined practices once a month, in alternate months at Ottershaw, in the other months at eight-bell towers.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and the organist were accorded.

Subsequently, the District Committee met and drew up plans for a combined summer outing, which it was decided should take place on a Saturday afternoon and evening in July, when it is hoped to visit towers in the Thames Valley. Details will be announced later, but the excursion will be open to any ringers and their friends to join.

A collection at the service for the Guild Benevolent Fund amounted to 6s 5d.

A LONDON PEAL RESTORED.BARRON BELL TRUST BEARS COST.

The peal of eight bells at the Church of St. George the Martyr, Southwark, was reopened during evensong on Sunday, April 26th. The bells had been retuned and rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co. at the cost of the Barron Bell Trust. After the second lesson had been read by one of the curates, the Rector (the Rev. Ernest Cook) offered several appropriate prayers in rededicating the bells, and prayers for all those who heard the bells, whether from sick beds or as passers-by, and those whose duty it was to ring them.

The opening touch was rung by a band of the Metropolitan Police Guild, under the conductorship of Chief Inspector William Bottrill, the Guild Master. It was regretted that Mr. F. Hopkins, the senior trustee of the Barron Bell Trust, could not attend. An apology for his absence was given by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, who, with Mr. John Fidler, represented the bellfounders. The Loughborough firm is to be congratulated on the work they have carried out on the bells. The 'go' leaves nothing to be desired, and the tone of the peal has been greatly improved by their retuning.

The bells were kept going after the service until about 9 p.m., when all ringers present, who included a number of visitors, besides members of the Metropolitan Police Guild, had an opportunity of ringing. The bells form one of the very few complete rings of eight cast by Abraham Rudhall, the well-known Gloucester founder in 1718, and in regular use at the present time:—

Treble.—'A.R. 1718.' 4½ cwt.

Second.—'Peace and good neighbourhood.' 5 cwt.

Third.—'Prosperity to all our benefactors.' 5½ cwt.

Fourth.—'God preserve this church.' 6½ cwt.

Fifth.—'Prosperity to the place.' 7½ cwt.

Sixth.—'Mr. William Budger, churchwarden.' 8½ cwt.

Seventh.—'A. Rudhall, Gloucester Bell Foundry, 1718.' 10½ cwt.

Tenor.—'The living I to church do call, and to the grave, I summon all.' 14 cwt. in F.

The reopening of the bells coincided with the bicentenary of the present church. (The bells are older than the present church, and were rehung in this tower after the old building was pulled down in 1734.) The present church was opened in 1736, and to Dickensians is known as 'Little Dorrit's Church.'

A peal of Kent Treble Bob Major by members of the Metropolitan and National Police Guilds was rung to celebrate the bicentenary, and will be found in the peal columns.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are about to dismantle the ring of six at Balcombe Church, Sussex, preparatory to rehang them and adding two trebles to complete a ring of eight.

The names of some of the ringers in the peal of Double Norwich at Milton-next-Gravesend on April 15th were given in the wrong order in the report sent to us. They should have been Stanley Shellock 3, Harry Hoskins 4, James Bennett 5.

The ring of six bells of Southill Church, Beds, is to be tuned and rehung by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

The ringers of St. Laurence's, Reading, would like to thank all those who sent congratulatory letters and postcards to Mr. R. T. Hibbert on the broadcast Stedman Cinques on Sunday, April 26th. They assure their fellow-ringers that they always try to give their very best for service ringing.

The new ring of eight bells for Fairwarp, Sussex, are waiting for the completion of the tower: Visitors to the Croydon Foundry last Friday saw them, complete in their frame, in the erecting shop.

The ringer of the 5th in the peal at Worsley, the report of which was published in our last issue, was John Potter.

During the Australian tour a very interesting letter was delivered to me at Sydney from Mr. Heuden, which I hope the Editor of 'The Ringing World' will find room to publish in the near future. His certificate as an old Collegian is numbered 2,594, and I believe he is still in the land of the living. Mr. Knight, at the time of his death, was probably the oldest member of any London society. After joining the Royal Cumberland Society in 1866, he also joined the St. James' Society on February 20th, 1867—a double record.

A NEW SPLICED PEAL.

FOUR METHODS IN SEVEN-LEAD COURSES.

A new spliced peal arrangement was rung at Old Windsor last week. It is made up of the four methods Painswick, Yorkshire, Superlative and Cambridge, and provides a peal with seven-lead courses, with a change of method at every lead except at the course end. It was arranged by Mr. A. G. Driver, and has the advantage of being true to any peal of Superlative. The composition used on this occasion was Ernest Pye's 5,152. It involved 138 changes of method.

Mr. Alan Pink and his band will be congratulated upon their success, especially as the peal was rung without previous practice, and it was the first peal in four Surprise methods by six of the band.

The courses are rung: Painswick, Yorkshire, Superlative, Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire, Painswick.

SPLICED SURPRISE IN MIDDLESEX.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Really, Mr. James Hunt should be careful. He describes my resolutions on splicing as 'ridiculous,' and states that I condemned all peals of Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob except two. It is news to me that the resolutions condemn any peals, but if they do, Mr. Hunt's amendment does not help. I am not aware that any peals of Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, containing full courses of either method, have yet been rung, and, therefore, Mr. Hunt's amendment condemns them all, without any exceptions.

Mr. Hunt should try to realise what the effect of his own proposals would be, before he uses such words as 'ridiculous' about other people's. It may be of interest to him to know that when those resolutions were being framed, with the object of defining spliced peals, and not of making such peals an impossibility, I sought and obtained the assistance of several of the recognised best men in the Exercise, both on and off the Council. To describe the work of such men as ridiculous is, well—it is ridiculous!

C. T. COLES.

A 720 WANTED.

Sir,—I should be very pleased if Mr. C. T. Coles would kindly oblige me by publishing a 720 of Kent and Oxford Minor by changing method at the lead-end, as I am very anxious to call one and ring one.

'ONE WHO WANTS TO LEARN.'

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Monday evening, April 20th, at Christ Church, Alsager, 1,512 of Grandsire Triples (portion of Reeves' variation of Holt's Ten-part) was rung with the clappers half-muffled as a token of respect for the late Mr. Samuel Jepson, vergier and sexton of the church: E. Peake 1, D. R. Whalley (conductor) 2, H. Dixon 3, E. Harper 4, T. Cartwright 5, B. Fernyhough 6, E. Moseley 7, R. Moseley 8.

At Burbage, Leicestershire, on Tuesday, April 28th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. K. Measures (conductor) 1, J. E. Clough 2, W. J. Clough 3, A. Ballard 4, G. Dudley 5, W. A. Wood 6, W. Cope 7, E. Rivett 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect for the late Rev. John Sinker, Provost of Blackburn Cathedral.

THE ROLL OF HONOUR.

MORE EXTRACTS FROM READERS' LETTERS.

Our readers who have supported 'The Ringing World' from its first number to the present day have so overwhelmed us with their kindly messages of congratulation and encouragement that it is impossible to publish from the many letters we have received all the extracts which we would have liked to print. We must, therefore, content ourselves with just a few.

'I have read every page of "The Ringing World" since the first of the first issue, but I do not consider I deserve any honour for doing so; rather the honour is his who has provided all these readable pages!' This is the kindly appreciation of our services which the Rev. H. Drake has sent us.

'I have read "The Ringing World" from the first issue and look forward to it every Friday morning with the same interest to-day as I did to the first number.' Thus that former famous Lancashire stalwart, Harry Chapman. 'I started taking "The Bell News" in 1884 and have never missed a ringing paper a week since. Without it I should feel lost,' he adds.

And writing of long continued support of ringing papers, Mr. T. E. Slater's letter is extremely interesting and his family's record can, we think, hardly be excelled. 'The late Samuel Slater,' he says, 'took the first copy, dated January 1st, 1871, of "Church Bells," and took that paper until "Bell News" started in 1881. There has been a paper devoted to change ringing coming to this house every week, therefore, since the first week in January, 1871, and even before that Samuel Slater took "Bell's Life," which was 4d. a week, I believe. I and my father have taken over a thousand copies each of two ringing papers, "Bell News" and "The Ringing World," and hope to be able to take another thousand copies.'

We are not sure that we ought to give away this little domestic sidelight, but perhaps we may be forgiven. Mr. J. Pagett, of Derby, says he has taken every copy of the papers issued appertaining to ringing since 1887. 'The Ringing World' reaches him direct through the post every Friday, and he adds, 'It is usually put before me with the following remark: "Here's your favourite paper. There'll be no shifting you now till you have waded through it."'

'I have taken every copy of the paper from the commencement, and although I have travelled in many foreign climes since the paper first appeared, I have never missed a number, even when I have been abroad months on end,' writes Mr. Councillor Paddon Smith, of Birmingham. 'I have taken many opportunities of congratulating you on your front page articles, which are such a wonderful feature and are alone easily worth the price of the paper. It is remarkable to think that except for a very brief period (and thank goodness it was brief), every one of these articles has come from your own pen, and I trust you will never again get so far away from your desk that this experience will have to be repeated.'

'"The Ringing World" is greatly looked forward to in our home. We all enjoy reading it,' writes Mr. Arthur Harding, of South Ealing, who has been a reader from the first copy.

Mr. Henry Ferguson, of Scarborough, has subscribed to the ringing papers since the early eighties, and so has Mr. T. W. Chapman, of Nuneaton.

Here is a further list of others who have been supporters of 'The Ringing World' from the first number:—

Mr. J. Avias, Benhall, Suffolk.
Mr. A. T. Baker, Ilkstone, Derbyshire.
Mr. F. G. Bradley, Whittle-le-Woods, Lancs.
Rev. H. Drake, Ufford, Suffolk.
Mr. O. F. Johnston, Croydon, Surrey.
Mr. R. G. King, Royston, Herts.
Mr. H. Knight, Wolverhampton.
Mr. C. R. Millway, Dover, Kent.
Mr. L. H. Page, Titchfield, Hants.
Mr. W. C. Parker, Staines.
Mr. F. S. Price, Beeston, Notts.
Mr. G. Radley, Wormley, Herts.
Mr. W. G. Smith, Benhall, Suffolk.
Mr. T. H. Taffender, Streatham, London.
Mr. J. A. Trollope, Ealing, Middlesex.

THE NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Leek on Saturday, May 2nd, when 42 members and friends sat down to tea. They came from Biddulph, Burton-on-Trent, Burslem, Cheadle, Draycott, Derby Cathedral, Kingsley, Kidsgrove, Lawton, Longton, Norton, Newcastle, Uttoxeter, Sheffield Cathedral, Stoke-on-Trent, Tunstall and Leek.

The Vicar of Leek (the Rev. K. W. Milward) was present, and extended a very warm welcome to all present. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and ringers for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for the excellent tea they prepared.

The bells were rung in various methods during the day, and it was interesting to see Mr. J. Pagett, of Derby, ring the treble and second to courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters.

THE WILLIAM PYE MEMORIAL.

BELLS CAST AT CROYDON FOUNDRY.

The William Pye Memorial at Leytonstone Church will be dedicated on Saturday, May 30th, and it is expected that the ceremony, which will be performed by the Bishop of Barking, will be attended by a large and representative gathering of ringers, as the event takes place during the visit of the Central Council to London.

The memorial consists of the addition of two treble bells to the existing ring of six at St. John's Church, and a commemorative tablet to be erected in the church porch.

The bell work is being carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and the two memorial bells were cast at the Croydon Foundry last Friday in the presence of a small gathering of interested people, among them Mrs. William Pye, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pye and Mr. G. R. Pye, the hon. secretaries of the Memorial Fund (Mr. C. T. Coles and Mr. E. J. Butler), Mrs. Coles, Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president of the Middlesex Association, of which Mr. Pye was Master for so many years), Mr. W. H. Oram (hon. treasurer, North and East District of the Middlesex Association), Mr. J. E. Davis (London), Mr. F. W. Collins (Ruislip), Mr. D. Cooper (Croydon), Mr. H. E. Newton (churchwarden of St. John's, Leytonstone), etc.

The visitors were received by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnston, by whom they were afterwards entertained to tea.

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT DUNDEE.

The Scottish Association began their proceedings at Dundee on the occasion of the annual meeting on April 25th by ringing for a bride as she left St. Paul's Cathedral after her wedding. The ringers were surprised, on coming down from the tower for the service in the Cathedral, to discover a large crowd gathered round the Cathedral waiting for the bride, who had left an hour previously! The misunderstanding was easy. People who had arrived in town late, hearing the bells and knowing of the wedding, had hurried to the Cathedral to see the couple leave. Of course, when the crowd, now disappointed, learned the truth, it soon disappeared.

The service was taken at very short notice by the Rev. D. Hemming, owing to the illness of the Provost. Mr. Hemming apologised for not having had time to prepare for the service. He welcomed the ringers to Dundee and said a few words regarding ringing as a church work which was heard by everybody over a large area.

The ringers were entertained to tea by the St. Paul's Cathedral ringers at the D.P.M. Cafe. A move was then made to the Old Steeple ringing room, where the business meeting, presided over by Mr. W. B. Sampson, was held. As only routine business was on the agenda, this was soon disposed of, and the steeple bells were rung to Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major under the charge of Mr. W. Heathcote, who deputised for the Master, Mr. W. H. Pickett, who was unable to be present owing to pressure of business.

After the bells had been lowered, the chiming apparatus was hooked up and one of the young St. Mary's Cathedral ringers entertained the people in the vicinity to excerpts from grand opera.

Only three association towers were represented at the meeting and some of the Steeple ringers also attended.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NINETEEN TOWERS REPRESENTED AT NORTHERN MEETING.

An enjoyable meeting of the Northern District of the Essex Association took place at Felstead on Saturday week, when the following towers were represented: Felstead, Greenstead Green, Earls Colne, Halstead, Dunmow, Great Bardfield, Pebmarsh, Maldon, Great Bentley, Sudbury, Braintree, Bocking, Wickham St. Paul's, Great Tey, Broomfield, Little Waltham, Ford End, Newmarket and Chelmsford. Service at the Parish Church was choral and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. B. C. Pownell). After the service an excellent tea was partaken of in the British Legion Hall, the arrangements for this having been carried out by Mr. W. T. Farrow, who was assisted by several lady helpers. The Vicar presided and 42 sat down to tea.

A business meeting followed, the District Master, Mr. A. A. Saunders, being in the chair. Mrs. Mansfield, Mr. R. F. Wilson, Mr. S. Livermore (Felstead), Mr. R. Portway (Dunmow) and Miss Le Beau (Bocking) were elected members of the association. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Wethersfield on June 20th.

On the proposition of Mr. H. E. Hammond, hearty thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his inspiring address and for presiding at the tea. Thanks were also accorded the choir, organist and other helpers.

The Vicar, in reply said it was their first meeting in the parish since he became Vicar, and it was a great pleasure to him. In four years' time the church would celebrate its 800th anniversary, and he hoped the ringers would visit them on that occasion.

Thanks were passed to Mr. Farrow for arranging the tea, to the lady helpers and to Capt. S. F. Mansfield for the use of the hall.

Handbell ringing was indulged in, the methods being Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Caters. The ringers subsequently returned to the tower and renewed ringing, the following methods being rung: Bob Minor, Bob Major, Double Norwich Court, Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise, Superlative Surprise and London Surprise.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

MR. C. T. COLES' 25 YEARS' SERVICE.

The annual general meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Ealing on Saturday, April 25th. Two of the Ealing towers were open for ringing as well as the ring of six at Brentford. It is rumoured that some of the visitors to the latter were lost in the football crowds and eventually found themselves in Griffin Park! It was no easy task getting clear, anyhow. The methods rung during the day covered a wide field, from the simplest to the most intricate—a familiar feature of Middlesex meetings.

Evening was held in St. Mary's Church, conducted by the Rev. Goodchild, curate, in the absence of the Vicar, who was on holiday. The president, the Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane, Vicar and Rural Dean of Twickenham, assisted, while the lesson was read by the vice-president, Mr. J. A. Trollope. At the conclusion of the last hymn, a perfect course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by W. G. Wilson 1-2, J. Thomas 3-4, E. C. S. Turner 5-6, and G. W. Fletcher 7-8, the ringers standing at the foot of the chancel steps.

The Rev. W. Paton, Vicar of St. Lawrence's, Brentford, gave an excellent address. Basing his remarks on Psalm 18 v. 18, in the revised version, 'The Lord was my stay,' he referred to the functions of the stay familiar to ringers. How it was used when the bell was at rest. How, if it was broken, a noisy jangle followed. It helped to keep things right and so avoid chaos. The text as applied to Christian lives was singularly apposite in its meanings.

Continuing, the preacher referred to the difficulties of keeping up the strength of a band of ringers. He feared that bellringing called for sacrifices which many modern young men were not prepared to make. An instructor's task was a hard one. But he would say this: If the job was worth doing it was worth doing well. Difficulties sometimes existed in the relations between the Vicar and the ringers. In all church life there must exist a touch of Christian charity. A little love and friendliness between ringers and clergy would go a long way in keeping them together. He appealed to all his hearers to show the love of Christian brethren in their lives. When they reached the end of life they would find the Lord was their stay.

Tea was served in the Good Shepherd Hall, about 70 persons sitting down.

HON. SECRETARY THANKED.

The president took the chair at the subsequent meeting, supported by the principal officers of the association.

Mr. Trollope (vice-president) reminded the meeting that Mr. C. T. Coles, one of the two joint hon. secretaries, completed last autumn 25 years' faithful service in that office. On behalf of members, Mr. Trollope offered hearty congratulations and thanks to Mr. Coles in the following motion: 'The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild offers its warmest congratulations and thanks to Charles Thomas Coles on completion of 25 years' service as hon. secretary, and expresses the hope that he may have before him many more years of success in ringing and usefulness to this association and to the whole Exercise.' Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president), in seconding said he hoped members would make Mr. Coles' next 25 years easier than the last!

The motion was passed with much enthusiasm, and when Mr. Coles replied he was received with applause. He said 25 years was a long time to look forward, but on looking backward it did not appear so long. He referred to some of the problems that he had had to deal with during that period, and said he found ringers reasonable people to deal with generally. When he took office in 1910 there were 620 members. Now there were 876. In conclusion, Mr. Coles reminded members that the association did not exist solely for their pleasure. They must put something into it for it to progress.

Mr. Coles referred to the death of Robert K. Knight a few weeks ago. Born in 1844, Mr. Knight joined the association on its formation in 1897. Members stood in silence as a mark of respect to his memory.

The annual report, which was adopted, opened with a reference to the ringing for the Silver Jubilee of King George V. as the chief event of 1935, and to the part played again by the bells, in expressing the feelings of the people, when early this year they mourned the passing of the Sovereign. Proceeding, the report said:—

ADMIRATION OF A GREAT RINGER.

'The year 1935 saw the passing of William Pye, the greatest ringer of his generation, perhaps the greatest of all time. After several months' illness, during which our hopes ebbed and flowed, he died on March 8th, at the age of 64. It was in December, 1898, that William Pye joined this association, and his great abilities quickly brought him to the front rank. Two years later he headed the list of peal conductors, a position which he occupied almost every succeeding year. In 1910 he was elected Master of the association, which office he held until his death. His influence on ringing, both in this association and elsewhere, cannot be estimated. Numbers of ringers owe to him their first peals, or their first peals in the higher methods, in the conducting of which he was an expert. Indeed, it has been said of William Pye that the harder the method, the easier he made it, and thus it was a pleasure to him to assist his weaker brethren in ringing the more difficult methods.'

We desire to place on record our admiration for this great ringer, who, with all his ability, was a fine example of modesty. Never a boast fell from his lips, and it was difficult even to get him to discuss his own great achievements. It is fitting that a permanent memorial to this man should be erected, and a movement is on foot to place two additional bells in the tower of St. John's Church, Leytonstone, to his memory. This project is receiving support from the Essex Association in particular, and from most of the other ringing organisations throughout the country, so that it can truly be described as a national memorial.'

Dealing with the work of the year, the report said that three honorary and 56 ringing members were elected. Nine members were lost by death, and a considerable number of lapses of membership have to be recorded. Our present total of members is 876, a few in excess of last year.

The peal list showed a very large decrease on the post-war record attained in 1934, only 45 peals, including one on handbells, having been rung last year. It was noticeable, however, that the towers in which peals were rung, 28 in number, were only two less than in 1934, and that nearly the whole of the decrease in peals was due to many fewer being rung at one tower alone.

An analysis of the peals showed that 152 members took part in them, and that 14 rang their first peals. The latter figure was most gratifying. There were 19 conductors, whilst 49 members rang their first peals in a new method, including three of London, four of Spliced Surprise in four methods, five of Spliced Surprise in six methods, two of Cambridge Royal and two of Stedman Cinques. The most notable performance of the year was the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods rung at St. Paulinus', Crayford, by a band whose ages averaged only 22 years. This peal was composed and conducted by Mr. E. C. S. Turner, who later called the same composition to a peal in six methods at St. Andrew's, Hillingdon. A peal of Belvedere Surprise Major was rung for the first time at St. Mary's, Staines, conducted by Mr. A. R. Pink. Peals rung entirely by local bands included Cambridge Surprise Major at Willesden; Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles at Sunbury; Superlative Surprise Major at Willesden; Kent Treble Bob Major at Heston; and Grandsire Triples at Edmonton.

DEVOTED LABOURS.

'In October,' continued the report, 'Mr. C. T. Coles completed 25 years' continuous service as hon. secretary of the North and East District and joint secretary of the association. It is hardly necessary to say how much we owe to his able and devoted labours—that is surely known to every one of our members—yet there is a danger that we may take his work too much for granted and perhaps some of us may only realise his worth when the time comes for him to hand his task over to another and younger man. May that day be long delayed! Mr. Coles has not only served our association, but he has taken an increasingly prominent and influential part in the life of the Exercise at large, and he is one of the most respected members of the Central Council. We have also to thank Mr. Fred Goodfellow, to whom the success and well-being of the South and West District is mainly due. Let us all resolve to show our gratitude by giving the secretaries our utmost support at meetings, and by the prompt payment of subscriptions.'

The financial statement revealed a balance of £23 12s. 7d. This meant a loss on the year of just over £2, chiefly due to the cost of a larger annual report.

Mr. F. Miller, of St. Mary's, Ealing, was elected a ringing member. All of the officers were re-elected. They are: President, the Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane, Vicar and Rural Dean of Twickenham; vice-presidents, Messrs. G. W. Fletcher and J. A. Trollope; Master, Mr. A. W. Coles; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. H. Hollier; joint hon. secretaries, Messrs. C. T. Coles and F. W. Goodfellow. Mr. E. C. S. Turner was elected auditor. Messrs. C. T. Coles, G. W. Fletcher and W. H. Hollier were re-elected Central Council representatives, while Mr. W. G. Wilson was elected to fill the vacant place caused by the retirement of Mr. Pickworth.

The William Pye memorial scheme was dealt with in detail by Mr. Coles. He gave the history of the scheme up to date, including the date of the casting of the bells, and said that they would be opened on May 30th. He thought the money would come in and added that over thirty associations and guilds had so far contributed. He appealed to all members to make an effort to get to Leytonstone on Whit Saturday to pay their respects to that great ringer whose memory they were endeavouring to perpetuate.

BELLS OF ALL HALLOWS, LOMBARD STREET.

Moved by Mr. W. G. Wilson, the following resolution was carried after a short discussion: 'That the association expresses the hope that in the event of the Church of All Hallows, Lombard Street, City, being demolished, steps will be taken to retain as an entity the ring of ten bells at present in the tower and to instal the bells in some other suitable tower, and that the hon. secretary be authorised to forward a copy of this resolution to the appropriate authorities if and when the demolition of the church becomes imminent.'

Mr. Trollope referred to the silver jubilee of 'The Ringing World.' He offered the Editor sincere congratulations and thanks. He recalled the short period when he was Editor in the absence of Mr. Goldsmith on the Australian tour. A great many people appeared to buy the

'FATHER' OF THE TOWER.MR. WILLIAM WILLSON'S LONG SERVICES COMMEMORATED.

In the year 1902, a peal of eight bells to commemorate the reign of Queen Victoria was placed in the tower of the Church of St. John the Divine, Leicester, and Mr. William Willson took them to his heart. Since that date he has clambered and climbed about the girders with an oil can and has stood below and rung in many peals; he has taught many youngsters the art of ringing; in fact, he became 'father' to the belfry in every way. On the death of the donor of the bells, Mr. and Mrs. Willson added two trebles to the peal in his memory. This meant more girders to negotiate.

Now in 1936, 'Father,' realising that, although he really knew his way about, anno domini could not be entirely ignored, has decided that the time has come for someone more active to take charge of the climbing operations.

On Easter Sunday evening, the Vicar (Canon H. V. Williams), with the churchwardens, visited the belfry and expressed to Mr. Willson the appreciation everyone felt for the years spent in the care of the bells, belfry and the ringers. He then unveiled a clock, placed in the belfry by all members of the company, as a tribute to Mr. Willson's 34 years as Master and steeplekeeper. As 'Father' did not wish to take the belfry clock home, a framed photograph of it was presented to him for that purpose.

Of course, this does not by any means mean that 'Father' has finished, and everyone hopes to see him taking his rope with the rest for many years to come.

The inscription on the clock mounting reads:—

William Willson.
1902—1936.

This clock commemorates the completion of 34 years as Master and Steeplekeeper.

Presented by St. John the Divine Society of Ringers.

Canon H. V. Williams, Vicar; A. E. Duckley, J. T. Inchley, Churchwardens.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.ANNUAL MEETING.

Leeds Parish Church was once again the venue of the annual meeting of the Leeds and District Society, held on Saturday week. The bells were rung up as soon as the clock (after striking 3 p.m.) had finished chiming out the hymn tune set for the day. Good use was made of the bells until tea time, and also later, until the business meeting at 7 p.m., when members were present from Armley, Batley, Calverley, Drighlington, Burley, Felkirk, Guiseley, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Holbeck, Idle, Lindley, Ossett, Pudsey, Rothwell, Shipley, Sutton, Wakefield and Leeds. Ringing friends attended from Rotherham, London and Cottingham.

No opposition to the officers nominated at the last meeting was forthcoming, and the following were, therefore, declared elected: President, Mr. W. H. Senior; vice-presidents, Messrs. J. Hey, S. Barron and H. Davison; Ringing Master, Mr. L. Drake; secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Lofthouse.

The secretary's report showed a total membership of 224, with only 14 members seriously in arrears with subscriptions. Eleven ringing meetings had been held during the year and the attendance had been good. The finances of the society were in a very healthy condition. The Pyc Memorial and the Ringers' Directory had been supported during the year.

The list of towers at which it is hoped to hold meetings during the coming two years was referred to the committee to draw up.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by the president (Mr. W. H. Senior) and seconded by Mr. A. E. West.—Mr. F. Renton replied for the local ringers.

paper solely to see their name in it! There was nearly always half as much again material as there was room for. The obvious remedy was a larger paper, which the present circulation did not justify. He appealed for an increased circulation, not for the benefit of the owners, but for the good of the Exercise.

Mr. Fletcher referred to the motion respecting 'The Ringing World' on the Central Council agenda. There were some figures he would like to mention. The circulation of the paper was less than 4,000. There were over 870 members in this association alone. There were 51 associations, some with 2,000 members! There was very obviously room for improvement.

The following resolution was carried unanimously: 'This meeting of the members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild sincerely regrets that the very fine peal of 12,675 Stedman Cinques rung by the Ancient Society of College Youths at Southwark Cathedral on Whit Monday, 1923, has now been found to be false.'—Mr. Coles, in moving the resolution, said he had never heard better Stedman Cinques.

It was agreed to hold the next annual meeting at St. Giles', Cripplegate.

The meeting concluded with thanks to the various clergy who assisted at the service and permitted their bells to be rung, and to Mrs. Fulwell, Mrs. Goodfellow and Mrs. Hunnisett and friends from Ealing and Hillingdon, who prepared and served a very excellent tea.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD TITLE.ANNUAL MEETING DECIDES AGAINST CHANGE.

The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, on Saturday, April 25th, and was attended by about fifty members and friends. Towers represented included Allesley, Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Bulkington, Lillington, Rugby, Monks Kirby and Stoke, while several visitors were welcomed from neighbouring societies.

A variety of methods were rung on the light peal of eight during the afternoon. A service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. B. Davies, who also gave the address. The Guild's form of service was used, and the hymns, 'The strife is o'er' and 'The King of Love,' were sung.

After tea the business meeting was held in the Parish Hall, the Rev. Davies (president) being in the chair, supported by the Rev. Canon J. L. White (a vice-president), Mr. J. H. W. White (Ringing Master), Mr. Malcolm Melville (hon. secretary and treasurer), and Mr. A. H. Beamish (hon. auditor). An apology for absence was received from Mr. F. W. Percens.

The statement of account, presented by the treasurer, was adopted. The year was begun with a balance in hand of £21 3s. 10d. Subscriptions amounted to £12 5s. 6d., while the expenses were £18 14s. 6d., leaving a balance of £14 14s. 10d.

The secretary's report for 1935 showed that the membership of the Guild had shown no change at all on the previous year. It stood at 281, made up of 130 resident and 151 non-resident members; twelve new members had joined during the year. Peals rung numbered only eight. The conducting was shared among six members, Mr. Jack Smith, of Bedworth, conducting his first peal. Nine members rang their first peal, eight of these belonging to the Bedworth band.

The president was re-elected, and the vice-presidents, with the addition of the Archdeacon-designate of Warwick, re-elected en bloc. The Ringing Master, the hon. general secretary and treasurer and the hon. auditor were all re-elected.

Two nominations were received for the position of Central Council representative for the next three years, and, after a show of hands, Mr. D. H. Argyle was appointed. Mr. Argyle's father was one of the Guild's representatives on the Central Council from 1912 until his death in 1931.

Meeting places for the next three meetings were decided upon as follows: May, Brinklow; June, Old Bilton; and July, Southam.

The following new members were elected: Mrs. Pittham, G. Gaskin, S. Baylis, L. Clarke, A. Abbott, all of Monks Kirby, and W. Betley.

'DIOCESAN' PROPOSAL DEFEATED.

'That the name of the Guild be changed to the Coventry Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers' was proposed by the hon. secretary. He pointed out the overlapping which now existed between the Guild's territory and that of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, which also covered a large part of the county of Warwickshire. He also pleaded for a closer co-operation between ringing organisations in general and church authorities, and suggested that the best way of assuring continued prosperity in the future, when large bodies might clamour for the silencing of church bells, would be by labelling themselves with an ecclesiastical rather than with a secular title.

Mr. Pervin seconded the proposition, and suggested that there was something magical in the word 'diocesan,' and that it would make the parson and people in general 'sit up' when they saw it incorporated in a title.

Canon J. L. White said that the word portrayed far less than one would imagine. It is true, he said, we want the church authorities to back us up more than they are doing at present, but he did not think that any change in name would assure this backing automatically.

Eventually, after a lively debate, a counter proposition, that the name of the Guild stay as it is, was carried by a large majority.

Under the title of any other business, Mr. Pervin asked whether it would be possible to arrange a few combined week-night practices, as it seemed difficult at present to arrange worthwhile practices with members of one tower only. This suggestion met with the general approval of the meeting, and the secretary was instructed to proceed with the arrangement of a few such practices.

Further ringing in the majority of the standard and Surprise methods took place after the meeting until 9 p.m.

THE LATE MR. T. BENNEY.FIVE PAST MASTERS OF COLLEGE YOUTHS AT FUNERAL.

The funeral of the old College Youth, Mr. Tom Benney, of Stepney, took place on Thursday of last week at Nunhead Cemetery. Fifteen ringers attended, including five past Masters of the society, Messrs. J. S. Hawkins and W. J. Norton represented St. Andrew's, Holborn, Guild, and a course of Stedman Triples was rung over the grave by W. Roughton, H. Langdon, H. Pasmore and A. B. Peck. In the evening the bells of St. Andrew's were half-muffled in his memory, the 'whole pull and stand' being rung.

LANGPORT, SOMERSET.—At All Saints' Church, for evening service, 720 Grandsire Doubles: G. R. Mills 1, G. W. Tout 2, G. Locke 3, W. A. J. Knight (Milverton) (conductor) 4, F. Locke 5, L. M. Clarke (first 720) 6.

FOR BEGINNERS.

HELPFUL POINTS IN CALLING THURSTANS' PEAL.

Usually a conductor's first effort in calling a peal of Stedman Triples is 'Thurstans' famous 'Four-part,' or some transposition or variation of it. There is no need here to go into the historical side of this composition, although it would be interesting and instructive, but, as the peal is the one generally used, it may be of assistance to young conductors if we indicate some of its characteristics from the bob caller's standpoint.

The description of 'Four-Part' has been given to the peal because it consists of four quarter-peals joined together in pairs, one pair by additional bobs, the other pair by omitted bobs, while the two half-peals thus formed are united by singles.

Let us look at the quarter-peal. This is in five parts, each of three courses, and each of these five parts called thus:—

3-4	7-8			S. H. L. Q.
3-4-5-6	12-13	or	x	x
5-6			x	x
			x	x

The five part ends of this quarter-peal are as follows (6 and 7 are omitted because they 'come home' at the end of each part):—

45312
51423

Begin your study of the peal by memorising the 'standard calling' given above, and these five part ends, observing the transposition by which the latter are produced, and noticing particularly that the cycle of places into which the bells fall is 3rd's, 5th's, 4th's, 2nd's, treble's place, or Out quick, 4-5 (up), 5-4 (down), first half turn, last whole turn.

It is not difficult to learn the position of the 6th at every call in the part, and this should certainly be one of the first things the conductor should memorise, because the sixth, as we have mentioned, 'comes home,' like the 7th, at every part end. For instance, at the four-bob set in the second course of each part the 6th is dodging in 6-7 up, with the 5th's place bell. At the 3-4 in the first course and the 5-6 in the last course the 6th is called out quick and to make the bob. At the other two pairs of bobs the 6th is in the slow; at the 7-8 in the first course it is in the equivalent position of 5-6, and at the 12-13 in the second course at the equivalent position of 6-7. To memorise these facts should be easy.

Here is another interesting feature about the bob making bells. There are, as you will have seen, five sets of bobs in a part. Beginning with the 12-13 in the second course, the bell that makes the first bob of this pair also makes the first bob of the pair at the succeeding calls at 5-6 and 3-4 and the first and last of the bobs in the 3-4-5-6 set. When it has made this last bob it dodges with the bell that is going to take its place when the next 12-13 comes along, and when it does, the bell that had made the first bob in all these previous sets now makes the second bob—that at 13.

There is only one pair of bobs in the part, therefore, where the bell which we are now considering does not make the first bob and that is at the 7-8 in the first course, but when these bobs are called this bell is dodging in 6-7 up, as, later, he will dodge in 5-4 (down) after the four-bob set, with the bell which, when the 12-13 is reached, will succeed him as the maker of the first of the pair. There is one other place where these two bells may be observed together, and that is at the part end itself. The bell that is actually making the first of the pairs of bobs is then in treble's place (doing the last whole turn) and the other bell is in 2nd's place (doing the first half turn), so that as the ropes fall for the part end you will see these two bells in front at back stroke.

The relative positions of the part-end 5th's and 3rd's place bells are also interesting and useful to note. Quite early on you can see if they are working up correctly for these positions, for the bell which is going to be 5th's place bell at the next part end should make the second bob at the four-bob set and the bell that is going to be 3rd's place bell at the part end should make the last of these four bobs, and this last one, as you will have observed earlier, is the one that up to that time had for three courses been making the first bob of all but one of the sets.

Then, after the part end, these 5th and 3rd's place bells dodge behind together, with the 5 going down and 3 going up, at the 3-4 in the first course, at the 12-13 in the second course, and come together again in the same way in 4-5 at the next course end. The 5th's place bell is also a guide to the calling of the 7-8 in the first course. Just in the same way as the 3-4 comes with the 6th 'out quick and making the bob,' so the 7-8 is called with the 5th's place bell 'out quick and make the bob.' And again the 5th is a help in marking our position, for it is the bell dodging in 6-7 with the 6th at the four-bob set and is again dodging down at the 12-13. Moreover, its place at all the course ends of the part may be easily observed, for, in addition to being in 5th's at the part end (afterwards going up behind to the 7th), it is in 5th's again at the first course end of the part, in 4th's, that is, dodging in 5-4 (down), at the second course-end and also at the part-end—and the bell in 4th's at a course-end will always go in slow.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD.

THE POSTPONED COMMEMORATION LUNCHEON.

The postponed commemoration luncheon of the Cambridge University Guild took place on Tuesday, April 28th, in the Old Combination Room in Trinity College, when a party of 19 sat down under the chairmanship of the vice-president of the society, the Rev. A. C. Blyth. Several members were prevented from attending by duty or sickness, amongst them being the Rev. M. O. Potter, the Rev. W. C. Pearson, Bishop H. McE. Price, Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, Mr. C. W. Woolley and the Master (Mr. R. D. St. G. Smith), all of whom had written sending their best wishes and regretting their inability to be present.

As guests there were the Rev. H. F. Stewart, D.D. (Dean of Trinity), Mr. R. S. Jones (Keeble, Oxford), representing the University Society, of which he is Master, and Mr. W. C. Smith, representing the Cambridge Youths. Amongst others present were the Rev. B. F. Sheppard, the Rev. R. Copeman, Mr. E. M. Atkins, the Rev. E. Bankes James, the Rev. E. W. Carpenter (Suffolk Guild), Dr. F. S. Poole, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Prof. L. W. Taylor and eight undergraduate members.

After the loyal toast by the vice-president, Mr. Blyth proposed 'The Guild.' He referred to the absence through illness of the president, the Rev. A. H. F. Boughiey; to the kindness and generosity of Dr. H. F. Stewart, who lends his rooms for meetings each week; and to the tragic death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, who first suggested this luncheon. The vice-president also referred to the work of the secretary (Mr. A. N. P. Woodard), to whose activity the prosperity of the Guild was almost entirely due, and he combined his name with that of the Guild in the toast.

Mr. A. N. P. Woodard, after thanking the vice-president for his kind words, next proposed 'The Guests.' He spoke to the work of the Oxford Society, and expressed pleasure at having a representative with them, considering how tiring and uninteresting is the journey from the one university to the other. He also thanked the town representative for his co-operation in allowing various members to join the ringers in their practices at Great St. Mary's.

Letters were read from those members who found it impossible to attend, and the secretary also expressed the Guild's pleasure at having so many with them on that occasion.

Mr. R. S. Jones (Oxford) replied, speaking of his society's achievements and urging the necessity of combining ringing with one's religion, and not enjoying it apart from it.

After lunch a move was made to St. Benet's Church, where both Cambridge and Stedman were rung, and also, during the day, Bob Major on handbells. Mr. Peter Tyrwhitt-Drake kindly entertained eleven members to tea, and a few were able to spend the early part of the evening with the handbells in the secretary's rooms.

METROPOLITAN POLICE GUILD.

SERVICE RINGING AND PRACTICE TO BE RESUMED.

The annual meeting of the Metropolitan Police Guild was held at St. George's Church, Southwark, on Saturday, May 2nd. The bells were set going shortly after 3.30 p.m., the usual variety of methods being rung. After tea the meeting was held in the vestry, the Rector (the Rev. Ernest Cook) occupying the chair.

During the routine business of the meeting the Rector voiced his great appreciation to the Barron Trust for the work they had carried out in restoring the bells, and said he wished to place on record his personal thanks to them, and to the Guild Master, Chief Inspector William Bottrill, for all he had done in being able to get the valuable help of the trust.

At one point in the proceedings the Rector said that he almost expected that a fair number of applications would be received by him for the use of the bells for various purposes, peals, meetings, etc., and he had made up his mind that it would be the best thing if he submitted all applications received by him to Chief Inspector Bottrill for his consideration also. By this he hoped he would not be considered to be adopting a 'dog in the manger' attitude, but he felt that the Master had a much greater knowledge of bells and ringers than he had, and would, therefore, be able to give a much better opinion in such matters.

It was decided to put into operation the proposed rule that the bells be rung for services by the Guild on the second Sunday morning and the fourth Sunday evening in each month, and the Master expressed his earnest hope that all members would do all in their power to fulfil this plan.

All the present officers were re-elected, viz.: Master, Chief Inspector Bottrill; hon. secretary, P.C. Norman S. Bagworth; hon. treasurer, P.S. Schleuter. P.S. Willmington was elected vice-president in place of P.S. Bannister, who was elected to serve on the committee in place of P.S. Miller, and P.C. Gwilliam was elected on the committee in place of P.C. Mead.

Considerable discussion then took place on the subject of practice nights, and after somewhat lengthy deliberation it was decided to revert to Wednesdays, except during Lent and certain weeks in Advent, when mid-week services are likely to be held.

A move was afterwards made to the tower, where the bells were made good use of to standard methods until about 9 p.m., when an enjoyable meeting was brought to a close.

MORE COUNCIL MATTERS.

The motions which are to come before the Central Council, when they meet at Whitsun, may not occupy as much time as, on the face of them, seems to be threatened. About two of them at least there is not likely to be much division of opinion. There is general agreement, we believe, that it would be well if some authoritative guidance could be given on the subject of the muffling of bells; it will also be a great advantage if the Council have information as to books on ringing matters in the hands of private persons, and whether access to these books for perusal or study can be given. This information will be valuable in a double way. It will enable students of ringing and ringing history to know where they can turn for information, and it should serve as a means of keeping track of books which might otherwise eventually be lost.

To the advantage of beginning the Council meeting earlier in the day, if it is practicable, we have already referred, and to the motion which deals with 'The Ringing World' we must return in a later issue. There remains the vexed question of the definition of a 'spliced' peal. It would be possible to squander no end of time on this subject, and, as it comes first among the motions, to exclude debate on anything else, but we fancy the chief movers in the proposals may be likely to come to agreement and in this way save the time of the Council. The danger of monopolising more than a fair share of the meeting on this topic comes from the putting forward of ill-considered amendments. A compromise, which avoids any actual definition, is that which Mr. Stephen Wood put forward last year, and which seems to have been acted upon by ringers since. By denoting the number of changes of method in a peal it is certainly possible for the average ringer to judge the merit of the performance in this direction, and probably serves the purpose better than the splitting of hairs in the use of words; for it does convey definite information.

But the Council ought not to have sprung upon them amendments requiring this or that special requirement for the use of the term 'spliced.' The original proposal, put forward by Mr. C. T. Coles, was evolved after a great deal of consideration, and even if this is not persisted with, in face of Mr. Wood's amendment, it did contain the considered views of men who had given great thought to the matter, and it has been in print long enough for everyone to comprehend. But it is unfair to the Council to ask them, on the spur of the moment, to consider some definition of a technical nature, which

THURSTANS' FOUR-PART.

After what we have already said about Thurstan's 'Quarter-peal,' made up of five parts of three courses each, it should take the beginner little time to learn the complete peal.
